

Dave Lybrook Offers Old House For Fairgrounds Restoration

Project Would Restore Old Belt Farmstead At Dixie Classic Grounds

Dave Lybrook has offered to donate a 133-year-old log house on the Lybrook Farm in Davie County for removal to the Dixie Classic Fairgrounds in Winston-Salem. This is in connection with the drive to reconstruct one of more old farm buildings on the fairgrounds.

The idea originated with the fair manager, Neil Bolton and tobaccoist J. Bryan Harper, to donate and restore a suitable old-fashioned tobacco barn on the fairgrounds.

A 125-year-old tobacco barn already has been donated. Cash contributions total $35. "More dollars or labor or needed materials will be necessary, however, even to get the barn dismantled and moved and restored," said Mr. Bolton. "And we ought to get the job started, in order to have it ready by October Fair Week."

Mr. Harper has suggested "a lot of small contributions, from $1 up to any amount, would get the job done—and make all concerned feel that they have had a real part in this project."

It will cost an estimated $250 to move and rebuild the tobacco barn.

Main materials needed, in addition to the barn logs and other wood parts: Authentic old barn stones, rived shingles, clay for "dubbing".

Labor needed: A few spare hours by several men, especially one or more familiar with the construction of Old Belt Barns. "If sufficient materials and/or cash are donated, it has been suggested that a day be set for an old fashioned 'barn raisin'". Volunteer workers could come and soon have the job done.

"The barn—which we have already—should claim first attention," Mr. Harper last week. "This is what we started out to do. By the interest already expressed by many in several counties, I feel sure we can get this job done."

Mr. Bolton has set up a "Barn Fund" file in the Dixie Classic Fair office. All donations are being kept in this account, and all offers of materials or help are being listed.

If the fund builds up above the needs of the barn, they will be earmarked for an additional farm-house project—corn crib, smokehouse, or perhaps the old log dwelling house offered by Dave Lybrook.

Sherriff's Travel

Rep. Lester P. Martin, Jr. of Davie County has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives fixing the travel allowance of members of the Sheriff's Department of Davie County.

This bill, HB 361, introduced by Rep. Martin on March 30th, fixes travel allowances for Davie County Sheriff and his two salaried deputies at $100 per month each as reimbursement for use of personal automobile in official duties; allowance payable from county general fund; allowance effective as of April 1, 1961, but should county commissioners furnish and maintain county-owned vehicles for use of department, provision as to allowance becomes void.

At the present time the sheriff receives monthly allowance of $33; chief deputy $50, and second deputy, $35 for use of personal automobile.

The bill was referred to the committee on local government.

Duke Power Co. Awarded Citation

Duke Power Company has been awarded the Edison Electric Institute's number on citation for helping its customers live better electrically.

The plaque was presented to Promotion Manager Henry H. Orr at EEI's annual meeting in Chicago. The citation reads: "Presented to Duke Power Company in recognition of its outstanding program for fostering the electric way of living."

Duke Power, which serves its residential customers at rates 20 per cent below the national average, based its entry in the annual contest mainly on its educational program on electrically-heated homes.

In 1960, Duke connected 2,301 total electric homes, more than twice the number added in 1959. One hundred and 17 belong to Duke Power employees. Duke Power installed a special rate in 1958 which is available to total-electric homeowners.

In the 20,000 square mile area served by Duke in the Piedmont Carolinas there are over 4,000 total electric homes.

Duke competed for the EEI award with electric utilities from all over the nation.

GILMER BREWER

Two Salesmen Are Honored

Two salesmen of the Pennington Chevrolet Co., Inc. were honored last week at the annual recognition Legion of Leaders Banquet in Charlotte.

Gilmer Brewer and John N. McDaniel were among 150 top salesmen of North and South Carolina honored for sales during 1961 of both new and used cars.

Mr. Brewer received his eighth diamond, denoting that this was the eighth year he has earned this honor. Mr. McDaniel received his seventh diamond. These diamonds are put into a lapel pin.

The two Mocksville salesmen were among only 34 out of approximately 1100 salesmen of the two states to earn the honor for seven years or more.

Five From Davie To Attend Peace Seminars Next Week

The Methodist Churches of Davie County will send four delegates to the sixth Washington-

United Nations World Peace Seminar, April 11-15. This is sponsored by the Division of Peace and World Order of the Board of Christian Social Concerns, and by the Youth Council of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church.

The delegates attending from Davie County are as follows: Billy E. Evans of Mocksville, Rt. 5, President of the Center Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Benny L. Merrell of Mocksville Rt. 1, President of the Davie County Senior Sub-District.

Maggie P. Hartman, Advance Rt. 1.

Dorothy Cornatzer, Advance Rt. 1.

The Rev. George Auman of Mocksville, Seminar chairman for the Thomasville District, will accompany the group.

The purpose of the seminar is that of affording the youth of the conference the opportunity of:

1. Participating in programs in the State Department and the United Nations.
2. Attending congressional meetings;
3. Hearing national and international leaders;
4. Learning in part how foreign policy is determined;
5. Deepening their concern for and interest in world peace and challenging them to recognize the part youth may and should have in helping to formulate international relations on a Christian level.

The seminar programs will be held at the State Department in Washington, D. C. and at the United Nations Headquarters in New York City.

The local delegates will join those of other areas on a chartered bus. Leaving on April 11 from the Winston-Salem bus station, the group will travel through Virginia visiting historical points of interest, arriving Washington, D. C. around 6 p.m.

April 12th: There will be an informal tour of the State Department and a seminar at the State Department. Also, the schedule on this day provides for a visit to the Senate and House of Representatives, leaving for New York at 4 p.m., arriving there at 10:30 p.m.

April 13th: Schedule calls for a visit to the United Nations and a seminar there. Later that afternoon the schedule calls for a possible trip by steamer to the Statue of Liberty.

Local Man's Mother Selected For Award

Mrs. R. C. Smith, Sr., of 3909 Old Vineyard Road, Winston-Salem, mother of R. C. Smith, Jr., of Mocksville, has been nominated for North Carolina's "Mother of the Year" by the Women's Fellowship of New Philadelphia Moravian Church.

The state winner will be announced in Raleigh Monday, April 10.

Mrs. Smith was cited in the nomination for her faith, cheerfulness, patience and courage through illness that were fatal to two daughters.

Both of her living children, a son and a daughter, have suffered serious injuries in accidents. The son, Mr. Smith, lost a leg and is partially paralyzed.

The daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Smith Wells of Petersburg, Va., recently underwent major surgery to correct injuries she received in an accident.

Mrs. Smith's husband, a retired Southern Railway employee, had to discontinue driving a car because of his health. Recently, Mrs. Smith learned to drive and she considers this her most outstanding achievement.

Art Classes For Adults To Be Given Here

Plans were announced this week for the opening of night commercial art classes in Mocksville.

Stanley E. Allen, well-known commercial artist and designer who is instructing several Davie County citizens in this work, announced that he would open a class for adults. This class will be at night in order that many adults who cannot attend day classes may have the opportunity of attending at night.

Mr. Allen said that at the present time there will be only one night class per week, the time and place to be announced later. These classes will be for a person who likes to draw.

"I feel that many persons who like to draw would love to paint if given the opportunity," said Mr. Allen. "Painting is fascinating and relaxing, as well as becoming a profitable hobby. We will welcome your inquiry concerning these classes."

Rotarians Told To Speak A Kind Word To Others

Rotarians were told Tuesday of how they could apply the Rotary philosophy to everyday living.

D. J. Mando told his fellow Rotarians how they could put their talents to work by speaking a kind word about their fellowman. "There is magic in words of praise," Mr. Mando told the Rotarians. "Everyone needs words of praise to go far in life. Too many of us are all ready to rebuke, to criticize, to find fault, to condemn, but a few of us ever take the time to speak a kind word of praise and leave unsaid many pleasant truths about our fellowmen," he continued.

Mr. Mando pointed out that "something good can be said about everyone... all we have to do is to say it."

Bill Daniel had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Mando. President George Rowland presided. Special guests included Kelly Clark of Mocksville, Route 4; Frank Wolfe of Clearwater Beach, Florida; and Sanford Whitcomb of Winston-Salem. Bruce Pratt was the student guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Newsom Live In House Trailer

On Friday night April 21st, the Mocksville Lions Club will conduct their annual broom sale in this community. On this night, members of this club will call on the various residents offering for sale brooms made by the Gullford Industries for the Blind. Proceeds from this sale will go to help the blind.

The work that the Mocksville Lions Club is doing for the blind is illustrated by the following story:

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Newsom, both blind, live in a house trailer on Mocksville Rt. 2, in what is often known as the Maine community.

Mr. Newsom, who was born in Cooleemee and lived in the Oak Grove community of Davie County, has been blind about 25-years. He dates the impairment of his vision to the time when he had a carbuncle on his neck lanced. He now has a glass eye in one eye and can see only slightly out of the other.

Mrs. Newsom has been blind for years. She said that when she was 6-months old she was stung in the side of the head by a hornet and that this weakened her eyes. Later as a youngster she stuck a cotton limb in the edge of her left eye, seriously impairing the sight. Today with her left eye she has only a very clouded vision; out of her right eye she can faintly discern near objects but can't see any distance.

For many years Mr. Newsom operated a snack bar and sold sandwiches and coffee for the State Commission for the Blind in Durham. He was operating this snack bar when he met Mrs. Newsom, who was already blind at the time. They were married in 1936, and continued to operate the snack bar until his sight failed completely, about 2 years ago in March.

Moving back to his native Davie County in May 1960, the couple first lived in a house. However, with their handicap they felt that a house trailer would be better suited to them. Such a house trailer was purchased and was located on a lot in the Maine community several months ago. Land was donated by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Whitaker of Oak Grove.

The Mocksville Lions Club gave a helping hand to the couple and provided cement steps leading to the trailer and installed a septic tank. This club also is aiding this couple and others in many other ways.

WHICH APPEALS TO SUPPORT

The experts are fond of devising questionnaires to test our judgment on problems and issues that confront us in everyday life.

On what basis can we test our judgment in deciding which of the many public appeals to support?

There are some 4,000 to 5,000 more or less organized appeals. We cannot contribute to all of them, not even to the 500 which the National Better Business Bureau has approved.

How, then, can we select the cause or causes most worthy of our support — assuming, of course, we have a freedom of choice?

Traditionally, Americans are warmly responsive to any effort to alleviate human suffering, to cure and prevent sickness and disease.

The questions we must ask ourselves are, first, in which of all diseases is there a compelling universal urgency to find a solution? Second, of the leading causes of death and death-inducing illness, what can we do the most about today?

Certainly, one disease that fits these criteria is cancer. It strikes the young and the old, inflicts supreme physical suffering, causes incalculable economic loss and pathetic family disruption and dissolution. It is not without reason that the disease is called a scourge, mankind's cruelest enemy.

Something can be done about the problem, as the American Cancer Society has shown. More than one million living Americans have been cured of cancer, and still more could be cured if they saw their doctors in time. Some exciting new discoveries in cancer research hold promise of new cures and, hopefully, a preventive. But it takes money to bring the facts about cancer to the people, to provide physicians with material on cancer diagnosis and treatment, to support cancer research.

The money raised by the American Cancer Society in its April Crusade is invested in programs of education, research and service to cancer patients. Progress in these fields is like the growth of grass. The eye cannot measure the new growth from day to day, but by nourishing the soil, we know what the end result will be.

Let us help to hasten his growth. Support the 1961 Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

THE MASON-DIXON LINE

Civil War buffs who seek out the Mason-Dixon Line during the current centennial will find that America's most famous boundary needs repairs.

Most of the original stone markers still stand at one-mile intervals along the east-west Maryland-Pennsylvania border, says the National Geographic Society. With some mended and reset, and new ones added, the Line is considered to be in good condition there.

Along the north-south Maryland-Delaware front, however, many stones are broken. Some are out of place, and a few have disappeared. The United States Congress and the Maryland and Delaware legislatures have all passed acts approving restoration of this less-known part of the Mason-Dixon Line. Here the Line must be redrawn by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, and necessary funds have not yet been approved.

People wishing to see or photograph the old stone markers may find them with a little exploration along the State boundaries. But not all sightseers will realize that the line popularly supposed to mark the division between Confederate and Union sides actually was established a century before the Civil War.

The story goes back to Colonial disputes over borderlands between the Calverts of Maryland and the Penns of Pennsylvania. The quarrels, punctuated with periodic appeals the Crown, dragged on until 1750, when the English Court of Chancery drew up a compromise.

The Court decision, ratified by both sides, gave special attention to the most controversial areas in and just north of the big eastern peninsula between Delaware and Chesapeake Bays.

Pennsylvania received what is now Delaware State, Maryland most of the rest. The boundaries were to be established from the Atlantic to a central spot on the peninsula, thence northward to a specified point southwest of Philadelphia, and then westward in a straight line.

Local surveyors soon began marking off the borders, but ran into many delays. The Colonial authorities grew impatient and brought over two English surveyors trained in mathematics and astronomy. Their names were Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon—destined to be forever joined in the largest engineering-surveying achievement of 18th-century America.

Mason and Dixon worked from 1763 to 1767. After verifying and completing the Peninsula and junction lines, they set off into western wilderness. With them went assistant surveyors, Indian guides, axmen, wagon drivers.

The team laid out the line for 230 miles, 30 miles beyond Maryland's westernmost frontier and almost to Pennsylvania's. At that point the Indians refused to go on into a hostile tribal area. But the mission was accomplished, with results surprisingly close to modern calculations.

Mason and Dixon set up 224 stone markers. They left others along the way to be installed later. Carved in England, the five-mile stones bore Penn and Calvert arms; intermediary ones, the initials M and P.

How, then did this Colonial boundary become so firmly linked with the Civil War division? Some say its midway location between the seaboard States gave rise to the assumption. Others point out that at one time, the line did separate slaveholding Maryland and Delaware from free Pennsylvania. In any event, the Mason-Dixon boundary never stood between Confederate and Union States. Both Maryland and Delaware joined Pennsylvania, north of it, as supporters of the Union.

Weekly Report from the General Assembly

By Lester P. Martin, Jr., Representative

For the second time during this session death vacated a seat in the House of Representatives. On Tuesday I joined a delegation, including the Governor and members of the General Assembly, attending the funeral of Dr. John Phelps, Representative from Washington County, who had died during the week-end. Dr. Phelps was buried in Creswell, a small coastal town where he practiced medicine for many years before coming to the General Assembly.

Dr. Phelps' place in the House of Representatives will be filled by his widow. She will have little difficulty in becoming accustomed to the duties since she had previously stayed in Raleigh with her husband and is familiar with the tasks and duties required of the position.

On Wednesday a large number of Legislators attended a forestry demonstration program about four miles east of Southern Pines. The purpose of this demonstration was to acquaint us with the North Carolina Forest Service forestry program and to illustrate how the small farm woodland owner can best profit by good woodland management.

On Thursday afternoon the Conservation & Development Committee of the House gave its stamp of approval to a bill creating a Commission to save the U.S.S. North Carolina from the scrap heap and to bring it to either Southport, Morehead or Wilmington as a tourist attraction. This noble vessel was once known as the "show boat" of the fleet and saw action during World War II in both of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. It carried a crew of 3600 men and could stay at sea for 92 days. Now, however, battleships are said to be obsolete and the Navy has no further use for it. The money required to bring the U.S.S. North Carolina and to berth it at one of the above named ports will be raised by public subscription and will not come from the State Treasury. This ship, which is taller than any building in the state and longer than the distance from the State Capital building to the Sir Walter Hotel, will then compete with "Tweetsie" and Grandfather Mountain as the Number One Tourist Attraction in the State.

On Thursday afternoon the State Soil Conservation Committee requested of the Appropriations Committee an additional appropriation for the Small Watershed Program in North Carolina. This request is of vital interest to citizens in Davie County because the Dutchman Creek project is one of the 16 projects now pending for planning assistance as soon as funds are available.

On Wednesday night various members of the Legislature discovered that moth-eaten Tuxedos had shrunk considerably since college days. The occasion was the Governor's reception at the Mansion for members of the General Assembly. It took one hour to get dressed, one hour to sweat out the line, and one minute to shake the Governor's hand and go through the receiving line.

TEXT: "If wishes were horses, beggars would ride." — H. G. Bohn.

The attorney was reminiscing. "When I was a boy," he said, "my highest ambition was to be a pirate."

"You're in luck," said his client. "It isn't every man who can realize the ambition of his youth."

A cartoon showed a teen-ager introducing her boy-friend to her parents. "Charlie has a lot of ambition," she boasted. "He wants to be a millionaire." To many of us, ambition is wishing. We would like to reach some exalted state of bliss. We think that would be an agreeable situation for us. We say we are ambitious. We aren't. We are merely relaxing in a debilitating bath of luxurious wishes.

Ambition may start with a wish, but wishing must end immediately. After the first moment ambition becomes work, sweat, sacrifice, disappointment, discouragement and determined, unceasing effort. When you struggle through those situations, discover that you have not yet reached your objective, and continue trying, you may say you have "ambition." Ambition is not a word. It is an unending action toward a goal. That is why few people are truly ambitious. It's too difficult. Ambition is wings, not wishes.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — Laos and the Congo occupy the stage in the foreign policy global contest being waged by the Soviets. Congressional leaders at home and our allies abroad have expressed approval of the President's firm stand in the latest Laotian crisis. To date we have fared better than the Soviets in the Congo. In the small nation of Laos our position is less secure despite the fact that since 1954 we have poured some $300 millions into military and economic aid for this country to prevent it from slipping behind the Iron Curtain. There are several reasons for this. First, there is a complacency about the peril by the Laotian leadership which the U. S. is backing. Secondly, the supply lines of the Soviets and their allies are shorter. A Soviet airlift from Hanoi, North Vietnam, a few hundred miles away can drop thousands of rebels into Laos quickly. Lastly, by being the "behind the scenes" aggressor, the Soviets can pick the "brush fire" wars.

War and Peace

This nation is ardently striving for peace, but at the same time is confronted with the alternative of war. The Soviet leaders seem to understand far better when we state to them that we will not yield another inch of territory than they do when we sit down with them to discuss disarmament. Since this condition exists and we must live with it or perish by it, our imperative need is for a mobile, well equipped "brush-fire" army which is ready to fight at a moment's notice in the most remote province of the world.

Conditions for Peace

While we seek peace and make plans for world disarmament we must realize that the conditions for peace and disarmament must exist among the world powers. One of the great tragedies of World War II has been the fact that two of our great allies, the Soviet Union and China, have turned into aggressor nations. If they had continued to join with us in the ideals of peace as they did in the strategies of war, the world would have moved toward the "broad and sunlit" areas of lasting peace. Sixteen years after the armistice of World War II it is not enough for the representatives of the United States to be willing to disarm. We must be willing to disarm, to reduce our armies, and to stop all armament research and testing. The disarmament envoys of the Soviet Union and Red China and all nations must be men whose minds and hearts are dedicated to peace. Peace is cultivated in the hearts of men who can intelligently see the advantage of an unguarded

CAPITAL CLIPBOARD

News and Comment from our Raleigh Bureau—2615 Oberlin Rd.

Although hearings on tax bills have been in progress only a little over a week—and still have about three weeks to go—certain shapes are already developing.

Sanford Sacrifice

One of these is that the people will not have an opportunity to un-do or re-do action taken by the General Assembly. You will recall that Gov. Terry Sanford, in his important revenue message on March 6 recommending the broad-based tax on food to support our broad-based educational program, recommended that his program be carried to the voters for permanence after it had been adopted by the Legislature.

As of last week, even the more avid Sanford apostles wanted none of this doctrine. Consensus among the members is that their power comes fresh from the people—and they do not want to run the risk of getting a slap in the face. Which could mean later a slap at the polls.

So, in order to keep his ship afloat, it looks as if this is a bit of ballast the captain must sacrifice. This will not be all he must forego, but is an important item.

Getting The Votes

The feeling here this past weekend was that the Governor has as of right now enough votes in the 85-member Joint Finance Committee to take it to the floor with solid majority support.

There are approximately a dozen various tax packages now before the Joint Finance Committee. Each of them has a following, of course, but the Sanford Plan—as of last weekend—seemed to have majority strength. That is, it seemed to have as many followers, and a little better, as all the others combined.

Moreover, the subcommittee [to make the recommendations as to the tax plan to follow] will lean heavily to Sanford. Also, the Governor is being urged to go on the air again in a Statewide program for his Crusade—and is said to be seriously considering doing so.

Then To Congress?

One of the grandest persons in the Legislature this year is serving his eighth regular term in the House. Thus at the tender age of 50 he finds himself one of the real veterans.

A Lincoln-type of person, quiet and modest Clifton Blue of Aberdeen may be your next speaker of the House. As of last week he was the most likely candidate for the position. He has a surprisingly large following among old and new House members. He's a sidekick of Sanford.

This Moore County publisher is a former president of State YDC's, was an ardent Addison Hewlett supporter before and after Hewlett became Speaker and ran unsuccessfully for the U. S. Senate.

Sober, solid, and sincere Blue, could use the Speaker post as a springboard as candidate for Congress in the Turbulent Eighth District.

That's Money!

One of the speakers most in demand around Raleigh these days is, appropriately enough, Speaker of the House Joseph Marvin Hunt, Jr., of Greensboro. He's nobody's orator, no spell-binder—but he talks with a down-to-earth drag that you know is Right. There's no bull there; and you thus believe what he says.

Speaking at a big annual meeting of NOMA (National Office Management Association) here the other evening, Speaker Joe said that members like to come again and again to the Legislature for the friends they make. This, he pointed out, has equal importance with that feeling of being one of the cogs in the wheels of State Government. There is for a fact great and deep comradeship among members of the N. C. General Assembly.

Incidentally, Speaker Hunt estimates that he has spent out of his private pocket $14,000 more than he has been paid by the State for the four terms he has served in the House of Representatives.

In The State

Bill Sharpe, former publisher of the Twin City tabloid, "Thursday", is coming out with another edition on columnists of this State. This time he is writing on Raleigh writers—the syndicated variety—in the State Magazine which he publishes.

American-Canadian border stretching from sea to sea safeguarded by the good will of the two nations. War's harsh alternatives are presented in the Congo and Laotian crises which threaten the peace of the world.

Not much of a magazine subscriber are we, preferring the expensive excitement of newsstand purchase, but we seldom miss a copy of State Magazine, to which Sharpe has given so much stature. It just has stuff in it you won't find anywhere else—and nearly every page has at least one goody.

Oh, yes, about "Thursday". Sharpe put it out for a time in Winston-Salem in those easy, carefree days between the Depression and World War II.

But, like "PM", "Ken", "Letters" (published by Time until killed by Life), the N. Wilkesboro "Newsword", etc., "Thursday" was just too good to make the grade.

On the other hand, however, if the publication had succeeded, the State would have missed out on its first—and by far its best—press agent. And when we say "the State", we don't mean the magazine, we mean you folks out there in Tarheelia—from Manteo to Murphy.

Speaking of columns, one has out weekly—under or over one name or another—to an average of about 30 North Carolina newspapers for 18 years—from the T. Greenwood household in Raleigh. We've had various fine assistants, some short-lived, like T. Outlaw, K. Brewer, and P. Bailey. At one time the column was sued for $100,000.

At another time a goodly sum of money was offered for it by representatives of a would-be State dynasty. Always written on Saturday night or Sunday in order to get in on the latest before malling Sunday afternoon, the column has played havoc with Sunday School on the part of:

—EULA N. GREENWOOD

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — After many years of delay, the Civil Aeronautics Board seems to be stepping up its efforts to settle the question of expanded air service for Eastern North Carolina.

The initial recommendations of a CAB examiner were announced on March 13 in the long-pending Piedmont Local Service Area Investigation. The CAB has now set April 12 as the deadline for briefs of objections to be filed. This means that oral arguments before the CAB should follow shortly afterwards.

The recommendations made in the examiner's report are quite far-reaching and if they are approved by the CAB, many cities and towns in Eastern North Carolina will receive excellent North-South air service for the first time.

The proposals made by the examiner would authorize Piedmont Airlines to fly North-South routes between Atlanta and Washington and Baltimore via Lumberton, Fayetteville, Goldsboro, Kinston, Wilson, Greenville, Elizabeth City, Norfolk and Newport News, Va. Other routes between Atlanta and Washington and Baltimore would be via Myrtle Beach, S. C., Wilmington, Jacksonville, Kinston, Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, and Richmond, Va.

It is too early to determine how frequent service would be made available along these routes in the event the CAB approves them. However, they would be established under the examiner's recommendations on a "use it or lose it" basis. This means that those communities which would get service must provide the routes with enough business to justify their continuation.

For many years, many cities and towns in Eastern North Carolina have been without air service for all practical purposes. The argument has been made that the absence of adequate air service has been a drawback to industrial development and economic expansion.

The proposals made by the CAB examiner offer tremendous opportunities to the affected communities. If the proposed routes are approved, it will mean that these communities will be connected with major trunkline routes running North and South and also to the Midwest and West Coast.

This Is Cancer Month

April is "Cancer Month in Davie County!"

This is a matter of concern to every boy, girl and adult in the county. This year the message from cancer research is brighter and the word is "Hope". No longer does this deadly enemy claim every victim. We hear of more cured patients, even in our own county.

This year we want to put Davie County on top. It is necessary to have your help because:

1. Cancer is the number one killer of children.
2. It is the number one killer of women, ages 35-40 years.
3. More men than women die of cancer.
4. One-half of all deaths are people under 65.
5. More than 4,500 North Carolinians will die of cancer this year.
6. Most early cancers can be cured if detected early, so education is important.

This newspaper urges you to give generously to this worthy cause. Have your contributions ready for the house to house canvass or road block.

Remember.....What you give today may save the life of your child.....grandchild or even yourself, tomorrow.

UNLCE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Spring ain't arrived real good afore we got troubles. The fellers at the country store Saturday night was agreed that April is gitting to be the most aggravating month in the year.

First off, Ed Doolittle warned everybody to be on the lookout fer the annual Spring cleaning. Ed says that in one day a feller's old lady can clean up around the place in such a manner as to set the household back a whole year. Some of the fellers was in favor of a law making Spring cleaning illegal, unlawful, and a public felony.

And Clem Webster reported he'd saw in the papers where one school has already named their Commencement speaker. This was received as mighty bad news on account of it has took most of us all Summer and Winter to git over some of the Commencement speeches we read in the papers last Spring. Clem claims it'd be a heap better fer the graduates if they'd git turned out a couple hours earlier so's they could git a running start in life. They ain't got a second to lose in adjusting themselves to a country where a plumber's helpers makes more money than the school principal, where prices is so high they'll probably have to wear their caps and gowns to work, and where the only blessing of finishing one war is to git ready fer the next one.

Taking everything in consideration, threats of Spring cleaning and Commencement speeches, income tax, and swivel chairs, it was voted by all that April ain't one of our best months. Ed Doolittle went so fur as to say we could run the country pretty good with just eleven months and give April to Khrushchef.

And when the Government set April aside fer the Revenue folks it just about put the stopper in the Jug. Zeke Grubb allowed as how it used to be a feller could do a little twisting and turning with them income tax forms but now, claims Zeke, if you do more subtracting than adding, you got to send the records along fer proof. This'll be bad fer Zeke on account of him subtracting a heap better'n he adds. And I happen to know that Zeke keeps his records writ on the barn door and gitting that barn door mailed to the income Tax folks is going to be a problem fer Zeke.

Of course, April has a few goods points. Fer instant, Thomas Jefferson was born in April. But we even got a little argument from the fellers about ole Tom. Most of the fellers was agreed that Jefferson done a heap of fine things in his life, but Bug Hookum was lamenting about ole Tom inventing the swivel chair. Bug allowed as how inventing that contraction fer them bureaucrats in Washington just about offset all the good he done in life.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Funds For Cancer To Be Collected

The sound of ringing doorbells will signal the start of the 1961 Crusade of the American Cancer Society on Friday, April 7th, beginning at 7 p.m.

Volunteers of the Davie County Chapter of the American Cancer Society will call on homes of friends and neighbors to distribute educational leaflets which could save their lives, according to H. R. Hendrix, Jr., chairman of the Davie County Cancer Crusade.

"I hope every door in the community will be open to welcome our Crusaders in April," Mr. Hendrix said. "If everyone followed the advice contained in the leaflet to be left in each home, more than 85,000 lives could be saved. This is the number of men, women and children who die of cancer in the United States each year but who could have been saved by heeding the advice stressed in the American Cancer Society's educational program."

Mr. Hendrix said the best protection against cancer was to have annual health checkups and to get speedy medical attention at the earliest sign or suspicion of any of cancer's seven danger signals.

Pointing out that at least one half of all those who get cancer could be cured through early de-

N. C. Symphony to Give Area Concerts

Returning to Statesville for its 16th annual concert there, the North Carolina Symphony, under the direction of Benjamin Swalin, will give a concert April 13 at the High School. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Guest artist at the concert will be Beverly Somach, brilliant young violinist, who will play Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D major by Tschalkowsky. Miss Somach made her debut at Town Hall in New York at the age of 12 and has since continued her career with an illustrious series of recitals, concert appearances in the United States and Europe, and master classes with the "greatest living violinist," Jascha Heifetz.

Featured work by the Symphony will be Symphony No. 1 in E minor by Sibelius, often termed the "last great symphony in the 19th century." Other works on the program are: Overture to the opera Titus by Mozart; and excerpts from Suite No. 1, from Peer Gynt by Grieg.

Symphony Society membership cards will be honored at this concert and all other membership concerts given by the Symphony this season. The Orchestra will play in Salisbury on April 20 at the Boyden High School at 8:30 p.m.

tection and proper treatment. Mr. Hendrix said that the American Cancer Society could make this goal a reality if it had enough funds to do the job. "The Society was mainly responsible," he said. "For the dramatic rise in the cancer cure rate. Twenty years ago only one out of seven who developed cancer was saved; today it is one of three. With adequate public support and personal action it could be one out of two." Money raised in the Crusade will not only be used to step up educational programs, but to provide service for cancer patients and to support research of scientists who are working unceasingly for a cancer cure of preventive. Progress in cancer research can only go as fast as funds are available.

Did you know Gasoline is Taxed at a Rate 5 Times as High as Diamonds?

IN NORTH CAROLINA, YOU PAY $1.10 TAX ON 10 GALLONS OF GASOLINE

Gasoline taxes will be lowered— if the latest temporary Federal gasoline tax increase expires on June 30th as scheduled by the 1959 Federal Highway Act.

increase expires on June 30th as scheduled—the national highway program will actually get $225 million more each year than it now receives from the latest Federal temporary gasoline tax increase.

In January of this year, after an exhaustive 2-year survey of national transportation policy, a special U. S. Senate study group confirmed the wisdom of this decision. This will be good news for you. You will be able to enjoy a steadily improving highway system, at a lower gasoline tax-rate.

Along with all good citizens, we are in favor of building the roads that the motoring public needs. But, in the last 10 years alone, Federal and State taxes nationwide on gasoline have skyrocketed 51%—skyrocketed to a point where gasoline, a basic commodity, is actually taxed at a rate five times as high as luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

- HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT TODAY'S HIGH GASOLINE TAXES
● In North Carolina, you pay $1.10 tax on 10 gallons of gasoline.
● You pay 11¢ tax a gallon—4¢ in Federal taxes plus 7¢ in State taxes.
● Gasoline is taxed at a rate 5 times as high as diamonds.
● The average North Carolina motor vehicle owner pays $96 a year in gasoline taxes.
● Since 1951 there have been three increases in the Federal gasoline tax alone.
● In the last 10 years, gasoline taxes nationwide have skyrocketed 51%—yet the national average price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period.

Must gasoline taxes be so high? Most people believe that gasoline taxes are high because the money is needed to pay for our national highway program. This is not so. The fact is that out of every highway-user tax dollar collected last year by the Federal government, more than 40 cents was diverted to non-highway purposes.

If these highway-user tax revenues were spent for highways—as they should be—gasoline taxes could be lowered, and the highway program given a boost.

In fact, the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1959 provides that when the added temporary Federal gasoline tax expires on June 30th, 1961, as scheduled, some $802 million a year in highway-user taxes—now diverted to the U. S. Treasury's general fund—will instead be deposited in the Highway Trust Fund.

As a result, if the latest Federal temporary gasoline tax

North Carolina Baptist Hospital To Initiate New Training Program In Operating Room Technique

North Carolina Baptist Hospital will become one of the eight hospitals in the United States and the first hospital in the Southeast to initiate a training program in operating room techniques under a plan announced today.

This new educational project of the hospital was made possible by a grant received from the Allstate Foundation of the Allstate Insurance Companies. A large portion of the nurses' expenses while taking this training will be paid for by the grant.

In becoming one of the eight hospitals in the United States offering this training, Baptist Hospital will be pioneering in a new area of training in the Southeast. Other courses are granted through the University of Chicago Clinics, John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Bellevue Medical Center in New York City, the New York Polyclinic Medical School, Memorial Hospital of Du Page County in Illinois, St. Louis City Hospital in St. Louis, Mo., and St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, Minnesota.

Officials of the Hospital said in announcing their plans that there is a strong need for graduate training for nurses in the state, but the opportunities are few. The program does not carry college credit, but is pointed toward the diploma graduate nurse with the idea of helping her to improve her abilities, and at the same time supply a technically trained person for the job that is largely unfilled throughout the state.

This does not preclude the nurse with a college degree from applying. They express the hope that this program will be the forerunner of others so that more nurses will have the chance to develop added skills in special areas of their profession.

The first course will begin May 1 and continue for six months. It will offer on the job experience in each of the surgical specialties and special seminars and lectures concerning the care of patients. The student will learn operating room technique, recovery room procedure, and care of post-operative patients. When the six months are completed, she will receive a certificate stating that she has served in the Hospital's operating room for the period.

The Foundation is operated to assist cultural, charitable, and educational efforts. It has headquarters at 222 South Church St. in Charlotte, with Arthur M. Eisenhart as district director. Recently, it made a grant to provide scholarships for student and graduate nurses and to aid in the recruiting of student nurses. Nurses who wish to apply may do so by writing the Director of Nursing, North Carolina Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

When I was a boy, my father owned a country store at Fort Creek, Tennessee and the memories of it are still warm. Genial loafers would hang around the big stove, swapping yarns and pocket knives, playing the fiddle and "banjer" and having an easy time. My most vivid memory is that of when I was four, and thinking chewing tobacco was meant to eat, I slipped behind the counter one day and proceeded to eat half a plug because it smelled so good. The result, of course, was a gastronomic tragedy from which my stomach still reverberates, it seems. I was therefore especially glad to visit a current display at the New York Historical Society in which the old country store is revived in relic and illustration. Colorful posters of a century ago adorn the walls, advertising food, dry goods, tobacco (ouch!), drugs and sundries. These reveal the tastes and habits of the generation which lived between the Civil War and World War I. Patent medicines had swept the country. Barns, trees, rocks and even houses shone with posters advertising medicines, one of which would "cure nervous disorders, dyspepsia, jaundice, bilious complaints, loss of appetite and general debility." Twenty cigarettes for a nickel, cabbage seed, "99 in a hundred warranted to head", Uncle Sam looking at the new-fangled cash register and exclaiming "By Gosh, wish I had one of those things in the Treasury! (not such a bad idea, at that) are just a few of the nostalgic ads shown in the exhibit. But most reminiscent of all is a picture of those genial loafers around the big stove at the country store, where world affairs were settled in a friendly way and human hearts were warmer than any modern conference can boast today.

Adlai Stevenson, shortly after he had arrived here to take over his post as U.S. representative to the UN, happened to remark to some friends that he had temporarily taken a small furnished apartment but had found that it lacked sufficient kitchen equipment. Soon he found himself the target of a "kitchen shower" by his friends, which not only took care of his culinary needs but kept him busy in his spare time for awhile writing notes of appreciation.

Said to be the only Vassar Club of the 70 such in the country to have its own quarters, the local one at 48th Street and Lexington Avenue is observing the 100th anniversary of its namesake, Vassar College which was founded by a Poughkeepsie brewer, Matthew Vassar. In those days, of course, there were very few women's colleges. Vassar commented: "It occurred to me that woman, having received from her Creator the same intellectual constitution as man, has the same right as man to intellectual culture and development."

On the other hand, Horace Greely opposed woman's suffrage, divorce, liquor and slavery, although he was not an abolitionist. If he had been more tidily clean and had shaved off that awful, fringy beard which littered his collar, he would doubtless have been more popular with women and others. But he did say some wise things. To aspiring young men, he wrote: "The best business you can go into, you will find in your father's shop or on his farm. If you have no family or friends to aid you, and no prospect opened to you there, turn your face to the great West, and there build up

Nicknamed "Green Light," the exercise will be conducted by the U. S. First Fleet, commanded by Vice Admiral C. L. Melson.

Divided into three phases, "Green Light" will involve more than 50,000 men, 150 ships, and 300 Navy and Marine Corps aircraft and will cover a two month period from April 3 to June 3. All elements of Navy and Marine Corps striking power will be exercised during this period.

This series of operations is a part of the continuing program to keep ships and men of the Pacific Fleet in a high state of training and readiness.

In addition, these exercises are designed to further increase the readiness and mobility of the U. S. Fleet and keep it prepared to move anywhere at any time in its role of preserving peace.

With one eye on the career of the late Hugh H. Bennett and another on limited funds for teaching the soil conservation science he helped to found, N. C. State College sees a way both to commemorate a Tar Heel neglected by his own state and to beef up the teaching budget. Soil Conservationists, Wildlife Clubs, and other agricultural workers are developing plans among farm pond owners in all counties for a big public fishing season. May 28-June 10 will be the dates for fishing in Davie County.

Proceeds from such fishing fees will be donated by pond owners to provide a Hugh Bennett Professorship in Soils at State College. Earnings from this fund will be earmarked to supplement the salary of State College's Hugh Bennett Professor, so that he would not be readily lost to better paying institutions. Many other states and other nations have paid honor to the "Father of Soil Conservation", Hugh Bennett - some with medals and monuments. It seems time now for North Carolina to honor its own prophet in his own state.

Ten well stocked and fertilized ponds in Davie County will be designated as 'Hugh Bennett Ponds.' Name of ponds and location will be announced later. Fishing will be allowed in these ponds during the designated period to all persons contributing at least one dollar for each day's fishing.

warms in winter cools in summer

Gives you comfort! You enjoy living in a delightful climate all year 'round. Once the desired temperature level is thermostatically set, the heat pump automatically keeps you warm in the winter, cool in the summer.

Keeps you healthy! The heat pump filters the air year 'round. Pollens and other allergens are removed . . . thereby lessening allergy discomforts. Cool dehumidified air during the summer months assures you of restful sleep. According to an actual survey by a national home builders group, adults and children sleep longer and awake more refreshed in air-conditioned homes.

Saves you money! There's less cleaning and redecorating because the heat pump can't produce soot, smoke or grime bearing dust. Duke Power's lower residential all-electric rate assures the thriftiest way to heat and cool your home. Equalized payment plan permits you to pay for all your electric service in convenient monthly payments.

Call, write or visit your Duke Power Residential or Commercial Representative for further information about the electric heat pump. Although Duke Power neither sells nor installs flameless electric heating systems, your inquiries are welcomed.

Advance Man Is Injured In Wreck

An Advance man was injured Sunday, reportedly when his car smashed into a parked car during a downpour.

Stephen Oaks Markland, 41, of Advance was taken to Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem following the accident about 4:45 p.m.

Markland was admitted there with head and possible other injuries. He was still in X-ray at mid-evening and the extent of his injuries remained undetermined.

It was reported that Markland, operator of Advance Grill, left the grill moments before the accident. Some 500 yards down Highway 801, his car apparently skidded on the wet highway, relatives said, and plowed into a parked vehicle. Apparently, he was the only one hurt.

First Chapter In Southeast To Meet Goal For This Year

The 1961 fund raising drive of the American Red Cross in Davie County went over the top and exceeded its goal of $1910.

Edgar C. Dickinson, chairman of the fund raising drive, reported that a total of $1969.37 was raised in this county. In announcing this Mr. Dickinson said that he had been informed that the Davie County Chapter of the American Red Cross was the first chapter in the Southeast region to meet their goal.

Expressing his thanks for the help and cooperation he received in the drive, Mr. Dickinson said: "As chairman for the Davie County Red Cross Campaign Fund Drive, I would like to say that the credit for the overwhelming success of the drive this year is due to the generosity of the people of Davie County who contributed and to the untiring efforts of the many solicitors throughout the county that so freely gave of their time."

"It is sincerely hoped that the Red Cross program for our county may be enlarged upon in the coming year by reason of the money raised. On behalf of the officers of the Davie County Red Cross Chapter I would like to thank each and every person for the part they played in making this drive a success."

Mr. Dickinson revealed that six divisions met or exceeded the goals set for them. These included:

Mocksville Residential (Mrs. Vio Andrews and Mrs. Bill Daniels Co-captains) Goal of $200... Raised $268.96.

Davie County Schools (W. T. Bird, Captain) Goal of $100... Raised $111.50.

Hugh Bennett Ponds Are Named In Davie County

Nine ponds in Davie County will be designated as "Hugh Bennett Ponds" from May 8 through May 21, 1961.

Money collected from fishing fees at these ponds during this period will be donated by the owners towards a professorship of soils at North Carolina State College. The professorship is being setup in memory of the late Hugh Bennett, the Anson County native, who became one of the world's great agricultural leaders.

The Hugh Bennett Professorship will enable State College to attract and keep top teachers and scientists in soils. The goal is to raise from $50,000 to $100,000 to set up the professorship.

Owners of ponds in Davie County who are donating proceeds from fishing to the professorship are:

Roy Foster, Bill Johnson, Gilbert Boger, Wilbur Spillman, Ed Walker, J. G. Crawford, Seaborn Cornatzer, Wade Cleary, and C. A. Blackwelder.

The pond of Bille Green will be open only on May 13; Hubert Carter on May 20; and Tom Woodruff on May 17th.

As the "father of soil conservation," Hugh Bennett helped to establish a program of farm pond construction all over the nation. He fought for a broad program of soil and water conservation in this nation and helped to establish similar programs in many other lands.

Hugh Bennett headed the Soil Conservation Service for 18 years until his retirement in 1952. He died last summer.

For the People

By Bernadette W. Hoyle
Public Information Officer
N. C. S. Board of Public Welfare

Does the public welfare program in North Carolina get federal funds?

Yes.

How does this work?

The amount of federal funds varies according to the particular purpose for which it is used. For old age assistance, the federal government pays four-fifths of the State's average payment up to $40 a month, and 65 per cent of the balance above the average of $30, not to exceed an average of $65 per month.

For aid to the permanently and totally disabled, federal participation is on the same basis. On the basis of the current average payment, this means the federal government is paying 75 per cent of the total amount spent for old age assistance payments, and approximately 74 per cent of the amount spent for aid to the permanently and totally disabled payments.

For aid to dependent children, the federal government pays $15 out of the State's average payment up to $17 a month, and 65 per cent of the balance up to an average of $30 per month per person. On the basis of current payments, this amounts to approximately 80 per cent of the amount expended for the aid to dependent children program.

How is the public welfare dollar divided according to federal State and county funds?

The non-federal share is divided equally between State and county funds, except in those counties eligible for equalizing money. Some 65 counties receive equalizing money to help provide the county's funds. Equalizing money is paid to counties by the State Board on the basis of each county's ability to raise funds for public assistance purposes. No county is eligible for equalizing money unless the tax rate required to raise the county's part for old age assistance, aid to the permanently and totally disabled, aid to dependent children and county public welfare administration is in excess of 11 cents on $100 of property value.

Bill Daniel Heads PTA for Next Year

BILL DANIEL

Bill Daniel was installed as president of the Mocksville school PTA for next year at the meeting held in the school auditorium on Monday night.

Other officers include: Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Norman Smith, secretary; and Mrs. Reid Towell, treasurer.

The program for the meeting was given by the Eighth Grade Girls' Chorus with Mrs. Gene Smith as director and Phil Deadmon, accompanist. Miss Martha James, a ninth grade student and voice pupil of Mrs. Smith, sang a solo, "My Lindy Lou." The selections sung by the chorus included:

The Rev. George E. Auman, retiring president of the Association, presided at a short business session. Announcement was made that a hot dog supper will be given to the members of the School Safety Patrol on Friday, May 5. A possible project for next year was discussed, this being the paving of the playground area at the Primary School.

Room count for the meeting was won by Mrs. Curtis Price and Mrs. Wade Dyson.

Social Security In Davie County

While most workers and self-employed people are having earnings credited regularly to their social security account, this does not apply to some people, notably household workers. Mr. James P. Temple, social security district manager, announced today that many household workers in this area are not receiving the social security credits they have earned.

Although household employment has been covered by the social security law since 1951, many household employers do not know that they must report the wages of their part-time employees.

Mr. Temple pointed out that the earnings of part-time household employees must be reported the same as employees in labor and industry. A household employee who is paid at least $50 in cash wages during a calendar quarter by one employer—as little as $4.00 a week for a three month calendar quarter of the year—is covered by social security; her employer is required to report her wages and pay the social security taxes due.

The Internal Revenue Service, in cooperation with the Social Security Administration, has designed a simplified procedure for reporting the earnings of household employees. Upon request the Internal Revenue Service will put a household employer on the mailing list to receive the simplified self-mailer envelope on which to report the wages of her employees.

Mr. Temple added that part-time household employees need not lose any social security credits if they or their employers get in touch with the local Internal Revenue Office or their social security district office and learn the facts about their social security.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Supper to be Held on May 6th

Plans were made Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Davie County Hospital Auxiliary for the annual supper to be held on Saturday, May 6th.

Mrs. Francis W. Slate, chairman of the supper committee, reported the following list of committee chairmen for the supper: Mrs. Richard Allen, potato salad; Mrs. Vic Andrews, potato chips, pickles, relish, and salad dressing; Mrs. John Brock, sandwiches; Mrs. John Groce, chickens; Mrs. Wade Groce and Mrs. Paul Hendrix, deviled eggs; Mrs. Will Davis, cooked eggs; Mrs. P. Monroe Johnson, lettuce, celery; Mrs. Bill Long, plates, boxes, napkins; Mrs. C. C. Chapman, cake squares; Miss Daisy Holthouser, tickets; Mrs. Margaret McNeill, Mrs. Helen Crenshaw, Miss Martha Call, Mrs. Margaret Seders and Mrs. Cathy Spargo, cakes to sell; and Mrs. Eugene S. Bowman, money for hams.

Mrs. Richard Allen, president, presided at the business session. The treasurer's report was made showing a bank balance of $2,755.83. Mrs. B. L. Richards reported that $775.90 had been collected from the dispensing machines in the Hospital lobby from January 15 to April 11. Mrs. Wade Groce, desk chairman, reported that all dates had been filled to date. Mrs. Cecil Leagans an Mrs. Aileen Boger, sewing committee chairmen, reported that sheets and towels had been mended for the hospital.

Mrs. George Martin, membership chairman, reported 221 paid members of the Auxiliary to date. A vote of the membership revealed plans to have the annual Bazaar in September. The date will be announced later. The project for the funds from the bazaar will go towards the purchase of an autoclave for the hospital. Total cost of the autoclave will be around $58000.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be a night meeting instead of in the afternoon.

It was voted that the Auxiliary would go on record as favoring a welcoming committee for the town of Mocksville. Mrs. P. S. Young was elected chairman from the group to work with representatives of other organizations.

Boy Is Killed Near Woodleaf

An 11 year old boy was killed Friday when he ran in front of a car after a baseball near Woodleaf.

The accident occurred about two and a half miles south of Woodleaf on N. C. 801.

Samuel W. Brogden Aboard USS Zellars

Samuel W. Brogden, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Brogden of Cooleemee returned to Mayport, Fla., March 31, following a six-month cruise aboard the destroyer USS Zellars operating with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

While in the Med, the Zellars took part in several Sixth Fleet exercises as well as operations with units of the Royal Navy.

During the six-month voyage, the destroyer visited the ports of Genoa, Gaeta and Naples in Italy; Barcelona, Spain; and Gibraltar.

The Zellars was the first East Coast destroyer to undergo a modernization in June, 1960, which was designed to extend the overall life of our World War II destroyers.

Following six weeks of refresher training at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, the destroyer proceeded to the Mediterranean as flagship for Destroyer Division 163 commanded by Captain E. D. Ring, USN.

A Letter From Our Baptist Missionary Rev. Archie Jones

Dear Gene and friends of the Enterprise-Record:

No one knows how many times in the last three months I have thought of the people of Mocksville, North Carolina, and their desire to make a better world for themselves and their children. At times it is a baffling experience to live in a country where there is little planning for the future and almost no vision of what could be done with natural resources with a little work and interest.

We are planning to be here for a long time as Missionaries for the Baptist of the U. S. and for this reason I would like to introduce you to this interesting country. The country itself is not much larger than our own beautiful state. Also, like our state, Ecuador has seacoast and high mountains; some of the highest in the world are found here among some of her volcanoes. There are around four and a half million people here in the country, with some 600,000 of them here in the city of Guayaquil. Our city, Guayaquil, is located on the junction of the Daule and Babahoya rivers. From here to the sea the river is called Guayas.

About a month ago I had the opportunity to go up to Quito for a meeting of the church workers associated with our work here. We had to make the trip by rail as the roads between there and here were closed for repairs. Once you are out of the city and begin to climb the mountains toward the capitol, about the only kind of life to be seen for miles and miles outside of the occasional city is the ancient method of the Indian. Depending on the tribal customs, most of the houses are of sun dried brick or of straw. At times it seemed that the whole side of a mountain would be covered with haystack, which were houses in an Indian village. These Indians long ago lost their rights as property holders and the land now belongs to large estates owned by the great great grandchildren of the land. They, the Indians, are a very picturesque but sad people.

Most of the people who live in the city have some Indian blood somewhere in their background but they live as the people of other cities around the world.

The city culture here is European in almost every respect. The educational system is also European. The language is, of course, Spanish, and the religion of the people here on the coast is only nominally Roman Catholic. The coast boasts of being the more liberal division of the country. This accounts in some measure for the weakness of the Catholic faith here, as liberal thinking and the Catholic faith do not go together here in Latin America.

The folks here are very sociable and they have given us a very warm welcome. Even in spite of some difficulty with the language, we are enjoying our work here in Guayaquil, "The pearl of the Pacific."

While the spring flowers are in bloom and the energy of spring surges through your thoughts, why not sit down and drop us a line before summer arrives and you are too busy with vacations.

—ARCHIE JONES

Melvin H. Hearn Heads State F.H.A.

Melvin H. Hearn of Hickory, has been selected state director for the Farmers Home Administration in North Carolina. His headquarters will be in Raleigh.

For the past four years Mr. Hearn has been in charge of sales, advertising, and plant supervision for a dairy concern at Hickory.

He was born on a farm and attended Hoke and Scotland County public schools. He graduated at North Carolina State College with a B.S. degree in Agriculture, in 1942. He worked at the college dairy plant and dairy farm while earning his college education, and after graduation worked for a dairy at Burlington, before going into the Army later that same year.

Most of his four years in the Army were spent with the Army Veterinary Services. After his return from the service he worked as a field man for a Burlington dairy helping farmers improve their dairy enterprises. This field work continued for more than seven years, when he assumed the added duties of managing a milk processing plant. In 1957 he assumed charge of the dairy at Hickory.

Mr. Hearn is married to the former Edith Gilbert of Siler City. Their two boys are 11 and 12 years old. The family is active in civic, church and school groups.

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
N.C. State Board of Public Welfare

When do counties prepare their annual budgets for public welfare?

In the Spring. At the present time each for the 100 counties is working on budget estimates for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1961.

What is included in the budget?

Funds for old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the permanently and totally disabled, and county administration of public welfare.

What is the procedure followed by county public welfare boards in regard to budget making?

The boards make estimates to show the number of persons who will be eligible for assistance payments under each of the three assistance programs. One copy is submitted to the county commissioners and one to the Board of Allotments and Appeal of the State Board of Public Welfare.

The commissioners then make their estimates on the amount needed for the county's part of payments, a copy of which is submitted to the State Board of Public Welfare.

The State Board of Allotments and Appeal, on the basis of these estimates, determines the amount of money needed in each county to cover the county's part and notifies the county commissioners of the necessary amount to be raised by each county.

The State Board of Allotments and Appeal notifies the counties eligible for equalizing money of the estimated amounts to be paid to the counties from the equalizing fund to help provide the county's share.

What about estimates for the administration of public welfare in the county?

Administrative budgets are prepared by county superintendents of public welfare and are submitted to the State Board of Allotments and Appeal for review and a determination of the amounts of federal and State money to be expected.

The budget is returned to the county superintendent with recommendations by the State Board of Allotments and Appeal and a statement showing the estimated amounts to be paid from State and federal funds.

What is the final step?

The superintendent presents his budget to the county board of public welfare and county commissioners in joint session at which time the budget for the next fiscal year is adopted by the two boards.

One copy of the budget, as approved, and one copy of the estimates for public assistance, are then sent to the State Board of Public Welfare.

What is the surplus food program?

For many years the United States government has accumulated a backlog of surplus food. President Kennedy has made this food available in increased quantities to states which wish to distribute it to needy persons.

North Carolina is participating in the program.

Who administers this program in North Carolina?

The State Department of Agriculture.

What part does public welfare have in this program?

County departments of public welfare certify persons eligible to receive the food.

Who is eligible to receive the food?

All persons who are receiving public assistance and general assistance. Other needy persons not receiving financial assistance from public welfare may be eligible, including unemployed, part time employed and other persons in need of food assistance.

How is the final determination of need to be the responsibility of the county superintendent of public welfare?

Were can a person apply for the food?

If his county has decided to participate in the food distribution, a person should apply at the county department of public welfare.

If a person is receiving a welfare payment, will the amount be reduced if he gets the food?

No. Federal law requires that the food be in addition to his payment.

How long will this food be available?

No time limit has been set on the program at the present.

What foods will be given?

Corn meal, flour, rice, milk, lard, dry eggs, butter, peanut butter, pork and gravy, and rolled oats.

Social Security In Davie County

Are you reporting your employees' wages to Internal Revenue Service and paying the social security (F.I.C.A.) taxes? Do you know who is required to do this? Some employers may not be familiar with what is required of them in this respect. The Internal Revenue Code provides that:

1. Anyone who employs one or more persons in his business is required to report to the Internal Revenue Service all wages paid to that employee during each calendar quarter up to a maximum of $4800 a year. The employer is required to pay 6 per cent tax on these wages. Of course, he may withhold one-half of the taxes (3%) from the employee's wages. These wages should be reported by the end of each calendar quarter.

2. A home owner who employs a person in the home and pays that person $50 or more in a calendar quarter is required to report that person's wages to Internal Revenue Service and pay the 6% tax.

3. A farm operator must report the cash wages of any employee whom he has paid $150 or more or employed 20 or more days during the calendar year. This includes persons employed in the farm home.

A church or non-profit institution must report any wages of $50 or more paid any employee, except the minister, during a calendar quarter if that organization has filed a tax waiver certificate with Internal Revenue. Otherwise, no tax should be paid on the employees.

If any employee is the wife, husband, father, mother or child under 21 of the employer, the wages are not subject to the social security (F.I.C.A.) tax. In these cases the employee cannot get credit under social security for wages paid him.

If you have any questions about your particular tax liability you should get in touch with the Internal Revenue Service at Greensboro, N. C. If you wish to know more about your rights and responsibilities under social security you should get in touch with the Social Security Administration District Office at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C.

Parasol 4-Door 9-Passenger Station Wagon - one of 41 people-placing models at your Chevrolet dealer's.

The climate couldn't be better for buying a new JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET

(and that's the car more people are buying!) There's nothing like one of these Jet-smooth Chevrolets to fit into your summer travel plans. They're built to take long trips in stride - from the special brand of "git" they've got under the hood (choose from 26 engine-transmission hookups designed to please the most persnickety driving foot) to the cave-sized totin' area in the rear (the tailgate opening on that wagon measures nearly 5 feet across). And every gentle riding Jet-smooth model brings you Body by Fisher features you won't find in any other car in Chevrolet's field - wide stroke parallel action windshield wipers, convenient crank-operated ventpanes, one key that fits all locks. No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets than any other make! And right now - with things brightening up all over the land - you couldn't pick a better time to drop in and check the beautiful buys that are blossoming out at your dealer's.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

A long time ago some one wrote, "The tree is not strong that has not weathered the storm." This seems especially true today in our worrisome international problems.

Saint Matthew reported that Judas hanged himself from a tree, but no mention was made of what kind of tree. Some believe it was a fig tree.

In times past, moon-gazers in northern France saw on the face of the moon the figure of Judas hanging from an elder tree by his flowing hair, some saying by his feet.

An odd story of Lithuanian origin is the effect that when Judas fled into the forest to hang himself, the trees were asleep but promptly awoke and would not allow him to come near.

After too many years and reading of countless newspapers, books and manuscripts, my eyes are beginning to react accordingly.

who had given me the name of the doctor and his address had erred in the street number, so I ended up at another doctor's office, one in the same street and with the same name.

With a new book of reprints of the adventures of Richard Halliburton, one is reminded of his fabulous escapades in the twenties and thirties which made for popular reading a generation ago.

But he escaped and put the story in his book. The pool is evidently one of the sights of the world, rectangular and surrounded by tall cypress trees, a dream of beauty in the moonlight.

Said to be an appropriate poem: "Tis the day before pay day, All and through my jeans I've hunted in vain For the ways and the means."

There is talk of hard times, yet Broadway shows are sold out far in advance. Restaurants are booked up for months ahead for banquets and parties.

Farmington WSCS Elects New Officers

The April meeting of the WSCS of Farmington Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Burton Seats with Mrs. Kenneth Taylor as associate hostess.

Following the opening song, "America The Beautiful," Miss Margaret Brown gave the devotionals. She also presented the program "Women's Changing Roles" in which a number of interesting comparisons were made dating back before the present change.

Officers elected for the coming year were: President, Mrs. O. R. Allen; Vice - President, Miss Margaret Brown; Recording Secretary and Secretary of Pommotion, Mrs. W. W. Spillman; Treasurer, Mrs. Leon Foster.

The secretaries of the various divisions are: Missionary Education and Service, Mrs. B. C. Brock; Christian Social Relations and Publicity, Mrs. John Frank Johnson; Spiritual Life, Mrs. George Tucker; Literature and Publicity, Mrs. C. C. Williams; Supply Work, Mrs. C. B. Seats; Children's Work, Miss Vada Johnson; Student and Youth Work, Mrs. Nell H. Lashley; Local Church Activities, Mrs. G. H. Smith.

The officers are scheduled for installation at the May meeting. Mrs. John Frank Johnson distributed the "U. N. We Believe" stamps.

Coolmeem Legion Exceeds Member Incentive Goal

Coolmeem Post No. 54 of the American Legion has exceeded its membership incentive goal for 1961 according to information received here from State Headquarters of The American Legion in Raleigh.

Thomas Vogler, Commander of the Post, has received a letter from the Legion State Adjutant, Nash McKee, expressing congratulations and thanks to the membership chairman, all Post Officers, and membership workers for their effort.

S. Marvin Burton of Charlotte, N. C. Department Commander of The American Legion, issued a statement of high praise for the local Post.

Commander Burton said, "I am proud to congratulate the officers and members of Post No. 54 upon this notable achievement. All of the programs and services of the Legion are made possible through dues paid for membership and we appreciate the great part played by Post No. 54 of Coolmeem. Sincere thanks to every member of the Post who had a part in the membership work."

Boles Graduates From Air Conditioning Course

Jack Boles graduated from the Advanced Air Conditioning Course sponsored by the Atlas Supply Company of Winston-Salem. The week long training was conducted at the Rybolt Heater Co., Ashland, Ohio.

The 27 member class was the first to complete this advanced training program. Requirements are high and require successful completion of the Rybolt Basic Air Conditioning School, previously conducted, or its equivalent, plus extensive experience in selling and servicing air conditioning equipment.

Open House will be observed at the Davie County Public Library on Monday, April 17th from 2 to 5 p.m. and again on Friday, April 21, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy will participate this year in the observance of National Library Week, April 16-22.

As this is the centennial of the War Between the States, the Davie County Chapter of the UDC will sponsor an exhibit of Confederate relics in the Davie County Library and these will be on display during these open house sessions.

FARMINGTON NELL H. LASHLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGee and family of Winston - Salem were the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Cornatzer.

Mrs. F. H. Bahnson and Mrs. Henry Holleman of Wilmington are spending several days with Mrs. Lester Martin, Jr., in Mocksville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Montgomery, who are now living in Winston-Salem, are the parents of a daughter, Eleanor Dawn, born on April 5.

John F. Johnson of Charlotte visited Mrs. J. F. Johnson Monday.

Miss Mary Ginn of Kansas City Mo. and Mrs. G. A. Hartman of Mocksville visited Mrs. John Hartman and Mrs. N. H. Lashley Thursday.

Miss Linda Williams spent the week end with her cousin, Miss Judy James in Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ward of Tanglewood were Sunday guests of Mrs. C. C. Williams

Mrs. Paul Jones and Miss Louise Jones of Baltimore visited Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Cornatzer Monday.

Mrs. Queen Bess Kennen of Lexington spent the week end at her home here.

Sheek Bowden, Jr. Wins On Program

L. S. Bowden, Jr., of Mocksville, employed by Davie Tractor and Implement Co., is the first winner in this area of a merchandise prize in a national telephone quiz program being conducted by Ford's Tractor and Implement Division for dealer salesmen.

Mr. Bowden answered his phone a few days ago to hear a cheerful feminine voice say: "Hello. This is Miss Tel-A-Quiz calling you from Salesmen's Club Headquarters in Detroit. For a wonderful merchandise award of your choice, tell me the correct answers to the two questions I will ask you."

Over 300 salesmen were called nationally during a two-week period for answers to questions about Ford tractors and equipment. Mr. Bowden provided the right answer to the questions he was asked.

According to R. T. Armstrong, merchandising manager of Ford's Tractor and Implement Division at Birmingham, Mich., "The Tel-A-Quiz has been instantly successful with retail salesmen. We believe it is the first time that this salesmen's quiz has been used on a broad scale in the farm equipment industry. The questions are ones which our customers might ask, so this quiz, in effect, is a method of sales training."

New Plans To Improve The Lumber Industry Given

Reprinted from the Scotland Neck, (N. C.) Commonwealth, March 17, 1961 Elaboration of a five point program proposed by the Eastern North Carolina Lumber Manufacturers Association to give the lumber industry a much needed shot in the arm was made early this week by W. L. Beasley, Jr., newly elected president of the ENCLMA.

Beasley, president of Beasley Lumber Company in Scotland Neck, is a general rundown of the causes of and possible cures for the slumping lumber market, said one of the prime objectives of the association is to seek ways to turn waste materials into salable, profit making products.

"For instance," he said, "there is no market at the present time for shavings. We understand there is some type of machine overseas that will convert these shavings and trimmings into particle boards." He said his association is looking into the possibility of obtaining this kind of machine.

He referred to sawdust as another possible source of income. "Right now," he said, "we're burning sawdust and bark in our boiler. If there were a market for these materials we could run our boiler by other means, such as gas or electricity."

Beasley said many west coast lumbermen are using new machines to fuse sawdust and bark into preplace logs. He said a few mills in this area are doing this on a limited operation. Some plants, he added, are pulverizing bark and mixing in a plant nutrient to produce a mulch used for shrubs and small plants.

He said shipments of plywood from the west coast have been under-selling lumber and brought about the need to make the most of waste materials. The Federal Housing Administration has approved the use of plywood, Beasley said, and many home builders are using it.

Along this line, he said it might be possible to start a move here to manufacture Southern Pine plywood to offset the imported market.

"All this doesn't mean we've given up on lumber, as such," Beasley said. "As an example, we are spending a half million dollar this year to promote the use of Southern Pine lumber."

He pointed out that conservationists and forestry personnel often express the need for good timberlands but that this was not so great an advantage without a sufficient lumber market. Beasley said another factor hurting the lumber industry in this area is the necessity of sending lumber out of the state to be crosscut and then shipped back in. The ENCLMA is making efforts to locate a crosscutting plant in this area, he said.

He said the association is planning a meeting with Governor Sanford and other state officials to enlist their aid in furthering possibilities of getting these various plants.

"If all these things would come about," Beasley said "it would eliminate the waste factor, which has always been considerable in the lumber business." He said another plan of his association is to try to expand into a statewide organization with local chapters throughout the state.

Summing up, Beasley said the main headaches in the lumber business were brought by because "materials have increased in price and yet, on the other hand, the price of lumber has decreased."

"We're suffering from an over-supply and a slackening in demand," he said.

It is right and might that govern everything in this world might waiting on right. — Joseph Joubert

The urge to trim operating expenses when sales drop off is certainly understandable. But slashing an ad budget can rob a retailer of valuable sales help just at a time when he needs it the most." and "The true value of advertising is in its cumulative effect. LIBRARIES AND THEIR GOALS

North Carolina libraries have made significant contributions to education and research and to the intellectual and cultural growth of this state. All North Carolinians can be proud of these achievements, but the library systems of our state still lack the essential resources.

There is today unprecedented demand for library services to aid research and support education at all levels. Access to books and information for all our people is vital to our security and well-being.

In order to achieve good library service for all the people of North Carolina, the North Carolina Library Association adopts the following goals for action:

1. Make Library service available to all people in the state by developing public library systems to serve all citizens; by establishing a library in every school; by advocating library collections in industrial and scientific organizations; by working cooperatively with all agencies and organizations interested in educational programs and services.

2. Public awareness of library service by informing the public of available library resources and services; by coordinating programs and resources of all libraries to meet the library needs of all people.

3. Adequate collections of materials to meet the needs of all citizens by providing a wide variety of resources reflecting all points of view—books, films, filmstrips, pamphlets, magazines, pictures, recordings, Braille, talking books, slides—for informational and educational programs.

4. Adequate personnel to meet the needs of our expanding population and changing social order by placing each library under the direction of qualified personnel; by providing sufficient personnel to conduct a full program of services; by providing conditions of employment to attract and hold qualified people.

5. Strong programs of library services by developing public library systems large enough to provide a sound economic base for support of a full range of library services; developing system-wide programs of library services in each school administrative unit, through the employment of school library supervisors; by making available to all citizens the reference and bibliographic services and materials required for informational and research needs in every community; by assisting the individual in effective utilization of libraries through individual guidance and group activities such as book talks, story hours, and discussion groups; by focusing on the public library as a community adult education agency and developing services based on the analysis of community needs and interests; by strengthening library resources in college, university, and special libraries to meet program needs.

THE CENSUS BUREAU

Contrary to popular belief, the U. S. Census Bureau does not fold its tents and fade away between the big 10-year population and housing counts.

Nine major censuses will be conducted between now and the next decennial census in 1970. The first of these major censuses will be the 1962 Census of Governments which is conducted every five years. Then comes the five year Censuses of Business, Manufactures and Mineral Industries. These will be taken in 1964 and in 1969, covering business operations in 1963 and 1968 respectively. The Census of Agriculture will be conducted in 1964 and 1969.

In addition to these major censuses, the Bureau carries out a wide variety of current surveys on monthly, quarterly, and annual basis. Topics covered in the current surveys include employment and unemployment, population characteristics, housing, retail and wholesale trade, manufacturing, and related subjects. The purpose of the current surveys is to supplement and keep up to date the detailed information collected in the major censuses.

IS FATE IMMUTABLE?

A recent announcement by the American Cancer Society estimating the number of persons who will succumb to cancer in 1961 (265,000) set us to thinking about how this might apply, individually, to you or me.

Statisticians tell us that out of every six deaths this year, one will be due to cancer. Yet that wouldn't necessarily apply to you or me, because only about one out of every 100 Americans will die in 1961. But there is another Cancer Society statistic which says, "One out of four persons some day will have cancer."

An optimist can say the odds are on his side: literally, three to one that he won't get cancer. A pessimist might turn the odds around and say that it's "One to three" that he will get it.

But what about a realist? He might say that neither is the case. If cancer is to develop in one out of four of us, is there more than just chance involved? Or are there biological facts which have something to do with it? To answer these questions, we must know something about cancer. We must know that it develops because something goes wrong with the mechanism of the cell and that wild, uncontrolled growth results and never ceases unless the cells are destroyed or death intervenes.

What makes a cell become cancerous? The scientist only knows that dozens of compounds will cause cancer if introduced into the cell, that continued exposure to radioactive rays will result in cancer, that cigarettes are the major cause of lung cancer, and that overdoses of hormones will cause cancer. He knows, too, that the genes of our forebears may have something to do with it and that antibodies, or a lack of them, may be a vital factor in getting the disease or in combatting it.

So, in the end, it's not just chance, is it? There are reasons, even if we don't know all of them. What we have to find out are more facts about these unknowns so that cancer no longer can poke a grim finger at one of us—seemingly by chance.

Finally, a bit of advice. Have an annual health checkup and learn the seven cancer danger signals. This will help change the statistics. And support the annual Crusade of the American Cancer Society so that science can prove that death from cancer need not be our fate.

Although the Legislature as of April 8 completed one-half the time allotted to it by State money, it was much less than 50 percent along with its business. (Legislators are paid $15 daily for 120 days).

The 1959 edition of the General Assembly convened on Feb. 4 and adjourned on June 20. The House alone introduced some 1,375 bills. As of this past week end, only around 400—less than a third of the 1959 number—had been introduced in the House. This gives you some idea—in theory at least—the amount of work that lies ahead of the 1961 group of legislators.

Riddle
A bit of a riddle being passed around Raleigh goes something like this:
"What is it that moves like a turtle for three-fourths of its life—and then like a greyhound for the last fourth?"
Give up? Hint: It comes to your capital city every 24 months and has 170 parts. You guessed it—and it is scheduled to be in its turtle stages until the leaves are full grown. That is about May 10.

After that, Brother, get out of the way! Anything can happen.

End Of The Line?
The word we get here is that State political leaders who have not always seen eye to eye with him in the past will go along on the appointment of John Larkins of Jones County as one of the new Federal Judges.

Put this down: there are no closer political friends in the state than John Larkins and U. S. Sen. Everett Jordan. So, if Larkins really wants the place, Sen. Jordan is expected to go all out to get it for him. This would mean the end of the line, politically, for John Davis Larkins, who first came to the Legislature 25 years ago. He will be 52 on June 8.

Who's Your Congressman?
If you do not like your Congressman, be patient. You may have another one before long.

Literally thousands of North Carolinians will be moved from one Congressional District to another. We are losing a district. One of our Congressmen must go. First move in that direction—the recommendation—will be made in the Legislature in two weeks. Watch for it.

Happens Everywhere
Newspapers themselves laugh at the little gremlins which cause words to get into the wrong places, etc. But a few days ago the official journal of the N. C. Press Association, the well edited and interesting "The North Carolina Press" had an article about J. P. Huskins, Stateville publisher, and his receiving the Outstanding Citizenship Award.
But the headline read: "Stateville Honors Publisher Huskins."

Flowers For The Living
Last Friday, with a lot of the legislators in a hurry to get home for the week end, the 72nd birthday of one of the really big men in the N. C. General Assembly attracted little attention... of importance.

This will probably be the last session for John Wesley Umstead. He is serving his 13th term in the Legislature—that's 24 years of it—two terms in the State Senate and 11 in the House.

We have heard no indication that John Umstead will not run for re-election, but we note that the years this time weigh heavily on his shoulders. An older brother of the late Gov. William B. Umstead, Mr. John has never received the recognition he deserves as the best friend UNC and education has in our Legislature.

Although his home in Chapel Hill is only 28 miles away—good commuting distance—John Umstead takes an apartment every odd year at the Carolina Hotel here for the full legislative term. Their only living son was named after Frank Graham.

To New York
One of the better female political scribes—Miss Marjorie Hunter of the Winston-Salem Journal—will within a few weeks become associated with the august New York Times.

Marjorie is in Raleigh again this spring covering the Legislature. Having been closely associated with politics in the South for about 20 years now, her profile writings have sold experience and know how back of them. We wish Miss Hunter well and are indeed sorry to see her go. Her early years were spent with the News & Observer.

May her sprightly phrasing make a mite easier the reading of that sheet to which she is going.

First of Some Kind
Speaking of firsts, etc., how long had it been since a Governor of North Carolina was best man at a wedding? How long, too, had it been since there had been a wedding reception in the Mansion?

Both occurred this past Sunday afternoon when His Excellency served as best man at his good friend Roy Wilder's wedding to Miss Lee Winter, women's editor of the Charlotte Observer. A reception followed... at the Mansion. One newspaper, leaving out the hyphen, headed the wedding: Wilder Winter.

We are not very well acquainted with Miss Winter, but Roy Wilder is tope in these parts of the country. We wish them well.

Burn That Mortgage
In 1951, Wake Forest College took its last big giant step towards Winston-Salem when it sold its 13 buildings and 480 campus to the new Southeastern Seminary for $1,600,000.

Now we learn that the final $200,000 has been paid to the Baptist senior college, which now has approximately 2,000 students in the Twin City. Southeastern, which will be ten years old officially this year, has 700 students—or more than WF itself had 25 years ago.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON—The Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights recently heard expert testimony on the constitutional rights of the mentally ill. The hearings demonstrated that our hopes were well founded that new light would be cast upon a problem that has become one of the most neglected areas of the law. My observation as Chairman of this Subcommittee is that after further study has been made of the testimony of eminent psychiatrists, attorneys, and mental hospital superintendents, it is altogether possible that an enlightened revision of the statutes governing the mentally ill may be made. Senator Alexander Wiley, a member of the subcommittee, aptly stated at the opening of the hearings: "The investigation pertains directly to the rights of a tremendous segment of the population. This indeed is the first time that the Congress of the United States has undertaken to look into the legal aspects of mental illness." The hearings brought forth statistics showing that "over 250,000 people are committed to mental institutions each year," and that "over one-half of the hospital beds of the entire country are devoted to the care of the mentally ill."

Legislation Summary
President Kennedy and the Congress have accomplished much during the first 11 weeks of the new Administration. The early part of Congress was concerned with the election of leadership, the filling of committee vacancies, and the disposition of rules procedure. Following this the Senate has passed the Depressed Areas bill, the Temporary Unemployment Benefits Act, the Sugar Act Extension, the Feed Grains Program, the OECD Treaty ratification, the Reorganization Act, and the Federal Judgeships bill. All of these bills have gone to the President except the Federal Judgeships measure which at the date of this writing has been reported by the House Committee for consideration by the House, and the Depressed Areas bill which is in a Senate-House conference to iron out differences in the Senate and House versions of the bill. The Congress has thus far enacted four of the 16 measures for which the President has asked priority action. Five other bills have passed in one or the other halls of Congress.

TEXT: "What a difference a day makes" — Song Title.
The astronomy professor was lecturing, "I predict the end of the world in 50 million years."
"How many?" cried a frightened voice from the rear.
"50 Million years."
"Oh," said the voice with relief, "I thought you said 15 million."

We worry about the future, next week, next month, next month, next year, the decade, the next generation. Why should we? When we concern ourselves too intensely with what will happen years or generations from now, aren't we taking ourselves a little too seriously? We are not that important. Further, when we worry about tomorrow we miss the fun of living today. We restrict the good we might be doing. We overlook the beauty of the trees because we see only a forest.

One day can make so very, very much difference. After any twenty-four hours we may not have any future. Everything may be our personal past. Let's make the most of today, these twenty-four hours we have now. No matter how we plan or worry, one day can make so much difference that we cannot afford to waste a minute of it on the worries that belong to another generation in another age.

Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith, let us to the end, dare to do our duty, as we understand it.

Weekly Report from the General Assembly

By Lester P. Martin, Jr., Representative

The House of Representatives went about its business in a quiet and dignified manner this week but the fireworks were provided by the Senate.

The Senate, by an overwhelming vote, defeated an attempt—known as the Currie bill—to reapportion itself, thus violating the clear mandate of the North Carolina Constitution. In effect, this means the Eastern section of our State will continue to dominate the Legislature to the detriment of the more heavily populated Piedmont.

By contrast with the Senate action, several weeks ago the House of Representatives reapportioned itself in accordance with the requirement of the State Constitution. There were no dissenting votes but it is admitted that our task was not as difficult as that of the Senate. Four Counties lost a Representative and four gained one.

In other legislative matters this week, Major Charles A. Speed appeared before a joint meeting of the House Committee on Courts and Judicial Districts and Roads and Highway Safety. Major Speed, veteran of 26 years on the State Highway Patrol, said a uniform system of traffic courts, manned by young, well-trained attorneys who would put emphasis on driving correction and not punishment, is the greatest need of highway safety.

Mr. Charlie Tomlinson paid both the House and the Senate a visit on Thursday. In addition, at least two classes of Davie County school children visited Raleigh during the week. Unfortunately, the House of Representatives had adjourned before they arrived at the Capitol but I understand that at least one group saw the Senate in action.

Note To Teachers:
When you bring your class to visit the Legislature please ask a Page to notify your Representative and your Senator in order that your class may be extended the usual courtesies. Otherwise, your class might not be recognized from the floor. A sea of bright young faces in the gallery looks about the same, whether from Davie or from one of the other 99 counties.

Also, teachers, the Senate and the House usually convene at 8 P.M. on Monday, at noon on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and at 10 A.M. on Friday. Usually a session lasts from one to two hours. If you will contact me prior to your visit I will try to be on hand to help in any way possible.

LESTER MARTIN, JR. Representative

Social Security Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

Workers who are reaching retirement age in 1961 may now receive more in combined social security benefits and earnings even though they exceed the $1,200 limitation, according to an announcement today by James P. Temple, Manager of the Salisbury Social Security District Office.

This is so, Mr. Temple explained, because the method of charging excess earnings over the $1,200 limitation has been changed by recent amendments to the Social Security Act. The new method provides that $1.00 in benefits will be withheld for each $2.00 earned between $1,200 and $1,500; and for every $1.00 earned over the $1,500, $1.00 more will now be withheld from total family benefits payable.

This important change, Mr. Temple pointed out, will now make many more workers eligible for some social security benefits in 1961 and future years than under the old law which disqualified a worker for any payments if he was working in all months of the year and his earnings exceeded $2,080.

Here are just two examples of how the new retirement test works:

(1) A man and his wife receiving monthly social security payments of $180, the highest amount payable to a retired couple, may receive some benefits during the year if the husband earns less than $3510. Under the old law, he and his wife would have been disqualified if he had worked in all months of the year at this level of earnings.

(2) A worker receiving $120 a month in social security benefits could earn up to $2,790 in 1961 or a future year, and still receive some of his benefits.

The provision still applies that all monthly benefits may be paid if earnings do not exceed $1,200 in the year.

The provision also remains that a benefit is payable in any month in which the beneficiary does not earn more than $100 in wages or render substantial services in self-employment regardless of his total earnings during the year. Benefits may also be paid for months in which a worker is age 72 or over.

Mr. Temple urges all workers who are nearing retirement age (age 65 for men, 62 for women), or have reached retirement age and have deferred filing a claim for benefits because they were earnings over $1,200 a year, to call at the Social Security District Office, 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, for further information or dial ME 3-4512.

A free pamphlet entitled "If You Work While You Get Social Security Payments" (OASD-33), which explains the new retirement test in detail, may be obtained upon request.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
I didn't get to the session at the country store Saturday night on account of my young neighbor down the road a piece come by to tell me his family troubles. Him and his wife has been fussing and squabbling since the day they was married 17 year ago. I recollect onct about 10 year ago when he said he was going to get a court order to restrain his mother-in-law from brainwashing his wife.

As I've watched this fight down through the years—they've got seven kids—I see fault on both sides. One thing I've noted about him, ever misfortune he has had in life he has took it like a man—blamed it on his wife. On the other hand I'll have to say that she's a very ornery critter. She is the kind that shifts her brain into neutral and just lets her tongue idle on, making a U-turn in the middle of ever conversation. And she's got a tongue as sharp as one of them razor blades you see advertised on television. She told her old man once that she hoped to live to see the day when electric blankets would replace husbands in this world: If you can get any sharper than that, I ain't heard it.

I tried to console him the best I could, Mister Editor. I told him wimmen and mules is a pritty contrary proposition to handle. I give him the example of that feller that shaved his wife's head on account of her running around with other men and she put on a wig and went right back into business. I recommended to him that he be consoled to his lot, that the greatest optimists in this generation was those fellers you read about in the papers swapping wives. I think he went home feeling a little better about the situation. Anyhow, he's made it fer 17 year, so I figger somebody Up There likes him.

Speaking of wimmen, I'm going to quit buying the Sunday edition of these big daily newspapers if they don't quit using all the space fer the wimmen's section. Back in the days when things was in their right proportion, papers tacked a page onto the end of the paper fer wimmen. Now they use half the paper fer that section and put it up front ahead of such important departments as the comics and politics. It seems to me that journalism is getting all out of shape in the big papers with this new allotment of junk they're calling the wimmen's section.

From now till November the newspapers should devote the main section to politics. Hearing the fellers in office point with pride, and the fellers that's trying to sit in view with alarm, makes a heap more interesting reading than a recipe fer making a Easter hat out of wheat straw and sassafras leaves.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Plant Or Release Cotton

Davie County farmers are again reminded that they must plant or release at least 75% of their allotment in order to get full credit in establishing future allotments. The final date for farmers to release cotton acreage is April 20th. All farmers are urged to make their plans now to either plant or release their cotton. Any farmer that would like to get additional acreage for 1961 should file a request at the Davie County ASC Office.

ACP Program

It is not too late for farmers to carry out a conservation practice this Spring. Any farmer who has not signed a request for assistance may still sign at the ASC Office. A wide variety of practices are available and we urge every farmer to carry out some practice.

Feed Grain Program

Farmers that gave in an acreage report under the Feed Grain Program will soon be receiving the payment rate that they may receive if they care to participate in the program, according to L. G. Miller, chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee. Miller said that the sign-up period would start in a few days and continue through May 9th, 1961. Listed below are a few of the major parts of the program that farmers will be interested in knowing:

The feed grain program has the following objectives:

1. To increase farm income.
2. To reduce the risk of serious overproduction of meat, poultry, and dairy products.
3. To stop the buildup of feed grain surplus and reduce it if possible.
4. To reduce Government costs of farm programs.
5. To assure consumers fair and stable prices for meat, poultry, and dairy products.

To be eligible for price support on any feed grain including corn, grain sorghum, oats, barley and rye, the farmer must participate in the feed grain program.

The minimum acreage for a participating farm is 20 per cent of the approved base. Any farm with a base of 20 acres or less can divert up to the smaller of the base or 20 acres. Official notice of the farm base and payment rate will be mailed to farm operators within the next few days.

The maximum acreage which may be diverted for payment depends upon the size of the farm base. If the base is 25 acres or less the base becomes the maximum. If the base is in excess of 25 acres, but not more than 100 acres, the maximum diversion is 20 acres plus 20 per cent of the base. If the farm base is more than 100 acres, the maximum is 40 per cent of the base.

The diverted acreage must be devoted to approved conservation uses in addition to the acreage on the farm normally devoted to conservation uses. The conservation uses of cropland approved for the purpose of this program are: Permanent or rotation cover of grasses and legumes; summer cover crops; winter cover crops; trees, ponds; and others.

One-half of the expected payment will be made within a few days after the farmer signs up. Farmers who think they might be interested in participating in this program are reminded that they may still give in the acreage of crops grown on the farm during the past two years. Farmers who do not give in this acreage report will not be eligible to participate in the program.

SMALL GRAIN

As a general rule wheat and barley look very good in the county, and if conditions are favorable a good crop should be harvested. Davie County probably will not harvest over 50 per cent of an oat crop. Some of the stands of oats are completely gone and in others the disease has stunted the stand so that probably not over 50 per cent of the crop will be made.

Mosaic and Yellow Leaf Dwarf disease is the major ones that are causing the trouble. Farmers cannot continue seeding a crop and only harvest 50 per cent of the anticipated yield. Scientists tell me that they have let fields lay idle for seven years and come back and seed oats and still lose a stand from the Mosaic.

Practically all of the land in Davie County is affected with Mosaic, and we certainly can't profitably grow oats when this disease is present. Barley is resistant to Mosaic, and I believe that we can substitute barley almost 100 per cent for oats. There might be a few exceptions, but a very few. My advice would be that if you have oats in your rotation is to look over your crop and try to substitute some other type of grain that you will be more assured of a crop.

Alfalfa
Farmers that treated their alfalfa stands last October with granulated form of heptachlor got 100 per cent weevil control, and where farmers didn't treat the alfalfa is 100 per cent, destroyed.

If farmers desire to grow alfalfa it is definitely possible now to control the weevil with approximately four to five dollars additional cost for the control of the weevil.

Swine Program

We have two programs that are anxious to buy feeder pigs in Davie County, and I am sure one of these concerns would be a market that would take all of the feeder pigs that are produced in Davie County. It is possible to clear above all cash expenses $2,000 with 25 brood sows. In order to do this a man must average eight pigs per litter, two litters per year, and average $11 per pig. We would not want to figure on doing this well, although we have farmers that are doing this, but I am quite sure that we could figure on $1000 for 25 brood sows. We have any number of small farmers in Davie County that could handle 50 brood sows.

You would need 18 acres of pasture for 50 cows and approximately $1500 to $2000 in a farrowing house. A. F. Coble of Mocksville, Rt. 4, signed a contract with Frosty Morn for 50 of the gilts on a program that they have in Davie County. Twenty-five of these gilts were delivered last Saturday morning. If anybody would be interested in this program I would suggest that they go down and look at the gilts that were delivered to Mr. Coble.

Jackie Mason Is on Concert Tour
Eleanor "Jackie" Mason, daughter of Mrs. Sereca Mason of Mocksville, is on tour with the A & T College Concert Choir.

The choir left the campus in Greensboro, Thursday, April 6. They are appearing at the following places:

- April 8: Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.
- April 7: St. Stevens A. M. E. Zion Church, Detroit, Mich.
- April 8: Mt. Morris Presbyterian Church, New York, N. Y.
- April 9: Public School No. 14, Jersey City, N. J.
- April 10: White Plains, N. Y.
- April 11: Union Baptist, Orange, N. J.
- April 12: Ossining, N. Y. 10 a. m., Program for Todd School; 11 a. m., Program for Briar Cliff High School; 8 p. m. Concert at Star Bethlehem Baptist Church.
- April 13, and 14: North Penn Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

The choir will arrive in Greensboro, April 15.

Jackie is a freshman at the college and is majoring in Business Administration and minoring in English. She has been accepted in the Ivy Leaf Club as a pledge to the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

At the present this looks like a good bet for small type farms, and I am sure with a good producing program of feeder pigs they would be able to increase their income considerably with 25 to 50 gilts.

Social Security in Davie County

Income to the two trust funds out of which social security benefits are paid exceeded outgo by $648 million during the year ending Dec. 31, 1960, according to James P. Temple, district manager of the Salisbury Social Security office.

"The 21st annual report of the trustees of the two funds also gives fiscal and calendar year estimates for the following 5 years, 15 years, and for the long-range future up until the year 2025," Mr. Temple said.

These figures, based on provisions of the present social security law, show that income to the two funds during the 1960's and on into the long range future will be sufficient to cover all outlays for benefits.

Income to the old age and survivors insurance trust fund during calendar year 1960 exceeded outgo by $184 million. Total disbursements for the year amounted to just under $11.2 billion. Total income for the year was close to $11.4 billion. At the end of the year, the fund stood at $20,324,000,000.

Total income to the disability insurance trust fund during 1960 exceeded outgo by $464 million. Disbursements totaled $604 million, and income totaled $1,068 million. At the end of the year, assets of this fund totaled $2,289,000,000.

"The estimates for the 5 years following 1960," Mr. Temple said, "show that under present law, total income to the old age and survivors insurance trust fund over the 5 year period will amount to $70.8 billion." Total outgo during that period will come to $67.0 billion with a total excess of income over outgo amounting to $3.8 billion. At the end of December, 1960, the assets of the old age and survivors insurance trust fund are expected to amount to $24.2 billion.

During these same 5 years, the assets of the disability insurance trust fund are expected to grow from the present $2.3 billion to $2.7 billion. Total income over the 5 years is estimated at $5.9 billion and total disbursements at $5.5 billion.

Temple said, "the trustees estimates are that the old age and survivors insurance trust fund will have grown to $46.6 billion. On the same date, disability insurance trust fund assets are estimated at $4.1 billion."

quick-recovery flameless ELECTRIC WATER HEATER installs anywhere

This picture shows that you can install a flameless electric water heater wherever convenient — in a cupboard or closet (and even store fresh linens directly above it!) because it needs no flue or chimney. And like all flameless electric appliances, it's so clean, so fast; no noise, no odor.

A genuine quick-recovery flameless electric water heater provides hot water 6 times faster than standard models. This outstanding performance is possible because of the two 4500-watt heating units. Your family will be assured of bountiful hot water.

There is no combustion in a flameless electric water heater. Therefore, it's clean. There is no smoke, soot or grime. The flameless electric water heater is safe. The top, bottom, and sides of the jacket stay cool, safe to the touch.

See the quick-recovery flameless electric water heater at your favorite electric appliance dealer, plumber, or Duke Power.

Joe Langston Of Farmington On Photographic Mission

Photographs Zeus Missile Installation On Kwajalien

Joe H. Langston of Advance Rt. 1, a native of the Farmington community, is a photographer with the Western Electric Company. Earlier this year he was given a special assignment of photographing the progress of the Zeus research and development program on the island of Kwajalien in the South Pacific.

The following gives a brief account of this mission. On January 29th, Mr. Langston left Winston-Salem aboard a commercial airliner for Los Angeles, California. There he boarded a Western Electric chartered flight to Honolulu, and from there on to Kwajalien.

Kwajalien is a part of the Marshall Island group and is located approximately 2,000 miles southwest of Honolulu in the South Pacific. For Mr. Langston, the purpose of his visit to this island was to photograph the progress of the installation of the Zeus research and development program. The Zeus is an anti-missile missile being installed for test purposes on this island as an intercontinental ballistic missile deterrent. The photographs taken by Mr. Langston were to be used to denote the progress of the installation and for future reference on additional projects.

Arriving on Kwajalien on February 1st, Mr. Langston was billeted at the Transient Hotel on the Navy Base. The island is a protectorate of the United States and is under lease by the Texas Company Transport.

He remained there for six weeks, shooting a number of black and white and colored photographs, and movies. Mr. Langston processed all of his prints. Some of the slides and movies were flown back for processing in the States.

The island of Kwajalien is less than three miles long and only 700 yards wide, or about the size of a 7,000 acre farm. It is an atoll, formed by a mountain under the sea. The elevation averages from five to six feet.

The island is populated by Micronesians whose main income is from copra (dried coconut meat) from which coconut oil and by-products are extracted. During the roking on the Zeus missile, all natives have been taken off the islands and reside on a nearby island called Ebeye. Many of these now commute to Kwajalien where they are employed as domestic help.

The temperature of the island ranges from 80-87 degrees for nine months out the year and because of the trade winds there it is very pleasant.

There are three theatres in the area operated by the Texas Company Transport and there are two saltwater swimming pools.

Available on the island is a modern super market featuring American products and a Macy's Department Store, plus a laundry and ice plant.

Mr. Langston said that one of the oddities of the area was a "Walking Fish". This fish is about 4-inches in length and has wide fins. It is called a "Walk- (Continued on Page 2)

Patner Entertains Local Rotary Club

Joe J. Patner entertained members of the Mocksville Rotary Club at their regular meeting, Tuesday.

Mr. Patner spoke on several world topics in a humorous manner discussing such subjects as: (1) The Cuban situation; (2) The Russians; (3) Space travel. At the conclusion of his talk he announced that the Davie Electric Membership Corporation, of which he is the assistant manager, would put more than $230,000 back into members hands during the next year. This he explained would be a return of capital credits that had accumulated to users between the years 1950-54. He said that approximately 5,000 members would share in these funds.

President George Rowland presided. Special guests included Harvey Kelly of Salisbury; Roy L. Tharpe and Jimmy Dull, student guest.

Locals Attend FHA Convention

Twelve girls and their advisor from Davie County High School attended the Future Homemakers of America State Convention at Saturday, April 15. It was held in Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh. There was a total of 3,815 people present at the convention.

The following people attended the meeting: Dixie Bearden, Ann Boger, Linda Boger, Linda Dou-thitt, Ann Draughn, Linda Foster, Theresa Foster, Myrtle Gobble, Carol Nash, Kay Rintz, Lucy Templeton, Jane White, and Mrs. Betty Still.

The two outstanding features of the program were a talk, "Strengthening Spiritual Values in Family Living," by Dr. Albert Edwards, First Presbyterian Church, Raleigh, and a talk by Mrs. C. Lee Revell, Revell Finishing School, Columbus Ga. "How Pretty Can You Be?"

Rebels Suffer First Defeat

The Davie County High School baseball team suffered their first defeat of the current season last Friday when they were edged by East Rowan by the score of 5-2.

Junior Beal went the route on the mound for the Rebels to suffer his first loss. He now has won two and lost one. Jim Latham led the hitting with two hits.

On Friday the Rebels will play at Wincoff and will meet Troutman here next Tuesday afternoon.

ATTEND RALLY

A number of men of the First Presbyterian Church attended a rally at Reynolds Church in Winston-Salem Sunday afternoon. The speaker was the Rev. Dr. Ralph Edwards, Minister to the First Presbyterian Church in Raleigh. After supper, the speaker was the Rev. Harold J. Dudley.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Mrs. James Essie Made Chairman Of Eighth District H. D. Clubs

Mrs. James Essie of Davie County was installed as chairman of the Eighth District of the N. C. Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs at the annual meeting held at Cleveland School on Thursday, April 6.

The Eighth District is composed of Davie, Rowan, Iredell and Cabarrus counties.

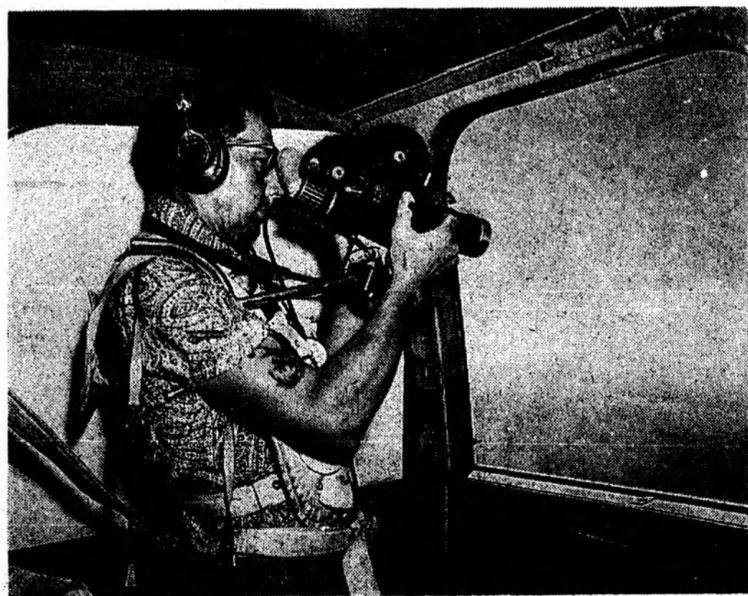

Other officers included: Mrs. James P. Gray, Iredell County, vice-chairman; Mrs. James Culp, Cabarrus, secretary; and Mrs. W. C. Smith, Rowan County, historian.

Dr. Naomi G. Albanese, dean of the school of home economics,

WCUNC, Greensboro, was the principal speaker of the meeting. She directed her address in the morning session to taking "An Inward Look."

Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Davie County Council president, was recognized along with the other county council presidents.

Progress reports heard from the clubs in the four counties included those on leadership, housing, and house furnishings, improvements made by families, craft activities, foods and nutrition, clothing, home management, family life, and 4-H activities.

Miss Davie County Pageant And Show To Be Friday and Saturday

To Be In The Cooleemee Auditorium at 8 O'Clock

A musical show plus a "Miss Davie County" Beauty Pageant plus a chance to win a free $250 paid vacation is the bill of fare which will be presented to the public on Friday night, April 21 and Saturday night, April 22, at 8 p.m. in the Cooleemee School auditorium.

This two-night spectacular show, co-sponsored by the American Legion Post 54 and the Cooleemee Lions Club, promises to furnish a most outstanding bit of entertainment for the people of Davie County.

The entire proceeds of this two night performance will be divided equally between the co-sponsoring organizations for the improvement of the Legion Memorial Park and for the installation of a lighted baseball field in the Cooleemee Baseball Park.

A total of 70 entries, representing the best talent in the county, will perform during these two nights—19 entries in the annual "Miss Davie County Beauty Pageant" and 51 entertainers in the talent show. The girls in the beauty pageant will appear in evening gowns and bathing suits on each of the two performances. One-half of the singers, dancers, pantomime, baton acts, etc., will perform on Friday night, and the other half will appear on the following night.

On Saturday night, there will be an elimination contest in the beauty pageant to select "Miss Davie County," who will be awarded a cup and a ribbon, emblematic of this yearly event. Winners in the beauty pageant and the talent show will receive $100 for first prize, $25 for second prize, and $15 for third prize. Cut of town judges have been secured to judge the different events. For a complete list of contestants in this two night affair, please turn to the full-page advertisement in this paper.

Firestone Store Now Under New Ownership

Roy Lee Tharpe of Kernersville has purchased the Firestone Home and Auto Supply Company from G. H. C. Shutt of Mocksville. Mr. Tharpe took over the operation of this store, Wednesday.

Mr. Tharpe has been engaged in farming and general repair work in the Kernersville area. His wife is the owner and operator of a beauty shop there.

Mr. and Mrs. Tharpe and ten-year-old son plan to move to Mocksville at the close of school. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Bird Re-elected Supt. of Schools Committeemen Named by Board

The Davie County Board of Education held their organizational meeting last week and re-elected J. B. Cain as chairman.

The board also re-elected William T. Bird as county superintendent for a two year term and named the various school committeemen. S. W. Furches and G. R. Madison took oath of office for six-year terms.

The board appointed school district committeemen as follows: Mocksville: J. K. Sheek, Jr., Glenas McClamrock and G. Aubrey Merrell.

Farmington: J. W. Seals, Luther West and Johnnie Sparks.

Smith Grove: Harley Smith, Kenneth Butner, and John M. Ferebee.

Shady Grove: John M. Bowden, Jr., Robert Lee Seaford and Alvin Hartman.

Cooleemee: Foy Cope, E. D. Hoyle and B. E. Stewart.

William R. Davie: L. G. Wallace, T. A. Blackwelder, Jr., and Mrs. R. H. Hayes and B. R. Pope.

Davie County High School: Gordon Tomlinson, Mocksville; C. B. Eats, Farmington; R. R. Everhard, Cooleemee; and Eugene Bennett of Advance, Rt. 1.

In other action the board also eliminated the annual March of Dimes as one of the approved charitable drives participated in by school children. This was done because the board felt the school children should not be required to participate in too many drives. The two drives approved for participation by the school children were the Crippled Children's drive and Junior Red Cross.

Suggested Changes In Course Of Study Made for High School

Changes in the course of study at the Davie County High School have been adopted by Davie County Board of Education following recommendations by a faculty curriculum committee.

One of the foremost changes adopted was to require 17 units for all pupils for graduation. This would become effective for the graduating class of 1964 and is based on recommendations by the State Board of Education. At the present time only 16 units are required for graduation. It is also recommended that a pupil pass 18 units before being recommended for college.

The other changes in course of study for the Davie County High School are as follows:

Require all ninth and tenth graders to take five subjects. Band to count at one subject for tenth grade pupils. Four years of band to count as one unit.

World History be required of all tenth grade pupils.

Recommend that all college preparatory pupils have one year of typing as an elective.

Drop Problems of Democracy and teach Economics and Sociology each year, since much of the material overlaps.

Offer a course in Advanced Science for pupils in grade 12, if possible.

Special Day Thurs. Public Invited Sat.

Open house for the new one and three-quarter million dollar Masland Durable Leather Plant in Mocksville will be held next Thursday for specially invited guests.

On Saturday, April 29th, the general public has been invited to participate in guided tours of the plant.

The Thursdays open house program has been designed for state dignitaries and customers of the Masland Durable Leather Company. Invitations have gone out as far west as Texas to customers and potential customers of the upholstery, wall covering and allied fields.

Governor Terry Sanford heads the list of state dignitaries invited to attend, with invitations going to Lt. Gov. Clayton K. Kopp, Speaker of the House Jay Byrd, Hargrove Bowles, head of the Department of Conservation and Development; and a host of other notables in the State Government.

Expecting to attend from the Philadelphia plant will be W. S. Masland, founder of the company and chairman of the board; A. C. McCoy, President; and several members of the board of directors and the Philadelphia management group.

Charles E. McCoy, manager of the Mocksville Plant, said that plans were being made to transport some of the special guests from the Philadelphia plant in High Point and from such places as Winston-Salem and Hickory.

The program for the day will consist of guided tours from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., highlighted by a buffet dinner in the plant from 12 noon until 2 p.m. Coffee hours have also been arranged for morning and afternoon.

Based on replies to invitations which have been issued, Mr. McCoy said that an estimated 600 to 800 persons are expected to attend this event next Thursday.

Full announcement concerning the open house plans for Saturday will be announced next week.

Rowan Collision Injures 4 People

A two-car collision at US 601 and the 601 by-pass, one and one-half miles north of Salisbury, injured four last Wednesday.

The injured were Lawrence F. Schue, 66, of Olean, N. Y., a driver of one of the cars; Erza Lee Cain, 51, a Negro of Mocksville Rt. 2, driver of the other car; and Beulah Click, 69, a Negro of Mocksville, Rt. 4 and Eva Dwiggins, 63, a Negro of Mocksville, Rt. 2 passengers in Cain's car.

State Highway Patrolman R. A. Pruett said that Schue stopped at the stop sign on 601 Bypass, then pulled out into the path of Cain's car, which was going south on U. S. 601. Patrolman Pruett charged Schue with failure to yield right of way.

The four injured persons were taken to Rowan Memorial Hospital in Salisbury. Cain was admitted there with internal chest injuries and Schue was transferred to the Salisbury VA Hospital. He had internal chest injuries and fractured ribs. The other two persons were treated and released.

Library News

Open House was observed at Davie County Public Library on Monday of this week and will be observed again on Friday, April 21, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy are participating this year in the observance of National Library Week, April 16-22.

Miss Janie Martin, president of the Davie Grays, the Davie County Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, has issued an invitation to the public to see an exhibit in the library.

Included in the exhibit are: Old letters from William H. Call to his family while he was in camp in 1863, 1864 and 1865; a ring made of gutta-percha and silver coin by a Yankee soldier for Montreville Wall, a confederate soldier from Davie County. He was the father of the late Mrs. Walter F. Martin; a picture of Berry Steelman's store under construction at Holman's Cross Rds.; an old canteen belonging to Dr. Baxter Clement; and a collection of hymns presented to soldiers by the North Carolina Baptist Board of Missions. (This book belonged to S. Milton Call, Sr.)

As this is the centennial of the War Between the States, this exhibit is being sponsored by the Davie County Chapter of the UDC.

"Libraries are for people, not for books. Books are for people, not for libraries. Libraries are places for books and people to get together."

A great author once said this and the Davie County Library staff believes it to still be true. This week has been set aside as Library Week. As the special "weeks" come and go it is a pleasure to have a week set aside to stimulate the reading of better books and more books by people everywhere.

There is a library card at the library for everyone. There is also "something in the book line there for everyone."

The library has thousands of books on virtually every subject. It has books on how to do things and how to make things. Books that widen horizons, stimulate ideas, or awaken new ambitions and ideals. Books for younger readers, with big and easy to read type. Books on photography, gardening, child care, government-business, hobbies, and countless other subjects. There is almost no end to the factual information which the library can supply. So visit your library often, get your card, and use it regularly—it pays.

The National Library Week theme is "For a Richer, Fuller Life—Read."

The Confederate Festival

Governor Terry Sanford has announced that the strength of today's military forces and the rich heritage of North Carolina's role in the Civil War will join hands in May to present an elaborate North Carolina Confederate Festival.

The Festival will begin on May 19 and culminate on May 20, the date in 1861 when North Carolina became the tenth southern state to join the Confederate States of America. In conjunction with the Confederate anniversary, North Carolina will celebrate Armed Forces Day on May 20.

The two day Festival will be held in Raleigh and will be sponsored by the North Carolina Confederate Centennial Commission and the North Carolina Confederate Corporation.

Festival plans include a reception at the Executive Mansion, a devotional service, a parade, military exhibits and demonstrations will be climaxed by a gala Confederate Costume Ball on Saturday night.

One of the highlights of the Saturday night ball will be the presentation of "Confederate Belles", young women sponsored by the State's United Daughters of the Confederacy Chapters. The ball will be held at the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum.

The Confederate Festival will not only be an event of historic significance, but any funds raised will be used later to help finance various phases of the commission's program. These include educational films, publications and the development of the State's historic sites dating from the Civil War period.

Invitations will be sent to approximately 1,500 North Carolinians to serve as sponsors of the two-day event. Sponsors will participate in all events as special guests of honor.

Many State and national leaders, as well as stage and television personalities, have been invited to participate in the two-day Festival. Approximately 65 of the State's 100 counties have named committees to operate during the four-year centennial observance of the War Between the States.

Safe-Driver Insurance Plan

A "Safe-driving" insurance plan has been approved in the State of Virginia that will save some motorists 10 per cent in premiums and cost those with poor traffic records increase up to 150 per cent.

The plan goes into effect on all policies written or renewed on or after June 1, 1961, and on all policies written before June 1 which will not go into effect until August 1, or after.

This safe-driving plan sets up five classifications of motorists based on the three years of driving experience prior to an application for a policy. The "zero" classification is the best and a motorist in that group may get a 10 per cent reduction in premium costs.

A driver required by the State Division of Motor Vehicles to file proof of financial responsibility because of a serious traffic violation receives one or more "points". Convictions for such violations as reckless driving and hit-and-run carry a three-point penalty.

A motorist with one such conviction would be put in group three and would be approved to pay double the basic premium. A driver with four or more points against him would have to pay 150 per cent of the base rate.

The insurance companies are not required to use the "safe-driver" plan, but if they do, they must offer it to all their customers in the state.

The plan may be applied to one of two basic policies. The first is a special package automobile policy which provides $35,000 in coverage for personal injury and property damage plus medical payments and death benefits.

The second is the "family plan" based on present state law setting minimums for automobile liability. The plan, now widely in use, provides $15,000 for personal injury to one person and $30,000 for injury to two or more persons. It also includes $5,000 in property damage and death benefits.

It will be of interest to see just how this plan works out.

Loneliest Island in the World

Few inhabited places are more remote and lonely than the South Atlantic islands of Tristan da Cunha.

Recently, the islanders learned that a small atomic bomb had been exploded secretly and harmlessly only 60 miles away in a Project Argus test of the United States in August, 1958. This information came to them by chance in a letter from a newspaper reporter.

But the news was not tardy by Tristan da Cunha's standards. At the turn of the century, a letter mailed to Tristan, the main island, arrived 12 years late. World War I was almost over before the islanders knew it had started.

The islands were discovered by a Portuguese mariner, Tristao da Cunha, in 1506. Since then, their remoteness has made them fascinating to outsiders, and Tristan has gained fame as the "loneliest island in the world."

There are five islands in the group, which lies midway between South America and South Africa, the National Geographic Society says. Tristan is a volcanic fragment 21 miles in circumference crowned by an extinct crater rising 6,780 feet. The four smaller islands are uninhabited. Two of them, Nightingale and the appropriately named Inaccessible, are the only known breeding places of the petrel Pterodroma incerta.

Tristan was permanently settled in 1811 when Jonathan Lambert, a New England adventurer, arrived with three companions. Lambert proclaimed himself emperor and renamed the group the Islands of Refreshment. There he hoped to remain "far removed from the reach of chicanery and ordinary misfortune." He drowned two years later while fishing.

Great Britain occupied Tristan in 1816 to prevent the French from using it as a base in a possible attempt to rescue Napoleon from St. Helena, 1,500 miles away. When the British garrison left, William Glass, a Scottish corporal, was granted permission to stay with his wife and two children. The population was augmented by shipwrecked sailors and deserters from the whaling vessels that touched at Tristan.

In 1885, Tristan abruptly became an island of widows. Fifteen men were drowned while trying to reach a passing ship in a longboat. Only four grown men survived on the island; two were over 60 and one was insane. Tristan survived the catastrophe, and the population gradually was restored.

During World War II, weather and radio stations were established on Tristan. A crayfish industry, which exports "rock lobster," was set up in 1948. Until then there was no money on the island, and potatoes were the medium of exchange. The wartime Tristan Times sold for two potatoes an issue. The family with the most potatoes in storage was the wealthiest.

Modern innovations have brought little change to Tristan. The inhabitants live in stone cottages with thatched roofs. Potatoes, milk, and fish are the main fare. The women card, spin, and knit wool. All the islanders are related by marriage and share seven surnames. They are a healthy people, except for a certain amount of asthma passed down from Corporal Glass, who suffered from the complaint.

The islanders speak their own English dialect, which is studded with local idioms. The standard greeting is "How you is?" and the reply, "I's fine, thanks How's you?" Place names are literal descriptions, such as "Down where the minister land his things." "The hill with a hole in it and Gulch come down the west side of the ridge where the goat jump off

The nine planets of the solar system usually are divided into two general groups: terrestrial and Jovian, the National Geographic Society says. The terrestrial planets—Earth, Mercury, Venus, and Mars—resemble one another in structure and probably in chemical composition. The Jovian planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto—are entirely different in substance. Astronomers speculate they may consist largely of solid hydrogen.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Hold Down That Lid!

Principal carpenter of the Sanford plan to build the House of Education first—and to ask the Finance Committee to find the money to pay for it—turns to be none other than mid-managed J. Will Copeland, used-to-be conservative senator from Murfreesboro.

When the Appropriations Committee turned this little trick last Thursday, Copeland earned his keep (about $10,000) as the Governor's chief legislative advisor.

A GOOD HAND?
Like Harry Truman, J. William Copeland has the reputation of being a slick poker player.

When some of the liberal advisors wept bitterly at the Copeland appointment, one of his friends said in a stage whisper that could be heard across the Sir Walter Lobby:

"Listen here, don't let anybody kid you about how the Governor and Bill will get along. And don't worry any about Copeland's loyalty. He will be right in there—with some fast hands, too. He's an old poker player. Sanford has nothing to fear."

GOOD JUDGES

That Gov. Terry Sanford is a good judge of people is shown by the variety of his appointments: millionaires, career men, agricultural leaders, and strong women.

Also, now is as good time as any to reveal that he has at least three news-making appointments which will not be announced until a little later in the Legislature.

Many a Democrat only lukewarm for Kennedy a year ago—and less—now strongly on his side...because of the strength of his appointments.

Good lieutenants make a great general.

FOR THE YOUNGSTERS?
We do not know anybody in the John Birch Society. We hear it cursed and praised, according to whom you are talking. Like all other organizations, it no doubt has good men and not-so-good men as members.

We have heard a lot of stories about the Birch Society. Last week a Washington friend of ours asked if we had heard about the junior organization being formed in connection with it. Biting hard, we said we had not. Oh, yes, he said, this one was being established for the Sons-of-Birches.

THAT SIDE OF TOWN
This same gentleman told us a few months back that Washington, D. C., is different. He said: "It's the only city in the United States that has a white section."

HOW WE DO RANK
A Raleigh neighbor of ours who "has made good", cares nothing for compliments the says! and is regarded as being rather thrifty with those he passes out.

His philosophy, and he has practiced it with good results, is: "Don't tell me what's right. Tell me what's wrong."

He maintains if you only tell him what is right in what he is doing—his work particularly—you have not helped him any. By telling him where he is off base, you establish the urge to make corrections.

Following that same approach, we are going to list here the official rank of North Carolina educationally among the 50 states—in a number of items.

We are 50th in per cent increase in estimated average salary for teachers from 1951 to 1961. N. C. increased (the lowest) 43.9%. The highest: 130.4%.

N. C. is 40th in percentage of population 25 years old or older with at least four years of high school. Only 20.5%—or a shade over one-fifth of our folks 25 and over have finished high school. Average for the nation: one-third.

Our State is 45th in per cent of selective service boys failing the mental tests (1959 figures). Nearly 41/40.9% out of every 100 Tarheels taking the mental tests failed. In some states fewer than six out of each 100 failed these tests. Average for the nation: 24.7%.

39th among the 50 states in estimated average salary of classroom teachers in public schools as of 1960-61. Average in N. C.: $4,100. Highest average: $6,700. Lowest: $3,415. Average across the nation: $5,215.

The data above comes from "Rankings of the States" issued a few weeks ago by the National Education Association. Of the 68 rankings given, N. C.—our State—is below 25th position 43 times.

NOT QUITE THE SAME!

While in many ways Saturday's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner at the Reynolds Coliseum was certainly the biggest—and best—it lacked some of the loftiness of the old Dinners. It thus was truly a democratic affair—one for everybody...who had $50 ticket.

But one old politico put it this way: "It was just too blankety-blank far from our drinks to our dinner."

What he meant was that he missed the convenience of the old Dinners at the Sir Walter (where you could feed only 600) where it became common practice to have a few drinks in the room if things got too boring in the speech-making.

P.S. The western counties will have a big dinner similar to the Jefferson-Jackson, and under the same auspices, in mid-August...probably in Asheville.

It has been an exceedingly long time since N. C. had such energetic Democratic leadership. Possibly that's why Richard Nixon plans to include this State for his eighth "honeymoon's over" address.

Imagination disposes of everything; it creates beauty, justice, happiness, which is everything in this world.

Weekly Report from the General Assembly

By Lester P. Martin, Jr., Representative

This was the week of the big vote. The Joint Appropriation Committee, composed of half the membership of the General Assembly, by voice vote went on record as favoring the 70 million dollar additional appropriation for the public schools. The burden now shifts to the Finance Committee - composed of the other half of the General Assembly - to find the additional revenue to finance the program.

To date there have been 16 tax introduced, from which the Finance Committee must choose. The latest tax measure, sent forward this week by Rep. Austin Jones of Ashe County, would levy a one-cent tax on each five-cent purchase of chewing gum. It would require merchants handling the product to file a monthly report with the Commissioner of Revenue showing how much gum had been sold and submitting the appropriate tax. Jones estimates the tax will produce 2.5 million revenue during the next biennium.

Thus, another item is added to the growing list of tax proposals which have directed levies at everything from electricity to tobacco...and now chewing gum.

These proposals have one thing in common - they are all efforts to raise revenue for the educational program without the necessity of a sales tax on food and drugs.

Speaking of the tax on food and drugs, figures released this week regarding the estimated revenue to be collected from each county under Governor Sanford's tax program and estimated additional expenditure for public schools within each county during the 1961-63 biennium indicate the following:

If the uniform sales tax is enacted Davie County will pay in $228,444 in additional taxes and will receive $241,198 additional money for schools. In other words, if the uniform sales tax is adopted, Davie County will receive $12,754 more than it will pay. On the other hand 41 counties will contribute more than they will receive.

No figures have been released regarding other tax proposals now before the Legislature. The General Assembly this week enacted into law the bill setting up Governor Sanford's Highway Commission. It provides for a Commission of 18 members, a full time chairman and a director of secondary roads.

There will be one commissioner for each of the 14 highway divisions, one commissioner will be a liaison man with federal road authorities, two of the commissioners will be appointed at large and will be used by the Governor on special assignments. The 18th member will be a man versed in problems peculiar to the eastern section of the State, such as water ways, bridges and ferries.

It is to be hoped this new highway bill will bring the Highway Commission closer to the people and there will be no repetition of secondary road petitions getting "lost".

The Legislature was visited this week by 48 eighth graders and their teachers, Mrs. Lucille Cornatzer and Vestal Potts, from Shady Grove School. Also, Patrolman Roy Blalock, in Raleigh on business, stopped by the House of Representatives.

Senator Jordan Uncle Dave From Reports: Davie Says:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN
WASHINGTON — There is a project now being carried on in North Carolina which offers a good example of what can be done in the way of foreign aid without the United States getting the reputation of trying to buy friendship.

A group of about 14 farm leaders from Nigeria and Ghana are in North Carolina making an extensive study of our State's agricultural extension service. They will spend about three months in North Carolina getting firsthand knowledge of our farms and farmers as well as how our county agents and other workers work with farmers.

While in our State they work out of A. & T. College in Greensboro under the direction of J. W. Jeffries, who for many years was Assistant Director of the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

In my opinion, what these people will learn and be able to carry back to their people in the way of knowledge about how to produce the necessities of life will do far more in the way of building friendship than giving them handouts.

One of the reasons I have been critical in the past of some of the ways in which we have conducted our foreign aid program is the fact that too much emphasis has been put on the notion that we could win friends by what amounts to making gifts of the fruits of our productivity. For example, we have distributed many tractors and other farm implements in Nations where the farmers themselves did not know how to use them or appreciate the benefits they could bring. Whether we like it or not, the people of the underdeveloped nations of the world must have a desire to help themselves before we can be of any real help to them. Before a farmer in Nigeria or Ghana can appreciate a tractor he gets from the United States, he must have a desire to improve his productivity.

During the time they were in Washington visiting the agricultural research center at Beltsville and other agencies of our government, I had the opportunity to talk with the group which is now in North Carolina.

For many years, cocoa beans have been the major money crop in Nigeria. I learned from the group that while their farmers are very interested in better production methods for cocoa, there are problems when it comes to producing sufficient food to provide adequate diets for their

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
In one of them Government pamphlets I got the other day it said the clocks in the U. S. National Bureau of Standards was varying up to a 50th of a second ever 24 hours. The way the item was wrote, it sounded sorter like a complaint. And I can understand how, in Government circles in Washington, a 50th of a second ever 24 hours is very important. I'm expecting any day to see where the Congress has appropriated $150,000 to get them clocks fixed.

But this appropriation, of course, won't come till they've had a investigating committee fix responsibility for the disaster.

I brung up this item at the country store Saturday night and most of the fellers was agreed the country would be better off if they'd throw away them clocks in Washington and get some bells.

Ed Doolittle recollected that his Grandpa never had a timepiece on the place. They'd go to work at sunup and quit at sundown, and when dinner come his Grandma would ring a big bell mounted on high polls out in the barnyard. Dinner always come, said Ed, when the sun was straight up-and-down. Ed allowed as how the sunup to sundown and bell system would be a big improvement in Washington, especial if their clocks is off a 50th of a second ever day.

Clem Webster figured the big dome they put on the Capitol building was probably put there in the first place for a bell to call them Congressmen into session. He allowed as how the dome had to be put there for some purpose and it had to be a bell. Clem is a great feller fer having a purpose for everything. Fer instant, you never catch Clem just whittling to be whittling. He's always whittling a gate latch, a gun rack, a jug-stopper or somepun he aims to use. But they is a lot of difference between Clem and them politicians in Washington. Between you and me, Mister Editor, I don't think we'll ever get them Congressmen on the sunup to sundown and bell system. The sooner they appropriate the money and git that 50th of a second corrected, the sooner they'll git on with the business at hand.

Zeke Grubb said the Congress would never vote $150,000 for fixing clocks or anything else. Zeke says the Congress don't deal in nothing but even numbers. If a million dollars ain't quite enough for someone, they make it two million. Zeke claims

Right and wrong uses can be made of anything. The razor blade may have cut the linoleum, but it was ruined as a shaving instrument. This principle applies to everything. Things in themselves are not right or wrong. It is the use we make of them that is good or bad.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg says that the greatest problem confronting American labor is that of "men fearful-of-being-thrown-out-of-work by constantly improving machines." I agree that this is the most serious domestic problem this nation faces in the immediate and foreseeable future. Industry after industry faces the necessity of automating its factories and assembly lines to compete in a new age. The society in which we live demands rapidly improved standards of living and automation is one of the keys to this progress. No one would urge that we halt progress and cease improvement in technological development for the sake of jobs, but at the same time we must recognize that there are tremendous human problems involved in this Second Industrial Revolution. Changes occur and jobs are thrown out. The men who lose their jobs must learn new skills and this takes training and time. Management must accept this fact just as labor must realize that automation means higher standards of living for workers. It will require the utmost understanding and cooperation by both labor and management to resolve this problem.

Man In Space
Moscow reports that Major Gagarin has become the first human to orbit the earth demonstrating the tremendous psychological and propaganda effect this adventure has had upon the world. These propaganda effects probably outweigh the military potentiality of the event. It is well to remember that since Sputnik was launched on Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviets have gained the news honors with a mere sixteen satellite launchings while the U. S. outscored them with 40 launchings. The United States has lost the honor of sending the first man toward the stars, but knowledge of life itself may be the prize if this challenge spurs us to place the first man on Venus or Mars.

Eichmann Trial
Conrad Adenauer's visit to Washington has brought another facet to the Eichmann case. Chancellor Adenauer represents the West German Government that wants world respect. The German statesman is leading the German people back to a new role in the society of free nations. It is commendable that Germany already tried 5,000 Nazis and seeks 700 others for war crimes prosecutions. Adolph Eichmann's crimes growing population. The rainfall, the climate, and the soil are such in Nigeria and Ghana that a wide range of crops can be grown without difficulty.

During the next few months, the farm leaders from these Nations who are visiting the United States will get as much information as possible about how we produce crops that can be adapted to their countries. They will take this information home with them and teach their own people what they have learned.

a glass of beer means many things

To the nation, the name Pinehurst means an ideal winter resort—golfing under warm southern skies . . . lawn bowling, horse shows, the steeplechase, polo or skeet. And—to North Carolinians it means so much more . . . it means civic pride in their state's beauty, genuine southern hospitality and expanding economy. So, too, a glass of beer means many things to Tar Heels—it has meant some 90 million dollars to the North Carolina tax economy during the past 26 years. This symbol of light, bright refreshment means relaxed comfort after a day's activities in this famous southern resort.

Soil Stewardship Week
People of many faiths throughout the United States will join their religious leaders during the week of May 7-14, 1961, to review with thanksgiving the rewards of good stewardship in caring for soil water and related natural resources.

The observance has a long history. For generations, man have offered thanks to their Creator for the priceless gifts of soil, water, and sunshine that make living things possible.

Old Custom Rogation Days have been observed for centuries.

Part of the story centers on the year 470 in the area around Vienne, France. Crops had failed and hunger was widespread. The people, depending on the fruits of their soil each year had scanty reserves and little money.

Other communities soon took up the observance and from France the custom of Rogation Days—days of giving thanks to God for His bounty and asking for His continued blessings—has spread throughout the world.

In America, too, Rogation Days are on the calendar of many churches.

Sixteen years ago, a renewed and a more widespread interest in this observance was fostered in the United States by the publishers of Farm and Ranch Magazine. They suggested to a few religious leaders that one Sunday in each year be recognized nationally as a time to remind all church congregations of man's obligations to his Creator in being a good steward of his soil and water possessions.

Laymen Assist These ideas were so warmly received by ministers and laymen that by 1954 the observance had grown to nationwide proportions. Among the leading laymen who worked for this goal were the non-salaried Soil Conservation District officials in all the states. Knowing first hand of the importance of man's relationship and dependence upon soil and water, these farmers and ranchers with the leadership of their clergy were helpful in reawakening a spiritual responsion to an often neglected obligation. In 1954 the publishers of Farm and Ranch magazine offered to relinquish their limited sponsorship of Soil Stewardship Sunday, later Soil Stewardship Week, to the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, an organization whose prime purpose is the conservation and development of land and water resources of the nation through organized local community effort.

Leadership Since that time, the NASCD has relied heavily on the advice and leadership of national church leaders. Each year, these clergymen help prepare the suggested materials for Soil Stewardship Week. These materials are available in most instances through each of the 2900 Soil Conservation Districts in the nation or directly from the NASCD Service Department in League City, Texas.

At present, the Advisory Committee is composed of: Dr. E. W. Mueller, National Lutheran Council; The Rev. William Davidson, Associate Secretary, The National Council Protestant Episcopal Church; the Rev. J. G. Webster, Executive Secretary, National Catholic Rural Life Conference; Dr. Henry McCanna, Director, Dept. of Town and County, National Council of Churches; and Dr. Lewis Newman, Southern Baptist Convention.

Donnie Kaye Waller Joins Marine Corps

Gunnery Sergeant William R. Cowart, local Marine Corps recruiter from Salisbury announced today that Donnie Kaye Waller, son of Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Lee Waller, Route 4, Mocksville has reported to active duty in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Private Waller enlisted in the Marine Corps 120 day delay plan on 10 January 1961 and selected April as his month to report to active duty.

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
N.C. State Board of Public Welfare

What can be done to make a father support his children if he deserts them and moves to another state?

Under law a petition may be filed by the wife in the state of her residence requiring the deserting father in another state to make payments for the support of his minor children.

What is this law called? The Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act. When was it passed? North Carolina adopted the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act in 1951.

Are many children in North Carolina benefitting from this law? There were 1,831 Reciprocal Enforcement of Support cases initiated in 64 counties during 1960. Support totaling an estimated $700,000 annually is being secured for 1,100 cases.

If the father, living in another state, does not make the payments for support of the children, what can be done? The court in the State in which the father is living may hold the father in contempt of Court and the Court in that state may ne or imprison the father for failure to comply with the Courts order.

Who enforces this law? The state in which the deserting father lives.

How are the payments made? The father makes the payments to the court of the state in which he resides. The payments are then forwarded to the State where the wife and children reside.

What is the role of public welfare in respect to this law? The State Board of Public Welfare acts as Information Agent in the administration of the Act in this State. The various county public welfare departments assist the courts in certifying the need of the wife and children for support payments. The county public welfare departments also frequently assist the deserted wife in filing a petition for support under the Act.

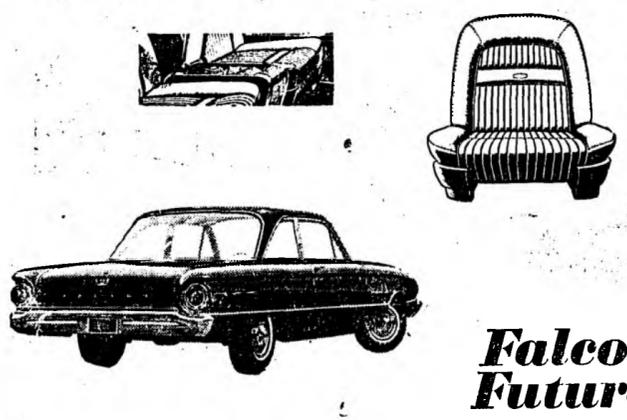

Motor fuel used during the Iwo Jima campaign would have filled a train of tank cars 238 miles long, and the lubricating oil would have filled an additional 125 box cars.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

With all this talk about foreign aid and governmental programs to help the "under privileged"—who may feel that they are more privileged than we are—it is heartening to note that one man, at least, has really done something about it. He is John C. Robertson, a New York University professor, who wanted to do something good and tangible for the people of Kamalpur, Indonesia, so he devised what he called a "person to person" aid plan. Being already actively engaged as an adviser to the Indonesian government for a year on a program for expanding educational facilities, Professor Robertson went beyond the call of duty. He raised $800 among the citizens of his home town, Pleasantville, New York, that he will soon present to the people of Kamalpur, which has about 125 families. With this welcome money, these people will build a new two room primary school, and with the other $600 will be able to pay a teacher for the first year. Later, deservedly named Pleasantville will send money for a water well, a medical dispensary and a good road to the nearest town. Somehow, there appears to be no doubt that there is help that will be deeply appreciated.

From up in Maine comes the story of a man who was driving through the mountains on a bright moonlight night, and was to pass through a little town that had a rather tough reputation. For that reason, he did not plan to spend the night there. As he usually had a considerable sum of money on him, he always carried a loaded pistol on the seat of his wagon. "As I reached the edge of the town," he said "I heard a noise at the back of the wagon and when I looked around, saw a man trying to climb over the tailboard of the vehicle. I picked up the pistol and fired and the man disappeared. I didn't stop to ask any questions, but just drove on. Two days later I drove back through the town in the afternoon. I noticed that they were having a funeral in the local church. I didn't stop to ask any questions, but just drove on."

The verbal firing on Fort Sumter seems virtually as strong as that done a century ago by Confederate guns, what with the current and controversial celebration of that historic event. In all this welter of words about the start of the Civil War Between the States, little is said about the man for whom the fort was named. Little that is except in a new and timely book, "Gamecock: The Life and Campaigns of General Thomas Sumter" by Robert D. Bass of Furman University just published. In this volume, the author tells vividly and colorfully of the life of the peppery South Carolina Revolutionary leader who made guerilla warfare so hot for the British that they were glad to leave him alone—and the Americans later to name the celebrated fort for him.

A few days after Fort Sumter was bombarded John Pratt in Boston wrote his brother, Jabez, in Baltimore, offering him a haven in Massachusetts, American heritage reveals. But Jabez refused and said he would have nothing to do with the North. Thus began a series of hostile letters between two brothers, all too typical of the inner family feelings which resulted from that war—reminding me that I had a grandfather on each side.

Here and There: Texans believe that if the "Visit America" tourist program succeeds, more foreigners will visit that state than any other, for they surely must have heard most about it . . . a small girl was heard to sing "America the Beautiful" as "O beautiful for space-ship skies" . . . "New Frontier" is the name of a book written in 1934 by former Vice President Henry Wallace . . . an inmate of a prison when interviewed to see what he was most interested in replied, "Outer space."

Fertilization of Plant Beds
Use enough nitrogen for the plants to grow reasonably fast. But do not use so much nitrogen that it reduces germination or causes injury to the seedling roots and stems during dry, windy weather.

Plants grown in the presence of too much nitrogen may be excessively tender and succulent, and they may not live as well when transplanted. Also, plants injured by fertilizer burn may be more subject to damping off in the bed and certain stem rot diseases when transplanted in the field.

Usually, one and one-half to two pounds of 4-9-3 per square yard (or equivalent amounts of 6-12-4) will supply enough nutrients, including nitrogen, to grow plants to transplanting size at the right time. If aero cyanamid or other high nitrogenous material is used for weed control, three fourths to one pound of 4-9-3 per square yard should be sufficient.

Under some conditions, additional nitrogen applied as a top-dressing is needed to give the desired growth. Some of the factors that determine needs of nitrogen topdressing are (1) fertility of the soil, (2) amount of fertilizer used before seeding, (3) material used for weed and disease control, (4) weather, and (5) appearance of the plants.

Heavy, soil-soaking, leaching rains after application of fertilizer may make topdressing necessary. Under these conditions, the plants will usually turn yellow and stop growing.

During cold, wet springs, the quantity of nitrate nitrogen which is readily available to the plants may be quite low in plant bed soils. The conversion of organic to ammonium and ammonium to the nitrate form of nitrogen is slow under these conditions. It may become available, therefore, to topdress with nitrate nitrogen.

Nitrate of soda supplies the desired nitrate nitrogen needed to stimulate early growth of tobacco plants. Where additional nitrogen is needed, apply three to five pounds of nitrate of soda per 100 square yards of bed. The safest way to apply topdressing is to dissolve the soda in a barrel of water and sprinkle this on the bed. Wash this off the plants with water to which no fertilizer has been added. Light applications of pelletized or granular nitrate of soda can be broadcast on the beds if the plants are dry. Use a broom made of broom sedge to brush the soda off the plants.

Avoid the use of organics such as dried blood, feather meal, sludge and cottonseed meal in topdressing tobacco plant beds. Before organic nitrogen can be used by the plants it must be converted to other forms.

The conversion to the ammonium, and eventually to the nitrate form is slow, in cold, wet springs, when extra nitrogen is most likely to be needed. In the absence of sufficient nitrate nitrogen, the plant may take up excessive quantities of ammonium nitrogen, which has been supplied by the organics. If excess ammonium nitrogen is taken into the plant, the plant growth may be stunted, rather than speeded up.

Organics frequently increase difficulty from plant bed insects. They increase the development of green algae and slime on the plant bed soil, which encourages the development of damping off and loss of plant stand.

Social Security In Davie County

If you received social security benefits and earned over $1200 in 1960, you must file a report on your 1960 earnings by April 15, unless you were 72 or older during all of 1960. This report, according to James P. Temple, manager of the Salisbury Social Security Office, is the way the Social Security Administration checks to see that you have received all benefits due you for 1960. For example, even though you earned more than $1200 during 1960, you can receive a payment for any month in which you neither earned more than $100 in wages nor were active in your own business. Although your total earnings for the year may have been as much as $2080, you may still be able to get some benefits because of the 1960 changes in the social security law. The April 15 report will enable you to receive any benefits still due you for 1960, Mr. Temple said. These reports also enable the Social Security Administration to make a prompt adjustment in case you have received too many checks during the year, and thus avoid what might be a hardship later.

Mr. Temple added that, because of the 1960 change in the law, you are also asked to estimate your 1961 earnings when you file your report. The Social Security Administration can then tell in advance how many benefit checks you should receive during 1961, based on your estimated earnings. Mr. Temple says that it is important to make as accurate an estimate as you can concerning 1961 earnings. If you make an estimate that turns out to be too low, more of your next year's checks will have to be withheld or you will have to refund the overpayment of benefits. If your estimate is too high, you will receive any unpaid amount due you after you submit your report on 1961 earnings.

Mr. Temple invited area residents who have questions about their earnings and the filing of a report on 1960 earnings to visit his office located at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury. Free social security booklets telling how work after benefits start will affect the amount of benefits the person can get are also available from his office.

The business session got underway promptly at 10:00 A. M. with the State President, Peggie Hogan, presiding. Guest speaker for the morning session was Miss M. J. E. Evans, Nutrition Field Representative, American Institute of Baking, Chicago, Illinois. Miss Evans spoke of "Youth Fitness and Teenage Nutrition," and stated the four fancies on youth fitness: (1) mental (2) social (3) physical and (4) spiritual. In her address she brought out that teenage girls were the most poorly fed in the United States and the percentage was:

- 5 out of every 10 girls fall short in iron daily.
- 5 out of every 10 girls fall short in calcium daily.
- 2 out of every 10 girls fall short in phosphorus
- 3 out of every 10 girls fall short in vitamins B1 and B2
- 4 out of every 10 girls fall short in vitamin C.

NFA STATE CONVENTION
The members of the North Carolina Association of the New Homemakers of America held their Annual State Convention at the Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, North Carolina, Saturday, April 8, 1961.

Each chapter affiliated with the State Association was eligible to send delegates to the Convention. The local chapter was represented with twenty-five girls attending.

The afternoon session began at 1:30 P. M. The State President of the New Farmers of America, McArthur Newell, extended greetings to the Convention. Miss Alma Plinnix, a student at Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C., and former NHAer, gave a demonstration on "Being More Becomingly Dressed." She demonstrated how one basic dress could be used for many occasions.

The installation of the 1961-62 State Officers climaxed the day's activities of the Convention. Officers

Feed Grain Program
Up to half of the payment to be earned on a farm under the 1961 feed grain program will be available as soon as the producer signs up under the program.

1961 Soybean Price Support
The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that producers will be required to maintain their 1959-60 average acreage of conserving and idle land on the farm in 1961 to be eligible for 1961 price support on soybeans.

USDA wants to avoid increasing soybean acreage at the expense of acreage now under conservation practices. Price supports on the 1961 soybean crop have been increased to insure an adequate supply and to help meet anticipated needs for this important oil crop.

1960 Wool Program
Producers who have not filed an application for payment under the 1960 Wool Program for lambs and yearlings and wool marketed are urged to do so at once.

Farmers who are interested in participating in the 1961 feed grain program are urged to get in touch with the county ASC office immediately for further information.

The closing date for signing up under the 1961 Feed Grain Program is June 1, 1961.

Department officials pointed out that this requirement is aimed at insuring that additional soybean production will be on acreage that has been used for crops in abundant supply such as wheat, cotton, corn, grain sorghum, and other feed crops rather than from land now in conserving uses or idle.

The national average support price for 1961 crop soybeans will be $2.30 per bushel as announced March 22.

With one father, even God, the whole family of man would be brethren.

Saturday's Program

The Masland DuraLeather Co. has issued a general invitation to the public to visit their new Mocksville plant on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. An invitation from the company appearing elsewhere in this issue reads as follows:

"Like any new neighbor we want to get to know you . . . to let you know how proud we are to be part of this friendly community . . . and, frankly, to show you our new home. It is one of the finest plants of its kind anywhere, and we would like you to see some of the things that make it so.

"The plant will be open for your inspection, Saturday, April 29, from 9 a. m. to 5 so why not stop in and just browse around? No guided tours. No lectures. Just an informal invitation to come when you like and leave when you please."

Tolliver Heads Davie NCEA Unit

The Davie County Unit of the NCEA held a dinner meeting at the Mocksville Rotary Hut, Tuesday evening.

Roy P. Marsh, local president, presided over the business session. The following officers for 1961-62 were installed:

Open House Program for Customers And Invited Guests to be Thursday

LT. GOV. CLOYD PHILPOTT
... to speak at 1 p. m. ...

General Public Invited To Visit Plant Saturday

The Masland DuraLeather Co. will be host Thursday at a special open house program at the new $1.5 million dollar Mocksville plant.

Charles E. McCoy manager of the Mocksville plant, said the program Thursday would be for approximately 500 customers of the company and a number of specially invited officials of the state and area. Open houses for the general public will be held on Saturday, April 29.

Governor Terry Sanford, scheduled to speak at 1 p. m., notified Masland officials Monday that he would not be able to attend due to a noon meeting Thursday with President John F. Kennedy in Washington "on state business."

Mr. McCoy announced that Lt. Gov. Cloyd Philpott would be present and speak at 1 p. m. He will be introduced by Ed Kemp, Guilford County Representative, an editor of the Southern Furniture News.

The open house Thursday will be from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. with a buffet luncheon from noon until 2 p. m.

A number of company officials from Philadelphia, Pa., home office of the company and site of the other two plants, will be here. They include W. E. Masland, founder of the company and chairman of the board of directors, and president A. C. McCoy.

State officials invited to attend include Lt. Governor Cloyd Philpott of Lexington, president of the United Furniture Company; Joseph Hunt, Speaker of the House of Representatives; representatives of the State Department of Conservation and Development; and other state officials.

The special guests, most of whom are furniture manufacturers, and in allied industries which use vinyl upholstery and vinyl wall covering, will be transported by bus from Winston-Salem, High Point and Hickory. Buses will leave Winston-Salem and High Point at 10:30 a. m. noon and 2 p. m. They will leave Hickory at 10:30 a. m. They will return to Winston-Salem, Hickory and High Point at 2, 4, and 5 p. m.

The plant is a single story all masonry construction and occupies a 95 acre site on Sanford Avenue in Mocksville. It is reported to be the South's largest plant manufacturing vinyls and fabric-backed vinyls.

Mr. McCoy said that production, which is expected to get under way early in May, would be handled progressively; that is, a small force will be used at the start and others will be added as needed. He pointed out that every employee will have to undergo a training period.

At the present time there are 21 employees including Mr. McCoy.

Elementary Basketball Games Changed To The Afternoon

In conformance with a recent recommendation by the State Board of Education, the basketball games of the elementary schools next season will be played in the afternoon instead of at night. In a recent ruling, the State Board of Education recommended the abolishing of all possible athletic contests on nights preceding a school day.

A meeting of all the principals of the elementary schools was held recently and after a full discussion of the matter they recommended that the elementary games be changed to Thursday afternoon. The Davie County Board of Education unanimously voted to make this change to conform with the recommendation of the State Board.

The Board of Education ruled that the elementary games would be played at 1 p. m. on Thursday. All school children at the home site of the game will be admitted free of charge to these contests. Only the basketball players, coaches and cheerleaders will be allowed to attend. The State Board of Education had in mind to make the trip to the other schools with their recommendation.

for the games. The Board of Education also adopted a rule limiting basketball practice in the elementary grades to the physical education period, which means no practice except during the school hours.

In making these changes the Board of Education felt that the elementary basketball program was proving quite successful in the county, but it was the desire of the Board of Education and school officials to operate this program in the best interests of the children.

Davie County has been operating one of the only elementary basketball programs that has had night games during the past two years. Most all of the elementary games in other counties have been in the afternoon. The Board of Education and school officials feel that it works something of a hardship on the children to be out late at night and then have prepared homework for the next day, and this is what the State Board of Education had in mind with their recommendation.

Mrs. John Mauney Has Luncheon

Mrs. John Mauney Jr. of Skaneateles, New York, president of the North Carolina State Council of Epsilon Sigma Alpha International, entertained the members of the state executive board at a luncheon Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Eaton on Wilksboro Street.

Riddle-Long Vows Are Spoken

Miss Emma Clementine Riddle and Thomas Gray Long were married at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Macedonia Moravian Church.

The Rev. J. G. Bruner, pastor of Wachovia Arbor, Moravian Church, performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ralph Riddle of Advance, Rt. 1. She was graduated from Farmington High School and is employed by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Long is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Long of Winston-Salem. A graduate of Griffith High School, he is employed by McLean Trucking Co. there. Music was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Smith of Farmington, organist, and John Frye of Winston-Salem, soloist.

Bride's Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown designed by herself and made by a sister, Mrs. Leonard Collette of Mocksville. The lace bodice of the dress featured a round neckline. The bouffant skirt was of peau de sole with panels of lace.

The bride's illusion veil was caught to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and lilies-of-the-valley. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Margaret Riddle was her sister's honor attendant. She wore a dress of pink brocade taffeta with matching headress and circular veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lester Parks and Mrs. Albert Cornatzer of Advance, Mrs. Leonard Collette of Mocksville, all sisters of the bride, and Miss Patsy Hiatt of Winston-Salem, niece of the bridegroom. They wore pale green dresses like that of the maid of honor and carried pink and white carnations.

Cindy Furches of Winston-Salem was flower girl and Greg Smith of Winston-Salem was ring bearer.

Samuel A. Long of Winston-Salem was his brother's best man. Ushers were Tommy J. Teague, Homer L. Long, brother of the bridegroom; Charles P. Smith Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, all of Winston-Salem; and Lester M. Parks, another brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will live on Baltimore Road near Advance.

Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Tucker and children, Angela and David, of Leaksville spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Brock Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lashley left Saturday morning for a 3 day trip through Virginia, West Virginia, and Ohio. They saw oil wells, gas wells, plenty of coal mines; and at Alloy, West Va., a glowing steel foundry ablaze with the heat of the foundry. They returned Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moore of Winston-Salem visited Mr. and Mrs. E. C. James Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimbrough McClamrock of Hickory visited Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lakey and other friends Sunday.

Jenny Stewart Named As 'Miss Davie County'

Marsha Stewart, A Sister, Is Named First Runner-up

Three sisters dominated the judging Saturday night at a fourth annual "Miss Davie County" beauty contest in the Cooleemee High School auditorium.

Miss Jenny Elizabeth Stewart, 18, a brown-eyed, brunette High Point College student was declared by the judges to be "Miss Davie County."

Her closest competitor was her 16-year-old sister, Marsha, also a brown-eyed brunette and a student at Davie County High School, who was named first runner up.

Another sister, 13-year-old Ann Eleanor Stewart, was named second place winner in the talent division. The three sisters are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stewart of 37 Center Street, Cooleemee.

Second runner up honors for Miss Davie County went to Miss Judy Elizabeth Gaither, 16, a blue-eyed blonde Davie County High School student who lives at Rt. 1, Mocksville.

The $250 paid vacation awarded to the lucky ticket winner was claimed by Ruby Blackwood. She will receive a vacation trip to the site of her choice.

An estimated 1,000 persons packed the high school auditorium to view the talent show and the parade of 19 beauty contestants, co-sponsored by the Cooleemee Lions Club and the American Legion.

tions director at Erwin Mill. Harold Foster and Bob Hoyle are co-chairmen of the contest this year. L. G. Scott and George Schlandensky directed the talent contests.

The 19 girls who entered the contest are:

Bonnie Sue Bailey, Sadie Carolyn Barnhardt, Linda Sue Bowles, Judy Baxter Carter, Barbara Ann Dunn, Sylvia Ann Hamilton, Peggy Jean Howard, Gloria Jean Nesbitt, Jenny Elizabeth Stewart and Marsha Stewart, all of Cooleemee; Janet Brown, Kay Margaret Chapman, Judy Elizabeth Gaither, Nancy Sue Kimmmer, Judy Dale McDaniel, Judy Sharon Phipps and Elizabeth Pearl Ridgenhour, all of Mocksville; and Bobbie Joann Seaford and Brenda Faye Spry of Advance.

For the People

By Bernadette W. Hoyle Public Information Officer N. C. S. Board of Public Welfare

[This is the 20th of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina.]

How is the public welfare program in North Carolina administered?

This State has a state-supervised, locally administered public welfare program in each of the 100 counties.

What basic areas of financial services are rendered by public welfare?

Aid to the needy aged, aid to the needy permanently and totally disabled, and aid to needy dependent children, including hospitalization.

What types of non-financial services are rendered by public welfare?

Adoption placements; help in placing elderly persons in boarding homes; licensing of fund raising organizations for charitable purposes; licensing of boarding homes for the aged, institutions for the treatment of alcoholics, and child caring institutions; psychological services; inspection of jail lockups; placement of children in foster homes; licensing of day care facilities for the care of children of working mothers; issuance of work permits for minors; work with juvenile delinquents; and counseling on family problems, are some of the many non-financial services of public welfare.

What is the greatest need in the administration of public welfare?

Most county departments of public welfare in the State are understaffed. Caseloads are high, making impossible careful, frequent reviews of cases. Salaries are not commensurate with salaries in other professional fields for persons with the same educational requirements. More staff and higher salaries would result in total benefits to the entire State in public welfare administration.

Cool Springs Alumni To Meet On May 6th

The seventh annual meeting of the alumni of Cools Springs High School will be held on Saturday, May 6th at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

There will be no speaker, but the program will feature some unusual entertainment and lots of time for visiting.

Former teachers, principals and all graduates, with their wives or husbands, are especially urged to attend this year.

Due to the incompleteness of the mailing list, the association committee wishes to make it clear that any teacher or graduate who has not received a notice of this event may do so by contacting Mr. (Mrs. Luther L. Holton, Rt. 4, Statesville) not later than May 1st," said Mrs. Luther L. Holton.

Hugh Bennett Ponds Listed

Plans are now completed in Davie County for public fishing in Hugh Bennett Ponds, May 8 through May 21.

Proceeds from such fishing fees will be donated by pond owners to provide a Hugh Bennett Professorship in Soils at N. C. State College.

Fishing will be allowed in Hugh Bennett Ponds, May 8-21, to all persons contributing one dollar per visit.

A big fishing contest will be held during this period and a trophy for largest bass and bream caught will be awarded by Soil Conservation Supervisors. Trophies will be on display at Evans Hardware and Supply Co. Fish pond fertilizer will be awarded to the pond owners where these fish are caught. Martin Brothers and Davie Farm Service are contributing fertilizer in the fishing contest. Persons taking fish to weighing stations must have a ticket with pond owner's signature and length of fish written on it.

Weighing stations for big fish are located at: Martin Brothers, Davie Farm Service, Evans Hardware and Bennett and Ellis Store, Farmington.

Tickets for fishing may be purchased from the following:

Davie Agricultural Workers, Wildlife Club Members, Bennett and Ellis, Tom's Lake. Maps will be furnished with tickets showing location of ponds.

The bridegroom practiced medicine for two years in York, S. C., and is now resident physician in orthopedic surgery at Charlotte Memorial Hospital.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of silk peau de sole with a scoop neckline trimmed with aleon lace and seed pearls. The skirt was appliqued with lace panels which extended into a cathedral train. Her full length veil edged with lace was worn mantilla style and she carried one white rose.

Mrs. Bill Barnette of Elkin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; and Miss Nannette Jackson Minor, another sister, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Smith Gibson, Miss Mary Psmadakis, and Mrs. Wyatt Rogers.

The attendants wore full length dresses of festive pink taffeta fashioned with scoop neckline, and brief sleeves. Ferialan rose trim accented the moulded bodice and extended to the back to form a bouffant bustle which fell beyond the hemline to form a short train. They carried white rattan baskets filled with spring flowers.

Margaret Holler of Rock Hill, S. C. was flower girl.

man. Ushers were Rufus C. Roper Jr. of Raleigh, and Dr. Thomas Roper of Smithfield, brothers of the bridegroom; Dr. B. J. Wilder of Fernandina Beach, Fla.; Dr. Jim Holler of Rock Hill, S. C., and Bill Barnette of Elkin brother in law of the bride.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in the social hall of the church following the ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. Roper will live on Milford Road in Chollotte after their honeymoon.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of pink peau de sole and a white orchid with a purple throat; the bridegroom's mother was attired in an orchid chiffon dress over peau de sole and a white orchid.

S. O. Markland Dies Of Injuries

Stephen Oaks Markland, 42, of Advance and Mocksville, injured in a traffic accident April 9 at Advance, died about 6 a.m. Friday at Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem.

FUNERALS

John C. Hodges, 85, of Lexington, funeral services for John C. Hodges, 85, of Lexington, were held recently at the Piedmont Funeral Home of that city.

Mrs. D. M. Groce, 72, of Mocksville, widow of Daniel M. Groce, died Thursday at her home.

Mrs. Groce died Thursday at her home. She had been in declining health a year and seriously ill nine days.

Mrs. Groce was born in Davie County to James and Maggie Wishon McBride.

She was a member of Mount Olive Methodist Church.

She had spent her life in the Huntsville community.

Surviving are a daughter Mrs. Dora York of Mocksville, Rt. 5; six sons, Robert Lee Groce, Miller James Willie and Locksley Hall Groce, all of Mocksville, Rt. 5, and David Groce of Yadkinville, Route 2; 21 grandchildren, three great grandchildren; two brothers, Charles McBride of Cooleemee and Will McBride of Mocksville, Rt. 5; and two sisters, Mrs. Fannie McBride of Yadkinville and Mrs. Daisy Flouman of Yadkinville, Rt. 2.

Mrs. Emma McNeely, 59, of Mocksville, funeral services for Mrs. Emma Lee McNeely, 59, of Mt. Ulla, Rt. 1, were held Tuesday at the First Baptist Church, Dr. T. C. Smith, the Rev. C. M. Houck and the Rev. Donald Funderburke officiated. Burial was in the Willow Valley Cemetery.

Mrs. McNeely died Sunday at the Lowrance Hospital.

She was a native of York County, S. C., and was born on Sept. 1, 1901. She was the daughter of John C. and Harriet Hedgepeth Warren.

She was married to Hugh L. McNeely, who survives. Also surviving are three daughters: Mrs. C. A. Cherry of Rt. 1, Mt. Ulla; Mrs. J. C. Compton of Route 2, Mooresville; and Mrs. Carl Basinger of Mooresville. Two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Danoy of Lexington; Vena Mae Warren of Butler. Two brothers, James C. Warren of Mocksville and Hal Warren of Chicago, Ill. Four grandchildren.

'Rebels' Win On Homerun

A homerun by Grimes Parker in the 11th inning broke a deadlock and gave Davie High a 5 to 3 victory over Winecoff last Friday.

Parker led the hitting for the Rebels with three hits. Junior Boal was the winning pitcher, relieving Parker on the mound.

The Rebels have an open date on Friday, but will play at West Rowan next Tuesday. On Thursday, May 4, they will play Monroe here.

Martha Husser Kontos to Give Recital Saturday

Martha Husser Kontos, mezzo-soprano, will be presented in a recital by the Mocksville Moose Lodge at Hedrick Auditorium at Catawba College Saturday night at 8:15.

Mrs. Kontos is now studying under Herta Glatz, a member of the teaching staff of the Manhattan School of Music and a former member of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York.

She is also a member of the famous Schola Cantorum of New York, which is under the direction of Hugh Ross. This choral group recently presented a new opera, "Le Vin Herbe," at Town Hall in New York, with Mrs. Kontos as one of the soloists.

The Schola Cantorum also recently performed Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms" and Ravel's, "Daphne and Chloe," with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Leonard Bernstein.

A graduate of Catawba College where she studied with Thomas M. Holt, she sang for numerous clubs and churches and was soloist for Temple Emanuel in Winston-Salem for three years.

Her program will include songs from the German Lieder by Schubert, Wolf and Strauss; an aria by Verdi; a group of Jewish songs by Binder, Odesohn, and Chajes; and a group of English songs by Barber and Copland.

She will be accompanied by Miss Lucille Epperson of the Catawba music faculty.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at Guyes of Salisbury or from Vincent Peterman, vice president of the local, Moose Lodge-1766, which will be donated to the Davie County High School by the Mocksville Moose Lodge.

Mrs. Kontos is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Husser of Advance.

Davie Achieves 25% Of It's Bond Quota

North Carolina achieved 25.1% of its annual quota in the first quarter of this year according to Mr. Knox Johnstone, Davie County Volunteer Chairman for the U. S. Savings Bonds Program.

State sales for the quarter were $12,951,289 a decrease of 5.4% from the comparable three months period of 1960.

March sales of Series H Bonds in North Carolina were up 22% while E Bond sales were down 8%.

Davie County sales for the quarter were $51,316.00, which is 25.5% of its annual quota of $201,240.00. This reflects an increase of 1.8% over this period of last year.

Top Dairy Herds For Davie Are Announced

The top six dairy herds in Davie County during the month of March according to the Dairy Herd Improvement Association were as follows:

Fred F. Bahnsen, Jr., 37 cows, none dry, average milk 1305 lbs; average test 3.8; average butterfat 49.6.

C. L. Blake, 38 cows, none dry; average milk 1329 lbs; average test 3.5; average butterfat, 46.5.

C. A. Street, Jr., 43 cows, three dry; average milk, 1255 lbs; average test 3.8; average butterfat, 4.65.

H. F. Blackwelder, Jr., 26 cows, none dry; average milk, 864 lbs; average test, 5.5; average butterfat, 46.5.

C. B. Angell and Sons, 59 cows, three dry; average milk 1107 lbs; average test 4.1; average butterfat 45.3.

Glenn Allen and Son, 51 cows, none dry; average milk 1212 lbs; average test 3.7; average butterfat, 43.4.

Each year, on March 1, the U. S. Marine Corps sends anniversary greetings to the British Regiment, the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, commemorating the friendship established when that regiment and the 1st Marine Regiment served together in China during the Boxer Rebellion in 1900.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK By NORTH CALLAHAN

Alfred E. Smith of this state was not the only one who possessed this now-famous name. A successful clothing merchant of Chattanooga, Tennessee has the same monicker and told me of two men who he said gave him the best advice he ever had - about salesmanship. One was my father. Young Smith approached him one day, selling magazines - or trying to at least, and was asked by my dad just what the magazine had in it that week. The young "salesman" didn't know. Whereupon, he received a lecture - such as I recall very well - on knowing the product one is selling. The other person who gave Smith advice was Gilbert K. Chesterton, the famous Englishman, who was visiting in this country and was approached by our young salesman. Again Al didn't know what was in the Post that week. Again he got the same advice: know your product, son, or you'll never get anyone interested in it. The current Smith took the good advice, and now he knows his clothes inside out.

It's interesting how these luncheon club guys crack about marriage - and why not? Their wives are not around to respond. So, many an "authority" sounds off about the facts and facets of matrimony, who if here at home would probably not open his trap in this regard. Only this past week, I heard a speaker at one of the local clubs comment that "it is not the original $2 investment in a marriage that counts, but the continual upkeep." Maybe he was thinking of his income tax.

With all the current activity in the stock market, the remark of Elmer Walzer, recently-retired financial editor of United Press International, is most apropos. Elmer owns no stocks nor does he plan to buy any, he told me, because of the uncertainty in their ups and downs. Furthermore, there is no such thing as a good tip on the stock market prospects, Elmer says, based on his forty years experience in the financial world. Anyone who gives you a tip on some stock wants you to buy it so he can sell it on a higher market he contends.

Dora Oksenhorn is a woman barber here, active proof that the women are getting into virtually every kind of work. She stands at her midtown Manhattan chair and clips and shears with the best of the men, perhaps adding a little feminine touch to trimming the locks that men don't have. Dora is from Poland and speaks with a slight accent. Soon her brother will also come to this country to work, and that will make Dora very happy, she says. She has been in Russia and likes the Russian people, but not their Communist leaders. "Thus U. S. is the best country in the world," emphatically said Dora with a flourish of her clippers.

Although most people I have talked to favor the new edition of the New Testament which was recently published, William Harlan Tale, managing editor of Torison, does not agree. "Apostles of the Electrolux Approach to the Holy Writ lack the courage of their convictions," he states. "They are either inhibited or they don't speak English."

Well, maybe it is not English but the man on the street here evidently feels it is American - which is good enough for him. The new publication has definitely brought renewed interest in the Bible and religion. Whether this is partly due to the big overtones of international happenings is hard to say. Whatever causes it, the turn to religion is surely a good one.

Here and There: Dr. Charles Townson retired after 40 years as a doctor, is now with the government in a leisurely job he says will enable him to live 15 years longer than he would have if he had continued his high-pressure practice. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. expressed a great philosophy when he said, his first book ended with the word "explained," his last book with the word, "unknown"... the only people to see Winston Churchill at first hand on a recent visit was a financial adviser, a local publisher and the man who gives him his cigars.

Social Security In Davie County

"One question we hear a lot," says James P. Temple, district manager of the Salisbury Social Security Office "is how much social security credit is needed for people to qualify for old-age or survivors benefits?" Today, this newspaper offered Mr. Temple the opportunity to give the answer.

Mr. Temple not only gave us the answer but it's news. The Social Security Act was changed in 1950 and the amount of work covered by the program needed by workers now reaching or past retirement age or who have died, is less than it was. Under the old law the worker needed social security credit equal to one year of work for each two years after 1950 and before he died or reached retirement age.

The new law, however, specifies that this worker now needs social security credit equal to only one year for each three years after 1950 and up to the year he reaches retirement age or dies. Under both the old and the new law, the social security credit needed can be earned anytime after 1936 — no one needs credit for more than 10 years' work, and a minimum of a year and a half of work under social security is always required.

Because of the new law, many people who have had their claims for old-age or survivors benefits rejected because of lack of sufficient work credit, may now be eligible. For instance, all workers who reached retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women) before 1957 need credit for only 1½ years of work under social security to be eligible. Under the old law, only people who reached retirement age before July 1954 could qualify with credit for only 1½ years of work.

Mr. Temple urged people who have had an application for benefits turned down, or who have failed to apply for report because of insufficient social security credit, to get in touch again with the social security office. They may now be eligible for benefits.

Bobby Booe Is Killed In Wreck

Bobby C. Booe, 26, of Route 3, Mocksville, Blkby community, was killed instantly about 2 a.m. Sunday morning three and one-half miles north of Mocksville on U. S. 601 when the car he was driving crashed into the rear of another automobile.

Jerry Milton Crews, 19, of Advance, Rt. 1, who was riding in the Booe car, suffered serious head injuries. He was treated at Davie County Hospital and then taken to Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock said the Booe car ran into the rear of an automobile operated by Gary I. Chaffin, 19, of Mocksville, Rt. 1. The Booe car ran off the left side of the highway and turned over several times.

Chaffin's car went off the side of the highway and overturned. Chaffin was a patient at Davie County Hospital under observation until Tuesday.

Patrolman Blalock said he was continuing his investigation.

Mr. Booe was born in Yadkin County to Joe and Kathleen Moser Booe. He was a furniture worker.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Juanita Karlene McBride Booe; two sons, Perry and Reginald Booe of the home; two daughters, Anita Kay and Nancy Kathleen Booe, all of the home; his parents, of Mocksville, Rt. 3; two brothers, Tony and Joe M. Booe of Mocksville Rt. 3; and one sister, Miss Judy Booe of Mocksville, Rt. 3.

The funeral was conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Fulton Methodist Church by the Rev. Alvin Latham. Burial was in the church cemetery.

TO SPEAK AT CENTER

The Rev. Keith Tutterow of Warrensville will preach at Center Methodist Church on Sunday, April 30, at 11 a.m. Keith is a former member of Center Church and his friends are invited to the service. The annual Tutterow reunion will follow his service. All friends of the family are invited to come and bring a basket.

A happy family is but an earlier heaven.

Camp Hanes Opens For 34th Season

One of Northwest North Carolina's most popular summer camps for boys opens its 34th season this summer. The Y.M.C.A.'s Camp Hanes, located at the foot of the Sauratown Mountains on 327 acres of wooded terrain, was established in 1927, and since then has been providing boys from 8 to 16 with a summer experience that is creative, educational, and at the same time fun.

Boys from all over Northwest North Carolina have been included in the more than 20,000 campers who have attended Camp Hanes during the past 33 years. Campers also have come from other areas of the state and from both near-by and far-full range of activities supervised by experienced counselors. Water sports are conducted on the two lakes, and the 27 buildings making up the camp provide facilities for crafts, indoor games, and other activities. Woodlore and nature study are pursued in the wooded areas of the camp, enabling the camper to increase his knowledge and appreciation of the out-of-doors. Group activities also provide wholesome recreation and guidance in working and playing with one's neighbor.

Last year Camp Hanes was in session for 120 days, having a total of 9,495 camper days. This year the camp opened in early April and will continue according to schedule through September. The program consists of pre-season and post-season week-end camping, four 2-week camping periods for boys, and a series of church-sponsored youth conferences. The four-week camping periods for boys are June 10-24, June 24 - July 8, July 8-22, and July 22 - August 5. Boys may attend this last period for one week if desired.

The camp is a member of the Southeastern Section of the American Camping Association, National Council of the Y.M.C.A., National Rifle Association, and the American Archery Association. Camp Hanes has a Grade A sanitary rating issued by the Stokes County Health Department.

Applications and additional information regarding the boys' camping periods can be requested from the Y.M.C.A., 315 North Spruce Street, Winston-Salem,

Rites Held For S. Wade Furches

S. WADE FURCHES

Funeral services for S. Wade Furches, 67, of Mocksville, Route 2, were held Sunday afternoon at the Farmington Baptist Church. The Rev. Clarence Shore, the Rev. J. W. Vestal and the Rev. Marvin Gold officiated. Burial was in the Farmington Cemetery with graveside Masonic Rites.

Mr. Furches, a member of the Davie County Board of Education, died at 7:30 a.m. Saturday morning at the Rowan Memorial Hospital in Salisbury. He had been ill ten days.

He was a dairy farmer and was born in Davie County to Samuel B. and Bell Tatum Furches.

Mr. Furches was a member of the Farmington Masonic Lodge and the Pine Community Grange. In 1923, he married Miss Ella Grey Armworthy, who survives. Also surviving is a stepmother, Mrs. Ada Furches, Miami, Fla.; two sons, S. Wade Furches, Jr. of King and Robert Grey Furches of North Wilkesboro; two daughters, Mrs. John B. Biaylock of New Bern and Mrs. Joseph B. Smith of Mocksville, Rt. 2; three brothers, Frank F. Furches of Salisbury, Ezra T. Furches of Draper and John C. Furches of Miami, Fla., and eight grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Cecil Leagans, Wade Groce, J. W. Seats, Luther West, Joe Langston, and Fletcher Reavis.

The members of the Davie County Board of Education and county school principals were honorary pallbearers.

Miss Howell Will Share In Fine Arts Festival At Pfeiffer

Pfeiffer College's first annual Fine Arts Festival will be opened with the presentation of Arthur Miller's award-winning drama, "The Crucible" on Thursday, April 27. The ten-day event will feature regional artists, several of national fame, and Pfeiffer faculty and students.

One of the notable individuals who will share in the festival is Randall Jarrell, outstanding American literary figure, Greensboro. He is winner of the 1961 National Book Award. Others include Ben Owen, famed North Carolina master potter, Seagrave; folk art artist Jane Bishop Hobgood and Arthur Tennent, Salisbury; and the recognized young American pianist, William Lewis Alton, Greensboro.

Miss Florence Howell, daughter of Major and Mrs. S. W. Howell, of North Main Street, will play the supporting role of Sanna Wallcott in "The Crucible." The play deals with the witch trials of seventeenth century New England and is considered a classic of the American stage.

She will also assist members of the Festival Committee in a variety of assignments. Miss Howell has been active in a number of campus projects including cultural enterprises.

The Fine Arts Festival will climax the 1960-61 cultural program at the liberal arts college. This program will feature a series of art exhibitions in the student center musical programs, a fine film series, dramatic productions, and lectures — all free to students.

Dr. Daniel G. Leidig, Chairman of the College's Division of Fine Arts, discussing the festival and student participation in various aspects of it explained: "First-hand exposure to music, drama, literature, dance, and the visual arts — painting, silkscreen and pottery — offers students the memorable experience of what other men are and have experienced. Thus students in our Drama Workshop who are associated in the production of "The Crucible" have an opportunity to have their cultural horizon lifted and personal experience deepened."

Pfeiffer President, Dr. J. Lem Stokes, II, commenting on the college's expanded cultural emphasis, stated, "We are pleased that students such as Miss Howell have become immersed in activities which bring them into close personal contact with faculty members. Such personal contacts afford an atmosphere encouraging rapid personal growth and opportunity for more effective self expression, vital in the liberal educational experience."

A WORLD'S FIRST! . . . at the Mocksville plant of the Masland Durable Leather Company is shown above. It is the world's first centrifugal heat pump using outside air as a source of heat. The new heat pump will maintain conditions of 80 degrees and 50 percent relative humidity in the summer, and 72 degrees in winter in the 140,000 square foot plant.

A World's First At Masland

MOCKSVILLE, N. C., April 27, 1961 - The world's first centrifugal heat pump using outside air as a source of heat went into operation here today at the opening of a new $1 million factory-warehouse built by The Masland Durable Leather Company. The firm is a major producer of Vinyl upholstery fabrics and wallcoverings.

Built for Masland by Carrier Air Conditioning Company, the new heat pump will maintain conditions of 80 degrees and 50 per cent relative humidity in summer, and 72 degrees in winter in the 140,000 square foot plant.

The entire facility was designed and engineered for Masland by William F. Lotz, Philadelphia engineering and construction firm, who also supervised all construction operations. Valley Engineering Co. (Glenside, Pa.) served as associate to Lotz in the design of the heat pump system.

Albert C. McCoy, president of Masland, said a reduction in operating cost was a major factor in the selection of a heat pump to heat and cool the plant rather than the more conventional two-part system consisting of a boiler for heating and a refrigerating machine for cooling.

Mr. McCoy said the initial cost of the two kinds of equipment was about the same. "But," he added, "It is anticipated that the annual operating cost for the heat pump will be about $5,500 compared to $10,000 for the conventional system. Mr. McCoy said the cost studies were made by the Philadelphia engineering firm of William F. Lotz, Inc.

The new system consists of two electrically-driven centrifugal chillers. The larger unit has a cooling capacity of 200 tons; the other provides 80 tons cooling capacity for process chilling.

In summer, the larger machine removes heat from interior spaces and transfers it to the outside through a cooling tower. In winter the cycle is reversed. Heat from cold outside air will be extracted as the air is pulled through a large coil containing antifreeze. Heat from a process load obtained by the smaller chiller will supplement the winter heating system as a further economy measure.

More About Masland Opening

Coy, William T. Clark, Sales Manager; and William Gardner, who is in charge of quality control.

Mr. McCoy said that within six months the force would probably total 100 and that he is hoping that within a year the plant will be in full production with three shifts and a force of 200.

The opening of the Mocksville plant will increase the company's productive potential 50 per cent with the 140,000 square feet available in the modern structure.

The Masland Duraleather Company

All of Mocksville and Davie County takes great pride in the 140,000 sq. ft. finishing plant of the Masland Duraleather Company which is to be dedicated Thursday.

This single story plant, of all-masonry construction, is the South's largest plant manufacturing vinyls and fabric-backed vinyls. Once in full production, it will employ 150 to 200 people.

The new plant is most modern in every respect. It is the largest industrial plant in the South to be entirely heated and cooled by heat pumps. The "plastic" designed continuous steel structure effected a 20% saving in steel over conventional methods. A roof deck providing a 0.1075 "U" factor was used. Masland's own "Clad" vinyl-bonded-to-metal wall covering is used on the outside of the building, above and below the office windows, as a decorative device and to demonstrate the product's durability and adaptability.

The opening of this new plant is expected to increase the productive potential of the Masland Duraleather Company by 50% and marks a big step forward for the company that was founded in 1914 by Walter E. Masland. That year, with six employees and a single coating machine, the company started business in a small building in Philadelphia. It produced pyroxylin coated fabric for the automotive industry.

In 1919 the company was incorporated, J. Wesley Masland, brother of the founder, became treasurer and served in that capacity until his death in 1948.

Able management guided the company successfully through the depression of 1920 and that of early 1930.

The year of 1935 launched a new era of expansion for the company as a result of its development of new colors and patterns for the furniture industry.

In 1937 the company's leadership in its field was definitely established and recognized throughout the furniture industry.

From 1942 to 1944 most of the company's production went to the Armed Forces. One of the items supplied was an all-plastic insulating material. This was the germinal idea for what was to become the first all-vinyl upholstery material..... Masland Duran, introduced in 1945.

By 1950, five years after Duran's introduction, the company's dollar volume was up 1500%.

In 1954, a new Masland Duraleather Company plant of 160,000 sq. ft. was built in Philadelphia, increasing productive capacity 25% to 35%.

The year of 1957 saw the establishment of the Industrial Products Division in the Philadelphia plant for production of Masland Duran Clad vinyl-metal laminate. And in 1960, the company branched into the wallcovering field with the development and manufacture of Crown vinyl wallcoverings, a line that is widely used in a variety of interiors.

We take great pride in saluting the Masland Duraleather Company and their officials, and extend the warmest hand of our southern hospitality.

It Makes Sense!

Often times an editor finds his interests conflicting by a dual role. This week we find such interests in some conflict.... first, as a parent.....second, as an editor.

The subject of this conflict is the elementary basketball program and the changing of the games from night time to day time, as is explained by a story on the front page of this issue.

As an editor we are forced to agree fully with the action taken by the Davie County Board of Education changing the times to Thursday afternoon. Basis for this action was the recommendation of the State Board of Education that feels that athletic contests on nights preceding a school day are not in the best interests of the school child.

As a parent that likes to see these basketball games and thinking only in terms of perhaps selfish and personal interests, we do not like this change. But, even as a parent, we are forced to answer this question:

Are the basketball games for the parents or for the children? And of course there is only one answer.

The elementary basketball program is designed for the children....to teach them skills....the effect of fair competition....good sportsmanship....and the like. Only a small percentage of the actual student body at any school becomes an actual participant in the games, but certainly the interest is there among a lot of others. By playing the games in the afternoon, many children who have never before had the opportunity to see these games, can and will do so.

Also, it should mean more to the team members to play before their friends and fellow students, and be cheered on by them. This opportunity will make for more and better school spirit and a closer relationship among the students.

But the real reason of course for the change is not to have the children out at night, away from home, before a school day. And this makes sense....even to a parent that must give up many chances of seeing his child perform.

S. Wade Furches

Davie County lost one of its foremost gentlemen last week with the passing of S. Wade Furches of the Farmington community. We say gentleman, with reference to Mr. Furches, for he was that in every respect.

His business was that of dairy farming. He was an active member of the Farmington Masonic Lodge and the Pino Community Grange. For the past 14 years, he was a member of the Davie County Board of Education and as such contributed much to progress of education in Davie County.

But whether it was in his business, his home life, or in his fraternal, church or civic activities, Mr. Furches was always looked upon and respected as a gentleman. As someone once said:

"It is a grand old name....that of gentleman....and has been recognized as a rank and power in all stages of society. To possess this character is a dignity of itself, commanding the instinctive homage of every generous mind, and those who will not bow to titular rank will yet do homage to the gentleman. His qualities depend not upon fashion or manners, but upon moral worth; not on personal possessions, but on personal qualities."

Thus such a man was S. Wade Furches...a gentleman that will long be remembered.

Astronaut Lost, Regained A Day

Russia's astronaut whizzed through 25 hours in 89 minutes.

The seeming trick of time was caused by the fact that his swift orbit around the world took him across both the International Date Line and a point of midnight.

On the basis of press reports, the astronaut's time schedule has been worked out by Wellman Chamberlin, the National Geographic Society's veteran cartographic engineer. He used the Society's new world globe, which has special measuring tools to enable users to plot the courses of satellites and rockets.

Major Yuri Gagarin is reported to have blasted off from a base in the Black Sea area at 9:07 a.m. Wednesday. (As the Soviet Union operates on daylight time the year round, this presumably was 8:07 standard time.)

Soaring across the Soviet Union into space above the Pacific, the astronaut crossed the International Date Line northwest of Hawaii when it was about 5:30 p.m. there. Now he was back in Tuesday, the day before he took off.

As the flyer passed high above Drake Passage, which separates the tip of South America from the Antarctic's Palmer Peninsula, it was midnight. Here he advanced into Wednesday, the day of his departure.

At 10:55 a.m. Wednesday, he landed in the Soviet Union well west of his starting place, for the earth, meanwhile, had turned 22 1/2 degrees eastward.

His actual time in space was reportedly 89 minutes.

Way Of Life

Weekly Report from the General Assembly

By Lester P. Martin, Jr., Representative

The long parade of State Agencies appearing before the Joint Appropriations Committee finally came to an end this week. A review of their various requests for additional funds amounts to 208 million over and above the one billion in State spending recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission.

Two of the biggest items include an additional 70 million for public schools and approximately 40 million for secondary road construction.

To screen the numerous requests a subcommittee of 15 veteran House members and 10 from the Senate was appointed. In 1959 the subcommittee spent six weeks wading through the mountains of figures—the recommended budgets and the requested increases—and came up with a proposed general appropriations bill.

While this activity is going on, the Finance Committee is holding hearings and is trying to decide the best method of raising revenue.

The legislative week was pleasantly interrupted on Wednesday as members of the General Assembly embled in Winston-Salem. The day long activities in our neighboring city included a special session of both houses and tours of Old Salem, Tanglewood, Reynolds Tobacco Co., and Hanes Hosiery Co.

A recent survey conducted by the N. C. Wildlife Federation among members of Davie County Wildlife Clubs indicates that 30 per cent of the members are in favor of having a closed hunting season for foxes, whereas 33 and one third per cent are opposed to such a change in the present law.

In other words it appears that a majority of the Wildlife members in Davie County, who have expressed themselves, prefer to leave the law as it now is. The present law provided for an open season on foxes. In addition, a vast majority of the non-member farmers who have contacted me want no change in the law.

In other wild life matters a bill was introduced in the House on Thursday providing for an increase in State and County hunting and fishing licenses.

Approximately 490 Davie County citizens have signed a petition opposing this measure.

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — The recent events in Cuba — and in connection with Cuba — have brought about the most severe test yet of the Kennedy Administration. In fact, the current crisis is the most serious test the United States and the Free World have faced since the Korean conflict.

In every sense of the word, the battle of South America is being fought in Cuba. If Premier Castro and the Communists are allowed to go unchallenged in Cuba, then there is no doubt that they will take the next step of overrunning all of South America.

There is no doubt in my mind that the people of the United States are ready to take whatever action President Kennedy considers necessary to blow the whistle on Castro and the Communists. Wisely, the President is not making any hasty or impulsive moves, but with firmness he has put the Communist world on notice that we are not going to sit on the sidelines and be just a spectator to what goes on in Cuba.

We have a cancer growing in Cuba. We know it is there, and it is a question of when and how we choose to deal with it. I think the earlier we operate the better for everyone concerned.

In the final analysis, we have no choice in the matter. It is obvious that Moscow has taken Castro under its wing for the sole purpose of building up a tremendous military installation just 90 miles off our coast. If we allow such plans to be carried out unchallenged then we are inviting disaster.

Cuba, I am certain, is only the first stages of a long range plan by the Communists to take over South America country by country. Once they are allowed to get their Cuban outpost in operation, they will use it to move to the mainland of South America.

We in the United States have had a long-standing policy of not intervening in the internal affairs of our South American neighbors.

TEXT: "A team is only as strong as its reserves" - Everett Case

As a fisherman left the house he turned to his wife and asked, "Mary, did you put my cooking outfit in the bag I'll want to fry some of the fish we catch."

"Yes," replied his wife, "and you'll find a reserve supply of sardines, crackers and cheese."

What do you have in reserve? What is waiting on your "bench" to throw into the struggle when the battle goes against you? Adequate reserves are vital in team sports. They are vital in business. They are vital in the military. The team, the business or the army without strong reserves is on the edge of disaster.

The same is true of individuals. When we drain away our energies; when we fail to build reserves of knowledge; when we exhaust our ideas; when we are empty of purpose, then we are certain to lose. We cannot hope for success.

In any endeavor, if you want to win, fix your purpose. Then look to your "bench." Build your reserves with your purpose in mind. Have them ready. It is the extra strength "on the bench" in reserve, that wins. Build it. Don't, waste it. You may need it at any moment.

By the same token, we are obligated not to allow other nations to intervene. In my way of thinking, the Communist have intervened in Cuba and it is up to us to put a stop to that intervention.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

Some time ago, I received an invitation to speak upon any topic of my own selection to the Civil War Round Table of the District of Columbia, an organization interested in men and events of the Civil War period. Having been interested for many years in the conflicting testimony concerning it, I decided to speak to this organization on the "Religious Faith of Abraham Lincoln".

In preparing to discuss this subject, I found that during a large part of his life, Lincoln entertained many doubts and disbeliefs concerning certain religious dogmas. I also discovered, however, that he underwent a spiritual evolution comparable to his evolution as a lawyer, orator, writer, and statesman.

As the result of his spiritual evolution, Lincoln became a deeply religious man. While we cannot say with certainty that his every doubt was satisfied and that his every disbelief was removed, we can affirm these things with assurance: He believed in God. He had faith in the Bible. He accepted the doctrine of the immortality of the soul. He practiced prayer. He revered Christ.

His belief in God as the Creator of the Universe and as the Sovereign Ruler of men and nations was attested time and again in his Presidential Papers and Public Speeches.

His faith in the Bible was demonstrated in emphatic words used by him during the summer before he was assassinated. On that occasion he gave his long time friend, Joshua Fry Speed, this advice and assurance concerning the Bible: "Take all of this Book upon reason that you can, and the balance on faith, and you will live and die a happier man."

His belief in the immortality of the soul was reflected with clarity in his letter which he wrote to his step-brother, John D. Johnson, while his father, Thomas Lincoln, was dying:

"I sincerely hope father may recover his health, but, tell him to remember to call upon and confide in our great and good and merciful Maker, who will not turn away from him in any extremity. He notes the fall of a sparrow, and numbers the hairs of our head, and He will not forget the dying man who puts his trust in Him. Say to him that ... if it be his lot to go now, he will soon have a joyous meeting with many loved ones before, and where the rest of us, through the help of God, hope ere long to join them."

The testimony concerning his disposition of mind towards prayer before his elevation to the Presidency is somewhat scant. After that event, however, he resorted to prayer with increasing frequency. He explained this practice by saying that many times he was forced to his knees, "not knowing where else to go."

His reverence for Christ was well illustrated by two statements made by him near the end of his life.

In accepting the gift of a Bible from a committee representing the Negroes of Baltimore, he said: "In regard to this great Book, I have but to say, it is the best gift God has given to man. All the good Saviour gave to the world was communicated through this Book."

In answering a question of Congressman Henry C. Deming as to why he had never united with a church, he said: "I have never united myself to any church, because I have found difficulty in giving my assent, without mental reservation, to the long, complicated statements of Christian doctrine which characterize their articles of belief and confessions of faith. When any church will inscribe over its altars, as its sole qualification for membership, the Saviour's condensed statement of the substance of both law and gospel: 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself,' that church I will join with all my heart and all my soul."

When all is said, his secretary, John G. Nicolay, was not in error in his declaration that Lincoln "had faith in the eternal justice and boundless mercy of Providence, and made the Golden Rule of Christ his practical creed."

The greatest thing in family life is to take a hint when a hint is intended — and not to take a hint when a hint isn't intended.

— Robert F. Fox

There has been some talk of late that more lobbyists are registered for this session of the Legislature than for any other in recent years.

This could be expected—since so many different types of taxes are being considered this time. But it isn't so, according to Secretary of State Thad Eure. He ought to know, for each lobbyist is required to have his name in that book kept for the purpose in Thad Eure's private office in the northeast corner of the Capitol.

"Checked on it the other day," Thad Eure told us last week. "Didn't count them—but would say the number of lobbyists is about the same as in 1959 or 1957. Reason I looked is that I had heard we had more of them around this time. About the same."

PROFITABLE SCHEME

Not all the lobbyists—those men referred to as "members of the Third House"—are yet occupied, it seems.

At any rate we heard one of them say to an organization friend the other day words to this effect:

"Why don't you all get that bill introduced to put an end to—?"

The Organization Man said they had about given up on that one, didn't think such a bill would get through, and they were not interested in having it introduced this session.

The Organization Man could have made $3,000-$7,000 for the lobbyist by having such a bill thrown into the hopper. The day the measure was introduced, the firms sure to lose money or business by its passage would call up their old friend and ask him to lobby against it. The fee would be a good one, according to the importance of the bill, the strength of its introducer, the firms hit, etc. But no bill, no lobbyist, no fee. Hence the conversation. It happens.

HELP WANTED

The steady expansion of State Government or loss of females through pregnancy, Federal employment, or both, can be seen through advertisements for "Stenographers for State Government" being run by the N. C. Employment Security Commission's local office in Raleigh.

It is interesting to compare the experience required and the salaries offered, etc., with ditto for teachers. Here goes:

"Must have at least 18 months experience or equivalent training in college or business school. Vacancies for engineering, legal, technical and general secretarial work. Salary range $3,132-$3,996. Beginning salary commensurate with experience and training. Three week vacation, 10 holidays and 10 days sick leave each year."

The average school teacher in North Carolina—after four expensive years in college (as against 18 months above)—begins work at a salary of $2,799 per year, has no free holidays, no sick leave, no paid vacation.

Sometimes it does seem as if the Lord has indeed smiled on the Old North State in permitting us to have even as good school system as we have. The age of miracles is not completely past.

RUINATION

Last winter one of our friends working for the State developed a peculiar growth on the foot. There was fear of cancer. Tests pointed to malignancy.

A large portion of skin running deeply into the side of the foot was removed and skin from the leg grafted to the foot. There was infection, but it soon cleared up and the patient was able to return to work with no ill effects. This employee was out of work for nine weeks last winter—without losing one day of pay! Had this happened to a teacher, she would have had to pay a replacement (almost her whole salary) and there would have been no sick leave, no petty leave—only ruination!

SHOULDER TAP

Time Magazine reports that "after working like a dirt farmer for days and nights, the new Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, quit his chores one evening and went to the movie."

A while after he had sat down, somebody behind Freeman tapped him on the shoulder. "This," said the President of the United States with a grin, "is a hell of a way to write a farm program."

AFTER TWO YEARS

What happens to a town that plows up its main drag and turns it into a grass-covered, tree-shaded downtown shopping park will be told by Marvin Moody of the Kalamazoo, Mich. (which did it!) at the 59th annual convention of the State Merchants Association in Asheville on May 22.

How they were able to do it successfully (with plenty of off-street parking) will be outlined the next day—May 23—by Bill Barr, executive director of the National Parking Association. Moody's talk will be: "Two Years After the Mall"; and Barr's: "How to Solve the Parking Problem in Your Community." Battery Park Hotel, Asheville, May 22-23.

TRIANGLE POINTER

The newest publication in these parts is a little weekly pocket-size magazine named "Triangle Pointer" and edited by Roland Giduz of Chapel Hill. We have seen two editions—and they look pretty good. The mag is carrying a hefty amount of advertising from motels, hotels, eating places, etc., from Chapel Hill, Durham, and Raleigh. So far—it looks like a good idea—and a good job. Nothing sparkling, but readable.

CATTLE DUST

Death of Dr. J. S. Dorton in Shelby last week removed from the scene one of the great State Fair managers of the nation. The fair had been losing money for years when newly elected Agriculture Commissioner W. K. Scott persuaded Dr. Dorton to take the post. Dr. Dorton, a veterinarian, had been forced to give up his practice because he had become allergic to the hide, or fur dust of animals.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where one of our U. S. Senators says that if we let Red China in the United Nations the Senate ought to hold national prayer meetings for the entire country. There's one thing you have to say for our Senators. They put on what their television folks call a "spectacular" at the drop of a hat. I wouldn't be surprised to see 'em get the Academy Award this year. They can go from Jimmy Hoffa to national prayer meetings, all in the same session. And if I know our Senators, they'll have them prayer meetings on a nation-wide television hookup. But I wouldn't put too much faith in their program for national prayer on account of them devoting too much time to a point of order. Either the preacher or the camera would be out of order during most of the service.

I was reading a magazine piece last night praising Secretary of State Rusk for being a small town boy that made good in the big city. I think them kind of things is overdone, Mister Editor. I can't see where it's any harder for a man to make good in a big city. The true test of a feller is whether or not he can make good in the small town where everybody is watching him, and maybe has already put two strikes on him on account of them knowing his Grandpa was a horse thief and his Pa used to put brass washers in the collection plate. In this community, fer instant, a feller has to make good with all the family skeletons bring out of the closet and set on the front porch.

Speaking of the State Department, I see where some feller in that office is complaining that 95 per cent of the nation's secret information has already been published by our newspapers. That puts me to wondering what happened to the other five per cent. I reckon them Tass newspaper men from Russia that we allow to operate over here unhampered got that. In short, you newspaper folks has been scooped on five per cent. That is bad.

And I see where this column writer from New York says this summer fer shore men will start wearing knee pants fer cool and comfort. They been trying to put that one over fer several years now. I just can't believe (Continued on Page 2) that men will come to that sad state. However, I ain't certain. As a matter of fact, I think men has been gitting sissier ever since they quit striking matches on the seat of their pants. That was the peak manhood in this country and ever since we've had a decline. But the saddest thing I read in the papers all week was about this feller 104 year old starting out hitch-hiking looking fer his relatives I can't understand why a feller that has got along without kinfolks so long starts out looking fer trouble in the twilight of his career.

More About Uncle Dave Says:

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Library News

Want to read a war novel about the Battle of Gettysburg? Like an exciting story of frontier and pioneer life? Interested in novels about doctors, diplomats, or detectives. Or, perhaps, you are partial to suspense stories, tales about the sea, or novels about self made men.

The newly published 7th edition of the "Fiction Catalog," which has been added to the Davie County Public Library, will help you locate interesting novels on these and many other subjects. It lists more than 4000 important works of fiction by author, title, and one or more subjects.

The catalog is an invaluable aid to readers of fiction who show decided preferences for books on certain subjects or in specific fields.

Arrangement in the first part of the book is by the name of the author, while in the latter portion novels are arranged by title and subject. Historical novels are divided by era (such as U. S.—18th century — French and Indian War) to aid in the selection of stories dealing with a particular period. Novels relating to one country or one state are listed together and subdivided by locality.

For each book entered, information is given about publisher, date of publication, price, paging, summary of the plot, and critical opinion from reviews. All of the novels included have been recommended by fiction specialists in libraries of various types and sizes in all parts of the country. The volume is published by the H. W. Wilson Co., in New York.

a glass of beer means many things

To the nation, the name Pinehurst means an ideal winter resort—golfing under warm southern skies... lawn bowling, horse shows, the steeplechase, polo or skeet. And—to North Carolinians it means so much more... it means civic pride in their state's beauty, genuine southern hospitality and expanding economy.

So, too, a glass of beer means many things to Tar Heels—it has meant some 90 million dollars to the North Carolina tax economy during the past 25 years. This symbol of light, bright refreshment means relaxed comfort after a day's activities in this famous southern resort.

Feed Grain Program Does Not Affect 'Other' Growers

The recently enacted 1961 feed grain program applies only to producers of corn and grain sorghum, L. G. Miller, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee said today. It does not apply to producers of other feed grains only.

In reply to inquiries as to how the program affects farmers who produce "other" feed grains—such as barley, oats, or rye, the Chairman explained that a farmer's participation in the 1961 feed grain program will be calculated from records of his farm's corn and grain sorghum production during the base years 1959 and 1960. From these records, will be determined the "minimum" amount of acreage the grower must divert from such production into a soil conserving use, and also the rate of payment applicable to the farm.

For diverting acreage under the program, the corn and grain sorghum producer will receive a special payment, and he will be eligible for price support on the normal production of his 1961 corn and grain sorghum acreage and also on all of his other feed grain crops—barley, oats, and rye.

Where a farmer did not produce either corn or grain sorghum in 1959 or 1960, and where he does not intend growing these crops this year, the feed grain program does not affect him at all. Such a farmer will be able to obtain price support on his "other" feed grains just as in other years — without regard to the 1961 feed grain program.

Producers of corn and grain sorghum will find it definitely to their advantage to participate in the feed grain program, Mr. Miller declared. Besides qualifying for price support on 1961 feed grains, the cooperater will be assured of an income from the diverted acreage regardless of drought or other production hazards, and, for most producers, the payment will return an amount greater than the net income from a normal crop on these acres. Furthermore up to half of the estimated total payment will be made in advance if the farmer so wishes and files such a request.

The non-cooperating corn or grain sorghum producer, on the other hand, will have no price support available for any of his 1961 feed grain production, will not be assured of net income from any of the 1961 feed grain acreage, will receive only the market price for his crop—whatever that may be, and will get no part of his income from an advance payment this spring. Farmers who are interested in the feed grain program for corn and grain sorghum are urged to get in touch with the county ASC committee without delay.

SHEEP

Water is the greatest enemy of high quality wool. Keep it dry just before, during and after shearing. Some textile companies say they are going to bid on wool pool with a price difference between tied and untied fleeces. To play it safe - tie with paper twine.

Fast growing lambs sell higher and return more profit. Keep lambs on creep for fast growth. The quickest way to improve quality in livestock is through the use of Better Sires. A purebred ram sale is scheduled for Graham Friday, May 5th.

BEEF CATTLE

Plain cattle always sell best in the spring. Cull out the plain ones now and pasture only the best. Creep feeding will pay dividends on calves to be sold at weaning or calves that move direct from weaning to feed lot. Corn and oats 50-50 by measure, is a good mixture.

Cows milk better and steers gain faster if not annoyed by flies. Regular spraying or dusting with Rotone, Methoxychlor Malathion or other approved material is suggested. Salt is one of our cheaper feeds - keep a supply of loose trace mineral salt available to cattle the year around.

Dehorning, castrating and vaccinating of calves should be done before cattle are moved on permanent pastures in the spring. Today would be a good time.

PERFORMANCE TESTING OF BEEF CATTLE

Fifty-eight counties have 172 herds enrolled in the Beef Cattle Performance Testing Program for 1961.

Last year difference between cows in the same herd under similar conditions, was as much as $75 or more. The returns at the feeder calf sale from a set of calves from one bull, as compared with another set of calves by another bull on similar cows on the same farm, was as much as $600 or more on a 20 cow basis. These are the differences that make the cow and calf operation profitable.

SWINE Management Practices for Larger Litters:

1. Follow a systematic cross-breeding program.
2. Select gilts and boars from large litters.
3. Separate breeding gilts from market hogs at 150 pounds and limit feed so gilts will weigh 240 pounds at 8 months.
4. Breed gilts at 8 months of age

5. or during third heat period.
6. Breed sows or gilts twice during the heat period, 24 hours apart.
7. Breed to a boar from a certified litter or certified mating.
8. Keep breeding dates, provide adequate housing, practice sanitation, use brooders, and be on hand at farrowing time.

Proper Nutrition For Larger Litters:

1. Limit fed to gilts from 150 pounds to 240 pounds. Feed gilts to gain one pound per day (4 to 5 pounds of feed per day).

2. Provide all breeding animals with good legume pasture.
3. Flush gilts and sows for two weeks prior to breeding by increasing feed intake.
4. After breeding reduce feed intake to 4 or 8 pounds per day. Gilts and sows should gain 75-100 pounds during gestation.

5. Provide plenty of water.
6. Provide a mineral mixture free choice.
7. Do not change ration at farrowing.
8. Get sows and gilts on full feed 7-10 days after farrowing.
9. Creep feed pigs.

RUPTURE OR HERNIA

Mr. E. J. MEINHARDI, widely known Shield Specialist from Chicago and Michigan, will again be in his office rooms at the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Winston-Salem on Thursday, April 27th. Office Hours 11 A. M. to 5 P. M.

If you can not have or do not want surgery, you may receive immediate and permanent relief wearing the Meinhardi Shield. This Shield retains any size rupture in 10 days on the average case avoiding harsh straps and hard pads.

Ask your Doctor to explain why it is dangerous to wear a truss if it presses on the delicate rupture swelling causing irregularity, pain in stomach, back legs, weakness, nausea, partial or complete strangulation. There is no charge for consultation or demonstration during office hours specified above. Only men invited. Investigate before buying. Thousands of satisfied customers as references.

Release and Reapportionment Of Cotton

April 20th was the closing date for releasing cotton acreages for 1961. A total of 382 farmers released 759.1 acres. Of this amount 229.7 acres were reapportioned to 98 farmers in the county that had requested additional acreage for 1961. We urge all farmers that will plant cotton to plant at least 75 per cent of their allotment. Failure to plant the full 75 per cent will result in a reduced allotment for 1962.

Wheat Acreage

Reporters are now visiting wheat farms to measure wheat. Acreage notices are being mailed on a current basis. Farmers who are overplanted should visit the

FLAMELESS
ELECTRIC COMFORT HEATING

Look how clean flameless electric comfort heating keeps the modern home. Electric comfort heating uses flameless electricity. There is no combustion, therefore, no smoke, soot, or grime to soil walls and curtains. Cleaning and costly redecorating are reduced.

Here's what Carolina housewives say about clean electric comfort heating:

"It is clean beyond belief — leaving no film on walls or drapes."

"Less frequent dusting of furniture."

"We expect to save on cleaning and redecorating costs in the future."

If you're planning to build, buy or modernize, talk over electric heating with your Duke Power Residential or Commercial Representative. Although Duke Power neither sells nor installs electric heating systems, your inquiries are welcome.

Yadkin Valley

By MRS. JOE LANGSTON

Cottage prayer meeting will be held Saturday p.m. April 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith.

The Rev. Taylor Loflin of Pine Chapel, has accepted a call as pastor of Macedonia Moravian Church. He will be installed on May 14.

Mrs. Jennie Howell has returned home from Davie County Hospital where she was a patient for a few days.

Leonard (Butch) Gregory, who was discharged from the Army, have accepted a tract of land on drafting department at R. J. Reynolds Company.

Mrs. Ada Hockaday is a patient at Davie County Hospital.

Housecleaning of Macedonia parsonage will be held Saturday, April 29. Anyone who can help any time during the day, please come.

Two Horse Shows will be held Saturday, April 29, at the Mc-Knight Arena. Starting times will be at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Yadkin Valley Church members have accepted a tract of land on Valley Road given them by Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Griffith of Winston Salem.

Mrs. Franklin Smith and daughter, Mary Alice, have returned home from the hospital.

Members of the Mary T. Hendrix Class will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. G. Smith to quilt for the Howard family whose home was destroyed by fire.

Several from this community attended the funeral of Wade Furches Sunday held in the Baptist Church in Farmington.

Heavy rainfall in Davie County during the last week indicated that soil is still being washed away. Approximately 28,000 acres in the county do not have adequate conservation treatment.

Grassed waterways were constructed on the farms of L. E. Hartman and Lonnie Myers. These waterways were built joining one another because the depression in the field extended through the farms of Lonnie Myers and L. E. Hartman. Lonnie Myers waterway has to handle the runoff from L. E. Hartman's field. Both land owners working together can provide a better and more convenient water disposal system than by working separate.

Heavy rains after construction cause some damage to waterways, but when fescue sod is established water disposal problem is solved. Lee Lamb helped stake 1300 feet of terracing on his farm. Soil Conservation Service assisted with layout of terraces. Lee Lamb has most of the fields terraced, but needed additional terraces to catch soil and water that were flowing off.
