

Reynolds Official Tells Of Plans for New Processing Plant

Grading and excavation on the property of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company on the Baltimore Road in Davie County is expected to begin sometime this spring.

Southern Railway has promised to have a railroad track into the property by June 1st. Steel and other needed construction equipment will be brought into the area by the railroad.

And by the middle of the summer, construction is expected to be underway on the sheds in which tobacco will eventually be stored. These are specially designed sheds about the size of a football field.

Plans for this new storage and processing plant were discussed for the members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday by Charles B. Wade, Vice-President of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. Mr. Wade was accompanied by two other officials of the company:

Bryce Allen, head of the leaf buying for the company, and Jack Widener, head of the leaf processing department under whom the Davie County operation will function.

"In a few years we hope to complete the development with a plant," said Mr. Wade. "Once in full operation, this Davie operation will provide full-time employment for 150 and seasonal employment (about eight months per year) for 400 to 600 others. We believe this will fit in well with the farm economy of this county."

Governor Compliments
Mr. Wade revealed that Governor Terry Sanford was very complimentary of Davie County and of their choice to locate the plant here. He said that when they told the Governor of their decision he said that they could not have made a better choice—that he was very familiar with this area and was sure that they would never regret this "partnership with Davie".

Mr. Wade also gave brief history of the tobacco industry and of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. He pointed out that today the R. J. Reynolds Company had 32% of the total cigarette market—that the company was employing in excess of 18,000 people, which was the largest in its history—that it was the only large company that had all of its manufacturing in one town.

John Johnstone had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Wade, President Gordon Tomlinson presided.

Fire losses in Davie County during 1961 amounted to an estimated $4,000, according to the annual report of the fire department submitted by Andrew Lagle, fire chief.

During the year the local volunteers responded to 19 fire calls in addition to six fire calls out of the city limits and two false alarms.

The largest cause of building fires was defective heating equipment and fires.

Of the 19 calls there were: eight building fires; three grass fires; two automobile fires; and one miscellaneous. Of the six calls outside the city limits, they were: one building fire; one grass fire; one truck fire; and, three calls for mutual aid to neighboring departments.

The local volunteers spent 60 hours training and inspecting. There was only one fire during the year that required connecting to a fire hydrant.

The Mack truck was being operated by Floyd Philmore Smith, 41, of Granite Falls, Rt. 1.

Myers was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Damages to the truck were estimated at $50 and to the Studebaker, $100.

Mrs. Lawrence Miller of Cooleemee, Davie County's Chairman of the Mother's March, for the new March of Dimes Fund raising campaign, was in Raleigh on Tuesday, January 23, at the Governor's Mansion for a Coffee Party.

Mrs. Terry (Margaret Rose) Sanford was hostess at the Coffee for a special group of women at the Governor's Mansion at 10:30 a.m. These mothers are serving as Chairmen of the Mothers' March, which will be held in most cities throughout North Carolina as the wind-up activity for the 1962 New March of Dimes.

Ralph C. Seymour, Director, Wake County March of Dimes, greeted the ladies on their arrival. In the receiving line were Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Jacqueline Gutwillig, Assistant Director of Women's Activities, Mrs. A. C. (Kay) Broughton, Jr., State Advisor on Women's Activities, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Best, Sr., State March of Dimes Chairman and wife, and Mrs. George M. Anderson, Wake County Chapter Chairman's wife. Mrs. Jacqueline Gutwillig, guest speaker, emphasized the urgent need for research, public and professional education and patient aid in the important health fields of arthritis and birth defects, as well as polio. "These health areas were chosen as the new targets for the March of Dimes - National Foundation - because of the numbers of patients afflicted and because very little was being done. Accordingly, The National Foundation is using its long experience in fighting polio to attack these two additional disabling disease areas. We are moving into the 1962

Mocksville-Cooleemee Extended Area Telephone Service Favored Locally

Name Inscribed

A memorial plaque commemorating the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower has been placed in the Hall of Presidents at Gettysburg, Pa.

The name of Edwin C. Morris of Mocksville, Republican National Delegate, from this district will be inscribed in bronze on this memorial.

Car Hits Pole, Disrupts Service

Telephone service into the Smith Grove Exchange was disrupted more than 10 hours Sunday as the result of a wreck on North Main Street in Mocksville.

Around 8 a.m. a 1958 Buick, heading south, applied brakes on the icy road at the intersection of Church Street and went into a skid, hitting a telephone pole carrying the large transmission cable. The pole was broken in two and the cable was damaged.

Mocksville Chief of Police said that his investigation showed that the Buick was being operated by Stanly James Reese, 23, of Route 1, Hudson, N. C.

There were no injuries. Damage to the telephone company's pole and cable were estimated at around $300 and the same to the car. No charges were made.

Persons voting in a recent survey to determine whether or not they desire Extended Area Telephone Service between Mocksville and Cooleemee were substantially in favor of the proposed new type of service, according to C. J. Wilson, Local Representative of Central Telephone Co. in Mocksville.

Wilson this week announced the results of the survey conducted by both Central Telephone Co. and the Cooleemee Telephone Co. The surveys which began in December have been concluded.

Only telephone patrons or customers were allowed to vote.

The company released the following results of the surveys which indicate that each exchange favors the new type service: Mocksville customers voted 81.1 per cent in favor of the new type service and Cooleemee customers voted 77.7 per cent in favor of the new type service.

The results of the surveys have been forwarded to the North Carolina Utilities Commission in Raleigh for their study and review. If approved by the Commission, telephone officials anticipate that Extended Area Service between Mocksville and Cooleemee can be made available in 14 months.

Extended Area Service means that all calls between Mocksville and Cooleemee would be on a local basis and the present toll charges would be eliminated. In exchange for this new service the telephone companies would be allowed to increase their local rates to take care of the cost of the additional equipment required and to bridge the gap in revenue when the toll charges are eliminated.

Souther Appraisal Company To Conduct This Program

The North Carolina Legislature at its 1959 session enacted a law making it mandatory that each county in North Carolina conduct a countywide revaluation and equalization program every eight years. Davie County's first under this law to be effective for the year 1963.

Davie County's last revaluation and equalization program was conducted in 1950, effective for the year 1951. This has been eleven years ago.

"I am sure each of you are aware that many changes have taken place in our county in that time," said Mrs. Eloise Stephens, County Tax Supervisor. "Roads have been paved, homes improved, land cleared and opened for cultivation. On the other hand, many buildings have gone down in value, some homes and out-buildings I see have fallen in value, some farms have grown up in brush or small trees due to a number of reasons: sickness, age of some owners, and the trend for farmers to seek some type of public employment by which to meet monthly, rather than yearly, expenses. All of these things have a direct and vital bearing on the value of property."

"Here I would like to stress the word EQUALIZATION," said Mrs. Stephens. "I don't think there is a corporation or an individual in Davie County who does not desire to pay his fair share of the expense of running his business, schools, hospital, upkeep of county property, and a fair salary for his public servants elected and put in office by his vote. Now the only way that this can be done is to have a fair and equal valuation on each and everyone's property according to what that individual owns."

At its regular meeting on December 6, 1961, the Davie County Board of Commissioners entered into a contract with the Southern Appraisal Company of Greensboro, N. C. to conduct this equalization and revaluation program for Davie County.

Mrs. Stephens pointed out that a representative of this company will be calling residents of the county very soon.

"The information that you give him and his ability to see for himself will make it possible for him to give your property a fair and uniform valuation. Your cooperation will aid him in arriving at a fair value for you. If you are not sure of his identity and he does not show his card, ask to see his card bearing the signature of your chairman of commissioners," said Mrs. Stephens.

These people are under the direct supervision and control of the Davie County Tax Supervisor. Any valid complaint as to their sincerity or ability should be presented to this department.

54 Percent of Retail Spending In Davie Is For Food and Automobiles

Local Stores Selling Food Take In More Than 2 1/2 Million During 1961

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—How are Davie County residents spending their money these days? What part of it is going for the standbys, such as food, clothing, automobiles, and household appliances? What changes are taking place in local buying preferences?

The reports point to definite shifts in consumer tastes. As a result, some of the products that were popular yesterday have given way to new ones. Flashy cars with big fins and powerful engines, for example, have been displaced by simpler models that feature economy of operation.

On the other hand, greater emphasis is being placed on personal services, education, recreation and travel.

The facts and figures are brought out in the new consumer market study released by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It details, for communities all over the country, just how the local retail dollar was apportioned the past fiscal year.

A breakdown of the spending pattern in Davie County shows that retail business was good for most types of merchandise, despite the unusual amount of unemployment.

Purchases of food and of automotive equipment and supplies attracted a major part of the consumer dollar locally. They accounted for 54 per cent of all retail spending.

Sales of these products in the year amounted to $5,988,000.

Stores selling food for home consumption garnered $2,640,000 of the total.

Another $2,212,000 went for purchases of cars, boats, motorcycles and other automotive equipment.

Expenditures in gas service stations came to $1,136,000.

The volume of business reported for other principal retail categories was: general merchandise establishments, $920,000; apparel shops, $129,000; home furnishings $590,000; and drugs, $518,000.

All told, store sales locally in the fiscal year ending July 1, 1961, reached a grand total of $11,007,000, as against the prior year's $10,588,000.

It was at the rate of $2,357 per local household.

The best gains were made by the service type businesses and by those catering to leisure time activities.

Mrs. Gutwilling stated that a formal proposal had been submitted to the Medical Department of The National Foundation for the U.N.C. Medical School at Chapel Hill, North Carolina. This proposal contains recommendations for providing diagnostic and treatment facilities to persons afflicted with birth defects (congenital malformations) in North Carolina. The Medical Department of The National Foundation will send an independent medical consultant to "pin down" the details for such a plan. According to Mrs. Gutwilling, the Center at the University of North Carolina will be one of a rapidly expanding chain of Special Treatment Centers which The National Foundation is establishing with county chapter support throughout the nation. "What a blessing such a Center will be to patients and their families, and physicians in this state!"

There were 110 guests. Tyrrell County, Columbia, North Carolina, was the county in attendance at the most eastern point in North Carolina, and Buncombe County, Asheville, was the representative of the western-most point in North Carolina.

SNOW

A poem written by Julia Maddox, granddaughter of J. H. Robertson, Advance

I went to bed one freezing cold night, and when I awoke, saw a beautiful sight. The hills and trees, everything in sight,

Had turned to a beautiful, sparkling white. The snow had been falling all the night through.

Now I could build snowmen and go sleighriding too. The neighbor children would be out to play.

On this cold and snowy day.

Everyone in town DOESN'T know him and if they did they would still forget what he has for sale.

People move to town, children grow up and get married, people die, and new families take their place. People in the market for headware this week, may want a floor lamp next week. Snow Time!

An unexpected snowstorm hit North Carolina Sunday morning and dumped its biggest load of the season in this area.

A sudden blast of cold air coming from the north through Virginia collided with an unseasonably warm low pressure front moving northeastward into the state from South Carolina.

The storm dumped from five to seven inches in this area. Mountain areas west of here, usually heavy hit, got less snow than this area.

Schools were closed all day Monday. However, a warming trend Monday melted away a lot of the snow and cleared most of the highways.

The snow struck this area about 5:30 a.m. Sunday with a prelude of mixed sleet and snow. About three hours later heavy snow began and continued until early afternoon. The snow let up about 3:30 p.m. and about an hour later the cloud cover broke and let sunlight through.

Saturday temperature readings in the high 50s fell into the low 40s that night. Cold winds about 3:30 a.m. Sunday dropped the mercury to the low 20s. Sunday night the temperature was around 28 degrees but rose during the night and was in the high forties by noon Monday.

Social Security In Davie County

The exact amount of old-age, survivors, or disability insurance benefits payable on your social security account cannot be figured until a claim is filed on your account. However, it is not hard to estimate how much will be payable to you and your dependents when you do qualify for benefits, or how much would be paid to your dependents in the event of your death.

The benefits which might be payable to you and your family at a future date are based on average earnings. The amount of your old-age benefit would depend on whether or not you started receiving benefits at age 62 or later.

The Salisbury, N. C. Social Security Office has a booklet, "Social Security Benefits: How to Estimate the Amount" OASI 855, which explains in five easy steps how you can arrive at an estimate of the benefits that could be payable to you and your dependents when you retire or in the event of your death.

If you would like to have this booklet, at no charge to you, address your letters to: Social Security Administration, 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C.

Tobacco Plantbeds Ready For Seeding

W. C. Holtzmann Jr., assistant agricultural agent in Forsyth, doesn't think that many farmers shuffled through the seven inches of weekend snow to seed their tobacco beds.

"But a lot have their plantbeds ready for seeding," he said yesterday. "A great many seedbeds—more than in the past—were prepared in the fall, as a precaution against troublesome weather."

Some beds have been seeded, he reported. The bulk of the seeding will be done during February. Holtzmann recalled that the late snowfall a few years ago delayed preparation of seed-beds and that many farmers throughout the Old Belt did sift their tobacco seeds into the snow.

"It usually works all right," he commented, "provided the bed has been properly prepared ahead of time."

Full preparation of plantbeds, he explained, enables farmers to treat for control of weeds, grasses, and disease infestations. January and February treatment is often handicapped, he said, because of the cold ground. The methyl bromide applied needs fairly warm ground to be fully effective.

Progressive Care Center At Baptist Hospital Featured in Look

Baptist Hospital's Progressive Care Center, which has received widespread notice in hospital magazines and in newspapers, is the subject of a three-page picture story in the February 13 issue of Look Magazine, which went on sale Tuesday (Jan. 30).

Look Writer Jack Star and Photographer James H. Kurales spent two days at the Center gathering material for the story. They used a patient, Dr. Graham Harden of Burlington, who was staying at the center for a few days while undergoing tests and diagnosis, to illustrate the daily activities of the average patient. Dr. Harden is a retired physician. His wife was a surgical patient in the hospital at the same time.

Look's article is entitled "Hospital Hotel," and points out that although about a fifth of all hospital patients do not require the elaborate and expensive care provided for bed patients, they have to pay for it anyway. "These," the article goes on, "are the convalescents approaching the end of a long hospital stay or new patients admitted for a series of tests or minor medical treatment. They can dress themselves, walk around, and take their own medicine.

Hospitals have treated such patients as though they were helpless. But in the past decade, more than a score of hospitals have begun seeking ways to give them a break. The most promising of these experiments is under way at North Carolina Baptist hospital.

Ever since the Progressive Care Center opened last March 15 it has attracted interest from the medical and hospital professions. Three hospital magazines have written articles on it, paying considerable attention to the technical side of operations. Hospitals and Foundations also have been interested and have sent officials to Winston-Salem to look over its facilities and discuss its operations. Some months ago it was studied by the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center of New York. The House Committee on Veterans Affairs sent its counsel, Edwin B. Patterson, here to make a detailed study and to report to the Committee on possibilities of erecting such facilities at Veterans Administration hospitals.

No doubt must intervene between the promise and event; faith and resolve are friends to Truth.

— Mary Baker Eddy

The recreation room in the Progressive Care Center is popular among patients. Here Dr. Graham Harden plays checkers with another patient.

Cutting down on advertising to save money is like stopping the clock to save time.

The urge to trim operating expenses when sales drop off is certainly understandable. But slashing an ad budget can rob a retailer of valuable sales help just at a time when he needs it the most.

The true value of advertising is in its cumulative effect. Consistency in advertising is more important than the size of any one advertisement. There is a lot of truth in the old adage: "There are two good times to advertise—when business is good and when business is bad."

MISS MARY

Death last week took away a most esteemed citizen of this area in Miss Mary Heitman.

"Miss Mary", as she was known to so many, was a reserved and gracious lady with an intense interest in local history, in her church, and in cultural activities. In addition to teaching school, she served on the staff of this newspaper for many years during the twenties and early thirties. During this time she was the author of a column called "The Corner Cupboard" in which she noted many historical articles and items of Davie County, Mocksville and the area. Her constant research into the future brought to her the recognition as the historian for Davie County and it is largely due to her efforts that much of our history has been preserved.

She was most loyal to her church, the First Methodist Church of Mocksville, and taught a Sunday School Class for years.

In the passing of Miss Mary Jane Heitman this county loses a citizen that through the years contributed to the passing scene through her interest in historical and cultural life of the area.

AN OUTLOOK FOR PROGRESS

Davie County can certainly start off this year of 1962 with an optimistic outlook for continued growth and progress. We have only to anticipate the "shot in the arm" that the new leaf processing plant of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company will bring this area to be optimistic. However, that is not all.

The Masland Durable Leather Company, noted as the world's largest independent producer of vinyl plastic, approaches their first anniversary in Mocksville with continually expanding operations.

There is Heritage Furniture Company in Mocksville that has through the past years reflected steady growth, full employment, and with rumors of further expansion of their plant here in the near future.

And there is the recent announcement of the acquiring of the Erwin Mill chain, of which there is a large plant at Coolee, by Burlington Industries—the largest textile manufacturer in the world. This, too, should in the long run prove an added boost to local economy.

And of course there are the local garment manufacturers that continue to provide supplemental income to this area through the employment of women.

Add to all of these and other industries of the area the income that comes in the county from dairying and other agricultural pursuits and you find one of the best balanced counties, economically speaking, in the state.

Naturally where there are people and where these people have an ample income there is created what is known as retail business to service the needs of these people. This county is also blessed with some outstanding and progressive retail establishments that recognize the needs of the people and do their utmost to service these needs to the fullest. However, it must be recognized that progress brings about changes in needs and attitudes. Today in this automotive age of good roads and super highways, retail business competition is not with their fellow businessmen within their community but with adjoining cities. For example—anything that will attract and bring people into Mocksville will help all the business here at least some—for there can be no business without people. On the other hand, anything that attracts local people into neighboring cities and shopping centers will take away retail business from our local establishments. This simply means that today more cooperation among local merchants is required to attract people into our area.

Certainly Davie County is now in a position to move forward at a more accelerated pace than ever before. All that is needed is cooperation and working together—with the realization that the word "cooperation" entails two vital parts—that of giving as well as receiving.

THE GROUND HOG

The star of Groundhog Day usually sleeps right through the occasion.

On February 2, the legendary weather prophet is supposed to emerge from his den and look for his shadow. Failure to cast one means an early spring and a good harvest; the sight of one, six more weeks of winter and poor crops.

In fact, the groundhog hibernates from mid-autumn until March, rarely stirring from his underground burrow, the National Geographic Society reports.

He sleeps so soundly that only a sensitive instrument can tell whether he is dead or alive.

Unlike many of his rodent cousins, the groundhog, or woodchuck, does not store food for the winter. He lives on body fat accumulated in a summer of steady eating that may balloon him to four times normal size.

When the groundhog does awake in early spring, looking much thinner and trimmer, he apparently gives no thought to weather. He's thinking only of romance and food.

One woodchuck may eat a ton of hay in a season; he can put away a bean patch at one sitting. For dessert, the vegetarian likes cabbage heads, pumpkin vines, and young corn.

When he isn't plundering gardens and hayfields, the groundhog digs holes that can cause cattle to stumble. The mounds of earth piled up at the burrow exits also wreck farm machinery.

In 1883, New Hampshire pronounced the groundhog "destitute of any interesting qualities" and put a 10-cent price on his head.

Despite its bad habits, the groundhog is an honored animal in the United States.

Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, which claims to be the official residence of the furry animal, though this is disputed by Sun Prairie, Wisconsin, celebrates February 2 with a Groundhog Banquet and teenage Groundhog Hop.

A recent book entitled "Cooking With the Groundhog" explains how to prepare the animal with almonds, rhubarb, and zucchini.

The Old World legend of Groundhog Day was brought to America by the Pilgrims. They substituted the indigenous groundhog for the European hedgehog which in earlier tradition cast a shadow on Candlemas Day.

The North American animal is a heavy-bodied, white-nosed, myopic species of marmot (Marmota monax). It lives in open woodlands and meadows, and enjoys a lazy, short-sighted life.

When chased by coyotes, dogs, or an irate farmer, "woodie" whistles a warning, chatters his teeth, and heads for a burrow.

Young are born in late spring, four to six to a litter. The father assumes no parental responsibility. He spends his time feasting, sunning, and digging den holes.

By August, the young "whistling pigs," as woodchucks are sometimes called, are ready to find dens for a new life on their own.

Iona, Scotland's sacred isle, was a center of Christianity in the 7th century. Macebeth and Duncan are among more than 60 Scottish kings buried there, the National Geographic Magazine says.

CAPITAL CLIPBOARD

News and Comment from our Raleigh Bureau—2615 Oyster Rd.

SURPRISE . . . Close friends of the Brewer family here are still speechless at the highway sign scandal which almost took the life of one of the most prominently connected with it.

They can hardly believe it has happened to friendly, care-free, free spending Kidd Brewer, the nearest thing in these parts to the adult, family man version of the All American boy.

And yet there it is—no surprise after another—shock on shock. In general, sympathy around too-sophisticated Raleigh seemed to be with Brewer until the story moved out of the $40,000 class and into the big checks payments moving to Brewer via a hardware firm in Boone. When this development hit the headlines, loss of face for Brewer came almost as suddenly as the first mention of the case from the Governor's office.

Now that it has all gone this far, Raleigh is ready for anything, for any announcement. Feeling here is there can be no more shocks.

ISOLATED? . . . How the affair became so big and involved only three local people—Burdish son and father and Brewer—is difficult for old heads to understand.

With the thousands of people associated with highway construction and the thousands more on the State payroll, you would think one or two more would be indirectly involved . . . but apparently not. As of this past week end, it still looked—strange as it seems—like an isolated thing: a violent turbulence touching no other part of the plain.

But just a whole lot of questions must still be answered. There is more than one person in Raleigh who thinks "more heads will roll" before finis is written to the case.

GOT TO HIM? . . . The word we get from neighbors of the Brewer's is that he had slept very little, had paced the floor like a caged animal for nearly 2 weeks before slashing himself with razor blades. He finally broke. Who wouldn't? Every street corner here is abuzz with what Brewer's attorneys told him just before he slipped out of the conference and drove the six miles to his suburban home. When a trail of blood was found and it was announced that Brewer was missing, one Raleigh resident indirectly close to the case said, "It looks as if—got to Brewer." This, of course, proved incorrect—but it was a most interesting reaction to the announcement.

WHY NOT REX? . . . Now what was the real reason Kidd Brewer was moved from Rex Hospital in Raleigh to Duke University Hospital in Durham? And, under the circumstances, would it not have been better for him to be moved to Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill or to Bowman Gray in Brewer's hometown of Winston-Salem?

NEXT . . . Now the next round could involve the Bruch's or the Minnesota Mining Co. It looks as if Kidd Brewer will be out of it for a season. The belief here is that he will recover physically before he does mentally.

Before the apparent suicide attempt, the N. C. Revenue Dept. was calling the shots. Now it is a psychiatrist over at Duke University. He, and only he, will say when Kidd Brewer is able to again to enter the fray.

Meantime, watch for some interesting—and rather unique developments.

HAND SHAKING . . . Just before he began his speech to the National Association of Travel Organizations in Washington's Willard Hotel last week, Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges tore himself away from the august group at the head table, and made a quick hand shaking tour among 25 Turkeys gathered there for the luncheon.

As of last week, only Dean Rusk seemed more of a fixture in the Kennedy cabinet than Luther Hodges. He looks young, vigorous, full of health, makes a good speech—and still reads it so hurriedly you miss whole sentences. Gov. Eanford—drawls—his—out—like—this. Suh.

NEXT TIME . . . Fifth District Congressman Ralph Scott is telling ambitious young Democrats of that section they can fight for the honor of succeeding him two years hence—but he would be very much obliged if they would just leave him alone this time.

And— we rather think they will. It's no time to beat a conservative in a district which has just added Wilkes County to its listings.

CAR SALES . . . New car sales in the State for this past Dec. were 9,680 as against 9,027 for the same month of 1960. Chevrolet led Ford—2,424 to 2,078. Auto sales in the nation for the first ten days of this year were averaging 17,668 per day—18 per cent over the first ten days of 1961.

NOTES . . . We had a nice letter of Cong. Harold D. Cooley . . . who said in his charming way . . . he has no gubernatorial ambitions . . . is interested in continuing his work in the House as a "balanced Democrat" . . . We still say he would make a great Governor . . . but no doubt will mean more to the State and nation as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee . . . But we DO have at least a half dozen House members who would run for Governor at the drop of a hat. Here's a list: Basil Whitener, Alton Lennon, Charles Johnson, Horace Konegay, Paul Kitchin, David Henderson and Lawrence Fountain.

Whitener has it worst as far as 1964 is concerned, with Lennon watching for 68 . . . and the others . . . watching for an open ing. Able men, too.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK . . .

By NORTH CALLAHAN

There are ominous stirrings in Congress regarding the possibility of raising the price of first-class letters to five cents postage. I hope that this is only a rumor, especially since the government, in almost the same breath, asks that we keep down inflation. And of course there are many who would like to keep Lincoln's picture, which is on the four-cent stamp, regularly displayed during the Civil War Centennial. It is said that if the new rate is approved, the face of Andrew Jackson will appear on the five-cent stamp, which is not strange, considering the current administration is Democratic. In fact, it was the New Deal that started the Presidential series of postage stamps, placing the image of Thomas Jefferson on the three-cent stamp—then raising the price of first-class surface mail to three cents. But after the election of Dwight Eisenhower in 1952, Jefferson was switched to the two-cent stamp, Abraham Lincoln appeared on the four-cent stamp—and first-class postage was raised to four cents for a surface letter. It was possible, but not handy, for Democrats still to display Jefferson, by using two-cent stamps instead of a four. Regardless of faces or administrations, we should attain a period of stability and keep the proper President where he economically belongs. (Personally, I like the face of George Washington. He is on the one-cent stamp.)

Variety Vacationland residents can truthfully boast of a myriad of areas that are delightfully pleasant, scenic-wise and climate-wise, throughout the four seasons.

Just recently the family and I examined the road map, filled the car with gasoline, and drove over to a town which clearly falls into the above classification. What a pleasant weekend we had!

Situated in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, just a couple miles north of the neighboring South Carolina border, is the village of Tryon. Although minor in terms of population (about 3000), the general Tryon area offers major rewards to the winter tourist-vacationer.

Tryon lies within the influence of the famous Thermal Belt and is sheltered on the north and west by high mountains. It is open on the south and east to the warm southern breezes—all of which add up to notably mild winters. The village was named for Tryon Mountain which bears the surname of William Tryon, British Governor of the Colony of North Carolina in 1765.

Its history as a year-around resort dates back to the 1870's when its beauty and climate first received deserved attention. Subsequently, it became one of the more prominent Gay Nineties resorts and has continued in popularity through the present day.

"TEXT: "All lay the load on the willing horse" - Thomas Fuller.

The leading soloist in the church choir could not get a baby-sitter. She dragged her unwilling young son to every choir practice. Finally he insisted on remaining at home.

"But, darling", said his mother, "you should learn to enjoy church music. Why, the angels sing around God's throne all day".

"Well," said the weary young boy, "I just don't see how God can stand it".

There can be too much of good things. Repeatedly we are asked to participate in countless worthy causes. This we should do. However, when we over-extend ourselves we are not fair to the causes we would serve or to ourselves.

Superior Court Judge Susie Sharp of North Carolina terms the act of taking on more than you can do competently and with enthusiasm, "Futilitarianism". She warns, "No individual can take advantage of every opportunity which each day has to offer. Nor can a woman (or man) espouse every good cause which needs a sponsor and willing workers."

We should contribute time and money to worthy causes. However, we owe it to ourselves, our families and to the causes themselves to say "No" firmly and pleasantly when we cannot take part with whole-hearted enthusiasm.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

All the fellers at the country store Saturday night announced they was getting their pencils whittled for the annual hassle with the Great White Father in Washington. Farmers and ranchers has to git their income-tax report in on February 15, two months afore everybody else. Ed Doolittle claims this is on account of it taking them Revenue folks a heap longer to separate the figgers from the facts in a farmer's report.

Bug Hookum was lamenting that back when he was a boy country folks didn't have nothing to worry about in February but the ground hog. All crops was governed for the next 40 days on the ground hog situation. And some note was also took in those days that Abe Lincoln and George Washington was born in February.

But in 1962, claims Bug, the ground hog is afraid to make any more on account of the fall-out and you don't hear much no more about Abe and George.

I reckon, Mister Editor, Bug is about right. Per the farmers nowadays, February means it's time to subtract Item 3 From Item 5 and Enter On Line 14 On Page One.

The fellers was all agreed that the world is moving along. Ed Doolittle allowed as how folks has never went faster without knowing where. He says civilized man has about give up all important business except gitting prepared to shoot at each other.

Zeke Grubb claims the whole thinking machinery of Americans has been overhauled for the worse in the last 25 years. Per instant, he says everybody is now an expert on international affairs and folks that can't tell you their county tax rate can tell you down to the penny how much foreign aid we sent to Cambodia in 1961. It's that big thinking, allows Zeke, that has brought on a heap of our woes.

Clem Webster claims our colleges is to blame for this sharp trend to fancy thinking. He says we got colleges all over the country teaching agriculture when anybody knows that book farming ain't no good unless it's hitched to a plow.

Ed Doolittle agreed with Clem, said he was reading a piece in the papers the other day where some college was giving a course in the "Science of Matrimony." Ed allowed as how this was trying to teach the unteachable, that Solomon himself, with all his wives, couldn't teach matrimony.

But everybody was agreed, Mister Editor, that America is still a great country. It was made great by country boys moving to town and town boys buying farms to git tax reductions.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

ASCS Announced 1962 Feed Grain Support

Support prices for the 1962 crop of feed grains should be approximately the same in North Carolina in 1962 as they were in 1961, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County ASCS Committee. The prediction, he said, is based on the fact that the feed grains for 1962 will be supported at the following National average support level. Corn, $1.20 per bushel average for all grades; barley, 93 cents per bushel for grade No. 2 or better; grain sorghum, $1.03 per hundredweight for grade No. 2 or better; oats, 2 cents per bushel for grade No. 3; and rye, $1.02 per bushel for grade No. 2 or better, or grading No. 3 on test weight only.

The 1962 support prices reflect approximately 74 per cent of the January parity for corn, barley, and oats; 69 per cent for rye; and about 78 per cent for grain sorghum. Feed grain legislation provides that the Secretary of Agriculture may set the support level for corn at not less than 65 per cent of parity for the 1962 crop. The $1.20 per bushel support price, was determined as the price that would effectively meet the objectives of the feed grain program. Support for the other feed grains requires consideration of several factors, including supply in relation to demand, the ability of the Commodity Credit Corporation to dispose of stocks acquired under price support, the ability and willingness of producers to keep supplies in line with demand, feed value of grains in relation to corn, and support levels for other commodities.

Participation in the 1962 feed grain program was great enough to bring about a reversal in the buildup of feed grain stocks in Government hands for the first time in nine years despite record yields. The 1962 price support levels should make it possible for us to maintain and increase the farm income gain of 1961, while we move forward with long range revisions of our farm laws which ward our goal of parity in income yard our goal of parity in income for farm people.

District Meeting Attended. The Office Manager and Chief Clerk of the Davie County ASCS Office, along with representatives

From seven other counties in the District met in the Irredell County ASCS Office on Jan. 24, 1962. The meeting was conducted by the Fieldman, Van H. Johnson. Latest information regarding the 1962 Feed Grain Program for corn and grain sorghums was discussed. The national sign up was announced for Feb. 5, 1962, through March 30, 1962. A member of the County Committee and most of the Office Personnel will attend a two day Area Conference in High Point on Feb. 5 and 6, 1962. At this conference we will receive additional instructions concerning the 1962 Feed Grain Program. On our return from the Conference the Office personnel should have the latest information regarding the 1962 Feed Grain Corn and Grain Sorghums Program.

Wool Incentive Program. Wool and lamb producers must file applications for payment under the 1961 wool incentive program not later than April 30, 1962. This application must be filed at the Davie County ASCS office if the producer is to get payment under the program. Payments will be made on marketings of wool and lambs completed between April 1, 1961, and March 31, 1962. Wool growers are encouraged to file their application prior to the closing date if they have not already done so.

Closing Date For Filing New Grower Applications. The closing date for filing applications for new grower cotton and tobacco allotments is Feb. 15, 1962. SP-4 William F. O'Neal Is Awarded Medal. Army Specialist Four William F. O'Neal, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. O'Neal, live on Route 1, Mocksville, N. C., recently was awarded the Good Conduct Medal while serving with the 4th Transportation Battalion in Ludwigsburg, Germany. Specialist O'Neal was awarded the medal in recognition of his exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity as a soldier in the active Federal military service. The 23-year-old soldier entered the Army in October 1959 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. He was graduated from Mocksville High School in 1956.

driving through the section, viewing the historical homes, mountain peaks and fertile lands. We learned that some of the more picturesque homes date back to the 1700's and that a number of county residents live on lands that have been in the family since granted by a deed from the King of England. We viewed the mountain sides dotted with vineyards which, according to local residents, produce grapes unequalled in flavor even in Italy. At several points we observed natives fashioning baskets, rugs, homespun, pottery and other handicraft. Shops, in which this work is also carried on, display their products in profusion. The golfing devotee will enjoy the Tryon Country Club at an altitude of 1500 feet. Here's one course where it's invariably rewarding to "take your eye off the ball" for in so doing you will catch scenes of unsurpassed beauty. For the horse fancier this area is of unusual interest. Here is the home of the nationally-known Tryon Riding and Hunt Club, organized in 1928 to further equestrian sports. The riding enthusiast may enjoy miles of marked bridle paths and drives leading up the valleys and mountains, providing breathtaking views of waterfalls and giant white pines, boxwoods, spruce and red-barked holly which reach the peak of splendor during the winter months. A fine pack of hounds is also maintained for fox hunting over a large area. You will be pleased, as we were, with the numerous modern accommodations and tables famous for southern food. Operators here are skilled in providing the small extras to suit the individual guest. Readily accessible from all sections of Variety Vacationland for a weekend or longer, Tryon will please the most discriminating guest. Try Tryon!

North Carolina Gasoline Tax Refund
The 1961 General Assembly enacted two amendments to the "Non Highway Use Refund Section of the Motor Fuels Tax Act." They are as follows:
1. The Date for filing applications will be changed: Effective July 1, 1962, date for filing applications for refund will be changed from a calendar year basis to a fiscal year basis, ending June 30th of each year. In order to make this change it will be necessary that an application for refund be filed covering your use of gasoline from Jan. 1, 1962, through June 30, 1962. This application must be filed between July 1, 1962, and Sept 30, 1962. Thereafter, applications for refund will cover your gasoline use for a 12 month period, from July 1 through June 30. Applications must be filed between July 1 and Sept. 30. If application is not received by July 15, 1962, you should write to this division for an application.
2. Purchase price of fuel must be paid or payment secured to seller's satisfaction: Persons making application for refund must indicate on the application that the purchase price of the motor fuel on which refund is requested has been paid by the applicant or the payment of said purchase price has been secured to the seller's satisfaction. This provision is included in the certification at the bottom of the application. Be sure to read the certification carefully before signing and having application notarized.
The filing date for gasoline used for non highway purposes during the calendar year 1961 has not been changed. Application for 1961 use must be filed not later than April 15, 1962.
Farmers who filed for refund in 1960 will receive an application by mail for 1961. They will also receive a copy of amendments.

Davie High Teams On Top, Undefeated In Conference

Play Monroe Here In 2 Games Friday Night

Davie High School basketball teams, both boys and girls, are on top in the North Piedmont Conference basketball race with six wins and no losses as of Tuesday.

Tuesday's games with West Rowan were postponed because of a flu epidemic at that school. Davie was scheduled to play East Rowan here on Wednesday night. Friday night they will meet Monroe here in two games. Next Tuesday night they will play at Mooresville.

The Davie teams are the only undefeated teams in the conference as play enters the second round.

The Davie cagers won their sixth consecutive conference victories last Friday night with important wins over North Rowan at Spencer.

The Rebelettes had little trouble in downing North Rowan 45 to 20, with Glenda Shelton getting 24 points; Kathy Grimes, 11; Dorothy Seaford, 4; and Linda Schladensky, 4.

Outstanding defensive play was again turned in by the Davie guards: Jane Smith, Hilda Harpe and Jo Lewis. Jo Lewis played one of the most outstanding games of her career as she repeatedly switched off and blocked shots to frustrate scoring efforts of the North Rowan girls.

The boys were more closely pressed but came out with a 53-51 decision when a late North Rowan rally closed the gap. Chuck Tomlinson had 19 points to lead Davie boys; Bill Evans, 13; and Anderson, 9; Grimes Parker, 8; and Junior Beale 4.

Last Wednesday night Davie defeated West Rowan in two games. The girls won 61 to 57 and the boys, 57 to 36.

Kathy Grimes with 31 points led the Rebelettes. Glenda Shelton had 21 and Dorothy Seaford, 8.

For the Rebels: Jimmy Anderson had 16 points; Chuck Tomlinson, 12; Bill Evans, 7; Gary McDaniel, 6; Grimes Parker, 5; Junior Beal 5; Charles Crenshaw, 4; and Commie Shoffner, 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin and children, Mary Brook, Will, and Helen carried three puppies to the Governor's Mansion in Raleigh where Betsy picked out one for her very own.

TWINS IN A VALENTINE . . . Inasmuch as Feb. 14 is St. Valentine's Day, this motif is used to picture the six sets of twins enrolled at the Davie County High School. Five sets of these twins are members of the freshman class, with the other twins being sophomores. Pictured above, top row, left to right: Dorothy and Jane Seaford, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Seaford of Advance, Rt. 2; and Doris and Dorothy Gillaspie, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Gillaspie of Advance, Rt. 1. Second row: Jerry and Gerry Webb (identical twins), sons of Mrs. E. G. Webb of Mocksville, Rt. 4; and Bobby and Billy Wilkins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilkins of Cooleemee. Third row: Glenda Sue and Linda Lou Owings, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Owings of Mocksville, Rt. 1. Bottom row: Patsy and Jerry Carter, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carter of Advance, Rt. 1.

Six Sets Of Twins At Davie High School . . .

Twins always attract attention. They are fascinating if they are alike. They are interesting if they are different. Just the fact that they are twins sets them off as something special in our society.

Twins occur with a greater frequency in the birth rate than most people realize. Twins are born about once every 87 births and scientists say there seems to be some mathematical relationship between the different kinds of multiple births. Triplets appear once in every 7,689 births, which is the square of 87. Quadruplets are born only once in every 658,503 births or the square of 7,589.

Many scientists believe the tendency to have more than one child at a time is hereditary. Twins, for example, seem to run in families.

This year at the Davie County High School there are six sets of twins—five sets of fraternal twins—one set of identical twins. Fraternal twins resemble each other about the same extent as non-twins born of the same parents. They are of opposite sexes about half the time.

Identical twins, however, look almost exactly alike. They are always of the same sex. They are usually much more difficult to tell apart than fraternal twins—but some identical twins are also easy to tell apart because they have almost exactly the same characteristics in reverse. They are mirror images of each other.

The hair may be the same color and texture, but the hair of one twin may part naturally on the right, for example, while the other's hair parts naturally on the left. One twin may be left-handed, while the other is right-handed. Even their fingerprints are often reversed.

Twins enrolled at the Davie County High School this year include:

Dorothy and Jane Seaford, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Seaford of Advance Rt. 2. They are fifteen years of age and are members of the freshman class.

Doris and Dorothy Gillaspie, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Gillaspie of Advance Rt. 1. They are fifteen years of age and are members of the freshman class. Jerry and Gerry Webb, sons of Mrs. E. G. Webb of Mocksville Rt. 4. They are identical twins and are sixteen years of age and members of the freshman class.

Billy and Bobby Wilkins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilkins of Cooleemee. They are fifteen years of age and are in the 10th grade.

Glenda Sue and Linda Lou Owings, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Owings of Mocksville Rt. 1. They are fourteen years of age and are members of the freshman class.

Patsy and Jerry Carter, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carter of Advance Rt. 1. They are fifteen years of age and are members of the freshman class.

Car Sideswipes Another Sunday

The driver of a 1958 Ford was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road as the result of an accident Sunday around 6 p.m.

Richard Lee Younts, age 20, of Lexington, Rt. 4, was charged following the sideswiping of a 1961 Falcon on the Fork Church Road, six miles east of Mocksville.

Trooper L. E. Woods of the State Highway Patrol said that his investigation showed that the Falcon, being operated by Billy Wilson Barnette, 28, of Aberdeen, N. C., was heading south at approximately 35 mph and the Ford was heading north at 40-45 mph. On a sharp left-hand curve, Younts' vehicle swerved left sideswiping the Falcon. Trooper Woods said that 30 feet of skid marks on the right side of the roadway, two feet from center line on Mr. Barnette's side of roadway, paint chips and dirt plainly marked the point of impact.

There were no injuries. Damage to the 1958 Ford was estimated at $250, and $75 to the Falcon.

Mrs. Nola Reeves Ludwick, 27, and her daughter, Debra, age 4, were taken to the Davie County Hospital. Mrs. Ludwick suffered a broken nose and facial and chest injuries. X-rays were made to determine the extent of the injuries of the little girl. A passenger, Brenda Reeves of Mocksville Rt. 1, was not injured.

Trooper L. E. Woods of the State Highway Patrol said that his investigation showed that Mrs. Ludwick was driving the car, traveling south on the Sheffield Road at approximately 50-55 mph when the right front tire blew out, causing the vehicle to swerve right into a side ditch striking a culvert for a driveway. The car then swung back onto roadway, then back into side ditch on right side of road, striking a second culvert and stopping as right tire was torn off on second impact.

Damage to the car was estimated at $750.00.

The local station will operate on 1560 kc and use the call letters WSDC (We Serve Davie County). It will be strictly a daytime station, with operations restricted to between sunrise and sunset.

Mr. Erwin said the station would be an independent type of operation (no network affiliation) and would feature music, news, and religious programs. He said there would be some remote broadcasts.

Present plans call for the Mocksville station to be in operation around July 1st.

X-rays were made to determine the extent of the injuries of the little girl. A passenger, Brenda Reeves of Mocksville Rt. 1, was not injured.

Local Girl Scouts To Distribute Books

A "Book Distribution Project" has been decided on by the Pilot Area Girl Scouts to be their service project in the "Youth Serves Youth" program during the spring of 1962. This project will take place throughout the Pilot Area Girl Scout Council, of which Davie is a member.

In this program the Girl Scouts across the nation will help celebrate their 50th birthday by giving service to the youth of their communities. The program will include Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Scouts, with the help of their troop leaders and troop committees.

During the month of February girls will be collecting both fiction and non-fiction books suitable for children up to 12-years of age. They will do minor repair and mending on the books and during April will distribute books where they are needed. Books will be presented to children's libraries in churches, nurseries, etc., in the communities.

Fog And Ice Causes Accident On Saturday

Fog and possibly frost on windshield was attributed as probable cause of an accident last Saturday at the intersection of the Cherry Hill Road and US 601, 7-miles south of Mocksville.

Trooper L. E. Woods of the State Highway Patrol said that his investigation showed that a 1952 Oldsmobile was being operated by Vestal Lee Call, Sr., 62, of Mocksville Rt. 4 and was traveling west on the Cherry Hill Road at 35 mph. Trooper Woods said apparently Mr. Call failed to see the stop sign at the intersection of US 601, ran across the highway and down embankment into creek. The car left 45-feet of skid marks when crossing US 601.

Mr. Vestal was taken to the Davie County Hospital for chest and head injuries.

Trooper Woods said that fog and possibly frost upon the windshield may have obscured the driver's vision. He cautioned motorists to be sure and clean their windshields when traveling early in the morning during the winter months.

Mr. Vestal was charged with driving too fast for conditions. The car was a total loss.

SP-4 Jerry Nivens Serving In Korea

Specialist Four Jerry L. Nivens, 21, son of Mrs. Sallie E. Nivens, Route 3, Mocksville, N. C., recently attended a five-day religious retreat at the Eighth U. S. Army Religious Retreat Center near Seoul, Korea.

Protestant, Catholic and Jewish chaplains alternate planning the program of the retreat, which include group discussions, individual conferences and guided tours of the area near the site. The purpose of the retreat is to provide the soldier with the opportunity to meditate and discuss religious matters with a chaplain of his faith.

Specialist Nivens, a machine-gunner in Company B of the 7th Division's 34th Infantry in Korea, entered the Army in January 1960, completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and arrived overseas in November 1960.

He attended Davie County High School.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Being on television is one thing, but appearing on this happy medium when virtually no one sees you is another. I refer to a recent program on UHF, (which some informed person told me means Ultra High Frequency) in which I took part and which had all the trappings of a normal TV show - except very few people, if any, saw it. The program was the first in a series on the world of books, and Warren Bower, veteran book reviewer, on whose radio shows I have appeared more than once, asked me to help him initiate this show. I did, we had a good time talking about my new book, "Daniel Morgan: Ranger of the Revolution," there were the lights, the cameras, the usual genial people who handle television shows - BUT, as far as I know, it was more of a rehearsal than a show. For one has to have a special converter to see Ultra High Frequency television shows, just as you have to have a radio set adapted to such programs, to receive FM as well as AM.

Next to appearing in the timeless columns of newspapers, I suppose that the experience of being on radio and television is most interesting. I recall some years ago being on the Mary Margaret McBride show regarding my "Smoky Mountain Mountain Country" book when she was not feeling too chipper, and we had to do the recording over. But then it turned out well and I had letters from Maine to Florida, from Wisconsin to Texas, about the then popular program of that plump but pleasant girl from Missouri. The NBC "Monitor" show was evidently heard widely when I talked about another of mine, "Henry Knox: General Washington's General" for when I explained that my first name was that of my mother's family, she was listening in at my brother's Pasadena, California home and seemed pleased at the reference.

"The Fitzgeralds" is an enjoyable show on which to be. I learned, after two appearances on this WOR-Mutual offering of Ed and Peacen Fitzgerald have been on radio almost as long as that medium has existed. They have a witty, sharp approach which keeps the guest on his toes, which even tax one's academic homework, but they are always joyful, stimulating and made me think they were actually interested in the books I had written, as well as newspaper columns. Appearances on nationally televised

ABC, and NBC programs have added to my appreciation of the challenge this great medium has - and I cherish a pair of red suspenders given to me by Lawrence Spivak of the program, "Meet the Press."

Of all the shows on the airways in which I have taken part, however, I suppose the most unique is that of "Long John." It is on, as many insomniacs persons know, from midnight to 5 a.m. each weekday evening, and according to network officials, reaches 25,000,000 people in 27 states. After a pre-show nap, I appeared at the studios on Broadway, and was introduced to his staff instead of Long John Neville himself, who prefers to meet his guests only after they are with him on the air. A few preliminaries a short discussion of "Daniel Morgan," and we were on. For almost five early morning hours, we talked about this Ranger of the Revolution, his relation to his friend, George Washington, and other facets of American history of the heroic homework, but they are always joyful, stimulating and made me think they were actually interested in the books I had written, as well as newspaper columns. Appearances on nationally televised his show. At 2:35 a.m. we stopped for a snack of milk and sandwiches sent in from a late-hours restaurant across the street; and after that, we resumed our show, consisting mostly of an interview, with occasional commercials and general questions tossed at me by the panel. When it was over, Long John smiled and asked me to return - when I had caught up on my sleep. Fortunately, however, he taped the show and rebroadcast it at least twice - and letters from Pennsylvania to North Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia attested to the wide coverage of this rare broadcast after the average person is supposed to be in the legendary land of Nod.

ADVERTISING AND RETAIL SALES

In last week's issue we carried an article that revealed that 54% of all retail sales in Davie County (July 1, 1960-July 1, 1961) was for food and automobiles. Sales of these products amounted to $5,988,000.

Stores selling food took in $2,840,000. Those selling automobiles and automotive equipment took in $2,212,000.

Sales from general merchandise establishments amounted to $920,000; apparel shops, $129,000; home furnishings, $590,000; and drugs, $518,000.

Total retail sales for this period reached a grand total of $11,007,000.

Now the first inclination towards these figures might be that of: "Well that figures—everyone has to eat!"—but the analysis should be carried further—and when it is one reaches the conclusion that more people are purchasing more of their food and automotive needs in Davie County than they are other items. This then brings up the question why?

Of course there are several reasons for this, but we feel that it is more than coincidental that the advertising percentage carried by this newspaper parallels that of retail sales in Davie County. In other words, food and automotive advertising during this period in The Enterprise-Record amounted to 52% of the total advertising carried during that period. Although we have not carried all the categories through this analysis, we find that those we did, figure out about the same. For instance we found that general merchandise and apparel shops utilized 9% of the total advertising line in this newspaper during that period, and of this total, one local apparel establishment used half of this amount.

Retail sales of home furnishings in the county amounted to $590,000 and this field of advertising amounted to approximately 7% of our total advertising line for the period.

The two categories in which the percentage of retail sales were greater than the percentage of local advertising used was that of drugs, $518,000 and expenditures in gas service stations, $1,138,000—and of course one can realize the factors involved in these two categories—i. e. the prescriptions of doctors for the drugs—and the transient motorists and credit cards for service station products.

To anyone interested, we would like to suggest that he check out the situation as it applies to his family. Figure out what per cent of your income you are spending in Davie County and for what. When this is done I believe that you will find that in most cases (although of course there will be exceptions) that it parallels the statistics previously given on a countywide basis. Yes, we believe that the average family in Davie County spends more of their money in the county for food and automobiles than for any other items. We believe that every few of the families buy even half of their clothing requirements in the county—and if you get into the luxury items, the percentage purchased in other cities grows even greater.

Everyone today knows the name and reputations of Chevrolets, Fords and other cars—but they are continued to be regularly advertised and promoted. Everyone knows of the popular brand names of food products, but they are continually paraded before the public eye through advertising. And what happens—These items that are regular advertised lead all others in retail sales.

Yes, we can't help feel that advertising and retail sales are closely connected.

BURTON SEATS

"The only way to have a friend is to be one"—Emerson.

No man had more friends than Charlie Burton Seats of Farmington. And no man was any more friendly than this man.

Burt Seats, as he was known to these many friends, was a large man both in stature and in heart. His life was one of service—that of helping other people. His vocation was that with the State Highway Department and his work was such that he was called upon day and night, and in all types of weather, to get out and make the way clear and safe as possible for his fellowmen.

He served for years as a member of the school board at Farmington and upon consolidation of the high schools, represented that community on the school committee of the Davie County High School. In this capacity he concerned himself only with providing the best possible for the students of Davie County.

As a member of the Farmington Methodist Church and the Farmington Masonic Lodge No. 265 he provided a friendly fellowship and service to all those with whom he came in contact. And as a father, no man was any closer or more friendly with his children than Burton Seats.

Yes, the friendship of Burton Seats helped make Davie County a better place in which to live. Such friendliness of attitude is always admired and respected—and will be long remembered by the many who knew and loved him.

IN THE YEAR 2002

The average family's annual income, in terms of today's purchasing power, will increase to about $15,000 by 2002. Victory over the common cold will then be history. About 35 million Americans—one out of every ten—will live in California. Population of San Francisco, Chicago and Detroit areas will have doubled and that of Metropolitan New York will have risen 150 percent to about 25 million.

These are some of the forecasts of Robert O'Brien in "Forty Years from Now," an article in the fortieth anniversary February issue of Reader's Digest. He predicts the United States will be more industrialized, more urbanized than ever.

If the trend toward shorter working hours continues, the average worker will put in a 28-hour week. He'll take three-day week-ends, four-week vacations with pay. Machines will maintain the nation's productivity. There will be millions more youngsters to educate, millions more workers to employ, millions more oldesters to support and assimilate.

Telephone will have astonishing Tom Swift features, with picture screens to show who's at the other end of the line. You won't dial numbers "just say them aloud, and the phone will do all the rest. Communications satellites of all shapes, sizes and nationalities will circle the earth. Low-altitude satellites will pick up radio messages and deliver them minutes later as they pass another part of the world.

Orbiting the earth will be large, manned space stations: research centers, weather stations, orbital maintenance shops, space terminals for deep-space voyages to the moon and the planets. Trucks may be museum pieces; supplies and freight may cross the nation through pneumatic pipelines, with electronic sensing devices to guide shipments through the system.

A Most Sensible Question

DIDN'T KNOW . . . The word we get via hint and rumor is that Minnesota Mining Co. is still digging in its effort to find what person or persons in its far-flung industrial empire in 1955 authorized the firm of begin issuing to a little hardware store in Boone huge checks from time to time in order to do business with the N. C. Highway Department.

Who . . . or what . . . convinced them this was necessary? Was it Kidd Brewer? Was it Robert A. Burch?

As of this past week end, the 3M Co. . . . despite a lot of shoving and pulling and hauling—had made no official statement. One day last week their personal public relations man, Paul Brown, quietly called on: Jesse Helms, WRAL TV news editor, Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News & Observer, and Lynn Nisbet, editor of N. C. Afternoon Dailies . . . and one or two others.

He was do doubt seeking advice as to the best thing his firm might do at this time to get the smudge off its face. What they told him, we wouldn't know . . . probably to get a damp rag and start rubbing.

But in the lives of lightning-like growth of 20th century firms seven years is a long time. The first we ever knew of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. was about ten years ago when we heard while on a visit at Chapel Hill that Gordon Gray, new president of the Greater University of North Carolina had bought one of their machines "that will copy anything typed you run through it."

Now Minnesota Mining is into everything . . . and some of the key men who were with it . . . in 1955 . . . are now with other firms. So, while the SBI . . . and the N. C. Revenue Dept. . . . and the press . . . do their probing, the company that so loved the hardware store in Boone must do likewise.

A full-bodied statement from them would be most interesting.

THE FAIR WAY . . . A lot of people we have talked with became convinced when Kidd Brewer slashed himself with razor blades that he is guilty of the various charges and semi-charges that have fallen like hail about him.

Strange to say, a lot of these people . . . for one reason or another or no reason at all . . . wanted to think so. But the fair way . . . is the law's way and the Lord's way . . . is to stick with Innocence until Guilt is shown "beyond the shadow of a doubt."

WAITING . . . It looks as if Kidd Brewer could have had the Minnesota Mining Co. checks made out to himself instead of to a firm in Boone. Why didn't he? To say it was to avoid payment of income tax hardly seems reasonable . . . since from whatever source to Brewer, it was still income . . . and still subject to tax . . . as Brewer must have known. Then why round - about pay? These are some questions only Brewer can answer. Will he?

While he seems to be recovering satisfactorily, nobody here seems to have the least idea of when the inquisition will come.

But some it must. Somebody said there are only two certain things on earth: death and taxes.

One of these Kidd Brewer has avoided . . . but the other may prove to be the more formidable foe.

EVEN DOZEN . . . The Sanford wing of the Democratic Party, no strangers to hard luck of late, thought it saw a rainbow in the sky within hours after New York Mayor Robert Wagner had agreed to speak at the upcoming Jefferson-Jackson Dinner.

1. Drew Pearson revealed that the cause of the break between Gov. and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller is now happily back with her physician husband, thus making public the whole tado.

2. Mrs. Rockefeller showed up on the front pages in Nevada where she has gone for the divorce from the New York Governor.

Thus they could see without half trying they would have as their J-J speaker the next Governor of New York State—Presidential springboard for FDR and many a lesser light.

But they could have done things more cleverly if first they had checked with Beverly. The division between the conservative and liberal elements of the N. C. Democratic Party—only a Lake in 1960 now seemed more like an ocean.

As if Dr. Beverly and his crew were not enough, Mrs. Martha McLaughlin, Wake County elections clerk, added 11 more worries. She said that within the past week 11 voters had been in to change their party affiliation from Democrat to Republican.

It was enough to make Bert Bennett swear that Groundhog Days had come early this year.

NOTES . . . The first woman to be honored with the chairman ship of the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner is Mrs. Gladys Bullard—she is the former Miss Gladys Strawn of Union County . . . and when Kerr Scott was Agriculture Commissioner, Miss Strawn was a milk marketing specialist with the Agriculture Dept. . . . and her husband is one of the top officials of Taylor Biscuit Co. of Raleigh . . . formerly with Lance, Inc.

It looks as if most members of the 1961 General Assembly want to give is another try . . . and, so far, the food tax has not become an issue . . . in the going-to-run announcements.

The newest reporter with the Raleigh News & Observer has an asset almost equal in importance to his fine writing ability . . . and that's his name: Jonathan Friendly.

Another effort to bring together the two elements of the party is expected to be made here about the middle of February in the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee . . . plans call for a solid front by this fall.

Theme: Gratitude Has Great Growth Possibilities

TEXT: "Though I ebb in worth, I'll flow in thanks"—John Taylor.

The village minister became the father of a fine baby boy. The same day the baby arrived, members of his flock hastily gathered a few dollars and presented the money to the proud but poor father.

So great was his gratitude that the minister thanked the congregation the next day before his sermon.

"Friends," he said, "I want to express my keen appreciation and gratitude for the timely succor that came to my house yesterday."

We all have something for which to be grateful. It is too bad for our world that we hug our gratitude so tightly. We say we are grateful for favors, and we are. However, services that deserve our gratitude carry a greater responsibility than words can repay. Gratitude should be expressed somewhere else to someone else.

Can you imagine what a wonderful world this would be, if each of us expressed our gratitude by making someone else grateful for what we have done for them? We each would be forging a link in a chain that, in a single generation, could join all mankind as brothers. We can shape our link in this chain of gratitude today. Why not?

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellow that runs the country store announced Saturday night he'd appreciate sitting his two-bits worth into the conversation for a change. As a general rule he don't take no part with the fellers solving the world problems ever week, but Saturday night he was chomping at the bit about spending all his time keeping store records fer 'chem tax agencies.

He claims things is worse now than they was back when the OPA was regulating prices. He recollected that back in 1946 when the OPA removed price ceilings on cowbells, bullrings, horseshoes and cocktail shakers, he wrote 'em that he didn't have no cocktail shakers. They told him to git some.

He said things has went from there to worse and today he don't know whether the tax folks owns his business or he owns it. All he knows fer shore, he claims, is that he waits on a customer now and then when he can find time from tending his tax books.

He allowed as how he was voting agin all candidates in the next election and aimed to shoot the first one that tried to leave any cards or literature in his store. He claimed the only political propagandier ever left at his store that was worth reading was a handbill a feller running fer Sheriff come by and left him a drunk printer was trying to set a patent medicine ad and the handbill at the same time. He got the handbill out of a bottom drawer and read it to the fellers:

"I wish to announce to the voters of this county that fer 25 years I have suffered from asthma and lumbago on the Democratic ticket and thought they was no cure fer me until I heard of the office of county Sheriff, for which my doctor advised me to run.

I have never held county office, but have been toubled with nervousness and handshaking, so feel I am well qualified. I was operated on two months ago fer appendicitis, so feel I am cut out for the duties required. I have had 14 teeth pulled to see if it would help me pull in the votes. I have gained 40 pounds and hundreds of votes and am feeling like a new man.

Our most recent adventure in quest of the unusual, found only in Variety Vacationland, took us on a drive to the Central Coastal Region. At the confluence of the Neuse and Trent Rivers, on US Highways 17 and 70 and N. C. 55, is the city of New Bern, rich in the gifts of nature and history and the site of Tryon Palace.

Appropriately titled the "Cradle of North Carolina," our second oldest city was founded and named by Baron Christopher de Graffenried in 1710 for his home town, Bern, Switzerland. Some 65 years later William Tryon rose to prominence as Commander in Chief and Captain General of the Province of North Carolina. It was during Governor Tryon's six years of rather despotic rule that Tryon Palace was built.

New Bern was early a thriving seaport, trading with the entire world, and was also a principal supply port for the War Between the States. It was stated in 1792 that New Bern was the largest town in the State, containing 400 houses, all built of wood "excepting the Palace, the church, the gaol and two dwelling houses, which were of brick."

Today's visitors are fortunate, inasmuch as more than 100 fine homes over a century old still stand in this community—vivid testimony of its early dynamic economy and current interest in maintaining things beautiful for generations to come. According to authorities, New Bern contains the most perfect forms of Georgian architecture in the U. S. The New Bern Chamber of Commerce, located on Broad St., will be pleased to route you through the sections containing these architectural gems.

Of particular interest to the visitor is New Bern's most recent—ly added historical attraction—the restored Tryon Palace at the intersection of George and Pollock Streets. Construction of the "Most Beautiful Building in Colonial America" was begun in 1767 and completed three years later. Our State's first fixed Colonial Capitol and subsequently State Capitol was largely destroyed by fire in 1798 with only one of its two wings surviving the ages. Restored between 1952-59 from original plans and specifications, the central building and other wing were constructed on their original foundations. Much of the 18th Century materials for the restoration came from England. These materials were used for such things as the beautiful mantels throughout the two chief floors in the center structure; brass locks for the mahogany doors in that building; woodwork in the Parlor, Library and Dressing Room; doorways in the Dining Room and upstairs Drawing Room; the 1741 wrought iron gate and railing at the Palace approach, and urns and stone baskets for the gardens. Furnishings throughout with genuine mid 18th Century antiques, the restoration is a mecca for connoisseurs of early furniture, paintings, prints, carpets, silver, pewter, porcelain, and fireplace equipment at its 27 fireplaces. In addition, of the 500 books owned by Governor Tryon, original copies of more than 400 of them have been acquired for the Library.

Well worth several hours of anyone's time, the buildings and grounds are open to visitors Tuesday through Saturdays, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sundays from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Much is available here too for the hunting, fishing and sailing enthusiasts on a year around basis. Or, should you prefer just a lazy week end in elegant surroundings with the best cuisine (including, of course, fresh seafood), the unique Governor Tryon Hotel provides all. For those favoring the motel life, here are to be found some of Variety Vacationland's best.

At any rate, set your plans for a visit to the "Cradle of North Carolina," offering a storehouse of historical treasures. But one word of caution—going and returning—drive carefully!

"While it has been impossible for me to see all the voters personally, I will say that this has been a Godsend to me and I will appreciate your vote and two bottles of your magic tonic."

Ed Doolittle said the storekeeper made him recollect the country editor that run the paper over in his county when Ed was a boy. According to Ed, the paper come out occasional and sometimes oftener. It come out only when the editor got riled up about somepun.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON—The President has thus far sent to the Congress messages on the State of the Union, the Budget, and Farm problems. In addition he has made an Economic Report to Congress and has made special statements on Trade, Welfare, and Urban Affairs. Bills on college academic assistance through loans and grants for construction and scholarships, DuPont Stock divestiture, and money commitments for the Senate Committees have occupied Senate sessions in recent days. The House has approved a bill [HR 7927] to increase postal rates to produce $691.3 million in new revenue in fiscal 1963. The bill now goes to the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee. It is expected to hold hearings on the bill and other postal legislation. The Senate will be able to consider postal legislation only after a report has been made by the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

PHILOSOPHY ON VOTING ON ISSUES—The first session of the 87th Congress saw the Senate pass a total 1133 measures. Some 401 of these became public laws. It is my philosophy that I should vote upon the issues presented to Senate, first, so as to express my views which I deem to be in the best interest of my country, second, in the light of the best interest of my state, and third, in matters which are partisan, as a member of a political party. I believe that all programs and all bills would be examined in the light of experience. There is value in clinging to the tried and true landmarks of the past. At the same time, I believe we should be not be afraid to test the soundness of new ideas.

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS—The Constitutional Rights Subcommittee of which I am Chairman began public hearings on February 6th on the constitutional rights of military personnel. The hearings will focus on military discharge procedures and military justice. The Subcommittee will inquire whether commanding officers have tried to influence the personnel of courts-martial, whether servicemen have been provided the aid of legally-trained counsel, and whether the three Services are providing the same brand of justice. Our citizen-soldiers are certainly entitled to the same guarantees as other citizens with some very limited exceptions. I have always believed that high standards of military justice will, in the long run, improve military discipline, morale and efficiency rather than impair them.

MILITARY CENSORSHIP—Hearings by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee on the censorship of speeches of high ranking military personnel have thus far been ably conducted by Senator John Stennis. These hearings have reemphasized the necessary and historical supremacy of our civilian control over military personnel. This is fundamental in our concept of government. At the same time hearings have disclosed many instances of highly questionable censorship practices which could be improved.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Citizens:

I am writing this letter as a sort of correspondent for a group of interested students from the Davie County High School.

We would very much like to see the high school students with a recreation center. We have talked with many of the teachers and Mayor D. J. Mando of the Town of Mocksville. Mayor Mando was very pleased at our interest and said he would back us all the way. He also advised us to get some civic organizations to back us.

We hope you will all seriously consider the possibilities of such a center. After all, what is more important than the welfare of the youth of the county. This center would give us sort of a home away from home. We know that with your backing us, we will be sure to have a large, modern recreation center.

Yours truly,

Regional Stocker Cattle Sale

Below are the rules and regulations for the original Stocker Cattle Sale, to be held at the Iredell County Fairgrounds, in Statesville, April 11, 1962. People desiring to consign animals to this sale should study these rules and regulations and get in touch with someone in the County Agent's office immediately.

1. Only cattle of strictly beef breeding will be accepted for the sale. Both steer and heifer cattle will be included.

2. Cattle sold through the sale must be field inspected by the Selection Committee prior to the day of the sale. Selection Committee in each county to be headed by County Extension Service and aided by local farmers.

3. Cattle will be sorted into official grades at the market on the day prior to sale by an official grader and will be sold in lots of such size as is deemed advisable by the Sales Committee.

4. Actual sales management, advertising, and other details of the sale will be left entirely to the Sales Committee.

5. Producers will agree to have their cattle mixed with those of other producers according to sex and grade, and lots will be made up of approximately equal weights, and each producer's cattle will be weighed and the producer will be paid according to the weight of his cattle in the lot.

6. All cattle entered in the sale must be vaccinated for Blackleg and vaccinated for Hemorrhagic Septicemia (Shipping Fever) at least 14 days and not over 90 days prior to the date of the sale and each producer, consigning cattle will sign a certificate giving date of vaccination. Certificates must be turned in before cattle are unloaded on date of delivery.

7. All bulls will be castrated and completely healed. All animals must be dehorned and completely healed.

8. All heifers are guaranteed to be open. This guarantee is a contract between the producer and the buyer and reads thus: "I hereby agree to refund to the buyer or buyers, provided he or they are the original purchasers, $20.00 of the purchase price on any heifer in my consignment dropping a full-time calf on or before 280 days from sale date, providing it is reported to the sales manager within 10 days of the above date, and the claim is certified by a licensed veterinarian."

9. At the time cattle are entered for the sale, each producer will be required to sign an agreement. Actual sales and advertising expenses will be prorated on a per head basis, total expenses not to exceed $3.00 per head. Hay and water will be provided at no additional expense.

10. No cattle under 350 pounds in weight will be accepted.

11. A closing date for consignment will be March 15, 1962.

12. Cattle which, in judgement of the Sales Committee, do not meet the qualification of the sale including improper hauling or handling may be rejected on the day of delivery.

13. All animals entering the sale ring must be sold. No consignors will have a "No Sale" privilege.

14. All cattle to be delivered to sale barn by 5:00 P.M. on the day prior to the sale to be weighed and graded.

15. Cross bred cattle will be accepted until deemed necessary to change.

16. The sale will start promptly at 1 p.m.

17. A nomination fee of $1.00 per head is to be submitted to the Statesville Regional Feeder Calf Assn. at time of consignment. This $1.00 will be subtracted from sale fee when cattle are sold, $1.00 when consigned; $2.00 when sold. Failure to bring cattle nominated for sale will mean forfeit of nomination fee.

Leasing Tobacco

Tobacco regulations for 1962 allow the leasing of tobacco allotments. This makes it possible for a farmer to lease allotments and grow them on his farm, with certain restrictions.

Some tobacco farmers have had trouble finding tobacco allotments for lease. The County Agricultural Agent's Office is willing to help these farmers find allotments for lease. If you have an allotment for lease, you may get it posted on our list by notifying our office. This list in turn will be available for all farmers wanting more tobacco acreage.

All leasing of tobacco allotments must be approved by the ASC Office.

ASCS News

Feed Grain Signup Dates Set. The signup period for corn and grain sorghum crops under the 1962 feed grain program will begin Feb. 5, and run through March 30, 1962, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County ASCS Committee.

The signup period will apply to 1962 crop acreages of corn and grain sorghums. Fall seeded wheat and barley acreages were signed up under the program during tree period ended Dec. 1.

Under the two programs farmers help bring production into line with needs by diverting wheat and feed grain acreage to approved conserving uses. The early signup dates will give farmers and farm servicing industries an opportunity to make early plans for the coming crop year.

The main provisions of the 1962 feed grain program are: (1) Voluntary participation, (2) acreage diversion of not less than 20 per cent of the base acreage (1959-60 average) as adjusted, (3) payments "in kind" to be made on acreage diverted from feed grains to soil-conserving uses, (4) "advance" payments, and (5) price support to cooperators on the normal production of acreages planted to feed grains.

Farmers who sign up under the corn and grain sorghum program in Davie County must give in all acreages grown on the farm in 1959 and 1960, if they have not already done so, in order to be eligible to participate in the program for 1962.

Social Security In Davie County

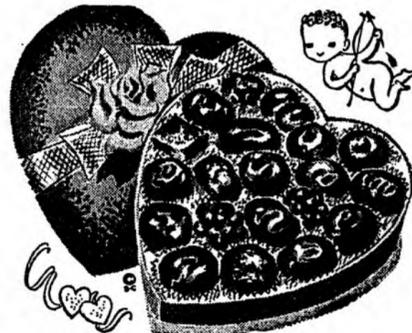

Self-employed business people have been covered by social security since 1961 but few except those who have retired or become eligible to retire have bothered to find out if their credits are in order. Some people failed to file social security reports because they thought that coverage was optional.

Credits to your social security account as a self-employed person depends on the social security section of the income tax report. For the butcher and the baker it is the Schedule "C". For the farmer it is the Schedule "F". Except for the farmer, the report is required if net earnings are $400 or more net from the business. For the farmer, he can file the report and pay the social security tax if the gross income is $800 or more even though the net income is less than $400. He, too must file the Schedule "F" and pay the tax if the net income is more than $400.

Social security credits for the self-employed are by the year. If he gets any credits he gets four "quarters of coverage." Because of the changes in 1960 and 1961, he does not need as many credits as in the past. He now needs one quarter of coverage for each year from January 1, 1961, up to the year he is 65. (For women, the time is up to the year they are 62).

Driver Faces Three Charges In 2-Car Collision

Four persons were injured in a collision last Friday on NC 601, 4-miles south of Mocksville near intersection of US 601 (Greasy Corner). The accident happened around 8:15 p.m.

Trooper L. E. Woods of the State Highway Patrol said that his investigation showed that a 1957 Chevrolet, being operated by Janet Carol Brown, 22, of Mocksville Rt. 4, was traveling south on NC 601 at approximately 35-40 mph. A 1952 Mercury, being operated by James Louis Pierce, 35, of Cooleemee, was on this same highway heading in the direction of Greasy Corner or North. Miss Brown told the patrolman that she saw the Mercury when it was approximately 150-feet away from her on her side of the roadway. She swerved her car into Alfred Coble's driveway entrance and shoulder of the highway, on the right side of the roadway. The Chevrolet ran approximately 45-feet on shoulder with the right wheels to avoid collision with the Mercury on her side of the road. However, the Mercury struck the Chevrolet in the right side and front as Miss Brown came back onto the roadway.

Trooper Woods said that the position of the vehicles and physical evidence clearly indicated that the collision took place on the Chevrolet's side of the road.

In the course of the investigation, a full quart jar of white non-ferrous whiskey was found in the Mercury.

Pierce was charged with drunk driving, reckless driving and possession of non-tax-paid whiskey.

James Gordon Hellard, 29, of Cooleemee, was a passenger in the Mercury and suffered facial and chest injuries.

Mallinda Ann Osborne, 21, of Cooleemee, was a passenger in the Chevrolet and suffered leg and back injuries. All four persons were taken to the Davie County Hospital, but only Pierce was admitted.

Supt. W. T. Bird wishes to remind all parents, or guardians who have pre-school children anticipating entering school for the first time this coming fall, that the North Carolina law requires evidence that the children have been vaccinated against poliomyelitis.

For admission to school, the child must present a certificate of vaccination from a private physician or the county health department where the vaccinations (three inoculations) were received at any time from birth to the time of entering school.

The Attorney General of North Carolina recently ruled that all three inoculations or shots must be completed before entering school. In order to accomplish this, these inoculations must be given at once for those having had none.

This requirement is in addition to the required immunization against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and smallpox.

Associational Play-Offs Also To Be Played In The New Gym

The new Davie County High School gymnasium has been picked as the site of the tournament for the North and South Piedmont Conferences. This tournament is expected to begin on March 2nd and run through March 10th.

The local gymnasium will also be the site for the championship play-offs of the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association that will pit the Piedmont champion against the Western champion. These games will be held the week following the completion of the Piedmont tournament.

The tournaments were awarded Davie at a special meeting of conference officials held Monday night at Mooresville. Principal D. P. Stillwell and Athletic Director Jack Ward presented the application for the local school. Dr. W. T. Bird, Supt. of the Davie County Schools, also appeared on behalf of the local school. However, formal application for the tournament was submitted to the conference a year ago by Mr. Stillwell, in which he cited the modern facilities and location of the local gymnasium as being ideal for this tournament.

Participating in the Piedmont Tournament will be the four top teams of the North Piedmont Conference and the four top teams of the South Piedmont Conference, both boys and girls. Teams of the North Piedmont Conference include: Davie County, Mooresville, North Rowan, West Rowan, East Rowan, Troutman, Monroe, and Children's Home.

Teams of the South Piedmont Conference include: Statesville, Asheboro, Kannapolis, Albemarle, Concord, Thomasville, and South Rowan.

The tournament will pit the top four teams in the North Piedmont Conference against the top four teams in the South Piedmont Conference. During the first round the number one team in one conference will play the number four team in the other conference.

At the present time, the Davie County teams, both boys and girls, are leading the North Piedmont Conference.

FEED GRAIN PROGRAM
Farmers who participate in the 1962 Feed Grain Program must carry out an approved conservation use on an acreage equal to the acreage diverted from corn or grain sorghum...

For diverting the acreage to a conservation use under the feed grain program, the producer earns a payment and he becomes eligible for price support on the normal production of his 1962 corn and grain sorghum acreage...

Conservation uses which may be established on the diverted acreage include permanent type rotation cover of grasses and legumes, cover of grasses and legumes, or small grains; water storage; wildlife food or habitat plantings; trees or shrubs; volunteer natural cover or protected summer fallow...

The chairman emphasized that the acreage which is diverted from corn or grain sorghum and devoted to a conservation use may not be grazed after May 1 and a crop may not be harvested from it. In addition, weeds, rodents, and insects must be controlled on the acreage as directed by the county ASC Committee.

While the feed grain program is voluntary, participation by farmers who grow corn or grain sorghum is required if they want to be eligible for any price support on 1962 feed grain crops.

In order to be eligible to participate in the program a farmer must have grown corn or milo on the farm in 1959 and 1960, and must have a corn base set up on his farm.

Tobacco

Time for seeding tobacco plant beds is here. Farmers are again reminded that a discount variety program will be in effect again this year. Selection of the variety of tobacco seed is the farmer's concern; however, the County ASC office wants to bring to the attention of the farmers the varieties which have been outlawed by the tobacco buyers and the tobacco trade.

For the past five years the three best varieties of flue-cured tobacco were Coker 139, Coker 140 and Dixie Bright 244. For 1962 a fourth variety known as 187 Golden Will has been added to the list. These four so-called "undesignated varieties" will get price support at only half the rate for comparable grades of other varieties. Know the source of your tobacco seed and be certain you plant an approved variety.

ASCS URGES

TAKING SOIL SAMPLES
Many farmers in Davie County are wasting fertilizer or not getting a proper return for their fertilizer because of their failure to take a soil sample. It is especially important that farmers who are planting legumes or grasses or improving existing stands of legumes or grasses under the Agricultural Conservation program, determine in advance the fertilizer that will offer the most return for the plant food dollar and whether or not lime is needed, by having the soil analyzed.

Farmers who fail to anticipate their planting in time to take a soil test and receive an analysis from the State Soil Testing Laboratory are missing a good bet. Although a soil test is no longer mandatory, all State and County officials who assisted in formulating the 1962 ACP, very strongly recommend the taking of soil samples prior to any pasture planting or improvement under the program.

Fertilizer and lime recommendations set up in the State's conservation program provide the best guide available for the entire State without a soil test. However, this overall recommendation can't possibly fit every case and the only way the farmer can be sure is to have a scientific soil analysis made.

PROTECT YOUR COTTON ALLOTMENT

Cotton producers should decide immediately whether or not they are going to plant their cotton this year. Any producer who is not going to plant at least 75% of his cotton allotment is urged to contact the Davie County ASCS Office immediately and release this acreage to the County Committee.

Any producer who fails to plant at least 75% of his 1962 allotment or does not release it to the County Committee will have his allotment reduced for 1963. Farmers are urged to visit the County

Social Security In Davie County

How do you know you are getting credit for your income under social security? Your answer may be "My pay check stub shows that social security taxes were deducted, and that's good enough for me."

Even if social security taxes have been held out of your pay, there is still a possibility that an error may have occurred somewhere along the line before your earnings are finally recorded to your account in Social Security headquarters. According to Robert C. Thomas, Manager of the Social Security Administration District Office, there is one way to make sure all of your earnings are properly credited to your account. You should check your record at least every 3 or 4 years.

To check your record, ask your social security office for a post card form which is pre-addressed to the Social Security headquarters in Baltimore, Maryland. Mail the card and you will receive a record of all the earnings that have been credited to your account since January 1, 1937. Just visit, phone, or write the Social Security Administration, 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C. and ask for a "card to check my record." The phone number is ME 3-4512.

meet "BIG JOHN"

...the BIG REASON why Southern Railway can offer greatly reduced freight rates on grain moving into and within the Southeast!

We call it "BIG JOHN" because it is big! Pioneered by Southern, our new jumbo lightweight aluminum covered hopper car dwarfs its little brother shown at the left, a standard-size steel covered hopper car.

"BIG JOHN" is not only big in size—it is big in what it can do, too. It represents a major breakthrough in transportation. It already has permitted much lower freight rates on alumina, carbide, lime, cement and other such materials. Now "BIG JOHN" is ready to lower the transportation costs of grains, feeds, flour and other agricultural commodities—and here is why it can do it.

"BIG JOHN" can carry a load of 100-tons-plus. (The wasteful deadweight of conventional steel cars is replaced by revenue-producing capacity.) Its cubic-foot capacity is 5,000. On its roof are 12 hatches, and at the bottom are 8 discharge hoppers to speed loading and unloading. Like filling and emptying a bathtub!

If desired, a separate kind of grain can be loaded into each of its four compartments and travel in the same car, without mixing. What's more, this covered hopper is an air-tight car, unlike the box car generally used to carry grain. This greatly reduces the likelihood of infestation and water damage. And there are no grain doors, as in box car movements, to be paid for by the shipper in higher freight rates.

Because "BIG JOHN" can do a big job, Southern Railway can greatly reduce its freight rates for the movement of grain. The resulting savings in transportation costs will benefit everybody—the grain grower, the poultry man, the livestock raiser, the feed man and the consuming public.

The program, which consists of meetings every Wednesday night, got underway this week and will continue through March 14. It is being attended by some 50 Pharmacists from throughout the state.

The first three meeting periods will be devoted to antibiotic drugs. The remaining three sessions will concern various pharmaceuticals used in the treatment of cardiovascular (heart) diseases.

The lecturers for the first three meetings are Dr. William J. Cromartie, Dr. William R. Holt and with high series of 524 was Doc Kemp. Other members and their scores were: Gene Quillin, 177 and 475; Don Daniels, 115 and 228 for two games; Vance Hartley, 189 and 489; and Joe Patner, 157 for one game.

iel T. Young, Dr. Ernest Craig and Dr. Thomas C. Gibson. All of these lecturers are from the Division of Cardiology, Department of Medicine, UNC School of Medicine.

Antibiotic and cardiovascular drugs constitute two very important classes of pharmaceuticals. Together, they account for over 20 percent of the prescriptions during the winter and early spring months of the year.

RESEARCH AND THE HEART DISEASES

"Many cardiovascular diseases which would have been hopeless ten years ago are now possible of actual cure . . ."

The panel of medical leaders reporting to President Kennedy last Spring made his heartening announcement. There are still great gaps in our knowledge about the heart diseases, the experts said. But only a dozen years ago there were a great many more which have been closed through advances in research.

Here are just a few of these achievements:

Most victims of heart attack now survive and, of those who do, three out of four return to work.

Strokes are no longer hopeless. Invalidation can often be reduced or prevented.

High Blood pressure can be reduced through new drugs and surgery.

New drugs can retard blood clotting and prevent repeat heart attacks.

Rheumatic fever, forerunner of rheumatic heart disease and once a childhood menace, now can be prevented.

Remarkable feats of surgery can be performed today, including operations inside the heart.

New diagnostic tools enable the physician to discover cardio-vascular disorders early, to begin treatment quickly and to gain control more effectively.

This winning fight against the heart diseases has been speeded by your gifts to the Heart Fund — gifts which have enabled the American Heart Association to Channel more than 65 million dollars into research since 1948.

But the basic causes of the two disorders responsible for 90 percent of all heart disease — hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure — are still unknown. Scientists are coming closer to the answers. It is possible that they might find new means of prevention or even cures during the lifetimes of many of us. But they will need much more money than is now available. To raise money for this vital research — and for bringing the benefits of new knowledge back to the people — is the purpose of the Heart Fund drive now being conducted here by the Davie Heart Association. We urge all citizens to give generously to speed new scientific breakthroughs. More will live, the more we give.

ABOUT CIRCULARS

Someone once said that a large part of editorial writing was just the editor "thinking out loud on paper" and not that he really hoped to convince anyone. That is about the case for this ditty concerning newspaper and circular advertising.

With our tongue in our cheek we can say we are sure we won't offend any circular enthusiasts with this because, according to them, no one reads the newspaper anyway—which would mean certainly that they don't. And of course there would be no point to try to convince anyone that is reading this—because if you are reading this it is a good bet that you have read most everything else in the newspaper.

Business is business and we print circulars. But we believe in newspaper advertising and can back our belief up with facts. The argument put up by many for circulars reminds us of a man running on a treadmill—"A lot of effort for little accomplishment!"

Certainly you can distribute a lot of circulars—to every boxholder—to every door—to every window—but that doesn't guarantee what you want—and that is readership of your message and the desire to act on that invitation to take advantage of your offer. We believe, and can almost prove, that an advertisement in the newspaper will get more readership from a circular of 2,000 copies that will the circulation of 8,000 circulars. But there is no need to take up the time and space now for citing all the reasons.

A newspaper exists for the people of the county. By subscribing they make this newspaper a part of their life and their home. It is something they want to come into their home and which they want to read. In addition to the news items, the newspaper provides the space and opportunity to businesses to carry their invitation into the homes of the subscribers. Through this media the advertisement becomes a special communication between the merchant and his patron.

We believe that an advertisement in the newspaper carries much more prestige and credibility than on a piece of paper that is distributed over the countryside. For in a newspaper it is there for public comparison with competitors and one feels a certain sense of guarantee on the part of the merchant that is usually not felt by the reader of a circular.

As we said before, these are our opinions and we are just "thinking out loud"—we have no hopes of changing anyone's opinion with this ditty.

But just in case a circular enthusiast with the lack of any thing better to do read this, let him be assured right here and now that—we do print circulars and will print him as many thousands as he may want.

POPULATION INCREASE

While the exact time is unpredictable, North Carolina's population is expected to hit the 5 million mark in 1966 or 1967.

"Certainly, it should be no later than the first half of '67," says Dr. Selz C. Mayo, head of the Department of Rural Sociology at North Carolina State College.

"Incidentally," Mayo added, "North Carolina's population should reach 5 million at about the same time as the Nation's population reaches 200 million."

North Carolina had 4,556,155 people in the census of 1960, or 12.2 per cent more than in 1950. Mayo bases his estimates for future growth on these figures.

"The growth of North Carolina's population during the past century and a half is an exciting story," Dr. Mayo said.

In 1800, less than a half million people lived in the state. By the census of 1870, the population was up to one million.

The second million was recorded in the census of 1910, the third million in the census of 1930, and the fourth million in the census of 1950.

While the number of Tar Heels is increasing rapidly, Mayo points out that the State's rate of growth was considerable under the national average during decade of the '50's.

This was because the state had a net loss from migration of 330,000 people. One immediate tangible result of this migration was the loss of one congressman.

To make North Carolina's present growth pattern more meaningful, Dr. Mayo described what is likely to happen within one year — 1962, for example.

"During these 12 months," Mayo explained, "the natural increase (births minus deaths) of our population will be sufficient to build a city the size of Durham."

"We can expect to retain enough of the natural increase to produce a city about the size of Wilmington. But we will export (lose by migration) enough young people to produce another community about the size of Burlington."

The Republic of Indonesia ranks as Southeast Asia's biggest, most populous nation. Its 92 million people represent a dozen ethnic groups, scattered across some 3,000 equatorial islands, says the National Geographic Magazine. At the end of 1960, only 10,000 Dutch citizens were left in this former colonial possession of the Netherlands.

THE AMERICAN WAY

C.O.D.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS:

WASHINGTON—When I was a student at Chapel Hill, I sat for a time at the feet of Horace Williams who taught Philosophy. Horace Williams taught his students that people are in error in thinking that the most troublesome problems we have to solve are those involving choices between good and evil. He declared, on the contrary, that the decisions which try men's souls are those which require them to determine which one of two or more loyalties takes precedence when such loyalties conflict.

COLLEGE ASSISTANCE BILL—This conflict was presented when I considered and voted on the college aid assistance bill. I believe in the purpose of the bill which is to afford the youth of this land opportunity to procure in education. However, I could not vote for the bill which was passed by the Senate, because in my judgment it violated the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States when it sought to aid church-owned or church-controlled colleges by loans for instructional facilities. I offered an amendment to the bill which I deemed necessary to make it comply with the "establishment-of-religion" clause of the First Amendment, and would have restricted its aid to publicly supported colleges. The bill presented a temptation strikingly similar in nature to that which the serpent presented to Eve in the Garden of Eden. Eve succumbed to the temptation, because she was convinced that the fruit of the tree which grew in the midst of the garden would make her wise. We were presented in this bill with the temptation to do constitutional evil in order that our youth might acquire knowledge and become wise.

SENATE DEBATE—My amendment would have restricted Government loans to publicly supported colleges. In my mind there is a constitutional question as to whether public funds can be used to aid a private college. Moreover, I believe there is a clear constitutional prohibition for the Government to finance religious groups by gifts, grants, loans, or aid of any kind. The Founding Fathers of this nation and the opinions of some of the ablest members of the Supreme Court have declared that "Government may not finance religious groups." Justice Jackson stated in the Zorach case that "what should be rendered to God does not need to be decided and collected by Caesar." The bill which the Senate passed on February 6 undertook to do precisely what Justice Jackson said ought not to be done. It was argued in the Senate that the federal monies are to be restricted to be restricted to classroom purposes for non-religious activities. In my judgment you cannot break down a religiously oriented college's activities and purposes into religious and secular. Justice Rutledge stated in the Everson case that it is the character of the institution and not the specific activity conducted in a building that determines the question. I quote him in part: "Commingle the religious with the secular teaching does not divert the whole of its religious pervasion and emphasis, or make them a minor part, if proportion were material. Indeed, on any other view, the constitutional prohibition always could be brought to naught by adding a modicum of the secular."

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW—Some years ago the late Justice Learned Hand sounded a clear warning concerning the Constitution. He said in essence: "No court or other agency of government can keep the Constitution alive if reverence for its provisions dies in the hearts of the people." I believe that if reverence for the Constitution dies in the hearts of our people liberty perishes.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: I see by the papers where the Census Bureau says the average American farmer from 1950 to 1960 lived 8 mile from the nearest doctor. The piece didn't say, but I would reckon the life-span of the average American farmer is about as long as fer anybody else.

I ain't trying to cast no asparagus on the medical profession. The only time I ever knock doctors is when I'm feeling real good. When I'm sick my doctor is about the finest feller in the world. I reckon that's the human nature, Mister Editor. And I reckon that's why most of the time it takes the doctor longer to cure a rich man than a poor man. Just the human nature in him—the doctor, I mean.

When I get to advocating reform for doctors, lawyers, editors, and some of them Congressmen, my old lady hints she knows a feller here at home that could stand a little reform. She always quotes that place in the Bible where the Lord told the Disciples to go out and preach the Gospel to all the world, starting in Jerusalem. "And the Lord," she adds, "was speaking from Jerusalem." But I never argue with my old lady. I just say pass the butter, please, and change the subject to the economic conditions in the Congo or some of them items wimmen don't know enough about to argue.

Speaking of my old lady, she's out in the kitchen baking a cake for the church cake sale. Ed Doolittle claims when his old lady bakes a cake for the sale, he has to go and buy it back for a dollar. He don't know when he's well off. When my old lady bakes one fer the sale, I buy it back and then she donates it to the school lunch room. I ain't the only one, Mister Editor, that needs fer things to git started in Jerusalem.

And while I'm on the subject of wimmen I'd like to pay my respects to that school teacher that keeps writing you about my little piece in the paper ever week. I see in that last note she sent you where she is claiming my grammar sets a bad example for the youth of the community. First it was my spelling and now it's my grammar.

From what I see in the papers and magazines, Johnny can't read none too good anyhow and I doubt he'd be trying it out on my little piece. Actual, I don't use better grammar fer about three reasons. In the first place, I don't know no better. In the second place, the fellers at the country store wouldn't understand it. And third, if I knowed grammar real good they'd have me writing pamphlets for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Yours truly, Uncle Dave

SO THIS IS NEW YORK By NORTH CALLAHAN

Now that Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller has journeyed to Reno for a divorce, I have asked several seasoned politicians of both parties here, what effect this will have on her husband's chance to be elected President. The opinions were varied, some not being sure just what effect if any a divorce will have. But most of these veterans of the political arena, basing their opinions on cold analysis regardless of personal feelings or inclinations, state that Rocky has cooked his political goose. Their collective reasoning is this: the separation may be desirable from the standpoint of the couple involved. But this is still a conservative country, with law, religion and domestic custom weighed heavily on the side of favoring a happy home life for any Chief Executive. So, according to this consensus, when Governor Rockefeller - or his wife - made this crucial decision, it represented a calculated risk which in all probability will result in ultimate failure.

With the Chinese New Year in full tigerish swing, I am reminded of the very poor Chinaman who had a small laundry next door to a prosperous Chinese restaurant. Every day he would take his small bowl of rice, place his chair as near as he dared to the fine restaurant and sniff the appetizing aromas as he ate. One day he received a bill from his affluent neighbor, "for smell of food." He went into his laundry and came out with his tiny money box. This he rattled in the ears of his "creditor", saying, "I hereby pay for smell of food with sound of money."

Thomas Wolfe who came here from North Carolina at an early age lived life so fast that when he thought of going home and resuming boyhood, he, instead, wrote a book entitled, "You Can't Go Home Again." But Joe King has proved this a fallacy. Joe is a fine surgeon from Tennessee who has had a full career here, not only in the field of medicine but in the field of making many appreciative friends. Not long ago, Joe said he'd like to spend his last years with his old homefolks. So he sold his house, packed up his wife and furniture and returned to Murfreesboro, where at last reports, he is as happy as a Tennessee walking horse.

Many people may not understand the granite-like Charles de Galle of France, but I recall that in World War II and just afterward, he was an enigma then - with good intentions. He does not speak much. Says he, "Nothing more enhances authority than silence. It is the crowning virtue of the strong, the refuge of the weak, the modesty of the proud, the pride of the humble, and the sense of fools. To speak is to dilute one's thoughts, to give vent to one's ardor, to dissipate one's strength; whereas, action demands concentration. Silence is a necessary preliminary to the ordering of one's thoughts."

Perhaps understandably, New York City officials, with their "fair eye" on 1964, have little sympathy for the world's fair which is soon to go on in Seattle. Recently, the fair commission of that western city asked for the loan of the statue of Horace Greeley which stands in Herald Square. Mayor Wagner turned down the request - but the city of Greeley, Colorado came to the rescue by offering a life-size painting of the historic figure. Wagner explained his refusal by saying that he realized that Greeley advised, "Go West, young man, go West" but did not go there himself, probably did not want to, and therefore his statue must stay at home.

Here and There: H. A. Sutton says that the encouragement of G. I. gripes, of which there are always plenty anyway, is a national danger which aids Communism—sign on a toy exhibit building: "Child's play is our life work"—sign on a subway station steps: "Help stamp out human beings. Contribute to the war effort through your local tax collector"—sign on a shoe store: "Put your feet in our hands"—sign on a restaurant: "Garden of Eatin'"—a Joe Dokes is listed as being at 15 East 40th Street—Help build juvenile decency. As Dickens said, "In love of home, the love of country has its rise."

CAPITAL CLIPBOARD News and Comment from our Raleigh Bureau—265 Oyster Rd.

PAY DIRT . . . After about a month of fist-shaking, finger-pointing, and road-grading, the State one afternoon last week hit pay dirt on the connections between sign companies and the N. C. Highway Department.

Now what it will do with this mass of memos, letters, and various odd bits of information remains to be seen. But the stuff is there—loads of it, we understand—and all signs . . . if you will pardon the term . . . point in the direction of State Superior Court . . . with very slow exit for persons involved.

UNOFFICIAL . . . Since there has been no official hearing, no trials, and nothing of legal aspect, everything up to now is unofficial. Nevertheless, it can be reported that the State Bureau of Investigation has done a good job, found what it went after, and now is moving back into more normal operations.

And, believe it or not, it looks as if Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. and the other firms in the Brewer-Burch Operation are white as the driven snow and completely innocent of intentional wrong-doing. Evidence, they say here, is plentiful . . . and interesting.

TO CONTINUE? . . . A question asked here of late is why Kidd Brewer chose 1960 gubernatorial Candidate Malcolm Seawell for his attorney out of some 200 available hereabouts. While at times regarded as a: (1) John Larkins, (2) I. Beverly Lake, and (3) Terry Sanford man, Brewer was never put in the Seawell corner by rumor or otherwise.

As a matter of fact, Brewer had contacted at least three attorneys before Seawell, it is reported here, and was advised to secure Seawell a level-headed. Folks here wonder if Seawell will continue with it.

THAT LIST . . . A full list of members of the General Assembly who voted against the tax is recorded . . . together with the full list of those who voted for the tax," reported the January issue of the Carolina Food Dealer.

This magazine is put out by the N. C. Food Dealers Association, of which James B. Vogler, long-time Mecklenburg County legislator, is executive secretary.

Personable, cigar-smoking Jim Vogler was in the 1961 Legislature which adopted the sales tax on food. He knows—and in fact it is officially recorded — who voted with him and against him on the food tax.

While in Raleigh last Friday, he told friends that some of his members had requested from his office the official lineup of those for and against the tax. So . . . there must be some interest in some of the counties in the matter. Voglers plans to run for reelection. Good man.

WHAT FOR? . . . Now in all fairness it should be recorded, too, that those . . . or many, many of those . . . who were against the tax on food . . . did not say what tax they were for. While those for food stood flat-footed on that soil.

It was obvious that a lot of new taxes were necessary with which to balance the budget. Did those who voted against the food tax want a sales tax of four per cent, a tax on tobacco, an increase in the income tax, or what? A handful favored a tobacco tax.

THREE ROADS . . . To say they favored a soft drink tax, more tax on whiskey, etc., it merely dodging the issue. Everybody knows . . . in fact there is factual information to prove it . . . that higher taxes on liquor merely drives drinkers to bootleggers and brings in no extra money. A soft drink tax sounds good . . . but produces very little money when compared to food.

Those who plan to campaign for the Legislature — against the food tax — should be prepared to take one of these three roads: (1) A four per cent sales tax on everything except food; (2) An all-out tax on tobacco products; (3) A definitely downhill march in education. Which?

He lived in a small community. His children were all grown. He had earned and saved enough to live on comfortably for the rest of his life. That is to say there was nothing to drive him out of bed mornings, for he had retired two years earlier from the excitement of the day-to-day hustle and bustle workaday world.

He was 53, and only 17 years of the allotted three score and ten lay ahead. He had done some traveling, had spent some time abroad in the service of his country—like thousands of others in North Carolina. But that was all behind him. He was a "success" at 53.

It was a day for young men, it seemed—even as now. The mayor of his town was under 40, as were most of the church pastors of the city, and the young men back from World War II were now settled with families and running things. No place for over the hillers. Take it easy.

PEACE? . . . All in all, it was a good time to look backward and to take it easy, to "catch up on a lot of things he'd always wanted to do." He could sit around the local barbershop and tell tall tales, do a little gentle lying. And then home to a nice warm meal . . . and an afternoon's long nap.

Harry S. Truman was serving his last year as President; and W. Kerr Scott was in his fourth year as Governor. The World was at peace, and it was a good time to be 53—with 54 coming up in March. Peace in his little civic club work; peace at home; peace in retirement. But there was no real peace . . . for a strong mind called, service pulled at him, and driving ambition unknown to the average man in his 50's tore at him.

Ten years ago this month he suddenly and dramatically lifted himself out of sickeningly sordid retirement by deciding to run . . . Lt. Governor of North Carolina. On Friday, March 9, he will observe his 64th birthday as an internationally known and loved U. S. citizen—Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges—, Inspirational.

Theme: Wise Men Choose Wise Companions

TEXT: "If you walk with a lame person, you will learn to limp" - Plutarch. There are any dumb-bells in room I want you to stand up" he said.

After a long pause a lone freshman stood up. "Do you consider yourself a dumb-bell?" asked the professor. "Not exactly, sir," said the student, "but I do hate to see you standing up by yourself."

Much is written and spoken about how achieve success. It is time a few words were pointed at how to find certain defeat. If you would become completely discouraged and defeat yourself, simply choose the wrong companions. There is no method more certain nor swift.

Not all wrong companions are found in our social or business lives, either. Too many men and women find the wrong companions for their marital lives and face a frustrating blank wall of discouragement and defeat, year after endless year.

Companions in our social or business worlds and those who will share the intimacy of our home lives, should be chosen with utmost care. Only then can capture real happiness and develop the extreme limits of our abilities. By all means, have companions, but choose those traveling in the direction you want to go.

What would you do if you suddenly found that you had tuberculosis, that for the rest of your life any work you did would be limited to that which required no physical exertion?

Suppose you were 20 years old, ambitious, had graduated from high school, and had been accepted as a college freshman? That, during the first week at college, a physical examination revealed that you had advanced pulmonary tuberculosis?

That is what happened to Bill, an orphan who had lived with friends since his parents' death. During high school vacations he had worked as a curb boy and as a sales clerk. He had saved enough money to pay for his tuition, and had a promise of part-time work at the college to help defray other expenses.

And then the blow fell. The result of that physical examination was hard to take. But Bill took it on the chin, and was sent to a sanatorium, where he stayed fifteen months.

He was discharged with the advice that he should return to college if at all possible. And, in his own words, "If I have an education, I can get a job that won't require much physical exertion. If I don't have an education, I'll have to do physical labor, and the doctors say that will kill me. I know I have an arrested case of tuberculosis, and I want it to stay that way."

The county department of public welfare secured for Bill a monthly grant for he was eligible for assistance under the program of aid to the permanently and totally disabled. His case was referred to Vocational Rehabilitation and through this agency his tuition costs are being paid.

Bill is one of the persons receiving financial assistance who will, in the future, be able to support himself if given some help for a few years. Instead of having to be supported by public welfare or other sources for the remainder of his life, he will become a self-supporting, tax-paying citizen, with sufficient educa-

Beef Cattle

1. The general level of beef cattle prices is expected to be about the same or slightly lower than in 1961. An improvement in the weight and grade of our feeder cattle should be stressed this year. More feeder and stocker cattle should be marketed through the Special State Sponsored Sales in 1962.

2. Cattle need more feed in cold weather or when the ground is covered with snow.

3. Cows should have close attention at calving time.

4. Dehorn, castrate and vaccinate calves before they are two months old, so they will be ready for the Feeder Calf Sales this fall.

5. Feed herd bulls some grain and turn them with the cow herd on March 1.

6. Check all cattle for lice and treat if needed.

7. Plan to market fat cattle and stocker cattle through Special sales if one is located in your area.

8. Treat yearling cattle for internal parasites before they go on pasture this spring.

9. Cow herd owners should join The North Carolina Beef Cattle Improvement Program. All purebred breeders should be on this program of performance testing.

Sheep

1. Every lamb saved in February and March could be worth $20 in June. Ewes need close attention at lambing time.

2. Feed ewes one-quarter pound of grain for 30 days before lambing and 1 1/4 pounds per day after lambing in addition to all the good hay they will eat.

3. Dock and castrate lambs when they are from 5 to 10 days old.

4. Creep feed lambs on cracked yellow corn.

Gentlemen:

We are certainly pleased with our Electric Comfort Heating. Since converting to electric heating we have enjoyed the wonderful room to room control which it affords.

We find that it is a thrifty way to heat. Our average monthly cost for all our electricity used was only $21.21 per month for twelve (12) months operation.

We are very happy we changed to electric heating and would recommend it to anyone who is remodeling or building a new home.

Very truly yours,

It gives you all the time-tested toughness of iron—with a lightness and compactness iron never had before. A muscular 164 hp, this new Challenger "260" V-8 is all snap, sparkle and smoothness. It runs on regular, yet gives you better gas mileage than any standard-size 6-cylinder car. Price it and you're in for a surprise—a Fairlane V-8 carries a smaller price tag than some compact Sixes. ### Lois Lenski Collection At Local Library

An exhibit at Davie County Library during the period from Feb. 14 until Feb. 27 is the original collection of Lois Lenski, author of children's books.

The exhibit consists of 16 illustrations, 17 books in which illustrations are found, one picture of Lois Lenski, one booklet and one letter and 20 catalogs. One book is written in English and Burmese.

This collection came to the local library from the Richard B. Harrison Public Library in Raleigh.

Lois Lenski (Mrs. Arthur S. Covey), born in Springfield, Ohio, is the daughter of a Lutheran minister, and was graduated from Ohio State University, College of Education. She studied art at the Art Students League in New York, and at the Westminster School of Art in London.

Her books have a special appeal for children because they are filled with little incidents and real life drama that make up a child's day. Miss Lenski's knowledge of the ways of children in different parts of our country comes from a close association with them. Before beginning a story, she goes to a city or area about which she writes, visits with families, makes notes and sketches of the children at work and play.

Miss Lenski now makes her home at Torrington, Conn.

The following is an excerpt from a booklet in the collection: "A small boy came up to the librarian's desk. 'Please,' he said, 'I want a book by my friend, Lois Lenski.'"

The librarian smiled. "Your friend?" she said. "Do you know her?"

The little face fell. "Well, er . . . no, I never saw her, but . . ." The boy looked up again. "I have one of her books at home. She signed her name in it and said she was my friend."

The next time the boy came, he proudly displayed his autographed copy: "With love, your friend, Lois Lenski."

All the letters that Lois Lenski writes to her "fans" are signed, "Your friend, Lois Lenski." And that is what she is, the friend of all children.

Boating Equipment Laws Are Discussed

Before you take your boat out for a spin on North Carolina waters, be sure that everything aboard, including the certificate of registration, is in proper legal order.

Walter Phipps, wildlife protector in Davie County, warned that all boatowners should keep abreast of state and federal boating laws.

Mr. Phipps said that carbon tetrachloride fire extinguishers and others of the toxic vaporizing-liquid such as chlorobromomethane are no longer approvable equipment as of January 1, 1962. The U. S. Coast Guard withdrew approval of this equipment effective December 6, 1958, but allowed use of these extinguishers until January 1 of this year in order that boatmen could replace them with approved foam, carbon dioxide or dry chemical types.

Mr. Phipps also reminded boat owners that only Coast Guard approved lifesaving devices would be considered as legal equipment. Life-saving equipment that cannot be Coast Guard approved will not satisfy legal requirements, and will be dealt with accordingly.

"For their own safety," Mr. Phipps said, "boatmen must obtain approved lifesaving devices, and

Davie County Hospital Receives $2,271 From Duke Endowment

The Davie County Hospital will receive $2,271 for 1961 from the Duke Endowment as compared with $48 appropriated to it for 1960.

This is a part of the $1,304,173.32 the trustees of The Duke Endowment have appropriated to the North Carolina and South Carolina hospitals and child care institutions on the basis of their charity work in the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, 1961.

One hundred and thirty-seven hospitals, 99 in North Carolina, and 38 in South Carolina, and 43 child care institutions, 28 in North Carolina and 15 in South Carolina, are included in the current appropriations. Hospitals will receive $804,574 and child care institutions, $439,552.32. Appropriations from other hospitals, which had not been completed when the allocations were made, will be considered at the February meeting of trustees.

Non-profit hospitals of the two states are eligible to apply for these funds are assisted at the rate of $1 for each free day of bed care. Marshall I. Pickens of Charlotte, secretary of The Endowment and Director of its Hospital and Orphan sections, explained that reports of the 137 hospitals show that 17.5 per cent of their work was for charity patients. This compares to 15.9 per cent in 1960.

Assistance to child care institutions, provided on the basis of days of care or orphan and half orphan children amounts to approximately 54 cents a day. The 43 institutions aided reported that 47.6 per cent of their work was for such children, which compares to 49.4 per cent for 1960.

The Duke Endowment is a perpetual trust founded in 1924 by the late James B. Duke. Its principal beneficiaries are hospitals and child care institutions of the Carolinas, Duke University, Davidson College, Furman University, and Johnson C. Smith University, and retired ministers and rural churches in North Carolina.

Rebelettes Clinch Top Honors In North Piedmont Conference

Rebels Remain On Top With A One Game Lead

The Davie County High School Rebelettes clinched top honors in the North Piedmont Conference Tuesday night with a 53-46 win over Children's Home.

The Rebelettes, undefeated in the North Piedmont Conference, won their 11th conference victory which made it impossible for them to be displaced from at least a part of the regular season championship. Before three games in front of their nearest rival and with only three more games to be played, the Rebelettes can take sole possession of the title with only one win in those three games. Even if they should lose all three, they would still tie for the title.

The Rebels boosted their record to 10-1 as the starting five played only half the game in an easy 78-44 win over Children's Home. The Rebels need only two victories out of the remaining three games to assure themselves of at least a tie for the crown.

Davie was scheduled to play at West Rowan on Wednesday night, Friday night they play at East Rowan, and close out the season in the local gym on Tuesday night against North Rowan.

Glenda Shelton led the Rebelettes Tuesday night with 27 points. Kathy Grimes had 14 and Dorothy Seaford, 12.

For the Rebels, Bill Evans had 19; Chuck Tomlinson, 13; Jimmy Anderson, 8; Grimes Parker, 8; Norman Woodward, 8; Junior Beal, 7; Commie Shoffner, 5; Roger Pierce, 2; Charles Crenshaw, 2; and Harry Lee Howell, 1.

The Rebels suffered a blow when Gary McDaniel suffered a broken ankle in practice and will be lost to them for the remainder of the season and tournament play. McDaniel, a reserve forward, had proved very valuable to the Rebels in recent games and was being counted on as a top reserve in the forthcoming tournament.

Last Friday night the Davie team won two games from Troutman.

The Rebelettes used a big second quarter to wrap up their tenth straight conference victory 52-44. Kathy Grimes had 22 points to lead the Rebelettes; Glenda Shelton, 19; and Dorothy Seaford, 11.

The Rebels also put on big time college in the second and fourth quarters to trounce Troutman 67 to 46. Bill Evans had 18 points; Chuck Tomlinson, 17; Jimmy Anderson, 9; Grimes Parker, 8; Gary McDaniel, 6; Junior Beal, 5; and Commie Shoffner, 4, for the Rebels.

Davie Jayvees Have 4 More Games

The Davie County High School Junior Varsity Basketball team has four more games to play before the season ends.

The Jayvees defeated South Rowan here last Friday afternoon. Their record so far is six games won and two games lost.

Games this week include: East Rowan on Tuesday, at East South Rowan here on Wednesday afternoon; West Rowan here Friday afternoon.

The final game will be at North Rowan on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 27.

All games are played at 4 in the afternoon.

Presbyterians Elect Jim Wall As Elder

At a congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning Jim Wall was elected Elder, to succeed Paul Blackwelder, deceased.

The congregation also adopted the rotation system of Elders, which will go into effect January of 1963.

District School Boards to Meet Here March 1st

The annual meeting of District 13 of the North Carolina School Boards Association will be held at the Davie County High School in Mocksville on Thursday, March 1.

The meeting will begin at 3 p.m. with a short general meeting, which will be followed by discussion groups of 11 superintendents, principals and supervisors; 12 members of boards of education, and 13 district school committeemen. The theme of this year's meeting is "Educational Excellence: Time for a Progress Report."

Improper Passing Is Cause of Wreck Saturday Morning

Improper passing was cited as the cause of a wreck on Saturday around 11:30 a.m. on U. S. 158, one mile east of Mocksville.

Trooper L. E. Woods of the State Highway Patrol, said that his investigation showed that a 1960 Chevrolet was heading west on U. S. 158 and was slowing down to 20-25 mph with left turn signal on in preparation to turning left into Sain Road. The Chevrolet was being operated by Paul Caldwell Grubbs, 54, of Mocksville.

A 1960 Dodge Station Wagon, being driven by Charles Edward McCoy, 52, of Mocksville, was also travelling west and saw the Chevrolet giving left turn signals. Mr. McCoy told Trooper Edward that he saw a hitchhiker on the right side of U. S. 158 and thought that the Chevrolet was signalling for him to stop and that the Chevrolet was going to stop to pickup the hitchhiker. When he was in the process of passing, the Chevrolet turned left. There were approximately 45 feet of skid marks with the Dodge striking the Chevrolet in the left side and knocking it across a ditch and up into field beside Sain Road. The Chevrolet hit a road marking designating the Sain Road.

There were no injuries. Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $120 or $200. Damage to the Dodge was estimated at $75.

Mr. McCoy was charged with improper passing.

Man Dies Of Injuries From Beating

Lockie Calvin Sofley, 60, of Advance, Rt. 2, beaten at his one room home Feb. 4, died of his injuries about 5 p.m. Friday at Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem.

Davie County Sheriff B. Y. Boyles said Jimmy Rufus Smith, 24, of Advance, Rt. 1, had been charged with murder.

The sheriff said Sofley, who had been in ill health for the past two to three years, was beaten on the head with "a couple" of heavy chairs. He said Sofley lived by himself, and no one else was in the house at the time of the attack, but Sofley was found immediately afterward by a neighbor.

Arrested Same Day

He said Smith, who was arrested the same day, had given little information about the attack, had not admitted hitting Sofley and "made out" that he didn't know what happened to him.

The sheriff said no reason had been found so far for the attack, and no robbery was involved. He said he was unable to question Sofley because Sofley did not regain consciousness.

Smith, he said, is slender, weighing between 110 and 115 pounds and about five and half feet in height. He said he works as a laborer and comes from a good family.

At Winston-Salem, Dr. W. D. Veeland, Jr., the Forsyth County coroner, said Sofley's death was caused by multiple skull fractures.

Sofley was born in Davie County to John A. and Mamie Sofley. He was a farmer and a carpenter.

His wife, the former Betty Martin, died in 1957.

Surviving are two sons, John and Jerry Sofley, both of Salisbury; a daughter, Mrs. A. T. Healy of Salisbury; five sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Smith of Winston-Salem, Rt. 9, Mrs. Lola Etchison of Mocksville, Rt. 2, Mrs. Marie Clingman of Huntersville and Mrs. Ethel Cook and Mrs. Helen Miller, both of Advance, Rt. 1.

He has brothers, Frank and Henry Sofley, both of Mocksville, Rt. 2, and Jesse Sofley of Advance, Rt. 1, and four grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Bethlehem Methodist Church by the Rev. Dwight Mashburn and the Rev. Wallace Owens. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Sunday Is Heart Sunday

Heart Sunday will be conducted in Davie County next Sunday, Feb. 26. Some of our people will contribute their time and energy to serve as Heart Fund Volunteers, visiting the homes of their neighbors in behalf of the Davie Heart Association.

We urge you to welcome the volunteer when she rings your doorbell. She is working for your heart and for all hearts in our community.

Your Heart Fund volunteer is an educational ambassador who will bring to your home a pamphlet with a health saving message. It will tell you in simple language what to do in the event of a heart attack. And it will serve as a reminder that the Heart Association will supply you and your family with other valuable information about the heart and circulatory diseases upon request.

The volunteer who calls at your home is responsible for accepting your family's contribution to the Heart Fund, one of the major sources of support for the work of the Davie Heart Association's year around program of research education and community service which has saved thousands of American hearts and lives.

So for the good of this community — and for the good of your heart and each heart in your family — join the fight against the heart diseases, our

Have you been fertilizing your strawberries as they should be? Those real juicy, plump, ripe strawberries of the highest quality cannot be grown in a haphazard manner. Correct fertilization can certainly add a lot to a quality crop of strawberries. Last year, one grower lost three-fourths of his potential crop on 2 acres because of an improper fertilization program. The old adage, "If a little bit is good, then a whole lot will be that much better" does not always hold true, and especially with our spring fertilization of strawberries.

In the eastern part of the state now is the time that the last fertilization should be applied to strawberries until after the cropping season. In light soils, 30 pounds of nitrogen 1 lb. nitrate of soda per 100 ft. of row space in the form of 16% sodium nitrate or one of the several forms of ammonium nitrate should be applied directly over the matted row. A brush or a broom should be used to sweep this excess fertilizer from off the plant. This nitrogen side dressing should be applied to the plant before growth begins in the spring. In many of our heavier soils, or in even the lighter soils where good growth has been obtained, lighter applications, or even no applications, of fertilizer may be desirable at this time of the year.

What are some of the effects of excess nitrogen in the planting during the early spring?

1. Excess nitrogen may cause a delay in maturity.
2. It may cause soft berries.
3. It may cause a decrease in total yield.
4. It may cause excess foliage growth resulting in less coverage of the berries by fungicides and insecticides.
5. It may cause excess weed or grass growth in the planting during harvest season.

There can be no substitute for experience in your own planting and on your own soil. However, at this season of the year, the use of phosphate and potash fertilizers have not shown a response in production or quality of berries. If this fertilization program differs from yours to any extent, why not try a portion of your planting fertilizer in the suggested way and compare it to the way that you have been fertilizing. You pay find, if nothing else, a savings in the cost of your fertilizer.

Mulch on strawberries is one of the most important factors in harvesting clean well ripened strawberries. As well as keeping

Senior Citizens Hold Meeting

The Valentine meeting of the Senior Citizens Club was held Feb. 12. A Valentine was pinned on each member as they arrived. The devotion was opened by singing: "Work For The Night Is Coming," after which the Rev. C. W. Fink read the scripture and gave a short talk. The Rev. Mr. Foster led in prayer and the group sang, "Blest Be The Tie."

During the business meeting it was voted to have a birthday party at the last meeting each month, recognizing each member having had a birthday during that period.

Thirty members were present with three new members: Mrs. Sue Thompson of Mocksville; Mrs. Lucy Niblock and Mrs. Annie Swicegood. Mrs. Niblock, who is retired missionary, made a brief talk on her life in the mission field.

The meeting was closed by singing the club's theme song: "The More We Get Together."

A social hour followed during which everyone enjoyed doughnuts and coffee served by Mr. and Mrs. John James.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 26, at 10 a.m. in the Recreation Center at Cooleemee.

Every man who observes vigilantly and resolves steadfastly grows unconsciously into genius.

The dirt off the strawberries, much also may offer some weed control during the early spring season of the year. It can prevent to a small degree as well, frost damage. It also can give you more of those early high-priced berries that bring the most money. There are several mulching materials that can be used most effectively. Pine straw is the universal mulch for strawberries. It is usually readily available, is easy to handle, is short and is clean. If this is not available, another good substitute is good clean wheat or rye straw. However, this is not as easy to put down over the strawberries, and there is always the possibility of carrying in a few weeds or grass seeds which may germinate and give trouble during the early part of the season. If you have not already mulched, I would suggest you give it strong consideration and even mulch the row middles to help keep weeds and grass down.

Fred Waring Concert In Greensboro Thurs.

Every day of the year a Fred Waring record is heard somewhere—over the radio, on television or a theater or restaurant.

Waring, who comes to Greensboro with his Pennsylvanians Thursday, Feb. 22, for a performance of his newest and most ambitious production, "Let Freedom Sing," was one of the early recording stars in the popular music field.

Records he made with the Pennsylvanians have sold over 100,000,000 copies through the year. His albums also have sold in the millions. "The Night Before Christmas" hitting the astounding total of over two million.

Waring was the first maestro to record a Gershwin tune. He also recorded the music of Frederick Loewe before the latter started work on the score of "My Fair Lady."

Waring likes to play to live audiences and has visited American concertgoers in everything from one night stands to long-running Broadway engagements. He once starred in New York's Roxy Theater for six months. His current cross country jaunt with "Let Freedom Sing" will take him to more than 100 cities.

He starred in the first big musical of the talkie era, a picture titled "The Signpost." He was in TV during the experimental days of 1939 and in 1949, with a sponsor, made some of the finest contributions the medium has known. These productions included "Alice in Wonderland," "The Emperor's New Clothes," "Tom Sawyer" and "Grandma's Thanksgiving."

His Greensboro appearance is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at War Memorial Auditorium.

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
North Carolina State Board of Public Welfare

In North Carolina and across the nation public welfare agencies provide financial assistance to persons eligible for old age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

The last named program—aid to the permanently and totally disabled — is for needy persons between the ages of 18 and 66 who are physically or mentally unable to work. These persons must be making their home in this State; must not be inmates of a public institution; and must be in need because they do not have the essential requirements of daily living such as food, clothing, shelter, and other necessary items.

A typical case—that of Luther, a sawmill helper — shows how aid to the permanently and totally disabled has made it possible for a man and his wife to have the necessities of life when he has been incapacitated.

Luther had always worked hard and had been employed by the same man for a number of years as a sawmill helper. Last year he fell on an icy sidewalk and broke a leg. The fracture was complicated by the fact that he did not receive medical attention for several days after the accident. Except for this injury he is a strong, healthy man, but is unable to work. He was in the hospital for 20 days and for nine months the leg was in a cast. He is unable to do anything except hobble around on crutches and the doctor believes it will be a long time before he can work.

Luther's wife, untrained unskilled, and mentally slow, tried desperately to get work but was unable to secure employment. They live alone in a small apartment. With no income and no prospect of work for either of them, the situation became increasingly difficult. When a caseworker from the county department of public welfare visited them, the electric current had been cut out, which meant that the stove and refrigerator would not operate, and there were no lights. Luther's outlook was a gloomy one. The doctor had told him not to worry, but he and his wife were faced with hospital and doctor bills, creditors pushing them for payments on the modest furniture they were buying, and no money to buy food, pay rent or keep the utilities in operation.

This is just one of the many cases which have been helped through aid to the permanently and totally disabled. Fortunately, this man may be able to work in time. Until then, the monthly grant he is receiving, although insufficient to pay his bills and take care of all his needs, will certainly tide him and his wife over a most difficult situation.

A leaflet explaining the program of aid to the permanently and totally disabled is available at your county department of public welfare or the State Board of Public Welfare Raleigh.

The Newspaper

... All things to all men . . . and by all taken for granted!

PICTURE YOUR TOWN WITHOUT A NEWSPAPER

Downright compulsive, isn't it, this consuming curiosity about what's going on around town?

No, you're not nosy — just curious. You believe, that most of your public servants are honest . . . that your police and courts are free from corruption . . . that the politicians aren't plotting to steal the city hall.

And then you try to picture your town without a newspaper.

Dimly, you recall something that Thomas Jefferson once said: "Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter."

Nonsense! That was long ago: It's different now. This is the electronic age. What with split atoms, split stocks and split second jet-way-of-living, we now have all sorts of checker-uppers on our civic goings-on.

But have we? Let's take inventory.

Whatever wonders and wizardries communication offers today one thing remains the same: THE HEART OF THE FREE PRESS IS STILL THE GOOD REPORTER. And the good newspaper — its PRINTED WORDS DOCUMENTING human happenings — IS STILL THE INITIAL INSTRUMENT IN THE PROTECTION OF RIGHTS AND LIBERTIES THROUGHOUT THE LAND.

The fact is plain. And it's reiterated in the record: Almost every day some American newspaper — ranging in size from the mighty metropolitan daily to the small town weekly — is acclaimed for its constructive efforts in helping to build a better community . . . or for its vigilance in searching out and snuffing out corruption, tyranny and injustice.

In this service, traditionally — yes, and INIMITABLY — the newspaper is still supreme.

So, if you will keep on taking your free press for granted. But—if you value your freedom—don't let anything or anybody take your newspaper away from you.

Mrs. Emma Brown 100th Birthday Anniversary

By GORDON TOMLINSON

One hundred years ago the youngest of a large family was born to James Nathaniel and Margaret Cuthrell Brock. This was Mrs. Emma Louise Brown. The place of birth was in the old Brock home on the Farmington-Huntsville Road, one mile north of where she now lives in Farmington.

Mrs. Brown, probably Davie County's oldest citizen, celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary last Thursday. Sitting in her favorite rocking chair, wearing a corsage given her by the Farmington Masonic Lodge, she enjoyed birthday with her two daughters, Miss Kate Brown and Miss Margaret Brown. Cards and flowers came to her from her friends from all sections of the state and Washington, D. C. Neighbors and friends of the community dropped in to see her.

The home in which she now lives in front of the Baptist Church in Farmington was new when she moved into it a few months after her marriage on September 23, 1886 to Richard C. Brown of the Huntsville section of Yadkin County. Into this home was born four children, two of whom died in infancy. The other two, Misses Kate and Margaret Brown, now live in the home with their mother.

While her immediate family is small, her nieces, nephews and cousins, down to the fifth generation, are legion. These are scattered throughout the United States.

The old Brock home where she was born no longer stands, but she is pleased that on almost the same site a new home is being built by a great-nephew, James M. Brock, son of State Senator and Mrs. B. C. Brock, and great-grandson of Mrs. Brown's father.

Except for a year spent with a brother near Marshalltown, Iowa when she a girl, and a few winters spent with her two daughters in Washington, D. C. after her husband's death in 1938, all of her life has been lived in Farmington. Prior to the last few years, she was active in church and community affairs in this community.

In her early youth she attended, with her family, the old Olive Branch Church near Farmington, out of which grew the present Farmington Methodist Church of which she is now the only living charter member. The church was chartered in 1881.

She is a great grand daughter of Nathaniel Brock, a Revolutionary War Veteran, who came from Frances Anne County, Virginia to North Carolina and settled in Davie County (then a part of Rowan) during the latter part of the 18th century.

One of Mrs. Brown's earliest outstanding memories is of the Civil War when Yankee soldiers came through and took from her father's farm whatever they could find, including all the horses and guns. Some of the guns were destroys along with much other property. Five of her brothers, one of whom never returned, fought with the Confederate Army.

During most of her one-hundred years, she has enjoyed good health. Her farm-wife chores never got her down and no job seemed too big for her to tackle—from painting the house to climbing out on the roof, even in her late eighties, to clean out the gutters.

When 85-years-old, she took her first airplane trip from Washington, D. C. to Winston-Salem without batting an eyelash.

At the age of 93, she fell and broke a hip and a wrist. As a result of this she was hospitalized for the first time in her life for a period of two weeks. However, after nine weeks she was beginning to walk again and she has no further trouble from that source.

Mrs. Brown is remarkably free from the aches and pains that come to so many with age. By and large the years have been good to her, but recent ones have taken their toll—dimming her vision—dulling her hearing—and blurring her memories. However, she is seldom depressed or unhappy that she can no longer be an active part of things as she once was. She is grateful that she can live out her days in the old house that has been her home for seventy-five years—where all her children were born and where two of them died—And that she can sit on the porch or in the yard on summer days and whistle back to the Bob-Whites that call from the nearby weed patches and hedgerows.

And she is most grateful to the host of relatives and friends, both old and young, near and far, who remember her in so many nice ways.

Terry Spencer Hears Ivan Dornon In Lecture

Terry Spencer, a Pfeiffer Junior this week heard Ivan Dornon in a lecture, discuss the broader aspects of current social movements in Japan, the tensions in East Asia and the place of the Church in that situation. Dornon, a missionary to Japan, addressed Spencer's class on The Sociology of Religion as a part of a planned program of activities, during a two day visit to the Pfeiffer campus.

Dornon for five years was director of the Student Christian Center at Sendai University in Japan, is a 1950 graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College and holder of a B.D. degree from the Yale Divinity School. He is highly regarded as an observer of Japanese life with a special sensitivity to the progress and direction of the Christian movement in Japan.

While on the Pfeiffer campus, he addressed members of the Junior and Senior classes in a special chapel program and appeared in five different classes for lectures and discussion. Dr. Roger Kusche, Director of Religious Life at the college, noted this was a part of the college's program of bringing students in contact with individuals having a special knowledge of current affairs.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Spencer, 1149 Oak Street, Mocksville. Spencer is a Mathematics major. He is a 1959 graduate of Davie County High School.

Rep. Alexander Favors Curbing Textile Imports

Congressman Alexander appeared today, along with the United States House of Representatives Textile Group, of which he is a member, before the United States Tariff Commission in an effort to help curb textile imports which are eating up American jobs. The Tariff Commission is holding hearings on a proposal calling for an 8½ cents per pound fee or tariff on the cotton content of textile imports. The fee would be roughly equivalent to the difference in prices paid for domestic cotton by American manufacturers and that paid by Foreign Mills for the same cotton.

Congressman Alexander said: "I believe that an import fee on cotton products entering this country equivalent to the raw cotton export subsidy should be promptly imposed. Imports of cotton yarn, cloth, apparel, and other products are now clearly at levels which are rendering ineffective and materially interfering with the Government's cotton programs and which are substantially reducing the amount of products processed in the United States from cotton."

He further stated that in the year 1960 the cotton equivalent of cotton textile imports amounted to over one-half million bales and is currently in the neighborhood of 400,000 bales per year. In other words, there is now coming into this country in manufactured form every month more cotton than the total amount set by this Commission of upland types and picker lap for a full year. "Clearly, quick action is needed," the Congressman said.

Mr. Alexander said that he believed the views of his Committee were well received by the officials of the Tariff Commission. He expressed the hope that the facts brought out by his Group would convince the Tariff Commission of the absolute necessity of shrinking the competitive advantage that foreign goods now have on the store shelves of our Nation.

Mr. Alexander reiterated his strong determination to do everything in his power to prevent the excessive importation of textiles that were destroying the jobs of America.

A dish supper will be served. All CUBS and their families are urged to attend.

BASKETBALL AND GRADES

Many people find it difficult to reconcile academic achievement with athletic ability. That is to say, many look upon the athletes in our high schools as those with not "too much on the ball" so to speak in their studies. This not at all true.

At the present time the Davie County High School has a girl's basketball team that is leading the North Piedmont Conference with 9 wins and no losses. The Rebelettes are three full games in front of their nearest rival.

There are sixteen girls on the squad that is posting this remarkable record on the basketball court—and these sixteen girls are also posting quite a record scholastically speaking, too.

During the first semester these sixteen girls made a total of 55 A's; 19 B's; 4 C's; no D's; and only 2 F's. Quite a record for any group of sixteen girls, regardless of whether they are playing basketball or not.

Of the sixteen girls there are seven straight A students and there are five making only A's and B's. In other words, 92.5% of all the grades made by the sixteen girls on the Davie County Girl's Basketball team are no lower than B's, with 68.8% being A's.

This is quite a record as students and they are also compiling quite a record as a basketball team this year having won 13 games and lost only 2.

The future also looks very bright for the Rebelettes as their are only two seniors on this sixteen girl squad; 3 juniors; 4 sophomores; and 7 freshmen.

Of the seven straight A students, five are Freshmen and two are Juniors. The Juniors are Jane Smith and Mary Burchette. The Freshmen are: Angela Andrews, Sharon Cope, Pat Davis, Dorothy Seaford, Jane Seaford. Those making all A's and B's include: Kathy Grimes, Hilda Harpe, Jo Lewis, Linda Schalndensky, Nancy Sheek. Those making A's, B's and C's, include: Patsy Carter, Patsy Deadmon, Glenda Shelton and Christine Smith.

CASH FARM INCOME

How does North Carolina agriculture stand, farm income-wise, in relation to the rest of the nation?

Fourth in cash receipts from crops; fourth in poultry; 19th in livestock; 11th in total receipts.

These statistics were noted by Wayne Corpening of Winston-Salem, vice president and agricultural manager of Wachovia Bank, at the recent tenth annual Farm Press, Radio and Television Institute at North Carolina State College.

"In the past ten years, the state's farm cash receipts have risen from $816 million to $1.2 billion a year," said Corpening.

Livestock income doubled in the decade—from $160 million to $320 million, he said.

"But we can't be satisfied with that," he added. "Our packing plants are operating at only 70 per cent of capacity."

There's potential for $40 million more in business a year in meat processing, he said.

"If we produced all the meat we eat, we'd have about $222 million more income a year to agriculture," he noted.

Corpening noted that 77 per cent of all manufacturing and 82 per cent of all payroll in the state are connected with some phase of agriculture.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Thursday, February 22, is the birthday of the man that is known as "The Father of Our Country"—George Washington.

George Washington might have lived and died on the wrong side of the Atlantic if an English ship had not gone aground in the Potomac River in the 1650's.

Serving as mate on the ship, reports World Book Encyclopedia, was John Washington, great-grandfather of George. By the time the ship was repaired, he had decided to marry and settle in Virginia. Washington had little money when he arrived in America. But within 20 years he owned more than 5,000 acres of land, including the land that later became Mount Vernon.

The ancestral home of the Washingtons in England was Sulgrave Manor, in Northamptonshire. In 1914 the British government bought the house to celebrate 100 years of peace between Britain and the United States.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Two hundred and thirty years ago, a man was born in Virginia who was to leave his imprint so fixed on this nation that the eyes of the world turn to America inevitably on his birthday. If there were no other reason to remember his name, that of our country's capital, which has in so many ways also become the capital of the world, would be a constant, vivid reminder of this shining patriot who stands above all other Americans in several ways. Not only did he leave his home, probably the finest in the new nation, to fight for his country and win, but he led the United States in its infancy as its first Chief Executive, without precedent, upward and on to a high plateau.

The name of George Washington is naturally associated with the American Revolution. Not long ago, the historian, Arnold Toynbee said, "In the course of not quite two centuries, the American Revolution has become world wide. The shot fired in April, 1775, has been heard around the world with a vengeance. It has waked up the whole human race. The Revolution is proceeding on a world-wide scale today, and a revolutionary world leadership is what is now needed." By this I take it that Toynbee means the world needs a dedication to the democratic but sensible ideals of Washington, which were to take advantage of privileges, then there would not be much need to worry about rights.

We know little of the boyhood of Washington, this phase of his coming to us mainly through imaginative story of Parson Weems about his cutting down the cherry tree. Some years ago, cynical historians announced with alic that this story itself was not true. They missed the real point of the story—that whether literally true or not, it is symbolic of can do for our country, rather than what it can do for us?

I like what Samuel Flagg Bemis, president of the American Historical Association, said not long ago in answer to some critics of Washington, who were trying to lower him to their own low horizons: "George Washington remains above attempts to pull him down to hillcock size—who else could have done what he did for his country? Let us, in our research, writing and teaching, look at his policy as a whole. It embodied nothing less than the winning of independence, establishment of the national government and the territorial integrity of the United States, and finally the proclamation of a basic foreign policy that stood the nation in good stead for over a century. He still stands in American history like Pike's Peak in the front range of the Rocky Mountains, towering serenely above the minor peaks that shroud him right and left."

Never it is believed, have we ever needed so much to be thankful for George Washington, his achievements, his ideals, his nurturing of our first armed forces and our infant government. Let us think of him who, in so many valuable ways of wisdom and foresight, thought of us.

I see a happy future . . .

THE POISONOUS TIDE

THE DATES—Important dates for North Carolina office-holders who plan to run for election for another term—that is, as Gov. Gregg Cherry used to say, "make the sacrifice" are March 16 and April 13.

If you want to run for Congress, you must file by March 16. This is the date for State and District offices. After that date, it is too late.

Now men and women wanting to run for the other offices—county offices, the Legislature—have until Friday, April 13, to make up their minds. Being an old black-cat and under-ladder-avoider, we do hope each and every one will file before the final date.

Who and what determines final filing date? It's by law—and is based on date of the Primary, the last Saturday in May—the 26th. Friday before the 10th Saturday, before May 26 is the date for State and District offices—and Friday before the sixth Saturday before May 26 is the county date—including the Legislature. So, beware, everyone!

EASIER—We had been through it all before—but just for the fun of it we called last week four candidates for office and asked them what controls the final date for filing.

They didn't know—and three of them were not certain how long opponents have to file against them. Interesting. One of them said it is easier to run than to "keep up with all those dates." Sometimes.

CUTS BOTH WAYS—Old politicians say there is an advantage for an oldtimer to file early—for it discourages the weak-nerved. On the other hand—citizens who have not run for office before are advised to study first the field before taking the plunge. Avoid possible embarrassment.

Example: A year or so ago four old-time members of a certain City Council not too far from here let the word get out that they were tired of the office, would not run again.

Ambitious candidates—all newcomers—started bouncing like blind dogs in a meathouse. What happened. Three of the four who had decided not to run were "persuaded"—all sorts of arm-twisting—to run again—at the last minute. Some of the youngsters were so soundly and roundly beaten—and embarrassed, they may never run for office again.

But, looking at the other side of the coin, few candidates make it the first time-around.

MILK AND NOTHING—Two of the hottest men in the two parties this February are: Robert Kennedy, red-headed, 36-year-old brother of Mr. Big and now ringing-em-up-and-bustin-em in the Orient—and lantern-jawed and like-able Republican and Rambling George Romney, a leader in the Church of Latter Day Saints who has just announced for Governor of Michigan.

Feature articles on the two which filled the press last week showed they have a lot in common—among them, being—and we quote:

"Kennedy, whose favorite beverage is a glass of milk chilled precisely 15 minutes in a freezer—Romney—neither smokes, drinks [not even coffee or tea] and who gives 10% of his annual income—$250,000 last year—to his church..."

Well, if this be the criterion [sobriety] the odds are against either of them being President:

1. Intimates swore that FDR was at his charming best after one or two Old Fashioneds; 2. Harry Truman was in Sam Rayburn's office "striking a blow for liberty" when FDR's passing made him president; 3. Our Ike is said to have had a leaning to bourbon-and-branch water while in the White House. P. S. Otherwise, R. Kennedy and G. Romney look like Presidential timber.

HOME AGAIN—Speaking of Rambler, I am reminded of Claud and Susie Blevins of the Abshers section of Wilkes County—and who look after our little house in the hills in the used-to-be Lomax community.

Claud, like hundreds of others in that lovely Brushy country, works in N. Wilkesboro—10 hours daily these days—and carries a load of workers with him—to and fro. Last week he made a trade—and as Susie told it:

"He left here a rambling and come back in a galloping."

Translation: He wanted a bigger car—one more passenger—so he swapped in his old Rambler for a brand new Galaxie.

ABOUT BREWER—The news we get from Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. is that Kidd Brewer had "stumbled onto a good thing"—by luck—and was making good money—at least from the 3M—as a manufacturer's agent—when he went too far...

They apparently sincerely believe that no crime was committed in Brewer's relationship with their firm. About income tax, etc., of course, they have no knowledge and no opinion. But, on a business outlook, trouble for Brewer began when he began making payments to Burch—and right there is where the Governor found solid ground—in firing Burch, it is thought. Sanford has not backtracked one inch in his action. Bold.

Just a lot of questions remain unanswered:

The word directly from Brewer's room at Duke Hospital is that he shows no improvement—It may well be that the public will never have from Kidd Brewer the when's, where's, why's and what's of the riddle.

Friends said last week the Burch indictments "are not helping Kidd any at all". Asked how he knows about them, they said: "He has ways of finding out!"

DAVIE COUNTY ENTERPRISE-RECORD Published Every Thursday At Mocksville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Bowman Publishers

Gordon Tomlinson, Editor

Entered at the Post Office at Mocksville, N. C., as Second Class Matter Under Act of Congress of March 8, 1879.

Variety Vacationlanders don't have to travel far during the winter months to enjoy the luxury of a Spring vacation in New England village type surroundings. Sounds rather odd? Well, perhaps, but the statement is, nevertheless, factual. For in the near central portion of North Carolina is an area of glorious sun shine and normally moderate temperature. And here are villages with the flavor of a New England painting.

These villages are far enough removed from the seacoast to be free of dampness and far enough from the mountains to the west to escape the chill bite of winter. The sandy soil, a sea bottom perhaps a million or so years ago, readily absorbs moisture and thus provides a low humidity. Add it all together and you have the villages of Pinehurst and Southaven Pines in the famous Sandhills region.

Pinehurst was created in 1895 to serve as a holiday resort and nothing more. Its New England appearance is something more than coincidence. It was the brainchild of James Walker Tufts of Boston who had been most impressed with the winter climate. He purchased thousands of acres of then cut-over pine woods and engaged the services of the great landscape architect, Frederick Law Olmstead to build a restful community for people of moderate circumstances. Execution of the plans resulted in the planting of over 200,000 trees and shrubs, many of them of a foreign variety, adjacent to the roads and paths.

Just down the road from Pinehurst, and similar in appearance, is Southern Pines. Today both are little villages with big reputations. One is impressed with the many cottage-style home and numerous hotels, sheltered from the wind by long-leaved pines, oaks, huge magnolias, bright-berried hollies, dogwood and shrubbery, to the point that some are barely visible. Here the tourist can revel in many hours of pleasant, relaxed driving, amidst some of the prettiest scenery Variety Vacationland affords.

What else does this area offer besides pleasant viewing? Well, in citing a few major attractions, I will mention the world-renowned hotels, the championship golf courses, spirited riding horses, fox hunts, horse shows, trotting races, tennis, skeet shooting, fishing, picnicking, trolley rides, handicrafts, card parties, forum meetings, plays, dancing, night clubs and restaurants.

Undoubtedly a primary attraction to the golfing enthusiasts are the eight courses that were designed by the late, famed Donald Ross. Each wanders through the rolling long-leaf pine country, yet each is distinctive in character and pleasing to novice and expert alike. An additional ingredient for the success of these courses is the sandy soil which assure a dry surface immediately after rain. This area is the scene of the Annual North and South Men's and Women's Open Amateur Championship Tournaments and the North and South Men's and Women's Senior's Tournament.

Southern Pines offers tourists exhibitions of some of the best cross-country riding in the East, while, Pinehurst quarters nearly three hundred trotters and pacers, many of them famous, in winter training under some of the country's best-known trainers. Field trials for bird dogs and trap shooting are conducted weekly. And for the rider, there are excellent stables and more than a hundred miles of trails through the pine woods, where the needle-covered sandy paths afford horses excellent footing.

The less active tourist will enjoy himself thoroughly, even though he seldom leaves the general premises of one of the hotels. Varied entertainment is available at most and the cuisine is generally superb. In addition, visitors and villagers mix freely, providing an atmosphere of easy, relaxed informality.

If you've been here, I know you're planning to return. If you haven't, the Sandhills beckons and promises a highly-satisfying winter respite. One word of caution—while driving over and returning—drive safely so that you may be assured of future visits to Variety Vacationland's wonderful Sandhills region.

Frogs with built-in parachutes glide from tree to tree in certain parts of Africa and southern Asia. Equipped with membranes between their toes, spread rigidly to give buoyancy, the rare amphibians can jump 50 feet.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night for a few minutes, said he couldn't stay long on account of his church was putting on a hot dog sale and he was Chairman of the Mustard Committee.

The good Parson allowed as how he wasn't agin eating but it was gitting so's you couldn't hold the weekly prayer meeting without serving hot coffee and doughnuts. At his church, for instance, he claims it takes more time and members to run the kitchen in the basement than it does to run the Lord's business upstairs. He told the fellers a week never went by but what the Kitchen Committee was putting on a barbecue supper or a chicken dinner and some weeks both.

This hot dog sale they was putting on Saturday night, he said, was somepun new and if it went pritty good he wouldn't be surprised to see 'em announce the next one on the church bulletin board out in front of the building, right under the topic for his next sermon.

And, claimed the Parson, the end ain't in sight. Just last week, he reported, some of the members was making plans to put in ping-pong table in the basement and rig up a place to play horse-shoes and softball out on the lawn. He was predicting that the time was coming when the members was going to have to make up their mind whether they was running a church or a Y.M.C.A., and whether they wanted the emphasis put on the Good Book or on hot dogs and ping-pong.

But taking everything all in all, the Parson reported, he'd had a pritty good week, only two little matters coming up for major consideration. One of the members got in the hospital and it was three days afore he went to see her. The reason he was so late gitting there, he said, was because none of the members told him she was sick. But some of the congregation was a mighty disturbed about it, he reported.

The second item, he told the fellers, was a little more tricky. The income tax folks was checking on one of his good members and he come to the Parson and ask him to sign a statement, verifying the figger on how much he had give to the church last year. This member don't use no envelopes, is one of them put-it-in-loose members, he said, and the figger he wanted signed was pritty high.

The good Parson left without saying whether he signed it or not, and to speak frank, Mister Editor, none of the fellers had heart to ask him.

Yours truly, Uncle Dan

Theme: It's Important to Know We Don't Know

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Strength lies in knowing and admitting our weaknesses" - Eff Thomas.

The story is told of a man who dashed into his wife's bedroom absolutely livid with anger, shouting:

"Miserable one! I know everything!"

"Don't exaggerate so," wife remarked calmly. "When was Jamestown settled?"

Knowing things is very important to all of us. However, chief among the things to know is what we do not know. There is nothing that will assist us more through life than to know our weaknesses. If we know them and guard against them, failure will have a difficult time reaching us. When we do not know our weaknesses or arrogantly pretend that we do not have any, we are most vulnerable.

When we know and admit we are weak in certain areas; when we recognize our limitations in certain directions, we develop extra strength to shield ourselves. We then concentrate our energies on those things which we can do best. Every person has weaknesses and strengths. Blessed is he who knows them. There is no knowledge that will help you more.

Senator SAM ERVIN

Says:

WASHINGTON — Legislative action slowed down to routine business during the traditional Lincoln Day recess. However, a routine day in the Senate saw 17 bills and one resolution introduced, two judicial nominations confirmed, and a bill to abolish mandatory death sentences in certain cases in the District of Columbia debated. A number of important Congressional hearings are under way. The Senate Committee on Government Operations has been holding hearings on the proposal to create a Department of Urban Affairs and Housing. The Senate's Special Preparedness Subcommittee continues its hearings on military cold war education and censorship of military speeches. The Committee on Foreign Relations is holding hearings on S. 2768 which authorizes the United States to purchase United Nations bonds and the appropriation of funds therefor. The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee has begun its hearings on postal rate increases. The Symington Special Subcommittee will soon be conducting hearings on stockpiling materials for national defense. Hearings are under way by the Constitutional Rights Subcommittee on the rights of military personnel.

Postal Revenue-Bill

Postal rates on mail for many years have been subsidized by the taxpayers who have been paying for large postal deficits. The House has approved a bill which provides for increases in postal revenues to meet this annual deficit. I believe it is imperative for Congress to take action in this field at this session. I think that the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee will bring to the Senate a bill at this session which will attempt to equitably distribute necessary postal rate increases.

U. N. Bond Proposal

The task of making a decision as to whether or not I should vote for the proposal that the United States purchase United Nations bonds to the extent of $100 million has not been an easy one. When the proposal was first made, I was tempted to oppose it in order to express my disapproval of some of the actions of the United Nations. Since that time, however, I have given most serious consideration to the proposal and have reached the conclusion that responsible action on my part obliges me to vote for it. The United Nations is the only association of nations pledged to the task of preserving peace. We cannot afford to permit it to die for lack of financial sustenance. The President, who has access to sources of information far beyond those available to most of us, has expressed the opinion that there is a grave possibility that the United Nations will cease to exist if the United States does not purchase its bonds and thus encourage other nations to do likewise. Despite its imperfections, it is conceivable that the United Nations may eventually prove itself to be the road to a peaceful world. I am not willing to block a possible route to mankind's most cherished hope.

Social Security In Davie County

Ministers have an important decision to make by April 15, 1962, if they want social security coverage. That is the final date for filing a waiver certificate to elect coverage if they have not already done so. Election of coverage will provide insurance benefits for you and your dependents in event of retirement, disability, or death.

If a minister files a waiver certificate by April 15, 1962, he will receive coverage for 1960 and 1961 providing he has at least $400 net earnings from his profession. There is no coverage for those who have less than $400 net earnings.

Ask Internal Revenue Service for Form 2031 (Waiver Certificate to Elect Social Security Coverage). This opportunity is open to all ministers, rabbis, priests, and Christian Science practitioners ordained, licensed, or commissioned to practice their calling, and to those members of religious orders who have not taken the vow of poverty. When completed all copies of Form 3031 must be filed with Director of Internal Revenue.

For further information contact your social security office and ask for Pamphlet OASI-33J.

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

CHEVROLET IMPALA Room, refinement and riding comfort. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan.
CORVAIR MONZA Sports Car
spice without a sports car price. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe.
CHEVY II NOVA The frisky family-sized Chevrolet with a low, low price tag. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving sporty, with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering, sure-footed traction? Then a Corvaire Monza's for you.
Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering (new easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs, for example) that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence.
But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. Then there's nothing like a Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Makes paying more pointless.
