Family Fitness A Key To Success Of YMCA Run

When the 156 runners lined up for the Davie Family YMCA's Resolution Run Saturday morning — race promoters were hoping for one thing — families.

They got plenty. Men and women, boys and girls either participated in a one mile fun run or a more competitive 10-K race through the streets of Mocksville.

After the race, they gathered at the YMCA for a pancake breakfast.

"We want to keep the family aspect," said Davie YMCA Director Ann Blackmon. "Everyone enjoyed that."

A 39-year-old Charlotte man won the 10-K race, and 23 runners from Davie County participated. For a story and more photographs, please turn to page B1.

Bond Allowed For Suspect In Davie Murder

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

An Iredell man accused of killing a Davie County man on July 8 can get out of jail.

Charles Tereno Ramseur was allowed a $50,000 bond by a superior court judge on Monday.

Ramseur, a lifelong resident of Statesville, was charged with first degree murder in the killing of Johnny Ray Porter at Porter's residence off Lanier Road. Porter was found in the kitchen of his mobile home with one bullet wound to the face and one to the head.

Porter's estranged wife, Deforte Tucker Porter, was charged with being an accessory after the fact, and her mother, Doris Tucker, was charged with aiding and abetting. Both of those charges were dropped.

Deforte Porter's brother, Amos Tucker, was also charged with aiding and abetting, and his case is scheduled for trial.

Ramseur's attorney, Romallus Murphy, told Judge James A. Beaty Jr. in Davie Superior Court that Ramseur, 33, comes from a family of modest means and asked that bond be set at $20,000.

At the time of the shooting, Murphy said, there had been an "allegation that Deforte Porter has been kidnapped and was being beaten by Porter." That was the reason Ramseur set out to find Porter on the morning of July 8, Murphy said.

Gene Morris, assistant district attorney, said that Ramseur had told people in Iredell County that if he "found him (Porter), he would be dead."

"This man, by his own statement, went in and shot him (Porter)," Morris said.

Because of Ramseur's prior criminal history, including larceny, non-support, driving while license revoked, no operator's license, fictitious registration, and carrying a concealed weapon, Morris asked that bond be set "at a significant amount."

Commissioner Resigns For New Job With Town

Mocksville Town Board member Abe Howard resigned from the board Tuesday night to become a town employee.

Howard, a building contractor and retired Duke Power engineer, has accepted a $18,750-a-year position as a facilities maintenance and safety technician. It is a new position created by the board to ensure the town complies with OSHA standards.

"It is with sadness that I leave the board, but I will still be around to bother you guys and sit on the softer chairs out there (in the board's meeting room)," Howard said.

Town Manager Terry Bralley said he spoke with Howard about his decision to leave elected office and become a town employee. State law bans town employees from also serving as elected officials.

"My job is to make sure each town employee gets home with 10 fingers and 10 toes," Stricter OSHA regulations concerning building safety brought about the need for the new position, Howard said.

Price Is Named New Davie County Attorney

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Winston-Salem attorney who lives in Farmington will represent Davie County in all its legal matters during the next year.

The Board of Commissioners voted 5-0 Monday to appoint Robert E. Price Jr. to the post of county attorney. Former attorney John Brock retired at the end of 1992.

The board interviewed three attorney's for the contracted position but would not say who the other two candidates were. The county attorney is not a county employee but serves under contract a year at a time.

Commissioner Chairman Carl Boon said Price was selected because of his commitment to the county.

"Robert Price was committed to Davie County and to giving Davie County top priority."

Price promised to set up office hours at the county administration building in an effort to be available to the county manager, department heads and citizens.

Boon said the board had not yet discussed salary with Price.

Price said from his office in Winston-Salem that although he has no government experience, he is excited about public service.

And although he works in Winston-Salem, Price has lived in Farmington since 1983. Since then he has served as chairman of the Davie County Board of Elections for three years and spent two more years working during election time.

Price said his greatest challenge will be to learn, over time, how to be as effective a county attorney as Brock was for 32 years.

"I'm going to do whatever it takes. John Brock is a model of what it means to be a county attorney."

Price received his law degree from the University of Virginia and attended Dartmouth College for his bachelor's degree.

St. Peter Now Has A Good Substitute At Heaven's Gate

St. Peter can take a vacation now. He finally has a substitute to keep his watch at the Pearly Gates.

Raymond Coleman checked in last week.

He was "Mr. Coleman" to everybody.

He was tall and quiet, but he greeted everyone who entered the door at Mayodan Moravian Church. He was always there. First.

Many years ago churches started handing out Sunday School attendance pins. Those with perfect attendance received a pin for the year. For every extra year of perfect attendance, you could add numbers to your pin: Second, Third, Fourth ... the numbers connected to form a chain.

Mr. Coleman filled one pin to the thirties. And started on another. When I attended church there, he had already reached the 30's again.

Every Sunday morning he unlocked the door, turned on the lights and set the thermostat. He did it every season, no matter what weather. The church never called off services for snow or ice. Many people lived within walking distance.

When he was a young man, Mr. Coleman awoke to find a heavy snowstorm and bitter cold. He trudged off to church and started the fire in the potbelly stove. Only one other person came — the preacher.

I have marveled at his faithfulness and devotion. He was always there. Sunday morning. Sunday evening. Wednesday evening. Men's fellowship. Men's chorus rehearsal. He even mowed the lawn and raked the leaves on Saturday.

Mr. Coleman's generation is far different from mine. His dedication was not uncommon for his time. Grace Call at my church here, has kept the nursery on Sunday morning for ... forever. She now keeps the babies of children she kept 20 years ago. There is no glamor to nursery duty. There is no glory to unlocking the doors on Sunday morning. They are not prestige jobs.

My generation has psychological problems. Perfect attendance pins aren't popular any more. We've got too many conflicts, too many places to go, too many vacations. And most of us lack the commitment that Raymond Coleman had.

It's not comforting to know we're about to turn over the reigns of power to my generation. The World War II-era leaders were rock-steady and dependable. My generation has been marked by greed and selfishness and chronic examinations of our belly buttons.

Baby boomers have had to try everything. We have never had Mr. Coleman's devotion to a single faith or a single idea. We have protested and marched and boycotted. We have dropped out and drugged ourselves. And we have fancied every whimsical idea that has come along.

Now, with children and facing our own mortality, many boomers have returned to the church. But ministers complain that my generation is never satisfied. We come not to worship God, but to be served. The service and the programs of the church must ... meet our needs.

The New York Times recently found a religious split among the boomers. We have been lumped into categories according to our actions during the 1960's and 1970's: loyalists, returnees and dropouts. We have flirted with ideas once thought heresy: reincarnation, astrology, meditation and New Age spiritualism.

Our values have also been skewered. Some say Bill Clinton won because he supports abortion. We pass out condoms to high school kids and ask them to act responsibly. Television shows now include cursing and sexual talk that should make us blush. And those who complain are ridiculed as religious fanatics.

I don't know how Raymond Coleman felt about the feminist movement, about the Protestant church's difficulty with the homosexual issue, or about any of the major issues of the day.

What I did notice about him was that he seemed to live every day in peace with himself and God. He was devoted and faithful. And happy.

Those are qualities my generation has put itself through hell to find.

Why All The Controversy?

To the editor:

Why all the controversy about there not being a manger scene at Tanglewood?

Can't families have a scripture reading and prayer in their home daily, plus taking their children and themselves to church on Sunday?

Let's keep some make believe, fun and fantasy in our lives for the young and the young at heart.

More Dogs Getting Homes

To the editor:

We wish to thank the Enterprise-Record for the excellent article, "Pound Dog Made Good Pet," Thursday, Dec. 17, 1992.

Because of the continuing newspaper coverage about the adoption program at the animal shelter, more than 20 dogs have found good homes with Davie County people who care.

These dogs, along with "Rambo," would surely have been destroyed.

Many thanks to all those families who have come to the shelter to find pets to love and care for.

Thanks also to Robert Cook who comes to the shelter the fourth Saturday of each month and works with members of the Humane Society to help save the animals through adoption.

May we continue to work together in 1993 for this good cause and may we one day save all God's creatures from homelessness, hunger, and abuse.

Wine And Cheesers No More

Mike Barnhardt

It was a game that didn't matter. Alabama had already claimed the national championship in college football. All of the big bowl games, and the little ones as well, had already been played.

Neither team was ranked at the top of a conference.

Yet the Peach Bowl was played on Saturday. Although the game seemed meaningless to most, it meant a lot to the two teams involved — and to their fans.

It was a matter of pride.

And because Mississippi State hailed from the Southeastern Conference, they were the favorites, even though their national ranking was five places behind that of their opponents, the Tar Heels from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

I went to the game in Atlanta to do something I rarely do — cheer for the Tar Heels. After all, the team was representing my home state. I was a bit apprehensive, however, that the Carolina fans would be disappointing, given their wine and cheese image better suited for water polo or fencing. Football fans are more the beer and hotdog types.

I didn't have any preconceived notion about Mississippi State. It turns out that it is an agricultural school. That fact in itself made me want to change my support. Then I learned that their fans rang cowbells. Another vote for the team from Mississippi. Cowbells make a lot of noise, something that is necessary at a college football game. And you can ring a cowbell and drink a beer at the same time. It makes the cheering easier.

I worried about the Carolina fans during the parade, when the most exciting thing they did was to spell Carolina. I'm glad they teach spelling at Chapel Hill, but if it came down to it, I would rather drink a glass of milk produced by a Mississippi State graduate than learn to spell holstein from a Carolina graduate.

I was determined to remain true to my home state, and cheer for Carolina during the game.

So I wandered past someone dressed as a huge peach to a bookstore and leafed through books on the history of peaches, tried some liquid peach potpourri on my hand and stuck it too close to my nose, turned down a peach drink, considered buying some cheap peach souveniers, watched a friend buy a Braves t-shirt with the city exploding from a huge peach from Atlanta Stadium, and headed down Peachtree Industrial Boulevard to Peachtree Street to the Peach Bowl at the Georgia (the only thing in Atlanta that doesn't have peach in its name) Dome.

All those Mississippi cowbells ringing inside the Dome were loud — real loud. The Carolina fans tried, but a person can't holler louder than the noise created by a clanging cowbell. The Tar Heels lost the noise battle.

The Carolina fans surprised me. There weren't as many laid back wine and cheesers as I had expected, but a lot of screaming beer drinkers. It changed my perception about Carolina students and alumni. These people might not be so stuck up and boring after all. They may even be normal. Some of them actually may realize that food comes from somewhere else before it reaches the grocery store.

In the football game, Mississippi State made Carolina look bad. Their defense played better than Carolina's. Their offense played better than Carolina's. Their coaches made better decisions than Carolina's. The only categories that Carolina won in was blocked punts — and score.

The Tar Heels won, and the cowbells went silent.

And I was proud of students from the North Carolina school known for stuck-up yuppies. They can let their shirttails out and have fun.

It was peachy.

British Newlyweds Are Honorary Davie residents

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

BERMUDA VILLAGE — Forty years ago, Aleece Gresham's British cousin, Victor Woods, trekked across the Atlantic aboard the Queen Mary to wed his wife.

On Christmas Eve, Wood's daughter, Allison, made the same voyage by air to the United States to marry. And this time the ceremony was in Davie County — at the new chapel at Bermuda Village.

Following the ceremony, Kent Mathewson, a resident of Bermuda Village, dressed as Santa Claus and read a proclamation by Mocksville Mayor Nick Mando that Allison Woods and Anthony Powell; both citizens of London, are honorary citizens of Davie County.

And while the two aren't afforded any priviliges as citizens, they were recognized as part of the noble British heritage which formed North Carolina.

"I thought let's follow the tradition and they came as my guests to spend the week at Bermuda Village," Mrs. Gresham said. "Oh they loved the idea."

Gresham's husband, Dr. Perry Gresham, performed the wedding ceremony. And it was his idea to surprise the newly-wedded couple with the proclamation.

As a former philosophy and economics professor and president of Bethany College, Gresham said that being an old scholar helped him to draw on the connection between North Carolina and England.

They are linked because of the tobacco trade and North Carolina's origination as a British colony, he said.

But the two are more dissimilar than alike.

"I couldn't help but notice the contrast between the city of London and the city of Mocksville. They are rather different in size and fame."

"They were very impressed and completely surprised," Mrs. Gresham said.

Following in the English tradition, the reception was open to all residents of the retirement center and included an English Wassail Bowl.

The Wassil Bowl is an large bowl or urn of spirits and fruit juice that people would carry to their neighbors, Mrs. Gresham said. "It means 'To your good health,'" she said.

The wedding was the first event held in the Dr. John Perry Chapel at Bermuda Village. Perry, a resident of the village and retired optomotrist, donated the money for the chapel.

It is to be dedicated in January.

Mrs. Gresham said the chapel will be used by many families for many different uses in the future.

"How nice it was that the first event in the chapel was a happy one."

The Davie County Board of Commissioners voted 5-0 Monday to give social services $8,000 to pay the $250 per month per child foster parents receive.

James Clark, social service director, said the county has 20 children in legal custody. That's more than Clark could remember the department ever having at one time.

"I'd like to tell you that we have some other options, but unfortunately we don't," Clark said.

Davie Leaders To Discuss Schools

With technology changing at a rapid pace, how can schools keep students prepared for the real world.

It's not an easy task, and one school officials want some help with, said Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent for Davie County Schools.

To get some ideas, Davie schools and the Davie Chamber of Commerce are planning a community meeting on education to set some long-range goals for what students in the Davie school system should be learning.

Steed and a three-member committee from the chamber are planning the meeting for February, with help from the Piedmont-Triad Education Consortium.

"They were very enthusiastic with the idea," Steed said of the chamber. "What we hope to do is invite several industries, community leaders, to help us to put a plan together for the future of our school system."

Help Available For Sub-Standard Housing

The Boone Trail Housing and Community Development Consortium (BTH&CDC) has received a HOME Program grant of $90,000 from the North Carolina Department of Commerce to assist six low income elderly and disabled families in Davie County to rehabilitate their homes to comply with housing and energy codes.

At least five homeowners and one renter are planned to be assisted throughout Davie County, with priority for applicants scoring highest on rating factors regarding family needs and circumstances, house rehabilitation needs, geographic distribution, and long term affordability.

Low income families desiring to apply for participation in this home project should telephone Davie County Department of Social Services at 1-704-634-5926 to schedule an interview. Information and applications will be available from project staff to be located at the Davie County Department of Social Services at 228 Hospital Sreet in Mocksville on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Jan. 12, 13, and 14, 1993, from 9 a.m.-noon and 1-4:30 p.m.

The home program funds are federal funds appropriated by Congress and the President to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development under the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act of 1990, which distributes these funds to entitlement entities. The N.C. Department of Commerce awards these funds competitively based upon proposals.

Vehicles No Longer Listed On Property Tax

RALEIGH — Beginning Jan. 1, 1993, taxpayers will no longer be required to list their registered (tagged) motor vehicles for property taxation with county tax assessors in January of each year.

Property tax on these vehicles will be billed monthly based on a list provided to the counties from the N.C. Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV).

In the past, property owners received one county tax bill for all real and personal property. Under new statutes, they will receive a separate tax bill on each registered vehicle and an additional bill for all real and other personal property. Three months after renewing their motor vehicle registrations with DMV, vehicle owners will receive bills from their county tax departments which are payable on the first day of the following month.

For example, if a vehicle owner has a March DMV registration renewal, they will receive a county tax bill for that vehicle in June. This county tax bill would be due on July 1 and must be paid by July 31 to avoid interest charges.

If county property taxes are not paid on time, county tax collectors will issue "block" orders to DMV. If a vehicle receives a block order, its registration cannot be renewed until the county taxes and interest have been paid. Registration will be renewed on blocked vehicles only after paid county tax receipts have been presented to DMV.

Some vehicle owners may receive bills from counties or municipalities in which they do not reside at the time of registration renewal. When this occurs, they may go to either the county which billed them or the county which should have billed them in order to correct the error. All incorrect billings should be corrected within 30 days.

Unregistered (untagged) vehicles must still be listed in January and will be billed with other personal property.

Taxpayers should realize that this is not a new tax. It is simply a new method of collecting an existing property tax and ensuring that vehicles are automatically listed with county tax departments.

In order to minimize any errors during the transition to this new method, vehicle owners should adhere to the following instructions:

- Register vehicles on time.
- Pay all taxes on time.
- If the address and county are incorrect on renewal cards, notify DMV immediately.

Kids Can Learn From TV

The average child watches 22 hours of television each week, and he is learning. Any parent can see how effective TV is in teaching children about new toys and foods, but children also learn useful facts.

"The most useful lessons are on educational TV programs. Research has shown that educational children's programs are of value," says Dr. Cynthia Johnson, extension specialist at North Carolina State University.

A study of Sesame Street audiences, a program designed to help preschoolers, found that children learned the names of body parts, geometric forms, roles of community members, names of letters, letter sounds, number recognition, counting and various other skills that help prepare them for school. Those who watched frequently gained more than those who watched less frequently.

First-grade teachers who did not know how often individual students had watched Sesame Street rated frequent viewers higher in general preparedness for school than they did infrequent viewers.

The Electric Company is effective in helping to teach basic reading skills to 6- and 11-year-olds.

Another educational program, 3-2-1 Contact, has succeeded in teaching some scientific concepts to 8- and 12-year-olds. "The show makes a special effort to engage girls and minorities," Johnson says. "It encourages children's natural curiosity and makes the point that science is everywhere."

Studies have shown that children learn the scientific concepts taught in 3-2-1 Contact. "For example, in one study of 192 fourth and fifth graders, over 60 percent of the children were able to explain how an airplane flies after watching the show," Johnson says. "Another study revealed that children's attitudes toward science improved after watching the show for several weeks."

Square One, another educational show aimed at 8- to 12-year-olds, teaches about math. "The series illustrates the use of mathematical problem-solving, and the sound mathematical content is presented in an interesting, accessible and meaningful manner," Johnson says. "Studies have shown that children learn the concepts presented and can, in many cases, apply these concepts to solve new problems."

Johnson encourages parents to monitor their children's television habits so that kids don't spend too much time watching TV. "Balance your child's TV viewing habits, just as you try to balance his eating habits," Johnson recommends.

Marinating Adds Flavor To Beef

By Babs Wilkinson
N.C. Dept. of Agriculture

The beef industry in this country got started when cattle was brought here by the Spanish.

Some of the Indian tribes in the South traded for cattle and began tending them, but were forced to leave them behind when they migrated west. Settlers who eventually took over the unoccupied territory, found remnants of those herds running wild.

Generations of scientific breeding and feeding have resulted in the fine beef we enjoy today. Southerners know many ways to make the most of good beef, especially on the grill. From tender steak broiled over white-hot coals to savory roast marinated in a spicy sauce, beef, summertime, and the grill make a great combination.

When you want to marinate before sliding your beef on the grill try some of the following tips.

1. Always marinate beef in the refrigerator; never at room temperature.

2. Allow ¼ to ½ cup of marinade for each 1 to 2 pounds of beef.

3. Marinades may be cooked or uncooked. Cooked marinades add the most flavor and are preferred when marinating for more than 12 hours.

4. Cooked marinades should be completely cooled before adding to beef.

5. The tenderizing effect of a marinade is usually about ¼ inch from the cut surface of the meat.

6. A heavy-duty plastic bag is convenient for marinating; a glass utility dish may also be used. Select dishes in which the beef will fit snugly but lie flat.

7. Turn beef occasionally during marinating so that all sides are equally exposed to the marinade.

8. For tenderization to take place, beef must be marinated at least 6 hours, or as long as overnight. Marinating longer than 24 hours causes the meat fibers on the surface to break down, resulting in a "mushy" texture.

9. For flavor, marinate 15 minutes or as long as 2 hours.

10. Remaining marinade may be brushed on beef during grilling. It may also be served as a sauce with the grilled meat. It should be heated to the boiling point before serving.

Learn To Respect Child's Temperament

Does your preschooler have a trait or two that drives you crazy?

"There are a number of temperamental traits that can make your youngster difficult," says Dr. Cynthia Johnson, extension human development specialist at North Carolina State University. "By temperamental traits, we mean consistent personality characteristics. Fortunately, there are management strategies that can make life easier for you and your child."

Some children don't listen and have trouble concentrating. "Don't shout across the room and tell him it's time to pick up his toys," Johnson says. "Instead, establish eye contact before you speak. Keep the instructions simple."

If your child was restless as an infant, extremely active as a toddler and now gets wild, over-excited and loses control, you've probably already realized that he has a high activity level. "First, keep these children safe. Then learn the signs of over excitement. If you can see it coming on, you can step in and distract your child. This will give him a chance to cool off. Also, find a way to allow plenty of time and space for active, noisy play," Johnson says.

Some children are intense. A high-intensity child screams rather than whimpers and yells rather than talks. "Remember that this is a personality characteristic," Johnson says. "You have to adapt, so try to become tolerant." These children tend to be very noisy. Carpeting, curtains and even quilts hung on the wall can help absorb some of the noise. Parents of children with this type of personality trait occasionally need to find someone to watch their child so that they can take a little time out.

On the other hand, the shy child is often quiet. He rejects new people, foods and clothes and tends to cling to Mom and Dad in a new situation. "These children need to take things at their own pace," Johnson says. Introduce new things gradually.

Another sort of child that needs to take things gradually is the child who has difficulty adapting to change. This child isn't shy, but he has difficulty with change and transitions. "You can help by establishing daily routines," Johnson says. When change is required, try to make it gradual and let him know that it's coming.

While many preschoolers need and appreciate the security of routine and schedules, there are some who do not. "Require that he observe family routines by coming to the dinner table or getting into bed, but don't force him to eat when he's not hungry or insist that he fall asleep when he's not tired," Johnson says.

Some children have a low sensory threshold, so they overreact to light, sound, pain or how things feel or taste. "If your child seems overly sensitive, respect his preferences whenever possible," Johnson says. She also recommends trying to reduce the amount of stimulation in his environment.

A child who cries, whines, complains and fusses a lot, can get on a parent's nerves, but these children cannot help the way that they are. "Realize that mood reflects temperament and learn to adjust your expectations," Johnson says.

The stubborn, strong-willed child who has prolonged tantrums needs sympathetic but firm parents. "Take a stand early," Johnson recommends.

"Respect your child's temperament," Johnson says. "Otherwise, you may find yourself spending too much time dealing with personalities and perhaps ignoring other parenting or family responsibilities."

Watershed Regulations Affect Much Of Davie County

The Environmental Management Commission adopted final water supply watershed regulations on Feb. 13.

These regulations result from North Carolina House Bill 156, the Water Supply Watershed Protection Act, passed by the General Assembly in 1989. Restrictions on development densities, land uses, and stream buffers are intended to reduce harmful impacts of stormwater runoff entering surface water supplies. Local governments must develop ordinances that meet or exceed these state regulations.

Where Do Restrictions Apply?

New development is restricted in water supply watersheds. These are land areas draining to rivers or lakes used for public water supply.

There are seven water supply watersheds in Davie County.

For water supplies with very large drainage areas, development restrictions apply only in defined protected areas. For water supply intakes located in streams, the protected area is land within 10 miles and draining to a water supply intake in a stream.

Development restrictions are more stringent in a watershed's critical area. The critical area is land within one-half mile and draining to a stream intake. Stormwater runoff from critical areas is most likely to harm water quality.

Are Single Family Lots Affected?

Single family lots under single ownership are exempt from these regulations.

What Are Watershed Classifications?

All water supply watersheds in the state are assigned one of five watershed classifications based upon existing development and pollution potential.

The classification determines the future development density limits. New development in water supply watersheds may be either low density or high density.

Low density development does not require stormwater controls and allows less built-upon area than high density development, which requires engineered stormwater controls. Low density development must have 30-foot vegetated buffers around streams, while high density development must have 100-foot buffers.

Where Davie County zoning ordinances are more stringent than the watershed regulations, county ordinances can prevail. Local government can develop more stringent regulations for any part of the watershed regulations it desires too.

WS-I classification is for undeveloped water supply watersheds in publicly-owned forests and park lands. No new development is allowed. No WS-I streams are in Davie County.

WS-II classification (Bear Creek classification) is for predominately undeveloped water supply watersheds. New development in critical areas is limited to 1 house per 2 acres (6 percent built-upon) with the low density option, or 2 houses per acre (24 percent built-upon) with the high density option. New development outside critical areas is limited to 1 house per acre (12 percent built-upon) with the low density option, or 2.5 houses per acre (30 percent built-upon) with the high density option.

WS-III classification (Hunting Creek classification) is for low to moderately developed water supply watersheds. New development in critical areas is limited to 1 house per acre (12 percent built-upon) with the low density option, or 2.5 houses per acre (30 percent built-upon) with the high density option. New development outside critical areas is limited to 2 houses per acre (24 percent built-upon) with the low density option, or 4 houses per acre (50 percent built-upon) with the high density option.

WS-IV classification (South Yadkin and Yadkin River classification) is for moderately to highly developed water supply watersheds and for protected areas of rivers and lakes with large drainage areas. New development in critical areas is limited to 2 houses per acre (24 percent built-upon) with the low density option, or 4 houses per acre (50 percent built-upon) with the high density option. New development outside critical areas is limited to 2 houses per acre (24 percent built-upon) with the low density option, or 70 percent built-upon area with the high density option.

WS-V classification is applied in some cases for waters upstream of WS-IV protected areas in large watersheds. It is also intended for water supplies used by existing private industries to supply employees. There are no categorical restrictions in these areas, but EMC or local government may apply requirements to protect downstream waters.

Wildlife Can Be Drawn To Yards

No value can be placed on the aesthetic and recreational benefits of wildlife in the backyard. Birdwatching, nature photography, as well as children observing nature's world around them are priceless.

Many different species of birds and wildlife can be attracted to the backyard by following a few simple suggestions. All wildlife require four basic needs: water, food, protective cover, and a place to nest.

Water will attract birds to a yard much quicker than food.

Water needs to be available to birds and other wildlife throughout the year. Water supplies can be as elaborate as a fountain or as simple as a trash can lid turned over. Birds and other animals are especially attracted to the sound of dripping or splashing water.

During cold weather be sure to break up any ice that forms over water. Some specialty shops, catalogs and garden centers sell water heaters that prevent water from freezing during frigid weather.

Birds and other wildlife require a constant supply of food. Some will become dependent upon homeowners as a food source. Check bird feeders often to replenish low food supplies. Remove any moldy feed. Some species of birds, bluebirds for example, feed only upon fruit and insects. Suet will attract birds such as nuthatches and woodpeckers.

Planting trees and shrubs that provide fruit, nuts and berries is another method of attracting birds and wildlife. Dogwood, pyracantha, nandina, holly are just a few berry producing plants that attract birds and other wildlife. Be sure to select plants that are adapted to soil and site locations.

Cover is another important consideration when attempting to attract birds to the backyard. Evergreen trees and shrubs are especially valuable as cover plants. Red cedar, holly, leyland cypress, pine and deodar cedar are just a few materials that can be planted as cover for birds and other wildlife.

Cover can also provide nesting sites. Red cedar is an excellent site for nesting. Bird houses and boxes need to be placed where birds are not threatened. Selection of the proper bird house will determine which birds will nest in the backyard.

Call the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service, Davie County Center, at 704-634-6297 for information on building bird houses and planting for wildlife.

Lights Make Up Most Of Home Electrical Costs

Lighting can account for up to 15 percent of the electrical consumption in a typical household.

You can save money by using energy-efficient bulbs and fixtures; and by remembering to turn off lights when they are not needed.

Fluorescent bulbs and tubes convert electricity to visible light up to five times more efficiently than incandescent bulbs and last up to 20 times longer. All fluorescents require a ballast, a small transformer that provides the high voltage necessary to initiate the charge which produces the light. The ballast also regulates the current that flows through the tube.

U-shaped and circular fluorescent tubes are available to replace incandescent bulbs. The adapter contains the ballast and holds the fluorescent tube.

A new fluorescent called a compact or "PL" for plug-in, has recently been introduced. Compact fluorescents can be used in commercial and business applications, and are excellent for use in homes.

Compact fluorescents are usually four times more efficient than incandescents with 20 times the life. A compact will last about 10,000 hours compared to the 500 hours of an incandescent. These lights come in small wattages (5 to 27 watts) that produce as much light as standard (25 to 100 watts) incandescent bulbs. When purchasing compact fluorescents look for a replacement of about one-fourth the watts of the incandescent you are currently using. For example, a 15 watt compact fluorescent will produce the same amount of light as a 60 watt incandescent.

Like the U-shaped and circular fluorescents, the compacts come with an adapter that will screw into a standard incandescent socket.

Although fluorescents cost more than incandescent bulbs they will pay for their extra cost in energy and replacement savings over their lifetime.

When using these lamps in place of incandescents, make certain that they have a comparable light output (this should be indicated on the package) and that they will fit in the fixture. These lamps are available at most supermarkets and variety stores.

Christmas bills are rolling in at our house. All my good intentions and the resolution of last January, to be more sensible this year at Christmas, were forgotten. The temptation to buy just one more gift was too strong, and I gave in.

I'm one of those who keeps hoping to win the 'Publisher's Clearing House Sweepstakes' and be forever debt free (which my husband says is an impossibility). But I like to joke about winning just the same, even though deep down in the recesses of the "sensible part of my brain" I know the odds are not in my favor. So I'll make another resolution for 1993 like the one of 1992.

Most of us do make the same resolutions year after year: Go on a diet, quit smoking, exercise more, spend less, save more. Perhaps the failure rate for the long term goal, supersedes the success rate, because the right recourse to get the right response, is off course.

The One whose birth we just celebrated, Jesus the Christ, our Emmanuel (God with us), gave us His resolution at the beginning of His ministry. "The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He appointed me to preach the gospel to the poor. He has sent Me to proclaim release to the captives, and recovery of sight to the blind, to set free those who are downtrodden, to proclaim the favorable year of the Lord. (Luke 4:18-19)

If we look upon His course for right living, we soon realize that the response was directed toward others. His resolution was set firmly in His love of His Heavenly Father and all humankind. It was a forever love and an abiding love, regardless of the individuals state of being. "Io, I am with you always, even to the end of the age," He said. (Matthew 28:20b)

Perhaps it would be wise to follow His example as we make our resolutions this year and direct them toward "others." The outcome could be something like this:

By eating less, there will be more food to share with the poor in America, Somalia, and other starving peoples of our world.

By not smoking, we give ourselves and those around us cleaner air to breath. It also frees our bodies from a captivity that shortens the gift of life.

By wise spending, we have more to share with the downtrodden. These may be the jobless, homeless, or physically and/or mentally ill.

By being like Jesus our Savior and having love for all mankind, we can set free those who are blinded by color, creed, or status.

By following our Lord's example of sacrificial love for others into this New Year, we too can proclaim that this is "the favorable year of our Lord."

Think on it.

The Davie County Board of Elections is located in Room 103 of the Davie County Courthouse, 140 South Main St., Mocksville, NC 27028-2425.

Registered Voter List Purged

Pursuant to the election laws of North Carolina the Davie County Board of Elections is in the process of purging their files of electors who were registered for voting prior to Oct. 10, 1988, did not vote in the Nov. 1988 General Elections, and have not voted in any election held in Davie County through November 1992.

Notices are in the process of being mailed to the 1,361 electors who fall in this category. The elector may update their registration records by returning the form provided to the elections office within thirty days of the date of their notice. Only the electors themselves may request that their voter registration remain active.

Davie County has permanent and continuous registration, and a person needs to re-register only if they have been purged due to a felony conviction, or for failure to vote during the four consecutive year period of two presidential elections.

For further information, contact the elections office either in person, or by calling 634-2027 during office hours Monday-Friday.

In Loving Memory of Misti Anne Mathena
on her 17th Birthday, January 10th

January 10, 1976 - September 4, 1990

Sunday is Misti Anne's birthday. She should be turning "17" but she'll never be any older than 14 years old. She is missed so very much. Sunday is a special day because my precious child was born 17 years ago. She will be forever laced into my heart and soul until the end of eternity.

When I think of her, I remember the love and beauty she brought into my world. I remember her with tears and smiles. Tears because I don't have her to hold anymore and smiles because she made me so happy.

I wish I could see what she would look like at age "17", but I won't let her age in my mind or heart. She will always be only "14".

I'm so grateful that God allowed me to give birth to this wonderful, mystical child. She was the warmth and brightness of my days. She was the moon and stars of my nights.

She was very happy on her last birthday. She laughed until tears of joy filled her big, green eyes. Misti Anne's 14th birthday makes her 17th birthday easier to deal with.

Even though Thanksgiving and Christmas were hard to get past - I believe her birthday is the hardest to be without her. If her last birthday wasn't as good for her as it was, I don't think I could stand it. I remember every detail of Misti Anne's celebration of "14" glorious year of life on earth. She was happy, exelted and at peace with herself and her life.

In her 14 short years, I gave her all the love I could possibly give to anyone and I got every ounce (if not more) in return.

I can't wish her "Happy Birthday," but I can close my eyes and see her as she was on January 10, 1990. If I had known I was going to lose her and if I had known that was going to be her last birthday with us, I don't think I would have changed that day because she was so happy. It gives me great comfort to remember her happiness that day. She was special and very, very precious in every possible way.

I love her dearly and I wouldn't trade my place as her mother with any other mother that still has their daughter for anything in the world. I want to be her mother. She was with me 14 years, 7 months and 25 days. That's worth more than a lifetime as someone else's mother.

Misti Anne will be my beautiful, little green-eyed baby - always and forever and a day. God blessed me the day she was born, "17" years ago this January 10th.

Loved and missed by her family on her 17th birthday.

Momma, Jerry, Bobby, Suzan, Dale, Shannon & CJ

Misti Anne will live in our hearts - Always, Forever and A Day and she will be loved just as long as forever lasts.

You Gotta Wonder About Santa, Xmas

After spending another wacky Christmas in New York with a bunch of Italian Catholics, here are a few final thoughts about the holidays....

I had to play Santa Claus again this year for a few New York kiddies. And I had this thought on Santa.

Only Santa can entice young girls with candy to sit on his lap. Anybody else does that and he's in jail for being a pervert.

And if Santa did it any other time of the year, he'd be in there with him.

What political party do you think Santa belongs to? He's old and has white hair so he could be a Republican. He makes a lot promises so he could be a Democrat. And he's not real — so he must work for Ross Perot.

During the holidays, I harken back to the days when I never used the word "harken."

I think I know why Joan likes to go home for Christmas. It reminds her why she got the heck out.

When I go home for the holidays, I always need a self-esteem tuneup. Here's what a typical conversation would be with my dad if I had gone home for the holidays:

Me: "Hi Dad, I'm home. Merry Christmas."

Dad: "You know what your problem is, boy?"

Me: "Bye, Dad. Merry Christmas."

I always love the gifts given by grandparents. I was 25 years old and my grandmother was still sending me five dollars.

I'd say, "Thanks, Grandma, maybe after next Christmas, I'll have enough to to the movies."

While in New York, there were 50,000 sightings of the jolly, fat man in the funny suit.

And in addition to Elvis, some people spotted Santa Claus too.

Santa is more progressive and up to date when he comes South. Instead of a sleigh,

Charlotte's Lewis Wins Resolution Run

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie Family YMCA director Ann Blackmon knew she'd have over 100 runners for the fourth annual 10-K Resolution Run Saturday morning. But she wanted more than runners.

"We wanted to keep the family aspect in the race, too," she said.

So she made sure there was plenty of food on hand. No sooner had a runner finished the 10-K race or the fun run than he or she continued running — straight into the YMCA to join family members for a pancake breakfast sponsored by McDonald's.

"Everyone enjoyed that," Blackmon said with a smile.

Whether it was the pancakes or better weather, the Resolution Run welcomed its largest turnout in the four years. A total of 156 runners, 23 from Davie County, participated. Six states were represented.

"Last year, we had only 83 but the weather was bad," Blackmon said. "We had sleet. This year, it was cold but not enough to bother the runners' breathing. It was good weather for them."

The date of the Resolution Run brings out more runners also, she added.

"We want to run a week before the Charlotte Marathon," she said. "It's a warmup for that."

Sam Lewis, 39, of Charlotte, won the 6.2-mile race with a time of 34:16.8. Curtis Swisher, 21, of Kernersville, was eight seconds back in second place and Statesville's 18-year old Michael Reeves, was third.

The female winner was Alendia Vestal, 41, of Brevard. Her time was 39:59.8.

Taking the Fun Run title was nine-year old Brent Potts of Gastonia. His 11:56.5 finish was 19 seconds better than runnerup Bob Potter from Mocksville, who is 56 years older.

Clement An Expert With Bow, Arrow

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When Butch Clement was a 10-year old boy, he took to the woods with a tiny bow and arrow.

"It had three arrows and I killed a rabbit with it," he said.

Over the years, Clement spent a lot of time in the woods. He learned a lot about hunting. And he became an expert at using a bow and arrow.

Five years ago Clement opened a hunting supply business — where hunters could learn a little bit about the newest products and swap stories.

But the store became a victim to the economy, and to Wal-Mart, he said. Last week, he turned most of the business over to Emory Crawford at Farmington Road Ace Hardware.

Crawford said the store sells some supplies, but can't offer the expert advice, especially on archery, that Clement offered his customers.

Clement has seen hunting change dramatically. "When deer season started in the early 70s, I knew two bow hunters, and I was one of them," he said.

Back then, hunters sought squirrels and rabbits and birds and foxes. And most boys learned to hunt or shoot a gun from their father or another close relative.

"When I was growing up, there was always a neighbor or an uncle who would adopt you. You always had somebody to go hunting with. By the time you were 10 or 12, you knew how to handle a gun.

"Now, if a father doesn't hunt, the child won't get a chance to.

"I chased birds with a BB gun," he said. Later, he was paid 5 cents each for killing English sparrows at the old Mocksville taxi stand.

He shot squirrels and caught rabbits, which were sold at the City Market in Winston-Salem.

And most Davie families regularly ate some type of wild game.

"You could hunt back then. We hunted everything. It was a social event," he said.

"You wouldn't see a house but every 15 minutes or so, and everybody had a pack of dogs. Everybody did it. You set your life around it. That's all you wanted to do.

"It was good entertainment and it kept everybody out of trouble. If you find a sport-

Realignment, Freshmen Top Last Year's Sports Stories

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County High School received an early — and very special — Christmas gift from the North Carolina High School Athletic Association in 1992.

Realignment.

Realignment used to be a dirty word. It was like receiving a gift from that uncle you didn't like. Realignment had thrown Davie into a 4-A league with Greensboro schools — that is, until the latest reorganization. The rural league Davie was placed in made everyone so happy that it was an easy pick for the Enterprise-Record's top story of 1992.

In fact, the top two stories had nothing to do with an individual or team accomplishment. The second most important sports story was sending the freshmen athletes to the high school, despite staying at North and South Davie junior highs.

In 1992's Top Ten, there were the usual visitors. Davie's baseball team won its fifth Central Piedmont Conference title in six years under coach David Hunt. The wrestling team was number one in the state before losing but did bounce back for a regional championship. And the Mocksville Legion overcame the odds to win the Southern Division of Area 3 for the third time in Dale Ijames' four-year reign as coach. And don't forget the Crosby Celebrity Golf Tournament, which brought famous faces to Davie County for the seventh straight year.

The following are the Top 10 sports stories of 1992, in order of importance:

1. Realignment: Realignment made Davie officials smile for two reasons. One, the school would be in a predominantly rural conference. Two, no more trips to Greensboro.

"Nobody minds the long trips when they think there's a chance to win," said athletic director Buddy Lowery. "No one is going to miss those long bus rides to Greensboro."

Davie will begin the realignment next fall. The league will still be called the Central Piedmont but gone are Grimsley Dudley and Parkland.

Remaining are Davie, South Rowan West Forsyth, Reynolds and Mount Tabor. Joining them are new members South Stokes and North Davidson.

"We did as well as we expected," said suerintendant Bill Steed. "We've been in 4-A for eight years and this is potentially the best realignment we've had. Not having the Greensboro schools is good. They were really not rivalries. They're far-removed from us."

The longest trip Davie will have is to South Stokes, 45 miles away. No other school is over 25. Davie will be the second largest school with an enrollment of 978. West will be the largest at 992.

Davie will leave Greensboro behind with a good taste in its mouth. The football team defeated both Grimsley and Dudley for the

Koontz Back With Teammates

Keith Koontz thought his senior year was ruined when an automobile accident broke a bone in his arm, just above his wrist.

Perhaps even more painful than the injury was when it occurred — on the first day of Davie High School basketball practice.

Koontz

The 6-2 forward returned last week in the Rowan County Christmas Tournament and made sure the War Eagle fans knew he was back.

In a 51-48 loss to Salisbury, he scored his first points of the season. In a 77-39 thrashing of North Rowan in the third place contest, he put an exclamation point on the victory by swishing a jumper at the buzzer.

Coach Charles Crenshaw eased him into action during the tournament but felt afterward that Koontz was ready to contribute more.

"He's just now working his way back," Crenshaw said. "He's learning to play with everybody. But I think he's okay. He's not in bad shape."

Bubba's Back Too

Bubba Coleman, last year's only all-conference player, is also back from an ankle injury, suffered a month ago.

The 5-7 point guard took little time getting back in the flow of the offense. In his first game, he scored 20 points and hit six straight free throws down the stretch.

"He also had eight steals and five assists," Crenshaw said, "so that was a pretty good night's work."

Coleman scored only five points against Salisbury but had three steals and five assists. After another double figure scoring effort against North Rowan, he was named all-tournament.

"Everyone's comfortable with Bubba in there," Crenshaw said.

Big Court Blues

Playing in the Rowan Christmas Tournament at Catawba College can hamper some of the high school teams that come in.

The reason? The court is regulation college size, which is larger than high school.

"I don't think it hurt us," Crenshaw said. "We play a lot of people."

Davie played 14 players in every game and had at least nine score in each game. Eleven scored against Salisbury and all 14 responded with points in the North Rowan win.

Crenshaw decided he'd let everyone play an equal amount of time against North Rowan in the Christmas tournament but he had no idea how well that strategy would work in the 77-39 win.

"We sort of divided them into three groups of five and said, "You've got four minutes, let's see what you can do," he said. "I tried to give each a team a center (David Snyder, Brandon Scott and Jason Ricci), three point guards and so on."

Notebook

By substituting so much, the college-size floor at Catawba College was no problem.

"We didn't get tired," Crenshaw said. "We play a lot of people."

The strategy paved the way for the largest margin of victory (38) in Crenshaw's four-year career as coach.

"Everbody knew they were going to play and said, "Well, I've only got four minutes. I better go hard."

Spencer Tournament

Davie plays Parkland at home Friday and one thing is certain.

The 7-1 Mustangs are for real.

After toiling in or near the cellar for the past few years, coach Tom Muse has welcomed several top players from an 18-2 jayvee team, including 6-6 Cuncho Brown. Parkland beat North Surry and North Forsyth before losing to East Forsyth in the finals of the Frank Spencer Tournament last week in Winston-Salem.

Denny Key's West Forsyth team beat North Forsyth 73-50 for third place.

All-Northwest

Although it is the dead of winter, Davie County football players are still being recognized.

Seven War Eagles were named to the Winston-Salem Journal's All-Northwest Football team, two of which made it on offense and defense.

Junior Jared Eure solified his position as one of the CPC's top players in 1993 by being named as an honorable mention running back and linebacker. Coleman was named honorable mention quarterback and defensive back.

The only player named on the first or second team was Kevin Goolsby, who was second team offensive lineman.

Davie put six of its 11 defensive starters on the honorable mention defense. Besides Coleman and Eure, Davie had Corey Deese, Chad Carter, Jon Ward and Brian Tribble.

The Central Piedmont Conference had four first team players, including West Forsyth's Lee Brush and Anthony Jenkins. Reynolds' Jomo Legins and Parkland's Butch Fields were also first team players.

Elkin's Chris Charles, who is expected to play for the Mocksville Legion next summer, joined Coleman as an honorable mention quarterback.

Lincks Out

When Davie's boys play Grimsley later this month, they may face the Whirlies without coach Robin Lincks on the sidelines.

The Grimsley basketball coach was suspended for 30 days without pay for allegedly being physically abusive to a student.

Lincks' Whirlie team is expected to win its second straight CPC title.

Jimmy Arant, a ninth grader, charged Lincks, claiming the fourth-year coach choked him and threw him to the ground.

Lincks supporters say he was trying to break up a fight involving Arant. But Arant said the incident began when he playfully pushed Lincks during a badminton game at the school Dec. 10. Arant told the Greensboro News and Record Lincks said, "Don't you ever lay a hand on me again."

Davie plays Grimsley Jan. 29 in Greensboro and Feb. 23 at home.

Players Of Year

For the first time, two athletes shared the North Carolina Player of the Year award.

Malden's Antoine Ikard, who set a state rushing record with 6,797 yards, joined Burlington Cummings' receiver Maurice Mebane as the top player. Mebane was the national career receiving leader with 292 catches.

Cheerleaders Deserve Celebrity Status

WINSTON-SALEM — Wake Forest basketball fans from Davie County received a pleasant surprise last week when they attended the Demon Deacons' rout of Lafeyette in Lawrence Joel Coliseum.

The Deacon cheerleaders were in Shreveport, La. for the Independence Bowl and unavailable for the game. So Wake officials invited the top cheerleading squad in the state to take over.

Those cheerleaders happened to be from Davie County High School.

The local cheerleaders have become celebrities. They'll be going to Orlando, Fla. later in the school year for national competition. Already, they've won a state title in the Cheerwine Cheer Off in Greensboro. They won the UCA regional championship, also held in Greensboro. They were invited to cheer during the Shrine Bowl high school all-star football game in Charlotte. And now, they've cheered for an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball team.

What's next, the Super Bowl?

sman, you'll find a pretty good person."

Despite what animal rights activists claim, Clement says sportsmen are responsible for maintaining wild animals — and places for these animals to live.

"If you combine hunting and fishing, it will be more people who do this than all other sports put together.

"Sportsmen have brought all the wildlife back. White tailed deer is up, black bear is up. Squirrels are coming back, and turkey flocks are coming back."

And the hunters have changed. They don't kill as much as they used to, Clement said.

"You would hunt back then to get something to eat. Now, you basically hunt them to find them. Very few rabbit hunters even carry a gun. They just want to see the dogs run. Now, people ask them how their dogs ran, not how many rabbits they kill."

Clement, of the Oak Grove community, cut hair for a living before opening the hunting store.

"I just burned out ... I woke up one morning and couldn't do it any more," he said. "I always loved this (hunting) and I knew a lot about it, so that's what I wanted to do."

The store first opened in a building off U.S. 158 across from his home, and later moved to Farmington Road.

"I would like to have done it when the economy was better, because you really meet a lot of nice people. I've met more people in the last five years than I had met in my whole lifetime."

The worst part, he said, is that larger stores that sell hunting supplies can't offer the personal advice to the new hunters, or to those who want to learn a little more.

"It's a shame when you don't have somebody to go to ... and say, 'What do you think?' People who work in department stores aren't trained.

"In the last five years, people in Davie County have come around, have learned how to bow hunt. I think the store contributed to that.

"That's probably the only thing I got out of this whole thing ... taking a kid, showing him how to shoot a bow and then kill a deer ... teaching a woman how to shoot ... and hearing their stories."

first time to wrap up 1992.

2. Freshmen Go To The High School: With middle schools dominating the junior high scene, Davie County began preparing for the future by sending the ninth grade athletes to the high school for all fall sports. All spring sports will go up, as will wrestling and girls basketball in the winter. The only team that remains at the junior highs are the freshmen boys basketball teams.

A committee of Steed, principals Dub Potts, Julius Suiter and Robert Landry, as well as athletic directors Sam Beck, Charles Crenshaw and Lowery completed the study.

"Our first choice was to leave freshmen football, basketball and baseball at the junior highs," Steed said. "But there wasn't anyone to play."

The freshmen made a smooth transition in the fall of 1992. Several ninth graders have taken key roles on the high school teams. Neil Cornatzer quarterbacked the jayvee football team. Tami Ramsey and Beth Campbell were in the top six in tennis. And currently, Chris Marello is starting for Davie's wrestling team. Several see plenty of playing time for the jayvee girls basketball team.

3. Baseball Team Makes It 5 Of 6: There are some things Davie County sports fans count on year in and year out: a Central Piedmont Conference baseball championship.

That's exactly what Hunt and the War Eagles gave them in 1992, finishing 11-3 in the league and 15-8 overall, despite losing eight of nine starters from the previous title team.

Jason McCray led the team with a .388 average. He was joined on the all-conference team by Randy Brewer, Eric Presnell, Steven Smith and Bubba Coleman. Hunt was Coach of the Year for the fourth time in six years.

"A lot of people didn't think these kids had the talent to do this," Hunt said. "But they played together and got as much out of themselves as they possibly could.

"Winning breeds winning. Tradition has something to do with (another title). We need to carry it over to the other sports."

4. Wrestlers Lose First Match In Seven Years: How powerful is Lowery's wrestling team at Davie High? A loss was the fourth biggest story of 1992.

When the War Eagles fell to Grimsley, 38-26, it halted a streak of 72 regular season wins and 43 straight without a loss in the conference. It also knocked Davie out of its number one state ranking.

But a resilient club bounced back to defeat Grimsley in the regionals 119½-114. Jon Ward was Most Valuable Wrestler of the regionals and finished third in the state at 125 pounds.

5. The Crosby Returns: America's feel-good golf tournament returned to Bermuda Run for the seventh year in June and a former resident won the $120,000 first place prize for charity.

John Mackovic used to play the course frequently when he lived in Bermuda Run. He teamed with Sam Hendrix to win take the title from defending champ Rick Barry.

6. Legion Wins Again: If there was ever a year that eternal optimist Dale Ijames thought his team had no chance to win the Southern Division, it was 1992. He had lost the bulk of his 1991 title team and Mocksville was as green as a Boston Celtic uniform. Add the fact that always-powerful Rowan County had a stream of returnees, and the summer looked bleak.

But when the regular season ended, there was Mocksville, carrying a 17-4 record into first place, where it tied Rowan.

7. Swim Team Begins: A new sport came to Davie High in the form of swimming. Karen Umberger became the high school's first coach. The sport became a reality with help of the new Davie YMCA, where the team practices.

It didn't take long for Davie to make its mark. Brian Tribble was named all-state and sophomore Matt Osborne won the CPC diving title. Both made the state meet in Chapel Hill.

8. Sam Beck Resigns: The county's most successful football coach of the 1990s, Beck resigned his head football coaching job at North Davie Junior High and followed later by giving up his athletic director's job. Ron Kirk took over both positions.

Beck was the only freshman football coach North had known. He helped build the facilities and turned North into one of the more respected junior high programs in the state. His last two teams went 13-0 with two titles and he had only one loss in the past three seasons.

Beck said he stepped down for personal reasons.

9. Rangers Draft Legion Coach: Former Mocksville Legion pitcher Jack Kimel wanted to be Ijames' assistant Legion coach, a job Ijames gladly gave him in 1992. But it didn't last long. The Texas Rangers drafted Kimel and sent him to Butte, Montana, for his first year of professional baseball.

It didn't take long for Kimel to make his mark. Brian Tribble was named all-state and sophomore Matt Osborne won the CPC diving title. Both made the state meet in Chapel Hill.

10. Basketball Players Set Junior High Records: South Davie's Josh Ward and North Davie's Jonette Williard will long be remembered at their schools after outstanding individual performances in 1992.

Ward scored 40 points against Chestnut Grove in a 73-53 win to shatter the school's single game scoring record of 38, held by Derrick Wilson.

Soon after, it was Williard's turn. The eighth grader set the freshmen league on fire, averaging 25.3 points per game. In a 76-34 win over West Alexander, she burned the nets for 37, breaking Andrea Gentry's mark of 31.

Honorable Mention

Stories making honorable mention:

• Softball teams Carter's Construction, Pizza Spinners, Sentry and Libery all made headlines in 1992.

Carter's won the NSA Class D tournament in High Point behind MVP Barry Whitlock.

Pizza Spinners, led by J.C. Hendrix, went undefeated in Davie County leagues throughout the summer

Sentry, led by Robert Edwards, represented Zone 3 in the USSSA Class E state tournament.

Billy Wall went 10-for-11 in the last three games to lead Liberty Methodist to its first church league tournament title in four years. He was 4-for-4 in an 8-6 championship game win over Fork.

• Cooleemee had arguably one of the greatest 6-7 grade teams in Davie Youth League history, going undefeated and winning the regular season and playoff titles. Shady Grove won the 4-5 grade championship.

• Construction of Davie County's fourth golf course began at Pudding Ridge.

YMCA's Resolution: Run, Run, Run

Over 150 runners took part in the Davie Family YMCA's 10-K Resolution Run and the fun run. The fourth annual even drew runners from six states, including 23 from Davie County.

Lewis and Vestal received a $100 gift certificate from J.C. Penney's. It was presented by the sponsors, represented by Mark Barkley, a YMCA board member.

In fact, all of the sponsors had something in common with the YMCA. Hanes and Sara Lee were sponsors, represented by Mark Barkley, a YMCA board member. McDonald's manager Danny Gist was in charge of the food. He is a member of the YMCA, "who works out every day before he goes to work," Blackmon said.

YMCA director Ann Blackmon watches the runners come in during the 10-K race.

Scott Blackmon gives a runner a card as he crosses the finish line of the 10-K run.

10-K Race

Swisher stayed close to Lewis for most of the race until Lewis opened up a comfortable margin on the last leg of the 6.2 mile course, which began at the YMCA and continued through the streets of Mocksville.

Reeves then came in with a time of 35:18.0.

Lewis was still far off the Resolution Run record of 31:23, set last year by John Hinton.

Vestal was a minute off the female record, also set last year by Debbie Davis of Washington, D.C., who ran a 38:47.1.

Ann Wetherhold of Winston-Salem was the runnerup female and 46th overall (43:03.9).

Neil Cummings, 40, of Mocksville was the fastest Davie County runner. He finished 15th with a time of 36:38.9. Bill Paff was the next local runner, placing 37th. The 46-year old Mocksville resident ran the course in 41:54.3.

Other Davie County runners included Gary Prillaman of Mocksville (68th, 48:17.9), Richard Smith of Advance (75th, 49:30.9), Dana Triplett of Mocksville (81st, 50:35.5), Harold Stephens of Advance (82nd, 50:38.0), Thomas Hannenburg of Mocksville (92nd, 52:08.0), Sally Moyer of Advance (93rd, 52:12.0), Ronald Seamon of Advance (97th, 52:02.4), D.H. Peterman of Mocksville (103rd, 53:50.0), Mary Evans of Mocksville (120th, 57:29.7), Tara Lowery (126th), Ralph Barker of Mocksville (127th), Vickie Gaither (128th), Kay Watkins of Cooleemee (131st) and Matt Hamrick of Cooleemee (132nd).

Hamrick was the 10-K's youngest runner at 13. Charles Futrell was the oldest. The Brevard runner is 72. He just edged out Advance's Stephens, who is 70.

Fun Run Results

Blackmon said the Fun Run was not an official distance, "but somewhere between a mile and a mile and a half."

It made no difference to Potts, who soared across the finish line as the only runner under 12 minutes.

Ages ranged from six to 65. Elizabeth Schumacher of Winston-Salem won a prize for being the day's youngest runner. The 6-year old ran the Fun Run in 19:23.3.

Of the 17 Fun Run participants, seven were from Davie County: Laura Moyer of Advance (4th), Craig Moyer (7th), Phyllis Potter (9th), Telesia Grant (14th), Azalee Stockton (15th) and Diane Meadows (16th).

The Contest

Crimson Tide Rolls To Title — Just Like Bryan Davis

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Considering Alabama won the national championship, it was only fair that Bryan Davis "Rules" won the national championship of football contests (this one, stupid).

Plastered all over his final entry of the year was "Go Tide." And "I Hate Miami."

The crack staff here at the Enterprise would like to give the Heisman Trophy of Football Contests to Davis. He not only won the final $25 of the year but was probably the best or near the best prognosticator this season. Davis, Randy "Handy Dandy" Thompson and Dennis "Burger" King were always near the money.

Davis tied this week with "Punch And" Judy Tucker with three losses. But Davis came closer to the total number of points (47) in Alabama's 34-13 win over Miami. He predicted 38, which put him nine off. Tucker predicted 58, which was 11 off. She takes home the final $10 prize of the year. (Don't ask Judy how hubby Donald Joe did, okay? They may live in the same house but we know who the real football expert is. The sports editor won't embarrass D.J. by revealing how many misses he had in bowl week.)

The Awards:

The "Expert" Award: To Davis, who won money twice and unofficially had one of the best overall records.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To Arthur "Bull" Frogge, who had only three misses until missing the last two.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award 2: To Sandra "Dee" Johnson, who had only three misses until really choking, missing the last four.

The "It Just Ain't My Week Award: To Jerry Meadows, who picked more like Jerry Lewis in the final week, missing 14 of 20 games. Ouch!

The Year-End Awards:

The "Long Distance" Award: Rodney "Fair Or" Fowler, who came the longest distance to play the contest. He is from King, N.C.

The "Let's Give Him Some Money Anyway" Award: To Thompson, who once tied for money three out of four weeks before losing in the tiebreaker each time.

The "It Ain't Never My Week" Award: To Kevin "All For One And One For" Albrecht, who was positively the worst player in 1992, despite playing just a few weeks. Albrecht missed the most games in two different weeks and also was named as the worst college picker one week and the worst pro picker in another.

The "Favorite Nicknames" Award: The sports editor's five personal favorite nicknames:

- "Funky Cold Ma" Dena Potts.
- Leon "The Man From" Ladd.
- John "Double Cheese" Boger.
- Evelyn "Hamburger" Hepler
- Randy Athey "Breakey Heart."

The "Heads Above" Award: Winners of that whopping $25 first place prize this year included: Will "And Testament" Junker, Evelyn "Hamburger" Hepler, Eddie "Munster" Johnson, Conrad Chappell "Of Love," Mo "Knows" Dobson, Matthew "Baskin And" Robbins, John "Double Cheese" Boger, Ken "Yard" Sales, "Farmer In The" Dale Prillaman, "Slim" Jim Atwell, Joe "Pretty" Boyette, Randy "Satin" Sheets, "Little" Joe Maglero, "Tiny" Tim Shuford and Donald "Duck" Carrick.

The "Looking Over My Shoulder" Award: Second place winners this year included: Leon "The Man From" Ladd, "Just Say" Julie Lookabill, "Sea" Shel Brannon, Dennis "Burger" King (twice), "Fish" Gil Mullis, Crystal "Clear" Serfass, Michael "Angelo" Seaford, Gary "Dead Or A" Livengood, "Wild" Bill Esra, Amy Porter "House Steak," "Step By" Stephanie Whitaker, Don "Juan" Redmond, Todd "Milwaukee" Brewer, Sue "Front" Page and Davis.

This Week's Winners
First Place: $25
Bryan Davis (3 Misses)
Second Place: $10
Judy Tucker (3 Misses)

The Record:
Last Week: 16-4
Season Total: 226-94

Wow! The sports editor had a year he can brag about. And I didn't lie about it either. Every prediction was right here in the paper.

A 16-4 bowl week left me with a 70 percent mark for the season.

And let me tell you one other thing. The publisher says he is trying to get enough businesses to sponsor a basketball contest for the next two months or so.

Stay tuned.

Fisher, Coleman Lead Davie To Third Place Finish

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

SALISBURY — Nicky Fisher stole the hearts of the Davie County basketball fans last week during the Rowan County Christmas Tournament.

Against North Rowan, he simply stole the ball.

Fisher

Fisher, who had six steals, was a key figure in Davie's third place finish in the annual event. Along with all-tournament Bubba Coleman, he helped the War Eagles rout the Cavaliers 77-39 with their usual kamikaze style of play.

It was the largest margin of victory in Charles Crenshaw's four years as coach and left the War Eagles 5-3 going into this week.

"We had a real good tournament," Crenshaw said. "I feel good about it. We played well in all three games."

After defeating South Rowan by nine in the first round, Davie lost a big lead and its second round game to Salisbury, 51-48.

"I'm still happy about the hustling and effort we're giving," said Crenshaw.

Coleman joined several West Rowan players on the all-tournament team. West defeated Salisbury for the title, led by Most Valuable Player Dadrian Cuthberson.

Beating North Rowan

Crenshaw was worried about a letdown going into the North Rowan game. Against Salisbury, the War Eagles led for 30 of the 32 minutes before succumbing in the final seconds. Crenshaw sensed an emotional dropoff but didn't get it.

"In the past, I don't think we would've done that," Crenshaw said of bouncing back. "I think we would've been flat as everything. But this group keeps fighting back. That's what I like about them."

Fisher led the defensive pressure against North. In the last 12 seconds of the first half he had two that he turned into easy baskets. It finished off a 15-0 run to end the half, giving Davie a 43-19 lead at intermission.

"He has a knack of being in the right place," Crenshaw said. "I thought Nicky had a shot at all-tournament too. He scored points, had some assists and had a bunch of steals."

Davie outscored the Cavs 26-5 in the second quarter as Coleman scored nine and Fisher eight.

"Intensity-wise, it was the best we've played," said Crenshaw. "We're bigger than North Rowan. We got some extra shots on the boards because of the size."

Coleman scored 37 in the three-day tournament, but Fisher was a pleasant surprise, scoring 32. He led all scorers against North Rowan with 14 while Coleman had 12.

"We don't know what position Nicky plays," Crenshaw chuckled. "He's a guard and forward. We use him when we're pressing. He's quick and jumps well. He has an unorthodox shot but he's shooting 50 percent. He's played well for us all year."

Losing To Salisbury

Fisher was the only double figure scorer against Salisbury with 10 but Davie's pressure defense seemed to be enough to upset the 6-1 Hornets.

Davie's lead was 11 in the first half and still five at halftime, 38-33.

The War Eagles still led 41-35 with five minutes remaining in the fourth period, when Salisbury went on a 12-0 spurt for a 47-41 lead.

"We just didn't make our shots," Crenshaw sighed. "We missed free throws. And our shots were all makeable."

Davie still had its chances. Trailing 49-43, David Snyder hit the first of a one-and-one but missed the second. Keith Koontz, seeing his first action of the season after a wrist injury, tipped in the miss, making it 49-46.

Gerald Roberts hit a layup for a 49-48 deficit with 50 seconds left. Down 51-48, Jason Phelps missed a three-pointer but Tyrone Martin got the rebound out to Coleman, who also missed a three.

"We're very lucky to be playing in the championship game," said Salisbury coach Sam Gealy.

Roberts finished with nine, Snyder seven, Coleman five and Martin four.

Crenshaw hopes his team's momentum carries over into this week. The War Eagles started with Reynolds Tuesday, West Rowan Wednesday and has Parkland Friday.

Reynolds and Parkland are favorites to win the Central Piedmont Conference while West Rowan is leading the South Piedmont Conference teams with only one nonconference loss.

Notes:

- Davie has already surpassed last year's win total of four.
- Davie has also Davie took 79 shots to 45 for North Rowan.
- Martin and Jared Eure had eight points apiece against North Rowan. Martin added 10 rebounds.
- Fourteen players scored against North.
- Coleman had five assists against Salisbury and North Rowan and added eight steals against North.
- Coleman, Eure, Phelps, Corey Deese, Snyder and Martin are all still nursing minor ankle problems.

Speech Contest Open

Students at Davie County schools will test their skills as public speakers Jan. 18 during a contest to recognize Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The theme of the contest is "I Have A Dream" to commemorate King's famous speech in Washington, D. C. But students will have the opportunity to speak about their own dreams, said Terry Bralley, Mocksville town manager.

Bralley said the contest, which is sponsored by the town, is a way for students to celebrate King's accomplishments.

"It's our newest holiday, and we are still trying to carve out the way we will celebrate it," Bralley said.

Julius Suiter, principal at South Davie Junior High School, said the contest will teach students better speaking skills, while also teaching them about King.

"A lot of kids, black and white, don't know why we celebrate who he was," Suiter said.

The contest is a way for people to see blacks and whites working together to improve race relations, he said.

Students may enter the contest by signing up at the Mocksville Town Hall by Jan. 15. Students will compete in three categories, depending on their grade.

The contest will be at the Davie County courthouse Jan. 18 at 10 a.m.

First prize in each age group is a $100 savings bond. Second prize is a $50 savings bond and a $25 savings bond for third place. All prizes are contributions to the contest. No town money will be used for the prizes, Bralley said.

Each student will speak for five minutes and will be judged on the content of his speach and delivery.

All students and the public are invited to attend.

Sheriff's Dept. Gets Cars

Davie County will kick in $5,750 to buy a used Ford for the sheriff's department to help solve a car crisis.

Chief Deputy Bob Lemmons asked the board of commissioners for $11,500 Monday to buy two used cars.

The department's cars are in terrible shape, Lemmons told the board. Some cars have 150,000 miles on them and recently the floor board fell in on an officer's car causing the carpet to catch on fire.

"I know there's been discussion of new vehicles but I need something to keep on the road answering calls."

Lemmons called the used cars a temporary fix until new cars can be budgeted for next year.

Commissioner Chairman Carl Boon asked Lemmons if his department had $11,000 in its budget for the cars.

Lemmons said most of the money the department has is earmarked for equipment that has already been ordered.

Commissioner Diane Foster suggested that the county pay for one of the vehicles with money from the general fund and the sheriff's department pay for the other car.

The motion passed 5-0.

Davie Schools Continue To Make The Grade

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Like a good student, Davie schools continue to make good grades.

The N.C. State Board of Education for the third year in a row has rated Davie schools as "par," meaning that local students score as they should on state tests — better than average.

In its annual report card on public schools, the state board takes into consideration factors such as money spent on schools, race of students, family incomes, family education history, working mothers, two-parent families in deciding how students should score in a specific school system.

The range in which Davie schools would be rated par all falls above state averages.

"We're pleased we continue to score above the state average and within our range," said Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent of Davie schools.

A stable community and stable schools contribute to the success, Steed said. "The cooperation between the home and the school is vital."

Mike Hendrix, Davie schools testing coordinator, agreed.

"Our faculties are pretty stable. They know our programs and what our students need," Hendrix said. "By and large, our parents expect their children to do well and our teachers expect their students to do well."

Steed said that while he doesn't like to compare school systems, the annual report card helps Davie school officials see where they're doing good, and where improvement is needed.

Murder Charge Reduced

Man Convicted In Killing Of His Brother

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

On June 6, a Davie mother said good-bye to one of her sons, and on Jan. 6, she said good-bye to another.

Herbert Eugene Pulliam, 31, of Route 4, Mocksville, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter for the May 17 beating of his brother, Kim Allison Pulliam, who died June 6 from head injuries. Pulliam had been charged with second degree murder, but pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of manslaughter.

The brothers, who local law officers said frequently fought each other, got into an argument at the home of Paul Horne off U.S. 601 near Boxwood Church Road around 8:15 p.m. May 17.

Horne said one of them rang his doorbell, and he let them in.

Kim told Horne "We came up here to turn you on" and put a paper bag he had been holding on the floor. Horne said he thought they had both been drinking.

Kim and Eugene began arguing about change, Horne said.

"Eugene acted like he got mad because Kim didn't have the right amount of change or something," Horne said. Eugene shoved Kim, and Horne told them to get out of the house. They began fighting near the front door of the home, with Kim on bottom.

Horne said he saw Eugene hitting Kim, but he didn't know Eugene was holding one of the loose bricks from around the walkway. After he saw blood on Kim's face, Horne said, he locked the door and called 911.

By the time he finished the call, Eugene showed up at the back door and asked for the paper bag. He grabbed a mop from the carport, broke the

Elvis Causes Stamp-ede

By Laura Williams-Tracy

Elvis fans at the Mocksville post office were loving their commemorative stamps tender Friday at noon as more than 35 lined up inside on The King of Rock-n-Roll's birthday.

Phyllis Smith of Mocksville was the first to buy a sheet of stamps of a young, smiling Elvis crooning into a microphone.

"I've loved him all my life. He was big when I was a teenager," she said.

Smith, who never saw Elvis in concert and who believes he is, in fact, dead, arrived at the post office an hour and 10 minutes before the stamps went on sale. "I wasn't trying to be first in line, I just wanted to beat the crowd."

Others stood in line behind Smith with $20 bills clutched in their hands. Several yelled out that "Love Me Tender" and "Crying in the Chapel" were Elvis's best songs.

The Mocksville post office sold its last sheet of stamps just before 5 p.m. Friday.

Gregory Pleads Not Guilty

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Davie County teen was indicted for first degree murder by a grand jury Jan. 4, and pleaded not guilty to the charges Jan. 6.

William Chris Gregory, 18, was charged with murder after the shooting of his ex-girlfriend, Rolanda Evette Howell, 17, on Aug. 10, in her parent's home off Dalton Road.

Howell was shot to death in her bed while holding her 1½-year-old baby. Gregory is the baby's father.

Another suspect in the shooting, a 14-year-old at the time, has been held in the Forsyth Juvenile Detention Center since the incident, according to his attorney, Sally Smith. His case has been continued several times, and Smith said she does not know when it will be scheduled for trial.

Gregory was also indicted on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, inflicting serious injury, resulting from the shooting of Howell's brother, Trevor Olanda "Fonzie" Howell, 15.

Howell remains partially paralyzed and is taking therapy at a rehabilitation center, according to a family member.

A charge of breaking and entering also brought an indictment by the grand jury.

Gregory appeared in court with attorney Wade Leonard Wednesday and pleaded not guilty to the charges. The cases were continued to the March 1 session of court.

Gregory remains in custody in Davie County Jail without privilege of bond.

Davie Looks At Regional Landfill Offer

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County has been made an offer to dump its garbage in Winston-Salem's new landfill.

It's an offer local officials say is worth looking into but not one they want to jump into.

Four rural counties — Davie, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin — received the offer Jan. 7 from the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Utilities Commission.

All of the counties operate their own dumps but are facing expensive state and federal regulations concerning safe storage of garbage.

Acting County Manager Jim Stockert said the proposal to dump garbage for between $20 and $25 per ton was interesting and will be considered during the next few months. Tipping fees at the Davie County landfill are currently $30.

But, Stockert said, all of the math is yet to be solved. The cost to dump in Winston-Salem does not include the cost of transporting the garbage to the next county.

Schools' D.A.R.E. Education Seems To Be Working

We expect a lot out of our public schools these days.

The schools have taken on responsibilities in recent years far beyond the basic reading, writing and arithmetic curriculum. The schools now are responsible for making sure children get breakfast. They teach children about sex. They conduct screenings for health defects. Teachers even lead the students in flouride swishing.

For all the schools' problems and failures, one program seems to be succeeding — D.A.R.E.

With the loss of school prayer and Bible reading, D.A.R.E. may be the only surviving program that teaches morality. It teaches them not to use drugs. It teaches them to resist harmful peer pressure. It teaches them respect for law enforcement. The program is a joint effort by sheriff's departments and the schools to combat drug use. A deputy, not a classroom teacher, leads the program. D.A.R.E. has received high marks across North Carolina. Students pledge not to use drugs as they grow up.

My son's sixth grade class completed its 17-week D.A.R.E. education this week. It was marked with an elaborate ceremony and graduation. Politicians and officers and education leaders attended with scores of parents. A dozen high school role models attended to reinforce the message that children can resist peer pressure to use drugs.

The message is excellent. The heavy intrusion on school time is questionable, especially when it eventually comes at the expense of academics.

During the graduation, a group of the students read essays they had written about their pledge to avoid drugs. Here is part of one of the best essays, written by Tasha Hunter of Mocksville:

> I feel really good to be graduating from a program that's going to help me a lot in my later years. To keep my body healthy, I will stay away from drug situations and drugs period. The only thing I will have to do with drugs is to talk other people into not doing it. To control my feelings when I have stress or when I am angry, I can punch something (other than my brothers) .... If my friends try to pressure me into taking drugs, I will say no and keep on saying no. Then I will walk away."

It is painful to acknowledge that drugs is a problem that even children must confront. Perhaps life has never been easy for children. In the early 1950's and 1960s, we had to worry about a nuclear holocaust. We learned about bomb shelters and radioactive fallout. Now, children have to worry about AIDS and drugs and pollution and violence.

We have always expected the schools to cure our social ills — from racial discrimination to health issues ... and even ignorance. That's a big agenda, and it keeps growing. Yet, the number of school days remains constant.

County Needs A Local Attorney

To the editor:

I am not normally one to express my opinion in letters to the editor, but recent activities of the Davie County Commissioners have incensed me into lifting my pen. I was appalled when new board members made a unilateral decision to fire a man without even nominal notice (no matter how bad a job he might have been doing, he had bills to pay, too). Now they have made a decision to send our Davie County tax dollars to a Winston-Salem law firm. Yes, Mr. Price does live in Davie County, but his business is in Winston-Salem, whose residents most likely generate most of his revenue.

What is wrong with the Davie County lawyers? It is appalling that the most qualified person for the job (a woman with five years experience in state government and two and one-half years experience in county government) was passed over for a man with no experience in government. It is appalling, but not surprising, since new members of the county commissioners have made it quite clear in previous statements that they intend to rid the county of "old blood", then why go out of the county? This county has several attorneys who practice in Davie County who are much more qualified than the man chosen, at least two of whom were interviewed for the job and turned down. Was this merely a political move since Mr. Price has strong connections with the Board of Elections?

Whatever the motives, the county commissioners were out of line in choosing a county attorney who not only was the least qualified of the applicants, but who does not even practice law in the county. I for one would prefer to see Davie County tax dollars spent in Davie County.

Keep Christ As Part Of Christmas

To the editor:

This letter is sent in response to Annie Ruth McPherson's letter dated Jan. 7 in which she asked, "Why all the controversy about there not being a manger scene at Tanglewood?"

I know you are not supposed to answer a question with another question, but it is fitting to ask why keep Christ out of Christmas? Or why deny the general public the good news that the Bible teaches. Christians share, and our Lord commands? See Matthew 28:18-20 and Mark 16:15.

Court Delays Benefit The Lawyers

To the editor:

Six months ago, I complained about the delays in our court systems. At that time, I inserted an ad in the Enterprise Record, requesting information if other people were having the same problem. Not one reply.

A year ago, I contacted Gov. Martin about delays. His answer: Write to your state representative. Half of them are lawyers. Do you think they will kill the "golden goose"? All the delays is where they make their money. I read the local papers and when I see this article, 25 lawyers up on complaints, then read five slapped on wrist with a few months suspension and the others remanded for later action. I never did find out what happened to them, probably lost in the schuffle of papers.

Three lawyers in Davie County area whose offices are within 150 feet of each other can't get together long enough to settle. The reason: one wants justice, the others want commissions. "Sue me," said the defendant. It's two years now and I get tired of people saying "It's the system."

Thankful For Finding Daughter

To the editor:

I would like to express my appreciation to Jerry W. Stockton for locating my daughter, Linda, whom I had not been in contact with in over four years. I met with Mr. Stockton on Dec. 23 to initiate the search for my daughter. When my daughter was contacted through Mr. Stockton, she immediately responded with a phone call on Dec. 29, and we planned a reunion in Daytona Beach, Fla., for the New Year holiday.

We had so much "catching up" to do over events of the last four years and I was so pleased to learn that I have a son-in-law, James, and that my daughter is well and happy.

Thanks very much, Jerry, for giving me back my daughter. What a great way to start the new year.

The King Gives Way To The King

Mike Barnhardt

Richard Petty's day in the sun didn't last long. For weeks before his last NASCAR race in Atlanta last November, up until a couple of weeks ago, Richard Petty was known as The King. He was The Man, and souvenier hawkers couldn't get enough Richard Petty t-shirts, hats, sunglasses and commemorative soft drink containers to meet the public demand.

My, how quickly things change.

Thanks to a birthday and timely release of a postage stamp voted upon by the public, Petty gave way to a new King — actually an old new king, maybe even a dead old new king — Elvis Presley, The Big 'E'.

People forgot about Petty. It was time for Elvis hype.

All around the country, women, some of them for the first time in years, left their velvet Elvis painting alone on the wall, without an adoring fan to imagine what it would be like if Elvis was with them that very minute. They left Elvis hanging on the wall and went to their local post office, wanting to get a sheet of postage stamps depicting a young Elvis Presley (The public voted on a young hip shaker rather than an old pill popping belly shaker.). They couldn't resist getting a sheet of these postage stamps, sure to become a collector's item. Heck, the postal service only printed 300 million or so of these things. They should print 300 million more.

Why not? Most of the people who buy these Elvis stamps wouldn't dare to put them on an envelope, whether it be returned to sender or not. These stamps are for admiring, for saving. They'll be framed and put on the wall, in a most esteemed location between the velvet Elvis painting and the commemorative Elvis Jim Beam decanter on the mantel.

Elvis Presley, The King of rock and roll, is hot again.

Elvis was fodder for yellow journalists when his hip shaking shook up the music world in the late 1950s. And rarely has a month gone by since in the Enquirer or other distinguished publication that Elvis's name can't be found on the front page in big letters.

Back then and now, Elvis sells. Since his death in the 1970s, most reports are from close friends who say the death was a hoax and Elvis is hiding from his adoring fans. There's even been rumors that Elvis was alive and living in Turkeyfoot. Another one had him partying at The Bullhole.

What made Elvis so popular; the music or the moves?

You know the moves, the hip gyrations that made mothers cringe. Now, the mothers that screamed for Elvis and his gyrations back then are cringing now when their own daughters squeal when Marky Mark drops his britches and struts across the stage in his underwear.

So what's the difference? Marky Mark will never be The King, that's what. So don't worry, mothers of today, your teen daughters won't be worshipping "The Big M" when they get older. Luckily, they'll likely forget who he is.

The recent Elvis-mania went too far, however. The postage stamps are OK; why shouldn't the United States Postal Service honor Elvis, who when he died, was a burned out, drunk, drugged woman abuser? Sounds like legend material. The t-shirts are OK, the tourists to Graceland (Elvis's home) are OK, even selling velvet paintings at gas station corners are OK.

But Elvis music on a CD? That's a disgrace. Elvis music doesn't belong on CDs, only on 45 rpm records and eight-track tapes. Leave the CDs for Marky Mark and Garth Brooks. Elvis is The King of eight-track tapes (You can find them at flea markets and gas station corner stands that sell the velvet paintings).

Fork Fire Dept. Seeks Community Support

To the editor:

It is our concern at the Fork Fire Department to see if we can clear something up that has been a puzzle to our community and a great concern to our department concerning community involvement. The fire department was established in 1954 and at that time an incorporation committee was formed to oversee the fire department. There were certain members of the community who were chosen and voted on to be the incorporators. But when the Fire Department filed for a non-profit status we were told that the Incorporators meeting would have to be opened to all of the Fork Fire District, not just certain ones, at which time we were told that we were to advertise these meetings, usually in January, so the community would be aware of this meeting. But after we did so, we still did not have the community involvement that we thought we should.

We're not sure if the community does not understand what these meetings are, we certainly hope that it's not that they just don't care. We believe there may be a misunderstanding about this. This meeting is for all the community — not just certain ones.

We know in the past our community has supported us and we sure hope they will continue to. These meetings were designed to let the community know how we spend their money — and what we look for in the upcoming year. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Jan. 14 at the fire station.

We look for suggestions as to how we may run our fire department more efficiently for your needs. We look forward to know how you feel, after all, we are here to serve you and your needs.

We would also like to say that for the last two years, we have been working on lowering fire department rating for our district. We were inspected at the end of the year and were rated 4/9, which means that there should be a savings to those who live within 1,000 feet of a fire hydrant. Our fire district has been a straight 9 since we were established in 1954. Your insurance rates for most companies are figured on these ratings, so, if you live within 1,000 feet of a hydrant, you should contact your insurance person to see if you qualify for this savings, which will be a 4. It is our regret that we cannot put a hydrant every 1,000 feet, but our budget will not allow us to. If we can be of any help, please contact the fire station or chief or call 634-0453, Davie County Fire Marshall.

Elvis Stamps A Big Hit Among Davie Residents

to Mocksville after selling out.

Jean Steele, Cooleemee post master, said she sold 26 sheets in 12 minutes. She estimated that 50 people were in line to buy the stamps when they went on sale.

Elaine Marion, a clerk at the Advance office, said she sold the office's seven sheets within nine minutes. Customers who didn't get stamps went to other branches to try to make their purchase, she said.

Smith said she was not much of a stamp collector; but she did wait 6½ hours once to buy Babe Ruth's stamp.

Wanda James, acting supervisor of operations, said the Mocksville post office had never seen such a crowd to gather for one stamp.

The Memphis post office sold the first issue of the stamp at midnight Jan. 8. The rest of the stamps went on sale at noon Friday.

James said the stamps were not likely to ever become valuable collector's items because of the large number that were printed. Because of public demand, 300 million Elvis stamps were printed — twice the usual number for commemorative stamps.

Revenue from the Elvis stamps people buy but never use is estimated to be $20 million.

The Mocksville post office had 250 sheets to sell Jan. 8 and were limiting each customer to one sheet. Fans who want more can wait until after Jan. 18 for more stamps or they can call 1-800-stamp-24 and order as many as they would like, James said.

The Elvis stamp will be included in a Rock-n-Roll stamp booklet in June with such stars as Buddy Holly, Otis Redding, Bill Haley and Richie Valery, James said.

Man Pleads To Lesser Charge In Brother's Death

handle over his knee, and walked back around to the front yard with the broken mop handle.

Kim was getting up, Horne said, and the brothers walked away, one behind the other.

Kim was having trouble walking, Horne said.

Davie Sheriff's Sgt. John Agee found Kim bleeding, with his mother trying to persuade him to go to the hospital. Agee said Kim refused medical treatment and refused to press charges, saying he "would take care of it himself."

Later that evening, Agee was again called to the Pulliam's home, because Eugene was apparently threatening his father. Pulliam's mother had taken Kim to Davie County Hospital, from where he was later transported to N.C. Baptist Hospital.

Pulliam's attorney, William Hall, told Judge James A. Beaty Jr. that the incident brought to mind something that happened frequently in Hall's school years. During lunch breaks, Hall said, it was seldom that there wasn't a fight, and one of the most vicious fights he ever saw, he said, was between two brothers.

Hall said that Eugene had not only "lost a brother, but he had also lost a companion. His family has suffered for it, and he has suffered for it. He feels that if the degree of intoxication was not what it was, it wouldn't have happened."

Pulliam kept his head down during most of the testimony, and responded when the judge asked if he had anything to say.

"It was an accident. It wasn't over money. He was trying to hit me. It didn't happen like Paul said it happened. I just want the court to have mercy on me."

The maximum sentence Pulliam could have received was 20 years. He was sentenced to six years in prison, with credit given for the seven months he spent in jail awaiting trial. He was told to enroll in a drug and alcohol abuse program, and Judge Beaty recommended him for work release.

Report Card Shows Schools Doing As Expected

The report should help local officials even more next year, when figures are expected to be released for each school within each system, Steed said.

"It allows us to look and see where we are," he said. "We hope to continue to achieve and do the very best we can."

County Eyes Offer For Regional Landfill

Commissioner Diane Foster, who attended the meeting with commissioners Jeff Harrison and Larry Hayes, said she was interested in the proposal because it came from another local government.

The utilities commission is willing to make a long-term commitment to Davie County with price controls on dumping fees. And local governments are not trying to make a profit from garbage disposal as private companies do, she said.

Foster said her main concern with the proposal is how Davie County will finance its recycling programs. Currently, the cost to recycle is subsidized by garbage pickup.

The advantages of an out-of-county landfill is keeping garbage off the land in Davie County, she said. Siting a new landfill can be publicly unpopular and eventually landfills can consume large amounts of land, she said.

Joe Matthews, executive director of the Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments, the organization that joins the four rural counties receiving the offer, said he thought Winston-Salem's offer was "the finest proposal for the five counties to work together" that he could remember.

Small, rural counties are going to have a difficult time paying for the multi-million dollar landfills that environmental regulators are beginning to require, he said.

"This is by far the best opportunity rural counties have to meet the state and federal requirements and at the same time cut back on the costs," Matthews said.

Davie's ASCS Office On List To Be Terminated

Davie County's Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Services office remains on a list of offices slated for possible closing by the federal government.

Lanny Collett, Davie County's 16-year veteran of the office that administers federal farm programs, said he learned in December that 30 of the state's 97 ASCS offices met the criteria to be consolidated into larger offices. But Collett learned Friday that 23 of those offices had been recommended to the secretary of agriculture to be closed.

Davie County's office remains on the list.

Collett said closing the office will mean inconveniences for Davie County farmers and may mean the offices three employees will lose their jobs.

"I'm concerned about the services to farmers. If the offices are consolidated farmers served by Davie County will have to go somewhere else."

The current secretary of agriculture has promised that no employees will lose their jobs. But Collett said he did not know if the Clinton-appointed secretary of agriculture will keep that promise.

Davie County's Farmers Home Administration was closed last year and consolidated in Iredell County. None of that office's employees lost their job, Collett said.

Man Changes Mind, Picks Jail Instead Of Probation

In a plea arrangement in Davie District Court last Thursday, Jerry Wayne Cope, 20, was allowed to plead no contest to charges of simple assault and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, and was sentenced to 24 months in jail.

Judge Robert W. Johnson had orginally suspended that sentence, placing the defendant on probation for five years, the first year of that to be intensive probation. However, after talking with a probation officer, Cope returned to the courtroom and requested to take his active time.

Cope had been charged following an incident on Dec. 23 in which he assaulted a woman he had been dating.

In court last week, the woman told Judge Johnson that Cope had come to her home on that date and started shoving her around. She said he had been drinking and demanded she go out and buy more beer. She refused and was pushed and shoved, until he finally forced her to drive him to a convenience store, she said.

"He made me leave my two children at home alone." The children were 8 and 3, and she said when she returned the youngest was crying. "They were frightened." She said she tried to get him to leave and he hit her.

When he finally went outside, she locked the door and what's when he took her car.

Cope has previous convictions for assaulting a female and an assault inflicting serious injury.

Play Set For Sat. At Brock

Local actors will perform a play about drug abuse Saturday, Jan. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Brock Auditorium in Mocksville.

The hard-hitting play about a drug abuse and drug pushers is written by Donald Gray, a 1984 graduate of West Rowan High School who works in Davie County.

Characters in the play depict children and adults getting caught in the world of drug use and other abusers being pushed to the limit for their habit.

Gray said he wrote the play after seeing the results of the drug use among friends. He said he hopes youth groups and high school and college-age students will attend.

"When I was preparing the play those age groups were who I had in mind," he said. Children even younger might also benefit from the play's tough message, he said.

"It's not too rough. You have 9 and 10-year-olds selling drugs. They are already trying to fit in at that age."

Gray said seeing the real-life effects of drug abuse might teach young people that drugs are not the answer.

"If nothing else, it might give them a little insight to make them want to change their wrong ways."

The two-hour play was presented for the first time in Salisbury Nov. 28. Almost 300 people attended.

Admission to the play is $3 for adults, $1.50 for children ages 7-13 and is free for children under age 6.

Wrestlers Upset By Raiders

Davie Loses Ranking, First Place In League

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

CHINA GROVE — For the second straight season, the unthinkable has happened.

Davie County's wrestling team lost.

Lowery

South Rowan took the upper hand in the race for the Central Piedmont Conference championship with a 38-25 win over the War Eagles last week. It was the Raiders' eighth victory in nine matches, their only loss coming earlier this season to the War Eagles.

The loss damaged more than Davie's won-loss record. It also gave up its number one ranking in the state, falling to ninth in the Mat News poll.

Davie coach Buddy Lowery seemed to sum up the loss in two simple statements:

"We came to wrestle. South Rowan came to win."

The War Eagles did bounce back to beat Parkland later in the week, 50-10.

South Wins

South stunned Davie by winning three weight classes (135, 152, 160) that had been losses in the first meeting during the Davie Dual Tournament.

"It was a big turnaround," South coach Jimmy Christy told reporters. "I'm just ecstatic for our kids."

After splitting the first two matches (Chris Marello won by pin at 103), Davie took control as Scotty Spry won by pin at 119. Dan Callahan lost at 125 by a third period pin and Jon Ward won a 9-2 decision.

Matt Sain lost at 135, 8-2 and Benjy Frye took a major decision at 140, 16-5.

But the biggest South wins came over senior Darren Cook at 152 and sophomore Michael Hunter at 160. Suddenly, a close match was a 32-19 South lead.

"Those were two key matches," Lowery said. "At 160, I think it was our inexperience. At 152 ... it was an accident. We had both of those guys on their back too.

"After the 152 match, it was Katie bar the door," Lowery continued. "By 171, their adrenaline was flowing. You sit there and wonder what you can do but it was one of those nights. I tried to figure out what we were doing wrong — but what was different, I don't know."

Davie needed pins in the final three matches and didn't get them, despite winning at 171 and 189. James Coulston won a 7-2 decision at and Brad Groce followed with a 12-7 win over Fred

Davie Girls Take Over First In CPC

Davie Will Be Tested By Dudley, Spartans

By Ronnie Gallagher

Davie County girls basketball coach Angie Slabach received an unexpected Christmas gift upon arriving back to school from the holiday vacation — a new attitude from her team.

After playing its two worst games in the Rowan Christmas Tournament, Davie bounced back with a vengenance, winning three straight games and taking over the early lead in the Central Piedmont Conference.

Slabach

Friday's 61-37 rout of Parkland left the War Eagles 2-0 in the league and 7-3 overall.

It was a busy week for Davie, which also defeated Reynolds 49-32 and West Rowan, 49-43.

"It's been a great week," Slabach said after Friday's victory. "We've turned everything around. After the tournament, it couldn't have gotten any worse. I don't know what it is but we've bounced back."

It's a good thing. Davie will find out a few things about its team this week.

The War Eagles traveled to Dudley Tuesday and goes to Mount Tabor Friday and both could be first place showdowns. Dudley, 8-1, and Tabor, 8-2, are favored to win the CPC. Each were 1-0 going into Tuesday night.

"We won't change anything that much," Slabach said. "But against both of those teams, you can't let up at all. You have to play the whole

Davie Boys Put Scare Into Parkland's 'Men'

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

They're called the Parkland boys basketball team.

But make no mistake. These are not boys.

"They're men," said Davie coach Charles Crenshaw after the Mustangs powered by the pesky War Eagles, 57-49 Friday night in Mocksville.

The game showcased two different styles. Parkland, in the midst of its best season since turning 4-A, won with its usual physical game from several Charles Barkely clones. Davie, meanwhile, was much smaller but frustrated the Mustangs from the opening tip with its pressure defense and quickness.

Considering the final margin was the largest by any team, a large, vocal crowd was duly entertained.

"I don't know how it looked to the spectators," said Parkland coach Tom Muse, "but as a coach, it looked like a well-played ballgame from both teams."

Parkland upped its record to 8-1 and 1-0 in the Central Piedmont Conference. Davie fell under .500 for the first time this season with its third straight loss of the week. The War Eagles also lost to Reynolds 87-58 and West Rowan, 79-63.

Losing To Parkland

Crenshaw was pleased with his team's effort against Parkland but added, "What disappoints me is that I felt we outplayed them and let them get away with a win."

Despite Parkland's monstrous inside game, Davie's first three baskets were layups. It set the tone as the War Eagles challenged Parkland time and again in the paint.

Davie led throughout the first and second quarters before giving up the halftime lead, 21-20. Both teams missed numerous shots, thus the low score. Parkland was visibly frustrated by the War Eagles' scrappy defense which held senior leader Anthony Rorie scoreless.

"Davie County played exceptionally well," praised Muse. "I warned the boys before the game about them outhustling us and going for the loose balls. We talked about it at halftime —

'Hockey Hysteria'

Under Neas, Youth League Is Flourishing

By Rodney Cline
Davie County Enterprise-Record

WINSTON-SALEM — While many kids play basketball at local YMCA or recreation leagues during the winter months, another group of youngsters have found a sport they like much better.

They are playing ice hockey.

William Neas of Advance is in his second year as president of the Winston-Salem Youth Hockey League, which plays its games from mid-October through March at the Joel Coliseum Annex.

He said that he became involved in the league five years ago after attending a Winston-Salem Thunderbirds game.

"We (Neas and his family) wanted to do something different over the holidays," Neas said. "My wife (Jan) and my oldest son (Matt) fell in love with it.

"That was on a Friday night, and they were ready to come back on Sunday."

Neas said the youth league has been present in Winston-Salem for "12 or 13 years."

"I knew the people who were involved," he said. "My kids (Matt, now 17, and Scott, 11) started playing, and I have had no peace since."

After starting out as a parent and spectator, Neas decided to become league president two years ago.

"I got talked into it," he said. "But I did feel like I could make a difference."

The league is flourishing under Neas, as 73 kids signed up as beginners this year.

Davie Needs Umberger This Week

It didn't seem right, looking at the Davie girls boxscores last week and not seeing Shannon Umberger's name in the scoring column.

But the 5-11 forward has been hampered by a sprained right ankle.

Umberger

"She hurt it against East Rowan in the Christmas tournament," said Davie coach Angie Slabach.

Umberger didn't play against Salisbury or Reynolds. She saw a little time against West Rowan but didn't score.

Finally, against Parkland Friday night, Umberger seemed to be back on track, scoring five early points. But while diving after a loose ball in the second half, she slid out of bounds and had to be helped off the court. She had damaged the ankle again. She spent the rest of the game icing it.

Slabach hopes Umberger can be back for this week. Davie met 8-1 Dudley Tuesday before going to 8-2 Mount Tabor Friday.

"They're the two top teams in the conference," Slabach said. "We need to be healthy and play well. This week will tell us everything."

Premier Boy

Davie's boys had the chance to see one of the premier players in the Central Piedmont Conference in Reynolds' 6-11 senior Jiri Formanek.

Formanek towered over Davie in an 87-58 win. He had two alley-oop dunks and then was part of the play of the game. Trailing point guard Linwood Skinner on a fast break, he received a pass and slammed it home lefthanded.

"He helps you so much on defense and offense," said Davie boys coach Charles Crenshaw. "On defense, if you get beat, you know he's standing there waiting.

"On offense, you have to watch for several things. If you deny him the ball, they throw it over for the alley-oop. If you play behind him, he catches it, turns and shoots."

Crenshaw worked on trying to deny the alley-oop in practice but Formanek still made the play work.

"We failed to recognize when it was coming," Crenshaw said.

Stopping Bubba

It's obvious to Crenshaw, Teams play Davie with the attitude of stopping 5-7 Bubba Coleman, Davie's point guard and only returning all-conference player.

"Coaches know he makes us go," Crenshaw said, "and they do things to especially stop him. Against Reynolds, he shot only six times. Against West Rowan, he shot only seven times."

But Crenshaw is pleased that Coleman is doing other things. He had 11 assists against West ("if we could hit a few shots inside, he'd have had 20," Crenshaw said.) and seven steals against Parkland, although he shot only nine times and scored only five points.

And even though shooting only seven times against West, he still scored 11 points.

It Feels Good

Parkland's boys basketball coach Tom Muse has been in the business 33 years but this year, he has been handed a special team.

The Mustangs haven't had a winning season since the mid-80's but is now one of the favorites to win the CPC title, along with Reynolds and Grimsley.

"It feels good to be winning," said Muse, "since we haven't won since 1985."

Parkland is led by 6-5 senior Anthony Rorie but Muse has several youngsters in the lineup, including 6-6 sophomore man-child Concho Brown. At times, Muse can field a lineup of all 6-5, 6-6 players.

"It's the most physical team I've coached, as far as size from bottom to top, in my 33 years," Muse said. "I'm playing three sophomores and two juniors a lot of the time. And I have some seniors who have been with me for three years. So I have a good mixture of experience and young players."

That mixture has led Parkland to an 8-1 record going into this week.

Rorie Is Roaring

Crenshaw has been coaching four years at Davie and in each one of them, he has watched Parkland's inside threat Rorie kill his team.

Rorie made all the big plays in Parkland's 57-49 win over Davie Friday night, scoring 16 second half points, 12 in the final eight minutes.

"There's some schools recruiting him," said Muse. "I was glad he had a good game tonight because he had three bad ones in the Frank Spencer Tournament. He wants to do so well."

Crenshaw just wonders why he has to do so well against Davie.

"He does it to us every time," Crenshaw said. "It gets down to the end and he's just awesome."

Wrestling Worries

Can Davie's wrestlers still win the Central Piedmont Conference championship, despite the 38-25 loss to South Rowan last week?

Coach Buddy Lowery thinks so — with a little help.

Just because South won doesn't mean the Raiders have a lock on the crown. Mount Tabor, Dudley and Parkland are all good enough to beat South — and anyone else.

"In this league, anybody can get beat if they have their head right. Dudley's pretty good. So is Mount Tabor. And Parkland can give South a good match.

"Mainly, we just have to take care of ourselves and hope we get some help."

How strong is the CPC in wrestling this year? Mat News had three teams ranked in the Top 10 in 4-A. South was fifth, Davie ninth and Mount Tabor 10th, the only conference in the state with that many teams ranked. And Dudley received points so the Panthers could possibly move in.

First American Win

When North Davie wrestler Robert Guratzsch won his 148-pound match against Lexington recently, his teammates let him know about it.

"It was his first American win," they all laughed.

Guratzsch moved with his family from Germany and the wrestler speakes fluent German, according to coach Ron Kirk.

"He wrestled over there," said Kirk. "But it was international style, which is like freestyle. He has a lot of potential."

Cameron Crazies Can't Compare to Pro Hockey Fans

Ronnie Gallagher

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — I've always told my New York friends and relatives that the most entertaining fans in the sports world belong to Atlantic Coast Conference basketball.

Just watch a Duke game, I tell them. The Cameron Crazies are the funniest, wittiest, zaniest group of fans on the face of the earth.

You've never been to a professional hockey game, they always shout back.

At approximately 6:55 p.m. on Dec. 26, 1992, I walked into the Nassau Coliseum to attend my first pro hockey game.

Actually, it wasn't just a pro hockey game.

It was the home team, the New York Islanders, against the New York Rangers.

Brother-in-law Michael, who had presented me with this Christmas gift, put a hand on my shoulder as we walked in.

"Get ready," was all he said.

Islander and Ranger fans give new meaning to the word, maniacal. But to tell you about it, I'll have to bleep a few words. No, make that a lot of words. New Yorkers can't say a sentence without one particular word, a word I actually used in a story last summer after visiting Yankee Stadium.

I won't use it this time, in the name of good taste — and because the publisher told me not to.

"But Dwight," I pleaded, "everyone in New York says that."

"Not here," said Dwight, a man who doesn't use bad words. (If Dwight ever asks for a true dose of reality, I have the coliseum, teams and fans for him).

As soon as the Rangers hit the ice for pregame warmups, the Islander fans began their favorite cheer.

"Nine-teeeeeen, Forty! Nine-teeeeeen, Forty!"

Michael explained that the Rangers haven't won a Stanley Cup since 1940, 52 years ago.

And then, right on cue...

"Fifty two years? (Bleep), that's a looooooong time!"

Michael is an avid Rangers fan. Too bad on this night. The Islanders would win 6-4. And it was as if every one of those 16,297 fans knew Michael was a Rangers fan. Which made me look bad. I was with a Rangers fan. It felt like every one of them was staring right at me.

Especially after the Rangers scored to narrow the Islanders' lead to 4-3.

"Yeah, we're going to kick some Islander (bleep!)" Michael screamed at the top of his lungs.

Not a good move, Michael. Twenty-five seconds later, the Islanders scored for a 5-3 lead.

The fans surrounding us whooped, "Yeah, we're going to kick some Ranger (bleep!)."

During the first period intermission, I was standing outside the women's bathroom waiting for Joan. A guy was standing beside of me waiting for his woman.

The second period began with the Islanders scoring two quick goals.

The guy beside of me, wearing Islander shirt, hat and even gloves, was panicking. Turning to me, he mumbled in a low, Italian, mafia-like voice, "The Islanders have just scored two (bleepin') goals. Where is she?"

He walked to the women's bathroom door and screamed, "Yo, Lisa, get out hee-ah."

He walked back toward me. "I'm gonna kill her," he snarled. "I'm gonna (bleepin') kill her."

No sooner had we taken our seats than the Islanders began another favorite cheer that echoed through the rafters:

If you know the Rangers (bleep), clap your hands,

If you know the Rangers (bleep), clap your hands,

52 without a Cup,

Yeah, you know the Rangers (bleep),

If you know the Rangers (bleep), clap your hands.

When the Islanders scored again, the fans went wild for about 30 seconds. Then, in unison, they made the coliseum rumble.

Nine-teeeeeen, Forty! Nine-teeeeeen Forty!

It seemed as if every fan wore some sort of memorabilia from one of the teams. Jerseys mostly. Islander fans even had the letters "Rangers (Bleep)" on the back. Another jersey said, "My Two Favorite Teams: "The Islanders — and anyone who plays the Rangers."

One woman showcased a round, foam rubber hat. Emblazoned on the front was the word, "Puckhead." (I can put that word in the paper, right?)

While Duke fans are witty, New York hockey fans are, well, (and I'm being nice) blunt.

At Duke, when a basketball player is announced during the starting lineup calls, fans yell, "Hi."

For instance, the P.A. announcer would say, "At center for Michigan, number 4, Chris Webber."

Duke fans would greet him, "Hi, Chris!"

In Nassau Coliseum, when the Rangers were introduced, it was similar — only Hi was replaced with (bleeps!).

The P.A. announcer would say, "Starting for the Rangers, Mark Messier"

(Bleeps!).

"Alexei Kovalev."

(Bleeps!)

"Jay Wells."

(Bleeps!).

You get the idea.

But the cheer that absolutely made me realize what the Islander-Ranger rivalry is all about came when a Rangers player hit the ice and laid there, injured. The compassion for their fellow man during the joyous Christmas season came pouring out of the rafters from the Islander fans:

Scrape him off the ice!

Scrape him off the ice!

Scrape him off the ice!

But wait. There had not been one fight. There had been some in the stands (thanks to $4.50 beers) but none on the ice.

Then, in the third and final period, a scuffle began along the boards. But it was hard to watch the players go at it because what appeared to be several hundred fans stormed out of their seats and headed for the glass partition. They wanted a piece of the action.

They were all removed by security.

With a minute left, Ranger fans began exiting. "Hey, where ya goin', the game ain't over," Islander fans barked. "See ya, Ranger fans.

"Nine-teeeeeen, Forty! Nine-teeeeeen, Forty!

Finally outside, Michael said, "Well, how did ya like it?"

I couldn't believe I said it.

Compared to this, I admitted, Carolina-Duke ain't nothin.'

"Yeah, hockey's the greatest," Michael said.

With a smile, he then put the perfect cap on the evening.

"Basketball (bleeps!)."

Hockey

"At last count, we had 130 kids in all participating," he said.

The league is made up of two parts, a house league and travel teams. In the house league, intramural games are played in two divisions: under-12 and 12-up.

The travel teams comprise Winston-Salem's entry in the Mid-Atlantic Hockey League. Other cities in the league are Greensboro, Roanoke, Raleigh, and Hillsborough.

"We play the other teams on a home and home basis during the season," Neas said. "There are five divisions: nine-under, 10-11, 12-13, 14-15, and 16-17.

"We are reasonably competitive, and the 10-11 group (of which Scott Neas is a member) is real competitive. We went to a Christmas tournament in Roanoke, and the 10-11 group went undefeated with three ties."

William Neas said he got interested in hockey because it was "different."

"There's constant motion," he said. "It's got the contact of football and the finesse of basketball. For most kids, once they start playing, they won't do anything else.

"As far as physical skills go, the older you get, the tougher it is. Four year old kids get on skates, fall down, get up, and keep going. They have no fear of falling. But we help them learn the skills when they get a little older, so they won't get frustrated and can enjoy it."

The league is run with a good time in mind. "It's all strictly for fun," Neas said. "It's well-controlled, and there's no fighting. It's a lot different from the pro game."

Fees for the league are $175. Players must also furnish all equipment except their jersey. Travel team players pay an additional $100.

"That (travel team fee) is cheap because we get sponsors to offset the cost of travel teams," Neas said.

"One thing about the ($175 fee) is that we rent the building at $110 an hour, and we rent it for between six and 20 hours a week. We also rent a $25,000 ice buggy from the city."

But the fees have done nothing to hurt the success the league is having under Neas this season. The success stems from the players' enjoyment of the game.

Scott Neas prefers hockey to basketball. "There's not much point to basketball," he said. "With hockey, you get to hit people, and it's a lot faster."

Advance's William Neas is the president of the Winston-Salem Youth Hockey League.

Wrestling

McGrady.

The heavyweight match was academic as sophomore Kevin Caudle was pinned for the final score.

Christy thought a key ingredient to winning was that his team avoided the pins.

"Some of the ones who lost did a good job of just getting beat by a decision and not giving up the pin," he said. "We got pins where they didn't and that was the difference in the match."

Lowery said there was no way his team was overconfident.

"How can you be overconfident with eight or nine sophomores and freshmen in the lineup?" he asked.

Instead, Lowery gave South all the credit.

"They wrestled hard, smart and didn't give up the cheap points," he said. "When an opportunity came, they took advantage of it. They're real good on their feet."

With a sigh, Lowery added, "Like everybody else we wrestle, it was their chance to pop our bubble and they did it."

Beating Parkland

The loss woke up the War Eagles when Parkland met Davie.

"We got the bad taste out of our mouth against Parkland," Lowery said.

Marello, Chris Driver and Spry started the match with wins.

Other winners were Ward, Sain, Feyo, Mark Mason, Michael Hunter, Coulston and Groce.

Notes:

• Davie was 12-1 after the Parkland match.

• Davie's only two losses to Parkland were 2-0 decisions over seniors Matt Wilson and Darren Cook.

• South Rowan and Mount Tabor are both undefeated in the league.

• Davie has lost only two dual matches and tied another in eight years of the Central Piedmont Conference.

• Davie lost to South despite beating Fred McGrady at 189 for the first time in three years.

• Hillsborough Orange took over first place in the Mat News poll. Complete rankings in all the classifications are in the Scoreboard on page 2B.

• Mount Tabor visits Davie Jan. 13 and the Eagles go to Reynolds Jan. 19.

Basketball Replaces Football For Expert Contest Players

We're Baaaaaaaack!

You've screamed at and pleaded with the Enterprise for a basketball contest.

The publisher heard your calls and wants to continue giving away money. Really, he does. He wants to make you readers happy.

So this week begins the first Enterprise-Record Basketball Contest.

All games will be played on Saturday, Jan. 16, most of them in the college ranks and of national interest. And just for the heck of it, we added Charlotte's game at San Antonio.

As the year progresses, we'll add more pro games in there just to frustrate you even more.

And of course, the sports editor will play along. In football, I had a 70 percent finish. Can I do that well in my favorite sport?

The Record
Season Total: 0-0

What matchups we have this week. With the parity in college basketball, we may want to bring back the New England Patriots from football so we'll have some sure wins.

Let's do it.

The Games:

Iowa at Duke: Duke's first loss doesn't mean much. The Devils will bounce back at Cameron. Duke by 8.

North Carolina at Clemson: Hardee-har-har. UNC by 24.

Kansas at Louisville: Why did Clifford Rozier leave Carolina to get his brains beat out at undisciplined Louisville? Kansas by 7.

Connecticut at Boston College: Upset Special. Boston College will defeat UCONN at Chestnut Hill. Boston College by 2.

Indiana at Illinois: Illni coach Lou Henson loathes Bobby Knight — just like the sports editor. But Knight still wins, which makes us loathe him even more. Indiana by 9.

Other Winners:

Wake Forest, Florida State, LSU, Georgetown, Seton Hall, Memphis State, St. John's, UMASS, Michigan, Michigan State, Purdue, Vanderbilt, East Tennessee State, San Antonio.

Davie JV Boys Now 8-0 After Come-From-Behind Wins

Is the Davie County jayvee boys basketball team simply toying with its foes or what?

It sure seems that way after the War Eagles ran their record to 8-0 with two come-from-behind victories last week.

After leading all the way in a 69-53 win over Reynolds in its Central Piedmont Conference opener, Davie overcame a 10-point deficit with 3:40 left to defeat West Rowan, 67-64. And after falling behind 16-5 after one quarter Friday against Parkland, the War Eagles again came back to win, 59-55.

"As usual, once we get down, we seem to play harder," said coach Mike Dinkins, shaking his head. "I've never had a 3-0 week. To be where we are says a lot about the kids."

Beating Parkland

Davie's 11-point, first quarter deficit was shortlived. At halftime, Davie was up, 30-28 after a 25-point explosion in the second period.

"I bet we missed 10 shots in the first quarter from two feet," Dinkins said. "We just couldn't score."

Josh Ward played the key role in the second quarter comeback, scoring all eight of his points before halftime.

The game stayed close until the fourth period when a new defense and three-pointers won the game. Chad Lanier, Scott Van Hoy and Fred Wilson all hit treys.

"We didn't hit a three until the final three minutes and they were big, especially Wilson's," said Dinkins. "And we went to a matchup zone and they didn't know what to do with it."

Chad Alexander led Davie with 16 points, while Lanier had 13. Jason "Stick" Smith, a 6-6 center, matched Ward with eight.

Beating West Rowan

Davie was down 12 after one, 24-12 and still trailed 41-29 at halftime against West. The largest deficit was 16 in the third period.

"But I had a feeling going into the fourth quarter that we had a chance," Dinkins said.

The Falcons' turnovers and missed free throws allowed Davie to rally. When Jonathan Vaughters completed a three-point play with 35 seconds left, Davie was down only one. West missed two free throws and Smith hit the game-winner, an eight-foot jumper. After a steal, Vaughters wrapped it up with free throws.

Three players were in double figures: Lanier with 16, Vaughters with 12 and Wilson 11.

Beating Reynolds

Wilson had 17 against Reynolds, including two three-pointers. Vaughters scored 14, Jason Tutterow and Lanier scored six apiece, while five-point scorers were Scott Tutterow and Scott Van Hoy.

Notes:

- Davie is 2-0 in the CPC.
- Jonathan Vaughters didn't play against Parkland. "His knee was swollen and I didn't want to play him and hurt him for the rest of the year," Dinkins said.
- Lanier had four three-pointers against West and 10 points in the second quarter. Wilson had eight of his 11 in the fourth.
- Davie plays at home Friday afternoon against Mount Tabor.

Boys

hem diving on the floor and that ype thing. They'd shoot it and run o the corner and get it."

Muse also decided at halftime to get the ball to Rorie, "and when I moved him there, he hit some big baskets for us."

The 6-5 Rorie, who had 12 of his game-high 16 points in the second half, scored the first basket of the third quarter and Parkland quickly took a 28-24 lead.

But Davie went on an 10-2 run. Tyrone Martin, who finished with 12 points, 13 rebounds and five steals, hit two straight 15-footers. David Snyder, Bubba Coleman and Brandon Scott also scored after steals and suddenly, Davie was back up, 34-30.

The 6-4 Snyder and 6-6 Jason Rice valiantly banged inside with the larger Mustangs and Crenshaw credited them with much of the comeback.

"Snyder and Rice played the hardest they've played all year, battling those big guys," he said. "They kept the ball alive many times."

Still, Rorie's basket with three seconds left in the quarter put Parkland back up, 36-34 going into the final period.

Rorie then added 12 points in the fourth period, most after catching the ball in the middle of Davie's zone.

"I bet we got a hand on four or five of those passes," sighed Crenshaw, "and that big, strong guy just caught it and bulled it in. You can't stop a great player all night."

Rorie's turnaround jumper gave Parkland its biggest lead at 42-36 but Davie kept stealing the ball and scoring. Gerald Roberts converted a three-point play after a steal from 6-6 sophomore Cuncho Brown. After Rorie hit for a 46-41 lead, Roberts drained a three-pointer.

Roberts made another steal and layup. When Brandon Scott completed a three-point play with 18 seconds remaining, Davie was within 54-49.

Nicky Fisher made yet another steal but missed a long, three-pointer with eight seconds left. It was the final gasp and Parkland added three more points, the last on Rorie's rebound basket at the buzzer.

"Rorie does it to us every year," said Crenshaw. "But we had a chance. If Nicky hits, we're down two with a time out. He got a real good look at the basket. We got excellent shots all night, we just didn't hit them."

Davie finished the game with 19 steals from eight different players. Coleman made seven of them but he was held to five points as the 6-2 Martin was the only player in double figures. Snyder and Roberts finished with eight points apiece.

Crenshaw was as happy as a coach on the losing end of a score could be. Davie bounced back from two routs and impressed one of the CPC favorites.

"How can we play that hard and not feel good about ourselves?" Crenshaw wanted to know. "I asked them at halftime how they felt and they all said, 'daggone good. We're taking it to them.'

"That's a good feeling," Crenshaw said. When your guys know they've given their heart, that's all you can ask for."

Losing To Reynolds

Davie had more big man worries when Reynolds and 6-11 Jiri Formanek visited Davie last week. But it was one of the shortest players, Linwood Skinner, who hurt Davie the most.

The Demon point guard scored 20 points but it was his defense that was more important. Reynolds coach Howard West put him on Coleman and held Davie's point guard to two.

"These coaches know Bubba makes us go," Crenshaw said, "so they try to put good defense on him."

Davie actually jumped out to an 8-4 lead but Reynolds reeled off 11 straight points and never looked back. The Demons led 28-14 after one quarter, 50-24 at halftime and 67-40 after three.

Snyder led Davie with 10 points, while Fisher had nine and Scott eight.

Losing To West Rowan

West jumped out to a 10-0 lead, built it to 28-12 after one quarter and then held on to beat Davie in a nonconference game.

"I don't know what happened," said Crenshaw.

Davie did pull within three in the third quarter when Coleman stole the ball and fed Fisher for a bucket. But it could get no closer.

Scott had 12 points, Coleman 11, Martin 10 and Scott 10.

Notes:

- Davie is 0-2 in the CPC.
- Jared Eure quit the team last week.
- Davie was only 5-of-16 from the foul line against Parkland.
- Coleman dished out 11 assists against West.
- Davie will travel to Mount Tabor Friday and hosts West Forsyth Jan. 22.

Girls

-2 minutes hard. It's going to be big week."

Beating Parkland

Behind Tamica Cain, Davie ended the Parkland game quickly, outscoring the hapless Mustangs 10-3 in the first quarter.

A 12-2 run in the second quarter gave Davie a 34-10 lead. Cain had four in the surge, while Carrie Brown and Brooke Holcomb each had three points and Shannon Umberger two.

When 6-2 sophomore Maria Newsome scored the first six points of the third quarter, Davie led 40-16. Brown's three-point play then gave Davie its biggest lead of the game at 25 points, 43-18.

"There's a tendency against a team that's not as good to play down to that level," said Slabach. "But we played well all night, no matter who was in. We were bigger than they were and they couldn't do anything."

Slabach's subs played most of the second half, led by Holcomb, who scored nine points. Amy Mason and Anna Robertson also scored off the bench.

"Everyone got a lot of playing time, and that's good," Slabach said.

The only downside to the win came with 7:01 in the fourth quarter. Umberger slid out of bounds going for a loose ball and sprained her right ankle, a recurrance of an injury she suffered in the Christmas Tournament. Slabach said Umberger will be needed this week when Davie really finds something out about itself.

"We're playing well," she said. "We're doing a better job on the boards by staying in position. And we're a lot more patient on offense."

Brown and Newsome were the leading scorers against Parkland with 14 apiece, while Cain had 13.

Beating West Rowan

West left Mocksville last week wondering what it has to do to beat Davie County.

Just as they did in the first win over West Rowan, the War Eagles made the big plays in the fourth period.

A nip-and-tuck game saw the Falcons take a 35-34 lead into the final eight minutes. But Davie outscored West 15-8.

Brown hit four three-pointers in the second half — and hit three free throws after being fouled on another attempt. She finished with 22 points.

With the score 44-43, Davie then scored the last five points of the game.

Newsome added 15 points and 14 rebounds, while Andrea Gentry scored eight. Seniors Lori Sluder and Cain each had two.

Beating Reynolds

Newsome scored 15 points and Brown 10 as Davie had an easy time with Reynolds in its conference opener.

Reynolds was held under 10 points in each of the first three quarters. Davie led 30-16 at halftime and 39-20 going into the fourth quarter.

Notes:

- Davie is 7-3 overall.
- West Rowan had won the Rowan County Christmas Tournament a week earlier — but didn't play Davie.
- Kristin Hinshaw led Davie against Parkland with eight rebounds.
- Davie held Reynolds to 7, 9 and 4 points in the first three quarters.

Jayvee Girls Trash Parkland

Parkland made a big mistake in the early part of its game with Davie County's jayvee girls basketball team last week.

They talked trash.

All that did was make the War Eagles angry. Davie then went ahead and trashed the Mustangs, 58-20 and improve to 2-0 in the Central Piedmont Conference.

"Parkland's bad attitude helped us," said coach Sherrie Myers. "They talked trash — and you don't do that to our girls. We'll stick it back in your face."

Just ask Reynolds, who also fell, 57-18, and to nonconference foe West Rowan, who lost 59-19.

"What a good week," gushed Myers. "These girls have that fire I like. They don't want to squeak by anybody. And even when I put the second squad in, we're out there smearing the other teams. These girls want to show people they're bad."

Beating Parkland

Davie broke open a close game by taking a 27-13 halftime lead. Then, in the third quarter, Jonette Williard and Beth Wall led a 19-3 run. Williard had seven in the quarter and Wall five. Both finished with 11 points.

Tami Ramsey then exploded for eight more points in the fourth period.

Elizabeth Greene had seven points, Keisha Wagner six and Amanda Sigmon five.

Beating Reynolds

How bad is Reynolds? Myers took her press off in the first quarter. By that time, the game was practically over. Sigmon and Wall each had six steals for the game. Brooke Suiter had four and Williard three.

Williard scored 12 points while Wall, Sigmon and Ramsey all had eight. Christina Cassidy scored six.

Notes:

- Davie is 7-1 overall.
- Davie had a consistent week. It scored 57-, 58 and 59 points. It gave up 18, 19 and 20 points.
- Heather Johnson is out with a torn muscle in her leg.
- Roxanne Steele is no longer with the team.
- Against West, seven players led the rebounding with four each: Ramsey, Greene, Cassidy, Laura Moyer, Wagner, Wall and Williard.
- Davie is home to Mount Tabor Friday and will travel to West Forsyth next Friday.

Puckett, Murphy Explode Past NF Vikings, 83-75

North Davie's freshman boys coach Darrell Steele was worried about his star forward Lee Puckett when the players returned from Christmas vacation. Puckett had traveled to Shreveport, La. to follow Wake Forest in the Independence Bowl and Steele wondered what kind of shape he'd be in when the Wildcats met North Forsyth last week in Winston-Salem.

Murphy

"He was sucking air for the first three or four minutes," Steele said.

Puckett also sucked the life right out of the Vikings. He combined with Jason Murphy for 50 points and a whopping 44 rebounds as the Wildcats throttled North Forsyth, 83-75.

"We found one play that worked and Puckett scored on it about 12 times," Steele said. "I was thrilled. I knew we were going to wake up sometime and be a good team. We still made 22 turnovers but found a way to win."

Can You Say, 'Puckett?'

You can bet North Forsyth coach was saying the name, "Puckett" at halftime. His team trailed 44-35 and Puckett had scored exactly half of North's points.

The score actually surprised Steele a bit. Starting guard and outside threat Brandon Mills was out with a sprained ankle. The team was coming off the holidays with no practice and he wasn't sure what shape the players would be in. And to top it off, the Wildcats were playing in a large, unfamiliar gym against a team it defeated in overtime in the first meeting.

But Adam Niles and Neil Cornatzer rose to the occasion, replacing Mills. Cornatzer scored 12 points and Niles had four.

"Neil did a great job," Steele said. "Niles had asked me what he needed to do to get playing time and I said defense. He played his best game."

Steele also got a man-sized effort from point guard Tim Gilbreath, who played the entire game.

Murphy had a career game, but few realized it because of Puckett. The 6-2 forward dominated the boards, grabbing 28 while scoring 18. Ten of the points came in the second half when North upped its nine-point halftime margin to 11, 65-54, going into the fourth period.

"It was a good thing," Steele said of Murphy's play. "Clay (Jones, North's 6-4 center) was in foul trouble."

But Puckett was the story for the Wildcats. His points and 16 rebounds were career highs.

Notes:

• North improved to 6-2.

• Mills hurt his ankle at a church while out of town, according to Steele. He stepped off the bottom step of a staircase and turned it.

• North Forsyth hit seven three-pointers.

• Cornatzer scored eight of his 12 points in the first half.

• Thirteen of Murphy's 28 rebounds were offensive.

• North hosts South Davie Friday and goes to Central Davidson Tuesday.

Harbour, Duty Help South Freshmen To First Win

Finally.

That's how Clyde Studevent felt after his South Davie freshman boys team defeated West Davidson 66-50 for its first win of the season.

Shannon Duty, Studevent's 6-2 center, led the way with 21 points but Studevent was glad to see Jason Harbour light up the scoreboard for the first time this season. The long-range shooting guard finished with 18 points, including two three pointers.

"This is the first game I've seen Harbour come through like that," Studevent said. "I hope it continues."

South wasn't as fortunate against Parkland Friday. A missed free throw with one second remaining left South on the downside of a 55-54 score.

Beating West

South led West Davidson 15-11 after one quarter but a 16-6 second quarter run gave the Tigers a 31-17 halftime advantage. Tommy Andrade led the spurt, scoring eight of his 11 points.

"Andrade is shooting a very high percentage," Studevent praised.

Everyone contributed, according to the coach.

"Boger Hartsell is really learning how to play the point," he said. "And although this wasn't Duty's best game, he was still in command underneath. We were bigger than they were, which played a big role."

Duty and Harbour combined for 19 of South's 25 fourth quarter points to help stave off the Green Dragons.

"This was a key win because we needed it right now," Studevent said. "It was good for morale. The kids finally feel good about themselves."

Losing To Parkland

Kelvin Dewalt had a chance to put the Parkland game into overtime with two foul shots with a second left and South trailing 55-53. He hit the first and Parkland called time out. But he missed the second.

"I still felt good about our rally," Studevent said. "We were down 22-6 and cut it to four at halftime."

Notes:

• South is 1-4.

• It was West's first game of the season.

• Harbour scored 10 of his points against West in the fourth period.

• South was 11-of-18 from the line against West. The Dragons were only 10-of-27.

• Kevin Brewer scored six points for the winners.

• South had two away games this week, including one at North Davie at 4 p.m. Friday. Six of South's first eight games have been away.

South JV Boys Still In First Place

Frogge's Play Helps Tigers

Barry Whitlock knows why his South Davie 7-8 grade boys team is the favorite to take the North Piedmont Conference title this season.

"There's not just one guy you have to stop on our team," he said after the Tigers proved it in wins over Griffin, 44-27, and Asheboro, 47-32.

Third quarters were big for South. The Tigers broke open a two-point halftime game with a 16-6 run against Griffin and did the same thing against Asheboro. Leading only by three at intermission, the Tigers outscored the Comets 14-4 in the third.

"We usually don't do well in the third," Whitlock said.

"We've got a chance to win the conference," he added. "The boys go out there every time knowing that. They play like they know they're going to win."

Beating Griffin

Frankie Tatum burned Griffin for 18 points, and despite going only 4-of-12 from the foul line, center Buddy Frogge added 12. Lester Scott scored eight, Jamie Lyons four and Josh Barnhardt two.

"Buddy and Lester controlled the boards," said Whitlock. "We're getting super play from Jamie. And if I could get Josh to shoot more, he'd help. He's a real good outside shooter."

The 16-6 third quarter gave South a 33-21 lead and the Tigers kept it up, outscoring Griffin 11-6 in the fourth.

"Griffin just didn't hit anything," Whitlock said.

Beating Asheboro

Frogge was still strong under the boards against Asheboro, scoring 16. Scott had 12 and Barnhardt eight.

"I told Josh to shoot more and he said he didn't want to seem like a ballhog," Whitlock said. "I said, 'Either shoot, or sit with me on the bench.' "

With a grin, Whitlock added, "He decided to shoot."

Scott kept South in the game early, scoring six of the first 10 points. Frogge then took over.

South led 25-22 at halftime and 39-26 after three. It outscored Asheboro 12-6 in the final quarter.

"We're being aggressive, we're shooting pretty well ... I'm just real pleased," said Whitlock.

Notes:

- South improved to 6-1.
- Tatum hit three three-pointers against Griffin.
- Of Frogge's 16 points against Asheboro, 13 came in the second and third quarters.
- Also scoring against Asheboro were Tatum with seven. Trumaine Dulin and Lyons each had two.

Barry Whitlock relates the strategy that will lead South Davie to two more wins.

South JV Girls Lose

The South Davie 7-8 grade girls basketball team is getting better everywhere but where it counts — on the scoreboard.

The Tigers fell to 2-5 after dropping two more close games, 21-18 to Griffin and 29-28 against Asheboro.

South also had trouble with one-girl teams. Griffin's Melanie Hall scored 15 of the team's 21. Asheboro's Kim Civington scored 16 of Asheboro's 29.

Meanwhile, coach Jerry Callison is relying on seventh graders. They scored 28 of the 46 points.

"I couldn't be more proud of the effort," Callison said. "We're improving and it's starting to show. We'll win some of these games in the second half of the season.

Losing To Griffin

Behind Hall, Griffin held a three-to-five point lead most of the game.

"We shut her down in the second half," Callison said. "She was smooth. We put Angie Priestley on her in a box-and-one. I wish I'd gone to it earlier. She'll see it next time."

Allison Foil scored seven points to lead the Tigers, four in the first quarter. Laura Correll had six in the game, Priestley three and Jodie Stone two.

Losing To Asheboro

The second quarter was good to South against Asheboro. After trailing 5-4, the Tigers outscored the Blue Comets, 15-9 to take a 19-14 advantage. But South was shut out 11-0 in the third, falling behind 25-19.

Again, South fought back. Trailing by one, Foil was put on the line for a one-and-one opportunity with three sedonds left, but missed.

It was about the only thing Foil didn't hit in the fourth period. She scored seven of South's nine points in the final six minutes and finished with nine.

Stone scored eight points, six in the 15-point second quarter. Priestley had seven, Stacie Spease two and Correll two.

Notes:

- Correll had 10 rebounds against Griffin.
- South goes to Griffin Thursday and doesn't play again until the 21st when it hosts Lexington.

Lennox's 19 Leads Wildcat Girls

Marilyn Lennox scored the first basket of the game for the North Davie 7-8 grade girls last week when they met Ferndale.

That was a good sign for the Wildcats. She never let up.

Lennox

When North's 44-29 victory was complete, she had 19 points and North its fifth win of the season.

Lexington defeated North in another game, 29-27.

Beating Ferndale

The first half set the tone for North against Ferndale. The Wildcats outscored the High Point school by three in the first quarter and by five in the second for a 22-14 lead.

The second half was the very same. North won the third quarter battle by three and the fourth by five.

Lennox scored eight of her points in the first quarter.

"She had her best game," said coach Carol Cozart. "She only played two and a half quarters. Besides the points, she was doing a lot of other things like offensive rebounding, defensive coverage and jumping."

Marilyn Carle replaced Lennox and she even scored six points. Ferndale could not control North's inside game.

Cozart was pleased with the defense, especially from Page Steed.

"There were so many passes by Ferndale that she got a hand on," Cozart said. "She had a couple of steals and a blocked shot that disrupted their play."

Ten different players scored. Erin Umberger had four points and Cayce Hill scored three. Leslie Holcomb, Wendi Cartner, Amanda Niles, Jacqueline Massey, Kim Reich and Kristy Armstrong all had two points.

Losing To Lexington

Lexington and North were tied with two minutes left and North got the ball four times but missed shots.

Lexington scored the winning points on what Cozart called a fluke play. A Yellow Jacket accidently kicked the ball about 30 feet downcourt where a teammate picked it up and scored.

"I wasn't happy about the kick being allowed, especially for the winning basket," she said. "But we had opportunities after that. I hope it was a learning experience for us."

Lennox again led North but with only six points. Cartner had five, while Holcomb, Amanda Hendrix and Umberger all had four.

Notes:

- North is 5-3.
- Cartner led all rebounders against Ferndale with seven.
- Lexington outrebounded North 42-19. "We gave up a tremendous amount of height," Cozart said. "They had three girls slightly under six feet, two of them fairly sturdy."
- North gets another chance at Lexington Thursday at home and then doesn't play until Jan. 26 at home against South Davie.

North's JV Boys Fall To 2-6 With Losses

Ferndale proved to North Davie 7-8 grade boys coach Chris Callison that a good first quarter doesn't necessarily mean a victory.

North Davie exploded for 21 first quarter points and led undefeated Ferndale 21-14. But it was Ferndale who scored 21 points in each of the next two quarters and went on to a 76-59 win.

Lexington wasn't good to North either, defeating the Wildcats, 46-41.

Losing To Ferndale

North looked like the unbeaten team in the first quarter of the Ferndale game.

Chris Tomel bombed in three three-pointers and Derrick Smoot added another. Rhamen Love-Lane and Eric Kistler scored four apiece.

"Tomel was really hot," said Callison. "But they went to a man-to-man and he couldn't get his shot off."

By halftime, North trailed 38-35 and the score went to 59-48 after three.

"We made too many turnovers in the fourth quarter," Callison said. "But it was still our best game overall. We hustled and showed intensity."

Chris Meacham led the way with 16 points, 10 in the second half. Kistler had 12, Love-Lane 10 and Tomel nine.

Losing To Lexington

Meacham had a good first half against Lexington, scoring nine of his 11 points. It helped North stay within two after one period (11-9) and at halftime (25-23).

Lexington upped the lead to 35-29 going into the fourth quarter.

"Lexington is the best passing team we've faced," Callison said. "But we were in the game. It's frustrating. That's the story of our year."

Love-Lane scored 12 to lead North while Smoot had another seven points.

Notes:

- North fell to 2-6.
- Meacham was 7-of-9 from the field against Ferndale.
- Also scoring against Ferndale were Smoot with seven, Tee Bahnson with three and Bryan Cassidy with one.
- Love-Lane was 8-of-9 from the foul line in two games.
- Cassidy had three points, Kyle Thomas two and Tomel two against Lexington.

Davie Woman's Quilt To Be Gift For President

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — Tronia Gibson has plans to give President George Bush a loving good bye when he leaves office next week.

Gibson and 67 other quilters' labor of love is an 8 by 10 colorful and informative blanket that will be given to the first family.

The quilt is a throwback to a point in Mr. Bush's career when the country was on a patriotic high, Gibson said. Crafty quilters from all 50 states mailed their creations to Gibson during the past year to create a quilt signifying each state's individuality.

The work of art is called, "Fifty Points of Light."

Gibson hopes to be able to give the quilt to President and Mrs. Bush in person this spring.

Gibson started quilting two years ago and got the idea for the quilt after the Persian Gulf war. "I knew it would have to be a special quilt," Gibson said.

"I was a little niave about it," Gibson said of her enthusiasm to get a square for the quilt from each state.

Her first attempts to reach the states fell flat when only two squares arrived in the mail from Alabama and Utah.

Gibson decided to by-pass the politicians and contacted the arts coucils of each state. Within a year, Gibson's efforts had yeilded squares from every state.

"There were some frustrations. But I never thought I wouldn't finish it. I just kept pushing."

Each lady who sent a square included her own biography.

Some are professional quilters who have made quilts for royalty. Others are disabled or handicapped, while others have been quilting since 1913.

Gibson became friends with the Massachusetts seamstress who passes through Thousand Trails Camp Grounds in Advance every summer on vacation. Gibson said she hopes the two will meet this year.

Gibson, her daughter and two sisters created the North Carolina square.

Each of the biographies have been included in a scrap book that chronicles the making of the quilt. The book will be given along with the quilt.

During a recent conversation with White House staffers about the fate of the quilt, an aide suggested that the quilt may soon hang in the Presidential Library in Houston.

Quilt At Library Sunday

The Fifty Points of Light, a quilt consisting of 50 squares, one from each state, will be shown at The Davie County Public Library Sunday, Jan. 17, 2-5 p.m.

This quilt was made possible by Tronia Gibson of Cooleemee, who requested the squares from each state. A total of 68 quilters participated in the quilt's creation. The quilt will be presented to President and Mrs. Bush, along with a scrapbook of the autobiographical sketches of each of the quilters.

Gibson, her daughter and sisters made Tar Heel square.

Montana, as the square says, is the "Big Sky" state.

Matt Crotts and Amanda Smyers admire quilt on display at Cooleemee School earlier this week.

Gibson got the idea for the patriotic quilt during the Gulf War.

New Mexico's square features a scene of a native American.

Couple Plans Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Clay B. Boger of Route 9, Mocksville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Teresa Kay Boger to Robert H. Raisbeck Jr. of Advance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Raisbeck of Laurel, Md.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Davie High School and an honor graduate of Forsyth Technical Community College. She is employed by Martin, Van Hoy, Smith and Raisbeck, attorneys.

Raisbeck is a graduate of High Point High School, Wake Forest University and Wake Forest Law School. He is an attorney with the firm, Martin, Van Hoy and Smith.

The wedding is planned for May 22 at Center United Methodist Church.

New Box Design For Cookies

Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council will hold the 1993 Girl Scout Cookie Sale from Jan. 8-24.

This year, customers will find the cookies wrapped in brand new boxes designed to communicate the values found in contemporary Girl Scouting.

Through close-up portraits of girls engaged in a variety of Girl Scout activities, the boxes depict the supportive, "girls-only" environment in which girls practice new skills, establish lasting friendships, learn from positive female role models and have fun. National studies have shown that a single-sex setting helps girls develop the self-esteem and confidence needed to grow into resourceful, happy citizens.

Each box features a message from a girl, sharing her views on a Girl Scout experience.

Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council is a United Way Agency serving 14,500 girls and 5,400 adults in the counties of Alleghany, Alamance, Caswell, Davidson, Davie, Forsyth, Guilford, Randolph, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry, Yadkin, and Wilkes.

Anyone who has not been contacted by a Girl Scout can call the following numbers to order cookies: 919/274-8491, 919/993-4856, 1-800-672-2148.

Center Honors Pearline Seaford

Seaford

At the Center Community Christmas Party on Dec. 21, Pearline Seaford was presented the "Citizen of the Year" plaque by Steve Evans, president of the Center Community Development Association.

In presenting the plaque, Evans told the group that she was deserving of this award.

"Pearline is very faithful to her church and community and when there is something going on she is one of the first to be there and the last to leave, making sure everything is in order before we leave the building," he said. "Pearline came to the Center Community when she married her husband Bill. She is an active member of Center United Methodist and Center Community Development Association."

Following a covered dish meal and the presentation, Santa Claus made a surprise appearance with his bag of treats. After talking with the children (and some adults, too) about their Christmas list and a picture making session, he gave treats to all present and left for other places on his schedule.

The group played bingo and as they left the party, each person received a bag of goodies.

The next meeting of the association will be on Monday, Jan. 18, at 7 p.m., when plans for the year, including the firefighters banquet, barbecues and fair will be made.

All members of the community are invited to come out and help plan the year's activities.

Understand Teen's Needs

Carol asks her father to announce her bedtime about five minutes after her date brings her home.

When he does so, Carol complains loudly about her "strict, old-fashioned" parents.

He and his wife are also concerned about 14-year-old Joe. He has always done well in school. Is he developing a poor attitude now, pretending not to know answers to questions in class?

"These teens are working through the four major tasks common to teenagers," says Dr. Cynthia Johnson, extension human development specialist at North Carolina State University.

Carol is working on her relations with the opposite sex. "Every young person must go through some social awkwardness," Johnson says. "Carol needs help in taking a stand. She needs someone to blame for appearing to be old fashioned."

Her brother, Joe, is working on becoming more independent from the family. "He wants to be accepted by his peers, so he doesn't volunteer answers," Johnson says. Teenagers fear being different.

Through all these tasks, the teenager is reconsidering everything, deciding who he is and how he wants to relate to other people. "The family's task is to understand the growth and idealism of youth and support it with love," Johnson says.

Spiritual Resources

Happy, Healthy Families

By The Rev. Hampton Morgan Jr.

While "Home Alone 2" was entertaining audiences in America's movie theatres over the Christmas holidays, a grim, real-life version of the story was being played out in St. Charles, Illinois and Acapulco, Mexico. Nicole and Diana Schoo, the nine- and four-year-old children of David and Sharon Schoo, were discovered home alone in St. Charles, while their parents were on a nine-day Christmas vacation in Acapulco. Apparently, a smoke alarm was activated in the Schoo's comfortable, Tudor-style home on December 21, and the children called 911. Authorities responded and were shocked to find the two small children alone. When the parents returned to Chicago on December 28, they were promptly arrested and jailed on charges of child abandonment and cruelty to children.

The Schoo's attorney, Gerard Keppie, said that when all the facts of the situation were made known, the case would "turn out quite differently." Apparently, he means that a nation's horrified first impressions will give way to understanding and perhaps, relief. Good luck, Mr. Keppie. And good luck, Mr. and Mrs. Schoo.

1993 dawns to find America's families in pain. And the children are experiencing most of it. In the aftermath of the Schoo case, children's advocates are stepping forward to tell of an epidemic of child neglect in America. In 1991, state child-welfare agencies received 1.2 million reports of child neglect nationwide. Reported cases, however, are said to be "just the tip of the iceberg." What in the world is going on?

Undeniably, the pressures on families are greater than ever. Children are faced with inducements to harm their lives such as were never imagined by their parents. Pressure to abuse alcohol, drugs, and sex now routinely confront Junior High age youth everywhere. Even mildly negligent parents are weakening their children's ability to resist the temptations.

But why are so many parents apparently neglectful, or at the least, preoccupied or indifferent? Economic pressures certainly account for some of the problems. In many two-parent families both spouses work to insure even a modest standard of living. In single parent families, most of which are female-headed households, it goes without saying that the parent must work. Who, then, takes care of the children? The fortunate ones are cared for by loving relatives, the less-fortunate ones by day-care centers, and the neglected ones fend for themselves. Apparently, the latter exist in frighteningly high numbers.

But even economic pressures cannot account for all of the neglect. What is taking place in those few precious hours when parents are at home with their children? According to the research, not enough. There is an extraordinary lack of substantive and productive communication in many families between parents and children. In the average home the number of minutes per day of meaningful communication between parents and children is measured in single digits. Moreover, many families interact only around the television, which is turned on in the average home for slightly more than seven hours per day.

Some parents are involved in any number of worthwhile community projects. Kept in balance and proper perspective this is a good thing. However, these can be avenues of escape for some parents, who find the task of nurturing their children a great deal more challenging than their outside volunteer efforts. Men are especially prone to this kind of neglectful temptation. Save the world, but ignore your own children.

And then, of course, there is divorce. We may take some encouragement from the fact that the divorce rate is decreasing. However, there are still millions of children in pain because their parents have ended their marriage. We now know that children do not cope with a broken family nearly as well as was once thought. The increased emotional, behavioral and academic problems of the children of divorce are well documented. Some divorced parents are highly committed to their children and have gone to commendable lengths to lessen their pain. Others seem to care less, and the impact on their children is nothing short of heart-breaking.

America's families, and especially her children, are hurting, and for a number of reasons. Slouching in the midst of this multi-faceted problem, however, is a lot of self-centeredness. Self-discipline, sacrifice, and the postponing of pleasure have not been fashionable for quite some time. Love has come to mean something that makes one feel good, whereas it once involved the things one did to promote the well-being of others. In our modern rush to find happiness, we have overlooked the things that promote lasting happiness. Is it any wonder so many are bitterly unhappy?

Gary Bauer, in his fine new book, Our Journey Home, sees reason to hope, however. Family-affirming values, Bauer says, are still cherished by a significant majority of Americans. Bauer, who is President of the Family Research Council, quotes numerous surveys and polls which indicate that the value-free approach to life has not been embraced in heart-land America. There is still a firm belief that our families are our most important resource and possession.

Clearly, however, Americans are having difficulty translating the ideals they believe in and cherish into meaningful behavioral patterns in the home. For some, at least, the moral qualities, relational skills, the material and spiritual resources needed to nurture family happiness and stability are scarce. Appropriate amounts of energy, self-discipline, sacrifice, understanding, patience, love, moral support, and yes — finances, must be employed each and every day to sustain a healthy family.

Some, who have the ability to do better, are not performing well. Others, who through ignorance or immaturity, practice unhelpful parenting habits or patterns of coping with problems, need to learn new and better ones. Unfortunately, families must sometimes experience a major crisis resulting in substantial suffering before steps are taken to bring needed change. Fortunately, there are many resources available to help those who seek to change and improve their family life.

How is your family doing? Take some time soon to evaluate. Identify the problems. Talk honestly about them. Listen to each other. What steps can you take to improve the deficiencies and lessen the pain, especially of your children? But the most important question is, are you willing to make the necessary changes? For nearly all of us, we can have happier, healthier families if we really want them.

Try These Tips For Efficient Energy Use

Do you spend $1200 per year on energy costs? The average North Carolina household does.

Of this amount over half, or about $650, goes to heat and cool your home. Another $250 or so goes for heating your water. About $120 goes to light your home, and the rest is the cost of running the refrigerator, television, hairdryers, and other appliances.

As New Year's resolutions are being made, there are some energy resolutions that can be included. They will reduce your energy expenditures and make your home more comfortable.

Here are three things you can do this week to use energy more efficiently: (1) Turn down the thermostat on your water heater to the lowest setting that will provide you with enough hot water. (Note: Some dishwashers require 140°.) (2) Buy some compact fluorescent lights. (3) Change your heating system's filter. This should be done every month during the heating season.

What you should do this month: (1) Do air sealing on your house. (2) Wrap your water heater with insulation. (3) Install a low-flow shower head and aerators on faucets. (4) Place toilet dams in the toilet tank to save up to 20 gallons of water per day for a family of four. A low-flow showerhead can result in a savings of up to 350 gallons of water per week for a family of four. (5) Properly maintained heating systems operate more efficiently, so have yours serviced.

The following list is what you should do this year to become a more efficient user of energy: (1) Increase your insulation. In the mountains you want up to R38 in your attic. However, it is usually not cost effective to add insulation unless you have less than R19. (2) Hire someone to seal your ductwork. (3) Plant shade trees or install awnings. (4) Replace your inefficient heating, ventilation, and air conditioning system.

Planners OK Addressing Ordinance

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Route numbers and duplication of street names will be a thing of the past this year when homes throughout the county receive new addresses.

The Davie County Planning Board recommended an addressing ordinance Jan. 7, that if approved by the Davie County Board of Commissioners will give new, permanent addresses to each Davie resident.

When added to a new emergency 911 telecommunications center, the new addresses will make it easier for rescue workers to find residences during emergencies.

The commissioners will hear public comments about the address changes Tuesday, Jan. 19 at 7 p.m. in the commissioners meeting room in the county office building.

Currently there are three Hickory Streets in the county, said Jesse Boyce, planning director. And at least once rescue workers have rushed to the Cooleemee address only to learn that the emergency was taking place on Hickory Street in Mocksville.

"That's why we've got to get out of this system we have," Boyce said. "We want to save time, life and property and shorten the time of suffering (for people who have made 911 emergency calls)."

New addresses are just the beginning of a number of changes that occur this year. Soon the address and location of an accident will appear on a computer screen when rescue workers are called to the scene of an emergency. The new addresses should eliminate any confusion about where the call came from, Boyce said.

The addresses will be assigned by counting off a new street number for every 10.56 linear feet of road frontage. That will eliminate the need for irregular addresses to be added when a house is built between two existing houses with consecutive numbers, Boyce said.

After residents have been informed of their new address, they will have 90 days to post their address numbers either on their house or at the road.

"You're not going to please 100 percent of the people," said planning board member Wayne Webb. "But I think it's a great thing for Davie County."

Member Bill Johnson agreed.

Insurance companies will be less weary of insuring homes that by their street address seem to be less remote than with route numbers, Johnson said.

School Traffic Improves

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Vehicle traffic is flowing more smoothly at Shady Grove Elementary School.

Ed Hege, chairman of the school's advisory council, told Davie board of education members last week that the council helped school administrators pick the routes for parents and other relatives dropping off or picking up students from the school.

For three years, there has been a traffic problem on Cornatzer Road in front of the school, Hege said. He thinks routes now used are the best, though not perfect.

"We took one half of that traffic and put it on campus," he said. "That was a very bad hazard and we feel like we've accomplished a great deal. We feel like we have the best possible solution with the real estate we have available."

Other positive accomplishments at the school, according to Hege:

- hosting the Southern Association accrediting team last year;
- refinishing of the gym floor with designs for different games;
- a security system;
- new grass on the ballfield;
- a large number of parents and grandparents visiting and volunteering at the school;
- a PTA newsletter; and
- fund-raising efforts that made more than $18,000 for school equipment and programs.

Despite the accomplishments, there are needs at Shady Grove — especially equipment, such as computers.

Hege wants each teacher to have a computer in his or her classroom. "We feel like it's important for the students to see the teachers use the computers," he said.

Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, agreed, but said budget limitations may prevent that. "We are struggling ... trying to do as much as we can with the available amount of dollars," Steed said.

Hege also asked the schools to consider replacing windows in the gym, or at least removing the paint that covers the windows.

School Briefs

Middle Schools Set For 1994

Davie Schools plan to convert to the middle school concept in the fall of 1994, moving ninth graders to Davie High School and making middle schools housing grades 6-8 at North and South Davie.

The delay in implementing the program is money, Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, told board of education members last week. Classrooms will be needed at Davie High School and Mocksville Elementary School.

Teacher Recruitment Begins

Recruiting new teachers out of college isn't easy, especially when other school systems offer more financial rewards than Davie, Dr. Van Johnson, personnel director, told education board members last week.

"We try to charm them and tell them how good the environment is ... since we can't compete in other ways," Johnson said.

Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, said the competition for new teachers is fierce, with other states coming to North Carolina looking for teachers. At some job fairs, there are more school systems represented than available teachers, he said, urging board members to attend recruitment job fairs.

Davie Schools will be represented at teacher job fairs at: UNC-Greensboro, N.C. Central, Winston-Salem State, N.C. A&T, East Carolina, UNC-Charlotte, Livingstone, Lenoir-Rhyne, UNC-Chapel Hill, Western Carolina and Appalachian State.

Meeting With County Planned

Davie board of education members are scheduled to meet with county commissioners at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 14, at the Western Steer.

School officials plan to talk to county commissioners about the system's needs, discuss where money should be spent, and try to arrange a tour of school facilities, said Dr. Bill Steed, schools superintendent.

Calendar Committee Approved

A committee appointed to develop a 1993-94 school calendar includes board members Marlene Shamel and Jerry Swicegood, principals Linda Jones and Robert Landry, teachers Kris Kates and Robert Hartsell, parents Lynn Senger and Marsha Correll, and students Neal Cornatzer, Leah Raynor-and-Ashely Meisner.

Bloodborne Pathogen Policy OKd

Davie County board of education members adopted a "model" bloodborne pathogen policy last week, but at least one board member wonders if the right people are being protected.

Luther Potts said at a recent high school wrestling match, a wrestler began bleeding and was helped by the referee and coaches — none protected from any blood borne diseases.

School health director Betty Griffith said each school had a copy of the policy and procedures and that each school had gloves, but it was up to each school to see that the regulations are followed. Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, suggested that school employees b "retrained" in how to protect themselves from such diseases.

Griffith said 20 people have been identified for the Hepatitis B vaccine.

Judge Overturns Jury's Ruling

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Winston-Salem man was free to leave Davie Superior Court Tuesday after a judge overturned a jury's decision.

Daniel Ray Boles, 28, was charged with DWI following an accident on N.C. 801 June 7.

According to former N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper K.B. Steen, Boles was driving a 1979 Suzuki north on N.C. 801 in a sharp S-curve. He ran off the road on the right side, and he and a passenger, Angie Moser of King, were thrown from the motorcycle.

Steen talked with Moser at the scene, and he told Judge James A. Beaty Jr. that he noticed the odor of alcohol on her breath. He talked with Boles about an hour after the accident at N.C. Baptist Hospital and indicated that he also noticed an odor of alcohol on Boles' breath and that Boles' eyes were red and glassy.

Because Boles' was hooked to an intravenous fluid machine, Steen said, he was unable to have Boles perform sobriety tests.

Boles refused to submit to a blood test for alcohol content, saying that he had taken allergy medication earlier in the day and was afraid it would show up on the test. Steen said he explained to Boles that it was a test for alcohol only, but Boles continued to refuse.

Boles' attorney, William Ijames, requested that the case be dismissed, due to insufficient evidence.

"There were no performance tests. This is based only on an odor of alcohol. There is not enough evidence here to convict my client. The whole case is entirely speculative," Ijames said.

Judge Beaty refused to allow the motion to dismiss.

The jury deliberated about two hours before finding Boles guilty of DWI.

Following their statement, Beaty overturned the decision, saying he based his decision on lack of evidence and a question the jury asked during deliberation regarding the burden of proof.

Convicted Man 'Just Visiting'

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Salisbury man who broke into the home of a friend in Davie County was found guilty of misdemeanor breaking and entering Jan. 5.

A Superior Court jury deliberated less than an hour before convicting Roger Eugene Martin Jr., 25, of breaking into the mobile home of Mike Kinney off Dulin Road.

Martin was charged with felonious breaking and entering, and the jury could have found him guilty of that charge, but because there was nothing taken from the mobile home, they found him guilty of the lesser charge of misdemeanor breaking and entering.

According to testimony by Kinney, on the afternoon of Aug. 15, he was taking a nap when he thought he heard a car door. The next thing he knew, he said, he saw Martin, a friend and co-worker standing in the doorway of the bedroom. Kinney became angry and asked Martin what he was doing there.

"I believe he said he was going to leave me a note. I told him not to come back," Kinney said.

Kinney said before he got up to confront Martin, he saw Martin look under his couch, but Martin did not take anything.

Kinney said he waited until the next day to contact the sheriff's department, because he knew nothing had been taken, and he "wanted to avoid a bad situation" because he worked with Martin every day.

Martin chose not to have an attorney represent him and conducted questioning himself.

He asked Kinney if he had acted like he was there to hurt him, and Kinney said no. Martin said he attempted to confront Kinney at work and explain why he was there, but Kinney was angry and refused to talk.

Martin's young son and wife, Sonya, were in the car when Martin went into Kinney's mobile home, and Sonya testified that she thought they had been invited there.

Martin became angry when questioned by Assistant District Attorney Eugene Morris and said the incident had bothered him since it happened, and he was eager to explain why he was there.

He said he thought Kinney was home because his car was in the driveway, and first told Morris that he wanted to awaken Kinney, but later said he did not want to wake Kinney up, only leave a note. He looked under the couch, he said, to find a piece of paper on which to write the note.

When asked by Morris why he didn't want to leave the note on the door, he said it was about money, and he didn't want anyone else to see it.

Martin said he did not go into the mobile home with the intention of stealing or hurting anyone.

Martin told the jury he had only been in trouble once, but Morris provided Martin's prior criminal record, which showed several prior convictions for breaking and entering, a conviction for carrying a concealed weapon, driving while license revoked, and writing a worthless check.

He was sentenced by Judge James A. Beaty Jr. to two years in prison, suspended for three years probation. He was ordered to perform 80 hours of community service work during the first six months of probation. He was told to stay away from Kinney's home, and was fined $100 and court costs.

Wanda Leagans Receives Honor

Teacher Gets Award

Wanda Leagans has been selected as the winner of the Davie County competition for the Terry Sanford Award for 1992-93.

Leagans, of Clemmons, teaches second grade at Mocksville Elementary School. She has been a teacher in the Davie County school system for 12 years. She is married to Steve Leagans. They have one daughter, Michelle, a senior at West Forsyth High School.

Robert Hartsell, Davie County Association of Educators president, commended Leagans for her use of high school students, parent volunteers, senior citizen volunteers, and volunteers from BB&T in her classroom. Leagans is also involved in sharing her class with patients and staff at Davie County Hospital.

She also finds time to serve as a mentor for two students from other classrooms. Leagans has recently participated in a special week of study at the North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching.

The statewide theme for the 1992-93 award is "Learning To Succeed: Opportunities, Partnerships And Collaboration." Entries were judged on creative techniques demonstrating how the nominee coordinates school and community resources to create opportunities for all students to learn and succeed.

The second place winner for Davie County was Dr. Carolyn Beaver, drop-out prevention coordinator for the Davie school system. She represented Mocksville Middle School.

Other school winners were: Belinda Garner, Cooleemee; Kate Wilson, Davie High; Carol Cozart, North Davie Junior High; Margaret Rogers, Pinebrook; Judy White, Shady Grove; and Amanda Heinemann, William R. Davie.

The Sanford Award, which began in 1966, is given annually by the North Carolina Association of Educators to recognize creativity and innovation in teaching and administration in the public schools of North Carolina.

The state winner each year receives a $500 cash award from a trust fund established in honor of the former governor and a bronze plaque donated by Ed Massengill of Raleigh, a friend of education, in memory of his late wife, Elizabeth, who was a teacher.

Other state finalists receive a $50 cash award and a special certificate.

Elizabeth Vogler, last year's local winner, also from Mocksville Elementary School, was one of the eight finalists in the state. Mike Hendrix, of the central office, has been Davie County's other state finalist in years past.

"We look forward to Mrs. Leagans providing the other local nominees from across the state with some very stiff competition," Hartsell said.

School Post Office Helps Students With Writing

Cooleemee Elementary are learning how a post office works, and at the same time some writing skills.

Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — Through rain, sleet and first period and home room, students at Cooleemee Elementary School are delivering mail out of a student-run post office.

Just before Christmas vacation, the 4th and 5th graders were delivering almost 200 letters each day, said Dawn Ludwick, a teacher's aid at the school.

The school got the idea for the post office from Teacher Jennifer Marshbanks' husband, who is a U.S. postal worker. And the office has been running since November.

Marshbanks said the post office gives the students a chance to see what the real working world is like. Students who wanted to work in the post office had to fill out an application, go through an interview and take a written postal service test.

A paycheck will come in the form of a pizza party given by Pizza Hut at the end of the work period.

"For them it's a real life experience," Marshbanks said. "And when they address an envelope and write a letter it gives them writing practice."

Ashley Hanes, a 4th grader, said she received several letters before Christmas asking her if she believed in Santa Claus. "We write about who our friends are," Hanes said.

Hanes said she expected the mail flow to pick up again around Valentines Day.

Each morning, workers arrive at the post office to sort the mail by address. Then stamps, which are made with the school logo, are cancelled. Workers want to make sure the stamps aren't used twice.

Finally a mail carrier delivers mail to faculty and students.

Cancelling stamps, Amber Bost and Mary Jo Hood.

Greg's Greetings

Shady Grove sixth grader Greg Lanier received a framed copy of his drawing chosen as the Davie Schools Christmas card this year. Mike Hendrix, community schools coordinator, made the presentation at the Jan. 4 board of education meeting. The card was sent to nearly 1,400 people.

Diets Not Good For Pudgy Kids

Although too many American children are in the pudgy to overweight range, low-calorie diets are not the answer, say extension nutrition specialists at North Carolina State University.

"Turn off the TV and send the kids outdoors to play," recommends Dr. Carolyn Dunn, extension foods and nutrition specialist. "Growing children do not belong on a restricted-calorie diet," she adds. A reduction in calories actually can be harmful.

Instead, have healthful snacks available. "Children can't load up on donuts, potato chips and other high-calorie foods if they aren't in the house," Dunn reminds. "Parents need to remember that they are in charge of what is given to a child to eat. The child is in charge of how much or whether he eats."

A healthful diet is only part of the answer. Play is the other.

Twenty-two percent of 6- to 9-year-olds reported that they seldom play outdoors, even when the weather is nice, according to a national survey conducted for the International Food Information Council. At least eight out of 10 said they watch television after school and on Saturdays, the same survey revealed.

- Choose an after-school care program that includes plenty of time for active play.
- Encourage your child to participate in intramural activities at school, the local "Y" or community playground. "Stress playing for fun rather than winning," Dunn says. "Not everyone can win."
- Become active as a family. "Go for walks, ride bikes or go skating, but do something active with your child," Dunn recommends. "It will benefit you and your child."

Development Rules Part Of Regulations

From Cooperative Extension

The water supply watershed regulations resulting from North Carolina House Bill 156 place restrictions on development densities, land uses, and stream buffers in order to reduce harmful impacts or stormwater runoff entering surface water supplies.

Local governments must develop water supply watershed protection plans and ordinances that meet or exceed these state regulations. This article describes direct and indirect impacts on agricultural operations. Direct impacts include requirements for stream buffers and animal waste best management practices (BMPs) in critical areas.

BMPs are structural or nonstructural management-based practice used singularly or in combination to reduce non-point source inputs to receiving waters in order to achieve water quality protection goals.

Indirect impacts include decreases in land values resulting from limits on potential development.

The regulations directly affect agricultural operations located in WS-I watersheds (none in Davie County) and in critical areas of WS-II, WS-III, and WS-IV watersheds (portions of five critical areas and all of two critical areas in Davie County). The critical area is land within one-half mile and draining to a stream public water supply intake as defined by the state model ordinance.

Local governments cannot decrease the size of critical areas, but can increase the size in their local ordinances.

The rules state that beginning Jan. 1, 1993, agricultural activities in these critical areas, must maintain a minimum 10-foot permanent vegetated buffer along streams. The soil and water conservation commission may designate practices that provide "equivalent control" to be used in place of the vegetated buffer.

Additionally, by July 1, 1994, animal operations that are in critical areas, and have animal numbers meeting or exceeding 100 animal units, must have in place BMPs to properly manage animal waste. (Dairy cow = 1.4 animal units, one chicken = .03 animal units, one hog = .4 animal units, one horse = 2 animal units, one slaughter or feeder beef animal = 1 animal unit)

Local governments must determine which animal operations meet regulatory criteria, based on numbers of animal units and whether operations are "concentrated animal feeding operations." A concentrated animal feeding operation is defined as: "Any facility where animals are confined and fed or maintained for a total of 45 days or more in any 12 month period ... two or more animal feeding operations under common ownership are deemed to be a single unit if they are adjacent to each other or if they utilize a common area or system for waste disposal."

The regulations affect all landowners in water supply watersheds by limiting future development options. The resulting impacts on land values depend upon a number of factors, including watershed classification and development potential.

IRS Expects More Taxpayers To Use Shorter Tax Forms

GREENSBORO — Will the Internal Revenue Service be sending you a tax package this year?

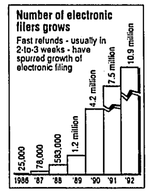
"If you were one of the 3 million taxpayers in North Carolina who filed a federal income tax return last year, then you can expect to receive a tax package from the IRS," said J.R. Starkey, district director of the Internal Revenue Service. "For those North Carolina taxpayers who do not receive a tax package, forms and instruction booklets are available in all IRS offices throughout the state."

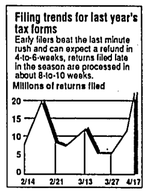
The IRS expects that more taxpayers will be able to file a shorter form again this year. The Form 1040A can again be used to file pension or annuity income, IRA distributions, taxable social security benefits or estimated tax payments, rather than having to use the longer Form 1040. These changes have impacted greatly on the number of taxpayers being able to use the shorter Form 1040A.

Taxpayers who choose to file their income tax return electronically can expect to receive their refund much faster than if they mail their tax return to the IRS. Taxpayers can have their refund deposited to their checking account, savings account, or mailed to their home if they file electronically.

For additional information, call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-829-1040 Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m.- 5:30 p.m. New telephone access features have been added to this number to provide faster service to callers.

Forms and publications may be ordered by calling toll-free, 1-800-829-3676, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.- 4:45 p.m. Forms can also be ordered on Saturdays through April 10 from 9 a.m.- 3 p.m.





Community CPR Class To Be Taught On Feb. 20

The Northwest North Carolina Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a Community CPR class in Davie County.

The Community CPR class teaches participants lifesaving skills to use in respiratory and cardiac emergencies for adults, children, and infants. The course includes instruction on first aid for choking and other respiratory emergencies; how to give CPR to someone whose heart has stopped; how to use the emergency medical system; and how to reduce the risk of injury to children and infants.

The course will be taught Saturday, Feb. 20, from 8 a.m.- 5 p.m. at the Davie County Public Library. The course costs $30, and participants must register and pay before the class.

For more information or to register for the Community CPR class, contact Jane Craver between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. (Monday and Friday call 919/679-4462; Wednesday and Thursday call 704/634-0313) or phone the Office of Health Services at 919/724-0511, Monday-Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

County, B.C. Moore's At Odds Over Building

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County officials are waiting on a response from the owners of the B.C. Moore store to see if they can wiggle out of a $100,000 offer to buy the building.

Neither side is talking much about the deal gone bad, but both are consulting with attorneys to settle the case.

In November the board of commissioners voted 3-2 to buy the 4,000-square-foot building for $100,000.

But the three members who voted for the purchase left office in December. The two remaining members, Diane Foster and Larry Hayes, voted against buying the building. Both said the county had no immediate need for the building and costs to renovate it for use would exceed another $80,000.

Immediately after the new board members were sworn in the board voted 5-0 to rescind the vote to buy and directd the then county attorney John Brock to contact B.C. Moore officials.

Brock has since retired and a new county attorney is attempting to settle the case.

Acting County Manager Jim Stockert said the board sent a letter to B.C. Moore officials telling them of the board's vote to rescind the offer. The county is still waiting for a response.

County Attorney Robert Price would not comment, saying that the county and B.C. Moore were in the middle of negotiations.

Dick Griggs, vice president in charge of stores for B.C. Moore, would not speak about tensions between the county and his company.

"We have legal folks advising us. Our position is that we would not discuss any of it at this time."

Griggs would not say whether the issue would wind up in court.

B.C. Moore closed the two-story clothing store in the Court Square last year. Griggs said the building was too small to display goods, and the location of the store made parking difficult for shoppers.

He said the company hopes to eventually open another store in Mocksville.

Ward Eyed For Board

By Mike Barnhardt

Ward

A three-time contender for Mocksville public office has been recommended to fill a town board seat for the remainder of this year.

Brent Ward, 29, of Holly Lane, was recommended by the Davie County Republican Party Executive Committee to replace Abe Howard, who resigned earlier this month to accept a job with the town.

Members of the board will discuss the replacement at their meeting at 7 p.m. Feb. 2.

Although the replacement must be a Republican, the board is not required to appoint the party's nominee.

"I'll open it up for recommendations, and the board members may have some people they want to consider," said Mayor Nick Mando. "It'll be an open meeting, we'll decide it right there."

Ward, who has twice failed in attempts to be elected to the board and was defeated by Mando in a mayor's race, hopes

Schools Seek Funding

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County school officials have committed to converting the county's two junior high schools into middle schools.

But there's a major roadblock — money.

Figures board of education members presented county commissioners last week show a shortage of $910,628.

County commissioners were reluctant to discuss money, and chairman Carl Boon asked school officials to provide a line item budget so board members can see how money already allocated is being spent.

"You've just provided us with these figures. I'm sure we'll need to study this," Boon said.

Dr. Bill Steed, schools superintendent, said a decision on funding wasn't expected that night, but the schools need to make plans quickly.

Set to start in the fall of 1994, ninth graders currently at the junior high schools would be moved to Davie High School.

North and South Davie junior high schools would become middle schools, housing grades 6-8.

And Mocksville Middle School students (grades 4-5) would be moved to Mocksville Elementary School.

"We feel like it's important we get into this middle school program — and do it all — the complete project at the same time," Steed said.

"The board obviously has some decisions to make before we go on. To pick up this project at this point is really important to us.

"We need some decisions pretty soon so we might move on with the project," Steed said. "We're committed to the project."

Threat Of Lost Revenue Looms Over County

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Local officials are waiting with baited breath to see if Davie County and Mocksville will lose more than $2.8 million once promised by the state.

County Finance Director Jim Stockert said local governments are in good shape for 1992-93, but every year the money is a dark cloud hanging over budget official's desks.

The money is what towns and counties once collected from corporate taxes on inventory, stocks, bank transactions and other taxes. But in 1987 that local taxing power was taken away.

In return, the state legislature promised to replace the money. But it's a promise that is not always kept.

> "If this money were taken away today, we would have to look at raising taxes and cutting services."
> — Jim Stockert, Interim County Manager

If Davie County were to lose its $2.5 million, the county would have to add $.25 to the county's $.61 tax rate in order to keep services the same.

Stockert said the threat affects Davie and Stokes counties most severly. Davie County typically raised a large amount of revenue from tobacco inventory stored in the county by R.J. Reynold's Tobacco Co.

"I don't want to alarm anyone because I don't know where this is going," Stockert said. "If this money were taken away today, we would have to look at raising taxes and cutting services."

Rev. King 'A Drum Major For Justice'

The following sermon was delivered by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. shortly before his death April 4, 1968.

Every now and then I guess we all think realistically about that day when we will be victimized with what is life's final common denominator — that something we call death.

We all think about it, and every now and then I think about my own death and I think about my own funeral. And I don't think about it in a morbid sense. And every now and then I ask myself what is it that I would want said, and I leave the word to you this morning.

If any of you are around when I have to meet my day ... I don't want a long funeral. And if you get somebody to delivery the eulogy, tell them not to talk too long. And every now and then I wonder what I want them to say.

Tell them not to mention that I have a Nobel Peace Prize ... that isn't important. Tell them not to mention that I have 300 or 400 other awards ... that's not important. Tell them not to mention where I went to school.

I'd like somebody to mention that day that Martin Luther King Jr. tried to give his life serving others. I'd like for somebody to say that day that Martin Luther King Jr. tried to love somebody.

I'd like somebody to mention that day that I tried to be right and to walk with them. I want you to be able to say that day that I did try to feed the hungry. I want you to be able to say that day that I did try in my life to clothe those who were naked. I want you to be able to say that day that I did try in my life to visit those who were in prison. And I want you to say that I tried to love and serve humanity.

Yes, if you want to say that I was a drum major ... say that I was a drum major for justice. Say that I was a drum major for peace ... I was a drum major for righteousness. And all of the other shallow things will not matter.

I won't have any money to leave behind. I won't have the fine and luxurious things of life to leave behind. But I just want to leave a committed life behind. And that's all I want to say.

If I can help somebody as I pass along, if I can cheer somebody with a word or song, if I can show somebody he's traveling wrong, then my living will not be in vain.

If I can do my duty as a Christian ought, if I can bring salvation to a world once wrought, if I can spread the message as the Master taught, then my living will not be in vain.

Yes, Jesus, I want to be on your right or your left side ... not for any selfish reason. I want to be on your right or your left side ... not in terms of some political kingdom or ambition. But I just want to be there in love and in justice and in truth and in commitment to others, so that we can make of this old world ... a new world.

— Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Abortion Brings Destruction

To the editor:

The girl was too young — just a teenager — although she was engaged to be married. But she was pregnant, and her fiance' was not the father of her child. Her family was poor, but her parents had brought her up with the right values. If they found out, it would devastate them. And would her fiance' still want to marry her? This young girl was ripe for an abortion, for this was seemingly a classic "problem pregnancy."

But the Virgin Mary did not abort her unborn Child, and the birth of that baby born in a manger stall has just recently been celebrated throughout the world. Although there will never be another conception, birth, and life like that of the Lord Jesus Christ, each child that is conceived has vast potential — who knows what difference that one life might make in our world?

While abortion is invariably a matter of life and death for the unborn child, sometimes it is also life or death for the pregnant woman. Although the media as a whole either ignores or plays them down, there are increasing numbers of stories coming out about the results of the much-acclaimed, so-called "safe, legal abortions." Abortion always destroys the life of a child (with rare exceptions in which the most dread complication occurs and the child lives) but sometimes it destroys the life of the mother as well. Abortion truly is the ultimate child abuse, and a form of exploitation of women.

An organization called the American Rights Coalition has been formed in Tennessee. It is to specifically help women who have been damaged by these so-called "safe, legal abortions," and encourages women who have been damaged by abortion to contact them regarding possible malpractice suits. And women are making — and winning — these suits. (Two of the largest thus far have been by an Illinois woman, for $9.5 million, and by a woman in Dallas, for $5.5 million.)

Abortion is becoming a risky procedure for doctors, who can be easily tagged for $1 million in abortion-related malpractice suits, but the structure of the abortion network leaves many others open for legal action. There is such a "referral network" in the abortion industry that legal action could proceed back down the line to people like school counselors who refer for abortion, or to people in family planning groups.

(By the way, many people buy into the supposedly intelligent idea that the world is overpopulated anyway and that abortion is a perfectly logical and legal way to keep "unwanted" children from adding to the population problems. I had heard from two sources that if you drew a circle with a 25-mile radius, you could comfortably put every living human being in the world inside that circle — lying down. That seems hard to believe, but if you don't believe it, take a pencil and paper and figure it out for yourself, like I did. It's true.)

In the weeks around Jan. 22, which is the 20th anniversary of the infamous Roe vs. Wade decision that unleashed on our nation the horrors of abortion on demand, hundreds of thousands of men, women, and children will be marching in the annual marches and rallys in our nation's capital, state capitals, and other cities around our nation to protest abortion. These people will be marching because they know that the life of each of the 1.5 million unborn children killed each year by abortion is precious. They are marching to protest abortion because they know that the 1.5 million women each year who abort are damaged — physically, emotionally, psychologically — by this so-called "safe, legal" procedure. These people will be marching with the highest, purest, and most un-selfish of motives, because there is nothing personally that they have to gain. They will be marching to save other people from destruction and pain. They will be marching to vote for life, not death. They will be marching to awaken the conscience of America to the destruction that abortion brings to millions of our citizens, as well as our economy.

And I will be one of them ....

Speaking Contest Worthwhile Cause

To the editor:

Congratulations to the Town of Mocksville for sponsoring the "I Have a Dream" public speaking contest in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday. A special thanks is in order to the local banks who donated savings bonds to the winners. More congratulations are in order for the 25 students who participated in the contest.

Each student demonstrated an awareness of world events and a sensitivity to community problems. Even the younger students made it very clear that they dream about more than personal wealth and success. They dream of a better world. They successfully communicated their dreams for a better future for everyone regardless of race, gender, class, region or even nationality.

In other words, the public speaking contest was consistent with the spirit and the dream of Dr. Martin Luther King and all who wish for world peace. Most of the audience seemed genuinely moved by what they heard.

This year's speech contest was an auspicious beginning. I hope that the town of Mocksville will continue to sponsor this contest as well as additional opportunities to promote good citizenship.

Rude Laugher Spoils The Fun

Mike Barnhardt

There's nothing wrong with having a good time, but some people take the privilege too far. While having fun themselves, they take away from other people's fun.

It happens more than I would like to think.

Last week, a show that appeared to be good at the Barn Dinner Theater in Greensboro was turned into a nightmare by a woman's laugh.

There's nothing wrong with laughing. I like to laugh myself, and I like to see other people laugh.

And there's nothing wrong with unusual laughs. Laughing is natural, and some people laugh funny. Sometimes in loud snorts. Sometimes they try to hold it in, and all of a sudden it all comes out at once. Those laughs don't bother me, although it is often necessary to check to see if the laugher survived the guffaw.

The woman sitting behind us had one of those laughs that just gets on your nerves — sort of like scratching a nail file across a chalkboard in quick jerks. But if that's the way she laughs, so be it.

As soon as the stage began descending, she began laughing. It sounded sort of like a cross between a machine gun and a cackling hen and a nail file on a chalk board. Any obnoxious sound you could think of, it was in that laugh.

Granted, the show that night was a comedy. The Nerd, but this woman began laughing as lights went on. You couldn't see the set, you couldn't see the actors. What was so funny?

When the play came to a particularly funny scene, everybody in the place would be laughing except Ms. Obnoxious Laugher behind us. When the place went quiet, she would let loose. Maybe she's one of those mixed up people who only laugh at things that aren't funny.

Closer to the end, Ms. Obnoxious Laugher actually began laughing at the same time as everybody else. Maybe she finally figured out what the rest of us were laughing at. But guess what? When she laughed along with other people, she laughed louder.

That's right. Ms. Obnoxious Laugher laughed to be heard. She made sure that her laugh was louder than everyone else's. We all felt sorry for her date. In between the laughs, she talked constantly. You know the type, they'll ask you a question and then answer it before you have a chance to respond. There was no need to complain, because it was obvious that Ms. Obnoxious Laugher was on a first-name basis with just about every waiter and host at the place.

It's a shame people like her feel they have to be heard to be appreciated. All it takes is a little common courtesy at shows, or at the movies, or at any event where part of your enjoyment is hearing what is going on.

Her laughing didn't totally spoil the evening, however. As usual, there was lots of food, most of it extra good. And as usual, the show was good. With the I-40 bypass around Winston-Salem, you can be at the theater in less than an hour.

The Nerd is playing through February. The show is about an army hero who, when visiting for the first time years later, turns out to be a nerd (annoying person), who refuses to take any hints that he's not welcome. He actually moves in with the army buddy he never really met.

The only thing that could possibly be worse is if Ms. Obnoxious Laugher came for a visit — and decided to stay. That show wouldn't be a comedy, but a dramatic horror show. Laughectomies aren't pretty.

Mocksville People Make Others Proud

To the editor:

This is to give praise to the competent caring people of Mocksville and Davie County, and I respectfully request that you print it.

On Dec. 27 I was traveling with my elderly mother from Wake County to the Asheville area, finishing up a delightful Christmas trip. Unhappily we were in a terrifying ice-related auto accident on the Yadkin River bridge.

Every single person who helped us during that unfortunate encounter was efficient, effective, and pleasant. Because of the emotional trauma, we did not get names of many who helped, but wish to have them know that they are appreciated. There was a distinguished black man who was quick to come to us, even in the rain, and was first to speak to me and to offer help and assurance. (I do not know your name, sir, but if you were on that bridge about 4:05 p.m. Dec. 27 and stopped behind a grey Chevy Nova, know now that I appreciate you.) The highway patrol officer, Ms. Amos, was also efficient and did an excellent job in trying circumstances. The rescue vehicle personnel (as of yet, I am not sure which group they are, but I will write directly to them when I know) promptly took my fragile and bruised mother from the scene, possibly preventing total failure of her weak heart by their assuring care. The personnel at Forsyth County Hospital Emergency Center are excellent — above criticism — and cared for us most effectively.

Upon our return through Mocksville a day or so later we experienced more kindness. The personnel at the Exxon service station and towing near the center of the town of Mocksville were trusting and understanding. Someone there (Martha) even went to extra trouble to retrieve items from the wreck upon later phone request. Others unnamed, as well as a Mr. Parrish and a gracious spry 81-year-old lady named "Grace" were also cheerful and encouraging.

Two of my sons-in-law, one who was raised in Pakistan, now lives in Texas, and the other a North Carolina native who is a design engineer at Research Triangle Park, these kind gentlemen returned us damaged ladies to our home a day later and we stopped at Mocksville to examine the auto. They both also were impressed with the good people of Mocksville.

I am telling you, it makes me proud to be a North Carolinian, proud to be an American. The people of Mocksville whom we met represent all that is good in our nation today. Happy new year, and God bless you.

Brent Ward Nominated By Republicans For Board the town board will consider him.

"I hope the present board will look at that recommendation," Ward said. "I would like to work with the board and help them complete some of the goals they have already started ... and talk to Abe Howard and see what his goals are ... but most importantly, to work with the citizens of Mocksville.

"I look forward to the challenge, and I don't anticipate any problems."

Ward was the unanimous choice of the Republicans at a meeting last week. Ward asked that he be nominated.

"I've always been interested in Mocksville politics," he said. "I was the only candidate outside the board. I seek the office to serve."

Ward told the group he faithfully supported Republican candidates.

Ward was nominated by Rufus Brock of Mocksville and Jim Wilson of Smith Grove. He was recommended by acclamation. "Offer them a name, if they don't go along with it, then that's their business," Wilson said.

"I'm very proud and very honored to be accepted by the Davie County Republican Party Executive Committee to replace Abe Howard," Ward said.

Mark Jones, Republican Party president, had similar praise for Howard. "I want to thank Abe Howard. He served the Republican Party and the Town of Mocksville with honor."

Howard requested that the party recommend someone as his replacement. "He didn't have to do that," Jones said. "I think that was a very honorable thing to do."

Howard's replacement will serve until November, when the town will have its first non-partisan election.

Loss Of Tax Money A Concern

Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley said the town stands to lose $300,000 from the state.

"It's always a concern for us, particularly with the economy the way it has been," Bralley said.

But Bralley said he feels more certain that the town will not lose its money this year because state budget officials are projecting a revenue surplus

David Long, chief planner with the N.C. Department of Economic and Community Development, said,"It's anybody's guess how the state's financial situation will turn out."

"Davie and Stokes stand to lose so much money that it would just be devastating to them. Other counties would just feel a pinch and a little pain," Long said.

State Rep. Julia Howard (R-Davie) said there is a bill coming before the General Assembly this year that would protect cities and counties from losing the money.

But Howard said she didn't know if it would pass. A large number of state house members feel that county and town officials should take the political heat and raise taxes.

Howard said she was concerned about Davie's status. "When the state is in need of money and this money is there, they are going to look at it," she said.

Whether the bill passes may depend if representatives have experience in local governments and understand the need for the money, she said.

School Building Money Sought

Steed suggested that county commissioners tour school facilities.

Boon thought that was a good idea, but didn't want to be pressured into making a quick decision on funding.

"Be patient," he said. "We'll get back to you as quickly as we can, as soon as we go over the information."

Diane Foster, county commissioner, questioned figures for construction at Mocksville Elementary, figures she said had doubled over previous estimates.

"This is a totally different plan than what we were presented before," she said.

Dwight Jackson, associate superintendent, said he probably made inaccurate estimates of construction costs, leaving out architect's fees and building space needed for hallways, closets, bathrooms and other areas.

"That's probably part of it," he said.

The architects also changed some of the plans. "There's been some changes to what we originally proposed," Jackson said.

Jackson praised the schools for providing students with a good education, but said the Davie High campus was built in 1956, and the buildings aren't suited for modern technology.

"We're doing a good job ... but some of our facilities need updating. We are falling behind in some areas — particularly technology."

Steed emphasized the need to convert to middle schools, saying experts believe students can best be served in grades K-5, 6-8 and 9-12. "That's where we think we should be and where most schools are heading," he said.

"We haven't done a lot of recent construction projects. We know these are extremely important investments and we've got to be very wise," Steed said.

The plans include $2.4 million in construction at Davie High, including a new media center (library), special education, fine arts, and vocational education departments, and more office and guidance areas.

Areas now used for the library and fine arts would be converted into classrooms.

Some classes now meet in the cafeteria, and others in the gym lobby, Jackson said.

Five classrooms would be added at Mocksville Elementary, and the cafeteria and teacher's lounge would be enlarged. Estimated cost: $886,223.

With current funding from local capital outlay budgets (½-cent sales tax for education) and a state school building fund would provide $2.35 million through 1994.

The total estimated construction cost is $3.27 million.

School Teacher Convicted

Advance Man Faces Felony Drug Charge

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise-Record

An orchestra teacher at West Forsyth, Kennedy and Hanes Middle schools was found guilty of simple possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, both misdemeanor charges, in Davie District Court last Thursday.

Fred Ross Lail Jr., had also been charged with possession of a Schedule I controlled substance, a felony, and following a probable cause hearing, was ordered by Judge Robert Johnson, bound over for trial in Superior Court.

Lail was arrested last November after psilocybin (hallucinogenic) mushrooms were found among property stolen from his home in a break-in in August.

Davie County Sheriff's Department Detective Jerry Williams and SBI agent R.A. Risen testified in court that the suspects involved in the break-in told officers when arrested that the mushrooms were taken from Lail's home, along with some $8,000 in stereo equipment.

Williams said when the property was recovered, Lail was asked to come in and identify it. The mushrooms were in a bag, and Williams said without looking into it, Lail set that bag aside and said it wasn't his.

Risen and Williams asked Lail if he would step back to the office to talk about the mushrooms. It was there that the officers said Lail admitted the mushrooms were his.

"He said he'd gotten the mushrooms while in Florida," Williams said. "He said he'd ask a security officer at the school (where he taught) if they were illegal and the officer didn't know."

Williams said Lail had admitted trying the mushrooms and that he had gotten high. "He called it a blast from the past."

The detective and SBI agent then asked for permission to search Lail's home in Advance, which he gave. It was there the officers found a small amount of marijuana, along with drug paraphernalia, which included rolling papers, a pair of hemostats and a pipe.

Lail's attorney, Mike Grace, questioned whether or not Lail had been read his rights before being questioned, but Williams and Risen said the defendant had been told he was not under arrest and could leave anytime he wanted. Grace also asked Williams if it wasn't true he needed a confession in order to get a warrant for the arrest.

Williams said he believed he would have had enough evidence without a confession, based on the information from the suspects who broke into Lail's home, but admitted that since he was relying on information from suspects in a criminal case, he would liked to have had more than that.

On the two misdemeanor charges, Judge Johnson sentenced Lail to 12 months in jail, but suspended that and placed him on probation for two years. He was ordered to pay a $300 fine and court costs, to obtain a substance abuse assessment and comply with any recommendations made by the agency and to submit to any searches or drug testing deemed necessary by his probation officer.

Grace gave notice of appeal, and these matters also will be heard in Superior Court along with the felony charge.

Downtown Sales Good For Holiday

Downtown merchants are reporting good sales during the Christmas season, Janice Schooler of the Main Street program told members of the Mocksville Town Board Jan. 5.

Schooler said her organization is planning to send out surveys to the businesses in an effort to plan next year's work. In February, the organization will be reviewed by the North Carolina Main Street Center to see what progress the group has made in supporting downtown businesses.

Town Approves Safety Policy

Mocksville will soon be taking extra steps to ensure town employees are working in a safe environment.

The town board passed a safety policy Jan. 5 that sets up a safety committee to serve as a review board for all accidents and review the effectiveness of safety programs. Jeff White, assistant to the town manager, said, "Our goal is to make this as safe a work place as there is in North Carolina."

Power Out When Truck Collides With Utility Pole

A tractor trailer snapped a utility pole in half on U.S. 64 then plowed through a resident's front yard Jan. 13.

About 30 homes in the area lost power for an hour and a half after the 9 a.m. wreck.

According to a report by Trooper David R. McCoy, Irvin E. Shull, 57, of Belleville, Ill., was driving the 1989 Freightliner tanker west on U.S. 64 near N.C. 801 when the truck dropped off the right shoulder of the road.

Shull lost control of the truck and struck a utility pole, sending power lines falling to drape just three feet above the road, McCoy reported.

The driver drove the truck back on the road but skidded off the left shoulder. The truck struck a tree and came to rest in a private dirveway. The silver tanker struck another utility pole and was dented.

According to the report, U.S. 64 has soft shoulders due to recent construction and heavy rains.

Shull was taken to Davie County Hospital with minor injuries.

Damage to the truck, which is owned by Twin Lake Trucking in Illinois, was estimated at $22,000.

Another $2,500 damage was done to the yards of John Bailey and Russell South of Route 2, Mocksville, and to utility poles and utility transformers owned by Crescent Electric Membership Company.

Cooleemee OKs County Street Addressing Proposal

COOLEEMEE — A countywide plan for new street addresses received the blessing of the Cooleemee Town Board last week.

County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce said the plan wouldn't affect the mailing addresses of most Cooleemee residents, the ones who receive their mail in a post office box.

The plan will, however, assign a street address to every residence — and it will be every resident's responsibility to place the assigned number on their home, where it can be seen from the road.

The system, being paid for by a surcharge on all telephone bills, will allow for quicker response by emergency vehicles such as police, fire and rescue. When calls are made to 911, the location of the residence where the call was made from will be available to the communications center dispatcher.

"It's a real good thing, a progressive thing," Boyce said.

Once assigned an address, it should stay with the property forever, Boyce said. "It's a one-time deal."

One problem that needs to be decided on is duplicate street names, like Hickory and Boger.

Cooleemee Mayor Bill Gales suggested that street names be left the same on the streets that have the most residents.

A public hearing will be held before any street names are changed.

Boyce also said that all drives that have more than one residence, whether state-maintained or not, will have to be named. "That's not going to make everybody entirely happy, but it's necessary to accomplish the goal."

Most addresses will be four numbers or less, but there may be some five-digit addresses on N.C. 801 near Cooleemee because of the length of that road, Boyce said.

Playground Equipment On Way

New sliding boards and other playground equipment will be set up at the Cooleemee Recreation Center in upcoming months, but it will cost the town an additional $300 to have some of the current equipment removed.

Town board member Grimes Parker helped workers decide where the new equipment will be located.

Watershed Could Affect Town

If Cooleemee wants to be included in a watershed ordinance being formed by Davie County, it must do so by resolution, County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce told town board members last week. By state law, all towns and counties must adopt such ordinances to protect drinking water supplies.

Boyce asked the board to appoint intern Duane Herold to a committee studying the county ordinance. Herold could act as a liasion between the two groups.

Chamber Of Commerce Dues OKd

Cooleemee town board members last week approved last week that the town remain a member of the Davie County Chamber of Commerce, with dues at $120 a year.

Disabilities Act Officer Appointed

Town Clerk Shirley Jacobs has been appointed as the town's Americans with Disabilities Act officer.

Also last week, town board members approved a grievance policy, and learned that the town hall is accessible to the handicapped as far as the meeting room — but a back room, storage area and bathrooms are not accessible. Wording was changed on an employment policy to say the town would not discriminate against the handicapped, said Duane Herold, town administrative intern.

Cranfill: Let's Pave Some Streets

Cooleemee needs to begin using state money to pave more streets — with asphalt instead of tar and gravel — Bill Cranfill told fellow town board members last week.

Long-range plans for paving streets are needed, Cranfill said. "I would like for us to do away with tar and gravel, it doesn't hold up that well anyway," he said.

Mayor Bill Gales told Cranfill to get wih Town Clerk Shirley Jacobs to put a priority on which streets need paving first, and estimates for costs of the paving.

The town contracts with the N.C. Department of Transportation for street work.

Mayor: Police Cars In 'Bad Shape'

Cooleemee police cars need replacing. "We've got two that are in pretty bad shape," Mayor Bill Gales said. "We've got to look at our vehicles."

Police Chief Matt Dillon said the cars often need repairs. "It's leading into more money than the cars are worth," Dillon said. The board took no action.

Swimming Pool Decisions Eyed

Town officials are studying needed repairs and safety requirements at the Cooleemee Swimming Pool, which has been operated for the past two years by the Mocksville-Davie Parks and Recreation Department. The town, however, is responsible for upkeep of the pool.

"We've got some tough decisions coming up, on how to operate it or if we can operate it," said Mayor Bill Gales.

Governments Eye Ordinances

From Cooperative Extension

The Environmental Management Commission adopted final water supply watershed regulations on Feb. 13, 1992, a result of North Carolina House Bill 156.

The Water Supply Watershed Protection Act, passed by the General Assembly in 1989, places restrictions on development densities, land uses, and stream buffers are intended to reduce harmful impacts of stormwater runoff entering surface water supplies.

Local governments must develop ordinances that meet or exceed these state regulations.

The accompanying table gives the basic water supply watershed rules and regulations.

A number of options can be selected. Local governments in the development of their ordinances will have to select from the various options. The options allowed, and the right of each local government to develop its own set of ordinances, creates the possibility that two or more "sets" of ordinances could exist for one watershed.

A local example of this possibility might occur under the following scenario: Bear Creek is a WS-II watershed with part of its watershed within the jurisdiction of the Town of Mocksville, and the balance of the watershed within the jurisdiction of the county. Mocksville could possibly choose the high density development option for a WS-II watershed for the part in its jurisdiction and the county could choose the low density option for a WS-II watershed for the part within its jurisdiction.

The model ordinance allows this flexibility to local government units. The exercise of this flexibility could create an "area or zone" where adjoining properties would be under two different sets of rules, one allowing for greater development than the other.

Towns and counties can opt to develop one set of ordinances to be used by both units.

All local government units (Towns of Mocksville and Cooleemee and Davie County) have to choose between low density and high density development options for each individual watershed. Low density option requires a minimum of 30-foot stream buffers while high density option requires a minimum of 100-foot stream buffers and engineered storm water controls.

Engineered storm water controls (also referred to as wet detention basins or ponds) are required with the high density option to manage storm water runoff. These structures would appear to most people to be a simple pond or pool of water. However, their function would be to provide adequate storage and treatment of the pollutants contained in storm water.

Periodically, the pollutants (potential exists for them to be classified as hazardous) will have to be removed and properly disposed.

Local governments must compare the increased tax base and other benefits of the additional development under the high density option against the increased cost of administering the high density option. The increased cost would come from required regular inspection program for the structures, structure maintenance enforcement efforts, and the assumption of the ultimate responsibility for maintenance/upkeep of the basins.

Center Church Began With 1830 Neighborhood Meeting

When James Penry invited his neighbors to come to his home for a "revival meeting" in the year 1830, he probably never dreamed that out of that meeting a church would be organized and would stand throughout these 163 years as a place of worship for Center community and travelers along a busy highway.

John Smith, a large landowner at that time in what was still Rowan County, gave the two acres of land to the trustees of The Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States of America to be governed by its rules. This property was beside of now U.S. 64 and a part of what is now the Center Church Cemetery. On this property a log church was built.

Little is known about the membership of the early church. A little leather-back class book owned by the late Mrs. Blanche Dwiggins Smith (and presented to Center United Methodist Church in 1980) gives some information. This book includes the general rules of meetings and class leaders, which were a vital part of the early Methodist congregations.

The first entry is dated July 5, 1936, and contains these names as trustees of the church: David Tutterow, Ashley C. Dwiggins, M.G. Richards, Joel Penry, William Tutterow, Caleb Kurfees, Soloman Seaford, Robert Rose, Daniel Smith and Zadock Leach.

Much of the writing appears to have been written with a goose-quill pen.

In 1845, the following entry was made in the class book: "Remember to observe the Friday immediately preceding the quarterly meeting for this circuit as a day of fasting and praying for the prosperity of Zion." Peter Doub, Presiding Elder, T.S. Campbell, A.E. and S.H. Helsabeck. Class members were entered in this book from year to year and later entries were made as they died or moved away.

The little book stops in 1863, but by this time the Methodist churches in America had a split and Center had become a member of the Southern branch of the church.

Many of the young men of the congregation entered the War between the states, and while they were away the members who stayed at home held the little church together and used it as a place to obtain food for their spiritual needs.

Around 1870, it was decided to build a new church at Center to replace the old log one. On Aug. 11, 1871, William W. Tutterow deeded to David Tutterow, Masten G. Richards, William W. Tutterow and others as trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Center a tract of land containing 3½ acres across the road in front of the cemetery.

The new frame structure was built in 1872 and was located where the driveway of the present church is now located. The church was a frame structure and much of the frame was hewed by hand with a broad ax, and put together with wooden pegs. The structure was built of forest pine and only the best was used.

During the 1870s, camp meetings were being held all over the country and Center was no exception. In 1876, an arbor was erected for the camp meetings and the first meeting was held in 1877 with large crowds from miles around attending. The arbor still stands today as an old landmark and has had a metal roof and many other repairs down through the years. In 1991 and 1992, renovation was done to the arbor and it was placed on the "National Register of Historic Places".

As the years passed, Center Methodist Church continued its growth and little work was done to the outside structure at the church. As with most early churches, it had two doors on the front, one for the men and one for the women.

In 1931, the church was moved west of the present church. Five classrooms were added, the pulpit was reworked and a new pulpit table and pastor's desk was given by John Marshall Baily of Elkin. Mr. Baily was a former resident of the community and his parents were buried in Center cemetery. A bell tower was added and a large bell was given by Mr. and Mrs. George Evans Sr. in memory of their son, Frank Evans.

Following World War II, members began to see the need for a better and larger church building. A building committee of Robert C. Evans, Chairman; Ben F. Powell, Secretary and Treasurer; Mrs. L.R. Powell; Mrs. Wayne Merrell; Wade Dyson; and John Anderson was appointed. Plans were drawn by George Evans Sr. who died before the church was completed.

In August 1953 the ground was broken and the first brick were laid. The outside structure and the roof were completed in 1954.

Much of the labor on the church was done by members of the congregation who met every Monday night to work. Sometimes it looked like they would never get the work completed as we were working on a pay as you go basis. With the help of the Duke Foundation, it was finally completed and the church was dedicated in a special service by Bishop Nolan B. Harmon of Charlotte on Sept. 1, 1957.

As part of the United Methodist Church, these are the organizations within the church: the United Methodist men, the United Methodist women, the Junior and Senior Youth and the weekly Bible study groups.

In 1992, the Rev. Gary Kling became minister, moving to the church with his wife Karen.

Sunday morning services are as follows:

1st and 2nd Sundays: church school, 9:45 a.m.; worship, 11 a.m.

3rd, 4th and 5th Sundays: worship, 9:45 a.m.; church school, 10:45 a.m.

The current Center building was built in mid-1950s.

Senior Trotters Go Back To School At Jan. Meeting

The Senior Trotters met at the Center Community Building on Jan. 14.

The members came with their lunches in paper pokes, buckets, baskets or wrapped in newspaper as they did when they went to school as children. Several were dressed somewhat like they dressed in that period.

Ann Forrest (Evans) was the substitute teacher in the absence of the regular teacher, Ruth Jarvis (Tutterow). Some of the girls tried to play hop-scotch before the teacher rang the school bell for class to begin.

Nancy Tutterow (Tutterow) had the devotions and led the group in singing "Good Morning to You." "Miss" Forrest then introduced the visitors, who had a few words to say about the senior games.

Classes began with Mary Helen Barneycastle (Forrest) reading a story about Jesse. Pearline Beck (Seaford), Margie Hennings (Green), Helen Dyson (Chaffin) and Nancy Tutterow (Tutterow) were called down by the teacher for eating in class.

Pearline later had to stand in the corner (which really was sitting in a chair with back to the class) for talking in class.

Miss Forrest called on Nancy Tutterow to recite the first poem she learned in school. She got carried away and recited two while she had the floor.

Novella Forrest (Safley) was called on to recite a part she remembered from the commencement program at her school. For reading class, Bill Seaford read the poem about "The Old Lady And The Boy With The Twisted Knee."

Pearline finally gets out of the corner and Miss Forrest calls on her for reading. She read the poem about the "Gingham Dog And The Calico Cat." In the meantime, Nancy had to go "sit in the corner" for trying to get into Margie's lunch poke.

Things were going along pretty good when someone in the class said John White was throwing "spit balls". John called this person a "tattletale". (John did not throw anything, the boys were all "little angels".)

History class was almost a disaster. These "chaps" might know how to cut wood, carry water and sweep the schoolhouse floor, but when it comes to knowing the state capitols, that's another story. And spelling ... it was just about as bad.

Instead of going out at recess and playing "Pretty Girl's Station" or "Running Base," students stayed in and sang songs going back to that period.

And that Miss Forrest, she has eyes in the back of her head just like all teachers. When Nannie Barneycastle (Wilson) was telling the class about what it was like growing up and going to school in the early days of her life, Margie, Josephine Bishop (White) and Lib Forrest (Massey) all had to sit in the corner just for eating peanuts.

When school let out for lunch, the children got out their lunch and with a bucket of water and dipper available for their drinking needs they enjoyed their sweet taters, fried pies and ham biscuits as they did once long ago.

Club Learns About Korean Trip

The Cooleemee Senior Citizens met Jan. 11 at the First Baptist Church fellowship hall.

The meeting was called to order by the president, followed by prayer in memory of Mrs. Eva Ridenhour.

The roll call was answered by 43 members and five visitors.

The Rev. E.M. James (retired) from Turrentine Baptist Church gave the devotions. His text was taken from Philippians 4.

Ann Spry showed slides and told of her trip to Korea, sponsored by the Presbyterian churches. This was in celebration of the 100th anniversary of missionaries to Korea. She was sent as a delegate from North Carolina.

The meeting adjourned with prayer followed with the closing song.

The next meeting will be Jan. 25th, weather permiting.

Have You Prayed?

By M. Craig Mock

Why is it when you ask a fellow Christian: "Have you prayed today?" he or she will answer with a hesitant "Well, I mean to." God's word says in James 1:22 to be "doers of the word" NOT tryers of the word or well meaning goodwill workers.

Dear Christians, our Heavenly Father wants to talk to you. Why is it that you don't want to talk to him? If you don't want to spend time with him now in this world, why would you want to spend eternity with him?

You may ask, how do I pray? Before we find out "how to" lets first of all define what prayer is. Prayer is more than communication with God. Prayer is the releasing of the Power of God through the Word of God into an individual's life and into the circumstances that involve an individual's life. Technically speaking, prayer is an actual, spiritual, legal transaction between God and you. Jesus said in Mark 11:24:

"Therefore I say unto you, what things soever you desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them."

But notice ... when ye pray ... Guess what? If you do not pray, how can you expect to receive the desires of your heart. The Father longs for your communication with him. We don't even have to get on a waiting list to talk to him. And praise his name, he doesn't put us on hold to answer another call. We have a hotline to heaven! He is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 52 weeks a year. He is waiting on us to speak to Him in the heavenly language of prayer.

And now to answer the question "How to." It's as easy as writing a letter. For example, when you begin a letter, you write: Dear Mr. Jones. Next is the context of the letter (what you want to say). Then you sign your name. Prayer is the same. You begin by saying Dear Father. Next is your desires, concerns, praise, adoration, intercession, worship, etc. Then you sign your prayer in Jesus' name. If you do not sign it in the name of Jesus, then it is not a legal transaction and the Father is under no obligation to respond.

So the next time a fellow Christian asks if you have prayed today you have no legitimate excuse. Unless of course, you are a tryer of the word and not a doer.

The Great Debate: Slow Or Fast Pitch

The great debate continues involving high school girls softball. Should the North Carolina High School Athletic Association go to fast-pitch or stay with slow-pitch.

Steele

There's no debate as far as Davie County softball coach Darrell Steele is concerned.

"I don't want fast-pitch," he said. "You can bunt and steal bases. That's like playing baseball."

Proponents of fast-pitch softball say North Carolina needs to get with the times. Colleges play fast-pitch and don't look toward this state for its athletes, since they play the slow version. North Carolina is also one of the few states left still playing slow-pitch in high school.

The NCHSAA will conduct a school-by-school survey to find out which style is more popular. Balloting the 321 schools is common when changes are suggested in high school sports but it still takes approval by the board of directors to change.

Steele, who coaches the sport at North Davie Junior High as well as at Davie, says he feels slow-pitch is here to stay.

"They took a survey at a rules interpretation clinic and the majority of the coaches there said slow-pitch," he said. "A lot of the coaches I've talked with said they don't want fast-pitch. I know (Mike) Lambros at North Davidson doesn't want it. Mainly, it's the colleges who want it."

Steele doesn't put much stock in the argument that North Carolina athletes can't play fast-pitch after high school.

"Kim (McClelland) and Katina (Wagner) both got rides (to N.C. Central University) and they didn't play it," he said.

Steele has his problems with fast-pitch right here in Davie County. Each summer, many of his North Davie players are involved in a fast-pitch league at the Davie Youth Complex behind North, where there is stealing, bunting and hard, underhand pitching. Then, they have to immediately adjust back to slow-pitch for him in the fall.

"They have trouble hitting," he said. "In fast-pitch, the ball comes in low. The strike zone is like baseball. The girls swing up or miss the ball."

In fact, last season, his girls struck out much more than normal.

"They finally start making the adjustments back to slow-pitch when the season is about

Sluder Helps Girls Past Mount Tabor

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

WINSTON-SALEM — Davie County girls basketball coach Angie Slabach likes to have senior Lori Sluder on the floor when her War Eagle team needs hard-nosed, defensive pressure.

Sluder

"She's our fastest player and real smart," Slabach says. "She goes in and plays good defense."

As Mount Tabor found out Friday night, Sluder also plays some fine offense as well. She scored seven points in a 18-5 third quarter that propelled Davie to a 57-45 victory over the Spartans.

It gave the War Eagles sole possession of second place in the Central Piedmont Conference. Dudley proved it was the conference's top team by beating both Mount Tabor and Davie last week. A 23-6 fourth quarter run gave Dudley a 73-47 win earlier in the week in Greensboro.

"They're definitely the team to beat," agreed Slabach.

Davie (8-4, 3-1) will get back into action Friday at home against West Forsyth.

Beating Mount Tabor

After a 12-12 tie at the end of the first quarter at Mount Tabor, Davie outscored the Spartans 16-9 in the second to take a 28-21 halftime margin. But it was the third quarter that did in Mount Tabor.

"Lori was the key," Slabach said.

First, the three-year veteran swished two free throws when Tabor coach Mike Esposito was hit with a technical foul. Moments later, she hit a 15-footer and followed that with a three-pointer. She finished with nine points off the bench.

"When she's open, she can hit the shot," said Slabach. "She was the difference."

Another was 6-2 sophomore center Maria Newsome. Mount Tabor double-teamed her consistently but she still managed 16 points to lead all scorers.

"We were still able to get the pass into her," Slabach said. "She scored almost every time. They had a couple of big girls but none were as big as she was."

Carrie Brown chipped in with 10 points for Davie. Andrea Gentry matched Sluder's nine and Shannon Umberger scored six.

Wildcats Win Again Over South

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When South Davie's freshman boys basketball team visited rival North Davie Friday, Wildcat coach Darrell Steele was the first to admit South was an improved team, compared to the first meeting of the season, a 68-48 North Davie win.

And for three quarters, the Tigers proved it. Even with star center Shannon Duty shackled with foul trouble, South trailed only 50-47 after three quarters.

But North finally exploded for 30 points in the final eight minutes and cruised to a 81-70 victory that was closer than the score indicated.

Both Steele and South coach Clyde Studevent were impressed with South.

"They've improved a lot," said Steele, whose team is now 8-2. "Duty blocked several shots and I thought Jason Graham played well for them."

Studevent was even happier, despite the loss that dropped his team to 1-5.

"We played real well," he said. "It just got away from us at the end."

North also knocked off West Davidson 80-66 earlier in the week.

Beating South

As usual, North relied on its slashing inside duo Jason Murphy and Lee Puckett. They combined for 49 points.

North led 15-10 after one quarter but was outscored 20-16 in the second period as the Tigers trimmed the halftime deficit to only 31-30 at halftime. South's Tommy Andrade scored seven of his 15 points in the quarter.

"It could have been closer, I think, if we could've kept Duty in the game," said Studevent. "He was the only one that could match up with them but he sat out over the half the game."

Decisions On Junior Highs Set For Jan. 26 Meeting

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Two Davie County junior highs will know if they will be admitted into the seventh and eighth grade Tri-County Conference when that league has its winter meeting, according to league president Van Miller.

Miller, the Knox Middle School athletic director, said recently that the league will meet Jan. 26 and should be able to give North and South Davie an answer. It wouldn't be fair to the Davie schools to wait any longer, he said.

Davie school officials attended a meeting last year to inquire about joining the 11-team conference, made up of Rowan and Cabarrus schools, along with Mooresville. Miller said a study committee was then formed to look at the situation.

"By then (Jan. 26) they would have discussed the pros and cons," he said.

North and South Davie are currently in the North Piedmont Conference, along with two Davidson County schools (Lexington, Thomasville), two from Randolph (Trinity, Asheboro) and three High Point schools (Ferndale, Griffin and Northeast).

The biggest concerns to the current Tri-County members are travel and the reorganization of the two divisions. North and South Davie would give the league an odd number of 13 schools.

North Closer To NPC Title

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

TRINITY — When Trinity learned that North Davie's wrestling team had lost to Northeast earlier this season, word out of the High Point area was that the Bulldogs were already putting up their North Piedmont Conference championship banner.

Bad move, Trinity.

In the past two weeks, Trinity has gotten the chance to face North Davie and has been beaten in resounding fashion. In a tri-meet, which included West Iredell, North pasted Trinity 55-30.

Last week in a dual match, it was even worse. The Wildcats wrapped up Trinity in its own banner and buried the Bulldogs again, 58-29.

If North defeats Lexington and Thomasville in the next week, coach Ron Kirk will have his fifth NPC title in the last six years.

In another match last week, Asheboro was throttled, 78-0.

Beating Trinity

Kirk said while his team was defeating Trinity in the tri-meet victory, he could see a look of amazement on the Bulldog side.

"Their coach looked stunned but the kids were even more stunned," he said. "When we went through them early, they really got down."

But that match didn't count in the conference standings. Last week's did and the result was the same.

Nathan Ferree, Adam Connor, Scott Cornatzer, David Potts-and-Curtis Johnson continued a trend of burying its opponent early. Four won by pin and Connor took a major decision.

Just like that, it was 28-0.

"Ferree's tough," Kirk said of his 87-pounder. "I've always had guys like him. I've had the Scotty Sprys, the Marellos, the ones who get us off to a good start. We stick it to them so quick they're shocked. That's what happened to Trinity."

Trinity gave North three forfeits and didn't win its first match until 129 pounds. Kirk said the Bulldog coach was disgusted.

"He said since we beat them the first time, they've had a poor attitude," Kirk said.

Jeff Wilson won for North at 134 by pin, as did David Daye at 149. Robert Guratzsch, David Koontz and Peter Engler all received forfeits.

"The first time I saw them against West Iredell, they looked physically bigger than my kids," Kirk said. "But we just went out there fired up. We knew what we had to do."

Decisions, Decisions...

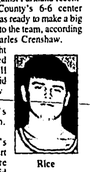
Players Lost To Injuries, Grades

After playing a good game under the boards against Parkland recently, Davie County's 6-6 center Jason Rice was ready to make a big contribution to the team, according to coach Charles Crenshaw.

"I thought Rice played real well tonight," said Crenshaw after Parkland's 57-49 win. "He's deciding he's going to start giving it more — and he said he was. Tonight he did. He can make all the difference in the world for us with his effort."



Rice

But Rice was lost for the season last week when he broke his nose in the War Eagles' 69-66 loss to Dudley. Crenshaw said his senior center's career was probably over.

"He caught an elbow," Crenshaw said.

It was the second break of the nose for Rice since last spring.

Rice's injury couldn't have come at a worse time for Davie. Crenshaw said on Monday he hadn't checked grades yet but admitted he might have only seven active players when West Forsyth comes to town Friday.

A big loss will be 6-2 junior Tyrone Martin, who is averaging in double figures in scoring and rebounding. He played his final game Friday against Mount Tabor, scoring 16 points and grabbing 12 rebounds.

Crenshaw said three more could also be gone and two others are borderline.

Mike Dinkins, the jayvee boys coach, said he felt safe but may have to send up several of his players if necessary.

That might disrupt Dinkins' chemistry. His team is currently 9-1.

Both coaches said on Monday's Martin Luther King holiday they'd have their answers upon going back to school Tuesday.

Stay tuned.

Got Their Number

What is it that Davie has over West Rowan's girls team?

West has been ranked as one of the top 3-A girls teams in the state. The Falcons could perhaps be one of the top five if not for Davie County, a thorn in its side.

West has only two losses this season, both to the War Eagles.

Before the Rowan Christmas Tournament, Davie handed West its first loss. The two didn't meet in the tournament as West easily raced to the championship, beating East Rowan by 30 points in the finals. East had beaten Davie by about 20.

So when they met again after the tournament, the Falcons were ready for a little revenge. They didn't get it, losing again, 49-43.

Slabach thinks Davie can match up better with West than other teams, especially with 5-10 scoring Andrea Grissett (a 1,000-point career scorer) and 6-0 center Wendy Hampton.

"Grissett is going to get her points," Slabach said, "but Hampton hurts people. We can put Maria Newsome (Davie's 6-2 center) on her. She hasn't hurt us at all."

Slade Signs

Davie's girls had a chance to see Dudley's star guard Tamika Slade for the first time last week.

That was enough for coach Angie Slabach. Slade scored 22 points against the War Eagles in a 73-47 decision. She then added 17 in another big showdown with Mount Tabor, won by Dudley, 67-40.

How good is she?

Good enough to sign with a national women's basketball power, that's how good.

Slade signed recently with Auburn University, a yearly participant in the NCAA Tournament. She shared the CPC Player of the Year award last season with South Rowan's Tracy Connor, who is now the starting center at Wake Forest.

Slabach said Slade did the right thing in signing during the early period.

"She was smart to go ahead and do it," Slabach said. "She won't have to worry about people calling her all season. She can concentrate on playing."

Davie fans will get a chance to see her when the Panthers come to Mocksville Feb. 5.

'We Are BAAAAAD!'

Are the Davie County jayvee girls basketball team the Detroit Pistons of the CPC this year?

Myers

Coach Sherrie Myers admits the team has an attitude but unlike the Pistons, it's a good, hard-nosed flair.

"There's a difference between an ego problem and being confident," said Myers. "We're confident. But we don't back down."

That was evident against Reynolds last week in a 57-18 win. The press in the first quarter yielded several steals. Davie led 15-2 after eight minutes and Myers called off the press in the first few minutes.

Keisha Wagner looked at her coach and asked why.

"If they can't play," she told her coach, "it's not our fault."

"I love that fire," Myers said.

Sizing Up Snyder

According to Davie County boys coach Charles Crenshaw, Davie's 6-4 center David Snyder doesn't have an athletically-gifted body — but if he did, says Crenshaw, he'd be a premier player, mainly because of his smarts.

Snyder, a wide-body who more resembles a defensive tackle, surprised Parkland's trees recently with eight points, all inside. He was 4-of-5 from the field and impressed his coach with crafty — and unexpected — finesse.

"Snyder is steady and smart," Crenshaw said. "If he had the athletic ability of almost anyone else on our team, he'd be awesome because he always gives 100 percent. He plays so smart. He doesn't make dumb mistakes. He catches the ball well, has great hands and he looks to pass it.

"You don't surprise Snyder with a pass either. Other people say, 'Oh gosh, here it comes.' Snyder says, 'I'm ready, give it here.'

"David just does the routine things well. He knows what you want and he does it."

Wachovia Trophy

Davie County is not where it would like to be in the Wachovia Trophy competition in the Central Piedmont Conference.

Davie is seventh out of eight teams after the fall sports with 27½ points, only two better than last place Parkland.

Three first place finishes — in football, volleyball and girls cross country — vaulted West Forsyth into first place. The Titans received 51½ points.

Mount Tabor is a very close second with 50½, followed by Grimsley with 43, Reynolds with 42½, South Rowan with 31 and Dudley with 30½.

Davie Boys Lose Fifth Straight, Fall to 0-4 In CPC

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

WINSTON-SALEM — Charles Crenshaw had gone through that helpless feeling before. But every time it happens to one of his Davie County boys basketball teams, it still hurts just as much.

Take Friday night's 71-62 loss to Mount Tabor. Crenshaw watched his team win the game over the first, third and fourth quarters, 57-45.

But oh, that second quarter...

The Spartans throttled Davie, 26-5 in the second period, leaving the War Eagles trailing, 35-17 at halftime. Not even a 31-point fourth quarter could bring Davie a victory.

A bad third quarter deprived Davie of an upset earlier in the week at Dudley. The Panthers still barely escaped with a 69-66 win.

Crenshaw is hoping Davie (5-8, 0-4) is pumped for a 5-7 West Forsyth team that comes to Mocksville this Friday night.

Losing To Tabor

With only three victories, Mount Tabor wasn't the most formidable foe in the Central Piedmont Conference. And Dick Jumback's club was down 12-9 to the War Eagles after one quarter.

"We played fair," Crenshaw said.

But when the second quarter began, so did Mount Tabor's offense. The Spartans broke the game wide open.

"They outhustled us and outscrapped us," Crenshaw said. "We missed a couple of layups and free throws, made some turnovers and everything just kind of snowballed."

The lead reached 23 in the fourth quarter.

"Realistically, we had no chance," he said, "but at least we didn't quit."

After being held under double figures for several games, Bubba Coleman came alive, scoring 18 points. Tyrone Martin had 16 points to go with his 12 rebounds. Keith Koontz was the third War Eagle in double figures and Nicky Fisher added seven.

Losing To Dudley

Davie actually had a chance to defeat first place Dudley earlier in the week.

Down two with 10 seconds left, Coleman missed a three-pointer.

"It was a tough one," said Crenshaw. "There were three guys all over him. I thought he got fouled."

Coleman was held to six points but four others hit double figures: Fisher scored 18, Martin and Koontz 12 each and Gerald Roberts 11.

For Koontz, who has just returned from a wrist injury, it was his best week of the year.

"He's starting to get comfortable," Crenshaw said. "All of his baskets last week were around the basket. He played well."

Davie surprised the Panthers by tying them after one quarter, 22-22 and being down only two at halftime, 41-39.

Dudley upped the margin to 54-47 after three.

Notes:

- Davie has lost five straight going into the West Forsyth game.
- Coleman also had six rebounds, six steals and five assists to go with his 18 points against Mount Tabor.
- Davie outscored two opponents in the fourth quarter last week, 50-37.
- Dudley entered this week in first place in the CPC at 4-0, tied with Reynolds.
- Jason Rice, Davie's 6-6 center, broke his nose in the Dudley game and is out for the year.
- After taking on West and former coach Denny Key Friday, Davie hosts winless South Rowan Tuesday and goes to Grimsley Jan. 29.

Contest Winners: Thompson, Hinshaw

Alex Thompson beat out 17 other finalists to win the first Enterprise Basketball contest of the year.

Thompson tied with only two misses but came closest to the total number of points (121) in Duke's 65-56 win over Iowa. He predicted 135. He takes home the $20 first place prize.

He edged out runnerup Kevin Hinshaw, who predicted 136 points. Hinshaw wins the $5 second place prize.

Area Sports

Davie National

The Davie Nationals Youth Little League will meet Monday, Jan. 25 at 7 p.m. at the Mocksville Parks & Recreation Center (Brock Gym) meeting room.

President Larry Anderson said all parents of youth baseball players in the Mocksville and Cooleemee area are invited.

Other meetings have been scheduled for Feb. 8 and Feb. 22, both at 7 p.m. at the recreation center.

Lankford-Benson

Jeff Lankford, a former Davie High and N.C. State golfer, teamed with Robin Benson of Mocksville to place 11th in the Carolinas Pro-Am Tournament.

Lankford and Benson shot 72-70 for a 142 score, winning them $262.50.

The tournament was played Pinehurst National Golf Club and Pinewild Country Club. Amateurs received equivalent earnings in gift certificates.

Benson Benefit

Twin Cedars Golf Course will hold its Nell Benson Benefit Tournament Saturday, Feb. 6.

There will be a $50 fee per team. Tee times will be given by Feb. 5 for the two-man Captain's choice event.

The first four team finishes will receive a plaque and winnings of $50 down to $20. Cash prizes will be given at each par three hole for closest to the pin.

All proceeds will be used for medication and care for Nell Benson.

Kirk looked at Trinity's downfall and said it could have happened to his team.

"When we lost to Northeast, we could've given up," he said. "But I think the kids dedicated themselves to beating Trinity and winning the championship."

With two more wins, the Wildcats will have accomplished both.

Beating Asheboro

It didn't matter that Kirk allowed some new faces in the lineup against Asheboro. Everybody won.

New faces in the winning circle were Dennis Shea at 122, Jake Marion at 138, Nick Janseen and David Mackie.

Notes:

- North improved to 10-1.
- The last regular season match will be Jan. 25 against Thomasville.
- North will host the NPC tournament in two weeks. Kirk said seven, perhaps eight, teams will participate.

to a 19-14 first quarter lead. But Dudley's quickness enabled it to take a 35-31 advantage into halftime.

"They started pressing all over the court and in the fourth quarter really got into it," Slabach said. "We made a lot of turnovers."

So a 50-41 third quarter deficit turned into a rout as Dudley outscored Davie 23-6 over the last eight minutes.

"I still don't think we played that badly," Slabach said. "To play as well as we did over three quarters at Dudley says something. They can score quickly."

Newsome had another 16-point outing, one behind Brown's 17. Tamica Cain and Umberger each had six and Gentry two.

"I'm disappointed to lose but I'm happy that we bounced back against Mount Tabor," Slabach said. "They were up for it. They knew second place was on the line."

Notes:

- Dudley began this week 12-1 overall and 4-0 in the CPC. Mount Tabor fell to 9-4, 2-2.
- Newsome blocked four shots against Mount Tabor.
- Umberger had 11 rebounds against Mount Tabor.
- Davie hosts South Rowan Tuesday and goes to Grimsley Jan. 29.

Gallagher

over," Steele said.

A good pitcher and catcher in fast-pitch can sometimes dominate a game, Steele pointed out. And a team without a good pitcher can walk the game away.

"But slow-pitch is a hitter's game," Steele said. "You need more offensive skills. I think girls like Debbie Evans and Casey Jenkins could make the switch to fast-pitch but not everybody can. And after a girl ages out, there's nothing for her to do except slow-pitch. It will still be around. But they won't be able to find fast-pitch leagues."

Steele said if the majority of the coaches vote in favor of fast-pitch, he'll go with it and just learn to coach a "new" game. But if he could make the decisions, he knows what he would do.

"Colleges should go back to slow-pitch," he said. "Fast-pitch is too much like baseball."

Once the official ballots are returned and a decision reached, the board of directors has stipulated the state will stay with that form of girls softball through at least 1996-97.

"I think we'll still have slow-pitch," Steele said.

League

There are already six schools from Rowan County (Knox, China Grove, Corriher-Lipe, North Rowan, West Rowan and Erwin), four from Cabarrus County (J.N. Fries, Concord, Kannapolis, and Northwest Cabarrus) and one from Iredell (Mooresville) round out the league.

As far as travel, South Davie principal Julius Suiter said he felt the local teams could get to the game sites without missing instructional time in school.

"Not one trip will take over 45-50 minutes," he said.

Miller even agreed that schools like West and North Rowan, as well as his school, Knox, wouldn't be opposed to visiting Davie County. Trips here would actually be shorter than going to Cabarrus County.

But to Suiter and company, admittance into the league means much more to Davie than just travel. The Rowan schools are all former acquaintenaces from the old freshman league.

"We've always had a good working relationship and we miss the rivalry that existed between the schools," Suiter said. "It's advantageous for us to get in this league."

Miller said Tri-County schools still play Davie County in nonconference action. Miller laughed that adding the Davie schools would give him another shot at North Davie wrestling coach Ron Kirk.

"Ron Kirk is a good friend," Miller said. "He's the only coach I haven't beaten."

Most of the Rowan County athletic directors remember when they were left out in the cold without a conference a few years ago and Davie took them in. The North Piedmont Conference freshmen league was very competitive until Rowan went to the middle school concept, something that Davie will eventually go to.

"They are a well-established seventh and eighth grade league," Suiter said of the Tri County. "We would better ourselves by being a part of it."

The only schools balking are in Cabarrus County. And the addition of two Davie schools would give the league 13 teams.

Suiter wouldn't mind seeing the six Rowan schools and the two Davie County schools form their own eighth-team conference.

Another team may play a part in the study committee's decision, Mount Pleasant, located in Cabarrus County, is also seeking admission. That would give the league 14 teams but Davie would definitely want to be in the Rowan County division, giving it eight members. Mount Pleasant would go to the Cabarrus division, giving it six. If the league wanted to make two seven-team divisions, one school from Rowan might have to switch divisions and no school is likely to go along with it.

Regardless of the scenarios, Miller said he would like to see the situation resolved at the Jan. 26 meeting if for no other reason than scheduling.

"This is my first year as president," he said. "I make out the schedules."

North

North worked its lead to 11 in the third quarter behind Puckett, who scored 11 of his game-high 28 points. But again South came back behind Brewer, who drilled three straight three-pointers. Going into the fourth period, the Wildcats led only by three.

It was then Murphy's turn in the fourth quarter, scoring 13 of his 21 points. Steadily, North pulled away.

"Duty was so conscious of not picking up his fifth foul that he almost ran the other way when they came inside," said Studevent. "They dominated the boards."

Steele was glad his team didn't wilt under the pressure of Brewer's long-range shooting.

"South came back but it gave us a wake-up call," he said. "I don't know if we took them lightly or what."

Adam Miles had nine points and Tim Gilbreath seven for North. Clay Jones pitched in with eight.

Graham led South with 16 points and Jason Harbour added 14. Brewer scored nine and Dusty Smith three. Michael Allen and Tavis Brown had two each.

Beating West

An inexperienced West Davidson team allowed Steele a chance to play everyone and his team responded by putting 13 of 15 players in the scoring column.

Murphy led the way with 20 points, 18 in the first half when North built a 48-21 lead.

"It was over then," said Steele.

West was outscored 26-7 in the second quarter as Murphy scored eight.

Drew Carter had his best game, scoring 10 points.

Notes:

- North improved to 8-2. South fell to 1-5.
- Mills returned from an ankle injury to score six against West, including a perfect 4-of-4 from the foul line.

Lanier Leads JV Boys To Late Win

The Davie County jayvee boys basketball team came from four points down with 50 seconds left to defeat Mount Tabor Friday, 68-67.

The win improved Davie's record to 9-1. The War Eagles had dropped their first win of the season earlier in the week to Dudley, 70-65.

Beating Mount Tabor

Fred Wilson, Chad Alexander and Scott Van Hoy all had a hand in beating Mount Tabor in the final minute.

Wilson hit a big shot and after Davie pulled within one, Alexander hit two free throws to give Davie the one-point edge. Van Hoy then made a steal to ice it.

Chad Lanier was the game's leading scorer with 21 points. Jason Smith had 12, Wilson 11 and Alexander 10.

Lanier did more than just score. He helped foul out Chris Vernon, Mount Tabor's leading scorer with 18. Brock Patrick had a good defensive game as well.

But, Dinkins points out, everyone always contributes on this team.

"What really has helped us is our bench," said Dinkins. "It's guys like Eric Shook, Kevin Hinshaw, Parris Wilson, Kevin Robertson and Matt Anderson who give us quality playing time. They help us play harder in the fourth quarter because we're rested."

Losing To Dudley

Davie's nine-game winning streak came to an end earlier when Dudley free throws won the game.

Dudley hit 10 of 19 free throws in the fourth quarter alone. Meanwhile, Davie was hitting only 3-of-10.

"Six of those misses came when we had the lead," Dinkins said.

Davie lost its late lead, which baffled Dinkins.

"We usually play well at the end of the game," he said.

Lanier scored 18 points, 15 in the fourth quarter alone. He hit Davie's only three free throws in the final eight minutes.

Notes:

• Davie is 3-1 in the Central Piedmont Conference.

• Lanier had four three-pointers against Mount Tabor. "He's been taking good shots and hitting them," said Dinkins.

• Davie was only 16-of-36 free throws against Dudley.

• Davie faces first place West Forsyth Friday and then goes to South Rowan Tuesday.

Davie Wrestlers Tie — And Win

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Mount Tabor came to Davie County last week with 12 of last year's 13 returning starters. The expected to leave Mocksville with a win.

Instead, the Spartans left with a tie — and a loss.

Mount Tabor made a surprising comback in the final two matches but the 29-29 tie will go into the books as a win for the War Eagles, according to Davie coach Buddy Lowery.

He said the coaches had decided in an earlier meeting that criteria would decide ties for the purpose of having a true winner.

"We won seven matches, they won six, so we win by criteria," Lowery said.

With a 58-9 win over Dudley, the War Eagles improved to 3-1 in the Central Piedmont Conference, the only loss coming to South Rowan.

As far as the criteria, Mount Tabor coach Steve Hayes told reporters, "We were definitely for it. Though we didn't benefit from it this time, you can't fault the rule."

Exciting Match

Davie kept the lead over Mount Tabor until the final horn of the final match.

It appeared Davie had wrapped up the match when undefeated James Coulston defeated Jon Bowman, 6-5.

Coulston entered the match with a 19-0 record while Bowman was 21-2.

"That was a really good match," Lowery said of Coulston's win that gave his team a seemingly safe 29-19 victory. "All we had to do was not get pinned in at least one of the last two matches."

Senior Brad Groce needed about 10 more seconds in his 189-pound match and Davie would have won outright. But he was pinned with only nine seconds left, bringing Mount Tabor within 29-25.

Sophomore Kevin Caudle wasn't pinned but was beaten 21-9. The major decision gave the Spartans four points and a tie.

"I thought we wrestled well," Lowery said. "We won some close ones."

Davie's biggest lead came early. The War Eagles led 20-6 after Jon Ward's technical fall over Trevor Thompson, 16-0.

Chris Marello had begun the match with a pin and Scotty Spry gave Davie a 12-6 advantage with a second period pin. Matt Wilson, another senior, beat Tyrone Hall at 125, 5-4 when he got an escape with four seconds left in the match.

Another turning point in the match, according to Lowery, occurred at 135 where sophomore Matt Sain lost a major decision, 17-9. Lowery felt the match should have ended much sooner.

"Sain had him stuck in the first period," Lowery complained. "He had him in a cradle. He was pinned."

Lowery wasn't too pleased that the referee's arm went up and began coming down for the pin signal — but let up at the last second.

So instead of a 26-6 lead, Mount Tabor had sneaked to within 20-10.

Still, the War Eagles had things well in hand. Benjy Frye and Mark Mason won by decision at 140 and 145, giving Davie a 26-10 lead. Lowery, however, was agonizing over Mason's 9-2 win over David Kouba.

"One more point and we'd have gotten four points instead of three and that would have won it for us," he said.

Bill Atmore decisioned Darren Cook at 152 and Sanders pinned sophomore Michael Hunter at 160.

"Sanders is a man," said Lowery. "He took care of business."

Lowery admitted he was fairly confident after Coulston's win but the resilient Spartans never gave up and made their last ditch effort, forcing the tie.

Lowery still thinks his team can share the Central Piedmont Conference title.

"I think Mount Tabor can beat South Rowan and we'll all end up as tri-champions."

Beating Dudley

An improved Dudley team was still no match for Davie.

Winning by pin were Marello, Frye, Mason, Coulston, Groce and Caudle.

Also winning by large margins were Spry 13-1 and Wilson 10-3.

Notes:

• Davie is 14-1 overall.

• Ward improved to 19-1. Frye has the team's most wins, standing 21-3.

• Spry improved to 16-2.

• Marello and Groce are both 17-4 and Cook 15-5.

South Boys: 'Road Warriors'

Barry Whitlock likes to call his South Davie jayvee boys basketball team, "The Road Warriors."

And for good reason.

The Tigers have lost only two games this season, both at home.

"We haven't lost on the road yet," he said of his 7-2 club.

But one of the losses came last week that damaged his North Piedmont Conference championship hopes greatly. After beating Asheboro by 15 points five days earlier, the Tigers didn't have the same zip, losing to the same Blue Comet team, 43-42.

"The guys were overconfident," Whitlock said. "At this age, when you beat somebody by 15, you walk out on the court thinking all you have to do is show up."

South didn't stay down for long. The reason? It went on the road, defeating Griffin, 37-32.

"We just shoot better on the road for some reason," Whitlock said.

Beating Griffin

Frankie Tatum bombed Griffin early, scoring all 10 of his points in the first quarter.

"He didn't miss," Whitlock said. "It put them in a hole and helped us go up 25-15 at halftime. He didn't score again but he got us off to a good start."

Lester Scott led the scorers with 12 points.

South held a comfortable lead until late when Griffin pulled within four. But Josh Barnhardt hit some key free throws.

"We played a bad second half and got out of our rhythm," Whitlock said. "But Josh did a good job at the free throw line."

Barnhardt finished with seven points.

"It feels good," he continued. "This is the first time I've ever won at Griffin. Our kids like playing on the road. Maybe it's because we eat out."

Losing To Asheboro

The Tigers expected to feast on Asheboro earlier in the week but were stunned with an upset. Still, South had its chances late in the game.

The Tigers had the ball with six seconds remaining, down 43-42. Barnhardt missed a jumper from 16 feet but center Buddy Frogge grabbed the rebound and shot. The ball rolled off the rim at the buzzer.

"We had our chances," Whitlock sighed. "But we played awful in the first half."

South trailed 15-7 after one quarter and 24-13 at halftime.

Finally, in the third quarter, the Tigers woke up, outscored Asheboro 17-5 to suddenly lead 30-29 going into the fourth period. It stayed close the rest of the way. Scott and Frogge each had 10 against Asheboro. Tatum scored eight and Barnhardt five. Whitlock said his team will just have to forget the loss.

"We still have a game left with Thomasville," said Whitlock of the first place team. "If nothing else, I know we're a solid second place in the league right now."

Notes:

• Scott scored eight of his 12 points against Griffin in the second quarter.

• In the big third quarter against Asheboro, Scott had six and Tatum five.

• Scott Carter came off the bench to hit two threes against Asheboro and finish the week with three treys.

• South plays at home Thursday against Lexington and goes to North Davie Jan. 26.

North Girls Win Two; Boys Mark Drops To 2-8

What's the best way to get a coach to forget your 3-for-18 shooting performance?

Hit the winning shot in double overtime, of course.

That's what Leslie Holcomb did last week for North Davie's seventh and eighth grade girls team in a 22-20 victory over Ferndale.

It was Marilyn Lennox and Page Steed who took their heroic turns later in the week, hitting the big buckets in a 23-22 win over Lexington.

Beating Ferndale

To say Holcomb stands 4-foot-8 might be pushing it. But ask Ferndale and she was the biggest player on the floor after hitting the winning basket with 1:47 left in the second overtime.

Holcomb took a step inside the three-point stripe and nailed the jumper that gave North the win.

"Her percentage wasn't what we wanted," coach Carol Cozart said, "but she hit the one that counted."

Holcomb led the scorers with six points as Ferndale concentrated on stopping inside threat Marilyn Lennox, who finished with only four.

"I knew they'd do that because she scored 19 on them last time," Cozart said.

So Cozart put Rebecca Carle inside and she responded with four points.

"They kind of let up when Marilyn went out and Rebecca hit two baskets when we really needed them."

Beating Lexington

North defeated Lexington despite trailing throughout the game.

After one quarter, it was 9-4. At halftime, it was 15-10. And going into the fourth quarter, Lexington led, 18-14.

But Lennox heated up, scoring five points to get North back in the game. When Steed fed her for a layup, North led 23-20. Steed then made another crucial steal to seal the win.

Boys Lose Tough One

Chris Callison has seen it so many times before. His team had a chance to win at the end — but didn't.

North's 7-8 grade boys lost to Ferndale 63-35 but the heartbreaker came at the hands of Lexington, which barely held on for a 44-43 win over the Wildcats.

North had a three-point lead with two minutes left. Lexington converted a turnover into a basket that eventually gave it the lead with 13 seconds remaining. Callison called a play he felt would work.

But Rhamen Love-Lane was called for charging on a drive and North had fallen to its eighth defeat.

Still, Callison said his team remains upbeat.

"They just enjoy the game," Callison said. "They're as determined to win as they were on day one."

Against Ferndale, Chris Meacham led the scorers with 14 points and Love-Lane had eight. Jamie Neese, Eric Kistler and Derrick Smoot all had four points.

Notes:

• North's girls are 7-3.

• North's boys fell to 2-8.

South Davie Girls Beat Asheboro, 32-30

South Davie's seventh and eighth grade girls basketball team finally found out what it feels like to win a close game.

After dropping two close decisions the previous week, South slipped past Asheboro 32-30.

But the Tigers were victimized for the second straight week by Griffin's Melanie Hall in a 28-17 loss.

Beating Asheboro

A good start against Asheboro was all South needed in its win.

The Tigers went up 13-4 after one quarter and still led 19-12 at halftime.

"It was our best game of the season," said coach Jerry Callison.

Slowly but surely, Asheboro crawled back into contention, trailing only 23-21 after three. But good foul shooting helped South keep the lead. Allison Foil hit 5-of-7 and finished as the game's leading scorer with 11.

"She's really worked on her game," said Callison.

Angie Priestley finished with six points, followed by Charise Wilson, Amy Call and Jodie Stone all with four.

Losing To Griffin

In its first meeting with South, Griffin rode Hall's scoring to a 21-18 win as she scored 15.

Callison tried a special defense on her this time but to no avail. Hall scored 24 of her team's 28 in this one.

"We tried a box-and-one, a triangle-and-two, everything," Callison said. "But she scored most of her points in transition with a little, running half-hooks."

Only three players scored for South. Foil finished with eight, Stone with six and Priestley with three.

Notes:

• The split left South 3-6.

What is a great American tradition, extremely tasty, can be eaten year-round, but only bought at a certain time of year?

Girl Scout Cookies.

Over the past 50 years the Girl Scout Cookie Sale has become an American tradition.

Girl Scouts in the Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council will take orders until Jan. 24. Cookie delivery and direct sales to the public will take place Feb. 20-March 14. The cookies sell for $2.50 per box.

The Girl Scouts were founded in 1912 and the national cookie sale began in 1936. The cookie sale originated in Philadelphia when several Girl Scouts were baking cookies to earn the cooking merit badge. Someone offered to buy the cookies and the idea was born.

Proceeds from the cookie sale support troop activities, individual girls and adults needing financial assistance, and the local Council which provides the services and facilities that make the Girl Scout program possible.

This year's selection features seven varieties: Thin Mints (wafers covered with smooth cocoa), Trefoils (shortbread), Tagalongs (peanut butter patties), Do-si-dos (oatmeal peanut butter creams), Samoas (vanilla cookies covered in caramel, coconut, and cocoa), and new this year - Chalet Cremes and the Golden Nut Cluster.

The Chalet Creme is an assortment of vanilla cookies filled with lemon or vanilla creme. This exclusively designed cookie features "Our Chalet" Girl Scout International World Center in Switzerland in both summer and winter scenes. The Golden Nut Cluster is a cluster of chewy caramel covered with a light maple flavored coating.

Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council serves 13 counties: Alamance, Alleghany, Caswell, Davidson, Davie, Guilford, Forsyth, Randolph, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry, Wilkes, Yadkin. Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council serves 14,500 girls and 5,400 adults.

For more information about local troop activities, contact Loretta Brooks at 919-998-0912.

Cooleemee Students Graduate From DARE Program

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

At the young ages of 11 and 12, sixth-graders at Cooleemee Elementary School pledged to never abuse drugs and alcohol on Jan. 11.

About 50 students participated in the Drug Abuse Resistance Education — DARE — graduation, with even more parents and county officials there to see the county's first DARE class of 1993.

Judy Chandler, a deputy in the Davie County Sheriff's Department and a DARE officer, said the students learn from mentors not to use drugs.

And after six years of DARE graduations in the county, improvements are coming. "We're making an impression, but it's a slow one."

Ashley Meisner, president of the Davie High School student body, told the students that drugs are not the answer to being accepted by their peers.

There are lots of things to do that are cool that don't include drugs, she said, such as going to the movies or out to eat with friends.

Jason Barney, a 6th grader at Shady Grove Elementary School, sang "God Bless the U.S.A." and told the students that he had not yet taken the DARE class but he had already decided never to take drugs.

Ellen Berger, a student at Kennedy Middle School, sang a song called "Happy Talk." Berger, a DARE graduate, said she would never get involved in drugs.

"A lot of kids are afraid that someone will make them take drugs and beat them up if they don't," Meisner said. "But most of the time, if you get involved with alcohol or drugs, the chances of causing harm to your family or yourself is greater."

Meisner told the children that they have the power to choose their own friends, and they should choose people who don't want to get them hooked on drugs.

Accelerated Reader

Computer Helps Middle Schoolers With Reading

In addition to their regular reading program, all Mocksville Middle School fourth graders are participating in a reading program called the "Accelerated Reader."

To use the accelerated reader, a student reads a book from the program's book list, then tests his or her knowledge and comprehension of the book by answering multiple choice questions on a computer quiz.

The computer handles all scoring and recordkeeping and prints a score for each student. Students accumulate points with each book read. The point value of each book is determined by its level of difficulty.

While many fourth graders read books with a one point value, some have read books with values as high as 12 points.

As students reach certain milestones in their reading, they are rewarded with incentives such as pizza coupons and special breakfast, provided by their teachers.

Five students have a total of 100 points or more: Michael Harris, Jennifer Moore, Erin Chaffin, Wesley Johnson, and Miriam Brierly.

Students have access to accelerated reading books in their classrooms and the school library. They are encouraged to use the Davie County Public Library as a source for more books. The library has a complete list of accelerated reading books.

Michael Harris was the first to gain 100 points at MMS.

Schools Get 'Wings' Library

Davie County Schools Preschool Handicapped Program has received a complete Wings library, donated by Ingersoll-Rand.

Myers Opens Law Practice; Starts Mediation Efforts

Jimmy L. Myers of Advance has opened a law office at the Salem Center in Hillsdale.

Myers

A 1991 graduate of the UNC School of Law, Myers worked for more than a year in the law office of Garry W. Frank of Lexington before leaving for solo practice.

He is the son of Ray and Lois Myers of Advance, and a 1971 graduate of Davie High School. He has an undergraduate degree from Wake Forest University and a master's degree from Emory University.

In addition to the general practice of law, Myers will serve as a mediator. Mediation is a dispute resolution process which uses a third party (neutral mediator) to lead disputing parties to settle their case out of court.

Myers, a United Methodist minister, has an appointment from the denomination as a mediator.

He will offer pastoral mediation to those disputing parties who wish their mediator to approach their dispute with pastoral care, counseling and other acts of religious devotion.

Myers sees mediation as the natural intersection of the two professions in which he has been trained — law and ministry.

He also hopes to teach mediation, and has a goal of seeing student mediators in local schools dealing with problems among students.

In addition, he is available for preaching engagements, revivals and preaching missions.

A Naval Reserve chaplain, Myers was recently promoted to lieutenant commander. He has served seven years with the Marine Corps (including three active duty years with the Second Marine Division). He has been assigned to the Naval Reserve Personnel Mobilization Team based at the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Greensboro.

These vehicles will be billed by the County after the current registration is renewed or an application is made for a new registration. About three months after your registration renewal you will receive a bill from the County. You will have 30 days to pay the bill before interest is added at the rate of 3/4 of 1% per month.

UNLICENSED vehicles not licensed on January 1, 1993 WILL BE LISTED DURING THE REGULAR LISTING PERIOD, there is no change in the listing requirements for those vehicles. Other property required to be listed in January include: mobile homes, boats and motors, jet skis, aircraft, farm equipment, tools used by carpenters and mechanics, all assets and supplies of businesses, furnishings owned and rented by a landlord.

Real estate is automatically listed. You will not need to sign a listing form for real estate unless there have been changes or improvements to the real estate.

If you need to list personal property as indicated above or report changes to real property and you do not receive a form in the mail, please contact the Tax Administrator's Office for the proper forms.

EXEMPTION FOR ELDERLY AND DISABLED

Persons wishing to continue to get the exemption will need to sign the listing form as in prior years. It's Official: County To Buy Building

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County will spend $100,000 on a downtown building that not one of the members of the board of commissioners ever voted to buy.

But the board voted Jan. 19 not to fight a contract with B.C. Moore and Sons of Cheraw, S.C., and to purchase the building.

In November, three former commissioners — Bert Bahnson, Spurgeon Foster and Buster Cleary — voted to buy the B.C. Moore and Sons clothing store that had been left vacant. Those members said they thought it was a valuable piece of real estate in a great location for future government offices.

It was the three's last meeting before leaving office.

Two remaining commissioners, Diane Foster and Larry Hayes, voted against the purchase. They said the county had no immediate need for the structure.

When three new commissioners — Carl Boon, Joe Long and Jeff Harrison — took office at the next meeting the new board voted 5-0 to take back the earlier vote and instructed the county attorney to work on getting out of the contract.

"Basically all parties felt there was indeed a contract to begin with," said Jim Stockert, acting county manager. "It was a deal. And a deal, is a deal, is a deal. We wanted to back out but B.C. Moore preferred to sell the building."

Foster said she still felt that the county did not need the building. She said the board would spend some time talking about the fate of their new purchase. Reselling the building was not out of the question, she said.

Foster said it was frustrating that the county was bound by a vote of the previous board. "But that's a tradition with boards. You live with the decision that has been made. Official acts of the board are official."

Commissioner Joe Long said the board still doesn't know what it will do with the building.

He said he was not disappointed about the purchase. "It's just something we have to deal with."

Commission Chairman Carl Boon said there was never any animosity between the county and B.C. Moore officials. He said the new board simply chose to see if it could get out of the purchase, but found that it could not.

County Attorney Robert Price said the building still needs to be surveyed before the sale becomes official.

Deal Goes Bad, House For Sale

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A county-owned house that a child care organization begged the board of commissioners to buy is up for sale.

The house was meant to be a joint project between Davie County and the Northwest Child Development Center. Several years ago the county paid $87,000 for the house and planned to lease it to the center for $1 a year.

In return, Northwest would come up with the money to renovate the building to provide care for developmentally disabled children.

But hard financial times and a change in state law kept Northwest from ever moving into the house and fulfilling its end of the bargain, said Linda LaRue, Northwest's interim director.

And during that time, the director who fought to get the Duke Street house resigned.

Several From Area Attend Clinton Inaugural

When Denise Franklin, Channel 12 news anchorwoman, interviewed Bett Barnhardt and Mildred Spry in Congressman Steve Neal's office, Washington, D.C. last Wednesday, the two Davie County women echoed the sentiments of thousands of Americans when they said, "We're just thrilled to be among so many Democrats."

Several Davie Countians attended the inaugural and related ceremonies. Some escaped the early morning 21 degree chill by viewing the Presidential swearing-in ceremony on television in Neal's office in the Rayburn Building.

Magalene Gaither, Davie Democrat chairperson, and Frances "Pan" Beck, secretary, stood for three hours on a soggy, cold lawn waiting for the ceremony to begin and to assure themselves of a good position. When the guests were being seated, the two were standing behind the seats of John John Kennedy, Roseanne Arnold, Johnny Cash, The Fonz and Christopher Reeves.

After the parade, the atmosphere at Springfield Inn, Springfield, Va., where these women stayed, became more frenzied as ball gowns were donned and taxis hailed for the North Carolina and other balls.

"The fact that President and Mrs. Clinton and Vice President and Mrs. Gore did not arrive at the N.C. Ball until 2 a.m. did not hamper the festivities. It only served to heighten the anticipation of their arrival," Gaither said.

Debbie and Irene Groce attended the Arkansas and North Carolina balls.

Between the Inaugural Ceremony and parade, Neal and Congressman Bill Hefner hosted a reception for hundreds of North Carolinians.

Piedmont North Carolina was represented with Maiden High School's Marching Band and Maya Angelou, Wake Forest professor and inaugural poet.

En route home, the Davie delegation visited the Smithsonian Institute, the Vietnam War Memorial, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Library of Congress and finally to Arlington

January Chores: Maybe It's Time To Rake Lawn

The clouds finally lifted Saturday, putting to rest my doubts that the sun had vanished.

After so many dreary days of clouds and rain, the sun made a brilliant comeback on Saturday. It was reasonably warm. So I decided to tackle some unfinished work.

Raking the lawn.

Most of the leaves have fallen by now.

Back in November I put aside the rake with a back corner of the lawn still under leaves. I had hoped they would blow over on the neighbor's lawn, but the wind never seems to blow that way.

Under the leaves, we found several promises of spring. A crocus blooming. We've even seen a forsythia in bloom.

The lawn is clean now, and I have vowed 1993 will be the year of the Great Lawn. No more moss. No more onions. No more dandilions. No more massive blank spots in the lawn.

I'm calling the concrete truck.

Davie County has a personality crisis every time the high school team plays West Forsyth. The Davie students transform into hayseeds. Some come dressed in overalls, complete with a straw protruding from their mouths.

Most of the students have never even seen a cow.

The two schools met Friday night for basketball.

West Forsyth used to be considered the country bumpkins by Reynolds High. West years ago decided its rural neighbors to the west were the real hicks.

Davie students have played along in grand style. The hillybilly routine hasn't helped the athletes, however. Davie missed a shot at the end of regulation that would have won the game. It eventually lost in overtime.

Winning the game would have been better revenge. That's how West shook its problems with Reynolds.

It may be a sign of advancing age. Now I tell my sons about those long-ago years when it used to snow.

"We had real snows ..."

The weatherman's record this winter has been pitiful. Several times there have been chances of snow, and little has happened. Our best snowfall has lasted five minutes.

Life has been too easy for school superintendents.

And if time isn't flying by ... Pebbles and Bamm-Bamm are getting married. Fred and Wilma's daughter will marry Barney and Betty Rubble's son next month.

It seems like only yesterday they were rocking in the cradle together.

They will marry on an ABC special Feb. 7. The wedding dress is being designed by Oscar de la Rocka. It's not a wedding of two kids.

Country Music Confuses Shrinks

Mike Barnhardt

"Gloom, despair and agony on me. Deep, dark depression, excessive misery. If it weren't for bad luck, I'd have no luck at all. Gloom, despair, and agony on me."

Unless you've been under a rock for the past 10 or 15 years, you'll recognize those as words to the song in a scene from the popular country television show "Hee Haw." A bunch of nasty-looking hicks sit around with lazy hound dogs and jugs of moonshine and moan those words out week after week.

It's enough to make you want to take a long walk on a shore pier — when there's sharks in the water.

Country singer David Alan Coe claims to have written the world's greatest country music song. It goes something like this:

"I was drunk the day, my momma — got out of prison. And I went, to pick her up — in the rain. But before I could get to the station in my pickup — truck. She got runned over by a damned old train."

Both songs sound pretty depressing, don't they?

Tammy Wynette won the country music spelling bee one year with a song titled "D-I-V-O-R-C-E." Loretta Lynn got out of the coal mines with a song titled "The Pill."

Johnny Cash made it big with the "Folsom Prison Blues." And Willie Nelson made a million with the songs "Whiskey River" and "I Gotta Get Drunk (And I Shore Do Dread It)."

We've got songs on gloom and despair, being drunk while your fresh-out-of-prison momma is killed, getting a divorce, learning about birth control pills, going to prison and drowning in a whiskey river.

More depressing stuff.

And according to psychiatrists (Those are the people who make a living telling us what we think.), a lot of this country music ain't good for the insides of your head. According to the psychiatrist's study, the suicide rate among people who regularly listen to country music is almost twice that of everyone else.

Now hold on.

Are they telling me that because I listen to Aunt Eloise in the mornings that I'm going to kill myself. I'll admit that her jokes are corny, and the suicide rate among possums has increased (personal study based on the number seen run over by pickup trucks in Davie County), but I'll-be-durned if a country disc jockey is going to cause me to kill myself. If possum stew is good enough for Aunt Eloise (I hear she has the legs of Lorrie Morgan, the bosom of Dolly Parton, the hair of Crystal Gayle and the face of Willie Nelson), it's good enough for me.

I don't care what these fancy city psychologists (Why is it there are never any psychologists in the country?) say. I'm going to keep my country music.

I'll get Johnny Paycheck to sing "Take This Study and Shove It" and push them into Willie Nelson's "Whiskey River" while Charlie Daniels sings "What This World Needs Is A Few More Rednecks."

County Should Re-Think Plan For College Site

To the editor:

The time has come to stop and re-think of building a satellite community college in Davie County. A comprehensive study has just been completed by the Government Performance Audit Committee hired to trim government waste, that recommends branch campuses be delayed or stopped. The report shows North Carolina has the largest number of colleges per population and per square mile. If the growth should continue with each county having its own community college, it would be impossible to meet future funding.

Section 115D-4 of the community college laws states:

The establishment of community colleges shall be subject to the approval of the General Assembly upon recommendation of the State Board of Community Colleges. In no case, however, shall favorable recommendation be made by the State Board for the establishment of an institution until it has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the State Board that a genuine educational need exists within a proposed administrative area, that existing public and private post-high school institutions in the area will not meet the need, that adequate local financial support for the institution will be provided, that public schools in the area will not be affected adversely by the local financial support required for the institution, and that funds sufficient to provide state financial support of the institution are available.

I question whether we can meet the above criteria stating that public schools in the area will not be affected adversely by the local financial support required for the institution. The local school board has a tentative request for $14 million over the next 10 years to update many of the buildings that need extensive work.

Recommendation 2: Mandate a moratorium on establishment of new colleges and satellite campuses until the State Board develops a system restructuring plan.

By any comparison, North Carolina can be said to have enough community colleges, even though the locations are not necessarily in areas that have been or are experiencing population and industrial growth. With the advent of new technologies that are available now and in the future, North Carolina has sufficient community colleges to serve its present and future needs. Before any more are created, clear and firm guidelines need to be developed that recognize the availability of technology and transportation, that apply far more aggressive regional program-sharing principles, and, that allow for closing of some campuses, if/as others need to be opened.

In view of the recommendations made I feel it is imperative that we stop plans until we have assurances from the state it will support the campus in the future.

Let me say this in closing, I am not opposed to the branch campus and the concept is fine. But I question the feasibility in view of the report just completed.

I have the complete report and will be glad to answer any questions covered in it.

Maybe It's Time To Rake Lawn

The clouds finally lifted Saturday, putting to rest my doubts that the sun had vanished.

After so many dreary days of clouds and rain, the sun made a brilliant comeback on Saturday. It was reasonably warm. So I decided to tackle some unfinished work.

Raking the lawn.

Most of the leaves have fallen by now.

Back in November I put aside the rake with a back corner of the lawn still under leaves. I had hoped they would blow over on the neighbor's lawn, but the wind never seems to blow that way.

Under the leaves, we found several promises of spring. A crocus blooming. We've even seen a forsythia in bloom.

The lawn is clean now, and I have vowed 1993 will be the year of the Great Lawn. No more moss. No more onions. No more dandilions. No more massive blank spots in the lawn.

I'm calling the concrete truck.

Davie County has a personality crisis every time the high school team plays West Forsyth. The Davie students transform into hayseeds. Some come dressed in overalls, complete with a straw protruding from their mouths.

Most of the students have never even seen a cow.

The two schools met Friday night for basketball.

West Forsyth used to be considered the country bumpkins by Reynolds High. West years ago decided its rural neighbors to the west were the real hicks.

Davie students have played along in grand style. The hillbilly routine hasn't helped the athletes, however. Davie missed a shot at the end of regulation that would have won the game. It eventually lost in overtime.

Winning the game would have been better revenge. That's how West shook its problems with Reynolds.

It may be a sign of advancing age. Now I tell my sons about those long-ago years when it used to snow.

"We had real snows ..."

The weatherman's record this winter has been pitiful. Several times there have been chances of snow, and little has happened. Our best snowfall has lasted five minutes.

Life has been too easy for school superintendents.

Country Music Confuses Shrinks

"Gloom, despair and agony on me. Deep, dark depression, excessive misery. If it weren't for bad luck, I'd have no luck at all. Gloom, despair, and agony on me."

Unless you've been under a rock for the past 10 or 15 years, you'll recognize those as words to the song in a scene from the popular country television show "Hee Haw." A bunch of nasty-looking hicks sit around with hairy hound dogs and jugs of moonshine and moan those words out week after week.

It's enough to make you want to take a long walk on a shore pier — when there's sharks in the water.

Country singer David Allan Coe claims to have written the world's greatest country music song. It goes something like this:

"I was drunk the day my momma got out of prison. And I ain't to proud to say it, But I cried. I could tell ... [illegible] ... Mike Barnhardt country music ain't good for the inside of your head.

According to the psychiatrist's study, the suicide rate among people who regularly listen to country music is almost twice that of everyone else.

Now hold on.

Are they telling me that because I listen to Aunt Eloise in the mornings that I'm going to kill myself. I'll admit that her jokes are corny, and the suicide rate among possums has increased (personal study based on the number seen run over by pickup trucks in Davie County), but I'll be darned if a country disc jockey is going to cause me to kill myself. If possum stew is good enough for Aunt Eloise (I hear she has the legs of Lorne Morgan, the bosom of Dolly Parton, the hair of Crystal Gayle and the face of Willie Nelson), it's good enough for me.

I don't care what those fancy city psychologists say. If there are never any psychologists in the country, I'm going to keep my country music.

I'll get Johnny Paycheck to sing "Take This Job and Shove It" and push them into Willie Nelson's "Whiskey River" song. Dump in some "I'll Fly Away" by Lorrie Morgan ... [illegible]

YMCA Teens Help At Inaugural Ball

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Meeting a member of the Kennedy clan, opening doors for celebrities at the Mid-West Ball, and spying on secret service agents were the highlights of several Davie County students' trip to the Presidential Inauguration in Washington, D.C., last week.

Tomlinson

Seven students from the Davie Family YMCA's Youth in Government program spent two-and-a-half days in the city attending inaugural events, said T.K. Edens, chaperone. Davie County sent the largest number of students from the region to the celebration.

Students who made the trip were: KeAnne Tomlinson, Christina Hodges and Chris Bigenho all 10th-graders at Davie High; Mark Beuter, a 10th-grader at North Iredell; Lorraine Parsons, 12th grade home school; Christina Hamrick, 9th grade home school; and Amanda Barnhardt, an 11th-gradeer Davie High.

The students waited in the cold Wednesday at noon to see Clinton pass by in a limosine and later take office. From their viewpoint, the group said they could only see the capital building. But big-screen televisions with closed-captioning allowed them to follow along with the ceremony.

Later that evening the group helped with transportation at the Mid-West Ball. Patrick Kennedy was in-charge of transportation and Beuter and Bigenho rode with him to organize cars.

"He was a little tense," Bigenho said of Kennedy.

But Tomlinson said the Villanova sophomore was really nice.

The group recognized few celebrities at the ball, other than Jerry Van Dyke. But the students were overwhelmed by the number of foreign secret service agents.

"You could almost hear the Mission Impossible theme music," Bigenho said of the men in dark suits behind sunglasses.

President Clinton was scheduled to arrive at the ball after 2 a.m. Edens said the students had gone back to their hotel by then.

Most of the students claimed to be Republicans, except Tomlinson, who informed White House workers that she would be living in the mansion one day.

But all said they had high hopes for the new Democratic president.

Bigenho said he hoped Clinton would improve public education, while Hamrick hopes he can bring down the national debt.

Tomlinson, who claimed to be a staunch democrat, said she would love to be involved in politics one day. The other students said politics was one big "head ache."

"I'd like to be in the judicial branch one day," Hodges said. "But as far as congressmen, they all have a bad name being politicians. I wouldn't want to get into that."

Watershed Rules Explained To Board

Davie County's newest county commissioner got an elementary course Monday on a subject that is sure to effect most residents of the county right where they live.

Carol Rhea of the Department of Commerce and an expert on state watershed regulations told the board that deadlines are quickly approaching for a county ordinance that deals with protection of drinking water.

The ordinance will restrict building on private property.

After several years of public hearings and general assembly action, developers and environmentalists are both unhappy with the Environmental Management Commission's rules to protect drinking water. And local governments certainly haven't heard the last of state regulations being imposed on them, Rhea said.

And while Davie County's ordinance has not yet been written, Rhea said the county will act to protect watersheds at Bear Creek, Hunting Creek and at the Yadkin and South Yadkin rivers.

Public Works Director David Plott said 60 percent of the land area in the county will be protected by the regulations.

The rules, which will be handled by the county much like zoning, are the minimum protection required by the state, Rhea said. The county commissioners, when mapping out specific areas to be protected, can increase regulations and restrict development even more than the state requires.

All existing development before July 1, 1993 will not be affected by the ordinance, Rhea said. But after the ordinance is completed in January of 1994, development could be restricted in some critical areas to as much as 12 percent of each acre.

Counties that do not comply with the state-imposed regulations will face $10,000 per month fines and ultimately, the state will take over the county's watershed protection program.

County To Sell Duke St. House

Now Davie County is left with the deed to a house on Duke Street that it does not need. The board voted Jan. 19 to sell the building.

"If we had a crystal ball and could have seen the changes coming and financial problems, we might not have made the same choices," LaRue said from her Winston-Salem office.

She said she just hopes that there are no hard feelings between her organization and the county.

After the house was bought and the lease signed, estimates for the house's renovation exceeded $50,000, much more than the financially strapped organization could pay for.

And then in July 1992 a state law went into effect that put the responsibility for children with disabilities in the hands of the school system. That dramatically reduced the number of children who needed Northwest's care.

The Duke Street house would have been footwad for 24 developmentally disabled children.

County Commissioner Diane Foster said the board bought the building as an act of compassion for the disabled children who needed better facilities.

But she said the board was led to its decision by false information from Northwest.

Foster said Northwest's previous management told the board there were 18 children on a waiting list for care.

"We made a decision based on incorrect information. I think we learned a very hard lesson," she said.

Northwest maintains a presence in Davie County despite the state law. Davie County Schools and Northwest have set up a partnership where the school system pays Northwest to provide developmental care for those same children within the schools.

Northwest operates in-side Mocksville Elementary School and also runs a day care in the Brock Building.

Because of the state law, the schools and Northwest are able to combine their resources and provide even better care for the children, LaRue said.

Chimney Fire Damages House At Smith Grove

SMITH GROVE — An old chimney caught on fire Thursday causing about $10,000 damage to a house just off U.S. 158.

Smith Grove, Farmington and Cornatzer-Dulin fire departments responded to a 911 emergency call at 11:03 a.m. Thursday.

A rented house across the road from Redland Church of God was burning when firefighters arrived, said Andy Lipscomb, assistant fire chief at Smith Grove Volunteer Fire Department.

The fire started in the chimney, as soot build-up caught on fire. Then the flames spread into the kitchen. The rest of the house sustained smoke damage, he said.

Esther Gadberry, who rents the house, was home at the time of the fire and called 911.

Lipscomb said it took firefighters five minutes to put out the fire.

The house belongs to Eva Walden of Route 1, Advance.

The Davie County Fire Marshall is investigating the fire, Lipscomb said.

Two Injured When Pickup Slams Into Car At Intersection

A 16-year-old Mocksville motorist drove in front of an on-coming vehicle on U.S. 601 Jan. 21 sending both drivers to the hospital.

According to a report by N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper J.R. Allred, Paul Casey Owens, 16, of Route 1, Mocksville, made a left turn from Madison Road onto U.S. 601 in a 1981 Ford.

Owens failed to see a 1977 Chevrolet truck driven by Clyde Samuel Ireland, 66, of Route 6, Mocksville, and drove into the path of the car, Allred reported.

Owens was charged with making an unsafe traffic movement.

Both Owens and Ireland were taken to Davie County Hospital and were treated and released.

Damage to Owens' car was $3,000, to Ireland's car, $2,000.

Community Work Ordered For Teens Caught In Shop

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Two teenagers arrested December 11 inside a barbershop in Fork were placed on five year's probation and ordered to pay $500 fines in Davie District Court last Thursday.

Daniel Dennis Gregg, 17, of Rt. 3 Mocksville, and Kelly Lynn Johnson, 16, of Rt. 2 Advance, apparently drank a fifth of vodka and then attempted to break into a house. The owner reported someone breaking out a window and then seeing two people ride away on bicycles.

Davie County Sheriff's Deputy R.M. Trotter said he later spotted two bicycles near Bill Bishop's barber shop and noticed the windows in front were broken. He called for assistance, and the officers ordered the suspects to come out of the building. They refused and had to be forcibly removed, Trotter said.

The deputy said both young men were drunk, but that Gragg had been cooperative, while Johnson was combative with officers.

The two had orginally been charged with two counts of injury to real property, resisting and obstructing a public officer and felonious breaking and entering. In a plea arrangement, the felony was reduced to misdemeanor breaking and entering. Johnson also had been charged with larceny, but that was dismissed.

Judge Robert Johnson sentenced each of the teens to 24 months in jail, but suspended that for five years. In addition to the fines, they were ordered to undergo a substance abuse assessment, pay restitution for the damage to the windows, remain in school and perform 100 hours of community service work.

Wade Leonard, attorney for Gragg, said his client was a good student and this was not typical behavior. "He is well thought of and he assures me you will not see him in this court again."

Edward Vogler, attorney for Johnson, said his client has an alcohol problem, and has already started attending Narcotics Anonymous meetings. Judge Johnson ordered the defendant to continue to attend weekly meetings.

County Briefs

New Addresses In Place By July

All Davie County residents (with the exception of some in Mocksville) should receive notice of their new address by July after the board of commissioners overwhelmingly approved an addressing ordinance Jan. 19.

Every home will receive a street number and street name. Rural route numbers will be gone.

Renaming roads and assigning new addresses is a huge task, said Jesse Boyce, planning and zoning director. But a better system of addressing will greatly improve emergency workers' ability to find homes during emergencies.

Fruit Stand, Greenhouse Planned

A new fruit stand and greenhouse complex are planned for Liberty Church Road after the Davie Board of Commissioners approved a rezoning request Jan. 19.

About two acres of property near U.S. 601 was rezoned by the board from residential to highway business, giving the owner, Jimmy Cagle, the opportunity to open his business.

Jesse Boyce, planning and zoning director, said the property had once been an eyesore to the county. But Cagle had removed the trash and old buildings and cleaned up the property.

Cagle agreed to leave a buffer of trees along one side of his property to protect surrounding residential areas.

Fire Code Committee Appointed

A study commission has been appointed to help county fire officials enforce the fire prevention code.

The members will give input to Mel Jones, chief of inspections, and George Frye, fire marshall, on how businesses and other groups will be affected by mandatory inspections.

Appointed are: Commissioners Larry Hayes and Diane Foster, Wayne Webb of Webb Heating and Air Conditioning, George E. Wilson of Macedonia Moravian Church, Phillip Crowe of Crown Wood, Charlie Whaley of Ingersoll-Rand, William Carter of Davie Oil Company, James Richardson of Bells, Inc., Betty Eschinbach of Sara Lee, Inc, and Claude Horn of Horn Oil Company.

New Room OKd For Administration

The county will spend $3,103 to add an additional room inside the county administration building.

The board approved the money Jan. 19, and the consuction will be done by C.K. Fabrizio Construction Company. That is the same company that is completing construction of the building's third floor.

The office is needed to allow finance department employees to handle personnel matters in privacy, said Jim Stockert, director.

Board Going To Washington

The Davie County Board of Commissioners will delay their first March meeting from March 1 until March 3.

The meeting will be at 1 p.m. Wednesday, March 3 in the county administration building.

Members of the board of commissioners will be attending the National Association of County Commissioners conference in Washington, D.C., during the time of the regularly scheduled meeting.

Health Dept. Gets Adolescent Grant

The Davie County Health Department is hoping to be one of four counties to receive a state grant for improved adolescent health care.

The board of commissioners told Health Director Dennis Harrington Jan. 19 that it would send a letter of support for the grant proposal.

Receiving the grant would entitle the county to $209,500 over a five year period to expand services to adolescents. Harrington said teens across the nations are at risk for substance abuse, unprotected sexual intercourse and poor nutrition.

Cable TV Rates To Be Increased

Cable television customers will soon pay more for basic service.

The monthly basic cable rate will increase $1.05 effective March 1, 1993.

Commissioner Larry Hayes said at the board's meeting Jan. 19, that many people were unhappy with their cable service. The board instructed the county manager to write a letter to Friendship Cable asking that the rates not increase.

Ron Kam, general manager of Friendship Cable Southeast, informed the board of commissioners of the rate change in a letter received in early January. All subscribers will receive advance notice of the increase in February's bill.

Driver Passes Out; Wrecks In Parking Lot

A Route 3, Mocksville woman passed out while driving her car in the Davie County Hospital parking lot Friday afternoon.

The car jumped a curb and went on top of one parked car and rammed into another.

Elizabeth Bailey Rushing, 67, was attempting to park a 1986 Ford when she passed out, reported Mocksville Police Officer D.T. Matthews.

She lost control of the car, and it crossed a curb and grass median and landed on top of the hood of a parked 1989 Mitzubishi belonging to Kathy Smoot Tomlinson of Bear Creek Church Road. The car also struck a parked 1990 Chrysler belonging to Jill Beaver Kiser of Route 8, Mocksville, the officer reported.

No charges were filed.

Damage to Tomlinson's car was estimated at $3,500, to Rushing's car, $600, and to Kiser's car, $1,500.

Kathy Tomlinson and Jill Kiser give information to Mocksville police officer.

Man 'Angry,' Shoots Dog With Arrow

An Advance man who shot a neighbor's dog with an arrow from a crossbow was in Davie District Court last Thursday.

Howard F. Carter Jr., of LaQuinta Drive, told Judge Robert Johnson he had been angry because several neighborhood children had been beating his dog with a stick.

Carter said he was washing his truck when he heard his dog across the street. He said the little girls were circled around the dog hitting it with a stick, and when he told them to stop, they did not.

He said he went inside and got a pistol type crossbow and told them again he would shoot their dog if they did not quit. He said he went back in to get the arrows and when he came out the girls were running away from the vacant lot. He said he went over to see his dog and found the animal bleeding from the nose and side. "I saw their dog in the bushes and shot it," he said.

One of the little girls had testified that Carter had pointed the crossbow at them. He had been charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Carter and another neighbor, Daniel Mitchum, said the girls were some 300 yards away from the lot before the crossbow was aimed at anything.

Judge Johnson issued a prayer for judgment continued for five years on condition Carter pay court costs and have no contact with the neighbors.

Davie Boys Lose In Overtime To Titans

Ronnie Gallagher

Friday Night Defeat Was All Too Familiar

Tell me it this sounds familiar.

Davie County's boys basketball game had just ended. In the visitor's locker room, the coach said give credit to Davie.

Crenshaw

In the home locker room, Charles Crenshaw talked about how his team did almost everything right. We played with emotion, with character, with intensity, with smarts, he said.

Davie County also lost the ballgame.

Does that sound familiar too?

Of course, it does. Friday's 65-60 overtime loss to West Forsyth was the 20th straight against Central Piedmont Conference foes. Thirty-two times in the past 33 league games, it has fallen to defeat. Its last conference victory came Feb. 15, 1991 in a 67-57 win over Grimsley. That win, by the way, broke a 12-game losing streak.

Crenshaw figures that in probably 25 of those losses, the coaches left talking about how well Davie played and how Davie could have won....if.

The thing that disappoints Crenshaw the most this season is the perception of his team. Only the fans who have seen the War Eagles play on a consistent basis know that this is a good basketball team. It's a fun team to watch.

It just hasn't won in the conference.

Friday night against West Forsyth, it had a good shot to win at the end of regulation. The shot missed. In overtime, West missed several free throws but in an all-too familiar scene, the rebound suspiciously caromed long. Titan players would grab the rebound over the shorter War Eagles and score.

Afterward, a distraught Crenshaw called the area newspapers. He relayed the all-too familiar message: Davie played well enough to win. It just didn't.

"West Forsyth won — that's all people will know," said Crenshaw. "When they pick up the paper, they won't know about how well we played.

"But we know."

He hopes that by the time this story hits the newsstands, the streak will be over. CPC neighbor South Rowan came to town Tuesday night with an 0-13 record.

War Eagles Can't Hold 10-Point Halftime Lead

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Perhaps Charles Crenshaw should call Robert Stack to uncover this unsolved mystery: why can't his Davie County boys basketball team win?

Once again, the War Eagles outhustled and outscrapped a Central Piedmont Conference opponent. They just didn't outscore them.

The result was a come-from-behind 65-60 victory by West Forsyth, sending Davie to its 20th straight league defeat.

Davie had a golden opportunity to break its losing streak at the end of regulation but Jason Phelps' open 16-footer glanced off the rim. West then outscored Davie 9-4 in the extra period.

"They didn't play any harder than we did," Crenshaw said. "But their size got to us in the second half. Most everything they made was in the paint over us."

Davie's sixth straight loss left the depleted War Eagles 0-5 in the league and 5-9 overall. Davie was an overwhleming favorite to break the streak when South Rowan (0-5, 0-13), visited Mocksville Tuesday night.

A Win — Or OT

Despite losing a 10-point halftime lead, Davie had a chance to wrap up the game at the end of regulation. Crenshaw called a time out after Davie took possession with 45 seconds remaining and the score knotted at 56.

"We told them to hold it until 10 seconds," Crenshaw explained. "The bench would stand up and we would go from there."

Point guard Bubba Coleman, who led Davie with 17 points, drove into the lane, where he drew three defenders. He kicked it back out to Phelps, whose shot was just off, forcing overtime.

"We get a 15-footer with four seconds left so that's as good as you can ask for in that situation," Crenshaw said. "We were in a good spot because we either win or go to overtime. And

North Freshmen Now 10-2 After Two Routs

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Sometimes, Darrell Steele sits back and wonders how his North Davie freshman boys basketball team could be so good.

"We scrimmaged the jayvee team at the start of the year," he said. "The first couple of days, we were killed."

So, after a 76-66 win over Central Davidson and a 79-56 victory over North Davidson last week, how can he explain his team's 10-2 record?

Role playing from his starters.

Forwards Jason Murphy and Lee Puckett take care of the scoring Center Clay Jones clogs up the middle. Brandon Mills is the three-point threat. Tim Gilbreath runs the offense and dishes out the assists.

"Our offense is carrying us," Steele said. "We score a lot early and then hold them off."

That was evident last week. Against Central, North scored 26 in the first quarter. Against North, it was 28 in the opening period.

"I've been getting on their butt for not playing defense but we're still winning — and that's the mark of a good team," Steele said.

Beating Central Davidson

Steele thought his big scorer Puckett was lost for good when he went down with an ankle sprain after 11 first half points against Central. But Murphy picked up the slack in the second half, scoring 16 of his game-high 26 after halftime. He led the rebounders with 11.

Puckett still finished with 19 points and eight rebounds. Everyone else did their job as well.

Mills hit two threes, finishing with 14 points. Point guard Gilbreath didn't score a field goal but was 7-of-8 from the foul line and had 10 assists.

"Gilbreath isn't looking to shoot," said Steele. "I want someone to distribute the ball to the big boys and he's doing it."

Jayvee Power

Jayvee Girls Unbeaten In CPC After Victory

One has almost come to expect Jonette Williard or Beth Wall to be the leading scorer for the Davie jayvee girls basketball team.

Sigmon

Don't expect that, said coach Sherrie Myers after the War Eagles got by West Forsyth, 47-39 Friday afternoon.

"We have a very balanced team," she said. "One person isn't going to be the leading scorer every game. We have several who could be."

Playing that role last week were Amanda Sigmon and Christina Cassidy, who each scored 11 points against the Titans. The victory kept Davie alone in first place of the Central Piedmont Conference with a 5-0 record.

Breaking It Open

Myers nervously sat through a first half that saw her team commit most of its 23 total turnovers. As a result, the War Eagles couldn't pull away, leading only 18-17 at halftime.

"They were pressing and we struggled in the first half," she said. "We just needed to be more patient and aware of where our teammates were. But we busted it open in the third period."

That was an understatement. A 14-1 run in the quarter gave Davie a 32-18 lead going into the final eight minutes. Tammy Ramsey had six of the points.

"She's a brute," laughed Myers of Ramsey, a freshman. "I love to watch her play."

West had its best quarter in the fourth, scoring 21 but free throw shooting saved the War Eagles. They swished

Jayvee Boys 'Stick' It To West Forsyth

Smith's Inside Play Improves JVs To 10-1

CLEMMONS — It wasn't an easy victory but thanks to Jason "Stick" Smith's 16 points, Davie County's jayvee boys basketball team had edged West Forsyth, 61-56 Friday afternoon.

What did coach Mike Dinkins think of the win?

"They just want me to pull out some more hair," he said with a laugh.

But Dinkins will continue pulling as long as his team continues pulling out wins like it did Friday. The victory left Davie 5-1 in the league and tied with Dudley for first place.

Davie has only one loss this season but Dinkins thinks the War Eagles can be better.

Slabach Glowing For Two Reasons

Angie Slabach is glowing these days.

Oh, sure, she's glowing over the play of her young Davie girls basketball team, which has earned second place in the Central Piedmont Conference so far with a 4-1 league mark. But there's another reason.

She's pregnant.

Slabach

After her team's 53-38 win over West Forsyth Friday night, she talked about the anticipation of having her first child.

"I'm halfway there — 19 weeks to be exact, a little over four months," she said. "I'm due June 13th."

Slabach said she has had no complications this year with the baby or coaching. She just has two things to be excited about now.

"I'm fine, everybody's healthy. We had a sonogram done the other day so we got to see it. We've got a video of it. It's got all of its arms, legs and fingers."

There's little doubt what the youngest Slabach will do with those arms, legs and fingers, considering his mother is regarded as one of the best players in Davie history and father, Gary, was one of the best pure shooters Pete Jones ever had at North Davidson.

It's going to come out shooting jump shots.

But will it be for the girls team or the boys team?

"We didn't have that checked," Slabach said. "We want that to be a surprise."

Another Surprise

Slabach got another surprise Friday night from the play of West Forsyth — and former Davie — player Joy Williard.

Notebook

Williard played for the jayvee team two years ago but was cut last season. She transferred to West and was in the starting lineup against the War Eagles.

Williard's jumper was smooth and accurate. She scored six points in the first quarter on long jump shots and finished with eight.

"I guess she's been practicing," Slabach said with a shrug.

Good Bench Play

Mike Dinkins didn't hesitate when talking about the biggest play in Davie's jayvee boys' 61-56 win over West Forsyth Friday.

It came from a member of the bench — who never left the bench to make it.

"The big play of the ballgame came from Kevin Robertson on our bench," Dinkins said. "He noticed they didn't give us a point on the scoreboard. He said something to me and the refs checked it out. Even though it was in the third quarter, it turned out to be important for us late in the game. It gave us a four-point lead and made it a two-possession game."

Swimming Practice

The Davie High swim teams are winning and coach Karen Umberger thinks she knows why.

Practice times.

In its infancy last year, the War Eagles practiced at the Davie Family YMCA, with starting times at 6:30 p.m. Which meant swimmers went home then come back.

Now, the teams are practicing right after school.

"We now have a normal varsity sport practice time," she said. "It makes a big difference. Before, they were going home and then coming back after supper. But the Y has worked with us and we don't have to worry about that anymore. They can practice and still get home and study."

Wrestlers Massacres West Forsyth, 77-0

With a tie and a loss, it doesn't look like Davie County's wrestling team is going to win the Central Piedmont Conference championship.

So it has its sights set for the Midwest Regionals in Boone in February.

What better way to gain confidence than by beating West Forsyth, 77-0.

Chris Marello, Josh Whitley, Scotty Spry, Matt Wilson, Jon Ward, Matt Sain, Justin Carter, Mark Mason, Wesley Foster, Michael Hunter, James Coulston, Brad Groce and Kevin Caudle all had something in common.

They all won.

Foster, a sophomore, wrestled for Benjy Frye at 145, who was sick. He made the most of his varsity opportunity.

"Foster stepped in and did what he was supposed to," said coach Buddy Lowery. "That's what you work for all year — to get the chance to step up to the varsity."

Notes:

- Davie improved to 16-1 overall and 4-1 in the conference.
- The tie with Mount Tabor was counted as a win, due to criteria. Davie won seven matches, the Spartans six.
- Senior starter Darren Cook is off the team due to grades.
- Grimsley comes to Davie Jan. 28 to end the regular season.

The Contest

Publisher: It's The 'Pitts' Having To Give Away Money

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When the sports editor saw that Brian "Arm" Pitts won this week's contest, he felt it only appropriate. You see, the sports editor knows Pitts. He's seen the library of taped college basketball games. There has to be hundreds of them.

Pitts loves basketball and for that very reason, his knowledge, his passion, his overwhelming love for the game (boy, is this getting corny or what?) is the reason he missed only three games. Pitts knows basketball.

He takes home the first place prize of $20. He can buy some more tapes.

Five tied for second place with four misses: Bryan Davis "Rules," Kristin Garner, Jason Miller, Billy "Goat" Hendrix Jr., Lillian "Gish" Sidden and "Boy" George Sulecki. But Boy George was closest to the total number of points in UNC's 70-66 win over Seton Hall so he gets the big $5 prize.

The Awards

The "Phil" Award: To Pitts, who was right on 10 of 11 college picks.

The "Proposition 48" Award: To Amy Porter "House Steak," David "I Don't" Carrick, Keith "Better" Tate "Than Never," and "Candid" Tamra Williams, all who missed 8 of 11 college games.

The "Expert" Award: To Robert Duncan "Doughnuts," Dennis "Burger" King and Teddy "Bear" McClure, the only entries to pick both Florida State and Georgia Tech.

The "All-Pro" Award: To "Boy" George Sulecki, Dave "Snap, Crackle And" Poplin and Roger "Rabbit" Hutchens, the only entries correct on all five pro games.

The "Injured Reserve" Award: To Buddy "Bull" Frogge, John "Double Cheese" Boger, Justin Leonard and "Pinky Cold Ma" Dena Potts, the worst pro pickers, missing 4 of 5.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To Duncan, who had only one wrong answer until (are you ready for this?) missing 6 of the last 7.

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: To Williams and Porter, who missed 11 of 16. Ouch!

The Record

Last Week: 10-6
Season Total: 23-9

The sports editor coulda-shoulda-woulda done better but five losses ain't too bad.

Let's do it again.

This Week's Games:

North Carolina at Wake Forest: The only thing Wake Forest gets out of this game is a rare sellout at Lawrence Joel, UNC by 9.

Clemson at N.C. State: I'm going with my heart. And because Clemson is a terrible team that can't score, N.C. State by 4.

Michigan at Iowa: If Chris Street were playing, I'd say Iowa in an upset. But Iowa may not recover from his death. Michigan by 6.

Charlotte at Washington: Will the real Charlotte Hornets please stand up? Charlotte by 3.

Milwaukee at Minnesota: Hey, even Minnesota wins every now and then. Minnesota by 5.

Tiebreaker: Charlotte 105, Washington 102.

Other Winners:
Georgetown, Arizona, Florida State, Seton Hall, UCLA, Cleveland, Houston, Atlanta, Indianapolis, Utah, Seattle.

This Week's Winners
First Place: $20
Brian Pitts (3 Misses)
Second Place: $5
George Sulecki (4 Misses)

West Forsyth coach Denny Key spent most of Friday's first half with his head buried in his hands. His taller team missed everything, seemed rattled by Davie's constant pressure and did not impress anyone, falling behind by 10 at halftime.

"They beat the daylights out of us in the first half," he said.

But the Titans came back to take the lead. Davie's chance at finally winning fell by the wayside at the regulation buzzer, along with Jason Phelps' jumper.

Key seemed subdued in the locker room afterward. He said Davie had a great player, referring to Bubba Coleman, and said, "they have several outstanding players."

With a nod, he added, "I think the story of the game is how well they played. I think they responded well to being shorthanded."

Les Robinson and N.C. State have nothing on Crenshaw and Davie. Grades shackled his team once again, leaving him with only eight players. It was seven until Jared Eure, who had left the team a week earlier, was allowed to come back.

Crenshaw told a reporter to mention every player. That would be easy. With Crenshaw, Johnny Miller and Tommy Fleming on the bench, the coaches equaled the reserves.

"You've got to give these eight guys some credit," Crenshaw said. "We had no depth. We had (5-foot-6) Brent Cassidy and (5-foot-7) Bubba guarding 6-2 and 6-3 forwards. But we played on emotion. Cassidy got several rebounds that a bigger guy had his hands on and Brent just outmuscled him.

"Jared did a good job. He was a little rusty because he hadn't played but he battled on the boards and had a big three-point play."

Crenshaw knew his fate before Friday's game. Five players were off the team due to grades and injuries. Just to scrimmage, he had to join the practices.

"We had great practices," Crenshaw said. "We were ready to play. And I don't care if we had Michael Jordan. He couldn't have given more than what our guys gave tonight."

The pained expression was more visible the more Crenshaw talked. He has no explanation, really. He sets up a play, it works to perfection. The ball just doesn't go in and Davie loses again.

"If West can beat Reynolds and we have a chance to beat West in overtime, then we think we have a very good team," Crenshaw said.

"We had all the good luck down the wire," Key said, relaying another familiar scenario. "That's why we won."

Crenshaw knows that, even if the sports section didn't relay that message on Saturday morning. All it told the readers was that Davie was 0-5 in the CPC and loser of six straight games.

"We haven't lost by more than nine points this year," he said, defending his team. "I just wish the guys could experience winning because they're playing well enough to."

The gym and parking lot had emptied. Crenshaw was alone in the back of the locker room with only his thoughts. Why is this happening to him and his team?

"We couldn't have played harder," he said. "We couldn't have played much better. I'm as proud as I can be of them. We had spirit. We did everything we could do. We just didn't win."

Sound familiar?

Boys

there wasn't anything wrong with that shot — except that it didn't go in."

West's 6-5 Brian Denny scored the first basket of the overtime period. After Coleman hit one of two to draw Davie within 58-57, Denny salted the game away.

West hit one free throw with 39 seconds left but missed the second. The rebound bounded long, straight to Denny, who fired in a short jumper for a 61-57 advantage. It was the last of his game-high 19 points. He then made a big defensive play, blocking Coleman's shot.

"We go to Brian a lot down the wire and he has to come through for us," said West coach Denny Key. "It was nice to see him come through. There was a lot of pressure on him."

David Snyder also had a shot blocked with 25 seconds left. In the overtime period, West had three blocks and two offensive rebounds after missed free throws.

"The rebounds killed us," said Crenshaw. "It seems to happen in every important game. It's not that we don't have somebody there. The ball comes off so darned long. We don't have a big guy in that second spot in the lane. When the ball comes long and they have a guy five feet from the basket, there's nothing we can do about that. You can't expect Bubba (a 5-7 point guard) to stand there and prevent Denny from getting that rebound. It just didn't bounce where we could get it."

Good Second Quarter

Davie was in position to win their first conference game in two years after it outscored the Titans 25-14 in the second period and took a 35-25 lead into halftime.

West led 19-18 before Davie went on a 9-2 run. Phelps' three-point play was followed by a steal and layup by Coleman. Jared Eure made a free throw and Coleman drained a long three-pointer.

After a rebound basket cut the lead to 27-23, Gerald Roberts, Brandon Scott and Eure scored the next eight points for a 35-23 margin, Davie's largest lead of the contest.

"They beat the daylights out of us in the first half," admited Key.

Davie's third quarter start was promosing. It's first basket came on a designed three-pointer to Brad Van Hoy, giving the War Eagles a 38-27 advantage.

"We sat that up in the locker room," said Crenshaw. "We told him he was getting the shot and he hit it. But we didn't do anything from then on."

West promptly scored the game's next 11 points and 15 of the next 17. Coleman's shot gave Davie a 44-42 lead going into the fourth period and it was close from that point.

"We didn't do anything differently (in the third quarter)," said Key. "We did the same things offensively. I think what we did was a couple of kids just put the ball in the hole."

Davie had three in double figures. Following Coleman was Scott with 13 and Phelps with 10. Roberts had several pretty moves, scoring eight.

"I just wish we could win some of these," Crenshaw moaned. "We're doing everything right but winning."

Notes:

- West entered the week 6-8 overall and 2-3 in the CPC.
- Davie had only eight players. Four were lost to grades and one to injury.
- Since leaving as Davie's head coach in 1988, Key has never lost to the War Eagles.
- Davie goes to Grimsley Friday night.

JV Boys

Trailing 30-29 at halftime, Dinkins turned to his defense to take the lead. West had trouble with a myriad of defenses that Dinkins threw at it. By the end of the third period, the War Eagles led, 42-40.

The game was close down the stretch but Dinkins knew why.

"We missed the front end of six one-and-one free throws in the first half and we were down one," he said. "Free throws are killing us."

So Dinkins turned to his inside game, where the 6-6 Smith, a junior, and his backup, 6-3 sophomore Josh Ward began asserting themselves underneath.

Smith scored eight in the second quarter to keep Davie close and eight more in the fourth to keep Davie ahead.

"Stick played his best game of the year," Dinkins said. "He's been playing better defense than he's been playing.

"In fact, I've been real pleased with the center play. With Josh and Stick, we're getting at least 16 points per game and a lot of big rebounds."

Notes:

- Davie is 10-1 overall.

JV Girls

12-of-16 in the period.

"That's daggone good," beamed Myers. "We've shot over 50 percent all year but that was definitely the best. We really came through."

Besides her 11 points, Cassidy also hauled in seven rebounds and blocked a shot. Ramsey finished with seven points, as did Elizabeth Greene.

And just because Williard and Wall weren't the leading scorers, that doesn't mean they didn't contribute. Each had only four points. But Wall chipped in with four assists and Williard grabbed five rebounds.

Notes:

- Davie is 10-1 overall.
- For the game, Davie shot 23-of-34 from the foul line.
- Greene had eight rebounds, two steals and two blocked shots.
- Davie got a test from a twice-beaten South Rowan and hosts Grimsley Friday.

Beating North

To North Davidson's dismay, Puckett's ankle was fine Friday in the 23-point win.

Puckett finished with 25 and Murphy 22 and both made their presence felt early.

North outscored the Black Knights 28-12 in the first quarter as the duo produced 17 of the points, 10 by Murphy.

"They're not shooting the outside bombs," Steele said. "They're getting most of their points on rebounds and fast breaks."

The lead was 48-30 at halftime and 65-47 after three.

"They remembered our first game with North Davidson," Steele said. "We had a 17-point lead after one quarter and let them come back and almost beat us. This time, they decided they were keeping the lead."

Gilbreath hurt the Knights several times with alley-oop passes to Murphy. But he was one of several Wildcats who came through.

"Everybody played and everybody played well," Steele praised. "This was one of our best defensive games and on offense we executed."

Notes:

- North was 19-of-30 from the line against Central.
- Mills scored nine of his points against Central in the 26-point first quarter.
- Also scoring against Central were Jones with six, Neil Cornatzer with three and Chris Dinkins with one.
- Drew Carter missed the North Davidson game due to sickness.
- Against North, Jones, Mills and Gilbreath all had eight points. Dinkins and Jason Boger each had four.
- North met West Davidson Wednesday and doesn't play again until Feb. 5 at home against South Rowan, who handed North one of its two losses.

Friday Night Basketball: Davie, West Forsyth Split Doubleheader

'Sluggish' War Eagle Girls Romp To 53-38 Victory

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

How good is the Davie County girls basketball team when the coach calls its performance "sluggish" and it still wins by 15 points?

It must be pretty good.

At least, that was the feeling on both sides after the War Eagles' defeated West Forsyth, 53-38 Friday night.

The win leaves Davie (4-1, 9-4) in a solid second place in the Central Piedmont Conference. But to beat first place Dudley, coach Angie Slabach knows her team will have to play better.

"We were a little out of sync tonight," Slabach said. "I don't know if it was the West Forsyth game or what. It wasn't pretty — but we'll take it."

Friday's game was Davie's only action of the week, which also may have hurt the War Eagles.

"I think we would be better if we played every night," she said. "Layoffs are not good for us, we proved that over Christmas. We can improve a lot."

Slow Start

Despite Maria Newsome grabbing 15 rebounds, Tamica Cain nine and Shannon Umberger eight, Slabach was not happy with the board work, especially early. Led by former Davie player Joy Willard, who scored three of West's first four baskets, the Titans led 10-8 before two free throws by Kristin Hinshaw and a baseline jumper by Andrea Gentry gave the War Eagles a 12-10 margin after one quarter.

"We were kind of sluggish at the start," Slabach said. "We did an awful job rebounding."

Newsome, Cain and Lori Sluder hit the first three buckets of the second quarter. It began an 18-7 spurt that gave Davie a 30-17 lead at halftime.

Included in the second period was a 12-3 run, sparked by Umberger. After scoring on a rebound, she blocked a shot, which led to a three-pointer by Carrie Brown for the 13-point cushion.

Newsome did a good job of intimidating the Titan players inside. Besides her 15 rebounds, she scored 13 points. She scored the first three points of the third quarter as Davie eventually grabbed its largest lead at 42-24.

Slabach said Davie tries to go inside to Newsome often because of the height advantage.

"That's where most of our points have been coming from," she said. "It's gotten to where we don't have to tell (the guards) that. They look for her because it's such a size mismatch. Andrea is very unselfish."

Newsome also kept West center Nikki Richmond in check. She was held to four points.

"In the second quarter, Maria blocked one of her shots and I don't think she shot another inside while Maria was in there," Slabach said.

Still, Davie couldn't put away the feisty Titans, who closed to within 11, 46-35 midway through the final period. Cain's rebound basket curbed the rally.

"I feel lucky to have won," Slabach said. "West did a lot of good things against us. But this was the first time that we haven't played well and still won so that's a good feeling."

Notes:

- Cain finished with 13 points, eight in the second half. "Tamica played well tonight," said Slabach. "She hit some big baskets when they made their run."
- Umberger finished with nine points, five in the fourth quarter. Brown had eight, including two three-pointers.
- Davie goes to Grimsley Friday night.

Wildcats Win NPC Title; South On Winning Streak

Was there really ever any doubt? Even after a loss?

No, actually, there wasn't. North Davie Junior High School was the favorite to win the North Piedmont Conference wrestling championship, despite a loss.

The Wildcats finished off Lexington 63-24 and Thomasville 78-12 last week to finish the regular season at 12-1. They tied Trinity with only one loss but took the title because of a victory over the Bulldogs.

Five wrestlers led the Wildcats this season. Nathan Ferree 83 pounds), David Potts (116), Jeff Wilson (130) and David Daye (144) were all 13-0 while Peter Engler was 7-0 at 193..

Beating Lexington

The Lexington match had its scary moments.

After Nathan Ferree, Adam Connor, Scott Cornatzer and David Potts began the day with their usual four straight wins, Lexington won two straight by pins over Dennis Shea and C.J. Johnson, making the score 21-12.

No problem.

Jeff Wilson, Jake Marion, David Daye, Robert Guratzsch, Nick Janseen and David Mackie responded with consecutive pins. Just like that, it was 47-12.

North lost two of the last three with Peter Engler coming out on top at 193 with a pin.

"We wrestled decent," said coach Ron Kirk. "We might have been a little overconfident. We had four days off and only practiced once."

Beating Thomasville

By the time Thomasville scored Monday afternoon, it didn't mean much. The Bulldogs were already trailing, 60-0.

Notes:

* It was North's fifth league title in the last six years.

* Johnson's loss to Lexington was his first.

* Finishing the season with just one loss were Connor (93), Cornatzer (103) and Johnson (12-1).

Jeff Wilson is one of five North Davie wrestlers to finish the season with undefeated records. Those records will be on the line Saturday during North's invitational.

South Wrestlers Win Two Straight

Wrestling at South Davie Junior High is fun again.

All it took was one win for the Tiger wrestling team. Suddenly, the previously-winless Tigers were a confident team to be reckoned with.

Johnson

When South upended Thomasville last week, 54-30, it felt good, said coach Bill Cranfield. So good, in fact, the Tigers went out and won their second straight, a 54-36 decision over Griffin.

"That first win gave them a winning attitude, a more positive attitude," said Cranfield. "It was like, 'Hey, we can do it again.'

Beating Thomasville

South had only three pins against Thomasville but five forfeits helped South win.

"We got some forfeits in the right places and got off the bottom to win a couple of other times," Cranfield said.

Getting pins were Melvin Williams (112 pounds), Eric Godbey (125) and Jonathan Sechrest (145).

Receiving forfeits were John Fairchild (83), B.J. Kiser (119), Nathan Joyce (130), Mark Thomason (160) and William Johnson (189).

At 135, Dustin Allen got a win due to a default.

Beating Griffin

South had more pins (5) than forfeits (4) in the victory over Griffin.

Godbey was the only wrestler to have two pins during the week. Joyce, Allen, Brian Eudy (152) and Johnson also recorded pins.

Forfeits were taken by Jason Ijames (103), Jonathan Creason (140), Sechrest and Thomason.

Cranfield said it was like coaching a different team from the beginning of the season.

"The confidence -- it's a team thing," he said. "I was surprised we won (against Thomasville) but it carried over. Godbey got us two six-pointers. He did well. And William is still doing a good job. Other wrestlers that have been touch-and-go for us came through.

"The boys like winning."

Notes:

* South improved to 2-7.

* Johnson is still undefeated at 189.

* It was Sechrest's first pin. Like others on the team, this is his first year wrestling.

* South was scheduled to meet Asheboro Jan. 25 in its regular season finale.

* South will be one of eight teams in the North Davie Invitational Saturday.

North Will Host Wrestling Tourney

North Davie will host an invitational junior high wrestling tournament Saturday, Jan. 30 in the school's gymnasium.

"This is not the North Piedmont Conference tournament," said coach Ron Kirk. "It's an invitational."

North Davie, South Davie, Trinity and Lexington are NPC teams who will participate. Others are Statesville, West Iredell, Granite Falls and Mount Pleasant.

Weigh-ins will begin at 8 a.m. Wrestling will begin at 10 p.m.

Concessions will be sold throughout the day.

Boys Win Swim Meet

The Davie High boys swim team ran its record to 6-3 last week by winning a tri-meet at Greensboro Smith High School.

Davie scored 101 points to Pinecrest's 77 and Smith's 36.

In a girls meet, Pinecrest won with 104 points. Smith was second with 72 and Davie in third with 58.

Boys Meet

Brian Tribble and Cam Kofke again led the Davie boys.

Tribble won the 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly. He was also a member of the winning 200 medley relay team, also consisting of Erik Crutchfield, Chris Bigenho and Bryan Johnson.

Tribble also joined Seth Newman, Bryan McNeil and Kofke to win the 400 freestyle relay.

Kofke placed first in the 200 freestyle and 50 freestyle. He was second in the 100 free.

Coach Karen Umberger said she really wasn't too surprised that her boys team has a winning record in only the second season of the swim team.

"I knew Cam and Brian could have good seasons," she said. "I knew I had depth. The team has been a real pleasant surprise."

Greg Kokoski and Josh Nail were 1-2 in diving.

Newman won the 200 individual medley with McNeil second. Those two joined Johnson and Kofke to place second in the 200 freestyle relay. McNeil was also third in the 100 backstroke.

Bigenho and Crutchfield were 2-3 in the 500 freestyle.

Girls Meet

The Davie girls had only one first place, that coming from Cara Hansen in diving. Teammate Melissa Agrillo was second.

Kathy Cozart and Felicia Swan had the only other seconds, Swan in the 50 freestyle (Susan Rector was third) and Cozart in the 100 butterfly.

Thirds were turned in by three relay teams. The 200 medley relay (Gretchen Umberger, Eleanor Bailey, Cozart and Rector), the 200 freestyle relay (Bailey, Cozart, Hansen and Swan) and the 400 free relay (Rector, Hansen, Umberger and Swan) each placed.

Bailey was third in the 200 IM and 100 breaststroke while Swan in the 100 freestyle.

"The girls have depth, they're just young," Umberger said. "I'm real pleased with their dedication."

Notes:

The girls' record fell to 2-7.

* Already qualified for the regionals are Kofke, Tribble, Bailey and Jaime Wilkins.

* Davie met Reynolds and Page Wednesday.

* The Central Piedmont diving meet will be held Feb. 5 at Grimsley. The conference swim meet is Feb. 6, also at Grimsley.

South 7-8 Teams Beat Lexington

Angell Responds For Boys

South Davie's loss turned out to be Brantley Angell's gain.

When South Davie's 7-8 grade boys basketball coach Barry Whitlock learned his center Lester Scott was off the team due to grades, he didn't fret. It gave him a chance to put Angell in with 5-10 Buddy Frogge. The Tigers never missed a beat in defeating Lexington, 44-33.

"When things like that happen, other kids have to come through and Brantley did," said Whitlock. "Brantley has come a long way in a year. He has more confidence, he's tougher and his coordination is better.

"I was very pleased with the way he and B.J. Johnson played. I was worried because we had played so well with Lester in there. But we hit the boards. I was almost surprised by the way B.J. played."

Of course, Whitlock still had his big guns Frankie Tatum and Frogge and like Angell, they responded as well with big games. Tatum finished with 15 points, including two three-pointers. Frogge worked inside for 10 of his 12 points after halftime.

It was the second half that South dominated, outscoring Lexington 21-7.

"They only got one shot," Whitlock said. "We were really rebounding."

Jamie Lyons scored in double figures with 10 points and was another key. Six came in the first quarter.

"With Lester gone, I told him he had to pick it up offensively," Whitlock said. "He responded."

Angell finished with four points and Johnson three.

"We executed the best of any game," Whitlock said.

Notes:

* South improved to 8-2.

* Lexington shot no foul shots.

* Eight of Tatum's 15 came in the second quarter. They were important because South was outscored 15-12 and Lexington led 26-23 at halftime.

* South goes to Thomasville Feb. 2. The Bulldogs handed South one of its two losses back on Dec. 8. Chestnut Grove comes in Feb. 3.

Three-Pointers Win For Girls

With three minutes left in South Davie's 7-8 grade girls basketball game with Lexington, it looked as if the Tigers were going down to another defeat, trailing 19-12.

Surprise! South won, 25-24.

And here's another surprise. South came back to win on the strength of three-pointers.

Coach Jerry Callison shook his head afterward.

"It was exciting," he said. "We haven't hit very many threes this year. You can't explain things like that."

South led 6-4 after one quarter and it was downhill until the three-minute mark. The much-taller Lexington team tied the game 9-9 at halftime and led 19-12 after three. Neither team scored during the first three minutes of the final quarter, setting up the three-point bonanza.

Jodie Stone, Angie Priestley and Charise Wilson all hit late three pointers. Priestley's bomb with 40 seconds left gave the Tigers a 21-19 advantage.

Lexington was leading by two with 27 seconds left when Stone swished her trey, giving South the lead for good.

"Jodie's shooting much better," Callison said. "We weren't getting inside so we went outside and happened to hit."

Stone and Priestley each had six points but it was Wilson who led the scorers with seven.

"Charise had her best game," Callison said. "She got more playing time."

It was South's fourth victory of the year and Callison attributed it to hard work in practice.

"We're much better than we were earlier in skills, the team concept and knowledge of the game," he said.

Notes:

* South improved to 4-6.

* Priestley harrassed Lexington for five steals.

* Allison Foil, Laura Correll and Ericka Summers each scored two points each.

* South plays at Thomasville Feb. 2 and hosts Chestnut Grove Feb. 3.

Missionary To Korea

Woman Learns Foreign Customs

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — Ancient Korean houses were built with pointy, upward-turning roofs to keep out evil spirits.

But a Cooleemee woman who visited the country last year found that Koreans are casting out their old mystical beliefs and joining Christian churches by the thousands.

The largest Presbyterian Church in the world, called the Yang Nak, is in Seoul, Korea, and boasts 45,000 members. It takes 22 ministers to preach to everyone, said Ann Spry, who took the 10-day trip in October.

"The Christian people in Korea make us look bad, folks," Spry said to members of the Cooleemee Senior Citizens Club.

The religion is growing faster there than any other place in the world. And those wanting to join the church go through a strenuous year of studying for tests and answering to church elders before they are baptized.

"If you are a member of a Korean Presbyterian Church, you are a Christian, no doubt," she said.

Every morning at 5 a.m. Korean Christians attend a prayer service. Spry went one morning to the service at the Yang Nak. Members pray aloud at the same time. "It sounds confusing until you are there and feel the spirit moving in the place," she said.

Spry visited the country through a program offered by Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. The country was celebrating 100 years since the first Presbyterian missionaries arrived there.

Spry visited four other cities and learned about the habits of Korean people.

"I ate rice at every meal. The food was interesting but sometimes I didn't know what I was eating."

Spry said she tried sushi while in Korea and liked the raw fish dish.

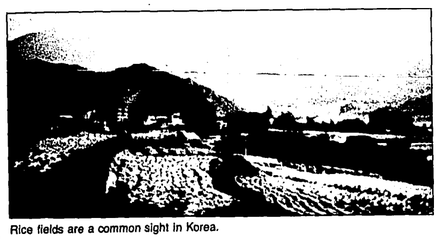
"If you put enough sauce on it it's good."

The standard of living for families is not nearly as high as in the United States, she said. The average home for a family is an apartment with 400 square feet. And with 12 million people in Seoul, the traffic is horrible.

Women are not treated as equals to men in the country, and even at a young age boys are treated better than girls, she said.

In the churches, women are not allowed to be ordained ministers, but they are trying to change that rule. "They are just like our churches — the women are the back bone."

Korean boys asked Spry for an autograph.



Rice fields are a common sight in Korea.

Soil Mates Garden Club Going Public, Wanting Members

The first gathering of the Soil Mates Garden Club of Davie County was held in 1991, and after the 16th meeting was held Jan. 19, members are ready to go public.

Soil Mates is a small, informal garden club which focuses on herbs and perennials. It meets on the third Tuesday of every month.

Each member paying $5 annual dues receives a monthly newsletter telling what has happened and upcoming events. There are no hard and fast rules about attendance.

There have been a variety of programs ranging from making pots from a recipe of concrete, sand and peat moss (messy but fun) to an almost formal (everyone wore shoes) Christmas lunch. Programs have been presented on herbs, perennials and roses and members have gone to several places to see those same things being grown.

Pansies have been planted twice for downtown Mocksville and members continue to work with Darrell Blackwelder, N.C. Cooperative Extension Service agent on other programs.

Soil Mates' primary objective is to learn more about growing and using herbs and perennials, both fresh and dried, for cooking and decoration, as potted plants and as landscaping. A secondary goal is to have fun.

If interested, the next meeting is Feb. 16. Call 998-5733 for more information.

Angell In SCS Hall

A Davie County man has been named to the N.C. Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts Hall of Fame.

Brady Angell of Mocksville received the honor Jan. 5 at the group's annual convention in Asheville.

Angell served as a supervisor with the local soil and water conservation district from 1941-1992, on the N.C. soil and water commission from 1956-58 and was president of the state association in 1959.

He has been chairman and vice chairman of the Davie County district, and was active in the Forsyth County district before retiring from the N.C. Children's Home and moving home to Davie.

He has also been active in civic and community affairs.

Angell was manager of the children's home farm and operated a farm in Davie County, and practiced conservation measures at both farms. "Conservation is the most important phase of agriculture," he said.

The hall of fame began in 1992 and three state residents are inducted each year.

All of Angell's sons and their wives attended the January ceremony in Asheville.

More On Prayer

By M. Craig Mock

God says in His Word to make your requests known to Him. Philippians 4:6:

"Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God."

A request, according to Webster's Dictionary, is an asking for something or the state of being asked. Now, how can a request be known to God unless you speak to him through prayer. God will not totally get involved in the circumstances of our lives if we are not in daily communication with him. Prayer then becomes a two way street in this sense.

We need to have a time set aside each day to talk to and worship our Heavenly Father.

We need to turn off the TV and turn on to God. Please don't misunderstand, there is nothing wrong with TV as long as it does not become our god or interfere with our time with God. I once heard of a congregation of a particular church where all the members became so holy that they had a "TV blow out party." They rounded up all their televisions, took them out and shot them up with a 12 gauge. I sure wish they would have told me before they blew the tube out. I would liked to of had one of those 25 inch GE consoles. It is not that the television is evil. It is how we use it. It does come with an off mode. Just learn to turn it off besides going to the extreme of blowing it up.

The television is just one example of many things that distract us from fellowship with God if we allow it to. I thank my God for TV. Without it, the gospel of Jesus Christ would not be preached to the degree it is. But I do know how to turn the switch off!

My point is this -- we as Christians should have a special time each day set aside just for prayer. This is the time we get alone in our prayer closet and talk to our Heavenly Father. God wants to hear our prayers and God wants to answer our prayers. 1 John 5:14-15:

"And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us: And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him."

God will undoubtedly answer our prayers if we ask in faith and we pray according to the rules. The rule book is the Bible, so get busy reading.

Teacher's Assistant Provides The Hugs

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

WILLIAM R. DAVIE — Ruby O'Neal goes to the elementary school here every day to see her kids.

When they're sick or depressed, she gives them an affectionate hug.

She teaches them to cook.

She reads to them, and when they learn something, she makes them feel special.

O'Neal is a teacher's assistant, and according to her co-workers and peers, she's one of the best. She is representing Davie County in regional teacher's assistant of the year competition.

"They're just like my children. It is a joy," she said. "When a child learns to read, it's the greatest thing.

"Davie County children have benefitted so much from having teacher assistants in the lower grades. We can nurture the child, give them a hug, rock them if they need rocking."

O'Neal believes in active learning.

Last week, in a combination first and second grade class with teacher Cindy Minor, O'Neal was reading a book to the children about Italy. In correlation with the book, they learned to cook pasta, and invited parents to a spaghetti dinner.

"I really don't have a favorite age, but I like working with kindergarten through third graders, they're so eager to learn," she said. "I like active learning. That's something we do here in the classroom.

"Children want to please, and when they are praised, they work harder. As an assistant, I hope I can continue to give all the children I come in contact with a smile, a hug when needed and an encouraging word.

"Learning can be the most exciting way of life if a person sees the need early," O'Neal said. "I want a student to dream big and go for it. One of my greatest hopes is that I helped a child want to dream big."

O'Neal's efforts are appreciated by more than those who give out awards.

"She's nice," said second grader Trent Hobson. "She lets us read books and reads along. She lets us color a little bit ... just a little bit.

"She drives the bus when we go on field trips. We'll miss her next year. I'll miss her reading stories to us and letting us have a little free time."

Mrs. Minor, the teacher, enjoys working with O'Neal, who is well-known in the community.

"Working with Mrs. O'Neal makes my job so much easier," she said. "She's my right arm and my left arm. She's my liasion for the community. We make a good team.

"She's great with the kids. She assumes the role of nurturer," Minor said. "We both believe if you make learning exciting and make it fun ... it goes a bit easier."

O'Neal began her work in Davie Schools 16 years ago as a grade mother and volunteer. She became a teacher's assistant 10 years ago, working with a severely and profoundly handicapped class at Mocksville Middle School.

She has been at William R. Davie for eight years.

O'Neal said she was inspired by teachers like Bill Peeler, Ruth Arnold and Mrs. Clayton Brown.

"They gave me the foundation to really enjoy being a teacher's assistant," she said. "I try to give it my all every day."

She is a past president and vice president of the local teacher's assistant association, and will go to North Wilkesboro in March for interviews as part of District 7 competition.

Notice of TAX LISTING FOR DAVIE COUNTY

All property on hand January 1, 1993 both real and personal is subject to taxation regardless of age and sex of owner.

Effective January 1, 1993 you are no longer required to list motor vehicles which are currently LICENSED with the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles. These vehicles will be billed by the County after the current registration is renewed or an application is made for a new registration. About three months after your registration renewal you will receive a bill from the County. You will have 30 days to pay the bill before interest is added at the rate of 3/4 of 1% per month.

UNLICENSED vehicles not licensed on January 1, 1993 WILL BE LISTED DURING THE REGULAR LISTING PERIOD, there is no change in the listing requirements for those vehicles. Other property required to be listed in January include: mobile homes, boats and motors, jet skis, aircraft, farm equipment, tools used by carpenters and mechanics, all assets and supplies of businesses, furnishings owned and rented by a landlord.

Real estate is automatically listed. You will not need to sign a listing form for real estate unless there have been changes or improvements to the real estate.

The Tax Administrator's Office will not be sending listing forms to everyone that listed in 1992. If you need to list personal property as indicated above or report changes to real property and you do not receive a form in the mail, please contact the Tax Administrator's Office for the proper forms.

EXEMPTION FOR ELDERLY AND DISABLED

Persons wishing to continue to get the exemption will need to sign the listing form as in prior years. Persons currently receiving the exemption are required to notify the Tax Administrator if their income was over $11,000 for 1992. Qualifications for the elderly exemption are: persons must be 65 or over and the income from husband and wife must be $11,000 or less. Disabled persons can be under 65 with the same income factors. Disabled must provide a doctor's statement that they are 100 percent disabled. New exemption applications can be made during the regular listing period. Elderly and disabled late listers filing later than April 15 will not receive the exemption per N.C. General Statutes.

Listing will begin January 4, 1993 in the Tax Administrator's Office in the County Administration Building. Office listing help is available Jan. 4 - Jan. 29, 1993. Hours will be 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Monday thru Friday. The deadline for listing is January 31, 1993. Completed forms must be postmarked by the U.S. Postal Service not later than February 1, 1993. All late listings are subject to a 10% penalty. Please make your return early to avoid a late penalty.

Watershed Meeting Set For Feb. 2

The watershed legislation was passed by the General Assembly in 1989, followed by the writing of specific proposed rules, a series of public hearings across N.C. on those rules, and finally after revisions from public input at the hearings, a "model ordinance" was written.

Counties and towns all across N.C. are now endeavoring to write their local ordinances with the model ordinance setting the minimum criteria.

On Tuesday, Feb. 2, at 7 p.m. in the Davie County Office Building Meeting Room, an overview of current status of the formation of this public policy will be presented.
