

Opinions Divided On Effect Of Nuclear Accident On Perkins

Opinion is divided over whether the nuclear power plant accident at Three Mile Island near Harrisburg, Pa. last week will delay construction of Duke Power Co.'s proposed Perkins nuclear station in Davie County.

Both opponents and proponents of the plant in Davie County aired their views and recommendations on the matter earlier this week.

Rep. Stephen L. Neal, D-N. C. of Forsyth County sent a telegram Monday to the chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board asking him to hold up the licensing of Perkins "until all questions of nuclear safety arising from the Three Mile Island experience have been resolved." The board is the licensing arm of the commission.

William G. Pfefferkorn, attorney for the High Rock Lake Association, said Monday that he is preparing a motion asking the board to deny Duke Power a construction permit for Perkins, or at least to delay it pending further hearings on the safety issues raised by the Pennsylvania accident. The High Rock Lake group opposes construction of a nuclear plant on the Yadkin.

But Charles A. Barth, general counsel for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff, said that the licensing of Perkins should not be affected by the accident. He said that if construction is allowed to begin, it will be several years before the plant can operate. That is plenty of time to resolve any safety questions, Barth said, adding that Duke will have to get an operating license from the commission before it can start up the plant.

His views were reflected by Duke Power spokesman.

L. C. Dail, the company's vice president for engineering, said safety issues arising from the Three Mile Island accident could be resolved before Perkins is operational.

He said the three reactors planned for Perkins would be very similar to the defective reactor at Three Mile Island but would not be built by the same company. Babcock and Wilcox of Virginia built the Three Mile Island reactors. Those for Perkins are to be built by Combustion Engineering Co. of Windsor, Conn., Dail said.

But he said Duke could not rule out the possibility of a similar accident at Perkins, if it is built. "I don't believe there's anybody who could give a firm guarantee," he said.

Recognizing the risk, Dail said, Duke Power is preparing a plan for "the orderly evacuation" of area residents if such an accident should occur at

Davie's Share Of Nursing Home Operation Could Increase By As Much As $50,000 This Year

Davie County's share of the cost of operating nursing homes in the county could increase by as much as $50,000 during the coming fiscal year, Davie County commissioners learned Monday afternoon.

Last year, the N.C. General Assembly boosted counties' share of operating non-state-owned skilled nursing homes and intermediate care nursing homes to 35 percent. Counties previously paid 15 percent of the cost.

Several state legislators, including Ramey Kemp, who represents Davie County, are supporting a bill to reduce the county share of the nursing home program back to 15 percent. Ron Vogler, county manager, told the commissioners.

During the current fiscal year, Davie County paid $86,015 to help operate nursing homes -- about a $25,000 increase from the previous year. Social Services director Don Wall reported in an interview Tuesday morning.

During fiscal 1978-80, the county's share of the cost will be between $127,911 and $136,000, Wall estimated.

Commissioners agreed to urge Rep. Kemp to continue his efforts to reduce the county's share of the program to the 1977 level.

"What's happening here is the state is saving a lot of money by passing the cost of its programs on to the county," Vogler said. "Ramey has said he's on the side of the counties...we'd like to see the rate changed back to what it was."

In other business Monday, Fred Ickes of the Council of Governments, and commissioners discussed writing a capital budget plan for Davie County for fiscal 1979-80.

A capital budget would help county and city governments organize and plan for major building or improvement goals for the next five or six years, Ickes said.

"We're hoping to write up a capital improvements budget for Davie County in this year's budget," Vogler said. "What we do would be list needed improvements to county buildings or major expenditures we think we'll need in the next five years. Then we'd come back and put the list in priority, and plan to start setting aside money for the improvements."

Capital budget plans increase government efficiency and organization, Ickes said. Since plans are made for major expenditures before a new building or police car is needed, government costs are leveled out and tax rates can be stabilized, Ickes said. Such a plan also helps inform citizens about upcoming projects, improves governments' tax ratings and enhances chances for obtaining federal or state grants, Ickes added.

The plan would be updated each year. Commissioners received bids of $22,685 for a modular ambulance and $16,830 for a van-type ambulance, both from Star Line Enterprises of Florida, Vogler reported. A modular ambulance has separate chassis and body parts. If the chassis wears out, it can be replaced with a new one and attached to the old body.

Commissioners agreed to investigate the possibility of purchasing an ambulance that had been used as a demonstrator model before purchasing a new ambulance.

"Before we sign a contract, let's see how much a demonstrator would cost," Vogler said. "We might save several

Matthews Recommended For Top Post In Region I

Joe C. Matthews, the director of the director of the Northwest Economic Development Commission, has all but officially been installed as the executive director of the new council of governments for Region I.

He was unanimously recommended for the job on Wednesday night, March 28, by a search committee for the new organization, which will apparently be called the Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments.

But the transfer of administrative controls over regional programs from the Piedmont Triad Council of Governments to the Northwest Piedmont Council which had been scheduled July 1, will be delayed at least three months.

Earlier this year the 11-county Triad Council of Governments was split by state Secretary of Administration Joe Grimaley.

For the time being, the new council will hire only a skeleton staff of four members. Region I is expected to work out a contract with the Piedmont Triad Council in Greensboro under which the Triad council would continue to administer federal and state programs temporarily in all 11 counties of the original planning region.

Delegates from nearly 20 town, city and county governments reached these decisions informally at the March 28 meeting during a one-hour organizational session for Region I at the old county courthouse in Winston-Salem.

With Commissioner Henry Ridenhour of Surry County presiding as temporary chairman of the group, the delegates heard committee reports about finances, proposed bylaws and the search for an executive director.

The selection of Matthews, one of 10 applicants for the position of executive director of the new COG, was a surprise to almost nobody because he advised the counties in the new region on how to form the new region by having Region G, the area served by the Triad Council of Governments, split. He also is a close friend of Edwin Shelton of King, a developer who put up the money needed for the legal expenses to bring about the split, and, in addition, Matthews has close political and friendship ties with many elected officials from the area, many of which were on the search committee for a new director for Region Region I delegates, who are from Davie, Forsyth, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin counties, will have to vote on Matthews' selection after the council of governments is officially chartered within the next few months. However, it is expected he will be approved for the position.

Matthews' salary will not be set until the council's budget is approved.

Matthews said after the meeting announcing he was the recommendation to be the executive director of Region I that he would not comment on the search committee's recommendation until the formal vote is taken. "But I'll be helping the council in any way that I can," he said.

Matthews was asked by the delegates to assist in forming a budget for the new council of governments.

The five counties which compose Region I are the same five counties that make up the territory of the Northwest Economic Development Commission that Matthews now directs.

The commission is scheduled to be phased out July 1 and the state grant that has been paying for the administration of that commission will be turned over to the new Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments.

Matthews became the head of the Northwest Economic Development Commission when it was created as a Local Development District in 1966 under the Appalachian Regional Commission. The LDDs, as they are called, were designated to give local people a voice in the commission's

Speech And Debate Team In State Finals At Chapel Hill

The Davie High School Speech and Debate Team will participate in the State Finals in Speech and Debate at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on Friday and Saturday of this week.

The finals crown state champions in various speech events and qualify the winners in the various events to compete in the national tournament in Cincinnati.

Representing Davie will be four debate teams: Dennis Draughon and Rick Carter, Randy Link and Harold Smith, Jeff Ferguson and Kevin Cornatzer, and Jeff White and Chuck Stone. Perry Collette, Martin Brock, and George Kimberly will compete in extemporaneous speaking and Avis Watkins will compete in dramatic interpretation. Kimberly will also compete in original oratory.

"We have an excellent opportunity to have state champions in each of the events we are entering," said Larry Jones, director of forensics at the high school. "We hope we will do very well."

The annual tournament is sponsored

Bloodmobile

Davie County will host a visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on Wednesday, April 17, at the National Guard Armory on Hwy. 64 East. Registration will be from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Donors are urged to preschedule in order to avoid the long delays of previous visits, sometimes as long as three hours in length. It is suggested that the public consider donating after lunch due to the usual overcrowding in the morning.

Davie's quota for this Bloodmobile visit is 130 pints. As Drexel-Heritage schedules their own employees through the personnel department, it is unnecessary for those persons to call, but everyone else is urged to call Nancy Murphy at 634-5393 to schedule an appointment. Everyone coming will be attended to, but prescheduling will greatly reduce waiting times.

Craft Jurying Is Scheduled

The Davie Craft Association plans an open jurying for new members Wednesday, April 11, in the County Office Building Auditorium. Persons wishing to become exhibiting members of the Association and participate in the annual Davie Craft Corner, must have their work juried.

Three items in each category need to be submitted to Nancy Hartman or Vickie Hendrix in the County Office Building by 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, April 10. Items will be juried on Wednesday and may be picked up after 2:30 on Wednesday.

The annual Craft Corner will be October 26 and 27 at the National Guard Armory in Mocksville to benefit Retarded Citizens. Membership is open to anyone in Davie, Forsyth, Yadkin, Davidson, Rowan, and Iredell to become an Associate Member and an exhibiting member upon jurying. Comments and questions may be directed to the local Extension Office at 634-2634.

Hefner Aides Here Tuesday

Congressman Hefner will send two of his staff members to Mocksville on Tuesday, April 10 to make themselves available to any citizen of Davie County who has a problem which they feel the Congressman can be of help in solving. They will be available to see people from 1 to 4 in the Town Hall in Mocksville. This announcement was made by Elvin Jackson who serves as Administrator for Congressman Hefner in the 8th Congressional District.

Jackson stated that all matters taken in during these visitations will be forwarded on to congressman Hefner in Washington for his review and action.

Access Road To South Jr. High Site Is Approved

At its meeting Monday night at the county school office building the Davie County Board of Education approved an agreement with the North Carolina Department of Transportation to build an access road to the South Junior High site which will connect Hardison St. and Sanford Ave.

The local school system will share in the cost of constructing this access road.

In other business the board of education:

- Welcomed Luther Potts as a new board member and re-elected Benny Naylor and Frances "Pan" Beck respectively to the positions of chairman and vice chairman of the board. The board also re-appointed Wade Leonard to be school board attorney and James E. Everidge to be superintendent of schools in the county.

- Reviewed, but did not act on a request from the Davie County Arts Council to have the schools provide matching funds for additional cultural arts programs in the schools for the 1979-80 school year.
- Set Monday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m. as the time for holding a special meeting to consider reemployment of personnel for the next school year in the local school system.

Retail Sales Show Increase

Davie County had a 10.83 percent increase in the collection of state sales and use taxes in 1978 over 1977 collections, compared with a statewide average increase of 12.46 percent. This indicates that the gross retail sales dollar was also up a similar percentage for the same period.

In Davie, the collections were $1,192,554 for the period February 1978 - January 1979, compared with collections of $1,075,983 for the period February 1977 - January 1978.

The statewide collections were $19,840,366 for the period February 1978 - January 1979, compared with collections of $18,186,620 for the period February 1977 - January 1978.

Latest statistics from the North Carolina Department of Revenue show that all counties had an increase in gross collections except Hoke, Martin, Perquimans and Washington counties. The greatest increase, 32.17 percent, occurred in Camden County.

Among counties in the Piedmont and Northwest North Carolina, the figures show:

- Forsyth, up 11.37 percent, from $29.9 million in 1977 to $33.3 million in 1978.
- Guilford, up 14.7 percent, from $41.1

- Rowan, up 10.2 percent, from $7.2 million to $7.9 million.
- Iredell, up 13.4 percent, from $6.7 million to $7.6 million.
- Alexander, up 15.2 percent from $1 million to $1.2 million.
- Alleghany, up 12.6 percent, from $531,590 to $599,041.
- Ashe, up 13.2 percent from $1.2 million to $1.4 million.
- Avery, up 17.8 percent, from $805,322 to $949,072.
- Caldwell, up 9.8 percent, from $4.1 million to $4.5 million.
- Davidson, up 11.1 percent, from $7 million to $7.8 million.
- Davie, up 10.8 percent, from $1 million to $1.1 million.
- Rockingham, up 12.6 percent, from $5.7 million to $6.5 million.
- Stokes, up 15.9 percent, from $948,476 to $1.1 million.
- Surry, up 11 percent, from $4.9 million to $5.5 million.
- Watauga, up 18.8 percent, from $2.7 million to $3.2 million.
- Wilkes, up 13.1 percent, from $3.9 million to $4.4 million.
- Yadkin, up 12.1 percent, from $1.4 million to $1.6 million.

Frances Beck, Luther Potts Take Oath For Davie County Board Of Education

Mrs. Frances "Pan" Beck of Rt. 2, Mocksville and Luther Potts of Rt. 3, Mocksville took the oath of office

Monday afternoon to begin serving six-year terms on the Davie County Board of Education.

Mrs. Beck and Potts were administered the oath by Delores Jordan, Davie County clerk of Superior Court, in the clerk's office in the Davie County Courthouse.

Both Mrs. Beck and Potts were elected to the six-year school board terms last May in nonpartisan elections, but were not scheduled to begin serving the terms until the first Monday in April of this year.

Actually, Mrs. Beck was re-elected to an additional term on the school board last May. She was first elected to the board in 1972 and during the past year she has served as vice chairman of the board.

A native of Davie County, Mrs. Beck is employed by the Crescent Electric Membership Corporation in Mocksville as a membership service representative. She also has been a long-time director of the Davie County United Way.

Potts, who is serving his first term on the board of education, has been associated with Durham Life Insurance Co., Inc. for the past 15 years. He is a graduate of Davie High School and Mitchell College. An Army veteran, Potts has 13 years of service with the North Carolina National Guard.

In addition to Mrs. Beck and Potts, the current members of the Davie County Board of Education are Benny Naylor, Lib Anderson, Dr. Vic Andrews and Sarah Bingham.

Three Vehicles And Ark Motel Damaged In Wreck

Three vehicles and the Ark Motel were involved in a wreck March 27th about 11:35 p.m. Total damage was estimated at $12,500.

Involved was a 1977 Ford Station Wagon operated by James Alton Clark, 38, of Danville, Va.; a 1977 Pontiac operated by Patricia Howell Rinehardt, 31, of Rt. 1 Rockwell; a parked pickup truck; and Ark Motel.

Capt. R.W. Groce and A.D. Adams of the Mocksville Police Department said their investigation showed that Clark was turning right into the motel parking lot. Rinehardt car failed to get stopped and struck the Clark car in the left rear, causing this vehicle to strike a parked vehicle and the Ark Motel.

Damage to the Clark vehicle was estimated at $3000; $3000 to the Rinehardt vehicle; and $6500 to the parked pickup truck and motel.

Clark and Mrs. Rinehardt were taken to the Davie County Hospital by ambulance.

Ms. Rinehardt was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid collision.

John Hendrix Heads "Wheels Of Life"

John Hendrix of Mocksville has been appointed as chairperson for the annual "Wheels For Life" spring bike-a-thon of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

The bike-a-thon is sponsored locally by the Mocksville Optimist Club. Pledge cards will be available through the schools or call Johnny Hendrix at 634-5948.

Founded by entertainer Danny Thomas sixteen years ago, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is devoted to painstaking medical research and care of children stricken with catastrophic diseases, including leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, and other forms of cancer.

St. Jude's is non-sectarian, interracial and completely free of charge to patients whose disease is under study and who are referred by a physician. After admittance, the hospital provides medical care for the patient and, when needed also provides transportation and lodging for parent and child.

St. Jude's receives assistance from federal grants and is supported by volunteer contributions. The bike-a-thon will be held in early spring and will give healthy children an opportunity to help other children live throughout the world.

Vehicle Hits Bridge Railing And Burns

A 1969 Chevrolet, owned by the Lewisville Junk and Salvage Company, hit the bridge railing on the Yadkin Valley Road, wrecked and burned about 2 a.m. Monday. Officials were unable to locate the driver who apparently left the scene.

State Highway Patrolman J. L. Payne said his investigation showed that the vehicle ran off the road on the right and struck the bridge railing. The vehicle caught fire, burning out a portion of the rail.

In addition to Trooper Payne, answering the call were the Davie County Rescue Squad, the Emergency Medical Ambulance, the Smith Grove Fire Department and the Davie County Sheriff's Department.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $500 and about $150 to the bridge railing.

Investigation is continuing.

Fred Pratt Named Part-Time Magistrate

Fred Pratt has been named as a part-time magistrate for Davie County, replacing Tony Green who resigned. Green was the first magistrate under the new court system assuming this position in December 1970.

Pratt, who recently resigned as administrative officer for the sheriff's department, assumed his magistrate duties on April 2nd.

thousand dollars. Commissioners were also reluctant to sign a contract with Star Lines because of mechanical problems with another ambulance Davie County purchased from the firm several years ago.

In other business Monday, commissioners:

- Set Saturday as appreciation day for Davie High School coach Bill Peeler and the girls' basketball team.

- Heard a report from Brady Angell on a recent meeting of the citizen's advisory committee for a state study of the Yadkin-Pee Dee Rivers basin. Commissioners are considering appointing at least one other person to the advisory committee.

- Agreed to support a drive to allow counties to receive a share of state franchise taxes. At present, the state and city governments split franchise taxes on telephone, electricity and gas companies within city boundaries. If the facility is outside a city, however, the state receives all of the franchise tax.

- Accepted a letter of resignation from Ed Rosser, a member of the Davie County hospital board of trustees. Commissioners commended Rosser, who has been transferred to Allentown, Pa., for his work with the trustees. A replacement will be selected later.

- Officially notified other members of the Piedmont Triad Council of Government that Davie County plans to join COG Region 1 as of July 1.

- Declared April Action Month for Foster Children.

- Discussed a proposal to erect a plaque to the late B.C. Brock Sr. at the B.C. Brock Center on North Main Street.

Plan Of Disposition Of Real Property For Cartners Approved

A detailed plan for the disposition of part of the real property owned by Jerry W. Cartner and his wife, Joan G. Cartner, of Mocksville, agreed to by them and their creditors, was approved last week by Judge Rufus W. Reynolds in U.S. Middle District Bankruptcy Court in Winston-Salem.

Judge Reynolds signed an order authorizing the Cartners to employ Bob Hoffman of Ferrell Realty Company in Winston-Salem to sell the J. Wayne Cafeteria property, land and building, on which they owe more than $100,000.

The order also authorized the Cartners to employ Julia Howard of Howard Realty Company in Mocksville to sell some residential lots and an undivided tract of real estate they own, with proceeds to be applied to debts.

At the end of the six-month period, if property disposed of has not brought enough to satisfy claims of creditors, the remainder is to be advertised and sold at public auction.

The major creditors in the bankruptcy proceedings are Central Carolina Bank, more than $100,000 owed on the cafeteria; First Federal Savings and Loan more than $40,000 owed on a home; and $35,000 owed to two Winston-Salem companies.

Truck Demolishes Patio In Bermuda Run

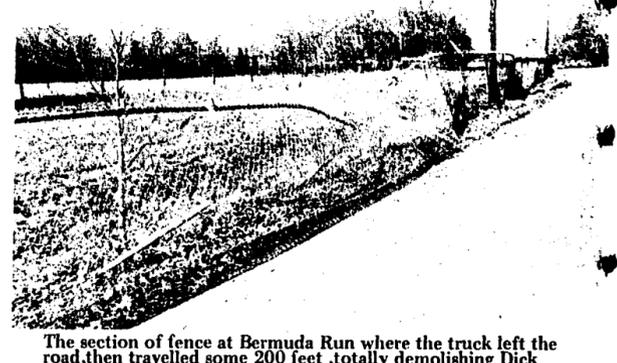

A truck went out of control on U.S. 158 last Thursday afternoon, ran through the Bermuda Run fence, across several yards, striking and demolishing a patio.

The truck, a 1974 Ford, was owned by Wrenn Construction Company of Durham, N.C. The driver was Robert Carl McCullough, 59, of Winston-Salem.

State Highway Patrolman J.L. Payne said his investigation showed that the truck ran off the road on the right in a very slight curve, ran through the wove wire fence, across several yards striking several small trees and shrubs, continuing on striking a patio attached to the Richard B. Anderson residence, where it came to a stop.

Damage to the Anderson residence was estimated at $5,000. Damage to the truck was estimated at 2,000.

The accident occurred about 3 p.m. last Thursday. McCullough was charged with exceeding safe speed.

programs. As Matthews says, his commission is a "maverick"; it is the only surviving development district in the state. The responsibilities of the other Local Development Districts were absorbed by the multicounty planning organizations, such as the new Region I organization, when they were created in 1971 by former Gov. Robert W. Scott.

Despite efforts to do away with the Northwest Economic Development Commission, Matthews' organization has survived until now.

"The elected officials got across the message that they did not want us to be done away with," he said. But now these same elected officials are in the process of forming the new organization and merging the programs of the Northwest Economic Development Commission into it.

"I think it should be," said Matthews. "If someone came along and said that the commission should be continued, I would say, 'No they should be merged.'"

The major programs of the Northwest Economic Development Commission - the Appalachian Regional Commission programs, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's community-development and rental-supplement programs - are being administered by the regional organizations in other areas.

Matthews says he believes that the programs are important because housing is a major need in the area.

"It's just basic. We've got to do something. Low-income housing is just not here," he said. He said he is especially concerned about newlyweds starting out and the elderly living on a fixed income.

Matthews' commission has had few limits on the programs it has been involved in over the past 12 years. Environmental preservation, historical preservation and recreational projects head the list of the commission's accomplishments.

Report From Raleigh

by Rep. Ramey F. Kemp

As you probably already know, our entire delegation of two Senators and three Representatives introduced a Bill Monday which would create a Central Park Study Commission. We feel that the best possible site for Central Piedmont Park is a site located in Davidson County. This Commission would at least study that site. Presently, a site near Colfax is the only one under consideration.

Legislation passed the House this week which would raise the minimum pay in North Carolina. As soon as it passes the Senate, I will report to you the exact amount.

The Appropriations Committee is working hard to come up with our biennial budget. This committee work is very tiring but requires that you go the extra mile. I am particularly interested in appropriations for the needy, children and education. Other parts of the budget also get a lot of attention. A large group of school children from Davidson County came to the Legislative Building on Wednesday. So far, none from Davie County have visited the Capitol this year.

A Bill was introduced this week in the Senate to rewrite the Chiropractic Act. Many close friends from throughout the State attended the committee meeting on Thursday at noon to hear the discussion about this Bill, SB 459. Some of these people traveled a long way, and I certainly appreciated their presence.

Mr. Carl Stewart, Speaker of the House, is still of the opinion that we can adjourn by May 15. The long hours we are working would indicate that this is possible, but only time will tell.

This must be taken into consideration if you plan to visit the Legislature during session this year. Do not wait until it is too late to come see us.

General Manager
Davie County Public Library

National Library Week, April 1-7 this year, will be celebrated in Davie County with another fantastic Library discard Book Sale! All books, and there are hundreds upon hundreds, will cost only 25 cents. The Book Sale will take place Saturday, April 7 in the library, which will open at 9:00 a.m. We ask you to help us celebrate National Library Week at any other time by simply stopping in and making yourself at home. The library is open from 1:00 to 3:30 on Monday, 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 on Saturday at the Main Library at 416 North Main Street. In Cooleemee hours are 2 - 5 Monday and Friday, and 9:00 - noon Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Call us if you need information (or anything else) at 634-2023 in Mocksville and 264-2102 in Cooleemee.

The theme of National Library Week this year is "The Library is filled with Success Stories," and nothing could be more appropriate. If you would like to read about a "success story", let us direct you to the Biography section, or if you would like to be one, look over the vocational guidance material, or any of the other reference sources. We sometimes lose sight of the fact that America is still the land of opportunity and it is astounding how many successful people prepared for life in their local library, from Arthur Ashe to Isaac Asimov. A new book along these lines would be The Mechanix Illustrated Guide To: How To Patent And Market Your Own Invention, by Marvin Brossworth. It is a very handy guide telling the inventor what to do, how much it will cost, when to do it, and what the benefits will be. If Henry Ford had had this book he would have been a rich man.

While you are here, look at the display in the front hall, courtesy of Brady Angell. Two hornets nests are featured, along with some books on the subject. We have found this type display, about something we pass by everyday, very interesting.

The library is also conducting a survey of users for the next couple of weeks. Please take the time to give us your opinion of our service, our resources, what we can do in the future, and what use you make of the library.

Finally, we recently received a computer print out of all the agencies in the county listed with the North Carolina Department of Human Resources Information and Referral Programs. We can quickly get you information about anyone of the 100 agencies serving Davie County. From Dial-A-Prayer to the Clerk of Superior Court to the Optimist Club, all of the local services are listed.

Legislative Report

By Senator Robert Davis

Education continues to be the main topic of conversation in the North Carolina General Assembly.

Last week, as relations remained strained between the North Carolina University System and the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, the selection of the UNC Board of Governors gained added significance. As required by state law, one-fourth of the thirty-two member governing body was up for reelection by the joint membership of the state House and Senate.

The Board of Governors is the main governing body of the state's sixteen universities under the UNC umbrella. It was organized in 1971 by the General Assembly after the Governor's Study Commission on Structure and Organization of Higher Education recommended various steps in improving the management of higher education in the state.

The consolidation of all of the state's universities under centralized control was the major result of those Commission recommendations.

Although each of the member institutions has its own local Board of Trustees, the state Board of Governors has the overall responsibility of planning and developing a coordinated system of higher education in North Carolina.

The Board is ultimately charged with determining and controlling the educational activities and academic programs of all state supported universities. They are also responsible for preparing a recommended budget for the entire university system and presenting it to the governor and General Assembly.

The nomination and election process for members of the Board of Governors occurs every two years by joint action of the House and Senate.

Each time, a new resolution is drawn up for introduction to the House and Senate. This year, the resolution was sponsored in the Senate by Senator Charles E. Vickery of Chapel Hill. Complicated by the nature of its requirements, the resolution was over 12 pages long which spelled out the guidelines for nomination in committee, selection in committee, joint nomination in the House and Senate, and then final voting, separately, in the House and Senate.

Great care is taken to insure that the Board is represented by a cross-section of the state. Senator Vickery's resolution called for grouping the nominees into seven separate categories.

The eight nominees are to be represented by one woman for an eight year-term, one minority race member for an eight-year term, one member of the minority political party for an eight-year term, three at-large members for eight-year terms (the House votes on two of these), one at-large member for a six-year term, and one additional minority race member for a two-year term.

The selection process is complicated because of the extreme importance of the Board of Governors. The nominees must be persons with an excellent background, solid character, and a genuine desire for public service. They must be able to look beyond regional boundaries and, of course, be without prejudices. They must also be willing to lend their names and energies to guiding the university system through often trying times.

Hopefully, the "trying times" the university is now experiencing will have subsided before the next election. Knowing the caliber of those selected, I'm sure they can help.

Incidents Reported To Sheriff's Dept.

The Davie County Sheriff's Department is investigating the following incidents reported during the past week:

J.W. Steelman of Rt. 3 Mocksville reported two cases of breaking and entering into a storage building and pump house. Nothing was reported missing. Deputy John Coley is investigating.

Thomas Edwin Fowler of Rt. 7 Mocksville reported that someone transferred brake fluid out of the master cylinder on a 1962 Ford Falcon and replaced it with transmission fluid. Deputy Coley is investigating.

Johnson Grocery Store of Rt. 2 Mocksville reported the larceny of $1400 from money bag sometime between March 28 and 29. Deputy Carl Shore is investigating.

Last Friday a juvenile was arrested for damaging the cemetery of the Concord United Methodist Church. Deputy Albert Cobb is investigating.

Also last Friday Danny Mark Draughn, 17, of Rt. 4 Mocksville was arrested and charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, reckless driving after consuming alcoholic beverage, and desecration of a private cemetery.

WEEKLY NEWS...

from Representative James E. Lambeth
North Carolina Legislature, 30th District
North Carolina Legislative Building, Raleigh, N.C. 27611 (919-733-5863)

Ever mindful of the problem of trash on the state's roads and highways, your legislators introduced a Bill last week to deal with the litter caused by beverage containers. House Bill 857 would require dealers to purchase all containers up to two liters in size, whether they are intended to be returnable or nonreturnable, for $.05 each. In turn, distributors would be required to pay dealers the amount refunded plus 20 percent of the deposit value for handling the containers. The Bill also calls for the establishment of redemption centers to be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Natural Resources and Community Development, which would operate with the aid of the 20 percent handling fee. A highlight of the Bill which is apt to be controversial is that the sale of beverage cans with detachable pop tops and cans or bottles connected by plastic loops (or non-biodegradable connectors) would be prohibited. The Bill would take effect January 1, 1982, with the exception of the ban on plastic loops which would take effect a year earlier.

We discussed improvements needed in the City of Lexington with City Manager Eugene Morris and city council members James Byerly, Henry Smith, and Richard Thomas when they came to Raleigh March 22 for the annual meeting of the North Carolina League of Municipalities.

Other distinguished visitors in two March 22 included retired teachers from Davie County Mrs. Eugene Crawford, Mrs. Adelaide Ellis, Mocksville, Ms. Mary Sexton, Cooleemee, and Mr. Arien De Vito, Mocksville.

We want to thank the 31 members of the Benjamin Merrill Chapter of the daughters of the American Revolution, Lexington, for stopping by to say hello Tuesday after touring the Capitol.

Perkins. Ira Kaplan, a Duke spokesman, said the evacuation plan will be developed when Duke seeks an operating license for the plant, five or six years after the construction permit is issued.

Dail said Duke sent a five-man team of engineers to help cool the crippled reactor at Three Mile Island and to gather information that could help Duke prevent such an incident at its plants.

The Atomic Safety and Licensing Board concluded its hearings on Perkins in February and had been expected to decide by late spring whether Duke should be granted a construction permit.

Neal said yesterday that Elizabeth Bowers, chairman of the board's panel that is considering Perkins, has said she expects to make a recommendation on the permit within 30 days.

Duke's application for a construction permit to build the three-unit nuclear station on the Yadkin about seven miles southeast of Mocksville has been before the Nuclear Regulatory Commission since March 1974.

New Deputy Named By Sheriff George Smith

Lowell Davis (Buster) Harris, Jr., 23, of 325 Lexington Road, Mocksville, assumed duties as a deputy with the sheriff's department on April 1st.

He attended schools in Rowan County and worked for the Salisbury Fire Department. He spent four years in the U.S. Navy and worked part time at WDSL radio station.

He is married to the former Pamela Presnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Presnell of Rt. 4 Mocksville. They have one child, age 2.

Davie Couple Recalls Cruise Disaster

What a Caribbean vacation! First, you become seasick on your cruise ship because an earth tremor causes rough seas. Then your cruise ship, with all of your possessions on board, burns and sinks into the harbor while you are shopping at a port-of-call in the Virgin Islands. You then attempt to somehow get back to your home at Advance in Davie County with only the clothes on your back and a limited amount of money in your pocket. But your troubles continue because you can't get a flight back to the states from Puerto Rico. And, when you finally do get a flight back home, you are detoured by way of Chicago, Illinois before eventually arriving at the Greensboro airport for the drive to Advance. And, having gone through all of this what would be your answer to the question "Would you like to go on another cruise?" Well, Bo Potts' answer Tuesday morning was an adamant "I know I'm not going to go on another cruise. That was my first and last one." Potts' wife, Mona, was not quite as definitive in her answer to the question, but she did remark "I might be a little leery in taking another cruise, especially right now." All of the adventures, or misadventures, described above actually happened to the Potts during recent days. They told of their experiences Tuesday morning while sitting at the kitchen table of their Rt. 2, Advance home. Mr. and Mrs. Potts were among a group of almost sixty persons from the Triad area of North Carolina who were passengers on the Italian cruise ship Angelina Lauro which burned last weekend while docked at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. These Triad residents were part of a larger group of more than 700 passengers from all over the United States who were stranded in St. Thomas and San Juan, Puerto Rico after the burning of the ship. They were on the last leg of a week-long Caribbean holiday cruise when disaster struck with the fire aboard the ship. Fortunately, these tourists were not out to sea when the fire erupted and no injuries occurred from the blaze. The Potts had booked their cruise on the Costa Lines' Genoa, Italy based Angelina Lauro through Mrs. Rachel Barr of King, the same woman who had arranged for a Hawaiian vacation for them last year. Leaving the states March 24, they embarked on their cruise after traveling to San Juan. The Potts spent several pleasurable days lounging on board the ship plying the Caribbean Sea and touring and shopping in Caribbean ports at St. Martin, Guadeloupe, Grenada, Caracas and Curacao. However, after leaving the port of Curacao and after refueling the ship on the morning of Thursday, March 29, Mrs. Potts became very ill and was not even able to finish eating a "Captain's Dinner" that night. Many persons did not attend the "Captain's Dinner" and the Potts later learned that an earth tremor had caused rough seas and these persons did not feel well enough to attend the gala event. The Angelina Lauro had been scheduled to disembark its passengers at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands on Friday, March 30, before going on to San Juan, Puerto Rico to finish the cruise. Normally, the 24,000-ton ship would tender its passengers ashore in small boats because it was too large to comfortably dock at most ports-of-call in the Caribbean. But, because of the rough seas, the ship actually docked at St. Thomas to disembark its passengers. After disembarking and spending a day of touring and shopping in St. Thomas with Mr. and Mrs. Aldean Wooten of East Bend, Bo Potts and Mr. Wooten decided to return to the ship early Friday afternoon. Their wives decided to continue shopping and sightseeing. While shopping in a store at 5:10 p.m. on Friday afternoon Mrs. Potts and Mrs. Wooten were suddenly asked by a shopkeeper which ship they had come on. They responded the Angelina Lauro. "That's the ship that's on fire!" Mrs. Potts remembered the shopkeeper exclaiming. "We were completely astonished and said 'Oh my goodness,'" continued Mrs. Potts. "Betty Wooten and I realized that our husbands had gone back to the ship and were really concerned about them," she added. She noted that at 5:10 p.m. traffic is "really bad" in St. Thomas and she and Mrs. Wooten finally got a taxi to carry them to the ship. However, the taxi was only able to get within about two blocks of the burning ship because of the confusion and crowds around the ship. "We didn't know if we'd ever find our husbands because we thought they might be tired and asleep on the ship, but as luck would have it they were the first persons we ran into after we got out of the taxi," related Mrs. Potts. Mr. and Mrs. Potts reported that as the fire became more and more serious on board the ship they were told by ship personnel to go to any other ship in the harbor of Charlotte Amalie and "register for a head count" in order that the persons on the Angelina Lauro's passenger list could be properly accounted. "Bo and I and Betty and Aldean Wooten went aboard the Sun Princess, the sister-ship to the Love Boat on television," said Mrs. Potts. While aboard the Sun Princess, Mrs. Potts became ill again and had to be admitted to the ship's hospital for an overnight stay. Mrs. Wooten was forced to board another ship to spend the night. Mr. Potts and Mr. Wooten were forced to stay aboard the Sun Princess for the night, sleeping on the floor. It became apparent during the night and following day that nothing was going to be saved from the burning ship. The Sun Princess and other ships carried the Angelina Lauro's passengers to San Juan, Puerto Rico to catch flights back to the states. However, after arriving in San Juan, the passengers were not able to get flights back to the states. A strike by United Air Lines in this country, and the heavy influx of persons wanting to return to the states, complicated the situation gravely. "Mrs. Barr, our tour leader, stood with tears in her eyes trying to get us flights," commented Mrs. Potts. The Potts and other passengers aboard the Angelina Lauro had been given $100 emergency spending money by representatives of the Angelina Lauro, but this was not much money to get all the way back home to Advance. They did purchase a sweatshirt and a caftan to wear to stay warm since they had lost their clothes in the fire. Both Mr. and Mrs. Potts also recalled that they had "quite a problem" clearing customs before returning home even though "we didn't have a thing but what we had on our backs," they said. Finally, having cleared customs and getting a flight out of San Juan on Monday morning, April 2, the Potts were detoured by way of Chicago, Illinois before arriving in Greensboro for the final leg of their journey back home. The Costa Lines Co., which owned the Angelina Lauro, had provided accommodations for the Potts and other passengers on the ship at the Grand Bahia Hotel in San Juan while they were waiting for flights to the states. Early Saturday morning the Potts daughter, Mrs. Ronald Howell of Advance, had heard through the news media of the burning of the Angelina Lauro and called WSJS radio station in Winston-Salem for more information. Mrs. Howell's inquiry was put on the air and several relatives and friends of the Potts became alarmed after hearing this radio broadcast. Their fears and the fears of Mrs. Howell were not stilled until Mr. and Mrs. Potts called home later Saturday morning to relay that "everything was all right" and they were safe. At noon Tuesday the Potts were still not certain that all of their comrades aboard the ship had finally arrived back home in the states. As they sat at their home Tuesday morning recounting the events of the past week, the Potts were having to list for insurance purposes all of the things they lost in the fire aboard the ship. This they estimated to be several thousands of dollars in clothes, photographic equipment and other goods. Observed Bo Potts, "You hear about these things happening, but you just don't know what kind of shape you can get in until it happens to you."

Puerto Rican newspapers spread on the kitchen table of Bo and Mona Potts tell of the burning of their cruise ship, the Angelina Lauro.

Recycling of Cans

Last year Americans returned 6 billion aluminum cans for recycling—one of every four aluminum cans manufactured, says National Geographic.

Social Security

I have worked under social security all my life, but I've always had low wages. Isn't there some kind of special retirement benefit for people like me?

There is a special minimum retirement benefit for people who worked under social security at least 20 years. This helps people who had low earnings, but still above specified level, in their working years. The amount of the special minimum depends on the number of years of coverage. For a worker retiring in 1979 at 65 with 30 or more years of coverage the minimum would be $230. The special minimum benefit will increase automatically in future years as the cost-of-living rises.

I remember reading last year that a new way of figuring social security benefits would be into effect in 1979. How does this new method work?

The new method of calculating social security benefits applies to workers who reach 62, become disabled, or die after 1978. Under this method, actual earnings for past years will be adjusted to take account of changes in average wages since 1951. Tyese adjusted earnings will be averaged together and a formula will be applied to the average to determine the benefit amount. Under the old method, benefits were based on average earnings over a period of years, using the actual dollar amount of past earnings. So that no one now nearing retirement will be disadvantaged, the law contains a guarantee. Under the guarantee, retirement benefits for workers who reach 62 after 1978 and before 1984 will be figured under both the old method and the new method. The benefit paid will be the higher of the two calculations.

Insurance Companies Receive Odd Claims

Assembled is a list of some real gold nuggets, screened from a stream of millions of claims processed by Aetna last year. Each case is true. Only the names and compensation information have been eliminated to protect the identity of those involved.)

One of the thieves convinced the police officers he actually was the homeowner and was, unhappily, claiming what was his after a bitter divorce. The embarrassed lawmen made their exit, but not before offering to assist the burglars. The homeowner's dog was also reported missing.

Then there was the lovesick male pooch who smashed through the front door of a home which contained a female of the species. The two canines never rendezvoused. The homeowner stopped the excited intruder in front of the door to the garage, where the female was chained, before it was destroyed too.

A New Jersey policyholder filed a claim after an appropriately named throw rug slipped out from underneath a house guest. The claimant said the guest "spilled" blood all over her nice wallpaper. How's that for a different twist?

In the early days of the automobile, it was always being challenged by the horse. Well, last year, a New York nag won the contest. A car traveling along a bridge path startled the horse and its rider. The horse reared; its master tumbled onto the manure-covered path. As the angry rider started making obscene remarks, the horse reared again, this time leaving his calling card, in the form of hoofprints, on the side of the car.

The "I Thought It Was a Brilliant Idea" award should go to a Jerseyite who tried to defy winter by placing an electric blanket over his VW engine. On rising one morning he found the car engulfed in flames, probably from a short circuit.

Consider, if you will, the man, who while on his constitutional, walked into a tree and filed for damages. He said dust and noise erupting from a minor demolition project down the block startled him and sent him into the collision course.

Talking about startled people, you must feel some sympathy for the woman who was mugged by a cat right in the front seat of her car. The feline made tracks on the woman's neck after being rudely awakened from a sleep in the backseat. The sudden rush by the cat resulted in the driver being propelled forward. Some of the front dental work was rearranged after hitting the steering wheel.

Before the garbage truck's exhaust system burned the chest of the beach goer, the poor guy was straddled by the large vehicle while he slept. Talk about rude awakenings.

And for the sore seamstress. She claimed that a doctor left part of a surgical needle in her rump, and filed a malpractice suit. Testimony revealed, however, she sat on a needle years ago.

And for the finale, there is a dog who ate fiberglass bumpers. According to a policyholder, a pooch took after the claimant's customized van and after forcing it to stop, ripped apart the special flared bumper. A dog isn't necessarily a van's best friend. Adios until next year.

Cancer Crusade Is Underway

The Davie County Unit of the American Cancer Society is again participating in the nationwide ACS educational and fund-raising crusade.

Letters are being mailed to residents in the county requesting support. Included in the letters are leaflets describing the "Seven Warning Signals" put out by the American Cancer Society.

According to Roy Cartner, president of the local ACS Unit, the American Cancer Society has a program of professional education to keep physicians, nurses, dentists and allied medical professionals alert to the newest developments in cancer diagnosis and treatment. Professional education, public education, the support of research that makes advances possible and service programs in the community and for cancer patients, add up to the American Cancer Society approach to the complex problem called cancer.

"To have new trends in treatments all of us here in Davie County should take a moment to contribute to the 1979 educational and fund-raising Crusade of the American Cancer Society," concluded Mr. Cartner.

Checks should be made to: American Cancer Society and sent to: Miss Cornelia Hendricks, treasurer, Davie Unit ACS, 811 Park Avenue, Mocksville, N.C. 27028

At Davie Courthouse

The above Boone Trail Marker was dedicated with a special ceremony on March 16, 1925. A total of 358 of these markers were placed throughout the United States by the late J. Hampton Rich, a native of Davie County. (Photos by Garry Foster).

J. Hampton Rich

The Man Who Marked Boone's Trail All The Way To California

by Gordon Tomlinson

The unveiling and dedication of the Boone marker at the courthouse in Mocksville took place Monday, March 16, 1925, at 1:30 p.m.

The inscription on this marker, which is still in the same location today, read:

"This memorial erected to Daniel Boone, Hunter, Explorer, Blackwoodsman, Soldier, Surveyor, Road-builder, and Legislator. He lived and earned woodcraft in Davie County, 1750-1765."

The inscription to Boone's father and mother reads:

"This memorial erected to Squire and Sarah Boone, pioneers of the Yadkin whose remains are interred one mile NW in Joppa Graveyard. Coming from Pa. in 1749."

This is one of 358 tablets placed throughout the United States...from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Great Lakes to Florida...by a native son of Davie County, J. Hampton Rich. This is his story:

J. Hampton Rich was born July 14, 1874, the son of Samuel Chase and Betty Caroline McMahan Rich of the Cana section of Davie County.

Graduating from Wake Forest College in 1898, he attended the Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville. He then spent several years preaching and teaching before buying a printing press and operating the Piedmont Printing Company in Winston-Salem, publishing a newspaper called "The Labor Leader".

In 1913 Hamp Rich founded the Boone Trail Highway and Memorial Association. He engaged a sculptor named Henley to design the Daniel Boone tablet which shows a likeness of Daniel Boone, sitting on a boulder, looking westward, with his dog, rifle, and powder horn.

From the Navy he obtained 400 pounds of metal from the USS Maine, which had been scuttled in 1912. A little bit of this metal was mixed into each tablet. However, the connection between Boone and the battleship was never explained.

Rich, dressed in a coonskin cap and carrying a long rifle, made personal appearances throughout North Carolina and all over the nation. He would deliver a spellbinding speech about Daniel Boone to any assembled audience, urging them to build a monument to the great pioneer.

School children brought in money; civic clubs and patriotic societies donated funds; hats were passed around. When enough money was raised, Rich would pull from the back of his old car shovels, bags of cement, and a large metal tablet.

Rich would supervise local labor in the construction of a large 8-foot arrowhead from rocks and concrete. The metal tablet, designed by Henry, was riveted onto the side of the arrowhead, along with another tablet carrying the message.

The marker was kept covered until the time for the unveiling. The ceremony usually included patriotic speeches, songs by children, etc.

Hamp Rich marked Boone's trail from North Carolina to Kentucky and back. Then he began working on a transcontinental Boone Trail from Virginia Beach to San Francisco. In 1925, he made a cross-country trip and claimed to have spoken to 50,000 school children.

When asked about the Boone marker constructed at the Golden Gate, Rich reportedly explained: "Although Boone never actually got that far west, he dreamed a lot about the Pacific."

Boone markers were also placed along a "Coal-to-Cotton Highway" from West Virginia through the Carolinas; a "Detroit to St. Augustine Cross Line"; and even two places in Boston.

Finally concluding that maybe Daniel Boone had enough markers in his honor, he began on new projects in the 1930's.

He worked out a "Appalachian Indian Road and Buffalo Trail", along which he placed tablets honoring the buffalo and the Indian chief, Sequoyah. He also put up tablets to David Crockett, Thomas Burke and Nathaniel Brock.

He described his travels and experiences in the association's little newspaper, "Boone Trail Herald", which Rich published every now and then in Winston-Salem from 1924 to 1938.

In 1945 Rich served as clerk-librarian in the State Senate.

J. Hampton Rich died in December 1949 in the Duke University Hospital of a liver ailment. He was 75-years-of-age. His funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, December 3, 1949, at the Eaton's Baptist Church. He was survived by two sons and two daughters.

This is the grave of J. Hampton Rich, who created the Boone Trail Highway and placed markers honoring the famed frontiersman throughout the United States.

Local Marker Dedicated March 16, 1925

The newspaper account of the unveiling and dedication of the Boone tablet in Mocksville on March 16, 1925, was as follows:

"The unveiling and dedication of the large Boone tablet took place on the court house square here Monday at 1:30. The unveiling of the tablet was by six school girls members of the Mocksville High School and several of the members of revolutionary families. The ivy was transplanted around the big monolith of Mt. Airy granite by six boys, one of whom was a descendant of Daniel Boone.

"The address of the occasion was made by Mrs. E.C. Gregory of Salisbury, N.C., Regent-Elect of the Revolution. The speech of presentation for the Boone Trail Highway and Memorial Association was made by Mrs. Oliver Spencer of Winston-Salem, past-regent of the N.C. Daughters of American Revolution.

"The tablets, which are large and massive in design and interesting in the inscription, were received by County Supt. of Schools, E.P. Bradley and E.C. Stator, Supt. of the Mocksville Schools.

"In the address of the day, Mrs. E.C. Gregory stressed the history of the Yadkin River country and its significance to the later development of the state. The work of the D.A.R. in connection with the marking of the trail of Boone under the regency of Mrs. W.N. Reynolds was stressed. Mrs. Oliver Spencer, who made the speech of presentation for the association, called attention to the sterling qualities of this typical American pioneer and called on the school girls and school boys present to emulate the example of the pioneer.

"The singing of "There's A Long Long Trail Awaiting" by the school was made the occasion of an impressive point in the program.

"The announcement was made by J. Hampton Rich, Managing Director of the Boone Trail Association, that there had been built at Joppa Graveyard a memorial over the graves of Squire Boone and Sara Boone, father and mother of Daniel Boone, in which are set the old gravestones and a tablet which will mark the spot of the burying place of these pioneers of the Yadkin.

"The announcement was also made that the unveiling of this memorial will be made the occasion of another interesting exercise in which the D.A.R. organization will be asked to take a leading part." This was followed by inscription on the tablets.

Green Meadows News

Revival services continue at Green Meadows Church nightly through Friday at 7:30 p.m. The visiting speaker Rev. John D. Wilkinson of Four Oaks N.C. is the house guest of Rev. and Mrs. David Roberts.

Due to revival services the Baptist Womens meeting is rescheduled for Monday night April 12.

A baptismal service is planned at Green Meadows Church on Easter Sunday morning.

The Joe Langstons, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Barnes, Mrs. Ruby Foster and Mr. Ed Howard all were visitors on Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Langston in Statesville. Bill was much better on Sunday after a difficult period of recovery following surgery a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Zimmerman and daughter, returned home on Sunday night from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Foster in Ocala, Florida.

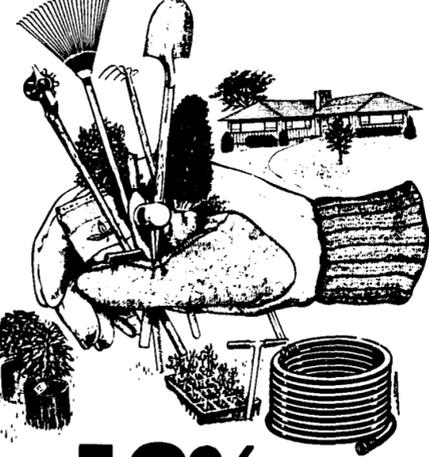

Mrs. Mary Gough is recuperating at her home from an attack of Bronchitis. Mr. and Mrs. Gray Matthews visited their son Mitchell and family near Greensboro; baby Vanessa was better of an ear infection and other members of the family were improved of a virus type illness.

From Green Meadows Church on Sunday, "Living without God means dying without hope!"

Johannes Gutenberg, the father of printing, was originally a goldsmith.

Georgia Firm Buys Cooper D. Cass Firm

Lanier Business Products, Inc. of Atlanta, Georgia announced today it has reached agreement to purchase the Winston-Salem based Cooper D. Cass Company, a distributor of 3M Products in the Carolinas and parts of Virginia. The announcement was made jointly by Cooper D. Cass, founder and principal stockholder of the firm and Wes E.

Cantrell, president of Lanier. They said the projected closing date for transfer is May 15, 1979.

In making the announcement, Cass said, "The selection of Lanier to secure the continuity of enterprises of the Cooper D. Cass Company is a good one because of Lanier's experience in the selling, distribution and servicing of both their own products and 3M Products."

"Lanier is extremely pleased to be able to continue the operations of the Cooper D. Cass Company because of the firm's excellent reputation, customer base and personnel," said Cantrell. "We appreciate a well managed and successful organization. That's why Lanier was attracted to the Cooper D. Cass Company. Mr. Cass, through the firm's 34 years, has built a strong and responsive company. That success is the result of his dedication to providing products that meet customer needs and backing those products with dependable service," noted Cantrell.

Lanier expects to continue operation of the company through the nine offices and hopes that the employees of Cooper Cass will continue their careers with Lanier. The agreement is subject to certain conditions, including a favorable tax ruling from the Internal Revenue Service with respect to certain aspects of the proposed transactions.

Lanier Business Products, Inc. specializes in word processing systems. The firm is a leader in the field of dictation equipment as the major supplier of video display electronic typing systems. In June, 1978 Lanier completed its first year as a publicly owned corporation and is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

At West Iredell

The "Crash Craddock Show" will be presented Saturday night, April 7 at 8 p.m. at the West Iredell High School Gymnasium. Entitled "A Bash With Crash" will also feature Country-Western Star, David Houston. The event is being sponsored by the Iredell County Rescue Squad.

East Davie Jaycees End Scrap Paper Pickup

The East Davie Jaycees announce that due to rising costs of picking up paper and the lower prices they are receiving, pickup service on the waste paper is being discontinued.

"However, the waste paper bin is being placed at the intersection of N.C. 801 and U.S. 158, at the Northwestern Bank, and we request you please place your newspapers there," said Perry Crutchfield of the East Davie Jaycees. "With your help and working together we can serve our community better," said Crutchfield.

Alcohol Information Report

By: WILLIAM F. WEANT, M.S.
ALCOHOLISM EDUCATION CONSULTANT

Proof is the standard measure of the alcohol content of spirits. In the United States and Canada this measure is exactly twice the percentage of alcohol that a given spirit contains. Thus, pure alcohol (possibly only under laboratory conditions) would be 200 proof whereas a spirit that is half alcohol is 100 proof.

One hundred proof liquor is known as proof spirits because of a crude, serviceable technique by which some early distilleries determined drinking strength. They mixed the sample of the spirit with gun powder and tried to light it. If the mixture would not ignite, the distillate was considered too weak. If an overly bright flare resulted, the spirit was too potent. A steady blue flame denoted a distillate of proper strength for drinking. Spirits yielding such a flame were said to have been proved.

When laboratory techniques were applied, it turned out that such proof spirits were 50 percent alcohol more or less. This figure was accordingly designed 100 proof in laboratory standards by which proof is recognized in the United States.

The awareness of proof is important to consumers because of its obvious effect on intoxicating qualities of the drink. American beers usually contain from 6 to 12 percent alcohol by volume or 12 to 24 proof. Most wines contain 12 percent alcohol or 24 proof. Distilled beverages like whiskey, vodka, rum, and tequila typically range from 40 percent (80 proof) to 50 percent (100 proof) alcohol.

(This is the seventy-first in a series of articles about "alcohol" provided by Bill Weant, Alcoholism Education Consultant with the Tri-County Mental Health Complex. These articles are designed to create understanding about sensible drinking, alcohol abuse, and alcoholism in our society. If you have a question concerning alcohol that you would like answered in a future column phone 634-2195.)

Free Easter Play Offered To Churches

An Easter play written especially for the church play director who has problems is being offered free by the WITNESS FOR CHRIST FUND of Pembroke, North Carolina. The Fund will send one copy of the play to any church representative who calls or writes. No royalty or donation is required.

The free play is titled: AN EASTER PLAY PRACTICE. It was written especially for the church director who has problems getting persons to participate, problems getting the participants to learn their parts, and problems getting practice and rehearsals scheduled. The play can be presented after two readings by the cast. No scenery is necessary. Very few props are needed.

The message in AN EASTER PLAY PRACTICE is strong. All the standard events of Easter; the taking of Jesus by soldiers in the Garden of Gethsemane, the trial before Pilate, the beatings by the soldiers, the crucifixion, and the embalmment and resurrection are all incorporated into the play, yet none are actually portrayed on stage. Music is woven in so that the messages of the songs add to the message of the play. The hymns selected are the old, standard hymns found in most hymnals.

No actual stage is needed for the presentation of AN EASTER PLAY PRACTICE. An area in front of the altar before the congregation is all that is needed. The play runs about 50 minutes. It can be presented before worship service on Easter Sunday.

The Fund has only a few copies of the play. Only one copy will be sent to a church representative. There is no charge for postage. The Fund can be reached by calling 919-444-4449, or by writing to WITNESS FOR CHRIST FUND, Box 578, Pembroke, N.C. 28372.

Mocksville Middle School Sponsors Book Fair, April 9-13

The Mocksville Middle School will sponsor a student book fair from Monday, April 9 to Friday, April 13, 1979. Students will be able to browse and purchase books. The book fair will be open during the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Books will be on display in the media center.

The book fair committee invites all students, parents and visitors to attend the fair. The fair will encourage student interest in reading and in building home libraries, and will also contribute to a worthwhile project.

The Junior Beta Club is sponsoring this event, with Mrs. Brenda Guthrie serving as book fair chairman.

The book fair display will include attractive new books from many publishers in all popular price ranges: wonderful books to read or to give as gifts. All reading interests will be represented, including classics, fiction, biographies, adventure stories, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books. The committee is working with Educational Reading Service, a professional book fair company, to furnish an individual selection of books for the fair.

Thursday, April 12, the Book Fair will be open during the PTSA Family Fun Night. Parents and students may purchase books at this time.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

As a citizen of Davie County, I am very concerned about the beer and wine petition circulation in our county. For twenty-seven years citizens have cared enough to keep our county dry. Please let each one continue to let Davie be a place we can be proud to live, and give our children the same consideration we have been given by our parents.

The money that beer and wine brings into a county looks big on paper; then on the other side, stop, and take a look at the problems there will be if beer and wine is voted into our county. I will be glad to help Mr. Hardin pick up bottles and cans thrown out on our highways that are brought from the wet counties, than to know that I helped bring these bottles and cans into our county by voting YES to his beer and wine petition.

God will grant the needs of Davie County, if we will ask. The needs taken care of by God on High; no beer and wine money will ever buy.

A Concerned Citizen,
Ruth Mabe

Dear Editor:

After the recent accident at the Three Miles Island Nuclear Power Plant, we, the neighbors of the proposed Perkins Nuclear Power Plant site must stop and re-evaluate whether or not Perkins is wanted.

The major reason for the accident in Pennsylvania being as bad as it was is that a person working at the plant shut off the Emergency Core Cooling System (ECCS) thus eliminating some of the protective water from the nuclear fuel. Angle Howard, spokesperson for Duke Power, has guaranteed that none of Dukes' personnel would do anything like that. There is no way Ms. Howard can guarantee that there will be no human error.

Duke Power also feels that the Perkins Plant should be given the go ahead and by the time it is ready to be licensed the true reason for the accident will be found. We cannot allow Duke Power to go ahead for even Harold Denton, spokesman for the NRC said that the plants were not designed and are not able to handle such an accident.

I ask the question of all Duke Power and the people reading this, "Is not a delay, or, if necessary abortion, of the Perkins Plant worth the lives of thousands?"

George Kontos, Chairman
Citizens Against Nuclear Trouble

Davie G.O.P Meets Monday

The Davie County Republican Party Executive Committee will meet Monday night April 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Davie County Courthouse.

This is an open meeting and all Republicans are invited to attend.

Wins Energy Poster Contest At Age 90

Mrs. Maude Smoot of the Davie Academy community has been designated as county winner in the energy conservation poster contest.

Sponsored through the family living division of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association, she was chosen on the basis of her entry's originality and appearance.

Although 90 years old and confined to the assistance of a walker, Mrs. Smoot has the vitality and appearance of one much younger. Through an artistic ability which she regards as "strictly amateur" she captured the winning concept of energy conservation with the same ease that has also captured many scenes of her community that grace walls of her home.

"I am a strong believer of energy conservation, and when I heard of the contest a rhyme came into my mind," said Mrs. Smoot.

"It was Rinse in cold water instead of hot, reduces killowatts a lot, and I based my poster on this."

Done in water colors Mrs. Smoot's poster revolved around this theme enhanced with the painting of clothes drying in the sun. Having never had an art lesson, Mrs. Smoot's natural ability made her entry a winner.

Always a conservative person, Mrs. Smoot was thrilled about winning the contest and commented that she was proud to have expressed her views on energy conservation.

"People have had so much that energy is taken for granted by many today," she said. But I can remember when electricity was unheard of."

"I try to keep lights off whenever possible and keep my thermostat set on 60 degrees during the day and even lower at night."

"People are going to have to get serious about energy shortages," said Mrs. Smoot, "and try to get conditions back to a normal state before they learn what it's like to do without."

Mrs. Ostine West, local Home Economics Extension Agent and Duke Tutterow, chairman of the board of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association presented Mrs. Smoot with a check for her winning entry. The poster also competed on an area basis of competition in Winston-Salem last week.

Mrs. Maude Smoot of Davie Academy in no way resembles a person that is 90 years old.

This Is The Law

By: Robert E. Lee

Recrimination in Divorce
Under a 1978 amendment to North Carolina law, a person may obtain an absolute divorce on the ground of one year's separation even though he or she has committed an offense which is, itself, legal grounds for divorce.

Thus, for example, a husband who has filed for divorce under the popular ground of separation for one year cannot now be prevented from obtaining the divorce by charging the husband with adultery, which is legal grounds for divorce.

In other states, courts have held that the purpose of the separation law is to dissolve the bonds of matrimony on the basis of a couple actually living separate and apart for the required period of the law, without regard to fault or other considerations.

In North Carolina, some husbands and wives charge their spouses with adultery or abandonment as a form of recrimination for seeking the divorce. The 1978 amendment to North Carolina law will end that practice.

The new law has abolished all the other statutory grounds for divorce as recriminatory defenses to actions for absolute divorce on the grounds of one year separation.

Bad Habits

People can die as the result of bad health habits. Most of the bad habits that lead to heart attack can be controlled, according to the booklet, "Reduce Your Risk of Heart Attack," available free from the North Carolina Heart Association, 1 Heart Circle, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Brahma Cattle Pastured In Davie

The Brahmas' docile manner is shown as two cows express a bit of friendship.

Brahma cattle are thought to be fierce and unyielding by those who view their only potential as that of a Texas rodeo animal. However, Thomas Teague of Bermuda Run has looked beyond this popular opinion to see the true possibilities of the breed.

Having been involved with Brahmas for ten years, he owns a total of 100 head of cattle situated on several farms in Burlington and Davie County.

Joe Spry of the Farmington Road pastures 10 of the cattle on his land in Davie. Though fierce in appearance with their strong stature and humped backs, the animals prove docile in manner and temperament. Spry is keeping the animals on a temporary basis in an effort to exhibit the breed to local residents.

A native animal of India, the Brahma has been proven as a superior form of cattle that is prime for cross-breeding with other cattle strains. Commonly matched with American cattle raised for beef, the strain compliments common breeds in the size and quality of beef produced.

"The Brahma is an incredible animal," said Teague, owner of the local herd, "that brings out the best in cattle."

"They have no problems with pink eye, do not bloat easily and have very little problems with calving."

"I have found that they prove to be the best breed for cross-breeding purposes in the production of beef cattle," said Teague.

In only a few years past, the Brahma was unheard of in Texas. However, today almost all cattle sold have been bred with the Brahma. Texas, cattle center of the nation, has come to realize the superior beef production of cattle crossed with the Brahma and is utilizing this potential.

Teague, president of Salem Leasing Company in Winston-Salem also owns a quarter interest in a bull, "J.M. Alephante 228-3" registered with the American Brahma Breeders Association. The interest in the bull which cost $50,000, allows Teague to use and sell the semen necessary for artificial insemination. This is used in cross-breeding and increasing the size of his full-blooded Brahma herd. Semen from this bull is sold for cross-breeding all over the world, including Venezuela and Argentina.

A new concept in cattle breeding now used within this country is embryo transplant. Only used in the country for approximately 3 years the technique allows multiple reproduction and is used by Teague on his herd.

With this technique, cows are fed fertility hormones before artificially inseminated. The drug causes the production and fertilization of approximately 2-15 eggs which remain within the donor mother for seven days.

After this time period the eggs are removed from the donor mother and implanted within reciprocal cows. Results are two to fifteen calves born at the same time with the chromosome make-up of identical parents.

"The embryo transplant theory has been perfected to the point that 60 percent of the eggs removed from the donor cow go on to produce calves within other cows," said Teague.

"This is a new concept, but I plan to use it on my herd in Davie. It is a method of artificial insemination however, that must be alternated between periods of natural birth due to the affect of the fertility hormones on the cattle."

For a county that is growing in both residential and commercial aspects, it is only natural that resources should be utilized by a man of Teague's interests. He is benefiting the county with education through subjecting to a new breed of cattle.

Through his location of a herd in Davie, he allows citizens to view for themselves the potential possessed by the herd, and at the same time is striving to relieve an already crucial beef shortage through the creation of a superior breed of beef cattle.

Considering that the breed is relatively rare to the county, Davie is special in the location of such a herd.

"I feel that it is the best possible breed to cross with other cattle," said Teague, "and hope that the strain will continue to compliment other breeds in high quality and increased beef production."

Though fierce in appearance due to the animals size and humped back, the Brahma is gentle and very tame.

N.C. Semi-Private Rates Ranks 7 In Nation

North Carolina hospitals rank 47th in the nation in the average cost of a semi-private room, according to the Health Insurance Association of America. (The average charge per day is $72.76). These figures were released today by the North Carolina Hospital Association, in support of the state's Voluntary Effort for Health Care Cost Containment. Wyatt E. Roye, state coordinator for the Voluntary Effort, stated, "Although North Carolina's hospitals have been successful in maintaining lower hospital rates through effective utilization of facilities and guidance in cost effectiveness from the American Hospital Association and The Duke Endowment, we still have a long way to go before reaching our goal of bringing the rate of increase in hospital costs to the same as that of the Gross National Produce."

The national Voluntary Effort was named in 1978 as the health care industry pledged itself to voluntarily reduce the rate of increase in health care costs by two percentage points each year. Initial successes of the Voluntary Effort in 1978 were instrumental in forestalling regulatory legislation at both state and national levels. VE coordinator Roye stated, "It is ironic that the only industry which has voluntarily worked to curb the growth of inflation is faced with the threat of bureaucratic regulatory controls." Roye continued, "The hospitals in our state have waged a successful fight on the growth of inflation in the health care industry—and at no cost to the taxpayers." "Clearly, a state regulatory agency would serve as an ineffective and tremendously expensive bureaucracy," Roye continued.

Recital On New Organ At Baptist Church Sunday

On Sunday evening, April 8, the First Baptist Church of Mocksville will present Dr. H. Max Smith in recital on the church's new 12 rank Moller pipe organ. The recital will begin at 7:45 p.m. and will feature the music of Buxtehude, Bach, Vivaldi, Smith, Lesur and Widor.

Dr. H. Max Smith has the Bachelor of Music Degree from the University of Missouri where he was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa. His Master of Music Degree was earned at the University of Oklahoma. He held the position of organist at First Baptist Church in Oklahoma City and became a member of the faculty at the University of Oklahoma. In New York City he earned the degree of Doctor of Sacred Music at Union Theological Seminary and served as organist at St. James Presbyterian Church and as organist-choirmaster of St. Paul's Methodist Church.

From 1959-1969 he was Associate Professor of Music and Artist-in-Residence, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, North Carolina. He is now Professor of Music and Chairperson, Department of Music, Appalachian State University.

Dr. Smith has done additional organ study with Carl Weinrich of Princeton University, study in composition with Norman Coke-Jepheott and Joseph Goodman of New York City, and summer study at Haarlem Organ Institute, The Netherlands.

His publications include articles for the "Church Musician", choral and organ compositions and arrangements. The public is cordially invited to attend this recital and to celebrate the arrival and installation of the new organ.

LPNs Worried About ANAs Plans

"We care about our future, and we're doing something about it," Winston-Salem Area President Edith Caldwell said recently.

"Across the nation, the American Nurses Association is trying to eliminate LPNs and hospital diploma school nurses, and the AD program as well. We think their plan for the future serves the BSN's more than it serves the public. And nurses' very existence comes from the public needs. We have to stop them!!"

Mrs. Caldwell leads the Winston-Salem Area of North Carolina Licensed Practical Nurses' which represents Davie, Davidson, Forsyth, Stokes and Surry County LPNs. "We are planning a Special Membership Meeting to give all LPNs and Practical Nursing Students a chance to get acquainted with us."

The Membership meeting will be April 5, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. at the Sears Activity Room in Hanes Mall, Winston-Salem. Special guest will be Sammy Griffin, LPN, President of NFLPNA (National Federation Licensed Practical Nurses). "We are proud to be affiliated with the national professional organization for LPNs."

The National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses has state groups in 40 states and membership in all 50. We are trying to promote professionalism for LPNs at a time when the nations health care industry is undergoing drastic changes. We've got to be heard, because LPNs are the second largest group of health providers in the United States. We deserve a place in nursing, because we are meeting the bedside needs of patients right now in every kind of health care facility there is."

The Winston-Salem Area will be working hard in the next few months to increase membership. "It's like the U.S. Congress," Mrs. Caldwell said, "We need stronger and more broad-based representation by LPNs, so we are going after them," she concluded. Interested LPNs in the area may write to us at WS AREA LPNs, P.O. Box 11245 Winston-Salem, N.C. 27106 for membership information.

Local Cadets Are Honored At Citadel

Citadel Cadets Charles Simon Brown and James Anthony Speer of Mocksville have each been named to the Commandant's Distinguished Service List at the military college.

Only these cadets "adjudged to have made the most positive contributions to their company and to the Corps of Cadets" are selected to have their names appear on the Commandant's List. Those meriting this distinction are authorized to wear the CDS ribbon and a star on the ribbon for each successive time they are named to the List.

A freshman at The Citadel, Cadet Brown is majoring in business administration and is enrolled in the Air Force ROTC program.

He is the son of Mrs. Lucille A. Brown and Mr. S.W. Brown Jr. of Mocksville.

Cadet Speer, a senior at The Citadel, holds the rank of second lieutenant within the South Carolina Corps of Cadets and serves as athletic officer of his company. He is a civil engineering major and a Naval ROTC student.

Cadet Speer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Speer of Mocksville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Smith of Route 4, Mocksville, were honored Sunday, April 1, with a reception in the fellowship hall of Cooleemee United Methodist Church, in observance of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Hosting the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hire, Mrs. Veola S. Miller and Mrs. Marie C. Padgett. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married March 31, 1929, at the Woodleaf Methodist Church parsonage with the Rev. R. L. Melton, officiating. Mrs. Mariola Crawford provided special organ music during the appointed hours.

Library Week, April 1-8

"The Library Is Filled With Success Stories" is the theme for National Library Week, April 1-8, at Davie High School. In order to help students to be more successful in their reference work, a new microfilm reader-printer has been installed in the reference room. The library has U. S. News, Newsweek, and Time Magazines on microfilm from 1956 to 1978, and students can get copies of these magazine articles when needed.

In conjunction with the National Library Week, members of the Library Club will go to elementary schools this week to tell stories at the story hour. Annette Steele and Paula Bolin will lead the story hour Wednesday at Mocksville Elementary; Patty York and Fielding Cloer will be at Pinebrook; Cindy Davis and Adrienne Smith at William R. Davie; Melissa Trivette and Donna Jones at Cooleemee; Mitch Wyatt, Lynn Keaton, Janie Poole, Jenny Smith, Evenda Smith, Paula Williams and Walter Minor will go to Shady Grove on Friday.

Throughout the week, special events will be held in the Davie High Library with emphasis on offering more and better services to students and teachers.

Mrs. Lucille Cornatzer Is Honored With Birthday Party

Mrs. Lucille C. Cornatzer was pleasantly surprised Wednesday night March 28 when she was honored with a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carlton in Advance.

The fifteen guests for the party were members of the Advance Methodist Church Choir, of which Mrs. Cornatzer has been an active member for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Carlton are also active in the choir. Others were Mrs. Polly Bailey, Mrs. Jeannette Cornatzer, Mrs. Shirley Cornatzer, Mrs. Faye Cornatzer, Mrs. Gerry Jones, Mrs. Edith Zimmerman, Ms. Janine Vogler, the Rev. Alec Alvord, Taylor Howard, Douglas Spry, Joe Talbert and church organist Mrs. Ruth Latham.

The choir had its regular rehearsal of songs for Sunday worship service and songs for the coming Easter season, plus a Cantata which is being learned for the near future. The Cantata was listened to and studied from an album which was played on the Carlton's stereo, and with Mrs. Latham at the organ.

After rehearsal Mrs. Cornatzer was invited into the dining room for refreshments. This was the time of surprise as she was greeted with the group singing "Happy Birthday". A beautifully decorated cake, made by Mrs. Shirley Cornatzer, held the lighted candles indicating Mrs. Lucille Cornatzer's age. After the traditional blowing out of candles and making a wish everyone gathered around the table for a blessing led by the Rev. Alvord. Mrs. Cornatzer observed her 70th birthday on Tuesday April 3.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth. A color scheme of yellow and green was carried out. The centerpiece was an arrangement of daffodils in a fluted, 4-footed silver bowl flanked by yellow lighted candles in crystal holders. The birthday cake and golden punch in a crystal bowl decorated the table. Crystal compotes and trays held refreshments of nuts, mints, pimento sandwiches, ritz cracker spread, bite-size bits of cheese and sausage, potato chips with an onion dip, pickles and olives. Beverage other than punch was coffee, coke and Pepsi. Mrs. Shirley Cornatzer served and cake and Ms. Janine Vogler poured punch. Mrs. Polly Bailey and Mrs. Jeannette Cornatzer also assisted in the serving.

After refreshments Mrs. Lucille and guests gathered in the living room where she was presented with gifts from choir members and from others in the community who love her.

Jr. Mauldin of Rt. 4, Mocksville displays two eggs which, according to him were laid by the same chicken. The eggs not only vary greatly in their size but are also naturally colored a light shade of green. Mauldin's "Araucanas" breed of hens also lay conventionally colored beige and white eggs, but Junior says he, "has some chickens on order that are supposed to lay red eggs". Whether or not the hens arrive here from Missouri in time for Easter remains to be seen. Mauldin began raising the peculiar breed two years ago, and has since increased his flock so that they now number more than 100. The eggs he says, "have only about half the cholesterol of a standard egg". (Photo by Garry Foster)

Annual Car Show Is April 22nd

More Marijuana Seized

Sheriff George Smith and Chief Deputy Robert Coe look over the bag of marijuana seized from Dennis James Vernon, 20, of Lewisville, March 29th. Deputy Jim Hunter arrested Vernon at Hwy. 158 and 801 for felonious possession of controlled substance (two pounds), and possession with intent to sell. Vernon was released under a $5,000 bond with court set for April 23rd. His 1978 Plymouth was confiscated, as was $1620 which he was carrying. (Photo by Garry Foster)

Who is eligible for a non-service connected death pension?

All widows, widowers and children of veterans who have had 90 days wartime service and were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable are basically eligible for a non-service connected death pension based on need. For further information contact your nearest Veterans Administration office.

Should a veteran move into a home being purchased through a GI loan before approval of the loan by the Veterans Administration? No. If this is done, the veteran runs the risk of having to either move out or find other financing in the event he cannot meet VA qualifications.

Robberies Are Reported To Police Department

The following robberies were reported during the past week to the Mocksville Police Department:

Angela Denise Lyons, and employees at Hardees, reported $28 was taken out of her pocketbook in her locker between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., March 20th. Sgt. G.W. Edwards is investigating.

Edith Sain Strader of Rt. 7 Mocksville, reported a 12 volt battery was stolen from her vehicle while parked at Millers. Mocksville Policeman A.B. Hicks is investigating.

Thomas Holman of Mocksville reported a breaking and entering and larceny. Reported missing was a television set, stereo, an undetermined amount of cash, and other items from the cafe on Depot Street. Mocksville Policeman A.B. Hicks is investigating.

Vehicle Hits Sign Post

A vehicle hit a highway sign post and wrecked off the Aubrey Merrell Road Monday about 7:40 a.m.

Involved was a 1974 Chevrolet operated by Carol Waltham Presnell, 36, of Rt. 3 Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman James M. Newton said his investigation showed that Ms. Presnell was proceeding south, ran off the roadway on the right side and struck a caution sign, and then ran into a ditch.

There were no injuries and no charges. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $150 and $25 to the sign.

Was Mocksville Tavern In Early 1800's...

Old Home Becomes Real Estate Office

Howard Realty and Insurance, owned by Julia Howard, has created a new trend in commercial office space with their restoration of the old McGuire House.

Located at the intersection of Lexington Avenue and Salisbury Street, the house has been completely remodeled to accommodate several businesses. Included are the Howard Realty offices, Davie Builders, H&R Block and several vacant offices available for occupancy on the second floor.

"We are trying to create a home like atmosphere for our clients," said Julia Howard, owner of the facility, "that will reflect warmth and relaxation."

"Our new office is quite different from traditional real estate offices in that it is set up like an actual home. It offers a much more private atmosphere and also shows clients the possible potential of any older home in need of repairs."

"The restoration serves as an example of the limitless possibilities that can be achieved through remodeling," said Mrs. Howard, "and at the same time has provided a new office for us and preserved part of local history. This is a new trend that is becoming popular nationwide with real estate firms."

A part of local history, the house dates back to the early 1800's and is considered by many to have been the site of the old Mocksville Tavern. During the restoration process timbers were discovered that were joined by wooden pegs with each log individually numbered. Deeds of ownership date back to 1884 when the site was sold by J.D. Frost to Terry Hellard. Other owners throughout the years were Naomi Hellard, 1905; E.P. Bradley, 1914; and Mrs. James McGuire, 1919.

It is believed that the tavern was enclosed within the house during the many additions made onto the original site by owners.

In 1919, Mrs. James McGuire purchased the home from E.P. Bradley and moved her family consisting of two daughters: Jane, age 6 and Mary age 4, into it.

The original house had seven rooms and Mrs. McGuire rented two upstairs bedrooms to school teachers in need of a place to stay. Among the many boarders responding to the hospitality of the McGuires were Miss Sally Hunter, 6th grade teacher at Mocksville and Mrs. W.F. Robinson.

Mary and Jane McGuire lived in the house until 1956 when they moved into their present home located on Jericho Road. Recalling memories of Mocksville and their home during early childhood Jane McGuire said, "There were no paved sidewalks or streets in Mocksville at the time and Lexington Road was more or less a lane at the time."

"Electric lights and running water were unheard of in the town. The well that we drew water from also served two other houses owned by J.L. Ward and Mrs. Sue Thompson," she said.

"Mocksville was quite different then than the way it appears today," said Miss McGuire. Now the house seems to be situated in the heart of the town but in the early 1900's we felt as if located away from the hustle and bustle of city life."

"Our house always seemed to be a gathering place for children, she said, "and almost every evening we would gather on the front steps to tell ghost stories."

"The town square wasn't paved as it is today, and I remember walking in mud so deep that my galoshes would stick when I took a step. Things have really changed in the town from when my sister and I lived in the house.

The house remained in the McGuire possession until sold in 1977 to Julia Howard. After moving to their country home in 1956 the house was rented up until the date of its sale.

"Mary and I feel very good about the restoration of the house," said Jane McGuire. "We thought at the time of sale to Mrs. Howard that it would be leveled. It is good to see that it has been restored, because the wear and tear of the years had taken its toll."

Work on the house began in November 1977 and was completed January 15, 1979. Structural changes have remained minimal consisting mainly of the removal of walls between rooms to provide larger office spaces.

Howard Realty and Insurance has been in operation since 1970, operating out of an office located at 282½ Salisbury Street. Reflecting on the move Julia Enjoying her spacious office, Mrs. Howard likes the homey atmosphere that the building provides.

Howard said, "We felt that the business had grown to the point that the need for a larger facility was necessary."

"Commercial lots are scarce and very expensive and when we purchased this site our original thoughts were to level the building and start again," said Mrs. Howard. But after examining the building we saw that if we spent our dollars wisely we could not only provide a new office but also preserve a part of local history."

"The house was restored to its present condition with $30,000 which is much cheaper than a new facility could have been built," she said.

Very few structural changes were made and every part of the original timber that could be saved was put to use. Decorated in the fashion of Williamsburg, all of the original light fixtures, door knobs, doors and windows were cleaned and replaced. Also the stair case greeting visitors at the front entrance was left, adding to the feeling of a home-like atmosphere. And to top it all, the home is now energy efficient.

"It was a giant undertaking but we are very proud of our office that provides us with over 2400 sq. ft. of space," said Mrs. Howard. "But I must admit that there were times that I thought it would never look as it does today."

"I get a very good feeling when I look at the house," she said, and remember the hard work that made it as it is today."

All of the efforts of Howard Realty and Insurance will not go unnoticed as citizens will be able to tour the building during grand opening ceremonies to be held Sunday, April 8. Open from 2:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m. the office will be open to the public for tour. Door prizes will be awarded and refreshments served to those in attendance.

Craig Chapman designed and built many decorative wooden pieces for the office. Included is this clock enhanced with gold letters spelling Howard Realty.

Mrs. Barry McBride acts as receptionist for the firm.

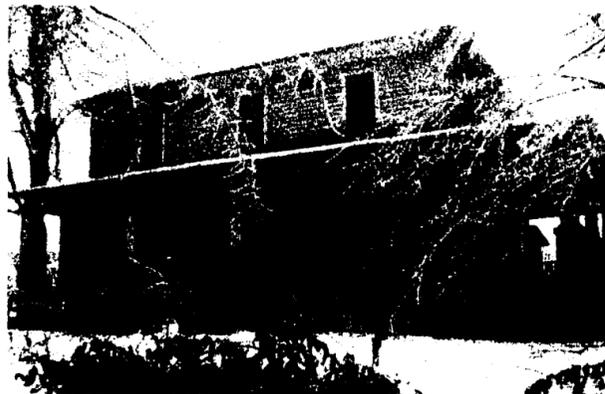

Rhonda Bullabough relaxes in the spacious reception area that greets clients upon entrance.

Ann Wands, residential manager of Howard Realty and Insurance, enjoys the privacy that her spacious office provides.

Mrs. James McGuire purchased the house in 1916.

The McGuire house as it appeared in 1916 when purchased.

The wear and tear of the years had taken its tolls as shown in this photograph taken before the start of restoration procedures.

After many months of restoration the house now looks like new and provides over 2400 sq. ft. of office space.

Social Security

Most all disabled people, whether or not they are eligible for social security disability benefits, may receive vocation rehabilitation services. People who apply for and meet the basic requirements for social security disability benefits are considered for possible rehabilitation services. But, people who do not apply or who do not meet the basic requirements for benefits may still be eligible for these services. People in this latter group can contact the North Carolina Rehabilitation Agency, 323 N. Main Street, Salisbury, N.C. 28144.

Rehabilitation services available include:

--Counseling and guidance in working out a plan which may include achieving self-support.

--Medical examination and help, possibly including surgical or hospital services to reduce or remove the disability.

--Physical aids such as artificial limbs, braces, hearing aids, eyeglasses, or other devices.

--Job training may be provided in a vocation school, college or university, or a rehabilitation facility.

--Job placement and follow-up to help the disabled person find the right job and help him or her adjust to a new occupation.

More information about rehabilitation services can be obtained at the Salisbury social security office 105 Corriher Avenue, 28144.

I'm a student but I'm hoping to get a job next summer. If I do, how fast can I get a social security card?

Generally it takes about 6 weeks to get a social security card. That's why it is a good idea to apply for a card as soon as possible instead of waiting to see if you find a job. If you are 18 or older, you must apply in person at any social security office. Because you'll need some proofs of age and identity, it's a good idea to call first and find out exactly what documents you have to bring in with you.

I'm 65 and I've been getting a small social security check since I was 62. My neighbor told me I can also get supplemental security income checks. Is she right?

If your only income is a small social security payment, and you don't have much in the way of resources to fall back on, you may be able to get SSI payments. SSI is for needy people 65 or older, or blind, or disabled. If you think you may be eligible, you should get in touch with any social security office as soon as possible.

I have a fulltime job, and recently took a part-time job to help us get along. I'm paying social security taxes on my regular job, and now my part-time employer is taking social security taxes out of my pay. Can he do this?

Not only can he, but the law says he must withhold social security taxes from your earnings. However, at the end of the year, if you've overpaid social security taxes, you can ask for a refund when you file your Federal Income tax return.

My mother is 67 and her only income is a small social security check. I think she could get SSI payments, but she's afraid to apply because she thinks her home will be taken away from her. Can she lose her home if she gets SSI checks?

No, if your mother is eligible in all other respects, the fact that she owns the home she lives in won't keep her from getting monthly SSI payments. And the Federal Government won't put a lien on her home because she gets these payments. So if she thinks she's eligible for SSI, she should get in touch with any social security office as soon as possible.

My mother who is 70 is completely dependent on her social security widow's payments. She tells me that Medicare hospital insurance deductible has been raised again--to $100. I'm sure there are many elderly people who don't even get that much in their monthly social security checks. How can they be expected to pay that amount if they need hospital care? And how do you justify raising the amount of the deductible every year?

We share your concern about the increase in the amount of the hospital insurance deductible under Medicare. However, this figure is based on the average cost of a day's stay in a hospital. With the continuing rise in the cost of hospital care, the deductible has had to be adjusted to meet the increase.

Allen's Flower Shop and Grocery Store, a Cooleemee landmark for more than half a century.

Entrance to the store building still bears some of the early advertisements of years past.

Minnie And Clarence Allen--

57 Years Serving Cooleemee

Storekeeper, florist, Notary Public, insurance agent, Justice of the Peace...and quite a lady.

These are just a few of the things Mrs. Minnie Allen (Miss Minnie as she is most often called) has been so well known for around Cooleemee for more than half a century.

She and her husband of 57 years, Clarence Allen, opened "Allen's Grocery" in March 1933, the day President Roosevelt was inaugurated. Miss Minnie said the original old store building is around 100 years old. She recalled that the building had previously housed "Peoples Store" and George Winecoff later opened a market. The late Swadie Miller had his shoe shop in the building just before they bought it.

They built an additional three rooms and back porch to the original building for living quarters and partitioned off three rooms in the store for additional space.

She said her husband a World War I veteran, was working with a paving company helped build the road from Greasy Corner to Cooleemee. However, when they bought the store Clarence quit the paving company and went to work in the Cooleemee Mill. He helped her in the store after work and on weekends.

When they first opened the grocery store there were shelves which lined all walls. They stocked everything from "toothpicks to higs and cow feed".

She kept the store well stocked but after about 10 to 15 years "credit just about broke me - everybody bought on credit and said 'I'll pay you payday'". She even cashed in some insurance policies to pay her own creditors. She says she then became an insurance agent and wrote policies on life, health, fire and automobile, and began closing the store until after lunch each day.

She served the townspeople as a Notary Public for 39 years until her eyesight failed and she was forced to give it up in the early 1960s.

She decided to open the flower shop and for many years, until Ridenhour's Florist opened in the Cooleemee Shopping Center, Miss Minnie had the only florist in the Cooleemee area. She says, with a great deal of pride, that she is still the only one in Davie County with a certificate from the National Landscape Institute on Flower arranging and Floristry.

The flower shop "made ten times more profit than the store". Her sister, Mrs. Sadie Howard, has helped her off and on since she first added the flower shop. Due to her health, Miss Minnie no longer handles live flowers, but her sister is still making an abundance of artificial arrangements, especially cemetery pieces. And she added that she has plenty for Easter this year "at special prices."

"I started with a little refrigerator in the kitchen," she recalled, "and threw away more weathers than I kept...because they didn't look just like I wanted. I did a lot of practicing at first."

She said she later had to have a larger refrigerator box. Then she added two reach-in boxes and later a walk-in box and a reach-in box.

"At one time I had four other people helping me and we worked many-a-day all day long and all night."

Her husband was still in the mill and he helped out also. Prior to leaving the paving company she said his job took them all over the United States, coast to coast, and they lived in most all major cities before settling down in Cooleemee.

Miss Minnie was a Justice of the Peace for about five years and here again, she was forced to give it up because of her eyes. She had to have surgery for cataracts behind her eyes. She recalled that the surgeon had to literally take her eyes out of the sockets, removed the cataracts and put them back. She was left totally blind in one eye and almost blind in the other.

Miss Minnie says she has cheated death about three times in her life and she is still quite active. Prior to her eye surgery, she was almost burned to death in a fire in the store. She was cleaning some tile with gasoline which ignited and about half her body was severely burned. She spent three months in the hospital and another three months recuperating at home.

Her most recent tragedy came about 12-15 years ago when she had face cancer. Her jawbone had to be removed from about the mid-point of her chin to her left ear. This has left her with a constant pain. Doctors say the only way to completely eliminate this pain is to remove this side of her face. Miss Minnie says she'll live with this and has accepted the fact that she will have to have pain pills the rest of her life.

Sometime following her surgery, she had the misfortune of stumbling and fell into one of the showcases cracking the other jaw bone...But this didn't get her down. In spite of the numerous scars on her body, Miss Minnie still considers herself a pretty lucky lady.

However, she has recently made the decision to phase out the grocery store portion of the business and plans to close it by May 1st.

"As near blind as I am and as crippled up as Clarence is, it (the store) is just too much for us."

She does plan to keep her flower shop and deal in artificial arrangements, with her sister's help. At one time, she told how she and Clarence would carve almost any object possible from styrofoam for their floral pieces. They did everything from trucks and trains to all kinds of carpentry tools. "Most anything anyone wanted, we'd try to do it."

In addition to all her other duties, she said she used to even have a flower garden and a vegetable garden each year.

"I've served the public for many many years and enjoyed doing it," she reminisced, "even with all it's aggravation, worry and troubles."

But she says time has come to give it all up, with the exception of the flower shop. They still have their home in the rear of the store building and as long as Mrs. Howard is willing to arrange the flowers, Miss Minnie plans to continue a portion of the business she loved for more than 50 years.

Although she doesn't see well, Miss Minnie can still tell a lot by the feel of the artificial flower arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen used to make many things such as the locomotive and guitar from styrofoam for use in the flower shop.

Some action from the men's game included (l-r) John Parker going in for a lay-up, Billy Wall snatching a pass away from the hands of his opponents and Harry Lee Howell attempting a sort of "back hand, turn-around" shot to try to add two more points to alumni lead.

Old School Spirits Haunt Davie Gym

There were a lot of old familiar faces around the Davie High gym last Friday night, both on the basketball court and in the bleachers, as the Davie Athletic Booster Association tipped off the first annual Alumni Basketball Game.

The action started at 7:30, with alumni women's game. The orange women's team was coached by Jack Ward; among the players who donned orange jerseys were: Alice Barnette, Janice Markland, Mitzi Carter, Gina Howell, Rhonda Bullabough, Paula Barnhardt, Marsha Groce, Jean Cornatzer, and Patsy Kiger. Players on the black team included: Audrey Wagner Deadmon, Patsy Crenshaw, Carolyn Boger, Debbie Burton Miller, Patricia Dwiggins, Debra Howell, Hilda Harpe Potts, and Deanna Thomas. The black team was coached by Bob Henry, and after the final buzzer sounded they emerged victors.

Action in the men's game began with five players from one of the oldest Davie High teams, one of which travelled over 300 miles to play, facing some of the best talent that the men's Davie High underclassmen could muster.

Starting the game for the alumni were Joe Whitlock, John Grimes, Fred Pierce, Carl Jacobs and "Mole" Spry. The alumni were coached by Bob Butts, a former Davie coach in the late fifties and early sixties.

The opposing team was composed of current Davie High students. A partial listing consists of young men like Randy Athey, Jerry West, Perry Collette, Bryan Linville, Barry Chunn and Davie High coach Paul Drechsler.

The young team however proved no match for the older but not slower alumni. The older team had evidently practiced together quite a bit, and when it was all over they too emerged victorious.

Booster club spokesmen stated that over $1,000 was made off the game, out of which a substantial donation will be made to the Davie High Band for their upcoming Florida trip.

"1,000 Pointers"

The Davie Athletic Boosters Association presented each Davie High player who has scored 1000 career points with a plaque during half-time activities last Saturday night. Joe Whitlock (left) representing the boosters presented awards to (l-r) Randall Ward, Janice Markland, Kathy Hutchens, Deanna Thomas, and Jill Amos. Not present to receive plaques were James "Jingles" James and Dwayne Grant.

4-H Club News

CLARKSVILLE
The Clarksville Senior 4-H Club met March 26, 1979. The meeting was called to order by Rita White. Pledges were led by Melissa Walker. Terry Reavis had devotions.

Old Business was discussed. Terry Reavis gave a report on the Youth Legislative Assembly held in Raleigh the weekend of March 9-11, 1979 which she and Renee Bracken attended. Terry Reavis and Rita White gave a report on the Northwest District Junior Leader Retreat held March 23-25, 1979. Kaye Boles gave a report on the 4-H Baking Contest which she and Terry Reavis entered from the Clarksville Senior 4-H Club. The New Business that was discussed was helping the Clarksville Junior 4-H Club get started again, making sunshine baskets for shut-ins in our community, having a roller skating trip for members of the Clarksville Senior 4-H Club, helping get donations for the Jayettes "BIB" Operation, and donating some money to the Davie High Band for their trip to Florida.

Doug Lee gave a program on giving a demonstration. He discussed the possible areas in which you could give a demonstration. Doug Lee also answered questions the group had on giving a demonstration and encouraged everyone to give one.

Refreshments were served by Renee Bracken. Everyone enjoyed them and the meeting was then adjourned.

The members of the Clarksville Senior 4-H Club would like to invite anyone ages 12-18, who would like to join or just find out what 4-H is about to attend our next meeting April 23, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. at the William R. Davie Volunteer Fire Department. Terry Reavis, Reporter.

Hits Scarce For Davie Nine

Hits have been scarce for the Davie High boys' baseball team in its last three games. And as a result of collecting only a total of 6 hits in these contests, the War Eagles went down to three straight defeats by being shut out in each game.

On March 20 the War Eagles were defeated 6-0 in a game against Asheboro at Asheboro. They got only 3 hits in this game. The local boys went down to defeat 3-0 in a game against North Davidson at the North Davidson field on March 28, in which they got only 1 hit. And on March 29 the Davie team hosted North Rowan at Rich Park in Mocksville and collected only two hits in a losing cause.

The Davie boys now have a 1-3 North Piedmont Conference mark and a 2-4 overall record for the current season.

Upcoming games for Davie include a tilt with West Rowan at Rich Park in Mocksville at 4:00 p.m. April 4, a contest with conference opponent Lexington on April 6 at Lexington and a conference matchup with Thomasville on April 10 at Rich Park in Mocksville at 4:00 p.m.

"We just need some hitting. Our pitching has been really consistent and our defense has been really good at times," observed Davie coach Ken Boger after the three recent losses.

In the game against Asheboro, Davie pitcher Bart Reece fired a 7-hitter and gave up only 3 earned runs as Davie went down to defeat. First baseman David Barnhardt had two of Davie's hits in that game -- both singles.

Against North Davidson, Reece hurled a fine 3-hitter and lost again when the War Eagles managed to collect only one hit.

The game with North Rowan saw the score standing at 0-0 going into the 7th inning when North picked up its two runs and Davie was unable to score to avoid defeat. In this game Scott Pratt was the losing pitcher for Davie. Barry Whitlock turned in a fine defensive game at second base for the War Eagles.

East Davie Jaycees To Sponsor Benefit Golf Tournament

The East Davie Jaycees will sponsor their Second Annual Business and Industry for Cystic Fibrosis Golf Tournament on April 28 and 29 at the Tanglewood Golf Course.

The format of the tournament will be a four man team bunny hop, with the first day of play on the PGA course and the second round on the East course. Based on thirty teams, trophies, and prizes will be awarded in excess of $1200.

The entry fee per team is $160 which covers green fees, carts, general tournament expense, and Cystic Fibrosis donation. Promotional consideration will be given to business interested in donating merchandise, sponsoring trophies, or Cystic Fibrosis donations.

For further information please contact any East Davie Jaycee or call Henry Johnson at (919) 996-5621.

Davie Girls Softball Team Remains Undefeated

With wins over North Davidson and North Rowan in recent days, the Davie High girls' softball team remains undefeated this season.

On March 28, the Davie girls defeated North Davidson 6-0, in a game played at Rich Park in Mocksville. Last Thursday the War Eagles traveled to North Rowan to capture a 21-2 victory.

The wins brought the local girls' record this season to 5-0. Davie will travel to West Rowan Wednesday to play. They will host Lexington in a North Piedmont contest at the Davie field at 4:00 p.m. Friday, April 6, and will journey to Thomasville for a conference game there on Tuesday, April 10.

In a win over North Davidson, Davie pitcher Angela Riddle hurled a one-hitter, while contributing two hits for the winning cause.

Davie collected nine hits in the North Davidson win. Lori Young of Davie had 2 hits and Deanna Thomas, Garlene Bowers, Renae Jones, Daphne Beck and Cindy Lanier each added a hit for the win, in addition to Riddle's two.

The Davie slugfest against North Rowan had the War Eagles getting 19 hits, compared to 6 for their opponents. The hits for Davie included 4 from Lori Young, 3 each from Angela Riddle and Sharron Dulin, 2 apiece from Daphne Beck and Renae Jones and one hit each from Winona Gregory, Vickie Brown, Cindy Lanier, Dena Schreast and Garlene Bowers.

Angela Riddle was the winning pitcher in the game with North Rowan.

Davie committed 3 errors and North Rowan had 5 miscues in the contest.

Packed Stands View Drag Races

Both the stands and pits were packed with fans Friday night at Farmington Dragway while 115 dragsters gave them their money's worth with some extremely close runs.

Mike Boyles of King, the reigning IHRA super-stock champion, equaled the national super-stock record of 7.800 seconds when he put down the Plymouth hemi of Sonny Shipman of Burlington in the modified super-stock division. Boyles was behind the wheel of the familiar "Charlie Brown" Chevy wagon and prior to the victory, had also led qualifying with an elapsed time of 7.807 seconds, just 7-1000 of a second off the national record which netted him a bonus of $50. He picked up a purse of $300 for his win.

Semi-finalists in modified super-stock action were Calvin Thompson of Stoneville in a Mustang and Arnold Hinson of Lenoir in a Camaro.

The pro-street division win went to the Mustang of Arthur Bryant of Kernersville over the Corvette of Lance Dupree of Lexington.

In modified-street it was Richard Hewitt of Galax, Va. in a Camaro getting the victory over the Nova of Wayne Myers of Clemmons. It was Hewitt's first appearance at the 1/4 mile Farmington facility.

Tommy Burrows of King captured the super-street division win with his Mustang nipping the Plymouth of Donald Thomas of Mt. Airy. Last season Burrows won five straight super-street races and may be on his way to doing it again this season at Farmington.

Although Thomas was defeated by Burrows in super-street, his Plymouth still came through with a win when he loaned it to Gay Nell Puckett of Ararat, Va. for the womens derby who promptly came through with a victory for herself.

In the trophy street race, a new division instituted at Farmington, the win went to Winston-Salems' Ray Burnett.

The dragway is now in the PDRA (Professional Drag Racers Assn.) and track officials said drivers are showing a keen interest by signing up as members with the organization at each race.

Live Coverage Of Masters

CBS Sports, marking 24 years of providing exclusive live coverage of the two closing rounds of the Masters Tournament, will broadcast the prestigious golf competition Saturday, April 14, and Sunday, April 15, from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. on WBT, Channel 3.

On Friday, April 13, at 11:30 PM, CBS Sports will broadcast highlights of early-round action in the 72-hole competition.

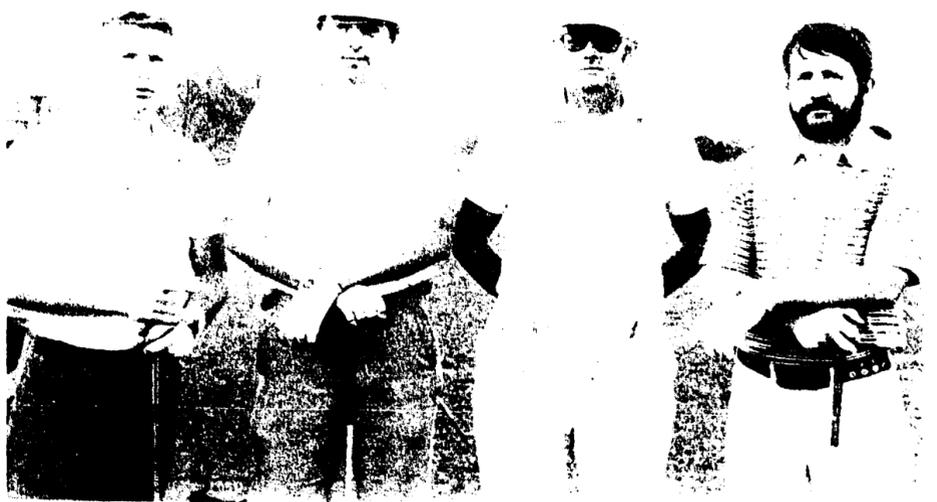

With a select field of international professional and amateur golfers, which is expected to include defending champion Gary Player, the broadcasts from Augusta National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga., will include play on the 440-yard, par 4, 9th hole; the 485-yard, par 4, 10th hole; the 445-yard, par 4, 11th hole; the par 3, 155-yard, 12th hole; the par 5, 485-yard, 13th hole; the par 4, 420-yard, 14th hole; the par 5, 520-yard, 15th hole; the par 3, 190-yard, 16th hole; the par 4, 400-yard, 17th hole; and the majestic, uphill, dogleg right, par 4, 420-yard, 18th hole.

If there should be a tie for first place after 72 holes of play, those tied will at once begin a sudden-death playoff.

Other past champions of the Masters who are expected to comprise the select field include Tommy Aaron, 1973; Charles Coody, 1971; Billy Casper Jr., 1970; George Archer, 1969; Arnold Palmer, 1955, 1960, 1962, and 1964 titleholder; and Jack Nicklaus, the only player to successfully defend the Masters title (1965-1966), and the first Five Star Champion of the Masters Tournament.

WBT's Jim Thacker, Vin Scully, Pat Summerall, Jack Whitaker, Ben Wright, Frank Gieber and Ken Venturi will be the commentators for CBS Sports.

Davie-Rowan Auxiliary Honors Doctors

The Auxiliary to the Davie-Rowan County Medical Society joined with other medical auxiliaries of the Southern Medical Society to observe Doctor's Day Friday.

March 30 was chosen as Doctor's Day to commemorate one of the great discoveries in medicine. On that date 137 years ago, Dr. Crawford W. Long administered the first ether anesthetic creating a significant step in medical progress.

The first Doctor's Day was observed March 30, 1933, by the Barrow County Medical Society of Georgia. Its observance was introduced to the Women's Auxiliary to the Southern Medical Association in 1935, and has been observed each year since.

In observance of that day, the Rowan County auxiliary held a dinner-dance at the Country Club of Salisbury Friday. After the meal, Mrs. John O. Reynolds, an officer of the auxiliary, welcomed members and guests.

Mrs. Bob Field, chairman of the history committee, made the following comments:

"Several years ago the North Carolina State Medical Auxiliary asked the county auxiliaries to write a history of medicine in their counties. The Rowan-Davie Medical Auxiliary voted to do this, and approved the following committee: Mrs. W.O. Black, Mrs. William M. Long and Mrs. Thomas G. Thurston 11 with Mrs. Roy A. Agner Jr. and I co-chairman.

"We had the help of some wonderful people at The Salisbury Post, The Rowan Public Library, and the Davie County Library, and any number of individuals including Professor Martha Morehead, Mr. James S. Brawley and Dr. Frank B. Marsh.

"And so tonight this Doctor's Day evening, 1979, the Rowan County Medical Auxiliary honors you, the men and women of medicine, and have dedicated their book, Rowan and Davie Counties' Story of Medicine 1753-1976, to you."

Mrs. Field presented a copy of the book to Dr. Richard Jordan, president of the Rowan County Medical Society.

Dr. Jordan recognized the following doctors attending the event who have practiced medicine 30 years or longer: Dr. Kyle Black, Dr. Bob Field, Dr. Cullen Hall, Dr. William Long, Dr. Frank Marsh, Dr. Harvey Robertson, Dr. Jay Smith and Dr. Clyde Shinn. Their cumulative service represents more than 300 years of medical practice in Rowan and Davie counties.

After the program, doctors and guests danced to the music of the Ziggy Horowitz Ensemble of Charlotte.

Company Formed

For Norelco Line

J.J. Hibbits, formerly president of the Cooper D. Cass Company here, has formed Word Power, Incorporated to sell and service the Norelco line of dictation equipment. Executive, sales and service personnel responsible for dictating equipment at Cass, will join Word Power. The new firm will handle Norelco's operations in the Carolinas, previously handled by Cass.

Norelco markets a full line of dictation and transcription equipment, ranging from small hand-held units to large central systems accessible from anywhere in the world.

Word Power will control one of the best established business products operations in the Carolinas, with sales and service centers for Winston-Salem, Greensboro, High Point, Raleigh, Charlotte, Hickory and Asheville, N.C. and Charleston, Columbia and Greenville, S.C. Word Power branches will operate at all former Cass markets. The firm will be headquartered at I-40 and Highway 66, Kernersville, N.C.

F. Gordon Lindley, formerly controller at Cooper D. Cass will manage Word Power's administration and financial functions. Charles Sanders will be Word Power's regional vice president in Raleigh.

Word Power's district managers will be Jerry Oliver in Greensboro and Mike Warth in High Point.

"Our acquisition of Cooper D. Cass' Norelco business will help us improve service by allowing us to specialize in the dictation end of the word processing business," says Hibbits. "Our sales and service people can now focus their full attention on our customers' dictation needs."

Only one variety of mushroom is grown commercially in the U.S. It can range from dark brown to pure white. Differences are negligible, but the darker ones are firmer, better for skewering, less easily bruised and—some believe—more flavorful.

The Yemen Arab Republic - One Of The Most Isolated Countries

The Yemens, North and South, have long been among the world's most isolated countries-by geographic chance and cultural choice.

Tucked under Saudi Arabia on the southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula, the Yemens share a common religion, Islam, and a common tongue, Arabic, but they have never been unified under a single ruler. Some of the disputes between them trace back centuries.

Now those disputes, and the Yemens themselves, have attracted attention because of the strategic location of the nations, commanding the southern strait into the Red Sea and the shipping lane to the Suez Canal. Events there could influence the entire oil-rich peninsula.

The last two decades have been marked by internal strife in both countries, and by conflict between them. An attempt to unify the Yemens in 1972 failed. Since then old differences have widened: South Yemen, or the People's Democratic Republic of Yemen, has taken a strong pro-Soviet turn while North Yemen, or the Yemen Arab Republic, has looked increasingly to Saudi Arabia and the West.

Events reached a flash point last June when the prime minister of North Yemen, Col. Ahmed al-

Ghashmi, was killed by the explosion of a bomb carried in a brief case by a South Yemeni ostensibly on a peace mission. Soon after, a coup disposed of South Yemen's leader, Salim Robaya Ali, who was murdered.

Both North and South Yemen in recent years adopted "republican" forms of government. North Yemen in 1962 threw off the last of a series of monarchs who had ruled it since the ninth century. South Yemen, formerly the British Crown Colony of Aden, declared itself independent in 1967.

Each country calls itself a republic, but the governments are far from democratic. South Yemen is better described as an authoritarian, almost totalitarian state, guided since 1969 by the radical National Liberation Front.

In North Yemen, military officers dominate government and politics. The government suffers from age-old divisiveness caused by deep mistrust between the country's two Islamic groups, the Zaydi community of the Shia sect and the Shafai community of the Sunni sect.

The landscape of North Yemen is dramatic-and surprising to those who think of the Arabian Peninsula as a sandy waste. Along the Red Sea coast stretches the Tihama, a hot, humid desert where the Semitic population of the rest of the country is augmented by people of Negroid descent.

East of this coastal plain are mountains that average 9,000 feet in elevation. They taper off into interior plateaus and valleys that green in the spring and summer with cotton and tobacco fields.

The deep ravines and sharp, steep ridges of the mountains make it difficult to reach the interior, and have provided a formidable barrier to outsiders throughout the centuries.

More than 6 million people occupy the country, a full third of the total population of the entire Arabian Peninsula. Most of the people are scattered in villages and towns, working as farmers and sharecroppers.

The climate of some interior regions is considered the best in southern Arabia. The average year-round temperature in Sana, the capital, is 63 F.

The area attracted settlers in ancient times when it was a land of prosperity. Three thousand years ago it was called "Arabia Felix"-happy Arabia-because of its fertility. Caravans organized by the Kingdom of Saba, once ruled by the biblical Queen of Sheba, moved frankincense and myrrh northward to the Mediterranean as well as goods from India and the Horn of Africa.

By the fourth century A.D. the commercial basis of the region declined. Even the once-booming frankincense market evaporated when the Roman Empire banned cremations and the religious rituals that consumed the substance.

Today, economic life is primitive by world standards. At the time of its independence 17 years ago, North Yemen had no formal government or public administration, no school system, no local currency or banking system, and almost no electricity or health and sewage facilities. Since then some progress has been made, although literacy, for example, is only 13 percent.

Malnutrition and disease remain major problems, reducing life expectancy to only 45 years. Many families subsist on bread. Vegetables are eaten, but the Yemeni method of boiling them for a long time robs them of much of their vitamin content.

The economy has had a shot in the arm from oil-not North Yemen's, but Saudi Arabia's. As many as 1 million North Yemeni citizens work in Saudi oilfields, sending back more than $1 billion a year in remittances.

But even though per capita income has risen to about $390, North Yemen is still one of the world's poorest nations. And the new relative prosperity has brought problems: Inflation is averaging 35 percent.

Millions of dollars in aid have flowed into North Yemen over the years from a variety of countries, including the United States and Saudi Arabia. As of December 1978 the World Bank had lent North Yemen $148 million for development.

Modern industry is in its infancy. Textiles, using locally grown cotton, are the leading industry. There is no oil, and the only commercial mineral being exploited is salt, about 100,000 tons produced annually from a deposit at al-Salif.

Until the 18th century North Yemen was the source of nearly all the world's coffee. Mocha, the Yemeni coffee, derives its name from the country's once-prosperous coffee port, now almost a ghost town. Hodeida, north of Mocha, has taken over as the country's chief port.

Land that once yielded coffee now is likely to produce qat, a shrub whose leaves release a stimulant when chewed. Qat consumption-which takes place at a daily communal "chew" that lasts for hours-has increased so that now the average Yemeni spends 30 percent of his income on it.

As a merchant in Sana put it, "A man can go a long time without food or water, but not one day without his qat."

The basic unit of North Yemeni society is the extended family rather than the individual. A family's status is partly based on economic worth, and membership, established at birth, is essentially permanent.

Social standing is indicated by status symbols such as the curved dagger worn by men. Members of the highest group, for instance, wear the dagger on the right side of the belt.

The most important cultural and political event in the Yemens' history occurred in the seventh century-the coming of Islam. Islam still guides nearly every facet of life in North Yemen.

In the ninth century settlers in North Yemen established a state under the Rassid dynasty. Successive monarchs, known as Imams, based their absolute rule on a claim to descent from the Prophet Muhammad. Although the area was conquered by and became part of the Ottoman Empire, the Imams retained considerable internal autonomy that lasted until the second half of the 20th century.

Loyalty to the Imams died hard. As recently as the 1960s, a civil war raged for eight years between defenders of the imamate and advocates of the new republican government.

YEMENI shepherd and his flock of sheep head for home in the terraced Highlands region of the Yemen Arab Republic, or North Yemen. Sheep, used for fiber and meat, are raised along with a variety of crops including cotton and cereals. Agriculture provides most of the jobs in North Yemen, but not enough food to feed the entire country.

BEARING a World War I vintage rifle and wearing a traditional Yemeni dagger, an elderly war veteran guards a house in a village of the Yemen Arab Republic, or North Yemen. The curved dagger, known as a jambiyah, is carried by most Yemeni men as a status symbol and is rarely drawn in anger.

A total of 16,666 feeder pigs were sold on 12 state graded sales during week of March 26, according to the Market News Service of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. Prices were mostly $6.75 to $11.75 lower per hundred pounds. U.S. 1-2 pigs weighing 40-50 pounds averaged $112.14 per hundred pounds with No. 3s $101.65; 50-60 pound 1-2s averaged $98.14, No. 3s $86.56; 60-70 pound 1-2s $87.83, No. 3s $77.58; 70-80 pound 1-2s $75.69 per hundred pounds with No. 3s $65.74.

At weekly livestock auctions held within the state the week of March 26, prices for slaughter cows were 75 cents to $2.75 higher and feeder calves steady to $6. lower. Utility and commercial slaughter cows brought $50.75 to $80.75 per hundred pounds. Good and Choice veal calves $89 to $115; Good and Choice slaughter steers above 800 pounds $64.50 to $71.50; Good slaughter heifers above 700 pounds $80 to $87.50; Good feeder steers 300-600 pounds $83.50 to $105 and Good feeder heifers 300-500 pounds $71.50 to $87; feeder cows $47 to $63 per hundred pounds. Baby calves brought $50 to $132.50 per head. Market hogs brought mostly $42.65 to $46.20 and sows 300-600 pounds $34.00 to $41.20 per hundred weight.

Market hogs at daily cash buying stations about the state week of March 26 ranged mostly $44.00 to $48.00.

Corn prices were 2 to 5 cents per bushel higher and soybeans 2 to 11 cents higher through Thursday, March 29, compared to the same period of the previous week. No. 2 yellow shelled corn ranged mostly $2.82 to $2.68 per bushel in the Eastern part of the state and $2.69 to $2.75 in the Piedmont. No. 1 yellow soybeans ranged mostly $7.74 to $7.84 in the East and $7.35 to $7.72 in the Piedmont; No. 2 red winter wheat $3.50 to $3.80; No. 2 red oats $1.09 to $1.10 per bushel; milo $3. to $4.25 per hundred. New crop prices quoted for harvest delivery corn $2.42 to $2.50, soybeans $6.85 to $6.99, Wheat $3.07 to $3.19, Oats $1.09 to $1.11.

Sweet potato prices were firm this week with shippers seeking orders for the Easter Holiday period. Supplies are moderate and demand moderate. Fifty pound cartons of cured U.S. No. 1s on March 29 were quoted at $6.25 to $7. with a few $8.

Egg prices were 2 to 5 cents per dozen lower with the 5 cent decline on large and medium sizes compared to those of the previous week. Supplies were fully adequate. Demand was fair. The North Carolina weighted average price quoted on Thursday, March 29 for small lot sales of cartoned grade A eggs delivered to stores was 78.84 cents per dozen for Large, Medium 69.71 and Small 47.90.

The broiler-fryer market is higher for next week's trading. Supplies are moderate. Demand is good. The North Carolina dock weighted average price is 48.13 cents per pound for less than truckloads picked up at processing plants during the week of April 1. This week 7.5 million birds were processed in North Carolina with an average live bird weight of 4.16 pounds per bird on March 23.

Heavy type hens were steady this past week. Supplies were moderate to short and demand moderate. Heavy type hen prices were 28 cents per pound at the farm with buyers loading.

Cooleemee Students Observe Library Week

In observance of National Library Week this week, special activities have been planned for students of the Cooleemee Elementary School.

Book marks were given to each student on Monday to kick off the special activities. Some suites planned a visit to the Davie Public Library and one day was set aside as a special music day. Mrs. Scott, Media Center Director, told stories with music and the Davie High Choral Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Lettie Smith performed as did the Elementary Band, under the direction of Mr. Staley. A couple of high school students also held a special story time in the Media Center.

The week was concluded with a movie "Robert McCloskey" followed by a tea for the entire student body on Friday. The highlight of the week was a visit from Mrs. Ozell Freeman, teacher turned writer, of Salisbury who visited the school Tuesday and talked with the students about her book "North Carolina: The Goodliest Land". A fourth grade teacher at Wiley Elementary School, Ozell Freeman says she wrote the book but her students "gave me the ideas, and they put it together."

In the meantime, "The Goodliest

Land" is attracting attention beyond Wiley School. The state department of public instruction has included it in their list of resource materials and various people around the state, who have been shown copies, have given it high praise, suggesting that it be published in a larger edition so that others may use it. She's even been sent a list of publishers to contact.

Mrs. Freeman's book was published with a "mini-grant" from the Salisbury city schools to guide the fourth grade study of North Carolina and she uses her own book in class. These students will have a rare experience this year, considering the fact that they'll be the only fourth graders in the state to study North Carolina from a book written by their very own teacher.

Mrs. Freeman's visit was also a rare treat for the Cooleemee students.

Mrs. Ozell Freeman autographs a few of her books for Cooleemee School.

Staff Sergeant Gary Hubbard, United States Air Force recruiter for Davie, Rowan, and Iredell counties presents Johnny Roberts, station manager for WDSL Radio, here in Mocksville, with an award for the stations outstanding public service provided in the year 1978.

Air Force Recruiter Opens Local Office

In order to better serve Davie County and the United States Air Force, Sgt Gary Hubbard, has opened regular office hours in the Davie County Office Building in Mocksville. Those hours will be from 1:00 to 2:30 p.m. on every second Thursday of every month.

As an Air Force recruiter, Staff Sergeant Hubbard is responsible for recruiting qualified people for the Air Force in the counties of Rowan, Iredell, and Davie. Prior to assignment to this area in September 1977, SSGT Hubbard had been stationed at Pope AFB in Fayetteville, N.C. and Hickam AFB in Hawaii.

SSgt Hubbard is a graduate of Chamaine University and is married to the former Debora Boisjolie of Enfield, Connecticut. The Hubbard's reside in Mocksville.

SSgt Hubbard may be contacted in the Mocksville office during the above specified times or by calling his Salisbury office at 130 N. Arlington Street at (704) 633-9353.

Artist-Of-The-Month

Jerry Sue Evans, of Mocksville, is the Arts Council's featured artist this month. Jerry has on display paintings, latch-hook rugs, needlepoint and pillows. Jerry says, "I have always been interested in art and started painting about 12 years ago in oils and pastels. I have had instructions under Mr. Riley, Glenda Beard and Annette Ratledge. I am also interested in needlepoint, crewel and embroidery and have done them for a long time. A year ago I became interested in latch-hook rugs and since that time have sold many."

Alma Anderson, also of Mocksville, was Jerry's instructor in 1970 when Jerry was a student studying nursing assistance; a class sponsored by the Davidson Community College. She encouraged Jerry and all her nursing assistance students to create an interest in arts and crafts to help the sick and the handicapped. "At first Jerry was not too interested, but it wasn't long until I noticed Jerry had a patient who had been very unhappy, painting. The patient's whole attitude had changed," said Mrs. Anderson. "Jerry was a good listener and appled herself well in all of my classes." Mrs. Anderson said also.

Jerry is now a nursing assistant and works in homes where needed and in her spare time does all of her many crafts. "Jerry is a very talented lady. Be sure and stop by the Arts Council office in the County Office Building weekdays during the month of April," said Fran Brown, secretary for the Council.

National Library Week

Our nation is a land of success stories and nowhere is this better exemplified than in America's libraries.

Besides keeping the record of this country's achievements, libraries can spin some mighty successful tales of their own. Within the past few years, libraries have actively asserted their role as the community's resource for information and referral and education.

Today, thousands of Americans are discovering the answers to almost every question in a matter of minutes, through the library. There, a variety of information services are available including: community information and referral, access to computer data banks and special "hotlines" devoted to specific subject areas.

Furthermore, libraries are now offering learning opportunities ranging from literacy training to post graduate studies, not to compete with schools, but to supplement the school's work and to help share the responsibility of the community's educational growth. There are classes on consumer information and preventive medicine, care of plants and disco lessons. When a woman in Brooklyn began a literacy class at the library, she was reading at the fourth grade level. Now she has a master's degree in early childhood education.

David Ferguson, Director of the Davie County Public Library, says that all of its activities are geared to making success stories out of Davie County residents through story hours, interlibrary loan, parenting courses, concerts, vocational training materials, local and family history collections, reference and information services and referral to the needed sources if they are not in the local library.

April 1 - 7 is National Library Week. Libraries across the country urge you to drop by your local library and start your own success story.

PACE Aids Students In Securing A College Education

Last summer, 1 college students from Davie County worked in local public or private, non-profit agencies or organizations under the PACE - I. N. C. program. PACE - I. N. C. is an acronym for Plan Assuring College Education - In North Carolina. This program is administered by the Division of Social Services, North Carolina.

PACE is a coordinating effort between the local high school guidance counselor, the local student's individual institution of higher education, the local agency in which the student works, and the local volunteer PACE coordinator which places the student. Through PACE, these young men and women were able to work and perform a service to this county in local agencies and earn a large portion of their expenses to begin or continue their higher education. During the summer of 1978, through PACE, students of Davie County earned approximately $964 towards their education.

Perry Studevant is serving as the local county coordinator. Inquiries from interested agencies who would want to hire students, or students interested in summer work under PACE, should contact the local coordinator for further information. Application blanks for PACE may be obtained through the local coordinator's office, the local high school Guidance Counselor, the institutional Financial Aid Officer, or the local County Department of Social Services.

This past summer 1,177 North Carolina students from 52 colleges and universities, working in 556 different agencies, earned over 1 million dollars towards their higher education under PACE.

I'M LOST, CAN YOU HELP ME?

A friend of mine and his wife drove into a northern city in the heavy traffic of a winter's twilight. They were searching for a certain hotel in the heart of a city strange to them. As they passed to search out street names, the horns of impatient motorists kept prodding them along.

Hopelessly lost, confused and nervous, they had no idea what to do.

A traffic light halted the four lanes of cars. Suddenly my friend had an idea. He lowered his window, signaling to the car next to him to do the same and called out to the other driver. "How can I find the Majestic Hotel?" he shouted. The other driver paused only a moment and then called back, "Follow me. I'm going there myself!"

"Suddenly," my friend told me, "I became completely calm and assured." The light changed, the window was rolled up and he followed the now friendly-appearing twin tail-lights of his guide's car. In a few minutes they were at their destination, composed and grateful.

That is exactly what happens to a man making his way through this crowded, confused and troubled life when he meets God. Calling out through an open window of prayer, he says, "I'm lost. Can you help me?" And back comes the friendly invitation that Jesus used in calling His disciples - "Follow me." That's all one has to do. Follow Him and fear no danger.

"He leadeth me, He leadeth me, by His own hand He leadeth me."

Mrs. Laura Tabor Brock

"Existence was given us for action. Our worth is determined by the good deeds we do, rather than by the fine emotions we feel."

This philosophical observance could well have been that of Mrs. Laura Tabor Brock as it is an emulation of her life. Most active in many fields of endeavors, she contributed greatly to all phases of community growth.

She was born in Reidsville on March 22, 1896. She moved to Farmington in 1911 with her family while her father served as pastor on the Farmington Methodist Charge.

Graduating from the Farmington High School in 1914, she entered Davenport College. After graduating from Davenport, she taught school for a year at Jefferson High School in Ashe County.

During the three years she lived in Farmington she met her future husband, the late Senator Burr Coley Brock. They were married in 1919 and she became a permanent resident of Farmington.

Throughout her childrens school years at Farmington she was an active member of the PTA, serving on various committees and as president. She served on the board of directors of the Farmington Medical Center and until the last few years was an active member of the Pino Grange.

She was a member of the Womens Christian Temperance Union, American Mothers Committee, American Red Cross, Daughters of the American Colonists, N.C. Association for Retarded Children, Davie County United Way, Davie County Unit of the Cancer Society.

As a member of the Farmington United Methodist Church, she was a source of inspiration to others for her faith and dedication. She spent many years teaching Sunday School classes... small children, young people, and the womens class. She served as counselor of Youth Fellowship and was a president of the United Methodist Women.

She was the mother of nine children: two daughters, Frances Brock Tucker and the late Margaret Jo Brock; 7 sons—one who died at birth; Burr Jr., John Tabor, James Moses, Richard Joseph, William Laurie, and Rufus Leo; 16 grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

Last May (1978), Mrs. Brock was honored by the Farmington-Pino Community for her outstanding service and was presented with the "Woman of the Year" award.

Thomas Carlyle once observed: "Our grand business is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand."

And that was the life of Mrs. Laura Tabor Brock.

MRS. LELIA H. LAIRD
Mrs. Lelia Howard Laird, 89, of Advance, Route 1, died Monday afternoon in Baptist Hospital.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday at the Bethlehem United Methodist Church at 11 a.m. Burial was in the church cemetery. Officiating were the Rev. Donald K. Funterburk and the Rev. Jimmy Myers.

She was the widow of Alvis M. Laird who died in 1976. She was born in Davie Co. January 19, 1890 to the late Thomas Kelly and Julia Smith Howard. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Mildred McDaniel, Mrs. Ray (Lois) Myers and Mrs. E.A. (Carolyn) Raybuck, all of Advance, Route 1; four grandchildren and two great grandchildren; five sisters, Mrs. A.D. Stewart and Mrs. P.G. Suber, both of Winston-Salem, Mrs. Mattie Smith, Mrs. O.H. Smith, and Mrs. R.H. King, all of Advance, Route 1.

Blaise Baptist To Hold Special Sunrise Service

The public is cordially invited to attend a joint Sunrise Service uniting the congregations of Blaise Baptist, Chestnut Grove United Methodist and Union Chapel United Methodist Churches. The service begins at 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunday Morning, April 15. It is to be held outside at Blaise Baptist Church (inside in event of rain).

The choir from Blaise will present special music, and the pastors of the participating churches (Blaise - Rev. Jim Martin; Union Chapel - Rev. Larry Staples) will both be involved in the service, with Rev. Staples delivering the "Resurrection Proclamation".

Following the Sunrise Service, the Methodist men of Union Chapel will serve their annual Sunrise Breakfast at 7:15 a.m. in the fellowship hall at Union Chapel. The breakfast menu will consist of country ham, grits, eggs, and biscuits.

"Breakthrough"

"Breakthrough" is one of the many ministering arms of Lighthouse Evangelistic Ministries, Inc. This five member (Lisa Clontz, Blair Baldwin, Sutton Baldwin, Belinda Lochridge and Rev. James T. Lochridge, Jr.) vocal and instrumental ensemble travels the eastern seaboard sharing the gospel message of abundant and eternal life through faith in Jesus Christ.

"Breakthrough" will make a return appearance at "The Lighthouse" in Cooleemee (in the Cooleemee Recreation Center) on April 7 at 7:30 p.m. The concert will include a special presentation in "Chalk and Lights" by Rev. Lochridge in addition to the musical renditions of this talented group.

On Sunday night May 6, "Breakthrough" will lead a special service of Christian music in the Sanctuary of First Baptist Church on N. Main St. in Mocksville. The service will begin at 7:45 p.m. and Pastor Charles Bullock cordially invites the public to attend. The entire family will enjoy this service and receive a blessing from it.

Blaise Sets Date For Easter Services

Sunday, April 8th 11 a.m. worship service; observance of Palm Sunday. 7:30 p.m. worship service with guest speaker Buck Jones.
Wednesday, April 11th 7:30 p.m. Easter Choir Rehearsal, (no prayer meeting).
Thursday, April 12th 7:30 p.m. Church family observance of Lord's Supper. Sunday, April 15th, 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunrise Service. Union Chapel Methodist and Chestnut Grove Methodist will join in the Sunrise Service to be held at Blaise. 11 a.m. Easter Cantata entitled "No Greater Love" by Blaise Choir. Message to be presented by Rev. Jimmie Martin. 7:30 p.m. no service. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Public Speaking Classes To Start

It's not too late to get in on the fun of Youth Leadership Classes through Public Speaking! The next meeting will be Monday, April 9, at 7 p.m. in the County Office Building Auditorium.

The four week session is being sponsored by Davie 4-H and conducted by a team of Toastmasters from Winston-Salem. Rick Cain, Emmett Thurlo, Mickey Marshall, and Sarah Smith lead the group in two-minute impromptu speeches at last Monday night's session.

Youth in the county ages 9-19 are invited to attend. They are also conducting an adult group and other adults are also invited. The final sessions will be sometime the week of April 16 and Monday, April 23. A Youth Public Speaking Contest is scheduled for Tuesday, May 1. Awards, sponsored by Davie County United Way, are a $50 Savings Bond for the Senior Division winner and a trip to 4-H Camp for the Junior Division. Call 634-2634 for further information.

UMYF Car Wash

The UMYF of Union Chapel will be sponsoring a car wash this Saturday, April 7 from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. It will be held at Union Chapel United Methodist Church, Highway 601, two miles North of Mocksville.

The cost will be $3.00 for a wash and $4.00 for cleaning the inside and a wash. Lemonade will also be sold.

Train yourself to pay attention to differences in quality. A higher-priced item may be worth the extra cost if it offers longer performance, but the lowest-priced may do just as well.

Cornatzer News

Margaret Potts and Glenda Boger visited Brook Potts in Thomasville Hospital Sunday afternoon. Brooks is the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Potts in Thomasville and is undergoing treatment for pneumonia.

Bessie Jones was confined to her room last week because of illness.

Mrs. Gladys Jones accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Gettys Bingham and girls, Jan and Amy on a trip to Florida last week. They enjoyed sightseeing at Sea World, Cypress Gardens, St. Augustine, and Disney World. They also visited Rose Corriveau at St. Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Franck, formerly from New York and Lewisville, N.C., have moved into their new home in Hickory Hill number 2.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shoaf of Marion, S.C. visited Mr. and Mrs. Homer Potts Sunday afternoon.

The Cornatzer Homemakers Club held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. Homer Potts on March 30. President, Nora Smith, presided over the meeting and conducted the devotion.

Theo Bowles read some articles on facts on allergy and treating hyperactive children. Dorothy Chaplin gave some household hints and Dottie Potts read an article on potatoes. We were glad to have two visitors, Lena Pruitt and Mrs. Grubbs of Fork.

For our program, lawyer Wade H. Leonard, Jr. gave information on making wills and gave members opportunity to ask questions.

Several of our members attended the area meeting at the Davie County Office Building last Tuesday.

The club adjourned and the hostess served chips and green goddess dip, pickles, butterscotch torte, broken glass conjealed salad and iced drinks. The dining table was centered with a flower arrangement of yellow daffodils and green spires.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE FOLLOWING ZONING AMENDMENT NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to the requirements of Article 20-B of Chapter 153 of the General Statutes of North Carolina and Section 20 of the Davie County Zoning Ordinance that the Board of County Commissioners of Davie County will hold a public hearing at the Davie County Courthouse, Mocksville, N.C. on Tuesday, April 17, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. The following proposed zoning amendment to the official zoning map of Davie County will be considered:
 (a) Everett Gray McClamrock has submitted a request to rezone a 1.262 acres parcel of land from Residential-Agricultural to Highway-Business. This land is located on the South side of S.R. 1641 and is a portion of parcel 127 as shown on Davie County Tax Map G-5. The adjoining property owners are Ervin J. Hutchens, R.M. McClamrock, Clement W. Wall and Roy W. Wall. A sign will be posted on the above listed location to advertise the public hearing. All parties and interested citizens are invited to attend said public hearing at which time they shall have an opportunity to be heard in favor of or in opposition to the foregoing proposed change. Prior to the hearing, all persons interested may obtain any additional information on this proposal which is in the possession of the Davie County Zoning Enforcement Officer by inquiring at my office in the Courthouse in Mocksville, N.C. on weekdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. or by telephone at 634-3340.

Mr. and Mrs. Bo Potts were among the 800 passengers on the ill-fated Italian Cruise Ship the Angelina Lauro. The 700-foot, 24,000 ton liner burned and sank in the harbor of Charlotte Amalie in the U. S. Virgin Islands, Friday. The weeks cruise began March 24 and had made all the ports of call scheduled for the cruise. St. Thomas was the last port-of-call before returning to Miami, Florida. According to a telephone conversation from Mrs. Potts the passengers are safe and resting in the Grand Bahia, a plush hotel in San Juan, Puerto Rico. They sailed for San Juan on a sister ship, the Carla C and are now awaiting transportation home.
 Mrs. Lucille Cornatzer was surprised Wednesday night March 28 when she was honored with a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carlton. Fifteen members of the Methodist church choir were guests. A beautifully decorated cake, punch and other refreshments were served. Mrs. Cornatzer received many lovely gifts. She celebrated her 70th birthday on April 3.
 Mrs. Susan Vogler Kimball was honored with a Stork Shower Saturday afternoon at the home of her aunt Mrs. Elsie Vogler. A large crowd attended and Mrs. Kimball received many lovely and useful gifts.
 Mrs. George Judd, Jr. and daughters Karen and Susan have returned home after spending last week in Tenn. visiting her parents and parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williford in Dandridge and Mr. and Mrs. George Judd, Sr. in Kingsport, Tenn.
 Mrs. Walter Shutt was a Tuesday luncheon guest of Mrs. Stella Mae Vogler and her mother Mrs. Fannie Frye.
 Mrs. Lucille Cornatzer was a Sunday luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Howard in observance of her birthday. On Tuesday April 3 (her birthday) Mrs. Cornatzer was entertained with a luncheon at the Carriage House in Winston-Salem as guest of Mrs. Polly Bailey.
 Mrs. and Mrs. Douglas Spry, and her mother Mrs.

Alma Kale of Winston Salem, attended the 35th annual Blackwood reunion Sunday which was held at Long Island, N. C.
 Miss Sallie Ellis, student at ASU Boone, spent the weekend with her father Bill Ellis.
 Weekend visitors of Mrs. Walter Shutt were her grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cartwright of Cartersville, Georgia visited Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Collette and daughters Kim and Kelly of Winston-Salem visited Sunday afternoon.
 Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sessions hosted a Volley Ball Party Saturday afternoon at their home. Most of the guests were Mrs. Sessions girl friends and their families whom she attended school with at Meredith College, and she had not seen in over 5 years. Fifty people attended and enjoyed an afternoon of fun, most of them were from out of state. After a covered dish dinner the young people gathered in the Session home for a Stork Shower for 2 of the guests.
 A large number of the United Methodist Women met at the community building on Monday night, April 2, for their regular meeting and to cut quilt squares to be sent to Rodesia. Hubert Bailey underwent lengthy facial surgery at Davie County Hospital Tuesday for removal of a growth near his ear. A speedy recovery is wished for him.

Gospel Sing At Bailey's Chapel
 Bailey's Chapel United Methodist Church will have a gospel sing, Saturday night, April 7th at 7 p.m. Two groups will be featured; The Christianaires and the Harmony Four.
 Prior to the singing at 5:30, a fellowship supper will be held at the church. Everyone is invited to attend. Rev. Tony Jordan is the pastor.
Second Sunday Sing At Gladstone
 A singing is held every second Sunday of a month at Community Baptist Church on Gladstone Road. The Singing Servants from Elkin will be the featured group this Sunday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited

CHEEK
The family of the late Mr. C.R. (Bob) Cheek would like to express with loving kindness the thoughtfulness extended to us at this time of the loss of our loved one. Words cannot express our feelings, but God's plan was fulfilled for his life. A special thanks to those who labored in love, helping in the home serving the meals; Miss Mary Soots, Mrs. Roy Broadway, Mrs. Bob Cope, and Mrs. Dewey Couch and others. May the Lord Bless each one as we strive to work for the Glory of God and of his coming.
Yours in Christ,
The Cheek Family

THE LAST REVIEW
Standing before the parole board
I held my head.
I was listening to the words
Which one of the members said.
Son, you've been a model prisoner,
Here behind this wall
But I see here on your record,
This is your third fall.
We'd like to parole you son,
But the nature of your crime
Is just too bad to overlook
So you'll have to do your time.
Now do not be discouraged
And keep your record clean
Perhaps we can help you
In just a few short years, I mean.
I stood in silence
Not believing what I heard
So numbed by the shock,
I couldn't utter a word.
I walked to the door
There I raised my head
A tear fell to the floor
And this is what I said.
I realize you good gentlemen,
Have done what you think is right
But, tell me Sir, What can I say,
In my letter to Mom tonight.

Folk-Ways and Folk-Speech
By ROGERS WHITENER

Since the appearance of a recent Folk-Ways column on the use of hops in producing yeast for bread-making, a number of readers have inquired about the purchase of hop seed, time of planting and the like.

My knowledge is very limited. My understanding, however, is that rather than seed, cuttings of suckers taken from healthy plants are set in stools some six feet apart in well pulverized and fertilized soil. Planting time is in the fall and bearing does not take place until the second year.

The vines grow luxuriantly by the third year and are trained somewhat as are pole beans—on long poles, often 14 to 18 feet high.

The hop cones or strobiles are gathered when they turn a brown-amber color. In this operation the vines are cut at the base and laid over a wooden framework for harvesting.

Where does one get shoots for planting. I have no idea, but I should imagine county and state agricultural agencies would know.

I have never seen hops growing in the higher elevations of the mountains, but a letter from a Watauga County reader seems to imply that they may.

Mr. R. Smitherman recalls firsthand the processes of gathering, drying, and mixing of hops in the preparation of bread. He writes:

"After people gathered hops they first dried them in the sun. Then they crushed them lightly and sifted the dust through a very thin cloth. It is this yellow-colored dust that caused the dough to rise."

"When the dough rose, a piece was cut off to bake into homemade light bread. Then it was soaked in water and mixed with the dough ingredients. Incidentally, my wife used vinegar instead of peach tree bark or leaves to make bread rise."

Mr. Smitherman notes that his mother was seven years old before her family owned a cookstove, everything being cooked in or in front of the fireplace. Ashcake thus cooked had a taste that no other baking method could produce, according to Mr. Smitherman.

Mr. Smitherman also has some not unpleasant memories of mountain wash-days.

"I have warmed my behind and befroze many trips around the old black wash pot," he said. "I always enjoyed beating the clothes with a paddle on the old wash block and I watched my mother make many a cake of lye soap in the same pot."

He also recalls some of the plumbing devices constructed to channel in an adequate water supply for wash day.

"Did you ever see a trough to spout water from the spring or branch?" he asks. "The idea was to cut down a very small tree, cut off the log, and then split it in half. Then a v-shaped groove was cut down the center of the flat side where the water could flow."

Mr. Smitherman also recalls seeing lots "augered out" into primitive pipes for diverting water from branch or spring.

"They'd take a small log, eight to ten feet long, trim one end like a pencil and the ream out the other end like a funnel. Then they'd take an auger with a long shank and bore a hole halfway the length of the log. This done, they'd go to the other end and bore till they reached the other hole. After repeating this operation on several logs they'd join them together, put one end in a spring or stream, bury the logs underground, and lead the water to where it was needed—sometimes to the wash place, sometimes to a trough in the springhouse."

Readers are invited to send folk material to Folk-Ways and Folk-Speech, Box 376, Appalachian State University, Boone, N.C. 28608.

Town Has Ordinance Restricting Number Of Garage & Yard Sales

By Doug Livengood

If spring is here can garage sales be far behind?

The Mocksville town board knows past experience has shown that nice weather triggers a profusion of garage sales within the town. But the board wants the public to understand that a town ordinance places certain restrictions on garage sales within Mocksville.

Noted Mocksville town commissioner Bob Hall at last week's town board meeting, "We do apparently have in some areas of town people who have a tendency to just about make a garage sale a retail business from the standpoint that they have them every weekend, every other weekend and that sort of thing and I think they need to be made aware they are only allowed so many a year."

According to Hall, "There are cases where people go to flea markets every week and buy things and bring them back home and sell them every weekend." This constitutes "a neighborhood business." He pointed out the town has "zoning approved to prevent such."

The ordinance governing garage sales within Mocksville defines garage sales as follows:

"Garage sale...refers to a sale from a residence or residential property of personal property which has been owned or used previously by an individual or resident residing on the premises where the sale is conducted. A yard or patio sale is included within the definition of 'garage sale.' The term 'garage sale' does not include the mere incidental sale of one (1) or two (2) items of personal property when the sale is not a part of a general sale of a number of items of personal property."

The ordinance further states garage sales are permitted only under the following regulations:

"(1) No more than two (2) garage sales shall be conducted on the premises in any calendar year; provided, however, that a third garage sale shall be permitted if satisfactory proof of a bona fide change in ownership of the real property is first presented to the clerk or his duly authorized representative. No single sale shall be conducted for longer than two (2) consecutive weekends, or 72 hours, whichever is lesser. Garage sales may be conducted during daylight hours only.

"(2) Personal property offered for sale at a garage sale may be displayed on a driveway, in a garage, and/or in a rear yard, but only in such areas. No personal property offered for sale at a garage sale shall be displayed in any front yard area or in any public right-of-way.

"(3) Except as provided below, signs used in conjunction with garage sales shall be displayed only on the premises upon which the garage sale is conducted. Two (2) off-site directional signs may be permitted by the clerk provided that the premises upon which the garage sale is conducted is not on a major thoroughfare, and written permission to erect the signs is received from the property owners on whose property the signs are to be placed. Signs may be displayed only during the hours the garage sale is actively being conducted and must be removed at the close of the garage sale activities, or by the end of daylight, whichever first occurs, each day. No signs may be placed in the public right-of-way.

"(4) A non-profit organization or association of persons may conduct a garage sale at the residence of one (1) or more of its members pursuant to all of the requirements of this article. One (1) such garage sale may be held per year without such sale being deemed one chargeable to the premises in question for the purposes of applying the two (2) sales per year limitation set forth in (2) above.

"(5) No garage sale shall be held so as to include more than one (1) residence or parcel as the site of sale unless a permit is first obtained from the clerk or his authorized representative."

School Bonds Sold

School bonds totaling $5,500,000 for the County of Davie were sold by the State Treasurer's Department April 3rd.

The net interest cost was 5.7496 percent, with 12.56 years of average maturity.

The Davie bonds were purchased by the North Carolina National Bank and Associates. There were three bids, ranging from 5.7496 to 5.7944 percent.

Legal Status Of Recreation Board Changed By Town

By Doug Livengood

At its April 3rd meeting, the Mocksville town board voted unanimously to change the legal status of the Mocksville Recreation Commission from a "policy making board" to an "advisory board" capacity.

Mocksville Mayor R.C. Smith had recommended to the town board at its March meeting that the recreation commission "be dissolved" as it then existed and have the town board of commissioners "take over the functions that normally the recreation board would do."

In asking for the dissolution of the recreation commission, Smith recommended that the present recreation commission board members be used only in an "advisory board" capacity in planning for town-funded recreation in Mocksville.

At that March town board meeting, Smith told the town commissioners "We've had problems with the recreation board communicating with this board in getting things done that we need to proceed with."

Mayor Smith later explained that one of the problems of communication between the recreation commission and the town board involved the matter of getting recommendations from the recreation commission regarding the hiring of a new recreation director for the town.

Russell Spry of Cooleemee was fired last November by the town board from his position of recreation director for the town. But his replacement, Michael Garner of Davidson County, was not hired until the middle of March of this year to fill the vacant position.

Said Smith early last month after he asked for the dissolution of the recreation commission, but before the hiring of Garner, "We have been trying to get some recommendations from the recreation board but couldn't and our recreation program has suffered in recent months because we don't yet have a recreation director."

After Smith made his recommendation at last month's town board meeting to have the recreation commission's status changed from a policy making board to an advisory board, the recommendation was tabled because only three town board members were present at that meeting and those three were of the consensus that the full five-member board should consider any change in the status of the recreation commission.

The full board was present at this month's regularly scheduled meeting on April 3rd and after discussing the proposed change in the status of the recreation commission the board members unanimously voted for the change.

What the board countermanded with its vote earlier this month was a resolution passed by the Mocksville town board in January 1952 establishing the present recreation commission and empowering that commission to have wide-sweeping control over recreation in Mocksville.

That January 1952 resolution read, in part, that the recreation commission would have the authority "to provide, maintain, conduct and operate the recreational system (for Mocksville), with authority to employ directors, supervisors and play leaders, and such other officers and employees as may be deemed best within the budget provided by the commission by the Town of Mocksville, or from appropriations made by it, or from other funds in the hands of the commission; to acquire by purchase, gift or otherwise such real estate, equipment or paraphernalia as may be necessary to the successful maintenance of its recreational program."

Although the recreation commission had been originally charged with conducting and operating the town's recreational system, including employing directors and other personnel, nevertheless, at some point in time, the town board began to hire and fire directors of the town's recreation department and supervise other operations of the department. On occasion, this led to strained relations

State Health Director Visits Local Facility Friday

By Doug Livengood "It's clear that public health is a local affair that can't be practiced out of Washington or the state capital," observed Dr. Hugh Tilson, state health director for N.C., in a visit to the Davie County Health Department in Mocksville last Friday.

Regarding his visit to Davie, Tilson, who has been state health director since January, commented, "If I'm going to be state health director I need to get out and familiarize myself with the strengths and needs of the local health departments and the Davie County Health Department has some definite strengths."

One of these strengths mentioned by Tilson was what he termed the "first-rate physical facility the health department has right next to the hospital."

Also, said Tilson, "It's important that a health department be truly an agency that protects all of the citizens of a county and not just a subsection of the population and the Davie Health Department serves all of the citizens well."

According to Tilson, "The basic message of public health is there's an awful lot that people can do to promote their own health and help new

Two Arrested For Breakin

Two men were arrested by the Mocksville Police last Friday and charged with felonious breaking and entering and larceny of the Holman Cafeteria on Depot Street, April 2nd.

Howard Cecil Clement III, 35, a resident of the Mocksville Hotel, and Marcus Hudson, 21, of 1008 Foster Street were charged with the April 2nd robbery.

Officers recovered a .38 revolver taken from the Cafeteria but the 12 gauge shot gun was not recovered. Bond was set at $1,000 each for an April 30th court appearance.

Terry Smoot, 20, of 539 Pine Street, Mocksville was charged with the felonious possession of stolen firearms.

Big Ditch Could Cause Big Financial Problems For Town

By Doug Livengood

One possible solution to a bad drainage ditch problem plaguing residents of Avon and Tot streets in Mocksville could cost the town $175,000—as much as the entire 1978-79 town budget appropriations for police, fire and sanitation services.

Another possible solution could cost $40,000, still a large appropriation for a town the size of Mocksville.

But despite the potentially high costs involved, Mocksville town commissioners seem to be in agreement that some course of action must be begun to solve or alleviate the large drainage ditch problem which has existed for years in the Avon and Tot Street area.

And these same commissioners agreed at their April 3rd town board meeting to arrange a meeting in the near future with Avon and Tot Street residents to discuss possible solutions to the problem and costs involved.

There are many conflicting stories about the mammoth ditch behind the homes on Avon and Tot streets.

Some say the ditch was created by being a natural drainage flow of water many years ago. Others say it was created when the town of Mocksville began channeling water down the ditch many years ago.

Most of the residents along Avon and Tot streets have contended for years that the town has a responsibility to either eliminate or alleviate the drainage and erosion problems caused by water flow in the ditch. Some of these residents have even come before the town board on several occasions over the years to offer to share in the cost of doing something about the ditch if the town would also share in the expense.

Town officials, on the other hand, have been reluctant to tackle the ditch problem because of the more thorny question of using public funds for private property purposes.

Many of the residents on Avon and Tot streets believe that although the ditch might be on private property, nevertheless, the town has a responsibility to solve the problems caused by the ditch because the town over the years has increasingly channeled more and more water through the ditch, thereby, compounding the drainage and erosion problems there.

At last month's town board meeting town commissioner Joe Murphy said the ditch presented "a real bad situation" because, in his words, "it is hazardous for the people of the area, for children, it's detrimental to the town and it's costing property owners untold expense to try to keep their property in line."

Declared Murphy at last month's board meeting, "I personally feel the town has some responsibility in trying to correct this."

Commissioner Bob Hall echoed Murphy's comments at that board meeting in March by saying "I think it's a disgrace to the town that it exists" and "Somewhere over the last 25 or 30 years there's been blunder after blunder" concerning the situation with the ditch.

"It's just a crying shame that the town has let it go this long," bemoaned Hall. "It's just a general mess and I think it's time we started giving it a great deal of consideration," he urged his fellow-commissioners.

The board of commissioners followed Hall's urging and authorized him to get information from the Soil Conservation Service regarding methods and costs of solving the problems caused by the ditch and then report these findings to the full board of town commissioners.

It was at last week's town board meeting that Hall relayed what information, recommendations and cost estimates concerning the ditch problem he had recently received from Russell Lyday, an official of the Soil Conservation Service Office in Davie County.

Hall noted that Lyday recommended two possible courses of action: (1) "construct an open channel...and stabilize with reinforced concrete" or (2) "construct an open channel...and

VA Expenditures Listed For Davie

Expenditures of the Veterans Administration in Davie County for the year of 1978 totaled $1,600,552.

R. Duke Tutterow, Veterans Service Officer for Davie, said the expenditures were broken down as follows:

Compensation and pension, $1,064,332; education, $472,672; insurance, $63,548.

Wayne Seay To Be Tried In Winston-Salem

Wayne Seay, the Winston-Salem financier who was involved in recent years with numerous Davie County investors in a scheme to set up Sanilator Corp. to manufacture and distribute machines that could convert raw garbage into animal feed, was scheduled to stand trial April 11 in Forsyth Superior Court on two charges of embezzling money from other companies he directed in Forsyth County in the early 1970's.

Many of the Davie County investors have also accused Seay of swindling them out of thousands of dollars during their involvement with Sanilator Corp.

A Forsyth County judge issued an order for Seay's arrest last August after he failed to appear in court there to be arraigned on charges that he embezzled money from companies he was involved with in that county.

But the judge withdrew his order after Seay's attorney waived arraignment and entered pleas of not guilty for his client.

Seay, whose Winston-Salem address is 4792 Kestermill Road, has been free on bond pending trial.

In the past, authorities have said they thought Seay had left the state and Forsyth County sheriff's deputies could not find him to serve papers relating to civil suits against him in Forsyth County and in states other than North Carolina.

Newspaper accounts have reported that Seay's business interests range through at least nine states.

In 1960, shortly after Seay was indicted in Texas on embezzlement charges, he dropped out of sight for more than two years. Texas authorities found him in northern Alabama. He was convicted and served a two-year prison term.

Howard D. Cole, the assistant district attorney in Forsyth County and the man who is handling the case there, has said he has heard Seay has been in Winston-Salem in the last several weeks.

A grand jury indicted Seay in March 1978 on charges of embezzling money in a limited-partnership scheme. He is charged with embezzling two checks, one for $500 and the other for $400, in 1973 from American Marketing Corp. Inc., a real estate investment company.

Seay served as the corporation's secretary. Robert T. McLawhorn, its president, was also indicted. The Forsyth County District Attorney's Office has not set a date for McLawhorn's trial.

The indictments say Seay and McLawhorn collected the checks from two people after offering them an interest in Salem Properties, the proposed limited partnership.

But the limited partnership was never formed, the indictments say, and rather than returning the money, Seay and McLawhorn deposited it in American Marketing's bank account and used it for other purposes.

In pre-trial hearings during the spring of last year, Seay and McLawhorn, testified they have the money to a salesman and told him to repay the two investors. They contended corporate records would support their claims.

John F. Morrow, Seay's attorney, said all of the corporation's books were seized when American Marketing was evicted from the Wachovia Building in Winston-Salem in 1973.

Cole has also said several factors delayed bringing Seay to trial, including the illness of an SBI agent who is a key witness for the state and the complexities of the case.

"There was a major delay in getting transcripts of the pretrial hearings," he said. "There are so many dates and figures I wanted them all typed out," he added.

Attorneys for Seay and McLawhorn argued that the charges should be dismissed because the state waited so long after the alleged crimes before drawing indictments in February 1978.

But Cole said the state did not have probably cause to suspect criminal activity until it subpoenaed bank records in January of last year.

Police Report

The police report for the month of March for the Mocksville Police Department, as reported April 3 to the Mocksville town board by chief of police, Alton Carter, was as follows:

- Arrests made-149
- Complaints Investigated-106
- courtesies rendered-212; and
- Warnings issued-34.

Car Hits Ditch And Fence

A vehicle went out of control last Saturday about 1 a.m. on the Baltimore Road, hitting a ditch and fence.

Evelyn Ellis Yates, 42, was operating a 1970 Ford, ran off the road on the right shoulder into a ditch and fence line, coming to rest in the ditch.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $300 and $200 to the fencing of Hayden Cornatzer.

Ms. Yates was charged with driving under the influence. State Highway Patrolman L.W. Bjorklund investigated.

Recreation Board Status Changed

between the recreation commission and the town board.

Also, in 1952, the voters of the town of Mocksville, in what was at that time the heaviest voter turnout in the town's history, approved, by a vote of 193-172, the levying of a special tax of 6 cents on the $100 valuation, to finance the town's continuing recreational program.

However, according to Mayor Smith, several years ago the town's auditor advised the town board to begin funding the town's recreational program as a regular budgetary item instead of limiting the financing of the program to those funds generated by the special tax.

The auditor advised the town that this change in funding could be made without submitting the question to another vote of the people, said Smith.

Since that recommendation by the town's auditor, the recreational program in Mocksville has been funded as a regular budgetary item, noted Smith.

In the 1978-79 budget for the town, adopted by the town board last year, recreational allocations amounted to $38,224—4.5 percent of the total budget of $844,344 for the town for the year.

At last week's town board meeting at which the recreation commission was changed from a policy making board to an advisory board, Mayor Smith reminded board members before voting on the change that a study prepared by the N.C. Dept. of Natural and Economic Resources in 1977 recommended that the town's recreation commission function only in an advisory capacity.

Preceding last week's vote by the town board, town commissioner Joe Murphy remarked that the town board "has the responsibility, by law" of supervising and operating the recreational program in Mocksville.

"It (the recreation department) is a department within the town just as streets or whatever and we are concerned with recreation and we do fund it and we do set the guidelines," commented Murphy.

He said he thought the recreation commission should not be abolished, but maintained as an advisory board to give "citizen input" to both the town board and the town recreation director on recreational matters within Mocksville.

Murphy told Mayor Smith, "I think what you might be recommending is leaving everything status quo, except for the fact that we as a board now really take over the policy making of the hiring and firing and, not to say we wouldn't get recommendations, but I think in the past possibly some of these areas have been left maybe to the commission to do..."

Town board member Pat Latta responded to Murphy's comments by saying "I don't think it's a question of being left to it, I think that was a question that they (the recreation commission members) thought that was their prerogative."

Another town commissioner, Bob Hall, voiced his opinion on the matter when he said "If we are the funding body and directly responsible financially (for the town recreation program) then I feel like we should be the final policy makers."

The present recreation commission for the town is composed of Mocksville residents Jack Ward, Craig Chapman, Charles Barker and Clyde Hendricks. One position on the commission is vacant at the present time.

After Mayor Smith announced last month his recommendation to change the status of the recreation commission, several of the commission members voiced their beliefs that such a change might be in the best interest for the town's recreation program.

Legislative Report

By Senator Robert Davis

Recent reports by the Legislative Services Fiscal Research Office have increased concern by members of the General Assembly that a large tax cut package might not be possible this session.

Last week, legislative economist David Crotts said that March tax collections showed the first signs of a coming recession. Experts on the economy have been warning members of the Appropriations and Base Budget Committee, on which I serve, that a slight recession would hit the state probably in the third quarter of this fiscal year.

Apparently, their predictions will come true.

Obviously, any type of recession will have great impact on tax collections, and consequently, state spending revenues for the pending budget.

Although the predicted recession could spell doom for any major permanent tax cut or especially a much talked about tax rebate, the Finance Committees of both the House and Senate are considering other tax incentives that could be extremely beneficial to many taxpayers in North Carolina.

Fortunately, most of this tax legislation is considered possible even with a recession and drop in state revenues.

One bill, which I strongly support, has an excellent chance of acceptance by the General Assembly when the final tax package rolls around. It would offer a one-time $100,000 capital gains exclusion on the sale of a principle residence by the elderly.

This bill would greatly benefit elderly retirees who are hard-hit by capital gains tax when they sell their primary residence in order to move into a retirement home or smaller residence. The cost, about $3 million, would be relatively minor to the state.

Two bills currently in the House Finance Committee would cost substantially more than the Capital Gains Exclusion but would help a lot more taxpayers.

One, House Bill 270, would increase income tax exemptions and standard deductions by twenty percent. It would cost the state over $90 million over the next two fiscal years through 1981.

House Bill 289, with support of the governor, might possibly replace HB 270 with which it has some similarity. This legislation would increase income tax dependents exemptions from $600 to $1,000. Cost to the state would approach $72 million over the two-year bi-annum.

A relatively minor bill would increase the sales tax exemption on funeral expenses from $50 to $700. The $700 figure would more closely represent the cost of services (rather than materials) in the expense of burial. The lost revenue to the state would be less than $1 million per year.

Still another relatively minor and inexpensive bill but one with extreme importance to some of our taxpayers, is House Bill 664.

HB664 would restructure child-care deductions to more closely correspond to the Federal approach to helping working mothers. It is an accepted fact that the cost of child care for the single parent or working mother trying to make ends meet can be a heavy burden.

There are at least a dozen other important housekeeping bills or bills of a more exclusive nature that must be considered before the final tax package can be put together.

With hard work and cooperation, members of the General Assembly might still be able to formulate a tax plan that can bring needed relief to many of our overburdened taxpayers.

Two Arrested For Lottery

Two men were arrested in Davie April 4th on charges of operating an illegal lottery. They were Carl Reuben Deal, 49, of Rt. 4 Taylorsville, N.C. and Henry Clay Roebuck Jr. 58, of 1212 Monroe Street, Salisbury.

The arrests were made by the Mocksville Police Department and the Davie County Sheriff's Department following a stakeout on US 601 North. The law officials were acting on information they had obtained.

Roebuck was charged with possession of lottery tickets used in the operation of a lottery. Deal was also charged with the possession of lottery tickets.

Confiscated was a total of $1724.12 in money and a total of 554 lottery slips. Each of the two men posted bonds of $500 for an April 30th court appearance.

Sunday Robbery Reported

A breakin and robbery was reported Sunday by Raymond Donald Albertl of Rt. 1 Mocksville. Guns, binoculars and a coin collection, valued at about $7,000, were reported taken. Entry was made through the back door between 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

A total of 14 guns, including 4 handguns, 10 shotguns and rifles, two pairs of binoculars, and the coin collection were reported taken.

The Davie County Sheriff's Department is investigating.

Democrats To Hold Precinct Meetings

The Davie County Democrat precinct meetings will be held Thursday, April 19 at 8 p.m. at the precinct polling place. Should a make-up date be required, it will be Thursday, April 26 at 8 p.m. at your precinct polling place.

The plan of organization of the North Carolina Democratic Party provides that: "The first order of business at the precinct meetings held in odd-numbered years, shall be the election of five officers of the Precinct Committee, followed by the election of five other active Democrats to the Precinct Committee and the election of delegates to the county conventions. The officers of the Precinct Committee shall be a chairman, three vice-chairman, and a secretary-treasurer."

County conventions have been scheduled for Saturday, May 19 at noon. The county chairmen in each county will select the site.

More detailed information for each precinct will be published next week.

Motorcycles Collide

A motorcyclist was injured Sunday afternoon about 1 p.m. when struck on N.C. 601, 9.5 miles north of Mocksville, when his Honda was struck in the rear by another motorcycle.

Woodrow Steve Moore, 25, of Rt. 6 Reidsville, was taken by ambulance to the Forsyth Memorial Hospital.

State Highway Patrolman J.L. Payne said his investigation showed that Moore and Ernest Lee Lovelace, 30, of Rt. 601, both in the same direction. Moore had slowed down due to other traffic and Lovelace ran into the rear of the motorcycle.

Investigation is continuing. Damage of $500 was estimated to each motorcycle.

Big Ditch Is Big Problem

Hall further reported that Lyday recommended against putting a pipeline in the ditch to carry water because this action "would be extremely expensive" and "there would be times when the pipe just would not carry (the water in the ditch)."

Lyday's cost estimate for constructing an open channel, stabilized with reinforced concrete, was "somewhere between $125,000 and $175,000" for an approximately 950-ft. channel, said Hall.

"The stone riprap he said, of course, would be considerably cheaper, obtained at the source at $3.10 per ton, but he had no idea how many tons it would take," Hall added.

Town supervisor Andrew Lagle told Hall at last week's board meeting that stone had gone up in price recently and he estimated it would cost "$40 to $50 a foot" to riprap a 950-ft. channel, which would give a cost of approximately $40,000 for the job needed at the Avon and Tot Street ditch.

"It's not a simple thing" to solve the problem with the drainage of water caused by the ditch, observed Lagle. "The big problem now is you're trying to bottle a floodplain up," he said.

Lagle explained that if the ditch is filled with riprap stone the water which would normally flow in the ditch would spread out and could flood the backyards of the residents living along the ditch's path.

He said the property owners near the ditch "would have to understand" that putting riprap stone in the ditch and creating a situation where the ditch could overflow and flood yards should be done "at no risk to the town."

Said commissioner Hall concerning the possibility that property owners' back lots could be flooded if riprap is placed in the channel. "We need a signed document by them giving us permission (to riprap the channel) and the document needs to state the possibility of what could happen."

Town attorney Hank Van Hoy told Hall and the other commissioners that the property owners along the ditch "don't like" the idea that their backyards could be flooded if any corrective action is taken regarding the ditch.

Noted Van Hoy, "When we encountered this problem before (of the possibility that flooding could occur if the ditch is filled) that was one of the things they objected to."

Remarkd Van Hoy, "What those owners would like to have is an impossibility of moving that water through a pipe so they can't see it."

Regarding funding any actions taken to correct problems caused by the ditch, commissioner Hall commented, "You know if we curb and gutter and put in sewer lines and water lines and all that sort of thing it's done on a half-and-half basis" with the town and citizens involved dividing the costs.

Youth Charged With Robbery

A 17-year-old youth of Rt. 2 Yadkinville was arrested last Friday at approximately 7:41 p.m. and charged with stealing approximately $519.80 worth of stereo equipment.

Jeffrey Samuel Eddleman, 17, was charged with breaking and entering and larceny of the residence of Henry Isor Brown of Rt. 2 Mocksville about 5 p.m. All of the stereo equipment was recovered.

Bond for Eddleman was set at $1,000 for court appearance on April 30th.

Bloodmobile

Davie County will host a visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on Tuesday, April 17, at the National Guard Armory on Hwy. 64 East. Registration will be from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Donors are urged to preschedule in order to avoid the long delays of previous visits, sometimes as long as three hours in length. It is suggested that the public consider donating after lunch due to the usual overcrowding in the morning.

Davie's quota for this Bloodmobile visit is 130 pints. As Drexel-Heritage schedules their own employees through the personnel department, it is unnecessary for those persons to call, but everyone else is urged to call Nancy Murphy at 634-5393 to schedule an appointment. Everyone coming will be attended to, but prescheduling will greatly reduce waiting times.

He further observed, "I don't know whether all of the adjoining property owners (to the ditch)...would be willing to go on a half-and-half basis when the minimum amount Andrew is talking about is forty or fifty thousand dollars."

Added Hall, "I don't know where we go from here...because we're in no financial position to be able to pay for it."

Mayor R.C. Smith agreed with Hall that the town cannot afford, at present, to fund tens or hundreds of thousands of dollars for the ditch problem.

Hall did say at last week's board meeting, "It's a problem of many years that I think can't be solved overnight and it's going to take a period of years to solve it, but I do think that there's some way that we can get started on it in a gradual process."

Commissioner Patricia Latta said "the problem is getting to the point that we need to really look at it...because if we put it off it's not going to get any better."

Suggested Hall, "It would seem like that it might be advisable, in a way, for us to have a meeting with the residents (of Tot and Avon streets)...to outline the legal aspects...as well as the financial aspects and then see what their feeling is whether or not they're ready for us to proceed..."

The other commissioners agreed with Hall that a meeting between the town board and the residents involved in the controversy should be held before this year's budget for the town is adopted in the summer.

Underlying all of the controversy surrounding the drainage ditch problem on Tot and Avon streets is the unanswered question of precisely what is the town's legal liability regarding the matter.

At the March town board meeting town attorney Van Hoy noted that the problem with the ditch has come up repeatedly before the town board over the years and legal questions exist about the town's liability.

Van Hoy did say at that meeting that "That problem on Avon Street has been one that has been here for a long, long time...and you can't spend public money for a private problem."

He continued by commenting that "the town where it diverts the flow (into the ditch) has responsibility," but where it increases the burden of the flow there is some question—a substantial question about the town's responsibility.

Concluded Van Hoy at the March meeting, "I guess where there's a will there's a way and maybe with enough legal research some solution can be found of an avenue to proceed, but it's a very difficult problem that can potentially lead you into a morass."

If the problem with the drainage ditch does lead its participants into a morass it might be necessary in the future to have the issue settled in a court of law.

Groups In Neighboring Counties Express Opposition To Perkins

The recent nuclear power plant accident at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania has given added impetus to those persons and groups in neighboring counties opposing the construction by Duke Power Co. of the Perkins Nuclear Station in Davie County.

More than 200 people responded favorably in a public hearing in Lexington last Thursday night to various calls to halt the licensing of the proposed Perkins plant on the Yadkin River.

And about 20 members of a Winston-Salem group called Citizens Against the Perkins Power Plant held a news conference Monday afternoon in front of the old Forsyth County Courthouse to voice their opposition to Perkins.

The hearing last week in Lexington, organized earlier in the week by a number of Davidson County residents, attracted a number of local officials, an aide to 5th District Rep. Steven L. Neal, the head of an active anti-Perkins group and four representatives of Duke Power.

The crowd responded with loud applause to several calls to stop the construction of the Perkins plant. The crowd's response was one of the largest displays of anti-nuclear sentiment in Davidson County to date.

David Springer of Davie County, head of the High Rock Lake Association, a group actively opposing the Perkins plant, said the incident at Three Mile Island has provoked a "crisis of confidence" in nuclear technology.

"The events at Harrisburg," he said, "have made credible some economic impacts we have previously felt could be caused by a nuclear accident. These events indicate a possibility that the water supply of Davidson County could be severely and perhaps permanently damaged by such a plant."

The High Rock group opposes the plant in part because of fears that cooling towers at the plant would evaporate enough water to substantially lower the water level of the Yadkin River. The proposed site of the plant is in Davie County, upstream from High Rock Lake.

The plant, which would be built by Duke Power, also is opposed by the Davidson County Board of Commissioners. Several Davie County officials, however, have indicated that they support the plant.

"Our concern is that our water resources are much more important to us than additional electricity," said C.H. Timberlake, a Davidson commissioner. "We are also concerned with (radioactive) waste disposal. There is no logical or safe way to do it."

James Phillips, an aide to Neal, urged all those present to write letters to Neal expressing their opinion on nuclear power. "I have been waiting since last week for calls from people concerned about nuclear power," Phillips said. "Those calls have not materialized."

Phillips said that Neal has a private, moral concern about nuclear power, but that his public position has been based in part on the economics of nuclear power.

The Rev. Wilson Carter, a Lexington minister, asked Phillips to tell Neal to find out how his constituency feels about nuclear power. "We want you to tell Congressman Neal to vote his conscience and not just his politics," Carter said. The remark drew applause.

Johnny Elliot and Don Blackman, two of the Duke Power spokesmen, spoke only briefly at the meeting. They questioned the data used in a film prepared by the High Rock Group and answered questions.

The two, along with two other Duke employees at the meeting, were the only people at the meeting who said they favor nuclear power.

Carter said construction of the Perkins plant is necessary if people assume that personal use of electricity must increase. "I challenge that assumption on the basis of its morality and its rightness," he said. "I think it's wrong to continue in a materialistic spiral." He called the waste of energy "ostentatious, vulgar and wrong."

Members of the Citizens Against the Perkins Power Plant meeting in Winston-Salem on Monday said the Three Mile Island accident illustrates what they have been saying for years: Nuclear power plants are not safe.

Bill Crow, a member of the three-year-old group, said the accident in Pennsylvania "gives us the chance to see the possible consequences of building Perkins and the opportunity to avoid them."

He said industry and government officials' assurances that nuclear plants are safe "look pretty bleak in view of what happened at Harrisburg."

At a meeting with reporters in Charlotte last week, William S. Lee, the president of Duke Power, said that the company's Oconee Nuclear Station - its only nuclear plant - is operating safely. Lee said that no changes are needed at the Clemson, S.C., plant as a result of the accident at the Three Mile Island.

Crow and others said conservation of energy is the best alternative to building more nuclear plants. Use of electricity is increasing about 2 percent each year, Crow said, and that could be offset easily if people would cut down on unnecessary consumption.

Katie Winship said that if Duke Power needs more power plants, it should build coal-fired plants, which are safer and cheaper. She said that coal plants, even using the latest anti-pollution technology, can produce power for about two-thirds the cost of power generated by nuclear plants.

That contention is disputed by Duke Power. Lee said last week that nuclear plants are by far the cheapest generators of electricity.

Members of the anti-Perkins plant group said public apathy - even after the highly publicized accident at Three Mile Island - is a major part of the problem.

Frances King said the people who are least able to defend themselves against "the poisonous wastes" of the nuclear industry are those who are "unaware of the danger and do not realize the need to fight for their lives and health and to protect North Carolina."

"South Carolina has been made into a nuclear-waste dump," she said. "We must let our congressmen and legislators know they must act to prevent this happening to North Carolina."

Citizens Against the Perkins Power Plant has an estimated 35-50 members.

St. Jude Volunteers Are Needed For Bike-A-Thon

Johnny Hendrix, chairman for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon, today asked residents of Davie County and Mocksville to volunteer their time and energy for the April 28, 1979 ride.

Volunteers are needed to help conduct the Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon on April 28, 1979, to raise funds to support the world-famous research center in its battle against catastrophic childhood diseases.

"We're looking for people who are willing to contribute a little of their time to help us help children live," Hendrix said. "Our biggest need is for riders since they are the ones who will make this event a success."

"Those who want to ride should pick up their registration-sponsor forms at school now and start getting sponsors," Hendrix said. "Everyone who raises $25.00 will get a St. Jude Children's Research Hospital t-shirt, and those who raise $75.00 or more will get a special biker's back pack."

"We'll have special prizes for the top riders," Hendrix said.

At St. Jude's, doctors and scientists are studying leukemia, Hodgkin's Disease and other forms of childhood cancer as well as other deadly diseases that strike the young. The results of research conducted there are freely shared with doctors and scientists all over the world, enabling stricken children to have a better chance to live.

Founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude's is the leader in the battle against these diseases.

"But as long as children are still dying," Hendrix said, "St. Jude Children's Hospital must keep fighting. We need your help."

Volunteers can contact Johnny Hendrix, Rt. 8, Mocksville and phone 634-3454 after 6 p.m. to help.

Vehicles Collide On US 64

Two vehicles were involved in a collision March 3rd about 3:30 p.m. on U.S. 64, five-tenths of a mile east of Mocksville.

Involved was a 1972 Chevrolet operated by Barry Donald Doughty, 27, of Rt. 2 Salisbury and a 1965 Chevrolet operated by Jeffrey Ward Martin, 18, of 718 Magonia Avenue, Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman W.D. Grooms said his investigation showed that Doughty was attempting a left turn onto U.S. 64 from the John Crofts Road. Doughty said he did not see the Martin vehicle due to westbound traffic and pulled into the path of the vehicle and was struck in the rear quarters.

Damage to the Doughty vehicle was estimated at $300 and $400 to the Martin vehicle. Doughty was charged with an unsafe movement.

Many Visit New Home Of Howard Realty...A Product Of Restoration

Approximately 450 people attended the open house held Sunday afternoon by Howard Realty and Insurance.

Commemorating the business's new location at the intersection of Lexington Avenue and Salisbury Street, guests were given a tour of the building containing offices of Davie Builders, H&R Block and Howard Realty.

Julia Howard, owner of the facility said, "We were extremely pleased with the turnout and thank all the people that helped to make the open house a success."

"We were overwhelmed with the response, and attribute this to the fact that people were allowed to watch the restoration of the building to its present state."

A new and growing trend in commercial office space, the facility was a product of the restoration of the Old McGuire house which dates back to the early 1800's. It is also considered by many to be the site of the Old Mocksville Tavern and during restoration procedures timbers joined by wooden pegs were discovered.

Previous owners of the house include Terry Hellard, 1884; Naomi Hellard, 1905; E.P. Bradley, 1914; and Mrs. James McGuire, 1919. The site was purchased by Mrs. Howard in September of 1977 from Mary and Jane McGuire of Jericho Road and restoration began in November of the same year.

Structural changes within the house remained at a minimal, mainly consisting of the removal of walls between rooms to provide larger office spaces. All of the original timber that was unusable was used, and the original light fixtures, door knobs, doors and windows were kept intact.

Previous to their new location, Howard Realty and Insurance operated out of an office located at 262 1/2 Salisbury Street. The business has been in operation since 1970 and is owned solely by Mr. and Mrs. Abe Howard of Mocksville.

Refreshments, gifts and door prizes were given by the firm to those in attendance.

Sue Cave registers for door prizes to be given away as Abe Howard and Matt Bullabough assist.

Little Tonya Lynn Mullis was honored with a party Saturday afternoon at her home on Route 4, Mocksville in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Tonya, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Mullis, was two years of age on Sunday, April 8.

Approximately 35 guests were served an Easter Bunny and egg cake, jelly beans, chocolate bunnies, potato chips and Kool Aide. Each little guest was also presented with party favors.

Among the special guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Benson of Route 4, Mocksville and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mullis of Mocksville; and her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Flip Benson and Mr. Jim Allen all of Route 4, Mocksville.

WEEKLY NEWS...

from Representative James E. Lambeth
North Carolina Legislature, 30th District

North Carolina Legislative Building, Raleigh, N.C. 27611 (919-733-5863)

We believe that the current legislative session will adjourn the middle of May but we would be pleased to hear your comment or suggestions concerning present issues before that time.

The House received a Bill from the Senate Tuesday which seeks to designate a day as American Family Day in North Carolina. Sent to the Committee on Rules for further discussion the Bill would set aside the first Sunday in August annually for families.

We co-sponsored a Bill in the Wildlife Commission's legislature package which calls for a special waterfowl hunting license in the form of a pictorial stamp to sell for $3.25. All of the proceeds would be placed in a special fund to be used only for the attraction,

Tire Blows Out And Volkswagen Wrecks

A tire blowout on a 1969 Volkswagen causing the vehicle to strike a bridge railing and overturn in the roadway. The accident happened Sunday about 11 a.m. on Interstate 40, about 11.4 miles east of Mocksville.

The vehicle was being operated by Janice Dianne Marshall, 18, of Rt. 3 Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman J.L. Payne said his investigation showed that the right rear tire on the vehicle blew out causing it to strike the bridge railing and overturn in the roadway. Damage was estimated at $400 to the Volks.

Ms. Marshall was charged with operating a vehicle with improper equipment.

propagation, management, maintenance, restoration and control of migratory waterfowl in North Carolina. It is hoped that a North Carolina artist will design the special stamp which is expected to net over $100,000.

Dr. Albert Edwards, minister of First Presbyterian Church here, will address members of the Legislative Breakfast with a special Easter message Friday, April 13 at 7:30 a.m. at First Baptist Church, corner of Edenton Street and the Capitol Square. If you would like to join us contact us as soon as possible.

Vehicles In Collision

Two vehicles collided March 4th about 6:35 a.m. on U.S. 64 west of Mocksville.

Involved was a 1968 Ford operated by Jason Leo Powell, 17, of 852 Hardison St., Mocksville and a 1968 Plymouth, operated by Billy Edward Smoot, 36, of 324 Depot St., Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman A.C. Stokes said his investigation showed that Smoot had stopped at the intersection of the Sheffield Road and U.S. 64 when a tractor-trailer made a right turn from U.S. 64 onto the Sheffield Road. Smoot began making a left turn onto U.S. 64 while the truck was turning and failed to see the Powell vehicle approaching. Powell applied brakes, slid around in the road, and struck the Smoot vehicle.

Smoot was charged with a safe movement violation.

Now Is Best Time For Immunization Of Pre-Schoolers

Now is the best time to avoid the rush and get pre-schoolers immunized for next fall.

Ms. Connie Stafford, Davie County Health Director said that every summer, the immunization clinics are crowded with parents who wait until the last minute to get their children's shots for the upcoming school year.

It is state law that children must have three DPT shots, three oral polio doses, one measles vaccine and one rubella vaccine before they can enter school. In fact, first graders need to present both their shot records and their birth certificates to be admitted to the first grade.

Children who are attending kindergarten also need their immunizations completed.

"Clinics are just jammed in the summers; physicians offices are also packed. It is also a time when staff is short because so many people take summer vacations. If parents would go ahead and get their children's shots completed now, the summer season would be more pleasant for everyone," Ms. Stafford said.

Clinic hours at the local health department where all shots are offered free of charge are: 8:30 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 4:30, Monday through Friday.

The immunizations protect children from diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, polio, measles and rubella. Any of these diseases can cause crippling or death which a short trip to the Health Department or a physicians office can prevent, Ms. Stafford said.

When using a range with the pyrolytic self-cleaning feature, send it through the cycle after using the oven for cooking while it is still warm to save energy.

Little Apostle Film To Be Shown At Lighthouse

"The Little Apostle", will be shown at "The Lighthouse" in Cooleemee Recreation Center Saturday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Produced primarily for family viewing, the film is the story of an American businessman, stationed in Switzerland, who takes his family on a vacation trip to Italy. There they retrace the steps of the Apostle Paul up from the Mediterranean to the city of Rome.

The family has many adventures as they prowl through the ruins of history. A highlight is the discovery of an underwater city just off the shoreline where they have pitched their tent.

The "littlest apostle" is their son, Paul. He is a winsome chap, just old enough to experience initial awareness to the Bible and its teachings. He has a penchant for wandering away from the others, frequently gets lost, but provides unique spiritual impact through his adventures.

As the film concludes, the family discovers that their love and respect for each other have been the means of productive witness to another vacationing family.

The public is invited free of charge.

Scouting News

The big happening in scouting in the Davie District for April is Scouting Leadership Development (SLD). As the name of the program indicates the training is for adult leaders and is a requirement for Woodbadge (a "degree" of

Taxpayers May Designate To Campaign Fund

North Carolina taxpayers who have paid Federal income taxes may participate in the 1980 Presidential Campaign by designating $1 of those taxes on their tax return, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The space on the return is for taxpayers to either designate or decline to designate by marking "YES" or "NO" box. If it is a joint return for married persons, one may want to designate and the other decline, or both may want to mark the "YES" box.

In any case, the designation will not increase a tax bill nor decrease a refund.

sorts which is awarded to leaders who have completed certain courses in leadership training.

SLD '79 will be conducted during the evenings on April 11, 17, and 23. The schedule concludes with an overnight camp on April 28, and 29.

During this last phase the students will be organized into a troop with Jim McBride serving as the Scoutmaster; Maurice Anderson as Senior Patrol Leader; Grey Lauderdale, Junior Williams and David McBride as Quartermasters; Henry Hunt Jr. as Scribe and Historian; Ed Tkach and Vernon Whitaker will serve as Patrol Counselors.

Instruction will be given in such areas as troop meetings, the troop committee, and troop function. Those scout leaders (and prospective leaders) who wish to take part in the training should contact Jimmy McBride at Davie Jewlers.

Troop 555 has been high on the activities list with two scout, Todd Cusino and Scott Percival, receiving the first class rank. These two scouts have also been selected to be Counselors in Training at Camp Uwharrie.

Cub scout leaders are reminded of the all day training session at the scout office at Greensboro on April 28 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This special session is for all cub leaders. The emphasis of the special session is to "train the trainers".

All scout troops and cub packs are in constant need of adults who are willing to spend a little time each week (or month) in helping to train tomorrow's leaders. How about you? Would you like to be a part of this very important job?

County Schools Hold Annual Declamation Contest

The annual Declamation Contest, sponsored by Davie County Schools and the Ingersoll-Rand Company, was held in each of the county's six schools last week. This year 374 elementary and high school students presented declamations on topics of their choice.

Elementary students' declamations must last a minimum of five minutes; while high school students must commit to memory a declamation of not less than seven minutes.

Winners from each elementary school, and from Davie High School will receive savings bond awards of $100

(first place), $50 (second place), and $25 (third place). In addition, all participants in the county-wide contest will receive plaques for being winners at their individual school.

Elementary school winners were:
 Cooleemee School-Todd Crofts, grade 7 - "My Big Sister"
 Mocksville Middle-Harold Lee Rollins, grade 6-"Abraham Lincoln"
 Pinebrook-Joseph D. Riddle, grade 8-"Tell Tale Heart"
 William R. Davie-Chris Anderson, grade 8-"What It Was, Was Football"
 High school winners were:

George Kontos, grade 12 - "My Life With Epilepsy"
 Avis Watkins, grade 12 - "The Amen Corner"
 George Kimberly, grade 11 - "The Family of Tomorrow"
 Harold Smith, grade 11 - "Growing Up In A Small Town"
 Kevin Cornatzer, grade 10 - "The Odd Couple"

The above winners will compete in the county-wide contest, to be held Thursday, April 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Davie County Public Library. The public is invited to attend this event.

Folk-Ways and Folk-Speech

In the several years I have been involved with the weekly edition of Folk-Ways, I have acquired various craft items, work implements, and the like which help to add a confused look to my office.

There was also no order in their acquisition: most simply represent a person or a place, at one time or another the focus of a column.

One item in particular draws a fair amount of attention from passersby. It is a huge maul with a head of blackgum and a handle of hickory, purchased at the old Mast Store in Valle Crucis some years back.

In early times similar mauls were used for such farm chores as driving fence posts, splitting rails, and the like. Often they were one-piece affairs fashioned from a hickory log. They were incredibly tough, much to be preferred in durability to the one I won.

Mine, however, has a story association going back to a winter day and a tall tale session by a group of Valle Crucis farmers gathered around the double-poled stove in Mast Store.

One of them had brought in a number of homemade items for sale or barter: bark baskets fro huckleberry picking, wooden stirring spoons, several axe handles and the maul.

The maul brought on a story by a longtime Valley resident.

"You remember Jake Early who lived up the Dutch Creek road? Well, him and his boy Jim was right good hands at farming and keeping up their place in general, but Jake was so high tempered that a little thing would set him off. And since Jim was usually the closest one by, it was him who got cussed and threatened.

"Jake also had a borrowin' neighbor who had a way of keepin' what he borrowed. Well, one day Jake decided he'd split some chestnut rails to close in a haystack, but he couldn't find his maul, high or low.

"By this time he had up a full head of steam. 'Jim,' he yelled. 'You get yourself over this minute to Ned Green's place and fetch me my maul. If you ain't back with it in a half hour I'll solid skin your hide and his'n too.'

"Jim, he took off like a shot for the neighbor's, but they was no findin' that maul anywhere. So back he come empty-handed. By this time Jake was ready to explode.

"'Blame you, boy,' he said, 'I'll teach you to come back home without my maul!' And with that he lit in on the boy with a hickory stick the size of your thumb.

"Well, Jim was a right good-sized boy and he decided he'd had enough of that. So that night he gathered up his duds and lit out of the Valley.

"He wound up somewhere on the west coast, got him a good job, and went on to law school. When he got out of school he set up his law office and done real good.

"By and by he decided to come home for a visit, so before he drove up to the old homeplace, he stopped by the store and bought him a maul.

"When he drove up to the house there was Jake sitting on the porch sunning himself. Jim jumped out of his car, reached back and grabbed the maul, and slammed it down in front of Jake.

"'All right, Paw' he says. 'Here's your damn maul!'"

The Most Holy Of Occasions...

Easter In Greece

Pete Kontos of Route 2, Advance, a native of Greece explains the intricate ceremonies involved in the Easter service.

Easter is a holy occasion commemorating the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. Celebrated in the early spring, the day falls when the land is bursting with new life, exemplifying the fresh beginning given man through the resurrection.

Celebrated worldwide by those of Christian faith, Easter observances vary from church to church, state to state, country to country. In this area special church services are held Easter morning, usually followed by family dinners and Easter egg hunts.

Martha and Pete Kontos of Rt. 2, Advance, have unique ways of celebrating this time, carrying over Greek traditions and ceremonies prevalent to the season. Kontos, a native of Greece and member of the Greek Orthodox Church, recalled customs and observances he participated in as a child in Greece.

"In Greece Easter is a highly religious time marked with ceremonies and family gatherings."

"Greek Easter falls differently than in this country, usually a week ahead," he said, "but every four years the date is the same."

"There isn't an Easter bunny to visit children or egg hunts, and the entire season is viewed with deep religious convictions."

"During Holy Week or the Week of Passion (the week preceding Easter) the events of Christ's life are relived so that through His suffering, church members may be resurrected with Him," said Kontos.

"The services are beautiful and moving, and are rich in traditions of our religious history."

"Forty days preceding Easter, the Grecian people fast, abstaining from all meats and meat products. During this time no meat, fish, milk, butter, cheese or eggs may be eaten until Easter Sunday.

Apokreos, the name given to the week preceding Lent, is a gay time of festivities and begins with "Meat Fare Sunday" on which day all meat in the house is either disposed of or consumed. On the following Sunday, known as "Cheese Fare Sunday," all eggs, cheese and butter are finished and the following Monday, "Pure Monday," begins the forty day fast.

The only exception to the fast is March 25 during the Annunciation of the Virgin Mary and Palm Sunday when the Church allows the eating of fish.

"During the fasting period," said Kontos, "people of the Greek Orthodox religion essentially become vegetarians. "I, myself do not fast the entire forty days. However, my son George, is a firm follower of the practice and strictly conforms to this custom."

"On Palm Sunday, the Lenten fast is lifted and the eating of fish is allowed, The Greek table," said Kontos, "is usually decorated with palm branches received in church and services reflect the entrance of Christ into Jerusalem."

"Holy Week is marked with several daily church services all tracing the events in Christ's last week on earth. On Holy Thursday eggs are dyed red to symbolize Mary's tears and the egg itself acts as a symbol of the Resurrection. Lambropsomo (Easter bread) is also baked on this day in preparation of the Sunday Easter feast.

On Good Friday nothing is done and to commemorate Christ's being given vinegar mixed with bile, Greeks eat lentil soup with vinegar. This stands as a means of recreating the sufferings of Christ.

"On Good Friday morning, the figure of Christ, carved from wood, is taken from the cross and carried around the church. It is then placed in the Epitaphios, a large wooden table, to signify the burial. The table is decorated with flowers and members file past this symbolic tomb."

"Shortly before midnight on Saturday, church members gather each holding a candle, to await the resurrection light from the altar," said Kontos.

"At midnight, all lights are extinguished and the priest lights his candle from the altar flame. The light is transmitted one by one to the entire congregation and soon the dark church, which symbolizes the darkness of the grave, is aglow with light.

Each member strives," said Kontos, "to return home with their candle still aglow. They use this resurrection light to rekindle the flame of a candle placed in the east corner of the house."

"These services usually last until 3 a.m.," he said, "and depending on what part of Greece you are in, several salutes are given."

At the culmination of services, military guns are fired and boats in the harbor honk their horns all in recognition of the resurrection.

On Easter morning the fast is over and red eggs are cracked against each other by members of the family. Greetings of "Christos Anesti" (Christ is risen) and "Alithos Anesti" (Indeed He is risen) are chanted and take the place of 'good morning and good evening' until Ascension day, the fortieth day after Easter.

The cracking of the egg symbolizes the loosening of the bonds that held man captive before the crucifixion of Christ.

"Easter Sunday and Monday are festive days," said Kontos, "with great feasts and family gatherings."

"A lamb is usually roasted and mageritsa is served. This is a traditional soup eaten after resurrection services and is made with the entrails and internal meats of the baby lamb, seasoned with spring onions and dill."

"Tsoureki, Easter twist bread is also available and Easter baskets are made from bread dough for the children."

"Also, said Kontos, "children travel from house to house distributing tiny pieces of "Holy Cloth", a cloth blessed by the Priest."

In preparations for Easter, Mrs. Kontos has prepared many of the Greek delicacies common to the season. Included are Baklava, most famous of Greek desserts made with nuts, butter, phyllo pastry and syrup; Femikla, honey dipped cookies; Kourabiedes, rich, short cookies covered with powdered sugar; plus a host of others.

"The Greek traditions in our home have been incorporated with American Easter customs," said Mrs. Kontos.

"When the children were little we dyed eggs and the Easter bunny also came to visit. In fact," she said with a laugh, "we had an American and a Greek Easter bunny."

"The Easter customs of America and Greece may vary," said Kontos, "but the basic celebration is the same. It is a time that commemorates the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ."

Martha Kontos, a native Davie Countian, has learned to prepare many of the Grecian delicacies. Pete is shown with the traditional Easter Twist bread containing a red egg.

Pete and Martha prepare to crack the red eggs that marks the relief of the 40 day Lenten fast.

Delicacies prepared for the Easter season include (l to r) Baklava, the most famous of Greek desserts; Kourabiedes, rich, short cookie covered with powdered sugar; Diples, very thin dough fried and dipped in syrup and sprinkled with cinnamon and nuts; Karidopeta, cake made with eggs, ground nuts and syrup; Femika, honey-dipped cookies; Koulourakia, butter cookies; and Paximadia, a sweet biscuit type cookie.

Reading the Easter story, Kontos remarked that Greek Easter services explicitly follow Biblical translations of the event.

Easter Observances Vary According To Country

By Kathy Tomlinson

Easter is the greatest Christian religious festival and is a period set aside for mourning the trial and crucifixion of Christ.

It is also a springtime festival from which many modern day customs have sprung.

Eggs in the Christian religion are symbols of life and of Christ's resurrection and have been associated with Easter for centuries.

Several reasons are given for coloring them, but two of the most common are to fulfill the longing for bright colors as spring arrives and to symbolize Christ's blood.

The rabbit is also sacred to the holiday and the idea that the Easter bunny lays or brings brightly colored eggs for children originated in Germany.

Baskets filled with eggs to the point of overflowing and egg hunts are common to the area, but traditions vary from place to place.

Mrs. Elspeth Webster of Garden Valley in Mocksville, a native of Scotland said, "When we arrived in America four years ago, the Easter bunny was a complete surprise to us."

"In Scotland children are given lavish candy eggs from Grands and Aunts. We also had new clothes for the occasion."

"Easter eggs were not dyed, but individually painted. We rolled them down a hill, symbolizing the stone being rolled away from Christ's tomb."

"Occasionally," she said, "there was an Easter Bonnet parade in which old hats were decorated for display. I can remember this custom, but it was not a terribly common one."

Mrs. Johnny Frye of Oak Street in Mocksville, a native of Germany said, "Easter celebrations are very similar in Germany and in the states."

"When I was a child, lavishly decorated eggs were bought at the bakery and not decorated at home."

"They had a shiny finish and were very brightly colored," she added. Also, we didn't hide individual eggs, instead the Easter bunny brought a complete basket which was hidden from us."

"Our treat on Easter morning was to find this basket filled with goodies," said Mrs. Frye.

"In the Catholic Church, Easter was a time when children celebrated their first Holy Communion."

Originating from England, Mrs.

Christine Minwalla of Garden Valley celebrated Easter customs very similar to those of Scotland. "There was no hiding of Easter eggs in England," she said, "but children were given large chocolate eggs filled with lovely toffees and candies."

"We attended church services on Good Friday as well as Easter Morning, and it was traditional that all little girls had a new bonnet for these services."

Come Sunday Morning all of these customs will be combined as different nationalities celebrate Easter. For children in this area there will be a visit from the Easter Bunny, a large basket of eggs to hide, and many tummies will ache from the over consumption of chocolate.

Churches will fill to capacity as people gather to commemorate this holy occasion and minds will shift to that day long ago when Christ was nailed to the Cross in an effort to save the world.

Egg Rolling--A Scottish Tradition

Jennifer quickly adapts to the art of egg rolling. A Scottish tradition, Mrs. Webster commented that it stands as a symbol of the rolling away of the stone closing Christ's tomb.

Demons May Not Have Been The Only Thing To Come Out Of Pandora's Box

By Charles Babington

Pandora's box may have been full of demons, but on the other hand, it may have contained simply ragweed, dust, molds, and cat fur.

Although these allergy-causing agents aren't the only evils in the world, they make a good start. About 35 million Americans are allergic to something, and usually there's little they can do to avoid the runny noses and eyes, and the itching and swelling their allergies bring, says Dr. William Yount of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

"An allergy is an inappropriate immune response to something in the environment, says Yount, a professor of medicine and bacteriology in the School of Medicine. Scientists aren't sure why certain agents trigger the inappropriate responses.

The body contains several types of antibodies. One of these is called IgE. Its main function probably is to fight parasitic infections, Yount says. Sometimes, however, IgE antibodies react unsuitably to certain foreign substances, causing allergy symptoms.

IgE antibodies are bound to cells throughout the body, Yount explains. When an allergy-causing agent (allergen) is inhaled, ingested, absorbed or injected into the body, the antibodies cause the cells to secrete vasoactive substances, such as histamines. These substances cause vessels to dilate, producing swelling, and cause smooth muscles, especially in the chest, to contract, producing wheezing.

The secretions also account for the watery accumulations in the eyes and nose.

Most persons find these symptoms tolerable, Yount says, especially with the help of drugs such as antihistamines. But those who are allergic to substances injected directly into the bloodstream, such as bee venom and penicillin, are in greater danger. Such allergies may cause blood vessels to collapse, sending the person into shock, he says. Swelling of the lips and face sometimes precedes such a reaction.

Persons who are allergic to insect stings or bites should carry "anakit," and learn to inject themselves with epinephrine (adrenalin). Those allergic to penicillin or other drugs always should remind their physician. They also may want to wear a "med-alert" bracelet. If a reaction to a sting causes swelling greater than 10 to 12 inches in diameter, Yount says, the person should be tested by a doctor to find out what he's allergic to.

If an allergy comes and goes with the season, the allergen is probably pollen. Hundreds of types of pollens may trigger the reactions generally known as hay fever. Trees are the biggest culprits in the spring, Yount says, with grasses doing the greatest damage in June and July. Ragweed is most bothersome from mid-August until the first frost.

Common year-round allergens include dust, molds, animal fur and foods, especially shellfish and nuts.

Yount says doctors don't fully understand why strong emotions sometimes touch off allergic reactions such as hives. "Allergic reactions are multifactorial," he says. "Emotions may help trigger a reaction, but by themselves they aren't sufficient. There must be a physical cause, also."

Allergic persons probably are genetically predisposed to their allergies, he says. Allergies sometimes show up fairly late in life because the body can resist the allergen for a time.

The best remedy for allergies, he says, is to avoid the allergen. That's hard to do if the villain is pollen, which has been found in the air 150 miles out to sea. Antihistamines, or a vacation during one's most susceptible time may help.

If anti-allergy drugs cause complications, or if the allergy produces extensive swelling or discomfort, one should consult a physician quickly.

Investment, Stock Market Seminar At Library April 26

On April 26 at 7:30 p.m. there will be a one night seminar on the stock market and investing sponsored by the Davie County Public Library. The seminar will be free to the public and will be conducted by Mr. Ben Browder of Advance, who is with Interstate Securities in Winston-Salem.

The purpose of the workshop will be to explain the basics of the stock market, to show interested persons how to obtain the necessary information about investing, and to determine whether or not there would be further interest in Davie County. Mr. Browder feels that at this point in our development, many people are scared of or are apprehensive about investing, and hopes that some basic education about what the market is and how it works will remove some trepidation.

The Davie County Public Library has been enlarging its business collection and hopes to be able to provide interested people with the books to find the necessary information. Any interested person is urged to sign up now. The seminar will be limited to 20 persons so please register by calling the library at 634-2023. Refreshments will be served and the evening should be worth while.

Joins U. S. Air Force

Nicky W. Allen, grandson of Mrs. Gladys Kiger, of Rt. 5, Mocksville, N.C. has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Allen joined under the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP). This program will allow Airman Allen, a senior at Davie County High School, to graduate before reporting for active duty on July 17, 1979.

Sergeant Gary L. Hubbard, Air Force recruiter in Salisbury, N.C. stated that Airman Allen successfully completed a series of tests which qualified him for the Printer Systems Operator field of training.

Hi! I'm Carol Lanette Hayes. I was one year old April 2, 1979. I am the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hayes. Mom's the former Roberta Handlin. I had a birthday dinner at home and got to open presents and play with my cake.

8th District Republicans To Meet April 21st

The North Carolina Eighth District Republican Convention will be held Saturday April 21, at 2 p.m. at the upper court room of the Rowan County Courthouse in Salisbury.

All Davie County delegates and alternate delegates who would like to go in a group are asked to meet at the Davie County Courthouse and be ready to leave at 1 p.m.

Easter--A Time for Families

By Genevieve Millet Landau
Director, Hasbro Center for Child Development and Education

can get into shape by brisk walking and hiking, jogging, playing tennis, exercising. Youngsters seeing their parents shaping up for spring and summer will be encouraged to follow suit, doing things geared to their own ages and interests. According to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, children should get at least one hour of vigorous physical activity every day. And research shows that children who see their parents exercising are more likely to want to be physically fit themselves.

Now is the time to start. Most of the outdoor games that kids like increase their coordination and strengthen their muscles without making a pressured, organized thing of it.

Easter marks more, of course, than the beginning of a new season of sports and outdoor play. The religious celebrations of Easter and Passover symbolize and reaffirm the values of community life and growth. This is why we give presents, dress in new and cheerful clothing, prepare festive meals to share with friends and family. Of equal importance are the tasks and responsibilities we share with our children at this time. For children learn their parents' values by doing, as well as by watching. By doing such simple chores as helping to rake the lawn, planting seeds, taking part in traditional spring cleaning chores, children develop a sense of responsibility and obligation towards property and the natural world. Taking part in such tasks not only teaches values but it's great fun if everyone pitches in. There are also lots of lovely, special things for parents and children to share during the Easter season. Simple things such as dyeing eggs, searching for new leaves and flowers, spying bird nests all take on new meaning when parents and children do them together.

To young children, Easter means presents, new clothes, chocolate bunnies, Easter eggs and baskets. But the season can be given its deepest meaning by teaching our children and reminding ourselves of the joys of helping others.

You might wish, for example, to have a collection party so your children and perhaps some of the neighbors' kids can donate to others, toys or clothing which are no longer needed. Clothes can be gathered and given to agencies which refurbish and distribute them to families who are less fortunate; toys and other possessions can be freshened up and repaired for other youngsters to enjoy. The Easter season is a time for new beginnings—in physical and emotional fitness and, above all, in caring and sharing.

Twelve different drawings will be chosen and awarded $5. each.

Vehicles Collide

Two vehicles collided last Thursday about 5 p.m. in an accident on Main Street in Mocksville.

Involved was a 1964 Ford truck operated by Frank Elwood Chaplin, 55, of Rt. 3 Mocksville and a 1975 Ford truck operated by Mathayer Jeffrey Frost, 60, of Rt. 7 Mocksville.

Mocksville Policeman B.A. Foster said his investigation showed that Chaplin was backing out of a parking space when the Frost vehicle sideswiped it in the rear. Damage of $25 was estimated to the Frost truck. There were no injuries and no charges.

Lincoln Log Homes Being Built Here

To most people, the idea of living in a log house brings to mind a one-room log cabin with a dirt floor and no indoor plumbing. Mr. and Mrs. James Foster of Mocksville do not look at log houses as being like that at all. Their new log home which is under construction just off Country Lane, bears little, if any, resemblance, to its pioneer ancestors.

The Fosters, who are area dealers for Lincoln Log Homes, Inc., have undertaken construction of the first Lincoln log house in this area. Their home, termed "The Gettysburg" by the Lincoln people, has 2484 square feet of living area divided over two floors. The floor plan for "The Gettysburg" calls for a three-bedroom, three-bathroom configuration in addition to a rather large kitchen and living area; and also calls for a utility room which could be "pressed into service as another bedroom", according to the Fosters.

James Foster states that the Lincoln Co. offers about twenty different styles of log homes, most of which can be built for up to one-third less than comparable conventional style homes. He also added that the greatest savings can be had if you are willing and able to do most of the work on the house yourself.

The logs are furnished by the Lincoln Co. in a sort of kit form. Each log is numbered and coded as to use in construction, and the builder is furnished a complete set of plans. The main things that the would-be do-it-yourselfer has to farm out are the foundation, plumbing and electrical work, according to Foster.

These modern log homes are constructed using a combination of old and new building methods. The basic construction of the walls is the same as it has been for the last 200 years, but in the case of the Lincoln homes, each log is factory sawed and fitted from yellow pine according to a pre-set specification. The corner joints look much the same as in older log houses, but Lincoln uses what it calls a "Weather-Lok" joint in its homes. All inside work such as window framing, cabinetry and trim work done by contemporary methods.

Foster also adds that upkeep costs are lower than they would be for a conventional house. He says inside and outside walls do not have to be painted, and no wall board has to be used on the inside walls.

The Lincoln Co. says that logs make a fine natural insulation. They are estimated to have 6 times the insulating capacity of brick of equal thickness. An energy package is also offered with the homes in which the entire house and its hot water can be heated by a stove, fireplace and/or solar panels.

Foster says that delivery on most of the homes is available within thirty days, for anyone wishing to undertake construction of a Lincoln Log Home.

Alcohol Information Report

By: WILLIAM F. WEANT, M.S.
ALCOHOLISM EDUCATION CONSULTANT

There are many factors that determine when alcohol is becoming a problem for someone. Consider the following factors in determining whether your use of alcohol and that of your friends is becoming a problem.

- Anyone who must drink in order to function or cope with life has a drinking problem.
- Anyone who by his own personal definition or that of his family or friends frequently drinks to a state of intoxication has a drinking problem.
- Anyone who goes to work or school intoxicated has a drinking problem.
- Anyone who is intoxicated and drives a car has a drinking problem.
- Anyone who sustains bodily injury requiring medical attention as a consequence of an intoxicated state has a drinking problem.
- Anyone who under the influence of alcohol does something he contends he would never do without alcohol has a drinking problem.
- Having a drinking problem and being an alcoholic can be two different things. An alcoholic is an individual who cannot consistently decide whether he or she will begin to drink, and then after beginning cannot consistently choose when he or she will stop drinking.
- This simple test, for women and men, can show you warning signs which indicate a strong tendency toward, or the actual illness of alcoholism. The more you answer "yes" the more indications there are for you to seek professional help.
- Are you preoccupied with thoughts about drinking, especially when you're not drinking?
- Are you restless, irritable and have the feeling of shaking "inside" when you can't drink?
- Do you have trouble putting on makeup or shaving in the morning, especially after a night of drinking?
- Do you have a morning

Center Development Association To Meet

The Center Community Development Association will meet at the community building Easter Monday, April 16 at 2 p.m. for an afternoon and evening of work, play, food and fellowship.

Plans are for a clean-up, fix-up work hour for anything that needs to be done. Play time will follow this. Your choice of games. A cook-out of hamburgers and hot dogs are planned for a 6:30 p.m. supper. Everyone bring something in the line of hamburgers, hot dogs, onions, buns, slaw, etc. Drinks will be furnished.

A business session of the association will be held after the cook-out supper. This will be a very important meeting and everyone is urged to attend. Many reports are to be heard.

Anyone interested in the betterment of Center Community is cordially invited to come out and join in the Easter Monday Activities. Visitors always welcome.

You And The Law

The United States government requires that any persons or companies who normally lends money or sell on credit, must disclose or show to you in writing, certain information before you sign a credit contract. The most important things which they must show you in the credit contract, are (1) finance charge-or the total amount of interest you will have to pay for this loan; (2) the annual percentage rate-the yearly rate of interest you pay on the money that you are borrowing from the creditor. The higher the rate the more interest you are paying for each dollar of credit you get. (3) a clear description of the property which you will be giving as security for the loan; (4) the amount, the total number and the due dates of all the payments that you must make. The reason that the U.S. government has required loan companies to make these disclosures to borrowers before the loan is made, is to insure that borrowers understand how much money they will be paying the loan company in exchange for the present loan. In other words, if you borrow $100.00 from a small loan company and make an agreement to pay $10.00 a month to the loan company to repay this loan, you are going to have to pay $10.00 a month for more than 10 months. As you must also pay the loan company, along with the $100 you borrowed from them, a finance charge. The finance charge or the rate of interest varies from loan company to loan company. Therefore, it is in your favor to understand the rate of interest that you'll be paying in return for the loan, such that you can shop around at different loan companies to find the best rate of interest for you. Finance or small loan companies can charge very high rates of interest, in some cases, up to 36 percent per year for small loans.

PAYMENTS

It is very important to remember that payments are due on time. If you do not pay on time, the creditor can declare the whole amount that you owe due at once, and if you can't pay the whole amount, they can bring suit against you. This is called acceleration and it can spell disaster.

Buying on credit and borrowing money is very expensive and can cause you a lot of grief. For most things, that is, everything but cars and houses, it is wiser to save your money to buy rather than borrowing to buy. It's certainly much cheaper.

FINANCING

Many creditors, in particular some small loan companies, make it very easy for you to borrow money or borrow more money. Sometimes they tell you not to worry if you get a little behind. Once you get behind the company has a lot of power over you. Frequently, after a while, you will be told that you must catch up your payments or they will take your secured property, which frequently is your household furniture. Then they offer you a way out-refinance. You may even be able to get a little extra cash with refinancing. It's often tempting, but it's not wise. Why would a small loan company do that? Two reasons, first, when you refinance, 90 days worth of unpaid due interest is added to the new total on which the interest is charged. Second, the period of time during which the company can charge you interest at a rate higher than 6 percent is extended for many more months.

Many consumers end up refinancing, getting behind and refinancing again for years. It costs a lot in money and in peace of mind.

HARASSMENT

When people who have bought on credit or borrowed money get behind on their payments they frequently are "harassed" by their creditors. Your creditors are entitled to send you bills, but if you can't, won't or don't pay, the creditor must go to court. Creditors do not have the right to threaten you, or to call you, call your family, your friends, or your employer continuously about your bill.

April Proclaimed As Action For Foster Children Month

Glenn Howard, chairman of the Davie County board of commissioners, has proclaimed as "Action for Foster Children Month in Davie County" by issuing the following proclamation:

"WHEREAS, both the National Action for Foster Children Committee and Governor James B. Hunt, Jr., have proclaimed the month of April as National Action for Foster Children Month to call attention to the vital needs of foster children; and

"WHEREAS, there are fourteen foster children in Davie County who have had to leave their own home for various reasons; and

"WHEREAS, the Davie County Social Services Department and a dedicated group of foster parents are providing these children with a temporary home during their troubled times; and

"WHEREAS, many of these children have had to remain in foster care for too long rather than being returned to their natural parents or released for adoption; and

"WHEREAS, there needs to be more concern and understanding of these children's needs on behalf of our entire citizenry if their plight is to be improved;

"THEREFORE, I proclaim the month of April, 1979,

ACTION FOR FOSTER CHILDREN MONTH

in Davie County and commend the foster parents of our county for the outstanding job they are doing in helping these children. I call on all of the citizens of Davie County to become concerned and involved in helping these homeless children.

Report From Raleigh
by Rep. Ramey F. Kemp

One of the highlights of the week was a dinner sponsored by the North Carolina Principal-Assistant Association. This was one of the better attended functions so far and was a delightful evening. It was so nice to see Vernon Thompson of Mocksville Elementary School at the dinner.

Perhaps of equal importance and pleasure was a performance by the North Carolina Symphony honoring the General Assembly which was held Tuesday evening in the Memorial Auditorium. Our symphony has received high praise throughout the country and richly deserves the acclaim.

Several groups of school children from Davidson County visited the Legislative Building during the week. Also, Sheriff McCray and County Commissioners Robert Hedrick and Tommy Evans from Davidson County visited my office Wednesday and Thursday.

Several Bills which I introduced were enacted into law this week. These Bills have been explained to you before, but I merely wanted you to know that they

Davie Students Are Honored At UNC-G

Two Davie County students were among the 563 juniors honored at a special reception recently at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

The junior scholars were invited to the reception on the basis of their academic achievements at UNC-G.

They were Graydon S. Cartmell Jr., a history major, son of Mrs. Emily R. Cartmell of 106 Woodburn Place, Advance, and Samuel Scott Haire, a biology major, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Haire of Route 2, Mocksville.

The purpose of the reception was to honor the students for their academic achievements and to inform them of the opportunities for graduate study.

At the reception, the students had an opportunity to talk with UNC-G Chancellor James S. Ferguson and other University officials, including vice chancellors and heads of departments.

The 563 juniors were selected from a junior class which has an enrollment of 1,661. Each of the 563 students chosen has at least a "B" average or better.

are now law.

The Appropriations Committee is probably the hardest working committee in the General Assembly. We are now in the process of deciding exactly how much money goes where. Sometimes these decisions are very difficult to make. Everyone wants more money, but at the same time everyone wants less taxes. Of course, we cannot have both. So I am beginning to doubt that there will be much, if any, tax rebate or cut.

As fast as things are moving, we may complete our work in the Appropriations Committee in time for other work of the General Assembly to be completed on the schedule that the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor have asked us to keep. I sincerely hope so since Emily and I are looking forward to returning to Mocksville and to my practice with a great deal of anticipation.

Emily and I remained in Raleigh the weekend of April 6 because of several important functions. On Friday night, the annual Legislative Alumni Dinner will be held honoring former members of the Legislature and including present members. Saturday morning legislators were guests at the Azalea Festival in Wilmington for breakfast, the Azalea Festival Parade and lunch. We then returned to Raleigh for the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. We returned to Mocksville on Sunday.

If there is any way at all which you can come to Raleigh for a visit, you must do it soon since the seasons may be drawing close to an end. We would love to have you.

Congressman Hefner To M.C. Carolina Song Festival At Charlotte Saturday

Six top gospel groups will appear Saturday, April 14 at 8 p.m. in the annual Carolina's Song Festival at the Charlotte Coliseum.

Master of ceremonies will be Eighth District Congressman Bill Hefner, who was a professional gospel singer before his election to Congress in 1974. Hefner no longer sings professionally but uses his Easter vacation from Congress to promote the gospel sing which he calls

Legislature Gets Six Bill Consumer Protection Package

Attorney General Rufus L. Edmisten announced last week that his six-bill consumer protection legislative package will be introduced to the General Assembly by state senators Cecil Hill (Transylvania) and Robert Jordan (Montgomery) and state representatives Robert Hobgood (Franklin) and Richard Wright (Columbus).

The Honest Business Act of 1979 "covers some of the most important gaps in North Carolina's consumer laws," Edmisten said about the package which includes new rules on deceptive advertising, stricter enforcement of vehicle odometer rollbacks, state standards for loan solicitations and rules for dance studios and health spas.

"This is another of my proposals to protect our honest businesses in North Carolina from dishonest operators," Edmisten said. "With the help of these sponsors (Hill, Jordan, Hobgood and Wright) we're asking the lawmakers in the General Assembly to give all of our citizens stronger consumer protection."

The Attorney General's Consumer Legislative package is as follows:

Proof of Odometer Rollback - Once a

Vehicles Collide on NC 901

Two vehicles were involved in a collision April 4th about 6 p.m. on N.C. 901.

Involved was a 1969 Ford operated by Charlie Alexander Johnson, 39, Rt. 1 Woodleaf and a 1977 Dodge operated by Jack Dayvatt Gaither, of Rt. 1 Harmony.

State Highway Patrolman L.W. Bjorklund said his investigation showed that Johnson attempted to make a left turn from the County Line Road onto N.C. 901. He failed to see the Gaither vehicle approaching and pulled into its path. Gaither applied brakes but was unable to get stopped and struck the Johnson vehicle in the left front fender.

Damage to the Johnson vehicle was estimated at $800 and $1,000 to the Gaither vehicle.

Johnson was charged with failing to yield right of way.

court has determined that an odometer has been rolled back, this bill makes it prima facie evidence that the holder of the title at the time of the rollback was responsible. This presumption is rebuttable. The effect of the bill is to make enforcement of the odometer law more effective. Re. Richard Wright.

Work-At-Home Schemes - This bill requires that anyone advertising the opportunity for individuals to work at home must actually pay a wage, and may not require the individual to pay anything. This bill is aimed at newspaper ads purportedly seeking individuals to work at home, when the actual purpose of the ad is to try to get the individual to pay a fee of between ten and thirty dollars. In return, the individual receives a booklet explaining how he can place similar ads. Re.

Robert Hobgood.

Contest and Promotions - This bill prohibits phony contests, simulated checks, telegrams and invoices, and requires those people who actually do conduct contests to give the odds of winning and the value of the prizes. It is intended to stop widespread deceptive sales practices. Re. Robert Hobgood.

Loan Brokers - Requires those people who act as intermediaries between borrowers and lenders to register with the Secretary of State, to post a bond, and generally to guarantee that their business is legitimate. Presently, many individuals engaged in this business simply take deposits from prospective borrowers, and are never heard from again. Senator Cecil Hill.

Out of State Interest Limitations - This bill requires all lenders outside of North Carolina to abide by North Carolina usury laws when they do business with citizens of this State. Presently, some out of state lenders mail loan offers to North Carolina citizens that call for interest far higher than could be charged here. Sen. Cecil Hill.

Prepaid Entertainment Contracts - Regulates dance studios, health spas, dating services, and martial art schools. Essentially requires that contracts be limited to no more than three years and no more than $100, and sets rules and regulations for operations for operations so that consumers will not lose large amounts of money. The bill is designed to solve complaints that unfair practices occur, and that exorbitant amounts are sometimes taken from elderly or otherwise susceptible people. Sen. Robert Jordan.

Read The Label

When trying a cleaning product for the first time or when baking in your new oven with an unfamiliar cake mix, a set of instructions is a must. Most goods and products come with a set of instructions or label that describe their correct and safe use, say NCSU agricultural extension specialists. And, depending on the cleaner, appliance or product, the label may give other suggested uses. On garments or home furnishings, look for labels or hangtags to provide information on proper care.

St. John - Williams

Mr. and Mrs. Jack St. John of West Jefferson, North Carolina, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Elaine to Junior Williams of 659 South Main Street, Mocksville, N.C. He is the son of Mrs. Joan Bolin of Mocksville. Miss St. John, a 1978 graduate of Beaver Creek High School, is a freshman at Lenoir Rhyne College, working toward a degree in early childhood education. Mr. Williams is a 1976 graduate of Davie High School, and is a part-time student at Forsyth Technical School. He is employed by Drexel-Heritage Furniture Company as a department counter. The wedding is planned for June 10th at Obids Baptist Church in West Jefferson, N.C. Miss St. John is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Sheets of Route 6, Mocksville, N.C.

"Color Magic" At Science Center

Easter is a time of year when color is very much on everyone's mind, especially after coloring what seems like dozens of eggs (and also a few small children, not to mention mother and the entire kitchen). But what is color, and how do we perceive it? To answer these questions, Winston-Salem's "mad chemist", Dr. Alan Lipkin, will present a special Easter "Sundays at Three" program entitled "Color Magic" at the Nature Science Center April 15. The program will feature a number of chemical magic tricks and color transformations as Lipkin, professor of chemistry at Winston-Salem State University, talks about what color is and how we perceive it. "Sundays at Three" programs are offered free of charge each Sunday at 3 p.m. during the school year at the Nature Science Center, Museum Drive off Hanes Mill Road near University Parkway and Highway 52.

John Gregory Deaton celebrated his first birthday March 29, 1979 with several relatives at his home in Asheboro. A "Bunny Rabbit" cake and ice cream were served. Gregory is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Deaton. Mrs. Deaton is the former Cathy Jean Paige. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Deaton, Ramsuer and Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Paige, Route 3, Mocksville. His great-grandmothers are Mrs. John M. Groce, Route 3, Mocksville and Mrs. Mae Kirkman of Ramsuer.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Rickey Lashmit of Route 7, Mocksville, announce the birth of their second child, a son, Christopher Michael, born Monday, April 9, at 9:30 a.m. at Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem. The baby weighed 6 lbs. and was 19 inches in length. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Bates of Advance. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Lashmit of Hardison Street, Mocksville. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earley Galtner of Bedford, Va., Mrs. Henry Smith of Mocksville and Mrs. Thelma Lashmit of Courtney.

Flourescent Lamps
Use flourescent lamps whenever possible in home lighting. They produce more light for the same amount of energy and have a longer life than incandescent bulbs.

Rita Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller of Route 1, Advance, has been inducted into the National Honor Accounting Fraternity of Beta Alpha Psi at Appalachian State University. To qualify for membership, a student must major in Accounting and have a G.P.A. of 3.0 in accounting and a 2.75 overall average. Rita is a Junior.

Holmes-Reynolds

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Holmes of Route 1, Mocksville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cathy Jane to John Lance Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Reynolds of St. Petersburg, Florida. Miss Holmes is a 1974 graduate of Davie High School and a 1978 graduate of Pfeiffer College. In May, 1979, the bride-elect will receive her Master's degree from Appalachian State University. Miss Holmes is presently employed as a graduate teaching assistant in the Reading Department of Appalachian. The prospective groom is a 1973 graduate of Lakewood High School, St. Petersburg, and a 1977 graduate of Pfeiffer College. Mr. Reynolds is employed by the Florida Power Corporation in St. Petersburg, Florida. The wedding is planned for Saturday, June 30, at 5:30 in the afternoon at Center United Methodist Church.

Starks-Connell

Mrs. Sue Starks of Salisbury announce the engagement of her daughter, Mitzi Gaye Starks of 810 S. Ellis Street, Salisbury, N.C. to Ray Mitchell Connell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mitchell Connell, Sr. of Cooleemee, N.C. The bride-elect graduated from Salisbury High School in 1975, and is employed with the Fiber Industries of Salisbury. The wedding will be held Saturday, May 26, at the First United Church of Christ, 207 West Horah Street, Salisbury, N.C.

Mrs. Phillips Honored With Baby Shower

Mrs. Charles M. Phillips of Route 5, Mocksville, was honored with a baby shower, Saturday, March 31 from 7-9 p.m. at the Wm. R. Davie Fire Department. Hostesses for this special occasion were Mrs. Frances Peoples and Mrs. Shirley Lanning. Upon arrival the honoree received a corsage of blue and pink daisies. Refreshments consisted of cake squares decorated in pink and blue rattlers and booties, potato chips, peanuts, pickles and pink punch. Mrs. Phillips received many nice gifts. The United Methodist Women of Chestnut Grove Church honored Mrs. Charles Phillips with a stork shower, Tuesday night, April 3.

Karen Wood Is Honored With Shower

Mrs. John Cottle and Mrs. William Graves, entertained Mrs. Karen Wood, bride elect of Jimmy Wishon, with a luncheon and miscellaneous shower, Sat. April 7th at the home of Mrs. Cottle. Miss Wood was presented with a corsage of yellow and white daisies upon arrival. The guests were served a seated luncheon of creamed turkey and mushrooms in pastry shells, frosted jello salad, sandwiches, assorted relishes, decorated cake squares, nuts, iced tea and coffee. After the luncheon each guest wrote a "Helpful Hint for a Happy Marriage" which was entered into a scrapbook and presented to Miss Wood along with her many other gifts. Mrs. Don Wood, bride elects mother; Mrs. James Wishon, mother of the groom elect; and Miss Denise Wood, sister of the bride elect, were special guests. Mrs. Wood was presented the floral decoration from the bride elects table. Miss Carmen Cottle assisted greeting the guests and serving.

Around And About

PHOTOGRAPHED WITH CONGRESSMAN
During March the 7th and 8th graders of the Mocksville Middle School visited Washington, D.C. Cynthia Collette Foster had her picture made with Congressman Bill Hefner. She is the daughter of John R. and Nellie Foster of Rt. 2 Mocksville.

ON DEAN'S LIST
The Dean's List for the winter term at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pa., includes: Lynda Ruby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Ruby of Rt. 4, Southwood Acres, Mocksville, and a graduate of Belvidere High School. She had a perfect 4.0 (straight A) grade average for the term.

MAKES DEANS LIST
Susan Hicks, daughter of Mrs. Laverne Hicks and the late Richard Hicks of Route 4, Advance, N.C., made the dean's list for the winter quarter at Winsalm College. She is majoring in legal secretarial and had a 4.0 average out of a possible 4.0.

Steven Tyrone Dulin, son of Teresa A. Dulin and Thomas O. Campbell, celebrated his 8th birthday March 27 at 2:30 p.m. at his home on 564 William Street in Mocksville. Attending were 21 guests and his grandmother, Mrs. Nannie Howell; also his God-mother, Ms. Thomasine Galtner. They were served hot dogs, hamburgers, potato chips, cake, ice cream and punch. Steven received lots of nice gifts. At the end each child received a bottle of bubbles and balloons.

Fresh Spinach
Fresh spinach and other greens need only the amount of water clinging to their leaves from washing if cooked over low heat in a pan with a tight fitting lid.

Women With Breast Surgery To Organize

An organizational meeting for ladies who have had breast surgery will be held April 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the assembly room at the Davie County Office Building. All who are interested in forming this organization, should come to this meeting. Organizations of this type have already been formed in the adjoining counties and have provided many services that are and can be very helpful to both cancer patients and their families.

Local Students Are Cited For Outstanding Scholarship

Two Davie County students have earned membership in the national honor society of Phi Eta Sigma for outstanding scholarship at North Carolina State University. They are: Danny W. Cartner, majoring in English. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Cartner of Rt. 1 Mocksville. Lee A. Craven, majoring in textiles materials and management. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Craven of Mocksville. To achieve the honor, the students attained academic averages of 3.5 out of a possible 4.0 during their first semesters majoring in the sciences, technologies, humanities and arts at North Carolina State.

To Serve You Better!

bringing up baby.

By Mrs. Dan Gerber

Your baby's first doctor is one of the most important people you both will get to know. When choosing baby's doctor, think about these things:

- Can friends with small children recommend a doctor?
- When you visit the doctor, does he or she take time to talk with you? Are questions all answered to your satisfaction?
- Does the doctor take care to reassure and comfort baby? Is baby treated gently?

A doctor who makes friends with baby and who talks sincerely with you is a doctor who cares about you both. He will make sure baby is happy and healthy, and will recommend a feeding program for baby's first year. Many doctors rely on convenient, nutritious Gerber foods for baby. Millions of mothers have depended upon Gerber quality for more than 50 years.

MRS. RONALD GLENN CANNON
...was Patricia Anne Barber

Chong-Anderson

Chae Yop Chong and Michael E. Anderson will be united in marriage Sunday, May 6th, at three o'clock in the evening at Jerusalem Baptist Church on 601 South of Mocksville.

Miss Chong resides on Brookridge Drive in Clemmons, N.C. and is employed by Hanes Hosiery. Her mother, Mrs. Chong, resides in South Korea. Michael, son of Mrs. Nell Burrell and the late Carl E. Anderson resides on Route 4, Mocksville, and is employed as manager of Hardees Restaurant in Mocksville.

MRS. RICHARD A. GRAVATT JR.
...was Karen Kazann Seamon

Barber-Cannon Vows Spoken

Miss Patricia Anne Barber became the bride of Ronald Glenn Cannon on Saturday, April 7, in a formal candlelight ceremony at 3 p.m. in the Wilkesboro United Methodist. The Reverend T. Dixon Adams, uncle of the bride, associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, of Hickory, officiated at the double-ring ceremony and was assisted by the Reverend Robin Hurley, pastor of the Wilkesboro United Methodist Church.

Ellihu E. Sloan presented a program of contemporary and classical music. Mark H. Johnson, soloist from Charlotte, sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Prayer of Saint Francis". For the processional, the "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell was played and "Psalm XIX" by Marcella was used at the recessional.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Barber of Colony Drive, North Wilkesboro. She is a graduate of Davie County High School and Appalachian State University where she earned her B.S. degree in Elementary Education. She is a member of the faculty of the Union Township Elementary School.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joseph Cannon of Victoria Circle, North Wilkesboro is a graduate of Wilkes Central High School. He is associated with Lowe's Companies, Inc. of North Wilkesboro.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal empire gown of candlelight giana designed with a high scalloped lace neckline and long tapered sleeves cuffed in wide Belgian lace. Seed pearls and crystal beads enhanced the lace design on the bodice. The A-line skirt flowed into a chapel train bordered with marching Belgian lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a filed headpiece covered with lace and seed pearls. She carried long stemmed samantha roses accented with babies' breath.

Miss Anne Elizabeth Hoyle of Rocky Mount was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length blueberry colored gown of giana, blouson bodice with scoop neckline, shoulder ties, wing sleeves and a full circular skirt with a tie belt. She carried long stemmed sweetheart roses accented with babies' breath and wore a single rose as a headress.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cathy Cannon, sister of the bridegroom of North Wilkesboro, Miss Susan Garwood of Clemmons, Miss Cynthia Kerns of Huntersville, and Mrs. David Poplin of Mocksville. Their gowns and flowers were similar to that of the honor attendant.

The bridegroom had his father as best man. Ushers were Gregory Cannon, brother of the bridegroom, of North Wilkesboro; Richard Adams Barber, brother of the bride, of Washington, N.C.; Bill Bennett of North Wilkesboro, and Lee Black of Piney Creek.

The wedding was under the direction of Mrs. William Foster of Mocksville. For their wedding trip, the bride chose a soft pink three-piece suit with matching accessories.

Following the wedding trip to Kiawan Island, the couple will make their home in North Wilkesboro.

Among the honored guests were Mrs. Eldon S. Adams of Charlotte and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Barber of Winston-Salem, grandparents of the bride; and Mr. Roger K. Cannon of Raleigh, grandfather of the bridegroom. Other special out-of-town guests included: Mrs. Joe B. Sewing and Dr. Ruth Dixon Henley of Winston-Salem, Dr. and Mrs. Julian Yoder of Boone, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd N. Hood of Charlotte, Mrs. John S. Leach of Wilson, Mrs. Wesley Morgan and Mrs. John E. Pittman of Wilmington, Mr. Roger K. Cannon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Boyd of Raleigh.

REHEARSAL DINNER
Following the rehearsal on Friday evening the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cannon, entertained members of the wedding party and special guests with a rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn in Wilkesboro. The tables were covered with white linen cloths and an arrangement of white snapdragons, daisies, babies' breath, Dutch iris, pink chrysanthemums and yellow pom poms centered the table flanked by silver candelabra. Seated at the bride's table were the bride couple; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Barber, parents of the bride-elect; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cannon, parents of the groom-elect. Robert J. Cannon proposed a toast to the bride couple and John T. Barber responded with a toast to the honored couple and their families.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Barber, entertained at a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Alexander of Cooleemee greeted guests. Miss Leigh Jones of Mocksville and Mrs. Mark Johnson of Charlotte presided at the guest register.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons, roses, daisies and babies' breath was flanked by silver candelabra holding lighted tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with a miniature bouquet of Samantha roses. Mrs. William D. Bowen and Mrs. John L. Jerome cut and served the cake. Assisting with the serving were: Mrs. M. H. Hoyle Jr., Mrs. W.F. Pierce, Mrs. V.G. Prim and Mrs. John Spargo all of Cooleemee.

Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brady of Statesville.

WEDDING BRUNCH
On Saturday, April 7, Mrs. John T. Barber and Miss Anne Barber were hostesses to a bridesmaids brunch at their home on Colony Drive. A three-course menu was served to the honorees and to Mrs. Robert J. Cannon, mother of the groom-elect.

Other special guests were Mrs. William Foster of Mocksville and Mrs. Mark Johnson of Charlotte.

The bride-elect chose this time to present gifts to her attendants.

Rescue Squad Auxiliary Meets With Mrs. Freeman

The Rescue Squad Auxiliary members met at the home of Mrs. Betty K. Freeman, on April 2.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Judy Allen. Mrs. Alva Howard read from Philippians Chapter 4, verses 4-6. A poem was read "Miracle". She let the group in prayer, to be unselfish and considerate in all you do.

The minutes of the last meeting was read by the Secretary, Mrs. Ruby O'Neal, also treasure's report and collection of dues were collected.

The N.C. Association of Rescue Squads Area district meeting has been changed to April 22, at 2 p.m. at the Squad building.

The Bake Sale will be held at Willow Oak Shopping Center on May 11, 1979 starting at 9 a.m.

An Easter sunshine basket was sent to Mrs. Bessie Keller. In May, we will fix one for Mrs. Bessie Spry.

Mrs. Nancy Cook gave some instructions on CPR and many useful things to do in case of an emergency.

It was discussed for us to have some lessons in First Aid to refresh us.

Our next meeting will be May 7 with Mrs. JoAnn Couch.

Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

The Dean of the Franklin College of Arts and Sciences, University of Georgia at Athens has announced that Melissa Jerome Howell has been named to the Dean's List of the college in recognition of high academic achievement during the winter quarter of 1979. A junior and microbiology major, she has maintained a perfect score of 4.0 for both the fall and winter quarter. Melissa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Howell of Mocksville. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Howell.

Annette Blackwelder Receives Scholarship; Is Inducted Into Sigma Phi Sigma

Early, faculty advisor of the ASU chapter.

"Each year the ASU chapter gives scholarships awarded on the basis of academic achievement, personal characteristics, faculty recommendations and outside activities," says Early.

Blackwelder, a mathematics major, is a member of Gamma Beta Phi, president of the ASU Math Club, Pi Mu Epsilon honorary mathematics fraternity, Alpha Cni honorary academic society and Sigma Pi Sigma honorary physics fraternity.

Blackwelder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Blackwelder of 403 Church Street, Mocksville, N.C. 27028.

Martha A Blackwelder of Mocksville, a junior at Appalachian State University, recently was inducted into the ASU chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, a national physics honor society.

Sigma Pi Sigma is affiliated with the Society of Physics Students, an academic interest club which promotes physics and academic excellence in the area.

To join Sigma Pi Sigma, a student must have better than a "B" average both in physics and in his or her overall subjects.

Martha Annette Blackwelder, a junior at Appalachian State University, recently was named one of three recipients of a Gamma Beta Phi Scholarship of $150. Gamma Beta Phi is a national honor and service organization whose purpose is to encourage and reward scholastic achievement, according to Dr. Theresa

Try A Popcorn Lamb As An Easter Centerpiece

March winds may blow, but April always seems to come smiling through with a fervent promise for a lovely spring. Be it April in Paris, Paducah, Philadelphia or Phoenix, we welcome it with joy in our hearts. Here's a chance to get the family together for Easter decorating. This year, why not try a popcorn lamb? Pop plenty of popcorn (we've used the pop in its own pan, Jiffy Pop® Popcorn), then make a corn syrup to coat and hold the popcorn together for molding. Perhaps you have a lamb cake mold; if so, pack the coated corn in it; if not, let the creative spirit take over for sculpting this happy little fellow.

POPCORN LAMB
1 package (5 oz. or 141 g) Jiffy Pop® Popcorn

1 cup (240 mL) sugar
1/2 cup (120 mL) corn syrup

1/2 cup (120 mL) water
1-2 tablespoons (15 mL or 30 mL) butter or margarine gumdrops

Prepare popcorn according to package directions. Save out 2 cups of popcorn for eating, pour remainder into large bowl or pan. Heat sugar, corn syrup and water in saucepan to 250°F (121°C) or until a drop of syrup in cold water forms a hard ball. Save a little syrup for attaching decorations; pour remaining syrup over popcorn and mix thoroughly with two large spoons. Coated popcorn is now ready to be formed into lamb. Coat hands with butter, and working quickly pack coated popcorn into lamb mold or mold lamb free-handedly. Decorate with gumdrops or colored eggs.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

A personal Experience:
You wake up one morning. The sun is in its right glory. You step out of bed, start to take a shower, wait! What is this?

You rush to tell your husband. You ask if he feels the swelling in your breast. He does.

You are at the doctors office. He wants you to see another doctor. Go take X-rays!!! More X-rays!!! Go back to the doctor!!! He suggests a biopsy. The biopsy reports come back looking a little suspicious.

You wake up!!! Bandages and tubes!!! You try not to panic!!! The doctors assistant comes to see you. Explains again what has happened. Your husband comes in -- trying to be very composed. You talk and he makes you feel glad to be alive. He tells of his love and devotion to you.

Time to leave the hospital. You wish that you didn't. Now you are home and there are thousands of questions. Who do you turn to? There's no one to talk to! Several ladies in our community have had this type of experience and decided to do something about it. (See social page)

Dear Editor:

I caught the article which you ran in your March 15th edition on the Humpback Whale. I found the article most interesting as I can relate to it.

The Humpback spends its Winter in the warmer waters of the Bermuda and Hawaiian Islands (they have nice taste!) They travel to these warmer waters from the far north. Once they arrive, it is as if they wish the whole world to know! They 'betch' (leap) from the water, performing breath-taking aerobatics. One could sit for hours waiting for a show but the Humpback chooses its own time and place. Working on the waters around Maui, Hawaii in the Coast Guard, I have more than once had one of these huge mammals pop up close to a 21-foot life boat we use (For off shore patrols). It is hard to imagine the size of these animals till one decides to look you in the eye! A 40-foot whale beside a 21-foot 'Boston Whaler' surf-boat can make you feel mighty small.

I wouldn't trade these experiences with whale protection for anything. It has opened my eyes to still another beauty of our 'little' world.

Stay mellow,
Walt Boyle, Jr.

Dear Editor:

Please allow me to express an open letter to the wonderful people of Davie County.

I don't think some folks in Davie County really and truly realize what a lovely and beautiful place we have to live. We have a beautiful town and country side, so why ruin it? I believe that will happen if we allow beer and wine to be sold here. You see, I am from Jacksonville, Florida, a big city, where crime of every nature is committed every day by the dozens. A lot of the crime starts when someone grabs a six-pack from the neighborhood package store.

Does anybody really believe selling beer in Davie County will prevent accidents or cut down on drunken driving because otherwise they had to drive 15 to 30 miles to get beer? I hope this isn't the case because I certainly don't believe it. I know that a lot of drinkers like to party and drive, from one place to the next, drinking all along. I've been there so I know and if it hadn't been for Jesus my Savior, I'd still be there! So don't kid yourself or say it won't ever come to a vote because people doing nothing allow things to happen before they realize what is going on. The same applies to the Perkins Plant. Think about Pennsylvania! Accidents DO happen even when odds are against it! Is it worth our children's health? Ours? Our town? For growth or profits? NO, I think not. After searching for a place to raise my children decently and under God's love, I certainly hope not. I found Davie County a most wonderful place, and the love they have for one another is a special blessing to my family and myself. I thank God for this blessing and I thank you people of Davie County also. So please think about your children. What kind of home in Davie County you would like for them to have? And say NO to beer and wine petitions and get involved about the Perkins Plant! Know what exactly is going on!

Mrs. S.L. Wiles
Route 5, Mocksville

Dear Editor:

In seeing the havoc wrought by nuclear power in Harrisburg, Pa., have we in Davie County and surrounding areas been given one of our last chances to prepare to make the right decision in regard to the Perkins Plant?

People aren't sheep - We should all stop taking ANYONE'S word that nuclear power is safe and get the facts for ourselves before it's too late!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Terry L. Pitts

Snow, An Insulator
Because it is about 90 percent air, snow is an excellent insulator. Snow helps keep croplands warm and can provide a refuge for small animals that burrow into it.

Since the area was pretty poor, we mostly played with a lot of heart and practically no equipment.

The 11th man.

They called us Father Feeney's Fighting Fools. A rag-tag collection of country kids rounded up by the Padre. The only requirement for joining his athletic club was an almost insane devotion to the sport of football.

Father Feeney kept the team going on donations. Since the area was pretty poor, we mostly played with a lot of heart and practically no equipment. For instance, each player was supposed to furnish his own football shoes. Turned out I was the only guy on the team who couldn't afford any. So Moose Wozniak good-naturedly allowed me to share his. Moose's shoes weren't any too swanky to start with, being hand-me-downs from his big brother, but they served the purpose.

Moose'd come hobbling off the field and unlace. I'd slip into his shoes and dash back out. Only problem was Moose wore a size 12. I wore size 9. So I had to stuff the toes with paper. Then I'd spend all my time on the field with my toes butted up against wadded newspapers. All my life I remembered that sensation. And all my life I remembered the team. And the man who taught me the game, and that life has its goals, too. When I got my first job, he was the one who advised me to join the Payroll Savings Plan. And those U.S. Savings Bonds been growing ever since.

One thing I did was set aside a portion of those Bonds to pay back an old debt. Finally, I was able to send Father Feeney a big donation. Along with a note that said: "Father, make sure everybody has a pair of football shoes... and make sure everybody has the right size."

No matter what your goals are, U.S. Savings Bonds can help you reach them. So join the Payroll Savings Plan at work now. Buying Bonds today can help make sure you win big in the future.

Vehicles Collide In Town

Two vehicles were involved in a collision April 3, about 8:40 a.m. on South Main Street in Mocksville.

Involved was a 1966 Ford operated by Gary Wayne Phelps, 17, of Rt. 4 Mocksville and a 1974 Chevrolet operated by Sylvia Everhardt Lagle, 38, of Rt. 7 Mocksville.

According to Mocksville Policeman G.F. Cornatzer, Phelps told him he started into the road and saw the approaching car coming and skidding. However, Policeman Cornatzer said that Mrs. Lagle told him that the vehicle pulled out in front of her.

Damage to the Phelps vehicle was estimated at $500 and $600 to the Lagle vehicle. There were no charges.

This Is The Law

Trusts
One word that is frequently used by bankers and by lawyers in connection with the planning of estates is the word "trust." What is a trust, and how does it fit into the subject of wills and estates?

Although there are a number of kinds of trusts, the ones we are dealing with here are those written arrangements for the management of property for the benefit of someone.

The two principal trusts for this purpose are living trusts and testamentary trusts.

A living trust is set up and activated during the lifetime of the owner. If he desires, he can reserve the right to revoke the trust at any time.

A testamentary trust is set up under a person's will and becomes activated at the time of his death.

In either case, the trustee actually owns the property that is placed in trust, but he holds it upon specific directions to manage it for a certain length of time for the persons who are named as beneficiaries. An individual may be named as trustee, and many banks also are prepared to serve in this capacity.

The Appellate Courts
While practically everyone knows basically what a trial court is for, many citizens don't understand the nature of an appellate court. The main reason for this lack of understanding is that ordinarily only lawyers attend sessions of appellate courts (although the public is welcome).

In North Carolina our appellate courts are the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court consists of seven justices who are elected for eight-year terms. The Court of Appeals is composed of twelve judges who are also elected for eight years.

Appellate courts don't have juries, and they don't decide what the facts are in the cases they are considering. These courts decide only questions of law. Parties who have been unsuccessful in their cases in the trial courts appeal to the appellate courts for a determination of whether the trial courts have made the correct decisions on legal questions. The lawyers for the litigants argue these questions to the judges or justices.

Every appellant has the right to be heard by one or the other of these appellate courts, and in some cases by both.

Singing Cashwells To Host Gospel Sing At Advance

The Singing Cashwells will host a gospel sing at the Fire Department in Advance, N.C., Saturday, April 14, beginning at 7 p.m.

The Cashwells have been singing gospel music for fourteen years. John Cashwell, pianist for the group, is a third year student in college at Greensboro, where he is a music major.

Other guests will be the Redeemed Trio, Bonita Brendon and A.C. Spaugh. The public is invited to attend.

Professor At Carolina Studies Psychic Healers

Faith healers. Psychic cures. The terms arouse feelings in most people ranging from devoted belief to pure cynicism.

But when Dr. Ralph G. Locke, a visiting professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill from the University of Sydney, Australia, hears the terms, his blue eyes light up with attention. Healing practices are his main research interest.

Locke, who is teaching a course on phenomenology and the philosophy of social sciences this spring, is studying local psychic healers' activities. He is working with the Psychological Research Foundation in Durham in conducting his research.

"The psychic healers in this area, as in other areas, are interested in developing psychic abilities through self-awakening and self-healing," Locke said. "Then this self-development carries over to healing others."

"A lot of psychic methods today concentrate on fields of mental visual imagery and exploring these fields as keys to personal expansion and fulfillment."

Locke, who has a Ph. D. in sociology and anthropology from the University of Western Australia, calls the intra-healing techniques a kind of "folk psychiatry."

"They really put the concept of healing on a different foundation," he said.

Locke said that the interest is growing in this area in another type of non-scientific healing—holistic healing.

"This healing is related to religion and esoteric philosophies," he said. "It is based on the idea that there are hidden forces and tensions that can only be revealed and dealt with through non-scientific means."

Locke partially attributes the success of psychic healers to the individualism of the 1970's

"The worth of self is more emphasized now than ever before," he said. "Folk psychiatry and folk medicine have revitalized a type of counter-culture that believes you can't heal yourself unless you love yourself."

"For example, EST is designed to improve oneself along with developing one's sense of achievement."

Besides his research on extraordinary mediums of cure, Locke also has studied the cult phenomenon. He parallels the recent cult expansion with the Cold War situation of the 1950's.

"Some people today are feeling a similar fear, almost paranoia, over losing control in their lives," Locke said. "They feel that they are unable to control their lives or that they are being controlled by uncontrollable things such as politics and economics."

"Cults offer them a part of something. They accept the beliefs; they become a member of something they can almost touch. For someone who feels he has lost control over his life, you can understand the appeal these groups have."

Locke said the cult movement tapered off in the late 1960s but has been growing again since 1974.

"In anything this expansive, you find exploitation," he said, "but there are also a lot of people who are firm and sincere believers in these movements."

Seldom Seen Shop Robbed

A robbery at the Seldom Seen Shop, Rt. 1 Mocksville, is being investigated by the Davie County Sheriff's Department.

A breaking and entering and larceny was reported Sunday. Reported missing was a large quantity of Maverick, Wrangler and Lee blue jeans; assorted buttons, pajamas, night gowns, and Yamaha and Suzuki patches. Inventory has not been completed and is still under investigation.

Hal Monsees Completes His First Solo Flight

Navy Ensign Hal O. Monsees, son of Harry A. and Betty Monsees of 968 Mumford Drive, Mocksville, N.C., has completed his first solo flight.

Monsees is undergoing primary flight training at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Tex. The 14-week basic course, which includes 65 inflight training hours, is the initial step of the Naval Integrated Flight Training System. Follow-on training with jets, helicopters or multi-engine aircraft will lead to designation as a naval aviator.

A 1974 graduate of Davie County High School, and a 1978 graduate of North Carolina State University, Raleigh, N.C., with a Bachelor of Science degree, he joined the Navy in June 1978.

Genealogy Workshop At Forsyth Library

"Everything you ever wanted to know about the Census - but didn't know how to ask" is the topic of a genealogy workshop to be sponsored by Forsyth County Public Library. Staff of the Main Library's North Carolina Room will give advice on using Federal Census records in genealogical research.

The workshop is scheduled for Sunday, April 29, at 3 p.m. The workshop will be held in Memorial Auditorium of Centenary United Methodist Church, next to the Main Public Library. The public is asked to use the 4 1/2 Street entrance to Memorial Auditorium.

Admission to the workshop is free. For more information call 727-2556.

Bert Bahnson To Manage Land Investment Firm

Crowder Realty is pleased to announce further expansion of its services with the formation of Piedmont Properties.

Managed by Bert B. Bahnson, the primary interest of this division will be farm sales and land investments in the Piedmont regions of North Carolina and Virginia. Mr. Bahnson is a native of Winston-Salem and a graduate of UNC at Chapel Hill.

He personally owns and operates an 80 acre farm in Davie County which specializes in tobacco and cattle production.

Bahnson has 5 years brokerage experience and has in the last two years handled land sales exceeding $2.5 million. His business and farming background gives him first hand knowledge in the investment potential of raw land as well as the feasibility of actual farming operations.

"We have wanted to open a farm and land division for some time, but have waited for the right person to manage it. We feel that Bert Bahnson is definitely the type of person to handle this division," said Rick Crowder, President of Crowder Realty.

Joe Rupard On Honor Roll

Joseph Howard Rupard, son of Mrs. Bonnie Estelle Rupard, P.O. Box 793, Mocksville, is listed on the Honor roll with a 3.90 grade point average for winter quarter at David Lipscomb College, Nashville.

Rupard, a graduate of Davie High School, is majoring in biology.

For further information call Lipscomb's News Bureau, at 1-800-251-2054, station 211.

Carolina Review

by Jerry Mobley

NUCLEAR FLURRY...The recent nuclear accident at Three Mile Island near Harrisburg, Pa. has caused a flurry of activity among elected and appointed officials in Raleigh.

North Carolina, which annually must cope with natural gas and fuel shortages, has been banking on electricity generated by nuclear fission for several years now. Already there is one nuclear power plant in operation in Brunswick County near Wilmington while two more are under construction (near Charlotte and Raleigh). At least one other is in the planning stages.

Duke Power Co. draws thirty percent of the electricity it supplies to North Carolinians from a nuclear plant in South Carolina.

Consequently, when the Pennsylvania accident occurred, there was a great deal of genuine concern by several state officials. Basically, the concern centered around being sure that the equipment now in operation or under construction is safe.

Governor Hunt, at his weekly news conference, offered some reassurance that current equipment in North Carolina is safe but suggested that under the circumstances perhaps a "second and third look" is necessary.

The governor also asked the secretary of Crime Control and Public Safety, Herbert Hyde, to reevaluate plans for evacuation should an accident occur.

Other efforts are also under way. Senator Billy Mills of Onslow County, chairman of the Senate Committee on Natural and Economic Resources, has said that he will try to hold committee hearings on the problems and dangers of nuclear power.

In all likelihood, the hearings will be held jointly with the Utilities Committee and the Human Resources Committee of both the state Senate and House.

In addition, the Utilities Commission and its public staff will be holding public hearings around the state for three weeks beginning July 17. These hearings will be held after the Commission receives input from a conference scheduled for April 17 where Commission members will hear from industry officials and members of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission from Washington.

SCOTT VS. HUNT...Not many people took serious notice of the less-than-kind remarks about Jim Hunt by former governor Bob Scott when Scott was passed over for the community college presidency. Scott's influential uncle, Sen. Ralph Scott, also made some disparaging remarks about the governor's willingness to co-operate after the governor refused to step in and push for his nephew's appointment by the state Board of Education.

However, remarks by the former governor in a Chapel Hill speech last week should leave no doubts that the Scotts and some of their supporters are still miffed at the governor.

Specifically, Scott questioned Hunt's record as a progressive governor when compared to former governors Terry Sanford, Kerr Scott (Bob Scott's father), and himself.

He accused Hunt and the state legislature of panicking under the threat of California's Proposition 13.

The former governor said any money left over from the state budget should be spent on education and other worthwhile projects rather than being returned to the taxpayers as a token gesture.

SCOTT RACING...Most people considered Scott's attack on the governor's programs as an initial testing of the waters for a political comeback.

Further speculation cautioned however against the idea that Scott would take on the governor in the 1980 gubernatorial race. Those willing to discuss a possible Scott comeback suggested that he would be better to try for lieutenant governor first.

That would put him up against arch-conservative incumbent Jimmy Green, and House Speaker Carl Stewart (assuming Green decides not to take on Hunt himself).

COMPETENCY TEST...Public hearings on the N. C. high school competency test last week were inconclusive at best. Some of the time was taken up by condemnations of the test by two representatives of the NAACP who said the test was biased against minorities.

The test was also criticized by Rep. Mary Nesbitt, D-Asheville, who suggested the test was a "waste of time for at least 70 to 80 percent of the students."

Senator Carolyn Mathis has reportedly written a letter to the chairman of the Competency Test Commission, requesting that he reappear before the Education Committee to answer several questions that went unanswered during the public hearings.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Foster of 812 Hemlock Street, Mocksville, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, April 8, with a reception hosted by their children at Hickory Hill Country Club. Guests called during the appointed hours from three o'clock until five o'clock. Their children are: Mr. and Mrs. Mack Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Tex Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lakey. They have eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Kindergarten Registration Is April 26

Mocksville Elementary School urges parents to pre-register kindergarten students for the 1978-79 school year. If your child will be 5 years of age before October 16, 1979 he or she will be eligible to attend public school kindergarten.

Orientation for kindergarten students and parents is scheduled for April 26, 1979 at 9:30 a.m. in the multi-purpose area. Avoid waiting in line by having the necessary information in before this date.

Please stop by the school office and get information and materials required for admission.

Ye Happy Bells of Easter Day!

Ring! Ring! Your joy
Thro Easter and sky.
Ye ring a glorious word
The notes that swell in gladness tall

The rising of the Lord!
Ye carol bells of Easter day!

The teeming Earth
That saw his birth
When lying neath the sword

Upspringing now in joy to show
The rising of the Lord!

Easter Recipes
Hot Cross Buns

3/4 cups all purpose flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 pkg. dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup melted butter, cooled
1/4 cup currants
1/4 cup moist citron finely cut

1 tsp. cinnamon
1 egg white
1 tbsp. cold water

Sift flour and measure.
Scald milk and pour into bowl.
Add sugar and salt. Stir thoroughly and cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in water for five minutes now add to cooled milk and beat in 1 1/4 cups flour until smooth.

Add the eggs, then the shortening. Stir in remaining flour and beat 5 minutes.
Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Add currants, citron and cinnamon and knead, you may need to add additional flour, until fruit is distributed and cinnamon is streaked through dough. Cover and place in refrigerator 2 1/2 hours to rise slowly and to chill for easier handling. The dough can be refrigerated overnight if desired. Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead a minute. Cut dough into 4 equal portions, cut each of these into fourths. Shape each to make 16 buns. Place on greased, medium-sized cookie sheet.
Brush with a mixture of beaten egg white and tbsp. of cold water.

Let rise until double in bulk, about 2 hours. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Make crosses with powdered sugar icing on buns and serve warm or cold.

Baked Ham

Place Ham flat side up on rack in open roasting pan, and cover ham with a piece of clean brown wrapping paper, or a large paper sack tore open, tucking it well down at the sides, place in a moderate oven 300 to 325 degree F and bake uncovered, allowing 15-20 minutes to the pound.
Regular hams will require the full 25 minutes, but the ten-derized hams need only enough cooking to heat them will all the way through. Your meat thermometer should be 170 degrees for regular hams and 150 degrees for tender.

One-half hour before ham is done remove it from the oven, discard the paper, and carefully remove the skin (if any), spread with a glaze made by putting sieved brown sugar all over the fat and drizzle honey on the top, return to a moderate oven 375 degrees to glaze 30 to 40 minutes.

Joyful Happy Easter!

Dutch settlers in Pennsylvania and New York brought Easter Egg customs to this country. The Dutch Governor, Peter Stuyvesant, liked Easter parties. Easter was a day of much celebration. The Dutch colored a lot of eggs. These eggs also stood for better times to come.

The Dutch also started the custom of egg rolling which was very much like the Egg Rolling contest held on the South Lawn of The White House each Easter Monday.

Dutch settlers also started the Easter egg tree in America. Each year they brought a branch or small tree into the house and decorated it with colored eggs. Many libraries and schools do this today.

The Easter Rabbit is an ancient symbol of the joy of new life that spring brings.

The lilies come from bulbs.

The bulb is said to represent Christ's tomb. The lily blossom stands for his life after death. Lilies were first grown in Japan.

Baby chicks also remind us of the new life of spring and the Easter Season.

The Easter colors, white is for purity and happiness.
Yellow is for the sun that brings new life.

Purple is for the sadness over the death of Christ.

Green is for the beauty of spring. It is also the symbol of life after death.

The cross is the symbol of the true meaning of Easter, the Resurrection of Christ, and his triumph over death.

Easter Recipes
Roast Leg of Lamb

Without removing the paper like covering, season leg of lamb with salt and pepper.
Place meat fat side up on rack in shallow roasting pan. Do not cover. Do not add water.
Roast in slow oven 325 degrees until meat thermometer reads 170 to 175 degrees (allow about 30 to 35 minutes per pound). Let Roast stand about 10 minutes to firm before carving. Count on 2 to 3 servings per pound.

Trim with sprigs of mint, serve with Fresh Mint Sauce.

Fresh Mint Sauce

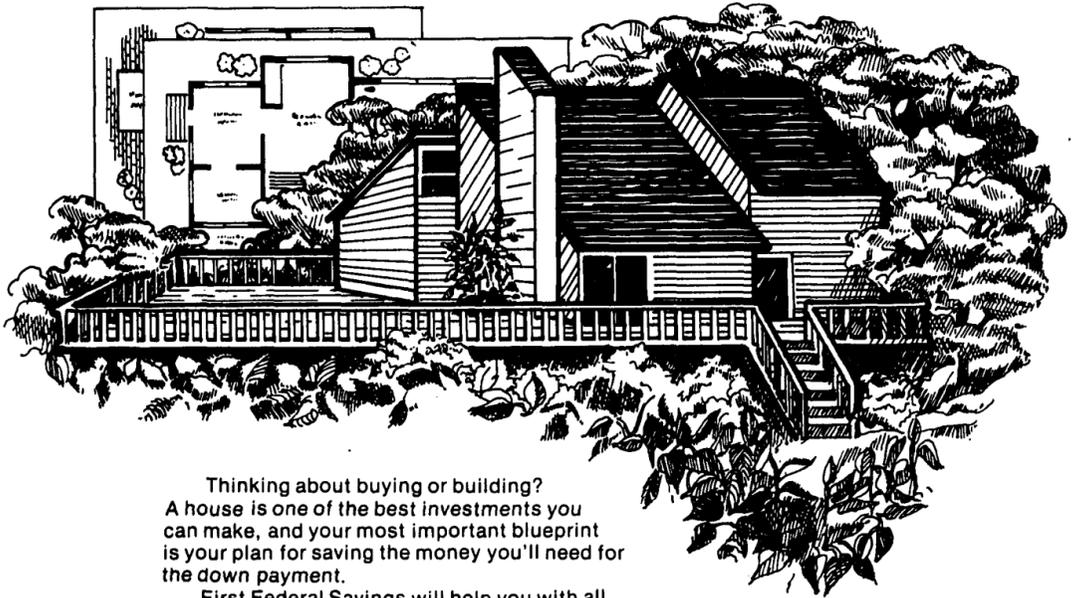

1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup water dash salt
1/2 cup finely snipped mint leaves

Combine sugar, vinegar, water and salt. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer uncovered 5 minutes pour immediately over mint, let stand 30 minutes to steep.

Serve as is or strain, offer hot or chilled with roast lamb.
Makes 1/2 cup sauce.

Happy Easter!

Worth More Than A Million...

"Tiger" Works For Peanuts!

The Mobil Travel Center on Highway 64 west of Mocksville has a unique, but very dependable, full-time employee.

And he works for peanuts -- or lollipops -- as the case may be.

He's "Tiger", a three-year-old English Sheep dog.

First thing each morning, Tiger picks up all the cans and litter that has been tossed on the service station lot during the night.

He always greets Mack White of the Borden Milk Company and standing on his hind legs with fore-paws resting against the side of the truck, waits for his carton of milk which White always has for him.

Around 3:30 each afternoon, Tiger awaits the arrival of the paperboy. Michael Sizemore, Salisbury Post carrier, says Tiger "makes my day." He never throws the paper on the lot but waits for Tiger and simply hands it to him through the open window...And Tiger takes the paper inside to the station owner, Allen Morris, or his wife, Margie who always rewards him with a lollipop.

"We wouldn't take a million dollars for Tiger," Mrs. Morris said, "He's just like one of the family."

Morris says Tiger really does save him a lot of steps. If he is working around a car and drops his shammy cloth, Tiger picks it up. He even sends money inside the station to his wife - via Tiger.

Other than Tiger, Morris says he and his wife are the only full-time employees. Their 15-year-old grandson, Richard Groce, helps out on weekends and occasionally he does hire part-time help during busy seasons.

At night, Tiger doubles as a guard dog. As gentle as he is, he is very protective of his master's business when the station is closed. Sometimes Tiger is left in the station overnight and Morris says he has no fear of a break-in when Tiger is on duty.

Lots of their regular customers stop by quite often just to see Tiger in action. He will attempt to do just about anything Mr. or Mrs. Morris tell him.

Although Tiger is not really on the payroll, Mrs. Morris says "he gets anything he wants."

When things are slow around the service station, Tiger, the three-year-old English Sheep dog relaxes inside with his owners Mr. and Mrs. Allen Morris.

Tiger recognizes the paperboy's car and always meets him.

FISHIN' TIPS

from...Tom Mann

Ever notice how some fishermen seem to come home regularly with fish, while others have a hard time catching enough to mess up a skillet? Some call it luck, but I call it skill.

A good fisherman gets that way by fishing a lot, by observing and remembering what he experiences, and by going every chance he gets. He also fishes numerous lakes and streams, not just one or two.

This is important because lakes and streams have their good and bad cycles. I keep notes on dates and numbers of fish caught, and try to figure which places are in their good cycles. Another wise way is to ask questions of your fishing buddies, tackle shops, guides, etc., where fish are being caught and on what.

A good fisherman also keeps his tackle in tiptop shape so it won't malfunction on him, and he keeps his lures in motion all day long, letting the fish tell him which one, or color, they want. Yep, fishing can be luck but most of the time it's a matter of dedication and knowhow.

BRER TOM'S CLOSING TIP: Your fishing line is the vital link between you and the biggest fish of your lifetime. Keep the terminal end strong by cutting off worn line which is weaker. And whenever a line gets stiff, replace it with new line and fish with confidence. There are two things a fisherman should keep fresh—his line and his fish!

Davie Girls Basketball Team Is Honored

Gina Howell, Rhonda Bullabough and Deanna Thomas, all senior members of the girls basketball team, express their feelings of having played basketball for Davie High and Bill Peeler for the last four years. These girls were part of the program of an appreciation night honoring the 1979 team, Coach Peeler, and the varsity cheerleaders; held last Saturday night at the high school cafeteria. Also speaking at the banquet were members of the Davie County Athletic Booster Club, Mayor R.C. Smith, school superintendent Jim Everidge, Davie High principal Jack Ward, and UNC girls basketball coach Jennifer Alley. (Photos by Garry Foster)

Girls Softball Record Is 6-1

The Davie High girls' softball team recorded one win and one loss in recent days to bring their season record to 6-1.

On April 6 the Davie girls hosted Lexington in Mocksville, but came up on the short end of the score with a 6-4 loss. The female War Eagles fared better on Tuesday, April 10, by traveling to Thomasville and capturing a 2-1 victory. The Davie girls' next game will be Wednesday, April 11, at West Rowan.

In the loss against Lexington, the local girls outthit their opponents, 8-4, but committed 11 errors to 2 for Lexington.

Renee Jones led the War Eagles in hitting against Lexington by collecting 2 hits. Sharma Dulin, Deanna Thomas, Angela Riddle, Cindy Lanier, Garlene Bowens and Daphne Beck all had one hit each for the Davie cause.

Recreation Seeks Summer Employees

The Mocksville Recreation department is now taking applications for summer employment.

Applications can be picked up at the recreation office in Town Hall.

For more information and an appointment, call Michael Garner at 634-2259.

Town Organizing Girls Softball League

The Mocksville Recreation department is organizing a youth girls' softball league for ages 9 to 12, and 13 to 15.

The organizational meeting will be held Tuesday, April 17, at 7 p.m. in the Brock gym.

Teams interested in these leagues should send a representative to this meeting.

For more information call: Michael Garner at 634-2259.

Bowman Gray Races To Begin April 28

The "Winston 200" NASCAR Modified national championship stock car race will open the 1979 season for Bowman Gray Stadium on Saturday night, April 28.

It will begin the 31st consecutive year of weekly racing for the quarter-mile asphalt track, which is the oldest such operation under NASCAR sanction.

Saturday night events will continue through August except for a July 8 open date, said promoters Eloise and Joe Hawkins. They are the widow and son of the late Alvin Hawkins, who started stadium stock car racing in 1949 in partnership with NASCAR founder William H.G. (Bill) France.

All meets include events for NASCAR's Modified, Limited Sportman and Street Stock divisions, and a track-originated "Blunderbust" division for novices in old model "luxury" cars.

Track manager Joe Hawkins said qualifying trials Friday afternoon, April 27 will determine the first 10 starting positions in a 24-car field for the "Winston 200". Remaining berths will be decided by more trials on race night.

The 200-lap race offers more than $6,000 in prize money.

Paul Radford of Ferrum, Va., champion of the Winston Racing Series for the featured Modified Division for the past two years, also is the race's defending champion. Radford won here 10 times last year, increasing his career victory total at the stadium to 35.

His strongest opposition is expected to come from Rome, N.Y., residents Richie Evans and Jerry Cook. Evans, current national Modified champion, finished a close second a year ago after a torrid battle with Radford; and Cook, 1977 winner of the event and a six-time national champ, wound up third.

All-Star College Basketball Game To Be Played April 18

An all-star basketball game between a group of senior players and former college players from Winston-Salem will be played at Reynolds gym at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 18.

The game will be sponsored by the YMCA Men's Club. Proceeds will go to the Central YMCA Youth Basketball program and the Partnership with Youth campaign which provides YMCA memberships for underprivileged boys and girls.

There will be a slam-dunk contest and autographed pictures of the players will be available. Admission will be $2.50.

Playing for the senior team will be: Dudley Bradley, North Carolina; John Gerdy, Davidson; Ged Doughton, North Carolina; Larry Harrison, Wake Forest; Randy Weil, North Carolina and Mark Dale, Wake Forest.

Jerry Schellenberg and Skip Brown, former Wake Forest players, will lead the Winston-Salem team.

Vehicle Overturns

A 1975 Ford overturned last Thursday about midnight on U.S. 158, 5 miles east of Mocksville.

The vehicle was being operated by Linda Sharon Allen, 21, of Rt. 7 Mocksville. She was taken to the Davie County Hospital.

State Highway Patrolman L.W. Bjorklund said his investigation showed that Ms. Allen ran off the roadway on the left, continued along a shallow ditch bank, struck a culvert and overturned. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1800.

"Surprise" Camaro Wins Super Stock At Farmington

The Lyles and Samuels "Surprise" Camaro out of Winston-Salem captured the super-stock victory Saturday night at Farmington Dragway with an elapsed time of 6:46 seconds, only 1-1000th of a second above the national record, defeating the Nova of Robert Bowman of Walnut Cove. Bowman had taken the top qualifying honors and had also come within 1-1000th of a second of the national record. It was one of the best qualifying nights ever at Farmington with six cars coming within from 2 to 3 thousandths of a second of the national record in qualifying. Semi-Finalists in super-stock were Steve Stultz of Walnut Cove and Mike Westmoreland of Kernersville. Lyles and Samuels picked up $300 for their win in super-stock with Bowman receiving $200 for second place.

In pro-street Lance Dupree of Lexington put down an elapsed time of 6:85 seconds in his Corvette to defeat

Karl Kane of Mt. Airy in a Dodge. Richard Hewitt of Galax, Va., driving a Max Hurley prepared Dodge, won out over the Plymouth of Ernest Tysinger of Asheboro who captured the modified street win. It was Hewitt's second straight victory at Farmington and his fourth win in as many attempts in the Max Hurley Dodge.

In super-street action, it was the Camaro of Ken Potts of Mt. Airy winning out on a close run over the Plymouth of Donald Thomas of Mt. Airy.

The trophy-street division had nine entries with Roy Tate of Mt. Airy, in a Camaro taking top honors over the Camaro of Bill Hall also of Mt. Airy.

Saturday nights, 102 dragsters competed for some of the closest runs in qualifying and the finals in some time. The track is gearing up for the April 28-29th IHRA National Title Series

LUNCH FOR LITTLE LEAGUERS

Win, lose or draw, Little Leaguers wind up hungry and a special lunch of Hero Hamburgers and Strawberry Slush can sweeten the taste of victory or ease the pain of defeat. Tasty all-purpose barbecue sauce combines with cheese, pickle, onion for a surprise filling between the patties. And, made to order for thirty ball players is Strawberry Slush. Using KOOL-AID® Brand Strawberry Flavor Unsweetened Soft Drink Mix, this easy frozen treat can be prepared ahead of time.

STRAWBERRY SLUSH

- 1 envelope strawberry flavor unsweetened soft drink mix
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 2 quarts cold water
 - 3/4 cup pineapple juice
 - 1-1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
- Combine all ingredients, stirring until soft drink mix and sugar are dissolved. Pour into shallow plastic or glass container. Freeze 3 to 4 hours, stirring several times, until slushy. Makes 3 quarts or 12 servings.

HERO HAMBURGERS

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 cup all-purpose barbecue sauce, any flavor
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup finely diced or grated process American cheese

1/4 cup pickle slices or relish

1 medium onion, thinly sliced or chopped

8 hamburger buns, split

Combine beef, 1/4 cup of the barbecue sauce, the eggs and salt; mix lightly. Divide into 16 portions; gently shape into thin round patties. Place about 1 teaspoon each barbecue sauce, cheese, relish and onion on 8 of the patties. Top with remaining patties; press edges together to seal. Broil or pan-fry about 4 minutes on one side. Turn, baste with remaining barbecue sauce and continue cooking 4 minutes longer, or until meat is of desired doneness. Serve in buns. Makes 8 servings.

Jeff Barker

Jeff Barker Again Leads Pfeiffer

Junior first baseman Jeff Barker from Mocksville took up right where he left off last season for Pfeiffer College. The 5-11 right-handed slugger has belted 8 homeruns and has taken over the home run leadership in the district.

He has been named the NAIA District 26 "player of the week" and has claimed the same honor in the Carolina Conference. He is currently leading the Pfeiffer team with a .556 batting average.

Barker is a prime candidate for small college All-American honors this season.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie A. Barker of 649 Neely Street, Mocksville.

Governor Proclaims N.C. Bicycle Week

Citing the bicycle as a "healthful, noiseless, nonpolluting" mode of transportation, Governor Hunt today proclaimed May 6-12 as North Carolina Bicycle Week.

In his proclamation, Governor Hunt stressed the bicycle's role as a valuable tool in conserving energy resources as well as being a form of recreation.

Over 2 million North Carolinians ride bicycles, according to Department of Transportation Secretary Tom Bradshaw.

"This year's bicycle week theme, 'Ride On the Right,' is a reminder to both cyclists and motorists that the bicycle is a partner with other vehicles on many of our roads," he said.

"Many bike accidents with automobiles result from cyclists riding toward traffic. In this state, since the bicycle is a legal road vehicle with the same rights and responsibilities as motor vehicles, riding on the right is the law for cyclists," he explained.

Both Hunt and Bradshaw said they hope local communities and civic organizations will take the opportunity during bicycle week to initiate activities emphasizing bicycle safety.

Cancer Control Month

Governor Hunt proclaimed April as "Cancer Control Month in North Carolina." The proclamation was received by J. Craig Souza, Executive Director of the North Carolina Health Care Facilities Association in Raleigh. Mr. Souza serves as an Area Crusade Vice Chairman for the American Cancer Society, North Carolina Division, Inc. He represented Lane Brown, legislator from Albemarle, who heads the Society's statewide Crusade.

About Corporations
The United States Supreme Court a long time ago defined a corporation as "an artificial being, invisible, intangible, and existing only in contemplation of law."

In less mysterious language, a corporation is an association of persons who have actually become a new, single entity, with a name of its own. This new entity can act for itself, enter into contracts, sue and be sued. Those persons who make up the corporation may change, but the corporate identity remains the same.

One of the main reasons for the formation of corporations is the fact that ordinarily the "owners," that is, the stockholders, can lose, at worst, not more than their investment in the stock. In the case of sole proprietorships and partnerships the business person - in the event of a business failure or other misfortune - could be personally liable for losses.

Don't Be A Fuel Fool

How easily we forget. Many of us wince at the price of a full tank of gas but forget (or suppress?) the pain of it all until it is time to refuel. The Better Business Bureau has some advice on how to get more miles per gallon and thus reduce the frequency of those painful moments, if not their intensity.

Automobile engines generally have four, six or eight cylinders. Each cylinder has a piston inside which moves up and down. As the piston moves down a gasoline-air mixture is admitted to the cylinder. As the piston moves back up it squeezes, or compresses, the mixture. Just before the piston approaches the top of its stroke, the spark plug fires and the mixture ignites. When a portion of the mixture explodes spontaneously before the spark plug fires, engine knock.

The "octane rating" or grade of gasoline is a measure of its resistance to engine knock, which decreases engine power and fuel economy, and if allowed to continue can damage engine parts. The higher the grade, the more the gasoline will resist this problem. In general, premium gasolines have the highest octane rating, regular lies in the middle, and economy and certain of the low-leads lie in the lowest range.

The car must be in good mechanical condition and tuned to factory specifications. If either is ignored, tests for the proper grade of gasoline can be inaccurate and fuel will be used inefficiently by the engine. Wait until the gas tank is almost empty and then fill it up with the grade (premium, regular or other) of gasoline recommended by the car's owner's manual. Drive a few miles until the engine is warmed up and then come to a complete stop. Now, accelerate hard. If the engine knocks or pings, use up the tank and refill with the next higher grade. Repeat the acceleration test. If the engine does not knock this is the correct octane for the engine. If it does knock, see a mechanic. The engine probably needs to be adjusted.

If the engine does not knock on the recommended grade use up the tank and refill it with the next lower grade. Repeat the acceleration test. If the engine knocks, the lower grade is inadequate and the recommended grade should be used.

Changing conditions affect octane requirements. The car's age, heavy loads or low humidity may increase the engine's tendency to knock. Also remember that it is unwise to use a grade of gasoline too high for the engine. It will not increase the engine's efficiency, power or mileage and is a waste of money.

Underinflated tires decrease fuel economy so check the tire pressure at least once a month. For those who do a lot of driving, consider buying radial tires. They can increase mileage, but never mix radial tires with other tire types. Make sure the wheels are properly aligned, brakes are adjusted correctly and the oil and oil filters are changed at the recommended intervals.

Improved driving habits can increase a car's mileage. Accelerate slowly, except when entering high-speed traffic lanes or when passing. Avoid unnecessary braking and anticipate traffic ahead. Drive at moderate speeds; as speed increases so does wind resistance. Drive at steady speeds. Avoid excessive idling. Don't pump the accelerator or race the engine. Only use air conditioning equipment when necessary.

The Better Business Bureau reminds consumers that the efficient use of gasoline is their responsibility. Keep the car properly maintained, use the correct grade of gasoline and drive conservatively.

called the "people's court." Of course, all courts are really courts for the people, but the Magistrate's Court is especially so.

The reason is that an average citizen can settle a small claim quickly, simply and inexpensively in this court—and usually without a lawyer. (While it may be desirable in some cases to have a lawyer's assistance in Magistrate's Court, the court was designed primarily for the citizen who represents himself.)

The office of the Clerk of Superior Court has forms to use in filing actions in this court and will answer questions about the procedure. The hearing is rather informal. It will take place in an office, instead of a court room. There is no jury. However, the Magistrate is a judicial official whose rulings have the same force as rulings of any other court. A disagreement can be resolved here with finality by the state's authority.

Some have believed eating powdered jade would make them impervious to heat and cold.

Number One Disease-Bearing Big Problem In North Carolina Is The Dog Tick

The number one disease-bearing bug problem in North Carolina is the American dog tick. This tick carries Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and, despite its name, North Carolina leads the nation in incidences of the disease. In 1978 there were over 200 cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever resulting in two deaths. Most of the cases occurred in the Piedmont section of the state.

According to Tom Blalock, state entomologist, with the Division of Health Services, N.C. Department of Human Resources, there are many ticks in North Carolina and the height of the tick season is April through October. Ticks live on the blood of warm blooded creatures and humans are not the only target - dogs, cats, raccoons, deer, horses, cows and birds are also meal tickets for ticks.

Because they can withstand starvation for long periods of time, Blalock said, ticks will sit on blades of grass or other leafy surfaces and wait for an animal to pass by.

"Ticks tend to congregate along animal pathways," Blalock said. "They are found outdoors along the areas where fields meet wooded areas or in tall brush areas."

Household pets are frequently infested with ticks and can bring them back to their owners if the pets are not frequently checked and dipped.

Outdoors ticks are difficult to control, but they are most frequently found on persons who are under 25, probably because that age group tends to spend more time outdoors, Blalock said. Parents need to check children carefully, particularly around the head and neck areas. In order for the tick to transmit Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, it has to bite and usually has to feed for six to eight hours.

To remove ticks, Blalock said, it is best to use tweezers and with gentle pressure, pull the tick off, making sure that the mouth parts come with the tick. A white plug of tissue indicates that the whole tick has been removed. The bite area should then be swabbed with alcohol to prevent infection. "There are several ways not to remove ticks. You shouldn't jerk one out; if you do, you'll lose the mouth parts. Pressing a hot match against the tick will only drive it in deeper. Painting it with fingernail polish will give you a pretty tick, but it won't help you remove it," Blalock said.

He said that it was also a bad idea to pull one off with your bare fingers, since the disease would be transmitted through slight cuts.

Should symptoms of the disease occur, the individual should seek medical attention at once. The disease can be cured, but untreated it can be fatal. Symptoms are a rash on the extremities and fever.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever isn't the only adverse health effect of ticks. There is also a condition known as tick paralysis in children, Blalock said. Sometimes when ticks embed themselves behind a child's ear, it is possible for the child to be paralyzed. Once the tick is removed, the child will recover in a few days, Blalock said.

Easter Eggs
Easter Sunday brings a feast to the table, but leaves many homes with too many hard cooked eggs.

Eggs are fun to color, but are too often put back into the refrigerator and then forgotten, say specialists with the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

If your family doesn't like to eat plain hard cooked eggs, try dressing them up a little.

Use them as garnish. Egg slices add an extra touch to tossed salad or enhance a platter of meat or a dish of vegetables.

Col. William F. Kelly and Thomas McNeely

Brothers-In-Law Were Early Davie Leaders

A grave in Joppa Cemetery, marked with a tall slab, carries the following epitaph:

"In memory of Col. William F. Kelly who died December 29, 1848, age 52 years and 11 months. Col. Kelly was of Scotch descent, a gentleman of the old school, firm to his purpose, calm, temperate, and conscientious to a remarkable degree. He was an exemplary member of the Presbyterian Church. He loved the church of his forefathers, revered and practiced her instructions, catechising his family, daily reading the scriptures and praying with them. He being dead yet speaketh for his example uniformly said: 'Come let us go into the House of the Lord'. Reader go and do likewise."

Born in 1796, this man was the son of John Kelly and Elizabeth Mumford Frohock Kelly. On October 9, 1827, he married Sarah Ann Gaither, a daughter of Nicholas Gaither.

Col. Kelly drew the plans for the Presbyterian Church built in Mocksville in 1840. The plans were similar to a church he had seen in Mississippi.

In the school election of 1839, among the superintendents elected were William F. Kelly and R.M. Pearson. This office was somewhat like the school boards of the present day.

In 1841, deeds show Kelly purchasing the "Pearson Mill" tract from Charles Fisher of Rowan County. Other deeds show him purchasing property in the Town of Mocksville and the "Gold mine tract" adjoining James Penry and others in the Calahaln Township.

At the November term of Davie Court in 1845, Kelly qualified as administrator of the estate of John Clement, the man who had introduced the bill in the N.C. Legislature to form Davie County.

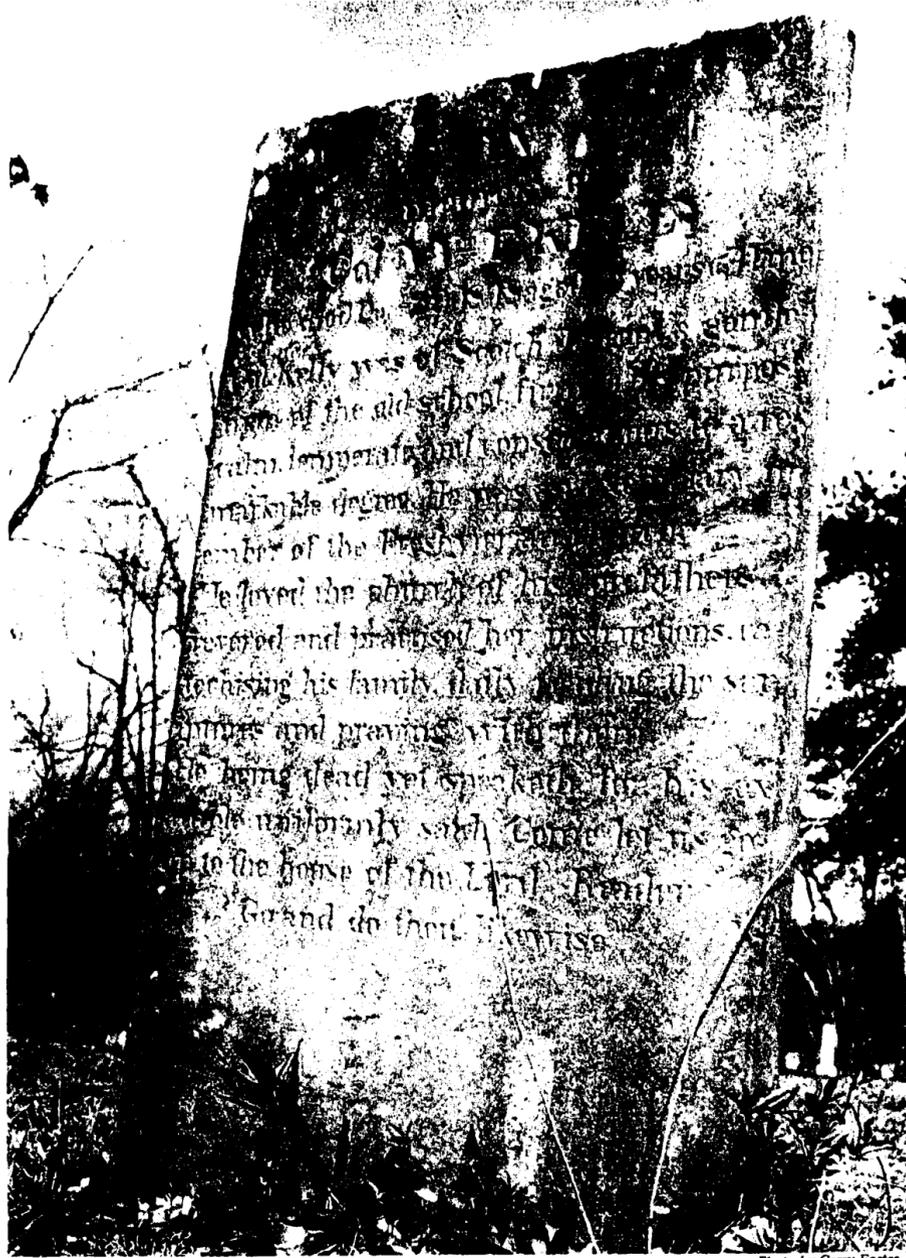

Davie court minutes of November 29, 1848 has William F. Kelly appointed as one of the committee of finance for Davie, replacing M.D. Armfield.

The Joppa Sessions Book shows that on April 6, 1840, Col. William F. Kelly, I.A. Witherspoon and Thomas Brown were elected trustees of Joppa Church, "to whom title is to be made."

The Joppa records has a note entered by Thomas McNeely, (Kelly's brother-in-law), on December 30, 1848—"Col. William F. Kelly died."

Stephen L. Howell was appointed as administrator of Kelly's estate on Feb. 27, 1849.

His wife Sarah, who outlived him 50 years, is buried by his side. The inscription on her tombstone reads: "Sarah A. Kelly, wife of Col. William F. Kelly, born January 26, 1807; died October 7, 1898, age 91 years, 8 months and 11 days. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saint."

The children of Colonel William Frohock Kelly and Sara Ann Gaither Kelly were as follows:

John Kelly, died in the Confederate Army.

Nicholas Young Kelly, died while a young medical student.

James Addison Kelly, married Mary Elizabeth Austin, became owner of the Kelly Hotel here in 1872.

Ann Maria Kelly married Robert F. Johnstone of Rowan County.

Samuel Abner Kelly, married Margaret Springs of Charlotte. He served in Confederate Army and succeeded his mother, Captain William F. Kelly, as commander of company G of the 4th Regiment.

Betty Frohock Kelly, married Thomas H. Gaither.

William Frohock Kelly, Jr. married Lela Bryant. Served in the Confederate

Army with company G, 4th Regiment. Albert Calvin Kelly, died in 1918.

Miss Sarah Emily Kelly, was living in Elkin as late as 1936.

Thomas Lemuel Kelly, first married Mattie Thornburn Sterling; later he married Satie Chatterton of Newborough, N.Y. He died in 1926.

Some of the Kelly family lived in Davie County; others moved to Rowan County and Charlotte.

A contemporary of Col. William Frohock Kelly, and also his brother-in-law, was Thomas McNeely. He was born on September 30, 1796 and in 1820 married Margaret Gaither, daughter of Nicholas Gaither and sister of Sarah Gaither Kelly.

The McNeelys lived in what later became known as the Weant house, located on the site of the present Sheek Tool Company building.

Thomas McNeely was very active in the business, civic and political life of that day. He and Stephen L. Howell operated a mercantile business. He built and operated a cotton factory, located near the present railroad underpass on the Lexington Road. This factory was in operation in March of 1837 and was one of 12 in North Carolina at that time.

The following description appears in James W. Wall's History of Davie County: "It was worked by steam, excellent machinery and had a grist mill attached that would grind from 50 to 60 bushels a day. The main building was of brick, 75 by 45, 3 stories high, with an addition of 25 feet for engine and grist mill. There were 500 spindles which produced 200 lbs. of yarn per day, propelled by steam engine of 25 horsepower. In addition to the main building, there were several dwelling houses and other buildings attached, making a little village of themselves. Twenty persons were employed, principally females—which must be of decent appearance and come well recommended for approved character and good habits."

It was said that the yarns produced here found a good market and ready sale.... greater than the factory is able to supply."

The factory ceased operation in the 1840's....not being listed on the 1850 or 1860 census. It is said that early cotton factories found it difficult to compete with the imports of textile products. The factory was burned on April 11, 1865 by Stoneman's Army when they came through Davie County enroute to Salisbury.

A merchant, farmer and owner of a blacksmith shop, McNeely also served as postmaster 1830-47.

He also was Clerk of the Sessions, 1832-1850, of the Joppa Presbyterian Church which moved to Mocksville in 1834. It is believed to have been McNeely that reserved the site for the Presbyterian Church when the property for the town was auctioned in 1837.

Tradition has it that Thomas McNeely and Archibald Carter donated most of the tract on which the Town of Mocksville was located. He also made a plat of the Town of Mocksville in color. (Page 165, Book I, Court Minutes).

At the first meeting of the town commissioners on February 15, 1839 Thomas McNeely was chosen chairman; James F. Martin, Magistrate of Police; Ephraim Gaither, Treasurer; and John McRorie, secretary. By-laws for the town were passed at the second meeting held at Thomas McNeely's "counting room".

Joppa Records indicate he was also a slave owner. "May 1836—died Amey, servant of Thomas McNeely." "September 16, 1845, Peter, servant of T. McNeely, died."

The May term of Davie Court 1840 the following will of Thomas Hays was probated: "I give and bequeath unto my worthy friend, Thomas McNeely, my Negro boy, Toney, and his mother, named Ann, having the utmost confidence he will treat them with great kindness and humanity."

McNeely incurred severe financial reverses, disposed of real and personal property, and moved to Philadelphia in 1849. Later he and his family returned to Salisbury.

Thomas McNeely died June 4, 1866 and is buried in the Old English Cemetery in Salisbury. His wife, Margaret Gaither McNeely died February 16, 1877. Their children were William Gaither McNeely, first married Louise Marvin and later Mrs. Mildred Hunt McCoy.

Julius Dwight McNeely, married Henrietta Hall.

Laura McNeely, married Archibald Young.

Amanda McNeely, married Joseph Johnstone and moved to Galveston, Texas.

Maria McNeely was the first wife of Thomas M. Young Sr.

Frances M Young McNeely, killed while defending the Confederate arsenal in Salisbury. Most of the children spent their life in Salisbury.

The House

In the early 1830's Thomas McNeely built what later became known as the Weant house. The house was a large two story structure, with twin chimneys on the north side, and rooms of unusual dimensions.

The mantels were typical of the period in which it was built. The walls were celled vertically and painted yellow with high wainscoting which was red, green and yellow.

The treads of the stairways had carved ornaments and the banister rail was of walnut or mahogany, with curved newel post. The doors had six panels, showing the double cross. The front door with its high stone steps faced Salisbury Street, at that time the main street of the town.

Early in this century the house became the home of W.A. Weant and his sisters. Weant was a veteran (insmith and he made his own coffin of intricate tin workmanship several years before his death.

Ney Poem And Letter

Mrs. Emily Chaffin died December 31, 1843. She was a daughter of Nicholas Gaither and sister of Mrs. Thomas McNeely and Mrs. William F. Kelly.

Peter S. Ney wrote a poem to Mrs. Chaffin to give to her son Franklin on his birthday in 1840. Ney was often a visitor in the Colonel Kelly home. He also wrote a letter to Mrs. Kelly stating his religious views. Both the poem and the letter are said to still be in the possession of the Kelly family.

There Are Many Helpful Insects

In a fickle world of fly-away-home ladybugs, scientists think they have found the one they like best—a stay-put ladybug.

The scientists, who work at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Beneficial Insect Research Laboratory at Newark, Del., specialize in finding good bugs to sic on bad bugs. They say it would be a breakthrough to find a ladybug that doesn't bug off at the slightest whim, but instead sticks around to do what a ladybug does best: Eat enemy insects.

Ladybugs, also known as ladybird beetles, are often gathered up in astronomical numbers from the mountains in the West, where their multitudes may turn bushes red and orange.

Then, sent off to attack insect foes of farmers such as aphids, which infest almost all crops, the ladybugs may linger only for a meal or two before they fly away home, apparently motivated by a strong migratory instinct. The USDA scientists told the National Geographic News Service that they may have found a super-ladybug, a seven-spotted beauty imported from Europe that doesn't seem to stray. Instead it stays put, eating aphids with even more than the usual appetite for about 40 a day because it is bigger than most of its kind.

It will be months before the researchers know more certainly whether the seven-spotted ladybug is immune from sudden attacks of wanderlust.

But if this ladybug lives up to hopes, it will join a sort of honor roll of predatory beetles and parasitic mites, wasps, and flies recruited to fight the enemy insects that destroy an estimated 10 to 20 percent of the grains, vegetables, and fruit grown on American farms.

About 150 insects in the United States are considered serious pests, half of them unwanted immigrants from Europe and Asia. Specialists say, however, that turning bug against bug may help solve only about one out of five insect problems.

For the rest, insect populations may be cut down and controlled by insecticides, by spreading insect diseases, by genetic hocus-pocus, or by such dirty tricks as sabotaging mating with laboratory-sterilized males.

The USDA's Beneficial Insect Research Laboratory, whose field investigators fan out from Japan and France, specializes in finding natural enemies of American pests and introducing them in this country.

Making sure first that a new friendly bug won't turn outlaw and itself become a threat to crops, the scientists wait for it to multiply in its new homeland. It may take several years for a promising new insect ally to take hold and start making its weight felt as the farmer's friend.

Overlooked Deduction Can Cost Taxpayers

We are all familiar with the most common deductions which can be claimed on the 1040 Federal income tax form. These include doctors and dentists' fees, charitable contributions, interest paid, real estate taxes and sales taxes.

However, there are many expenses that are frequently overlooked by the taxpayer filling an itemized return. These include mileage to and from the doctor's office, union dues, subscription to trade magazines, cost and upkeep of a uniform in some cases, job-hunting expenses and car mileage for a charitable organization.

For information on these and other frequently overlooked deductions call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-822-8800 any weekday. (Occasionally, this phone is monitored to ensure accurate and courteous response).

UNC Tar Heel Quilt

The UNC Tarheel quilt at the right is a product of the "Quilting Ladies" of the William R. Davie community. The "Tarheel" emblem was copied from that on a hat of Vicki Cranfill's fiancé, Maxie Melton. Ms. Cranfill painted it on the quilt with Tri-chem paint. And below are "The Quilting Ladies" of the William R. Davie community: Naomi Whitaker, Ida Mae Cranfill, Vicki Cranfill, Lila Adams and Ora Whitaker. Not pictured is Janet Hall. "When these ladies quilt, they quilt," says Mr. Adams who does all the cooking and odd jobs around the house when a quilting party is in session. "That is why they quilt so fast, they do nothing else but quilt," he observed. A few weeks ago Mrs. Lila Adams bought a rummage box at a sale. The box contained enough quilt stars to make a top. The stars had been patched on newspaper that were dated 1904. When she quilts this one she will have a brand new antique. Photos by Hubert Whitaker

Personal Valuables May Not Be Insured

Is your jewelry worth more than $500? Chances are, one ring could be worth far more than that. If so, you had better check your insurance. Many people whose valuables are damaged or stolen are surprised to learn that their homeowners policy has coverage limitations for jewelry as well as other valuables, according to the Insurance Information Institute. For example, most homeowners policies will cover losses for a combined total of only $500 per incident on jewelry, watches, gems, gold, platinum and furs. If both a $1,000 fur and a $500 bracelet were stolen, the Institute points out, you would be reimbursed for only $500, less any deductible that applies. Personal article "floaters" are available from most insurers to provide additional coverage for valuables. Types of property that can be insured under a personal article floater include furs, jewelry, silverware, photographic equipment, golfing equipment, musical instruments and stamp and coin collections. Although the $500 limit does not apply to valuables such as photographic equipment and musical instruments, you may still want to obtain a floater for such items since there is a specific overall limit on household personal property. If you have a $40,000 homeowners insurance policy, for instance, you would be able to collect a total of $20,000 on personal property inside the home. If your expensive photographic equipment and coin collection were separately insured, however, the amount you collect for them would not be deducted from the $20,000 limit on personal property. Floaters, which usually extend coverage against virtually all risks of loss or damage, provide coverage on the first dollar of loss since there is no deductible involved. One important advantage of the personal article floater is automatic coverage on newly acquired property for jewelry, watches, furs, cameras and musical instruments. This extension provides a 30-day coverage for new purchases on which insurance for a specific type of property is already written. Newly acquired property must be reported to the insurance company within 30 days and pro rata premium paid from the date the property is acquired. For example, if you purchased a gold necklace, it will be automatically insured provided you are already covered for another jewelry item. There would be no automatic protection on the necklace, however, if the policy previously applied to a fur coat. A clause may be added to the policy for jewelry in which a set or pair is involved. Under this clause, if you lose one of your diamond earrings, you can turn the remaining earring over to the insurance company and receive the actual cash value of the entire pair. Insurance premiums for personal article floaters vary according to the type of property insured, and in the case of furs and jewelry, the geographic location. Premiums are higher in more populated areas where the risk of loss, particularly by theft, is greater.

Licenses Are Suspended

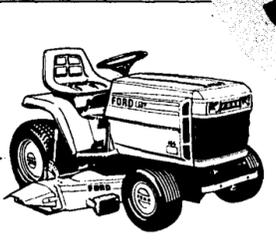

Motor vehicle operator licenses revoked or suspended in Davie County for the period ending March 23rd included:
 Larry D. Head, 29, of 28 Davie Street, Coolee, revoked as of February 26, 1979 until February 26, 1980.
 Clyde W. Whitley Jr., 27, of 19 Duke St., Coolee, revoked as of March 5, 1979 until March 5, 1980.
 Donald M. Hendricks, 18, of 503 Church Street, Mocksville, suspended as of April 1, 1979 until May 31, 1979.

Schools Are Urged To Be More Energy Concious

Local school units across North Carolina are being urged to prepare now for a possible shortage of fuel oil next September. The State Division of Plant Operations says deliveries of fuel oil are being made without too much difficulty at present; but rumors persist about shortages, reduced allocations, and other factors which could play havoc with future deliveries. Carsie Denning, Division Director, says the bulk of the cost of energy sources in local schools is borne by the local unit. He says superintendents in those units are being told fuel oil could be in short supply next year. Denning also has issued the suggestion that local units should make plans to fill their tanks now, at the end of the heating year, while supplies are still available. He says waiting until the end of the fiscal year could prove more costly. And, says Denning, allocations might be reduced. Last year, schools in North Carolina spent more than $2 million dollars in providing heat and cooling for their buildings. Denning says that is higher than anticipated and that costs could be considerably higher this year if conservation is not practiced by every school. Some individual schools may not be observing energy conservation methods such as turning down thermostats and turning off heat when school is not in session. Additionally, the cost of fuel continues to rise, and, as Denning points out, "who knows where it will stop." Fuel oil bought by the state last July cost 38 and one half cents per gallon. In the last 8 months, the price has gone up over 20 percent. In fact, Denning says eleven counties are now paying more than 50 cents per gallon. Denning says everything points to continued inflated fuel oil prices during the next fiscal year. He has written to all local school units that they should monitor conservation practices at their schools to reduce consumption and costs.

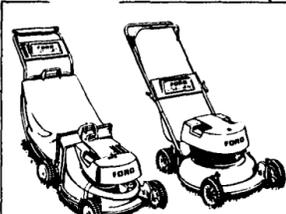

'Ancient Egypt' To find out how it was possible for the Egyptians to move huge stone blocks into place without wheels when building the pyramids, a French investigator had a one-ton block of limestone hauled by ropes along a track made of moist mud from the Nile. He discovered the smooth stone could easily be moved by one man, reports the National Geographic Society's book "Ancient Egypt."

Easter: Blessed assurance

What makes Easter so inspiring? Is it Spring? Nature's exploding fragrances? Or, gay new fashions? All of the above, for sure, but the important meaning is assurance of new life. Because Jesus arose from the grave, was seen in the flesh by over 500 people before ascending into Heaven 40 days later, we can say with the Apostle Paul, If any man be in Christ (believe) he is a new creature. II Cor. 5:17.

Indeed, if Christ be not risen, then Easter is void of meaning. Yet, because He lives, we have the same blessed assurance that we, too, shall live! Happy Easter from Your Pharmacy!

Cable Cuts Plaque Telephone Companies

Central Telephone Co. customers in the Elkin, Mount Airy and North Wilkesboro areas experienced more than 1,500 service interruptions during 1978—incidents the company says could have been prevented.

"The problem is accidental curbed cable cuts," explained Ken Lukasik, customer services manager for Centel's Elkin district.

Centel reported 48 separate incidents in 1978 in which underground telephone cables were damaged by construction activity in the Elkin, Mount Airy and North Wilkesboro areas.

"The cost of repairing these cuts was over $4,600," Lukasik said. "But the real problem was the inconvenience to those 1,534 customers whose phones were temporarily out of service."

Centel, which has independently offered a cable locating service in the past, recently joined other North Carolina utilities in establishing a state-wide, one-call system for identifying and locating underground cable and utility facilities.

One toll-free number, 800-632-4949, now gives the general public, municipal and state construction crews and general contractors a channel for notifying utilities and other operators of underground facilities of their intentions to dig, excavate or blast.

"We'll arrange to have the underground telephone cables pinpointed prior to any construction work," Little said. "That phone call could save everyone a lot of trouble and a lot of dollars."

Central Telephone, a subsidiary of Central Telephone and Utilities Corp. of Chicago, has operated in North Carolina since 1931. The company currently serves more than 232,000 phones in 43 communities in 21 western and Piedmont counties.

Centel serves some 63,000 phones in its Elkin district, including about 1,400 in Booneville, 1,800 in Dobson, 8,200 in Elkin, 4,500 in Mocksville, 16,000 in Mount Airy, 16,000 in North Wilkesboro, 2,700 in Pilot Mountain, 750 in Roaring Gap, 3,400 in West Jefferson, 2,600 in Yadkinville, 2,000 in Hays, 1,300 in State Road and 1,600 in Mulberry.

Central Telephone Company belongs to a consortium of about 25 utility companies in North Carolina operating the non-profit Utilities Locating Company, or ULOCO, as it's commonly called. The company has distributed bumper stickers, some shaped as stop signs, to construction contractors to be attached to heavy excavation equipment. The stickers feature the toll-free, "call-before-you-dig" number, 800-632-4949, which is available to all North Carolina residents.

District 13 School Board Officers

An extensive cancer detection program for company employees was launched this month by Drexel Heritage Furnishings Inc., Howard H. Haworth, president of the Drexel, N.C. based furniture manufacturer, announced today.

The company-wide program which will be made available to the over 5,000 employees of the firm in North Carolina, combines educational sessions with specific cancer screening procedures. Both parts of the program are offered on a voluntary basis during regular working hours. Expenses for the project are being assumed by Drexel Heritage.

"The initial sessions took place in our Marion facility," Haworth said, "and they were received very enthusiastically by those who participated."

The program then moved to Morganton where it has already covered five of the company's facilities. Sessions and tests in the other plants in the Morganton-Drexel area, beginning April 30 and extending through June 5, will schedule personnel from one-to-two plants at a time.

A few other North Carolina firms have undertaken similar programs, according to Haworth, but as far as can be ascertained Drexel Heritage is the first of its size in the furniture industry to engage in such a project.

Director of the on-the-job program is Dr. Siegfried Heyden, who is on the faculty of Duke University's Department of Community and Family Medicine. The world-renowned cancer researcher, or one of his associates, begins each session by pointing out to participants the importance of early detection of cancer as it relates to the probability of complete or high rate of cure. Specific instructions regarding signs to look for and a number of simple, self-administered tests are also described.

Information given to employees during this segment of the program is deliberately designed so that it can be easily shared with members of the participants' families. Literature-reinforcing the presentation is being made available by the American Cancer Society.

The actual screening tests are administered by a medical team including physicians-in-residence at Bowman Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem and Charlotte Memorial Hospital and Medical Center in Charlotte, accompanied by registered nurses. Temporary examination rooms are constructed on the site of each facility for the purpose of conducting the intensive testing procedures.

The range of examinations encompasses tests for prostate cancer in men, breast and cervical cancer in women, cancer of the mouth, nasal area, bladder, rectum and large intestines. Additional tests are offered for possible high blood pressure and diabetes. Each individual receives a confidential report from Heyden as to whether the tests indicate normal conditions or the advisability of further exploration.

"We have been extremely pleased by the high level of participation in this program," Haworth said. "The over 600 employees in the Marion plant attended the educational meeting, and more than 70 percent of them followed through with the screening tests. And the first phase of the program in the Morganton facility has shown an even higher degree of participation. "As a result," Haworth concluded, "although it's a relatively new program here at Drexel Heritage, we view the project as a tremendous success already."

Drexel Heritage Furnishings Inc., long regarded as a furniture pioneer has facilities in 11 North Carolina communities and one in South Carolina. The plants are in Shelby, Black Mountain, High Point, Longview, Whittier, Hickory, Mocksville and Hildebran as well as Marion, Morganton and Drexel, North Carolina and Kingstree, South Carolina. The cancer detection program will be offered to the personnel in all these facilities within the current year.

Ahh...the joys of owning your own phones.

Four money-saving reasons why if you own anything, you ought to own your own phone.

You may not know it, but you're paying a "rental fee" for the use of your home phones each month. But now there's a way you can reduce this charge—by owning your own phones instead.

JOY #1. Phone-owning saves you money, year after year.

Why does it make sense to own your own phones? Let's say you purchase a Touch-Call Trendline, Contempra and Chest Phone from the models shown at the right. Once they're yours, you'll actually save $106.80 in "rental" charges each year!

Of course, to enjoy these savings, you have to purchase the phones first. You can choose from a variety of payment plans.† You can even pay for these Centel phones on your monthly phone bill, if you like. But after that, you'll keep right on saving money, year after year!

JOY #2. Choose from a wide variety of styles and colors that are a joy to give... or get!

Select the phones that are exactly right for you, your home, and the way you live today. From our elegant Cradlephone to the sleek, trendy lines of Contempra, Centel offers you the latest designs... smart conversation pieces you'll be proud to call your own. And when it comes to gift-giving, nothing's as decorative and useful as a personal phone from Centel.

JOY #3. No more "hook-up hassles" when you move with a phone that's your own.

Whether you're moving a phone across the room or across the U.S.A., it's easier with a phone that's already your own. Each phone Centel offers comes with a convenient cord that fits a standard telephone plug-in outlet. Before you move, call your telephone service representative. Then on moving day, you just unplug it, take it with you, and connect it to a "plug-in" outlet when you arrive. No need to wait for an installer to come.

JOY #4. Service problems? Never fear... with a warranty and exchange program from Centel.

Each phone Centel offers is covered by our warranty, plus something extra—an exclusive exchange program you can't get anywhere else. If anything goes wrong with your phone, you won't have to wait for repairs. Just stop by your nearest Centel Business Office and exchange it for another. And there's no charge for this service while your phone's under warranty.

Want to know more about the joys of phone-owning?

Contact your local Centel Service Representative soon. When you discover how enjoyable—and economical—phone-owning can be, we think you'll be pleasantly surprised.

Sen. Morgan Sponsors Internship Program

For Senior Citizens

U.S. Sen. Robert Morgan will sponsor an internship program for North Carolina's senior citizens in his Washington office, beginning the first week in May.

Interns will spend one week in the senator's office, learning about the federal government and how a congressional office operates. They will learn about legislation of interest to the elderly, attend hearings, and participate in discussions with experts from Congress. Sightseeing tours and other activities are also being planned.

Interns will be selected by local senior citizen clubs and organizations, such as Councils on Aging and American Association of Retired People chapters. Anyone ranging in age from 60 to 91 is eligible to participate, but interns should be in good health since a busy schedule will be maintained throughout the week.

Mrs. Wynne Valand, Morgan's legislative aide on health affairs, handicapped and aging, will direct the internship program. For more information, call her at (202) 224-3154, or write her at Sen. Morgan's office in the Dirksen Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20515.

When The Going Gets Rough, Reindeer Teeth Can Be Money

Some of the early truck growers in the community have started setting out their field tomatoes, and other vegetable plants such as squash, cucumbers, etc. Neely Moore set out about 10 thousand tomato plants last Saturday and will hold off for a while as some of the others are doing awaiting the expected Easter cold snap to pass.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Price spent last Monday in Rock Hill, S.C. visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klutz returned home the first of this week from Orlando, Florida where they spent two weeks with their son Steve Klutz and family.

Tom Gray has reentered Rowan Memorial Hospital, and is real ill with pneumonia and other complications.

Rev. Frank Collier and Maxie Cheek attended Concord Presbyterian which met at Boone last week.

Toni Klutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Klutz, is in Raleigh this week serving as a page in the N.C. House of Representatives.

Robin Collier, son of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Collier, left last week for Scotland to join his regiment in the Royal Scot Dragon Guard. He has been on furlough visiting his parents for two weeks at the Presbyterian Manse.

Brother, can you spare a rabbit tail, a woodpecker scalp, or a "shin plaster?"

At one time or another, all these items passed for money in America. In fact the old saw "Don't take any wooden nickels" was ignored during the Depression when people in one town eagerly accepted the wooden coins.

In early colonial times, coins and notes were in short supply and settlers had to improvise, using everything from bullets to agricultural products in their transactions.

In South Carolina rice was accepted as payment for taxes. Tobacco became the main currency in Virginia and Maryland, and tobacco notes issued as deposit certificates long circulated as money.

Indians used muskrat, otter, and beaver skins to obtain goods. Caribou or reindeer teeth passed for money in Alaska; Indian tribes in Idaho preferred the eye teeth of elk. In the Pacific Northwest, woodpecker scaples were honored.

But the most famous Indian currency of all was wampum, a currency of the coin-hungry colonists eagerly adopted.

Wampum beads came from shells, the white ones usually from the central column of whelks and the more valuable purple ones from quahog clams. Beds along Narragansett Bay and Long Island Sound were rich shell sources, points out the National Geographic Society.

As the fur trade boomed, wampum became increasingly popular as money. Counterfeits turned up as early as the 1650's.

To meet the colonists' growing demand for wampum, a factory was set up in New Jersey, and later, machines were used to cut and perforate the beads. With mass production, value and usage fell and wampum finally lost its status as legal tender in the mid-1700s.

Massive output of paper money created problems during and after the Civil War. In the North printing presses worked overtime to finance the conflict, and the debasement of paper currency made coins more valuable. They were shipped abroad for big profit or hoarded.

In many areas, hotels, stores, and even barber shops responded by issuing "shin plasters," notes in denominations of less than a dollar. Although outlawed by many states, they found ready acceptance among the people.

Some companies capitalized on the shortage by striking their own tokens in the size and shape of cents. These sometimes carried advertising and patriotic slogans such as "Union For Ever."

Shin plasters were conservative compared with some of the monies that gained acceptance during the bank holidays and financial crises of the early 1930's.

Everything from clam shells and rabbit tails to buckskin currency and sheepskin scrip had value in some communities. In 1933 Blaine, Wash., issued wooden nickels to pay for municipal labor. They were gladly accepted.

THE CROWN OF THORNS

The first time I stuck a thorn in my finger, I was instructed by my mother about the origin of thorns! I was picking blackberries in Mississippi when a vicious gash was torn in my flesh by the jagged thorns on a bush.

"That man's punishment for sin," my mother said that night during our family altar time, and she read Genesis 3:18.

As I grew older I learned that the thorns on the blackberry bushes were prologue to the thorns which are abundantly strewn throughout all the experiences of life.

It is no wonder then, that God chose to allow the Roman soldiers to press upon the brow of Christ this symbol of suffering and sin. God's best, crowned with earth's curse.

What happened to the crown of thorns that day when they took His body down? We don't know. But I've always felt that the ugly thing took root on the spot so that it might continue to wound those who are not found in Him.

As for all the rest of us, the thorns have been stripped from the branches, and the branches have been woven into a new crown "which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give (us) in that day."

Live Easter Sunrise Program Sunday At Fulton

Fulton and Elbaville United Methodist churches will sponsor a live Easter Sunrise program at the Fulton Church (N.C. 801), Sunday, April 15.

The program will consist of five scenes portraying five of the main events surrounding the last week of Christ's earthly life. The scenes will be presented in the following order:

(1) Palm Sunday; (2) The Last Supper; (3) Jesus Praying in the Garden; (4) The Crucifixion; (5) The Resurrection. Each scene will be accompanied by scripture reading and some scenes will also include singing.

Approximately 55 people will participate in the program which will begin at 6:30 a.m. Those attending may file through until 7:30 a.m. or until all have had an opportunity to see.

"We would like to invite all who can to be with us sometime between 6:30 and 7:30 a.m. on East Sunday for this event," said the Rev. Tony J. Jordan, pastor of the Fulton United Methodist Church.

In case of rain Sunday morning this service will be held inside.

The Sunday Worship Services at Fulton will be held at 8:30 a.m. and services will be held at 10 a.m. at Elbaville.

Shiloh-Chinquapin To Have Love Feast On Good Friday

Shiloh and Chinquapin Grove Baptist Churches will have a Love Feast, Good Friday April 13, 1979, at Chinquapin beginning at 6:30 p.m.

In the final Passover meal with Christ and His disciples, a supper was prepared along with the sharing of the bread and the cup. Paul suggests in the 11th Chapter of I Corinthians that the events were combined. However, in Syria and Asia Minor at all events, by A. D. 100, there was a separation at the two events. So, the sharing together of a complete meal was prevalent until about the second century.

Today, Protestants are more familiar with The Lord's Supper or Holy Communion or The Eucharist in which only the bread and the elements of the cup are shared absent of a complete meal. However, the aim on this Good Friday, is to bring the meal back into the rite or observance. The title-Love Feast-is derived from the early Church's title of the meal as the "Agape". "Agape" is the Greek word for "Love." Following the meal the church will celebrate the Eucharistia. "Eucharistia" is the Greek term meaning "Thanksgiving." This title is derivative of the Gospels' recording of the event, stating that the Lord gave thanks for the bread and the elements in the cup.

Consequently, on this Good Friday, Shiloh and Chinquapin Grove will jointly share in a "Love Feast" where a celebration of "Agape" and "Eucharistia" will occur.

Beginning at 6:30 p.m., dinner will be served in the Fellowship Hall of Chinquapin and at 7:30 p.m., the observance of the Holy Communion will be conducted in the church sanctuary. The Rev. Calvin J. Banks, Pastor of Chinquapin Grove will preside over the celebration and the Rev. Howard W. Parker, Jr., Pastor of Shiloh will deliver the Table Talk. Music will be delivered by the Senior Choir of Shiloh. All who wish to attend are welcome.

Community Easter Sunrise Service will be conducted at the Shiloh Baptist Church Sunday morning at 6 a.m. The Rev. Michael Ellis, Pastor of St. John A. M. E. Zion Church will deliver the Easter sermon. Music will be by both church choirs. All are welcome.

Green Meadows News

A special presentation of Easter in scripture and song was given at Green Meadows Church on Sunday. Several visitors were present for the service.

Revival services closed at Green Meadows on Friday night. There were several rededications and a general spiritual atmosphere during the week. The Rev. John Wilkinson brought very sincere, dedicated messages each evening, giving much food for serious thinking to those attending. During the week a good number of visitors attended and the church would like you to know they noticed and appreciated your presence.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Willard returned home on Saturday night from a vacation trip to Florida. While

Middle School To Hold Student Night

The Mocksville Middle School P.T.S.A. will hold a student activity night on Thursday, April 12 at 7 in the school gymnasium. Activities will include square dancing by the 5th grade, a history of dance since the 1920's by the sixth grade, the 7th and 8th grades will participate in all-star volleyball, and there will be both men and women volleyball games with students playing faculty. There will be concessions and door prizes. Admission will be 50 cents for everyone. Proceeds will go to the P.T.S.A.

there they enjoyed a visit to Disneyland.

A special Maundy Thursday Lords Supper service will be held at Green Meadows Church on Thursday at 7 p.m. The service will be conducted in the original auditorium.

On Easter Sunday during worship hour, a Baptismal service will be conducted at Green Meadows Church. All those awaiting baptism please take note.

Mrs. Irene Armsworthy and Mrs. Ruby McKnight returned home Friday night from several days visit with their brother, Gurney Smith in Wilmington.

Mr. Grover Plemmons entered the Baptist Hospital on Monday where he expects to have a heart pacemaker inserted.

The Green Meadows choir was pleased to be wearing their new green robes on Sunday. Some of you out there who are not members of the church, contributed to the special choir robe fund with memorial gifts. The church wishes to thank you and invites you if you have opportunity to visit and see and hear the choir. Several comments from visitors and members of the church have been heard about the splendid renditions of the choir during the revival with the help of choir director Mrs. Kenneth Smith and organist Ronnie Smith.

To some of the readers this will appear to be another "tall tale", but to quote an old truth: Seeing is believing-Joe Langston found this to be a truth indeed on Sunday night when he returned home from church a large number of snails or slugs were all along his back walk and steps. Armed with a box of table salt an old yard knife and a flashlight he proceeded to exterminate them. One extra large one on the walk decapitated--about five minutes later he saw this same "critter" crawling. On closer observation to his utter amazement he discovered the thing was growing another set of tentacles or eye horns. Before you mark this off as a very tall tale or fabrication, consult your encyclopedia.

Davie Academy

Community Watch

Residents of the Davie Academy Community met Thursday night, April 5, at the Community Building to organize the "Davie Academy Community Watch".

Larry Hayes, Administrative Officer of the Davie County Sheriff's Department, and Lewis Jones, Co-ordinator of the North Davie Community Watch met with the group to explain various aspects of the organization.

The following officers were elected: Co-ordinator-Garland C. Wilson; Vice co-ordinator-Kenneth Stroud; Secretary-Sara Walker; Treasurer-Thomas A. Carter; and Board of Directors: Randall Cave, Claude W. Cartner, Billy R. Stroud.

Union Chapel-Chesnut Grove United Methodist Charge

Twelve members of the Union Chapel-Chesnut Grove United Methodist Charge-wide Confirmation Class were received into full church membership at the two churches April 8. These young people had been involved in Confirmation training since early February.

Received from Union Chapel were: Susan Howell, Kim Felts, Jimmy Broadway, and Crystal Broadway. Received from Chesnut Grove were Marty Lanning, Lisa Kiger, Tammy Fulbright, Jeff Barneycastle, Dale Barneycastle, Betsy Driver, Wendy McClamrock, and Becky McClamrock.

Before being confirmed, five of the young people were baptized: Kim Felts from Union Chapel and Betsy Driver, Lisa Kiger, Becky McClamrock, and Wendy McClamrock from Chesnut Grove.

A "Meat-less" covered dish meal was held Saturday, April 6th at Union Chapel United Methodist Church for the purpose of dedicating a special World Hunger Offering. Children, young people, and adults throughout the church had been collecting coins in soft drink can "money banks" for two months. Once totaled, the pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and other gifts come to $230.00, the entire amount to be given through the United Methodist Commission on Relief (UMCOR) to help relieve the World Hunger problem. Union Chapel was privileged to have the Rev. Donald Funderburk, pastor of Bethlehem United Methodist Church, as a special guest for the evening. Rev. Funderburk shared his insights into the workings of UMCOR and its efforts to fight the hunger problem locally and abroad. A decision was made to continue the hunger emphasis by placing a permanent box in the church's entrance to allow persons to contribute to the ongoing fight against world hunger.

Easter Egg Hunt Sat. At Smith Grove

The Dulins Methodist Charge will have an Easter Egg Hunt Saturday, April 14th. The hunt, sponsored by the Smith Grove MYF, will be at the Smith Grove United Methodist Church at 3:00 o'clock.

The Smith Grove Church is located 6 miles east of Mocksville on Hwy. 158. All children will be welcome. At 8:00 there will be a covered dish fellowship supper in the Hut.

Gospel Sing

A gospel singing will be held at Stewarts Lake April 14, beginning at 7 p.m. Featured groups will be the "Beck Family", the "Go Forth Family", and the "Glory Road Singers." Stewarts Lake is five miles east of Mocksville off Highway 64 on the No Creek Road. The public is invited to attend.

First Methodist Youth Meet

The First United Methodist Church youth met Sunday, April 8, for an evening of softball, food, business and entertainment. Taylor Slye provided leadership for the 5 p.m. ball game.

Following the game, the group returned to the fellowship building for an evening meal of sandwiches, potato chips, cookies and drinks.

Denise Wood, president, held a business session after the meal. Plans were concluded for a soup and sandwich supper to be held Sunday, April 22, for the training session; and tickets to be distributed for sale at fifty cents for a ball game to be held in the afternoon. Proceeds will be used to help defray the costs of the Senior High Spiritual Retreat at the beach in July.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a narrative play was presented, titled: "No Ordinary Man", participating were: Elizabeth Smith, announcer; Page Smith, David the Pharisee; Abe Howard, Longinus, a Centurion; Mike Murphy, Pontius Pilate and Chris Hanes, Joseph of Arimathea. Attending were twenty six members and eight counselors.

The regular weekly meeting will not be held Easter Sunday; but will resume as scheduled, Sunday, April 22.

Taxpayers Should Ask IRS To See Credentials

Taxpayers should ask to see the credentials of any individual claiming to be an Internal Revenue Service employee, the IRS cautioned. From time to time, individuals pose as employees of the IRS to ask sensitive tax questions or to collect money for what these imposters refer to as unpaid taxes.

In almost every instance, taxpayers who owe money will receive written notification before being contacted in person by the IRS. In addition, every IRS employee who makes public contact carries distinctive identification and is required to show it when conducting official business.

Taxpayers who are unsure of the identity of the person presenting IRS credentials or who suspect the use of non-standard procedures should call the IRS office in Greensboro.

Mocks

The Sunday evening prayer Service was held by Johnny Allen, he read and talked from the 8th Chapter of Luke on Sowing good seed. A number of songs were sung. Such as: Bringing in the Sheaves and The Old Rugged Cross. The Music was played by Mrs. Jean Phelps and Mrs. Nancy Brewer.

The pastor Rev Alvord will hold Services here on Good Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Easter Sunrise Service will be held Sunday Morning at 5:45 a.m. Worship Service will be at 8 a.m. and Sunday School at 9 a.m. Miss Cindy Brewer Spent Sunday with Miss Cindy Phelps.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Cornatzer of Clemmons visited Miss Mattie W. Jones Sunday.

How To Use A Magistrate Court

The Magistrate's Court is often called "Small Claims Court." It is provided for citizens who wish to have small claims and disputes resolved in court. The "Small Claims Court" is part of the state's district court system. One such court is located in every county seat and in every large city in North Carolina.

An average citizen can settle a small claim simply and inexpensively without the assistance of a lawyer. A lawyer, however, knows about legal questions and procedures and should be consulted if needed.

The hearing in "Small Claims Court" is relatively informal. Each party is given the opportunity to present his or her case and to ask questions of the opposing party. Witnesses are allowed, but there is no jury. After the hearing, the magistrate reaches a decision which he may give immediately. The hearing takes place in an office rather than a courtroom, but the final decision of the magistrate has the same force and effect as the ruling of any other court.

Problems You Can Take To This Court

The amount of money or the value of property involved in a Magistrate's Court case cannot exceed $500. If the value of your claim exceeds that amount, and you do not consider the sum over $500 to be important, you may reduce the amount of your claim to $500. However, if you choose to do this, you forfeit any right you may have to the amount over $500.

Many types of complaints may be taken to the Magistrate's Court. Most cases involve a claim that money is owed to the person who sues. Many cases are filed when a landlord tries to evict a tenant who has not paid the rent. A large number are brought by business operators who wish to have a customer's debt established and recorded officially.

Few suits are brought by persons seeking money from companies, but these courts can be used for that purpose. For example, you can sue in Magistrate's Court if a cleaner damages your clothing and refused to pay for it. If an appliance shop does unauthorized work on your television set, then will not return it unless you pay for the unauthorized work, you may sue to get your television set.

Suppose your landlord unjustly refuses to return your security deposit after you move. A furnace repair may not have been completed as promised, and you want to recover a part of the amount you paid in advance. An automobile service shop may have broken your car window while fixing a door, and the shop refuses to assume responsibility for the damage it did. Someone may have dented the fender of your car, and refuses to pay the 150 damages. The use of an improper part in a refrigerator repair may have been the reason you later had to pay a large bill for additional repairs by another company, and the original serviceman refuses to pay for the damage caused by his carelessness. All these problems can be taken into the Magistrate's Court to be resolved.

If someone causes physical injury to another person, such as in an automobile accident, the Magistrate's Court may be used to obtain a judgment for the damages. However, most injured persons will not know the amount which could properly be claimed for such injuries. And, because expert advice is usually necessary to decide the amount of damages to be claimed, the Magistrate's Court is not often used in cases involving physical injuries.

Who Can Sue and Be Sued
Persons 18 years old and over may bring or defend their own cases in the Magistrate's Court. A person under 18 can have a claim filed by a parent, relative, or friend who is 18 years or over and has been appointed by the court.

You can sue any person or company in North Carolina who has damaged you or your property, owes you money, or has personal property you claim as yours. However, if the person you wish to sue is under 18 years of age, or is under any legal disability, such as mental incompetence, you should ask a lawyer for assistance.

As a general rule, the company or person sued must be located in North Carolina, in the county where the lawsuit is filed.

Getting Your Case to Court

Procedures for bringing suit are simple. Here's what you do:

1. File a written "complaint" with the clerk of Superior Court at the courthouse in the county where at least one of the people you are suing lives. If you are suing a store, you must file your complaint in the county in which the store is located.

2. Call the clerk's office in the county courthouse to find out when it's open and where it's located. If you can't go during office hours yourself, someone else can pick up the necessary forms and make arrangements to begin the lawsuit.

3. At the office of the clerk of Superior Court, ask to see the clerk in charge of Magistrate's Court records. This person will give you forms to fill out. Read the instructions carefully.

4. You will have to fill out the "complaint", which states the reason you are suing, the amount of money involved, or description of the exact articles you wish to recover... Each person being sued gets a copy of the complaint.

5. Be sure you state correctly on the complaint the full name and address of each person you are suing. If you are suing a business, you should know if it is a corporation. If it is, you must sue it by suing its correct corporate name. If it is not, you name the owner or owners of the business.

Information as to the correct name or names of owners, is usually available from the company itself or from records in the courthouse. Property tax listing records, the index to judgments, and other sources can supply such information. If you have trouble, ask for help in the clerk's office.

6. You must pay the clerk a filing fee of $8.00. If you win the case, this filing fee will be added into the total amount of money awarded to you in the judgment.

7. The clerk will help you set the date and time for the trial. The date will be no later than 30 days from the time you file your complaint.

8. One of the forms the clerk will give you is a "summons." This is a notice to the person you are suing to appear in the Magistrate's Court at the appointed time. Due process of law requires that a person must receive notice, and an opportunity to prepare for trial.

Service of the notice upon the defendants can be by the clerk mailing the papers (certified mail, return receipt requested) or by getting the sheriff's office to deliver the papers. If mailing is chosen, the current charge of the Postal Service must be given to the Clerk of Court, and the words "Service by mail requested" must be written on the complaint.

If service by the sheriff's office is chosen, for each person being sued you must take a summons, a copy of the complaint, and a fee of $2.00 to the county sheriff's office. The sheriff must deliver the summons to the person you're suing, or leave it with a responsible person at the home, or the case cannot be heard in court. If the sheriff returns the summons and says the person cannot be found, you may issue another summons if you obtain information which would allow the sheriff to deliver the required notice.

How To Prepare For the Trial
Knowing what to expect can often be useful and comforting. If possible, visit the Magistrate's Court as an observer. The clerk's office can tell you when and where the magistrate will be hearing cases, and may be able to tell you when a case similar to yours is scheduled.

Try to get together all evidence which might help you. Look carefully at contracts, sales tickets, receipts, photographs, and anything which might show the magistrate something you wish to prove.

If there are persons who have observed events that led to the lawsuit, and their statements can help you prove your claim, you should try to get them to the trial. You will need to tell your witnesses the date, time and place, and later remind them. Sometimes a person who could be a witness for your side will refuse to testify. Some people do not want to get involved. Some can't leave their job conveniently, or voluntarily. You can get a "subpoena" from the clerk of Superior Court. This is an official legal notice, delivered by the sheriff's office, that requires a witness to come to court.

Each subpoenaed witness is entitled to be paid a fee and travel expenses for testifying. A claim for fees must be filed with the clerk. These fees are added to the court costs, which are usually paid by the losing party. However, payment will not be paid for more than two witnesses to prove a single issue.

If you won't be able to be in court at the specified time, notify the Clerk of Court or the magistrate at once. With the consent of the magistrate, your case may be scheduled at another time. If you fail to notify them and don't appear for the trial, your case will be dismissed, and you might not be able to file it again.

Check with the clerk's office to determine whether the other person has been served with notice of the suit. If not, you may be able to provide

Social Security News

People do not have to visit a social security office to conduct most of their business; they can use the telephone.

Almost all social security business can be taken care of over the telephone, from applying for benefits to reporting a lost or stolen check. Many people find it convenient to call, and it saves them time and money.

There are certain times when social security offices are especially busy and it is a good idea not to call during these times unless the need is urgent.

The first week of the month is the busiest time. That is when social security and supplemental security income checks are issued. During that time it is not unusual for all the telephone lines to be busy and people may have trouble getting through.

It is recommended that people want until the middle of the month to call about routine matters. In fact, the later in the month a person calls, the better the chances are of getting through quickly.

Examples of what can be done over the telephone include applying for benefits or Medicare, reporting an address or name change, start or stop work reports, lost or stolen check reports, replacing social security or Medicare cards, arranging for direct deposit of checks, getting help with Medicare forms, getting help with an appeal and just getting general information about social security.

The telephone number of the Salisbury social security office is 634-2868, and the office is located at 105 Corriher Avenue.

In 1978, a person earned a quarter of coverage under social security for each $250 of annual earnings. Has this amount been increased for 1979?

Yes. In 1979, you can earn one quarter of coverage for each $260 of your covered annual earnings. No more than 4 quarters can be earned for any year, however, regardless of your total earnings.

I know there are two different ways Medicare medical insurance payments can be made. How do the two methods work?

Under the assignment method, the doctor receives the medical insurance payment. When this method is used, the doctor agrees that his or her total charge will be the reasonable charge approved by Medicare. Medicare pays the doctor 80 percent of the reasonable charge, after subtracting any part of the $60 deductible you haven't met. The doctor can charge you only for the part of the deductible you hadn't met and for the remaining 20 percent of the reasonable charge. Under the payment-to-you method, Medicare pays you 80 percent of the reasonable charge, after subtracting any part of the deductible you haven't met. The doctor can bill you for his or her actual charge even if it is higher than the reasonable charge approved by Medicare.

My dentist has told me that I need a root canal. Will my Medicare medical insurance pay for it?

No. Medical insurance can help pay for dental care only if it involves surgery of the jaw or related structures of setting fractures of the jaw or facial bones. Root canal therapy; care in connection with the treatment, filling, removal, or replacement of teeth; surgery for impacted teeth; and other surgical procedures involving the teeth or structures directly supporting the teeth are not covered.

My husband has permanent kidney failure. If he's eligible for Medicare, when will his coverage start?

Medicare coverage can start the first day of the 3rd month after the month a course of maintenance dialysis treatment begins. Under certain conditions, coverage can start earlier if a person chooses self dialysis or needs a kidney transplant. For more information, contact any social security office.

I remember reading last year that a new way of figuring social security benefits would go into effect in 1979. How does this new method work?

The new method of calculating social security benefits applies to workers who reach 62, become disabled, or die after 1978. Under this method, actual earnings for past years will be averaged together and a formula will be applied to the average to determine the benefit amount. Under the old method, benefits were based on average earnings over a period of years, using the actual dollar value of past earnings. So that no one nearing retirement will be disadvantaged, the law contains a guarantee. Under the guarantee, retirement benefits for workers who reach 62 after 1978 and before 1984 will be figured under both the old method and the new method. The benefit paid will be the higher of the two calculations.

My brother has been getting monthly social security disability checks for over a year. I understand he's entitled to Medicare insurance to help pay for his doctor and hospital bills. When should he get in touch with social security about getting this?

When your brother has been getting disability benefits for 2 years, he'll be eligible for Medicare protection. He doesn't have to get in touch with social security...they'll contact him to let him know when he's eligible.

My daughter, who's 35, has been handicapped since she was a child. I'll be applying for social security retirement payments in a couple of months. Is it true that my daughter will also get checks then?

Because your daughter was disabled before 22, she can get checks on your earnings when you get monthly social security retirement benefits. These checks will continue as long as her disability lasts, even if you die.

I have hospital insurance but not medical insurance under Medicare. How can I get medical insurance too?

You can sign up for medical insurance during the first 3 months of any year. Your coverage will start on July 1 of the year you sign up. However, the premiums payable for medical insurance will be 10 percent higher for each year you delay signing up after you were first eligible to enroll.

I dropped my medical insurance because I really didn't need it. Now I've changed my mind. Is it possible to re-enroll?

Yes. You can re-enroll in medical insurance only once and your premiums will be higher.

What happens if I lost my social security card? Can't I get another right away?

No. The application for a duplicate card still must also go to the Baltimore headquarters to make sure you get the same number you had before. Also, you need to identify yourself with a drivers license, voters registration card, or other proof.

I recently got married. Do I need a new card to show my new name?

Yes. The new card will show your married name but will retain the old number.

Is there anything you can do to speed up the process of getting a card? Suppose I get the job before my card arrives.

If an employer wants proof that you applied for a social security card, ask at the social security office for a receipt, Form SSA-5028 when you apply for a number. Then when your card arrives take it to the employer so he or she can copy the number to make sure you get credit for all your earnings.

I've seen ads for books on social security. How reliable and accurate are they, and are they worth the money?

Some of these private publications are accurate and complete. Others may contain numerous errors and include outdated, misleading information. Your best bet is to contact any social security office for the latest free information on social security, supplemental security income (SSI), and Medicare.

A publishing company offers to send a booklet on social security and check my earnings record for $5.00. What does social security charge for this?

Nothing. All publications and services are free to the public.

I just bought a booklet that says I need to be paid only $50 in a calendar quarter to earn a quarter of coverage for social security. But the people at the social security office tell me I must earn more than this and that social security credits are now based on the amount of annual earnings. Who is right?

The social security people have the latest accurate information. Sometimes, the material in private publications on social security is substantially out-of-date.

My husband and I were divorced many years ago. When he died last year, I applied for social security payments and his earnings record. My application was denied because we had been married for only 15 years. Now I understand that there has been a change in the law that might help me. Can you tell me about it?

Yes, under the new amendments to the social security law, if you were married 10 years or more before your divorce, you can receive wife's or widow's benefits on his social security record. This change in the law became effective in January of this year. You should get in touch with any social security office as soon as possible. You may now be able to get monthly survivors checks if your former husband worked long enough under social security.

 The public is cordially invited to attend along with parents and friends of participating 4-H'ers.

SILVER SPURS
 The Silver Spurs 4-H Horse Club met Thursday, April 5, 1979, at the Shady Grove School Cafeteria. Sandra Cline called the meeting to order. John Howard called the roll, read the minutes, and gave the treasurer's report. Sandra Cline had devotions.
 The club went to Mr. Jim Hartman's farm to see a clipping demonstration. He answered questions afterwards. We would like to thank Mr. Hartman for his cooperation.
 The members discussed selling tickets for a television. We decided to do this and the members are now selling tickets.
 Chris White is coming to Shady Grove to discuss Horse Judging. We are looking forward to this.
 Everyone enjoyed the refreshments that were served by Kathy Willard, Tonya Adams, and Sandra Cline. The meeting was adjourned by Sandra Cline.
 The Silver Spurs went on a trail ride March 24, 1979. We had a chicken stew that night at the home of Mr. Jim Russell. Everyone had a good time on the trail ride and the chicken stew was delicious.

DAVIE 4-H TO ATTEND MITCHELL 4-H CAMP
 Fun, adventure, and excitement await you at Mitchell 4-H Camp. Davie County 4-Hers will be traveling to Swansboro, North Carolina June 25-30 for a week of camping, recreating, and learning. Nestled beneath a grove of wind-blown oaks and pines is one of the most picturesque 4-H Camps in North Carolina. The camp is located about 2 1/2 miles from Swansboro on the banks of Queens Creek near Bogue Sound. At

DAVIE ACADEMY
 The Davie Academy 4-H Club met April 3 at the Davie Academy Community Building at 5:30 p.m. for a yard cleaning. Mr. Barnhardt, from Davie County Forestry Service, demonstrated two ways of setting out trees. The tree with a ball of dirt and also, a pine seedling. Our club had purchased a crab apple to beautify our community building lawn.
 We then went inside for our meeting. Joe Tulbert called the meeting to order and led the pledges. Tracy Snow called the roll and read the minutes. David Winfrey gave the treasurer's report. It was reported our Bake Sale March 22 raised $80 to benefit the Davie High School Band on their trip to Florida. The paper drive on March 23 and 24 added $35 to our 4-H Treasury. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nora Brown and Mrs. Nancy Koontz and the meeting was adjourned.
 We had 27 members, 3 leaders, and 5 visitors present. We also added two new members—Kristy Young and Anjannette Hill.

Middle School Speech Contest Winners
 On April 2nd and 3rd sixteen students from Mocksville Middle School competed for the opportunity to be the school representative in the Ingersoll-Rand Speech Contest. The winners, pictured above were first place, Lee Rollins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burce Rollins; second place, Rodney Nail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nail; third place, Scott Gantt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ron Gantt; and fourth place, Tracy Southern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Southern. The following students also participated: Karen Miller, Sandy Stroud, Tonya Evans, Kirk Taylor, Tonya Turner, Breanna Oliver, Deborah Lagle, Lynn Anderson, Shawn McGulre, John Dunn, Valerie Angell, and Jeff Severt. The students had spent many hours in preparation for the contest and they felt most privileged to have as judges Ms. Freddie Murphy and Mr. Danny Lawrence, teachers at Davie High, and Mrs. Elaine Strider from the Davie County Administrative office.

Health Tip From The American Medical Assn.
 Remember those television commercials that promised you relief from "iron poor" blood? They might have been half right. Iron is an important substance in the blood and the lack of iron - or anemia - is an important clue that something somewhere in your body has gone wrong.
 Anemia is not a disease itself but rather it is a symptom. You should not take iron to "perk up" tired blood. Doing so may mask an important underlying cause of your anemia.
 If your lips and tongue are pale and the palms of your hands are white your physician may suspect you to be anemic. However, these factors may be largely determined by the natural pigment in your skin, an individual characteristic. In any case a simple blood test will confirm whether or not you are anemic.
 There are many contributing factors to anemia. It can be anything from a poor diet or an infection somewhere in your body, to a disorder of the bone marrow which makes the blood.
 Hemorrhoids, because of the small blood losses, may be a contributing cause of anemia over a period of time.
 Women have a higher tendency to be anemic than men. This is because of the regular loss of blood during their menstrual cycle.
 In any case don't be misled into taking iron supplements just because you are tired. Masking an important symptom such as anemia may be more harmful than the benefits of temporarily "perking up iron poor blood."

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO DAVIE COUNTY TAXPAYERS

PURSUANT TO G.S. 105-369 SALE OF TAX LIENS ON REAL PROPERTY FOR FAILURE TO PAY TAXES

This is to notify those who have not paid their 1978 County Taxes, that their names and the amount of taxes owed will be listed in The Enterprise-Record beginning May 7 for the purpose of the tax lien sale on the first Monday in June. Cost of listing your name and cost of sale will be added to your taxes.

Foreclosure, attachment and garnishment proceedings will be used to collect all unpaid taxes as provided by law.

Interest on unpaid taxes for 1978 for the month of April is 4 1/4 %. For May it will be 5 % plus advertising cost.

PLEASE PAY YOUR TAXES THIS MONTH AND AVOID BEING ADVERTISED

The Energy Act Of 1978

Energy - a precious commodity! To encourage the conservation of it, the federal Energy Tax Act of 1978 allows taxpayers to claim tax credits on their federal income tax returns for the installation of certain energy conserving products. However, the Better Business Bureau advises consumers that there are restrictions on what products are eligible for tax credits, who is eligible and what percentages of expenditures can be credited against tax liability.

Do not be misled to believe that the government will pay the entire bill for installing energy saving features. Credits are limited by the Act to only a portion of expenditures, and the law is quite explicit as to what items are or are not eligible for credit.

The Act allows taxpayers to claim on their federal income tax return a tax credit for the installation of: 1) energy conserving products or components, including residential insulation and other energy saving measures, with a credit of 15 percent of the first $2,000 and 20 percent of the next $8,000 not to exceed $2,200.

Eligible energy conserving products or components and renewable energy source products must meet the following requirements of the Act: 1) the original use of the item begins with the taxpayer, 2) the item can be expected to remain in operation for at least 3 years (in the case of insulation, storm windows, etc.) or 5 years (in the case of solar, geothermal and wind energy items), and 3) the item meets the performance and quality standards (if any) which have been prescribed in regulations issued by the Secretary of the Treasury and are in effect at the time of the taxpayer's acquisition of the item.

Remember that any advertiser or seller's claim that "all homeowners are eligible," or similar terms, are not accurate. The tax credit allowed under the Act is conditioned, among other things, on the fact that the taxpayer's dwelling is used as a principal residence (main home occupied, not a summer or vacation home), and construction of the residence was substantially completed before April 20, 1977.

Items eligible under the Act for tax credit are: 1) insulation for ceilings, walls, floors, roofs, water heaters, etc.; 2) exterior storm or thermal windows or doors; 3) caulking or weatherstripping for exterior windows or doors; 4) a furnace replacement burner which reduces the amount of fuel used; 5) a device to make flue openings (for a heating system) more efficient; 6) an electrical or mechanical furnace ignition system which replaces a gas pilot; 7) an automatic energy-saving setback thermostat; 8) a meter which displays the cost of energy usage; 9) solar energy equipment (e.g., collectors, rockbeds, heat exchangers) that transforms sunlight into heat or electricity for heating or cooling a residence or providing hot water; 10) geothermal energy equipment that distributes the natural heat in rocks or water; 11) wind energy equipment that uses wind to produce energy in any form (generally electricity) for residential purposes; and 12) any other item that the Secretary of the Treasury specifies by regulation as increasing the energy efficiency of a residence.

Items designated by the Energy Tax Act as not qualifying for tax credit are: 1) carpeting; 2) drapes; 3) wood paneling; 4) exterior siding; 5) heat pump; 6) wood, peat or hydrogen fueled residential equipment; 7) fluorescent replacement lighting system; 8) equipment using wind energy for transportation; 9) expenditures for a swimming pool used as an energy storage medium; and 10) greenhouses.

The Better Business Bureau reminds consumers to always deal with a reputable firm when buying energy conserving products. Be sure the contract is completely filled out, including an accurate description and identification of what was installed. Keep sales receipts and copies of contracts to substantiate tax credit claims in future years. Any questions concerning energy tax credits should be directed to the local Internal Revenue Service.

Cooleemee News

Mr. and Mrs. Leon McGinn of Daytona, Florida spent one night here last week when they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Benson of Route 1, Salisbury. They were enroute to Virginia to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Margie B. and Bud Garves.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hayes, Bobby and Tracy, spent Sunday afternoon here visiting friends.

Robert Hellard remains quite ill at his home on Center Street.

Spring Revival At Blaise Baptist

The spring revival which began last Sunday, April 1, at Gospel Baptist Church continues through this week with services nightly at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Jack Johnson is guest speaker and special singing is planned for each night.

The men will meet nightly at 7:15 in the prayer room prior to services.

Everyone is urged to attend.

Cedar Creek

A thought for the day: Surely if Christ had not gone to the Cross, we would not be here today.

Happy Easter to all and let Christ be in our lives. Sunday was a beautiful windy day. However, every one here at Cedar Creek had the Easter Spirit, and was glad to come to worship. A good Sunday School was reported and a spiritual worship service. A very spiritual devotional was conducted by Brothers John West and James Horn.

The Pastor Dr. Hay brought a wonderful message; subject, a commitment to Christ. The members of Cedar Creek Church worshiped with the Galilee Baptist Church in Winston-Salem Sunday evening. The deacons of that church were sponsors of the program. The Rev. Young was guest speaker for the occasion which was enjoyed by all.

The Easter Sunrise Service here will be at 6 o'clock Sunday morning and breakfast. Everyone is welcome to come.

The Sunday School will have the annual Easter Egg Hunt on the grounds Easter Monday, and the annual entertainment sponsored by the missionary ladies of the church. Come and enjoy the day.

Callers at the home of Mrs. William Eaton Sunday morning was her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Eaton, and Mrs. John Williams of Winston-Salem N.C. Owens Tatum of Winston and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Tatum and family of Greensboro, N.C. all called at the home of their mother, Mrs. Lucy Tatum. Our prayers out to all the sick and shut-ins.

Davie United Way Board Meets

The Davie County United Way board of directors met Thursday evening, March 29 at the Davie County Library. Mrs. Dianne Anderson, president, presided.

Mrs. Pat Reilly, Benny Naylor and Frank Bahnsen were welcomed as new directors.

The board approved the method of funding for 1979 as follows:

Davie County Firemen's Association, the American Field Services, Farmington, Cornatzer, and North Davie Recreation Associations, and the Davie County Little League Baseball Association will be funded their full request at the end of the first quarter with the other agencies receiving one-fourth of their requested amounts at the end of each quarter.

Dianne Anderson gave a report on the Emergency Assistance Committee. Assistance has been given to two families who lost their homes in fires, one family with a medical emergency, and one family with food.

A request for funds from the YWCA in Winston-Salem was reviewed, and the secretary was directed to contact them explaining that our funding for 1979 has been closed and that if they wish to apply for funds for 1980 we will be glad to consider them.

Board members were asked to designate whether they wish to work on the Budget Committee or Appeals Committee for the year.

Budget applications will be mailed the last of April to be returned by May 31. Any agency wishing to apply for funds for 1980 that does not receive an application should contact Mrs. Carmen Walker at 634-5905 (work) or 998-4818 (home).

Motorcyclist Injured In Collision With Car

A motorcyclist was injured in a collision with a car Tuesday morning in Mocksville at the intersection of North Main and Cherry Streets.

Howard Glenn Hanes, Jr., 21, was taken by ambulance to the Davie County Hospital.

Hanes was injured in the 11:37 a.m. accident when the 1971 Harley Davidson motorcycle collided with a 1960 Valiant being driven by Mrs. Margaret Meroney McNeill, 82, 551 Salisbury Street, Mocksville.

Sgt. G.W. Edwards of the Mocksville Police Department said his investigation showed that Mrs. McNeill was making a right turn onto Cherry Street. Hanes on the motorcycle following behind, failed to get stopped and struck the car in the right side.

Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $500 and $150 to the car. There were no charges.

Tiger has learned to open the doors to the Service Station quite easily.

Extension Service Offers Teletips On 781 Topics

There are many services available to people just by dialing a number on the telephone. There's dial-a-song, dial-the-time, dial-a-joke and even dial-a-prayer.

The Agricultural Extension Service has joined the ranks of dial-a-service through a program known as Teletip, says Leo F. Williams extension agent, Davie County.

By dialing a toll-free number you can hear a tape on any of 781 topics. The Teletip office is located at North Carolina State University, but by using the toll-free number the service is free to all Davie County residents.

If you've been wondering about ways to plug leaks in your family spending, or repair a leaky faucet, Teletip can tell you how.

Organic mulches, termites, growing radishes and trouble-shooting doorbell problems are all covered.

Maybe you don't have any of the above problems, but your roof is mildewing, you have a raccoon that needs cooking and your geranium is dying. Call Teletip.

The topics are quite varied and cover nutrition, food preservation, flowers, trees, shrubs, lawns, house plants, gardening and home pests.

Other topics include estate planning, family resource management, consumer tips and energy conservation.

And let's not overlook tax management, home repairs, house care, stain removal and personal growth.

If you have need for any of this information, call the Davie County Extension Office at 634-5134 to receive your free copy of the list of topics covered by Teletip.

The brochure also lists the toll-free number and the hours of operation for this special service.

William R. Davie PTA Holds Final Meeting

The William R. Davie P.T.A. held their last meeting of the school year Monday, April 2.

Officers for the 1979-80 school year were installed. New officers are: President, Mrs. Barbara McDaniel; Vice-president, Perry Seawright; Secretary, Mrs. Carole Pierce; and Treasurer, Mrs. Judy Anderson.

After a brief business meeting, the fourth annual talent show sponsored by the student council was presented to P.T.A. members. The theme of the night's performance was Talent Fever.

Master of ceremonies for the evenings entertainment was Kim Shanks. Kim presented the participants and thanked Miss Glasscock, student council sponsor, and Mrs. Kirk for their assistance in preparing for the show. Dancers for the evening were Julie Mincey, Julie Hopson, Tracey Dyson, and Bracken Jarvis. Christy and Clay Jones sang and picked the guitar. Tricia Riley and Rodney Gobble were at the piano. Bernard Cook fascinated the audience with his drum solo. Members of the band directed by Mr. Staley, performed Mod Rock. Band members were Kenny White, Robbie Church, James Hollis and Michael Spry. Other band participants were Tracy Latham, Jamie Kimbrell, Bernard Cook and Melissa Walker.

Refrigerators

An open refrigerator door wastes energy two ways-it causes the furnace to work harder to heat the air and the refrigerator motor has to work harder to cool the refrigerator.

COOKING FOWL WITH FLAIR

Take it from Grandma. She knew poultry was one of the best buys around, and it still is.

An amazing variety of fare is possible with fowl. Every dish can be so different from every other that your family can enjoy chicken often.

As the 19th century French gourmet Brillat-Savarin put it, "Poultry is served to us boiled, roasted, fried, hot or cold, whole or in pieces, with or without sauce, boned, skinned, stuffed, and always with equal success."

Before trying out a new recipe, you should determine a bird's age. As a rule, young chickens are tender and delicately flavored, as well as ideal for roasting, grilling or sautéing-cooking methods that quickly seal in taste and preserve succulence.

Older birds are tougher but have a more pronounced flavor that can work to a meal's advantage when you gently braise or poach them with vegetables and seasonings. The stock you get is good for innumerable preparations.

Among many good suggestions you can find in a complete poultry cookbook like Poultry, from a Time-Life series called "The Good Cook," is a good way to test for age.

Press the fowl's beak and breastbone. If it's flexible, the bird is young, if rigid, it's older. Also, check its skin. That of a young bird will look smooth, with no visible hairs, but the color can vary from breed to breed, or diet to diet, so Properly plump and roasted golden brown, versatile poultry can be delicious.

Once you've selected your fowl, you may want to try this tasty colonial recipe, adapted from the original version in Mrs. Mary Randolph's Virginia Housewife, first published in 1831:

WILLIAMSBURG CHICKEN PUDDING

To serve 4 to 6:
4- to 5-lb. fowl, cut up into serving pieces

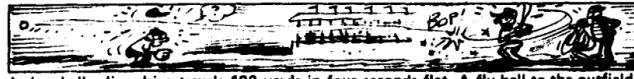

- 1 onion
- Celery tops
- Parsley sprigs
- 1 tap. dried thyme
- Salt and pepper
- 2 cups strained broth, reserved from poaching

To Make the Batter:
2 cups milk
3 eggs, well beaten
1/4 cup flour
4 Tbs. butter, melted
1 tap. salt

Put the chicken pieces in a pot with water to cover, along with the onion, a few celery tops, parsley, thyme, salt and pepper. Simmer gently (uncovered) until the meat is just tender. Take the chicken pieces from the broth, remove the skin and place the pieces in a shallow baking dish. Pour over the strained broth. Make a batter with milk, eggs, flour, melted butter and salt. Pour this over the chicken and bake in a moderate oven, 180°C. (350°F. or Mark 4), for about 35 minutes, or until the batter topping is set and an inserted knife comes out clean. Serve immediately with a gravy, made of broth thickened by a butter and flour roux, passed separately.

Former Davie Resident Receives Top Award In Washington, D.C.

By Doug Livengood

A former resident of Davie County, now living in Washington, D.C., has received the D.C. Federation of Citizens Associations 1979 Washington Star Trophy Award, "the highest" award and honor presented by the Federation.

Bobby Louis DeVault, who as a child and young man in the 1930's and 40's resided in the Redland Community of Davie County, was presented the trophy March 10 at an awards dinner held in Washington. DeVault is now a resident of the Anacostia neighborhood of southeast Washington.

The trophy is awarded each year by the Federation, composed of 26 citizens' associations representing thousands of residents throughout Washington, to the individual "who has contributed the most in personal services to the welfare of the residents of the District of Columbia."

In presenting the Washington Star Trophy at the March 10 dinner, Stephen Kozak, president of the D.C. Federation of Citizens Associations, cited DeVault for his courage last year in saving the life of a 10-year-old child on fire, going to the assistance of a stroke victim in his Anacostia neighborhood and for his work on numerous projects "to make his southeast community more livable."

The current president of the Anacostia Citizens Association, DeVault has worked for the D.C. Department of Transportation for 22 years and lived in Washington for 24 years. He is the son of Mrs. Turner L. Gregory of Pine Ridge Road in Cooleemee.

While living as a child and teenager with his grandparents, the late John Solomon Plowman and Emmaline Foster Plowman of the Redland Community, DeVault attended Smith Grove Elementary School and later Mocksville High School, graduating in 1948.

"Bobby Louis" DeVault, as he was known to his school friends, drove both a school bus and an activity bus during his high school days and served as manager for many of the sports teams at the old Mocksville High.

He entered the Army soon after graduation in 1948, but was discharged shortly after entering military service because of a severe injury received in the line of duty.

DeVault returned to Mocksville following his discharge from the Army and worked briefly for Martin Bros. Hardware and Heritage Furniture Co. He then worked in Winston-Salem for Pfaff Plumbing Co. and later Western Electric Co.

In 1953, DeVault moved to California where he worked at the Douglas Aircraft manufacturing plant on projects involving the construction of Navy jets. Returning to Winston-Salem in late 1953, he worked as a construction worker for the Frank L. Blum Construction Co. on such projects as the construction of Wake Forest College and Old Salem.

DeVault married the former Louise Covington of Winston-Salem in 1954. The next year they moved to Washington, D.C. where he worked as a construction worker, vacuum cleaner salesman and hardware salesman before going to

Three Davie Students Chosen To Attend Governor's School

Three Davie High School students have been chosen to attend Governor's School this summer. Robin Brock, rising senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brock; Harold Smith, rising senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith; and Connie Clement, rising junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ray Clement will participate in the six week session which begins July 1.

The Governor's School of North Carolina is a residential program conducted on the campuses of Salem College in Winston-Salem and St. Andrews College in Laurinburg, for intellectually gifted North Carolina high school students.

The School is operated by a Board of Governors under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Education, and during the summer session the School provides a variety of unique and distinctive educational experiences for selected students.

The curriculum emphasizes theory, especially 20th Century theory, and imaginative or inventive extrapolation into far ranging fields. This is done to give the students an innovative peek into the latest accomplishments, problems and theories in the various fields of the arts and sciences.

This year approximately 820 students will attend Governors School. Selection is based on the high intelligence rating and superior ability in an academic field or a high degree of talent in one of the Miss Brock was chosen to participate in both the performing arts or natural science categories. She will attend Salem College studying natural science. Smith will attend St. Andrews College and study math, and Miss Clement, the first sophomore chosen from Davie High, will study natural science at St. Andrews.

The six weeks course in intensified study is paid for by the state including tuition, board and room, instructional supplies, books, and cultural events. Courses of study include art, dance, drama, social science, Spanish, natural science, English, choral music, instrumental music, French and mathematics.

April Proclaimed As Action For Foster Children Month In Davie

Glenn Howard chairman of the Davie County Board of Commissioners has proclaimed April as Action for Foster Children month in Davie County. The purpose of the special month is to call attention to the vital needs of the county's foster children.

The National Action for Foster Children Committee has proclaimed this special month nationwide and Governor James B. Hunt, Jr. has designated the month for North Carolina.

In North Carolina there are some 10,000 foster children being cared for during the year by some 3,000 foster parents.

In Davie County there are currently 20 foster children and 8 foster homes. Donald Wall, Director of the Davie County Social Services Department said numerous activities are scheduled during the month to increase public awareness of the foster care picture in general and recognize the efforts of the devoted foster parents who are making personal sacrifices to care for these children. He also hopes to recruit additional foster parents through a better public awareness of the needs. The vast majority of foster children are in the custody of county social services departments across the state. Most of these have been placed in their custody by court orders for various reasons with dependency and neglect being the major ones. Some have been abused or abandoned while others are delinquent and undisciplined.

Wall said there is a constant need for more foster parents, especially those who are willing to care for large family groups, teenagers, infants and children with special needs, such as physically or mentally handicapped and those with behavior problems.

He urges anyone who is interested in becoming foster parents to contact his office. "The main requirement to be a foster parent is a sincere desire to love and help children. Foster parents are paid for caring for the children, but due to limited funds it is certainly not a money-making proposition."

Foster parents may be either married or single and between the ages of 21 and 65. They may also have children of their own.

Davie Students Place High In State Finals Of Speech And Debate In Tournament

Martin Brock placed third and Perry Collette placed fourth in ex-temporaneous speaking at the State Finals in Speech and Debate on April 6-7. Davie High School was one of twenty-three high schools that competed in the annual event at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Two debate teams from Davie tied for second place affirmative team. These teams were comprised of Jeff Ferguson and Kevin Cornatzer and Dennis Draughon and Rick Carter. Avis Watkins and George Kimberly were semi-finalists in dramatic interpretation and original oratory respectively. Carter and Cornatzer tied for ninth place debate speaker.

Randy Link, Harold Smith, Jeff White, and Chuck Stone were on negative debate teams. Both of these teams tied for seventh place.

"We are very proud of all of our students. They did extremely well in a very competitive tournament," said Larry Jones, director of forensics at the high school.

Davie finished sixth out of the 23 schools in the overall rankings. Trinity High School was the overall winner (continued on page 2)

Glass Of Iced Tea Aids And Abets In A 4 Vehicle Accident

A rather expensive glass of tea was spilled in an automobile last week and resulted in damage to three parked vehicles.

Involved in the accident was a 1967 Pontiac operated by Naomi Lewis Greene, 48, of Rt. 5 Mocksville. Ms. Greene told State Highway Patrolman L.W. Bjorkland that she was attempting to enter US 158 East from a private parking lot by means of a left turn. However, in the process of turning a glass of iced tea spilled and her reaction prevented the correction of the steering arc. The vehicle continued in a leftward arc, crossed the left lane and back into the parking lot, striking the following parked vehicles:

A 1970 Chevrolet pickup owned by James Robert Campbell of Rt. 3 Mocksville. Damage was estimated at $250.

A 1968 Chevrolet pickup owned by Ronald Lee Boger of Rt. 3 Mocksville. Damage estimated at $150.

The 1968 Chevrolet pickup was knocked into a 1974 Ford pickup owned by Lester Reece Allen of Rt. 3 Mocksville. Damage was estimated at $100.

Damage to Ms. Greene's vehicle was estimated at $1200 in the April 10th accident that occurred about 12:30 p.m., 2.8 miles east of Mocksville.

Farm Fences Damaged

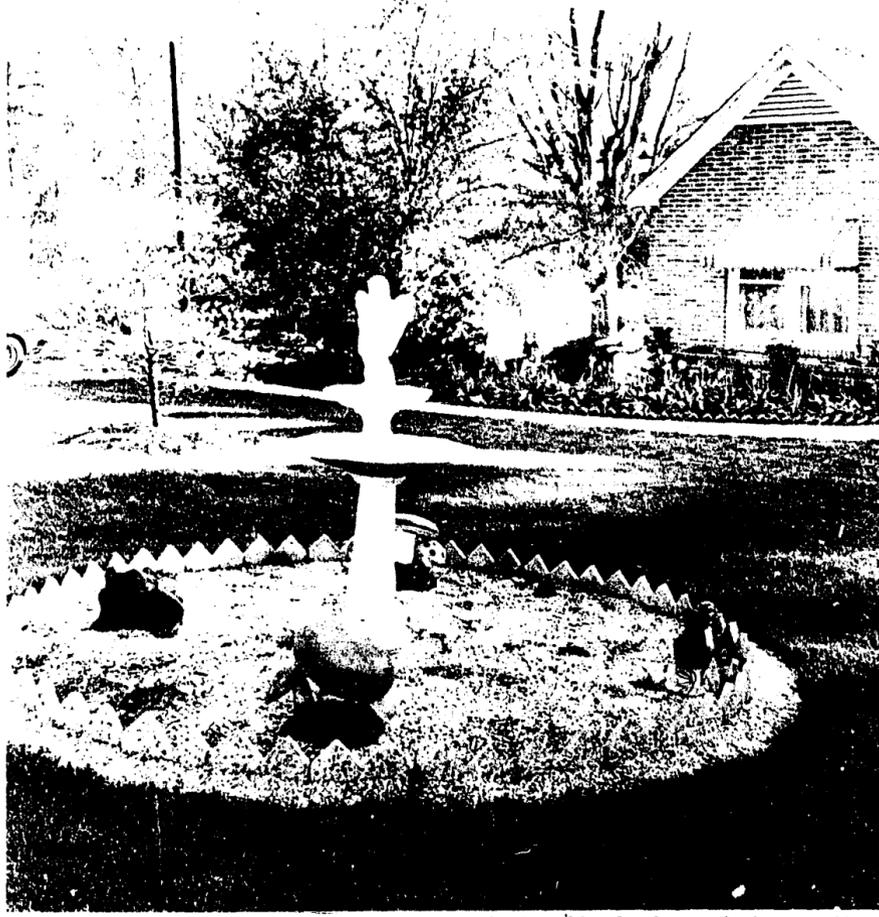

Two fences on Win-Mock Farm were reported ruined last week when someone drove a Duke Power back-hoe through them. The approximate 50-feet of fencing, owned by Fred Bahnsen, was damaged an estimated $250. The damage was reported April 16th.

4-H To Attend Mitchell Camp

Fun, adventure, and excitement await you at Mitchell 4-H Camp. Davie County 4-H'ers will be traveling to Swansboro, North Carolina June 25-30 for a week of camping, recreating, and learning. Nestled beneath a grove of wind-blown oaks and pines is one of the most picturesque 4-H Camps in North Carolina. The camp is located about 2 1/2 miles from Swansboro on the banks of Queens Creek near Bogue Sound. At Camp Mitchell, youth will see and enjoy the excitement and beauty of the North Carolina Coast.

Four-H members 9-13 as well as interested youth (non 4-H members) will be able to attend the week of camping. Campers will enjoy sailing, crabbing, fishing, seeing oyster beds, and observing commercial fishermen. In addition to their swimming pool, the camp is near several beaches. An exciting event may be a ferry trip to Hammock's Beach on Bear Island.

Classes will be taught in swimming, archery, riflery, canoeing, horseshoes, sailing, marine biology and ecology, crafts, and recreation. Also, other exciting recreation will be volleyball, basketball, fishing, softball, tetherball, ping pong, stunts, talent shows, and nightly recreation.

The camp provides instructors for different classes as well as for camper supervision at all times. Guards will be on duty when swimming is scheduled. Campers are covered by accident and illness insurance. Camp activities are planned in advance to provide a schedule of events for the week. Four-H adult leaders will accompany the group in addition to Nancy Hartman and Doug Lee, 4-H Agents.

Any youth ages 9-13 can attend the week of camping. There will be time for learning as well as loads of fun with 4-Hers your own age. For additional information and application forms, call 634-2634, 634-5134, or come by the 4-H office on the first floor (street entrance) of the County Office Building.

Tractor-Trailer Hits Volks

A passenger in a 1971 Volkswagen was injured April 10th in an accident on US 64. Three-tenths of a mile east of Mocksville.

Ashlea Ann Withe, 15, of Clemmons was taken to the Davie County Hospital. She was a passenger in the Volkswagen being driven by Barbara Jean Branon, 17, of Rt. 3 Mocksville.

The Volks was struck by a 1974 tractor-trailer being operated by James Albert Sparks, 36, of Rt. 2 North Wilkesboro.

State Highway Patrolman A.C. Stokes said his investigation showed that Ms. Branon had stopped on US 64 waiting on westbound traffic to clear before making a left turn onto the John Crofts Road. The tractor-trailer approaching Road from the rear failed to get stopped until too close, the driver applied brakes but skidded into the rear of the Volks.

Damage to the Volkswagen was estimated at $600 and $175 to the tractor-trailer. Sparks was charged with failure to reduce speed.

Guns And Stereo Reported Stolen In Breakin

An antique shotgun, a rifle and stereo were reported stolen in a breaking and entering of the home of Robert Kurpees, Davie Academy Road, last Saturday between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The Davie County Sheriff's Department is investigating.

Amy Lynette Wagner celebrated her 5th birthday Easter Sunday at her home on Route 2, Advance. She was 5 years old on April 13. Her relatives and friends enjoyed a Bert and Ernie Cake (made by her friend, Ann Hancock), ice cream cones, peanuts, and Pepsi Cola. Amy's parents are Ed and Carol Wagner; her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. Nettie Crofts, and Mrs. Theodosia Wagner, all of Route 4, Mocksville; her maternal grandparent is Mrs. Beulah Munday, Route 7, Mocksville.

Wm. R. Davie Serves Breakfast

As of April 2 this year William R. Davie School, the "Early Bird Special," has many students eating balanced breakfasts at school.

Mrs. Betty Jo Laymon, SFS Manager, and staff are currently serving 175 to 200 students breakfast each morning. Breakfast menus that seem to be well liked by the students include items such as hot sausage or ham biscuits, pancakes or waffles with butter and syrup, fruit or fruit juice along with 1/2 pint of milk which meets the USDA requirements.

Children who come to school hungry find it is hard to learn. The School Breakfast Program helps give children a healthy send-off for the day's lessons. Eating a well-balanced nutritious breakfast increases a child's readiness to learn.

Under the National School Lunch Program children who are eligible for free and reduced price lunches are automatically eligible for free and reduced-price breakfasts.

At present the prices are as follows: Paid breakfast-student, .25; reduced price breakfast, .10; and adult-school faculty, .30.

Driver Faces 3 Charges In Friday, April 13th, Wreck

A Friday, April 13th, wreck in Davie County brought three charges against the driver of a 1977 Plymouth.

Franklin Earl Smith, 32, of High Point, was charged with driving under the influence, exceeding safe speed, and driving to the left of center. The accident occurred on US 64, 7.9 miles east of Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman L.W. Bjorkland said his investigation showed that Smith ran off the road onto the left shoulder, steered back across the roadway and off onto the right shoulder, and into a ditch bank. The vehicle then veered across the roadway for the third time, running off on the left shoulder and into a patch of undergrowth and brush.

Smith refused to be transported from the scene but was later taken to the Davie County Hospital by Trooper Bjorkland.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1000 in the 8 p.m. accident.

Breakin And Robbery Reported At Hickory Hill

A breaking and entering and robbery was reported Monday at the Roby L. Luffman residence in the Hickory Hill development.

Entrance was made between 4:05 p.m. Sunday and 7:40 p.m. Monday by breaking a small window in the back door.

Reported stolen was a Sylvania color 28-inch television set and a sterling silver necklace, with sterling silver heart with a pearl. Value was placed at about $1475.

Deputies John Coley and Tommy Poole are investigating.

Dena LuAnn York celebrated her 3rd birthday, Sunday, April 8, with a party at Concord United Methodist Church. Twenty little friends of Dena's attended and enjoyed refreshments of Bunny Rabbit cake, ice cream, potato chips and drinks. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis James York of Rt. 7, Mocksville. Dena's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Walker of Avon Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Colin York of Rt. 7, Mocksville.

Vehicle Hits Two Road Signs

A vehicle went out of control on loose gravel and hit a road sign off Main Street in Cooleemee, April 10th, about 11:30 p.m.

The vehicle, a 1974 model AMC Hornet, was being operated by Bryant O'Keith Melton, 22, of Rt. 4 Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman W.D. Grooms said that Melton stated that a black pickup, with no lights on, made a turn in front of him. Melton lost control on the loose gravel on the road and hit two road signs, a stop sign and street sign.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $250 and $50 to the road signs. There were no injuries and no charges.

work for the D.C. Dept. of Transportation in 1956.

His current duties with the D.C. Department of Transportation include estimating and inspecting road projects within the District.

Mr. and Mrs. DeVault are the parents of two children, a 23-year-old son, Michael, who lives and works on construction projects in Washington, and an 18-year-old daughter, Valerie, who currently works and lives in Florida.

In a telephone interview Monday evening, DeVault admitted that "community activities" are both his "big headache and only recreation." In addition to being president of the Anacostia Citizens Association, he presently serves as a member of the Mayor's Service Area Committee, a member of the Fairlawn Citizens Association Traffic Committee and vice president of a Washington local of the American Federation of Government Employees, which he helped found in 1962.

Community service is a family affair around the DeVault household because his wife Louise is currently treasurer of the D.C. Federation of Citizens Associations.

"I never was much of a sports fan or cared too much about watching television. I prefer to spend my time getting involved with people in the humanities of life," DeVault commented in the Monday interview.

He explained that the purpose of the D.C. Federation of Citizens Associations, and the 26 member neighborhood associations which make up the organization, is "to work for the betterment of the community by letting the people of the individual neighborhoods have a voice in the decision making governing their respective communities."

Added DeVault, "If it wasn't for these citizens' associations we wouldn't have really good government because these associations make sure the peoples' voices are heard by the officials."

Concerning his membership on the Mayor's Service Area Committee since 1972, DeVault noted this committee functions in reverse of the citizens' associations. "The citizens' associations try to bring the people's views to the government, whereas, the mayor's committee seeks to bring the government to the people," he observed.

When pressed for information about his act last year of saving the life of the 10-year-old child on fire, DeVault revealed that he was in his yard one evening when a neighborhood child came running out of her house, ablaze from the waist up.

DeVault rushed to the child and extinguished the flames with his bare hands, suffering 3rd-degree burns on his own hands. After extinguishing the flames, he took the child into his home and carefully removed the smoldering clothing from her body and then took her to a hospital, where she was hospitalized for 8 weeks before being released.

"She's just fine now," said DeVault with a touch of thankfulness in his voice. Despite such a busy work and civic activity schedule, DeVault does not foresee any slackening of his involvement in humanistic affairs. "I guess it's just my only recreation," he concluded.

followed by Myers Park, Reynolds, East Burke, Chapel Hill, and Davie.

On April 10, seven Davie students competed in the district finals in student congress in High Point. Dennis Draughon placed fourth in the house of representatives. Students from 12 high schools participated in the mock legislative assembly.

Other Davie representatives were Randy Link, Susan Lagle, Chuck Stone, and Lex Alvord. Harold Smith and Kevin Cornatzer were in the senate.

Only one major event remains on this year's schedule for the Davie speakers:

Man Charged With Forgery

James Clayton Arnold, 21, of Cartner Street, Mocksville, was arrested Thursday night and charged with violation of parole and forgery of 13 checks on Inez and Shirley Arnold.

Bond was set at $1,000 for court appearance on April 30th.

the state finals in student congress to be held in the Capitol Building in Raleigh on April 24. Four Davie students will compete there.

Vehicles Collide On US 601

Two vehicles were involved in a collision last Friday about 7:50 p.m. on US 601 North.

Involved was a 1976 Chevrolet station wagon operated by Clifford R. McCrary, 39, of Elkin and a 1975 Plymouth operated by Gary Lynn Wiles, 18, of Huss, N.C.

State Highway Patrolman W.D. Grooms said his investigation showed that Wiles was attempting a right turn into a service station. McCrary was attempting to pass on the right side and was struck by the Huss vehicle.

Damage to the station wagon was estimated at $100. There were no injuries and no charges.

SEX EDUCATION??...A number of legislators were upset last week by a sex education film that is supposedly being distributed by the North Carolina Dept. of Human Resources.

A fairly large number of the legislators, their secretaries, legislative staff members, and reporters, were treated to a private screening of the movie in the auditorium of the Legislative Building.

The smiles, jokes, and even popcorn, before the showing virtually shriveled as the mixed audience was treated to a rather raw and explicit film on just about every facet of sexual activity. The film's subject matter covered intercourse, homosexuality, masturbation, and birth control.

Parts of the film showed a couple actually engaged in intercourse, nude women, and a demonstration of how to get the best results from a condom. The dialogue of the film was interspersed with what is currently called "street talk."

One observer said that although he was shocked by the showing of intercourse, nudity, and dirty language, "the fact that the film seemed to condone that type of activity and conversation, without responsibility, was worse."

A secretary who saw the film said it seemed to be saying that "sex is good, sex is great, all the kids in school are doing it, and there is nothing wrong with it."

On Friday, Senator I. Beverly Lake, Jr. of Raleigh called for a law prohibiting state agencies from providing schools with that type of teaching aid. According to Lake, the film teaches sex "without the morality."

The screening was arranged by Sen. Ann Bagnall and Rep. Mary Pegg, both of Winston-Salem.

Although there were several representatives from the Dept. of Human Resources present during the showing, they were not able to offer much of an explanation for the content of the film. One onlooker said that the Dept. officials were "visibly upset that the film was being shown."

As the week ended and the lawmakers were headed for home, they were all looking for an explanation - primarily from the governor's office.

The explanation was not long in coming. According to the governor's deputy press secretary, Stephanie Bass, the film in question was not designed for students and had not been shown to students.

Bass said the movie was designed for teachers and that the point of the movie's subject matter was to "familiarize the teachers with the way a lot of their students are thinking and talking."

She said the film that was shown in the Legislature was actually not even the film being distributed to the teachers - but a more explicit, uncensored version.

Apparently, however, the heat caused by the film last week was enough to convince the governor to send the film back to where it came from (wherever that is) - both versions.

Reportedly, Sec. Sarah Morrow of Human Resources and Sec. Sara Hodgkins of Cultural Resources, with help from Governor Hunt) decided the films were not important enough to fight over if the fight would do damage to other programs and bills that they wish to get passed.

NEW GENERATION...One of the programs that the governor would not like to see endangered (any further than it already is) is the "New Generation" Act introduced by Sen. Marshal Rauch of Gastonia.

The act would put together a two-level system of communication and coordination between community service workers in county and state offices.

It would allow individuals in social services, education, and physical and mental health, to get together to coordinate their resources to see that children in the state are receiving the best care in the various areas available.

Opponents of the act say that it gets involved in things that the parents should be doing.

At this time, the bill is tied up in Sen. Allbrook's Judiciary Committee and probably won't get out anyway.

GREEN, HELMS, PRAYER...L.A. Gov. Jimmy Green, a democrat being wooed by some Republicans, has joined with Senator Jesse Helms in seeking to have voluntary prayer returned to the classroom in public schools.

Green issued a press release last week stating that he had requested Sen. Joe Raynor of Fayetteville, to introduce a resolution in the state Senate calling for the Congress in Washington to "restore the right of voluntary prayer in the public schools."

Folk-Ways and Folk-Speech

by Rogers Whitener

Until the appearance of Volume I Foxfire, the remarkable production of Eliot Wigginton and his young students at the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee School in Georgia, few people gave thought to the tiny organism which provided the Foxfire title.

They knew that it was something which occasionally glowed in the night when the weather was right, but they had little information beyond this. Mountain people may not have been able to put a scientific label on foxfire, but they have known through the years that it is a kind of fungus which usually is to be found on the inside of decaying stumps and logs. If they have nerve enough to investigate, they are amazed that so much light could materialize from the soft, sponge-like surface. Because foxfire has become an object of curiosity to tourists and other travellers in the mountains, craftsmen, country storekeepers, and other individuals who come in contact with visitors sometimes keep a piece of rotted "foxfire wood" on the premises for their edification. Stan Hicks, a Watauga County craftsman and storyteller, usually provides a foxfire demonstration if the light is right when visitors come by his workshop.

Though the average person can spot foxfire only on a damp night, Stan can readily identify it in daylight by the composition -- or decomposition -- of the wood.

He recalls that early settlers of ten sought out such wood as kindling for their fires. Almost powdery when dry, it served as a proper agent to turn a tiny spark into a fire. According to Stan there was no instant blaze, but a tiny wisp of smoke which, blown on gently, brought on a flame and then a blazing fire.

Stan recalls his first childhood experience with foxfire: "When I was about seven years old I was walking through a patch of woods on a night when I saw what I thought was a whole bunch of cateyes glaring at me. I was so scared that I ran home and told my father. Of course, he just laughed and told me it was foxfire."

From that experience, according to Stan, "I learned a good way to scare the other younguns in my neighborhood. I would grab up a handful of the rotten wood and rub it on trees and the sides of outhouses and barns. When the other kids saw the glow I'd tell 'em it was hants. I'd usually pretend I was scared myself and I'd start running. Pretty soon they were so scared that they'd pass me up like I was standin' still."

One theory holds that it is foxfire which provides the phenomenon of the mysterious lights on Brown Mountain, which have attracted tourists and other curiosity seekers over the years.

Experts, however, dismiss this idea, saying that damp weather conditions are necessary for the observance of foxfire and that the Brown Mountain lights have been seen even under extremely dry conditions.

For Darryl And Kenneth Eaton Of Mocksville...

Blindness - Not A Handicap

"One doesn't have to have sight to live and enjoy life," said young Darryl Eaton. There are times that I wish I could see, but truly I have become a better person because of the loss."

The world for Darryl and Kenneth Eaton is one of total darkness without relieve. They cannot see the beauty of a summer sunset nor the magnificence of nature as colors burst forth in spring.

To a person with sight it is an unimaginable life without vision, and suddenly the most routine task seems impossible to attain. These boys however, have proven these beliefs as mere misconceptions and have achieved and set goals that assure future happiness and success.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Eaton of Route 5, Mocksville, Darryl, 19, and Kenneth, 17, are students at the Governor Morehead School in Raleigh. A beautiful facility dedicated to providing educational service to the blind and visually handicapped, the brothers have attended the school for the past nine years, reaching astounding levels of scholastic achievement.

Both Darryl and Kenneth were born with sight, but at an early age problems were detected. Darryl attended public school in Davie four years and Kenneth two, before their condition reached a point where normal study was impossible. The cause of their blindness is unknown and is not viewed by doctors as hereditary. It was a gradual, steady loss.

"It was an awfully hard thing for my husband and myself to send the boys away to school," said Mrs. Eaton. They were just little boys, but it was the best chance for a good education."

"Darryl and Kenneth never once complained or felt sorry for themselves, and the school offered the best educational program in the state for the blind and visually handicapped."

"It has not only helped them cope with their blindness, but has prepared them for college and sound careers," she said.

While at the Governor Morehead School both Darryl and Kenneth have achieved high scholastic ratings. Darryl, who plans to enter UNC-CH next fall, has maintained an A average and intends to teach music on the college level. He attended Governor's School in 1977, a six week course for 400 intellectually gifted N.C. high school students; attended Boys' State in 1978, and is currently second alternate in the district for a John Motley Morehead Scholarship Award at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. This nomination was based on academic achievement, ability to learn, moral character, extra-curricular attainment, enthusiasm and capacities to lead.

He is also staff writer on the school newspaper, member of the orchestra, chorus, and the Raleigh City Wide Piano Ensemble. He has received numerous musical awards.

Ruth Martin, school counselor said, "After eleven years at Governor Morehead School, Darryl is one of the most outstanding students I have ever seen."

"He is in the top two of the senior class and has always been an honor student." "Ronnie Millsaps, famous singer, was once a student here. And, due to Darryl's musical talent, I also expect to see him achieve fame in this field," she said.

Kenneth also keeps a top scholastic average and hopes to one day attend Duke or Carolina and become a lawyer.

His favorite pastimes are swimming, music and making new friends.

Reflecting on their loss of sight and early attendance at Governor Morehead School Darryl said, "since our sight left gradually and at an early age it didn't bother us as badly as a sudden loss of sight would have."

"I can still remember my parents faces and my own face," he said. Since Kenneth and I came to the school at the same time the shock of leaving home was lessened, but I can still remember that neither of us wanted to come at first.

"A hundred some odd miles seemed a long way from home as children," he smiled. "But we still go home every weekend for visits."

The family like atmosphere of the school is evident in all phases. Close bonds are created between students and teachers as all combine efforts to overcome handicaps.

It is a touching sight to see students with limited vision guide the blind through school corridors filled with people. The school creates an atmosphere of love and the feelings of closeness are evident. There is no pity in their efforts. Each helpful attempt is an expression of friendship.

Darryl and Kenneth's achievements did not come easily. Hard work and determination were involved because at the time vision was lost, new means of study were required. This is accomplished through the study of Braille. A system of six dots, Braille allows the combination of the dots to form words. In essence, the blind can see through their fingers. Touch allows them to unlock the door to education.

"The school has taught both of us to put our blindness aside and seek productive, satisfying lives," said Darryl. "It is a wonderful school that has prepared us well for future careers."

Darryl Eaton, 19, doesn't view his blindness as a handicap.

Probably the hardest thing a blind person has to achieve is to convince people that he doesn't need protection from everyday life.

"People that don't know our ability tend to shelter us, or want to help us, because of our blindness," said Kenneth.

"The most important thing is to treat a blind person as a normal human being. Just because we are without sight does not mean we are helpless," he said. "Both Darryl and I have become accustomed to life without vision and can cope with any situation."

The boys parents agree and even at the earliest age of blindness stressed independence. At home and on campus, (continued on page 9)

Gov. Morehead School Offers Many Programs

The Governor Morehead School has been in existence for over a century and offers academic programs for North Carolina student, kindergarten through twelfth grade. Located on a 55 acre tract in Raleigh adjacent to North Carolina State University, the campus complex is composed of administrative and educational buildings, cottages where the students reside, a new dining facility, a health center, and maintenance operation.

The school operates yearly for a period of ten months. September until June, and is totally state supported. Applicants are accepted who are legally blind, who have limited peripheral visual fields, poor visual prognosis, or other visual conditions which restrict education in local public schools. A present approximately 250 students are enrolled. The school has facilities to accommodate 300 students on a residential type basis.

Academic programs at the school in many ways parallel that of public schools. Comparable course work is offered and the same credits are required for graduation. The two essential differences include individual learning programs designed for each student and specialized materials and equipment incorporated in the teaching-learning process.

Students are offered a wide variety of courses to broaden horizons and prepare them for a vocation or college level study upon graduation.

The school offers such vocational programs as home economics, wood working, chair caning, bedding manufacturing, music, horticulture, business administration and a host of others. The importance of independence and self confidence is stressed in all areas of study.

Music is an integral part of Kenneth and Darryl's life. Here they perform a violin duet.

Modern Vocal Ensemble Of Catawba College In Concert Here

The Modern Vocal Ensemble of Catawba College is a group of young people interested in combining the best of popular music and show tunes with movement and dance to create an evening of exciting entertainment. This talented group will be appearing in concert on Friday, April 20 at 8 p.m. in the Davie County Public Library. On their April 20 concert, the Ensemble, under the direction of Mary Jane Bowles, will be a medley of favorite show tunes from Oklahoma, South Pacific, My Fair Lady, Camelot, King and I, and the Sound of Music.

Other sections will be popular tunes including, "You Light up my Life", "Sunshine Song", "Mood Indigo", "No Time for Looking Behind", "Everything's Alright", from Hair and "All for the Best", from Godspell. They will also entertain with special solos and small group numbers. This concert is sponsored by the Davie County Arts Council and is free of charge to the public. This project is supported by the Grassroots Arts Program of the North Carolina Arts Council, a state agency.

Hoyle-French

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dixon Hoyle of Emerald Isle, North Carolina, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann Elizabeth, to Edward Rollins French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roberts French of 3949 Vermont Rd. N.E. Atlanta, Georgia. Miss Hoyle is a graduate of Davie County High School and East Carolina University where she received a B.S. degree in Early Childhood Education, with additional certification in reading. She is currently a reading specialist with the Northampton County Schools. Mr. French is a graduate of North Fulton High School, Atlanta, Georgia and East Carolina University where he received a B.S. degree in Parks, Recreation, and Conservation. He is presently serving as program director for the Boy's Club of Pitt County, Inc. in Greenville, North Carolina. A June 30th oceanside ceremony is planned at Emerald Isle. The bride-elect is a former resident of Cooleemee, N.C. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Marion Hudson Hoyle, Sr. of Cooleemee and Mr. Charles Harmon McMahan of Friends Homes, Greensboro, formerly of Rt. 2 Mocksville.

Report From Raleigh

by Rep. Ramey F. Kemp

Let me first say that the real highlight of this past week was the entire day Wednesday, April 11. Both the Boards of Education and the North Carolina Dental Society were in Raleigh for legislative purposes. Dr. Vic Andrews visited my office prior to the session and remained in the gallery of the House during the entire session. Following the session, Dr. Andrews, along with Superintendent of Schools Jim Everidge and Chairman of the Davie County Board of Education Benny Naylor, came by the office for a pleasant visit. Early in the evening, the North Carolina Dental Society hosted a reception for the General Assembly. After the reception, the Boards of Education of Davie and Davidson Counties hosted a dinner for their local delegations. It was truly a wonderful day. Another real highlight of the week was a visit by Robin Carter and Kathy Tomlinson with Emily and me at the Hilton Inn and later a picture taking session in my office in the Legislative Building.

Some actions of the Appropriations Committee which would greatly affect Davie County and which I strongly supported were the appropriations for cultural arts programs and aid to libraries. These are "must" programs for me. Other areas of vital interest to me which are getting strong support are health departments, programs for the retarded and programs for the aged. I am also very interested in at least cost of living increases for teachers and support personnel in our schools. Progress in these areas and a few other areas of vital interest are what make serving in the legislature such a real pleasure. This legislature is also spending a lot of time on problems of ecology. I serve on two committees which deal with this subject. They are the Natural and Economic Resources Committee and the Water and Air Resources Committee. It took a long time for the people to get involved, but now everyone seems to be concerned with the problems of pollution. These two committees are working hard at solving some of these problems. One law that was enacted this week may be of interest to a few people in Davie County. That law would give the authorities the right to garnishee wages for child support. This has been a problem in the past, and this Law should help tremendously. Another law of interest to our area was passed by the House. This Bill makes it permissible for the Board of Education to appoint monitors to ride on school buses to maintain order. Most people feel this is good legislation. I would again urge you to visit us in Raleigh if the opportunity arises. I would certainly be happy to see you.

Wm. R. Davie To Observe Heritage Week

William R. Davie School will participate in the statewide observance of N.C. Heritage Week, April 23-27. The theme this year is "Our Schools—Past, Present and Future". Distinguished graduates and historians will be speaking to classes and field trips have been planned. Old Davie County school sites will be visited as well as the future junior high locations. Predictions will be made by students concerning their personal future and that of N.C. schools. The highlight of the week will be an Open House and Homecoming to be held Thursday, April 26 from 7-9 p.m. Former students, teachers, principals...everyone interested in William R. Davie School is invited to attend. "This should prove to be a delightful evening combining the past, present, and future", said Mrs. Betty West, principal.

Cooleemee News

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller, Little Jimmy and Courtney, of Wilmington, Delaware returned home Monday after spending the Easter holiday weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Miller.

Scott Critten of West Virginia was the holiday weekend guest here with Mike and Bubba Brown of Edgewood Circle.

Mr. and Mrs. David Reavis, Jr. are in Bellerose, New York where Mrs. Reavis is undergoing three weeks of treatment in Queens. Correspondence may be sent to them at 8822 249th Street, Bellerose, N.Y. 11426.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shoaf of Troutman spent Sunday visiting here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shoaf and Mrs. Edna Spillman.

Robert Hellard is undergoing treatment and observation in Davie Hospital.

The Cooleemee Senior Citizens will hold a cookout

Thursday, April 19, at the Ridenhour Arbor on Center Street Ext. beginning at 12 noon. Hamburgers and hotdogs with all the trimmings will be served. All members are urged to attend.

There will be a special meeting of the congregation of the Cooleemee Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd immediately following the regular morning worship service Sunday, April 22.

4-H News

Farmington The Farmington 4-H Club had their regular monthly meeting in April. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Amy Hamrick, 4-H Adult Leader. There were six members present. We said the 4-H Pledge and discussed new business.

Our new business was regarding the Pino-Farmington Man and Woman of the Year Banquet. We decided to decorate the tables with real flowers. The Banquet will be held at the Masonic Lodge on April 28 at 7:00 p.m. Plates will be $3.75. Everyone is invited but you must purchase a ticket in advance. Contact Mrs. Amy Hamrick for more information.

For our craft, we decorated egg shells which were very pretty. After our craft, Mrs. Hamrick served refreshments and the meeting was adjourned. Charlyne Ellis Reporter

The Stacy Becks Sweat Out Big Texas Tornado

By Kathy Tomlinson
At 6:45 p.m. last Tuesday evening Frances (Pan) Beck of Rt. 5, Mocksville decided to call her daughter, Mrs. Patty Newsome in Wichita Falls, Texas. The purpose was just a friendly chat between mother and daughter and neither suspected the devastation and long hours of panic that would follow.

At the onset of the conversation Mrs. Newsome told her mother "We're having a tornado, but there isn't time to get to the shelter."

Patty and her husband, Curt have lived in the tornado belt for four years and were not alarmed by the siren since it's almost a common occurrence in the area. They are also well educated in safety procedures against tornadoes and sought shelter within the house. Patty told her mother that she would return the call later while adding the note of don't worry.

Little did they know that this time the warning represented more than just a little twister. This was a monster that would take the lives of 49 people, injure 800 and leave a path of destruction eight miles long and up to 1 1/2 miles wide.

Wichita Falls was hit with the worst of three tornadoes that struck the area. The first touched down at 3:50 p.m. in Vernon, a small town 75 miles northwest of Wichita Fall, killing 12 persons and injuring more than 60. The second hit later in Lawton, Oklahoma where at least 3 people were killed and 70 injured.

Pan and her husband Stacy were apprehensive after the call but the devastation of the tornado was not known until a special news broadcast was aired on television around 9:00 p.m.

"We panicked", she said. Neither Stacy or I could believe what we were seeing. The first instinct was to look away from the T.V. screen. However, at the same time we were overwhelmed with a force that made us search for a familiar landmark as the camera showed the devastation and destruction caused by the tornado."

"We were trying to get some idea as to the location of Patty and Curt's home in relation to the area that was hit, but it was impossible to be sure.

The shock of the tornado was further increased for the Becks with their inability to gain information about injuries.

"My first instinct was to call, but when the operator told me that the lines were down and there was no way to get through, I felt helpless," she said.

"I had worked with Mrs. Archer Livengood with the local American Red Cross chapter and turned to her in an effort to secure information about Patty and Curt's safety."

Then The Good News!

The Becks slept little if at all that night and spent most of the day Wednesday checking with the Red Cross in hopes of learning the whereabouts of their daughter.

"I don't know how many times we called the Red Cross, but each time they were most understanding and cooperative. Each time they told us that Patty and Curt's names did not appear on any of the lists."

At this point we considered this an encouragement, hoping that no news was good news, she said.

The day went on and the Becks anxieties increased when almost 24-hours later the phone rang. A soft, calm voice on the other end said, "Hi Mama, it's Patty."

"I was flooded with feelings of joy and relief," said Mrs. Beck and then the mother in me responded. "First I told Patty to pack her bags and come home and then I told her 'forget the bags, just COME HOME!'"

As it turned out the Newsomes were located in an area that was untouched by the tornado. However Newsome's mother, brother and grandmother's homes were leveled. Luckily no one sustained injuries.

"They spent the duration of the tornado in a bathroom closet," said Mrs.

Beck. "That's hard for me to believe since I've seen the size of the closet, but it proved the safest point in the house. Patty commented that one sure could do alot of praying in a closet," she smiled.

"This is one of the most horrible things we have ever gone through," said Mrs. Beck. "When the safety of your child is in question even though they are married and away from home, it is a frightening feeling."

"Stacy and I didn't realize how much we loved her, and we never gave up hope that Patty would be found safe and unharmed."

Tanglewood Barn Theatre To Host Professional Drama Company This Summer

The Tanglewood Barn Theatre, vacant for a year, will once again house a season of plays this summer. Dwight T. Martin, producer of the New Piedmont Repertory Company, has announced the three play season of plays, as well as some special events planned for the entertainment season. Along with the announcements of selections Martin described some major policy changes which contrast the "new" thrust of the professional theatre-producing company with past policies. The announcements were made at the Company's board of directors meeting last Wednesday.

Before opening the main production period, to be called "Season '79", a pre-season warm-up revival of the popular Cabaret hit Jacques Brel is Alive And Well and Living In Paris will be performed in the Barn to "Take the chill off the Barn after a year's vacancy," according to Mr. Martin. The revue, the company's only theatrical offering in 1978, earned rave reviews when it opened in the Tanglewood Clubhouse last July. Interest in Brel's songs has risen internationally since the world-popular composer-poet died last October. The Barn will be turned into a Cabaret for the show, with the audience seated at tables and refreshments served. There are tentative plans to run the production as Dinner Theatre again, this time serving in the Barn. Jacques Brel is... will open June 15th and play the next three weekends.

The opener for "Season '79" will be the delightful musical "The Fantasticks", to begin July 10th and to run until July 21st. It will be followed by Nobel-Prize Winner John Steinbeck's Of Mice And Men, A touching saga of Brother-love set in northern California in the 1930's. Running from July 24th to August 4th, Of Mice and Men is one of the most powerful exercises of Dramatic realism by a major novelist-playwright. Finally the New Piedmont Repertory Company's topper will be To Be Young, Gifted and Black, by Lorraine Hansberry. This sparkling autobiographical play, which was the longest running drama of the season when it opened Off-Broadway in 1968, deals with one of America's finest playwrights struggle for artistic recognition in a world still prejudiced against both blacks and women.

Incorporated in this season are revisions of past company policy, including dropping its association with the Stage Actor's Union, Actor's Equity Association, a move designed to open casting to qualified professionals within the state, as well as lowering production costs. Another innovation will be longer rehearsal periods, allowing more time for better quality productions. Minority and ethnic expression has become a commitment of the young professional staff, offering an opportunity to address the entire community of the North Carolina Piedmont.

Other New P.R.C. plans for the summer include a fund-raising concert starring a nationally known star (last year's starred guitarist Doc Watson) and a final production, probably Jules Feiffer's devastating comedy, Knock Knock.

The final change in the New Piedmont Repertory's policies is emphasis on the Piedmont. Season-ticket subscription goals for the Tanglewood Barn Theatre include attracting audiences from the greater triad area as well as from the western Piedmont. "The survival of this profession theatre depends on broad-based support coming from many communities within driving distance of the Forsyth County Park," producer Martin told his board of directors last week. The Theatre Company is actively recruiting board members and for the first time has enlisted one from outside the Winston-Salem area: Attorney Robert Brinson from High Point. "We are looking for better representation from Greensboro and High Point as well as from within Winston-Salem," the producer added.

The Eaton Boys

They Key In On Sounds

the boys move around with ease going from class to class, room to room. Canes are only used when in an unfamiliar place. When at school, Kenneth and Darryl walk to the nearby stores for purchases and are accurate in handling their money.

Darryl commented that he can determine coins by touch and folds paper money so that its value can easily be recognized.

Hearing and touch are the two of the five senses most utilized by the Eaton brothers in mobility.

"When you're blind," said Darryl, "the other senses do not automatically intensify as popularly believed, but are exercised and utilized to their fullest potential."

"In essence, we learn to key in on certain sounds and feelings," he said. "I can tell if a door is open or closed by the vibration of sound or if a traffic light has changed by the click."

"All of these things are there for the person with sight, but because they have vision, there is no need or reason to utilize these sounds."

"We have learned that through such obvious means that our world isn't so dark after all," he said with a smile.

People tend to wonder what these boys would have achieved and accomplished with vision, but this is of no importance. The facts show they have utilized individual potential to a point that so many with vision never dream of harnessing. Their drive will lead them to success. Darryl and Kenneth Eaton are merely normal people seeking an above average life for themselves and their families. Their efforts are an inspiration.

A strong physical fitness program is encouraged at GMS; these boys, though blind, have mastered the sport of basketball.

Tips For Dealing With "Test Anxiety"

"It's not common but some people will expend more energy in worrying about the test than in actually taking it. It's all wasted energy because when the test is over, their worlds won't come to an end. People need to realize this."

-Dr. Scott Lawrence of Test Anxiety Clinic in UNC-G Department of Psychology

By Steve Gilliam
UNC-G News Bureau

When faced with the prospect of taking a test, do you:

- A. Tense up?
 - B. Get nervous?
 - C. Suffer sweaty palms?
 - D. Feel your stomach tighten up?
- Experience an increased rate of heart beat?

If you answered "yes" to any of the above symptoms, you might be suffering a few twinges of the malady that psychologists refer to as test anxiety.

Almost as ordinary as the common cold—and nearly as mysterious—test anxiety (or TA) has been under study since the middle 1950's. It can manifest itself in any of the physiological ways listed above. It knows no socio-economic, sex or racial boundaries. It can strike quickly and be gone, or hang around for several days.

For more than a year now, Dr. Scott Lawrence, an associate professor of psychology, has been studying some ways that acute test anxiety can be treated in research at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. While it can be overcome, Lawrence believes TA is as much a cultural problem as a psychological one.

"In the last 25 years America has become increasingly test-oriented," said Lawrence. "We've built exams and tests that determine much of what is important to us as individuals, from whether we can drive our cars to whether we get the job we're after to whether we can be satisfied with ourselves."

"We're living in what is now a very evaluative culture and because of the realistic importance of tests, most people have a certain degree of anxiety over them."

Through the research in UNC-G's Department of Psychology, Lawrence and his graduate assistants have worked with over 200 students and townspeople in a test anxiety clinic. The clinic, which offers individual and group counseling, is open to any TA sufferer who meets its requirements.

"We welcome subjects," said Lawrence. "What we're doing is training them to help themselves handle the test anxiety. It's not something that can be cured and it's not a form of mental illness but people can learn how to handle it."

The research has centered on two methods that can assist people. Both are forms of behavior modification which center on helping people to relax and cease their worries in the face of an upcoming test.

Among the ways Lawrence lists that people can get a grip on test anxiety are:

-Make an effort to relax, take a deep breath, take a minute to collect your thoughts (and get rid of those which might interfere with taking the test).

-Focus on getting into the test itself. Consider it to be a challenge and not a life and death matter. In Lawrence's own term, "de-catastrophize" it. Get down to work.

-Make sure you have prepared. This might seem simple, Lawrence says, but no amount of relaxing or worrying will produce a good grade if no study has preceded the test.

-Remind yourself that a little arousal during a test is not all bad. As long as the arousal doesn't turn into any of the symptoms of TA, it might actually facilitate taking the test.

The current theory on test anxiety, Lawrence explained, comes from some early research which disclosed that persons who are high in test anxiety tend to do worse on tests than others of equal ability who have low TA quotients. In short, it can actually interfere with a person's performance, Lawrence said.

Probing that work a little further, researchers learned that people taking tests generally engage in two types of behavior: task relevant and task irrelevant. In the former type, the person will get down to business taking the test, complete it, and go home.

In the latter, however, it was learned that high TA people will begin thinking about matters not pertinent to the test.

"The most common form is worrying about performance while the test is going on," said Lawrence. "This can result in self-criticism like 'How could I be so stupid as to forget that?'"

"People also tend to worry about the importance of the test or to doubt their ability to do well on the test. Essentially, that sort of worrying will distract people from taking the test. It's kind of a self-fulfilling prophecy in that respect that feeds on itself."

Although a lot of people suffer from TA—Lawrence estimates that a third of the nation's population or more may do so—it's the practice of the task irrelevant behavior that interferes with test performance, according to research in the field, and not any previous apprehension. The physiological symptoms are emanations of that task irrelevant behavior.

"It's actually okay for people to be a little apprehensive before a test or at the start—it can sharpen them up," he said. "But when a person finds it difficult to work on a test because of this distracting kind of behavior, then that can cause trouble."

Another aspect in triggering the talk irrelevant behavior is the emphasis placed on the importance of the test. "If a person comes to believe that tests can decide important aspects of his life, then he can become overly anxious," said Lawrence. "This can be especially true in instances like the college boards—if the people who administer the tests tend to emphasize things like the importance of doing well or that it can reflect on a person's intellectual abilities, then this can interfere."

ASCS News

Farmland owned by foreigners must be registered with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). R.G. Allen, Chairperson of the Davie County ASCS Committee, said aliens who owned or held a five percent interest in land on February 1, 1979, must report ownership by August 1, 1979. "Those acquiring land after February 1, 1979, must report the transfer within 90 days." Failure to report could result in a fine of up to 25 percent of the property's fair market value.

Farmland is considered any tract of more than one acre now in agriculture, forestry or timber production. Idle land used for agriculture within the past five years must also be reported. Interest means any right title or legal share of ownership in farmland, such as partnership, trusts, estates, or shares in a corporation that owns farmland. According to Mr. Allen, a survey conducted last year by the U.S. Senate Committee on Agriculture, Forestry and Nutrition showed that 825,543 acres of U.S. farmland were purchased by foreign investors during the 18 months ending June 30, 1978.

MRS. LARRY DALE BROOKS
... was Luanne Marie Seager

Seager-Brooks Vows Are Spoken

Miss Luanne Marie Seager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Seager of Rt. 3, Hickory Hills, Mocksville, N.C. and Larry Dale Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robie Brooks of Route 4, Mocksville, were married Saturday, April 14, in a formal ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. Leland Richardson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Anita Long, organist; and Miss Regina Riggan, soloist, presented a program of wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organza over taffeta, designed with an empire waist, high neckline and long full sleeves. The bodice was trimmed with satin ribbon and chantilly lace; and her flounced hem line extended in a chapel train. Her waltz length veil of silk illusion fell from a camelot cap of chantilly lace.

Mrs. Roxanne McDaniel was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Colleen Seager, bride's sister, Miss Becky Burton, niece of the bridegroom; and Miss Susan Ozmick of Mocksville. They wore gowns of polyester lustreglo, fashioned with a shirred halter top, sashed at the waist with a full flowing skirt, and a triangular scarf for a cover-up. Their headpieces were made of tiny silk flowers with satin streamers.

Child attendants were Miss Cathy Sherrill and master Craig Cook.

Robert Brooks of Cooleemee, served his brother as best man. Ushers were David Burton, bridegroom's nephew; Randy McDaniel, bride's brother-in-law and David Harris of Cooleemee.

The bride is a graduate of Davie County High School and Winsalm Business College. She is employed by Funder America as a receptionist.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Davie County High School. He is employed with Ingersoll-Rand in Mocksville.

Mrs. Eva Everett directed the wedding.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the couple will make their home at 732 Salisbury Street, Mocksville.

RECEPTION

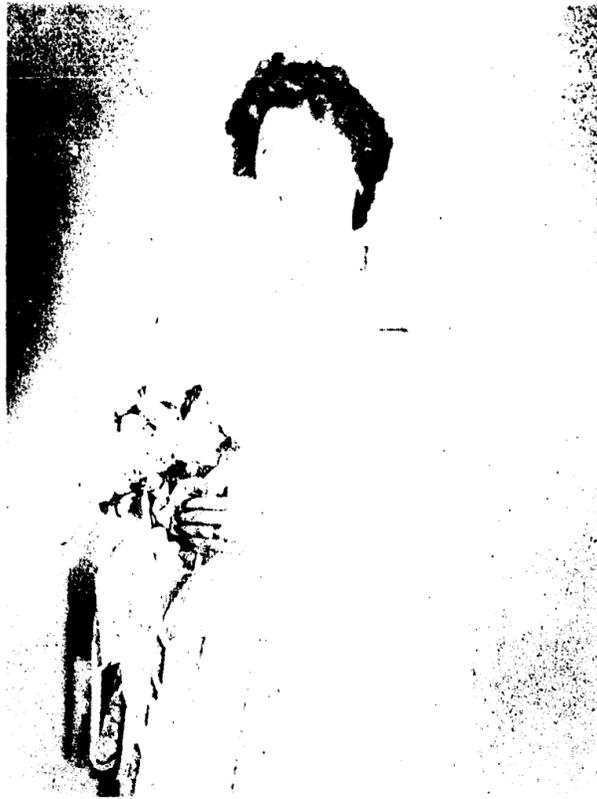

Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church, for the couple, wedding party and guests.

The buffet table held a four tiered wedding cake, complete with fountain, finger sandwiches, mints, cheese straws, wedding punch and peanuts.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Ruth Ozmick, Mrs. Danny Smith, Miss Dana Smith, and Mrs. Johnny Johnson.

The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Danny Marlon.

Little Miss Jenny Marlon passed out rice bags, that were made by Mrs. Judy Sherrill.

MRS. BOBBY VINCENT FREEMAN
...was Enoree LaRae Childress

Miss Childress Weds Mr. Freeman

Miss Enoree LaRae Childress was married to Bobby Vincent Freeman of Mocksville at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 15 in Gospel Baptist Church. The Rev. Lee Childress, father of the bride, officiated.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Childress of 702 Tot Street, Mocksville. She is a senior at Davie High and is employed by Heffner's Land of Food in Mocksville.

Mr. Freeman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Freeman of 700 Stewart Street, Mocksville. Mr. Freeman is also employed at Heffner's Land of Food and is a 1978 graduate of Davie High.

Given in marriage by her uncle, G.H. Childress, of Winston-Salem, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over satin. The full-length gown was designed with a V-shaped scalloped neckline and a chapel length train of chantilly lace. A lace and satin cap held the two layers of lace veiling. The gown and headpiece were made by Mrs. Lee Childress, mother of the bride. Mrs. Don Freeman, mother of the bridegroom and Mrs. Nadine Childress. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink sweetheart roses surrounded by an assortment of pink and blue spring flowers.

Miss Tammy Freeman, sister of the bridegroom, was maid-of-honor. Flower girl was Miss Tina Freeman, also sister of the bridegroom.

The maid-of-honor wore a full-length powder blue gown of peau de soie and carried an arm bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. The flower girl wore a full-length batiste gown with flocked flowers and carried a basket of rose petals.

Mr. Freeman was his son's best man. Ushers were Kevin Freeman, brother of the bridegroom and Rodney Thompson, both of Mocksville.

David Childress, bride's brother, was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Tot Street. The reception included a four-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Carmen Walker. Peanuts, mints and punch were also served by Mrs. Betty Williams and Mrs. Jean Thompson.

Dancercise Offered At The YMCA

Two 'Disco Dancercise' courses for women began this week at the Winston-Salem Central YMCA. An afternoon class started Tuesday, April 17, at 3:00 p.m. and an evening course begins Thursday, April 19, at 7:00 p.m.

Both courses are for adult beginners and will run for six weeks. Lessons will be 45 minutes sessions. No special clothing is required and missed lessons may be made up.

'Disco Dancercise' classes are exercise sessions utilizing 'Disco' steps taught in group and line form. The same steps may be converted to social usage when a partner is available.

The courses offer women an option (or addition) to other forms of exercise, and it is easy to continue practicing, polishing and developing the dances at home (on your own) after the course is completed.

Instruction will include several versions of the 'Hustle', the 'Freak', a variety of free-style 'Disco' steps and a few turns.

Pre-registration is not necessary. A total fee of $20.00 per course is to be paid the first lesson.

Dorothy Covington will be the instructor. Classes are held in the Blue Room of the Central YMCA. The entrance is on the West End Blvd. side of the building (upper level).

If more information is needed call the Central YMCA at 722-1163.

Conway Institute Celebrates Anniversary

Conway Diet Institute, celebrating its tenth anniversary, is probably one of the few companies that measures its success by its losses. The losses they're discussing are the weight losses of its clients. Their weight losses total over twenty thousand pounds per week or, conservatively figured, a million pounds per year. The Conway ideal 1000 calorie diet is taught by the head of the nutrition section in its weekly seminars throughout much of the United States. The diet itself is nutritionally balanced and exceeds the recommended U.S. daily allowance for adults. It is a healthy, satisfying weight reduction program. The 1000 calorie per day level was selected for two reasons. First, the Conway Diet Institute felt that consistent weight losses were essential to the morale and the success of the dieter. Second, they believe a 1300 to 1500 calorie diet, which many other organizations recommend, is too close to a maintenance program. With these extra calories, it is very difficult to lose the last 20 or 30 pounds. Their long-held views are consistent with those of the head of the nutrition section of the U.S. Food & Drug Administration, who in November, 1977, in an interview with the Scripps Howard News Service, stated that in his judgement, the safest, healthiest and most effective weight reduction program is a nutritionally balanced 1000 calorie per day diet for women and 1300 calories per day for men. He further stated that the best long term results were achieved with a 1000 calorie diet. The Conway Diet Institute weekly motivational seminars provide insight into social, emotional, nutritional and physical factors involved in overweight. Conway can be credited with helping many people gain control of their weight and eating habits through behavior modification techniques. As part of their tenth anniversary celebration, Conway has published a new, exciting cookbook entitled The Ideal Diet Cookbook. It contains over 500 recipes for all occasions. Patrick Conway personally will be touring the country to meet with personnel at special anniversary celebrations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Allen of Route 2, Mocksville is a graduate of Davie County High School and is co-owner of "Deano's and Joe's Bar-B-Cue & Restaurant" of Mocksville. Ms. Tricia Adams of Rock Hill, S.C. presented a program of wedding music. Joe Long, soloist from Mocksville, sang "Always and Forever" and "Wedding Song". Ms. Jane Cartner and Ms. Tonya Turner, cousins of the bride, kept the guest register and presented scrolls to the guests. Mrs. Tommy Turner, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal empire gown of giana designed with a high scalloped lace neckline and long tapered sleeves cuffed in wide Belgian lace. Seed pearls enhanced the bodice and sleeves. The A-line skirt flowed into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was enhanced with lace motifs and fell from a lace-covered cap. She carried a lace-covered Bible topped with a white orchid. The cover was carried by the bride's mother in her wedding.

MRS. LARRY DEAN ALLEN ...was Paula Ann Shew

Ms. Darlene Shew, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of pale pink polyester crepe with an empire waistline, spaghetti straps and an A-line skirt topped with a long-sleeve jacket of sheer floral print. She carried two long-stemmed pink silk roses enhanced with pink and white streamers. Bridesmaids were Ms. Teresa Shew, sister of the bride, Ms. Edwina Carter and Ms. Donna Monroe both of Charlotte. Their gowns were light blue polyester crepe designed identical to the maid of honor. Ms. Jennifer Allen, niece of the bridegroom was Jr. Bridesmaid. Her gown was designed with an empire waist gathered skirt trimmed with floral ribbon. They each carried a white long-stemmed silk rose enhanced with blue and white streamers. Ms. Malisa Hendrix, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a pale pink dress designed identical to the Jr. bridesmaid and carried a white basket filled with pink rose petals. The bridegroom had his father as best man. Ushers were Ronnie Allen, brother of the bridegroom; Tommy Turner, uncle of the bride; and Steve Hepler. Jeffrey Allen, nephew of the bridegroom was Jr. usher. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shew chose a pale yellow formal gown of polyester crepe, topped with a lace cape. She wore a corsage of silk yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Allen chose a formal gown of light blue polyester crepe topped with a matching jacket trimmed in lace. Her corsage was a white orchid. Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Cartner and Mrs. Nora Shew, grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Gladys Seamon, Mrs. Ronnie Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hendrix. For the wedding trip, Mrs. Allen chose a pale blue suit with matching accessories and lifted the orchid corsage from her Bible. Upon return Mr. and Mrs. Allen will be at home on Route 7, Farmland Acres, Mocksville. OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Cartner and Ms. Amanda Cartner of Clear Water, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Adams and Mr. Keith Howe of Rock Hill, South Carolina; Ms. Clara Hopkins of Martinsville, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Elledge of Columbia, South Carolina; Mr. Brent Miller of Atlanta, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Sharp Jr. of Raleigh; Ms. Ophelia Mathis, Ms. Margaret Searcy, and Mr. Randy Ritchie of Charlotte; Mrs. J.M. Nichols Jr. of North Wilkesboro; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Troutman and Mrs. Jill Waugh of Statesville.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shew, entertained at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

Following the receiving line of the bridal couple, parents, and grandparents, guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cartner, uncle and aunt of the bride, and directed to the fellowship hall.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink and white silk roses, flanked by lighted candles. The four-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Glenn Campbell, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. L.W. Sharp Jr., cousin of the bride. Mrs. Tom Wall, aunt of the bridegroom and Mrs. Harold Campbell served the punch. Other refreshments included mints, nuts, and assorted sandwiches. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald "Butch" West.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Following the rehearsal on Friday evening, the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Allen, entertained members of the wedding party and guests with a buffet dinner consisting of ham, turkey, dressing, potato salad, green beans and corn, slaw, rolls, cheese cake, and a decorated cake honoring the bridal couple in the fellowship hall of the church. The thirty guests were seated at tables covered in white linen cloths centered with spring flowers. The bridegroom chose this occasion to present gifts to his attendants.

WEDDING LUNCHEON

At noon on Saturday, April 14, Mrs. Tommy Turner and Ms. Tonya Turner were hostess to a luncheon honoring the bride-elect and her attendants, bridal mothers and grandmother at their home on Country Lane. Mrs. Edward Lee Cartner assisted the hostess. A menu consisting of baked chicken fillet, wild rice, green bean au gratin, pickles, hot luncheon rolls and pecan tarts were served from the buffet table covered with a floor length floral tablecloth centered with an arrangement of silk flowers to match. The hostess presented the bride-elect with a serving pitcher and glasses of cut glass. The bride-elect chose this time to present gifts to her attendants.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Frye, 572 Hyde Park Drive, Concord, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Opal Christine, born Saturday, April 14, at 8:23 p.m. at Cabarrus Memorial Hospital. The baby weighed 8 pounds and was 22 inches in length. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack K. Reid of Bessemer City. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Avalon Frye of Mocksville. Great-grandparents are Mrs. T.C. Frye of Mocksville, Mrs. J.C. Braxton of Greensboro, Mrs. Bessie Davis of Bessemer City, and Mrs. J.K. Reid of Gastonia.

Credits Healthy Conway Diet

Connie Bilby has lost 114 pounds on the Conway Diet Institute's Ideal 1000 Calorie Diet.

A little over a year ago, Connie had high blood pressure and wore a size 24 dress.

Today, she wears a size 10. Her doctor has taken her off all medication since her blood pressure is now normal. She has taken up horseback riding, tennis and bicycling. Connie enjoys her new, active way of life.

"The Conway program has been just great for me. I highly recommend it," says Connie.

The Conway Weight reduction program consists of three main elements:

- The Ideal 1000 calorie diet that includes all food groups and exceeds the established nutritional requirement for adults.
- Weekly educational seminars that deal with the physical, nutritional and emotional causes of overweight.
- The Forever Slim plan for permanently maintaining slimness.

J.N. Richardson Sr.--

Beekeeping-A Pleasure, A Pastime

J.N. Richardson Sr. discusses his avocation of beekeeping.

"I accidentally got into beekeeping, but I'm proud of it," observed J.N. Richardson Sr. last week at his self-described "bee haven" home at Rt. 3, Mocksville.

Richardson, a widower who is a former store and service station owner and operator, noted that beekeeping now serves as "a pleasure and a pastime" in his retirement years.

Not only does he occupy much of his time tending his beehives and reading the latest issue of the American Bee Journal and numerous circulars concerning the subject of bees, but he also serves as vice president of the Davie County Beekeepers' Association and is a member of the N.C. Beekeepers' Association.

The "accident" which prompted Richardson to begin his beekeeping business occurred about 12-13 years ago when a swarm of bees nested between the ceiling and weatherboarding of an outbuilding behind his house. After starting a beehive with the bees captured from the outbuilding, he mailed a couple of swarms and captured a couple more swarms for beehives.

At present, Richardson maintains eight beehives from which he expects to gather 250-300 quarts of honey per year. "Over the years I've sold honey to people from New York to Florida who were passing by my house and I've had some people tell me it's the best honey they've ever eaten," he declared.

Richardson estimates that each of his beehives contains about 40,000 bees. The severely cold weather two winters ago "froze out" many of his bees and cut his honey production, he reported. However, last year he had nine new swarms of bees come out of his hives and he sold six of them and this year looks like it will be another good year for swarming and honey production, he reported.

A swarm, explained Richardson, occurs when bees reproduce in a hive to the point where the hive is too crowded and a large number of worker bees, accompanied by a queen bee, come out of the hive and swarm around a tree limb or some other object used as a nesting place. Swarming almost always happens during the months of May and June, he said.

Once the bees come out of the beehive and swarm, Richardson captures the swarm and places it in a new hive where the reproductive process starts all over again.

Every beehive must have its own queen bee and only one queen. This queen bee will live for several years, he said, and when a queen comes out of a hive to swarm with other bees a queen is left in the old hive to lay eggs and continue the reproductive process in that old hive.

A queen bee can lay as many as 3,000 eggs per day. These eggs hatch out in approximately 16 days and the worker bees start going out into the fields to gather nectar for honey about three weeks after hatching from the eggs. The average life expectancy for a worker bee is six weeks, said Richardson.

One of the most important elements necessary in operating a successful beekeeping program is to have what Richardson terms a good "bee haven." A "bee haven" is a place where bees have multitudinous opportunities to gather nectar for honey from all kinds of flowering vegetation and where they have a good place to nest while swarming.

In the yards and fields surrounding Richardson's house and beehives he has a wide variety of flowering vegetation growing, including: apple, cherry, apricot, plum, pecan, chestnut and dogwood trees; grape, honeysuckle, strawberry, blackberry, cucumber and cantaloupe vines and fields of clover and numerous flower gardens.

"I take a lot of time and care in spraying my trees to be careful I don't poison my bees," commented Richardson.

He noted that when bees make honey in the hive they also eat some of the sweet food for their own nourishment.

In his beehives, Richardson keeps the "Midnight" and "Caucasian" breeds of bees. "Most of these are gentle striped and yellow bees and not mean like the black bee," he remarked.

One of the hazards of beekeeping is getting stung by your little honey-making friends. Said Richardson, "I get stung some, but not too much." He added the worst experience of being stung occurred several years ago when the smoker he uses to control the bees "gave out" and many bees got on his ungloved hands and stung him repeatedly.

"I had some pretty swollen hands for a day or two," remembered Richardson.

Richardson encourages any person interested in bees to take up the practice of beekeeping. "They'll pay for themselves if you get enough honey from them to sell and if you don't then they'll pay for themselves by pollinating your gardens and flowers and trees," he concluded.

The proper headgear and a beehive smoker are essentials in working with the bees.

Periodic inspections of the beehives are necessary to insure the honey making process is proceeding satisfactorily.

Jimmy Plummer On USS Incheon In Mediterranean

Navy Boiler Technician Fireman Apprentice Jimmy R. Plummer, son of Franklin L. and Betty S. Plummer of Route 1, Box 450B, Mocksville, N.C., recently departed for a deployment in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is serving as crewmember aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Incheon, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

The missions of the Sixth Fleet are to protect U.S. citizens, shipping and interests in the Mediterranean; to deter aggression against our Western European allies by maintaining mobile striking forces; to promote peace and stability in the Mediterranean area and to create goodwill for the United States.

During the cruise, his ship is scheduled to participate in training exercises with other Sixth Fleet units and with ships of allied nations. Additionally, port visits in several Mediterranean cities are scheduled.

The Incheon is 592 feet long, displaces 18,300 tons and carries a crew of 528 officers and enlisted men. She is designed to transport assault forces for amphibious operations and normally embarks a Marine battalion landing team and Marine helicopter squadron during deployment.

Plummer joined the Navy in January 1978.

North Carolina Legislative Building, Raleigh, N.C. 27611 (919-733-5863)

The General Assembly's Utility Review Committee conducted a public hearing on nuclear safety today at the Legislative Building. Sparked by the recent near-tragic events at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant near Harrisburg, Pa. officials from Carolina Power and Light Co., Duke Power Co., and Virginia Electric and Power Co. were on hand to explain the details of the accident at the Three Mile Island plant, and the measures that the three power companies have taken to ensure safe operation of their nuclear units as well as the steps that would be made operational should an accident ensue at one of the three nuclear plants. Also testifying was the chief of the state Radiation Branch Dayne Brown.

Happily, we can report that we now have a new draft of the Wildlife Resources Bill (HB 302, SB 226). Covering a majority of the amendments and improvements recommended by the House Wildlife Committee the draft will be ready for discussion at the April 19 meeting of the House Wildlife Committee. It was a privilege for us as a member of the Davie-Davidson Delegation to hear present and future views on education from members of the boards of education from Davie and Davidson counties and Lexington City and Thomasville City and Superintendents Jim Everidge, Davie County Schools; E. Lawson Brown, Davidson County Schools; Bill Niven, Lexington City Schools and Derwood Huneycutt, Thomasville City Schools. Davie and Davidson County Commissioners will share with us their plans for the future of our counties at a dinner meeting with the Davie-Davidson County Delegation tonight. The Commissioners will be in town for a statewide meeting of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

A new, inkless fingerprinting device developed to deter forgery eliminates the traditional mess associated with fingerprinting. The device is useful to anyone who frequently must request identification. It is offered exclusively by the National Notary Association, 23012 Ventura Blvd., Woodland Hills, Ca. 91364.

New Fingerprinting Device Helps Deter Forgers

A new fingerprinting device designed to combat forged signatures and identification cards is now available to the general public, announced the National Notary Association.

Touch Mark, the trade name for the new instrument, eliminates the ink mess associated with the fingerprinting process, which has long been recognized as the ultimate form of identification. The "rubber-stamp" type device imprints two inkless ovals on a document. The person whose proof of identity is required merely presses his finger across one oval and then across the next, leaving a permanent print on the latter. No residue is left on the person's finger.

Touch Mark, although introduced specially for the notarial profession, could be useful to anyone who must frequently request identification, noted Milton G. Valera, NNA executive director. Many banks and other financial institutions already use similar instruments.

Because Notaries witness documents that could be subject to forgery including deeds, contracts, liens, and affidavits, they risk unintentional involvement in forgery which could lead to lawsuits, said Valera.

Current identification methods involve drivers' licenses and credit cards, and obtaining the patron's signatures in the Notary's recordbook. However, some of the nation's 2 1/2 million Notaries find these methods less reliable than ever before due to today's often undetectable forgery techniques.

By obtaining the constituent's print on both the document and in his journal, the Notary preserves virtually irrefutable evidence of the person's identity. Thus, would-be forgers would avoid the Notary using Touch Mark. "What forger would want to leave his fingerprint in the Notary's journal as evidence he committed a crime?" Valera asked.

He added that the fingerprinting device could save the Notary thousands of dollars, time, and inconvenience in today's lawsuit-conscious society by providing proof, outside of court, of who appeared before the Notary to sign a document.

Touch Mark protects both the Notary and the public, at moderate cost. The device, marketed exclusively through the National Notary Association, 23012 Ventura Blvd., Woodland Hills, Ca. 91364, (telephone 213-347-2035), sells for $24.95 and provides up to 1,000 prints (2 1/2 cents per fingerprint).

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

April 22-28 is Volunteer Week in North Carolina, and I want to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the thousands of volunteers in our state for the contributions they make in our communities.

In recent months, citizens have expressed their concern about rising taxes and waste in government. People want progress and good services, but they don't want additional tax burdens.

We must recognize that the only money for new programs is not the only answer, or our only resource. The greatest resource we have is people. All of us volunteering some of our time and talent, working together, can help meet many of the needs in our communities and state.

The value and rewards of citizen involvement can be seen in every community. I know this as your Governor, as a citizen and as a volunteer. Volunteers bring commitment and compassion to their jobs. They also benefit from the feeling of giving a part of themselves to help other people.

I urge you to look around in your community and seek out an area where you can, by devoting a few hours each week, give aid to some needy person or cause. It is a privilege to count myself among the volunteers serving to make a difference in our North Carolina communities.

My warmest personal regards.

Jim Hunt,
Governor of N.C.

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my appreciation to Mr. Glenn Howard and Mr. Joe Long for the stand they took against the beer and wine issue in Davie County. I agree with them one hundred per cent. If it comes to a vote, I will vote NO to protect my children, and all the other children in Davie County.

If Davie County needs the tax, then let the people who would buy the beer and wine donate to the county what they would pay for beer and wine each year, and if that's not sufficient, start a clean up campaign collecting beer cans and bottles. Sell them and use the money where its most needed in the county. I agree with Mr. Howard, the beer and wine would create more heartaches and problems than the revenue would solve.

I counted at least fifty in last weeks court section that were caught speeding. Suppose they had been drinking. I would much rather help Mr. Hardin pick up the cans and bottles brought in from the other counties than to have to pick up a child in the highway that had been hit by a drunken driver.

I remind you of the little girl in the 4th grade at Cooleemee school who was killed in an auto accident a few weeks ago. The boy driving was fifteen years old and had been drinking.

No amount of tax money will improve this little girls education because she won't have the chance to get one. Would you vote YES if this had been your child. If we get beer and wine in the county, then someday it could be your child or mine. Does the brewery or the distilling companies pay the funeral expenses, and medical bills of the victims of their products, or do the parents and tax payers get this responsibility along with the heartache and worry it causes?

Judas betrayed Jesus for thirty pieces of silver. Are we going to betray our children and our county for beer and wine. Please say NO!

Mrs. Velma McDaniel

Dear Editor:

I have read articles in your paper about beer and wine being sold in Davie Co. One woman said that crime started with someone buying a six-pack at the store. Some people go to church and then commit crimes. Are we going to close all the churches? (Of course not.)

Do the people who enjoy a can of beer have to suffer because a few can't handle it? I do not smoke. Everywhere I go there is someone blowing smoke into my face. These people say they have the right to smoke if they enjoy it. Look at a pack of cigarettes. There is a warning that they are bad for your health. I don't see this warning on beer cans.

Go to your store and look at the tropical orange drink, diet soda, and other drinks with warnings that they may be dangerous to your health. I would rather see these replaced with good wholesome cans of beer without warnings on them. The woman who didn't think that not driving 15 to 30 miles more to get beer would decrease accidents: I wonder if she thinks it would save gas?

There is plenty of crime in places other than Jacksonville, Fa. Yes, even in Davie Co. Didn't the era of bootlegging and crime in the country occur during Prohibition?

Lewis Ocker
560 Pine St.
Mocksville, N.C.

Dear Editor:

I would appreciate it very much if you would print this letter in "Your Letters to the Editor" column.

I am searching for the names and addresses of any of the descendants of Drucilla Cummings, who was born in Mocksville, N.C. December 5, 1827. She was married to Jacob Saunders September 25, 1845.

Drucilla Cummings and Jacob Saunders were my great grandparents and I would like to know the names of their parents.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John R. Crook

Volunteers Sought For Bike-A-Thon

Johnny Hendrix, chairman for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels for Life Bike-a-thon, today asked residents of Davie County and Mocksville to volunteer their time and energy for the April 28, 1979 ride.

Volunteers are needed to help conduct the Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon on April 28, 1979, to raise funds to support the world-famous research center in its battle against catastrophic childhood diseases.

"We're looking for people who are willing to contribute a little of their time to help us help children live," Hendrix said. "Our biggest need is for riders since they are the ones who will make this event a success."

"Those who want to ride should pick up their registration-sponsor forms at school now and start getting sponsors," Hendrix said. "Everyone who raises $25.00 will get a St. Jude Children's Research Hospital t-shirt, and those who raise $75.00 or more will get a special biker's back pack."

"We'll have special prizes for the top riders," Hendrix said.

At St. Jude's, doctors and scientists are studying leukemia, Hodgkin's Disease and other forms of childhood cancer as well as other deadly diseases that strike the young. The results of research conducted there are freely shared with doctors and scientists all over the world, enabling stricken children to have a better chance to live.

Founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude's is the leader in the battle against these diseases.

"But as long as children are still dying," Hendrix said, "St. Jude Children's Hospital must keep fighting. We need your help."

Volunteers can contact Johnny Hendrix, Rt. 6, Mocksville and phone 634-3454 after 6 p.m. to help.

Library News

by David Fergusson
Library Director

A seminar on the stock market and investing will be given by the library on Thursday night, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Ben Browder of Advance, who is with Interstate Securities in Winston-Salem, will conduct the workshop. Most of the very basic points will be covered, including how to find and evaluate information. The stock market's name has been slightly tarnished recently and hopefully some education will make it easier to evaluate the market and its appeal for each individual. Preregistration should be made by calling the library 634-2023 as there is limited space. Refreshments will be served.

NEW BOOKS:
In Search Of... by Alan Landsburg. This book is based on the TV series of the same name and offers a potpourri of mysterious and unexplained phenomena. It is not overly sensationalized though and is very readable. Covering such subjects as Jeanne Dixon, The Loch Ness monster, Big Foot, evil possession, and humanoids from outer space, this illustrated collection is full of thrills.

The Decorating With Gemma, by Dana Z. Mellach.

Gemma is not some kind of arcane process or magic print, but is actually one of America's most innovative designers. Her technique for tile decoration is very clearly outlined here by Mellach, known for her easy to understand craft books. So, if you are fed up with corn husk dolls, or haven't sobered up yet from that last bottle of decoupage lacquer, try tile art.

Good As Gold, by Joseph Heller. A new and very funny novel by the man who wrote Catch-22. It is about Dr. Bruce Gold, a Jewish professor who is tapped by the White House to join the current ruling party in Washington. He accepts and his story is told in a very humorous vein. "He had no doubt he would be disowned by his father, brother, and sister and rejected by his children. The future looked bright."

Ballerina, by Edward Stewart. This is a very accurate novel about ballet. It concerns two girls, Christine Avery, and Stephanie Lang, who share an apartment, and a career. They endure the rigors of a career in ballet and along the way endure some personal rivalry. For lovers of ballet and romance, both.

SS-GB, by Len Deighton. Deighton has written such thrillers as The Ipcress File and Spy Story and with this fascinating novel, subtitled "Nazi-Occupied Britain 1941" he continues a string of professional thrillers. The king is hostage in the Tower of London, Churchill has been executed, and our hero, Douglas Archer of Scotland Yard works under a German supervisor. The case he is assigned to become one of very high stakes and the fate of the king and England are involved.

The Bastard King, by Jean Plaidy. This is the first book in Plaidy's Norman trilogy and tells of the rise of William the Conqueror to king. His love and marriage with Matilda, Princess of Flanders, are both discussed as are their children. Another good historical novel by the author of the Tudor novels and the Stuart saga.

Dress Gray, by Lucian K. Truscott IV. Truscott is a West Point man and in this muckraking novel he seems to try to do his old school in. Ry Slaight, our hard to believe hero, doubts the accidental drowning verdict when a plebe is found dead. It is actually murder it seems, brought on by unspeakable circumstances, all of which are covered very well in the book.

In Memory Yet Green, The Autobiography of Isaac Asimov 1920-1943.

When a man has written only 199 books what does he write about in his next one? This is it. From the Asimov's immigration from Russia when he was three, up until some of his earlier fiction such as Foundation, Asimov recounts it all. This should delight SF fans, science fans, biography fans, anything fans, because of the author's unique appeal.

The Matarese Circle, by Robert Ludlum.

Ludlum has covered many topics: Nazis, CIA, Nazis, MAFIA, Nazis, FBI, Nazis, etc. But here we have perhaps his finest (and longest) novel to date. Vasil Talenok and Brandon Scofield work respectively for the KGB and U.S. Intelligence. They are sworn enemies: having killed the other's wife and brother respectively. Now they must work together, on guard against everyone else to stop the mysterious Matarese Circle. Ludlum readers will be in nirvana.

Legislative Report

By Senator Robert Davis

North Carolina has always been a leader among southern states. But the rapid emergence of the so-called "sun belt" in the southern portion of this country has pushed North Carolina to the forefront of the national awareness.

Our state continues to be a leader in the areas of industrial and commercial expansion, progressive government, public education, and in a sincere desire to help those in need.

The one weakness, however, is that we have not shown this same type of progressive leadership in addressing the low wage compensation for many of the hardworking people within the state. This weakness has also gained national attention as North Carolina consistently ranks as one of the lowest wage earning states in America.

There is currently a proposal before the state Senate that would at least help to alleviate this weakness.

Senate Bill 638, introduced by Senator Jack Childers of Lexington, would establish a minimum wage in North Carolina of $2.90 per hour.

The law would apply to all full-time workers in this state except for full-time students because, in some circumstances, such requirements for students might curtail the opportunities for them to gain employment in order to attend school.

The law would also give the Commissioner of Labor the power to set lower wages for other categories of workers. Other categories would include "learners, apprentices, messengers, and persons whose earning or productive capacity is impaired by age or physical or mental deficiency or injury."

There are other powers granted to the commissioner and other exclusions from the law but basically the bill would still have the positive affect of raising the pay for many of our lowest paid workers.

SB 638 has not attracted the attention it probably deserves, apparently because many people assume that federal minimum wage laws of the past fifteen years have practically eliminated the need for state legislation in this category. Unfortunately, this is not the case.

Although federal minimum wage laws do cover the majority of wage earners within the state, there is still a substantial number of workers whose employers are excluded from federal requirements. And it is with these people, primarily in the food service and agricultural industries, that help is needed the most.

Already, the House has passed a similar bill that would increase the state minimum wage to $2.75. Should the Senate bill calling for $2.90 fail, then hopefully we can gain concurrence for the $2.75 figure.

A decent minimum wage for our workers is a need that must be met and not a luxury.

Car Taken From Parking Lot

A 1970 Lemans Pontiac was taken from the parking lot of the Davie High School Tuesday. The vehicle was registered to Herman Abington Myers of Rt. 3 Advance. It was driven to school by his daughter, Patricia Diane Myers.

Reported missing at 10:04 a.m. Tuesday, the vehicle was brought back about 10:46 a.m. by Edmond Maurice Scott, 16, of Cooleemee and a 15-year-old Mocksville juvenile.

Scott was charged with possession and unlawful use of vehicle. Bond was set at $200 for an April 23rd court appearance.

Mayfest International To Feature Old Art Of Japanese Mingo Dancing

Mayfest International in Winston-Salem will again feature the old art of Japanese Mingo Dancing. Two instructors, Sunkie Oye and Tei Tamiguchi will be coming from New Jersey to instruct the local dancers to teach the Mayfest visitors the Coal Miners Dance, the Tokyo Ondo and the Chowa Ondo (international friendship dance.)

The New Jersey Mingo Dancers have performed in the Smithsonian Folk Festival the past 2 years and at President Carter's inauguration in Washington, D.C.

Along with the Japanese Mingo Dancers the Winston-Salem Mayfest visitors will have an opportunity to sample Indian Panha (native summer drink), Okonomiyaki (Japanese Pizza), Origami (Japanese paper folding), Ikebana (Japanese flower arranging), Japanese yo-yo fishing, a festival game for all children and a demonstration of Tai Chi, Japanese shadow boxing.

A regional fashion show will feature Korean traditional dress and recent Chinese clothes for men, women and children.

These are just a few things being offered at Mayfest.

During Mayfest the Winston-Salem Transit Authority will sponsor 5 cents day and Pabst Blue Ribbon is conducting a bicycle race.

For further information contact Roger Richardson, Urban Arts, 722-5293 or David Ittermann, Greater Downtown Association 723-5936.

You And The Law

Wills
Since death and taxes are inevitable, it is wise and prudent for all individuals to consider making a will. A will is a legal declaration in writing of your wishes as to the disposition of your property and affairs after your death.

One should not wait for old age before preparing a will. Preparation of a will does not mean that the preparer is necessarily about to die. Rather it evidences clear mature ability to think ahead and plan for the future.

Some Reasons for a Will
--Many people mistakenly feel they do not need a will because all property is jointly held or they think everything goes to their wife or they don't have anything to leave. Unfortunately, these misconceptions can cause much grief and misunderstanding in families. For example, joint ownership in some situations can cause more problems than it cures. Joint owners with right of survivorship might die simultaneously in an accident, thus having their property pass other than as they wish. It can also cause unexpected tax consequences.

--You can avoid having your adopted child partially prevented from inheriting from you or others in your family.
--All persons with minor children should have a will directing who they want to be guardian of their children if the mother and father die at the same time so the court can be guided in this matter. You can create a trust to support and educate minor children without the expense of court supervision.

--Substantial tax savings may be derived from a properly drawn will.

--You can choose the person you want to settle your affairs by naming him or her as executor in your will and eliminate or reduce the cost of the bond required of him in most states.

--A will can preclude the necessity of your administrator having to pay out of his own pocket the cost of your funeral in excess of that allowed by state law.

--Items of personal property such as a car or jewelry may not go as you intended due to lack of a will.

--If no heirs can be found and you leave no will, your property can go to the state rather than a friend or other natural object of your bounty.

To make a will one must be of sound mind and of adult age. Witnesses are required and it is best to have a lawyer draft the will.

Remember it may be better for you and your loved ones if you have a properly executed will. For further information or for legal advice concerning this matter, contact your Legal Aid office.

SUNFLOWER ATTRACTS friendly butterfly. Not all insects are so benign. Certain beetles and moths attack domestic species of sunflowers to the despair of large-scale growers who raise the plants as a source of vegetable oil. Department of Agriculture scientists are working to develop an insect-resistant domestic species of sunflower.

Sunflower Encouraged To Fight All Of It's Attackers

It's hard to believe that anything would want to attack that cheerful all-American bloom, the sunflower. But nature's full of spoil sports.

Certain moths, beetles, and aphids just love to feast on the plant, especially those domestic varieties planted for profit. Many wild sunflowers fend off the attackers and until the last few years, no one really knew why, or cared.

But now that sunflowers have become big business in the United States, scientists are turning their sights to the plant's insect enemies, reports the National Geographic News Service.

Sunflower plantings have increased from 10,000 acres in 1967 to 2.8 million acres in 1978, and today produce about twice as much polyunsaturated vegetable oil per acre as soybeans. Last year farmers harvested 3.4 billion pounds of oil-producing sunflower seeds, for a yield of 1,366 pounds per acre.

"We've developed disease-resistant strains of sunflowers, so now the principal threats to the blossoming business are insects," pointed out Dr. Charlie E. Rogers, a Department of Agriculture scientist working on sunflower research in Bushland, Texas.

"There are some 50 wild species of sunflowers and many of them seem to repel or kill their beetle, aphid and moth foes.

"We intend to find out precisely why, and when we do to crossbreed the most promising ones with domestic varieties to come up with an insect-resistant plant."

So far Rogers and his colleague, Dr. Tommy E. Thompson, have taken a close look at 30 wild species. They found that about half of these either repelled or killed one or all of their insect tormentors.

An acid in the wild plants appears to do the hatchet job on the insects. Beetle larvae and pupae die after feeding of some species of sunflower such as blueweed, willowleaf, and Jerusalem artichoke.

Why do some wild species kill and others barely affect the insects? The researchers speculate that the more lethal plants probably contain larger doses of the acid in their leaves and roots.

"Of course, our attitudes may change after we test the remaining 20 wild sunflower species, but we seem to be on the right track," said Rogers. "At least we're now fairly confident the resistance centers on a natural poison rather than a lack of a substance in the plant that gives pests an incentive to feed."

Sunflower growers, however, can expect no immediate relief from the attacks of major insect enemies—sunflower beetles and moths, and the carrot beetle.

It will take at least four or five years for the scientists to identify the wild species that best combats all three insects and then introduce the plant into an effective crossbreeding program with domestic oil-producing sunflower varieties.

The back yard of Dr. and Mrs. Francis Slate in Mocksville is quite beautiful with hundreds of azaleas and other spring flowers at their peak.

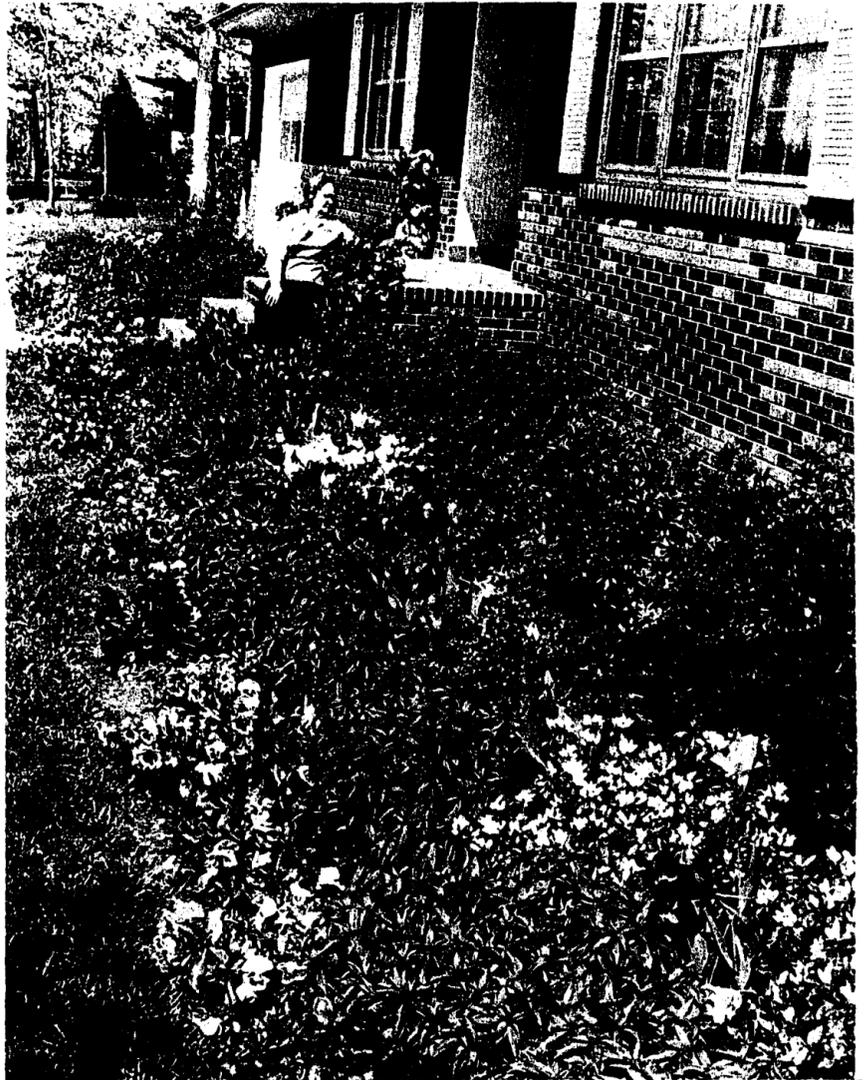

April Is --- Beautiful In Davie

Davie County comes alive with color during the springtime. And many folks enjoy a Sunday afternoon ride admiring the handi-work of their neighbors. After a long cold winter, the first blossoms of spring are usually the most rewarding and capture more attention than those which follow during the summer. This reporter and photographer decided to share just a few of the more attractive yards throughout Davie County. Although the ones featured in this weeks Enterprise-Record are quite beautiful, it would be impossible to show them all. We feel quite sure that we have missed just as many as we found, but then such a survey could hardly be covered in just one day. Perhaps the ones shown in this weeks edition will instill a desire to those interested in viewing spring flowers to take an afternoon drive throughout beautiful

Davie County.

Residents in most housing developments apparently spend a great deal of time working in their yards. Maybe it's because when there are a couple of homes with beautiful lawns, shrubs and flowers, it gives the initiative to the neighbors to put forth a special effort, also. The same holds true to some streets in the various communities. It is with a great deal of pride that we show these beautiful photos - we like calling Davie County home!

Mrs. Beatrice Wright Richardson of Garden Valley Estates has a most colorful front lawn with pansies, sweet williams, tulips and several varieties of azaleas. These should reach their peak of beauty in another week.

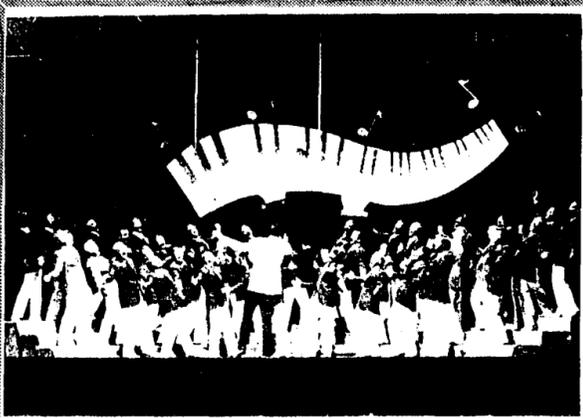

Mrs. Fred Smith of Smith Grove has a variety of color in her yard and even has a large variety of iris she will give to anyone for a small contribution to her church.

Large Doses Of Vitamins May Do Athletes More Harm Than Good

By Richard Bierck

Athletes who take large doses of vitamins and protein supplements to bolster their performance usually do themselves -- and their performance -- more harm than good.

This is the view of Dr. Daniel Hanley, U.S. Olympic team physician for the 1960, 1964 and 1968 Olympics and a member of the Medical Commission of the International Olympic Committee.

Hanley, one of the speakers at a symposium on sports medicine to be held May 3-5 at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, said in an interview that many athletes wrongly assume that they must consume large doses of vitamins to be competitive.

"These 'megadoses' are a very real problem," Hanley said. For example, continued large doses of vitamin D can lead to early hardening of the arteries, too much vitamin A can lead to skin, eye and liver ailments and too much vitamin C can eventually lead to kidney stones, he said.

Even if a person is not taking doses large enough to lead to such problems, he said, relatively small overdoses can unduly burden the body to excrete the excess.

For most athletes, particularly those with a well-balanced diet provided by their coaches and trainers, vitamin supplements are "a waste of time and money," he said.

Some athletes also acquire the dangerous habit of taking large protein supplements, which in some cases can lead to joint diseases that end an athlete's competitive career.

The belief that protein supplies an athlete with energy is fantasy, Hanley said.

"The only time the body utilizes protein for energy is when a person is starving."

Protein is needed daily to repair tissues, provide the building blocks for enzymes and help develop immunity, Hanley said.

"If a person is on a vegetarian diet, he or she may not be getting enough protein. Athletes who are vegetarians should be careful to get their protein, and one way they can do this is to be an ovo-lacto-vegetarian -- to eat eggs and drink milk," he said.

"Nutrition and the Athlete" is one of the topics Hanley will address at the symposium, which is sponsored by the UNC-CH department of physical education, the division of sports medicine, the athletic department and the extension division.

In a separate address, Hanley will discuss "Drugs and the Athlete."

Other topics to be discussed at the symposium include athletic conditioning, care of and legal liability in sports injuries and current issues in sports medicine.

There is a $15 registration fee for the symposium, and the pre-registration deadline is April 18. For more information, contact the Office of Continuing Education, UNC-CH, 204 Abernathy Hall 002A, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Magician At Special Olympics

Mark Daniels, local magician, will be performing at the Special Olympics on Saturday April 21.

The Special Olympics is held annually by the Mocksville Jaycees at Rich Park.

The day begins with various contests and ends with lunch and entertainment, which for the last two years, has been sponsored by the Davie County Arts Council.

Jim Beatty/Pfeiffer College 10,000 Meter Road Race Is In Charlotte This Saturday

Plans are nearing completion for the first annual Jim Beatty-Pfeiffer College 10,000 Meter Road Race to be held in Charlotte, Saturday, April 21, 1979.

The Race will begin at 11 a.m. at Freedom Park and wind its way through beautiful Southeast Charlotte on an even -- but challenging -- 6.2 mile course. The event marks the official kickoff of "Celebrate Charlotte" festivities: a 5-weekend series of neighborhood activities. Charlotte Mayor Ken Harris will fire the official starting pistol for the Race.

"We are fortunate," Dr. James Poolos, Race Coordinator, said "to have one of the finest, if not THE finest athlete North Carolina has ever produced as our Honorary Chairman. Jim Beatty is truly a joy to work with. And, to have him actually in the Race will be most exciting."

Beatty, who achieved international fame as a track star in the early 1960's, is a partner in Beatty-Turner Associates, a Charlotte-based management and executive search and recruiting firm. He graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1957 with an AB degree in English. While at UNC, he was captain of both the track and cross country teams and was President of his class.

A member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic Team, Beatty made sports history in 1962 when he became the first man in the world to break the indoor four-minute-mile. That same year, he broke 8-American and 3-World records, compiling the finest distance running record ever achieved by an American.

For his outstanding performances, he was named winner of the Sullivan Award as the Amateur Athlete of the Year in the U.S. He was also named one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men in America by the Jaycees and was honored by ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports" as their first Athlete of the Year. Beatty is also a Charter Member of the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

Beatty also served 6-years in the North Carolina General Assembly where he was active in lowering the voting age and in revising the State's drug laws. He also served as Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee on Public and Higher Education.

The $5.00 Registration Fee for the Race will be used to create new scholarships at Pfeiffer College, a small, Methodist-related, coeducational, Senior, liberal arts college located in Misenheimer, North Carolina, some 31-miles North of Charlotte. The College was founded in 1885 and presently has an enrollment of approximately 1,000 students.

Several hundred runners are expected to turn-out for the event on the 21st. Presently, registration forms are available at all "Junction" stores in the Charlotte-Metrolina area, both locations of Phidippides (Southpark and The Radisson Plaza), Lomar's Sports Mart on Albemarle Road (Charlotte) or by writing P.O. Box 10,000, Misenheimer, N.C. 28109. You can also call the College at Area Code (704) 463-7343 for additional information.

"I'm very excited about this race," Beatty says "because the cause is so noteworthy. Besides, we have selected an absolutely beautiful course, the race has been sanctioned by the North Carolina AAU and being a part of 'Celebrate Charlotte' just puts it all together."

Puppeteers Tour Davie Schools

Puppeteers Debbie Compton, of Mars Hills, and Rick Hamlin, of Hendersonville, will again be touring all elementary schools, middle schools and North Cooleemee School on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 18, 19 and 20.

Debbie is employed by the Southern Repertory Theatre during the summer and her partner, Rick, works as a member of the acting company and directs some of the shows in Flat Rock, North Carolina.

This program will be the last in a series of Arts Council-sponsored programs in the Artist Visitation Program. This project is supported by the Grassroots Arts Program of the North Carolina Arts Council; a state agency.

China's New Way Of Spelling Turns Canton Into Guangzhov, Peking To Beijing

Peking, known at different times in its 3,100-year history as Chi, Yuchow, Yenching, Chung-tu, Khanbalik, Cambuluc, and Pelping, now has another name: Beijing.

But the city that has been called "southern capital," "middle capital," "city of the ruler," "northern peace," and "northern capital," hasn't actually changed its name, just its spelling.

Beijing more closely approximates the Chinese pronunciation of the city's name. The name has been changed under China's conversion to Pinyin, a way of transliterating Chinese characters into Roman letters that was developed more than 20 years ago by Chinese linguists.

Until recently foreign spellings of Chinese had followed assorted phonetic methods, such as the Wade-Giles system devised by two English scholars in the 19th century and later modified by international postal service and newspaper usage. Now China is replacing these versions with a single system.

Pinyin spelling has been adopted for family and geographic names, both in China's foreign-language publications and within the country, the National Geographic Society points out. Other nations have begun to follow the new spelling, under which Canton becomes Guangzhou and Tibet is Xizang.

Some names don't change. Shanghai is still Shanghai, and the provinces of Hunan and Yunnan retain their spellings. Others are altered slightly, with Szechuan becoming Sichuan and Chungking, Chongqing. But it may take a little time to recognize Anoy as Xiamen, or Chengchow as Zhengzhou.

Pinyin is a major step in a campaign to ultimately substitute Romanization for traditional Chinese ideographs. Despite drastic pruning, it still takes nearly 5,000 characters to write Chinese--compared with 26 letters in the Roman alphabet.

China began reviewing its written language in 1952. A committee was named to reduce the number of characters in use and simplify them so they could be written more easily.

Two years later another group was assigned to revise the phonetic spelling of Chinese. In 1955 the linguists offered four possible systems for the government's consideration: two using Chinese characters, one based on the Cyrillic alphabet, and the other on the Roman alphabet.

The following year Pinyin, using Roman letters, was agreed upon. After some revisions, it was adopted formally in 1958.

Pinyin was recognized internationally in 1977 at a United Nations conference on standardizing geographic names, but use of the new spelling lagged.

China originally had intended to switch to Pinyin by 1975, then postponed the move until last January. Some Chinese publications delayed even then. The English-language magazine, China Reconstructs, didn't make the change until its March issue.

The National Geographic Society began using Pinyin for Chinese names on its maps and globes in 1978 and adopted the new spelling in its magazines and news service at the start of this year. The latest edition of the Society's map of Asia, published last year, uses Pinyin spellings.

Major newspapers, wire services, and radio and television networks in the United States changed to the Pinyin system in their China coverage early in March. Like National Geographic, most will continue to show the previous spelling for familiar names along with the new version.

National Geographic maps, for example, now first give the Pinyin, then print the old spelling below it or beside it in parenthesis. Thus China's northern port city of Tsingtao appears as Qingdao (Tsingtao).

This procedure is reversed for Taiwan, with the old spellings listed first and followed by the Pinyin in parenthesis. This means that Taipei is shown as Taipei (Taipei).

The British Crown Colony remains Hong Kong in National Geographic publication, despite the fact that China has begun spelling the island's name Xianggang.

Even the Chinese are not adopting Pinyin spelling completely. Beijing's State Council has decided that the country shall continue to be known as China, and not become Zhongguo.

Largest Log Cabin
The world's largest log cabin was a marvel of the 1905 Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, Ore. Built of 500-year-old fir, it was saluted as a "Parthenon of the forest," standing 72 feet high, stretching 206 feet long, and enclosing 21,000 square feet.

Democrats To Hold Precinct Meetings Thursday Evening

Russell Walker, chairman of the North Carolina Democratic Executive Committee, announced today that Democrats throughout the state will have an opportunity to participate in party affairs when the annual precinct meetings are held on April 19. The meetings are scheduled for 8 p.m. at the polling place, where residents of the precinct normally vote.

Business for the precinct meetings includes the election of precinct officers and committee members, discussion of the Delegate Selection and Affirmative Action Plans for the 1980 Democratic National Convention, voter registration, and plans for the county conventions to be held May 19.

Walker said that "the meetings are open to all Democrats and are the very basis for democracy in our country. It is at these meetings that the individual voter's voice may be heard."

Diamonds are the proper gift to give on both the 60th and 75th anniversaries.

The only survivor of the Battle of Little Big Horn, where Custer made his last stand, was the horse Comanche, whose embalmed body now stands on display at the University of Kansas.

Steve Fleming

Steve Fleming Is Signed By Lenoir-Rhyne

Lenoir-Rhyne College head football coach Jack Huss announced today the signing of Steve Fleming, former Davie High School standout, to the L-R grid program.

A versatile athlete, Fleming started on both the varsity football and basketball teams for three years. Furthermore, he was co-captain of the basketball team his junior year and captain of the basketball and football teams his senior season.

The 6'3, 180 pounder was named to the All-Conference team his senior season as a defensive back.

"We're certainly very pleased to sign Steve," comments Huss. "He has all the tools to make him a solid college player."

The Davie County High School graduate has also lettered three years in track and is completing his fourth letter this year.

Fleming is also active in school activities as he was president of his junior and senior class, sports editor of the school newspaper, member of the Junior Citan and French Clubs, and a member of the student council his freshman year.

He played football under coach Joey Kennedy at Davie County.

Davie Golf Teams Take Top Honors

In a three-team match at Twin Cedars Golf Course last Thursday the A and B teams of Davie High took first and second places in the match followed by West Rowan.

The Davie A-Team led the field with a 301 team score. Davie B-Team had a 332 team total and West Rowan trailed by one stroke at 333.

Low medalist for the A-Team was Barry Whitaker with a 71. Con Shelton led the B-Team with a score of 74.

The Davie golfers will travel to Lexington on April 24 to try for their fourth consecutive North Piedmont Conference win this season. So far this year the War Eagles are undefeated in conference play.

In last Thursday's match individual scores for the Davie A-Team were as follows: Barry Whitaker-71; Jeff Lankford-75; Charlie Bethel-77; David Gullede-78; Ken Shelton-82; and Keith James-88.

Individual scores for the Davie B-Team in last Thursday's play were as follows: Con Shelton-74; Richard Brownlow-82; Scott McCoy-83; Craig Poplin-83; and Wayne Darnell-95.

Davie Open Skeet Shoot This Weekend

The 14th annual Davie Open Skeet Championship has been scheduled for April 21 and 22 at the Tar Heel Gun Club located near Advance in Davie County.

The shoot will be conducted according to NNSA Rules and Regulations, and all events will be shot, speed-up with the flight system. All shooters are urged to register flights and squadding as soon as possible. The shoot will be refereed by experienced qualified referees, who are licensed by NNSA.

The five-event shoot will feature sub small gauge .410, 20-gauge championship, small gauge 28, 12-gauge championship and a high overall championship event.

For more information contact shoot manager W.D. Parks, Jr., Tar Heel Gun Club, Rt. 4, Box 101 Advance.

Bowman Gray Stock Car Opener Set For Saturday, April 28th

Entry forms are arriving daily, and more than $12,000 in prize money has been announced for the opening of Bowman Gray Stadium's stock car racing season on Saturday night, April 28.

The "Winston 200" NASCAR Modified National championship race will be the main event of a program that also includes races for Limited Sportsman, Street Stock and "Blunderbust" divisions.

Among the first entries for the "Winston 200" was that of Paul Radford of Ferrum, Va., the champion of the past two years in the Winston Racing Series for the quarter-mile asphalt track's featured Modified cars. Radford, whose 10 victories at the stadium last year gave him a career total of 35, will drive a Pinto.

Other early entries arrived from two-time stadium champion Ralph Brinkley of Lexington and five other former stadium winners—Johnny Bryant of Bassett, Va., and North Carolinians Melvin Swisher of Kernersville, Al Hill of Jonesville, Roger Hill of Westfield and Melvin Chilton of Eden.

Track manager Joe Hawkins said more than 30 are expected to seek the 24 starting positions in the 200-lap race, which has posted awards of $9,900 and a first prize that could top $2,500.

The first 10 berths will be decided by

Ferebee Goes Over 1,000 Victories As Baseball Coach

Joe Ferebee

Joe Ferebee, Pfeiffer College baseball coach picked up his 1,000th baseball victory last Thursday as his Falcons defeated Muskingum in two games. As of that date he won his 499th college victory.

Ferebee reached the four-figure plateau with games as head coach of Salisbury High School, the Rowan County American Legion team, the Spencer American Legion team, the Albemarle American Legion team, and Pfeiffer College.

A native of Mocksville and a graduate of Catawba College, Ferebee became head baseball coach at Boyden High School in 1947. He produced winning records there every year and won the state championship in 1955. He left Boyden with a 77-32 record.

He left Boyden in 1956 to accept the head baseball coaching position at Pfeiffer, where he has been since then.

In American Legion baseball, Ferebee has been and left Salisbury three times for teams in Spencer and Albemarle, but has been a big winner with every team. His Salisbury team went to the Little World Series in 1955.

He was inducted into the American Legion Hall of Fame in 1968.

At Pfeiffer, his teams have won the Carolinas Conference and NAIA District 26 crowns numerous times.

The leading hitter on the Pfeiffer team is 1st baseman Jeff Barker of Mocksville. Barker had a total of six hits, 3 in each game, last Thursday to lead the hitting attack. He also leads the team in homeruns.

Davie Little League Opens Season With Parade Thursday

The Davie County Little League will open its season this year with a parade up Main Street in Mocksville on Thursday, April 19, at 5 p.m.

The actual first games of the season will be played Saturday, April 21, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Little League Park in Mocksville.

There will be 386 boys—making up 10 major and 16 minor league teams—participating in Thursday's parade. The parade will start behind the Town Hall and proceed to the Brock Building on Main Street. All boys participating in the parade should meet behind the Town Hall at 4:45 p.m.

On opening day Saturday at the ballpark the concession stand will be open all day selling hot dogs, potato chips, candy, drinks and coffee.

All major and minor league teams participating in the league this year will again be selling light bulbs to raise money for needed equipment, uniforms, trophies, etc.

Little League president Sonny Kurtees feels that the addition of about 86 boys to the league's roster this year will help to add to an expected outstanding season. He hopes more parents will become involved in the Little League program this season as volunteers for coaching, selling concessions and just as spectators.

Davie Boys Lose In 3-Team Meet

The Davie High boy's track team finished last in a three team meet held last Wednesday afternoon at Davie High.

Scores Ace

Joseph Henderson of Salisbury scored an ace on the par 3 eleventh hole at Hickory Hills Golf Course in Davie County on Tuesday, April 10. He used a four iron in scoring the hole-in-one.

Playing with Henderson during his hole-in-one round were Henry Duncan, Morris Wiggins and Bobby Aldridge.

Baseball Team Defeats W. Rowan

The Davie High baseball team scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning last Wednesday afternoon to take a 6-5 come-from-behind victory over West Rowan in a North Piedmont Conference game at Davie's home field at Rich Park in Mocksville.

The War Eagles got only one hit in that sixth inning uprising, but took advantage of two walks and two West errors in the inning.

As of Sunday, April 15, Davie's North Piedmont Conference record stood at 4-4 and the War Eagles were 3 1/2 games back from conference leader Salisbury.

The Davie squad has a return conference contest scheduled with West Rowan at West Rowan on April 24.

5th Annual Car Show Is Sunday

A 1935 Pierce Arrow owned by Mayor R.C. Smith of Mocksville and a 1932 Phaeton (Street Rod), owned by Carl Dwiggin of Conover, N.C. will be featured at the 5th Annual Community Car Show to be held at the Rich Park ballfield in Mocksville on Sunday, April 22nd.

The Pierce Arrow was purchased by Mayor Smith from an antique dealer in Raleigh. The car was built in Buffalo, New York and has all the original parts. There were only 845 models made. This is the first showing of the car as it was only purchased in the fall of 1978.

Entries for the local show Sunday are expected to exceed the 150 entries last year. The event is sponsored annually by the Davie County Hospital Auxiliary and the Piedmont C.A.R.S. association. It is the largest Car Show in the area.

Gates will open at 10 a.m.; judging starts at 1 p.m.; plaques will be awarded at 4 p.m.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12 to the car show.

There will be a drawing for Goodrich radial tires to be given away by the C.A.R.S. Club of Davie County to the lucky ticket holder.

An Auxiliary Booth will feature Bazaar items. Hot dogs, hamburgers, cold and hot drinks will be sold.

Proceeds will be used by the Auxiliary to benefit the local hospital.

For more information concerning the Car Show contact Earl Furches, Rt. 4, Mocksville, telephone 634-3333 (business) and 634-5259 (home).

The heavy duty replacement shock with a bigger piston for more control.

Winning pitcher Angela Riddle got 3 hits in the West Rowan game, as did Dulin. Renae Jones and Deanna Thomas each added 2 hits apiece.

Angela Riddle again went on a hitting spree in Tuesday's game against Trinity by collecting 3 hits. Cindy Lanier had 2 hits against Trinity, Rhonda Driscoll 2 and Garlene Bowens, Deanna Thomas and Daphne Beck each had one hit.

The smallest mammal is the pygmy shrew, which is only 1 1/2 inches long without its tail, and weighs only one-eighth of an ounce.

Gabriel Red Ryders are 40% larger than standard shocks, shed heat faster, keep working in rough going.

Four virtually indestructible coil springs instead of the usual two on many shocks give you a better feel for the road.

Nine-stage valving instead of just six gives better resistance to fade for consistent operation, better control.

Adult Workshop To Focus On Problems And Needs

The Davie County Department of Social Services is sponsoring an adult workshop focusing on the problems and needs of adults, especially in the areas of aging and protective services for adults. The workshop will be held on April 24 from 9-4 in the B.C. Brock Building on North Main Street in Mocksville.

During the morning session Ms. Nettie D. Ellis, Chief of Program Services in the North Carolina Division of Aging will be the Keynote Speaker. Her topic will be "Aging in Transition". Also, Mrs. Gail Joyner, Consultant, Adult Protective Services, North Carolina Division of Social Services, will discuss the Adult Protective Services Law—what it means and the implications for service. Also, there will be a film entitled Rights of Aging.

During the afternoon session, there will be two skits depicting the types of cases reported for adult protective services. There will be representatives of various community agencies on a panel, and they will respond as to how they might become involved with the cases. Community agencies will also display any resource material related to Adult Services.

The public is invited.

On Friday, April 6, 1979, Pinebrook Elementary School had their declamation finals. Dan Riddle was the winner with his declamation, "The Coon Hunter", by Jerry Clower. Dan goes to the county contest Thursday, April 19.

Arts Council To Sponsor Note Contest

The Davie Arts Council is sponsoring a note-card contest.

The rules and regulations for the drawings are as follows:

Anyone in Davie County is eligible. There is no limit of entries, which should be mailed to: Davie County Arts Council, P.O. Box 744, Mocksville.

The drawings should be done on a size 10 x 12 white drawing paper.

Pen and black ink is best; however a brush and ink or pencil or charcoal can be used.

Subject matter: historical buildings, homes, other buildings, landscapes, particular trees and portraits that would give the feeling of Davie County.

All entries should be signed and (on a separate paper) they should be titled or an explanation of location, etc.

Deadline date is May 19, 1979.

Final selection date will be June 1, 1979. Winners and rejects will be notified. Rejects can be picked up at the Arts Council office. Winners entries will become the property of the Arts Council.

Twelve different drawings will be chosen and awarded $5 each.

Top Dairy Herds Are Listed

The top 5 herds in Davie County for the month of March are as follows:

Sparks & Miller, 56 cows, 54.5 average milk, 3.6 test and 1.95 butterfat.

C.W. Phillips & Son, 75 cows, 51.2 average milk, 3.7 test and 1.91 butterfat.

Barnes & Barnes Dairy, 55 cows, 46.4 average milk, 3.9 test and 1.81 butterfat.

James W. Boger & Son, 64 cows, 44.0 average milk, test 4.1 and 1.78 butterfat.

Crotts & Day Dairy, 46 cows, 47.6 average milk, test 3.7 and 1.76 butterfat.

Botulism

Did you know that botulism is found more often in home canned foods than in commercial products? Be careful either way. Don't buy food in leaking, bulging or damaged cans, cracked jars or jars with loose or bulging lids.

Cornatzer Cubs Hold Annual Pinewood Derby

Cornatzer Cub Pack 503 held its 3rd annual Pinewood Derby Race April 11th at Cornatzer Methodist Church. Fourteen cubs entered the derby.

The judges were Bo Foster and Aaron Carter. The starter was Douglas Potts. First place was won by Buddy Branch.

Runnerup was David Carter with Jason Allen finishing 3rd. The car with the best design was won by Hardy Maxwell.

Cubmaster Alvin Whitaker presided over the race.

The first place trophy is presented to Buddy Bran by Cubmaster Alvin Whitaker.

Hardy Maxwell receives the trophy for the "best design" from Cubmaster Whitaker.

Governor's Youth Conference May 18-20

Young people in Davie County have until Monday, April 30 to register for the Governor's Youth Conference to be held in Raleigh, May 18-20.

For only $10 per person, youth ages 14-19 can spend a weekend on Meredith College campus meeting other youth people from all over the state, discussing their mutual concerns and recommending solutions to government leaders.

The $10 fee includes two nights lodging, five meals and all conference sessions and entertainment. Adults who work with youth may attend for $25 per person.

Youth employment, adolescent sexuality, discrimination, recreation and community education are areas of concern which will be tackled by conference participants.

"I am proud of the young people in North Carolina, and I'm very concerned about the problems that they face," said

Governor Jim Hunt in announcing the conference. "Youth have a lot to offer in helping us solve some of their problems and the state's problems."

Governor Hunt will speak at the opening session on Friday afternoon. Ms. Alexis Herman, youngest director in the 58-year history of the United States Department of Labor Women's Bureau, will speak on Friday evening.

Entertainment includes a performance by members of the outdoor drama "Strike at the Wind". The drama portrays the story of folk hero Henry Berry Lowrie and the Lumbee Indians of Robeson County.

To register or for more information, contact the Youth Involvement Office, Suite 115, Howard Bldg., 112 West Lane St., Raleigh, N.C. 27511, or call 919-733-5866.

"Caramelize"
Does a recipe call for you to "caramelize?" This means to heat sugar or food containing sugar until it turns a brown color and the characteristic flavor of caramel develops. Use low heat and watch it happen. However, trying for too strong a caramelized flavor may only cause the sugar to burn.

Why make someone cry over a cut cable? Call Centel before you dig.

Call Centel before you dig or trench.

We'll send someone out to your site right away and tell you if there's any underground telephone cable where you're planning to dig.

That's the best way to avoid cutting a cable by mistake and putting maybe hundreds of phones out of service.

Phones that people may need to use for emergencies. Like calling the fire department. Or the police. Or for an ambulance.

So take a few minutes and give us a call before you trench or dig. Don't make a terrible mistake when you can make a call instead.

Call 1-800-632-4949
And nobody will have to cry.

Fighting Bugs Without Chemical Warfare

Mother Nature will be there to lend a hand when you plant your vegetable and flower gardens. Not with a shovel, but with a strategy to turn plants against pests and bug against bug. Generations of growers with green thumbs swear to the power of these natural "pesticides," claiming they do the job of chemicals without unwanted side effects, says the National Geographic News Service. The lineup of gardeners' legendary allies and how folklore says they work include:

- Marigolds, planted fence-like around gardens, keep away striped cucumber beetles and other invading insects because these showy, yellow flowers smell repulsive to them. The same goes for nasturtiums and geraniums.
- Herbs, growing among other plants, are off-putting for many insects. Rosemary, thyme, oregano, and savory, for instance, keep away munching beetles and worms.
- Basil, rue, and pennyroyal keep mosquitoes and flies moving on. Some farmers plant mint and spearmint around barn doors because the leaves' fresh smell helps keep ants, beetles, and horseflies away.
- Radishes planted between cucumbers, tomatoes among asparagus, and horseradish in with potatoes defeat cucumber beetles, asparagus beetles, and Colorado potato beetles.
- A nice garlic-onion spray, blended with water and hot peppers is repugnant to many insects and animals. Raccoons don't like it sprayed on corn, and a mash made from the spray and spread among vegetable rows is too much for sensitive rabbits and woodchucks. A rope soaked in creosote dragged around the garden leaves a line these varmints supposedly won't step over. Empty beer bottles planted neck deep at the ends of vegetable rows make a sound in a breeze that is too mournful for marauding moles. Snails and slugs will slither irresistibly into a plate of beer and drown. Skunks are a gardener's friend, not because they are equipped with one of nature's most awesome repellents, but because they prowl among vegetables at night with a voracious appetite for insects. Geese and ducks are great bug eaters, too; a growing duckling puts away 200 insects an hour. Toads, frogs, lizards, and snakes should be encouraged—they're wild about bugs. A box turtle can make a meal of insects, but also low-hanging tomatoes. A short tailed shrew eats his weight in insects every 24 hours. Ladybugs may devour 40 aphids an hour, and praying mantises are ruthlessly efficient bug catchers. Both insects are bought in quantity by gardeners. A few experimenting gardeners have spread newspapers around their vegetable plots. Laboratory tests have revealed that the

New York Times, the Wall Street Journal, and the Boston Globe, for instance, keep hungry bugs from growing up, thanks to a juvenile growth hormone in the rees the paper is made from. However, a phenomenon described by a Puerto Rican has not been explained. "The only magazine I can keep down here is the National Geographic," he wrote the magazine. "The ants and termites, they get into all the books and all the magazines except yours, and when they taste the Geographic they are poisoned and die immediately."

Health Tip

by the American Medical Association

The poets have told us that the eye is the window to the soul. On a less lofty level, we can certainly say that the eye is indeed the window to the body. No other part of the body so easily and completely reveals the actual working of arteries and other internal tissue. Examination of the eyes constitutes a very important part of any physical checkup. Many symptoms of disease manifest themselves in subtle changes in the eye tissue. The eye is the only place in the body where your physician can actually observe an artery at work. These retinal arteries may reveal the presence of arteriosclerosis (if they are narrowed), diabetes (if there are hemorrhages), or high blood pressure (if there are spasms). Many conditions may be detected through a careful eye exam: tuberculosis, anemia, cancer, brain tumor, thyroid trouble, even vitamin deficiency. And this is by no means a complete list. If the eyeball itself is unusually soft, it may indicate either dehydration or a severe Vitamin A deficiency. On the other hand, if the eyeballs are unusually hard glaucoma may be the culprit. Glaucoma is characterized by an increase of pressure within the eye, somewhat like forcing air into a balloon and not allowing the balloon to expand. Left untreated, glaucoma can lead to total blindness. So your eyes are important. Not only do they let you see out, they let your physician see in. What he or she sees in there is important not only for healthy eyes but for a healthy body.

4-H News

Shady Grove
The Shady Grove 4-H Club met Tuesday, April 10, at 7:00 p.m. at the Shady Grove School Cafeteria. The meeting was called to order by Linda Faulkner. The pledges were done by all members present. The devotions were given by Kendra Potts, one of our new members. The minutes were read and the roll was called by secretary Tracy Smith. New and old business was discussed. New business consisted of discussion on our Bake and Craft Sale scheduled for May 26 starting at 10:00 a.m. and continuing until 2:00 p.m. at the Shady Grove School. We also discussed the 4-H Talent and Fashion Revue, the trip to Carowinds, Producer-Consumer Day, and County 4-H Activity Day. Mrs. Jackie Harris did our program which consisted of making stick men and women from nature items. All the girls enjoyed doing them. We want to thank Mrs. Harris again for coming and being with us. Refreshments were served by Veranita Alvord and enjoyed by all. The meeting was then adjourned.

Mocksville
The Mocksville 4-H Club met April 6 at the Davie County Public Library. The meeting was called to order by president Charlotte Junker. Several items were brought to give the Jaycettes "BIB" Program. We had a talent show for our program. Those participating were Charlotte Junker, playing the piano, and Jan Collette, showing her art work. James Naylor also gave a demonstration on repairing bicycle tires. Doug Kelly served refreshments and Andrea McBride was our guest. For our next meeting, we plan to go bowling.

The funeral was conducted at 4 p.m. Tuesday at St. John A.M.E. Zion Church in Mocksville with burial in the church cemetery.

To people in trouble who say religion has nothing to do with real life, the Bible says, "God is our Refuge and Strength, a very present help in trouble." (Psalm 46). Faith in God is not just a feeling, or pious words. It is knowing and trusting God and having confidence that He will help us.

The Reverend T.A. Lineberger will be the evangelist for revival services to begin at Turrentine Baptist Church Sunday April 22nd and continue through Thursday night April 26th. Services will begin at 7:00 each evening.

Reverend Lineberger attended Gardner-Webb College and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has pastored several churches in North Carolina and is at present director of the South Mountain Baptist Camp of Connelly Springs, North Carolina.

There will be a nursery provided for each service. The public is invited to attend.

MOMENTS FOR MEDITATION

A great scientist once said, "I know of nothing which will prevent mental illness as surely as the habit of prayer." A psychiatrist told an audience recently, "One class of people seldom are represented in my waiting room; those who believe and practice the Christian faith."

Both of these men were testifying to a well-known fact. When what one "is" follows closely on the heels of what one "wants to be," mental illness seldom appears. It is when a gap appears between behavior and ideals that one begins to become disturbed.

Imperceptibly we step down in our code of morals and ethics. Little by little we leave behind us the spiritual teachings of our childhood. God is left out of our plans and our lives. One day we discover that the innocence of other days has been left far behind and deep disappointment and guilt has set in. This is when the tragedy is discovered—not where it began.

When the steel rails of the railroad begin to deviate from one another, rather than remain parallel, the coming train is destined to eventually jump the track. So with the mind and heart. They jump the track into sickness and disaster.

The truest self-possession is God-possession.

HEALTH TIPS

Headaches. Who doesn't have them, right? If the truth were known there are probably more reasons to have headaches than not to have them.

For example, it's raining outside and the kids stayed home because it's a holiday and while you were breaking up the latest in a series of all day fights you forgot about the oven and tonight's dinner has now taken on the appearance of soggy charcoal.

You guessed it, the common tension headache. It is usually relieved by a couple of aspirin and a couple of quiet minutes. An extended vacation is optional.

Most headaches are nothing to worry about. However, if they come on suddenly with no apparent reason and persist for a couple of days, they should be investigated by your physician.

If the headache is situated above one eye it is likely to be caused by sinusitis. If it comes on abruptly and is worsened by eye movements it might be due to eyestrain. Another, but less likely, possibility is that it might be due to glaucoma, a serious disorder which increases the pressure within the eyeball itself. Left untreated glaucoma can lead to blindness.

Perhaps the most severe type of headache is the migraine. It is an intense headache and typically affects women more often than men and tends to run in families. The migraine may last anywhere from several hours to a couple of days and may be accompanied by nausea and vomiting.

If you suffer from migraines your physician may be able to prescribe medication to lessen the attack. It may or may not be comforting to know that most cases of migraine attacks tend to taper off and stop after 50 years of age.

Research Products

Agriculture and Industry are benefiting from Air Force research and development projects: High resolution radar, developed for satellite navigation and intelligence missions, is now used to search for oil deposits. Agriculture depends on the same equipment to conduct crop and soil surveys, to measure water quality, and to detect and map pollutants and oil spills. In geology it is used to locate ground faults and predict potential earthquakes.

Steel Industry

Industry is benefiting from Air Force research and development projects: Infrared sensors used by the Air Force for air intelligence surveys and scientific studies have been adapted by the steel industry to control the thickness of steel.

Police Defense Tactics For Women To Be Taught Here

Davidson County Community College will re-enroll its course in Police Defense Tactics for Women, Monday, April 23 which is taught at the gym next to the B.C. Brock Bldg, 717 N. Main St. Mocksville, N.C.

The class will run for 12 consecutive Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and is instructed by Jerry L. Cope of Cooleemee. Mr. Cope holds a 3rd degree black belt with the Carolina Karate Association and is a member of the Board of Directors.

The total cost of the course will be a $5.00 enrollment fee. Authorities feel that with the possibility of attack existing today each community should have this type of information and training available to its citizens on a continuous basis, especially for women who are out alone at night such as nurses, waitresses, etc.

This course is a modified form of Karate adapted to the special needs and abilities of women. No undue physical

Barbecue At Smith Grove

The Smith Grove Volunteer Fire Dept. will be having a pork barbecue on Friday, April 27th and Saturday, April 28th. Orders to go can be placed by calling 998-3484, as early as possible.

The fire department is located on highway 158, approximately 9 miles east of Mocksville.

effort is required and women of any age should have no difficulty in participating. The age range of previous classes has been from 18-55. Students may elect to continue with this course from quarter to quarter and can receive karate belt ranking by completing certain requirements. Much of the class will involve lectures on such subjects as vital body target areas, psychology of the rapist, prevention and defense against rape and other violent attacks, the law and self defense, escaping from grabs and holds, fighting ability of men vs. women, advanced first aid instruction, etc. Students will be shown how to punch, strike and kick effectively in order to escape an attacker.

This course will be covered slowly and thoroughly with much emphasis on the development of physical self defense ability and practical application to realistic situations.

The class is safe, non-competitive and non-embarrassing. Each student proceeds at her own pace. For more information call Jerry Cope at 284-4322 (Cooleemee) or the College Office 634-3415 (Mocksville).

A Men's version of this course is being taught on Wednesday evenings by Gary Godbey at the B.C. Brock Building.

Bear Creek Revival April 22-26

Bear Creek Baptist Church revival will begin Sunday, April 22, and continue through Thursday, April 26. Services are each evening at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Jim Martin, pastor of Blaise Baptist Church, who will bring the message each evening.

Special singing will be presented each evening. There will be a nursery provided.

The public is invited to attend this special series of services.

Green Meadows

To Gray Matthews goes the credit for the plans and decorations. This program and service was conducted in the original auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bettini spent Easter weekend in Raleigh visiting with Mark Willard.

Little Amanda Matthews had something the Easter Bunny didn't bring on Sunday. She received a badly injured eye when she ran into her brother's ball bat last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Wheeler went to Charlotte Saturday to be with their daughter, Sylvia during emergency major surgery at Mercy Hospital. She was reported to be in satisfactory condition Monday morning.

The community extends sympathy to the relatives of "Pop" Schulte who died at Baptist Hospital Friday evening following several weeks of illness. Mr. Schulte moved to this community a few years ago from Falls Church, Va. His neighbors who became acquainted with him loved and respected him. He was truly a real gentleman and until his illness kept up an interest in current events and what was happening to our world.

Barbara Belcher and Elizabeth Walker received the ordinance of Baptism at Green Meadows Church following the worship hour. The church was pleased to welcome a goodly number of visitors.

Most everyone present for the Maundy Thursday service at Green Meadows thought it one of the most meaningful Lord's Suppers they'd ever attended. The program began with the hymn "Jesus Keep Me Near The Cross." Tables had been set up in the shape of a cross and covered with white, lighted with white candles. In the cross section lay a crown of thorns on either side with lighted white candles along the entire length of the table and red tulips representing the spilled blood of Jesus, purple lilacs representing the Royal Robe Jesus was mocked with, white camellias centered with a golden crown representing His purity and Kingship.

The entire group present, sat around the table during a program of responsive reading and a Shared confession of sin, and prayer led by the pastor. Following the hymn "When I Survey the Wandrous Cross" and meditation the Lord's Supper was served by the Deacons.

One of the great interests of his life being his work with Boy Scouts, for many years "Pop" was a scoutmaster. He was awarded the "Silver Beaver" which is the highest award given adult leaders and represents the esteem and honor the Scouts hold for the recipient.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bailey and son Todd and his buddy Doug Beauchamp spent the

FBLA Students Attend Leadership Conference

Nine FBLA students from Davie High School attended the 25th Annual State Leadership Conference April 6-8, held at the Hyatt House in Winston-Salem. The theme was "Silver Jubilee Celebration".

The contestants from Davie were: Melanie Sidden who went for Business Communications; Vicki Carter, President, who went for Office Procedures; Kim Gregory, who went for Accounting I; Donna Cope, who went for Accounting II; Teresa Ijames, who went for Poster Event; and Grace McDaniel, who also went for poster event. Joe Budd, Vicky Allen, and Kathy Keaton went as voting delegates.

Vicki Carter, President of Davie High FBLA, went to a workshop for Local Chapter Officers. She also participated in the Parade of Presidents at a banquet Friday night. Presidents from schools all over the state of North Carolina participated.

During the weekend the students went to District meetings, a Leadership Development Institute Workshop and participated in many other activities.

Friday night, the students attended the First General Session of the conference and had a dinner. Following the dinner they attended a disco dance.

Saturday, the students attended the second and third sessions. Saturday night, the Awards Assembly and Installation of Officers took place. At this assembly Donna Cope received an award for placing third in Accounting II.

Following the assembly another dance took place. Music was presented by the Cash Box.

Ms. Myra Blackburn and Mrs. Selma Suiter, advisors of Davie FBLA, attended the conference also. Miss Eleanor Sifford, also an advisor and her mother attended the conference on Saturday.

Students returned home Sunday morning.

Mocks News

The United Methodist Women met at the church Monday evening for their April meeting. Mrs. Kay Carter, president presided over the meeting. Mrs. Jean Phelps served refreshments.

There were 14 members and one visitor present. Mrs. Kay Carter and Mrs. Jean Phelps sang "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord".

The members of the prayer group from the church attended the revival service at Farmington United Methodist Church Sunday evening. Our pastor Rev. Alvord is assisting Rev. Cloer in the revival.

Mr. and Mrs. David Miller spent Easter Monday with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. G.O. Carrigan of Troutman. Mrs. Georgia Right and Mrs. Mattie Phelps Jones visited Mrs. Charlotte Mock of Winston-Salem who is improving at her home.

Mrs. Hila Myers and Mrs. Lois Wilson of Winston-Salem visited Miss Grace Jones Friday evening.

Nichole and Amber Martin spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Martin of Walnut Cove.

Correction from last week—Rev. Levina of Va. visited Mrs. Florence Carter recently.

Planning Board

Planning Board Meeting will be held Thursday, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the Mocksville Town Hall.

The public is invited to attend.

Fork Jaycettes To Have Breakfast

The Fork Jaycettes are sponsoring a breakfast, Saturday, April 21, 1979, at Fulton United Methodist Church. The menu will consist of bacon, sausage, eggs, grits, pancakes, and coffee. Breakfast will be served from 7 until...

Surflan®

waits for rain.

That's why we recommend Surflan.

It's the surface-applied herbicide you don't lose to a 10-day dryspell. That's one of the best reasons we have for recommending a tank-mix with Surflan to our soybean growers. Surflan waits for rain up to 3 weeks. That's over twice as long as Lasso®. Like doubling your chances of catching that first needed rain. And if the 1/2" rain needed for Surflan is delayed, and dry weather lets weeds get a jump on your beans, you still don't have to lose your weed control. Shallow cultivation can knock out headstart weeds and move Surflan into the weed seed germination zone. See us for Surflan and Surflan label information. In powder or new liquid form, Surflan is one of the best recommendations we can make for full-season grass and weed control... whatever the weather. Waiting for rain when it's scarce in the spring and not leaching out when summer rains are heavy. Elanco Products Company, A Division of Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, IN 46206, U.S.A.

Reactor Core Is The Heart In Nuclear Plant's Anatomy

Though one of the most awesome structures in the world, a nuclear power plant generates electricity in the same way as plants powered by fossil fuels such as coal.

Heated water produces steam; steam drives a turbine that spins a generator; a generator produces electricity.

But unlike its mundane fossil fuel counterpart, the heat source for a nuclear plant is the tremendous energy released from the fission, or splitting, of the nuclei of fissionable materials, principally uranium 235, points out a major article on nuclear energy in the April National Geographic.

Once operations begin in a typical pressurized water reactor—such as the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant near Middletown, Pa.—the reactor's core is surrounded and infiltrated with water. Thousands of tons of water circulate under high pressure to carry away the intense heat and keep the reactor temperature within limits. Any interference with this flow is potentially dangerous.

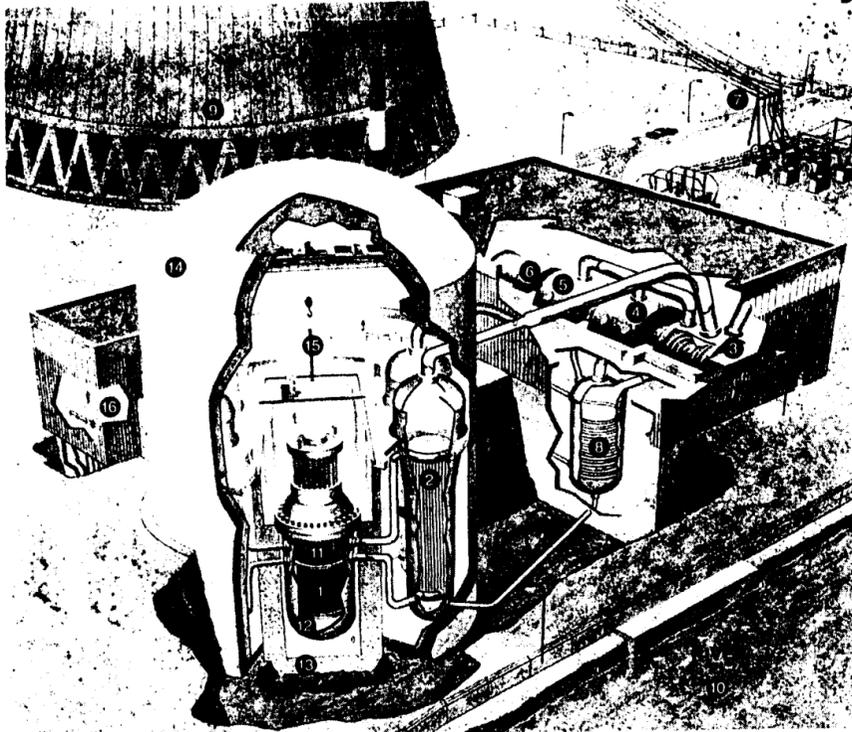

Even after the plant is shut down, radioactive decay from fission products in the fuel rods continues to produce substantial heat. Consequently, cooling water is still vitally necessary.

In a pressurized water reactor—the most common in the United States today—energy from the chain reaction of fissioning uranium in the reactor core (1) heats the surrounding water, which is pumped under pressure into the tubes of a steam generator (2) to heat the water already in the generator.

Heat from the tubes converts water in the generator to steam, whose energy turns the rotors of a high pressure turbine (3). Lower-energy steam proceeds to low-pressure turbines (4, 5).

An electric generator (6) converts the energy from the whirling turbine shaft into power for transmission to consumers through high-voltage lines (7).

Depleted steam from the turbines passes over the cooling coils of a condenser (8) and is converted to water, which returns to the steam generator to be heated again. Water from the reactor's condenser coils is cooled by evaporation in an adjacent tower—only the base is shown (9)—and returned to the condenser for repeated use. Small amounts of river water (10) are piped to the condenser coils to replenish water lost by evaporation in the cooling tower.

But the heart of a nuclear power plant and the thing that keeps everything ticking is the reactor core (1) surrounded by water and comprised of fuel assemblies containing about 100 tons of uranium dioxide. The rate of fission in the powerful packet is controlled by neutron-absorbing rods (11) that can be raised or lowered.

Core and water are contained in a heavy steel pressure vessel (12). It, in turn, is shielded by concrete walls five to ten feet thick (13), and the whole thing is topped off by a steel-and-concrete containment structure (14) to prevent radioactivity from escaping into the outside world.

From time to time, a reactor must be shut down for refueling. A bundle of fresh fuel rods holding uranium (15) is lowered into the reactor core. Spent fuel assemblies are immersed in water to dissipate heat and confine radiation in a separate facility on the site (16).

The Chigger Scratching Season Is Here Again!

The chigger, that almost invisible red bug that attaches to the most uncomfortable places on the human anatomy, is in season again.

There are worlds of home grown remedies for the chigger-fat back and salt, chewing tobacco and fingernail polish—to name a few. The state's entomologist, Tom Blalock of the Division of Health Services, N.C. Department of Human Resources, even uses one-fingernail polish.

But what the chigger is and how to avoid them is as common a warm weather problem as poison ivy.

The chigger is a mite, cousin to one that causes scabies, that in one of its early life stages likes to inject saliva into the host's skin. The reaction of the saliva and the flesh forms a feeding tube. This tube is filled with lymph and partially digested tissue which the mite sucks up as food. Severe cases can itch for a week or longer.

Chiggers aren't partial to humans; they feed with equal gusto on birds, rodents, snakes and small mammals.

People usually pick them up in raspberry or blackberry bushes or in tall weeds and woods. They are found in places liked by rodents and birds, animals which have more than their share of chiggers.

The biggest problem caused by chiggers in the United States is its itching rash, but in other parts of the world, chiggers have been known to cause at least two serious diseases—scrub typhus and hemorrhagic fever.

Scrub typhus occurs from India, through Southeast Asia, to Japan and Korea. During World War II, 18,000 allied soldiers developed scrub typhus. Another disease found in the Orient occurred when American troops landed in Korea. There they encountered epidemic hemorrhagic fever—a disease that causes fever and kidney damage and is fatal in five percent of the cases. In both these incidents, the chiggers were associated with large populations of rats.

But since no epidemic causing chiggers have been found in the United States, control is the best solution. One effective method is to control the environment to constantly permit sunlight and air to circulate. Lawns and gardens should be kept free of weeds. Blalock pointed out that tall weeds and shrubs should be eliminated from populated areas, particularly blackberry and raspberry bushes.

Repelling chiggers is another matter. Sulfur can be dusted into socks, underclothing and outer wear. Some mosquito repellents are effective for two to four hours, particularly products that contain diethyl toluamide.

But once exposed, the best bet is to take a hot soapy bath. After the bath, Blalock recommends an alcohol rub-down. On the welts themselves, calomine lotion may help relieve itching.

People Can't Escape Nature's Radiation

People are bathed in radiation all the time whether they know it or not, but barring a nuclear accident it's mostly natural radiation.

Cosmic rays from space, for example, give a person about 40 millirems a year at sea level, even more at higher altitudes. A millirem is a thousandth of a rem, the standard unit of radiation exposure.

More natural radiation comes from uranium, radium, and thorium in stone, concrete, and soil, as well as radioactive carbon and potassium in the body and in water and food. These sources give the average person a whole-body dose of about a hundred millirems a year.

Besides absorbing natural radiation, many people are exposed to man-made ionizing emissions. Medical diagnostic X-rays, for example, give the average person 70 millirems a year. TV sets and radium-dial wristwatches add perhaps a millirem a year.

From these natural and man-made sources, the average person gets close to 200 millirems of radiation annually, reports Kenneth F. Weaver in a major nuclear energy story in the April National Geographic.

A nuclear reactor, properly operated, adds little to this burden: no more than a few millirems a year for the exposed public. Coal-powered plants emit about the same amount of radioactivity because of radium and uranium in the coal.

But radioactive elements such as iodine 131, cesium 137, and strontium 90—all produced in nuclear reactors—are especially hazardous to man if they get into the food chain, because of biological concentration.

How much radiation does it take to cause harm? Radiobiologists regard a single dose to the whole body of 600 rems—600,000 millirems—as lethal to most people; 100 whole-body rems can cause radiation sickness; 10 can damage the lymph nodes and spleen and decrease the bone marrow and blood cells, although the symptoms are not felt.

A few millirems or even a few rems seem small by comparison, especially spread over a period of time. However, many scientists insist that no radiation level is harmless, and that ionizing radiation is something to avoid if at all possible.

When emissions from radioactive substances enter the human body, they injure cells by ionizing (tearing electrons from) atoms. If the damage is slight, or takes place slowly, the body usually makes repairs. But if damage is great, adequate repairs are impossible and the biological consequences can be severe.

Some of the more extreme consequences are illness, reduced life expectancy, eventual cancer. Or genetic defects may appear in future generations.

Certain parts of the body, such as the gonads, thyroid, and bone marrow, are especially sensitive to radiation. Moreover, some radioisotopes have particular affinities. Strontium 90, for example, is a bone seeker, and iodine becomes concentrated in the thyroid instead of being eliminated.

Vocational Industrial Club In District VII Contest

On March 23 the vocational Industrial Club of Davie High School attended the District VII contest at Surry Community College and Surry Central High School.

There were several contests that were entered by students at Davie High. One of the contests was the opening and closing ceremony. The following students placed fifth in the contest: Dale Carter-president, Gene Walker-vice president, Eric Brown-parliamentarian, Johnny Blackwelder-reporter, Melissa Smith-treasurer, Jenny Smith-secretary, Randy An-person-chaplain.

Another contest that was entered was the "Job Interview". Kathy Keaton placed second in the contest.

Jim Mischler placed first in the "Extemporaneous Speaking" contest. Randy Foster and Keith Craft entered the "Bricklaying" contest.

Michael Allen entered the carpentry contest.

Kathy Keaton and Jim Mischler will attend the state level contest April 27, 28 and 29. The contest will be held at Wilmington, North Carolina.

Scouting News

By Rev. Garold R. Carter

The much used, or overused, objection to becoming an adult leader in scouting, "I wouldn't know what to do", lost much of its effectiveness last week when leadership training was offered to leaders of scouting and cubbing. What's more, leaders and future leaders learned that scouting offers as much fun for grown-ups as it does for the young folks.

Let be begin with the Cub Scout Roundtable which was conducted Monday, April 9. The program was under the direction of Pack 574 with Kathy Sereit and Kitya Slye in charge of the "how to" portion. Enough information was presented to make a den leader cry out for longer meetings.

It all started with a delightful game called "turtle tag" which defies description. The program then moved to a demonstration of various forms of energy which included making things that help us see energy in action. Remember when we used to make "tractors" using a spool, a rubber band, and a stick? I hand't done that in X number of years. That was just one of the many things produced.

Over in "scouters corner" the SLD (Scout Leadership Development) sessions started Tuesday, April 10. This is a program designed to make present leaders better and to make entrance into the role of scout leader easier and much more meaningful. The program consists of several sessions of about 2½ hours and one over-nighter. The next session is scheduled for Wednesday, April 23. There will be a makeup day for anyone who has missed a session. You can still get the training you need. Contact Jimmy McBride at Davie Jewelers for further information.

Cake Decorating Course Offered

Davidson County Community College is offering a course in Beginners Cake Decorations, starting April 26, 1979 at the B.C. Brock Building and will run for 11 consecutive Thurs. afternoons from 1:00-4:00 also there will be evening classes from 6:30-9:30. The instructor will be Ms. Smith.

For more information call Ms. Smith at 998-4082 or the College Office at 634-3415.

Sharing drugs: What to do

Question: Why shouldn't I share left-over prescriptions with another family member? Answer: Not long ago, I heard a rather interesting comment about the "three P's"—that your prescriptions have been prescribed for only one Person (you), for only one Purpose (your good health), and for one Period-of-illness (your current one) . . . and not for any other purpose, period, or person.

Prescriptions are written to counteract your illness, allowing for careful consideration of your physical condition and any known allergies. They're not to be shared, saved, or misused. Always flush left-over medications down the toilet.

Advance News

A large crowd attended the Easter Sunrise Service at the Methodist church Sunday at 8:30 a.m. Also a large congregation attended the 11:00 a.m. worship service, with the church being filled, and with many visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Orrell accompanied their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Ben Owens of Southmont on a 2 weeks vacation to the mid-west. They visited Ben's mother Mrs. Eula Richard in Houston, Texas and toured the Nassau Space Center and the Astro dome. In Galveston, Tex. they visited Marine Land. The group drove to Brownsville, Tex. for a few days. While there they crossed over to Matamoros, Mexico for sight-seeing. On another day they crossed the border into Mexico for a day of shopping. In Hobbs, New Mexico the Owens and Orrells visited Ben's brother Hammet Lee Owens, and in Farmington, N. Mex. they visited Ben's sister Mrs. Tommy Chestnut. Driving into Pueblo, Colorado they toured the southern part of that state. In Oklahoma City, Okla. a tour was enjoyed. Continuing their Southeastern route through Kansas, Missouri and Tennessee the group arrived home last Wednesday.

Mrs. Goldie Neal, her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Adams of Lebanon, Indiana were weekend visitors of Mrs. Neal's sister Mrs. Virginia Cornater.

Mrs. Geraldine Holbert of Albermarle was a weekend guest of her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jones. She was also a visitor at Methodist church services Sunday.

Among the visitors who were attending a Sunrise Service for the first time were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Adams of Ind., Mrs. Geraldine Holbert of Albermarle, and Mrs.

Rommie (Cathy) Barney and daughter Tracy Smith of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Poole's Easter visitors were his brother-in-law and sister Tommy and Margaret Mize of Columbus, Georgia; Mrs. Mize's son-in-law and daughter Mike and Kaye Whaley and sons Tommy and Scotty also of Columbus, Ga. They were visitors at Methodist church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Morris of Louisville, Kentucky arrived Tuesday night to spend a few weeks with her mother Mrs. Virginia Cornater.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zimmerman and Mrs. Walter Shut spent Easter Monday in South Carolina visiting their children and grandchildren Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hendrix, Andrea and Melissa.

Mrs. Doris Potts Gwyn and children Kelly and Melissa of Lexington were Easter visitors of her mother Mrs. Alice Potts. Mrs. Gwyn's son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones and son Sheldon accompanied her on the visit. They were visitors at Methodist church Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Baily celebrated her birthday on April 12. She was treated to a luncheon in a Winston-Salem restaurant by niece Mrs. Katherine Sofley. Others enjoying the luncheon were Mrs. Baily's sister Mrs. Flossie Jones, and two nieces Mrs. Emily Eaton and Mrs. Rachel Cook. Mrs. Baily received many cards and lovely gifts from relatives and neighbors.

Mrs. Stella Foster Phelps of Winston-Salem would like to share some marvelous news with her friends and former neighbors of this community. Mrs. Phelps, who is 77 years old, grew up in Advance and feels very close to the people here. On March 4th she entered McPherson Hospital in Durham for her second eye transplant. She had an eye disease, a deterioration of the cornea, which could not be corrected with glasses or surgery—other than a transplant. Some time ago she had her first transplant which was very successful. When her second eye became badly infected she consulted her physician about the possibility of a second transplant. The Dr. highly recommended it and now Mrs. Phelps has 2 perfect eyes, and she cannot praise it enough—a real miracle to have 2 good eyes! She is the 7th generation with this disease and the first of her family to have transplant. Mrs. Phelps is also a volunteer for the North Carolina Eye Band. She will be glad to talk to anyone desiring information.

Jack Vogler returned to his home last week after undergoing major surgery at the Davie County Hospital. A speedy recovery is wished for him.

Miss Ethel Smith celebrated her 85th birthday on April 9. The Sallie Sue Peebles Sunday School Class gave her a card shower. She received some 35 cards, many phone calls and good wishes. She said it was a wonderful, and a very happy day for her.

Mrs. Grace Spry and her family enjoyed a dinner Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spry in the Sheffield community. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tilley and sons Ronnie and Steve; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Ward; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Spry; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Spry and children Sanya and Micheal of Sheffield and Bob's son Jeffery.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Ward camped at Lake Myers Campground Friday through Monday. They drove to and from all the church services at Methodist church during the weekend. Others from the community who enjoyed a weekend of camping were Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Cornater, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Barney and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Vogler.

Miss Annie Orrell of Winston-Salem spent the past 2 weeks here at the home of her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. John Orrell. She stayed here while they vacationed in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Clayton of Dandridge, Tenn. spent the weekend with her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. George Judd, Jr. and children Karen and Susan.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boger and daughter Jo Ann of Farmington were Saturday night supper guests of Mrs. Boger's mother Mrs. Recie Sheets.

Weekend visitors of Mrs. Recie Sheets were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cornater of Bixby; Mrs. Sadie Gross of Pfafftown, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Gross and sons Scotty and Randy of Asheville.

Mrs. Harvey Hamrick of Chapel Hill spent the Easter holidays with her mother Mrs. Mozelle Rattledge. She attended all the services held at Methodist church Sunday.

Miss Cora Hartman of Pellicare Nursing Home spent Saturday night and Easter Sunday with nieces and nephews, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hutchens and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartman. She enjoyed seeing many other relatives during the weekend.

The Biblical King Solomon had 700 wives.

Beijing China's capital, Beijing, was already an established city called Chi some 31 centuries ago-around the time of the siege of Troy-according to the National Geographic Society. Oil The United States imports some 9 million barrels of oil a day, at an annual cost of about $45 billion a year, National Geographic says. The Department of Energy warns that oil imports may cost the nation $100 billion a year by 1985.

bringing up baby.

Grandparents cherish time with their grandchildren. Sometimes it's even hard to tell who's prouder of a new baby, parents or grandparents.

Grandparents can be a great help to parents, especially to new mothers. Babysitting is a way grandparents share in the excitement and joy of a new arrival, giving their children a break from parenting.

Grandma and grandpa may be surprised at all the new Gerber baby need items not around when their children were small. For example, in addition to baby food, there are now Gerber baby toiletries such as lotion and shampoo, nuder equipment, vinyl pants and bibs, and reasonably priced knitwear. Be sure to consider these conveniences from your supermarket's baby department when it's time for that first babysitting job.

Alcohol Information Report

Questions and answers about the Employee Assistance Program.

What is an Employee Assistance Program (EAP)? An employee-employer benefit program backed by written policy and procedures and designed to identify early, motivate and refer to an appropriate community resource those employees who develop personal-medical problems that contribute to unacceptable patterns of job performance.

How can our company-organization benefit from an effective program? Retention of valuable employees reduces turnover and training costs...Reduction in on and off-the-job absenteeism...Restored production reduces financial losses...Less accidents and benefit claims.

I feel I am doing enough for my employees, why should I consider adopting an EAP?

Employees suffering from emotional disorders, alcoholism and other drug abuse, family-marital and financial-legal problems interfere with productivity. Approximately 25 percent of annual wages and salaries paid to troubled employees (10 percent of employees) are lost due to lower productivity and increased absenteeism. These problems cannot be ignored if profits are to be safeguarded. Protect your most valuable asset - your employees.

Doesn't the "screening" of prospective employees eliminate those with problems?

Initially, it helps, but a national profile indicates that the typical troubled employee is a 35-45 year old married homeowner with two children who has worked for the same company or organization from 8-10 years.

Doesn't an EAP amount to "coddling" the poor performer?

Not at all. An EAP recognizes that any employee may develop a non-job related problem that adversely affects his/her job performance. While management provides employees with an opportunity for assistance, it is still the employee's responsibility to regain and maintain acceptable job performance whether or not the program is used.

What are some of the basic features of the program?

A written policy and procedures cover all the employees...Supervisory documentation of unacceptable work is the sole criterion for identification and program participation...Self-referrals are encouraged...Program orientation for supervisory personnel...On-going consultation services provided...Compliments existing personnel policies...Job security and promotional opportunities are not jeopardized by participating in the EAP.

We are a small operation, wouldn't I know if an employee was developing a severe problem?

Probably not. People are very skilled at concealing their problems, especially if they feel it will protect their job. Supervisors, for a variety of reasons, often assist in "covering up" for troubled employees.

What can I do, as an employer, to insure an effective program?

Demonstrate an ongoing commitment and involvement...Free-up supervisors' time for necessary orientation...Insure proper data collection to measure EAP effectiveness...Determine EAP goals and review objectives periodically.

How many North Carolina companies and organizations have adopted Employee Assistance Programs?

Over 250 programs covering 300,000 employees plus their dependents have been implemented in this state.

You and The Law

Contracts and Credit Almost every adult person makes hundreds of contracts each year. Most of these contracts involve one person buying something from another person. Most of these contracts are oral, that is, the terms of the contract are not written.

Oral Contracts Two important things should be remembered about oral contracts.

The first is that if the price is not mentioned before the deal is made, the law implies the price is the reasonable "fair market value."

The second is that if you buy an item from a person who normally sells the kinds of things that you are buying, the seller warrants that the goods are fit for the ordinary purpose for which they are used, unless the seller tells you that the goods are being sold "as is." On the other hand, if you buy something from a person who is not a dealer in the kind of things you are buying, there is rarely a warranty.

Meaning of warranties will be explained later.

Written Contracts Many contracts, especially those involving large amounts of money, and those involving credit, are in writing. Some contracts must be in writing, especially those involving sales of real property (land and houses), and those involving sales of automobiles.

Written contracts often cause many problems for consumers. The single, most important rule that a person faced with a written contract must remember is to read the contract carefully before signing it. Sales people often look at you funny when you say you want to read the contract before you sign it. Nevertheless, its very important that you understand the terms of the contract before you sign it. If there's a term you don't like or you don't understand, do not be embarrassed about asking about it, because you will be bound by all the terms in this contract for the duration of the contract. Secondly, if the contract is not filled in, don't sign it.

Thirdly, if the contract says something different from what you were told orally by the salesperson, don't sign it. The paper will say the same thing later, but the salesman may not agree that he told you something other than what the paper said and in court, what the paper says usually is what you are bound to. Fourth, if the salesman tells you something in the contract is not important enough to worry about, still don't sign it. If it's not important, it can be crossed out. Fifth, if the salesman tries to rush you in any way, don't sign it. If he says he's in a hurry, that the property is about to be sold by someone else, it's probably a trick. Your greatest power is to walk away.

Credit Many people including poor people buy goods or services on credit, that is they sign a promise in writing to make monthly or weekly payments. Or sometimes they borrow money from a bank or loan company to buy goods or services.

These contracts are always in writing and always involve two things, interest and security.

When you borrow money to buy on credit and promise to make payments, the written contract you sign will require you to pay "interest" also called a "finance charge," which is the extra price you will have to pay for being able to pay in monthly installments. The rate or amount of interest is governed by state law. Second, to secure the creditor, who is selling or lending to you, the contract you sign will include an agreement by you that the creditor has "a security interest" in the property you bought, or in the case of small loans, especially, some or all of your other property. The security agreement is important because it gives the creditor a special right to take your property if you don't pay the money that you owe. Unless you give the creditor permission to take your property, the creditor must go to court first, (but sometimes when the creditor has a security interest in a car and the car is on public streets or in a parking area, the creditor can simply take the car without first going to court).

THE FIRST HELICOPTER FLIGHT OF IMPORTANCE WAS MADE ON JUNE 16, 1922, BY HENRY ADLER BEBLINGER IN COLLEGE PARK, MD. THE CRAFT HAD THREE PROPELLERS WHICH LIFTED IT TO A HEIGHT OF 7 FEET.

TODAY'S ARMY CHINOOK HELICOPTERS CAN CLIMB OVER 2,000 FEET PER MINUTE TO ALTITUDES OF 25,000 FEET CARRYING UP TO 7 TONS!

State Museum Administrator To Speak Here May 3rd

A meeting concerning the Davie County Historical Museum will be held Thursday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of the Davie County Library. The public is invited to attend. The featured speaker will be John D. Ellington, administrator of the North Carolina Museum of History since 1958. A graduate of Duke University, he is chairman of the Technical Services Committee of the Southeastern Museums Council and is also chairman of the Development Committee for this council. In 1977 he was the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award of the North Carolina Museums Council. He is past president of this state organization and served as secretary-treasurer, 1974-1976.

Mr. Ellington is a consultant for the American Association of State and Local Historians and Museum Administration and Interpretation for the AASLH. He is also a consultant for the Western Carolina Heritage Center of Western Carolina University. He is a lecturer, Museology, of Meredith College.

He is a faculty member for the seminar for Historical Administrators, Colonial Williamsburg; East Carolina University Symposium on History and Social Studies; and UNC Charlotte. He is also a faculty member of the seminar on the Interpretation of History by Historic Societies and Museums, Indianapolis, Indiana, and is a member of the American Association of Museums.

Mr. Ellington will outline the needed steps to be taken in organizing and forming a historical museum.

Two Men Pinned In Vehicle After Wreck

Two men were pinned in a 1970 Opel following a wreck Friday about 7:10 a.m. off N.C. 801 near the residence of Lee Seaford, Rt. 2 Advance.

The two men were extricated from the vehicle by Deputy Sheriff Jim Hunter and nearby residents. Two nurses, enroute to the VA Hospital in Salisbury, stopped and rendered first aid prior to the arrival of the ambulance.

Charles Edgar Shoaf, 21, of 300 Forrest Hill Road, Lexington and Paul Stanley Prevette, 20, of Rt. 6 Lexington, were taken to the Davie County Hospital.

State Highway Patrolman W.D. Grooms said his investigation showed that the 1970 Opel, being driven by Shoaf, ran onto the right shoulder in a left curve, went out of control, crossed back over the center line and back to the right shoulder and struck the ditch bank. The vehicle crossed a yard and struck a utility pole with the right passenger area, spun around the pole and came to rest in the yard.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $800 and $50 to tree and yard of Lee Seaford. There were no charges.

Daylight Saving Time Starts Sunday

Daylight-saving time starts Sunday.

The "spring ahead, fall back" rule will mean setting clocks one hour forward at 2 a.m. that day to give an extra hour of daylight in the evenings. Exceptions will be Arizona, Hawaii, most of Indiana, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa.

In Indiana, residents of the six northwestern counties around Gary and the six southwestern counties around Evansville will set their clocks ahead with the rest of the central time zone. Other counties in the state will keep their present time.

In 1966, after a half-century of confusion over what the time was in various localities, Congress passed a law setting daylight-saving time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October.

Since 1920, except during World War II when it was made mandatory, localities had been left to decide whether or not to turn their clocks back and the resulting lack of uniformity caused Congress to act.

Congress, taking a cue from European countries, first passed daylight-saving time legislation in 1918, but it was repealed a year later.

Between 1920 and World War II various states and cities passed their own daylight-saving time, and the practice continued after the war. By 1961, 102 million people in 27 states were adjusting their clocks every spring and fall.

During the 1974 and 1975 energy crunch, daylight-saving time was instituted earlier in the year. It began on Jan. 6 in 1974 and on Feb. 23 in 1975.

Attitudes About Older People Changing, Says N.C. Official In Davie County Visit

By Doug Livengood

"Attitudes are in transition about older people...and the way older persons themselves perceive themselves is changing," observed Nettie D. Ellis, chief of program services for the N.C. Division of Aging, during a visit Tuesday in Mocksville.

She added that because of these changing attitudes and perceptions "aging programs are in transition and we're moving from one set of strategies or programs for older people to another."

Ms. Ellis was in Mocksville to be the keynote speaker at an all-day adult services workshop designed and sponsored by the Davie County Department of Social Services for the purpose of spotlighting the needs and problems of adults in Davie and neighboring counties.

Accompanying Ms. Ellis to Mocksville, and also speaking at the workshop on the subject of adult protective services laws, was Gail Joyner, consultant for the Adult Protective Services Department of the N.C. Division of Social Services.

Local participants in the workshop included staff members of the Davie County Department of Social Services, administrators and other staff personnel of area nursing and rest homes and other professional and interested persons concerned with the care and treatment of older persons in Davie and surrounding counties.

To illustrate her point that attitudes and perceptions about older persons are changing, Ms. Ellis noted that "the stereotype of grandmother in the rocking chair is diametrically opposed to Maggie Kuhn and the Gray Panthers" who are very much activists in their attitudes about aging. Ms. Kuhn has called senior citizens' centers "playpens for older adults."

Remarked Ms. Ellis, "To me this represents a startling change." Not only are the public's views about aging changing, but federal and state lawmakers are also reflecting this change in attitudes by adopting many new laws and revising old laws concerning senior citizens' rights and needs, said Ms. Ellis.

According to her, one of the most important pieces of federal legislation adopted concerning older persons was the Older Americans Act of 1965.

"The real significance of the Older Americans Act was that for the first time in the federal government there was created a unity specially constructed for old people and whose only concern was old people," she said. Ms. Ellis continued by noting that over the years this Older Americans Act has

Commissioners Up Support For Davie County Fire Departments

By Doug Livengood

At its April 16th meeting, the Davie County board of commissioners unanimously voted to increase county aid to each volunteer fire department in Davie from its current $7,000 per year level to $8,000 per year during the '79-'80 fiscal year.

The commissioners took the action at the urging of the Davie County Firemen's Association, which had several representatives at the county board meeting last week.

In addition to raising the level of support for the fire departments, the commissioners also authorized for the next fiscal year increasing the amount of county support for the Davie County Rescue Squad from its present $7,000 per year level to $8,000 per year.

Richard Beck of Cooleemee, one of the spokesmen for the county firemen's association, told the commissioners that the costs for operating a volunteer fire department within the county now runs approximately $18,000 - $20,000 per year. These costs include buying and upkeep equipment and a fire station and necessary insurance.

"It's hard to go to (fire) school once a week and then get out and knock on doors and ask for donations when it's everybody's responsibility in the county, in effect, for fire prevention," remarked Beck. "I just can't really see how we keep the firemen we've got with as much obligation as we're up against today," he added.

Observed Beck, "Our men are so trained today that you're not talking about a bunch of amateurs, you're talking about a bunch of professional firefighters."

Glenn Howard, chairman of the board of commissioners, responded to Beck's comments by saying, "I feel like in Davie County... that our fire departments are so close behind fire departments that have paid employees that stay at the station that there's not that much difference."

Continued Howard, "It makes me feel good to hear over the monitor how quick somebody answers a fire call and how quick somebody is at the fire station."

Tutterow Reunion

The annual Tutterow Reunion will be held Sunday at the Center Community Building with dinner about 12:30. All relatives are invited to attend and bring a basket.

The Tutterows are one of the largest and oldest families in Davie and have blood ties into many more. This week we are featuring a story on the Tutterow lineage. See Page 12.

Beer & Wine Petitions Appear Short Of Needed Signatures

The petitions circulating in Davie County calling for a referendum on the question of legalizing sales of beer and wine within the county are still considerably short of the needed signatures to call for the vote.

Donald M. Hardin of Mocksville, Rt. 5, has turned in to the Davie County Board of Elections about 800 names to be checked for eligibility, of which Mrs. Margaret Shew, elections supervisor for the county, has examined about 400.

Mrs. Shew said last week that she has determined that only about 100 of these 400 names comply with all legal requirements and, therefore, can be counted as bona fide signatures. Hardin needs 2,354 bona fide signatures—20 percent of the county's registered voters—to sign the petitions in order to have the referendum.

About half of the signers rejected were found not to be registered to vote in Davie County, and the other half failed to list on the petition their voting precinct, which is required by board policy and state law.

Hardin has until June 7 to obtain the required number of bona fide signatures.

He is seeking to legalize beer and wine sales both "off premises" (for consumption away from the place purchased) and "on premises" (for consumption on the premises where bought).

Legal sales of beer and wine in Davie County were voted out by an overwhelming vote in 1952.

Lt. Gov. Green To Speak Here May 5

Lt. Governor Jimmy Green will be the featured speaker at the Davie County Farm Bureau Young Farmer and Rancher's Producer-Consumer Day. The day-long event will be held on May 5 at the Masonic Picnic Grounds in Mocksville beginning at 10 a.m.

Also on the program will be William A. Wilder with the Dept. of Consumer Services of the N.C. Dept. of Agriculture.

Activities will include 4-H Clinics, Tractor Driving Contests and Country Music.

The Country Store, a huge success last year, will also be a feature of the day. Handmade crafts, homemade baked goods, pickles, jellies, produce and items donated by merchants will all be on sale.

Milk, ice cream and a lunch of beef barbecue will all be given away free as

Alcohol, Gambling Equipment Seized In Local Raids Friday

Authorities raided three clubs and two homes last Friday and impounded gambling equipment and alcohol.

Five persons were arrested in the raids on charges of possession of alcohol for the purpose of sale, said Jack Marion, district supervisor of the N.C. Alcohol Law Enforcement Division.

Marion said more than a dozen cases of beer, several gallons of liquor, two poker tables and several hundred lottery tickets were confiscated in the raids that took place about 5:30 p.m. last Friday. Marion had 12 agents under his command, along with several deputies of the Davie Sheriff's Department, to conduct the raids at the American Legion Post in Mocksville, the American Legion Post in Cooleemee, the Moose Club in Mocksville, and the homes of Evelyn Campbell and Charles L. Dulin, both of Mocksville.

Mrs. Campbell, 52, was charged with sale of alcohol to an undercover agent and possession of alcohol for the purpose of sale.

Dulin, 50, was charged with selling alcohol to an undercover agent, possession of alcohol for the purpose of sale and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Charles Lee Jordan, 50, of Salisbury Rt. 13, was charged with illegal possession and sale of alcohol and possession of gambling devices after the

Report From Raleigh

by Rep. Ramey F. Kemp

One piece of legislation which I think everyone is probably interested in is commonly called the "Generic Drug Bill." This Bill would allow a physician to prescribe generic drugs of the same quality as brand name drugs. This would mean a substantial savings to those persons who need regular medication. The Pharmaceutical Association is in favor of this Bill, and the Medical Society does not seem to object to it either. This Bill has not been passed yet but appears to have a good chance.

On Thursday, the House passed a bill which is now in the Senate which would give each school teacher a thirty minute period at some time during the day during which time she would perform no duties. This was a good move and appears that it will not cost any additional money.

It was a pleasure to have Mr. and Mrs. Wade Groce for a nice visit on Tuesday. Later in the day, I had the opportunity to chat again with Mr. Groce along with Mr. Bill McDonald. The telephone coop people are vitally interested in several bills which are pending in the Legislature. It is possible that out of this session will come legislation that will make it possible for rural areas that are served by telephone coops to have cable television. This would make television viewing much more selective and, therefore, more entertaining.

We are now beginning to hear that adjournment day will be more like May 28 rather than the middle of the month. It would not surprise me if we continued on into June for a week or two. It seems that the real problem now is that the taxes have not poured in to the same degree that the Appropriations Committee has appropriated money. This naturally will show the process since we will probably have to review everything in the budget. This is not surprising since everyone wants an increase in pay and a decrease in taxes at the same time. I am convinced, however, that this Legislature will continue to work hard until the proper solution is found.

We continue to wish for our friends to visit us in Raleigh. Many have said that they are coming, and we sincerely hope they do.

Commissioners Have Busy Session

Commissioner Lawrence Reavis made the motion to increase the county aid to fire departments and it was seconded by commissioner Charles "Buddy" Alexander and passed unanimously.

In other business at the April 18th commissioners' meeting:

-- The commissioners unanimously voted to have the county expend $50,000 of the school bond interest earnings for the purpose of building a thermal storage unit at one of the two junior high schools now under construction in Davie.

The commissioners gave their approval for the expenditure contingent on the state and federal governments funding the additional $225,000 necessary to build the thermal unit.

James Everidge, superintendent of schools in Davie County, met with the commissioners and told them the utility bill savings at the school chosen to have the thermal storage unit would amount to approximately $1,000 per month, compared to using a standard heat pump heating system.

Also, said Everidge, the thermal unit would have an expected lifetime of operation of 30 years, compared to 15 years for a heat pump. --An appropriation of $16,000, from the county's capital improvements budget, was unanimously approved for the installation of wall covering throughout the Davie County Courthouse.

--The commissioners appropriated $100 per month from court facilities fees for maintenance of the law library in the courthouse.

--The board of commissioners approved a request from Davie County Sheriff George Smith to have the county purchase for his department a needed radio, at a purchase price of $1,451.50. The board also granted the request of the sheriff that one of his department's vehicles have its engine replaced.

--It was the consensus of the commissioners, at the request of Burr Brock, that the county write state representatives Kemp and Varner and solicit their support in gaining $13,500 in additional state funds needed to repair a proposed group home for retarded adults in Mocksville.

--The commissioners approved a rezoning request from Everette Gray McClamrock to rezone from residential-agricultural (R-A) to highway business (HB) a 1.28 acre parcel of land located on Whittaker Road.

been amended numerous times to provide nutritional, transportation, health, legal, welfare and other social service benefits for older Americans.

The State of North Carolina has also been progressive in its statutory attitude concerning older persons, she said. The Division of Aging had its real genesis in the state in 1965 and recent sessions of the General Assembly have brought forth legislation designed to protect and provide for the needs of senior citizens in the state, she reported.

These federal and state laws "will greatly enhance the ability of old people to remain in their own homes longer and to live independently...and deter institutionalization," concluded Ms. Ellis.

Davie Rescue Squad

Host To Area 9

The Davie County Rescue Squad was host to the Area 9 meeting of the N.C. State Association of Rescue Squads, Sunday April 22, at the Squad building on Prison Camp Rd.

Area 9 is composed of 13 counties. There were 22 members present, representing the following squads: Davie, Claremont, Iredell, Maiden, Newton-Conover and Rowan.

Joe Blevins, Director of Iredell County presided, assisted by Andrew Killian, Director of Maiden.

David Yount, vice commander of Newton-Conover, gave the Squads information about training schools and seminars for the members, to be held in the coming months.

Refreshments were served by the Davie County Rescue Squad Auxiliary.

Arts Council Offers $200 Scholarship For Vocal Camp

The Davie Arts Council is offering a $200.00 scholarship to some young person aged 14-20 who would like to attend the 1979 Pfeiffer College Vocal Camp. This camp provides concentrated study in choral singing and, through voice classes, helps establish a vocal technique.

The faculty of this camp is composed of professional musicians trained in the teaching of voice. Each brings a rich background as well as a special talent and love for young people and each is a person widely recognized in professional musical circles.

The Vocal Camp will be held on the 300 acre Pfeiffer College campus which is located on U.S. Highway 52 (between Albemarle-Salisbury) approximately 40 miles east of Charlotte, N.C.

Each camper will want to bring a swim suit, tennis racket, ball glove and camera. Housing will be in college residence halls and meals will be served in the dining room of the Student Center.

Consumer Day

long as it lasts.

Farm equipment ranging from antique machinery to modern equipment will be on display to carry out the theme "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow". Product displays such as feed, fertilizer and flour will be available for the public to view.

Mocksville Radio Station WADSL will be broadcasting live from the grounds. Admission is free and everyone is urged to make plans to attend.

The college snack bar and game room will be open to campers. A varied recreational program will be included.

The Vocal Camp will begin on Sunday, July 15, with registration between the hours of 3 to 5 p.m. Residence halls will close after the evening meal on July 28.

"The Arts Council is delighted to have this opportunity to sponsor one of our young people. The Pfeiffer College Vocal Camp will be an exciting summer experience for some lucky singer," says Martha Kontos, President of the Arts Council.

Any person, ages 14-20 interested in applying for this scholarship should call the Arts Council at 634-3112 for further information.

More Temporary Census Workers Needed In Davie

The U.S. Census Bureau has issued another call for Davie County residents to apply for temporary jobs which are now open.

Temporary census workers usually work three to four weeks each and will be paid on a per-address collected basis. For an eight-hour day, the average worker will earn $27 to $30 per day plus 17 cents-per-mile for any driving done in a private vehicle. Applicants for the jobs must be 18 years old or over, a U.S. citizen, and pass a written test.

The work involves driving or walking to compile lists of addresses of each dwelling unit in designated areas of the county. These address lists will play a vital role in taking the 1980 census. They will be used to produce mailing labels for the census questionnaires to be sent to each household in America on March 28, 1980. Then, a few weeks following the April 1 Census Day, census officials will use the address lists to determine which households have not returned their completed questionnaires. Census takers must then make personal visits to each non-responding household to collect the information required on the census form.

The 1979 address collection activity in the county is part of a Census Bureau program involving 35,000 temporary workers nationwide to compile lists containing approximately 30 million addresses. Another 50 million addresses have been purchased from commercial mailing list companies.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer. County residents interested in applying for the temporary census jobs should contact:

Regional Census Center, Suite 915, 230 S. Tryon Street, Charlotte, N.C. 28202 or call 704-371-6658.

VFW Meeting

A VFW call meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 2, at 8:00 p.m. at the hut. According to Haines Yates, "This is a very urgent meeting and all members that can, should attend."

'Real People' Wanted For TV

The chance to be on national television—or to recommend someone who should be on television—is offered by WXII-TV as "Real People" airs on NBC and Channel 12 Wednesday nights at 8 p.m.

Channel 12's Director of Special Productions, Douglas Bales, says WXII will welcome suggestions by viewers for "Real People" subjects. But no telephone calls please—write to him at WXII-TV, 700 Coliseum Drive, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27106.

The "real people" are just that—ordinary and not-so-ordinary people, interviewed live and on tape by WXII and NBC.

"Real People" is something like "Candid Camera," something like "60 Minutes," but is actually like nothing you've ever seen before," said Bales. "It is basically a humorous approach to a magazine news-type program, with focus on people, places and events. It will also deal with ongoing battles people wage against their daily frustrations."

Some of the upcoming real people subjects will be a Vampire Hunter; a man who has seen 1-inch mini-people from space; a man who went to jail for defying the IRS by refusing to pay taxes on his Irish Sweepstakes winnings; and other eccentrics—serious and frivolous.

N.B.C. producer George Schlatter, of "Laugh-In" fame, says: "We intend to raise the American eccentric to his proper place in the public esteem."

So...if you know anyone who looks at life differently—and who doesn't—now's your chance. Pass the word to Channel 12 TV, and who knows, you may be seeing them, or yourself, on national television on "Real People."

Vehicle Goes Down Embankment Off Road

A vehicle went out of control and ran down an embankment off the Daniel Road April 17th about 5 p.m.

The driver of the 1971 Chevrolet, Jerry Clayton Anders, 18, of Rt. 3 Mocksville, was taken to the Davie County Hospital.

Anders told State Highway Patrolman that as he passed his girl friends house he accelerated the vehicle sharply, lost control, the vehicle careened from the left side of the roadway to the right shoulder, then back to the left, running off the roadway and over an embankment.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1200.

Anders was charged with no operator's license, reckless driving, improper equipment on car, and driving to the left of center.

Seay Convicted Of Embezzlement

Judge Hal Hammer Walker ordered Wayne Seay to spend 60 days in jail last Thursday afternoon after a jury in Forsyth County Superior Court found him guilty of two counts of embezzlement.

Seay is the Winston-Salem financier who has been involved in recent years with numerous Davie County investors in a scheme to set up Sanilator Corp. to manufacture and distribute machines that would be able to convert raw garbage into animal feed.

Although many of the Davie County investors have accused Seay of swindling them out of thousands of dollars during their involvement with Sanilator Corp., the charges he was convicted on last week in Forsyth were in connection with other business ventures he has been associated with in recent years.

Judge Walker sentenced Seay to two years in prison, but suspended most of the sentence. After Seay gets out of the Forsyth County Jail, he will be on supervised probation for a year and ten months, the judge said.

Seay, 61, gave notice of appeal through his attorney, John F. Morrow. Walker set Seay's appeal bond at $2,000. He had been under no bond, Morrow said.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated only about a half-hour last Thursday afternoon before finding Seay guilty of embezzling a $500 check from Inex Poindexter and a $400 check from James E. Belton in April 1973.

According to testimony, Roger Tise, Mrs. Poindexter's son, sold his mother and Belton subscription shares in Salem Properties, a limited partnership for real estate investments. Tise said he turned the checks over to Seay and Robert T. McLawhorn, who has also been indicted on the embezzlement charges.

Seay and McLawhorn were officers of American Marketing Corp., which was to be the general partner of the formation of Salem Properties. Tise worked for American Marketing about a month before McLawhorn fired him, according to testimony.

The limited partnership was never formed, witnesses testified, but neither Mrs. Poindexter nor Belton got their money back.

Seay did not take the stand, and McLawhorn was the only witness to testify for the defense.

After firing Rise, McLawhorn said, he went to see Seay, who was at home sick. They decided to return the money for the subscriptions Tise sold, he said, because they didn't know what Tise had told the investors.

The defense produced a copy of a letter, which McLawhorn said Seay wrote and he mailed, instructing Tise to give his mother the $500 the company had paid him as an advance on sales commissions.

McLawhorn said they placed $500-in cash-in the envelope for Tise to repay Belton and Ernest E. Schwartz, who testified that he paid $100 cash for one share of the proposed limited partnership.

Tise said he never saw the letter. The $500 was half of his $1,000-a-month salary, he said, not an advance on commissions.

McLawhorn said that he sent the letter by registered mail, but that he did not have the receipt. Howard D. Cole, the assistant district attorney in Forsyth County handling the case, questioned why the defense did not use Postal Service records to prove that a registered letter had been sent.

Cole also asked McLawhorn how he had a copy of the letter, but no other records for two corporations and two limited partnerships of which he and Seay were officers. During a pre-trial hearing last year, they said the records were lost when American Marketing was evicted from its office in the Wachovia Building.

McLawhorn, who lives in Newton, said he returned from a trip out of town to find the office locked. Under cross-examination, he admitted he never tried to find out what happened to the records. He left that up to Seay, he said.

dealing, testified that he found only three people—Belton, Schwartz and Mrs. Poindexter—who had invested in the proposed limited partnership.

Cole attempted to show that McLawhorn had vested interest in what happens to Seay. In reply to Cole's questions, McLawhorn said he owns 5 to 6 percent of Sanilator Corporation.

It has been reported that Seay's businesses and complaints against them range through at least nine states. Investors in North Carolina say they have invested more than $400,000 in one of Seay's Sanilator companies.

After examining Seay's criminal record, the judge said, "This is the sort of man I don't know what to do with."

Morrow said Seay served seven months of a two-year prison sentence in Texas after he was convicted on two counts of felonious embezzlement and a charge of selling unregistered securities.

Seay told him he had been pardoned, Morrow said. Though Cole did not deny this was so, he said that he has not been able to document a pardon.

Seay finally rose to speak in his own behalf. He blamed his legal problems on a vendetta by Cole and the newspapers. "There are a number of facets to this," he said. "I have been attacked for quite some time by people since I obtained the parents on the equipment."

Seay said, "We're just going on the market with it."

Sanilator had a prototype of its machine built in Greensboro, he said, and they are being manufactured under contract by a plant in Dallas, Texas.

He also rebutted testimony by District Attorney Donald K. Tisdale, who said last week that Seay told him in a phone conversation in 1976 that he would repay Mrs. Poindexter within 30 days.

"I never told anyone anything that would indicate my personal obligation to anyone," he said. But after sentencing Seay, Walker told him he must repay Mrs. Poindexter within 60 days after he gets out of jail and Belton within 60 days after that.

Davie Represented At Conference On Mental Health

Dwaine Phifer, teacher for the behaviorally handicapped in Davie County attended the Governor's conference on mental health in Durham April 18-20.

Out of this conference, recommendations from a cross section of North Carolinians working in and concerned about mental health were developed. These recommendations will hopefully become part of state policy to promote mental health and aid those with mental illness in obtaining adequate services.

Each participant in attendance joined a Task Force committee in an effort to work out recommendations for various specific areas of mental health.

Phifer worked on the children's Task Force committee and was instrumental in suggesting one of the five proposals that were presented to Governor Jim Hunt at the conclusion of the conference.

"In proposing that North Carolina focus on the children of our state," said Phifer, "it is my hope that they, as the new generation, do not have to face the problems which have burdened so many in the past."

Phifer's proposal to the Governor calls attention to the need for parenting skill training programs in the area of mental health. He also noted that the state needs to offer the support, education and understanding that will foster a loving, caring and responsible parent figure for each child.

Governor Hunt pointed out his personal commitment for the proposal and charged each participant in the conference to work toward this goal.

As a result of the mental health conference, Phifer requests that area citizens and members of the Davie Community join and form a local task force to assess the mental health needs of the area. Anyone interested in joining the committee is urged to contact Phifer by letter at the Davie County Education Building, Cherry Street, Mocksville, N.C.

WEEKLY NEWS...

from Representative James E. Lambeth
North Carolina Legislature, 30th District

North Carolina Legislative Building, Raleigh, N.C. 27611 (919-733-5863)

It was thrilling for us as a recent co-chairman of the Friendship Force in North Carolina to have the opportunity to meet the nation's First Lady Rosalyn Carter and view up close the official send off of the North Carolina delegation to Newcastle-Upon-Tyne, Britishers emplaned for the United States and their destination-the Triangle area of North Carolina for a 10-day visit with Tar Heel families. As a part of the goodwill visit members of the delegation known as the Killingsworth Sword Dancers will perform on the steps of the Legislative Building, Friday.

Running out of fuel is of as much concern to your representatives as it is to you taxpayers, and concern here at the State House has taken the form of a joint resolution of the House and Senate calling for a partial fuel substitute for gasoline. Presently referred to the Senate Rules and Operation Committee, the resolution calls for the Department of Commerce's Energy Division to study the feasibility of producing alternative fuel sources from agricultural and forest products grown in North Carolina. Such a plan is the result of research which has shown that forms of alcohol can be used as a partial substitute for motor fuel and such alcohol can be produced from agricultural products which are grown in the state. Additionally, the production of a gasoline substitute in North Carolina would curtail the state's dependence on external sources for gasoline and could result in a less expensive fuel. Davidson County Sheriff Paul "Jaybird" McCrary and Captain Jimmy Johnson were in Raleigh Wednesday for a meeting of the North Carolina Sheriff's Association. Up for discussion were 13 Bills-the association's project for the year.

A book entitled "Rowan and Davie Counties-Story of Medicine 1753-1976" has been published by the auxiliary to the Rowan-Davie Medical Society.

The 138 page book is devoted to sketches of nearly 448 doctors who have practiced in Rowan and Davie. It also includes a complete history covering the past 200 years of medicine in our area.

Mrs. William M. Long of Mocksville served on the history committee which compiled the bulk of information for the book. Other committee members included Mrs. Roy Agner, Jr., Mrs. Winsel Black, and Mrs. Thomas Thurston II of Salisbury. Mrs. Bob Field of Salisbury served as chairman.

"I suggested compiling a medical history of the area about ten years ago," said Mrs. Long, "but the challenge was not accepted by the auxiliary until 1974."

"Had we known in the beginning what a great undertaking the book would be, the project probably would never have gotten underway," she said.

"But, once we got started the phases of research led us into different areas, and the auxiliary became hooked on the idea publishing the book."

Mrs. Long who formerly served as the N.C. chairman for research and romance of medicine suggested compiling the history while the history while serving this term. She was directly responsible for contributing all information on Davie County medicine included in the book.

The book discusses several historical periods of medicine and one section entitled "The Antebellum Doctor" tells of tools and methods used by doctors in the 1700's to combat disease. The chapter stresses the use of herbs in the early days and noted that when Quinine was not available to fight malaria or typhoid that the bark of the dog-wood tree was substituted. Foxglove was also popular in the treatment of heart disease and 'blood letting' was a common practice of the period.

Diseases and epidemics in early Rowan and Davie Counties consisted mostly of malaria, typhoid, dysentery and small pox. Interestingly enough, winter complaints remain the same in modern times with people plagued with colds, sore throats, influenza, pneumonia and pleurisy.

In 1851 an out break of small pox prompted Rowan officials restrict travel and a $200 fine was imposed on those breaking this law. Cases of small pox were reported in Mocksville, Statesville and surrounding areas, and Rowan residents were forbidden to travel within the restricted areas.

Another point of interest on Davie County medicine included in the book is an excerpt from the book written by Dr. John Robert Lowery. A native of Davie, Lowery opened a hospital in Salisbury in October 1929 which remained in service until November 1947.

Dr. William M. Long is also discussed with his opening of Long's Hospital in the southern Bank Building on Court Square. The 14 bed facility offered obstetric care, minor surgery and remained in service until the mid 1940's when Long was inducted into the Army. The evolution of Davie County Hospital, Health Department and Farmington Medical Center is also an integral portion of the book. Included are photos of the various medical facilities and records of expansion and improvements.

A copy of the book was presented to the Davie County Public Library by Mrs. Long and was placed in the historical section. At present only 500 copies of the book are available for sale. People interested in purchasing the book are urged to contact Mrs. William M. Long.

Benefits Industry
Agriculture and Industry are benefiting from Air Force research and development projects: One program with widespread use is the linear accelerator, which gives kinetic energy to charged particles such as electrons or protons. It is used to mix plastics, thereby improving products. The food industry employs the accelerator for large scale food sterilization and preservation. Metal casting producers use it to detect defects in their products.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

We would both like to thank you for the marvelous article you did on our recent cruise disaster, the Angelina Lauro, which burned in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands on March 30, 1978. The story and pictures published in your edition of April 5 have been widely circulated— even from Florida to New York.

Needless to say our relatives and friends have commented quite favorably on the quick coverage given.

Our heartfelt thanks to all of you, especially Doug Livengood and Garry Foster who did such a good job with our story.

Thanks again for a truly fine hometown newspaper.

Sincerely,
Robert "Bo" and Mona Potts

Dear Editor:

The last few weeks I have been reading the editorial section of your newspaper with increasing interest. Also I see how important words really are when added on or left out.

For instance, one man wrote that a lady implied in her letter that crime began with drinking. Not as I see it. She merely stated that a lot of crime begins with a 6 pak. Not all crime.

There is a big difference I'll say. A lot of people (not all) drink and drive at one time or another in their life, so they have already committed a crime. A small crime but it becomes a big one if an accident is involved.

Need I remind that man that many people received heartaches, suffering even death at the hands of drunken drivers? Not my words but nationwide statistics say that. I know that not all drinking drive are drunk nor are they all involved in accident or crime. But whose to say they that won't ever be? Not one of us knows.

The Bible says "Thou shalt not kill". Well drunk drivers have killed many innocent people as well as themselves. I have two children. Along with all my friends. We have many children all whom we don't want exposed to roadside beer joints and signs. We can't hide it from them, but we also don't have to put it in their lives as everyday thing either. I am raising my children as Christians with love for all people. As our Lord loves us. We don't need beer and wine for Davie County at all. We have done fine so far without it. Oh yes, I use to think beer and wine was fine sure. But that was before the Lord found my heart and opened up my eyes to the truth of supposedly high times. Now when I need a lift I call on my Lord and he always lifts me up on higher grounds. He can do the same for anybody.

As for saving gas. Anybody would be wasting gas for just driving one mile for beer, because it is not a necessity. About the warning labels. Yes, we do need them on all alcohol beverages. Because extreme intoxication can cause death; make you addicted to it or cirrhosis of the liver, can cause accidents due to slow reaction or plain carelessness. All this is plain facts. I could go on but I won't. Please, for our children sakes as well as our, say NO! to beer and wine petitions. We, the people of Davie County have our rights to have a decent town for our children today. Because they're the future of our town. No beer and wine for me.

Thank you
Mrs. Linda Edwards

The Davie County Association of Retarded Citizens held Special Olympics for the retarded youth on Saturday morning, April 21, at 9:30.

The only picture taken was by a Salisbury newspaper man.

We the parents of some of the children feel that it is a shame that the hometown newspaper did not have a representative there to take pictures and write a nice article that we the parents could keep. This is a big event to these children.

Dear Editor:

Due to the recent nuclear power plant accident in Harrisburg, Pa., I think we, the people of Davie County, have had a chance to express our feelings about the proposed Perkins Plant.

The same type of accident could happen here in Davie County and we should know more about nuclear power if we don't want this same threat hanging over our heads.

Thank you,
Mrs. Sherry Franco

Dear Editor:

The 1st annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Mocksville Recreation Dept. was a big success. Approximately 100 children enjoyed hunting the candy eggs, winning the lucky egg prizes and petting the live rabbits. I really appreciate the co-operation of the local merchants that donated the prizes for the hunt.

I would like to thank the following for their donations: The Discount House, Taylor Gift Shop, Don's Jewelry and Music, P.B.'s Hobby Shop, Hall Drug Co., Davie Jewelers, Foster's Watch Shop, C.J. Angell Jewelry and Appliance, Super Dollar, Davie Sport Shop, Firestone, Rintz's 5-10, Wilkins Drug, and Sue Riddle.

These contributions added greatly to the success and happiness of the children that participated in this years hunt.

Dear Editor:

It was such a pleasure for me to receive my Home-Town paper, that I just had to write and thank you.

It had been almost seven years since I have had the pleasure of reading the Enterprise Record, due to the misfortune of being in prison here at Avon Park, Florida. To me you still have one great Newspaper, and I know you and your staff will continue to please the public.

Wish I could afford a subscription, but due to my misfortune I can't at the present time. If you happen to have any extra, I will sure appreciate them.

Thanks again to you and your wonderful staff.

Legislative Report

By Senator Robert Davis

Since 1963, North Carolina's community college system has grown to 57 institutions across the state. Practically 100 percent of the state's population lives within easy commuting distance of at least one technical institute or community college.

During this period of amazing growth, the system has been under the able guidance of the state Board of Education.

The state Board of Education has shown great leadership in helping the community college system and its officers adapt to the original goals set forth by the General Assembly. The primary goal at that time was to provide vocational and technical training in local communities for high school graduates. Graduates who could not or did not wish to seek a college degree.

Such vocational and technical training

Davie Hairdressers Have Meeting

The Davie County Hairdressers met Monday night at the Davie County Public Library.

Paul Bowman, president of Bowman's Supply Company, presented Carol Bray as guest artist. Mrs. Bray performed four haircuts and talked about the particular features of each model and the haircut she was using.

Mr. Bowman spoke to the association about the importance of professional hairdressers maintaining membership in an association. Mr. Bowman emphasized that associations serve members as learning tools, promotes communication, and acts as a protecting agency for all hairdressers.

The association members present voted to reestablish the local hairdressers as a county organization. It was felt by all the members that a local association could provide better for the needs of all the hairdressers in the county. Dues were set at $7.50 for shop owners, and at $5.00 for operators and students.

Plans were made for an installation banquet on Monday, May 14th, (time and place will be announced). A guest artist will perform at the June meeting. Any hairdresser interested in joining this worthwhile professional organization should contact Debbie Chaffin or any member of the Davie County Hairdressers Association.

Leroy Parris of Rt. 7, Mocksville is pictured above with the 35lb. catfish, which he caught out of the Yadkin River last Easter Monday. The big "cat" which Mr. Parris says was too large for his net, was reeled in near the Salisbury pumping station on 8th. test line. (Photo by Garry Foster) remains as the primary purpose of the community college system.

With Governor Hunt's "balanced growth program" for North Carolina, the success of the community college system becomes even more important. Essentially, balanced growth means bringing jobs to the people rather than the people being forced to leave their homes and travel to the metropolitan centers to find employment.

Higher paying employment demanding higher skills.

In order to lure "clean" industries with higher salaries, we must continue to offer vocational and technical training in the rural areas of our state.

Currently, there is a bill before the Senate Education Committee which would re-emphasize and place even more importance on the community college system of North Carolina. Senate Bill 266 would create a state Board of Community Colleges and Technical Institutes.

The Board would consist of 15 voting members as well as the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House of Representatives, and the treasurer of North Carolina, as ex officio, nonvoting members. The governor would select eight of the fifteen while the General Assembly, by joint resolution, would select the remaining seven.

I personally believe the proposed board could serve our state well by offering greater directions and keeping closer tabs on our community colleges and the programs they offer.

In addition, the board could also contribute further input of the growing liberal arts course offerings of the community colleges. These courses can often give local students the option of trying transferable university credits without the expense of attending a major university.

With the physical facilities already available, there is no reason why this valuable service cannot continue.

Still, the central emphasis must remain with vocational and technical training for young people throughout North Carolina to prepare them for worthwhile and profitable employment.

A state Board of Community Colleges and Technical Institutes is a part of that emphasis.

Mrs. Minnie Allen Decides To Keep Grocery Store

As a result of the feature story on Clarence and Minnie Allen of Cooleemee three weeks ago, Mrs. Allen says they have decided against phasing out their little grocery business, which was originally planned for May 1st.

"We had such tremendous response from our neighbors and friends offering their help that we plan to try to keep the store open another three years . . . and we will have 50 years in business," said Mrs. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen are both plagued with ill health, but after much thought and consideration feel they would "miss everybody too much and it would be too lonely without the little store."

"We have been swamped with calls," she said, "our friends offering to help in the store if we remain open."

Mrs. Allen added that because of health reasons they were forced to sell their car and many other things . . . and closing the store would seem even more confining. She says they have decided to keep it open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. each day for the time being.

"We even received a copy of the story, encased in plastic from Branch Bank & Trust Company and we are so proud of it."

Mr. and Mrs. Allen opened the little grocery store on the Gladstone Road, Cooleemee in March, 1933 and some years later added her flower shop.

Nuts

Ever buy nuts for a special recipe and then have a small leftover?

These leftovers can be used to make everyday dishes special, say North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service specialists.

Add chopped nuts to sour cream topping for potatoes, to ground meat for hamburgers or meat loaf, to scrambled eggs, pancake batter, soft ice cream or applesauce.

Texan Given Sentence For Credit Card Spree

A 36-year-old Texas man who took Rebecca Ann Bane, 16, of Bermuda Run on a cross-country spending spree last year that was financed with her parents' credit cards pleaded no contest in Davie County Superior Court last Wednesday and was given a suspended sentence.

Donald McAnally of Austin, Texas, had been bound over for trial on felony charges in connection with use of the credit cards, which Miss Bane had removed from her mother's handbag before they left on the trip that ended up in California last fall.

McAnally pleaded no contest to four counts, and Judge John D. McConnell of Southern Pines gave him three years, suspended for three years on condition that McAnally abide by terms of probation, make restitution for the money spent and pay court costs.

McAnally has been in jail since he was returned to Davie County several weeks ago. His attorney told McConnell that the defendant is expecting some money from Austin that will enable him to make restitution and pay court costs.

McConnell ordered that the attorney, once the funds have been received, personally escort McAnally to a bus station, buy the defendant a ticket to Austin, and make sure he boards the bus.

Miss Bane testified at the probable-cause hearing in Davie District Court in February that she met McAnally by chance in Winston-Salem last August, became infatuated and decided to run away with him. She said they planned to get married.

But, she testified, she grew tired of their lifestyle and telephoned her parents. "I am no longer in love with him," Miss Bane said.

In another case, McConnell declared a mistrial involving an armed robbery charge against Steven A. Puckett, 24, of Winston-Salem, after inadmissible evidence was inadvertently disclosed to prospective jurors.

Puckett is accused of robbing Mrs. Thelma Plemmons of Wyo Road at gunpoint last April. One juror told McConnell that the evidence he had heard had prejudiced his thinking.

McConnell ordered that Puckett await trial on the armed-robbery charge at a later term of Davie Superior Court.

Stock Seminar Thursday

Interested people are invited to attend the Davie County Public Library's one-night Seminar on the stock market and investing Thursday night April 26 at 7:30. Mr. Ben Browder of Interstate Securities in Winston-Salem will conduct the workshop for the beginning investor or the curious onlooker.

Various investment aids in the library will be covered and any questions from participants will be answered. Refreshments will be served afterwards. Please call the library at 634-2023 so that the group size can be anticipated.

$500 Given To Cancer Fund

A progress report on the Davie American Cancer Society Unit's 1979 educational and fund-raising Cancer Crusade which began on April 1 shows a total of over $500 having been contributed so far towards the $1200 quota for 1979.

"We hope to do better," said Roy Cartner, president of the Davie County Unit, "as everyone knows, the cost of everything including research - is going up. The American people have invested so greatly in the fight against cancer and we have made such progress that we can't stop now."

Today, there are an estimated three million Americans who have a cancer history, and some two million are five years past original diagnosis and treatment. In the early 1900's very few cancer patients had any hope for cure. In the 1930's, less than one-in-five were alive five years after treatment. In the 1950's, it was one-in-four. "Today, we are able to save one out of every three cancer patients which means that from the 1950's to 1979 we have advanced enough to save about 58,000 more people each year.

Thanks to the support of research and continuing education for medical professionals, modern cancer treatment is quite different from the past. "A major trend today is the use of teamwork to give the patient the best possible combination of different therapies including surgery, radiation, drugs. There are new insights into how blood component therapy and special nutritional boosters can be valuable additions to therapy. And, due in part to the efforts of the American Cancer Society, there is a growing recognition of the emotional and economic needs of the cancer patient. It is just not enough to save a life, it is the responsibility of everyone to help make that life positive and rewarding," Cartner said.

"The annual ACS Cancer Crusade now taking place during National Cancer Control Month helps make progress possible. If you have already contributed, you have our thanks," Cartner said. "If you haven't, please give what you can because our goal is your goal—a world free of cancer."

Checks can be made to: American Cancer Society, and sent to: Miss Cornelia Hendricks, treasurer, Davie ACS, 811 Park Avenue, Mocksville, N.C. 27028.

Vehicles Collide

Two vehicles were involved in a collision Saturday about 10 a.m. on the Farmington Road, 8.1 miles east of Mocksville.

Involved was a 1967 Chevrolet operated by Grady Holden Smith, 80, of Rt. 2 Mocksville and a 1976 Ford operated by Linda Johnston Strader, 31, of Rt. 5 Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman J.L. Payne said his investigation showed that Smith was pulling out from a private drive, attempting to cross road into another private drive, and failed to see the Strader car as it was passing and ran into the side of the Strader vehicle as it went by.

Damage to the Smith vehicle was estimated at $200 and $800 to the Strader vehicle.

N.C. Symphony To Play Here May 11

Michael Ma, a violinist, will be the soloist for the North Carolina Symphony concert in Mocksville on Friday, May 11. Artistic Director and Conductor John Gosling will conduct the orchestra for the 8 p.m. concert in Martin County Auditorium.

Michael Ma, who studied with Ivan Galamian at the Curtis Institute and with Jascha Brodsky at the New School of Music in Philadelphia, is currently in his second season as assistant concertmaster of the North Carolina Symphony. He was the first Taiwanese student allowed to leave the country for study in the U.S. before first completing the required educational and military obligations of Taiwan.

Formerly the concertmaster of the Lancaster (Pa.) Symphony, the York (Pa.) Symphony, and the Lake George Opera, Ma was also the principal violinist with the Philadelphia Opera and the Santa Fe Opera Orchestra.

John Gosling, who will conduct the orchestra, is currently serving his seventh season as artistic director and conductor. He led the orchestra in its critically-acclaimed concerts in New York's Carnegie Hall in March 1977, in Washington's Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in April 1978, and in Chicago's Orchestra Hall in October 1978.

Maestro Gosling has appeared as guest conductor with a number of orchestras, including, most recently, the Symphony of Puerto Rico. He will also conduct the Miami Philharmonic in May 1979.

Admission to the concert is by season membership ($5. for adults) or single admission tickets which are $6. for adults and $3. for students. Both will be available at the door. Symphony subscribers from other communities may purchase tickets for $3.

This is the only concert performed by the symphony in Mocksville this season.

Having won acclaim from critics in both New York, Washington, D.C., Chicago and North Carolina, the North Carolina Symphony is the only major orchestra between Atlanta and Washington, D.C. Performing concerts to adult audiences and educational matinees for N.C. school children, the orchestra and its ensembles travel more than 19,000 miles each year and play to audiences totaling more than 280,000 people.

For more information about the Davie County Chapter of the symphony, contact Mike Hendrix, chapter president at 284-2366.

Yadkin Valley Telephone Annual Meeting Is Saturday

Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation's 24th Annual Membership Meeting will be held Saturday, April 28, 1979 at the Yadkinville School.

The program includes business reports, election of directors, old and new business and free door prizes.

Seven members will be elected to serve as Board of Directors of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation. A nominating committee has nominated the following candidates: Iredell Area: Homer C. Myers, Jr. and Kenneth Perry Cartner

West Yadkin Area: Dale W. Thomasson

East Yadkin Area: Clint C. Poindexter and Charles I. Miller

Davie Area: Wade Groce and Harvey L. Gobble

Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation with assets of $15,453,192.00 serves 13,642 members in Yadkin, Davie, Iredell, Wilkes, Rowan and Alexander Counties. 5,861 members are served in Davie County from three modern dial telephone exchanges: Advance Exchange, Cooleemee Exchange and IJames Exchange.

Wade I. Groce, President of the Corporation, urges all members to attend the meeting and take an active part in planning for future operations and development of their telephone cooperative.

"A cooperative must have the active interest and support of its members to be successful and the Board of Directors join me in urging members to meet with us Saturday," President Groce said.

Other officers and directors are Dale W. Thomasson, vice president, Homer C. Myers, Jr., secretary and treasurer, Harvey L. Gobble, K. Perry Cartner, Clint C. Poindexter and Charles I. Miller, directors. A. William McDonald is manager of the cooperative.

Directors are elected to serve one year term in office or until their successor takes office.

Registration of members will begin at 1 p.m. and close at 2 p.m. Only members are eligible for door prizes and must be present and register to win a prize.

To celebrate their 75th Anniversary, Kingsdown is making a special commemorative set of bedding: the Diamond Edition.

Seventy-five years of experience and skill have combined with the latest technology to make the Diamond Edition to specifications found only in higher-priced bedding.

There are four separate layers of special insulation featuring Flexatron™ to provide surface comfort and deep-down firmness. A 312-coil, heavy-gauge unit with easy-to-flex, sagless construction. For edge-to-edge comfort, a heavy borderwire. And a multi-coil foundation with platform-top construction for added comfort and durability.

All tucked in under an elegant blue damask, quilted in a beautiful, decorative pattern.

Because the Diamond Edition is commemorative and will be produced in great volume, we can make it available at once-in-a-lifetime savings.

But the Diamond Edition will be offered only during Kingsdown's 75th Anniversary celebration.

So buy now. Then enjoy something that'll make you look and feel better than a 10-karat diamond.

A good night's sleep.

'The Troubadour' To Appear Here Monday Evening

An evening of singing, instrumental music and the portrayal of life in Sixteenth Century England can be seen and heard on Monday evening, April 30 from The Troubadour.

Elegantly and authentically clothed, framed in a simple, but richly period setting, singing and reciting and performing on six different Renaissance instruments, Nicholas Edward Hodsdon is The Troubadour, and audiences soon become entranced Elizabethans, caroling along on the refrains, laughing at the tales of the court of their fascinating queen.

Mr. Hodsdon holds masters degrees in both music, through Columbia University, and theology, through Union and New York Theological Seminaries, and is a much published composer and author. Between engagements by the U.S. Department of the Interior as lutenist-in-residence at Fort Raleigh National Historic Site, he brings to the stage, school or concert hall a thoroughly researched performance which sparkles with the life and times of the court of an extraordinary woman who gave her name to an era, and brought England into prominence among the states of Renaissance Europe.

The days of Elizabeth I were days of excitement, when everyone sang and played and danced, when elegant and brilliant gentlemen vied for the favor of their queen, and the life at her court radiated with her energy, her sense of fun, and the turbulence of her times. The Troubadour brings this period to life for people who live Renaissance music as well as for people who may never have heard of Elizabethan England. He reacquaints 20th-century ears to the sound of lute, psaltery, recorder and lute pipe. Listeners delight in the zest and authenticity of this combination of concert performance and audience involvement -- a truly Elizabethan experience, for old and young together.

This program will be held, free of charge to the public, on Monday evening, April 30, beginning at 8:15. It is sponsored by the Davie County Arts Council and will be held at the Public Library on North Main Street. This project is supported by the Grassroots Arts Program of the North Carolina Arts Council, a state agency.

Danny Franklin Smith of Mocksville has been selected to appear in the 1978-79 issue of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The honor is conferred annually upon student leaders from approximately 1000 colleges and universities in the United States. In selecting candidates, campus nomination committees are instructed to choose students whose academic standing, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential are decidedly above average. Smith, a senior majoring in social science at Campbell College, is a Dean's List student and a member of Epsilon Pi Eta Honor Society. He has been active in the Baptist Student Union, Alpha Phi Omega (service fraternity), and the Social Science Club. A member of Campbell's Sunlight Singers, he has participated in dramatic productions of the college, and he is an announcer for WCCE (90.1 FM), the campus radio station. A graduate of Davie County High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K.E. Smith of Route 2, Mocksville.

"We should all be concerned about the future because we will have to spend the rest of our lives there."

Getting old is sometimes hard to accept. Even though you don't like to think about it, it's a fact of life. But how you will live in your "golden years" is your own choice. And yours alone.

Soaring inflation has made retirement for many people a time they dread. Statistics show that pension income and social security benefits combined are often less than half the income a person has been accustomed to making. For many, it's not enough. And every year your dollar buys less and less. It's a scary situation.

At The Northwestern Bank, we think tomorrow should be better than today. But the decision to start saving now is yours. We're here to help make your retirement years more comfortable and worry-free. Because after all, they should be the best years of your life.

It's time to get serious about saving.

Triad Corvette Club Has Special Display

This year at the annual Hospital auxiliary car show, the Triad Corvette Club exhibited a special display of club members cars.

In order for a club to have a special display at the annual show, the sponsors must be assured of having at least 10 cars present from the particular club. This year the Corvette Club arrived in some 23 vehicles.

The Triad Corvette Club is sponsored by Parks Chevrolet of Kenersville and has 65 members with 70 different cars. Models range from 1954, the year of the first "vette", to the present 1979 production Corvettes. The club, which meets twice monthly, accepts members owning any type of Corvette, whether it be stock, custom, or modified production.

This customized 1965 Corvette was one representative of the Triad Corvette Club on display at the hospital auxiliary car show Sunday. (Photo by Garry Foster)

THERE'S A NEW TIME COMING...

NOW'S THE TIME TO MOVE UP TO THE LUXURY OF CHRYSLER NEWPORT.

Now's the time to get overall value with Chrysler Newport, too. It's a whole new car that gives you so much for your money.

Consider Newport's luxury appointments and mileage estimates as a move up from the others. You get spacious interior dimensions with more shoulder room than many other cars in its class. Plus you get very good mileage estimates.

Newport offers you so much!

- Newport features unexcelled Chrysler engineering.
- Newport adds on comfort with its torsion-bar suspension.
- Newport uses galvanized steel for greater rust and corrosion protection.

Test drive a Newport and see for yourself that Newport really is a step up to luxury.

High school juniors became Peace College students April 6-7 during the college's Visitation Weekend. Attending the program from this area were Celeste Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Martin, Jr., of 718 Magnolia Avenue; and Karen Swicegood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Swicegood of Route 7, both of Mocksville. They are rising seniors at Davie High School. The visitors got an intimate look at the Presbyterian junior college for women. For 24 hours they "lived" in a residence hall. They mingled with students, attended classes, toured the campus and enjoyed recreational activities including swimming, basketball, and volleyball. They attended a worship service led by Chaplain George A. Thomas in historic Dinwiddie Chapel and later saw "It's a Small World," a water ballet presented by the Peace Porpoise Club. The visiting juniors were officially welcomed to campus by Sarah Armstrong of West Point, N.Y., president of the Peace Student Government Association, and Dr. D. David Frazier, Peace president.

Miss Carolyn Cogdell, assistant director of admissions, coordinated the weekend program. Assisting her as Big Sisters were Peace students Debbie Akin of Greenville, Chris Clark of Raleigh, Mary Cole of Henderson, Beth Gray of Mooresville, Gaye Griffin and Donna Mobley, both of Williamston, Loulie Henderson of New Bern, Stacy McCullough and Karen McNeil, both of Charlotte, Sheila McDevett of Washington, Kathy Miller Wilmington and Alice Roberts of Asheville.

MRS. STEPHEN REID LATHAM

...was Vickie Diane Cartner

Cartner-Latham Vows Spoken

Miss Vickie Diane Cartner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cartner of Route 1, Mocksville, and Stephen (Steve) Reid Latham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Latham of Route 2, Mocksville, were married Saturday, April 21, at 7 p.m. in a candlelight service at Society Baptist Church in Statesville, N.C. The Rev. Neal Eller officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Lee Dyson, organist; Mary Ann Swisher, pianist; and Lou Ann Eaton, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Tony Cartner, wore a gown of white organza designed with a Queen Anne neckline edged with Alencon lace with pearls and long sheer cuffed sleeves. The bodice had an overlay of lace embellished with pearls, and the skirt was enhanced with three wide ruffles edged in lace and extending into a chapel length train. Her waltz length veil of silk illusion was encircled with lace and secured to a lace and pearl covered cap. She carried a white Bible topped with white roses and baby's breath. Her only jewelry was her mother's necklace and earrings. Matron of honor was Mrs. Jackie Steele, bride's sister, of Cleveland, N.C. Bridesmaids were Kathy Boger, bridegroom's sister of Mocksville, Kathy Sofley of Advance, Angie Cornatzer of Advance and Margaret Lakey of Mocksville. They wore identical dresses of blue print polyester crepe designed with empire waist, sweetheart neckline, sheer sleeves and a three tier skirt. They carried long stemmed pink roses with baby's breath and pink streamers. Christy Steele of Cleveland, N.C. was flower girl.

Dale Latham was his brother's best man. Ushers were Johnny Boger, Dwight Cassidy and Dennis Cartner of Mocksville; David Steele of Cleveland. The guest register was kept by Linda Comer.

Mrs. Blake Denniston directed the wedding.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cartner wore a light blue knit formal dress designed with a high neckline and elbow length split sleeves. Her corsage was of white rose buds. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink polyester crepe formal dress embroidered with seed pearls at the neckline. Her corsage was white rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Davie County High School and is employed by Foster-Rauch Drug Company in Mocksville. The bridegroom graduated from Davie County High School in 1970. He is employed by Ingersoll-Rand Company in Mocksville. After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the couple will make their home on Route 2, Mocksville.

CAKE-CUTTING
Following their wedding rehearsal Friday evening, April 20, the couple were entertained with a cake-cutting at Center Community building. Hosts were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cartner.

The bride's table was covered with a pink underlay with lace. At one end of the table was a three tier wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and groom, pink roses and blue forget-me-nots. The cake was baked and decorated by Agnes Wooten.

Assisting in serving refreshments of wedding cake, punch, nuts, cheese straws and pickles were Louise Dell and Peg Angell of Mocksville, aunts of the bridegroom; and Evelyn Seamon of Kannapolis, N.C. aunts of the bride. Greetings and goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cartner.

BRIDE'S LUNCHEON
Mrs. Blake Denniston and Mrs. Gordon Ruby were hostesses to a bridal luncheon at the Denniston home in Southwood Acres, Saturday, April 21, at noon.

Guests were seated at two tables that were covered with white cloths and centered with spring flower arrangements.

The menu included cranberry juice cocktail, stuffed cabbage rolls, asparagus with hollandaise sauce, frozen fruit salad and lemon chiffon pie. The couple chose this occasion to present gifts to their attendants.

SPAGHETTI SUPPER
Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Latham entertained their son, Steve and his fiancée, Dianne Cartner with a spaghetti supper at their home on Route 2, Mocksville, Wednesday evening, April 18.

Guests attending were members of the wedding party and their guests. Special guests were the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cartner and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seamon, the groom-elect's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Renegar. Places were set for twenty-five.

Reeves Reception
The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Reeves is extending an invitation to friends for a reception in their honor, Sunday, April 29, from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. at the Sheffield community building. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

MRS. DONNIE ALLEN JR.

...was Teresa Lynn Gebe

Gebe-Allen Vows Are Spoken

Miss Teresa Lynn Gebe became the bride of Donnie Allen, Jr. in an outdoor wedding at the home of the bridegroom, Saturday, April 21, at 3 p.m. The Rev. John Enloe of Turrentine performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Jack R. Gebe of Kingsport, Tenn. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Allen of Mocksville.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mickey Wall, wore a full length dress of white eyelet designed with a full gathered skirt. Her square neckline, midriff and bell sleeves were trimmed in lace and her veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a diamond necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. Bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Allen and Miss Marsha Allen. They wore street length dresses of blue giana and carried a long stemmed pink carnation. Master Bobby Gebe served as ring bearer.

Don Allen was his son's best man. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Peggy Galther, who sang, "You Light Up My Life" and "The Wedding Prayer", accompanied by Mrs. John Enloe on the piano.

After May 5th, the couple will be at home on Route 7, Mocksville.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the home, for the wedding party and guests.

The bride's table was covered with an imported cloth and centered with an arrangement of white dogwood and pink azaleas with lighted pink tapers on either side. At one end was a three tiered wedding cake, and a silver bowl of punch. Assisting in serving refreshments consisting of cake, punch, mints and peanuts were Mrs. Nancy Allen, bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Barbara Eldridge, bridegroom's aunt and Mrs. Bettina Wall, bride's sister-in-law.

Redland Homemakers Meet With Mrs. Funderburk

The Redland Homemakers held their April Meeting with Mrs. Marian Funderburk.

Mrs. Margaret Maready, Health Work Committee Chairwoman, presented a program of self-evaluation entitled "You Know How You Feel, Everyone Knows How You Look." It has been proven that postural laziness affects many people-physically and emotionally. After exercises were demonstrated and techniques were discussed, everyone was urged to work toward protecting their most valuable asset-good health. Posture and health is a personal matter.

Mrs. Betty Sprinkle gave the highlights on an article prepared by F.J. Wagner, Ext. Human Development Specialist, on "Women, What Are We Doing With Our Freedom". Due to the "marvelous" servant, electricity, everyone has more time to be involved in professions and activities. There is a freedom of choice as to how we can use our material possession, knowledge, skills talents, and energy regardless of race, religion, creed and sex. The questions put to us were: Are we involving ourselves with persons who have special needs? Are we making use of this freedom through acts and deeds to meet human needs? The Tutterows Of Davie County

By Gordon Tomlinson

A news account concerning the Tutterow reunion in 1941 in Davie County termed the family of Mrs. Henry F. Tutterow as "the largest family in Davie, if not the state."

There were 13 children in this family, 11 of which were living at the time of the 1941 event. A newspaper article said that Mrs. Tutterow had 146 living relatives by blood and marriage, 142 of whom gathered for the reunion.

And, at that time, if this family was not numerically superior they could also challenge with another aspect of size—each of the 11 children, except one, weighed over 200 lbs.—causing one member of the family to lovingly dub them: "A ton of Tutterows."

However, this is only one branch of this family that can trace its roots back to the 1700's in Maryland when the name was "Dutrow."

The Tutterows of Davie County can date their ancestry back to Belsar Dutrow of Frederick, Maryland. A will, dated February 22, 1801, had Belsar Dutrow bequeathing to his five children—Jacob, David, Catherine, Barbara and Elizabeth certain property, all of which agrees with the Tutterow records. These same pieces of land were deeded to Belsar Tutterow, January 12, 1785, on Bear Creek, Forks of the Yadkin, 240 acres.

The Dutrow migrated from Maryland to the south, settling in Rockingham, Virginia, near Harrisonburg. Belsar, who had married a German, Elizabeth Schelgeln, with his group in the German colonies, moved on further south through the Valley of Virginia towards Winston-Salem into the territory of what is now Davie County.

David Tutterow, a son of Belsar, on October 29, 1811 was granted a license to marry Ruth Bradley. He was also made a trustee of Center Church when it was formed in 1831. Deeds on file in Rowan County also show David Tutterow purchasing lands from Richard Leach in June 1803 and from Richard Jonas in April 1815.

David Tutterow and Ruth Bradley had seven children: William W. Tutterow married Mary Diggins; Jacob Tutterow married Catherine Flowers; Thomas P. Tutterow married Mary Foster; Bradley Tutterow married Polly Madden; Linda Tutterow married Moses Boger; Lucinda Tutterow remained single; Matilda Tutterow married Jacob Smoot and moved to Illinois.

David Tutterow and his wife are both buried at Center.

The third son of David and Ruth Bradley Tutterow was Thomas P. Tutterow. He was born May 7, 1821 and died May 5, 1872. He was married to Mary Foster. They had two children: William D. (Bud) Tutterow, born 1859, whom married Jane Stewart and Henry F. Tutterow (June 1861-1926) who married Elizabeth Arrington. To this union was born 13 children referred to in the beginning of this story. These were:

Edra Green, married William Gregory; Elizabeth Green, who died October 22, 1931; Colon Green, not married; Marie Green, married Craig Hanes; Bernice Green, married George Sanders; Bobby Green, married Diane Howard; Shirley Ann Green, married Bud Stroud; Kenneth Green, married Naomi Bassinger; James Green, married Elouise Williams; Wayne, married Lois Hamilton.

Now let us begin with the fourth son of David and Ruth Bradley Tutterow: This son, named for his mother, was County since 1944; Catherine Tutterow, who died during World War I at about two years of age.

Berry Tutterow, son of Bradley and Polly Madden Tutterow, married Mary Horn. They are buried at Chestnut Grove. Five children were born to this union:

Frank Tutterow, married Loucetta White, one son—Linnie Tutterow; Lillie Tutterow, mother of Dewey Tutterow; Ossie Tutterow, married Frank White; Mattie Tutterow, married Richard B. Stevenson; John N. Tutterow, married Carrie Smith.

Jacob Tutterow, the second son of David Tutterow and Ruth Bradley, married Catherine Flowers. Their children were:

George W. Tutterow who was blacksmith for the county; Samantha who married Henderson Caudell and lives in Forsyth County, children—Ellen married a Flowers, Dora, Clara and John, William D. Tutterow, born in 1846, married Susan Arrington, both buried at Ijames Church; and John V. Tutterow.

George W. Tutterow, who served as blacksmith for the county. He married May F. Watts and lived along the present US 64 highway above Center. Their children were:

Lee Tutterow who married a Clary. Their children were Flake, Clyde, Emma who married a Laphis, and Cora who married a Richardson.

John Tutterow married Lizzie Shore.

Luke Tutterow And His Mystery Gifts Of Clothing

(Editor's Note . . . The following is the copy of a story and picture appearing in the Winston-Salem Journal just after Christmas in 1937.)

Mystery this week still shrouded the identity of "the unknown" who began in 1935 to send Christmas gifts of Lilliputian clothing to Luther "Luke" Tutterow, 275-pound chairman of the Davie County board of commissioners.

Lacking only a hat, shirt and shoes, the miniature wardrobe was one step nearer completion today after Saturday night's annual community Christmas tree at Center Methodist Church. When distribution of the gifts began, a tiny vest and an equally small pair of red knitted socks were found dangling on a limb for the "head man" in Davie's county government system.

"I've been trying ever since it started to find out who's sending these things. Sometimes I think I have a pretty good idea. Then again I don't," Chairman Tutterow remarked to friends after he had tucked the latest "gift" away with those which had come before.

A pair of pants, accurately and neatly made—but so small they are barely large enough for one of his grandchild's smallest dolls—came to "Mr. Luke" on Center's 1935 Christmas tree. Laughing good naturedly as his friends joshed him about his "new pants," the recipient carefully put his "gift" away with other keepsakes.

"I thought it was just a one-time prank. Thought I'd keep them as a souvenir," he said.

But, that was just the beginning. Came Christmas, 1936. The Tutterows, long prominent in Davie County affairs and especially at Center Church, gathered for the annual community tree. Stewards and assistants began calling out gifts.

Luke Tutterow's name was called. And, this time it was a coat and a suit of underwear—obviously made by the same mysterious donor who the year before had to painstakingly turned out a tiny pair of pants. The same material, the same stitches, the same pattern—there could be no mistake.

"I'm going to find out who that bird is," the Davie commissioner jocularly told his friends as he underwent his second annual siege of good-natured bandage. Inquiries were made, and expressions and conversations of friends were closely scrutinized for a clue to the anonymous donor. No luck! Not even the slightest hint that might lead to his (or her) identity could be found.

Last Saturday night the Tutterows again went across the road to Center Church for the annual tree. Again Luke Tutterow's name was called. Again it was a tiny package—this time containing the vest to the "suit," and socks which are a tight fit on the new owner's little finger.

"I knew it was coming, although I didn't know just what. I'm getting used to this now. Maybe I'll get the shirt next Christmas. Maybe the hat," Mr. Tutterow said.

"One thing about it, though. Whoever's sending me these nice clothes will sure be up against it when he (or she) gets around to the shoes," he thoughtfully added.

Another Christmas has gone. And the Tutterows and the rest of that section of Davie County are already looking forward to Christmas, 1938, to see what may be in store for "Papa Luke."

MYSTERY SOLVED

This mystery was cleared up in later years with confession of Miss Rebecca Talbert of Advance that it was she that put the Christmas gifts of Lilliputian clothing under the tree at center for Luke Tutterow.

Luke Tutterow, chairman of the Davie County commissioners and prominent farmer of the Center Community of the neighboring county, displays a series of gifts of Lilliputian clothing he has received for the past three Christmases from some unknown donor. He hopes to have the "wardrobe" completed next Christmas.

 Proceeds from the bazaar and bake sale will go toward further improvements and construction of the playground.

Citrus Fruits
 Citrus fruits keep best if stored at a cool room temperature, about 60 to 70 degrees, and if used within two weeks. Use up pineapples as quickly as possible after buying them.

Nora Jane Reavis To Attend Special Seminar In Washington

A Davie County student has been selected to participate in a week-long symposium at the prestigious Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

Nora Jane Reavis, Rt. 6, Mocksville, is among 45 students from across the state who was chosen by a panel of judges to attend one of three special seminars sponsored by the North Carolina Association of Electric Cooperatives and the Smithsonian, and aided by a grant from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation.

Miss Reavis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Reavis, will attend the seminar "Man and the Primates," scheduled for early fall.

The Davie County student and her family are members of the Crescent Electric Membership Corporation, Statesville.

The program, the first of its kind in the nation, offers the students a unique opportunity to work with some of the nation's foremost scholars. During the all-expense paid trip, the students will receive intensive, college-level instruction by Smithsonian scientists and artisans.

Marine Environment Workshop Set For June

Two summer workshops have been scheduled to give teenagers an opportunity to learn about marine resources, ecology of the coastal region and marine-related careers.

The dates and places for the workshops are June 17-23, Marine Resources Center, Manteo, and Aug. 5-11, Marine Resources Center, Fort Fisher.

Rising high school juniors and seniors and high school graduates who have not entered college are eligible to attend, according to Doug Lee, Asst. Extension Agent. Those who have attended previous marine environment workshops are not eligible.

The workshop programs include marsh habitat studies, ocean beach and rock jetty investigations, oceanographic activities, boat trips and laboratory experiences.

The workshops are sponsored by the North Carolina Marine Resource Centers and the 4-H organization but attendance is not limited to 4-H members. However, students must have the endorsement of their county extension agent and science teacher or principal.

The cost for the workshops, including meals, lodging, insurance, equipment fees and field trips, is $100. Participants must arrange their own transportation. Applications can be obtained by calling 634-5134 or writing to Doug Lee, County Extension Office, P.O. Box 506, Mocksville, N.C.

The deadline for applications is Tuesday, May 29.

Nora Jane Reavis

juniors applied to attend the symposium. Criteria for the selection of the participants included a scholastic average of 90 or above and exceptional talent and interest in the disciplines involved in a particular seminar. In addition, the applicant's family had to be a member of one of the 28 rural electric cooperatives in the state.

The first seminar, "The Planet Early," will deal with the various dimensions of the physical environment, including the elements that form the earth, the potential for increasing knowledge through space travel, and energy.

"Man and the Primates" will allow students to investigate and primate behavior with regard to human behavior. Areas of emphasis will include zoology, primatology, biology, anthropology, sociology and psychology.

The final seminar, "The Quest for Beauty," concerns the theory that all human civilizations show some concern with beauty. In examining the aesthetics of human life, the students will study architecture, art, music, film, mathematics, physics and engineering.

Gary Scott Schenk, son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Schenk of Statesville, was selected as an alternate and may have the opportunity to attend one of the seminars if any of the students chosen to participate are unable to make the trip.

Carter Is Awarded Medal

Spec. 4 Kelly J. Carter, whose wife, Elizabeth, lives in Clemmons, N.C., recently was presented the Army Commendation Medal at Fort Riley, Kan.

The medal was awarded for meritorious service. Such service can be over an extended period of time or for outstanding achievement in a single situation.

Carter earned the award while assigned as a mechanic with the 701st Maintenance Battalion at Fort Riley, Kan.

Carter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Carter, live on Route 5, Mocksville.

Now Is The Time To Stow Tax Papers

If you are one of the two million or so North Carolinians who filed a Federal income tax return this year, you are probably drawing a sigh of relief and have resolved to forget about taxes for a whole year.

Before you forget about taxes, however, you may want to develop a system of putting your current year's receipts, cancelled checks and other documents in a safe place for next year. Remember how you searched for a misplaced receipt a few weeks ago? Well, make sure that doesn't happen next year, by putting income and deduction-type papers in a safe place whenever they come across your desk.

Another reason for saving receipts and cancelled checks is that the Internal Revenue Service could notify you that your tax return will be examined, or audited. If that happens, you need to verify certain or all deductions you claimed on the return. Normally, the IRS does not go further back than three years to examine a return. And, by the way, don't think that the IRS taxpayer assistance offices close when the filing season is past. Many of the offices offer year-round assistance and the toll-free telephone number is available any weekday. Just dial 1-800-822-8800 if you have a question. (Occasionally, this number is monitored to ensure courteous and accurate response.)

Remember, the saving of receipts and cancelled checks is for your benefit. Besides, it's the law.

President Andrew Johnson had been a tailor and sewed his own clothing when in the White House.

The word "pagan" originally meant a villager or a rustic, and comes from the Latin "paganus."

Social Security

Changes in our society are causing some changes in Social Security laws. The laws are being changed to make treatment of men and women equal under the provisions.

Under prior law, a woman could become entitled to spouse's or surviving spouse's benefits without proving dependency on her husband. She was presumed dependent, but a man had to prove that one-half of his support or more was provided by his wife. The Supreme Court handed down a decision in March, 1977, stating a man could become entitled to spouse's or surviving spouse's benefits without proving his dependency on his wife.

As we know, a person who is entitled to two benefits under the Social Security program, does not receive the full amount of both benefits. He or she receives the higher of the two, or a combination not to exceed the highest benefit amount. However, the court ruling meant persons who receive civil service pensions based on their work in non-covered employment were entitled to Social Security spouse's benefits in full, regardless of their dependency on the worker. This resulted in "windfall" benefits to some retired government employees.

The law has been amended to provide that Social Security benefits payable to spouses and surviving spouses be reduced by the amount of any public (Federal, state, or local) benefit payable to the spouse unless that work was also covered by Social Security. Congress believes an offset is preferable to a dependency test.

This provision became effective with applications filed in or after December, 1977, but there are some exceptions to the law. If you have any questions about how your pension will affect your Social Security payments, contact your nearest Social Security office at 105 Corriher Avenue, phone number 634-2888. Most questions can be handled by telephone, saving you a trip to the Social Security office.

My mother recently underwent surgery. The doctor says she no longer needs medical care, so he's discharging her from the hospital next week. I think she should stay because she still needs help in getting in and out of bed and walking. Wouldn't Medicare pay for this kind of care?

Care which is primarily for the purpose of meeting personal needs and could be provided by persons without professional skills or training - such as help in walking and getting in and out of bed - is considered custodial care. Medicare does not cover custodial care, even if the patient is in a participating hospital or skilled nursing facility or is receiving care from a participating home health agency.

I'll be using my Medicare coverage for the first time when I go into the hospital next month. I know that a benefit period starts when I enter the hospital. When does it end, when I'm discharged? A benefit period ends when you have been out of a hospital (or other facility primarily providing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services) for 60 days in a row, including the day of discharge.

In a few weeks, I have to go into the hospital for a gall bladder operation. Can you tell me what Medicare hospital insurance does not cover while I'm in the hospital?

Hospital insurance cannot pay for personal convenience items you request, such as a TV, radio, or telephone in your room; private duty nurses; extra charges for a private room, unless it's needed for medical reasons; the first 3 pints of blood you receive in a benefit period. Hospital insurance also does not pay for doctors' services. Medicare medical insurance covers doctors' services. You are also responsible for the $160 hospital insurance deductible.

I recently received treatment for an injury. My doctor sent in the claim for the Medicare medical insurance payment. Will I get any kind of notice telling me what Medicare paid? Whenever you or a doctor or supplier sends in a medical insurance claim, Medicare will send you an 'Explanation of Medicare Benefits'. This notice shows what services were covered, what charges were approved, how much was credited toward your $60 deductible, and the amount Medicare paid. If you have any questions about the notice, contact the carrier that sent you the notice or a social security office.

I'm 69, and on Social Security retirement. I haven't worked since I started drawing three years ago. Now I have an opportunity for a part-time job. I'm drawing $300, and my wife gets $150, per month on my record. How much can I earn without losing my Social Security? Since you are over 65, you can earn $4500 this year without losing any benefits. If you earn over $4500, for every additional $2 you earn, $1 is withheld from the Social Security you and your wife have coming for the year. If your wife has earnings of her own, the same formula applies to her checks separately (since she gets on your record, her earnings would affect her check but not yours.)

I've been getting disability checks for five years. My wife and children have drawn, too. Now the doctor says my kidney trouble and high blood pressure have improved enough that he recommends that I look for work. I feel fine, and believe I can work. But what will happen to the Social Security checks if I take a job? Will they be cut off?

Yes, your Social Security checks may be cut off if you have medically recovered from your disability. Contact your Social Security office right away, since Social Security must make a decision as to whether or not you have medically recovered, and if so, when your disability stopped. Checks are due for only 2 months after the month the disability ceases.

If, however, a person returns to work despite a disability, he or she may meet the requirements to qualify for a trial work period. This can last up to nine months, and checks are continued during the trial work period. I'm 62 years old and have been getting a widow's check since my husband died 2 years ago. I have a chance to marry a younger man who hasn't retired. Will my widow's check end if and when I marry him?

You're in luck! The 1977 Amendments to the Social Security Act permit full payment of widow's benefits to a widow age 60 or older who remarries. The amount of your check will be unchanged. Before the amendments, a widow who remarried generally suffered a substantial reduction in her check.

My husband, who's 30, was in a bad smash-up and his back was broken. The doctor has no idea how long it will be before he can work again. It might be a couple of years. Can he apply for social security disability checks even though he's worked only 8 years under social security? Your husband can apply for disability benefits. The younger you are when you become disabled, the less social security earnings credits you need. You should get in touch with any social security office as soon as possible for an application for your husband. If he is eligible, payments start with the sixth full month of disability.

I'll be 65 the end of this year, but I'm not going to apply for social security retirement payments. I want to continue working for a while. How can I make sure I get Medicare insurance at 65 if I don't apply for retirement checks? You should apply for social security benefits even if you are not going to take your payments. That is the only way social security will know you are approaching 65 and eligible for Medicare. To be sure your Medicare protection starts at 65, you should get in touch with any social security office at least 3 months before your 65th birthday.

The original ideas and personality of Margaret and Clarence Myers is reflected in their home in Cooleemee and in the special antiques collected over the years. In the center photo, Margaret tells about the antique dresser that once belonged to the late Joe Parker's mother and at right is a china cupboard, that was once the late Gertie Swicegood's wardrobe.

Margaret And Clarence Myers

Collectors Of Special Family Antiques

Mrs. Margaret Myers, like many people, is a lover of antiques. But the antiques Margaret collects are a little more special than those one may find at a sale or in a shop.

Most of her antiques were once possessions of some of Cooleemee's oldest families. And this makes her antiques somewhat of a treasure.

Like an old dresser that once belonged to the late Joe Parker's mother and an the Queen Ann bed that was once in the home of the late Kelly and Mamie Cope.

With the help of her husband, Clarence, Margaret has refinished the furniture pieces.

She has one wardrobe, dating back more than 100 years, that belonged to the late Gertie Swicegood. It is now a beautiful china cupboard in the Myers dining room. Margaret, who is most original, decided that glass panels in the doors and shelves would make a pretty cupboard and much more serviceable than the original wardrobe. She even came up with the idea of using cork floats from a fishing net as an added trim to the top...and no one would ever guess that this was not an original part of the piece of furniture. Margaret said she only paid five dollars for the wardrobe, which she bought after Mrs. Swicegood's death.

Inside the cupboard are some very special pieces also. She has a set of pitchers that were her great-grandmother Margaret Murdock's over 100 years ago. She also has some china cups and saucers that her brother gave her that were willed him from a lady in Virginia some years ago.

And there's the old wooden high chair which she bought about five years ago from the late Cicero Ridenhour for only one dollar...Just above it hangs an antique picture frame that was her mother's. She also has some very exquisite and useful pieces which her daughter and son-in-law sent from Germany.

Margaret and Clarence have completely remodeled the house in which they live in Cooleemee. She says they had a good deal of help from Howard McDaniel, but most of the ideas were her own. Margaret always takes a pad and pencil with her to the beauty shop each week and made sketches of changes she wanted during the process of remodeling, while sitting under the hair dryer.

She still takes her pad and pencil and she is still creating original and very attractive accessories for use in her home and the homes of her children.

She has a beautiful wall hanging over the livingroom sofa, which she designed and Clarence built. She also thought of a way to have light in case of power failure. She has a ceiling light in the hall which has little kerosene lanterns instead of electric bulbs. She says this is her "Carter Electricity Saver...but I should have put some peanuts on it."

She designed a most attractive planter for the livingroom and in the kitchen window hangs a plant hanger made from an old singletree, a device used on a single horse-drawn plow by her daddy, the late Joe Creason who used to plow for some of the local people many years ago.

The beams in the Myers home is lumber from the Oscar Byerly house which they stained and used exposed in several ceilings.

Margaret's prize pieces include a three drawer chest, which she says once served as a dental chest for her grandfather, the late Jim Creason, who was a dentist. She remembers that he used to pull teeth with a pair of pliers and his equipment was nothing like used in the dentist offices of today. She said, matter of factly, there was a set of teeth in one of the drawers when she got the chest.

Another very special antique is the dough bowl, which was used by her great-great grandmother almost 200 years ago and has been handed down through many generations.

Margaret thoroughly enjoys reworking old antiques, especially those with a more special meaning. And she gets even more pleasure out of creating things from her own imagination.

"That's how I go to sleep at night," she said, "studying about how I can make something out of nothing."

This dough bowl has been in Margaret's family for many generations. It was once used by her great-great grandmother almost 200 years ago.

Davie Little League Opens Season

The Davie County Little League Association Inc. had its season kick-off Saturday, April 21, with Mayor R.C. Smith throwing out the first ball at a noon celebration at the Little League field.

Twelve games were played on the two fields that were available, with the Minor League starting at 9 a.m. and the Major League at noon. There will be games every Saturday and most week nights from now until the end of June. Over three hundred seventy-five boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 12 are involved in the program making up ten Major League teams and fourteen Minor League teams.

April 25 will start the Annual Light Bulb Sale. The sales support the league which is strictly non-profit and manned by volunteer coaches and personnel. The light bulbs are a good buy at $3.75 for package of 6 and the proceeds go for a very good cause.

Every household needs light bulbs so please support the program when the children call on you and buy several packages.

It takes about $6,000 a year to buy equipment, balls, uniforms, and pay for umpires. The league would like to build a four field complex that would include a football and soccer field so that more children could be served. All donations are greatly appreciated and please contact Sonny Kurfees at 492-7431, or Ann Wands at 634-3229.

League officers are as follows: President-Sonny Kurfees; Vice President-Jerry Callison; Treasurer-Secretary-Ann Wands; Coach Representative-Gary Laymon; Player Agent- Paul Folman; Women's Auxiliary-Co Chairwomen-Kitsey Slye, Joyce Cregas and Kathy Streit.

Wheels-For-Life Bike-A-Thon

To Be Held Saturday

A Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon will be held Saturday, April 28 and riders in the event will be asking Davie citizens to back their efforts by pledging contributions for each mile they ride.

The Bike-a-thon will begin at 10:00 a.m. on Highway 158 and Sain Road at Oak Grove. Entrants will ride from 158 to Milling Road which is a two mile stretch. However, Johnny Hendrix, local chairman said, "Participants will be allowed to ride as far as they like in accordance with the amount of money donated by sponsors. The ride will be under constant adult supervision, and I feel that it will exceed the two mile stretch."

Proceeds from the event will go to the St. Jude's Research Hospital whose life-saving research has become so important to children all over the world.

Hendrix said, "Each rider will be given a lap card when they register at the designated starting point. Every time they ride through the various check points, we'll initial the card and at the end of the ride, cards will be checked and signed to verify that the rider has earned what the sponsor has pledged."

"Riders will then return to the sponsors to collect the pledge. "We'll be showing that we care about children by helping this cause," said Hendrix. "Please support your rider with a generous pledge, and then help get the funds to us as soon as the ride is over."

Sponsor-registration forms may be obtained at any Davie County school or from Hendrix by calling 634-5948 or 634-3454. Entrants under the age of 18 must have a signed parental permission form.

Prizes to be awarded to riders include a St. Jude T-shirt to those collecting $25.00, a back pack going to entrants collecting $75.00, and a $25.00 Savings Bond to those collecting the most money and riding the most miles in both the junior and senior division.

Heart Tennis Play To Begin

This year the Davie County Heart Association will conduct the annual North Carolina Heart Association - Northwestern Bank Tennis Tournament on Saturday and Sunday May 5 and 6 at Hickory Hill Country Club. Events offered to local players are Men's and Women's "B" singles and doubles, Women's and Women's "B" singles and doubles, Men's 35 singles and doubles, Men's 45 singles and doubles, and Mixed and Mixed "B" singles and doubles.

Entry fees will be $10 for each singles event and $5 per player for each doubles event. Winners in Davie County will play in Lexington on the district level in May. Winners there (except "B" events) will play in a USTA state tournament in Chapel Hill in mid-June.

The "B" events are open to anyone who does not have a current North Carolina ranking. Trophies will be provided and this year all matches will be played on tournament weekend as assigned, starting at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, and noon on Sunday. Players must live or permanently work in Davie County. Entry fees are tax-deductible and because they are contributions, players will furnish their own balls. Don Beam and David Fergusson are tournament co-chairmen again this year. Entries must be in by 5:00 p.m. Thursday May 3. No late entries will be accepted and all entry fees must be paid by then. Entry blanks are available at the Davie County Public Library, Branch Bank North, or from the Mocksville Recreation Director. For information call David Fergusson at 634-2023.

ASCS News

As the Wheat and Feed Grain Set-Aside Program sign-up period draws to a close, farmers are asked to seriously consider program benefits.

The set-aside program enables all farmers to work together to maintain or improve crop prices by reducing production. At the same time, it protects them from both natural and economic disasters.

The three basic benefits received by farmers who participate in the program are eligibility for disaster payments, deficiency payments, and commodity loans. Disaster coverages provides protection against crop loss due to abnormal weather conditions. Deficiency payments act as insurance against low grain prices and commodity loans provides capital to operate that will allow the farmer to hold his commodity for a better market.

The set-aside program allows a farmer to grow as many acres of any crop other than ELS cotton, peanuts and tobacco, that he wants as long as he stays within the farm's normal crop acreage. Each farmer in Davie County is urged to consider the program and the benefits you can receive by participating. You are urged to visit the ASCS Office to ask any questions or to sign up. The final date to file your intention to participate is April 30. However, filing this intention does not obligate you to comply with the program. But you must file your intentions by April 30 to participate.

Baseball Team Statistics

The Davie High baseball team started off the second half of its North Piedmont Conference season in fine style on April 17 with a 5-0 win over Trinity at Davie's home field at Rich Park in Mocksville.

The win gave Davie a 5-4 conference record after the first game of the last half of the season. The War Eagles 4-4 NPC mark the first half of the season placed them in 5th spot in the nine-team conference.

Davie is slated to host North Davidson in a conference game this Thursday and also host North Rowan in a conference contest next Tuesday.

In the win over Trinity last week, Davie pitcher Bart Reece hurled a 3-hitter, while striking out 12 opposing batters.

David Barnhardt and Brent Burton led the War Eagles in hitting against Trinity by collecting two hits each.

As the War Eagles began their second half of the season their coach, Ken Boger, was somewhat more optimistic about the team's chances of having a good season than he was earlier in the year when his club seemingly could not score a run.

"Our hitting has picked up the last few ballgames and our pitching staff continues to do an outstanding job. If we can just keep hitting and our pitching holds out we'll be all right this last half of the season," observed Boger.

He noted that senior first baseman David Barnhardt "is doing an outstanding job, both offensively and defensively" and Bobby Smith and Steve Grubb are also hitting the ball very well in recent games.

Coach Boger supplied the following first half season statistics for his team and its individual members:

--Team batting average-.214;
--Runs scored per game average-3.2;
--Opponents' runs scored per game average-3.1;
--Pitching staff per game ERA-1.48;

Winners in individual categories will participate in state competition in Laurinburg in June.

After completion of events, participants were honored with a cook out at Rich Park.

Bowman Gray Races Open Saturday Night

National champion Richie Evans and his arch-rival Jerry Cook will share the favorite's role with track champion Paul Radford in the "Winston 200" stock car race Saturday night at Bowman Gray Stadium.

Radford won the 200-lap NASCAR Modified national championship event a year ago, the first of ten 1978 victories that carried him to a second straight season championship on the quarter-mile asphalt track. The veteran from Ferrum, Va., has 35 career victories in the municipal stadium.

Evans finished a close second in last year's "Winston 200" as fellow Rome, N.Y., resident Cook placed third. Evans went on to a second national title, dethroning six-time champion Cook.

They're expected to have plenty of competition for the opening of the 31st consecutive season of NASCAR racing at the stadium, where weekly Saturday night events will continue through August.

Track manager Joe Hawkins said more than 30 cars have been entered to seek the 24 starting positions in the 50-mile race, which offers a $9,900 payoff with a first prize of $1,550. Early entries included two other former stadium champions - Billy Hensley of Ridgeway, Va., and Ralph Brinkley of Lexington.

Hensley, whose career includes 34 stadium victories and track titles in 1963 and 1975, will introduce a new type of car to the scene - a Plymouth Arrow, powered by a Chrysler engine. Three time stadium champ Brinkley will drive a Chevrolet Vega.

Radford, Cook and Evans will be in Chevrolet-powered Ford Pinto machines.

Pinto, Vega, Capri and Gremlin cars with Chevrolet engines have been the consistent winners in the stadium's Winston Racing Series for several years.

Practice and qualifying trials are scheduled from 3 to 7 p.m. Friday to determine the first 10 starting positions, with the remainder of the field to be filled by more trials from 7 to 8 p.m. Saturday. The race will be the main event of an 8:15 program that also includes events for the track's Limited Sportsman, Street Stock and "Blunderbust" divisions.

Jimmy Johnson of Walkertown will open defense of his Limited Sportsman track title. Tony Hulin of Thomasville, last year's Street Stock champ, has moved up to Limited Sportsman ranks and is expected to be one of Johnson's strongest challengers.

Four of the stadium's leading Limited Sportsman drivers of recent years have moved up to the featured Modified Division and will seek starting berths in the "Winston 200." They are Max Martin of Elkin, Brent Elliott of Denton, Ken Cheek of Jonesville and David Nelton of Yadkinville.

Dried Beef
Dried beef, cured beef product, is usually made from the round. Veal tongue may be cured, but other veal cuts usually are not.

Big NTS Meet At Farmington Dragway This Weekend

Davie County's Farmington Dragway is drawing bigger crowds every year. Since getting its IHRA Sanction in 1977, it is now one of the best known dragstrips on the east coast.

This weekend, Farmington will be holding an NTS meet, Saturday and Sunday, April 28 and 29. Time trials start Saturday morning and will go all day, with match races between rails, funny cars, and pro-competition cars. Eliminations will start on Sunday afternoon. All racers will be in heavy competition this weekend to get things Jack McClamrock of Mocksville is favored to be the number one qualifier in P-ST.

Mike Boyles of King, N.C., 1978 world IHRA champion in the super stock division will be in the NTS meet this weekend.

Butch Osmon broke the world's record last year and is one of the top IHRA record holders. His car is on display Thursday and Friday this week and will be in action at the Farmington Dragway this weekend.

Elementary Division

Dr. Victor L. Andrews presents the elementary division winners with awards. They are (l to r) Wendy Johnson, 1st place; Joseph Riddle, 2nd place; Harold Lee Rollins, 3rd place; Chris Anderson and Todd Crofts.

Declamation Contest Winners Announced

The fourth annual Davie County Schools Declamation Contest was held Thursday evening, April 19 at the Public Library. A total of 10 contestants representing area schools competed in the event which is sponsored by Ingersoll-Rand.

In the elementary division Wendy Johnson, eighth grader at Shady Grove took first place honors with her presentation of "Tell Tale Heart". She is the daughter of Mrs. Carol Johnson of Advance. Joseph Riddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riddle of Rt. 2, Mocksville placed second. The eighth grade student at Pinebrook presented a recitation entitled "The Coon Hunting story". Third place honors went to Harold Lee Rollins, eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rollins of Mocksville. His presentation was entitled "Abraham Lincoln."

Other participants were Todd Crofts, seventh grade student at Coolee Elementary and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crofts, and Chris Anderson, eighth grade student at William R. Davie and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Anderson.

On the high school level George Kimberly, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Kimberly of Garden Valley, won first place with his presentation of "The Family of Tomorrow."

George Kontos placed second with "My Life With Epilepsy".

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kontos of Rt. 1 Mocksville.

Third place was awarded to Avis Watkins, daughter of Mrs. Genelle Watkins of Coolee. A senior at DCHS, her presentation was entitled "The Amen Corner".

Other participants in the high school division were Kevin Cornatzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Went Cornatzer and Harold Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Smith of Mocksville.

Judges for the contest included Mrs. Helen Crenshaw, Mrs. Nancy Hartman, Perce Musselman, Johnny Robert and Dr. Victor L. Andrews. Winners were chosen for their articulation, pronunciation, gestures, characterization, facial expression and clarity of idea. Each winner was presented a medal through the cooperation of Ingersoll-Rand.

Special guests included James E. Everidge, superintendent and the Davie County Board of Education.

Woodleaf News

With the arrival of the warmer weather, farmers and truck growers are busy planting grain and setting out plants. Fields that were red and barren a few weeks ago are now green with thousands of tomato, cucumber, squash and other vegetable plants are growing well on their way to produce early vegetables.

Mrs. Helen Wilson returned home the first of the week after spending a week with relatives in Bakersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wetmore of Raleigh spent the weekend here with their son, Tommy, Wetmore and family.

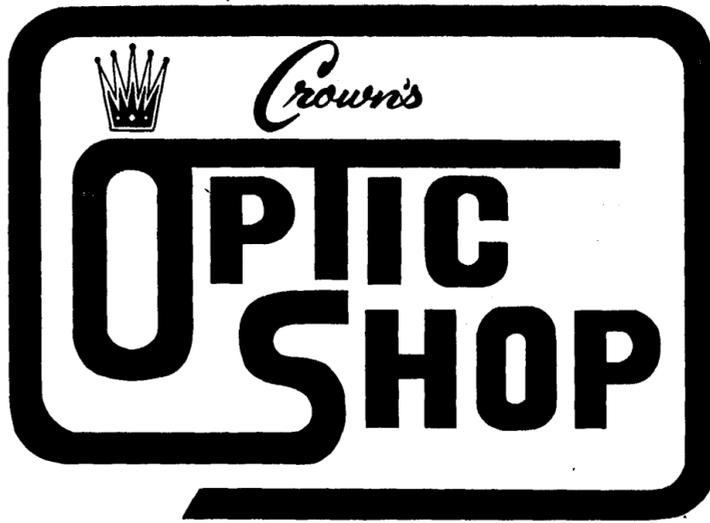

The Rev. Frank Collier is in Elizabeth City this week where he is conducting a week-long series of Bible studies at Cann Memorial Presbyterian Church. He plans to return home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Darr Miller moved last week from the Needmore section into their newly purchased home, formerly owned by Mrs. Mozelle Gillean, on the Salisbury Road. They are gladly welcomed into the community.

Mrs. Carolyn Agner spent Thursday and Friday in Knoxville, Tenn where she attended a district meeting representing Wickes Lumber and Building Co. of Salisbury.

The body of an adult man contains more than 10 gallons of water.

"The Elite" Wins Third 25 Perform In-4-H Talent And Fashion Revue

4-H Talent And Fashion Revue

Four-H Talent was visible to Davie residents in a "Sneak Preview" Friday, April 20, at the Annual 4-H Talent and Fashion Review held at the B.C. Brock Auditorium. Some 25 4-H'ers performed to an audience of 125.

The first place winner was Robin Brock with her guitar solo of "Spanish Caprice" and "Somewhere My Love". Robin Brock received the Traveling Trophy sponsored by WDSL and a personal trophy sponsored by Davie United Way. Other top winners were Jill Walker who placed second with her ballet routine and a group called "The Elite" placed third. "The Elite" was made up of Ira Trexler, James Hollis, Melissa Walker, Bernard Cook, and Kim Wells. Terry Reavis and Rita White received an Honorable Mention and blue ribbon for their vocal duet of "Edelweiss". Also receiving a blue ribbon and Honorable Mention were Robert Rutherford and Patrick Hartley for a comedy skit entitled "Cream Deluxe".

Other participants included: Aurelia Wilson, Ashlyne Hillegrand, Kendra Potts, Cammie Potts, Janna Jones, Veranita Alvord, Teresa Ratledge, Angela Cope, Tricia Reilly, Linda Faulkner, Rhonda Butcher, Zana Chaffin, Deena Barnhardt, Patrick Hartley, and Robert Rutherford.

Judges for the annual event were Martha Kontos, Doris Carmen, and George Frye. Four-H Council Officers and Junior Leaders were in charge of the program.

4-H FASHION REVUE

Renee Bracken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Bracken, won first place in the Senior Division of the 4-H Fashion Revue. Renee's three-piece outfit of skirt, vest, and jacket won her the honor of representing Davie County at State Clothing Camp May 4-6. She also received a cash certificate sponsored by Davie United Way. Second place Senior Division was Rita White. The other Senior participant was Terry Reavis.

In the Junior Division a yellow interlock knit dress won honors for Leanne Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams. Second place honors in the Junior Division went to Veranita Alvord for her matched plaid skirt. Other junior participants were Janna Jones, Melissa White, and Charlyne Ellis.

Garment construction was judged on Tuesday by Pam Cordell, Extension Home Economist from Rowan County, and Ruby Leagans, Extension Homemaker. All participants modeled at the Brock Center as part of the Talent-Fashion Revue Friday, April 20.

N.C. Heritage Week

This is North Carolina Heritage Week. It is a springtime pause to reflect on American culture, a time to highlight historic and artistic values.

As a part of the week's activities the PTAs have been urged to focus on Thursday, April 26, which is designated as Teacher Appreciation Day. On this date, PTAs are asked to recognize the teachers and show appreciation for the dedicated effort of these public servants who strive daily to give guidance and knowledge to the children of the state.

The Mocksville Elementary PTA is providing refreshments for faculty members on Thursday as their way of saying, "Thanks for a job well done."

This Is National 4-H Volunteer Week

Four-H'ers across North Carolina will be saluting their 4-H Adult Leaders during the week of April 22-28. Douglas Lee, Assistant Extension Agent, says the recognition is being held during National Volunteer Week. "The 4-H'ers here in Davie County want to point out their leader's valuable contributions and accomplishments and thank them."

Forty adults are involved with the Davie County 4-H Program in thirteen 4-H Clubs. In addition, some fifty adults participate in the 4-H Program through projects, programs, clinics and workshops. Since 4-H is an informal, learn-by-doing educational program, youngsters need leaders to help them set goals, work on projects supervise events and activities, and provide encouragement. These adults deserve recognition for the time they have given to the development of children in their community. Louise Carter, 4-H Leader for 23 years says, "I believe that where you have got a good 4-H club and member of 4-H, then you will have good citizens."

In Davie County adults are active in the 4-H Program in the following communities, Davie Academy, William R. Davie, Sheffield-Calahain, Center Grove, Advance, Clarksville, and Jericho-Hardison. Through their participation with 4-H members these leaders have had the opportunity to lead, learn, guide, and grow mentally, physically, and spiritually with the 4-H'ers.

The 4-H leaders have willingly shared their time, energy, talents and resources, and for the most part, this is a quiet, behind-the-scenes effort. Davie County 4-H volunteers will be honored at a banquet Monday night, April 30, at the Center Community Building. The 4-H Adult Leader's Banquet will highlight the end of National Volunteer Week.

Dryer Energy

To help keep your clothes dryer from being energy hog, it's a good idea to check its lint trap or filter after load. Also, keep a close eye on its outside exhaust, for if the dryer can't "breathe" it will work less efficiently, using more energy, say North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service specialists.

Funeral "Elephant Boy" At Lighthouse

MRS. LOLA C. WARD, Mrs. Lola Carter Ward of Richmond Va., died Friday April 13 at Libbie Convalescent Center in Richmond. She was a native of Davie County. She was the daughter of John Frank and Louise Miller Ward. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. W.F. Perebee and Eloise Ward of Fran Ray Rest Home, a brother Claudius T. Ward of Winston-Salem.

An enjoyable and meaningful motion picture adventure, "Elephant Boy" will be shown at the "Lighthouse" in the Cooleemee Recreation Center Saturday, April 28, 1979, free of charge.

A Ken Anderson Films presentation, filmed in beautiful Sri Lanka, Ceylon, "Elephant Boy" is the story of a boy and his pet elephant who he found sick in the jungle.

The story that ensues will hold viewers, young and old, in rapt attention throughout the forty minutes of this adventure-packed motion picture. The story has a special purpose, pointing out the futility of trying to hide one's sins.

"Mercy is nobility's true badge." Shakespeare

4-H Activity Day Is This Saturday

Davie County 4-H'ers will participate in 4-H County Activity Day Saturday, April 28, at the County Office Building beginning at 9:00 a.m.

The 4-H members will be giving demonstrations on their respective projects. Competition in the demonstration areas will determine a County Winner to represent Davie County at Northwest District Activity Day June 21.

Four-H members will be competing in Archery, Automotive Skill Driving, Senior Breads, Crafts, Senior Egg Cookery, Junior Fruit and Vegetable Use, Home Environment, Horse, Public Speaking, Open Class, Safety, Sewing, Small Engines, and Wildlife.

Thirty-two areas of demonstration categories are open for participation by 4-H members.

The County Activity Day is first level of competition to determine State Winners in each category for state sponsored awards. (Saving bonds, watches, etc.)

The public is invited to drop in at the County Office Building to view the 4-H demonstrations Saturday, April 28.

Elbaville Club Meets

The Elbaville Homemakers club met April 17, at the Elbaville Fellowship Hall with 14 members present and one child. Mrs. Mable Howard, president, called the meeting to order.

John Whitfield from the Tri-County Mental Health Center was program speaker.

Pennies were collected for friendship and birthday dues were also collected.

During the business session, it was decided that the club would sponsor a yard sale at the Fellowship Hall, Saturday, May 5th. Baked goods, hot dogs, hamburgers, drinks, plants and lots of items will be on sale.

Edith Horne and Karen Myers display samples of craft items that will be for sale at Pinebrook Bazaar and Bake Sale, to be held Saturday, April 28.

Older Person's Guide To Heart-Healthy Life Is Offered

While it often seems that the older we get the more physical ailments we have, the fact is that no matter what the age and general condition of the body, many things can be done to help ensure a longer and healthier life. "An Older Person's Guide to Cardiovascular Health" is a booklet which suggests ways to improve the quality of life as one grows older, and it is available free from the North Carolina Heart Association, 1 Heart Circle, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

The booklet describes aging as a natural process which applies to the heart and blood vessels as well as to all other parts of the body. Aging makes us more susceptible to heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, and other cardiovascular diseases. However, modern medicine can help to reduce the risks of having these conditions, so it is important for everyone to have regular medical checkups. The earlier diseases are detected, the more easily they can be controlled, but this is possible only if we follow the physician's advice.

The Guide explains the causes of the major cardiovascular diseases, outlines their signs and symptoms, treatment, and rehabilitative measures. It gives suggestions on diet, exercise, and cigarette smoking, with emphasis on the individual's responsibility for working with his doctor to maintain good health.

Homecoming At Redland

The annual homecoming will be held at Redland Pentecostal Holiness Church, Baltimore Rd. & Rt. 158, Sunday, May 6th.

The Singing Winebergers will be featured in the morning service; and will also present a program of music in the afternoon. Performing with them in the afternoon will be the New Spirit Singers.

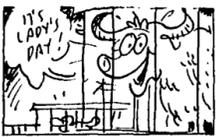

All former members, and friends are invited to share in this special homecoming.

North Davie To Hold Community Watch Meeting

The North Davie Community Watch will be held Tuesday, May 1st, at 7:30 p.m. at the William R. Davie Fire station.

This is a very important meeting and all members are urged to attend.

The North Davie Watch is the largest one in the state. According to one member, Haines Yates, he says, "Let's keep it that way."

In Saudi Arabian zoos, men and women are admitted on alternate days.

Eaton's Church Breaks Ground For New Building

Eaton's Baptist Church broke ground for an Educational and Fellowship Building, Sunday, April 22, 1979. The ground breaking ceremony followed the regular worship service. Former Pastor Bill Bruton brought the message and conducted the ground breaking ceremony. Mrs. Yvonne Sheets, Chairman of the Building and Planning Committee made the Charge to the People and turned the first shovel of dirt. Other members of the Committee are Lester Richie, Bill Merrell, Bob Langston, Gene Ellis and Charles Eaton. The building and parking facilities will be built on land donated to the Church by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Eaton. Excavation will start immediately on the project. Gene Ellis is contractor. Questions and Answers About Drug Abuse-Part I-
What is a drug? A drug is any chemical substance which affects a person in such a way as to bring about physiological, emotional or behavioral change.

What is drug abuse? - Drug abuse is the use of a chemical substance, licit or illicit, which results in an individual's physical, mental, emotional, or social impairment.

Are all drugs harmful? - All drugs can be harmful. The effect of any drug depends on a host of variables, including the amount, the frequency with which a drug is taken, the method of administration, use of other drugs, a person's history of experience which the drug, his personality and expectation, and the environment in which a person takes a drug.

What is drug addiction? - Addiction is used to describe dependence on a drug. Because addiction has been used by many people in many different ways, it is being replaced by the term "drug dependence" among scientific persons.

What is drug dependence? - Drug dependence is a state of physical or psychological need, or both, which results from continuous or periodic use of a drug. Psychological dependence exists when the effects produced by a drug become necessary for a person's feeling of well-being. Physical dependence exists only if withdrawal symptoms occur when a person stops the use of a drug. Withdrawal symptoms are physical (such as vomiting, muscle tremors) and are not psychological.

What is tolerance? - Tolerance is a physical condition which develops in users of certain drugs. When a person develops tolerance, he requires larger and larger amounts of the drug to produce the same effect.

Why are drugs used? - There are many reasons for contemporary illicit drug use. Reasons most frequently offered range from the belief that "pills" can solve all problems, to widespread access to various drugs, "peer pressure" and enjoyment of drug effects.

Reasons for experimenting with drugs (such as curiosity or peer pressure) may be different from the reasons people continue to use drugs regularly (such as emotional dependence or fear of withdrawal).

This is the seventy-fourth in a series of articles about "alcohol" provided by Bill Weant, Alcoholism Education Consultant with the Tri-County Mental Health Complex. These articles are designed to create understanding about sensible drinking, alcohol abuse, and alcoholism in our society. If you have a question concerning alcohol that you would like answered in a future column phone 634-2195.

Mocks

The revival will begin here Sunday night April 29, at 7 p.m. each evening through May 3. The Rev. Tony Jordan will assist the pastor Rev. Alvord. All night prayer service will be held on Saturday night, April 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Allen spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Madden of Statesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mock Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mock and Gina visited Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Everhart of Davidson County on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Shelton of Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Smith of Clemmons, Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Jarvis of Redland visited Miss Mattie Jones recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Jones attended worship service Sunday morning, after an absence of several months for Mr. Jones, due to a serious illness.

Paul G. Jones had the misfortune to break his foot Saturday.

HELLO, BOSS.

We Will Be Closed April 28 For Inventory Mocksville Builders Supply

721 S. Main Street Mocksville, N.C.

Everybody here would like to say one thing to you today. "We appreciate your business, Boss!" You see, at Branch Banking and Trust we've known for some time how why the big ad now? It's simple. At a time when personal

THE BOSS'S CAR.

We make you less. You make it stick. service has all but disappeared, we want you to know it's alive and well at BB&T. That means when you want to look for ways to earn more on your savings—or get more out of your checking—we won't leave any stone unturned. When you want to talk about a loan, we'll listen. And we'll try to help you get it. Because everybody works a little harder when they know they're working for the Boss.

In fact, to make sure we never forget who's important to us around here,

We're distributing Boss badges, bumper stickers and signs at all our offices.

Not because we expect signs and buttons to convince anyone of anything. When you've got the kind of people we have—people who are committed to their communities and their neighbors—that isn't necessary.

But because we want the whole world to know that personal service is a thriving business at BB&T—and you're at the heart of that business. Because you're the Boss.

Local National Guard Visits Schools Mocksville Elementary student Linda Potts examines a U.S. Army M-16 automatic rifle as two classmates look on.

Members of the 2-120th Infantry Division of the North Carolina National Guard, which is headquartered in Mocksville, were busy last week visiting Davie County schools discussing Guard activities and displaying and demonstrating equipment and supplies used by the Guard.

Young people at each local school were told the National Guard exists for national defense and civil order purposes.

Articles ranging from packets of instant coffee to missile launchers were displayed for the inquisitive school pupils.

Interest Rates On FmHA Loans Increase

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced that interest rates have increased on farm loans made by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). The higher rates were effective March 28, 1979.

Insured loans for farm real estate purposes will be made at 9 percent. These loans include disaster emergency and economic emergency loans for real estate purposes and farm ownership, individual soil and water, individual recreation, grazing association, irrigation and drainage, and Indian land acquisition loans.

Insured operating loans, including emergency and economic emergency loans for operating purposes, will be made at 9 1/2 percent. These loans are used to pay for livestock, equipment, feed, fertilizer, and to make minor improvements to buildings and real estate.

FmHA's disaster emergency loss loans will continue to be made at rates already established.

Loan services of the Farmers Home Administration, like all programs and services of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are available to everyone without regard to race, color, sex or national origin.

Persons interested in FmHA's loan programs may contact the FmHA State Office located at 310 New Bern Avenue, Raleigh, N.C. or one of the 77 local offices across the state. The location and phone number of the local office service each county is listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Gerald Gaither Awarded Scholarship

Dr. Gerald Gaither, director of institutional research at California State University, Northridge (CSUN) has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to the Philippines for four months.

After his stay in the Philippines, he will visit mainland China under a travel grant to observe administrative practices in a Chinese university.

Gaither, 37, earned his master's degree in history and sociology, and his Ph. D. in statistical history and higher education, from the University of Tennessee, where he later served as assistant to the chancellor.

From 1975-77, Gaither was director of institutional research and planning at De Paul University in Chicago.

Gaither is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Edwards, Mocksville, North Carolina.

Case Against Woman As Accessory Is Dismissed

The district attorney's office has decided not to prosecute Joy Dawn Jones, 22, of East Bend, Rt. 2, on a charge of being an accessory to murder, and her case was dismissed in Davie Superior Court last week.

She was a companion of John R. Riddle, 33, of Winston-Salem, when Riddle shot and killed Lawrence R. Hairston, 52, of Mocksville, Rt. 4, last Sept. 18 at Dud's Auction Barn on N.C. 901 at County Line Road.

Riddle pleaded guilty in January to second-degree murder and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison.

Authorities said that Miss Jones had no part in the murder.

Yard Sale At Cooleemee

The South Davie Ruritan Club is sponsoring a yard and bake sale, Saturday, May 12, at the Cooleemee school yard, which will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 6:30 p.m. or until all merchandise has been sold.

Anyone desiring to donate any items for this purpose may do so by contacting any member of the Davie Ruritan Club.

Barbecue At Smith Grove

The Smith Grove Volunteer Fire Dept. will be having a pork barbecue on Friday, April 27th and Saturday, April 28th. Orders to go can be placed by calling 998-3484, as early as possible. The fire department is located on highway 158, approximately 9 miles east of Mocksville.

PUBLIC NOTICE
There will be a meeting of the Davie County Zoning Board of Adjustment on Monday, May 7, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. in the Grand Jury Room of the Davie County Courthouse. The following applications for zoning compliance concerning Special Use Permits have been received to be heard:

(a) Gilbert Lee Boger has submitted an application requesting a Conditional Use Permit under Section 80.2 of the Davie County Zoning Ordinance. This permit would enable Sugar Valley Airport management to expand their facilities and bring the existing airport up into zoning compliance in Davie County. Sugar Valley Airport is located at the end of Pinebrook Drive and is shown as parcel no. 4 of the Davie County Tax Map E-6. The adjoining property owners are Troy C. McMillian, Allen J. Hutchens, Perry L. Toren, Ronald L. Boger, Charles W. Hamrick, C.E. Young, Clyde Boger, Howard Boger.

(b) David Bean has submitted a request to place one mobile home on the South side of the No Creek Church Road being 2 of a mile North of Highway 64 by Conditional Use Permit. The adjoining property owners are Mark McClannan, W.C. Allen, Doyle Gean and John Gobbie.

(c) Henry J. Allen has submitted a request to place one mobile home by Conditional Use Permit on the East side of the Fork Church Road approximately .8 of a mile North of Highway 64. The adjoining property owners are Robert Carter, Dallas Smith, David White, and Mrs. Cecil Bland.

Signs advertising the public hearing concerning these requests will be posted at the above mentioned locations. All interested persons are invited to attend said public hearing at which time they will have an opportunity to speak in favor of or in opposition to the foregoing applications. Prior to the hearing, all persons interested may obtain all additional information on these applications which are in the possession of the Davie County Zoning Officer by inquiring at my office in the Davie County Courthouse on weekdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 or by telephone at 634-3340.

Why Are Glasses Most Expensive in N.C.?

North Carolina is the most expensive place in the country to buy eyeglasses, according to a University of Chicago study. The Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission have recently been looking into why this is.

Ads Draw Business, Problems

Eyeglass Bargains Are Fogged Up

As soon as the state attorney general's office approved eyeglass advertisements, that at first the shop had trouble finding someone to grind its lenses. "Several of the labs around here said that they had Lucker said. As an example, Lucker told about an out-of-town man who came to the shop to pick up some Givenchy aviator-style frames for his turn and finally got the prescription, but not before the doctor told him never to come back. Lucker said. Lucker said that he had

Most Expensive in N.C.

The Cost of Licensing

Pressure exerted from certain groups to discourage local optical laboratories from doing Crown's work. The new regulations prohibit the new regulations.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY YOUR EYEGLASSES AT CROWN

As the result of a recently enacted law, you have the right to a copy of your eyeglass prescription. That means you can take that prescription wherever you prefer to have your eyeglasses made.

In October 1977, according to a University of Chicago study, North Carolina was the most expensive place in the country to buy prescription eyeglasses. Their reason, North Carolina eyeglass makers operated in a "restrictive market that stifles competition". That statement no longer holds true due to a Supreme Court decision overturning advertising bans by professionals. As soon as that decision was made, Crown's OPTIC SHOPS, a division of CROWN DRUGS, began advertising. The advertising was to offer the consumer a choice, their choice, as to where they, the customer, wanted to have their eyeglasses made. Crown feels once you have compared our selection, quality, and service, we will be your choice.

ONLY THE HIGHEST QUALITY LENSES

Crown uses only first quality lenses from Bausch & Lomb and American Optical. The same lenses your eye doctor probably uses.

FIRST QUALITY

All of Crown's frames are first quality, no matter what price range - From the traditional styles to the most fashionables - you'll be pleased with Crown's quality.

SELECTION

Crown's Optic Shops offer you more than 400 frames to choose from. Names like Christian Dior, Pucci, Playboy, Oscar de La Renta line our walls. And no matter what type lenses you need, Crown has them.

REASONABLE PRICES

CROWN'S OPTIC SHOP OFFERS YOU A SELECTION OF FRAMES ALONG WITH A SELECTION OF PRICE RANGES. YOU CAN PURCHASE A PAIR OF FRAMES FOR AS LITTLE AS $12.00. AND CROWN CAN SAVE YOU UP TO 40 PERCENT OVER WHAT YOU MAY HAVE PAID IN THE PAST.

HIGHLY TRAINED OPTICIANS

Crown's licensed opticians come with a variety of professional backgrounds, one for example, came to Crown after managing a Bausch & Lomb Lab for 34 years, another came with 17 years experience with a well-known optical company, the list goes on...Experience, professionalism, and pride will greet you when you bring your prescription to Crown.

NEW OR OLD

Whether you want a new prescription filled or just want another pair of glasses made from the ones you are wearing, Crown can take care of your needs.

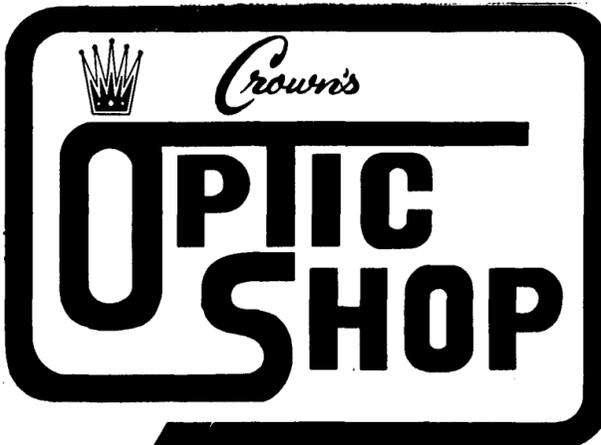

GUARANTEE

Just like everything else Crown sells, we guarantee you will be satisfied with your glasses. But our optical guarantee is a little different - it's unconditional that's right. CROWN'S OPTIC SHOP unconditionally guarantees your glasses for one full year from date of purchase. If your glasses get broken, we'll repair or replace them free, for one full year.
