

$1300 Cleared On Mocksville Carnival

Despite a rainy day and night the carnival held Saturday, sponsored by the Mocksville School PTA, reports are the biggest in a number of years according to Ed Short, finance chairman.

A total of $1,300 was cleared on this event. "I wish to thank everyone for their cooperation in making a success of this project," said Mr. Short. "It was only through the endeavors of everyone working together that this event was such a success."

The proceeds from the carnival add to the Association's treasury. Any distribution of the money will be voted on by the group at their meetings during the year and will be announced to the public at a later date.

In past years the following projects have benefited from money raised by the carnivals: the paving of a play area behind the school on North Main; the erection of a fence around the play area at the building on Cherry Street with cooperation of the School Board; purchase of a bicycle rack; World Globes for each classroom; Flags for the schools; new books; and other projects too numerous to mention.

MRS. J. FRANK OLEMENT

November 2-8. This week is the 40th anniversary of Children's Book Week.

Books are as essential to mental and spiritual growth as right food for the physical growth. "Right" is an important word in this connection, for every book is not the right book for the right person at the right time. Tastes in subject matter vary and calendar age is not always the same as mental age.

Taking these factors into consideration, a librarian selects books accordingly, marks and displays them accordingly. For instance: A book marked "E" means to a child "Elementary," ranging from pre-school through approximately the third grade. A book marked "J" means approximately fourth through seventh; and a book marked "Y" tells a borrower that is a Youth or teenage book.

In preparation for Children's Book Week, the Davie County Public Library has to offer many new books, some of which are listed below with the distinguishing marking.

"Y" Books
Brucker, "New Boy in Town"; Belden, Sand in my Castle; Carr, Confidential Secretary; Cavanna, Stars in Her Eyes; Cleary, Luckless Girl; Craig, Three Who Meet; Decker, Longball, left field; Derbish, Moon Tamer; Emery, First Love Farewell; James, Drifting Cowboy; Lambert, "Big Deal"; McCormick, Big Ninth; Miller, Christmas With Robert E. Lee; Miller, Christmas at Mount Vernon; Miller, Her Christmas at the Hermitage; Means, Borrowed Brother; Reeder, West Point First Classman; Reeder, West Point Second Classman; Scholz, Bench Boss; Weber, The More The Merrier.

Non-Fiction
Andersen, Three Tales; Andersen, Fairy Tales; Barker, Winter-Sleeping Wild Life; Branley, The Nine Olanets; Butler, Alaska, the Land and People; Colby, Army Engineers; Colby, This Is Your Civil Air Patrol; Colby, Helicopters to the Rescue; Crouse, Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr; Darling, Kangaroos; Dobbs, Once Upon A Time Story Book; Douglas, Exploring the Himalaya; Gunther, Meet North Africa; Moody, Geronimo, Wolf on the Warpath; O'Connell, Railroad Album; Voss, Child's Bible Story Book; Whipple, Famous Pirates of the New World.

E and J
Anderson, Pony For Three; Akerman, Job and the Bankrobbers; Banks, Where Rivers Meet; Bial, Tiz and Company; Blum, Country Mailman; Bowen, Stolen Spoon Mystery; Campbell, McClellan Creek Mystery; Carroll, Tough Enough and Sassy; Doloh, Lion and Tiger Stories; Beef Stories; Dog Stories; Navaho Stories; Pueblo Stories; Teepee Stories; Gligam Stories; Elkins, The Big Jump; Farley, Horse Tamer; Greene, I Want To Be a Cowboy; Greene, I Want To Be a Bus Driver; Greene, I Want To Be a Truck Driver; Guy, Cub Scout Donny; Haywood, Betsy's Winterhouse; Haywood, Betsy and the Boys; Haywood, Back to School with Betsy; Eddie and Gardelia; Eddie and the Fire Engine; Eddie and His Big Deals; Eddie Makes Music; Hawkins, the Aunt-Sitter; Hay, K-House Mystery; Holland, Big Ball of String; Jones, Tell Me About Christmas; Lawmore, Fair Boy; McClintock, A Fly Went By; Olds, The Silver Button; Orton, Mystery in the Pirate Oak; Outan, Mystery in the Little Red Schoolhouse.

Grange Head Warns About Farm Legislation

State Grange Master Harry B. Caldwell warned farmers that there is every indication that the farm program will encounter real difficulties in the next session of Congress. He called for unity in presenting a farm program when Congress reconvenes.

In addressing members of the working committees of the State Grange meeting in Elkin to formulate plans and programs for 1959, Caldwell said that the House Agriculture Committee, after months of study, developed a program to strengthen farm income and expand markets. This program was blocked so it never reached the floor for consideration.

"Congress did pass a bill confined to cotton, rice, and corn just before adjournment. Even this legislation was almost killed by farm spokesmen who opposed the parity principle," Caldwell continued.

"Tobacco is still the major cash crop in North Carolina. The tobacco program has served us well during these years. The continued accumulation of surpluses, especially of those grades for which there is little market demand, presents a serious challenge. We are told by the buying companies that price patterns under the present parity formula for tobacco, coupled with our failure to do a good job of grading, is having a profound effect upon domestic and foreign markets. The present acreage allotment program undoubtedly tends to emphasize increased production per acre without regard to the quality demands of the market. We need to re-examine the allotment program and parity formula at this convention," The State Master said.

The State Master chided those who claim that tobacco prices must be reduced in line with other commodities. "Our approach must be to secure programs for all commodities which will give producers a fair return for their labor and capital. Anything less is unthinkable," he asserted.

The Grange Master called for a program which will strengthen bargaining power of farmers; develop new and expanded markets for commodities; strengthen economic position of family farms; conserve natural resources; enable farmers to receive a labor and investment return comparable with returns of other sectors of national economy; recognize need for review and revision of programs to meet changing economy; maintain an adequate supply of farm commodities without accumulating excessive supplies which depress prices.

Reviewing educational progress, Caldwell declared, "To the extent that the state fails to provide for an adequate public school program for all children in the state, the problems will increase. While funds for public education may appear to be large, it is interesting to note that they amount to about $1 per day per pupil. This is considerably less than the cost of a baby sitter," he declared.

Caldwell closed his remarks on a somber note. He declared that "the bombing of churches and other acts of violence during recent months reveal a spirit that can lead us as a nation to our own destruction. These are perilous days. We need to seek divine leadership and rededicate ourselves to the will of God if we are to survive."

Local Guernsey Cow Makes High Record

A registered Guernsey cow, Twin Brook Charming Virginia, owned by P. B. Blackwelder, of Mocksville, has completed an official production record, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

This record was for 9,849 pounds of milk and 537 pounds of fat. "Virginia" was a senior three year old, and was milked two times daily for 305 days while on test. This official production record was supervised by N. C. State College.

Changes in Your Social Security

By J. G. LIENENBERGER
Manager of the Salisbury Social Security District Office

In the first article in this series, I touched briefly on two of the most important changes made in the disability provisions of the social security law. They are the removal of one of the work requirements, and the payment of benefits to the dependents of insured workers who are eligible for monthly disability benefits.

The 1958 Amendments made other significant changes in the law relating to disability which I shall discuss in this article.

The change in the work requirements will enable some disabled people who previously could not have their social security record "frozen" or who could not get disability payments at or after

"Christian Concerns of North American Neighbors" will be presented Wednesday at 7 p.m. by the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist Church. A program on Alaska will be presented by the Rev. R. Z. Newton and Mrs. Newton, of Graham. Miss Mary Heitman will give an article on MEXICO.

ae 5, to qualify now. These are workers who were found to be too severely disabled for further substantial gainful activity but who had not worked at least one and one-half years out of the three years right before they became disabled.

I recall, in particular, the case of a Mr. J. When he applied for disability protection last year, he was found to be too severely disabled for further work. He had worked under social security five out of the 10 years before his disability began — a requirement which still holds. Mr. J's type of disability, however, was one that developed gradually. It was diagnosed as chronic gouty arthritis combined with progressive rheumatoid. He had been able to work intermittently during the three years before he became totally disabled, but not enough to meet the "One and one-half out of three years" requirement in the old law. Consequently, we had to reject his claim for disability benefits. If Mr. J. and other disabled workers whose claims for the "freeze" or disability payments were denied for similar reasons, will get in touch with the social security office and file new applications, their claims will now be valid.

The change in the law relating to benefits for dependents of disabled family breadwinners will be of help to Mr. J. as well as to many disability beneficiaries now on the rolls. Mr. J. now over age 50, has two children under 18 who are in the care of Mrs. J. Under the law, as amended, Mrs. J. and the children are now eligible for monthly payments as the dependents of a qualified disabled worker. Dependents of disabled workers who can now qualify for benefits are: children under 18, a disabled child over 18 whose disability began before that age, a wife aged 62 or older, a dependent husband 65 or over, or a wife under age 62 if she is caring for a child entitled to benefits. While payments to dependents of disability beneficiaries begin with Sept., 1958, they cannot start until an application is filed through the social security office.

Another change in the law affects children who became disabled before age 18. Under the old law, they were not eligible for benefits unless proof could be shown that they were receiving at least one-half of their support from the parent upon whose social security record the child's benefit would be based. Proof of support is no longer required. A disabled child is now considered dependent on his parents under the same rules followed in the case of children qualifying for social security benefits under 18. Applications for childhood disability cases which were rejected because of lack of proof of dependency should be refiled promptly at the social security district office.

Under the 1958 amendments disability benefits may now be paid for months as far back as twelve months before application, if all other requirements for qualifications are met, but in no case for any month before July, 1957. One requirement is that the applicant must have been disabled for at least six months; no payment can be made in any case before the seventh month of a worker's disability. If you applied for disability benefits after Dec., 1957, and were found eligible, you need not apply again. Your back payments will be paid to you automatically.

And speaking of automatic payments, if your social security disability benefits have been reduced or denied entirely because you are getting some type of Federal or State disability payments, you will now start receiving your full social security disability benefits. Social security disability payments to you will no longer be affected by the amount of such other disability payments. It is not necessary for you to do anything about it. You will receive your full social security disability payments automatically, beginning with benefits for Aug., 1958.

Jaycees Promote "Go To Church"

Regular attendance at worship services in all churches will be urged in Mocksville during November, Religion in American Life (REAL) Month. It was announced today by Jaycee Hugh Larow.

Increased support of all religious institutions will be emphasized during the program, sponsored by the Religious Activities Committee of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Activities will be built around the national REAL campaign theme, "Find the Strength for Your Life... Worship Together This Week."

"Never before in the history of our nation have the moral and ethical standards of good citizenship been so necessary," said Hugh Larow. "We are living in an age of international tension, when every individual is looking for security. That security can only be found in the realm of faith."

Nationally, the Religion in American Life program is sponsored by 70 prominent lay men and women of all faiths, and is supported by 24 national religious groups. American business provides more than $6,000,000 worth of time and space for REAL advertising through The Advertising Council.

Robert T. Stevens, president of D. P. Stevens and Co., Inc., and former Secretary of the Army, is national chairman of the program, in which hundreds of communities across the country participate through community campaigns.

CURING HAMS
COUNTRY STYLE

There are three primary methods used in curing meat in North Carolina. They are: shelf cure, pack cure, and wrap cure. All will give satisfactory results, but shelf cure gives a more even cure.

Hams may be sugar cured or straight salt cured, depending on which you like better. The mix for sugar cure is 8 pounds of salt, 13 pounds of sugar, and three ounces of salt peter. Salt is the primary curing ingredient. Sugar gives a more desirable color and helps keep the ham from becoming quite so hard during the aging period. The type sugar used does not make much difference, but granulated light brown or white is usually used. Salt peter gives the bright red color to the lean and helps produce that good red gravy that we like with good country cured ham.

Apply the curing mix to the meat as soon as it's cut. This will prevent any red spots and give even more salt penetration. Put the first application on when the meat is cut and ready to go on the shelf. The second application should be applied on the third day and the third application on the 10th day, or seven days after the second application. You need not rub the ham a lot—just enough to cover it good. Too much rough handling will break the surface membranes and cause the hams to get hard and dry during aging. Be sure to pack some curing mix in the shank end at each application.

Ideal temperatures for shelf curing hams are from 36 to 40 degrees F. When temperatures go above 50 degrees F. for any length of time there is some chance of spoilage. There's little chance of spoilage due to temperature as long as the internal temperature stays below 45 degrees F.

Follow the curing schedule closely to get the correct amount of salt in the hams. One of the main objections to farm cured meats is that they are too salty. This can be prevented by following this curing schedule:

15 lb. ham stays in cure two days per lb., or 30 days.

20 lbs. ham stays in cure 1 1/2 days per lb., or 30 days.

25 lb. ham stays in cure 1 1/2 days per lb., or 38-40 days.

For each day the temperature averages below freezing during the curing process add an extra day to the curing schedule. Be sure to mark your calendar at start of cure for date of each application and when meat is to come out of cure. If hams are not going to be smoked, just brush excess cure off at the end of the curing period. They may be washed, but this is not necessary. Do not soak the hams, as this may get excess water on surface of ham.

If hams are to be smoked, remove them from cure and soak in cold water for 1 1/2 to 2 hours to remove surface salt. This prevents salt streaking and gives the cured product a better appearance. Hang the hams to dry after soaking. Heat during smoking will remove some of the moisture they picked up while soaking.

When hams are taken out of cure at the end of the curing schedule most of the salt is still near the surface. Very little has gotten near the bone or skin side of the ham. The salt goes through the meat very slowly—taking about 30 to 35 days longer to equalize, or spread evenly through all parts of the ham.

Hams lose the most weight during the curing period and during the first month out of cure. As the salt goes into the ham and equalizes, moisture comes out. Altogether, they will lose 25 to 30 per cent of their original weight while curing and aging.

Keep all cured meats under refrigeration, natural or otherwise, for 20 to 30 days after they come out of cure. Hams should not be smoked or exposed to high temperatures until the salt is equalized. This is one of the main causes of spoilage of country cured hams, especially those being smoked. Farm cured hams should be put in cure during November, December, and January. This way the salt is equalized when warm weather arrives. This is one reason why November and December hams are better flavored and keep better than hams

2. Trading surplus eggs above family needs at retail store or feed store. Make arrangements to ship during days to keep cost of marketing low. Egg volume is usually low and quality control too expensive to be practical under any marketing system known today. Pricing policy is simply one of taking what one can get. This method is obsolete and is almost extinct.

3. Selling to huckster who picks up eggs from farm. This method is used in areas that are fairly close to large centers of population where hucksters can sell directly to housewives and retail outlets. It provides a market for eggs from large, as well as small, flocks and gives the producer who does not have time or inclination to retail his own eggs as outlet for his production. Method usually results in fairly low quality eggs offered to the housewife and is of too satisfactory an outlet for year-round selling. The hauler may not be able to dispose of all eggs during flush season of production. The huckster hauler serve a purpose in getting started in a region and increasing competition, thereby raising prices, during periods of slack production and lowering prices when there is a local surplus. This is not the most effective way to bring income into a law income state. Pricing is usually determined by the hauler on the basis of his own bargaining power and knowledge of competitive forces.

4. Providing door to door delivery or selling through vending machines. These methods appeal to some producers because they give the producer 100 per cent of the consumer's dollar. The producer gets paid for marketing as well as production and has more control over his prices than he does with other methods. Many families regard these methods as ideal for 1,200 to 4,000 hens. Volume is often limited by one's own capacity or local population. It does not bring new income into a state except for few sales over state lines.

5. Selling direct to retail stores. This gives a producer an opportunity to sell some labor in marketing as production. At the time one spends marketing increases, the time used in production declines or he has to hire help. This method is limited by the same disadvantages as number four. Pricing is usually based on competition as well as the New York quotation.

6. Selling to a central marketing agency. This may be a corporation, cooperative, or independent egg dealer. All eggs are graded at a central point. This results in a uniform high quality product and a high, steady, year-round volume that can result in low processing costs per dozen eggs. This permits sales to markets where large, steady volume of a high quality product is a condition for sales. It enables markets long distances from the production area to be tapped. Manager carries out pricing policy that will move eggs efficiently. The plan can be set up to take advantage of economies of scale. Expert marketing personnel can be hired or trained. This is the best type of market to expand production and income on a wide and continuous scale. A 500 case truck load of eggs can transfer $6,000 from high to low income areas from each load sold.

DO YOU HAVE A GOOD EGG AGREEMENT?

This is a copy of the conditions for egg sales or an agreement between egg producers and their egg marketing agency. It appears to be one of the most complete lists of rules required to sell eggs to one of the best Pennsylvania egg markets. North Carolina farmers should have better egg quality production rules than this if they want to sell eggs. Merely being as good as someone else or some other areas is not adequate to gain egg marketing income. It is necessary to supply better services and higher quality eggs, in more attractive packages than other competing areas to win higher incomes and the markets that go with them.

Requirements To Qualify For Our Double A Program

- 1. Laying hens shall be confined at all times.
- 2. Egg room shall be well insulated with mechanical refrigeration. Temperature shall be between 55 and 60 degrees.
- 3. Relative humidity shall be maintained between 80 and 85 degrees in the egg cooling and holding room.
- 4. Eggs shall be gathered at least five times daily in the summer and three in winter. They shall be cooled immediately after gathering with forced air circulating through the basket, so eggs are thoroughly cooled one hour after gathering.
- 5. Eggs shall be clean.
- 6. Clean and dirty eggs shall be separated. Dirty eggs shall be washed immediately after gathering with a sanitizer detergent that is approved by us. Washed and unwashed eggs shall be packed in separate cases.

7. Eggs shall be sprayed within six hours after gathering from nests.

8. Any eggs with rough shells, odd shapes, tints, checks, leakers, and stains shall be sorted, packed, and labeled accordingly.

9. All eggs shall be sized and packed within 24 hours after being laid.

10. All empty cases and fillers shall be pre-cooled before packing eggs in them.

11. Only flocks that lay a consistent high quality egg shall be eligible for this program. Quality shall be determined partly by the broken out appearance of the eggs and partly by different colored lighting to detect defects.

12. Eggs from hens that are over 18 months old or that have water whites shall be packed separately for another grade.

13. Eggs shall be shipped at least three times per week.

14. Monthly inspections shall be made of each farm on this program.

15. One person shall be responsible for uniform, high quality management practices on each farm.

16. Each egg farm shall be assigned an identification number and this number shall be stamped on each container.

NOVEMBER POULTRY SUGGESTIONS

With the onset of winter many problems associated with cold weather once again confront the poultryman. One such problem is the disposal of dead birds. This is, of course, a year-round problem but perhaps it can be more pressing in cold weather than in mild weather.

Nothing detracts more from a poultry enterprise than dead birds lying around in plain view for two or three days or the odor of burn feathers and meat or the sight of a half carcass that did not turn quite long enough. These things tend to be a sore spot to good sanitation and to some degree are an example of poor management.

There are a number of ways to dispose of dead birds, but which is the best and easiest? Perhaps a nearby dump is a good place for dead birds. A dump may hold quite a number of birds; but the odor, unsightliness, and the problem of flies in warm weather tend to eliminate this possibility. A home-made incinerator may be the thing if dead birds are burned everyday, but suppose the weather turns bad or you don't want to risk lighting a fire, then what happens? Maybe burying the carcasses is a good way. What happens, though, when the ground freezes so hard a hole can barely be dug? The dead birds again accumulate. Regardless of all these other possibilities, there is a good, convenient, relatively inexpensive way to dispose of dead birds. This may be done through the use of a disposal pit.

It is required by law that dead birds either be burned or buried. As occasions do arise that make it impractical to burn or bury birds, it seems that the disposal pit is the best bet. The pit could be built convenient to the poultry house at practically no expense, other than labor, to the poultryman. The pit eliminates the carcasses through the process of bacterial action. This pit would put an end to the many hours spent burning, digging, or hauling in order to get rid of dead birds. Plans for the construction of a disposal pit are available to you at your County Agent's Office.

G. W. Gabbert Wins At N. C. State Fair

More people won more premium money at the North Carolina State Fair this year than in any previous fair since the exposition became a division of the state's Department of Agriculture, according to Dr. J. S. Dorton, manager. "We had perfect fair weather, more competitive exhibits, more commercial displays, more fairgoers, more free entertainment, the finest educational and inspirational exhibits, and paid out more money to exhibitors than in any previous fair," Dr. Dorton said.

Davie County sent home one winner from N. C. State Fair. G. W. Gabbert of Cooleemee won quite a few honors with his Holstein cattle. These included: Senior Yearling Bull, three year bull, junior heifer calf, senior heifer calf, cow three years old, dairy herd, all firsts; junior champion bull, senior champion bull, grand champion bull, premier exhibitor; bull calf, cow in milk, senior yearling heifer, premier breeder, all seconds; five thirds; three fourths, one fifth; two sixths.

David G. Richardson At Air Force School

DAVID G. RICHARDSON

Alman David G. Richardson, Jr., son of Mrs. Clara P. Richardson of 726 Sofley Ave., Mocksville, has completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He has been selected to attend the technical training school for Air Policemen.

Alman Richardson is a graduate of Davie High School.

Alman at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical schools on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic, and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects.

S. Sgt. Harvey White In 'White Cloud' Exercise

S. Sgt. Harvey W. White, of Mocksville, is one of the members of the 464th Troop Carrier Wing (Medium) taking part in the joint Army - Air Force exercise "White Cloud" now in progress in Kentucky and the Carolinas.

Sgt. White, 28, is a Crew Chief with the Pope-based wing's 776th Troop Carrier Squadron.

He is the son of Mrs. Clifton White, Rt. 5, Mocksville. "White Cloud," designated TA-CAIR 59-1 by the Air Force, is designated to test the Strategic Army Command concept which emphasizes fast hitting airborne forces of division size, capable of being airlifted into battle and then relieved, refitted and deployed, to another combat area.

In initial phases of the maneuver, troops of the 101st Airborne Division made a simulated airborne assault in their home area, Fort Campbell, Ky., Oct. 23. For the second phase, C-123 "Providers" and C-119 "Flying Boxcars" of the 464th Troop Carrier Wing, helped transport nearly 5,000 troops and some 1,378 tons of equipment from Fort Campbell to four dispersal bases in South Carolina.

B. C. Moore Company Observes 35th Birthday

The B. C. Moore and Sons store in Mocksville is joining in the celebration of the 35th anniversary of the chain.

B. C. Moore and Sons opened the first store in Wadesboro, N. C., in Aug. 1923. In the opening advertisement the policy of the new store was simply stated: "To Sell For Cash For Less."

The venture was an immediate success and by 1930 there were stores in Chesterfield, Cheraw, Lancaster, Pageland, Bennettsville, Bishopville, Dillon and Kershaw, S. C. In North Carolina in 1930 there were stores in Wadesboro, Troy and Asheboro.

The Thirties were years of constant growth and by 1940 stores were doing business in Hartsville, McColl, Timonville, Kingstree, Manning, Mullins, and Barnwell, S. C. New North Carolina stores were located in Lincolnton, Marsheville, Siler City, and Red Springs.

The pre-war years of 1940, 1941 and 1942 saw B. C. Moore and Sons stores opened for business in Aiken, Marion, Newberry and Lake City in South Carolina. Due to wartime restrictions there were no new stores opened in the period from 1942 to 1946.

Until 1946, B. C. Moore and Sons operated as a closely held family partnership. In this year, however, the stores were incorporated and stock in the new company was issued to store managers and other key personnel.

Following the war the company continued to open new stores in North and South Carolina, and in 1948 began a movement southward when a store was opened in Cordele, Ga. In 1949 the tide turned westward when a large unit opened for business in Dothan, Alabama.

Today there are B. C. Moore & Sons stores in Cordele, Hawkinsville, Eastman, Cochran, Hazlehurst, Douglas, Adel and Quitman, Ga. The Alabama stores are located in Dothan, Enterprise, Opp and Evergreen, Geneva, and Attmore.

There are presently nine stores in North Carolina, 25 in South Carolina, eight in Georgia and six in Alabama.

The North and South Carolina stores are serviced from a central warehouse located on U. S. Highway 1 just north of Cheraw, S. C., while those in Georgia and Alabama receive warehouse merchandise from Cordele, Ga.

The executive offices of the company and the home store are housed in a three level reinforced concrete structure on the site of the original store completed in 1953. The president of the company is W. Bryan Moore, who makes his home in Wadesboro.

'SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS'

WASHINGTON — Now that the campaign oratory has ended, it is time to look ahead to the convening of the Congress in January.

Senate Rule XXII We are hearing a great deal about the problems which will face the Senate in the new Congress. One of the first to be considered is Senate Rule 22, a target of the advocates of drastic revision of the rules.

As Rule 22 now stands, a two-thirds vote of the Senate is required to choke off debate, the hallmark of the deliberative process of democracy in the Senate. The proponents of Rule 22 revision are directing their guns at the South. As I pointed out in 1956, this is a simple line and is well received by some people who do not wish to think. This attack will be made by many of the very people who, when in the minority on other issues, resort to the vehicle of unlimited debate to call attention to the country aspects of legislation that should have thorough and careful debate.

Not A Deterrent The present Rule 22 does not long deter worthy legislation. It does eliminate a lot of unsound legislation. To change it to a simple majority vote to choke off debate will strike a severe blow to the freedom of debate and discussion in the United States Senate, a precious heritage that has allowed proper consideration of legislation.

Heretofore, the opponents of unlimited debate have been unable to change the rule. Unfortunately, the issue has become identified with so-called civil rights legislation and there is no telling now where the issue will stop.

I expect to spend considerable time developing this issue in the

Social Security In Davie County

J. G. Liebensberger, Manager of the Salisbury social security district office, announced that the 1958 Amendments to the Social Security Act provide monthly payments to dependents of disabled workers who are receiving social security disability benefits. This change in the law is effective beginning with the month of Sept., 1958.

Payments may be made to the following dependents of the disabled worker:

1. Unmarried children under age 18.
2. Disabled children over 18 if the disability began before age 18, and they are unmarried at the time of application;
3. A wife over 62 years of age.
4. A wife of any age, provided the wife has in her care a child entitled to benefits.
5. A dependent husband age 65 or older.

Mr. Liebensberger emphasized that benefits to dependents are not paid automatically, but that an application must always be filed. The applications for dependents of those presently receiving disability benefits are retroactive to Sept., 1958, provided these applications are filed before the end of Sept., 1959. If possible, the disabled worker and his wife should visit their social security office together, and bring with them proof of age for the wife if she is 62 years of age or older, birth records of all children under 18, and proof of age of any disabled children. Also, proof of age for a dependent husband past 65 is necessary.

In providing for benefits it was recognized that the payments would help offset the loss of earning power of the disabled worker. The dependents of disabled workers receive the same amount as the dependents of persons of retirement age who are receiving old age insurance benefits.

It will greatly assist in the processing of dependents' claims if the required proofs are obtained before contacting the social security office to file application. It would also be helpful if the disabled person would bring with him a copy of the disability award notice.

V.A. Hospital To Have Open House On Nov. 10

To most people the Veterans Administration Hospital in Salisbury is a large group of buildings separated by beautifully landscaped grounds. They know veterans are treated there, but for the most part, the buildings seem like any other hospital—one of mystery and associated with the unhappiness of pain and illness. "Our hospital is far more than that," declared Manager S. J. Muirhead today, and he offers to show the public in and around Salisbury by having open house on Nov. 10, 1958, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Open house at the Salisbury hospital, like its 172 counterparts elsewhere in the United States, is a Veterans' Day thought of Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, who has ordered that every Veterans Administration Hospital and Regional Office in the country to be opened to the public on Nov. 10, the day before the national holiday. "The Administrator believes that veterans, their friends and their families should have the opportunity of seeing how the Veterans Administration treats the disabled men, providing far more than just medical treatment," explained Dr. Muirhead.

Volunteer guides will be on hand from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. to escort visitors through much of the hospital. They will visit the Corrective Therapy Clinic, Laboratory, X-Ray and Dental Clinics, and see how a patient is admitted in the Registrar Division. They will also have the privilege of seeing patients participating in various activities in the Manual Arts Therapy, Educational Therapy, and Occupational Therapy Clinics and in the patients' library, gymnasium, swimming pool, and theatre. They will see the main kitchen and dining halls and visit the hospital Chapel. They are also invited to attend a patient variety show that will be held in the hospital theatre at 7:30 p.m. This is the annual patient show which will be held for the pleasure of the patients in the hospital on Oct. 30 and 31.

"Comments far outweigh the criticism we get," explained Dr. Muirhead, "yet even those few criticisms would drop if veterans and their families better understood our mission and how we carry it out."

The event is called up before the Senate. I am convinced that it is bad to change Rule 22.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK By NORTH CALLAHAN

Autumn passes through New York in a burnished haze of bright colors. The leaves on trees along some streets take fire, so to speak, and hang there in flaming hues. This frost fire is matched by the colors of women's clothes on the sidewalks below, orange, yellow and copper blending into a pleasant symphony of tints in the harmony of this crisp season. "Life too is capable of taking fire in this country," comments Alphonso MacLeish. "Of creating a beauty never seen."

A fashion show which included 15 girls and five boys took place here recently. The dresses were made by the girls and the boys wore homemade aprons made by themselves. It was a lively and successful display. There was one difference in it and other fashion shows: all the students in it were blind. But by the time they are trained in these and other pursuits in the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind at 899 Pelham Parkway, Bronx, N. Y., it is hard to tell that they cannot see. Dr. Melvin E. Hampton, principal of the 10 building school, sat beside me at Rotary Club and explained its purposes. He, a native of West Virginia, gave up a promising life as a college educator to head this worthy enterprise, which is supported largely by private contributions, but he manages to teach at Hunter College just the same. In the summer, the blind students go to a country camp where they enjoy virtually all the sports which those who can see take part in. Yes, those of us who have good eyes, let us see how much those who do not have them can do — and be thankful for our blessings.

The Davie Band Project

A JOB WELL DONE!

The people of Davie County have always been noted for their ability to cooperate and support worthwhile projects. Davie citizens are a proud lot . . . they want the best and will give and work to achieve it.

Last Friday night was a proud night for Davie High School and likewise the citizens of the county. Shoulders went back and heads went up as the Davie High School band marched on the field at Rich Park in their brand new uniforms.

Dressed in the new uniforms of black and burnt orange, the Davie band was a source of pride to each and every citizen present. However, such splendor had even more meaning to the many present that had a direct hand in making this band and the uniforms possible.

Time would not permit Friday night for tribute to be paid each and every individual that had a part in this band project. Neither will space here permit such individual citation. To do so, would be like calling the roll of Davie County citizens, for most of them had a part in it . . . in one way or another.

This is the third year of operation for the Davie County Consolidated High School and thus the third year of existence for the band. Under the capable direction of Paul Reichle, they have come a long way and are a credit to the county.

Last January Mr. Reichle met with Supt. Curtis Price and D. F. Stillwell, principal. At this meeting plans were worked out and a budget adopted to provide the band with uniforms, the more expensive band instruments, and a bus in which to travel. A goal of $9,000 was set as the amount needed to provide these items.

As plans were being worked out for the raising of these funds, the Lions Clubs of Cooleemee and Mocksville volunteered their services and with a show and the cooperation of the merchants put $1,000 into, the coffers for the band. M. H. Murray of Mocksville spearheaded a canvass of local industrial establishments that raised the bulk of the money for the band. Giving sizeable checks to this project were the Mocksville Reed Mills, Monieigh Garment Company, Veterans Grease and Tallow Company, J. P. Green Milling Company, Hanes Furniture Company, Heritage Furniture Company, E. C. Morris Insurance Agency.

Also donating directly to this project was the Mocksville Masonic Lodge, the Fork Civic Club, the Cooleemee American Legion Post, and the United Textile Workers Union.

The third phase of the fund raising campaign involved the band members. They were organized into groups and solicited the merchants and businessmen of the county. Through their efforts more money was raised, and the uniforms were selected and ordered.

In all there were over a thousand direct contributors to the project. As we said before, it would be impossible here to single out the individual contributors, nor do we believe that they as such expect it.

Each and every contributor was honored Friday when the band members donned these new uniforms and marched on the field at Rich Park. The greatest eulogy that anyone can receive is that feeling from within of pride in something that he has done. Each and every citizen contributing towards this cause is sure to have that feeling whenever they see the Davie County High School Band in their uniforms.

This newspaper is proud to salute Supt. Curtis Price, Harry Murray, D. F. Stillwell, Paul Reichle, the civic clubs, organizations, businessmen and individuals of the county for a job well done. It is such cooperation and county pride that keeps Davie marching forward.

The World's Smallest State

The selection of a new Pope draws the regard of peoples everywhere to a tiny sovereign state that is hardly bigger than a large city park.

Even to Romans, Vatican City's 108.7 acres are foreign soil. They are situated on a sun-swept rise west of the Tiber and are sacred to half a billion Roman Catholics throughout the world.

Inside the Vatican walls are St. Peter's Basilica, the largest church on earth, and a cluster of palaces, chapels, museums galleries, apartments, courtyards, barracks, passageways, neat lawns, and secluded gardens, the National Geographic Society says.

The Vatican's Sistine Chapel is one of the wonders of all time and may well be man's greatest single-handed work of art. The high ceiling and altar wall swirl with Michelangelo frescoes showing the world's creation, man's fall, man's hope, and the Last Judgment.

It is in that chapel that the College of Cardinals meets when a new Pope must be elected. Throngs wait for the sign of agreement—thin white smoke eddying skyward as the ballots are burned.

About 1,000 men and women live inside the Vatican. They have their own flag, currency, and postage stamps, their own shops, small industries, a daily newspaper that is carefully read by newsmen of many nationalities, a powerful radio station, and a railroad. They are exempt from Italian laws. There is no income tax.

Most Vatican citizens are not of the cloth. They are Swiss guardsmen, papal gendarmic, firemen, gardeners, and caretakers. The famed Sampietrini—"little men of St. Peter's"—scramble about the dome, and swing in bosun's chairs about the basilica to keep it in repair.

Many Romans enter the Vatican through the Gate of Santa Anna each day, punch a timeclock, and report to their jobs as bank clerks, engineers, and so on. The bank, incidentally, is ultramodern.

Outwardly placid, the Vatican is a busy world. Laymen in a dozen shops restore crumbling documents, books, and statuary. Nuns repair priceless old tapestries. In mosaic studios artisans painstakingly work on masterpieces of religious works. The printing shop produces books in Coptic, Syriac, and any number of other uncommon languages.

The Vatican is a magnet for scholars, regardless of creed, as it seeks to perpetuate things scholarly, scientific, and artistic, as well as spiritual. The Papal Palace contains a treasury of man's great works of art. The Library has the world's greatest collection of manuscripts and insunabula. It has been said that if an unimaginable catastrophe should destroy all other museums in the world, the Vatican's five museums could perpetuate esthetic culture, pagan and Christian.

The basilica is the second church erected in Peter's name on Vatican Hill—a place of soothsaying (vaticinatio) in pagan days. The present structure rose bit by bit, 1508-1626. The resources of the Vatican and the genius of such masters as Michelangelo and Raphael went into its creation. The nave, flanked by soaring columns, monuments, altars, and chapels, stretches for an eighth of a mile.

St. Peter's dominates Rome as well as Vatican City. The sun's first rays gild the cross above the 4535 foot dome, steal across the colossal baroque facade, and spread over the great stone prairie of the Piazza San Pietro. Bernini's colonnades extend like welcoming arms about the oval square, which can accommodate 100,000 persons.

The bristlecone pine, earth's oldest known living thing, adds no more than an inch to its girth in a century. One bristlecone in the Inyo National Forest in California has lived for more than 4,800 years, the National Geographic Magazine says.

Two Bells with Much in Common

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

At a social gathering, a physicist won't the hula hoop contest. Asked how he did it, he replied, "It's simple. What is involved is the conservation of angular momentum. It is merely necessary to exert a small but carefully regulated impulse by allowing a hypersensitive sprig of impingent on a small portion of the interior periphery of a short section of the hoop. The impulse results in the horizontal motion maintained with rare uniformity, to the amazement of all beholders who do not realize that the whole deal is as easy as falling off a log."

An enterprising reader of this column, Miss Lane Soutar, director of the Beacon Safety Council of Hickory, N. C., has come up with a splendid idea. It might even save your life and mine. It is an attractive little oval shaped reflector which a person can wear at night and when a car light shines on him or her crossing the street, the Walker's Beacon, as it is called, gives off enough light to signal the driver to a safe stop—before he knocks your block off. Already the device is attracting national attention in the press and on the air. Automobile associations, insurance companies, Scout and police organizations are hailing it as an answer to safety for the poor pedestrian after nightfall. A large company is interested in manufacturing it, I hear. Well, good luck to your enlightening device, Miss Soutar. I take off my hat to you—and on it is one of your Beacon's—slow down there, night drivers!

A Greyhound bus rolled up to a local theatre and discharged its only passenger—Steverino, the greyhound on the Steve Allen television program. The dog was dressed in fine clothes, wore a diamond tiara, and was met by her host. The two went by the ticket taker, gave him two tickets, went inside. Steverino sat quietly throughout the Broadway show and quietly left. There was no commotion over this stunt. Yes, this is a screwball town where anything can and does happen.

Bruce Campbell asked me to drop in and see the General Motors Motorama at the Waldorf and I did, although price tags on most new cars scare me. We saw the Firebird III, a new experimental car that looks like something out of this world on its way back to its other planet. It resembled a missile more than anything else and seemed capable of competing with the jet planes. Then Bruce and I, after viewing the intriguing new models, saw some other kind of the human variety doing a dance on the big stage. Their finale was—you guessed it—whirling hula hoops.

The subway door slammed shut and the little boy was almost caught outside—his mother who was leading him, inside. She grabbed and jerked him in, as we who watched held our breath, the train hurtling off into the darkness. "What would you have done, my son, had you been left there on the platform, and me on this train, separated from you?" she breathlessly asked him. I listened for the answer. It came quickly. "Why I'd just wait until the next train, and get on it and get off at the next station and look for you," he said calmly. We all breathed easier at such precocious good sense and self-control.

Gotham Gatherings: Hildegard has come back to the Plaza Hotel and old timers are saying that things are made like they used to be when this "chantoozie from Milwaukee" was widely applauded here . . . the 40 year old Commodore Hotel had as its slogan when it opened, "a room and bath for two and one half." The minimum room cost now is $7 . . . Bill Picaro, hellhop at the Hotel Edlison, is getting a hunk of fan mail since he has appeared on TV shows discussing his breaking in new shoes for guests . . . a man born here in 1900 had a life expectancy of 40 years, his wife 45. Now there are a million people in New York over 60, over half of them over 65.

A dramatic occurrence took place here the other day that left some red faces but sighs of relief. In the studio of Albert Gommi, a top flight commercial photographer, there were assembled a hunting dog, a rural scene and a model in correct hunting garb. All that was lacking for the advertising picture was a gun—and if was on its way from a sporting goods dealer. But when the messenger carrying it arrived, he was not alone. Four secret service men took look at Gommi and said they were going to take him downtown; that the President of the United States was the Waldorf-Astoria nearby and would soon be passing right by this studio. Gommi excitedly showed them the hunting scene, then the double barreled shotgun which had arrived. "Now if I were going to shoot the President, would I choose a blunderbuss like this?" asked he anxiously. The secret service men finally nodded, apologized and left.

Once there was a cave, according to a story, which lived in darkness as all caves do. One day it heard a voice calling. "Come into the light and meet the sunshine." So being curious, it ventured forth, but the sunshine made the cave uncomfortable and it cried out for darkness. The sunshine bewildered by this strange word asked what "darkness" was. "Come and see," replied the cave, leading the way. As they entered the depths of the cave together, the sunshine asked, "But there was no darkness."

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: As a general thing my old lady is fer womanhood, the P.T.A., her preacher, rummage sales, alarm clocks, hard work, and the Constitution. Most everything else she's dubious about, and one of the things she's most dubious about, it me writing this little piece fer the paper. She claims I didn't git much work done around the place afore I started it and now I ain't worth shooting.

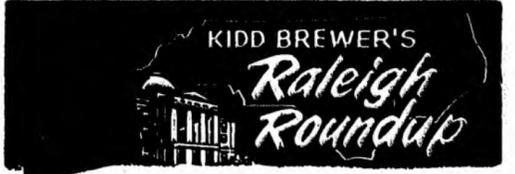

I told her writing fer the paper give me a chance to expend, sorter like them sack dresses gives a woman a lot of room to shake, rattle and roll if the occasion arises.

And my old lady ain't above censoring this little piece if she gits a chance. Fed instant, I had somepun in here not long ago about some wimme ought to wear two or three girdles on account of everything seemed to be in the wrong place. She cut that line out, Mister Editor.

I wouldn't trade my old lady off fer a dozen like Liz Taylor, and ever onct in a while I take her on a little trip to git her mind of my shortcomings. Per instant, I took her on a fishing trip the other week, hoping it might improve her thinking along some lines. We stopped at one of them points along the road to git a bite to eat and she saw some gal in there playing the juke box and doing the rumba and that's all the thinking she's done since. She said this gal wasn't dancing, just trying to wave goodbye to somebody without using her arms.

But anyhow, Mister Editor, it got her mind off me writing this little piece for the paper and I'm same fer another spell. Come spring and I think I'll take her to see one of them bathing beauty contests and that ought to keep her thinking machine busy till way up in the summer, long enough fer me to figger up the next move. A feller has got to do a heap of long distance planning these days if he don't want to lose his old lady, and I shore don't want to lose mine. It's mighty hard to live up to a reputation with your neighbors and live one down with your old lady at the same time.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

AND POSSIBLY EIGHT . . . The other day when in this corner reference was made to the likelihood of our having seven candidates for Governor in the Democratic Primary of 1960, a person called and asked us to name the seven men we had in mind.

Here is the list we gave him: John Larkins, Trenton, whose campaign seems to be spreading rapidly from his Jones County associates; Terry Sanford, Fayetteville, who apparently has been running for the office for two or three years; Dr. I. Beverly Lake, who practices law in Raleigh, but maintains his home still in Wake Forest, and who seems to have a lot of volunteer support in scattered areas throughout the State; Malcolm Seawell, our new Attorney General, who is still officially a resident of Lumberton and who is making a lot of speeches; L. Y. Ballentine, Fuquay Springs, Commissioner of Agriculture, who has been mentioned as a candidate for Governor for several years now; Luther Barnhardt, Concord, Lt. Governor, has good business support, excellent political connections, but is at some disadvantage this time because he is from the western area; Edwin Gill, Laurinburg native, State treasurer, former Commissioner of Revenue and experienced in Statecraft and politics.

FANCY . . . There you have the seven. Since 1959 promises to be a hot one for the Legislature, we could come out of that battle with a candidate. In these lawmaking dogfights, an unusually strong person sometimes emerges; a person who catches the public's fancy. If you recall, Dr. Ralph McDougal gained his fame in the 1935 General Assembly and then went on to run for Governor—and almost successfully—in 1936.

GOOD . . . We should not bemoan the fact that we might have as many as eight candidates for Governor. A large number of candidates is the best sign we could want that the Democratic Party in North Carolina is not in the hands of a machine.

BRAKES AND NICKELS . . . Our friend Sam Ragan of the Raleigh News and Observer meets such interesting people. He said a gentleman who has studied such things told him the most needed invention for automobiles is brakes that would automatically get tight when the driver does. Then another fellow told Ragan it's not true that a nickel does not go as far these days: You can carry it around in your pocket for weeks before you can find something you can buy with it.

STOUTHEARTED BOYS . . . One of the most level-headed coaches in the while county is Earle Edwards, who has put the N. C. State Wolfpack in the forefront among football teams of the nation.

He talks good sense all the time. However, the other day he said something—or gave words to a feeling—most leaders in the athletic world agree on:

We are turning out so many fine athletes in our high schools and prep schools now that on any given Saturday a group of "stouthearted boys" from a little school can upset a Notre Dame, an Oklahoma, a Duke, a Texas, or an Auburn, a Carolina, or an Army.

In other words, Coach Edwards says, 20 years ago when relatively few high schools had good football teams—and many with none at all—there weren't enough good players to go around. Now everybody seems to have them. This means that on almost any Saturday you can see a good football game—with no one team hogging the glory. This is one part of the coach who is expected to win them all—but it is good for the spectator.

NEW FILM . . . North Carolina's excellent Advertising Department headed by Charles Parker has finally come out with that new "Variety Vacationland" film you have been hearing so much about. Everybody who has seen it sings its praises. They say it is a masterpiece. The show runs for about 15 minutes. Write Parker if you want it for public showing. Get in line now!

rol's practice of hiding cars up dark sideroads to catch the unsuspecting motorist. Those most critical of the plan say "patrol means to patrol, to move, and not sit in the shadows like a sneak."

But our State Highway Patrol, voted again this year the best in the Nation, says their radar units do not take men off the roads, that they are effective in slowing down traffic—in making all motorists more careful, and therefore safer drivers. The Patrol is ready to fight any attempt to stop the sideroad parking.

NOTES . . . The November issue of "We The People," official publication of the N. C. Citizens Assn., will feature the fine work being done by our various chambers of commerce throughout the State . . . Claude Doughton, one of the three children of the late Congressman Robert L. and Mrs. Doughton, died of cancer last week at the home in Laurel Springs. He at one time was Democratic sheriff of Republican Wilkes County . . . Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co. has just signed a contract to bring again its top TV talent to Durham for the annual meeting of the Durham Merchants Association next spring. This is annually the most outstanding entertainment program put on in North Carolina.

They aren't saying much about it for publication, but don't be surprised if the Democrats make some big changes in the rallies they put on in the various Congressional Districts two years hence. We hear reports of some little boredom and complaints of the "same old thing." . . . If you can stand the cold, fishing time is really here on the coast . . . take lard stands with you if you go fishing for Spots . . . Gov. Hodges and party will be coastal fishing on Nov. 7-8.

TEXT: "All human wisdom is found in two words, wait and hope." — Dumas.

An elderly man was complaining to his young wife, "I tell you, Elsie, I'm going to have to get rid of that chauffeur. He has nearly killed me four times!"

"Now, Arthur," cooed the young lady, "do wait a while. Give him another chance."

People, today, do not know how to wait. If other people won't hurry and events are not completed to their satisfaction at once, impatience makes them fretful, ulcerous and brings them weeping despair.

Whose fault is this? We teach our children to "express" themselves. Their abilities must be developed, fully. They have their "rights." They are not required to conform to rules. They create rules by expressing their personalities.

They are not taught the power of waiting. Waiting demands self-control and a denial of selfish interests. Curbing wishes and whims isn't easy to teach nor is it easy to learn. However, it is necessary for survival. Some day life will teach it rudely and harshly. That is why so many despairing people weep away their lives in doctor's offices and psychiatric wards. The ability to wait need not be a lost power. It can be regained anytime by practicing and teaching self-denial.

Eight Seniors Play In Final Davie Football Game Friday

By JOHNNY WARD

It is once again homecoming time at Davie County High School. This is the time that those who have graduated will come back to watch the Rebels play and to meet old friends. Not only will this homecoming game be a happy reunion for many, it will be the last game that eight members of the squad will be appearing in a Rebel uniform.

These eight seniors will graduate this spring. It is in this article that we pay a tribute to the following:

Carl Jacobs, Tackle
Jake is a 6 foot 3 inch, 190-pound tackle and has been one of the most outstanding linemen on the team. He has played varsity ball all three years at Davie and has proven most valuable to the team in every respect.

Jerry Bailey, Guard
Jerry is 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He has been a member of all three Davie varsity teams. He has been great on both offense and defense.

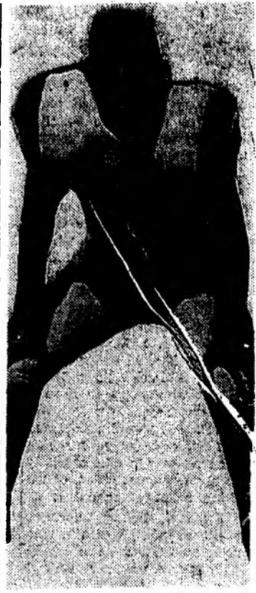

Wayne Dyson, Guard
Wayne stands 6 feet and weighs 170 pounds. He has played varsity for two years. For the past two weeks he has been sidelined with a broken jaw received in the Asheboro game.

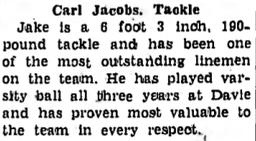

Tony Ervin, End
Tony, who stands 5 feet 11 inches and weighs 170 pounds, was a Jayvee star last year. This year he has proven to be a very fine second-string end.

John Miller, Center
Johnny is 6 feet tall and tips the scales at 175 pounds. He came up from last year's junior varsity and has done a very fine job at center.

Joe Gobble, Guard
Joe is the smallest Davie lineman. He is 5 feet 8 inches and weighs 140 pounds. However, the way he has played, one would never realize he was so small. He has been very tough on defense and also on offense.

Fred Pierce, Back
Freddie, although small at 5 ft. 7 inches and 135 pounds, has been a great defensive back. He has done a great job in filling the gap in the offensive backfield that was left open by injuries.

Sam Shore, Back
Sam, 5 feet 11 inches, 180-lb. defense linebacker, has been one of the most outstanding men defensively in the backfield. He is known for his hard tackles and at the present is out with a shoulder injury.

Pvt. John G. Cox
Completes Basic
Army Pvt. John G. Cox, Jr., 22, whose wife, Nolene, lives on Rt. 4, Mocksville, recently completed eight weeks of basic combat training at Fort Jackson, S. C. Cox attended Mayville's White Oak High School and worked for the Superior Stone Co. in Greensboro as a civilian. His mother, Mrs. Josie Cox, lives in Newport.

MOCKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Curtis Price, Davie County School Superintendent, Dies Here Monday

Funeral Services Are Held Tuesday At Methodist Church

Curtis Price, 55, Supt. of Davie County Schools, died unexpectedly Monday morning around 8:20 a. m., in the Davie County Hospital. Mr. Price was carried to the hospital last Thursday after suffering a heart attack. He appeared to be gaining strength when the fatal seizure struck him Monday morning.

CURTIS PRICE

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Mocksville. The Rev. C. B. Newton, Rev. A. J. Cox and the Rev. E. M. Avelt officiated. Burial was in the cemetery in Monroe.

Mr. Price had served as superintendent of Davie County schools since 1945. Under his leadership, the county schools were improved and modernized. His leadership was responsible for the consolidation of the four high schools into a modern plant 3 years ago. He was born in Union County on Feb. 1, 1903, the son of the late Henry Lawson and Nora Winchester Price. He received his high school diploma from the Wesley Chapel High School. He spent two years at Elon College and two years at Duke University, graduating from the latter with an AB degree.

From 1925 to 1945, he served as principal of schools in Rutherford County, and as assistant to superintendent of schools. In 1945 he became superintendent of schools in Davie County.

Mr. Price was chairman of the board of stewards of the Mocksville Methodist Church and teacher of the Men's Bible Class. He was chairman of the Davie Chapter of the American Red Cross; Chairman of the local chapter of the YB Association; Chairman of the local chapter of the Crippled Children's League; past president of the Mocksville Rotary Club; past president of the Northwestern District of the NECA; served as chairman of the Davie District of the Boy Scouts of America for three years and was the recipient of the Silver Beaver award; member of the National Education Association; member of the Superintendent's Division of the NEA; member of the N. C. Superintendents' Association; member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge.

On July 16, 1927, he was married to Miss Katherine Moore, who survives. He is survived by seven brothers: J. Hampton Price, J. Lawson Price, Irwin Price and Julian Price, all of Monroe, N. C.; Heath Price of White Plains, N. Y.; Henry L. Price of Kannapolis; and W. M. Price of Hendersonville. Three sisters: Mrs. Ward Broome of Monroe, N. C.; Mrs. W. W. Blakely of New Boston, Texas; and Mrs. Gilbert Hahn of Kannapolis, N. C.

Woman, Age 70, Found Not Guilty In Assault Case

A 70-year-old colored woman was found not guilty in county court Tuesday on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Mrs. Ollie Frost, wife of Vap Frost of Mocksville, Route 1, was accused of using a shotgun to threaten Lucille Ines, a niece of her husband, on Oct. 22.

Testimony developed at the trial indicated that Mrs. Frost thought that her husband was getting too familiar with his niece.

When the Ines woman and her mother, a sister of Van Frost, came to the Frost home on Oct. 22, Mrs. Frost came out of the house with a shotgun. As the two Ines women were driving away in the car, they heard the shotgun go off.

Judge Grant ruled that the evidence did not support a verdict of guilty for the 70-year-old woman.

Jaycees Win Final, 20-0

The Davie County Junior Varsity football team climaxed the 1958 football season by trimming Central Davidson Jaycees 20-0 last week in Lexington. The Junior Rebels ended the season with a record of three wins and six losses.

The locals started off in the first period by covering a Central fumble. A 43 yard pass play to end James Latham brought the ball to Central's two-yard line. Halfback Don Gobble plunged over for the score. Charlie Whitaker raced over for the extra point.

The Junior Rebels were held scoreless until the third period when they drove 40 yards in four plays. The drive was climaxed by a one-yard plunge to paydirt by Fullback Ronnie Beard.

The Davie scoring ended with Jim Dickinson firing a 25 yard pass to end Jimmy Steele for a touchdown, and Gobble added the extra point.

The locals had 12 first downs, 148 yards rushing and 111 yards passing. Dickinson completed five of 13 passes.

The defensive play of the Rebels was superb throughout the entire game.

Davie Bows In Final Game By Score Of 32-14

The largest crowd of the year watched the Rebels of Davie County High School bow to the Statesville Greyhounds 32 to 14 in their homecoming game last Friday night. This contest brought to an end the 1958 season for both teams.

As has been the case many times this season, the Rebels made a good showing in the statistics but could not get enough scoring drives started.

After Statesville scored a touchdown in the first period, the Rebels roared back to score. After a series of ground plays, quarterback Barry, Southern fired a 37-yard pass to end John Grimes to bring the ball to Statesville's 23-yard line. On the next play a pass interference penalty put the ball on the eight yard line. Seconds later, Joe Whitlock romped over for the touchdown. Halfback Tommy Graham tied the score by plunging for the extra point.

The Greyhounds dampened Davie's hopes by scoring two more touchdowns in the second period to jump into a 20-7 lead at half-time.

After a very impressive half-time program which consisted of the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and a very colorful performance by the Davie High School Band, Statesville again roared back with another touchdown.

The Rebels came fighting back as Joe Whitlock again climaxed a drive by racing 18 yards for Davie's second touchdown. Southern passed to Grimes for the extra point.

Davie's defense began to click in the last period, but it was too late for the Rebels to match the Greyhound's score as their lead was just too large.

Car Collides With Trailer On Hy. 601

A car pulling a trailer stalled on Highway 601 North last Saturday night around 6:45 p.m. and was struck by a 1953 Ford.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock said his investigation showed that the 1958 Chevrolet, operated by Carl Isaac Hodges, 43, of Gold Mill stalled in the highway. Several of the occupants got out of the car and attempted to push it from the highway.

A 1953 Ford, operated by John Henry Shore, 25, of Yadkinville, Route 3, ran into the trailer.

The trailer was demolished. Slight injuries were suffered by one of the children helping to push the car.

Boy Injured In Wreck Saturday

The driver of a 1953 Ford lost control of his car around 6 p.m., Saturday on the Ridge Road and overturned.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock said that Jerry Doyle McCullough, 16, of Advance, Route 1, lost control on a curve. The car ran off the shoulder on the left side and travelled 279 feet and overturned.

A passenger in the car, Luther Bailey Potts, 16, of Mocksville, Route 4, was carried to the Davie County Hospital suffering with injuries to arms and shoulder.

This record was for 10,406 lbs. of milk and 543 pounds of fat. "Eva" was a six year old, and was milked two times daily for 305 days while on test.

This official production record was supervised by N. C. State College.

North Callahan
Authors Novel
Of General Knox

North Callahan, who writes the column, "So This Is New York," for this newspaper has written a biography of General Henry Knox, an important but neglected figure of the American Revolutionary period. The book is already being hailed by critics and will be published Nov. 10 under the title, "HENRY KNOX: General Washington's General" by Rinehart & Co., 232 Madison Ave., N. W. York 16, N. Y. The price is $6.

Henry Knox was born in Boston in 1750 and went to work in a bookstore at the age of nine to help support his widowed mother. He read so much military history that when the Revolution began George Washington selected him to head the Continental Army Artillery. The main trouble with this was that the Americans had no artillery, so young Knox went to Ticonderoga and brought back over 300 miles of snow and ice, some 55 pieces of captured British artillery, with which the redcoats were then driven from Boston. From that time on, Knox was in the fiery midst of every battle in which Washington himself took part, from New York to Yorktown. He became Washington's favorite general and succeeded him as commander of the army at the war's end. Knox founded West Point and our National Guard and draft systems, serving as Secretary of War for ten years, being in the cabinet with Hamilton and Jefferson. Knox led an exciting life, and Fort Knox as well as Knoxville Tenn., are named after him.

Henry Knox was fat, weighing almost 300 pounds, but was tall and impressive. His wife weighed about 260 and they led an eventful but happy existence, settling in Maine after he retired, where they lived on a 30 mile square estate, in baronial splendor. Their mansion, "Manipeller" has been completely restored at Thomaston, Maine.

North Callahan spent five years of research on the book, doing much of it in the 11,484 handwritten Knox letters in Boston. It is the first complete biography of Knox. One reviewer has called it "a book to delight those who rejoice in well written biography."

Grenadier Guards
And Scots Guards
At Memorial Coliseum

For U. S. fanciers of bagpipers and military bands, the fall season will be off to a satisfyingly shrill and brassy start when the Grenadier and Scots Guards appear at the Memorial Coliseum in Winston-Salem for the first time on Wednesday, Nov. 26.

Touring across the country are killed bagpipers and Highland dancers of Britain's Scots Guards, with the 567-man band of Britain's Grenadier Guards.

As soldiers in show business, the Guards have worked out an excellent act. From the first fanfare that sends ceremonial chords cascading from their burnished horns, the red and gold uniformed Britishers keep their vast audiences keyed up. To make their performance look as splendid as it sounds, the guardsmen march and counter-march, wheel and turn in fluid patterns more spectacular than the ritual changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

The visit of the Scots Guards will give Americans a chance to see truly authentic dances, as they were conceived on windy moors many centuries ago.

Tickets went on sale Monday, Nov. 10 at Thalhimers (Parking Lot Level), Reznicks, and Coliseum Box Office. Also available in Greensboro at the Caravan Record Shop.

ATTENTION Teen Agers!

You teen agers have many problems. Sure, they are hard to solve, but with the right kind of help, you can find the right answer. Have you ever discovered that God can satisfy your longings? In His Church, you work and play with other teen agers, sharing with them the experience of worship through music, Bible study, and prayer. Here you discover that others have passed through similar experiences, solved similar problems. In the Church are adults who remember their own teen age tangles, and have come to realize that human beings are more or less alike, regardless of age. Here are leaders who can help, and who really understand! The Church offers you teen agers an opportunity to be yourselves at your very best, to exercise all your powers, to make life as wonderful as your rosiest dreams. How about it, teen agers? Don't you want to give the Church a chance?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Curtis Price

"The loss of a friend is like that of a limb; time may heal the anguish of the wound, but the loss cannot be repaired"—Southey.

This week the people of Davie County lost a friend. Not a casual acquaintance . . . not just a dedicated public servant . . . but a true friend in every sense of the word.

A friend may be defined as a close acquaintance, that supports and is favorable to your best interests. Such a man was Curtis Price, who came in 1945 to lead Davie County forward in education.

When Curtis Price took over the reins of Davie County schools there were several inadequate, one-teacher schools in operation. In just a few years these were abolished and every child had the privilege of attending a more modern school.

He led the fight in 1948 when Davie County citizens voted an $800,000 bond issue to improve and modernize the schools of the county.

Then, four years ago, the people of Davie County followed Curtis Price, their friend, into the field of consolidation. All of the four white high schools of the county were consolidated into a modern high school plant. This accomplishment was viewed with great admiration by North Carolina school officials and as such became the pride and joy of Mr. Price.

But Curtis Price was much more than a superintendent of schools.

Active in the First Methodist Church of Mocksville, he was chairman of the board of stewards and teacher of the Men's Bible Class.

And Curtis Price was more than just a school and church man:

He was chairman of the Davie Chapter of the American Red Cross; chairman of the local chapter of the TB Association; and chairman of the Crippled Children's League of Davie County. To all of these organizations he contributed much time and energy to the credit of all the people of Davie County.

Interested in boys, he was active in the Boy Scout organization. He served for three years as chairman of the Davie District of the Boy Scouts of America. So outstanding was his service in this field that he was voted the coveted "Silver Beaver" award, which is the highest award given in scouting.

It would take many pages of this newspaper to list all of the activities and contributions of Curtis Price . . . they were many. However, the outstanding characteristic of the man was his ability to inspire confidence and respect. This is borne out by the overflowing of friends that attended the funeral services Tuesday afternoon.

The loss of Curtis Price will affect Davie County for many years to come. Unfortunately, such a man does not come along as often as he is needed. However, the people of Davie County are fortunate that Curtis Price became their friend . . . a friend whose only interest was in making their lives better through education, religious worship, and civic affairs.

Curtis Price was buried in his hometown of Monroe. However, there are many monuments to him in Davie County. There is the modern high school plant which he fathered. There are improved school facilities in every section of the county. And there are the more tangible touches in everyday life which would not have been possible if it had not been for the leadership he rendered in the Red Cross, TB Association, and Crippled Children's service.

If Curtis Price was not your friend . . . then you have little interest in Davie County. If you have an interest in Davie County you should thank God, with all sincerity, for sending this man into our midst.

Such was the friendship and service of Curtis Price.

A GOOD NAME IS RATHER TO BE CHOSEN THAN GREAT RICHES, AND LOVING FAVOUR RATHER THAN SILVER AND GOLD. PRO. 22:1

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

It was a pleasant coincidence to be at the Grantland Rice Memorial Award luncheon at Toots Shor's Restaurant, for the man who won the award this year happened to be the one who introduced me to Grantland Rice when I first came to New York City almost 20 years ago. He was Frank Graham, the sports columnist, and without doubt, also one of the nicest guys around here. Granny himself would have loved being present. It was one of those friendly, interesting occasions which he enjoyed and in which he always played a quiet but helpful part. From where I sat beside Dan Chase who runs this "good show" each year, I could see Mrs. Rice, Mrs. J. O. McIntyre and Ray Erwin, John Daley, Jack Lescault, Jim Bishop and Rubie Goldberg, among others. Rubie told how he once hired an elevator man to let him ride up and down all day in a swanky apartment house to attract the attention of the influential people there. Toots Shor even made a speech, recalling that this is a land of opportunity and that once when he told Grantland Rice, "I am only a bum," the great sports writer and poet looked calmly at him and replied, "Well, what's the difference. Just be a champ at whatever you are."

Virginia Kirkus has been called "the Klipsinger of the book world." She is the genial but impersonal pre-viewer of books for many who depend on her expert opinion of a volume before purchasing for customers and readers. Publishers send proofs to her before books are published, she then reads and criticizes them and sends her frank, capsule opinion to some 1,800 bookstores and libraries all over the country. Booksellers and librarians regard her predictions as about 85 per cent accurate. Once she discovered a "new" novel about to reach print was really a plagiarism, and had been copied by a penitentiary convict word for word from a previously published book. Although she has her successful business on West 4th St. here, she lives at Poverty Hollow in Redding Ridge, Conn. What nice poverty!

When Carl Sandburg was in New York, he had a friend who lived in Greenwich Village named Frank Warner. Carl used to go here to relax with his literary labors, and he and Frank would play the guitar and banjo respectively, if not respectfully. Later Frank Warner got into the habit of collecting folk songs, especially from the Great Smoky Mountains of the South, and one of these he ran across and learned was "Tom Dooley," a sad but melodious tune about a fellow who was going to be hanged, at about the time of the Civil War, for murdering his sweetheart. Frank sang this song to a group of us here some five years ago, and I liked it very much and requested him to do it at a dinner held for Carl Sandburg some time later. Now the song is popular all over the country—and still "punky," I think.

Jack Sterling who conducts an early-bird radio program here says people act funny before the hours of dawn. A policeman told him that especially when there is a full moon, folks just seem to go goofy. They stay up too late, over eat and drink, and get out in the night, like goons, it appears. A milkman reported that during the big moon period celebrants insist on driving his wagon, delivering his milk until he wishes sometimes the cows would all jump over the moon—and stay up there.

Gotham Gatherings: a big color picture postcard from Emmett Kelly, the famous clown, showing his lugubrious face and saying he'll be at the Hollywood Beach Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., with his vicious Christmas Eve . . . the Social Security Information of a local newspaper had this: "Q. I married my present wife on Jan. 26, 1956. She is over 65 and never worked. When will she be entitled to wife's benefits?" . . . a local designer explained while exhibiting an ultra-modern house: "No provision has been made for push-button meals. Food will always taste better when made by a woman's hands."

WASHINGTON — Last week's election advanced the Democratic Party to overwhelming power in the United States Congress.

Avoid Extreme Positions This victory makes it even more necessary that Democrats avoid extreme positions and work together for the good of all the people. Democrats should not be a party of extremists. The Democratic Party, in reflecting upon the overwhelming victory at the polls on Nov. 4, should realize that this places upon all Democrats the awesome responsibility of conducting themselves as a responsible party, refraining from extreme things. I am convinced that Democrats must pursue a middle course.

What Happened? It is difficult to say just what happened to cause the Democratic sweep. It is my opinion that the crushing defeat suffered by the Republican Party in the election in all areas of the Nation is due to two things: First, the outstanding record of the 85th Congress and the realization of the American people that they fare better under Democratic leadership and second, the efforts of so-called Modern Republicans to make the Republican Party abandon its traditional doctrines for expediency.

New Faces One of the important things to watch for when the Congress convenes in January is the make-up of committees. The new members in both Houses of Congress will immediately thereafter play an important role in the work of the committees. Committee assignments are extremely important, and the turnover will be so great that the make-up of the committees should be carefully followed for their significance is often overlooked by many people.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

60 Second Sermons

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "What is got by begging costs dear." — Italian proverb.

Looking over their monthly bills a light-faced husband complained to his wife, "You're terribly extravagant! If anything ever happened to me you'd probably have to beg."

"I'd get by," his wife responded. "Look at all the practice I've had."

Some people beg continuously. They do not beg honestly, as a man in desperate need; nor employ the professional beggar's hypocritical whining. No, they pretend to be honest men. They trade dignity and manhood, fawning, full of fear, for prestige, advantage and power.

Some beg for preferred treatment by currying favor with their employers. Others beg for votes or appointments by cultivating those in power. Some beg for social recognition by spending beyond their incomes. Men and women beg in a hundred ways, throwing away self-respect, dignity and honor, bit by bit, until they become hollow puppets dancing woodenly when their strings are pulled. To these beggars "angles" are more important than ability. Who they know and how well, is more valuable than what they know and are.

When we choose to beg for what we can't or won't earn, the price we pay is too high. No matter what the gain, our personal loss is greater. Copyright, 1958 Fred Dodge BEHIND THE DECISION . . . Close friends of the Dr. Carey H. Bostonian there say the N. C. State College chancellor finally decided to resign because of petty headaches, irritations, and alumni whims which have become so much a part of a modern college leader's every-day existence.

While we understand an effort will be made to persuade the popular Dr. Boston to reconsider, both he and his wife are said to be looking forward with some impatience to the relatively quiet life to begin again next summer. He likes to teach, is a nationally known scholar in the field of genetics, and Mrs. Boston much prefers being the unhurried wife of a regular college professor over that of a bus yea a bee hostess of a college chancellor.

FROM SALEM . . . In the historical digging for the Andrew Johnson 150th birthday observance in Raleigh recently, much interesting information was uncovered.

It was learned for instance that Johnson's daughter went to Salem College in the 1840's and sent her own daughter to Salem in 1873.

And when our James K. Polk was at UNC, he courted Sarah Childress at Salem. She was from Murfreesboro, Tenn., and they were married there the day he became 19. They later had their leisure of living for four years in the White House . . . in the easy days (1845-49) before the Civil War.

MOST IMPORTANT . . . Some old heads among the Democrats around Raleigh say off the record what they fear time may prove the most important political development in the Nov. 4 elections was not the heart-warming defeat of Republicans in 11 of the 16 shaky seats they held in the Legislature . . . and was not their tremendous victories scored nationwide with governors, senators, and representatives . . . but the Election of Smiling, Simon Pure, Bertook-Baptist Nelson Rockefeller to the Governorship of New York State.

The road to the White House has led so frequently squarely through Albany that they are loosing a little larger than a man's hand on the horizon the figure who could very well take them in 1960. This they did not see with Nixon, but they feel Nixon is finished.

Thus, with all the cheering, Election Day 1958 was a lot less than perfect for Knowledgeful Democrats in North Carolina.

NEW CAREER? . . . Thousands of Baptist friends of Brooks Hays in North Carolina were deeply saddened last week when this president of the Southern Baptist Convention was beaten for Congress in strife-ridden Arkansas by a write-in candidate.

He spoke brilliantly at the annual N. C. Press Institute dinner at Duke University last January and has since made other appearances in North Carolina.

I have before me as I write this the Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock morning daily for Thursday, Nov.

6. The big article telling of Hays' conceding defeat begins this way: "Moderation on the race issue baffled veteran Representative Brooks Hays . . ."

Referring to his defeat as "not a new experience for me," Hays said the 16 years in Congress have been "extremely happy years" and added that he holds no bitterness toward anyone Hays was defeated for governor in 1928, 1930, and for Congress in 1932.

I am advised by a friend close to Brooks Hays that at the age of 60 Hays is considering entering fully into the field of lecturing when his term as leader of the Baptists expires next May 23. In any event, his eight terms in Congress entitle him to a tax-free pension of a little more than $10,000 per year. Hays' father is still living at Russellville, Ark., and they heard the election returns together. Hays is a lawyer.

NOTES . . . When the State Magazine completed recently their poll to find the ten "most interesting" Tarheels, the following came in: L. Rodgers, B. Graham, C. Sandburg, S. Ervin, A. Griffith, S. Love, R. Humber, I. Fletcher, and J. D. Messick . . . Can you call their first names? . . . Others were C. Poe, H. Golden, F. Graham, R. Hanes and A. Gardner? Our outdoor dramas in North Carolina crowdwise went this way in 1958 as compared with 1957: Unto These Hells, down 6.5 per cent; The Lost Colony, down 11.2 per cent; Horn in the West, down 14.5 per cent. Sounds bad, doesn't it . . . and is . . . but Paul Green's Common Gilly in Jamestown, Va. was down 54.8 per cent.

But Coliseum entertainment seems on the way up in North Carolina . . . beginning with Raleigh . . . and then Charlotte . . . then came Winston-Salem . . . and now Greensboro is coming along with their Coliseum. Although Winston-Salem crowds in their early months of operation have been very disappointing, they will do better with experience . . . and the right entertainment for the people . . . and the Charlotte Coliseum seems to do well with all offerings.

They haven't put it all in the papers, but the word we got is that Wake Forest freshmen . . . loaded with two potential All-Americans . . . have laid it on the varsity five times in informal practice games getting ready for the regular basketball season just around the corner.

Two names already being mentioned in connection with the new chancellorship vacancy coming up at State College are Dr. D. W. Colvard, who did his growing up in Ashe County and got a lot of his practice at test farms at Swannanoa and Waynesville . . . and L. L. Ray, Alamance native, who is director of Foundations at State . . . both top-notchers.

Paul Schiller, brilliant FBI man who resigned rather than to be transferred to the Midwest, is setting up a new, dignified, quiet, and efficient service in Raleigh for business executives. We wish him much luck!

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where they had to turn out a country school in Georgia last week on account of some feller had stole the pot-belled stove that kept the kids warm. Science has put out a heap of fancy gadgets for heating a house but America was raised up on the pot-belled stove and when a feller steals the one that is keeping kids warm in a country school he has committed a crime that is equal to burning the American flag or spitting in the President's eye. A feller that would do a trick like that ain't above starting a fire with the original copy of the Declaration of Independence.

There ain't never been nothing invented that beats a pot-belled stove for warming cold hands and drying wet feet. All along the road in American history they are more hardy builders of this nation that has thawed themselves out at a pot-belled stove than has any other. Star Spangled Banner. More history has been made in the circle of men around a pot-belled stove than has been made around them fancy heatin' contraptions in Congress. And they might be a few folks left in this nation like me who can't get warm from something they can't see.

When the final history of this country is wrote I think they ought to have a chapter on the pot-belled stove. And in it they ought to have a picture of this feller that stole one from a country school — alongside a picture of Benedict Arnold.

I was mighty upset too, Mister Editor, about them Federal agents in Washington pumpeing out a man's stomach looking for drug capsules. It seems to me that this isn't only trial by ordeal but was also an invasion of a man's privacy. A man's stomach is about as private as he can get. And the Constitution don't allow nothing like this. It shows the trend things is taking in this country. More and more folks is losing their personal freedom on account of ever Congress and ever legislature passing more and more laws. It won't be long till officers will be going around carrying a pistol, a blackjack, and a stomach pump.

Our laws is getting too many and too complicated. I was reading in the papers not long ago where the U. S. Supreme Court voted 5 to 4 on 84 cases in the last five year. If a feller on the Supreme Court don't know what the law is in 84 cases, how are us common folks going to know what it is in the 8,444 cases we run into ever day?

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Looking at the Election

Around 65 per cent of the registered voters of Davie County went to the polls last Tuesday to cast their ballot in the off-year election. The registration in Davie County totals about 7619, with 4,955 votes being cast in the sheriff's race.

In registration the county shows around 3618 registered Democrats and around 4,001 registered Republicans. Measuring by the vote on the state ballots (which we believe to more normally reflect the party vote minus of personalities), we find the Democrats voting around 62 per cent of their vote, and the Republicans around 59 per cent. The vote on the state ticket was approximately 300 votes lighter than the sheriff's race on the county ticket. However, due to the split tickets on the county races it is impossible to measure the percentage of party vote on that ticket.

In Clarksville there were 455 votes cast in the sheriff's race, or approximately 70 per cent of the registered vote. In this precinct it would appear that 60 per cent of the registered Democrats voted and around 69 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In Coolemeec there were 808 votes cast, or approximately 67 per cent of the registered vote. In this precinct it would appear that 64 per cent of the registered Democrats voted and around 59 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In Farmington there were 479 votes cast, or 64 per cent of the registered vote. Again measuring by the state races it would appear that 52 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 68 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In Fulton, there were 384 votes cast, or 63 per cent of the registered vote. It is estimated that about 56 per cent of the registered Democrats votes as compared to 63 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In Jerusalem, there were 309 votes cast or 56 per cent of the registered vote. About 51 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 56 per cent of registered Republicans.

In North Mocksville, a total of 789 votes were cast or 66 per cent of the registered vote. About 66 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 53 per cent of registered Republicans.

In South Mocksville, a total of 632 votes were cast, or 70 per cent of the registered vote. About 74 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 55 per cent of registered Republicans.

In North Calahain, a total of 283 votes were cast, or 67 per cent of the registered vote. About 70 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 62 per cent of registered Republicans.

In South Calahain, a total of 103 votes were cast, or 56 per cent of the registered vote. About 46 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 50 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In East Shady Grove, a total of 283 votes were cast or 78 per cent of the registered vote. About 74 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 72 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In West Shady Grove a total of 217 votes were cast, or 64 per cent of the registered vote. About 62 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 57 per cent of the registered Republicans.

In Smith Grove a total of 223 votes were cast, or 60 per cent of the registered vote. About 63 per cent of the registered Democrats voted as compared to 51 per cent of the registered Republicans.

Argentine city dwellers perfected the art of the coffee break long before it became popular in North America, the National Geographic Magazine says. Coffee bars are a distinctive feature of Buenos Aires. Most are long, horseshoe-shaped affairs with hundreds of tiny cups waiting invitingly around the rim. Clients drink standing.

"Eligible Voters" For Cotton Vote Defined

Farmers "eligible to vote" in the upcoming referendum on 1959 crop cotton marketing quotas was today defined by J. G. Crawford, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"The general rule is that anyone who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1958 is eligible to vote in the Dec 15 referendum," the chairman explained. "This, of course, would include all persons — whether owner, operator, tenant, or sharecropper—who had an interest in the 1958 upland cotton crop.

"However, under provisions of law now in effect, the term, 'eligible voters' also includes some other persons whose right to vote on cotton quotas may not be so well understood," Mr. Crawford declared.

"For instance, any grower who had a 1958 cotton allotment for his farm but who produced no cotton this year is also eligible to cast a ballot on 1959 crop quotas.

"Likewise, a farmer who placed his 1957 cotton allotment in the Soil Bank is eligible to vote in the Dec. 15 referendum.

"These are the principal classes of persons who are defined as 'eligible,' the chairman stated, "but a person may also qualify to vote as a guardian, administrator, executor, or trustee for another person. In such case the person for whom he is acting may not also vote.

"Each individual's right to vote depends upon his or her own qualifications," Chairman Crawford concluded, "and this applies to husbands and wives as well as minors who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1958."

"Where any person has a question about his eligibility to vote in the Dec. 15 referendum on 1959 cotton marketing quotas, he is urged to get in touch with his local County ASC Office where he may obtain all the necessary facts.

1959 Soil Bank Over Subscribed

Of the 9,788 North Carolina farmers who took the first step toward participation in the 1959 Soil Bank Conservation Reserve

Program, 5,098 or 52 per cent have followed through and made concrete offers of a specific acreage at a specific price for "reserve" under the program. These offers by Tar Heel farmers cover 180,830 acres. This is 25,830 acres over our established goal of 155,000 acres.

Since applications exceed funds available for the state, program regulations require that priority in awarding contracts be given first, to farmers who had all of their cropland in the acreage reserve and the conservation reserve in 1958 and who are now offering to put the acreage which was in the AR into the CR. After this priority other applicants offering land at the lowest rate compared with the applicable maximum rate are given priority. According to H. V. Mangum of the State ASC Office, this priority system will definitely come into play in this state in order to get the offers within the amount of money available.

The third and final step to be taken by these farmers, who first had maximum rates set for their farm and who then made definite offers for a definite amount of money must be taken within 15 days after they are notified of the acceptance or rejection of the offer and measurement of the designated acreage. After the farmer has been notified by the County Committee that his offer has been accepted the must then visit the ASC County Office to sign a contract for the land offered.

Grenadier Guards And Scots Guards

At Memorial Coliseum

For U. S. fanciers of bagpipers and military bands, the fall season will be off to a satisfyingly shrill and brassy start when the Grenadier and Scots Guards appear at the Memorial Coliseum in Winston - Salem for the first time on Wednesday, Nov. 26.

Touring across the country are killed bagpipers and Highland dancers of Britain's Scots Guards, with the 567 man band of Britain's Grenadier Guards.

As soldiers in show business, the Guards have worked out an excellent act. From the first fanfare that sends ceremonial chords cascading from their burnished horns, the red and gold uniformed Brits keep their vast audiences keyed up. To make their performance look as splendid as it sounds, the guardsmen march and counter-march, wheel and turn in fluid patterns more spectacular than the ritual changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

The visit of the Scots Guards will give Americans a chance to see truly authentic dances, as they were conceived on windy moors many centuries ago.

Tickets went on sale Monday, Nov. 10 at Thalhimer's (Parking Lot Level), Reznicks, and Coliseum Box Office. Also available in Greensboro at the Caravan Record Shop.

COAST TO COAST ONLY 1 1/2 CENTS PER MILE FOR GAS!

Pontiac's new Tempest 420E V-8 sets the year's most important economy mark—Here's the story and what it means to you!

PONTIAC COAST-TO-COAST ECONOMY RUN
San Diego, California to Savannah, Georgia
COMPLETED OCTOBER 17, 1958

DISTANCE	2,442.7 MILES
DRIVING TIME	60.72 HOURS
FUEL CONSUMED	112.5 GALLONS
FUEL COST	$35.79
MILES PER GALLON	21.7 Average for entire trip
AVERAGE SPEED	40.2 MILES PER HOUR
COST PER MILE	1.465 CENTS

We asked one of America's most respected car testers—"Uncle Tom" McCahill—to put a standard Pontiac Catalina Sedan with our new economy V-8 to the test.

And with only one specification—that the run would be exactly like you would drive coast to coast yourself—in mountains, in city traffic, across deserts, buying gas wherever the tank ran low.

And here's the phenomenal story in every complete detail—all officially certified by NASCAR, America's top automobile competition authority.

What does it mean to you?
Simply—and very importantly—this: For the first time, you can get deep-chested V-8 pep with better mileage than from many smaller so-called "economy cars" . . . and get it on regular fuel!

If you owned a Pontiac with this new Tempest 420E V-8 you'd be saving up to 5 cents a gallon on regular fuel. This new economy V-8 is optional at no extra cost on any Hydra-Matic Pontiac!

See your Pontiac dealer soon—and discover the newest in V-8 performance and economy!

Dr. Francis Slate, Surgeon, To Locate In Mocksville

Dr. Francis W. Slate of North Hollywood, California, has announced plans for locating in Mocksville for the practice of surgery.

Dr. Slate and family are planning to move here in about two weeks.

His father was a native North Carolinian who went to South Africa as a missionary and Dr. Slate was born there. He graduated from the University of Cape Town Medical School in 1947. After one year of internship, he spent three years in mission hospitals and then came to the United States.

He attended the year's course in graduate surgery given by the New York Postgraduate Medical School and then did a three-year residency in surgery in the Department of Surgery of the George Washington Medical School in Washington, D. C. Then for two years he was surgeon, senior grade, on the staff of the VA hospital in Lake City, Florida.

During the past few months he has been practicing surgery in the North Hollywood, California, area.

Dr. Slate plans to take the examinations of the American Board of Surgery in the near future. He is a fellow of the Southeastern Surgical Congress.

Lester Dwiggins Leases Mocksville Motor Co.

Lester Dwiggins of Mocksville announced this week that he had leased the Mocksville Motor Co. from his father, M. L. Dwiggins, who is retiring after being in business for 42 years.

Lester Dwiggins worked with his father for 12 years. For the past 18 months he has been employed at the Hanes Hosery Mill.

Mr. Dwiggins will do all types of welding and ornamental iron work. He said that the business would continue to operate under the same name and service policies as have been the custom in the past.

A lifelong native of Mocksville, Mr. Dwiggins is married to the former Peggy Spry. They have two children and reside on Garner Street in Mocksville.

V.F.W. MEETING
A VFW meeting will be held Friday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Hut.

Evangelistic Musical Rally Monday Night at Coolemeec

Irv Chambers and Homer James will come to the First Baptist Church of Coolemeec Monday, Nov. 24, at 7:30 p.m. for an Evangelistic Musical Rally.

Both of these men are presently working with Leighton Ford, an associate of Billy Graham, and they will come Monday night for a special music and preaching night with special emphasis being given to the young people. Irv Chambers will accompany the congregational singing with his trumpet; Homer James, cousin to George Beverly Shea, will sing several solo specials.

Homer James is rapidly becoming a favorite soloist for evangelistic crusades as well as a popular radio and recording artist. He was preparing for a professional music career in his native city of Ottawa, Canada, when he decided to use his voice in full-time religious service. Turning down a lucrative offer to enter the field of opera, James gave his attention to the neglected field of the hymns of the Church.

When only 18, Homer James made his first trans-Canada tour, singing in churches and summer conferences. He furthered his musical education at Marlon College, Ind., then became a soloist in large evangelistic campaigns. From 1955 on he has been associated with the Rev. Leighton Ford, Associate Evangelist to Billy Graham, in united evangelistic crusades in some of the largest cities in Canada. A favorite in all these cities was the Russian hymn "How Great Thou Art," which he sings with the large crusade choir. This song was James' first recording.

Mr. James' musical program has carried him abroad several times including trips to Europe, Nassau, and twice to the British Isles. He served as a member of

Toy Show Is November 28

Baptist Men Seek Toys For Underprivileged

A kiddies cartoon show for the benefit of the underprivileged children of the county will be held on Friday morning, Nov. 28, at 9:30 a.m., at the Princess Theater.

One new toy will admit a boy or girl to see "Our Gang" comedies; plus a large number of cartoons and other comedies.

The show is being sponsored by the Men's Sunday School Classes of the First Baptist Church in cooperation with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fowler.

The Baptist men are also seeking used bicycles, wagons, bicycles and similar wheel toys which can be repaired and distributed to underprivileged children throughout the county. Anyone having any parts of any of these wheeled vehicles are requested to contact Harold C. Young or J. C. Little.

The Baptist men plan to repair these vehicles and distribute them, along with the toys collected at the show on Nov. 28, to the underprivileged children of the county.

Motorcyclist Injured In Collision With Car

A Winston-Salem man was seriously injured around noon last Friday when the motorcycle on which he was riding crashed into a car at the intersection of South Main and Water Street in Mocksville.

James Brooks, 25, of Winston-Salem suffered lacerations and bruises after being thrown against the car from the impact of the collision.

Mocksville Policeman C. R. Plowman investigated the accident. According to Mr. Plowman, Brooks, on the motorcycle was heading south on Main St. A 1952 Ford, being operated by Mrs. John Adams of Mocksville, was pulling onto Main Street from Water Street when the motorcycle ran into the side of the car.

Around $264 damage was done to the motorcycle, with damage to the car estimated at $325.

Turkey Shoot At Farmington, Saturday

The annual turkey shoot will be held Saturday at the Farmington Fire Station. The event will get underway around 10 a.m. and run throughout the day.

Petitions Of Appreciation Arc Sent To Dr. Kornegay

Petitions expressing appreciation for service rendered and urging his return to Davie County were mailed this week to Dr. R. D. Kornegay, 215 St. Marks Sq., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Kornegay at the present time is doing graduate work at the School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania.

The petitions, which were signed by 3200 persons from all sections of Davie, read as follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Davie County would like herein to express our deep appreciation for the excellent service you have rendered to Davie County Hospital and the people of our area.

"We do most respectfully and sincerely urge you to give every consideration to returning to your practice in Davie County upon completion of your studies."

New Amoco Station Opens Here

The Cities Service gas station business formerly operated by C. R. Horn, has been leased to R. D. Reamer, distributor for the American Oil Company, of Salisbury.

The station will now feature the well known Amoco gas and Amoco products, and will be under the supervision of Jim Anderson, who has leased the station from Amoco. Jim is well known in the service station business, having formerly operated the location at County Line.

A grand opening with prizes to be given away, will be held at a later date, soon to be announced in this newspaper.

LIONS TO MEET

The Mocksville Lions Club will meet Thursday evening at the Rotary Hut. All members are urged to be present.

Rotary Host To Fireman Of County

The Mocksville Rotary Club was host Tuesday night to members of the Volunteer fire departments throughout Davie County. About 100 men attended the dinner meeting held in the Rotary Hut.

G. N. Ward, President of the Rotary Club, presided. G. R. Madison gave the address of welcome for the Rotarians. The response for the firemen was made by C. H. Tomlinson, Chief of the Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department.

Leo Williams was in charge of the program and introduced Wade Groce, Chief of the Farmington Volunteer Fire Department. Mr. Groce discussed the problems of a rural fire department and then called on representatives of the various departments present, each of whom made brief remarks concerning his own department. Those taking part in this discussion were:

Thomas Hendrix of the Fork Department; Harold Frank of Cornatzer - Dullin; Bob Powell of Center; C. H. Tomlinson of Mocksville; J. W. Everhardt of Jerusalem; and Wade Groce of Farmington.

Turkey Shoot-Supper Scheduled At Center

The Center Fire Department will sponsor a Turkey Shoot, Saturday, Nov. 22, beginning at 10 a.m. Barbecue will be sold all day and a barbecue supper will begin at 4:30 p.m. Proceeds will be used for the new fire truck and fire station.

Farmington Area Classified As Legal Fire District

Garbage Pickup

Because of Thanksgiving, all garbage that is picked up in the residential area of Mocksville will be picked up on Wednesday of next week, instead of Thursday.

The garbage pickup scheduled on Friday will take place at the usual time.

L. G. Sanford To Be Honored By Assn.

L. G. Sanford, Sanford Motor Co., will be a special guest of the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association in Raleigh Friday night, Nov. 21.

As Area Chairmen of the association, he and other outstanding dealers about the state will be recognized at a dinner and entertainment for their work in a month long campaign and for other activities during the year, according to Joe A. Watkins of Oxford, association president.

The Area Chairman serves as liaison in his county between the association and members.

The special Area Chairman program will follow the association's second Annual Working Conference which will take place during the day. Five dealers who have been successful in solving problems particularly vexing to Tar Heel dealers will discuss their solutions and answer questions during the workshop meeting, Watkins said.

Local Surveyors Attend State Meeting Friday

A Lee Bowles and C. C. Bailey attended the State Surveyors Convention in Asheboro last Friday.

Surveyors from all sections of North Carolina attended the meeting which featured a business session of the North Carolina Society of Surveyors.

They also have a radio in the station and on the No. 1 truck, and the chief's car.

DSA Nominations Being Received

Nominations for the Distinguished Service Award, presented annually by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce to an outstanding young man between the ages of 21-36 who has rendered the greatest service to his community, are now being received by Jack Ceell, chairman of this project.

These nominations will be turned over to a secret committee composed of business and professional leaders in Mocksville who will make this year's selection on the basis of the nominations received by the committee.

Anyone desiring to nominate an outstanding young man to be designated "Young Man Of The Year" for 1958, is invited to mail the nomination to Jack Ceell, Mocksville, N. C.

All nominations must be in before Jan. 1, 1959.

Area Gets Reduction In Insurance Rates

The Farmington area has been classified as a legal fire district in conformance with standards set forth by the North Carolina Insurance Rating Bureau. This includes all the area within four miles of the Farmington Fire Station.

As a result of being classified as a legal fire district, the insurance rates in this area have been reduced to 48c per $100 of insurance. Prior to being classified as a legal fire district, the insurance rates on the homes in this area ranged from 54c to 72c, dependent upon the type of structure.

The reduction in insurance rates will result in a saving of several thousands of dollars per year for the approximate 400 home owners in the area.

The Farmington area qualified as a legal fire district through the efforts of the volunteer fire department of that community which was organized in 1954. To qualify, an area must be served by a department having at least two trucks, equipped to carry a minimum of 1400 gallons of water. They must have an improved alarm system such as radio; two self-contained breathing devices; plus other equipment.

The Farmington Volunteer Fire Department has three trucks. The No. 1 truck is a 1954 GMC, equipped to carry 800 gallons of water, and has a high pressure fog system. The No. 2 truck is a six-wheel drive Reo Army truck, purchased through Civil Defense. This truck has a 600 gallon water capacity and is equipped for off-road use for woods fire. This truck is also equipped to draw water from fish ponds. The No. 3 truck is an Auto-Car tanker, also purchased through Civil Defense, and is equipped to fight fire.

Cotton Referendum To Decide Important Questions

How farmers vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum to be held throughout the nation's cotton growing area on Dec. 15 will determine whether quota penalties will apply, the kind of allotment program in effect, and also the level of price support for 1959 crop cotton. The referendum therefore is of vital concern to every grower, says J. G. Crawford, chairman of the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The marketing quota program will be in operation for next year's crop, the chairman explains. If at least two-thirds of the votes cast in the referendum are in favor of the program, in that case, farm operators will have an opportunity to elect a choice between (A) complying with their "regular" farm allotments — with price support available at not less than 80 per cent of parity for the 1959 crop of upland cotton, or (B) complying with an increased farm allotment, 40 per cent larger than the "regular" farm allotment — with support at a level 15 per cent of parity lower than under the first choice; quota penalties will apply to any cotton produced in excess of the chosen allotment.

If more than one third of the votes are against quotas, there would be no quota penalties, only the "regular" allotments would be available, and the price support level to eligible growers would drop to 50 per cent of parity.

All farmers who were engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1958 will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

The referendum will be held between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 15.

MOCKSVILLE CURS ON CHANNEL 2—Fifteen Mocksville Cub Scouts of Pack 574, accompanied by Dr. Ramey F. Kemp, appeared on Channel 2 Tuesday, Nov. 11, as special guests on the "Old Rebel and Pecos Pete Show" in WFMV-TV, Greensboro. In the back row are George Ferry as the Old Rebel, Dr. Kemp, and Jim Tucker as Pecos Pete. The picture was made in WFMV-TV's Studio 1 against the background designed especially for the children's program seen each weekday at 5:00 p.m.

Pigskin Roundup

By JOHNNY WARD
The curtain has come down on the Davie County High School football teams 1958 grid slate. This year marked the Rebels' second season in the strong North Piedmont Conference. The following are a few of the statistics that tell a part of the football story at Davie this year.
Fullback Joe Whitlock led the scoring with a total of four touchdowns for 24 points. Tommy Graham scored three touchdowns and four extra points for a total of 22 points; Mike Osborne scored three touchdowns, one extra point and a safety for 21 points; Jerry Spry scored two touchdowns for 12 points; John Grimes scored one touchdown and two extra points for eight points; Barry Southern and Ramey Kemp each scored one touchdown to round out the scoring for the Rebels.

In the rushing department, the team was also led by Joe Whitlock who gained 370 yards for an average of four yards per carry; Tommy Graham ran 280 yards for an average of 2.9 yards per carry; "Mole" Spry, who was out the latter part of the season with a shoulder injury, rushed 159 yards to average 3.4 yards per carry. Ramey Kemp had 61 yards for 3.7 yards per carry; and Sam Shore rushed 67 yards for 4.8 yards per carry.

In passing, Barry Southern completed 34 passes out of 101 attempts for 651 yards and four touchdowns. "Mole" Spry caught three passes for 144 yards; Tom Graham caught eight for 133 yards; Mike Osborne grabbed 8 for 151 yards; and John Grimes caught seven for 132 yards. Davie gained 955 yards rushing to 1663 yards for the opponents. Davie punted 50 times for a 33.4 yard average, with the opponents averaging 31.6 yards. Davie gained 63 first downs to 107 for the opponents and were outscored 214 points to 99.

The overall final standings in the North Piedmont Conference were as follows:

Team	W	L	T
Asheboro	10	0	—
Lexington	6	3	—
Children's Home	8	2	—
Statesville	6	4	—
Barham Springs	3	4	—
Thomasville	4	6	—
Davie County	2	7	1
North Rowan	0	10	—

JAYVEES

The Junior Varsity won three and lost six. The scoring went as follows:
Larry Smith 22 points; Jim Dickinson, 18 points; Ron Beard, 12 points; Jim Latham, 13 points; Donnie Gobble, 7 points; Jimmy Steele, 6 points; and Elmer Allen, 6 points.

Local Girl Completes Recruit Training

Mary Magdalene Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Greene of Route 5, Mocksville, has completed nine weeks of recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md. The local WAVE, a former student at Farmington High School, will spend a 14 day leave with her parents before reporting to Great Lakes, Ill., for Hospital Corps School.
Seaman Apprentice Greene successfully completed the transition from civilian to military life which included instruction in Naval Orientation, Naval History, military bearing, military drill, ships, and aircraft, Navy jobs and training, and citizenship.
The Mocksville WAVE enlisted in Salisbury for four years, and was sworn in at Raleigh. She was employed by the Commercial Industrial.

Sunday evening, Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m., at the Jerusalem Baptist Church.

TWO VISITORS pause to inspect the bronze Medallion at the entrance of Davie Memorial Chapel at North Carolina Baptist Hospital. The heart in the center symbolizes love and charity. Above it is the Greek name of Hippocrates, founder of medical science, and in the circle surrounding it are the shields of Religion, Medical Science, Nursing Care, and Knowledge.

Davie Memorial Chapel Proving Major Attraction

The Davie Memorial Chapel of North Carolina Baptist Hospital is becoming one of Winston-Salem's major attractions.

The registration book shows that 4,695 persons visited the chapel during the period from August, 1957, to August, 1958.

The visitors came from 21 states and four foreign countries.

These were in addition to the hundreds of patients, members of their families and hospital personnel who worship in the chapel daily. It is known that other hundreds have visited the chapel, but did not sign the registration book.

The majority of visitors, 4,172—came from North Carolina. A total of 255 Tar Heel cities and towns were represented. Virginia was second with 264 visitors from 28 communities. Tennessee was third with 89 visitors from nine cities. South Carolina had 69, Georgia, 19; and Florida, 13. Ten came from New York City and two from California.

Other states represented were Alabama, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia.

Foreign countries represented were England, three visitors; Australia, two; Finland, two; and Scotland, one.

The visitors came from the length and breadth of North Carolina. Winston-Salem had 320. Other cities with high totals were Asheboro, 130; Concord, 130; Greensboro, 140; Hickory, 135; High Point, 175; Lexington, 145; Mt. Airy, 165; Shelby, 105; Thomasville, 95; Kannapolis, 80; and Elkin, 77.

The Davie Memorial Chapel was dedicated in 1957 as a tribute to the Christian life of Mrs. Annie Pearl Shore Davis, who died Oct. 13, 1942. Construction began in 1955.

Mrs. Davis, wife of Ebert L. Davis, Sr., spent much of her time visiting patients at Baptist Hospital, often taking them flowers from her own garden. The Atlas Supply Co., organized under the leadership of Mr. Davis, built the chapel in memory of Mrs. Davis and in honor of Mr. Davis.

Built in the Gothic Tudor style of old colonial brick and Indiana limestone, the chapel nestles at the right of the main entrance to the hospital and adjacent to the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. It seats 132 persons.

Its limestone walls, slate floors, oak woodwork, antiqued silver light fixtures, hand wrought ornamental hardware and stained and tinted hand-blown cathedral glass windows blend to create an aura of reverence and peace.

Services are held in the chapel daily at 1:05 p.m., under the direction of the Department of Pastoral Care of the hospital. A service is held also at 11:15-11:45 a.m. each Sunday. A vesper service is held each Thursday evening.

Special services are conducted from time to time. And many marriages of nurses, doctors, and other personnel have been performed in the chapel. Approximately 30 weddings have been held there since it was opened three years ago.

Music is provided by a Schlicker pipe organ which was planned and constructed in keeping with the design and purpose of the chapel.

Hospital authorities point to the big bronze Medallion in the floor of the chapel entrance as a terse embodiment of the role the chapel plays in the hospital's program of healing, teaching, and preaching. The inscription says: "To the Glory of God—For Service to Mankind."

U.D.C. MEETING

The Davie Grays, chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will meet Thursday, Nov. 20, at 3:30 p.m. with Mrs. S. H. Hines and Miss Mary Hellman, at the home of the former on N. Main St. All members are invited to attend.

PRACTICAL NURSES TO MEET

Division No. 2 of Licensed Practical Nurses will meet Nov. 21, in the Nurses Home, Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem. Each Licensed Practical Nurse is urged to attend.

Vehicle Department Should Be Notified Of Address Changes

More than 50,000 North Carolina Motor vehicle owners are likely to be scrounging for their 1959 renewal registration certificate cards after the first of the year to obtain new 1959 license plates. It is estimated by F. D. Miller, vice president - secretary in charge of license sales of the Carolina Motor Club.

Without the renewal card, they will not be able to obtain a 1959 license plate.

The reason some 50,000 owners will be searching for the new cards is that approximately that many cards will not be delivered because the owners have had a change of address and failed to notify the Department of Motor Vehicles, Mr. Miller said.

"The mailing of nearly a million and three-quarters 1959 renewal cards will begin Dec. 22," Mr. Miller explained, "but since they are mailed third class they will be sent to the last known address of the owners and will not be forwarded. So, look at your present registration card, if the address is incorrect, notify the Department at once."

"Making certain Raleigh has your correct address is important because or the first time in more than 30 years, proof of ownership as shown by 1958 Registration card or the Certificate of Title is not sufficient for car owners to obtain a 1959 license. They must present the 1958 Renewal card - and a declaration that the owner has proper insurance coverage on the reverse side of the card must be signed by the owners. There are no exceptions."

"The PS-1 form - necessary last year for all vehicle owners - this year will be required only for new registrations, such as a new car, transfer of a second hand car, or a car from out of state."

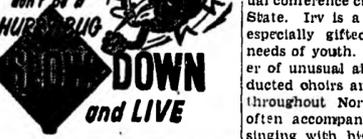

"If the Department is notified of a change of address within the next four or five weeks, it is not likely that the owner will receive his 1959 renewal card."

Sale of new licenses in the 80-odd offices of the Carolina Motor Club, opens Jan. 2. Deadline for the display of the new tags will be Feb. 15.

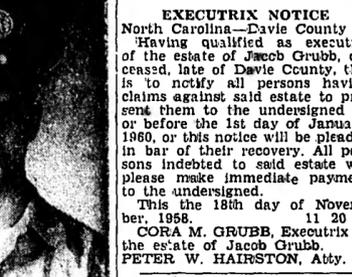

Irv Chambers is a native of California, graduated from high school in New Jersey, Moody Bible Institute, attended King's College, and recently he took advanced studies at Columbia University in New York City.

At present, Mr. Chambers is engaged in evangelistic work along with his position as Director of the Sacandaga Conference, one of the leading summer spiritual conference centers in New York State. Irv is a capable preacher, especially gifted in meeting the needs of youth. He is a song leader of unusual ability, having conducted choirs and mass audiences throughout North America. He often accompanies congregational singing with his trumpet. Chambers is well versed in evangelistic music and has worked often with members of the Billy Graham team, including the Rev. Leighton Ford, with whom he has been associated for the past three years. He also served as a member of the Billy Graham team during the Caribbean Crusade early in 1958. Being also a member of the International Brotherhood of Musicians, he has wisely used this medium in programs for high schools and service clubs. He has appeared with overwhelming success in over 1,000 school programs as well as on radio and television.

"The First Baptist Church has extended an invitation to the people in this area to come and have a part in this Evangelistic Musical Rally. The choirs from many churches will be combined for this night," said Rev. Gerald Naylor, pastor.

profitable quotes. Cutting down on advertising to save money is like stopping the clock to save time. The urge to trim operating expenses when sales drop off is certainly understandable. But slashing an ad budget can rob a retailer of valuable sales help just at a time when he needs it the most. The true value of advertising is in its cumulative effect. Consistency in advertising is more important than the size of any one advertisement. Lifetime Earnings Reach $110,000 Here

Purely from a dollars and cents standpoint, what is the value of an education to a young man in Davie County? What is it worth to him, in lifetime earnings, to go through high school and college?

The questions are of particular interest right now because of American Education Week, observed during this month.

Studies made by the U. S. Department of Labor, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and other agencies show that the financial benefits are very real. In size, they vary for each region, depending on local economic conditions.

The typical Davie County youth, equipped with an amount of education equal to the local average, can look forward to lifetime earnings of $110,000, based on the findings. The figure takes into account present income levels locally as well as life span and number of years in schooling.

It is nearly twice the sum a man had prospects of earning after the last World War, inflationary effects considered.

The Census Bureau states that going through high school and college yields as much as $3,400 extra in annual earning power over the years.

The average income of families headed by college graduates is $7,600 a year, compared with $5,500 for those headed by high school graduates and $4,200 for those headed by elementary school graduates, based on 1956 data.

Among residents of Davie County, the educational level was shown by the last census to be relatively high and increasing, with a median of 7.6 years of schooling for the adult population.

Education levels locally and in most other parts of the country have been rising steadily since the war and are expected to continue in that direction. In 1957 more than two-fifths of the population over age 25 had a secondary school education or better, compared with only one-fourth in 1940.

However, a sizeable number are dropping out earlier for one reason or another. They might give second thought to this move, states the report, if they knew what they were sacrificing in earning capacity.

November . . . RIAL Month

November has been proclaimed as "Religion In American Life Month."

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with other Jaycee Clubs throughout the United States, is urging that every resident participate in this program through regular attendance at the church of his choice.

From the beginning, this nation has built its enduring strength on faith in God and today sets an example for all the world by guaranteeing these rights to every citizen.

The national "Religion In American Life" program calls on everyone to designate the month of November as a period of dedication to a renewal of religious faith by regular attendance and support for the church of individual choice. Hundreds of communities across the county will observe the month by holding community "Religion In American Life" programs in which service organizations, churches, and many other groups cooperate to emphasize the role of religion in national, community, family and personal life.

Good Hunting For Sportsmen

This season of the year is eagerly welcomed by some 15 million Americans who regard hunting as the ultimate in sport and relaxation.

Hunting conditions for these 15 million enthusiasts are changing rapidly. It is obvious that with such a large number of hunters active, the supply of wild game will dwindle, even though seasons are more and more restrictive. One answer to this has been the introduction of shooting preserves throughout the country.

Commercial shooting preserves are stocked with plump, meaty game birds grown especially for releasing on controlled shooting areas. Seasons on these preserves are open for as long as six months per year.

When hunting preserves were first introduced in this country, some hunters were doubtful that domestically grown birds could offer as much sport as birds grown in the wild. They thought birds released for shooting might be sluggish and slow on the wing. However, this has not been the case. Much has been learned about growing game birds for hunting. They are fed in a special manner and when released are vigorous and swift of wing.

This season it is estimated there are more than 1,000 hunting preserves in the United States, located in all but ten or so states. The chances are good that there is one within convenient driving distance of nearly every American hunter.

Health of the Doctor

In case you've ever wondered . . . most doctors work too hard.

The average doctor doesn't play enough. He is a frequent sufferer from "work-related illnesses," especially infections. And heart disease appears to be his particular Nemesis.

Of 3,169 physician deaths reported from July 1, 1957, to June 30, 1958, heart disease was the single or contributory cause of 50 per cent.

These are the findings of the most extensive survey ever made in this field, and recently completed by Parke-Davis for presentation in the October issue of "Patterns of Disease," a publication designed for the exclusive use of the medical profession.

Based on 9,396 responses to a detailed questionnaire mailed to 25,825 practicing physicians under 65 years of age and in private practice in this country, "Patterns" has assembled a "composite" profile of the average practicing doctor.

tall and weighs 173 pounds. He works 54 hours a week, plays seven hours, takes two and a half day's vacation a year and hasn't had a physical examination in 18 months.

Only 15 per cent of those reporting limit their work to what would be called a normal week for other people, 35 to 44 hours. Thirteen per cent work 60 to 64 hours and six per cent 80 hours or more. Nearly 60 per cent enjoy less than ten hours of recreation a week, and of the 37 per cent who reported hobbies, half spend four hours or less per week on these diversions.

Illnesses resulting from the practice of medicine have attacked more than one tenth of those reporting during the past three years. Of these, almost three-quarters were laid low by infections and more than one-fifth developed allergic dermatitis or other forms of allergies. One in 30 with work-related illnesses was injured by over-exposure to radiation.

Porpoises outswim most fish, but the seagoing mammals can remain under water no longer than three minutes. Usually porpoises surface for breath every 30 to 45 seconds, even during sleep.

The port of Byblos in Lebanon exported papyrus in ancient times, the National Geographic Magazine says. Greeks called the scrolls "biblia," the origin of the word "Bible."

The Joy of Worship

I WAS GLAD WHEN THEY SAID UNTO ME, LET US GO INTO THE HOUSE OF THE LORD! — PSALM 122:1

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

If you'd keep count of it you'd find that about half the space used by newspapers from day to day is quoting what the big boys says is wrong with the country. But them deep thinkers has missed one thing that is mighty important, something that has done more to set our country back than anything else. The big thing wrong with America is that the folks has quit eating breakfast.

It sounds like a mighty small thing, but it's fundamental and I think you could trace a heap of our mistakes to the time when folks quit eating breakfast and took to a piece of toast, a sip of orange juice, and a gulp of coffee. If our ancestors could take a look at the kind of table that was spread for breakfast these days they wouldn't wonder how come the nation is always on the brink of disaster.

Our grandfathers wouldn't never be able to build this nation if they had sloshed down their coffee, grabbed a piece of dry toast, kissed Grandma good-bye on the run and finished dressing after they got the mules hitched up to the plow.

Back in the days when this nation was getting its solid foundation, folks set down and had a meal for breakfast. The table was heaped high with good vitts, the big steamy pot of coffee boiled on the back of the stove. There was a platter heaped high with eggs, another with meat, and there was as plenty of potatoes, hot bread, butter, honey, molasses, and jam. And on Monday there might be a big piece of apple pie left over from Sunday. With a breakfast like that under his belt a man could go out and handle a team of mules, the political situation, the foreign policy, or most anything that come along. But now we got orange juice and a piece of toast. I think the nation will have to git back to eating breakfast if it wants to handle the problems facing us today.

I see by the papers where some college professor says the cave man was never bow-legged or stoop-shouldered. Fer his benefit, man started gitting bow-legged and all bent over the year taxes was discovered. By the time the next three generations git through paying off the national debt, it's be very unusual to see a taxpayer that can straighten up enough to saddle a Shetland pony.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

The other day a procession wound its impressive way along Riverside Drive to lay the cornerstone for a new building. The building was the new Interchurch Center and among those marching was President Eisenhower who looked reminiscently at the nearby buildings of Columbia University where he was prexy when he was chosen President. A little old lady was in the throne watching the procession, and when he came by, she stopped and shook hands with her. Who was she? Mrs. John Howard Aches, 88, widow of a judge, who now lives with her daughter near where the new building will be. For years she taught Indian children in her native South Dakota and later she was director of a choir. So, still young in heart, she was on hand to see the President, and was rewarded by his warm handshake.

While the Senate investigates some of the labor leaders, an organization here goes quietly but efficiently about its business of studying democracy in the trade unions. It is called the Tamiment Institute and Library and is non-profit and nonpartisan, having originated in Pennsylvania. Eminent professors and other authorities gather here to discuss such questions, as well as those related to our education and foreign policy. When some one writes or does something beneficial to humanity in these and related ways, the Institute gives the person an award. Thus more lasting good can often be accomplished than by public furore.

A local office girl, not too bright to say the least, for eight months here thought the waste-paper chute down to the furnace was a filing cabinet. That's where she stuffed every letter given her to file. "The surprising part of it was," said an executive of the company, "is not that we lost 3,000 letters that way. What really gets us is that so far we have not needed one of them."

Wondering what you'll get for Christmas? Then you might be interested in the following, from a book trade journal:

"Diamonds are nice presents, but they have to be kept in vaults. Packet handkerchiefs are seldom properly appreciated. It's thoughtless to give a yacht unless you can furnish the crew. And when a woman buys a man a tie, the result is often traumatic to both. But books are a Christmas shopper's best friend. A book is just about the only present with which a commuter can delight a king, with which a millionaire can surprise another millionaire. The family that owns a thousand books inevitably wastes more. And the family that owns none will be flattered to get one. Only in a book can you give your child the moon. Or his future."

In a restaurant, I happened to be sitting near a well dressed man who showed much interest in what was going on. The place was full of diners and there was a long waiting line which the head waiter seemed to be doing his best to console. Finally the man next to me asked the headwaiter if outsiders could buy stock in the restaurant. "No sir," was the reply "the only ones to whom the owner will sell stock are the employees, who then share in the profits."

Not long ago, I had a chance to listen to some morning radio programs, and inevitably tuned in to the red headed Arthur Godfrey. As I listened, I thought of the problems he had had, such as letting some of his performers go because they "lacked humility." But as the program continued, one conclusion stood out among the periods of music, commercials, and chatter: Godfrey is good. I suppose a person has to be, to appeal to so many people. And lately, it is said, although most of his huge salary naturally goes to the government, Arthur is working harder than ever to have a good program.

TEXT: "The first and worst of all frauds is to cheat one's self" —Bailey.

A former All-American football player was helping with the recreation program in a State prison. He coached a football team made up of prisoners. One of the inmates showed the coach the diagram for a play the team planned to use.

"Wait a minute," said the former football star. "You have five men in the backfield. That's against the rules."

"Yeah," said the player, "but that's why we're here. We cheat!"

When we cheat others we are sent to jail. When we cheat ourselves we build jails around us. The worst fraud, cheating ourselves, is pathetic. We cheat ourselves by fearing to face facts. Confined in our self-made jails, we pretend that there are no windows. We are afraid that we might see a truth which would make us uncomfortable. We avert our eyes. We see less and less. Our jails grow smaller and smaller. Eventually we become narrow fanatics, sometimes feared, sometimes pitied, but more often simply ignored. Truth is surprisingly indifferent to ignorance.

Why cheat yourself into oblivion? Dare to seek truth. It's dangerous! You'll lose the support of comfortable old beliefs. It's exciting! You'll explore paths you never knew existed. It's living! Copyright 1958 Fred Dodge

KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

OUT AFTER FIVE . . . One of the greatest problems facing North Carolina and other states, in the educational front, is in this day of rapidly increasing school enrollment:

How to attract more teachers; and how to prevent teachers from leaving the profession.

A note just received from the N. C. Dept. of Education reports that one-half of the young people who began teaching in this nation last year expect to drop out and get into something else within five years.

IN 1956 . . . Of course, you will notice the term "expect to." I talked with a school principal the other day who has been one—and a good principal, too—for 25 years. In 1933, he also got his law license . . . and he had planned to "teach only a year or two." So, this "expect to" business is a tricky lifemanship type of thing as the years become decades.

Nevertheless, I am sorry to learn that young people becoming teachers have no plans for staying with it. Another disturbing thing is that 30 per cent of the college graduates of 1956 trained to teach did not actually become teachers.

IN THE WEST . . . Addison Hewlett of Wilmington, said to be the leading candidate for Speaker of the House in the 1958 Legislature, was in Western North Carolina the shag-end of last week.

Those Democrats who came through with such surprising wins for the Legislature over the Republicans have suddenly become Somebody. They are being wooed on every hand—by Add Hewlett and others.

WAITING . . . They refuse to be quoted directly on it, but the justices of the peace we have talked with—sharply nettled at their effort to have their jurisdiction raised from $50 to $200—say they are going to be in these watching to see what the lawyers come up with on this court reform business."

SLOW . . . Note: No important changes in our messed-up court system in North Carolina can become effective before 1961. This is true even if the proposals move smoothly through the '59 Legislature, which is extremely doubtful.

The people must vote again in the General Election of 1960, with the 1961 Legislature following with legal processes to put the alterations into effect as of July 1, 1961 . . . or, if they wish, immediately upon adoption of the bill or bills effecting the changes.

TO FLORIDA . . . Arthur Johnsey, who succeeded the late Tom Bost here as representative for the Greensboro Daily News ten years ago, has taken a job with one of the big newspapers in Miami, Florida.

Johnsey, easy to know, rock-solid and enquiring reporter, did not want to go to Florida. But, also, he got tired of living away from his wife.

All of the Johnsey family except Arthur have been in Florida—for health reasons—for some two years now. He has been biding his time, visiting down there when possible. Three weeks ago the big opportunity came through and last week Arthur Johnsey reluctantly said goodbye to Raleigh.

LOOK FOR CHANGE! . . . M. A. Huggins, sometimes known simply as "The Bishop" — is giving up his duties as secretary of the State Baptist Convention. Because of his contacts with churches throughout the State, M. A. Huggins in 26 years he has been head of the Baptists has become one of the most powerful men in the State.

Do not be misled. He is not resigning suddenly. The Huggins quitting is set for next July. But we hear the genial Mr. Huggins may be around for a goodly spell beyond that date. Sound advice will be needed.

His successor will be named—on the nineteenth ballot, no doubt—next spring. May is the month selected. When the new man finally takes over, look for far-reaching, though very gradual—changes to begin taking place in the Baptists' sprawling offices here at the corner of Hillsboro and Dawson Streets two blocks from the capitol. Huggins will be missed.

NOTES . . . John Larkins of Jones County is writing a few friends special notes asking their advice on whether he should become a candidate for Governor. . . . Following the pattern set by the truckers, the bankers, and the automobile dealers, the N. C. Merchants Association will go into new, ground floor and glistening new offices in December—and, appropriately enough, only a few hundred feet from the Revenue Building!

If we have not misfigured somewhere, we have the most changes in the State Legislature in thirty years—with 32 new faces in the State Senate and 84 in the House.

Seen in sumbit, pleasant capitol square bench conversation recently: H. Clifton Blue of Moore County and John Umstead of Orange . . . and could not recall when ever before we had seen legislators leisurely enough to sit on one of those benches.

Glad to know our old side-kick Mrs. Blanche Manor: out of the hospital and back in her rooms at the Sir Walter . . . and Supreme Court Justices Parker and Johnson continuing to improve.

George Lemons, advertising director of the Greensboro News-Record, is back at his desk after spending weeks in darkness with eye treatment at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore . . . His trouble came, believe it or not, as the result of a hard sneeze while he was attending an advertisers get-together at Myrtle Beach last August . . . disturbed retina . . . and he still has double vision . . . but is coming right along . . . we are glad to report.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — Last week I touched briefly upon the significance of Congressional committees. In view of the great readjustment in the Senate committees due to the elections it is appropriate to discuss the matter further.

The Committees Senate Rule XXV governs committees. The majority of standing committees have 15 members. There are others with as many as 23 and a few with nine Senators. For this discussion we will consider the 15 members committee, such as Judiciary and Armed Services on which I have been serving.

During the past Congress the party division on each of these committees has been eight Democrats and seven Republicans. In the new Congress beginning in January it is expected that the division along party lines will be around ten Democrats and five Republicans.

Major Readjustment It is obvious that this is a major readjustment of committee personnel which further underlines the heavy responsibility upon the Democratic Party for sound legislation. By following a course of moderation the Democrats can continue responsible leadership in the Senate.

Back To Washington Due to the work of the Senate Select Committee (Senate Rackets Committee) it has been necessary to return to Washington for hearings during the Congressional recess. We hope to have additional information to prove beyond doubt that Congress must legislate without further delay to outlaw corruption in some management and unions to protect the working man against outrageous abuses which have been disclosed by our committee.

What Every Veteran Should Know

W. J. Wilson, Davie County Veterans Service Officer, reported this morning that only those veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 50 per cent or more may receive additional Veterans Administration compensation for dependents.

Mr. Wilson said dependents include the wives, unmarried minor children, and the dependent parents of eligible veterans.

The County Service Officer pointed out that the law does not authorize payments for dependents of veterans whose service-connected disabilities are found to be less than 50 percent in degree.

Another group not eligible for the dependents allowances are those receiving pensions for non-service-connected disabilities.

For further information contact Mr. Wilson who is located in Lynn Haven Nursing Home, Mocksville, or Robert F. Currence, District Officer, N. C. Veterans Commission, 203 Frye Building, Hickory, N. C.

Davie Methodist Churches Aid Educational Fund

Local Methodists were notified by Bishop Nolan B. Harmon of Charlotte that $2,255,000 has already been pledged by the 1,100 churches of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church in their campaign for Christian higher education.

The remainder of the $3,000,000 goal is expected to be pledged by Sunday, Nov. 23, which has been designated as Thanksgiving Sunday.

Sharing in these capital funds will be Brevard College, Greensboro College, High Point College, Duke Divinity School, and the Wesley Foundations of the University of North Carolina, Western Carolina College and Appalachian State Teachers College.

In a message to Methodists of Forsyth, Surry, Stokes, and Yadkin Counties, Bishop Harmon said "This campaign can produce a glorious victory as every church in the Western North Carolina Conference accepts its share in the great effort. Continued prayers; general pledging; and earnest, consecrated work by our Methodists will bring us victory."

Churches in Davie County participating in the campaign are as follows:

Advance, Bailey's Chapel, Elba-ville, Fulton, Mocks, Coplemees, Center, Hardison, Oak Grove, Salem, Zion, Bethlehem, Dullins, Smith Grove, Farmington, Huntsville, Mt Olive, Wesley Chapel, Concohrd, Liberty, Bethel, Chestnut Grove, Cornatzer, New Union, Union Chapel and Mocksville First Methodist.

Home For Unwed Mothers Needs Various Articles

The Salvation Army Home and Hospital for Unwed Mothers, which serves North and South Carolina, is in need of single bed spreads, writing paper, chairs for a recreation room, baby clothes, desk style chairs for school work, typewriters, soap, and other toilet articles.

One hundred and forty-seven expectant, unwed mothers from the Carolinas and several other states were cared for at the Home and Hospital in Durham in 1957. The girls receive warm sympathetic care, but they are not left with the illusion they are on a holiday from their jobs or studies.

Both the mother and baby get expert medical attention during their stay at The Salvation Army institution. Delivery of the child is made in Durham at a nearby university hospital. Through spiritual guidance and careful counseling permanent injury to a girl's personality is avoided. Approximately two-thirds of the girls wish to have their baby adopted, and this is handled through licensed child-placing agencies.

Any individuals, civic clubs or other organizations interested in helping The Salvation Army secure some of the items mentioned in this article should send material or a letter to Major Ruby Milton, Supt., Home and Hospital, P. O. Box 39, Durham, N. C.

THURSDAY, NOV. 20

5:30 p.m. — R. C. DANCE PARTY — Students from Dudley High School in Greensboro will be stepping when Channel 2 presents Bob Waddell and Mary Knudson spinning some of the latest record hits.

9:30 p.m. — PLAYHOUSE 90 — "Old Man," Thursday night's presentation on Channel 2 at 9:30, uses as a setting the devastation following the Mississippi River flood of 1927. Sterling Hayden and Geraldine Page star in this William Faulkner short story.

FRIDAY, NOV. 21

7:00 p.m. — RIFLEMAN — An elegantly attired Mallon Count arrives in North Fork. Amused by his immaculate appearance, the town ruffians goad him into a duel. Chuck Connors stars as McCain, "The Rifleman," who is chosen by the Count as his second.

10:30 p.m. — PERSON TO PERSON — Veteran radio host Don McNeill and the "Lady of High Finance," Mrs. Mary Roobling, will be visited by Edward R. Murrow and Channel 2 viewers.

SATURDAY, NOV. 22

5:30 p.m. — WALT DISNEY PRESENTS — An accident in a silversmith's shop starts a chain of events that eventually involves young Johnny Tremain in one of the most famous episodes of the American Revolution, in "Boston Tea Party."

7:30 p.m. — PERRY MASON — An old and valuable painting—or perhaps a forgery of it—and the murder of an art dealer, figure prominently in "The Case of the Purple Woman."

SUNDAY, NOV. 23

1:30 p.m. — THE TWENTIETH CENTURY — One of the strangest dictatorships in modern history, that of Juan and Evita Peron in Argentina, will be the subject of a filmed documentary.

8:00 p.m. — THE JIM TATUM SHOW — Charlie Justice and members of Carolina's football team will be special guests. Filmed highlights of the Carolina-Duke game will also be featured.

9:30 p.m. — ALFRED HITCHCOCK PRESENTS — When a timid gunsmith, portrayed by Art Carney, sees a police-protected witness killed on the sidewalk during the gangland heyday of 1927, he is terrified for his own life, in "Safety for the Witness."

MONDAY, NOV. 24

7:00 p.m. — OZZIE AND HARRIET — When Rick meets a beautiful girl riding instructor, he decides to take some lessons. He makes a deal—he'll teach her how to play guitar if she'll teach him how to ride.

8:00 p.m. — THE TEXAN — A Montana State law, archaisms but still in existence, threatens domesticity for Bill Longley when he is required to provide for a widow and her children.

TUESDAY, NOV. 25

8:00 p.m. — DEATH VALLEY DAYS — Smartering under the harsh words of his father, who unjustly accuses him of spending money not his, a teenaged ranch boy runs away from home, in another true tale entitled "The Mystery of Suicide Gulch."

9:30 p.m. — RED SKELTON SHOW — Red Skelton and a cast of 22 will present a unique television broadcast during Thanksgiving Week when The Red Skelton Show is seen entirely in pantomime.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 26

8:00 p.m. — PURSUIT — Dane Clark, Warren Stevens, James Gregory, Marie Windsor, Mervyn Vye and special guest star Jan Sterling star in "The House at Malibu." The story concerns Joe Jupiter, a former fighter turned private detective, who has a third rate clientele and a yen for a beauty named Allison Smith.

10:00 p.m. — ARMSTRONG CIRCLE THEATRE — The historic crossing under the North Pole by the Navy's nuclear submarine Nautilus on Aug. 3, 1958, will be dramatized "Nve" on CBS in "SSN-571: The Nautilus."

Need For Proper Storage Of Irrigation Equipment

Irrigating farmers could invest a little of their time now and possibly save themselves several hundred dollars next year when they are getting their irrigation equipment ready to use, reports County Agent Leo F. Williams.

Improper storage of irrigation engines, pumps, pipes, couplers, and sprinkler heads is one of the major causes of irrigation equipment failure and expensive repair bills.

Engines should be cleaned and lubricated, and the crank case refilled with new oil. Radiators and blocks on water cooled engines should be flushed, and drain plugs left open. To prevent valve and piston sticking, remove spark plugs and put a half cup of good motor oil in each cylinder, and then turn the engine over several times to help distribute the oil. Batteries should be charged and properly stored. Cover exhaust and air breathers to keep out moisture. It is beneficial to provide some type of cover for the engine during its off season.

The irrigation pump should be cleaned and lubricated and then checked for any worn parts, and replacements should be made where needed. Suction and discharge outlets need to be covered to prevent birds, rodents, and trash from collecting in the pump. The pump should also be provided with some type of covering.

The irrigation pipe should be removed from the field and stacked off the ground. Inside storage isn't necessary for pipe, but it is suggested that pipe be stored so that it will drain and have at least three supports on the ground to prevent it from sagging. It is important to clean the removable rubber seal gaskets of all mud and dirt, and then store them inside. Rubber gaskets will last several years if cleaned and properly stored when not in use.

The sprinkler head should be cleaned and checked for any wear and damage from prior use, and it should then be stored inside. Unless the sprinkler head has a lubricating fitting, it should never be greased or oiled. The sprinklers are made of a rust resisting material, and any oil or grease will cause the sprinkler head to work improperly.

Top-Dressing Small Grain
For a number of years small grain has been top-dressed in the Fall of the year in Davie County on heavier soils and the results were very promising. For a five year period State College has conducted experiments top-dressing with ammoniated form of nitrogen in the Fall of the year and in many cases this nitrogen breaks down very slowly and the small grain is more vigorous and withstands the winter much better and makes three to four bushels more per acre than when top-dressed in the Spring.

This is especially true with oats and especially on the type of soil we have in Davie County. Since farmers of Davie County are up with their work, they could spend some very useful days in top-dressing some of their small grain at present, and from all information that we have, your nitrogen would be as efficiently used by plants and in most cases more so than when used in the Spring.

The soils are dry enough now that it would be easy to get farm machinery over them and very seldom they are dry enough in February to get over with farm machinery.

NORTH CAROLINA FACES A CHALLENGING FUTURE

In the first half of this century North Carolina has advanced from a cash crop economy to a respectable balance between agriculture and manufacturing. Our state is virtually "pulling itself up by its bootstraps" . . . raising our per capita income so as to bring the better living standards that come with better education and enlightenment.

Evidence of this progress is found in the growing state-wide sentiment favoring "legal control" of the sale of beer and ale as the practical system which works in the best interests of all law-abiding and progressive communities.

Four big reasons why

FORD

IS OUTSELLING ALL OTHER '59 CARS

AT THE BRUSSELS WORLD'S FAIR, the '59 Fords were awarded the Gold Medal for handsome new styling elegance by the Comité Français de l'Élégance.

The world's best-selling car is the car with Thunderbird elegance

In the greatest styling decision of the year, the American public has already shown a clear preference for the new Fords. Ford sales are way ahead of all competition. Why? One reason is the classic simplicity of their Thunderbird-inspired design—clean, crisp lines that are pure automobile! And Fords are built for people—to sit in, to drive, to ride in—with comfort.

ANYONE CAN FIT IN A FORD: Our cars are built for people—full-size people who want space to stretch out. And all passengers ride in deep-cushion comfort.

The car in hottest demand across the land has greater roominess and comfort

Thousands of customers have bought the new Ford over all competition for another compelling reason—it's a true six-passenger car. (The only four-passenger car we recommend is the Thunderbird!) All six Ford passengers get plenty of every kind of room—from leg and head to elbow and hip. Rear seat passengers don't feel like they're riding with their feet in a bucket!

YOU'LL BE THANKFUL EVERY TANKFUL if you buy the new Ford, for you'll save up to a dollar a tankful with new engines that run superbly on regular gas.

The No. 1 car in sales saves money on gas, on oil, on maintenance bills

A new Ford will save you up to 5¢ a gallon on gas. That's because both standard engines—Six or Thunderbird V-8—thrive on regular gas. And Ford saves on oil, too, with a Full-Flow Oil Filter as standard equipment. Drive 4000 miles between oil changes! And you can forget about waxing your car. Ford's Diamond Lustré Finish stays gleaming bright without waxing—ever!

THE FAMOUS FORD LOW PRICES have already made a hit, because only in Fords will you find value and beauty coming together at down-to-earth prices!

The most popular American car is priced as much as $102.75 lower

Ford costs you less right down the line than the competition. Compare price tags and you'll see that the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Ford, equipped with radio, heater and automatic transmission, is as much as $102.75 less than the major competition! And on an air-conditioned car, you can save up to $219.85. So compare and save on a 1959 Ford!

We're putting the pyramids right back where they were!

Recently we have been testing a slightly different label on the Camel package. The experimental design changed the illustration and the wording a little. That's all. No change whatever was made in the famous Camel blend of choice Turkish and domestic tobaccos.

What we learned in the test is that Camel smokers prefer the original package, so we're putting the pyramids right back where they were, as quickly as we can do it. The test package is being discontinued, so you will soon be getting your Camels in the package you know so well.

We have always been proud of the loyalty of Camel smokers, and we thank you for helping us decide not to change the looks of the package that brings you the best-liked cigarette of them all! (Yes, we are happy to say that again this year, for the 10th straight year, Camel outsells all others!)

Farmers Urged To Order Tree Seedlings Now

Farmers and others planning to plant forest tree seedlings on idle acreages during the 1958-59 planting season are urged to place their orders as quickly as possible in order to assure delivery to them of the young trees.

Blanks for ordering seedling trees may be obtained from the county agent, the county forester, the local SCS and ASC offices, or by writing direct to the State Forester, Department of Conservation and Development, Raleigh, N. C.

Landowners are urged by Joe S. Hinchaw, District Forester in charge of the Lexington District, to take advantage of the Federal Soil Bank and ACP programs whereby the planters are paid for planting trees in land idled by crop curtailments or for other reasons.

Hinchaw said seedling shipments will begin around the middle of November from the following State-owned nurseries: the Holmes Nursery, Hendersonville; the Clayton Nursery, Clayton; and the Ralph Edwards Nursery, Morganton.

The supply of slash and red cedar seedlings being grown for 1958-59 planting is almost exhausted, Hinchaw said. At the present time, he added, there are plenty of white pine, yellow poplar, loblolly, shortleaf, and Virginia pine seedlings available.

Some 95 million seedlings are being grown this year at the four state owner nurseries, Hinchaw said, and they will be disposed of on a first come, first served basis as long as they last.

Social Security In Davie County

Social security now offers protection from the three major causes of loss of income, namely retirement, disability, and death.

Ministers first became eligible to elect this protection in 1955 by voluntarily filing a waiver certificate waiving their exemption to the social security tax.

Many ministers who desire to be afforded this protection failed to file their waiver certificate before the April 15, 1957, deadline contained in the original provision. This deadline has now been extended to give those who did not elect this coverage for various reasons another chance to protect themselves and their families.

Under the new provision a minister has until April 15, 1958, to file his waiver certificate with Internal Revenue Service. This waiver, if filed, will be mandatorily effective for the taxable year 1958 and all years thereafter in which the minister has net earnings of at least $400 from his ministry.

If a minister had at least $400 set earnings in 1956 but filed a waiver certificate so late that it could only be effective beginning 1957 he may file an amended certificate electing 1956 as his effective date of coverage. Of course this retroactive coverage is particularly important in establishing protection for survivors in case of death.

After April 15, 1958, waiver certificates may be filed by new clergymen and by any clergyman who, as of the close of his second taxable year after 1956, has less than two taxable years (ending after 1954) in which he has net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more. The certificate must be filed on or before the due date of the clergyman's Federal income tax return for his second taxable year in which he has self-employment net earnings of $400 or more, some portion of which is from the exercise of his ministry. The certificate is effective beginning with the year immediately preceding the taxable year in respect to which it is filed, if the $400 net earnings test was met in that earlier year.

The recently amended law also provides that a minister must include the rental value of his home furnished as a part of his compensation or the rental allowance paid to him in computing his net earnings for social security purposes beginning with the taxable year of 1957 and thereafter. These items are not included in computing taxable income for income tax purposes. For 1956 the value of these items cannot be included for social security purposes.

Once a person elects social security coverage, he is liable for the social security tax for all years thereafter in which he nets at least $400 and he cannot later drop out.

Ministers who desire additional information should contact their nearest social security office. Remember for those desiring coverage, action must be taken by April 15, 1958, on this voluntary matter.

Jaycees To Sponsor Home Decoration Contest

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Residential Christmas Decorating Contest here this year. Jack Pennington, chairman of the contest, announced today.

The contest which begins on Dec. 22, 1958, and ends on Dec. 24, 1958, is being promoted to spread the spirit of Christmas by means of decoration with light, he said. Winners will receive local prizes and first place winner will be entered in General Electric's $5,000 Nationwide Christmas Decorating Contest.

Each resident within a two (2) mile radius of the courthouse will be judged on artistic merit, originality, lighting techniques, and ingenuity of its display. The judges concept of Christmas lighting will be the application of good lighting principles to originality and individual expression; not that the most expensive display will automatically become a winner.

The Jaycees, in announcing the Christmas Decorating Contest, stated that, "our community will receive a great many benefits from an all-out effort to decorate our homes. The contest will provide pleasure for everyone participating. It will beautify our city at this season of the year, and it will foster a friendlier community spirit."

Anyone desiring additional information concerning Mocksville's Residential Christmas Decorating Contest is urged to contact Jack Pennington.

Cotton Vote Set For December 15

Cotton growers will make an important decision on Monday, Dec. 15. J. C. Crawford, chairman of the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds farmers.

On that day, growers will vote in a referendum to decide whether marketing quotas will be in effect for their 1959 cotton crop. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1958 will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

"If at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve the quotas," Mr. Crawford explains, "marketing quotas will be in effect on all farms growing upland cotton in 1959, penalties will apply on 'excess' cotton, and growers will have an opportunity to elect a choice between complying with their 'regular' — Choice (A) — farm allotments or increasing their cotton acreage by as much as 40 per cent; this second choice is called Choice (B)."

"By complying with the Choice (A) allotment, a grower will be eligible for price support at the full level available — not less than 80 per cent of parity in 1959; by complying with the Choice (B) allotment, a grower will be eligible for price support at a level 15 per cent of parity lower than under the Choice (A) program.

If more than one-third of the growers disapprove quotas, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, only 'regular' — Choice (A) — allotments will be in effect, and price supports to eligible growers (those who comply with their 'regular' allotments) will be available at 50 per cent of parity. "In either case, acreage allotments of some kind will continue in effect for the 1959 cotton crop as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support."

The chairman pointed out that legislation directs the Secretary of Agriculture to proclaim marketing quotas for the next upland cotton crop when the cotton supply exceeds normal. Quotas are not put into operation, however, unless they are approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum on the question.

CATHOLIC MASS TO BE HELD
Mass will be conducted on Sunday morning at 9:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Benthusen on Salisbury highway, Route 4, in the new Eaton house. The celebrant will be the Rev. Father Keenan, of the Lexington parish. For more information any interested may call 1517-J.

Road Machine Smashes Into Parked Automobile

A machine used by the Powlas Paving Co. in packing the mixture in paving the streets in the Town of Mocksville got out of control last Saturday evening and smashed a car parked in the rear of B. C. Moore and Sons Co.

The heavy machine got out of control as it was going down Depot St. The operator, in an effort to stop it, turned in behind B. C. Moore and Co. and the machine hit the automobile parked there by Mrs. A. C. Clement, Jr., an employee of the store.

Mocksville V.F.D. Aids Muscular Dystrophy

Around $150 was collected Tuesday night by the Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department for the muscular dystrophy fund.

The five departments all over the nation annually assist in the muscular fund drive.

The local funds were raised Tuesday evening by a canvass of the Mocksville area by members of the Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department. The funds will be forwarded to district headquarters in Charlotte.

It's Christmas Seal Time! Help Fight TB

Buy Christmas Seals

If you happened by the Post Office Thursday afternoon, Nov. 20, you may have seen as we did some old friends wrestling with great heavy mail sacks. They were transporting your Christmas Seals from the office of the Davie County Tuberculosis Association to the Post Office. You probably found them in your mail box on Friday.

When you opened that letter and took out your seals, we hope you gave a thought to the many people who helped get them to you. It started way back in October when Mrs. Margaret A. LeGrand, Miss Jane McGuire and Mrs. L. E. Pezor addressed envelopes, mimeographed letters and planned for the stuffing and stamping of the letters. Volunteers spent hours taking the sheets of 100 seals each from their packages and folding them into the right size or making. They were Mrs. L. G. Sanford, Mrs. C. C. Chapman, Mrs. W. A. Allison and Miss Willie Miller. All these people give their time to help keep the cost of sending Christmas seals to you to a minimum — so that your contribution will go right where it's most needed — to pay for the association's TB control activities. These activities are X-Ray, Research and helping with the needs of patients with active TB — are for your protection.

So join these neighbors of yours in their determination to clean up TB. Sit right down and answer that letter with a check.

Special Service Is Set For Ijames Baptist

A special song service will be held at the Ijames Baptist Church on Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m.

The "Brown Family" from Walkertown and the "Glenn Melody Four" of Winston-Salem will appear.

"The Brown Family" has been in this part of Davie County on several other occasions. Brother Brown will bring the evening message," said the Rev. John H. McDaniel, Jr., pastor of the Ijames Baptist Church.

The "Glenn Melody Four" are described by Mr. McDaniel as being "four talented young men who are constantly in demand for all types of church services."

Mr. McDaniel said that the public was invited to come to the special program Sunday night.

Sowers Named Chief Deputy

Adams Resigns Jail For Heritage Position

Sheriff Ben Y. Boyles announced this week the appointment of Ray Sowers of Advance as chief deputy. Mr. Sowers was appointed to replace Otis Ridenhour who is a patient in the veteran's hospital.

Sheriff Boyles also announced that Deputy Sheriff and Jailor, John Adams, had accepted a position with Heritage Furniture Co. and will resign from his present post as of December 1. Sheriff Boyles said the successor to Mr. Adams would be named just as soon as possible.

Deputy Sheriff Grimes Hancock of Coolemees will continue to serve in that locality. Deputy Hancock is paid by the Erwin Mills for service in that area.

Two Cars Damaged In Collision on 601

Two cars were damaged Saturday morning around 11:30 a.m. in a collision on Highway 601, eight miles north of Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock said that his investigation showed that a 1954 Dodge, operated by Jimmy Houston Sizemore, 19, of Yadkinville, Route 3, collided with a 1958 Chevrolet being operated by Mrs. Wilma Collette Keller, 50, of Winston-Salem.

Both cars were heading north. The collision occurred when the Chevrolet started to make a right turn into a drive and was struck in the rear by the 1954 Dodge. Sizemore told Patrolman Blalock that he did not see the Chevrolet in time to stop.

Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $700. Damage to the Dodge at $150.

Sizemore was charged with following too closely.

'Pocket Bootlegger' Says He 'Was Left Holding The Bag'

A "pocket bootlegger" was given a suspended sentence and fined $200 and cost by Judge A. T. Grant in County Court, Tuesday.

The defendant, John Lester Anderson, 38 year old Negro, said that he was not guilty of the charge because he was "just left holding the bag" and gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

The "bag" in question was a shopping bag that contained several bottles of white liquor.

Deputy Sheriff Avery Foster testified that he saw Anderson drop a bottle into the bag which was hid in bushes near the home of Vernon Scott.

Deputy Foster told Judge Grant that Anderson had the reputation as a "pocket bootlegger," defining it as one that carries the liquor around in his pocket and peddles it a little at the time.

Anderson admitted to owning the liquor, but said that he had it only for consumption and not for sale. He said that he, Boone Hudson and Vernon Scott were planning to drink it.

New System Is Described To Mocksville Rotarians

The conversion to dial of the Mocksville telephone system was described to members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday, by Roy Hepler of Mount Airy, an official of the Central Telephone Company.

Mr. Hepler said that at 2 a.m. on Dec. 7th, the Central Telephone Company will reach another milestone in its service to Mocksville with the cutting in of the new dial system. He said that the dial equipment was specially engineered for this area.

Mr. Hepler said that this exchange now had over 800 subscribers, lines and over 1200 terminals.

According to Mr. Hepler the new dial system contains all the features for modern and efficient service including features for the ultimate conversion to long-distance dialing.

"Local subscribers will be able to utilize long distance calling just as soon as Southern Bell in Salisbury can make the necessary adaptations to handle it," said Mr. Hepler.

The new system for Mocksville was described as costing around $227,000. Over 693 miles of conductor wire was placed in cables.

Mr. Hepler said that the new office building at 214 Gaither St., contained more than 3,000 square feet of floor space and housed the dial equipment for this area.

This building also houses an emergency power plant, which will assure continued telephone service should electrical power be disrupted," said Mr. Hepler.

Mr. Hepler described how the Mocksville exchange had grown continuously for the past 12 years. In January, 1946, there were 303 telephone subscribers on this exchange. Today there are 1203 subscribers on this exchange.

The investment of the Central Telephone Company in the Mocksville Exchange today totals $355,000.

"This new system is designed to meet future anticipated demands in this area," said Mr. Hepler.

A movie on how to dial was shown by Mr. Hepler at the conclusion of his talk.

The telephone operators of the Mocksville exchange were special guests of the Rotary Club. They were as follows: Mrs. Blanche Honeycutt, Mrs. Ethel Taylor, Mrs. Jane Owings, Mrs. Anna Mae Owings, Mrs. Frances Feimster, Mrs. Earline Roberts, Mrs. Cora Stroud.

Also present as special guests were Ray Webb of Elkin and C. J. Wilson of Mocksville.

Roy Collette had charge of the program. Other special guests included: Ralph Ketner, Miles Smith, Jr., and Sonny Carpenter of Salisbury; Gene Seats of Mocksville; Bob Tye, Boy Scout Field Representative; and James Edwards, student guest.

Thanksgiving Day

Give Thanks For Thanksgiving

The Pilgrims would have been shocked to their shoe buckles on December 13, 1621, if they had known that their day of thanks was to become a yearly national holiday celebrated by millions of people in the United States and Canada.

For the Pilgrims were dead-set against "annual" holidays, and refused to celebrate even Christmas and Easter.

According to research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia, the Pilgrims referred to the religious holidays of the Church of England as "Roman corruptions." They believed in celebrating only when Providence granted them a particular blessing.

As if to prove their disdain for yearly calendar-fixed celebrations, the Pilgrims did not have a thanksgiving celebration the next year. However, other New England colonists picked up the idea and held "thanks days," usually around the end of November.

The Pilgrim-inspired holiday is today a joyous family day celebrated with big dinners and happy reunions, but the history of the holiday in United States has been fraught with argument.

In 1789 a resolution was presented by a member of the new Congress proposing that a day be set aside to give thanks for the Constitution. The resolution was finally adopted, but there was much opposition by those who believed the Federal Government was meddling in a matter that should be the concern of the individual states. Thomas Jefferson called such Government-proclaimed holidays a 'Monarchical practice" and ignored thanksgiving during his eight years in office.

Mrs. Sarah Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book, worked for 30 years to promote the idea of a national thanksgiving day. Mrs. Hale had a double-barreled attack—she printed editorials promoting the idea and also included tempting recipes for Thanksgiving delicacies.

In 1863 Lincoln proclaimed that the last Thursday in November would be Thanksgiving Day. Each year afterward, the President of the United States formally proclaimed that Thanksgiving should be celebrated on the last Thursday of November.

However, some descendants of the original New England Puritans refused to observe the holiday, claiming that Thanksgiving should be inspired by the Deity, not by politicians.

The most recent Thanksgiving controversy arose when Franklin D. Roosevelt switched the date of the holiday from the fourth to the third Thursday in November. He hoped to help business by making the shopping period longer between Christmas and Thanksgiving.

Newspapers and magazines carried editorials advising readers to ignore the President and some Governors flatly advised their states to celebrate Thanksgiving on the traditional day. Three years after the change was made, Congress officially restored Thanksgiving to the fourth Thursday.

In view of this stormy history, it might be well to have a thanksgiving to give thanks for Thanksgiving.

Public Law 199

It's time again to do your homework on Public Law 199 so you can get those Christmas packages in the mail.

Since no ordinary mortal — who is neither a traffic manager nor a postal official — can remember the ins and outs of mailing a Christmas package to Aunt Mary, our duty to our readers and our sympathy for the long-suffering souls in the post office demand that we try to point out the pitfalls of that "public-be-damned" parcel post law.

If Aunt Mary lives on a rural or star route, or in a town with a second, third or fourth class post office, or if you intend mailing the package from a rural or star route or in a second, third, or fourth class postoffice, you are in luck. You can then send her a package weighing up to twenty pounds, so long as its girth plus length is no more than 100 inches.

But . . . If your bundle weighs more than 40 pounds, or the combined length and girth is more than 72 inches, and you and Aunt Mary are both served by first class postoffices you'd better drive to a smaller postoffice to mail it.

Of . . . If Aunt Mary lives more than two postal zones away (more than 150 miles) your package must not weigh more than 20 pounds if it is to be mailed. If it weighs more, you'll have to deliver it yourself, hire a truckman, see if you can persuade the Railway Express people to take an interest in the problem, divide your Yule offering into two parcels each weighing 20 pounds or less, or forget the whole thing.

But wait! If your gift package includes "baby fowl, live plants, trees, shrubs, or agricultural commodities," or consists of books—it can weigh up to 70 pounds, measure up to 100 inches in length and girth no matter where either of you lives.

There! Now that this is all clear, you can go back to your wrapping. However when you write your Christmas card to the Congressman you might also tell him you'd like to have him cut out this Public Law 199 foolishness when he goes back to Washington next year.

Davie County Industrial Picture

Davie County has a total of 34 manufacturing establishments, according to information from the WFMV-TV Research Department, based on figures from the United States Bureau of the Census, County and City Data Book, 1956.

North Carolina is represented in every one of the 20 major industrial classifications listed by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

In these major industries, with employes of 20 or more, Davie County is represented in four classifications. The county's major industries are listed below, with the number of plants in the category employing 20 or more persons:

- Furniture and fixtures, three plants;
- Apparel and related products, two plants;
- Textile mill products, one plant;
- Food and kindred products, one plant.

Thanksgiving Day in Canada is not strictly a legal holiday. According to The World Book Encyclopedia, Thanksgiving depends each year on a special Government proclamation.

Although Governor Bradford set aside only one day, December 13, 1621, as Thanksgiving Day, The World Book Encyclopedia reveals that three days were spent in feasting and prayer.

Bless This Food

(Suggested Graces)

Our Father, we thank Thee for this food and Thy blessings, given to us from day to day. Be with us and guide us and strengthen us, and give us that wisdom from on high. We ask it for Jesus' sake. Amen

Father, we thank Thee for the night, For the pleasant morning light, For rest and food and love and care, All that makes this world so fair. Amen.

We return thanks unto Thee, O Lord, that Thou hast again vouchsafed to feed these perishable bodies, and we beseech Thee that Thou wouldst feed our souls with the bread of eternal life. — Amen

We thank The, God, for sun and rain And snow that lies upon the plain.

We thank Thee for the birds on high And stars that twinkle in the sky.

We thank Thee for Thy loving care For these are things we all can share. Amen.

For health, for love, for food, for friends, For all our God sends— Dear Father, we thank Thee. — Amen.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: I got a heap of things to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. I'm mighty thankful I got good health, which I attribute to the fact I save my energy and don't work too hard. I figured a long time ago it's better to be healthy and delinquent than paid up and run down.

I'm thankful we ain't got but one world. Us Americans couldn't afford to finance more'n one. And I'm thankful we ain't got out one Chiang Kai-shek. He can sit us in more trouble than we can get out of between Haley's Comets.

I'm thankful the country is full of Republicans, Democrats, conservatives, radicals, politicians, statements, and Senate committees, because as long as we got everybody trying to get out the act there ain't no chance of any one of them stealing the show.

And I'm thankful for the finer things in life, like the count-down and up-and-atom milkshake, the sanforized shirt, and ion-squeeze girdle, the fountain pen that writes under water and them TV singing commercials. But I also thankful that scientists still ain't found no better way to preserve the American some than fer the good woman of the house to dip her wedding ring in dishwasher three times a day.

I thankful I didn't make no big crops this year, because not holding much, I ain't losing no sleep over not-selling when the price was right. I'm thankful a farmer's output ain't always figured by what he's got in his barn. What he has thinking during the year might be as important as what he is producing. So far, Congress ain't put no income tax on what a feller is thinking. Many a time I've been setting in front of the fire and my old lady accused me of dozing when my thoughts had come rose above the level of the weeds in my fields and I was rassing with international problems right up alongside Secretary Dulles.

I'm mighty thankful I'm living in America, don't make no difference if it does cost four cent to mail a letter and there's come confusion over whether the unions is working fer the companies or the companies fer the unions. At least you don't hear about no diplomats running around over Europe passing the hat fer us.

And I'm always mighty thankful at this time of year that Congress ain't in session. The country is a heap safer when we got them fellers at home fer a spell where we can watch 'em.

Yours truly, Uncle Dave

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — From what I have read about the general legislative program for the next Congress suggested by Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson there seems to be encouraging signs that overwhelming Democratic control of the Senate will continue to produce responsible legislation. This is not to say that there will not be squabbles with the Republican Administration in the White House or even smooth sailing among Democrats at all times.

Not Party-Line I have not minimized the danger in which the South finds itself with respect to changing Senate Rule XXII. But that danger is not a party line affair. It mushrooms from the mistaken notion that much desirable legislation has been killed or long delayed by the use of unlimited debate in the Senate. Such is not the case. The device of unlimited debate is not a whim of so-called Southern conservatives. Historically speaking it has been used by minorities from other sections to carry on an education process in the Senate against legislation which they considered harmful to the country. Unfortunately when Southerners pursue this same process they are charged immediately with a filibuster no matter how worthy or lofty the reason.

The civil rights debates in the last session of Congress were maintained on a high level. When the debates started few people in the country had taken time to study the proposals in the bills. As an example of this truth we can recall the uphill battle that had to be fought on the jury trial feature. Had Rule XXII not been in effect it is doubtful that this debate could have been had due to the highly emotional aspects of the proposition. In this debate the South had the support of many Democrats from outside our region. Therefore it can be said that the election of an overwhelmingly Democratic Senate will not necessarily change the atmosphere on matters like this any more than the election of modern Republican control in the Senate.

A reputation cannot be built on the things you intend to do.

The man who itches for fame has a lot of scratching to do.

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Man is blest, who does his best and leaves the rest" — Chas. Deems.

On a recent Sabbath a four year old lad returned from Sunday School, deeply troubled.

"What happened in Sunday School to worry you, son?" his mother asked.

"Things are very bad," the worried boy replied. "Daniel is in the lion's den again."

"Most of us worry over the other fellow, but not over his welfare. Our concern is over our welfare in relation to his. We worry because the other fellow gets ahead of us traffic. We worry because we don't compare favorably with him in church, school, or community life.

Why do we measure ourselves against others? Such competition is never fair. There are too many variables we cannot control.

You are the only fair competitor of yourself. Your responsibility is to excel what you did yesterday. What the other fellow did, is doing, or will do, is not your responsibility. It should not be your worry. When tempted to worry about someone excelling you, forget it. You are your only competitor. If you did poorly yesterday, your only responsibility is to do better today. That should be your only worry.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

We think of Thanksgiving as an institution of the Pilgrim Fathers but the idea is an old as man's desire to worship. There are at least 30 references to Thanksgiving in the King James version of the Bible. But our own acceptance of Thanksgiving as a national holiday goes back only 95 years when Mrs. Sarah Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book, asked President Lincoln to proclaim the day, which he did. How much of the original proclamation is fitting today? "The year that is drawing to a close has been filled with blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. These bounties are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the Source from which they came . . ."

A local minister was given a big, elaborate fire helmet by a volunteer company of which he was a member. Visibly pleased, he told his diners that he would wear the headdress every morning at breakfast. "If that does not impress my family," he remarked, "Nothing will. And I assure you, nothing will."

Went to a lecture by Robert Frost, the poet, and was not disappointed. This granite-faced New Englander talked saltily and then read his memorable poems. Said he "I know we are all worried, for wherever I go, I find scales in the bathroom." Then he turned to the real worry of our age — the atomic bomb. But Frost took it coolly. "If we were all blown up," he observed, "and wiped off the face on the earth, we'd get up somewhere on the other shore, brush ourselves off and then some one would remark 'Now wann't that sumpn!'"

With all the talk of low pay for teachers, little is said about that of preachers. According to a recent survey, many wives of ministers are compelled to work to help support the family. Average annual cash salary of a clergyman is $4,432. New England preachers are the lowest paid, those in the Southwest the highest. True, these persons get allowances for housing and travel, but all too often their cars and houses are old. In Indiana a minister said: "Most people want the preached to live on earth and board is heaven."

Colgate University is said to be traditionally related to the number 13. According to the legend, in 1817, 13 men with 13 dollars, 13 books and 13 prayers founded this institution for educational purposes at Hamilton, N. Y., under a charter with 13 articles. Colgate is now in its 13th decade of life. And so sure are the officials of the university that this sometimes-called unlucky number has a mystic significance in its life, there are always 13 chairs on the platform during a major convocation.

One of the nicest men I know is Col. Henry S. Otto, a retired Army officer who was in the grand old horse cavalry back in 1918 on the Mexican border. In World War I he served on the staff of General Pershing. In World War II on that of General Eisenhower and was later one of the prosecutors at the Neurenberg trials. For a time, he and I served together in the army at Governors Island, New York. Now he is a volunteer member of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, and when he speaks starts this way: "A talk is like a wheel, the longer the spoke, the greater the tire."

Gotham Gatherings: sign at an airport: "To facilitate the smooth flow of passengers through the terminal, it is imperative that the escalators at all times operate in the same direction as the passenger flow" . . . one reason men's suits look about the same as last year is that so many of us are wearing about the same ones . . . a prominent churchman wrote that he read the Bible every day in order to know what people ought to do and his newspaper in order to know what they were doing . . . in a meeting here, a lone man was caught in a crowd of hundreds of women, when one of them raised her voice above the din of talk and said that the gentleman's position must be a difficult one. "Oh that's all right," he said in the spirit of Thanksgiving, "I don't mind the gabble. I used to run a turkey farm."

Highway accidents will diminish only when people use enough brain power to match the horsepower.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor: Inclosed you will find a check for subscription to the Davie County Enterprise-Record.

I suspect I am one of the oldest subscribers to the Davie Record. Ed Morris was postmaster when the postoffice was there in the old "Weant Building." He had a hand press. Another young man and myself helped print the first copy. We worked until nearly midnight getting out 100 copies and I have been receiving the paper ever since until it changed hands.

I was working at Mocksville Furniture Company. O. K. Williams was superintendent; Willie Smith was machine room foreman; Ollie Austin, John James, and myself were the high paid employees. Our salary was $1.00 per day for 11 hours.

I left them in 1898 and went to work at Salisbury. There was 28 of us boys working at Brown Furniture Company at Salisbury and 21 of us made superintendents.

I came to Elkin, Oct. 1, 1907, and have been General Superintendent of the Elkin Furniture Company since.

I am now retired and my youngest son fills my shoes.

I have been to 72 of the Masonic Picnics at Mocksville. I am a Mason all the way and a Shriner. I belong to the Oasis Temple at Charlotte and was secretary of the Elkin Lodge for 16 years.

I have always enjoyed reading the Record and have seen my name mentioned concerning the Masonic Picnic.

Jacob Stewart and myself were great friends. It does not seem natural for him not to be at the Masonic Picnic.

I will close with regards to the old friends I know.

Sincerely, MARGARET R. BAILEY 239 Gwyn Avenue Elkin, N. C.

Now Is The Time To Control Lice On Cattle

Each year when cattle crowd into barns they become heavily infested with lice and in most cases an outbreak of ring worms occurs. The mathematicians say that two lice in October will end up 3,000,000 lice in March on each cow. Two lice are not enough to affect the growth or production of cattle, but 3,000,000 lice will cause the cattle to be very unthrifty.

It would take a small amount of time to control lice and ring worms on cattle and the cost is very small — less than five cents per head.

Most any insecticide can be used on cattle that are not milked and animals that are not being slaughtered within 90 days or beef. Follow directions on container.

One of the very fine insecticides that will control lice and ring worms is lindane; but for dairy cattle or cattle being slaughtered for beef, marlate of methoxychlor would have to be used.

A good way to treat cows is to sit a small amount of insecticide in bags about as high as the cow's back and let them run under these in a few days and free themselves of lice.

According to an editorial in the N. C. Extension News published by State College in Raleigh, cash receipts from farm marketings for the first six months of this year show North Carolina just holding its own, compared with the same period last year. The six-months figure is $265 million. While we were just holding our own, farmers throughout the country reported a gain of more than $1.5 billion—proportionately distributed between livestock and crops.

The North Carolina cash farm receipts reveal a strong shift. Receipts from livestock jumped by more than $15 million, while crop receipts dropped just about the same amount. The big drop in cash receipts from crops can partially be explained by our short 1957 corn crop, short and damaged 1957 peanut crop, and the effect of the soil bank on receipts from wheat and cotton.

July receipts show a speeding up of this situation. A gain of $2 million in receipts from North Carolina livestock was more than offset by a drop in receipts of nearly $4 million from crops.

Meanwhile, naturally, farm receipts from these sources continued to show gains over 1957. Prices during the first eight months of this year averaged 6 per cent higher than in 1957. In the same period, the volume marketed by United States farmers was about 4 per cent larger.

We can not move far from the fact that the individual farmer's own best interest is in realized net income from sale of increasing quantities of farm products at good prices.

Volume is the farmer's own personal answer. He, as an individual, can not materially affect the prices paid, but he still has the possibility of increasing both the quantity and quality of his products.

Christmas Mailing Tips Suggested by Postmaster

Some tips on Christmas mailings this year were issued today by Postmaster Worth T. Hendricks.

To assure yourself of fast, worry-free Christmas mailings, Mr. Hendricks suggested these steps:

1. Parcels should be insured. Sealed parcels may be mailed at the third or fourth class postage rates without labels, notations, or endorsements of any kind authorizing the opening of parcels for postal inspection. Packages sealed with modern sealing materials carry better in the mail than unsealed ones. Strong cord should be used.

2. Combination Mail, one of the newer services of the Post Office Department, may often be used to good advantage. It permits a mailer to enclose a letter or a message inside a gift parcel simply by paying the appropriate letter rate postage, plus the postage for the package itself.

3. Certified Mail, another of the newer postal services, which permits mailers to obtain proof of delivery of Christmas letters or cards having no intrinsic value for a postal fee of 20 cents, plus first-class postage, also may often offer advantages.

4. Registered Mail, which provides greater security protection to letters and parcels carrying items of real financial value, has many good uses.

5. Special delivery service, which provides expedited delivery at the office of address during prescribed hours, is often useful.

6. Air mail and air parcel post, which provides quick delivery of cards and parcels to all sections of the country, can help greatly with Christmas mailings.

7. Postal delivery zone numbers, which speed handling of mail, should always be used wherever possible.

8. The "facing" of letters and

Persons who are buying or selling farmland for which an acreage allotment has been established have a definite responsibility for becoming familiar with the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture governing combination and division of allotments and for advising County ASC Committees when purchases or sales have been made. According to H. D. Godfrey, State Administrative Officer for ASC State Committee, County ASC Committees are not in a position to know of all land sales and purchases and therefore they cannot make a change in the acreage allotment for the land involved until a request for a division or a combination is filed by the interested producer. The Department of Agriculture has issued definite regulations and instructions on how allotments may be divided or combined. County ASC Committees must follow these regulations in all cases. Many farmers have had some unhappy experiences in the past because they did not determine in advance how the acreage allotments would be divided before they bought or sold land covered by the allotments.

Godfrey brought out that both cards so that they are all stacked the same way, with the address facing the same way, as well as using of mail into "Local" and "Out of Town" bundles will expedite mail, particularly when larger quantities of mail are sent. Free labels for "Local" and "Out of Town" bundles are available at post offices.

A free postal pamphlet—available at all post offices—entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing," should answer practically all questions any Christmas mailer might have on preparation of Christmas parcels for mailing.

the buyer and the seller have a responsibility for notifying the county ASC office as soon as possible after the land is sold and for requesting the county ASC committee to make a division of the allotment for the farm if only a part of the farm is sold. If the purchaser owns other land and wishes to combine the newly purchased land with what he already owns he must file a request with the county committee for the combination.

The county committee, according to Godfrey, may not approve a combination unless the tracts are operated in the manner prescribed by the Secretary's regulations and instructions. Before approving a combination ASC committees are also required to determine that a legal deed has been made and recorded in connection with the newly purchased land.

Godfrey further urged that lawyers or real estate agencies who are handling the sale or pur-
