Family Fights Prove Costly

Judge A. T. Grant put a costly tag on family fights in Davie County Court, Tuesday.

The Judge fined Walter Eugene Baugess $50 and costs on the charges of damage to personal property and assault with deadly weapon. Baugess was charged on warrants taken out by his mother with damaging kitchen utensils by throwing them around and by threatening his mother with a knife.

On the stand in court, Tuesday, Mrs. Della Baugess, his mother, appeared reluctant to press the charges telling the court that her son was "just drunk," and "broke a bottle of liquor on the kitchen sink."

Jay Barker, charged with slapping his wife, also was fined $50 and cost. His wife testified that she and Barker had been separated about six months and that in a disagreement recently he slapped her.

Although not exactly in the family fight category, a private road in the Sheffield community was again the center of a dispute that resulted in charges against Herbert Cleary of drunk and destroying property.

Cleary was accused by J. F. White of the Sheffield Community of "stomping down" six or seven hills of growing corn on July 19th after the two had words over a private road than ran through White's farm.

When the officers found Cleary for service of the warrant on the above charges, he was found to be carrying taxpaid liquor, one pint of which had the seal broken, and was charged with illegal possession.

Cleary was fined $10 and cost on the charge of drunk and destroying property and $15 and cost on the charge of possession.

Bobby Baugess Sentenced For Violating Probation

Two 16-year-old boys were sentenced to prison Tuesday by Judge A. T. Grant as the result of throwing rocks at a freight train near Mocksville on July 30.

Bobby Baugess, who has been on probation since June 24, had the suspended sentence of 12 months put into effect. On the rock throwing charge he received a sentence of 8 months, to run concurrently.

James Aaron Hellard, who also had a record of breaking and entering against him as a juvenile, was sentenced to eight months in prison.

David Beaver received a sentence of eight months, suspended for two years, and was placed on probation. He had no previous record.

The three youths pled guilty to rocking the caboose of Southern Railway Train No. 53, a south-bound freight, around 12:30 a.m. on July 30.

Lt. Robert Gibson of the Southern Railway Police Department, testified that the crew of the train reported rocks being thrown at it at the above time and date, one mile north of the Mocksville depot. One rock broke the glass and came through the window of the caboose, just missing the conductor who had moved from his seat by the window to get a sandwich.

Lt. Gibson said that the crew reported seeing a camp fire in the woods in the direction from which the rocks came. He and Sheriff Ben Boyles investigated the next day and talked to David Beaver who told the officers that he, Baugess and Hellard had camped out that night and admitted throwing the rocks.

Lt. Gibson said that Baugess at first denied throwing rocks, but admitted Tuesday morning that he and the others did throw the stones.

The rock that broke the window in the caboose was introduced in evidence. It was a stone about the size of a man's fist.

Bobby Baugess was convicted in Davie County Court on June 24th on the charges of malicious damage to property and conspiracy. At that time Judge Grant sentenced him to 12 months, suspending the sentence and placing him on probation.

Tuesday, Tom Pressness, District Probation Officer, reported to Judge Grant that Baugess had violated the terms of probation in several ways: (1) Had refused to work and find gainful employment; (2) Violated a state law by throwing rocks at a train; (3)

Had visited a beer joint and had purchased beer; (4) Had been keeping company with persons with criminal records; (5) Had not been off the streets by 10 p.m. on week days and 11 p.m. on Saturdays.

After hearing the report, Judge Grant ordered the 12 months suspended sentence into effect.

James Aaron Hellard was convicted in Davie County Juvenile Court on July 25, 1955, on three counts of breaking and entering. He was sentenced to Jackson Training School for one year, which sentence was suspended, and he was placed on probation. The probationary period expired when Hellard became 10 years of age.

Judge Grant sentenced Hellard to 8 months in prison on the charge of throwing rocks at the train.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My sermon this week is on buttermilk. I took this text on account of what happened to me in town last Saturday. I had me a meal at one of them public eating places and when they bring the buttermilk, it tasted like it was made of talcum powder and lemon extract. I asked the lady about it and she said it was agin the law in most states now to serve the old fashioned buttermilk like we made in the churn. "It ain't healthy," she said. "It's got to be pasteurized."

Now I ask you, Mister Editor, ain't that a fine howdy-do! It's legal in some places to sell beer but it ain't legal to sell churned buttermilk because it ain't healthy. I reckon that's why these old farmers around here die off when they git to be 85 or 90, just drinking too much of that churned buttermilk. I knowed a preacher out this way onct that used to drink a quart of the stuff at a meal, then git up and say he guessed he'd be stepping over to see brother Smith. And then he'd walk ten mile to brother Smith's house. But that churned buttermilk finally got him in the prison.

Well, Mister Editor, I got to knock off now and go hide my old lady's churn. I see a couple suspicious looking strangers coming down the road.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

or two from the top.

Of course, I reckon a feller could git some bootleg buttermilk in them big cities. He could give the waiter a wink and git some churned buttermilk if he'd take it off the premises to drink.

And this brings up the question of what they would do with a feller if they caught his driving under the influence of churned buttermilk. I can hear him now telling the judge, "Listen Your Honor, I just had a couple glasses, and so help me, it was pasteurized and I drunk it on the premises." And the judge would give out the customary sentence. "Another one of them just two glasses fellers, huh? Lock him up, officer, and I hereby and herewith, under the authority granted me by this great sovereign state, order the churn confiscated and destroyed."

In another ten year, Mister Editor, I'll be illegal and un, healthy fer a farmer to drink water from his own well out of a gourd. When you stop to take note of these things, it's easy to see why them tranquilizer pills is selling so good.

Well, Mister Editor, I got to knock off now and go hide my old lady's churn. I see a couple suspicious looking strangers coming down the road.

Local Farmers Use FHA Loans

Farm families in Davie County received Farmers Home Administration loans totaling $66,876.00 in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1958, the agency's county supervisor, Clarence H. Slink, reported this week.

Borrowers repaid $111,017.00 during the year. Repayments were made mainly out of income received from milk sales.

Among the results the farmers have obtained with loans for better farming, Mr. Slink said, are improved dairy herds, better crop yields, good pastures, and more modern equipment. The recently broadened farm housing loan program is helping many farmers plan and develop better housing and farm building facilities.

Mr. Slink said many local farmers have had and repaid loans in the past several years, and are now operating sound farming enterprises and getting all their credit through local banks and other lenders. Mr. Slink also has charge of the program in Rowan County.

Beside making and servicing loans, the county supervisor visits borrowers' farms through the year to help with farm management problems. Mr. Slink estimated he made 300 farm visits during the year; and in addition to these on the farm contacts many farmers called at his office to apply for loans or discuss their farming and credit situations.

Banks or other lenders may advance the loan funds for farm purchase or improvement, or the agency may make these loans direct from funds appropriated by Congress. All other types of loans are direct Government loans.

Harold P. Campbell, Army Specialist Third Class, is a former student at Cooleemee High School.

M. H. S. Class Has Reunion

The class of 1953 of Mocksville High School enjoyed a reunion Saturday night, Aug. 2, at Lake Hide-Away. A picnic supper was enjoyed by a group of 23 class members and their families.

The group decided to hold their next reunion on their 20th anniversary in 1963. The place will still be Lake Hide-Away on the first Saturday night in August at 7:00 p.m. unless different plans are made. Social Security In Davie County

Families and friends of disabled workers in the Mocksville area were urged today to help prevent needless loss of cash benefits which might be payable. Disability insurance benefits under social security are still so new that some of our local people are not yet familiar with the eligibility requirements. We don't want any Mocksville area families to lose out because of such a misunderstanding.

Requirements for these cash benefits are of three types, age, disability and work background before disability. Disabled workers and their families are urged to read over the requirements carefully and to get in touch with the Salisbury social security office if there seems to be a possibility of eligibility for some family member.

The age requirement is that the disabled person must be age 50, whether a man or woman. However, younger workers who are disabled should file proof of their disability right away if they wish to protect their future rights at age 50. Persons over age 65 cannot qualify for disability benefits because they are of retirement age and may draw their social security retirement benefits.

The disability requirement is that the worker must be severely disabled for at least six months with an injury or illness that prevents him from doing any type of substantial gainful work and which will continue to prevent his work for an indefinite period of time. Although medical reports will have to be submitted to establish this requirement, no person should delay filing his claim until he gets these reports. The social security office can help in that respect.

The work background requirement must establish that the disabled person had been employed or self-employed for at least five recent years and that one and one-half years of the work must have been within the last three years before the disability began.

The social security office is taking this means to try to locate eligible local people. We have sketched only briefly the requirements for entitlement. If any Mocksville area person would like more details, the social security office would be only too happy to mail a free copy of our booklet which is called "How Disabled Must You Be" which explains the requirements more completely. A simple post card or telephone call to our local office will do the trick.

'58 Conservation Reserve Plans Develop

Plans for opening the sign up under the Soil Bank's 1959 Conservation Reserve Program are continuing to take shape. J. G. Crawford, Chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

State ASC and other interested Department of Agriculture field personnel in this area met recently in Florida in one of a series of regional meetings to acquaint workers with details of the 1959 program. Groundwork was laid for making the program available to farmers through County ASC Offices.

While the Conservation Reserve Program for 1959 will contain major changes in certain details, the method of program operation will be about the same as in previous years.

Farmers will contract with the Department to reduce their acreage of harvested crops for a period of up to 10 years and to devote this acreage to approved conservation practices. In return, the Government will make an annual rental payment to the farmer for the period of the contract and will share in the cost of establishing the conservation practices.

Soil Bank Requirements Still In Effect Many farmers in the State will soon receive payment under their 1958 Soil Bank contracts. H. D. Godfrey, Administrative Officer of the ASC State Committee, issued a reminder to these farmers today that harvesting or grazing from designated acreage is not permitted. "The fact that payment has been received under the contract does not mean that the contract has expired," he said. Contracts under the Soil Bank Acreage Reserve will be in force through Dec. 31, 1958.

Under the Conservation Reserve phase of the Soil Bank Program the producer agrees during the entire contract period to: (1) keep the designated acreage in the approved practice, (2) harvest no crop from the designated acreage except timber under good forest management or wildlife, (3) permit no grazing on designated acreage, (4) control the spreading of noxious weeds on designated land, and (5) comply with all acreage allotments except wheat allotments of less than 15 acres permitted or peanuts less than one acre.

Under the AR phase of the Soil

Bank Program the producer agrees during the entire contract year to (1) harvest no crop from the designated acreage, (2) permit no grazing, (3) control the spread of noxious weeds on the land, and (4) comply with all allotments (the same as required under the Conservation Reserve except that a wheat allotment may not be overlapped when wheat is being placed in the Reserve).

Violations of terms of soil bank contract during any part of the contract year will necessitate a refund by the producer of the amount paid and a civil penalty of 50 per cent of the payment where the violation is found to be willful.

According to Godfrey, ASC field representatives this summer or later in the year will again check farms participating in the Soil Bank to determine if the regulations of the Soil Bank have been carried out.

The Farmington Medical Center

The Pino Grange has undertaken a very worthwhile project for their community—the erection of a medical building and securing a doctor to locate in the Farmington community.

The constant increasing population, plus the continued progress of medicine, is putting more and more demands on existing medical services and facilities. As a result, more and more general practitioners of medicine are locating away from cities and in smaller communities.

However, to attract a top-flight medical man, a community must make itself attractive. What could be more attractive to a doctor looking for a spot to locate than a modern medical building in which to practice? The building of course stands for itself, but what is of even more importance is the cooperation and work of the people that put such a building there. With a modern building as a symbol of their desire and effort, a doctor can have no doubts but that he is needed and wanted in that community.

Before kicking-off this project, representatives of the Pino Grange met with the Davie County medical staff and discussed the matter with them. The local doctors gave the project their blessing and promised their cooperation.

The success of this project will depend upon the immediate response of the people in the area to be served. If some sit back to let the other fellow do it, the progress will be discouragingly slow. However, if all will put their shoulder to the wheel, as they did with the Farmington Volunteer Fire Department, it will soon become a reality.

More Marriagables In Davie County

Cupid has plenty of work in store for him in Davie County—overtime work, in fact.

Locally, there is an above-average proportion of eligible men and women who have never been married.

Bringing together these unmatched matchables is a matter that should be given high priority, from the business as the romantic standpoint. For each new wedlock means a new household and each new household an outlet for thousands of dollars worth of equipment. For local merchants, this is real romantic talk.

In Davie County, according to the latest Census Bureau data, 27.9 per cent of the men in the population and 22.3 per cent of the women, over the age of 14, have never been married.

The overall picture locally, for both men and women of marriageable age, reveals 25.1 per cent in the never-been-married group.

The proportion is comparatively high. It is above the ratio found elsewhere in the United States, 23.4 per cent, and above that in the South Atlantic States, 24.0 per cent.

In the last few years, points out the Census Bureau, the supply of marriagable men in the United States, in relation to the total male population, has been whittled down by 2.4 per cent. The change in the status of women has been somewhat smaller, about 1.6 per cent.

Among men, the proportion single is highest for those on farms, notes the bureau. Almost one out of three rural farm males has never been married, whereas one out of five in non-farm areas has not. For women, however, the proportion single is no greater on the farm than in cities.

Economic conditions have a great deal to do with the marriage rate. The recent recession has caused a decline in most areas, the reports show.

In Davie County, the outlook for an increase is bright, from this standpoint. Per capita income last year, after taxes, amounted to $1,175, compared with $948 per capita five years ago.

Enormous Traffic In Post Cards

The United States Post Office Department is prepared to enjoy a lucrative picture post card business late this summer.

Stamp increases effective August 1 include a rise from two to three cents for regular mail cards, four to five cents for airmail service. The Government's plain, prestamped cards (properly called postal instead of post cards) will sell for three instead of two cents. Airmailed postals will be five cents instead of four.

Of the 60 billion pieces of written mail now handled by the Post Office annually, nearly three and a third billion are cards, says the National Geographic Society. Their contributions to government revenue have amounted recently to some $66 million a year, with an addition $33 million expected from the increased rates.

America's huge post card traffic got its start in 1861, when John P. Charlton, of Philadelphia, obtained a copyright for the first practical open-face mailing form.

Shortly after, the inventor passed his copyright on to another Philadelphian, who set up a business in printing and selling "Lipman's Postal Cards."

The United States Government entered the field in 1873 with its own postals. Sold for a penny each—a price maintained with only brief interruption until 1952—the cards won immediate and widespread public acceptance.

The printed stamps on the first official postals showed the profile of the Goddess of Liberty. Later editions bore portraits of Jefferson, Grant, McKinley, Washington, Lincoln, and Franklin, among others.

KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

LIBERAL? . . . The recently revamped State Utilities Commission dropped three bombs here last week.

One fell on Carolina Power & Light Co., one on Public Service Co. of North Carolina, and the third on Southern Bell. Smart and steady Public Service made rate reductions voluntarily before going to the mat with the Commission. C. P. & L. was asked to effect huge cutbacks in industrial rates.

Southern Bell's effort to regroup, to alter its approach on some rates — raising some and lowering others — was turned down until further study could be made.

Since these three occurrences came within a matter of five days, there was quite a bit of street-corner gossip here. Many a good Democrat used to criticizing the Utilities Commission for being too conservative was set to wondering if this all-powerful body had not swung completely in the opposite direction. Now up for decision: Carolina Tel.

BACK HOME . . . Those lobbyists who like to get good fees for scared to death and naive clients when the Legislature comes to town naturally will not admit, but the truth is:

The more friends you have working for you back in the areas where the legislators live, the less money you spend to get work done for you in Raleigh.

It is estimated that five friends at home are worth a minimum of $50 spent for a lobbyist. Of course, if you don't have folks working for you where the solutions live, then the only thing you can do is hire lobbyists, accept their statements, and kick around the long green.

One of the most pitiful situations happening each Legislature is that of a person, company, or group you think would know better wasting money on someone who has convinced them he has an inside track with the legislators.

The N. C. Education Association's Claude Farrell has the right idea. He is busy these days requesting teachers to have heart-to-heart talks with their friends in the Legislature. We can't recall when NCEA has employed special lobbyists for the General Assembly.

SUMMER REGISTRATION . . . The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is experimenting with a registration plan which might be adopted by other State schools plagued with back-breaking schedules and mile-long lines in September.

Mere words cannot describe the tempers, sweat and general frustration created in past years through trying to get approximately 2,000 new students lined up for college . . . in four September days! Beginning in June this year — and continuing through August — Chapel Hill began urging those coming for the first time to pay a one-day visit during the summer months. The word we get is that the new plan is much more efficient, is being snapped up enthusiastically by the freshmen, and will likely prove the permanent solution to the registration headache which has degraded like 100 degree smog on Chapel Hill each September.

MARTIN SCHOOL . . . The newest junior high school will be named after LeRoy B. Martin, who has served on the Raleigh City School board for 25 years. Martin was head of the State School Commission from its beginning in the old Equalization Board in 1927 until he went with Wachovia Bank in 1935, is a brother of the late Sanford Martin of Winston-Salem, also regarded as a great friend of education. Another brother, Zeno Martin, was superintendent of Marlon City Schools. Coming to Raleigh in the early 40's to be business manager of Meredith College. He died suddenly of a heart attack about five years ago.

LeRoy has a brother, Albert Martin, who is principal of Booneville High School in Yadkin County, another brother, Joseph, principal of the Red Oak High School in Nash, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Paris, still an active teacher after 35 years in the work.

Martin's grandfather, the late Bart Brown, served two or three terms in the Legislature and is still remembered by some oldsters in Yadkin as one of the first one-room school teachers of that section.

The father of LeRoy, Asbury J. Martin, was superintendent of the Yadkin County Schools in the early years of this century.

WHICH ONE? . . . Martin is just completing a new home on a bluff overlooking Crabtree Creek about a half-mile west of the Brewer's. His son, Dr. Sidney Martin, his wife and four children, will take over the Martin home in Raleigh.

The interesting thing is that the Martin kids can't go to the Martin School. They will have to go to the Josephus Daniels Junior High completed three years ago. Dr. Martin — unless we miss our guess — will run a special bus over the hills westward so Martins can go to Martin. No criticism of the Daniels institution, of course — just a little family pride. Speak, three years ago at Josephus Daniels School dedication: Sanford Martin.

The pessimist gets a tough break when there isn't enough to go around.

Senator Jordan Reports:

WASHINGTON — The Senate has just passed a bill that is of vital importance to the future of our farm economy in North Carolina.

The bill did not get a great deal of attention in the headlines, but it would establish a research program that has unlimited potentials for agriculture.

For several years, particularly since World War II, scientists have been accumulating evidence showing that many new uses could be developed for farm products through research.

During the war techniques were devised to use components of grain in the manufacture of rubber, for example. This came about mainly through urgent necessity growing out of our wartime need for vast quantities of rubber.

There is almost no end to the list of new and different uses that can be devised through research for farm products.

In the past, the majority of the farm research work that has been carried on has dealt with production and disease problems. We have accomplished a great deal in increasing per-acre yields and in controlling disease. In fact, the progress that has resulted from this kind of research is the key to today's production capacity.

The bill that passed the Senate last week would greatly expand research in other areas of agriculture in an effort to find new uses for the volume of crops we now know how to produce. It would also authorize research projects concerning the development of new crops.

Both of these fields offer great opportunities for the future of agriculture. By finding new uses for crops that are now in surplus, a tremendous burden would be lifted from our farm economy. Too, if we could encourage farmers to plant new crops to replace some extent those that are now in surplus, it would bring about more stability for agriculture.

The proposal approved by the Senate would establish an agency within the U. S. Department of Agriculture to coordinate research this is now going on in the field of utilization and put into operation new research projects through grants and other means.

There has been a very limited amount of utilization research going on in the past, but for the most part it has been the by-product of other research.

In the long run, a continuation of our research in production methods, disease and pest control along with a stepped up utilization program will in large measure determine the future of agriculture in this Nation as we have known it, particularly our family size farms. By finding new uses and reducing the cost of production we will be in a much better position to meet the competition of foreign countries in the world markets.

TEXT: "History is changed by those who decide." — A. P. Davies.

There was a woman who went from doctor to doctor trying to fit all the new ailments into her complaints. At one doctor's office she was asked to fill out a questionnaire. One of the questions was:

"Do you have trouble making decisions?"

To which the prospective patient gave this revealing answer, "Yes and no."

Why are some people "Wishy, wishy?" Why must they always give "yes and no" answers to everything? In business, the man who cannot decide, fails. Sales people in stores avoid them. Friends tire of their indecision. Yet they go on, year after year, unable to make up their minds. The more decisions they avoid, the more difficult it becomes to decide.

People who make firm decisions make history. Successful businessmen are men who decide. Even if we do not agree with them; if their decisions are sometimes wrong, we welcome their company. They are leaders. They grow stronger and stronger.

With certain failure and loss of friendship as the results of indecision; with success and friendship as the results of making decisions, make up your mind to make up your mind. You'll avoid unnecessary worry, too, which is, perhaps, the secret of gaining success and friendship.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Garry Moore is a nice fellow. That is the consensus of opinion around here. The television star changes from a regular daytime show to once a week, starting this fall, and therefore this appraisal of him. You can't say such good things about some of the stars who are known in their private lives as big-headed blokes, night club sets or bedroom bunnies. But Garry seems to go along, and with the exception of being very successful, seems just an average guy. Born in Baltimore, scion of a radio and TV, he was for years with another good chum, Jimmy Durante. A gentleman with an unusual life, but with little money, was not long ago flown to New York and appeared on the Garry Moore show. His expenses were paid, but after the show, Garry slipped a ten-spot from his own pocket into the hand of his grateful guest.

There has been a blessed event at the D'Essens' Lady Zenda, their prize Russian wolf hound, has just given birth to nine cute puppies. You see, this couple, Bernie and Lorraine, supplies most of the animals for television shows and many advertisements. So I dropped in to see the new arrivals, and sure enough, there were nine little canine mouths eagerly having dinner off of the graceful and willer Lady. A greyhound, Steverino, used on the Steve Allen show, stalked by, while a Siamese cat looked longingly at the mealtime spectacle. Topping off the procession was Linda Lee, the imposing llama with a soft white coat like vicuna — the word that has a special meaning since the Sherman Adams affair, as the D'Essens well know. All over the apartment were various kinds of animals, all friendly, none messing up the place. Once one is trained, he teaches others, was told. Truly this is an animated household.

Speaking of vicuna, there has sprung up a host of stories about Presidents receiving gifts. But I have not yet seen anything about what was probably the first big embarrassing one. In 1785, George Washington, who had received no salary for his services in the Revolution, was offered in appreciation of his work, by the State of Virginia, 50 shares of stock in the Potomac Navigation

* SENATOR SAM ERVIN * ★ SAYS ★

WASHINGTON — The Senate unanimously passed the $40 billion defense bill last week.

Defense Cost

The cost of our defense is high. There seems to be no way to appreciably reduce the enormous proportion of our tax dollar devoted to the security of the country. Moreover, the unit cost of new defense hardware is increasingly higher. To offset this is the frightful realization of the potential destructive capacity of even one unit of the new weapons. In a nutshell, there is no inexpensive way to be prepared for survival. Our preparation has to accommodate an "in being" force to serve as a deterrent to aggression and stand ready in the event of an all-out war. There is also the necessity for a defense that can cope with the "brush fire" type of warfare which does not involve the use of so-called ultimate weapons.

The Debt Picture

It is therefore appropriate to discuss the debt picture when one talks of enormous defense budgets.

The Administration has asked Congress to boost the permanent national debt ceiling beyond the $275 billion mark. Specifically, Secretary of the Treasury Anderson wishes the permanent ceiling raised to $285 billion with authority for a temporary debt ceiling to a $288 billion limit until June 30, 1960. Earlier this year, Congress raised the limit temporarily to $280 billion at the request of the Administration; this authority to expire next June 30.

Debt History

The national debt now stands at $276 billion. Comparing this with the gross national product figure, estimated to be around $428 billion, the national debt is now around 64 per cent of the gross national product. In 1957, it was 61 per cent. It was 65 per cent in 1956. In 1946, after the conclusion of World War II, the national debt being nearly $269 billion and the gross national product nearly $211 billion.

One writer has cited the interesting summary of the debt history of our country. This nation began in 1789 with a debt of $78 million. Through June 30, 1958, our Federal government has spent a total of $1,223 billion and has collected $955 billion. The difference, when cash and other features are figured, gives the present national debt of $276 billion.

As I pointed out in a recent column, the national debt figure does not truly represent the total obligations of our Federal government by any means. Contingent liabilities push the debt far beyond the debt figure that is used by the Treasury.

In The Red

In 1900, the national debt was about one-half of one per cent of its current size, but the rapid growth of the country, although there has been an enormous increase in the debt, tended to keep the percentage ratio within bounds. World War II zoomed the debt to nearly $269 billion — and since then the country has operated mostly in the red. The only encouragement that one can get out of the fiscal picture, if any at all, is the fact that, with the exception of the recession years of 1940, 1954 and 1958, the debt has steadily diminished when compared with the gross national output of our country.

What the immediate future holds is more deficit spending. The Secretary of the Treasury now predicts the government will wind up with a $12 billion deficit on next June 30.

Company. He did not know what to do, so he wrote some of his trusted friends and advisers of wartime days such as Alexander Hamilton, Patrick Henry, Lafayette and Henry Knox and said he did not wish to offend the people of his state, but neither could he accept any gift if it were improper. All gave their opinions, Washington liking that of Knox best. It was to accept the gift and use the money therefrom for assisting wounded Virginia war veterans and orphans left by the war. . . . This Washington did.

A local man who has a homely wife likes the beauty shop she uses. But, he explained to a friend, she has to keep going back to the shop two or three times a week. The friend inquired why. "The mud packs they put on her face keep coming off," explained the husband.

ORNAMENTALS

Advantages of Mulch

Helps keep down grass and weeds. You may use the hoe, plow and chemicals but a mulch, where it can be used, is the best weed control found.

Conserves moisture

During dry weather you can use one-third to one-half less water if you use a mulch. Ornamentals will grow much faster and fruit and vegetables will produce much larger crops when mulches are used.

Other reasons for mulching are:

adds organic matter, helps prevent erosion, keeps soil loose and helps control soil temperature.

What to Use

Pine straw seems to be the best. It allows air and water to penetrate better than most other materials. Leaves with pine straw on top to hold them in place work fine. Sawdust (old or new) may be used and it's easy to get. Other good materials include ground corn cobs, shavings, straw, etc.

How Deep?

Use coarse materials such as pine straw 3 to 4 inches deep. One to two inches of fine materials such as sawdust is about right.

Will mulches rob soil of nitrogen?

To some extent, yes. Organic matter as it mixes with soil will temporarily tie up nitrogen. You can overcome this by adding extra nitrogen. It will all eventually be returned to the soil.

Will peat, oak leaves, etc., make the soil too acid?

No. Not for a long time. Even very acid materials change the soil pH very little, unless used in large quantities and worked into the soil.

When should mulches be removed?

Around permanent plantings they are usually permanent. Summer is when they are most needed. Fertilizer can be applied on top of mulch. In the vegetable garden the mulch can be worked into the soil after the growing season.

POULTRY SUGGESTIONS

If You Wash Eggs—

Wash 'Em Right

Some of the egg-buyers in North Carolina have strongly indicated that washed eggs are not holding up in quality, especially during warm and hot weather.

TOMATO LATE BLIGHT

Your tomatoes probably have little specks on them and the vines are dying. If you will examine them closely you will find that they have late blight. Practically all gardens checked during the past week have had this disease on tomato plants. You can get some good fungicide and spray about every ten days or after each heavy rain and keep your tomatoes producing until frost. Otherwise most of the tomatoes will die from blight in a week or so. This is the worst year we have ever had in this section for this disease.

PERMANENT PASTURES

Most of the permanent pasture froze out last winter due to the late seeding and severely cold winter. People who are planning to seed alfalfa and permanent pasture should get it seeded immediately while plenty of moisture is present.

Profit-Minded Farmers Plan Ahead

All farmers who have not had their soil tested are urged to do so now. This very important step in a farm program can mean quite a few dollars in increased farm profits.

Cottage Plan Provides Home Life For Children At Oxford Orphanage

The home life in Oxford Orphanage is provided by the cottage plan for housing children.

There are 11 cottages in which the children are grouped by ages. Eight of these cottages are situated upon a circle drive which occupies the center of the orphanage campus. These eight cottages have been in continuous use for approximately 60 years. Three cottages have been added at 20-year intervals.

Each of these cottages provides living room, study room, bedrooms or dormitories, bathrooms and counselors' apartments. Strenuous effort is made to provide home life filled with beauty and culture. Special attention is given to provide wholesome leisure time recreation through the use of television, radio, books, magazines, newspapers, table games, and hobbies. Each cottage is supervised by an adult counselor.

The meals are served in congregate dining rooms, according to age groups. The twice-condemned dining rooms and kitchen occupy the old Masonic Temple. Strenuous effort is now being made to replace the dining rooms with a superstandard food department.

The clothing is provided to the children upon an individualistic basis through a central clothing department which consists of laundry, sewing, mending, fitting, and storerooms.

The school life is centered in the John Nichols School. This is a public school unit of Oxford City School Administrative Unit of the State Board of Education, which enrollment consists of all the orphanage children and many children from Oxford and Granville County. The school enjoys the same evaluation and support as any public school. The academic standards of the school are augmented by an extensive vocational training program.

The play life of the children includes all types of recreational facilities. There is a complete athletic program, a recreation building, swimming pool, play grounds and other facilities.

The health of the children is centered in the William Hicks Memorial Hospital. This is a 70 bed hospital unit. Complete health care is maintained including medical, surgical, dental, orthodontic, psychiatric and other services through cooperation with agencies outside our campus.

The orphanage continues to emphasize the religious life of the children through the facilities of Sunday School, worship services, chapel programs, Bible instruction, and religious literature distributed. The children hold their memberships in and attend the four churches of Oxford and have the advantages of the pastoral ministering of these various denominations.

Sunday School is provided on the campus for the grammar grade school children. The high school boys and girls attend Sunday School at their respective churches in Oxford. All the children attend the church of their choice on Sunday morning. A service of worship is provided on Sunday evening in the York Rite Chapel. Also the services of a full time chaplain is provided for the children.

The orphanage, in cooperation with the churches of Oxford, employs a teacher of Bible for the public school, wherein two courses are available for the children. The John Nichols School conducts chapel programs each week and each cottage has a devotional program each day.

The farms, including registered dairy herd, registered pig herd, poultry and garden produce and fruit, occupy about 300 acres of the campus. The farms provide a large portion of the food for the orphanage, as well as employment for the agriculturally inclined children.

CARL GOERCH

78th Annual Event To Be Held In Mocksville Next Thursday, Aug. 14

Carl Goerch, distinguished newsman and radio commentator of Raleigh, will be the featured speaker at the 78th Annual Masonic Picnic to be held at Clement Grove in Mocksville on Thursday, August 14th. Mr. Goerch is scheduled to speak around 12 noon on that day.

The presence of Mr. Goerch, who is widely known for his famed "Carolina Chats," is expected to draw a record crowd in the historic grounds to carry on the tradition of the second Thursday in August set many years ago when the event originated as a means of providing funds for the Oxford Orphanage. Proceeds from this annual event go to the orphanage.

R. C. Lee Riding Devices, so long a feature of the annual event, will operate each night during the week of the picnic along with other midway attractions.

Clyde Glasscock, Master of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge, has appointed R. B. Sanford, Jr., to serve as general manager for this event. Mr. Sanford, assisted by the various committees, has lined up one of the greatest events in the long and colorful history of Mocksville Masonic Picnics.

George Martin is serving as program chairman and has lined up a program that includes music by the Davie County High School Band. This will be the first appearance of the band of the new consolidated high school on the picnic program. Always a feature of the program is the Oxford Orphanage Glee Club. They will appear on the program under the arbor, scheduled to get underway at 10:30 a.m.

Outstanding officials and members of the Masonic Lodge and the Order of the Eastern Star will appear on the program throughout the day. These will include Mrs. Glenna J. Grimes, of Asheboro, Worthy Grand Matron, Grand Chapter of North Carolina, Order of the Eastern Star; A. D. Leon Gray, Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage; Wilber Perkins, Worthy Grand Patron of the North Carolina Eastern Star.

The Rev. Thom A. Summey, Jr., Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina and Minister of the West Market Street, Methodist Church of Greensboro, will deliver the afternoon address around 2:30 p.m.

The famed picnic dinner will be spread under the arbor, immediately following the conclusion of the morning program.

The evening program under the arbor will feature string music by the "Trail Blazers," under the direction of Bob Sechrest. Entertainment and amusement on the midway will operate until around midnight.

Last year an estimated 13,000 people paid admission into the picnic grounds during the day and night. Officials are making plans to handle even a larger crowd this year.

Town Extends Welcome To Masonic Picnic Visitors

For the 78th time, all of Mocksville and Davie County will extend the glad hand and a hearty welcome to all to attend the Masonic Picnic, Thursday. This, of course, is the greatest day in the year for Davie County.

The Masonic Picnic is the day all come back home for a little chat with old acquaintances, relatives and friends. It is the day near great men talk about great things. Carl Goerch will be the featured speaker of the day.

Also the Masonic Picnic is the day that brings the world's best cooks under one roof. There under the dinner arbor is spread the most bountiful table of food anyone has ever beheld. Here one may eat all he likes, of whatever he likes, and there is a great variety of choice fried chicken, ham, sandwiches, cake, pie, etc., all prepared and spread by the women of Davie County as their contribution to a great day and a great cause.

Of course, it is the day anticipated with almost uncontrollable eagerness by the children. The merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and numerous other rides and side shows run unceasingly for their pleasure.

A DAY OF ENJOYMENT DESIGNED TO HELP OTHERS...

The visitor who visits Mocksville for the first time on the SECOND THURSDAY IN AUGUST cannot fail to be impressed by the event of the ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC. If a person attends one of these affairs, he will be back for others in the future.

Since its origin in 1878, the second Thursday in August has come to be known far and wide as a day of enjoyment. For the children it is carnival day—merry-go-round, ferris wheel, pop corn, ice cream, etc. For the older folks it is reunion day—greeting and conversing with old friends you seldom see. For members of the local Masonic Lodge is a day whereby their time and efforts produce funds that help support the Oxford Orphanage.

Thus on the event of the 78th ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC, scheduled to be held on Thursday, we are proud to extend our Cooperation and Best Wishes to the Mocksville Masonic Lodge for the day of enjoyment that is designed to help others.

THE ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC HAS COME A LONG WAY!

The 78th Annual Masonic Picnic on Thursday, August 14th, will be a far cry from those early days at 'The Shoals,' and even the early days at Clement Grove.

The amazing growth and progress of this institution is a tribute not only to the Masonic Lodge, but to the people of this community.

It is amazing when one things in terms of progress to know that electricity has been one of the outstanding aids in the heightening of our living standards — making our daily tasks easier and more efficient.

As the WESTINGHOUSE DEALER for this community, we are proud of the part these electrical appliances have played in aiding progress. Preparation of the famed Masonic Picnic Dinner that will be spread under the arbor next Thursday has been made easier and faster than ever before by the use of WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC RANGES such as the model shown below.

Committee Chairmen Plan Picnic Arrangement

First Picnic Held At The 'Shoals,' June 24, 1877

Regardless of what the annual Masonic Picnic means to the average person, it means more to the few remaining who were in attendance at the first one.

First Picnic
Few may recall how these annual picnics first started.

A group from Oxford Orphanage under the direction of Superintendent J. H. Mills used to give concerts in the Presbyterian church and the Mocksville Lodge always made a contribution to the upkeep of the orphans.

Captain A. W. Clement, who was a member of the entertainment committee for the group in May 11, 1877, proposed the question of having a picnic and giving the proceeds to the Oxford Orphanage. So Capt. Clement was appointed along with Rev. T. A. Booe and T. B. Bailey to make arrangements with other Masonic Lodges of the county to sponsor a picnic.

The Shoals
The first picnic was held at the Shoals (where Coolemees is now located) with the other Masonic Lodges of the county, Jerusalem and Farmington, cooperating, on June 24, 1877.

All of the citizens of Davie County cooperated heartily with the Masons in making these early picnics a success. The managing of these affairs has always been kept non-sectarian. It is interesting to note that almost every picnic committee, including the one appointed in 1877, has had one member from each of the three prominent religious denominations in the county.

Although the equipment for the entertainment was very limited at the Shoals when compared with the picnic midway of today, the picnic was one of the high spots of the year for the people. Instead of the large dinner arbor as is in use now, in the early days they used a long table with a rope stretched around it. Only those who had bought dinner tickets were allowed to come inside the rope.

Entertainment
Lacking the merry-go-round, Ferris Wheel, Slide Shows, etc., that we have today, the young people at the Shoals went boating. Another one of the fetters of the early picnic was the excursion train that was chartered by the Masons in 1892. This train ran from Winston-Salem until it was discovered that the picnic train had become a competitor in the sale of drinks and other commodities, so it was abandoned.

Watermelon sales were also another of the outstanding features of those early picnics. In 1906 a morning picture show grossed $44.25 for the picnic and a morning baseball game brought in $57.

Clement Grove
In the early years the Masons were given the use of the picnic grounds by Herbert Clement. In 1897 it was decided to buy the grounds of five acres from Mr. Clement.

Thursday, the 78th Annual Masonic Picnic will be held in Clement Grove upholding all of the traditions of the past years. In attendance will be those with experiences from the picnic of yesteryears, and also some who will be attending the Masonic Picnic for the first time. In either case, it will be an event that will long be remembered by the individual.

The famous young Texas pianist, Van Cliburn, is deeply religious. The Reader's Digest reports. He faithfully gives one fifth of his earnings to the Baptist Church. The conductor of the Buffalo, New York, Philharmonic Josef Krips, recalls that one day Van came to his dressing room before a performance and said, "Maestro, let us pray." The two knelt side by side and prayed for a good performance.

E. C. MORRIS
CHAIRMAN OF THE ADVERTISING AND PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

E. C. Morris has been a member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge for many years. During this time he has actively served on many picnic committees. This year he is chairman of the Advertising and Publicity Committee.

The business of advertising the picnic is one of the most important posts. The picnic is an event in which Masons and the people of Davie County and surrounding territory take a well deserved pride and must be publicized each year through all known channels. It is the duty of Mr. Morris and his committee to get this charitable institution before the public in this area.

S. M. CALL
CHAIRMAN OF THE CASHIER'S COMMITTEE

S. Milton Call is chairman of the Cashier's Committee for the 78th Annual Masonic Picnic. Mr. Call has been a member of the Masonic Lodge for the past 29 years. During previous years he has served as chairman of the Gate Committee.

It is the duty of the cashier's committee to supervise the changing of money for the refreshment stand and other places. The functioning of this committee enables faster service to the customers and an accurate accounting of receipts.

J. C. Little and J. H. Thompson will serve with Mr. Call on this committee.

VICTOR L. ANDREWS
CONCESSIONS COMMITTEE

Warm waters of the Gulf Stream pass near the New England coast but have little direct effect on winter temperatures because prevailing winds blow from the land.

Mr. Glasscock has been a member of the Masonic Lodge for years and has held many offices.

JAMES NICHOLS
GATE COMMITTEE

E. W. SMITH
GATE COMMITTEE

C. ATLAS SMOOT
CHAIRMAN OF THE REFRESHMENT COMMITTEE

C. Atlas Smoot joined the local Masonic Lodge in December, 1944. Since that time he has served in many important offices, attaining the chair of Master of the Lodge in 1949. He served for several years as vice chairman of the Refreshment Committee. This year he is serving as chairman of this important committee.

As Chairman of the Refreshment Committee it will be the responsibility of Mr. Smoot and his fellow committee members to supervise the purchase, sale and distribution of all the soft drinks, ice cream and other refreshments for the 78th annual Masonic Picnic. This committee is one of the largest and the members donate their time dispensing the refreshments on picnic day that go so far in making the picnic such a success, both in the enjoyment and financially.

D. L. WHITAKER
CHAIRMAN OF THE BASKET COMMITTEE

Duke Whitaker is chairman of the important basket committee for the second year.

Mr. Whitaker has written letters to many Davie County citizens asking them for the famous picnic baskets that Davie County women have packed for the past 77 years. The task of having enough food for the thousands of visitors who come here for the dinner is one of the biggest responsibilities of the picnic.

Mr. Whitaker and his committee have the dinner arrangements well planned for this year.

Mr. Whitaker has been a member of the local Masonic Lodge since 1955, and currently holds the office of Senior Deacon.

Keep abreast of the times, but don't get so far ahead that they can't catch up.

R. B. SANFORD, JR.
GENERAL CHAIRMAN OF THE 78TH ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC

R. B. Sanford, Jr., has served in the past on most all the various committees that function to make possible the annual Masonic Picnic. This year he will serve for the fourth time as General Chairman for the annual picnic.

Mr. Sanford will serve as coordinator of the efforts of the various committees of fellow Masons.

For the 78th Annual Masonic Picnic, Mr. Sanford has appointed chairmen who are planning for the best affair Davie County Masons have had for the past 77 years of this historic event.

T. L. JUNKER
CHAIRMAN OF THE CONCESSIONS COMMITTEE

T. L. Junker has been an active member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge for many years, and has served on many committees.

It is the responsibility of this committee to supervise the arrangements of all concessions stands, and collect all rentals. The way in which this committee functions goes a long way in making for the success of the annual picnic as it strives to establish and maintain the record of good, clean fun and enjoyment for both old and young.

S. R. LATHAM
CHAIRMAN OF THE GROUNDS COMMITTEE

S. R. Latham has an outstanding record in the local Masonic Lodge, having served as Master three times. Mr. Latham joined the local lodge on April 15, 1921.

For 18 years he served on the Refreshment Committee. For the past nine years he has been given the important post of Chairman of the Grounds Committee. Mr. Latham and his committee are responsible for the grounds being cleared, the arbor and tables being put in first class condition for the dinner and the refreshment stand being readied for the sale of drinks and food.

G. R. MADISON
CHAIRMAN OF THE GATE COMMITTEE

Graham R. Madison joined the local lodge in June, 1949. During the past nine years he has held practically all of the offices including Master during 1953.

For the 78th Annual Masonic Picnic, Mr. Madison will serve as chairman of the Gate Committee. It is the duty of this committee to see that somebody is on duty at all times during the week at the gates to the picnic grounds. Picnic day is a very busy day for Mr. Madison and the members of his committee.

CLYDE HENDRICKS
CHAIRMAN OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

Clyde Hendricks has been an active member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge for many years.

For the 78th Annual Masonic Picnic, Mr. Hendricks will serve as chairman of Finance committee. It is the duty of this committee to maintain a record of all financial receipts and disbursements for the picnic as reported by the various committee chairmen.

GEORGE MARTIN
CHAIRMAN OF THE PROGRAM COMMITTEE

George Martin will serve as chairman of the Program Committee for the third year. He served for several years as co-chairman of the committee with the late Col. Jacob Stewart.

Mr. Martin joined the local lodge in the summer of 1949. He has held several different offices and is Senior Warden at the present time.

Mr. Martin will preside at both the morning and afternoon programs. He and his committee have done an excellent job of planning the programs this year. Members of the committee in addition to Mr. Martin include Dr. L. P. Martin, Rev. E. M. Avert, B. C. Brock, R. B. Sanford, J. K. Ehek, C. L. Farkling, J. C. Jones, Knox Johnson and C. F. Bahnsen.

The success of the picnic has been placed in the hands of 13 committee chairmen who plan all the details from the complete program to the leasing of the grounds. These men are busy ahead of time locating speakers for the program, securing food or the dinner and making all arrangements necessary or completion of the details of the picnic.

Short sketches of each of these chairmen tell us why these men have been chosen or their particular appointment.

R. M. HOLT HOUSER
CHAIRMAN OF THE DINNER AND TABLES COMMITTEE

Roy M. Holthouser has been a member of the Masonic Lodge for 41 years, having joined the local lodge on July 20, 1917. He is a Past Master of the local lodge, and has also held the offices of Junior Warden and Senior Warden.

Mr. Holthouser for many years served on the Gate Committee of the Annual Masonic Picnic. For the past 17 years he has been chairman of the important dinner and tables committee.

As chairman of the dinner and tables committee for the 78th annual Masonic Picnic, Mr. Holthouser and his fellow committee members will be responsible for the famed picnic dinner that has proved so popular and enjoyable throughout the years.

DR. R. P. ANDERSON
CHAIRMAN OF THE ORPHANS COMMITTEE

Dr. R. P. Anderson has been a member of the local Masonic Lodge since 1902. He has a record of various offices held in the local lodge at various times.

Dr. Anderson has served as chairman of the Orphans Committee since 1903. It is the duty of this committee to look after the comforts or needs of the singing class of Oxford Orphanage from the time they arrive in Mocksville until they depart.

Dr. Anderson reports that he and Mrs. Anderson in the early days personally cared for the entire Orphanage class, teacher manager and all, with in those days amounted to about a total of 16 people. These people usually came by train or hack and stayed overnight. Seven or eight trunks had to be handled to and from the railroad station. Improvements were continually made and with the coming of the automobile the task became somewhat easier.

That's the way it has been with the MASONIC PICNIC. In 1865 a group of public-spirited Masons got together and took stock of needs, made some plans and went to work. Since that time the ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC has been growing and is rapidly becoming one of the biggest events of the State.

Gibraltar, little more than two square miles in area, is Britain's smallest colony, but an important center of communications, trade, and sea power. Its mighty rock, standing at the junction of the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, was known to the ancients as one of the Pillars of Hercules guarding the gate to the known world, the National Geographic Magazine says.

AERIAL VIEW OF OXFORD ORPHANAGE CAMPUS AND FARM

OXFORD ORPHANAGE

Owned and Operated by The Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina

Oxford Orphanage is the oldest orphanage in North Carolina and the second oldest Masonic Institution in America.

During the era between the unique Masonic persecution and the War Between the States, the Masonic Fraternity turned its attention to worthy philanthropy. Similar to several of the Southern States, North Carolina built a Masonic College.

The movement for the promotion of a Masonic College was begun in 1838. The purpose was to establish a Masonic Seminary for the education of children attached to the Masonic Fraternity.

Each year, 1838-1851, the consideration of a "Seminary of Learning" consumed its share of attention of the Grand Lodge. Many plans, ideas and projects were attempted during these years until the fast growth of Masonic Lodges around 1851. The name "St. John's College" was decided upon and Oxford was chosen as the location because of the generosity of Tuscarora Lodge No. 122.

In 1843, E. H. Hicks deeded to the trustees of St. John's College a tract of land containing 109 acres for the price of $4,480. In 1855 the trustees awarded to John Berry the contract for the brick work on the building at $11,106, and to J. N. Holt the contract for the wood work at $11,349, a total cost of $22,500.

On June 24, 1855, the cornerstone was laid with Masonic Grand Honors by Most Worshipful Brother Clement H. Jordan of Roxboro. The Rev. Leonidas L. Smith of Warrenton was the Orator of the day. The trustees reported to the Grand Lodge in 1857 that the building had been completed with $13,000 debt.

The doors of the college were opened July 13, 1856, with Professor Ashbel G. Brown in charge, and James Campbell as assistant. The institution was for male students only, but the school did not prosper. Two years later Thomas C. Tuley attempted to carry on the work, but also failed to operate the college on a profitable basis.

The civil strife between the North and South caused the suspension of many of our Southern Schools. St. John's College suspended operations at the beginning of the war.

At the close of the War Between the States, John H. Mills made arrangements to remove the Female School he was conducting into the college building. The school failed. Other sessions were tried with each ending in failure and the last session was held in 1871.

During the years of reconstruction, when it seemed impossible to re-establish a school in the St. John's College building, the Grand Lodge sought means of disposal of the property; and by the 1873 session of the Grand Lodge the paramount question was "What shall be done with St. John's College?"

One resolution was introduced that the property be sold; but a substitute motion by John H. Mills that "The St. John's College be made into an asylum for the protection, training and education of indigent orphan children" was adopted. Mr. Mills was elected superintendent and the Grand Lodge appropriated $500, and the orphanage was born.

On Feb. 13, 1873, an old battered wagon drove up to the front of the St. John's College building and Robert L. and Nancy Parrish, and Isabella Robertson of Granville County became the first to be taken into the orphanage.

From a little acorn a great oak tree does grow. The idea of Masonic Charity, struggling for 35 years to take root, sprang up in the life of Oxford Orphanage.

For 85 years the Masons of North Carolina have applied Masonic love to the lives of children upon the basis of the child's need, without any regard to the Masonic relationship of the child. The orphanage is owned and maintained by the Grand Lodge for the purpose of providing care and training for all indigent children who need its care. Here the children live in the surrounding of a beautiful campus, participate in a program of wholesome training, and are transformed into useful, productive citizens.

The orphanage depends upon voluntary gifts to maintain its program. No assessment has ever been made against any Mason or Lodge in North Carolina for the support of the program at the Oxford Orphanage.

The affairs of the institution are administered by a board of directors composed of nine members. Five are elected annually by the Grand Lodge, three are appointed by the governor and the Grand Master is the ex-officio chairman.

In immediate charge of the administration and supervision of the orphanage are Supt. A. D. Leon Gray; assistant superintendent, E. T. Regan; and business manager, M. E. Parham.

The orphanage campus is located on 400 acres of rolling land within the City of Oxford. The land, buildings and equipment is valued at $1,888,877.14. The campus is a community consisting of home, school, farm, hospital, chapel and playgrounds.

The grounds are beautifully landscaped. The main campus is completely sheltered by giant oak trees and liberally appointed shrubs, flowers, small trees, encompassed within well-kept lawns. The buildings are colonial type fire resistant brick structures, well spaced and adequately insured.

Children between the ages of six and 12, sound of mind and body, are admitted to the orphanage student body without respect to any Masonic affiliation. Except-

Even in the troubled days before the Revolutionary War, Ben Franklin did not lose his sense of humor reports the World Book Encyclopedia. When orators were delivering long and brilliant speeches in favor of unity among the colonies, Franklin simply said, "Gentlemen, we must all hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

"NOT WHAT WE GAIN!
 BUT WHAT WE DO!"

Around this philosophy The Masonic Picnic was born the desire to serve, the desire to help others

The company which consistently serves the public best knows that maintenance of high standards and integrity in business and human relationships must come before the company can grow and prosper.

A policy as this invariably creates public confidence. That's why we of the BANK OF DAVIE are proudly conscious of the increasing confidence that people in a wide area placed in us during the past years of service.

And that's why, too, we sincerely pledge ourselves to a continuance, by deed and word, of policies which have merited this public confidence.

More About
 tions are made to admit teen-age children.
 At the present time the orphanage has a capacity of 522 children, with less than six per cent coming from Masonic families. The children are admitted from anywhere within the State of North Carolina. They are cared for upon individual basis, and are maintained in the orphanage throughout high school, or as long as the conditions of their family require their care. Post graduate training is provided for those who reveal marked ability.
 The annual budget of the Oxford Orphanage is now over $300,000. During the past ten years the average cost per child has been $366.37 per year. This budget is met through the following agencies:

Voluntary gifts	48%
Oxford Orphanage
Endowment Fund	15%
Grand Lodge
Appropriations	12%
State Appropriation	12%
Duke Endowment	8%
Social Security	4%
Miscellaneous	3%
Proceeds from the annual Masonic Picnic at Mocksville are contributed to the Oxford Orphanage. During the past 77 years over $135,000 has been sent to the orphanage as the result of this event.

If all the useless words spoken were placed end to end, they would reach some man trying his best to concentrate.

Local CAP Unit Aids In Search For Aircraft

Members of the local unit of the Civil Air Patrol participated last week in a search mission for an airplane that went down in Western North Carolina.

The plane, a tri-pacer, with two people aboard, was reported missing on Aug. 3 around 8 p.m. on a flight between Knoxville, Tenn., and Atlanta, Ga.

The Salisbury Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol was alerted Monday afternoon.

Three members of the headquarters flight had come to meet with the Mocksville flight when the alert was sounded. These men, Captain Robert Evans, squadron commander, and Cadets Tom Zumbrunner and Danny Ludwig, immediately returned to Salisbury and left from here with other members of the squadron for the Mocksville flight.

Personnel going on the mission were:

Captain Evans, 2nd Lt. Harvey Beck of Mocksville; Senior Member Sanford Frye of Coolemeec; and Cadets Zumbrunner and Ludwig of Salisbury; Patsy Everest, Gail Sigeron, Barbara Hendricks, Glenn Everest, Hugh Partin and Joe Stafford of the Mocksville flight.

The group was located at the Andrews - Murphy Airport near Andrews, in western North Carolina, about midway between the Georgia - Tennessee lines. Members were quartered by residents of the towns.

A field kitchen was set up and the cadets were put in charge. The cadets were also used on the flight line and in communications. Cadet Sigmon was on the radio at the airport all day Wednesday.

The group returned home on Thursday. On Saturday they were re-alerted and left for the area again Saturday night. Around 3 p.m., Sunday, the wreckage of the plane was located. Helicopters were dispatched and made definite identification and reported no sign of life. The bodies were removed by a ground party Sunday night.

The Mocksville CAP flight furnished the entire communications for the search.

$512,196 In Social Security Benefits Paid Into Davie In '57

Garland E. Still Is Named Conservator

During the year 1957, approximately $512,196 was paid into Davie County.

This money, paid to citizens of the county and spent locally, amounts to as much as the annual payroll of a small business.

Social Security benefit payments have increased more than 33 per cent in the Piedmont area in 1957 over what was paid in benefits in 1956 — the 1957 Social Security benefits being approximately $5,476,000.

The Salisbury District Office has released the latest accounting for the counties which they serve, namely, Iredell, Rowan, Davie, and one-half of Davidson County.

In this district there are now 9,918 people getting monthly benefits under the Social Security law. This represents an increase of over 33 per cent in the number of people getting Social Security benefits over the number getting benefits in 1956.

These 9,918 people received approximately $5,476,000 in 1957.

Among the people getting Social Security benefits in this district, are 4,820 old-age beneficiaries, 1,625 wives, 1934 children and 843 widows and 251 disabled people.

There are several reasons for the increase in benefits over last year. One of the reasons is the payment of benefits to people who were brought under the law for the first time such as self-employed farmers and lawyers, for example. Other reasons for the increase were the reduction in the retirement age to 62 for women and the starting of disability insurance benefits to disabled people 50 years of age and over.

While the benefits are intended primarily as a basis for individual economic security, the payment of social security benefits at a rate of approximately $5,476,000 a year in this district helps business generally because most of the money is spent immediately on food, clothing and other necessities of life. The fact that a dollar spent turns over five times in business in a given locality means that the Social Security benefits paid in this district created over $27,000,000 in local business in 1957.

Leukemia Victim Likes To Get Cards

S. S. Short of Mocksville is one of the favorite correspondents of little Barney Teague, age 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burette Teague of Taylorsville.

Last February Barney's parents learned that he had leukemia, a dreaded blood disease. However, as far as Barney is concerned it is rheumatic fever . . . and it means a trip each week to the Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem for blood transfusions and treatment.

Fortunately, his father, an employee at a Hickory furniture factory, has a hospital policy covering rare diseases. His fellow workers have provided blood for the transfusions. Recently people of that area has been designating their donations to the Red Cross to help Barney.

Cards is the number one wish for Barney. He wants a lot of them. Learning of this desire, Mr. Short has been sending him a large number each week.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
There's rumors going around about some Congressmen working on Saturdays so's they could hurry and get through. Of course, I'm using the term "working" in its lighter sense here.

Now, Mister Editor, I don't get alarmed as a rule over things that happens more'n a few miles from my house, because by the time a man keeps his own place from getting into the hands of the banker or the Sheriff and fingers out enough answers to his old lady's questions and gets used to having his taxes reduced by the politicians in ever campaign and raised after ever election, he ain't got much time left to get alarmed about things taking place very far from home.

But I think this thing of Congressmen working on Saturday is heading us for complete ruin. It has took me years and years to convince my old lady that working on Saturdays is unthinkable and un-American. When we was first married and I wanted to go to town on Saturday I had to claim I was going to the courthouse to get some farm papers signed, or the cultivator needed a new point. I recall that once I even forged a jury summons to get to town on Saturday. But a couple years came along and us men folks got bolder and finally got it down to where if we want to go to town on Saturday we just put on our other shirt and tell the old lady we'll be back in time for church Sunday morning.

Now, is Congress, a outfit I figured we could depend on to stand back of things, a sort of last refuge agin change and un-American ideas, is going to start working on Saturdays, then things is getting in bad shape back here at home.

We got three kinds of Congressmen in Washington, the good ones, the bad ones, and those that is too lazy to show a marked trend in either direction. Up to now the good ones and the bad ones has been wassling it out to a tie. If them lazy ones pitch in and start working on Saturdays, things is going to the dogs for certain. A heap of folks might say that it ain't going to hurt nothing if them Congressmen do a little work once in a while on Saturday. If you give some fellers a inch they'll take a foot, but you give a Congressman a inch and he'll take the shirt off'n your back and pass a law 'putting you in jail for going naked.

I would appreciate it no end Mister Editor, if you'd write our Congressman and nip this Saturday business in the bud.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

LAWN MOWER SAFETY—This is the time of year that we read about so many injuries from power mowers. So take the advice of this beauty and observe these rules:

- 1. Never start mowing your lawn without first picking up all rocks, sticks, wire or anything that may be hurled through the air by the mower blades.
2. Don't push your mower up a steep hill. If you slip and fall it may roll back on you.
3. Don't pull it up a slippery hill. If you slip, your feet may slide under the housing and into the blades.
4. Don't let children run alongside or in front of your mower.

5. Put your cigarette out before you fill the mower's gas tank.
6. Shut your mower off when you leave it.
7. Have your mower checked every year by a mechanic.

"Intermediate - term loans are most frequently needed for machinery and equipment, livestock, soil improvements, additional land, and refinancing short term notes. Over one-half of all real estate credit is used to finance these intermediate - type capital expenses.

"As a further effort to help farmers improve their operations, about one-third of all other bank agricultural loans have a repayment program longer than one year. Banks serve farmers with far more intermediate-term credit than any other group of lenders."

Mr. Bahnsen believes that "farmers and bankers working together in this way help make North Carolina agriculture more prosperous."

Mr. Bahnsen reported that over 94 per cent of the insured commercial banks in North Carolina are serving agriculture's credit needs.

ASC News

ACF, Program Approvals for Fall practices under the ACP program have been mailed to farmers that requested assistance during the sign-up period. Farmers receiving approvals may come by the ASC office and pick up their purchase orders. A limited amount of funds was withheld for farmers who have not received assistance this year. Any farmer wishing to carry out a conservation practice should come by the ASC Office and put in a request.

ASC's Conservation Programs Now Being Formulated. A meeting will be held next week at which the ASC State Committee and other Agricultural leaders will review next year's conservation reserve program and formulate the State ACP for 1959. S. O. Ratcliff, Jr., ASC chairman, announced that persons attending this meeting will include the State Conservationist and the Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service officials, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration as well as the entire State ASC Committee, including the State Director of Extension, who is a member of that committee. According to Ratcliff, these agency heads will select agricultural conservation practices that will be included in next year's six and a half million dollar A.C. Program, and they will also review operations of the 1958 Conservation Reserve Program. The Conservation Reserve Program of the Soil Band is the only part of that program which will be in operation next year. The acreage reserve phase having been discontinued.

According to Ratcliff the six and a half million dollars that has been allocated for next year for the Agricultural Conservation Program will be used to provide "cost-share assistance" to farmers who carry out needed conservation practices in this state. He explained further that this "cost share assistance" is matched at least equally by the farmer's money as his share of the cost of carrying out long range conservation work that will benefit "not just the farmer" but all people. In addition to furnishing his share of the cost the farmer furnishes all labor involved in carrying out needed conservation practices.

The ACP operates a "concurrent" program in this state, for that reason farmers will now be able to sign up to take part in this year's or next year's program in any county in the state. Ratcliff urged farmers who have a conservation need which cannot be met with their own resources to visit their AEC county office to look into the possibility of participating in next year's ACP or the program that is in operation at this time.

Banks Largest Lenders To Tar Heel Farmers

North Carolina banks were serving farmers with more credit than any other institutional group of lenders on Jan. 1 of this year, according to Charles F. Bahnsen, Vice President, Durham Bank and Trust Co., who represents the North Carolina Bankers Association as Davie County Key Banker. During 1957, the state's banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 17th annual farming summary of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Bahnsen reported that "at the beginning of the year, North Carolina bankers were helping farmers with $69,070,000 in loans. This total included $33,911,000 in production loans and $35,159,000 in agricultural mortgages. On the same date, $32,168,000 in agricultural loans were held by insurance companies; $35,217,000 by Federal Land Banks; $23,216,000 by Production Credit Associations and $9,904,000 in nonreal estate loans plus $21,305,000 in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. It can be seen from these figures that more than one-half of the production credit used by North Carolina farmers came from banks."

Mr. Bahnsen said that "more and more, the banks in North Carolina find that farmers need the rapid increase in capital a new type of credit to help requirements. To meet this changing need, an increasing amount of agricultural credit from North Carolina banks is on an intermediate-term repayment basis.

Suggestions For Fall Forage Crops

1. Good silage is one of our best insurance policies in a livestock feeding program. (Don't let good feed go to waste because we're having a little better growing season this year.)

2. If summer grazing crops or hay crops are not needed for grazing or hay is hard to cure put them in the silo.

(1) Milletta, Sudangrass, or Sorghum - cut when heads are in soft dough stage.

(2) Soybeans - cut when seeds are forming or until pods turn yellow.

(3) Lespedeza - cut when seeds start forming.

(4) Alfalfa - Cut at 1/10 to 1/4 bloom.

3. Corn is usually put in at the soft dough to early dent stage.

(1) If drought hits and corn starts burning, cut it. (May need to add water if moisture content is low).

2. If silo is full when corn is ripe, we can always use the grain.

4. Preservatives - (1) Over 70 per cent moisture (unwilted) - BE SURE to use preservative, preferably one which absorbs moisture (125 to 150 lbs. of corn and cob meals, plus 150 lbs. of chopped straw per ton).

(2) 65-70 per cent moisture - preservative not necessary, may be good policy to use 125 to 150 lbs. of corn and cob meal per ton of 8 lbs. sodium metasilicate.

(3) Under 65 per cent moisture - use water to bring to proper moisture level or 80 lbs. molasses per ton.

5. Packing and covering - (1) Air has to be excluded! Pack thoroughly, especially horizontal bays.

(2) Air and moisture should be kept out. Plastic covers have not a good job. May use tarpaper, sawdust, shavings, lime, rough pasture or weed clippings.

6. For full forage crops varieties, test, seeding dates, fertilization and inoculation are most important.

7. Varieties and Rates - (1) Ladino clover - Certified West Coast Ladino clover, 2-4 lbs. per acre. Pure stand for hogs, otherwise with orchard grass or alfalfa.

(2) Orchardgrass - Certified Potomac or Virginia grown, 10-12 lbs. per acre.

(3) Tall Fescue - Certified Ky. or Alta, 8-10 lbs. per acre with lime, 15-20 lbs. in pure stand.

(4) Alfalfa - Certified Atlanta, Williamsburg, or Oklahoma approved seeds at 20-25 lbs. per acre. Buffalo on wilt infested silos.

(5) Crimson clover - Common Dixie reseeding with small grain, 15 lbs. per acre.

(6) Small grain - Mixture (for grazing and silage or hay) of 1

Rock Springs

The Rev. Paul Moore filled his regular appointment Sunday at 11 a.m. at Rock Springs Baptist Church.

Miss Bessie Platt, Mrs. Peggy Dunn and son and Mrs. Nan McBride of Farmington were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Smith.

Mrs. Norman Joyner and children of Kannapolis visited Mrs. Dewey Joyner Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Meachum and family have returned home after a vacation in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and daughter, Debbie, were Sunday bushel Abruzzi rye, 1 bu. Arlington oats and 1 bu. Colonial barley. (If one is left out, use more of others).

2. Seeding Dates - Get seed sown as early as possible. (1) Ladino - grass: August 25 (first); Sept. 1 (best); Oct. 15 (last).

(2) Alfalfa: Same as for Ladino grass.

(3) Crimson clover - small grain: Same as for Ladino-grass.

c. Liming and Fertilization - Use Soil Test! (1) Legume and Legume grass (a) Usually 1-3 tons of lime is needed - should be mixed thoroughly with top 4 to 6" of soil.

(b) 800 to 1000 lbs. of 2-12-12 (use 20-35 lbs. of borax on alfalfa).

(c) On newly cleared or lightly fertilized soils use an additional 500 to 1000 lbs. of superphosphate before seeding.

(2) Pure Grass Topdress pure stands of tall fescue with 50 to 75 lbs. of nitrogen in late August or early September.

(3) Crimson clover - Small grain Use 400 lbs. 10-10-10 plus 30 lb. 50 lbs. nitrogen after stand is established.

d. Inoculation - Be sure to use proper inoculation that is still good (date of effectiveness hasn't run out).

(1) After legumes come up, check often for nodulation and yellowing.

(2) If inoculation fails to catch, re-inoculate on a cloudy or misty day.

4. Annual lespedeza makes excellent hay if cut on time.

a. Cut when plant is 8-12 inches high, leaves begin to shed, or blooms appear, whichever occurs first.

b. If your lespedeza comes too early (during tobacco season), try Cimox - it matures one to two weeks later than Korean and is resistant to Tar Spot, a disease that seriously cuts hay and seed yields.

5. Stunted alfalfa growth should be removed.

a. Drought insects, or disease may stunt alfalfa - If it starts blooming at short stage or doesn't grow for a reasonable length of time for growing a hay crop, remove the old growth and allow fresh growth to come.

b. Keep an eye on the insects and disease situation. Preventor is usually cheaper than the cure!

6. Potomac orchardgrass looks good. This variety has performed enough better to warrant special effort in getting seed this year

Davie Farm Census

The results of the January, 1958, farm census for Davie County shows 159,354 acres of land in farms, of which 22,888 acres were used to harvest crops in 1957. This was seven per cent less than the 36,263 acres used the previous crop year.

While cuts were indicated in the crops of cotton, tobacco, and wheat under the Acreage Control Program, other crops such as corn, oats, mixed grains, milo, lespedeza seed and hay also reflected acreage cuts.

Most of the hay crops and vegetable gardens for home use showed increased acreages over the previous year.

A larger number of sows kept for breeding and dairy cows was reported than a year earlier, but beef cows, also hens and pullets, were smaller.

Electric ranges used in farm homes number 992.

There were 206 combines in usable condition reported on farm tracts as of Jan. 1, 1958.

The farm population of 7,666 people was about the same as a year ago. There were 1,793 people living on farm tracts who worked one-hundred days or more on non-farm jobs during 1957.

The above is a compilation of information contributed by farmers to the county commissioners through their Farm Census Supervisors and Township Listers during January.

Teamwork Between Farmer and Dealer

Current efforts of unions to organize dairy farmers in opposition to the traditional milk producers' cooperatives may be creating an impression of widespread conflict between dairymen and those who process and distribute this basic commodity.

Since maintenance of an uninterrupted supply of milk is essential to every community in the nation, it is important to know the facts. To find out the true attitude of dairy farmers towards those who dispose of six billions dollars worth of their product, National Analysts of Philadelphia have recently completed a nationwide survey.

Six out of ten farmers, they report, consider their relationship with the milk dealer "very satisfactory." A little over a third termed it "all right." Only two and a half per cent expressed any unhappiness.

Further, it signifies harmony that dairy farmers and milk dealers contribute jointly to the support of the research and educational work of the National Dairy Council. At the national level, the Milk Industry Foundation (representing 1,800 processing and distributing companies) works closely with the American Dairy Association (representing the farmers) for the greater glory of our four footed friends on whose bounty our nourishment so impressively depends. The same cooperation exists at the state level.

Today, of course, there is little chance for a dealer and a farmer to get into a hassle over the price of milk at the farm, for, in respect to over 90 per cent of the nation's fluid milk supply, it is established by state or Federal price controls or by negotiation between the dairy farmers' cooperatives and the milk dealers of a particular area.

However, the milk producer still cherishes an exaggerated idea of how well the other half of the team is doing. The most recent survey shows that the average farmer believes the milk dealer makes a profit of five cents a quart, and thinks that three cents a quart would be about right. The fact is, the dealer's profit is about a half-a-cent a quart.

On the other hand, nobody works harder for the dairy farmer than the milk dealer. To increase his own income he must sell more milk, and therefore must buy more from the farmer. The dealer has done very well for his partner on the farm by increasing, during the past 15 years, the percentage of milk sold for fluid use from about 38 per cent to 47 per cent of the total.

The survey shows that the farmer is realizing more and more the advantage of team-work provided to him by the dealer.

Questions Visitors Are Likely To Ask

These are 25 questions which travelers are likely to ask about the area they are visiting. Answers to these questions are particularly important during August, which is being observed as "See North Carolina" month under sponsorship of the Travel Council of North Carolina.

The Travel Council suggests that local residents can improve their public relations and persuade their visitors to stay longer by incorporating sales punch into friendly answers to these questions:

1. How did your town get its name?
2. What is the population of your town?
3. Where is the Chamber of Commerce located?
4. Where is your post office?
5. Are there colleges in your area? Where located?
6. Where is the library? Museum? Art Gallery? (b) What historical points are to be seen here?
7. Where is an attractive place for a picnic?
8. What is the altitude in your area?
9. Can I go fishing and swimming here? Where?
10. We can only stay here a day or so; what do you recommend we try to see and do? (a) What are special events, attractions and activities.
11. Do you have any service clubs in your area? Which ones?

12. Are there any detours or road hazards on the highway leaving here?
13. What flowers can I get some pictures of now?
14. Where can we go to play golf while we're here?
15. Where will I find Tourist Information?
16. Are there any parks or esort areas nearby? (a) What kind of accommodations are there? (b) Is it a good place for children? (c) What kind of clothes are needed?
17. What churches do you have here?
18. What industry employs the greatest number of people here?
19. Where can I get service for my automobile? (a) Emergency road service? (b) Do you have special traffic rules?
20. Where can I find a doctor? Hospital?
21. What can I buy that is typical of this community?
22. Where can I find a good hotel or motor court?
23. Where can I get some food in a good, clean restaurant?
24. Where can I buy alcoholic beverages?
25. What is the average temperature here? How much rainfall?

More than a billion dollars in gold, copper, silver, coal, lead, tin, platinum, and mercury have been taken from Alaskan soil since the region was bought from Russia in 1867. Though the boisterous gold-rush days have passed into history, the annual yield from gold still exceeds the purchase price of $7,200,000, says the National Geographic Magazine.

Thirty-six years ago a Missouri power company paid $8740 to have a smokestack built. When it had to be torn down recently, the wrecking company's charge was $13,470.

BIDDING . . . The word we get from friends in Washington is that both of the major political parties are now laying plans to request a sharp increase in the financial plum for their respective conventions in 1960.

TWO DOLLARS . . . Did you see about the lady in Chapel Hill who did her Christmas mailing early.

GOBROH . . . Jesse Helms says in the current issue of the excellent "Tarheel Banker" that Carl Goerch has been overlooked by newspapers and organizations which "select citizens for little tributes as Tar Heel of the week or month of year."

THE VISITOR . . . Dr. Ralph McDonald, whom North Carolina Democrats kicked in the teeth with the absentee ballot in 1936, visited Winston-Salem last week.

McDonald in 1936 and again in 1944 — that education in this State will suffer if we don't continue the sales tax and now include food in its take.

Dr. McDonald is now president of Bowling Green State University of Bowling Green, Ohio — largely a teachers college.

ABBY-DU-PAUSE . . . We have a copy of the Jeff Wilson record "Abby - Du - Pause," and it is real good. But it ain't as funny as Jeff is in person.

Although he is the able and efficient public relations man for the N. C. Motor Carriers Association, Wilson has real talent in this little sideline field. Wilson is a very talented fellow in every way . . . and you ought to buy the record for real entertainment.

WITH THE BAPTISTS . . . Heard all this talk about a recession? Not with the Baptists. They are building handsome churches and parsonages all over the South.

We learn via M. A. Huggins what that dark period from January to June this year meant to the Baptists:

Tithes and offerings were running one and one-half per cent over the same period in 1957.

NOTES . . . A lot of people were surprised when Wilbert Forbes decided to give up his Burial Commissioner post to go with the railroads . . . but he is leaving a good job with uncertain future to go with a good job and . . . certain future . . . as a smooth lobbyist . . . and friend-maker.

You won't be able to get any public statements on it, but trouble seems to be brewing in the N. C. Wildlife Commission and still . . . in the Alcoholic Beverage Control setup.

Those lobbyists preparing for the 1959 Legislature are skipping over the House in advance plans as "entirely too uncertain to mess with" . . . but are concentrating on the State Senate . . . and may live to regret this decision . . . as it is still a two-house legislative body we have here.

A small group of legislators coming here in 1959 are contacting each other in efforts to come up with a tobacco tax, etc. . . . and aren't we right in saying that North Carolina is the only state of the 49 that does not have a tax on cigarettes, snuff, etc.???

Very little was said about it in the papers, but the State Board of Education last week approved an exhaustive study of a merit-rating system for teachers . . . and teachers hate bitterly even the thought . . . and we doubt it can ever be worked out in N. C. or elsewhere.

The promises that are hardest to obtain are usually the surest of fulfillment.

WASHINGTON — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, appeared before the Senate Rackets Committee last week.

Pledge Unkept
One year ago Mr. Hoffa promised our committee that he was going to clean out the convicts, gangsters, hoodlums, fixers and strong-arm men who were on his union payrolls, according to testimony before the committee.

When Mr. Hoffa appeared before the committee last week we were determined to get a progress report from him as to what he has accomplished since becoming the head of the union of 1,500,000 members. He has not kept his pledge. His pledged goal of the eradication from union office of criminals has not been achieved although he has been president for over six months.

By his own testimony Mr. Hoffa admits his inaction to rid the Teamsters Union, the country's most powerful union, of racketeers in high places.

Beyond Understanding
I told Mr. Hoffa during the hearing that I could understand how a man out of the kindness of his heart would give employment to an ex-convict, but it is beyond my understanding why he takes persons convicted of armed robbery and similar serious crimes out of prison and gives them positions of authority over honest men.

Criminals
The committee reviewed for Mr. Hoffa a long list of these felons who have not been removed from office in the union. Hoffa's reply was that the clean-up will occur in due time but he was unable to define what period of time he means by the phrase "due time."

Hoffa Opposes Bill
It was to prevent union and management corruption that the Senate wisely passed the Kennedy-Ives bill. Mr. Hoffa and the Teamsters are opposed to the bill.

Evidence in voluminous amounts before our committee should convince even the most skeptical that the Senate was everlastingly justified in passing the Kennedy-Ives bill to legislate against labor and management corruption in some unions and some management in this country. The Teamsters Union and some business groups oppose the bill. I submit that opposition of the business groups to the Kennedy-Ives bill is predicated on a lack of information as to the provisions of or necessity for this legislation.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

This is just a big country town. Instead of going to the top of the nearest hill or mountain, New Yorkers ascend the Empire State Building and gawk at their own city. They are not alone, I found on a recent visit there myself. Out of towners flock to this most popular sight which 16 million have already seen from the vast building in which 16 thousand work daily. Then, it's something to be 1500 feet up in the air on a hot day too. It makes one feel cooler whether he is or not. In the clear daytime, a person can see for 50 miles from the 102nd floor terrace, and at night the great city far below is lighted up like a huge Christmas tree. All seven New York City television stations have their antennae atop the building now. The only Wonder of the World built in this century, the Empire State Building is open for visitors 365 days a year from 9:30 a.m. until midnight.

Walking through Grand Central Station, I noticed a crowd near the oyster bar restaurant and went over to see what the local folks were staring at this time. It was Sophia Loren, the movie star, having a bite or sip with Tab Hunter and a flock of directors, etc. just inside the cafe. In the station nearby a cluster of cameras, lights and such things awaited the finishing of the snack. They were making a movie to be called "That Kind of Woman." I learned. Next to me, two fellows commented on what kind Sophia was. "She's prettier than most girls here," said one. "Huh," the other muttered. "I've seen better looking ones on the streets of Indianapolis."

They're telling a story here which could apply to our present commitments in the Middle East. A merchant was sending his son forth into the world. He told the boy there were two precepts he wanted him to keep in mind. First: "Always keep your word once you have given it." Then there was a pause. "Yes, what else, father, the son asked. "Never give it," the father concluded.

At Bellevue Hospital here — which always reminds me that this is where Stephen Foster died — 783 persons work for nothing. They work both days and night, and are mostly women aged from 18 to 83. Some of them are interpreters of nearly every language, while others work in therapy, nursing, as clerical and ward assistants, librarians and there is even one beautician. These are the volunteer workers and they are paid only in gratitude and good results. They deserve our thanks too.

Lewis Saphar, business methods consultant here, says business is good and he needs no new accounts. The optimistic expert says he learned his lesson from the great depression of the 1930's when being in bad shape like nearly everyone else, he asked himself, "Where is the money?" The answer, he found, was the banks. So he went into banking, talked to many bankers, found out their problems and set himself up to help them. Now, Saphar says, they call him for all kinds of advice in their various activities, and pay him well for it. "You see," he concluded with a smile, "you make money for a man and he's your friend."

Gotham Gatherings: the expression "I feel like a 2-cent stamp" now has more meaning than ever . . . sign on a truck from Glenn Allen, Va. "Have wife, must travel" . . . Item in the New York Public Library states that George Washington was the father of his country, yet had no natural children himself . . . looked all the way down crowded 47th Street to Times Square and did not see a man with a hat on . . . Mel Allen who came here from Alabama became a leading sportscaster in spite of his Southern accent . . . in a local restaurant, waiters seriously tell customers, "You can eat all you want for $500."

TEXT: "Manners are the happy ways of doing things." — Emerson.

A school superintendent was paying a hurried visit to a slightly over-crowded school room. "Are there any abnormal children in your classroom?" he asked the harassed-appearing teacher.

"Yes," she replied, wearily, "two of them have good manners. Why should it be abnormal to display good manners. Good manners are not only the "happy ways of doing things," but they are markers of man's composure and competence. E. S. Martin said, "Self respect is at the bottom of all good manners. They are the expression of discipline, of goodwill, of respect for other people's rights and comforts and feelings." It would appear that good manners are worth achieving, rather than something to neglect or ridicule.

Perhaps many of us scoff at or neglect good manners because we are too selfish to cultivate them. "Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices," Emerson wrote, which may explain why so few of us attain good manners. Sacrifices, respect for others and self discipline are most difficult attainments. An achievement that depends on them is easier to laugh at than it is to accomplish. Civilized man's most repeated and useful talent is good manners. Copyright 1958 Fred Dodge

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN
WASHINGTON — In the short time I have been in the Senate, I have been deeply impressed with the interest that has been shown in proposed legislation known as the "Self-Employed Individuals' Retirement Act of 1958."

This legislation, H. R. 10, also is frequently referred to as the "Jenkins-Keogh Bill."

Over a period of years there have been many efforts made in Congress to allow self-employed people to set aside so much of their income for retirement and deduct from their income tax the amount that is set aside.

Only in the past few weeks have there been really encouraging developments concerning the legislation that indicate such a law may be enacted this year. The House has passed H. R. 10 and it is now before the Senate Finance Committee, and prospects for the Committee to act on it in the near future appear very good at this time.

Under the measure passed by the House, self-employed people would be allowed to deduct, in computing their adjusted gross income, money paid as premiums on a restricted retirement policy or as a deposit in a restricted retirement trust fund. The deductions in general would be limited to 10 per cent of the individuals' net earnings. Individual deductions under the bill would be limited to $2,500 a year in most cases with a lifetime limit of $50,000.

The bill covers those people who are subject to the tax on self-employment income (for social security purposes). It also would cover certain categories of people, such as doctors and ministers, who are ordinarily exempt from the self-employment tax.

This is a most significant section of the bill, and its provisions mean that almost all self-employed people, including farmers and business people, could take advantage of the measure as well as lawyers, doctors and other professional people.

It seems to me that this type of legislation is long overdue, because many thousands of self-employed people now find it difficult to set aside funds to depend upon for income after they retire through choice or necessity. I have watched the progress of the bill very closely in recent weeks and I am hopeful that it can be enacted into law before Congress adjourns. It in no way "gives" anyone anything, but merely corrects inequities that now exist in the law.

Mocksville Little Leaguers Win Yadkin Valley Championship

Locals Beat Woodleaf 15 to 4 With Big Inning

Mocksville Little Leaguers exploded for 11 runs in the bottom half of the fourth inning Monday night to defeat Woodleaf and win the championship of the Yadkin Valley Little League. The final score was 15 to 4 for Coach Edward Short's boys who ended the season with a record of nine wins and one loss.

Mocksville and Woodleaf entered the final game with identical 1 records. Mocksville lost their opening game to Woodleaf, while Woodleaf dropped a game during the season to Morlan Park.

Little Tommy Spillman delivered the big blows Monday night coming through with vital blows with men on base. Tommy hit a single in the third to plate two runs and in the big fourth hit a home run with two men on base to send Mocksville out in front, and coming to bat again with the bases loaded, hit a triple over the left fielder's head.

However, the entire Mocksville team hit the ball well Monday night and in the big fourth inning sent 15 men to bat.

Gary McDaniel went all the way on the mound for the locals and was never in trouble after the first inning.

Woodleaf scored three runs in the first on two walks, three hits and an error to take the lead.

Mocksville came back and scored three in the third when Kenny Boger and Jimmy Short walked and David Walker and Tommy Spillman came through with hits.

That was all the scoring until the bottom half of the fourth. Jimmy Boger led off with a walk; Kenny Short singled sharply over second; Hayes went out. Tommy Spillman hit a homerun to put the locals ahead six to three but the scoring wasn't over.

Robbie Lanier tripled and Donnie Jones and Gary McDaniel followed with hits to increase the score. Clay Eaton walked. Butch Cranfill went out but Kenny Boger followed with a hit. Jimmy Short walked. Hayes was safe on a fielder's choice to load the bases. Tommy Spillman tripled over the left fielder's head to score three more runs and later scored himself on a passed ball. Lanier went out to end the inning.

Both teams added runs in the following inning but the game had been settled in the fourth.

Wednesday evening all the teams in the Yadkin Valley Little League were honored at a swimming party and watermelon feast at the Cooleemee Recreation Center.

Rain Cuts Down Receipts For The 78th Annual Masonic Picnic

Gate Receipts Run $465 Short Of 1957

Rain cut down attendance at the 78th annual Masonic Picnic held last week at Clement Grove. With the exception of Monday night, rain fell each night during the week and also on picnic day.

Gate receipts for the five days totaled $3,242.42, which was $465.93 short of the 1957 gate of $3,708.35.

A day by day breakdown on the gate receipts, with the 1957 figures in parentheses, is as follows: Monday: $331.25 ($319.00); Tuesday: $475.65 ($518.10); Wednesday: $596.50 ($638.75); Thursday: $1,289.15 ($1,596.10); Friday: $549.87 ($650.40).

Receipts from the dinner totaled $789.55, including donations. Actually $656.05 was realized from the sale of dinner tickets.

The R. C. Lee Riding devices turned over to the Masonic Picnic $1,200.31 as their portion of the receipts. This was about $200 less than what was realized last year from the rides.

It was estimated that about 20,265 people paid their way into the picnic grounds during the five day period. On Thursday, it was estimated that around 8,500 paid their way into the grounds.

A total of 104 baskets were brought to the picnic this year, as compared to 123 for last year. There was plenty of food for everyone, but very little left over.

Complete figures from the picnic will be published just as soon as they are available.

Drizzling rain, Thursday, greeted the early-birds, mainly children, who were patronizing the rides and concessions by 9:30 a.m. The rain stopped around 11 a.m. and skies brightened about the time Carl Goerch, radio commentator and editor of "The State" magazine, began speaking.

The dinner was to begin at 1 p.m., and by 12:40 the sun was shining, making hot the shoulders of some 500 persons pressing against the fence for admittance to the picnic shed.

Under the shed, more than 180 Davie County women were unpacking baskets of food and filling long tables with fried chicken, potato salad, baked ham, sandwiches, cakes, pies, deviled eggs and homemade pickles.

Local law officials report that only three were arrested on Thursday and only three on Saturday during the big days. All were for drunkenness.

Softball Title Goes To Methodist

The Methodist defeated Firestone on Monday night to win the championship of the summer softball league. The score was 3 to 1.

The Methodist scored three runs in the bottom half of the fifth inning without a hit to clinch the game.

Cole Tomlinson led off the inning with a walk and advanced to second as R. F. Kemp was out on an infield roller to third. While Kenny Walker was drawing four balls for a walk, Tomlinson advanced to third on a wild pitch. With Kenny Howell at bat, Bill Branham uncorked another pitch that got by the catcher and Tomlinson scored with Walker moving to third. Howell then walked out and stole second. Billy Sell flied out with Walker tagging and scoring after the catch. On the relay an attempt was made to pick Howell off at third base, with the ball getting away and Howell scoring.

Firestone scored first, picking up a run in the third. Bill Vick led off with a single, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. He then scored when Ray Skidmore singled.

A threat by Firestone was nipped in the top of the fifth when, with two men on and no one out, shortstop Cole Tomlinson snagged a drive off the bat of Bob Wallace and converted it into a double play.

R. F. Kemp, on the mound for Methodist, gave up only four hits to the Firestone team. Bill Branham, the Firestone hurler, limited the Methodist team to three.

The Methodist and Firestone ended the regular season in a tie for first place. In the play-offs, the Methodist advanced by defeating Heritage in two straight games, while Firestone took Heffner's 2 games to 1. In the finals, the Firestone won the first game with the Methodist bouncing back to win the next two.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I would like to write my piece this week on the subject of jackasses and I hope you city folks will keep in mind that there is two kinds of jackasses, the animal and the feller that acts like the animal. I'm confining my remarks this week to the animal on account of the fact that as a usual thing I write about the other kind.

I see by the papers where the Horse and Mule Association of America is predicting that in another five year there won't be no mules left in the country. The trouble, this piece says, goes back to the Jackass, father of the mule. There ain't enough jackasses in the country, it says, to keep the mule family moving. In other words, Mister Editor, the jackass situation is facing a national crisis.

I remember a few year back when Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon and Senator Sherman Cooper of Kentucky called a conference in Washington on this same situation. They has had a lot of jackass conference in Washington but that was the first time they ever had the genuine article. I don't recall how the conference come out, but I see where things has got worse.

One thing that worries me about the situation is that the Democrats might have to change heir party emblem from the mule to the Fordson tractor come the election in 1960. It shore looks like the country is on the bring of disaster on account of the shorage of Jackasses. I never thought I'd live to see it.

The fellers up at the country store Saturday night was arguing about a picture one of them saw in a magazine of a pretty girl setting down in some soft clay to git her countours for making a comfortable chair. About half the fellers said it wouldn't work on account of no two people had the same rear axle measurements and that a chair that would fit a good looking gal might be torture fer a broad-axle farmer used to spreading out in a tractor seat all year.

I argued that a feller could git his rear axle measurements coded like they type blood and then the furniture manufacturers could make chairs for all types. If you was a skinny old maid with a narrow axle you could go in and call fer a chair A-2, or A-3 depending on the situation. If you was of more comfortable proportions you could call fer a chair DD-1, or someun. I'm positive they'll hit on something sooner or later, because up to now one of the greatest drawbacks to the human race is that in 2,000 year we ain't invented a comfortable chair.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

MORE ABOUT PICNIC

After flooding through opened gates, the men, women and children showed their appreciation of the food by eating, eating, and eating. Only the country ham and chess pies appeared scarce. On the other hand, their popularity may have caused them to disappear instantly. The picnickers were in a gay mood, largely from Goerch's light-hearted address, and music by the Oxford Ophanage Glee Club and Davie County High School band. "Texans are the out-braggingest people, but what have they got to brag about?" Goerch asked the crowd shortly after removing his coat "to get comfortable." "Let's take a look at the average Texan. He goes to bed at night between sheets that were made at Kannapolis. If he gets cold, he pulls up a blanket made in Elkin." The audience smiled. "The next morning he takes a shower and dries himself off with a towel made by Cannon Mills," continued Goerch. "He puts on underwear made by Hanes Knitting Co. His socks came from one of the 280 hosiery plants we have in this state," he paused. The audience laughed. "He sits down in a chair and at a table that come from High Point, Hickory, Lenoir or some other North Carolina city. And when he finishes breakfast, he lights up a cigarette made in Winston-Salem, Reidsville or Durham." "As he walks to his office he gazes appreciatively at the legs of the ladies, clad in North Carolina hosiery." They laughed loudly. "And if the legs are extra shapely," Goerch again paused. The chances are that the lady is from North Carolina, too!" Then they really roared. Clapped, too. Meanwhile, others particularly children milled around the garnery-type midway in another portion of Clement Grove as Goerch continued his "Carolina Chatter." "No one has ever topped the record of Reuben Bland of Martin County who was the father of 34 children, 19 by his first wife and 15 by his second," continued the speaker. He called attention to the fact that the town of Murphy in extreme western North Carolina is closer to six other state capitals than its own, and that there are 49 peaks in the Blue Ridge and Smokies more than 6,000 feet in height. Urging every listener to learn more about North Carolina and appreciate the state more, Goerch said, "I wouldn't take anything for my picture of the state." The speaker has written separate articles on every county in North Carolina. He was introduced by E. M. Avett of Mocksville. The afternoon was devoted mainly to cotton candy, hobby-horse and ferris wheel, hit the bottle, popcorn and midway mingling—except for an address by the Rev. Thomas A. Summay, Jr., Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina and minister of West Market Street Methodist Church, Greensboro. He was introduced by R. C. Glasscock, Mocksville Lodge Master. Presiding was George W. Martin, program chairman. R. B. Sanford, Jr., general chairman, reported a $7,000 check was sent to the orphanage last year from the picnic.

What Every Veteran Should Know

The Davie County Veterans Service Officer said this morning that the county veterans service officers within District No. 10 of the North Carolina Veterans Commission and the District Office would like to cooperate with interested organizations and individuals in securing headstones or grave markers for the unmarked graves of deceased veterans in their respective counties.

W. J. Widson said the government would furnish a grave marker or headstone free of cost, for the unmarked graves or members of the Armed Forces of the United States or the Confederate States of America who died in service or whose last discharge was honorable.

The person applying for the marker need not be related to the deceased veteran, Mr. Wilson said. However, if there are members of the family living the fact that they desire a government marker should be determined. He said a choice may be made between upright headstones of American white marble and flat markers of American white marble, light gray granite or bronze.

According to the County Service Officer, there is no deadline for application. Therefore, grave markers may be secured for veterans who have been buried many years if the proper identifying and service information is available.

Anyone interested in securing a headstone or marker for the unmarked grave of a veteran may contact Mr. Wilson at his office in Lynn Haven Nursing Home, Mocksville, or Robert F. Currence, District Officer, N. C. Veterans Commission, 202 Frye Building, Hickory, N. C.

Local Men Awarded Watches In Contest

AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors today named Denton Boger and Grady N. Ward of Mocksville among the 1,001 winners in its $102,500 "Selling Slants" contest for promotion-minded retailers of AC automotive products.

A 17 jewel Benrus "Citation" wristwatch, with a national retail value of $92.50, went to Mr. Boger and Mr. Ward.

The awards were made for the most original ideas and programs conceived and used by the winners to promote sales relating to AC products this past Spring. The contest was held from April 1 to May 31 and entries were judged by the R. H. Donnelly Co., Chicago, Ill., contest judging firm.

The national competition was open to all retail dealers of AC products, such as spark plugs, oil filters and fuel pumps, plus Guide Lamps. The retail outlets included auto dealerships, garages, and service stations.

Aim of the contest was to encourage the retailers to develop and use their own ideas and programs for selling some special Spring automotive service—for example, engine tune-ups.

Contestants entered by submitting a 50 words or less description of the sales promotional activities they had originated and initiated in their own businesses.

N. C. Chiropractors Study Physical Therapy

The North Carolina Council on Chiropractic Physical Therapy will sponsor post graduate extension classes in Physical Therapy during the months of September and October.

The classes will be held every other week-end at the O'Henry Hotel in Greensboro, and is open to doctors from North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia.

This extension work is made available to the profession through the facilities of the National College of Chiropractic of Chicago and is approved by the National Council of Chiropractic Education. Instructors for the classes will be Dr. H. C. Gustafsen of Chicago, Chief of Staff of the National Chiropractic Clinic, Dr. Joseph Janss, President of the National Chiropractic College, and Dr. Colin Haynie, former instructor in Physical Therapy at the National College.

"The purpose of these classes," states Dr. Arnold C. Sikes, of Concord, N. C., chairman of the State Council on Chiropractic Physical Therapy, "is to bring to the busy practicing chiropractor, the latest findings and developments in the field of physical therapy. Although physical measures have always been a component part of chiropractic, it has taken tremendous strides since World War II."

"We have been most fortunate," continued Dr. Sikes, "in obtaining the assistance of the National Chiropractic College, which is recognized as the foremost school of its kind in America today. Not only will the entire field of hydrotherapy, electro-therapy, mechanical-therapy, radiant therapy and traction therapy be covered, but new techniques developed in the National Clinic utilizing ultrasonic and traction in the correction of slipped spinal discs will be taught."

Education Is Offered Through Enlistment

Educational opportunities available to Army personnel are great and, in most cases, are applicable to civilian occupations of many types.

Pointing to education in the Army, Sgt. Miller, the U. S. Army Recruiter in Mocksville, said today that because the Army operates the largest of the military services, the demand for trained personnel is, therefore, quite large.

Sgt. Miller said that in order for the Army to maintain an adequate supply of such personnel, many service schools are operated.

These schools, along with other agencies, provide training in the 30 major Army career fields, including approximately 500 kinds of specialized work.

Along with educational opportunities in service schools, the Army offers the services of the U. S. Armed Forces Institute and, under certain conditions, the chance to attend civilian colleges and universities.

Sgt. Miller said that the Army urges young men and women to complete their high school and college work if possible to do so. "This will enable them to serve themselves and their country to much better advantage," he emphasized.

For complete information on education in the Army, Sgt. Miller can be contacted at the Courthouse, Mocksville.

The 78th Masonic Picnic

The 78th annual Masonic Picnic is now part of history. It was held last Thursday at Clement Grove under not the best of weather conditions.

Threatening skies, which interrupted with intermittent showers, served to cut down the attendance. The same weather conditions on Tuesday and Wednesday nights also caused the gate receipts to fall below the same nights of last year. However, the weather conditions Monday night were ideal and the gate receipts for this night went ahead of that for the first night last year.

Drizzling skies early Thursday morning appeared to be a threat to the entire day's program. It was not until almost 10:30 a.m., the time for the program to start, did many arrive at the grounds. By this time the drizzle had ceased but the sky remained overcast.

The weather also entered as a threat to the program. Carl Goerch, the speaker from Raleigh, flies his own plane and the plan was to fly to the Salisbury airport. The weather caused some doubts as to whether or not this would be possible with the murky overcast skies. However, Mr. Goerch made it and landed at Salisbury just before 11 a.m.

By the time the dinner was spread under the arbor the sun was shining. The weather continued fair all afternoon, but lapsed back into a drizzle shortly after 6 p.m. This drizzle continued on into the evening, but did little to dampen the spirits of the crowd that attended the night session.

At the time this is being written, the receipts from the 78th annual Masonic Picnic are not known. However, by the time this newspaper goes to press we hope we will have these figures elsewhere in this issue.

It is probable that financially the 78th Masonic Picnic will fall behind that of last year. However, it is to be considered a success from every angle: There was plenty of fun, food and fellowship for all those attending. The receipts from the event can be pointed to with pride because they reflect effort on the part of the Masons and interest on the part of the people.

Local Lung Cancer Figures Given

How serious a problem is lung cancer in Davie County? How many local residents die annually because of it? How does the local rate compare with that in other sections?

New facts and figures, throwing some light on the subject, have just been issued by the U. S. Public Health Service. The report comes closely on the heels of the agency's announcement that a study of 200,000 veterans indicates that the death rate for smokers is 3 per cent higher than for non-smokers.

Among residents of Davie County, according to the new vital statistics breakdown, the number of deaths from cancer and other malignant growths came to 16 in the year ending January, 1957.

Of this total, the number attributed to lung cancer was 1, or 6.2 per cent.

Throughout the country, 13.0 per cent of all cancer mortality was due to lung cancer. In the State of North Carolina the ratio was 11.2 per cent.

Once again, a controversy rages over the reported link between cigarette smoking and cancer.

The PHS declares the study "adds further to the growing weight of evidence that there is a high degree of statistical association between lung cancer and heavy and prolonged cigarette smoking."

It adds, however: "It is obvious that heavy smoking is not the sole cause. Lung cancer also occurs among those who do not smoke . . ."

The cigarette industry vehemently challenges such findings. It takes the position that there is no conclusive evidence of a clinical nature to support the claims that smoking is a health menace.

In Davie County, the PHS report shows, the number of deaths due to cancer in all its forms was lower, in proportion to population, than in most parts of the United States during the year.

The rate, among local residents, was 100 such deaths per 100,000 population, as compared with 147 per 100,000 for the nation. It was higher, however, than the State of North Carolina rate, 91 per 100,000.

Hay Fever Relief?

It's hay fever time. For many reasons, hay fever is one of the most highly publicized of all physical distresses.

Reasons are that it comes annually on almost the same day; it mysteriously strikes only one person in 25; because of the violent sneezing that accompanies the attack, it has been considered fair game for the humorists.

However, it isn't a laughing matter. Ever since the first account of hay fever was written by John Boslock, an English physician describing his own symptoms in the early part of the 19th century, science has been busy trying to find ways to combat the ailment.

If you have hay fever and haven't had medical treatment, there are only two things you can do: Either take a trip to a pollen-free section of the country, or get into an air-conditioned room.

One of the greatest boons to the hay fever and asthma sufferers has been contributed by the electronic scientists in the form of room air-conditioners that can be installed in the home.

Many hay fever and asthma patients have found the first relief in the history of their ailment through the modern wonder of air-conditioning.

There are numerous types of air-conditioners on the market that will filter pollen and cool the room.

But the newest item in this line is an electrostatic device that weighs only 15 pounds. It does not have a freezer unit, but it removes 95 per cent of all pollen, dust and smoke particles from rooms.

According to M. F. Belsber, president of the Coolerator Division of McGraw-Edison Company, the new air purifier through its electrostatic operation will pluck from the air particles as tiny as a micron (1/25,000 of an inch or less). It is a low-cost unit, that can be set in a window to filter incoming air, or be placed anywhere in the room to clean and recirculate air.

Hay fever sufferers have found that an air-conditioned and filtered room enables them to sleep comfortably at night when previously this was the worst period for suffering.

Since most persons cannot leave their jobs for four or five weeks—the severest part of the pollen season—ohme air-conditioners, office air-conditioners, auto-air conditioners or train air conditioners, have all combined to bring new comfort to the patient and enable him to spend almost 24 hours a day in filtered air.

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — For the first time in the history of the United States, Congress has approved an ambitious program of financial assistance to education.

There has been a great deal of controversy about such a program for quite a number of years because education traditionally has been financed and operated privately at the local level. There is no doubt that the program is an almost direct result of Russia forging ahead of the United States in the race for outer space last fall with the successful launching of satellites.

I supported and voted for the legislation which authorizes action by the Federal government in stepping up educational activity in the fields of science, mathematics and languages.

I did so because I feel very deeply that the threat world communism now presents for freedom and democracy goes far beyond intercontinental missiles and H-bombs. The threat of communism in the fields of economics and education is just as great as in military might.

It is well and good for us to be proud of our educational system in the United States. There is no doubt about it, we have performed miracles.

But we have to take the bitter with the sweet. While we have the modern school buildings, the very best physical facilities that men and machines can make, we have been lagging behind in the sciences, mathematics, and the languages.

For many school children, math and science and the languages are the tough courses. These are the precision courses that demand study and hard work if they are mastered.

Too often, I feel that all of us have been guilty in letting our school children get by, so to speak, without sufficient training and knowledge in these fields. Too often, we have taken the easy way out. A pronounced deficiency in the number of scientists and engineers has been the result.

I would have never supported the bill if there had been any provisions in it permitting Federal control. The bill, as approved by the Senate, especially says that there will in no way be any Federal control over the local school authorities in administering the program.

Instead of having a direct line from Washington to the local level, the program specifies that all Federal funds under the program shall be turned over to the individual states for expenditure or transfer to the individuals. It is a program that offers specific and effective incentives for more high school graduates to enter scientific fields and do graduate and special work in these fields.

Because of the nature of the program approved by Congress, I sincerely feel it will bring about tremendously favorable reaction. By offering fellowships, grants, and loans for the purpose of providing more teachers and interest among students in the sciences, mathematics, and the languages a new surge of activity in these fields of education will certainly take place.

This will be accomplished, I believe, with a minimum of expenditures and without Federal interference in local school affairs.

I feel strongly that the approach in the program is a sound approach that affords an economical way to meet a subtle but fast growing and grave problem for education.

TEXT: "Some would rather be worst if they can't be best." — William Morris.

A social climber was gushing over her family background. "You know," she strutted proudly, "I can trace my ancestors back to—well, I don't exactly remember who, but we have been descending for years!"

Pride is a dangerous goad. With and because of it, man has accomplished much. With and because of pride, crimes of great violence have taken place. Many youths as well as adults turn to crime because they cannot distinguish themselves otherwise. They do not have the endurance to achieve distinction through patient endeavor. Because pride will not permit them to accept a position less than sensational, they turn to crime.

Others have pride that will not let them stoop to mean or ugly acts. They proudly respect themselves, their families, their vocations, their communities.

Pride, itself, is not a fault. We cannot blame it for error, though error results from it. We cannot credit it for success, though success is reached through it. Many as always, is the deciding factor. What he loses with his pride determines whether good or bad results.

Be proud. But don't take pride in "descending." Anyone can do that. Pride with patient endurance will bring distinction with contentment.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

George Washington was interesting to talk to. I refer not to the original, but to his 4th grand nephew who bears the same name and lives at Wynnewood, Pa. He was just here for the opening of Washington Square Village, a modern apartment project that is rising on the site where the Father of his Country, is said to have once drilled his troops. This George, a neat, smallish man with gray hair and a crew cut, is pleasant and not overly proud. Since the original George did not have any natural children of his own, this one is descended from the brother of our First President, he said. Asked how it felt to have such a famous name, George replied that it is all right except on Feb. 22 when he invariably gets phone calls asking him how Martha is, did he really cut down the cherry tree, etc. This would not be sad had except some of the calls came between midnight and dawn.

Along with other Sigma Delta Chi's, I was on a committee to place a plaque in the sidewalk at Wall and Nassau Streets in honor of John Peter Zenger, a newspaper editor of some 223 years ago who struck the first big blow for freedom of the press. Oliver Gramling of the Associated Press was the genial chairman and Dudley Martin had written an excellent story of Zenger which was given out to any who was not familiar with said gentleman. We sat in the sun in front of the statue of the original George Washington who had taken his oath here as our first President, about 170 years ago, so you see we are still a young nation. It was a historic if warm spot, here in the heart of the financial district, and after the ceremonies, we repaired to Frances Tavern down the street a few blocks, where Washington once took leave of his Revolutionary officers, and where we dined in celebration of our country and its freedom of the press.

John Hutobens, well known book reviewer of the New York Herald Tribune, takes a busman's holiday. He goes away and reads books. Not just any books, either. He makes the ones he reads on this occasion come to life, meaning that they are on the Civil War Between the States and John retraces the battle fields, then reads up on the conflicts there. At a result, he is apt to wake up in the night giving a rebel yell or singing a Yankee War song, as the case may be, not to speak of figuratively grabbing his trusty musket and having at the forces attacking his motel bed. For instance, he just got back from Shiloh by way of the West Virginia mountains, Harrisonburg and Front Royal. Va. Unwarlike and likeable, John is becoming LENNON . . . Then there is Alton Lennon of Wilmington, now in Congress. He has had experience in the State Senate, in the U. S. Senate, and beat out Lummon's Ertel Carlyle for the House of Representatives two years ago. He was 52 last Sunday, Aug. 17. He is energetic, well dressed, meets people easily, and has a good head of hair. Women say he is handsome—not a bad asset.

Our firm opinion is that Alton Asa Lennon, Baptist, Wake Forest alumnus, attorney, will not run for the House in 1960. He will either run for the U. S. Senate or for Governor. Since the same people supporting Jordan so vigorously now, plumped hard for Lennon when Kerr Scott took his measure four years ago, we would say that the Wilmington stem-winder will not oppose Senator Jordan. That means he will run for Governor, with Scott forces rallying to Sanford and against Lennon — one more time.

THE GROUP . . . So, 18 months hence, we could have quite a race for Governor with the following all being mentioned prominently for the post, fighting it out: Malcolm Seawell of Lumberton, new Attorney General, former solicitor, former judge, good friend of Edwin Gill and the Governor, young and ambitious; Luther Barnhardt of Concord, Lt. Governor and experienced legislator; Terry Sanford of Fayetteville; State Treasurer Edwin Gill; and Alton Lennon of Wilmington.

CAN HE WIN? . . . We are almost of the opinion that the average person does not know, or care much, about politics—that is, Government.

A newspaper reporter in Detroit, says the current issue of Newsweek Magazine, a few days ago conducted a little survey. This Detroit Free Press newspaperman strolled about in Cadillac Square discussing campaign issues with good American citizens. Although the primary election was to be the following day throughout Michigan, the first 14 people he met did not know it.

Of these first 14, he also asked: "What do you think of the chances of this guy Bryan — William Jennings — will he win the nomination?"

A housewife said: "Yes, I think his chances are pretty fair."

A well dressed man thought a moment and replied: "I've heard a lot about him. He's got a good chance."

To make a long story short,

KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

WHO ARE THEY? . . . Within 18 months from now, we will have underway in North Carolina vigorous and ferocious campaigns for Governor, for the U. S. Senate, and for various State offices.

It isn't even likely all our State officials up for election will have opposition, but odds are most of them will.

And, as for Governor, we should have a lot of fun . . . and there may be some excitement for the U. S. Senate seat now held by B. Everett Jordan of Saxapahaw.

Nevertheless, as of today, nobody knows who has the inside track for that big rambling residence occupying one full block on North Blount Street.

Four years ago right along now when the Pearsall Plan was on everybody's lips, folks were saying Tom Pearsall of Rocky Mount might be a shoo-in for Governor. We heard on good authority a few days ago that he is not the slightest bit interested in the position and would not make the race under any circumstances.

Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, who served a term in the State Senate and managed the late Kerr Scott's successful campaign for the U. S. Senate in 1954, is getting around a lot, talking, visiting, shaking hands — and even doing a little preaching. Sanford looks — and certainly acts — definitely gubernatorial. He must be reckoned with in any discussion of the Governor's race in 1960.

Sanford, originally from Laurinburg, has another Scotlander on his hands: Edw. Gill, State Treasurer. He knows the State, knows people, has connections, and is the last real simon-pure holdover from the fine old Gardner Regime which pretty well ran politics in this State from about 1925 until 1945. Good friend of the Governor, too. Will he run? Nobody seems to know late '58 what is cooking for 1960. Odd!

seven thought William Jennings Bryan would win — but admitted they weren't sure what he was running for.

Well, if the seven — that Seven — thought Bryan would win, it was obvious they expected more from him dead than alive. The Democratic Party nominated him for President three times and three times he lost—in 1896 to McKinley; in 1900 again to McKinley; and in 1908, to William Howard Taft. He died 33 years ago this past July.

NOTES . . . The current issue of The State Magazine has 136 pages — 36 more pages than the latest issue of Saturday Evening Post. The price: $1.00 per copy and worth it . . . Although Jesse Helms in his bankers publication says State Co-publisher Carl Goerch is "not a wealthy man," Burke Davies in last Sunday's Greensboro Daily News refers to Co-publisher Bill Sharpe as "the rich Raleigh magazine publisher."

The R. Gregg Cherry Memorial Library, regarded as one of the finest law libraries in the country, was dedicated in Gastonia last week . . . It contains a $20,000 collection of books belonging to the late Gregg Cherry, who was described in the ceremony as a man of "unbounded courage and compassion."

WASHINGTON — The last few days of a Congressional session are always hectic.

Early And Late

Last week the Senate was an example of the arduous sessions in which urgent legislative matters vie for consideration. The Senate met early and remained in session until after midnight in some instances. In addition, the work of committees and other matters required several hours daily.

As the number of legislative matters increase with the complexity of our times there seems to be no practical way to complete action and adjourn in a reasonable time. Congress needs to avoid the last minute rush or substantially lessen the legislative log-jam, because I am convinced that this procedure does not provide the time for careful and full consideration of matters on which votes must be cast.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — The last few days of a Congressional session are always hectic.

At times I feel that the first step toward a more effective procedure for Congress would be to adopt the policy that my fellow-townsmen, Lum Garrison of Morganton, advised me to follow when I first went to the North Carolina General Assembly. He suggested that we pass no more laws and repeal half of those we had.

Committee System

The trend toward greater dependence upon the Federal Government for action in virtually all areas of public and private affairs results in the congestion that Congress faces. The one thing that helps most is the committee system which allows a degree of specialization. This is one facet of legislative service that many people overlook. It is at the committee level that great study and effort must be exercised in guaranteeing effective consideration of bills. I have been impressed with the quality of work done by committees for the most part.

Action Congress

Despite the emergency situations that have faced the 85th Congress, beginning with the Eisenhower Middle East Doctrine in January of 1957, requiring so much of the time, I am convinced that the record of this Congress is a good one. It has been a Congress of action, hard work and controversy.

Some people feel compelled to be a nuisance just so they can attract attention.

Read What These Piedmont Carolina Owners Have To Say About Their ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP!

"I am pleased with my heat pump. In summer, I have automatic cooling which makes for comfortable temperature the year round."

"The operation of this unit is comparatively inexpensive and the cleanliness of it saves us in redecorating and cleaning costs."

"If I were to build another home, I certainly would install a heat pump because it is the answer to economic year-round comfort."

"After 25 months' use I am happy to say it has more than met our expectations. It has been the last word in comfort and our heating costs have really been cheaper than the fuel we used before. Our cooling costs have been very reasonable."

"Last year we had an electric heat pump installed in our home. Since that time we have had comfort in our home which we never before thought could exist."

"Regardless of the weather condition any time of the year, we are completely comfortable inside our home. We would also like to comment on how clean our home stays due to the cleanliness of heat pump heat."

"It is very pleasing to see how economical it is to heat and cool with the heat pump."

"We have found maintenance of the heat pump almost nil and believe our total heating and cooling expense to be very little more than our old style of heating only."

"Of course, the cleanliness of this type unit is just out of this world."

"I have been well pleased with the performance of the heat pump unit and with the cost."

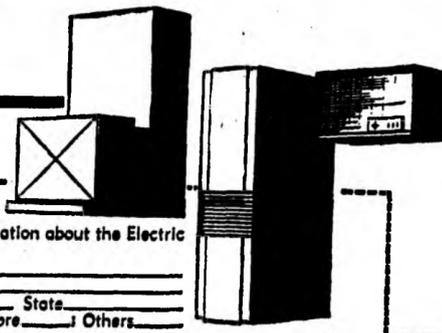

"We are well pleased with the heat pump."

"We think the cost is less than other types of heat. It is clean, and convenient to change over to cooling and the cooling has been entirely satisfactory, including costs."

"We are well pleased with the comfort, efficiency and phenomenally low cost of operating our heat pump combination heating and cooling equipment over our old conventional system."

"When we decided to build in early 1957, we began to look around for the most modern, practical and cleanest heating system we could find. We finally decided to use the electric heat pump."

"This unit has been in use for eight months. Our heat pump has been very satisfactory. We like it because it is clean, the original cost is reasonable and also the operating cost is reasonable."

ASC ELECTION PLANS ANNOUNCED

Plans are now being formulated for the election of 45 ASC community committeemen who will assist in administering the ASC farm program in Davie County during 1959. Each year an election is held in which three ASC committeemen and two alternate committeemen are elected to serve in each ASC community in the State. Three ASC county committeemen and two alternate committeemen are also elected in each county after completion of the community elections.

J. G. Crawford, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Davie County, in making this announcement of the election to-day stated that the election procedure for this year will be very much the same as in prior years. Elections will be by ballot box at designated community polling places in the county.

These elections, Crawford explained, will be conducted under the supervision of a County Election Board in every county in the state. These election boards are set up as prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture and they are made up of the County Agent, County Heads of the Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Representatives of the Farm Bureau and Grange, Farm organizations. Later on this month the county election board will convene to name a secretary and select community election boards and to designate the polling places and location of the county convention.

Crawford further brought out the fact that these ASC community committeemen serve throughout the year advising their neighboring farmers of the current provisions of their federal farm programs.

COTTON LOAN RATES ANNOUNCED

White middling 1 inch staple cotton stored in mill areas of North Carolina will carry a loan rate this year of 38.07 cents per pound. The designated mill area that carries the higher support rate includes all counties west of Granville, Wake, Harnett, Hoke, and Scotland. The rate for the same cotton in other than mill area in this state will be 35.99 cents.

These rates are based on an announcement by the Department of Agriculture that the average loan rate for 1958 crop of cotton basis 7/8 inch Middling, would be 31.23 cents per pound, gross weight. This final loan rate, according to J. G. Crawford, chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee, reflects 81 per cent of the cotton parity price of 38.55 cents per pound.

The rates for 1958 are higher than in 1957 — the difference brought about largely by an increase in the percentage of parity at which cotton will be supported this year. Cotton was supported at 78 per cent of parity last year and will be supported at 81 per cent of parity this year.

Loans will be made available to eligible farmers in this state through local lending agencies approved by CCC or at local ASC county offices. To be eligible for a loan the cotton must be placed in approved storage, either on the farm or in a commercial warehouse.

Rates on other grades and staple lengths will be available through local ASC county offices later this month.

Experience is one thing we never get at marked down prices.

Angel Falls, in southeastern Venezuela, has an unbroken drop of 2,648 feet, and a total height of 3,212 feet. The World Book Encyclopedia says that it is more than 1,000 feet higher than any other known falls.

Some people not only expect the worst—they even go out and look for it.

It's paradoxical, but when some people begin to show their age they try to hide it.

NORTH CAROLINA FACES A CHALLENGING FUTURE

The growing popular interest in North Carolina mountains is exceeded only by their increasing accessibility over good roads, improved accommodations, and spectacular attractions. From early spring until late fall this highest mountain area in the east offers an ever-changing panorama of things to do, places to go and exciting experiences to enjoy, for the whole family. Private business is meeting the developing future of this area.

And it is interesting to note that many of the most popular mountain areas have adopted the "legal control" system for the sale of beer and ale as not only being the most hospitable but the most practical method of working in the best interests of the local population and their thousands of visitors from all over the country.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where the soil conservation folks is claiming that the nation is getting so populated that "five city dwellers now are directly dependent upon the success of a sixth man on the soil." If I get the gist of this thing correct, it means the fate of five men in town depends on the success of my farm out here.

In other words, for example, I got to produce enough for me and five other men living somewhere in town. This is the first time I've heard of this, and I don't know who my five is, but just say for example that they is Elvis Presley, Frank Sinatra, and three Congressmen. What kind of justice do you call that, Mister Editor? Who started this kind of arrangement? If you'll find out for me, I'll write him a letter that'll blister the paint off his mail box. If I got to feed a parcel of you, would they be any chance of getting you out here to help keep the grass out of my fields?

It's not that farmers ain't already loaded own with taxes, high labor costs, tractors getting higher all the time, insects getting worse ever year, prices always dropping at selling time, but now somebody assigns me five other fellers to take on. I tell you, things is getting to the

Center V.F.D. Saves Barn And Tobacco

The Center Volunteer Fire Department answered its first call Saturday morning and saved an estimated $1200 in property.

The Center department extinguished a tobacco barn blaze, about one mile off Highway 64, behind Edwards Upholstery Shop around 11:15 a.m., Saturday. The barn was located on the farm of Austin Lakey, and was being tended by Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Harris. Mrs. Harris was watching the barn of tobacco at the time it caught afire.

When the barn caught afire, one of the Harris boys ran to the Edwards Upholstery Shop and called Davie Fire Control. Immediately the Center Volunteer Fire Department was notified and answered with their new truck and tanker. Covering a distance of four to four and one-half miles they were at the scene within eight minutes after the fire was discovered.

Bob Powell, president of the Center Volunteer Fire Department, said that the fire was extinguished in about three or four minutes. The building was saved and approximately two-thirds of the tobacco in the field close to the barn which would have been destroyed had the barn burned to the ground.

This is the first call to be answered by the Center Volunteer Fire Department which is still in the process of organization. They received their new truck on July 23 of this year and now have in the process of construction a fire station and alarm system.

Crippled Driver Pays Fine In Wreck

A crippled magazine salesman was given a suspended sentence, fined $50 and costs and had his driving license suspended as a result of a wreck on Highway 158 near Buck's Drive-In on Sunday night, Aug. 3.

Darrell Johnathan Sweet, crippled to the extent that his driver's license restricted him to a maximum speed of 45 miles per hour, was found guilty of reckless driving as the result of a collision that sent two Davie residents to the hospital.

Sweet, who said that his residence was in Toccoa, Ga., had North Carolina driving license. His car, a 1958 Chevrolet, was registered in Alabama. He did not have liability insurance.

He and others travelled over ten southern states selling magazines. They were on their way to Danville, Va., at the time the accident occurred.

The car driven by Sweet ran into the rear of a Volkswagen being driven by Wayne Seamon. Mr. Seamon was attempting to make a turn into the Farmington Road off of Highway 158.

As the result of the accident, Mrs. Seamon suffered two broken vertebrae and the child suffered lacerations and abrasions.

Judge Grant expressed shock that a man in the physical condition as Sweet would be licensed by the state under any circumstances and requested State Highway Patrolman William G. Wright to investigate this further.

Robert F. Sharpe Killed In Wreck

Robert F. Sharpe, 26, of Route 1, Mocksville, died of head injuries enroute to Davis Hospital in Statesville Sunday morning following a wreck around 8 a.m. on the Jennings Road, 15 miles north of Statesville near U. S. Highway 21.

Also killed was his brother in law, William H. Horton, 27, of Salisbury, Rt. 8, the driver of the car.

Investigating officers said that Carl Shoemaker told them that Horton was driving his 1951 Ford at about 100 miles per hour at the time of the accident. The patrolmen said Horton lost control of the vehicle on a curve; it left the right side of the road and travelled some 392 feet before overturning several times. Horton and Sharps had been thrown from the vehicle by the time it came to rest.

Sharpe was born Aug. 15, 1933, in Iredell County, son of Rufus and Lillie Summers Sharpe. He was employed by the Southern Screw Company in Statesville.

Surviving are the mother; the wife, Mrs. Joyce S. Sharps; three sisters, Mrs. Guy Shoemaker of Olin, Rt. 1, Miss Elizabeth Sharpe and Mrs. Frances Shoemaker of the home; and four brothers, Jack, James, John and Joe Sharpe of Olin.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock said that his investigation showed that William Paul Couch was driving the 1950 Ford at a high rate of speed and lost control on a curve. The automobile traveled 534 feet out of control and turned over twice. The car was demolished.

William Paul Couch was charged with reckless driving. Samuel Odell Couch was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, a pistol.

Benzdrined Man Not Guilty Of Operating Under Influence

A Davidson County man who admittedly was operating a truck on the state highway under the influence of benzadrine was found not guilty Tuesday morning because such a drug is not covered by the North Carolina law.

He was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drugs.

Judge A. T. Grant told the defendant that inasmuch as benzadrine was not classed as a narcotic his hands were tied. However, Judge Grant warned the defendant that "benzadrine is a dangerous drug," and that the General Assembly should put it into the same statute that covers narcotics and intoxicating liquors.

Benzadrine has an exhilarating effect upon the user. It is often used by truck drivers to keep them awake during long hauls.

The defendant, John Charles Hendricks of Lexington, operating a tractor-trailer, was arrested around 2 p.m. on July 31st by Deputy Sheriff Grimes Hancock and State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock. Deputy Hancock testified that they had received a call that the tractor-trailer was headed in the direction of Mocksville from Yadkinville and was weaving all over the road.

Mr. Hancock testified that they ran by the truck which was parked about six miles out of Mocksville, turned around and followed it in to town and that the truck was weaving all over the road.

The driver was taken into custody just inside of the city limits and on his request was taken to the office of Dr. Ralph Gambrel.

Dr. Gambrel testified Tuesday that his examination showed that Hendricks was in an "extremely nervous and agitated condition" and that he gave him a drug to enable him to go to sleep.

Testimony showed that Hendricks had been driving some 30 hours without sleep, with his trip originating in Ohio.

Shoots Into Home At Sheffield With Rifle

Walter Eugene Baugess, 22, of Mocksville was convicted Tuesday of assault with a deadly weapon and was sentenced to 18 months in prison.

Judge A. T. Grant sentenced Baugess to prison after finding him guilty of using a .22 calibre rifle to shoot up the house of his father-in-law last Thursday night, Aug. 21.

Baugess and Janie Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blum T. Beck of the Sheffield community were married earlier this summer. However, last week she left Baugess and returned to the home of her parents who live one mile beyond Sheffield on the County Line Road.

Mr. Beck testified that shortly after 9 p.m. last Thursday night, a car started driving up and down the road in front of his house. Shortly after that there was some shooting or the exploding of fire crackers along the road.

Around 12:30 a.m., shots began to hit the Beck home. Two shots went through the window and into the room in which the three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Beck were sleeping. A later investigation showed other bullets in the weatherboarding near the window and in the ceiling on the porch. It was estimated that around six or seven bullets hit the house.

Deputy Sheriff Grimes Hancock who arrested Baugess later in Wilkes County said that Baugess admitted shooting one or two times at the house. Mr. Hancock testified that Baugess told him that he "was on the outs with his wife and was trying a scare her."

Deputy Hancock also testified that Baugess told him that the gun belonged to Paul Carter of Mocksville and that Carter was driving the car at the time of the shooting.

Mr. Beck said that he also found several mailboxes and signs torn down along the road and some beer cans thrown in his yard. Baugess was fined $50 and cost earlier this month by Judge Grant on the charges of assault with a deadly weapon and destroying personal property. These charges were the result of threatening his mother with a knife and throwing kitchen utensils.

Naval Reserve Officers School To Begin At Catawba College

Albert R. Monroe Administrator Of New School

A third college will soon be added to the two already in Salisbury. It won't have an athletic team but it will have classrooms, a student body, and instructors.

Catawba College and the U. S. Navy have combined in establishing a Navy School for reserve officers in Salisbury beginning in September. Classes will be held at Catawba College Monday evenings under the direction of Lt. Albert R. Monroe, administrator of the Naval Reserve Officers School.

In addition to Lt. Monroe, as administrator of the school, the staff will consist of LCDR. J. W. Sotherly and Lt. James S. Brawley as instructors. Commander Sotherly is personnel director of Adam-Mills Co. in High Point and Lt. Brawley is on the editorial staff of the Salisbury Post. Both officer instructors have had wide experience in their fields and have the reputation of offering interesting and informative courses.

LT. ALBERT R. MONROE

A wide variety of courses will be offered any Naval reserve officer interested in affiliating with the program. Public Relations and Industrial Relations will be taught the first semester.

Officers attending the school will receive upon satisfactory completion of the course, all the promotion and retirement points necessary for a satisfactory year of federal service.

Salisbury's selection as a naval reserve center was based on the large student potential over a wide area, and the fact that an experimental school was successfully conducted last year on a trial basis. Twenty students were graduated from that school which actually was a classroom of the parent school in Winston-Salem.

Potential
Cdr. Alex M. Nading, director of the Naval Reserve Officer School for Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Salisbury, expressed high regard for the Salisbury satellite and its potential for becoming a full fledged school in the program at an early date.

Catawba College has offered its facilities to the Navy for the reserve officers school, including use of classrooms, office space and mailing address.

The school's staff will be headed by Lt. Albert R. Monroe who has been an active member of the community committee since

Local Soldier Buys Mule For Lebanon Duty

An enterprising signal battalion sergeant serving with the Army's task force in Lebanon has pulled off the first coup of the war there. He went and bought a mule and named it "Albion Annie."

SFC Bill Winters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas F. Winters of Mocksville, normally stationed at Augsburg, Germany, dipped into his own pocket to make the purchase when it turned out no army funds were authorized for such a purchase. Winters apparently figured a mule was just what the doctor ordered for that area. It would eat anything at all and perform tasks that no jet plane yet made can do.

Annie, in addition to serving as a pet, has been used for laying wire and carrying water rations up steep slopes near the bivouac area. Thus far she has neither bitten nor kicked anyone.

Furthermore, to the amazement of all concerned, Annie likes C rations and can't get enough of them.

Annie's caretaker appropriately enough is another man from the headquarters outfit, Pfc. Gene Carney of Kidder, Mo.

Winters, who is serving as a platoon sergeant with the Task Force 201 Hq., now has one big worry. He and the other men of his outfit are afraid Annie may get herself adopted as mascot of the whole airborne force. All the men there feel they need the mule for more than mascot purposes and don't want to lose her. One of them said:

"Winters paid for the mule himself. We ought to be able to keep our mule. He even got a bill of sale!"

"How do you know it was a bill of sale?" he was asked. "Come to think of it," the soldier replied, "that paper might say this here mule has been stolen!"

Winters' wife, Emma, and 13 month old son, Michael, are still living in Augsburg, Germany, awaiting his return there.

County Signup For 1959 Conservation Reserve To Open Soon

The signup in Davie County for the 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank will open Sept. 15 at the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, Chairman J. G. Crawford announced today.

The first step in the signup is for the farmer who is interested in the program to come to the county office and request that annual rental payment rates be established for his farm.

At the same time, the farmer should bring with him information to be used by the County ASC Committee in establishing rates for his farm. The chief facts needed, Chairman Crawford said, are acreages and yields of the three principal crops on the farm for the past two years and acreages for other land use on the farm.

The Conservation Reserve is the only Soil Bank program available for 1959. Under the program, farmers retire land from general crops for up to 10 years and devote the reserve acreage to land, water, or wildlife conservation practices. The Government makes an annual rental payment for the land and will also share in the cost of establishing the conservation practices.

The average rental payment rate for Conservation Reserve land in Davie County in the 1959 program is $14.50 per acre per year. Maximum payment rates will be higher for the most productive farms and lower for less productive farms. For farmers who request it, the county committees will figure two sets of maximum annual rates, Chairman Crawford said. One will apply if only part of the eligible acreage on a farm is placed in the Reserve. Another rate, 10 per cent higher, will be available if all eligible land on a farm is put in the Reserve at least five years.

After maximum rates have been determined for a farm, the farmer will have two weeks in which to decide on participation, designate land for the Reserve, and apply for a contract. Land may be offered at less than the established maximum to increase the chance of acceptance in case there are insufficient funds to cover all offers.

The signup phase of the program closes Sept. 30, 1958, and all requests for establishing farm rates must be received by that date, Chairman Crawford said.

ACP Program

Conservation is still a good buy according to J. G. Crawford, of the Davie County ASC Committee. To the farmer on the land, purchase of conservation is by far the best buy. Conservation returns dividends in many cases immediately and in all cases for years to come.

Crawford reminded Davie farmers that the 1958 Agricultural Conservation Program is still open for the signup of new participants. Through the ACP this "good buy" of conservation is made even better by the government sharing part of the cost of the conservation. The government's willingness to bear a part of the cost, Crawford explained, comes from the fact that all good conservation of agricultural resources is a long term program that benefits not just the farmers, but all people. Crawford urged farmers who have a conservation need to stop by the ASC office and discuss their needs with the ASC personnel. After this discussion farmers' needs can be met through the program could then sign up for needed conservation practices under the 1958 ACP.

Conservation is a good buy for the farmer but is also a good buy for townspeople when they, through the government, share with the farmer some of the out of pocket cost of carrying out needed practices. Townspeople have a definite stake in conservation of our agricultural resources to assure that their sons and daughters and future generations of our rapidly expanding population will be able to obtain sufficient food and raw materials from the farm.

Davie Livestock Income Exceeds Crops

Though North Carolina continues its high rank among the states with regard to gross cash income from crops, during 1957 here were 25 Tar Hee counties including Davie County, whose farmers received more gross cash income from livestock and livestock products than from crops.

But only one of the 25 counties is located east of Chapel Hill. That county is Dare, according to information released today by the WPMY-TV Research Department in Greensboro.

As reported in Sales Management's 1958

"Survey of Buying Power," there are 1,527 farms in Davie County, and the total value of farm products sold last year was $3,102,000. Of this total, $1,195,000 represents gross cash income from crops, and $1,845,000 represents gross cash income from livestock and livestock products.

Sales Management's figures for North Carolina give $819,629,000 for the total value of farm products sold, of which $630,695,000 was derived from crops, and $180,404,000 from livestock and livestock products.

Bicycling For Fitness

The "Four Horsemen" will ride again! As schools open across the nation and coaches discuss their plans and look over their raw material, the spirit of Knute Rockne, the greatest gridiron general of them all, returns—and the talk is of better, faster, stronger, harder fighting teams than ever.

This is especially true at the high school level, where coaches can direct and control their squads but a few hours a day at the best. The rest of the 24 hours, the boys are free to eat as they please, exercise or not as they wish, and put in as little sack-time as parents will permit.

Pupils of the great Rockne recall how he used the bicycle to condition his players years ago, and a great light has dawned on high school coaches everywhere. Their kids, most of them at least, have bikes, can travel!

Long ago, the revered mentor of Notre Dame said:

"Bicycling keeps my boys in wonderfully healthy and fine physical trim. There is no other form of activity that combines such splendid exercise with such exhilarating pleasure. The bicycling improves the circulation, the respiratory organs develop agreeably, the heart, kidneys and liver function gleefully." The overall result of such training he described as "a daily hardening of the muscles, broadening of the chest, ever-growing appreciation of the fact that life's worth the candle after all."

Jogging the memories of Rockne alumni no doubt has been the activity of President Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness, which, under the direction of Dr. Shane McCarthy, has stressed the body-building effect of daily bike riding. Also, of course, there is the dramatic example of Dr. Paul Dudley White, who said: "I'd like to put everybody on bicycles . . . not once in a while, but regularly, as a routine. That's a good way to prevent heart disease."

Thus many high school coaches are seizing the bicycle as his best medium for training. If the squad rides daily, it will probably be hungry enough to eat properly, and tired enough by nightfall to go to bed. And therefore be in tip-top shape.

Of course, as the article points out, it might not be too difficult for a man to get up from an unadvertised mattress, out of an unadvertised bed and perhaps even find an unadvertised shirt to put on. But he'd have a long beard before he found an unadvertised razor, and would be driven to home-made hominy if he insisted on unadvertised breakfast food.

Advertising Pays

"Funny thing," observes Bob Taylor, Editor of Washington Exclusive, in his weekly column . . . "a man will get up from an advertised mattress, out of an advertised bed, shave with an advertised razor, put on advertised hose, shirt, collar and shoes, sit at an advertised table, eat advertised breakfast foods, drink advertised coffee, read all the news and advertising in an advertised paper, put on an advertised hat and coat, light an advertised cigarette, get in an advertised car and go to town, and run down advertising on the grounds that advertising doesn't pay."

And then there was Gerhard Mennen, that immigrant boy who started peddling his talcum powder from door to door in New Jersey about the turn of the century.

An optimistic classified ad salesman for the local paper persuaded Gerhard to take a two-dollar flyer in advertising. Some time later, when he signed his first million dollar advertising contract, a reporter asked the toiletries tycoon whether he thought it paid to advertise.

"I don't know," replied Mennen, "but I'm afraid to stop."

But this is not to suggest that advertising can't miss. Advertising, like everything else, comes in two styles . . . good and bad. And bad advertising is no more help than bad eggs, bad checks or bad dispositions. Good advertising must observe the rules. It must be attractive. It must be easily read and understood. It must be convincing and must be presented to the right people at the right time.

Finally, if the product lives up to its advertising, is easily available to the would-be buyer and is priced right . . . advertising pays and pays and pays.

Tire Failure

Accidents caused by tire failure are becoming the No. 1 headache on virtually every high-speed turnpike in the country, the August Reader's Digest reports; and the hot summer months are deadliest of all.

However, the phrase "tire failure" is misleading. More often it is a case of human failure—failure to care for tires properly.

In the article, "Tired Tires Can Kill You," condensed from the National Safety Council's magazine, Traffic Safety, Paul W. Kearney lists these six safety commandments:

1. Have tires inspected periodically for uneven tread wear, rim bruises, cuts, wheel alignment, etc. A wheel half an inch out of line means the tire is being dragged sideways 87 feet in every mile—scuffing off the tread which is your skid protection.

2. So tires will wear evenly, change their position every 5000 miles. Move front wheels straight to the rear on the same sides; criss-cross rear wheels to the opposite sides in front.

3. Watch inflation. On a long trip, check tire pressure every morning while tires are cold. Under-inflation is not only dangerous; it can shorten tire life 20%.

4. If you habitually bump curbs, buy a pair of "cat's whiskered" curb feelers. It doesn't take many of these two-ton nudges to knock your front wheels out of line. If anybody in your family makes tires scream on curves and stops, throws gravel in starts, take his keys away or make him earn the price of a new set of tires.

5. With old tires on a full car, stick to the slow lane. And whether they're new or old, make those periodic stops recommended for turnpike driving.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Despite rumors, this is not the most expensive place in the country in which to live. In fact, according to a recent and reliable survey, there are 17 other U. S. cities in which the average cost per family for the same standard of living is higher than in New York. San Francisco is the most expensive place, followed by Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, Baltimore, Seattle, Boston, Detroit, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Houston, Chicago, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Portland, Ore., St. Louis, Cleveland, Ohio, and Philadelphia in that order. Not that it's cheap to live here or anywhere else nowadays, as you know. But at least the nation's biggest city does not have the citizen's highest cost.

The local postmaster, Robert Christenberry, who hails from Huntington, Tenn., is not a shy man and with all the recent changes in postal rates has been speaking his mind at some length. Not only the new stamps are a problem, he states, but also television has begun to clutter up the postal picture. So many programs invite their listeners to write in for something and so many of those who do write don't address their letters properly, that Christenberry sometimes wishes he were back in the old phonograph days in which you couldn't write in. Not long ago, for example, his postoffice received a letter addressed to "The Station to Which You Are Listening, N. Y. C."

Jim Love says that, outside his work, he virtually never sees in New York anyone that he knows. And yet his friends can come to town, he says, and seem to run right smack into folks they knew back home. For example, a crowd of visitors were here from Louisville, Ky., seeing a Broadway show. Hardly had it started than a comedian appeared and one of the Kentuckians yelled out, "Why there's Droopy Smith from back home." Droopy just grinned and waved and kept on being funny.

The late Herbert Swope was a friend of mine and a gracious gentleman. Known as one of the world's greatest reporters himself, he never forgot to express his thanks for whatever others wrote about him. Some one sent him a clipping of this column from the Amarillo, Texas, Globe - News with an item about him and he took the trouble to write and thank me for it. His notes were always typed in blue letters with his name signed in red pencil — a sort of distinguishing red, white and blue motif — but then, he was a born public relations man too. The story is told that once when Herby was working on a St. Louis paper as a young reporter, he was getting only $20 a week. After covering a big fire on night, he wrote in his story, "The conflagration was indescribable." The city editor called young Swope over and said that if he had simply called it a fire, it would not have been indescribable. "For the 20 bucks a week you're paying me," Swope retorted, "that fire is indescribable."

Finally saw the movie, "Around the World in 80 Days" and it really is sumpin. Like P. T. Barnum and Billy Rose, Mike Todd had the knack of knowing what people like in big spectacles built on a simple theme or motion or conflict. The action is universally appealing, the stars well selected, and apparently enjoy their work, and the theme song written by the late Victor Young is superb.

Two others in the show, Robert Newton, a splendid actor, and the irreplaceable Ronald Colman, have since passed away and will be missed. But it seems to me that the most distinctive part of the show is seeing oldtime actors like funny Jack Oakey pop up as a ship's captain or Buster Keaton unexpectedly strolling through a train as a conductor. This aspect strikes a warmly responsive chord in those of us who grew up on the stirring movies of these stars and others.

POOR JUDGMENT
Many a man burns his fingers in his haste to strike while the iron is hot.

WASHINGTON — Last week the Senate spent a day debating the so-called Mallory Bill, legislation having to do with the admissibility of evidence as the result of Supreme Court decisions in the McNabb and Mallory cases.

The Mallory Case
Mallory was a man sentenced to death for rape in the District of Columbia. His confession of the crime had been voluntary. On appeal to the Supreme Court he was set free, the technically being that he was not promptly arraigned by a commissioner. There was a period of approximately seven and a half hours that elapsed before he could be taken before a commissioner. The result of this case threw law enforcement officials at a severe disadvantage, upsetting the age old principle of the admissibility of voluntary confessions as evidence.

Senate Debate
During the Senate debate on the bill to correct the Supreme Court's unfortunate decision and to give society rather than criminals some protection, I pointed out that most Americans are privileged to enjoy the great blessing which the prophet Micah depicted when he said, "They shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid." Why is this so?

Americans enjoy this because of the officers of the law, many of whom make the supreme sacrifice in order that we may continue to dwell under our own vine and fig tree, protected against murderers, burglars, rapists and thefts. My experience as a lawyer, judge and as a member of the Senate's McClellan Committee inspires in me an abiding confidence in the officers of the law who are protecting society against criminals. I told the Senate that in recent years enough had been done for those who murder, rape and rob, and that it is about time for Congress to do something for those who do not wish to be murdered, or raped, or robbed.

Popular Notion
It is a popular notion nowadays that when anyone suggests any change in procedure or law, he

NEAR THE TOP . . . Business conditions throughout North Carolina during the next four months are expected to be about the best we have ever known them in this area of the South.

This is the information we get from agricultural and business experts who have made a study of the situation and are watching it develop with keen interest.

Fear of a prolonged recession—or perhaps a real old-fashioned depression — caused suppliers last winter and spring to go slow on laying in heavy stocks. Now they are laying in the goods for fall sales. This should mean that our hosiery mills, our cloth mills, our furniture factories, our synthetic fiber outlets will be humming full-time again.

Another thing. Our crops have never been better. Tobacco is beautiful and is bringing beautiful prices. The peanut crop is the only one of our big money plantings said to be not up to par. Even it is looking better than it did a month ago. Corn, cotton, and truck crops are great.

So, with what we have on our own — and what we will get in North Carolina from the Federal Government in new and enlarged service camps and from the soil band and other subsidies — this State should see real prosperity from now right on through Christmas.

We are advised that business people who wish to get in on it should already be well along in their preparations to participate. Those who are too timid, too fearful, too cautious, may be left at the gate. I is always good to be careful, but the advice we get and pass along is:

Complete your arrangements now for unusually heavy consumer purchases in clothing, cars—used cars, particularly — furniture, and some of the heavier appliances. That means to have the stuff on hand when the customer calls for it, advertise heavily what you have, and promote with real courtesy, good public relations, and a fair price.

ASSIGNMENT . . . One of our friends, the popular Charles S. Edwards of Farmville, makes the September issue of Reader's Digest (and $100) with this one: "When I finished basic training at Fort Bragg I had no idea what kind of job I'd be assigned to— for I had been a licensed funeral director and embalmer in civilian life, and at that time all such work was contracted to civilian firms."

"But the Army Classification Officer came through in fine style — I was assigned to the Fort Bragg dead-letter office!"

ILL . . . Harry Horton of Pittsboro, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Horton, has recently suffered two heart attacks and we understand is still in the hospital. His father was Lt. Gov. and ran for Governor in 1940.

Horton, a sharp young attorney, is the Democratic nominee for the House from Chatham this time.

Since he is only about 38 years of age, his friends are shocked at his illness.

Incidentally, he is a son-in-law of Carl Goerch, the husband of Doris. Another son in law of the publisher and North Carolina expert was in the 1957 Legislature. That was Edward Powe of Durham. He married Sybil.

Powe was first elected to the Legislature in 1954. He did not run this time, preferring to spend a little time building up his law practice.

THE HOME OF . . . For $2.25, if you live in Greenville, you can purchase a rubber stamp and stamp pad which says: "Greenville, Home of Miss North Carolina."

These stamps are being sold by the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Greenville people soon hope to have every piece of mail going out of there running the notice. City pride and a good idea!

NOTES . . . You good people who are sending children to college this fall might heed a word of warning the University of North Carolina sends along to parents: "Some students are handicapped by too much spending money."

and the biggest magazine bargain in the world, w'd say. September issue has 110 pages.

For a real blood and thunder thriller, cleaner and luster than the book it's taken from, don't miss "The Naked and the Dead" when it comes to your community. . . . Incidentally, an even dozen movie houses in N. C. which closed because of TV competition, have recently opened their doors again . . . for some of the fine movies now being produced. Don't miss "The Vikings" when it comes your way.

North Carolina, which had a population of 1,803,810 in 1900, had 2,550,123 in 1920, has an official 4,125,518 as of 1950, and is expected to go to about 4,600,000 in 1960 . . . The number of people 75 and over will increase by 55.7 per cent over the 1950 figure, says C. Horace Hamilton, rural sociologist at N. C. State.

One of North Carolina's most outstanding newspapers — morning and afternoon — may change hands within the next 12 months . . . plenty of gossip about it in publishing circles, but nothing definite yet . . . and meantime, another firm, Piedmont Publishing Co., Gordon Gray's firm which publishes the Winston - Salem Journal and Twin City Sentinel, has been sued by Mary Pickford Rogers and her husband, Buddy Rogers, matinee idol of the 30's

. . . and this latest is a kind of cross-complaint deal involving Piedmont's interest, etc., in WSJS, WSJS Television. Piedmont had previously sued Mary Pickford and spouse to enforce a contract of sale . . . and from here it looks like no end of litigation and attorney's fees.

60 Second Sermons

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Respect your worth if you'd be worth respecting." — Eif Thomas.

Two girls were discussing things they didn't like about an acquaintance. One of them remarked, "I can't stand her confidence in herself."

"What do you mean?" asked the other.

"Why she's so self confident that she writes her diary a week ahead of time."

Self-confidence is necessary to success and happiness. Yet if we must act as some apparently confident people do, we would rather forego success. The fact is we often mistake "brashness and vanity for self confidence. This flaunting of self is a display of weakness, not confidence.

There is a difference between confidence and vanity. The timid, unsure man who poses as being confident, always overdoes it. He cannot take criticism. He becomes stubborn. He displays false dignity. He becomes angry or hurt.

The man who is confident of his good qualities, seeks severe criticism. He discusses it calmly and quietly. He admits faults and profits by reproof. He weighs valuable advice carefully and changes his plans without embarrassment, if he feels that he is wrong.

Only strong, confident men can do that. This respect for one's worth earns respect. Whenever you meet puffed-up confidence, pass it by. It isn't worth trifling with.

What Every Veteran Should Know

W. J. Wilson, County Veterans Service Officer for Davie County, states today that veterans starting school this fall under the Korean GI Bill can avoid financial troubles by taking along enough money of their own to see them through their first two months of training.

Under the law, it takes about two months for their first GI allowance checks to reach them. Once the allowances start coming, they will cover every month of training completed, as long as veterans make sure their schools file monthly attendance certificates with the VA.

Mr. Wilson gave these reasons for the length of time required to make the initial GI allowance payments:

First, under the law, the allowances must be paid after the end of each month of training completed and not before. Therefore, a veteran could not possibly receive his money the day he enters school.

For veterans who begin training after the 20th of the month, the GI allowances usually are not paid until some time after the end of the following full month of training.

These factors account for at least one month's delay.

Second, after the close of the month, the veteran must sign a certification stating he was attending class during the month. The school sends this certification to the VA. Usually a veteran's check should go out within 20 days after the time the VA receives the certifications.

That accounts for the remainder of the two-month waiting period.

For information concerning amount of allowance and use of the allowance see your County Service Officer who is located in Lynn Haven Nursing Home, Mocksville, or Robert F. Currence, District Officer, N. C. Veterans Commission, 202 Frye Building, Hickory, N. C.

Social Security Corner

By S. W. MILLER Field Representative

Did you know that, if you make less than $2080.01 and are otherwise entitled, you can get one or more monthly checks, depending on how much you earn. I am sure that most all of you know that if you do not make over $1,200.00 you would get all your checks, but what about those of you that make over $1200? For instance, if you make $1500, you would be entitled to 8 checks and so on.

Your Social Security District Office has a pamphlet entitled "How Earnings Affect Social Security Benefit Payments." If you have any questions about this, write the local district office and ask them to send you Booklet OASD-23. They will be glad to send it to you. Your Social Security office is located at 105 Cornlier Ave., Salisbury. The telephone number is ME 3-4512.

Did you know that it may take as long as three months for a Social Security application to go through channels until an award is received? These delays are often caused by the need for the claimant to furnish us with specified pieces of evidence for such things as proof of age, marital status, and so forth.

One way you can avoid this lengthy delay is to file your application as early as possible. How early can you file? Well, the law permits you to file as early as 90 days before your birthday. This 90 days gives us time to do all necessary background work, and then, on the first day of the month that you attain retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women) the claims material is sent to a payment center. This "early" filing will insure that you get your checks as early as possible.

When you make up your mind to retire, come see us as soon afterwards as possible within this 90 day period prior to attaining retirement age.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT TO MRS. W. H. DODD

The Davie Grays Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, wishes to pay this tribute of respect to a beloved member, Mrs. Leonora Taylor Dodd, widow of the late Rev. Walter H. Dodd, who passed away on July 13th, 1958. She was born in Davie County, N. C., the daughter of Dr. A. Zachary Taylor and Charly Woodruff Taylor. She was educated in private schools in Mocksville and Wytheville, Va., and also attended the University of Virginia. For a number of years she taught in the Mocksville schools. After her marriage to Rev. Walter H. Dodd in 1919, she ably filled the responsible position of a minister's wife. She was deeply interested in the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist Church, and also taught a Sunday School class for years. She served as the efficient historian of the South Yadkin Association, and in recent years she was appointed Davie County historian. Her radiant personality and Christian ideals endeared her to all who knew her. Her many acts of kindness will long be remembered. Her gracious hospitality was often enjoyed by the Davie Grays Chapter. Our deep sympathy goes out to her family and many friends. Respectfully submitted, Committee: MISS MARY HEITMAN MRS. JAMES H. William F. Baity Serving In Italy

William F. Baity, chief teleman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baity of Route 5, Mocksville, and husband of the former Miss Virginia Ward of Silver Spring, Md., arrived at Bari, Italy, Aug. 5, aboard the attack transport USS Chilton after taking part in the amphibious landing by U. S. Marines at Beirut, Lebanon, July 16.

The Chilton departed from Morehead City, in late June, with over 700 Marines, provisions, ammunition and other equipment aboard. About 50 vehicles, including jeeps, and "mechanical mules," were in her cargo holds.

On the morning of July 16 combat ready Marines were ferried ashore in assault waves consisting of the ship's 25 landing craft, five boats per wave. The crew spent the next several days, working around the clock, to offload the supplies and equipment necessary to support the Marines ashore.

The job was made difficult by the high surf encountered on the beach, which made beaching of landing craft tricky and dangerous. Rocky beaches made frequent repairs necessary.

On completion of the landing operations, the Chilton was ordered to Bari for a well earned rest.
