Miss Florence Mackie Honored For Home Demonstration Service

County Clubs Pull Surprise Party At Mocksville School

Miss Florence Mackie was honored Tuesday night for 25 years of service to Home Demonstration Clubs in Davie County.

Called the "Silver Jubilee," the program was held in the Mocksville Elementary School Building. It was sponsored by the Home Demonstration Clubs of the county.

Mrs. Armand Smith, President of the Kappa Club, presided. Miss Mackie was welcomed by a group singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow." The 4-H Club members presented a skit about her arrival in Davie County in 1935.

Representatives from the North Carolina Extension Service in Raleigh were recognized. Also, recognized were members of her family and former and present co-workers.

Following the recognition of charter home demonstration club members, the group sang a tribute to Miss Mackie to the tune of "America."

Early 4-H Club members and Mrs. Eleanor Gabard, current 4-H Club advisor, gave a brief review of 4-H Club work in the county.

Mrs. Roland West, county council president, and other home demonstration club members, gave a resume of the growth of home demonstration work during the past 25 years.

Mrs. Homer Latham presented an engraved wrist watch to Miss Mackie on behalf of her club members.

Following a brief expression of thanks by Miss Mackie, a reception was held in the school cafeteria. The centerpiece on the reception table featured an arrangement of white mums, glads and silver ornaments. Homemade cookies and punch was served.

A green and yellow color scheme which are the colors of the Clubs, was used in floral arrangements in the auditorium. A huge banner proclaiming "Florence Mackie Day" hung in the back of the room. Each person attending carried a banner to wave.

Buick Plows Into Tower

A 1948 Buick convertible traveling at a high rate of speed Saturday evening on South Salisbury Street in Mocksville, ran off the road into a transmission tower of Duke Power Co.

The driver of the car, James Cleo Baugess, 25, of South Main Street, Mocksville, fled the scene of the accident and was later picked up at his home by State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock and Deputy Otis Ridenhour.

Mocksville Chief of Police Joe W. Foster said that Baugess, heading south on Salisbury St., lost control of the convertible and it plowed into the transmission tower, almost cutting it into. Damage to the tower was estimated at $2,000.

A companion of Baugess, William Waters, suffered a hip injury. Baugess was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He is slated for trial at the Dec. 6 h term of County Court.

Suffers Attack

Uriel Nicholson Morgan, age 63, of Statesville died suddenly in Mocksville Saturday night while inspecting damages done to the Duke Power transmission lines as the result of a wreck around 5:45 that evening.

Mr. Morgan was the district superintendent of lines for Duke Power Company, having held this position for 38 years. He was stricken while conducting the inspection at the transmission tower on Salisbury Street and was pronounced dead on arrival at the Davie County Hospital at 9:30 p.m.

Miss Allison Gets Award

Miss Ossie Allison, caseworker with the Davie County Welfare Department, was honored last week by being presented a certificate of merit by the North Carolina Association of Caseworkers.

The certificate read as follows: "Miss Ossie Allison as member of this association has rendered dedicated service as a social worker for 20 years. Recognition with sincere appreciation is herewith expressed for your outstanding service to public welfare in North Carolina." It was signed by Sue S. Applewhite, President; and Jane Ellis, chairman of the awards committee.

Miss Allison began her career as a social worker in 1938 serving then with the newly created Emergency Relief Administration, which later went into the Works Progress Administration. In 1937, when it became mandatory that each county in North Carolina have a Public Welfare Department in order to qualify for federal funds, Miss Allison became a certified caseworker and has served in this capacity ever since.

As Caseworker, Miss Allison investigates case of all categories for public assistance to be presented to the board, and service cases which includes school attendance, foster-home care for children, and any other cases which might arise.

Better Business Bureau Is Described To Rotary

The function of a Better Business Bureau was described for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club at their regular meeting, Tuesday.

Robert Hitchcock, manager of the Winston-Salem Better Business Bureau, told Rotarians that unless advertising practices and business practices are corrected by the merchants themselves, the government will step in and take action and control.

"There is always a small percentage of businessmen who are so interested in the dollar that they show no consideration to the rights of the customer," said Mr. Hitchcock.

He exhibited a Fair Trade Code which stressed: Honesty. Values . . . Tell the truth in a forthright manner . . . and the selling of merchandise on its merit rather than misrepresentation.

Hugh Lawre had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Hitchcock. President George Rowland presided.

Special guests included W. A. Sherrill of Salisbury; Roy Blalock of Mocksville; John Grimes was present as student guest.

Smith Grove To Have New Telephone Book

The Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation announces plans for a new telephone directory for its Smith Grove Exchange subscribers.

The new directory which will cover a large portion of Davie County has a tentative issue date of Feb. 1, 1961. This directory should not be confused with the Mocksville directory of the Central Telephone Company which does not go to the Smith Grove Exchange subscribers.

V. S. Melonas, representative for Universal Columbia, Inc., of Columbia, S. C., the firm publishing the directory, announced that sales are now underway for those business subscribers who advertise in the directory.

"Since the telephone directory is the most widely used book in any community, the Yellow Pages have grown to national prominence and has become a buyers' guide across the country.

The business office of the telephone company should be notified of any changes in listings desired by its subscribers.

RECEIVES MEDAL . . . 1st Lt. Harry A. Osborne, Jr., (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Osborne of Lexington Road, Mocksville, N. C., receives the Army Commendation Medal from Brig. Gen. Charles M. Baer at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, for meritorious performance of duty for the past two years, with the Officers' Department of the U.S. Army Signal School. Lt. Osborne is a graduate of Mocksville High School and North Carolina State College.

A big parade last Friday afternoon officially heralded the Christmas season for Davie County and Mocksville. This was the third annual parade sponsored by the Davie County Merchants Association.

A crowd estimated in excess of 2,000 people lined the streets along the route to view the parade which consisted of around 56 units.

The Davie County High School float, a sleigh pulled by a black horse carrying two boys and two girls singing Christmas carols, won first place for non-commercial floats. Second place went to a float of the Mocksville Saddle Club which was a covered wagon pulled by two ponies, bearing the title of "Wagon Train" on its side. Three women dressed in gingham and calico long dresses and wearing bonnets were with the wagon. Third place went to the Davie County Training School float. This depicted a choir singing Christmas carols. Honorable mention went to the 4-H Club Float and the Mocksville Lions Club Float.

Cecil Williams won first place for the best parade horse. Second place went to Alvin Richardson and 3rd place to Robert Davis.

The parade began at the Mocksville School, came down N. Main Street, crossed the square in front of the judges' reviewing stand, turned right on Water St., and then went out Wilkesboro St. where it dispersed.

The parade was led by the State Highway Patrol, followed by Mayor D. J. Mando. Then came the Davie County Board of Commissioners; Senator B. C. Brock; Rep. Lester P. Martin, Jr.

A feature of the parade was "Miss Merry Christmas," Jackie Dull. Other beauty queens riding in open convertibles included Miss Janice Snider, "Miss Union Maid"; Miss Diana Groce, "Miss Davie High," and the "Saddle Club Queen," Miss Wanda Buron.

There were antique cars and units of Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, etc., from all sections of the county. Cheerleaders from each of the schools rode in open convertibles.

There were numerous parade horses and horse drawn vehicles. The Davie High School Band and majorettes were featured in the parade followed by the "Lois K. Sutters," a large group of junior majorettes dressed in costumes of black and white.

The climax of the parade was Santa Claus on a float made by the Davie High Dramatics Club depicting "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe."

Judges for the floats were Mrs. Peter M. Hairston, Jr., Mrs. Ed Short and Carroll Arndt.

Judges for the parade horses were Leo Williams, and Jeff Caldwell.

The committee in charge of the parade included Dr. R. P. Kemp and Ralph Hall.

The committee expressed appreciation for the cooperation received in making this parade a success. They also expressed appreciation to the National Guard members, members of the Davie County Rescue Squadron, and officers assisting in handling the traffic problem during the parade.

MR. AND MRS. C. J. CORN

Miss Jones, Mr. Cook Wed In Center Church

The marriage of Miss Betty Gail Jones and Darrell Dean Cook took place at 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 26, in the Center Methodist Church. The Rev. George E. Auman officiated.

The Rev. Ernest Cartner of Winston-Salem, uncle of the bride, was soloist. Organ music was provided by Jimmy Anderson.

Mrs. Cook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Jones of Mocksville, Rt. 1. She was graduated from Davie County Consolidated High School and has completed the one-year secretarial course at Mitchell College at Statesville. She is employed by Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. at Winston-Salem.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Clyde Cook of Advance, Rt. 1. He attended Davie County Consolidated High School and is employed as a mechanic by Pennington Chevrolet Company.

BRIDAL GOWN
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de sole with an embroidered V neckline. The full skirt was fashioned with side bustles and extended into a court train.

Her veil of illusion was attached to a cap of velvet and satin leaves with teardrop pearls. She carried a Bible covered in white satin and topped with a white orchid and pink rose buds.

Miss Carolyn Latham was maid of honor. She wore a dress of Mone blue taffeta and a matching headdress of blue taffeta with a circular veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Gaye Cartner of Winston-Salem and Miss Doris Cook of Advance, sister of the bridegroom. Barbara Tutterow was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of the honor attendant and carried cascades of white chrysanthemums.

Norman Cook of Advance was his brother's best man. Ushers were Robert Cornelius and Robert Carter of Advance; Herman Cartner of Statesville and Gwyn Bogger.

After a wedding trip to the western North Carolina mountains, the couple will live on Rt. 1.

A cake cutting was given Friday evening in the Methodist Fellowship Hall following the rehearsal. Host and hostess were the bride's parents.

Guests included: the honoree, Mesdames James Stroud, Paul Hendrix, Harry Hartley, Paul Leonard, C. W. Rice, Everette McDaniell, Jerry Anderson, D. K. Bailey, Doynne Bean, J. D. Hope and the Misses Harriett Hartley, Catherine Rice, Gail Poplin, Cynthia Leonard, Kathy Hege, Debbie McClannan, and Mesdames Tom Rice, Sam Walker and J. W. McClannan.

Couple Is Married Thanksgiving Day
Miss Lucrethia Jane Russell and George Wesley Howard were married Thursday, Nov. 24 at 4 p.m. in Trinity Methodist Church. The Rev. Frank Cook officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wedding music was presented by Miss LaVina Stevens.

The couple entered the church together and were attended by the bride's cousins Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Keller. Ushers were the bride's brother, Jimmy Russell and the bridegroom's cousin, Ronnie McKnight.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Russell, wore a beige wool suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. She attended Reynolds High School in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Howard of Route 1, Advance, is employed at Brown-Rogers-Dixon Co. in Winston-Salem.

Smith-Miller
Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Smith of Mocksville, Rt. 5, announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis Yvonne to Lawrence W. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Miller of Yadkinville, Rt. 2.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 25 at the Mount Olive Methodist Church.

Miss Smith and Mr. Miller are graduates of the Courtney High School.

Mr. Miller is an employee of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Winston-Salem.

THE OLD BRICK STORE

Another landmark in the center of our community is giving away to the changing times. The old bricks that have withstood heat and cold, wind and weather and the usage of generations that have entered the doors of the building they formed are now being torn from their mooring and are falling in broken, dusty heaps around the foundation of the building. The Old Brick Store is having its third and second stories removed, reducing the once proud structure to a mere one story building.

Mrs. Elizabeth Graham Williams is the present owner of the Old Brick Store. The use to which the remodeled building will be used will be announced later.

New Leaf Varieties Are Released After Tests

Four of 16 tobacco varieties tested by the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station this year will be offered for planting for the first time in 1961.

The new varieties are NC 75, McNair 10, McNair 12, and Bisette 11.

The annual tests are designed to compare the most commonly planted flue cured tobacco varieties and advanced breeding lines under different soil and climatic conditions.

Dr. Guy L. Jones, who conducts the variety test, points out that results are not to be taken as official recommendations. Instead they are to serve as guides in helping North Carolina farmers choose their 1960 tobacco variety.

Per acre yields of the 16 varieties tested this year ranged from 2,070 pounds for Bell 16 to 2,558 pounds for Bisette II. On basis of dollar value per acre, the varieties ranged from $1,686 for Coker 187 to $1,459 for McNair 12.

Hicks Broadleaf continued to bring the highest price per hundredweight, averaging $63.84. Bisette 11 had the lowest average, $55.39.

McNair 10 was the highest in nicotine content, with 3.16 per cent. Bisette 11 was lowest, with 1.73 per cent.

McNair 10 had the lowest ratio of nitrogen to nicotine, 0.69. Coker 316 had the highest ratio, 1.15. Generally, a lower ratio indicates more desirable tobacco. Of the new varieties tested this year, N.C. 75 has moderate resistance to black shank and fusarium wilt and low resistance to Granville wilt.

McNair 10 has moderate resistance to black shank and low resistance to Granville wilt. It is susceptible to fusarium wilt.

McNair 12 has high resistance to Granville wilt and moderate resistance to black shank. It, too, is susceptible to fusarium wilt.

Bisette 11, which is susceptible to all three diseases, was also severely injured by brown spot.

Jones says tests this year again show that the higher yielding varieties may not produce the best quality tobacco, when judged from both the physical and chemical standpoint.

State College's tobacco variety evaluation program consists of two phases. In the first phase, tobacco varieties are tested at the Rocky Mount, Whiteville, Clayton, Oxford, and Rural Hall research stations.

In the second phase, varieties and advanced breeding lines are studied under farm conditions.

Tobacco companies also obtain samples of the cured leaf for study. This year the American Tobacco Co., Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., the Imperial Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., Phillip Morris, Inc., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and P. Lorillard took part in the tests.

study. This year the American Tobacco Co., Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., the Imperial Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., Phillip Morris, Inc., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and P. Lorillard took part in the tests.

Yadkin Valley Telephone Co-op Annual Meeting To Be Saturday

The Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation's sixth annual meeting will be held Saturday, Dec. 3, 1960, at 1 p. m., in the Yadkin County Courthouse in Yadkinville.

The program will include business reports, election of directors, a guest speaker, old and new business, and free door prizes.

Walter Fuller, executive manager of the Tarheel Electric Membership Association of Raleigh, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Fuller is the former director of Rural Telephones for the North Carolina Electrification Authority.

A. W. McDonald, manager of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation, urged all co-op members to attend. He pointed out that by such attendance not only would they be helping to transact the business policies of the telephone co-op, but they would also stand a good chance of receiving a valuable prize.

A nominating committee has submitted the following candidates to be voted upon for the board of directors:

Brooks Cross Roads Exchange: Fred J. Brandon, incumbent; Dale W. Thomasson, incumbent; Lester G. Miller and Gilvin G. Angell.

Harmony Exchange: James M. Parks, incumbent; H. C. Myers, incumbent; T. H. Wallace and J. D. Mann.

Forbush Exchange: A. A. Doub, incumbent; Clint C. Poindexter, incumbent; Delma Hoots and Elmer C. Thomas.

Smith Grove Exchange: Wade Groce, incumbent; Harvey L. Gobble, incumbent; D. S. Tutterow, Thomas A. Rice.

New Hope Exchange: Ralph Dowell, incumbent; W. L. Bunton. Prizes to be given away as listed elsewhere in this issue.

In urging all members to attend Mr. McDonald pointed out: "The annual membership meeting is the one time during the year when members have the opportunity to meet and elect directors of their choice to direct the operation of their telephone system."

Mr. McDonald also pointed out that only one prize will be given to a member and his family. This will make possible for many of those families present to win a prize. Registration for the door prizes will begin at 12:30 p. m. and the registration will close at 2 p. m. All members are urged to arrive in time to be eligible for a door prize. Every member attending will be given a door favor and a ballpoint pen.

The manager pointed out that it will be necessary to have a quorum of members represented in order to conduct the meeting. The telephone cooperative now serves 3225 members and a quorum will be 181 members present or represented by a proxy. Members who cannot attend are urged to be represented at the meeting by proxy.

"Cooperative organizations must have the active interest and support of its members to be successful. We sincerely urge all members to meet with us at this year's annual meeting," said Mr. McDonald.

Northwest N. C. Development Assn. To Hold Awards Night

Representatives from Davie County will attend the annual award night banquet of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association to be held Dec. 6 at 6:30 p.m. at the Gilvin Roth YM-CA in Elkin. Around 700 persons are expected to attend.

Frank Bryant of Breville, President of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association, will preside.

Winners in the community development contest in the 11-county area will be announced and presented awards at the banquet.

Principal speaker will be John C. Whitaker of Winston-Salem, former chairman of the board of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and now consultant to the company.

Whitaker, a Winston-Salem native and University of North Carolina graduate, began his career with R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company in October, 1913, the month the first Camel cigarettes were manufactured. By the time he volunteered for Navy service in World War I he has been made a superintendent in the cigarette manufacturing division.

After the war was instrumental in establishing both a personnel and a medical department in the company. In 1919 he was named manager of the personnel department, which continued under his direct guidance for 29 years.

He was elected to the board of directors in 1935 and in 1937 he was made superintendent of manufacturing and elected a vice president. He served as vice president of manufacturing and personnel until becoming president of the company in 1948. He was elected chairman of the board of directors in 1952 and in 1955 was named chairman of the executive committee in addition.

In October, 1959, having asked to be relieved of some of his duties, Whitaker was named honorary chairman of the board and continued in that position until his resignation on Jan. 1, 1960. He continues to serve as a member of the board of directors and as a consultant to the company. Among other honors, Whitaker has received the Goldpost Award "for distinguished service to the nation through support of spiritual principles as the basis of American freedom." The North Carolina Citizens Association at its annual meeting last March presented him its Distinguished Citizenship Award citing his "half century of unselfish service devoted to the welfare of his fellow man, the up-building of his community and state while holding positions of guidance, leadership and trust."

SENATOR SAM ERVIN ★ SAYS ★

WASHINGTON — The general election having passed, there comes the realization that the First Session of the 87th Congress is not long away. The opening of Congress will be followed quickly by the inauguration of the new President, and our country will again turn its eyes to Washington to see the legislative program and the priority items for the new Congress.

Urgency For Action
Among the matters that must be given urgent attention is our military posture and the strengthening of our arsenal to defend our freedom against the threat of communism. The conduct of Premier Krushchev, at the United Nations General Assembly should be a strong factor in getting effective action to bolster our world position. This is so because never before have the people of this country been exposed to the height of irresponsibility that he demonstrated in his intemperate conduct.

Speculation
It is not my purpose to speculate on what course Congress will take in the next session. It can be said with certainty, however, that there are strong differences on major issues yet unresolved which will provide much study and dedicated effort. In short, it will not be easy to be a part of the deliberations but it will be a challenge to try to bring reasonable people to agreement on some of the pressing issues which are certain to arise as they have in past sessions.

Perhaps it is best for the country to take a moment to catch its breath between the elections and the opening of Congress. There promises to be no let-up in the months ahead for cogent and diligent action to keep our country strong where we are strong and to restore our vitality and strength where we are weak.

Dear Parents and Your Sons and His Military Obligation

Your son, if he is 17 or over, may soon be faced with making his decision regarding military service. He can take his chance on waiting to be inducted by his local Draft Board. However, this may make it difficult for him to plan ahead for his education or his civilian career.

On the other hand, he can now make practical plans which will permit him to complete his education and embark upon a civilian career. Here is how:

When your son enters the Army National Guard, he will undergo a period of six months active duty training program. If your son is in high school when he enlists, he may arrange to take his active duty training at any time within a year of his enlistment. Thus, if he is a senior he may wait until he is graduated. Now, when he leaves for active duty training, he still will be a Army National Guardsman. In fact, he may go with some of his own Guard unit members.

At training camp he will be given a regular Army basic course, followed by a period of individual training. Often in skills which will be useful to him in his civilian career. During the six months period of active duty training, your son will have leave to come home.

Upon completion of this training, your son will return home to complete his Ready Reserve Service by attending weekly training drills at his hometown National Guard Armory, and participating in two weeks of summer training each year.

The Army National Guard is a volunteer organization of citizen soldiers. It is a military organization, but its members are civilians. They are local citizens who go to school or work in offices, in factories, in stores, and on farms. The fact that they are in military occupation, they give a part of their time every week, to train in defense of their community and country.

You son will also earn extra income each year. He may earn $200 - $400 - $800 or more each year.

Stop by your local Army National Guard Armory on Railroad Street, Mocksville, North Carolina, for more details about the advantages and opportunities your son will gain through membership in the National Guard. Come today and ask to see Sgt. Douglas R. Fink, A & ST of the unit in Mocksville.

Keep your guard up and enlist today. Sleep Well Tonight Your National Guard Is Awake.

The National Guard of Mocksville is made up of Citizens Soldiers who work with in your home town. Today the National Guard in Mocksville is composed of 44 men and one (1) Officer. At the present we have 38 Enlisted Men and we are on our way to recruiting up to full strength. If you are a young man of 17 years or older and you have the Reserve Obligation starting you in the face, come by the National Guard Armory today and talk to Sgt. Douglas Fink, who will be glad to talk to you about your Military Obligation. If you have completed your two years Regular Army and you are wondering what to do we will be more than glad to enlist you in the National Guard, because if you do not enlist in the National Guard you will have to attend Reserve meetings either at Winston - Salem or Salisbury. Why not come by the National Guard Armory today and enlist in the NG and attend drills here in Mocksville. I don't think you will regret it in the least. For information contact one of the following for enlistment in the North Carolina Army National Guard, TODAY.

The New Day—and Education

Why shouldn't North Carolina strive to lead the nation?

This question was asked last week by Governor-Elect Terry Sanford in an address at the Southern Conference on Education.

In this address Mr. Sanford pointed out that all North Carolinians were proud of the reputation of being "first in the South" but that we should not stop here. He pointed out that while we in North Carolina do not have everything, we have in abundance those resources that really matter . . . soil, water, climate, rainfall, and people . . . most of all we have a stock of sturdy and able people. We need only to develop fully this human resource," said Mr. Sanford.

Mr. Sanford said he subscribed fully to the following statement of faith made at the turn of the century by Walter Hines Page:

"I believe in the free public training of both the hands and the minds of every child born of woman.

"I believe that by the right training of men we add to the wealth of the world. All wealth is the creation of man, and he creates it only in proportion to the trained uses of the community; and, the more men we train, the more wealth everyone may create.

"I believe in the perpetual regeneration of society, in the immortality of democracy, and in growth everlasting."

Mr. Sanford then went on to outline his belief in quality education by saying: Education is the foundation of economic improvement. "I am concerned, vitally, with industrial development, farm income, the economic growth, the chance of all to make a better living, and because I am concerned I have chosen quality education as the rock on which to build the house of my administration."

Education is the foundation of democracy. "I am concerned with defending the principles of freedom, of individual liberties, of free enterprise, of equality and dignity of many, and therefore I seek the fulfillment of these principles through quality education we offer our boys and girls."

Education is the foundation of the needs and hopes of the nation. "I am concerned with our part in the world, and I am concerned with the peace of the world, and therefore I propose that we adequately educate the scientists, the statesman, and the citizenry who will fully understand and are equipped to defend the ideals of our dynamic democracy of the Twentieth Century."

Education, put in the bleakest terms, is survival. "Here in our own small part of the free world, we can do no less than seek the best as we prepare to do our part to defend America and the free world."

And education, put in its brightest terms, is life and growth and happiness. "We are not here merely to make a living. We are talking about the fundamental when we are talking about education, and our goal is worthy of the best we have in mind, and heart, and spirit."

"As Governor of North Carolina I will work for a program which provides educational opportunity, appropriate and available, second to none in quality, for all the children of our State, and I will work to obtain adequate support for that program," said Mr. Sanford.

To put such a program into effect, Mr. Sanford pointed out that it would take the understanding and support of all the citizens, and a willingness to go forward in the conviction that all progress stems from education.

Yes, we agree with Governor-Elect Terry Sanford when he says that North Carolina is facing a "New Day" . . . and that education is the barque on which we must launch our hopes.

Law Enforcement

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has called the taking for granted the daily protection afforded Americans by undermanned, underpaid local law enforcement agencies as one of the tragedies of today's society.

Mr. Hoover points out that certainly no greater debt is owed to any group in this country than the one owed to peace officers, from the traffic officer standing in a driving rain amidst a maelstrom of rush-hour traffic to the lone patrolman on the beat prowling into a silent, darkened alley to seek out a cornered and dangerous gunman.

In the October FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Mr. Hoover writes:

"Each passing day sees law enforcement officers exposed to more and more dangers. Crime in the first six months of 1960 rose a startling 9 percent with robbery showing the greatest increase — 13 percent. Murder and aggravated assault jumped 6 and 4 percent, respectively. All of these crimes are potentially deadly ones for the apprehending officers.

"Yet, while the officers' task becomes increasingly more dangerous, more complex and more demanding, the public still has the lackadaisical, outmoded attitude that it can be adequately protected if it merely gives any man a uniform, a night stick and a gun.

"Until it is learned that law enforcement is decidedly more than this crime will never show any abatement. In some areas of the nation, private citizens, civic organizations and educational institutions cooperate to provide scholarships to the more deserving and promising law enforcement officers. In this manner, these groups insure that their communities will profit more from their police agencies.

Pointing the Way!

North Carolina and its businessman-governor Luther Hodges, who has been reported "definitely in" as the next United States Secretary of Commerce, have been cited as "pointing the way" toward solving the South's racial and economic problems.

"Every major category of worthwhile activity in the state has risen sharply during Hodges' tenure," writes author James Daniel in the December issue of Reader's Digest, now on the newsstands.

The author, a born Southerner, says that "enormous strides" have been made in race relations, education and economic development in North Carolina since World War II. He credits those strides to Hodges, enumerating the governor's globe-trotting searches for industry for the Old North State, and explaining the role of a small business development corporation and the famed "Research Triangle" created by Hodges.

It is to the everlasting credit of the Training and professional status are necessary ingredients in effective law enforcement. Assuredly, this is something for communities all over America to consider for, in effect, they can assist in safeguarding themselves from crime and of its terrible consequences.

"It must always be remembered that the local police agencies in this nation are small outpost of protection from a horde of criminals who are ever ready to take advantage of any weakness to exploit law-abiding citizens.

"There is another side, too, to the responsibilities of law enforcement officers. One of our agents recently told me of an incident which illustrates it very well. Two sullen juvenile delinquents had been identified as the thieves in a stolen car case. One was apprehended but would give no statement and when asked as to the whereabouts of his companion, he retorted flippantly, "You're so smart, find out yourself!" Within a few days, the companion was arrested in another city but not before he had shot an officer. Upon learning this, the first youth broke down and cried and then stated, "thank God you were smart enough to have caught me. If it were not for your efficiency, I would be facing the gas chamber, too."

The FBI director points out that deterrence of crime can be accomplished only through effective enforcing of the law.

Law enforcement has a double duty to society which it strives to fulfill despite public apathy. Surely, society must work just as diligently to carry out its responsibilities of giving aid, attention, and encouragement to these men who want only to serve to fullest of their capacities.

state and the man, who has climbed to his self-made height from a birth 62 years ago in a one-room log cabin, that such a publication has seen fit to recognize one of the many bright spots in a Southland too often maligned, too seldom viewed objectively by the rest of the nation.

This new recognition is part of a pattern that the politicians interpret as a sign that the role of North Carolina in the affairs of the nation is growing by leaps and bounds.

Let accomplishment and recognition become the seeds of complacency, let it be the goal of governor-elect Terry Sanford — and, indeed, of every citizen of the state — to see that North Carolina continues to "point the way."

The earth, in its annual journey around the sun, travels a distance of 590,000,000 miles.

Divine Injunction

HOW ABOUT GRAY? . . . One of the questions being asked hereabouts as the result of Sen. John Kennedy's win a few weeks ago is:

What about the future of Gordon Gray, who has been top man in the current administration — and a close advisor to President Eisenhower — for many years now?

Gray, whose fortune runs and controls the Winston-Salem Journal, The Twin City Sentinel, WSJS, AND WSJS-TV, left Washington to become president of the Greater University of North Carolina — and then finally resigned that position to return to Washington.

He's not a dollar a year man, but his income from government service is a mere pittance . . . and—so he is regarded as a sort of new type career man with no personal axes to grind. Nelson Rockefeller was in the same class until he returned home to become Governor of New York State.

All of which brings up an interesting question again: What is young Gordon Gray's future in Washington, in North Carolina?

FOR NOTHING? . . . The word we get is that President-elect John Kennedy is many times the millionaire he became at 21 through a gift from his father.

You can hear all sorts of figures. The highest reaching us is that his total wealth is now $23,000,000. Be that as it may, he is not destined to go hungry from lack of this world's goods.

Although Dwight Eisenhower was exceedingly well fixed when he became President — largely due to the sale of war memoirs, etc.—he was not in the millionaire class. Neither, certainly, was Harry Truman. But Herbert Hoover was many times a millionaire when he became President in 1929.

An interesting fact about Hoover's four year term of office is that he never accepted a dime of salary, thus saving his hard-pressed, depression ridden Government over $300,000 in cold, cold cash.

Although he, too, was a millionaire, Franklin D. Roosevelt — who had devoted all his adult life to governmental service — accepted his salary and annually lost money on the expenses provided him to operate the White House.

It has been suggested recently that Kennedy, not needing the money, serve as President for nothing. We have already observed in the national press pro and con comment on this one. Our guess is that he will not go along with Hoover on this one — though he just might.

We recall that in his long years as a valuable member of the State Board of Agriculture under Commissioner Kerr Scott, the late Lionel Weil of the famous Goldsboro Weil family, never accepted a dime of expenses — and never missed a meeting.

—But for every one who serves the Government unselfishly — as have Gordon Gray, Nelson Rockefeller, and as did Lionel Weil — you will find 50 others at the other extreme.

CLOSER WALK . . . Nothing Terry Sanford did after winning the Democratic nomination for Governor so riled the public as his suddenly siding with Kennedy only a few hours after reaching the Democratic National Convention in California last summer.

He angered a lot of fellow Democrats who had made up their minds to cast their first ballots for Sen. Lyndon Johnson. Then that lovable old fellow, Dave Pearson, threw fuel on the fire as only he can.

Well, Terry Sanford drewled, he thought Kennedy would be the next President of the United States — and North Carolina would not regret being an early walker with the winner. Pearson tried to make amends, but a lot of the harm had been done—and Terry never lived it down, particularly among thousands and thousands of voters who wanted an excuse to be against him anyway. They talked and whispered about all kinds of deals — except the New Deal and the Square Deal.

But North Carolina, which despite what you hear, has not made the progress many another state has made since 1950, needs friends in Washington. We apparently have a solid one — in President-elect John F. Kennedy.

BEST DEAL? . . . And, with the great and growing power of the Federal Government, with its billions to spend wherever it wishes — and with the certain trend to Bigger Government — we here in North Carolina should suddenly stop talk of any midsummer "deal."

Call it "deal" if you wish — but the decision Sanford made in California four months ago could mean more to you, your town, your county, your State, than the New Deal — or the Square Deal, under Harry Truman.

As Roy Parker said in his article last Sunday announcing that Sanford had been called to a private conference with Kennedy on Tuesday, Nov. 29:

"Kennedy has met with only a half dozen top Democratic leaders since he became President-elect. Sanford will be the second Governor or Governor to be to do so. The other was Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, who was a Kennedy aide during the campaign."

THE WINNERS . . . Well, another football season is almost over. It has been a good one for all the teams in the Big Four, with the possible exception of Wake Forest. Duke is happy, for they are going to the Cotton Bowl. Carolina had a good season, for they took Duke. State's season was successful, for they took Carolina. Wake's season, supposed to be best, ended up worst.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Recently I attended a football game at Princeton University with Bob Scannell, accomplished Westchester County architect and member of the Class of 1915. This group has a building all its own where we gathered in an enjoyable and informal manner. Prominent was a painting of a distinguished 1915 classmate, James Forrestal, our first Secretary of Defense. He was not the only such member. Another is Maurice Pate, Director of the United Nations Children's Fund, popularly known as UNICEF.

I met Mr. Pate, in fact, he sat just in front of us at the football game. He is a big man, thatched with white hair, "who moves and speaks slowly and gently, as if the most urgent crisis he had ever faced was a cup of cambric tea one cold" — at least that is how Holiday magazine described him. For 25 of his 65 years he has been helping the unfortunate of the world. During the first World War, he worked with Herbert Hoover in the relief of stricken Belgium, and after World War II, he added the relief work in Poland. So he was, as I am sure, especially qualified to head UNICEF after that war. Perhaps children on Halloween reminded you of its needs; we also have an opportunity to buy Christmas cards which help this worthy cause.

Maurice Pate pointed out, between halves of the game, that more than a hundred million babies will be born around the globe this year, three out of four of them dying because of childhood disease. Despite worldwide tensions and oppositions, ninety nations from Afghanistan to Yugoslavia have contributed to UNICEF, and in any land, I understand, whether in front or behind the Iron Curtain, Maurice Pate is welcome in the highest governmental councils. This is because no one can deny his cause — that of helping children of all nations to be free from disease, hunger and other threats to their little lives.

Although UNICEF is a big operation, its budget is, according to world standards, comparatively small, being only twenty-five million dollars for all its humane work. The organization was first created to take care of the hungry, wretched and shivering waifs left in Europe after World War II. It first seemed an emergency measure, but the emergency has lasted until now and bids fair to continue for a long time to come, with the worldwide population explosion Maurice Pate told me, malaria killed a million babies in India alone last year, most of them starving for the lack of proper food. In the struggling country of Indonesia, there were twelve million cases of yaws, a disease that covers the young body with open sores from the palms of the hands to the soles of the feet. In addition to this, leprosy and trachoma accounted for some fifty million young victims, despite modern methods of prevention and cure. Truly this is a continuing emergency.

Ten years ago, the General Assembly of the United Nations directed Maurice Pate and his associates, to develop long-range benefit programs for children in the teeming, underprivileged areas. Modern tools and medicines to aid needy children were sent to the Near East, India, South America and the newly-emerging countries of Africa. This is partly paid for by the contributions you make on Halloween and Christmas to the fund for this purpose. Before I met Maurice Pate, this to me was just another relief organization. Now, I am convinced it should be in the front rank of the many causes to which we are all asked to contribute, out of which we must select the most pressing and worthwhile — such as UNICEF.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Each of us limitless . . . with his . . . right upon the earth" — Whitman.

Always short of funds, John sidled up to Jim and asked, "Jim, can you let me borrow $50?"

"No," replied Jim, "You are my friend and the loan of money destroys friendship. Your friendship is worth more than $50."

"Well, then," asked John, "can you let me have $500?"

We know that true friendship is priceless. However, under the guise of friendship, friendliness frequently is abused. So some people feel that others owe them fawning attention. There are others who want so much to be on good terms with people they admire that they surrender their self-respect. Of course, they deny that they are flunkies to others, but their mental if not physical cringing leaks through and stains their manhood. Everyone can see it.

Feeling and acting equal to your fellowmen is not arrogance. It is quiet confidence. Your equality enables you to be on good terms with all persons without losing one iota of your dignity. Strive for this freedom. It belongs to you. To surrender it in any degree to any man is to surrender your birthright. Man can sink no lower. Copyright 1959 Fred Dodge

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: I see by the papers where Senator Kefauver says we ought to have a full investigation of the "integrity" of our Government. Most folks back home would be satisfied if they'd just find it. When things is going bad in Washington, the Republicans claims the Democrats is running it and the Democrats say the Republicans is at the wheel. It confirms a suspicion I've had for years, that most of the time it's running itself.

It reminds me of that time the Judge had two fellers up for being dead drunk and turning their car over. When he ask one of them just who was driving at the time, the feller scratched his head, studied for a spell and said: "Honest, Mister Judge, the last I recollect we was both riding in the back seat." When things ain't going good in the Congress, everybody in Washington is riding in the back seat.

What we call our foreign policy, fer instans, has been wobbling around fer years like a peanut in a pumpkin shell. The Republicans blame it on the Democrats and viser verser. And while they're arguing over whether the barn burned down or burned up, them Russians is busy building a bigger barn. In a manner of speaking, Mister Editor, you might say that we conduct our foreign policy on the tweedledee and tweedledum system, with maybe the dum getting a little the best of it.

As a general thing, I figger the two-party system is the best form of Government, but sometimes I wish we could get a third party and put all the screwballs from the other two parties in it, then the Democrats and Republicans could git down to business and git somepun done.

As it is, our Congressmen has a pritty hard time of it, a heap of the time making the right move at the wrong time, like the girl that hurt her back trying to git into her girdle. She was wiggling when she should've been waggling.

But it's mighty comforting to git our new Congress back in session. They operate the biggest give-away program on earth. A feller at the country store said Saturday night that the Lord helps those who helped theirself but that Congress would help anybody.

Incidental, I see where we got four members in the new Congress that can play the guitar. When I was a boy, if you saw a feller with a guitar strung around his neck you knowed he was a wandering bum. Today he can either be a television star with two yachts or a Congressman, with four different plans fer reducing taxes — in a election year.

Yours truly, Uncle Dave

Did You Know . . . ? About TB . . . Crowding aboard nuclear submarines may make tuberculosis more of a peril for the crew than radiation. British surgeon Stanley Miles of the Royal Naval Medical School says that even on ordinary surface vessels, the sailors spend so much time together in the limited space below decks that the number of TB cases in the Royal Fleet is double that of other armed services. And on a small U. S. Naval vessel last year, 65 of the 133-man crew picked up TB infection and nine were hospitalized with active TB within a three-month period.

There's reason to believe from studies made in the U. S., that pregnancy does not make TB worse, as has long been thought. A recent follow-up of 55 pregnant women in England showed that only two got worse. All of the children born to these tuberculosis mothers were free of TB. The babies were vaccinated against TB with BCG and separated from their sick mothers for the six to eight weeks BCG takes to become effective. . . . Alaska has the highest new active TB case rate and Arizona the highest TB death rate. Among cities of 500,000 population or more, Chicago has the highest new active case rate, and Baltimore the highest death rate.

Among patients in Veterans Administration hospitals, World War I veterans, average age 65, spend the longest time in the hospital with TB. World War II veterans, average age 40, run them a close second. But Korean veterans, average age 30, are hospitalized with TB for a much shorter time.

Corn Farmers Urged To Consider ASC Loans

Corn farmers are urged to keep in mind loan rates and availability of loans through the ASC office. According to recent statements issued by the department current prices for corn on most markets are below the applicable loan rate. With the support rate in that State of $1.15 per bushel, local market prices in some areas are as low as $1.00.

According to L. G. Miller, chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee, this is about the same picture that prevails during the height of the harvest season on most commodities under support. "That's why price support loans are made available to farmers — to permit them to store their grain instead of dumping it on the market as soon as it is harvested."

ASC's price support programs in general, in addition to providing for orderly marketing of grain, also provide a dollars and cents minimum or support price for certain grains. This "minimum price" enables farmers to know at the time of planting that they will at least get their cash investment back out of the crop. The "minimum price" also encourages enough farmers to plant in order that there might not be a serious scarcity on the market which would cause inflationary prices to consumers, Miller said.

Every year farmers lose money in this County by not using their price support programs as they were intended to be used. All ASC offices are glad to give out information on loan rates, availability of storage, and eligibility requirements for price support.

Cotton Vote Near

Cotton growers will vote at local polling places Tuesday, Dec. 13, on their cotton program for 1961. In order that farmers will be fully advised before that referendum date, 1961 farm acreage allotment notices will be in the hands of all cotton growers not later than the 8th of December, according to L. G. Miller, chairman of the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

In a change from the programs in effect for 1959 and 1960, each farm operator will receive only 1 allotment for 1961. This will represent the farm's share of the national upland cotton acreage allotment of 18 1/2 million acres.

The allotment determines the effect of marketing quotas on the individual farm. Miller points out, if marketing quotas take effect as a result of a two-thirds favorable vote in the referendum, cotton from complying farms may be marketed without penalty and is eligible for the full available rate of price support. Even if quotas are disapproved, compliance with the acreage allotment will determine eligibility for the lower rate of price support available.

For the past two years, farm operators had a choice between the regular allotment and price support rate and a larger allotment with a reduced rate of support. However, the law that provided this special program applied only to the 1959 and 1960 crops.

Sell Cropland — Sell Allotment — See ASC

Persons who are buying or selling land on which allotments have been established should become familiar with the regulations governing combination and division of allotments. These regulations are very definite and it is suggested that farmers buying or selling land with allotments check with the county office prior to buying or selling in order to get the facts and avoid misunderstanding.

Generally speaking, any cropland sold for any purpose gets its percentage part of the applicable allotments. Cropland sold from an allotment farm for business or residential development also carries its percentage part of the allotments. The County Committee cannot recognize any agreements by the buyer or seller as to how the allotments are to be divided. Allotments on estates can be divided according to the agreement signed by all heirs.

All requests for divisions and combinations should be filed at the county office as soon as the deeds are recorded. However, changes in the allotment records will not be made until 1961 allotments are established.

HEADACHES

Dr. R. F. Kemp

This week we will discuss headaches, which is a very prevalent condition, and one that causes thousands of hours of lost time in this country each year, plus a letting down of energy and efficiency, even if no time is lost.

There are many types of headaches, the tension type, which in some instances amounts to the terrible migraine headache, and there are other types such as the one resulting from very high bloodpressure, and others from sluggishness of the liver, bowels, etc. AND last but not least, the headache which results from accident, such as often follows a whiplash injury in a car accident. ALL types are disabling and should be investigated to learn the cause. If you suffer with any type of headache, remember, it is a warning that all is not well, and that something should be done about it.

Chiropractic care has proven a boon to many headache sufferers, and a chiropractic examination should always be had, as many times nerve pressure at the spine is actually the original cause of the headache, and in this office, we have had over the many years, gratifying results in headache cases.

If you suffer with any type of headache, see your Chiropractic, and write this office for the pamphlet "Headache," it can be very enlightening.

Next week we will discuss 'Your Insurance Coverage' which plays a great role in the lives of sick and injured people today.

Heffner's Land Of Food Opens Store In Clemmons

Doyle Donahue Named
Manager of Local Store

Oren Heffner has opened a modern food store in the new Clemmons Center in Clemmons. The grand opening of this new store was held last week end.

Anderson Murph, former manager of the grocery department of the Mocksville Store, will serve as manager of Heffner's Land of Food in Clemmons.

Mr. Heffner now operates three Land of Food Stores, having units in Mocksville, Yadkinville, and Clemmons.

With the opening of the new store in Clemmons, Mr. Heffner announced the appointment of Doyle Donahue as manager of the Mocksville Store.

Mr. Donahue has been associated with the local Land of Food Store for the past five years, serving as assistant manager for the past year.

A native of Woodleaf, he is married to the former Linda Murph. They have one son, Darrill.

DOYLE DONAHUE

Ed Short Elected Vice President Of Uwharrie Council

Ed Short was elected vice president of the Uwharrie Council of the Boy Scouts of America at the 38th annual banquet held in the Woman's Club Building in Thomasville on Friday evening, Dec. 2.

Elected as new president of the council was J. Alvin Philpott of Lexington to succeed Harris Covington of High Point. R. Earl Magner of China Grove and E. Lambeth, Jr., of Thomasville were also elected vice presidents.

Other officers elected included H. R. Williamson of High Point, treasurer; James R. Matlocks of High Point, assistant treasurer; and C. W. Grubb of Salisbury, council commissioner.

Charles Jamerson of Cooleemee received a plaque for his volunteer work as retiring chairman of the Davie District.

Mr. Short, who is also Leadership Training chairman for the council, presented Scoutmaster keys, Scouters' keys, and Scouters' awards to a number of men from the different districts in the council.

Speakers at the event were the Rev. Thomas S. Haggard of High Point; Lawrence Wood of Atlanta, Ga., a regional scouting official; and Bunn W. Hackney, Jr., of High Point, Uwharrie council executive.

It was announced that Bob Tye of High Point, a field executive for the past three years, has accepted a new position in scouting in Sarasota, Fla.

About 225 attended the banquet. Of this number, there were approximately 20 attending from the County.

Rotary Party

The annual Rotary Christmas Party will be held next Tuesday night, Dec. 13, at the Rotary Hut at 8:30 p.m.

President George Rowland announced that Jeff Caudell would have charge of the program.

Rotarymen will be special guests for the evening.

'C' Ward... ...Is Robbed

A pickup artist made off with more than $400 from C's Barbecue around closing time Friday night or early Saturday morning.

"C" Ward in preparing to close, checked out his cash register putting more than $400 in a pouch. By himself at the time, he laid it on the counter and went back to bank the fire in the barbecue pit. When he returned, the pouch and money was gone.

Mr. Ward said he did not see anyone around the place either immediately before or after the pouch was taken. Local officers are investigating.

Official Census Shows Davie County's Population As 16,728

Mocksville's Population Is Listed As 2,379

Davie County has a population of 16,728 according to the official 1960 census figures released this week.

The Mocksville Township has the largest population count in the county with 4,823 listed. Jerusalem Township is second with a count of 3,946 persons.

The population count of the various other townships of the county is as follows:

Farmington Township: 2,630
Fulton Township: 1,188
Clarksville Township: 1,544
Shady Grove Township: 1,358
Calahalan Township: 1,239
The Town of Mocksville is listed as having a population of 2,379, as an incorporated town. Cooleemee is listed as an unincorporated town with a population of 1,609. Advance is also listed as an unincorporated town with a population count of 197.

Enterprise Adds To Plant And Staff

Another Linotype machine has been installed in the Davie Co. ENTERPRISE RECORD plant, delivered from Philadelphia last week.

A new employee, who is a Linotype Operator and printer, has been added to the staff. He is Wayne Nance, from Denton. Mr. and Mrs. Nance and son and daughter plan on moving to Mocksville immediately after the Christmas holidays. They are members of the Methodist church.

Elementary Basketball

Advance boys and girls continued undefeated as they defeated Mocksville last week in a doubleheader. The score of the girls' game was Advance 26; Mocksville 6. The Advance boys trounced Mocksville by the score of 28 to 15.

Cooleemee took the games from Smith Grove, the girls winning 25 to 15, and the boys 20 to 15.

On Thursday night, Advance will play at Smith Grove and Cooleemee will play at Farmington. Mocksville will draw a bye this week.

Triangle Launderette To Have Grand Opening

The grand opening of the Triangle Launderette, located at the corner of Avon and Gwyn Streets in Mocksville, will be held on Saturday of this week.

Sam Short, Jr., owner and operator of the new launderette, announced that as an opening feature the launderette would do free drying Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Just ask for the money to dry your clothes and you'll have it deposited for you," said Mr. Short. Mr. Short also said that there would be free treats for both the kiddies and adults.

The new launderette actually went into operation on Tuesday of this week, with the grand opening program being planned for Saturday.

Upshaw Presides At State Feed Meeting

Arthur M. Upshaw of Mocksville presided at the recent session of the North Carolina Feed Manufacturers Association.

Mr. Upshaw is the retiring president of the association. He is being succeeded in this office by D. H. Taylor of Kinston, President of the Leco Feed Mills.

Lynn Haven Nursing Home Adds Director Of Nurses

John F. Ginter Assumes Duties Here in Mocksville

John F. Ginter, R.N., of Philadelphia, Pa., graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, has been added to the staff of Lynn Haven Nursing Home, as Director of Nurses.

Mr. Ginter did private duty in Philadelphia, Penn., for a number of years after his graduation. However, since 1942, has been supervisor of the Medical Department at Ford Motor Company in Chester, Pa.

W. J. Wilson, owner and operator of Lynn Haven Nursing Home, states that he is very fortunate in having obtained the services of Mr. Ginter.

Mr. Ginter and his wife, Helen, are the parents of six children: Mrs. Herbert Shilling, of Mount Airy, Penn.; Pvt. 1st Class John Ginter, Jr., who at the present time is stationed in Germany; and, Robert, Elaine, Joann, and Rosemary Ginter.

The Ginter family is residing in a newly constructed home adjoining the Lynn Haven Nursing Home.

Lynn Haven Nursing Home has License for 60 patients and is licensed by the North Carolina Medical Care Commission, and the North Carolina Public Welfare

JOHN F. GINTER

Department. It is one of the 11 Nursing Homes in North Carolina as of October 11, 1960, that has Skilled Nursing Care License.

To obtain skilled nursing care license a home must have certain trained personnel in addition to a Registered Nurse in charge and on call 24 hours a day, and be sufficiently equipped to take care of most any emergency.

Mr. Wilson states he would be happy for anyone to visit the Nursing Home any day between the hours of 1:30 and 3 p.m.

Davie County Commissioners Take Office, Make Appointments

John R. Mauney Is Promoted To Supt. Of Nye-Wait Co., Inc.

JOHN R. MAUNEY

John R. Mauney, foreman of the Karas Weave Room of Fieldcrest Mills in Leaksville, has been transferred to the Nye-Wait Company, Inc., Auburn, N. Y. Mr. Mauney has been promoted to the position of superintendent of Nye-Wait Company, Inc.

Mr. Mauney, the husband of the former Miss Janet Eaton of Mocksville, has been with the Fieldcrest Mills for nine years. He is a native of Shelby, and served in the Navy Hospital Corps from July, 1945, until January, 1947. He received a BS degree in chemistry and biology from Wake Forest College. He later attended North Carolina State College where he received a BS degree in textile chemistry and dyeing.

He joined Fieldcrest in July, 1951 as trainee in the Beck Dyeing Department at the Finishing Mill. He was transferred to the Karastan Rug Mill shortly thereafter to become assistant foreman in the Dyeing Dept. He next spent about a year and a half working through the mill under Karastan's supervisory training program.

He was made a staff assistant to the mill manager in May, 1954, and became assistant foreman in weave room in October, 1956. He was promoted to Weave Room foreman in June, 1957.

Mrs. Mauney and children, Johnny and Meg, will join Mr. Mauney in New York on Jan. 1.

TURKEY-HAM SHOOT

Firm of Brock & Brock Named County Attorneys

C. Atlas Smoot of Mocksville was re-elected chairman of the board of county commissioners at its December session held Monday.

Mr. Smoot was elected chairman following the ceremony that saw he and the other two commissioners, C. W. Alexander of Cooleemee and Albert Howard of Smith Grove, sworn into office.

Mr. Smoot was elected chairman for his second straight term. In other action at their meeting, Monday, the board appointed the firm of Brock and Brock as county attorneys, replacing A. T. Trant who formerly served in this position.

Mrs. Eloise C. Stephens was re-named county financial agent; Mrs. Vestrice J. Towell was re-named county tax collector; and Mrs. Thelma C. Driver was re-named as clerk in tax office.

Woodrow J. Wilson was reappointed county veteran's service officer; and Mrs. Eloise Stephens was reappointed county purchasing agent. Dewey Cain was reappointed as janitor.

The board of commissioners appointed Mrs. June Hicks of Mocksville and Robert Lee Seaford of Fulton as trustees for the Davie County Hospital.

Dr. Bob M. Foster and Dr. John P. Spargo were named as county physicians.

Tax Listers

Calahalan Township: T. A. Vant
Clarksville: L. S. Driver
Farmington: Mrs. Lillian Gregory

Fulton: Mrs. Pauline Carter.

Jerusalem: Mrs. Margaret Cope
Mocksville: Mrs. Margie Greene
Shady Grove: Mrs. Alice Potts.

The appointment of an electrical inspector was postponed until the January meeting.

The commissioners approved the Christmas holiday period for the county offices as Dec. 24, 26, and 27.

Mail Early For Christmas

Act. Postmaster W. T. Hendricks said today, "It's later than you think. Let's not wait until mid-December to get our Christmas cards and gifts in the mails. By taking action now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones at Christmas time."

The Postmaster asks your special cooperation in being sure that our return address and the recipient's address is plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Use zone numbers, and send your Christmas cards by first class mail so that you can include handwritten messages, making your Christmas greetings more personal. Also, you'll be certain that they'll be delivered promptly and forwarded or returned, if necessary. Mail your Christmas cards in two bundles, using free labels that you can get at the Post Office, which read, "All For Local Delivery" and "All or Out of Town Delivery."

The Postmaster asks the cooperation of all business firms to delay mailing circulars and catalogs until after Dec. 25, to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

Beginning Saturday, Dec. 17, service windows at the Post Office will be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. You can avoid standing in line to mail your packages and to buy stamps by going to the Post Office before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Mail your Christmas cards and gifts for out of town destinations by Dec. 10. Those for nearby points should be mailed by Dec. 15, or at least a week before Christmas.

'Florence Mackie Night' Is Observed Here

on behalf of the club members. Watching the proceedings are Mrs. Roland West, left, County Council President, and Mrs. Armand Smith, President of the Kappa Home Demonstration Club, who presided at the meeting.

MISS MACKIE IS SURPRISED . . . as she entered the Mocksville school last Tuesday night amidst cheering and placards proclaiming "We Like Mackie." The surprise party, planned by members of the Home Demonstration Clubs, honored Miss Mackie for her 25 years of service in Davie County as County Home Demonstration Agent. She was escorted to the meeting by Hugh Larew under the pretext that she was to attend a committee meeting.

Yule Supper-Meeting Held Tuesday Evening

Adult Department No. 1, Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, held its annual Yule supper-meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Mason on Route 2.

The home was decorated for the occasion with festive greens, red candles, silver arrangements, and a Christmas tree.

A covered dish supper was served prior to the Christmas program to 20 guests. A silver offering was taken at the conclusion of the meeting to be used for food and clothing for a family at Christmas.

Mrs. Avilon Frye is teacher of the class and Mrs. Coolegee Myers is class president.

Paraplegic Assoc. To Be Entertained Here

The North Carolina Paraplegic Association is being entertained in Mocksville Sunday afternoon at a Christmas Party. Host and hostesses for the party will be R. C. Smith, Miss Jo Cooley and Marcia Ann Patner. The program will start at 2:30 p.m.

There will be games and Santa Claus will present gifts to all those present. Door prizes will also be awarded. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Mrs. Luther Dull Is WSCS Hostess

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Wesley Chapel Methodist Church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Luther Dull.

The program consisted of Christmas carols sung by the group and Truets of Christmas in hymns and carols presented by Mrs. George Laymon, Mrs. Vernon Mille and Mrs. Floyd Dull.

Sandwiches, pickles, cookies, candy and coffee were served after the business session by the hostess to eight members.

Correction

Last week this newspaper carried a story concerning a 1948 Buick running into a transmission tower of Duke Power Co. on Salisbury St.

The driver of the car, James Cleo Baugess, 35, of South Main Street in Mocksville fled the scene of the accident. We reported that he was picked up later at his home by State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock. This was not correct.

According to the officers, Baugess fled the scene of the accident. Mocksville Chief of Police Joe W. Foster radioed to other officers up town to be on the lookout for Baugess. Patrolman Blalock and Deputy Otis Ridenhour were ready to start for the Baugess home when they saw him running up the street hollering 'Blalock . . . Blalock . . . Blalock-' and there took him into custody.

He was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Large Hogs

Jim Eaton of Mocksville, Rt. 2, can lay claim to some of the largest hogs in this section of the state.

On Nov. 30 he killed a hog and after it was dressed could not find scales that would weigh it. Even after cutting off the head, the hog was still too heavy.

This hog was cut up and brought to the Foster-Turrentine Mill in Mocksville and weighed piece by piece, with the total being 792 pounds.

Mr. Eaton killed another hog on Dec. 5 which weighed 500 pounds. He says he still has two more to kill, each of which will weigh more than 450 pounds.

Boy Scouts Receive Awards; Make Trip

At a recent Court of Honor for Troop 575, Boy Scouts of America, Uwharrie Council, awards of Second Class rank were presented to the following boys: Jimmy Short, Mike Branham, Corky Cozart, and Troy Draughn.

Tenderfoot rank was presented to four new members of the Troop. They were: Jimmy McCoy, Gene James, Joe Mando, and Ricky Cartner. Troop 575 made a two day camping trip over the Thanksgiving Holidays. They pitched their own tents, used sleeping bags, and cooked all their own meals while on the trip.

Visual handicapped will be held. The ladies will also be special guests for this program.

Lisa Can Ride Her 'Goldilocks' Again Because of Help From March of Dimes

A magnificent fairyland of a special kind, in which leg aches are still known but not felt so often as before, has just opened for four-year-old Lisa Sliker, of Leicester, N. Y.

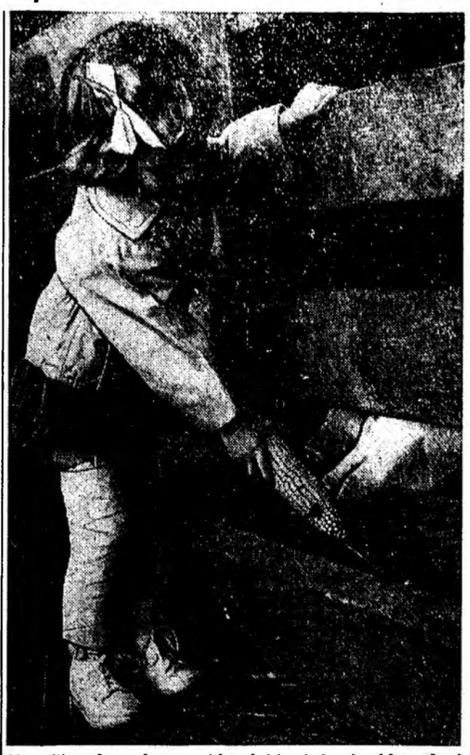

"My doctors," the blue-eyed and auburn-haired Lisa tells everyone today, "have made my leg almost all well again. Now I can sit on my horse, Goldilocks, and I can walk to the barn on my crutches and see my kittens and the pigs."

The new lease on life accorded little Lisa is due in great measure to the treatment she continues to receive each month at the arthritis clinical study center at University of Rochester-Strong Memorial Hospital, established with public contributions to the March of Dimes. Stricken three years ago with baffling rheumatoid arthritis in her right leg, the attractive child wore a cast for many months but now no longer wears it at night—although she goes to sleep hugging "my old leg" like a doll.

Lisa is one of 30,000 youngsters in the United States who are afflicted by rheumatoid arthritis which interferes with bone growth and may cause deformity. In addition to the study center visited by Lisa at Rochester, March of Dimes funds have made possible the opening of additional arthritis study centers in New York City, Dallas and San Francisco.

Mrs. Sliker recounts: "My husband and I were scared witless when Lisa's stumbling was diagnosed as provoked by rheumatoid arthritis, which somehow sounded like something that might strike your great-grandfather. But not strike down the beautiful, merry and innocent little baby with whom God had blessed us.

"It was a terrifying experience for us to watch Lisa lying motionless in her crib, pain in her eyes and face but holding back the tears. Her right knee was swollen to unbelievable size. But now that she is much better and some day may walk again unassisted by crutches, we pray that, like Lisa, others may be helped by the March of Dimes." Mrs. Sliker is a volunteer worker in her county during the March of Dimes, collecting funds for The National Foundation's expanded program which includes significant birth defects together with arthritis and continued work in polo.

"My farmer husband helps me call on neighbors during January," Mrs. Sliker adds. "The snows are mountainous at that time of year in our neck of the woods, but we both feel that helping the March of Dimes is the least we can do in return for the help given our Lisa."

Howard-Greene Vows Are Spoken

Miss Shirley Diane Howard and Bobby Glenn Greene were united in marriage Saturday, December 4, at 4 p. m. at the home of the Rev. A. C. Cheshire on Bingham Street.

The bride, daughter of Rodger Howard and the late Mrs. Howard, wore a beige wool suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and valley lilies.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Greene of Route 4.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will live on Route 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Are Dinner Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jarvis were hosts at a family dinner Sunday at their home on Route 2, honoring their granddaughter, Sandra Boger, on her ninth birthday anniversary.

Present were: the honoree, Jerry Boger, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Boger, Paul F. Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Jarvis and children, Elaine and Michael, Mr. and Mrs. David Jarvis and children, Vanessa, David and Joey.

Cozetta Jane Craver Is Christened Dec. 4

Cozetta Jane Craver, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Craver, Jr., of Winston-Salem, was christened Sunday, Dec. 4 at New Philadelphia Moravian Church at South Fork. The Rev. Robert Iobst officiated at the 11 a. m. service.

Cozetta's Godmothers and grandmothers, Mrs. F. W. Cozart and Mrs. W. H. Craver of Winston-Salem attended the service. Mrs. Craver is the former Miss Nancy Cozart of Mocksville.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marklin of Wilson spent the weekend here with Mr. Marklin's mother, Mrs. W. M. Marklin and Mr. Marklin who is a patient at Davie County Hospital. Mr. Marklin is improving and hopes to return to his home on Salisbury St. soon.

WCS Meeting Held Monday

The December meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church met on Monday night in the Ladies' Parlor of the Church with Mrs. C. R. Crenshaw, president, in charge of the meeting, and 20 members present.

Mrs. C. C. Chapman had charge of the program "Emmanuel — God With Us." She read the scripture, Mrs. J. K. Sheek presented introductory piano selections for the program. Mrs. Chapman then made introductory remarks about the origin of a number of Christmas Carols followed by the singing of the Carols by Mrs. Gene Smith accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Sheek. Mrs. Chapman stated that the purpose of the Christmas Story was to provide and celebrate together the coming of Christ as revealed in Christmas Carols.

The group sang "Joy To The World" and Charles Wesley's "Come Thou Long Expected Jesus." The program closed with prayer given by Mrs. Chapman.

Announcement was made of the church-wide Fellowship supper to be held on Wednesday night, Dec. 14, at 6:30 p. m. and of the circle Christmas meeting to be held on Monday night, Dec. 19, at 6:30 p. m.

Two Hostesses Have Luncheon-Dinner

Mrs. J. Frank Clement and Mrs. E. W. Crow were hostesses at a luncheon last Wednesday at their home on North Main Street.

Covers were laid for the hostesses, Mrs. Spencer Hanes of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Nat Poindester, Mrs. John H. Clement, and Mrs. P. Frank Hanes of Walkertown, and Miss Willie Miller.

Mrs. Clement and Mrs. Crow entertained again Thursday evening with a dinner at their home.

Guests included: Mrs. P. J. Johnson, Mrs. J. K. Sheek, Mrs. Knox Johnstone, Miss Mary Heitman, and Miss Flossie Martin.

New Leaf Varieties Are Released After Tests

Four of 18 tobacco varieties tested by the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station this year will be offered for planting for the first time in 1961.

The new varieties are NC 75, McNair 10, McNair 12, and Bissette 11.

The annual tests are designed to compare the most commonly planted flue cured tobacco varieties and advanced breeding lines under different soil and climatic conditions.

Dr. Guy L. Jones, who conducts the variety test, points out that results are not to be taken as official recommendations. Instead they are to serve as guides in helping North Carolina farmers choose their 1960 tobacco variety.

Per acre yields of the 18 varieties tested this year ranged from 2,070 pounds for Bell 16 to 2,558 pounds for Bissette 11. On basis of dollar value per acre, the varieties ranged from $1,866 for Coker 187 to $1,459 for McNair 12.

Hicks Broadleaf continued to bring the highest price per hundredweight, averaging $83.84. Bissette 11 had the lowest average, $55.39.

McNair 10 was the highest in nicotine content, with 3.16 per cent. Bissette 11 was lowest, with 1.73 per cent.

McNair 10 had the lowest ratio of nitrogen to nicotine, 0.69. Coker 316 had the highest ratio, 1.16.

Generally, a lower ratio indicates more desirable tobacco.

Of the new varieties tested this year, N.C. 75 has moderate resistance to black shank and fusarium wilt and low resistance to Granville wilt.

McNair 10 has moderate resistance to black shank and low resistance to Granville wilt. It is susceptible to fusarium wilt.

McNair 12 has high resistance to Granville wilt and moderate resistance to black shank. It, too, is susceptible to fusarium wilt.

Bissette 11, which is susceptible to all three diseases, was also severely injured by brown spot.

Jones says tests this year again show that the higher yielding varieties may not produce the best quality tobacco, when judged from both the physical and chemical standpoint.

State College's tobacco variety evaluation program consists of two phases. In the first phase, tobacco varieties are tested at the Rocky Mount, Whiteville, Clayton, Oxford, and Rural Hall research stations.

In the second phase, varieties and advanced breeding lines are studied under farm conditions. Tobacco companies also obtain samples of the cured leaf for study. This year the American Tobacco Co., Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., the Imperial Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., Phillip Morris, Inc., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., and P. Lorillard took part in the tests.

Miss Florence Mackie

Miss Florence Mackie was honored last week for more than 25 years of service to the Home Demonstration Clubs in Davie County.

It was 1935 that Miss Mackie came to this county as Home Demonstration Agent. Last Tuesday night the women and girls with whom she first began to work turned out to pay honor to this woman.

Over one-hundred of her friends stood and paid tribute to Miss Mackie, singing the following, to the tune of "America":

All hail to Florence Mackie
We pay tribute to thee
On this, your day
You've made our homes more bright
Helped make our work loads light
And set our steps a-right
From day to day.
You've had your hardship too
Always came smiling through
This we all know.

You've had some knocks and bumps
Of-times been "in the dumps"
But passed o'er all the humps
Still "on the go".

We say with grateful hearts
Our thank you for your part
And say "well-done".
When we are green we grow
You've helped to make it so
You've helped to make it so
We've better homes, we,
Vows everyone.

We think you're great and grand,
Extend to you our hand
In a salute
We wish the best for you
In everything you do
(In Matrimony too)
For you we root.

This newspaper is happy to join with this tribute to Miss Mackie and for what she meant to Davie County.

We Dress Up

Mocksville town officials, local businessmen and the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce are to be commended for their efforts to dress the community up in the holiday apparel.

With the installation last week of the new Christmas decorations to go along with the old, Mocksville became one of the prettiest decorated towns in this section of the state.

With the four trees on the square decorated with multi-colored Christmas lights, Mocksville has always drawn favorable comment from passing visitors. Now with the addition of other decorations on the poles throughout the town area, a more complete effect is given.

The new decorations were made possible by the generous contributions of the local business establishments. Adopting the additional Christmas decorations as a project, the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce named a committee that solicited the necessary funds from the business establishments of the town. The funds were turned over to the Town of Mocksville, the decorations purchased and installed.

Last Wednesday evening they were turned on and will glow throughout the approaching Christmas holiday season . . . proclaiming to one and all that Mocksville does have the Christmas spirit.

Compulsory Auto Insurance

Three amendments to improve the State's Compulsory Automobile Insurance Agents. The Association is the largest professional insurance group in the State and is composed of local independent Agents whose businesses are located in every area of North Carolina.

A statement issued by the American recommends elimination of the FS forms; and more severe penalties for failure to maintain automobile insurance. It was also commended that any act passed by the Assembly including the suggested amendments, be on a further two year trial basis.

A majority of our member agents feel the Compulsory Insurance Act is not in the best interest of the public. However, it appears that the public is not unhappy with Compulsory Insurance and if the General Assembly concludes continuation of the Act in the public interest, the North Carolina Association of Insurance recommends the three amendments," I. A. Jones, of Charlotte, President of the Association said.

In eliminating the FS forms a tremendous and county administrative burdens could be lifted from the state regulatory department as well as the responsible motorist.

At present the FS-1 form is not required to obtain a new plate for a previously registered vehicle as the motorist merely signs a statement he has motor vehicle liability insurance.

The FS form could be eliminated by having the motorists follow the same procedure as when he purchases his plates. Under this recommendation he would sign statement he has insurance and give the name of the insurance company and the policy number. Such a plan has been tried in Virginia and Motor Vehicle Department officials report it has proven very successful at most nominal administrative cost.

Appropriate penalties, rigidly enforced would make all motorists aware of their responsibility to maintain a financial responsibility, the Association recommendation points out.

Uninsured motorists protection in the liability policy would give the responsible motoring public of the state protection from an uninsured motorist or a hit and run driver including out of state drivers and should under the law be a part of the automobile policy, the statement continued.

On December 1st this protection was made available on a voluntary basis.

At present the penalty for being convicted of operating a car without insurance is $10 to $50 court costs and two point penalty under the State's 1959 Point System law. The Agents Association recommends a more severe penalty of minimum of either 30 day suspension of license or a $100 fine with greater penalty for second offenses.

"Many members of the Association feel that if the General Assembly believes it to be in the public interest to continue the Compulsory Insurance Act it is certainly in the interest of the same public to amend the law to bring about the greatest protection and at the same time reduce the costly and cumbersome administrative procedures", Mr. Jones said.

The Association also feels the Act is not completely understood by the motoring public and strongly recommends that any continuation of the law be for a two year trial period. In this manner the public will be given a greater opportunity to give the act and any amendments through study so they may better determine what is in their own interest.

Prolonging Life

Whether physicians should use extraordinary means to prolong the lives of fatally ill old people is discussed by Lois Mattox Miller, noted writer on medical subjects, in a provocative December Reader's Digest article, "Neither Life Nor Death."

Dr. Edward H. Rynearson of the Mayo Clinic, the late Dr. Alfred Worcester of Harvard and other doctors are quoted as agreeing that under certain conditions "the physicians should do all he can to alleviate the patient's suffering and make no effort to prolong his life."

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, emeritus consultant in medicine of the Mayo Clinic, believes something should be done "to moderate the zeal of some physicians who like to keep treating strenuously long after all hope for a cure has gone."

All agree that the question of prolonging life is quite different when the patient is young or middle-aged. "Every good physician," says Dr. Alvarez, "knows that in most cases of serious illness in childhood he must keep fighting for a cure until the very end."

"So far as I know," says Dr. Rynearson, "there have been no voices representative of the Roman Catholic or Greek Orthodox churches or of the Protestant faiths to suggest that physicians should try extraordinary means to keep life going when every process of the body is bent toward extinction. His Holiness Pope Pius XII, within the last year of his life, stated the official position of the Roman Catholic Church as not requiring the physician to use extraordinary means when only certain death and suffering lie ahead."

IN THE DARK . . . Due to the fact that this year you have paid your 1959 State Income Tax PLUS your 1960 State Income Tax - the 1960 Tax is being taken out of your salary - North Carolina is operating in the black.

Were we not getting TWO taxes in ONE year, State Government would probably be over on the red side of the ledger in one of the most prosperous periods in its history.

By collecting two years' taxes in one year, we are pulling a dollar coup which has never been pulled in Tarheella before - and can never be pulled again.

Since in 1961 we will not have the EXTRA year's taxes, how can we get along without additional revenue from some source?

Now within the past six weeks two of the three officials who will have more to do with tax policies next year than anybody else have said once again that the "expanding economy" will make new taxes unnecessary. Gov.-Elect Terry Sanford said it; and Joe Hunt, who will be the next speaker of the House if he lives, said it. It is significant that Lt. Gov. Cloyd Phillipott has not said it. Be that as it may.

They won't be quoted on it, but State officials and legislators we have talked with recently say we MUST have new taxes merely to pay current expenses beginning July 1, 1961. In addition, they point out, money will be needed if pretty definite PROMISES made to Education are to be kept. We hear whispers that school forces are very much worried about statements to the effect that "no taxes will be necessary."

So, we predict - no matter what you have heard or will hear to the contrary - that the 1961 Legislature will make one or more of the following tax moves: 1. Put a crown tax on soft drinks. 2. Set up a luxury tax (cigarettes, etc.). 3. Increase sales tax to 4 per cent. 4. Do away with all exemptions, including food, to the sales tax. 5. Pave the way for a vote of the people on a multi-million-dollar bond issue for Educational Purposes similar to the Scott Road Program voted in 1949.

This action by the 1961 General Assembly will be started about May 1 - no later - and perhaps earlier. Watch for it. Meantime, we are all in the dark about the immediate tax future in North Carolina.

CHANGE . . . Some ten years ago North Carolina claimed two of the most outstanding chambers of commerce executives in the nation.

They were brothers: Joe McCullers of Dunn and Charles McCullers of Kinston.

Joe left the profession finally. He died here in Raleigh a month ago - only a few days after his brother Charlie had terminated his employment with the Kinston Chamber of Commerce. We still say there is no better chamber of commerce man in the country than Charlie McCullers.

much basketball in your school? Too much marching, horn-tooting, too many entertainments, too much lace and not enough foundation garment? A recent incident brings it all to our attention again.

Educational leaders might be getting more enthusiastic support from the public if our high schools in this State were not so full of extra-curricular activities. Much of it, however, can be traced to the parent who would rather see his son forward on the basketball team than an average student in his studies.

We can still recall - it wasn't so long ago - when this bullish school board member tried in vain to get the principal who was also coach fired because his son didn't make first-string guard on the basketball team. A few men like him can ruin any school system.

Our information is that quite a few local school committees are getting pretty well fed up with so many night basketball games - with students coming into school the next morning tired and sleepy-eyed and generally no account.

Dallas Herring, chairman of the state State Board of Education - and the first reappointment to come from Terry Sanford - says the State is being asked to limit basketball games to one a week. One each Friday night.

We wouldn't call limiting the number of athletic contests a school might participate in as one of the important duties of the State Board of Education. It looks like a little buck-passing to us on the part of county and city school boards which can't stand up to the parents who in turn are controlled by the students.

NOTES . . . Gene Snyder, new Republican House member from Lexington - succeeding Cloyd Phillipott resigned to run for Lt. Gov. - was for many years assistant manager of the Wake Forest College Book Store. The State Senator from Davidson - lives in Thomasville and a Democrat - is R. Van Landingham. . . is a schoolmate of Snyder's and for many years was with the FBI . . .

Among those returning to the State Senate for next year are Robert Morgan of Shelby and his daddy-in-law Cutlar Moore of Lumberton. . . Man-of-the-Week in the November 4 issue of the Raleigh News and Observer was B. C. Manum, Vance County farmer and president of the N. C. Farm Bureau. . . and he has a big job now that Farm Bureau has decided to do away president.

Two of our favorite young reporters in the State are Roy Parker and Zena Martin, whose late fathers were in college together 40 years ago. . . Our reports have it that Fourth District Congressman Harold D. Cooley was making a serious pitch - or at least his friends were - for his being appointed Secretary of Agriculture - right up to the time Gov. Hodges was named Secretary of Commerce.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds" - Emerson.

"Tommy," said the farmer, "so get the old horse."

"Why the old one?" asked Tommy.

"Well, wear out the old ones first, that's my motto."

"Then," said Tommy, "you get the horse yourself."

Tommy was being consistent. Some people will be consistent no matter how ridiculous they become. Once they take a position, they never change. That doesn't show courage. That demonstrates fear. They close their minds and refuse to admit new information because they are afraid that some one might criticize their inconsistency. Such blind consistency has bankrupt many businesses and businessmen. It has shriveled many minds that might have grown great.

Emerson wrote, "With consistency the great soul has simply nothing to do . . . Speak what you think today with words as hard as cannon-balls, and to-morrow speak what to-morrow thinks in hard words again, though it contradict everything you said today." Only a "great soul" can do this. Many souls, potentially great, have crucified themselves on the cross of consistency. They did not have the courage to be true. Timidly, they chose to be consistent.

When we say we do something because we want to be consistent, look out! The chances are we are either lazy or afraid.

(Copyright 1959 Fred Dodge)

(Possible (even probable) memo from Ike to Jack:

"Brother, you can have it! In fact I hope you are as glad to take over this job as I am to turn it over to you. In my three score years and ten, I have held many responsible positions, but none like this one. This White House assignment - well, it's literally out of this world. And if our so-called experts don't get busy and put a man into space, we may be showered with Russian dressing from those people eating lunch in their sky-ships a few hundred miles above us, while they make inspection tours of our defenses. You think this is a glamorous job? Boy, have you got an eye opener coming. Now you have a fine head of hair. Once I did also. It will be interesting to see what your scalp looks like after you've been in this top spot for a few years.

And there is one fellow in particular I am most happy to turn over to you. You've probably already guessed who I mean but just in case you haven't, he too is bald, he is shaped like a sausage and has a voice like the sound of a squeaky windmill, with arms like the vanes of one. He used to like me, he said. But he turned out to be a tricky Nicky and got mad just because we sent a little plan over his old frowsy country. I tried to be nice to him at Camp David, but afterward, he raised the temperature of Paris with his hot air, and capped this off by trying to upset the United Nations - excuse me, I mean United Nations. Another thing: He is careless about taking off his shoes and thumping on his desk and he might just throw the thing at you - So, cheerfully, I give you Barefoot Krushchev.

As for NATO - well, I honestly believe it would take a Plato to run it successfully. There I was the first head of it and thought I had a pretty good military pro-

Postmaster Urges To 'Mail Early for Xmas'

Faced with the possibility that the 1960 Christmas season will set an all time holiday mailing record, Acting Postmaster W. T. Hendricks announced today that he's starting his annual "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign immediately.

The Postmaster offers these helpful mailing tips to insure delivery of your Christmas cards and gifts on time.

First, check your Christmas card list every carefully - make sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Second, for your Christmas gift packages, stock up now on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape. Third, remember that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package by adding the appropriate First Class postage to the package itself. Fourth, buy your postage stamps now. Don't wait until the last minute when long lines form at the stamp windows.

The Post Office will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels. The Post Office will also supply free labels which read "All For Local Delivery" and "All For Out Of Town Delivery," so that you can sort your Christmas cards in two groups, with addresses all facing one way, thus insuring fast delivery.

Use only First Class postage on your Christmas cards. Cards sent by First Class four cent, or seven cent Air Mail, may include personal handwritten messages. First Class mail also receives full forwarding and return service. Don't fail to put your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Not only is this socially correct, but it helps tremendously to keep the mailing lists of both you and your friends up to date.

Acting Postmaster W. T. Hendricks says that with your help he'll get the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1960 Christmas mail rush by putting on extra mail clerks and carriers, and by arranging for expanded facilities all around.

The Postmaster requests that you make it a point to mail your Christmas cards and gifts for the most distant points well before Dec. 10. Those for nearby destinations should be mailed by Dec. 15th, or at least a week before Christmas.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The things I see in the papers ever day sometimes puts me to wondering if our country is growing or just swelling. Things that grows gets stronger and them that swells most of the time gets bigger and bigger till they bust.

We're getting bigger and they is no doubt about that. I see where our population has increased 20 per cent in the last 20 year. But the cost of federal, state and local taxes has increased 601 per cent during the same time. Is that growing or swelling?

And Bug Hookum was bragging at the country store Saturday night that he now owes more'n $3,000. He was as proud of it as a kid with a new speckled puppy. It used to be that when a feller owed anything he considered it bad and didn't want nobody to know about it. What a feller owed was discussed in his own house with the doors locked. Now everybody is bragging about how much they owes.

And I see by the papers where the Federal Reserve Board says that today one out of ever three bills is a $20 and that half the paper money in circulation in this country is in $20 and $100 bills. Me and you, Mister Editor, was raised up on the $1 bill and you'll have to admit that things is getting bigger.

Senator Byrd of Virginia said the other day that the Congress is now spending $40 million dollars ever four and one-half hours around the clock, or about $150,000 a minute fer ever minute in the calendar year. I figger we're swelling a heap faster than we're growing in the spending department.

And the way they give it out from Washington, you'd never suspect it was costing the folks back home a dime. Per instant, I saw the other day where the Navy paid the Army $63,400 fer the use of a Army dredge boat fer some sort of operation. The Navy pays the Army. Git it, Mister Editor? It didn't cost the taxpayers nothing. The Navy just paid the Army.

I worry a heap about this growing or swelling business. My old lady says if I'd worry more about keeping my fences patched up and looking after things here at home and less about what's going on in Washington I'd git along better. I reckon that would do it alright, just like putting red pepper in your eyes is apt to cure your toothache.

Seems like a heap of things in this country today is crazy and upside down. I saw where a feller in Maryland, charged with escaping from jail, told the Judge they was a hole in the ceiling and he fell through it accidental. If I'd been the Judge I'd turned him loose. It fits.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Social Security In Davie County

Under the changed law, the monthly social security benefit of each child of a worker who has died will be three-quarters of the amount the worker would have received if he had lived and drawn retirement benefits. Under the old law, each child got one-half of the amount of the worker's retirement benefit, with an additional one-fourth of the total amount divided among all the children.

Not all the families of deceased workers will get increased checks as a result of this change. For instance, where there is only one child entitled to benefits, the child is already getting the amount payable under the new law - that is, the full three-fourths.

Families now receiving the maximum amount that can be paid on the basis of the deceased breadwinner's earnings will not get an increased monthly check. But for these families the change in the law will mean that when one of the several children now receiving benefits reaches age 18 or goes to work (or if the children's mother goes to work), the family's check will not be reduced, or will not be reduced as much as it would have been under the old law.

Families eligible for increased payments do not need to get in touch with their social security office. The increased amounts will be added automatically to the checks they will receive in January 1961.

Alfalfa Crown Rot

Several experiment stations over the county have reported that by grazing alfalfa after the first big killing frost it helps considerably in the control of crown rot. I am sure this is the second worst enemy of alfalfa and alfalfa weevil being first in this section.

We have known for many years that after the first freeze that it would not injure alfalfa to graze or mow and, this being the case if it is possible to graze at all, I believe it would pay farmers to try to graze off growth of alfalfa after the first killing frost. Even though it would do very little in controlling crown rot it would still pay to save all the feed possible.

We should be hearing more about the control of crown rot by grazing alfalfa stands after frost in the near future.

Hay Shortage

Many farmers are short on hay at the present time and in a recent issue of this paper was a list of brokers that are handling hay in this area. Also, this list is available at the County Agent's Office. However, at the present time, it would be much cheaper for farmers to get most of their feed from corn. It is reported that when hay costs $20 per ton it would equal $1 per bushel for corn. With hay at $30 per ton it would equal $1.50 per bushel for corn. With hay costing our farmers between $50 and $60 per ton it would be one-third to one-half cheaper to feed snap corn, although as farmers know, some protein and mineral would have to be added to a corn ration. To maintain a 1,000 pound cow it would take 14 to 20 pounds of dry matter, .75 to .85 lb. protein and 7 to 10 pounds total digestible nutrients. This can be done by a number of ways and the farmer should figure the way he can do the job cheaper. Following are suggested rations: 50 lbs. corn silage and 1 lb. cotton seed meal; or 20 lbs. mixed hay and 30 per cent legumes; or 10 lbs. ground ear corn and 10 lbs. milked hay; or 20 lbs. corn cobs and 2 1/2 lbs. cotton seed meal.

Any of the above rations will do a satisfactory job of feeding a 1,000 lbs. cow. With the same cow producing 30 lbs. of milk you would roughly want to double each of these rations. Of course dairymen would know that a cow milking would not do very well on 40 lbs. of corn cobs and 4 lbs. cotton seed meal. It would take some of the above different feeds for the dairy cow in milk because in corn cobs or would not have a stimulant for milk flow.

Farmers who still have pasture for beef cattle, it would pay to start feeding a small amount of feed on pasture and this will stretch pasture longer into winter and the cattle seem to do better than on pasture.

ASC News

In addition to the price support decision, farmers will be voting for or against marketing quotas and for or against overplanting penalties on their cotton. A "yes" vote will mean quotas and penalties and a "no" vote will mean no quotas and no overplanting penalties. However, a "no" vote will not do away with acreage allotments. Acreage allotments will remain in effect and the acreage allotments will be exactly the same as the regular allotment established for the farm regardless of the outcome of the referendum.

There are some mighty important decisions to be made on referendum day, and according to Miller, these decisions should be made by all affected farmers.

Voting places in Davie County are as follows:

NORTH CALAHALN, Powell's Store; SOUTH CALAHALN, Smoot's Store; CLARKSVILLE, Robert's Store; NORTH AND SOUTH FARMINGTON, Riddle's Store; WEST FARMINGTON, Bennett and Ellis Store; LIVINGTON, Livengood's Store; JERUSALEM, Rameau's Store; MOCKSVILLE, Auditorium of the County Office Building; SHADY GROVE, Advance Milling Co.

The polls will open at 8:00 A. M. and close at 8:00 P. M. COTTON AND TOBACCO ALLOTMENTS

The 1961 allotments for cotton and tobacco were mailed on December 6th. In practically all cases the 1961 tobacco allotments were the same as they were in 1960. Many cotton allotments were cut due to the fact that the cotton was not planted or released in 1960. Any person with a question about how their allotment was computed should contact the ASC Office.

ACP PROGRAM
As of November 30th over 800 Davie County Farmers had completed one or more practices under the 1960 ACP. There are still approximately 90-100 farmers who have not reported their practices as being complete. We urge these farmers to complete and report these practices as soon as possible. Very limited funds are still available for farmers that have not received an approval this year.

IMPORTANT VOTE TUESDAY, DECEMBER 13

In a last-minute message to farmers in the County, L. G. Miller, Chairman of the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, stressed the importance that Tuesday's vote reflect the opinion of all cotton farmers in the county.

The vote, whether participated in by all eligible farmers or not will have a decided effect on all farmers in the State. The vote will decide the level at which the 1960 cotton crop will be supported. If the vote does not carry, support will drop from somewhere between 70 and 90 percent of parity, to 50 percent of parity. This decision on price support alone can affect the farmers' standard of living and this decision alone merits the attention of all cotton farmers.

YOUR HEALTH

Sponsored by DR. R. F. KEMP

"Your Insurance Coverage"

Dr. R. F. Kemp

In this day, accident and health insurance coverage plays a major role in the health problems of our nation, since much of the treatment and care needed could not be obtained without insurance protection. Many persons carry insurance that they think will provide benefits wherever needed, and they are disappointed to find in some instances that they must be hospitalized to obtain benefits from that particular policy.

Everyone needs FULL coverage, and that means that the policy will pay benefits WHEREVER needed, patients' home, doctor's office OR hospital. This is most essential, as many of us do not want the inconvenience of going to a hospital when we could be cared for in the doctor's office or our home.

So, though this column does not in any way minimize the importance of hospital coverage, in fact recommends that all have it, but it DOES recommend that persons have full coverage.

The chiropractic profession recommends coverages that pay benefits in the patient's home, doctor's office, OR the hospital AND this type of policy is readily available.

Always ask your insurance representative: does your policy pay for chiropractic services, does it pay benefits in my home, by doctor's office OR the hospital??

There are many companies that write such coverage and that do pay for chiropractic services on the same basis as any other treatment, and nothing is too good for the sick or should have their American Right, their choice of doctor.

So, let this column urge that you obtain such insurance, policies that pay benefits WHEREVER needed, and that allow choice of doctor, — chiropractor, medical doctor or osteopath.

If you are interested, write or call at this office for the pamphlet, 'Important Insurance Information,' is yours for the asking.

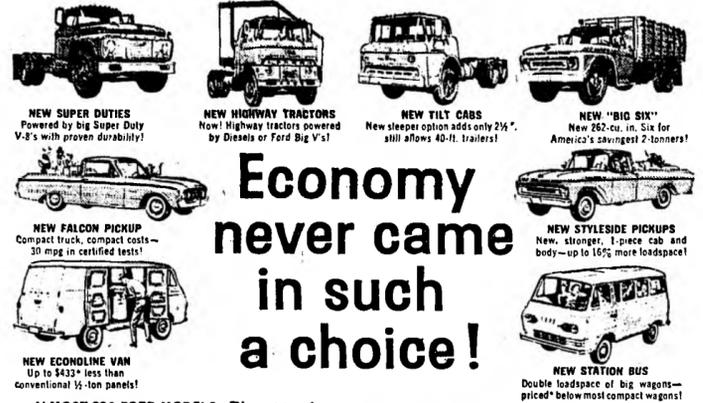

Next week we will discuss SCIATICA, — one of the most painful afflictions known to man.

Reavis Autos, Inc. Is Named Authorized Ford Dealers Here

Grand Opening Event Is Set For This Week End

Reavis Autos, Inc., of Mocksville has received the appointment as the authorized Ford Dealers for the Mocksville area. The official appointment was made by Ford Motor Co. on Dec. 7.

Reavis Autos, Inc., located on Chesboro Street in the building formerly occupied by Irvin Pontiac, is owned by Clyde Reavis of Yadkinville. Mr. Reavis also operates the Reavis Motor Company, the Ford agency for Yadkin County, and is associated with Seenic Motors in Mount Airy.

Mr. Reavis announced that Hubert Logan, Jr., of Yadkinville would serve as manager of the local agency. Mr. Logan has been in the automobile business for the past 20 years and prior to assuming his duties here was associated with Reavis Motors in Yadkinville.

Lawrence Reavis will be sales manager. Mr. Reavis has seven years of experience in the selling of Ford automobiles and will have a staff of several salesmen. Reavis Autos, Inc., acquired the Ford agency from Sanford Motor Company, Ford dealers for this area since 1913.

The new Ford agency is having a grand opening celebration on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. This program will stress a "let's get acquainted" theme, featuring a Santa Claus that will give away favors to children and also valuable prizes. Reavis Autos, Inc., will be open days a week from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. They will have a complete parts department, service department, and sales department for both used and new cars.

Mr. Logan said that he would announce his complete personnel staff in the near future.

Rotary Club Holds Annual Ladies Night

The Mocksville Rotary Club held its annual ladies night and Christmas program, Tuesday night.

An estimated 80 Rotarians and their Rotarywives heard Tully Blair, business and civic leader of Winston-Salem, urge them to take an active part in urging a halt to the present tendency towards inflation. Mr. Blair illustrated how inflation was affecting the lives of various individuals.

Jeff Caudell, chairman of club service lane of Rotary, presided. Hugh Larew introduced Mr. Blair. President George Rowland welcomed the guests. Phil Johnson was paid special honor for his service to Rotary. Dr. L. P. Martin, speaking on behalf of the club, cited the many achievements of Mr. Johnson and presented him with a certificate of merit. Mr. Johnson was made the first senior active member of the club.

Davie Band, Chorus To Present Concert

The band and chorus of Davie County Consolidated High School will present a program of Christmas music on Thursday, Dec. 15, at the Mocksville School auditorium, at 8 p.m. An admission fee will be charged at the door to help cover expenses of both organizations.

Officers Elected At Masonic Meet

Officers were elected Friday p.m. at the regular Masonic meeting held in the Temple here. They are: Master, Duke Whitaker; Senior Warden, Edd Latta; Junior Warden, Bob Powell; Treasurer, Cole Tomlinson; Secretary, Spurgeon Anderson; and Trustee, Atlas Smoot.

Presbyterians Elect Three As Deacons

Three deacons were elected Sunday at the Mocksville Presbyterian Church. They will serve for three years. Named to this office were Dr. E. A. Eckerd, Frank Brown and Jack Cecil.

Go Into Office

Kermit Smith was sworn into office last week and began his second four-year term as Registrar of Deeds of Davie County. Dr. Francis W. Slate also took his oath as county coroner.

REA Thanked For Help

Mayor D. J. Mando of the Town of Mocksville and Jack Pennington, President of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce, this week expressed appreciation to the Davie Electric Membership Corporation for the cooperation of that organization in the installation of the Christmas lights.

The Mocksville Jaycees initiated this project and the local merchants and the Town of Mocksville provided the necessary funds for the purchase of these decorations. The lights were wired and installed by the local REA organization with charge to the town.

In a letter sent to C. C. Smoot, chairman of the board of directors of the Davie Electric Membership Corporation, Mayor Mando and Mr. Pennington wrote: "The REA has proved in many different ways that it is one of Mocksville's most valued citizens. The nicest part of the help given by the REA is that it is always given so gladly and in such a fine spirit of community cooperation. Please express our special thanks to Messrs. J. C. Jones, Joe Patner and Odell Wagner with whom we worked directly on this project. We have written a separate letter of appreciation to the members of your line crew who helped with the actual installation."

CHRISTMAS TREE SALE

The local Jaycees will sell Christmas trees beginning Thursday, Dec. 15 and will continue through the Christmas season. Trees will be on display on Davie Motor Co.'s Used Car lot on North Main St. Pine and cedar trees can be purchased all day and until 8 p.m.

Advance Masons Elect Officers

Alvin E. Hartman of Advance was elected Master of Advance Lodge No. 710 AF & AM. Mr. Hartman succeeds Bill Ward, who served as Master during the past year.

Other officers elected were as follows: W. T. Burton, Senior Warden; Frank Markland, Junior Warden; Bob Robertson, Treasurer; and Hubert Bailey, Secretary. Officers appointed included: Ralph Riedge, Senior Deacon; Kenneth Rantz, Junior Deacon; Dave Ward, Steward; Tommy Cornatzer, Steward; C. E. Crawford, Chaplain; and D. B. Clinard, Tiler. C. T. Robertson was elected trustee for three years.

Center Wins In Davie County Community Development Contest

Pino-Farmington Area Places 2nd In Contest

The Center community was adjudged the best of Davie County communities in the annual community development contest this year.

Placing second was the Pino-Farmington Community. The awards to the two communities were presented at the meeting of the Davie County Agricultural Workers Council, Monday. The awards, consisting of engraved plaques, were donated by the Bank of Davie and the Davie County Enterprise-Record.

The Center community also received $75 in cash as an award for being the best in the county from the Northwest North Carolina Development Association.

Duke Tutterow was the president of the Center Community Development Association. Harold C. Young was the president of the Pino-Farmington Community Development Council.

Jaycees Seek DSA Nominations

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce announced this week that it is seeking nominations for its annual Distinguished Service Award. This award is presented each year to an outstanding young man of the community.

Anyone wishing to make a nomination should submit it to Dr. Vic Andrews, chairman for this project.

Any young men, 21 through 33 years of age, is eligible for nomination. If the nominee reaches his 36th birthday before June 1, 1961, he is not eligible. Entries will be judged on accomplishments during the calendar year 1960.

The judging committee will be composed of citizens of the community who are now over age 35. Their decision will be based on: (1) Contributions to the community welfare during the year; (2) Evidence of leadership ability; (3) Evidence of personal or business progress.

All nominations must be received by the Jaycee DSA Committee (Dr. Victor L. Andrews, Jr., chairman) prior to Jan. 5, 1961. The annual DSA Banquet is scheduled for the night of Jan. 12, 1961.

Miss Inge Larsen Discusses Christmas Customs In Denmark

From Christmas in Svendborg, Denmark, to Christmas in Mocksville, North Carolina. This is the step that a 16-year-old Danish Miss is making as she prepares to spend her first Christmas away from home.

Miss Inge Larsen, here as a Rotary Exchange student, says that Christmas customs here and in Denmark are somewhat similar. Miss Larsen outlined some of the Christmas customs in her country as follows:

—Gifts are exchanged in family and among friends on Christmas Eve.
—Custom not to decorate Christmas tree until Dec. 23.
—They go to church on Christmas Eve for a service lasting one and one-half hours.
—A circle of greenery with four candles is hung in homes four Sundays before Christmas. One candle is lit each Sunday.
—Most of the Christmas celebrating is done on Christmas Eve. No one works on Dec. 25.
—Christmas trees are decorated in the churches.
—There is a difference in the Christmas Carols of the two countries. Miss Larsen is familiar with such American Christmas songs as "Silent Night," "White Christmas," "Jingle Bells." She said she learned "The First Noel" in English Class as the teachers there knew this carol was used in America, although not sung much in Denmark.

—The Christmas feast... in Denmark they use either chicken, goose or a roast. They do not have turkey, nor do they make fruitcakes. One of the big dishes is "Ris-a-lu menthe." This is a dessert, rice cooked in cream containing one nut. After serving the dessert, the person finding the nut receives a gift. Coffee and hot tea are used as beverages.
—Green and red are not necessarily the traditional Christmas decorative colors in Denmark... and all colors are used.
This year Miss Larsen will observe Christmas in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rowland, with whom she is staying during her year in Mocksville.

Davie High Cagers Win Two Games From Mooresville

To Play At Monroe On Friday Night

Davie County High School opened play in the North Piedmont Conference Tuesday night by winning a pair of games from Mooresville.

The Rebelettes, capitalizing on the accurate foul shooting of Glenda Shelton, defeated Mooresville 43 to 33. The boys pulled away in the first half and coasted to a 45 to 28 victory. For the girls, Shelton hit 12 foul shots and three field goals for a total of 18 points. Caille Bailey had 16 and Linda Schladensky 9.

For the boys, Billy Evans had 15 points to lead the way; Jimmy Anderson had 12; Chuck Tomlinson 8; John Grimes six; and Benny Merrell 4.

Friday night the Rebels close out the pre-holiday season with two games at Monroe. The Rebels defeated Landis last Friday night 60 to 48, with the Rebelettes bowing 40 to 44 in an exciting game.

Chuck Tomlinson led the attack for Davie with seven field goals and eight foul goals and 22 points. Benny Merrell had 15; John Grimes 11; Jimmy Anderson 5; Billy Evans 3; Larry Smith 2; and Jimmy Dickinson, 2.

Glenda Shelton led the attack for the Rebelettes with 21 points; Caille Bailey had 8; and Linda Schladensky had 8; and Kathy Grimes 3. The games at Monroe on Friday night will be the last before the Christmas holidays.

Firecrackers

Law enforcement officers have issued the reminder that possession or exploding of fireworks is illegal in North Carolina.

Local officers report that several incidents of the exploding of fire crackers have been brought to their attention with the approaching of the holiday season. The officers pointed out that under the laws of the State of North Carolina they have no choice but to cite the offending parties into court for either possession or exploding fireworks.

School Holidays

The Christmas holiday season for Davie County School children will officially begin this Saturday when the various schools adjourn following Christmas parties.

Supt. W. T. Bird announced that the Davie County High School would dismiss at 10:15 a.m., Saturday and the other schools when buses arrive at the school. School will resume on Monday, Jan. 2.

Annual Christmas Programs Set For Davie County

As has been the custom in the past, Christmas observances this year in Davie County will be highlighted by the special programs of the various churches and clubs. The programs that have been reported to us are as follows:

- Lions Club
The local Lions Club will have the annual Christmas party for the visually handicapped on Thursday night, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Rotary Hut. This will also be Ladies' Night.
- Farmington Baptist
The Farmington Baptist Church will hold its annual Christmas party on Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the Farmington school lunchroom. Games will be played and refreshments served. The Rev. Marvin Gold, pastor of the church, urged all members to attend.
- First Methodist
The Junior Choir will present a program at the morning service Sunday morning, Dec. 18. The choir is directed by Mrs. Gordon Tomlinson and accompanied by Mrs. Gene Smith. The annual cantata by the Senior Choir and the candle lighting service will be held at 7:30 p.m. "Carols of Christmas" by Lorenz will be presented by the choir, accompanied by Mrs. J. K. Shuck, organist.
- Advance Methodist
The annual Christmas program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18. "And There Were Shepherds" is the theme of the program. The public is invited to attend.
- Macedonia Moravian
The Love Feast and Candle Light Service will be held Sunday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the church. The Rev. John Johansen will be the guest speaker.
- Lutheran
The public is invited to attend the Christmas Pageant of the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Sunday evening, Dec. 18, at 6:30 p.m. The pageant is entitled, "Let Us Tell The Story." It is arranged by Tessie J. Corley. Featured in the program are the members of the church choir, a speech choir, the children of the Sunday School, and a meditation by the pastor. The service will climax with a candlelighting service symbolizing Christ the light of the world. Immediately following the program, gifts will be exchanged and the children will receive a Christmas treat. The pageant will be held at Cherry Hill Lutheran Church, located on Cherry Hill Road off highway 601, South.
- Blaise Baptist
There will be a Christmas program given at the church on Sunday night, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

Tobacco - Fescue Rotation

Ken Hoots' son, Phil, and daughter, Faye, shown topping tobacco. This tobacco is two weeks earlier than tobacco in picture where Phil is pulling suckers. Tobacco shown here was not able to withstand the dry weather as well as tobacco following fescue.

Tobacco grow after two year fescue grass. Ken is following tobacco-fescue rotation in his conservation plan. Tobacco in both pictures was grown on same type of soil (Helena Sandy loam) and received same fertilization. Tobacco here stood drought better than tobacco on same field and same soil that did not follow fescue. Ken said that tobacco cured very good following fescue. This rotation also gives good control of Root Knot Nematode. Hay and seed are produced when the tobacco land is in fescue grass. Ken Hoots' son, Phil, is shown suckering tobacco in this picture. Both pictures were taken on same day.

NEW MOTOROLA 23 TV

23" overall diagonal meas. 283 sq. in. picture viewing area

Annoying re-tuning of stations is over because stations stay fine tuned... indefinitely

Oscillator Tubes previously used in television sets vary as much as 20,000 Kilocycles from design specifications... this is why you must readjust the picture every time you change channels.

Motorola's exclusive new oscillator tube is frequency controlled to an accuracy of 1000 kilocycles (not 20,000). This... plus advanced mechanical design eliminates the need for fine tuning indefinitely.

Bank Farm Program Wins National Award

The diversified farm program conducted by North Carolina's bankers has again won for them a top national award.

The County Key Banker for Forsyth County, Wayne A. Corpening, vice president and manager of the Agricultural Department of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, was advised today that N. C. Bankers Association has won — for the 10th consecutive year — the annual Agricultural Award presented by the American Bankers Association to the state association with the best record for farm service.

Bankers of this state spend more money and time on their farm program than on any other single association activity. At least 500 bankers participated actively as committee members last year in conducting the various farm projects sponsored by the NCBA.

The projects include a Short Course in Modern Farming, attended by about 150 young farmers; a two-day farm credit conference attended by hundreds of

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — No sketch of former North Carolina Senators can chronicle the life of Willie Person Mangum, the illustrious Whig, born in Orange (now Durham) County near Rougemont, May 10, 1792.

WILLIE P. MANGUM — After graduating from the University of North Carolina in 1815, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1817. He was immediately elected to the State House of Representatives. He became a judge, followed by his election to Congress, serving in the House from 1823 until 1826.

Tempore of the Senate from 1842 until 1845. He practiced law after his Senate service until his death at the family plantation, "Walnut Hill," near Rougemont, on September 14, 1861. He was succeeded by a Democrat, Robert Strange of Fayetteville.

ROBERT STRANGE — A native of Virginia, Strange was born on September 29, 1799; he was educated in the Old Dominion and moved to Fayetteville in 1815 where he was admitted to the bar. He was elected to the State House of Commons in 1820; his career included service as a judge from 1827 to 1836 when he was elected to the United States Senate to succeed the resigned Mangum, serving from December 5, 1836 to November 18, 1840, when he resigned. He was a solicitor and also engaged in literary pursuits after his Senate service.

Memorial Dedication Held Sunday At Fork

A Hospital Study

A study of hospital charges, lengths of stay and sources of payment to hospitals has just been completed and the findings published as a joint project of the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina, The North Carolina Hospital Association and the North Carolina State Board of Health. This study's unique in that it contains, for the first time in any know study, information concerning source of payments for hospital charges as to whether paid from individual resources, insurance or public funds.

Despite continuing increases in hospital charges the study of almost 28,000 patients in North Carolina hospitals during four sampling weeks of 1959 and 1960 reveals that 82.6% of the patients paid their hospital charges through personal resources or through prepaid health insurance. Health and Welfare agencies, including federal sources, such as Medicare (medical care for dependents of military service personnel) and Veterans Administration payments to general hospitals, accounted for 6.9% of the payments, with only 7.5% of the charges remaining unpaid at the close of the study. Private resources in payment far out-weigh government payments for hospital services.

In the face of growing concern for the hospital and medical care of older citizens the study shows the greatest percentage of hospital charges among any group of patients to be paid by the patient or from family resources was among those in the 65 and over age group, payments from this source represented 52.9% of all charges to the older age group. The hospital bill for this 65 and over age group was also paid for by Blue Cross or commercial insurance in an additional 25.8% of the cases, leaving only 12.2% to be paid for by public funds, with less than one per cent paid for from miscellaneous sources and 8.2% as unpaid.

Some of the pertinent data revealed in the study includes:

1. The average length of stay for all age groups and all patients was 6.6 days; for those under 25 it was 5.4 days; and for those 65 and over it was 10.9 days.

2. The per diem charge averaged $23.46.

3. The length of stay for non-white was slightly higher than for whites, with the exception of the 65 and over age group.

4. The source of payment for hospitalization was remarkable in that 52.9% of patients 65 and over paid their own bills, either from private or family resources; whereas the 25-44 age group had the lowest percentage (29.1%) paid by this source. Health and welfare agencies paid 6.1% of the total charges for all patients, with the highest proportions of these being in the older age groups.

5. Length of stay was longest for circulatory diseases, followed by cancer, for whites; whereas for non-whites the reverse was true.

6. Causes of hospitalization for all patients ranked in the followed order: Obstetrical care; digestive system, respiratory; Genito-urinary; circulatory diseases.

Sales Tax Deductions

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is getting ready to announce a new national policy which will mean lower taxes for some taxpayers.

The service has drawn up and plans to publish soon tables showing "normal" amounts taxpayers may deduct on their federal income tax returns for state sales taxes.

Many taxpayers will find they have been deducting less than these "normal amounts". Present thinking in the IRS is to allow without question deductions up to the "normal" amount.

Taxpayers listing more than the "normal" amount may be asked to prove their claim.

The tables of estimated sales tax would be for use only by taxpayers who itemize their deductions. About one-third of all individual taxpayers do this. The others would take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of income allowed by any taxpayer who does not itemize.

Experts at Internal Revenue headquarters in Washington have prepared a separate table for each of the 34 states which levy a sales tax. The taxes range from 2 to 4 per cent and there are other variations. For example, in the District of Columbia, which charges 2 per cent on most items, the tax on groceries is only 1 per cent.

The tables have been made up on the basis of income and dependents.

A taxpayer would read down the left-hand column to find his income bracket. Then he would read across to the column showing how many dependents as he has.

One reason for the tables is that taxpayers rarely can prove down to the last dollar how much they have paid in sales taxes. The result is that they estimate the amount. Difficulties arise when an Internal Revenue examiner's judgment on this point differs from the taxpayer's.

To reduce this kind of friction, and the taxpayer's uncertainty about how much will be allowed, the service is drawing up the tables. Their use will also speedup the checking of returns.

Secondary Roads Dropped

The State Highway Commission announced last week that more than 30 secondary road construction projects were dropped December 7th. Meeting in Raleigh, the Commission deleted the projects because right-of-way cannot be obtained from property owners along the roads.

The 33 projects dropped by the Commission involved more than 40 miles of work on the vast 57,000-mile secondary road program. The roads are located in 17 counties in 17 counties, from Currituck in the northeast corner of the state, to Cherokee in the southwest tip of North Carolina.

The Commission expressed regret at the necessity of the action but a long-time policy requires property owners to donate right-of-way for secondary road improvement projects, except in cases where actual property damage occurs.

But that is the price of progress. Where yesterday a man would give the right of way for a new road through or by his farm not only because such a road would serve to accommodate his interests, but would also enhance the value of his land. . . today, many are seeking and demanding such roads but instead of giving the right of way . . . are demanding to be paid for it.

Driver Education

North Carolina has received national honors for its high school driver education program.

The "Achievement award", highest in the 1959-60 National High School Driver Education Award Program, was presented at the annual conference of the Superintendents' Division of the North Carolina Education Association recently in Durham.

The importance of the driver education program to each and every citizen was emphasized by the presentation remarks of Thomas A. Seals, traffic consultant for the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety of Washington, D. C.

In making the presentation, Seals said: "Most Americans must drive, yet approach no other activity with less preparation. Driving today involves more than mechanical manipulation. It requires understanding and acceptance of responsibilities, sound judgments, constant adjustments to changing situations.

"Somebody must teach America's drivers to drive safely and properly, to protect lives and property. The hit-or-miss methods of the past generation, results of which we are now experiencing, can no longer be tolerated.

"The place to begin is with beginning drivers, at a time when driving attitudes and habits are formed. No better agency can be found for teaching beginning drivers than our nation's high schools."

The ancient city of Ba'albek in Lebanon was named for the Semitic god Ba'al, the National Geographic Magazine says. Romans in the first, second, and third centuries erected the existing temples from some of the largest building blocks ever quarried.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

New York has a network service providing educational television programs for almost every large city in the United States, but New York's can't see the programs. This is the statement of Ced Fredericksen, editor of the service, who is evidently sorry about the situation. Programs, produced by NET, as the National Educational Television non-profit organization is called, range from dramas to discussions with Sir Edmund Hillary who first stood atop Mount Everest. These programs are telecast from fifty stations throughout the United States — but from none in this big city. So you see, New York does not have everything.

Dropped in to 'Dilbert's, a food place next door to the Empire State Building, having heard that they had something new in the way of foreign foods. What I saw was certainly new to me. Kangaroo steaks, for example, imported from Australia, carried grouse from Scotland, cheeses from 73 countries which you can sample before you buy. French partridge stung with goose liver and cooked in wine, stuffed grape leaves from Greece, wild rose hip soup from Sweden, Chinese plum sauce and Japanese shark fins prepared in oil, ginger and onions were only part of what met the eye — and enticed the mouth. Surprising were the prices which compared well with domestic ones, said Mike Margarites in charge, "We buy right."

Some time ago in the Readers Digest there was a touching story about a "Doll Lady" who gave away each year 2,500 dolls to poor children at Christmas, making the tots, it goes without saying, happier than they had been all year. It can now be revealed that this lady was Mrs. Lee Douglas, wife of a doll manufacturer, and although she was directly responsible for the welcome gifts, her husband furnished the dolls. Here's a case where the husband was an extra-good provider, making not only his own but thousands of other children happy, and wishing no credit for it except the warm satisfaction of helping others at this holy time.

Editors get many letters from subscribers, but not all are as vague as one received by a local magazine editor. It said: "Dear Sir: Last year you printed an article, at least I think you did and that it was in your magazine, that interested me very much, but I have forgotten what it was. I lost my notes on the subject and can't find the magazine. Will you send me another copy of same, if it was in your magazine?"

Edmund Burke once said that "all that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing." In contrast to such sentiment, Thomas Paine wrote John Adams in 1790, saying he was addressing his letter to one "whom the country honors and loves because he honors and loves his country." A little farther on in the letter, Paine adds, borrowing from Shakespeare, "But remember, that the fair day brings out the adder." Such sentiments often seem appropriate today.

A brighter one though, Adams wrote to his son, the same year, when the younger one asked for advice about a girl. "I have been young," said the father poetically, "And know how tender 'tis to love."

With trouble abrewing between two factions of Tammany Hall here, it is interesting to note that Thomas Nast, the cartoonist whose drawings for Harper's Weekly almost a century ago, exposed that political machine then bossed by Tweed. Nast switched from a Republican to a Democrat, then back to the Republicans. He not only created in his clever cartoons the tiger to represent Tammany, but the elephant to represent the G.O.P. and the donkey to depict the Democrats.

WASHINGTON — During the Congressional Recess last year, this column featured several thumbnail sketches of former U. S. Senators from North Carolina. With this column, the series is resumed.

Sketches The sketches showed that there have been 43 senators including the present, who have represented North Carolina since our State ratified the Constitution at the Federal Convention on Nov. 21, 1789. You will perhaps recall that Senator Simmons held the longest tenure, 30 years, from 1901 to 1931. His colleague, Senator Overman, was second with 28 years, 1903 to his death in 1930. The sketches already given show that the men represented their State in the Senate in this order: Hawkins, Johnston, Martin, Bloodworth, Franklin, Stone, Turner, Locke (selected by his but never qualified), Stokes, Macon, Branch, Iredell. I pointed out that Nathaniel Macon served as speaker of the House and president pro tempore of the Senate.

Bedford Brown A native of Caswell County, Bedford Brown succeeded Senator Branch. Brown was born in 1795, and educated at the University of North Carolina, graduating in 1813. He was admitted to the Bar in 1815, but devoted his full time to the life of a planter. His political career began with his election to the State House in 1815. After serving there, he was elected to the State Senate in 1828 and was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1829, serving from that time to 1840, when he resigned as a result of the controversy with the State Legislature. In 1842, he was elected to the State Senate but was not successful in his bid for a return to the U. S. Senate in 1842. After that he moved to Missouri; and then to Virginia, but later returned to North Carolina and resumed his political career by election to the State Senate in 1858. Brown died at his plantation home, "Rose Hill," in Caswell County on Dec. 8, 1870, ending a colorful career, and is buried in the family cemetery.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: A feller can tell from the signs that Christmas is about to git here again. The postmaster in New York, fer instance, reports that he's getting hundreds of letters being forwarded there to Santa Claus. I would suggest he forward 'em along to Washington. Santa Claus has been making that his legal residence now for the last 30 year or more.

And country folks all over the nation is reporting finding cedar stumps on their property where a tree used to be. That's a shore sign their city cousins is busy getting ready for Christmas.

And another sign that Orlitmas is just around the corner is the pieces in all the papers about the outlook for business in 1961. These fellers that tell us in advance how things is going to be fer another year always start back in December so's people will loosen up on their pocketbooks during the Christmas shopping season. As fur back as I can recollect ain't none of them ever predicted a bad year, even back when we was having a panic and them that didn't have no belt to tighten was holding their pants up with a plow line from the barn. Fer instance, all of 'em this year is predicting business will be so good in 1961 we won't have nothing to complain about. I think business will be real good in 1961, but not that good. It ain't never been that good, and we've had some bumper years.

I see by the papers where the new administration is strong in favor of Federal aid to education. I'm strong fer education, too, Mister Editor, on account of gitting so little of it myself. I went to a one room school and we didn't have many advantages. About the only advantage we had over these modern schools was we could always git just one more in that room. Today they got so many gymnasiums and things that they just can't git one more in the classroom.

But the thing that worries me about Federal aid to education is the interest. The Federal government can't git the money no place except from us folks back home, and experience has showed that about half of all they git from us rubs off in Washington afore it gets back to us. I figger that 100 per cent interest is a little high, even fer education. I wish they was some way we could handle this proposition and save that 100 per cent interest.

On account of this not being very modern thinking, I better quit now afore somebody takes me off the air.

Yours truly, Uncle Dave

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "It takes a great man to make a good listener." — Sir Arthur Helps.

The little henpecked husband cringed under his wife's threats and protested.

"But my dear, you've been talking for half an hour. I have not said a word."

"I know!" snapped his wife "You haven't said anything, but you've been listening in the most aggravating manner and I'm not going to stand for it."

What kind of listener are you? Some people can listen insultingly; some listen vaguely from a mental distance; some listen intently and intelligently. Too many of us do not listen at all. When someone speaks, our thoughts race ahead searching for the moment we can use to break in with our opinions about personal interests. We never know how much we miss by poor listening, but we do know that great men are good listeners. Even the dull and ignorant have a message of value for those who will listen.

Form the habit of listening attentively to others. You need not believe all your hear, but you'll gain a surprising amount of wisdom. In addition, you'll be regarded highly for your discernment of the importance of other people. They'll love you for it. You'll have little competition for the good will you'll earn this way. Copyright 1959 Fred Dodge

NEXT TIME . . . Although the next General Election in North Carolina is four years away, the Democratic and Republican organizations have served notice already that their machines are in for some greasing, oiling, and general overhauling.

The Democrats will have a full-time man — Wallace N. Hyde — to keep the wheels turning during the off-season.

His main objective: tighten up the operation in Republican-heavy Piedmont. Hyde is a natural for the Democrats, knows his business, and will prove himself to be an excellent political mechanic — if he doesn't have too much interference from the sidelines.

The man who will continue to guide the Republicans is able William Cobb of Morganton, GOP executive secretary who has really breathed the breath of life into that party within the past three, four years.

Cobb's main objective: firm up party organizations in the eastern counties. The Republicans found this fall that they have very little to lean on in many counties east of Raleigh.

Incidentally, Cobb's secretary is Mrs. Becky Summers, smart as a whip wife of Scott Summers, outstanding newspaperman and for many years a crack reporter for the Associated Press.

The belief among Democratic circles in Raleigh is that Rep. Charles Jonas of Lincolnton — if he runs and is re-elected to Congress from the Tenth District in 1962 — will be the Republicans' candidate for Governor. Congressman Jonas became 56 last Friday; and in 1964 will be 60.

If the Democrats decide that the Congressional District this State will give up — we are losing one, you know — will be the Republican Tenth, then Jonas is almost certainly to run for Governor in 1964 and use his being kicked out as the principal plank in his platform.

Now looking at the Democratic side of the picture, we see Bert Bennett, energetic manager for Terry Sanford this year as the prime prospect for candidate for Governor four years hence. Bennett, now State Democratic chairman, is a successful businessman (oil distributor, etc.), and lives in Winston-Salem.

If he runs, one of Bert's pitches will no doubt be that Forsyth County has not had a man in the Governor's office since Bob Glenn's term ended, on Jan. 12, 1909. Bennett's late father — one of the most enthusiastic Ralph McDonald men 25 years ago — knew his way around politically.

Bennett, as you might suspect, is very close to President-Elect John F. Kennedy and could have an important Washington appointment. He will likely eschew this road in view of his more localized ambitions.

HONORABLE MENTION

Speaking of appointment to national office, these are among those being mentioned: Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer; H. L. (Chick) Riddle of Morganton, attorney, banker, and Kennedy confidant BC (before California); Henry Hall Wilson of Monroe, attorney, former legislator and a worker in Sanford's campaign headquarters; State Sen. Spencer Bell of Charlotte, liberal attorney and Sanford confidant BP (before Primary).

Now up to his neck in the writing of historical books — mostly about the Civil War — for boys and girls, it is doubtful if Daniels will consider an appointment of heavy responsibility. A really close associate and friend of FRD and Harry Truman, Jonathan Daniels has probably had his full dose of Potomac Fever.

In our book, Henry Hall Wilson — now only 38 — is one of the most astute of the young liberals in the entire country. Keep an eye on him, for he promises to become a real asset on a permanent basis to state and national Democratic parties.

AT REST . . . We won't mention the name of the fine newspaper that made the error — or the fine old man about whom the article was written.

The man died as must we all, sooner or later. He passed on at this rest home apparently run by the Howard family. This happened a few days ago in North Carolina, near Raleigh, and the headline about the death read as follows:

DIES IN HOWARD'S REST ROOM We understand the deceased's survivors were quite upset.

ELECTRIC IMPULSE . . . This new-type jet with six engine was about ready to take off from Idlewild Airport to Paris. The 125 passengers aboard had fastened their seat belts. The loud speaker went on as follows:

"Good afternoon. This is the captain speaking. Glad to have you aboard. We are scheduled to take off in four minutes. We plan to fly at an altitude of 60,000 ft., and are scheduled to land in Paris in approximately four hours.

"I am sure that you will be interested in knowing that you have the honor of being passengers on the first transatlantic jet flight flown entirely by automatic pilot. This ship will be flown by electric impulse. My voice is being brought to you now by electric recording — by the same electric impulse that will fly the plane — and we are sure that nothing will go wrong, go - wrong, go-wrong, go-wrong, go-wrong, go-wrong.

SLANGUAGE . . . Rod Amundson of the N. C. Wildlife Commission says a friend of his swears he heard this conversation recently between two fishermen:

Hyamac. Lobuddy. Binearloug, Ketcheneny, Godafu. Kindrthy? Basnacarp. Emnysystem? Cuplapounds. Wahaosin? Goddaworms. Hittinard? Sordalite Fishlanabodddum? Rydamnabodddum. Igoddago. Tubad. Seeyaround. Yutakid-ego.

Some Questions About TB — and the Answers Here are the questions people most often ask about tuberculosis, with the answers.

If I get TB, what are my chances of a cure? Excellent. If your illness is found early enough and you complete the treatment your doctor prescribes. There are 1,750,000 people living today who once had active TB.

Can TB be cured at home? In a few cases, yes. But most TB patients should start treatment in the hospital, where there are laboratories to make all the necessary tests, a staff of doctors to plan treatment, and good nursing care.

How long would I have to stay in the hospital? There is no one answer to this question, since each TB patient is different. TB cure may take several months in the hospital and continued treatment at home for a year or two.

How is TB cured today? TB is treated mostly with drugs, to help bring the germs under control. Good food and rest are also important. Surgery may be needed to remove part of a damaged lung.

Once I am cured of TB, can I get it again? It's possible, unless you are careful to eat the proper food, get enough rest, avoid emotional stress, and keep your resistance high so you don't get frequent infections.

How can I tell if I have TB? You can't, because in its early stages TB causes no symptoms that anyone could notice. But a tuberculin test and, if the test is positive, a chest X-ray, can tell your doctor if you have TB.

Social Security In Davie County

Social security payments . . . to you and your family when you retire . . . if you become disabled . . . to your dependents if you should die!

Yes, Mr. Farmer, you may now get this protection. But to do so, you must report your earnings properly.

If your net profit from farming is $400 or more, you must file a tax return and pay the self-employment tax. This is required even though you do not have any income tax to pay.

If the gross profit from your farm is $1800 or less, you may use the optional method and report as self employment income either your actual net profit or an amount equal to two-thirds of your gross income. If the gross farm income exceeds $1800 and your net profit is less than $1200, you may report either your net profit or $1200 as self employment income.

To report self employment income you file a Federal Income Tax Return Form 1040 (U. S. Individual Income Tax Return) and a 1040 Schedule F (Schedule of Farm Income and Expenses) with Internal Revenue Service.

THEY WORK HARDER BECAUSE THEY RIDE EASIER!

Because they ride easier they last longer, too. They take better care of payloads and they make a long day's work a lot more pleasant for the driver. All that—primarily because of Independent Front Suspension (I.F.S.). If you think it's stretching a point to attribute that many advantages to a suspension system, you haven't driven a new Chevy with I.F.S. Take the wheel and feel its road-leveling ride, its almost total absence of shimmy and wheel fight, its ease of steering even in the big rigs. Spend hours behind the wheel and you're not nearly as tired. You're not and neither is the truck. That independent suspension soaks up the worst shock and vibration—the kind that can twist sheet metal and loosen joints and increase your maintenance costs. That's why Chevy trucks keep on working and saving for extra thousands of miles.

Return Tobacco Cards
Tobacco farmers are reminded to be sure and return their tobacco marketing cards immediately. Failure to return these cards within 30 days after the local markets close can result in an allotment reduction for 1961. For this reason all tobacco farmers should get in their sales cards as soon as possible.

ACP Program
Through November 30, approximately 900 farmers in Davie County had received an approval for carrying out a conservation practice. To this date some 30-40 of these farmers have not reported these practices as being completed. These farmers should report by Dec. 15 if they wish to get credit. Practices not completed by this date will be cancelled.

The 1961 program will be starting sometime in January. The sign-up period for Spring practices will be announced around the first of next year. Essentially the same program will be available as in 1960.

New-Grower Cotton and Tobacco Allotments
Applications for new-grower cotton and tobacco allotments will be taken through Feb. 15, 1961, at the County ASC Office. Farmers are reminded that in order to qualify for an allotment they must meet the following requirements:

In the case of Tobacco: The operator must live on and obtain 50 per cent or more of his livelihood from the farm covered by the application.

2. The farm operator must have had at least two years experience in growing tobacco during the past five years either as a sharecropper, tenant or operator.

3. The farm operator cannot own or operate any other farm on which a tobacco allotment is established for the 1961-62 marketing year.

4. The farm shall be operated by the owner thereof.

5. The farm or any portion thereof shall not have been a part of another farm during any of the five years 1956-60 for which an old farm tobacco acreage allotment was determined.

IN THE CASE OF COTTON: 1. The farm operator must be largely dependent on income from the farm for his livelihood.

2. The farm is the only farm in the United States which is owned or operated by the farm operator or farm owner for which a cotton allotment is established for 1961.

Flue-Cured Tobacco Quota Announced
The national marketing quota for the 1961 crop of flue-cured tobacco has been announced at 1 billion 122 million pounds, according to H. D. Godfrey, Administrative Officer of the State ASC Committee.

This quota, converted to acres, results in 715,817 acres available for allotment in 1961. Acreage available for allotment in 1960 totaled slightly less at 715,110 acres. For most farms the 1961 allotment will be the same as for 1960, since the small national increase will be used as a reserve for correcting errors, adjusting inequities, and establishing allotments for farms that have no flue-cured tobacco history during the past five years.

As directed by present legislation, flue-cured tobacco prices for the 1961 crop will be supported at 90 per cent of parity since marketing quotas will be in effect. In the last flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum, held Dec. 15, 1958, quotas for the 1959, 1960, and 1961 crops were approved by 95.4 per cent of the growers voting.

For North Carolina, the 1961 allotment will be 471,246.68 acres.

The ASC Office also announced that the discount variety program for flue-cured tobacco will be continued in 1961.

The Christmas program will be held at Macedonia Church on Saturday p.m., Dec. 24.

Mrs. Ellen King, who has been a hospital patient the past month, returned to her home here last week.

DeEtta West of Pino spent Friday night here, the guest of Nancy Langston.

Mrs. M. F. James, Patsy Wright, Janice Douthitt, Danette Boger, Kaye James, Roy Wright, and Nancy Langston visited Edith Bailey in Advance last Thursday p.m. The occasion was Edith's second birthday anniversary.

Letitia Ann Hauser arrived just in time for Christmas. She was born Dec. 4 at the Baptist Hospital. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eugene Hauser.

SCIATICA

Dr. R. F. Kemp

Sciatica, or neuritis of the great Sciatic Nerve in the hip and leg, is one of the most painful conditions afflicting mankind. It is most difficult to relieve by sedatives, and many times there is NO comfortable position attainable.

The symptoms of this condition are pain, arising in the affected hip, and radiating down the leg as far, many times, as the big toe, sometimes numbness and tingling sensation in the leg and foot, and we have observed and treated cases that lost control of the limb for a time.

The cause of this condition, in many instances, is some strain or injury to the lower back, which, if not corrected, causes a pinching of the sciatic nerve, or its branches, where they leave the spinal column, producing the inflammation that results in so much pain.

In more than ten years of practice in Mocksville, this writer has handled many cases of Sciatica, with a high percentage of results. In one case that was treated, the patient had exhausted almost every treatment available to him, without success, and under Chiropractic care his recovery was rapid and complete, and that was nine years ago.

If you have Sciatica, consider Chiropractic care. It has proven a boon to many of these sufferers.

For The People

by Bernadette W. Hoyle
 Public Information Officer
 North Carolina State Board of Public Welfare

[This is the first of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.]

What is old age assistance?
 It is a money payment made in the form of a check to needy, elderly persons who meet eligibility requirements as spelled out by law.

Where does the money come from?
 From Federal, State and county funds.

Where does a person go to inquire about old age assistance?
 To his county department of public welfare.

What information will the applicant be asked to give?
 The person who applies for old age assistance is responsible for providing the necessary information to determine whether or not he is eligible to receive assistance. He must give proof of his age. He must be frank about his financial condition and his living arrangements. A case-worker in the county department of public welfare will help if he has trouble in getting the necessary information.

What are the eligibility requirements?
 A person must be 65 years of age or older; he must be in need of essential requirements such as food, shelter, clothing and other necessary items; he must not be living in public institution; he must not be a patient in an institution for tuberculosis or mental diseases. He must have resided in North Carolina for the past year.

How is the amount of money payment determined?
 Payments vary according to the individual situation. There are limitations on the amount of money appropriated for old age assistance. The maximum amount per month for the basic items of food, clothing, medicine, chest supplies and personal expenses is $37; the amount allowed for rent is what the individual has to pay for rent not to exceed $50; the amount for utilities and house hold furnishings is what the individual has to pay for water, lights, and fuel, but the amount cannot exceed $15; for special medical care, if needed, the maximum allowed is $10. However, few persons receive these maximum amounts because practically everyone has resources of his own as far as these essential needs. Furthermore, the applicant's need is figured by subtracting his own resources from his estimated minimum needs. The resulting figure is used to determine his payment. He can receive old age assistance in the amount of only 85 per cent of this deficit.

What resources are considered in determining need.
 The amount of the applicant's income, his savings in the form of cash, cash surrender value of life insurance or bonds; real property in excess of that used as a home, and non-essential personal property, are considered as resources. Also the income in the home in which the applicant or recipient lives is a source if he lives with a son or daughter. A lien is taken on any property he may own, and all assistance paid to the recipient or in his behalf, constitutes a claim against him and his estate, enforceable according to law.

A good wife laughs at her husband's jokes, not because they are clever, but because she is.

Horse sense is what keeps horses from betting on people.

Irvin Allen Is Slain In Pistol Shooting Saturday

Murder Warrant Issued For William 'Bill' Emory

A murder warrant was issued this week for an ex-convict cowboy sought in a shoot Saturday night at the Allen Hilltop Shell Service Station, located on Highway 158 between Clemmons and Tanglewood Park.

William (Bill) Emory, 28, an Asheville native, is wanted for the fatal shooting of Irvin McKinley Allen, 29, of Mocksville, Pt. 2 operator of the service station.

John Milton Crews, 43, of Advance, Rt. 1, a customer in Allen's Store when the shooting broke out during a discussion about Emory's pistol marksmanship was shot in the abdomen. He is reported in serious condition at the Baptist Hospital.

The store where the shooting occurred about 11:15 p. m. Saturday night is about a mile from Middlebrook Farms where Emory had lived with his wife and three pre-school-age children for more than a year.

He was employed as a bronco-buster and farmhand at the farms owned by P. Huber Hanes, Jr., president of the P. H. Hanes Knitting Company of Winston-Salem. Arabian Horses and white-face cattle are raised there.

Officers said Allen, Crews and five other men were in the service-station-grocery Allen operated when the shooting occurred.

Officers said they were told that Emory bragged about his pistol marksmanship and whipped a 45-caliber western-type shooter out from under his jacket, firing it once into the store counter.

Allen was shot when he told the gunman to put the weapon away, and Crews was wounded he wrested the revolver away before the assailant fled in a car, witnesses said.

Officers summoned discovered that Emory had gone by his house after fleeing the store, got a shotgun and ammunition and took off in his car again. The car was found abandoned about three-quarters of a mile away. A tire had blown out.

Bloodhounds and a posse tracked fruitlessly over a large area around the farm along the nearby Forsyth-Davie County line.

Funeral Services
The funeral for Irvin McKinley Allen, 29, of Mocksville Rt. 2, was held Tuesday afternoon at the Farmington Methodist Church. The Rev. B. B. Bearden, the Rev. J. W. Vestal and the Rev. G. C. Graham officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

He was born Oct. 25 1931, in Davie County to W. Ed and Ina Batty Allen. He was a member of Turner's Creek Baptist Church and a veteran of the Korean conflict.

In 1952 he married Miss Emma Sue Brock, who survives.

Also surviving are his parents of Mocksville, Rt. 5; his grandfather, Joe W. Allen of Mocksville, Rt. 5; two sons, Stephen and Danny Allen, both of the home; three brothers, Junius Allen of Booneville and Alden and J. W. Allen, both of Mocksville, Rt. 5; and a sister, Mrs. John Hugh Shelton of Mocksville, Rt. 5.

Mrs. Cedric Smoot Named Acting Postmaster Here

Mrs. Cedric Smoot has been named as acting postmaster for the Mocksville Postoffice. She replaces Worth T. Hendricks, who resigned from this position to become a career-sub clerk in the local postoffice, a former position he had held.

Her appointment became effective as of Dec. 17 and she will serve until after the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy in January following which another appointment is expected to be made.

Mrs. Smoot, the former Lorene Rutledge, is a graduate of the Mocksville High School and attended Mitchell College for two years. She taught school for three years and worked at Hanes Hos-

Miss Lucy Bahnsen To Serve As Sponsor At State Inaugural Ball

MISS LUCY BAHNSEN

Miss Lucy Bahnsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bahnsen of Cooleemee, will serve as one of the sponsors for the Inaugural Ball, honoring Governor and Mrs. Terry Sanford on Jan. 4. The ball, to be held in Raleigh, is being sponsored by the Raleigh Junior League and the American Legion Post No. 1.

As a sponsor, Miss Bahnsen will be one of the girls who form the dance figure at the ball. She will be escorted by Brevard Arndt of Mocksville.

Miss Bahnsen was named as a sponsor by Rep. Lester P. Martin of Mocksville. Each legislator and each member of the Council of State is authorized to name one "sponsor" for the ball.

Miss Bahnsen is a graduate of the Davie County High School. She is a sophomore at Greensboro College.

Elementary Basketball

Mocksville boys and girls defeated Cooleemee last Thursday night in elementary basketball play. The boys won 35 to 25 and the Mocksville girls won 16 to 7.

Smith Grove beat Farmington in two games. The Smith Grove boys won 25 to 19 and the Smith Grove girls, 31-20.

There will be no further play in the elementary basketball league until the first week in January.

'Star Of Bethlehem' At Morehead Planetarium

"Star of Bethlehem" — the largest single Planetarium Christmas production in the world — is now being presented at the Morehead Planetarium in Chapel Hill. It will run through Jan. 2, 1961.

This year's version is the traditional one acclaimed by Clergymen and laymen. So unique and inspiring is the spectacle that patrons who repeatedly attend it year after year voiced objections when some changes were attempted in it in 1957. Thus, the original and traditional version was restored in 1958 and is again being offered.

That version resulted from the combined efforts and talents of the University of North Carolina and Duke University faculty members. They include Dr. Urban T. Holmes of UNC, members of the UNC Communications Center, and Robert L. Blake, and Dr. William Schiespring of Duke, plus the regular Morehead Planetarium staff headed by Anthony F. Jenzano.

In this version, religion, science and history are combined to attempt to answer the eternal question the "Star" poses and for an awakening of the appreciation and meaning of Christmas.

The program is divided into two parts. The first portion is devoted to the appearance of the heavens almost 20 centuries ago and deals particularly with the astronomical events known to have occurred about the time of the birth of Jesus.

The narrators leave to the patrons' judgment whether the Star was a natural phenomenon or a supernatural miracle.

The discussion is of considerable interest to youth groups, especially Scouts, whose project is astronomy in December, because motions of prominent planets are discussed. One of the suppositions advanced is that the Star could have been a triple conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn.

In the latter portion of the demonstration, a pageant of great beauty and originality is presented, with the story of the birth of Jesus told in lights, color, and music.

Again Dr. Holmes voices the Scriptures accompanying the 3-dimensional tableaux of the Annunciation, King Herod's Palace, the Wise Men and the Shepherds and the Nativity.

The scenes appear in a star-studded sky with an atmosphere of realism and provide the visible theme to the story. The closing scene again is that of a great arched cathedral in which the visitors find themselves, with the soft light of huge stained glass windows illuminating the chamber, while a great choir sings.

Thirteen public performances are scheduled each week. Evening shows begin at 8:30 o'clock and matinees are given Saturdays at 11 a.m., 3 and 4 p.m. The Sunday matinees are at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

That schedule will be interrupted only on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, when the Planetarium is closed for the only two days in the year.

Programs for school children with reservations will be given daily at 11 a.m., 1 and 4 p.m. After the children are seated, the public will be admitted. At other times special programs will be given for large groups of religious, industrial or civic organizations upon application.

Before or after the "Star of Bethlehem" programs in the Planetarium chamber, patrons may view the art and science galleries. During December Robert L. Blake, the Professor of Medical Illustration whose works are featured in "Star of Bethlehem," will have a one man art show in the North Gallery. R. A. Russell, UNC student, will have an exhibition on photography, in the South Gallery.

Numerous recessed wall cases containing scientific exhibits have recently been installed throughout the Planetarium exhibition areas. Together with other scientific exhibits and the Copernican Observatory, visitors may optionally devote about one hour of examination either prior to, or following all scheduled Planetarium presentations of "Star of Bethlehem," also about one hour long.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Personal Greetings

In this edition you will find many Christmas features. There are also personal messages for a Merry Christmas from the various business firms of this area. In appreciation of your patronage and friendship, they are extending to each of you the best wishes for the holiday season.

As has been our custom in the past, this newspaper will suspend publication next week in order that the personnel may enjoy one brief vacation a year. We take this opportunity to extend to each of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Mother Is Shot by Son

A nine-year-old boy, playing with a .22 rifle, accidentally shot his mother through the face last Wednesday.

Deputy Sheriff J. D. Campbell said that Mrs. Rosa Myers of Rt. 3, Mocksville, was taken to the Davie County Hospital after the shot from the .22 rifle went through her jaw and came out through her lip. After passing through the face of the woman, the shot then hit a six-year-old boy on the arm causing a superficial wound.

Deputy Campbell said that the woman's son, Johnny Myers, age 9, was playing with the .22 automatic rifle in the bedroom of his home and didn't realize it was loaded. Mrs. Myers was unpacking fruit in another room. The gun accidentally went off, with the bullet striking the woman in the jaw.

PINO GRANGE MEETING

Pino Grange meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 2, at 8 p.m. in the Grange Hall. Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Ansell of Old Richmond Grange in Forsyth County, will lecture and show pictures of their tour of eight European countries made last summer. Everyone is urged to attend.

The word Xmas as a form of Christmas originated in the early Christian Church, reports World Book Encyclopedia. In Greek, X is the first letter of Christ's name. It was often used as a holy symbol.

Phil Johnson Honored By Rotary For His Service

Retires From Grocery Business After 37 Years

By GORDON TOMLINSON

The scene was the annual Christmas party of the Mocksville Rotary Club. The Rotary Hut was filled with Rotarians and their wives, plus other special guests.

As one, the entire group rose to their feet to give a standing ovation to one of their fellowmen for the service he had rendered to Rotary, to his community and to his church.

The man so honored was Phillip Jefferson Johnson, 71, known to his many friends of this area as Phil. Ever since the organization of the Mocksville Rotary Club in 1945 . . . for the past 15 years . . . Mr. Johnson has had a perfect attendance record. No other man in the club can come close to matching this record.

Since 1923, Mr. Johnson has operated a grocery store in this community under the name of Allison Johnson Grocery. Last week he closed the doors to this store and because of his health, plans to retire to a more leisurely life.

Because membership in Rotary is dependent upon job classification, Mr. Johnson's retirement from business naturally would affect this. However, because of the length and loyalty of service, the local Rotary Club made him the club's first senior active member. . . which means he will be a Rotarian the rest of his life and needs no job classification.

Last Tuesday night Dr. Lester P. Martin, speaking on behalf of the club, paid tribute to the service Mr. Johnson had rendered and presented him with a certificate of merit and other items denoting the esteem of the members of the Rotary Club.

With tears streaming down his cheeks, attesting to his deep appreciation, Mr. Johnson in a choked voice, asked that someone please express his thanks and appreciation.

Phillip Jefferson Johnson, named for his father, was born in Lenoir, N. C., on December 31, 1889. Educated in the schools there, he attended old Trinity College, graduating with an AB degree in 1910, and returning the following year to secure his Master's Degree in Physics.

For one year, 1911-1912, he taught at the University of Pittsburgh and did further study in physics.

In 1912, he went to Cleveland, Ohio, and went to work in the electric automobile factory. In 1913 he went to Kansas City, Mo., where he operated an electrical automobile service station, later moving on to Dallas, Texas, to operate this same type of business.

Returning to North Carolina in 1915, and until 1922, he operated this same type of electrical automobile service station in Char-

Yadkin Valley Telephone Co-op Granted Loan For Expansion

Construction Expected To Begin In January

Plans for expansion of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation were announced this week by A. W. McDonald, General Manager.

Mr. McDonald said that a new $577,000 loan has been granted to the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation for expansion purposes and that the contract has been submitted to the REA for approval. Construction is expected to begin early in January, 1961.

"This loan will enable us to serve 4,232 customers in Davie, Yadkin and Iredell Counties," said Mr. McDonald. "We are currently serving 3,225 customers in these counties."

Mr. McDonald said that the co-op would offer one, two and four party service to customers, wherever such services were feasible. The $577,000 loan will increase the loans of the local co-op with the government to 2 1/2 million.

OFFICERS
James M. Parks has been re-elected president of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation.

Also re-elected to serve with Mr. Parks are the following: Wade Groce of Davie County, Vice-President; Homer C. Myers, Jr. of Iredell County, secretary and treasurer.

Directors elected are as follows: Fred J. Brandon, Yadkinville, Rt. 3; Harvey L. Gobble, Mocksville, Rt. 3; Dale W. Thomasson, Hamptonville; A. A. Doub, East Bend, Rt. 2; Clint C. Poindexter, East Bend, Rt. 1, and Ralph Dowell, Union Grove.

Bridge Clubs Have Yule Parties

Mrs. W. M. Long entertained at her home on Salisbury Street last Thursday evening with a Yule party for her bridge club members.

The home was decorated for the occasion with festive greens and lighted candles. Gold, green, and white decorations were used in the living room where small tables were set. The tables were centered by unique candle holders with small red lighted candles flanked by green ash trays.

Wine gelatin, cookies, and coffee were served prior to the bridge progressions and fruit punch and nuts were passed later in the evening.

Mrs. J. F. Hawkins compiled the high score and also won the slam prize. Gifts were exchanged at the conclusion of the meeting.

Members present included Mesdames John P. LeGrand, E. C. Morris, W. M. Long, L. G. Sanford, L. E. Pezzer, G. N. Ward, R. S. McNeill, and J. E. Kelly.

Mrs. John N. Waters was also hostess last Thursday evening to the members of her bridge club. The party was held at her home on Spring Street which was gay with Christmas decorations and candles. Decorations of the bridge tables were Christmas corsages for each guest.

Cherry tarts topped with green whipped cream and a red cherry and coffee were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Rosie Waters.

Members present were Mesdames C. F. Meroney, Joe Patner, C. R. Crenshaw, L. P. Martin, Jr., George Martin and Misses Mary and Jane McGuire. Mrs. C. W. Young, who was a hospital patient, was unable to attend.

Old films were shown by the hostess' husband after which bingo was played and gifts were exchanged.

Hostess for the Tuesday evening bridge club was Mrs. Margaret A. LeGrand at her home on Maple Ave. Decorations were a small white Christmas tree with Angel lights and blue ornaments; nandina berries, and poinsettias and blue candles. The tables were centered with lighted white floating candles in crystal bowls filled with pink oil.

Ambrosia was served in compotes topped with green whipped cream and a tiny candle, pound cake and coffee. Favors were chocolate candy with red bells. Tomato juice and nuts were served during the bridge progressions and gifts were exchanged after scores were tallied.

Present were: Mesdames E. C. Morris, L. P. Martin, John P. LeGrand, W. A. Allison, John Durham, Harry Osborne, and Misses Osa's Allison and Willie Miller.

Doctors, Wives Have Gay Time At Buffet Dance

The Salisbury Country Club was the gay scene on Wednesday night for the informal buffet dinner dance of the Rowan-Davie Medical Auxiliary members and their doctor husbands.

A lighted Christmas tree was in the foyer. Christmas greens with red ornaments decorated the mantelpiece of the ball room. The buffet table had a centerpiece of red carnations flanked by red candles in silver.

Attending the affair from this county were: Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Long, Dr. and Mrs. Bob M. Foster, and Dr. and Mrs. John Spargo of Cooleemee

More About Phil J. Johnson

Phil J. Johnson, North Carolina, and worked for a brief period for the Lord Motor Company of Cheraw, S. C. During this time, Mr. Johnson had married Marie Allison, then of Thomasville but later to move to Mocksville. He had met Miss Allison while she was attending a girl's school in Lenoir.

In 1933, his wife's brother, the late Jack Allison, persuaded Mr. Johnson to come to Mocksville and go into the grocery business. At that time there were no stores in this area dealing in fancy groceries.

In 1923 the Allison-Johnson Grocery Store opened in the Horn Building on Main Street in Mocksville. In 1952, this store moved into new quarters on Salisbury Street where Mr. Phil continued to do business until he retired early this month.

Active in civic affairs, Mr. Johnson served as a member of the Mocksville Town Board in the late 1920's, and was a member of the Lions Club when it was first organized here in the late 1930's.

He was one of the prime instigators behind the organization and sponsorship of the Mocksville High School Band that existed here in the early 1940's. He and others raised money by public subscription to buy uniforms and instruments for this band.

It was Mr. Johnson and the Rev. E. M. Avertt that put up the first Christmas tree lights on the square in Mocksville in the early 1930's.

Also active in the Methodist Church which he joined at the age of 11, Mr. Johnson served as superintendent of Sunday School from 1927 to 1942.

When the Mocksville Rotary Club was organized in 1945, Mr. Johnson was one of the original charter members. Since that day he has a record of perfect attendance and service on just about all of the major committees of the club. He served as president of the club during the year 1957-58.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have three children: Mrs. Frank Wolff of Mocksville; Mrs. Robert S. McNeill of Tampa, Fla.; and Miss Marie Johnson, a member of the music faculty of Queens College, Charlotte.

Mr. Johnson says that he plans to take it easy now and enjoy life. His interests . . . as always . . . in others . . . he plans to check on some of the retirement clubs which have been formed in surrounding towns and to see about organizing one for this area.

Christmas Party Held at Cooleemee

The 11th Annual Children's party, sponsored by Cooleemee 251, United Textile Workers of America (AFL - CIO), was held Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Cooleemee School auditorium. The party was held for children under 13 years of age. Approximately 900 children attended.

Each child attending received a Christmas bag containing nuts, fruits, candies, raisins, balloons, a surprise package and a nice toy. "Joey the Clown," from TV station WSOO-TV, in Charlotte entertained the children. Other entertainment included the "Country Cowboys" from radio station WSAT in Salisbury; Janie Snider, "Miss Union Maid," and Christmas music. The Cooleemee Presbyterian Church also presented a program. Santa Claus helped distribute the gifts from under the tree.

Refreshments were served buffet style. They consisted of sandwiches, cookies, fruit cake, nuts, coffee, and punch.

Choir Party Held At Smith Home

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith entertained members of the First Methodist Church choir at their home Sunday night immediately following the Christmas cantata and candle lighting service held at the church.

The decorations for the occasion included a large Christmas tree in the living room of the home and various arrangements of greenery and candles in the Christmas motif. The refreshment table was covered with a red cloth with Christmas decal border. The centerpiece consisted of berries and candles sprayed with artificial snow.

A highlight of the party was the playing of a recording made of the cantata that the choir had just rendered. Also, several musical renditions were played by Steve Smith, son of the host and hostess on an old-fashioned player-type piano that uses rolls of music and has to be pedaled.

Also assisting the host and hostess in serving and with the entertaining were Miss Sarah Foster, and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Foster.

CHRISTMAS

On that blessed night, the world was hushed with wonder, and hope arose anew for all mankind . . . Christ the Saviour was born. Today we pray for His guidance, that we may find peace in our hearts and renewed faith in a world in which men everywhere shall live in good will and understanding with one another.

Miss Louise Stroud Is Supper Hostess

Miss Louise Stroud entertained at a supper in the private dining room of the American Cafe on Tuesday evening, honoring her piano pupils who are members of the senior class in Davie County High School and special guest, Miss Inge Larsen, exchange student from Denmark, who is making her home this year with the George Rowlands.

The table was centered with a Christmas arrangement. Covers were laid for the hostess, Miss Larsen, Jane Rowland, Kay Lanier, and P. C. Grubbs, Jr. A Christmas remembrance marked each place.

Kay Lanier has been a member of the piano class for eight years; Jane Rowland for nine years; and P. C. Grubbs, Jr., 10 years.

Christmas Parties For Piano Pupils

Mrs. Otis Hendrix and Miss Louise Stroud were hostesses to a group of Miss Stroud's piano pupils at the Hendrix home on N. Main St., Friday evening, Dec. 16.

The home has decorated for the occasion with festive arrangements.

Games and contests were enjoyed after which the hostesses, assisted by Mikey and Cindy Hendrix, served ice cream, coconut cake squares and Coca-Colas to the following pupils:

Rebecca Davis, Ann Platt, Sue Peoples, Martha Susan Allen, Martha Susan Collette, Verna Sofley, Linda Green, Linda Carter, Karen Merrell, Delaine Glasscock, Judy and Carol Creason, Marcella Hendrix, Judy Phipps, Mary Ann Glasscock, Gary Boger and Mikey Hendrix. Venita Black welder and Jean Evans were unable to attend.

The highlight of the evening was the exchange of Christmas gifts around the Christmas tree.

Mrs. Clyde Glasscock and Miss Louise Stroud were hostesses to Miss Stroud's music pupils from grade 3 through grade 6 on Monday evening, Dec. 19 at the home of Mrs. Glasscock on Statesville Road.

Christmas decorations were used throughout the home.

Games and contests were enjoyed by the group, after which ice cream, cup cakes, punch, and unique Christmas favors were served by the hostesses, assisted by Delaine, Cynthia and Katie Glasscock.

Pupils present for this occasion were: Darlene Whitaker, Pamela Tutterow, Patricia Jo Hendrix, Joyce Phipps, Cynthia Glasscock, Joyce Gunn, Hope Hall, Creola Cobble, Janice Cartner, Sandra Cassidy, June Harris, Janie Howard, Lynn Tutterow, Barbara Glasscock, Linda McClamrock, Sharon Howell, Robert Tutterow, Dale Myers, Jimmy Foster, and David Hefner. Sandra Barnes and Myra Stuitts were unable to attend.

Additional guests were Delaine and Katie Glasscock.

An exchange of gifts around the Christmas tree climaxed the evening's entertainment.

Cub Pack 574 Has Meeting

Cub Pack 574, Boy Scouts of America, Uwharrie Council, met on Tuesday night, Dec. 13, in the Presbyterian Church Hut for their Christmas meeting with 82 people attending, including the Cubs, their families, and the Cub Master, Benny Naylor.

Den 3, Mrs. Norman Smith, Den Mother, won the attendance banner, and Den 1, Mrs. Cecil Lakey, Den Mother, won the honor banner. It was reported that all four of the Dens had 100 per cent attendance.

Awards given by Cub Master Naylor included: graduation certificate and one year pin to Brewster Mason; one gold arrow and one year pin to Donny Brown; Wolf Badge and one gold arrow to Charles Williams; Bear Badge to Johnny Boles; Bear Badge and one year pin to Danny Robertson; Lion Badge and one year pin to Carter Robertson; and, one year pin to Roger Cope.

Following the meeting refreshments of punch and cookies were served and gifts were exchanged by the boys.

A Christmas Tree decorated by the Cubs and their Den Mothers was featured and candles entwined with holly were lit for the occasion.

It was announced at the conclusion of the meeting that there would be no more meetings of the Dens until school re-convenes.

Hendersonville to spend a few days with Mrs. Crowell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knox Johnstone. Mrs. Crowell will attend the wedding festivities in Winston-Salem for Miss Martha Edwards, bride-elect of Friday afternoon. Mrs. Crowell will be a bridesmaid in the Edwards-Barringer wedding which will be held in Centenary Methodist Church.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Riding in a cab up 5th Avenue and passing through the colorful pageant of Christmas decorations and displays which are so brilliant, by apparent on both sides, I asked the driver if he did not think it was a beautiful sight. Out of the corner of his mouth, he replied, "To me, it's all a lotta bunk!" I sat straight up in my seat and stared at this modern Scrooge, then inquired if he really meant that. "Of course not," he smilingly admitted. "Really, Christmas is the best time of the year."

is lost as alterations take place, and much can be gained if only we will see it so."

Spyrou Skouras, the movie mogul, had the holiday spirit at a recent meeting at which he was to speak. By the time the refreshments were disposed of, and the long introductions made, the hour was getting late. As Skouras arose, he could not help but notice that the guests were shuffling in their hard seats, doubtless bracing themselves for a long oration. Looking at the audience, he held up a copy of a bulky, prepared speech and announced "It's so late that I'll just mail all of you a copy of this speech," and sat down.

Here and There: While many out of town visitors flock into New York to view its lighted gaily during the holidays, just as many, it seems, leave here for other scenes and climes. Some, for example, go to the unusual Christmas mixture of Atlantic surf, sunny beaches and serenades of traditional Spanish Yuletide carols at Dorado Beach in Puerto Rico, where dance groups and musicians quaintly depict the folklore of the island. Many of these same celebrants have spent their summer vacations at such spots as the picturesque Jackson Lake Lodge in Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming, a sharp but delightful contrast to the Caribbean. Even so, it's hard to beat Rockefeller Centered New York for a colorful Christmas.

FUNERALS

Paul H. Godbey, 45. Funeral services for Paul Houston Godbey, 45, of Mocksville, Rt. 4, were held Saturday afternoon at the Bethlehem Methodist Church. The Rev. Dwight Mashburn and the Rev. Kenneth Love officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Godbey died Thursday evening at the Western North Carolina Sanatorium at Black Mountain. He had been there six weeks with a lung infection.

He was born April 28, 1916, in Rowan County to Grover and Pearl Freeman Godbey. He was in the lumber business with his father.

Surviving are four sons, Arnold G., Paul H. Jr., and Jerry Godbey, all of Mocksville, Rt. 4. Clifford Godbey, of Fort Belvoir, Va.; three grandchildren; his parents, two brothers, Eugene Godbey of Rural Hall and Curtis Godbey of Mocksville, Rt. 4; and three sisters, Mrs. Paul Willard of Mocksville, Mrs. Charles Foster of Advance, Rt. 1, and Mrs. C. H. Cozart of Winston-Salem.

Social Security In Davie County

Under the changed Social Security Law, the aged dependent widower of a woman worker who died before September, 1950, can get benefits if the woman worker, before her death, had worked under social security for at least 1 1/2 years.

To qualify for these payments, the widower must have been dependent upon his deceased wife for at least one-half his support AND he must now be 65 years of age or older. The widower must apply to his social security office for these benefits. October, 1960, was the first month for which such payments could be made. Dependent widowers not yet 65 should ask their social security office for information about filing proof of their dependency. The widowers of women workers who died before September, 1960, must file this proof before October, 1962, to get payments when they do reach 65.

You probably know that when a worker covered by social security dies, the lump sum death benefit is paid to the widow or widower if the couple were living in the same household at the time of the death. Under the new law if there is no surviving spouse, or if the husband and wife were not living together, arrangements can be made for the lump sum death benefit to be paid to the funeral home for any part of the expenses that have not been paid. When the funeral home has been paid in full, the lump sum death benefit may be paid as reimbursement to those who paid the burial expenses.

The fellow who boasts about what he is going to do tomorrow usually is quiet about what he did yesterday.

CEEPPEANDEL . . . Question: What do Charles Rouse of Clinton, Shearon Harris of Albemarle, Reid Thompson of Pittsboro, and James Currie of Raleigh have in common?

Answer: Each of them within the past ten years has left governmental jobs and/or lucrative law practice to go with the Carolina Power & Light Co.

Rouse was U. S. District Attorney when he raised eyebrows around town up to here to go with CP&L. If memory and other imponderables play me no tricks he might be judge today of Eastern District Federal Court had he stayed with the scene.

Even so — his salary with the electric company is said to be more than the judicial compensation. He's worth every penny of it. And, what with the political winds which now blow, his salary is more certain.

Shearon Harris, Vance County native, was born in Middleburg, is a Wake Forest alumnus, was in the Legislature as principal clerk in the sessions of 1941 and 1943 and as a representative from Stanly County in 1955.

Although a relative newcomer to Carolina Power & Light Co., he last week was elected as one of the vice presidents of the company. As associate general counsel, Harris works with Rouse and with that old Baptist warhorse, Herbert Weatherspoon — than whom there is none finer in these parts.

Shearon Harris would make a worthy successor to Weather-spoon or President L. V. Sutton — and is expected to fill one of these jobs in the not-too-distant future, to coin a phrase. He left a good law practice in Albemarle to come with Carolina Power & Light Co.

Harris became 43 this past September. He's right much younger than Rouse, young enough to be the son of Weatherspoon . . . and almost that with Sutton.

Reid Thompson, who attended both the University of N. C. and Harvard, served in the Legislature for the terms 1955 and 1956 — only 36 years old.

He was a Superior Court judge — appointed by Governor Luther Hodges — when he got the nod from CEEPPEANDEL. He's an active Methodist and like most of the other top brass of the firm is a civic leader.

One of the first things Terry Sanford did after being elected Governor a few weeks ago, was to contact James Currie Revenue Commissioner who has established a reputation for bringing in the money. He urged Currie to remain at the post.

We have had some outstanding commissioner of revenue in North Carolina — among them being Edwin Gill now State Treasurer and the late A. J. Maxwell and Rufe Doughton.

But the only man who had made a study of tax-gathering is Commissioner Currie an official of the Tax Research Department before being appointed by Governor Hodges to succeed Eugene Shaw. Shaw resigned to return to his law practice in Greensboro.

A native of Clarkston Currie becomes assistant to the treasurer of Carolina Power & Light after ten solid years as a tax expert for North Carolina. You can imagine what he will men to that firm. He leaves a job which pays $14,000 per year — but provides a headache every four years.

The Revenue Commissioner in this State does not have to run for re-election any more. But there are those who will tell you that he does just a whole lot of quadrantal sweating.

Personally, we are glad to see Currie go with CP&L. His sense of humor, we hope, will not be blunted by governmental onslaughts against private enterprise.

And, as for CEEPPEANDEL, they have made themselves stronger by gathering to their ample bosom these capable young men.

Methodist Circles Have Christmas Party

A Christmas party with all five of the circles of First Methodist Church meeting together was held on Monday night in the Fellowship Building of the Church. Approximately 55 attended the party.

As the group gathered they were welcomed by Mrs. C. R. Crenshaw, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, and invited to the refreshment table where sandwiches, cakes, cookies, potato chips, and pickles, and coffee were served buffet style.

The centerpiece for the table was a poinsettia flanked with red candles. An arrangement of ivy and red candles was used on the mantel in the building.

Mrs. C. B. Newton, vice president of the WSCS, had charge of the program following the meal. Three Christmas carols were sung by the group to open the program. Mrs. Curtis Price then read the scripture using the 2nd chapter of St. Luke, verses 8 through 20. Mrs. J. Frank Clement read a prayer written by Dr. Mark Depp of Winston - Salem with a Christmas theme. Mrs. Newton showed a film "Christmas Carols," and then read a story entitled "Tris."

A highlight of the meeting was an announcement made by Mrs. Crenshaw that a Life Membership to the WSCS will be presented to Mrs. J. H. Thompson.

A collection was taken from those attending to buy kitchen utensils. This was done this year for the first time in place of the usual exchange of gifts among the members.

When he is fired from his job, with no place to go, he wanders through a grimy alley where he finds a large bag that seems to be filled with gifts.

WHO'S CALLING? . . . Speaking of political appointments, now is a good time to relate a story about one that did not occur here in Raleigh several years ago.

You know, some men grow — while others just swell up. This happened to be one of the latter variety. He had been on the job a long time — and had really built a little empire around it. His underlings never felt safe as he lorded it over them day-in-day-out-year-in-year-out.

It was along this time of year. The telephone rang. The outer-office answered. Then the call was referred to the outer-office, which was the desk of Mr. Big's private secretary.

She picked up the receiver and sang: "This is Mr. —'s office. May I ask who is calling?" "How's that?" asked the voice. He was impatient, because he had first had to get the capital circuit operator, then the outer-office, then the inner sanctum. Now they wanted to know who was calling.

He said words to this effect: "Does it matter who is calling? I'd like to speak to Mr. —"

The private secretary, true to her training, sang: "May I tell him who is calling, please?"

The caller, who was to be sworn in as Governor in about

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — No sketch of former North Carolina Senators can chronicle the life of Willie Person Mangum, the illustrious Whig, born in Orange (now Durham) County near Rougemont, May 10, 1792.

WILLIE P. MANGUM — After graduating from the University of North Carolina in 1815, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1817. He was immediately elected to the State House of Representatives. He became a Judge, followed by his election to Congress, serving in the House from 1823 until 1826. His first service in the United States Senate commenced on March 4, 1831, continuing until his resignation on November 26, 1836. Rising as a national figure, Mangum received the electoral votes of neighboring South Carolina for President of the United States in 1837. Upon the resignation of Senator Bedford Brown, he was selected as a Whig to the United States Senate, serving from November 25, 1840 to March 8, 1853. Like Nathaniel Macon, Mangum was President Pro-Tempore of the Senate from 1842 until 1845. He practiced law after his Senate service until his death at the family plantation, "Walnut Hill," near Rougemont, on September 14, 1861. He was succeeded by a Democrat, Robert Strange of Fayetteville.

ROBERT STRANGE — A native of Virginia, Strange was born on September 29, 1798; he was educated in the Old Dominion and moved to Fayetteville in 1815 where he was admitted to the bar. He was elected to the State House of Commons in 1820; his career included service as a Judge from 1827 to 1836 when he was elected to the United States Senate to succeed the resigned Mangum, serving from December 5, 1836 to November 16, 1840, when he resigned. He was a solicitor and also engaged in literary pursuits after his Senate service. Senator Strange died in Fayetteville on February 19, 1854, and was buried in the family burying ground at Myrtle Hill near that city.

WASHINGTON — Standing at the front of the Whig movement in North Carolina, William Alexander Graham, the Lincoln County native, had one of the most distinguished careers of any man ever to sit in the United States Senate from our State.

GRAHAM — He was born near Lincolnton (at Vesuvius Furnace) on September 5, 1804. Educated in the classics at the University of North Carolina, after graduation in 1824, he turned to law, was admitted to the bar, and began in the practice of law in Hillsboro. Elected to the State House of Commons in 1836, he served as speaker during the sessions of 1838 and 1840. Upon the resignation of Robert Strange, a Democrat, Graham was named as a Whig to the vacancy, serving from November 25, 1840, to March 3, 1843. He was Governor of North Carolina from 1845 to 1849. Declining a diplomatic post in 1849, he was appointed Secretary of the Navy in President Fillmore's cabinet, serving from 1850 to 1853.

The political fortunes continued to increase for Graham until he was nominated as Vice Presidential candidate on the Whig ticket in 1858. Failing of election, Graham returned to State politics, sitting in the State Senate. He also served in the Confederate Congress as a Senator. He was elected to the United States Senate in 1886 but his credentials were not presented. His varied service ended with his death at Saratoga Springs, New York, on August 11, 1875. His remains were interred in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Hillsboro.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS — As the Holiday Season approaches, this is to wish you and yours a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Cadillac

World's easiest way to say "Quality"!

In any company—in any land—there is one word that is instantly recognized and understood. The word is "Cadillac"—and the meaning of course, is "quality".

And it is understandable, we think, that Cadillac should have become a part of the universal vocabulary.

For its devotion to excellence has been of such a degree—and of such a tenure—that the car has become the world-wide symbol of everything good and desirable in a manufactured product.

This truth has never been more beautifully expressed than it is in the current Cadillac.

Inspiring to look at . . . thrilling to drive . . . rewarding to own—it is truly the master achievement of motordom's master builders.

And Cadillac has imposed on its construction the most rigid standards and restrictions ever placed over the assembly of a motor car.

More than fourteen hundred separate inspections now guard the quality and goodness of every Cadillac—and the results of this crusade for perfection can be seen . . . and felt . . . and sensed.

Here is superb craftsmanship in every body line . . . skillful tailoring and magnificent workmanship in every interior . . . and wonderful solidity and quietness in every mile of ride.

Don't you owe yourself a personal appraisal of this 1961 "car of cars"?

Your Cadillac dealer will provide the car and the keys for a demonstration at any time.

MAJOR SOURCES OF INCOME

What has happened to the relative trends in major sources of income in North Carolina from 1949 to 1959? The importance of various commodities which make up total cash receipts has changed considerably. Total cash receipts from all commodities sold were $986,311,000 in 1959 in comparison to $710,968,000 in 1949. This increase came about despite a 28 per cent reduction in tobacco acreage and a 56 per cent decrease in cotton acreage.

In 1959 over 43 per cent of the total income came from the sale of tobacco. Poultry and eggs accounted for about 14.2 per cent of the total income; dairy products 6.8 per cent; hogs 5.9 per cent; cotton 5.7 per cent; and corn 3.7 per cent. Other crops and livestock products accounted for the remaining income.

Livestock Receipts Higher
What has happened to production and prices since 1949 as they relate to changes in total income?

The production of eggs increased about 61 per cent from 1949 to 1959, broilers 497 per cent, hogs 67 per cent, cattle and calves 89 per cent, and milk about 14 per cent.

Egg prices declined about 22%, broiler prices 43 per cent, and hog prices were down about 19 per cent. Cattle prices increased about 14 per cent, calves 22 per cent, and milk prices were up about 45 cent above 1949.

Some Crops Show Increase
The production of soybeans increased about 142 per cent from 1949 to 1959, corn 24 per cent, and peanuts 18 per cent. Tobacco production decreased about 3 per cent and cotton declined 31 per cent.

A large crowd from this community attended the railroad party held in Advance Sunday.

Soybean prices increased about 9 per cent, cotton 7 per cent, and tobacco prices were up about 21 per cent. Corn prices declined about 11 per cent and peanuts were down about 3 per cent.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The 1960 Christmas Seals couldn't be more enchanting.

Their young carol singers with glowing lanterns are bound to add extra Christmas cheer when you put them on letters, cards and packages. And the appearance of the Seals each year assures you that your tuberculosis association continues to fight TB for you in your community.

Your Christmas Seal dollars work for you all through the year. In case-finding efforts, in the education of professional people specializing in TB, in the provision of needed funds — Christmas Seals are at work.

Christmas Seals work all the time to improve the general health of the community. They help to pay for research into better methods of prevention, diagnosis and treatment. Christmas Seals are behind unremitting efforts to find and close the gaps in TB control.

When you support Christmas Seals, you invest in your own good health as well as the health of your community. Your TB Association wishes you a Merry Christmas and a happy and healthy New Year.

A lot of people will itch for something, but they aren't willing to scratch for it.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Christmas is about to git here again and the fellers at the country store Saturday night was having their annual discussion about peace on earth and good will toward men.

First off, it was agreed that the peace we got is pritty shaky but it was better'n none and that this Christmas we better be mighty thankful fer what we got. Of course, the fellers all admitted that ole Krushchey was slow but sure worrying us to death. On the other hand, even Bug Hookum, that laments about everthing, said it was better to depart this earth worrying and painless than to git hit with a atom bomb.

Clem Webster sorter put a sour note to the session by claiming that it didn't take near as long to worry us to death as it used to. He allowed as how us Americans can't take it like we could 30 year ago, that we're gitting softer ever year. I'd have to vote with Clem on this item. There was a time, Mister Editor, when you could say the average American was a pritty solid citizen. But he's been pushed around so much with the New Deal, the Old Deal, the Queer Deal, taxation, red tape, Government forms, rules and regulations that he's gitting a heap of give in him, ain't near as solid as he used to be.

But, anyhow, we got peace on earth at this Christmas time and it was agreed by all that everybody ought to say a prayer of thanks fer it on Christmas Day.

On the topic of good will, the fellers was a little bit divided. Zeke Grubb, fer instant, allowed as how good will ought to start out with your neighbors and spread from there. He said some of his neighbors had the meanest young'uns ever 'brung into this world. They was so mean, allowed Zeke, that he was thinking about fencing in his pigs to keep 'em fom mixing with the little 'hellions, said they set a bad example fer his pigs. But maybe after Zeke gits his pigs fenced in and his neighbors kids fence out the good will bug will hit him a little harder. It was agreed that especial at Christmas time everybody ought to fergit old grudges and start over, with good will toward men.

In spite of the mess the world's in, all of us ought to try and make this a happy Christmas. I can recollect them war years when our loved ones was fighting far from home and fireside and how we wished they was at home fer Christmas. Now that we've got 'em here fer this Christmas, let's try to make it one to remember fer years to come, regardless of what comes with them years. MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Marketing Quotas For Cotton Approved

Farmers have approved marketing quota programs for the 1961 crop of upland cotton according to W. E. Matthews, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced this week.

The preliminary returns from the Dec. 13 growers' referendum show favorable votes by 98 percent of Tar Heel cotton growers voting. At least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas if they are to become effective. Approval of the quotas by growers means that:

1. Quotas with penalties on "excess" cotton will be in effect for the 1961 crop.
 2. Price Support to growers who comply with their farm allotments will be at the full level available under the law.
 3. Allotments will continue in effect for the 1961 crop of cotton.
- Below is a tabulation of the results of the 1961 cotton referendum in this State and County:
- North Carolina: No. for quotas, 26,327; No. against, 438; No. challenged, 80; Preliminary total votes cast, 26,765.

Davie County: No. For quotas, 87; No against, 8; No. challenged 0; Preliminary total votes cast, 75.

Tobacco Sales Cards

The local tobacco markets closed on Dec. 13, 1960. Each tobacco grower must return his 1960 marketing card or otherwise account for the production of tobacco on the farm within 30 days after this date. Failure to return the card or to account for the production will result in a reduction of allotment for 1961. For this reason all tobacco farmers should return their sales cards immediately.

1961 ACP

In order to give every farmer an opportunity to participate in the Agricultural Conservation Program, the regulations provide that a sign-up period be held at the beginning of the program year. This sign-up period will be held in January and the dates will be announced soon.

The practices have been approved for the county and are essentially the same as the ones selected under the 1960 program. Field strip-cropping has been added in place of contour strip cropping. Practice 13 (one of the tree practices) has also been eliminated.

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
N.C. State Board of Public Welfare

(This is the second of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.)

Can disabled persons get financial help from public welfare? Yes, if they meet the eligibility requirements of the program of aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

What are the requirements? The allocation for cost-sharing under the 1961 program is about the same as for 1960. Each farmer will soon be getting a letter announcing the sign-up period and the practices available for 1961.

The person must be between the ages of 18 and 65 years. He must not be an inmate of a public institution. He must be permanently and totally disabled. He must be in need because he does not have the essential requirements of daily living, such as food, shelter, clothing and other necessary items.

Where should application be made? At the county department of public welfare.

What information must the applicant furnish?

Proof of his age, information concerning his financial situation and his living arrangements, and a required medical report. A caseworker in the county department of public welfare will help when the individuals has trouble in getting the necessary information for or in making an appointment for the medical examination.

What factors are considered when the application is reviewed?

Any resources of the applicant can be considered in determining his need for financial assistance. Any income of the applicant, any savings, real property in excess of that used as a home, and the income in the home in which the applicant or recipient lives will also be considered.

After the application is made and reviewed, what is the next step?

If the county department of public welfare finds that an applicant is in need of financial assistance, the social information and medical report are sent to the State Board of Public Welfare in Raleigh. There the case is reviewed by a consulting physician who determines whether the person is totally and permanently disabled as defined in law and policy. If the person is found to be eligible, he will begin receiving a monthly check.

Should the recipient keep in touch with the county department of public welfare?

Yes. He is responsible for discussing with the caseworker his situation from time to time in order to determine whether or not he is still eligible to receive assistance. He is also responsible for notifying the caseworker of any change in address or any other change in his situation, such as an increase or decrease in his needs or income.

Does the county department of public welfare review the cases from time to time?

Yes. Active cases are reviewed periodically to determine if eligibility continues to exist and to determine the current extent of need. Emphasis is placed on helping disabled persons help themselves to the full extent possible.

United States Leasing Corporation For Capital Appreciation

United States Leasing Corp., which operates on a nationwide basis in the United States and also in Canada and England, is the largest independent company in the rapidly growing leasing field. All types of capital equipment, ranging from small office equipment to heavy specialized machinery, are purchased by U.S.L. and leased to corporations of all sizes operating in diverse industries.

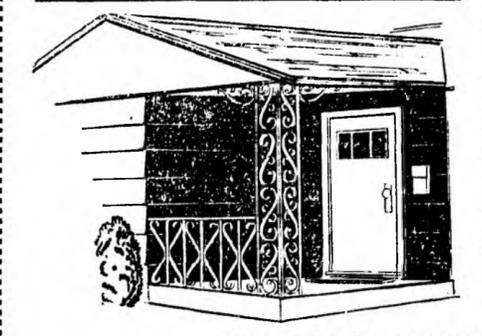

U.S.L.'s history dates from 1952. The Company's receivables at the end of that year totaled $263,000 and have increased rapidly each year since then. By mid-1960 receivables had climbed to $40 million, approximately twice the amount outstanding at the end of 1957.

We believe that this well managed growth company has an exceedingly bright future and recommend its purchase at its current price of 4 1/2 for accounts seeking long term appreciation. Clip and send the coupon below for a comprehensive report on U. S. Leasing.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Foolish men believe in luck. Strong men in cause and effect." Emerson.

Two business men were discussing road luck charms.

"Does a rabbit's foot really bring good luck?" asked one.

"I should certainly say so," responded the other. "My wife felt in my money pocket once and thought it was a mouse!"

Great credit to "good luck" and blame to "bad luck" is a juvenile attempt to avoid our personal responsibilities.

If we really believe in good and bad "luck" we are either childish or closer to paranoia than we should be.

Too many of us feel that good things are bestowed by lucky chance. We say that some have "luck" and some do not.

That isn't true. Good and evil are within us. They are expressed through us. What we say or do calls forth good or evil from us and asks for a good or evil response from those we contact.

No outside power, no "lucky charm" gives or withholds good fortune. Good fortune results from correct actions. Bad fortune results from mistakes.

When things go right accept the credit you deserve. When they go wrong, accept the blame. It belongs to you, too.

Dr. R. F. Kemp

Sciatica, or neuritis of the great sciatic Nerve in the hip and leg, is one of the most painful conditions afflicting mankind. It is most difficult to relieve by sedatives, and many times there is NO comfortable position attainable.

The symptoms of this condition are pain, arising in the affected hip, and radiating down the leg as far, many times, as the big toe, sometimes numbness and tingling sensation in the leg and foot, and we have observed and treated cases that lost control of the limb for a time.

The cause of this condition, in many instances, is some strain or injury to the lower back, which, if not corrected, causes a pinching of the sciatic nerve, or its branches, where they leave the spinal column, producing the inflammation that results in so much pain.

In more than ten years of practice in Mocksville, this writer has handled many cases of Sciatica, with a high percentage of results. In one case that was treated, the patient had exhausted almost every treatment available to him, without success, and under Chiropractic care his recovery was rapid and complete, and that was nine years ago.

If you have Sciatica, consider Chiropractic care. It has proven a boon to many of these sufferers.

ONE SOLITARY LIFE

HERE IS A YOUNG MAN who was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty, and then for three years he was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never went to college. He never put his foot inside a city. He never traveled two hundred miles from the place where he was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

While he was still a young man, the tide of public opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. He was turned over to his enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While he was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth, and that was his coat. When he was dead, he was laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone, and today he is the central figure of the human race and the leader of the column of progress. I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that were ever built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man upon this earth as has that One Solitary Life.—Anonymous

New York, N.Y.

Dear Editor:

I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, "If you see it in the Sun it's so." Please tell me the truth — is there a Santa Claus?

Yours truly,
Virginia O'Hanlon

Yes, Virginia

"Yes, indeed!

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age—they do not believe except what they see—they think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible to their little minds.

"All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little.

"In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus.

"He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies!

"You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus—the most real things in the world are those neither children nor men can see.

"Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there—nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, or even the united strength of all the strongest men, that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside the curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty of all glory beyond.

"Is it all real?—ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever—a thousand years, from now, Virginia, nay, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the hearts of childhood."

Christkindli Visits Kids in Switzerland

In Switzerland, it is not Santa Claus, but Christkindli, the Christ Child, who makes the rounds of Swiss homes on Christmas Eve. The radiant angel is said to come from the North, traveling on a fairy-like sleigh, pulled by reindeer much like our Santa. Christkindli brings good Swiss children a beautiful tree, and many gifts. Like Santa, he insists that little children be good at all times, and he admonishes naughty youngsters.

SANTA CLAUS TOWN . . . Santa Claus, Indiana, the town with a famous postmark, is always bustling for months before Christmas rolls around. Santa can be found here, busy in his workshop of playing host to thousands of boys and girls from all over the country.

Favorite Carols Came From Many Lands

Three of our favorite carols were brought to us by early settlers from European lands. England contributed "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen." France gave us "Cantique de Noel," from Germany came "Away in a Manger." "Adeste Fideles" belongs to no one country, but has been translated into 119 different languages and dialects.

Three Americans enriched our heritage of lovely carols. The earliest contribution, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" was made by Edmund H. Sears in 1849; Dr. John Henry Hopkins, Jr., in 1859 composed "We Three Kings of Orient Are" and in 1868 "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was written by Philip Brooks.

PLAGE MATS

If you feel your Christmas cards are too pretty to throw away, make them into place mats. Cardboard such as a shirt pasteboard makes a good base for them. Paste the cards to the pasteboard with shellac. Then coat the surface with one or more coats of thinned fresh, white shellac.

Choose Holiday Tree Wisely if You Hope To Transplant Later

Are you buying this year's Christmas tree with the idea of planting it on the home grounds after the holidays?

If so, be sure that you locate it properly. Chances are your earth-balled and burlapped evergreens will have to suffer through the excessive heat of your home for a week or ten days. If it survives this hurdle there is still the problem of selecting a sunny, well-drained site where it won't drown before spring.

Poor planting sites plus mid-winter planting are certain to cause a high mortality rate among these double-duty trees.

Sandy or gravelly soils drain naturally and present no special problem. Planting in heavy clay is another matter and may require the installation of drainage tiles.

Don't be alarmed if your living tree sheds some of its needles indoors. Go ahead and plant it anyway. Ensconced on a suitable site, the evergreen probably will begin sporting new greenery next growing season. Even if the tree looks a bit skeletonized in early spring, have patience. Don't remove it! Give it a chance to recuperate from its indoors ordeal and the shock of transplanting. It will probably come through with the desired needles.

One thing to remember: Such living trees as Norway spruce, Scotch pine and Douglas fir grow to proportions that make them undesirable as foundation plantings. After planting where the evergreen can achieve majestic maturity, mulch with peat moss, hay or straw to prevent root freeze.

Holiday Centerpieces Easy, Fun to Arrange

A little bit of imagination and work can transpose common articles into elaborate and effective holiday centerpieces.

Try setting up a mound of stairs with white plastic foam blocks. Then set tall red candles on each step and insert sprigs of holly or pine in the base for extra trimming.

Desserts can be as decorative as your centerpiece. Make white snowball cakes with a small red candle set in each one, and place them on a holly tray.

Individual place decorations are easy and fun to make. Cut out cardboard stars and glue a 3/4-inch strip of cardboard around the star outline. Paint or cover them with foil. Set candle in the middle of each star and fill the rest with peppermint mints or tiny metallic balls or similar things.

Dr. Clement Moore Was Ashamed of His Famous Poem

Dr. Clement Clarke Moore was ashamed of his famous poem, "Night Before Christmas" and would not acknowledge that he wrote it for more than 20 years.

Today, the poem which begins—

"Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house, Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;"— is one of the most beloved of all Christmas writings.

Dr. Moore was an aloof professor of Greek and Oriental literature in the Episcopal Seminary in New York. He wrote the poem on Christmas Eve 1822 and read it to his seven children.

He had not planned for the poem to go further than his own family, but a relative who was visiting the Moores put a copy in her diary. The next year the relative's father sent it to a newspaper.

Other newspapers printed the jingles and they quickly became known all over the country. The dignified Dr. Moore was embarrassed and considered it beneath a man of his scholastic standing to be the author of children's jingles.

Twenty-two years later, however, he finally publicly admitted authorship of the jingles and it was published in book form under his name for the first time.

AN UNPLANNED CHRISTMAS
BY Dorothy Boyd Killen

THE white drifts were already so deep that Mr. Milbank had to guess where the curb was as he parked the long black Cadillac in front of the little grey house with a "Rooms for Tourists" sign over the door.

"We simply don't dare go a mile further, Ora," he said to the middle-aged, fur-clad woman beside him.

"But it's only fifty miles more to Minneapolis," Mrs. Milbank protested. "And what a place to spend Christmas Eve!" She peered distastefully through the still-falling snow out on the village street.

"Better to stay here than be stalled overnight somewhere and freeze to death in the car. Do you realize it's taken us an hour to come only fifteen miles since dinner?"

"Well, if we must," Mrs. Milbank sighed. "I suppose we'd be too late for the Randall's cocktail party anyway."

"The snow looks so white and clean here," Mr. Milbank remarked as they trudged up the walk. "In the city, seems like it gets all grimy and slushy the minute it hits the ground."

"Better to stay here than be stalled overnight somewhere and freeze to death in the car."

Johnson closed the door behind them. Mrs. Milbank groaned. "There's the iron bed, just as I predicted. I wonder if it will even hold us both?"

"It kind of reminds me of that bed we had when we were first married," Mr. Milbank smiled. "Only we painted it white to match the second-hand chest, remember?"

"Yes," Mrs. Milbank stared at the bed. Her voice had lost some of its coldness.

Merry Christmas

There has never been a year when these words: "MERRY CHRISTMAS" had more significance than they do now. Although Santa is surprising two little early risers, even he must be aware that there aren't many lands where this year there will be celebrated a truly "MERRY CHRISTMAS."

Among the more tangible gifts he will be bringing down chimneys, scattering at firesides, and hanging on Christmas trees — there is that very tangible but precious gift which was long ago given to American children. It's the heritage of democracy; the unfettered freedom of living in a land of tolerance; the valuable privilege of living in one land which people of all lands are happiest to call their home.

RIDICULOUS PRESENT

BY SHIRLEY SARGENT

YOU never can tell what's going to happen around our house at Christmas. Like the time Father brought a donkey home. We didn't get to keep it very long on account of some regulations, still, I'll bet we're the only family in all Bit-terroot that ever got a real, live, smelly donkey for a present. An- other time when we were down to eating canned goods and the stuff our garden grows, Father came home with soap for everybody. Boxes of it. Enough to last for any- way a thousand baths, I guess, and all moulded in animal shapes. All in lurid colors and smelling strongly.

Mother always protested. "That's so impractical, Clem! Just a waste of good money."

And Father always answered by sweeping her off her feet. "It was a sale, honey! a real roofing, tool- ing bargain."

And we always wondered what he'd bring next—even when we were disappointed by his gift. See, there's six of us kids and one time Father bought a lot of unmarked canned goods that turned out to be alphabet soup. Pretty sickening after about ten meals.

"Sure, I've got a present for you all. In just a few minutes, it's coming right to the door."

Anyway, here it was Christmas Eve again and Father hadn't come in from his current job yet. Around the tree we had conventional gifts—nice ones mostly—but like Father said, it's impossible to find six special presents so if he could find just one—

I guess you know by now that we all thought Father was the great- est. I mean he could have brought (in fact he did once) nothing but balloons and we still would have loved it. Even Mother, for all her protests, enjoyed the suspense. I guess that was the best part, be- cause some of us were bound to be let down when we saw what we'd been waiting for.

At last we heard his footsteps and glimpsed to open the front door for him. He came in all red from the cold and happy-faced at seeing us, but he didn't have any- thing in his arms. I saw that right away and, as the others did, the room got real quiet.

Surprisingly, it was Mother who voiced our disappointment. "No bargains, Clem? No ridiculous present this year?"

No Laughing Matter

Father laughed and sat down in front of the fireplace he'd painted on the plaster wall. Four of the little ones piled on him, searching his pockets. Nothing exceptional there either, just the usual assort- ment of marbles, gum, jacks, and penny whistles. "Ridiculous! Im- practical!" But then he must have seen by our faces how upset we were for he sobered.

"Sure, I've got a present for us all. In just a few minutes, it's coming right to the door."

So the suspense wasn't over and our wild guesses went unanswered until we heard a strange noise out- side. Horses hooves!

"Not another donkey?" Mother growled as we rushed to the front door.

It wasn't though. Golly, no. Out- side there were two solid-looking horses hitched to a wagon load of hay. The younger children reeled out, but the rest of us just ques- tioned. "Are they ours to keep?"

"Just for one night," Father ex- plained. "Just for Christmas Eve and it's up to you characters to de- cide what you want to do and where you want to go." That's all he said. That's all he needed to say.

"Let's ride all over town and ring bells," one of my brothers suggested. "You know—a sleigh ride like you read about in books."

Well, we had an old wind-up phonograph that Father had given us one Christmas, and we had eight lusty voices. "Not good, but loud," Mother said. And she was so right. You know, we went all over Bit- terroot singing like mad.

And doors opened and windows lighted and other voices joined in as we trotted along until half the town seemed to be following the wagon and all the town singing of that glorious night of old. We sounded great. Loud and good and heartfelt.

BRIGHT DECORATIONS

The conventional wreaths which adorned Christmas doors and door- ways for years have given way to popular use of balls and tree orna- ments.

You can make both doors and window frames bright and cheer- ful by framing them with ribbons and sprays of holly. Hang ribbons in festoons across the curtains and tie at the sides in wide cash bows for colored effect.

Our Gift to You!

A pledge of friendship, goodwill, and a genuine desire to serve.

Small Towns First to Light Outdoor Trees

The evergreen bough, mistletoe and holly used as Christmas decorations have been associated with ceremony and curious custom for thousands of years.

Ancient Romans raised an evergreen branch at the December festival of Saturnalia, honoring the god of sowing.

Long before the Christian era, Tuatons and Scandinavians held the mistletoe sacred and hung it over their doorways as charms. They also worshipped the oak and their priestly Druids brought in a great Yule log at the feast of the winter solstice and lighted it from a brand of the log of the year before.

In parts of Europe the first trees used for Christmas decorations were dormant branches of fruit trees. They were brought indoors several weeks before Christmas and forced into bloom by Christmas time. Holly, the subject of many superstitions, was also used because its prickly leaves were thought to represent the Saviour's crown and its red berries drops of blood.

In parts of Sicily an olive tree is decorated today with oranges. In some countries flowers are used instead of evergreens, in keeping with a story told all over medieval Europe that on the night of the Nativity the trees of the forest, though cloaked in ice and snow, burst into bloom and bore fruit.

All over the world this Christmas each country will celebrate the occasion in its traditional way.

It was a small town that first thought of lighting an outdoor community Christmas tree.

Four communities are believed to have thought of the idea about the same time—as early as 1913. Two of them, McDonald and Germantown, were in Pennsylvania. Salem, Ore., decorated a large Sitka spruce. Riverdale, Calif., illuminated a large evergreen, an Aracuria.

The first national Christmas tree was in 1924 and was sponsored by the American Forestry association. The event is now televised every year for all parts of the country to see.

The most spectacular outdoor displays in the United States are at the White House and Rockefeller Center in New York. The New York display is possibly the most elaborate in the world.

But it was the small towns that first thought of the idea.

Today, nearly every community in the land has some kind of Christmas decorations. Many communities string colored lights across the street and decorate light posts with evergreens. Many suspend bells and stars at street intersections and have dazzling community trees.

Christmas Card Idea Originated By Englishman

Christmas cards are so much a part of the modern Yule season that one seldom stops to wonder how the idea originated and by whom. This simple idea of wishing your friends a Merry Christmas brought honor and knighthood to the originator, Henry Cole, a middleclass Englishman. Cole mailed his cards on a December day in 1846. The cards depicted a Victorian family assembled at the festive board and the traditional Christmas custom of giving to the poor. They also bore the now-classic greeting: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you."

He had a thousand of the cards struck off by a lithograph. They were such a success that plain Henry Cole subsequently became Sir Henry Cole.

The cards we send today, however, a far cry from those mailed by Cole. The cards you send and receive this year will be designed by famous names in contemporary art.

An American shopping for cards this year may select scenes painted by such famous people as Winston Churchill, Britain's prime minister and famed amateur artist, and Grandma Moses, one of America's most famous artists.

The demand for cards is so great that many companies spend their entire time in designing and producing them for the holiday season.

MRS. SANTA... She is leaving by this is Miami Beach's version of Mrs. Santa Claus climbing the chimney in the northland.

Birth of the Savior Was Greatest Event In World's History

Pleasant as it is to dream of a "White Christmas" with its carols and gifts, feasting and merry-making, the sparkling eyes of children delighting in Santa Claus and the wonderful Christmas trees, these things never can symbolize the tremendous significance of the day.

The birth of the Saviour was the greatest event in the history of the world. In spite of all the backslidings, Christian peoples have pressed forward steadily.

However vicious and corrupt, the world today is far better than the world of pagan times; familiarity with the cross and crucifixion has abolished legal tortures and much cruelty—and, if given a chance, might shame us into banishing the curse of international viciousness for the sake of Him who became the Saviour of Mankind.

Puritans Outlawed Yule as Frivolous

The Puritan government of England outlawed Christmas in 1643. With the restoration of the Stuarts Christmas customs and traditions were revived, but Christmas never regained its former prestige in England.

It is observed religiously in the churches and as a day for family reunions and social gatherings, in contrast to the lavish feasting and boisterous merry-making of olden time.

Merry-making and gift-giving come in for their share, however, in December 26 which is Boxing Day. The origin of Boxing Day antedates Christmas and can be traced to the custom of gift-giving during the Roman festival of Saturnalia.

In Christian liturgy December 28 is observed as the feast of St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr, and during the centuries when journeymen and apprentices were in the habit of levying upon their masters' customers, "Christmas Boxes" were collected on St. Stephen's day.

Cagey's Christmas Break

BY D. I. ALEXANDER

HE WAS known as 61,653 by the prison officials; but his fellow prisoners gave him the name of Cagey Wilson because of his concentration on all the angles of any problem or proposition that came up for consideration.

Cagey was known as a model prisoner. He had only broken the rules once, and with deliberation. He had heard others talk of "The Hole," until he was curious to see what it was like. He smoked while lying on his bunk, which was against the rules, but instead of being sent to The Hole he only received a severe reprimand from the guard who caught him.

The admonition to "keep your eyes and ears open and your mouth shut" won the respect of the others and kept him out of trouble and he enjoyed the confidence they reposed in him.

Where men have little but future deviltry to occupy their minds every insignificant occurrence becomes momentous. Some of them caused Cagey much speculation; like the time the dormitory night guard had him stand before him for the purpose of memorizing his face and figure, an unusual proceeding.

"You have your own time to serve, and no one else can serve it for you," he had also been told. It had strengthened his resolution to shorten that time if he possibly could.

Instead of being sent to "the Hole" he only received a severe reprimand.

Christmas was approaching, but it had little meaning for any of them. They sneered at the promised turkey dinner with an apple for dessert. It did not appeal to them when their thoughts and talk revolved about merrier Christmas's they had enjoyed outside the walls. It filled them with restlessness and resentment.

Cagey easily fell into the prevailing mood. He thought of the old folks and friends at home, and the cheer that the season brought with it. He found it hard to fight off the fits of depression that came, and was in a receptive humor the day Big John Mallory slyly remarked there might be a break for freedom. And when Big John proposed later on that he join them he agreed to give it careful consideration.

Great Temptation

He pondered over the possibilities. The temptation was great, but to find himself without shelter in winter, without food or a safe refuge was not attractive. He could not return home, for that would be the first place they would look for him. To go into hiding would necessitate his dependence on doubtful loyalty of friends. His prison uniform would betray him wherever he went. He reluctantly gave up all thought of leaving.

The attempted break came the day before Christmas. The conspirators seemed to be favored with good luck. It was foggy, and their movements went undetected at first. They reached the roof of the prison and made their way to an outside corner, where they fastened an improvised rope.

A guard, coming on duty early, discovered the dangling rope. He called the guard on the roof by telephone and apprised him of the situation. When the would-be escapees returned to the roof they were fired upon by the guard and easily captured.

Time for Gladness

Cagey heard of the fiasco immediately and was thankful he had been cagey about the affair. He was more thankful after dinner when a runner came to summon him to the warden's office.

"Cagey," the official began, "you have been a good prisoner, obeyed the rules and made it easier for those who have had to look after you and the others. You have been conscientious about your duties, and have a clean record.

"The Governor asked me to make up a list of worthy men recently, and I included your name. The runner will take you to the commissary where you will be fitted out with citizen's clothes. You will then return here, and it will give me great pleasure to hand you a full and unconditional pardon, signed by the Governor.

"The Governor and I both wish you a happy future as well as a Merry Christmas." c
