Dr. Jane Hanes Crow Gets Ph. D. Degree At Cornell

Accepts New Position At University of Maine

Dr. Jane Hanes Crow, daughter of Mrs. E. W. Crow of Mocksville and the late Mr. Crow, recently completed requirements for the Ph.D. degree at Cornell University. Dr. Crow majored in household economics and management, with minors in educational administration and sociology.

Dr. Crow is a graduate of Mocksville High School. She received a BS degree from Salem College and a Master's Degree at the University of Maryland. She did additional study at Columbia University and the University of Virginia.

From 1938 to 1944, Dr. Crow taught at Salem College. In 1944 she went to the University of Maryland, and became the head of the Department of Home and Institution Management in 1956. She did summer work at the University of Connecticut, the University of Virginia and Cornell University.

Dr. Crow is a member of the Omron Nu (National Home Economics honorary society) Phi Kapp Phi, and Pi Lambda. She is a member of the American Home Economics Association; the North Carolina Home Economics Association; the Maryland Home Economics Association; and the American Dietetic Association.

Other professional activities include membership in the American Dietetic Association; American Association of University Professors; and a member of the Woman's Civil Defense Council for Region 2 representing state home economics associations in Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Virginia, District of Columbia, Kentucky and Maryland.

Effective Feb. 1, Dr. Crow will assume the position as Director of the School of Home Economics at the University of Maine in Orono. This job is primarily administrative and involves coordination and supervision of resident instruction, research and extension instruction in home economics.

Town Licenses

Mocksville Chief of Police Joe Foster this week called public attention to the fact that all cars and trucks owned by residents of the Town of Mocksville must display town license plates.

These license plates are being sold at the license bureau located at the Mocksville Home and Auto Supply Store. The deadline for the purchase of these tags coincides with the deadline for state tags which is February 15th.

Miss Lucy Bahnsen Is Inaugural Ball Sponsor

Miss Lucy Bahnsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bahnsen of Coolemeec, served as one of the sponsors at the Inaugural Ball honoring Governor and Mrs. Terry Sanford, Wednesday, in Raleigh.

As a sponsor, Miss Bahnsen was one of the girls who formed the dance figure at the ball. She was escorted by Brevard Arndt of Mocksville.

Miss Bahnsen was named as sponsor by Rep. Lester P. Martin, Jr. of Mocksville.

Rep. Martin Attends Legislative Caucus

Rep. Lester P. Martin, Jr. of Davie County attended the Democratic caucus of state legislators held in Raleigh Wednesday evening at which time Rep. Joe Hunt of Guilford County was elected House Speaker.

Following the caucus, Rep. and Mrs. Martin attended the legislative dinner at the Hotel Sir Walter and the inaugural ball.

Rep. Martin has been assigned seat No. 51 for the forthcoming session of the General Assembly. This seat is located on the third row from the front. He will be seated on the same row with Rep. New Year Baby

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Franklin Brown of Coolemeec was the first baby of the New Year, 1961, born at Davie County Hospital, on Jan. 1.

The baby received a number of gifts from the Hospital Auxiliary, who annually presents gifts to the first child born at the beginning of a new year.

There were two other babies born on the 1st. They were: a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Redmond of Harmony; and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hodge of Woodleaf.

Officers Seize 200-Gal. Still

Davie County law officials seized a 200 gallon still off the Liberty Church Road, on Dec. 28.

Deputy Sheriff J. D. Campbell and Deputy Paul Foster Dwiggins found the still and 600 gallons of mash which was working. Deputy Campbell said that the still was just recently set up and that the first run had apparently been set for the next day or so. Deputy Campbell said he believed that the still was moved to this location from Yadkin County only a short time before it was discovered. There were fresh tracks around the still.

On Jan. 2, Deputy Campbell and L. K. Howard found four mash barrels on the Davie-Yadkin line, just above Farmington. The barrels had been drained and the still had already been moved.

Farmington Masons Have St. John's Dinner

The annual St. John's Dinner of the Farmington Masonic Lodge No. 265 was held Dec. 30 in the Farmington School Cafeteria. Seventy-one members and guests enjoyed the meal prepared by the ladies of the Farmington Methodist Church.

Mocksville's Outstanding Young Man To Be Chosen Next Thursday

Annual DSA Banquet Is Set For January 12

Mocksville's outstanding young man of 1960 will be announced Thursday, January 12th, at the Jaycees' annual Distinguished Service Award Dinner to be held at the Rotary Hut.

For several weeks a committee headed by Jaycee Dr. Vic Andrews has been canvassing churches, businesses, clubs and organizations to determine which young man, age 21-35, has contributed the most to the community during the year.

Last year, the winner was James G. . .

Today Robert L. Greene, manager of the Winston-Salem office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., announced statement requests were mailed to 232 businesses in Davie County. He said figures obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1961 totaled 232 manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers in this area as compared with 210 in 1952 — an increase of 10.5 per cent for the period.

According to Mr. Greene, each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to approximately three million business concerns — to the corner grocery store worth a few thousand dollars, as well as to businesses worth millions.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit, but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.

During the past year, Greene added 138 changes were made in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings of Davie County business, including 38 names added, 34 names deleted, and 66 changes in the ratings of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in Davie County are about even, with the rest of the country, where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

When the owner or officer of a business enterprise, or his accountant, fills in and mails his financial statement to Dun & Bradstreet, it becomes a part of the credit report on his business and a factor in determining the credit rating of his business. Mailing the statement, rather than waiting for the Dun & Bradstreet reporter's call means a concern's important suppliers will quickly have the latest facts on which to make credit and sales decisions.

When the Dun & Bradstreet reporter receives a business man's financial statement in advance of his periodic call, he can make a more detailed analysis of the financial condition of the business and discuss its operation more intelligently.

Back of each listing of a business in the Reference Book is a Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes the following: a history of the business (who owns it, who runs it, and how long it has been operating); a description of what the business does and how it does it; a financial section which usually includes the latest financial statement; and a record of how the business pays its bills.

While credit reports are primarily used by business men who want to evaluate the credit risk of a business before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates, and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

When the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence, it may be that they take better care of it over there.

Davie County Landowners Are Urged To Plant Pine Seedlings

One Acre of Trees Can Be Bought For $4.50

Davie County land owners can now replenish their unused land with timber products and realize an annual return of over 5 percent on their investment.

A spokesman for the North Carolina Forest Service announced this week that forest tree seedlings are being raised by four state nurseries and will be sold at cost to the landowners. Last year, 1960, more than 380,000 pine seedlings were delivered to land owners in Davie County.

The cost for 1,000 seedlings, enough to plant an acre, is very low. For instance: Any landowner can pick up at the nursery nearest to him 1,000 loblolly pines for only $4.50. White Pines, which require an additional year's growth to become large enough to transplant, cost $6.00 per 1,000. All varieties will be delivered to any landowner in the state for a fee of 50c per 1,000.

A representative of the Forest Service said that a thousand trees will set an acre, and that it requires about 8 to 10 man hours to plant this number by hand. In open land planting machines, drawn by a tractor, will put out from six to eight thousand trees per day. These planting machines are available in all counties at very little charge and in some counties no charge at all. In many areas planting contractors are available who will plant the trees.

Financial assistance is also available. The State Agricultural Conservation Program provides a substantial assistance to landowners, who comply with certain regulations. A total of $12 is available for every acre of trees planted by complying owners. Assistance is arranged only through A.C.P. office in each county. Lands not listed at the A.C.P. office as complying may still be listed for assistance. This means that if a landowner pays $4.50 for enough trees to plant an acre and receives $12 for planting that acre, he will have $7.50 left to cover the cost of planting.

It was pointed out that now is the time to order seedlings for delivery through March.

Application for these seedlings may be made at office of the Davie County Farm Agent or Soil Conservation Office in Davie County.

Nurseries are located at Morganton, Goldsboro, Clanton and Hendersonville.

Rotarians See Film Deacon-State Game

Rotarians were treated to a film showing of the recent Dixie Classic basketball game between Wake Forest College and N. C. State at their regular meeting, Tuesday.

MRS. EDDIE MARION MARTIN

Martin-Rice Ceremony Held at Church of Christ

Miss Gloria Gaye Rice and Eddie Marion Martin were united in marriage Saturday, Dec. 24, at 4 p.m. in North Main Street Church of Christ. The Rev. W. G. Gault, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Candelabra with lighted tapers entwined with cedar and holly, poinsettias, and snow-capped trees formed the background for the vows.

Wedding music was presented by Edd Allred of Greensboro and Nashville, Tenn., soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with long sleeves, a sabbina neckline outlined with lace and a lace panel extending down the front of dress to the hemline. The back featured a bustle which extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of pearls with a teardrop pearl in center. She carried a lace-covered Bible with a white orchid.

Mrs. Sam Walker, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Gail Poplin, Mrs. Jerry Anderson, Miss Harriet Hartley of Welcome, and Miss Sarah Rice of Salisbury.

The attendants wore dresses of holly red velvet with scoop necklines, three quarter sleeves and matching satin cummerbunds with rosettes in back. They carried red poinsettias on white fur muffs. Their headresses were red velvet poinsettias with short veils.

Debbie McClannan, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of red velvet with white lace trim and a lace apron. She wore a lace hat and carried a lace and red satin basket filled with miniature poinsettia petals.

The groom's best man was Billy Wade Maxwell of Winchester, Tenn. Ushers were Sam Walker, Jerry Anderson, Herald Hege of Lexington, and Herman Cawner of Statesville.

Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rice of Rt. 3. She is a graduate of Davie County High School and attended David Lipscomb College and Draughon's Business College in Nashville, Tenn. She was presented as the Sub-Debutante Ball in Lexington in 1959.

Mr. Martin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Martin of Winchester, Tenn. He was graduated from Franklin County High School at Winchester and Tennessee State College at Murfreesboro. He is employed in the engineering department of Aeronautical Research Organization in Tullahoma, Tenn.

The bride's mother was attired in a pale blue wool suit with matching cloche and black accessories. The mother of the groom wore a slate blue crepe ensemble with which she used black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a buffet supper at their home for members of the wedding party, out of town guests and families.

For travel, the bride changed to a blue wool ensemble, a white hat, black accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin are living on College St., in Dechard, Tenn.

Mrs. Kelly Fetes Bride At Coffee

Mrs. Jimmy Kelly, Jr. entertained at the home of Mrs. J. E. Kelly, Sr. on Halander Drive on Wednesday, December 21, at a "Coffee" honoring bride-elect Miss Gaye Rice who married Eddie Martin on Saturday, December 24.

There were 8 of the bride-elect's close friends present for the occasion.

Refreshments served consisted of fancy sandwiches, cheese straws, date bars, and coffee.

The hostess' gift to the bride-elect was silver in her chosen pattern.

The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion with flowers in white and green.

Heritage Furniture Co. Holds Christmas Party

Heritage Furniture Company entertained their employees at a barbecue lunch on Friday, December 23, just before closing the plant for the Christmas week vacation period.

Also, awards were presented to the following: 10 year pins were given to Lemuel Harris, James S. Seagle, Everette Latham, Glenn Blankenship, Clyde Leonard, and Harvey Peoples; 5 year pins were presented to Bob Johnson Johnny Swisher, and Jack Cecil.

Attending the outing from High Point were: Elliott S. Wood, president of Heritage; and Rhett Ball, Tillman Thomas, Bob Darden, and Ralph Gurley.

'Open House' Given By Garland Stills

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Still entertained at their home on Tuesday night, December 30, with an "Open House" when approximately 30 people called during the appointed hours of 7:30 to 10.

Refreshments served consisted of cranberry punch, pecan "fingers", and nuts.

The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth and the centerpiece consisted of tangles and berries.

The home was appropriately decorated for Christmas. A large tree was used in the living room. Candles were used throughout with other ornaments. The front door decoration featured a large gold bell shaped ornament with greens used on both sides of the doors.

Informal conversation groups of guests formed at the party.

Miss Gaye Rice Is Complimented

Miss Gaye Rice, bride-elect of Dec. 24, was complimented Wednesday morning, Dec. 21, at a coffee. Hostess was Mrs. Jimmy Kelly at the home of Mrs. J. E. Kelly on Halander Drive.

Christmas decorations were used throughout the home. Open face sandwiches, cheese straws, pecan fingers, date squares, and coffee were served to the honoree, Mrs. Wade Maxwell of Winchester, Tenn. Don Poindexter, Miss Elaine Sowers, Mrs. J. E. Kelly and Mrs. Tom Rice.

The bride-elect was presented silver in her chosen pattern by the hostess.

Miss Rice was also honored with a dinner Thursday evening, Dec. 22, given by Mrs. C. W. Rice at her home in Salisbury.

The Christmas motif was carried out in the decorations of the home. The bride's table was centered by an arrangement of red and white carnations. Bridal place cards were used. Miss Rice received a corsage of white mums and a platter in her china pattern.

Invited guests included the honoree's wedding attendants. They were: Mrs. Jerry Anderson, Misses Gail Poplin, Harriet Hartley, and Sarah Rice, Ms. Harry Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rice and Charles and C. W. Rice.

YOUR HEALTH Sponsored by DR. R. F. KEMP SCIATICA Dr. R. F. Kemp Sciatica, or neuritis of the great Sciatic Nerve in the hip and leg, is one of the most painful conditions afflicting mankind. It is most difficult to relieve by sedatives, and many times there is NO comfortable position attainable. The symptoms of this condition are pain, arising in the affected hip, and radiating down the leg as far, many times, as the big toe, sometimes numbness and tingling sensation in the leg and foot, and we have observed and treated cases that lost control of the limb for a time. The cause of this condition, in many instances, is some strain or injury to the lower back, which, if not corrected, causes a pinching of the sciatic nerve, or its branches, where they leave the spinal column, producing the inflammation that results in so much pain. In more than ten years of practice in Mocksville, this writer has handled many cases of Sciatica, with a high percentage of results. In one case that was treated, the patient had exhausted all most every treatment available to him, without success, and under Chiropactic care his recovery was rapid and complete, and that was nine years ago. If you have Sciatica, consider Chiropactic care. It has proven a boon to many of these sufferers.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Things at the worst will cease, or else climb upward." —Shakespeare.

Mrs. Brown was giving her remedy for feeling discouraged.

"When I'm down in the dumps," she said, "I get myself a new hat."

"Well," remarked Mrs. Jones, "I've often wondered where you get them."

Sophocles wrote, "There is none misfortune cannot reach." With the knowledge that misfortune will visit us, we should make certain that discouragement does not take up a residence with us.

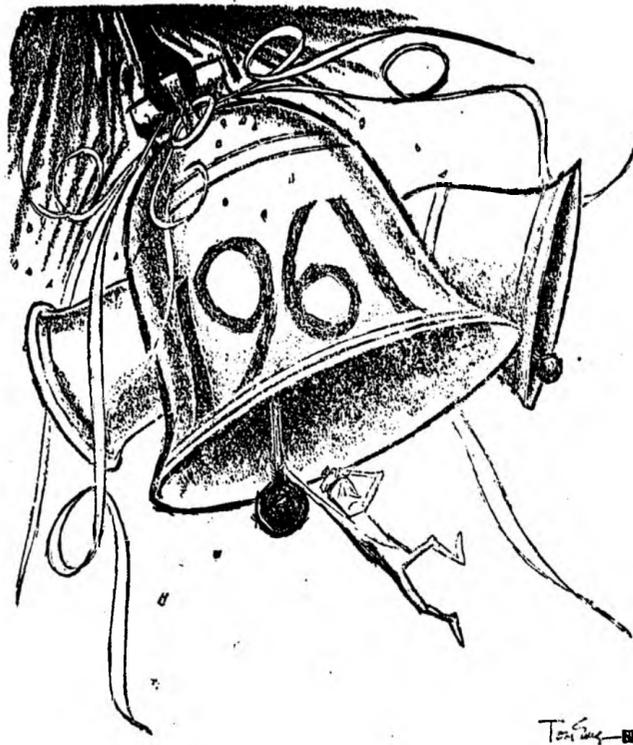

To be honest discouragement is a state of our mind, nothing more. Misfortune may come, but it is only when we change our minds and become discouraged, that misfortune can harm us. To overcome discouragement, each of us should know where to look for a "new hat."

Anyone can rout discouragement with a "new hat." It need not be a gay or fancy headpiece. It can be a new or different idea. It can be a fresh interest in something else. It can be an adventure into a new activity. It can be the healing sanctuary of religious experience. There are a thousand "new hats" to wear if we will reach out and take one. We can "climb upward" from any discouragement. Try wearing a "new hat."

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Wisnui resolutions for the New Year: that our new national administration be as successful as the Democrats claim, the Republicans doubt . . . that New York City not be stuck again with a quick snow storm, then two airplanes . . . that Khru-sheev keep his shoes on nail his mouth shut . . . that a new Congo dance be named, the Kas-abubu hop . . . that Winston-Churchill, Carl Sandburg and Grandma Moses all celebrate another birthday — and more . . . that popcorn prices stop popping up . . . and that through the influence of our great country, the light of the Statue of Liberty shine throughout the world so that all the nations may see it and work toward living in peace together.

Dr. George Slaughter, despite his last name, operated on General Douglas MacArthur not long ago and was widely acclaimed for the success of the operation. I met this eminent surgeon recently and while chatting, asked him what kind of a patient MacArthur was. "First rate," was the quick reply. "You see, when an individual comes to the operating table, he is just like any other man to me. Their anatomy, as far as medical significance goes, are all the same." Asked if the general tried to tell him what to do, as he has so many soldiers over a long career, the doctor smiled and replied, "No, he didn't. I just told him, 'I'm the general now.'"

A bouquet to Lawrence Langner, head of the Theatre Guild. The other day he told the National Theatre that "in the last few years, too many reviewers have been guilty of condoning plays steeped in sexual decadence and mere corruption merely because the plays have been disguised under the mask of poetry or written with strong dramatic power by some of our most successful American playwrights."

Walking to the railroad station just after the recent 18-inch snow, I came upon a man lying in a drift beside the road. As I bent over him, other neighbors also walking to work because the usual forms of transportation were at a standstill, stopped to look at the man who had been walking too. We were debating as to whether to lift him out or not, since his eyes were closed, his face had a dark-ruddy hue, he lay quite still. Then a doctor happened along and examined the man, opening his shirt and listening for his heart, next opening one of his eyes and looking at the lid. The doctor turned away. I asked him if the man were alive. He shook his head.

Letters To The Editor

After nearly ten years of research I am about to complete work on a North Carolina gazetteer which will list and briefly describe the cities, towns and named communities; rivers and other creeks, and other bodies or streams; lakes, sounds, bays, rivers, streams of water; mountains; gaps; poosins and swamps; and other named geographical features in North Carolina. The main entry in every case will be under the present or last name of such feature, but I should like to know of former names which are no longer used or which ceased to be used. Features which no longer exist (such as towns which have been covered by lakes or for other reasons have gone out of existence, lakes which have been drained, fives which have closed, etc.) will be described and dates of their existence given whenever possible.

I also hope to explain the origin, meaning and derivation of the names, and in as many cases as possible to indicate when cities, towns and communities were first settled and when they were incorporated. I will be grateful to your readers for any information of this nature which they can supply. I should like them to distinguish between what they know for a fact and what is simply tradition handed down to them. Such information may be sent to me in care of the University of North Carolina Library. WILLIAM S. POWELL Chapel Hill.

AWKWARD . . . Until our State Constitution was amended a few years ago to fix it so that the General Assembly would convene on Wednesday after the first Monday in February, there was a natural flow of events from the inauguration of the Governor to the opening of the Legislature. When Uncle Sam decided to move the deadline for the collection of income taxes from March 15 to April 15, North Carolina and most other states having income taxes decided to follow through for fiscal conformity.

That was the real beginning of the rather awkward situation we have now with the Governor taking office in early January and the convening of the Legislature in early February. The inauguration came on Jan. 5. The Legislature will come to town for law-making on Feb. 8. When the State income tax filing date was moved to April 15, the legislators saw they would have to be in Raleigh from the first week in January until the latter part of April — almost four months — before they could get a clear picture of how the State's money was coming in. So they set up machinery so that the people could change Article II, Sec. 2 of the State Constitution and make it so the General Assembly would convene "on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in February next after their election, unless a different day shall be provided by law . . ."

The old State Constitution did not have the phrase "unless a different day shall be provided by law" in it. Thus the Legislature holds the trump card under the changed constitution and can really meet when it wants to. However, if it wanted to meet on any date this time except Feb. 8, provision for it should have been made by the 1959 General Assembly.

If it desires to convene in 1963 on another date than that provided in the State Constitution, it must pass a law to that effect during the session coming up.

MORE INFORMATION . . . Now that the State of North Carolina has the withholding tax, it will not be as necessary for us to wait until April 15 and later to see how our money is coming in. With the money for income taxes coming in regularly and steadily by the week and by the month — according to the payroll period — we are able to keep our finger closely on the financial pulse of the people. Therefore, do not be too much surprised if the 1961 Legislature uses the power provided it in the constitutional change and moves the convening date of the next regular legislative session after this one to a date earlier than "the first Wednesday after the first Monday in February."

TERM AND OATH . . . The awkward pause in our governmental processes did not occur four years ago. At that time Luther H. Hodges waited until the Legislature had come to town to be sworn in. As a matter of fact, the Legislature convened on Feb. 8 in 1957, with the inaugural ceremonies, the swearing-in, etc., coming on Feb. 7.

There was no trouble at that time because Luther Hodges was succeeding himself in office. But this time Terry Sanford could not ask Luther Hodges to stick around as Governor for another two months until the Legislature could begin business. For as a matter of constitutional fact Sanford's term of office began on New Year's Day last Sunday, but he didn't legally become qualified for the office until sworn in on Thursday. A nd Governor Hodges' term of office really began on Jan. 1, 1957, although he was not sworn in until some nine weeks later.

SENATE LEADER . . . Due to the fact that counties in some of the senatorial districts of North Carolina take turns in providing the State Senator for the district there is much turnover in the Upper House of our N. C. General Assembly.

However, one who has been here regularly and is becoming a power in the Senate is William Lunsford Crew, one of the two senators representing the Fourth Senatorial District comprised of Halifax and Edgecombe counties. Crew will be serving his fifth consecutive term in the State Senate. Because of the many factions in Halifax County, Crew had a hard time getting into the State Senate. It has not always been easy to hold the seat either, but hold it he has and with great influence and prestige for his people.

Only 43 years old, he is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina and an active Methodist. He was a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy from 1943 until 1946. His wife is the former Nancy Horney. They have two children — Nancy who is 18 and William Lunsford, Jr.

Keep an eye on Crew during the 1961 session, for he will be one of the most influential men in the State Senate.

DOWN A LOT . . . Well, how many Christmas cards did you get this year? We didn't keep count of ours — but reports we get from friends and otherwise indicate a sharp slackening off of Christmas card business. Some post offices say the mailing of Christmas cards has been going down steadily since 1958. But New Year cards are not so plentiful . . . so here's our message to you as we continue on the run: May peace, good health and happiness be yours in 1961.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: On account of the fellers at the country store being all wore out by the hard political campaign, they was relaxing Saturday night on such subjects as preachers and items that don't call for much argument.

One feller allowed as how folks was now picking a church with the most parking space and wasn't thinking about the preacher. Isaac Cornfodder said he would go along with this up to a certain point, but he allowed that folks was also considering the shortness of the sermon along with the parking space advantage.

And I wouldn't be surprised, Mister Editor, if in the next generation these things won't be as important to a heap of folks as what the preacher says in his sermons.

Me and you was raised up, I reckon, in the old school where the main thing was what the preacher had to say ever Sunday. Fer instant, the preacher we got now gives us a hard time and I doubt if he'd be very popular with the new generation. He told us Sunday that about one-fifth of us wore out the knees of our pants praying and the other four-fifths wore out the seat of our pants backsliding. Just between you and me, Mister Editor, I figure he's a little too hopeful about the first one-fifth. But he gives it to us straight from the shoulder and it's good for us. I'm feared the next generation is going to have plenty of parking space, be long on air conditioning and the shortness of the sermon and also a little short on honest-to-goodness religion.

From what Ed Doolittle was telling us Saturday night, his preacher bears down even harder than mine. Ed said his preacher took a peek at the collection plate the other Sunday and remarked that when he first come to that church he announced the pore folks was especial welcome ever Sunday. "After looking at the collection plate," he said, "I see they are all present this morning."

The fellers got off the subject of preachers and got to talking about our foreign policy. That's one thing can't nobody argue about on account of nobody knowing nothing about it. I was reading, fer instant, where the English say our foreign policy toward Cuba has got them confused. That's the first time in several year that the American people and the English people has been 100 per cent together on somepam.

Clim Webster brung the session to a close with a observation that them Congressmen ought to take in their hat. There ain't no excuse fer them not gitting together on our foreign policy. A bomb dropped on Washington will kill just as many Democrats as Republicans and vicer verser.

Yours truly, Uncle Dave made his $100,000,000 company into a household word in a new book by the first Fuller Brush man. He is Albert C. Fuller, 76, chairman of the Fuller Brush Company and he told his story to my old World War II Army friend, Hartzell Spence, the result of which is the volume, "A Foot in the Door" (McGraw-Hill). Fuller came from a Nova Scotia farm, was fired from his first three jobs, and took to making and selling brushes because he "had no choice . . . no one would hire me. I am devoid of the salesman's personality." Others in his company were failures elsewhere, like him, he says, and by dogged persistence and endless work unlike many of today's success stories, they made the grade — and your and my front door.

marked. "This country is ready for war but not ready for peace" . . . Louella Still, able copy editor of my book publisher, says that even under the keenest eyes, printing errors slip through. For example, she said that when the King James version of the Bible was first printed, ten of the best proof readers in England read the copy, and yet when the book appeared, there was an error in the first chapter of Genesis!

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
C. State Board of Public Welfare

(This is the third of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.)

What is aid to dependent children?

It is a money payment for needy dependent children who have been deprived of parental care and support because of the death, physical or mental incapacity, or continued absence from home of one or both parents—natural, step or adoptive.

Where can one obtain full information about this program?

From the county department of public welfare.

Who may apply for financial assistance under this program?

Any parent or relative who is providing parental care and guidance, including a home, for a needy dependent child.

What are the eligibility requirements?

The child must have been in North Carolina for one year prior to the date of application, or, if less than 1 year old, the parent or other relative with whom the child lives must have lived in North Carolina for one year prior to the birth of the child. The child must be without adequate means of support. The child must be under 18 years of age.

Who is responsible for providing the information in the application?

The individual who applies.

What information is necessary?

Proof of age of the children to be included in the payment, residence of the children, kinship of the children to the applicant, verification of the fact that the children have been deprived of care and support from one or both parents and that the applicant is maintaining a home for the children. The caseworker will help when the applicant has difficulty in getting the necessary information.

What is the responsibility of the applicant?

To supply correct and truthful information, to discuss with the caseworker the family situation from time to time in order to determine whether eligibility still exists, to notify the caseworker of any change in address or any other change in the situation such as an increase or decrease in needs or income.

Where does the money come from for the payments?

From Federal, State, and county funds.

FUNERALS

Thomas K. Benson, 50 Thomas Kimbrough Benson, 50, died at Davie County Hospital Friday, Dec. 30, after being seriously ill five days. He had been disabled for 20 years.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 4 p.m. at First Baptist Church by the Rev. J. P. Davis, the Rev. Wade Hutchins, and the Rev. Alvis Cheshire. Burial was in Rose Cemetery. Nephews served as pallbearers.

He was born May 29, 1910, in Davie County to Kimbrough and Bell Thomasson Benson.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Floyd Naylor with whom he lived, Mrs. Lester Keller of Mocksville and Mrs. Howard McLamb of Dunn; and four brothers, John G. Benson of Mocksville, Harold Benson of Mocksville, Rt. 2, Wallace Benson of Greensboro, and Bill Benson of Charlotte.

Health For All

(This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Davie-Yadkin Health Dept.)

We can eradicate TB from this country once and for all—if we act now. We know what we have to do—find all the people ill with TB and get them treated.

"It's now or never," Dr. Rene Dubos of New York's Rockefeller Institute, said at a press conference. "Conditions are at present favorable for the bold and decisive action that could virtually wipe out tuberculosis in this country because the general health of the nation is very good. But we can expect that more and more bacterial resistance to anti-tuberculosis drugs will develop. In 20 years it may be too late."

And that's the problem, the reason for the rush. Drugs that fight disease when they're first used sometimes fail to work after a while because the germs develop defensive tactics. If that happens with the TB germ before the thousands of people with active disease are found and treated, we shall have lost our best opportunity to wipe out this dread disease.

You can do your part. Get a tuberculin skin test to find out if any TB germs are present and, if the test is positive, get a chest X-ray to find out if the germs are doing any lung damage.

From Federal, State, and county funds.

THANK YOU...

As we watch the departure of the old year, we wish to express our profound appreciation for your thoughtfulness and patronage.

Harold F. Foster Named to Head March of Dimes

HAROLD F. FOSTER

Harold F. Foster today was named director of the 1961 New March of Dimes for Davie County.

The appointment was announced by Vernon Dull, Chairman of the county chapter of the National Foundation.

"The New March of Dimes already has made a substantial beginning in its expanded program of seeking to prevent birth defects and arthritis in addition to continuing to seek total control of paralytic polio," the new campaign director declared.

"The people of Davie County, through their splendid support of the March of Dimes for more than 20 years, have contributed substantially to a great health program that resulted in the Salk vaccine.

"The 1961 New March of Dimes offers opportunity for all of us to be a part of work aimed at prevention of still more of the great cripples that afflict so many millions of Americans today," he said.

"I am confident that the people of this county will continue to fight for better health for themselves and their children through the New March of Dimes, both as volunteer workers and through their contributions."

Mr. Foster has been Cooleemee Director of the March of Dimes for the last four years. Community Directors throughout the county will be chosen in the next few days he stated.

Davie Jayvees Top China Grove, 37-22

The Junior Varsity basketball team defeated China Grove last week 37-22.

Junior Beal scored ten points to lead the attack for the Junior Rebels. Wayne Myers, Ellis Leagans, Connie Shoffner, and Gary McDaniel each had 6. Harry Lee Howell played defensively.

The Jayvees will play East Rowan Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. at the Cooleemee gymnasium.

Coached by Jack Ward, the Jayvees are playing a full 14-game schedule this year.

DSA Banquet Is Thursday

Mocksville's outstanding young man of 1960 will be announced Thursday night of this week at the Jayvees' annual Distinguished Service Award Dinner to be held at the Rotary Hut.

Dr. Vic Andrews, chairman of the local DSA committee, said that the judges would announce at that time their selection of the young man, age 21-35, who in their opinion has contributed the most to the community during the past year.

Last year's winner was James G. Latham.

The local winner will be entered in the North Carolina Jayvee contest, which chooses the ten outstanding young men of the state. Those winners will in turn be entered in the national competition to determine the nation's 10 outstanding young men.

Al Harrison of Rocky Mount, immediate past-president of the North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the featured speaker.

Bobby Brown Injured When Truck Hits Car

Bobby Brown of Mocksville was seriously injured in a truck-car collision at the intersection of North Main and Poplar Streets around noon last Friday.

He suffered fractures of the left arm, left leg and ankle when the car which he was driving was hit in the side by a concrete-mixing truck owned by Shoaf Sand and Coal Company and operated by James Carlton Shoaf.

Chief of Police Joe Foster investigated the accident and charged Mr. Shoaf with failure to yield right of way. The accident occurred when the truck heading towards town, attempted to make a left turn into Poplar Street and struck the car driven by Brown on the door. The car was demolished.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE OFFERED . . . to Joe L. Smith (right) of Mocksville, Route 3, for his recent election to the board of Soil Conservation Supervisors of this district. Congratulating Mr. Smith is C. W. Phillips, chairman of the Davie County Board of District Soil Super-

Joe Smith Named SCS Supervisor

Joe L. Smith of Mocksville, Rt. 3, has been elected Soil Conservation Supervisor for Davie County. He will replace C. F. Barnhardt, whose term expired Dec. 13, 1960.

The voters in Davie County elected Mr. Smith for a three-year term which began Jan. 1.

A spokesman for the Soil Conservation Service said that the response from the eligible voters in the county was quite gratifying and appreciation was expressed to all who participated.

Soil Conservation Supervisors occupy a position of public office and public trust. As a member of the local board, Mr. Smith will assist in program planning, policy making and the carrying out of a Soil and water conservation program for Davie County.

Members of the county and district boards meet regularly with agricultural agency representatives and others interested in this program. District Supervisors are non-salaried officials, serving at their own expense and without compensation in the form of salary.

The Middle Yadkin District is a subdivision of the N. C. State Government organized under the provisions of the General Statutes of North Carolina. As such, supervisors have a responsibility to the people of the district they represent for planning and coordinating the conservation program.

Supervisors in Davie County are C. W. Phillips, David W. White, and Joe Smith.

Safety Patrol Given Rainwear By Moose Lodge

The Mocksville School Safety Patrol were presented with new rainwear uniforms last week by the Mocksville Moose Lodge.

J. S. Green, Governor of the local Moose Lodge, presented the uniforms to Roy P. Marsh, Principal of the Mocksville School. The uniforms consisted of yellow raincoats and rain hats for wear during inclement weather.

The local school safety patrol consists of 30 boys that are stationed to assist walking children in getting to and from school. They are under the supervision and training of State Highway Patrolman Roy Blalock and Principal Roy Marsh.

Nine of the patrol are on duty at a time. They are stationed at the intersection of Cherry and Main Streets and at Main and Poplar Streets. They also assist with the crossing at the intersection of Main and Galtier Streets.

The boys are selected for the safety patrol on the recommendation of the teachers.

The local school safety patrol was reorganized this year at the instigation of the PTA. Those attending the meeting at which the reorganization was effected included George Auman, Mrs. Jim Andrews, Mrs. Charles McCoy, Mrs. Bob Hall, Joe Foster and Roy Blalock.

The Masland Duraleather Company presented the patrol with materials to make "Stop" flags for the children to use at the crossings to stop traffic.

Rebels to Meet Wincoff Friday

The Davie County High School Rebels will meet the strong league leading Troutman team at the Cooleemee gymnasium, Friday evening. The first game will get underway at 7 p.m.

Troutman, boasting of perhaps the strongest boys' team in the North Piedmont Conference, beat Children's Home last Friday night, 66-35.

Last Friday night, the Rebels defeated East Rowan 35 to 24 in an exciting game, while a rally by the Rebels fell three points short as they lost 44 to 47.

Callie Bailey and Glenda Shelton led the attack for the Rebels with 16 and 15 points respectively. Linda Schladensky had 4 points.

Playing a very poor first half in which they scored only 13 points while East Rowan scored 24, the Rebels rallied in the last half to outscore East Rowan but fell three points short. Chuck Tomlinson led the Rebels with 13 points; John Grimes had 11; Jimmy Anderson 8; Benny Merrick 6; Billy Evans, 4; and Grimes Parker 2. Grimes and Tomlinson both fouled out during the final quarter.

Report Is Given On Seal Sale

The Davie County Tuberculosis Association wishes to express its heartfelt thanks to you and your readers for support of the 53rd annual Christmas Seal Sale.

You have given us a mandate to continue the fight until tuberculosis is under control in this community. The association pledges that it will do everything in its power to protect your homes from tuberculosis.

The fight has been a long one, but great progress has already been made. The older ones among you will remember the hopeless attitude about TB that prevailed half a century ago. Today there is hope — real hope for the defeat of TB. Medical science has had great success in preventing death from TB, less in preventing spreading of the disease from the sick to the well. In this part of the job, every citizen must cooperate.

In thanking you for your Christmas Seal contribution, may we also ask for your cooperation throughout the year in the TB control programs you have helped pay for. Have YOUR chest X-rayed. Read the literature on TB put out by the association, listen to its speakers. Urge your legislators to provide the necessary funds for public TB control facilities.

The total of Christmas Seal contributions received to date is $999.00! (Thirty per cent goes to the state.) Six per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis Association and comes back to us in services and in the results of the nationwide research programs. The balance remains in the county.

The total contributions in 1959 was $1,150.60. The sales in the 1960 campaign is short $151.00. Those of you who in the Christmas rush forgot to send in your contributions, do so today. It is never too late.

Miss Settle Weds Richard J. Brock

The wedding of Miss Dale Virginia Settle of Winston-Salem to Richard Joseph Brock of Farmington was solemnized in Winston-Salem in the Sprague Street Church of Christ at 4:30, Dec. 31, with her pastor, Rev. Evan Bolejack, officiating.

The church was decorated with ferns, baskets of white glads and two seven-tiered candelabras. Mrs. Charles Elliott, the church organist, rendered a program of wedding music on the organ. Miss Hilda Spillman, of Farmington, sang a solo, "I Love You Truly." Eugene Doherty, brother of the bride, and James Moses Brock, brother of the groom, were ushers.

The couple entered together unattended. The bride wore a waltz length white dress with a scoop neckline and a bouffant skirt designed and made by her mother. A crown of seed pearls held in place her elbow length illusion veil. In her hand she carried a ribboned corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Brock is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia B. Doherty of Winston-Salem and J. T. Settle Jr. of Waco, Texas. She is a graduate of James A. Gray High School and is presently employed in the office of Silbert and Wainer, Wholesale Jewelers, in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Brock is the son of Senator and Mrs. B. C. Brook, Sr. He is a graduate of the Farmington High School and is the leader of the Boy Scout Troop 501 He is employed in the Archer Aluminum Division of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

After the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brock with their mothers, Mrs. Doherty and Mrs. B. C. Brock, Eugene Doherty and James Brock, greeted the guests in the vestibule of the Church.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Brock are at home in north Farmington.

Those from here attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Brock, Sr. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lashley, Mrs. Nell H. Lashley, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Ellis, Billy Ellis, Mrs. D. For The People

By
BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
N.C. State Board of Public Welfare

[This is the fifth of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.]

How many members are on a county board of public welfare?
Three.

How are they appointed?
The board of county commissioners appoints one member who may or may not be one of their own number; the State Board of Public Welfare appoints one member. Then the two members thus appointed select the third member.

When are appointments made?
On or before the first day of July of the year in which the term of appointments expires.

How long do the members serve?

The terms of office are three years each. Prior service on a county board of public welfare does not disqualify any person for service, but no member is eligible to serve more than two successive terms.

Who selects the chairman of the board?

The county board of public welfare meets immediately after the appointment of its members and elects a chairman who serves for the term of his appointment. A notice of the chairman's election is then sent to the State Board of Public Welfare.

How often does the board meet?

The board meets with the county superintendent of public welfare at least once a month to handle public welfare matters in the county.

Can a board member have a relative on the county welfare board?

No. A person may not be employed in the county department of public welfare during the time a member of his immediate family is serving on the board. Also, board members should not have any near relative receiving financial assistance through the county department of public welfare.

What are the duties of the board?

To interpret the public welfare program to the citizens; to select the county superintendent of public welfare and determine his salary; to advise with the superintendent in regard to the total welfare program in the county; to act on all cases receiving assistance to determine eligibility for assistance, the amount of money payment, and the date such payments will begin; to work with the county superintendent in developing the annual administrative budget for the county department of public welfare for submission to the county board of commissioners; to advise on policies and plans for dealing with problems of delinquency and other social and economic problems in the county.

Frankie L. Martin Finishes 'Boot Camp'

Frankie L. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Martin of Mocksville, N. C., graduated from recruit training Dec. 17 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Social Security In Davie County

Social security benefits may now be paid to survivors of workers who died before January 1, 1940, if the worker had at least a year and a half of social security work when he died, says Mr. J. G. Liebenson, District Manager of the Social Security Administration.

Before the social security amendments of 1960, no monthly benefits were payable to the survivors of a worker who died before 1940.

Under the new law, if a worker had social security credit for at least a year and a half, benefits may now be payable to his widow (and dependent mother) if age 62 or older, to his dependent father at age 65, and to his disabled children if they became disabled before they reached age 18. This is true even if the family had collected the "lump sum" at the time the family breadwinner died.

Mrs. Francis Slate Speaks To AAUW

Mrs. Francis Slate of Mocksville, formerly of the Union of South Africa, told members of the Salisbury Branch of the American Association of University Women last Thursday that South Africa was so much like America that it would easily fit as a 51st state.

Speaking to the group at the regular meeting at Milford Hills Methodist Church, Mrs. Slate's discussion was part of AAUW's continuing study this year of "Africa—South of the Sahara."

There are more similarities between the Union of South Africa and this country than differences, she said. Showing pictures of Cape Town and other large cities, she indicated the likeness between them and large American towns.

The standard of living is high, but cost of living is low. The climate is even year round, with no extremes, and there is always an abundance of flowers which are sold in the streets. Foods are similar though there's a large variety in fruits.

Mrs. Slate interested the women in her discussion of the practice of polygamy and the description of the way in which wives are bought in exchange for cows. Education for girls is becoming more and more sought since an educated girl will bring a father more cows.

For the most part, Mrs. Slate dealt with the facts of everyday living and her experiences in Africa and touched very sparingly on political upheaval there.

She was introduced by Miss Julia Groves, international relations chairman. Miss Annie Boston, president, presided.

Miss Jeanette Current, Mrs. C. G. Bickers, Mrs. Ed Brown, and Dr. Nita Andrews were hostesses. Mrs. James Townsend was recognized as a new member and Mrs. R. C. Smith of Mocksville and Mrs. Victor Padrick of Salisbury.

Letters To The Editor

Editor
Davie County Enterprise-Record
Mocksville, N. C.
Gentlemen:

On behalf of the Fork Civic Club, I should like to thank all the folks throughout Davie County who helped us make a huge success of our Benson's Fruitcake Sales Campaign.

During October, November, and December 1960, we sold over 6,000 pounds of Benson's Old Home Fruitcakes. This project was started in 1958 when we ordered 100 cakes.

Much of the proceeds of this campaign will go toward future development of the Fork Recreation Center. This Center was booked 48 times during the summer of 1960, plus numerous other occasions not requiring reservations. We hope everyone will take the opportunity to use it much more this year.

We now have a franchise for Davie County and look forward to serving all the folks again in 1961.

Sincerely,
K. M. Bailey

More About Farmington Center

School of Missions and Social Work, Louisville, Ky.

Dr. and Mrs. Weathers have two sons: Bailey Graham Weathers III, age 2½; and David Gardner Weathers, age 12 months.

Dr. Weathers has signed an agreement with the Farmington Medical Center, Inc. to utilize the new office building. This new building is of brick and masonry construction and includes a waiting room, a doctor's office, laboratory, two examining rooms. It is located on one acre of land donated by Mrs. W. E. Kenan.

Under the terms of the agreement, Dr. Weathers will lease this building for one year and has contracted to buy the building and lot on or before the end of that year at cost. The contract also provides that if Dr. Weathers wants to dispose of the building within 25 years, the Farmington Medical Center will have the first option to buy said building at the price covering Dr. Weathers' investment.

Mr. Essie, in announcing the agreement, revealed that the Farmington Medical Center, Inc., has arranged to buy two more acres of land . . . 1½ acre tract north of the present lot and half an acre behind the lot. Mr. Essie said that the organization hoped to utilize the money from the sale of the present office building to build an office for a dentist.

The idea of the establishing of a medical center for the Farmington Community was initiated by the Pine Grange in 1958. Later that year the corporation was formed and actual construction of the building began in 1959.

Funds were raised by the sale of stock which brought in $5,220 and from donations, suppers, events, etc., which brought in $3,688.70. A bank loan of $4,500 provided the remaining necessary funds.

Mr. Essie said that the corporation would appreciate further stock purchases and donations towards this medical center.

"We need to install a sewage disposal system and enclose the back porch," said Mr. Essie.

In addition to Mr. Essie, the president, other officers include: Wade Grace, vice-president; W. K. Hamrick, secretary; and Reid Hauser, treasurer. Other directors include Miss Vada Johnson, Mrs. O. R. Allen, Scrip Roberts, Lawrence West, and Mrs. Roland

The Farmington Medical Center

A GOAL ACHIEVED...

Early in 1958 The Pino Community Grange kicked off an idea of building a medical center for the Farmington Community.

In August of that same year a group of interested citizens banded together and formed the Farmington Medical Center, Inc.

Through the sale of stock in the corporation, a total of $5,220 was raised. Donations, that included the proceeds from suppers and other events, brought in $2,668.70 more.

the corporation the needed funds and a modern brick and masonry building was erected.

This week in another story is the announcement that Dr. Bailey Graham Weathers, Jr. of Stanley, North Carolina has made arrangements with the Farmington Medical Center, Inc. to utilize this building and practice medicine in that area.

The people of the Farmington Community can well be proud of this accomplishment. The fulfillment of any worthwhile goal is something of which all participants can take pride.

The South and A Century Ago

When South Carolina triggered the secession of Southern States a century ago, the Nation was in a period of progress and prosperity.

Politically, the months were violent preceding South Carolina's withdrawal from the Union on December 20, 1860. The North and South had split into two armed camps, with opinion hardened on the issues of slavery and secession.

But the prewar period also was a time of technical innovation, the National Geographic Society says.

A revolutionary marvel, home electric lighting, had been successfully demonstrated. A New York hotel, to the consternation of many guests, had installed the first passenger elevator.

During the summer of 1860, the Great Eastern, then the biggest ship afloat, made its maiden voyage from England to New York. The Pony Express was braving Indians to speed mail to and from the West Coast.

The United States Congress enacted a bill to establish the Government Printing Office, which was to become the largest printing establishment in the world.

In the field of fashion, a new type of steel hoop lightened the burden of women's floor-sweeping skirts. Men's haircuts cost about 12 cents.

South Carolina, with a nonslave population of 291,000, particularly was enjoying prosperity. Ships sailed from her ports with cargoes of rice, cotton, and indigo, returning with silver, furniture, silks, books, and other luxuries.

South Carolina's Low Country was a mosaic of rich plantations in a romantic setting of majestic rivers, yellow-green marches, magnolias, cypress, and pine, of avenues of live oak bearded all over with gray moss.

Plantation life, with its chivalric tournaments, deer hunts and horse races, barbecues, and stately balls, was gracious. But it was far from indolent.

"It would be impossible," wrote plant-er-novelist William Gilmore Simms to a Northern friend in 1857, "to give you any just idea of the thousand interests & objects demanding constant care, watch, thought, and variety of resource, which flow from the charge of 70 negroes, and the cultivation of 600 acres of land; these involving the use of 20 horses, half a score of wagons, as many of carts, a blacksmith shop, a carpenter's, cotton gin, screw threshing houses, and heaven knows what all besides."

Many plantation families spent summers in Charleston, the State's oldest city, or Beaufort. They maintained handsome town houses of brick or wood, usually with spacious piazzas to catch the sea breeze.

Charleston impressed an Englishman, traveling in the South during the great plantation era, as one of America's first cities and "one in which the conveniences of luxury are most to be met with."

Not long before the winds of war were to blow away peace and prosperity, the young mistress of Belvedere plantation confided, in a letter to a friend, "We intended going to Charleston next week but I feel rather doubtful about it. . . I would be sorry to give up the trip for the beau-pere has engaged rooms for us at the Charleston Hotel. I couldn't go at a better time for the beau-pere will have his carriage and horses and servants there. . ."

The New Day

Terry Sanford was inaugurated Governor of North Carolina last Thursday and proclaimed a "New Day" for North Carolina.

But Governor Sanford pointed out that this "New Day" would not be possible just because he proclaimed it, but would be possible only because the people of North Carolina wanted it.

Governor Sanford has more right to feel that he has his fingers on the pulse of the people of this state to a greater extent than any Governor to take office in this century. For no other Governor has waged three strenuous campaigns in one year for this office, and in each case piling up a record number of votes.

And, Terry Sanford went directly to the people when he was laying out the platform on which to run for Governor. His contacts with the people throughout the State developed the picture that there was a great concern for top quality public education for the children of North Carolina. . . and it was on this that Governor Sanford based his campaign and went to the people.

Governor Terry Sanford will present a new and dynamic program for the State of North Carolina. However, to enact this program he will need the help and cooperation of the citizens. He asked for this help in his inaugural address last Thursday.

"North Carolina is on the move and we intend to stay on the move," said Governor Sanford. "We must continue to move ahead in quality education by sacrifice if necessary, moving into the mainstream of the nation under the leadership of the new Kennedy Administration, moving ahead in agriculture, in industrial development, in the treatment of the mentally ill and deficient, in the care of the physically ill, the old, the dependent, in highway safety, in transportation facilities, and the like."

"If we work together for the common good, then all things are possible", said Governor Sanford.

The next four years will be challenging ones. Our response to these challenges . . . our willingness to sacrifice . . . will determine how far North Carolina will go forward into this "New Day".

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Sleep is the most important thing in every person's life. At least that is the statement in the introduction to a lively and interesting little book I have come across.

The book is entitled, "Sleep: How To Get More Of It," by Chapman Pincher of the London Daily Express, and is dedicated to "Patricia and Michael who have often kept me awake." He is a professional biologist who specializes in the interpretation of scientific and medical discoveries.

WASHINGTON — There is a tremendous interest in the inaugural of President-Elect Kennedy. A large delegation from North Carolina will attend the ceremonies which surround this great event.

For the best type of mattress, he recommends a latex one with the same kind of pillow. He likes flannel sheets, this preference doubtless coming from his damp British environment. A human being can go without food much longer than he can go without sleep, says the author.

In summing up the book, Journalist Pincher says: "Shed your worries before you shed your clothes, such as spending half an hour slowing down from the pace of the day before retiring. Avoid watching television right up to the time you retire, or solving difficult problems until the last minute, if you wish to sleep well."

It is advised that you keep your bedroom as completely dark as possible, because light affects the brain even when you are asleep. Your sense of hearing only does when the rest of your body is asleep, so that dripping faucet or thumping pipes or similar noises should be taken care of.

on cold nights, says this damp-cold-conscious Englishman. See that the bed is properly made even if it means remarking it. Never count sheep, as this involves visual images which stimulate the brain and keep you awake. Try doing without that after lunch nap. Relax all your muscles when you go to bed.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — There is a tremendous interest in the inaugural of President-Elect Kennedy. A large delegation from North Carolina will attend the ceremonies which surround this great event.

INAUGURATION — Inauguration ceremonies are, according to custom, conducted on a specially constructed platform over the central stairway of the east front of the Capitol. Workmen daily are putting the finishing touches to the construction of this platform.

Immediately upon taking the oath of office, President Kennedy will deliver his inaugural address and then will lead the most colorful of all parades in America down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House.

NEW ADMINISTRATION — President-Elect Kennedy may not have a Rooseveltian mandate, but he has a working knowledge of both the Senate and the House. He has a reservoir of many of the matters that he has proposed. I do not know what exact forms legislation will take in specific areas since the new administration has not submitted its program to the Congress.

HODGES — It was a delight to me to see President-Elect Kennedy give North Carolina recognition in the selection of former Governor Luther H. Hodges to be his Secretary of Commerce.

Doing good deeds is like being up in a plane — when you stop, you drop.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: These column writers say John Kennedy ain't got as strong a hankering fer golf as Ike. When Hoover was in the White House he said there ain't but tw occasions when the American people has got any respect fer a President's privacy—when he's fishing and when he's praying.

I think our new President would show a heap of wisdom if he took up fishing. He might get a little privacy, and next to setting on a nail keg and whittling on a soft piece of pine, there ain't nothing better suited fer deep thinking.

From what I see by the papers, the country is getting off to a normal start fer the new year. Even in Washington things is normal. Some chemist in the Department of Agriculture has announced that onions is bad fer the liver and that turnip greens has the same food value as boll-hay. It's good to know them Government agencies is working on important items and earning their pay. It takes 10 years to learn a kid to eat his spinach real good and the noble onion fer a couple centuries but it takes one of them fellers in the Agriculture Department only two paragraphs to write the obituary fer the both of them.

And the fellers at the country store has about got back to normal. Nobody brung up Quemo, Matsu and our foreign prestige at the session Saturday night. They was discussing mostly local and family problems. Clem Webster, fer instans, was giving his excuse fer missing church Sunday. Clem allowed as how the soap folks has developed them detergents to the place his old lady is getting his Sunday shirt so white he can't stand the glare. He said he had to take it off Sunday morning, just couldn't stand it, and without no Sunday shirt, he couldn't git to preaching.

Ed Doolittle brung up the subject of barns. He said he took a trip last week and as he was riding along the road he was struck with one fact. The barns is getting smaller and smaller. Ed allowed as how it used to be that a barn was really somepun to look at but now the new ones ain't big enough to hide a good-sized heifer. Zeke Grubb blamed this sad state of affairs on the wimmen. He said he'd heard his Grandpa claim many a time that when you come to a place where the house was bigger than the barn you was looking at a place where the wife was the boss. There ain't no place like the country store, Mister Editor, fer learning these little inside facts of life.

Yours truly, Uncle Dan

Battle of the Bulge — Liquid Division

For several months now, hopeful fatties all over the country have been mixing a powdered food concentrate with water and drinking their meals. One day's ration contains only 900 calories. Anyone who sticks to the daily ration of the liquid mixture is bound to lose weight.

Any person who is overweight should not attempt to diet without a doctor's supervision. The same goes for anyone with kidney, heart or blood vessel disease. And you might not know about such illness without a doctor's examination.

There's no magic in the food concentrates. If you ate no more than 900 calories a day of anything — even chocolate ice cream with hot fudge — you'd lose weight. However, you might not be on a balanced diet. The better concentrates — check your brand name with your doctor — do contain adequate amounts of protein, fat, carbohydrate, vitamins, and minerals. What's more, they do the calorie-counting for you. No chance to cheat.

Remember the food concentrate is not a slimmer. It won't do a thing for your waistline if you use it in addition to your regular menu. But as a substitute, it can take off poundage as long as you stay with it.

If you want to lose five or ten pounds, the food concentrate deal has its points. But it's not meant for long-term dieting.

Doing good deeds is like being up in a plane — when you stop, you drop.

It Pays To Advertise

CREDIT FOR TWO — The State Capital of North Carolina was hungering for just such events as we had here for about 48 hours last week.

For a city of our size, we are blessed with events. We have the State Fair each year, the Dixie Classics, the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, the Debutante Ball, Art and Literary Week, the State Democratic Convention, the Jefferson-Jackson Day event, etc., etc., but nothing quite comes up to the inaugural ceremonies and the formal installation of our State officials.

It had been eight long years since Raleigh had been host to a good solid inauguration.

Oh, yes, we had one four years ago — but it was so different. Then we had Luther H. Hodges, new Governor, succeeding Luther H. Hodges, retiring Governor. We just weren't used to anything like that around here. We felt a little ill at ease, because no Governor had succeeded himself in office in North Carolina before in our lifetime.

There was no ring-out-the-old-ring-in-the-new spirit and — to make matters worse—nobody present had ever witnessed a regular inauguration in any month other than January. It always had dovetailed so nicely into Christmas and New Year's to-do's and celebrations. This one four years ago came on February 7.

But last week everything was perfect—and Raleigh really enjoyed it.

We had a new—and the youngest in 50 years—Governor taking over; and at the same time we were sending our retiring man off to Washington, D. C., as Secretary of Commerce with the bright-and-shining Democratic administration.

Much of the success of last week's Raleigh doings is due to two participants:

- 1. The Weather Man. 2. John R. Jordan, Jr. of Raleigh, general chairman of the Inaugural Committees.

The weather could not have been better if it had been ordered and tailored to measure. It was clear, as it had been for several days, and the temperature was the highest it had been since away before Christmas. There was no wind, no clouds.

And, as for John Jordan — who won't become 40 until the 18th of this month—he was pretty nearly perfect, too.

Wake County's State Senator, now in his second term, not only was the overall chairman for the event, but presided at the ceremonies at which time his old sidekick was installed as Governor. Take our word for it—nobody could have done it better.

Jordan, native of Winton, performed like a veteran, had authority in his voice, and the ring of responsibility in what he had to say.

The celebrities headed for the stage were supposed to arrive and move down the aisle at Memorial Auditorium in an orderly, soldierly manner. Most of them did—but long after the martial, pomp-and-circumstances music stopped, here came other doves tramping stageward without rime or reason. But this was no fault of Jordan or his helpers. It was just one of those things that happen when you endeavor vainly to get a crowd to act as efficiently as a machine.

We don't know where John Jordan is heading for — but it certainly isn't toward private life — and we have a sneaking suspicion he will go to Washington if and when Harold D. Coolidge decides to give up the Fourth District seat he has held since 1934.

Yes, other than the fact that the parade was really too long—few other than the officials and the legislators actually stayed for all of it — there was nothing wrong with inaugural ceremonies.

It was good, too, for Raleigh — now right at 100,000 people and growing industrially — to realize that she was raised on government and is at her very best when in the midst of it.

PLANNING AHEAD — Only one or two of the 170 men and women who compose our N. C. General Assembly were not here for a while last week.

The Democrats had their caucus — and there were no surprises.

That done, each member got down to the business of trying to find out what committee — or committee chairmanship — he might get come February 8.

Next came the business of finding a definite place to stay.

It looks as if about 80 per cent of the legislators will be staying at these places — in the order of their numbers: Hotel Sir Walter, Andrew Johnson Hotel, and Hotel Carolina.

So, although the inauguration came weeks before the convening of the Legislature, the hours spent here by the people who will do the lawmaking were not wasted by any means.

Incidentally, we wrote here last week about how the Legislature if it so desires can move the convening date for the 1963 session back to January. This same idea was touched on by Rep. Sam Whitehurst of Craven County and other representatives while they were in Raleigh last week.

Whitehurst said he would introduce legislation to move the date back to January — and we think he will find good support for the change. Final decision will likely be left with Governor Sanford and his advisors. If they think well of the plan, the Legislature will adopt it. If not, the date will remain "the first Wednesday after the first Monday in February".

UNUSUAL — As a usual thing, North Carolina has living several ex-Governors. But until last week we had not one, having lost former Governors Gregg Cherry and Kerr Scott in quick succession.

When Dwight D. Eisenhower moves into private life now in a few days, we will have three living past presidents: Durable Herbert Hoover, Rambunctious Harry Truman, and Old Soldier Ike Eisenhower.

It is as unusual for the United States to have three living ex-presidents as for our State to have only one living ex-Governor.

ABOUT TAXES — An unusual economic item or utterance moved across the wires at almost the same time last Thursday. In his inaugural address, Gov. Terry Sanford said if it takes new taxes for his educational program, he would ask for them — or words to that effect. He got a good round of applause for it, too. But at almost the same hour in Washington, Kennedy advisors said Uncle Sam might cut taxes for a spell if we don't soon climb out of the current recession.

TEXT: "To be a success — do what you like doing" — Cyrus S. Eaton

"A man has just called," a secretary told her boss. "He wants you to tell him the secret of your success in life."

"Of course," replied the executive. "Then he added cautiously, 'Is he a journalist or a detective?'"

Many books have been written on how to be successful. However, the formula for success is simple. You can memorize it in a moment. The formula may not bring you wealth, but it will bring you success. Cyrus Stephen Eaton said it briefly, "To succeed, be your own psychoanalyst. Ask yourself, 'What do I like doing?' Then keep on doing what you like and you'll go to town." A refinement on that advice is given by Marcus Bach, "There are things you can do better than anyone else. The successful person is simply the one who does his best with the things he can do better than anyone else." The things you like to do are the things you can do better than anyone else.

Too many of us are in vacations we cannot change. We never really succeed. With the courage and determination to do what we like and to keep on doing it, successful living is certain. Try it.

Central Telephone Now Has 60,000 Telephones

A significant milestone in the growth and development of Central Telephone Co. in North Carolina was reached at Leaksville, N. C. on Dec. 16, 1960, when the company installed their 60,000th telephone in North Carolina.

Leaksville Group Manager, John R. Redman, commenting on the installation said, "We are particularly pleased that we could install our 60,000th telephone in North Carolina, here in Leaksville at the home of G. L. Dallas. Our growth in this area has been very good and we look forward to even better growth in the future. We will continue our best efforts to provide modern and efficient telephone service."

Central Telephone Co. was incorporated on March 1, 1931. From a beginning with 5,300 telephones in 19 communities, the company has grown to one of the nation's larger independent operating companies with more than 323,000 telephones connected to 161 exchanges in seven states.

The North Carolina Division of Central Telephone Company, with headquarters at Hickory, operates 25 exchanges serving 60,000 stations. Some of the cities and towns served by Central are Hickory, Asheboro, Lenoir, Elkin, North Wilkesboro, Mount Airy, and Mocksville.

"TOM THUMB WEDDING" "Tiny Tot" Teresa Dalton and "Tom Thumb" Dennis West spoke their "vows" Tuesday evening, December 13, 1960, at seven-thirty o'clock in the Shiloh Baptist Church. The "Rev." Jerry (Jody) Isaac officiated.

Miss Odessa Newsome, of South Mocksville, presented a program of wedding music, accompanied by Miss Pecola Allison. Miss Newsome sang "O Perfect Love" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride wore a floor-length dress of white organdy and lace. The fitted bodice had lace edgings. The skirt was designed of ruffles. The train-length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of "carnations" embellished with "seed pearls." She carried a cascade arrangement of red roses.

Miss Marsha Lewis of Piney Grove was maid of honor. She wore an emerald green broadcloth dress made with a round neckline and pilgrim collar, full skirt with a white net overskirt and a sash with floor length streamers. Her hat was made of tinted green and white "carnations" and she carried a cascade arrangement of the same.

Bridesmaids were Miss Darnel Dalton, of Turrentine, cousin of the bride; Misses Shanlon Hudson, Valria and Carolyn Mayfield, classmates of the bride, Miss Jane Clement friend of the bride, Salisbury, North Carolina. Their dresses were identical to that of the honor attendant and they carried red, green and white "carnations" cascading with fern leaves. Their picture hats were of halo shaped lace adorned with green and silver Christmas ornaments.

Sharon Anderson of Downtown Mocksville, and Thomasina Gaither, North Mocksville, were flower girls. Junior bridesmaids: Deborah Barker, and Gloria Jones of North Mocksville. Avis Anderson, Downtown Mocksville was ringbearer. Their dresses were designed like those of the senior maids, except theirs were red with sequinned net coverskirts. Their picture hats were red and halo shaped.

Robbin Johnson and Michael Gaither were train bearers. James Campbell, Jr., Advance, was best man.

Ushers were Bruce Isaac, Wayne Smoot, Michael Cody, Stevie Dulin and Thomas Campbell of Downtown Mocksville.

PREACHERS AND HENS LET NO ONE FORGET. Everyone in town knows me. I don't need to advertise. (A merchant talking). Everyone in town DOESN'T know him and if they did they would still forget what he has for sale. "That is why hens cackle and preachers ring church bells. To remind the people what they already know." People move to town, children grow up and get married, people die and new families take their place. People in the market for headware this week, may want a floor lamp next week. The merchant is selling a passing parade. He doesn't realize that his store looks like any other store on the street, to the customer. Dairy Feed Costs

During the past couple of months we have heard much about different commercial feeds and the value of the different feeds that salesmen are selling in the county. There is only one practical way of figuring the total digestible nutrients that an animal is able to get from the feed. If a feed is made up of corn, oats and barley you would get the total digestible nutrients for the complete bag of feed. We here in our office took some commercial feeds and figured the price that you were paying for total digestible nutrients, and on some feeds you were paying for total digestible nutrients and one some feeds you were paying almost twice as much as you were on other feeds. In buying feed, farmers should always figure the price they are paying for the nutrients and protein, and for all practical purposes when you have figured this you have the value of the feed.

Dairy Meeting
Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 1 p.m. Davie County Office Building. Color slides will be used to illustrate the various labor saving methods of feeding silage, hay, and grain. "Automation on a Dairy Farm" will be one topic for the afternoon. Since we have so many farmers that are remodeling the dairy operation, considerable time will be given to different methods of remodeling dairy operations. Dr. Stewart will spend approximately 45 minutes to one hour discussing the different forage crops in North Carolina.

Livestock Meeting
Tuesday, Jan. 21, at 1:30 p.m.—Livestock meeting on producing quality feeder calves and the management of the beef herd will be topics of the discussion for this meeting. All people that are producing feeder calves should make every effort to attend this livestock meeting.

Grain School
A grain school will be conducted on Feb. 27, at 2 p.m. Grain production, storing of grain and insect and rodent control will be covered in the discussions of this meeting.

GROWERS URGED TO SUBMIT WHEAT REPORTS EARLY

Wheat farmers are being urged to help simplify the wheat performance check this year, according to L. G. Miller, Chairman of the Davie ASC County Committee. By reducing the necessary field work, he explains, much time and money can be saved through farmers' cooperation in promptly completing and returning their wheat acreage post card reports.

The double post cards soon will be mailed to wheat growers by the County ASC Office. The cards will ask farmers to report the acreage of wheat seeded for grain in 1961, the wheat acreage for cover, and whether the farmer intends to apply for a 1961 wheat price-support loan.

Farmers will give this information accurately and return County Office, it will eliminate delay to the ASC many otherwise necessary farm visits. Last year, for example, in North Carolina the use of the post card eliminated many thousands of farm visits. Widespread cooperation on the part of wheat farmers this year could result in saving many thousands of dollars performance costs.

TREE PLANTING AN ACP PRACTICE

This is a good year for Tarheel farmers to consider planting trees as a conservation practice, according to the chairman of the ASC County Committee.

According to figures furnished by the State Forester a good supply of seedlings will be available for planting this year. Nationally, the U. S. Forest Service estimates there will be between two and two-and-half billion trees available for planting from state, private and industrial nurseries.

Almost all of these seedlings will be produced in state nurseries, ies, the Forest Service reports.

Farmers who want cost-sharing assistance in planting trees as a conservation practice are urged to make their requests as soon as possible. The county ASC office is accepting applications now. Under the ACP Program the federal government shares the cost of tree planting for conservation. Costs are shared between farmers and the government on land preparation, cost of planting stock, and the actual planting costs.

PREMEASUREMENT OF ACREAGE AVAILABLE

Premeasurement of tobacco and cotton acreage is again available to farmers in Davie County. By having their acreage measured before the crop is planted the farmer can be sure of getting the right amount planted. In order to get this service the farmer must put in his request between January 2 and February 15th. The charge for premeasurement is the larger of $3.00 per farm plus $1.00 per acre or $8.00 per farm.

ACP SIGN-UP

The initial ACP sign-up period will be held from January 16th through January 31st. Farmers who plan on carrying out soil building practices this spring should stop by our office during this period and request cost-sharing.

MORE CONSERVATION NEEDED IN 1961

Tarheel farmers have an opportunity in 1961 for making better use of their Agricultural Conservation Program than ever before, according to L. G. Miller, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee. With a continued need to shift production of some acreage of soil depleting crops farmers have unequalled opportunity to use the Agricultural Conservation Program in the seeding of grasses and legumes. In doing this, cooperating farmers will not only be helping to bring production in balance but they will be building reserves in the soil to meet future needs.

The seeding of grasses and legumes is only a part of the job of most effective conservation. The 1961 ACP Program also contains practices providing for the application of liming materials on farmland, contour strip-cropping, forest tree planting, construction of farm ponds for livestock water or irrigation, construction of sod waterways and several others.

To help farmers use the program to the best advantage, elected farmer-committeemen are available in every farming community. Miller urges all farmers to use these men in analyzing the conservation needs on their farm. "Conservation can be the salvation of farmers in their time of need," he said. "They should all go by their local ASC office, discuss their conservation needs with the personnel there, and if their needs can be met through the program, they should sign the necessary papers on that visit."

FARMERS SHOULD APPLY FOR GRAIN LOANS EARLY

Farmers who intend to avail themselves of a price support loan through their local ASC county committee should not wait until the final date to make application for the loan. According to L. G. Miller, Chairman of the ASC Committee of Davie County, the final date for obtaining price support loans on all 1960 grain crops except corn is January 31, 1961.

The final date for obtaining price support loans on 1960 crop corn is February 28, 1961. According to Miller, the necessary documents must be completed and in the county ASC office not later than the 'deadline date. These documents include the producer's note and loan agreement for warehouse-storage loans, the producer's note and supplemental loan agreement and the Commodity Chattel Mortgage for farm-storage loans, and the Purchase Agreement for Purchase Agreements.

Although loan applications may be accepted until the deadline, there might be some reason why the necessary documents could not be completed immediately; therefore the entire transaction must be completed by the deadline in order for a farmer to be eligible for a loan on his crop. In case of farm storage loans it sometimes takes up to two weeks to complete all transactions involved. This is due to the fact that a representative of the ASC county office is required to visit the farm to make an inspection and take a sample. This sample must be sent to the State Laboratory for grading and the grade certificate returned to the ASC office before the loan documents can be completed.

Price support loans on grains bear interest at 3 1/2 percent per annum from the date of disbursement. Interested farmers are asked to visit the ASC office for support rates on their commodity and other information regarding the availability of loans or purchase agreements.

INFORMATION ON WHEAT ACREAGE

A double post card has been mailed to all wheat producers in the county requesting information relative to the 1961 crop of wheat. It is very important that these cards be returned to the County office as early as possible in order that we may plan our performance work.

Relatives Of Local Man Are Injured In Wreck

Frank Fowler has received word of an accident in which his father, A. A. Fowler, and his sister and brother in law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Law, were injured on Christmas night.

Mrs. Law was driving the car involved in the wreck which happened on the way from Miami, Fla., to the Laws' home in Hialeah. Another car struck their car.

Mrs. Law received four broken ribs and her nose was broken. Mr. Law is in critical condition and has not regained consciousness.

Mr. Fowler is also in critical condition, the extent of his injuries not being known as yet.

miles between lubrications

30,000 is the most famous number of the year. It's every '61 Ford owner's license to save. How can Ford do it? Conventional chassis lubrication fittings have been replaced with metal plugs that help protect each lubrication point against abrasive mud, dirt and dust. And then, for only about $4 and about 20 minutes your Ford is ready for another 30,000! This is just one of the many ways the '61 Ford is built to take care of itself. Your Ford Dealer can show you more.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes) because Ford has replaced conventional grease fittings with a sealed-in lubrication system.

Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes because Ford's Full-Flow oil filter gives you filtration through fibers... trapping more dirt than any other type of filter made.

Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Luster Finish and it continues to gladden like new. It never needs waxing.

This "linear City" extends 300 miles through the Piedmont Carolinas. Here industry finds excellent cultural and research facilities—with rivers, fields and woods for industrial "back yards." It is one of the richest areas in the nation in home-owning, farm-based labor. Its urban consumer buying power is the highest in the South. Though it is one of the fastest growing areas in America, its people are not crowded into a few large centers. Scores of thriving towns and smaller cities offer plant sites in a rural or suburban setting, and are ready to meet the specific requirements of most industry.

In this 20,000 square mile area, electric service is available wherever it is needed, at rates among the lowest in the nation. Let our location engineers make a complete and specific survey to meet your particular needs.

ASC News

PROTECT YOUR COTTON ALLOTMENT

Cotton farmers in Davie County should ask themselves whether or not they want to maintain their cotton history and allotment.

Farmers who know now that their allotment will not be planted are urged to visit the ASC office and preserve their history by releasing their allotment for use by other farmers within the county.

Prices for flue-cured tobacco from discount varieties will be one-half the support rates for comparable grades of other varieties in 1961.

This is a continuation of the variety discount program that was operated this year by ASC, according to L. G. Miller, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee.

ly of a farmer unknowingly planting a discounted variety, farmers should procure their seed only from reliable sources.

According to the State Office, the quota of 1,212 million pounds converted to acres, results in 715,617 acres available for allotment in 1961.

In a referendum December 15, 1958, a total of 96 percent of the State's flue-cured tobacco growers voted in favor of quotas through 1961.

Marketing quotas have been in effect for flue-cured tobacco every year since enactment of the Agricultural Act of 1938 except for 1939, when they were discontinued by growers.

All wheat farmers have received a post card requesting information about their planted acreage of wheat. It is important that they fill these cards out and return them to the ASC Office.

The ACP sign-up period for requesting Spring practices is now being held in the ASC Office. The sign-up period will run through January 31st.

In order to avoid the possibility of a farmer unknowingly planting a discounted variety, farmers should procure their seed only from reliable sources.

We Fight Tuberculosis In Davie County

TB is an infectious disease, caused by a germ.

Tuberculosis can be prevented—let an estimated 400,000 Americans have active TB, and North Carolina and Davie County have their proportionate shares.

These are the facilities—N. C. Sanatorium, McCain with 614 beds; Western N. C. Sanatorium, Black Mountain with 503 beds; Eastern N. C. Sanatorium, Wilson, with 704 beds; and Gravelly Sanatorium, Chapel Hill with 98 beds.

Modern treatment has materially shortened the necessary length of stay in the hospital for many patients.

Davie County TB Association is contributing to North Carolina's Tuberculin Testing Pilot Study. Christmas Seal funds support the medical and social research program administered by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Local associations are also contributing to a research fund for special research work in North Carolina.

Report From Davie

Report from Davie County Health Center—Number of patients from Davie County in Sanatoriums as of Dec. 31, 1960, four; number discharged during 1960, two TB and two non-TB; number at home on drugs, three; No. of chest x-rays taken at Health Center in 1960, 624; new cases sent in to the Health Department in 1960, one; and number of skin tests taken in December, 48.

Chest x-rays are done on all positive skin tests, contacts of tuberculosis patients, and referrals from private physicians. The local TB Association pays for all films used in chest x-rays. A new program was inaugurated in December to give Tuberculin skin tests at the Health Center each Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Health For All

(This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Davie-Yadkin Health Dept.)

$260,000,000 MARKET $250,000,000! That's the amount spent every year by arthritis victims for quick treatments that can't possibly do them any good.

There are two main forms of arthritis: Rheumatoid arthritis — attacks the connective tissues which hold organs, bones, and muscles together.

Osteoarthritis — the arthritis of advancing years, common to almost all people over fifty.

While a doctor cannot cure rheumatoid arthritis, he can control it. Prompt medical treatment, begun at the first warning signs, can reduce pain and crippling for most patients. With osteoarthritis, a doctor can prescribe treatment for the stiffness, and drugs for the pain. Nobody who promises a cure for either form of arthritis can possibly deliver. Drugs, diets, devices and treatment centers advertised as "cures" are worthless at the best, and can be downright dangerous.

If you would not be forgotten as soon as you are dead, either write things worth reading, or do things worth writing.

Donations to the 'New March of Dimes' Will Help Prevent Crippling Diseases

Millions of families throughout the United States this month have received March of Dimes "mailers."

If the millions on the receiving end of this gigantic mail operation coast-to-coast and in Hawaii and Alaska have not already done so, now is the time to return the familiar envelope with a donation to the county March of Dimes chapter, local leaders urged this week. The world's largest voluntary health organization is seeking to prevent crippling diseases, with its sights set at birth defects and arthritis and at continued work in polio.

These mailers, which reproduce the campaign theme, "Prevent Crippling Diseases—Please Say Yes to the New March of Dimes," were addressed in great part by selfless volunteers who, by combing through telephone and other directories, were able to "spot" just about every family in their county. Addresses of new homes, not included in telephone books, were obtained by these volunteers from real estate boards, tax lists, from other official records, and from chambers of commerce.

Hopefully, each of the 44 million families in the United States will have an opportunity to help prevent crippling diseases by contributing to the March of Dimes between now and Jan. 31.

The blue mailer contains an envelope with a pocket for a March of Dimes contribution by check or cash and with space for the donor's name and address. A brief message addressed to "Dear Neighbor" explains the expanded program of The National Foundation, and elsewhere on the mailer a few health figures are given—for example, that birth defects cripple one out of every 16 babies in the United States; that arthritis and rheumatism afflict 11 million Americans; and that polio can still strike down any one of more than 85 million unvaccinated persons in the country.

County chapter officials say

"Mailers, mailers everywhere!" says Linda Brees, of Columbus, Ohio, 1961 March of Dimes National Poster Child, as she "models" one of the contribution envelopes. Mailers are to be returned this month to local chapters of The National Foundation to support expanded health program in birth defects and arthritis, and continued work in polio. Linda is recovering from birth defects of an open spine and excess fluid on the brain.

They are desperately needed to finance National Foundation programs of aid to patients, of research and in the training of health workers."

Hub Cleary Given Suspended Term On Assault Charge

The Davie County Criminal Court accepted a plea of guilty to assault with a deadly weapon by J. H. (Hub) Cleary in lieu of the original charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Judge R. B. Sanford, Jr. sentenced Cleary to one year in jail, suspended for three years on condition the defendant be of good behavior and not violate any laws of the state; that he pay into the office of Clerk of Court for the benefit of H. M. Griffin the sum of $6.00 for doctor bill and pay any medical bill that Griffin might require as the result of said assault; and pay court costs.

Cleary was charged with assaulting a neighbor, H. M. Griffin, in the latter's home on Sunday, January 8, 1961. Griffin testified that Cleary came over to his house on Saturday night and had a pint of liquor. He drank off and on all night, leaving at 4 a.m. to feed his stock. Griffin said Cleary later came back to fix breakfast, bringing another pint of liquor and a piece of meat and four eggs.

After breakfast, Griffin said that Cleary went up to another house and came back raving mad about something. He said that Cleary was still drinking and continued to rave and that he told him to "calm down or go home". Griffin said that when he told Cleary this he jumped up and said he would beat "the hell" out of him and that if anyone left he would. Griffin said he had a knife in his hand when Cleary came towards him and that he hit Cleary. Griffin said that Cleary shoved him back into a window and broke out two glass... "and may have broke a rib".

Continuing the tussle, Griffin said that Cleary picked up a rifle that he (Griffin) kept at the end of the bed and threatened to kill him. Griffin admitted to sticking Cleary in the shoulder with the knife several times in the effort to get him to turn loose the rifle. However, Cleary shoved Griffin aside, hit him in the leg with the rifle, and gun went off but did not hit anyone.

Griffin said that Cleary was distracted when a car, driven by Jerry White, drove into the yard and blew the horn. Cleary went outside to talk to White.

White testified that Cleary, still under the influence, shot the rifle into the ground around his feet and that when he laid the rifle down, he (White) picked up the rifle and ran.

Further testimony revealed that all of the participants were on friendly terms prior to the altercation and all testified that Cleary was friendly and a good neighbor except when drinking.

Letter From Our Own Missionary, Rev. Archie Jones

Some of you probably wonder what has happened to the Joneses as no one heard from us at Christmas time. Actually we were trying to get packed and on our way to our new home in Ecuador.

This New Year's Day finds us on the Santa Cecilia of the Grace Steamship Lines somewhere on the edge of the Bahamas. When you get this letter we will have made a port call at Port Au Prince, Haiti, and will be on our way through the Panama Canal.

Little David is taking the trip in stride. We hear that it is still cool in North Carolina and other parts of the U. S. You may be interested to know that at 8:00 A.M. this morning the temperature was 76 degrees here.

The children got to see snow in New York while we were waiting to sail. It didn't seem as pretty to me as it did to them, as I had a few last minute preparations to make there.

Our ship, the Santa Cecilia, is a little larger than Archie Jr. had Audubon, N. J. expected. Naturally, we had said much about "the boat". When we finally got aboard and were looking out of what amounted to a fourth story window down on the docks, Archie, Jr. turned to me and said, "Daddy, I want to see the boat".

Gwen and Archie, Jr. are enjoying their walks around the decks. We have access to four deck levels. They enjoy the one with the swimming pool best.

In just a few days now this pleasant time together (this is the first time since August that we have all been together for as long as nine days) is going to come to an end, and we will find ourselves in a strange place where new adjustments must be made. It will be good to know that many will be remembering us during this important time. As soon as we get settled in our new home we will get off a letter describing our home, the churches, and our work as well as something of our adopted city and country.

A hearty "Thank you", to all who have made it possible for us to be here. And thank you all for remembering our total overseas mission work through the Little Moon Offering at Christmas.

ARCHIE V. JONES & Family Archie, Julie, Gwen, Archie, Jr. & David.

Hugh Larew . . . DSA Winner

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce honored one of its young men last Thursday evening when Hugh Larew was named as "Mocksville Outstanding Young Man of the Year" (1960) and was presented with the Distinguished Service Award.

This award is presented annually by the Jaycees to the young man of the community, age 21-36, who in the opinion of the judges has rendered the most outstanding service to the community above and beyond the normal call of duty.

Mr. Larew made great contribution to the community with his leadership in a Mocksville cleanup campaign to prepare the area for visiting industrialists. He is also chairman of the Davie County Chapter of the Tuberculosis Association. As a Jaycee, he is a member of the board of directors and headed the committee that secured the new Christmas decorations for the town. As a member of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Mr. Larew is chairman of the program committee.

Very active in The First Presbyterian Church of Mocksville, Mr. Larew is an elder; a former Sunday School teacher; and organist for the church.

It was pointed out during the presentation that Mr. Larew typifies a subscriber to the Jaycee Creed which reads as follows:

"I believe that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life. That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations. That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise. That government should be of laws rather than of men. That earth's great treasure lies in human personality, and that service to humanity is the best work of life.

March of Dimes

Once again it is the time of the year that we must reach into our pockets and put our shoulder to the wheel in the annual March of Dimes campaign.

The new March of Dimes already has made a substantial beginning in its expanded program of seeking to prevent birth defects and arthritis in addition to continuing to seek total control of paralytic polio.

For more than 20 years the people of this area have supported the annual January campaign of the March of Dimes and have contributed substantially to a great health program that resulted in the discovery of the Salk Vaccine.

The new 1961 March of Dimes offers opportunity for all of us to be a part of work aimed at prevention of still more of the great cripples that afflict so many millions of Americans today. We can play a part in this fight with our contributions and as volunteer workers.

During the next few weeks much effort will be expended on a voluntary basis to help Davie County reach its quota in this drive. The help of each and every citizen is needed. . . don't wait to be asked to give . . . donate willingly. If you are contacted . . . make your donation then . . . don't ask the volunteer worker to call back in order to accommodate you for this worker is giving freely of time and effort and should be given every consideration for his service.

The March of Dimes campaign is the campaign of each and every citizen and is worthy of much support.

Judge Armstrong And Court Dignity

Last week this newspaper received the letter concerning Judge Frank M. Armstrong who will preside at the term of Superior Court here next week. The substance of the letter, from the Montgomery Bar Association, is as follows:

"Recently some of the daily newspapers of the State, and particularly the Charlotte Observer, gave considerable publicity to Judge Frank M. Armstrong's 'Rules of Courtroom Civility for Attorneys', which are to apply in the courts of the 22nd Judicial District this Spring.

"Judge Armstrong has been quoted out of context, and the news releases place considerable stress upon the regulations laid down by Judge Armstrong in the matter of dress for the attorneys, all of which tends to mislead the public. The matter of dress for attorneys is a relatively unimportant part of Judge Armstrong's rules for the administration of justice in our Superior Courts. The main point in Judge Armstrong's rules is to promote the more efficient administration of justice, to maintain order and dignity in our highest trial court, and moreover, to operate our courts with less expense to the taxpayers.

"The Whiteville News Reporter, in an editorial on December 29, 1960, in a very forthright and clear manner explained and took to task these misleading news releases, a copy of which is enclosed.

"In view of the fact that Judge Armstrong comes to your County this Spring to hold your courts, the Bar in Montgomery County, where Judge Armstrong resides, would appreciate your publishing the enclosed editorial so that the people of your county will have a better understanding of just what these rules mean to them in the operation of your courts and the efficient administration of justice."

The editorial from the Whiteville Reporter is as follows:

The Dignity of the Court
Judge Frank Armstrong is in the news again, this time for his "Rules of Courtroom Civility for Attorneys" issued for the benefit of the bar of the 22nd Judicial District to which he has been assigned for the six months period beginning January 1st.

North Carolina newspapers have taken delight in reporting the activities of Judge

Armstrong since he protested the action of the North Carolina Bar Association in inviting Raymond Burr, he of Perry Mason television fame, as the principal speaker at the State Convention two years ago at Blowing Rock.

Last year the newspapers devoted considerable space to his opinions which were in conflict with the Court Reform Bill which threatened to steamroll its way through the Legislature.

Judge Armstrong claims that he sometimes has been quoted out of context, and we suspect that this has happened to him again; and if not out of context, then with unintended emphasis on certain provisions of his set of rules.

The news releases places considerable stress upon the regulations laid down by Judge Armstrong in the matter of dress. "No attorney shall enter the courtroom without a coat, collar or tie except by special permission of the presiding judge granted for extraordinary weather or physical conditions".

This, we have an idea, is a relatively unimportant part of his "Rules of Courtroom Civility for Attorneys", for here in our own county we have found that our lawyers dress with painful propriety even in the hottest weather and that almost without exception they deport themselves with dignity.

The press didn't give much space to the fact that Judge Armstrong also provided that on the court docket each case shall show the State's witnesses, the crime with which the defendant is charged, and, if the case is on appeal, the full judgment of the lower court. It failed to mention, too, the provisions of pre-trial which Judge Armstrong instituted in an effort to clear his dockets of civil actions.

We like to think of our courts as places where fair trials are held, where justice is meted out, where dignity and decorum prevail. Men like Judge Armstrong will help to maintain this attitude of awe and respect, even though in the process some sacrifice is made of their personal popularity.

New Jersey cropland yields more cash per acre than that of any other state, the National Geographic Magazine says.

The Tower of London always keeps at least one raven, the National Geographic Magazine says. The tradition stems from Charles II, who predicted that England would fall if ravens ever left the Tower.

WASHINGTON — Frankincense and myrrh, aromatic resins which the Wise Men brought as gifts when they followed the Star of Bethlehem to the place of the Nativity, are still found on lists of basic perfume ingredients, the National Geographic Magazine says.

The Inauguration . . .

THE INAUGURATION—It will take only 60 seconds for John F. Kennedy to be sworn in as the country's 35th president. But the accompanying celebration will last three days and attract a half-million people to Washington. • Wednesday, Jan. 18, there will be a reception for distinguished ladies at the National Gallery of Art. • A reception honoring Vice President-elect and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will take place the same night at the Statler-Hilton Hotel. • The Young Democrats' reception and dance will be at the Mayflower Hotel Wednesday night also. • The following afternoon, the Governor's Reception will be at the Sheraton-Park. • That night the Inaugural Concert, a program of classes, will be given at Constitution Hall. • The Democratic Gala, starring Frank Sinatra, will be at the National Guard Armory Thursday night, too. • The official inauguration ceremony takes place at 12 noon, Jan. 20, followed by the parade at 2 p.m. • Map shows the route. The new president will lead the parade past thousands of spectators from the Capitol up Constitution Avenue, on to Pennsylvania Avenue and the White House. • Finally comes the Inaugural Ball. There will be three separate dances to accommodate the crowds.

WHAT TAX OR TAXES? . . . As the days swing us nearer and nearer to the Legislature, we taxpayers become more nervous as to where the tax axe will fall. We know that — fall it must. But where?

At least three states — Georgia, Tennessee, and South Carolina — have a sales tax straight across the board. In those states when you buy $30 worth of groceries, you pay 90 cents in sales taxes. Here you pay no sales tax whatever — unless the "groceries" include non-edibles like soap, cigarettes, socks, and a long list of other items you are now able to purchase at the corner market.

And that is why these other states — each with smaller population and fewer retail sales — than North Carolina — derive so much more from sales tax than does North Carolina.

However — be that as it may — it is going to be very, very hard for the average legislator to tell the folks back home as follows:

"We decided not to put a tax on soft drinks, cigarettes, cigars, and smoking tobacco — but instead to put it on food."

Heavy, heavy hangs the head of the legislator as the fateful day of decision on what tax or taxes to be for or against . . . comes closer. But there seems no escape.

NOT RETURNING . . . One of the chief pushers for a sales tax on food in the 1959 Legislature was one Richard Frank Everett of Hamilton down in Martin County. He fought hard for it before the Finance Committee, and had several co-endorsers for his bill. That was the third term in the House.

Since he was defeated in his bid for re-election, it is not possible to say right now who will be the tax-on-food champ. But there will be one — and he will have supporters, too. We know who will be the chief opponent to any food tax talk. That is James B. Vogler of Charlotte. He is executive vice president of the N. C. Food Dealers Association and a legislative veteran.

Kerr, Jr., in the years he has served in the North Carolina Legislature. You don't have to agree with him to like him — and sometimes it seems he would just a little rather that you not agree with him. More fun. He is always interesting, always colorful, and always forceful. His humor is superb. But John Kerr, Jr., is getting along. He is a veteran of World War I . . . and all those Legislatures! We look forward to seeing him in action once again.

WATCH THAT WEIGHT! . . . One of the most noticeable things about those smiling faces of President-Elect John F. Kennedy and Governor Terry Sanford were not the teeth — but the double chin . . . in those photos last week from Palm Beach.

Kerr Scott always said he gained weight while campaigning. Once he told a friend that in the west it was "messes" of sardines and pickled pigs feet and in the east it was barbecue. Our new President said he lost weight during that hard-bitten, perspirational campaign — but had picked up several pounds in the two months since its cessation. Gov. Sanford, more heavily built than Good Friend Kennedy, has a round face that seems to have become just a little rounder here of late. One of the lovelies who shook hands with him at the Inaugural Ball remarked that his "dimples had become a little deeper".

Governors Broughton, Cherry, and Scott — all big-built men — gained weight in the Governor's office. Governor Ehringhaus, sick during much of his term, stayed about the same, and Governor Hoyt had no weight to lose. Reports we get are that Governor Hodges watched his diet and ate sparingly most of the time . . . and so his weight varied very little during six years in the Mansion.

THE WAITING GAME . . . Counties, hard put to it to make ends meet, are looking hopefully to the State for assistance in schoolhouse construction. About the only tax they can lean on with confidence is land — this is particularly true in the bone-dry counties — and in many areas valuations are away out of kilter.

Moreover, land will yield only so much money — and then where can the county go except to bonds and more indebtedness. Not since 1949-55 have the counties had bond issue help from the State on school buildings.

Whether the State will go to the rescue of the counties in the coming Legislature — or wait for Federal aid to come pouring — remains to be seen.

While local educational leaders are looking hard at Raleigh, the big help is likely to come from the Federal Treasury — and only via the State Capital.

TEXT: "And skill's a joy to any man" — John Masfield.
The tightrope walker was demonstrating his ability. With his eyes bandaged he rode the rope on a bicycle, forward and backward. Then, still blindfolded, he rode backward while playing Kreisler's "The Caprice Vienois" on a violin.
"Wonderful!" exclaimed an onlooker.
"Yeah," said his companion, "but he's not as good as Yehudi Menuhin".

The tight-rope walker's skill was a sense of balance. Menuhin's, of course, the violin. A skill is personal to each who possesses it.

Years ago parents forced their children to "learn a trade". They wanted them to possess a skill which no one could take from them. It wasn't a bad idea although it did not conform with modern methods of permitting youth to "express themselves". It did teach discipline. It built ability which became a useful skill or generated energy which exploded the youth into an activity in which he was determined to excel.

When fortune turns against you, an extra skill can supply needed food and shelter. In old age there is no companion more reassuring than a special skill or knowledge. Choose one. Become expert. You'll never regret it.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK
By NORTH CALLAHAN

A United Airlines DC-8 plane had just loaded its hundred passengers at Idlewild Airport. The modern, enclosed walkways which comfortably extend from the waiting room to the side of the huge craft had swung backward on their giant dollies, and black smoke rolled from the four powerful jet engines as the plane prepared to taxi down the runway and take off westward. But just as the passengers relaxed against their fastened seat-belts, the plane suddenly stopped. A member of the crew appeared in the doorway of the big cabin, a radio set strapped to his side, a small antenna jutting from his shoulder like that of a space man. Every eye was upon him. "Ladies and gentlemen," he announced solemnly, "I have something to say to you". People leaned forward in their seats. "The radar here at the field has broken down and must be repaired", he continued, "so we will not take off before that is done. I shall keep you advised". A funeral silence fell upon the crowd. Then some one stirred, another murmured something. (Continued On Page 2)

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

WASHINGTON — The 87th Congress convened on Thursday, Jan. 3, 1961. Immediately after its opening, the so-called ultra liberals initiated a fight to have the Senate itself change Rule 22 of the Senate without any study being first given to their proposal by the Rules Committee — a course of action required by orderly procedure. Fortunately, they suffered at least a temporary defeat when the Senate voted 50 to 46 to refer their proposal to the Rules Committee for study.

The Proposal
It seems not amiss to indicate the implications of the proposed change in Senate Rules. Under Rule 22, as it now stands, debate in the Senate upon any pending measure cannot be ended unless two-thirds of the Senators present voting so decree.

The purpose of this Rule is to make certain that any Senate minority shall be given a reasonable opportunity to persuade the Senate majority that a pending proposal is unwise and ought not to be enacted into law.

Use Of Epithets
The so-called ultra liberals sought to change Rule 22 so as to provide that 51 Senators should have the power to silence the other 49 Senators. In accordance with the smear technique now practiced all too frequently in public life in America, the ultra liberals say that the change proposed by them is necessary to silence the "filibusters." It would be equally as just for those who oppose the change in Rule 22 to say that the purpose of the so-called ultra liberals is to gag those who disagree with them. As a consequence, anyone addicted to the use of epithets as a substitute for reason might well say that we have just witnessed a contest between the filibusters and the gaggers.

My Position
I favor Rule 22 in its present form. I have always liked the statement attributed to the French Philosopher, Voltaire: "I disagree with what you say, but I shall defend to the death your right to say it." I also agree with the observation made by William S. White, one of America's foremost columnists who points out in his book on the Senate that it is well to remember that any rule devised today to silence troublesome demagogues can be used tomorrow to silence a brave man fighting a just cause.

More About SO THIS IS NEW YORK

think about this being the same type plane of the same airline which figured in the tragic crash above New York City some weeks ago. But this story has a happier ending. Within an hour, the radar was repaired, the "space man" reappeared and told the passengers, and the great plane rolled down the runway and soared into the sky for a smooth and successful flight westward.

A taxi driver here stopped smoking in a dramatic way. One night he was smoking in bed, when like all too many such persons, he dozed off. Soon he awoke and found the bed to be on fire. Half dazed by smoke and sleep, he jumped up, grabbed a pail of water and doused it on the smoldering mattress. Dense fumes of smoke arose, were spotted and the fire department came and doused bed, apartment and occupant. He swore off smoking, says as sure as there was a tobacco-toting Sir Walter Raleigh, he will never touch the stuff again.

Recently in Supreme Court in Manhattan, there was a hearing involving the custody of a six-year-old girl. The testimony disclosed that the child's parents were not married. After the hearing, the father, for obvious reasons pleaded with reporters not to write the story. He particularly feared the repercussions such publication might have upon the child. The parents were not prominent, either, so it was not a sensational story. Nevertheless, the appeal of the father was ignored, the story appeared, causing him bitter humiliation and sorrow, to say nothing of what it did to the child and the mother.

Reminiscences of delightful, long-remembered childhood are found in the introduction to a book about — well, let's quote the introduction: "They are all departed now . . . the great, golden coach has turned into a pumpkin again . . . the duchesses dance no more in the minuet, nor the fairies on the haunted green . . . but in Perrault's fairyland, there is room for all of them, and room for children too, who wander hither out of their own world of fancy, and half hope that the Sleeping Beauty dwells behind the hedge of yew, or think to find the dangerous distaff in some dismantled chamber."

Here and There: so many Harvard men have entered the Kennedy administration that some wag cracked there is nothing left in Cambridge, Massachusetts but Radcliffe College . . . buck passing is not new — but they never passed faster than they do now . . . a store in Sarasota, Florida collects bad debts by each year giving away cars and advising delinquent debtors that they get one chance for every dollar of past due accounts they pay — then the rush is on . . . a lecturer told a lady questioner that the only permanently well-adjusted people he knew were in cemeteries.

N. C. 270 was Piedmont North Carolina's top yielding hybrid in the official 1960 Corn Performance Trials conducted by N. C. State College.

N. C. 270 led the tests with a yield of 92.3 bushels per acre. Pioneer 312A was a close second with a yield of 90.7, while DeKalb A-715 was third with 90.1.

North Carolina Corn Performance Trials are conducted each year by State College. Supervising the tests again this year was A. J. Crowley of the Department of Field Crops.

The trials give commercial seed companies an opportunity to test hybrids and advanced breeding lines under farm conditions.

Results are not to be taken as State College recommendations, Crowley pointed out. Instead, they should be used as a guide in selecting next year's hybrids.

Crowley stressed that a "top performer" is not always the highest yielding hybrid. "To be a top performer," he added, "a hybrid must have high yield, give mature grain, stand upright

BERNADETTE W. HOYLE Public Information Officer N.C. State Board of Public Welfare

This is the sixth of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.

What is a day care facility? Any facility which cares for two or more unrelated preschool age children away from their own homes during most or all of the working day.

What are they called? They may be called day nurseries, day care centers, play groups, or day care homes, but each of these is termed a "day care facility."

Are there many such day care facilities in North Carolina?

At present there are over 300 in the State and many more are needed. As more and more mothers of small children have gone to work at jobs outside of their own homes, more and more day care facilities have been established.

on remodeling, to be held January 25th from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Also, a Livestock Meeting will be held on January 31, starting at 1:30. Both of these meetings will be in the Davie County Office Building.

Must these facilities be licensed?

Yes. They must meet approved standards of health and safety and individual welfare just as schools for older children must meet appropriate standards.

Who licenses these facilities? The State Board of Public Welfare.

Why is licensing necessary? For the protection of the child, the parents, and the operator.

What are some of the licensing requirements?

Adequate indoor play space and adequate enclosed outdoor play space; a balanced mid-day meal and morning and afternoon snacks; individual cots or beds for rest periods; a constructive program of activities for the children. Operators and staff must have health certificates; children must have a pre-admission physical examination, in order that communicable diseases may not spread. Individual towels, bathcloths, and drinking cups are required. Local health and fire departments inspect the facilities to protect the children from health and fire hazards.

Should parents ask if the facility is licensed? Yes, before he enrolls his child. If the parent has questions about whether or not the facility meets standards, he should contact his county department of public welfare.

Suppose a facility continues to operate without a license? The State Board of Public Welfare, under a ruling by the Attorney General, must refer the facility to the county solicitor.

No opportunity is ever lost, the other fellow takes those you miss.

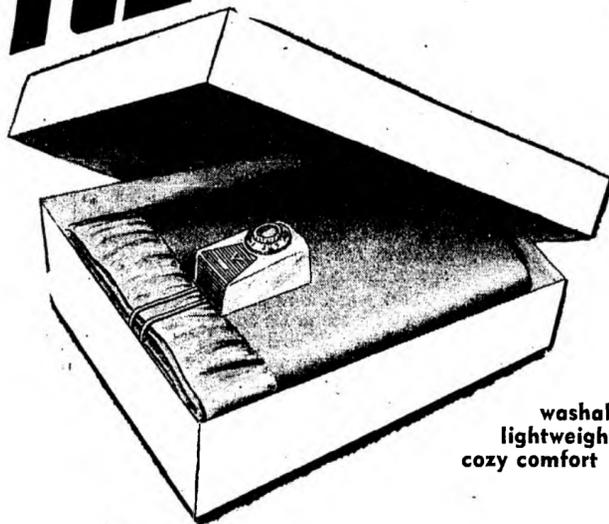

Too many women think that by trying to improve on Mother Nature they are fooling Father Time.

Statement of Dr. Albert B. Sabin, who developed the Sabin oral polio vaccine through research supported by the March of Dimes:

"I wish to express my appreciation to The National Foundation for its faith in my work, expressed through grants of March of Dimes funds totaling $1,500,000.

"For 22 years The National Foundation's broad medical research program has opened new doors in the whole field of virology. It was these breakthroughs that made antipolio vaccines possible.

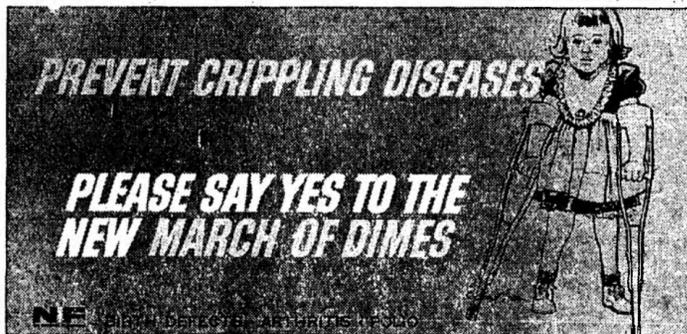

"I wish also to express my thanks to the American people, whose contributions to the March of Dimes made it possible for The National Foundation to support my work."

B. C. Moore and Sons Announce Managerial Changes In Stores

Howell To Marion; L. Blackwelder To Manage Local Store

Guy Howell, manager of B. C. Moore and Sons store in Mocksville for the past three and half years, will transfer to Marion on Feb. 1 to open a new store for the same company. The store in Marion will be the newest in the chain of 64 stores and will feature the latest design in merchandising, with twice as much floor space as the Mocksville store.

Lester Blackwelder has been named manager of the Mocksville store. Mr. Blackwelder has been with the B. C. Moore Sons store in Mocksville since its opening in May, 1955. For the past four years he has served as assistant manager.

Mr. Blackwelder is a member of the North Carolina National Guard for 12 years; a member of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Blaise Baptist Church. He is married to the former Ruby Jean Sheets. They have two sons, Steve, 8, and Ronnie, 4. They reside on the Yackinville Road.

Mr. Howell, a native of Cherryville, N. C., has been associated with the B. C. Moore and Sons Company for the past four years. A veteran of World War II, he has five years of service with the Air Force, being discharged in May, 1946, as a Captain. He now holds a commission as Major in the Air Force Active Reserve.

He is a graduate of Brevard College and a member of the Methodist Church.

Unmarried, Mr. Howell has two sons by a former marriage: Guy Howell, Jr., age 16, and Larry Howell, age 13, who live in Lincolnton, N. C.

Plans Made To Re-activate Red Cross Unit

Plans are being made to re-activate the Davie County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Several interested citizens met with Miss Gwen O'Neal, Red Cross Field Representative, on Monday night at which time plans were made to re-establish a Red Cross Board of Directors and name leaders for the county.

A committee composed of Rev. Boyce Whitener, Dr. F. W. Slate, Mrs. Curtis Price, W. T. Bird, Jack Pennington, C. D. Jamerson and Mrs. Jack Sanford were named to a board to contact others throughout the county in the interest of re-establishing this organization. Another meeting will be held on Monday night, Jan. 30, at which time it is hoped to effect the organization.

Attending the meeting Monday night were:

Dr. Francis W. Slate, Mrs. J. H. Thompson, E. C. Morris, Mrs. Curtis Price, Jack Cecil, Charles Jamerson, Rev. Boyce Whitener, Mrs. L. E. Frazier, Mrs. Jack Sanford, and W. T. Bird. Mayor D. J. Mandis presided at the meeting.

The local Red Cross Chapter has not been active since 1958, and no fund raising drive has been held in the county, although the Home Service has been continuous by Mrs. Jack Sanford. It was pointed out that the county must discharge the obligations that go along with having a Red Cross Charter.

Rev. H. D. Jessup To Preach At Local Churches

The Rev. H. D. Jessup of Old Fort, a former pastor of the Davie Church, will preach at the Center Methodist Church on Sunday, Jan. 29, at 10 a.m.

The Rev. Mr. Jessup will also speak at the Oak Grove Methodist Church at 11 a.m.

Elementary Basketball

Advance Elementary basketball teams won two games last Thursday night from Mocksville to remain undefeated.

Door prizes will be awarded.

Council Meeting Of Boy Scout Camp Committee

A council meeting of the Camping and Activities committee of the Uwharrie Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held on Feb. 1 and 2, in Lexington.

Charles Dunbar of New York City, of the National Camping service, Boy Scouts of America, will speak at the meeting. Camp promotions and camp development will be stressed.

George Shutt and C. F. Arndt will attend this meeting.

Davie Jaycees Still Undefeated

The Davie County High School Junior Varsity won two games last week to remain undefeated.

Davie defeated Thomasville 48 to 43 in an overtime. Gary McDaniel had 16 points to lead the Junior Rebels; Junior Beal had 14 points; and Connie Shoffner had 10. Roger Pierce aided the Davie cause with his sparkling floor play.

Last Friday Davie defeated West Rowan 52 to 29. Junior Beal with 15 points led Davie; Gary McDaniel had 13 points; Connie Shoffner had 7; Sammy Bailey 6.

Mrs. Armond Smith Is Named As Assistant Bookmobile Librarian

Mrs. Armond Smith of the Kappa Community, Mocksville, Rt. 4, has been named assistant bookmobile librarian for Davie County.

Mrs. Smith began her duties as assistant to Mrs. E. F. Etchison on the bookmobile the first of this year.

Mrs. Smith is the former Ella Gray Smith. She is a graduate of the Mocksville High School and a member of the Bethlehem Methodist Church. As a member of the Home Demonstration Club for ten years, Mrs. Smith has served as County Council President; President of the Kappa Home Demonstration Club, and District Historian.

March of Dimes "Coffee Break"

On Saturday, January 28th, all proceeds from the sale of coffee at the American Cafe will be turned over to the New March of Dimes Fund Raising campaign, according to Bill Ridenhour, proprietor of the local Cafe. "Come have your coffee break" on Saturday with us, and help a "worthy cause," said Mr. Ridenhour.

Four Davie Youths To Attend Clinic

Four members of the Davie County Consolidated High School Band were selected from nine young people who attended the recent try-outs at Boyden High School in Salisbury, to represent the school at the State Band Clinic to be held at Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone on Feb. 3 and 4.

Miss Dorothy Shell will play first saxophone; Monty Ridenhour will play second cornet; and Richard Elmore will play third clarinet. This concert band will be under the direction of Dr. Paul Spencer, head of the Department of Music at Appalachian State.

John Andrews will play second flute in the symphonic band which will be under the baton of Dr. Paul Bryan, associate in the Department of Music, Duke University.

Mother's March On January 31

Local women will join with an estimated 20 million women in the nation wide mother's appeal for funds for the New March of Dimes January campaign with the annual Mother's March to be held in Davie County on Tuesday night, Jan. 31, beginning at 7 p.m.

"Those making the house to house canvas would like to see your porch light on to welcome these volunteers," said Mrs. Cecil Lakey, co-chairman of the Mother's March.

All of the volunteers are asked to meet at the Rotary hut immediately following the collection of funds. Mrs. Lakey further stated.

Mrs. Wayne Lakey is co-chairman of this event.

"Our Mother's March, aimed at the four target areas of the National Foundation's expanded program, must be bigger and more vigorous than ever before," the co-chairman stated. "We must assure early development of patient aid programs for children suffering from arthritis and birth defects, keep faith with disabled polio patients and speed research to prevent these and other afflictions."

"The Mother's March gives us the opportunity to do more than just look wistfully forward to a time when scientific discoveries will prevent crippling diseases from attacking our children. We can speed that hopeful day by demonstrating the strengthening of our partnership with the men of science. We can—and we must—support their efforts with greater voluntary contributions to the March of Dimes in January."

Wincoff Nips Davie In Two Thrilling Overtime Contests

Rebels To Play At N. Rowan Friday

Davie County High School eaglers were nosed out in two thrilling basketball games Tuesday night with both games requiring extra periods to settle the matter.

In the opener the Wincoff lassies needed an extra period to down the Rebelettes, 46 to 43. Kathy Grimes had 25 points to lead the Rebelettes; Cullie Bailey had 13; and Linda Schladsensky had 5. Glenda Shelton, a starting forward, was sidelined with the flu.

In the boys games, Davie battled back to tie the score in the final five seconds on a shot by Chuck Tomlinson. The extra period was a nip and tuck affair all the way, with Wincoff taking advantage of the foul line to go ahead in the final minute and win 61 to 58.

Tomlinson had 17 points to lead Davie; Junior Beal had 15; Johnny Grimes 13; Billy Evans 5; and Jimmy Anderson and Benny Merrill 4 each.

For Wincoff, Walters put on a one man show as he maneuvered around the basket and per-

The Masland Dural leather Company of Mocksville will be featured on the radio program, "PROFILE," over Station WBT in Charlotte, Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 6:15 p.m.

Charles E. McCoy, manager of the Mocksville plant of the Masland Dural leather Company, will be interviewed by Doug Mayes, WBT staff announcer, on the 15-minute program.

Following the broadcast Masland Dural leather Corporation will receive a "Profile Award" from WBT and the North Carolina Blue Cross Plan, Hospital Care Association of Durham, sponsor of the program of its "outstanding contribution to the industrial growth and development of North Carolina." The citation will be signed by E. H. Herndon, executive vice president, for the Hospital Care Association, and Charles H. Crutchfield, executive vice president and general manager of WBT, for the Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Company.

The Profile Award will be presented to Mr. McCoy by Chris Columbus, manager of the Hospital Care Association's Salisbury District Office.

"Our purpose in sponsoring this series of broadcasts," says Herndon is to assist in the campaign to attract new industry to North Carolina and, equally important, to develop greater public appreciation for the industry we already have. We hope in this way to impress upon our North Carolina citizens the vital role which industry plays in the economic life of the local community and the state."

Janet Langston Is Injured In Wreck

Janet Langston, age 14, of Rt. 5, Mocksville, returned to her home this week from the Davie County Hospital where she was a patient for about 10 days after suffering injuries in an automobile wreck on Jan. 13.

The 14-year-old girl was the driver of a car attempting to cross Highway 601 which was involved in a collision with a 1953 Ford.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock said that his investigation indicated that the Langston girl, operating her brother's 1958 DeSoto, was attempting to drive from a driveway on one side of the highway into the driveway on the other side of Highway 601, and pulled out into the path of the 1953 Ford.

The Langston girl suffered a broken thigh and other injuries. Two occupants of the Ford, Jason East of Salisbury and Hubert L. Safriet of Rockwell, were also hospitalized with numerous lacerations and bruises about the head and face.

Normally scored 43 points. Walters hit on 18 out of 19 tries at the foul line.

Friday night Davie will play at North Rowan, and on Tuesday will play at Mooresville.

Davie County High School split two games with Children's Home last Friday night in games played at the Cooleemee gymnasium.

The Rebelettes bowed to the strong and undefeated sextet from Children's Home by the score of 45 to 42. Glenda Shelton led Davie with 18 points; Cullie Bailey had 14; Jo Lewis, 2; Linda Schladsensky 2; Kathy Grimes 6.

The Rebels, led by Jim Anderson and John Grimes, gained a 11 to 9 lead in the first quarter and gradually pulled away. Grimes had 15 points to pace the attack for Davie; Anderson had 10; Chuck Tomlinson 7; Benny Merrill 9; Junior Beal 7; Larry Smith, 3; Grimes Parker 2; and Nimo Woodward 2.

DAVIE COUNTY TRADE DAYS

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
N.C. State Board of Public Welfare

(This is the seventh of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.)

Is there a law regarding solicitation of funds for charitable purposes?

Yes. The State Board of Public Welfare has responsibility for licensing organizations which solicit funds for charitable purposes from the public in this State.

Why?
To prevent rackets and encourage high standards among philanthropic organizations. The law protects bona fide organizations from fraudulent competition by fund raising and protects the donors who can be assured that their gifts go for the specified purpose.

What are the requirements for licensing?

Before a license is granted the organization is required to give information about its purpose, its goals in raising money, a list of its officers and board members, an annual report summarizing accomplishments of the past year, methods to be used in the solicitation program, the cost of fund raising, financial and budget reports. The law applies to organizations both within and outside the State which seek contributions from North Carolina citizens by mail, advertising in newspapers, radio, television, or otherwise. Other State agencies are asked to make recommendations regarding licensing or re-licensing of the organizations with program in their field of specialization.

Which organizations are not included in the solicitation law?
The solicitation law does not apply to churches or religious organizations, schools or colleges, fraternal or patriotic organizations or civic clubs located in this State when such appeal is confined to its own membership nor does it apply to local organizations soliciting only within the county in which they are located or to churches making appeals for construction, upkeep, or maintenance of the church.

How can I know which organizations are licensed?

Each month the State Board of Public Welfare issues a list of licensed organizations to the newspapers. If you wish to secure a list, you can write to the State Board of Public Welfare, Raleigh, North Carolina.

How long is a license in effect?

Licenses are issued for a maximum of one year, subject to renewal after careful review of the application for re-licensing.

Is the public notified of organizations not licensed?

Yes. Publicity is given on agencies which solicit in violation of the law. It is hoped that citizens will not contribute to such unlicensed organizations.

Conservation leaders here are looking forward to issuance of the world's first range conservation postage stamps by the Post Office Department in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The commemorative 4-cent stamp, printed in 3 colors, will be issued Feb. 2 at the American Society of Range Management's annual meeting at Salt Lake City. The stamp will go on sale at the post office here on the following day, Feb. 3.

The stamp is in two parts. One part is a reproduction of the famous drawing, "Trail Boss," by Charles Russell, the distinguished artist of western life. The other part shows a modern range conservation scene.

The new stamp, symbolizes the development of range conservation from the pioneer days of the open range to today's scientific techniques.

Those who are interested in a "first day cover," a souvenir envelope plus a money order or certified check for the number of stamps required to the postmaster at Salt Lake City, Utah, who will place the range conservation stamp on the envelope, cancel with a special cancellation mark used only on that day and at that place, and mail as addressed anywhere in the country.

Bill Hall Heads Fund Raising Drive For Davie Heart Fund

WILLIAM E. HALL

Fund raising activities for the Davie County Heart Council will be led by Attorney William E. Hall, according to Mrs. Jack Sanford, Chairman of the local Heart Group.

"In addition to serving as head of the 1961 Heart Fund Drive which takes place in February," said Mrs. Sanford, "Mr. Hall will be in charge of promoting memorial giving and other ways of giving to Heart throughout the year. We are certainly pleased that he has accepted this important Council post."

Commenting on his volunteer money-raising job, Mr. Hall said, "There is no question but that the heart disease problem is one that touches the lives of all of us. For years, diseases of the heart and blood vessels have caused over half of all deaths annually throughout the country. It was recognition of the tremendous scope of this problem that led to the formation of the American Heart Association and its affiliates in every state. Today, it is the only voluntary health agency dedicated to the conquest of our Number One Killer."

"As a Council of the North Carolina Heart Association," he pointed out, "we are a part of the American Heart Association and responsible for the Heart program in this area. I think everyone would like to know how the dollar he gives to Heart is spent. Here is a breakdown furnished by the treasurer of the State Heart Association:

Research	37 c
Professional Education	10 1/2 c
Public Education	23 1/2 c
Community Service	6 1/2 c
Organization and Development	5 c
Fund Raising	11 1/2 c
Administration	6 c
TOTAL	$1.00

"The entire Heart program — local, state, and national — depends on the voluntary giving of the public," Mr. Hall said. "Giving during the annual Heart Fund drive is only one way people can express their concern with the problem of heart disease. Memorial gifts in honor of those who have died from diseases of the heart or blood vessels, remembering Heart in your will, insurance policies with Heart as the beneficiary — these are all methods you can use. You can be sure that your gifts, whether large or small, will be deeply appreciated and will benefit present and potential victims of heart disease," he concluded.

FUNERALS

MRS. DELLA KOONTZ, 78
Funeral services for Mrs. Della Crutner Koontz, 78, of Mocksville, Rt. 1, were held Monday at the Jericho Church of Christ. The Rev. Harold Simmons officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Koontz died Sunday at her home. She had been in declining health several months.

She was born in Iredell County, to Wesley and Mary Gaither Cartner. She married E. C. Koontz. He died July 9, 1959.

Mrs. Koontz was a member of Jericho Church of Christ. Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Austin Renegar of Yadkinville, Rt. 3, and Mrs. Paul Foster Dwiggins of Mocksville, Rt. 1; two sisters, Mrs. W. R. McCorkle of Mocksville and Mrs. W. C. Duke Power Adds 400-Amp. Panel to Housepower Plan

Duke Power has expanded its cost-saving Housepower Panel Plan to include residential customers requiring up to 400-amp service entrances. The extension was made possible because the larger size panels are now available from manufacturers.

The Housepower Panel Plan, introduced last May, helps Duke Power's builders and residential customers who construct or modernize for total-electric living. Each person qualifying receives a complete Housepower entrance, consisting of a Housepower riser and a Housepower panel with circuit breakers. This panel was previously available in sizes up to 200 amperes. Now that it is manufactured in the larger size, Duke Power is including it in the plan.

A total of 3,796 residential customers benefited from the plan during the past eight months, from May 1 through December 31, reported E. E. Goodwin, Manager of Duke Power. They qualified by meeting the requirement of Duke Power's lower all-electric rate. This economy rate is based on the use of flameless electricity for all space heating, water heating and other usual purposes in homes that are properly insulated to assure maximum comfort.

After his inauguration in 1801, Thomas Jefferson walked from the Capitol to his boarding house near by. It was lunch time, and he took his usual place at the foot of a table for 30.

Mrs. Temple Creason, 87
Funeral services for Mrs. Temple McDaniel Creason, 87, of Rt. 4, Mocksville, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Liberty Methodist Church. The Rev. R. G. McClamrock and the Rev. Elmer Sellers officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Creason died Monday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. G. A. Shoaf. She had been ill for several months.

She was born Nov. 3, 1873, in Davie County, the daughter of Alfred and Sallie Williams McDaniel. Her husband, James S. Creason, died in 1955.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Shoaf, of Rt. 4, Mocksville, and Mrs. Carl Blackwood of Rt. 1, Woodleaf; one brother, Albert of Cleveland; 15 grandchildren; and 23 great-grandchildren.

Sound Advice... From the County Health Center

Inasmuch as all children scheduled to enter the first grade this Fall will not be eligible to do so until after immunization against Polio, Diphtheria, Whooping cough and Smallpox; and inasmuch as it takes about 8 months to complete Polio vaccinations, we would like to remind parents who have not yet started Polio shots that they had best begin such immediately.

It is further recommended that most of such immunizations should be started as early as two months of age, inasmuch as the highest incidence of Polio is now occurring in children one to four years of age.

We also take this occasion to remind parents of pre-schoolers (and to their children's) to accompany their children to the various pre-school clinics to be held in the various elementary schools throughout the county in the not too distant future. Keep your eyes open for dates to be scheduled.

These clinics are designed for appraisal of children and advice to parents regarding health sustaining principles as well as practical procedures for controlling and/or correcting any defects found. Such is the essence of Preventive Medicine — the primary objective of Public Health.

Might it not be more practical to increase the use of Family Physicians for the same purpose? Why wait for so much avoidable and more expensive disability and campers, and May 12, an overnight camp for inexperienced campers.

New Section of Highway 421 Is Now Open

The new stretch of U. S. Highway 421, running from the Yadkin River to Winston-Salem, was opened to traffic last week, cutting both time and distance of travel from Yadkinville.

The new link, under construction since 1959, measures 10.68 miles. It starts just north of the old A. Dinkins homeplace and runs into the new expressway, Interstate 40. The old dirt road from Highway 421 which funnels traffic onto it has been widened and paved.

The new highway is 22 feet wide, constructed of asphalt, with an 18 inch strip on each side of five feet grassed shoulder. Several thousands of feet of guard rail have been installed.

The highway is two lanes for the first three miles, then changes into a four-lane, divided highway for most of the remaining distance. About three miles out of Winston-Salem, it broadens into a six lane, cement highway. Right of way cuts are broad and sweeping, and have been graded. Many culverts and water drainage areas have been cemented.

Speed limit on the new stretch is 60 miles an hour. All preliminary work has been completed on the last link of Highway 421 from Yadkinville to the river, which measures 8.2 miles, and paving contracts are expected to be let soon for completion next summer.

In Memoriam

MRS. SAM ALLEN — We, the members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Oak Grove Methodist Church, Mocksville, N. C. do truly mourn the loss of our dear friend and co-worker, Mrs. Jennie Allen, who on December 31, 1960, went to take the place reserved for her among the blessed.

Mrs. Jennie Leach Allen loved her church and was faithful to many phases of its work. This servant of God has been active in church affairs when health permitted. Her church was dear to her heart, and her efforts and accomplishments in its behalf have been untiring and devoted.

A member of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, she served when and where she was most needed. She was an active member—and gave generously and cheerfully of her time, her ability, and her means.

Mrs. Allen's gentle spirit and strong Christian faith was an inspiration to all who knew her. Therefore, be it resolved that the memory of her loyal Christian life always inspire us to dedicate ourselves to finding greater opportunities for Christian Service.

'SEVEN VITAL NEEDS' OF LEAF INDUSTRY TOLD

Tobacco specialists at N. C. State College have come up with "seven vital needs" of the tobacco industry. "The future of the tobacco industry, at all levels, depends on gaining active support of all groups who share the responsibility for one phase or another," said Roy Bennett, Extension tobacco specialist. "Talk won't get the job done—each person and organization must do their part. In a statement keyed to current meetings with farmers throughout the tobacco-growing regions of North Carolina, Bennett called for an 'agri-business partnership' of all agricultural, industrial, and allied groups in the industry. "They must join in a cooperative effort to exercise the leverage that each group has in bringing about improvements," he said. The "seven vital needs" are: 1. Prices for tobacco that reflect realistically the desirable and undesirable characteristics of tobacco in the market place. "Too frequently, tobacco prices ignore mixed grades, pale slick leaf, thread, large hands and other characteristics that are criticized verbally," said the report from Bennett. 2. Description, by the tobacco grading system, of the quality characteristics of each basket of tobacco for sale. "The grade should identify desirable and undesirable characteristics that are important to the trade and the consumer," said the report. "Mixture, thread, large hands, slick, toady and pale tobaccos often may not be identified as such." 3. Reflection, by the price support system, of desirable and undesirable characteristics of tobacco. "The support price has a great deal of influence at the market," the report said. "It is just as important for the price supports to encourage desirable quality, good handling and other elements as it is for the buyers to do so." 4. A realistic, accurate acreage control program, keyed to effective supply and demand in the domestic and foreign market. "We must be aware of the effect on our own industry of the quality, price and production costs of tobacco in foreign countries," the report said, "and of regulations, laws, and tariffs in importing countries." 5. Cooperative support on the part of the tobacco warehousemen and the Department of Agriculture for the use of sound practices in production marketing and in improving and building the tobacco program. 6. Constant supply of up-to-date answers and information by N. C. State College, through its basic and applied research extension program. "This information needs to be passed on by the Extension and teaching program to the farmers, to all segments of the tobacco industry, and to the people in general," said the report. 7. Full use by the tobacco farmers of proven production and marketing practices, for production of the most desirable quality of tobacco, as efficiently and economically as possible. "The farmer must have pride in the quality and appearance of his tobacco," said the report. "He needs a proper appreciation for the satisfaction the consumer will get from the use of his tobacco. "The farmer must select proven varieties, use the best cultural curing and marketing practices known." Bennett pointed out that "a sound, healthy, and growing industry cannot be built on what we can get by wick at the farm, market or in the processing plant."

Health For All

(This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Davie-Yadkin Health Dept.) You own a first-rate chemical factory. But you can't hope to market the products, because the factory is your own digestive system. Saliva in the mouth contains ptyalin, which goes to work on starches you're chewing, and changes them into maltose, a form of sugar which can be absorbed. In the stomach, food is churned to a semi-liquid. The stomach produces a weak solution of hydrochloric acid which sets things up for the enzyme, pepsin. Pepsin comes from the stomach wall. It starts the breakdown of protein into a form that the body can use. After about two hours in the stomach, the partly digested food enters the small intestine. As soon as the food touches the intestinal wall, it sets off a reflex which starts intestinal juice, pancreatic juice and bile flowing freely from the intestinal wall, the pancreas, and the gall bladder, respectively. The intestinal juice cancels out the acid from the stomach. This is necessary because the chemicals at this stage can't work in acid. It also partly breaks down sugar and fat. Then it triggers the pancreas to release its juice, which really goes to work on protein, fat, and carbohydrates. After that the intestinal juice finishes the job. Food is now in form which can be easily absorbed by the small intestine. Any food substances not needed by the body at the moment are carried to the liver and stored there until wanted. The digestive process is just as complicated as it sounds and there are many chances for something to go wrong. Don't dose yourself for persistent indigestion, bloating, heartburn. See your doctor.

GOING UP?

You slide the thermometer under your tongue, hold it there for three minutes, take it out and check to see how far up the mercury has gone. 99.4 degrees! Horrors, fever? Not necessarily. There isn't any one normal temperature for everybody all the time. Normal temperature may differ from one person to another, and for the same person at different times of the day. There's a normal range from about 97.2 to 99.5 degrees. Temperature is lowest early in the morning, highest in the late afternoon.

THE PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT DON'T HAVE TO COME FROM DIFFERENT STATES

Many people believe that the Constitution of the United States forbids the electing of a Vice President from the same State as the President. This is not true. There is nothing to prevent the election of both from the same State. The practice has been, however, to select candidates from different States, and different parts of the country, in order to gain more votes from the people living in these different sections of the country. It is good politics, but is not required by the Constitution.

PREACHERS AND HENS LET NO ONE FORGET

Everyone in town knows me. I don't need to advertise. (A merchant talking).

Everyone in town DOESN'T know him and if they did they would still forget what he has for sale.

"That is why hens cackle and preachers ring church bells. To remind the people what they already know."

People move to town, children grow up and get married, people die and new families take their place. People in the market for headware this week, may want a floor lamp next week. The merchant is selling a passing parade. He doesn't realize that his store looks like any other store on the street, to the customer. By advertising, he can ask the people to buy more, to buy better quality, to lay up quantities, to take advantage of his service, to use his telephone, to lay-away items.

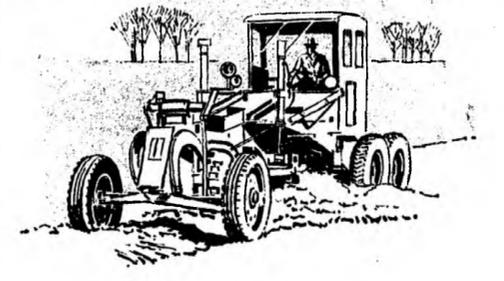

"You would think Everybody knows a Ford, or Coca-Cola, or J. C. Penney's or Sears-Roebuck—yet They Are the Biggest Advertisers!"

They are like the hen and the preacher—They don't intend to let anybody forget them!

NORTH CAROLINA MEANS BETTER LIVING

Tourists visiting in North Carolina often comment on our excellent highways, and for good reason. North Carolina citizens now enjoy the largest state-maintained road system in the nation—more than 70,000 miles in all! And our state-wide program continues unabated, providing additional hard-surfaced roads to make markets more accessible to farmers and to transport workers to their jobs in nearby industries. Another system gaining wide-spread approval in North Carolina is that of the "legal control" of the sale of beer and ale, which has been adopted by most of our progressive communities.

Problem of the Aged

The recent white House Conference on Aging came up with several observations and recommendations on the problem of aging. A summary of some of these is as follows:

Population Trends . . . Today the average man or woman can expect to live into his 70s or 80s, and can expect at least eight retirement years. There are 16 million people over 65 today, and will double in the next 40 years when the over 65 group will exceed 10 percent of the population.

Income Maintenance . . . Economic security of older people depends upon a strong, sound and secure economy capable of providing a high level of goods and services.

Financing Health Care . . . The problem is so large and complex that its solution will require individual and family resources, voluntary health insurance, industrial programs, social security, public assistance and other programs. Establishment of a health care program under the Social Security system would give the aged the assurance that the costs of essential health care will be met when their working years are over.

Impact of Inflation on Retired . . . A man who retired in 1943 on a $100 per month pension now has only about $76 a month equivalent purchasing power. Old age benefits under Social Security should be adjusted to changes in prices, wages and productivity.

Employment Security and Retirement . . . Older workers want to take care of themselves as long as possible, yet they face acute problems in maintaining employment security. Programs in the fields of personnel management, adult training and retraining, vocational counseling and guidance and rehabilitation for older workers should be improved and extended.

Housing . . . A program of action is needed to provide the aged with living accommodations that enrich their way of life and offer a future to all. This will require an integrated attack by private industry, philanthropic organizations and government at the local, state and federal level.

Local Community Organizations . . . The individual American lives in a local community. Many problems of the aging and aged and many of the community conditions affected by or affecting the aging can only be resolved at the local level. Each person must take the responsibility of developing and using his own capacities for growth and service. In addition, a good community must build those resources which enable older people to remain independent as long as possible.

State Organizations . . . Since the states are heavily involved in programs affecting older persons, there is a real need for an overall view and approach. It is recommended that each state establish a permanent unit (office, commission or agency) on aging to provide statewide leadership in programs for the aging.

National Voluntary Service Organizations . . . The groups frequently serve as pace setters in developing new standards, services and facilities for the aging, and as interpreters in achieving a positive understanding of the aged. They should emphasize their unique role in the area of demonstration, experiment and research in this field, while at the same time avoiding duplication of efforts and services.

Federal Organizations and Programs . . . Over the years, for one reason or another, the Federal Government has become deeply committed to various forms of aid to the individual citizen. There should be a primary reliance upon the individual's own efforts, with assistance and encouragement from private enterprise, voluntary organizations and a partnership between local, state and federal governments. State administration of public assistance and unemployment compensation programs is necessary to recognize difference between states. Many amendments or improvements to existing federal services were suggested including in the fields of health and benefits, research, employment, taxes, nursing homes, and planning.

Wellll...What Did I Tell You Twenty Years Ago?

THE BONE . . . The big change-over in Washington brought about by the Democrats moving in and the Republicans moving out adds emphasis again to the fact that life from political appointment is a precarious livelihood.

"Turn the old crowd out" may not be as true as it used to be before civil service became a way of life for many. It still is heard in Washington — and frequently a lot closer home than that.

We have known scores of people to lose jobs in county government when a new party moved into power for a season. Big changes occur in Raleigh, too, when a new administration takes the reins of office.

Fortunately, the so-called "career" people in our State Government are seldom affected by these changes. So, while they lack just a whole lot making as much money as their bosses and assistant bosses, they can look to the future with much more job certainty.

The number of job changes made by a Governor is usually in direct proportion to how well he got along in the campaign with the Governor he succeeded in office. If memory serves correctly relatively few top level changes were made in Raleigh from 1928 to 1940.

This was so largely because O. Max Gardner, who was elected in 1928, wanted J. C. B. Ehringhaus to succeed him in 1932 — and of course Gov. Ehringhaus wanted Gardner's brother-in-law, Clyde H. Hoey, to follow him in 1936.

Although there was a general mixup in 1940 — with A. J. Maxwell, W. P. Horton, and J. M. Broughton in the thick of it — there was a lot of Gardner Ring strength in the Broughton victory. Nevertheless, the contest had been extremely close, with Broughton finally going in without a second Primary (Horton, second high man, decided not to call for it).

This caught a lot of folks away out on the limb — and J. M. Broughton saved it off and thereby strengthened State government.

Gregg Cherry didn't make many changes when he went in on January 4, 1945, for we were still in World War II and very little manpower was available.

When Kerr Scott went in four years later, he made wholesale changes — and just a lot of officeholders moved out voluntarily when they saw him coming. He had campaigned on the "there'll-be-some-changes-made" theme, so he made them.

Gov. Scott also later moved out some of the men he brought in, claiming they were not supporting. were not loyal, to his "go forward" administration. The fur really flew for a while.

Scott's appointees supported Umstead rather than their boss' choice.

Despite the fact that he broadened State Governmental activities, creating a few more big jobs, Gov. Luther Hodges made relatively few changes except as death, resignation, or promotion demanded it.

The shift of power in the Governor's office in the past 12 years as compared with former years is best illustrated by the fact that able Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles of Greensboro is the fourth man who has served as director of the gargantuan Department of Conservation and Development since 1949. But Uncle Bruce Etheridge of Dare County, now in the Legislature for his 11th term, served as director of C&D from 1933 to 1949, coming in with Ehringhaus and going out with Scott.

He moved safely through the administration of Ehringhaus, Hoey, Broughton, and Cherry — and surprised everyone around here by lasting three months in the Scott Administration. He was succeeded by Gov. Scott's old friend, George Ross, who kept high the standard of C&D and lives in retirement in Moore County.

Gov. Terry Sanford has made and will make many important changes in top level personnel — though probably not as many as he might have if Luther Hodges had not come to his side so strongly in that turbulent second Primary last summer.

NO MEAT . . . Harry Gaton, the new executive vice president of the N. C. Bankers Association, tells a story in the January issue of his fine publication, "Tarheel Banker", which illustrates how things swing in the fast game of appointive politics.

Harry, former administrative assistant to U. S. Sen. Ervin, and regarded as one of the best on the hill in Washington, D. C., decided to give up that position for the relatively quiet life of Raleigh . . . and incidentally he now lives in the former parsonage of Hayes Barton Methodist Church just off Fairview Road here.

While waiting for a subway car in the innards of the Senate Office Building in early December, Gaton saw Elmer, a Western Union messenger in the building since 1943. He said "goodbye" and explained he was moving to Raleigh to go with the N. C. Bankers Association.

This is what Harry says Elmer said: "I've been working in this building a long time. You did the right thing. I've seen folks here having a bone with meat on it one day and the next day have nothing but a bone."

Friend Gaton concludes, by observing: "In my time I have seen many political job holders without even a bone, as Elmer says. Or, in other words, to the victor belongs the spoils."

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Our new President says America has got to move ahead in the sixties. I don't know if it's ahead, behind, or sideways but we've been moving pritty fast now for a long spell.

They was discussing this move-ahead business at the country store Saturday night and most all the fellers had a item or two fer debate. Ed Doolittle, fer instance, said the medical and dental perfessions was moving ahead real good. Ed said his old lady got a bill from her dentist. "To Professional Service $28." He allowed as how this dentist would have a fit if he got a bill from his druggist, "To Items $64.26." It was agreed by one and all that doctors and dentists was getting too far ahead when they quit itemizing their bills.

And Clem Webster noted that we'd moved ahead into a brand new economic system fer the working man. It used to be, allowed Clem, that a working man set his pay at a figger he thought he was worth fer a honest day's work. But now he sets it according to what he thinks his boss is able to pay without going broke. The fellers agreed that if this trend keeps up, the store clerk will have to call the bank to see what you're able to pay afore he gives you the price on a pair of shoes.

And real move-ahead signs was noted by the fellers in other fields. Zeke Grubb said it used to be that country editors always run a page ever week telling the farmers how to farm, what to plant and when and how. Now claims Zeke, the weekly newspapers is leaving such matters up to the city boys in the Department of Agriculture. Bug Hookum noted that we'd moved ahead so far in the last 30 year in taxes that them fellers could now get blood out of a turnip. But the greatest progress in the move-ahead program, according to Josh Clodhopper, was in the teen-age field. Josh said all juvenile delinquents was improved to where we ain't got nothing to worry about but problem children.

It's hard to predict where this move-ahead program will take us in the sixties but I'm all in favor of it. I see where one Congressman, fer instance, is advocating we print our paper money in fancy colors so it'll have more glamor to it. Personally, Mister Editor, I ain't never saw a glamorous $20 bill but if it takes it to move ahead they can print it in bedroom pink and kitchen yellow.

And as we git ready to move ahead in the sixties, Ike goes back to his farm. Farming is the nearest thing to war a feller can find and I predict good ole Ike will be happy back there estimating and rotating his crops fer Uncle Sam.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Only three retiring Presidents—John Adams, his son John Quincy Adams and Andrew Johnson, have declined to attend the inauguration of their successors, the National Geographic Society says.

Theme: Who Deserves The Blame For Carelessness?
TEXT: "Much care is caused by carelessness" — Walter Hilabacher.

There seems to be two types of citizens in this over-stuffed community, one, a higher economic variety which worries not about getting to its business from a country house in summer and a Manhattan apartment in winter. The other is the lowly commuter, a hybrid type of uncertain characteristics who lives in the suburbs and must depend upon man-steered trains each morning and evening to take him to and from his work in the city. I am among this second group and can testify that even though the commuter trains are manned by humans, sometimes, as currently, we receive inhuman treatment. For example, a few hundred harbor employes struck, their strike was honored by railroad men for almost a hundred miles north of here, and as a consequence, the New York Central Railroad stopped all its trains — and left 40,000 commuters stranded high and — some of them — dry.

At first blush, one might think it was a conspiracy between the strikers and New York City hotel people, for it so happened that many of the hotels had plenty of empty rooms, and when the trains stopped running, all their rooms filled up as if by magic, or Mike Quill. However, when it was discovered that some of these very hotel executives live in the suburbs and were themselves stranded, the theory fell through. Suffice it to say, that never was there a more disgruntled group of guests in history at these hostleries, and from what I can gather of their comparatively frugal and knowing habits of how things operate in the city, never a less-tipping collection of inmates.

It's rather hard, too, to blame this thing on the outgoing Eisenhower administration, for Federal mediators here got whopling mad and forced their way into crowded hotels, out-ranking some commuters and taking up space for round-the-clock medication which could have been used by Aunt Minnie, in town from Scarsdale to see "The Music Man" on Broadway. I doubt that John Kennedy had anything to do with it either, for he stays here often at a local hotel and am sure wanted a good night's sleep before he took that long ride down Constitution Avenue to the inauguration point of no return. The city dwellers themselves hardly welcomed the hearty horde which descended on them from myriad offices and ate food already getting scarce because of the freight-train tie-up. All in all, the whole thing was a mess, and I have yet to find one person pleased about it.

Still, the loss of these trains is not as great as it might at first appear. Some of them are so old they appear to belong to the pre-Cambrian age. Riding on some of them recently, I was sitting beside Carl Haverlin, president of Broadcast Music, Inc. and a Civil War enthusiast, and we agreed that the car in which we were riding might have delivered supplies to Stonewall Jackson at Chancellorsville. The seat in which we two tried to sit was at least four feet wide, and I was forced to arise and remove my overcoat to allow room for us to breathe. Carl was trying to read the New York Times review of the bad Gershwin show on television the night before, and I had to read over his shoulder because there was not room for two newspapers — and what is no way to increase newspaper circulation. Finally, the conductor came by, looked guiltily down at the floor as he took our tickets, then admitted that the car was fifty years old—"Just the length of time I've been with this railroad," he added mournfully, looking as if he could see retirement just around the next curve — or hoped to. He had a stick in his hand with which he tried to pry open the ancient, warped door of the car. "Isn't this equipment sumpn?" he asked, shaking his head. "And you know the trouble with the railroads?" he asked. Before we could reply that we did, he said, "The people who run them are not railroad men, but young fellows just out of college, who have no love for their work." Love our work or not, Carl and I squeezed out and walked stiffly to ours.

George Washington's first inauguration in New York was delayed from March 4 to April 30, 1789, because of travel difficulties. This his first term was cut short by almost two months.

Carelessness in others can be most irritating. Many of our choice plans are spoiled and many of our achievements are unrealized through the carelessness of others. This causes many of us to rant and rave; some become fighting mad; some burst into tears and others become discouraged and quit. However, the responsibility for the carelessness of others in situations which concern us, is ours, not theirs. People are careless only when they are not interested. If we can make them as interested as we are, they will not be careless.

The military learned that fact and "briefed" its personnel on purpose and objectives. They made them interested for greater efficiency.

When someone's carelessness spoils your pet project, look inside yourself for the cause. Did you capture their interest before you put your dependence on them? If you had they would not have been careless.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — Those of us who witnessed the inaugural oath by President Kennedy at the Capitol were part of a drama that has always fascinated men everywhere who see democracy in action. Kennedy as the 35th occupant of the White House demonstrates anew the strength a n d the union which binds this country into the greatest of all nations.

TAR HEELS— A host of North Carolinians were on hand at the Capitol for these ceremonies. This year's festivities were probably the most colorful ever. Led by Parade Grand Marshal, Lt. General James M. Gavin, wartime commander of the famed 82nd Airborne Division, more than 33,000 civilian and military marchers participated in the 19-61 Presidential Inaugural Parade. North Carolina, like all the other states of the union, sent its sons and daughters to participate in the parade.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS— Most of my time not spent in the Senate debates has been used recently in attending meetings of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Judiciary Committee. The latter held hearing on the appointment of Robert Kennedy for the cabinet post of Attorney General. Despite charges of inexperience by some critics, I urged his confirmation because I believe that the President should have the power to pick his advisers. I have known Robert Kennedy since the days when he served as Counsel to the Senate Rackets Committee of which I was a member. He has a great capacity for work, has superior intelligence, and is a man of outstanding courage.

HODGES— I accompanied former Governor Luther Hodges to the Senate Commerce Committee which was considering his nomination for Secretary of Commerce. Governor Hodges and I were schoolmates at the University of North Carolina and my long association with him has been most pleasant. He made an excellent impression on the Committee and will be the first Cabinet member from North Carolina since Secretary of the Navy, Joseph Daniels, who was a member of Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet.

KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION— Much has been said and written about the new Kennedy Administration. My impression has been that the new Administration (Continued On Page 3)

We Understand . . . 'Commended'

The operation of the waste treatment plants of the Town of Mocksville has been commended by the North Carolina Department of Water Resources, State Stream Sanitation Committee.

In a letter to Mayor D. J. Mando, W. E. Knight, Chief of Operation and Maintenance Section wrote:

"It is evident from the data that the operation of these two (Mocksville) plants prevented 59.88 tons of suspended solids and 55.96 tons of 5-day 20-deg. B.O.D. from being imposed on the water resources of the State. Such an accomplishment is truly commendable. Those responsible for this outstanding record merit our highest praise and sincere appreciation." Andrew Lagle is in charge of this plant.

Just what this means the average layman probably will not understand and neither do we. However, we do understand the sentence that read: "Such an accomplishment is truly commendable and those responsible for this outstanding record merit our highest praise and sincere appreciation". We recognize this as being complimentary and inasmuch as it pertains to an accomplishment of our, all should share the pride.

Living Costs Up!

The latest monthly report from Washington shows that living costs were up again in the past month. That means they rose from a record high to another record high, in spite of the recession we are in — and have been in for some months now.

Living costs cannot continue to go up, while the economy remain depressed, without causing severe hardships to many lower and lower middle-class families. Already there are better than four millions unemployed and every increase in living costs is a blow to these Americans.

Yet there is reason to believe that a gradual increase in the cost of living is to be expected as normal. What is needed — if this trend is not to be harmful — is a steady, even if small, rise in income.

This has been achieved in most of the recent years under the Eisenhower Administration — though the farmer has come off unusually badly, in this matter of net income increase.

Nevertheless, as long as the peoples' net income can be increased, even modestly, annually, cost-of-living increases will not be as disturbing as they appear on the surface. For if the economy is to experience a gradual inflation — which it has ever since the Revolution — then costs of living will inch up, as earnings of the average American inch up. One will offset the other.

The contention of the new Kennedy Administration was that the economy of the United States was not growing fast enough in recent years — two or three percent annually. Also, it was said there was too much unemployment and too many weak spots in the economy. These conditions the new Administration now has a chance to improve upon.

New Yorkers often shiver in winters more severe than those in Reykjavik, Iceland's capital. A current extending from the warm Gulf Stream contributes to the Reykjavik area's 35-degree average in January, as compared to 30 degrees in New York.

India's Sikhs, whose beards and turbans are now familiar in many world capitals, practice a faith that combines both Hindu and Moslem beliefs. Like followers of Islam, Sikhs worship only god and oppose caste barriers, says the National Geographic Magazine. Like Hindus, they eat no beef and cremate their dead.

All the Japanese islands together add up to only 142,500 square miles, less than the area of Montana, the National Geographic Magazine says. Yet they hold 94 million people — 140 times Montana's population.

During its 20 to 30 years of life, a grizzly bear may eat anything from ants to beached whales, the Geographic Magazine says. It relishes meat, fresh or carrion, but devours considerably more vegetation. To break the winter fast, a grizzly begins on new grass, grazing as contentedly as a cow.

REGIONAL STOCKER CATTLE SALE

The following are rules and regulations for Stocker Cattle Sale, to be held at The Iredell County Fairgrounds, Statesville, N. C. April 12th, 1961. People that have cattle to put on this sale should get in touch with the County Agent's office in the near future:

1. Only cattle of strictly beef breeding will be accepted for the sale. Both steer and heifer cattle will be included.

2. Cattle sold through the sale must be field inspected by the Selection Committee prior to the day of the sale. Selection Committee in each county to be headed by County Extension Service and aided by local farmers.

3. Cattle will be sorted into official grades at the market on the day prior to sale by an official grader and will be sold in lots of such size as is deemed advisable by the Sales Committee.

4. Actual sales management, advertising, and other details of the sale will be left entirely to the Sales Committee.

5. Producers will agree to have their cattle mixed with those of other producers according to the weight of his cattle in the lot.

6. All cattle entered in the sale must be vaccinated for Blackleg and vaccinated for Hemorrhagic Septicemia (Shipping Fever) at least 14 days and not over 90 days prior to the date of the sale and each producer consigning cattle will sign a certificate giving date of vaccination. Certificates must be turned in before cattle are unloaded on date of delivery.

7. All bulls will be castrated and completely healed. All animals must be dehorned and completely healed.

8. All heifers are guaranteed to be open. This guarantee is a contract between the producer and the buyer and reads thus: "I hereby agree to refund to the buyer or buyers, provided he or they are the original purchasers, $20.00 of the purchase price on any heifer in my consignment dropping a full-time calf on or before 280 days from sale date, providing it is reported to the sale manager within 10 days of the above date, and the claim is certified by a licensed veterinarian."

9. At the time cattle are entered for the sale, each producer will be required to sign an agreement. Actual sales and advertising expenses will be prorated on a per head basis, total expenses not to exceed $3.00 per head. Hay and water will be provided at no additional expense.

10. No cattle under 350 pounds in weight will be accepted.

11. A closing date for consignment will be March 15, 1961.

12. Cattle which, in the judgment of the Sales Committee, do not meet the qualification of the sale including improper hauling may be rejected on the day of delivery.

13. All animals entering the sale ring must be sold. No consignors will have a "No Sale" privilege.

14. All cattle to be delivered to sale born by 5:00 p.m. on the day prior to the sale to be weighed and graded.

15. Cross-bred cattle will be accepted until deemed necessary to change.

16. The sale will start promptly at 1:00 p.m.

17. A nomination fee of $1.00 per head is to be submitted to the Statesville Regional Feeder Calf Association at time of consignment. This $1.00 will be subtracted from sale fee when cattle are sold. ($1.00 when consigned, $2.00 when sold). Failure to bring cattle nominated for sale will mean forfeit of nomination fee.

Social Security In Davie County

You do not have to completely retire to draw social security benefits, and under recent changes in the social security law, many social security beneficiaries who work in 1961 and later years will have less of their benefits withheld than they do now.

As before, however, a person is considered retired if he or she is not earning more than $1200 per year. A beneficiary who earns more than $1200 loses only $1 of benefits for every $2 that he earns between $1200 and $1500. For every $1 or earnings above $1500, he loses $1 of his benefits.

Under the rules in effect before 1961, a beneficiary who earned over $1200 in a year would lose a whole month's benefit check for every $80, or fraction of $80 by which his earnings exceeded $1200. So, if his earnings were over $2000, he would lose all benefit checks for the year. However, under both the old and the new rules, a beneficiary can be paid his full benefit check for any month in which he neither works for wages of more than $200 nor renders substantial services in self employment. It does not matter how high his total earnings for the year may go, he will still be paid his checks for those months. If you are a man age 65 or older, or a woman, age 62 or over, and are still working part time, you may be entitled to social security benefits for some of the months in the calendar year. If you are already getting social security benefits, you will get full information through the mail about the new rules so that you may plan for the work you may want to do in 1961. If you are past retirement age, but have not yet applied for your social security benefits because your earnings are too high, get in touch with your social security office now. The new rules that go into effect in 1961 may make it possible for you to collect some benefits even though you are working.
