Miniature Museum Of American History To Be On Display Here

Display Is Scheduled For Monday, May 17th

The Miniature Museum of American History will come to Mocksville on Monday, May 17th and will be on display in the parking lot of Heffner's Land of Food that day from 9:30 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Admission to this museum will be free by obtaining tickets from one of the following sponsors: B. C. Moore and Sons, Heffner's Land of Food, Reavis Autos, Inc., Western Auto Associate Store, Davie County Enterprise-Record, Morris-Larew Insurance Agency, Shorty York Sinclair Service Station, Hendricks and Merrell Furniture Company, Inc., Edd's Radio and TV Service.

This $250,000 museum has been constructed by a selected group of artists, sculptors and craftsmen from all over the world. More than three years of work went into the museum and the designers put in approximately 150,000 man-hours of time. The museum contains a ballroom scene with all of America's Presidents and their wives, along with individual scenes covering major phases of American history.

The story of America as shown in the museum is narrated and includes vital, interesting and unique facts concerning the Presidents and first ladies. The scenes are presented in life-like detail and the President and their wives are exact reproductions, one-tenths life size. The sculptured heads of the Presidents and the first ladies required approximately 4,250 hours of work. Sculptors from 14 states worked on the reproductions. Research on facial features, skin color, hair color and style, and body characteristics required hundreds of hours. Real hair was used on many of the dolls to accurately reproduce the original personage.

The clothes worn by the famous men and women in history were tailored to match the style and materials of the time in which they lived. To formal wear for the first ladies was one of the major parts of the museum construction. Sewing the sequins on one of the dresses required more than 40-hours of work.

Copies of original photographs and paintings were purchased to make the reproductions as life-like as possible. The detail in the ballroom scene is amazing. It includes a balcony with intricate lighting fixtures and marble steps.

Franklin Roosevelt is shown standing with the aid of crutches he used after being stricken with polio. Gold watch chains, eye glasses and cuff links are in place on the Presidents; and jewelry, matching the kind worn by the first ladies, has been reproduced.

Roy Harris Heads Real Estate Company

J. ROY HARRIS

J. Roy Harris of Mocksville has been elected president of Dixie Properties, Inc., a business real estate firm with headquarters in Charlotte.

Mr. Harris was elected to this office at a meeting of the stockholders last week. S. B. Norton of Burlington was named secretary and treasurer.

This company was formed three years ago for the purpose of dealing in business real estate in the Charlotte area but may handle properties anywhere in the state. They recently acquired a 29-acre tract on Highway 16 just outside of the Charlotte City Limits, two miles off Interstate 40 which is being made available for subdivisions and development.

Mr. Harris was one of the original organizers of this company when it was formed three years ago. It now has 26 stockholders.

4-H Rummage Sale Saturday

The Davie County 4-H Clubs will sponsor a Rummage and Auction Sale, Saturday, May 8, at the Masonic Picnic Grounds beginning at 10 a.m.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to meet Davie's quota for the N. C. 4-H Development Fund which finances 4-H Camps, Scholarships, and awards.

Sale items will include furniture, farm machinery, house wears, wagons, and wagon wheels, glassware antiques, and a variety of other things brought in by 4-H club members; parents, and leaders will provide cakes for a Bake Sale. Auctioneers will be Neil Bolton and Roger Mozingo from Winston-Salem.

Refreshments will be sold by 4-H Adult Leaders and homemade cakes will be auctioned.

"Come and enjoy the fun and support your county's 4-H club organization," said the 4-H advisors.

Fork Horse Show Is Set For May 15

The third annual Horse and Pony Show, sponsored by the Fork Civic Club, will be held Saturday, May 15, at the Fork Recreation Center, located six miles east of Mocksville on U.S. 64.

Shows are scheduled for 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 7 p.m. The 11 a.m. show is a youth show for those under 16 years of age and will start propmtly at 11.

Trophies and ribbons will be given for each class in all three shows. A sportsmanship trophy will be given for the youth show, and also one for all other entries.

Two bicycles will be given away to those present under 12 years of age at the 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. shows. Food and refreshments will be served all day.

Joe Jones Recognized For English Excellence

Joseph Crosby Jones, Sr., Davie County High School has been nominated for the annual Achievement Awards Program, sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English NCTE).

For the eighth year, NCTE is conducting the national Awards competition to grant recognition to outstanding high school seniors for excellence in English. The writing abilities and literary awareness of each nominee will be judged by local and state committees, and NCTE will announce the winners in December, 1965. The winners' names will be sent to every U. S. college and university director of admissions and English department chairman with the recommendation that these students be considered for scholarship assistance. Most Awards finalists report that they have been admitted to the college of their choice, and many have been given direct scholarship assistance.

According to James R. Squire, Executive Secretary of NCTE, the Awards Program is part of a comprehensive program undertaken by the Council in cooperation with American high schools to encourage improvement in English language and literature at all grade levels. By stimulating interest in English studies and by supporting the improved instruction in English, the NCTE seeks to contribute to an educational program of excellence.

Mocksville Re-elects Democrats

Democrats were returned to all municipal offices in Mocksville in a heavy vote Tuesday by majorities of better than 2 to 1.

Mayor D. J. Mando was re-elected to his fourth term as mayor polling 475 votes to defeat his Republican rival, G. A. Tucker, who polled 204.

In the race for town commissioners, Gilmer J. Hartley led the voting for the Democrats polling 477 to be re-elected to his fourth term; J. Edward Latta had 469 votes to be re-elected to his third term; Dr. Clyde W. Young had 468 votes to be re-elected to his fifth term; Roy W. Collette had 446 votes to be re-elected to his fourth term. O. K. Pope polled 445 votes to be elected to his first full two-year term. He was named to the board this year to fill out the unexpired term of Gene Seats.

J. Roy Harris and J. Floyd Naylor proved to be the top vote getters for the Republicans with 245 votes each; Roy H. Southern had 227 votes; Edward D. Howard had 204 votes; and Mrs. Jayne S. Sanford, 202 votes.

A total of 704 votes were cast in the municipal election Tuesday.

Salisbury Hospital Plans Open House

The Veterans Administration Hospital in Salisbury will observe national hospital day on Sunday, May 16, with open house from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Volunters will direct guided tours through all patient buildings.

Praises Of Piedmont Are Recited

The praises of Piedmont North Carolina were recited, displayed and proclaimed at the regular meeting of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

Using the theme "Times Are Changing", C. S. Reed, Vice-President of Duke Power Company, used the means cited above to show the economic and population trends of this area.

Mr. Reed told the Rotarians that the Piedmont Area of N. C. occupied 2.3% of the area of the South; had a population density of 5.8; had 5.6% of the total sales of the South; and 6.1% of the total income of the South.

"There is no one anywhere in the United States that either doesn't have something on his back or in his home that was made in Piedmont North Carolina", said Mr. Reed. "No one from any other section can make this claim", he said.

Mr. Reed pointed out that this area no longer depended solely on the textile industry. In addition to the various forms of textile manufacturing, our area is a leader in tobacco manufacturing, in furniture making, in mirrors, brick and tile, and in growing peaches.

He listed the attractive assets of the areas as being: people; climate; water; transportation; and investor-owned utility service.

Ed Goodwin had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Reed. President John E. Durham presided. Special guests included: Malcolm Butner of Charlotte; Ray Hartness of Mocksville; and Ralph Herman Nicholson of Thomasville.

'Rebels' Play Monroe Thurs.

John Parker fired a one-hitter and struck out 17 North Rowan batters last Friday afternoon as the Rebels blanked the Cavaliers 3 to 0 at North.

Thursday afternoon the Rebels will play Monroe at Rich Park.

Last Friday Parker gave up a single through the middle to Royce Thomason, lead-off hitter, in the bottom of the first.

Thomason stole second and Chip Weddington grounded out to second with Thomason taking third. Parker struck out John Livengood and Butch Alley to end the threat.

Davie got a run in the third and added two in the seventh to wrap up the issue. The win left Davie in first place in the North Piedmont Conference race with a 9-1 record. West is second with an 8-1 mark. North is 3-7.

Joe Mando singled in the third and Parker got on by a walk. Gary Markland's single scored Mando.

In the seventh, Parker led off with a single. Earl Shoaf walked and Markland got on by a fielder's choice. Jesse Boyce singled in Parker and Ken Boger's single scored Markland.

North threatened in the sixth when Weddington walked and stole second with one out. Parker whiffed Livengood and Alley to snuff out the threat.

Davie Lacks $497.77 of Goal—

Red Cross Fund Drive Is Short

National Radio Month

The month of May has been designated 'National Radio Month.' Radio is a valuable part of life in America. The job of the Red Cross would be much more difficult without the support of all members of the radio industry. The Davie County Red Cross Chapter says, "Thank You" to Radio Station WSDL. "Thank you for Joining Up and Joining In."

Lawyers Can't Serve On Board Of County Commissioners Here

Legislation to allow lawyers to serve on county boards of commissioners passed the Senate last week after six counties . . . including Davie . . . were exempted from the bill.

The Senate approved an amendment offered by Senator Thomas J. White of Lenoir exempting Davidson, Davie, Iredell, Carteret, Columbus, and Alamance.

The amendment, if approved by the House, would continue to prevent lawyers from serving on county boards in the six counties.

The old law prevented county commissioners from practicing law, but it had the practical effect of keeping lawyers off county boards.

Jaycees Paper Drive Is Set For May 22nd

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a scrap paper drive on Sunday, May 22nd.

Johnny Naylor, chairman of this Jaycee project, urged all residents of the Mocksville area to have their scrap paper on their doorsteps on this date. Anyone wishing to donate scrap paper prior to this date should leave this scrap paper at the barn beside Sanford Motor Company on Clement Street.

"Also anyone desiring special pickups or further information should call me', said Mr. Naylor.

Not Sold!

The Sanford Building on the square was not sold at the auction sale held last Saturday.

The building, owned by Jack Sanford, was bid in by a representative acting on his behalf.

Chip's Burger Place Goes Up

Chip instant hamburgers will soon be selling in Mocksville.

Construction is now underway on a building to house a local franchise of the nation-wide Chip's organization.

The building is being constructed by Ted and E. W. Junker on the lot beside Farmers Hardware. It is expected to be ready in about 60 days.

The building will be leased to the Chip's organization whose headquarters are in Rocky Mount, N. C. A local manager will be named.

The Davie County Red Cross fund raising drive is $497.77 short of it's goal of $2650. Thus far $2172.23 has been raised.

This was discussed at a recent meeting of area chairmen and officers of the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

The goal set for Davie County by the local Red Cross Chapter was $2650. This was based on population and the various sections of the county.

"In order to be eligible for the Blood Bank we should reach our goal", said Dr. W. T. Bird, chairman of the Davie County Red Cross Chapter.

Mocksville and Farmington are the only two areas so far to have reached their quotas. Mocksville's quota was $800 and $821.46 was raised. Farmington raised $210 to reach their quota of $200. The other areas of Center, Clarksville, Cooleemee, Davie Academy, Ephesus, Fork, Jerusalem, Oak Grove and Smith Grove have not reached their goal as of this date. It is urged that area chairman contact all workers and cavass the complete area.

Any person willing to make a contribution should contact his area chairman, or send check to Roy Marsh or Fred D. Barnes, Mocksville, N. C.

"Everyone is our county will benefit from the blood bank program for which we will be eligible if we reach our quota", said Dr. Bird. "We as a county need only $479.77 to reach our goal of $2650. If you have given yet or feel that you can contribute more, join up, join in. The Davie County Red Cross needs you. Thanks is given to the ones who have given of their time and support", said Dr. Bird.

Farmington VFD Plans Fund Drive

Members of the Farmington Ruritan Club and the Farmington Volunteer Fire Department met Tuesday night at the fellowship hut of the Farmington Methodist Church and made plans for the annual fund raising drive for the fire department.

The entire Farmington area will be covered in this annual fund raising drive, May 10th through May 15th.

Routes were assigned to members of the Ruritan Club and members of the fire department. Residents are urged to contribute generously when contacted during this drive.

FISH FRY, MAY 8

The Davie County Rescue Squad will have a Fish Fry on Saturday, May 8 beginning at 11 a.m. Plates will consist of fillet of flounder, slaw, french fries, hush puppies, cake, and tea or coffee. Take out orders will be filled. Hot dogs and cold drinks will also be sold. There will be no sale of tickets prior to the supper. If there is any woman in the county that will make a cake for the supper, please contact any member of the Rescue Squad.

Davidson Coach Talks At Banquet

Homer Smith, the new head football coach at Davidson College, will be the featured speaker at the annual athletic banquet of the Davie County High School. Coach Smith was at the Air Force Academy last year.

Approximately 100 athletes, cheerleaders and managers of the Davie High School will be honored at this banquet to be held Friday night, May 14, at the Davie High cafeteria.

The athletic banquet is sponsored by the Mocksville Lions Club, the Mocksville Rotary Club, the Cooleemee Lions Club, the Cooleemee Legion Post 54, Mocksville Jaycees, Cooleemee Jaycees, Fork Civic Club, Mocksville Moose Lodge, and the Farmington Ruritan Club.

Tickets are available from any member of the sponsoring clubs or can be obtained from Coach Jack Ward's office at the school.

HERITAGE WINS BASKETBALL TITLE . . . Captain Tony Smith of the Heritage basketball team is shown above receiving the regular season and play-off trophies from Jack Ward, Director of the Mocksville Recreation Basketball League. This team was undefeated in regular season play, winning ten games and won three straight games in the play-offs. Members of this team are shown in the picture at the right: Front row: Pee Wee Beal, Doug Collins (Coach); Jimmy Lookabill. Back row: Charles Shore, Harry Lee Howell, Joe Holcomb, Tony Smith, Gerald Sloop. Absent when picture was made was Jim Irvin and Kenneth Howell. The team was recently honored at a banquet held at the Rotary Hut. Special guests included Charles Shaugnessy, President of Heritage Furniture Company; Ralph Gurley, Director of Industrial Relations; Henry Blair, Central Purchasing Agent; Jack Ward, Director of the City Basketball League; Ed Short, Superintendent of the Table Plant; Tom Kennedy, assistant superintendent of the table plant. Mr. Shaugnessy expressed his congratulations to the team for their fine record. Mr. Gurley told of some of the past history of Heritage athletic teams. In presenting the trophies, Jack Ward congratulated the team for not only being good athletes but for a fine display of sportsmanship during the season. The banquet festivities were terminated with a movie.

Introduced by Rep. Donald Bingham—

Bill Restricts Constables

Legislation to restrict the authority of Davie County's two constables was introduced in the General Assembly last week at the request of Sheriff George Smith of Davie County.

Rep. Donald Bingham of Davie put in the controversial bill but said he wanted to make it clear that he was neutral.

"I'm not taking sides with the constables or with the sheriff," he said.

The measure would prohibit a Davie constable from performing his duties "outside of the township in which he was elected." One exception would be "transporting prisoners" in the county.

The squabble between the sheriff and the constables came to light recently after Sheriff Smith wrote State Senator James V. Johnson and proposed legislation abolishing the office of constable in Davie County. Senator Johnson declined to sponsor the bill and turned the matter over to Rep. Bingham.

Davie County now has two constables, Leonard K. Howard of Farmington Township and J. D. Campbell of the Jerusalem Township.

Rep. Bingham was quoted in the Winston-Salem Journal as saying he decided to put in the bill restricting the authority of the constables after discussing the matter with the sheriff and other Davie leaders . . . "but just make it clear that I'm not taking sides," he said.

Other Bills

HB 496 . . . Introduced by Rep. Bingham on April 14, providing for additional jurors . . . was ratified on April 23.

HB 611 . . . Introduced by Rep. Bingham on April 22, raising fees that may be charged in Clerk of Court and other county offices . . . passed the House of Representatives on April 30 and sent to Senate.

Tattle-Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

Dr. Ralph Herman Nicholson, District Superintendent of the Thomasville District of the Methodist Church, is currently conducting services at the First Methodist Church here. Tuesday, he made a return visit to the Mocksville Rotary Club where he had spoken a few weeks ago.

Now the custom among Rotarians is to always call one another by their first name. However, Dr. Nicholson prefers to use his middle name of Herman rather than his first name of Ralph.

However, Joe Patner, the club secretary, would have none of this:

"Why don't you call yourself Ralph," he asked an astonished Dr. Nicholson. "I have never liked the name of Herman. Everytime I think of the name Herman I think of that major league baseball player that was supposed to be such a good fielder and yet got hit on the head by a fly ball. I'm going to call you Ralph."

"Okay, I'm Ralph then," said Dr. Nicholson.

Tales were getting exaggerated as usual around the Rotary table on Tuesday. First one would tell a "Whopper" and then another.

The Rev. Gilbont Miller told a little story, however, that threw everything into the proper perspective:

"It seems that Joe and Tom were hearing tales at the corner store. A visiting salesman was telling the two that he had just come from a town where a truck load of dynamite had exploded . . . blowing the driver several hundred feet into the air . . . but who landed unharmed and unscratched but with all of his clothes blown off."

"Joe and Tom didn't say a word about the story when the man had finished," said Mr. Miller. However, Tom turned to Joe and asked:

"Have you cut that watermelon, yet?"

"Yup," replied Joe.

Well how many watermelon seed did you find?"

"About two and a half bushels," said Joe.

The local Rotarians are noted for many things but not for being the most musically inclined. However, they do usually manage to croak their way through a verse or two of a song prior to sitting down to eat.

The Rev. Fred Barnes is the song leader and it is no reflection at all on his ability that the Rotarians can't sing. However, it was a good reflection on his judgment Tuesday when he decided to forego the opening song. Although he didn't cite his reason, many felt that it was because it being a warm spring day . . . all the windows and doors were open . . . and there was no way to contain the "melodious" exhuberance within the four walls.

An observation by C. S. Reed, Rotary speaker on Tuesday:

"If all the diapers made in Piedmont North Carolina were laid end-to-end there wouldn't be a bare-end in the world!"

STRAWBERRIES

North Carolina strawberry time is here! The time to get into the mood for strawberry pie or strawberry shortcake . . . to get out your favorite strawberry recipes . . . and to have sugar and containers on hand for freezing and canning.

Remember, the strawberry season is short! Do enjoy the fresh berries often. And, put away some for later

Eastern Carolina strawberries . . . in good supply this week . . . open the fresh fruit season for our state. A bumper crop and a quality year is the outlook at this time. North Carolina has around 2,500 acres of commercial berries. Luckily, with strawberries, as the season winds up in Eastern Carolina, it moves into the Piedmont and finally into the Western area of the state. So, look for Carolina berries to be in good supply throughout the month of May.

SELECT strawberries which are:
—Full, solid red — Dry and glossy — Still attached to bright green caps — Free from dirt and decay.

AVOID: — Shrunken berries — Decay — Stained containers — Capless berries.

CARE for strawberries gently and handle them as little as possible—they are a delicate fruit.
—Empty gently onto tray.
—Remove damaged or decayed berries.
—Cover loosely with waxed paper and store in refrigerator
—Before serving, wash quickly and carefully in cold water.
—Lift gently from water.
—Remove caps after berries are clean and dry.

VITAMIN-RICH: During their season, strawberries are a wonderful way to get the Vitamin C we need daily. One cup supplies the amount of Vitamin C needed daily by the average adult. They also have small amounts of Vitamin A, calcium, iron riboflavin and niacin.

CALORIE - COUNTERS will love strawberries, for they contain only 55 per cup—this does not include the cream and sugar you love!

REMEMBER: One pint fresh equals 2½ servings; One 10 ounce package, frozen, equals 2½ servings.

World War I Vets To Meet This Sunday

World War I vets of Davie County will meet Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the County Office Building.

Commander S. Bryan Smith urges all members to be present.

WATER SAFETY COURSE

A Water Safety Instructor's course will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Spruce Street, Winston-Salem, on May 10 through May 21, from 7-10 p.m. each night. Instructors will be Leon Lanier and Billy Newsome.

The National Guard will accept no more men between the ages of 17-26

(UNLESS— you measure up to our tough new standards)

The National Guard has taken on the biggest responsibilities in its 300-year history. Not only do we have the continuing duty of serving in local emergencies and disasters, but we also have been assigned tasks with international implications.

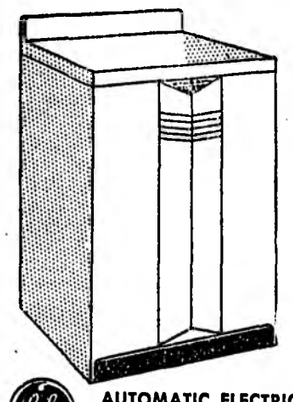

While we are helping to protect the peace, we stay ready for war. Naturally, responsibilities like these are entrusted only to the best kind of men. And they're the only kind who can meet our tough physical and mental standards. If you qualify, the reward is great—top training in a wide range of skills and occupations, taking from four to fourteen months of active duty. Then back home for service with your local unit. Think you're good enough...come on in and try to qualify.

Davie County Observes Special Week on Aging

The Davie County Department of Public Welfare is cooperating in the observance of Special Week on Aging, stated Mrs. C. C. Smoot, Director of Public Welfare, Mocksville, N. C., today. Governor Moore has designated the week of May 2-8 as the 1965 week for special emphasis on the needs of aged persons in the national observance of the month of May, which has been designated by President Johnson as National Senior Citizens Month.

Services available for older persons in this county through public welfare include money grants to needy people who meet eligibility requirements under law. In addition there are many non-financial services available to needy aged persons, stated Mrs. Smoot, Director. These services are in addition to public welfare services available to children and the disabled.

In March, 1965, there were 182 persons in this county receiving Old Age Assistance. The average monthly grant was $58.72. Public Welfare also has a program of medical services for medically indigent aged persons.

the State. The date coincides with Family care homes and homes for the aged in North Carolina are licensed by the State Board of Public Welfare. County departments of public welfare assist persons in selecting the appropriate type of home to meet their needs. There is one licensed nursing home in Davie County.

Public Welfare assists older persons in finding the home most suitable to their needs. Other public welfare services include counseling on a wide range of problems, rehabilitative serivces to help older people retain or regain as much independence in living as possible, referral of aged persons to other community resources, and cooperation with other State agencies in improving services to older people.

Kindergarten To Open At Cooleemee

As a community service, registration is now open for enrollment in the Cooleemee Kindergarten for children 4, 5, and 6 years of age. The Kindergarten, sponsored by the Good Shepherd Episcopal Church, will be open to children in Cooleemee and the surrounding area. Classes will begin in September and will run Monday through Friday from 8:30 A. M. until 12 Noon. The teacher will be an accredited elementery school teacher.

The purpose of the Kindergarten is the provide a succession of experiences whereby each child may have the opportunity to develop at his own rate: personal values and skills by learning to manage his feelings: academic learnings through satisfying natural curiosity which results in creative learning group values by feeling wanted, valued, and cared for by other children and the adults in his life. The program will provide play, instruction, nature, dramatics, music, and art.

Since the primary goal will be to help each child become aware of his individual worth, value and dignity, the enrollment will be limited to insure that each child will receive individual attention. Interested parents should get in immediate contact with either Mrs. Mary Alice Hasty, 284-3092, or the Rev. Downs C. Spitler, 284-2041. Registration is now open for children 5 and 6 years of age, and for children who will have their 4th birthday on or before October 31, 1965. The cost per child will be $13.60 per month, and will cover all equipment, supplies, and refreshments.

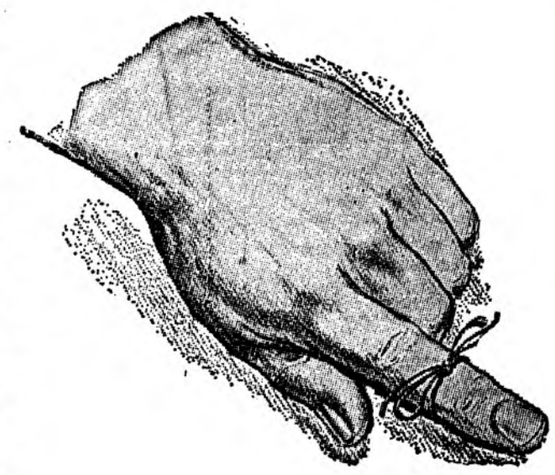

It is hoped that the Kindergarten will provide a much needed community service and that parents will feel free to ask questions or seek advice. Please do not hesitate to call either Mrs. Hasty or Mr. Spitler at any time.

ELBAVILLE

Mrs. Sallie Carter has returned home from Minneapolis, where she visited her son, Alvin Carter. Mrs. Carter and son accomplished her home for the weekend.

Mrs. Alma Myers who is recuperating from a heart attack, has returned home from a visit with her son and daughter in law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Myers near Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Essex and son, Jimmy visited Mrs. Della Essex Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mae Markland of Fork and Mrs. Mildred Hege of Elbaville, spent Sunday with friends in Winston-Salem.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bill Clinard and children were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Lawson.

Miss Pat Davis spent the past weekend in Chapel Hill. Visitors in the Davis home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burton and family of Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burton of Redland; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cozart of Mocksville; Mrs. Clarence Foster and Mrs. Charlie Cornatzer of Advance; Mrs. G. E. Hall and daughters and Mrs. Hassie Hall and daughters of Kernersville, were dinner guests of Mrs. Annie Hall Sunday. The occasion was Miss Grace Faircloth's birthday anniversary.

Church Activities

FIRST BAPTIST

Plans for observing Focus Week which will be observed May 9 through 15 with the theme "Go and Tell" are as follows:

Sunday, May 9, the G. A.'s will sit together during the worship service; Wednesday, May 12, the G. A.'s will present a program "Wo Would Worship" at midweek service; Friday, May 14, the G. A.'s will attend the "Around the World Party" at First Baptist Church, Statesville, with the local girls giving the meditation period; Sunday, May 16, a Coronation Service will be held at the evening worship hour.

(The G. A.'s — or Girls' Auxiliary is a part of the WMS and is designed to educate youth in the call to World Missions.)

Sunday morning, May 9, there will be a Mother's Day and Baptist Hospital offering taken at the 11 a. m. service. Also, the dedication of parents of new born babies will take place at this service.

Blaise

The annual Associational meeting of the WMU will be held at Blaise Baptist Church from 5 to 9 p. m. Tuesday, May 11.

YADKIN VALLEY BAPTIST

Revival services will begin at Yadkin Valley Baptist Church Sunday, May 9. The church is located six miles east of Farmington, Rt. 1, Advance.

The Rev. L. Grady Burgess will be guest speaker at both services on Sunday. The Rev. Bobby Robertson, pastor of Gospel Light Baptist Church, Walkertown will be the evangelist for the services each evening at 7:30 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

DULIN'S METHODIST

There will be a week-end Revival at the church Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at 7:30. Rev. Gilbert Miller, pastor of First Methodist Church, will be the speaker. The public is invited to attend.

Line Marker

Need a fence only to mark property lines? The rail fence is ideal for this purpose and is the least expensive to build and maintain because no top or bottom stringers are required. Douglas fir lumber is suggested.

John Ward Names Bitter Mushroom

JOHN WARD

John Ward of Mocksville has been hiking the woods and fields of Forsyth County collecting mushrooms for his master's degree in biology at Wake Forest College.

But his most interesting specimen he found on a lawn at the college behind Winston Hall, one of the science buildings.

This one was a new one in the world of mycology, the science of fungi. A mushroom is a type of fungus.

In trying to classify it by name, Ward and his instructor, Dr. James C. McDonald, found that none of the species listed fit its description.

Now it has a name for the first time—Psathyrella amarus. "Amarus" means bitter in Latin.

"It had a bitter taste," Ward said. He didn't do anything more than like a little because he didn't know whether it was poisonous. "It will take a chemical examination to find that out," he said.

"It's not a 'new' species," he said. "It just has not been classified and named before."

Ward found amarus on four different occasions, scattered around the lawn behind Winston Hall in bright sunlight after rains.

Ward collected 303 species of 45 different families from April to early fall last year. This is considered a large variey for an area of size of Forsyth County. There are about 4,000 species in the United States.

The best areas for collecting he found are Tanglewood Park, Camp Betty Hastings and Reynolds Woods near the campus.

He collected mushroms that grow on open lawns, in exclusively pine forests and in forests containing different kinds of trees.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Laura Spillman

The funeral for Mrs. Laura Steelman Spillman, 89, of Clemmons, widow of Alphonso Spillman, was held at 11 a. m. Monday at Voglers Chapel in Winston-Salem. Burial was in Farmington Methodist Church cemetery in Davie County.

Mrs. Spillman died early Saturday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Carl Hendrix of Clemmons. She was born in Yadkin County to George and Sallie Joyner Steelman and spent 56 years in Farmington before she moved to Clemmons four months ago. She was a member of Baltimore Methodist Church.

Surviving besides Mrs. Hendrix are two other daughters, Mrs. Frank Poindexter of Mocksville, Rt. 5, and Mrs. W. M. Taylor of 426 Irving Street; a son, Steelman Spillman of Mocksville, Rt. 2; and a sister, Mrs. S. L. Shore of Elk City, Okla.

GRASS TETANY

R. F. Behlow, C. T. Blake and M. B. Wise

This condition is a highly fatal disease of cows which occurs primarily in lactating cows, during the winter and early spring. This disease is caused by a magnesium deficiency and is accompanied by a low serum calcium level. The tetany symptoms vary, but in general it starts with incoordination, excitability, the animals go off feed and reduced milk production results in lactating animals. Later the animals may show viciousness, excessive salivation, staring eyes, muscular twitching, protrusion of the third eyelid, grinding of the teeth and irritability. The onset of the disease is marked by spasms which may progress rapidly into convulsions with loss of consciousness and death within an hour. Treatment should be given before the animals go into a coma, otherwise they will die. The usual treatment is the intravenous administration of combinations of magnesium and calcium salts. Consult with your local veterinarian for an accurate diagnosis and treatment, since several other conditions may cause cows to go down.

Nutritional Practices to Alleviate Grass Tetany —

More immediate, but less permanent results may be obtained in alleviating grass tetany by supplementing with magnesium in a mineral mixture or in an energy or protein supplement if they are being fed. If there are positive signs of grass tetany in a herd this procedure should be initiated at once. The following mixture is recommended for a mineral supplement on farms where grass tetany has been suspected:

Steamed Bone Meal 65%
Trace Mineral Salt 30%
Magnesium Carbonate 5%

This supplement should be fed from one month before the calving season starts until May 15. If no prior feeding of a magnesium source has been practiced the following mixture should be used if a case of grass tetany shows up:

Steamed Bone Meal 55%
Trace Mineral Salt 25%
Magnesium Carbonate 20%

If a protein or an energy supplement is being fed, magnesium carbonate should be added at a rate which will furnish two ounces per ten cows per day. It should be noted that the above practices are recommended only for herds subject to problems with grass tetany. Other magnesium sources which may be substituted for magnesium carbonate, are magnesium sulfate or magnesium oxide. Other calcium-phosphorus sources such as dicalcium phosphate or defluorinated rock phosphate may be substituted for the bone meal in the mineral mixes, however, it should be pointed out that intake of free-choice supplement will perhaps not be as high if this substitution is made.

Feeding of dry feed (legume hay is best) in addition to pasture during the lush growth period in the spring will perhaps be more successful than any other program in alleviating grass tetany.

Agronomic Practices to Alleviate Grass Tetany

It should be recognized that once magnesium levels have declined in soils, and thus in plants growing on these soils, to such a low plane that grass tetany actually occurs in animals, the correction of such conditions will be quite slow if present plant populations are maintained. The pH of such soils should be raised to 6.0-7.0 through application of dolomitic limestone. If lime is applied on the surface of stands to be maintained, the desired effect may require two to numerous years since the lime would move very slowly down through the soil and since more lime and longer periods are required to correct lower pH levels.

Where present plants can be replaced, lime and other nutrients can be worked into the upper layer of soil, especially if a rotation (renovation) system using a cultivated crop is employed. Then, once the lime level and pH is raised, the desired sod plants can be re-established.

Since legumes contain roughly twice as much magnesium in the vegetative portions as grasses, it would seem desirable to seed and maintain a clovergrass sod where possible.

If clover cannot be maintained, a much more rigorous and judicious liming program should be followed, being sure to use dolomitic limestone.

Right Nails

When building a fence of a prestige wood like western red cedar, always use aluminum alloy nails or galvanized steel nails. They resist oxidation and assure a tighter stronger fence, unmarred by rust stains.

Program First Organized 30 Years Ago—

Soil, Water Conservation Needs Broaden

During the past 30 years the programs and activities of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service have broadened to meet the resources needs of a growing nation.

When the Soil Conservation Service was established by Congress on April 27, 1935, soil erosion by water and wind had taken heavy toll of the nation's private lands. Winds in the Great Plains had whipped soil from millions of droughty acres. Uncontrolled water runoff elsewhere had washed topsoil off the land to clog and pollute reservoirs, streams, and harbors.

Control of soil erosion, labeled a national menace by Congress, was the top priority of the new agency. It begins its work on demonstration areas with the aid of Civilian Conservation Corps camps. It established a new science . . . soil and water conservation . . . using the techniques of all pertinent branches of agricultural science and of engineering, hydrology, biology and others. The Soil Conservation Service meshed this combination of skills into a new type of scientist . . . the soil conservationist . . . and assigned him to give help to land owners and operators on their land.

The soil conservationist became the action arm of the agency when the program shifted to one of local control and direction as landowners began to organize soil conservation districts under State law in 1937. The scope of the program broadened rapidly as the districts spread across the land. Today there are nearly 3,000 covering 1.7 billion acres that are owned or operated by about 2 million farmers, ranchers and others.

In addition to assisting local district cooperators, the programs and activities of Soil Conservation Service now include the Small Watershed Program, Great Plains Conservation Program, River Basin Investigation, National Cooperative Soil Survey, and Resource Conservation and Development projects.

Growing urbanization has brought about new competition for land and water resources and created new conservation problems.

As an urban nation we look to land and water for many uses other than food and fiber. We use and need increasing amounts of land for housing, and highways, for shopping centers and industries, and for airports and outdoor recreation. This calls for coordinated urban-rural land use planning so that all needs may be served without unnecessary waste of soil and water resources.

The Soil Conservation Service began furnishing assistance to the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District when a memorandum of understanding was signed with the service in 1939. Technical assistance in soil and water conservation has been furnished to over 1600 landowners of Davie County since that date. R. W. Goebel was one of the first technicians sent by the service to assist the Davie District. Personnel now assisting the districts are Garland Still, Work Unit Conservationst, and Charles Cox, technician.

Will Affect Davie County In 1968—

Changes In New Court Reform Law

North Carolina's court reform law won't reach Davie and other northwest counties until 1968. The changes that will take place at that time will be follows:

The state will take over the operation of all courts . . . the expense of operating these courts . . . and the revenue.

All judges of the district courts, which will replace the county courts, will be elected instead of being appointed by the county commissioners. There may be special judgeships, such as traffic judge and juvenile judge, with candidates running for the special posts.

All prosecutors of district courts will be appointed by senior resident superior court judges, and in turn will appoint their assistants.

District judges will get $15,000 a year;, prosecutors, $11,000; assistant prosecutors, $9,000 . . . which is considerably more than most of these officials now get.

Transgressors will pay uniform court costs everywhere in North Carolina. These costs will be a little highger than they are in most courts now.

Justices of the peace will be replaced by a small number of magistrates recommended by the clerk of superior court, appointed by the resident superior court judge and drawing salaries set by the court administrator at Raleigh.

Uniform fees will be set for superior courts and clerks throughout the state. These fees will go to the state, and the state will run the clerks' offices.

To Be In Mocksville On May 17th—

The Museum Of American History

On May 17th the people of this area will have an opportunity to view for the first time in Mocksville a fabulous Minature Museum of American History. This showing is being brought here under the sponsorship for several local businesses to give every citizen, young and old, an insight into the rich heritage of this nation.

The Miniature Museum of American History will journey to us in a mammoth trailer. As you step into the door you will enter an amazing world of illuminated display cases . . . each a miniature stage setting of some famous event in American History, shown in chronological order. On each stage you will see intricately fashioned and costumed mannikins . . . "little people" about one-tenth life size portraying unforgettable scenes from our historic past.

For instance you will see Columbus pleading with Ferdinand and Isabella for funds to finance his voyage into the unknown.

There is Sir Walter Raleigh as he takes his cloak and holds it for Queen Elizabeth to step upon.

There is Daniel Boone blazing his way through the Cumberland Mountains to Kentucky.

There is Betty Ross handing George Washington this nation's first flag.

The assassinations of our Presidents take place before your eyes; famous inventors and their inventions are animated; there is a parade of all the American Presidents and their wives, dressed in exact style and the same materials as worn during their time; plus many other historical scenes.

No effort has been spared to make every detail in every scene as lifelike as possible. Each person . . . both young and old . . . should make plans to visit this Miniature Museum of American History when it comes to Mocksville on May 17th.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2615 Oberlin Road

WETTER . . . North Carolina, which 30 years ago was regarded as one of the real Saharas in the alcoholic world, seems to be moving steadily and swiftly toward heavy moisture. This has been a most unique legislative development. Passing strange.

As it stands right now, roughly 50 per cent of our population lives in counties, cities, or towns having Alcoholic Beverage Control Stores.

With six additional localities petitioning the Legislature to pave the way for whiskey stores, Tarheelia can take a solid seat in the ranks of the wet states.

NO VOTE . . . But to this good hour, the voters of North Carolina have not been given an opportunity in these 30 years of from bone-dry-to water-wet to say whether they want legalized whiskey. We have gone about in a round-about way.

And, despite the fact that we will soon be numerically wet, counties, cities and towns having the stores are still afraid of what the drys might do if the matter came to a Statewide referendum.

When will the wets have the nerve, the confidence, to leave it to the whole people to decide whether the State will be legally wet or dry?

Well, odds are, no time soon. Even the word "referendum", has a bad sound around legislative halls. That is one of the reasons the bill calling for a Statewide referendum on daylight-saving time was defeated in the Senate last week.

Another fact of life is this: Taxes from the sale of whiskey in the localities having stores are now so important that areas having ABC outlets would be hard-pressed indeed to make ends meet if this revenue were lost.

★ ★ ★

STILLS . . . Whether you agree with those wanting a distillery in North Carolina or not matters not on the following: Old-timers here say legislative procedure re legal N. C. liquor-making is honest, square, open, and above-board as compared with the establishment of our first legal whiskey stores 30 years ago.

Just a lot of legislative trickery has long been associated — either rightly or wrongly — with out entire ABC system in North Carolina. There seems to be none whatever in efforts to establish a distillery—or distilleries—in this State.

TOOTHACHE? . . . Who treats mumps? A regular physician, skin specialist, or a dentist?

At 8:30 sharp on Monday morning, April 26, the big black, funeral Cadillac with the No. 1 license and patrolman at the wheel, pulled up to 600 Wade Avenue. That was early for Raleigh and only one early-riser spotted Gov. Dan Moore as he slipped out of the car.

He bowed graciously and then went into the offices of Dr. Henry O. Lineberger, Doctor of Dental Surgery, no doubt thinking he had something wrong with a wisdom tooth or something.

Well, he caught the flu from the President, we mused, and now the Vice President has brought him down with a toothache. That's what comes of getting too thick with Washington.

Then came the noon announcement from Press Secretary Tom Walker to the effect that the Governor had mumps, but "only on one side." Why should the Governor having mumps be funny? The obvious answer is, is isn't—to him.

Somebody said that a good case of mumps is the only thing that will 'keep Humphrey's mouth shut.' And we like the way Walker soft-pedaled the boss' illness.

NEW PRISONER? . . . The rumor persists around here that George Randell, director of prisons, will be moved out soon after the Legislature adjourns.

Randall is a native of Alabama, will be 55 years old on July 13. He was representative from Iredell County in the 1953 and 1955 Legislatures, was a Hodges appointee (Paroles Commission, 1956) went from there to prisons in 1960. Terry Sanford reappointed him to the post on July 1, 1962. Question is, can Luther Hodges save him now?

★ ★ ★

CINCHED IT? . . . With the enactment of the Court Reform Law in the Legislature last week, two legislators made giant strides toward permanent prominence in North Carolina.

David Britt, House superintendent of the bill, already had grabs on the Speakership for 1967. This could cinch it for the Robeson County lawyer. The only item against him is location — and this should not be insurmountable. The last Speaker was Clifton Blue of Aberdeen in Moore County. The current Speaker is Pat Taylor from Wadesboro in Anson, just a few jumps up the road. Only two counties, Richmond and Scotland, separate Anson, Moore and Robeson. This could be a handicap.

In the Senate, Lindsay Warren, Jr., 41, a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in Washington, D. C., with a J. D. from UNC Law School in 1951, carried the ball for Court Reform. He must be reckoned with in the not-too-distant future.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENCE IN MOORE . . . Things are still buzzing in Richmond County over the highway location business laid at the door of Elsie Webb, who was appointed to the State Highway Commission by Gov. Terry Sanford.

What is going to happen?

In Rockingham last week the man in the street was of the opinion that "Gov. Moore will get this mess straightened out soon after the Legislature leaves Raleigh."

The road will not go where Webb wanted it; Webb will not be reapointed (probably the safest prediction ever made by this corner); and the highway will go over the "other" route (the one preferred by almost everybody); at a savings of about a million dollars.

★ ★ ★

NOTES . . . The rumor is around that former Gov. Terry Sanford is up for Time Magazine treatment—possibly on the cover—and that he has the high ambition to be the only North Carolinian to serve two full terms as Governor (would run in 1972 at age 55).

—The champ ham salesman in Richmond County is named J. W. Hock.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — A significant day in the life of our nation is the annual celebration of Law Day on May 1. Sharply contrasting with the Russian emphasis on the rule of force, the American emphasis on rule of law points to a long tradition which is the cornerstone of government in our country.

As we celebrate this principle of government, one finds that it is constantly being challenged at home as well as abroad. The premise of the "rule of law" commands great respect in general. This is so because the great body of American opinion is that this country should be governed by laws which control men rather than by men who control laws.

The challenge comes in laudable concepts. In these it is urged, usually in the form of so-called civil rights measures, that the end justifies the means. The latest of these proposals comes in a complex package filled with mathematical percentages to insure the right to vote. Reasonable men do not argue over the principle that every qualified citizen should have the right to register and vote. Reasonable men do differ over the interpretation of statistics; how they reflect apathy, indifference, and unconcern on the part of citizens, and how they do show in some instances discrimination against citizens attempting to exercise this privilege.

There is little dissent that the 15th Amendment ought to be enforced in a Constitutional manner. The real question, however, turns on whether Congress ought to formulate a law aimed at selected States. Certainly, any examination of the proposed bill will demonstrate that it is a sectionally-aimed bill.

One of the founding principles of our government is that all States have equal power and dignity under the Constitution. Yet, under the terms of a much revised artificial formula, this bill condemns selected North Carolina and Virginia counties, some Virginia cities, and five other Southern States having voter literacy tests, but grants immunity to fourteen other States having similar literacy tests.

In other ways, the bill runs afoul of Constitutional doctrine. Even in times of war emergency, the Supreme Court has held that you cannot suspend any provision of the Constitution under any circumstances. Yet, here is a bill which would suspend the right of certain States to exercise their undoubted Constitutional power to determine voter qualifications. The bill contains provisions which suspend this power for as much as five years.

The voting bill also runs afoul of the Constitutional prohibition contained in Article I, Section 9 which denies Congress the power to pass a bill of attainder or ex post facto law. Bills of attainder include legislative acts "no matter what their form, that apply either to named individuals or to easily ascertainable members of a group in such a way as to inflict punishment on them without judicial trial". Ex post facto laws "embrace all restrospective laws, which condemn or punish past transactions."

This bill violates this Constitutional prohibition by condemning seven Southern States without a judical determination and on account of a fact that occurred before the bill was passed. The bill would trigger Federal sanctions against these States on the basis of voter registration and voter participation which occurred in the 1964 Presidential election.

The mood of the times is cited as the overiding consideration in behalf of an unconstitutional voting rights bill. It is this very mood which makes the challenge to the rule of law so dangerous.

It is fair to ask of every one a reason for the faith within.

— Mary Baker Eddy

Washington Report

BY CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHILL
9TH DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

WATER POLLUTION

Last week, we saw an example of a highly controversial proposal turned into a measure which received active backing from both political parties and ended by being approved without a single vote against it. This arose over changes in the Water Quality Act.

Certainly, water pollution is a continuing problem of civilization as demands for greater water resources increase. Already, in a number of areas of the country, water is reused and reconsumed many times. That process will increase in the future. Of course, each time water is reused, it is polluted and must be purified.

Cities and towns in the past have drawn water from streams only to dump it back in seriously polluted form. Industrial operations have also poured water-based wastes back into streams to create serious problems. Many of us have not suspected the degree of stream pollution although we have seen masses of suds in our rivers coming from the detergents that are an indispensible part in every household.

Nine years ago, the first permanent national program to meet the water pollution problem was passed by the Congress. In this, the Federal government's role has been to support activities of the States, encourage work of combinations of States and local communities through loans and grants for the building of wastetreatment plants. Other aspects of the program involve research into pollution control and the enforcement of water pollution laws and regulations. It also sought to encourage uniform State laws in this field.

As we look back over nine years of experience with the program, the results have been impressive. There has been a great improvement over conditions that had prevailed before the passage of the original Act. We have gone from conditions when unchecked pollution threatened the country's waterways so badly that the problem almost seemed without hope to a point where we are just about holding our own. Still, this is not good enough because as our population grows and cities increase in size, keeping up with the problem at today's pace will mean falling behind in the future.

The new legislation was developed with that in mind. One of the most appealing provisions of the House bill calls for experimental projects to demonstrate new and improved methods of controlling and treating polluted water. With this kind of encouragement, we can hope that the technological know-how of pollution control will be advanced. This, in itself, could well lend to more effective methods and to greater efficiency that might reduce costs in doing a job that must be done. In general, the program is broadened long lines already developed over nine years of careful experience with the old law.

The need and basic outlines of the legislation aroused little or no argument. However, one aspect of the Administration's proposal brought outspoken disagreement in the House Public Works Committee which was responsibile for developing the final provisions of the bill. This was over the right of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to set standards of water quality. At first glance, this sounds fairly reasonable. No one will argue that water quality. At first glance, this sounds fairly reasonable. No one will argue that water quality standards are necessary. However, this has been the authority of States and local agencies. It has been my feeling that this is where the power belongs.

As we look deeper into what would be involved if full power over water quality standards were transfered to Washington, we can see some disturbing consequences. Surely, it would undermine the initiative of the States in developing their own plans for pollution control. At the same time, it would be contrary to the philosophy of the original Water Quality program. Perhaps of even more importance, it would hand over to one Federal official the power to impose and demand zoning measures — in fact, land-use control over vast areas of land in watershed areas.

Fortunately, the Public Works Committee saw the dangers in this plan and removed the grant of power before the bill was brought to the Floor of the House for a decision. With this critical and controversial issue disposed of, the bill encountered no difficulty.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where a feller that runs a weekly newspaper in Georgia has come up with a idea that could spread all over the country and change the course of newspaper history. He has announced that from now on he ain't printing news items about folks that don't subscribe to his paper. He allowed as how he was gitting dad-burned tired of somebody giving him a news item and then borrowing a neighbor's paper to see if he printed it.

I presume, Mister Editor, he's talking about good news items. Seeing as how he is riled up over the matter, I reckon, if one of his nonsubscribers gits in jail, he'd print it on the front page.

I brung this item up at the country store Saturday night and all the fellers was agreed with this pore editor from Georgia. Ed Doolittle figgered if all country editors would take up this policy it would double circulation. Farthermore, claimed Ed, with this big increase in circulation, the editor could double the price fer advertising and git the proper status in the community from being in a higher tax bracket. They ain't nothing, said Ed, that fixes up a feller's status like letting the news git around he's in a high tax bracket.

Clem Webster was wondering why country editors hadn't thought of this idea many years ago. But Clem allowed as how the answer to many of life's big problems was so simple folks just overlooked 'em. He said it made him recollect about the feller that had been falling out of bed all his life. When he got old and it was gitting hard on his bones and his roomatism, he final went to see a doctor. This doctor solved the problem in 60 seconds. He told the old man to sleep on the floor.

Incidental, Mister Editor, all the fellers at the store was subscribers in good standings to your paper and they said to tell you they are mighty anxious to keep up the good relations with the editor, such as putting in the bad. Josh Clohopper, that gits caught onct in a while fer driving too fast, was special anxious fer you to follow the Golden Rule in these matters.

And speaking of the Golden Rule, I see by the papers where one of them fellers from the Internal Revenue Service was telling a subcommittee of the Congress the other day they was trying to git form 1040 so simple a tax payer could fill it out in 30 minutes. This feller's heart might be in the right place but his head has got stuck in a crack. Ed Doodlittle says it takes him a hour just to find his old lady's Social Security card.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

TEXT: "Have patience and endure" — Ovid.

Finally reaching a customer who had been waiting for a long, long time, the waiter asked,

"What is it you wish, sir?"

"Well," said the customer, "what I orginally came for was breakfast, but if lunch is ready now, I'll take supper.

History's giants from Job to Benjamin Franklin and today's outstanding men and women, advocate patience as a cure for trouble and a necessary ingredient for success. Yet how few of us act as though we know it. It is a skill we must master for happiness and achievement. An impatient attitude toward others, to conditions that surround us, to our work or to our play, causes delay and failure instead of quick arrival and success. Experience has shown each of us that our impatience has produced fumbling and misunderstanding which resulted in less progress.

A wise investment counselor has stated that more fortunes have been lost by impatience than by unsound investing. Accomplishment in any endeavor demands patience. Take time to be patient. It has been said that you can do anything if you have patience. You can even carry water in a sieve, if you wait for it to freeze. Be wise. Be successful. Be patient.

Roundup

Thirty-two Senior Girl Scouts from the eight-county Pilot Area Girl Scout Council assembled the past week-end at Camp Robert Vaughn in Stokes County.

The ocasion was an encampment of girls to represent the council at the Senior Girl Scout Roundup in July at Farragut, Idaho. The round-up is held every three years.

Caroline (Tut) Sanford, Liz Evans and Peggy Sanford of the Mocksville Senior Troop were at the practice encampment as delegates and Patricia Short as a alternate delegate. At the encampment the grils were practicing what they call "gracious living in the outdoors," and whetting other skills they might be using at the roundup.

Twenty-four girls will make the summer trip, but an extra eight-girl patrol attended the en ampment to prepare as an alternat unit.

Th girls have been meeting since last June to prepare for the summer event. They are to be thoroughly prepared for the 14 days they will spend in Idaho without adult supervision.

They will build a tent city along with 10,000 other girls from across the nation. Each group will put on demonstrations of skills from its geographical area. The group from this council is learning to make Moravian stars and weave tobacco baskets.

In July they will board a special Girl Scout train that will wander across the nation picking up roundup delegates. The trip will take about a week.

Parts of the trip will be a tour of Yellowstone National Park and Chicago.

This is the biggest nationwide Girl Scout camping event. It is designed to give the girls a sampling of attitudes and characteristics of girls from other parts of the nation.

This encampment is the final trial run for the roundup before the actual departure.

The alternate patrol will attend the Eastern Roundup in Nantahala National Forest near Franklin in June.

Four adults from this area will also go to the Idaho round-up as staff personnel. The staff is not supervisory, but rovides servi es such as running the trading post.

Miss Joanne Doremus of Winston Salem, Mrs. Robert Gibbs and her daughter, Miss Mary Turner Gibbs, both of North Wilkesboor, and Mrs. Gaither Sanford of Mocksville will be the adults attending.

This weekend's encampment will last through noon Sunday. The girls are from Forsyth, Surry, Davie, Davidson, Yadkin and Wilkes counties. Alleghany and Stokes counties aren't represented.

FULTON

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Fulton Methodist Church will meet Saturday at 7:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gladys Gobble.

Mrs. Mary Bailey, who was a patient at Davie County Hospital for a few days, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Snider of Reeds spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Young.

Miss Diane Bailey spent Tuesday with Mrs. Brenda Boger in Advance.

Mrs. Iva Young was a dinner guest of Mrs. Sallie Beanblossom Sunday at Reeds. In the afternoon, they visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tysinger in Lexington.

Misses Manlyn Winters, Cathy Williams, Sherry Shoaf and Paula Barnhardt spent Wednesday afternoon with Miss Beverly Pack. The group enjoyed a weiner roast and grilled hamburgers. The occasion was Beverly's 10th birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Pack and children attended a cook-out Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lanier at Reeds.

TOPDRESSED PHOSHORUS IS LESS EFFICIENT

Phosphorus applied as a topdressing is generally less efficiently used than when it is placed in a band beneath the soil surface or broadcast and mixed with the soil says Leo F. Williams, County Extension Chairman. The main reason for this is that phosphorus moves very little in the soil, thus when it is placed on the soil surface it essentially remains there and the plant roots have difficulty in absorbing it.

One advantage arising from the immobile nature of phosphorus in the soil is its resistance to leaching. It will not leach away as can some of the more mobile nutrients like nitrogen and potassium. Phosphorus can be "fixed" in the soil by iron and aluminum compounds, however, making it less available for plant use. This is particularly important in the "heavier" red clay soils of the Piedmont and Mountain regions.

Probably the most efficiently used phosphorus is that placed in a fertilizer band beside and below the young plant or seed. Being beneath the soil surface and fairly close to the young plant roots, it is readily available to the plants. Since it is relatively concentrated in the band and does not contact a great volume of soil, the "phosphorus fixation" is held to a minimum.

Since the amount of fertilizer that can be safely applied in a band is limited, large applications of phosphorus designed to build up low soil phosphorus levels are usually broadcast and mixed with the soil. Once the soil level has been built up, annual "at planting" applications of mixed fertilizers containing phosphorus are generally sufficient to supply the needs of the crop. Here again banding is generally the most efficient way to apply moderate amounts of fertilizer at planting time to cultivated or row crops.

In the case of pasture of sod crops, maintenance applications of phosphorus must be topdressed if it is to be applied. For this reason it is very important to have your soil tested so the soil phosphorus can be built up to a medium to high level before planting; then only small maintenance applications should be needed.

Phosphorus is particularly needed by young plants to get off to a fast start. Have your soil tested well ahead of planting time so you can build up low soil phosphorus levels with broadcast applications. This along with a "banded at planting" fertilizer application will assure you of the most efficient use of the phosphorus and other nutrients applied.

Six million people have jobs providing the machines, industrial goods and services farmers use.

Baptist Annual Mother's Day Offering Supports Hospital Program

Thousands of North Carolina Baptists are completing plans for their annual Mother's Day offering to support the charity program of North Carolina Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem.

Last year, their contributions amounted to approximately $260,000 and were the foundation upon which the hospital built a free service program costing $1,240,000 and benefiting nearly 18,000 patients.

In recent weeks, the hospital has distributed special literature to the some 3,350 Baptist churches in the state to emphasize the increasing volume of service and the need for greater financial support.

Included in the material are posters showing a nurse removing bandages from a severely burned boy. The child is Lewis Aldrich, 11-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aldrich of Cliffside. Lewis was a patient at the hospital for six months, lacking just a few days, in 1964. Late in January he and a playmate had ignited some gasoline in a plastic container and he received second and third degree burns on his legs while trying to put it out. He was taken to a doctor and rushed to a nearby hospital where he stayed for five months. When attempts at skin grafting continued to be unsuccessful, it was decided to move the patient to Baptist Hospital where specialists in the treatment of burns and the facilities of a large medical center were available for his care At Baptist Hospital he had eight operations for grafts on his badly burned legs. He had 24 transfusions and suffered much pain, but by December 23, he was able to go home. Lewis is still under the hospital's care and returns periodically for checkups, but he expects to discard his crutches soon and to return to school in the fall.

Officials of the hospital explain that this case is just one of thousands of annually in which Mother's Day funds are used to assist patients who require such help.

Why risk a heating system that takes such a big slice out of your paycheck?

When Oil Heat takes so little

Cost comparison studies have proved conclusively that fuel oil is the most economical way to heat your home. Other systems might seem cheaper to install, but they can be expensive to operate . . . so that the apparent initial saving is quickly gobbled up by high operating costs. But, year after year, modern oil heat provides the most economical, safe and comfortable heat, resulting in real savings.

Fulton Methodist Church Is Recipient of Hanes Bequest

Church to Be Rebuilt; Cemetery Maintained

The Fulton Methodist Church, located on N.C. 801 just out of Fork, is the principal beneficiary in the will of the late Miss Katherine Jane Hanes.

Miss Hanes died May 1 at 86, and left an estate valued at $3,514,033, according to the preliminary inventory filed in Forsyth Superior Court last Friday. The bulk of her estate is to be held in trust by Wachovia Bank and Trust Company with interest to be used for specific purposes set out in the will dated in August, 1936.

The principal trust concerns the ancestral church, referred to as the Fulton Methodist Episcopal Church South. It was the correct title of the church when the will was drawn but in 1939 the name was changed to the Fulton Methodist Church.

Miss Hanes directed in her will that the church be rebuilt, using nativestone, to a capacity of 300 seats, and Sunday School rooms.

She noted that the church grounds are the burial grounds of her ancestore and she provided that white marble markers of the colonial period be placed on the graves of her ancestors buried there. The church and gorunds are to be kept up and cared for out of "income eternally," Miss Hanes stated in her will, which was the desire of her grandmother and father.

These white marble markers of the colonial period are to be placed on the graves of her great-grandfather Joseph Hanes and his wife, Katherine Seiner (or Sehner) Hanes. Markers on the graves of her grandfather, Alexander Hanes, and his wife, Jane March Hanes, are to be of classical marble in keeping with their period.

Also the same kind of markers are to be on the graves of their two sons who served in the Civil War. One was killed at Spottsylvania Courthouse, the other at Gaines Mill. A like marker, specified Miss Hanes, is to be erected on the grave of her father's brother (her uncle), who was "mortally wounded" in the Civil War.

The Church

The Fulton Methodist Church was organized in the early 1800's and organized into a congregation in 1802. Camp ground meetings were held on the nearby Yadkin River.

Founders of the first church were John Lowery and Joseph Hanes. The first church was a small wooden structure named Hebron Church.

Later when Fulton Township was formed, the church took the name of the township. In 1888 the congregation laid the cornerstone of the present brick building which was dedicated in 1889.

In 1956, a building drive was started to make the present church larger and to add Sunday School rooms, the project being completed in 1959.

Last year another fund drive was begun to renovate the sanctuary and this was completed last January.

At the present time the church is debt free on its buildings. It has a membership of 147.

The Rev. Billy Clinard is the present pastor of the church.

Brakes Fail On Truck Of Lumber

A 1963 Chevrolet flat bed truck loaded with lumber and being driven by Robert Lee Foster, 49, of Cooleemee, overturned on Wednesday, May 5, at the intersection of Green Hill Road and Davie Academy Road when the brakes failed.

Patrolman Larry Woods who investigated the accident gave the following account.

At approximately 3:45 p.m., the truck was going south on Green Hill Road coming into the intersection of Davie Academy Road from his right at approximately 40 to 45 mph. Foster stated that as he applied brakes to stop at stop sign at the intersection the brakes on the truck failed and the truck crossed Green Hill Road to the right side of roadway approximately 180 to 200 feet and overturned. Foster suffered cuts on his head and bruises and was admitted to Davie County Hospital.

A passenger in the truck, Joseph White, of Cooleemee, was not injured.

There were no charges.

Rev. Ed Avett Speaks To Local Rotary Club

The Rev. Ed Avett gave the Mocksville Rotarians some of his observations and philosophies of life at their regular meeting on Tuesday.

Bob Hall had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Avett. President John E. Durham presided.

Special guests included Andy Meymack of Winston-Salem and John Collins of Clemmons.

Dr. Ray Hartness was inducted as a new member by Dave Rankin.

Policeman Is Praised

Mocksville Policeman Lonnie M. Tutterow was praised this week by a Statesville woman for his assistance to her in a recent wreck.

The letter from Mrs. Yountz to Mr. Tutterow reads as follows:

Statesville, N. C.
May 8, 1965

Mr. Lonnie M. Tutterow
Town of Mocksville—Police Dept.
Mocksville, North Carolina
Dear Mr. Tutterow:

May I take this opportunity to thank you again for all you did to help me the other Friday when I had the little wreck in your City of Mocksville. I have never met two policemen anywhere any more cordial than you and the other man whose name I did not get. Also, I wish you would express my thanks to Mr. Foster who seemed to be such a nice person.

I have not heard from either of the women who were involved in the wreck, but I hope and pray that they were not hurt. My car was damaged more than either of the others, but I was not hurt in the least. In fact I did not even feel sore from the impact. I am going to write each of them and express my regrets again that it happened, but when my foot slipped off the brakes onto the gas, it just seemed that the car jumped into the one in front of me. It was my first wreck after driving all these years and I certainly regret it.

If I should ever need a policeman in the City of Mocksville, I am sure I will ask for you Mr. Tutterow.

Most sincerely yours,
MRS. J. E. YOUNTZ

Museum Of American History To Be Here All Day Monday

To Be Located At The Heffner's Parking Lot

The Miniature Museum of American History will be on display in Heffner's parking lot on Monday, May 17, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The museum, which is a $250,000 educational exhibit produced by Randall Publishing Company, is being sponsored by B. C. Moore and Sons, Heffner's Land of Food, Reavis Autos, Inc., Western Auto Associate Store, Davie County Enterprise-Record, Morris-Larew Insurance Agency, Shorty York Sinclair Service, Hendricks and Merell Furniture Co., Edd's Radio and TV Service.

Free tickets for viewing this museum may be obtained from any of the above sponsors.

The story of America, as shown in the museum, is narrated and includes vital, interesting and unique facts concerning the Presidents and first ladies. The scenes are presented in life-like detail and the Presidents of the United States and their wives are exact reproductions, one-tenth life size.

More than three years' work went into the museum and the designers put in approximately 150,000 man hours of time. The museum contains a ballroom scene with all of America's Presidents and their wives along with individual scenes covering major phases of American History.

The sculptured heads of the Presidents and the firts ladies required approximatley 4,250 hours of work. Sculptors from 14 states worked on the reproductions. The mannequins are exact reproductions in every detail. Hundreds of hours of research were required to reproduce skin color, facial features, hair color, and style, and body characteritstics. Real hair was used on many of the dolls to accurately reproduce the original personage.

Softball

On Monday, May 17th, at 8 p. m. a meeting will be held in the Mocksville Elementary School gym for all persons interested in entering a softball team in the City Recreation program.

Jerusalem Baptist To Hold Revival Services

The Jerusalem Baptist Church will have revival services beginning Sunday evening, May 16, and running through Sunday evening, May 23. Services will be held each night at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Dick Denson, pastor of the church, announced that the Rev. M. R. Haire, formerly pastor of the Brookwood Baptist Church, Jacksonville, N. C., would be the visiting evangelist.

"Mr. Haire has been pastor of the Brookwood Church for the past eight years. During this period of time there were more than 1100 people to unite with the church for membership. This church has been recognized several times as being among the top 40 churches in North Carolina in the number of baptisms," said Mr. Denson.

Mr. Haire resigned the Brookwood pastorate on Jan. 14 of this year to enroll in the School of Pastoral Care at the Baptist Hospital. There he has been engaged in clinical pastoral training as relates to pastoral counseling.

Mr. Haire is an honor graduate of Howard College. He also graduated from the New Orleans Thelogical Seminary with the B.D. and Th.M. degrees. He is a native of Alabama.

Cancer Crusade Falling Short

The annual Cancer Crusade for funds held recently reports a total of $593 collected to date. This compares with approximately $1,500 raised two years ago and $946 raised last year in Davie County.

"Anyone in the county who has need can benefit from the Cancer program," said Rev. Fred Barnes, president of the local ACS unit. "We keep 40 percent of the funds raised in the county and last year alone the local unit gave money to seven different cancer patients. If you have not contributed to the Crusade this year, please do so at once. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, Davie County Unit, in care of Miss Cornelia Hendricks, Park Avenue, Mocksville, N. C." If you have not given yet or feel that you can contribute more, join up, join in. The Davie County Unit of the American Cancer Society needs you. Thanks is given to the ones who have given of their time and support," concluded the Rev. Mr. Barnes.

House and Barn Are Struck By Lightning

A severe thunderstorm last Thursday afternoon hit areas of Davie County and lightning hit at least two buildings in the Jerusalem section of the county.

Around 5 p. m. lightning apparently hit a dwelling on the Cherry Hill Road occupied by the Harley Davidson family and set it afire. Three children, ages 6 to 10, were at home at the time. They ran from the house to a neighbor as the entire dwelling and all the contents burned. The house was owned by Kelly Call of Mocksville Rt. 4.

Also during the storm lightning struck a barn of the Grant Stephens, burning it.

Conference Sportsmanship Trophy Is Awarded To Davie High School

The Davie County High School has been awarded the North Piedmont Conference Sportsman hip Trophy.

This trophy is presented to the school in the North Piedmont who in the opinion of visiting coaches and officials rates the highest in sportsman hip of players, school officials and fans.

All visiting coaches of North Piedmont Conference teams graded each of these schools for each game played this year. The officials that worked the games also graded the sportsmanship of the home players, fans, coaches, etc .These rating sheets were turned in to the conference secretary who compiled the points to determine the winner.

Davie High has the distinction of becoming the first school ever to win this award as this is the first time it has ever been presented. From now on it will be an annual award.

County Service Businesses Gross $1.2 Million In '63

Davie County's 99 service establishments had total receipts of $1.2 million in 1963, an increase of 135 percent from 1958, according to a report of the 1963 Census of Business just released by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce. The last previous census of business covered operations during 1958.

The service trades in the census of business included those providing: personal services to individuals; miscellaneous business services; auto repair and other auto services; and other repair services. Also included were motion picture production and distribution business; motion picture theatres; other amusement and recreation services; and hotels and motels.

The selected service trade establishments in the county employed 56 persons (exclusive of proprietors) and had a payroll for the year of $120 thousand. The state as a whole included 23,677 establistments with receipts of $597.7 milllon.

The Bureau of the Census report, selected services, North Carolina, 1963 census of business, from which these data are taken, may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. 20402 and at the U. S. Dept. of Commerce field offices for $.45.

Rebels Win North Piedmont Crown—

Davie Clinches Conference Title

Davie High School Rebels clinched the North Piedmont Conference baseball crown Tuesday afternoon with a 4 to 2 win over second place West Rowan.

Davie, with two games remaining (Monroe at Mocksville Wednesday afternoon and Mocresville here on Friday) had a record of 11 wins and one loss as compared to West Rowan 9 wins and 4 losses.

John Parker came through with a 5-hit performance on the mound and a big bat to lead Coach Bill Peeler's boys to the victory and conference championship. Parker limited the Falcons to five hits and hit a triple to score Don Jones with the Rebels first run.

Don Jones also waved a big bat and tripled in the fourth with two Rebels on base to make it 3 to 0 for Davie.

West Rowan scored two runs in the sixth to close the gap to 3 and 2 but Earl Shoaf came through with a homerun in the seventh to give Davie the 4 to 2 victory.

Davie will play the winner of the South Piedmont Conference next week.

At Cooleemee—

Bank Helps Equip Field

Announcement was made this week of the completion of installation of bleachers at the Cooleemee Athletic Field. The announcement was made by Chas. F. Bahnson, assistant vice president and manager of the Cooleemee Office of Central Carolina Bank & Trust Company.

The field is owned by the Erwin Mills, is adjacent to the Cooleemee Elementary School, and has a history which goes back nearly sixty years. It has served as home for local semi - professional baseball teams, has been used by the high school baseball and football squads, and for some years was headquarters for Cooleemee's entry in the Class "D" North State Professional League.

In recent years the field has fallen into a state of disrepair, and civic and other groups went to work to restore it to usable condition. A new fence was installed by the PTA and new floodlights were installed by the Cooleemee Jaycees, Lions Club, and American Legion.

Central Carolina Bank chose as its project, spectator seating for the field. Modern bleachers of treated wood, with steel supports, and a seating capacity of 200 were selected and donated. R. L. and Paul Foster, owners of the Cooleemee Shopping Center, asisted in the financing.

Now the field is adequate to the task of serving the men's community softball six-team league, the women's four-team league, baseball entries in Little League, pony league, and peewee competition, as well as the recreational needs of the school.

How does the bank feel about its contribution to improvement at the field? "We're anxious to support our local teams," said Bahnson. "But we feel that spectators are entitled to a little support, too!"

Library News

By MRS. I. H. HUSKE

THE BOOK YOU NEVER HEARD OF MAY change your whole life. When you visit your library and become familiar with it you may discover that important book which leads you into a whole new field of interest. Your Davie County Public Library invites you to take advantage of your library and keep in mind the slogan which was used for National Library Week this year, "Open Your Future — Read!"

In your library now:

The exhibit of Eskimo crafts is still arranged in the Main Room. Much interest has been shown in these objects and the books shown with them. "Favorite Reading of America's Young Adults, 1965" is pointed up in another display. Come in and see how many of these titles, drawn from a recent survey by the National Library Week Committee, you have read.

And may we add that these are books not limited to the tastes of young adults only? In fact, the head of the committee commented that "the mature level of choices was outstanding." A tribute to America's young people! Don't you think so?

Awards will be presented at the banquet and a new "Miss Correct Posture" for N. C. will be crowned.

Educational and Business sessions will continue on Saturday.

YADKIN VALLEY

By MRS. JOE LANGSTON

Revival services are in progress at Yadkin Valley nightly through Friday. Rev. Bobby Robertson is the evangelist.

Mother's Day was observed at Yadkin Valley Sunday by presenting red azaleas to Mrs. John Smith as mother with oldest child present; Mrs. J. Kelly Smith, youngest grandmother; and Mrs. Ray Hendrix, with youngest child present.

Mrs. Nannie Foster has been ill for several days, but is somewhat improved presently.

Mrs. A. C. Cheshire is indisposed with a case of laryngitis.

Miss Doris York of Gardner Webb College spent Mother's Day week end with her parents.

Mrs. Fred White remains a patient at the Davie County Hospital. Her condition is showing some improvement.

Aldine Smith and daughter, Debbie, of High Point visited Mrs. Lillian Smith on Sunday. In the afternoon they visited Henry Smith and Tobe Smith.

Mrs. Eugene Lee and son, Neil, and Mrs. Joe Langston spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Hubert Drawdy in Winston-Salem. Mrs. Drawdy is confined to her bed with a slipped disc of the spine.

Mrs. Walter Boles received a broken hip in a fall last week. She is progressing well in Davie County Hospital.

Rev. L. Grady Burgiss brought a most inspiring message at Yadkin Valley on Sunday on "The Dignity of Motherhood," with special emphasis to girls and young ladies on the important role they have in life, and the importance of keeping clean, pure hearts and minds.

Girl Scout News

Neighborhood Meeting

The Davie Neighborhood, Girl Scouts, Pilot Area Council, met Thursday morning, May 6, in the Girl Scout Room in the basement of the Davie County Court House.

Mrs. Jack Sanford, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Announcement was made of the Day Camp to be held at the Davie County Methodist Camp grounds near Sheffield June 14 through 18. Registration blanks must be in before May 24. These blanks have been mailed directly to each Girl Scout in the county.

The Day Camp will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Fee will be $2.50 and this includes milk, supplies, first aid and "overnight" cook-out for Juniors only.

The following is a list of things to bring to Day Camp: nosebag lunch, non-collapsible cup, hand towel, Girl Scout handbook. Those attending are asked to wear shorts or jeans, shirt (no halter or sunsuit), socks, oxford or saddle shoes (no sandals).

Mrs. Gaither Sanford, leader of Cadette Troop No. 266, announced that the Troop will have a Bake Sale at Heffner's Land of Food and Walker's Shop-Rite on Saturday, May 15. They hope to complete the fund raising for their trip to Savannah, Ga., in June.

Camperships given by the Mocksville Woman's Club have been awarded to Marty Mason, Patsy Danner, Martha Smith and Joyce Dwiggins. These girls will attend the third session at Camp Shirley Rogers near Roaring Gap from July 18 to July 31.

Detailed plans for the week end camping trip at the Methodist Camp grounds were made at the conclusion of the meeting.

Camping Trip

A sudden torrential rain . . . and hail storm . . . last Friday night . . . almost broke up the annual camping trip for the Girl Scouts.

A total of 100 Girls Scouts and adult counselors went to the Methodist Camp grounds near Sheffield Friday afternoon after school. Thirty tents were pitched . . . and one black snake was killed! The girls soon busied themselves making camp . . . cooking meals over charcoal, etc.

Friday night a campfire service was held. The rain storm that came up later caused half of those attending to return to their homes. Those that stayed slept inside the old church building on the grounds.

The 50 that stayed spent Saturday sunbathing, hiking, working on scout badges, preparing meals, etc.

The campfire Saturday night featured the announcement of badges earned by girls in Troop 266 by their leader, Mrs. Gaither Sanford. Four cadettes were "capped" by the "Big Sisters" of the Senior Troop. They were: Phyllis Quillin, Judy Anderson, Patricia Brock, Barbara Beaver. June Harris will become a Senior but was unable to attend camp due to illness.

Sunday morning, following breakfast, camp broke and the girls returned home.

Wives receiving social security benefits must notify the Social Security Administration if they become divorced.

Water On Roadway Causes Wreck Here

Water on the highway following the rainstorm last Thursday afternoon contributed to a wreck in front of the Mocksville Elementary School.

Mocksville Policeman R. Jim Smith said that his investigation disclosed that Albert Douglas Rush, 23, teacher at the Central Davie School, was operating a 1964 Corvair and was going south on North Main St. and hit a puddle of water. Rush lost control of the car which went across the road and hit a 1960 Chevrolet heading north and driven by B. T. Williams of Mocksville.

Mrs. Rush, in the car with her husband, was taken to the Davie County Hospital suffering from cuts about the head and on leg.

The Corvair was a total loss. The left front of the Williams' car was damaged around $800.

At Conference

Earl Shoaf was elected to represent Davie County High School at the leadership conference held at Wake Forest College on Friday and Saturday, May 7th and 8th This conference was sponsored by the National Men's Honor Society of Wake Forest College and featured a banquet, college theatre play and workshop classes with prominent speakers. Earl is the son of Mr .and Mrs. Hubert Shoaf of Cooleemee.

THE FORK BAPTIST CHURCH . . . has made a decided change in the physical structure of the building durhg the past decade as may be seen in comparing the two pictures. The church at the left was erected in 1907. On Nov. 21, 1957, the three-story east wing of the building was started and was completed in June of 1958 at cost of $45,000 including furniture. On July 19, 1963, the second stage of the building program was started and was completed Feb. 20, 1964, at cost, including furniture and baptistry of $31,690. On June 11, 1964, work was started on the sanctuary and was completed around the latter part of March, 1965. The cost of this phase, including rug for the sanctuary and office furniture, was $24,398. This makes a total expenditure for the past seven years at the Fork Baptist Church of $101,088.

Three Stage Building Program Is Completed—

Fork Baptist Church To Hold Dedicatory Service This Sunday

What many historians believe to be one of the oldest churches in Western North Carolina will hold a special dedicatory service for a newly renovated sanctuary on Sunday.

The Fork Baptist Church, located on U. S. 64 East of Mocksville, will have a special 11 a.m. service followed by an open house program with refreshments from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon. Former pastors will be special guests with the Rev. A. M. Kiser preaching the dedicatory service at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Del Suggs is the present pastor of the church.

Church History

It is believed that the Fork Baptist Church was first organized sometime between 1769 and 1772 and thereafter disbanded because of the Revolutionary War and the Indian uprisings.

In the summer of 1793 the church was reorganized and at the Fifth Annual Session of the Yadkin Baptist Association meeting at Eatons Baptist Church that year, was admitted to the Association.

In 1798, the tenth annual session of the Yadkin Baptist Association met with Fork and on Sunday, Sept. 22, 1798, there were three sermons preached by the Rev. William Megreos, the Rev. George Pope and the Rev. William Dodson.

The first pastor of the church was the Rev. Benjamin Buckner. He served until 1815, at which time he moved to the State of Georgia.

September 15, 1915, is the first authentic date showing the Rev. Joseph Pickler as the second pastor. He was elected moderator of the Yadkin Baptist Association in 1825 and thereafter continued in this position through 1837.

The Rev. Mr. Pickler died on May 24, 1840, after serving for 25 years as pastor of the Fork Baptist Church.

In July, 1840, the Rev. Barton Roby became pastor and served through February, 1841.

In March, 1841, the Rev. William H. Hammer, a former deacon, was called as pastor. He was ordained in July, 1841, and served as pastor until December, 1843.

The Rev. William Turner assumed the pastoral duties at the regular monthly service in October, 1844.

The Rev. Richard Jacks became pastor in September, 1851.

In 1853, the Rev. Calton W. Bessent became pastor.

Building Constructed

In November, 1858, Benjamin Merrell, the Rev. Mr. Bessent and William Wyatt were appointed as a building committee to look after the construction of a new building. This new building extended east and west, with the west end covering a part of the site of the first log building. The building was finished in 1862.

The Rev. John W. Cirnish became pastor in September, 1866.

Benjamin S. Merrell was elected superintendent of the first Sunday School organized in March, 1869.

In July, 1869, the Rev. John F. Redwine became pastor and served until January, 1897, at which time the Rev. William Turner began a second pastorate.

It was around this time that the Fork Baptist Church withdrew from the Yadkin Baptist Association and joined other churches in the formation of the South Yadkin Baptist Association.

The Rev. C. E. Gower became pastor in April, 1885, and continued to serve until Dr. J. N. Stallings was called on January 21, 1888. Dr. Stallings served until September, 1890, at which time the Rev. C. S. Caldwell became pastor. In February, 1891, the Rev. John F. Redwine returned as Supply Pastor.

On the second Sunday in February, 1889, the church ordained J. B. Newton who served as pastor during the years 1892-93.

The Rev. S. F. Conrad became pastor on January 21, 1893.

Centennial Observance

On July 30, 1893, a Centennial Observance was held. Following is the program in part:

"Early Baptist In Davie County—Prof. John T. Alderman of Reidsville, N. C."

"Baptist Progress for the Last 100 Years — Jacob Stewart, Mocksville, and the Rev. J. A. Spaight of Asheville."

"Baptist Sunday School — T. S. Sprinkle, Winston, N. C."

"What Fork Church Ought To Be In 100 Years—the Rev. C. S. Cashwell of Mocksville.

The Rev. S. P. Beeker was pastor 1896-1898; the Rev. J. M. Bennett 1899-1900; the Rev. Charles H. Utley 1901-1903.

The Rev. R. D. Haymore and the Rev. O. J. Martin were interim pastors in 1904. The Rev. E. L. Weston became pastor in October, 1904.

The old church building was torn down in the spring of 1907. Services were held in the Academy until the new building was constructed. The first services in this new building were held on the first Sunday in August, 1907, with the Rev. Mr. Weston preaching the first sermon. This new building was 40, x 60' with an anteroom in front 14' x 14' adn a tower over it 70-feet high. There were two Sunday School rooms in the back with a Gothic Alcove between the doors to these rooms for the pulpit. Total cost was $735.65. The new building was decided on the first Sunday in August 1911.

The Rev. W. R. Davis became pastor in January, 1908.

On February 12, 1912 the Rev. S. W. Hall became pastor. In June 1913, two brothers . . . June and Gray Carter . . . were ordained.

On July 19, 1913, the first Baptist Young People's Union was organized and J. R. Foster was appointed Director.

In 1961 the Rev. W. H. Dodd was pastor; 1917, the Rev. B. C. Ingram; 1918-1919, the Rev. W. L. Batts; 1920-1922, the Rev. H. T. Penry; 1923, the Rev. W. L. Barrs.

First Homecoming

On the second Sunday in August 1917, the first homecoming was held and thereafter became an annual event.

The Rev. E. W. Turner became pastor in 1924 and served until 1931.

In 1931, new Sunday School rooms were constructed.

In 1932 the Rev. E. F. Mumford became pastor and served through 1935. In 1936, the Rev. E. W. Turner returned as pastor and served until May 1938.

The Rev. Wade Hutchens became pastor in 1938. In January 1939 the budget system of church financing was adopted. On September 12, 1943 the church started plans for a full-time pastor. On October 14, 1945, plans were started for a full-time pastor. On October 14, 1945, plans were started for a Pastorium, and construction was begun the following year. It was dedicated on September 12, 1948.

Full-Time Pastors

On February 13, 1949, the Rev. L. A. Fleming became the first full-time pastor and served until September. On October 16, 1949, the Rev. L. M. Tenery became pastor.

During Mr. Tenery's pastorate, the sanctuary was remodeled and new pews and pulpit furniture installed.

On November 30, 1952, the Rev. A. M. Kiser became pastor.

During 1957-58, a three-story educational building was constructed and in 1958, the Sunday School was departmentalized. The first Brotherhood was organized in 1959.

Mr. Kiser resigned in June 1961 to accept another pastorate and the Rev. Carl E. Poston became interin pastor.

On Octor 22, 1961 the Rev. Del Suggs became pastor. It was under his leadership that the old educational building and sanctuary has been remodeled.

AGRICO Produces 3040 Pounds Per Acre

"For the past 12 years I have been using AGRICO FERTILIZER FOR TOBACCO, and have been getting good results," says Mr. Henry Cranfill of Route 3, Yadkinville, N. C.

"Ten years ago I started having my tobacco soil tested by Agrico Soil Service department. Each year the yields and quality of my tobacco has been good.

Last year my crop averaged 3040 pounds per acre, and sold for an average of $63.75 per 100 pounds. This was an average of $1938.00 per acre.

I plan to follow the Agrico Program again this year." Why don't you get on an Agrico Program and get results like these? See your Agrico agent today.

Tattle-Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

For the sake of anonymity we will not mention names but a local girl is now having much more than a normal interest in the daily passage of time.

She wears . . . or wore . . . contact lenses. She and several friends spent the weekend at the bach and were on their way home.

Riding along in the automobile this girl took out her lenses to clean. Afraid that she might drop them in the car or lose them . . . she put one of them on her tongue while she set about to clean the other. A sudden gulp . . . and it was gone!

Naturally she became alarmed and went to the doctor. If at all possible, she wanted to retrieve it . . . not only for her stomach's sake but also for the sake of her pocketbook as these lenses are quite expensive.

After an examination the doctor told her that he didn't think that it would bother her stomach . . . but in order to keep it from hurting her pocketbook she would have to be exceedingly diligent in some of her daily routines.

Mrs. Jayne Sanford and others took a group of girl scouts out to "rough-it" last weekend. Always prepared for any emergency she took along her son's .22 rifle.

Friday afternoon as the group was cleaning the area to pitch some tests some of the girls discovered a large blacksnake and Jayne answered the cry. Grabbing up the .22 her first inclination has to shoot it. Then she thought the gunshot might scare some of the smaller girls so she grabbed an axe for the mortal blow.

As it turned out, the snake didn't survive the axe but probably would have the gun. For sometime afterwards it was discovered that Jayne wasn't as prepared as she thought she was . . . the gun wasn't loaded!

TOPDRESSING FERTILIZER: ITS ADVANTAGES

Losses of nitrogen and potassium by leaching rains can be reduced and fertilizer injury to crops can be avoided by topdressing part of these materials beside the growing plant. Large amounts of these nutrients applied at planting time may be lost from sandy soils before the plant can use them according to Dr. G. D. McCart, Agronomist with the Soil Testing Division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture.

Phosphorus, on the other hand, doesn't move in soils and must be placed in the root area. It can be placed in bands to the side or below the seed or broadcast and plowed down. At least some of the phosphorus should be banded on soils which test low in phosphorus.

The fact that nitrogen and potassium can move down in the soil makes it possible to topdress these materials and thus avoid fertilizer injury to the germinating seedlings. Nitrogen and potassium and their carriers are the main contituents in fertilizers that cause injury. Placing fertilizers containing large amounts of nitrogen and potassium too near the seed may destroy the stand. If they are applied at planting they should be banded at least two inches to the side and below the seed.

Phosphorus in fertilizer contributes very little, if any, to fertilizer injury. It is needed in relatively large supply during the very early growth stages of plants when the root system is small. It can be banded beside the seed with much less danger of fertilizer burn. Topdressed phosphorus is generally not effective because it doesn't move in the soil. Established seds can use topdressed phosphorus somewhat more effectively than other crops. However, it is very important to get adequate amounts of phosphorus down into the soil when planting sod crops.

By being able to topdress nitrogen and potassium, we can apply small amounts of nitrogen and potassium and all of the phosphorus at planting for "starter" effect and then topdress the greater proportion of nitrogen and potassium. Topdressing enables us to apply these nutrients farther away from the main root system of row crops, or in the case of sod plantings, to broadcast fertilizer so thin as to not cause injury. Another advantage is that these leachable nutrients can be applied at a later stage of growth when plants take up most of their nitrogen and potassium. Applying these nutrients later during the growing period reduces the chance of their being leached below the root zone as a result of leaching rains.

Various types of soil differ in their capacity to prevent loss of nitrogen and potash through excessive leaching. Sandy soils are more subject to leaching than the finer textured silt and clay soils. On soils where leaching is not a serious problem, nitrogen and potassium could be broadcast and worked into the soil prior to planting. On Sandy soils which are much more subject to leaching losses of nitrogen and potassium, and more prone to fertilizer injury, consideration should be given to topdressing part of the nitrogen and potassium.

TOBACCO REPLANTS

The number of replants that a tobacco farmer has to use per acre is determined by several things. Wireworms, cutworms and weather conditions have their influence. Fertilizer injury, however, is one of the major causes. The roots of young tobacco plants, set too close to the fertilizer band, are very easily injured and many times killed. Many times poor tobacco stands are a result of the fertilizer actually burning the roots off of young tobacco plants.

Fertilizer placement tests in Davie and other counties indicate the following: Two bands of fertilizer placed 8" apart and 2" below the roots of tobacco plants, with the tobacco plants set in between, is the best method for fertilizing tobacco. This method requires less replants per acre when the planting of tobacco plants and fertilizer is applied in the same operation. One band of fertilizer, placed 1" to 2" below the roots, requires the highest number of replants per acre, sometimes requiring as many as 5,000 replants per acre. One band of fertilizer, placed 3 to 5 inches below the roots, is next best to the two band placement and is the best, unless the farmer has equipment for placing the fertilizer and setting in the same operation. Broadcasting fertilizer is not the answer. Broadcasting and disking in the fertilizer requires the next highest replants per acre — almost as many as the one band shallow.

TOP HOG PRICES

Market hogs are selling for the highest price since the fall of 1958. Top hogs have been gaining almost a cent a pound for the last few weeks. Hog prices at mid western markets are slightly higher than any quoted North Carolina market to date, but all are rising.

Mid-western hob markets report prices of $19.50 to $20.50 per 100 pounds for No. 1 market hogs weighing 19 0to 250 pounds. This is the highest level in the last seven years.

Feeder pig prices are also high. Some North Carolina pig auction markets have reported prices up to 40c a pound for top quality, fifty pound pigs. Some Davie County farmers have sold top quality pigs for almost 40c a pound. Most people familar with hog prices expect the top hog market to continue to rise for several months.

Man Is Charged After Auto Hits Mailbox

The driver of a 1961 Chevrolet was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and illegal possession of non-taxpaid liquor on US 158 last Saturday afternoon.

State Highway Patrolman Randall Beane said that Robert L. Moore, 51, of Clemmons Rt. 2 was operating the Chevrolet and was heading east on US 158. About two miles out of Mocksville the car ran off the road on the right, hit a mailbox, crossed the road to the left, then back on road and kept going. The accident was reported to Patrolman Beane who stopped Moore at Hillsdale.

Mocks

The Mocks 4-H Club met April 30, 1965 at Mocks Church. The vice-president, Ginger Stanley, called the meeting to order. Everyone recited the club pledges. Kathy Sofley gave the devotions. Larry Stanley led the group in a song, "Vivel L'Amour". Sue Bailey read the minutes and called the roll. There were eighteen members present and several visitors. The club had old and new business in which we divided into teams to see who turned in the best record books.

Mrs. A. L. Stanley gave a program on "How to Give a Winning Demonstration". She gave the members good ideas on demonstration for this year.

Refreshments were served by Jane Cook and Kathy Sofley. They were enjoyed by all.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. John Boger of Mocksville, Rt. 1; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Lizzie Tomlin of Statesville and Mrs. Willard Morrison of Mocksville, Rt. 1; and four sisters. Mrs. Julie Bowles and Mrs. Ollie Foster of Mocksville, Mrs. John Poplin of Mocksville, Rt. 3, and Mrs. John Myers of Mocksville, Rt. 4.

L. R. Dwiggins, Jr.

Latta Ralph Dwiggins, Jr. 28 of Newton died May 10, at Charlotte Memorial Hospital after a serious illness of three weeks. He had been declining in health for the past four months.

He was born in Winston-Salem to L. R. and Alline Everhardt Dwiggins. He was a graduate of Gray High School, and Duke University. He had been in the used car business in Newton for the past seven years. At present he was a partner in Crown Motors of Newton. He was a member of Abernathey Memorial Methodist Church of Newton.

He is survived by his parents of Mocksville, Route 1, his wife, Mrs. Frances Parker Dwiggins, a son, Michael Dwiggins, and a daughter, Julie Dwiggins, all of Newton, a brother Carl Dwiggins of Statesville, and two sisters, Mrs. George Phillips of Winston-Salem and Mrs. Bill Knorr of Blue Island, Illinois.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon May 12 at Abernathey Memorial Methodist Church in Newton, with interment in Catawba Memorial Park at Hickory.

SHEARING CHAMP . . . Edwin Sparks, Davie County's Champion 4-H Sheep Shearer, is shown practicing his art. He will enter the State Shearing contest in Raleigh Thursday, May 13. Edwin is a member of the 4-Leaf 4-H Club and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sparks.

SCOPE OF SPORTS

By Woody Durham / WFMY-TV Sports Director

The 1965 football season is still a few months off, but according to the latest word from some of the coaches it should be a banner season for the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Maryland's Tom Nugent, without a bit of hesitation, says this fall's Terrapin squad will be the best one he's ever had since coming to the College Park campus seven years ago.

Clemson's Frank Howard, no doubt, has something up his sleeve down at Death Valley. The Baron of Barlow Bend says he's coming out this year in the "I formation" which is the last thing in the world you would expect the President of the Anti-Tom Nugent Club to do. Nugent is the follow who introduced the "I formation." Coarh Howards says he plans to dot the I.

In Chapel Hill, Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey called this year's spring practice the best one they've ever had at Carolina since he's been there, and that includes a couple of springs under the late Jim Tatum. Hickey says he's never looked forward to any season like he's looking forward to this fall. Evidently the Tar Heels are going to have something because how could any coach look forward to opening against Michigan, even it is it in Kenan Stadium, and then the very next week going to Columbus to play Ohio State.

Bill Tate of Wake Forest, last year's ACC Coach of the Year, is also enthusiastic about the coming campaign. He admits the newness of his first coaching season at WF has worn off, but he excitedly adds his team finished up spring practice this year with the same enthusiasm it had last spring, and to him that means a great deal. Tate is real high on the outstanding play of Tackle Robert Grant in spring practice. A 6-2, 210 pound rising sophomore, Grant is one of three Negro players who will be wearing the Wake Forest colors this fall, and there is a good chance that two of them—Grant and Greensboro's Butch Henry—will be starters. Henry is an end.

From these comments and from rumors circulating about the other clubs, such as the bigness of Duke, it doesn't appear that when the pigskin season arrives the ACC will have to take a back seat to anyone.

HOPE FOR HEARTS

CHAPEL HILL — The North Carolina Heart Association's 1965 battlecry is "Hope for Hearts" and from one of the battlefronts of the war against heart disease comes a hopeful communique.

A partial by-pass of the heart's right side can relieve inborn defects for which no established corrective procedure is yet available, according to a sixyear "progress report" on the procedure just published in an American Heart Association scientific journal.

The report, by Dr. William W. L. Glenn and his associates at Yale University School of Medicine and Grace-New Haven Community Hospital, describes results with 38 patients, ranging in age from one day to 44 years. Thirty-two were 10 years old or younger at the time of surgery. Each was born with any one of several grave defects of the right side of the heart that prevented "used" or de-oxygenated blood from being pumped properly to the lungs for re-oxygenation. Eight different conditions having this effect have been treated, according to the report.

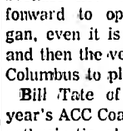

The operation involves a rearrangement of nearby blood vessels so that the "used" blood by-passes the right side of the heart and flows directly to the lungs for oxygen replenishment. Specifically, the upper of the two great veins that normally return blood to the heart is joined to the pipeline leading from the right heart to the lungs. The by-pass arrangement is known as a "cavalpulmonary" shunt (from the name of the blood vessels involved, the superior vena cava and the pulmonary artery). It has the effect of relieving to a considerable extent the work load originally carried by the malformed heart.

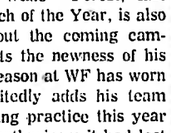

Thirty-one of the patients in the series are alive; all have shown marked improvement though they were once considered "hopelessly" doomed. The first human case is also the longest survivor. A boy of seven when the operation was performed, he has been leading a normal life for the past six and a half years.

Of the eight patients who did not survive, six, including a one-day old and a six-day old child, died soon after surgery and were termed "operative" deaths. In some of these patients, the operation was "last-chance" surgery, and because of the age of the patient and the nature of the malformation, death was considered "probably not preventable."

Our Symbol

One of our most treasured relics is the Liberty Bell. It is so-called because it was rung on July 8, 1776 to summons the citizenry for the terse announcement that the Declaration of Independence had been adopted. Today, it remains the greatest symbol of a nation free from tyranny in government and intolerance in religion ... that nation is America.

But one fact often overlooked is that when the historic bell was originally cast its makers turned to the Bible, to Leviticus, for the words inscribed around its contour: "Proclaim Liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." What a beginning! What a heritage! What a privilege to be a son or daughter of Freedom's Land. What a blessing to be an American.

How great is our Symbol!!!

Average Patient Stay Is Declining—

Facts About Hospitals and Services

This is National Hospital Week and in it's observance here are some facts concerning hospitals and their services:

. . . The average patient's hospital stay is nearly half as long today as it was 25 years ago. The average stay in 1935 was 14 days and today it is 7.7. The decline is attributed to better medicine, new equipment, and improved treatment.

. . . Three-fourths of all drugs, anibiotics and vaccines in hospital use today were unknown ten years ago.

. . . On the average, one in seven persons probably will be hospitalized sometime this year.

. . . Nearly 1½-million persons are patients in hospitals on any given day. More than half of them (720,674) are in psychiatric hospitals.

. . . The number of admissions of patients with psychiatric diagnoses to general hospitals is estimated to be as great as the number of patients admitted to state and county mental hospitals (342,483 to state and county psychiatric hospitals).

. . . Hospitals rank as one the nation's largest employers. Total employment in the 7,138 hospitals registered by the American Hospital Association in 1963 reached 1,840,-287.

. . . A general hospital now employs 241 persons to care for every 100 patients. In 1946, the ratio was 148 employees for every 100 patients.

. . . Total Payroll exense of hospitals in 1963 reached $7.3 billion, accounting for 66.3 percent of the total $11 billion expended by all hspitals.

This Is National Hospital Week—

People–The Heart Of A Hospital

What do a nurse and purchasing agent have in common? For one thing, you are likely to find them working in a hospital. These are just two of the occupations representative of the divergent skills required in Davie County Hospital to maintain patient care. In fact, hospital occupations run from Account to X-ray technologist, gist), with some 150 in between.

"The day when the doctor and nurse were the only people needed in a hospital has long passed," Paul Neil, administrator of Davie County Hspital says. "They are still needed in full measure, but they are assisted by many other specially educated and trained people who contribute to total patient care."

In some ways today's hospitals resmble small cities. They centralize in one institution many of the essentials of every day life and many of the services we regularly use. They provide not only room and board, but also have a "drugstore," a power plant, a library, and in many cases a "school" for budding professional personnel.

These facilities, of course, are all in addition to the technical and scientific services which contribute to patient recovery.

"All of these facilities and services make the hospital one of the community's largest employers," says Paul Neil. "In fact, an average of one out of every 35 persons work in the hospital."

This week is National Hospital Week, a time designated annually by the American Hospital Association to extend public understanding of hospitals. This year's national theme is "People — Heart of the Hospital."

"Even though science and technology contribute remarkable to patient care, people continue to be the most important element in the hospital," Paul says.

Paul Neil cited not only the physicians and the persons employed by the hospital, but also the many more individuals in the ommunity who are contributing to the hospital's objectives by serving as members of the governing board or on ne of the volunteer groups.

"Todays' hospital is really a hundred or more different kinds of people dedicating their minds, hands and hearts to the task of making others well," Paul Neil said. "It is through their efforts that the community is able to benefit from the advances of medical science."

Congress Is Looking For Uniformity—

The Problem of Daylight Saving Time

During the daylight saving months, more than a watch is needed to tell time throughout the United States.

A calendar and a map help, but a traveler can still be an hour early or late for an appointment, if he hasn't determined whether the community he's entering is on daylight saving or standard time.

At present, 15 states have daylight saving time throughout their jurisdictions, the National Geographic Society says. Another 16 states allow local option. The remaining 19 either make no provision for daylight saving time or prohibit it.

Travelers who need to stay on local time find themselves adjusting their watches over and over again. Before West Virginia adopted statewide daylight saving time in 1963, a motorist would have to reset his watch seven times on one 35-mile run.

The confusion is now getting attention from Congress. Hoping to make a modest start toward uniformity, legislators have introduced bills requiring states using daylight time to make the change-over on the last Sunday in April and on the last Sunday in October. As it stands, the states do not even agree on when to start and end daylight time, though the last Sundays in April and October are most commonly chosen.

Proponents of uniformity hope Congressional action will help solve some of the confusion and frustration that arise from local determination of daylight or standard time.

Railroads and bus lines must print extra timetables, and broadcasters find it necessary to tape and save television programs for showing at prime times.

Benjamin Franklin proposed daylight saving time when he was United States Minister to France. He calculated that Parisians needlessly burned candles for 1,281 hours in spring and summer when they could have for nothing "the beautiful and pure light of the sun." Paris laughed him down.

Not until 1907 was the idea revived, this time by an Englishman. William Willet advocated that clocks be advanced 80 minutes in summer. "While daylight surrounds us," he said, "cheerfulness reigns, anxieties press heavily, and courage is bred for the struggle of life." This time it was London's turn to laugh down the suggestion. A respected astronomer thundered: "The only people who have shifty time are savages."

But Willett got the support of Winston Churchill, who was serving as Home Secretary. Later, during the pressure created by World War I, Britain — as well as Germany — adopted fast time to conserve power and fuel. Today many European countries, from Iceland to Italy, have daylight saving time.

Willett's American counterpart was Robert Garland of Pittsburgh. Crusading for daylight time, Garland declared that only man, of all living things," is so stupid as to deprive himself of an extra hour of sun by sticking to a rigid system of time."

The first U. S. law, passed in March, 1918, lasted only two years. Farmers, who said their cows gave milk an hour after the milk trains passed, led the movement for repeal. Daylight time did not return to the Nation as a whole until World War II. Again repealed after war, it has since spread to almost all large cities and over many entire states.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM OUR RALEIGH BUREAU
2615 Oberlin Road

LONGER . . . As Spring moves into summer and tempers become shorter, the length of the legislative session looks longer.

Sixty days ago House Speaker Taylor and Lt. Gov. Scott were setting June 1 as the likely date for adjournment. We predicted here in February it would be June 5.

Now the presiding officers of the two houses think it may be around the middle of June. Who knows? Nobody. The big battleneck, of course, is to make revenue for the next two years balance with income.

Also, last week other items which could lengthen the session blew in out of nowhere. There was a threat to do away with the Higher Education setup. Arguments over this—as the bill is actually presented—could become red hot and go on for weeks.

Controversy is springing up over the State Legislative Counicl. It is worthwhile? Has it served out its usefulness? What about its future? Then there is always Wildlife. Add to that the State Highway Patrol, stills, and Safety, and you are knee-deep in June.

PROGRESSIVE . . . That old pal of our cradle days, "The Progressive Farmer," whose parent, Dr. Clarence Poe, passed away only a few months ago, is said to be infanticipating.

This has been in the works for several months—and perhaps longer under the gentle guidance of Dr. Poe himself—and the name of the offspring will likely be "Southern Living."

It has been apparent for some time that the Progressive Farmer was in a family way. Those hatching jackets covers barely held together, so enoromus was the interior. The word is that the new publication, now merely a big section of PF, will be printed in Birmingham, Ala., and will begin at once as a successful and well-to-do scion.

★ ★ ★

TO CONTINUE . . . Since Gov. Moore showed vigorously during the campaign last summer that he is no fool about integration of the races, some doubt had been expressed as to what he might do about the Good Neighbor Council set up by his predecessor.

It seems certain now that the Council as presently constituted will be continued—and perhaps strengthened in some ways—by Gov. Moore.

With school and business integration moving from a walk to a gallop under the whip of the Civil Rights Law, the work of the Good Neighbor Council as leavening agent or steadying influence will be increased tremendously.

We hear that the salary of the administrator will be about $16,000; and that the entire body will be given new status.

As to whether Chairman D. S. Coltrance will continue to direct the program seems to be in doubt at this time. The post is not easy to fill with the right man.

Coltrance, now 71, has held the ship on even keel. If the administration can find a younger man of the Coltrane type—hard to come by these days—then the present chairman will likely be replaced.

FLORIDA, TOO . . . Lewis Lawrence, former chamber of commerce manager and industrial gogetter, now has smart little weekly papers going in Garner and Cary. These are suburbs of Raleigh; and the papers are of the modern, suburban type you see more and more of these days.

Lawrence recently returned from central Florida, where he purchased another paper.

HALF-BILLION UP . . . A friend of ours who has been in the Legislature three terms, is now in his fourth, puts down "increase in spending" as the biggest thing that has happened in the N. C. General Assembly since he was here as a freshman.

In these less-than-eight years, total appropriations have gone up almost exactly 500 million dollars for the biennium. The budget to go into effect on July 1 for two years will run approximately two billion one hundred million dollars.

In the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963, and going through last June 30, 1964, North Carolina was one of only 11 states that had a tax increase of better than 20 per cent above the figure for 1960. The other 10 states were Alaska, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Our increase of 21.9 per cent from 1960 to 1963 can be traced almost to a dollar by doing away with exemptions (mainly food) to the sales tax.

In the rundown of these increases "Business Week" for May 1 says that State and local tax collections in North Carolina as of this past year were $167 per person.

Highest in the nation is New York at $327 per individual and second is California at $318.

★ ★ ★

CAUGHT . . . A friend of ours went to Wrightsville Beach last week to do some early-bird fishing.

It was perhaps a little too early. Anyway, he stayed down there for three days and caught only toad fish and other items unworthy of a trip to Raleigh.

Before leaving, he went into Hines' Fish Market at Wrightsville, told them he wanted to buy some fish to take home with him. He selected from the showcase several different kinds. They cleaned some flounder, tossed the package over the counter to him. He placed it in his iced container. In a moment or two another package was tossed across to him.

"Why don't you just place them down there on the counter?" asked our friend, the customer.

"We are quietly doing you a favor," was the reply as a third package of fish came sailing at him. "You've had no luck fishing. We know that. But that don't matter. Now you can go home and tell your wife and all four friends you caught these fish."

Latest figures show that almost a million and a quarter American adults are affected by rheumatic heart disease, the long-lasting heart damage resulting from earlier attacks of rheumatic fever. According to the North Carolina Heart Association, most new attacks of rheumatic fever can now be prevented with adequate medical attention.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where the "bridal gown" industry is gitting in a bad way. At a convention the other day in New York the folks from all over the country that was in this business claims sales has dropped from $42 million a year to $30 million and was still dropping.

They was lamenting that in the good old days couples stayed engaged fer a year or two, then had a big church wedding in style and the bride gown business was booming. They was decided at this meeting that what they called "quickie" weddings was running their business and they aimed to do somespun about it. The meeting broke up afore they could solve the problem and I got a hunch, Mister Editor, the bride gown business was in fer a long dry spell.

I brung this item up at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle said the answer was easy. He claimed divorces and weddings was running about even these days and if they'd start a style fer the woman gitting the divorce to throw a sort of farewell unwinding ceremony where everybody was dressed up formal it would put the bride gown business back on its feet.

The feller that runs the store butted in and reported that, on account of him gitting married in the ofifce of the Justice of the Peace, he didn't know nothing about this bride gown business, but he was agreed with Ed that divorces was now gitting about as much attention in the papers as weddings. He said he had saw in the papers where they was trying to git a divorce law in Georgia that would fit in with other states but things had got so fur out of hand that they couldn't find no two states alike.

One feller in the Georgia legislature, said the storekeeper, claimed a Atlanta woman told the census taker she couldn't give him her name or rightful address on account of she had no way of knowing. She said she had been divorced a few times and in Georgia her present name was Mrs. Jones, but in three states it was her maiden name, Miss Smith, and in five states it was Mrs. Brown, her first husband's name. As fer her legal residence, she said she was eating and sleeping in Georgia but had her trunk in Alabama where she was gitting a divorce from her present husband.

When the census taker then allowed as how she must be married at this time, she said she was considered married under the law in Texas, New York and South Dakota, was a bigamist in Missouri, Alaska, Oklahoma, California and Utah, and a single woman in eight other states.

In short, the storekeeper allowed as how Ed was right, the bride gown folks has got to git out of the hitching business and git into the unwinding business.

Yours truly
Uncle Dave

Social security beneficiaries receiving disability payments must notify the Social Security Administration if their condition improves so that they would be able to work, even though they have not yet returned to work.

Senator
SAM ERVIN
Says:

WASHINGTON — At mid-season, the stage is set for a Senate decision on the much-revised voting rights bill.

A key vote last week came in the rejection of my amendment which would have required a judicial finding to be made showing voting discrimination was being practiced before federal examiners could be sent into the seven Southern states which have been condemned by the bill.

Haste and passion have produced a see-saw battle among sponsors over how far the bill will limit state prerogatives in setting voter qualifications. Yet, as the bill nears a series of final votes in the Senate, it retains major constitutional defects. The most repugnant of these is that it violates the constitutional principle that the United States is a union of States with equal power and dignity. Under the terms of the bill, seven Southern states are forbidden to use otherwise constitutional literacy voting tests. By an intricate series of formulas, the bill exempts the other forty-three states from the terms of the legislation.

Such legislation does incalculable violence to the principle of federalism upon which much of our governmental structure is based.

OTHER MEASURES — When a decision is reached on the voting rights legislation, a backlog of other bills faces Congress. These include the major issues of medical care for the aged, excise tax reduction, immigration law revision, a new farm proposal, and a Constitutional amendment on reapportionment of state legislatures.

REAPPORTIONMENT — Last week, before the Senate Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee, I urged the adoption of a Constitutional amendment to permit State Legislatures to apportion one house on a basis other than the factor of population.

The need for a Constitutional amendment on the subject of apportionment of State Legislatures arises out of a recent series of Supreme Court decisions which culminated in the June 15, 1965, one-man, one-vote decree.

I think it is peculiar logic for the Supreme Court of the United States to insist that the selection of members of both houses of State Legislatures be based upon the principle of "one-man, one-vote" when the coordinate branches of Federal Government exist upon a contrary principle. Congress selects one body of its membership on the basis of representation of areas by population, and the other body upon the basis of equal representation of the States. The President of the United States is selected by an Electoral College which is far removed from a "one-man, one-vote" system.

Without question the States ought to carry out apportionment duties periodically. I have fought for this principle of government since I served in the North Carolina General Assembly. Still this does not mean that the Supreme Court of the United States should be empowered a new theory of government for the correction of abuses in the field of apportionment.

TOBACCO VOTE — I wish to commend the fine assistance which the tobacco farmers gave the Congress and the President in approving the acreage-poundage system of control. The approval given this proposal indicates anew that the flue-cured growers want their program to remain the best means of control in the field of agriculture.

60 Second Sermon

TEXT: "Anger and folly walk cheek by jole." — Benjamin Franklin.

"You impudent puppy!" exclaimed an irate father. "You want to marry my daughter! And tell me, do you think that you can give her what she's been used to?"

"Yes, I think so,sir," replied the boy-friend. "I have a very short temper myself."

Anger is healthy. It flushes away indifferent complacency. It serves a useful purpose unless you let it take control of you. No matter how angry you become, keep your temper. No one else wants it. Everyone has annoyances, difficulties, misunderstandings and hostilities. You aren't the only one.

There are two things to do with anger. First, control it. It is proper to be angry about some things. Be angry, but don't get mad. Second, dismiss anger when it has served you Do not let anger make you bitter. Even when you control your anger, it will defeat you if you nurse it in your heart.

Become angry, if you should, properly. But control your anger and when it has served you, forget it.

Remember, raised voices lower esteem; hot tempers cool friendships, loose tongues stretch the truth and sharp words dull respect.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By
Congressman James T. Broyhill

The growing peril of broader armed conflict in the fight against Communist expansion was brought home to the Congress and the people of the country last week as legislation of either direct or related importance to our national security was considered in quick succession. These involved funds for military operations and for the space program with all of its military implications.

Certainly, the most dramatic to these bills was the President's emergency request for an additional $700 million to finance present military activities in which the country is already engaged.

All of us have been deeply concerned about the increasing intensity of the war in South Viet Nam plus the strong commitment of American fighting forces in the Dominican Republic.

The preponderence of evidence in the South Viet Nam crisis points to the massive effort being made by the Communists to seize that country with Communist military operations backed by a world-wide propaganda campaign. The Communist campaign takes the line that the conflict there is only an internal struggle and that the United States should not interfere with the South Viet Namese people determining their own future. This is the classic line that Communist action groups have taken for many decades as they attempt to take over a country. The jumble of events in the Dominican Republic is less clear, at least at this moment.

Because of the seriousness of the situation, the Congress approved the President's request in record time to assure that the Americans fighting in these distant places will have the weapons and military hardware they need to do the job they have been assigned.

Some questions were raised about details of the President's request. However, the overwhelming majority of the members of the House demonstrated that the nation is united, regardless of partisan differences, when our troops take to the skies and the foxholes in the protection of our national security.

This demonstration, in itself, we hope will be of major importance since it should leave no doubt in the minds of both our enemies and our friends abroad that this country is in earnest about its opposition to Communist aggression.

Military Hardware

On the same afternoon, the House approved by a unanimous vote the huge procurement program for the Department of Defense. Changes were made in the Administration's proposals, although the bill was left reasonably intact. It covers purchasing and contracting plans for the next twelve months for the actual items the defense program requires and for long-range research and development activities. It is this legislation each year that gives the green light for supplying the tremendous arsenal that has made this the world's most powerful nation.

In terms of actual costs, the bill added up to $15 billion. This astronomical figure is difficult to imagine. However, in terms of some of the actual items to be obtained for all of the armed services, it means a total of 2,294 new aircraft, 38,290 missiles and 62 new ships.

Again, as the debate progressed, we saw the strong feelings in the Congress that preparedness is the best insurance against national disaster in the dangerous world of this generation.

The Space Effort

Once the military bills were considered, the House turned to the annual authorization legislation for the space program. Our space effort is primarily a scientific endeavor with emphasis upon peaceful pursuits. Nevertheless, we know that the Soviet Union realizes, just as we do, the close military value of space science. There is no doubt that this has put much of the steam into the space race between the two countries in the first place.

In this bill, a total of $5.8 billion was approved, a slight reduction from last year, but certainly sufficient funds to keep the program on schedule in its long-range mission.

All of these are gargantuan bills and mean a continuing large burden for the American taxpayer. Even so, elements are present in each that are essential for the security of the American people.

Hunting Regulations To Be Explained At Hearing To Be Held At Dobson On Thursday, May 20th

Tom B. Woodruff, of Mocksville, Wildlife protection, Davie County, reports that the Wildlife Resources Commission will hold a public hearing at 7:30 p. m. in the Courthouse at Dobson on May 20 to explain the proposd hunting rgulations for the 1965-1966 hunting season.

Mr. Woodruff says that very few changes have been proposed. He urges all hunters, landowners, and other interested parties to exercise their privilege by attending the hearing to hear the regulations discussed, as well as to express their own opinion to the public and the Wildlife Resources Commission. As in the past, sportsmen's suggestions will be recorded at the meeting so they can be used in establishing the final regulations.

Deer seasons proposed for the central and western parts of the state would open on November 22, one week later than last year, in an attempt to match it more closely with the rutting season. Hunters have observed that setting the deer season to coincide with the mating seasons helps increase their success in sections where dogs are not used. Pursuit of doe deer by bucks helps to expose them to the gun. In response to landowners' requests, the season would be shortened to one week in the Camp Butner section.

As a result of reports from fur dealers that they have been getting fewer prime furs at the first of the season, a two-week later opening of the trapping season is being proposed. If approved, the trapping season would open on December 1 in sections where it opened on November 16 last year. Under this schedule trappers would receive more money for their pelts and Mildy would get better quality in her fur piece.

On wildlife management areas the Commission is making several proposals designed to continue its program of increasing hunting opportunity. To provide sportsmen with more days of small game hunting on management areas at less cost, $3.00 season permits would be made available for those who wish to hunt two or more times. Those wishing to hunt only once could still purchase the daily permit for $1.50. Open dates scheduled for small game hunts would be increased. The daily fee for wild turkey hunts would be reduced from $5.00 to $4.00, and the quota on Daniel Boone wilderness hunts would be raised to 80 hunters per three-day hunt.

The number of either sex deer hunts would be reduced on areas where biologists predict a small fawn crop this spring. Fawn crop predictions are based on examination of ovarian specimens collected from female deer during last December's either sex hunts.

Reductions would be as follows: from three part-days to onepart-day on Daniel Boone and on Davidson River and North Mills of Pisgah, from three part-days to two part-days on Rich Laurel and Mt. Mitchell, and from six part-days to three part-days on South Mountains. These reductions are expected to help insure an adequate supply of bucks in the fall of 1966 and 1967.

Either sex deer hunts on Bent Creek of Pisgah would be increased to four part-days in cooperation with the Forest Service in its research on methods of increasing production of hardwoods.

In response to public requests, management area archery hunts would be scheduled for October 1-14 so as to coincide with the statewide season, and the Harmon Den area would be opened to archers.

Setting the archery season in early October would also provide time for more small game and raccon hunts.

Still hunts would be substituted for the party bear and boar hunts on Barker's Creek of Santeetlah. More late season bear hunts would be scheduled on Sherwood. Raccoon hunts would also be increased in response to a growing interest in this sport.

Hunting on eastern wildlife management areas would be modified by eliminating party dog hunts and allowing individual hunters to bring their own dogs on Holly Shelter. The Croatan party bear hunt would be dropped due to insufficient interest and more days of deer hunting would be substituted.

"Sportsmen's suggestions have always been very helpful to the Commission when it is considering proposals for hunting and trapping regulations," says Mr. Woodruff. "We hope to see a good turnout at the hearings at Dobson on May 20 so that our local folks can express their views on wildlife conservation and management to the state Wildlife Resources Commission."

BLAISE CHAPEL

The Blaise Chapel 4-H Club held its regular monthly meeting May 4 on Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Blaise Baptist Chapel.

Because of the absence of the president, Judy Sherrill and the Vice-President, Audrey Blackwelder substituted. Audrey Blackwelder led in the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Club Pledge and read the minutes. There were twelve members present, including a new member, Jane Jones. The new business consisted of the 4-H Camp on the days from June 28-July3 and the 4-H Rummage Sale.

Ray Allen conducted the devotions which included reading Psalm 3. Lloyd Tutterow led the club in singing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Larry Boyer then gave a helpful talk on "Civil Defense' 'which everyone enjoyed.

Mitchell Whitaker served the refreshments and the meeting was ajourned.

Wherever you fish for sport—on the ocean, by the booming surf, or on some quiet country pond, it's great at the end of the day to head for a rewarding glass of beer. While you're talking over the ones that got away, or pan-frying the ones that didn't, you enjoy the hearty taste and cool refreshment only a glass of beer can give you so well. Yes, whatever your sport—bowling or strolling, golfing or gardening—a frosty glass of beer makes a naturally great accompaniment.

A flameless electric range keeps your kitchen up to 16° cooler.

Think about that when it's 95 in the shade!

There are two reasons why a flameless electric range cooks cooler. Surface heat goes straight into the pot, not around it into the kitchen. Oven heat stays right in that properly-insulated-on-all-six-sides oven. These features showed up in competitive tests in which the U.S. Government found flameless electric ranges to be twice as efficient. Thus, an electric range doesn't waste a lot of heat in the kitchen, raising the temperature.

Simple? So get a flameless electric range at your favorite electric appliance dealer's or at Duke Power.

After all, there's no point in cooking the cook!

Success hasn't gone to its price

After all, you don't get the No. 1 place (or stay there year after year after year) unless you give people a lot for their money. That, Chevrolet does. Look what's new for 1965. Everything.

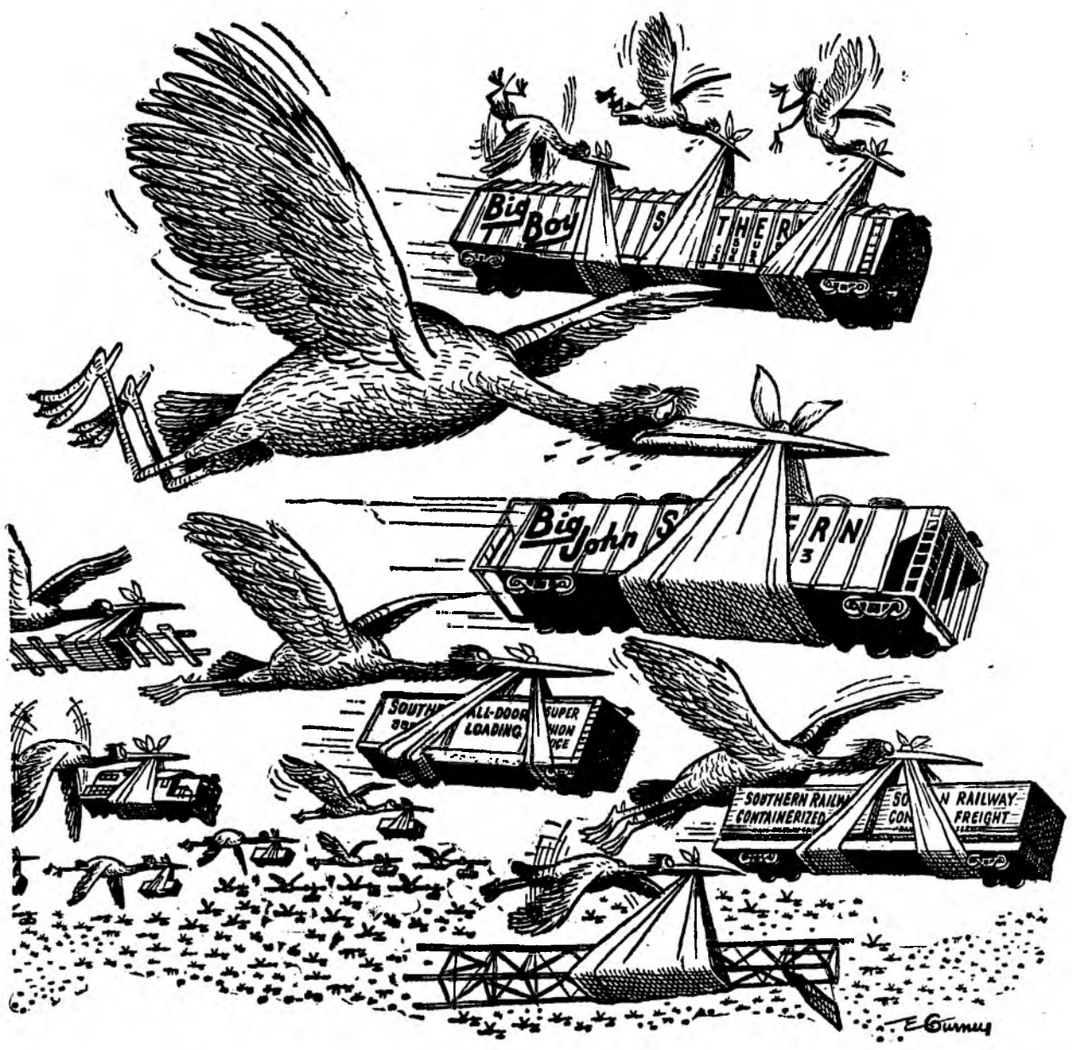

Like the handsomest new styling you ve ever turned around for another glance at. Like Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride, even better now with Wide-Stance to steady things as you go. Like however much economy or excitement you'd want, our miserly 140-hp Six to our ferocious Turbo-Jet V8, 325 hp on order.

Besides price, one other thing hasn't changed: Chevrolet's traditional resale value . . . still so good you won't believe it until you get it. So get it (along with all that's new) at your Chevrolet dealer's.

COMING YOUR WAY!
...$100 million in improvements
TO INCREASE OUR USEFULNESS TO YOU!

For new equipment and other improvements, Southern Railway System lines this year will put $100 million "on the barrelhead." Last year, the figure was $67 million.

This is money well spent, for it increases our usefulness to the people of the South. With the modern equipment this money buys, and new services and techniques, it now costs us less to produce better rail transportation. What's needed now is greater freedom to reduce our freight prices and put the resulting savings where they belong—in your pocket.

Incidentally, railroads are the only agencies of transportation today that are even talking about reducing their charges, much less actually reducing them.

The families of America can save billions of dollars annually through lower prices for freight hauling . . . when Congress modernizes the antiquated regulations that are today roadblocks to efforts by enterprising transportation companies to reduce their freight charges.

Rowan Tech Institute Offers New Programs

Rowan Technical Institute will offer five new technical education programs beginning with the fall quarter in September.

President Merrill Hamilton said the five will be drafting and design technology; electronics technology; fire administration technology; fire and safety engineering technology, and manufacturing engineering technology.

The programs are being set up due to increasing demands for technically trained manpower and excellent career opportunities in these fields.

He said each curriculum leads to associate in applied science degree.

To explain the new programs, two staff members of Rowan Technical Institute will make visitations May 11-25 to 27 high schools in five counties. Career opportunities in those five technical fields will be discussed with interested senior boys.

The visits will be made to high schools in Rowan, Cabarrus, Davie, Stanly, and Iredell counties by Walter T. McCarty, head of the Manufacturing Engineering Technology Department recently established at Rowan Tech. He will be accompanied by another member of the administrative staff.

Mr. McCarty and the other staff member will give a short 15 minute briefing. Each course will require two academic years and will prepare students for entry level employment as an engineering technician.

Letters have been sent to principle of the 27 high schools listing the new programs and setting forth the qualifications of Mr. McCarty, who before joining Rowan Tech was associated with Babcock and Wilcox Co., atomic energy division; Westinghouse Electric Co.; and State University of New York, Agriculture and Technical Institute at Canton, N. Y.

Mr. Hamilton said in addition to these five new technical curricula, Rowan Tech will continue to offer its established trade programs.

Junior Steer Show And Sale To Be Held In Winston-Salem

The annual 4-H and FFA Junior Steer Show and Sale will be held Monday afternoon at 5 p.m. in the Beef Cattle Barn on the Dixie Classic Fair Grounds in Winston-Salem. This annual event is sponsored by the Winston-Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce.

4-H Club boys and girls and Future Farmers of America from Davidson, Davie, Forsyth and Stokes Counties will show and have choice and good quality steers for sale by auction. Production of the show and sale is under the supervision of the County Agricultural Agents.

The show of the steers will begin at 5 p.m. and the sale will start around 7 p.m. The Grand Champion will be named immediately after the show. Supper will then be available to those desiring it at a reasonable charge.

The purpose of this project is to demonstrate that quality beef can be produced in this area as good as any produced anywhere in the world; to demonstrate the economic importance of agriculture to this trade area; and to give training to boys and girls in responsible citizenship and business methods.

Those from Davie County planning to participate in this Junior Steer Show and Sale include:

Dale Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stewart of Mocksville, Rt. 3.

Christine Petticord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Petticord of Advance, Rt. 1.

Larry and Randy Boyer, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Boyer of Advance, Rt. 1.

Mickey Groce, son of Clayton Groce of Mocksville, Rt. 5.

J. C. Jordan, son of Clyde Jordan of Mocksville, Rt. 2.

Edwin Sparks Is Sheep-Shearing Champ

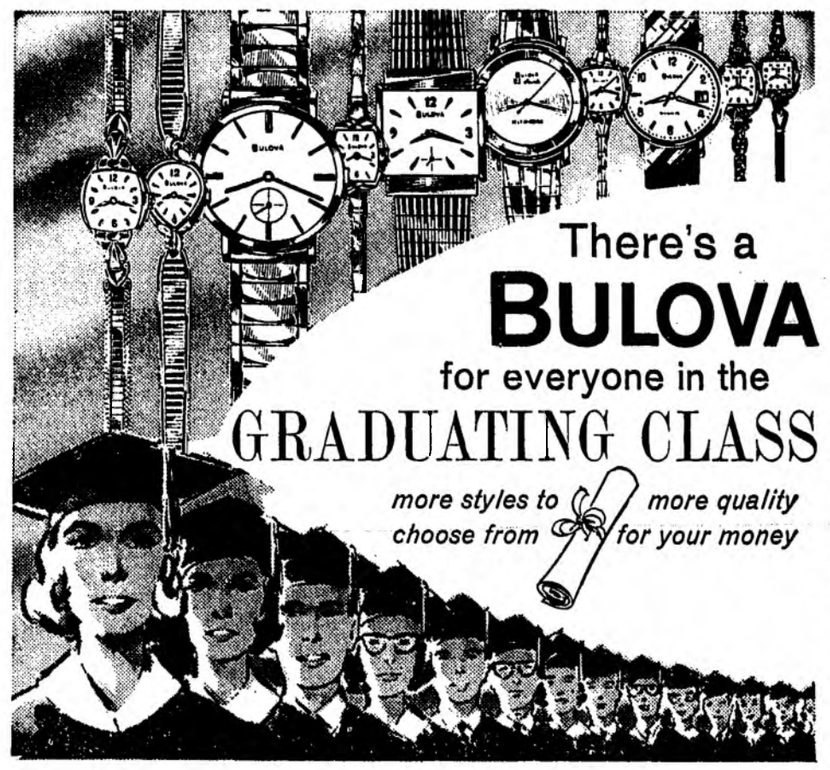

Edwin Sparks of the 4-Leaf 4-H club and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sparks will enter the State Sheep-Shearing Contest Thursday, May, 13 in Raleigh, N. C.

Edwin has been shearing sheep for several people in the county. "We are hoping that he will be State Champion as well as County Champion Sheep-Shearer," said a fellow 4-H member.

Construction Gets Underway—

Groundbreaking Held For Library

Official groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Davie County Library were held Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Eugene Bowman, chairman of the library board of trustees, served as master of ceremonies and participated in the groundbreaking ritual along with John Groce, chairman of the building committee; H. R. Hendrix, Jr., chairman of the board of county commissioners; and Mrs. Blanche Hanes Clement, former member of the Board and Davie County Librarian for 13 years.

The Rev. William Robert Frost, President of the Davie County Ministerial Association, had the opening prayer.

The recognition of special guests included former board members: W. E. Reece, now of White Plains, first chairman 1943-1945; Mrs. J. Frank Clement of Mocksville who served until she became librarian in 1945; Charles Isley, 1943-1948; Mrs. Garland V. Green, 1943-1963; Mrs. H. F. Latham, 1943-1964 (served as treasurer for 17 years); Leo Brock, 1943-1955 (deceased); Mrs. Walter Woodson, 1948-1963 (deceased); J. D. Parker, 1951-1954, now of Glenville, N. C.; S. G. Wallace, 1963-1964.

In addition to Mrs. Bowman, present members of the board include: George Shutt, appointed in 1948 and is serving as a member of the building committee; John Groce, appointed in 1955 and is chairman of the building committee; Roy Hoffner, appointed in 1963 and is a member of the building committee; Mrs. Queen Bess Kennen, appointed in 1964 and is a member of the furnishing committee; Peter Hairston, appointed in 1964 and is chairman of the furnishing committee.

Mrs. Gordon Tomlinson, a member of the State Library Board, brought greetings from the State Library officials.

Knox Johnstone, chairman of the fund raising committee, spoke on what the library will mean to Davie County.

Randall Harris, representative of the architectural firm of Charles Morrison Grier and Associates, Inc., discussed the building.

The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. Ivan Ijames, Minister of the Clement Grove Church of God.

The new building will be constructed by the J. H. Allen Construction Firm of Asheboro. It will be located on North Main Street on the lot formerly ocupied by the Dodd home.

New Shoe Store To Open Shortly

Smith's Shoe Store will soon open at 134 North Main Street in the building beside the Mocksville Hotel. This store will carry a nationally advertised brand of shoes.

Norman T. Smith and Mrs. Worth Potts are owners and will be operators of the new establishment.

"The store is being renovated and remodeled and we hope to announce the opening date soon," said the owners. "We plan to have the store open six days a week, and plan to feature a good line of shoes," they concluded.

First Practice Is Monday—

Junior Legion Baseball Begins

The 1965 American Legion baseball season in Davie County will open on Monday night, May 31, at Highland Park, Charlotte, when the Davie Juniors meet Charlotte No. 9 in the opening season's game. Game time will be 7:45 p.m.

Davie was assigned to the Southern Division of Area III at an organizational meeting held in Salisbury Sunday afternoon. This is the first time the locals will have played in the Southern Division. Previously, they played in the Northern Division.

The first practice has been called for Monday, May 24, at Rich Park, at p.m.

The Davie County Legion Juniors will be co-sponsored this year by the American Legion Post No. 174 and the Mocksville Lions Club. Harold Odom will serve as the coach.

Ed Short is serving as Post Athletic Officer; James D. Boger, as business manager; Jack Corriher as assistant business manager; R. L. Whitaker, Jr., as team manager; Grady Ward as Post Adjutant.

Other committee assignments include:

Concession Stand: E. Gray Hendricks, Johnny Walker and Sheek Miller, co-chairmen; Bill Roberts, Robert Davis, John McDaniel, Worth Hendricks, Sam Cook, Joe White, Sheek Bowden, Jr., George Hendricks and Ray Southern.

Transportation: Gilmer Brewer and J. C. Cleary, co-chairmen; Carl Eaton, Roy Cartner, Pete Dwiggins, Hubert Eaton, Jim Foster, Cedric Smoot, Glenn Hammer, Dale Brown, and Robert Hendricks.

Gate and Tickets: Bill Merrell and C. F. Leach, co-chairmen; Gilmer Hartley, Henry Poplin, Bill Hall, James Irvin, Kermit Smith, Gerald Blackwelder, Roy Marsh, William Frost and Clyde Hendricks.

Gene Smith and H. R. Hendrix, Jr., will serve as announcers. Paul York and Lawrence Smith will be in charge of the flag, and Frank Stroud will administer the oath.

Schedule

The league games commencing May 31 are as follows:

May 31 Charlotte No. 9 (there)
June 2 Concord (there)
June 4 Statesville (there)
June 7 Charlotte No. 380 (here)
June 9 Salisbury (here)
June 11 Charlotte No. 9 (here)
June 12 Salisbury (there)
June 14 Concord (here)
June 16 Statesville (here)
June 18 Charlotte No. 380 (there)
June 21 Salisbury (there)

(Note: games in Charlotte will be played at Highland Park).

The league play-offs are scheduled to begin June 25.

Spokesmen for the co-sponsors state they are proud to be participating in this nationwide program which, since its establishment in 1926, has proved that American boys receive on the baseball diamond a thorough understanding of the true value and meaning of a one hundred percent Americanism.

They pointed out that, in addition to providing for the development of stronger bodies, a sense of good sportsmanship and fair play, and an awareness of citizenship responsibilities, American Legion Baseball has also been a stepping stone to major league stardom for more than 2,000 youngsters.

Inviting the attendance and support of Davie County sports fans, they added, "we can offer no greater service to this community than through our efforts for our youth. We seek and need the community's support of this activity."

MRS. LEONA GRAHAM SMOOT . . . has resigned as Director of the Davie County Department of Public Welfare after serving in this capacity since 1956.

Served As Director Since 1956—

Mrs. Smoot Resigns Welfare Post

Mrs. Leona Graham Smoot, Director of the Davie County Welfare Department for the past nine years, has resigned from this position for reasons of illness in her family.

G. Alex Tucker, chairman of the County Welfare Board, has temporarily assumed the responsibility of directing the activities of the agency with the assistance of the Rev. B. C. McMurray, a worker in the department.

In accepting Mrs. Smoot's resignation, the Davie County Welfare Board, composed of G. Alex Tucker, chairman; John Brock, and C. W. Shepherd, adopted the following resolution:

Resolution

Whereas Mrs. Leona Graham Smoot, Director, Davie County Welfare Department, Mocksville, N. C., has tendered her resignation to the Welfare Board, effective May 17, 1965, for reasons of illness in her family;

Whereas the Welfare Board has reluctantly decided to accept her resignation;

Be It Therefore Resolved that the Davie County Welfare Board does hereby express to Mrs. Leona Graham Smoot its gratitude and appreciation for her many years of dedicated service to Public Welfare in North Carolina and in Davie County and, be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and a copy sent to the Davie County Enterprise Record for such use as they may see fit to make of same.

Mrs. Smoot

Mrs. Smoot, the former Leona Graham of Farmington, graduated from the Farmington High School; attended Mars Hill College; and took two years of social work training at the University of North Carolina.

She taught for several years at King and Kannapolis prior to becoming Davie County Welfare Superintendent, 1937-39. In 1952 she served as acting director of the Davie County Welfare Department for four months.

She served for two years with the Catawba County Welfare Department and then in 1944 went to Yanceyville where she served for 12 years as superintendent of public welfare and while there trained students from the University of North Carolina in this work.

In 1955 she married C. C. Smoot of Mocksville and began assisting in the Davie County Welfare work while the late Miss Amy Talbert, then director, was ill. Following the death of Miss Talbert, she was named as Director of the Davie County Welfare Department in November of 1956.

Play Here Friday Night For Grand Championship—

Rebels Win Piedmont Baseball Championship

Davie County High School Rebels became the 1965 baseball champions of the Piedmont Conference Tuesday afternoon with a 4 to 2 victory over Albemarle.

The Rebels will play the winner of the Hickory and Shelby play-off at Rich Park in Mocksville on Friday night at 8 p.m. for the championship of the Western North Caroline High School Activities Association. The winner of this contest will be equivalent to state champions in this division of North Carolina High School athletics.

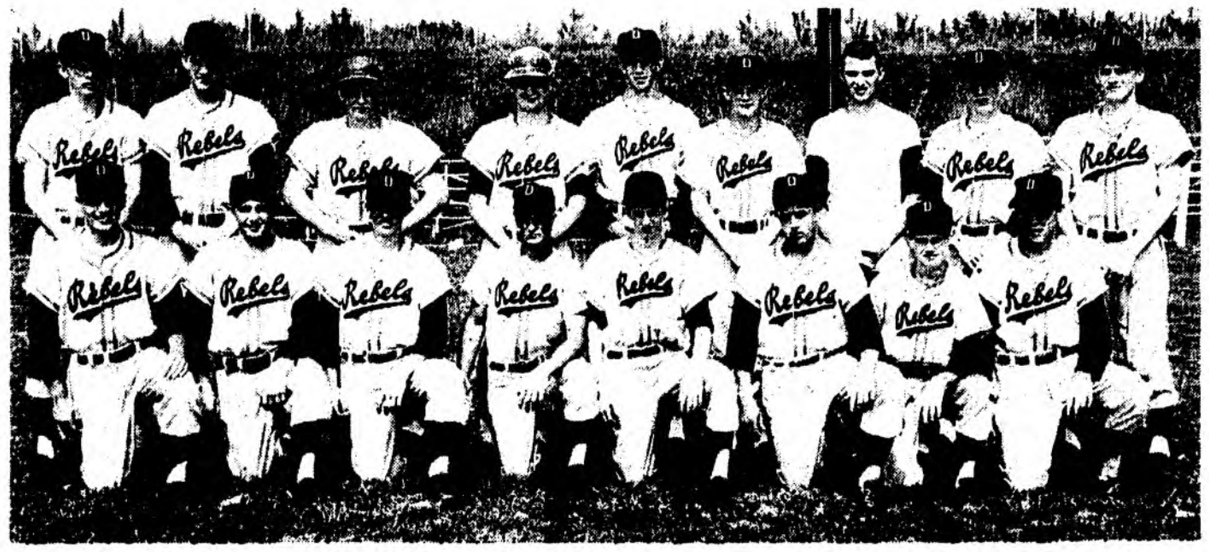

John Parker gave up only five hits and struck out 13 in leading Coach Bill Peeler's boys to the win over the South Piedmont Conference champions on Tuesday afternoon. Gary Markland with two doubles, led the hitting for the Rebels.

Davie jumped off to quick lead by scoring a run in the first inning. Earl Shoaf walked. After Markland was out, Jesse Boyce singled. Don Jones then walked to load the bases and Ken Boger came through with a hit to score Shoaf.

The Rebels came back to score two in the second inning. Markland doubled. Joe Mando was on by an error. Don Jones came through with a hit to score two runs.

Davie added their final run in the fourth on two base hits and an error, with Garland Allen supplying the big blow.

John Parker is expected to be on the mound Friday night as the Rebels play for this first grand championship at 8 p.m. at Rich Park.

A graduating class of 217 students will receive diplomas on Wednesday evening in graduation exercises to be held in the gymnasium of the Davie County High School. The program will begin at 8 p.m.

In a departure from recent graduation events, there will be no major speaker this year. Instead the three top scholars of the class will each deliver a five minute oration on various phases of education.

Brenda Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harris of Mocksville, Rt. 5, will speak on: "Education As An Opportunity."

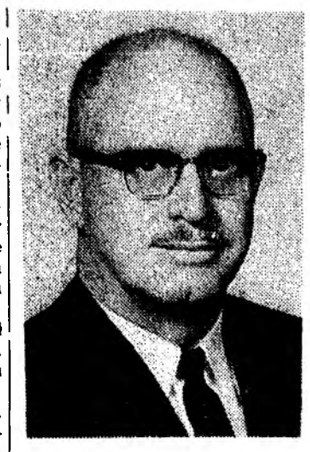

Connie Gardiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gardiner of Mocksville, will speak on: "Education As A Challenge."

Gail Plott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Plott, Jr., of Advance, Rt. 1, will speak on "Education As A Responsibility."

The Program

The invocation on Wednesday evening will be given by Larry Baiey, President of the Senior Class. The glee club, under the direction of Paul Reichle, will sing "The New Frontier."

Following the talks by the three top scholars, the presentation of diplomas will be made by John Norton, Principal of the Davie County High School and Dr. W. T. Bird, Superintendent of Davie County Schools.

Gaither-Ijames Vows Are Spoken

The wedding of Miss Yvonne Arletta Gaither and Edgar Dennis Ijames took place at 7 p. m. Saturday May 15 at New Union Methodist Church at Sheffield. The Rev. B. G. Hobson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lonnie Gaither and the late Mr. Gaither. She was graduated from Davie County High School and works at Hunter Brothers Co. at Statesville.

Mr. Ijames is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Ijames. He attended Pfeiffer College and Mitchell College and served four yars in th navy. He is employed at Western Electric Co. at Winston-Salem.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, John A. Gaither of Mocksville. She wore a gown, designed and made by her mother, of peau de soie with a chapel train. Her veil was attached to a jeweled crown, and she carried a Bible topped with an orchid.

Miss Pat Gaither, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow brocaded taffeta dress with a veiled cabbage rose headpiece, and carried a long-stemmed Talisman rose.

Bridesmaids were- Mrs. Letty Hinshaw of Mount Airy, Mrs. Betty George of Ararat, Va., sisters of the bridgegroom, Miss Janet Gaither, sister of the bride, and Miss Beavey Gaither of Statesville. Their mint green dresses were like that of the matron of honor. Each carried a long stemmed Talisman rose.

Child attendants were Timmy Shaw and Carol Wright.

H. C. Myers of Union Grove, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mac George of Ararat, Va., Paul Hinshaw of Mount Airy, Edwin Hunter of Statesville and Wade E. Wright.

The mother of the bride wore a medium blue dress with a lace corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage.

For travel, the bride changed to a white linen suit with lace over blouse. She wore black acessories and a white orchid. After a short honeymoon, the couple will on Route 1.

Reception

Following the ceremony, the groom's sisters, Mrs. H. C. Myers, Mrs. Paul Hinshaw and Mrs. Mace George, entertained with a reception in the social room of the church.

The bride's table, overlaid with a white organdy ruffled cloth over yellow satin, held a tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow and white roses and topped with white wedding bells, a chrystal punch bowl encircled with ivy, and candelabra with white candles. Mrs. Fred Murphy of Mocksville, served the cake and Mrs. Norman Chaffin of Advance, poured orange punch. Assisting in serving mints and nuts were Mrs. Ralph Kurfees of Harmony, and Mrs. H. C. Myers of Uunion Grove.

Bride-Elect, Fiance Honored At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Grady N. Ward entertained with a dinner Saturday evening at Staley's Supper Club in Winston-Salem, honoring Miss Linda Hartley and her fiance, Harold Reeder of Asheboro, who will marry in June.

Covers were laid for: the host, hostess, Miss Hartley, Mr. Reeder, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Hartley and Mr. and Mrs. James Poole.

The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of white carnations and the bridal couple was given a gift of silver.

Cow and 1963 Cadillac Demolish One Another

Both a cow and a 1963 Cadillac were a total lass following a get-together last Monday on U.S. 158.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that a 1963 Cadillac was being operated by Adrian William Standaart, of Winston-Salem, and was heading west. Passengers in the car were Josephine Benson, 23, and Adrian P. Standaart, both of Winston-Salem. Standaart was taken to the Davie County Hospital.

East of the Farmington Road intersection, a cow ran in front of the Cadillac and was struck and killed. The Cadillac was declared a total loss.

Rev. B. C. McMurray Is Screening Officer—

Applicants For Job Corps Sought

The Rev. B. C. McMurray has been named screening officer of the Job Corps for Davie County. In this capacity, it will be his duty to recruit, interview, adminsiter tests and determine the eligibility of Job Corps applicants in Davie County between now and June 15.

The Job Corps, operating as a part of the Federal Anti-Poverty program, is mostly for young men and women who are out of school and cannot find a job. In a Job Corps Center, these young people will receive basic education, job training, and the experience to develop good work habits. They will get room and board, clothing and spending money of $30 per month. Also, when they leave they will get $50 for each month of satisfactory service in the Job Corps.

Any young man or woman beween the ages of 16 and 21 can apply for the Job Corps. There are two types of centers: One located on public land such as National Parks and Forests. Here the corpsmen will do carpentry and forestry work, build roads and make trails. They will also learn to read and write better . . . learn how to handle employment interviews and other skills that will help them get a job later. The other kind of Job Corps Centers will be located in or near large cities. At these centers they will receive more specialized job training.

Young women will go to Job Corps Centers in or near large cities. They will be trained to work in business offices, hospitals, stores, beauty shops, restaurants, nursery schools, or in other jobs that are available. They will also learn how to handle home and family responsibilities.

At all of these centers, movies, athletics, games, libraries and various kinds of entertainment will be available.

A young man or woman may spend anywhere from a few months to two years in the Job Corps. The corps will pay the cost of one visit home at their own expense. Parents may visit corpsmen at the centers.

"The Job Corps is entirely voluntary and any one can leave at any time. If he stays in the corps and completes his training he will be better able to get a job, return to school or join the armed services," said Mr. McMurray.

"The Job Corps uses the newest training methods. Each corpsman will be able to learn at his own rate according to his own abilities and interest," he continued. "The Job Corps will help every corpsman get a job after graduation from the Corps. This program is planned to give young people a better future."

Mr. McMurray

Mr. McMurray is a native of Cliffside, N .C. (Rutherford County). He is a veteran of World War II and attended Gardner Webb College, Wake Forest College, American Institute of Law and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He holds the following degrees: AB, LLB, and ThB.

He served as pastor of several churches in Kentucky prior to coming to Davie County as pastor of the Eatons Baptist Church in October, 1964. He has been doing public welfare work with the Davie County Welfare Department since January of 1965.

The bride-elect and her fiance presented gifts to their attendands.

PINO

The congregation at Wesley Chapel Church were impressed with the Sunday a. m. service delivered by the Rev. Mr. Bearden. His topic was "The Cost of a Christian Home". He made the parents think, are we doing our part in having a christian home? Do our children see us put first things first? Train a child in the way he should go and when he is old, he will not depart from it.

L. L. Miller was honored Sunday on his 95th birthday anniversary. A large number of friends and relatives were present for the occasion.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roland West Wednesday night at a cook-out were: Walter Etchison of Westbury, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Everette Etchison, and Miss Mildred Buchman.

Sunday afternon guests of Mrs. Blanche Ward were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ferebee, and Miss Eloise Ward.

Mr . and Mrs. Roland West and children visited Mr .and Mrs. George Steelman in Yadkinville recently. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Dean Matthew and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wall near Pilot Mountain Sunday afternoon.

Shirley Ann Daywalt spent the weekend with Marlene Dull.

2 Pickups Collide On Davie Academy Rd.

Two pickups collided in an accident last Monday on the Davie Academy Road in front of the home of Ed M. Dwiggins.

Involved was a 1952 Ford pickup being operated by Ed Monroe Dwiggins, 43, of Mocksvile, Rt. 4, and a 1960 Chevrolet pickup being operated by William Monroe Cartner, 68, of Mocksville, Route 4.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that his investigation showed that Mr. Cartner was going east on the Davie Academy Road and that Mr. Dwiggins was coming out of a rural road in front of his house. Mr. Dwiggins told the investigating officer that he failed to see the other vehicle and struck it in the right side.

The Ford pickup was damaged around $50 and the Chevrolet was damaged around $250. Mr. Dwiggins was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Church Activities

FIRST BAPTIST

The Leonora Dodd Circle met Wednesday afternoon, May 12 at the church. There were 6 members present. Mrs. J. W. Wall, Miss Clara Grubb and Mrs. Jim Owings were in charge of the program.

Circle No. 1 met Monday night at the home of Miss Opal Frye with Mrs. T. C. Fry as co-hostess. There were 8 members present. Miss Fry gave the program. A salad course with fruit punch was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

★ ★ ★

The Girls' Auxiliary of First Baptist Church had a Coronation service Sunday evening, May 16. This is a service of recognition of girls who have completed certain areas of study.

The recognition is as follows: Maidens: Kathy Woodward, Teresa Eaton, Elizabeth Brown, Elizabeth Hall and Karen Frye; Ladies-In-Waiting: Jann Barber, Kathy Shore, Cynthia Heffner and Debbie Brown; Princesses: Janet Ridge and Hopie Hall; Queens: Suzanne Martin and Carol Jo Howell.

A reception followed the service in the Fellowship Hall.

The G. A. 's are under the direction of Mrs. R. P. Martin, Jr., Mrs. George Woodward and Mrs. Bennie Naylor.

SOCIETY BAPTIST

The Woman's Missionary Society of Society Baptist Church, met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Bryan.

The meeting opened with the group singing "Break Thou The Bread Of Life." The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Johnny Nantz followed by prayer led by Mrs. Everette Evans.

The program led by Miss Mary Jo Lewis, was given by members of the circle. The title was "The Book That Gives." Mrs. Crawford Bryan gave the closing prayer.

Refresments consisting of assorted sandwiches, ice cream with strawberries, cake and punch were served to 11 members and one visitor.

MACEDONIA

There will be a gospel singing at Macedonia Moravian Church Sunday, May 23, beginning at 2 p.m. Featured will be the following quartets: Spiritualaires, Redeemed, Fall Creek and Old Richmond.

FIRST METHODIST

Forty-two members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday night in the Fellowship Building of the church for the annual covered dish supper.

The highlight of the program was the presentation of Life Memberships to Miss Jane McGuire and Mrs. C. R. Crenshaw. Mrs. Crenshaw made the presentation to Miss McGuire and Mrs. Gerald Blackwelder to Mrs. Crenshaw.

Mrs. Doug Fink, president of the WSCS, announced that the annual meeting will be held at Lake Junaluska June 15 to 17. Also, Vacation Church School to be held at the local church May 31 through June 4. Circles will serve refreshments in rotation beginning with Circle No. 1 on Monday morning, May 31.

Each circle held a short business meeting.

After assembling again as a group, Mrs. Jimmy Kelly was in charge of the program entitled "With Salt, Candle, and String." Mrs. Kelly's scripture reading contained the Bible passage, "Ye are the salt of the Earth." An impressive candle lighting service by circle chairmen and other WSCS members giving pledges was held. At the conclusion, the group formed a large circle and held a string which was clipped and given to each member to keep as a reminder "that we were all a part of pulling together.

Flower arrangements for the supper table and for the mantle featured red roses. The worship center featured candles in varying shades, white, blue, purple, yellow, etc.

Retarded Children's Association To Meet Here On Thursday Night

Decision To Be Made On Continuing Chapter

An important meeting of the Davie County Association for Retarded Children, Inc. will be held Thursday evening, May 20, at 8 p.m. at the County Office Building.

Mrs. W. M. Long, secretary of the Davie County Chapter, said that a decision would be made at that time as to whether or not to continue the Davie County chapter.

"At the present time we have only 5 or 6 really active members. If we are to continue membership in the state and national A. R. C. organizations we must send in $225 . . . or $1.50 for each membership . . . before the end of May. If we can't raise this money from membership, then we must have permission from the county to have fund drives", said Mrs. Long.

Among the items to be discussed Thursday evening will be the changing of the meeting night to a Monday or Tuesday in order to have more present; the election of new officers; and the planning of a membership drive.

"The association wishes to thank those who have joined and contributed in the past. We hope for a good turnout Thursday so we can decide these matters and encourage others to help with this work", said Mrs. Long.

THOMAS ZIMMERMAN
—travels to school—

Mrs. Long said that the association already has two classes in schools of Davie County and that there may be a possibility of two more. She pointed out that Thomas Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zimmerman, is now attending school in Winston-Salem and that his mother has to travel 100 miles each day.

"There are many others in the county in the same situation," said Mrs. Long.

Bands-Chorus In Concert

The Davie County High School Senior Band and Chorus will present a concert at the Mocksville School Auditorium Thursday, May 20th at 8:00 P. M. The freshman band will perform in a short program beginning at 7:30 P. M.

Three modern choral arrangements accompanied by Marie Cope playing piano, Benny Bunch on string bass and Gail Blanton on snare drum, will feature the choral program. Medleys from South Pacific" and "Oklahoma" will highlight the performance by the senior band. The sixteen piece stage band will also play several favorities.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Duke Power Co. Is Host At Luncheon

Duke Power Company was host at a buffet luncheon last Thursday at the War Memorial Center in Mooresville.

Around 20 citizens of Davie County attended along with representatives from other counties in this area. W. B. McGuire, President of Duke Power Company, spoke at the luncheon and outlined the plans and policies of his company.

On Thursday evening Duke Power Company was host at a steak supper at the Elks Club in Mooresville to all their employees. The employees of Mocksville and Harmony offices attended this supper.

Heart Association research grants for 1964-65 will come to around $10,500,000.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Henry Shapiro, just in from Moscow where he is the United Press International representative, told me in answer to a question that he did not think the Russians will go into Vietnam in force. They will help the North Vietnamese with equipment and words, he said, but they know better than to come up against the United States in a world war, he feels. "Oh, they're following the same old line", remarked this man who just won a Sigma Delta Chi award for his work on the fall of Krushchev. "The Russians talk a big game for home consumption but play it easier when they are face to face with force. They do not want to be involved in another big conflict, but of course they do have power too and we have to be careful."

Arch McAskill of San Antonio, Texas seems to have the patience of a Job and the skill of a Houdini when it comes to the training of animals. The results are shown locally and include a chicken which drives a truck (toy one, that is), a rabbit marksman which shoots a ball at a target, a duck that plays a drum, a chicken which turns on a juke box and then starts dancing to the music and another fowl that plays baseball. It is believed that the New York teams currently could use that last-named athlete.

A new book with the intriguing title of "Snuff, Sin and the Senate", (Follett) points out that although the snuff boxes of our United States Senate are as old as that body itself, they are still there and are kept filled regularly — just in case. Another recent volume asks the question in its title, "Are You Misunderstood" (Funk) and goes on to apply this to school, business love and marriage, which would probably just about take in everbody, if the truth were known. The volume states that many problems may be the result of faulty communication with others.

It appears that there is renewed effort to make it more desirable for parents to take children along on vacations, judging from the literature received in the mail. For example, the Dorado Beach Hotel in Puerto Rico emphasizes the attractions it has for the children as well as grown-ups and urges you to bring them along. Here in New York, Seena Hamilton is director of Gulliver's Trails, a supervised children's sightseeing service. Many hotels and motels now offer a family plan which includes children free and restaurants have special menus with lower prices for the younger folks. And high on a midtown building there is a sign which says, "The family that prays together, stays together."

Keats was sitting writing in the same room with his friend, Leigh Hunt who was reading. Keats looked up and said, "Hunt, what do you think of this? 'A beautiful thing is an unending joy' "Good", said Hunt, "but not quite perfect. There was silence for awhile, then Keats spoke again. "How's this? 'A thing of beauty is an unending joy' "Better," said his friend, "but still not quite it." Again there was silence, until Keats spoke again. "Now what do you think of this? 'A thing of beauty is a joy forever'" "That," said Leigh Hunt, "will live as long as the English language is spoken."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Who says it doesn't pay to volunteer?
(Nobody in the National Guard)
For example, if you volunteer for the National Guard right now, you put in only the immediate active duty needed for your military specialty. This may be as little as four months or up to fourteen months. After that, you have a one-evening-per-week or one-weekend-per-month training session and you're completely free to concentrate on that civilian job you want. (You'll find better jobs are easier to come by when you've completed active service.) One thing: Be prepared to meet tough physical and mental enlistment requirements.

V. G. Prim, President of Cooleemee Lions Club, presents the trophy signifying the achievement award to Clay Eaton.

Larry McCullough, member of Cooleemee Jaycees, presents "most improved" football trophy to Randall Ward.

Report From 4-H Conference

Davie County was represented at the N. C. State 4-H Leaders Conference, May 10-13, by Mrs. Claude Cartner, Mrs. Stacy Beck, and Rev. Jack Rhyne.

Betsy-Jeff Penn 4-H Center, Reidsville, was the place of the conference, which was attended by 89 community 4-H club leaders from 43 counties in the State, from Currituck County on the Eastern Coast to Macon County in the western-most part of the state.

The aims of the conference were to help 4-H leaders broaden their understanding of the community for a more effective leadership in 4-H; to assist 4-H leaders to increase their understanding of the young people with whom they work; to aid 4-H leaders to increase their understanding of themselves as leaders, and to see how their needs affect the way they work with young people; to help leaders gain inspiration in working with young people; and to help leaders develop a higher degree of proficiency in working with young people.

The training staff consisted of Dr. T. C. Blalock, Assistant Director of 4-H work at N. C. State University, Raleigh; R. W. Shoffner, Director of Foundations and Development, N. C. State; Miss Mary Sue Moser, Lyman Dixon, Dan F. Heller, Miss Margaret Clarke, William Garmo, 4-H specialists at N. C. State; M. E. Hollowell, District Agriculture Agent, N. C. State; Robert Buckner, Assistant Director of the N. C. Recreation Commission, Raleigh; Dr. Dolan, State Leader of Training and Extension, Raleigh; Miss Frances Jordan, Specialist in Family Relations, N. C. State; Dr. Selz Mayo, Head of Rural Sociology and Anthropology, N. C. State; and Miss Emmie Nelson, Field Representative National 4-H Service Committee. Miss Nelson addressed the conference on several occasions concerning the developing of 4-H'ers for Junior Leadership.

The activities of the conference consisted of lectures, question and answer periods; a tour of the Karaston Rug Factory and the Fieldcrest Outlet Store; a tour of the Penn Plantation and grounds around the Penn Mansion. Recreation that can be carried out in local 4-H meetings was enjoyed at the close of the day's activities. The morning devotional thought and vespers were conducted by delegates at the conference.

A banquet was held on the last evening of the conference at which time Mrs. Ned Nixon of Hertford N. C., delegate, gave a report on the National 4-H Forum held recently in Washington, D. C.

The Betsy-Jeff Penn 4-H Center is the newest 4-H Center and Camp in North Carolina. This center is a part of the 1,600 acre Chinqua-Penn Plantation, now property of the State of North Carolina. The 4-H Center was made possible by generous contributions of money and land by the Penn Family and the State 4-H Development Fund.

Class of 1942 Has A Reunion

The 1942 graduating class of Farmington High School held their second reunion on Sunday, May 16, at Tanglewood Park, Clemmons.

Eleven of the twenty-four class members attended along with their families. Two former teachers, Mrs. Elizabeth Willard of Farmington, and Miss Mary Nichols of North Wilkesboro, were honor guests.

Class members attending were: Vernan Dull of Mocksville; Vashti Furches Suggs of Greensboro; Vernon Howard of Winston-Salem; Labelle Harkey Crater of Harmony; Lois Reavis Tutterow of Mocksville; Barry Smith of Mocksville; Janice Eaton Hunter of Mocksville; Francis Essie of Misenheimer; Madelene Smoot Sparks of Mocksville; John Francis Johnson of Winston-Salem; and, Leo Wright Easterling of Charlotte.

A picnic lunch and reminiscing was enjoyed by all.

Davidson Football Coach Is Speaker—

Davie Athletes Are Honored

Approximately 160 Davie High athletes were honored last Friday night at a banquet held in the Davie High School cafeteria. The banquet, sponsored by the civic clubs in the county, was attended by about 340 persons.

Homer Smith, new football coach at Davidson College, was the featured speaker. Coach Smith told the high school athletes that never again would they be in a position as they were that night . . . with the opportunity of choosing life's paths before them.

"Don't take lightly the position you are in", said Coach Smith.

Coach Smith also told of personal experiences as a player and coach. Dr. W. T. Bird introduced the speaker. Principal John Norton presided.

Coach Jack Ward, athletic director, presented certificates to the various team members that qualified for monograms during the past year. He was assisted by Coaches Bill Peeler, Roger Snow, Mrs. Sue Lewis. Certificates were also presented to the cheerleaders.

Special Awards

Representatives of the various sponsoring clubs made the presentation of the special awards.

Bill Nesbit was presented the trophy as the "most outstanding back" by A. M. Kiser, Jr., president of the Farmington Ruritan Club.

Dorothy Seaford was voted the most valuable girls' basketball player and the trophy was presented by Tom Vogler, Commander of Cooleemee American Legion Post No. 54.

John Parker received two awards, being voted the "most valuable" for both basketball and baseball. Robert Lee Seaford, President of the Fork Civic Club, presented the basketball award and Joe Murphy, President of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented the baseball award.

Randall Ward was voted most improved football player. This award was presented by Larry McCullough, President of the Cooleemee Jaycees.

Donnie Jones received the award as the "outstanding lineman". This trophy was presented by Johnny Walker, President of the Mocksville Lions Club.

Clay Eaton was the winner of the "Achievement Award". This is given to an athlete based on achievement not only in athletics but in scholastic work and other school activities. This award was presented by V. G. Prim, President of the Cooleemee Lions Club.

Ann Stewart was presented a special medal as "most outstanding" cheerleader by a vote of the monogram winners.

The Davie athletes also gave gifts to coaches and advisors. Clay Eaton, president of the student body, presented special gifts to each of the coaches on behalf of the student body.

Here's What Your Neighbors Say After Switching to Electric Comfort Heating

"It's so economical to install, maintain and naturally operate"

The M. L. Goodman family may not be your next door neighbor, but you can be well assured that they and many other wise Carolina families are enjoying better living since switching to flameless electric comfort heating. Considering changing to a new heating system? Then consider electric comfort heating and you pave the way to modern family living.

Here's some advantages cited by Mr. M. L. Goodman of Salisbury, N.C. "With individual room thermostats we have found our electric heating to be clean, silent, and free from maintenance. We would recommend electric heating to anyone considering a new heating system. We couldn't be more pleased since we switched our home to electric comfort heating."

Duke Power neither sells nor installs electric comfort heating but will be more than glad to furnish helpful advice and any information you may need. Call soon.

4 Hospitalized After Collision

Four persons were hospitalized and two others injured in a head-on collision last Saturday around 12:45 p.m. on the Spillman Road, two miles north of Farmington.

Hospitalized were William Wilbur Spillman, Jr., 17, the driver of a 1962 Chevrolet, and his two brothers, Paul M. Spillman, 14, and Terry S. Spillman, 11. All are sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spillman of Mocksville, Route 2.

Also hospitalized was Ruby Nell Wood, 25, of Yadkinville, Route 2, a passenger in a 1955 Buick operated by Raymond Samuel McBride, 24, of Yadkinville, Route 2. Mr. McBride and his wife, Helen H. McBride, 25, were treated at the Davie County Hospital and were released. Their three children, riding in back seat, were not injured.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that the Spillman vehicle was heading west and McBride was going east. On a sharp left-hand curve, McBride's car went over on the inside and struck the Spillman car in the left front. Both cars were a total loss.

McBride was charged with driving on the wrong side of road and improper registration.

HEAD-ON COLLISION ON SPILLMAN ROAD . . . last Saturday hospitalized four persons and injured two others. Wilburn Spillman, Jr., was the driver of the Chevrolet and Raymond Samuel McBride was the driver of the Buick. McBride, of Yadkinville, Route 2, was charged with being on the wrong side of the road.

Duke Official To Address Rotary Club

C. S. REED

C. S. Reed, Vice-President of Duke Power Company, will give one his famed graphic talks at the meeting of the Rotary Club on Tuesday, May 25. Mr. Reed spoke to the local Rotary Club on May 4th and was well received. He uses pictures, signs and charts to illustrate his talk.

John E. Durham, Rotary President, is hoping for a 100% attendance at this meeting.

Selected For Special Work

North Carolina Volunteers headquarters in Durham announced the selection of 285 college students to work in the summer's anti-poverty program. The selection was made from over 800 applicants.

The majority of the Volunteers are from North Carolina but applications were received from as far away as Oregon and from numerous North Carolina residents attending schools outside the state.

The students will begin their summer service on June 14 when they report to Duke University for a five day orientation program. Orientation will be handled by the Training Department of The North Carolina Fund and will include lectures by experts on a variety of subjects dealing with the environment and climate of poverty in North Carolina.

A Cooleemee selection was Miss Jo Lewis, senior at Appalachian State Teachers College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Lewis of Cooleemee.

Miss Lewis was on the Dean's List for the last quarter.

New Majorettes For Davie High

Majorettes chosen for 1965-66 for Davie County High School include: Beverly Tomlinson, Beverly Foster, Dianne Smith, Renee Berrier, and Lisa Upshaw.

Susan Upshaw and Vicki Davis, who served last year, will again be in the group this year.

The chief majorette will be chosen and announced later.

Tattle-Tales

By Gordon Tomlinson

Again no names . . . but a pretty young miss about to change her name to Mrs. went to the beauty parlor on the day of her betrothal and had a bouffant hairdo. As she left the beauty salon a bird flying overhead made a deposit and it landed . . . yep . . . right in the bouffant hairdo.

There was not enough time to have the hair redone . . . so the mother of the girl used scissors to make restitution as best she could. However, the girl later said that all through the ceremony she couldn't help but think about that in her hair and on her scalp.

From now on she will probably be like the man who thought he always had the toughest luck. His minister told him he ought to try praying and talking over his problems with God. One beautiful spring morning he decided to give this a try and went out in the yard, lifted his face towards the heavens, and began to pray. About that time a bird let go and it hit him in the face, causing the man to say:

"You see God . . . they sing for some people!"

George Martin almost caused an upheaval in his domicile, Tuesday.

Being extremely busy all the morning when 12 noon came he jumped in his car and flew home.

He was met with looks of consternation . . . and such questions as: "What is this?" . . . "No Rotary today?"

George crawled back into his car and although just a little late . . . made it to Rotary and helped finish off the chicken pie.

New Conservation and Wildlife Booklet

The Davie Soil and Water Conservation District placed the newest booklet entitled "Making a Home for Wildlife on the Land" in the 5th grades of the Davie County School system. This booklet is a part of a series of educational cartoon-type booklets published to aid in conservation education efforts. It emphasizes that conservation treatment of agricultural lands improves the habitat for many kinds of animals.

The color illustrations faithfully portray the many species of wildlife found on farms. The story of soil conservation is skillfully woven into the narrative about the urban family's teen-age son and daughter visit at a vacation farm. On every part of the farm they find many kinds of wildlife in areas managed to create suitable homes for them. In conservation treated fields they find pheasants and songbirds; in the woodlands there are deer, squirrels, rabbits, and other game; in the pastures there are quail; and in the farm pond are several species of fish as well as waterfowl.

"Making a Home for Wildlife on the Land" is likely to be the most popular booklet published by the Soil Conservation Society. The story is exciting. Youngsters will be attracted by the excellent color of birds and animals of the wild." Additional copies of the booklet will be placed in the county library.

Nearly 5 million copies of these educational booklets have been distributed for use by teachers in the primary and secondary grades. The following business firms made possible the placement of these booklets into the schools. B. C. Moore and Sons, J. P. Green Milling Co., Davie Farm Service, G. N. Ward, Davie Freezer Locker, Mocksville Dept Store, Farm and Garden Center, Davie Tractor and Implement Co., Davie Electric Membership Co., Pennington Chevrolet Co, Junker and Son Feed Mill, West Dairy Equipment Co., R. C. Evans, Belks Department Store, and Davie Enterprise.

Davie High Teams and Sportsmanship—

Much for Which To Be Proud

Davie County High School has much of which to be proud in it's realm of athletics.

Last week the Rebels clinched their fifth North Piedmont Conference Championship when the baseball team captured this title. These five champoinship in seven years of existence as a school places Davie almost at the top of the conference in this realm.

In 1962 both of Davie's basketball teams . . . boys and girls . . . won the basketball crowns. In 1964 the boys basketball team again won the conference title. In 1963 the baseball team won the conference crown and repeated this performance again this year.

Also in 1964 the football team was runnerup for the conference title and occupied this same position in the years of 1962 and 1959.

All through the years Davie teams have performed creditably in the athletic arena of the conference. Most every year Davie has had at least some of it's teams as top contenders for the crown.

However ,although nothing can replace the pride and rejoicing that comes with winning, even greater perhaps is the way that it is done.

The respect that comes to the Davie County High School as the recipient of the North Piedmont Conference Sportsmanship Award is certainly a credit to the entire student body and faculty. For sportsmanship is not confined to the athletic arena . . . but is participated in by the students . . . faculty . . . coaches . . . and spectators alike. To be judged by the visiting coaches and officials is "tops in sportsmanship" in the entire conference is quite a high honor. This honor is enchanced with the realization that Davie is the first school in the conference to ever win this award and by doing has established a standard to which other schools will aspire.

Silver Shortage Threatens Coins—

What Happens to Our Silver?

The jingle-jangle of silver coins may eventually fade from American pockets says an article from a recent National Geographic Bulletin.

The soaring demands of industry and speculation have made the shiny metal almost too precious to use in coins. Current price is $1.293 an ounce.

Since the United States' consumption of silver is nearly triple present production from mines, the U.S. Treasury has been making up the deficit from its stockpiles. At the present rate, the Treasury could run out of silver in three years.

To stop the drain, most experts believe there are two practical choices: a substantial reduction in the present 90-percent silver content of U. S. coins, or the substitution of cheaper metals such as copper, cupronickel, and niobium in some of the coins.

Long treasured as a monetary standard, silver now is primarily an industrial element. The versatile metal goes into the manufacture of everything from electric toasters and television cameras to submarines and guided missiles.

Silver's special properties give it many applications. Silver conducts electricity and heat better than any other metal, and is highest in optical reflectivity.

Except for gold, silver is the most ductile metal. One gram of pure silver can be drawn into a wire a mile long.

The photographic industry is the largest single commercial consumer of silver. Compounds that turn dark on exposure to light are used in photographic film and sensitized paper. One of these compounds, silver iodide, has been employed experimnetally to seed clouds in artificial rainmaking.

Silver solders are increasingly important. These make watertight, noncorrosive, flexible joints for refrigerators and air conditioners.

Brazing alloys withstand the high temperatures generated in jet engines and space behicles. Pure silver forms durable bearings for aircraft engines and diesel locomotives.

Small ,lightweight storage batteries with silver-zinc and silver-cadmium cells enhance the performance of jet aircraft, guided missiles, and scientific instruments.

In medicine, silver compounds serve as antiseptics, astringents, and caustics. Silver is ideal for surgical wire and plates to replace bones.

Silver in various forms sterilize water, plates scientific equipment, fills teeth, backs mirrors, acts as a catalyst in the manufacture of fertilizers, and destroys warts.

Manfacture of tableware, jewelry ,and other luxury articles continues to absorb a substantial amount of silver.

Editorial Briefs

Newspapers call for conservation of natural resources, keep tab on government and legislation, and take readers to the heart of a news story in the making.

No other country compares with the U. S. in the weekly newspaper field. The weeklies in this nation reign supreme in number, size and quality. There are about 8,300 weeklies, varying in size from a few hundred to 15,000 subscribers. They have a combined circulation of over 21,000,000 and an eshtimated readership of 80,000,000.

Fifty million participate in amateur art activities—32 million of them play musical instruments, 15 million paint, sketch or sculpt, a million are serious photographers and a half-million are amateur actors.

Integrity, responsibility, accuracy and leadership are what makes a newspaper a vital community force, according to a community force, according to a committee of the Associated Press Managing Editors which undertook a long-term study to determine criteria for a good newspaper.

The largest living fish ever recorded was a 45-foot whale shark taken off Florida in 1912, the National Geographic says. Estimated weight was 20 tons.

If we make the best of little opportunities, we find ourselves more able to accept larger ones.

Firdmness is that admirable quality in ourselves that is merely stubbornness in others.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill

Independent Offices Funds

Money to operate the Federal government is provided through a series of appropriations bills each year, with Congressional action geared to consider this legislation before June 30, the end of Uncle Sam's fiscal year. As this deadline approaches, these bills are being ushered through their final paces after months of line-by-line study by the House Appropriations Committee. Last week, the House considered one of the biggest. This so-called Independent Offices Appropriations bill lumps together sundry bureaus, boards, agencies, commissions, corporations, and offices demonstrating the bewildering proliferation of Federal programs and activities.

In this bill are included some of the most important Federal activities, such as the Space, Veterans, Housing, Civil Service, the regulatory boards and commissions, and the Civil Defense programs. The only thing the programs have in common is the fact that they are not administered through regular cabinet departments and most of them report directly to the President. Almost $12 billion of the $14 billion total is earmarked for the Space, Veterans and Housing programs.

Although cuts were made in budget requests amounting to about $500 million, the bill, as presented, provided the full amount recommended for the operation of the veterans hospital program. This had been interpreted in the press as an endorsement by the Appropriations Committee of the President's plan to close a number of these hospitals. Committee spokesmen made it clear that this was not intended. However, the House insisted that additional funds be included in the bill to make certain there is no question of a shortage of money being used as an excuse for terminating services to vetearns in these facilities until the present arguments can be resolved.

Coffee Prices

Coffee is a staple item in almost every American household with this country consuming more coffee than all the rest of the world put together. It is, therefore, in our national interest that there be a supply available at reasonable prices. For the coffee producing countries, prosperity or depression depends on coffee price fluctuations. All this sets up complicated international questions and economic tensions. Several years ago this country entered into an International Coffee Agreement which the Senate subsequently approved. For some time, legislation has been requested to enable the United States to asume its full obligation under the treaty. This legislation was considered and passed by the House of Representatives last week.

My concern over this situation has not been so much about the limited scope of the legislation, but concern about the consequences for the American coffee consumer of the treaty itself. It has been my fear that through an arrangement of this kind, coffee could be pegged at artificially high prices to the detriment of the American public. However, we have now had several years of experience with this international program and it appears that it may, in fact, work to keep coffee prices at a stable level.

What we have had is a boom and bust cycle in coffee prices. When prices are high because coffee is scarce, more coffee trees are planted in the coffee growing countries. Five years later, when these new trees begin to bear, the market is glutted with coffee and prices tumble. Trees are then abandoned, no new trees are planted, and within a few years coffee prices soar up. These wild swings affect every American breakfast table and every American housewife knows the impact on the family budget. The international agreement, which includes the countries that are involved with 90 per cent of all coffee traded, would see that coffee is withheld from the market when prices threaten to fall and increase the flow of coffee when prices are on the upswing.

To me, it seemed that two amendments to the legislation provided needed safeguards. The first directed the President to operate with due caution to assure that unwarranted price increases do not occur while, in the second, Congress stipulated that that the authority granted the President would terminate whenever the Congress, itself, determined that unwarranted increases in coffee prices have occurred.

The Board of Directors of the American Heart Association recently approved the objectives of the President's Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke. Dr. Carleton B. Chapman, the national heart group's president, called the Commission report and the President's health message to Congress, "the most constructive and far-reaching recommendations for health legislation" in the history of the nation.

BANK NOTES ..... by Malcolm

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS:

WASHINGTON — As the Administration's voting rights legislation moves toward passage, it becomes abundantly clear that the crucial issue is not voting rights upon which men are agreed, but whether constitutional processes of government shall be preserved.

In one of the finest speeches he ever made, Woodrow Wilson expressed concern over the growing tendency in this county to govern by executive discretion rather than by constitutional law. He said that "every man who loves liberty" and "the established character of this Republic" ought to be opposed to laws which vest discretionary power in public officials. On another occasion he said: "Justice has nothing to do with expediency."

Among its many defects, the pending bill is repugnant to the principles embodied in Wilson's statements. In the first place, the bill is based upon expediency. In the second place, it is repugnant to due process of law, which Daniel Webster defined as "a law which hears before it condemns, which proceeds upon inquiry, and renders judgment only after trial." This is so because the guilt of the seven Southern States condemned by the artificial three-condition triggering formula of the bill is assumed and not proved. They are denied access to the courthouses and are to be judged without trial and without evidence that the political subdivision is actually engaged in voter discrimination in violation of the 15th Amendment.

In fact the evidence as to the 34 North Carolina counties covered by the bill is to the contrary. The Attorney General has stated that he has no evidence that these counties have practiced voter discrimination.

Whatever laudable thoughts motivated this bill quickly turned it into a political formula to exempt most States and condemn only a few. Federal examiners are deemed to be all right for those States assumed to be guilty by formula, but they are not to meddle in the affairs of other States.

In recent weeks, I have fought to bring this bill more in harmony with fundamental principles of law and justice. To this end, I have offered a number of amendments. One of these would have permitted a State condemned by this bill to litigate charges lodged against it in a Federal court in which the State Capitol is located. The amendment was defeated. The bill requires a State or county to present its case in a Federal court in the District of Columbia. This negates the judicial theory that all courts of the land should be open to do justice. Thus an individual charged with treason is given greater statutory consideration than the seven States condemned by this bill.

The history of liberty is a struggle not only for human rights, but human rights based upon established principles of justice. The real basis of individual liberty in this nation has been an indestructible union of indescruotible States.

This bill raises the question that if Congress can overrule the power of a State to pass laws in an area committed to it by the Constitution, and literacy voter tests fall in that category, Congress has the power to destroy the States entirely.

Such are the dangers of legislating on the basis of expediency rather than on the basis of the "established character of this Repnblic."

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle reported to the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he ain't heard nothing yet from Washington about our request fer the Guvernment to make a study on which side of the hog perduces the best eating ham. But Ed was optermistic, said he had saw in his latest pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture where they was approperating $20,600 fer a study on the breeding of tree shrews and $70,000 fer a study on the population habits of the Australian ant. He figered our study on hams couldn't be fur behind on the agenda.

Zeke Grubb said he didn't know what a tree shrew was and couldn't pass no judgement on this item but he was high in favor of that $70,000 on ants. He allowed as how, if they was anything this country needed right now, it was to know all about the population habits of the Australian ant.

Clem Webster was disagreed with Zeke, said he didn't have nothing agin them Australian ants pervided they stayed in Australia, but we had studies here at home that ought to git top priority. Fer instant, he claimed he recollected two year ago when some feller ask the Department of Agriculture to approperate $100,000 to make a study on why a chicken crosses the road and they ain't done nothing about it yet. He was of the opinion a study on this matter would be a big help to the poultry industry. About half his chickens, he reported, gits killed ever year crossing the road. Farthermore, he complained, if they don't slow traffic down in front of his place, the other half was going to git killed coming back home.

Bug Hookum announced he was agin this whole "study" business, from Australian ants to Plymouth Rock chickens and from horned toads to de-horned bulls. He said people had gone crazy over this subject. Fer instant, he reported, he had saw where some companies that makes office chairs had got together and was spending $20,000 fer "seat engineers" to make a study to find out what was the best setting position fer folks working in offices. According to them "seat engineers," said Bug, the way they was setting now was mighty hard on the spine and was liable to torment 'em in their old age.

Josh Clodhopper was agreed with Bug, said spine ailments wasn't invented till after folks quit setting on tree stumps and homemade stools and took to using fancy chairs and seat cushions. He allowed as how he ain't never knowed a creek-bank fisherman to have back trouble.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't never been a feller to stand in the way of progress. I just set on the porch, rock with the grain, and listen.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

2615 Oberlin Road

HOME STUDY . . . The recent indictments for fraud of a group of money-hungry salesmen and promoters of home study courses in North Carolina have focused attention on the work being done by the N. C. Department of Education to raise the standards of business, trade and correspondence schools. Some of them are tricky operators.

Note to high school students (a lot of them drop-outs) who fall for the return-the-enclosed-card gimmick:

Be sure to check with the local school principal, guidance counselor, or a regular teacher before returning the card. Lists of the reputable publishers of home study courses are kept on file by the N. C. Dept. of Education in Raleigh. As a matter of fact, information on business and trade schools may be secured from the Employment Security Commission and other sources.

Gilmore Johnson, supervisor of correspondence courses and business, trade and schools of this type says: "Do as much checking as possible before signing anything. Be wary of claims made by salesmen offering expensive correspondence courses, with easy lessons, and glamorous and immediate employment."

HAND TROUBLE . . . It is a good thing 1965 is not a hand-shaking year (he's not up for re-election again until 1966, if he runs then) for Eighth District Congressman Charles Jonas of Lincolnton.

He has a really bad-looking right hand, shakes hands with his left without saying just what is wrong with the other one. But it certainly has a bad appearance — as if it had recently been through a wringer or a serious operation.

THE BAPTISTS . . . The man who at one time was so powerful with the Baptists in North Carolina that he was referred to at his back — and perhaps to his front, also — as The Pope, is well along into a deep, long look at the Baptists of this State.

The name? Who else but M. A. Huggins, the man who built the State Baptist Convention into what it it today. He hasn't been leader of the group for several years now — but he is far from retired. Healthy, active, enthusiastic about the work of the Lord, M. A. Huggins knows Baptists and what makes them tick.

The book he is working on will not be as scholarly and, we would hope, not as voluminous as one done some 20 years ago by the late great Baptist historian, Dr. George Paschal.

Huggins, we hear, is trying desperately to keep the history into one volume. Nothing Baptismal in this corner of the world is brief, to-the-point, or concise. Baptists are muchly plural, of broad bent, and generally spready.

Nevertheless, if Dr. Huggins can stay with the Baptists as interesting individuals, with their strengths and weaknesses, their tithling, their strong little churches — and keep it all to one volume — then he will do as much for the denomination as a writer as he has done over a period of two generations as idea man, leader, and organizer. Good luck!

NO BATTLE . . . Some of the most interesting political fights ever held in this State did not involve the ballot box or a vote of the people.

These were concerned with the race for Speaker of the House in the N. C. Legislature. We have seen these fights come right down to the convening of the Legislature and to be so bitter that actual legislation was to some extent influenced by their aftermath.

This has not happened lately and certainly will not happen in the 1967 Legislature.

Why? Because the House has already taken the unprecedented action of voting David Maxwell Britt of Fairmont, down in Robeson County, by acclamation, as Speaker of the House for next time. Somebody in Raleigh said the other day the same thing happened "in the early 20's". Well, may be, but it is still most unusual and about the highest honor that could come to a member of the House.

Britt has been in the House since 1959, is an attorney, a Baptist, and a former president of the Wake Forest College Alumni Association.

NOTES . . . A friend just back from Washington, where he called on all the members of the N. C. Congressional delegation in town that week, says they feel Gov. Dan K. Moore is showing himself to be a capable leader — particularly as regards the Legislature . . .

The current issue of Life Magazine features one page on a Charlotte sign-painter who zigged when he should have zagged in painting a N. C. National Bank board in the Queen City recently . . .

One week after John T. Church of Rose Stores in Henderson was elected — in his first political effort — to the Henderson City Council, he was made secretary of the big, sprawling American Retail Federation, in Washington . . .

Just a lot of behind-the-scenes wire-pulling is going on in the Legislature over come big, juicy judgeships coming up . . . soon . . .

They were back on Monday night — but a group of legislators tore away from Raleigh Friday noon last for a weekend in Florida — full-moon-in-May-the-best-time-fishing for tarpon . . .

And now it looks as if there is enough Heavy Legislation on hand to keep the 1965 session of the General Assembly in Raleigh until June 19 . . .

60 Second Sermon

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "It takes gossiping ears to make a gossiping tongue" — Eff Thomas.

Two friends were talking together when the name of a mutual friend was brought up.

"I know nothing but good of Alice," one friend remarked.

"Well, then," said the other, "let's talk about someone else."

Walking is good for your health. It can be good for the health of others, too, if you will walk away from gossip. Don't listen to it. Don't participate in it. Simply walk away from it.

There is nothing constructive about gossip, no matter how superior we feel for a moment. Gossips are status-seekers. They want to appear important. They would have you believe that they know something important that down-grades someone else. By gossiping the gossiper feels superior to the one gossiped about. Look back on the gossip you recall hearing. What good has come of it? What harm? Are you and others better for having gossiped?

Three types of gossips are described: the vest-button type-always popping off; the vacuum cleaner type — always picking up the dirt; the liniment type — always rubbing it in. To avoid being typed as a gossip; for the sake of your health and the health of others, walk away from it. You won't miss a thing.

Social Security In Davie County

Senior citizens can look to their social security district office for the continuing friendly and courteous service which they rightfully expect to receive, Robert C. Thomas, social security district manager in Salisbury, N. C. said today.

President Johnson has proclaimed May a special month for the nation's senior citizens — those over 65 — who number nearly 19 million. President Johnson has said that the hopes and problems of the aged are shared by us all and that it is up to us to help them.

Thomas pledged a renewed effort on behalf of the Salisbury district office staff to maintain the high level of service to the public generally and to the senior citizens of Davie County in particular.

Service to the aged has been a byword at social security since the first monthly retirement benefits were paid 25 years ago, in January 1940, Thomas continued.

Thomas suggested that Davie County residents over 65 who have not filed an application for social security benefits might find it to their advantage to get in touch with district office personnel to discuss filing an application. This is true even if the individual has not yet retired, Thomas continued.

One possible advantage of checking with social security now is it may be that some benefits are payable even though the person is still working. Another advantage is that even if no payments can be made at this time, they can be started promptly at the time of retirement.

People over 65 interested in learning more about social security retirement benefits can visit the Salisbury district office, located at 105 Avenue, or they can phone. The number is 633-4512. The staff will be glad to answer any questions about the social security retirement provisions, Thomas concluded.

In the news recently has been the search by archeologists for the tomb of Imhotep, an Egyptian physician, who, according to the North Carolina Heart Association, related the action of the heart to the beat of the pulse — 5,000 years ago.

TOBACCO DEMONSTRATION

Six (6) tobacco demonstrations, or tests, are planned for Davie County during the 1965 tobacco growing season. These tests are planned to help agricultural workers and farmers learn more about producing tobacco. The tests will be used to learn more about new chemicals, varieties, and the value of fertilizer. The tests planned are: rate of chlorine, rate of phosphate, sucker control chemicals, and varieties. The farms conducting the tests and field day dates will be given later. Farmers interested in tobaco are urged to visit and watch these tests.

TOBACCO WEED CONTROL

Controlling weeds in tobacco crops is one of the major operations necessary in growing good tobacco. It is also an expensive operation.

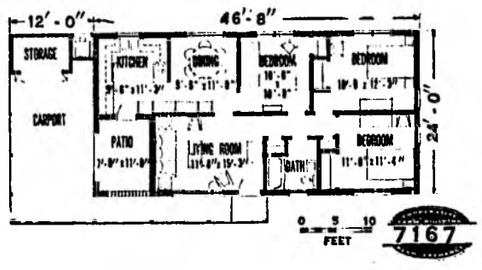

Recently, several chemicals have been developed for controlling weeds in tobacco. Under ideal conditions it is possible to grow tobacco without ever doing any plowing or hoeing; however, this is not recommended at the present time.

Two chemicals, Dymid or Enide, have both given good control of weeds in Davie County. They do not controll all weeds, but do control many of the most troublesome ones. They will not control Johnson grass or Cow Itch vines. They do a fair job controlling Morning Glories. On many farms both of these chemicals have reduced the hoeing operation to a walk-through.

Farmers short on hoe labor will do well to investigate the benefits and the prices of these two chemicals for controlling weeds in tobacco.

3-Bedroom House

Moderate-Size, Roomy House Contains Useful Features

Are you looking for a moderate sized but roomy house? The Agricultural Extension Service has plans for one that may interest you.

The house features plenty of storage space, bath, three bedrooms, kitchen with laundry area, dining room, living room, carport, and patio.

The work area—U-shaped kitchen and laundry—is readily accessible from the door which opens from the patio. The storage area just inside this door can be used for chore clothes, water heater, canned food and cleaning supplies and equipment. Other storage areas include: bedroom closets, linen closet, coat closet near front entrance, and general storage for garden equipment, lawn furniture, etc.

The dining area will lend itself well to entertaining because it is separated from the kitchen and opens from the living room.

The three bedrooms and bath are grouped in one end of the house away from the areas of more active living. As family living conditions change, the bedroom with an optional opening off the dining room may be used as a family room, den or office.

The heating system, which can be serviced from the outside, can be located adjacent to the storage area at the rear of the carport.

Both entrances to this house are protected from the weather—the service entrance by the patio and the front entrance by the covered walk from the carport.

Complete working drawings for Plan No. 7167 may be obtained from your county agricultural agent or by writing the extension agricultural engineer at North Carolina State University, Raleigh. The plan was prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as part of its Cooperative Farm Building Plan Exchange.

Occasionally somebody buys a house that doesn't have Oil Heat.

Why?

Oil heat is by far the most popular heat in North Carolina, but no one can expect to convince everybody. For example, certain people will select a type of heat only because it is the cheapest to install. Frequently, this is done when houses are built for resale. But the person who buys the house is the one who has to live with it and pay the fuel bills for many years to come. Experts agree that oil heat offers best cold weather performance and is far more economical to operate. When homeowners themselves know the facts and have an opportunity to make a choice, the great majority will choose oil heat. This is why, if you're a prospective homeowner, it is so important to check the heating system of any house you plan to buy . . . and, remember, you will have to live with it.

SHOW AND SALE

Six (6) boys and girls from the Davie County 4-H clubs entered the Fat Stock Show and Sale Monday, May 17, at the Dixie Classic Fair Grounds in Winston-Salem. Winning the county awards were Dale Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Stewart of the Fork 4-H Club with the first place animal in the county. Following him was Christa Petticord, daughter of M. and Ms. Calvin Petticord of the Redland 4-H Club; taking third place was Larry Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Boyer of the 4-Leaf 4-H Club; fourth place was Mickey Groce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Groce, of the Farmington 4-H Club; fifth place was Randy Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Boyer of the 4-Leaf 4-H Club; and sixth place was J. C. Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jordan of Cana 4-H Club.

These boys and girls did a very outstanding job in showing and fitting their animals.

REDLAND

The Redland 4-H Club held its monthly meeting, May 13 at 7:00 p. m. in the Ruritan Activity Bus enroute to the long awaited trip to Whitaker Park. All nineteen members were present; along with the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cook, four leaders, and nine guests, which included our bus driver, Elbert Smith ,who gave us a safe trip.

The president, Christa Petticord, called the meeting to order. Karen Cook, song leader, led us in the songs we are to sing 4-H Church Sunday, May 23, 1965. Christa Petticord then read a "Thank You" note to us from the Ruritan Club for the program we presented at their April meeting.

Old business consisted of the Rummage Sale and the Bread Contest.

New business mentioned was the Fat Stock Show and Sale, County Demonstration Day, June 5, 4-H Church Sunday on May 23 at Bethlehem Church at 11:00 a. m., and the record books that are due in the Office Building on June 15.

Sharon eHndrix recoived the top prize for selling twenty-five dozen doughnuts and the other sellers received 4-H pencils. Sharon was also invited to present her talent at the Ruritan Variety Show on May 15.

The meeting was adjourned and we then found ourselves at Whitaker Park. After the tour, we stopped at Farmer's Dairy Bar for refreshments. The tip was enjoyed by everyone and it was great to have all our members present. Our next meeting will be held June 10 at 7:00 p. m.

4-H Conference

Three local adult leaders attended the 4-H Adult Leaders Conference at Betsy-Jeff Penn 4-H Center in Reidsville.

Those attending from Davie County were: Mrs. Louise Cartner, Davie Academy; Mrs. Stacy Beck, Clarksville; and Rev. Jack Rhyne, Cooleemee. These leaders will share their experiences at a county leader's meeting Friday night.

The four-day session was designed to broaden leader's understanding of the young people with whom they work for more effective 4-H leadership.

Contest Winners

Twila Handlin and Pam McCulloh were declared county champions in Saturday's 4-H Bread Contest. Both are members of the Redland Comunity 4-H Club. Twila, daughter of Mr .and Mrs. R. C. Handlin of Route No. 3, Mocksville, was the Senior Teen Division winner. She entered a yeast bread coffee cake.

The Pre-Teen winner, Pam McCulloh, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McCulloh, Jr. of Route No. 1, Advance. She entered biscuits and muffins.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Curtis Crolius and Mrs. Richard Allen. Eight other club members participated.

Blue Ribbon winners were: Lynn Jones, Judy Carter, and Ginger Stanley. Red Ribbon winners included: Marcia Myers, Patty Beck, Debbie Cook, Susan Vogler ,and Jean Lennard.

Hanes To Receive President's "E" Award

Roy L. Morgan, Director of the Office of Field Services, U. S. Department of Commerce, will present the President's "E" Award for exporting to Hanes Corporation of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, on May 21, Joel B. New, Director of the Department's Greensboro Field Office, announced yesterday.

Mr. Morgan will make the presentation at a special "E" Award luncheon at the Queen Charlotte Hotel in Charlotte, commencing at 12:30 p.m. Gordon Hanes, Chairman of the Board of Hanes Corporation, will accept the Award. The event will be one of the highlights of the North Carolina World Trade Festival, May 17-21, sponsored by the North Carolina World Trade Association, Charlotte Chamber of Commerce, and other organizations.

More than 150 persons, including officials of the North Carolina firm, members of the sponsoring organizations, civic leaders, industrialists, and specially invited guests, are expected to attend.

Hanes Corporation, a manufacturer of seamless nylon hosiery and knitted apparel, was selected for the honor by Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor, on behalf of President Lyndon B. Johnson. The corporation in 1961 increased its sales of nylon hosiery both in the number of countries to which it is exporting and its export percentage of total sales. The "E" Award recognizes outstanding achievements by businesses or organizations in expanding markets for U.S. products abroad and includes a blue and gold citation signed in the name of President Johnson by Secretary Connor, an "E" flag and "E" lapel buttons.

The "E" Award for excellence in exporting is an adaptation of the World War II "E" awarded industrial plants for outstanding war production. It was revived in Dec., 1961, as part of the national export expansion drive.

According to a special survey conducted by the Bureau of the Census, widespread increases in U. S. manufactured exports were made by various states between 1960 and 1963. The State of North Carolina increased its exports of manufactured goods by 10 percent to $482.8 million during this three year period.

Spurred by the Government's export promotion efforts, undertaken with the cooperation of the business community, total U. S. exports rose to $25.6 billion in 1964, an increase of 30 percent over 1960.

"Continued efforts to expand foreign trade, such as those of the Hanes Corporation, will further strengthen our domestic economy, increase jobs, and improve the world trade position of the United States," Mr. New said.

ASCS News

Cooperation Needed In Measuring Crops

Representatives of county ASCS ofices will soon be visiting farms to measure acreage of allotted crops, according to A. P .Hasell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. These reporters will also measure acreages diverted from production under the feed grain and wheat stabilization programs.

Hossel said that these reporters have been well trained and are well qualified to make accurate acreage determinations. Generally the acreage determinations will be made by the use of aerial photographs. This system has proven to be very accurate and the most practical means of measuring crops.

These acreage determinations are very important to each farmer. They determine a farmer's eligibility for price support on the alloted crops and his eligibility for payment under the diversion programs.

Hassell urges all farmers to cooperate with these reporters so that they may do the most accurate job possible. In many cases where errors are made the farmer is not available to assist the reporter. The farmer's help is especially important so that he may point out all areas that are not planted to the crop. With each farmer's help, these reporters can and will do a very accurate job.

Wool Payments Made

Davie County wool producers have bene mailed their wool and unshorn lamb payments for the 1964 marketing year, as follows:

	Unshorn Wool	Lambs
Applications approved	5	4
Pounds of wool sold	1171	8300
Payments made	$112.47	$24.90
Promotion Fund Deduction	$11.71	$4.14

The shorn wool payment represented 16.5 per cent of the amount the producer received from the sale of shorn wool. The payment rate on unshorn lambs was 35 cents per hundredweight to compensate for the wool on them.

This was the incentive required to bring the average price of 53.2 cents per pound of wool up to the previously announced level of 62 cents per pound.

USDA Schedules Tobacco Hearings

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has scheduled hearings in Virginia and North Carolina on requests for tobacco service.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said public hearings will be held May 24 at Danville, Va., and May 25 at Winston-Salem, in response to applications for tobacco inspection and price support services at auction sales of flue-cured tobacco at Danville, and at Yadkinville.

The Danville hearing will be held in the courtroom, U. S. Post Office and Courthouse Building, 700 Main Street, starting at 9:30 a.m. (EST) May 24.

The Consumer and Marketing Service said the application for Danville is for an additional sale at this market which is already a "designated" flue-cured tobacco market. A designated market is one which receives free and mandatory inspection and market news services under the Tobacco Inspection Act, the Consumer and Marketing Service said. Price supports are made available on tobacco sold at such markets.

The Yadkinville hearing will be held in the auditorium of the County Agricultural Building, 537 Spruce St., Winston-Salem, starting at 1 p.m. (EST) May 25. The application for Yadkinville is for a new market there.

The Consumer and Marketing Service said that the hearings are being held to determine if need can be justified for providing the requested services at these two sales. Notice of the hearings is scheduled for publication in the Federal Register on May 18.

Defective Brakes Is Cause Of Wreck

Defective brakes were cited as the cause of an accident around 7:30 a. m. last Thursday morning, 2-miles south of Fork on NC 801.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that Robert Lee Lowder, 51, of Coolcemee was driving a 1960 Ford and was going south on NC 801. Jimmy Ray Seagle, 24, of Advance Rt. 2, was driving a 1955 Ford and was coming out of a private drive into NC 801.

Patrolman Wood said that Seagle told him that his foot brakes failed and his car ran on the highway into the path of the Ford being operated by Lowder.

Damage to the 1960 Ford was approximately $200 Damage to the 1955 Ford was estimated at $75.

Seagle was charged with improper brakes.

Patrolman Wood said that not only were the foot brakes defective but that he also found the handbrakes defective.

"This is just one of many accidents that might be prevented by periodic mechanical inspection", said Patrol Wood.

Portrait Of Dr. Lester P. Martin Presented to Davie County Hospital

Presentation Is Made To Board of Trustees

The portrait of the late Dr. Lester P. Martin was presented to the Davie County Hospital Monday night by his family.

The portrait, painted in oil by Marie B. Hunt of Oxford, will be hung in the lobby of the Davie County Hospital along with that of the late J. K. Sheek. Mr. Sheek and Dr. Martin were two of the prime motivating forces in establishing the local hospital.

The portrait was secured by the family through memorial contributions desingated for this purpose by friends.

Lester P. Martin, Jr., was spokesman for the family Monday night at the presentation ceremonies. In presenting the portrait to Graham Madison, chairman of the Davie County Hospital Board of Trustees, Mr. Martin pointed out that the local hospital was one of the most important interests of his father.

"He only had three or four pictures hanging in his office, and the architect's drawing of the Davie County Hospital was one of these," said Mr. Martin.

Mr. Martin said that his father, as a very modest man, would probably be embarrassed over the proceedings of hanging his portrait.

"However, we as a family deem it a great honor and a privilege for you to desire his portrait to hang along side of that of his old friend—Kim Sheek," said Mr. Martin.

In accepting the portrait on behalf of the hospital, Mr. Madison praised the work and interest of Dr. Martin in the Davie Hospital.

"He was a source of personal inspiration to me and one that I would always turn to for advice and comfort," said Mr. Madison. "The hospital deems it a great honor to have his portrait hung in the lobby and we thank all those who made it possible."

Attending the ceremony were Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Sr.; Miss Flossie Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Jr., and children, Pete and Sam; Mr. and Mrs. George Martin and children, Will, Mary Brook, and Happy. Also present were Mrs. Beal Smith, Jr., Dr. Martin's receptionist; and Mrs. Mary Woodruff, office custodian; the members of the Davie County Hospital Board of Trustees; and Paul Neil, Administrator.

Mrs. C. H. Tomlinson served strawberry punch and cake to those attending.

Quarter Horse Show

The Mocksville Saddle Club will hold their first American Quarter Horse Show on Saturday, May 29, at the Saddle Club Arena behind the Davie County Hospital.

The event will get underway at 9 a. m. with halter classes.

At 1 p. m. there will be youth performances.

At 7 p. m. to open show will be held.

The Quarter Horse Association will present the youth trophy for registered Quarter Horses. Also, the best all-around trophy will be given for the grade horse.

State Highway Truck Damaged In Accident

A State Highway Commission truck was damaged around $200 Tuesday around 1:10 p.m. on U. S. 64, two miles west of Mocksville.

State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods said that his investigation disclosed that John Frank O'Neal, 55, of Mocksvilel, Rt. 1, was operating the 1964 dump truck, heading east, scraping shoulders. The truck got over on the right too far on the shoulder which gave way over a culvert, toppling the truck down a six foot embankment on its right side.

There were no injuries.

S. S. S. Office To Be Closed

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

THE PORTRAIT OF DR. LESTER P. MARTIN—was presented to the Davie County Hospital last Monday night in a special ceremony. Shown above with this portrait are: (left to right): Graham Madison, chairman of the Hospital Board of Trustees who accepted the portrait on behalf of the hospital; Lester P. Martin, Jr., who made the presentation on behalf of the family; Sam Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Jr.; Will Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin; (right of portrait) Pete Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Jr.; Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Sr.; George Martin; Happy and Mary Brook Martin, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin.

To Play At Charlotte Monday Night—

Legion Juniors Begin Practice

Rain shortened the first practice session of the Davie Legion baseball team on Monday night.

Coach Harold Odom said that three more practices are scheduled for this week: Wednesday at 4 p.m.; Thursday at 4 p.m.; and Saturday at 6 p.m. at which time suits will be given out for next Monday night's game with Charlotte Post 9.

There were some 25 boys out for the first practice, which included about 15 Davie County boys. Those from the champion Davie County High School team at the first practice were: Kenneth Boger, Earl Shoaf, Don Jones, Garland Allen, Edgar Osborne, and several other local boys whose names were not available at press time.

"I was extremely happy over the large number of local boys who showed up for the first practice. If this local interest continues then we will field a competitive team of which Mocksville and Davie County can be proud," said Coach Odom.

Those returning from last year's team include:

Wayne Church, pitcher, West Yadkin.

Eddie Hauser, catcher and infielder, West Forsyth.

Don Smith, outfielder, West Forsyth.

Garland Allen, outfielder, Davie High.

Coach Odom listed the outstanding prospects for this year's team as: Earl Shoaf, infielder, of Davie; Edgar Osborne, outfielder, Davie; Kenneth Boger, catcher, Davie; Don Jones, outfielder, Davie; Roger Pierce, infielder, Davie; Jerry Smith, pitcher, West Forsyth; Steve Etchison, infielder, West Forsyth; Ken Jurney, infielder, Harmony; Joe Mando, outfielder, Davie.

John Parker, outstanding pitcher for the champion Davie Rebels, is expected to sign a professional baseball contract this summer and if he does will not be available for Legion Baseball. Parker is being sought by several professional teams and is expected to rank high in the baseball draft on June 8.

Awards Day Is Thursday—

Davie High Graduates 217

The largest graduating class in the history of Davie County received their diplomas in ceremonies held Wednesday night.

Seniors . . . 217 in number . . . marched across the platform in the Davie High School gym, accepted their diplomas and congratulations from Dr. W. T. Bird, School Superintendent, and John N. Norton, Principal, and became the 1965 graduates of the local school.

The 1965 commencement program got underway Wednesday evening with the processional ritual. The invocation was given by Larry Bailey, President of the Senior Class. The glee club, under the direction of Paul Reichle, sang: "The New Frontier".

The program featured talks by the three top scholars of the class:

Brenda Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harris of Mocksville Rt. 5, spoke on: "Education As An Opportunity".

Connie Gardiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gardiner of Mocksville, spoke on: Education As A Challenge".

Gail Plott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Plott, Jr., of Advance Rt. 1, spoke on: "Education As A Responsibility".

The picture of the 1965 graduating class and the names of the graduates will be found on the front of the second section.

The annual awards day program will be Thursday.

Mocksville Moose To Have Fish Fry June 12

The Mocksville Moose Lodge will hold a fish fry on Saturday, June 12.

Bill Daniel Re-elected Head Of Community Development Association

BILL DANIEL
—heads development group—

William C. (Bill) Daniel has been re-elected president of the Mocksville Community Development Association for 1965-66.

James McBride was elected vice-president; Mrs. W. M. Long was named secretary-treasurer.

Projects currently being conducted by this organization that includes representatives of all clubs, churches, and interested groups, include:

. . . Beautification of plots on square.

. . . Security an armory.

. . . Conducting a preliminary investigation towards securing a golf course for the community.

. . . Cleanup and beautification of Town. Included in this is the plan of Duke Power Company and the Town of Mocksville to paint all the light poles and trash cans a uniform color.

Dance Recital

Mrs. Ervin Raver will present her annual dance recital Tuesday night, June 1, at 8 o'clock in the Mocksville Elementary School auditorium.

PIANO RECITAL

Miss Louise Stroud will present her piano pupils from the third through the seventh grades in a recital in the Mocksville Elementary School Auditorium, Friday evening May 28 at p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Recreation

The City Recreation Program will begin June 7th and will continue until Masonic Picnic Day in August.

The program at Rich Park will consist of various sports such as baseball ,softball, basketball, tennis, etc. Also, arts and crafts, ping pong and various games.

Hours for the program will be from 9 until 12 in the morning and 2 until 4 in the afternoon. Swimming will be included in the program four afternoons a week.

The program at Central Davie High will also consist of the various sports mentioned above, and will be open from 9 until 12 in the morning and from 2 until 4 in the afternoon. One night each week will be used for softball and baseball play.

This City Recreation Program will be open to children school age and up. Anyone wishing to reserve the facilities at Rich Park should contact Jack Ward, Recreation Director.

3 Injured In Wreck

Three youths were injured about 11:30 p. m. Friday night when a pickup truck went out of control and overturned on the County Home Road a mile west of Mocksville.

The driver of the truck, William Darrell Dyson, 17, of Mocksville Rt. 4, was taken to the Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem suffering from a fractured skull and crushed arm. His condition early this week was termed satisfactory.

A passenger, Jerry W. Harris, 15, of Mocksville Rt. 4, was admitted to the Davie County Hospital for injuries which included a fractured pelvis.

A second passenger, Francis Craig Freeman, 15, of Sanford Avenue in Mocksville, was treated at the hospital and released.

Officers Installed At Moose Lodge

Officers installed recently for the Mocksville Moose Lodge include:

Claude Boger, Governor; Gene Quillin, Jr. Governor; Otis Hendrix, Prelate; Dr. R. F. Kemp, Secretary; Lawrence Smith, Treasurer; Tex Foster, Sgt. at Arms; Jerry Culbreth, Inner Guard; Dave Ward, Outer Guard; Duke Wihttaker, Harry Heidelberg and Lawrence Irwin, Trustees; and, Buck Miller, Past Governor.

Installing officer was John Marcus of Hazelwood and installing Sgt. At Arms was Ralph Williams of Thomasville.

County Slates Study For Needs Of Mentally Retarded

The Davie County Board of Commissioners is organizing a planning council to study the needs of it's mentally retarded citizens. This is being done at the request of the State of North Carolina.

North Carolina is currently involved in an intensive study, and has initiated a planning program made possible by state and federal financial support. Federal legislation provides funds on a matching basis for planning and constructing facilties for the retarded. The amount appropriated for North Carolina is $2,025,000.

Mrs. William Long, of the Mocksville Community Development Association, has been asked to act as temporary chairman of the council which will be composed of members drawn from such groups as the county department of education, welfare, health and agriculture; the medical society, ministerial association, county and town governments, merchants association, etc. This council will hold its first meeting on Monday night, May 31, at 7:30 in the County Office Building. At that time members will elect a permanent chairman and a secretary.

A member of the North Carolina Council on Mental Retardation will be present to explain what should be done and advise the local council how to start.

"This meeting will be open to the public and it should be to every citizen's interest to attend," said Mrs. Long. "It will be to our advantage to be able to prepare a clear, concise report on the facilities existing in Davie County for mentally retarded and our particular needs for the future."

"Since all federal, state, county and city appropriations for any course comes from 'Mr. Taxyayer's' pocket originally, 'Mr. Taxpayer' should make it his business to know what they are to be used for!" said Mrs. Long.

Lightning Flash Causes Accident In Cooleemee

A flash of lightning late Monday afternoon was attributed as the cause of an accident in Cooleemee.

Donna Faye Edwards, 17, of Spencer was operating a 1958 Ford heading south on Marginal Street in Cooleemee. She told State Highway Patrolman Larry Woods that a flash of lightning blinded and scared her and she cut her car too far to the right and struck a parker car in the left rear. Her car then continued across the street and parked itself on the other side.

The parked car was a 1953 Chevrolet owned by Judy Basinger Williams of Main St., Cooleemee.

Bible Schools

John Parker Defeats Shelby 1-0 For Crown—

Davie High Wins Top Baseball Championship

Davie County High School Rebels are the new Western North Carolina High School Activities Association baseball champions.

Coach Bill Peeler's nine turned the trick last Friday night by blanking Shelby, 1-0, behind the two-hit hurling of John Parker.

Davie got the only run of the game in the bottom of the first inning on a wild throw at second base by Shelby hurler, Billy Champion.

It was the first time that Davie has won the WNCHSSA title. The Rebels captured the North Piedmont Conference crown with an 11-3 record and advanced to the finals by beating Albemarle, 4-2, Tuesday.

Shelby entered the tilt as defending WNCHSAA champs. It won the crown by blanking East Rowan High 2-0, last year.

The Davie win gave the North Piedmont Conference its second shot of prestige in the past two weeks. North Rowan captured the WNCHSAA track meet last week. The North Piedmont, in the past, has been composed of the smaller schools in the association.

Parker closed out a brilliant career for Coach Bill Peeler's team. He went through this season undefeated, posting 11 wins.

The 6-5, 190 pound senior, whiffed 14 batters to run his strike out total to 156 in 82 2-3 innings. He did not walk a single batter in the pressure-filled contest. For the season, Parker walked only 25 batters while giving up just 23 hits and seven runs. Five were earned.

A crowd estimated in excess of 2,000 filled Rich Park to watch the pitching duel between Parker and Champion. Both were struck for only two singles by each team. Champion struck out 12 and walked three.

In the first frame, Earl Shoaf walked and Gary Markland hit a ball back to the pitcher. Champion threw over the second baseman's head and Shoaf scampered in to score the only tally of the game.

Shelby Threatens

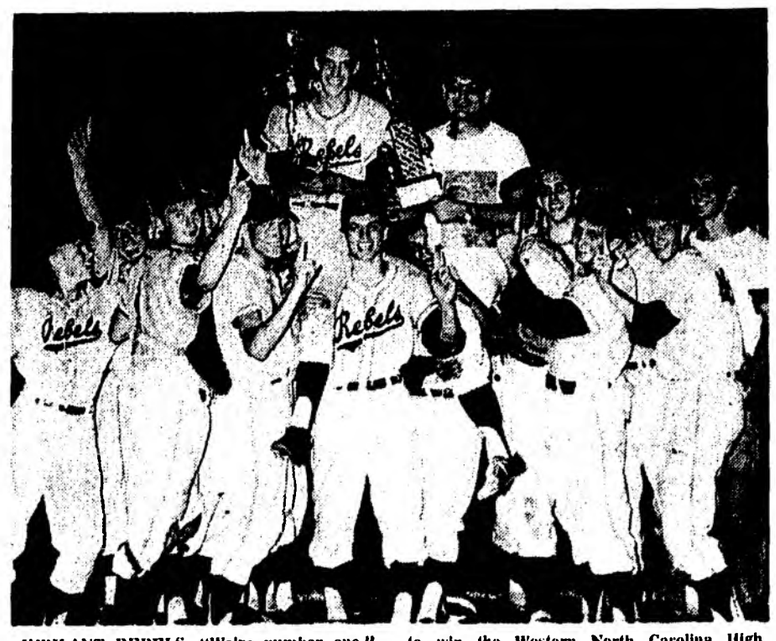

Shelby managed to get a runner on third in the third inning. Ken Boger committed an error on Freddie Leigh's tap in front of the plate. Phil Peeler sacrificed Leigh to second and he advanced to third on an infield out. Parker whiffed Tommy Pruitt to end the inning.

Shelby got single runners on base in the first and third and had two to reach base in the sixth.

Only one ball was hit to the outfield, other than the singles.

Shoaf and Joe Mando, the first and last-place hitters respectively, got the singles for the winners. McDaniel, a pinch-hitter, and Ronnie Wilson collected bingles for Shelby.

Two of Shelby's power hitters, Max Jones and Joel McKinney, accounted for six strikeouts by Parker.

JUBILANT REBELS—"We're number one," shout a happy group of Davie County High Rebels as they carry ace pitcher John Parker and Coach Bill Peeler on their shoulders in post-game jubilation. Davie blanked Shelby, 1-0, last Friday night at Mocksville to win the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association championship. Parker and Peeler are holding the 2 huge trophies which the Rebs won as a result of capturing the North Piedmont, Piedmont, and WNCHSAA titles. (Photo by Barringer).

Rotary Hears Chuck Reed

"We Ain't So Poor!"

The above statement was made in relation to North Carolina's national rank on per capita income and the man making it then went on to establish it's veracity with words, charts and figures.

C. S. "Chuck" Reed, a vice-president of Duke Power Company, made a return engagement at the Rotary Club Tuesday and presented another one of his illustrated lectures.

Mr. Reed, decrying the use of percentages by the United States Department of Commerce to establish financial growth patterns, illustrated why North Carolina is not as poor as is often pictured.

"It's simply a matter of big cities," said Mr. Reed. "More than half the people in the United States live in big cities whereas in North Carolina only 10% live in big cities. Naturally the salary scale of industrial workers is higher than that reported by rural and subsistence-farm workers", said Mr. Reed.

In his comparision of averages for North Carolina and the nation, Mr. Reed pointed out that 10% of the people in N. C. lived in cities where as 57% was the national figure; 2% in N. C. were classified as urban against 20% for the nation; and 38% in N. C. were classified as rural as compared to 23% nationally.

Ed Goodwin had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Reed. President John Durham presided. Special guests included Carl Fitchett of Dunn; Bill Hall of Mocksville; Bill Tucker of Greensboro.

DAVIE LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION BEGINS . . . Mrs. Blanche Hanes Clement, former member of the library board and librarian for 13 years; H. R. Hendrix, Jr., chairman of the Davie County Commissioners; and Mrs. Eugene Bowman, chairman of the library board of trustees, are shown above with the symbolic shovel of dirt that officially launched the construction of the county's new $138,000 public library building last Wednesday afternoon. During the official groundbreaking ceremonies, Knox Johnstone, chairman of the fund raising committee said in brief remarks: "This modern public library should provide a compelling invitation to enter, read, look, listen and learn." The construction of the library is now underway by the J. H. Allen Construction firm of Asheboro.

Guardsmen In Exercise

Approximately 550 guardsmen from units throughout Piedmont North Carolina participated in a field training exercise conducted by the Second Battalion of the 120th Infantry, North Carolina Army National Guard on Saturday and Sunday.

The Second Battalion is under the command of Lt. Col. William H. Vanderlinden, Jr., of Hickory.

The purpose of the maneuver which began at 1:00 P.M. on Saturday and ran continuously to its conclusion at 10:00 A.M. on Sunday was to develop the proficiency of the units in defensive operations under simulated combat conditions.

In the context of the situation presented, the mission assigned to the Second Battalion was to occupy a sector approximtely nine miles northeast of Statesville, and to hold that front at all costs.

Units of the Second Battalion made a motor march to the training area arriving at 4:00 P.M. on Saturday where they were deployed to the east of Highway 21 in the area generally known as the Allison Estate. During their initial deployment they were harrassed by continuous small arms fire from Agressor Troops.

As darkness fell Agressor Artillery Units began harrassing fire on the positions occupied by the Second Battalion. This indicated that Agressor Forces were well acquainted with the position being held by the Second Battalion. During the early evening hours plans were made for a night withdrawal to a new location which would be unknown to the Agressor and would offer more defensive advantages.

During the critique at the conclusion of the problem Colonel Vanderlinden commended both officers and enlisted men for their outstanding spirit and achievement throughout the exercise. The exercise was regarded as one of the most sucessful undertaken by this unit in recent years. Colonel Vanderlinden expresses the appreciation of the National Guard Units to Major William Allison for his very fine cooperation in allowing the exercise to be held on his estate.

The units of the Second Battalion, 120th Infantry which participated in the exercise were Headquarters and Headquarters Company stationed in Hickory and Newton, Company A stationed in Elkin and Mount Airy, Company B stationed in Lexington and Mocksville, and Company C stationed in North Wilkesboro and Boone.

READY FOR ATTACK—Members of the Mocksville National Guard are shown here with Mocksville guardsmen ready for attack during a week end exercise held north of Statesville in Allison's woods this past week end. The guardsmen shown with the machine gun are, from left, Sp4 Luther Potts and PFC Lonnie Jones, both of Mocksville and Sp4 Will Woodbury and PFC Dwight Owen, both of Lexington.

A Visit To The Province of Esmeraldas—

A True Story From Ecuador, South America

By ARCHIE JONES

Today is Thursday the 17th of October, 1963. The things which have happened since last Friday are hard to believe. For some time I had planned a trip to the Province of Esmeraldas in the northern part of Ecuador, but for some reason it had always been postponed.

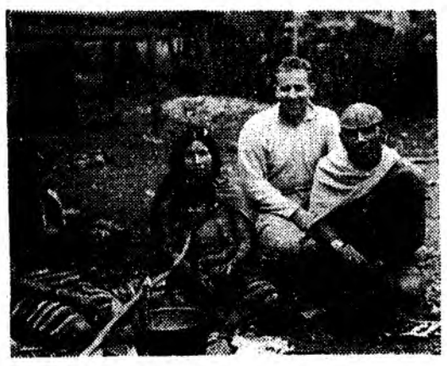

The airline office which flies Cesna 182s had told me to be ready to leave at 7:15 A. M. I waited for the car from the airport until 8:05 when a friend carried me to the airport. At 8:45 A. M. we got off with the pilot, two passengers, and the cabin full of the daily papers from Guayaquil. The papers were destined to the city of Manta to the north and also to Esmeraldas.

As we flew above the flooded rice fields of the coast, we could see the people working and also the animals grazing along the Babahoyo and Daule rivers only a few hundred feet below. From 1500 feet it was a beautiful view of the various colors of the rice fields and pastures, running the tonal scale from a deep green all the way to brown. The winding rivers told an interesting history of their pathway across this flat aluvial plain. One could see where the rivers had been in years past and at the same time predict what the next change would be.

Leaving the rich lowlands of the Guayas province we had to climb to 250 feet to get over the low mountains of Manabi. There we say the tropical hills covered with palm and fern and houses of bamboo, thatched with palm leaves or rice straw. The people of Manabi live simply and are famous in Ecuador for their independence.

Nearing Portoviejo (Old Port) we could see thousands of Kapok trees. As far as the eye could see the "wool tree" 'as it is called in Ecuador spread its strange leafless branches toward the sky. These are huge trunked trees, sometimes as much as eight feet in diameter, and are of a bright green color. The chlorofil seems to be in the bark of the tree. During a part of the year there are small green leaves and flowers. Afterwards, a giant pod appears, which, when ripe bursts open and a big double handful of Kapok falls to the ground. It sells for about 10c per pound.

As we flew over the bay of Manta we could see the Tuna jumping from about a thousand feet. This is one of the richest fishing grounds along the coast of Ecuador. These fishermen of the beautiful blue Pacific were busy in their long black boats and balsa rafts catching their food and salary for the day.

It was a thrill to cross the last small range of mountains after flying along the beautiful coconut lined coast of Esmeraldas and see the city lying before us. The thirty thousand people of this northernmost city along the coast of Ecuador are mostly of negro or mestizo decent. We were back in the northern hemosphere because we had to cross the Equator from Guayaquil up to Esmeraldas.

Trip In "Dugout"

I had advised some friends that I would be arriving on Friday, but as I climbed down from the plane there were no recognizable faces in the group of about twenty men who were standing around the small building which served as an airport. One fellow told me that a canoe had crossed the river and that I could go directly to the town. The trip across the river is quite an experience. There were about 10 of us in a big canoe (dugout) with a 25 hp. outboard. It was also loaded with 400 lbs. of newspapers and a few assorted boxes and bundles. Balsa logs had been bolted to the sides to keep it from rolling over. The tide was out and some places we drug bottom. With the foot of the motor up a "boga" with a long "canalete" (oar) pushed us along.

Upon arriving at the beach on the other side, Miguel Veloz, a national pastor, was waiting for me. The plan was to go directly inland to a place called "La Union" to have a baptism service in the afternoon. This was impossible for several reason one being that there was no way to get there; no cars, no busses, no trucks, no nothing.

I had taken no change of clothing suitable for a service as I had not planned on doing any preaching. So it was somewhat of a surprise to find that a service had already been planned for the "Emanuel Missical" that night and I was to be the speaker. Apologetically I preached in a short sleeve blue shirt and dirty white trousers.

Saturday we were supposed to leave at 7:30 a. m. in a rented truck with 50 people from the mission to go to a place called La Union for the baptism. As is customary, we got off two hours late. The two hour trip was a mixture of pain and pleasure.

As we rode through the rich lowlands we were greeted with the songs of many birds and the occasional scream of a flock of parrots. Coconut palms lined much of the way. There were breadfruit trees, bananas, papaya, platano, coffee, cocoa, mango, oranges, lemons, and a multitude of other tropical plants along the way. The houses were of bamboo, but a tin roof was not uncommon. The transportation there was the familiar but dependable "caballo" (horse). If the houses had been of logs and the trees had been apple, hickory, oak and pine, one might have felt himself transported back a hundred years to the foothills of North Carolina.

Most of the people of this area are a mixture of the Spanish and the coastal Indian race. I wanted to sing some of the familiar hymns with the group as we rode along but I was in the back of the truck and when I opened my mouth to sing it filled with dust.

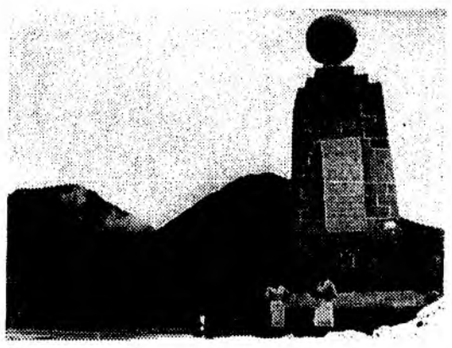

Baptismal Class

When we arrived in La Union I was the same color as the others in the truck. We all had about an inch of dust on us and in us. We were greeted by Senor Bolivar Alvarez, a deacon of the church who had gone up from Guayaquil to teach a baptismal class the week before to those who were to be baptized. No one is baptized into our Church in Ecuador without at least a week of classes in doctrine. Bolivar had acquired the local school (bamboo with a thatch roof) for our meeting.

Some of the folks brought us water and we washed some of the dust off and shook out our shirts. Everyone was making jokes and in general good spirits over the dust.

There were about 200 people from the little town who had come to see the Baptists. First I preached a brief sermon about our New Testament beliefs and then Miguel led the examination of the candidates. After they had all been examined we went through the Avocado, orange, banana, and coco trees to the river where seventeen were baptized into the membership of our church, testifying to their neighbors of their new found Faith for living.

One of the members of the church had invited a few of us to his house for dinner. We were given a big bowl of chicken soup (more like a tobacco barn chicken stew). It was like a good wheat thrashing dinner. For dessert we were served a drink made of strained rice, cinnamon, coffee, and beaten egg white.

The Indians of the Andes had said that the twin mountains divided the world. The Ecuador monument shows how nearly correct they were.

By three thirty in the afternoon we were on our way back to Esmeraldas. Arriving in the town again, Jose Lucas and I began working and making plans for our trip to the North, which had been one of the main reasons for my trip up. We found that a river streamer by the name of Esmeraldas River was to sail at one A. M. Sunday morning. As there was no other choice we rushed back to the home of Aurelio Palacios where we had our baggage; a camera, a specially treated tree bark called a "damajagua" for sleeping, a towel and a light cotten blanket.

"Line Of Fire"

We arrived on board after a ten minute canoe trip (50c) and found that the boat was already full of people. We finally found a place on deck and spread out our "damajuguas" and prepared to sleep. I had just fallen asleep when from above water began to fall on my chest in a steady stream. I awakened as I slapped my side, thinking a bug had got into my shirt. Soon I discovered that it was not a bug, nor was it water! I woke Jose and we moved out of the "line of fire" 'of those who were using the bridge as a rest room. After getting to sleep again we were soon awakened by the captain of the boat and a sailor who were collecting the fare. We slept for the next three of four hours.

When we awoke we were just entering the Cayapa river. One of those first impressions which stays forever came to me that Sunday morning. I had climbed up on the bridge and stood in the semi-darkness. When the rosy fingers of dawn began to brush away the darkness of the night I saw an "african" village already alive with activity of the market day. The houses were built of split Chonta palmwood and covered with coconut palm fronds. The people were jet black. They were a happy, laughing, singing people as are most of their race. They have been there since the end of the slave era.

The harbor was filled with canoes loaded with market goods. From up the three rivers which join there had come all sorts of fruits, tagua nuts (vegetable ivory), mangle bark for tanning leather, pelts, of tiger, huatusi, horses, cows: Even live pigs were in canoes. There were big goards called mate, and bales of sun dried fish .

There was constant motion and constant noise. The people speak a very rapid spaning, and have a singsong manner in their expression. We bought some smoked fish, a dozen large oranges and four pounds of "cocada" which is a mixture of cooked sugar cane, coconut, and a little salt. This was to be our mainstay of food, as we traveled up river. We would be able to buy bread in almost any village.

By eight in the morning we were loading on some lumber from the very fine hardwood sawmills of Limones for Borbon, our next up-river stop. Before noon we pulled into the little pier at Borbon. There are only two families in Borbon of Spanish decent. Everyone else is of African origin.

Explaining Christianity

We had not been in Borbon long before I was circled about by a group of men asking me questions. We were having a jolly time when one fellow said, "We better get in the shade of this white man is going to turn negro". This brought such a roar of laughter from all of us that people stopped what they were doing to see what was going on around the "gringo" (common name for North American). We went aboard the steamer under a tarp spread over the deck, and continued to talk of many things. When we got to the subject of religion, I explained our Faith in Christ and Salvation by Grace and the ultimate authority of the New Testament. This was new to them and as always "Good News". One man said, "That sounds like a good Religion."

It was four o'clock in the afternoon before we could get out of Borton. There were seven of us who wanted to go up-river. We finally got a motor launch to take us for $1.75 each. Along the river we passed hundreds of houses of the same basic type. This was one big room on stilts, covered with grass or palm fronds. Every now and again someone in the boat would say "Cayapa". At that time I could not tell the difference between a Cayapa house and a "Moreno" house, as the houses of the dark people are called. We passed Deer Point, where the Cayapa Indians have their Christmas and Easter celebrations with much drinking and dancing. There were a number of abandoned straw and chonta houses which looked very majestic setting high on the river bank.

The Rev. Archie Jones, author of this article, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones of Mocksville. He graduated from the Mocksville High School in 1950; attended Mars Hill College, Wake Forest College and the Southeastern Theological Seminary. He served as the pastor of the Belhaven Baptist Church 1956-1959. In May of 1959 he was appointed missionary to Ecuador by the Southern Baptist Convention. He returned to the United States last August after serving for two years as president of mission in Ecuador and as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Guayaquil, Ecuador. On July 17th of this year he will return to Ecuador to resume this work.

LEADER'S ORGANIZE

At the dinner meeting of Adult 4-H Leaders May 21, the Davie County 4-H Adult Leaders Organization was formed.

Elected to serve as officers for this organization were: Mr. C. N. Boyer, President; Mrs. Clavin Petticord, Vice-President; Mrs. Stacy Beck, Secretary-Treasurer; and Mrs. R. C. Handlin, Reporter.

The overall objective of the County 4-H Adult Leader Organization is to strengthen the county 4-H club program in Davie County in accordance with the policies of the Agricultural Extension Service of North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina.

Speakers at Friday's meeting were local leaders who recently attended State and National 4-H Adult Leader forums. Mrs. Stacy Beck, Mrs. Louise Cartner, and Rev. Jack Rhyne reported their activities at the State Leaders Conference held at the Betsy-Jeff Penn 4-H Center in Reidsville. Mr. C. N. Boyer shared his experiences as a delegate to the National Forum held in Washington, D. C.

FARM AND RURAL

The Farm and Rural 4-H Club held its monthly meeting, May 21. President Vickie Crotts called the meeting to order. Richard Crotts led the club in the pledges. Steve Crotts had the devotions, followed by a song led by Sharon Sechrest. Secretary, Marsha Smith, called the roll, with twelve present and two absent. The minutes were read and approved.

For our program we had an Installation Service. Old business consisted of the project sheets.

New business consisted of a way to raise money for our club. We have out parts for the 4-H Church Sunday. A refreshment committee was appointed.

Afterwards we had a game and refreshments were served by Vickie and Pam Crotts. Our next meeting will be June 25 at 7:30 p. m. in the Concord Methodist Educational Building.

Reporter,
Marsha Smith

BAILEY'S CHAPEL

The Bailey's Chapel 4-H Community Club held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, May 11. The president, Jimmy Wilson, called the club to order. The devotions and pledges were led by Bonnie Myers. The club sang "This is My Father's World". Faith Barnes read the treasurer's notes and were approved by the group.

The program was given by Nancy Phelps on "How to Give a Demonstration". She prepared a delicious salad, enjoyed by all. The club practiced 4-H Sunday.

The meeting was then adjourned. Refreshments were served to fifteen members, 2 leaders, and three visitors.

Reporter,
Leon Robertson

District Governor At Ruritan Meeting

Glenn Robertson, Governor of Piedmont District 31, spoke to members of the Smith Grove Ruritan Club on Thursday, May 20, at their meeting in the school cafeteria. His subject was "The Growth of Ruritan Clubs."

President Alvis Cheshire called the meeting to order and announced the purchase of 2.5 acres of land on Highway 158 near the school. This land will be the future site of a community building to be used for club meetings and other community activities.

Vice president Jim Wilson expressed his sincere thanks to the club members for the hard work put into the third successful show.

Visitors for the meeting were Rev. Benny Bearden, President of Farmington Ruritan Club, and five of their members.

World War I Vets To Have Convention

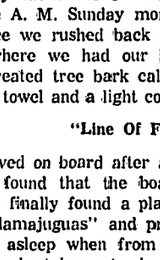

The largest State Convention ever held by the Veterans of World War I, will get underway in Greensboro on Friday, May 28th and run through Sunday, May 30th, according to an announcement just made by Raymond J. Jeffreys of Raleigh, the Past State Commander and Manager of the convention.

The convention headquarters will be at the O. Henry Hotel, but the facilities of the King Cotton Hotel had to be added in order to handle the more than a thousand delegates and visitors expected.

North Carolina is known throughout the nation as the only state that treats its delegates to a really big celebration with free entertainment, free refreshments at the Friday night Reception, a free banquet on Saturday night, and no registration fees. All of this is made possible by the enthusiastic co-operation of the local Barracks throughout the state, the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants Association and the local merchants.

Congressman Horace R. Kornegay will be the principal speaker at the banquet on Saturday night. Three Past National Commanders will also be on the program — Emanuel Levy of Ft. Wayne, Indiana, Louis Brake of Mount Vernon, Illinois and John Bashara of Norfolk, Virginia. John E. Erickson, the National Legislative Director from Washington, will speak on the Legislative Program. A special treat, will be the presence of the only remaining active original founder of the Veterans of World War I, Inc., V. John Harris of Orlando, Florida. Among the other many Honor Guests will be Martin and Anne Iverson, Past National Officers from Washington; Col. J. D. DeRamus, Manager of the V. A. Regional Office in Winston-Salem; and the "top brass" from all of the other veterans organizations.

A Memorial Service will be conducted on Sunday Morning at 11 A. M., by Rev. Hugh E. Cherry, State Chaplain, to honor North Carolina's deceased World War I veterans who were among the 130,000 who have passed away throughout the country this past year.

What's so tough about today's National Guard?

(Getting into it, for one thing!)

Today, the job the National Guard has to do is tougher than ever. And there's more at stake, too. That's why anyone who wants to get into the Guard has to meet tough new physical and mental standards. You see, we can't afford to carry anyone who can't carry his own weight. Those who don't have it, won't qualify. So, if you think the Guard is for you, why not see if you're for the Guard. Visit your local Armory or Air Guard base and talk it over.

Family fun truck-with the smooth ride of a passenger car!

Only the new Ford pickup has the smooth riding comfort of two front axles! Each front wheel works independently on its own axle—a forged steel I-beam axle like the big trucks use! Two axles share the load, and because each axle works independently, a bump at one wheel won't jar the other. Add forged steel radius rods and large coil springs and you've got it... the smoothest riding, toughest, independent front end in any pickup! See it! Try it! At your Ford Dealer's.

News From Central Davie

Last week, students who are participating in the graduation exercises were chosen from the Junior Class because of their high scholastic averages and of achievement. They are as follows: Alice Issac, Elmer Van Eaton, Carol Gaither, Jerry Goolsby, Linda Faye Flint and William West.

Jr.-Sr. Prom

The Jr.-Sr. Prom was held last Friday, May 14th, and was reported to be a success. Theme of the prom was "Evening in Paris". Decorations for the occasion featured colorful cutouts of ribbons centering the gym with a crystal ball. There was a "sidewalk cafe" entitled "Un Cafe dans Paris".

This music was played by the Paisley High School Band. The band played several songs and there was a lot of talent in singing.

During intermissions, refreshments were served including potato chips, peanuts, cookies, soft drinks. Charles Eccles and other members of the Sophomore Class worked with the Junior class on the arrangements. Souvenirs were given to each guest and they were horns, unbrellas, whistles, etc. There were about one thousand balloons in all colors given away.

Decorations were done by the Junior Class. They made flowers, ribbons, etc. Those on the committee were: Elmer Van Eaton, William West, Alice Issac, Carol Gaither, Thomas Hunter, Faye Flint, Kenneth Brown, Mary Hairston, Tommie Myers and others.

The Junior Class girls who take home-making of the NHA made cookies for the Prom. Faye Flint and Mary Lou Hairston made corsages for Harvey Fowler's escort and for Elmer Van Eaton's escort.

Davie ARC Groups To Remain Active

Members of the Davie County Association for Retarded Children met last Thursday and voted to remain a unit of the North Carolina and national associations.

With a few extra workers, an intensive membership drive is being conducted this week as memberships must be in the state office by the weekend in order to be included in the state report to national headquarters.

Mrs. R. B. Sanford, Jr., is treasurer of the county organization.

"If no member has been able to contact you for the $2 dues, please try to get them to her immediately," said Mrs. W. M. Long, secretary.

Officers will be elected and installed at the next meeting, the third Thursday in June.

"It is to be hoped that all members mark their calendars and do not forget to attend," concluded Mrs. Long.

SWINE FIELD DAY

The Northwest North Carolina Development Association, the area development organization for this area, has made arrangements for a Swine Field Day June 2. Davie County people interested in swine, particularly feeder pigs, are invited to attend.

The Field Day will be held on the farm of Jarvie Mathis, 13 miles west of Yadkinville, on Highway 421. Signs will guide interetsed farmers to the proper place.

In addition to a tour of the farm a number of subjects will be discussed. Economics, feeding, breeding and management are some of the subjects that farmers can expect to hear about.

In order that arrangements can be made for lunch, please notify the Davie County Agent's Office if you plan to attend.

Urges Legion Auxiliary

"WEAR A POPPY to show that you remember!"

This will be the appeal of American Legion Auxiliary Poppy Day volunteers to the people of Davie County on Poppy Day, May 29, states Mrs. Ed Short, the Auxiliary's Poppy Chairman.

"Some of the finest young men of our city gave their lives in America's defense during the three wars of the past half century," Mrs. Short said. "We should not lose the inspiration of their service and sacrifice, but should keep their memory bright. We owe today's free America to them and all the others like them who stood between America and the enemy in time of war.

"Wearing a poppy on Poppy Day is the individual act of tribute to the nation's war dead," continued Mrs. Short. "Pinning on a poppy is very little to do, but it is a significant gesture showing that we remember and are grateful.

"When we put on a poppy, some of us will be thinking of a certain boy we knew who went off to war and never returned. Yes, some will be thinking of their own sons, husbands, brothers. We can hope that they will find some comfort in the poppies of remembrance glowing on every coat. We can hope that everyone will understand the meaning of the poppy and wear the little memorial flower with pride."

Poppies will be distributed throughout the city of Mocksville by women and girls of Davie County Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, working as volunteers under Mrs. Short's leadership. The little flowers are replicas of the wild poppies of France and Belgium which bloomed so brightly on the battlefields and cemeteries of World War I. They have been made by disabled war veterans working in hospitals and workrooms throughout the country.

Benny Merrell Is Graduated

Benny L. Merrell, son of Mrs. Wayne Merrell, Rt. 1, Mocksville, was among 171 Pfeiffer College seniors to be awarded degrees on May 17.

A Mathematics major, Merrell is listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," was voted an "Outstanding Senior of 1965," was a class officer for four years, was holder of a Trustee Honor Scholarship, served on various Student Government Committees, and played varsity basketball his senior year.

Pfeiffer seniors heard Dr. J. Edward Carothers, top executive with the home missions program of The Methodist Board of Missions, New York City, give the commencement address.

Benny has accepted a position with North Carolina National Bank in Charlotte. He began work there on Monday of this week. He is under the bank's trainee program.

COLORED NEWS

"If I can stop one heart from breaking, I shall not live in vain. If I can ease one life the aching, or cool one pain, or help one fainting robin unto his nest again, I shall not live in vain."

The Central Davie High School P. T. A. banquet was held Thursday evening, May 20 at 8 o'clock. Music was furnished by the Senior Band directly by A. D. Rush and the Junior Band with W. J. Buie directing. The Rev. B. S. Hall, pastor of A. M. Zion Methodist Church was guest speaker.

Mrs. Margaret Studevent, Mrs. Sallie Baker, Mrs. Minnie Campbell, Mrs. Nora Eaton and Mrs. Adelaide Ellis attended the II District Order of the Eastern Star's annual Work Shop Saturday, May 22 at 10 a. m. held at East Spencer. Host Chapter was Pearl White Chapter No. 180 of Salisbury.

Mrs. Irene Bitting and daughter, Janie of Long Island, New York, are at home to attend the graduation exercises of Central Davie High School to be held Thursday, May 27 at 8 p. m.

TATTLE TALES

By GORDON TOMLINSON

The children of Dr. and Mrs. Bob Foster of Wandering Lane were probably the last in this area to give up their Christmas tree . . . and then it wasn't their choice . . . but more the determination of their mother that the barren and beatup little tree must go.

Beginning around the new year the little Christmas tree figured in a weekly ritual at the Foster household. Mrs. Foster would see that it was placed in the weekly trash to be hauled off. Stephen, age 6, would discover it in the trash and drag it back to the house. Week after week this went on . . . and finally there was nothing left but just the bare branches.

Finally Mrs. Foster and the maid, when Stephen wasn't around, took the little tree and broke it into small pieces wrapped them up, and put the remains in the trash can and in this way succeeded it having it hauled away.

They are telling this on a local horticulturist . . . or flower gardener.

This lady liked flowers . . . particularly nasturtums . . . and decided to plant a lot of them. Last fall she went out and gathered up a big supply of what she identified as nasturtum seeds which were found on the ground under the nasturtum plants.

Carefully putting away her seeds in a can she nursed these all through the winter.

Recently with the arrival of spring, she went for her can and began to plant what she thought were her nasturtiums. A friend came by and asked what she was doing:

"Planting nasturtiums," said the woman.

The friend came closer and examined the contents of the can more closely and then began to laugh.

"What's wrong?" asked the nasturtium planting.

Between gasps of laughter the friend said:

"They're not nasturtium seeds. They're something left behind by a rabbit."

If you are receiving social security benefits on behalf of a person under age 18, you must report to the Social Security Administration if that person expects to have earnings of more than $1200 in a calendar year, is no longer in your care, or if he marries, dies, or is adopted.

Rev. Del Suggs To Return To Seminary

THE REV. DEL SUGGS

The Rev. Del Suggs, pastor of the Fork Baptist Church for the past three-and-one-half years, has resigned to further his study at the seminary. Mr. Suggs will preach his final sermon at the church on Sunday morning at 11 a. m.

Mr. Suggs is returning to the Southeastern Baptist Seminary at Wake Forest to complete his seminary work. Following the completion of this work, he plans to go into the field of Clinical Pastoral Care and will probably spend one or two years at the Baptist Hospital.

Mr. Suggs has been pastor at Fork since January of 1962. During his pastorate the second and third stages of the building program were completed.

Prior to becoming pastor at Fork, Mr. Suggs served as pastor for six and one-half years at Pleasant Gardens in Guilford County.

Mrs. Suggs has been a nurse at the Davie County Hospital for the past three-and-onehalf years. She and their three children: Denny, age 9; Diana, age 7; and Mark, age 3; will accompany Mr. Suggs to their new home in Wake Forest.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT of THE CLASS of 1965

We, the members of the Senior Class of Davie County High School of nineteen hundred sixty-five, being of age, of sound mind, and realizing it is time for our department from dear ole D. C. H. S., do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

I, Gary Dean Allen, will my last seat in Mrs. Jamerson's Geometry class to Ray Mabe.

I, Larry Dean Allen, will my straight A's and perfect attendance to Lester Beauchamp.

I, Pam Anderson, will my bass drum to anyone who has the strength to carry it.

I, Deanna Geraldine Angell, will to Ann Feimster and "Tut" Sanford my ability to always get home from the basketball games on time. They really need it.

I, Ricky Armsworthy, leave to Billy Cornatzer my desk in Mrs. Jamerson's Geometry class.

I, Sherry Armsworthy, will to anybody my good and bad times at Davie.

I, Charles Wayne Bailey, will my seat and ability to not pay attention in Mr. Randall's room, to my brother Jimmy.

I, Larry Gene Bailey, leave my sent in Advanced Science to Virgil Bright.

I, Frankie Baker, will my ability to understand French to my brother Gerald.

I, Larry Barnhardt, will to Tim Smith my ability to bring teachers to their wits-end with just a few words, and leave them with a "haunting" memory of me.

I, Patricia Anne Beauchamp, will my band uniform, No. 14, to Helen Sparks in hope that she has as much fun as I did.

I, Clifford Beaver, leave to Roger Sherrill my ability to shoot the bull with Mr. Peeler.

I, Donnie Beck, will my bus No. 34 to anyone who will drive it with care.

I, Tommy Lindsay Beck, do will my nickname which is T-Bird to whoever can live up to it. Hope you enjoy it as much as I did.

I, Karen Berrier, will to Renee Berrier my ability to get a science project in on time.

I, Gail Blanton, will my composition notes on philosophers to any junior who might (they surely will) need them.

I, Marlene Boger, will my position as editor on the Rebel to anyone who can "force" everyone to turn their news in on time.

I, Jimmy Boger, will my seat up at C's to anyone who can get out to eat dinner.

I, Kenneth Boger, will to David Roberston, my baseball batting average.

I, Ronnie Bowles, will my parking place at the 601 Grill to David Suin.

YADKIN VALLEY

By MRS. JOE LANGSTON

Congratulations to Yadkin Valley girls and boys who graduate from high school this week. The largest number for many years from this area will graduate. They are: Brenda Carter, Tony Parker, Kaye Ellis, Linda Weatherman, Jaque Hilton, Mrs. Clayton Foster, George Canter, and Mitchell Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Beauchamp announce the arrival of a son, Douglas Lee, last week at Davie County Hospital. They have returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Douthit for a visit. Mother and baby are fine.

Mrs. Nannie Foster, Bernice West and Eva White all remain on the sick list. Mrs. White is still a patient at the Davie Hospital where she has been for four weeks. Mrs. West was able to spend the week end in Winston-Salem with her brother's family and Mrs. Foster spent the week end with Mrs. Lillian Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint West celebrated their Silver Anniversary on Monday. They feel that with 25 years of training and preparation, they are all set for 25 more years at least.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boles on the arrival of a son, Kenneth, Jr. Mother and baby are doing fine.

A large number from here attended the races at Charlotte on Sunday where Wayne and Kermit Smith were participating. Wayne as driver and Kermit as mechanic.

Miss Dorris York has returned home from her studies at Gardner Webb College for the summer vacation.

Mrs. James Zimmerman remains a patient at Winston - Salem's Baptist Hospital still undergoing tests.

We seem to be rushing headlong into the cherry crop, following a bountiful strawberry crop. Though some reports show the birds got there first, and the people just thought they'd have cherry pies. I expect the birds really enjoyed the cherries though.

Savings Bonds Sales Show Increase Here

North Carolinians purchases of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds during April were up substantially over the same month of a year ago.

Knox Johnstone, Davie County Volunteer Chairman reported today that cash sales of E Bonds during the month totalel $4½ million, which is an increase of more than 17 per cent over April of last year.

The combined sales of E and H Bonds were up 12 per cent for the month, although Series H Bonds showed a decline of 52 per cent.

Cumulative sales of E and H Bonds for the first four months of this year were in excess of $18 million in the state. This is slightly more than 34 per cent of the state's $53,100,000 quota for this fear.

Bond sales in Davie County during April were $23,319, bringing the total for the year to $104,331. This represents 45.7 per cent of the county's annual quota of $228,330.

I, Ricky Whitley, leave to Barry Spry our old place in C Building.

I, Linda Williams, will my algebra Book to Mr. Mando hoping he will find someone else to use it better than I did.

I, Robert Williams, will Davie County High School to the future students.

I, Monte Wilson, will not.

I, John Woodward, do hereby, by the authority vested in me by this school, will my position as driver of the Activity Bus to Barntly York in hopes that he will drive and take care of it in an orderly fashion.

I, Roy Young, will my good fortune of being a senior to anyone who wants it.

I, Albert Zander, Hereby will what is left of my unfortunate rocket to any person who thinks he can get the thing to go in the right direction.

We, Elsie Pervis, and Nancy Sheek, being of sound mind would like to keep the honor of being editors of the 1965 Clarion, but wish the next editors all the luck in the world-for they'll surely need it!

Teen-Dem Convention To Be Held in Raleigh

The fouth annual Teenage Democratic Convention, "Teen-Dems", will be held in Raleigh June 11 and 12, 1965 on the North Carolina State University campus. Headquarters for the convention will be at Harris Cafeteria on Dunn Avenue in Raleigh.

Mr. Carey, YDC Teen-Dem Organizer from Burlington ,said that he is expecting the largest convention to date. He said that the entire affair will be properly chaperoned by adult YDC and Senior Party members. The schedule of events call for registration of delegates beginning at 3:00 P. M. Friday, June 11, followed by a reception for the present State officers. A banquet will be followed by a period of socializing Friday evening. Saturday will be filled with activity beginning with the workshops at 9:00 A. M.; the formal session of the convention in the textile auditorium at 2:00 P. M. The main banquet Saturday night with a national speaker will be followed by a dance with live music.

Mr. Carey also stated that there was a contest for every state Teen-Dem office with some candidates renting whole rooms to be used as their campaign headquarters. Each person attending the convention will have a much sought after vote with politicing being the order of the day.

"OWNED BY THOSE IT SERVES"

Ijames Are In Jamaica

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ijames of Route 4, Mocksville, departed from the Charlotte Airport for Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., May 21. They will remain in Jamaica through May 30.

The purpose of their visit is to set up a Janitorial Service for the natives of Jamaica who are without employment. This is a charitable mission. No money is ever expected by Mr. Ijames for the service he is rendering.

More than $400 worth of Janitorial equipment was flown to Jamaica for Mr. Ijames to use while he is there. This equipment will be given to the Jamaican assembly whom Mr. and Mrs. Ijames are visiting.

Funds from the public were solicited to purchase the equipment needed. Mr. Ijames reported that he had already spent more than he had received for this mission, and that he would be still further in the red when he paid the air freight and the customs duty in Jamaica. Funds are still being solicited, and such funds should be made to Jamaica Mission Fund, and mailed to the Clement Grove Church, Rt. 4, Mocksville.

FUNERALS

DANIEL H. BROWN

The funeral for Daniel Hugh Brown, 82, Mocksville, Rt. 4, was held Friday, May 21, at 3 p. m. at Eaton's Chapel. Burial was in Joppa Cemetery.

Mr. Brown died Wednesday, May 19, at his home. He was a native of Davie County.

Survivors: wife Mrs. Pantha Allen Brown; three sons, E. H. and Willy Brown, both of Route 4, Mocksville, Thomas S. Brown of Danville, Va.; two daughters, Miss Grey Brown of the home, Mrs. Marvin Hellard of Route 4, Mocksville; two brothers, Frank H. Brown of Route 4, Mocksville, M. G. Brown of Winston-Salem; a sister, Mrs. R. L. Scott of Rural Hall.

Mrs. James Harris

Funeral services for Mrs. Amelia Hendren Harris, 76, of Statesville, Rt. 5, were held Monday, May 24, at 2 p.m. at Rose Chapel Methodist Church in Statesville. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Harris, widow of James N. Harris, died at 2 p.m. Saturday at Lynn Haven Nursing Home at Mocksville.

Surviving are four sons, James Roy Harris of Mocksville, John Edward Harris of Statesville, Rt. 6, and William B. and Charles Grady Harris of Statesville, Rt. 5; three daughters, Mrs. Gordon Hayes of Statesville, Rt. 4, Mrs. Alvin Sink of High Point, and Mrs. Fred Grant of Georgia; two sisters, Mrs. W. N. Hayes of North Wilkesboro and Mrs. Alvin Moore of Taylorsville; and a brother, Jones Hendren of Moravian Falls.

NOTICE OF SALE FOR TAXES

Under and by virtue of the power invested in me by the laws of the State of North Carolina, particularly by Chapter 310 of the Public Laws of 1939, as amended, and pursuant to an Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Davie County. I will offer for sale and will sell at public auction for cash, to the highest bidder at the court house door in Mocksville, North Carolina, at 12 o'clock noon on Monday, the seventh day of June, 1965, liens upon the real estate described below for the non-payment of taxes owing for the year 1964. The real estate which is subject to the lien, the name of it's owner or the name of the person who listed it for taxes, and the amount of the taxes are set out below. And notice is hereby given that the amounts of the liens set out below are subject to the addition of penalties, costs of advertising and of the sale as provided by law.

This the 6th day of May, 1965.

Social Security In Davie County

Every 20 seconds another American becomes a senior citizen, joining the nearly 19 million men and women now over 65. Each year this total increases by 1 1/2 million people. May has been designated as Senior Citizens Month by President Johnson to recognize the accomplishments and needs of this rapidly growing segment of the population, Robert C. Thomas, social security district manager in Salisbury, reported today.

Social security has been instrumental in helping to meet the needs of this group, Thomas continued. More than 9 out of every 10 persons now reaching 65 can expect to receive social security monthly benefits, he added.

For the past 25 years, since January 1940 when monthly benefits were first paid, social security has been providing a base upon which senior citizens could build to insure financial security for themselves after retirement, Thomas commented.

Social security monthly benefits play a considerable part in maintaining the economic stability of the community. The latest statistics show that 1938 people in Davie County receive $102,509 each month, Thomas said.

Studies show the senior citizens spend the greatest part of their social security check in the community for food, clothing, and housing, Thomas emphasized.

Davie County residents over 65 who have never filed application for social security benefits are invited by Mr. Thomas to come into the social security office for a complete explanation of the law. He suggested that it may be advantageous for senior citizens to file an application even though they are still working.

Possibly, some benefits may be payable in spite of a person's earnings. Then, too, the application could be processed in advance of a person's retirement so that payments could start promptly when he does stop working, Thomas noted.

Anyone wishing more information about social security should get in touch with the office located at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C. The telephone number is 633-4512.

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — Earlier this week I requested the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve funds for 19 water projects in North Carolina ,including sufficient funds to speed up work in several of the major river basins in our State.

Included in my requests was $100,000 to begin pre-construction planning of the Falls of the Neuse Dam on the Neuse River just above Raleigh. The project has cleared all necessary government agencies and is now awaiting Congressional authorization. If we are able to get pre-construction funds appropriated this year, it will enable us to complete the badly needed project costing a total of $18.6 million much sooner than otherwise.

I asked for $1,000,000 to speed up work on the New Hope Dam in the Cape Fear River Basin, and $277,000 for the purpose of acquiring additional land for public recreation areas adjoining the W. Kerr Scott Reservoir on the Yadkin River in Wilkes County.

As I pointed out to the members of the Committee, we are moving along on our long-range plans to harness the major river basins in the State, but there is an urgent need to speed up work in a number of places.

There is also a pressing need to complete the project of deepening the Wilmington harbor channel to the ocean to 40 feet in order for the Wilmington port facilities to be able to handle super tankers and other deep-draft vessels. I requested $1,490,000 for this purpose during the coming year.

In all, I requested $5,338,000 to be expended on water projects in North Carolina during the coming year. This is $2,560,000 above the President's budget recommendations. I feel the increase can be more than justified when consideration is given to the returns these expenditures will bring to our total economy.

Other requests I made are as follows:

Survey of the Hurricane dike on the Neuse River below New Bern, $100,000; survey of the Yadkin-Pee Dee River Basin, $85,000; survey of the Cape Fear River Basin, $156,000; survey of the Kanawha River Basin (including Glendale Springs project in Ashe County), $410,000; survey of the Northeast Cape Fear River, $30,000.

60 Second Sermon

TEXT: "The gods approve the depth, not the tumult of the soul" — Socrates.

A professor was walking through a museum with a friend when he suddenly darted behind an exhibit and warned his friend.

"That professor coming is deeply intelligent. We'd better get out of his way".

"Why do that?" his friend asked. "You're deeply intelligent, too."

"Believe me," responded the professor, "if I saw myself coming, I'd get out of the way!"

Depth in people is not popular. Depth requires too much self-discipline. It is easier to explode with the emotion of the moment. Modern books, songs and paintings demonstrate that. The arts reflect the tumult and not the depth of the artist.

Artists aren't alone in their lack of depth. College students accepting bribes to alter the results of games in which they play and businessmen conniving to fix prices at levels above those that the free market would produce, also demonstrate their emotional tumult.

"Smooth runs the water where the brook is deep", Shakespeare wrote. Remember this when tempted to applaud or emulate those who gaudily express the tumult in their souls. Seek the quiet calm of depth. It requires soul-searching and self discipline, but the penetrating satisfaction it brings shows that "the gods approve".

Dear, can we please have Oil Heat in our next house?

Some fuels have difficulty measuring up when the weather gets cold. But fuel oil knows how to do the job. And it does it at the lowest cost to you. Families love the safety of oil heat, too. Fuel oil is the non-explosive fuel with no hazardous fumes or odors. Make sure you have clean, modern, economical oil heat.

CAROLINA OIL FUEL INSTITUTE

Pennington Chevrolet Co., Inc.

is pledged to maintain these QUALITY OK STANDARDS:

...IN MERCHANDISE	...IN SERVICE
☐ Carefully Selected	☐ Professional Counsel
☐ Honestly Represented	☐ Courtesy and Helpfulness
☐ Fairly Priced	☐ Convenient Facilities
☐ Warranted in Writing	☐ Good Faith
☐ Satisfactory in Performance	☐ Ethical Dealing

The policies of Pennington Chevrolet are dedicated to the achievement of a lasting relationship with our customers . . . through quality merchandising practices founded on the OK concept: satisfaction after, as well as at the time of, the purchase. That's why all of our used units bearing the OK symbol are covered in writing by this new 25-month warranty.

1. We warrant that the car has been inspected, roadtested and reconditioned as necessary to be in serviceable condition when you buy it. In the event of mechanical failure of the car, we agree as follows:

For the first 30 days, we will pay 50% of the parts and labor repair bills necessary to keep the vehicle in serviceable condition under normal use, provided that the repairs are taken care of in our shop at our regular retail price . . . that the remaining 50% is paid in cash . . . and that those repairs do not qualify for adjustment under any new vehicle warranty.

This doesn't include tires and tubes, glass, radio or air conditioning, or any damage resulting from collision, accidents, abuse or misuse. Nevertheless, we will furnish replacement tires, tubes, and/or labor during this 30-day period at a discount of 25% from our retail prices if you pay the rest in cash.

For the next 2 years, we will pay 15% of the parts and labor repair bills, under the same conditions that apply during the first 30 days.

2. This warranty shall not apply if the car is used "for hire."
3. This warranty is issued by us—not by the manufacturer of the vehicle.
4. This warranty is expressly in lieu of any other, expressed or implied, including any implied warranty of merchantability of fitness for a particular purpose, and any other obligations or liabilities on our part. We neither assume nor authorize any other person to assume for it any other liability in connection with the sale of the vehicle.
5. Proof of warranty must be available with the vehicle at the time of payment for repairs and adjustments, and is not transferable or assignable.
6. This warranty is not valid unless signed by our authorized department head and by the Purchaser, who is to retain a copy.
