Nominations Now Being Accepted—

ASC Nominee Deadline August 19

Farmers are being reminded that slates of nominees for membership on ASC community committees soon will be established at the ASCS County Office. And a special effort is being made to secure the greatest possible participation of eligible voters in the election.

J. N. Smoot, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today that farmers who are eligible to vote in the committee elections also have the right to nominate as candidates for committee membership any farmer who is eligible and willing to serve. Such petitions, signed by six or more eligible voters, may be filed at the County Office any time before Aug. 19.

Additional nominations may be made by the incumbent ASC community and county committees.

"We want the best men available to serve on our ASC committees," Chairman Smoot declared, "because the committee system is the backbone of farm programs — those dealing with conservation of soil and water, as well as the price support activities in various commodities. In the last couple of years, the farmer-elected committee system unique in the history of agriculture, has come under considerable scrutiny. As a result of intensive study by official groups, the system is not only being retained, but has been greatly strengthened."

Here in Davie County, Mr. Smoot pointed out, the impact of ASC committee-administered programs on the welfare of individual farmers, and collectively on the life of the county, is considerable. For instance, last year 94,016 acres of farmland were improved under the Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing arrangement. This cost, $55,325, with about half coming from the participating farmer, the balance from ACP.

"So you can see that ASC committees in Davie County are in effect board members of a big 'business,' the Chairman continued. "This points up the urgency in getting out the greatest possible percentage of farmers in community elections, so that the committees they select will more nearly represent the thinking of a majority of farmers."

A "farmer eligible to vote in the committee elections," according to the Chairman, is generally a farmer who is taking part or is eligible to take part in one or more of the national farm programs which the ASC committee helps to administer. A person eligible to hold office as a committee member — among other qualifications — is a local resident who is eligible to vote in the election. Further information on these and other qualifications may be obtained from the ASCS county office.

The election of ASC Community committees throughout Davie County will be held by mail Sept. 1 through Sept. 11. Community ASC boundaries in this county are as follows: North and South Calhoun, Clarksville, North and South Farmington, West Farmington, Fulton, Jerusalem, Mocksville, and Shady Grove.

Each community election will choose three community committee members and two alternates. The chairman, vice chairman, and regular member of the elected ASC community committee will also serve respectively as delegate, alternate delegate, and second alternate delegate to the county convention to be held soon thereafter, where the ASC county committee will be chosen.

Two Cars Collide As Brakes Applied

Two cars collided around 12:45 a.m. Saturday on U. S. 153, one mile east of Mocksville.

S. 153 and saw something run out in front of his car and applied his brakes. Fletcher Lee Ferber, 19, operating a 1959 Chevrolet, coming behind Saffley, also applied his brakes and skidded into the rear of the '64 Chevrolet.

Both cars were carrying several occupants. There were no injuries. Ferber was charged with following too closely.

Two Cars Collide On Narrow Rural Road

A narrow road contributed to a collision of two cars around 4:15 p.m. Sunday. The accident occurred on Rural Road 1434, two miles southwest of Farmington.

The collision involved a 1963 Oldsmobile operated by Alonzo Richmond West, Jr., 47, of Winston-Salem and a 1954 Chevrolet operated by Betty Jean Eaton of Mocksville, Rt. 5. State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that his investigation showed that the car operated by West was going south on this rural road and the car operated by Betty Jean Eaton was going north. As the two cars met on the narrow road, West swerved to the right to avoid collision but the rear of his vehicle was occupying over half of the roadway and was struck by the Eaton car. Patrolman Beane said that the road was very narrow at this point and there was no shoulder.

There were no injuries. Damage to the Oldsmobile was estimated at $125 and to the Chevrolet, $50. There were no charges.

Walker's Shop-Rite Sets Grand Opening

Walker's Shop - Rite Super Market, remodeled and enlarged, will begin their grand opening celebration on Thursday of this week.

During this grand opening celebration this store will give away 100 food baskets plus 30,000 Top Value Stamps. To be eligible for these prizes all one has to do is come in and register. The winning numbers will be posted on the windows following the drawings on August 8th, 15th and 22nd.

The new building represents quite a bit of growth and progress in the grocery business for Bill Walker and father, Frank Walker.

In October, 1946, Bill Walker returned from World War II and went into the grocery business with his father. The father and son combination began their business in an old store building that was formerly operated as a little grocery store and service station by the late Bob Walker. They stayed in this building for one year and then built a unit, beside this store measuring 28-ft. x 30-ft. in size.

By 1955 they had outgrown their quarters and this building was remodeled and enlarged into one that measured 60-ft. by 70-ft.

Early this spring this building was remodeled and enlarged into the modern and spacious store it is today. This was done by bringing the building out 32 feet to the sidewalk and taking in a 12-foot driveway on the side. The building today measures 101-ft. x 72-ft.

A new glass front was put in and both the outside and inside redecorated. The new building features a glasswall front with alternating colors of light blue and white. The old Bob Walker store building was removed to make room for a paved parking lot that can accommodate around 70 cars. A new entrance and exit from Avon Street was made, making the lot available off either Wilkesboro or Avon Streets.

The new store features large walk-in produce coolers; a frozen food storage area; new automatic checkouts. The shelf space in the store was more than doubled.

"As of now we are not going into self service in the meat department," said Mr. Walker. We will continue to give the special individual cut service on our meats."

With the enlarging and remodeling of the store, Walker's Super Market joined in the Shop-Rite organization for purchasing and advertising purposes. This Shop-Rite organization is composed of ten stores in Davie and Forsyth counties . . . all of whom feature the same specials and prices each week.

All of these stores are members of the Grocery Supply Co-op.

Bill Walker said that he would like to thank the many people who offered suggestions that helped so much in the remodeling and enlarging this store.

"We want them to feel that this is their store . . . that they are a part of it," said Mr. Walker.

"Also, we the people at Walker's Shop-Rite would like to express our thanks to all our customers for being so patient and loyal during our remodeling. We hope that the new additions will help us to serve you better in the future," said Mr. Walker.

Bill Walker serves as store manager. Frank Walker is manager of the meat department. Others associated with the store include: Bailey Walker, Mrs. Betty Daniel, Mrs. Brenda Nance, Obie Ratts, Chuck Walker, Neal Walker, Kenneth Allison and Ronald Stewart.

The store will be open six days a week from 7:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., except Friday when they will be open to 8 p. m.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that the Corvair and a 1964 Ford, operated by Lucille Ward Hanes, 44, of Advance, Rt. 1, met on the narrow dirt road and collided almost head-on.

Mr. Hanes, accompanied by other top officials of the company, was the featured speaker at the noon program and discussed the new plant on NC 801 and the apparel and textile industries.

Mr. Hanes told the Rotarians that the new plant in Davie County was a new direction for his company.

"Wearing apparel changes during the past few years have called more and more for narrow elastic fabric. This we have been buying, but now in the Davie plant we will start making our own . . . making for an entire new program in our operation," said Mr. Hanes.

Mr. Hanes told the Rotarians that the new plant was of unique construction . . . pre-cast brick construction . . . the first of its kind in North Carolina.

Mr. Hanes praised Mocksville and Davie County saying:

"Davie County and Mocksville possess the ingredients and leadership for encouraging new industry to move into the area I hope you will always make it a qualitative development, however, and not let it become just a mean jungle."

The Northwest Development Association also came in for praise from Mr. Hanes and he pointed out that the P. H. Hanes Knitting Co. had moved into three counties covered by this association. Mr. Hanes is a director of the Northwest Development Association.

Find the strength for your life...

Does it seem to you sometimes that the world has gotten so crowded and complex that you just don't count at all in the grand scheme of things? It's not uncommon, that feeling. We feel helpless . . . unable to alter or even really to understand ourselves and the world we live in.

Faith is missing—and because of that, spiritual strength is.

But faith and spiritual strength can be found, nourished. Then they grow within you through regular worship. This week go to your church or synagogue. Start to build a fuller, more meaningful life. Cherish your faith and keep it strong so that it may strengthen you.

Gasoline Used For Farming Purposes—

Farmers Not Claiming Tax Refund

Many farmers are reported not taking advantage of a refund on the federal and state taxes on gasoline.

The refund may be claimed on all gasoline used for farming purposes between July 1, 1963 and June 30, 1964. The federal government will return four cents on the gallon and the state six cents.

Gasoline is treated as used for farming purposes if used by the owner, tenant or operator of a farm in connection with soil cultivation and raising or harvesting an agricultural or horticultural commodity, shearing, feeding, caring for, training, and management of livestock, bees, poultry and fur-bearing animals and wildlife.

Refunds are also allowable on gasoline used for handling, drying, packing, grading or storing any agricultural commodity, or cultivating, caring for or cutting of trees on the farm, for market or not.

Refunds are not allowable on gasoline used on the highway; in personal processing, packaging, freezing or canning of garden goods or meat products for home consumption; on the farm of another person even though used for farming purposes, or for any other personal or non-farming purposes.

Federal refund claim forms are available from the office of the county farm agent in the County Office Building. State forms are available by writing the Gasoline Tax Division, State Department of Revenue, Raleigh.

Claims must be filed on or before September 30, 1964.

New N. C. Commissioner of Agriculture—

Jim Graham Has Interest In Davie

"You know how I feel about Davie County since mother is a native of there and Helen lived there also" . . . thus wrote North Carolina's new Commissioner of Agriculture on the bottom of a letter last week.

James A. Graham, a 43-year-old native of neighboring Cleveland in Rowan County, was appointed last week as state commissioner of agriculture. His appointment was made by Governor Terry Sanford to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine.

Mr. Graham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Graham of Cleveland. Mrs. Graham is the former Laura Allen of the Bethlehem Section of Davie County. His wife is the former Helen Ida Kirk, daughter of the well-known Baptist Minister, Kirk that lived in Mocksville and served many churches of Davie County.

Jim Graham is steeped in Northwest North Carolina agricultural experience and in the words of Governor Sanford "has dedicated his life to the agriculture of North Carolina. He brings this highly important position a comprehensive knowledge of and a wealth of experience in farming".

"He is acquainted firsthand with both the problems and the potentials of the farms of our state. Farmers and citizens of towns across North Carolina have highly recommended his appointment. I am certain that Jim Graham will carry on the diligent work of the office of Commissioner of Agriculture which was so well exemplified under Commissioners L. Y. Ballentine, David S. Coltrane, and Kerr Scott", said Governor Sanford.

Graham has served as general manager of the Farmers Market since 1956. From 1948 to 1956 he served as secretary of the North Carolina Hereford Cattle Breeders Assn. He was manager of the Winston-Salem Fair and Dixie Classic Livestock Show from 1952 to 1954.

Graham was organizer and superintendent of the Upper Mountain Research Farm at Laurel Springs, in Ashe and Alleghany Counties, from 1946 to 1952. He taught vocational agriculture in Iredell county from 1942 to 1946.

He is a member of the State Grange and the North Carolina Farm Bureau and is a former member of the Farm Bureau's Marketing Committee.

A past president of the National Association of Produce Market Managers, Graham was awarded that organization's highest honor this year when he was named Market of the Year.

He is a member of the North Carolina Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers Association and is secretary-treasurer of the N. C. Branch of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. He was in charge of the Beef Cattle and Sheep Division of the Livestock Department at the N. C. State Fair from 1946 to 1952.

Graham owns and operates his own livestock farm in Rowan County

Graham was educated at Cleveland High School and earned his degree in Agricultural Education at N. C. State College in 1942.

He is vice chairman of the Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church of Raleigh. He is former president of the Bible Class and directed the budget drive and expansion program of that church in 1959 and in 1961.

He is vice president of the Wake County Chapter the N. C. State Alumni Assn. and is a member of the Robert Lee Doughton Memorial Commission.

He is a Mason and is a member of the Scotch Ireland Lodge 154 in Cleveland. He is vice president of the Raleigh Kiwanis Club, a member of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the YMCA.

With this background we feel that Mr. Graham is qualified to keep the program of North Carolina Department of Agriculture the best in the nation. We also feel that Davie County will be no stranger to Mr. Graham . . . as his ties almost make him a native son.

BIG JIM . . . The man eats, breathes, and sleeps politics. It isn't unusual for him to buy a half-dozen of the State's big Sunday papers "just to keep up with things."

He will put something of the bluish of youth—without the bluish—in a rapidly aging Council of State. Jim Graham, the new Agriculture Commissioner, is a mountain of a man who looks, walks and talks like a Texan. He can chew and spit as well as Kerr Scott ever did.

His daddy told me the day he was sworn in that he brought Jim to Raleigh "when the boy was not more than 10 or 11 years old." After a little visit with William A. Graham, Jim blurted out to his father that some day he meant to be "Agriculture Commissioner of this here State."

Almost every day from that day forward—and certainly for the past 20 years—Jim Graham had a burning, gnawing yearning to be Commissioner of Agriculture. Governor? No, not interested. Senator? No!

"I want to be Agriculture Commissioner, man! I want that, and nothing but that," Jim would say to almost anybody who would listen.

Had he not been blessed with just a lot of common, horse sense and a knowledge of, and respect for, the late L. Y. Ballentine's savvy and political sense, Graham would have opposed him in the Democratic Primary this year. We wanted to—in the worst way—for he felt he had done what he came to do as head of the Farmers' Market, a division of the N. C. Department of Agriculture. He had developed it into one of the very best in the land.

His ambitions there had long ago been pretty well fulfilled, and like a young yearling in May-time, he dreamed of greener pastures. Graham was all set to become agribusiness man with one of the State's big banks along in the tall had not Commissioner Ballentine's death opened the door for him.

No kin is he to Major W. A. Graham, who was Commissioner of Agriculture from 1908 to 1923, nor to the major's son, W. A., whom Gov. Cameron Morrison appointed to the place immediately upon the death of the major. They were from Lincoln County—Iron Station to be exact—and Big Jim is from Rowan County.

Incidentally, one of the reasons W. Kerr Scott ran against W. A. Graham in 1936 was that Graham's father had once beaten Scott's father, Bob Scott, for Agriculture Commissioner. We were wrong here last week when we said the job pays $15,000. The salary is $18,000 per annum, or some $8,000 more than Jim Graham received as Farmers Market head.

Had Mrs. Graham liked mountain farming a little more—she is also from Rowan—Jim might today still be superintendent of the Upper Mountain Test Farm at Laurel Springs. He went there from a job as agriculture teacher in Iredell County, loved it, became a close personal and life-long friend and admirer of Congressman Bob Doughton, who lived just a mile or two down the road.

Graham can't talk five minutes now without quoting something—usually hard-dry-solid-oak sense, from the late Mr. Doughton.

Ke knows cattle; he knows fairs; he knows politics; and, like Kerr Scott, he is a Personality. We predict that the N. C. Agriculture Department will see New Force under Jim Graham. L. Y. Ballentine had intense loyalty up and down the line in the department. But so will Jim Graham, because there are so many fine employees in it. Graham, however, will be more picturesque, more farmerish, more earthy than his predecessor.

Jim Graham should have long and pleasant years as Agriculture Commissioner. He loves people—and they love him. So well will he fill the place that within three or four years one will wonder how the old farm got along so well for so many years without Jim at the helm.

DEAD WOOD . . . The Democrats feel they have the stuff to defeat Barry Goldwater in North Carolina, civil rights or no, and guns are being loaded.

They say, and look for it soon, they have proof that GOP Candidate Goldwater is firmly against crop controls, etc., of any kind. Well, if you recall, there was a wave of panic in the State when President Eisenhower took office—but his liberal tendencies saved our tobacco program. Democrats say Goldwater makes Ike look like a left-winger!

You may shortly find that Dan Moore is really the Tobacco Man . . . when he starts after Barry Goldwater on that one. No holds barred!

STRANGE FATE . . . It is interesting to note that:

Both Lincoln and Kennedy were most concerned with Civil Rights issues. Lincoln was elected President in 1860 and Kennedy in 1960. Both were slain on Friday, and each in the presence of his wife.

Their successors, both named Johnson, were Southern Democrats, and previously served in the U. S. Senate. Andrew Johnson was born here in 1808. Lyndon Johnson was born in 1908.

John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Lincoln, was born in 1839, and Lee Harvey Oswald was born in 1939. Both Booth and Oswald were Southerners, both favoring unpopular causes.

Both Booth and Oswald were murdered before their trials could be arranged.

Both Presidents lost children through death while they were living in the White House. Both were shot in the head.

John F. Kennedy had a secretary named Lincoln; Abraham Lincoln had a secretary named Kennedy.

The troubles which Johnson inherited from Lincoln 100 years ago prevented his getting a full term as President. Will history, as in the foregoing, repeat itself once more? Only time will tell.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I have wrote to my Congressman and ask him to git them two Government agencies that was confering at the summit on chicken soup to put another item on the agenda.

It used to be a feller could git a pair of pants he could pull off with his shoes on without no trouble. But the pants makers has got together and figgered if you can sell chicken soup without no chicken you can sell pants without no cloth. And it looks like the disease is spreading. Hat brims was getting slimmer and slimmer and some stores was now selling shoe strings fer neck ties.

The legs on the last pair of pants I bought fits me tight and snug like my winter underwear. If a feller's ankle got swole up during the day he'd just have to keep his pants on for the duration. Farthermore, they don't allow no margin at the waist fer eating a good meal. I take off mine like I take off my boots, git my old lady to back up and hold on to the cuffs while I pull agin her and gravity. She says she aims to put zippers from the knee to cuff on my next pair. It could be, Mister Editor, the zipper folks was behind this save-the-cloth conspiracy.

I was reading in the papers here a while back where this television feller Jackie Gleason was amongst the best dressed men in show business. It's his pant that does it. If you'll note on his next program, his pants tappers off about even from his stummick to his ankles and he's got enough cloth there to make him look pretty good.

But they was always the danger, of course, that the Congress might overdo it and use this Gleason feller for a model. They ain't everybody that needs much cloth, and you will recollect the old saying that an elephant is a mouse made to Government specifications.

I bring this item up at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle said he couldn't speak with no authority on the subject, allowed as how the price of pants had got so high under the Democrats he ain't bought a pair since Ike moved to Gettysburg.

Zeke Grubb reported he didn't have no pants problems on account of him not wearing nothing but overalls. And he was of the opinion that the Congress has got so fond of the 40-cent dollar they ain't going to investigate the pants makers for the larceny of a little cloth. Farthermore, he allowed, between Bobby Baker and them lobby fellers, everybody in Washington was violating the 10 Commandments and the Constitution in a manner that has got both Moses and Jefferson turning over in their graves.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — In a little more than two weeks the Democratic National Convention will open in Atlantic City. The Convention opening date of August 24 has become a target for Congressional adjournment. Legislative action is running on a tight schedule to meet the deadline. Lawmakers are anxious to complete legislative affairs that began with the opening of the 88th Congress on January 9, 1963. The first session, it will be remembered, was the longest since 1950 when the Korean War broke out.

A Congress which opened in the aftermath of the Cuban missile crisis, battled over the test ban treaty, was stunned by the Presidential assassination, and has struggled with tax, farm, and civil rights legislation finds the country now engrossed in new problems and new concerns. As a result, the drive to windup the legislative session has gained momentum in recent days.

The time limit is an imposing one. As last week ended, the Senate had passed four of the twelve major appropriations bills which are "musts" before adjournment. Money bills for the Legislative, Interior, Treasury, and Defense requests have had Senate action. The other eight money bills were in various stages of action in the Senate. The often controversial Foreign Aid request was still undergoing hearings. Most of the other appropriation measures were in the "markup" stage or ready for committee report.

An adjournment hurdle could lie in the proposed amendment to old hospital care for the aged to the House-passed bill to increase by 5% the benefits to social security pensioners. Any serious consideration of this amendment would probably run into much opposition in the Senate Finance Committee as well as on the Senate floor. The fact that the House would have to reconsider any bill with this controversial amendment demonstrates the magnitude of the problem which such an amendment would involve.

Enactment of appropriation measures and the less controversial priority measures in the next two and a half weeks could set the stage for adjournment. This Congress has already had a considerable share of major legislative battles. The question of adjournment now depends on the diverse factors of time, the mood of the Congress and the Nation, and the relative consideration of controversial legislation would produce if the President and Congressional leadership should decide to keep Congress in session beyond August 24.

In my judgment, it would be wise for Congress to complete action on the appropriation bills and any other "must" legislation and adjourn. A fresh start and a new mandate from the people are needed to clarify many of the issues now confronting the nation.

60 Second Sermons

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Justice is the great interest of man on earth" - Daniel Webster.

As the guest departed, the hotel clerk commented,

"I hope you liked your stay, sir."
"Well," replied the guest, "the bed was too hard, the price was too high, the food was lousy, the service slow, but in justice to the hotel I must say your ice water was cold."

Lack of justice causes all conflicts between men or nations. The feeling of injustice, real or imagined, is required before man will contend in court or in battle. That is why nations propagandize their citizens. In spite of absolute disregard for property, human life, spiritual values or moral codes, even the most depraved war-maker wraps his vicious, selfish motives in the robes of affronted justice.

But how can the unknowing decide which man or cause is just? There is a simple answer. It has been restated all through history by many including Aristotle, Confucius, Seneca and the ancient Babylonian Talmud, but is better known as written in St. Matthew 7:12 - "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them." The men or nations that adhere to the Golden Rule believes in justice. They deserve our support. Test them with it.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill

Congress has built up a head of steam increasing chances for an earlier adjournment than was thought possible a few weeks ago. Long lists of bills are on the House schedule and the Senate is moving with unaccustomed dispatch. This week, for instance, 23 public bills and 42 proposals for the benefit of private individuals are being considered. Among these are bills to increase pay for members of the Armed Forces, changes in the Securities Exchange Act, and the much-publicized poverty legislation being urged by President Johnson.

SOCIAL SECURITY RAISES
Last week, the bill to amend the Social Security program was passed by the House. This legislation was discussed in this column several weeks ago. Several questions, however, has arisen in letters from home since that time. The bill, as passed by the House, contains a 5% increase in benefits which is intended to make up for most of the 7% increase in the cost of living since the last raise in Social Security payments. Additional benefits for widows, dependent children, and farmers were provided with optional coverage offered firemen and policemen for the first time. The bill also increases the amount of income taxable for Social Security purposes to open the way for increased benefits for those who retire in the future. The new rates to be based on the increased tax are not available to those who are already retired. As passed by the House, the bill also does not increase the $1200 limitation on outside income which has been a source of discussion for some time.

Social Security proposals are essentially tax bills and, as such, are debated in the House under rules that allow no changes in the legislation as written by the Ways and Means Committee. The Committee did not include the controversial medical care for the aged in the legislation. However, the bill now goes to the Senate where a major debate on the medicare issue seems to be shaping up.

WILDERNESS BILL
For many years, those interested in conserving the natural resources of the country have advocated a new law to preserve wilderness battle has been going on in Congress for 8 years over what provisions this law should contain. Last week, the battle drew toward a close when the House passed compromise legislation by a vote of 373 to 1.

There are 14 1/2 million acres of public lands in the United States in our national parks and forests which have been set aside to be preserved in their wild state. Only 26,455 acres of such land is located west of the Mississippi. However, North Carolina has the largest tract of this territory with over 21,000 acres in our State.

The American wilderness has dwindled with the onslaught of civilization and the plant and wild life it includes has disappeared from most of the country. This is a loss of a previous natural resources for our future generations which cannot be renewed. Our population will expand from 190 million people to 300 million in the next 35 years and the prospects for retaining wilderness areas are dim unless some orderly procedures are provided.

The bill passed last week establishes such procedures and meets most of the objections that had hung up the passage of the bill for so long. It provides for hunting and fishing uses which will remain under State jurisdiction. It also allows for the prospecting for minerals during the next 25 years and such grazing in these areas as has already been established. Congress retains jurisdiction over the program and no bureaus or additional funds are required. Now the bill must be resolved with a somewhat different version already passed by the Senate.

BEEF IMPORTS
Since January 1963, the income of U. S. meat producers has dropped 20% at the same time heavy meat imports have been flowing into the country. The problem has become acute, particularly in the case of beef producers.

Efforts to cut back the increase in imports have been strongly opposed by the White House. In the Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction in the House over bills regulating imports, consideration of the problem has been limited to discussion with the Secretary of Agriculture who argues against legislation to establish import quotas. The issue has suddenly been brought to life by a Senate amendment of a minor bill to set, by law, meat import quotas based on average annual imports between 1959-1963. An evering has now begun to prevent House acceptance of the bill. The fight behind the scenes goes on for what will surely be a major effort to save American farmers from further losses of income.

Food Processing Industry Must Have Dependable Supply Of Raw Products

Food processing has a place in the economy of North Carolina but it is not a "get-rich-quick" scheme that can be built on surpluses from the fresh fruit and vegetable market.

This word of caution comes from Dr. George L. Capel, in charge of extension marketing work at North Carolina State.

Dr. Capel points out that many groups in North Carolina have been examining the role of processing in the agricultural development of the state. Most of this interest centers around the processing of fruits and vegetables, especially the canning or freezing of vegetables, since North Carolina already has a well developed industry for processing poultry, dairy and livestock products.

Capel described the various food processing industries, such as vegetable canning, meat packing and poultry processing, as "highly competitive, low margin industries."

Within these industries some firms are doing well, he said. Others are failing.

"New firms must begin with efficient, low-cost operations," he said. "And they must have the financial reserves needed until the products of the firm find acceptance in the market."

Capel also discussed raw products for processing industries, such as vegetable canning, meat packing and fruits and vegetables often has wide swings in prices.

Some people regard these fluctuations as part of the risks that must be taken with the production of specialized crops. Others see the occasional market glut as a real opportunity for a processing industry.

Capel stressed, however, that a successful processing plant cannot be built on left-overs from the fresh market. It must get full use of the facilities available, and to do this, it must have a dependable supply of raw products. "The mere existence of a processing facility does not guarantee farm output," the marketing expert stated. "Numerous examples in North Carolina illustrate this point. Meat packers could use more local hogs. Most vegetable canners need more raw products."

Capel said successful processing industries are found where raw product supplies are guaranteed. In most parts of the United States where food processing has flourished, there exist some definite barriers between processing and fresh markets.

Where such devices are not present, Capel says, the processing market engages in a constant, and unhealthy, struggle with the fresh market for supplies.

The barriers which determine whether farm products will flow into either the fresh or processing market may be either economic or legal.

Economic barriers exist when the product is isolated by distance or time from the fresh market. Legal barriers exist in a number of ways. One is a marketing agreement which limits supplies going to the fresh market. Another is for the firms to have a legal claim on an adequate share of the raw product to maintain itself on a profitable basis. A contract with a producer would be an example of this type of barrier.

In some cases not even this type of barrier is adequate, however, and many firms must go into farm production to be assured of ample raw products.

In conclusion, Capel believes processing fits into the agricultural picture in North Carolina to the extent that it can stand independently with its own sources of supply definitely committed to it in sufficient volume to be efficient. It does not fit as a place to dispose of occasional market gluts which threaten fresh market prices.

Social Security In Davie County

During the month of June more than 100 persons made application for retirement benefits at the Salisbury social security office, according to Taft McCoy, field representative for Davie County. "But this doesn't mean," he explained, "that all these persons have stepped working. Many are continuing to work in regular jobs, in part-time jobs, or in new jobs."

"It's possible," McCoy said, "to work and receive social security benefits at the same time — it depends on the person's age and earnings." One example of this is the worker who is 72 years old. At this age social security payments are made regardless of earnings. But the individual must still file an application — benefits are not paid automatically. This is one of the reasons the social security people have been promoting the idea of "Inquire Before You Retire." In fact, McCoy pointed out, social security has prepared a free booklet to explain the details of retirement and social security. The name of the booklet is, "If You Work While You Get Social Security Payments." It tells how social security works, why you don't have to retire completely to get payments, the earnings limits, the age limits, and other pertinent factors. The Salisbury office has a supply of these booklets, and anyone may get one by writing or calling the office and asking for Booklet 23. There's no charge for this valuable booklet.

TOBACCO BROWN SPOT

Brown spot is a fungus disease that affects tobacco leaves and produces large, brown, circular, dead lesions - usually will concentric rings or markings inside the dead area. The disease usually does not appear in the field until after mid-season. It frequently develops on the tips and margins of the lower leaves and these approaching maturity. The fungus often attacks portions of leaves damaged earlier by dry weather or by some other leaf spot, especially if potash nutrition is low. In normal seasons, when occasional dry periods tend to check leaf diseases, the scattered infections on these damaged or mature leaves are not serious. But during prolonged wet weather, following a period of interrupted growth brought about by drought or a severe root disease, the fungus may attack healthy, immature leaves and cause much damage. Many spots on a leaf tend to run together, causing the leaf to dry up and shed. Brown spot may continue to develop in the barn, at low temperatures. Brown spot, like many other tobacco diseases, the fungus may attack healthy, immature leaves and cause much damage. Many spots on a leaf tend to run together, causing the leaf to dry up and shed. Brown spot may continue to develop in the barn, at low temperatures.

Brown spot, like many other tobacco diseases, can be controlled or prevented by using a rotation system and destroying tobacco stalks immediately harvest.

Tobacco Mosaic

Common tobacco mosaic is a virus disease which causes intermingled, yellow-green mottling of the foliage, especially young leaves. In addition, the bud leaves are sometimes twisted or otherwise malformed while the nearly mature leaves occasionally show large, irregular, dead or burned areas. However, it is not characteristic of mosaic to kill the foliage - instead, the leaves remain somewhat stunted and mottled. Once a plant is infected, the virus spreads to all parts of the growing plant, and produces mottling in all of the new leaves. Early field infections greatly stunt growth, reduce yield, and lower leaf quality. If a plant does not become diseased until mid-season, only the top leaves show symptoms, while those already present are not damaged. If infection does not take place until after full size is reached, mosaic symptoms appear only on the sucker growth. In these cases the infections cause minor injury to the current season's crop. The virus can readily be spread when workers or machinery touch a diseased then a healthy leaf, especially in moist, cool, or cloudy weather. In the plant bed it is usually spread by someone who uses cigarettes or snuff when pulling or setting plants, as the virus can remain infectious for many years in dried tobacco leaves and other plant parts.

This disease can usually be controlled by using the milk treatment. The milk treatment refers to either spraying young tobacco plants on the plant bed, just before pulling, with milk, or making sure that workers wash their hands at regular intervals while pulling plants.

Livestock Opportunities

By: B. G. Westbrook
Assoc. Agricultural Extension Agent
Cattle prices are the lowest now that they have been in several years. This, of course, makes it very hard for farmers producing beef to make a profit. This is a time, however, that offers them some opportunities that they have not had in several years. For instance, this looks as if it will be a good year to buy replacement heifers for the breeding or the cow-calf herds. It also would be a good year for livestock men to expand their herd by keeping heifers, because they will sell for considerably less this year than have in the past years. Therefore, it may cost less to expand or increase the herd this year.

Good beef bulls probably can be bought for less this year too. Whether we like it or not, beef prices usually have some effect on the price of good breeding animals. Therefore, beef farmers may be able to buy a good bull for less money now.

This situation also offers people that own land that thought about going into the beef business a good opportunity. They can get into the beef business cheaper now than any time in the last seven or eight years.

This is certainly the time for beef cattle producers to use the very best management that they know such as culling out less profitable cows and replacing them with good heifers.

BOWLING NEWS

The Mocksville Moose Lodge bowling team divided four points with the Cheerwine Bottling Co. of Statesville last week, winning the first two games, but dropping the last game and total pins. This leaves the local team with a record of ten wins and ten losses, good for third place in the Men's Summer Industrial League, which bowls each Tuesday night at Bowler's Club Lanes in Statesville.

Leading the pin-busting for the Moose team was Edwin Cox, who rolled a 223 game and a 561 series. Harry "Jitterbug" Arnold was close behind with a 193 game and 536 series.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Joe Smith and his wife and two children came to New York recently and were surprised. They came of course to see the fair but since they had never been to this metropolis, much of their visit was devoted to seeing the city itself.

At a corner, stand, I bought a package of peanuts and was reminded of what genial Al Dickson of Wilmington, North Carolina, told me about the origin of this delightful libbit. In fact, an interesting book, "The Peanut Story" by F. Roy Johnson, has been written about it. On the plantation where Al now lives, there began the giant peanut industry of the United States, pioneered by Nicholas N. Nixon who originated effective modes of planting, cultivating and harvesting the hitherto little-understood legume.

A tired-looking man dragged himself through his front door and slumped into a chair. His wife asked him if he had had a busy day at the office. "Terrible," he sighed. "The computer broke down in the middle of the afternoon and we all had to think."

When I was a young reporter, our wise old editor asked us not to write about any person as being "old." His explanation was that most people do not consider themselves old at any age and would feel offended if so described.

IT'S THE

84th Annual Masonic Picnic

. . . BUT IT'S OUR FIRST

As a new business in this community we take great pride and pleasure in joining with the Masonic Lodges of Davie County . . . and the citizens of this area . . . in supporting this worthwhile endeavor. It was the latter part of August, 1963, when we opened our store in Mocksville — so this will be our first participation in the MASONIC PICNIC EVENT. We appreciate the friendship and patronage that the people of Davie County have shown us—and we pledge ourselves to full cooperation in all worthwhile community endeavors . . . which certainly includes the great event of August 13th

First Picnic Held At The Shoals On June 24, 1877

Owned and Operated By The Masons of North Carolina—

Oxford Orphanage, Oldest in the State

Oxford Orphanage is the oldest orphanage in North Carolina and the second oldest Masonic Institution in America.

During the era between the unique Masonic persecution and the War Between the States, the Masonic Fraternity turned its attention to worthy philanthropy.

The movement for the promotion of a Masonic College was begun in 1838. The purpose was to establish a Masonic Seminary for the education of children attached to the Masonic Fraternity.

Each year, 1838-1851, the consideration of a "Seminary of Learning" consumed its share of attention of the Grand Lodge.

In 1843, E. H. Hicks decided to the trustees of St. John's College a tract of land containing 109 acres or the price of $4,480.

On June 24th, 1855, the cornerstone was laid with Masonic Grand Honors by Most Worshipful Brother Clement H. Jordan of Roxboro.

The doors of the college were opened July 13, 1856, with Professor Ashbel G. Brown in charge and James Campbell as assistant.

The civil strike between the North and South caused the suspension of many of our Southern Schools.

At the close of the War Between the States, John H. Mills made arrangements to remove the Female School he was conducting into the college building.

During the years of reconstruction, when it seemed impossible to reestablish a school in St. John's College building, the Grand Lodge sought means of disposal of the property.

One resolution was introduced that the property be sold; but a substitution motion by John H. Mills that "The St. John's College be made into an asylum for the protection, training, and education of indigent orphan children" was adopted.

On Feb. 1873 an old battered wagon drove up to the front of the St. John's College building and Robert L. and Nancy Parrish, and Isabella Roberston of Grandville County became the first to be taken into the orphanage.

From a little acorn a great oak tree does grow. The idea of Masonic Charity struggling for 35 years to take root, sprang up in the life of Oxford-Orphanage.

For 90 years the Masons of North Carolina have applied Masonic love to the lives of children upon the basis of the child's need, without any regard to the Masonic relationship of the child.

The orphanage depends upon voluntary gifts to maintain its program. No assessment has ever been made against any Mason or Lodge in North Carolina for the support of the program at the Oxford Orphanage.

The affairs of the institution are administered by a board of Directors composed of nine members. Five are elected annually by the Grand Lodge three are appointed by the Governor and the Grand Master is the ex-officio chairman.

In immediate charge of the administration and supervision of the orphanage are Supt. A. D. Leon Gray; as assistant superintendent E. A. Regan.

The orphanage campus is located on 400 acres of rolling land within the City of Oxford. The land, buildings and equipment is valued at $1,688,877.14.

The grounds are beautifully landscaped. The main campus is completely sheltered by giant oak trees and liberally appointed shrubs, flowers, small trees, encompassed within well-kept lawns.

The buildings are colonial type fire resistant brick structures, well spaced and adequately insured.

Children between the ages of six and 12 sound of mind and body, are admitted to the orphanage student body without respect to any Masonic affiliation.

At the present time the orphanage has a capacity of 322 children, with less than six percent coming from Masonic families. The children are admitted from anywhere within the State of North Carolina.

The annual budget of the Oxford Orphanage is now over $300,000. During the past ten years the average cost per child has been $866.37 per year.

This budget is met through the following agencies: Voluntary gifts 43% Oxford Orphanage Endowment Fund 15% Grand Lodge

Dinner Served At 1 O'Clock

The famed picnic dinner will be spread this year around 1 p. m. immediately after the morning program.

As in the past, the dinner will feature the best food available. There will be fried chicken, fried country ham, all types of sandwiches, cake, pies, etc.

Roy Harris, chairman of the Basket Committee, says that preparations are being made to take care of the largest number of baskets in the picnic's history.

Mr. Harris on behalf of the Masons, urged that all those who can possibly do so bring a basket to the picnic this year.

"We have built up a reputation with this dinner and it serves as one of the major attractions to the picnic. This has been made possible by the cooperation of the women of the country in preparing food and bringing it to the picnic.

From the minutes of the Lodge for March 21, 1884, contain the following item: "On motion of Brother H. B. Howard, the Lodge voted to have a Picnic this year about the usual time, the day to be set by the committee of arrangements.

You are respectfully invited to attend the SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL

Masonic Picnic

REUNION OF CONFEDERATE

SOLDIERS, "CLEMENT GROVE,"

MOCKSVILLE, N. C.,

THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1895.

Lawn Party at Night.

Mocksville, N. C., July 23d, 1896

Dear Friend:

The Eighteenth Annual Masonic Picnic will be held at "Clement Grove," Thursday, August 13th, 1896. You are respectfully invited to attend. Thanking you for your kindness in the past, the Committee again ask that you bring a basket and give its contents to them for the table. An immense crowd will be present and we urge upon every one the importance of having the table bountifully supplied.

Please help us.

Sincerely,

- Will B. Coley, H. C. Robertson, C. F. Bahnsen, W. B. Ellis, W. L. Sanford, C. C. Robertson, Committee

Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134 had been established in Mocksville for more than 25 years when the Masonic Picnic first started.

In the 1870's there were not many places of amusements. During the summer the three Sunday Schools of the Village would join forces and spend a day of picnicing at the "Shoals"; where Coolesme is now located.

One of one these "picnicing" occasions, it was suggested by John H. Stewart that the money left over from purchasing refreshments be sent to the Oxford Orphanage. A few years prior to this the old St. John's College at Oxford, which had been built to educate Masons' daughters, was in debt and had to be sold.

The minutes of the Mocksville Lodge, dated April 20, 1877, reads: "Brothers H. B. Howard, W. A. Clement and Thos. B. Bailey were appointed a committee to receive and prepare homes for Bro. J. H. Mills and the orphans who were to give an entertainment in Mocksville on the 11th day of May next.

The record also states that the Committee on the Orphan Asylum was directed to request the ministers of the three churches take up a collection for the Oxford Orphanage on the 24th of June, a date specially celebrated in Masonic circles.

Again under the date of November 16, 1877 there is another plea to the ministers to speak to their congregations in behalf of the Orphanage and to take up a collection for it.

A. A. Harbin made the motion that it be suggested to the officers of the various churches that they erect boxes in the church to receive contributions for the aid of the Asylum.

Phillip Hanes made a motion that the Lodge to be paid monthly for "procure a book and solicit subscriptions from each member of the lodge to be paid monthly for the orphan cause."

In August of 1878 a picnic was held at "The Shoals" and the hat collection taken amounted to $35. The minutes for June 20, 1879, records that "on motion it was carried that we have a picnic on or about the middle of July for the benefit of the Orphans at Oxford, and the following committee of arrangements was appointed to arrange the picnic at the Shoals or some other place . . . John H. Stewart, J. M. Howard, A. A. Harbin, P. Hanes and W. A. Clement."

At the Lodge meeting of July 18, 1879, the committee reported that they had invited a speaker for the picnic to be held at the Shoals. John H. Stewart was appointed to buy 25 or 30 aprons for the members to wear at the picnic. J. A. Kelly and E. H. Pass were appointed to take up the collection at the picnic, which amounted to $91.79, the date being July 23, 1879.

On April 16, 1880 it is record that the Worshipful Master appointed "A. Henly, W. A. Clement, and P. Hanes as a committee with the Orphan Asylum Committee to take such action in regard to the picnic as they may deem proper."

From the beginning one of the most enthusiastic workers for the picnic was Major William B. Clement. Major Clement, although not a Mason, gave his loyal support to this undertaking until his death.

After several years of holding the picnics at "The Shoals", they were moved to Mocksville in 1883 to a grove belonging to the heirs of John Clement.

The minutes of the Lodge for March 21, 1884, contain the following item: "On motion of Brother H. B. Howard, the Lodge voted to have a Picnic this year about the usual time, the day to be set by the committee of arrangements. The Worshipful Master proceeded to appoint the following brethren as a Committee of Arrangements: J. A. Kelly, Chairman; Rev. W. C. Wilson, J. M. Howard, S. A. Woodruff, W. A. Clement, J. H. Stewart and Philip Hanes."

By 1885 ornate invitations were being mailed out with the one for this year reading: "Invitation to the Seventh Masonic Picnic, "Clement Grove", Mocksville, N. C. Thursday, August 13th, 1885. Addresses by Capt. Oct. Coke and Dr. B. F. Dixon. Exercises by a Chapter of Orphans. Signed by - W. A. Clement, W. T. Woodruff, W. K. Gibbs, C. F. Bahnsen, T. M. Monroe, Thos. Butler."

The amount raised for the orphans at the Picnic of 1885 was $263. For many years at Clement Grove the only building on the grounds was a small wooden platform where the speakers and orphans were seated. The crowds sat on benches without backs and there was no roof except the drooping branches of the oak trees.

The speakers in the early days were usually the superintendent of the Orphanage and some other high officials in the Masonic circles. Around 1892 the first excursion train was run from Winston to the Masonic Picnic. This proved very successful as the receipts that year jumped to $662.95.

The Picnic of August 10, 1894 was also reported as a great success. Supt. Lawrence and a class of orphans were present, and it was reported that an excursion, "loaded down with humanity", was run from Winston and the speakers were Major Duncan of South Carolina, and C. F. McKesson of Morganton. The "Review of Confederate Soldiers" was held in conjunction with the picnic then.

By 1897 it was recognized that this Picnic was destined to be an annual affair and the Lodge decided to purchase the grounds at Clement Grove, which were so ideally located for this purpose. Five acres, more or less, were purchased from Herbert Clement, one of the heirs of John Clement, in January 1897.

More Committees By 1898 it became necessary to have a much larger committee of arrangements, whereas in former years there had been from three to six men to arrange for the picnic. In 1898, eighteen men were named to committees as follows: Committee of Arrangements, T. B. Bailey, J. Stewart, J. A. Kelly, R. C. Brown and J. W. Jones; Gates and Grounds, W. T. Woodruff, W. A. Owen, W. C. Denny and B. L. Hopkins; Refreshments, W. A. Clement, S. A. Jarvis, and V. E. Swalm; Tables, S. A. Woodruff, C. F. Bahnsen and J. A. Current; Homes, P. M. Bailey, H. E. Robertson, and W. L. Sanford.

In 1899 a spacious arbor was built on the Picnic Grounds. This arbor had a high raised platform for the speakers, orphans and band. This arbor remained in use until it burned a few years ago.

By the early 1900's the crowds were increasing and the fame of the Picnic had spread far beyond the borders of the state. It had now become an annual "homecoming day" for former citizens of Mocksville and Davie County. Improvements were made to the grounds which included the erection of a pavilion over the dinner tables where the women of Davie County set forth their delicious food in the now "famed picnic dinner".

Watermelon sales and baseball games were also outstanding features of the early picnics. Later the carnival atmosphere was added with a midway of merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and the accompanying added attractions.

IT'S PART OF A PLAN...

It isn't often that a group or event grows in spite of itself. More often it is the result of a lot of planning and hard work!

That's the way it has been with the MASONIC PICNIC. In 1876 a group of public-spirited Masons got together and took stock of needs ... made some plans and went to work. Since that time the ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC has been growing and is rapidly becoming one of the biggest events of the State.

- But the plan is not complete—this event will continue to grow because of the enthusiasm and determination that transformed early plans into reality!

Train Hits Car At RR Crossing

Three teen-agers pushed in vain Monday afternoon but could not move their stalled car from the railroad crossing and "OLD No. 22", northbound did the job for them . . . but with considerable damage to the car.

The 1963 Chevrolet, operated by Brantley York, of Mocksville Rt. 2, was deemed damaged $500 worth by State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods who investigated the accident. Patrolman Woods said that York told him that he, along with two passengers, stopped at the Bethel Church Road Railroad Crossing. The motor quit and York put the automatic gear into neutral in the effort to restart it. While trying to restart the engine, the car rolled down a slight incline onto the railroad tracks. Unsuccessful in starting the car and hearing the train coming, York and his two passengers got out and tried to pull and push it back across the tracks . . . but with no success. The northbound train, operated by engineer R. E. Christopher, 73, of Asheville, hit the front end of the car which was across the tracks. Minor damage was done to the train.

Rotarians Are Told About State Budget

Mocksville Rotarians were told of some of the ways the North Carolina tax dollar is spent at their meeting Tuesday by a member of the Advisory Budget Commission.

State Senator James V. Johnston of Statesville told the Rotarians of his visits to various state institutions as a member of this commission and of the needs that could not be met. Senator Johnston spoke with preliminary preparation as he was called upon to do so by Dr. Ramey F. Kemp who was in charge of the program and found himself with scheduled speaker unable to attend. Senator Johnston, a member of the Statesville Rotary Club, was present as a guest in Mocksville to makeup his attendance.

Senator Johnston told the Rotarians of the steps in preparing the state budget and that only about 20% of the amount requested by the various agencies and institutions could be granted.

Pointing out that the state tax dollar expenditures brought results he cited that:

North Carolina was the one state in the USA with a reducing prison population.

That the welfare department had the lowest administrative cost per case of any state in the USA.

And other examples.

Senator Johnston was introduced by Dr. Ramey Kemp. President John E. Durham presided. Special guests included: Bill Outwaite of Lona Linda, California and Frank Larew.

Federal Farm Payments Now Coming Into Davie

Davie County farmers will be $68,924 richer this fall thanks to the federal feed grain program.

The money will go to wheat and feed grain farmers who are participating in this year's voluntary wheat and acreage diversion programs.

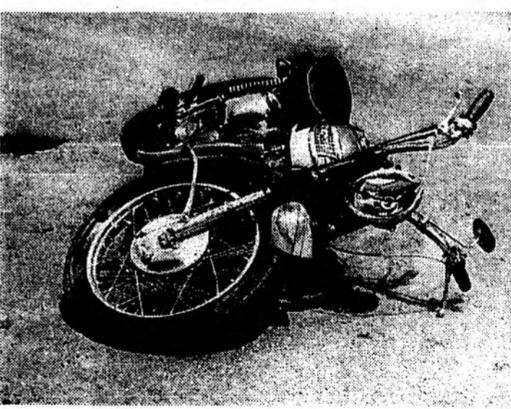

The wheat growers are provided federal payments designed to help maintain their income through price support on the crop.

Feed grain farmers receive payments for diverting acreage to grasses, legumes or idle land for a one-year period.

Payments to local wheat producers will total $33,020, with final payments of $35,001 going to feed grain farmers. Advance payments in the amount of $31,410 were made at the time farmers signed-up in the early spring.

A total of 236 farmers in Davie signed up to divert 2,060 acres of feed grain. In North Carolina more than 59,000 farmers signed up to divert over 645,000 acres of feed grains. Total payment in North Carolina will be approximately 20 million dollars.

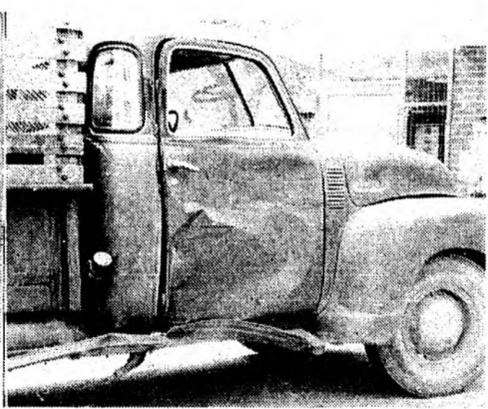

In addition to the diversion payments, each farmer participating in the 1964 feed grain program will be eligible for price support on his feed grains. The price support rate for critically injured when the motorcycle (above left) struck the right side of the pickup truck, shown above right. Campbell was thrown against the truck and received injuries of the head and chest. His partner, Robert Marvin Golms, also of Winston-Salem and riding behind Campbell on the motorcycle, suffered minor injuries. Joseph Franklin Spry, 70, of Mocksville, Route 4, was the driver of the pickup truck.

New Addition To Be Completed Within A Year—

Construction to Begin On Davie County Hospital

The G. L. Wilson Construction Company has been awarded the general construction contract for the new Davie Hospital addition and work on this new addition is expected to get underway within a week.

Paul Neil, Davie County Hospital Administrator, said Tuesday that the new addition and renovations are expected to be completed within 365 calendar days.

The Davie County Hospital Board of Trustees accepted the base bid of $330,000, plus alternates, for general construction by the G. L. Wilson Company.

The electrical contract was awarded to the Edman Electric Company of Winston-Salem. Their bid was $69,592.

The plumbing contract was awarded to the W. R. Proctor Plumbing Company of Raleigh with a bid of $51,700.

The contract for heating, ventilating and air conditioning went to the Atlantic Engineering Company with a bid of $82,800.

The North Carolina Medical Care Commission has approved a $473,760 federal and state grant towards the cost of a 29-bed addition to the Davie County Hospital. The total cost of the project is estimated at around $720,000.

The architects for the expansion of the hospital are Holloway and Reeves and Associates of Raleigh. The project will include the construction of a new 37-bed nursing unit to the south of the present building. This new nursing unit will join the present building at Room No. 113, thereby causing the loss of one existing bed.

A new surgical department will be constructed at the west end of the new addition and will be connected to the existing building by a new corridor at present room No. 133.

A new central supply department will be constructed at the west end of the new wing, adjacent to the new surgical suite.

The existing laboratory will be relocated in the old central supply room. The present recovery room will be modified to become EKG, BMR and Blood Bank.

The present main lobby will be extended approximately 14 feet to the east to provide additional visitor waiting area. Additional parking space will be paved.

There will be a conversion of existing four-bed ward and two-bed room to medical records and division of nursing office.

The present surgical area will be renovated into delivery rooms and obstetrical areas.

The existing laboratory or the x-ray department will be converted into film viewing room and office.

The dietary department will be expanded with the necessary addition to the kitchen equipment including a high-speed steamer to accommodate the increase in meals to be prepared. The kitchen area will be expanded to the west. There will also be an expansion of the existing storage area to the west.

Pickup Truck Overtakes In Sheffield Road Wreck

Bright lights from another vehicle caused the driver of a 1955 Chevrolet pickup to lose control of his vehicle on the Sheffield Road around 9:30 p. m., Monday night.

The pickup ran off the road and overturned about a mile and a half north of Sheffield.

Larry Davis Shoffner, 16, of Mocksville Rt. 1, was taken to the Davie County Hospital for examination.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that Shoffner told him that he was heading south on the Sheffield Road when he met a car with lights that blinded him. He ran off on the right shoulder, which was slick from rain, lost control, skidded across to the left side and overturned. As the car was overturning Shoffner was thrown out.

The pickup was a total loss.

Made-Rite Sandwich Truck Flip-Flops

It was flippety-flop for a Made-Rite Sandwich truck around 10:15 a.m. last Saturday morning on U.S. 64, one mile west of Fork. According to State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane it happened this way:

Joseph Daniel Rorner, Jr., of 4412 S. Main St., Winston-Salem, was operating a 1964 GMC truck owned by the Made-Rite Sandwich Company and was heading east on US 64. He pulled out to pass a pickup truck pulling a boat and met another vehicle head-on. Rorner applied brakes, skidded off the left shoulder of the road, hit a culvert and flipped over on it's top.

Rorner was taken to the Davie County Hospital, checked, treated and released. He was charged with improper passing.

Damage to the right side and top of the truck was estimated at $700.

Driver Charged After Intersection Collision

Two cars collided around 6:45 p. m. last Thursday at the intersection of US 601 and NC 801, 5-miles west of Farmington.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that Patsy Jean Ellis, 22, of Rt. 5, Johnson City, Tenn., was driving a 1964 Oldsmobile and was going south at a speed too fast for conditions and came upon another vehicle signaling a left turn. Miss Ellis applied brakes and skidded across to left hand side of roadway hitting a 1964 Dodge being operated by Ralph Conduff Linkous, 40, of Rt. 2, Shelby, who was going north on US 601. Patrolman Beane said that Linkous was intending to make a turn and drove out of way of collision when he saw that the Oldsmobile was not going to get stopped.

The damage to the Dodge was estimated at $200 and the damage to the Olds was estimated at $500.

Several members of the Linkous family, occupants of the Dodge, were slightly injured.

Two Die From Injuries Over Last Weekend—

Eastern Davie Is Toll Free To Winston-Salem—

Telephone Co-op Announces Rate Reduction

Toll free services between Winston-Salem and the eastern third of Davie County was established at 12:10 a.m. on July 19, 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson of the Bixby Community initiated service through the new dial office with a call to Mrs. Joyce R. Malone in Las Vegas, Nevada. The Robertsons have owned and operated the J. H. Robertson and Company General Merchandise Store for 50 years. The Advance telephone building is located on property purchased from Mr. Robertson.

W. J. McDonald, manager of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation said that adverse weather and slow cable delivery continues to delay the installation of new telephones in the Advance and Davie Exchanges. Existing subscribers are being transferred to buried cables with upgraded service as rapidly as the contractor completes his work.

Effective Aug. 1, 1964, the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation announced a rate reduction for Davie County rural subscribers on one, two and four party services. Subscribers in rural areas outside the base rate area have paid mileage charges at the rate of $2.40 per airline mile for one party service and $1.60 per mile for two party service. The new rates drop the mileage charges to 75¢ per mile for one party service and 38¢ per mile for two party service. A further substantial reduction results from expanding base rate area from one mile to 2½ miles from the exchange. Mileage charges will be computed from the nearest exchange to a subscriber even though service may be received from another area. Mileage charges have been removed from four-party service.

In the past, subscribers who were located within one mile of the exchanges have enjoyed a special rate for private and two party service, because no mileage charges were added to base rates. At the same time, members who are located in rural areas have paid excessively high rates, in cases amounting to $25 per month due to mileage charges. These rates have prevented rural people from being able to have one and two party service.

"High rates discourage new people and industry from locating in the cooperative's service areas. This rate adjustment is intended to apply the area coverage concept to rate making and the results will serve to further equalize rates exchange wide. The rate reduction is less revenue for the cooperative but the long range effects should be greater development of Davie County's rural areas. The rate reduction is consistent with Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation objectives to offer high quality area coverage telephone service at reasonable rates on a non-

Two Cars Collide In Wreck Near Mocksville

A car that had been flagged to a stop to await work on US 64 West was struck from behind by another vehicle around noon, Tuesday.

A 1962 Cadillac, operated by Paul Alvin Messner of Roseville, Michigan was stopped by a flagman near Dwigins Service Station where the State Highway Commission was working on the road. While he was stopped, his car was struck from behind by a 1959 Pontiac operated by William Guy Weatherman, 49, of Greensboro.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that Weatherman told him that he was heading west but did not see the caution signs that the Highway Department had posted. He passed a car and swung back into the right lane and hit the Cadillac in the rear.

Says who?

There's a lot of figure juggling being done today by people who are trying to prove that other systems can be as economical to operate as oil heat. But no matter how they play the numbers game, the fact remains that fuel oil provides the most economical home heating . . . as proven by cost comparison studies made by a registered professional engineer. So, do as the majority of heating contractors do. Heat your home with fuel oil. Unless, of course, you add two and two and get five.

Most Destructive Shade Tree Disease In United States—

Dutch Elm Disease May Be In Davie

The Dutch elm disease, unknown in the Americas before 1930, has become the most destructive shade tree disease in the United States.

It is now suspected that this Dutch Elm disease is beginning to strike this area of the state.

This dreaded Dutch Elm disease is caused by a fungus. It attacks both native and exotic species of elm.

Some elm species are much more seriously affected by the disease than others.

Dutch Elm disease is one of several vascular wilt diseases attacking elm, all of which produce symptoms that look very much alike.

At the present time that is no cure for a tree that is affected by this disease.

Dutch elm disease produces a wilting and yellowing or drying of foliage, usually followed immediately by defoliation and death of the affected branches.

Usually trees that become infected in the spring or summer die quickly.

All trees affected by this disease develop a brown discoloration in the water-conducting vessels of the wood.

Tobacco Is Still King in North Carolina

Another crop of North Carolina's famous "Golden Weed" is rolling to market on the Border Belt with other markets scheduled to open in the next few weeks.

Roy Bennett, extension tobacco specialist at North Carolina State, believes this is very a good time for North Carolinians to remind themselves of what tobacco means to the state.

Bennett cited these examples: —The Tar Heel tobacco crop sells for about $530 to 550 million annually.

—Over 200,000 farm families receive part or most of their income from tobacco.

Bennett cited the following examples to show what tobacco means in terms of off-farm purchases to supplies and services.

Tar Heel tobacco farmers spend about $21 million annually for curing fuel. They wood layer just under the bark of diseased branches. In other cases and later in the summer, the discolorations show up as brown spots or a partial or complete brown circle in one or more of the outer annual rings in the cross section of a diseased branch.

In the United States the principal carriers of the Dutch elm disease fungus are two elm-bark beetles and the native elm bark beetle.

The beetles attacks are made only in living elm trees, usually in the smaller twig crotches.

The beetles do most of their feeding in the living elms nearest the place they emerged as adults.

Federal and State research workers have studied Dutch elm disease and its insect associates since 1931.

They are many elm shade trees throughout Davie County . . . and most of the trees in downtown Mocksville are of this variety.

All trees affected by this disease develop a brown discoloration in the water-conducting vessels of the wood.

THE DAVIE BOARD OF EDUCATION IN 1951

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — A unity move to strengthen Presidential policies in crisis ridden Southeast Asia received prompt Congressional action.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, has approved a measure to give a temporary breathing spell to state legislatures concerned with reapportionment problems.

Today, 53 different Federal programs operated by 12 departments and agencies cost $31.8 billion per year.

I have been conducting hearings as Chairman of the Constitutional Rights Sub-committee on "criminal bail bills" which are applicable to Federal court defendants.

On July 29, I introduced nine legislative proposals designed to safeguard the constitutional rights of our Indian citizens.

The Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, since 1961, has conducted an extensive investigation into the constitutional rights of the American Indian.

Washington Report CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHNE, 5TH DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

POVERTY

The blight of poverty has no advocates; it has no friends. The economic and social history of this country is a chronicle of improving standards of living.

Last week, the House of Representatives considered and passed the President's anti-poverty bill which would, in fact, change this balance.

Today, 53 different Federal programs operated by 12 departments and agencies cost $31.8 billion per year.

If we remove all the blatant political ramifications of this bill, it is deeply disturbing that Congress should accept in blind faith the premise that spending Federal money will erase poverty.

Another inconsistency is the vague definition of poverty. According to this bill, families with incomes of less than $3,000 a year fall into the poverty classification.

If economic opportunities are to be increased as they certainly should be, the legislation should be inspired less by political expediency.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night come up with the proper strategy for electing the next President of the United States.

First off, Zeke Grubb bring along his latest pamphlet from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and give us the official figgers on how much land we got in this country and who owns it.

For instant, the piece says the United States and its possessions is made up of two and a quarter billion acres, or around 3.5 million square miles.

Ed Doolittle claimed the population explosion was getting so bad people was so crowded in some places they was sleeping in trees.

Two plans was proposed for solving the highway safety and parking problem. Clem Webster said if we'd get a law again driving a car on the highways that was more'n two year old and the owner didn't have a clear title fer it, we'd have half the traffic and twict the parking space.

Bug Hookum was in favor of a plan to bar all women from driving. He allowed as how women was too stubborn to drive, said it didn't make sense that she could thread a needle and couldn't drive a car through a 12-foot garage door.

Clem's plan carried on a 5 to 4 vote. On account of my old lady might see this piece, I ain't saying, Mister Editor, how I voted on this item.

Such an alternative proposal was offered in the course of the debate on the poverty bill and I supported it.

ABOUT LIKE USUAL . . . In these dog days of summertime, 1964, the Democratic Party in North Carolina is about as united as usual.

Democrats are a lot like Baptists —quarreling all the time among themselves, but as united as a yellow jackets' nest if jumped on from the outside.

Gov. Sanford looks on the Party philosophically. He knows it has never been thoroughly united.

The also-rans in North Carolina—Dick Fountain, W. P. Horton, Sandy Graham, Dr. Ralph McDonald, Charlie Johnson, Dr. I. Beverly Lake, to name a few—had their followers.

HECK AND ANDER . . . That writer of Riverton, which has been in the news again lately because of its swimming hole, 60 years ago sized up the present state of the Democratic Party in the Old North State.

John Charles McNeill was writing about "The August Meeting" of Scotland County; and how in the excitement of the occasion—a whole lot like our Primaries back in the spring—Anders and Heck got so worked up they started fighting each other right there in the middle of a big church revival.

"En de whole chu'ch full er gemen up en fou't."

McNeill reports how there "was razors, knives, en wrenches; planks from often busted benches, and some ubbm made a club of their brogans. Oh, they put one ner to sleepin' with ever' sort of weepin'."

This went on for quite a spell, neither side winning, of course. But the rain beat out the cotton, and the fodder hung there, rotten—and the shattered peas was sprouting in the row.

It is high time the sinners and the saved were getting right, for Goldwater is right there knocking, knocking on that church-house door.

WHAT'S UP? Those supposed to be in the know will tell you Dan Moore has something up his sleeve for the municipalities.

Most of these plans—aside from the ABC stores, etc.—have not meant much. Cities and towns need more money, they tell you, for their population, they tell you, for their population.

How to get it? Moore is said to be toying with the idea of a Powell Bill for the sales tax. The Powell Bill, some ten years old now, has brought highway money to help the municipalities with their streets.

Don't be surprised if Dan Moore comes up with a plan which will, in some way, bring to the cities and towns a portion of the huge sales tax take. Last year, for instance, Alamance County collected $2,750,442.70—or rather its merchants did—in sales taxes. This includes $2,841 for wholesale and regular license taxes.

All sales tax collections, licenses, etc., brought the State in a total of $181,049,132.46 during the fiscal year which ended on June 30. This was an increase of nearly eight per cent over the figure for the year ending June 30, 1963.

last week. Caught the critter eating Johnson grass!

WEATHER . . . If you are like land around Raleigh, you are drenched. We haven't done much about it, except talk, get out in it, get wet in it, and keep cool in it, but the weather in these parts has been real busy as a check on it, shows: It rained on July 4. It did not rain on July 5, 6, and 7. It rained on July 10, 11, 12, 13. It did not rain on July 14. It rained on July 15, 16, 17, 18, skipped 19 and 20—but came back strong on July 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, and 31. It rained on August 3 and 4.

Crops, particularly lawn grass, are looking wonderful. And it does seem as if . . . as the old man said . . . June 31 was about the only real dry day we've had all summer.

NOTES . . . We don't know how long it will last, but a handsome new, give-away shopping guide called "The Weekender" hit Raleigh last week, loaded with ads. Apparently printed on a new offset press, it carried in its first go-around 24 pages—attractively printed, with good art work nearly laid out . . . but, somehow, we found it dull . . . not a murder, no deaths of any kind . . . no wrecks, no shootings . . . not even any weather . . . and no excitement.

—Here came this big car with two prim-looking elderly ladies in it . . . one half-driving and talking . . . and everything looked so normal, precise, and to the point . . . but that car had been used to higher old times—no doubt the night before—for as it went by we saw pointed on its rear—and leading to the gas tank—and looking natural as life—the two-foot-long, black and orange tail of a tiger. Bet the girls didn't even know it! Grr-rrr!

—Total car sales in N. C. during June went to 14,623 . . . as compared with only 9,502 for the same month five years ago. Truck sales this past June totaled 2,475 . . . as against 1,678 for June of 1959 . . . But foreign cars in June five years ago came to 893 in sales in N. C. . . . and this past June had, dropped to 701.

—In the months from January to June, General Motors had sold 54.8 per cent of all cars sold in the nation . . . Ford had sold 26.1 per cent of them . . . Chrysler, 13.8 . . . American Motors, 4.9 . . . and Studebaker, four-tenths of one per cent.

60 Second Sermons By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Gratitude, the greatest virtue is the mother of all the rest!" - Cicero.

A friend was trying to help a discouraged man by pointing out the things for which he should be thankful.

"Thankful!" exclaimed the discouraged one, "why should I be thankful? I can't even pay my own bills."

"Then," said his friend, "be thankful you aren't one of your creditors."

It has been said that if we cannot be thankful for what we receive we should be thankful for what we escape. Within these two reasons we all can be thankful. It doesn't take much thought to prove that, because we each know someone with whom we would not exchange places.

The real test of thankfulness is in how we express it. Many think it is done with words. Their timidity is nauseous. Others depend entirely on words. They bore us. Those who have learned why and how to be thankful are richly warm persons to be near. They are free from envy and greed. Their thankfulness shows, not so much in what they say, but in what their lives show; their attitude toward all living things.

The admonition "Count your blessings" is not an empty phrase. The ability to do so is the mark of educated and civilized men.

Durham Attorney To Seek YDC Presidency

GEORGE W. MILLER

George W. Miller, Jr., Durham attorney, has officially announced his candidacy for the office of President of the North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs for the year 1965 to succeed the present President, Tom Gilmore of Julian. The State Y. D. C. Convention, at which time officers will be elected for the new year, is scheduled for September 25, 26 and 27 in Raleigh.

Miller, who is a practicing attorney in Durham with the law firm of Haywood, Denny and Miller, has been active in Y. D. C. affairs for many years. A native of Spencer, in Rowan County, he attended the University of North Carolina where he received his B. S. degree and the University of North Carolina School of law where he received his LL.B. degree in 1957. He was admitted to the bar in 1957 and has since that time practiced law in Durham.

He is a veteran of the United States Marine Corps and is married to the former Eula Hux of Halifax County. They have two children.

While at the University of North Carolina he was active in the U. N. C. Young Democratic Club and also held the office of President of his law school class for the year 1956-57. He was President of the U. N. C. Young Democratic Club in 1956 and has served as college organizer for the state organization. He has participated in many state conventions and served as chairman of the Credentials Committee at the 1962 state convention. Since moving to Durham he has served in many capacities with the Durham Y. D. C. organization and is currently Men's Vice President.

"The North Carolina Young Democratic Club is an active, growing and vital organization," said Miller. "I would like to be an active participant in continuing the outstanding programs and activities carried on in past years." "The North Carolina Young Democratic Club has been fortunate in having had excellent leadership in past years and, if elected, I will do all that I can to continue the fine programs that are now being carried on."

"Our democracy is being threatened, not only from without but also from within. We must continue to be strong and active and to provide programs to insure that the voters are fully aware of the importance of voting for the Democratic nominees. Our Constitution provides that the Y. D. C. as one of its functions shall keep itself and its members informed on issues of state, national and international importance and shall call public attention to such issues. Further, it shall undertake to stimulate public expression on important issues and our representatives in the various legislative bodies and to those in executive departments. The Y. D. C. shall support actively the nominees of the Democratic Party in national, state and local elections."

If elected, Miller pledged himself to carry out the aims and objectives of the Y. D. C.

$73,600 To Members In Davie—

Davie EMC Makes Refund

Davie Electric Membership Corporation, which serves over 9,000 members in a six county area, is refunding approximately $73,600 in patrons capital paid in by the members during the year 1955-56. It was revealed that $73,000 will be returned to members in Davie County.

Davie EMC was organized 26 years ago. It has grown to a 5-million dollar business, but it hasn't made any profit. Davie Electric is a service organization and is operated under state non-profit regulations.

When Davie Electric started operations in 1939 it was serving only 600 members in Davie, Iredell and Yadkin county. The average kWh consumption of these members was only 20 kWh per month. The membership has grown each year and lines were extended into Alexander, Wilkes and Rowan county. These people began to make widespread use of power, even though they had to pay more per kWh than the prevailing rates for electric services.

The first ten years of operation were lean years. Finally, in 1950 revenue from members was more than the cost of operations. Co-op records show an operating margin every year since that time.

The members have continuously increased their use of electric power. This made possible a substantial rate reduction in 1957. Rates are established to reflect, as nearly as possible, the actual cost of service. In any year that revenues actually exceed costs, producing a margin, each member is credited with his pro rata share of the margin.

Davie Electric made the first refund to the membership at large in October, 1962. This refund was for capital furnished by the members for the years 1950-54 and amounted to nearly one-quarter of a million dollars. The general refund being made now brings the amount of patrons capital refunded to members of Davie EMC to $600,000.00.

Davie Electric is proud to be an active institution in the several communities in which it is locally owned, controlled and operated. It will continue to participate in, and give its full support to, the various activities and projects that make these communities better places in which to live.

Broyhill To Visit

Congressman James T. Broyhill of the Ninth North Carolina Congressional District will spend all day, Wednesday, Aug. 26, in Davie County visiting friends, discussing matters pending before Congress, and campaigning for re-election in November.

Congressman Broyhill's campaign manager for Davie County, William E. Hall, local attorney, has announced that Mr. Broyhill will be in Mocksville on Wednesday morning and will visit in Cooleemee, Fork, Advance, Farmington, and Sheffield later in the day. Since Congress will only be taking a recess at this time and will not adjourn until later, Mr. Broyhill will not have many opportunities to visit Davie County. Mr. Hall urges everyone wishing to see Mr. Broyhill to come out and see him on this visit.

Both Drivers Claim The Other On Wrong Side Of Road Following Impact

Two cars collided around 12:05 a.m. Sunday morning on U.S. 601, ten miles north of Mocksville, and both drivers claimed that the other was on the wrong side of the road.

Involved was a 1958 Ford operated by Alfred Eugene Puryear, 18, of Tobaccoville, Rt. 1, and a 1960 Chevrolet operated by Inez Holcomb McClannan of Mocksville, Rt. 2.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick said that his investigation disclosed that Puryear's car struck the McClannan car about the left headlight with the left headlight. After the collision both cars continued on some 150 to 200 feet.

Patrolman Bolick said that each driver claimed the other was on the wrong side of the road. Debris was found in both lanes of traffic and there were no skid marks left by either vehicle prior to impact.

There were no injuries. Damage to the 1958 Ford was estimated at $400 and to the 1960 Chevrolet, $300.

The lieutenant, a graduate of Mocksville High School, was commissioned in 1960 upon graduation from the U. S. Air Force Academy, where he earned his B.S. degree in general engineering. ### Henry Blair and Vic Andrews— Mocksville Jaycees Honored

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Mocksville announced that Henry Blair and Dr. Victor L. Andrews have been selected for inclusion in the 1965 edition of OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA. These men were nominated earlier this year by the Jaycee Chapter and have been selected by a 13 man National Board of Editors for the publication.

Doug Blankenship, Past U. S. Jaycees President (1962-63) who is serving as chairman of the Board stated that men were selected between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-six who "had distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor to the point of being outstanding".

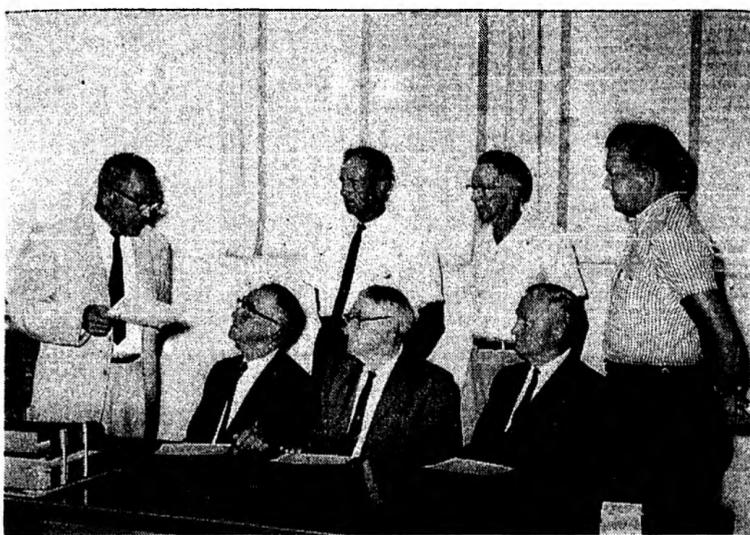

Outstanding Young Men of America is an annual biographical compilation of approximately 10,000 young men of outstanding rank throughout the country. Nominees for the book come from many sources, however, the majority of the nominations are made by Junior Chamber of Commerce Chapters and College Alumni Associations.

"An outstanding idea" is the way National Jaycees Public Relations

Director, Jim Stafford, described the publication. National Jaycees President (1963-64), Richard M. Headlee, a member of the National Board, said, "the publication is one of the finest I have seen recognizing the achievements of America's outstanding young men".

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has long been active in the recognition of outstanding achievement among America's young men. Each year since 1933 the Jaycees have selected the Ten Outstanding Young Men of America. Among past TOYM winners are such famous personalities as John F. Kennedy (1946); Nelson Rockefeller (1941); Dr. Tom Dooley (1950); and Henry Ford, II (1945). The publication Outstanding Young Men of America will feature the 1965 TOYM winners. Winners of state Outstanding Young Men awards will be pictured throughout the book. President Lyndon B. Johnson will write the foreward for the 1965 edition.

The book is 7" x 10" in size and will contain approximately 896 pages. The binding is blue with gold embossing. Publication date is approximately January 15, 1965.

CHECKS FOR $73,000 BEING MAILED . . . is what J. C. Jones, Co-op manager, and Davie County Board members R. L. Seaford, C. C. Smoot and T. B. Woodruff reveal to Co-op members C. F. Barnhardt, J. B. Foster and Curt Reavis. Checks are being mailed this week to all Davie EMC members for the capital they furnished their Co-op in the year 1955-56. This refund will mean that Davie County's economy will be boosted by $73,600.

Now Playing At Tanglewood— 'The Male Animal'—A Comedy

The extravagant comedy "The Male Animal" promises that "everyone on both sides of the footlights has a good time." This laugh frolic opens Wednesday evening and plays nightly through Sunday at Tanglewood Barn Theatre. Kick-off time is 8:15 p. m. nightly.

Against the background of a big football game weekend at a mid-western university, Elliott Nugent and James Thurber have stirred up an uproarious hassle over academic freedom, marriage, staidness of college trustees and the everlasting glory of ex-football heroes.

Play-by-play become laugh by laugh and spectators become players in the off-field melee. When the final whistle blows it matters very little just who has 'the ball', for everyone has gained a little more yardage than he lost, and the touchdowns all count for the audience

Dinner Revenue Tops Previous Records—

Masonic Picnic Gate Receipts Total $3,129.91

Rainy weather last week cut down the attendance and ate into the gate receipts for the 84th annual Masonic Picnic.

Gate receipts for the five days totaled $3,129.91, which was a decrease of $201.24 from the same period last year when the receipts totaled $3,331.15.

The record year at the gate was in 1961 when the gate receipts totaled $3,747.80.

The biggest drop in the gate receipts were recorded on Monday and Tuesday evenings when rain and threatening weather cut into the attendance. This was somewhat made-up in the increase on Wednesday evening.

The receipts from the dinner totaled $771.75 which was an increase of $26.00 over last year and sets a new record for dinner revenue.

A day by day breakdown on the gate receipts with the 1963 figures in parentheses is as follows:

Monday: $137.07 ($288.75)
Tuesday: $473.16 ($564.25)
Wednesday: $642.23 ($558.14)
Thursday: $1,293.37 ($1,325.31)
Friday: $590.08 ($612.70)

It was estimated that around 22,350 paid their way into the picnic grounds during the five-day period. On Thursday, it was estimated that approximately 9,000 paid their way into the grounds. A slight rain and threatening weather late Thursday cut into the evening attendance.

A Dime For The Picnic

The letter was addressed to: Mr. R. B. Sanford, Jr., Mocksville, N. C., General Chairman. It was postmarked Winston-Salem. The letter inside read:

"Sir,
"I am sending one Dime for a drink I got at the Picnic at Mocksville. I ate dinner there and I thought the drinks were free till later, so I didn't pay for it. Please see that it gets to the people that sold the drinks or whoever it's supposed to go to. Thanks"
The letter was unsigned.

The dime was enclosed in a Methodist Church offering envelope. Mr. Sanford said that the dime would be deposited to the dinner receipts.

Also the same mail brought other contributions to the dinner which will swell the dinner revenue to a new all-time high.

Two Cars Collide In Wreck on US 601

Two cars collided around 3:45 p.m. Saturday on U.S. 601, near Rural Road 1404.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick said that his investigation disclosed that a 1957 Ford, operated by Samuel Henry Howard, 23, of Advance, Rt. 2, was traveling north on U.S. 601 and slowed to make a left turn into a private road. While executing this turn, the car was struck in the left door by a 1963 Chevy II, operated by Arthur Eugene Sherman, 28, of Columbus, Ohio, traveling north and was in the process of overtaking the Ford.

Patrolman Bolick said that the car operated by Sherman was in a no passing zone and that Sherman told him that he did not blow his horn prior to overtaking the Ford. Howard told the patrolman that he was giving a signal to turn.

Damage to the Ford was estimated at around $70 and the entire front and right side of the Chevy II were damaged.

Sherman was charged with improper passing.

Dixie Classic Fair's Arts-Crafts Premiums Upped

Cash premiums in the Fine Arts and Crafts Division at the Dixie Classic Fair, scheduled October 6-10 in Winston-Salem, will total $570, a new high for this category. Neil Bolton, fair manager, in making the announcement this week, also pointed out, "We are delighted to be able to offer $225 in premiums to entrants in the Fine Arts department and $345 to the Crafts department." He also expressed the hope that the enlarged display space for this division will encourage more people to enter. In addition to first and second place cash prizes, cash third prizes will be given in the Crafts department's nine categories. Ribbons will be awarded to third and fourth place winners in Fine Arts and to fourth place winners in Crafts.

NEW LOCATION

All these exhibits will be in the Green Room, second floor rear of the Coliseum at the Fair. This convenient and expanded space will greatly aid in the effective presentation of the entries, Bolton added.

Two new categories have also been added to the division this year; sculpture in the Fine Arts department and decoupage in Crafts.

NO ENTRY FEE REQUIRED

There is no entry fee, and anyone living in North Carolina and Carroll, Henry, Grayson, and Patrick counties in Virginia may enter.

Exhibitors may submit two entries from the Fine Arts media: oil, water color, graphics, sculpture, mixed media, collage, gouache, encaustic, and casein. As many as, but no more than, five entries may be made under each of the Crafts categories: books, ceramics, decoupage, jewelry, metal craft, textile, weaving, woodworking, and miscellaneous (leatherwork, lapidary, basketry, fired handpainted china, mosaics, wall hanging, handmade toys).

Social Security In Davie County

The Social Security Administration is extremely concerned about consistent erroneous reporting of employee wages by some employers. A cumulative record of incorrect reports is being maintained by the Division of Accounting Operations in Baltimore, Maryland, on 1500 employers whose reporting is consistently in error. The main errors on the wage reports are incorrect and missing social security numbers.

Whatever a new employee is hired, the employer should secure his social security number at that time from his social security card. If the employee doesn't have a social security number, he may obtain one by writing the Social Security Office and asking for an application, or by contacting his nearest post office.

The reason Social Security Administration is so concerned with erroneous reporting is because of the possibility of loss of benefits by claimants when they reach retirement.

Walter Dulin in the Mount Zion community.

Bailey Lee James, 23, of 223 Church Street, driving a 1954 Mercury south on Salisbury Street at 8 a.m., stated to Patrolman Ken Bolick who investigated the accident, that he was looking to his left for approaching traffic on US 601 and did not know that the 1950 Goliath, being operated by Vestal Lee Call, Jr., 38, which James was following, had come to a complete stop at the "Yield" sign. James was charged with failure to reduce speed.

Damage to the Goliath rear and both fender bumpers came to approximately $300. Damage to the Mercury being operated by James was $25.

1965 Wheat Program Announced By USDA

Details of the 1965 Voluntary Wheat Program have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Operation of the program in general will be about the same as that for the 1964-crop year. Although some program provisions are modified, participating farmers can get about the same returns as from the 1964 program.

The principal changes, compared with 1964 program provisions are:

1. Domestic certificates will be worth 75 cents per bushel (were 70 cents), and export certificates 30 cents per bushel (were 25 cents).

2. Price support national average loan rate will be $1.25 per bushel (was $1.30).

3. Program participants can qualify for domestic certificates on 45 percent and export certificates on 35 percent of the normal production from their allotment (were 45 percent each).

4. Wheat and feed grain (including oats and rye) acreage substitution will be possible (none in 1964).

5. If diversion in addition to the required minimum is at least 10 percent of the farm's 1965 allotment, payment on such additional diversion will be made on 60 percent of the farm's normal production times the county loan rate on all of such added acres diverted to conserving use. No payment will be made for applying conserving use to the minimum qualifying acreage equal to 11.11 percent of the 1965 allotment. (Payment in 1964 was at 20 percent for all acres diverted to conserving use).

6. A producer can get program loan and certificate allocation benefits if he exceeds his acreage allotment by not more than 50 percent on any farm in which he has an interest and stores under bond the wheat from the excess acreage, meanwhile carrying out conserving use requirements of the program (not provided in 1964).

Signup for the 1965 voluntary Wheat Program is planned August 24 through October 2 in ASCS offices. This signup will apply only to predominantly winter wheat areas. Program signup for wheat growers in predominantly spring seeded areas probably will take place early next year at the same time as that for the 1965 Feed Grain Program. The 1965 Feed Grain Program will operate under the same legislative authority as in 1964 and therefore will be similar to the 1964 program. The 1965 diversion requirements, payment rates, and loan levels will be determined and announced later.

The 1965 program for wheat will be entirely voluntary. As in 1964, there will be no marketing quotas or marketing quota penalties for the 1965-crop. Further, those overplanting their acreage allotment in 1965 will not lose wheat acreage history or future years.

Program provisions offer a wide range of choice including substitution between wheat and feed grain acreage.

A producer may become a program participant by signing up and meeting the applicable program provisions. A participant can become eligible for price support loans, diversion payments, and certificates with fixed cash value.

The 1965 national wheat acreage allotment of 49 1/2 million acres (the same as for 1964) was announced June 19, 1964 (USDA 2634-644). The state acreage allotments were made at the same time, and these in turn are being allocated to individual farms. Announcement of wheat-feed grain acreage substitution for the 1965 crop was made on May 25, 1964.

Use Of Certificates

Certificates will be earned by eligible producers on 80 percent of the allotted acres times the normal yield for the farm, but not in excess of the normal production on the acreage of wheat planted for harvest. If the acreage planted for harvest is less than 80 percent of the farm allotment, the reduction in certificates will be made first from the lower valued (export) certificates.

Commodity Credit Corporation will assist producers in marketing the certificates by purchasing them through county ASC committee.

Producers who sign up and otherwise apply 1965 program provisions relating to wheat will be eligible for price support loans on their entire production, except on any quantity stored under bond. The option of storing under bond is as follows: Participants who so elect in advance may overseed wheat up to 50 percent in excess of allotments and then store the excess production under bond. The excess production to be stored under bond would be twice the normal production of the acreage exceeding the allotment, or the actual production if less than the normal. The producers using this option would be eligible for price support loans and certificates on wheat from their allotted acres. This provision is of special interest in high crop-risk areas as it will provide reserves in case of drought. A producer may use the bonded-storage option on any farm in which he has an interest in the wheat crop. However, if a producer decides to overseed his allotment, he will not be eligible to substitute wheat and feed grain acreage within the program.

Substitution Of Wheat-Feed Grain Acreage

A producer who has both a wheat allotment and a feed grain base and who signs up for both programs, will be eligible to use the substitution provision. He can either grow wheat on feed grain permitted acres, or grow feed grains on all or part of the wheat permitted acres. Such a producer takes part in the 1965 program relating to wheat and feed grains exactly as he would without the substitution provision except that the acreage of either wheat or feed grains could be greater. However, a producer who plants feed grains on wheat allotment acreage may put this feed grain production under loan, but he will not be eligible for feed grain program price support payments on this acreage, nor will he receive additional certificates for wheat grown in lieu of feed grains. A producer not eligible for the benefits of both programs may still obtain the benefits of the program for which he is eligible.

Further, a producer may request that a separate oats-rye base acreage be established for his farm. This a cooperater in the wheat program may grow wheat on oats-rye base acres (minus diverted acreage) in addition to being able to grow wheat on all or part of the feed grain permitted acreage. When this option is exercised, corn, grain sorghum or barley can not be grown on the oats-rye base or on the wheat allotment acreage. The purpose of establishing an oats-rye base is to extend benefits to producers who mainly grow wheat, oats and rye. If a producer requests but does not use this option, eligibility for program benefits will be determined as if the oats-rye option had not been requested.

Acreage Diversion and Payments

Qualification for certificates and price support loans can be achieved by planting within the 1965 allotment and devoting to conserving uses an acreage equal to 11.11 percent of that allotment. To qualify for diversion payments, participants will need to divert at least 10 percent additional acreage below the allotment. Maximum diversion for payment can be 20 percent of the allotment or enough additional acreage within the wheat allotment to make a total of 15 acres. Payment rate per acre for the additional diversion will be 50 percent of the county basic price support loan rate times the farm normal yield.

Producers who wish to sign up in both the wheat and feed grain program may do so by increasing the acreage of cropland devoted to a conserving use not less than the total of the acreage signed up to be diverted under both programs. Diversion payments will be computed on the basis of the actual crops or crops reduced. (For instance, if wheat is grown in lieu of feed grains, diversion payments would be at the applicable feed grain rates).

Whether or not cooperators may have the opportunity to produce certain nonsurplus crops on diverted acreage will be determined when more information is available.

Diversion payments for the oats-rye option will be a percentage of the wheat diversion rate and will be announced with the 1965 Feed Grain Program.

At 84th Annual Masonic Picnic—

Governor Terry Sanford Speaks

Governor Terry Sanford urged Masons and other organizations and churches in North Carolina "to join the State and Federal Governments in a partnership against the causes of poverty."

In his remarks delivered at the 84th annual Masonic Picnic at Mocksville, Governor Sanford noted that President Johnson's economic opportunities bill won final Congressional approval last week.

The Governor also pointed out that the North Carolina Fund, a privately-endowed organization established to "fight the cycle of poverty in North Carolina," already is in operation.

The Governor emphasized that both the President's program and the North Carolina Fund "are 90 per cent educational programs — true a new kind of education, but nonetheless education. These programs are not doles. They are not handouts. On the contrary, they are designed to give the people — especially the young people — the tools needed to become self-supporting and self-respecting citizens. "The whole concept is that we are taking future recipients off of the welfare rolls."

The Governor said: "We can do much to uproot the causes of ignorance, and therefore the causes of low income, through our North Carolina program and the President's program.

"But," he cautioned, "to be successful in this kind of new education, we need the help of all civic, religious and other organizations from the local level up."

The Governor said: "Earlier this year the North Carolina Fund received 51 proposals covering 66 counties on concrete methods for alleviating poverty in the various areas of our State.

"Now we said when the North Carolina Fund was organized, and we have repeatedly said since then, that only a fraction of the proposals from local groups to the North Carolina Fund could be adopted.

"What about all of the proposals that, due to the lack of money, must be rejected? Does that mean that they are without merit? Emphatically, no!

"It is certain now that those proposals which of monetary necessity cannot be sponsored by the North Carolina Fund will not go into some dusty cubbyhole. These programs should be implemented and they can be implemented. They can be implemented if Masonic leaders and leaders of the other organizations of our State decide that they shall be implemented.

"I realize that in this day of inflation and affluence that it is sometimes hard for those who miss meals only for dietary purposes to realize the number of our fellow citizens who do not have decent food, who do not have decent housing, who do not have decent education, who do not have decent clothing, who, indeed, do not have a decent chance in life.

"But whatever the historical reasons for this low income, history will not excuse us if we do not take steps in our generation — now — to do something to raise it."

QUOTA JONAS ... From deep in the innards of the Republican Party comes word that a plan used successfully by the GOP in North Carolina two years ago will serve as a guide for all precincts in the nation this Election.

The Republican National Executive Committee, which has just announced plans to spend approximately 13 million dollars (as against the Democrats' 20 million) to elect its followers this fall, will use a quota system for each precinct.

And, in pushing the quota system, the national moguls of the Party, point to the efficiency of the plan when used to keep Congressman Charles R. Jonas in Washington (over Paul Kitchin) after "he had been gerrymandered out of his old seat."

In the shake-up in North Carolina — caused by a population loss in the eastern part of the State — we lost a Congressman. The Legislature decided it might well be Jonas. Pitted against Kitchin in their reconstructed Eighth District, Jonas won — thanks, the Republicans feel, to the quota plan.

Quotas help, as in selling cars, insurance, memberships in the country club, and what-have-you. But, first, you must have a good product. This the Republicans should not overlook as they go out with the hard-sell in the scant ten weeks lying between now and the close of the contest on November 3.

WHO WOULD WIN? ... With Jonas safely in the fold, the Republicans started grooming him for Governor in 1964. This opportunity he eschewed. Suppose Charlie Jonas — not Bob Gavin — were opposing Dan K. Moore, who would win? Incidentally, Moore and Jonas are a lot alike in appearance and demeanor. We think Moore would win. Now, as further conjecture, what if Jonas were opposing Richardson Preyer? (Watch that prejudice!)

AT LEAST TWO ... Two things you have not heard the last of: 1. The Zeno Ponder thing up in Madison County. What a stink! 2. The sudden dismissal of long-time SBI Agent Bill Wilson. Why?

BATTLE IN '68 ... by all odds the best political move yet made by the Moore people was last week's naming of J. M. Broughton as chairman of the late Democratic Executive Committee.

Broughton, a Wake Forest alumnus, is liked by Lake, is not disliked by the Sanford wing of the Party, is clean as a hound's tooth, and loved by the Baptists. That's not a bad combination.

Although their campaign paths never ran together as one path, J. M. Broughton and Kerr Scott had mutual admiration for each other in 1948. Scott was running Johnson for Governor. Broughton was running against Unstead for the U. S. Senate.

Broughton had served four good years as Governor (1941-45) and had been running for the Senate for four years. Scott had been Agriculture Commissioner with a good record. Both made it. Broughton dying soon after going to Washington, Scott eventually filled the same Senate seat — after serving four years as Governor — and died there. As things look now, it will be Broughton and Scott again in 1968 — a generation later — with both of them running for Governor.

It may be that nobody in North Carolina can beat Bob Scott. But, if there is one person, it is none other than J. Melville Broughton. But, ironically, their names may not prove as important as some other facets of their beings. Scott must still serve his apprenticeship. Broughton, in many ways, has already done this.

GOOD OLD DAYS ... "Backward, turn backward, O time in thy flight. Make me a child again just for tonight!" Thus ran one of our finest old tear-jerkers.

We would all like to return — even if just for four years — to the scenes of our childhood. This applies to all of us, including Governors' sons, J. Melville Broughton, Robert W. Scott — and Hector MacLean of Lumberton, a State Senator ... and ambitious.

Give him two or three more years — and you may come up with Luther Hodges, Jr. Governor Unstead's daughter — not interested — but Blucher Ehringhaus here could be. None of the Gardner's tried it, but one ran for Congress and was defeated by Basil Whitener.

Terry Sanford, Jr., 12 won't be due until about 1980. There is something about that mansion, say what you will. Gov. Sanford said in a special Charlotte Observer interview this week: "... Margaret Rose and I have enjoyed every minute of it."

Fine. But yet ... to this good hour ... no North Carolina Governor (though Sanford hints he might try) has ever come back around (he can't succeed himself) and been elected Governor a second time. And no Governor's son ... despite his love for the old home ... has ever been permitted officially to darken its door again.

And just think of all the others — the Baileys, the Fountain's, the McDonald's, the Graham's, the Horton's, the Cooper's, and Johnson's, the Maxwell's, the McRae's, the Gravelly's, and Grady's — who couldn't get there at all. The also-ran's.

"In my Father's house are many mansions ...". True, and though distant, much more easily attainable for the most of us than the many-gabled one so hungered for on Blount Street.

BIGGEST ... Gov. Sanford says his biggest disappointment is: failure to reduce highway traffic accidents and deaths. "I think something drastic must be done," says the Governor. This is coming. What will it be?

SUN DECK ... A wood sun deck extended out on three sides of a vacation cabin expands the living area of a summer home. Easy to build of Douglas fir framing lumber the deck offers low cost living space.

SAWN LOOK ... To give that fence a different look, ask your builder to use saw-textured fir or cedar boards. These will weather to a silver sheen and have a natural textured appearance.

WASHINGTON — The annual task of appropriating funds for the operation of the Federal government, a key factor in the lengthy 1963 session, has moved with speed this time. The first ten days of August brought Senate passage of five of the twelve major money bills. As Congress moved toward adjournment last week, only three other appropriation bills needed Senate approval.

The appropriation process is a two stage affair. Since 1837 the House has required money requests to be authorized by separate enactment by both bodies before any appropriation can be made. Appropriation bills, by long custom, originate in the House, and are then acted upon by the Senate. Senate hearings on money measures usually are less lengthy than their House counterparts because of this procedure. The thirteen Senate appropriations subcommittees have the added task of receiving new information and requests after House action is completed.

FOREIGN AID — Senate debate over the $3.5 billion foreign aid authorization bill renews old questions which have deeply troubled Americans over the last decade. Simply put, the issue continues to be over whether we are trying to do too much for too many nations. The Clay Presidential Commission investigating the program last year voiced criticism on this ground, and this has been one of my contentions about the program for years.

The often reviewed program has many other faults. Time and again we are confronted with the fact that aid once given brings no assurance that the recipients nation will conduct its military and domestic affairs on any other basis than its own national self-interest. Nonetheless, the program is championed on the conflicting ground that we must continue to expend these billions for our own national interest. Inevitably these interests collide.

As a matter of economic policy, the expenditure of billions each year for foreign aid weakens efforts to curtail domestic expenditures. Home folks are unwilling to forego requests for programs that foreigners can receive from our government without payment of taxes. All of our national ills do not flow from this one annual appropriation bill, but it continues to be a significant factor in the development of a national attitude toward government spending and many other problems.

MENTAL ILLNESS BILL — On August 10, I testified before the House District of Columbia Subcommittee headed by Congressman Whitener to urge early action on the measure which I have sponsored to protect the rights of the mentally ill. The measure would revise and strengthen archaic hospitalization procedures in the District of Columbia for these patients. Earlier this session the Senate adopted the measure unanimously. I am hopeful that Congress can enact the bill into law before adjournment.

TREND TO WOOD ... A number of FHA offices around the country report a definite trend towards wood kitchen cabinets and wood windows in homes presently being planned and built.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MITER EDITOR: I see by the papers where they were building some Army barracks at Fort Jackson in South Carolina and the low bid came from a large local contractor. The second low bid was from a small contractor in another state and it was $97,000 higher than the low bid. The clerks in one of them Government agencies named the Small Business Administration threw out the low bid and paid the $97,000 difference to the next bidder. They claimed the low bidder was too big to qualify for the bidding. The taxpayers lost $97,000 but after all, Mister Editor, it ain't nothing but money and don't belong to nobody but us.

Then I was reading this piece where the U. S. Treasury said they could save $35 million in a year on their printing bill if folks didn't object to $2 bills. Personal, I think the taxpayers would stand for a heap of objecting to save $35 million. Furthermore, a $2 bill would come in mighty handy these days anything. I hate to say it, Mister Editor, but I've got down to the place where I'm willing for the wimmen to take over the Government and try running it for a spell. They couldn't do no worse.

A statement like that would've got me hung to the nearest tree 50 year ago, but wimmen has been coming along fast. I recollect when I was a boy they would say a feller was about to "commit matrimony," and you'd hear tell that a feller had put on the "matrimony harness." You don't hear that kind of talk no more, and in them wedding write-ups in the papers you have to look in the fine print to see if the groom was present for the event.

They say wimmen own 85 per cent of all the wealth in this country, and I was noting this piece in the papers from the Census Bureau where 23 million out of the 43 million homes in America now has a wife bringing in a regular paycheck. It could be that the wimmen would look after our dollars a little better in Washington and I'm in favor of giving 'em the chance.

But I don't aim to put this item on the agenda at the country store Saturday night. Most of the fellers there was old-fashioned and still claims a woman's place was in the home. Some of 'em don't even know they has took the word "housewife" out the dictionary. I recollect back during the last war, when the OPA took the tax off rubber tires on baby carriages, the wimmen, bombarded the Congress and got it took off the carriages too. I allowed at the time as how it proved the power of wimmen. But Ed Doolittle claimed the Congress was just playing it cozy and was trying to keep new taxpayers coming along. The only way wimmen will ever get a fair hearing at the country store, Mister Editor, is to let my old lady set in on one of the sessions.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

TEXT: "The future belongs to things that grow" - Kenneth Johnson.

One summer during World War II, the Army asked a railroad to prepare a spur track at a certain point, in 24 hours. The railway manager at that point wired the railroad president: "With temperature at 105 in the shade it will take at least four days to do the job."

The railroad president immediately wired back: "What are you doing in the shade?"

Regardless of what stands in the way, we must act to accomplish anything. Failure to act means that we die a little, because nothing that lives remains the same. It grows or it decays. Either can become a habit.

One reason so many senior citizens are pathetically helpless is that they stopped growing. As their physical powers grew less they only looked backward. That was unwise and unnecessary. No matter what our age, we can be forward-looking. An attitude of eager expectancy at any age, means growth and happiness. Those who only look backward cease to grow, bore everyone and are shunned into loneliness. Those who, like the Apostle Paul, forgot that which lies behind and press forward to what lies ahead, are interesting and exciting people whatever age they attain. Which way are you looking?

FINISH FIRST ... Goud cabinet makers when installing wood paneling in a home, will finish the panel boards before installing. When applying several coats of varnish and rubbing between each coat, it is much easier to work on a bench.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill

The race toward adjournment of Congress before the Democratic National Convention meets in Atlantic City continued last week as bills piled high in both the House and Senate. Twenty-eight proposals were scheduled for consideration last Monday, alone, when legislation ranging over such diverse subjects as changes in the Railroad Retirement System, increasing the Farmers Home Administration loan fund limitations, the naming of Veterans Administration hospitals, and studies to find a site for a sea-level canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, to name only a few of the items scheduled.

Behind closed doors in Capitol building offices, meetings taking place to iron out differences in the bills being pushed through the House and Senate at a production-line pace. The efficiency of all this was being threatened with a short circuit as an angry debate mounted over the Supreme Court's recent decision relating to the reapportionment of State legislatures. As this is written, the House leadership explained that adjournment plans are in the realm of the old saying: "Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

VETERANS PENSIONS ... Among the important bills considered by the House was one to improve the nation's pension program for veterans with wartime services who are suffering non-service connected disabilities.

For several years, there has been dissatisfaction with the existing pension program. Over 150 proposals for changes in the pension laws have been offered in the House of Representatives alone. Serious disagreements among our national veterans organizations have continued about what the terms of the new legislation ought to be. These differences of opinion and the opposition of the White House to pension law changes have stood in the way of Congressional action.

Earlier this year, the House Veterans Affairs Committee began a study of the conflicting views this month national commanders of veterans organizations met with the Veterans Affairs Committee and agreed upon a bill which all could support.

The legislation is based upon the general thinking that many of our elderly veterans and the widows of veterans are in serious need and that first priority should go to them.

Congress enacted the last pension law in 1959. In that five-year period, the cost of living has increased by 6.1 per cent. With persons already based on the demonstration of need, their value has declined at least by this amount. Certainly it is not the intention of the Congress to create additional hardship because of a failure to act.

Several weeks ago, the House passed a bill to increase Social Security benefits by five per cent. If this bill becomes law, as expected, it could adversely affect pensions in some cases. There are income limitations in the pension program, and there is a requirement that Social Security benefits be counted as income. Some veterans with low incomes could actually find themselves in the predicament of receiving more funds from Social Security while reductions in their persons could result in an actual net decrease in their already meager incomes. This legislation would take care of this problem and improve other inequities in the present program. Its benefits will be felt first by the elderly veteran who is sick and in need of attendance.

The Senate must now consider the bill before it can be sent to the White House.

HOUSING ... A compromise housing bill to improve Federal Housing Administration sales and rental housing programs was also considered and passed by the House last week. The bill received considerable bipartisan support because most of the controversial items had been removed before it reached the final debate.

The principal argument arose over what kind of control Congress should exercise over the FHA programs. At present, the law primarily provides an open end on FHA housing insurance and requires a termination date of Oct. 1, 1965, for the entire program. An alternative, which I thought preferable, would restore the dollar limitation on the program and assure its continuation past the Oct. 1, 1965, date. This change was defeated by a narrow margin. However, since it offers Congress the prospect of tighter control and allows for more orderly planning in the nation's housing industry, it is likely to be considered again in the future.

SMALLER, STOUTER ... Lumber manufacturers have developed a new engineered 2 x 4 for home construction which is smaller than the old 2 x 4, yet combines engineered and technical research to do a better job. It will soon be on the market.

LIME FIELDS TO BE FALL SEEDED

The fall planting season will soon be upon us and it is not too early to have your soil tested to determine the need for lime for your fall crops, advises county extension chairman Leo F. Williams.

Liming is an essential, but often forgotten, part of any good farming program and the best way to determine the need for lime is to have your soil tested. Since lime takes several months to do its job and works best when well mixed with soil, it should be applied several months ahead of seeding if possible. But even if lime cannot be applied until seeding time, it still should be applied says Williams, it can mean the difference between a good crop and a failure, or one that doesn't return a profit. This is particularly true for clover-pasture crops that are frequently fall seeded, as well as small grains.

Get your soil sampling supplies from your county agricultural agent's office and make plans now to sample all fields to be fall seeded. Applying needed lime can make a tremendous difference in yields obtained.

MACEDONIA
MRS. C. W. LEE

Macedonia Moravian Church used the newly constructed sanctuary for the first time last Sunday morning. The new building is large and spacious, equipped with air-conditioning and cushioned pews. The pastor, Rev. J. Taylor Loflin, presided at the opening service. The August 13th festival of the Moravian Church was observed with Holy Communion. The large sanctuary was practically filled with members and some visitors were present. A formal opening of the new building with a consecration service is planned for the near future.

Mrs. J. R. Brown of Winston-Salem spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. J. Taylor Loflin. She was a visitor at Macedonia on Sunday for the first service in the new building.

Flowers were placed in Macedonia Moravian Church on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tierney. Mr. Tierney's company constructed the new sanctuary for Macedonia.

Miss Janice Loflin and Miss Patricia Beauchamp spent Saturday night with Mrs. Charlie Sapp of Tanglewood Park.

Collage Prayer meeting was conducted Saturday night at the parsonage of Macedonia. John Pink Hendrix was the leader. These prayer meetings are in preparation for the revival at Macedonia which begins on Monday night, Aug. 24, at 7:30. The evangelist will be the Rev. Milton Frazier of Hartsville, S. C. Rev. Frazier and his wife served the Marshall Baptist Church in Winston-Salem before going to the parsonage in Hartsville. They also appeared on WJS television in their program "The Fraziers." The public is invited to attend all of these special services.

We were all very glad to see Mrs. Lola Douthit and Paul Foster in church Sunday morning. The Rev. and Mrs. Warren Brannon and son of Waynesboro, Va., are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, and Mondell.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sparks visited Mrs. George Fry, Sr., and Mrs. Lola Douthit last Thursday.

When you're supplying a vital commodity like electricity, it's not just enough to meet the present needs of customers. We're looking ahead 5, 10, even 15 years from now . . . to a time when the power requirements of this area will be several times what they are today. This means planning, and lots of it. It means constant analyzing of potential new power sites. It means mountains of blueprints for future installations. It means experimenting with new power sources, like the nuclear station at Parr, S. ## Knife Wielder Scares Woman

A white man allegedly threatened a Negro woman around 7:30 a.m. Sunday morning in the Johnson Laundrette on Depot Street in Mocksville.

Mrs. Leonard (Bessie) Fisher, around 35 years of age, of the Greenhill Road, told Mocksville Chief of Police Joe Foster that she was alone in the laundrette waiting on some clothes to dry. She said that with the dryer running she was not aware of anyone else in the building until someone put a knife at her throat and told her that if she screamed he would "cut her throat."

Chief Foster said that Mrs. Fisher said she told the man: "Over there is my pocketbook . . . take my money—but let me go!" . . . to which he replied: "I don't want your damn money!"

When the man dropped the knife from her throat, Mrs. Fisher made a dash for the door and ran up Depot Street. Chief Foster said that he was in the police car in front of the police station when Mrs. Fisher ran up telling him the story . . . that a white man in a blue plaid shirt tried to attack her with a knife.

Chief Foster asked Mrs. Fisher to accompany him for identification purposes . . . summoned help . . . and began to comb the area. However, the man was not to be found.

Chief Foster said that prior to the alleged incident he had seen a young man, answering to the description given by the woman, walk across the square whittling with a knife. He said he recalled this when Mrs. Fisher said that the man was wearing a blue plaid shirt . . . as was the man he had seen.

Mrs. Fisher said that she was not harmed in any way or molested in any way . . . "just scared," she said.

Local officers are continuing their investigation into the incident.

Long, Salisbury St. All department chairmen and committee chairmen are urged to attend this meeting.

School Bus to Alter Signaling Methods

A child should be viewed as a human caution sign. A school bus loading or discharging children should be a stop sign to the alert driver.

Motor Vehicles Department officials are emphasizing the latter as a million rural youngsters prepare for another school year. Revised signalling practices will go into effect immediately to rule out any confusion held by motorists when around moving school buses.

Elbert Peters, director of the agency's driver education division, explained that henceforth red flashing lights and mechanical stop arms would be used only when stopping for passengers.

Previously it was a fairly common practice for young bus drivers to signal turns and other maneuvers with their red lights or stop arm. "This practice will be abolished at once," Peters said.

"The new rule, when adopted throughout the state, should clearly establish for the motorist that when red light is on the bus is preparing to stop."

Peters emphasized that drivers are being instructed to use the de-or discharge passengers at established stops along the road.

"The rule will add greater protection for children crossing the road to and from the bus," he said. "Violations of stop laws are regarded as extremely serious because of the potential danger involved."

He advised motorists to stay alert for the fall change-over in the highway traffic situation. Over 9,000 school buses and thousands of children will make a difference, he said.

The accident happened around 1:15 a.m. Monday morning, approximately 4 miles east of Cornetzer on a rural road.

State Highway Patrolman Woods said that his investigation showed that Morris was driving the car with the three passengers and was heading west at approximately 45-55 mph when he lost control of the car coming around a sharp left-hand curve and ran off the side of the road. The car traveled approximately 150-200 feet in right side ditch and overturned on top. Morris told Patrolman Woods that dust and loose gravel on the road caused him to lose control.

Damage to the car was estimated at $150.

Morris was charged with speed too fast for conditions.

Apprentices Of The Tanglewood Theatre—

The Unsung Stars of Summer Stock

by John Rosenthal

(Ed. Note . . . John Rosenthal who is spending his third season at Tanglewood Barn Theatre served one summer as an apprentice, one season as a technical assistant, and this year is assistant in promotion.)

What is an apprentice? Who is the poor, bedraggled wail that Charles Dickens saw with such earnest compassion? David Copperfield? Oliver Twist? Who is that hunched and trudging figure who cries so pitifully in the smoky immensities of 19th century London? Well, whoever he or she is, the literary tradition sees the apprentice as a dough-faced wretch with dirty hands - the small, unknown figure, who, in the world of shadows, puts the tick into the clock and the last slitch in the shoe. An intensely pathetic thing.

An apprentice at the Tanglewood Barn Theatre fits nicely into this traditional category. A kind of vagrant from college, the theatre apprentice. This job is inevitably dirty, the hours are unavoidably long and arduous, and any sort of public recognition is practically out of the question. True, he is accorded a place for a photograph in the back of the program, but this is not much. For one summer, the theatre apprentice understands a little more about hell. And something about the theatre too.

Four years ago, at Tanglewood, I was an apprentice. I am still recovering. The Theatre and its magic had tangled me in a thousand knots, and I was determined not to escape. But that is silly: one cannot even presume against magic! One afternoon I asked my college director (Jim Walton, also managing-director of the Tanglewood Barn Theatre) if I could be an apprentice the following summer. He laughed, wagered I wouldn't last three weeks, and hired me.

The first mistake I made was not appreciating the laugh, or believing the bet. I was eighteen years old, moderately complacent, and no insight, experience or warning was about to prevail over me; plus, I was a college freshman, and they know everything. That a senior had told me that summer-theatre-apprenticeship was the most difficult job in the world meant little if nothing to me.

The second mistake I made was coming to Tanglewood with a touch of success in high school and college theatre. These accomplishments gave me the arrogance of the nouveau-riche, a slight but definite swagger, a ridiculously emphatic stage-voice, and the calm assurance that the much-heralded "lot" of the apprentice would pass me by. By golly, I would join the ranks of the actor, and together we would take our curtain calls.

It never happened. It never even began to happen. When I finally learned what it was to be an apprentice, I had expended an immense amount of fury and muddled wrath. There was more than one canvas flat that I had put my foot through, and numerous nails that had been angrily whacked into the sides of the barn. The fact was that I couldn't believe Apprenticeship when it finally descended upon me.

But how could I? The previous summer had been wiled away in New York City (an air-conditioned city), taking a few scripts here and there, earning $75 weekly. Now I was working for $20 a week (room-and-board - $20 more than than most summer stocks - usually the apprentice pays for his lot), and no one was putting me on the back. In addition, I was sleeping only three or four hours a night.

The third and final mistake of my first summer-stock season was to think. Instead of bull-dozing my way through three months, picking up whatever I could along the way, I thought about my special case. Oh, I was so overworked, so infernally special! Why didn't the promotions-manager take care of her own concessions stand? Why didn't the house manager scrub the lavatories? Mine was a dream, a vision - applause, footlights, large roles and a wink of stardom!

But mine was not to reason why, mine was . . . I cleaned the theatre though, and won my bet with Jim Walton. I lost fifteen pounds, and in proportion, that much immaturity. I learned the invaluable lesson of the apprentice: That a theatre is an ensemble operation, that this ensemble hits its highest note around 5:00 a. m., and that there is nothing more gratifying than a production which has fulfilled its every potential.

In 1964, the apprentice-system at the Barn theatre has changed. Hiring apprentices is now a Herculean task. Managing-Director Walton receives three to five hundred apprentice applications. Out of this mass, seven or eight are chosen - seven or eight young people whose experience, credits, skills, special qualifications, recommendations and photographs meet the multifold requirements.

Of course, the choice of apprentices ultimately depends upon a utilitarian principle: "the most for the least". It is the over-all good of the company which must be considered. Therefore, an apprentice might be chosen because of previous experience in costuming, or because of a particular knack at carpentry.

The apprentices presently employed at Tanglewood are a variegated bunch. Their qualifications touch upon every aspect of the theatre. Robert Hall, for instance, a junior at the University of Nebraska, is a talented actor and artist; his painstaking craftsmanship has added a touch of splendor to practically every set of the summer. At this point in the season his eyes have become a bit tired, and he drags a bit, but he keeps going.

Or Carole Saintings. She's a pretty blond from Wake Forest College. Without her connections in Winston-Salem, many of the shows would be without valuable props. In addition, Carole is a certified beautician, a model, a skillful truck-driver and an actress. The same variety of interests and qualifications holds true for the other apprentices. They are, in a very real sense, a "melting pot" of college theatres.

Undoubtedly, these apprentices went through the same pre-summer nonsense as I did. Many friends and professors attempted to dissuade me from going the way of the summer theatre. "It's not the real thing," they would say - "not real theatre". But, as mentioned, what can be done against magic? The apprentice-to-be is no great fool. The movies can only provide a substitute; they can never satisfy the inexplicable wonder which the stage has sole rights to.

So, it has to be the long, hot summer. It has to be. There is no way for the young man or woman to comprehend the theatre without the interminable procession of hanging lights from shaky pipes, cleaning painted paint cans, hosing down flats, hauling and lugging furniture, pulling nails that are hammered too deeply, trying to decipher obscure blueprints, bolting down impertinent platforms, smoking wet cigarettes, drink cold coffee, staring at blinding lights, in order to find, for the light man, the "black spot", flinging away the hot and dirty day in the affirmation of a blister and a bruise, and finally, taking a role that can never be too small.

Sometimes these apprentices have raised the question - "where have all the flowers gone?" - but generally they don't. They accept the work room and its cans of nails, and they understand that what they must endure is a ritual, a part of a process. Apprenticeship is an experience which is invaluable to the star-dusted novice - it is the first confrontation with professional theatre, and all that professional theatre entails. The apprentice, in all probability, will get a hint of the love and dedication which is requisite for a theatrical career. He or she will certainly, if nothing else, be able to place the grandeur of stardom in its proper perspective.

Now Playing At Tanglewood Barn Theatre—

'Accent On Youth' ... A Comic Success

What is it about "Accent on Youth" that is so charming, so gay, so gently absurd? It might be its expansive vivacity - a kind of comic gusto which bounces as it radiates.

Whatever its charm "Accent on Youth", one of the great comic successes of the Broadway Stage, is now playing at the Tanglewood Barn Theatre.

"Accent on Youth" is one of those rare plays which shines with the brightness of its own convictions. Through a delightful romp of three acts, it positively affirms that the romancing of a middle-aged man with a few pretty young girls is as exciting, as flamboyant, and as phenomenally preposterous as the amours of two young lovers.

Stephen Gaye, the hero of "Accent on Youth", a rather "witty, sensitive, imaginative, wordy" playwright (so he terms himself) has only nine remaining years before he must classify himself as an old man. What should he do? Should he take one last fling at the mad, mad world, or should he take his pills and accept his situation as it is???

When "Accent on Youth" opened on Broadway, the reviewer for the NEW YORK EVENING POST wrote: "... Mr. Raphaelson's dramas is by all odds the most adroit and most finished comedy the season has revealed. Its writing gives forth a pleasant glow ... It is sensitive, intelligent, and uncommonly inventive ..."

Social Security In Davie County

Taft McCoy, Social Security Field Representative for Davie County said today that the district office in Salisbury receives many inquiries concerning the payment of social security taxes on rental income from apartments and rooms.

"Income from renting room or apartments does not count for social security unless personal services are rendered primarily for the convenience of the occupant," Mr. McCoy said. Income from renting property for business and commercial use such as a store, factory, or office space is not counted for social security purposes regardless of the service rendered for the convenience of the tenant.

The types of services which would cause rental income from an apartment or rooms to be covered under social security can be generally defined as "hotel type" services, preparing and serving meals, sweeping and mopping floors, dusting and cleaning, washing dishes, and emptying wastebaskets.

McCoy emphasized that no particular service or combination of these services will necessarily cause the income to be counted for social security. Each case must be considered by itself.

He suggests that if any one has additional question concerning this subject that they get in touch with the office in Salisbury at 105 Collier Avenue.

Davie Women Serving On Homemaking Group For Dixie Classic

Three women from Davie County will serve on the advisory committee for the 1964 Dixie Classic Fair's Homemaking Division competition, October 6-10, in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Sam Walker of Advance; Mrs. Roy Forrest of Mocksville; and Mrs. Osthine W. West, Home Agent, of Mocksville will be members of this committee.

Area homemakers will compete for $1,545.50 in cash premiums. These premiums will go to winners in home demonstration booths, food conservation, culinary, clothing and fashions in house furnishings. Mrs. H. W. Dolson of Winston-Salem is general chairman for this division of the fair's activities.

Clubs exhibiting Home Demonstration Booths will compete for $740 in cash awards.

Canners and preservers of food will compete for $234 in premiums. The categories include fruit preserves, jams and fruit butters, jelly, pickles and relishes, fruit juices, tomato juice, and fruits and vegetables. In the culinary department $129.50 will be offered. Categories include yeast bread and other breads, cakes (no mixes allowed), baked pie shells, miscellaneous, cookies and candy.

Again this year the cake auction will be held with Neil Bolton, fair manager, serving as auctioneer. Cakes in certain categories will be auctioned off after judging if they qualify in the opinion of the judges. These cakes will include chocolate pound cake, iced or un-iced; German chocolate pound cake; old-fashioned pound cake; mock pound cake, dark or white fruit cake not less than 5-pounds; angel food cake; chiffon cake; white or yellow cake with chocolate icing; devil's food cake; pineapple upside down cake; money derived from this auction will be mailed to exhibitors whose cakes are sold.

For sewing, knitting, crocheting, and embroidering, $188 will be offered in cash premiums. The various classes include women's clothing, women's hats, men's or boys' clothing, children's clothing, and a miscellaneous division. House furnishings will provide $204 in awards for rugs, quilts, spreads, afghans, table and bed linen, Yuletide decorations, and miscellaneous. There is also a Senior Citizens' Class.

All entries must be made on entry forms supplied by the fair. Deadline is September 18th. These official forms, premiums lists, and complete information are available by writing to the Dixie Classic Fair, P. O. Box 7525 Reynolda Station, Salem.

the heart-throb of a million American women; and John Rosenthal as Dickie Reynolds, the young matinee idol who has nothing more than popularity and a lot of vitamins. Other members of the cast are: Mrs. Carolyn Green, JoAnne Akalaitis, Thomas Behrens and Robert Shea. "Accent on Youth" will be directed by James H. Walton, and designed by Thomas Behrens. Coffee is served in the air-conditioned Green Room immediately after each show, and the audience is invited to meet the company members.

Dixie Classic Offers $1200 Cash Premiums For Community Exhibits

The Community Development Division of the Dixie Classic Fair, scheduled for October 6-10 in Winston-Salem, is offering a total of $1,200 in cash premiums for exhibits. Neil Bolton, fair manager, recently pointed out that all available exhibit booth space is always taken early and reminded exhibitors that deadline for entries is September 18.

Eddie Newsome of Farmington is chairman of the Davie County group serving on the advisory committee. Other members are Duke Tullerow of Center and Mrs. Claude Carner of the Davie Academy Community.

Competition is open to an organized community, subordinate Grange, of community Farm Bureau in Davie and the other ten counties of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association. The exhibits are to portray some phase of the objectives that have been or are being carried out in the current year. The community shall select its own theme as long as it is consistent with some phase of the objectives. It is expected, Bolton said, that the communities will not use materials or objects that have been used in prior exhibits.

In making the announcement, Bolton also cited the objectives of the Community Development Division to encourage and stimulate rural families to work together in organized groups to:

- 1. Increase per capita income by carrying out better farming practices, expansion of enterprises, addition of new enterprises, and through expansion and development of industrial resources and opportunities.
2. Better home and family living through home improvements and conveniences, better home management, and better family relations.
3. Improve community institutions such as churches, schools, community centers; improve community services such as highways, telephones, safety, fire protection, health and sanitation; and provide for adequate recreational and social needs.
4. Bring youth into the community program and organization through projects, activities and programs.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Riding in a taxi, I was impressed by the wisdom of the driver, an older man Louis Kraus who apparently had seen better years but was happy in this one too. "I could have lost my temper at that crazy driver who almost hit us," he commented calmly, "but long ago I taught myself not to get upset. If I hadn't, I'd have gone crazy in this mad whirl myself. It's just not worth it. Life is too short for vengeance. Now you take these race riots. They are caused by the lunatic fringes of the groups involved, not by the people as a whole. And while the disturbances do reflect on all concerned, they are only the work of a few. Some of them want more than liberty. They want license. But I repeat, life is too short for anger."

Many all too vividly recall thirty-odd years ago when our country was in the midst of a great depression. The man most blamed for it was 90 years old recently and of course is Herbert Hoover. Since coming to New York, I have had several pleasant contacts with Mr. Hoover, and along with countless others, have come to have great respect for this elder statesman. He has carved out a new career as an able one-time associate, Dr. Oliver Carmichael of Asheville. North Carolina reminds me, with the dignity and distinction befitting a former President of the United States. Only John Adams among our chief executives lived to be as old as Herbert Hoover, and both have referred to their years in the White House as unhappy ones. Both served only one term, neither was a good politician. But both achieved places in our history more lasting than that of some Presidents who had happier times. Mr. Hoover, may you live to be a hundred!

The late Al Smith was addressing a crowd when a heckler yelled, "Tell 'em what's on your mind, Al. It won't take long. Undismayed, Al grinned, pointed at the man and shouted, "Stand u, pardner, and I'll tell 'em what's on both our minds. It won't take any longer.!"

A survey of a thousand marriages reveals that more than 95% of the young Americans who married in their college years are still married, as compared to the national average of 75%. Reasons given: there are no social pressures on married college student. They are not expected to buy new cars, smart clothes, better furniture to keep up with the Joneses, and in these first unpressured years, they can really get to know and understand each other in a relaxed and carefree atmosphere.

Adding to our regret for vanishing Americans is the recent passing of Fontaine Fox who must have been a loveable man because he created such loveable cartoon characters. How many of us have taken trips of fanciful delight on the storied Toonerville Trolley which Fox drew for newspapers for 35 years. Intertwined with the delapidated street cars were such memorable personalities as its Skipper, the Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang, Aunt Eppie Hogg, the Powerful Katrinka, Suitcase Simpson, the Toonerville Cop and Mickey (Himself) McGuire, later portrayed by Mickey Rooney whom I met in Hollywood as well as New York. It was said that most of these beloved characters were based on real people in Fox's home town of Louisville, Kentucky.

Many people have run off from hot weather which often besets New Yorkers at this time of the year. They feel that they may have "fled when no man pursued" because of such delightful cool conditions which have prevailed here much of the summer. Perhaps this is a good omen in election year as the hot air of campaign oratory begins to sweep over the country until it reaches volcanic proportions and overcomes the hapless voters in early November.

Your newspaper is like a window... with a view as wide as the world, and as far into the future as the mind of man can be projected. It is the kind of a window that gives you a close-up look at the most distant events and developments... a window that extends the horizons of your knowledge even into the realm of outer space, now at long last revealing its secrets.

Some of the things that you see through your newspaper "window" are on the lighter side... amusing, entertaining. Others bear directly on your day-to-day life and on the future of yourself and your family. Both sides of the news are presented promptly, accurately and completely in your newspaper. Both sharpen your awareness of the world in which you live.

Your newspaper is all things to all men and all women. In its pages, each can find the latest information on what interests him most. It covers the community, county, state, nation and world. Davie Travel Income Amounts to $1,210,000—

Travel Services Aid Local Economy

Nearly one billion dollars was the total income of the travel serving business in North Carolina during 1963. It will probably top the one-billion mark this year.

Of the $968 million total, $286 million came from out-of-state travelers and $181 from North Carolina residents.

During this same period of 1963, the total income of the travel serving business in Davie County amounted to $1,210,000. Of this amount, $178,000 was spent in Davie by out-of-state travelers.

In Davie County a total of 74 firms are listed in the category of travel service. These include lodging places, food service places, gasoline service stations, etc. These 74 firms employ a total of 249 persons and paid out $708,000 to these employees during 1963.

These and many other pertinent facts and figures are revealed in the latest report on North Carolina's travel industry, third largest in the State, by Dr. Lewis C. Copeland of the University of Tennessee.

The report shows that last year 27-million persons from other states visited North Carolina. Their travel ran up almost 5-billion passenger miles.

The tourist spends almost 30c of every dollar for transportation... gasoline, auto services, repairs, etc. Almost the same amount of money is spent for meals. Twenty-cents from each dollar goes for lodging and about ten percent of the money the tourists spend in North Carolina is for entertainment and recreation.

But this is not all. It is estimated that eight percent of all retail purchases are made by tourists and other travelers away from home.

National Guard Planes

Citizens whose memories go back some 30-35 years may recall when National Guard planes were open cockpit jobs, propeller driven, and gasoline fueled. The primary function of the Guard squadrons of that day was observation, and a good part of this was done by eye.

Now we are advised that a strike force of Air National Guard jet planes is making a non-stop flight to Europe in about eight hours, refueling enroute from Air Guard aerial tankers. In Europe, the planes are going immediately on training exercise missions for the U. S. Seventh Army. The entire deployment from U. S. bases to Europe and return is taking just 14 days, 8-22 August.

All of this belongs to "The World Does Move" department. We can regret that it doesn't move faster toward peace. Until it does, we are pleased to note that the Air National Guard is keeping the pace with the requirements for defense.

The fact that National Guard planes can support our forces deployed abroad, and our allies, in a matter of hours must be taken into account by anyone planning to attack us. This has its own deterrent effect, and we are of one mind that it is better to deter a war than it is to fight one.

A National Organization Is Formed—

Pearl Harbor Survivors Are Sought

The untiring search of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association goes on and on, across the nation.

A letter to this newspaper from Charles W. Blazek, National Vice-President of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association says:

"We believe that we might still be able to find some 40,000 former members of the United States Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard, who are eligible to join with us in the "Pearl Harbor Survivors Association. Eligibility to join with us is for those survivors who served on the Island of Oahu, then the Territory of Hawaii, or who were on duty or on station, within three miles offshore of Oahu, on the fateful day in American History, December 7th, at 07:55 a.m."

Those meeting this eligibility are requested to write for full information on the PHSA at the national headquarters office: Pearl Harbor Survivors Assn., Room No. 5, Jefferson Building, 101 East High Street, Jefferson City, Missouri (65101).

The Pearl Harbor Survivors Association is a non-profit, fraternal veterans group composed strictly of the survivors of the Pearl Harbor attack of December 7th, 1941. The group has already begun formulating plans for revisiting Pearl Harbor for the 25th anniversary memorial service and concert on December 7th, 1966.

At the present time the organization has state chairmen and co-chairmen in 34 states across the country and members in all 50 states. However, they have not been able to locate any survivors in this area of North Carolina to assist in the responsibility of directing the search for "friends and buddies" who did survive and are still living in this area.

"We need all the survivors to make the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association complete. If you are a survivor, or know of anyone that is a survivor, contact us immediately", said the letter.

Editorial Briefs

The North Carolina Heart Association's program of public health education is designed to encourage patients to seek earlier diagnosis, to eliminate needless fears and to acquaint persons throughout the state with new developments in the cardiovascular field.

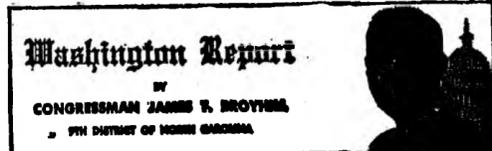

The job of the circulatory system is to distribute blood throughout the body bringing a steady flow of nourishment and oxygen to the billions of body cells and removing waste from these cells, says the North Carolina Heart Association.

The death rate from cardiovascular disease among American males, aged 35-64, decreased six per cent during the past decade, the American Heart Association recently reported.

The present North Carolina death rate suggests that one of every two living Tar Heels will die of heart disease but continuing progress made in medicine and public health forecasts a decline in premature death and disability from heart disease, says the North Carolina Heart Association.

The heart is a fist-sized, four-chambered pump which beats almost three billion times during the course of an average lifetime, says the North Carolina Heart Association.

Reapportionment
I am convinced these decisions mark a long backward step into that unhappy era when a majority of the members of this court were thought by many to have convinced themselves and each other that the demands of the Constitution were to be measured not by what it says, but by their own notions of wise political theory." These were the words of Supreme Court Justices Stewart and Clark as they disagreed with the pronouncement of the court on June 15 that both Houses of State legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population alone. With this decision, the Supreme Court was apparently denying the right of the people of a state to decide for themselves how their legislature would be apportioned.

The Court's decision was widely regarded as an invasion of the legislative authority of the States. Coming on the heels of other recent controversial pronouncements by the Court, it has stirred up strong public reactions. As a practical matter, the decision plunged the country into confusion which threatened the orderly process of State government because, in effect, existing legislatures in many states would be termed as illegally constituted. Few guidelines were laid down by the Court. To avoid what one member of Congress described as a "Constitutional crisis," Congress needed to become involved in this perplexing issue. The question was "how."

In the closing days of this session and under circumstances far from ideal, both the House and the Senate took up the question. While we might not agree with the drastic action of the Court in the June 15 decision and others which have followed, there is no doubt that many of our State legislatures have ceased to be representative. Reapportionment and reform have been refused as legislatures continued to reflect circumstances of many years ago. Interests and political parties which have in fact lost much of their former dominance have held on to their advantages in State after State. Shifts in population have gone unrecognized. Growing cities and suburban areas have been refused reasonable and adequate representation. State constitutional requirements for reapportionment at regular intervals have been ignored. We have seen this happen in North Carolina. The same pattern has existed in varying degrees in other States.

Only under the threat of Federal suits have some of the States begun to take reluctant action to make changes in their legislatures. The movement to reapportion has been slow, but reforms are being made. As Congress approached this problem, three alternatives were clear. One group sought to allow the Court's latest reapportionment decisions to stand with no change. A middle course called for the initiation of a Constitutional amendment stating that it is the right of States to choose for themselves if they wish one house in a two-house legislature to be chosen on the basis of population and the other house on other considerations. The third course would be the denial of the right of the Federal Supreme Court to make appellate decisions in matters involving the reapportionment of State legislatures.

My own convictions support the Constitutional amendment proposal since I recognize that what may be

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — The Foreign Aid authorization bill has become the Senate means of legislating on the questions raised by the Supreme Court decision to reapportion membership of the both houses of the State legislatures on the basis of its "one man, one vote" criteria. Senators Mansfield and Dirksen have co-sponsored a measure to permit "stays of court proceedings" in instances where a Federal court requires hasty reapportionment of a State legislature. This proposal which started a Senate filibuster by some opponents grew out of a ground swell of public opinion questioning the judicial authority and wisdom of the June 15th court decisions handed down against six states.

The House, whose members have authored more than 130 resolutions to restrict or modify the effect of the decisions, has taken stronger action already by the passage of the Tuck Bill which withdraws from the United States courts both original and appellate jurisdiction over reapportionment cases.

The effect of these Congressional actions is to publicly air feelings that have developed over the most controversial Court decision in many years. At stake in the controversy are the most fundamental questions of government. These involve the power of the Federal courts to take jurisdiction of reapportionment cases the power of Congress to regulate the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the system of checks and balances traditional in our Federal system of government, and the wisdom of settling the Federal courts up as the body to determine how matters of representation shall be settled.

For 160 years the Federal courts, refusal to enter this political thicket, considered apportionment a question beyond their several jurisdictions. With the handing down of the June 15th decisions, however, the Federal courts are now permitted to decide the most difficult and grave questions of state representation.

The question before Congress goes far beyond the need in many instances of State legislative apportionment reforms. It relates to all the complex governmental questions discussed above, and the simpler issue of whether the Federal Judiciary should have the power to dictate hasty political judgments which long experience has determined should be vested in the people and their legislatures.

The opposition to this Supreme Court decision comes from all sections of the nation. It stems from the fact that 44 or more states may have to revamp their legislatures in the immediate future as a result of the opinion of six men whose opinion was opposed by three others unless Congress acts promptly.

In what manner the Congress will finally act on these measures no one can now foretell. The Mansfield-Dirksen rider to the Foreign Aid bill and House-passage of the Tuck bill have made it clear that a considerable body of Congress is ready to declare that the Court has gone beyond the bounds of practicality and wisdom in the area of state legislative apportionment.

PLAY IT SAFE
When building a railing around a patio deck which is high above ground, be sure to use heavy framing lumber. You should use at least 4 x 4 posts and not less than 2 x 4 rails. Two by six rails are even better and you must then increase your posts to 4 x 6.

WHAT TO DO? . . . They aren't saying much about it right now, but agricultural workers in every county of the State are privately wondering what effect the Civil Rights Law will have on their jobs.

As one of the most potent long arms of Uncle Sam, farm agents, extension workers, home demonstration leaders, etc.—the whole kit and keboodle—will soon feel the full force of the new law. Detailed plans for desegregation are almost complete.

Of course, there must be full integration. Will we continue to have—as we do in so many counties—a Negro farm agent and a white farm agent? How will things go in the far flung Farmers Home Administration? Will 4-H Clubs continue to be segregated?

These are the questions being asked — behind closed doors until after the Election. A report now in progress, and certain not to be released until after Nov. 3, will show that most Negro agents fall behind their white brethren in training. Since hiring and firing falls under local control, look for trouble here.

There is trouble aplenty for Agriculture already; and it looks as if the Civil Rights Law will add to it—from State College here, up and down and right and left, into every county and hamlet in this nation.

WHAT HE SAYS . . . In the event that some farmers would like to leave L. B. Johnson and the Democrats, as we hear tell, and go running to the water that's gold, they might be interested in what the GOP candidate for the Presidency says in his famous book, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

Says Barry Goldwater in the book's chapter on "Freedom For the Farmer," page 48, " . . . Doing something about it means—and there can be no equivocation here—PROMPT AND FINAL TERMINATION OF THE FARM SUBSIDY PROGRAM. The only way to persuade farmers to enter other fields of endeavor is to stop paying inefficient farmers for produce that cannot be sold at free market prices. Is this a cruel solution? Is it heartless to permit the natural laws of economics to determine how many farmers there shall be in the same way that those laws determine how many bankers, or druggists, or watchmakers there shall be? It was never considered so before the subsidy program began . . ."

He concludes the paragraph in this way: "Let us remember that the movement FROM the farm TO other fields of endeavor has been proceeding in this country since its beginning—and with good effects, not ill."

Well, no economist are we. But what is sauce for the goose should be ditto for the gander. So, let us do away, also, with the vast billion-dollar subsidies going from Uncle Sam to railroads, airlines—and the subsidies of another type accruing to cooperatives of various kinds.

It is a bad situation, no doubt about it, but North Carolina would be in a terrible condition if Uncle Sam were to pull out of our agricultural programs. The fact is that we don't have the industry to absorb the vast throngs that would have to leave the farm. They would become wards of the Government — which might prove much, much more expensive than the control program.

SPORTS AHEAD . . . What we don't know about football would fill Kenan Stadium, but about this time of the year—being a lover of North Carolina autumn — we do like to think about it.

And, when Jack Horner of the Durham Herald and in Duke's backyard, says North Carolina will be in first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference, it must really be so. For, frankly, we can't see Horner even thinking it, otherwise.

Yes, in one of the many football annuals just out, Jack puts North Carolina in first place, Duke in second, Clemson in third, Virginia comes fourth, South Carolina is in fifth place, N. C. State of UNC) sixth, Maryland is seven, and Wake Forest eighth.

"Now that the color line has been broken (Ed Note: Darryl Hill for Maryland last year), more and more Negroes will be welcomed to the football squads of these Dixie institutions. Wake Forest, a Baptist college at Winston-Salem, N. C., hired former Illinois assistant Bill Tate to rebuild its football fences. He immediately signed up the school's first two Negro athletes for September delivery. George Washington U. greets four Negro candidates up from the frush when fall drills begin."

GOES WITH DUKE . . . One of the South's favorite announcers in the sports field is Ray Reeve. Down, and almost completely out, last year—basketball did not seem the same without him—Reeve will be back with new punch this season. He will be the big man on the Duke Sports Network.

State will continue moving through WPTF, Raleigh, while Carolina has moved to a Charlotte affiliation, WSOC.

Reeve will have the big slot formerly occupied by Add Penfield.

GOOD TIMES ROLL . . . Prosperity continued in July to roll in the sale of new trucks and automobiles in North Carolina.

In July of 1959, five years ago, the total number of new autos sold in the State was 10,924. In July of 1963—a record July, incidentally—the sales had climbed to 13,476. This past July they had jumped to 14,497.

With trucks five years ago in July, total sales ran to 2,644. In July of last year new truck sales totaled 2,748. In July of this year the total ran to 3,060.

With the new automobiles, however, there was a slide-off from June when new automobiles were 14,623; and new trucks were only 2,475.

Several makes of cars sold more than twice as many this time as in July five years ago. Buick, for instance, had only 404 in new sales in July of 1959. This past July the sales totaled 670. They were 828 in June. Dodge was 220 in July five years ago; and 719 this July. Mercury was only 220 in new sales in the State in 1959 July. This July the figure was 671. Pontiac's new sales in July, 1959, were 599. This July, 1,186.

For the first time in many, many months—we would estimate upwards of three years—Ford sales this July outdistanced Chevrolet in North Carolina by 4,022 to 3,852. To our knowledge, too, this marks the first time any single make of car has sold more than 4,000 in any summer month. Chevy means Corvair, Chevrolet, etc., and Ford is Falcon, Mustang, etc.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where the farmers and ranchers in some parts of the country was bad in need of rain. This ain't the problem it used to be in the old days afore the Government invented the farm program.

I can recollect when I was a boy that a farmer would get down on his knees and pray for rain. And most of the time he would get it. Now he just sets down and writes his Congressman for more aid. And like in olden times with the rain, he gets it — if he votes right.

Just like the automobile done away with the horse and was now doing away with the people, so has the Government subsidy done away with the need for much rain for the farmer. The less he grows the more he gets from Santa Claus. Actual, for general purposes, a farmer needs a little rain now and then to cool off the barn and keep the flash biting. It ain't good fer it to git as dry as one farmer in Georgia was claiming. He said it was so dry at his place the catfish was suffering from hayfever.

Speaking of farmers and the Government, I was reading a piece showing how careful the Department of Agriculture was to see that ever farmer got his check. When the feller filled out his quota papers he put his name down as R. B. Jones. They wrote back and told him to fill in what the R and B stood for. He told 'em they didn't stand for nothing, that they was put on his birth certificate to comply with the law. So them clerks in the Department of Agriculture filled out his records as "R. (only) B. (only) Jones." He got his check prompt and it was made out to Ronly Bonly Jones. You can't beat them Government agencies, Mister Editor, gettting the details on the records.

Gitting down to the local level, me and my old lady went to church Sunday as usual and when our pastor got through preaching his sermon he told the congregation he would like to take a vacation for a couple weeks. One of our Deacons got up and made the motion, and to help it along he allowed as how he thought the congregation would enjoy it. The preacher got his vacation, but after that crack, I'm figgering he ain't going to enjoy it. The good Deacon didn't mean no harm, he's just one of them fellers that sticks his foot in his mouth ever time he opens it. The world is full of them kind of folks.

Actual, Mister Editor, we got a

County Farm Agent
LEO F. WILLIAMS

WHAT DOES pH MEAN
AND HOW IS IT USED IN SOIL TESTING

According to county extension chairman Leo F. Williams, the term pH is used to express the relative acidity (sourness) or basicity (sweetness) of a solution. In the acid range between pH 1 and 7 there are more acids than bases present. In the alkaline range between pH 7 and 14 there are more bases than acids. A pH of 7 is neutral. In soil testing in the Eastern and South-eastern parts of the United States, pH tests are nearly always in the acid range. In other words, states Williams, nearly all of our soils are acid to some degree. They are usually strongly acid if they have never been limed or have not had an application of lime within the last five or ten years. This acid condition of our soils is due primarily to the large amounts of rain water that move through them bleaching out the bases such as calcium and magnesium, and these being replaced by acid substances.

There is generally a good relationship between the acidity level of a soil, as shown by its pH, and the lime level. In other words, as the lime level is increased, the pH is increased. Or to look at pH in the more usual way, as the soil pH is increased by liming, soil acidity is decreased.

Acidity itself is not harmful to crops, states Williams unless it becomes very strong (below pH 4.5-5). What is harmful are the effects brought about by an acid condition. For example, at pH 5.5 and below, aluminum compounds, which are present in nearly all soils, become soluble and release aluminum in a form that can be taken up by plants. Small amounts of soluble aluminum are very harmful to crop growth.

Another side effect of too much acidity is its effect in reducing the availability of phosphorus. Also, soils that are too acid will not retain as much potassium as soils with pH values in the range of 6.0 to 6.5. An acid soil condition is harmful also to the growth of beneficial bacteria.

By liming our soils to a pH level of 6.0 to 6.5, considered desirable for most non-legume crops, we hold in check the harmful side effects of soil acidity.

A soil test is essential to determine the lime needs of your soil states county extension chairman Leo F. Williams. Instruction for sampling and sampling boxes can be obtained from any of the professional agriculture workers in the county.

SILAGE
High moisture is one of the chief things hurting silage quality in North Carolina. Here are some suggestions: When to Cut: (1) Corn—full to hard dent stage; (2) Millet, Sorghum, Sudangrass—heads in dough stage; (3) Soybeans—seeds start forming until pods turn yellow; (4) Lespedeza—seeds start forming; (5) Mixture—according to plant that dominates mixture.

Preservatives—(1) Moisture over 70 per cent (unwilted)—Use a preservative, such as 125 to 150 pounds of corn and cob meal, plus 150 pounds of chopped straw, per ton of silage; (2) Moisture 65 to 70 per cent—Preservative not necessary; but for insurance, consider 125 to 150 pounds of corn and cob meal, or 8 pounds of sodium metabisulfite, per ton of silage; (3) Moisture under 65 per cent—In conventional silos, add water or 80 pounds of molasses per ton, or seal gas tight; (4) Moisture 45 to 55 per cent—Low-moisture silage requires gas-tight silo.

Pack and Cover silos well, especially horizontal types. You MUST keep the air out. Put a layer of sawdust shavings, lime, rough pasture or weed clippings on the plastic cover.

CATTLE SALE
The two sales of performance-tested cattle—Rocky Mount, Sept. 9 and Statesville, Oct. 9, will provide an excellent opportunity to get into or expand a breeding program with top-quality cattle. At Rocky Mount, from 100 to 125 heifers of each breed (Angus and Hereford) will be offered, along with 22 bulls of each breed. The Statesville sale will feature more than 100 commercial Hereford Heifers, plus top-performance-tested bulls, both Angus and Hereford. You'll be building for the future with cattle like these.

About 60 such awards are given annually by the Methodist Board of Education and its nationwide scholarship program. More than 8,000 National Methodist Scholarships have been granted since the program was started in 1945.

Funds for the support of National Methodist Scholarships are received from local Methodist churches on the basis of a church-wide offering on Methodist Student Day, the second Sunday in June.

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — As a result of action just taken by the Congress, a crash program in tobacco research will begin this year, with a major part of the work being carried on at the Federal Research Station at Oxford.

For several years, I have been trying to get the entire tobacco research program beefed up, and I am pleased that these efforts are beginning to bring real results.

Earlier this week, a conference committee of the House and Senate agreed to increase Federal funds for basic tobacco research by over $2,000,000 during the current fiscal year. About $975,000 of the total amount will be spent at Oxford.

We were able to get these funds earmarked for tobacco research with the help of President Johnson. In fact, we would not have been successful without his active support. On two different occasions, Senator Ervin and I discussed at length with President Johnson the serious problems facing tobacco and he promised to help obtain more funds for basic tobacco research.

The action taken by the Congress also has the full support of the Department of Agriculture, and already scientists in USDA are mapping plans to implement the expanded program.

As the new research efforts get under way a great deal of attention will be given to coordinating USDA research programs with those of the U. S. Public Health Service in the field of medical research.

At this point, scientists feel that the new research efforts must be concentrated in three fields:

1. Medical research to determine the effects, if any, of smoking on health.
2. Analytical research to identify those substances in tobacco, if any, which may affect health.
3. Quality research to learn more about the components of tobacco, and how to add desirable characteristics and remove undesirable characteristics from the plant.

Most of the work under the new program at Oxford will be centered around efforts to improve the quality of tobacco.

Although the new expanded program is only a beginning, I sincerely feel we are making real progress in getting into operation an effective and badly needed research program for tobacco which will bring tremendous benefits in the future.

The case of the windblown wife

Once there was a wife who dreaded summer cooking. She had a choice: open the windows and create a draft, or shut them and swelter. Hers was not a flameless electric range. But one day her husband took pity on her and bought her one! And because the surface heat went straight to the pans and the oven heat stayed right there in that heavily insulated oven, her kitchen was cooler. Up to 16 degrees cooler! Now the moral is this: if your wife cooks in an overheated kitchen, visit your favorite electric appliance dealer or Duke Power and buy her a flameless electric range. After all, wives are people, too.

Social Security In Davie County

Mr. Taft McCoy, Social Security Field Representative for Davie County made the following statement concerning an important provision of the social security law. One basic purpose of the social security law is to partially replace earnings lost because of the death of the breadwinner in the family.

Monthly benefits can be paid to certain dependents of workers who have worked in jobs covered by the social security law and who had earned sufficient credits.

Unmarried children under 18 years of age may qualify for monthly payments. Also, unmarried children 18 or over may qualify because of disability if their disability started before age 18.

Children are defined for social security purposes as natural children, step-children or legally adopted children.

A widow may qualify for monthly benefits, regardless of her age, if she is caring for a child drawing payments based on the workers social security account.

Parents dependent on a worker for one-half or more of their support at the time of the workers' death may qualify for monthly payments.

A divorced wife who has a child in her care entitled to payments may also receive monthly payments if she were receiving at least one-half of her support from her former husband pursuant to a court order.

Mr. McCoy invites anyone who has a question concerning these provisions of the social security law to call or write to the District Office of the Social Security Administration at Corriher Ave., Salisbury, N. C.

1964 COTTON PROGRAM PAYMENTS BEING MADE
Payments under the 1964 domestic cotton allotment program are now being made through the Davie County ASCS office, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the County Committee.

Cotton acreage was checked on farms that planted cotton in order to determine whether or not the acreage exceeded the domestic allotment for the farm.

Cotton payments were authorized under the special cotton program which was made available by legislation enacted early in April. Growers who voluntarily reduced their acreage to the farm's "domestic allotment" qualified for payment of 3.5 cents a pound on the normal yield of the cotton acreage planted for harvest.

A total of 168 farms in the county will be eligible for these payments. Of this number 65 per cent have already received their payment. The total payment made so far amounts to $4,400.

Food will be served throughout the day—country ham on home-made biscuits, hot dogs, coffee and drinks in the kitchen. Fancy Canned Goods Table and a White Elephant Table will round out the traditional items being offered for sale.

Plans are under way to add a large "Rummage Sale" table, including clothing, accessories, small pieces of furniture, and "white goods"—to take the place of last year's fine crystal table.

Co-Chairmen for the Bazaar are Hazel Gobbie and Joe Swicegood.
