Davie Considering Ambulance Problem

Davie County ambulance problem was discussed Monday by the Davie County Board of Commissioners meeting with the executive committee of the Davie County Hospital Board of Trustees.

Eaton Funeral Home has announced that new federal and state regulations becoming effective the first of the year, made it a necessity that they go out of the ambulance business. However, they have agreed to continue ambulance service under a sixty-day extension which is being granted, putting the termination date around March 1st.

The hospital committee meeting with the commissioners reportedly discussed several different ways of handling the ambulance problem. One would be for the county to take over the service and operate it in conjunction with the hospital; and another would be to employ a private ambulance service such as several counties have done or subsidize a funeral home to the extent that it continue such an operation.

New government regulations incident to ambulance service require extensive record-keeping and conformity to wage and hour laws, which makes it almost impossible for funeral homes to continue in this service. Most of the funeral homes in the surrounding counties have already or are planning also to go out of the ambulance business.

Members of the hospital committee meeting with the board of commissioners included: C. D. Jamerson, James H. Bowman, G. R. Madison, Ted Junker, Mrs. George Martin and Hamilton Hudson, Hospital Administrator.

Quota Vote On Cotton Is Near

Davie County farmers were reminded today to return their ballots on marketing quotas for the 1968 upland cotton crop—by mail or in person — to the ASCS County Office, J. N. Smoot, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, emphasized that the referendum started on Dec. 4 and will end on Dec. 8. Marked ballots are to be postmarked no later than the closing date.

Chairman Smoot explained that every effort has been made to inform farmers fully about the allotment-quota program, so that the outcome of the referendum may represent the considered opinion of all the voters. At issue also are the domestic allotment diversion program provisions under which growers may qualify for price-support and diversion payments — in addition to loans — by diverting their cotton acreage at least 5 percent (up to a maximum of 35 percent) below the farm's allotment putting the diverted acres into a conserving use, and meeting other program provisions. This part of the program can be used only if marketing quotas are approved.

The lease or sale of cotton allotments is included in the 1968 cotton program, regardless of the outcome of the marketing quota vote.

Those eligible to cast ballots in the marketing quota referendum are all producers who shared in the 1967 cotton crop or its proceeds and the owners and operators of allotment farms where no cotton was planted in 1967. Approval by at least two-thirds of the voters is necessary if the quotas and the upland cotton program are to be effective for the 1968 crop.

Growers who elect not to participate in the diversion program may apply for a share of an export market acreage reserve and grow and export all their cotton without Government assistance and without

J. L. Satchwell, President of Branch Banking and Trust Company, had this to say, "We have enjoyed for many years a very fine relationship with the Bank of Davie as one of its correspondent banks. We have great respect for those connected with it and we look forward to the opportunity to work with all of them to provide even greater service to the area. The greater resources of the combined institution should be helpful in servicing the growing industrial needs of Davie County and the surrounding area."

Davie Raises $574 Of Pilot Mt. Quota

Davie County has raised $574 of its $3,000 quota towards helping buy Pilot Mountain for a state park.

P. Huber Hanes, Jr., chairman of the Pilot Mountain Preservation and Park Committee, Inc., announced last week that Pilot Park contributions now totaled $311,308.

The fund-raising campaign goal is $350,000. The purchase price for the mountain and about 600 acres around its base is $910,500. The committee has obtained a federal grant of $500,500.

Hanes said the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem donated $50,000 of the latest $61,000. Other contributions, he said, were $5,000 from the Northwestern Bank of North Wilkesboro, $5,000 from the Chatham Foundation at Elkin and $1,000 from Madison Throwing Co. at Madison.

"We're particularly appreciative of the response the foundations and businesses have given to this campaign," Hanes said. "We're in sight of our goal, and I think we'll reach it when other businesses that have expressed interest in the project are able to tell us what they can do."

Of the total subscribed to date, $29,355 has been contributed toward meeting a matching gift of $50,000 by the Hanes Corp. The corporation announced early in the drive that it would donate $50,000 if an equal amount could be raised from 10,000 people, none of whom contributes more than $100. To date 5,500 people have contributed.

In addition to Davie, other counties for which quotas were assigned, and the amounts raised are:

Furth, $18,711 of $20,000 quota; Guilford, $3,700 of $30,000; Stokes, $1,300 of $4,000; Surry, $2,000 of $10,000; and Yadkin, $1,200 of $4,000.

Davie Hospital Gets New Xray Film Processor

A new machine to speed the development of x-ray film will soon be in operation at the Davie County Hospital, thanks to the Hospital Auxiliary.

A check for the purchase of a Kodak M-2 Automatic Processor was presented this week by the auxiliary to the Davie Hospital. The presentation was made on behalf of the auxiliary by Mrs. Bob M. Foster, President, and Mrs. Ted Junker, treasurer. Prior to the installation of this new machine in the x-ray department at the hospital, the processing and developing of an x-ray film took 35-40 minutes. With this new machine, films can now be processed and developed in a maximum of 3 1/2 minutes.

Hamilton Hudson, Davie County Hospital Administrator, accepted the check on behalf of the hospital. "The hospital is greatly indebted to the Davie County Hospital Auxiliary for their untiring efforts in supporting the local hospital as it strives to provide the best possible patient care with the most modern equipment available," said Mr. Hudson.

Mrs. Foster announced that in addition to this check for the new processor, another gift will be presented to the hospital by the auxiliary in the near future.

Local Delegation To Attend N. W. Banquet

More than 800 persons, including a large delegation from this county, are expected to attend the annual banquet of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association to be held Thursday night in Elkin. The meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. in the gymnasium of the Gilvin Roth YMCA.

Neil Bolton, association secretary, said the seating capacity is "approximately 800, though we usually manage somehow to accommodate a few extra."

He said directors in all 11 counties have reported good response in making reservations.

Dr. James Ralph Scales, president of Wake Forest University, will be the featured speaker.

Cash awards totaling about $4,000 will be presented to area communities selected in recent judgments for outstanding achievements in farm and home, rural and small town improvements and service programs.

Officers and directors for the coming year will be elected.

Eugene Seals of Mocksville, current president, noted that the banquet meeting will mark the 15th year of development programs in the 11 counties.

"I think this in itself speaks well for the people of our counties," he said. "It takes genuine interest and an awareness of actual achievement to sustain any comprehensive program of this type so long."

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle was reporting to the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he couldn't give this term of the Congress a passing grade. Now that they was gone home to mend their fences, said Ed, he figured this session would go down in history in the minus column.

Zeko, Grubb was agreed with Ed, but he was of the opinion if things didn't git better in Washington they wasn't going to be no history to go down in.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was defending the Congress, said he had saw a report from the Bureau of Labor Statistics where a family of four wasn't living the good life of these times if it didn't have $9,000 a year to spend. Since Clem ain't got but two in his family, Ed couldn't pin him down on these statics, but Ed allowed as how under them figgers, most of the folk in this community ain't been living the good life.

Ed allowed as how this cut in spending they was bragging about didn't amount to enough to offset them traveling junkets our Congressmen would take this winter, along with their wives, aunts, uncles, and cousins. Fer instant, said Ed, we still got 400 Federal hand-out programs run by 150 different Government agencies.

Bug Hookum reported he was reading the other day where President Thomas Jefferson didn't have but two helpers outside his regular Cabinet, one fer foreign affairs and one fer the home front. Farthermore, said Bug, this piece reported we had a balanced budget all the years Jefferson was President.

Confidential, Mister Editor, I don't put much store by Bug's opinion on things. He was so lazy he ain't never contributed nothing fer the upkeep of the country. He makes me recollect a story my Pa used to tell. He said he had two Plymouth Rock roosters and one of them was so lazy that when the other one crowded fer daylight he just nodded his head in approval. But, like Clem Webster was saying at a recent session, them science fellers might come up with a jectric spark to put to fellers like Bug and he could git to be a wheelhorse in the community.

It ain't that Bug was tight with his money, he just never earns enough to git tight with. Josh Clodhopper was the one that was tight with a dollar. The fellers at the store claim here a few year back, when Josh had to have his car towed in and found it was going to cost him $10, he sneaked the door open and put on the brakes.

I reckon, Mister Editor, I was about the only one at the country store that was perfect.

Yours truly, Uncle Dave

60-Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Excessive self-esteem is often timidity's disguise." - Eff Thomas.

A braggart was boasting that he could bend a horseshoe with his bare hands. Finally, one listener had enough. He stopped him by saying:

"Why, that's nothing at all. My wife can tie up ten miles of telephone wire with her chin!"

Modesty is a trait more praised than indulged in. It is natural to want others to know the best about us. We are too impatient, however, to realize that they will find it out without our telling them. When others discover our merits indirectly, the impact is always greater.

If we wonder whether or not we are modest, there is a simple test. How do we conduct ourselves toward others? Do we prefer them to ourselves in daily thoughts and conversations? If we find what "I did" and what "I think" dominating our thinking and speaking, we may be puffing ourselves inwardly or boasting openly.

We can overcome vanity, boasting and the timidity from which they spring by substituting the interests and merits of others for our own. Such modesty results in our more friendly acceptance by others. It is worth remembering, also, that when we are more modest our critics may be more temperate.

Mobile Museum Of History To Visit Salisbury Area

The Mobile Museum of History, North Carolina's only traveling museum, will be on display in Salisbury from Dec. 8, 1967 to Dec. 15, 1967, as announced by The Supplementary Education Center, local sponsor of the Mobile Museum visit. The museum is part of the program of the State Department of Archives and History, and features a new series of exhibits pertaining to "Rural Life in North Carolina: 1820-1860."

In co-operation with the Department of Public Instruction, an entirely new program has been instituted for the Mobile Museum. The purpose of the Mobile Museum is now two-phased. First, through the use of exhibits and printed material North Carolina's history is brought to many of the citizens of our State. Secondly, but of greater importance, it serves as an aid to the teachers of North Carolina history, assisting them to broaden the scope of textbook information for their students. This phase of the program is carried out through classroom demonstrations, displayed artifacts of the period, and lectures presented by the Mobile Museum Curator.

The Mobile Museum Exhibit Unit consists of a custom-built van trailer which visitors enter through sliding glass doors. It operates by a self-contained lighting, sound, air-conditioning and heating system. The museum will be on display for schoolchildren and adults weekdays in the parking lot of the old Frank B. John School, 314 N. Ellis, Salisbury, and is free to the public from 8:30 to 5:00 P.M. and on Sunday, Dec. 10 from 2 to 5 P.M.

The Mobile Museum project was instituted in 1963 by a grant from the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company to the Department of Archives and History. The Museum, now owned and operated by the Department, travels the whole of North Carolina, bringing history to the citizens of the State in a new and interesting manner.

They will be repaired in the school shop. All gifts should be at the school before December 18. Any article needing repair should be turned in as soon as possible.

The Bread of Life

You are invited to worship with the Church of Christ in your area. Our services are simple and orderly. Won't you come and see for yourself what the Church of Christ really is? The word "church" comes from "ekklesia" which means "the called out". We as Christians are called out of this world of sin into a spiritual kingdom which Jesus Christ established on the day of Pentecost. (Acts 2)

The church is the family of God; (1 Tim. 3:15) therefore, we must all be ONE in Christ. The church is the pillar and ground of the truth; (1 Tim. 3:15) hence, we must worship as one family in spirit and in truth.

Some have suggested that Christians should be more ecumenically minded. Actually, this is not a new doctrine at all. Christ taught all his disciples to be "ecumenical", or, in other words, to have unity. When Christ prayed in the garden shortly before his crucifixion, he prayed that all his followers might be one.

Paul in his writing to the Ephesians explains clearly that, "There is ONE body, and ONE Spirit, even as ye are called in ONE hope of your calling; ONE Lord, ONE faith, ONE baptism, ONE God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all,

and in you all." (Eph. 4:4-6)

Are you ecumenically minded? If so, then you are following the Will of Jesus Christ. Let us all be ONE in Christ. Jesus did not teach religious division, rather men have turned from following God and have taught that religious division is necessary for "peace on earth". What a disgrace to realize that we as the "salt of the earth" cannot be at peace with one another! It is not the Will of God.

Examine the Scriptures to determine how many religious groups you find to be acceptable in God's sight. You may discover, to your surprise, that the Bible mentions only one.

Kenneth K. Hyder, Min. Jericho Church of Christ (ADV.)

News and Comment from Our Raleigh Bureau

UNCERTAIN . . . As of Thursday, November 30, J. Melville Broughton of Raleigh was not sure what he would do about running for Governor.

He gave as his excuse for delaying his decision the fact that the Hotel Sir Walter here was in the midst of what has become known in Raleigh as "Culture Week" art and literary meetings. Strange . . .

Although funds were indeed scarce and outright promises of money were rare, Broughton was encouraged by the mixed-up situation developing. But still undecided as November swung into the last month of the year. He felt that Terry Sanford just might take on Sen. Sam Ervin; and this would snarl up the Scott picture so thoroughly.

HEAD-NOODLERS ONLY . . . What made most old-timers around Raleigh feel that Broughton wanted to run was that he was no longer in contact with those who were advising him against it.

Here is a lesson almost as true as Gospel: If a person wants to become a candidate for the Legislature, for Congress, for Governor, or Town Council, he begins by talking to his friends, asking their advice. This is the way all campaigns begin . . . and makes good sense. But if the would-be candidate gets the Fever—and this happens often—he begins talking only to those who think he should run.

Thus he begins feeding himself only what he wants to hear. He confers only with the head-noddors . . . and thus he is led, leads himself really, down the road to bitter, bitter political disappointment and disillusionment. See this over and over again as Legislative races develop.

HOW MUCH? . . . How much encouragement did J. M. Broughton receive in his October and November surveys—and one or two kites sent flying prior to this fall?

How does Terry Sanford's personal survey on his chances of defeating Sen. Ervin go?

Only these men, deep in their own hearts, know the real answers to these queries.

PLEASE DON'T . . . Within the past few days, Sen. Everett Jordan and retiring Congressman Horace Kornegay of Greensboro have voiced hope that Terry Sanford would not oppose Sen. Sam Ervin. They plead Democratic solidarity . . . Sen. Sam has said on two or three occasions that he "trusts" he will have no opposition. This is probably too much to hope for, but will it be Terry Sanford?

The Scott people are praying that Sanford will not oppose Sen. Ervin. Here's why:

They are afraid—and with good reason—that the general public will tie together in their minds, and in their votes probably, Scott and Sanford.

Robert Scott would prefer not to be tied to anybody.

Sen. Everett Jordan is a close relative of L.L. Gov. Scott; and more than one person hereabouts thought last week he was putting in an oar for kinfolk when he gave his opinion that Sanford should not run for the U. S. Senate next year.

Another thing: A lot of old Sanford friends, men and women who have stuck with him through thick and thin, have been committed to Bob Scott for many months. They would vote for Sanford, of course, but see his candidacy pulling down to defeat both himself and Scott. Thus they show real fear of Incumbent Sen. Ervin. But, of course, they could be wrong. Meantime, Sanford grows restless. This thing of bench-warming is not to his liking . . . a-tall.

ALL MIXED UP . . . And so the Democrats, like the Republicans, find themselves—here within 11 months of Election Day and only six months from the Primary—all mixed up.

It looks now as if they will have at least four whites, and one Negro, running for Governor. If so, who will hold the balance of power in the second Primary next June?

Where will the big money go? How about all those personal vote-promises Bob Scott is supposed to have checked and double-checked in all areas of the State. Where will Wachovia, N. C. National, First Citizens, and First Union go?

Assuming he runs—as is now expected—where will Bob Laster of Charlotte stand in the vote count? First? Second? Third?

Why did Irwin Belk of Charlotte decide not to run for Lieutenant-Governor? Is Belk assisting behind-the-scenes with the Scott campaign? Then, after all but-announcing, why did Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles of Greensboro back out of the L.L. Gov.'s race? Was this because he wanted to leave himself free to help Terry Sanford go to Washington? Or does Mr. Bowles plan to run for Kornegay's seat in Congress?

All these questions gnaw at the hearts of old-line Democrats. They are saying: We are playing right into the hands of the Republicans.

AT EACH OTHER . . . Meantime, the Republican house is far from orderly. John Stickley, running hard for Governor—and sometimes a long way from Charlotte, his home base, — is trying to move in on youthful Jim Gardner's territory. But Gardner is far from unpopular with certain Republicans in Stickley's Piedmont. The belief here is that Gardner will definitely not run—for Congress . . . but, for Governor.

Taxpayers Ask I. R. S.

Question-and-Answer Column No. 67-48

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - I don't have a maid anymore but you're still sending me the Social Security tax form I used to fill out for her. How can I get this stopped?

A - If you do not expect to be paying any taxable wages to household help in the future write "final return" on the bottom of the Form 942 you received in the mail and send it back. Your name will then be removed from the mailing list.

Q - I've been renting a house to my parents at less than I usually would get. Can I deduct as a loss on my tax return the difference between what they pay me and what I would otherwise receive?

A - No. The difference is really a contribution to your parents' support and is not deductible. In addition, depreciation and other expenses of property rented to a relative or friend at less than fair rental value may only be deducted to the extent of the rent received.

Q - The contribution you are making to your parents in the form of reduced rental can be counted as a contribution to their support. If you provide over half their support for the year, and other tests are met, you may claim them as dependents for tax purposes.

Q - I'm a recent widow. Is there any change I should make in my withholding?

A - No. You need not make any change in your withholding in the year of your husband's death. However, if your husband was claiming withholding exemptions for you, your dependents (if any) and himself, you may file a new Form W-4, claiming such withholding exemptions yourself. Of course, you may not claim a withholding exemption for your husband after the year of his death. Furthermore, for withholding purposes if you qualify as a surviving spouse, for the two years after your husband's death the tax will be withheld at the same rates as for married persons.

Q - Is there any penalty for not paying your estimated tax?

A - Yes. There will be a charge of 6 percent per year on the unpaid amount of any installment.

Q - Our church is having a special offering this Thanksgiving and is asking for contributions in food as well as money. Will either be tax deductible?

A - Yes, contributions of food or money to a qualified organization such as a church will be deductible. Gifts to individuals are not deductible.

A - No. You need not make any change in your withholding in the year of your husband's death. However, if your husband was claiming withholding exemptions for you, your dependents (if any) and himself, you may file a new Form W-4, claiming such withholding exemp-

Overflow Crowd At Telephone Co-op Meet Here And There

An overflow crowd of more than 1,000 attended the annual meeting of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Co-operative held last Saturday in Yadkinville.

When the auditorium of the Yadkinville school was full, close circuit television was utilized to carry the proceedings to around 300 in the school cafeteria.

Roy Armstrong, executive secretary of the John Motley Morehead Foundation was the principal speaker. He told those present that parents should carefully consider the abilities and limitations of their children in selecting their schools.

Armstrong, said that not all young people are suited for large universities. These students, he said, should attend community colleges and technical schools.

He also stressed the importance of "old-time religion" in the lives of young people.

Officers Re-Elected
All the officers of the past year were re-elected. They are James M. Parks of Union Grove, president; Wade Groce of Farmington, vice-president; and Homer C. Myers Jr. of Union Grove, secretary-treasurer.

All area directors were also re-elected. They are Harvey L. Gobble of Fork, Davie; Ralph Dowell of Union and Charles I. Miller of Courtney, East Yadkin; and Fred J. Brandon of Yadkinville and Dale W. Thomasson of Hamptonville.

In the management report, the meeting was told that the corporation had gained 402 telephones and invested $823,000 in plant facilities during the past year.

The report said that 66 per cent of the total membership now has private or two-party lines, and that all other lines have no more than four parties.

Underground Lines
The report estimated that 85 per cent of all lines are now underground. It said that storm damage has been substantially reduced.

The meeting was told that the board of directors has applied for a $1.4-million loan to construct facilities available to all areas served by the corporation. The new facilities would include a headquarters building in Yadkinville.

Operating revenues, the report said, had increased from $561,870 in 1966 to $625,491 in 1967. The operating margin for the past twelve months was listed at $72,499. The report said that $6,218,000 had been borrowed from the Rural Electrification Administration with an outstanding balance now of $5,444,357.

The Star Mount High School Band and the Forbush High School Chorus performed for the meeting.

Around The Old Well

By JOAN PAGE

The "printer's ink" will run thick on the University of North Carolina campus here in February when the student newspaper, THE DAILY TAR HEEL, celebrates its 75th anniversary.

The first issue of the paper was published on Feb. 23, 1893, under the editorship of Charles Baskerville and Walter "Pete" Murphey.

Last year, it was judged the best college daily newspaper in the Southeastern College Newspaper Competition. In October, it received a Pacemaker Award, sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers Association, citing it as one of the nation's top six college newspapers.

Distinguished by its tradition of editorial freedom the paper is noted for its staunch crusades and its pungent comments on campus, community and state issues.

Plans are now being made for a two-day celebration Feb. 22-24 with 1964-65 co-editor, Hugh Stevens Jr. of Burlington, serving as chairman of the Anniversary Committee.

Former TAR HEEL editor and Charlotte resident Charles Kuralt, now a CBS newscaster, will head a list of speakers for the two-day program. Over 600 former staff members have been invited to Chapel Hill for the celebration.

A number of former TAR HEEL editors and staffers have made big names for themselves in the journalism, education and political professions.

The list includes educators and statemen Edward Kidder Graham and Frank Porter Graham; Pulitzer Prize winners Horace Carter, and Lenoir Chambers, now editor and publisher of THE NORFOLK VIRGINIAN-PILOT; Asheville novelist Thomas Wolfe; WALL STREET JOURNAL editor Vermont Royster; national sports writer Shelly Rolfe; Clifton Daniel of Zebulon, managing editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES; and former Governor Terry Sanford of Fayetteville.

A special commemorative edition of the TAR HEEL will be published during the February celebration and several former staffers in the Chapel Hill area will host parties. Individual editors are making arrangements to gather their staffs for special functions.

"Former TAR HEEL staffers today constitute a group of UNC alumni whose versatility and records of achievement in diverse fields are unmatched by any alumni group," celebration chairman Hugh Stevens said.

Few campus or state officials have escaped the verbal eye of the TAR HEEL editorial page. Over the past 75 years, editors have defended student autonomy; attacked fraternities, sororities and the food in campus dining halls; challenged prices of Chapel Hill merchants; and campaigned for lower gas and book prices, more parking spaces on campus, and alterations in the "Carolina coed."

As the "human lifeblood" of the Tar Heel changes, former co-editor Slovens explained, the paper changes with it.

"When her brood is red with radicalism, she is rampant, aggressive, incisive, clamoring and sharp," he noted. "When the conservatives have control, she is sensitive, proud, quiet, steady and pensive."

Former staffers serving on the Anniversary Committee include UNC Journalism Prof. Walter Spearman, under whose editorship the TAR HEEL became a daily; Greensboro attorney McNeill Smith; CHAPEL HILL WEEKLY publisher Orville Campbell; N. C. State University Prof. James C. Wallace; UNC Chancellor J. Carylo Sitterson; Edwin M. Yoder of Mebane, editorial page editor of THE GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS; UNC Jonathan Yardley of Chatham, Va., Book editor of THE GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS; UNC Alumni Secretary J. Maryon "Spike" Saunders; current TAR HEEL editor William Amlong of South Miami, Fla.; CBS newscaster and Charlotte native Charles Kuralt; and David Ethridge, Chapel Hill town alderman and publisher of THE CAROLINA FINANCIAL TIMES.

About People

By ADELAIDE S. ELIJS

Christmas is too large to be tucked away in the toe of a child's stocking. I some time think we expect too much of Christmas Day. We try to crowd into it the long areas of kindness and humanity of the whole year. As for me I like to take my Christmas a little at a time all through the year. (David Trayson)

Funeral rites for the Rev. William Joseph Tatum were held Thursday, November 30 at 2 p. m. at Cedar Creek Baptist Church. The Rev. W. C. Hay officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

John A. Smoot, Mrs. Edith Smoot and Billy Smoot and children were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter C. Smoot Sunday, November 26, at their home in Charlotte.

Miss Emma Louise Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lyons, Sr. and Charlie Lester Howell, son of Mrs. Ethel Howell and the late Sam Howell, were married November 17 by the Rev. G. W. Campbell at the parsonage.

Funeral services for George Allison were held Tuesday, December 5 at St. John A. M. E. Zion Church at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Mr. Germany officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery. Survivals include: Mrs. Dora Lyons Allison of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Cuthrell of Mt. Gilead, and Miss Lizzie Allison of Mocksville, and four brothers, Pink, Edward and Leon Allison of Mocksville, and Luther Allison of Mt. Gilead.

The Youth Council of the local branch of the N. A. A. C. P. will hold its regular monthly meeting Sunday, December 10 at Shiloh Baptist Church at 4 p. m. All members are asked to be present and to be on time.

Social Security In Davie County

"Many people of retirement age do not realize that they may be able to collect some social security benefits although they are still employed," Robert C. Thomas, social security district manager in Salisbury stated today. "The amount of benefits you get will depend on how much you earn and how many months you work in a year." Thomas said.

"If you earn $1500 or less in a year, you'll collect all your social security checks. Even if you earn more than $1500, you may receive a considerable amount in benefits. Here's how it works: If you earn over $1500, but not more than $2700, one dollar in benefits is withheld for each two dollars earned. If you earn over $2700, a dollar in benefits is deducted for each dollar earned.

"However," Thomas explained, "It doesn't matter how high your yearly earnings are; you will get a benefit check for any month in which you earn $125 or less. For example, if your work is seasonal and you are unemployed for several months in the year, you can get a social security check for every month you are out of work. This is true even if you earn $7000 - $8000 or more during the rest of the year. If you are self-employed, you can get a benefit payment for any month in which you do not render substantial services in your business."

Thomas noted that a person age 72 or over receives benefits for all months beginning with the month he becomes 72 - no matter how much he earns.

"Even if you are still working, it's definitely to your advantage to apply for benefits as soon as you reach 65," Thomas said. "At the end of each year, your benefit will be automatically refigured to determine if additional earnings will increase the benefit amount - so you can't lose by filing an application."

Thomas urged those who desire additional information about social security payments while still employed to visit the district office in Salisbury at 405 Corriher Avenue, or phone 633-6470. Office hours Monday through Thursday are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p. m. and on Fridays from 8:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

By William Friday, President
University of North Carolina

If you are a member of the 4-H Clubs or the Home Demonstration Clubs or if you are a county or municipal official in North Carolina, you have personal knowledge of these public service activities of the four campuses of the University of North Carolina.

On the other hand, if you are a farmer relying on your county agent for technical advice and guidance or a business executive who has participated in the executive training program at Chapel Hill, you are aware of these phases of the University's work. Public service functions of the University reach into every county of the State with important services essential to North Carolina's economic and cultural progress.

These services are enormous in scope and are investments which are paying high dividends in the advancement of agriculture, business, and industry.

In terms of the public service the University renders, the faculties and staff of our campuses are involved in activities every day of the week, every week of the year, in every county in North Carolina that are directed at improving the State in important ways.

It should like for you to know that in the western counties the University operates three agricultural research stations at Waynesville, Laurel Springs, and Fletcher, 4-H camps at Swannanoa and Waynesville, and the Minerals Research Laboratory at Asheville.

In the piedmont counties, we staff agricultural research stations at Oxford, Salisbury, Jackson Springs, and Reidsville. We operate 4-H camps at Elberne and Reidsville in the Penn Conference Center. We also supervise four forests in this area.

In the eastern region of North Carolina, there are nine agricultural research stations engaged in important work with tobacco, vegetables, flowers, peanuts, and other crops. They are located at Whiteville, Willard, Paison, Castle Hayne, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Lewisville, Plymouth, and Clayton. We operate 4-H campus at Manteo and Swansboro; marine laboratories at Aurora, Hatteras and Morehead

City; and the 80,000-acre Hofmann Forest in Jones and Onslow Counties. In addition, the University has county and home agents in every county in North Carolina.

In the agricultural operations conducted away from the campus, we have 632 staff members representing an administrative and staff investment of more than $3,204,000 annually in the operations of these facilities.

In addition to these undertakings, the University, through the Institute of Government, touches every county of North Carolina. Through our library program, we work with the public libraries in the State, and through the Department of Dramatic Art, we assist in staff "Unto These Hills," "The Lost Colony," and "Horn In The West"—the famous symphonic dramas which add much to our cultural life and which bring thousands of tourists to our State annually.

In sum, this reveals to you that the University has hundreds of staff members at work and is spending millions of dollars in all regions of North Carolina to provide essential and important services.

This month we activated television transmitters at Concord, Asheville and Linville, bringing educational television into these regions of the State. Previously, we operated transmitters at Chapel Hill and Columbia. The 1967 General Assembly provided funds to extend the network to Winston-Salem, Wilmington, Farmville-Kinston, and Franklin areas. When completed, 90 percent of the population of the State will have educational television service, thousands of school children will receive instruction planned by the State Department of Public Instruction, and citizens will hear Governor's messages and many other major occasions in the life of this State. I hope you will take advantage of this medium and enjoy the fine programs that are now available to you on five channels.

These facts indicate the kind of facilities and services that extend from the four campuses to the people of the State. Other illustrations could be given to show similar programs of service and other working relationships we have with industries such as textiles, furniture, minerals, with the great banking systems, the hundreds of professional men and women in North Carolina, and the schools and school children in North Carolina.

There is another dimension of service I should like for you to know, also. Last year more than 12,000 North Carolina citizens were admitted as patients to Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill. North Carolina residents paid over 125,000 out-patient visits to this great facility, and North Carolinians paid more than 46,000 patient visits to the Dental Clinic.

In addition, 42,216 women were actively involved in Home Demonstration programs, 54,000 young people in 4-H Club activity.

Since its inception, 554 business executives have taken part in the Executive Program of the School of Business Administration, and I could go on to name dozens of other institutes, short courses, and training programs involving doctors, lawyers, nurses, journalists, business are provided additional training in the University programs.

I sincerely hope these paragraphs give you some idea of the effort being made on all the campuses of the University of North Carolina to serve you in more and better ways.

Christmas is just around the corner and everybody is looking to giving gifts and receiving gifts. But the greatest gift of all that we can give is a smile. A smile costs nothing. But it gives much. It enriches those who receive it without making those poorer who give it. It takes a moment but the memory of it lasts forever. Let us have love in our hearts for our fellowman and give a smile. The world was full of joy and smiles when the angels sang that Holy Night.

Members of Cedar Creek Baptist Church is deeply saddened over the death of our former pastor, the Rev. William Joseph Tatum. This was his childhood home and he was a member of this church. Mrs. Lula West and Mrs. Nora Eaton and children visited in Winston-Salem Sunday evening. While there they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wests and Aunt Jettie Eaton, also Miss Vallie Eaton and family.

The Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howell worshiped at Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in Houstonville Sunday evening.

Mrs. Jessie Brown and children of the Fork community called Saturday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lucy Tatum. Mrs. Kay West, Miss Jean Eaton, Mrs. Melvin Parks and Mrs. Odell Eaton shopped in Winston-Salem one day last week.

Community Correspondence

By NELL LASHLEY

There has been disturbance and trouble in a number of hen houses and chicken lots here lately by packs of dogs chasing and killing chickens. One family reported a pack of two dogs. Another family reported a pack of five dogs. One owner in trying to retrieve a big fat hen from the vicious animals was knocked down and trampled upon. Some chickens were killed outright, others were partly eaten while still alive. Others were injured so badly that they later died. Good neighbor dogs are as desirable as good neighbor people.

Making a Christmas Tree Fire Resistant

The County Forester's office suggests using the following solution for making a tree fire resistant.

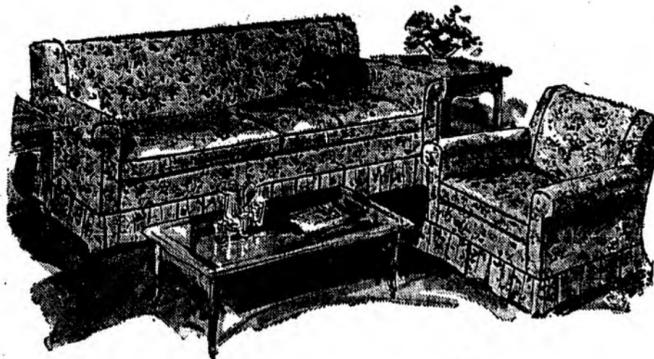

Mix 9 ounces of Borax (or Bora teem) with 4 ounces of Boric Acid to one gallon of water. Let the tree stand in it so that it may absorb all the mixture that it will. Check the water level each day and replace water that has evaporated. This will not only help make your tree safer but will also help it to stay green longer.

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

The British travell over the devaluation of the pound brings a somber warning to Americans who up to now have been content to say that financial worries apply to other nations, but not to us.

Assurances have been given by our top financial experts that the dollar continues strong, but the pound's difficulties have pinpointed our own fiscal troubles. All this calls to mind the prophesy made long ago by England's poet, Rudyard Kipling, in a literary masterpiece entitled "Gods of the Copybook Headings". In that poem, Kipling warned that men would suffer if they forsook the gods of wisdom to pay themselves merely for existing in lieu of toiling in the world market.

Consider the magnitude of the British tragedy and the road which we are traveling in America. England was the cradle of American liberty and democracy. The genius of our free enterprise system came from England. England gave us a language, a system of laws, and the spiritual ideals to build a great nation. During the proud days of England, her ships laden with commerce plied the Seven Seas and the sun never set upon the British flag.

Then came the day when politicians sought votes and promised to care for British citizens from the cradle to the grave. England, who had won two world wars with our help, lost the initiative and her governments have floundered in the post-war era. The competitive spirit which inspired her people as the greatest traders for generations was eroded by the dulling effects of statism. In the end, an economy was built that could not pay its way in the world market and her credit ran out.

The warning for us is clear. For years, our government has dwelt upon the "new economics and its theories extolling the virtues of deficit financing. Many of these theories were borrowed from the same English economists who advised the British Government. Nor have we realistically reckoned with the huge Treasury deficits that we have piled up in recent years. Simply put, there has been more emphasis on "keeping the economy going" than on sound financing.

The results have not been hard to find. Deficits caused by Federal spending have caused huge borrowings by our government. Recently we have had to resort to borrowing from the International Monetary Fund, a Fund that England has been relying upon to protect her currency reserves. This U. S. budget deficit has caused inflation here at home and has lessened our ability to export our goods in the world trade markets. For some time, we have been unable to balance our deficit trade accounts with other nations. Settlement of these trade accounts has been a continuing drain upon gold reserves, one of many concerns in this situation.

At the turn of the 20th century, we had to recognize that our once "limitless" continental frontier was in fact "limited".

We adjusted our thinking to the limits of our land resources. Now we must recognize that even a wealthy nation has limits to its financial resources and the means to which it will put them. We cannot continue to disregard the perils which our spending policies are posing for the immediate future and for the decade ahead.

This is a problem of crucial importance to every American. The sooner we impose the necessary discipline to correct it, the sooner we will have bolstered our future liberties.

So This Is New York

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Gebhardt Hoch, a pleasant, blonde young man who comes from a Swiss principality, told me that in Europe most people seem to think that the war in Vietnam is something being conducted by the government of the United States and not the people. From his impression, and he is a well-educated employe of a big bank, this notion of American involvement has gotten around all over Europe and apparently is accepted as true. When I explained to him that our government is our people and that they can change anything they wish through their elected representatives, even a war, he seemed surprised, though it is hard to know why. Young Hoch likes our country, but if are enemies are no better informed, then it is no wonder that they continue to oppose us. Somehow, we should inform the world to a better extent about the workings of a democracy here at home.

Along with other members of the press, I met Ayub Khan, president of Pakistan, when he was here a few years ago. We were impressed with the handsome, suave individual who looked more like the soldier than he is than the chief executive he is trying to be. In a new book about Ayub, he is quoted as saying that he was most worried about the relations of his country with the United States between 1960 and 1964. "I had the feeling that the United States was allowing its policies to be determined by events", he says

... "President Kennedy struck me as a preoccupied and lonely man. He had not been long in office and seemed under considerable strain, perhaps because of the Bay of Pigs fiasco. He seemed unsure of his grasp of things and I could see that he was surrounded by too many theoreticians, who are useful people to have but can sometimes divert one from the right and practical course of action. You need to have hard-headed, realistic and experienced men around you, particularly in times of crisis." Of course since that time, we ourselves have wondered about the way Pakistan is run and is tending but it is interesting and perhaps helpful to have such viewpoints.

Back during the drought here, local restaurants at the request of authorities, stopped serving water at meals unless the customer so requested it. Now that the reservoirs are full and almost overflowing, most restaurants still retain the habit of not serving water unless reminded, doubtless finding this more economical. I happen to be a water-with-meals man myself, and was amused to read a subway sign stating: "If you are annoyed because you still have to ask for water every time you dine out, send for one of our free canteen cards". Then it shows a picture of an army canteen, an illustration on the card, with the words below, "Water please. I left my can-

Bullas Are Back From West Indies

The Rev. W. C. Bulla former pastor of the Liberty Pilgrim Church, Sheffield, presently pastoring the Spray Pilgrim church, Spray, N. C. and Mrs. Bulla have recently returned from the West Indies where they were on a missionary trip for two weeks.

Going by plane, they stopped first at the Island of Grand Cayman where the Rev. Bulla was the guest speaker for a week of revival service in the Pilgrim church. From Grand Cayman they went to Kingston, Jamaica, and were greeted by Rev. Dean Phillips, superintendent of the Jamaica district of the Pilgrim church, who hosted a tour of the many mission stations throughout the Blue mountains of Jamaica.

The Rev. Bulla was guest speaker at the Constant Springs church of Kingston, and several of the mission stations located high up in the Blue mountains.

The mammoth movie, "Gone With the Wind" which has been made even bigger by being put onto a 70-millimeter film and wide screen, recalls fond memories of the times when it was first shown. And to many people, it still seems to be their main knowledge of Southern history. On the announcements the stars still are billed as such, Clark Gable, Vivian Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olivia de Havilland, in that order. Yet only one of these, ironically, the last named, still lives, the others are gone with the wind.

Dr. Walter Manaker has recently analyzed the births of half a million babies born here between 1961 and 1963. He found a tendency for more babies to be born around full-moon time than new moon. And many arrive some nine months after a blackout of the city.

Cornatzer-Dulin VFD Gets New Fire Truck

The Cornatzer-Dulin Volunteer Fire Department has a new truck now in operation, supplementing the Class A Pumper they have had for several years. This fire department was organized in 1955 and got their first truck in 1956. Since that time, this unit has provided fire protection for that community. According to their president, Luther Potts, much of their activity has been in fighting and preventing the spread of wood fires in the area. They also have answered several house fires and have the record of not having lost a house.

Terry Paul Young, 17, of Mocksville Rt. 4, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was riding hit a bridge on the Gladstone Road near Coalee.

State Highway Patrolman Andrew Stokes said that Young was dead on arrival at the Rowan Memorial Hospital. This was Davie's eighth highway fatality of the year.

The accident happened at 9:20 p. m.

The driver of the car, Randall Wayne Jones, 17, of Mocksville Rt. 4, and another passenger, Mark Whitaker, 17, of Mocksville Rt. 4, were treated at the Davie Hospital.

Patrolman Stokes said that Jones and Whitaker told him they saw another car coming south near towards them. They told him they moved to the right to avoid collision and lost control of the car and it crashed into the bridge.

Young was riding in the middle of the car's front seat when the car struck the wooden bridge railing, one rail was driven through the right front of the vehicle, striking Young in the leg and penetrating upwards through his body. Another railing was slammed through the car's windshield and struck Young in the head. Young was born in Rowan County to Wayne and Kathryn Kerley Young. Surviving are his parents; four brothers, Kerley Young of Winston-Salem, Steven Young with the U. S. Army, in Vietnam, and Jan and Kim Young of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Kathy Simmons and Miss Olivia Young of the home; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Isom Kerley of Coalee.

Development Assn. Holds Annual Meeting

A large delegation from Davie County attended the annual meeting of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association held last Thursday night in Elkin.

B. Eugene Seals of Mocksville, who served as president of the association, turned over the gavel to Floyd S. Pike of Mount Airy, who will serve as president for the ensuing year.

The Center Community received a $75 award in the large rural category. Clay Tutlerow accepted the check on behalf of the Center Community Development Committee.

Henry N. Howell of Mocksville and Huber L. Bailey of Advance were named as directors from Davie. Both will serve for a three year term.

In his year-end report as outgoing president, Eugene Seals of Mocksville said that "the greatest asset of the association is its continuity. We have stuck to goals and policies originally adopted, but have improved them by the year, always trying to make life better in the Northwest."

Northwest people had learned Seals said, that they can accomplish more than they dream.

Purchase Pilot Mountain and make it into a state park. This would have been a mere fantasy 11 years ago," said Seals. "Yet today under the leadership of P. Huber Jones Jr. - it will soon be a reality. . . . Stone Mountain in Wilkes, we feel sure, will similarly develop into another state park."

Make Present Look Pretty

Pretty wrapping on a package under the tree can make all the difference.

Use a minimum of paper. Place the box, face down, in the center of a sheet of paper that looks like the approximately size needed.

Fold the paper over the lengthwise dimension of the box and cut, leaving only an inch or so to overlap. Seal the overlap with a piece of tape.

Now, for the ends. Make sure the paper overhangs the ends by between half and five-eighths of the depth of the box. Turn in the corners at top and bottom, as tightly as possible. Finally, secure the top-half to the bottom half with a piece of tape.

Golden Age Club Visits Plantation

By MRS. JOSEPHINE HARDING
The huge wrought iron gates of Chiqua-Penn Plantation were opened to thirty members and guests of the Golden Age Club, Wednesday, December 6, when they made a tour of the plantation.

Chiqua-Penn is a 27 room mansion built of stone and logs and constructed in 1925. It is in the shape of a Y and is situated on a knoll overlooking a glorious view of the rolling countryside.

Hundreds of boxwoods and lovely rose gardens surround the mansion. On the grounds is an ornate Chinese Pagoda that adds to the beauty of the gardens. All of this adds to the feeling of isolation from the outside.

The fabulous rooms were filled with art objects and fine furnishings from European countries. Pointillias were used in decoration throughout the mansion.

A delicious lunch provided by the members was spread in the conference room & was enjoyed by all. Following lunch a short business session was held, and a new slate of officers were elected for the new year.

Mrs. Clara Andrews, now a resident of N. C. Baptist Retirement Home, Yanceyville, N. C. was present and was presented with a Christmas Corsage, and a beautiful basket of fruit. Mrs. Asa O'Brien made the presentation. The basket was handmade by Latta Ratledge.

The Rev. Hill of the Yanceyville Baptist Home gave the devotionals. The next club meeting will be the Christmas party, and will be held in the Multipurpose Room of the Davie County Library at 10 a. m. Wednesday, December 20. Each member is asked to bring a gift and some canned foods for a Christmas basket.

Santa's Name Is Explained

Where did Santa Claus come from?

The name came from the English settler in New York, according to the Columbia University publication, "Pleasures of Publishing."

The Englishmen, unable to understand the Dutch pronunciation of Saint Nicholas, whose feast was celebrated Dec. 6, called him Santa Claus. As Christmastime was the English gift season, Santa Claus was early transplanted to Christmas.

This is the time of the year that women like to spray Christmas decorations . . . but sometimes other things get sprayed in the process.

Several years ago Mrs. Bill Howard and Mrs. Dudley Collins and several other neighbors got together to spray Christmas decorations. However, the can of spray paint appeared to be stopped-up.

Mrs. Howard said she would remedy this and got a hammer and a nail. All the women gathered around as Mrs. Howard set to work on the stubborn can.

Then bang! Out sprayed the paint, completely covering the women . . . from head to toe. Loading themselves into a car they went to consult a local doctor.

"This was a real bunch of painted dolls", someone observed.

Some of these modern houses have two-way communication systems enabling a person inside to talk to someone at the door. This past Halloween a joker used this apparatus to turn the tables on some would-be pranksters.

When the door bell rang on Halloween night, this person used the system to put out a weird: "Who-o-o-o-o is it?"

This was usually followed by a moment of silence and then the patter of little feet as they beat their way back to the safety of the highway or car.

We make our share of the mistakes . . . but not all of them.

A recent daily newspaper had an account of a Negro teenage girl being treated at the hospital for a "funshot" in the abdomen. The account went on to say that the girl declined to comment on just how it got there.

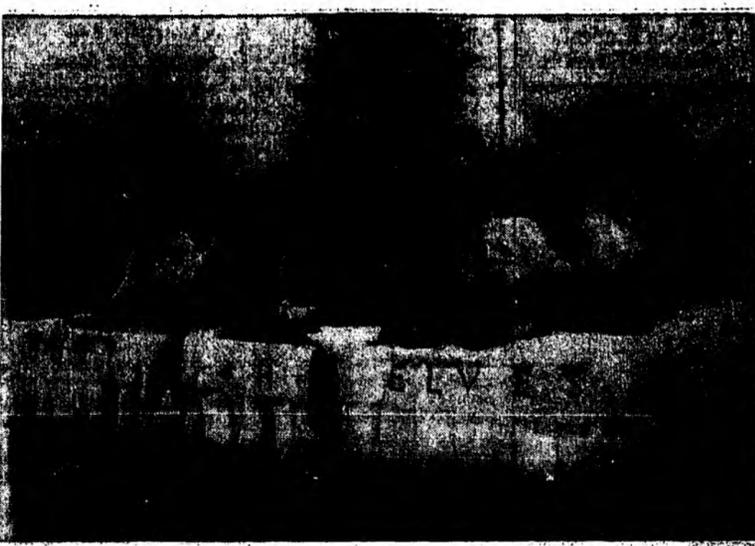

Little Joey Everidge, the son of Supt. and Mrs. James E. Everidge, is enjoying his first year at school. He returned home one day recently to tell his mother:

"This is the greatest day yet!"
"What do you mean . . . the greatest day?" asked his mother. And Joey explained:
The regular teacher was out and had a substitute . . . and according to Joey: "We just played all day!"

Cosmetic Balls Become Trees

You can turn ordinary cotton cosmetic balls into an attractive Christmas cone tree. For the tree base, use a plastic-foam cone. Attach the fluffy white cosmetic balls to the cone with pins, stuck through glittering red and green sequins.

Make a multi-colored cotton tree by using cosmetic balls that come in colors. They're available in a variety of soft pastel shades. Trim this tree with velveteen bows in coordinated colors.

The float of the Cornatzer 4-H Club featured Christmas customs around the world. The Bailey's Chapel 4-H Club featured members of this club dressed as 4-H elves around a decorated Christmas tree.

Miss Jane Mando, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Mando, and a senior at Southwestern in Memphis, and Miss Martha James, a senior at St. Andrews, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob James, have been selected for this honor.

The recipients of the awards have been selected on a basis of scholarship, citizenship, leadership in both educational and extracurricular activities, and on a promise of future worth.

WHO'S WHO is designed to render greater, though less conspicuous service as a goal to inspire greater effort in those who may not otherwise perform to the best of their ability, and as a reminder that time must be intelligently used to bring the best results from one's college experience.

WHO'S WHO is used as a means of compensation for outstanding effort and achievement, and as a standard of measurement for students, comparable to other recognized scholastic and service organizations.

Miss Mando is an English Major at Southwestern. She has been a member of the "Madrigal Singers" all 4 years. She was President of the Commission of the Women's Undergraduate Board her Junior year and on the Dean's List. This year she is Secretary-Treasurer of the Senior Class.

Children's Home Society Asks Help

The Children's Home Society of North Carolina asks you to think of twins this Christmas — your child who has the happiness and security of a home, and the child who needs one.

"We can double our joy at Christmas by remembering the boys and girls who need the adoption services provided by The Children's Home Society," said Mr. W. T. Cheatham, Jr., Statesville a member of the Society's Board of Directors.

"The Society's work covers the entire state. For example, last year we aided 823 children and 1352 resident couples in North Carolina. This means that wherever we live, if we are concerned about children, we have an interest in supporting The Children's Home Society," Mr. Cheatham said.

The Society makes no charge for its services and depends entirely upon voluntary support. It has district offices or resident caseworkers in Charlotte, Asheville, Greenville, Laurinburg, Chapel Hill and Wilmington. The headquarters and nursery for care of babies awaiting adoption are located in Greensboro.

The traditional 'Little Red Stocking' Christmas appeal is a major source for the Society's budget. Approximately half of the annual budget comes through Carolinas United, from UF campaigns in many North Carolina communities. The remainder comes from direct contributions, with the Christmas appeal furnishing the major portion.

Easy To Make

A "crevice cleaner" is an easy-to-make Christmas gift or holiday bazaar item. The item is simply a yardstick covered with washable cotton fabric — a bright print on one side, and terry cloth on the other. It can be used to clean crevices between appliances and other spots that are hard to reach.

Jewelry Gifts Are Important For Men

It may come as a surprise, but jewelry is almost as popular a source of Christmas gifts for men as it is for women.

No one knows how many tie tacks, tie bars, cuff links or combination sets of the items will pass under the Christmas tree.

Cuff links, in particular, are expected to be a big item in jewelry store Christmas shopping.

They're available at lower prices, of course, but if you're looking for something especially nice, a set in 14-karat yellow gold can be bought locally for $25 to $50.

The popularity of cuff links is attested by the fact that most new shirts are being produced to accommodate them. One jeweler recommends the links in Florentine finish oval, square or round.

Among the women, cultured pearls are expected to be a big gift item. One store has them in 14-karat priced at around $125 up in the popular longer length. The longer length of the strands is around 21 inches, as compared to a normal 14. The women like them because they can be worn in full length or shortened as called for by the occasion.

In ladies' gold jewelry, hand-textured and regular pins with open wire weaving are enjoying wide popularity under the influence of Italian styling. The handwoven wire designs are available in bracelets, pins, earrings and rings.

ENAMELED JEWELRY is popular in items for both men and women. If you want to bring light to the eyes of your lady, you might try an owl pin (animals are popular) in green and blue enamel with sapphire eyes and diamonds around the face. The price is $1.40. If you don't want to go that high, you can buy for will like. Several things, try one in a flower-pot design. It's he pointed out, go into determining a 18-karat enamel with rubies and the quality and price of a diamond. sapphires and sells for $134.

Washington Report

By CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHILL

Skirmishes in the war about the "War on Poverty" continue as disagreements persist. However, some other programs dealing with the general problem of poverty are receiving much less public attention and argument. One of these, certainly, is the adult program which was started back in 1966 as a Federal-State effort to offer basic education opportunities for adults. Last week, the House of Representatives considered its extension.

The relatively short debate was devoted almost entirely to a discussion of the purposes and accomplishments of the program. There was no discussion and the bill was passed by a vote of 352-0.

Every State in the Union is now participating in this program and significant strides are being made to meet one of the principal causes of poverty. We can be proud that North Carolina was one of the first and most active of our States in developing this concept of educational opportunity for adults. In fact, our State has had during the past fiscal year almost 17,000 people actively participating in and profiting from this program.

If we study the need for such an effort, we are struck immediately by the fact that there are approximately four million people in the United States who cannot read or who have less than a fourth grade education. There are another 24 million Americans who have had less than 8 years of education and who fall into the so-called "under-educated" classification.

Certainly, there are large numbers of Americans who have not had many years of formal education and who have been able to obtain, through their own initiative, the training and knowledge they need to find and maintain gainful employment. Nevertheless, the large proportion of these people have not been so fortunate. Their lack of education stands as an immense barrier between them and the chance for a better life which would be open to them otherwise.

It is well for more fortunate Americans to realize the frustration, humiliation and doubt that can rise in an individual who cannot fill-out an employment application form for himself or read printed instructions. It is this kind of barrier that needs to be broken down.

There is no doubt that the three-R's are the first essentials for job training and the opening of new horizons for any individual. It is particularly true in this age of technological specialization. A generation ago, when the United States depended more largely upon farm production, education was often difficult to obtain in many areas of our country. There are many Americans whose lack of education has no relationship to their intelligence and it is time, in my opinion, that we assure that opportunities are provided for them. It is particularly important that we remember these adults in an era when we think of opportunity as being necessary primarily for our youth.

Our public welfare rolls contain the names of a great number of people who are unable to help themselves because they lack sufficient education to permit them to take the first steps necessary to obtain the training and skills required for them to become self-supporting. To ignore the needs of these people would only assure a loss of valuable national resources. It would also mean that public welfare costs would increase.

The adult education program, it seems to me, is a positive alternative to the essentially unproductive welfare philosophy that has dominated the thinking of this country for too long. What ought to be temporary assistance often becomes a debilitating handout offering little future and even less hope for personal independence. The self-respecting, productive, tax-pay-

News and Comment from Our Raleigh Bureau

CAN HE RESIST? . . . It is only natural for Governors of North Carolina, unable to succeed themselves, should want to have a big hand in naming the men to follow them in office. Gov. Dan Moore says emphatically he isn't going to . . . that the people have sense enough to know who the Democratic nominee should be.

In the spring of 1944, J. M. Broughton said he would not interfere with the Gregg Cherry-Ralph McDonald contest—unless his administration was attacked. But, in time, McDonald made some statements regarded as critical of the Broughton regime; and he was vigorously attacked by Gov. Broughton. Gov. Moore says he will defend his administration.

It is next to impossible for a Governor—titular head of the party and all that—to keep his nose out of things. Terry Sanford didn't try. He went on Statewide television network, finally, in his efforts to nominate Richardson Preyer over Dan K. Moore. This probably did more harm than good—in any event Moore went in by landslide (480,000 to 293,000).

O. Max Gardner in 1932 almost single-handedly chose J. C. B. Ehringhaus of Elizabeth City to succeed him. In 1936, he selected his brother-in-law, Clyde R. Hoey. Then, in 1940, Gov. Hoey finally pitched in for J. M. Broughton . . . and you can still hear thunder from that one. Probably the sorriest job of trying to name his successor was done by Gov. Hodges in 1960. His inexperience in knif-picking politics was never more obvious. He squirmed; he turned; he beckoned; he looked in this direction and that; and he was going to throw in for John Larkins; and it might be Lt. Gov. Luther Barnhardt. The bankers, waiting for signals, walked a tightrope. Finally, it was Malcolm Seawell—but too late to do much good.

It is no secret that W. Kerr Scott in 1948 attempted to name his successor as Governor. After some indecision, he gave the nod to Hubert Olive of Lexington. With all of Scott's popularity, it just wouldn't jell . . . and William B. Umstead was nominated.

All in all, this thing of a Governor trying to name the next one hasn't worked well in North Carolina in 10, these many years. R. Gregg Cherry, nobody's fool, knew this and stayed completely—but completely—out of the Charles Johnson—Kerr Scott to-do in 1948. Scott always appreciated this—Johnson, not so much.

The three main reasons Gov. Moore has decided to remain clear of next spring's gubernatorial primary are:

1. He still deeply resents Gov. Sanford's interference in 1964.
2. Taking sides among the Democrats makes fodder for the GOP.
3. No Governor in 25 years has been successful in this stubblefield.

HELP . . . Parents who have children attending N. C. State University may not in regular thought connect religion with the work of this institution which means so much to North Carolina and the world.

Even so, this Christmas they can take consolation from the fact that a great deal of religious work at N. C. State goes on each day in the week.

The school is blessed with chaplains who serve full time as sustenance for kids needing help and guidance. Far from home, students often need help. This help is available for all those who seek it at N. C. State University. The chaplains are supported by the respective churches.

For the 3,000 Baptists, there is a chaplain. The 2,200 Methodists also have a chaplain. This goes for the 1,100 Presbyterians, too, and for the 400 members of the Episcopal Church; and for the 300 Catholics.

There is a great deal of religious activity at N. C. State.

TAKE IT! . . . To look at Joe Hunt, chairman of the State Highway Commission, you would think he would be about the most thick-skinned person in this neck of the woods.

Well, he isn't. Like most highly intelligent people of refined background, he is quite sensitive. Hunt no doubt does a lot of inner suffering; and frequently wears a facial expression indicating deep pain somewhere about his person.

The man given the credit—or blame—for making Chairman Hunt want to resign is none other than Frank Lambeth, outspoken operator of Radio Station WMFR in High Point and prominent in the N. C. Association of Broadcasters. This seems a little odd in view of the fact that the broadcasters and the Moore administration—both under the general guidance of John Harden Associates—have seemed to hit it off so well in times past.

Lambeth, member of one of the State's outstanding families, is supposed to have written a scorching letter to Fellow Guilfordian Joe Hunt. Incidentally, Hunt's wife was a Boren before marriage; and you don't get much higher than that in Guilford or anywhere else. This letter is just another indication of the broad divisions which exist in, around, under, over and about Guilford, Greensboro, and High Point.

Joe Hunt should take a leaf from the book of firm-countenanced Sandy Graham of Hillsborough. No man living has served as long as Graham as head of the State Highway Commission. He could take it—and dish it out, too. He ran for Governor in 1936—at the end of his term as Lieutenant-Governor—but got sucked under in the Hoey-McDonald fiasco. Graham visits Raleigh occasionally, looking more like an aging general every day, and has outlived most of his contemporaries.

The Governor refused Hunt's offer to resign—just as he did that of Willie York, chairman of Conservation and Development, several months ago. Dan Moore is a steady old ship-of-State, say what you will.

Giving Gifts Dates Back From Magi

"Bearing gifts we traverse afar." These are the words sung by the Magi in the traditional Christmas carol, "We Three Kings," as they followed the star to Bethlehem.

There they went to lay at feet of the new-born Babe gifts of love and devotion in the earthly form of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

Centuries later, the outward expression of love with material gifts has become a Christmas custom.

An Old Salem Christmas Is Re-enacted Monday

The sights, sounds and smells of Christmas as it was in 1800 will be re-created Monday evening (Dec. 18) in the area of Salem Square in Old Salem.

The holiday event, sponsored by Old Salem Inc., will be open to the public from 7 p. m. until 9:30 p. m. Activities designed to recapture the spirit of the little Moravian congregation town of Salem a century and a half ago have been planned for both outdoors and inside three of the restored buildings in Old Salem.

Garlands of greenery will be strung along the fences. There will be candle lanterns at the doorways and candles in the windows of the buildings. A night watchman in early Moravian dress will walk up and down the street calling the hours with the blowing of a conch shell and chants that were written in 1727 for the Moravians in Herrnhut, Germany.

A costumed sentry, carrying a lantern, will ride his horse along the street. Old Salem staff members and others in Moravian dress will mingle with the visitors and students at Salem College who will join the festivities. And in Salem Square a Moravian band, also in costume, will play chorales that were used in Salem nearly 200 years ago at Christmas.

The area will be blocked to vehicular traffic so that families may stroll around in the streets in safety. There will be no admission for the outdoor activities, but a small admission will be charged for visiting the restored buildings.

The buildings to be opened are: — The 1773 Miksch Tobacco Shop where there will be cooking over an open fire and "illuminations" (transparent pictures) in the windows.

— The Single Brothers House where music that has not been heard in many generations will be presented by 12 members of the Salem College Ensemble, a chorus of the ensemble and male voices and a duet of Paul W. Peterson, professor of voice at Salem College, and Miss Virginia Walker, a Salem College student. The singers will be accompanied by the Rev. James V. Salzwedel, minister of music at Home Moravian Church, at the 1797 Kauffmanberg organ and by a string quartet of students at the North Carolina School of the Arts.

— The John Vogler House where the traditional Moravian Christmas cakes will be baked and where students at the School of the Arts will present vocal, harpsichord and flute numbers known to have been used in Salem in the period around 1800. Following the re-enactment of the 1800 Christmas in Salem, Salem College girls will sing the familiar Christmas carols, which are of a later period.

Last year, 72 counties* received in State beer excise taxes.

$5,127,383.53

28 counties received $0.00.

How much will those 28 counties miss out on this year?

The 28 so-called "dry" counties lost revenue in three significant ways.

First, they didn't share in the State beer excise taxes — the $5,000,000 plus returned to counties and municipalities permitting legally controlled sale of beer and ale. The 72 counties or municipalities which did share got from $7,784.25 to $475,536.53.

Second, they also didn't get the revenue from license fees, franchise taxes and other local taxes.

Third, they contributed to the income of their neighbor counties from these sources.

What's the good of a one-way wall that drives sales dollars out of a county — and keeps tax dollars from coming back in?

If you are interested in increasing your county's revenue from this source, write for the free booklet "The Beer Industry in North Carolina."

Davie At Mooresville Friday; Here Tuesday

Davie High won a twin bill with East Rowan here Tuesday night with the boys winning 53-41 while the girls won 47 to 19.

Davie will play at Mooresville on Friday night and will entertain North Iredell here on Tuesday night to close out play before the holiday season.

Fred Bailey had 13 points to lead the Rebels; Shoaf had 12; Ijames had 11; Mando, 8; Anderson, 6; West and Hudson, 2.

Davie came from behind a half-time deficit for a big third quarter during which they outscored the Mustangs 19 to 6 to insure the victory.

The Davie teams took two games from Thomasville last Friday night. The Rebelettes had little trouble winning the opener 40 to 26.

The nightcap was a thriller as the Rebels edged the Toms, 47 to 45. Freddie Bailey and "Jingle" Ijames teamed up to score 15 and 13 points respectively to lead the Rebels. Shoaf had 3; Hudson and Mando 5 each; and Anderson, 6. The Rebels held a 27-24 lead at halftime and stretched that advantage to 42-36 going into the final period. The Toms made a rally to catch up but the Rebels held on to take the victory.

Here And There

By MRS. JOE H. LANGSTON

In spite of a driving rain Sunday, Green Meadows Church reached their goal of a 100 in Sunday school on opening day, with a 127 there for worship services. The Rev. J. Clarence Shore delivered the morning message, using a very appropriate topic, "What kind of Church do I want my Church to be?"

If you have stopped believing in miracles, just drive out 801 a short distance east of Farmington and see one. The footing for Green Meadows Church was poured August 31, and today the building is complete with furnishings, 8 class rooms, a large assembly room, seating capacity 200, two rest rooms, vestibule and hall.

A large number of visitors attended Sunday. If you meant to come but the rain or something kept you away, come on anytime for the welcome mat is always out.

Happy Birthday to Mrs. Bessie Smith who will celebrate her 77th one Friday, December 15.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Williams attended a party for the "Poke Easy" club, Tuesday night at the South Side Baptist Church. Following dinner, games were enjoyed by the 35 members attending. Entertainment, was also furnished by 3 boys from Wake Forest College. This is a club for handicapped people.

Winters usually bring sore throats and flu. Some who have been ill in the community are Marty, Tony and Craig Carter, Jr., Clynes Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lee and Elaine Boles.

Everyone who has a part in the Christmas program at Green Meadows is asked to be at the church at 7 p. m. Thursday for a practice session.

A fellowship supper for the families of Green Meadows Church will be held Sat. Dec. 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boles. If you can make it, be there by 6:30 p. m. with your covered dish. Mealtime is 7 p. m.

Mrs. Leroy Howell is awaiting a bed at the hospital. She will enter for further tests for a tumor growth.

Birthday greetings to Timothy Hendrix who will celebrate his 8th birthday this week, and Barry Hendrix, who will be three this week.

NOTE

Names and address of service-men for Christmas card correspondence are wanted. Contact: Mrs. Lois Allen, 634-5718, president of local VFW.

Car Fails To Get Showed Down

An accident occurred two miles south of Mocksville on US 601 Sunday, Dec. 10, about 11:45 a. m. when Dwight Revere Sammons, 22, of Mocksville, Rt. 4, operating a '68 Dodge and traveling north failed to get slowed down in time and struck the rear of a '61 Dodge. Raymond D. Hairston, 72, of Rt. 4 Mocksville, was driver of the '61 Dodge and had stopped to pick up a pedestrian.

Slate Highway patrolman R. L. Beane investigated the accident and charged Sammons with following too closely. Damages to the '68 Dodge was $200 and $100 damages to the '61 Dodge.

Mrs. Danny Smith Hostess to W. S. C. S.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Smith with 18 people present.

The program — The Christmas Story — was in charge of the Spiritual Life leader, Miss Vada Johnson. It was given in the form of a playlet. Miss Johnson was the narrator. Mrs. W. W. Spillman played the part of Mary, the members were the choir, and two four years old girls with happy faces played the part of angels. They were Dana Smith and Angela Brock.

Refreshments of cubed jello in red and green colors, fruit cake, nuts and coffee were served to the fifteen members and three visitors. The visitors were Mrs. D. R. Bennett, Mrs. S. W. Furches, and Miss Linda Williams.

Baptist Hold Week of Prayer

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church held a week of Prayer last week ending Sunday the tenth. This was for the Lotte Moon Christmas Offering. This offering goal — 15 million dollars — was the largest ever undertaken by any Christian body. Their theme is "Life through His Name". This accomplishment would be impossible without intercessory prayer — the greatest power on earth.

The Baptist Church-wide Christmas Party will be held at the School Cafeteria on Saturday night, Dec. 16th, beginning at 7:30. The Baptist Christmas Program will be held on Dec. 23rd, in the Church Sanctuary, beginning at 7:30.

The Methodist Church Christmas program will be given Sunday night Dec. 24th in the Church sanctuary, beginning at 7:30. Come to these Church programs and join in the worship hour.

Mrs. Tom Winkler of Hickory and John Frank Johnson of Charlotte have been visitors of their mother, Mrs. J. F. Johnson, during the past week.

There were many out of town guests here Sunday attending the wedding at five o'clock in the Methodist Church of Miss Linda Caudle and Stanley Jacques. Some that were former citizens here were Mr. and Mrs. Gene James, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Taylor, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, Mrs. Chal Messic, Mrs. Mildred Walker Parker, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, all of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. Bob Wallace and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Bearden of Mocksville.

Mrs. Tossie Collette, the mother of Mrs. Cecil Leagans entered the Davie County Hospital last Wednesday. She is responding to treatment.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Sarah Hicks were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown of Mooresville. Mrs. Hicks left Monday morning for Petersburg, Va. where she will be the house companion of Mrs. G. E. Brown for a few weeks.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Things was a heap different today from what they was when I was coming along as a boy. The reason I mention it is on account of a item that come up at the country store Saturday night.

The school I went to was built out of pine boards that had plenty of knots and when it was tore down in 1911 it still had not got a coat of paint. I recollect they was some talk about the Sewing Circle at one of the churches making some quilts and selling them to git it painted. I reckon they either didn't make the quilts or they wouldn't sell. All I know fer shore is that the school house never got painted.

We had two rooms and seven grades and two teachers and when you got through the seventh grade you had one graduated. We learned a heap of things, like how to cut wood fer the stove and stack it under the school house to dry, how to have respect fer our elders, go to preaching service ever Sunday, have a love fer our country and our flag, and mind our Ma and Pa when they give us advice about things in life.

And they was a heap of things we didn't learn in them seven years, like how to protest and demonstrate, hold love-ins, fat-ins, dress like heathens, and tell our elders how everthing had ought to be run. And when World War I come along them that was old enough volunteered to defend their country and they wasn't no burning of draft cards.

But, actual, Mister Editor, we didn't git a heap of book learning and that's why I was discussing the matter in my little piece this week. The storekeeper's wife, what is a school teacher, sent me word by some of the fellers that my spelling and grammar wasn't fitten fer a speckled parrot. I ain't never saw a speckled parrot and she ain't neither, so where she was short on parrots I was short on grammar and spelling and I ain't never saw a speckled parrot and she ain't neither, so where she was short on parrots I was short on grammar and spelling and I ain't worry-none about it.

The fellers at the store Saturday night was siding with me in this argument and what bring it up was me tolling 'em I aimed to write a few lines on this feller Haler Salasse from Ethiopep in my next piece, only I had fer-got how to spell his name.

Ed Doolittle advised I go ahead and spell it any way I know how and if the storekeeper's wife didn't git it she could ask some of her younguns about it.

Anyhow, Mister Editor, this piece said our Government had loaned him a pleasure yatch in 1961 that was air-conditioned, had gold wallpaper, had cost us taxpayers $4 million in repairs in 6 years and was now in dry dock fer another $80,000 worth of repairs. I'll let the storekeeper's wife take it from there.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

60-Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "The worst buy is an alibi." - E. G. Leterman.

A trial had reached the stage where the defendant's wife was permitted to testify in an attempt to establish an alibi.

"You are positive you know where your husband was on the night the crime was committed?" asked the prosecutor.

"All I can say," replied the good woman, "is that if I didn't know, then I busted a good rolling pin over the head of an innocent man."

We all make mistakes, but why do we alibi them rather than admit the obvious? It probably is pride that causes an excuse to fly to our lips without thinking. Usually, this Alibi is the worst buy we can make. A discerning accuser can expose us in an even more humiliating manner than the original error.

If we will admit an error or short-coming honestly, without trying to bluff it through or alibi it, we'll remove much of the sting we feel from our fault. Further, we'll gain sympathy from those who admire someone who faces his error and takes the blame.

When you "pull a blooper", don't shout an alibi. Be silent a moment. Consider. Remember, "The worst buy is an alibi." Then admit your fault.

Frankincense

Frankincense, among the gifts of the Wise Men, is a resin of an East African and Arabian tree of the genus Boswellia, which is gathered in irregular lumps for use in incense in religious ceremonies dating back to Old Testament times. It is mentioned in Exodus 30-34.

The new brand of railroading at work on Southern Railway in recent years quickly made a museum piece of steam locomotive "No. 1401" — for Southern was the first of the big American railroads to convert from steam to 100% diesel power.

Similarly, countless other "traditional" ways to run a railroad have been made obsolete by the continuing revolution in railroading that is taking place on the modern Southern. Not only have we adopted, we have also invented many of the technological advances and equipment improvements that are providing our customers with improved railroad transportation at lowest possible cost.

Changes such as these carry a high price tag—money plowed back from our earnings to keep pace with the growing transportation needs of the growing South. It is an investment that helps us save money for shippers and consumers in the South. You benefit — and we do, too!

Southern Railway System
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Just a few years ago, "No. 1401" was thundering through the South at 80-plus miles an hour — a beautiful and complex mechanism of tremendous size and power. Today, in Washington, D. C., it stands idle and proud in the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology — a gift to all America from Southern Railway.

So This Is New York

By NORTH CALLAHAN

A university president here has challenged the church. He asks what it is doing to help the world of today. President James Hester of New York University minced no words the other day when he told a meeting of ministers. "We know too well that in many places where once religion was the organizing force in society, its influence in the lives of millions of people is negligible. Even many who maintain church affiliation no longer experience religion as the central force in community life. . . . Is it not clear then, what we must ask of religion? We ask for inspiration, for illumination, for understanding, for courage that scientists, philosophers, psychologists and educators cannot provide alone."

In her charming book, "The Plaza", Eve Brown tells of when the famous hotel first opened sixty years ago. There was a big crowd at 69th Street and 5th Avenue waiting to see who would be the first guest to register. It turned out to be Alfred Wynne Vanderbilt, son of Cornelius who was then considered the richest man in America. As his limousine door opened, some were disappointed at not seeing Mrs. Vanderbilt. But others knew that she had been injured in an automobile accident, or at least shaken up so that her arrival was delayed. She and her niece were riding in a car which had collided with another and "skidded thirty-four feet". Eve Brown has herself had an interesting life, being at one time on the Paris Herald and later as Cholly Knickerbocker, wrote society news for the New York Journal American.

In some ways it seems, the dogs are doing better than humans. At the Gaines Dog Research Center here, there is a demand for canines for careers. Some foreign countries want trained dogs to detect underground mineral deposits by the smell, others to ferret out gas leaks. Recently police dogs scented a thief hiding under a parked bus, who otherwise might well have gone undetected. They're even used to bring home errant husbands, one is told.

With people moving around so much, an organization with the rhythmic name of Homeric is quite busy. Its job is to relocate people in other communities. The case of Jim Crandall is cited as an example. He was called into his boss's office not long ago and told that he was being promoted to take charge of his firm's southeastern district, and was to be transferred to Atlanta in 30 days. Jim phoned his home and caused pandemonium among his family. But he also called the re-locating organization and after specifying what kind of a new home he and his wife wanted, wheels were set in motion to accomplish this. Atlanta suburbs were combed by realtors, a search was made among available houses there for the type of kitchen, Jim's workshop, the kid's rumpus room and desirable transportation facilities. Within two weeks, the house was found, the Crandalls moved down and liked it.

Even though it costs the city money to maintain it, the fare for the Staten Island Ferry will probably remain "the best nickel ride in the world." This five-cent rate is mandated in the New York City Charter and was guaranteed to Richmond County when the island became a part of the city in 1898. Today the half-hour ride from the Battery to St. George costs the city 46 cents a passenger. But attempts to change the law all seem to fail. This is one of the few things that I know of which has not risen in price. Any taxpayer who thinks he is getting gypped is welcome to go down to the ferry and take a ride, especially on a hot summer's evening. The refreshing and inspiring view from the bow is reward enough.

Ancient Custom

The custom of decorating homes at Christmas has been practiced for hundreds of years. In 604, Pope Saint Gregory advised Saint Augustine to permit and even encourage harmless popular customs which were not pagan and could be given Christian interpretation.

Soldier Figures Cost Of Ballad

The following is a United Press International release from Fort Bragg that was thought to be of interest to all:

The Englishman who sent his true love exotic gifts on each of the 12 days of Christmas would need a healthy bank account behind him to do it at today's prices.

Sp. 4 W. J. Chandler, Jr., a draftsman from Raleigh, N. C., working in the public information office here, got to wondering about the cost of all those leaping lords and swimming swans while listening on the radio to the 18th Century English Christmas ballad, "The 12 days of Christmas."

Chandler, who was a practicing lawyer when he was drafted, used an encyclopedia and did four days of telephone calling to complete his shopping list.

ON THE FIRST day of Christmas the lady received a partridge in a pear tree. Total cost from the State Wildlife Commission and a local nursery: $16.05.

The second day's gift, two turtle doves, would run $70 from a New York pet store.

Three French hens, genus gallus, were valued at $165.

The fourth gift, four calling birds, would be a problem. According to Chandler's Encyclopedia, there was a species named calling bird but they are extinct. The last known pair was purchased by the London Zoological Society in 1911 at a cost, in today's dollars, of $17,230.

FIVE GOLDEN rings were worth $175 in a local jewelry store.

Six geese a-laying would cost $80.10, according to the State Wildlife Commission.

Seven swans a-swimming would be a bit more. The flock would cost $315.

Eight maids a-milking, paid the federal minimum wage for an eight-hour day, would run $89.60. Eight registered milk cows added up to $4,400.

FIGURING THERE was no point pinching pennies at this point, Chandler went to the New York City Ballet for nine ladies dancing. They would cost $3,239 including salaries and transportation.

Ten lords a-leaping meant round-trip transportation for 10 members of the House of Lords in London. British Overseas Air-lines cost: $5,997.66.

Eleven pipers piping would come from the New York Philharmonic and would cost $3,239 in wages and transportation.

Finally came 12 drummers drumming, and they would cost Chandler's gift-giver only $50 because he could get local talent from the Ft. Bragg Drum and Bugle Corps.

This all comes to $36,097.01. But according to the ballad, the partridge in a pear tree is sent not once, but 12 times. The two turtle doves 11 times the French hens 10 and so on. Only the drummers are sent once.

Figuring it up this way, true love, are you ready? The cost is $211,750.90.

Special Education Class Adds Shop And Crafts

Mrs. Wootton's higher class for the children who need special education, have had an added attraction this year which is "Shop and Crafts."

Activities have been planned so that each pupil can achieve success and attain a degree of pleasure and perhaps a future job. The program is adopted to the pupil's ability to understand and to follow directions. Mrs. Wootton has found that by careful planning and taking into consideration the ability of the individual that much can be accomplished.

In the school program, all language arts, arithmetic, social studies, Science, Shop, crafts, Health, Music and Art is provided. Physical education is combined with the seventh graders.

Individual to become a better citizen and have some understanding of how Science in education, could change the way of living in the home, community and in industry. Bulletin boards were made depicting the first way fire was made which included the match, the candle, oil lamps and the story of the beginning of electric lights and how electricity is used today.

Each pupil planned a lamp. Some made T V lamps, others bedroom lamps and reading lamps. All the lamps are not wired yet, but will be in the near future.

The pupils seem to know and grasp the idea that electricity did not happen overnight and that the world is still living in a change. Mrs. Wootton's Christmas project for the children was making bottles attractive with the use of tissue paper, glue, water and varnish. Santas, candles and Christmas cards were also made.

"Our one purpose is to help pupils to develop self discipline, have a goal in sight, to make a living in adult life, to be good citizens and to make a contribution to their community," said Mrs. Wootton.

Mocksville Native Enjoys Aero Club

Mrs. John Mauney, the former Janet Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Eaton, Wilkesboro Street, Mocksville, is the solo woman member of an Aero Club known as the Dan River Aero club with the planes at Martinsville, Va. Janet became interested in flying while she and her husband were living in Skaneateles, N. Y. mostly from hearing her husband talk about "power on" and "power off". It aroused her curiosity to the extent that she expressed a desire to take flying lessons. John presented her with a "book" or, what is more familiarly known as 11 lessons in flying.

She began her lessons in May 1964. She admits she had apprehensions about flying but in her determination to make a success of her desire, she made up her mind she was going to learn, and that she did. Janet said, "that she believed the most terrifying moment in her life was when she took off alone for the first time." She asserted, "My feelings at that moment were just all apprehension . . . positively frozen with fear when I took over the controls after the instructor informed me that "now is the time." He told me to pull over and he would "apron out", a term used when the instructor leaves his seat and the plane and you are on your own."

"For a split second I had a sensation of fear. But as I taxied off," she continued, "fear left me and I was perfectly at ease, climbing into the sky feeling that I was master of one of the most thrilling situations, that this was my first solo flight. I concentrated on the controls and remembered what my instructor had told me and did just what I had been instructed to do."

"However the most sensational experience was in "coming down", and let me say your first descent is like leaving your stomach up there," she laughed. "But, oh, the exhilarating experience one has when you land. It is a feeling of elation. You know you have controlled a plane all by yourself . . . you have been up there in space . . . just like flying on a magic carpet! There is only a void between you and earth and its your responsibility whether or not anything goes wrong. That first flight was a marvelous experience and one I've never had since, because flying now comes quite naturally.

Janet and the other seven members of the club own a Cherokee 140-A seater.

The Mauney's are now living in Leaksville, N. C. Mr. Mauney is a director of technical services, Karastan division of Fieldcrest Mills, Inc. They have three children, John 15, Meg 10 and Celia 4. All the family enjoy flying and occasionally the parents take the children up.

Janet Mauney is a very busy person. By vocation she is a medical technician and helps out at the hospital when needed. She is a gifted musician and teaches music at the First Baptist Church kindergarten. She is a past president of the North Carolina state Epsilon Sigma Alpha and currently is president of the local Beta Alpha chapter. She is vice president of the Martha Taylor Davison Music club, a member of the Morehead hospital auxiliary board and a member of the Leaksville Garden club.

AREA 10 LPN'S Christmas Party

Area 10 of the Licensed Practical Nurses had a dinner party Tuesday night, December 12, at the National Guard Armory in Winston-Salem. The room was decorated for Christmas and the table was spread with a lace cloth and decorations included candles, holly and other greenery.

Mrs. Hattie Thompson welcomed the group attending. Mrs. Holder had the devotions and Mrs. Carolyn Richards from Mocksville played the piano and the group sang Christmas carols.

A buffet style dinner was served and around 50 nurses and their families enjoyed the occasion.

Clyde Lahey and his combo played and dancing was enjoyed. Gifts were exchanged.

An invitation from Mrs. V. Sealy of Winston-Salem to an informal get together on December 20 from 1 to 4 were exchanged.

Those attending from Mocksville were: Mrs. Gwyn Cleary, Mrs. Nancy Foster, Mrs. Ruth Davis, Mrs. Carolyn Richards and Mrs. Ruth Payne.

State License Plates Go On Sale Here January 1st

Immediately after Christmas, December 27th to be exact, the Department of Motor Vehicles will place 2,700,000 license plate applications in the mail.

The cards are in two parts instead of the usual five. This reduction is made possible because of the Department's new computer which allows for storage of registration information on magnetic tape, eliminating the necessity of maintaining card files.

Miss Kay Ingram, who heads the Department of Motor Vehicle's Registration Division, says the applications are being mailed under First Class postage rather than bulk rate, and that all cards, therefore, should reach their destination by January 2, the date issuance of new plates begins. She points out that "to renew a license plate you must have a renewal card and cautions against the misplacing of it when received. Obtaining a duplicate takes time and can be costly if application is made late in the renewal period.

If by the end of the first week in January you have not received your renewal application card you should, according to Miss Ingram, send a request for another to the Department of Motor Vehicles, Raleigh. We will need the make of vehicle, its identification number and the 1967 tag number. If possible, send the title number.

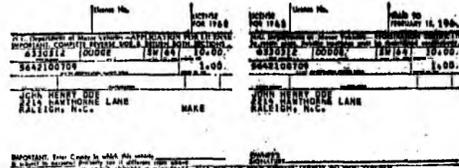

Surrounding area residents can procure their 1968 plates at Farmers Hardware & Supply Salisbury St. on January 12. The office hours are from 8:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. Monday - Saturday close Wed. at noon after Feb. 15th. The local license agent R. C. Glascock & Miss Ingram urge that you "open your application cards and complete them in accordance with instructions before presenting for a new plate." They say this will greatly expedite the issuance and keep long lines from forming.

A NEW LOOK . . . There will be a new look to the 2.7 million motor vehicles registration cards which will go in the mail on December 27th. These two-section cards replace the old five-section cards which have been in use for a number of years. The 1968 license plates go on sale at the Motor Vehicles Building in Raleigh and the 93 branch offices across the state January 2. The plates will be red on white and will be reflectorized again this year. All plates must be displayed on or after February 15. A 1968 plate can be purchased at any local branch on by mail. The usual hustle and bustle of Christmas is on in full; it wouldn't be Christmas without it. Let's don't forget those we can help, also our friends and most of all the best friend of all whose birthday we celebrate. One sad thought though, some can only celebrate a holiday; only christians can celebrate the birth of the Saviour.

Here's wishing a lovely Christmas to all the readers of this column.

A Letter From Vietnam

The following "Letter To the Editor" was written for the "Sea Tiger", a Navy newspaper distributed in Vietnam. It was thought that the article would be of interest to our readers:

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have had it! I am getting weary indeed of the many articles and letters submitted concerning Red China and the war in Vietnam. They are written, I'm sure, by people who have never seen ashore in the combat area!

This pains my heart, because the things they are saying are just not so. I spent eight months in the combat zone with a group of men who literally worked themselves to death on humanitarian projects.

We built roads, a hospital, dug waterwells, and did countless acts of civic improvement, such as working in Catholic and Protestant orphanages.

Then, returning to the good old U.S.A. I find criticism, bickering, and questions like: "Are you still burning innocent villages and shooting civilian women and children?" I find that patriotism is suspect, military obligation is something to be avoided, and to almost kill yourself trying to rescue a man is now a sin . . .

I wish that the critics of the war, and those who are always clamoring about Red China, would shut up and listen once in a while to those who have been there. Please excuse my phraseology, but I mean it. I'm sick to death of battlefield experts who have never left home, and of mushy Christians who have never been to an area where to believe in Christ means torture and death. Let them spend their time under fire, then I'll listen. Let them go over and talk to the refugees from China and North Vietnam, then I'll talk with them. May God have mercy on these political and military experts who debate in a classroom and never get more than a hundred miles from home. May God have mercy on us all, for condemning so easily and commending so slowly . . .

What frightens me is that our people are not getting a good and true picture of the Vietnamese conflict, even though I'm sure it is the best covered news event in history! When I tell people that our men never fired a shot at the Viet Cong until we were attacked, they look at me like I was crazy. When I tell them that the Communists hate our guts, and savagely blew up our hospital, and maimed our men with ambushes, no one wants to listen. When I ask these people back in the States if they have been to Asia, if they have talked to any refugees from North Vietnam lately or imagine that?

I hear continual criticism of our presence in Asia and continual harping to withdraw. North Vietnamese to get out of South Vietnam? Why isn't there more condemnation of the raping, looting, burning, and the hell the Communists are spreading south of the demilitarized zone? I think the thing that burns the soul of every soldier is to come home and hear some fat, comfortable preacher in his clerical garb denounce our country's policy, and spout off about a war he hasn't fought in and discuss issues he has no firsthand knowledge of. I know this has been true since "Willie and Joe" came back from World War II, but for heaven's sake we ought to learn something by now.

When I tell folks back here about the work our boys are doing there—building, teaching, healing, and cleaning, I get a sweet smile, a knowing look, and a reply something like this: "Oh yes, it is wonderful what our boys are doing. But don't you think those people are just taking advantage of us and they really aren't in favor of us being there, and wouldn't they be just as happy and well off under the Communists?"

The first several times I heard this, I was too surprised to reply. Then I was too mad to talk. Now I want to go in a corner and weep!

How stupid can we get? I know that this war is a terrible thing. I know that there is a lot of feeling about "political policy," and "foreign affairs," and that it is not a simple thing. Oh, Lord, how well I know this—as does anyone who has been there for a few months.

But how would you like to have someone say to you, "let them go, don't help, they will be happy under Communism! It's an old truism that if we sit here smugly in our freedom, and not help others preserve theirs, we wouldn't have ours very long! We're so smart we know this, but we are so dumb we don't want to do anything about it.

There is no doubt in my mind that this is the "Good-Samaritan-Parable War!" We've got a bruised and bleeding South Vietnamese desperately in need of help. And a lot of Americans fear getting involved by stopping to help. The thing that breaks my heart is, that having been one of the many who did stop and try to help a little, I straighten up, and turn around looking for our Church to help—and I don't find it! What's wrong with being on the side of freedom? What's wrong with helping a brother who is hurt badly and calling for help? What's wrong with speaking out against the Godless ruthlessness of Communism? Nothing, you say? Then why don't we do it?

I loved the Reformed Church of America, and I hope I'm Christian in the matter of speaking to the Red Chinese, and working for peace. The only trouble is the last Red Chinese I saw tried to mortar me to death.

Now, brother, if you want to speak with him, and discuss the issues of peace with him, go right ahead! Be my guest. I have had it. You try it for a while. Then after you come back, let me know how you made out.

G. Alex Tucker

By the age of 80, George Alex Tucker had become a successful dairy farmer in the Advance section of Davie County. A man of ambition, he had a desire for public service.

In 1950 he was elected Sheriff of Davie County. From 1950 to 1954 he served the people of Davie County in this office, always insisting and giving fair and impartial law enforcement. In fact, he was a much better sheriff than the people of Davie County wanted.

Retiring from farming, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker moved to Mocksville. Mr. Tucker continued to be active in the Republican Party, serving it whenever and wherever called upon. He was named and served for many years as chairman of the Davie County Welfare Board.

Last Thursday, Mr. Tucker suffered a coronary failure & died at age 88. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Eaton's Chapel and burial was in the Elbaville Methodist Church Cemetery. Mr. Tucker was a member of this church.

He was born in Davie County to George T. and Betty Charles Tucker and spent his entire life here.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Sarah Irene Beauchamp Tucker; a daughter, Mrs. Fred Smith of Mocksville, Rt. 3; five sisters, Mrs. Emma Cook of Mocksville, Mrs. A. C. Jones of Winston-Salem, Mrs. D. Z. Foster of Lexington, Mrs. Turner Page of Cool Springs and Mrs. M. G. Allmond of Thomasville; and two brothers, Charles A. Tucker of Chicago, Ill., and John T. Tucker of San Juan, Calif.

Alex Tucker served Davie County well . . . both as a private citizen and a public officer. In this service he earned the respect and admiration of all those that knew him.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The Christmas spirit at the country store Saturday night was flowing like handout money from the Great Society. I don't mean the liquid kind on account of none of the fellers was drinkers. I reckon some of them might have had a little dram in their younger days, but all of them now was what my preacher calls a "sober society."

We had a feller onct, about 30 year ago, that come to the sessions pritty regular and he always bought himself a quart of liquor for Christmas. I can recollect one Christmas he reported the price had gone up 75 cent since last Christmas and he was disturbed about the matter. This feller was a blacksmith and Ed Doolittle told him that was the reason the Government had started making 75-pieces, to take care of the hike in liquor.

This feller never knowed the difference, said the price of liquor ever Christmas was a good yardstick to measure how things was going up from year to year. If liquor was up, he said, prices was up in general. I don't know, Mister Editor, anything about the price of liquor this Christmas but if this feller was right, liquor must be up in the 90 per cent bracket. This feller moved away to another state and if he's still living and buying his Christmas quart, he must be moaning and groaning.

But to git back to the session Saturday night, all the fellers was in a meller mood and was doing their best to git in the Yuletide spirit of peace on earth and goodwill toward man. Considering the fact we ain't got no peace on earth and very little goodwill toward man, the fellers was doing a pritty good job of it.

Even Ed didn't have but one unkind word to say agin the Great Society. He reported he had saw where a feller named Robert Weaver, that was head of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development had took a $245,000 grant away from a YMCA in Savannah, Georgia, on account of the new recreation center they was planning was to be named "YMCA Park" and the "C" stood for "Christian." He allowed as how no Government money could go to nothing that had religion in it. He said this piece had reported that Senator Herman Talmadge of Georgia had complained about it but them folks in Washington told him religion was religion and Government funds was another thing and they couldn't allow his complaint.

I don't know how you feel about it, Mister Editor, but I'm in favor of all religions if they will help make it a better world, and I was strong agin that Supreme Court ruling that made it unlawful for school kids to say a little prayer for whatever religion they believed in. MERRY CHRISTMAS to everybody!

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Senator

Sam Ervin

Says:

The first session of the 90th Congress dealt with the hopes and concerns brought about by our country's involvement in the war in Vietnam and the attempts being made to cope with basic economic and social forces at work here at home.

During this session of Congress, I have been much concerned with these problems. A major part of my efforts, however, have been directed toward assisting the individual in his battle to preserve his liberty against intrusions by the central government.

Toward this effort, I have fought for measures to preserve the free enterprise system, because I believe that our country progresses most when men are free to pursue their employment with the least interference from centralized government.

I have fought to protect the rights of Federal employees against unwarranted snooping into their personal lives and against petty governmental tyrannies. The Senate has passed the measure which I introduced on this subject, and the House (Continued on Page 2)

News and Comment from Our Raleigh Bureau

TAX CUT . . . Income tax reductions advocated by Gov. Dan Moore and enacted by the 1967 N. C. General Assembly will go into effect on January 1. This tax cut—a most unusual thing in these spendthrift days—will make a lot of people happy. But, not so, deep in the bowels of the sprawling N. C. Department of Revenue here at the corner of Salisbury and Hillsborough Streets. There, these days, the work is unusually heavy.

They must have in the hands of thousands of people by January 1 new income tax withholding tables. These, of course, are being revised to reflect the reductions in taxes made by the Moore administration.

The new year is not making for a merry Christmas in some quarters of our hard-working revenue agency.

TOP FIFTEEN . . . Local boy makes good would certainly apply to Andy Griffith, Mount Airy native. He was discovered by Orville Campbell back in the '50's.

Of the 15 top television shows this fall (as rated by the respected A. C. Nielsen Co.), Griffith is connected with two of them.

His Gomer Pyle productions are in fifth place. The Andy Griffith Show is in second place, being topped only by Thursday Night Movie.

For two weeks ending October 8, the Andy Griffith show had an estimated 14,600,000 homes watching (mightily big population for Mayberry). Old Gomer for the same period had 14,300,000.

Bottom of the 15, but tops over the years, is the Ed Sullivan Show with only 12,600,000 homes looking in. Of the 15 at the top, five are movies (Thursday Night, Sun. Night, Fri. Night, Sat. Night and Tues. Night).

ZOO NEWS . . . Did you know that the State of North Carolina was the first state of the 50 to have its own Symphony Orchestra? Correct. We were also the first to have a state-owned and-operated Art Museum.

We may be the first state to have our own zoo, too. First requirement, other than a hefty appropriation, will be about 250 acres of land.

Did you know that animals in captivity live, on an average, approximately twice as long as those in their natural habitats? Thanks to the Jaycees, a far-reaching study on the need and possibilities for a zoo in North Carolina is progressing nicely. A recommendation will be made to the 1969 Legislature.

Chairman of the North Carolina State Zoological Study Commission appointed by Gov. Moore last spring is N. W. "Red" Pope. Pope is the son of E. N. "Red" Pope, who handled advertising for 44 years for Carolina Power and Light Co. Since he has just turned 36, he is no longer a Jaycee except in spirit. He is vice-president of First-Citizens Bank & Trust Co. in charge of this $600-million-firm's advertising, public relations, and personnel departments . . .

Now, at a tender age, young Pope has become this section's best luncheon speaker. If you think a zoo is an elephant-peanut-and-monkey affair, you would do well to invite Pope to talk to your group. He will change your entire idea about a zoo and, for instance, explain why Bowman Gray School of Medicine is interested in seeing it established in the Winston-Salem area.

MOVING OUT . . . Clubs holding their regular meetings in Raleigh's fine old Woman's Club Building in the center of town have been notified to vacate by January 1. This structure, built in 1915, will be torn down in January.

B. W. Haigh, former chairman of the Wake County Board of County Commissioners, has bought a solid block of property. Haigh, who in the '40's was with FCX, operated the Purina outlet here for a time. He also served as Wake County manager before a full-time manager was employed. Haigh now operates Holiday Inn here on the edge of Raleigh.

After the Woman's Club, the G. G. Co. office, various buildings, dwellings, etc., have been torn away, a 20-story building—more stories than any other building in Raleigh—will be erected by the Haigh combine.

This will be Raleigh's Holiday Inn Downtown. It will be three blocks from the Legislative Building, two blocks from the State Capitol, and quite a far cry from the cheep-cheep of chicks on Purina growing mash. An alert, aggressive, and successful team: Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Haigh.

STILL RURAL . . . Although North Carolina a year ago still coming January upset the fruit basket with its wholesale repositionment, "rural lawmakers still tend to man the wheel" of the Ship of State by longevity, experience, and disunity in urban delegations.

So writes William B. Williams in a recent issue of the Atlanta Journal.

He gets his information from a man who should know where of the speaks. His informant is Jay Jenkins, longtime Raleigh reporter for the Charlotte Observer and an astute observer of the legislative scene.

Says Jay: "This is still primarily a rural state. . . . The 1967 assembly was reappointed before it met, and proved indifferent to cities' pleas for financial relief . . . despite the large number of urban legislators."

"Rural legislators hold more key committee chairmanships than their urban counterparts . . . most of the people moving into cities go there from small counties . . . and the brightest and best urban legislators have an unfortunate tendency to quit the Legislature after a term or two . . ."

So This Is New York

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Two big things will soon be missing from New York Harbor, in fact, one of them, the Queen Mary has already made her last visit here as a luxury ship; her sister, the Queen Elizabeth will next year follow her into retirement. Those of us who have ridden on these splendid vessels have a special feeling of nostalgia about their passing. For over thirty years, these two have been the great ships, the ocean Queens of the steamage, but as time has "to so" many other things, it now sadly leaves them in its inexorable wake. Charles Lindbergh gave the signal for this departure forty years ago when he flew alone across the Atlantic; now crowds of people follow his aerial course ensconced in big jet planes with the luxuries of a modern hotel and often as quiet.

The Queen Mary and Elizabeth not only symbolized two memorable names of English history but the leisurely delights of a five-day crossing, especially to those who do not get bored with the same routine and people during that length of time. In their stately cabins, the passengers were waited on hand and foot and breakfast in bed was one of the luxuries, not soon to be forgotten. Now people who go from here to Europe and vice versa want to make the trip in a hurry, or most of them at any rate. The giant passenger ships are lamentably out of date. Some of our most famous people have enjoyed these liners. I recall once being on the Queen Elizabeth en route from England and I looked at the passenger list and found that Henry Cabot Lodge was aboard. Since he and I had held the same rank in the wartime army, it seemed fitting to get together and I enjoyed meeting this individual who has figured so importantly in national and world affairs since.

By the end of last year, the Queen Mary had carried a total of 1,699,526 passengers and the Queen Elizabeth, 1,257,269. Including their service in wartime, the two ships have conveyed over 4½ million people across the majestic and usually calm Atlantic. By now the explanation as to why the two big liners will play their ocean trade no more should be obvious. They were losing money. In fact, before they were sold they were losing more than any other

A True Santa Claus Letter . . .

(Editor's note: This letter was addressed to: Santa Claus, c/o John Doe, Warsaw, N. C. (Real names of persons involved are withheld for personal reasons.)
November 1966
Somewhere, N. C.

Dear Santa,

I know you would be busy getting everything together for your usual trip this year so I decided to let you know early what I want for Christmas.

I remember many, many years ago as you were carefully planting the spirit of Christmas in my heart that I suspected then that there was more to it all than me and my world.

Did you know that there are Christmas trees in the stores already? I wonder if they all came from "The Holland Place", if the holly that is so easy to buy is as hard to find as I remember.

I haven't forgotten how to celebrate either. My Mother could really play carols as we sang, and I don't remember being left with a sitter during the holidays for a grown-up party.

Yes, we were together at that time. I remember only happiness and being fussed at for throwing icicles on the tree instead of carefully placing them.

One year I remember you brought me "Cooky" and "Elizabeth" (dolls) and then another "Lassie" (puppy). I guess they were my first loves, and then there was the green satin quilt and the luggage that I couldn't find because you had playfully hidden it from me, temporarily. You are Christmas doesn't have a $ sign on it for I have known big ones and then there was one when a pair of drawers had to do.

Why do I love Christmas and still get so excited? Because you taught me the true meaning — "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

My children may never find a thing funny about "Noel" (they will never hear "Lum and Abner" on the radio), but a smile will always cross my face when I hear it because it was something shared, a fun time to remember.

If I can only pass all these gifts of love, joy, and unselfishness to my children I will have given them my best Christmas present.

So what I want for Christmas, Daddy, is to say "Thank you" for all the Christmases you've given me and for making it mean so much to me.

Love always,
Jane

60 Second Sermon

TEXT: "Avoiding mistakes can cost more than making them."
- Eli Thomas.

A man in dungarees, entering the hospital's emergency station, was asked why he came. "I've got the gravel," was his reply.

He was told to undress behind a screen. Five minutes later an intern, hurrying to examine him, asked, "What's this you said about your gravel?"

"It's outside in my truck," said the man. "Where shall I put it?"

Making mistakes is most uncomfortable, to say the least. Therefore, we don't make them deliberately. Making a mistake, however, isn't always the biggest mistake. To avoid making mistakes, some of us do nothing at all. We cover up a corner of life and whatever value we had is wasted in silence. The other mistake that accompanies mistakes is fearing error so greatly that we set up preventive controls, more wasteful than many mistakes would be. Business has learned that some controls against error can cost more than the potential error they are designed to prevent.

Don't be panicked by a mistake. Don't quit or build walls that restrict your future efforts. With alertness you can avoid repeating a mistake and remain free to accomplish more than the coward who dejectedly does nothing or who piously crouches behind restricting safeguards.

Frankincense

Frankincense, among the gifts of the Wise Men, is a resin of an East African and Arabian tree of the genus Boswellia, which is gathered in irregular lumps for use in incense in religious ceremonies dating back to Old Testament times. It is mentioned in Exodus 30:34.

Subcommittee on Manpower and Civil Service is scheduled to consider it at the next session. I have fought against legislation which would rob individuals of their right to sell or lease their private property under so-called "open housing" provisions of the omnibus civil rights bill. The truth is that this proposal will not solve the housing problems of minorities, but it will create a new Federal bureaucracy to compel home owners to subject their housing sales and rentals to Government approval. Property owners, under this peculiar reasoning, will find the whole power of the Federal Government arrayed against them if they choose to ignore regulations that would

The top five cows in Davie County for the month of November are as follows: owner-Fred F. Bahnsen, Jr., cow's name-No. 32, lbs. milk-81.4, test-4.4 and butterfat-4.08; C. L. flow from Washington to set housing and land transfer policies. Against such odds, home ownership could turn into a nightmare of red tape, intimidation, and litigation. If this sort of legislation is enacted, peaceful citizens would conclude that the best way to sell a home or rent one is to pick the individual buyer or renter that the Government is most likely to approve.

I have fought against this measure, because if we destroy the right to own and dispose of private property we will have destroyed a basic freedom in this country.

I have also devoted a major portion of my time toward measures to protect society from criminals who prey upon law-abiding citizens. I have fought for measures to prevent and control crime. In recent years, the Supreme Court has exhibited more concern for the criminal than for his victims. I have offered amendments to the Crime Control and Safe Streets Act which will restore sensible protections for society. I am hopeful that I can keep these amendments in the bill which will be considered at the next session.

The supreme value of civilization is the freedom of the individual, and these are some of the battles which I have been fighting during 1967 to preserve individual liberties.

MORE ABOUT SO THIS IS NEW YORK

In general has declined for the past three decades. Whereas in 1937, some 100 passenger ships plied the Atlantic and carried over a million passengers, in 1966 there were only 45 such vessels carrying some 600,000 persons, while at the same time, jets were transporting over four million fares. There is a lot of difference in five hours and five days for crossing.

During World War II, these Queen ships did yeoman service as floating barracks, safely carrying over 800,000 troops each from here to Europe and later the reverse. By improvising sleeping quarters out of canvas and having the men sleep in shifts, each of the huge vessels could take 15,000 men or a full division at a crossing. One of the most famous passengers was Winston Churchill, travelling under an assumed name and at one time with 5,000 prisoners of war. One wonders why the great transports were not sunk by German submarines who doubtless spotted them many times. The main reason is that the Queens were too fast for the subs - and also just lucky. It is a matter of history that no United States troop transport has been sunk by enemy action in any of our wars, a remarkable record which may not always stand up. A great deal of credit for this success can go to the navies of both Great Britain and ourselves for the highly effective job they have done in guarding our transports on the seas, during all kinds of weather.

Lonnie Driver Is Gardner-For-Governor Chairman In Davie

Lonnie Driver of Route 2, Mocksville, has been named Davie County Chairman of the Gardner for Governor Committee. Congressman James C. Gardner is expected to announce his candidacy for Governor of North Carolina the first week in January.

About 250 Republicans from Davie, Iredell, Yadkin and Wilkes Counties met in the Wilkes County Courthouse at Wilkesboro, Saturday night with Mr. Gardner. He promised at this meeting to make an announcement early in January. Also present at this meeting were several members of the state legislature. Among these were Sen. T. R. Bryan of Wilkes, Sen. Claude U. Parrish, Rep. Jeter Haynes, Rep. Claude Billings, Rep. Homer Tolbert, Rep. Gilbert Roger, Rep. Samuel A. Troxell, and many county officials from the four counties.

At a press conference in High Point last week, John Hutchens, state chairman of the Gardner for Governor Committee, announced chairmen and vice-chairmen for all 11 congressional districts in North Carolina. The Chairman for the 5th district is Joe Berrier, of Thomasville. Mrs. Floyd Burge of Winston-Salem is vice-chairman.

of course, but, if you're looking for something especially nice, a set in 14-karat yellow gold can be bought locally for $25 to $50.

The popularity of cuff links is attested by the fact that most new shirts are being produced to accommodate them. One jeweler recommends the links in Florentine finish oval, square or round.

Among the women, cultured pearls are expected to be a big gift item. One store has them in 14-karat priced at around $125 up in the popular longer length. The longer length of the strands is around 21 inches, as compared to a normal 14. The women like them because they can be worn in full length or shortened as called for by the occasion.

In ladies' gold jewelry, hand-textured and regular pins with open-wire weaving are enjoying wide popularity under the influence of Italian styling. The handwoven wire designs are available in bracelets, pins, earrings and rings.

Jewelry Gifts Are Important For Men

It may come as a surprise, but jewelry is almost as popular a source of Christmas gifts for men as it is for women.

No one knows how many tie tacks, tie bars, cuff links or combination sets of the items will pass under the Christmas tree.

Cuff links, in particular, are expected to be a big item in jewelry store Christmas shopping.

They're available at lower prices,

SCOPE OF SPORTS

By Woody Durham / WFMV-TV Sports Director

Some people call him the forgotten Petty. But that's just because they don't know better.

To the stock car racing fraternity and most people knowledgeable about the sport, Maurice Petty, the youngest member of the first family of stock car racing, is the man who makes Richard go.

His contribution to the Petty team is often overlooked by the glare of publicity that surrounds his famous father and brother. But his magic wrench nonetheless is a key factor in the success of the Petty racing team.

Although he is relatively young as top mechanics in the NASCAR circuit go, his name is still mentioned in the same breath as the Smoky Junicks, Cotton Owens and other top craftsmen.

"I started working on the race cars when I was still in school. At first, I swept the floor and then I washed the car. Then I changed parts and finally graduated into building engines," Maurice says.

"I have been working full time on the race cars ever since I got out of high school," he adds.

Maurice has been the full-time engine man on the Petty race cars since 1962. In stock car language, building an engine means disassembling the power-plant and putting it back together with painstaking care to make sure all design potential of the engine is delivered on the track.

"Sometimes it takes as long as a week to build an engine and other times it takes about three days. For Daytona and Rockingham and other long races, we generally spend a week on an engine," he adds.

The Petty crew turns out an estimated 100 engines a year. "For example, we'll take four engines to Rockingham and five to Daytona," Maurice said.

Other than building engines, Maurice tends to be modest about his contribution to the Petty racing effort.

"I just help around the race track," he says. But observers note that more and more Maurice is calling the shots in the pits and generally ramrodding the Petty crew. "Don't go giving me all the credit for the crew," Maurice says. There's a whole bunch of other guys who do just as much as I do. Nobody ever gives them any credit but they really count.

The other members of the crew at Petty Engineering include Dale Ingram, Frank "Smoky" McLeod, Freeman Treadway, Alex "Yogi" Yodor, Tom Cox and Arnold "Buck" Jones.

In addition to racing, fishing is a favorite pastime of the 28-year-old Maurice, who is married and the father of three children - two girls and a boy. "But I don't get much time to do that nowadays," he claims.

Yadkin Valley News

By Mrs. W. H. McBride

The Rev. Howard Lawson of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church delivered a wonderful message Sunday. His topic was, "The Unspeakable Gift."

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Hauser spent Sunday in Raleigh visiting their son, John Hauser and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Boyer visited relatives in Charlotte Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Henry McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hauser, Letty and Wesley and Mrs. Maude Hauser enjoyed a Christmas party in Yadkinville, recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Warden. Twenty attended and gifts were exchanged.

Yadkin Valley will present its Christmas program Sunday, Dec. 24 at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Robert Rothrock visited Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hauser last Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Howard had all their children and their families at home for their Christmas dinner Sunday.

Everybody might remember those on the sick list. They are Jake Sheek, Frank King, Henry Douthit, Mrs. Bernice West and Mrs. Fred White. They would enjoy cards and visits.

Giving Gifts Dates Back From Magi

"Bearing gifts we traverse afar." These are the words sung by the Magi in the traditional Christmas carol, "We Three Kings," as they followed the star to Bethlehem.

There they went to lay at feet of the new-born Babe gifts of love and devotion in the earthly form of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

THE SPICE OF LIFE

Spices are seasonings, used since ancient times. The most common spices in the average kitchen are salt and pepper. When the use of salt is restricted for medical reasons, both cook and patient face the problem of a dull and tasteless diet. That's where other spices come in, adding life and zest to otherwise tasteless food.

The so-called salt-free diet gets its unfortunate name from the chemical formula of table salt, sodium chloride. It is the sodium ion that must be restricted in circulatory and kidney diseases — but note, restricted, NOT eliminated.

Sodium chloride is an essential factor in every body tissue. Restrictions are accomplished under medical guidance by choosing foods with low natural sodium content, and by reducing the use of salt in cooking and at table. The resulting diet tends to be dull and tasteless, and the temptation to cheat may be strong. So we turn to alternate flavorings.

Europeans have always used spices oftener and with more skill than most American cooks. My German-born grandmother used to feed us sour milk with sugar and cinnamon, and pumpernickel, and we loved it. Cinnamon-sugared toast is another delicacy. Sprinkling the spice on a milk shake or a hot toddy, or over the top of an apple to be baked, adds an extra touch.

Among other useful spices which may help to replace salt in the diet are:

capers for sauces and salad dressings;

fennel or laurel (bay leaves) for soups, sauces, pot roasts or boiled fish;

ginger or anise for bread, rolls, cakes, puddings, cookies or pickles; mustard (with discretion) for hot dogs, gravies, sauces and sandwiches;

nutmeg for custards, eggnogs and cream sauces;

oregano and licorice for sweetening;

pimento (allspice) for mince meat, wines and pickles;

coriander for soups, cakes or cookies or pickles;

cloves for baked ham, apple pies and spice cakes;

dill for pickles and relishes; sage for meats, sausages, stews and stuffings;

sesame seeds with vegetables or with garlic and sweet butter on toast;

basil for bringing out the taste in tomato dishes;

vanilla for innumerable uses known to any experienced cook.

Spices, along with salt substitutes, and flavorful vegetables like carrots, onions, celery and garlic can help to tempt the appetite of the salt-deprived person. And, of course, you don't have to be on a diet to enjoy some spice in your life.

Finally, don't forget that salt, properly used, is a basic essential of good nutrition.

Health Tips

Coincidence played a large part in establishing the reputed effectiveness of traditional remedies in medical folklore, points out TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family.

Warts, which come apparently from nowhere and often disappear for no apparent reason, gave undeserved reputations to innumerable remedies which happened to be used just preceding the spontaneous disappearance of a wart. The self-limiting character of many diseases, such as the milder sore throats and colds, also caused simple herbs and other home methods to gain a curative reputation which they did not merit, the health book says.

Here are the facts about some of the common misconceptions regarding health—

• There is no medicine which can be taken by mouth to dissolve gallstones.

• Heart disease is not necessarily a reason for refusing an operation or for refusing an operation or for being afraid to take anesthetics.

• Flowers absorb some oxygen, but the principal reason they are removed from the sick room at night is because they keep better in the open air.

• Insulin does not cure diabetes; it substitutes for the insulin which the body is unable to provide for itself.

• Premature baldness in men is not caused by wearing hats; nobody knows what causes it.

• Cancer has not been shown to be contagious.

• It is not important to lie on the right side when sleeping to keep from interfering with heart action; the heart actually is in the middle of the chest and not on the left side.

• Persons over 40 need not avoid strenuous exercise if they have been accustomed to it and are in good condition.

• Removing a mole will not result in cancer; cancer is more likely to result from not having it removed if it ought to be.

Birth of the Savior Was Greatest Event In World's History

Pleasant as it is to dream of a "White Christmas" with its carols and gifts, feasting and merry-making, the sparkling eyes of children delighting in Santa Claus and the wonderful Christmas trees, these things never can symbolize the tremendous significance of the day.

The birth of the Saviour was the greatest event in the history of the world. In spite of all the backslidings, Christian peoples have pressed forward steadily.

However vicious and corrupt, the world today is far better than the world of pagan times; familiarity with the cross and crucifixion has abolished legal tortures and much cruelty—and, if given a chance, might shame us into banishing the curse of international viciousness for the sake of Him who became the Saviour of Mankind.

Puritans Outlawed Yule as Frivolous

The Puritan government of England outlawed Christmas in 1643. With the restoration of the Stuarts Christmas customs and traditions were revived, but Christmas never regained its former prestige in England.

It is observed religiously in the churches and as a day for family reunions and social gatherings, in contrast to the lavish feasting and boisterous merry-making of olden times.

Merry-making and gift-giving come in for their share, however, on December 26 which is Boxing Day. The origin of Boxing Day antedates Christmas and can be traced to the custom of gift-giving during the Roman festival of Saturnalia.

In Christian liturgy December 26 is observed as the feast of St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr, and during the centuries when journeymen and apprentices were in the habit of levying upon their masters' customers, "Christmas Boxes" were collected on St. Stephen's day.

THE CHRISTMAS EVE GUNMAN

BY WILLIAM L. ROPER

DARKNESS had come early. Outside the snow-laden winds of a December blizzard howled mournfully against the plate glass windows of the Milltown State Bank. The streets were almost deserted, except for a few belated, last-minute Christmas Eve shoppers, struggling home with arms filled with packages.

Joshua Watterson, the thin, gray-haired bank president, sat hunched over his desk near the entrance in front of a huge, old-fashioned wall safe. A desk lamp illuminated the ledger pages which he studied carefully. The bank's doors were closed, but Joshua's task of checking the day's business would keep him busy for another hour.

Suddenly a shadow fell across his page and he looked up.

"Joshua," said the tall, pink-cheeked man standing beside his chair. "We've got to get rid of that Christmas tree wiring. This is the third year we've used it and the insulation's getting worn. Today the tree toppled over against the wall safe there and I got a nasty shock."

Old Joshua grinned wryly. "I always said banking was a dangerous business." Suddenly he frowned and his pale, blue eyes became stern. "What were you looking for in my safe, Bob?"

"The Bollen tree mortgage," Bob said. "Old man Bollen tree wanted to pay off his note while you were out at lunch."

"Oh, yes, I remember now," Joshua nodded and stroked the blue

Christkindli Visits Kids in Switzerland

In Switzerland, it is not Santa Claus, but Christkindli, the Christ Child, who makes the rounds of Swiss homes on Christmas Eve.

The radiant angel is said to come from the North, traveling on a fairy-like sleigh, pulled by reindeer much like our Santa. Christkindli brings good Swiss children a beautiful tree, and many gifts. Like Santa, he insists that little children be good at all times, and he admonishes naughty youngsters.

SANTA CLAUS TOWN . . . Santa Claus, Indiana, the town with a famous postmark, is always bustling for months before Christmas rolls around. Santa can be found here, busy in his workshop of playing host to thousands of boys and girls from all over the country.

Favorite Carols Came From Many Lands

Three of our favorite carols were brought to us by early settlers from European lands. England contributed "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen." France gave us "Cantique de Noel," from Germany came "Away in a Manger."

"Adeste Fideles" belongs to no one country, but has been translated into 119 different languages and dialects.

Three Americans enriched our heritage of lovely carols. The earliest contribution, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," was made by Edmund H. Sears in 1849; Dr. John Henry Hopkins, Jr., in 1859 composed "We Three Kings of Orient Are" and in 1868 "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was written by Philip Brooks.

PLACE MATS

If you feel your Christmas cards are too pretty to throw away, make them into place mats. Cardboard such as a shirt pasteboard makes a good base for them. Paste the cards to the cardboard with shellac. Then coat the surface with one or more coats of thinned brush white shellac.

Our Complete Staff Joins In Wishing You The Merriest Christmas Ever and We Hope to Serve You in the New Year!

In extending our Best Wishes for happiness during Christmas and the New Year . . . may we take this opportunity to urge you to join us again in a "Drive For A Safe Holiday" program. We hope you will bring the following safe driving tips to the attention of your family and your motoring friends. It enough of us follow these suggestions we will help assure a happier and safer season for all.

- PLAN A SAFE DRIVE . . . . . Allow plenty of time for your holiday travel. On long trips make frequent stops. Arrive relaxed. . . . .
- BE ALERT TO HOLIDAY HAZARDS . . . . . Drive in keeping with road, weather, and traffic conditions. Remember most holiday accidents involve drinking and speed too fast for conditions.
- WATCH OUT FOR OTHERS . . . . . Make allowances for unpredictable driver and pedestrian actions. Give yourself and others an extra margin of safety.
- USE COURTESY ABUNDANTLY . . . . . Resolve to "Make Courtesy Your Code Of The Road." It pays!
- BE SURE YOUR CAR IS SAFE . . . . . Drive with good tires — properly adjusted brakes — lights and turn signals working — windshield wipers and defrosters functioning properly.
- USE SEAT BELTS . . . . . Fasten them when you enter your car. Seat belts are "Circles of Safety" for you and your family.

Full enjoyment of the Holiday season is something to which all of us look forward. With this enjoyment, however—and we know you agree—goes individual responsibility to protect your family, and your community. LET'S ALL DRIVE FOR A SAFE HOLIDAY!

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

WASHINGTON — On December 7, 1967, the Senate unanimously enacted S. 1043, a bill of rights for the American Indian. I am delighted that the members of the Senate gave our first Americans a vote of confidence and paved the way for them to have rights other Americans enjoy.

Because of my long standing interest, concern, and admiration for the Lumbee and Cherokee Indians in North Carolina, since 1961 the Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights has studied the reservation Indian's lack of constitutional rights. This study has been nationwide.

This effort represented the first study that the Congress had ever attempted in this field, and the results were startling indeed. Subcommittee investigations showed that the American Indian lives in a legal no-man's land — without full protection from either tribal, state, or federal governmental organizations.

The Senate passed bill contains six legislative areas which are described as follows:

Title I of the proposal makes the bill of rights applicable to the actions of tribal governments, and provides that any Indian detained by order of a tribal court is entitled to the writ of habeas corpus in a U. S. Court to test the legality of detention by the tribal court.

Title II directs the Secretary of the Interior to recommend to Congress a model code governing the administration of justice by Courts of Indian Offenses on Indian reservations.

Title III repeals a law which permits states to assume criminal and civil jurisdiction over Indian tribes regardless of the wishes of the tribe. Under this title, any state desiring to assume civil and criminal jurisdiction over an Indian tribe must obtain the consent of the affected tribe.

Title IV adds the offense of "assault resulting in serious bodily injury" to the Major Crimes Act. Since Indian courts cannot impose more than a six-month sentence, the crime of aggravated assault should be in proportion to the gravity of the offense.

Title V of the bill expedites the approval of contracts between Indian tribes or other groups of Indians and their legal counsel when such approval by the Secretary of the Interior or the Commissioner of Indian Affairs is required by law.

Title VI provides for the compiling and updating of decisions, treaties, laws, executive orders, and regulations affecting Indians.

As I told the Senate last week, "this bill will not provide the final solution to the legal dilemma in which the American Indian finds himself, but it is a long step toward granting him his share of the American dream". I am proud to have initiated this effort to make the American Indian a first-class citizen.

Make Present Look Pretty

Pretty wrapping on a package under the tree can make all the difference.

Use a minimum of paper. Place the box, face down, in the center of a sheet of paper that looks like the approximately size needed.

Fold the paper over the lengthwise dimension of the box and cut, leaving only an inch or so to overlap. Seal the overlap with a piece of tape.

Now, for the ends. Make sure the paper overhangs the ends by between half and five-eighths of the depth of the box. Turn in the corners at top and bottom, as tightly as possible. Finally, secure the top half to the bottom half with a piece of tape.

Cosmetic Balls Become Trees

You can turn ordinary cotton cosmetic balls into an attractive Christmas cone tree. For the tree base, use a plastic-foam cone. Attach the fluffy white cosmetic balls to the cone with pins, stuck through glittering red and green sequins.

Make a multi-colored cotton tree by using cosmetic balls that come in colors. They're available in a variety of soft pastel shades. Trim this tree with velveteen bows in coordinated colors.

Mistletoe

Mistletoe, the parasitic evergreen with white berries utilized for Christmas decoration, was used in early Roman days as a fertility drug. The Druids considered it a sacred plant. American Indians used it to relieve toothache.

Used Christmas Paper

SAVE THAT USED CHRISTMAS WRAPPING PAPER . . . after the hustle and bustle are over, perhaps you were among the folks who took photos of the Christmas happenings? - Don't throw them in a drawer or stick them in an album . . . This year - MOUNT your best snapshots in handsome frames with mats made from the prettiest wrapping papers. You might frame Johnny's picture with his teddy bear from Grandma with the wrapping paper that it came in, etc. A large frame, matted with Christmas paper could hold several oddly-spaced photos. Perhaps you could cover each page of a scrapbook with Christmas wrappings and mount Christmas photos to send to a relative who couldn't make the family gathering as a souvenir, or as a memento to a close friend. The wrapping papers also make lovely drawer & closet linings, book covers, cut-outs for decoupage work or gluing on packages for gift giving, all sorts of uses for the ingenious!

Santa's Name Is Explained

Where did Santa Claus come from?

The name came from the English settler in New York, according to the Columbia University publication, "Pleasures of Publishing."

The Englishmen, unable to understand the Dutch pronunciation of Saint Nicholas, whose feast was celebrated Dec. 6, called him Santa Claus. As Christmastime was the English gift season, Santa Claus was early transplanted to Christmas.

Easy To Make

A "crevice cleaner" is an easy-to-make Christmas gift or holiday bazaar item. The item is simply a yardstick covered with washable cotton fabric — a bright print on one side, and terry cloth on the other. It can be used to clean crevices between appliances and other spots that are hard to reach.

It Pays to Advertise

If we didn't work Christmas Day they wouldn't either.

Neither would the lights on the tree. Nor the range that cooks the turkey. Nor the dozens of things electrically done on December 25 as well as any other day of the year.

That's why some people at Duke Power are on the job Christmas Day. It's something that has to be done, and something Duke Power people do with pride.

After all, some of our children get electric trains for Christmas, too.

Merry Christmas.

Taxpayers Ask I.R.S.

Question and Answer
Column No. 67-48

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - I'm taking a course at night school this fall in connection with my work. What records do I need to be able to deduct this expense on my tax return?

A - You should have records establishing that you are entitled to an educational deduction and which show how much you spent.

For education to be a deductible item it must either be required to keep your present salary, status or employment or it must be needed to maintain or improve the skills required in your present work. Education taken to meet the minimum requirements of your present job or to qualify for a new job or business is not deductible.

A letter from your employer which states the purpose of the night course you are taking will help substantiate your claim for an educational deduction. Receipts, cancelled checks and bills for the tuition, books and other expenses of the night course can establish the amounts you spent.

If your employer pays for all or part of the course you are taking, do not claim a tax deduction for that portion of the educational expense.

A - Age has nothing to do with it. Social Security taxes are required to be withheld on the first $6,600 of wages paid to an employee by his employer. In your neighbor's case, withholding for Social Security probably stopped because this maximum had been reached.

Q - To build up a college fund for my son I'm buying U. S. savings bonds. How can I work it out so I don't pay tax on the interest these bonds earn?

A - The interest earned on a savings bond should be reported by the owner of the bond. If you have your child listed as the owner of the bonds then any tax liability will be his. Unless the interest earned on the bonds and his other income amounts to $600 or more, no return need be filed.

If you have your child elect to report the bond interest each year rather than wait until the year they are cashed in, then your child should file a return showing this bond interest the first year you start the plan. No further return will be required until the child has $600 or more income a year.

Gift Certificate Is Good Present

If you're stumped in the selection of a Christmas gift, Mocksville merchants have a perfect solution for your problem.

You can let the person who is to receive the gift make his own selection without giving away any secrets before Christmas.

The answer is a gift certificate. Some of the certificates call for a specific item, such as a hat, but that doesn't mean that the receiver of the certificate has to get a hat. Stores selling the hat certificates are glad to redeem them for other merchandise up to the amount paid for the certificate.

MOST CERTIFICATES make no mention of specific merchandise. They're good for anything in the store. If the holder of the certificate wants a larger item than his certificate covers, he can use it for a partial payment.

Merchants say that gift certificates are the answer to the problem created by the hard-to-please gift recipient and for the man who doesn't want someone else to select his clothes.

Available in many stores, the certificates can be purchased in any amount.

THE STORES like them. For one thing, gift certificates practically eliminate the after-Christmas exchanges. The recipient of a certificate isn't likely to buy something he'll want to take back to the store to swap for something else.

One men's store sells so many certificates that it has a special account set up for them. The money from such sales is not put into the store's funds until the certificates are used.

Goodies From Own Kitchen Are Most Meaningful Gifts

Homemade confections and cookies from your own kitchen are often the most meaningful holiday remembrances, for they offer a gift of your time and your individuality.

This first one I clipped several months ago from a little farm publication. It's different and delicious.

From this selection carefully chosen, I hope you will find something to your liking. None of them is complicated or hard to make. Most are as simple as you will find anywhere.

- Seven Layer Cookies
- 1/2 stick butter or oleo
  - 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
  - 1 can flaked coconut
  - 1 6-oz. pkg. chocolate chips
  - 1 6-oz. pkg. butterscotch chips

1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup chopped pecans.

Melt butter in a 9 x 12 inch baking pan. Add ingredients by layer in order listed above. Bake at 325 for about 30 minutes. Let cool in pan, then cut in small squares.

These are pretty and nutritious, and so easy the children can make them.

- Christmas Squares
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
  - 1/2 lb. marshmallows, (about 2 1/2 dozen)
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
  - 1 pkg. Rice Krispies (5 1/2 oz.)
  - 1/3 cup chopped candied red cherries
  - 1/2 cup chopped candied green cherries.

Heat butter or margarine and marshmallows over hot water until thick and syrupy. Add vanilla; beat thoroughly. Put the rice krispies into a large greased bowl and pour on the marshmallow mixture, then the cherries. Mix well. Press into a 9 by 18 inch greased shallow pan. Cut into squares when cool. Makes 24, 2 1/2 inch squares. The mixture may also be used in individual ring molds. Use bits of red cherries cut to resemble bows to decorate rings to make them into wreaths.

- Snowmen
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
  - 1 lb. marshmallows
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 10 cups puffed rice
  - Shredded coconut
  - Raisins

Cook butter and marshmallows over hot water until thick and syrupy. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Put cereal in greased large bowl and pour on the marshmallow mixture, stirring briskly. Form into balls in two sizes: 2 1/2 inches in diameter and 1 1/2 inches in diameter. There should be 12 balls each size. Roll the balls in coconut. The large ball forms the body of the snowman. Fasten a smaller ball on top of each with a toothpick to make the head. Use raisins to make faces on the snowman, and buttons down the front. Use a portion of a cone-shaped paper cup for his hat or make a hat from black construction paper. Makes 12 snowmen. Perfect for a child's Christmas party.

Here is a good basic recipe for uncooked fondant which can be varied dozens of ways to make all kinds of candy, along with these peanut butter wheels.

- Uncooked Fondant
- Blend together 2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk, one teaspoon vanilla and one pound of confectioners' sugar. Shape as desired.

Peanut Butter Wheels: Roll fondant out to a thickness of about one-eighth inch on a board sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Spread with a layer of peanut butter over the fondant. Roll up like a jelly-roll. Chill and slice thinly.

Ribbon Loaf Fondant

- 4 cups sifted powdered sugar
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- Dash of salt
- 3 tablespoons evaporated milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/3 cup chopped nuts
- 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 4 Maraschino cherries

Add sugar gradually to melted butter. Blend in salt, milk, vanilla and nuts. Divide into three equal parts. Add melted chocolate to one portion and press one-fourth inch thick into small loaf pan. Press a second portion on top of chocolate. Cut cherries into small pieces and add to third portion of fondant. A drop of red coloring may be added for a brighter pink. Press the pink fondant on the white candy. Chill until firm. Cut into slices 1/4 inch thick, and then into serving pieces.

- Chocolate Crinkle Cookies
- 1/2 cup corn oil
  - 4 sq. unsweetened chocolate, melted
  - 4 eggs
  - 2 tsp. vanilla
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - 2 cups sifted flour
  - 2 tsp. baking powder
  - 1 cup confectioners sugar

Mix corn oil, chocolate and sugar. Blend in 1 egg at a time until well mixed. Add vanilla. Stir in salt, flour, baking powder. Chill several hours, or overnight. Heat oven to 350. Drop teaspoonfuls of dough into confectioners sugar; roll around and shape into ball. Place about two inches apart on greased baking sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 50 cookies.

These are very pretty cookies. They sort of crack open when cooking and they are dark on the inside and white on the outside.

Sugar Plum Cookies

Sift together one cup sifted flour, 1/3 cup confectioners sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind. Mix in 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine and 1/4 cup milk. Add 1/4 cup uncooked rolled oats and one cup finely chopped pecans and mix until well blended. The dough will be stiff.

Form a small piece of dough (about 1 teaspoonful) with fingers to make a flat round. Place one candied cherry on the round and cover cherry by pinching dough together around it. Smooth exterior of ball and place on lightly greased baking sheets. Bake at 375 for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 42.

Recipes for mince-meat date back to medieval times when its ingredients in one surviving English formula included "a hare, a pheasant, two partridges, two pigeons, and two conies."

English cooks often fashioned mince pies in the shape of a manger to celebrate Christmas. The French, mince-meat-wise were more conservative, sticking with a conventional pie shape but refining the filling by tempering the richness of mince-meat with a layer of delicate apple slices. It is to the French version we owe today's recipe for delectable Mince 'n' Apple Pie, brought up to date by the use of convenient canned pie-sliced apples.

There's an old superstition that "for every mince pie you eat in a different house you will have a month's happiness." Try this easy version and contribute happiness.

- Mince 'n' Apple Pie
- 1 can (1 lb. 6 1/2 oz.) Mince-meat Pie Filling
  - 1 can pie-sliced apples, well drained
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- Pastry for double crust pie
- Spread mince-meat filling evenly in bottom of unbaked pie shell. Combine apples, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg and spoon over mince-meat. Place cut-out pastry Christmas trees on top. Bake in a 425 degree oven 25 or 30 minutes or until golden brown.

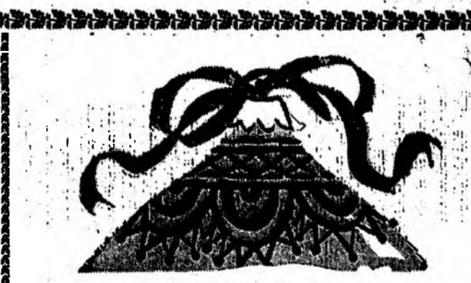

Whether it's Christmas or the Fourth of July, butter cake is a family favorite. So, this season, bake a Holiday Butter Cake with a creamy Eggnog Filling.

- Holiday Butter Cake
- 1 stick butter
  - 1 cup sugar
  - 2 eggs
  - 1/2 teaspoon rum extract
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
  - 2 cups sifted cake flour
  - 2 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1 cup 1 1/2 eggog

pan and dust with flour. In a large mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Add rum and vanilla extract. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg; add to creamed mixture alternately with eggnog beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Divide evenly into pans. Bake at 350 degrees 25 or 30 minutes. Cool in pans on wire rack five minutes; turn out and cool completely. Fill with Eggnog Filling. Make it this way: In a saucepan combine two tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons nutmeg; gradually add one and one-half cups dairy eggnog. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook additional two minutes. Add one-half teaspoon each rum and vanilla extract. Press a circle of waxed paper over surface of filling to prevent drying as it cools; chill. Frost the cake with this frosting: In a saucepan heat one-half cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces and two tablespoons milk over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth. Remove from heat and stir in three-fourths cup confectioners sugar until smooth.

For the holiday munchers and crunchers, here is a marvelous new cookie called Scotch-Nut Toppers developed in the Nestle kitchens. It's a drop cookie with a difference. It's topped with a fabulous butterscotch nut glaze that's made in a jiffy with melted Butterscotch Flavored Morsels.

The Christmas hymn, "Adestes Fideles," was written by an unknown author, but the theme is ascribed to John Reading, an English organist at Winchester in the latter part of the 17th century.

Good cheer Merry Christmas

So This Is New York

By NORTH CALLAHAN

A university president here has challenged the church. He asks what it is doing to help the world of today. President James Hester of New York University minced no words the other day when he told a meeting of ministers. "We know too well that in many places where once religion was the organizing force in society, its influence in the lives of millions of people is negligible. Even many who maintain church affiliation no longer experience religion as the central force in community life. Is it not clear then, what we must ask of religion? We ask for inspiration, for illumination, for understanding, for courage that scientists, philosophers, psychologists and educators cannot provide alone."

In her charming book, "The Plaza", Eve Brown tells of when the famous hotel first opened sixty years ago. There was a big crowd at 59th Street and 5th Avenue waiting to see who would be the first guest to register. It turned out to be Alfred Wynne Vanderbilt, son of Cornelius who was then considered the richest man in America. As his limousine door opened, some were disappointed at not seeing Mrs. Vanderbilt. But others knew that she had been injured in an automobile accident, or at least shaken up so that her arrival was delayed. She and her niece were riding in a car which had collided with another and "skidded thirty-four feet". Eve Brown has herself had an interesting life, being at one time on the Paris Herald and later as Cholly Knickerbocker, wrote society news for the New York Journal American.

In some ways it seems, the dogs are doing better than humans. At the Gaines Dog Research Center here, there is a demand for canines for careers. Some foreign countries want trained dogs to detect underground mineral deposits by the smell, others to ferret out gas leaks. Recently police dogs scented a thief hiding under a parked bus, who otherwise might well have gone undetected. They're even used to bring home errant husbands, one is told.

With people moving around so much, an organization with the rhythmic name of Homerica is quite busy. Its job is to relocate people in other communities. The case of Jim Crandall is cited as an example. He was called into his boss's office not long ago and told that he was being promoted to take charge of his firm's southeastern district, and was to be transferred to Atlanta in 30 days. Jim phoned his home and caused pandemonium among his family. But he also called the re-locating organization and after specifying what kind of a new home he and his wife wanted, wheels were set in motion to accomplish this. Atlanta suburbs were combed by realtors, a search was made among available houses there for the type of kitchen, Jim's workshop, the kid's rumpus room and desirable transportation facilities. Within two weeks, the house was found, the Crandalls moved down and liked it.

Even though it costs the city money to maintain it, the fare for the Staten Island Ferry will probably remain "the best nickel ride in the world." This five-cent rate is mandated in the New York City Charter and was guaranteed to Richmond County when the island became a part of the city in 1898. Today the half-hour ride from the Battery to St. George costs the city 46 cents a passenger. But attempts to change the law all seem to fail. This is one of the few things that I know of which has not risen in price. Any taxpayer who thinks he is getting gypped is

The Children's Home Society of North Carolina asks you to think of twins this Christmas — your child who has the happiness and security of a home, and the child who needs one.

"We can double our joy at Christmas by remembering the boys and girls who need the adoption services provided by The Children's Home Society," said Mr. W. T. Cheatham, Jr., Statesville a member of the Society's Board of Directors.

"The Society's work covers the entire state. For example, last year we aided 825 children and 1352 resident couples in North Carolina. This means that wherever we live, if we are concerned about children, we have an interest in supporting The Children's Home Society," Mr. Cheatham said.

The Society makes no charge for its services and depends entirely upon voluntary support. It has district offices or resident caseworkers in Charlotte, Asheville, Greenville, Laurinburg, Chapel Hill and Wilmington. The headquarters and nursery for care of babies awaiting adoption are located in Greensboro.

The traditional "Little Red Stocking" Christmas appeal is a major source for the Society's budget. Approximately half of the annual budget comes through Carolinas United, from UF campaigns in many North Carolina communities. The remainder comes from direct contributions, with the Christmas appeal furnishing the major portion.

Ancient Custom

The custom of decorating homes at Christmas has been practiced for hundreds of years. In 604, Pope Saint Gregory advised Saint Augustine to permit and even encourage harmless popular customs which were not pagan and could be given Christian interpretation.

welcome to go down to the ferry and take a ride, especially on a hot summer's evening. The refreshing and inspiring view from the bow is reward enough.

It Pays To Advertise

As we gather together on Christmas morn to worship the Christ Child and offer Him the gift of our love, let us all recall especially the message of the angels announcing His birth: Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men. We heartily wish that all the blessings of the holy season of Christmas come to you and your family in lasting measure throughout the coming year.

Express Your Faith, Enrich Your Life . . . Attend the Church of Your Choice

Historically, the Spanish missions of the Old Southwest remind us that people of many countries, many faiths shared in shaping our nation. Our heritage of faith has a message for today: Faith can shape our lives, toward greater fulfillment, higher happiness. Faith can sustain us, daily, with the spiritual strength we need. Faith can help our children grow in character and citizenship. Faith is a force for good, in the family, the community, the nation. To express your faith, and enrich your life, attend and support the church of your choice, regularly. The churches of this community extend an invitation to all to come and worship, this Sunday.
