Home Is Condemned By State Welfare Dept.

Ten patients were moved last week from the County Home to the Rivers Rest Home near Harmony. Seven men and three women were transferred.

The move was ordered by the Davie County Board of Commissioners as the result of the county home being condemned by the State Welfare Department.

Miss Amy Talbert, Superintendent of Welfare, said that due to the county maintaining these patients in the boarding home would be about half as much as in the county home. She explained that this was due to the fact that in a boarding home part of the cost is borne by state and federal funds. Patients in a county home are not eligible for these funds.

Miss Talbert said that such board and home care would be offered to those in the county who otherwise would enter the county home. Patients requiring nursing care will be placed in the local nursing home if a vacancy exists. Only ambulatory patients are put in the boarding home.

"I hope that we will be able to develop some boarding homes in our county to take care of our own people," said Miss Talbert. "The trend throughout the state has been to utilize these boarding homes instead of maintaining the so-called county home," said Miss Talbert.

No definite decision has yet been reached as to what will be done with the county home property. Dewey Cain is still employed as caretaker for this property.

Tobacco Growers Warned Against Use of Toxaphene

Buyers To Pass Up Tobacco On Which Toxaphene Is Used

Farmers have been warned against using Toxaphene as an insecticide on tobacco.

The Winston Leaf Tobacco and Storage Company, as well as others, have stated that they will turn down crops or piles of tobacco on which the effects of Toxaphene can be detected.

W. A. Goodson, President of the Winston Leaf Tobacco and Storage Company, in a letter to the county farm agents says "that it has been called to our attention by several of the customers for whom we buy and process leaf tobacco that some farmers are using Toxaphene as an insecticide. From past experience our customers have found that this spray material imparts a noticeable off-flavor to the natural aroma and taste of tobacco."

"We have been asked by our customers to instruct our buyers to turn down crops or piles of tobacco on which the effects of Toxaphene can be detected," said Mr. Goodson. Toxaphene is not recommended for use on tobacco and is so labeled. However, some farmers apparently are using it without knowing of its harmful effects.

Mr. Goodson quoted from a letter received by his company from one of their very large customers. It read as follows:

"You will recall that three or four years ago the farmers were using Toxaphene as an insecticide. It was found that this chemical not only gave the tobacco a peculiar odor which was very obvious on the floors, but in addition to being dangerous to the human system it gave a bad taste to the smoke.

"For these reasons we asked you to instruct all of your buyers on every market not to buy any tobacco on which Toxaphene has been used; to reject all piles discovered at time of sale; and if such tobacco was not detected until it reached your factory to dispose of same to the best advantage but not to include it with any tobacco for our use.

"Our research Director is now advised by North Carolina State College that there is a tendency to resume the use of this dangerous insecticide, and they desire the cooperation of all buyers and applicators in persuading growers not to use Toxaphene on tobacco."

"To eliminate passing up tobacco on the warehouse floors all growers are urged not to use Toxaphene on their tobacco, and if in doubt about the insecticide to consult the County Farm Agent.

Recreation Activities

The special event at the recreation park last week was a pet show.

The Judge, W. R. Furr of the Greensboro Daily News, chose the following as winners to receive prizes:

The prettiest pet was "Penny," a Cocker Spaniel owned by Sue Brewer.

The largest pet was a black Cocker Spaniel entered by Lance Beasley.

Lester Cozart won the prize for the smallest pet with his parakeet "Pedro."

A racoon, owned by Bobby Brown, easily won the prize for the most unusual pet.

The cutest pet was "Tubby," the kitten of Jean Evans.

Everette Kelly's dog "Sugar," was the friendliest pet.

Thursday morning a bean jar contest was held with a prize being awarded to the winner, Lance Beasley, guessed there were 999 pintoes in the jar and came the closest to the correct number 997.

Paper plate masks were made by the smaller boys and girls. Lawrence Miller of Cooleemee was the judge. Linda Sherrill's mask, which represented a society girl with blond hair and long brown eyelashes was judged the prettiest mask.

The ugliest mask was a hobo with a dirty black beard and dark brown hair painted by Jack Page. Jane Redding had the oddest mask which was a creation of modern art in blue, red, yellow, brown, orange and purple.

The winners of the bug contest were Lester Cozart for the smallest; Amanda Fraylick for the largest; Butch Cranfill and Larry Draughn had the ugliest bugs; Beverly Tomlinson had the prettiest bug.

The ping pong and checker tournaments which were started are still being continued this week.

The special event for this week will be an "On Wheels Parade" to be held on Friday. Bicycles, wagons, tricycles, and anything on wheels can be decorated and entered in the parade. His parade will take place at 11 a.m. Friday.

Wait 10 days to get sows on full feed after farrowing.

AMERICA '1975

America by 1975 will be a land in which natural resources and minerals will be taken from portions of the globe now unexplored.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites an article by David Sarnoff, chairman of the Radio Corporation of America, in a recent issue of Fortune Magazine which shows the things that lie ahead of this country.

"... Fresh water, purified from the briny seas, will enable us to make deserts flourish and to open to human habitation immense surfaces of the globe now sterile or inaccessible. Tidelands and the ocean floors beyond, already being tapped for oil, will be increasingly mined for other materials and harvested for chemical and food resources," Mr. Sarnoff writes.

ACP Fall Sign-Up July 1-15

With all the changes coming about in our production adjustment and price support programs and with all the Referendums that farmers will be participating in we haven't had much time to work with the ACP program, according to O. E. Driver, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee. But when you look at it closely, production adjustment is actually just another form of conservation; it's just good conservation farming to refrain from depleting our soil in the production of cash crops of which we already have an over supply. For this reason, and because the basis of any good farm program must be to conserve our agricultural resources, we'd like to discuss the ACP a little.

While we've been talking about so many referendums and so many changes in support rates, our ACP hasn't been static by any means. We ended the first phase of the 1955 ACP the last of May. Now we are holding a sign-up for farmers having a need for conservation practices that can be carried out this fall. This initial sign-up period which is being held at the county office now, will end July 15th.

Farmers who have a conservation need that can be met this fall through the 1955 ACP, should bear in mind that just about all of the funds set up in this county for cost-sharing on spring practices has been used. There is good indication, too, that the same situation will prevail again around the end of this year. Farmers were notified of this sign-up period this week and were sent a list of the practices approved for the county.

The Agricultural Conservation Program, supported and participated in by every citizen of our Country, is aimed at perpetuating our Nation as a World power. It's aimed at assuring that future generations will have sufficient food and clothing, but in spite of these long range benefits that will be realized long after we are gone, Mr. Driver said that there are benefits that farmers can realize now from this same conservation. Farmers, and especially those that did not receive assistance for spring practices are urged to go to the county office and discuss conservation needs with employees who can tell what is available under the ACP program.

Reports from Har Heel cabbage growers as of June 1, indicate that production from the state's 2,400 acres of late spring cabbage will be about 9,600 tons; an average yield of 40 tons per acre. This compares with 15,400 tons produced in 1954 and an average yield of 7 tons per acre.

How Advertising helps you

Good Things Unlimited

IT'S true to repeat the fact that there has never anywhere in the world at any time been anything like America. Here a workingman lives on a scale which only the wealthy in other lands can approach. Here families in the most modest of circumstances enjoy luxuries undreamed of elsewhere.

The reason for America's limitless good for Americans is merely that American business has been developed far beyond that of business in other lands. America has production facilities. America has distribution facilities. America has consumption facilities. Therefore America is good things unlimited for Americans.

Did you ever stop to think that the motivating force behind all these things is merely advertising?

A man designs, or devises, or merely develops a new product. He puts up a factory. He installs machinery. He sends salesmen out to establish dealerships. He starts to manufacture. But unless he reaches the homes and lives of his ultimate consumers with his message, his factory remains dormant, and the good things his product would bring to the lives of the people are unknown.

So he begins to advertise. He lets it be known that he has something which will make the lives of those who read better or happier or healthier. And the people of America, eager for betterment, respond. This is the cycle of business development. It is also the secret of the good things Americans enjoy.

A merchant follows the same cycle, once he buys goods for his customers. He lets them know about them.

For this purpose of letting the public know what they have, business men have never found a better method than the American newspaper.

It reaches into the hearts and homes of America. It holds their confidence. When a newspaper accepts an ad for publication, it is the same as a recommendation of the goods or the store by the newspaper itself. Since the readers have confidence in the newspaper, a confidence which was won by long and honest service, they respond. They buy. And as they buy America thrives.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

North Carolina's cucumber growers are expected to produce about 650,000 bushels of cucumbers for fresh market. This is an average yield of 100 bushels per acre on the 6,500 acres for harvest. If realized, it would be the largest cucumber production in the state since 1930.

IN THE LAND OF MAKE-BELIEVE

Suppose we were all wealthy... and all healthy. And suppose we had to work only one day a week, and could devote the others to recreation and rest. And suppose we had no worries, no problems, no responsibilities! Would we all be happy... really happy?

Of course not! For a week or two we might revel in our good fortune, and enjoy our freedom from care. And then suddenly life would become colorless and empty. For where would we find incentive? How would we recapture ambition? What would we substitute for perseverance and fortitude and hope; the qualities that crown existence with achievements?

And what would happen to FAITH—the true foundation of happiness?

In this work-a-day world, with all its turmoil and care, the man who depends on God lives with a smile in his heart. And week after week his shoes wear smooth the threshold of his Church as he rejoices in the love of His Saviour. He doesn't dream of happiness in a land of make-believe! He has found happiness.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force for on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Poliomyelitis

Last week the attention of this community was sharply focused on infantile paralysis with the diagnosing of two cases of this disease. Of all diseases that strike dread to mankind, none is more feared by mothers than acute poliomyelitis.

Poliomyelitis is an acute infection in which the inflammation attacks the tissues in the front part of the spinal cord. Possibly it has accured throughout the centuries, but it was first widely recognized as an epidemic disorder around 1887. No doubt, previous to that time, cases of this disease were confused with meningitis and paralysis due to other disorders.

The majority of cases of this condition occurs in young children afflicting boys and girls in about equal proportions. There are, however, numerous cases in which the condition attacks older persons, among the most conspicuous examples being Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was infected late in life.

A virus, or infectious agent too small to be seen with the microscope is recognized as the cause of the disease. The appearance of paralysis usually follows three or four days of fever and disturbances of digestion. In some cases the preliminary symptoms are so slight that the paralysis is the first symptom noted. In other cases, the paralysis may be so slight that the condition is unrecognized except for the fact that the child happens to be sick at a time when infantile paralysis is prevalent in the community.

Infantile paralysis usually begins to appear in June, increases during July and August, diminishes in October, and usually disappears by November and December. While the condition occurs usually in warm weather, it is not especially a disease of tropical countries. It is most frequent in the temperate zone. By far the vast majority of the cases have occurred in northern Europe and in the northern part of the United States.

The disease attacks rich and poor alike and appears equally in good and bad sanitary situations. Whereas 95 per cent of those attacked are children, the condition seldom occurs during the first year of life.

The occurrence of fever, headache, flushing, congestion of the throat, and notable sweating during the infantile paralysis season should be looked on with suspicion and a doctor consulted. Any evidence on the part of the child of stiffness of the back and resistance to movement of the neck also is to be considered as a suspicious symptom.

Much misunderstanding on the part of the public has arisen concerning the Salk anti-polio vaccine. It has never been claimed that one dose of the Salk vaccine would prevent paralytic polio. At least two doses, properly spaced, are necessary to accomplish that result. However, it certainly appears to be significant when only two children out of the 200,000 in North Carolina receiving one shot of the vaccine have any polio whatsoever, and both of these being reported as light cases.

Apparently there is no disagreement among the medical profession concerning the use of this vaccine. They recommend it's use—if it was available. The confusion and disagreement appears to be solely among the agencies that are seeking to control it and it's distribution.

The Legion Juniors

Each season several interested Legionaires provide the spark that causes the local American Legion Post to sponsor a junior baseball team. This year was no exception—except for the fact the American Legion Posts of Mocksville and Coolceeme combined for this venture.

This venture brings together the best young baseball players from the available surrounding communities. It offers them a chance to play against other teams of equal ability. Through the process of elimination by defeat finally evolves the state champion, the regional champion, and then the national champion.

The Davie County team this year was coached by Orimes "Fat" Parker of Coolceeme. Mr. Parker is widely recognized for his baseball know-how and managerial ability. This was never better displayed than with the group of youngsters he brought together from a wide number of communities and in the space of a few short weeks moulded into a team capable of competing with the best. They didn't quite have what it took to get by the strong Salisbury team which they extended to the limit. However, who can say that another week of play together would not have made another ending to the story.

The Davie team was represented by players from Mocksville, Coolceeme, Advance, Statesville, Harmony, West Yadin, Yadinville and possibly other communities. Many of these boys had never seen one another until they were brought together for their first practice a short time ago. Certainly Coach Parker had little time in which to really know the players before he had to select a team to put on the field.

This is not meant to be an alibi for the local Legion Juniors. They do not need one. Instead it is a salute to Coach Parker and all the members of the team, and to those Legionaires that made it possible, for a job well done.

Facts About the Mosquito

Mosquitos plague man from the tropics to the Arctic Circle, from coastal marshes to far inland deserts. Yet, our knowledge of their habits has so far been relatively scant.

Entomologists, studying this universal pest, have learned a good deal about it.

Some of their findings are revealed by Allen Rankin in the July Reader's Digest.

Only the female mosquito bites, the male not being equipped to. According to current belief, the female of many mosquito species needs an occasional sip of human or animal blood as a kind of vitamin.

Without this rejuvenating charge at least once every 25 generations, the breed begins to weaken and die.

Rankin's article, condensed from La Revue Moderne, states that the female mosquitos high-frequency drill slips easily through the toughest skin. Generally, she can take off before you slap because the sudden tension of your skin "telegraphs" the blow. To the mosquito, the slightest nervous rippling beneath her is like an earthquake.

The pests seem to bite most often at night probably because the species that is the biggest nuisance happens to be a night feeder. The female finds her way to the target in the dark by means of a "chemoreceptor"—a combination sense of smell and radar-like sense of "feel" beamed to heat waves and odors given off by the human body.

The common house mosquito seldom flies more than 1000 feet from its birthplace. Some of the big salt-marsh breeders however, can raid towns 50 miles distant.

The male mosquito lives only eight or nine days, the female about 30. In her life span, however, the female of the common species lays about 100 eggs, and in temperate climates 15 generations are born in a season. The resulting progeny, if unmolested, would reach astronomical figures.

APPRECIATION KNOWS NO SEASON

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Bill Whitley
RUSSIANS. Soviet Minister Molotov's visit to the United States for the 10th anniversary meeting of the United Nations is causing some interesting sideline talk.

Take the matter of Russian bodyguards, for instance.

The word is that during the San Francisco meeting of the U. N. poker-faced, stuffy-looking bodyguards hovered over Molotov.

The bodyguards who watch over top Russian officials are members of the Soviet Secret Police and are counterparts to members of the U. S. Secret Service, whose agents watch over President Eisenhower.

CONTRAST. There is a great contrast in the way Russian agents and U. S. Secret Service men operate. When President Eisenhower is in a crowd, it is next to impossible even for a trained eye to pick out the Secret Service agents who are watching him. The Russians make far more of a show out of this sort of thing. The Red agents wear conspicuous suits with 45 automatic pistols bulging in their pockets. Most conspicuous, however, is the fact that they keep the man they're guarding closely surrounded at all times.

Even if someone tried to assassinate a Russian big-wig, they would have to first elbow their way through the surrounding guards.

CONTEST. A few weeks ago an 11-year-old North Carolina boy wrote Senator Scott and asked him to help name a horse in a contest he wanted to enter.

The Senator has obliged, but when he wrote the youth and offered his suggestions, the Senator pointed out that—being a dairy farmer—he has had far more experience in naming cows.

"I am suggesting these names, but I think you can probably think of some that would be better."

The youth is entering a contest in an effort to win a bicycle. The winner of the contest will be awarded a $5,000 college scholarship and 500 runners-up will get bicycles. The boy wrote Scott that he isn't interested in the scholarship, but would give anything to win one of the bicycles.

As a matter of record, here are the names Scott suggested: The Flasher, Blaze Face, Lipmix, and Squeeze Mc.

Scott said the names have no real meaning, but they caught his fancy.

PAINT. If you've ever seen the U. S. Capitol at night, you will always remember its unusual brilliance that makes it stand out more prominently than any other building on the Washington skyline. In daylight, it appears light gray, but at night it's very bright and impressive.

The secret is in the paint, a special concoction that gives off exceptional brilliance under artificial light.

It takes a thousand gallons of paint to give the dome a new coat. To paint the dome and the front of the Capitol, it costs the taxpayers $65,000.

Since 1862, the dome has had 30 coats of paint—or about one every three years.

Washington—During last week I joined Senator Greene of Rhode Island and others in proposing an amendment to increase the appropriation for a hurricane warning system by an additional $2,000,000. The Senate adopted the amendment. It is to be hoped that the amendment will be approved by the Senate—House Conference Committee because it is highly desirable that as much warning of the approach of hurricanes will be given as is humanly possible.

OUR LOSS. North Carolina suffered the loss of two notable citizens recently, one of them being Attorney General Harry McMullan, and the other being the Honorable A. M. Graham.

Harry McMullan, a native of Hertford, North Carolina, graduated in Law at the University of North Carolina and embarked upon the practice of Law at Washington, North Carolina. He was appointed,

Attorney General by Governor Hoyer on April 30, 1938 and occupied that office from that time until his death on June 24, 1955.

As a practicing lawyer and as a member of the State's Judiciary, I know that Attorney General McMullan was confronted by more numerous and more troublesome legal problems than any of his predecessors. His learning and his wisdom enabled him to find satisfactory solutions for these problems. As a consequence, history will assign him high rank among the many able men who have served as Attorney General.

Mr. Graham, a member of the Bar at Clinton, North Carolina, merits the approving remembrance of the State for his sacrificial service of twenty-eight years on the State Board of Education.

TEXT: "To be understood, be understanding." - Norman G. Shidle

A man's wife was extremely ill and a famous specialist was called into the case. After the specialist and the family doctor consulted and reported their findings to the husband, a friend came in to find out what their verdict was.

"Do the doctors think your wife is going to die?" asked the friend.

"Blamed if I know," replied the husband. "They told me to prepare for the worst and, you know, that's got me guessing!"

Probably the most embarrassing misfortunes we encounter do not come from our lack of ability, but through our misunderstandings. We hear fragments of a remark and jump to a conclusion. We observe a look, a gesture, an attitude and not knowing what caused it, we misunderstand its purpose.

As a result, some of us go off and sulk. Others of us bluster up and demand an explanation or an apology. In either case we usually find that we did not understand. A mature person ignores any thing not addressed directly to him. He avoids mistakes by being certain that he understands. He is poised but calm. He is a leader. He is looked to with confidence simply because he understands.

That, who occupies the post of Majority Leader of the Senate, Senator Johnson assumed this position as the unanimous selection of the Senate Democrats at the time of their reorganization of the Senate in January of this year. It is the duty of the Majority Leader to see to it that the Senate functions with efficiency as a legislative body. To this end, he determines the order in which pending measures are to be considered and does what he can to expedite final action on such measures.

If he is to function efficiently, the Majority Leader must be able to obtain the co-operation of virtually all members of the Senate. This being true, he must possess a complete understanding of his fellow Senators and exercise in his dealings with them unflinching diplomacy, fairness and perseverance. In his performance of the difficult tasks of Majority Leader, Lyndon Johnson possesses this knowledge and exercises these virtues to a most remarkable degree. As a consequence, the Senate is performing its legislative duties in a well-nigh unprecedented manner, which is earning for him the praise of all observers.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES . . . A few months ago Robert M. Hanes of Winston-Salem, president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., was quoted as saying that sometime he would like to retire from the banking business and contribute his time and talents to governmental pursuits.

In the event he was quoted correctly and is still interested in becoming a servant of the people, we would suggest Robert M. Hanes as president of the Greater University of North Carolina. In fact, we might even go so far as to recommend him for this position. He has virtually the same training that has made Gordon Gray such an asset to the University. His experience is in many respects similar to Gray's and, important, he has much more of it.

If Banker Hanes should not want to follow educational endeavors, then we recommend his appointment as director of the N. C. Dept. of Conservation and Development. No man living has done more to develop North Carolina and Robert Hanes has always been long on and interested in, and conservation of, our natural resources.

Your reply may be that we are rushing things a little—since neither position recommended herewith is vacant, one being occupied by Gordon Gray and the other by Ben Douglas.

True, True. But Gray is not expected to return. Douglas, also, is getting a leave of absence and there is some doubt herabouts that he will return to Raleigh.

Anyway, what we are trying to illustrate here in addition to recommending Robert M. Hanes for one of the two jobs is that it's good now and then for the job to seek the man rather than vice versa.

RESCH . . . We were glad to see our long-time friend, Al Resch of Siler City, recognized in the Raleigh News and Observer last Sunday as "Tarheel of the Week."

Although he was not born in North Carolina, Al has spent the major portion of his adult life in these dignities and has made a great contribution to the general betterment of the State. Along with the Parker boys in Aheolic, Miss Beatrice Cobb of Moganton and a handful of others, Al Resch has made a definite contribution to a general raising of the standard of the non-daily press in N. C.

Democracy seems inclined to loaf a little in some sections of the country, but in N. C. it has a lot of zing to it—thanks to strong non-daily papers which throw bright and scorching beams of light into every hamlet, every crossroads in the State. Their influence cannot be overlooked, for nothing is more thoroughly read than the hometown paper. Main trouble now is their advertising rates are too low to cope with constantly increasing overhead. Let's get after that one, Al.

PETTY THEIEVERY . . . I have just finished my first week as participant in the ownership and operation of the Howard Johnson Motel just north of Raleigh. It has been an enlightening experience.

During that first week we lost five water pitchers, three door mats, a lamp, numerous towels, wash rags—not to mention ash trays and little items of that type.

Prior to my taking a part in this endeavor, my knowledge of the behind-the-scenes operations of hotels and motels was strictly that of an amateur. But I was shocked at all the petty thievery which occurs. Our Howard Johnson Motel is spanking new, very modern and I thought we were attracting the highest type of travelers on the road. At least the cars packed in front of our place would lead one to this conclusion. But they were certainly eager to get something for nothing.

NEW LAWS . . . Most of the laws enacted by the 1955 General Assembly went into effect this past Friday, July 1, and some of them are a pretty radical departure from the laws they replace.

If you are operating a business and are in doubt, consult your auditor, your attorney, or both.

If you do not have either an auditor or any attorney on your regular payroll, just drop a postal card to the N. C. Department of Revenue, Raleigh, requesting them to send you the tax changes. They already have them neatly compiled and will be glad to help you.

CAPS . . . A few days ago we heard some small fry stating they could shoot firecrackers "after July 1." No such thing, of course. Our law prohibiting fireworks was changed very little by the recent Legislature.

The only thing different now from the way it was is that you can buy caps for cap pistols now—in July or any other month—if you live in the right counties. This has been so since April 22, since this was one of the laws which became effective immediately upon ratification.

In the following counties it is still AGAINST THE LAW to sell caps for toy cap pistols: Alamance, Alleghany, Buncombe, Burke, Caswell, Chatham, Cleveland, Durham, Edgecombe, Gaston, Guilford, Haywood, Hoke, Iredell, Mecklenburg, Moore, Nash, Pender, Person, Randolph, Stokes and Union.

IDLE MINDS . . . The recent robberies, knifings, and gang murders being carried out by teenagers in New York City and elsewhere are no doubt worrying North Carolina parents—particularly this summer when so many young boys and girls, with no regular chores, come to their parents asking what they can do to occupy their time.

Child labor, particularly in the cities, has all but disappeared, and it is fast disappearing on the rural scene as machines take over the duties once done by hand labor. But now we must work fast to fill the idle hands with worthwhile pursuits.

Juvenile delinquency in North Carolina, according to a recent survey made by Felix Gracie for his Facts weekly, is not nearly so bad as in the rest of the country.

"For the country as a whole," says Mr. Gracie, "juvenile delinquency is increasing rapidly—even faster than the population, but in North Carolina it is not increasing."

Being his study on solid facts and figures provided him by the State Board of Welfare, he reports the following interesting information as regards juvenile delinquency in 1954.

In proportion to population, the rate is as high among whites as Negroes.

Boys are involved in juvenile delinquency cases almost four times as often as girls.

Over one-half of the children involved were 14 or 15 years of age.

More than half of all delinquents in North Carolina last year were children of broken homes.

New Hanover County led the State in juvenile delinquency cases in 1954 at 413, while Wake was second at 391, Buncombe third with 384 and Mecklenburg fifth with 332.

What Every Veteran Should Know

W. J. Wilson, County Veterans Service Officer for Davie County stated today that veterans training under the Korean GI bill may not draw GI unemployment and GI training pay at the same time. GI benefits is illegal.

Even though a veteran is not working while taking Korean GI Bill training he still would not be eligible for the unemployment allowance.

Unemployment payments are limited to Kor a veteran actively looking for work, who are not receiving GI training benefits.

A veteran who, for any reason, does draw both payments at once would be required to return his unemployment allowance to the State from which he received it. Also, under the law, he may be liable for a fine up to $1,000, or imprisonment of up to one year, or both.

Unemployment pay, administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through the State, may range up to $26 a week for maximum of 36 weeks.

GI training allowances, handled by the Veterans Administration range from $110 to $160 a month, for veterans in school full-time. Lower monthly rates are paid to part-time trainees, and to veterans training on-the-job or on-the-farm.

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

By J. B. WHITAKER

A young king (whose life could have been vastly different) came back from a battle in the long ago and a man of God confronted him with this question, "Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams." (1 Sam. 15:22). Here is a case of a man who did not learn what obedience is until it was too late. Do you know what obedience means today? The most general meaning of the word is willing submission to authority or to the word of God. You and I do things from day to day which God commands people to do without, in the least degree, obeying Him. Why do we do these things? The reason suggests them as the proper things to do. We do them also because we want our friends, neighbors, and loved ones to care for us and respect us. Since this is true, in all the ages of God's dealings with man he has had some test of obedience, some way to determine man's loyalty to him. All of us can see a reason for many of God's commands and we should and must comply with these—but in such cases there is no test of our loyalty. When a command tests our loyalty or faith there is no apparent connection between the command and the result promised. Our love, respect, devotion, fear, and reverence for God cause us to want to obey Him in such cases. Have you obeyed the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ? Unless we obey him we cannot expect to live with him eternally. People in New Testament times wanted to know (cried out) what they must do to be saved. What were they told to do? After having heard the gospel (Rom. 10:17), they believed (Acts 8:37, Heb. 11:6, they repented of their sins (Acts 2:38), they confessed Jesus Christ as the Son of God (Acts 8:37, Rom. 10:10), and they were baptised (buried, Rom. 6:4) for the remission of sins (Acts 2:38) and God added them to the only church in existence (Acts 2:42). People who obeyed God then were very happy in that their sins were forgiven (Acts 8:39). We who are living in 1955 can obey God by doing exactly what these people did. If we do these things and continue faithful we shall live in the presence of the Lord forever. David said "One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after: that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to inquire in his temple." If you have the same desire — obey God today. Peter asks in I Peter 4:17, "What shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?" Paul answers in II Thess. 1:7-8, "When the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from Heaven with his almighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." Do you know God? Have you obeyed his gospel? We pray that your life may be spared until you have the opportunity to do so. (Adv.) Jericho Church of Christ

Tid-Bits

GORDON TOMLINSON

Nick Mando tells this one on himself. It happened during his first year at Lenoir Rhyne College. Nick's home is in Erie, Pa., about 50 miles from Cleveland, Ohio. Came Christmas during his freshman year, he and a buddy set out to bum home for the holidays.

Shortly after they began thumbing in Hickory a car stopped. "How far are you going?" asked Nick. "I'm going to Cleveland," replied the driver. "Hop in." "That's great," said Nick as he and his buddy crawled into the warm car out of the cold winter's night. Nick said that for the next 30 or 40 minutes he completely relaxed, congratulating himself on his good fortune. He counted the hours and miles until he would get home. He even planned how he would spend the extra time he had saved by getting what he thought was a through ride. Then suddenly the car stopped. "Well, this is as far as I go," said the man. "I thought you were going to Cleveland," asked Nick. "This is Cleveland," said the man. And it was — Cleveland, North Carolina — which left Nick and his buddy still many miles from home on a cold winter's night.

Church enjoyed a picnic at Rich's Park, Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cornatzer spent the week end in Florida. Miss Betty Jo Williams of Fork spent the week end with Miss Ethel Allen. Mrs. Conrad Dwiggins accompanied her husband to Charleston, S. C., Sunday and will spend two weeks with him there. Mrs. Bill Shoaf spent Saturday night with Miss Elsie Dovens. Rev. William Anderson visited J. E. McDaniel Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Allen and son, Timothy, spent the week end touring the mountains of North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Bailey of South Carolina spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McDaniel. Mrs. Lella Nail spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Polly Bowers. Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Winters visited Mr. and Mrs. Samson Winters Monday night.

Meat production through the first four months of this year was seven per cent above a year ago. The increase in slaughter from last year is slowing, however, and production for the year as a whole is expected to be up about three to four per cent.

Macedonia

Mrs. O. R. Dennis is still in Texas visiting her mother who has been critically ill. Her mother is 92. Latest reports reveal that she is getting along as well as could be expected.

The women of the Macedonia Moravian church have placed two more maple chairs in the parsonage to match the maple dining room set that was purchased last Christmas. Mrs. Kenneth Butner was in charge of this latter addition.

The Daily Vacation Bible School of the Yadkin Valley Baptist Church, which was conducted last week—Monday through Friday—was a fine contribution to the life of the church according to the reports. There was an average of 66 in attendance.

The Royal Ambassadors and counselors of Yadkin Valley Baptist enjoyed an outing at Dalton Park, on the scenic parkway, this past week end; they spent one night up there.

J. J. Wood, who has been on the sick list for quite some time, is showing some improvement. He was in his place at Yadkin Valley last Sunday for the preaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheek have just returned from a most enjoyable visit with her sister, Mrs. Naomi Higgins, in Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Sheek said that it was one of the best trips that she had ever had. At any rate, it was a long one, but they all enjoyed the scenery. Gray Sheek drove the car. Mrs. Viola Steyers stayed with Mary Hausz while the Sheeks were away.

The Macedonia Moravian Bible school started today with a total of 71. The school will last from July 5 until July 15, except for Saturday and Sunday. Miss Betty Clara Warren is in charge of the school. The department teachers are as follows: Mrs. C. W. Lee, beginners; Mrs. George Thomas Fry, primary; and Miss Christine Beauchamp, juniors. Several of the mothers are also helping.

Mrs. Mattie Bowden and Bertha Smith are in Norfolk, Va., on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Smith and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ab Ellis are also in Virginia on vacation.

Machinery, building materials, and fencing have risen about 80 per cent since the war.

COLORED NEWS

The Davie County Training School recreational program is steadily progressing. The enrollment has now increased to 62 persons.

During the past week many interesting events took place at the playground. The bubble blowing contest seemed to be the most popular. Jimmy Scott blew the largest bubble. His gum plastered forced opponents failed to out-blow his bubble; he won first prize and Robert March won second. Ted James was the best at checkers last week and Willie Clement was the only competitor that gave James Tabor trouble in badminton.

Erenda Williams, making a comeback from last year was unable to take her old championship crown in croquet golf from Ophelia Golne. Lonnie Barker beat last week's champion in horseshoes, and Elton Foote remained the tether ball champ.

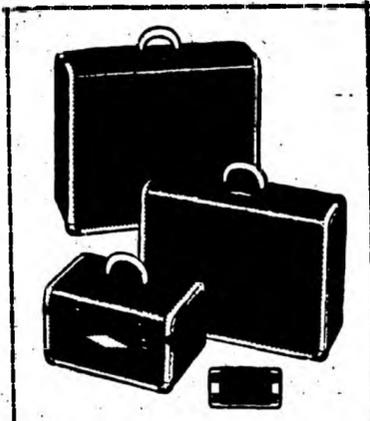

The playground hours change to 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock in the morning and 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. This change was for the benefit of those adults who wish to participate in various activities of the playground after working hours. Some of the adults have organized a baseball team, playground team calls itself the This team has played the boys Mocksville Dodgers. These two of the playground and calls it- teams have met twice. Each team self the Oak Grove Shogers. The winning one game each. A third team is being organized and should be ready for action next week. A girls' softball team is also being organized.

Farm and Home News

—FROM THE COUNTY AND HOME AGENT'S OFFICE—

Army Worm
Several reports have come in to the office about Army worms destroying fields of oats. Most of the people did not know that the Army worms were in their oats until they started combining. Several farmers report a total loss on some fields where the yield would have run from 70 to 100 bushels. People should keep a close check on their pastures and hay crops for this pest for they are in this and surrounding counties at present. DDT and Toxaphene are recommended control measures for this pest.

Top-Dressing Demonstrations
Dixie Liberty Fertilizer Company donated nitrogen to conduct fourteen top dressing demonstrations in the county the past week. Ervin Angell donated two hands, a truck and a tractor for one day applying the nitrogen. Fourteen plots were top dressed in the county. Most of these plots are on the main road so they will be easily seen during the season. Listed below are the farms where these top-dressing demonstrations were conducted: Oscar Keller, Bill Green, N. B. Dyson, R. P. Martin, County Home Farm, Ernest Murphy, Will Allen, Duke Sata, E. H. Harrison, Frank Brown, Wilson Owens and Maxie Swicegood.

People having cows that do not have a regular bangs testing program, will be required to have their cows tested within the next few weeks. Dr. V. M. Loomis, Federal Veterinarian, requests that farmers with cows to be tested please leave name at County Agent's Office.

Poultry Research Notes
1. The average time required for hens to reach standard egg sizes (24 ounces per dozen) is two months of lay.
2. Research workers have found that deep litter (7 inches) made the poultry house about five degrees warmer than thin litter (1½ inches deep).
3. It costs about 35 cents to feed a hen for one month whether laying or loafing. How many cull hens are you feeding? Ten cull hens in a flock for one month will cost $3.50.
4. Some research workers breaking every egg laid by some strains have found 65 per cent or more of blood spots. Egg buyers usually expect from 2 to 5 per cent spots in each case of eggs then candle. Some consumers throw away eggs with spots as they think the eggs are bad. Federal regulations say that eggs containing meat and blood spots are inedible. Normal eggs with spots are edible and we need an educational program to convince the consumer of this fact.

5. Research workers at Michigan State College found that fresh eggs are more nutritious. Cool eggs stay fresh longer than eggs held in a warm place. Eggs should be cooled quickly and kept cool from nest to frying pan.
6. If consumers get a top quality egg, they will eat more eggs and enjoy eating them.
7. Appetite, body weight, and egg production can drop as fast as the temperature rise if the birds are not kept cool and have plenty of fresh, cool water to drink.
8. Do your hens have plenty of grit? Hard grit will help your hens to lay eggs with better shells. Plenty of oyster shells, Vitamins A and D, and a cool house are also important factors in producing eggs with good shells in the summer time.

How many of these good friends of yours can you name?

JUST FOR FUN, jot down on this page the names of the freight cars pictured here that you recognize. Only ten types are shown — but we have more. Why so many? Because the railroads carry anything, any time, anywhere. So our equipment is "tailor-made" to handle all kinds of shipments in the best, most efficient manner.

Wherever you live in the South, freight cars like these are mighty good friends of yours. There's hardly a thing that's made or used that doesn't involve rail transportation somewhere along the way. In fact, railroads are often the only carrier equipped and geared to do the job.

Today the Southern operates some of the fastest regularly scheduled freight service in America. To our fleet of 50,700 freight cars are now being added 1,200 new-type "easy ride" steel box cars, costing $10 million. And we are ordering 1,500 more steel hopper coal cars costing an additional $10 million.

We are growing with the growing South, with modern equipment and ever-improving service. All in the Southland benefit.

A HEAD-ON COLLISION—Three teen-agers injured — Two cars demolished on Ridge Road, Tuesday. (Enterprise Photo)

Collision Injures 3 Teen-Agers

Three teen-age youths of the Cornater Community were seriously injured Tuesday afternoon when the cars in which they were riding collided head-on on the Ridge Road, just off Highway 64 East. The accident occurred around 2:45 p.m.

Clem M. Jones, driving a 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air Convertible, suffered lacerations about the face and head; a broken collarbone; and possible chest and internal injuries. He was charged with reckless driving and driving without a license. He lost his license for reckless driving at the last term of Superior Court here.

Gray Jones, driving a 1939 Ford, had a badly broken left knee, lacerations about the face and head, and possibly fractured ribs. Lewis Carter, a passenger in the car with Gray Jones, had lacerations about the face and head, right foot and left leg badly injured.

All three of the boys are patients at the Rowan Memorial Hospital. They are around 17 or 18 years of age.

State Highway Patrolman K. C. Cowan investigated the accident. No reason for the accident has been given. Both vehicles appeared to have hit head-on on the straight stretch of road. Both vehicles were demolished.

This brought the total number of injured in Davie County in automobile accidents to 31 for this month. There has been one fatality.

Teen'ers Troupe Yadkinville, 14-0

Mocksville slugged out a 14 to 0 victory over Yadkinville in a Teen'ers League game at Rich Park Saturday night.

Co-op Gets Contract For Elimination of Toll Charge

John R. Zaring Succumbs To Injuries Received In Collision In Davie, July 3

John Rowald Zaring, 23, of Seymour, Indiana, Route 2, died at 4:30 a.m. last Thursday in a Statesville hospital from injuries suffered in an automobile accident on July 3 on Highway 64 west of Mocksville.

This was the third highway fatality for Davie County this year. Mr. Zaring was born in Cooke County, Illinois, a son of Rowald H. and Alice B. Zaring. He is survived by his parents, a brother, Richard Lee Zaring of the home; a grandfather, John J. Bryant of the home.

Mr. Zaring and a friend, Max Wayne Noblitt, 21, also of Seymour, Indiana, were enroute to visit friends in Winston-Salem and Fort Bragg when the accident occurred on Hunting Creek Hill. The English sportscar which he was driving went out of control on the curve and crashed head-on into another car. Noblitt was also seriously injured in the crash. Mr. Zaring's body was returned to his home for funeral services.

Proposes 50c Per Month Per Subscriber In The Smith Grove Exchange

The board of directors of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation have announced that Central Telephone Company has submitted a proposed contract which will provide calling in and out of Mocksville and the Smith Grove exchange without a long distance charge.

According to a letter received this week from co-op officials, the cost of this contract to the corporation will be 51c per subscriber per month. However, the board of directors of the co-op have agreed on the cost of each member of the Smith Grove exchange will be 50c per month plus tax.

The letter from James M. Parks, President; Wade Groce, Vice President; and Homer S. Myers, secretary and treasurer, terms this as "the most reasonable proposal we have been able to secure for the Smith Grove Exchange."

The proposal was reported to have been approved by the board of directors, subject to the approval of the people involved. This means that it will be submitted to a vote of the subscribers of the Smith Grove exchange.

The complete letter received was as follows: Mr. Gordon Tomlinson, Editor Mocksville Enterprise, Mocksville, North Carolina. Dear Sir:

For four years the Board of Directors of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation have been trying to work out a satisfactory contract with the Central Telephone Company whereby the Smith Grove members can call Mocksville subscribers without a long distance charge.

Many attempts and conferences have been held relative to this matter. The Central Telephone Company, as of July 8, 1955, have submitted to the Board of Directors a proposed contract which will provide calling in and out of Mocksville and Smith Grove without a long distance charge. The cost of this contract to the Corporation will be 51c per subscriber per month, however, the cost for each member of the Smith Grove Exchange will be 50c per month plus tax, the 1c difference being made up out of general funds. This amount will be used to pay the Central Telephone Co. for providing this service. This is the most reasonable proposal we have been able to secure for the Smith Grove Exchange.

The Telephone Membership Corporation is owned and controlled by the members it serves. It is the policy and intentions of the Board of Directors, who represent the members to operate the Membership Corporation on a Cooperative basis with each member in each exchange paying the basic rate of $3.50 per month plus the Extended Area Service Charge into the center of interest that they wish to call without a toll charge.

The division of toll revenue is based upon the Standard Toll Agreement and applies to all toll revenue and not just the toll revenue between the local exchanges. The toll charge between Smith Grove and Mocksville is not and has not been in effect for the purpose of additional revenue but due to the Board of Directors being unable to work out an acceptable or satisfactory Extended Area Service Agreement during the past four years. The toll charge and rate is set by the Utility Commission and applies to all exchanges where a toll charge exist.

The Board of Directors held a Special Meeting on Monday Night July 11, 1955, following receipt of the Extended Area Service Contract on July 8, 1955, at which meeting they approved this Extended Area Service Contract subject to the approval of the people involved.

Very truly yours,
JAMES M. PARKS, President
WADE GROCE, Vice-President
HOMER S. MYERS, Sec. and Treas.

Flue-Cured Growers To Vote July 23

July 23 is the date set for Growers' Referendum on Marketing Quotas for Flue-cured tobacco, according to O. E. Driver, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

As in the past, growers may vote for quotas for one year—1956, or for the next three years—1956-58. Growers may also vote against quotas. At least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas if they are to be effective.

Marketing quotas have been in effect for flue-cured tobacco each year since the enactment of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 except for 1939, when quotas were discontinued by growers. The last previous referendum on flue-cured quotas was held in July, 1952, when 96.3 per cent of the 516 voters approved quotas for the three years 1953-1955.

On July 1 Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson proclaimed a National marketing quota of 1,130,000,000 pounds for the 1956 flue-cured tobacco crop. This quota compared with the quota of 1,270,000,000 pounds for the 1955 crop. The 1956 marketing quota would mean an acreage allotment of about 889,000 acres, compared with an allotment of 1,007,000 acres for 1955.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve quotas, price support at 90 per cent of parity will be available to growers who comply with their acreage allotments. Under quotas, too, farmers who do not comply with their farm allotments for flue-cured tobacco will be subject to penalties on their excess tobacco.

If more than one-third of the voters oppose quotas, no price support will be available on the 1956 flue-cured tobacco crop, and another Referendum must be held next year on marketing quotas for succeeding flue-cured crops.

Flue-cured tobacco is grown in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Florida and Alabama.

Voting places will be announced next week.

VFW MEETING

The July VFW meeting will be held Friday, July 15, in the VFW Hut. Everyone is urged to attend.

Deane's Bill, Farmer Aid, Becomes Law

Representative C. B. Deane of the Eighth Congressional District announced today that the President has signed a bill, which he co-authored in the House, to reduce the interest rate on disaster loans to the farmers from 5 to 3 per cent per annum.

Last January, without Congressional authority, the Farmers Home Administration with the Department of Agriculture raised the interest rate to 5 per cent on disaster loans to farmers. Mr. Deane's bill, which is now Public Law 132 of the current Congress, places a top ceiling on this interest rate at 3 per cent.

Congressman Deane stated this was fair legislation and he was glad to have had a part in making possible this aid to the farmers who have been or will be faced with serious problems due to drought, freeze and other disasters.

He further stated that 91 of the 100 counties in North Carolina have been declared disaster areas as a result of the severe freeze last March and the passage of this legislation is another step this Congress has taken to help the farmers bear the increasing burdens which they have faced within recent years.

Farmers lose about $13 billion a year to plant diseases. About 350 plant diseases do extensive damage to farm crops.

NOO SUNDAY MORNING, ANYTOWN, U.S.A.

Mom's busy getting Sunday dinner. Pop's base-deep in the papers. And Johnny's fed up—nothing to do, no place to go, and always a promise, "maybe next week we'll go some place." But they never do—together.

If Mom and Pop would only remember—"Nothing too good for that boy," they used to say, gazing deep into the soul shining from his baby eyes.

But they became too busy, too tired, and too worried to bother with Johnny. They gave him bread, milk, meat, and vegetables, but they forgot his soul.

It's not a stomach-ache but an ache in his spirit that ails him now. He wants to be somebody—to do something.

If you'd invite the Johnny's in your neighborhood to Sunday school and Church, they'd find something to do. They'd learn how to be somebody. And their souls would grow along with healthy bodies into stalwart men with a purpose in life.

Ask these Johnny's—today!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Letter To An Editor From a Farm Woman

"I wish you would get all merchants to advertise in your paper. Running from store to store trying to find what I want wastes hours of my valuable time. I wish nearly all merchants in your town would advertise their wares so that busy people could sit down in their leisure moments and read their advertisements and tell what they have for sale and where the buyers could get it.

"I have sent to mail order houses many times for articles that afterwards I found I could have bought at home and would much rather have bought at home. The mail order house puts in my home a catalog telling me what they have and how much it costs. I can see why it is in some communities busy people get the mail order habit. It doesn't always save money, but it saves time.

"I believe that if more merchants advertised every week there would be more people trading at home. I know it would make a difference in my case and I believe the same is true of my neighbors and friends."

The letter reproduced here was written to an editor by a farm woman living in his trade area

Our Position

Our position relative to the toll charge situation between the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative and the Central Telephone exchange in Mocksville is not designed to "win friends or even influence people," to quote Andrew Carnegie. Our position in this matter is merely that of trying to right a wrong as concerns the people of Davie County.

Through our editorial columns we will give our honest opinions on this situation. Through our news columns we will give the facts as we can best obtain them. Both our editorial and news columns are open to the board of directors of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation and its officials for any reply or information they may choose to give.

Any criticism directed or implied against the board of directors or officials of this organization should not be taken personal, for that is not the intent. All such criticism is directed entirely at the board as such, and not at the individuals who comprise it. With us there is always a distinction in such situations.

Two weeks ago we ran what was slated to be the first of a series of editorials on the toll charge situation and what we believe to be discrimination against the subscribers in the Smith Grove exchange. Shortly after the editorial appeared, officials of the co-op said that they wanted to reply to this editorial in the next issue. They were told that such a reply would be welcomed and would be published in a prominent position.

In anticipation of this reply, and in the effort of being entirely fair in giving them their "turn at bat," so to speak, we pulled from last week's edition an editorial on this subject that had already been written.

However, we were informed Tuesday afternoon that this reply would not be ready until the issue this week, but would appear then. As this is being written sometime prior to press deadline, there is no way of knowing whether this reply or information from the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative appears or not. We sincerely hope it does.

In the meantime, however, we plan to continue our editorial campaign on this subject. It may do no good. We make no promise. However, we will have the satisfaction of knowing that we have tried to correct a wrong for which in a way we feel partially responsible; for we helped sell the people of our county on the rural telephone co-op idea. We have waited for four or five years for the promise made them relative to their telephone subscription to be fulfilled. They have not been fulfilled, yet!

It is realized that the co-op has its problems and responsibilities. However, the object of a co-op in the first place is to serve the people and that would certainly make their first responsibility to the people. The people of Davie County will not complain and will carry their share of the load if treated fairly. But they have every right to expect and demand fair treatment.

If we are wrong in our facts, interpretations or implications we want to not only be told so—but shown why! We offer space, without charge, to the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative for this purpose. We believe this to be fair and the American way of reaching an understanding.

The Toll Charge!

Could it be that the board of directors of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation is not interested in abolishing the toll charge between Mocksville and the Smith Grove exchange in Davie County? That is, unless an additional charge of such proportions that would bring the co-op additional revenue could be tacked on in lieu of this toll charge?

Officials of the telephone co-op continue to talk about submitting the issue to a vote of their subscribers in the Smith Grove exchange. This would all be well and good provided the proposal submitted is a fair one. But—if the proposal to be submitted is a fair one and in the best interest of the subscribers would such a vote by the subscribers be necessary?

The board of directors was able to work out this problem with the exchanges in Yadkin County and with the Harmony exchange. This was done without a vote of the subscribers of these exchanges. The results were fair and reasonable—and would certainly be acceptable to the subscribers in the Smith Grove exchange on the same basis.

Subscribers in the exchanges in Yadkin County and Harmony pay only 25c more per month than the basic rate in the Smith Grove exchange. For this amount they are able to use their telephone without being taxed with a toll charge. Subscribers in Harmony can call Statesville without a toll charge. Subscribers in the two exchanges in Yadkin County can call Yadkinville and even across the county without a toll charge. In the Smith Grove exchange a subscriber must pay a 17c toll charge to call into Mocksville, in some cases a distance of less than three miles.

Of the 17c toll charge, the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation, themselves, take 7c. As anyone can readily figure, this adds up to additional income the co-op is able to extract from its members in this county. The income needed by the co-op should have been figured in the basic monthly charge, and not disguised under the toll charge system.

Unless the board of directors can work out a fair solution to the toll charge for their subscribers in the Smith Grove exchange any proposal submitted to a vote would be merely an empty gesture. For example, if the proposal should be a flat increase of 50c per subscriber in lieu of the toll charge, the subscriber would be penalized either way. If the proposal was rejected it would put the board of directors in a position of saying: "The subscribers prefer the toll charge to increased monthly rates!" If the vote for the 50c per month increase in lieu of the toll charge is favorable then the subscribers have saddled themselves with the highest rate of any exchange in the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative.

The challenge to the board of directors is to work out a fair and equitable solution for the toll charge problem in the Smith Grove exchange. By doing this they will secure the cooperation and understanding of all those so concerned and a vote will be an endorsement of appreciation of their efforts.

However, after four or five years, and under the present situation, one cannot help but wonder!!

CURING IS EXPENSIVE!
Nonprofit hospitals had trouble paying their bills last year, according to the American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955. Although the average patient paid $19.49 a day, the hospitals were paying $21.09 a day and had to meet the per-patient loss of $1.60 a day out of contributions and income from endowments.

JONESES AGAIN
According to The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955, a Wales television inspector is having difficulty in his job of detecting owners avoiding their annual license fee. He keeps running into "television enobs"—a term he's coined for those 25 per cent who display aerials but have no sets!

WASHINGTON REPORT

By BILL WHITLEY

WOMEN. The fairer sex still has a good way to go in the fight for equality although a lot of ground has been covered since women got permission to vote 35 years ago.

A bill was introduced in the Senate this week by Sen. Morse and co-sponsored by Sen. Scott that would chip away still another inequity under which women are suffering.

Under the present law, the children of male government workers who die are eligible to get annuity payments based upon the length of government service of their parent.

The same privilege is not granted to the children of women government workers who die.

UNFAIR. The measure proposed by Morse would erase this inequity and make the children of deceased female government workers eligible to the same benefits of deceased male government employees.

"I don't see any reason at all for this difference in the present law," Scott said. "I was very surprised to find out that women employees are not given the same treatment as men."

PROSPERITY. A lot has been said recently about prosperity and the thriving American economy.

Many people wonder just where all the "prosperity" is being felt. The following figures help show just who and what is at the top of the "prosperity" list. All figures are based on statistics for the past year.

Corporations income rose 16%; wage earners' income was up less than half this much—seven per cent. Stockholders' income increased eight per cent; farmers' income dropped six per cent. Food processors profits were up 17%; the farmers' share of the consumer dollar was down six per cent.

In the past year failures among the large corporations were down 16 per cent; failures among small corporations increased by seven per cent.

During the same time, large corporations enjoyed an increase in earnings after taxes of 330 million dollars while the small corporations boosted their earnings by only five million.

The trend? It depends on where you set in the business world. The bigger your business, the more "prosperity" you are enjoying.

60 Second Sermons

TEXT: "A difference of opinion makes horse races."—Mark Twain.

The Inspector on a reservation felt that he should explain the law to a certain Indian.

"See here," he said, "it is against the law to have more than one wife. The law must be obeyed. When you get back home, you tell all your wives, excepting one, that they can no longer look on you as their husband."

The Indian was quiet for a moment. Then he suggested, simply, "You tell 'em."

It is easy to tell others what they should do. Yet this habit sets up more friction than any other act.

Here in our country, we do most of our fist-shaking at those who say that our government should force everyone to have the same attitudes toward everything for the "good" of all. We each want our freedom to choose what we feel is good for us, personally.

The same is true among nations. Should we expect other countries to embrace our customs and laws because we think they are "good"? It could be that the people of other nations are as fiercely independent as you and I. It could be that they resent us telling them how to think and act. Yet, it could be.

Production of eggs in North Carolina during May is estimated at 145 million. This represents a seasonal decline of two million from the number laid in April but is the largest May production of record for the state.

Production of separate white and Negro schools. The other instance a tragic one, to which I have reference, happened in Asheville. There a 19 year old Negro died in a vain effort to rescue a white man who had been overcome by gas at the bottom of a deep sewer access hole. The Negro youth died a hero. His heroism has probably done more for fine race relationships in Asheville than all the court decisions combined.

It is through mutual cooperation and understanding that major problems are solved. They cannot be solved by those who have no real understanding of deep-rooted human nature. I am confident that the instances cited above are typical of the people of North Carolina, both white and colored.

WASHINGTON — The general feeling around the Senate now is that this Session will be finished by the first of August.

Last week, the Senate tackled a number of bills. I know you have already read about the action of Congress in your newspapers. For that reason, I will not enumerate these bills, but I do wish to discuss one action of the Congress which continues to give me a great deal of concern. That is the continuing unbalanced condition of the Federal Treasury.

DEBT

The administration had to come to Congress again to ask for a temporary extension of the legal public debt limit of the United States to 281 billion dollars from the legal limit of 275 billions. The Secretary of the Treasury wanted this authority to borrow up to 6 billions in excess of the permanent statutory limit. Congress gave that authority.

While all of us recognize the great demands made on the Federal government by all segments of the population and the vital necessity of adequate national defense, I had hoped that the administration would at least be able to balance the budget by this time. According to Senator Byrd, SURPRISE . . . Not even Kerr Scott himself during his four years as Governor came up with a bigger surprise than did Cox. Luther H. Hodges' appointment of William B. Rodman of Washington, N. C., as North Carolina's attorney general to succeed the late Harry McMullan.

He is one of the most prominent attorneys in the State, and the one man who helped the Governor so much with his financial problems in the recent General Assembly.

But somehow only two or three individuals out of thousands guessing who the new attorney would be had the nerve to admit they had thought of Rodman when it was learned that the Beaufort County legislator would come up with the job.

TEMPORARY? . . . Consensus here in Raleigh, and the word also slips up from Washington, is that William B. Rodman was not carried away completely by the appointment.

Having been in several sessions of the Legislature, Mr. Rodman knows that the duties of attorney general in North Carolina are rather arduous — particularly for a man who is pushing along toward 70 years of age.

The talk here in Raleigh — but of course there is no definite proof of its truthfulness — is that William Rodman will remain in the attorney general's post only until a vacancy occurs on the State Supreme Court bench.

Friends of Rodman tell you that is the principal reason he agreed to leave an exceedingly lucrative law practice and the relatively serene life in his home town to come to Raleigh.

SEVEN YOUNG MEN . . . Nobody here in North Carolina has ever been accused of referring to the members of the State Supreme Court as the old men—as did Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen about 30 years ago about some other judges in their book on the U. S. Supreme Court entitled "The Nine Old Men."

Although most attorneys admit privately that being appointed to the State Supreme Court is the nearest thing to going to heaven and keeping on living, our present judges are not nearly as old as those we had, say five or six years ago. Reason the majority of attorneys look with such esteem on this bench is the natural prestige it holds in the hearts of the people.

The honor is great; the pay is good. Our N. C. Supreme Court is a vigorous body composed of mentally vigorous judges.

Nevertheless, since men appointed to the court are usually well along past middle life, the turnover is considerable.

ONLY THREE . . . For instance, of the seven men who composed the bench seven years ago only three are on it today. Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy has passed on, so has Associate Justice A. A. F. Scawell.

Judge W. A. Devin lived to become chief justice, succeeding Judge Stacy, and later retired. He now lives in Oxford. He was 84 on this July 12; and Judge Winborne was 71 on the same day. Judge Sam J. Ervin was appointed U. S. Senator.

The average age of the court is now the lowest it has been in several years.

In 1950, the average age was 67. This high average was largely due to the fact that Justice Scawell was 86 at that time, with Justice Devin being 79.

Incidentally, older attorneys who have despaired of ever getting to the State Supreme Court should carefully guard their health and take heart in the fact that Justice Scawell was 74 when he attained that state. He was appointed to the position by Gov. Clyde R. Hoey in 1938.

OLDEST . . . Oldest men in point of service on the bench are Associate Justice John W. Winborne, who was appointed to the court on July 1, 1937, and Chief Justice M. V. Barnhill, who was appointed on the same date.

Judge Winborne is three years older than Chief Justice Barnhill, who has, incidentally, not been in robust health for several years.

CHANGE . . . Speaking of changes, only three — Secretary of State Thad Eure, Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine, and State Auditor Henry L. Bridges — of the men composing the Council of State five years ago are still holding State positions.

Three died: Clyde Erwin at the age of 55, Forrest Shuford at 57; and Harry McMullan at 71. The others moved to other jobs.

Although still young in years at 55—and even young at heart—Thad Eure has become the dean of State officials elected by the people. He was first elected Secretary of State in 1938.

Of our twelve Congressmen of five years ago, only seven are still in office. We have had a total of six senators in that time — Dr. Frank Graham, Willis Smith, Alton A. Lennon, W. Kerr Scott, Clyde R. Hoey, and Sam Ervin.

Looking at this list and the others above it isn't difficult to realize how the bottom rail soon moves to the top in North Carolina officialdom.

SINGLES ONLY . . . When Thad Eure took office back in 1938, North Carolina was still right much in the throes of the depression which had begun some five years earlier.

Jobs were at a premium. Thad noticed that although some families had nobody at all working for them, the state still had scores of married couples on its payroll.

He thought the pay should be spread around a little — and the best way to spread the money was to spread the jobs.

So, Thad Eure formed the practice of employing only single girls in his department. Since that time scores of girls have moved through the Secretary of State's efficient office.

Thad has 11 there now—all single. When one of his employees gets married, he assists them in finding another job if they still want to work.

The genial Secretary of State says he not opposed to marriage, but merely believes in helping people who need it most—or in spreading the jobs around a little.

America by 1975 will be a land in which the production capacity of paper will have to be doubled in present trends continue, according to Roy K. Ferguson, president and chairman of the board, St. Regis Paper Company.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites a recent speech by Mr. Ferguson in which he states that paper production capacity will double "in North America within the next 20-25 years if today's population growth and increase in per capita consumption continue to follow present trends."

Mr. Ferguson further states that "paper ranks as the nation's fifth largest industry exceeded only by automotive, steel, oil, and meat packing."

THE UNHAPPY ARE UNSURE

By FRANK KINNEY
WINSTON-SALEM — Do unimportant little matters worry you too much? Does distrust of yourself make friends hard to find or admirers impossible to hold? Quite likely your trouble is caused by lack of confidence in yourself.

The unsure woman finds she cannot say the right thing at the right time. Her opportunities for advancement and romance die before they are born. Without doubt lack of self confidence is wrecking more women's lives than any other single cause.

When a woman begins to care for her beauty and increase her attractiveness, self confidence rises in her heart with an amazing speed. The right word comes at the right time and opportunities for romance and adventure flatter her with their plentifulness.

Glenn Wood Wins Sportsman Feature

The old "Woodchopper" from Virginia finally did it again. Glenn Wood, the lanky Stuart, Va., speedster who won the Bowman Gray Stadium and North Carolina state championships in the NASCAR sportsman ranks last season, turned on full steam and streaked home the winner of the 35-lap sportsman feature of the stadium races at Winston-Salem last Saturday night to check the winning streak of Germanton's Bill Myers in a thrilling race and set the stage for this week's Saturday night card.

Not taking any chances, Wood made his appearance with both his Ford coupe and Ford coach and after several test runs with each the "Old Woodchopper" crawled into his coach and streaked from third starting position into a lead that was never threatened for the entire distance.

Wood plans to have both cars back next Saturday night, but this time he will have a co-pilot in a fellow Virginian, Curtis Turner of Roanoke. Trailing Wood at the finish of the thrilling race last Saturday night was Myers, who moved up from fourth to second place in the final 10 laps, but he was still a half lap back of the leader. Trailing Wood and Myers were Rex White of Silver Spring, Md., third; Bobby Myers of Winston-Salem, fourth; Ted Swain of Winston-Salem, fifth; Pee Wee Jones of Winston-Salem, sixth; Tom Webster of Winston-Salem, seventh; Shorty York of Mocksville, eighth; Whitey Norman of Winston-Salem, ninth, and Johnny Dobson of King, 10th.

Webster won the first 10-lap heat, trailed by Swain and Bill Myers with White capturing the second as Jones and Bob Myers trailed. York won the 15-lap consolation with Toots Jenkins of Winston-Salem second and Dodson third. In the amateur division, Jack Long of Winston-Salem won a keen 20-lap duel from Paul Walton of High Point as they remained within a car length of each other for the entire distance. The race was halted three times by wrecks and Walton finished second with Brown Loflin of Denton, third; K. N. Rush of High Point, fourth; Alvin Crews of Winston-Salem, fifth; and Ray Shores of Elkin, sixth.

In the three 10-lap amateur heat events, Walton won the first, Loflin the second and Harold Atkins of Winston-Salem the third.

No wonder this great '55 Pontiac is setting all-time sales records!

It's bigger, smarter and more powerful than any other car at anything like the price!

A sales success like Pontiac's starts on the drawing boards—with engineers and designers who have been schooled for years in the Pontiac idea of giving more people more car for less money. With its long 122" or 124" wheelbase and extra, big-car left, Pontiac provides road-hugging comfort you get in no other car near it in price! Now take this big, roomy car and surround it with the distinction of Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Toning—beauty that obviously is calling the turn on the future—and you have another reason for Pontiac's phenomenal sales success.

That alone would be enough for most cars—but not for Pontiac! Pontiac corners the market on value with the most powerful engine within hundreds of dollars of its price. The sensational 200-horsepower

Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor* is the most modern power you can buy. THE JOHNSTONE HOME—as it looked when it was the Ingleside Lodge just before the turn of the century.

Pearson-Johnstone Home Has Colorful History

House Being Razed To Make Way For Future Business Expansion

By GORDON TOMLINSON
(Note: Acknowledgment is made of data for this article furnished by Miss Mary Heitman of Mocksville, and Knox Johnstone.)

On September 21, 1835, Judge Richmond Mumford Pearson purchased 136 acres of land, "north and northwest of Mocksville" from Samuel Austin. At that time this was still a part of Rowan County, the legislative act creating Davie passing in December, 1836.

The land described above is that on which the Johnstone home stands between Church Street and Ceather Street in Mocksville. Knox Johnstone is now raising this old house to make room for future business expansion in this area.

Judge Pearson was a distinguished lawyer and jurist. He graduated with the highest honors in his class at the University of North Carolina in 1823. He practiced law in Salisbury in the offices of Judge Henderson. In 1829 he represented his native county in the legislature and served three terms. In 1836 he was elected a Judge of the superior court, and in 1840 was elected a member of the supreme bench.

In 1838, he was chosen chief justice of the State Supreme Court upon the death of Chief Justice Nash. During his term as chief justice he took a very bold stand in support of the integrity of the writ of habeas corpus, and would not countenance the idea of its suspension in spite of the strong pressure brought to bear. By his independent and almost defiant attitude on this question, he rendered himself exceedingly unpopular. He was a candidate for the constitutional convention in 1865, but was defeated. He was appointed provisional chief justice by the military authority in 1865, and when the civil authority was restored was again elected to that office which he held until his death in January, 1878.

He was twice married. First on June 12, 1832 to Margaret M. Williams of Tennessee, a niece of Hugh L. White, Whig candidate for the Presidency of the United States in 1836. Second, in 1859, to the widow of Gen. John Gray Bynum, and daughter of Charles McDowell of Morantown.

In the list of members in 1837 contained in the old session book of the Joppa Presbyterian Church is the name of Mrs. Margaret Pearson.

For about ten years (1836-1846) Judge Pearson operated a law school in Mocksville. His law office was a small brick building located on Gaither Street, which was torn down many years ago.

Sometime in 1846, Judge Pearson moved his law school to that part of Surry County that is now Yadkin County and named this

S. A. ANDERSON DIES SUDDENLY

Samuel Avery Anderson, 60, died at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday after suffering a heart attack at the Davie County Prison Camp, of which he was assistant superintendent.

Mr. Anderson had been in declining health for several years but death was unexpected.

He was born April 5, 1825, in Iredell County, the son of George and Laura Reavis Anderson. He lived on Avon Street, Mocksville. He was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Iga Roberts Anderson; one son, Jesse Anderson of Walkertown, Route 1; three daughters, Mrs. Ernest Harris of Greensboro, Mrs. Nancy Anderson of Lexington, and Miss Donna Anderson of the home; three brothers, Walter Anderson of Mocksville, Route 5, John Anderson of Mocksville, Route 2, and Luther Anderson of Creston and eight grandchildren.

DAVIE WOMAN KILLED IN WRECK

Miss Helen Marie Williams, 29, of Lexington, a former native of Davie County, was killed in a wreck between Lexington and Tyro early Sunday morning that claimed a total of three lives and left another critically injured.

Willie Gray Cranfill, 22, of Lexington, Rt. 1, and J. C. Jones, Jr., 29, of Lexington, were also killed. Injured was Norman Clark Bailey, also of Lexington, whose condition was termed as critical.

The accident occurred at 12:15 a. m. Sunday morning. Cranfill was believed to have been driving the car which was owned by Miss Williams.

The automobile was said by the State Highway Patrol to have been traveling west towards Tyro at a high rate of speed. It went into a curve each of the bridge and ran off on the left side. The car went sideways for 200 feet down a 50-foot high embankment. It landed on its left front and jumped some 25 feet through the air to the other side of the creek. There it hit another embankment and bounced backward about 20 feet, landing on its top.

Bailey and Jones were thrown out. Miss Williams and Cranfill were pinned underneath. Miss Williams was born Aug. 25, 1927, in Davie County, a daughter of Rufus C. and Lennie Correll Williams. She had been employed in Lexington for eight years as a textile worker.

Man Jailed For Assault On Female

A Winston-Salem man was in the Davie County jail this week facing charges of drunk and disorderly, assault on a female and resisting arrest. His female companion, also of Winston-Salem, was elsewhere trying to recuperate from injuries received in the assault.

The man in jail was Charlie Elgin Dunn, 30, of Winston-Salem. His woman companion which he beat up was Mrs. Sadie Beal, 30, also of Winston-Salem. The assault took place in an automobile on the Bisby-Cornatser Road, Sunday, around noon.

The story began when the couple persuaded a man in Winston-Salem to drive them to Davie County for a visit to Dunn's father. Dunn soon became drunk and a quarrel ensued between him and the Beal woman. Reports indicate that he started beating on her while they were traveling along Highway 158.

However, the driver pulled off the road and got him to calm down and then continued on the trip. Dunn attacked the woman again when the car was traveling on the Bisby-Cornatser Road. He beat her all about the face with his fist, hit her in the back of the head, and pulled a knife in the attempt to cut her before the driver succeeded getting the woman out of the car and into a store on that road. The ambulance and officers were called.

Mrs. Beal was carried to a local doctor for treatment. She suffered a badly bruised face; her lips were cut through to the teeth; bad gash of right eye; eyes hemorrhaging; and a big knot on the back of her head.

State Highway Patrolman A. W. Cox and Deputy Sheriff Wade Heward arrested Dunn and lodged him in the local jail.

Davie Native Dies While In Swimming

Rev. Claude Creason, 33, native of Davie County and pastor of the Guilford Baptist Church at Guilford College, died in the Kimesville lake Tuesday afternoon while swimming.

Friends of the family said they had not determined if the minister suffered a heart attack or drowned.

He had been swimming with a group of Royal Ambassadors, a Baptist youth people's group. Several other Baptist ministers were reported to have been in the swimming party, too.

Witnesses said he had taken his life preserver off to lie on it and float in the water. His body was recovered from the lake by fellow clergymen.

The Rev. Mr. Creason had attended Piedmont Bible Institute of Winston-Salem and had a number of friends there.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Juanita Cox Creason of Guilford College, and two daughters, Dianne and Gaynelle Creason of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Creason of Siler City; two brothers, Basil Creason and Donald Creason, both of Siler City, Route 2, and a sister, Mrs. J. C. Caviness of Bear Creek.

Votes Must Be In Monday, July 25th

Telephone subscribers of the Smith Grove Exchange of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative are now voting on the proposal of whether to pay a flat fee per month for extended area service into Mocksville or continue on the toll charge basis.

Letters explaining this have been mailed to the subscribers in the Smith Grove exchange. Each subscriber is asked to indicate his preference on an attached postal card which must be returned by July 25.

Officials of the Central Telephone Company in Mocksville Tuesday indicated that their Company would submit a somewhat similar proposal to their subscribers if the co-op approves the contract.

The basis for establishing extended area service between the two exchanges is as follows:

a. Yadkin (the co-op) to own and maintain the interexchange trunks required to provide RAG and the respective companies to provide and maintain necessary terminations therefor.

b. Central to lease from and pay to the co-op rental for job use, portion of the required trunk (presently estimated to be fifteen (15) at the rate of $3.00 per month per trunk (4.0 miles x $3.00 per mile x 36.3% of use).

c. Co-op to pay Central monthly an extended area service switching charge to be based on and at the rate of $10 for each of 20 average stations served during the preceding month. Such average to be determined by adding the number of stations served on the first and last days of the month divided by two.

Ray Jones, Assistant Division Manager for Central Telephone Company, and W. S. Beddingfield, District Manager, said that their company would submit the lease to their subscribers just as soon as it became apparent that the co-op desired to operate under this agreement.

The Central officials revealed that the only rate increase involving their subscribers would be the step up into the new bracket, which is based on the number of telephones in a system. At the present time there are around 800 telephones on the Central system in Mocksville. With the addition of the co-op telephones involving toll free service, the number of telephones would increase to around 1300. This would be the basis for the following charges:

(The present charge is shown with the proposed increase shown in parentheses): Business (Individual) 7.00 (8.55) Business (Two party) 8.55 (10.10) Business (Four party) 10.10 (11.65)

Residential (1 party) 4.20 (4.65) Residential (2 party) 3.45 (3.90) Residential (4 party) 2.85 (3.15) Rural business 4.20 (4.65) Rural residential 3.00 (3.30)

If the agreement between the two exchanges is approved, the above will be in effect for the (Continued on Page 2)

MORE ABOUT Pearson-Johnstone Home

place "Richmond Hill," which was the name of his father's plantation on the South Yadkin River.

After Judge Pearson moved away, his house was occupied for some years by his sister, Mrs. Eliza Pearson Beatty and family. It was the home of her son, Dr. W. H. Beatty and family until about 1850. According to real estate records, the Beatty family was living in Tuscaloosa, Ala., in 1863.

Home of Thomas Gaither During the period of the War Between the States, the Pearson house was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Gaither, who later moved to Charlotte.

Sheriff Abner Kelly and family lived in this house some time afterwards before becoming residents of Charlotte.

The Pearson house later became the home of William Jones and relatives.

In the late 1880's or early 1890's this house was purchased by Capt. Frank Brown, who was not a native of Davie County. He and his family lived here for a number of years during which the house was enlarged to its present size.

The Brown family moved to Salisbury about 1899.

Ingleside Lodge

For a number of years just before the turn of the century, this place was operated by Will Sanford and June Bailey as the "Ingleside Lodge." This was operated as a resort for quail hunting and entered to well-to-do sportsmen from the North. The lodge was open during the shooting season, beginning November 1st and closing March 15th.

A booklet advertising "Ingleside" had this to say: "The Lodge offers large rooms, newly and well furnished, heated by big old time wood fire, such as the hunter can enjoy after a long hunt, a good supper and a refreshing bath. Efficient guides will be furnished free; good teams accustomed to shooting, and last, but not least, well trained dogs... Also prepared to take care of all sportsmen's shooting days."

"The Lodge is located in the heart of eight thousand acres of fine hunting grounds, stocked with abundant game, such as turkeys, quail, pheasants, etc. Being in a section where grain is principally raised, and where the winters are mild, quail is so abundant that from 15 to 25 covies can be found in a day."

"The pea fields and wheat stubble is where you find them, and the best shooting is after they are scattered."

"The preserves are well watered by South River, Bear and Hunting creeks, and for the hunter are so ideally situated that he wades through no sand beds, or dense thickets, as in Eastern North Carolina, nor climbs the steep hills common to the Western portion of the State."

"During the hunting season the roads are usually good, and within 15 minutes ride fine sport begins. The weather is of that delightfully exhilarating kind that is fast making this section of the State famous as a resort for sportsmen."

"Mocksville is 20 miles from Salisbury, 26 from Winston, and 60 from Charlotte and is easily reached from all points North and South. We have two daily mails, and are connected with the outside world by telephone and telegraph."

"We refer by special permission to Rev. Arthur S. Johns, Washington, D. C.; Chas. Adrian Grant, Esq., Middleburg, Va., and Hon. Conway Sams, Baltimore, Md."

"Those contemplating a few weeks sport on lands where game is plentiful, would do well to write us early in the season. For rates and further information, address BAILEY & SANFORD, Mocksville, N. C."

A deed recorded on March 28, 1902, shows that Mrs. Oussie Knox Johnstone purchased this land from Frank Brown and wife, Addie. This then became the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Johnstone and has remained in this family until this day, now being owned by their son, Knox Johnstone.

The Co-op Principle

Telephone subscribers in the Smith Grove Exchange of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative apparently will soon vote on whether or not they want to pay 50c per month for extended area service into Mocksville or continue on the toll charge basis.

In submitting this issue to a vote in this manner, the board of directors are apparently expecting the subscriber vote to be purely one of self interest. That is to say, if the subscriber will get out cheaper at the rate of 50c per month than he does with the toll charge, he will vote for the monthly rate. If, however, his toll charge calls amount to less than 50c per month, he can be expected to vote against the increased monthly rate.

It is a simple matter of arithmetic to figure that the higher the rate per month for extended area service the more subscribers there will be voting against it. It is also a simple matter of arithmetic to figure the number of subscribers who make more than three toll charge calls per month and pretty accurately judge how the vote for a 50c rate will go.

Around five years ago the idea for this rural telephone cooperative was born with the Pino Grange in this county. Officials and members of this Grange held the first meeting at the courthouse in Mocksville. Plans were made and other communities asked and were invited to join this venture.

The organization that came into being to foster the rural telephone program for Davie, Yadkin and a part of Iredell County was a cooperative. The cooperative principle, as we understand it, is all cooperating and pulling together towards a common goal.

The common goal certainly in the beginning was telephone service and such involved connecting service into and out of the center of interest without a toll charge. This was the goal of the cooperative to start with—however, before long it was changed.

Sometime around 1952 or 1953, the date is not too important anyway, the goal of the cooperative apparently became that of erecting the lines and installing the telephones. The officials sought and obtained the cooperation of most everyone in carrying out this goal. However, back of it all was the belief on the part of the subscribers that once the lines were up and the telephones installed, something satisfactory would be worked out concerning what is known as extended area service.

Today the cooperative has the lines erected and the exchanges operating. The telephone system is functioning. In all the communities except this one, a satisfactory solution has been worked out for connecting services between the centers of interest. Here, after four or five years of waiting, the directors are tossing the problem into the laps of the subscribers of this exchange, saying in effect:

"Here—fight it out among yourselves. Whatever you decide will be all right with us!" They do this knowing that whichever way the vote goes there will be much dissatisfaction among the subscribers.

It is the responsibility of the board of directors of a cooperative or any other organization to lead the fight for the best interest of their members. That is the purpose of a board of directors—that is the purpose for which they are elected. In other words, they should be the leaders that the members look to for counsel and guidance.

If the board of directors of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation believe that the proposition they are preparing to submit to a vote of the members in the Smith Grove exchange is a good one and in the best interest of these members, let them step forward and recommend it's adoption. If they cannot do this, then we maintain that they have no business of submitting such an issue to the vote of the subscribers and they still have before them an important job to do—a job of working out a solution which they can heartily endorse.

The co-op principle is one of working together and each member sharing equally in responsibility and benefits. The Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Cooperative, although made up of various exchanges, is one unit. Regardless of the exchange in which a member lives, he shares the responsibility of the entire co-op organization. Regardless of the exchange in which a member lives, he should share equally in service benefits with his fellow members. Unless this be true to the highest degree, the cooperative will lack the vital strength that comes with the cooperation and pride of its members.

The Tobacco Referendum

Tobacco growers of this and other counties will vote Saturday on marketing quotas for flue cured tobacco. As in the past, they may vote on quotas for one year (1956), or for the next three years (1956-1959). At least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas if they are to be effective.

Marketing quotas have been in effect for flue-cured tobacco each year since the enactment of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, except for 1939 when quotas were disapproved by growers. The last previous referendum on flue-cured quotas was held in July, 1952, when the voters approved quotas for three years, 1953-1955.

Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, has proclaimed a national marketing quota of 1,13,000,000 pounds for the 1956 flue-cured crop. The 1956 marketing quota would mean an acreage allotment of about 869,000 acres, compared with an allotment of 1,007,000 acres for 1955.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve quotas, price support at 90 per cent of parity will be available to growers who comply with their acreage allotments. Also, under quotas, farmers who do not comply with their farm allotments for flue-cured tobacco will be subject to penalties on their excess tobacco.

If the quotas are not approved by at least a two-thirds majority, no price support will be available on the 1956 tobacco crop, and another referendum will have to be held next year on marketing quotas for succeeding crops.

All things considered, it would certainly appear to be in favor of the tobacco growers of this area if the marketing quotas are continued.

Fire Department Aid

The Davie County Board of Commissioners have increased their aid to the rural fire department of the county from $1200 to $3000 per year. This increase enables each of the rural fire departments to receive $50 per month for maintenance purposes.

Aid to these rural fire departments are of a direct benefit to the people. These fire departments were organized for the purpose of preventing undue fire destruction. Thus far they have been financed by free-will contributions and through fund raising efforts of members of the community. At the same time they have functioned to save taxable property of the county.

The financial help that the $50 per month will provide for these fire departments of course will be great. However, possibly even more than the financial value, is the knowledge that the efforts of these fire departments are recognized and appreciated.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By BILL WHITLEY

TOBACCO. North Carolina tobacco growers will be voting on two important issues Saturday at regular ABC polling places.

Flue-cured tobacco farmers will decide whether or not to continue marketing quotas. As in past years, the leaf growers are expected to approve marketing quotas by an overwhelming margin.

At the same time they vote on quotas, tobacco farmers will vote on a 10 cents per acre assessment for the promotion of tobacco exports through Tobacco Associates, Inc., the trade organization that arranges for most of the sales of tobacco outside the United States.

FUTURE. In many ways, the assessment vote is more important than the quotas vote. One of the big threats to the entire tobacco industry in the past few years has been an erratic pattern of tobacco consumption. Domestic consumption has been especially irregular.

As a result of the unstable domestic market, the future success of the tobacco industry depends in large measure upon the expansion of foreign markets. In recent years foreign production of tobacco has increased and brought about a rather tight squeeze on many traditional American markets.

Consequently, tobacco farmers have been forced into a position of seeking out new foreign markets as a means of reducing the present tobacco surplus and keeping demand in line with production.

PEANUTS. At the same time tobacco growers vote, peanut farmers, mostly in Eastern North Carolina, will decide on a proposal to assess themselves two cents per hundred pounds to promote the peanut industry.

In recent years the Virginia type peanut, which is grown exclusively in North Carolina, for the edible market, has had tough sledding. Other varieties have threatened to take over the Virginia type market and foreign producers have made efforts to send more and more of the Virginia type into the United States.

The proposed two cents per hundred levy would be used to improve production techniques, marketing procedures and in promotion campaigns to help create more demand for the Virginia type peanut.

ENDORSEMENT. This week Senator W. Kerr Scott urged farmers to continue tobacco marketing quotas and approve the proposed assessments both on tobacco and peanut production.

With farm income dropping as it is, Scott said, "It is urgent that farmers make every effort possible to increase demand for their products through expanded markets, both domestic and foreign."

WASHINGTON — The Senate took a recess for the Fourth of July. I took advantage of the recess to visit Dare County, North Carolina. This visit, which lasted parts of three days, constituted the only vacation I have had since I became a member of the Senate about one year ago.

While I lodged at Nags Head, I took advantage of opportunities to visit Kitty Hawk, Manteo, Hatteras and Cape Hatteras.

"THE LOST COLONY"

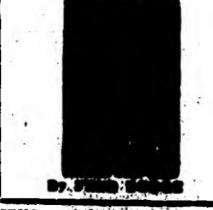

I was much impressed by the excellence of the performance of those who enacted Paul Green's celebrated play, "The Lost Colony," which depicts with such a high degree of accuracy the courage of America's first settlers.

My first visit to Dare County occurred in May, 1931, when my long-time friend, Floyd R. Crouse, a colleague in the General Assembly of 1931, and I journeyed from Raleigh to Manteo. I have never seen greater changes in any section than those which have occurred on this portion of the Outer Banks of North Carolina since that time. This portion of the Outer Banks has become one of the great recreation areas of the nation. It is certain to undergo even greater development in the future for its potentialities beggar one's imagination.

OTHER SECTIONS

Since I became one of North Carolina's Senators, I have availed myself of every opportunity to visit various sections of the State. I believe that this is the best way for a public official to ascertain the problems of the people he is privileged to serve. I hope to see

TEXT: "He does not let the water to grasp at the foam"—Chinese proverb.

The teacher had filled the blackboard with mathematical symbols and figures as she worked out a complicated problem. Finally she said,

"And now we see that X is equal to zero."

"Well," murmured one of the confused students, "think of all work for nothing!"

It isn't only in mathematics that the answer we get amounts to nothing. We are often disappointed to see capable men and women grasp at the foam of life when they have the ability to swim great distances. They bring to the water every potential for a record-breaking performance and waste their efforts trying to hold the foam in their hands. They are attracted by the white-tipped waves; the millions of bubbles which no one can possess. Yet they choose the foam.

The ancient Chinese, in picturesque language, expressed an eternal truth. The world always has had foolish folks who go into the water only to grasp at the foam. Are you one of them? Copyright 1955, Fred Dodge many other sections of the State after the adjournment of the present session of the Congress, which we now believe will occur sometime about the end of July.

My visits to the Outer Banks and the coastal regions of North Carolina have convinced me that these regions afford virtually unlimited recreational, commercial and economic opportunities.

I rejoice in the fact the Congress is making provision at this session to assist in the development of these commercial and economic opportunities by its appropriations for various harbor and river projects. These appropriations result from the teamwork of the entire North Carolina Delegation in the 84th Congress.

STUDY NAVAJO'S DIET

The Navajo Indians have a low frequency of cancer cases, according to an article in the 1955 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia. Under a federal-state-private project, Dr. Clarence Salisbury, Arizona State health director, has begun diet studies among this Indian tribe to seek an answer to their seeming resistance to the disease.

THE LIBERAL... Until a few days ago, Assistant Attorney General Beverly Lake was regarded as probably the most liberal official in the State government. What, if anything, has happened to him? Lake grew up in a liberal environment, his father being head of the physics department at Wake Forest College. Dr. Lake's students at Wake Forest Law School regarded him as being just a shade left of center.

The big corporations have disliked Dr. Lake for some little while. He is the one official, for instance, who has given Southern Bell such a hard time on its appeals for higher rates to help meet ever-increasing operating costs.

WANTED LAKE... Followers of W. Kerr Scott for five years looked upon Dr. Lake as the fair-haired boy in the legal ranks of the State. They wanted him to be named attorney general to succeed the late Harry McMullan. When Gov. Luther Hodges three weeks ago appointed W. B. Rodmon to this position the Scott camp was up in arms. Some of them even went to far as to claim that the Governor only appointed men to positions of relatively unimportant influence.

When the chips were down, they said in effect, Luther Hodges appointed a conservative instead of a bright-and-shining Lake.

ADVICE... The most liberal brain in State officialdom and the man who had so ably presented North Carolina's case for segregation before the U. S. Supreme Court last Spring advised — in a speech to the Asheville Lions — every community in the State to charter non-stock, non-profit, charitable corporations to operate their school systems so that they might be prepared in the event North Carolina is forced to have Negro children in the same classrooms with whites.

Dr. Lake went to say that the "National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is our enemy, not the Negro people."

WHY?... When the Lake address of Tuesday night, July 12, was reported in the newspapers, there was a shocked silence on the part of Dr. Lake's liberal friends. At first, they just could not believe it.

Then, when the assistant attorney general didn't say anything about having been misquoted, tongues began wagging, sure enough. If the editorials and radio comment about the statement were laid end to end, they would reach from here to that door yonder and back. Everybody began asking why. Why?

WHAT'S YOUR LINE?... We have developed thought lines in this country. If you are a real honest to goodness, all-fired liberal, for example, you are supposed to be all-out for TVA, you favor government competition with private business, you are for integration of the white and colored races, etc. etc.

If you are a conservative, you are for states' rights, for lower taxes, for less government spending, for a balanced budget, and for less government competition with private business, etc. Now if you are in the conservative thought line and don't think the way the self-chosen bosses of the group want you to, if you don't follow the complete line, then something is wrong, you are an immediate outcast.

The same thing is true in the other line—the liberal line. Now here comes one Dr. Beverly Lake and violates the line and throws everybody into a tizzy. Because he has been opposed to utilities' charging higher rates for their product, he is supposed to be against big business and because he is against big business, he is supposed to be in favor of white and colored children going to school together. Get it?

There is no connection between the two. It doesn't add up. But that is the type of thinking we have allowed ourselves to drift into—or be dragged into—within recent years.

We are inclined to think not as individuals any more, but to indulge in group thinking. Since Dr. Lake apparently thought and talked as an individual, he is being charged with being a candidate for governor, with indulging in sour grapes because he wasn't appointed attorney general, and with being an out-and-out Dixiecrat.

TAKE STEPS... Almost everybody agrees that Dr. Lake probably should have consulted his superiors before making such inflammatory statements in these really hypercritical ads.

Now the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has requested Governor Hodges to get rid of Dr. Beverly Lake as assistant attorney general. This organization doesn't seem to care particularly how the Governor does it, but asks him to "take whatever steps are necessary to remove" the assistant attorney general who talked so ugly about them.

This firm request came last Saturday a few hours after the governor had left for a vacation. The interesting question now is: will Luther Hodges follow NAACP and kick out Beverly Lake, the man he thinks has done such a good job in presenting the State's case on segregation before the high court. Questions like that can interfere seriously with one's vacation and really make miserable these humid hours of Dog Days.

LIGHTWEIGHT... There is a growing feeling that the Democrats might keep control of the Congress in the next election. You can also find considered opinion to the effect that Adlai Stevenson will be the Democratic nominee for the Presidency and will defeat President Eisenhower.

If the Democrats get in, Harold D. Cooley might well become Secretary of Agriculture, Congressman C. B. Dancy, in whose district Stevenson has friends and relatives, is close to Stevenson and has been mentioned for the post of Secretary of Labor. Then you have Dan Edwards of Durham, John Graham of Winston-Salem, and other Tarheels up for consideration.

Here in Raleigh all sorts of gyrations are coming from Jonathan Daniels, the newspaper editor and man-about-town.

For two years a trail of rumors has followed him. Many people seeing Daniels as a lightweight in such a league have all but dismissed them.

NEW CARS... New car registration for the first five months of this year show Ford leading Chevrolet by 12,560 to 11,250 and Buick leading Plymouth by 4,800 to 4,361.

Here are the sales of new cars for January through May of this year as compared with the same period in 1954:

Buick, 4,988 and 3,133; Cadillac, 842 and 606; Chevrolet, 11,250 and 9,910; Chrysler, 1,068 vs 500; DeSoto, 875 against 397; Dodge, 1,807, as compared with only 919 last year for five months; Ford, 12,560 and 9,297; Henry J., 2 and 10; Hudson, 204 and 182; Kaiser, 11 and 33; Lincoln, 185 and 187; Mercury, 2,248 and 1,538; Nash, 374 and 373; Oldsmobile, 3,803 and 2,329; Packard, 297 and 258; Plymouth, 4,361 and 3,723; Pontiac, 4,068 and 2,806; Studebaker, 66 and 597; and Willys, 110 and 146 for the first five months in 1954.

Trucks: 8,783 for January through June this year and 8,049 for the same months last.

America by 1975 will be a transportation minded nation in which there will be 80,000,000 automobiles on its highways.

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

By J. B. WHITAKER

There are countless millions of people in the world today who have never stopped to examine their religious positions. In 1 Peter 3:15 we read, "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear." Do you believe that you can be true to God and to yourself without examining your religious beliefs? When we believe and practice anything in religion it should be based on a strong conviction that the practice is right. What should be the basis for our convictions? Nothing but the Word of God. In examining our religious beliefs we need to ask ourselves "What is the foundation upon which the church I am a member of is built? Is it human or Divine? The church that Christ built is founded upon the eternal truth that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God. Peter made this noble confession when he came to Jesus at Caesarea Philippi. (Matt. 16: 13-18). We know of a surety that no building or institution can be stronger than the foundation upon which it rests. Jesus tells us in Matt. 7:24-27 that we are foolish to build our spiritual house upon anything other than his word. As we look about us today we see numerous institutions which are supposed to be the church of the Lord. Do their names imply that they belong to the Lord? We must answer no. Every denomination has been built upon some individual or some special theory or doctrine. The church of Christ came into existence because it was the purpose of God from the foundation of the world to redeem man. Listen to Paul in Eph. 3:8-11 "Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ; And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ: To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God. According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord." No man's religious position is better than the foundation upon which it rests. If we have built upon the authority of Christ we have the proper foundation. If we depend upon what men say and think we are building upon the wrong foundation. In Dan. 2:44 we read concerning the church or kingdom of the Lord, "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed; and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever." On the other hand, the Lord tells us in Matt. 15:13 what shall happen when we build upon men—"Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up." (Adv.)

MIS-USE OF CADMIUM DANGEROUS TO SWINE

In recent months considerable interest has been shown in the use of cadmium compounds as worm treatments in swine. These compounds, like sodium flouride, are effective ascaricides in swine, but it should be remembered that the directions for their use must be strictly followed; otherwise, bad results and even death losses can be expected. The cadmium compounds are ordinarily utilized in the regular feed placed before the swine again.

Some unconfirmed reports show that a few swine producers are feeding the cadmium compounds at low level continuously. It should be pointed out in this connection that it has been shown that continued ingestion of very small doses in experimental rat colonies has produced marked symptoms of disease, including a stunted growth and death after some months. The toxicity was more pronounced when the animals were fed a low protein diet. There is a possibility that new combin-

BOLL WEEVIL
In the lower part of the county in Jerusalem Township, boll weevil has appeared in most fields from five to 25 per cent. From Mocksville North and West of Mocksville, we have not been able to find any damage from boll weevils so far this summer. Below are questions and answers on the life cycle of the boll weevil:

1. How long does a square remain on the plant after being punctured? Average 7 days.
2. What age square is preferred by weevils? Seven days old to 3 days before blooming.
3. How old must a boll be before it is safe from weevil attack? Approximately 20 days.
4. How long will an overwintered boll weevil live if he emerges before the cotton is up? Minimum 1 day, maximum 52 days, average 5.65 days.
5. How long will an overwintered boll weevil live in young cotton before it begins to square? Maximum 40 days (90 per cent die within 16 days) average 8 days.
6. How long will a boll weevil live in cotton that is fruiting? Males about 20 days, females about 16 days.
7. How many eggs does a weevil lay? From 1 to 440, average 81.2.
8. How many eggs per day does a boll weevil lay? A maximum of 33, average of 6.4.
9. How long does it take a boll weevil to develop in a cotton square? From an average of 17.6 days for the first generation to an average of 33.5 days for fourth generation, with an average of 33.5 days for fourth generation, with an average for all generations of 18.3 days.
10. How old must a square be before it is attacked by boll weevils? About five days.
11. When does the first brood of boll weevils appear? At appearance of first blooms.
12. What influences boll weevil migration? The main factor in boll weevil migration is their available food supply.
13. What influences boll weevil emergence in the spring? Moisture is the main factor. High temperature without moisture won't bring many weevils out of hibernation.
14. What per cent of hibernating boll weevils emerge into the cotton fields after June 15? Approximately 40 per cent, ranging from 23.7 per cent to 53.3 per cent.
15. How old must a female boll weevil be before she can lay eggs? Approximately 5 days.

International Stock Car Race Set For Saturday

South Carolina's beauty queen, Miss Martha Dean Chestnut of Conway, will be guest of honor at the first annual International stock car race scheduled for Bowman Gray Stadium here for Saturday night, July 23, Race Director Bill France announced.

Miss Chestnut, who will represent South Carolina in the national beauty contest at Atlantic City, N. J. in September, was formerly selected as "Miss Southern 500" for the annual Darlington Labor Day race two years ago, but will probably miss the big speed classic September 5th due to the national contest.

The International speed classic, the first ever scheduled for the Carolinas-Virginia area, will be open to both American and foreign type automobiles, including British Jaguars and MG's, American Ford Thunderbirds and carry all the top drivers of the NA SCAR Grand National Circuit and short track late model divisions with more than $5,000 prize money lap feature, open to all the qualified on the line.

The main event will be a 150-lap race. This will be supplemented by two 25 lap heat events and two other heat events that include one for popular priced American cars and one for sports cars. The first race is set for 8:30 o'clock, but time trials will get underway at 7 o'clock and stadium officials are anticipating a capacity crowd of 20,000 for the big classic.

Lee Petty of Randleman, winner of the Grand National championship for 1954 and present leader in the 1955 campaign, won the season's late model race at the stadium earlier this year with a 1954 Chrysler New Yorker and will likely be back with his 1955 Chrysler 300 for the International race.

Bill Myers, sensational sportsman driver and present national leader and stadium point star, is scheduled to drive a Chevrolet Corvette and Curtis Turner of Roanoke, Va., is due to drive a Ford Thunderbird.

Miss Chestnut will present the trophy to the winner of the big race.

DEFENSE STRENGTHENED

The Japanese National Safety Forces have been converted into the National Defense Forces and have been given the mission of external security in addition to their former national police duties. The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955 reports that one law also established an air force. The terms "army," "navy," and "air force," however, are still avoided.

How Advertising helps you

Customer Is King

THERE'S a slogan in American business to the effect that the customer is king, should be treated as one. For some years, during the war and afterward, the customer didn't always feel he was being given the consideration a king deserves, but the fact does remain that in America the customer is still king.

Take you, for instance. Millions of other Americans work to bring you the things you want? Gigantic corporations spend millions preparing what you want to eat, to wear, to look at in the theater, to drive on the highways. Isn't that being treated like a king?

The only reason why you receive such kindly attention is that we live in a highly competitive economy and business men know that if they do not please the customer, they will lose him to a competitor.

The means by which they tell you of their efforts to provide you with exactly what you want is known as advertising. It would be easy, for insensate type does not have scruples or morals, for a business man to lie to you about his products; present them as something which they are not. But he can only do that once. If you catch him in a lie, you stop buying his product.

Do you see exactly what advertising does to protect you and to make your life pleasanter? The advertiser has to back up his story or go out of business. But advertising has another important effect on your purchases besides protecting their quality: It also lowers their price and keeps it lower.

In the face of the highest prices in history you may wonder that I make a statement like this. It is true that a mild inflation has hit all of us. But mild is the word to describe it. In other parts of the world, which do not have the sharp check of advertising, inflation has outrun all bounds—and millions of people suffer privation and want.

In America, so great is the controlling power of advertising in providing mass production, which always lowers prices, our inflation is being kept in check. Therefore it is not real inflation at all.

Be grateful to advertising—be glad to be a king.

Mrs. James Baker In Leading Broadway Role

The classic Broadway success story — stepping into a leading role overnight — has come true for beautiful and talented Miss Georgia Reed, wife of James Baker formerly of Mocksville.

On Monday night after two days of rehearsal, Miss Reed took over the starring role in the New York musical revue, "Ankles Aweigh." Miss Reed was understudy to Miss Jane Kean, of the Kean sisters. True to the tradition of all such occasions, Georgia got her big break when Miss Kean left the show.

To quote Miss Reed about her first starring role, "It's the fulfillment of my life long ambition."

Georgia's husband says, "It all happened so fast that he's still spinning."

Mr. Baker relates, "She didn't know that she was going on until last Saturday night, which gave her only two days to work up seven songs and five dance numbers. Working night and day, she had mastered the role by curtain time Monday night."

How did she do open night? "A first-class job," commented the New York Post.

Miss Reed lists her previous Broadway experience as seven performances understudying the lead in "Rogers and Hammerstein's 'Me & Juliet,'" and she recently closed a very successful singing engagement at New York's Latin Quarter.

Miss Reed's mother-in-law, Mrs. Treasa Mesick, and Constance Atwood, both of Mocksville were fortunate to be visiting New York and see her on opening night.

Drivers Warned Of New Chauffeur's License Statute

The State Highway Patrol this week issued a warning about chauffeur's licenses.

According to a law passed by the N. C. General Assembly, anyone other than the registered owner of a truck licensed for more than 15,000 pounds, must have a chauffeur's license to operate truck. This means that no one can drive a truck licensed for more than 15,000 pounds without chauffeur's license except the owner.

Also, all trucks that are operated for hire, regardless of the poundage for which they are licensed, must have chauffeur's license.

The patrol urged that those who may be operating trucks under the above condition to apply for a chauffeur's license at once because the law would be strictly enforced.

Chauffeur's license may be obtained from the driving license examiners who are at the courthouse in Mocksville on Thursday and Friday of each week, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Blueberries are grown commercially on 10,000 acres.

Lake Hideaway Water Is Found To Be Clean

How clean is the water in Lake Hideaway?

Carl E. Shell, District Sanitarian with the State Health Department, reports that the water in Lake Hideaway is of as high quality as the average drinking water taken from wells in Davie County.

On Sunday, July 17, there were over 700 persons in the water at Lake Hideaway. The next day Mr. Shell made a test and found absolutely no trace of harmful bacteria in the water.

Mr. Shell normally makes a test of this water twice a month. The chlorine content of the water is checked every day.

Mr. Shell reports that there are few wells in the county but what shows some trace of harmful bacteria. The fact that no trace of harmful bacteria is found in this water places it high above the average for public pools or lakes.

Davie County FHA Committeeman Appointed

Mr. B. Thomas Browder of Rt. 1, Advance, is the new member of the Davie County Committee for the Farmers Home Administration. His appointment became effective July 12, 1955, the agency's county supervisor, announced.

Mr. Browder succeeds Richard Allen whose term on the three-member committee expired this year.

Mr. Browder operates a Grace A dairy farm near Bixby.

There is a Farmers Home Administration county committee in every agricultural county in the country. The committee determines the eligibility of applicants and helps the county supervisor adapt the agency's loan policies and services to local conditions. Each member is named for a three year term, and one appointment expires each year. A member completing his three-year term cannot succeed himself. At least two of the members must be farmers.

The Farmers Home Administration makes loans to farmers to buy, improve, enlarge or operate efficient family-type farms. It also lends money to farmers or their non-profit associations to establish and carry on approved soil and water conservation practices. Purposes include establishing and improving permanent pastures, terracing, soil erosion practices, and many other conservation measures, as well as irrigation and farmstead water improvements. Most of the soil and water conservation loans and loans to buy, improve, or enlarge farms are made from funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency.

The agency makes emergency loans but only in areas designated by the Secretary of Agriculture as being in need of emergency loans due to some calamity. Davie County is designated for emergency loans because of the extreme dry weather for the past several years.

Before the agency can make any loan, the applicant must have the approval of the county committee. In the case of a farm ownership loan, the farm to be purchased, enlarged or improved must also be approved by the committee, Mr. Holland explained.

The agency does not make a loan of any type to an applicant whose credit needs can be handled by other credit sources.

Average prices paid by North Carolina farmers for specified food items on March 15, were generally less than those being paid a year ago.

Tid-Bits

GORDON TOMLINSON

State Highway Patrolman A. W. Cox got his face clawed early Sunday morning by what some called an inebriated cat. There was no doubt about the inebriation—and from the marks on Cox's face there was no doubt about the claws. The only doubt is about the feline, since it was contained by the bars of the local jail.

It all happened when the Patrolman was in the process of locking up a drunk. The drunk scratched Patrolman Cox about the face removing some epidermis. However, by the middle of the week all had about recovered.

The other Sunday a man was jailed here for assault on a female. Both the assaulter and the assaultee were from Winston-Salem.

The early part of last week the man made bond and got out of jail. He returned to Winston-Salem and went into a cafe. There he got into a squabble with another man who, according to reports, really worked him over about as bad as he had previously beat up the woman.

That was one time he ought to have stayed in jail.

One-up-a-time there was a man that operated a store in this town. He employed several female clerks for his store.

Now this man was not what might be described as the ideal boss. In fact during the frequent absences from the store he was the subject of much uncomplicated discussion among the clerks—something of which he later became aware.

One day this man went to considerable trouble and concealed himself above the heads of these women at the point where they usually gathered to discuss the topic of the day. On this day, as usual, this man was the topic of discussion and in very common vernacular they were really giving him "hiccoughs."

Just as the discussion was waxing the hottest, this man jumped down from his concealed position right into the midst of his clerks that were talking about him. Well, if you put yourself in their position, you can imagine what happened. Fainting was probably the easiest how Advertising helps you BY CHARLES B. ROTH If Advertising Stopped TAKE one minute, please, will you, to ponder on this subject: Suppose every bit of advertising were suddenly to stop, every bit of it. What would happen? One man in New York City, a noted advertising man named Harold E. Fellows, did that, and his conclusion is this: "It would be more catastrophic than if America's principal cities were destroyed by atomic bombs. For this would be total destruction, not only of cities, but of the entire nation as well." You may think that Mr. Fellows has gone pretty far in making this statement. But if you think of the effect of the stoppage of advertising you won't. The first thing that would happen, of course, is that those who work directly or indirectly in advertising would immediately be thrown out of work—the printers, the writers, the suppliers of ink and paper and presses, and others who depend for a livelihood upon that industry known as advertising. There are many millions of them. They would be the first to fall. But not the last. For presently factories all over the country would close down; no business. Their employees, representing the bulk of America's 60-odd million workers, would be jobless. So stores would begin closing, from big city department stores to small town grocers. Bread lines would form. Well it has been said that "man does not live by bread alone." He needs communication, communion with his fellows, but ere long he wouldn't have that. The radio and TV stations would soon go off the air and then one after another newspapers would suspend publication. Then what would happen? It would be the return to the Dark Ages, and mankind would slip back to where he was there, to a wretched, animal-like existence, degraded, impoverished. All because all advertising stopped! But don't worry too much about this. Advertising is not going to stop. It is going to increase, not only in kind and amount, but in its essential service to humanity. That is what advertising really is—a human service institution.

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

By J. B. WHITAKER

One of the great things about the church which Christ established is that Christ is its only source of authority in religious matters. In Matt. 28:18 after the glorious resurrection of Christ we are told, "And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." Paul affirms in Eph. 1:22, 23, "And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be head over all things to the church, which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all." In this passage of scripture the words head and body are singular. Christ is THE HEAD OF THE BODY. How many bodies? In Eph. 4:4 Paul says, "There is one body. If Christ is the head of the body and the body is the church, how many churches could Christ be the head of? Everyone with a normal amount of intelligence and who is unprejudiced toward the word of God would have to say ONE. Since Christ is the head of the church all other sources of authority in religious matters must be excluded. We must put away all of our man-made rules and human creeds. The fact that Christ is the head of his church forbids us from using the Old Testament to try to justify some practice today. Paul says in Eph. 5:4, "Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace." In Heb. 1:1, 2, we read, "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in times past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds." In John 1:17 we read "For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ." In II John 9 we read, "Whosoever transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son." These scriptures prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that God wants us to hear his Son in religious matters today. Jesus was made both Lord and Christ. He is the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. Christ said, "I am he that was dead, and behold I am alive forevermore, and I hold the keys of death and of Hades." He has power in heaven and on earth. This Great King has given us perfect laws that will, if followed, give us home on earth, depth, beauty, and meaning and will ultimately lead us home to live with him forever. Have you submitted yourself to the laws of this Great King. Determine today that you will do exactly as his word directs you. Study the Bible for yourself. Believe and practice the things contained therein. If you do this Christ will add you to His church over which he reigns as head. You will not be a part of any denomination — you will simply be a Christian, a member of the body of Christ. If you obey Him He will bless you abundantly in the life that now is, and in the life to come you will be permitted to dwell in the presence of the Lord forever. It is our prayer that you will obey the Gospel of Christ today.

Catawba College May Start Night Classes

Are you interested in College evening classes? According to Peter P. Cooper, Catawba College Public Relations Director, if enough people are interested in attending college at night, Catawba College will begin a night college, offering regular college course, this fall.

According to Mr. Cooper the college has been approached many times during the past few years about this and recently there has been considerable interest. A minimum of ten students are necessary in order to have any one class taught, and if there is sufficient enrollment, Catawba will provide the classes as a service to the community and surrounding communities.

The classes would meet either twice or three times weekly. Courses which might be taught include: Business, English, Mathematics, Accounting, Economics, Secretarial Science, Office Machines, Psychology, Sociology, Religion, Education, Political Science, Foreign Languages, Chemistry, History and others.

Tuition would be reasonable and designed merely to cover the cost of instruction and administration. Anyone interested in attending night college classes should write to Peter P. Cooper, Public Relations Office, Catawba College, Salisbury, N. C., giving the following information.

Whether you definitely could attend or would like to attend, night college this fall.

What courses you would like to take.

State whether a high school, and college graduate. Also if interested in getting a college degree and if so, in what field.

And what nights during the week you could attend.

Replies should be sent in as soon as possible and not later than August 20, 1955.

Farm Adjustment Loans Support Better Farming

Improvement of pastures is one of the better farming practices being carried on by livestock producers using Farmers Home Administration adjustment loans in Davie County, according to Locke Holland, the agency's county supervisor.

Many of the farm families in the county who farmed with the help of FHA loans last year included in their farm and home plans such pasture improvement practices as better seeding, renovating, irrigation, fertilization, rotation grazing and clipping for weed control.

Mr. Holland said he expects even greater activity in pasture improvement during the next year. Other better farming practices being carried on by farmers in the county with FHA adjustment loans include livestock improvement through good management practices such as improved selection, breeding, feeding and marketing.

Crop improvement is also being achieved, and is expected to continue through the use of improved and adapted varieties, fertilization, weed and insect control, and proper land preparation. Many farm plans also call for use of more adequate equipment and machinery through replacement and repair.

More efficient farming is helping the families make full use of their land and available labor. Mr. Holland said. Improvements in farm efficiency and the resultant higher income are reflected in increased trade with local merchants, generally higher living standards for the families, and greater contributions to support of schools and other community services.

Only farmers unable to obtain from banks and other local lenders adequate credit needed to make necessary adjustments and improvements in their farming operations are eligible for FHA loans. Mr. Holland pointed out. He said a large proportion of the families are veterans or other young families just getting started in farming. After an average of about four or five years most families improve their situations to the point where they can go to banks or other lending institutions for the credit they need.

The average family with an operating or adjustment loan in this county is showing a good increase from year to year in net income, net worth, farm inventory, and amount of working capital.

Many of those who repaid their loans in full last year had unsatisfactory lease prior to getting their loans, but now have good tenure arrangements and know where and how they are going to farm next year. This, Mr. Holland points out, is because of the adjustments and improvements they were able to make with Farmers Home Administration help. Several former tenants have bought farms or are preparing to do so.

In addition to loans for farm operating purpose, the FHA also extends credit for buying, cultivating, or improving farms; for soil and water conservation practices, and for meeting emergency needs.

Every agricultural county has a three member county FHA committee. At least two members must be farmers. The committee considers all loan applications and sees that every farmer who is a loan has reasonable prospects for conducting a sound farming operation with the assistance provided with the loan.

The members of the Davie County committee are: William L. Smot, Rt. 1, Mocksville; William M. Carter, Rt. 1, Mocksville; and E. Thomas Browder, Rt. 1, Advance.

DOG DUNKING DAY PLANNED

Good news for our flea-bitten, tick-tortured dogs . . . and their owners!

R. C. Basinger of Davie Feed and Seed Store announces that they have set Saturday, July 30, at Dog Dunking Day. All dog owners, young and old, in the community are invited to bring their dogs in for a free dip in a solution that will help rid the dogs of their unwanted summer guests: A large metal drum, filled with a solution of Purina Manure Control, will be placed on the parking lot next to the store and a crew will be on hand to "dunk" the dogs as they are brought in. Following the dunking, there will be attendance prizes and souvenirs given out to the children who have brought their dogs in.

Post card invitations have been mailed out, but if you failed to receive one, don't let that stop you. Come in to Davie Feed and Seed anyway. It's all free and everybody is welcome. Mr. Basinger says this is something new in ser-

Piedmont Power Primer

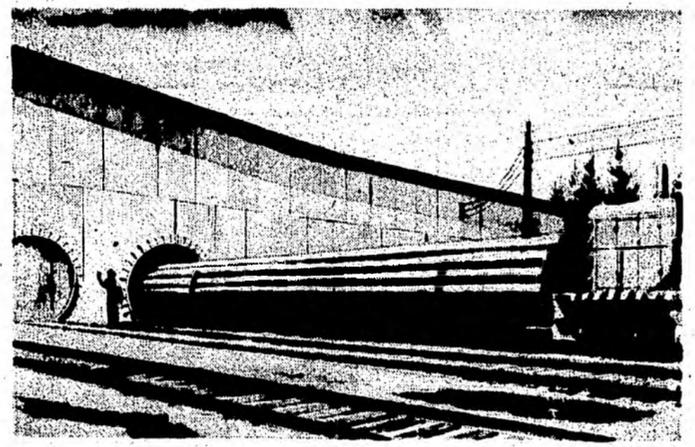

• Lesson XVI •

Poles Pressure Cooked and Branded

for 3 times longer use

In the early days . . . Cedar and Chestnut were chosen for poles because they outlasted other woods — could be counted on for ten years of use.

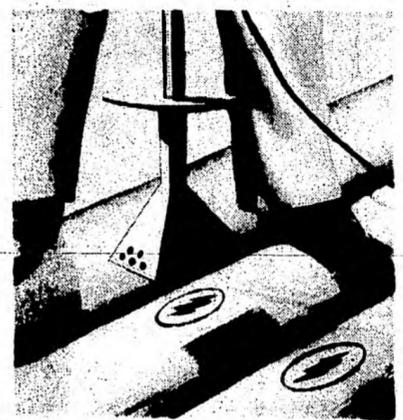

Replacement . . . even as frequently as every ten years added greatly to cost on the Duke System, where 30,000 poles are used annually. So experiment went on over a long period to increase the "life expectancy" of poles.

Then a Way Was Found

. . . to pressure cook poles in creosote at 260 degrees Fahrenheit and make them last three times as long. Poles of native yellow pine are now selected, and processing them has become an important business in the Piedmont Carolinas.

Each pole is selected for straightness, sound wood, and clean surface, then inspected again during processing. The Duke Power brand, burned into each pole after the third and final inspection, means that the pole is ready to do an efficient and economical job of bringing Electric Service to your finger tips.

Poles pressure cooked and branded are just another example of the way everybody benefits when business is left free to find a better way, at its own risk, from the sound, old-fashioned motive of profit!

A Look At The Contract

This is being written several days before the result of the vote by the subscribers of the Smith Grove exchange of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation on the elimination of the toll charge is known. We hope that they have voted for a monthly rate in lieu of the toll charge, as the lesser of two evils. We believe a monthly rate, even though it may be excessive, to be more in the interest of the subscriber than the toll charge.

However, regardless of which way the vote went we still feel that the subscribers of the Smith Grove exchange are being discriminated against. A look at the contract executed by the two organizations involved only serves to increase this feeling.

Item number three in the contract is quoted as follows:

"3 The basis for establishing EAS will be as follows:

"a. Yadkin (meaning the co-op) to own and maintain the interchange trunks required to provide EAS and the respective companies to provide and maintain necessary terminations therefor.

"b. Central to lease from and pay to Yadkin (meaning the co-op) rental for its use, portion of the required trunks (presently estimated to be fifteen (15) at the rate of $3.62 per month per trunk (4.0 miles x $2.50 per mile x 36.2 per cent of use).

"c. Yadkin to pay to Central monthly an extended area service switching charge to be based on and at the rate of .51c for each of its average stations served during the preceding month. Such average to be determined by adding the number of stations served on the first and last days of the month divided by two.

There has been some contention that the proposed monthly rate on which the subscribers voted could have been around 30c instead of the 50c. Co-op officials have denied that such a lower rate was ever proposed.

However, just to keep our records straight we point to item "b." as quoted above. This provides for the co-op to pay Central rental for the use of the trunk lines. In dollars and cents this figures an estimated $54.30 per month. Of course this amounts to no more than a rebate as Central figures it in with their cost which determines the amount of revenue they must have from the co-op.

With a pencil and piece of paper anyone can figure out that if it were not for this rental that Central is required to pay the co-op, the monthly rate of the subscriber would drop to around 38.5 or 30c per month per subscriber.

We understand that in the other exchanges, where the monthly rate is 25c per month for what is known as extended area service, no such rental is paid by Central to the Co-op.

In view of this we are again forced to say that we believe that the monthly rate of the subscriber in this county could have been lower than the 50c if the co-op officials had so desired it. We do not say that it was instigated by the board of directors of the co-op. It may have been done by some higher authority in the REA administration.

However, this we do say—IT IS VERY UNFAIR TO THE CO-OP MEMBER IN DAVIE COUNTY, and it is the duty of the directors to do all in their power to see that it is corrected.

Central Subscribers Vote

Central Telephone subscribers of Mocksville are now voting on the proposed plan of abolishing the toll charge between the local exchange and the Smith Grove exchange.

The plan is to bring together the subscribers of the two exchanges into one big unit and allow calls, without additional charges, between the subscribers of the two exchanges.

The rate schedule for Central Telephone Company is set according to the number of telephones in a unit. At the present time, with around 800 telephones, the local system is in the 751-1000 group and the rates are set accordingly.

With the addition of the 460 subscribers of the Smith Grove exchange, the local grouping would rise to over 1200 and an increase in rate. (See front page story on what the actual increase would be). This would be the only increase.

It would seem wise to us for the local subscribers to vote in favor of this proposal. The small increase in rates would more than be offset by the additional benefit of being able to call out into the county without an additional charge.

The rate increase for the Central subscribers is based on the class of service. For many of the residential subscribers, the increased rate will be no more than the present cost of two calls into the county.

Masonic Picnic Baskets

On Thursday, August 11, the 75th Annual Masonic Picnic will be held at Clement Grove in Mocksville. Everyone knows what this event is and the tradition behind it. It's progress and growth may be laid to a combination of many factors.

If one had to select the one main item of attraction that the annual Masonic Picnic has, it would certainly be the famed dinner that is spread under the arbor around noon on the second Thursday in August. For the very first picnic at the "Shoals" down through the 74th such event held last year, the dinner has always been the focusing point of those attending.

This dinner features the best that a picnic table can offer. No where else can one get the quality of food in the quantities that it is offered at this event.

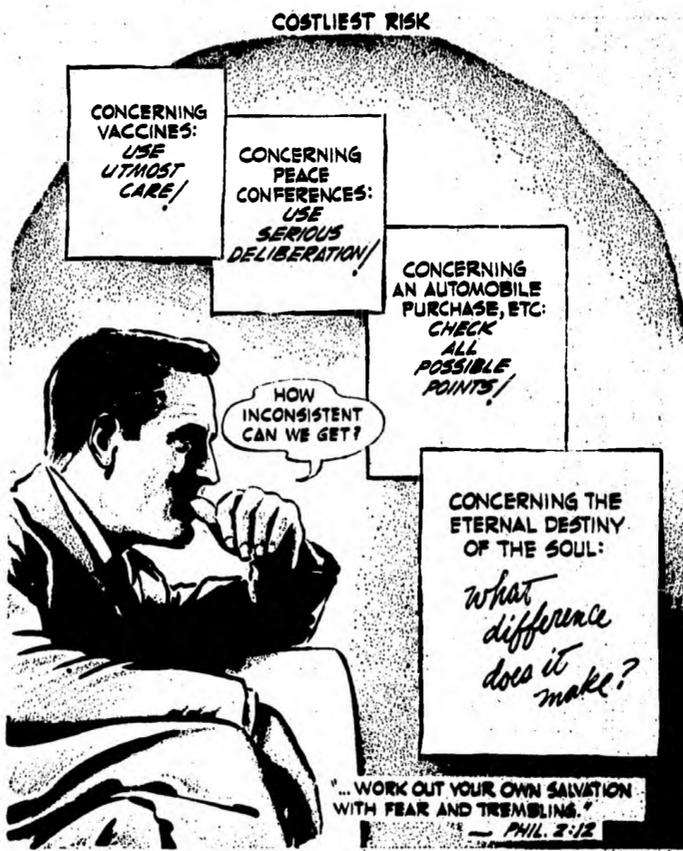

The dinner is somewhat a challenge to all the women folks of the county. They put forth much extra effort in order to take a basket to this event. They do this for two reasons: (1) Because they want to do their part for this worthy endeavor; and (2) Because they know that when they do not take a basket, several people are disappointed. There are always people at these dinners who look for the chicken of Mrs. So and So, the cake of someone else. These picnic connoisseurs have their favorites and are disappointed when they are not there.

In a week or so the preparation of these picnic baskets will begin. Officials are anticipating one of the largest crowds ever to be present at this year's event, so many baskets will be needed. If you have been taking a basket in the past then you are being counted on to take one this year. If you haven't been taking a basket, then you are invited to do so and by such participation gain the satisfaction of having done your part, and at the same time, in your era, become part of the tradition.

YOUNG AMBASSADORS

American youths are not slackers when it comes to boosting international good will. For example, the American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955 reports that the American Junior Red Cross has prepared exhibits of school life in the United States, composed of youth paintings, photography and drawings, to be exported to other countries.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By BILL WHITLEY

WATERMELONS. Estimates say it's going to take about 1,000 watermelons to feed the thousands of Democrats who'll be going to Sen. W. Kerr Scott's farm Saturday for a big YDC rally.

The interesting question is: How can you tell how much watermelon 1 person can eat. At best it's a guess, and not even a very educated guess.

In past years when the YDC has held rallies on the Scott farm, the crowd has numbered at least 5,000. This year, between seven and eight thousand are expected to turn out, so 1,000 watermelons ought to do the job.

But what happens if the watermelons turn out to be small, it's a hot day and everybody leaves home without eating lunch? In that event, Senator Scott says, "We'll finish out with many pops."

COTTON. Those who watch the movements of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have been intrigued for the past 10 days about the cotton situation.

Word leaked down from Secretary Ezra Benson's office last week that plans are in the works to lump all the government's surplus cotton stocks on the market as a means of reducing the staggering warehouse loads.

Under the law, the Secretary is charged with watching the world markets and putting surpluses up for sale from time to time.

NEEDLE. For several months, members of the Senate Agriculture Committee have tried to needle Benson into putting cotton and other surplus goods on the market on a gradual basis, but Benson has been most reluctant.

As a result of his reluctance, many countries that need cotton have held off, knowing that the United States would have to turn loose its surpluses sooner or later. Consequently, when word came that Benson was ready to put the entire cotton surplus stocks on the market at world prices, New York cotton prices bobbed.

STEAL. If the entire supply is put on the market, it will mean that many foreign countries will be able to buy our cotton at much cheaper prices than American manufacturers paid for it. With these cheap prices, they will be able to make much cheaper fabrics.

The end result could be twofold: American textile markets, both at home and abroad, could be seriously threatened with cheap goods. At the same time, American farmers will be forced to see the domestic market go through a tailspin that could result in much lower cotton prices to the farmer.

All in all, everybody would have been better off — farmers and textile industry alike, if Secretary Benson had seen fit to put cotton on the world market as markets opened up and there was demand for it.

time to do away with the notion that no man from below the Mason-Dixon Line can be elected President of the United States. Senator Chavez, suggested that Senator Russell would be a most admirable selection for that office.

I want to assure those who look with disfavor upon the idea of universal military training that the reserve bill is in no sense a universal military training bill. It merely contemplates the limited military training of only a portion of our youth arriving at military age. Moreover, it does not put any compulsion on teenagers to enter the new reserve program.

WASHINGTON — On Thursday of last week the Senate passed its version of the reserve bill. This version altered the House bill in several material aspects.

RESERVE BILL

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I spent the major portion of four days hearing witnesses give their opinions in respect to the reserve training plan.

The Senate was apparently well pleased with the provisions of the reserve bill as it was reported by the Armed Services Committee. It adopted the bill by a vote of 80 to 1 after only six hours of debate.

I attribute the excellent provisions of the bill and the prompt action upon it in large measure to the wisdom of Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the Chairman of the Armed Services Committee. Senator Russell has served on this committee for many years and undoubtedly knows more about all phases of national defense than any other person. After Senator Russell had piloted the bill through the Senate, Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico arose and said that it is high TEXT: "No one is injured except by himself." — Unknown.

A motorist was turning at the driver of a big truck. For miles, each time he tried to pass, the truck increased speed or swerved toward the center of the road. Finally, at a stop sign, the motorist pulled alongside the truck driver's window.

"Well?" growled the trucker, glaring at the motorist.

"Nothing important," was the reply. "I know what you are. I just wanted to see what one looked like."

Lady Astor tells of a member of Parliament who was scathingly critical of her in a public address. After Parliament adjourned, Lady Astor greeted the man pleasantly. He was astounded that she would be civil to him and said as much. To which Lady Astor replied, "It's not what you say about me that matters, but what I think about you."

When someone is unfair toward us, our anger, bitterness and hatreds injure us far more than the unfair act. Lady Astor knew that her opponent's remarks did not matter. What could matter was the injury she might do to herself by brooding over what had been said. The remedy for an injury is to forget it. No one can be injured who refuses to recognize a hurt.

Armed Services as well as those volunteering for service under the reserve bill. The bill provides, however, that those who entered the regular Armed Services before the enactment of the reserve bill will be transferred to the standby reserves upon their discharge from the service unless they volunteer to enter the ready reserves. Since no requirement of further training existed at the time those persons entered the regular service, we felt that any other course would be breaking faith with them. The change made in the reserve training plan by the Senate will not become effective unless they are approved by the House.

The reserve training plan will contribute much to the national security. It will afford us for the first time in our history a reserve which can be speedily prepared for combat in case of necessity.

Wheat stocks in all positions in North Carolina totaled about 2,328,000 bushels on April 1, or about four per cent less than April 1 last year.

SATISFACTORY . . . People we have talked to within the past few days express deep satisfaction with the manner in which Gov. Luther Hodges has handled the Dr. Beverly Lake problem.

They particularly like the Governor's attitude regarding efforts of certain groups to have Assistant Attorney Lake removed from office.

Some of the old timers are crediting the Governor with having a lot of political savvy. Consensus seems to be that he has an exceedingly sensitive feeling as to the reaction of Tarheels to current events—particularly as they are related to the racial question.

GOING ALONG . . . As for Lake, he hopes to continue -- at least for several months -- as Assistant Attorney General.

Prior to all the row, he had made rather definite plans to set up law offices here and go into private practice. However, he is not the type to retire under fire—so you can look for him to go along about as he has been going for some time yet.

He's getting a lot of requests to make speeches. Dr. Lake has told friends that the Asheboro talk—with its repercussions — will have no effect whatever on his future speeches.

Friends are impressed with his sincere feelings on the matter. They feel that he is one of the few in this section of the South who have had the intestinal fortitude to stand up and say what he thinks — whether right or wrong.

Our folks have shown time and again that they like a man to speak out boldly for what he thinks is right. That is one reason — and probably the chief reason — they saw fit to elect W. Kerr Scott Commissioner of Agriculture for three terms, for Governor one term, and for U. S. Senator at least one term.

PRACTICE . . . As for the kind of law practice Dr. Lake will have when he gets out on his own, your guess is as good as ours.

His training in private practice is limited. But he has established a solid reputation as an analytical thinker, a prober, a student of the law, and quick on his feet.

Attorneys around Raleigh say Dr. Lake will have his hands full in good-paying cases when the practical aspects of Negroes and whites going to school together start hitting the courts.

RECOVERING . . . Glad to note that J. Wallace Winborne, associate justice of the State Supreme Court, seems to be recovering nicely from his recent operation in Asheville. He is back at his home in Marion, and is expected to return to Raleigh about a month from now.

Also getting along nicely is Dr. Clarence Poe, veteran editor of the Progressive Farmer, who had a similar operation at Duke Hospital last spring.

UP AND DOWN . . . North Carolina has its good days and bad ones in the national publicity lineup.

Here's what we mean. A few months ago one of the movie studios announced it was going to come out with a picture on Sir Walter Raleigh. Your capital city put in a bid for the first showing in the nation. The Raleigh Merchants Bureau was all set to have a big to-do, with visiting celebrities, lights, dinners and all that. One of the stars would have been Miss Betty Davis, who has the role of Queen Elizabeth in the film.

Then, for some reason, Hollywood decided to change the name of the film from "Sir Walter Raleigh" to "The Virgin Queen." That proved too much for the local merchants and they decided to withdraw their support of a premiere.

Now the original presentation will be up in Maine, near where Miss Davis is vacationing this summer. So, Maine gets the publicity — not Raleigh — and personally we doubt that Hollywood helped itself a great deal at the box office by "The Virgin Queen" as a title rather than "Sir Walter Raleigh." We feel inclined to go along with the merchants on this one, publicity or not.

The news came along this past week end that several hundred feet of the new Grace Kelly picture, "The Swan," would be shot at Blinn Estate out from Asheville. That's good.

Meantime, they are working on a picture based on a couple of Thomas Wolfe's books and Asheville should get even more publicity out of "The Swan."

Thus it goes with North Carolina in the News Parade.

LEGAL LIGHTNING

Speaking of publicity, this thing on page 14 of the July 26 issue of "Time" is the kind of item which causes good North Carolina publicist like Carl Goerch, Charlie Parker and Bill Sharpe to wince. It tells you and about a million other readers how bootleg whiskey is made in North Carolina.

We will let "Time" take over for a few paragraphs here so that you can see how our reputation is getting around:

"Since 1791, when the U. S. imposed the first tax on whiskey, moonshiners have plied their intermittent trade in Dixie's piney woods. They still make a lively dew. At times they garnish their mash with manure to speed fermentation; occasionally a rat, dog or snake crawls into the vat, gobbles its fill, dies and floats there until the batch of moonshine is ready for the still. Sometimes the fermenting corn is tinctured with Chlorox or lye to beef up its punch (moonshine is rarely more than 78 proof)."

Time continues in this vein for a third of a page and comes up with other bits of information which is little short of startling.

For instance, the article designates North Carolina as "the Moonshine Capital of the World" and says that 3,848 stills were seized in the State in the Year of Our Lord 1954.

The magazine reports that in recent years, with demand increased because of high taxes on legal liquor, moonshiners have been working overtime. It is estimated that 35 million gallons of moonshine were consumed last year.

"Of all spirits consumed in the U. S. last year, one gallon in four was moonshine," says Time.

COST . . . Now you may ask what prompted such an article in the world's biggest newsmagazine. Well, you know our ABC stores last month began selling moonshine so as to run the best-kept out of business. You can now get 100 proof corn liquor respectively labeled "White Lightning" — Clear as the Mountain Dew.

Aged for less than 30 days—and so labeled — this product sells for $4.40 a quart, costs less than most "colored" brands, but a little more than stumphone (about $3.50 a quart, according to reports we get).

Now I want to go back to Time for these last two sentences: "North Carolina snuffed up the first consignment. 'Man,' said one satisfied customer last week, 'that's just like I was raised on.'"

America by 1975 will be a land in which there will be fabulous new methods of packaging, sorting and wrapping food products.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites an editorial in the June 24, 1955, edition of a Cleveland, Texas, paper which discusses a recent food convention and gives us a glimpse at this future.

" . . . Machines . . . which can do practically all of the manual tasks in a food store.

" . . . Automatic scales print the exact weight, price and type of meat for self-service operation marking. There are automatic baggers which weigh out and bag any desired amount of product. . . . An automatic wrapping machine operated by one attendant can wrap 40 packages of meat in a minute."

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Vic Hershkovitch, Brooklyn fireman, again captured singles honors in the U. S. Handball Association four-wall championship by beating Bob Brady of San Francisco in straight games, 21 to 15, 21 to 18 in Chicago. According to The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955, this was the third year of victory for Hershkovitch since 1949.

WELBORN WINS 150-LAP FEATURE

North Carolina's largest race crowd in the history of the popular growing sport turned out Saturday night to watch Bob Welborn, an unheralded driver from Summerfield, N. C., streak to victory in the first annual International stock car 150-lap feature at Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem.

A crowd in excess of 21,000 that overflowed the stadium watcher Welborn, second fastest qualifier, take the lead on the first lap with his 1955 Chevrolet and streak on to victory against a crack field of 25 starters.

Trailing Welborn at the finish of the 150 lapper were Charlie Dyer of Patterson, N. J., also with a 1955 Chevrolet; Jim Reed of Peckskill, N. Y., with a 1955 Chevrolet; Buck Baker of Charlotte, with a 1955 Chevrolet, and Lee Petty of Randleman, N. C., with a 1955 Chrysler 300.

Although eliminated from the winner's column by car problems, Bill Myers of Germantown, N. C., driving a 1955 Ford Thunderbird, and Junior Johnson of Ronda, N. C., driving a 1955 Chevrolet Corvette, provided their share of the thrills in the long feature race. Johnson also won a special eight-lap race for sports cars with Myers second, and in a special match race Myers avenged the defeat by defeating Johnson. Bill Gross of Washington, D. C., won the first 25 lap heat race and Welborn won the second heat with Glenn Wood of Stuart, Va., taking the lead in the popular priced American car race. The program this week calls for another eight-event sportsman and amateur racing program at the stadium with a women's "powder puff" derby added to the card for Saturday night, August 6. Bill Myers will be seeking his ninth victory of the season in the 35-lap sportsman feature Saturday night as the sportsman drivers swing back into action.

DCTS Activities
The Davie County Training School recreation program enters its seventh week with an enrollment of 83 persons. The average attendance daily is about 30 to 35 persons. The larger number usually attends between the hours of 3 p.m. and closing time at 9 p.m.

The past week at the playground included a series of tournaments, special events and contest.

The boys being divided into age groups produced stiff competition for everyone. Among the small boys, Richard Carter and Rondal Brown were the basketball champions. Harold Cruz and Bernard Gaither won the horseshoe crown. Robert March is still the tetherball champ. The Blues defeated the Reds in baseball. James Tabor, Bruce Frost, Willie Clement, and Lester Carter led the attack against the Reds.

The large boys ran into some stiff competition this past week. John Dulin and Ted James got into serious trouble in the basketball tournament and almost lost their crown to Henry Grant and Milton Williams.

Rondal Smoot came to the playground the other day determined to become the new ping pong champ, but Lonnie Barker showed him that he had the wrong intention. Cecil Clement and Lonnie Cole were the standouts in volley ball doubles. Nellie Clement's basketball team defeated Nonnie Pearl Frost's team. Richard Carter was last week's box hockey champ. Willie Clement won the championship title from Nathaniel Dulin.

The recreation baseball team, called the Mocksville Dodgers, has a won and lost record of four wins and two lost. The team has three more games to play. The team line up includes: Nathaniel Dulin, the second baseman; Milton Williams, the catcher; James Tabor, the shortstop; John Dulin, the pitcher; Jimmy Scott, first baseman; Gordain Gaither, third baseman; Joe James, the right fielder; Willie Clement, the center fielder; Ted James, the left fielder.

The Oak Grove Shoggers, led by John Foster, Sonny Scott, Carter Barker and Clyde Scott are determined to make a better showing this week.

We missed Miss Mackie, who was unable to attend, having just returned from summer school at Raleigh. Mrs. Charlie Essex entertained for her daughter, Anne, on her ninth birthday, Saturday afternoon. The hostess assisted by Mrs. David Essex of Mocksville and Mrs. Ed Essex of Winston-Salem served ice cream, cake, salted nuts, potato chips and drinks to approximately 30 guests.

(As told in the Post, Life, Time, Newsweek . . .)

Except for Skippy, it would have been too late . . . and except for the advice of their Hartford Fire agent, the amount of insurance on their home would have been too little.

The alert Skippy saved their lives. Their agent's advice against cutting down on insurance also proved a "life saver." The loss was paid in full!
