Morry Joe Campbell is escorted from court in 1976 by SBI Agent John Foster.

Morry Joe Campbell Dies

Man Convicted Of Killing Two Policemen Kills Self

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Seventeen years ago, he killed two police officers.

Now, by his own hand, he is dead.

Morry Joe Campbell, 35, was found hanging from a shoestring in his cell at Central Prison in Raleigh Thursday, July 30.

Five minutes before, he had been let back into his cell from a day room. At 7:40 p.m., a nurse found him, with the shoestring attached to a vent. Efforts to resuscitate him failed, and he was pronounced dead at 7:55 p.m.

Campbell had been in prison, serving a 160 year sentence on two counts of second degree murder, daring to Friday, May 30, 1975.

Andy Stokes was a N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper and remembers the events of that night.

"It started after 9 Friday night. I had just checked off duty, walked in the house, and flipped on the television. They interrupted the program with a news flash that said a Davie County deputy had been killed. I picked up the phone to call the sheriff's department to confirm that that had happened."

"About that time," Stokes said, "Forsyth deputies had jumped him in Clemmons and pursued him back to Davie County. I jumped in my patrol car and went up U.S. 158 to set up a stationary road block, expecting him to come down 158. I was prepared to stop him, at whatever cost.

"Instead, he turned onto Redland Road and slid off into a side ditch, exited his vehicle, and hid behind some shrubbery. The deputies (Forsyth) saw the car wrecked, and they stopped. He shot at them. He was reportedly an expert shot, and he just shot the second deputy (Jack C. "Red" Renigar) in cold blood as he was getting out of his patrol car," Stokes said.

"From Friday night, all day Saturday, all night Saturday night and most of Sunday, it was a massive manhunt. Saturday afternoon, he was declared an outlaw, meaning anyone, civilian or police officer, could shoot him on sight. That law has since been repealed. The two crimes were so vicious.

"I detected that an awful lot of people were concerned with their neighborhoods and their families. There were a lot of unqualified people who were assisting, but they were doing what they could to help. At that time, and due to the remote termin, they did in fact provide a valuable service by riding the roads and keeping the area just smothered.

"It was like a boiling pot — the level of activity stayed at a peak," Stokes said. "The effort to catch him was relentless, determined. People were genuinely afraid to go home. On several occasions, people gave permission to have their doors knocked down in their homes, because they were afraid to go in.

"I had been up in a helicopter Sunday afternoon, attempting to spot him, when some law enforcement personnel went into a barn and

Masonic Picnic Begins Monday In Mocksville

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

It's quiet at Clement Grove.

Absent are the squeals of happy children, the smell of freshly-spun cotton candy, and the shimmer of rainbow colored lights on the Ferris wheel.

But patience.

It won't be quiet much longer.

The 112th annual Masonic Picnic week of festivities will begin Monday, Aug. 10, with more to offer than ever before. Food, bingo, music, and rides will be available nightly, with the feast of feasts Thursday at noon.

Helen Patner was born in 1914 and remembers going to the picnic with her parents, Roy and Ella Meroney Holthouser.

"I know Mother has been fixing a basket since 1925 and maybe further back than that. She and my father were both buyers for Sanford's Store (a general merchandise store), and the store would close Thursday at lunchtime for the picnic. It took us a whole week to cook.

"We would take a dozen chickens (fried), two or three cakes, ham biscuits, deviled eggs, and cheese straws. We always took cheese straws.

"I'll tell you dear, the older people like my grandmother and Mrs. Waters — they're all gone now — but those older people always fixed a big basket. The younger people don't seem to understand how much it takes to feed that many people."

Patner said the only time she can remember not taking a basket was when her mother was traveling as Worthy Grand Matron in 1963-64, and when the polio scare was on, and people were afraid to be in large crowds.

Even during World War II, Patner said, when sugar and butter were hard to find, they still packed a big basket, because it was for such a worthy cause.

People put out the food then in the same way they do now, she said, on long tables under the arbor, but one year the arbor didn't have a roof.

"Everybody had just got their food spread out on the tables, and it came a big rain storm. Mother stuck me under the table so I wouldn't get wet, and all the food got just sopping wet. Nobody could eat it much. The next year, they put a roof on the arbor."

One of the best parts of the picnic for Patner was bingo, which will return this year. One of the prizes usually given then was a ham, and Patner remembers winning one year,

Sink New Mocksville Police Chief

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Richard Sink was named as Mocksville's new chief of police Tuesday afternoon.

Sink, a detective with the department since October of 1990 and interim chief for the past two months, was the most qualified among the 37 candidates, said Town Manager Terry Bralley.

Bralley and his assistant, Jeff White, used a formula to rate the applicants. Three were interviewed.

"The one who stood tall and who has done an amazing job as interim chief is Richard Sink," Bralley told town board members Tuesday night.

"You've proven yourself and we've got confidence in you," said Mayor Nick Mando. "Good luck."

Sink said he hopes to build the department.

"We're looking forward to some innovative things. We've

Camping Trip Gives Appreciation For Beds At Home

JOYCE KILMER FOREST — Rain pelted our little tent. At first, it seemed that just a little water leaked inside. Just enough to soak parts of the sleeping bags.

It was a dark and stormy night.

Paul and I ventured into the high country over the weekend to get close to nature. This is a good place to do that.

Joyce Kilmer Forest is named for the poet who wrote the lines: "Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree." It's a remote virgin forest in the far western corner of the state near Robbinsville and Fontana Dam. Average annual rainfall: 80 inches.

It cleared on Saturday. Paul and I hiked all day on a trail up the mountainside. We saw eight people. Not many find this wonderful place — filled with massive poplars and a jungle of rhododendron. For years I had promised to take Paul here — waiting until he was old enough to shoulder a pack for five miles up a mountainside.

We went to rough it.

The rain altered our plans. We camped at the bottom of the mountains instead of hauling our gear to the top. Our meals were standard backpacking fare — beef jerky, trail mix and dried fruit. But we brought a pizza with us from Robbinsville for the first night. When the rain got too bad, we remembered a tiny country store 10 miles away. We went for ice cream.

Camping has become more refined over the years. We have invented motor homes and elaborate trailers to take the comforts of home to the campsite. Paul and I had only a tiny butane stove and rain gear. The rain outwitted our best defenses. Sleep doesn't come easy in a soaked sleeping bag.

I have often railed against tree huggers — those crazy environmentalists who worship trees and rocks and animals. I'm a Teddy Roosevelt environmentalist — save the nation's great scenic places, but open them up for people to see and use. To hunt and fish and play. I go there to witness the beauty of God's creation — not to worship the trees.

The remote reaches of North Carolina have an uncommon beauty. I found some of them while at Western Carolina University. Joyce Kilmer Forest is one of the jewels of the mountains.

There is another paradise that has been discovered — Nantahala Gorge. On our last day, we boarded a chartered raft trip down the Nantahala. It's not the place to get away from it all. Thousands of people raft down the river on weekends. Guides joke that on some days the rafts are so thick you can walk across the river without getting wet.

I almost drowned Mary there 14 years ago before the wedding. A little canoeing mishap. She hasn't canoed with me since — not even in the Yadkin.

Over the years the Nantahala has become so popular that countless rafting businesses have sprung up along the gorge. It's fun. And wet. And cold.

Camping trips are a great escape. We saw the beauty and fierceness of nature. And we were never so glad to come home to soft ... and dry ... beds.

Auditorium Would Add Pride

To the editor:

On your next trip to Skats or Salisbury, look to your left at Davie High. Looks quite dilapidated, doesn't it? I honestly don't believe that our county leaders can ignore the state of our high school and make themselves look so good with other issues. Come on people, wake up. Do we need a community college if our high school is under par? And I thought we couldn't afford an auditorium for our county.

I think it is sad that the past graduates, my graduating class, and future graduating classes cannot feel totally proud when family and friends drive onto campus to see graduations. Why can't we use some time and money on the most important school in Davie County? At least give the up and coming high school students a chance to feel proud of going there.

Get A Real Job

To the editor:

Please cancel my subscription to the Davie County Enterprise Record. I am tired of reading about Mike Barnhardt's hatred and jealousy of the people who have worked very hard and earned the right to live behind the fence.

Maybe he could live behind the fence too if he was smart enough to get a real job.

Enjoys Humor

To the editor:

Congratulations to Mike Barnhardt. I like his humor and criticism and advice, often given indirectly in his column. I'm sure if a few of his "red neck" friends could talk to him, there would be a meeting of the minds. Davie County can be proud of "The Enterprise Record". Concerning "Letters to the Editor," I find too many with an axe to grind, and some hateful. Please don't get so upset.

Life is not how you want it, but how you can make it better. Be nice to your neighbor.

Information From Raleigh Helpful

To the editor:

As regards a part of both Senator Cochrane's and Rep. Howard's weekly report:

Do you suppose the new Education Building in Raleigh could have had just a plain, un-engraved wall and the $109,000 used for the education of our children?

I'm sure this was just an oversight or maybe a manifestation of a long-suppressed urge of some administrator to "write on the school wall".

Thanks be to Sen. Cochrane and Rep. Howard for their effort to keep us informed.

Masonic Picnic Is Good Fun For A Good Cause

Next week, the Masonic Picnic is in town, complete with carnival rides, food, music and more. Much more. The Picnic is more than a carnival, it's an event.

It's The Event.

Just about every adult who grew up in Davie County can tell you a story about attending the Masonic Picnic when they were children. They may have loaded up on a horse-drawn wagon and made a day-long trip from Turkeyfoot or Farmington or Advance or Cooleemee.

Mike Barnhardt

They could tell you about buying lemonade for a nickel, riding the ponies or taking their chances on one of the games.

The younger ones can tell you about playing the birthday game and riding the swings.

The even younger ones talk about the Rock-O-Plane.

But in recent years, the week-long picnic has lost some of its appeal. Most of the games, including bingo that attracted a big crowd, were gone. When they went, so did some of the people.

And when some of the people went, there went half the appeal of going to the picnic.

Since the beginning, the Masonic Picnic has been a type of family reunion for all of Davie County. People you haven't seen in a year you could see at the picnic. Renew old friendships while eating cotton candy and watching the kids scream their way to the rides.

Davie's Masons are tyring to bring back the crowds. Bingo is back. Games are back.

The grounds have been enlarged. A new company to provide carnival rides has been hired.

All they need now is for Davie residents to get the feeling for the picnic they once had. A feeling that your summer isn't complete without a trip to the picnic. A feeling that you may miss talking to someone you really want to talk to without a trip to the picnic.

If you like fried chicken, or tomato sandwiches, or potato salad or a choice of about a zillion desserts, Thursday at lunch is the perfect time. That's when the picnic part of the Picnic is held.

And it's then when you can see the real reasons that the Masons sponsor the Picnic — for children.

In Oxford, there's an orphanage sponsored by the Masons. The children are there because it's better than their home lives. Either their parents couldn't afford to take care of them, or just wouldn't take care of them. Most are not adoptable. The orphanage is their new home. Walk through the baby cottage at the Oxford Orphanage and the little ones grab at your legs begging for attention.

And at the Masonic Picnic in Mocksville on Thursdays, you can listen to those children sing, watch them hurry through some fried chicken so they can get to the ferris wheel.

The Masonic Picnic is a tradition in Davie County. A tradition worth keeping.

It doesn't have the breathtaking rides of a Carowinds or a Six Flags. It offers something much more rewarding. It offers a little fun, a lot of food and a lot of friends. And most importantly, the Picnic offers the satisfaction of helping some children that need — and deserve — love and attention.

Library Dedicates Addition

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County has won a gold medal.

That's the way E.C. Tatum describes the completion of an expanded and renovated Davie County Public Library.

"This is truly a great day for Davie County, a day we have been looking forward to for a long time," he said at the dedication of the new building Sunday.

"We went for the gold medal and we think we've accomplished one," he said.

"Together, we had the dream team. It was a dream come true working with you. We hope we have a foundation for Davie County to build on.

"We want to keep this dream team intact ... to make the best place in North Carolina even better," Tatum said.

Speakers during the ceremony praised the cooperation — that cooperation needed to stay open during the construction, and that cooperation needed to raise much of the needed funds through donations. Elizabeth Martin headed that fund drive. "She and her staff did an excellent job," Tatum said.

The new enlarged history room was named after county historian Jim Wall and Flossie Martin, who volunteered to get the original history room started.

It will now be called the Martin-Wall Room. "It is deserving that we recognize this room in their honor," Tatum said.

Pat Dorsey, N.C. secretary of natural resources, also praised Davie residents for their work.

"It is through your efforts that this fine library exists today. Today's ceremony recognizes what one town and one county can achieve by working together for one common cause," Dorsey said. "Public libraries are vital resource centers for our communities."

State Librarian Howard McGinn said the expansion proves that government works.

"We are affirming our belief in one of the essential foundations of Mocksville and Davie County," McGinn said. "The public library teaches our children, helps our businesses, preserves our past, provides essential data.

"It is our link to the past, our path to the future."

McGinn said the Davie library is recognized as one of the best in the state and nation.

"You should be very proud of what Ruth (Hoyle, library director) and her staff have accomplished," he said.

A prayer was offered by the Rev. Leland Richardson. Art was displayed courtesy the Davie County Art Guild.

Refreshments were provided by members of the Mocksville Woman's Club, and a tablecloth was donated to the library by Dot Smith and Venita Forrest. It will be stored in the kitchen area for use by other groups.

Davie historian Jim Wall was honored at library ceremony.

Pilot View Group To Study Area's Natural Resources

A newly formed area organization called Pilot View Resource Conservation and Development, Inc. has begun its work in the counties of Davie, Forsyth, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin.

This independent, non-profit group has identified as its primary concern the conservation, development, and proper use of the natural resources within the five county area.

This organization provides a framework for dealing with some of these issues through citizen participation. RC&D helps provide local leadership and overall direction to carry out plans, but the work is done by the people who live in the area, and the people set the priorities for their communities. A wide range of concerns will be explored. Examples of these topics range from rural water systems to solid waste management to agricultural diversity.

The RC&D program has been empowering rural people for nearly 30 years. Pilot View is one of the nine groups organized in North Carolina.

If you have concerns or ideas to help make your community a better place in which to live, call one of your local representatives. In Davie County, David Plott and Jim McBride are the appointed council members. The telephone number for Pilot View RC&D is (919) 593-2846.

Davie Horse Gaining National Palomino Reputation

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Izzy Fine?

The judges think he is.

A 2-year-old Palomino, Izzy Fine, resident of Westview Farms in Davie County, recently won the Two-Year-Old Palomino World Show in Tulsa, Okla.

His trainer, Joe Bregman, wasn't surprised.

"He competed with about 28 other horses in walk, trot, and lope (canter) in the Western Pleasure Classes. Judges look at their confirmation, which is like a judge looking at the body of a body-builder. They look at how they move, if they move freely and naturally around the ring. Izzy is a good mover, a steady performer — he won under all four judges."

It's normal, Bregman said, to go to a competition days before the event, to get the horse accustomed to the surroundings. Being inside can make the horse jumpy, with lights, people, and walls. But Bergman doesn't have to worry about that with Izzy — being inside doesn't seem to bother the horse at all.

Izzy's father, Zippo Pine Bar, is in the Quarter Horse Hall of Fame, and both parents were top pleasure and halter class horses, so Izzy comes by his success naturally, but Bregman said good training doesn't hurt. He spends about two hours a day with Izzy, riding him and working with him. Izzy isn't temperamental, Bregman said.

Izzy's owners, Eddie and Diane Hubbard, bought Izzy to replace an old favorite Palomino, Bar Gold Cutter, who died recently at age 23. Already, Bregman said, after only five months of riding, "they're talking about him (Izzy) all over the country."

Originally from Oklahoma, Izzy has traveled the country winning competitionss. When he was 1-year-old, he placed fourth in a Palomino Yearling competition.

Bregman is preparing Izzy for an upcoming competition Raleigh that he expects the horse to win. He will compete in the American Quarter Horse Association competition in November, and "he'll be a major contender there," Bregman said.

But all competitions are a preliminary to the big one — the Texas Classic.

"Texas and Missouri, those are really big competitions. He'll be in there, and he might win."

Because Izzy is young, he will continue to compete for many years. The more competitions he wins, the more prestige he will command, and the higher the stud fee will be once his competing days are over.

But for now, Bregman is taking it one competition at a time, and Izzy Fine is enjoying the good life of a champion.

Cassie O'Neal Wins Contest

O'Neal

Miss Cassie O'Neal, daughter of Sandra Jones and Gary O'Neal of Advance, recently won the North Carolina 4-H Hippology contest.

Hippology consists of two exams on horse knowledge including text from several sources, judging of hays and grains, identification of horse-related objects and judging of horses in both halter and performance. These tests were given and judged over two weekend sessions, one at Meredith College and the second in Reidsville.

O'Neal had the high state over-all score with a first in the exam and identification and a fourth in judging.

She was one of three Davie County Trailblazers on a hippology team which placed second in North Carolina. The other members of the team were Chris Anderson, son of Gloria and David Anderson, and Cassie Stanley, daughter of Amy and Scott Stanley, both of Mocksville.

The team was coached by their 4-H leader, Diane Hubbard.

By winning the North Carolina contest, O'Neal will represent North Carolina in two national competitions in October and November. Any sponsorships, in any amount, may be sent to Cassie O'Neal, Route 2, Box 282-C, Advance, NC 27006.

Sept. 19 there will be a benefit country western concert at North Davie Junior High School to raise funds for O'Neal's trips to national competitions. Watch the paper for further information.

Local Ranch To Host Sale

Cow Creek Ranch will host its annual Genetic Edge VI Sale Saturday, Oct. 10, noon, at the ranch in Mocksville. The sale will feature 170 registered Brangus lots.

The 170 head offering is the largest selection of predictable new Brangus genetics in the breed. Headlining the sale are 40 stout, Brangus bulls of both the purebred and commercial breeder. Many will be sired by the red meat and muscle bull, Pathfinder.

The female offering includes 40 pairs, 40 bred heifers, 40 bred cows and 12 junior show heifers (only youths may bid on these heifers). The females in the sale are right out of the heart of the Cow Creek Ranch production herd and most will be bred back to Pathfinder. The females selling are functional, prolific females with many years of productive life ahead.

For a sale catalog or more information, please contact Cow Creek Ranch, Route 6, Box 95, Mocksville, N.C. 27028, 919/998-9333.

Annual Masonic Picnic Is Next Week

but she can't remember if she won a ham or a blanket.

Patner's daughter and husband died in 1971, and her mother lived with her from then until her death over a month ago. The memories Patner has of the picnic are of going as a family, and because she is the only one left, she won't go this year, but she wishes the Masons well.

"I hope it will be a big success this year. They work hard to earn that money. Everybody works real hard."

E.C. (Cecil) Morris is also hoping the picnic will be a success.

Morris was born and raised in Mocksville. He spent his early years at his parents' home on Salisbury Street, and after his marriage in 1925, he moved to North Main Street. Although he moved to High Point about 17 years ago, he comes to Mocksville almost every day, and he kept his home in Mocksville and continues to "vote and pay taxes in Davie County," he said.

He has been a member of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge since 1920. At age 93, he estimates he has been going to the picnic for about 85 years.

"When I first started going, it was a small affair. There were very few autos in Davie County, and the wagons would come on Thursday, early in the morning, and people would spend the day. You could ride on the Merry-Go-Round and most rides for a nickel, and admission was 20 cents. Lunch was 50 cents.

"The Winston-Salem Masons would run a special train into Mocksville, and lots of very prominent people would come. It was sort of like a homecoming then. Now, it's more of a carnival affair," Morris said.

"We took a basket for 35 or 40 years until my wife's health failed. We'd take a dozen fried chickens, country ham, cakes, deviled eggs — my wife prided herself in taking a big basket."

Morris' favorite thing about the picnic was meeting with old friends and relatives, and he said that folks would stay the entire day, instead of eating and leaving.

Although he is, by his admission, getting on up in years, he plans to attend this year's picnic.

"This may be the last Masonic picnic I ever attend. When you live up to my age, you're living on borrowed time."

Mocksville Attorney To Speak At Noon Thursday

The 112th Annual Masonic Picnic, sponsored by the Mocksville, Advance, and Farmington Masons, will begin Aug. 10 at the grounds off Poplar Street behind the B.C. Brock Building.

Van Hoy

The picnic lunch will begin around noon Thursday. Plates are $6 for adults, $3 for children ages 12-6, and free for under 6.

Guest speaker Hank Van Hoy, Mocksville attorney, will give a speech on "A Sense of the Community," about what makes Mocksville such a special place to live.

Van Hoy, who lives on North Main Street, is a partner in the law firm of Martin, Van Hoy and Smith. He joined the practice in July 1974, after receiving undergraduate and law degrees from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

In December 1974, he was elected as town attorney.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harper A. Van Hoy of Union Grove. He and his wife, Polly, have three sons, Brad, Scott, and Matthew.

Van Hoy hopes his speech will be entertaining and inspirational.

"I feel it's an honor and an opportunity to give something back to the community that has blessed my family and me so much," Van Hoy said.

His speech will begin around 11:30 a.m. Thursday, following performances by the Davie High School band at 10 a.m., the Oxford Orphanage Choir at 10:30 a.m., and the Masonic and Eastern Star Home at 11 a.m.

Entertainment will be offered each night (Monday-Friday), with a comedy magician, Steve Long, scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. Long will perform throughout each evening during the week.

Family night is Tuesday from 6-10 p.m., with entertainment by the Southland String Band at 8 p.m.

Backstreet, a band, will perform Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The Dixie Melody Boys will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday, with family night scheduled Friday from 6-10 p.m. Harvesters Quartet will perform Friday at 8 p.m.

DINNER, TABLES, AND BASKET COMMITTEE

112th Annual Masonic Picnic

To Be Held Thursday, Aug. 13, 1992

It is with great pride that we inform you of our 112th Masonic Picnic to be held on Thursday, August 13. As in the past, we look forward to your participation.

We will be able to make this a memorable occasion with your help. We need food for the picnic! This is where you fit in. Please bring a well-filled basket. The dinner is the real high-light of the entire occasion. Those attending have always had favorable comments concerning the quality and abundance of the food, as well as the great fellowship enjoyed by all.

Please have your food on the table no later than 12:00 noon. You may drive up to the tables; we will unload your food for you and park your car in a reserved area. you will receive a beautiful basket contributor ribbon when you check in.

Always keep in mind the worthy cause of this picnic. It enables us to help support the Masonic Orphanage at Oxford, N.C. This ministry to these children has touched thousands of lives in the past. Please help us to continue the good work.

If for any reason you are unable to bring food, please make a cash contribution. Join us for fun, food and fellowship this 112th Masonic Picnic.

Sincerely yours,

Roy Harris Tommy Cornatzer Yoman Smith
Co-Chairmen, Dinner, Tables and Basket Committee

The Dixie Melody Boys will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Masonic Picnic in Mocksville.

Masonic Picnic Rich In Tradition

The Masonic Picnic is not only a time for gathering and fun, but it is also rich in history.

The Mocksville Masonic Lodge 134, from their establishment, held annual picnics, but it was not until about 25 years after they were established, sometime during the 1870s, that they decided to give left-tover money from refreshment purchases to the Oxford Orphanage.

In 1872, the lodge sent $25 to the orphanage. The minutes of the lodge, dated April 20, 1877, read, "Brothers H.B. Howard, W.A. Clement, and Those. B. Bailey were appointed a committee to receive and prepare homes for Bro. H.H. Mills and the orphans who were to give an entertainment in Mocksville on the 11th day of May. Next on motion the Lodge appointed Bros. Rev. Thomas Boone, Thos. B. Bailey and W.A. Clement a committee to confere with the others Lodges of this country in regard to a grand Masonic Picnic on the 24th day of June next and report their action at our next monthly meeting."

The records for June 20, 1879, record that "on motion it was carried that we have a picnic on or about the middle of July for the benefit of the Orphans at Oxford."

After several years of having the picnic at "The Shoals," it was moved to Mocksville in 1883 to a grove belonging to the heirs of John Clement, one of the hardest workers and biggest supports of the picnic.

In 1885, invitations were sent out for that year's seventh annual picnic. The amount raised for the orphans that year was $263.

In the first years, the only building on the grounds was a small wooden platform where the speaker and orphans were seated. The crowds sat on benches with no backs, and there was no roof. There was a booth were lemonade and ice cream were sold, and the food was laid out on long tables under the trees.

According to minutes, the amount raised on 1889 was $233, in 1890, $178.32, and in 1891, a more prosperous year, $549.53.

In 1892, partly because trains were being run from Winston-Salem, $622.95 was raised.

The Davie Times of Aug. 10, 1894, reported that the Masonic Picnic was a great success that year. Supt. Lawrence of the orphanage and a class of orphans were present, an excursion "loaded down with humanity," was run from Winston, and the speakers were Major Duncan of South Carolina and C.F. McKesson of Morganton.

The Clements let the lodge use the grounds free, but in January 1897, recognizing that the event would be held annually, they purchased about five acres from Herbert Clement, one of John Clement's heirs.

In March 1899, a motion was made to build an arbor on the grounds. Consequently, a spacious arbor with a high raised platform for speakers was built.

In 1910, the amount raised for the orphans finally broke the thousand dollar mark. Over $1500 was sent to Oxford.

As the years passed, interest in the picnic grew, and it came to be a day of homecoming for many. A Basket Committee was formed, and the roof was eventually built over the dinner tables.

The second Thursday has come to be known as Picnic Thursday, and many local businesses close for lunch. The food is plentiful and good, and the cooks work hard to provide it.

Entertainment precedes the meal, usually with songs by the orphans that move the soul, steal the heart, and quiet growling stomachs.

Campbell Kills Self In Prison

spotted him. Morry didn't know he had been spotted — he was hiding in the top of the barn. They walked out of the barn acting like they didn't see him and called for assistance. The area was immediately surrounded, and he was taken into custody without a shot being fired.

"As far as it being said that law enforcement people or the people involved were hot-headed, the fact that he was captured with no assaults on him serves to dismiss that idea.

"I was afraid," Stokes said. "He was reported to be an expert marksman, and we were walking the fields, going through people's yards, all perfect concealment for a person reported to be a sniper. We were also worried about people just wanting to protect themselves — you go walking through a man's yard at 2 a.m. — you have to worry about that.

"Morry was just a good old country boy that loves a rifle and loves to shoot.

"When you're a police officer, and you see another police officer shot and killed, it's a traumatic experience. I got there about five minutes after Renigar was shot, and he was still laying in the parking lot. It was the most traumatic thing I have ever seen in 23 years of law enforcement," Stokes said.

Stokes was there when Campbell was taken to Davie County Jail. He remembers him as looking "very tired, distraught, dirty, sort of wild looking. But he never shed a tear."

Pictures of Campbell being arrested show a rope around his neck, which led some at the time to believe he may have tried, unsuccessfully, to hang himself before being caught.

Family Remembers Differently

Campbell's family has different memories of that night.

His son, Marty, was 6.

"He was harassed and picked on (by Gaither), and he couldn't leave his driveway without being pulled over. He was just tired of it. The man just kept bugging him. They was raised up together and knew each other, but they just didn't like each other, I guess.

> "My daddy never talked about killing himself. He couldn't do that to himself."
> — Marty Campbell

"He (Campbell) always said he didn't shoot both of them," Marty said. He said one policeman at the scene shot at Renegar. "That person died a few years ago. He admitted to killing both of them because he knew there was no way out of it. Nobody would even listen to the witness that saw it."

"In the paper it said he went over to his sister's house, but it was his Uncle Billy's house, his mother's brother. Somebody named Cook shot at him, and he didn't have no gun. Cook shot through the trailer, and there was a little bitty baby in there. He shot through the trailer trying to kill him. The police pretty much did what they wanted to," Marty said.

Campbell's sister, Reba, said, "All my brothers' houses were surrounded by police, and they were forced to leave their houses. They went down to Ft. Bragg where my oldest brother lives and did the same thing.

"They even arrested my brother, Scotty, and took him to Mocksville jail before they found out it wasn't Joe (Morry). Scotty was six foot and weighed 180 pounds, and Joe was only five foot three and weighed about 120 pounds. They did look alike except for size."

Campbell was sentenced in Taylorsville July 13, 1976, to 80 years on each count of second degree murder. In court, according to The Enterprise-Record, Campbell admitted to killing Wayne H. Gaither and Jack C. Renigar. Another charge of assault with a deadly weapon, for shooting at Forsyth deputy Robert Russ, was dismissed.

A Dorothea Dix psychologist, Dr. James R. Groce, testified at the time that Campbell had a first grade reading ability and a second grade math ability. He was found to have an I.Q. of 59, "moderate mental retardation," but was judged competent to stand trial.

Campbell grew up in the Farmington community. He had several traffic convictions, as well as assault with a deadly weapon, assault by pointing a gun, resisting arrest, and driving under the influence.

In 1969, he married Sarah Plowman, who is since remarried. Campbell's survivors include four children, Marty, 22, Sheila, 21, Curtis, 17, and Chris, 16, and three grandchildren.

Gaither's Family Remembers

Grace Gaither, 83, is the mother of Wayne Gaither. She hasn't forgotten — or forgiven.

"He (Wayne) was a good person. I sure have missed him. If he was here, he would be seeing after me.

"Morry Joe, I'm glad he's gone," Gaither said. "He might have killed somebody else. If he was a good person, he probably went to Heaven. If he wasn't, I don't know where..."

Bill Poston, spokesman at Central Prison, said the death will be investigated, as is routine for deaths of inmates at the prison. An autopsy will be performed.

Marty Campbell doesn't believe his father committed suicide.

"My daddy never talked about killing himself. His hands were all messed up from some medicine they gave him. It turned his fingers, two on each hand, just drawed them up down to the palm of his hands.

"So how did he tie that leather string? I think somebody else did it. He couldn't do that to himself. Somebody must have done it to him. I don't know why or who," Marty said.

Reba Campbell said someone had tried to kill Joe in prison, and the family was in the process of "getting papers to pursue that. Then this happened to him."

Although Poston said it is procedure for family to be notified of an inmate's death before the press is, Reba said they were not told what happened.

"The family didn't know nothing about what happened to him until 7 a.m. the next morning. It had already been on television and the radio. My sister-in-law said she heard it on the news in Ft. Bragg the night it happened. We called but they wouldn't tell us how he died, just that he died."

Poston said. Campbell had three violations on his record while in prison. The first, on June 23, 1980, was for assault, a major infraction. Poston did not say whether it was on a guard or another inmate.

The second, on Aug. 15, 1985, was a major infraction for a self-inflicted injury. The third, on Sept. 9, 1991, was for using profanity or for making a profane gesture or act.

Poston did not say if Campbell had previously tried to commit suicide while incarcerated.

Campbell was held in medium custody in a mental health ward. He would have been eligible for parole July 1, 1997.

DCCC Offers Computer Course Here

Davidson County Community College will offer an Introduction to Basic Programming class in Davie County beginning Aug. 31.

Introduction to Basic Programming will introduce the BASIC (Beginners All-purpose Instruction Code) computer language, the first high-level computer language commonly available and still used today as the first step in learning high-level programming. Participants will use a microcomputer to write simple application programs commonly found in home and business computers. Topics covered will include program flow control (how programs work), logic, construction development (writing code), input/output (I/O), computation, BASIC syntax, editing, debugging, and program execution.

This class will meet on Mondays from 7-9:30 p.m. for 12 weeks at North Davie Jr. High School on Farmington Road. A $35 registration fee will be collected at the first class meeting. Persons must be at least 16 years old in order to enroll. Students 16 to 18 must have written permission from their public school superintendent authorizing such enrollment. Persons 65 or older may enroll free of charge.

To pre-register or obtain additional information, call the Continuing Education Office at (704) 634-2885.

Transportation System Serves A Special Need

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When Peggy Day looks for a driver, their driving ability isn't all she looks for.

Day

"Sure, employees for YVEDDI's Davie rural transportation program need to have a valid driver's license. And they must obey all the traffic laws.

But they also need a heart.

"I don't want a driver who is here for the money," Day, director of the Davie program, said. "It's got to be someone who is caring, especially for the elderly and for the children."

Day, a driver and dispatcher in Yadkin County before getting the Davie job, should know. She started out driving for YVEDDI, and still fills in when a regular driver is out of work.

"You really get close to these people," she said. "I admire the drivers. All of our drivers are very considerate and work well with the elderly and with the children."

A lot of the Davie residents who use the transportation system, (they are the yellow vans and gray cars you see driving around the county) are the elderly and children.

The elderly use the system to attend meals and programs at the senior center and nutrition site, to go to the doctor, shopping and for errands.

Handicapped children use it to get to school and other classes. YVEDDI also transports some Head Start children and Social Services clients.

But if you see one of the yellow vans in your neighborhood, you can ride, too.

"Anybody who lives along our routes, within a mile, can ride our vans for a $2 fare," Day said. "They can flag us down ... make appointments."

Regular routes go through Mocksville, Cooleemee, William R. Davie and Advance.

"There are a lot of people out there who don't have access to transportation," she said. "That's our purpose is to serve people who do need transportation.

"They call in for appointments. We like to have a 24-hour notice, but we do take emergency calls. We do when we can if it's spur of the moment," she said.

"We don't charge when we transport, but we do ask for donations."

The system is funded by county, state and federal monies.

Last year, Davie residents stepped into YVEDDI vehicles 52,894 times.

In addition to Day, there is a local dispatcher, seven full-time drivers and three substitute drivers.

The fleet includes a car, a minivan, four lift (handicapped accessible) vans and seven regular vans.

Dancing In The Streets

Davie Dance Academy dancers (above) got the feet moving during a Mocksville Business Associates street dance Saturday night in Mocksville, and Joe and Brenda Whitlock (right) soon joined in the fun. The dance, with music by Harry Deal and the Galaxies, was part of a 50s day celebration.

Court Square Blues

There could have been a few tears in the peanut butter and jelly sandwiches on Mocksville's court square last week, as Mel Jones, David Long, Randy Gardner and Sharon Anderson (above, and Anderson at right) belted out a few blues songs for the lunch crowd. The concert was part of the PB&J (Pops, Blues & Jazz) concert series sponsored by the Davie Arts Council.

Leadership Davie County Looking For Participants

Is having quality leadership at all levels and in all types of organizations throughout Davie County important to you?

It should be, and is essential for the future of our area and for future generations.

Davie County and its residents can enjoy an optimum quality of life provided our leaders are properly informed and qualified to lead. Local government, the businesses and industries as well as churches and clubs must have qualified leaders prepared to provide the level of leadership needed to assure that desired quality of life.

Leadership Davie County is designed to prepare informed and qualified leaders for Davie County.

Leadership Davie County is recommended for anyone who has an interest in and a potential for leadership roles within all organizations. The program seeks to better prepare leaders for service and community groups, churches, local government as well as private businesses and industries.

Leadership Davie County provides organized and well-structured learning experiences dealing with local concerns, problems and practices. Through a variety of seminars, participants learn more about local government, education, human services, law enforcement, economic development, environmental concerns as well as Davie County's history, trends and relevant issues.

The once-monthly seminars from October-May will also focus on one's leadership skills in the areas of planning and goal setting, communications, team building, time management, negotiation and building trust, problem solving and decision making, conflict resolution, and managing change. These leadership skills will be built around one's own personality type and blended with a group dynamics approach.

For the past two years, Davidson County Community College has sponsored Leadership Davie County. The College and community leaders anticipate the third successful leadership program for Davie County.

A brochure explaining the goals and structure of Leadership Davie County is available at the Davie County office of the College at 220 Cherry Street. The College telephone number is 634-2885.

The cost of Leadership Davie County is low, only $275 per person for the year. "The benefits are many and are long lasting," said Don Lanning. Lanning is the director of College services for Davie County.

Lanning also added that many Davie County businesses and industries would benefit by identifying and sponsoring one or more employees as candidates for Leadership Davie County. Lanning further said that individual Davie County citizens are encouraged to learn more about Leadership Davie County and to participate as a means of enhancing one's individual value of him or herself. He said that this experience should clearly increase one's effectiveness and relationships in the work place as well as in the church, a club or organization, and in one's community involvement.

Encourage Children To Read During Summer

While your children enjoy their summer vacation from school, encourage them not to take a vacation from the pleasure of reading, a Wake Forest University professor suggests.

"Rather than allowing their minds to stand idle all summer, engage them in the written word in some fashion," says Joseph O. Milner, professor and chairman of the education department at Wake Forest.

For instance, Milner recommends that on long car trips parents read aloud to their children or play an audio cassette recording of a book.

Most bookstores sell recorded books.

"Listening to books while travelling in a car seems to be gaining in popularity," says Milner. "Children really enjoy it."

"I think parents should read aloud to their children on any occasion, even when their children are older and able to read on their own," adds Milner, who teaches courses in children's and adolescent literature.

"Listening to books is not a passive thing," he explains. "Every listener is creating a different book in his mind."

Children who read aloud on their own or listen to others read learn to appreciate the sound of language.

"Many writers are as concerned about the sound of their words as their meaning," Milner says.

While reading aloud slows a reader, it is not how fast one reads that necessarily counts, Milner says.

"It's how engaged we become in the story that is important," he contends. "Do we laugh? Do we cry? That's the real test."

What children most enjoy in a book are its characters, Milner says.

"They like reading about somebody who's believable but unique and special," he says.

When it comes to what kinds of books children like, Milner finds that there is truth to some stereotypes about boys and girls.

"For the boys, mysteries and sports books are popular," he observes. "Girls tend not to like those kinds of books as much. They are more interested in stories about relationships, friendships and less superficial things."

When visiting a library or bookstore this summer, parents should give their children freedom to choose their own books.

"Parents need to show interest, but they should encourage independent choices," Milner recommends. "Otherwise, it can get to be like school, where the choice of books has been made by the school system."

For reading on their own, children should select books that they can handle intellectually and emotionally. Parents who plan to read aloud to their children ought to choose books that are slightly beyond what their children usually read.

Milner advises against parents pushing children too forcefully to read classics.

"Parents feel some sort of moral obligation to get their children to read good literature," he says. Milner assures parents their children will always move to books that offer a deeper, more complex and more comprehensive view of the world.

Furthermore, children will be inspired to read good books by the example set by their parents, he believes.

"Parents valuing and cherishing books is a silent lesson for their children," Milner says.

Armed Gunmen Rob Comfort Inn

Mocksville police are still looking for two men who held a clerk at the Comfort Inn at gunpoint while demanding money.

Detective Wayne Stoneman said two black men entered the motel off U.S. 601 near I-40 just before 10 p.m. Saturday.

They pointed a handgun at the clerk and demanded money. The clerk gave them money from the cash register and the men left.

Stoneman wouldn't say how much money was stolen in the armed robbery.

The men ran from the motel along U.S. 601 toward Mocksville.

Witnesses told police the men got into a red Acura or Hyundai that was parked at Koontz Road. Witnesses also said there were three men in the car.

The car, bearing a dealer's license tag on the front, drove off toward Mocksville, Stoneman said.

There were no customers in the motel lobby at the time of the robbery.

Richard Sink New Police Chief

got a good nucleus and we can build on that," he said.

Among his ideas is to work with the community college other leaders are trying to bring to Mocksville to start a police intern program in Mocksville.

He views law enforcement in three phases: crime prevention, high visibility patrols, and drug prevention.

"I would really like someone who could 'concentrate on drugs," Sink said. "A good drug unit can pay for itself."

From December 1974 to September of 1989, Sink worked with the Davidson County Sheriff's Department, working his way up from deputy to detective lieutenant.

He earned a bachelor's degree in teaching, with a concentration in health and physical education, from Wingate and High Point Colleges. He was working on his master's in education when the law enforcement bug hit.

It only took a few rides with a law enforcement officer for him to change careers. "I fell in love with the job," he said.

Sink lives in the Yadkin College community of Davidson County and plans to move to Mocksville, he said.

Pool party at Cooleemee pool, noon-6 p.m. Open to public for price of admission. Games, prizes, music.

Pizza Spinners Takes Recreation Open League Title

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

What's more important in softball, the arm or the legs?

In the championship game of the Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department men's open tournament last week at Rich Park, it was the arm.

Pizza Spinners outfielder Kevin Hutchens gunned down Chad Correll at the plate for the final out in the bottom of the seventh inning, preserving an intense, 9-8 victory over Sentry.

How important was Hutchens' throw? Only moments before, it appeared Sentry was ready to force a second game in the double-elimination finals.

With one out, Correll singled and went to third on Robert Edwards' double. Scott Callison then lifted a short fly ball to Hutchens in right-center for the second out. Correll tested his arm by tagging.

"I never saw him leave," admitted Hutchens, who instinctively threw home to catcher Jeff Barneycastle. "I knew he was on third so I just threw it to (Barneycastle)."

Barneycastle blocked the plate and made the tag easily for the final out of the game.

"I was surprised he went," Barneycastle said. "I saw him coming and I said, 'I got him. He's dead.' The throw was a one-hopper right to me."

Sentry coach Robbie Jackson didn't fault Correll. He said Sentry has won plenty of games by making moves like that.

"He made the decision to go," Jackson said. "We've tried to be aggressive all year to make things happen."

Tight Game

While Pizza Spinners used base hits to grab a 3-0 lead in the top of the fourth, Sentry bounced back with one big swing by one big man in the bottom half of the inning.

Callison and Grip Arnold singled and after Jimmy Hyde walked, Doyle Burnette ripped a mammoth shot into the trees beyond the rightfield fence for a grand slam home run. Just like that, Sentry led 4-3.

"That was a good shot," said Spinners coach Jerry Riddle. "I knew it was gone as soon as he hit it."

The Spinners then proved why they're a championship team by rallying in typical fashion: baschiting and speed.

In the top of the fifth it knocked Burnette off the mound with six runs on eight hits, six of which were singles. Ricky Tesh, Dale Barneycastle, J.C. Hendrix, Jerry Marrs, David Tesh and Riddle all had RBI hits. Jeff Barneycastle and Keith Vestal had doubles.

"They have good hitters," Jackson said. "They can make things happen in one inning like that."

Cheer Camp

Davie High School Cheerleaders Hold A Popular Event

How popular is cheerleading in Davie County?

Very popular, if you go by the turnout at the recent Davie County cheerleading camp.

The high school's varsity cheerleaders were expecting around 100 girls to show up, they had about 150 instead, some from out of the county.

The varsity cheerleaders taught cheers, dances and chants and at the end of the camp, there was competition between the girls.

This year's chief at Davie will be Heather McDowell and the co-chief is Dana Potts.

Other cheerleaders on the 16-member squad are Jana Coleman, Ellyn Johnson, Kristi Walker, Denise Boyd, Beth Phillips, Sarah Bahnson, Allison Buckner, Mandy Yonce, Shannon Latham, Crystal Bonds, Jennifer Weir, Anita Massey, Beth Mull and Amy Newsom.

Approximately 150 girls attended the Davie High School cheerleading camp recently.

Davie Big Leaguers Finish Season With 15-5 Mark

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

FARMINGTON — The Davie County Big League baseball team gave coach Jim Lightle exactly what he expected in its final doubleheader of the season against Walkertown:

• With Brock Keene on the mound in the first game, he expected a low score. Keene pitched a five-hitter and struck out 10 in a 5-2 victory.

• With Jack Hall on the mound in game 2, he expected a high scoring affair. Davie won, 16-12.

The sweep left the local team 15-5 on the season, but it wasn't good enough for the championship. Southwest Forsyth, made up of West Forsyth players, won the league with a 16-4 mark.

"We still accomplished what we wanted," Lightle said. "We wanted to get these boys some games and some more experience."

Most of the players were on Lightle's jayvee squad this spring at Davie. They were the youngest team in the league, playing against 17 and 18-year olds.

Lightle had planned for his team to play in a AAU baseball tournament in Charlotte in August. But there were no teams signed up.

"Baseball's over for the Davie kids," said Lightle, who will now begin focusing on football as one of Randall Ward's trainer. "But playing in this league helped the kids."

First Game

Keene was never in trouble in the first game against Walkertown, limiting the visitors to five singles. Meanwhile, Jason Tomberlin was getting the offense going.

Tomberlin, a starter for Davie High's team last spring, slugged a two-run triple with two outs in the second, scoring Brent Spry and Hall. It ignited a four-run inning.

"Jason's had trouble hitting," said Lightle. "He's a lefthander but he's been hitting it down the third base line. It comes from dropping his hands. But the last couple of games, he started going with the pitch."

Davie scored its final run in the fourth. Hall reached on a fielder's choice, stole second and came around on Chad Helton's single.

Keene went 2-for-3 with a double and Helton also had two hits.

Second Game

Lightle called the 16-12 second game win a typical Jack Hall game.

"He throws strikes so they're going to hit the ball," Lightle said. "He keeps it low. But we didn't make the plays when we needed to."

In the top of the first, Walkertown scored four runs. In the bottom half, Davie scored five. It was 7-6 after two innings.

"I realized after the first inning that it was going to be one of those games," Lightle said. "We sent all nine batters to the plate in the first."

Tomberlin continued his hot hitting, going 4-for-4. He had a single, double, triple and a walk. He knocked in three runs.

But it was Jack Fowler's day. He went 4-for-4 with six RBI.

Fowler didn't play at Davie as a sophomore but Lightle says to look out in the future.

"He has natural talent, just like Anslo (Fowler's older brother)," Lightle said. "And Walkertown made four errors when he was on base so that's what speed does for you."

Hall went 3-for-5 with two RBIs and Jason Lanier had two hits. Hall also went the distance despite Walkertown's 12 runs.

"I wouldn't do it with a lot of kids," Lightle said. "But a game with a lot of runs doesn't bother Jack."

Fall Ball

Lightle said there are several of his players who could help Dale Ijames and the Legion next season.

"I think Tomberlin can help," he said. "Jason Day is a third baseman who hits lefthanded. And of course, Keene."

Players like Day and Thad Cassidy have proven they could play when given the chance. In fact, Day has flourished, despite being cut as a freshman at North Davie. And Cassidy seldom played until Lightle got hold of him as a sophomore.

"The whole idea behind playing Big League was giving the boys some more at-bats," Lightle said.

Coed League Planned

The Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department is signing teams for a fall co-ed softball league.

The deadline for registration is Aug. 7. Teams are allowed only two Class C men on each team.

Spinners Win Tourney

"We try to play together and hit the ball," Riddle said. "And we use our wheels."

But Pizza Spinners' lead of 9-4 wasn't safe. Sentry bounced right back with four in the bottom of the fifth to trail only 9-8.

The big hit was Ryan Edwards' sizzling liner that rolled all the way to the rightfield fence, scoring Arnold. Edwards tried for home and barely beat Hendrix's throw for Sentry's second homer of the game.

Neither team scored again but Sentry made it interesting in bottom of the seventh before Hutchens made the perfect throw.

"Hutchens has a very accurate arm," Riddle said. "I was very surprised (Correll) tried for home on such a shallow fly ball with their cleanup hitter (Arnold) on deck."

Pizza Spinners thus wrapped up a season in which it was not beaten in the league or tournament. The victory was the Spinners' 16th straight win at Rich Park.

"They played us tough and they've got a pretty good team," Riddle said of the 40-13 Sentry club. "They'll be right back up at the top next year."

Of Sentry's 13 losses, three have come to the Spinners, including two straight in the tournament. The previous night, the Spinners threw Sentry into the loser's bracket with a 14-11 loss. But Jackson was still pleased with the team's progress in its first year together.

"We have a lot of young guys," he said. "We want to keep them together. We want to build for the future."

Notes:

- Pizza Spinners also defeated Wood's Landscaping 11-8 and Millers 12-5 in the tournament.
- Horn's defeated Wood's 7-3 for the right to meet Sentry in the loser's bracket finals. Sentry won that one, 12-9, giving Horn's third place.
- The Spinners outhit Sentry 17-14, led by shortstop Hendrix's 4-for-4 performance, all singles. He came right off the baseball field at Campbell University and never missed a beat. "He's been real solid defensively and has hit the ball," Riddle said.
- Marrs, Vestal, David Tesh and Riddle all had two hits for the Spinners.
- Getting two hits each for Sentry were Correll, Arnold, Burnette and Darby Beck.
- Both Sentry and Pizza Spinners went to the Western North Carolina state Class D tournament in Charlotte last weekend.

Pizza Spinners 2nd In West N.C.

Pizza Spinners played seven consecutive games before losing to Stokesdale in the finals of the NSA N.C. Western Division Class D softball tournament last weekend.

Pizza Spinners, led by the bats of J.C. Hendrix, Dale Barneycastle and Mike Seaford, won its first three games before being knocked into the loser's bracket by another Davie County team — Carter's Construction.

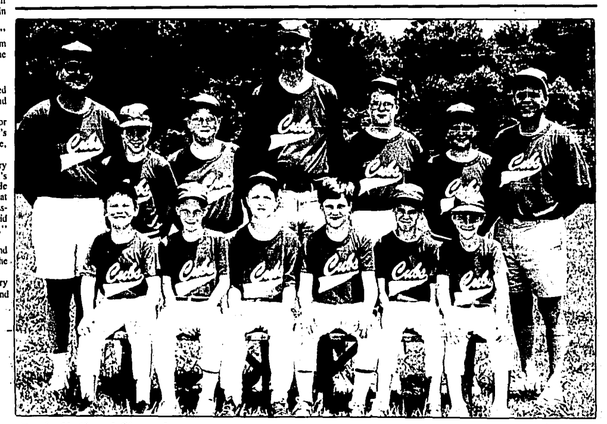
The Spinners then marched through the loser's bracket, including a revenge win over Carter's, before knocking off Phil's Jewelers to win the loser's bracket.

The team had played six consecutive games before falling to Stokesdale in the finals.

Leading the second-place Spinners' team was Hendrix, who batted .677 for the tournament, Barneycastle with a .558 batting average and Seaford, who hit for .588.

Carter's Construction finished fourth.

There were 59 teams entered in the tournament.



Davie National Champions

The Cubs were victorious in their final nine games and won the Davie National Little League championship, finishing 12-4. Team members are (Front row, from left): Andrew Daywalt, Ryan Barnes, Brian Miller, J.R. McClamrock, Lanny Collet and Richard Broadway. (Second row): Coach David Barnes, Shawn Brooks, Derrick Forbes, assistant coach Lanny Collet, Matthew Tuck, Travis Peacock and assistant coach Richard Broadway. Nichols-Pharr Couple Speaks Vows

The Roaring Gap Chapel in Roaring Gap was the setting for the Aug. 1 wedding of Jean Elizabeth Nichols and Allan Lane Pharr. The 6 p.m. double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul W. Riggs, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mocksville.

A program of traditional wedding music was presented by organist, Modene Hendrix of Mocksville and soloist, Mrs. Debo Lawrence of Wilkesboro.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a gown of white sler shantung with an Alencon lace overlay and a bodice with a portrait vee neckline in the front and back. The sheath skirt featured a pointed lace peplum in the front and a detachable chapel-length silk shantung train. The headpiece was of silk shantung with a double bow that attached to a cathedral-length illusion.

The bride carried a bouquet of hand-tied Sterling Star lilies.

Julia C. Nichols of Advance, sister-in-law of the bride, participated as the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Becky C. Nichols of Hickory and Ginger D. Pharr of Clarksville, Va.

The flower girl was Ashley D. Pharr of Clarksville, Va. Ring bearers were Foster G. Nichols of Hickory and Leonard Pharr III of Clarksville, Va.

Honorary attendants were Melissa M. Cartner of Mocksville, who presided at the bridal register, and Lori Johnson of Burlington, who presented bridal programs to the wedding guests.

Charged with directing the ceremony was Ruth M. Rauch of Mocksville.

The groom's best man was his father, Leonard Pharr Sr. of Clarksville, Va. Groomsmen were Leonard Pharr Jr., Randy L. Pharr, and Jonathan G. Pharr, all of Clarksville, Va., and brothers of the groom; Samuel G. Nichols of Hickory, and Robert C. Nichols of Advance, brothers of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam G. Nichols Sr. of Mocksville. She is a graduate of Davie High School in Mocksville and Meredith College, Raleigh with a bachelor's degree in home economics. She is employed by Terry's Floor Fashions of Raleigh as an interior designer.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pharr Sr. of Clarksville, Va. He is a graduate of Bluestone Senior High School, Skipwith, Va., and attended N.C. State University, Raleigh. He is employed as a sales representative by the Organon Teknika Corporation of Durham.

After a honeymoon in Charleston, S.C., the couple will make their home in Raleigh.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nichols Sr. in Roaring Gap. Entertainment was provided by Steve Butner of Salisbury.

Reception

The reception was held for guests and out-of-town friends at the High Meadows Country Club following the ceremony. Entertainment at the reception, which was hosted by the bride's parents, was provided by Mrs. Debo Lawrence.

Social Events

• A luncheon given at Bermuda Run Country Club, Advance, was hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Victor Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Murphy on April 11.

• On May 30, a beach party was given by Mr. and Mrs. James Nichols of Salisbury at their home on High Rock Lake for family and friends.

• On Saturday, June 13, Ruth Short, Sadye Barger, and Kate Wilson hosted a brunch at Miss Lucy's Restaurant in Salisbury.

• A bridal shower was given on Saturday, July 11, hosted by Martha K. Jones, Maxine Smith, and Ginger D. Pharr at the Jones home in Clarksville, Va.

• A party was given on Saturday, July 11, for the groom-elect at the home of J. Lawson Jones in Clarksville, Va.

• On Sunday, July 19, Mr. and Mrs. George McIntyre hosted a breakfast for the couple and their parents at the Holiday Inn, Clemmons.

• A bridesmaids brunch was given by Mrs. Sally McGuire and Mrs. Ann McGuire on Friday, July 31, at the McGuire home in Clemmons. The bride chose this time to honor her attendants with gifts.

• The bridal breakfast was held on Saturday, Aug. 1, and was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rauch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nichols in Roaring Gap.

United In Marriage

Greenwalt-Davis Couple Wed On July 25 At New Union

Mrs. Rex Sterling Davis
... was Althea Renee Greenwalt

Althea Renee Greenawalt and Rex Sterling Davis were united in marriage Saturday, July 25, at the New Union United Methodist Church of Sheffield at 2 p.m. Officiating was the Rev. Billy Jarrett.

A program of wedding music was presented by Letty Smith of Mocksville. Two of the bride's friends, Ashley Meisner and Penny Tapper, sang at the ceremony.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her stepfather, Robert Whisenhunt, and given in marriage by her mother and stepfather. She wore a gown of white bridal satin enhanced with embroidered Chantilly lace with sequins and pearls. The princess-style bodice and neckline were enhanced with pearls, lace and sequins also. The back of the bodice had two strands of pearls which draped above a bouffant bow, and a chapel-length train. The Cathedral-length veil of imported illusion was embellished with a ruffled edge with flowers and pearls.

She carried a traditional bridal bouquet of white and rose silk flowers.

Nancy Whisenhunt, the bride's only sister, served as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Regina Dewitt and Crystal Fleming, both of Mocksville, and Shannon Wilson of Advance.

Tabatha Cline served as the flower girl and her brother, Junior Cline, served as the ring bearer.

The groom's best man was his father, Rex Leland Davis of Harmony. The ushers were his two brothers, Dwight and Rodney Davis, also his uncle, Shannon Holland.

Nita Holland served at the guest register and distributed scrolls to each guest.

The bride is the daughter of Robert and Peggy Whisenhunt of Route 6, Mocksville. She is a 1992 graduate of Davie High School and is employed with McDonalds of Mocksville.

The groom is the son of Rex and Madalyn Davis of Route 1, Harmony. He is a 1988 graduate of North Iredell High School and is employed with Lexington Furniture and Burger King, both of Mocksville.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the basement of the church and hosted by the bride's parents.

Food was catered by Mark Fowler and Scott Frye, both of Mocksville. The servers were Mary Ann Swisher, Faye Keaton, and Doris and Melissa Zamora.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was held and hosted by Rex and Madalyn Davis, the groom's parents at the Mocksville Western Steer. Lois Hoffman was wedding director.

After the wedding, the clean-up crew was Mary Ann Swisher, Kathy Myers, Ruby McBride, Doris Zamora, Faye and Jimmy Keaton, and Vicki Cline.

After a short trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple has made their home on Fred Lanier Road, off Sheffield Road.

Shower

A bridal shower was held for the couple, given by Madalyn Davis, Mary Ann Swisher, Lois Hoffman, and Nita Holland on June 14.

Ijames Crossroads Ceremony Unites White-Bowers Couple

Mrs. Mack Samuel Bowers
... was Rita Luanne White

Rita Luanne White and Mack Samuel Bowers were united in marriage on Saturday, Aug. 1, at 4 p.m. at Ijames Crossroads Baptist Church in Mocksville. The Rev. Connie Mack Bowers, father of the groom, and the Rev. Franklin Myers of Spencer officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mike Hendrix of Mocksville served as organist, and Mrs. Lester Chambers of Statesville and Mrs. Richard Bowers were soloists.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Robin Ellis of Mocksville and Mrs. Mike Stapleton of Statesville, cousins of the bride.

The guest register was attended by Mrs. Randy Trotter of Thomasville, also a cousin of the bride.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a white slipper satin wedding gown with a sabrina neckline and short puffed sleeves covered in Schiffli lace embroidery trimmed with sequin and pearl beading. The dress featured a full ballgown skirt with a double bow in back from which fell a cathedral-length train adorned with Schiffli lace motif cutouts and border. She wore a tiara of lace covered with pearls and sequins from which fell a fingertip veil of illusion with blusher.

She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses, stephanotis, snowdrift and ivy accented by white ribbon.

Mrs. Michael Thompson of Whiteville was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Welborn Jr. and Mrs. John Lassiter, sisters of the groom of Anderson, S.C.; Mrs. Richard Bowers, sister-in-law of the groom of Bowersville, Ga.; Mrs. Benjamin Zachary of Taylorsville; and Mrs. Jeffrey White, sister-in-law of the bride of Salisbury.

Hillary Welborn of Anderson, S.C., niece of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid. Flower girls were Ashby Welborn of Anderson, S.C., and Malia Bowers of Bowersville, Ga., nieces of the groom. Samantha Trotter of Thomasville, cousin of the bride, was honorary flower girl.

The Rev. Richard Bowers, brother of the groom of Bowersville, Ga., served as best man. Groomsmen were Jeffrey White, brother of the bride; Charles Welborn Jr. and Dr. John Lassiter of Anderson, S.C., brothers-in-law of the groom; David Jones of Columbia, S.C.; and Darin Matthews of Greensboro.

Bradley Stapleton, cousin of the bride of Statesville, was junior groomsman. Ring bearers were Drew Stapleton, cousin of the bride of Statesville, and Charles Welborn III of Anderson, S.C., nephew of the groom. Honorary ring bearers were Jay Bowers of Bowersville, Ga., and Will Lassiter of Anderson, S.C., nephews of the groom.

At the front of the church, a large white candle burned in honor of Mrs. John Vassar, and in memory of John Vassar, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Vandiver Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. White, grandparents of the couple.

Honored aunts and uncle were Mr. and Mrs. Reggie L. Ingram Jr. of Mocksville and Mrs. Harold Moorhead of Bowersville, Ga. Honor attendants were Mrs. Tim Warren and Mrs. Keith Haynes of Statesville, former classmates of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. White of Route 8, Mocksville. She is a graduate of Davie High School, Davis Hospital School of Nursing, and received her bachelor's degree in nursing from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. The bride was employed as a registered nurse at Iredell Memorial Hospital in Statesville.

The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Connie Mack Bowers of Route 2, Bowersville, Ga. He is a graduate of Hillcrest High School in Jos, Nigeria, earned a bachelor's degree from Furman University, his master's from East Carolina University and is presently a PhD candidate in the psychology program at the University of Georgia. He will begin an internship at the university counseling center of the University of Florida in Gainesville in mid August.

After a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, the couple will be at home at 4411 SW 34th Street, Apt. 1005, Gainesville, Fla.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the church fellowship hall.

The bridal table was centered with an arrangement of mixed pink and white flowers in a silver epergne. The tables were covered with pink tablecloths with lace overlays.

The menu consisted of chicken salad tarts, miniature ham biscuits, fresh vegetables with dip placed in scooped cabbage heads, cheese pennies, sausage balls, homemade mints and finger sandwiches. The four-tiered wedding cake was iced in white with fresh pink roses and babies breath.

The groom's cake was a rectangular carrot cake with graduated layers iced in cream cheese icing in a basket weave design and a humorous wedding motif.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Larry Tutterow, Mrs. Mike Branham, Mrs. Darnell Gobble, Mrs. Doug White and Mrs. Vic Patti, all of Mocksville.

Rehearsal Dinner

Following the wedding rehearsal on Friday, July 30, the parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner in the church fellowship hall.

Members of the wedding party and close friends of the couple were served a buffet style meal of baked ham, potato salad, green beans, congealed salad, rolls, tea, and fruit cobbler for dessert. The couple chose this time to present their attendants with gifts.

Showers and Parties

• Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welborn Jr. of Anderson, S.C., hosted an engagement party on May 28 at the Holiday Inn in Athens, Ga. Twenty-two friends, classmates, family members and professors of the groom attended.

• On Friday, June 26, the couple was honored with a cookout at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Haynes of Statesville attended by nursing school classmates of the bride.

• The bride-elect was honored with a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Mike Stapleton, Mrs. Sam Cozart and Mrs. Randy Trotter, cousins of the bride; and Mrs. Jeffrey White, sister-in-law of the bride.

Hilton-Ellis Couple United In Marriage At Green Meadows

Kimberly Lynn Hilton of Raleigh and Richard Dale Ellis of Advance were united in marriage Saturday, June 27, at 5 p.m. at Green Meadows Baptist Church in Farmington. The Rev. Ray Davis officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mike Hendrix, organist; and soloists, John Chandler and Regina Chandler.

The wedding was directed by Loretta Sheets of Mocksville.

The bride, presented in marriage by her mother, Virginia Hilton, wore a long formal white satin bridal gown featuring a scalloped, lace-applique neckline extending into a V at the back with a bow attached at the drop-waist, full-length lace applique sleeves accented with seed pearls and puffed at the shoulder, and a fitted lace-covered bodice adorned with pearls. A cathedral train attached to the full skirt was highlighted with lace appliques and seed pearls, and edged in a border of scalloped lace.

For her headpiece, she wore a band of white silk flowers and pearls attached to a fingertip veil of white illusion with bouffant netting accented by a full back pouf.

She carried a cascading bouquet of silk white orchids, fushia and pink roses, with a mixture of lavender and other spring-colored flowers and English ivy.

— HEARING TESTS SET FOR MOCKSVILLE —

Free electronic hearing tests will be given by the Beltone Hearing Care Center at Jim Kelly's Nationwide Insurance Office, 281 N. Main St., Mocksville, Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have the test. Many people with hearing problems don't need hearing aids. But only a modern hearing test like the one now being offered by Beltone can really tell for sure. North Carolina licensed hearing Aid Dispensers will conduct the tests.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year — even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them. Only a hearing test can determine if modern methods of hearing amplification can help them hear better.

The free hearing tests will be given Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Please call 1-800-131-9884 to arrange for appointment to avoid waiting. In home testing is also available.

Taylor-Beck Couple United In Marriage

The wedding of Leigh Ann Taylor of Burlington to Keith Kesler Beck of Goldsboro was held Saturday, Aug. 1, at St. Timothy United Methodist Church in Brevard at 4 p.m. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Tom Latimer.

A program of wedding music was presented by Ann English, organist; Laura Parsons, trumpeter; and Curtis Gardin, pianist and soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a formal gown of white Alencon lace and layered tulle. The gown featured a sweet heart neckline, puffed lace sleeves which tapered to the wrist, a basque waist and a keyhole back. The fully gathered tulle skirt flowed into a chapel-length train. The bodice of the gown was done entirely in hand-beaded lace overlay featuring clear sequins and seed pearls. The sleeves were done in English net covered with beaded Alencon lace. The layered tulle skirt and train were sprinkled throughout with iridescent sequins. The bride's headpiece was a pearl and crystal tiara with pouf and a double layered waltz-length veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, stepanotis and cateleya orchids.

Jonlyn Galloway of Cary was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tamara Taylor Brown of Savannah, Ga.; Coleen Byrd of Brevard; Angie Overman of Salisbury; and Delihia Gilbert of Penrose.

Claude H. Beck of Mocksville was his son's best man. Ushering were Greg Beck of Raleigh; Darrin Hunter of Lexington; Jeff Beck of Mocksville; and Chad Taylor of Pisgah Forest.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis L. Taylor of Pisgah Forest. She is a graduate of Brevard High School, Johnson &. Wales University, Charleston, S.C.; earned associate degrees in culinary arts, and hospitality, management and administration from Asheville Buncombe Technical Community College. She is employed as a clubhouse manager for Alamance Country Club, Burlington.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Beck of Route 4, Mocksville. He is a graduate of Davie High School, N.C. State University, Raleigh, with degrees in turfgrass management and ornamental landscape. He is employed by Lane Tree Golf Course, Goldsboro, as a golf course superintendent.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was given in the couple's honor at Silvermont Mansion in Brevard. Hosts were the bride's parents.

Rehearsal Dinner

An after-rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents Friday evening at the Red Lion Inn in Rosman. Guests included the wedding party, family members and out-of-town guests.

The couple will make their home in Goldsboro following a honeymoon to an un-disclosed destination.

Yadkin Valley News

By Mrs. Ruby McBride
Yadkin Valley Correspondent

Don't forget Bible School at Yadkin Valley next week Aug. 10-14 from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. All children have a special invitation.

Mrs. Alma King celebrated her 86th birthday with a decorated cake and a large crowd of the Howards, Kings and their families and a lot of families from the church. A large table of food was enjoyed by all. She received a lot of gifts. The pastor and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Craddock and girls, were there also.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hart and Jonathan, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bailey returned home on Sunday after a few days at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The Senior Choir of Yadkin Valley all enjoyed homemade ice cream and cake on Saturday 6 p.m. and afterwards enjoyed singing and practicing songs to sing in the 11 o'clock service on Sunday. Our church service now is on WDSL Mocksville Radio Station each Sunday from 11 to 12 o'clock during the month of August.

A service will be held at Meadowbrook Manor on Aug. 8 for all who wish to go and sing for the members of the home. They always enjoy it.

Ijames Homecoming Aug. 9

The annual homecoming will be held at Ijames Cross Roads Baptist Church on Aug. 9. Dinner will be in the fellowship hall immediately following the 11 a.m. service.

R.C. Harris and Blue Denim will perform at 7 p.m. as a kick-off musical for the revival the following week.

The speaker for the revival will be Dr. Ray Hamilton, pastor of Konnoak Baptist Church in Winston-Salem.

Hamilton is a native of Seneca, S.C. He is a graduate of Clemson University, and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He is married to the former Jackie Sears, has two children: Karen Hamilton and Cindy Swain, and two grandchildren: Kristy and Kelly Swain. Hamilton pastored churches in Mt. Airy and Jonesville before coming to Konnoak.

The services will begin at 7:30 with special singing each evening.

Evans To Be Guest At Fork

Sunday morning at 10:45, Pastor Ken Evans will deliver the homecoming message at Fork Baptist Church.

Sunday School will start at 9:45. Following the homecoming message, dinner will be served in the new fellowship hall at 12:30. Everyone is invited to bring a picnic basket.

During the morning service, Karen Pruette, youth minister, will welcome the people. A former member, Dr. Jane Smith Hall, will respond. Fred Wilson will lead the singing.

Evans has served as pastor for 1½ years, having assumed the pastorate in January, 1991. He and Cathy have four children, Jennifer, Benjamin, Caleb, and Joshua.

Fork Baptist Church is located approximately six miles east of Mocksville on U.S. 64. No afternoon or evening services are scheduled.

Club Members Attend Institute

Eleven members of the Mocksville Woman's Club attended the General Federation of Women's Clubs/North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs District Six Summer Institute hosted by the China Grove Woman's Club at St. Mark's Lutheran Church on Tuesday, July 28.

District Six President Martha Kontos of Advance and Juniors Director Wendy Carriker of Mount Airy welcomed members from 18 clubs throughout the district.

Workshops were conducted for department and division chairmen in arts, conservation, education, home life, international and public affairs, as well as reporting, membership and club finances. An innovative discovery room featured displays and literature was made available for all phases of club work.

Following the buffet dinner, Barbara Volk of Hendersonville, NCFWC first vice president, welcomed members "All Aboard the Federation Railroad." Jane Carver of Andrews, NCFWC second vice president, presented "The Three R's of Federation."

Certificates and awards were presented by several district representatives.

The Mocksville Club received certificates for: being an NCFWC Honors Club; the "Kind News Certificate of Caring" awarded by the National Association for Humane and Environmental Education; and the GFWC/District Six Federation Day Award.

In addition, the club received a Silver Bell honoring Juanita Bryant as a part of the 1992 Federation Day Award.

Doris Carman, club president, received a gift recognizing her as a "First-Timer" district workshop participant. Drawings for door prizes were made at the close of the assembly.

Representing the local club were: Margaret Bost and Sue Peeler of Salisbury; Doris Carman, Helen Humston, Betty Hall, Doris Ruby, Ellen Hunt, Louise Dickinson, Dorothy Smith and Gail Kelly, all of Mocksville; Billie Hicks and Margaret Hart of Advance.

Group Seeks Meal Deliverers

The Home-Delivered Meals Program needs volunteers to help deliver meals to homebound senior citizens, Monday-Friday from 10:30 a.m.-noon.

Mileage reimbursement of $.25 per mile for mileage incurred in delivery of meals is available.

"Without community support, this program will not be able to continue helping older adults in Mocksville to remain in their homes," said Barbara C. Hall, program coordinator. "Please consider donating one day a week or a month to help deliver meals to older adults in need."

For more information, contact: Freda West, Davie County Senior Center, 704-634-2187.

Advance News

By Edith Zimmerman
Advance Correspondent

The young adults of the Methodist Church entertained the Senior Citizens of the community with a supper at the community building Sunday evening at 6 p.m. Among the 115 people attending were Senior Citizens from Mocks, Elbaville and Fulton Methodist churches, Advance Baptist and Bixby Presbyterian. Entertainment was by the children of the church who sang, tap danced and did puppet shows. A sing-along followed the children's event involving the entire group. Senior Citizens from various nursing homes were bused in for the supper.

An unusually large crowd attended the Golden Wedding Reception for Taylor and Sudie Howard Sunday afternoon at the VFW Building.

Mrs. Moselle Ratledge is now a resident at Silas Creek Manor in Winston-Salem.

Miss Tracy Sory spent last week in Tennessee with a group from the Mocksville YMCA. They enjoyed white-water rafting and many other activities during the week.

Recycling Day is held the first Saturday in each month at the parking lot of Shady Grove School from 9 a.m. to noon. This is a volunteer program and many new volunteers are needed for this worthy cause.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Ken Hoots, who died last week at Forsyth Hospital. Also sympathy to the Talbert family in the death of their sister-in-law, Mrs. Ara Cornatzer Talbert who was found dead in her home last Saturday in Winston-Salem.

Randy Zimmerman had the misfortune to be bitten by a poisonous snake last Thursday while working on the Phillips Farm. Randy was hospitalized at Davie Hospital for two days.

Spanish Camp Held

Eleven Davie children have gone south of the border and overseas for a while this summer.

They took part in the first Spanish Camp sponsored by the Mocksville-Davie Parks and Recreation Department.

"They're doing a lot of fun games and they're reviewing a lot to help them out in school," said Tammy Couch, director of the week-long day camp.

"They're doing a lot of real active things they can't do in school," she said.

All but one of the children, ranging from kindergarten age through seventh graders, have had some Spanish classes in school, Couch said.

As well as catching up on Spanish skills at the camp, the children have made pinatas, Indian bracelets, Mexican mirror plates, learned dances and studied geography.

And because the Olympics are being held in Spain, they're studying the 1992 Games, Couch said.

Couch and Recreation Director Mike Garner came up with the idea for the camp. She had done a similar camp in another town.

In The Military

Jamie N. Norman Completes Basic Training

PV2 Jamie N. Norman, the son of the late James Norman, and Nancy and Billy Myers of Route 2, Advance, has completed Army basic training at Ft. Benning, Ga., with the D company, 2nd Battalion, 58th infantry.

He is a senior at Davie High School and plans to go to Airborne School with the Army after he graduates.

Two Participate In Operation Ocean Venture

Navy Seaman Robert W. Hilterbrand and Marine Cpl. Bradley L. Smith recently returned from Operation Ocean Venture, the largest joint U.S. forces exercise using airborne mine countermeasure operations since Operation Desert Storm.

The units practiced minesweeping and amphibious landings off the coast of Morehead City. They used a variety of methods of mine hunting sonar and detonating devices to clear the way for Navy surface vessels.

Hilterbrand, the son of Debbie Porter of Route 5, Mocksville, is with Assault Craft Unit Two, Naval Amphibious Base Little Creek, Norfolk, Va.

He is a 1990 graduate of Forbush High School who joined the Navy in January, 1991.

Smith, the son of Bob L. and Ada S. Smith of Route 5, Mocksville, is with Headquarters Battalion, 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune.

A 1983 graduate of Davie High School, Smith joined the Marine Corps in March 1987. His wife, DeLane, is the daughter of Wesley T. and Dianne T. Vestal of Route 8, Mocksville.

Jeffrey G. York Deployed By U.S. Air Force To Norway

Sgt. Jeffrey G. York has deployed to Norway in support of a short-term tactical exercise named Coronet Tranch, a part of a larger program called Checkered Flag in which U.S.-based tactical air units deploy to Europe, the Pacific and Southwest Asia.

The purpose is to familiarize aircrews and support people with overseas operating bases, areas, and procedures.

York, a tactical aircraft maintenance specialist, is the son of John G. and Deanna K. York of Route 1, Advance. He is a 1986 graduate of Davie High School.

Staff Sgt. Gordon W. Rivenburg Re-Enlists In U.S. Army

Staff Sgt. Gordon W. Rivenburg has re-enlisted in the U.S. Army for three years. He is a platoon sergeant. His wife, Army Staff Sgt. Lisa J. Rivenburg, is the daughter of Edward and Ruth Dietz of Pudding Ridge Road.

Bryan D. Green Completes Army Tour Of Duty To Korea

U.S. Army Capt. Bryan D. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Green of Route 9, Mocksville, recently completed an unaccompanied tour of duty overseas in the Republic of Korea.

Green earned the meritorious service medal for accomplishments as installation transportation officer, 34th area support group, U.S. Army Garrison Yongsan, Seoul, Korea. He earned the Army Commendation Medal during his tour of duty for coordinating the transportation support for President Bush's visit to Korea in January.

Green's next assignment will be the 24th Infantry Division, Fort Stewart, Ga. He will be joined at Fort Stewart by his wife, Blair and son, Derek. He is a 1979 graduate of Davie High School and a 1984 graduate of Appalachian State University.

Navy Seaman Apprentice Graduates From Electronics School

Navy Seaman Apprentice Michael L. McKnight, son of Von L. and Glenda S. McKnight of Route 3, Mocksville, recently graduated from basic electronics technician school.

During the course at Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla., he received introductory instruction in electronic circuit concepts, radar principles and the basics of radio transmitters and receivers. Studies also included procedures for repairing amplifiers, transmitters, receivers and power supply lines. The 1989 graduate of Davie High School joined the Navy in October 1991.

Navy Petty Officer Returns From Six-Month Deployment

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class John J. Waynick, son of Jack E. Waynick of Route 3, Mocksville, recently returned aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Antietam, homeported in Long Beach, Calif., from a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific. Antietam participated in numerous bilateral exercises which tested the ship and crew's capabilities in all warfare areas. The Aegis cruiser traveled more than 27,000 nautical miles across the Western Pacific.

Waynick visited Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, Brunei, Australia and Fiji. During the ship's visit to Pattaya Beach, Thailand, the crew hosted a Texas-style barbecue for more than 300 students and staff at a local boy's home.

USS Antietam is a multi-mission Ticonderoga-class cruiser armed with missiles, guns, torpedoes and helicopters.

He joined the Navy in August 1986.

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast

Milder — but still hot — temperatures should continue through the weekend, according to the National Weather Service.

Skies should be variably cloudy Friday-Sunday, with a chance of showers and thundershowers each day. High temperatures should be in the mid-80s, with lows in the mid-60s.

PUBLIC NOTICES

HEARING ON A PROPOSED EXTENSION OF THE BERMUDA CENTER SANITARY DISTRICT SEWER SYSTEM

BE IT RESOLVED by the Bermuda Center Sanitary District Board of Directors:

A. The Directors of the Bermuda Center Sanitary District hereby find as a fact that the residents and freeholders of the property known as Riverbend Area "A" (which includes Lots 84 and 85, Section 6, Plat Book 4, Page 84, Lots 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64 and 65, Section 7, Plat Book 4, Page 85 and Lots 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91 and 92, Section 8, Plat Book 4, Page 86 and portions of Riverbend Drive, Rotunda Circle, Hellert Court and Fescue Drive) of Bermuda Run, North Carolina are without sewer mains and that the directors find as a fact that public interest and necessity and the protection of public health require that sewer be made available on said street or streets hereinabove set out, and that the abutting property will be benefitted by such improvements to the extent of the part of the cost thereof to be assessed against the abutting property.

B. That the local improvements to be made on the streets or portion of streets hereinabove set out, because of public interest and necessity and the protection of public health, are as follows:

1. Sanitary Sewer Improvement. That a sanitary sewer main be laid in the street hereinabove name within the limits defined, and that necessary laterals be laid for the proper connection of abutting property with said sewer main.

C. That, if said local improvements are ordered made, the proportion of the cost thereof to be specially assessed and the terms of payments will be as follows:

1. Special Assessments. $4,500 per lot for sanitary sewer mains will be assessed against all properties having frontage on the street in which said improvements are to be constructed together with the pro rata share of the cost incurred as a result of the assessment including, but not limited to, the cost of necessary legal services, and the cost of publishing and mailing notices and resolutions.

2. Terms of Payment. Said assessments will be payable in full within thirty days after the day that notice of confirmation of the assessment roll is published. Assessments will bear interest at the rate of eight percent per annum from the date of confirmation of the assessment roll; provided, that any such assessment may be paid in full in cash, without interest, within thirty days from the date of publication of notice or confirmation of the assessment roll.

D. That a public hearing be held by the Bermuda Center Sanitary District Board of Directors at seven o'clock p.m. on August 19, 1992, in the district offices in the Hillsdale Professional Park Highway 158 and 801 to determine finally whether said improvements shall be made.

E. All objections to the legality of the making of said improvements shall be made in writing, signed in person or by attorney and filed with the Secretary to the Board of the Bermuda Center Sanitary District at or before the time of the public hearing hereinbefore provided for and any objections not so made will be waived.

F. That this resolution be published as notice in a newspaper qualified for legal advertising in Davie County, North Carolina, not less than ten days prior to said hearing.

Adopted this the 16th day of July, 1992.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
BEFORE THE BOARD OF
COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE
FOLLOWING ZONING AMENDMENTS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, Pursuant to the requirements of Article 20-B of Chapter 153 of the General Statutes of North Carolina and Article XIII of the Davie County Ordinance that the Board of County Commissioners of Davie County will hold a public hearing in the Davie County Administration Building, Mocksville, N.C. on Monday, August 17, 1992, at 7:00 p.m. The following proposed zoning amendments will be considered.

A) A proposed set of development design guidelines of north-eastern Davie County will be reviewed for endorsement by the Board. One may recall that when the Quality Overlay Zone was adopted by the Board of Commissioners in January, 1992, the need for a set of "design guidelines" was also discussed. Unlike the overlay zone, which is a set of regulations within the body of the zoning ordinance, the design guidelines represent a set of principles which should be followed in the development of the area.

B) Environmental Waste Recycling, Inc. represented by Dennis and Grace Draman, submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-20 to Industrial I-4 - Special Use Zoning. This property lies off the northern end of Boger Road (SR 1438) and is shown as a 19± acre portion of parcel 10 of Davie County Tax Map E-6.

C) Piedmont Auto Sales, represented by attorney Jim Eubanks, submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-20 to Highway Business - Special Use Zoning. This two (2) acre parcel lies off the east side of Fork-Baby Road (SR 1811) approximately .2 mile north of Fulton Road (SR 1612) and is shown as a front portion of parcel B-1 of Tax Map J-7-5.

Signs will be posted on each of the above listed locations to advertise the public hearing. All parties and interested citizens are invited to attend said public hearing at which time they shall have an opportunity to be heard in favor of or in opposition to the foregoing proposed changes. Prior to the hearing all persons interested may obtain any additional information on these proposals which are in the possession of the Davie County Zoning Enforcement Office between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. weekdays or by telephone at 704-634-3340.

COMMISSIONER'S
NOTICE OF SALE OF
REAL PROPERTY

Pursuant to Orders of the Honorable Samuel A. Cathey, District Court Judge dated July 1, 1992, and the Honorable Robert W. Johnson, dated July 8, 1992, the undersigned commissioners shall offer for sale at public auction the following described real estate and improvements, if any located in Davie County, North Carolina and the following personal property:

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY TO BE SOLD:

All being in Jerusalem Township, Davie County, North Carolina

TRACT ONE: BEGINNING at an iron pin in the center of Cooleemee Junction Road, N.C. 1016, said iron pin being South 27 degs. 5 min. East 171 feet from an iron stake, the Southeast corner of Tract 12 as shown on a plat recorded in Plat Book 3, page 24, Davie County Registry; runs thence a new line South 62 degs. 55 min. West 250 feet to an iron stake; thence a new line South 27 degs. 5 min. East 250 feet to an iron stake; thence a new line North 62 degs. 55 min. East 250 feet to an iron pin in the center of said N.C. Road 1016; thence with the center of said Cooleemee Junction Road, N.C. 1016, North 27 degs. 5 min. West 250 feet TO THE BEGINNING, containing 1.43 acres, more or less, as surveyed by J.C. Comer, Davie County Surveyor, on May 24, 1967.

This conveyance is subject to those conditions restrictions, reservations, and easements contained in the deed from Erwin Mills, Inc.

For back title see Deed Book 83, at Page 559. This tract is also known as parcel 29 of Davie County tax map M-4 dated March 28, 1976.

TRACT TWO: Being a tract of land located in Jerusalem Township, Davie County, North Carolina, bounded on the East by the centerline of the Carolina Midland Railroad, on the South and West by the South Fork meanderings of the centerline of Bear Creek, on the North by Davie Academy Road (S.R. 1116), and described as follows:

Being a tract of land shown as Tract No. 3 on a plat of survey entitled "Map No. C, Erwin Mills, Inc. Property, Cooleemee, N.C." by G. Sam Rowe, Registered Engineer 0827, dated October 1953, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Davie County, North Carolina, in Plat Book 3, Page 25, containing 80.4 acres, more or less.

Save and except from the foregoing described Tract a parcel of land containing 4.8 acres, more or less, conveyed to the State of North Carolina by Erwin Mills, Inc., in a Deed dated September 19, 1958, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Davie County in Deed Book 61, Page 133.

And save and except from the said Tract No. 3 an adequate access for the right of egress and ingress of the State of North Carolina to the above described 4.8 acre tract.

Also save and except a certain 6.9 acre tract described in Deed Book 162, at Page 359.

The land described herein is conveyed subject to rights of the North Carolina Midland Railroad and conditions, restrictions, reservations, and easements of record.

For back title see Deed Book 97, at Page 785. This tract is also known as parcel 12 of Davie County tax map M-4.

TRACT THREE: BEING Lots Nos. 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96 and 97 of the Sam Foster Subdivision, as per survey and plats made by A.L. Bowles, Surveyor, May, 1953, and said plats recorded in Map Book No. 3, Pages Nos. 15 and 16, in the Register of Deeds Office of Davie County, North Carolina, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

Also included with the above described lots is a triangular portion of that 1 acre lot described in Deed Book 35 at Page 149 and being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron pin, the Northeast corner of the within described tract and the Northwest corner of the 60 foot lot running from Highway 801 to Tract 5 (Plat Book 3 at Page 18), said point of beginning also being the Southeast corner of Lot 74 of the Sam Foster Subdivision (Plat Book 3 at Page 15) and the Southwest corner of Tract 5, running thence from the point and place of beginning with the Western boundary of said 60 foot lot South 18 deg. 19 min. 07 sec. East 89.80 feet to an iron pin lying 1.1 feet North of the edge of pavement of Highway 801, said point also being the Southeast corner of the within described tract and the Southwest corner of said 60 foot lot, thence with Highway 801 South 71 deg. 40 min. 53 sec. West 274.81 feet to an iron pin, Westernmost corner of the within described tract and the Southwestern corner of Lot 74 (Plat Book 3 at Page 15), said point also lying in the Eastern margin of Whet Stone Drive, thence with the Southern boundary of Lot 74 North 53 deg. 34 min. 25 sec. East 288.92 feet to the point and place of BEGINNING, containing 0.283 acres, including a portion of the right of way of Highway 801, as per plat and survey of Grady L. Tutterow, RLS, dated 4-18-86.

This tract is also known as parcel A-13 of Davie County Tax Map L-5-14.

TRACT FOUR: BEGINNING at a point at the intersection of the North edge of right of way of Highway 801 and the West edge of a dirt street leading from Highway 801, being the Southeast corner of the within described tract, and also to Southeast corner of a certain 2.47 acre tract described in a certain deed recorded in Deed Book 54, at page 134, Davie County Registry, runs thence with the West edge of said dirt street North, 35 degs. West 215 feet to a point, an iron stake, Elizabeth Tucker's new corner; thence South 71 degs. West 100 feet to a point, an Iron stake, Elizabeth B. Tucker's new corner; thence South 35 degs. East 215 feet to a point, an Iron stake in the North edge of right of way of said Highway 801, Elizabeth B. Tucker's new corner; thence North 71 degs. East 100 feet to the BEGINNING, containing forty-nine hundredths (.49) of an acre, more or less, as surveyed by A.L. Bowles, County Surveyor, May 20, 1964, and being a portion of that certain 2.47 acre tract above described.

For back title see Deed recorded in Deed Book 71, page 344 and Book 152, page 21, Davie County Registry.

This tract is also known as parcel A-9 of Davie County Tax Map M-5-3.

FAMILY REUNIONS

You know I went to a family reunion Sunday. I went to see people that I don't get to see very much. We laughed and talked and had a great time. But there are always some people who stand away from everyone else. They stand and gossip and judge people. As for me, there is just one person who has the right to judge people. But I guess why they were late getting to the reunion, they were at church. I bet they sat in the front too.

We left that reunion and went to my mother-in-laws to eat instead. All she has to live on is a small monthly check, but the food and the company were great. She also lives in an old house, the kind my mother and father raised five children in.

I will go back to the reunion next year. I will take my own yard chairs and maybe a few extra so I can sit and visit with the nice relatives that I do have.

Colleen Stanley Strain

Hi! My name is Clint Slater and I just celebrated my first birthday on July 29. I had a birthday party at my house on Saturday, Aug. 1, with all my family and friends. My parents, Gray and Tracy Slater, hosted my party. We had hamburgers, hot dogs, a cake with cars and clowns on it and ice cream. I got a lot of great presents! Special guests were my grandparents, Larry and Ernestine Parker and Dan and Kathy Slater. My great-grandmas, Lorena West and Lois Parker, also came. Aunts, uncles, and cousins came from Yadkinville, Clemmons, Mocksville, and Bassett, Va., to celebrate with me. I had a very special friend, Harry Janocha, to come all the way from Munich, Germany. We had a really great time.

Hi! My name is Miss Emily Laurne Carter and I turned one-year-old on Wednesday, August 5. My Daddy, Tony Carter, surprised me with a birthday cook-out at my home. I celebrated with a Rocking Horse Cake and ice cream. My guests were my sister Lindsay, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Carter, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Correll, my Great-Grandmother Doub, all my uncles, aunts, cousins and very special friends. I would like to thank everyone for the very special gifts and for making my birthday so very special. I love you all!

South Davie Schedules Available

Students from South Davie may begin picking up their schedules on Aug. 13 from 8 a.m.-noon and 1-3 p.m.

Schedules will also be available during the open house on Aug. 17 from 7-8:30. Students will need to pay fees before receiving schedules. There is a $5 instructional fee and a $5 P.E. fee.

Insurance information will be available to parents.

Wall Gets Tutterow Scholarship

Angela Wall, a 1992 graduate of Davie High School, has been selected to receive the $400 Jim Tutterow Scholarship.

The scholarship was established in memory of Jim Tutterow, who was a teacher at Davie High School.

Wall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Wall. She will be attending the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Student Learns Leadership

Neil Cornatzer, son of Kathy Cornatzer of Advance and a ninth-grader at North Davie Junior High School, is one of 300 students attending the Legislators' School for Youth Leadership Development at Western Carolina University.

The students in eighth through 12th grades in the western half of North Carolina are on the WCU campus for a three-week session to foster potential leaders among students in North Carolina. The Legislators' School for Youth Leadership Development is funded by the General Assembly and operated by WCU's Office for Rural Education. Concurrent sessions for 300 students in the eastern part of the state operate at East Carolina University.

The program consists of academic and special interest classes in photography, journalism, computers and other topics. Activities include hiking and white-water rafting, community service such as roadside cleanups and trail maintenance, and a Youth Speak Out where students work with area leaders on solutions to social and economic issues.

Jess Harper celebrated his 65th birthday recently in good company. Gathered around him were family members representing five generations.

The birthday dinner was held at the home of Beulah L. Harper in Mocksville. Among the guests were Jess' sister, Ellen Howard, her husband, Johnny, their children and their families.

Mother Killed While Baby Is In Her Arms

Brother Also Shot, Ex-Boyfriend Arrested

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A Route 7, Mocksville teenager was shot to death Monday morning while holding her 1½-year-old baby.

Her ex-boyfriend, also the baby's father, is in jail charged with first-degree murder.

Rolanda Evette Howell, 17, was in bed with her baby in her parent's house off Eric Lane at about 8 a.m. Monday.

She awoke to find a pistol pointed at her by her ex-boyfriend, said Davie Sheriff's Detective Lt. John Stephens.

He is accused of shooting her in the back of the head. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Her brother, Trevor Olanda "Fonzie" Howell, 15, was asleep in another bedroom.

One of the suspects shot Fonzie in the face from close range, Stephens said. The teen appeared to have just gotten out of bed when he was shot. He was taken to N.C. Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem, where he was listed in critical condition in an intensive care unit on Tuesday afternoon.

Police didn't know about the shootings until about an hour later, when the suspects walked into the sheriff's office with a relative saying they had just shot two people.

William Chris Gregory, 18, was later arrested for first-degree murder, breaking and entering, and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury.

He was placed in the Davie County Jail without privilege of bond, pending a Sept. 3 first-appearance hearing in Davie District Court.

The sheriff's department also filed the same charges against a 14-year-old boy who was with Gregory, Stephens said. He was taken into custody and housed in the Forsyth County Juvenile Detention Center.

Detective Allen Whitaker said that Gregory admitted to shooting the girl. The pistol was found next to her body. Investigators aren't sure who shot her brother, or which victim was shot first.

Stephens said there were no signs of a struggle before the shootings. The parties didn't have a history of violence either, he said.

"She was breaking it up," he said. "I think it was a jealous thing. I'm not aware of other problems, just arguing ... saying let's call it quits."

Masonic And DEU Picnic Saturday

Williams

The 108th Annual Masonic and DEU Picnic will be held at Clement Grove in Mocksville Saturday, Aug. 15.

This picnic is held annually, in the interest of the Masonic Lodge, The Davie Educational Union, and support of North Carolina Central Children's Home of Oxford and for the higher education of boys and girls of Davie County.

At 2:30 p.m., there will be an address delivered by Lula Goolsby Williams.

She is a native of Mocksville, received her high school education at Davie County Training School, Mocksville. She received her bachelor's degree from Bennett College, Greensboro, and her master's degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo.

ABC Distributes Profits

ABC Board members on Monday night approved the disbursements of profits, some of which are mandated by state law.

Approximately $3,750 will be paid every three months, said ABC Store Manager Jim Helmstetler.

Other monies staying in Cooleemee during the last fiscal year were $917 for law enforcement, and $1,284 for alcohol education and rehabilitation. These state-mandated disbursements are based on store profits.

COOLEEMEE — The town here is expected to receive $15,000 from ABC Store profits in the upcoming fiscal year.

Davie County received $3,218 from the ABC Store last year, monies derived from a tax of one-cent per mini-bottle and five-cent for all other bottles. That money has traditionally been put in the DARE program to teach school children about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse, Helmstetler said.

Davie Schools To Keep The Same Principals

Principals in Davie schools for the upcoming year will be the same.

Earlier in the summer, there was speculation of a wholesale change in school principals.

Davie Schools Superintendent Dr. William P. Steed decided not to follow through with any of the changes.

Principal and assistant principal assignments for the 1992-93 school year are:

- Cooleemee Elementary: Vernon D. Thompson, principal; Lorene Markland, assistant principal.
- Davie High: Robert J. Landry, principal; Melvin Fogg, assistant principal; Linda Freeze, assistant principal.
- Mocksville Elementary: Jefferson L. Albarty, principal; Pamela Jewell, assistant principal.
- Mocksville Middle: William P. Campbell, principal; Curtis Helms, assistant principal.
- North Davie Jr. High: W.G. Potts, principal; Charles Markland, assistant principal.
- Pinebrook Elementary: Larry L. Jones, principal; Larry Lanier, assistant principal.
- Shady Grove Elementary: Larry A. Bridgewater, principal; Mary H. Sine, assistant principal.
- South Davie Jr. High: Julius E. Suiter, principal; Patsy D. Crenshaw, assistant principal.
- William R. Davie Elementary: Linda M. Jones, principal; Lorene Markland, assistant principal.

Joe Campbell Couldn't Escape His Past

In a matter of minutes, Joe Campbell transformed from an ordinary guy to America's most wanted criminal.

He was declared an outlaw. Anybody — policeman or any citizen — could shoot him on sight. About 200 law officers from every direction swept into Farmington to find him.

Joe Campbell — Morrey Joe Campbell, as he became known to the world — was described as a ruthless killer. Twice on May 30, 1975 he had been just that. He had killed a Davie County deputy who had pulled him over on Redland Road. Less than an hour later he killed a Forsyth County deputy who had chased him out of Clemmons on U.S. 158 at Redland Road again.

Campbell will be forever known as one of Davie County's most notorious killers. That reputation still surprises me as much now as 17 years ago. I knew him growing up at Farmington Elementary School. He was older, but a younger brother was in my class.

The manhunt ended a half-mile from my family's farm on Spillman Road. Nothing had ever happened in Farmington before. I had planned to come home from college that weekend, but put it off because the semester was almost over.

I later covered Campbell's trial for The Salisbury Post — moved to Alexander County before Superior Court Judge Julius Rousseau. District Attorney H.W. "Butch" Zimmerman Jr. had vowed to win a death sentence for Campbell. The state's capital punishment law was overturned before the trial.

That saved Campbell from a date with the gas chamber. There have always been murmurs of a conflict between Campbell and Deputy Wayne Gaither. The second murder — of Forsyth deputy Jack Renigar — stirred Judge Rousseau's wrath more. Renigar was shot from ambush while attempting to warn motorists away. The headlights of a car fell on him, and the fatal shot rang out.

At the trial, Zimmerman walked over to Campbell, pointed his finger in his face and screamed, "He ought to die." Campbell wilted.

The trial was swift. Two guilty pleas were accepted. Zimmerman recited the evidence. Campbell was escorted away to prison with a combined sentence of 160 years.

His suicide two weeks ago stirred again those vivid moments forever etched in the memories of law officers and the Farmington community. No doubt Campbell had difficulty adjusting to the things he had done. There was no escaping his tag of "cop killer." There was no undoing what had been done.

A quick decision had started it all. The decision to pull a gun and shoot. The decision later to shoot again rather than run. According to the evidence at so many trials, people "go bad" at a single moment. With little thought. They do something they will forever regret and never be able to recover from. Joe Campbell killed two men.

This week brings news again of another bizarre decision. A pretty young mother and her brother were awakened Monday and shot in their home. The mother is dead. The brother is critically wounded. A year-old baby was left to wander for an hour in the house around his mother's body.

The baby's father is charged with murder.

Who can understand it?

Articles Don't Show Jealously

To the editor:

In reference to Jennie O. Schilagi's arrogant letter last week, I would like to defend Mike Barnhardt. His articles have never shown jealousy of the people "behind the fence."

Living "behind the fence" is not an earned right that comes from working hard.

Those of us who do have real jobs seem to be the smarter ones. We can buy bigger houses and bigger yards since we don't have to use our paychecks to finance "the fence."

Rhonda Gaither
Advance

Columnist Tells It Like It Is

To the editor:

I am thankful I'm American living in Davie County — where we can say what we feel. As for Mike Barnhardt, he is saying things as he and other people see them. We of Davie County have been brought up to be upstanding citizens, making Davie County a better place to live in. We are not ashamed of our heritage. And we don't have to live behind a fence. Why shucks, we keep our cows and goats behind a fence. Nobody can get in to your wonderful fence without passing a guard. Same as a prison, huh? Mike Barnhardt has a good education or he couldn't be a reporter. He works an honest job to feed his family. He probably doesn't own a Cadillac or town car. His old pickup takes him there and back and I am sure he is proud of it.

So here's to Mike, keep the good news coming and thanks for telling it like it is.

Prayers Better Than Bombs

To the editor:

"I want prayer back in the schools." These are the first words from President Bush's and other politicians' mouths when they campaign in our state. In the real world they talk entirely different.

The first thing out of their mouth is, "Let's bomb them." They want to bomb Saddam again and are in huddles about bombing Serba. Why, if they believe in the power of prayer so much, don't they call for prayers and sit back and let them be answered?

Are we going to be the war freak for the world? Is this "the new world order"? (Sacrifice Americans) We have found out that bombing alone doesn't always work, sanctions are not given a chance to work. Being a nation under "God" why not turn to him. Pray instead of wanting to bomb all the time.

Shady Grove Has Positive Influence

To the editor:

As parents who are involved with what really goes on at Shady Grove, we are anxious to clear the air and let all of the parents who have students attending our school know what a real positive experience their children will have to look forward to when school starts.

We wish Connie Little, who wanted to pursue her career at the Jr. High level, the best of luck at North Davie. Cindy Ends, our Speech Therapist last year, will certainly be missed, but we understand her wanting to take a job in Davidson County where she also lives. Everyone at Shady Grove will miss Judy Sherrill who will teach at the third grade level at Mocksville Elementary. Mr. Bridgewater, our principal, could have stood in the way of her transfer but chose not to stifle a career choice.

If anyone wishes to really see what goes on in our school, we urge you to come and join the volunteer program and get involved with something that is positive. Become a part of the school that will really allow you to make a difference.

Our school board, superintendent, principals and other administrators are quite capable of handling personnel issues. In addition, there are procedures for handling employee grievances. This column, Mr. Editor, should not be a forum for claims without basis, nor a call for investigations. We ask that you exercise more discretion in the future with what you choose to print.

Forget Resorts, Best Vacations To See Relatives

Mike Barnhardt

The Bahamas. Kiawah. The Grand Canyon. San Francisco. Disney World. All fine vacation destinations. And all places our family never visited on annual summer vacations.

Thank goodness, because mostly, we visited relatives.

This year, we did it again. Fifteen of us made the trip from Davie County (One sister moved to Woodleaf, but that still counts as Davie County) to a family reunion.

Pell City, Alabama may not be the vacation hotbed of the world. Pell City, Alabama may not be the hotbed of anything. It has a Food World and a big lake and some ornery mosquitoes.

But most importantly, Pell City, Alabama, had a bunch of Popes last weekend, if only for a few days.

Some were named Barnhardt, some Bartlett, some Williams, Ackerly, Traxeler ... but they were still Popes. Some of us were even lucky enough to get the Pope as a middle name. Gee thanks, mom.

The trips by us North Carolinians to Alabama and those by Alabamans to North Carolina had been quite common in the 1950s, 60s and 70s. But in the 1980s, all the cousins had grown older. Mama Pope had died. Mostly, just the sons and daughters of Ed and Carrie "Mama" Pope made the trips. Cousins had children. Cousins' children had children.

It was hard to keep up with relatives scattered around Alabama, North and South Carolina, Michigan and Illinois.

Someone suggested a family reunion. The idea caught on, and just about everybody showed up. Uncle Red and Aunt Juanita hosted the event. It's hard not to like two people who open their home to more than 50 relatives. Especially when they kept plenty of fried chicken and watermelon available.

Uncle Red told everybody I was going to write a column about the family and put it in the newspaper. I told him when I write about family reunions, I usually tell how much weight each person has gained since the last time I saw them. Uncle Red told me not to do that to the Popes. I looked him up and down, and realized why he didn't want that.

Uncle Red bragged on all his brothers and sisters, from Whitey to Leola to Irene to Robert (deceased). They bragged on Uncle Red.

Aunt Irene wrote stories about her parents, including Ed Pope, her father who died at a young age — a rare glimpse for those of us who never saw our grandfather. She also wrote a touching story about Mama Pope and growing up in an Alabama mill town.

Cousin Ronnie told stories about visiting all of his aunts and uncles. He remembers visiting the Barnhardts in North Carolina because there wasn't an indoor toilet. We invited him up to see how modern we are now.

Cousin Sue had made a photograph book about the family. There was one in it of a young me, a very young me, kissing a plastic pink flamingo while visiting my aunt. It was the same trip I was photographed doing business in the yard. Old habits are hard to break. Remember, we didn't have an indoor toilet at our house.

So if I write too much about life in the South, or plastic pink flamingoes or fried chicken, please forgive me. It's in my blood.

Friends, family and neighbors were shocked at murder.

They gathered in small groups to learn news.

And they leaned on each other for comfort.

Murder Shocks Community

Gregory and the juvenile suspect, his cousin, had taken a shotgun with them, but it had accidentally discharged in the car, Whitaker said. They threw that gun from the car off U.S. 64 east of Mocksville. It was found Monday evening after Deputies Larry Meadows and Keith Gunter searched for several hours.

The two were in Gregory's car, and the shotgun blasted a hole in the car, Whitaker said.

The .25 automatic pistol believed to have been used in the shooting was taken from the Howell residence, Stephens said.

When the suspects turned themselves in about an hour after the 8 a.m. shootings, deputies then had to find the victims. One of the suspects had to ride with an officer to direct them to the house.

News of the shootings spread quickly through the close-knit community off Dalton Road.

While officers completed their investigations, neighbors, friends and relatives stopped by to find out what had happened and to offer condolences.

The victims' parents, Olanda and Marcia Howell, went to Baptist Hospital and called back with news that their son was alive.

This seemed to console the crowd — for a while. The grieving started all over when Evette's body was taken from the house.

The grief was expected, said Nicky Dalton, the victims' uncle. "Everybody around here is family."

The death was even more heartbreaking because of who it was, he said.

"She was a wonderful girl. She was as good as she could be. I didn't know nobody who didn't like her."

Evette had graduated from Davie High School this year and had worked some, but spent most of the time caring for her baby, Dalton said.

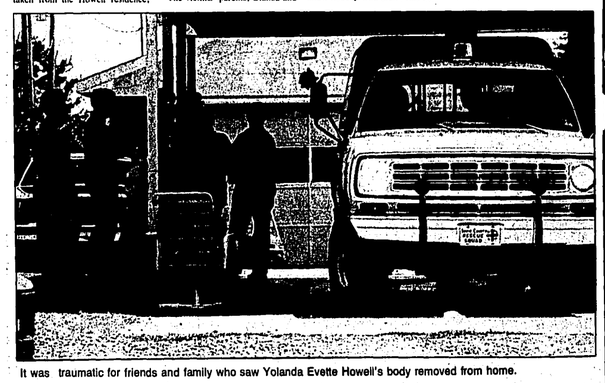
Gregory had also graduated from Davie High School this year, where he played football and basketball.

One person with ties to both families said that both were shocked that something like this could have happened.

Chief Deputy Bob Lemmons said that both were good families.

"It's a shame," said Detective Stephens, "four young lives all messed up."

Detectives John Stephens, Allen Whitaker and Chief Deputy Bob Lemmons talk about situation outside Howell home.



It was traumatic for friends and family who saw Yolanda Evette Howell's body removed from home.

Cline slowed to make a left turn onto Mocks Church Road, and Moore failed to see the Ford had stopped, driving the Toyota into the rear of it, the report said.

Moore was charged with failure to reduce speed.

Damage to each car was estimated at less than $500.

Car Overturns

A 1979 Buick driven by an Advance teen hit several mailboxes and overturned off Gordon Drive Aug. 7 at 12:15 a.m.

According to a report by Trooper J.R. Allred, William Davis Grady, 17, of Advance, was driving the car west on Gordon Drive when it entered a right curve at an excessive speed. The car skidded through the curve, off the left side of the road, and struck a ditchbank. It overturned onto its top before stopping.

Grady was taken to Forsyth Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries. Damage to his car was estimated at $1,000 and to mailboxes and landscaping, owned by Kenneth Riddle of Route 1, Advance, at $100.

Damage to each vehicle was charged at less than $500.

Cars Collide At High School

Two cars collided as one was leaving a parking space at Davie High School Aug. 6 at 2:05 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, Eddie Loyd Goshorn, 16, of Advance, was backing a 1989 Ford pick-up truck from a parking space. A 1987 Plymouth driven by Cynthia Barbee Dwiggins, 41, of Route 7, Mocksville, was driving through the parking lot.

Goshorn failed to see Dwiggins and drove into the Plymouth.

Damage to each car was estimated at less than $500.

Teens Injured

An Advance teen and a Mocksville teen were injured in an accident Aug. 8 at 12:34 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper L.D. Chappell, Candice Marie Huffman, 16, of Route 1, Advance, was driving a 1977 Chevrolet pickup truck from Gordon Drive to Redland Road. Huffman failed to yield at the stop sign and collided with a southbound 1978 Ford, driven by Lucille Potts Sain, 61, of Route 3, Mocksville.

Huffman and a passenger, Memory Dawn Lowery, 18, of Route 9, Mocksville, were injured.

Huffman was charged with failure to yield at a stop sign.

Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $500, to the Ford at $800, and to a private yard, owned by J.B. Dunn of Route 1, Advance, at $30.

Jaguar Wrecks On Dalton Road

A 1988 Jaguar driven by an Advance teen wrecked off Dalton Road near U.S. 64 Aug. 8 at 12:50 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper C.D. Jones, Matt Russell Neas, 17, of Advance, was driving the car east on Dalton Road and entered a sharp left curve at a high rate of speed. He lost control of the car, drove off the left shoulder and into a ditch.

The car continued, striking several trees.

Neas was charged with careless and reckless driving.

Damage to the car was estimated at $4,000.

Driver Charged

An Advance driver was charged with failure to reduce speed following an accident Aug. 8 at 3:50 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Jones, James Patrick Reavis Jr., 32, of Route 3, Mocksville, was driving a 1985 Toyota north on N.C. 801, preparing to make a left turn onto Mocks Church Road. A 1992 Mitsubishi pickup truck driven by James Edison Chandler, 20, of Advance, was traveling north.

Chandler failed to respond in time, driving into the rear of the Toyota, the report said.

Damage to the Toyota was estimated at $1,200 and to the Mitsubishi at $1,400.

Steer Entrance Scene Of Wreck

Two vehicles collided at the Western Steer parking lot entrance off U.S. 601 Aug. 9 at 1:35 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Jones, Sandra Holman Franklin, 27, of Bassett, Va., was driving a 1988 Ford pickup truck east on U.S. 601 from Madison Road, entering the Western Steer parking lot.

A 1990 Ford driven by Shannon Ray Payne, 26, of Lexington, was traveling north on U.S. 601 in the right lane of travel and struck Franklin's Ford.

Damage to the pick-up truck was estimated at $175 and to the car at $1,600.

Pumped Up Pumpkin

Grimes Hancock and cowboy grandson Russell Hancock, 3, look at the big pumpkin Hancock grew at his home off Gladstone Road near Cooleemee. He used fertilizer on the pumpkin, but doesn't know why it grew so large. "It just growed like that," he said. He cut other pumpkins from the plant to give it strength, then a "durned old worm" got to the big pumpkin.

Planners Approve 2 Proposals

Two issues were approved by the Davie County planning board last Thursday night.

A set of development design guidelines for northeastern Davie County was reviewed by the board. These design guidelines represent a set of principles which should be followed in the development of the area.

"This is not a commandment," said Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce. "This is not a mandate. This is just to help clarify."

"The thing I like is it brings voluntary compliance. No one likes to have things shoved down their throats," said Board Chairman Ray Earnhardt.

The planning board approved these guidelines unanimously.

Rezoning Request Approved

Environmental Waste Recycling, Inc. represented by Dennis and Grace Draman requested that 19 acres off Boger Road be rezoned from Residential R-20 to Industrial I-4-Special Use Zoning.

"Our company is growing and expanding," said Grace Draman. "We would like to rezone the property exactly the same, except across the street."

"They took an old dairy farm and, through tearing down and rebuilding, they made it as nice as they could. They are willing to continue to improve it," said Boyce.

This request was approved unanimously by the board.

Greensboro Ceremony Unites Couple

Alicia Lynn Jones of Advance and Christopher Henry Peters of Morehead City were united in marriage Saturday, Aug. 8, at 11:30 a.m. at Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church in Greensboro. Father David Lord officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Ron Nixon, organist. Maryanna Harris of Charlotte was the soloist.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father, Steve Dallas Jones, and was given in marriage by her mother, Mary Frances Simpson Jones.

She wore a formal gown of white bridal satin. The gown featured Alencon lace covering the bodice with clusters of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The gown was designed with Victorian short sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and a waist dropping to mermaid style. The train was encircled with beaded and sequin Alencon lace and swept to a cathedral length.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of star-gazer lilies, carnations, baby's breath, and ivy. The attendants carried baskets of the same flowers carried by the bride.

Laura Bargaehr of Winston-Salem was her sister's matron of honor. Trish Petrucelli of Greensboro, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Melissa White Butler of High Point and Kammie Haynes of Greensboro.

Mark Peters of Staten Island, N.Y., was his brother's best man. Ushering were Brad Jones, bride's brother of Advance; Guy Rose of Staten Island, N.Y., and Steve McNally of Jersey City, N.J.

The ring bearer was Joseph Dodge, bridegroom's nephew of Staten Island, N.Y.

Kim Jones Berryhill of Mocksville, and Miss Melanie Dodge of Staten Island, N.Y., read scripture passages during the ceremony.

Aimee' Beyle of Wrightsvile Beach kept the guest register.

The bride's parents are Mary Frances Simpson Jones of Route 2, Advance, and Steve Dallas Jones of Mt. Airy. She is a graduate of Davie High School and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro with a bachelor's degree in communications and a minor in English.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peters of Staten Island, N.Y. He is a graduate of New Dorp High School, Staten Island; and Maine Maritime Academy with a bachelor's degree in marine engineering. Peters is a designated naval aviator flying KC-130 planes from the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point.

Following a honeymoon to Cancun, Mexico, the couple will make their home in Okinawa, Japan.

Reception

The bride and groom hosted a luncheon reception at the Sheraton Downtown in Greensboro following the ceremony.

Guests were served a choice of chicken florentine or flounder stuffed with crab. They danced to the music of the Rob Massengale Band, a six-piece band from Greensboro.

Showers/Parties

• An engagement party was held to honor the couple during the Christmas holidays in Staten Island, N.Y. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peters.

• Hosting a miscellaneous shower honoring the bride were Laura Jones Bargaehr, Trish Petrucelli and Kammie Haynes at the home of Mrs. Bargaehr in June.

• A luncheon hosted by the bride's mother and grandmother, Laura Simpson, was held at New Market Grille in July.

• The couple were the guests of honor at a rehearsal dinner on Friday, Aug. 7, at Stephen's Steak House and Oyster Bar in Greensboro.

Guests were served a choice of prime rib, lobster claws or chicken marinara. Hosts were the bridegroom's parents for dinner and dancing to music by Rick Allred.

• A going-away cocktail party is planned on Aug. 22 for the couple hosted by Kit and Melissa Butler and Kim and Richard Berryhill at the Butler's home in High Point.

Greenawalt-Davis Couple United In Marriage On July 25

Althea Renee Greenawalt and Rex Sterling Davis were united in marriage Saturday, July 25, at the New Union United Methodist Church of Sheffield at 2 p.m. Officiating was the Rev. Billy Jarrett.

A program of wedding music was presented by Letty Smith of Mocksville. Two of the bride's friends, Ashley Meisner and Penny Tapper, sang at the ceremony.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her stepfather, Robert Whisenhunt, and given in marriage by her mother and stepfather. She wore a gown of white bridal satin enhanced with embroidered Chantilly lace with sequins and pearls. The princess-style bodice and neckline were enhanced with pearls, lace and sequins also. The back of the bodice had two strands of pearls which draped above a bouffant bow, and a chapel-length train. The Cathedral-length veil of imported illusion was embellished with a ruffled edge with flowers and pearls.

She carried a traditional bridal bouquet of white and rose silk flowers.

Nancy Whisenhunt, the bride's only sister, served as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Regina Dewitt and Crystal Fleming, both of Mocksville, and Shannon Wilson of Advance.

Tabatha Cline served as the flower girl and her brother, Junior Cline, served as the ring bearer.

The groom's best man was his father, Rex Leland Davis of Harmony. The ushers were his two brothers, Dwight and Rodney Davis, also his uncle, Shannon Holland.

Nita Holland served at the guest register and distributed scrolls to each guest.

The bride is the daughter of Robert and Peggy Whisenhunt of Route 6, Mocksville. She is a 1992 graduate of Davie High School and is employed with McDonalds of Mocksville.

The groom is the son of Rex and Madalyn Davis of Route 1, Harmony. He is a 1988 graduate of North Iredell High School and is employed with Lexington Furniture and Burger King, both of Mocksville.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the basement of the church and hosted by the bride's parents.

Food was catered by Mark Fowler and Scott Frye, both of Mocksville. The servers were Mary Ann Swisher, Faye Keaton, and Doris and Melissa Zamora.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was held and hosted by Rex and Madalyn Davis, the groom's parents at the Mocksville Western Steer. Lois Hoffman was wedding director.

After the wedding, the clean-up crew was Mary Ann Swisher, Kathy Myers, Ruby McBride, Doris Zamora, Faye and Jimmy Keaton, and Vicki Cline.

After a short trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple has made their home on Fred Lanier Road, off Sheffield Road.

Shower

A bridal shower was held for the couple, given by Madalyn Davis, Mary Ann Swisher, Lois Hoffman, and Nita Holland on June 14.

Rose-Doucette Couple Speaks Vows

Tonya Rae Rose and Keith Bradley Doucette, both of Winston-Salem, were united in marriage Saturday, Aug. 8, at 2 p.m. at Fairview Moravian Church. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Norwood Green.

A program of wedding music was provided by Timothy Cahill, organist, and soloist, Bill Hutchins, both of Winston-Salem.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white bridal satin adorned with pearls, lace and sequins. The deep v-neckline was designed with motifs of hanging crystals covering the bodice. Her cathedral veil of sheer bridal illusion, edged with cultured pearls, flowed from a pearl-studded Princess Tiara with a backed pouf and netting.

She carried an all-white waterfall bouquet the full length of her gown, including Calla Lilies, white roses, white orchids, pearls, sequins and crystals.

Melissa Widener of Winston-Salem was maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Starla Jones of Vinton, Va.; Stacey Haney of Kernersville; Katie Mason and Robin Blackburn of Winston-Salem.

Joseph Doucette of Shaumburg, Ill., was his brother's best man. Ushering were: Mark Peosky, Steve Bolf, Dan Hamilton, Larry Burkhead, Pete Shauer, Chuck Dwyer, Larry Lakey and Mike Todd.

Child attendant was Joshua Jones, ring bearer.

Joyce Todd kept the guest register.

The wedding directors were Anita Davis and Pat Austin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton A. Rose of Winston-Salem. She is a graduate of Parkland Senior High School and the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. She is employed as a deputy clerk case administrator CH-7 for the U.S. Federal Government.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Doucette of Streamwood, Ill. He is a graduate of Streamwood, Ill. High School and Elgin College. He is a member of U.S. Marine Corps Reserves.

After a wedding trip to Doe-Run, a North Carolina honeymoon cottage resort, the couple will reside at 3725 Thomasville Road, Winston-Salem.

Rehearsal Dinner

The bride's parents hosted a private rehearsal dinner at the Crystal Image Restaurant on Friday night, complete with a video drama of the bride and groom.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a formal reception was held at Ramada Inn North Airport in the ballroom hosted by the bride's parents.

Guests were served an assortment of foods and beverages while dancing to a variety of music provided by a local disc jockey.

A 10-tiered wedding cake of (Fondue) Princess Diana style cake was adorned with satin ribbons, pearls and several waterfall fountains which sparkled with light.

Parties

Pre-wedding parties included a dinner and couple shower held in July in High Point and a bridal shower also in July held in Greensboro by her co-workers.

Regina Coggins, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest register. Lenora Tash, friend of the bride, passed out wedding bulletins. Rice bags were given out by Brooke Hutchens, cousin of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Barker of Clemmons. She is a 1992 graduate of North Davidson High School and will attend Davidson County Community College this fall for nursing.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Snow of Yadkinville. He is a 1992 graduate of Davie High School and is employed at Unifi Inc. in Yadkinville.

Mrs. Scott Haynes Snow
... was Jennifer Lynn Barker

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Barker, the bride's parents, hosted a reception in the fellowship hall of First Assembly of God. It was catered by Kathy Bailey, aunt of the bride.

Joann Hutchens, cousin of the bride of Lexington; Angie Nicholson, cousin of the bride; Gail Graves, friend of the bride of Lexington; and Suzanne Kaufman, cousin of the bride of Fountain, Tenn., assisted in serving.

After Rehearsal

The couple was honored with a rehearsal dinner by the groom's parents. It was catered by Steve Potts of Mocksville in the fellowship hall of First Assembly of God.

The bride and groom gave gifts to the wedding party.

Bridal Showers

• On July 26, a floating bridal shower was given to Jennifer Barker, bride-elect of Scott Snow. The shower was given by Hope Smith.

• A floating bridal shower was also given to the bride-elect on Aug. 2 by Joann Hutchens.

After the honeymoon to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple will make their home in Clemmons.

Two Named Davie Arts Council's Co-Advocates

Woman Tries To Help The Children

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Trixie weaves in and out of Letty Smith's legs, purring, and meowing. Smith reaches down to pet her, her long, piano-playing fingers disappearing in the thick calico fur.

"The people who win this award should be volunteers. I get paid for what I do," she says. "But of course, I was very appreciative to get it."

The award Smith is talking about is the Advocate For Art award, given annually to an arts supporter. Smith was chosen as the 1992 co-advocate. Usually, said Kim Smith, chairman of the Davie County Arts Council, only one advocate is chosen, but the Arts Council has been trying to present the award to Smith for several years.

"Mel Jones told me I was to get it several years ago, but I couldn't attend the awards banquet," Smith said. Because the award is only presented to someone who is able to attend the banquet, when council members found out Smith could attend this year's banquet, they decided to give her the award.

She was chosen, Kim Smith said, because "she has contributed with her talent to many, many children in Davie County. She has been there with the theater company from the start and volunteered her time and talent to help them."

Smith lives on North Main Street, with her husband Gene and three cats. She is the choral teacher at Davie High School, the minister of music at First United Methodist Church and a member of the Salisbury-Rowan Choral Society. In her spare time, she enjoys going swimming with her grandchildren.

Smith helps out with Arts Alive and the Davie County Players, a theater group. She does the accompanying for musicals and said Oklahoma is her favorite. "It's more singable, easier to play."

Letty Smith: "They (children) need to be brought up in the arts. There's not enough interest ... support."

Smith was also in the theater production of "Our Town" last fall.

"I played Mrs. Somebody. Oh, it was Mrs. Soames. That was her name. I was dead in the last act. I got to wear a black dress and be dead.

"It was quite a difference to be in the spotlights from the production part. I think I enjoy the production part more."

It's only natural that Smith is a choral teacher.

She began taking piano lessons when she was in third grade, and she enjoys playing in her house, on an old orange and white painted, former player piano that "badly needs tuning."

Because she had an early beginning in music, she believes all children should be exposed to the arts at an early age. "They need to be brought up in the arts. It needs to become more a way of life, and we need to get them more involved in music programs."

Involvement is one of Smith's biggest causes.

"The participation is lacking, and there's not enough general interest, not enough support, certainly on our plays. The attendance is low. The auditorium (Brock) is not air conditioned, and the seats aren't comfortable. But if people were interested, they would go.

"We need a new auditorium so badly. The high school is planning to give a musical next year, a collaborative effort between Mrs. Ramsey, in the drama department, and the choral department. It will be given at the Hedrick theater in Salisbury, because there's nowhere here to put on such a production. It's a shame to have to go to Salisbury to put on such a production.

"My biggest priority would be the new auditorium, and put it on high school grounds so we can get to it easily. Besides students, it would also help the Davie County Players."

Big Fan Of Arts Receives Award

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Annie Ruth Call McPherson has lots of friends. And when the arts council puts on an event, she calls them all up and gets them to go with her.

That's one reason she was recently honored.

McPherson was chosen as the 1992 Davie County Arts Council Co-Advocate for Art and honored at a banquet June 26. She received a silver pin, in the shape of an artist's palette, with two brushes across it. She is as proud of the pin as she is of the award.

"I don't do any work, I just enjoy everything. I try to advertise it, call people on the phone, and I take people with me. It doesn't matter if it's music or what, I enjoy it all," McPherson said.

Council Chairman Kim Smith said, "Annie Ruth supports the arts financially and with her presence at almost every event we hold."

McPherson lives on Sunset Drive in Mocksville. Born in Davie County, she spent a large part of her life in Alabama, with her husband. It was in Alabama that McPherson's love for music grew.

"We danced a lot. It seemed like everybody in Mobile danced. My husband collected classical records and symphony music. Plus, that was the Big Band era.

"I grew up with music. My sister had piano lessons, and I had violin lessons with Miss Andrews for eight years. I was not given any jazz or fun music — only classical music. I was in the Glee Club at Mocksville High School, which is now the Brock center, and I played violin in the high school orchestra. Somehow, I managed to get the lead singing role in an operetta, but I know now, I wasn't that good."

Annie McPherson: "I don't do any work, I just enjoy everything. I enjoy it all."

McPherson's daughter, Julia, took accordian, piano, dance, and art lessons, and McPherson's love for art grew as she watched her daughter flourish under the direction of her instructors.

Her daughter went on to graduate with a degree in commercial art, and two sculptures made by her sit near a coffee table in McPherson's apartment. One of them, she said, reminds her of soft serve ice cream.

McPherson stayed busy with the care of her parents, now both dead. She attended as many events as she was able, always calling up friends and relatives to go with her. She has been to Arts Alive for the last two years and can't wait to go again.

Her favorite events have been a jazz concert and a performance by "Mark Twain."

"I've always been interested in all phases of the arts. There hasn't been much interest in it, but it's growing. I've watched the arts council grow, and they have excellent leadership. They do a lot of work so good programs can be brought free to the school children and the public at a very low cost," McPherson said.

"I hope more and more people will go to the concerts and all the programs and help put Mocksville and all of Davie County on a high standing, so more art education will be possible."

German Host Families Sought

If you've ever wanted to learn more about Germany, here's your chance.

The CRF (Cultural Relations Fellowship) Program needs local families to host German exchange students, Rex Hobson, industry education coordinator at Davie High School, recently returned from a trip to Germany to see how the program works.

"The students will basically do four things while they're here.

"They'll see how Americans live. They'll go to school while they're here for about four or five weeks. They'll work about four or five weeks in a particular company — a company that has a particular job similar to what they're studying in Germany.

"And they'll sightsee. They'll visit Washington, New York, Disneyworld — places like that. The CRF program takes them off for about a week to sightsee, and families can also take them.

"The good thing about this program as opposed to a full-year program is it's not as much of a commitment."

The students come with their own spending money, Hobson said. Host families should be willing to introduce visitors to different cultural aspects of the area, as well as provide a place to sleep, food, and love.

Hobson said they would prefer that the host family has a student in school, because it's important that the German student meets other people their age.

German CRF students are between the ages of 17-21. They are participating in an apprentice training program in German industry.

The program began in 1981, when ten Americans traveled to Germany. Since then, more than 500 fellowships have been awarded.

Call Hobson at 634-5905.

Alysha Wesley Henry celebrated her first birthday on July 2nd. A party was given in her honor on July 5th at Empie Park in Wilmington, N.C. She received many cards and gifts from friends and family in Wilmington, Advance, Charlotte, Greensboro, Atkinson, and Winston-Salem. She is the daughter of Laura Cockerham Henry, formerly of Advance, and Allison L. Henry; granddaughter of Lonnie and Lucille Cockerham of Advance.

Bible School this week, Aug. 10-14, will be 6:30-8:30 p.m. We welcome all children to come out and attend.

A Baptismal service will be held Sunday evening, Aug. 16, after preaching.

Ruby McBride visited Lucy McBride last Wednesday. She is still able to do her work. She celebrated her 80th birthday Aug. 2.

Sally Carter and Ruby McBride visited Katherine Plott on Sunday and took her some fruit and vegetables. She was in Davie County Hospital from Monday until Thursday for tests. She needs our prayers.

I, the writer of this column, Ruby McBride, am suffering with a large blood clot on the back of the left hand that came from a ruptured blood vein. I need your prayers.

Recreation Is Meeting Topic

By Lib Sain
Club Reporter

The Golden Age Club met Aug. 5 at the Rotary Hut with 24 members and three visitors present.

Loraine Sain, president, called the meeting to order and introduced Loria Young from the recreation department. She explained the different projects being planned at the center.

Dorothy Whitaker led the group in singing "Love Lifted Me", "Blessed Assurance," accompanied by Al Thornton at the piano.

Louise Stroud gave the devotions.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Ruth Barney, Estelle Cranfill, Ruth Jones and Mrs. Rubbin.

A trip to Lake Norman is planned for Aug. 17. The cost is $25 per person. This includes trip, lunch, and boat ride. Call the recreation department if interested.

A covered dish meal will be served at the next meeting.

Obituaries

James L. Myers

Mr. James Leroy Myers, 62, of 401 N. Main Street, Mocksville, died Thursday, Aug. 6, 1992, at his home.

Mr. Myers was born in Winston-Salem on Sept. 22, 1929, to Berlie J. and Ruth McCollum Myers. He served in the United States Navy during World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Mr. Myers was the Director of a mission for Rehabilitation of Alcoholics.

Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Carolyn Peddycord Myers; two sons, Gordon and Berlie Myers; two step-children, Pamela Brown and Todd McBride; three stepgrandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. C.L. (Thelma) Kimball, Mrs. Wayne (Eva) Rice and Phyllis Lewis; and one stepbrother, James L. McKnight.

Funeral services were Sunday, Aug. 9, at the graveside in Woodland Cemetery with Dr. Brooks Hunt officiating.

Memorials may be made to the American Diabetes Association or the American Heart Association, Region 9, 1386 Westgate Center Dr., Winston-Salem, NC 27103.

Sonja Johnson

Sonja Mellstrom Johnson, 77, formerly of Cherry Street, Mocksville, died Saturday, Aug. 8, 1992, at the Salisbury Unit of Lutheran Nursing Homes.

The funeral was Tuesday, Aug. 11, at Eatons' Funeral Home Chapel, Mocksville, with the Rev. I. Donnell Lloyd officiating. Burial was in the National Cemetery of Salisbury.

Memorials may be made to the Salisbury Unit of Lutheran Nursing Homes, 720 Klumac Road, Salisbury, NC 28144.

Born Aug. 27, 1914, in New York, Mrs. Johnson was a daughter of the late Tage and Ebba Engleholm Mellstrom. She had been a homemaker and a past matron of the Order of the Eastern Star. She was a member of the Cooleemee Homemakers Club and the Carolina Beach Homemakers Club, where she was Woman of the Year in 1980.

She was a member of First United Methodist Church of Mocksville.

Survivors include: her husband, Edward Oscar Johnson of the Lutheran Home; a daughter, Beatrice Stee of Mocksville; a son, Edward Johnson of Bowling Green, Ky.; and five grandchildren.

Survivors include: her husband, Gordon Powell of the home; one daughter and son-in-law, Kathy and Leroy Cranfill of Route 9, Mocksville; four grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and one sister and brother-in-law, Ann and Andy Rolka of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral services were Saturday, July 25, at the Lady of Fatima Church. Burial followed in the Sacred Heart of Jesus Cemetery.

Samuel C. Crater Sr.

Mr. Samuel Coston Cruter Sr., 78, of Union Grove Rd., Lexington, died Wednesday, Aug. 5, 1992, at N.C. Baptist Hospital.

He was born April 18, 1914, in Forsyth County to Samuel Coston Crater and Florence Holder Crater. He spent most of his life in Forsyth and Davidson counties and was a member of Friedberg Moravian Church, serving as a diener for a number of years.

He was employed with Foltz Concrete Pipe Company over twenty years before retiring, and served in the United States Navy during World War II.

Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Catherine Hartman Crater of the home; one son, Samuel C. Crater Jr. and daughter-in-law, Sherrill, of Arcadia; one daughter, Patricia "Patty" Brittain and son-in-law, Tom, of Arcadia; five grandchildren; three stepgrandchildren; two great-stepgrandchildren; two brothers, Houston Crater of Advance and Frank Crater of Winston-Salem; three sisters, Dorothea Nell Leach of Newark, Del., Peggy Wooten and Carolyn Canter, both of Winston-Salem; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Preceding him in death was one brother, Amos Levi Crater; one sister, Betty Ruth Myers; and one daughter-in-law, Sue Price Crater.

Funeral services were Saturday, Aug. 8, at Friedberg Moravian Church by the Revs. Robert Wolfe and Norwood Green. Burial followed in the church graveyard.

Memorials may be made to a charity of the donor's choice.

Mrs. Clevie J. Smith

Mrs. Clevie Jones Smith of 1800 Darwick Road, Winston-Salem, died Friday, Aug. 7, 1992, at Forsyth Memorial Hospital. She was born June 3, 1901, in Winston-Salem to Joseph J. and Sarah Peak Jones.

Mrs. Smith was a member of Mt. Carmel United Methodist Church and was active in the Women's Fellowship.

Surviving are: two daughters, Barbara Lee Smith of the home and Mrs. J.L. (Mary Ellen) Clodfelter of Winston-Salem; two sons, Mr. Bill O. Smith of Clemmons and Mr. Joseph B. Smith of Farmington; nine grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were Sunday, Aug. 9, at Mt. Carmel United Methodist Church by the Rev. Steven Kerhoulas. Burial followed in Westlawn Gardens of Memory Mausoleum.

Memorials may be made to Mt. Carmel United Methodist Church Building Fund.

Amanda G. Ridings

Amanda Grace Ridings, infant daughter of Robert and Sandra Reavis Ridings of Route 7, Mocksville, died Sunday, Aug. 9, 1992, at Carolina Medical Center in Charlotte.

Funeral services were scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 12, at Eatons' Funeral Chapel in Mocksville, conducted by the Rev. Wayne Buff. Burial was to follow at Enon Baptist Church in Yadkin County.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by: paternal grandparents, Charlie and Rosalind Ridings of Mocksville; maternal grandparents, Edward and Carol Reavis of Advance; paternal great-grandparents, Peggy and Donald Bodenheimer of Mocksville; paternal great-grandmother, Erie Ridings of Winston-Salem; maternal great-grandmother, Elishia Forrest of Advance; maternal great-grandfather, John Jones of Mocksville; two aunts, Tina Bostick of Winston-Salem and Melissa Leatherman of Mocksville; and one uncle, Mark Reavis of Virginia.

Heritage Kick-Off Planned

COOLEEMEE — A press conference will be held on Friday, Aug. 14, at 10 a.m. at the Central Carolina Bank to announce a special funds drive to support Cooleemee's First Annual Textile Heritage Festival.

Cooleemee's Town Board recently declared Oct. 3 as Textile Heritage Day. An all-day festival, organized by the Cooleemee Historical Association, is expected to draw a large crowd to this little cotton mill village.

Members of the press are invited to visit CHA's festival office after the press conference to hear about plans for the day's activities and its outreach to other cotton mill villages. The festival office is located in the shopping center directly across from CCB.

The Central Carolina Bank, managed by Dianne Snipes, is located at Cooleemee Shopping Center, N.C. 801 and Marginal Street.

For more information contact Textile Heritage Festival office at (704) 284-6040 or Thurman Miller at (704) 278-2354.

Lamberth Gets Catawba Award

Angela Lamberth, daughter of Audrey and Kevin Walker of Mocksville, has received a Catawba Scholars Award to attend Catawba College for the 1992-93 academic year.

The scholarships, based on merit and leadership, are awarded to freshmen and transfer students who have demonstrated academic excellence.

Lamberth graduated from Davie County High School and will transfer from Wingate College.

Eaton's Baptist Plans Homecoming, Revival

Eatons Baptist Church will celebrate homecoming Aug. 16.

The Rev. Walter Howell, former pastor, will bring the message at the 11 a.m. service. A covered dish dinner will follow in the fellowship hall immediately following the worship service. Sunday School begins at 10 a.m., worship at 11.

Revival will be Sunday-Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Speakers for the revival meetings will be: Sunday, the Rev. Glen Davis (former pastor at Farmington Baptist Church); Monday, the Rev. David Wooten (retired pastor from Charlotte); Tuesday, the Rev. Michael Hill (pastor, First Baptist Church, Black Mountain); and Wednesday, The B.F. Daniels Gospel Choir from Union Baptist Church, Winston-Salem.

A homemade ice cream and dessert fellowship will be Wednesday following the service.

Sentry Will Represent Zone 3 In State Tournament

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

WINSTON-SALEM — Sometimes, softball players hit that special zone on the field where they can do no wrong.

Last weekend at the Washington Street Parks, Robert Edwards was in that zone.

And because of his Most Valuable Player performance, his team, Sentry Heating and Air Conditioning, won the USSSA Class E, Zone 3 championship.

Sentry went undefeated in five games during the two-day tournament, that saw 15 teams from a 16-county area compete. The Davie County club will now represent Zone 3 in the state championship tournament, which will be held Labor Day weekend (Sept. 4-7) in Kinston.

Unbeatable

Sentry's toughest games were its first and last, both coming against Martin's Building Materials of Madison.

Sentry opened the tournament with a 7-6 win over Martin's, who then fought its way through the loser's bracket for a return meeting in the finals. Sentry again came out on top, 8-7.

"We had several opportunities to go up five or six runs in the finals," said coach Robbie Jackson, "but they'd make a good play and stop us. They had a good team."

In between, Sentry beat three other teams, including a rival from the Mocksville open league, Horn's Primetime. Sentry won that one, 6-4.

Sentry also defeated Stovepipe of Albemarle 7-3 and burned New Image Tanning of Sparta, 17-1.

"Timely hitting, aggressive baserunning and excellent defensive play was the key to winning this tournament," said Jackson. "Everyone picked up their level of play a notch and gave a team effort."

Besides playing outstanding defense, Edwards finished with a .643 batting average. Jackson said he has really come on late in the season.

"He started off slow but he's been hitting it well over the last three or four weeks," praised Jackson. "He played shortstop and outfield for us. He's our versatile player. We can move him around."

Edwards was joined on the all-tournament team by catcher Darby Beck, pitcher Doyle Burnette and shortstop Chris Callison.

Jackson hopes his team's improved play and increased confidence level will continue to surge once it opens play in Kinston.

"We've improved every week and we've learned from the mistakes we made early in the season," he said. "We're playing well."

Notes:

- This was Sentry's second tournament win of the season to go along with several other high finishes.
- Another Davie County team, Wood's Landscaping, also played in the tournament.
- Sentry finished second in the Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department's regular season and tournament.

Football Scrimmage Friday

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

There were 90 reasons for Davie County football coach Randall Ward to feel good about the 1992 season.

That's the number of players who showed for the first day of football practice Aug. 1, the largest number in Ward's four seasons as head coach at his alma mater.

A few have quit since but Ward was still carrying 86 when practice ended Monday night.

"I'm real pleased," he said. "I was hoping for even more."

This is the first year freshmen turned out for the high school program so the numbers were up. Most of the prospects are underclassmen.

Friday night, Davie County fans will get a chance to see the newest edition of the War Eagles for the first time. A controlled scrimmage against North Rowan will begin at 7 p.m. at War Eagle Stadium.

Big Sophomore Class

The largest player pool comes from the sophomore class, which Ward said had reach-

Kofke, Swan Outstanding Swimmers At Hickory Hill

The Hickory Hill Eels' Swim Team held an awards banquet to honor their swimmers.

Cam Kofke and Felicia Swan were chosen by their teammates as the outstanding swimmers during the 1992 season. Kofke and Swan received the Ron Brown Memorial Eel-of-the-Year honors for their leadership, hard work and fine example of "most valuable."

Callie Bailey was the recipient of the David Sanford Spirit Award for her dedication, hard work and team spirit always present at practices and meets.

Other awards presented were the "Most Points" and "Most Dedicated". In the 10 and Under age divisions Austin Powell and Meagan Clark were presented with the "Most Points" award for total team points earned during the season at swim meets and in the 11 and Up age divisions Ryan Powell and Erin Umberger received the same award.

The "Most Dedicated" honors in the 10 and Under age divisions went to Brad Clark and Meagan Clark and the 11 and Up honors went to Dusty Wheaton and Gretchen Umberger. This award was based on attendance, attitude and dedication to improvement.

Seven swimmers received movie passes as awards for their attendance at practice 75 percent or more. Recipients were Meagan Clark, Lauren Davis, Brad Clark, Adriene Bridgewater, Larry Umberger, Gretchen Umberger and Dusty Wheaton.

All Eels received trophies for participation in three or more meets. Fifty-nine swimmers were honored for their contributions to the 1992 Eels' season.

Yanks Nothing More Than Bronx Bummers

BRONX, N.Y. — I don't mind visiting in-laws when they live near New York City. It gives me an opportunity to see the spectacular:

- Walking outside on top of a 100-story building is pretty spectacular, don't you think?
- Passing Donald Trump on an escalator in Trump Tower is pretty spectacular, right?
- Driving a car down Fifth Avenue and Wall Street in that aggressive New York City traffic is spectacular, isn't it?
- Riding a ferry over to the Statue of Liberty is spectacular, wouldn't you say?
- Using the bathroom urinal beside former New York Knick Dave Debusschere in Penn Station is pretty spectac...well, okay, maybe I can do without that one spectacular moment. But you get the idea.

To someone with rural roots, everything about New York is spectacular.

Well, almost everything. I saw the Yankees play.

Before we even made the trip to Michael's Long Island home, I had decided I would make the New York Yankees my favorite team. I really don't have favorite teams in baseball, since North Carolina has no pro team. We've adopted Atlanta but it still isn't really ours.

I could follow the Yankees, I figured, especially since Michael (Joan's brother) and his family are diehard fans. His wife is openly in love with Kevin Maas. His nine-year old daughter (who is already smarter than I am) can name all the players and their numbers. His two-year old son knows each batter's name when he comes to the plate.

Michael even said he'd help me become a Yankee fan. He watches them every night on TV. I could get a good dose of them until we visited Yankee Stadium for a meeting with the hated Boston Red Sox near the end of our week's stay.

But it was hard to become a Yankee fan after what I suffered through watching them on the tube:

Myers: Davie's New Assistant AD

Sherrie Myers has taken over the assistant athletic director's job from Slabach.

Myers

Slabach coaches girls basketball and boys tennis as well as having a heavy workload in the classroom. Myers, the jayvee volleyball and girls basketball coach, is in the gymnasium, serving as a P.E. teacher.

"With her academic workload, it was harder for Angie to do everything," athletic director Buddy Lowery said. "It's a little easier for Sherrie."

Myers will begin her second full year at Davie. Her volleyball team made the state playoffs last year and her jayvee girls won the Central Piedmont Conference championship.

Her Name Is Slabach

She is Angie Browder no more.

The Davie County High School girls basketball coach was married July 9 at her Advance home to Gary Slabach of Welcome.

The Slabachs can give each other some pretty good competition on the basketball court. While she was burning up the nets in high school for Davie, her husband was doing the same across the Yadkin River for North Davidson. He was one of the best pure shooters Pete Jones has coached in his 30-plus years of coaching.

The Slabachs are living in Clemmons.

State Games

Two North Davie Junior High athletes competed in the recent State Games on the campus of Duke University.

Both Tom Williamson and Daniel Brewer won medals.

Brewer won the gold medal in his age division in two events. He won the 100 meters and the long jump. But he injured his back and didn't compete in the 200 meters.

Notebook

Williamson won a bronze medal in the long jump.

Both were members of North Davie's North Piedmont Conference track champions during the spring.

Wachovia Cup

The Central Piedmont Conference finished high in the Wachovia Cup standings, released last week.

Grimsley finished second in the standings with 327 points, behind Charlotte Providence, which won with 355.

Grimsley, a former Cup winner, finished second in girls track, girls soccer and boys tennis.

High Point Andrews won the 3-A, N.C. School of Math and Science won in 2-A and Hendersonville won in 1-A.

The Wachovia Cup award, sponsored by Wachovia Bank of North Carolina and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association, recognizes the high schools that achieve the best overall interscholastic athletic performance within each of hte state's four classifications. The Wachovia Cup program is in its 13th year.

Complete results are in the Scoreboard on Page 2B.

Close Calls

Davie County had its highest finish ever in the Central Piedmont Conference 4-A Wachovia standings.

The War Eagles finished fifth with 102½ points, beating out South Rowan (89), Dudley (80½) and Parkland (69½).

Grimsley won with 153.5 points, followed by West Forsyth's 137, Mount Tabor's 132½ and Reynolds' 125½.

Starmount was edged out for the Northwest 2-A championship in the last sport played.

Mount Airy's conference title in boys tennis proved crucial in the Northwest race. The Bears' 130½ point finish edged the Rams, who finished with 128. Forbush was fourth with 116 points. Surry Central (125) was third.

Statesville finished first in the Foothills 3-A race with 66½, edging South Iredell with 62½. North Iredell was sixth out of seven teams with 51½.

Thompson Replaced

When Bill Peeler retired from Davie County High School last year, Parkland's Homer Thompson had the most experience in the CPC.

Now, he has followed Peeler into retirement. Parkland replaced him with Bernard Faulk, an assistant from Glenn. He has been an assistant since 1979. He played football at Elon College.

Faulk, 35, becomes only the second football coach at Parkland since 1965, when the school opened.

Faulk will become the second new coach in the league. Bob Sapp took over for Oscar Brayboy at Mount Tabor.

Gustafson Looking

With the first boys soccer practice less than a month away, Davie County soccer coach Pete Gustafson is looking for goalies.

"I need a mean, aggressive ninth grader," he said.

Gustafson's program is on the rise as the sport becomes more popular in Davie County.

He took 10 to the Appalachian State University camp. Several went to the University of North Carolina camp. Others attended the Catawba College camp.

Rising freshmen Dan Callahan and Erik Crutchfield of North Davie Junior High were recognized at ASU in their age groups. Callahan, also a standout wrestler, was named Most Valuable Player. He is a flanker fullback. Crutchfield, a striker and wing player, was named Most Valuable Offensive Player.

"Callahan is very talented defensively," Gustafson said. "He played for Twin Cities, which I think was second in North Carolina.

Sean Garnett, a former Gustafson player, is a current member of the ASU team.

Tribble Wins Gold In Junior Olympics

Brian Tribble competed in the Junior Olympics in High Point recently, swimming for the Winston-Salem YMCA swim team.

He received an individual silver medal in the 50-meter freestyle, being out-touched by two-hundredths of a second. He was fourth in the 100 freestyle.

There were 144 entrants in the 50-meter race and 200 overall in Tribble's 15-18 age group.

Tribble tried the 200-meter freestyle for the first time in his career and placed 14th. He was 11th in the 100-meter butterfly.

Tribble won his only gold medal as a member of the 4x100 relay team, which set a meet record.

He was also on the 4x200-meter relay team that won a silver medal for its second place finish.

The Winston-Salem YMCA placed fifth overall in the competition.

Day 1: The Yankees are leading Toronto — until Mel Hall lazily misplays a fly ball with two outs, allowing the winning runs to score.

"You suck!" screams Micheal at the TV screen.

Day 2: The Yankees are leading Toronto until Mel Hall misplays another flyball with two outs that leads to a Blue Jay rally and win.

"Ya bum!" screams Michael at the TV.

Day 3: Bernie Williams misplays a flyball to rightfield, allowing the Cleveland Indians to win in 12 innings, 4-3.

"You suck!" Michael screams and goes to bed.

Day 4: In the 11th inning of the game, Maas pops up to Cleveland's second baseman Carlos Baerga. He runs it out and with head down, turns and trots toward second base. But Baerga drops the popup. Maas is caught between the bases and is, of course, easily tagged out. Cleveland comes back to win in 12.

"Trade da bum," Michael whispers.

"Shut up!" yells his wife. "He's cute."

Then, it was my turn. "Michael, can I turn it to TBS and watch the Braves?"

I should have been pumped for the Yanks-Bosox game. Geographically and historically, it is the most celebrated rivalry in the American League. But this year, both teams were under .500. The only honor in this game would be fourth place for the winner. Not since 1966 have the Yankees and Bosox finished with sub-.500 records but even then, it was a race. The Red Sox edged New York by a half-game for ninth place in a 10-team league.

Suddenly, this had turned into a game between the Boo-Sox and the Bronx Bummers. No one in the Yankees' starting lineup was hitting above .285. No one in the Sox lineup was above .262.

Famous names, you say? In the Yankees' lineup were Stankiewicz, Velarde and Stanley.

Well, at least Boston has some big names, right? But this was a day game after a night game. Boston rested Boggs, Clark, Pena, Burks and Greenwell. Instead, they gave us this lineup card: Zupcic, Valentin, Plantier, Cooper and Marzano.

Nothin' but bums.

Just being in the Bronx was pretty spectacular, I mused aloud.

"It will be more spectacular if our car is still here when we get back," Michael said.

The first words we hard once we took our seats told us we were definitely in Yankee Stadium.

"Bee-ah, bee-ah! Getcha bee-ah, hee-ah!"

For those unable to understand Yankee, the vendor was saying, "Beer here. Get your beer here."

The Yankees gave me exactly what I had watched on TV the four previous nights. With two outs in the second, the punchless Red Sox scored after Marzano's foul pop was dropped with two outs. Given a reprieve, he slashed a hit to left that scored a run when Valarde misplayed it into a triple.

Finally, Michael had some company. "Ya bum! You suck, Valarde!"

Roberto Kelly misplayed another Marzano single into a run. When it was over, Frank Viola had beaten the Yanks 3-1, handing Melido Perez his 11th loss in 20 decisions. Perez, by the way, is leading the league in strikeouts and has a 2.99 ERA in his 11 losses.

"Today, I'm just going to have a couple of drinks — maybe a beer — and not worry about it," Perez said.

That could be the Yankees' new motto: "Watch us — and drink heavily."

I could never be a Yankee fan. I'm not a very good drinker and I don't like losing. While we were in New York, the Bronx Bummers lost six of seven games.

We could've seen the Mets and Cubs but that would have been no better. Both had losing records too. While in New York, the Mets, lost six straight and that many players to injuries.

During that same span, Atlanta was in the midst of a long winning streak. The South had risen again.

I was glad to get back home to the small buildings, backroads and winning baseball.

In fact, on Sunday, I sat down in front of the television and watched the Braves win their ninth straight.

The Braves don't suck. After a week of the Yankees, it was clearly a joy to watch Atlanta — so much so I wanted to celebrate my return home with them.

"Hey Joan, bring me a bee-ah in hee-ah, will ya?"

Bermuda Run Wins Two Of Six Meets

First B-R Victories In Three Years

The Bermuda Run swim team completed its season recently at the finals at Town and Country.

Bermuda Run won two of the six meets in the nine-team league.

"They hadn't won any meets in three years, but they ended up winning two," said Coach Tanja Sherden. "I'm real proud of them. They all did very-well and worked hard. I really like these kids a lot."

Bermuda Run finishers in the finals meet, their age bracket and events:

Lucas Lamonds, 11-12, second in backstroke, third each in freestyle, medley relay and freestyle relay, and six in individual medley.

Brooke Sutton, 11-12, first in breaststroke, second in freestyle, third in individual medley, fifth in freestyle relay, and sixth in medley relay.

Stephanie Sutton, 15-18, second in freestyle, third in breaststroke, sixth in medley relay, fifth in freestyle relay.

Jamie Neese, 11-12, third in freestyle relay and medley relay, and sixth each in backstroke and breaststroke.

Jason Neese, 11-12, fifth in backstroke, and third each in medley relay, breaststroke, and freestyle relay.

Ben Sloan, 11-12, third in freestyle relay.

Scott Sutton, 9-10, third in breaststroke and sixth in medley relay.

Doug Halverson, 11-12, third in medley relay.

Darcey Pandolfi, 13-14, fifth in freestyle relay, sixth in medley relay.

Justin Lamonds, 9-10, sixth in medley relay.

Oliver Zeille, 9-10, sixth in medley relay.

Luke Duggins, 9-10, sixth in medley relay.

Carrie Williams, 15-18, fifth in freestyle relay, sixth in medley relay.

Junior Girls Win Softball Crown

Mocksville's junior girls 16-under softball all-star team won the North Carolina state championship last week at Rich Park.

After losing the first game of the best 2-of-3 series 10-9 to Denton, Mocksville bounced back for 10-8 and 19-2 victories.

The midget girls 12-under all-star team placed second in the state tournament, losing to Yadkin County in two straight games, 15-6 and 10-5. That tournament was also hosted by the Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department at Rich Park.

Junior Girls

The junior girls team, coached by Grady Barney and Lynn Vogler, looked strong going into the final inning of the first game, leading 9-5. But seven walks helped Denton score five runs and win.

Amy Barney and Amanda Sigmon played well in the opener.

Mocksville lost a 4-1 lead in the second game but led 7-6 in the fourth when Amy Mason scored. Denton then tied the game at 8-8 going into the seventh.

That's when Jonette Williard and Signon hit homers to win.

In the deciding game, Mocksville jumped out to an 8-2 advantage after five innings and then sealed it with eight runs in the sixth.

Other team members were Dawn Willard, Nakisha Wagner, Wendy Boger, Janelle McClamrock, Tracie Sechrest, T.J. Reynolds and April Owens.

Midget Girls

Mocksville's midget girls were ahead in each of their games before losing.

Jessi Carter, Jodi Stone and Tonya Dillard scored for a 3-1 lead. After Yadkin County tied the score, Mocksville took a 6-3 lead as Carter, Laura Correll and Stone scored. But Yadkin County did the rest of the scoring in a 15-6 decision.

In the second game, Carter and Beth Bracken gave Mocksville a 2-0 lead in the first inning after scoring. But the local team was no match for Yadkin County, who scored 25 runs in two games.

Team members also included Tiffany Nichols, Kristin Garner, Amber Groce, Mandy Dwiggins, Melinda Richie, Angie Priestley, Holly Allen, Lisa Turner, Crystal Davis, Jennifer Harpe, Audrey Williams and Julie Fuller.

The team was coached by David Allen and Angie Miller.

Spinners Win

The local recreation department held another men's open tournament last week and 10 teams entered.

But the results were the same as the regular season and tournament, Pizza Spinners defeated Wood's Landscaping for the title.

While the regular tournament was played by seedings, this tournament conducted its pairings by drawing out of a hat.

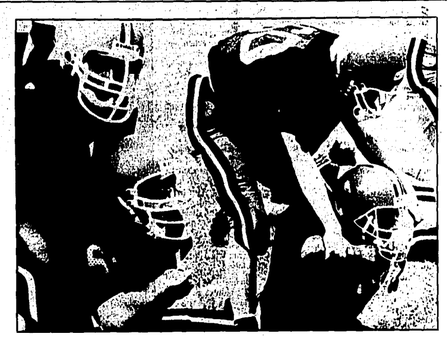
Football Practice In Full Swing

Assistant coach Mel Fogg watches as quarterbacks take the snap from center.



Davie County players loosen up during a practice last week.

"That didn't surprise me," he said. "A lot of the sophomores came to weightlifting this summer."

Carter

Ward will also welcome back 18 seniors, including Bubba Coleman, Brian Tribble, Jon Ward, Chad Carter, Kevin Goolsby and Corey Deese.

The first two weeks of practice have been designated for going over position duties and getting into shape, which has been a priority.

"We started practice in terrible shape," said Ward. "But the boys have worked real hard and they're much better now."

Monday, Ward was pleased as his players did their final sprints. He smiled as Ryan Froelich sprinted across the finish line, leaving his teammates behind. He yelled encouragement as Jared Eure and Deese seemed to conduct a sprint between themselves. And many more showed improvement from the opening day.

"It's a credit to them," Ward said. "We've probably worked them us hard as any team since I've been here. They've shown a good attitude."

Early Test

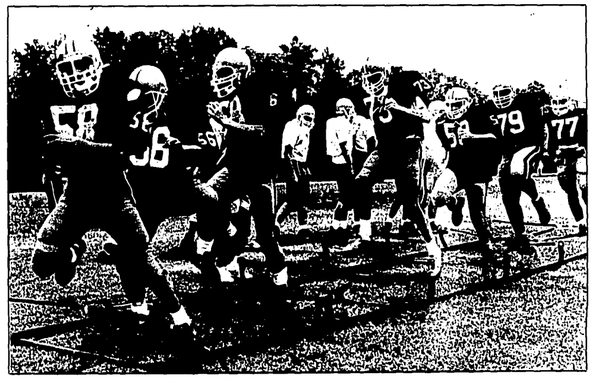
Now, Ward will get a little deeper into strategies and personnel when North Rowan visits Mocksville Friday night.

"We've practiced 11 days and now, a full scrimmage," he said. "That's really quick. But everyone else is in the same boat."

A state rule says no one can play in the scrimmage if they have missed a practice during the first 11 days, which means several War Eagles will be on the sidelines watching Friday night.

"After the scrimmage, we can say, 'Okay guys, here's where we are and this is what we need to work on,' " Ward said. "But we're also going to look at the guys who hustle and guys who are aggressive and react."

There will be a $1 admission fee for Friday night's scrimmage.



Lifting their knees high, the Davie County War Eagles go through the summer heat as well as their drill during practice.

Thompson, Randall Winners At H-H

Hickory Hill Country Club held its Member-Guest Golf Tournament Aug. 1-2.

Randy Thompson and Stanley Randall won the championship flight with a score of 118. Carl Osborne and Robin Benson took second place with 120.

First flight winners were C.W. Allen and Bob Kent with a score of 118 and second place winners were Jim Moore and Ken Crouse with 124. First place winners of the second flight were Clyde Gardner and Tim Neal, scoring 114. Tal Brown and George Hall took second place in that flight with a score of 114.

Rick Wall and Mark Whittaker were the first place winners of the third flight with 117, while Daryl Adams and Jeff Wilkerson placed second also with a score of 117. Fourth flight winners were David Barnes and Steve Gill with a score of 112. Gary Kowalske and Kip Sales took second place with 112.

On Saturday, the Long Putt Award went to Alex Thompson and the Long Drive Award to Brian Driggars. Closest to the Pin Awards were given to Danny Cumper, Ken Crouse, Steve Laymon, and Buddy Lassiter.

On Sunday, Benny Randall received the Long Putt Award and Bubba Brown received the Long Drive Award. Closest to the Pin Award winners were Gene Kiser, Clyde Gardner, Thad Bullock, and Jeff Albarty.

Grisette Plays

Former Davie County High School star Uly Grisette pocketed $507 with his performance in the T.C. Jordan stop in Ocean Isle last week.

Grisette shot a six-over 295 on the 6,573-yard, par-72 Brock Landing Plantation course during the WWAY Golf Classic. He shot 76-68-73-78.

Joe Durant won the $11,000 first place prize with a 271.

Golf Notes

Senior Golf

Now, senior citizens can play local golf courses in Mocksville, Kannapolis, Salisbury, Statesville and Concord, thanks to GARS (Golf Association of Rowan County).

GARS was formed five years ago at the Rufty-Holmes Senior Center in Salisbury for golfers age 55 and over. They meet at the center on the first Monday of every month, followed by a round of golf at a local course. They play a different course every Monday morning.

There are annual dues of $25. Interested golfers in Davie County can mail in their application with information of their average scores or handicaps so to be paired up with A-B-C-D players for a Captain's Choice tournament.

An entry fee of $20 will include the cart and green fees. Each player will receive a prize. Plus first, second and third place teams will all receive cash prizes. First place gets $100, second $80 and third $60.

There will also be prizes for closest to the pin, longest drive, longest putt and straighest drive.

There will be shotgun starts at 8 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Golfers should mail information to Walter Adams, Rufty-Holmes Senior Center, 1120 Walnut Street, Salisbury, N.C. 28144.

Soccer Practice Begins

Davie County soccer coach Pete Gustafson welcomed 25 prospects to the first practice of 1992 last week.

Gustafson

"I was hoping for more," said Gustafson, who is entering his fourth season as head coach of the War Eagles.

Of that number, seven are returning starters. Included are only four seniors: goalie Marcus Womack, strikers Josh Hardin and Michael Willard and left fullback James Coulston.

"I may move Coulston," Gustafson said. "He might be better as a trailing striker. He can distribute the ball. He could also be a backup goalie."

The junior class is the largest with 11 players. Four sophomores and six freshmen are also practicing.

"We're stressing conditioning," Gustafson said. "The fellas who went to camp weren't as sore as the others. Some of the guys have been on vacation, too, and that's something I've never had to worry about before."

Gustafson is also working on early season fundamentals that hurt the team last year.

"We want better ball control and better possession," he said. "We want less turnovers and we are working on passing the ball, not just booting it."

Davie officially opens its season Aug. 24 at Mocksville Middle School against Salisbury and stays home for an Aug. 27 meeting with North Davidson.

Gustafson said he was trying to get a scrimmage game with South Stokes.

Wood's Landscaping's Kenny Wood (left) did the job on the mound while Tim McCulloh (right) ran the bases during a recent tournament at Rich Park.

New Brock Gym Is Re-Dedicated

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Hank Van Hoy has been playing basketball for many of his 43 years.

And many of those dribbles and jump shots have been made at Mocksville's Brock Gym.

He hopes the recent renovations and expansion at the gym will allow him even more years of playing basketball.

"In my heart, I'll always be a basketball player," Van Hoy told town and county officials gathered for the grand opening of the gym last week. "I'm only 43 years old, and I know I have at least 30 more years of basketball left."

Van Hoy and others spoke about the benefits of good recreational facilities, and how the Brock Gym expansion came about — through cooperation.

"It's a tribute to intergovernment cooperation," Van Hoy said. "I'm glad the county fathers and the town fathers saw fit to renovate it. We can cooperate always, and this is but one example.

"We have to look at every aspect of community life. Water, roads and sewers are important. It is just as important to provide for the physical health of the community," Van Hoy said.

Mike Garner, director, has been with the Mocksville Recreation Department (now Mocksville-Davie) since 1979.

"It has been a dream of all of us to have something like this," Garner said. "Our program has really grown and we've got a lot to be proud of. We've got an excellent staff."

Mayor D.J. "Nick" Mando agreed with Van Hoy and Garner.

"These facilities were a dream many of us have had for years and years," he said. "It finally became a reality, but it probably wouldn't have had it not been for the cooperation of the county.

"We're looking forward to doing many other projects with the county. We're proud of these facilities," Mando said.

County Commission Chairman Bert Bahnson agreed that the Brock Gym project worked well for the county and the town.

"We've saved a lot of money by working together and I appreciate it," Bahnson said. "It's a facility that will serve all the citizens of the county."

At 4H Congress

Julie Allen attended 4-H Club Congress in Raleigh July 20-24.

She represented Davie County as runner-up in breads, with an oat bran muffin demonstration.

She is the daughter of Louise Allen and the late S.B. Allen, and a member of The Davie Academy 4-H Club.

Hello! My name is Jaren Johnson. I was 3 on Aug. 6, 1992. I celebrated my third birthday on Saturday, Aug. 8, 1992. I live at Rt. 4, Mocksville with my mama, Tangee Johnson. My mama gave me a birthday party at McDonald's in Mocksville. We had cake and ice cream. My mama had me a Ninja Turtle Cake made and she made homemade lemonade. I got a monkey bar, sand box, and a lot of other great things and I would like to thank my family and friends for coming and sharing with me. I would like to thank Sandra Cope for my beautiful cake. And most of all I would like to thank God and to thank my mama. I had a great time. My grandparents are the late Pearl K. Young, Mr. Brady Young Jr. of Rt. 2, Yadkinville, and Ben and Marjorie Johnson of Mocksville.

Child Care Available

In All Schools

Child Care is available in Davie County for all students in grade K-6. The program is offered by the Davie Family YMCA.

TIMES:
Before School: 6:30 AM until School begin
After School: end of School until 6:00 PM

MONTHLY COST:
Before School: $40 for non-YMCA members; $30 for YMCA members
After School: $90 — non-YMCA members; $80 — YMCA members

Students whose families are not members of the YMCA may join the YMCA as a youth member for $6.00 monthly and thus qualify for the cheaper child care rate for YMCA members. The YMCA turns no one away due to inability to pay. Those in need are encouraged to inquire about financial aid.

PROGRAM: Activities include arts & crafts, values education, sports, games, field trips and homework/study time. All students in the YMCA Program will be taken to the YMCA Facility in Mocksville one afternoon each week for swimming and other activities. The program fee includes all expenses including field trips, a daily snack, and all-day child care for all holidays and teacher workdays during the school year.

Contact the Davie Family YMCA for more information at 634-9345.

Murder Suspects Receive Attorneys

Two of the people charged with aiding and abetting or being an accessory after the fact in the murder of Johnny Ray Porter on July 7 were in Davie District Court last week.

Deforte Tucker Porter, charged with being an accessory after the fact in the death of her estranged husband, requested a court appointed attorney, and Judge Kimberly T. Harbinson appointed William Ijames to defendant Porter.

Her mother, Doris Tucker, who is charged with aiding and abetting, also requested a court appointed attorney, and Mocksville attorney Wade Leonard, will represent her.

A third defendant, Amos T. Tucker, who is represented by William Hall, was also in court, but the trials for all three were rescheduled for Sept. 3. He also is charged with aiding and abetting.

The man charged with the killing, Charles T. Ramsuer, also was on the court calendar, but his attorney Sally Smith, said he was still at Dorothea Dix Hospital in Raleigh undergoing a psychiatriac evaluation. His next court date also is Sept. 3.

According to police reports, Johnny Ray Porter allegedly assaulted his wife at a store in Statesville and then forced her to return to Mocksville with him. Her boyfriend, Ramsuer, came to Mocksville looking for her, along with Deforte Porter's mother and brother.

Teacher Takes Recycling Course

Davie County teacher Mary Callahan recently completed a 10-hour environmental education workshop at BFI's new Recyclery in Winston-Salem.

The program, called "Project Wild" was taught by Tim Lemon of the N.C. Wildlife Commission.

During the first five hour session, Callahan and other teachers explored ways to teach students of all ages about animals and forest habitat. During the second session, teachers explored aquatic education.

Materials and instruction were provided by the Wildlife Commission.

Callahan and her colleagues learned Project Wild through the same activities she will bring back to Davie County students this fall. "We learned how to use our school grounds as a learning center, and we learned how Project Wild concepts can be taught in all grade levels," Callahan said.

Ronnie Hilton: "I try to do my best. I care about the things I do. I want to make friends."

Emptying the garbage is one of Hilton's jobs at Horn's Convenience Store in Mocksville.

Friends And Heros Are Important To This Special Man

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Ronnie Hilton knows about friends and heros.

"They're the ones who tell you right from wrong," he said.

The comic books teach him about heros. But now that he has his own job, he's learning that friends, as well as his family, also make good heros.

Hilton knows he's special. And he's proud of his work.

"I want to make friends," he said. "I know I'm special. I love everybody and I hope they love me too, like their own kids."

Now that he's got a job cleaning up at Horn's Convenience Store in Mocksville, the 36-year-old has plenty of chances to make new friends.

"I try to do my best. I really work so hard to keep this job. I would like to make this job be better.

"I care about the things I do. First thing, I empty the garbage from the outside. I finish the inside garbage and I clean the bathrooms, mirrors and sinks. After that I sweep the floor, mop the floor."

A resident of a local group home, Hilton is the son of James and Doris Hilton of Mocksville. "I want to make my daddy proud of me," he said.

What does he do with the money he makes?

A few clothes, a few milkshakes. But mostly, it goes for art supplies.

"I get some art supplies and a couple of clothes and comic book heros and other things. Sometimes I get me a milkshake," Hilton said.

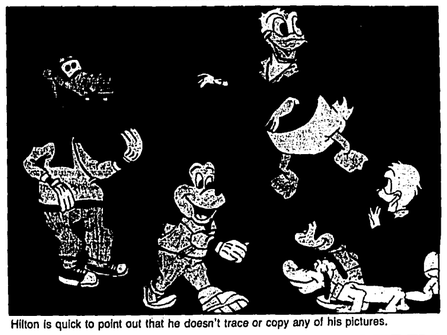
"My career is on art," he said, asking for permission to go get a book of his drawings. He hopes to publish the drawings some day.

"I work two or three hours every day at the store, then I work on my art," he said. "I do it myself, with no help. I do the best I can. I don't trace. I put my heart into every picture. I do it day in and day out, when I'm not at work."

Hilton has six brothers and sisters. "The family, they're the ones who are my judges, and my friends," he said. "Keith, my brother, he's the one who gives me lots of friends. I want all of them to be proud of me.

"I hope the paper goes out to my good friends. I also would like to be on the news if I could."

Ronnie Hilton works at the convenience store, but his real love is art.



Hilton is quick to point out that he doesn't trace or copy any of his pictures.

Planners Say No To Car Business

By Richelle Bailey
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Neighbors of a Davie business are upset because of noise and traffic. They expressed their views at a Davie County planning board meeting last Thursday night.

Piedmont Auto Sales, represented by attorney Jim Eubanks and owned and operated by Jerry Crews, requested two acres off Fork-Bixby Road be rezoned from Residential R-20 to Highway Business-Special Use Zoning.

"The balance of the property has cleared," said Eubanks. "He used to own Crews Motors on 158, but that was sold. Now he must relocate. He is the largest, independent auto operator in Davie County. In order to operate, he must rezone to highway business."

One neighbor, David Robertson, said, "Over the past couple of years, we have been disappointed in the shop. It was a mess."

Neighbor Joey Bailey said, "It's been nothing but a nuisance. I don't see how it can get any better. I don't feel that we need the traffic as close as we are to it."

"It's not safe. There are loud noises. It's a hazard as far as kids are concerned. I don't want it," said Rence Bailey, another neighbor of the community.

Board Member Wayne Webb said Crews was a good neighbor. "I used to have a business beside of Jerry. He is a good neighbor. As far as zoning, I am against spot zoning in residential places."

The planning board denied this request 5-2.

Ray Earnhardt and Tim Smith voted against the motion to deny the rezoning.

Miller Earns Eagle

David T. Miller II, 18, son of David and Suzanne Miller of Powell Road, received the Eagle Scout award at a ceremony at Center United Methodist Church Sunday.

He is a member of the Mocksville Troop 505. He has been a scout since he was 10 years old and moved up Miller through several other ranks to achieve the award considered to be the highest among scouts.

To be considered for the award, Miller said, a scout must "plan a big community service project."

Miller planned the biannual Center barbecue sale, an event held in the spring and fall. Miller planned the spring sale, and afterwards, the Boy Scout Council reviewed the event and based on that and Miller's performance in Scouts, decided to award him the Eagle.

Miller was also required to achieve 21 merit badges to be considered for the award. He achieved 30 badges.

Miller graduated from Davie High School in 1992 and will attend Forsyth Technical College in the fall. He plans to go into law enforcement and would like to be a highway patrolman.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
BEFORE THE BOARD OF
COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE
FOLLOWING ZONING AMENDMENTS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, Pursuant to the requirements of Article 20-B of Chapter 153 of the General Statutes of North Carolina and Article XII of the Davie County Zoning Ordinance that the Board of County Commissioners of Davie County will hold a public hearing in the Davie County Administration Building, Mocksville, N.C. on Monday, August 17, 1992, at 7:00 p.m. The following proposed zoning amendments will be considered.

A) A proposed set of development design guidelines of north-eastern Davie County will be reviewed for endorsement by the Board. One may recall that when the Quality Overlay Zone was adopted by the Board of Commissioners in January, 1992, the need for a set of "design guidelines" was also discussed. Unlike the overlay zone, which is a set of regulations within the body of the zoning ordinance, the design guidelines represent a set of principles which should be followed in the development of the area.

B) Environmental Waste Recycling, Inc. represented by Dennis and Grace Draman, submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-20 to Industrial I-4 - Special Use Zoning. This property lies off the northern end of Rogers Road (SR 1438) and is shown as a 19 ± acre portion of parcel 10 of Davie County Tax Map E-6.

C) Piedmont Auto Sales, represented by attorney Jim Eubanks, submitted a request to rezone property from Residential R-20 to Highway Business - Special Use Zoning. This four (4) acre parcel lies off the east side of Fork-Bixby Road (SR 1611) approximately .2 mile north of Fulton Road (SR 1612) and is shown as a front portion of parcel B-1 of Tax Map J-7-5.

Signs will be posted on each of the above listed locations to advertise the public hearing. All parties and interested citizens are invited to attend said public hearing at which time they shall have an opportunity to be heard in favor of or in opposition to the foregoing proposed changes. Prior to the hearing all persons interested may obtain any additional information on these proposals which are in the possession of the Davie County Zoning Enforcement Office between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. weekdays or by telephone at 704-634-3340.

Girl's Murder Still Shocking Community

Counseling Night To Help Youth Deal With Tragedy, Offer Support

Two gunshots last week shocked people throughout Davie County.

One teen-ager dead, another critically injured. Yet two others in jail.

How could it happen here, to our children, to our friends? What can we do to prevent it from happening again?

There may never be answers to those questions, but a group of concerned residents is trying to help.

A counseling night for young people has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday at South Davie Junior High School. Sponsored by the Le Jour des Femmes and others, it will include counselors and ministers.

The murder is especially tragic because it involves children, Julius Suiter, South Davie principal, told those gathered at the Masonic and DEU picnic last Saturday at Clement Grove. He asked for prayers.

"We are here to support those people who are suffering," he said.

Davie Schools OK Channel One

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Students at South Davie Junior and Davie High schools will be watching more television this year.

Channel One, a product of Whittle Educational Network, will begin televising in classrooms Aug. 24. Television monitors hooked into a central system will play for about eight minutes, said Davie Superintendent Dr. William Steed.

"They will look at current events, issues of interest in the news media, and a feature about once a month. The bonus is that once the segment is over, you can use the equipment any way you choose during the rest of the day," Steed said.

Whittle first approached Davie County school officials about three years ago, said Davie High Principal Robert Landry. At that time, commercials shown during the program were at the core of controversy.

Steed and other officials decided to wait.

"We talked about it before," Steed said, "but we wanted to leave it alone until the legal issues ran their course. Now that we've talked about it, several of our board members think it's a good program for the students."

Steed, along with Associate Superintendent Dwight Jackson, Principals Robert Landry and Julius Suiter, teachers, and parent advisory boards reviewed the programs.

Landry was pleased.

"I liked what I saw. In terms of commercials, they were clean, better than what I see on t.v. I was impressed with the news they presented. As a parent, I would want my daughter to see it," Landry said.

One commercial Landry saw was an anti-drug campaign, with an athlete wearing Nike athletic shoes. Another commercial for M&Ms candy was in clean taste, Landry said. A commercial Steed remembered was for Ford Motor Company. Rather than endorse their product, Steed said, they endorsed wearing seatbelts.

Landry said he would preview programs daily, and if something was not suitable, it would not be aired.

In additional to Channel One programming, they will also be

Williams: Tell Children Truth About Past

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

There's nothing better than that good old Mocksville picnic.

That's what B.T. Williams said at the 108th annual Masonic and Davie Educational Union Picnic Saturday at Clement Grove.

He should know.

He has been to more of the picnics than anybody else. In fact, he was attending picnics before almost all of the people at Saturday's event were born.

"I don't know how many years I've been coming, but I may be coming to many more," Williams said. "The good old Mocksville Picnic sponsored by two good organizations. I've been faithful to these organizations and everybody else I've been involved with over the years.

"When you come here, you're coming for a good cause. May you people for many years enjoy the hospitality of the good old Mocksville Masonic Picnic."

> "We are no longer bound with physical chains ... but by the alienation from our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."
> — Lula Williams

Williams and Jerry Goolsby are co-chairmen of the event, which raises money for the Central Orphanage in Oxford and to help educate Davie area young people. Mocksville's Corinthian Lodge No. 17 is the largest contributor to the orphanage, said Francis Eaton, district deputy Grand Master.

The afternoon program turned out to be a family reunion, of sorts, for Williams. His son spoke. His daughter-in-law spoke.

"This is the greatest activity of its kind throughout Davie County," AME Zion Bishop Milton Williams said.

Guest speaker Lula Williams remembered coming to the picnic as a child. "I remember the excitement of this day.

"All of my friends, my classmates, my family, it is such a joy to be here with you today," she said. "This is a great tradition that has meant so much to this community. We commend all those who caught the vision of unity."

In her speech, Williams urged black people to tell their children the truth about their past. If they know that, it will increase their chances at being successful.

She gave a brief history of the black race, from the great thinkers of ancient times to the more modern inventors.

"We as a people stand today ... at a critical point in our history," she said, "no longer bound by physical chains ... but we are bound with other enemies such as greed and pride and racism ... and perhaps the most critical, the alienation from our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

Deputy Strike In 1975 Prompted Many Changes

The Davie County Sheriff's Department has come a long way since the 1975 manhunt for Morrey Joe Campbell. Our look back in the newspaper archives after Campbell's recent suicide demonstrated just how much of a commitment we have made to law enforcement.

In 1975, the sheriff's budget was $97,200. That paid for an 11-man staff.

The current budget is $1.25 million. There are 24 deputies, nine jailers, a police information computer operator and three secretaries.

The shooting death of Deputy Wayne Gaither was followed by a series of problems with the sheriff's department. Stunned by the death of one of their officers, the deputies staged a three-day strike a week after Campbell was captured to protest low salaries and inadequate equipment.

What did they want? Bullet proof vests and helmets. An automatic rifle and shotgun for each patrol car. Five additional cars with cages. Siren speakers for the unmarked cars. Annual salaries of $8,000 for new deputies. Life insurance and a retirment fund. Health insurance. Five uniforms paid for by the county.

A comedy of errors followed the strike. Some deputies were fired and then re-hired. Reporters and television cameras captured all the events and exposed a law enforcement agency that still operated on the good-old-boy basis in a climate that had been changed drastically by drugs and a mobile society. Davie County had changed, but the sheriff's department was still being run much as it had been for 50 years. Deputies had little training. The salaries were slightly above poverty level.

In 1975, it was every deputy's goal to get a job with the Mocksville Police Department. It paid better. It was more professional. How far has the sheriff's department come? The Mocksville town board a few months ago wanted to merge with the sheriff's department.

The sheriff's department has adjusted to the pressures of modern law enforcement.

"We're more professional," said chief deputy Bob Lemmons. "Somebody's accountable for everything that happens here."

There's a chain of command. There's a four-man detective division. A sergeant is in charge of every shift.

"You don't hear near the complaints that we used to have," he said.

He's right. Davie County's sheriff department still isn't run on the same level as large counties with 100-deputy staffs. There's room for improvement. But crimes are being solved. Davie County is not a thief's vacation land.

Salaries are now adequate enough to keep deputies for a career with the sheriff's department. A newly elected sheriff no longer dismisses the entire staff of deputies. How could he justify losing that much training and experience?

There has been a late rash of wrecks involving patrol cars — young officers driving too fast. "We went almost five years without a wreck, and now it comes in bunches," Lemmons said. Those don't go without some discipline.

During the Campbell manhunt, the SBI virtually took over law enforcement in Davie County. For many years, the SBI was contacted for help on investigations large and small. The SBI was called in all murder cases. Local officers had neither the experience or training to handle complicated cases that would make them a critical witness in a trial.

In last week's shooting death of Rolanda Evette Howell, the SBI didn't come. The agency wasn't contacted for help. Lemmons said the SBI is a valuable resource that will continue to be used, but not this time. The Davie detectives have the years of experience and training to do it themselves.

"We need to handle things ourselves every once in a while just in case they're not available," he said.

We have come a long, long way.

People, Not Place, Counts

To the editor:

I am writing this letter in reference to Rhonda Gaither's letter that appeared in last week's newspaper. I feel that she must not know very many of the people who live behind that gate as she calls them or she would not, have written such a letter. They are human beings just like us and have feelings also. I didn't know that you were to judge people by where they lived. Many of them are just like you and me. They work on a job everyday and bring home a pay check too. True, theirs are bigger than ours, but they have many more responsibilities than we do. They may own factories, fly airplanes, be doctors or retired from their profession. If they didn't care about their factories many people wouldn't have a job, if they didn't care about people getting to their destination on time a lot of people would be unhappy. If you are sick do you not go to doctor, well don't you think he has a right to live where he wants.

I know several people who live in Bermuda Run and would not be embarrassed for them to come to my home. There are people out here in the county who think they are better than anyone just as there is there. There is also a lot of good people who live there just as there is out here. If people would forget the fence and look at what should be inside their hearts, then they would be a lot better off.

Picnic Remains A Success

To the editor:

On behalf of the Basket Committee of the 112th Annual Masonic Picnic, and all of the Masons of Davie County, we wish to express our sincere appreciation to everyone who cooperated in helping to make our picnic dinner a success.

The rain came down constantly all day, but the faithful ladies who prepared the food braved the weather and still brought well-filled baskets to make it one of the largest spreads we have had in several years. We hope that the satisfaction of knowing you played an important part in extending help to those less fortunate will partly compensate for your time and effort in the preparation of the food.

Our thanks again this year to Tyson Foods for their donation of chickens and to our local Lowes Foods for allowing the ladies in the deli to fry the chicken for us at no charge.

For those of you who were not able to prepare a basket, but gave a cash donation, we express our appreciation. These donations will be added to the proceeds from the sale of dinner tickets and the total sent to Oxford Orphanage.

The children from Oxford Orphanage who attended the picnic on Thursday, Aug. 13, enjoyed all of the good food, and even though they were wet from all the rain, their spirits were high and they were most grateful.

Abortion Still Wrong

To the editor:

We keep hearing about "Legalized Abortion." Being legal does not make it right. There's a higher law than that of the U.S.A. That's God's law, found in Exodus 20:13 of the Bible. It doesn't make any difference what Bill Clinton, George Bush or anyone else believes about abortion. One of the 10 commandments says "Thou shall not kill." The same is true of homosexuality; if it was ever wrong it still is and God's word does condemn it.

That First Day Of School Means Tears And Fears

Mike Barnhardt

How do you know when it's time for school to start?

All the stores are filled with children and parents, quickly filling baskets with pencils and notebooks and lunchboxes and paper and all that other back-to-school stuff.

All the kids are wearing new blue jeans, the kind that are still so tough it takes real strength just to bend them at the knee. It will be Thanksgiving, maybe even Christmas, before they're broken in properly. Then they'll be replaced by a new pair at Christmas. It's hard to get jeans broken in when mom and dad keep buying a new pair.

The sneakers are new, as well, all white and a variety of colors and of course, bearing some sports star's name or swoosh or stripe or brand logo.

Excited children dreading, and at the same time looking forward, to new classes, new teachers, new schools, new friends.

There's no doubt about it, school's here.

A speaker at a meeting sponsored by Davie schools told this story.

A young boy spent the first week of school doing the things that drive teachers and principals crazy. He talked all the time. He picked fights. He picked on the girls. He talked back to the teacher. He paid no attention to warnings from the principal.

Finally, his teacher had taken all she could. The best way to resolve the problem of the unruly student, she said, was to call the boy's mother. She called the mother, who listened patiently as the frustrated teacher went on and on about all the bad things her son had done for the first week in school.

When the teacher finished, the boy's mother replied: "Listen, I've had him all summer and I didn't call you even once. Gimme a break."

A funny story, sure. It could even be true.

I've tried to remember my first day in the first grade (I grew up in the dark ages before kindergarten.), but I can't. I remember having a crush on my first grade teacher. I remember learning to read and write, taking a nap on a pallet on the floor, but I can't remember that first day. It's just as well. I probably cried.

Then I tried to remember leaving the primary school (where the school office building is now) in the second or third grade and going to Mocksville elementary (where the Brock building is now). I can't remember that first day, either. It's just as well, I probably cried. But I do remember Mrs. Hayes teaching me cursive writing. She told good stories, too. I remember a light fixture falling in the fourth grade, and getting about a hundred spankings in the fifth grade.

Then it was time to go to the middle school. I don't remember that first day, either, but I probably cried. I do remember doing research papers for the first time, and playing on almost-official school basketball teams.

From there, it was on to Davie High School. You guessed it, I don't remember the first day. But I probably cried. I do remember getting hooked on newspapers and running on the track team. When Bert Barger tells you to run, you run.

On to college. I remember the first day there. I was scared to death and didn't know a soul. But I didn't cry. Another college, more strangers, no tears.

Then it was on to the real world. Time to put all that knowledge gained to good use. You're durned right I cried then. I realized that had I paid more attention to the teachers, tried just a little harder on academics than sports and partying, I could have had one of the high-paying jobs. Those nerds who studied their way through school weren't shedding any tears.

Jim Gardner Offers Best Education Hope

To the editor:

On Aug. 4, Carolyn Boger, Sen. Betsy Cochrane, Paul Drechsler, Luther Potts and myself attended a meeting at which Lt. Gov. Jim Gardner outlined his plan for education reform when elected governor on Nov. 3. His plan is a comprehensive 10-point plan to improve education in North Carolina.

I would like to address three major points brought out in Jim Gardner's proposals to reform our public schools.

First, Jim Gardner will move control of our schools back to the local level. Our schools are currently run from Raleigh by the 4R's — rules, regulation, requirements, and restrictions. Jim Gardner believes it is time to turn control of the classroom back to the teacher, and let principals manager their schools, not educrats in Raleigh. Jim Gardner believes that by giving local school officials and parents control over their budgets, hiring, curriculum, textbook selection, etc., we will give schools the chance to become schools of excellence.

Second, Jim Gardner proposes that we "rebuild the base" in our public schools. Gardner would reduce class size in Kindergarten through third grade to 15 students per teacher. This will help all of our young children get the individual attention they need in their crucial early years. In other states where smaller class sizes have been implemented, children in those settings have performed much better than those children in large class settings.

Third, Jim Gardner believes we must put basics first. He believes we should give teachers time to teach. We should eliminate red tape and interruptions that take teachers away from the class and give teachers more control over their classroom.

Jim Gardner believes we should give priority to the basic subjects — reading, writing, math, history, science and geography. Gardner believes students should master these basic courses before they graduate.

Jim Gardner wants to reform education. We will hear a lot during this campaign, but let's remember, Jim Hunt during his term as governor, froze teachers' salaries, Jim Hunt reduced teaching positions by 1200, while increasing non-teaching positions by 15,000. We don't need more of the same old tax and spend rhetoric of Jim Hunt. We need a governor who truly wants to reform education for the better.

We need Jim Gardner as Governor.

To Run Residents: Job Well Done

To the editor:

In reference to Rhonda Gaither's letter, I would like to correct her unjustified statement "Living 'behind the fence' is not an earned right that comes from working hard." My parents as well as many other Bermuda Run residents have worked extremely hard to afford the lifestyle Bermuda Run has to offer. Very few people receive an affluent lifestyle without having to work extremely hard to attain it. One does not become a CEO or president of a company overnight.

Who is one to judge the residents of Bermuda Run as to whether they have "real" jobs? If one can afford to reside in Bermuda Run, I say "Job well done!".

Downtown Paving OKd

Streets in downtown Mocksville should be paved next month.

Members of the town board earlier this month agreed to use about $40,000 of the town's Powell Bill (street) funds to put an asphalt overlay on downtown streets.

The paving will include the parking spaces along Main Street and the square and portions of Depot Street.

The state is paying for paving Main Street, with the town picking up the costs for Depot Street and the parking areas.

The board also agreed to spend almost $84,000 to make spot repairs to 41 town streets.

After those repairs are completed, monies in coming years could be put aside for re-paving entire streets and paving unpaved streets, said Jeff White, assistant town manager.

"Most of our streets are in fairly good shape," White said. "After we get these (repairs) completed, we could look at more major projects and maybe put money to the side to pave some of the unpaved streets."

Board member Dr. F.W. Slate suggested that some money be spent on Spruce Street. "It's too narrow to pave, but we need to do whatever we can to upgrade it," he said.

The board also approved a priority list for unpaved streets, with Spruce, Raymond and Harding getting top priority.

As approved, $17,000 would be left in this year's street budget. If possible, that will be spend on the unpaved streets, board members decided.

Sidewalk Extended Along Main

More flowers, trees and sidewalks are going up in downtown Mocksville.

The brick planters, which include trees and flowers, have been extended to include North Main Street at the Duke Power property, Janice Schooler, Mocksville Business Associates director, told members of the town board recently.

Ten trees have been donated to be planted in the brick boxes, she said.

In other downtown news, Schooler said:

- the parking lot behind the businesses on the east side of North Main (Star Furniture) will be landscaped and paved;
- proposals for the west side parking area are being worked on to present to property owners;
- more planter boxes will be built along the court square;
- the final PB&J (Pops, Blues & Jazz) concert will be around noon on Aug. 25 at the town square;
- Main Street updates are presented on WDSL radio from 9:30-10 a.m. on the fourth Tuesday of each month;
- more than 700 people attended the recent street dance; and
- pictures of the old county jail drawn by Janet Dean will be on Christmas ornaments to be sold, as will prints.

able to access public television, which provides "programs that are more effective than films we've ordered," Landry said. A television in the cafeteria will show school-related announcements, and Landry taped a message to incoming students that aired the first day of school, Wednesday.

"We've had no complaints from people in this region that have it. I have not seen anything unsuitable or controversial. This will help toward our goal of teaching critical thinking and decision making, about issues of global interest. This isn't adults talking, this is kids talking to other kids," Landry said.

"This was a good investment. I picked up 46 televisions (provided free by Whittle), and I had 14 other rooms wired. The only cost was in the wiring. $1,500, but we got $6,500 worth of equipment. This gives me the opportunity to show news and do a whole lot that I never dreamed of being able to do."

The program is offered only to secondary schools, and the reason the program isn't offered at North Davie Junior High, Steed said, is that the PTA had already equipped many classrooms with televisions, and students there were already using the CNN (Cable News Network) program.

Youth Counseling Night This Thursday

He urged parents to bring their children to the Thursday program. "Bring them. Let your children know we care about them," he said.

Jaime Hunter, Davie High School student and Miss Dark & Lovely 1992-93, urged her fellow students to help each other.

"Let our loved ones know that they are indeed loved," Hunter said. "If there's anything you can do to make life better, do it."

Retired school teacher Magalene Gaither also said the tragedy shows a need for greater support for teens.

"Let's try to avert that by getting behind teen-agers and telling them about God and His power," Gaither said.

On Monday, Aug. 10, a 17-year-old Mocksville girl was shot to death as she lay in her bed with her 1½-year-old baby. Rolanda Evette Howell was pronounced dead at the scene at her family's home off Dalton Road.

Her brother, Trevor Olanda "Fonzie" Howell, 15, was shot in the face. He was listed in critical condition in an intensive care unit at Baptist Hospital on Tuesday.

The girl's ex-boyfriend and the baby's father, William Chris Gregory, 18, was arrested for first degree murder, assault with a deadly weapon and breaking and entering. His 14-year-old cousin was also taken into custody.

their past, especially since society connects black with bad and white with good, Williams said.

"How can I lift up my child's head, comfortable in the knowledge of his worth? He must survive for the good of all humanity. The truth will set you free. What a difference the truth makes."

Statistics show that young black men are the most likely to fail in school, to be expelled from school, to be killed, to be jailed ...

"If these young people know the truth, who they were ... they wouldn't be outside the principal's office ... they couldn't shoot each other and maim and kill each other because they would be proud of themselves.

"To achieve excellence, we need more than opportunity. It requires the desire the drive to be somebody. It requires a good self concept and a good self image.

"Freedom originates from within the mind. If our minds are free and our spirits are free, then no one will be able to enslave us," Williams said.

"Keep on reaching. We must have vision. No one must be left behind," she said. "Who's going to help our children if we don't help them? They must know who they are."

Highway Patrol

The following traffic accidents in Davie County were investigated by the N.C. Highway Patrol.

Car Hits Bridge Rail

A Smithfield teen lost control of the car she was driving, hitting a bridge Aug. 9 at 7:25 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper K.B. Steen, Jennifer Katina Liles, 16, was driving a 1979 Buick east on I-40 near Farmington Road. She looked away from the road, and the car ran off the road on the left, grazing a bridge rail.

Mocksville Man Charged

A Route 6, Mocksville man was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision Aug. 11 at 4 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper J.R. Allred, James Roy Taylor, 31, was driving a 1988 Ford pickup truck south on U.S. 601 near Ijames Church Road. A 1987 Plymouth driven by Brenda Sain Beck, 48, of Route 6, Mocksville, had stopped in the south lane of U.S. 601, waiting for another vehicle to turn left.

Taylor failed to see that Beck had stopped, colliding with the Plymouth, the report said.

Beck and two passengers, Colleen Stewart, 61, and Bill Stewart, 68, both of Route 5, Mocksville, were taken to Davie County Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Car Hits Drain Cover

A 1992 Toyota caused an estimated $250 damage when it ran over a drain cover off I-40 Aug. 11 at 6:30 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Allred, Stephen Michael Pace, 24, of Raleigh, was driving the car east on I-40 when he attempted to pass slower traffic. As he moved into the left lane to pass, another vehicle also moved into the left lane, forcing Pace's car off the road into the median.

The car continued in the median, striking a drain cover, the report said.

Pace was taken to N.C. Baptist Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Lewisville Teen Charged

A Lewisville teen was charged with exceeding a safe speed following an accident Aug. 11 at 9:05 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper K.B. Steen, Pamela Elane Myers, 18, was driving a 1971 Volkswagen north on N.C. 801 near Cornatzer Road. Advance, was traveling south on Cornatzer Road. Myers ran off the road on the right, striking a ditch.

Myers was taken to Forsyth Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Damage to the car was estimated at $800.

Ford Hits Concrete

A 1983 Ford driven by a Route 2, Mocksville teen hit a piece of concrete pipe on Myers Road Aug. 11 at 9:45 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper J.R. Allred, Michael Wayne Tilley, 18, was driving the car north on Gordon Drive and made a right turn onto Myers Road. The car struck a piece of concrete as it turned, resulting in damage to the underneath of the car.

PickUp Skids, Wrecks

A 1983 Ford pickup truck skidded but was unable to avoid a collision with a 1992 Chevrolet Aug. 12 at 7:45 a.m.

According to a report by Trooper David R. McCoy, Michael Dale Jones, 20, of Route 3, Mocksville, was driving the Chevrolet and entering Cornatzer Road from Milling Road. The Ford, driven by Karen Cornatzer Robertson, 31, of Route 3, Advance, was traveling south on Cornatzer Road.

Jones failed to see the Ford and pulled into its path, the report said.

Jones was charged with failure to yield right-of-way.

Charges Pending

Charges are pending following a wreck Aug. 12 at 4:15 p.m.

According to Trooper C.D. Jones, Karrie Anne Beck, 18, of Route 8, Mocksville, was driving a 1988 Ford south on U.S. 601 near Madison Road, in the right lane.

An unknown vehicle was traveling south on U.S. 601 in the left lane and began to merge into the right lane, as the Ford passed. Beck drove off the road on the right, striking a curb, the report said.

The other vehicle continued south.

Mocksville Driver Charged

A Mocksville man was charged with making an unsafe traffic movement following an accident Aug. 13 at 9:05 a.m.

According to a report by Trooper David R. McCoy, Paul Lindon Carter, 86, was driving a 1980 Chevrolet onto U.S. 601 from Cagle's Fruit Market parking lot. A 1981 Datsun driven by David Andrew Hunt Jr., 21, of Route 9, Mocksville, was traveling north on U.S. 601. Carter failed to see Hunt, pulling into the path of the Datsun.

Damage to the car was estimated at $800.

Teen Hits Brick Wall

A 1985 Plymouth driven by a Mocksville teen hit a brick wall and mailbox on Deadmon Road Aug. 13 at 1 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, Robert Dale Edwards Jr., 16, of Route 7, was driving the car north on Deadmon Road near Walt Wilson Road. He lost control and skidded off the left shoulder, striking a fence and brick columns.

Edwards was taken to Davie County Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Damage to the car was estimated at $2,950 and to the wall and mailbox, owned by Alexander Splitt of Route 4, Mocksville, at $500.

Parked Van Hit

A parked 1988 Chevrolet van was struck by a 1976 Ford Aug. 13 at 1:10 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, the Ford, owned by Steven Orlando Turner of East Spencer, was parked on the shoulder of U.S. 601 in Cooleemee. The van, owned by Flora Wilkes Hancock of Route 4, Mocksville, was parked in a private drive.

The Ford rolled down an embankment and struck the van.

Damage to each vehicle was estimated at less than $500.

Puddle Causes Wreck

The driver of a 1983 Honda told Trooper T.D. Shaw that a puddle caused her to lose control of the car Aug. 13 at 1:30 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Shaw, Susan Elaine Bull, 19, of Route 8, Mocksville, was driving the car west on Campbell Road near U.S. 158. Bull lost control of the car after striking a puddle in the road. The car went across the road onto the left shoulder, striking a ditch.

Damage to the car was estimated at less than $500.

I-40 Scene Of Accident

I-40 near U.S. 601 was the scene of a one-car accident Aug. 13 at 2:10 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Shaw, Brenda Fender Edwards, 32, of Route 6, Mocksville, was driving a 1979 Lincoln west on I-40. The car spun out of control and traveled off the road onto the right shoulder. It struck a ditch.

Damage to the car was estimated at $150.

Private Yard Is Damaged

Approximately $25 damage was the result when a large truck drove into a private yard Aug. 13 at 4:25 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper C.D. Jones, Thomas Carl McQueen, 25, of Apex, was driving a 1990 International truck east on U.S. 64. A 1978 Cadillac driven by Wilma Hutchens Walker, 66, of 335 Milling Road, was traveling west on U.S. 64. Walker drove into the east lane of travel, due to heavy rain obscuring her vision. In an effort to avoid hitting the car, McQueen drove off the road into a yard owned by James Stroud Jr., of Route 3, Mocksville.

Walker was charged with driving left of center.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $500. There was no estimated damage to the Cadillac.

Driver Leaves Scene

Charges are pending following an accident in which the driver left the scene Aug. 15 at 7:50 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper L.D. Chappell, an unknown driver of a 1970 Chevrolet, owned by Kimberly Hairston of Route 7, Mocksville, was driving the car east on Deadmon Road near Will Boone Road at excessive speed.

The car ran off the road on the left, struck a ditch, and entered Will Boone Road. The driver left the scene and was said to have been taken to Davie County Hospital by private vehicle.

Damage to the car is estimated at $400.

Car Hits Deer

The driver of a 1988 Plymouth was unable to avoid a collision with a deer that ran into its path Aug. 16 at 6:40 a.m.

According to a report by Trooper David R. McCoy, Kathy Baity Allen, 35, of Route 6, Mocksville, was driving the car south on N.C. 801 near Gordon Drive, when she hit the deer.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1,500.

Mocksville Man Charged

A Mocksville man was charged with exceeding a safe speed following an accident Aug. 16 at 7:40 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper L.D. Chappell, Billy Don Byerly, 39, of 101 Marconi St., was driving a 1988 Ford west on Baileys Chapel Road near N.C. 801. The car ran off the left side of the road, back across and off the right side, striking a ditch.

Byerly told Chappell he was meeting oncoming traffic in his lane, prior to the accident.

Damage to the car was estimated at $800.

Mocksville Man Injured

A Route 7, Mocksville man who was a passenger on a motorcycle that wrecked Aug. 16 was taken to Davie County Hospital for treatment.

According to a report by Trooper J.R. Allred, Robert Curtis Howard, 46, was a passenger on an unknown make of motorcycle. The driver was also unknown to Howard.

The motorcycle was traveling west on I-40, Howard said, when a tire blew, causing the motorcycle to wreck. The driver had the motorcycle removed from the scene and left Howard. Howard walked to a nearby motel, where management called authorities.

Allred said Howard was "extremely intoxicated."

Despite the heavy rains, several hundred people turned out t hear the orphanage choir, a speech and to eat.

The Promised Land

Picnic Speaker Says What Makes Davie Great

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The tomato sandwiches weren't the only soggy things at the 112th annual Masonic Picnic last Thursday.

The ground was soggy — and so were the people.

Several hundred area residents turned out in driving rain to hear the children from the Oxford Orphanage sing, to hear Mocksville attorney Hank Van Hoy talk about how great Davie County is, and to taste the fried chicken, potato salad and other treats offered under the picnic arbor.

Sponsored by the Mocksville, Farmington and Advance Masonic Lodges to benefit the orphanage, the people didn't let the rain dampen their spirit for tradition. They just had to talk a little louder to be heard over the rain pelting the tin roofs.

"We have always looked forward to coming to Mocksville," said David Grissom, orphanage director. "In spite of the rain, it's going to be one of your best days ever."

Grissom said the Oxford children will succeed because that's what the people who support the Mocksville picnic want.

"Every one of those children is absolutely beautiful. With you, we're going to accomplish their dreams," he said. "We're going to make good things happen because that's what you want and what you work for."

Although the orphanage benefits from the picnic, it has become much more than that to people of Davie and surrounding counties. It's a tradition — an institution.

"Sit around and talk a while. Look around, you might see somebody you haven't seen in a while," said James "Jaybird" Plott, master of Farmington Lodge 265.

And the picnic is only one of the good things available in Davie County, said Van Hoy, guest speaker for the day.

Van Hoy didn't know what to expect when he moved here with his young family 18 years ago.

"How friendly were the people? What was their civic and charitable nature? What was their commitment to good education, to the betterment of the community, to sound public policy, to a strong employment base?"

The answers, learned over 18 years, were positive.

"Despite differing origins and traditions, the citizens of this community share in common a strong set of beliefs," he said. "They are religious, friendly, and are willing to work hard and play hard.

"They desire good education for their children., demand good government, and appreciate the needs of their neighbors and the needs of the community. Honesty is an esteemed virtue."

Churches, schools, civic groups and volunteer efforts in Davie County are second to none, Van Hoy said. Davie County has a history of being a leader.

"We have an obligation to our neighbors to perpetuate and improve upon this good community. We have a grave trust and responsibility to maintain the ideals and characteristics that make this community so great.

"The greatness of our community did not happen by mere chance. Our predecessors made a difference, and each one of us can make a difference," he said. "Each one of us individually has the power to shape the values of the community."

People can help by becoming involved in all aspects of community life — but the biggest contributions can be made by helping to educate children, Van Hoy said.

"Children are not born with a set of moral values. Children need guidance, molding, nurturing, love and a set of clearly explained rules to enable them to grow into responsible and contributing citizens."

Davie residents are taking that responsibility by being leaders in helping save the environment, Van Hoy said.

In fact, Davie County is so great that is the "Promised Land," Van Hoy said.

"I am thankful for this community. This community is a good place in which to live, and to work, and to raise children.

"It's creed could be Aspera ad Astra — reach for the stars. Don't just try to give the right answer, try to be right, be better than you need to be. Be unreasonably good."

The children of the Oxford Orphanage Choir sing during the morning program.

Car, Truck Collide

A tractor-trailer swung wide to make a right turn and was struck by a car on U.S. 64 last Tuesday.

The tractor-trailer, a 1986 International driven by Clifton Thomas Whitfield, 28, of La Grange, was traveling west on U.S. 64 near U.S. 601 around 10:35 a.m. Aug. 11, according to a report by N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper L.D. Chappell.

Whitfield, attempting to turn right onto U.S. 601, swung the tractor-trailer to the left to begin making the turn. A 1988 Lincoln, driven by Kejth Douglas Stiller, 23, of Route 9, Mocksville, was also traveling west. Stiller attempted to go straight through the intersection, and the two vehicles collided.

Both Stiller and Whitfield were traveling within the posted 45 mph speed limit. They were wearing seat belts and were not injured. A passenger in the International, Ralph A. Garner, 37, of La Grange, was also uninjured, Chappell reported.

Witnesses told Chappell that Whitfield's right turn signal was on prior to the accident, and Chappell said when he arrived, he noted that the turn signal was still on.

No charges were filed.

Damage to the International, owned by Coastal Wholesale Inc., of Kinston, was estimated at $800 and to the car at $3,000.

Trina Hudson Heads Bike-A-Thon Efforts

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced that Trina Hudson has agreed to be the coordinator of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Bike-A-Thon in Cooleemee on Oct. 10.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer, Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict our children. St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, and covers all costs of care beyond those reimbursed by insurance.

At St. Jude, scientists and physicians are working side-by-side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures, and prevention of these terrible killers.

All findings and information gained at the Hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-A-Thon program this year is dedicated to Ryan Martin, a 6-year-old Wilms' tumor patient at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

In North Carolina, 78 children and their families have gone to St. Jude Hospital and received total medical care for a catastrophic illness. Thousands of others have benefitted from the research findings that have developed better and more successful treatment methods.

Cooleemee Srs. Meet

The Cooleemee Senior Citizens met Aug. 10 at the First Baptist Church fellowship hall with 34 members and six visitors present.

The meeting was called to order by the president.

The group sang "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," followed by prayer.

The Rev. Russell Morris from the North Cooleemee Church of God gave the devotions.

A nominating committee was selected to select new officers for the coming year.

A group of singers from Franklin Baptist Church sang a number of gospel songs.

Seven members were recognized for having birthdays in July.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the club song, after which prayer and the blessing was said.

The group went to the dining area for a variety of home-cooked food.

The next meeting will be Aug. 24.

3 Attend Convention

Among local members of Chapter and Auxiliary No. 75, Mocksville, who attended the 1992 national convention of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) and its Auxiliary in Reno, Nev., Aug. 1-6 were: Elizabeth Overcash, CPS, of the Unity Hill community of Iredell County, and Barbara and Hassel Cox of Kernersville.

They were among some 6,000 delegates, family members, and guests who convened at Reno Hilton for the DAV National Convention, representing the veterans who live in North Carolina.

Chosen as DAV National Commander was Joseph Zengerle and chosen as DAV Auxiliary National Commander was Barbara Maldet from Pennsylvania. Jane Troutman of Concord was elected National 1st Junior Vice Commander and Sheila Allred of Raleigh was elected to the office of National Judge Advocate.

Overcash served on the constitution and bylaws committee at the convention.

Also among the convention highlights were speeches by Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, U.S. Sen. Charles Robb (D-Va.), U.S. Sen. Al Gore (D-Tenn.), and President George Bush.

In keeping with the convention theme, "In The Line Of Duty," National Commander Cleveland Jordan said that "It is ultimately our greatest duty — and simplest privilege — to serve each other and our nation as best we are able."

The DAV is a congressionally-chartered, nonprofit association of more than one million veterans disabled in wartime military service. Established in 1920, the DAV provides free service to and promotes the interest of all of America's disabled veterans and their families.

Center Fair, Barbecue To Be Held Sept. 11-12

The 1992 Center Fair will be held on Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Center Community Building.

This annual event is sponsored by the Center Community Development Association and the Center Volunteer Fire Department. The fair is held in conjunction with the annual fall sale of barbecue. Barbecued pork will be sold all day Friday, Sept. 11 and Saturday, Sept. 12.

Entries for the fair will be accepted on Friday, Sept. 11 from 5-9 p.m., and on Saturday, Sept. 12, from 7:30-9:30 a.m. This is a county fair and all entries should be made or produced by a resident of Davie County.

Booklets that explain all the fair departments and entry categories are now available on a first-come, first-served basis. Fair books can be picked up at the Register of Deeds office in the Courthouse or in the Agricultural Extension Service office in the County Office Building, or books can be obtained from members of the Center Community Development Association.

Prizes for fair winners will include ribbons and cash, provided by donations from various businesses, industries, and individuals interested in maintaining a county fair.

Any craftspersons in the area interested in setting up a booth to demonstrate their work should call 492-7554.

If you have any questions, contact members of the fair committee listed in the front of the fair booklets.

She was born June 13, 1906, in Ararat to Samuel Henry and Martha Elizabeth Gibbons Bowman. Most of her life was spent in Winston-Salem where she retired from R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. with 42½ years of service.

She was a member of the Winston Primitive Baptist Church.

Mrs. Slawter is survived by: four daughters, Patsy R. Laxton of the home, Mrs. Dan (Carol) Rhodes of Davidson County, and Mrs. Frank (Lavania) Chaplin and Mrs. Elgin (Mary) Ellis, both of Mocksville; nine grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; and a brother, Sherman F. Bowman of Lexington.

The funeral was Sunday, Aug. 16, at Vogler's Reynolda Chapel by Elder Jim Moody. Burial followed in Woodland Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the Kidney Foundation of N.C., 5970 Fairview Rd., Suite 408, Charlotte, NC 28210.

R. Walter White

Mr. R. Walter White, 76, of Junction Road, Mocksville, died Saturday, Aug. 15, 1992, at N.C. Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, after a prolonged illness.

A memorial service was Monday, Aug. 17, at Eatons Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Leland Richardson officiating.

Memorials may be made to a charity of the donors' choice.

Born Feb. 13, 1916, in Dinwittie County, Va., he was a son of the late Richard Walter and Vivian Jackson White. He retired from the Department of Immigration and Naturalization, U.S. government, and was of the Methodist faith.

He was a veteran of World War II, where he served with the U.S. Army in the European Theatre of operations.

A member of Jericho Hardison Rurian Club, he was a past county chairman of the Davie County Republican Party and a former chairman of the Davie County Board of Health. He was a member of the NCHA Camping Club.

Survivors include: his wife, Frances White of the home; a daughter, Frances Beardsley of Charlotte; two sons, retired Lt. Col. Richard White III of Mocksville and Dr. Russell A. White of Landenburg, Pa.; six grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; one sister, Helen Mayer of Petersburg, Va.; and three brothers, Willie B. White of Portsmouth, Va., Edwin White of Alder Creek, N.Y., and Emmet White of Petersburg, Va.

John L. Thompson

Mr. John Lanier Thompson, 63, of 5832 Navajo Circle, Lynchburg, Va., died unexpectedly Thursday, Aug. 13, 1992, at his residence. He was the husband of Lois Thomas Thompson.

He resided in Lynchburg with his family for the past 31 years. He was a U.S. Navy veteran of World War II, the retired manager of S&W Cafeteria and was a member of Quaker Memorial Presbyterian Church.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by: his mother, Unita Hill Thompson of Clayton; two daughters, Sharon (Shae) James of Mocksville, and Pamela Capps of Myrtle Beach, S.C.; three grandchildren; and one sister, Lexine Lee of Clayton.

A private graveside service was held Saturday, Aug. 15, at Fort Hill Memorial Park by the Rev. James G. Thompson.

Memorials may be made to The Grounds Fund of Quaker Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Benjamin E. Kluttz

Mr. Benjamin Ervin Kluttz, 73, of 2220 Briggs Road, Salisbury, died Friday, Aug. 14, 1992, at Rowan Memorial Hospital. He had been in declining health for several years but death was unexpected.

The funeral was Sunday, Aug. 16, in Salem Lutheran Church with the Rev. Clarence E. Sifford, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Memorials may be made to Salem Lutheran Church, 5080 Sherrills Ford Road, Salisbury, NC 28144.

Born Jan. 26, 1919, in Davie County, he was a son of the late Benjamin Franklin and Essie Ervin Kluttz. He was educated in the Salisbury City Schools. Retired as a sheet metal mechanic for the VA Medical Center, he was a member of Salem Lutheran Church. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II and a member of Locke Fire Department.

His wife, Mildred Hess Kluttz, died on Sept. 10, 1989.

Survivors include: two brothers, Ralph M. Kluttz of Salisbury and Walter L. Kluttz of China Grove; and a nephew, Bill Kluttz of Salisbury.

Davie Scores Quickly In Scrimmage

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

David Hunt didn't take long to leave an impression as Davie County's new offensive coordinator.

On the second play of the War Eagles' scrimmage with North Rowan Monday night, Hunt called for quarterback Bubba Coleman to throw long.

Coleman rared back and just like that, Davie had a 50-plus yard touchdown. Gerald Roberts caught the long pass, surprising not only the North Rowan defense but the large, curious Davie crowd that had assembled in War Eagle Stadium for the sneak preview.

The smiles grew wider moments later when Jon Ward hauled in another Coleman scoring toss.

When it was over, Davie had impressed the crowd and the Cavaliers by scoring four touchdowns. The jayvee team later played and scored another.

Head coach Randall Ward was also smiling. He liked what he saw — and not just from the passing game.

"I felt the hitting was good," he said. "I was well-pleased with the jayvees too. We still have a long way to go but it was good just to get out there."

Rain had forced postponement of the scrimmage three days to Monday nigh.

"The kids needed it," Ward said, "because we had been sitting on hold for so long. We needed to hit somebody besides ourselves."

Davie will get another chance Friday when it travels to Wilkes Central of the Foothills (3-A) Conference for a 7 p.m. start.

Friday's scrimmage at Wilkes Central will be more game-like for the War Eagles. Ward and his coaches now have an idea of what to work on.

"We know a little bit better of what we want," said Ward, "like executing on offense and hitting the right holes and using the right angles, things like that. We need to improve our tackling too."

Jared Eure and Corey Deese ran the ball well for the offense and sophomore Deryl Wilson played a solid game in his high school debut, according to Ward. The defense held North Rowan at bay for much of the scrimmage.

Juyvee-wise, Ward said Jason

Football Edition Coming Next Week

Davie County's football team has recorded four straight seasons of seven losses. Can this year's team curb the losing and surprise the Central Piedmont Conference in its last year before realignment?

That's just one of the questions football fans in Davie County are asking. Here's some more:

- Why is Davie glad to be waving goodbye to Greensboro?
- Who is the man responsible for changing Davie's offense?
- What is the favorite food of a player that weighs 300 pounds?
- How much money can the Booster Club make in concessions?
- Who are the "Bullhole Boys" and why are they dressed like that?
- Who is this man they call Mole?
- Who is the most successful coach in Davie Youth League history?
- How many fathers and brothers are on this year's team?
- With freshmen gone, what will happen to junior high football?
- How many former War Eagles are playing in college?

These questions — and many more — will be answered next week in the seventh annual Davie County Enterprise-Record football edition.

Don't miss it.

Carter's Wins State Crown

16-Run Third Inning Propels Locals To 24-8 Win In Finals

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

HIGH POINT — Thanks to its good luck charm, Carter's Construction ran away with the National Softball Association Class D state championship last weekend.

Whitlock

The good luck charm was eight-year old Mandy Carter, whose father, Bubby, coaches the team. Carter said every time Mandy shows, the team wins.

And with Mandy cheering the team on, Carter's destroyed KiKelly's of Raleigh in the championship game with 29 hits in a rousing, 24-8 victory.

Barry Whitlock was named tournament Most Valuable Player ("of course," said Carter) but the coach was glad an all-state team wasn't chosen. He had more than a few that deserved the honor.

"I was glad, sort of," he said. "We had 11 guys who hit over .500. It would've been tough. Somebody would have been left off."

The tournament was the second round of the NSA state tournament. The top 16 teams from western and eastern North Carolina were decided earlier in Charlotte and they met in High Point for the finals.

Needing The Luck

Carter's received a forfeit in its opener and defeated Connor Construction of Boston, Va 9-2. That's when "Mandy's Magic" came through for the team, as it won two intense struggles, beating the Green Machine 7-4 and Sport Shop of Madison, 9-8.

In its third game, it trailed the East's number one seed Green Machine 4-3 going into the seventh inning.

But Sam Maphis, Perry Creason, Spanky Pardue, Scott Vogler and Barry and Ron Whitlock all had singles, bringing in four runs for a 7-4 win.

In its fourth game, Carter's had to go nine innings to beat the Sport Shop. Tied 8-8, Maphis, Jake Cornelison and Barry Whitlock all had singles to load the bases. Maxie Melton's sacrifice fly then brought home the winner.

"You need luck in tournaments like this," Carter said. "The forfeit in that first game helped us. It saved our legs. We had some close games."

Carter's then found its stroke. It walloped Smith Roofing 18-5 in the semifinals behind a 26-hit attack. Vogler, Ron Whitlock and Russ Whitlock were all 4-for-4.

"We finally started hitting the ball," Carter said. "We play good defense but we usually don't have very many big innings."

That is, not until the finals against KiKelly's, which had lost its first game but had rallied. Sunday's title game was its eight straight of the day.

Even though the game ended in a rout, it was a struggle early for Carter's, which trailed 8-2 after two innings.

"Barry came back in the dugout and said, 'We're in trouble,' " Carter said.

Whitlock was wrong. Before the third inning was over, Carter's had sent 21 men to the plate and had scored 16 runs for an 18-8 lead. It added six more for the final score.

The 29-hit attack was led by Pardue and Barry Whitlock with 4-for-4 performances. Cornelison, Creason and Vogler all had three hits.

"I guess we just decided to hit the ball," said Carter. "They (Kikelly's) had to be tired. I didn't think they could beat us twice."

Notes

- Carter's has won several tournaments this summer.
- As a team, Carter's was 113-for-200 at the plate for a .565 average.
- Pizza Spinners also played in the tournament, finishing 1-2.
- Carter's will now go to Gastonia this weekend for the USSSA state tournament.

Volleyball Team Looks Very Strong

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

There were former state champions Ledford, Mount Airy and Forbush at the recent Catawba College Volleyball Camp but it was Davie County that walked away with the first place hardware.

Davie, a perennial power in the Central Piedmont Conference, swept its way through the recent week-long camp, winning its pool and finally the team championship.

No one was wearing a bigger smile than coach Sherrie Myers.

"When we left, we were so sound fundamentally," she said. "We played smart."

Myers said the camp helped her as much as any player. Last year was her first at Davie and she admitted she had never coached volleyball. Still, the War Eagles finished 12-6 overall, earning another 4-A playoff berth.

Realignment Causes Scheduling Problems

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Appeals by three Winston-Salem high schools concerning the 1993 realignment plan has helped pull Reynolds from the Central Piedmont Conference.

Which means only more scheduling headaches for Davie County athletic director Buddy Lowery.

When the new realignment proposal was released recently, Davie had been taken away from several Greensboro and Winston-Salem schools. The new CPC included Reynolds, Mount Tabor, West Forsyth, South Stokes, South Rowan, North Davidson and Davie.

Lowery

Davie officials were very happy with that move. It took them away from Greensboro schools and moved the War Eagles into a conference with schools of similar size and interests.

The other members — Parkland, Dudley and Grimsley — were placed in a 3-A/4-A split Metro Conference with Greensboro Page, Smith, Carver, Glenn and North Forsyth.

But Parkland, a 3-A size school, immediately said it would appeal, along with Carver and Glenn.

The appeals were upheld last week, taking them away from the 3-A/4-A league. That left the CPC with seven schools and the Metro six.

The North Carolina High School Athletic Association realignment committee then decided to take Reynolds out of the CPC and place it in the Metro, giving it seven teams and the CPC six.

Scheduling Problems

Page and Grimsley reportedly asked the committee to add a seventh team to ease anticipated scheduling problems. The committee relented, stating Reynolds was the closest of any CPC team to Greensboro.

Rice May Not Show His Face Again

Davie County's 6-6 center Jason Rice may never show his face on the basketball court again.

Oh, he'll play. You just want be able to see anything but eyes and mouth.

Rice

Rice suffered a broken nose recently and he is now wearing a face mask. Coach Charles Crenshaw said it may become a permanent fixture.

"It hurts his sight and his breathing," Crenshaw said after watching Rice in the Catawba Team Camp. "He played well though. He went to the boards and took it inside."

Who's Coaching What?

Head coaches at North and South Davie, as well as Davie High, have their assignments for fall sports:

Davie High

Football: Head coach Randall Ward. Assistants at the high school will be Cary Powers, Tim Stuford, David and Andy Hunt, Jerry and Chris Callison, Jeff Ward, Devore Holman, David Gilbreath, Melvin Fogg.

Girls Tennis: Mary Ann Rankin.

Volleyball: Sherrie Myers will coach the varsity and Angie Slabach will coach the jayvee team.

Boys Soccer: Pete Gustafson.

South Davie

7-8 Football: Head coach Barry Whitlock. Assistants will be Grimes Parker and Jeff Ennis.

Softball: Becky Miller.

Girls Tennis: Georgia Amos (tentative).

North Davie

Football: Head coach Ron Kirk. Assistants will be Mike Dinkins and George Newman.

Softball: Darrell Steele.

North-South: Once

Davie Schools Superintendant Bill Steed used to worry about North and South Davie playing each other too much. He doesn't have to worry about that now that the freshmen athletes have moved to the high school.

With only seventh and eighth grade football, the league is large enough where the teams will play only once — at North on Sept. 29.

Tennis Schedule

On the other hand, South Davie's girls tennis teams will see the same foes over and over.

South, Lexington and Thomasville are the only teams in the league. They will play each other three times each.

Suiter Needs Lessons

It's a good thing South Davie principal Julius Suiter lives in Hickory Hill. They have a golf pro there who gives lessons.

In other words, it may be time for Suiter to seek out Steve Forrest.

South football coach Grimes Parker wishes now Suiter had gotten lessons before playing with him.

Suiter, Parker and Highway Patrolman C.J. Jones were playing a round recently. Suiter teed the ball up and swung.

Parker was standing out of the way — at least he thought. Suiter hooked the drive and it careened into Parker's ankle, tearing the blood vessels.

"I played two more holes," Parker said. "I was hobbling. After that, I drove him around. I was his caddy."

Parker has walked on crutches for the past four weeks. He has caught up on his TV watching. He was still limping when teachers reported last week.

Forbush Wins

Forbush won an unprecedented third straight national championship in hunter safety when it took part in the North American Hunter Education Challenge July 27-31 held at the National Rifle Association's Whittington Center in Raton, New Mexico.

Forbush won by 300 points over a team from Louisiana.

Jason Petree won the high individual award and receives a free antelope hunt next year on the Bolton Ranch in Wyoming.

Jason Poindexter, who was high overall as a sophomore in 1991, finished third nationally. Michael Doub, Jason Long, Chad Matthews, Richard Eaton, Brad Willard and Eric Ridings were also on the team.

Forbush's junior team, which has won two straight titles before, was fourth nationally.

Notebook

Davie Stars Compete In AAU Tournament

The Davie Stars, a girls 11-under AAU basketball all-star team, placed third in a recent tournament, receiving bronze medals.

Point guard Leslie Holcomb was named to the AAU all-tournament team.

The Stars also participated in the recent North Carolina State Games in Raleigh.

"The experiences gained by these athletes and coaches were eye-opening and very rewarding," said coach Karen Umberger. "It was evident that this upper level of athletic performance begins at a very young age in the state.

"The basketball enthusiasts of Davie County need to become aware that for our athletes to compete at the junior and senior high level, it is necessary to go outside of our county in search of competition to better themselves, and that the AAU program is a great way for this exposure."

Umberger and fellow coach Cinda Smith will keep the team together and compete in next year's 12-under division.

Williard On Traveling Team

Rec Department Co-ed League To Begin

North Davie Junior High freshman Jonette Williard didn't stay home to play softball this summer. She traveled instead.

And traveled and traveled and traveled some more.

Williard

Williard was the starting shortstop for the Cubs, a traveling 18-under girls team out of Mooresville. The team was coached by Earl Lewis and Gary Nowlen and also drew players from Mooresville, West Iredell, Alabama. The Cubs were the last team from North Carolina to be ousted.

Softball Notes

South Iredell and East Lincoln high schools.

Among the team's accomplishments:

- Placed first in the USSSA state tournament in Concord.
- Placed third in the ASA state tournament in Cary. Williard was named all-state.
- Placed fourth in the NSA state tournament in Concord.
- Placed fifth in the NSA World Tournament in Rock Hill, S.C. The Cubs beat out teams from Florida, Virginia and Ohio before falling to City Used Parts of

Co-ed Teams

The Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation co-ed softball league will get underway this week at Rich Park.

There are nine teams in this year's league: Jaycees, Twin Oaks Golf Course, Crawford Door, Unknowns, Crown Wood, Steele Weel Co., Charlie's Angels, Jockey and Jones Landscaping.

Randy's Tournament

Randy's Barbecue Softball Tournament will be held Aug. 22 in Mooresville.

NSA Champions

Volleyball

"You see all of these books everywhere," she said, pointing around her office at Davie High. "I've been reading everything I can get my hands on. The camp helped me too. I learned one defense I didn't know about.

"I'm real enthusiastic about volleyball," she continued, "and so is the team. I'm much more confident as far as knowing the game."

While the team was working on its fundamentals, it was on top of its game when the actual head-to-head competition began. The War Eagles played two matches a night and Davie was placed in Pool A in the Gold Division.

There was a three-way tie for first between Davie, an all-star team of local area players and East Rowan. Davie defeated East and then beat the all-stars in three straight to take a plaque home.

"Everyone played very, very, very well," Myers exclaimed. "All of the young players did so well."

Attending the camp were Casey Jenkins, Michelle McHan, Emilee Hooven, Anna Robertson, Gina McClamrock, Tracy Robbins, Jenny Stewart, Katie Desch, Laura Moyer and Jonette Williard.

Teams also participating were West Davidson, Starmount, North Surry and North Mecklenburg.

"The camp was just what we needed," Myers said. "We broke some bad habits."

Already Cut

Myers has a right to be excited. She saw 32 come out for this year's team, 10 more than last season. Included were nine freshmen, who have been brought up to the high school for the first time.

Myers has already cut her varsity and jayvee teams, with 13 on each. Angie Slabach will coach the jayvees.

Making the varsity are: Jenkins, McHan, McClamrock, Hooven, Robertson, Robbins, Sherry Blackwell, Amy Mason, Shelly Lusk, Sandra Gallither, Shannon Umberger, Tracie Sechrest and Maria Newsome.

"We lost our power in Katina (Wagner) and Kim (McClelland) who graduated," Myers said. "But I'm real pleased with our back row attack. I think we can have a super year."

On the jayvee team are: Stewart, Desch, Moyer, Williard, Janis Barney, Jennell McClamrock, Judy Ellis, Gretchen Umberger, Amanda Signon, Kelly Robertson, April Owens, Beverly Coulston and Shannon Allen.

Davie High volleyball coach Sherrie Myers watched her team win the Catawba College Volleyball Camp championship and is geared for another winning season.

Headaches

Lowery's question: What about Davie's scheduling problems?

Finding opponents for the War Eagles in 1993 may be a major problem. With only five league opponents, Davie now needs five nonconference football games.

"That's about ridiculous," Lowery said. "I don't know what we'll do. This isn't over yet. There will be more appeals."

In basketball, coach Charles Crenshaw and Lowery will be looking at 10 nonconference games instead of eight. Davie already plays North Davidson, West Rowan and Statesville.

"We may have to try for North Iredell or Wilkes Central, somebody like that," said Crenshaw. "Or even Reynolds. But we don't know if they want to play us."

Football will be the hardest schedule to fill, according to Lowery.

He has already talked with West Rowan and North Iredell, current foes, but added, "West is in a 10-team conference (the 2-A Rocky River) so they won't have but one nonconference game. They'll probably want to play somebody in Rowan County."

Central Davidson has shown interest in playing Davie and so has Starmount, a perennial 2-A playoff team.

"We've talked to Starmount and they liked the idea," Lowery said. "But that's a no-win situation for us. We beat them and people say we're supposed to. If we lose, they say, 'You lost to a 2-A team.'

"We're just speculating right now, looking around and seeing what our options are," he said.

Reynold could even be one of those options as a nonconference opponent. But like West Rowan, the Demons may want to play Forsyth County teams for better gate receipts.

According to Forsyth County athletic director Jim Bovender, the Demons aren't happy with the switch. "We're probably looking at an appeal from Reynolds," he told reporters.

Reynolds will have until Sept. 1 to make its appeal. They will be heard Sept. 17.

Lowery said it would be more difficult for Davie to schedule because of its location. It is the only high school in the county so there aren't that many neighbors.

"We don't have a tremendous amount of 4-A school close by us," he said. "And we don't want to get in the situation where we have to go all the way to an Anson County again."

Davie County — and the other members of the CPC — would have liked for the North Carolina High School Athletic Association to have just left them alone instead of stealing one of their members.

"There's nothing we can do about it now," Lowery said with a shrug.

Lowery: No Football

• After 16 years, Buddy Lowery is giving up his assistant coaching football job at Davie High School.

Lowery was named athletic director last year, taking over for the retired Bill Peeler. He quickly discovered how limited his time is with the addition of his new job.

"There's not enough hours in the day to do what is expected of you," he said.

Since coming to Davie in 1976, he has been a defensive coach for several coaches. He will stay busy, though, selling tickets and making himself available for any questions or problems that arise.

A typical week, according to Lowery didn't give him much time to do anything but work.

"I'd mow on Mondays and Wednesdays, get done about 15 minutes before practice and then go out there for three hours," he said. "Sometimes on Thursdays, I wouldn't even make it to practice until late because we were lining off the field."

On Friday night, when the team is preparing for its game, Lowery said, "everything breaks loose about 6 p.m. I didn't feel like a part of it."

Just because Lowery isn't an assistant doesn't mean he can take it easy.

"Oh, I'll still be plenty busy," he laughed.

Scrimmage

Harbour scored a touchdown and James Clement had a long, impressive run.

North Rowan coach Roger Secreast was impressed with the War Eagles' potential.

"Davie County has a good football team," he told the Salisbury Post. "They're going to do well."

Now, the team will do it all over again Friday night in Wilkesboro.

"We'll hopefully see if we've improved," he said. "Of course, we only have three days to see that. The latter part of the scrimmage will be like a game."

Notes:

• Directions to Wilkes Central: Take 601 to Yadkinville and hit 421 toward Wilkesboro. Take the Taylorsville exit and keep bearing right. Go through the first stoplight, which is about 100 yards from the exit. Go about 200 more yards and take the next right. There will be a sign for Wilkes Central High School. Turn there and the school will be about a mile and a half on the left.

Davie Soccer Team Looking Even Better

"What a difference a week makes.

Davie County soccer coach Pete Gustafson's frown turned into a big smile in only one week's time. That's how much his 1992 soccer team improved.

"At first, I was disenchanted," he admitted.

With a grin, he continued. "I just stepped up our running program. That always seems to work."

Gustafson, entering his third season as head coach at Davie, has 24 players on the roster, not a large number when you consider that freshmen are out for the team.

"It's not too many if the freshmen weren't here," he said. "But if they stick with it, they'll get in a game. I'll see to that."

With the season opener a week away, Gustafson said he hasn't even opened up the entire field yet during practice.

"We're working on conditioning and we've been scrimmaging 5-on-5, 6-on-6 and 7-on-7," he said. "There has been a vast improvement over the last two or three days."

Gustafson has been pleased with two of his seniors, Josh Hardin and Michael Willard.

"They are pushing themselves hard and pushing the others," he said.

Juniors Ben Edwards, Joe Ashburn, Barry Zimmerman and Brent Ward have been impressive. If Gustafson is personally close to these players, there's a reason.

"This was my first group when I came in," he said. "They are now at the point where I consider them within the quality of the rest of the league."

He also praised the play of freshman Dan Callahan, who is one of the most experienced members of the team, despite being a ninth grader.

Gustafson thinks his team has the makings of one that can make some noise in the always-tough Central Piedmont Conference.

"With the right attitude, I think we can surprise some people," he said. "We're capable of good things."

Rec Department Helping Local Soccer

Pete Gustafson has said all along that if Davie County wants to improve its high school soccer program, it has to start with the young players — all the way down to kindergarten age.

Thanks to the Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department, his goal is close to being realized.

Gustafson said last week that recreation athletic director Joe Boyette wants to improve the quality of play for children from kindergarten through six grades.

Boyette oversees youth soccer leagues in Davie County that produce hundreds of players. Now, a few changes may make them better once they reach junior high age.

One proposal is having a goal only five feet by eight feet instead of the 8x24 now used.

"It will help them control the ball and establish their shot better," Gustafson said.

Another is to shorten the field from 50x50 to perhaps 30x50.

"It will bring them in a little closer and will help with the finesse," Gustafson said.

And, he noted, maybe have the kindergarten age play five on five instead of 11 on 11 or even 8 on 8.

By reducing the number of players and the field, it can increase the youngsters' touch, according to Gustafson. They may be able to touch the ball 20 times instead of five.

The recreation department will even sponsor an indoor soccer league for 7-8-9 graders in late winter and early spring.

"I'm really excited," Gustafson said. "Joe has really helped. We're trying to do some things to help improve soccer here. The recreation department is even trying to get fields close to Cooleemee to accommodate those young players."

Cooleemee Textile Heritage Festival Office Opened

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — Folks here are so proud of their heritage that they're throwing a big party.

And you're invited.

The first Textile Heritage Festival is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 3., complete with crafts, music, food and a museum of old textile mill artifacts and photographs.

Members of the Cooleemee Historical Association (CHA) have been working on the festival for months, getting the word out, shucking corn and putting up green beans for a Brunswick stew, and making arrangements for a commemorative issue of the Cooleemee Journal to be printed.

Last week, Cooleemee's Central Carolina Bank boosted the efforts with a $500 donation. Organizers anticipate they'll need $6,000 for the festival.

CHA President Thurman Miller said excitement for the festival is high, in Cooleemee and elsewhere.

"We're going to do it," he said. "I'll have to keep my work britches on, but we're going to do it.

"We might not be able to match Faith, but we do have the faith that we will have a crowd of people here on Oct. 3."

He also praised CCB for getting corporate donations started.

"This is an indication of the support we're getting," Miller said. "CCB not only provides a financial service, but is an active participant in community events."

"CCB feels that community involvement is very important," said CCB manager Diane Snipes. "CCB is very proud to be a part of the first Textile Heritage Festival."

The festival has opened a headquarters in the Cooleemee Shopping Center, where volunteers were busy last week putting together brochures and copies of the CHA's newsletter, the "Cooleemee History Loom."

The office is open part-time in August. Hours will increase in September and closer to the festival date.

Miller sees the festival as being a type of family reunion, and said many area residents have already re-acquainted themselves at the festival office.

That reunion atmosphere should spread to the festival. The committee has sent invitations to groups in other mill towns.

"We're issuing an invitation to our sister mill villages to come and celebrate with us," Miller said.

Cooleemee To Participate In New Addresses

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — When you have an emergency and you call 911, you want them there — fast.

If you live on a rural route and don't have a house number, you might be out of luck.

But Mitch Helms, Davie County's E911 geographic information system technician, wants to change that.

Sometime between December 1992 and March 1993, a new readdressing scheme will take place in Davie County, and Cooleemee town board members voted Monday to participate.

The scheme, said Helms, is an effort to help 911 personnel find homes faster and more effectively.

"We have a hi-tech, state of the art 911 system in Davie County. It's not logical to have such a hi-tech system and not have it operate effectively," Helms said.

There are several roads in Davie, Helms said, that are confusing. Some have similar names, and some are called by different names than is on their sign. Confusion over those problems will be eliminated, because homes will wear numbers, and 911 personnel will have a logical tracking system that will help them find those homes. The numbers will be four-digits and will be a certain height and on a certain area on the house. Ideally, Helms said, they should also be reflective.

The postal people, Helms said, are in favor of the idea, and it's possible that it will also help other agencies, such as UPS, but the main goal, he said, "is to help 911 find houses quicker."

Residents would be responsible for providing their own numbers, and the cost of the change is already being paid for "in your telephone bills," said Mayor Gales.

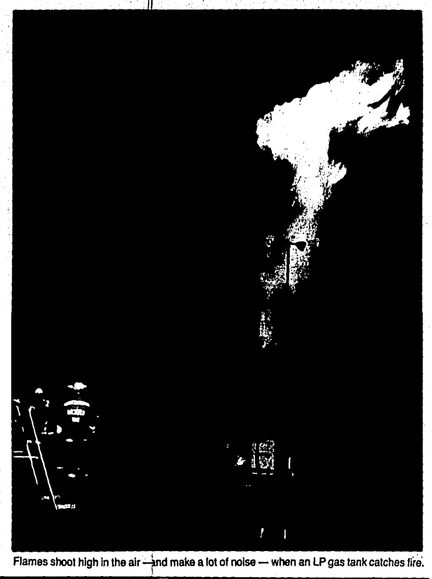
Davie firefighters learn how to approach an LP gas fire at recent training session.
— Photos by Robin Fergusson



Flames shoot high in the air —and make a lot of noise — when an LP gas tank catches fire.

Davie County Firefighters Learn To Battle Gas Fires

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

It took two years, but George Frye succeeded in setting up a dangerous situation for Mocksville firefighters last Tuesday.

Frye, Davie fire marshal, along with about 85 others, took part in a training session set up by Ranger Insurance Company of Houston, Texas at South Davie Junior High School. Although it was training, Frye said it was still dangerous.

"There is a real element of danger there because it is real fire," he said.

The fire he is talking about came from an LP (liquefied petroleum gas) tank that was set on fire. LP, also known as bottled gas, can be found in many locations, including gas grills. Some people store propane, Frye said, and that constitutes a danger if stored improperly.

"Don't ever store a propane tank inside. If there's a leak, and the room fills up with the gas, all it takes is a spark, and it will blow you off the face of the earth."

Ranger's job is to train firefighters in the event of a leak or fire.

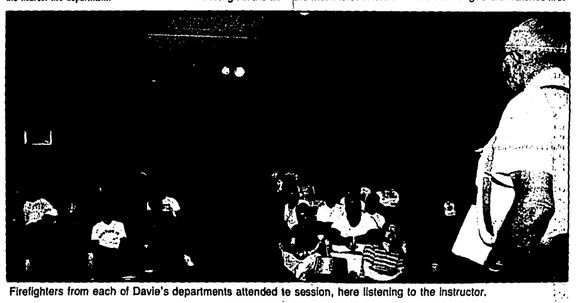
Representatives of the company, an underwriter for many gas and oil companies, travel the U.S. for several months each year to put on the training sessions. Following about an hour and a half of classroom work, the firefighters move outdoors. A fire is set under the tank, Frye said, and it heats the propane until it blows up.

Wearing firefighter's gloves, they use water hoses to create a shield of water, to protect them when they reach for the valve to shut off the gas flow. The real excitement comes, Frye said, when the relief valve on the top of the tank opens, and a huge flame shoots from the tank. That, Frye said, is "really exciting. It can scare you to death if you're not prepared."

Another large LP tank with several pipes and valves, known as a "Christmas Tree" is also used. Flaming LP gas shoots out of it as firefighters approach and learn how to control the fires.

The training is provided free to fire departments. The only requirements are that they provide gas, a fire truck, and people. Frye said there were representatives from each fire department in the county, and firefighters from Rowan and Yadkin counties also participated.

As a safety measure, Frye added, if you suspect a leak in a propane tank, call the company that installed it. If you are sure there is a leak, call the nearest fire department.



Firefighters from each of Davie's departments attended te session, here listening to the instructor.

Cooleemee Briefs

Housing Help May Be Available

Those living in houses in Cooleemee that need repair may be eligible for help.

Joe Matthews, director of the Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments, told Cooleemee Town Board members Monday $1 million is available to North Carolinians that live in substandard houses. Mayor Bill Gales is on a committee made up of representatives from four area counties. "We want to help people who need it, people who can't afford to do the work themselves," Gales said.

Matthews said there are many living in the four-county area that don't have indoor plumbing or heating. He asked board members to look around on their way home and ask about people who might need help. Matthews said that he had a "feeling that each project that is turned in (applied for) will be funded."

Board Endorses Zoning Proposal

Board members, after some discussion, voted unanimously to endorse a short term land use planning project.

Mitch Helms, who works with the 911 system in Davie County, asked board members if Cooleemee would agree to cooperate with the county in adopting a set of guidelines for land uses throughout the county.

When Gales asked for a motion to endorse the plan, commisioner Bill Cranfill said, "I don't fully understand. Who's in charge?"

Town Attorney Hank VanHoy told Cranfill, "The county has not redone their zoning ordinance since 1978, and they want cooperation in working out zoning rules that will affect you."

Commissioner Hayden Beck said, "Since we use the county's zoning laws for ourselves, I think we need to go along with it."

Piedmont Pride Resolution OKd

The board voted unanimously to adopt a resolution recognizing "Pride In The Piedmont" Week, Sept. 6-12.

According to the resolution, all counties, municipalities, and councils of government will join together in promoting the potential of the Piedmont Triad and exert every effort to promote regionalism and what it means to the future development of this most promising and important region of North Carolina.

Police Answer 40 Calls In July

The Cooleemee Police Department answered 40 calls from July 1 to July 31, according to Chief Matt Dillon. Twelve of those calls were for crimes, ranging from assault on a female to parole violation, and eight arrests were made. Hayden Beck said, "For all those crimes there have been a lot of arrests made. I think our police department is doing a fine job."

There were two traffic accidents and 12 traffic citations issued.

Total amount of property stolen from Jan. 1 to present is $14,009, with $13,745 having been recovered. Over $900 was stolen in July, and all of that was recovered.

Adopt A Pet Sat. At Animal Shelter

Adopt a pet.

The Humane Society of Davie County will begin an adoption program at the Davie County Shelter beginning Saturday, Aug. 22, from 12 a.m.-noon.

Members of the Humane Society and animal shelter staff will be on hand the fourth Saturday of each month.

There will be a $5 adoption fee. Spaying and neutering is free if done within 30 days of adoption.

The purpose is to reduce the number of animals being put to sleep every year.

Animals are offered on a first-come, first-served basis. More animals are available than the ones featured in the photographs that accompany this article.

To reach the animal shelter, go to the end of Eaton Road (between the overhead bridge and car wash).

Adoptions are available at all times by making an appointment with the dog warden at 634-0227.

This 8-10 month old part lab and year old dalmation mix are available for adoption.

Lisa Dyson Leads Female Engineers

Lisa Dyson is in a minority.

One of only nine women in her graduating class at North Carolina State University's school of mechanical engineering, Dyson is an engineer at General Electric's Rome, Ga. medium transformer plant.

Dyson

She is one of a small, but growing, number of women engineers nationwide.

Daughter of Wayne and Frieda Dyson of Route 1, Mocksville, Dyson graduated from Davie High School in 1982. Math, she said, was her best subject in school, so it seemed natural to her to go into a field where a strong math background was an advantage.

She graduated from NCSU in 1987 with a degree in mechanical engineering and began her career at a GE plant in Massachusetts. From there, she moved to Atlanta and then to Rome.

GE, Dyson said, is preparing to enter the global market of the 21st century. She is on the cutting edge of quality control at the Rome plant, developing the company's International Standards Organization 9000 system.

"To do business in Europe after this year, you have to be registered as an ISO 9000 company," Dyson said. "American companies will require ISO registration soon.

"It will take a well-trained team to implement ISO 9000," Dyson said. As she tries to build that team at the Rome plant, she must document how the ISO system affects quality control during the manufacturing process. Dyson works closely with production workers, making sure "what goes out the backdoor matches all of our customer's specifications."

Engineering will be a popular field in the future, because American companies are striving to become more competitive. The field is broad, something that most students don't realize.

To achieve a career in engineering, Dyson said, the groundwork must be laid in elementary school, with a solid math background.

Mocksville Briefs

Board Member Business Gets Nod

Up to $5,000 worth of business deals a year can be done by the town of Mocksville with town board members, the board decided last week.

The board adopted the resolution, saying any business done with town board members must save the town money. Board member Tommy Fleming did not vote. He is owner of Mocksville Builders Supply.

'Piedmont Pride' Resolution OKd

The Mocksville Town Board is proud of the Piedmont.

According to a resolution adopted recently by the board, the "Piedmont Triad is richly diverse and offers its citizens and tourists — among other amenities — employment, education, housing and entertainment." The 11 Piedmont Triad counties, the resolution said, "are unified in their efforts to promote orderly growth and better living."

Planning, Zoning Members Picked

Two residents were appointed to boards recently. Both are graduates of the Davie Leadership program.

John Godsby was approved for the Mocksville Planning Board, and Steve Eaton was named to the Mocksville Zoning Board of Adjustments.

Economic Development Plans OKd

Plans are under way to re-organize the Davie County Council on Economic Development, said Town Manager Terry Bralley.

Bralley and town board member Tommy Fleming were appointed to that board, which also includes representatives from Cooleemee, Davie County, the schools, utilities and two at-large members.

Firefighters Get 10 Calls In July

Mocksville firefighters responded to 10 calls in July, including four to auto accidents and one to a kitchen fire.

Members of the department took part in an LP gas training course, and received the first in a series of Hepatitis B vaccinations, Fire Chief Jimmy Kelly reported.

Two New Police Officers On Duty

Police Chief Richard Sink told town board members recently that two new officers are taking part in two months of field training with more experienced officers.

In July, Mocksville police performed 147 courtesies, answered 97 complaints, investigated 17 traffic accidents, responded to 22 burglar alarms and performed three Breathalyzer tests. The officers made three DWI arrests, three larceny arrests, a first-degree burglary arrest, an assault arrest and two arrests for possession of stolen goods. Numerous traffic citations were also issued. A total of 19 arrests were made.

After School Program Beginning

The Mocksville-Davie Recreation Department is beginning an after-school program, director Mike Garner told town board members.

The child care will cost $20 a week or $10 a day, and also be available on teacher workdays and holidays. Call 634-2325 to register.

The recreation department is also talking to landscaping companies about work at the Brock Gym and tennis courts, Garner said.

Bear Creek Sewer Outfall Planned

A sewer line will be constructed from Duke Street to the Bear Creek outfall, Town Manager Terry Bralley suggested recently.

The town board approved the approximately $75,000 project, which will do away with the need for a pumping station. The mile-long project will be done by town workers, Bralley said.

Lt. Governor To Be Here Thursday

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Gardner will visit Mocksville on Thursday, Aug. 20, to build area support for his campaign.

At 9 a.m., Gardner will meet with Congressman Howard Coble at the Davie County GOP Headquarters at 128 N. Main St. At 9:15 a.m., Gardner will travel to the Davie County Courthouse to meet local citizens and Courthouse employees.

"To win this race, I will need strong support from Republicans and conservative Democrats in Davie County," Gardner said. "I am confident that when we inform voters about the issues, the majority of them will agree with us."

COMMISSIONER'S
NOTICE OF SALE OF
REAL PROPERTY

Pursuant to Orders of the Honorable Samuel A. Cathey, District Court Judge dated July 1, 1992, and the Honorable Robert W. Johnson, dated July 8, 1992, the undersigned commissioners shall offer for sale at public auction the following described real estate and improvements, if any located in Davie County, North Carolina and the following personal property:

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY TO BE SOLD:

All being in Jerusalem Township, Davie County, North Carolina

TRACT ONE: BEGINNING at an iron pin in the center of Cooleemee Junction Road, N.C. 1016, said iron pin being South 27 degs. 5 min. East 171 feet from an iron stake, the Southeast corner of Tract 12 as shown on a plat recorded in Plat Book 3, page 24, Davie County Registry; runs thence a new line South 62 degs. 55 min. West 250 feet to an iron stake; thence a new line South 27 degs. 5 min. East 250 feet to an iron stake; thence a new line North 62 degs. 55 min. East 250 feet to an iron pin in the center of said N.C. Road 1016; thence with the center of said Cooleemee Junction Road, N.C. 1016, North 27 degs. 5 min. West 250 feet TO THE BEGINNING, containing 1.43 acres, more or less, as surveyed by J.C. Comer, Davie County Surveyor, on May 24, 1967.

This conveyance is subject to those conditions restrictions, reservations, and easements contained in the deed from Erwin Mills, Inc.

For back title see Deed Book 83, at Page 559. This tract is also known as parcel 29 of Davie County tax map M-4 dated March 28, 1976.

TRACT TWO: Being a tract of land located in Jerusalem Township, Davie County, North Carolina, bounded on the East by the centerline of the Carolina Midland Railroad, on the South and West by the South Fork meanderings of the centerline of Bear Creek, on the North by Davie Academy Road (S.R. 1118), and described as follows:

Being a tract of land shown as Tract No. 3 on a plat of survey entitled "Map No. C, Erwin Mills, Inc. Property, Cooleemee, N.C." by G. Sam Rowe, Registered Engineer 0827, dated October 1953, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Davie County, North Carolina, in Plat Book 3, Page 25, containing 80.4 acres, more or less.

Save and except from the foregoing described Tract a parcel of land containing 4.8 acres, more or less, conveyed to the State of North Carolina by Erwin Mills, Inc., in a Deed dated September 19, 1958, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Davie County in Deed Book 61, Page 133.

And save and except from the said Tract No. 3 an adequate access for the right of egress and ingress of the State of North Carolina to the above described 4.8 acre tract.

Also save and except a certain 6.9 acre tract described in Deed Book 152, at Page 359.

The land described herein is conveyed subject to rights of the North Carolina Midland Railroad and conditions, restrictions, reservations, and easements of record.

For back title see Deed Book 97, at Page 785. This tract is also known as parcel 12 of Davie County tax map M-4.

TRACT THREE: BEING Lots Nos. 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96 and 97 of the Sam Foster Subdivision, as per survey and plats made by A.L. Bowles, Surveyor, May, 1953, and said plats recorded in Map Book No. 3, Pages Nos. 15 and 16, in the Register of Deeds Office of Davie County, North Carolina, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

Also included with the above described lots is a triangular portion of that 1 acre lot described in Deed Book 35 at Page 149 and being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron pin, the Northeast corner of the within described tract and the Northwest corner of the 60 foot lot running from Highway 801 to Tract 5 (Plat Book 3 at Page 16), said point of beginning also being the Southeast corner of Lot 74 of the Sam Foster Subdivision (Plat Book 3 at Page 15) and the Southwest corner of Tract 5, running thence from the point and place of beginning with the Western boundary of said 60 foot lot South 18 deg. 19 min. 07 sec. East 89.80 feet to an iron pin lying 1.1 feet North of the edge of pavement of Highway 801, said point also being the Southeast corner of the within described tract and the Southwest corner of said 60 foot lot, thence with Highway 801 South 71 deg. 40 min. 53 sec. West 274.61 feet to an iron pin, Westernmost corner of the within described tract and the Southwestern corner of Lot 74 (Plat Book 3 at Page 15), said point also lying in the Eastern margin of Whet Stone Drive, thence with the Southern boundary of Lot 74 North 53 deg. 34 min. 25 sec. East 288.92 feet to the point and place of BEGINNING, containing 0.283 acres, including a portion of the right of way of Highway 801, as per plat and survey of Grady L. Tutterow, RLS, dated 4-18-89.

New Teacher Evaluation System In The Works

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Get focused teachers. Evaluation time will soon be here.

Beginning with the upcoming school year, a new evaluation technique for teachers and principals will be implemented.

Dr. Van Johnson, director of personnel and staff development coordinator for Davie County Schools, told board of education members about the evaluation at their meeting on Aug. 3.

"Senate Bill II gives each local educational agency a chance to come up with an alternative type of evaluation if they choose it. It will replace, for career status staff, the old Teacher Performance Appraisal System used by the state."

This will be the pilot year, Johnson said, which will allow teachers and principals a chance to use and make recommendations for improving the instruments and procedures for the following school year.

Twenty-five percent of career status, or tenured (four or more years of service), staff, including guidance counselors and speech therapists, will meet with the principal at their school at the beginning of the year, Johnson said. Together, they will focus on areas of weakness and target goals, known as a professional growth plan, to be achieved during the year.

The plan will be based on past performance of the teacher, as well as anticipated needs, Johnson said.

During the year, the teacher will have a minimum of three observations and conferences with the principal, to talk about their progress. At the end of the year, Johnson said, a professional growth summary, a written narrative including the successes, strengths, and needs for improvement, as well as a conference, will be completed by June 1.

Areas of focus include management of student behavior, use of resources, communication, and evidence of planning.

The other 75 percent of teachers who will not participate in the evaluation will meet with the principal to develop a professional growth plan to be completed by Oct. 1. They will be observed once during the year, and feedback will be provided by an informal observation guide and a conference.

Those who do not have career status will be evaluated by the state plan.

The evaluation will be done on a four-year rotational cycle, so that at the end of four years, all staff would have been evaluated.

Johnson doesn't expect any problems with the new system, but said a committee would meet in the Spring that would critique the evaluation.

"I'm sure there will be things that might be improved, and I'm sure we'll find things we could make better. But essentially what we're trying to accomplish is to let people look at what they need to do to become a better teacher or staff member. This goes a little more in depth into areas of improvement," Johnson said.

"It will help us all to become more professional and more accountable for what we do."

Paige Snider Earns Degree

Paige Allison Snider received the associate degree at Lees-McRae College Aug. 6, having completed her academic work during the second session of summer school.

Snider is the daughter of Teresa Lowry of Advance and Jim Snider, also of Advance.

Christa Truitt Gets Scholarship

Christa Truitt, daughter of Charles and Doris Truitt of Advance, has been awarded a scholarship at Catawba College as a result of participating in the First Family competition.

The First Family program at Catawba provides the most prestigious scholarships the college offers. Recipients are judged on evidence of academic merit and leadership ability.

A graduate of Davie High School, Truitt was secretary of the National Honor Society and president of the Forensic Club. She was a member of the Beta Club, the Drama Club and the Foreign Language Club. Truitt received an academic letter, and was a theatre arts nominee for Governor's School and a Junior Marshal.

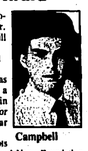
Suzonne Ijames Receives Honor

Suzonne D. Ijames of Mocksville was among 42 graduates honored Aug. 15 during the 22nd annual commencement ceremony for the physician assistant program of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

Ijames is the daughter of Edgar and Yvonne Ijames of Mocksville.

She holds the bachelor's degree in biology from Wake Forest University.

Brent Campbell Earns Award



Campbell

Brent Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Campbell, Southwood Acres, Mocksville, has been awarded a scholarship in broadcasting for the year 1992-93, through Scripps Howard National News Foundation of Chicago.

Campbell is a communications major with a concentration in broadcasting.

In order to qualify, he had to prove a broadcasting background and good grades. He had won a scholarship through Channel 2, Greensboro, in his freshman year and appeared on television. He also filled in one summer as a high school student for a spot on WDSL.

Campbell is a sophomore at Appalachian State University, Boone, a member of the band, and a JV cheerleader.

Residents Don't Want Car Dealer; County Hedges

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

More than 200 Fork residents say they don't want a wholesale car business on a proposed site just off Fork-Bixby Road.

But Davie County commissioners aren't so sure.

The 200 people signed a petition asking the commissioners not to rezone land to allow Jerry Crews to operate Piedmont Auto Sales. Some of those hired a lawyer to present their arguments before the board.

County planners on a 5-2 vote recommended the rezoning not be allowed.

County commissioners delayed a decision, asking the two sides to work out an agreement.

There's nothing to work out, said Grady McClamrock Jr., attorney for neighboring landowners. It is a residential neighborhood and the residents don't want a business there.

"All the neighbors respect Mr. Crews as a neighbor and a businessman," McClamrock said, adding that property suited for the same use is available nearby, on U.S. 64 in Fork.

"The people do not want this type of activity there," McClamrock said. "This is spot zoning, changing the neighborhood without any reason."

Jim Bailey said the neighbors could get 400-600 signatures opposing the rezoning. "The whole community is opposed to it," he said. "He (Crews' property) is so close to the road that it is very, very dangerous."

Crews and his attorney, Jim Eubanks, said they were willing to abide by any restrictions the board put on the special use permit.

Crews, Eubanks said, must have an office that is properly zoned in order to keep a wholesale car dealer's license. He lost the lease on the lot he

Your neighbor's child has just been killed. Maybe your friend's child.

Or it could be a friend of your own child who has died.

What do you do?

There are no perfect answers.

What can you do to prevent tragedies among teenagers from occurring, those like happened here a few weeks ago when a young man apparently killed a girl after she cut off their relationship.

Again, there are no perfect answers.

But more than 100 Davie residents discussed these issues, and got some tips on handling these situations from church and school experts and from each other, last week at South Davie Junior High School.

Calvin Ijames, school board member and volunteer worker with bereaved families, lost one of his children to cancer.

He urged those at the meeting not to judge how well parents are doing immediately after a death.

First comes shock, then denial, anger and hurt.

"Be careful how well you think a bereaved parent is doing from the outward appearance," he said. "After a few weeks, a few months, a year, a bereaved parent begins to recognize this is reality.

"Then what?

"Please don't pretend you know why. Don't make up why's with cute answers or sayings like 'We must not question God' or 'They've gone to be with Jesus.'

"The parent is still here on earth and still hurting."

Ijames prefers admitting that you don't know why such things happen.

He also suggests not to tell bereaved parents to stop grieving, and not to try to hide things about their deceased child.

"Don't make the bereaved parent feel guilty for grieving. It's all right to cry. Help the bereaved parent to cherish

Gardner Confident He'll Be Elected Governor

More 'Common Sense' Needed

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Lt. Gov. Jim Gardner liked what he heard Thursday when he brought his campaign for governor to Mocksville.

"People are telling me they're going to vote for me because I'll be responsive to their needs," the 59-year-old Republican said. "People are telling me they want a businessman who understands the free enterprise system."

Gardner plans to visit 52 of the state's 100 counties this month.

Gardner said he favors a business-like approach to the governor's office.

"If you look at North Carolina as a business and I do, it's a service business ... educating and protecting the citizens and protecting the environment ... you have to have somebody in charge who understands how a business operates."

Gardner learned business at the family dairy farm, and later bought a hamburger stand in his hometown that led to the formation of Hardee's.

State government, he said, is too big a business. The number of government employees has risen more drastically than the population and services provided. He proposes an across the board cut in the number of state employees.

"We have got to get it under control," he said. "We have got to put some good, common sense back into government."

At the top of his list is education, which he says "is being choked with bureaucracy."

Gardner wants more fewer education decisions made by state bureaucrats, and more at the local level by teachers, parents and county and city boards of education.

Teachers are more likely to know what would work for their students than someone in Raleigh, Gardner said. "There's a lot of creativity being stifled."

The disappearing family values have made

Masons Breath New Life Into Picnic

Davie County Masons might consider becoming political consultants to their favorite presidential candidate this fall.

President Bush and Bill Clinton can only dream of reviving the economy to the same degree the Masons breathed new life into the Masonic Picnic this year.

Last year's attendance at the week-long carnival was disappointing. For years it had slowly declined. Last year's gate receipts made members of the organization realize something had to be done.

The turn-around has been dramatic. Hundreds poured through the gates nightly to see the new and improved picnic. It was just that. The Masons recruited a new company with newer and more thrilling rides. Bingo — long a staple of the picnic — returned. And more vendors and games were added.

For years the picnic had survived on nostalgia. The Masons realized that alone couldn't keep the crowds coming. New rides were critical. New entertainment was added.

One thing didn't change. As usual, it rained during the picnic week. Thursday was a wash-out. That traditionally has been one of the big days. But even the rain let the Masons know where the leaks are in the picnic arbor. There are plenty.

The ageless tradition of the picnic has been given new life. And the faces in the crowds seemed most appreciative.

With New Season Comes Dreams Of Winning It All

Like no other time, this is the season of high hopes. Football season is about to begin. Across the nation, every team is undefeated.

This could be the season. The championship season. The season when we win it all.

No other sport carries quite that excitement. The football team carries the reputation and self-respect of the entire community on its shoulders. In baseball, no team is expected to win all its games. Even the best baseball team during a seson will face an unheralded pitcher who can frustrate all its batters. Baseball teams only hope to win more than the others.

It's the same with basketball. Every team has off-nights. And there are nights when every shot seems to go in.

Basketball and baseball teams play far more games than football teams. For football, the season is 10 games. Fluke wins are rare. Football is a contest of power. Which team can push the ball up the field? Which team can throw the long bomb?

Football tends to be predictable. To win, it takes muscle and tradition and talent to win. The outcome is merely a measure of those ingredients.

For half the teams, the dream of an undefeated season ends with the first game. But for some, it will come true. The championship season.

Talk About Important Issues

To the editor:

I would like to commend Mike Barnhardt for his success in journalism. Anyone who has taken a course in this field knows that the purpose of an editorial is to trigger a response. For the past several weeks, residents of Bermuda Run have been outraged by the witty remarks made by people who do not "live behind the fence". But these B.R. residents are taking the matter too personally. As far as the Bermuda Run residents go, take pride in your lifestyle and don't worry what people think of you or how you got there. That is your business. And for those of you like me who do not pass a guard when we go home, do not be intimidated or pass judgment on others. There are many people outside of Bermuda Run who are as, if not more, successful than Run residents. Are you one of them? Davie County citizens, let's save space in our newspaper for more important arguments.

Should U.S. File Chapter 11?

To the editor:

We, the owners of this country, have been given a huge debt of $4 trillion. By the year 2000, left unchecked, unscrutinized, and allowing our elected officials to write the checks, as they did in their own bank, we will have an $8 trillion debt.

Should we file Chapter 11 now, or wait until the year 2000?

Are you interested in organizing a grassroots effort in our county to take back our country?

Please join the Davie County Perot Petition Committee, United We Stand, on Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 6:30 p.m. at the Western Steer Steakhouse, U.S. 601, Mocksville.

School Opens Many Good Opportunities

To the editor:

My letter addresses the problems associated with going to school. Many students look upon school as a necessary evil — or time spent in prison. One of the high school teachers told me that school was a place to drive your car to.

Regardless of what school is to the average student, the key element is the teacher. Your teacher has been trained to channel your God-given talents in the proper direction. We are living in a complex society, and the only way to qualify for the better jobs is to have the necessary education.

Paying attention in class, cooperation with the teacher, and using time wisely will prove of great benefit in the years to come. Time is precious, as it is the stuff life is made of. All of your life is influenced by what you learned or didn't learn in the school years. The best definition of life that I have found is in Tennyson's writings.

"I am a part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch where through
Gleams that untraveled world whose margin fades,
Forever and forever when I move,
How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use."

Students, I urge you to make the most of your school years.

Watermelon Meant For Barefoot Youngsters

Mike Barnhardt

Ahhhh. The simple pleasures of summertime. Fishing on a creek bank. Fresh Silver Queen corn. Homemade ice cream.

And watermelon. Cold, red, ripe watermelon. Juicy and full of flavor. More refreshing than water, tea or lemonade.

They start showing up in May in the fruit markets, coming from places like Florida or Texas. It's OK to try those, for starters.

In June, they are imported from Georgia, maybe even South Carolina.

It's not until July and August do the real things arrive. The watermelons grown right here in North Carolina, in Davie County.

Watermelons always taste best when you pick them yourself. Even better when you grow them yourself.

Some people say you can thump them to tell if they are ripe. Others say you look at the color of the melon. Yet others say wait until the stem begins to turn brown.

Surely, every veteran watermelon grower has pulled one just a little bit too early and ended up with more rind than meat. And surely, most have left them on the vine just a little bit too long, and they get too mushy.

But there's nothing like the feeling — and taste — of a watermelon picked at just the right time, and cooled to just the right temperature. It beats air conditioning every time.

Some people like the great big long striped varieties. Others like the big round ones that grow to a dark green. The small ones may be bite size, but they can be sweet, too.

There are just as many ways to eat a watermelon as there are varieties.

Fancy folks carve the melons in a zig-zag, dip out the watermelon with little spoons that leave you with a marble size piece of watermelon. They do the whole watermelon like this, and replace the watermelon marbles into the zig-zagged rind before serving to guests. Fancy folks do a lot of things the hard way, don't they?

But watermelon wasn't meant for fancy folks.

It was meant to be picked in bare feet and taken to the house to be cooled. It was meant to be enjoyed by whole families, outdoors. The older folks can use knives to slice pieces of melon and swat at the bees that are bound to arrive sooner or later. Even bees know when something is good.

Younger people usually prefer to dive at the watermelon with their teeth, biting off more than their mouths will hold. The juice runs down from their smile onto their chins, down the neck, sometimes all the way to the belly button. It slides down the arms to the elbows, sometimes farther.

The older ones use their knives to flick away the seeds. But not the youngsters. They suck the watermelon from around the seeds, and then spit the seeds at each other. The older folks fuss, but only because it's their job. They enjoy the seed spiting, too.

When it's all over, and there's nothing left but a wet, green rind, it is time to clean up. There is only one way to clean a kid who has just eaten a slice or two of watermelon the way a kid is supposed to eat a slice or two of watermelon. Spray 'em down with a water hose.

Let's never get too fancy to enjoy something this simple, and this good.

memories."

A lot of the discussion centered on preventing another tragedy, and ranged from talks on what television shows to allow your children to watch, at what age and how they should date and how to recognize potential problems in a child.

"Becoming an adult is not an easy thing in this society," said counselor Tim Tilley. "It is a confusing time.

"You've got to give them freedom of choice ... relying on what you've taught them. Be available when they're ready to talk, rather than confronting them."

"You do need to let them know there is safety at home," said Dr. Carolyn Beaver, Davie schools dropout prevention coordinator.

"Don't ever underestimate your role, your importance as a parent," said school counselor Stasia Leary. "They (children) may not let you know it, but believe me, you are number one in their lives ... and not just the parents, but the grandparents, relatives ..."

The Rev. Terry Dalton said it is important to listen to children.

"Young people are looking at us. We've got to take time and listen," Dalton said. "Work with teachers, because they can see things that we can't see. A lot of times, we love our children so much, we fail to see their faults."

Dalton said parents are the bows, children the arrows.

"A lot of times as parents, our bows are too weak," he said. "If we would strengthen ourselves and get help for our children, if we would be strong bows and aim them in the right direction, then we can be sure our children will make something of themselves."

One woman said teen-agers are growing up too fast, and begin dating before they should.

"We are letting our young people run too much," she said. "The parents, it's going to have to come from you. You're going to have to say no and you're going to have to mean it."

Beaver said it is OK to tell children no, but be able to back it up with reasons. "I think we owe them an explanation for our answers," she said.

Davie High student Ashley Meisner said students with problems are often too intimidated or scared to seek help. Some don't trust counselors, ministers, parents — even each other.

She told parents not to blame peer pressure on the bad decisions made by their children.

The recent tragedy has hurt students, and all must work together to help each other, Meisner said.

"Everybody at school is confused, frustrated and angry. We need to work together. We don't know everything. We need your help.

"We need to feel free and comfortable enough to come to you," Meisner said.

She said that overall, Davie has good students with fewer problems than in other areas.

"We need to try to listen to each other and care about each other a little more and maybe we could get more accomplished," Meisner said.

One thing parents must do, according to South Davie Assistant Principal Patsy Crenshaw, is set good examples.

"We must stay firm in what we believe," she said. "You must set good examples. And that's what teachers should be — good examples."

Dalton said not only do bereaved parents hurt, so do those who have children who are jailed for violent crimes.

There is no such thing as the perfect parent, he said. Parents must do their best.

"If you don't think you're doing your best as parents, then you're doing something wrong," he said.

Leary said parents should not be judged by the actions of their children.

"There comes a time when you're no longer in control," said Tilley, the counselor. "Parenting ... it's the toughest job we'll ever do. There's no such thing as the perfect parent."

The Rev. Royce Myers said to handle bereaved parents and parents who have lost a child to crime in similar manners.

"You deal with them with love and understanding and all the support you can give them," he said.

Highway Patrol

The following traffic accidents in Davie County were investigated by the N.C. Highway Patrol.

Advance Teen Charged

An Advance 18-year-old was charged with making an unsafe traffic movement following an accident Aug. 17 at 3:45 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper David R. McCoy, Bradley Neil Jones was backing a 1980 Toyota from a private drive onto Cornatzer Road. A 1986 Buick driven by Debra Alberty Hedrick, 23, of Advance, was traveling west on Cornatzer Road.

Jones failed to see the Buick and backed into its path.

Damage to the Toyota was estimated at $500, to the Buick, $2,800.

Cars Collide In Curve

Two cars collided as they approached a curve Aug. 17 at 4:45 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, John Eric Whitehead, 24, of Cooleemee, was driving a 1983 Buick north on Point Road in Cooleemee. A 1983 Chevrolet driven by Gerald Linn Cruse, 33, of Route 4, Mocksville, was traveling south.

As the cars approached, Whitehead's car skidded and collided with the Chevrolet.

Damage to the Buick was estimated at $600 and to the Chevrolet at $700.

Driver Passes Out

A Mocksville woman lost consciousness while driving Aug. 17, and her car struck a utility pole.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, Barbara Crawford Frost, 51, of Route 7, was driving a 1987 Cadillac east on U.S. 64 near Dalton Road around 6:10 p.m. Frost, who is diabetic, passed out and ran off the right shoulder of the road, striking a utility pole, the report said.

She was taken to Davie County Hospital, where she was treated and released after being treated for bruises and cuts to the chest.

Damage to the Cadillac was estimated at $6,800, to the Crescent Electric pole, $500.

Trucks Collide At Horns

Two tractor-trailers were damaged when one sideswiped the other in Horn's Truck Stop parking lot off U.S. 601 Aug. 19.

According to a report by Trooper J.R. Allred, Michael Allen Medley, 23, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was driving a 1989 Peterbilt tractor-trailer and leaving a parking space. He made a sharp right turn, sideswiping a 1984 International tractor-trailer, owned by Proof Truck Lines of Jacksonville.

Damage to the Peterbilt, owned by Star Transportation Inc. of Nashville, Tenn., was estimated at less than $500. Damage to the International was also estimated at less than $500.

Disabled Car Hit

A car with transmission problems was hit by another car on Marginal Street in Cooleemee Aug. 19 at 9:15 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Allred, the disabled car, a 1980 Pontiac, driven by Howard Junior Stockton, 45, of Cooleemee, had backed out of a private drive off Marginal Street. A 1992 Honda, driven by Jeffrey Lynn Lipscomb, 28, of Route 8, Mocksville, was traveling north on Marginal Street.

Due to transmission problems, the Pontiac became disabled, partially blocking both travel lanes. Lipscomb told Allred he couldn't see the Pontiac because its headlights blinded him.

The Honda struck the Pontiac and travelled a short distance before turning around and returning to the scene.

Damage to the Honda was estimated at $2,000, to the Pontiac, $1,000.

Highway Patrol

The following traffic accidents in Davie County were investigated by the N.C. Highway Patrol.

Advance Teen Charged

An Advance 18-year-old was charged with making an unsafe traffic movement following an accident Aug. 17 at 3:45 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper David R. McCoy, Bradley Neil Jones was backing a 1980 Toyota from a private drive onto Cornatzer Road. A 1986 Buick driven by Debra Alberty Hedrick, 23, of Advance, was traveling west on Cornatzer Road.

Jones failed to see the Buick and backed into its path.

Damage to the Toyota was estimated at $500, to the Buick, $2,800.

Cars Collide In Curve

Two cars collided as they approached a curve Aug. 17 at 4:45 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, John Eric Whitehead, 24, of Cooleemee, was driving a 1983 Buick north on Point Road in Cooleemee. A 1983 Chevrolet driven by Gerald Linn Cruse, 33, of Route 4, Mocksville, was traveling south.

As the cars approached, Whitehead's car skidded and collided with the Chevrolet.

Damage to the Buick was estimated at $600 and to the Chevrolet at $700.

Driver Passes Out

A Mocksville woman lost consciousness while driving Aug. 17, and her car struck a utility pole.

According to a report by Trooper McCoy, Barbara Crawford Frost, 51, of Route 7, was driving a 1987 Cadillac east on U.S. 64 near Dalton Road around 6:10 p.m. Frost, who is diabetic, passed out and ran off the right shoulder of the road, striking a utility pole, the report said.

She was taken to Davie County Hospital, where she was treated and released after being treated for bruises and cuts to the chest.

Damage to the Cadillac was estimated at $6,800, to the Crescent Electric pole, $500.

Trucks Collide At Horns

Two tractor-trailers were damaged when one sideswiped the other in Horn's Truck Stop parking lot off U.S. 601 Aug. 19.

According to a report by Trooper J.R. Allred, Michael Allen Medley, 23, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was driving a 1989 Peterbilt tractor-trailer and leaving a parking space. He made a sharp right turn, sideswiping a 1984 International tractor-trailer, owned by Ploof Truck Lines of Jacksonville.

Damage to the Peterbilt, owned by Star Transportation Inc, of Nashville, Tenn., was estimated at less than $500. Damage to the International was also estimated at less than $500.

Disabled Car Hit

A car with transmission problems was hit by another car on Marginal Street in Cooleemee Aug. 19 at 9:15 p.m.

According to a report by Trooper Allred, the disabled car, a 1980 Pontiac, driven by Howard Junior Stockton, 45, of Cooleemee, had backed out of a private drive off Marginal Street. A 1992 Honda, driven by Jeffrey Lynn Lipscomb, 28, of Route 8, Mocksville, was traveling north on Marginal Street.

Due to transmission problems, the Pontiac became disabled, partially blocking both travel lanes. Lipscomb told Alfred he couldn't see the Pontiac because its headlights blinded him.

The Honda struck the Pontiac and travelled a short distance before turning around and returning to the scene.

Damage to the Honda was estimated at $2,000, to the Pontiac, $1,000.

memories."

A lot of the discussion centered on preventing another tragedy, and ranged from talks on what television shows to allow your children to watch, at what age and how they should date and how to recognize potential problems in a child.

"Becoming an adult is not an easy thing in this society," said counselor Tim Tilley. "It is a confusing time.

"You've got to give them freedom of choice ... relying on what you've taught them. Be available when they're ready to talk, rather than confronting them."

"You do need to let them know there is safety at home," said Dr. Carolyn Beaver, Davie schools dropout prevention coordinator.

"Don't ever underestimate your role, your importance as a parent," said school counselor Stasia Leary. "They (children) may not let you know it, but believe me, you are number one in their lives ... and not just the parents, but the grandparents, relatives ..."

The Rev. Terry Dalton said it is important to listen to children.

"Young people are looking at us. We've got to take time and listen," Dalton said. "Work with teachers, because they can see things that we can't see. A lot of times, we love our children so much, we fail to see their faults."

Dalton said parents are the bows, children the arrows.

"A lot of times as parents, our bows are too weak," he said. "If we would strengthen ourselves and get help for our children, if we would be strong bows and aim them in the right direction, then we can be sure our children will make something of themselves."

One woman said teen-agers are growing up too fast, and begin dating before they should.

"We are letting our young people run too much," she said. "The parents, it's going to have to come from you. You're going to have to say no and you're going to have to mean it."

Beaver said it is OK to tell children no, but be able to back it up with reasons. "I think we owe them an explanation for our answers," she said.

Davie High student Ashley Meisner said students with problems are often too intimidated or scared to seek help. Some don't trust counselors, ministers, parents — even each other.

She told parents not to blame peer pressure on the bad decisions made by their children.

The recent tragedy has hurt students, and all must work together to help each other, Meisner said.

"Everybody at school is confused, frustrated and angry. We need to work together. We don't know everything. We need your help.

"We need to feel free and comfortable enough to come to you," Meisner said.

She said that overall, Davie has good students with fewer problems than in other areas.

"We need to try to listen to each other and care about each other a little more and maybe we could get more accomplished," Meisner said.

One thing parents must do, according to South Davie Assistant Principal Patsy Crenshaw, is set good examples.

"We must stay firm in what we believe," she said. "You must set good examples. And that's what teachers should be — good examples."

Dalton said not only do bereaved parents hurt, so do those who have children who are jailed for violent crimes.

There is no such thing as the perfect parent, he said. Parents must do their best.

"If you don't think you're doing your best as parents, then you're doing something wrong," he said.

Leary said parents should not be judged by the actions of their children.

"There comes a time when you're no longer in control," said Tilley, the counselor. "Parenting ... it's the toughest job we'll ever do. There's no such thing as the perfect parent."

The Rev. Royce Myers said to handle bereaved parents and parents who have lost a child to crime in similar manners.

"You deal with them with love and understanding and all the support you can give them," he said.

Education, Prisons Top Gardner's List

teaching the toughest job in the state, he said. He proposes higher salaries and lower class sizes.

"We've got to be willing to pay them. I want to call 1993 the year of the teacher." If elected, he said he will form a teacher advisory committee to meet with regularly.

Gardner also wants more preschool programs for at-risk and disadvantaged students, to even the playing field, as he puts it.

"We got to rebuild the foundation of education in this state."

Gardner said prison is a deterrent to crime, but the state's system is in such a mess that the criminals are laughing.

"It's not doing any good. They (criminals) know they're not going to spend any time in jail. The state court is a game ... they laugh at everybody. "But prison is a deterrent to crime."

Gardner puts the blame for the problems in the court and prison systems on his opponent, former Gov. James B. Hunt and the Fair Sentencing Act.

"It was fair to everybody breaking the law in North Caroline," Gardner said. "I want to do away with all that nonsense. When you go to jail, you should go there to serve your sentence."

Not only are there not enough prison beds, many are too nice. Gardner wants wooden prisons with no air-conditioning. "I'll not have an air-conditioned prison as long as there is one classroom not air-conditioned."

The prison system, he said, could "adopt a highway," with prisoners doing road maintenance, repair and roadside cleaning work. Prisoners should be used to help repair school buildings in the summer months, he said.

"Jim Hunt was the architect of those problems," he said. "Those two areas, there is the clearest difference between the two Jims, between the two men running for governor."

U.S. Congressman Howard Coble (center, waving) was among those who accompanied Lt. Gov. Jim Gardner on walking tour of Mocksville last Thursday morning.

Cochrane, Vogler Head Davie Campaign

Jim Gardner, Republican candidate for governor, has announced that state Sen. Betsy Lane Cochrane and Ed Vogler will direct Gardner's campaign in Davie County.

"It has been a priority of mine to recruit community leaders to lead our efforts throughout the state and we have done just that in adding Betsy and Ed to the team," said Gardner.

Cochrane, a former teacher, has been a state senator since 1988. For the eight years prior to that she was a member of the state House. Cochrane was active in the 1978 and 1984 campaigns of U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms. Her experience on the national level includes serving as a delegate to the 1978 and 1988 Republican conventions; at the latter, Cochrane was a member of the national platform committee.

Vogler is a partner in the law firm of Hall, Vogler and Fleming in Mocksville. He was Davie County chairman of Gov. Jim Martin's campaigns in 1984 and 1988. Vogler is former chairman of the Davie County GOP. He is active in the Lions Club and attends First Baptist Church in Mocksville.

As co-chairmen, Cochrane and Vogler will be responsible for organizing campaign events, voter contact and turnout programs, voter registration efforts, distribution of signs and other political materials and other functions necessary for Gardner to do well in Davie County in November.

Davie residents Paul Drecsler, Betsy Cochrane, Mark Jones, Carolyn Boger and Luther Potts joined Jim Gardner in Raleigh recently when he announced his plans for improving the state's education system.

Group Opposes Car Dealer Rezoning

operated on U.S. 158. "He has to find other quarters," Eubanks said.

An office and garage was built on the Fork-Bixby Road site in 1985, just north of Fulton Road, before Crews bought the property, Eubanks said.

County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce said that because that was used by a private individual, it did not have to be zoned for a business.

Eubanks said there is a shortage of available, reasonably-priced property for this type of business in northeastern Davie.

"Mr. Crews comes to you as the largest independent wholesale car dealer in the county," he said. "He does not sell automobiles at his place of business. It's not a people related business."

Eubanks said Crews would have from two to 10 cars on the property at a time, vehicles which he sells at auctions.

"He's asking you to use this property as a base for his wholesale dealership. The view of the place is palatable and he's willing to do some beautification if he's asked to or it's required."

Eubanks said Crews was surprised at the opposition, saying the requested use wouldn't change the way the property has been used or change the neighborhood.

McClamrock disagreed, asking the board to consider Crews' old lot on U.S. 158 where there were routinely 25-30 cars.

Although the property has been in worse condition, it is still not in good shape, McClamrock said. "What we see from the road are about six vehicles," he said, showing photographs to the board. "There has been as many as 11 there at one time.

"There is a mobile home in poor condition. There is a gulley ... erosion. There's been a fair quantity of junk cars, some have been removed."

Surrounding homes are neat and well kept. A church is a quarter of a mile away, McClamrock said.

He also said the requested use is too broad. Would there be a few cars, or 25 cars? Could it be an auto auction? Could the county realistically enforce any stipulations put on the zoning?

"The people do not want this type of activity there," McClamrock said. "A country road is not a highway."

Eubanks said Crews would adhere to any rules the board suggests. "It's not zoning in itself. It's a use application," he said.

Boyce said the planning board recommended denying the request because they felt it would be a business in a residential neighborhood — a business that could adversely affect the neighborhood.

County Commission Chairman Bert Bahnson said the request was not specific enough. "Jim (Eubanks), I don't think ya'll have spelled it out quite clearly enough." People requesting a special use rezoning should have details of their plans before making a request, Bahnson said. "Have exactly what you plan to do."

Crews said the use of the property wouldn't change.

"If you grant this, there's not anything going to change," Crews said. "I just need a place to keep my license, and that's my place."

Joey Bailey, neighbor, said Crews didn't contact him about the plans.

"It looks to me like there's been a lack of communications," Bahnson said.

Commissioner Buster Cleary said that Crews is a man of his word, that he'll do what he says he will do.

Commissioner Diane Foster seemed to agree with the neighborhood residents that the rezoning would be "spot zoning," but went along with fellow board members who voted to delay a decision until Sept. 21.

Commissioner Larry Hayes was not at the meeting.

Drivers Charged

Both drivers in an accident on U.S. 64 Aug. 21 were charged.

According to a report by Trooper T.D. Shaw, Donald Lee Stiltner, 36, of Lexington, was driving a 1978 Ford van east on U.S. 64 near Merrell's Lake Road. A 1978 Ford, driven by Alison Suzette Davis, 18, of Advance, was stopped in the road for a school bus. Stiltner's van struck the car in the rear, forcing it off the right shoulder. The car struck a barbed wire fence and spun around.

Davis was charged with no seatbelt and no child restraint system (under 16). Stiltner was charged with failure to reduce speed.

Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $1,100.

Tractor-Trailer Wrecks

A 1989 Ireco tractor-trailer received an estimated $2,500 damage when it ran off N.C. 801 Aug. 20.

According to a report by Trooper Shaw, the tractor-trailer, driven by Bradley Steven Sylar Shelling, 25, of Huntersville, was traveling north on N.C. 801 near Joe Road around 7:20 p.m.

Shelling "took his eyes off the road," driving off the right shoulder and striking a ditch.

Embezzlement Charges Dropped

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The former manager of Carl's TV and Appliances in Mocksville was ordered bound over for trial in Superior Court on charges of breaking and entering and larceny following a probable cause hearing in Davie District Court last Thursday.

Brent Daniel Thomas, 25, had also been charged with two counts of embezzlement, but Judge Kimberly T. Harbinson found no probable cause in those cases. Thomas was found guilty of second degree trespassing, and Harbinson issued a prayer for judgment continued on condition he pay a $25 fine and court costs and stay away from the business.

The breaking and entering charges stem from an incident in September of last year. Some $2,000 was taken from the home of Nell Watson on Becktown Road. Watson's grandson, Carl Anderson, was sharing an apartment with Thomas at the time and testified that Thomas had suggested they take the money and when Anderson said no, had later taken it himself and showed the money to Anderson.

Defense attorney Jennifer Brock had pointed out that Anderson had had in his possession a pistol that was taken in the break-in, which he had attempted to sell.

On the stand, Thomas denied ever taking money from Watson's home.

The embezzlement charges were in connection with missing inventory from the store and $110 which a customer paid on a bill that was not reflected in the computer printouts.

The customer reportedly gave the money to another employee, Jeff Scott. Scott said he thought the customer had only one account and all of the money would be posted to that account.

The computer printout showed only $64 posted to the account.

Thomas testified that the customer had two accounts, one for tires and one for a gold necklace. He said he used part of the money to pay off one of the accounts and posted the rest to the other account.

"Once an account is paid off, it is deleted from the computer," Thomas said, noting that was why it did not appear on the printout. He said there was a file with all of the paperwork, but that had disappeared.

A former secretary, Kristy Beaver, said there were bad feelings between Thomas and district manager, Johnny Halford, and that Thomas thought Halford had taken the missing inventory and Halford was accusing Thomas.

Brock argued successfully that there were a lot of innuendos about missing inventory and computer records, but no hard evidence. Judge Harbinson agreed and those charges were dismissed.

The trespassing charge involved Halford asking Thomas not to come back to the store after he was fired. Thomas said he asked to pick up his paycheck and was told to come to the store at noon. Halford was not there when he arrived, and Thomas said Beavers said he could come in and use the telephone. Thomas said he called the home office looking of his check, and had assumed he had permission to be there.

20-Year-Olds Apologize For Mischief

This spring two 20-year-old Mocksville men were arrested for breaking into the concession stand at the ballfield at Mocksville Elementary School and taking a ball, bat, a cooler and an assortment of candy. By the time they appeared in Davie District Court last Thursday, the two had already made an attempt to make restitution.

In light of their actions, Judge Kimberly T. Harbinson issued a prayer for judgment for three years on condition that each pay $100 fines and court costs and perform 48 hours of community service work.

Chad Brown Mock of Route 3 and Steven Gary Ashley of Hardison Street were arrested on May 22 for breaking, entering and larceny, unlawful possession of burglary tools and possession of pyrotechnics (fireworks).

In a plea arrangment, the breaking and entering and larceny charges were reduced to misdemeanors and the possession of burglary tools charges were dismissed.

Grady McClamrock, attorney for the two, said these were nice young men from good families, who had never been in trouble.

"They went to the parks and recreation department to see what they could do to try and make up for this, and the two have already done some 37 hours of volunteer work and even took a group of handicapped kids on an overnight camping trip," McClamrock said.

"These young men have bright futures ahead of them and don't want to see something like this on their record, and I'm asking you to consider a PJC (prayer for judgment) in this case."

Judge Harbinson also ordered that Mock and Ashley write letters of apology to the recreation department and not go about the premises without permission.

Voting Rules Announced

Absentee applications for ballots to be mailed for electors who will be out of the county the entire period that the polls will be open for the Nov. 3 General Election may be filed with the Davie County Board of Elections Monday, Sept. 14 - Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 5 p.m.

Requests for ballots due to illness or disability may be filed Monday, Sept. 14 - Monday, Nov. 2.

For convenience of electors "one stop" absentee voting will be available in the elections office Tuesday Oct. 6 - Friday, Oct. 30, at 5 p.m.

By resolution of the Davie County Board of Election members, and in compliance with G.S. 163-230, meetings will be held in the elections offices as required at 4:45 p.m. to review all absentee requests filed.

The deadline for filing for registration by vote, or for making registration corrections to be eligible to vote in the Nov. elections, is Monday, Oct. 5.

Job Consortium Honors Propst

Eric Propst has been honored by the Northwest Piedmont Job Training Consolium.

Propst

Propst, the son of Caren Propst of Mocksville, is a 1992 graduate of Davie High School.

He worked the summer at the Davie Schools Maintenance Garage.

Each participant in the youth employment program was asked to write about their job, with a winner selected in each of the five counties.

Propst was Davie's winner.

He wrote:

"My summer job is important to me because it gives me the training I need for a bigger and better job in the future. It also gives me the qualifications to work with other people so I can learn from them as they learn from me.

"It gives me something to do other than to run around in the streets with the bad crowd. Better yet, it keeps me out of trouble."

Propst was presented a plaque by Diane Sides of Cooleemee's CCB, a Davie County Private Industry Council member.

James L. Clement was Propst's supervisor.

Changing Focus

Davie APS To Concentrate On Cruelty Cases

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When it was formed 15 years ago, the Davie County Animal Protection Society (DCAPS) had three goals.

With those goals pretty much accomplished, a new humane society in the county, and dwindling funds, the group is narrowing its focus.

Now, DCAPS will concentrate on helping animals picked up by cruelty investigators.

"We've done a good job for the animals," said Freddie Hammer, president, "and we feel like we will be taking better care of the animals of our county.

"We've got to take care of the animals. We can keep on ... but we don't want to be duplicating what each other are trying to do," she said.

The new Humane Society of Davie County will focus efforts on the Davie County Animal Shelter and getting more pet adoptions, she said.

DCAPS will focus on the cruelty cases. Hammer's husband, Earl Hammer, is a volunteer cruelty investigator for the county.

DCAPS' three original goals, Hammer said, were: to prevent animal suffering, to slow the population of unwanted pets and to update the county animal shelter, or dog pound.

"I feel like we have fulfilled these goals," Hammer said.

The group helped design the animal shelter, lobbied for support and funding for the shelter and watched over its completion. The shelter, however, is owned by Davie County.

"We care very, very much about that shelter," she said.

The group also lobbied county commissioners to appoint cruelty investigators. Davie had the first two appointed in North Carolina, Hammer said.

Those cases continue to be reported, and those are the ones that have put a financial strain on the group.

In one cruelty case involving horses, DCAPS paid more than $1,300 in feed bills while the case was in the court system. None of the money has been paid back, putting a strain on the group's approximate $2,000 yearly budget.

"We'll never see this money," Hammer said. "We saved two horses, but we'll never see this money."

DCAPS spent more than $1,500 buying feed for other horses confiscated in a cruelty case.

"We are proud we were able to care for these animals ... but the economics have caught up with us," Hammer said.

The group raises funds at an annual horse show and from donations, but a foundation recently cut funds to the group without notice, Hammer said.

DCAPS also started a spay-nueter program, one which she thinks the Humane Society will pick up.

Since 1986, DCAPS paid more than $7,000 to local veterinarians for pets adopted from the animal shelter to be either spayed or neutered.

"As far as slowing the animal boom, we have done that," she said.

The education part of DCAPS program will also continue. That is the donation of animal books to all school and public libraries in the county, which the group has done for the past 11 years.

"We hope to continue to at least supply the animal books to the libraries," Hammer said. "By starting with the kids, we can make them responsible pet owners."

Board Approves Design Guidelines

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Developers building in eastern Davie can choose from a new menu.

They can choose to put the parking lots in the rear. They can choose to make the buildings blend into the landscape. They can put business signs on the building rather than at the road.

If they want approval of their projects, maybe they should do these things — and more.

County commissioners recently approved a set of design guidelines for the northeastern Davie overlay zoning district. The county already has specific rules for development in that area.

"It's sort of like a menu," said David Long, chief planner with the N.C. Division of Community Assistance. "A developer says if I want to win my rezoning, I can pick this, or this."

Without the guidelines, it would be like trying to order in a restaurant without a menu, Long said.

"A developer can look at this and say, 'I think I know what the community wants'."

The guidelines, which include suggestions for signs, landscaping, streets, lighting, screening and building design, will not be mandatory.

Commissioner Diane Foster said she likes the plan, but wants to be sure they are presented to developers.

"My concern is that they are applied," she said. "We want it flexible ... but we want it to be a part of the process."

County Manager Larry South said the county's project review committee could use the guidelines when meeting with developers. The commissioners, as well, could be sure the guidelines are applied in the rezoning process.

David Smith applauded the board's efforts, and urged them to extend them beyond northeastern Davie.

"The rest of the county can use this menu of items for the same purpose," Smith said. "You need to set your sights higher. As a menu, I think it will be well served in the rest of the county."

County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce said he would like to see the guidelines work before extending the area in which they will be used.

Boger Is Elected Chairman Of N.C. Real Estate Group

Boger

RALEIGH — Gilbert L. Boger has been elected chairman of the N.C. Real Estate Commission.

The announcement was made by Phillip T. Fisher, executive director of the Real Estate Commission, which is the state agency responsible for regulating North Carolina's more than 75,000 real estate brokers and salesmen.

A lifelong resident of Davie County, Boger is owner of Boger Real Estate in Advance and is a member of the Davie County Board of Realtors. He is a state-certified residential real estate appraiser.

Boger is a former member of the North Carolina General Assembly, having served three terms in the House of Representatives and one term in the Senate.

First appointed to the Commission by Gov. Martin in 1985, he is serving his third term which will expire July 31, 1994.

Boger and his wife Maxine attend Eaton's Baptist Church. They have three children, Ronald Lee, Warren, and Cynthia Mitchell, and four grandchildren.

FOOTBALL '92

'Nothing In Common'

Realignment Committee Gave Davie County Exactly What It Wanted: No More Greensboro

An open letter to sports fans at Greensboro Grimsley and Dudley high schools:

Dear Greensboro,

Listen, it's nothing personal but we in Davie County have something to say to you.

Goodbye. Arrivederci. Later. Sayonara. Hasta la Vista, baby.

In other words, we are outta here.

This is the last year that Davie County High School fans have to shudder at the prospect of driving 49 miles to Greensboro for a ballgame.

Next season, realignment will take Davie County (and South Rowan) away from a city it had no business dealing with in the first place.

For four years, Davie County has trudged over to the big city, usually just to get its brains beat out:

• The football team never defeated either Grimsley or Dudley.

• Don't ask about boys basketball. Remember Steve Hankins' number one-ranked Dudley team that beat Davie by an average of around 40 points? How about last year, when Grimsley beat the War Eagles in three games by 29, 23 and 23 points?

Ronnie Gallagher

• Davie has never beaten Grimsley or Dudley in tennis, soccer or track.

• Even in baseball, Greensboro schools gave Davie fits, despite the fact the War Eagles have won five of the last six Central Piedmont Conference championships. Last year, Davie was streaking toward the title with a long winning streak. It looked unstoppable — until Grimsley won 13-2. The Whistle coach felt so bad, he tried to feed Davie's players afterward.

We're not saying Greensboro people aren't nice. They are. The baseball coach proved that.

What we're saying is, Davie County has absolutely, positively nothing in common with Greensboro.

What is Greensboro's population now, around 160,000? Mocksville's is 3,000. Put all of Davie County together and you still only produce 28,000 residents.

But yet in 1989, the North Carolina High School Athletic Association placed Davie in a league with Greensboro schools.

Why?

Look at those six boys in the picture above. Do they look like they have anything in common with Greensboro youths? The photo was taken at the Cooleemee Bullhole. That sounds downright country doesn't it? But that's the way it is in rural America. On any given day, we might head to Twin Cedars Golf Course for a Bullhole Burger and then wade in Cooleemee's version of the French Riviera.

In Greensboro (and even Winston-Salem) you don't have Bullhole Burgers. But, if you wish, you can chow down at the French eateries, Zevely House and La Chaudiere.

La what?

That's too many syllables for Davie County. When we eat here, we take it simple. If Grimsley football coach Jeff Smouse came here for lunch, I wouldn't be able to find a La Bullhole.

But we could go to C's, or F&F or BJ's. Maybe Snook's or Horn's or Skat's. Good food and one syllable to boot.

Simple ways. That's Davie County. We're country and we know it. So, excuse Davie High fans for wanting to play teams that are also country.

Davie County was spoiled in the 1970s and 80s when it was a member of the North Piedmont 3-A Conference. Then, Mocksville and China Grove seemed to fit perfectly with New London, Troutman, Granite Quarry and Mount Ulla.

It doesn't fit with with Greensboro.

The main complaint has always been travel time. "It's too far to drive," said quarterback Bubba Coleman when asked about the Gate City.

That's partly true. Greensboro just has too many things that irriate Davie County drivers.

Like stoplights.

Some fans forget that back in the NPC, Davie used to travel to Asheboro, which was just as far. But fans traveled down a dark, two-lane highway all the way, past

Friday Night's Game: Davie at West Rowan

War Eagles Face Wishbone Offense

Perhaps the toughest offense for a high school football team to defend against is the wishbone and that's what awaits Davie County in its season opener Friday night.

Ward

The War Eagles take on West Rowan in an attempt to avenge last season's 13-10 overtime loss. But Falcon coach Ron Raper has revamped his offense this season, going back to the wishbone. Davie has been practicing against it all week.

"It's a very disciplined offense," said Davie's fourth-year head coach Randall Ward. "Execution is what West does best. We have to be very disciplined on defense."

Ward has scouted West Rowan closely in each of the Falcons' two scrimmages. He said that although West was only 2-8 last year, Raper has some quality people.

"They have good quickness and speed," he said. "They run the option well and they throw it well. They also impressed by with their hitting. They're very physical."

Ward's defense will really be tested.

"The wishbone is a double bladed sword," Ward continued. "They can go to the finesse look with the option or go to the power look. They can use five or six formations and run or throw."

Raper had to do something. Last year's team scored only 79 points in the tough South Piedmont 3-A Conference, which also boasts of Concord and Kannapolis. To compare, those teams each finished 1991 with over 400 points scored.

No one of the top seven players has ever scored a varsity touchdown for West. But Raper does have players from a 6-4 jayvee team coming up. He will rely on 6-0, 175-pound Dennis Chunn and Orlando Culberson, a 6-0, 195-pound senior, to lead the running attack.

Raper has 10 returning starters, six on defense.

"They have an eight-man front," said Ward. "Their linebackers are real aggressive and they have a defensive end that is a real athlete. I like their free safety a lot too."

Raper is also hoping for an opening win for another reason. After Davie, West travels to South Rowan and North Rowan before coming home again for Kannapolis.

But Ward knows how important a win is for his team. He doesn't want any drooping attitudes early.

"I'd like to get out to a good start," he said. "If you win that first one, the kids, coaches and fans are up. If you lose, you feel real bad, like we did last year."

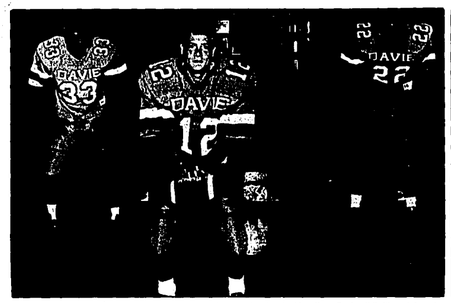
Ward says Davie doesn't need to do anything special.

"We just need to execute and play our personality," he said, "which is getting after some folks. We need to be very disciplined and very aggressive to win."

Friday's Opponent:

West Rowan

Team Nickname: Falcons.
School Location: Mount Ulla.
Game Site: West Rowan Stadium, Mount Ulla, 7:30 p.m.
Records: Season opener for both teams.
Last Year: West defeated Davie 13-10 in overtime.
Last Year's Records: Davie finished 3-7 overall in the Central Piedmont Conference; West Rowan finished 2-8 in the South Piedmont Conference.
Coaches: Davie: Randall Ward (26-37 in six years); West: Ron Raper (10-20 in three years).
Players To Watch: Davie: QB Bubba Coleman; RBs Hamilton Cuthrell and Jared Eure; LB Chad Carter; DB Jon Ward; NG Kevin Goolsby. West Rowan: RBs Dennis Chunn and Orlando Culberson; End John Millen; OL William Wallace.
Overview: Davie will need to show discipline to offset Falcons' new wishbone offense....Ward came to Davie from West....West is bigger size-wise than War Eagles....Falcons will have to stop Bubba Coleman's passing attack. He is always a threat to run.



Davie quarterback Bubba Coleman will hand off to running backs Hamilton Cuthrell (left) and Jared Eure.

'The Offense'

Minus Several Starters, Offense Still Clicking

The biggest eye-opener concerning Davie County's 1992 offense isn't about who is on the field.

It's about who isn't.

After bursting onto the Central Piedmont Conference scene as the league's top sophomore, speedster Tyrone Martin didn't try out this season, leaving coach Randall Ward with a dilemma: how do you replace your most explosive offensive threat?

Also, senior Shannon Pratt, a starting offensive lineman, didn't come out due to a bad knee. Neither did speedy senior Nicky Fisher. Neither did junior Marnic Lewis, who quarterbacked the jayvee team to a 9-1 championship season last year. Neither did tight end Darby Correll, who picked fall baseball over football.

But Ward still feels there is plenty of talent on his team. He will use a number of backs in an option offense, hoping to break off some long runs.

"The personnel we have should be able to move the football on the ground and in the air," he said. "But we have to establish our ground attack to make the passing go."

A talented senior class will also be a key.

"All seniors have shown leadership and have stepped forward," he said.

The Backs

Everything starts with senior quarterback Bubba Coleman. Bryan Johnson and Jon Ward, also seniors, will be backups.

"A year's experience is such a plus for Bubba," Ward said. "He looks so much more comfortable. He knows the offense so much better. He's a leader and you need that at quarterback. But all three of them are showing that."

Coleman will have a pair of juniors at running back. The tailback will be 5-9 Hamilton

'The Defense'

Veteran Defensive Backfield Leads Defense

After years of working exclusively with the offense, Davie County's head football coach Randall Ward had this to say about moving over to the other side of the ball as defensive coordinator.

"It is a real pleasure working with this group. They're blue collar workers. They put their helmets on and go after it."

Ward is excited about several areas of the defense, especially the secondary, where several returning starters are back. That is a part of the defense that has suffered since the War Eagles entered the 4-A ranks. But there are veterans there now.

Overall, he has been impressed with how the seniors and underclassmen have meshed together.

"We have young players out here but just enough experience mingled in there," Ward said.

The Secondary

Both Jon Ward and Brian Tribble return to lead the secondary. Both finished 1991 with two interceptions, leading the team.

Tribble, Brad Chapman, Ward, Gerald Roberts and David Owens are all experienced seniors. Bubba Coleman, the team's senior quarterback, could also be used.

"If you want experience on defense, you want it in the secondary," Ward said. "I feel like we have a very good group of defensive backs."

Also, juniors Ron Armstrong and Michael Williams, along with sophomore Deryl Wilson could see action there.

Ward will be the strong safety and call the secondary coverage.

Chapman has been bothered by having five teeth knocked loose in practice. Tribble has looked good at defensive back when he hasn't played offensive receiver. And Ward said Owens "has stepped up his game. He's done a heck of a job in preseason."

Jacobs Continues Career As Coach In Louisiana

Preparing for yet another high school football season...

So what has happened to 6-9 Doug Jacobs since he was cut from the Denver Broncos last year?

Jacobs

He's still in football. The former Davie High and University of Mississippi defensive lineman is now head coach of a private school football team deep in the heart of Louisiana. He's trying to get his older brother Chris, a former lineman at the University of North Carolina, to join him.

• Chris Jacobs said he now wishes he had tried out for the Charlotte Rage Arena Football League team. He said he may try out next season.

• During his senior year at Davie, 6-6 center David Rosser was in a dilemma. He couldn't decide whether to accept a football scholarship to The Citadel or Western Carolina. Denny Key, then Rosser's basketball coach, told him to pick The Citadel because a degree from there would mean more when job-hunting.

Now, four years later, Rosser, a four-year letterman, has a degree from The Citadel, where he was a dean's list student and sophomore class president. He is currently in Halifax, Va., working for Burlington Industries in a manufacturing management training program.

• Davie County's last 1,000-yard running back Reggie Sales, called Randall Ward recently for a job reference. Sales aspires to be a Highway Patrolman and is trying to get into Trooper School.

• In Arnold Solomon's power rating system, Davie rated an 82.8 last year, which placed it 77th out of 95 4-A schools. Solomon is the guru of high school sports. He recently published an impressive North Carolina football magazine.

• Davie County will see two new faces coaching in the CPC this year: Bernard Faulk takes over for retired Parkland coach Homer Thompson; Bob Sapp takes over at Mount Tabor for Oscar Brayboy, who resigned.

Notebook

• Wingate, with Davie County players Kendall Chaffin and Dale Parrish, are ranked 22nd in the NAIA preseason poll.

• The longest win streak going into this season is 12 by High Point Andrews. The longest losing streak is held by Topsail, with 24 straight.

• Richmond County is the favorite for the 4-A crown. No surprise there. The Raiders are 40-2 over the last three seasons.

• Farmington's Bill Tobin likes to tell the story of when he was a junior at Pilot High School in 1954 and faced Jack Ward's Cooleemee team. Tobin was a teammate of Ward's cousin, Archie Ward.

Jack told his Cooleemee boys, "Everything you've ever wanted to do to me, do it to Archie Ward."

Tobin said Pilot started with two juniors (Ward and Tobin) along with a group of seniors.

"By the end of the game, there were two juniors and nine sophomores," Tobin chuckled. "Cooleemee put about 20 of our guys in the hospital."

have won the last seven state championships.

• Davie will be facing seven players this year who are listed on the preseason all-state team.

West Forsyth had two listed: Anthony Jenkins, a 6-2, 220-pound defensive lineman, and Lee Brush, a 6-0, 180-pound defensive back. Grimsley placed lineman Chris Walker on the list. Davie will also face two North Davidson players on the list, running back Smyle Wagoner and lineman Mike Tofano.

Want to hear something scary? Reynolds has two on the list, Jomo Leggins and Greg Millner, both running backs — and both juniors. Maybe it is a good thing the realignment committee took Reynolds out of Davie's league.

• Davie will face two coaches who will participate in the East-West all-star football game next summer as assistants: North Davidson's Dick Cline

Coleman Forgets His Size On Football Field

Bubba Coleman throws the pile of letters on a table. Included are recruiting notes from baseball coaches like East Carolina's Gary Overton. There's the letter from North Carolina basketball coach Dean Smith.

And then, there's the letters from schools who want Coleman for football.

"It shocks me," he said of the football letters. "I mean, I'm 5-8, 145 pounds!"

As far as Coleman goes, size has never mattered to recruiters. He has proven himself to be a special player, regardless of the sport. He is currently Davie County's most visible sports figure.

All that has to be said is, "Bubba" and everyone knows.

He plays all the glamour positions. As a junior, he was the quarterback on Randall Ward's football team, point guard and leading scorer on Charles Crenshaw's basketball team and shortstop and .300-plus hitter on David Hunt's baseball team.

Now, as Coleman begins his senior year, he begins the cycle once again.

He has never had a problem going from one sport to the other. After finishing another Central Piedmont Conference baseball season in first place (Davie's fifth in six years), he went straight to Dale Ijames' Legion team. He had three days to rest before beginning football practice — without missing a beat, of course.

"I'm a sports fanatic," he says simply. "I feel like I want to be part of it all. But it's hard to play three sports and keep up your schoolwork. I'd probably hate school if it weren't for sports."

Coleman has kept up his grades, enough for him to be recruited by the likes of Columbia in the Ivy League and all three of the military academies.

Ward has never doubted his quarterback, despite the size factor.

"Bubba knows he can play at this level," Ward said. "After starting last year, he comes in with more confidence and you need that from your quarterback. He brings his intelligence from the classroom to the field."

This year's offense has been changed to offset his lack of size. There will be more play-action passes and rollouts. Also, there's more option to take advantage of his shifty speed.

"I think I have quick feet," says Coleman. "That's my strength. I don't have an arm like Elway. Passing doesn't come easy."

He still threw for 730 yards on a 3-7 team in 1991, over half of that to Tyrone Martin, who didn't come out for the team this year.

"I give most of that credit to Tyrone," he said of his passing success. "And Andy Everhardt too. I'd throw it up and they'd get it. Not having Tyrone (a junior) is going to hurt us."

Despite his 5-8 frame, Coleman has always been a quarterback, all the way back to his days at Cooleemee. He also remembers his varsity debut as a sophomore. Both varsity quarterbacks were injured. He was pulled up from the jayvees and thrown to the wolves against a large, brutal Anson County team ranked fifth in the state. What does Coleman remember most about that 60-0 loss?

"I remember the ground," he

Cook Overcomes Knee Injury To Play In 1992

Although it happened one Friday night in early September of 1991, Darren Cook remembers the play like it happened this morning.

An offensive guard, he saw Bubba Coleman's pass intercepted by a North Iredell defensive back. He took off to try and tackle the runner.

"I saw one of their players coming in from the side," he said, "and he speared me in the knee."

Cook didn't get up for about 20 minutes. When he did, he said, "I couldn't extend my leg. I just collapsed. But I just thought it was bruised."

The verdict was damaged cartilage and ligaments. It was only the second game but Cook's football season was over. He probably wouldn't wrestle either. It appeared reconstructive surgery was the only thing in his future.

But Cook did wrestle. There wasn't reconstructive surgery. Only arthroscopic.

And amazingly, Cook is preparing for his senior season with no limp.

"It swells up a little but it really doesn't bother me," said Cook. "I just put some ice on it. Doctors told me not to play."

Cook admitted he heard that if he injured the knee again, the consequences could be much worse.

But Cook didn't heed that advice. In fact, he's looking forward to hitting the field and making some hits of his own.

"I know I hurt it pretty bad," he said, "but I wouldn't be out here if I couldn't handle it. There's been no problems."

"He's a tough young man," said head coach Randall Ward. "I remember that play and it's something that I don't want to remember. It makes me sick."

Cook exercised on his own at the local YMCA, lifting weights and strengthening the knee. He was told he wouldn't have to worry about being a lineman anymore. He was being moved to tight end and perhaps linebacker.

"It has been going pretty good at tight end," said Cook. "The blocking is about the same."

It's just one of the many moves for Cook since he played at South Davie Junior High. He was a running back there.

"They moved me to line when I was a sophomore," he said.

He has been successful in wrestling for two years and Ward says he likes to see wrestlers like Cook, Benjy Frye, Jon Ward and Brad Groce come out for football too.

"I like boys who play at least two sports," Ward said. "You know they're going to keep themselves in shape."

Due to a knee injury, Darren Cook has been moved from offensive line to tight end.

Cook certainly was when he reported. He came in at a rock-hard 162 pounds on his 5-11 frame.

"Pound for pound, he's probably the most muscular guy on the team," Ward said. "He's solid."

"I've been in better shape," Cook said.

Now, Cook hopes the team has as solid of a year — and he wants to be a leader.

"I think if everybody plays well together as a team, we can do better than in years past," he said. "I like to be vocal but I want to talk more with the pads. Actions always speaks louder."

Cook said he will have the reconstructive surgery after football and wrestling. He won't forget that night at North Iredell.

But he's waiting on the operation for obvious reasons. He wants to have a senior football season that he won't forget either.

Goolsby's Wit And Humor Stands Out As Much As Size

Davie County players and coaches all agree: Kevin Goolsby has been a refreshing change during preseason football camp in the hot, draining August weather.

"I like to entertain people," said the outgoing 6-3, 300-pound noseguard.

For instance, take the first practice with pads. Goolsby got things going by tackling the head coach, Randall Ward.

"Yeah, I tackled Coach Ward," he said. "When things are dull, I like to wake people up. I just wanted to have some fun."

Goolsby loved Ward's response. "He told me to hit him harder next time."

A big smile creases Ward's face when asked about Goolsby.

"He has a different attitude and approach," Ward understated. "He's a unique young man. He looks at things a little differently."

Ward has been telling Goolsby he has to be meaner. And at noseguard, he may have found his spot.

"He's the ideal noseguard," said defensive coach Tim Shuford. "We're getting him off the ball better and he's more aggressive."

Goolsby says he wants to be mean but he'll go about it in his own way.

"By nature, I'm not a mean person," he said. "I'm not a talker out there. I'm not a rah-rah, vocal person. That wastes time. I'd rather do my job and be a winner.

"I've seen some people who are real hyper, talking a lot and then they get pushed back 90 yards. After the game, they're crying. I'd rather channel my energies in the game.

"But," he added, "I'm not out there to touch or tackle. I'm out there to kill."

Goolsby will probably be the biggest noseguard in the Central Piedmont Conference this season. And surely one of the smartest. Goolsby has made 1160 on his SAT (he wants to take it again) and is a quality student, something Ward is as proud of as any football feat.

"His college boards are good and when you're 6-3, 316 pounds, colleges are going to look at you."

And not just your average colleges. Goolsby has heard from the likes of Columbia, Yale and Duke, as well as North Carolina and N.C. State.

"I get stuff from them and I'm like, 'Wow!' " Goolsby said. "Do I want to play in college? I've sent all of the stuff back. I'm leaving all my options open. It's like I'm in control of my own destiny."

Goolsby was reading aloud in preschool and has always been a bright student.

"Early-on, my parents gave me good study habits," he said. "Even in elementary school, they said don't take it lightly."

While teammates Darrell Bryant (left) and Brad Groce (left) prepare for the fight in the trenches, scholar Kevin Goolsby thinks out his next move.

Goolsby was an offensive tackle last year and he is putting just as much into learning his new position as he does in the classroom.

"I'm looking forward to it. I have to get it in my head to turn it on and be aggressive. Playing smart is not enough. You have to have heart and emotion too."

Goolsby has worked hard to shed weight and was at 295 going into this week. He said he has enjoyed working with line coach David Hunt. "Coach Hunt is a good teacher," he says.

And Hunt, who has a dry wit himself, loves having Goolsby around.

Goolsby is keeping the lighthearted banter up, hoping that his teammates stay in a good frame of mind.

"People think it's going to be another sad season for Davie," he said. "But I think we can pull it off."

And you can bet that win or lose, Kevin Goolsby will keep his team loose throughout the season — even if it means tackling the head coach once in a while.

Carter's Job: Fill Some Big Shoes

Chad Carter may feel more pressure than any of his Davie County teammates.

At least, he has the biggest shoes to fill.

Carter, a 6-1, 193-pound senior, is replacing Andy Everhardt at middle linebacker. Yes, the Andy Everhardt they called, "Manimal." The Andy Everhardt that many called the greatest headhunter in Davie's football history. The Andy Everhardt who is now playing college football.

"I understand it will be hard filling his shoes," Carter said. "But he helped me last year. Just being in the huddle, he'd get you pumped up. And I like being aggressive. I'm looking forward to it."

Linebacker coach Tim Shuford has no doubt Carter can step in and give Davie another fearless linebacker.

"A middle linebacker has to be hungry," said Shuford, "because he keys the fullback and attacks the man up the middle. They make the first hit a lot of the time."

Both Shuford and head coach Randall Ward say they have to calm Carter down because of his overwhelming will to win. A mistake will sometimes leave him more than a little angered.

"He's hard on himself," said Ward.

"He gets frustrated with himself," Shuford repeated.

Carter smiles because he knows it's true.

"Just the other day, the coaches had to tell me everybody has a bad day now and then," he said. "They tell me linebackers have really got to lead the team. I'm calling the plays and getting everybody together. But I want to win and I don't want to make mistakes."

Carter says he can be a rah-rah guy when it is needed.

"When everybody's dead, I will. You need that type of player."

Carter started last season alternating at center with Toby Kennedy. With Everhardt planted firmly at middle linebacker, Ward put Carter at strong linebacker. As the year rolled on, Carter was praised by the coaches more and more for his improved tackling.

"You can tell inside if you're doing well and improving," Carter said. "I think I played pretty well. I thought I improved from the first to the last of the season."

This year, Carter has also been moved to tight end on offense. In the first scrimmage of the year against North Rowan, he started and went both ways. But linebacker is where he wants to lead the team.

"Last year against Mount Tabor, I was in on a bunch of tackles but had one really good hit," he said. "One good hit and everybody goes wild."

In fact, Mars Hill and Wingate, among others, are already recruiting Carter.

Ironically, Carter may play another sport in college, one that is the exact opposite of playing middle linebacker.

"Coach Ward (who also coaches golf) thinks I can play college golf," he said.

Ward likes Carter's play at middle linebacker as much as his putting on the green. But the golf game can wait. There's another kind of hitting to take care of.

"He's always been a hard worker and hustler," Ward said. "Chad's a little bigger and stronger than last year.

And when the season is over, Carter is hoping people will remember how well he wore Andy Everhardt's shoes.

Deese Accepting Change For Team

Davie County football coach Randall Ward was asked where senior Corey Deese would play this season and he really couldn't give an answer.

That's because Deese will probably play everywhere.

"He's really worked hard," Ward said, "so we'll see where he fits into the puzzle."

That's nothing new for Deese. Since the fifth grade, he has actually been every piece of the puzzle.

"I started playing in the fifth grade for Cooleemee," Deese said, "and I wanted to be a running back. But (coach) Billy Wall used to yell at me for looking at the hole I was running to."

Wall finally had enough. He moved Deese to offensive guard.

Deese laughs while remembering that season because he knows its true. When he was a freshman running back for Barry Whitlock at South Davie, he heard the same thing. "Whitlock yelled at me for looking at the hole too," he said.

It was that year under Whitlock that Deese began realizing his potential. A growth spurt between the eighth and ninth grade had everyone asking him what had happened.

"Until the ninth grade, I was so little," he said. "But I grew and it gave me more confidence."

That he would accept change has really impressed his coaches over the years. Even last season, he proved it in basketball. A benchwarmer for Charles Crenshaw's varsity, he went down to the jayvee team midway through the season when Mike Dinkins had lost several inside players. He immediately made a contribution.

On the decision to move down to the jayvees, Deese explained, "I'd rather play than quit."

Now, he enters his senior season at 6-1, 183 pounds. "Body-wise, he's pretty solid," Ward said.

Deese said he'd like to concentrate on just one position so maybe college scouts will become interested. Coaches have assured him that colleges are interested in him as an athlete first. In fact, Winston-Salem State has already called.

He has been used at eagle back (part running back, part receiver), tailback, fullback and linebacker. And he's willing to be waterboy, if asked.

"They told me they'd put me a little bit of everywhere and that I have the talent to play all three places on offense."

"I feel real good about Corey," said Ward. "He's willing to accept change for the sake of contributing to our team. He's really hustled. We've talked more about him on offense but he is going to shore up our linebackers too."

Deese has also turned into a senior leader, something else Ward is enjoying.

"I came in with the attitude that we have a good team and we can win," Deese said. "We played well in our first scrimmage but we didn't do anything in practice the next day. It was like we had the bighead or something. I told them the scrimmage didn't count for anything."

Deese is also trying to give some wisdom to the younger players, especially the freshmen.

"Coaches said to keep a good attitude and the younger players will see this," he said. "I looked up to the seniors when I was younger. The ninth graders have determination."

Quiet Ward Is Loud On Field

Jon Ward is looking forward to Oct. 9.

No, it isn't his birthday. But the Davie County defensive back would like a few more gifts, courtesy of Mount Tabor's football team. The Spartans have obliged for the past two years:

• In 1990, Ward was pulled up from the jayvee team to an 0-5 War Eagle varsity for the Mount Tabor game.

"I was scared to death," he admits.

But before the game was over, Ward had intercepted the first pass of his varsity career.

"They threw it right to me," he said.

• In 1991, he finished tied with Brian Tribble for the lead in interceptions with two. Both came against (guess who?) the Spartans. The second even went for a 10-yard touchdown.

"The first was a down and out to the tight end," he remembered. "The one I scored on was the most exciting thing that's ever happened to me."

There are those who have never seen an excited Jon Ward, even when the 125-pounder finished third in the state in wrestling last winter. He's low-key, to say the least.

"I am quiet," the lanky, 6-0, 140-pounder said. "People say I don't look like a football player. They say I don't look like a wrestler. They say I look like a basketball player."

"His looks are deceiving," said defensive coach Tim Shuford. "But he's as solid a player as you'll find. He's one of those silent types who will do his talking with the pads. He'll knock you down, help you back up and then knock you down again."

Ward is the team's strong safety and will call all of the secondary coverage.

He also thinks the secondary, with several returnees, can be much better than last season.

"We don't want to screw up as bad," he said. "Last year, we had the reputation of getting beat deep. But we had a young group and we made mistakes."

"Jon is a leader on defense and he's a real good athlete," praised head coach Randall Ward. "And he can hit. If he had the body, he'd be a good middle linebacker. He's got that type of mentality."

Ward laughs at his reputation as a hard hitter. He says he hits hard but leaves the verbal jousting to others.

"I'm not a big junk talker," he said. "I'm not big enough for that."

But he is big enough to help the War Eagles in more than one position. Offensive coordinator David Hunt showcased him at quarterback and eagle back in two preseason scrimmages. Against North Rowan, he caught a touchdown pass and even went 3-for-4 passing. But he played mainly on defense.

"He's a blue collar worker," Shuford said. "He'll do what it takes to win."

Hunt agreed, stating, "Jon will be on the field for every single defensive play this season as long as he's healthy. "But we'd like to take advantage of what he can give us offensively."

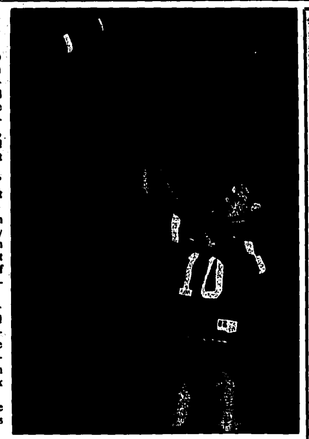
Although wrestling is obviously his favorite — and strongest — sport, he does enjoy football. He played for the Clemmons Cowboys before going to North Davie, where Sam Beck used him at quarterback and on defense.

"Football keeps me in shape for wrestling," he said. "It's better than getting fat."

Davie is picked to finish near the bottom of the Central Piedmont Conference, something that Ward hopes he and his teammates can change this season.

"A lot of the players on this team think we can do better than what people are thinking. I think we can surprise them."

The only team that won't be surprised is Mount Tabor. The Spartans have already received enough grief from Davie's quiet, basketball-lookalike defensive back.



Jon Ward's speciality is finding opponent quarterbacks' passes.

The Coaches

Hunt Taking Over Play-Calling Duties

Ward Will Switch Over To Defensive Side Of Football

Becoming Davie County's new offensive coordinator is like reading a book, according to David Hunt, who is beginning his 16th year at Davie.

Hunt

"I'm responsible for having all of the coaches on the same page," he said.

Hunt, also Davie's offensive line coach, took over the duties of calling plays from head coach Randall Ward, who is now the defensive coordinator.

Ward said his move to defense has been easy.

"I was a defensive coach for about 10 years before becoming a head coach," said Ward. "I've been lucky. I have coached every position."

Last year, Hunt spent his Friday nights on top of the pressbox, advising Ward on plays that might work. This year, he'll stay on the sidelines.

"I stayed on his timetable," Hunt said, "but now, everyone's on mine. He still has final authority.

"Being on the field is better for an offensive line coach. As a group, there's a lot of adjustments you make. It's harder to relay them from the pressbox."

Hunt was a natural for the offensive coordinator's job. He is the only coach that's been with Ward for his entire four years at Davie.

"Randall and I worked on this offense for quite some time," Hunt said.

Hunt will emphasize the option more, as well as play-action passes. The team will spend the majority of its time in the I formation but he said the War Eagles are capable of using split backs. Expect a little triple option too.

"As the season progresses, we'll go more and more with split backs," he said.

"We just tried to adapt our personnel and what was most effective for it," he said. "We'll run from several different formations, not only the wishbone."

Hunt's game plan is organized. During a recent scrimmage, he ran about 10 straight plays into the line. It may have been boring to the fans but Hunt said, "There were things we needed to work on. That's what a scrimmage is for."

He also told Ward that every third possession, he's thinking of sending the second string offense in. He hasn't forgotten two seasons ago when sophomore Bubba Coleman was thrown in against Anson County due to injuries and suffered through a 60-0 shellacking.

"I don't want that to happen again," Hunt said. "I want our backup quarterbacks to take some snaps when the game is on the line, when it means something."

The play-action passes are tailor-made for the 5-8 Coleman, now a senior.

"If he drops back in the pocket, he has to throw between people," Hunt said. "He will have better sight with play-action."

Hunt was pleased with his first scrimmage against North Rowan. The offense scored four times, two on passes. He spread the passes around, with wide receiver Brian Tribble making one pretty catch-and-run. Several other players hauled in passes.

And Hunt's line is getting better every day.

"I think the offense can do pretty well," Hunt said. "Everyone's learning. Not all of the blocking schemes are in yet but the varsity line is progressing nicely."

Tim Shuford insists his new look is for motivational purposes. With each win, a little more hair will be shaved off.

Shuford Hopes His Hairy Face Motivates War Eagle Varsity

If Tim Shuford's wife doesn't kiss him until a few games have been played this fall, it's not because she doesn't love him.

It's all that hair on his face.

Davie County's linebacker coach was sitting around the house this summer and decided to grow a beard, not a full one but more like a goatee.

"I was relaxing around the house, off-work and didn't shave," Shuford said. "I decided I'd be really serious about athletics this year and I wanted to give the kids some motivation."

Shuford came to practice to the jeers of the players and made a deal with them. With every win, he'll shave a little off.

"I'll start at the bottom and go up," he said. "I've caught some flak about it."

Especially from his wife. But she'll have to prove her love during football season.

"She puts up with it for the cause," Shuford said with a grin.

'Mole'

Slippery Back Led Davie To 1st Winning Season In 1959

The Fifties was a colorful era, especially in high school football. It was "Happy Days," when every boy dreamed of dating a cheerleader and spending his free time at the malt shop.

And just like The Fonz, everyone had nicknames. Asheboro had Strawberry Wheliss. Lexington had Yogi Yarborough.

Davie County High School was no different.

It had Mole Spry.

Not Jerry Spry. Just Mole.

"That's all people call me now," marvels the 51-year old Ingersoll-Rand employee who never left his hometown of Cooleemee. "Nobody calls me Jerry."

He was just as his nickname implies — a running back so slippery and small, he could escape through any hole.

Spry said somebody called him Mole "because they thought I could go underground if I had to. The name has stuck for the past 32 years."

Back then, Spry was like the rest of his teammates at Davie High. He was so small, no opponent worried about him, that is, until he sped by them for a touchdown. Along with fellow running back Joe Whitlock, who wasn't much bigger, they helped lead Davie to its first winning football season in 1959.

Spry pulled out newspaper clippings, one that reported he weighed 127 pounds and another that said 135.

"If I weighed 120 with wet clothes on, that was a lot," he said. "I was small."

Big At Heart

Small in stature, but big at heart is how his coach, Jack Ward, puts it. How many coaches would build an offense around a mole?

"We did," Ward said. "Mole was so competitive. He played defense, offense and returned kickoff and punts. We'd throw him the ball in the flat and watch him break tackles. He was a slashing runner. He was fun to watch."

But so was Whitlock. "Joe was our biggest back and he weighed something like 132," Ward said.

Spry likes to tell stories about the Happy Days he and Whitlock spent together in high school. When the team would drive cars to away games, Ward made sure those two rode together so he could keep an eye on them. "We liked to roughhouse," Spry says with a shrug.

'Joe Whitlock could tear your head off. He was sneaky quick. I always knew when he was going to fight too. He had two false teeth in the front. Whenever I saw him move his hand to his mouth, I knew he was taking them out."

Davie played its early basketball games in the Cooleemee gym. Once, a frenzied crowd from Davie and West Rowan met.

Spry said, "West had a guy, Gary McNeely. He must've weighed 180. He was a hoss. After one play, he fell in Whitlock's arms. I had seen Joe take his teeth out. McNeely didn't have a chance. It was a free-for-all."

Spry laughs. He saw plenty of fights during his four years of high school. His freshman class was the first at Davie after all the community schools consolidated.

"Even now, I think back to the fights in the halls and at the games," he said. "But you know what? We still get together and we still have high respect and admiration for each other. Those were some good times."

One For All

Ward would have no ill feelings on his football team. Regardless of what Davie County community you were from, you played together on that 100-yard field.

As a junior, Spry scored eight touchdowns. When his senior year arrived, he was ready to explode onto the statewide scene.

Davie won its first six games before finishing 7-3. Spry was one of the most exciting runners in the Piedmont. He finished with 13 touchdowns.

His best game came against Troutman, which was coached by Cooleemee native Fred Shoaf. The Rebels won, 39-8 as Spry scored on runs of 60, 52, 11 and 30 yards.

Spry haunted Shoaf that year. During basketball season, Troutman needed a win over Davie to secure the league championship. But Spry scored on a hook shot at the end of the second overtime for a 38-36 win, prompting Shoaf to tell him afterward, "Why did it have to be you twice in one year?"

Spry was also a quality catcher for Bill Peeler in baseball but football was his first love.

"I grew up on Erwin Street," he said, "and everybody in Cooleemee played ball, whether it was in somebody's backyard or down at the mill. Coach Ward let me be Cooleemee's mascot when I was 10. By that time, I was already in love with football."

Players were more serious back then, he said. "We used to get together two weeks before practice and run to E.C. Tatum's farm everyday, 3.8 miles away."

Most Oustanding

At the end of his senior season, Spry was awarded the Most Outstanding Player trophy.

"I didn't want it," he said. "There were 10 other guys on that field with me. I would have rather Coach Ward give out 40 little personal trophies."

Spry was offered a scholarship to Wingate but he didn't go. Instead he turned to softball, where he played until he was 43.

"I fell down twice between first and third and knew it was time to give it up," he said.

But he has never lost his love for football. The most painful game he ever saw was the first game after he graduated. He sat in the stands, nervously fidgeting throughout.

"I was like a cat on a hot poker," he said. "I wanted to be out there. Shoot, I watch Davie today and still miss it."

Those who were around back then still miss Mole. Go almost anywhere in the county and someone will say, "Yeah, I remember Mole. You should've seen him."

The only one who didn't see him excel on a regular basis was his mother.

"She was scared I'd get hurt," he said.

Finally, she was dragged to a game but had trouble finding a seat as Barium Springs kicked off to the man called Mole.

When she finally located a seat and looked up, she asked where he was on the field.

"Right there," someone said, pointing to the endzone, where her son was celebrating an 80-yard score.

"She missed it," Mole sighed.

Davie's First Big Win Came Over Thomasville In '59

To Jack Ward, football was an attitude.

Under his tutelage, Davie County players were taught that football wasn't meant to be a nice game. It wasn't the time to exchange pleasantries.

Ward

It was a time to go out and basically kick butt, regardless of whether you were the 20-point favorite or 20-point underdog.

Or to borrow a phrase from a popular TV commercial, "Don't ever let the other team see you sweat."

"Coach Ward wasn't somebody who would be satisfied with a .500 record," said Jerry "Mole" Spry, one of Ward's early running stars. "He didn't go out there for his health. He went out to win."

Ward is a throwback to the days when a coach's style was blood and guts. Spry said he was a classic motivator, a man who could elevate his little Davie County Rebel players against overwhelming odds.

Never was that more evident than in 1959.

A Winning Season

Davie County was only four years old in 1959. The team had gone .500 in its first season but had slumped to 2-7-1 two straight years.

Davie opened the season with a 39-0 shellacking of West Davidson. But another Davidson County team loomed on the horizon — a vaunted Thomasville team that was considered by many the favorite to win the state championship.

This was to be a big night in Thomasville's football history. The new field house was to be dedicated. It was legendary George Cushwa's first season as coach.

"Thomasville had the best band in the state," Spry, then a senior, remembered. "They had a small-college playing field. There was a huge crowd and a lot of hoopla."

This is where Ward was at his motivational best. Thomasville was his home town and he let his team know it.

First of all, he told the players it was his birthday.

"Jack Ward must have been 175 years old," snickered Spry. "Every big game we ever had, whether it was football, basketball or baseball, he told us it was his birthday. It didn't matter if we played Thomasville on Aug. 21 or Sept. 11 or Oct. 22, he wanted us to win because it was his birthday."

Ward gave his team a 35-minute pep talk.

"We were ready to bust the door down," Spry said. "We were ready to play. He had us fired up."

Davie marched single-file onto the field to the jeers of Thomasville fans.

"Here comes the farmers," they chided the Rebels. "Hey boys, did ya git your chickens fed and your cows milked this morning?"

Just then, a man sauntered up to Ward and asked, "Well, are your sissies ready?"

"All the players heard that," Spry said. "I was watching Coach Ward. He put his arm around the guy and thanked him."

"Fella," Ward drawled, "You've just done more to get my team ready in 10 seconds than I could in 35 minutes."

On the third play of the game, quarterback Barry Southern hit Spry with a pass and the slithery "Mole" went all the way for a 62-yard touchdown.

"Tommy Graham threw the block that sprung me," Spry said. "I can still see it today."

When the game was over, Cushwa and the Thomasville faithful were stunned. The farmboys had upset the Bulldogs, 12-0, a victory that still stands as one of the greatest in Davie County High School history.

Spry credits Ward solely for that victory.

"Coach Ward made sure we were proud of our heritage," he said. "Values meant a lot to us. Yeah, we were farmers and textile workers but we worked hard to earn our money. We didn't like it when someone made fun of that. He used to always tell us, if you earn it honestly, it's the best."

Afterward, Spry likened the celebration to a team winning the World Series. Davie players went wild.

"We were so excited that we started jumping all over each other," Spry says with a gleam in his eye. "I came across the field and jumped into Coach Ward's arms.

"My face mask caught him right in the nose. He was standing there bleeding."

Closing The Town

The Rebels carried the momentum from the Thomasville win with them, taking the next four games easily, never allowing more than six points in any contest. Davie went into the seventh game against the undefeated Children's Home of Winston-Salem with a 6-0 record.

"They closed school at lunch," Spry said. "Every business in the county shut down early too."

Dr. Jerry Long closed his office at noon. Spry had been named after him and he told his patients they couldn't get sick on this day. If they did, they just had to wait.

"My boy's playing," he said.

A huge following traveled to Winston-Salem for the game. WSJS-Radio called it live.

"That was the biggest crowd Winston-Salem ever had," Spry said. "There were thousands and thousands of people there. Shoot, the support for us then was as good as it is now. That was the most people I ever played in front of."

Davie lost by the same score it had beaten Thomasville — 12-0 — and went on to finish the season 7-3, the first winning campaign in school history.

That season did spur a little confidence in the football program. Ward coached eight more years at Davie and had only one more losing season, in 1963. He coached in the East-West game, had a 10-0 regular season champion in 1965 and left as the most successful mentor in school history.

"Some said winning wasn't important," Spry said. "Coach Ward used to say, "It sure beats losing."

Ward was The General, Spry said. "It was his team. He didn't allow parents at practice. We didn't take water breaks or ever take our helmet off. We were disciplined. And we may have lost but there was never a team that was in better shape."

Spry and other former players still call him Coach Ward and not Jack.

"What I've gained through sports, the pride and respect and the whole outlook of my life in general, I owe to Coach Ward."

And well he should. Spry celebrated about 175 of Ward's birthdays during his four years of high school.

trees and cows and tractors in the driveways. It looked like home so the fans could tolerate it. The road to Greensboro is lined with four lanes and billboards — and as we stated before, stoplights.

That's a stressful drive for someone who is used to driving on Puddin' Ridge Road.

And when Davie fans get to Greensboro it's another adventure. One tennis mother told this story a few years ago:

It seems the Dudley coach told Davie's girls to use a certain bathroom, also instructing them to stay away from the school building. "There was a knife fight today."

That isn't pretty stuff. We never heard that at South Rowan.

What Davie's athletes hear from the Whirlies and Panthers isn't pretty either.

"They call us a bunch of rednecks," says linebacker Chad Carter.

"They think we're just a farm school out in the country," says noseguard Kevin Goolsby. "They don't take us seriously."

Corey Deese has cousins in Greensboro. "When I visit them, all they talk about is that little county I live in," he said, shaking his head.

But no more.

This is it, Greensboro. Our last year together.

Next season, realignment is taking Davie into a conference with schools located in towns like Walnut Cove and Welcome.

Ah, now that's more like it.

We're even going to have a village in the new Central Piedmont Conference. Clemmons is sending West Forsyth's Titans our way instead of toward the big cities, which is fine with them.

Grimsley and Dudley have been placed with the likes of Greensboro Page and Smith and Winston-Salem's East and North Forsyth, and Reynolds, schools just like them. But yet, they have found no satisfaction. They wanted to stay with Davie County.

Heck, I guess so.

"They always feel like it's an automatic win," Goolsby said. "But they are good and they do help us get better. This year, we'll surprise them."

And if Davie doesn't beat the Greensboro schools? The Whirlies and Panthers won't have the opportunity to rub it in next year.

Because we're never going to see them again. We're outta here.

But remember one thing. It's nothing personal.

See ya'll in the playoffs,
Ronnie

Offense

Cuthrell and the fullback is 6-1, 196-pound Jared Eure.

Eure saw time on the varsity in 1991 but was injured. Corey Deese, a versatile senior, will back him up.

"Corey was a running back as a sophomore and he's running hard," Ward said. "They both are.

"Ham is 180 pounds and has real good speed," said Ward. "He's real solid. He bench-presses 280, which is a plus.

"People forget that this is just his third year of ever playing football."

Junior Michael Gaither and sophomore Deryl Wilson will also see time at tailback. Ward said Gaither played well during the latter stages of his jayvee season, while Wilson has impressed with his running, despite being a sophomore.

David Owens, a senior, will also see action as a running back.

The eagle back position is important to Davie's offense. That player is part receiver, part running back. Owens, Gerald Roberts and Deese could see action there.

"This player goes to the slot and changes our formations," Ward said. "He's important. Owens has looked real good but we'll mix them all in."

The Receivers

Junior Ron Armstrong (5-11, 164) comes off of a strong jayvee performance and should make an early contribution at wide receiver. He scored several touchdowns last year.

"He was super on the jayvees," Ward praised. "He has a good attitude and good hands. He doesn't have blazing speed but he's not slow. He's going to be one of our primary targets."

A trio of seniors will see plenty of action: Gerald Roberts, Brian Tribble and Brad Chapman.

"Brian is the fastest of the three," said Ward, "and he has good hands, as does Chapman. Gerald has played well and he has great hands.

Michael Williams, a junior, will also see time.

Three of the tight ends have moved from other positions. Junior Kyle Duncan (6-1, 195) was a fullback last year. Chad Carter (6-1, 193) was a center. Darren Cook (5-11, 162) was a guard. The only receiver returning is senior Jason Tomberlin (5-10, 171).

"These guys were willing to make moves to help the team," said Ward. "And they give us size and strength at the position. I feel real good about having four good ones."

The Line

David Hunt's line will be inexperienced for the most part.

At center, Darrell Bryant is a junior, while Wes Krause and Paul Barber are seniors.

"None have played varsity center," said Ward. "But they're working hard."

Six different players are fighting for the starting tackle spots, including Benjy Frye, the only senior. The others are juniors Mike Agrillo, Rodney Crotts, Matt Sluder, Chris Cornatzer and Todd Corvin. Sophomore Kevin Robertson could be moved up, Hunt said.

"Agrillo was moved up to varsity and played some," said Hunt.

Among the guards are seniors Matt Neas, Scott Angus, Kevin Goolsby and Brad Groce. Steve Moore is the only junior of the group and Shannon Shoffner is a 207-pound sophomore.

"Linemen don't get the publicity but they do a lot of work. That's the nature of the kids."

The Kickers

Ward said he is lucky to have two quality kickers in Duncan and Owens.

"They both kicked field goals last year," he said. "Kyle was our long-distance kicker and Owens the short.

Senior Brent Spry returns as the punter.

The Outlook

Ward looks at his roster and sees a small team, compared to some of the others in the CPC. In fact, there are only four players — Goolsby (295), Neas (214), Hendricks (241) and Shoffner (207) — over 200 pounds.

But Ward said his team's size is decieving.

"We have several players in the 190-195-pound range," he said.

Defense

Ward added, "We ask all of our defensive backs to do a lot of things like read and react. Of all the people out there, the most experience is in the secondary."

The Line

Kevin Goolsby will give Ward one of the Central Piedmont Conference's biggest noseguards. He came into preseason at 6-3, 316 but has trimmed down to 295 going into the first game Friday night.

Senior Brad Groce (5-11, 197) and Jackson Hendricks (5-10, 241) will also see time there because Goolsby may play some offensive line. But Hendricks is currently bothered by a foot injury.

"Kevin's the biggest player we have and Groce is one of the strongest," Ward said. "They're learning to play better and they came out with a good attitude. Jackson broke the fifth metatarsal bone in his foot but he has size and strength too."

Matt Neas is a 214-pound senior who can back up the players at noseguard, if necessary. This is his first season of football.

"Coming out for the first time as a senior is tough but Matt has worked hard," Ward praised.

Ward will have no seniors at the tackle position when the team opens its schedule. Steve Moore, Todd Corvin and Rodney Crotts are juniors while Kevin Caudle is a sophomore.

"They're all underclassmen but they're learning," Ward said. "That's all you can ask for."

Corvin (192 pounds) and Caudle (190) are the biggest of the tackles.

Defensive ends will be chosen from the group of Kyle Duncan, Mike Agrillo, Wes Krause, Chris Cornatzer and Shannon Shoffner. Krause is the only senior in the group. Duncan, a 195-pound junior, is a returning starter.

The Linebackers

Ward thinks he has a strong corps of linebackers, led by a string of talented seniors.

The most talented is Chad Carter, a 195-pounder who will replace Andy Everhardt at middle linebacker. Carter was a strong-side linebacker last season.

Corey Deese and Paul Barber have also been groomed for that spot. Barber is 6-1½ but weighs in at only 138. Deese is a solid 6-1, 183.

At weak-side linebacker, Ward can choose from seniors Darren Cook, Benjy Frye and junior Jared Eure.

At strong-side linebacker, Bryan Johnson moves in from a defensive back position. "He's tough," Ward said.

Jason Tomberlin and Matt Sluder, a lineman last year, can also play strong-side.

"These are guys who are supposed to be hitters," Ward said with a smile, "and they are.

The Outlook

The defense gave up an average of 22 points per contest last year but most came late in the season against the league's top teams: West Forsyth, Grimsley and Reynolds.

Ward said Davie can avoid that in 1992 by working together.

"Every defense relies on each other," he said. "Our kids realize that if you do your job well, it will make the whole defense work. That's the type of attitude I want: team first, me second. If we all think that way, that's a strength in itself."

Coleman

said. "I didn't expect the beating I took."

But that seems like an eternity ago. Now, he is a senior leader.

"Coach Ward has emphasized that all seniors have to be leaders," he said. "As quarterback, I'm right in the middle of everything, telling everybody the plays."

Coleman thinks a good start is what Davie needs to avoid another losing season. Davie has had only one winning campaign in the past seven years.

"We need our offense to score because the defense can hold them," he said. "Last year, all the breaks went for the other team. Like Dudley, a couple of plays here or there and we win. But we were competitive. We can win with a few breaks."

If Davie does surge out of its slump, the War Eagles will do it behind the league's shortest quarterback.

"I think we put too much emphasis on things like size," Ward said of Coleman's height. "So he's 5-8. It's something he's lived with all his life."

Coleman agrees. "I've played this game all my life. It doesn't matter how tall I am."

Deese

Deese's new attitude comes from looking ahead to the future. But a future in football is really something he's always wanted.

"Football has always been my favorite sport," he said. "Look at my room and you'll see. My bedspread, trash can, everything has something to do with it. And I'm always talking about it."

So now he not only wants to succeed for himself but also for people like his former coaches, Billy Wall and Barry Whitlock.

"When I run now," he said with a grin, "I don't look at the hole. I look down at the ball."

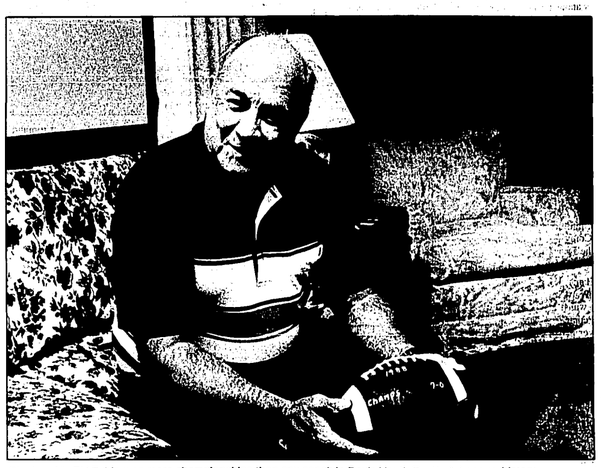
Pinebrook Power

Tobin's 'Mean Machine'

Packer Leader Was Most Successful Coach In League



Pinebrook's Bill Tobin won more championships than any coach in Davie Youth Football League history.

Bill Tobin's first taste of Davie County football wasn't in 1972, as many think, when he took over as coach of the Pinebrook youth football team.

His introduction came years before and it was much more painful.

In 1954, Tobin was a speedy tailback for Pilot High School, located near Thomasville. Once, he asked his coach to tell him about that week's opponent: Cooleemee.

"The coach said, 'Aw, that's some outlaw school that got thrown out of their league for fighting.' "

Tobin had never played a game as rough as that one. He went to the hospital with a broken nose ("it came from a fist") and for the first and only time in his career, he fumbled.

The next season, Tobin played for Thomasville High and met Cooleemee again. Thomasville won 6-0 only because Tobin tackled a Cooleemee runner inches from the endzone on the game's final play.

"They had a guy that didn't have a hand, it was a nub," Tobin remembered. "We had seven or eight guys on the bench with their eyes closed shut because he poked them with that thing."

Little did he realize then that he would get many more shots at Cooleemee — as the coach of the most dominating youth league team in Davie County history.

Starting The Dynasty

From 1972 through 1984, Tobin's Pinebrook teams were feared. Large crowds appeared at the local high school to watch him slug it out with Mocksville, Cooleemee and William R. Davie, among others.

His record through 12 years was 114-29. In 1988, he stepped in to coach one more season. The result was a 7-0 record, bringing the overall total to 121-29. Just as impressive is his 11 championships in 16 years.

He won with girls starting at quarterback. He won with rich kids and poor kids. He won games he shouldn't have by simply outcoaching his opponent.

"I was always aware of the situations," he said. "During the game, no one came close to me. I'd try to be eight plays ahead. I might try to run something six straight times to set up one play — but that one play would score."

Tobin was the first coach to use stickum (the players' hands weren't as big as the ball. We had to do something."). He had players audible ("Steve Grubb could see my fingers wherever he was on the field."). He was the first to use pulling guards.

And the greatest memories usually consisted of a game against arch-rival Mocksville:

• There was the game with Mocksville, a team Tobin said Pinebrook had no business beating. So, he used ball-control. Mocksville got the ball only three times and the Packers won.

• There was the Mocksville game of 1974. That was perhaps the best Tobin team ever, a club that wasn't scored on until the last game, when someone in the stands blew a whistle. Pinebrook's players stopped and the player scored.

"They all came over to me crying," Tobin said. "They didn't want anybody to score on them."

• There was the Mocksville game in 1983 when the Cowboys were first and Pinebrook fourth. But somehow, Tobin motivated his players to upset Mocksville in the playoffs.

Please See Tobin — P. 2C

Cindy Williams

Williams, Evans Proved Girls Could Play

Bill Tobin saw several girls play in the Davie Youth Football League during his 13 years of coaching. Two of them, Cindy Williams and Debbie Evans, stand out.

According to Tobin, Williams was the first girl in league history to score.

"We had an 18-point lead and usually when I think it's safe, I'll try to let other people score," Tobin said. "I thought 18 points were enough. So I sent her on a bootleg."

Tobin cringes when remembering the run from midfield.

"She was hit head-on and spun away," he said. "I bet she was hit 10, 11, 12 times. But she made it in. The whole crowd went wild. I think the people from other teams, not just ours, loved it."

Evans: Starting Quarterback

Evans used to follow her brother Chris to little league football practice at Pinebrook almost every day.

Then came the afternoon when she showed up without him.

Debbie Evans had come to try out for football.

"I always watched my brother playing and I thought, 'I can do that too.' So I tried out," she said.

"I did everything I could to discourage her mother from letting her out there," said Tobin, who coached the Packers. "But Debbie wanted to play. There were no rules against it so the league couldn't stop her."

Evans is currently a track star at Western Carolina University. But even then, she showed her natural athletic ability and instincts. She wasn't just a girl who wore pads while standing on the sidelines.

"When (Tobin) realized I was out there for good, he treated me like anybody else," Evans said.

But she wasn't just anybody else. Evans became Tobin's starting quarterback.

"I wish I had 14 boys just like her," he said. "She was tough."

Evans beat out Patrick Murphy for the starting role. Murphy went on to later start for Davie High years later.

"One game, Debbie was busted in the mouth," Tobin said. "She bounced right back up after about two minutes and told me she was ready to go back in. Another time she was hit in the gut and fell hard. But she only missed two plays."

Tobin used to warn the referees early: "Watch out for number 32. She's a girl."

Afterward, after Evans had run roughshod over another opponent, the refs would confront Tobin with, "Are you sure?"

Beauchamp Enjoyed Watching Youngsters Mature

Bill Tobin is honest about Pinebrook's football success in the Davie Youth Football League over the past 20 years.

"I feel the credit for Ronnie Beauchamp is the real reason," said the former, high-profile coach. "Ronnie," he says of Beauchamp, who still credits his [illegible] said so all day and say good things about Bill. [illegible] Every time I stepped on the field with [illegible] knew nobody could beat us. I [illegible] that he trusted me to do so much."

Perhaps it is this mutual admiration [illegible] has made Pinebrook the most successful [illegible] league history. Along with Ronald Boger, who takes over for Beauchamp this season, the coaches thought alike and preached the same things to the Packer and Trojan teams.

"We want the boys to think it was a privilege to play for the Packers," Beauchamp says, matter-of-factly.

Tobin explained Beauchamp's no-nonsense style of coaching.

"If Ronnie saw a kid with potential, he'd stay on him and stay on him. Some people would say he was too rough on the boys, he shouldn't be coaching little league. Later, when the boys were good players in high school, those same people would say, 'He shouldn't be coaching little league.'

"He should be coaching high school."

Making A Decision

Beauchamp, a 1972 graduate of Davie High, is retiring from little league coaching after 18 years (eight as head coach).

He looks back and says that yes, he almost was a coach at a higher level.

"I've told very few people this," he said. "I was going to quit coaching here in 1975 and go to Chowan Junior College to play and eventually coach junior high football. But my knees were messed up and I just couldn't make it. And I couldn't keep my mind off the ballteam here."

Before he left Murfreesboro, the Chowan coach told him to stay and he'd make him an apprentice. But he came home anyway.

"I thought about that an awful lot," he said. "The door was open and should I go through it? I prayed a lot about it. God wanted me here. I liked watching the kids make something of themselves."

Right Reasons

Listen to the 38-year old Beauchamp and you realize he coached youth league football for all

Please See Beauchamp — P. 2C

Pinebrook Power

Tobin

In other words, Mocksville and Pinebrook carried on quite a rivalry during Tobin's days.

"I hated the Cowboys so much I didn't ever watch western movies," he chuckled. "It was always a war."

Winning Too Much

Tobin paid the price for winning, however. He said some of the biggest battles came in the board room during league meetings. The league didn't seem to like one team dominating year in and year out, especially under a coach with a cowboy hat and a boisterous personality. Almost all of Tobin's ideas were turned down. So another coach would bring up a proposal he liked.

"I'd say, 'Yeah, I'll vote for that.' "

One year, in fact, the league forced Pinebrook to split up its 30 players into two teams. That was Tobin's only losing season.

He could win with teams that even he thought were outclassed.

In 1973, he grew a beard and claimed he wouldn't shave until Pinebrook lost.

"I figured I wouldn't have to wear it long," he said.

Seventeen weeks later, he finally shaved, another title in hand.

He watched Randy Barker go from a Pinebrook star to a 1,000-yard rusher for Davie High. He followed Rex Allen as he became a star in high school and is currently a high school coach. He saw Chris and Doug Jacobs go on to the East-West and Shrine Bowl all-star games.

"My biggest disappointments though, are the boys who could have played in college but didn't," Tobin said.

The Start

Tobin was never a college player either. After playing in the service while stationed in Germany, he came home, playing sandlot ball and coaching a Boys Club team. Then he moved near Farmington where a neighbor knew of his experience. Doug Grubb asked him if he'd like to coach the Pinebrook team.

It wasn't long before the cheerleaders ran onto the field each week with a banner, touting Pinebrook as "Tobin's Mean Machine."

He assembled a coaching staff of Ronnie Beauchamp, Tim Grubb and Ronald Boger. He nurtured Jerry Riddle and Jeff Ward, who went on to coach Shady Grove into a youth league power.

"Nurturing" is a key word in Tobin's vocabulary.

"You can ruin a kid if you're not careful," he said. "You don't want to break his spirit. So I wanted the kids to know I believed in them — and they believed in me because of that.

"To this day, former players come up to me and ask, 'How did you motivate us like that?' "

Bill Tobin was a star running back for Pilot and Thomasville high schools during the 1950s.

Beauchamp

"There's a lot more to it that just football," he said. "A lot of the boys we got over the years were from broken homes. They may prime tobacco all day before practice."

Beauchamp remembers players like Danny Arrowood, riding his motor bike all the way from Hillsdale through the woods to the field at Smith Grove school. Then, Arrowood would climb off and prepare himself for another Saturday victory.

Beauchamp literally fell in love with the young players, as if they were all his own.

"You'd see them in church on Sunday, trying to get on the other side of the fence," he said. "The discipline we taught them in football hopefully helped them later in life."

Beauchamp was asked to be Tobin's assistant 18 years ago, taking over the line duties.

"All of the coaches' styles were the same," he said. "We taught hard, physical — but clean — football. People were scared to play us because we hit so hard. But we never rubbed anybody's nose in it."

The aggressive line play was a key, mainly because Beauchamp drove his team to the limit.

"If I ride a guy until he gets it right, he'll realize later how easy it was. That's what has always been so rewarding for me."

Taking Over

When Tobin retired in 1984, Beauchamp was given the head coaching job. He won three titles and one regular season championship, including last year, when Pinebrook rode the running of David Daye to an undefeated year.

"Last year was the best team I had because everyone believed in what I did," he says proudly."

So why get out? For the same reasons many youth coaches give it up. Today's attitudes have changed.

"Kids aren't like they used to be," said Beauchamp, who works for Burns Aerospace in Winston-Salem. "They're not made to do anything. That's the main reason I'm getting out. I'm not changing my style."

Now, instead of thinking it's a privilege to play for Pinebrook, the players think it is a privilege for the coaches to have them.

"When kids come out of good homes and complain, I have no mercy on them," he said, "especially when I see these less fortunate kids happy for the chance to play."

Relaxation

There will be no more Friday night butterflies before he goes to bed. No more sleepless Saturday nights of thinking about certain play calls. No more rush, rush, rush.

Now, like Tobin before him, Beauchamp can put his hands behind his head and reminisce about all of those championships and all those inspired players.

Tim Dunn. Kim Beauchamp. Dean Smith. Chuckie Perdue. David Purkey. Johnny Riddle. He could tell a story about all of them.

And then, there are the players like Dwayne Parks, a little pit bull who inspired his teammates and coaches during the 1975 championship game with Mocksville.

"Our biggest kid was 160 and they had guys 190, 200 pounds," Beauchamp said. "Nobody gave us a dog's chance of winning."

At halftime, Pinebrook trailed 8-0 and the Packer players were crying.

"Then," Beauchamp recalled with a grin, "Dwayne, this little 60-pound running back, stood up and said, 'I ain't scared no more.' "

Parks took the second half kickoff for a touchdown. His one, inspirational remark helped spur Pinebrook to 36 second half points and yes, another title.

And maybe that one story is the real reason Ronnie Beauchamp never left youth football at Pinebrook.

Sure, he could have probably coached in high school or college.

But football meant more to him than that.

Ronnie Beauchamp stayed home to coach where he was needed.

Girls

"They couldn't believe it," Tobin said. "But Debbie was good. She did what she was supposed to do. She stayed within herself and did her job."

Tobin pulled out an old videotape of a Pinebrook-Mocksville game. Evans' opposing quarterback was Reggie Sales, a future 1,000-yard rusher at Davie.

But Evans made the big plays and Pinebrook won.

"I always liked Sales," Tobin said. "If they'd have let him run every time, they'd have probably gone undefeated. But I still thought Debbie was the best player on the field."

Calling her "Debbie" is out of character for Tobin. He always called her, "Donnie" when she played.

In fact, when Tobin awarded her with Pinebrook's Most Valuable Player, he announced to the crowd, "Donnie's a good boy."

Tobin even made Evans a small statue of a football player, in honor of her — and the referees.

"I've still got it," laughs Evans. "It says, 'Donnie. Are you sure?' "

'Family Ties'

In A Small County Like Davie, It's Not Unusual To Play With A Dad Or Brother

Think about this for a moment.

When football practice concludes each day at Davie County High School, 17 of those participants go home together. Either a coach and a coach's son. Or two brothers. Or a brother and a cheerleading sister. Or in one case, a coach and his son.

Head coach Randall Ward asks, What's so unusual about that? In a small county like Davie, he explains, family ties are important, whether it's a sport or a construction business. Here, people stick together.

"When you grow up in Davie County, that's the way it is," said Ward, who not only goes to practice with son Josh but also meets his younger brother Jeff there as well. Jeff is a volunteer coach.

In fact, Jeff admits he has been taking orders from older brother Randall since childhood.

"I've been around football all my life," he said. "I watched him play up through the years. When I was a senior, Randall coached here. He's coached me all my life."

So when it came to taking orders as an assistant?

"I was used to it," he said with a grin.

And then there is Jeff's nephew — and Randall's son — Josh, a sophomore quarterback on the jayvee team.

"I'm glad to see him out here," said Jeff.

Randall echoes those sentiments, as any parent would. "I like having him around," he said.

For Ward, Josh just replaces his sister, Kerri, who was always around last season. Like her mother, she was a varsity cheerleader. She is now a college freshman.

Players Shrug It Off

Having relatives on the same team seems to mean more to the two coaches, Jerry Callison and David Hunt, who now have their sons also on the staff. The players just shrug it off.

Senior Darren Cook and sophomore brother Jeremy are now linked through football.

"Dad gets into it more than we do," Darren said of the two being together.

There are also the Atwoods, Mark, a sophomore lineman who joins manager/brother Chris. And their father, Jimmy, a local sheriff's deputy, is at almost every practice, helping the coaches and son Chris.

Jason Tomberlin may graduate this year but younger brother Brent will carry on the family name.

Thanks to the freshmen being moved to the high school, the Angus brothers have been united. Scott Angus, a senior has been joined by brother Brian.

And Bubba Coleman has no brother on the team — but he does have a cheerleading sister, Jami.

Ward admits if you want to get technical about it, you could add cousins. In fact, when the picture of the relatives was being set up, the younger Angus asked if cousins counted.

When told of that, Ward laughed and agreed there wouldn't be enough room in the photo for all of them too.

The Callisons

And then are the Callisons. Chris Callison, a recent Catawba College graduate, landed a job at North Davie Junior High.

Jerry Callison, who coaches the backs, couldn't be happier over the reunion. Chris coaches the receivers.

"It's a dream-like situation," he said. "You always think about things like that. We've talked about it before."

The two Callisons have coached recreation teams together but Jerry never coached Chris after little league.

"One of my goals was to coach with him at the same place," Chris said. "I was hoping to get on at South Davie but then he started coaching at the high school so it worked out."

While they don't talk much at practice, sometimes they get together afterward to discuss the sport.

"I still go to him," Chris said.

The older Callison can already see his son maturing as a coach. While Chris drives the freshmen from North to practice, Jerry is driving the South freshmen.

"I think Chris will make a good coach," said Jerry. "He's pretty observant. I've always felt he identified with kids well. He's having to get used to the time factor. It takes a lot of time."

Chris has almost all but given up softball for the summer, despite being one of the county's top shortstops. In fact, on the first day of school, he found out about a hectic time schedule. Fellow assistant Cary Powers invited him to breakfast at a Mocksville restaurant before school — at 4:30 a.m.

"I didn't make it," Chris said.

The Hunts

Andy Hunt graduated from Appalachian State University and did his student teaching at Mooresville. But he has yet to find a teaching position so he is a volunteer coach at Davie. Like his father, he chose the same college and the same major — history.

Father David laughs when asked why Andy wanted to follow in his footsteps.

"I tried to talk him out of it," David said. "I really did. But he never listened to me before so why start now? It shows I run things in my house — the vacuum cleaner, the dishwasher...."

Both Hunts coach the offensive linemen, which makes it easier.

"Of course, he's been around me so he understands what I want better than another young coach would," said David. "We get along real well. He's been a help. We've incorporated a few things."

Hunt said he wasn't sure Andy didn't resent sports as a youngster.

"Especially in baseball," he said. "Dad was always gone. Andy wouldn't mess with it."

Hunt has a quick wit and doesn't seem to mind the players giving it right back.

He told of the practice when 300-pound Kevin Goolsby approached him and tried to hand him something.

"I told him to give it to the other Coach Hunt, not me," said David.

Goolsby's reply: "Oh, you mean Satan's spawn."

Hunt shok his head.

"I told Andy not to get into it," he repeated.

Extended Family

Hunt and Ward both agree that a team doesn't have to be chock-full of relatives to be considered a family.

"The football team is an extended family," Ward said.

"It has to be that way," said Hunt, who has coached with Ward during all four of his years at Davie. "You can't spend that much time with the same people and go through the ups and downs and not have a family-type feeling evolve.

"The pain and hardship brings a team closer. It's a cooperative struggle. But it is unique to have all of the relatives on this team. As far as my son and I, it's been a lot of fun."

Ward said family ties in Davie County isn't something new. It's always been a tradition.

"Just the ties in the community make the extended family stronger," he said. "People live here and stay here."

College Report

Expectations High For Whitaker, Catawba Linemen

SALISBURY — Ray Whitaker's college career has one last roller coaster ride remaining.

He hopes the ride gets stuck on the top and never comes down.

Whitaker, a senior offensive lineman at Catawba College, started as a freshman, lost the job as a sophomore and won it back last year.

Now, in his final season, he feels the pressure. But there's nothing strange about that. Every other teammate feels the same way.

The Indians are coming off a successful 7-3 (5-2 in the SAC-8) season that saw them get stronger as the year progressed. A roster chock-full of returning players has caught the eyes of the nation. The NAIA poll has Catawba ranked 13th in the preseason.

The most pressure may be felt by the offensive line, which returns intact. Whitaker, a 6-5, 290-pound tackle from Davie County High School, is joined by Forbush's Jamie Proffit, Starmount's Brian Ray, Bunker Hill's Jason Watson and Roswell, Ga. product Larry Jones.

"We have a lot of experience on the offensive line," Whitaker said, "and we feel good about the season. People have high expectations."

Including head coach J.D. Haglan.

"He thinks a conference championship is feasible," said Whitaker, who added several other SAC-8 teams feel the same way. "Our conference is one of the best in the nation. Five of our teams are ranked in the top 25."

Up And Down Career

There was an air of optimism surrounding media day Sunday afternoon at Shuford Field. Whitaker and his teammates seemed confident and loose. Wide grins were a common sight.

Offensive line coach Tim McMahon obviously enjoyed seeing the smile on Whitaker's face. Two seasons ago, he saw Whitaker wallowing at the lowest point of his football career.

He had come out of Davie weighing 310 pounds but gained instead of losing. As a sophomore, he was beaten out by a freshman and only started four games.

But he didn't quit. Pushed by McMahon, he lost around 30 pounds and earned his starting position back last year. His best game was against Wingate College and four former Davie teammates. A 46-20 Catawba victory had his coaches beaming afterward.

"Ray graded out as high after that game as any lineman I've coached," McMahon said. "He was pumped up for that one."

At the end of the season, Whitaker was voted Most Improved player.

Trying to compare the last two seasons is almost too much for Whitaker.

"It can't be described," he said. "It was two different years and two different people."

Perhaps Whitaker's most impressive accomplishment in 1991 was earning back the respect from his coaches.

"We're all real proud of Ray," McMahon continued. "He's always had the ability. But he went from real high to real low to real high. He went from a player we didn't feel good about putting out on the field to one that earned a starting position again.

"He really turned it all around. Having the peaks and valleys is what college football is all about but most don't have them like Ray."

Good Play Needed

With all of the publicity, Catawba's offensive line won't surprise anyone in 1992.

"Last year, the line kind of sneaked up on everybody," McMahon said. "People will be looking for them this year and they feel a little pressure. We're fortunate to have them all back. And anytime everybody's back, the expectations rise."

Whitaker said the team's expectations for this season began forming immediately after the last game of 1991.

"We worked harder during the offseason than we did during last year," Whitaker said. "It was a plus for the team and the credit goes to the staff."

That type of team unity is one of the strengths of the line, according to McMahon.

"Ray's group hasn't missed but a handfull of practices between them since I've been here," he said.

Whitaker is still fighting his weight. McMahon would like to see him shed a few of those 290 pounds.

"We take it one step at a time," McMahon said. "Get down to 280 and we'll go from there. A man who carries that much weight tends to bog down. When he's light, he stays on his block. He has very good feet for a man his size."

The Last Year

Whitaker would love nothing better than to make the NAIA playoffs, considering this is his last season of competitive football.

"I've thought it but it really hasn't sunk in yet that this is my last go-around," he said. "I've been playing since the fifth grade."

So he and his teammates plan to savor each and every week of the season.

"We're going to take it one week at a time and if everyone plays their game, everything will take care of itself."

Whitaker is already preparing for life after football — playing-wise anyway. As a fifth-year senior, he has only two classes, with student teaching at Knox Middle School, beginning in October.

"It's going to be weird not playing," he said. "That's why I want to get into coaching so I can stay around it."

McMahon sees no reason why Whitaker can't turn into a quality coach.

"One of his successes is that he's smart," said McMahon. "What he doesn't have in raw power, he makes up for with his ability and knowledge."

But before coaching, there's one more season of football.

"The last four weeks of last season, Ray was as good as anyone up front," McMahon said. "If he's in shape, he can be one of the best lineman in the league."

Greene, Walker Want Quarterback Spots

Below are sketches of college players with Davie County ties:

Brocke Walker

A Redshirt Junior....6-3, 188 pounds....Walker was the reserve quarterback last season, seeing action in six games....Missed spring practice due to baseball....Was 4-7-1 against Northwestern, which included a 48-yard completion to John Leach....Was 3-5-0 for 46 yards against Virginia and 2-4-0 for 25 yards against Georgia Tech....Drafted by Milwaukee Brewers out of high school...Attended Starmount High School, where he led Rams to 30-6 record in three years....Fighting Jim Kemp for backup role behind last year's starter, Keith West.

Chad Greene
(QB, Western Carolina)

Sophomore....6-1, 200 pounds....Fighting with junior Lonnie Galloway for starting quarterback spot....Was first freshmen to start at quarterback for WCU in 30 years....Good runner, has worked hard on passing skills....Attended high School at Forbush, where he led Falcons to two playoff berths....Played two seasons of Legion baseball in Mocksville.

Kendell Chaffin
(OT, Wingate)

A Junior....6-4, 265 pounds....Was a starter last year on offensive line after making the switch from defensive line....

Dale Parrish
(WR, Wingate)

A Redshirt Freshmen....6-3, 215 pounds....

Matt Bazulcik
(LB, Harvard)

A Sophomore....Started at linebacker for Harvard's freshmen team last season....Will play for Joe Rustic's varsity this season....

Kevin Wiley
(DB, Lees McRae)

A Redshirt Freshman....5-8, 180 pounds....Began career at Glenville (W.Va.) State before transferring....

Andy Everhardt
(LB, Lees McRae)

Freshmen....6-1, 200 pounds....Beginning first year in college after stellar senior year at Davie High....Was all-conference, all-Northwest....Coaches think he can see playing time early....

Campy Walker
(LB, Western Carolina)

Freshmen....6-1, 200 pounds....May start season at defensive back but as he gains weight, will be moved to linebacker.

Bovender Finally Gets His Chance

Gray Bovender didn't play a down for the University of North Carolina last season. But he may have faced the most pressure of his career.

As a redshirt freshman for the Tar Heels, he had to grow up, football-wise. Suddenly, everyone was big and fast, not just a handful of players, like when he starred at West Forsyth High School.

He role in 1991 was that of an actor. He was the opponent's wide receiver during practice every week.

"It was tough," Bovender said recently, before reporting for fall practice. "I got blessed out a lot."

Receiver coach Jim Cavanaugh rode Bovender, which, he said, only made him stronger mentally.

"Coach Cavanaugh's a great guy," he said. "He was testing me, seeing how I would react to the pressure."

Bovender sucked it up and reacted well, so well, in fact, that he is all but assured a spot on the field this year — as holder for extra points and field goals. He is listed as the third wide receiver.

Gray Bovender (left) has former Mocksville Legion teammate Stu Holt with him at North Carolina.

Currently, Bovender is nursing an achilles tendon injury. In fact, the entire wide receiver corp is hurting with Julius Reese, formerly of Mount Tabor and Bucky Brooks also injured. But Bovender feels he can bounce back and play, if nothing more than holding for the kicker.

"(Joey) Jauch (who graduated) was the holder last year and they knew I could hold," Bovender said.

But he really wants to catch the ball, something he did in record-setting fashion at West. The Carolina Football Brochure compares him to Jauch and this year's captain Corey Holiday.

"Both of those guys were like my big brothers last year," Bovender said. "They took me under their wing.

"It's hard to compare me to Corey. He'll go pro. Jauch was a possession receiver. But it makes me feel good that someone would put me in the same boat."

Expectations

While some high school stars have trouble adjusting to redshirt status, Bovender's head was clear when he reported last year.

"I expected it," he said of his rough first year. "It was a year of getting beat up. But I learned a lot."

The toughest transition may have been weightlifting. As a three-sport star at West, he never had time.

"There were times I got sick," he admitted. "But I gained nine pounds. I'm up to 180 and I've kept it on. It's pure muscle."

Bovender's biggest thrill of 1992 came when the Tar Heels visited Groves Stadium to play Wake Forest. Coach Mack Brown allowed Bovender a chance to dress out and stand on the sidelines with the team.

"Just warming up with the team was great," he said. "It was like a dream come true."

Bovender had a good spring practice, grabbing a couple of touchdown passes.

"It gave me a chance to learn our plays instead of someone else's," he said. "I really wanted to show everyone I can play."

Bovender's roommate is quarterback Jason Stanicek and he dreams of the day when he is cradling Stanicek's long bombs in his arms in front of 50,000-plus screaming fans.

But catching touchdown passes isn't as important as just proving himself.

"I want to prove to the coaches, fans and my friends that Carolina didn't make a mistake in wanting me," he said. "I hope to produce. In college, it's kill or be killed. I just want to do my job."

Ward's Largest Team Ever Includes Freshmen

The first thing Randall Ward notices — and smiles about — regarding this year's Davie County jayvee football team is the number of names dotting the roster.

The largest jayvee team in Ward's four-year tenure totals 47 — count 'em, 47 — players. In fact, it is one of the largest in school history.

"This really helps our program," Ward said. "We wanted the numbers. We wanted to increase participation."

Nineteen of the players are freshmen who are bussed in every day from North and South Davie junior highs. Going into Thursday night's home opener against West Rowan, they seem to have gotten over their jitters, thanks to some hard hitting from the varsity and two scrimmages.

"The freshmen have adjusted real well," Ward said. "They stuck with us. We hate to have to bus them in but it's a good bunch."

There are four jayvee players over 200 pounds, including freshmen Jason Boger, who stands 6-1, 201, and Kelvin Dewalt, who is 6-0, 223. The others are sophomores Anthony Smith (225) and Bryan Eagle (the team's biggest at 231).

Whether the team can match last year's Central Piedmont Conference championship club that finished 9-1 remains to be seen. But the size has to help.

The Team

Ward welcomes four quarterbacks, including three sophomores and freshman Neil Cornatzer. The sophomores are Josh Ward from South Davie and Matt Sain and Mark Mason from North.

"All are working real hard," said Ward.

Opposing teams had better hope Ward doesn't use the running back tandem of Jonathan Vaughters and Dewalt together. They would form a duo bigger than most varsity teams possess: Vaughters' 185 pounds compliments Dewalt's 223.

At tailback, Ward can turn to James Clement, a 5-9, 159-pound speedster or Eric Shook, one of the quickest and speediest backs on the team. Scotty Spry, Josh Nail and Eric Prim are also tailbacks.

At fullback, Dewalt is joined by another freshman Daniel Brewer and sophomores Tim Bracken and Vaughters.

"There's a good mix of talent in the backfield," said Ward. "We have big, powerful folks, as well as quick individuals. There's some pretty good speed."

Kevin Robertson will lead the line corps, if he isn't moved up the varsity first. He has impressed the coaches.

David Hall, Derek Foster and Tony Nichols are centers, with 5-11, 195-pound freshman Sam Griffin at a guard. Wes Foster is a tackle. Smith and Eagle will help with their size.

Want some more linemen? Ward can also choose from Brent Tomberlin, Michael Hunter, Rodney Evans, Ted Simmons, Carl Grant, Brian Angus, Mark Atwood and Jon Hattaway.

"We have some size there but we're not real big," Ward said. "The line as a group is struggling to learn a totally new concept. It's all overwhelming to them. But you always move slower with the jayvees in that area."

Among the tight ends and wide receivers are Brock Patrick, Jason Harbour, Zach Stokes, David Howell, Michael Mock, Justin Carter, Scott Rumple, Jeremy Cook, Lee Moolman, Chevis Cuthrell, Shannon Forrest, Chris Dinkins, Alan Lakey, Chad Nichols, Ryan Froelich, Jammal Dawson and Eric Eaton.

The Outlook

How will Ward get all of the boys some playing time?

"We'll play them on offense and defense and we also have speciality teams," he said. "As they develop, they'll be used more and more. But you have to remember, that development is the key.

"The sophomores and their work ethic is a tribute to them and to the junior high programs."

But Ward is most pleased with his numbers.

"This is the biggest team I've ever had — at any school," he continued. "We didn't have the dropout rate and that's good. But I love having them around and watching them catch on to what we want. There's some talent here."

CPC/State Report

Coach Cool

West Forsyth coach Russell Stone has reason to look cool. His Titans are favored to win the CPC championship — again.

West Forsyth Favored For Title

Looking over the top players in the state and it's easy to come to this conclusion: the Central Piedmont Conference should have a down year.

Many of the top players graudated last season, leaving teams like Grimsley and West Forsyth rebuilding.

According to North Carolina High School Magazine author Arnold Solomon, there are three different races expected in 1992. West Forsyth and Parkland should fight for number one. Reynolds, Grimsley and Dudley should battle for the number three spot. Davie County, Mount Tabor and South Rowan will fight for the last three.

West Forsyth is still the favorite, despite its losses. Until he left the school last year, Denny Zeiters had turned the Titans from an also-ran to a 4-A powerhouse. West is 34-5-2 over the past three years, one of the best marks in the state.

New coach Russell Stone has taken over and this will be his first full season.

The following are sketches of Davie County's opponents, in order of predicted finish. Included are last year's conference and overall records in paranthesis.

West Forsyth (6-1, 11-2): As always, Stone should have a strong defense, led by preseason all-state picks Anthony Jenkins and Lee Brush. Jenkins, a lineman, had 57 tackles and nine quarterback sacks last year. Brush, who may also quarterback the Titans, is a free safety. He is also a quality punt returner.

Kenny Patterson and Larry Baxley each had three interceptions last year. Noseguard Keith Jones (5-11, 225 pounds) had 37 tackles. Defensive end Tiger Redmond blocked two punts.

Stone will have to rebuild his offense. The line is anchored by center Derek Cornak.

Parkland (5-2, 8-3): The biggest change at Parkland is a new coach, Bernard Faulk. After 27 years, Homer Thompson retired.

Faulk has made other changes. Last year's quarterback and tailback Ricky Welch and Ronald Webb are switching positions.

Defense should the strong suit. The Mustangs have eight returning starters back. Kicker/defensive end Luther Leak and linebackers Butch Fields and Reginald Gandy lead the way.

Reynolds (5-2, 6-4): In Dave McConnell's second year, Reynolds could surprise the entire league with a title. The Demons have the most explosive offensive players in the league, led by junior runners Jomo Leggins and Greg Millner, a 6-3, 185-pound nationally-ranked hurdler. Leggins was an all-conference player as a sophomore. Opening holes will be 6-2, 240-pound Robert Fakowski.

Marshall Gillespie, a linebacker, led the team in tackles. Mack Holman was an all-conference noseguard.

Grimsley (6-1, 10-2-1): Despite losing almost everyone to graduation from his 1991 champion, including three all-state players, coach Jeff Smouse has a large talent pool to choose from. He has 24 victories over the last three seasons.

Top players this season will be linemen: center Chris Walker (6-1, 228) is a preseason all-state selection. Tre Morgan, another offensive lineman, is a three-year letterman. Sean Stimpson, a 6-5, 215-pound tight end, is back after a three-touchdown season in 1991.

Dudley (3-4, 3-7): Willie Young will not surprise anyone with his intentions: get the ball to speedster Kevin Bass.

Dudley returns 16 starters, the most in the league. Anthony Carter, a speedy receiver, is back. Anthony Dick is the team's largest player at 6-2, 256.

Other notable defensive players include defensive tackle Kenny Douglas (6-0, 267), Aubrey Sanders (6-3, 230) and Righton Mahoney, a four-year starter.

South Rowan (0-7, 2-8): Larry Deal's team will revolve around Brio Griffin on defense and Travis Trexler on offense.

Griffin, a 6-2, 180-pound linebacker, had 95 tackles and 71 assists in 1991. He had three quarterback sacks and forced four fumbles. Trexler rushed for 371 yards and scored seven touchdowns for a 5.1 average. He also returns kickoffs and punts.

But they'll need help and will get it from defensive tackle Fred McNeely (6-2, 240), who forced three fumbles and recorded two quarterback sacks. Cornerback Jamie Bost will shore up the defense. Two other linemen to watch are Randy Weddington and Jason Shell.

Mount Tabor (1-6, 1-9): The Spartans should be improved if for no other reason than the new coach, Bob Sapp, who replaces Oscar Brayboy. Mount Tabor has always has good individual athletes.

But no one is expecting anything. Since entering the CPC in 1985, the Spartans have won only eight league games, 13 overall and never more than four in a season.

Last year was the worst, going 1-9, and being shut out five times. The defense gave up an average of 26.9 points per game and allowed over 30 five times.

Can Forbush Finally Upend Starmount?

Each summer, B.W. Holt visits Rich Park to watch some of his Starmount athletes play Legion baseball for Dale Ijames and Mocksville.

Force

He wasn't seen much last summer, as only one Starmount player was on the squad. But there were plenty of Forbush players performing for Ijames.

Several coaches in the Northwest 2-A Conference have said that Forbush is catching up with the Rams as far as quality athletes and has the potential to possibly overtake Starmount on the football field too.

Will this be the year Derrell Force's team upends the Rams?

That's hard to believe, considering Holt's yearly stable of stars. Most of the ones calling for Starmount's fall from first are also the ones saying wait and see. Like everyone else, they know Forbush has the talent to replace Starmount as conference champ. But they'll believe it when they see it.

Following is a look at both teams:

Starmount (6-1, 10-3): How can the other league coaches choose anyone to win the Northwest 2-A crown except Holt's team? The Rams have won or shared the last eight titles (1984-91) and until West Wilkes upset Starmount on Nov. 8, 1991, Holt had won 47 straight conference games.

But Holt lost N.C. State recruit Carlos Walker and Western Carolina-bound Campy Walker. He has a rebuilding job ahead but the should have his machine running smoothly by the opener Aug. 28 at North Stanly.

How respected is his program? He lost several quality players and Starmount is still ranked seventh in the state's preseason poll.

Elbert Thomas, a 6-1, 265-pound lineman, will go both ways. He is a preseason all-state selection. Bradley Willard will be throwing more this year from his quarterback spot that he inherited midway through last year. Adrian Williams is another player to watch. The tight end/linebacker is 6-1, 195. Jason Smitherman is a 6-1, 245-pound lineman.

Forbush (4-2, 6-5): Force had his Forbush team clicking in 1991, despite losing all of its star offensive players like Chad Greene. It made its third straight appearance in the state playoffs.

This year, those young players of a year ago are veterans who should challenge Holt and Starmount. Force has a whopping total of 16 starters back, eight on each side of the ball.

All of the skill people return on offense and Force only needs to shore up a couple of spots in the line. Junior Freddie Speaks, a 5-10, 225-pound fullback/noseguard is back after a 1,205-yard season in 1991. Jamie Williams had 750 yards of total offense and runs a 4.6 40. He played quarterback, fullback, tailback, wide receiver and cornerback last year. Mark Brandon also had 750 yards of offense, although missing four games with a foot injury. He is at full speed this year.

Davie's Nonconference Foes Tough

Davie County will see a little bit of everything in its three nonconference opponents this year.

West Rowan is picked to finish near the bottom of the South Piedmont Conference. North Iredell is picked to finish somewhere in the middle of the Foothills. And North Davidson, after a 13-1 season in 1991, is expected to challenge for the top spot in the tough Central Carolina.

Below are sketches of each of Davie's three nonconference foes in 1992 with last year's final overall and reegular season records in paranthesis:

West Rowan (2-5, 3-7): The Falcons have switched back to the wishbone this season, hoping for some improved offense. Ron Raper has plenty of experience, having coached under Mike Carter and Pete Stout.

West scored only 79 points last year. But it will rely on young runners like Dennis Chunn and a number of players off a 6-4 jayvee team.

Last season, West defeated Davie 13-10 in overtime. West opens its season Friday at home against the War Eagles.

North Iredell (3-3, 4-6): Two seasons ago, Charles Love won the Foothills 3-A Conference title. Last year, the Raiders dropped to 4-6 and this year, is picked by some to finish on the bottom of the league.

But Charles Love has 17 years of experience and has some talent. Running backs Tony Allison and Alonzo Millsaps will lead the offense. Junior John Jackson replaces graduated Josh Weddington at quarterback.

Defense should be a strong point. Linebackers Norris Shepherd and Dallas Norman are hard hitters. Kicker Ty Gryder is solid and may be the league's best kicker.

North travels to Davie Sept. 4. Last year, Davie won 17-14.

North Davidson (5-0, 11-1): The big question is whether the Black Knights can duplicate last season's 11-1 season, the first winning campaign since 1984.

They could, considering most of the starters were juniors.

Offensive stars should be quarterback Jeremy Mabe and junior tailback Smyle Wagner (1,200 yards rushing).

Defense should be its strong suit with seven starters returning for second year coach Dick Cline. Damien Poole (6-0, 170) is one of the hardest hitters in the split 2-A/3-A Central Carolina Conference.

College recruit Michael Tofano (6-1, 235) will anchor the defensive line. Free safety Jeff Perrell is also one of the league's best cornerbacks.

North travels to Davie Sept. 11. Last season, the Knights won 24-17.

Junior High Report

Whitlock Welcomes 30 To 7-8 Grade Practice

Barry Whitlock used to stroll to the huddle during a time out and draw a play in the dirt. He used to allow his quarterback to change a play in the huddle. He may allow an audible at the line of scrimmage. He used to call intricate pass patterns which could involve almost anyone on the offensive team.

Yeah, Barry Whitlock used to do all that. But no more.

The South Davie freshman coach is now the South Davie seventh and eighth grade coach. Freshmen are playing for Davie High School this year as the school system gears to a middle school program.

But Whitlock does not see it as a demotion. "It's the only football team here," he said.

South Davie is lucky to have Whitlock, a bright young coach who always had his Tiger teams fighting North Davie for the top spot in the North Piedmont Conference. He almost left for the high school himself but the deal fell through.

So he welcomed 30 players to prepare for the season opener Sept. 15 at Trinity.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm looking at it as a totally new team and new program," Whitlock said. "It's a big difference. I won't realize it until the first game."

The biggest difference is maturity, he said.

"Ninth graders have a different attitude and are a lot more mature. They come out and know it's more like the high school. It's like a job. But for seventh and eighth graders, this is like play time."

His plays this year won't be too hard to understand.

"It's a new experience for them," he said. "The plays will be pretty basic."

While Whitlock oversses the quarterbacks and running backs, assistants Jeff Ennis and Grimes Parker are working with the linemen and receivers. Ennis has been Whitlock's freshman assistant for several years and Parker is getting back into coaching the sport after a five-year hiatus.

"I'm glad to have Parker," Whitlock said. "He's a veteran. He coached me when I was a quarterback."

The coaches have found some experience scattered about.

"Some of the eighth graders played last year but I don't know them since I coached freshmen," Whitlock said. "They were with (Jerry) Callison.

"But I've told them this is a different atmosphere from little league or Callison and I see them adjusting. My philosophies are different."

The coaches have to adjust as well.

"We have to accept their mistakes and remember they're young," he said. "A fumble or going the wrong way — that is the maturity again. And we have quite a few seventh graders."

Whitlock entered this week knowing he had good backs in Shane Campbell and Lester Scott, but neither had a physical yet. If they play, they could form one of the league's top backfields. And they'd be running behind a pretty good line, according to Whitlock.

"Our strength right now is our line," he said. "We have decent size for this age."

South's Parker Back In Coaching

Back in 1987, South Davie Junior High's freshman football coach Grimes Parker said he was stepping down from that post, saying, "It's time for a change."

Parker

Five years later, he is listed as one of South's football coaches. When asked why he got back in it, Parker used the same words we heard a few seasons ago.

"It's time for a change."

Parker turned over his softball coaching duties to Becky Miller and will join head coach Barry Whitlock and assistant Jeff Ennis on the 7-8 grade football team.

Whitlock and Ennis were the coaches of the freshman team until the ninth graders were moved to the high school this season.

Ironically, Whitlock came to South as an assistant to Parker a few years ago.

"Barry's come a long way," said Parker. "He learned a lot and has a good head for football. He's like me in that he looks way ahead. His decisions are not last-minute situations. He has already thought out what he's going to do. He's done an excellent job."

Parker said coaching seventh and eighth graders will be much different from being around the freshmen.

"I have to get used to calming myself down," he laughed. "I used to get on those ninth graders hard."

Parker, who also coaches baseball, said he is looking forward to practice, which began this week.

"I missed football when I wasn't coaching," he said.

'Big Difference'

After A Decade Of Coaching Ninth Graders, Ron Kirk Now Working With Younger Players

Newly-appointed head football coach Ron Kirk looked around at his 29 seventh and eighth graders who had arrived at North Davie for the first practice of 1992 and reminisced a little.

"It reminded me of 15 years ago," he said. "Before the junior highs were built, we started a junior high program. We bussed them in from the elementary schools."

But there is a big difference this season. Kirk, who has spent the last decade as assistant coach and defensive coordinator for Sam Beck and the North Davie freshmen, suddenly finds not only the freshman gone but Beck as well, who resigned. He is North Davie's only head football coach.

"As far as being head honcho, it's different," Kirk said. "I don't know how to explain it. I'm making sure everybody's where they're supposed to be. I'm making sure the assistant coaches know what to do. There's a just a lot more stuff to get together."

Kirk said about 15 of the players had some sort of experience from last year, whether at North or in the Davie Youth League, where seventh graders are eligible.

"But they were typical seventh and eighth graders when we started," he said. "They were timid. There were some that I couldn't tell which grade they were in."

The total of 29 were a little more than Kirk expected and he said there were more expected to come out before Tuesday's deadline.

"Four or five played here at North," he said. "So far, we've just talked about basic assignments."

Kirk's assistants, Mike Dinkins and George Newman, have more experience with this age, considering they have coached the 7-8 grade team at North for the past few seasons. Kirk has learned some things about this age group, compared to his ninth grade teams.

"You do a lot more teaching," he said.

The burly Kirk also wants his players to forget about tension during practice.

"I don't want to scare them to death," he chuckled. "I'm used to ninth graders. I've gone nose-to-nose with some of them. You can't do that with these boys. Give me a little time and they'll respond to us."

North opens at Thomasville Sept. 15 but Kirk said he would love to have a nonconference game before then.

Kirk was asked how he responds to having to tell the seventh and eighth graders the same thing over and over.

"You just have to stay on their case," he said.

Then Kirk remembered he wasn't supposed to talk that way. That was a little too harsh for this age group. This wasn't the older boys. Patience is needed.

So he toned "stay on their case" down a little.

"We encourage them a lot," he said diplomatically.

The Contest

Play Contest And Win $250 ... NOT!

Well, well well, here we are again.

You've waited a full year for the annual Davie County Enterprise-Record football contest and this week, you'll have your first chance to win the initial $25 first place prize of the year.

And if you're real lucky and pick every game correctly, you can take the grand prize of $250 out of the publisher's pocket.

But you know who he'll blame if you win that, don't you? He won't credit you for being a genius. He'll blame the sports editor for easy games.

So don't win it.

The second place prize each week is a whopping $10 so you really have some incentive to play this game, huh?

Most of the players tell the sport editor they don't do it for the money. They do it to show off to their friends.

The first week is usually the easiest of the season. But with all of these high school games, I don't really think it will be.

As always the sports editor will play along and display his record in each week. While some of you can hide your terrible predictions from the public, everyone will know how ignorant the sports editor is — which is something you should know already, right?

So, let's do it.

Last Year: 249-125

Season Total: 0-0

This Week's Games

N.C. State vs. Iowa: This is the season Anthony Barbour breaks loose. But the Wolfpack still loses. Iowa by 3.

Davie County at West Rowan: West Rowan shouldn't have won last year. It won't this this year. Davie by 10.

South Stokes at Forbush: South is 4-A, Forbush is 2-A. But Forbush is good and South isn't. Forbush by 14.

Mooresville at Concord: Mike Carter's team can't beat a physical Concord team. Concord by 7.

South Rowan at Kannapolis: Are you kidding? Kannapolis by 14.

Other Winners:

Starmount, East Surry, Dudley, Grimsley, North Iredell, North Davidson, North Rowan, Lexington, High Point Andrews, South Iredell, Central Cabarrus, East Lincoln, Anson County, Richmond County, Trinity, Asheboro.

The Lions Roar For The Kids

Lions Club Gives Concessions To Boosters

The local Lions Club is known for giving time and energy to several different causes.

And now its giving to the Davie High School athletic program by giving up the concession stands during sporting events.

For 31 years, the Lions have managed the concession stands, splitting the proceeds with the high school boosters club. Now, the boosters are getting it all as the Lions step aside.

"The Lions had the kids at heart with this decision," said boosters club president Larry Cook. "They've been super."

Last year, the Lions gave the boosters the basketball concessions. Now, Cook said, the football concessions will allow the boosters to do more.

"It's taking more money to run this athletic program," Cook said. "This added money from concessions will really help us."

An 8-by-12 foot building has already been built to be used as a concession stand near the scoreboard on the south side of the football stadium. It is fully-equipped and should be in operation for the first varsity home game Sept. 4 against North Iredell. It will also alleviate the congestion at the larger concession stand, which has always been at the north end.

"The new one will be for the people who don't want to fight the crowds at the other end," said Cook. "We feel like it's going to be a real draw.

"Taking over opens some doors for us to do certain things. We now have a place to store things and we can even get into selling souviners, like cups and shirts."

Cook said no figures were given on how much the boosters club could make by taking over exclusively. But he owes it to the Lions.

"It was a big sacrifice for them," he said. "We appreciate that they ran it all these years. I can't say enough good things about the Lions Club. They really had the community at heart."

But Cook — and the Lions Club — know who will benefit the most from this turn of events.

"The bottom line is that 100 percent of the money will go back to the kids," Cook said.

In Defense of a Little Virginity

a message from Focus on the Family

The federal government has spent almost $3 billion of our taxes since 1970 to promote contraceptives and "safe sex" among our teenagers. Isn't it time we asked, What have we gotten for our money? These are the facts:

• The federal Centers for Disease Control estimate that there are now 1 million cases of HIV infection nationwide.[1]

• 1 in 100 students coming to the University of Texas health center now carries the deadly virus.[2]

• The rate of heterosexual HIV transmission has increased 44% since September 1989.[3]

• Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) infect 3 million teenagers annually.[4]

• 63% of all STD cases occur among persons less than 25 years of age.[5]

• 1 million new cases of pelvic inflammatory disease occur annually.[6]

• 1.3 million new cases of gonorrhea occur annually[7]; strains of gonorrhea have developed that are resistant to penicillin.

• Syphilis is at a 40-year high, with 134,000 new infections per year.[8]

• 500,000 new cases of herpes occur annually[9]; it is estimated that 16.4% of the U.S. population ages 15-74 is infected, totaling more than 25 million Americans — among certain groups, the infection rate is as high as 60%.[10]

• 4 million cases of chlamydia occur annually[11]; 10-30% of 15- to19-year-olds are infected.[12]

• There are now 24 million cases of human papilloma virus (HPV), with a higher prevalence among teens.[13]

To date, over 20 different and dangerous sexually transmitted diseases are rampant among the young. Add to that the problems associated with promiscuous behavior: infertility, abortions and infected newborns. The cost of this epidemic is staggering, both in human suffering and in expense to society; yet epidemiologists tell us we've only seen the beginning.

Incredibly, the "safe-sex" gurus and condom promoters who got us into this mess are still determining our policy regarding adolescent sexuality. Their ideas have failed, and it is time to rethink their bankrupt policies.

How long has it been since you've heard anyone tell teenagers why it is to their advantage to remain virgins until married? The facts are being withheld from them, with tragic consequences. Unless we come to terms with the sickness that stalks a generation of Americans, teen promiscuity will continue, and millions of kids . . . thinking they are protected . . . will suffer for the rest of their lives. Many will die of AIDS.

There is only one safe way to remain healthy in the midst of a sexual revolution. It is to abstain from intercourse until marriage, and then wed and be faithful to an uninfected partner. It is a concept that was widely endorsed in society until the 1960s. Since then, a "better idea" has come along . . . one that now threatens the entire human family.

Inevitable questions are raised whenever abstinence is proposed. It's time we gave some clear answers:

Why, apart from moral considerations, do you think teenagers should be taught to abstain from sex until marriage?

No other approach to the epidemic of sexually transmitted diseases will work. The so-called "safe-sex" solution is a disaster in the making. Condoms can fail at least 15.7 percent of the time annually in preventing pregnancy.[14] They fail 36.3 percent of the time annually in preventing pregnancy among young, unmarried minority women.[15] In a study of homosexual men, the British Medical Journal reported the failure rate due to slippage and breakage to be 26 percent.[16] Given these findings, it is obvious why we have a word for people who rely on condoms as a means of birth control. We call them . . . "parents."

Remembering that a woman can conceive only one or two days per month, we can only guess how high the failure rate for condoms must be in preventing disease, which can be transmitted 365 days per year! If the devices are not used properly, or if they slip just once, viruses and bacteria are exchanged and the disease process begins. One mistake after 500 "protected" episodes is all it takes to contract a sexually transmitted disease. The damage is done in a single moment when rational thought is overridden by passion.

Those who would depend on so insecure a method must use it properly on every occasion, and even then a high failure rate is brought about by factors beyond their control. The young victim who is told by his elders that this little latex device is "safe" may not know he is risking lifelong pain and even death for so brief a window of pleasure. What a burden to place on an immature mind and body!

Then we must recognize that there are other differences between pregnancy prevention and disease prevention. HIV is 1/25th the width of sperm,[17] and can pass easily through even the smallest gaps in condoms. Researchers studying surgical gloves made out of latex, the same material in condoms, found "channels of 5 microns that penetrated the entire thickness of the glove."[18] HIV measures .1 microns.[19] Given these findings, what rational, informed person would trust his or her very life to such flimsy armor?

This surely explains why not one of 800 sexologists at a conference a few years ago raised a hand when asked if they would trust a thin rubber sheath to protect them during intercourse with a known HIV-infected person.[20] Who could blame them? They're not crazy, after all. And yet they're perfectly willing to tell our kids that "safe sex" is within reach and that they can sleep around with impunity.

There is only one way to protect ourselves from the deadly diseases that lie in wait. It is abstinence before marriage, then marriage and mutual fidelity for life to an uninfected partner. Anything less is potentially suicidal.

That position is simply NOT realistic today. It's an unworkable solution: Kids will NOT implement it.

Some will. Some won't. It's still the only answer. But let's talk about an "unworkable solution" of the first order. Since 1970, the federal government has spent nearly $3 billion to promote contraception and "safe sex." This year alone, 450 million of your tax dollars will go down that drain![21] (Compared with less than $8 million for abstinence programs, which Sen. Teddy Kennedy and company have sought repeatedly to eliminate altogether.) Isn't it time we ask what we've gotten for our money? After 22 years and nearly $3 billion, some 58 percent of teenage girls under 18 still did not use contraception during their first intercourse.[22] Furthermore, teenagers tend to keep having unprotected intercourse for a full year, on average, before starting any kind of contraception.[23] That is the success ratio of the experts who call abstinence "unrealistic" and "unworkable."

Even if we spent another $50 billion to promote condom usage, most teenagers would still not use them consistently and properly. The nature of human beings and the passion of the act simply do not lend themselves to a disciplined response in young romantics.

But if you knew a teenager was going to have intercourse, wouldn't you teach him or her about proper condom usage?

No, because that approach has an unintended consequence. The process of recommending condom usage to teenagers inevitably conveys five dangerous ideas: (1) that "safe sex" is achievable; (2) that everybody is doing it; (3) that responsible adults expect them to do it; (4) that it's a good thing; and (5) that their peers know they know these things, breeding promiscuity. Those are very destructive messages to give our kids.

Furthermore, Planned Parenthood's own data show that the number one reason teenagers engage in intercourse is peer pressure![24] Therefore, anything we do to imply that "everybody is doing it" results in more . . . not fewer . . . people who give the game a try. Condom distribution programs do not reduce the number of kids exposed to disease . . . they radically increase it!

Want proof of that fact? Since the federal government began its major contraception program in 1970, unwed pregnancies have increased 87 percent among 15- to 19-year-olds.[25] Likewise, abortions among teens rose 67 percent;[26] unwed births went up 61 percent.[27] And venereal disease has infected a generation of young people. Nice job, sex counselors. Good thinking, senators and congressmen. Nice nap, America.

Having made a blunder that now threatens the human family, one would think the designers would be backtracking and apologizing for their miscalculations. Instead, they continue to lobby Congress and corporate America for more money. Given the misinformation extant on this subject, they'll probably get it.

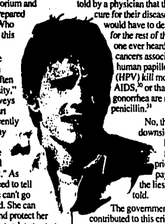
But if you were a parent and knew that your son or daughter was having sex, wouldn't you rather he or she used a condom?

How much risk is acceptable when you're talking about your teenager's life? One study of married couples in which one partner was infected with HIV found that 17% of the partners using condoms for protection still caught the virus within a year and a half.[28] Telling our teens to "reduce their risk" to one in six (17%) is not much better than advocating Russian roulette. Both are fatal, eventually. The difference is that with a gun, death is quicker. Suppose your son or daughter were joining an 18-month skydiving club of six members. If you knew that one of their parachutes would definitely fail, would you recommend that they simply buckle the chutes tighter? Certainly not. You would say, "Please don't jump. Your life is at stake!" How could a loving parent do less?

Kids won't listen to the abstinence message. You're just wasting your breath to try to sell them a notion like that.

It is a popular myth that teenagers are incapable of understanding that it is in their best interest to save themselves until marriage. Almost 65 percent of all high school females under 18 are virgins.[29]

A few years ago in Lexington, Ky., a youth event was held that featured no sports contest, no rock groups—just an ex-convict named Harold Morris talking about abstinence, among other subjects. The coliseum seated 18,000 people, but 26,000 teenagers showed up! Eventually, more than 2,000 stood outside the packed auditorium and listened over a hastily prepared public address system. Who says kids won't listen to this time-honored message?



Even teens who have been sexually active can choose to stop. This is often called "secondary virginity," a good concept that conveys the idea that kids can start over. One young girl recently wrote Ann Landers to say she wished she had kept her virginity, signing the letter, "Sorry I didn't and wish I could take it back." As responsible adults we need to tell her that even though she can't go back, she can go forward. She can regain her self-respect and protect her health, because it's never too late to start saying "no" to premarital sex.

Even though the safe-sex advocates predominate in educational circles, are there no positive examples of abstinence-based programs for kids?

Thankfully, some excellent programs have been developed. Spokane-based Teen-Aid and Chicago's Southwest Parents Committee are good examples. So are Next Generation in Maryland, Choices in California and Respect Inc. in Illinois. Other curricula such as Facing Reality: Sex Respect; Me, My World, My Future; Reasonable Reasons to Wait; Sex, Love & Choices; F.A.C.T.S. etc., are all abstinence-themed programs to help kids make good sexual decisions.

A good curriculum for inner-city youth is Elayne Bennett's Best Friends Program. This successful "mentoring" project helps adolescents in Washington, D.C. graduate from high school and remain abstinent. In five years, not one female has become pregnant while in the Best Friends Program!

Establishing and nurturing abstinence ideas with kids, however, can be like spitting into the wind. Not because they won't listen, because most will. But pro-abstinence messages are drowned out in a sea of toxic teen-sex-is-inevitable-use-a-condom propaganda from "safe-sex" professionals.

You place major responsibility on those who have told adolescents that sexual expression is their right as long as they do it "properly." Who else has contributed to the epidemic?

The entertainment industry must certainly share the blame, including television producers. It is interesting in this context that all four networks and the cable television entities are wringing their hands about this terrible epidemic of AIDS. They profess to be very concerned about those who are infected with sexually transmitted diseases, and perhaps they are sincere. However, TV executives and movie moguls have contributed mightily to the existence of this plague. For decades, they have depicted teens and young adults climbing in and out of each other's beds like so many sexual robots. Only the nerds were shown to be chaste, and they were too stupid or ugly to find partners.

Of course, the beautiful young actors in those steamy dramas never faced any consequences for their sexual indulgence. No one ever came down with herpes, or syphilis, or chlamydia, or pelvic inflammatory disease, or infertility, or AIDS, or genital warts, or cervical cancer. No patients were ever told by a physician that there was no cure for their disease or that they would have to deal with the pain for the rest of their lives. No one ever heard that genital cancers associated with the human papilloma virus (HPV) kill more women than AIDS,[30] or that strains of gonorrhea are now resistant to penicillin.[31]

No, there was no downside. It all looked like so much fun. But what a price we are paying now for the lies we have been told.

The government has also contributed to this crisis and continues to exacerbate the problem. For example, a current brochure from the federal Centers for Disease Control and the City of New York is entitled, "Teens Have the Right," and is apparently intended to free adolescents from adult authority. Inside are the six declarations that make up a "Teenager's Bill of Rights," as follows:

• I have the right to think for myself.

• I have the right to decide whether to have sex and who[m] to have it with.

• I have the right to use protection when I have sex.

• I have the right to buy and use condoms.

• I have the right to express myself.

• I have the right to ask for help if I need it.

Under this final item (the right to ask for help) is a list of organizations and phone numbers that readers are encouraged to call. The philosophy that governs several of the organizations reflects the homosexual agenda, which includes recruitment of the young and vigorous promotion of a teen's right to sexual expression.

Your tax dollars at work!

Surely there are other Americans who recognize the danger now threatening a generation of our best and brightest. It is time to speak up for an old-fashioned value called virginity. Now, more than ever, virtue is a necessity.

If you agree with Focus on the Family that it is time for a new approach to adolescent sexuality, tear out this ad and save it. Take it to your next school board meeting. Send it to your congressman or senator. Distribute copies to the PTA. And by all means, share it with your teenagers. Begin to promote abstinence before marriage as the only healthy way to survive this worldwide epidemic.

Please use the coupon below to obtain a valuable booklet on abstinence. There is no charge for it. However, your support is requested for an upcoming TV program for teenagers on this important topic. Your comments are also solicited.

Peace In Davie

She Saw The Wall Come Tumbling Down

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Gaby Mauldin has found peace in Davie County.

Where she comes from, there was noise, crime, confusion, and the Berlin Wall.

But her husband, Alton Lee, took her and their daughters away from that.

Alton joined the Army in 1975 and was stationed in Berlin, West Germany in 1976. He met Gaby in June 1979. When the wall that separated East and West Germany, communism and non-communism, began to be torn down on a cold night in November 1989, Alton was in German class at a local university.

"We were taking a break, and the teacher came back and said, 'They are tearing the wall down.' She closed her book and said, 'Class is over.' "

Gaby was working in a store near the wall, and a friend's husband was a policeman in Berlin. He walked into the store and said, "Did you hear the wall is coming down?"

Gaby laughed at him.

After all, the wall had been up since she was 10 years old, in 1961.

"I saw in 1961, I heard the radio. All I remember was everybody running through with a sad face. Everybody was like, 'Well, we don't know what to do.' Whoever was over there (in East Germany) visiting, they had to stay. My parents never talked about it. All I knew was what I heard my father saying in his conversations.

"They (the guards) shot left and right," Gaby said. "That was the worst time. A year before I met the mother of a school friend — West Berlin was very little and you knew many people — I met that lady, and I asked for her son. She said he was in prison. He had gone to West Germany to try to help a friend to escape, and they caught him. I never did know if he got free," Gaby said.

Alton did patrols on one part of the wall where many tried to escape, and many died trying.

"My first job was to do patrols on the American sector of the wall. We would do it one day by Jeep and one day by helicopter. The Americans had the largest sector, and it took us a little over eight hours a day to drive around the wall. If headquarters gave permission to break the seal (on the ammunition), then we had permission to shoot, but we were mainly there to observe. If anybody tried to escape, we had to stand by to help.

> "I would like to have seen it come down, but slower. I'm grateful the wall came down, but nobody dreamed what it would be like after."
> — Gaby Mauldin

"There was one, when they were working on the wall, and he kept easing back, easing back. The old Germans got out there singing some old war song, and when we got the opportunity, we grabbed him," Alton said. "He was in his early 20s I guess. We took him straight to the Embassy. We weren't allowed to talk to him. The worst thing that happened, I can't talk about. I saw a young girl get killed, but that's the only incident I can talk about. The other incident was hush-hush."

Alton said the wall, at that time, was about 12 feet high, with a covering over the top similar to concrete drain pipe. In some places, glass was embedded into the wall, so anyone trying to escape who grabbed the top of the wall would get cut.

There were also land mines, barbed wire, and armed guards to deter escapees. Gaby knows all too well about the guards.

"As we left Berlin they had two soldiers' trials, and we talked about why some go free and others don't. This one soldier had medals for sharpshooting, and he said, 'I shoot but I don't shoot you dead in your heart.' It seemed to people that they shot to kill."

Gaby wasn't used to guns and killings. In West Berlin, where she lived, it was difficult to get a gun permit, she said, and few people had guns. After the wall came down, that changed.

"The crime rate went up after the wall came down. The Polish people came and then the Russians. All of a sudden, all the shooting came up. Even the Germans were trying to buy weapons. They were scared because they weren't used to this. Not only we had our own problems, but we had their problems too."

"They" were the Eastie Beasties, as Gaby knew them. When the wall was torn down, East Berliners were free to travel to the West side, buying goods, and often taking what they couldn't buy. Gaby said one day in a grocery store, someone from the East took a wrapped-up fish out of the grocery cart of a Westie, saying "You have enough. It's my turn."

It was harder for the older Westerners to deal with the changes brought on by the coming down of the wall, Gaby said her grandparents were especially upset about it, and her parents now complain about the high prices of everything in their city. When she and Alton left Berlin, her grandparents said, "Oh my God, I wish you all wouldn't go."

But Gaby and Alton wanted peace for their daughters, Ramona, 16, and Darlinka, 6.

Gaby rolls the Rs in Darlinka's name as she calls to the girl to come sit on her lap. Both daughters have German features — blue eyes and blond hair, and they both speak German. Ramona longs to go back and visit, but none of them want to live there. Gaby thinks back to life before the wall came down, and she isn't sure the change has been for the best.

When asked if it would have been better if the wall had stayed up, she answers, without blinking or smiling, "Ten meters higher."

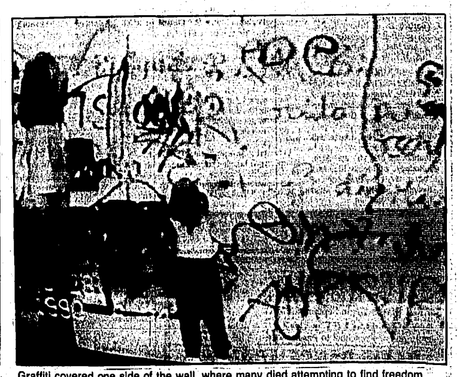
After thinking about it for a minute, she said, "I would like to have seen it come down, but slower. I'm grateful that the wall came down, but nobody thought what it would be like after. I don't know what it's going into.

"It's no more the same. There is anywhere and everywhere cars. It's too rush-rush. The day is too quick over or the day is never long enough."

Gaby's voice trails off, and she looks around.

Ducks cluster in a pen near an untouched swimming pool. The farm off Houston Road is quiet, and life is slower. After a three-year stint in Utah, the family will return to Davie County, to live in a house not yet built, behind Alton's parents.

Darlinka, then 4, hammers souvenir chips out of Berlin Wall on June 24, 1990.



Graffiti covered one side of the wall, where many died attempting to find freedom.

Cochrane-Dickens Couple Is Married

Buffy Michelle Cochrane and Christian Meguel Dickens were united in marriage Saturday, Aug. 15, at 6 p.m. at the Living Word Pentacostal Church in Malden. The Rev. Garland Elliott officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, wore a traditional gown of white satin. The gown featured a scalloped, deep V neckline and a fitted bodice, adorned with alencon lace, sequins and pearls on the front and back. The juliet sleeves had re-embroidered lace on the pouf, and long illusion lace cuffs. Chantilly lace, embroidery, pearls and sequins enhanced the long full skirt which extended into a cathedral train, adorned with sheer, nylon lace ruffles. She carried a cascading arm bouquet of peach roses accented with lace, baby's breath and ivy, drawn together by satin streamers.

Robin Dickens was the bride's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Shani Orgeron, Haley Wilent, Jennifer Wilent, Cayce Beam and Allison Beam.

The flower girl was Tiffany Sigmon and the ring bearer was Steven Dellinger.

Robert Dickens was his son's best man. Ushers were: Jody Cochrane, Todd Cochrane, Jason Dickens, Danny Michaels and David Beck.

The wedding consultant was Ann Tate, and a program of wedding music was presented by Joanie Belk and Catenna Lockee. Register attendant was Donna Ballard.

The bride is the daughter of Gerald and Frankie Cochrane of Lincolnton. She is a graduate of Lincolnton Senior High School and is employed with Ethan Allan Furniture in Maiden.

The groom is the son of Robert and Diane Everidge Dickens of Yadkinville. He is a gradaute of Davie High School and is employed as a welder with Pneu-mec Systems in Statesville. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dickens of Harmony and Dorothy Everidge of Statesville.

Following a honeymoon trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple will make their home in Lincolnton.

Reception

The bride's parents hosted a reception immediately following the ceremony, assisted by: Sandra Tate, Sallie Miller, Pat Smith, Ann Evans, Kathy Cochrane, Clara Robinson and Billie Piche.

The six-tier wedding cake was decorated with roses and accented with a cascading fountain. The reception table was arranged with a fruit selection, raw vegetable trays, chicken wings, ham biscuits, chicken salad pastry cups, mints, nuts and punch.

Prenuptial Events

• On Aug. 14, the groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Hillbilly's BBQ and Steak House in Lincolnton. The meal consisted of chopped barbecue, barbecued chicken, baked beans, potato salad, rolls and dessert. The bride and groom chose this time to present their attendants with gifts.

• On July 12, the couple was honored with a shower at the Houstonville Community Building given by Sheila Campbell, Judy Dickens and Robin Dickens.

• On July 19, the couple was honored with a shower in Lincolnton given by: Audrey Schronce, Melissa Lingerfelt, Brenda McConnel, Estele Cochrane, Irene Cochrane, and Linda Dellinger. The couple's Sunday school class also honored them with a shower and a cookout.

60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Canupp of Edgewood Circle, Cooleemee, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Aug. 12.

Their children honored them with a tiered cake and a covered dish supper at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mona Jo and David Griffin.

Their other children are Marlene Benson, Sharp Canupp and Linda Martin. They also have 15 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

50th Anniversary

Howard and Mary Lee Danner celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in early July by taking a cruise to the Bahamas as guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Earl and Phyllis Shoaf of Raleigh.

The Danners were married in Davie County Aug. 30, 1942. They live on Gray Street, Mocksville.

Shady Grove Class Of 1949 Holds Yearly Reunion At Fork

The 1949 Senior Class of Shady Grove High School held their 43rd Anniversary reunion at the Fork Civic Club on Saturday night, Aug. 15. This was the 38th consecutive reunion held by the class.

The 30 attending were: Billy (Peggy) Bailey, Bobby (Maxine) Bailey, Jimmy (Bea) Bailey, Robert Bailey, Lucy Barney (Barry Armsworthy), Ann Hartman Barnhardt (George), Mary Ann Barnhardt, Ada Mae Patterson Carter (Buck), Dot Potts Carter (Jack), Sally Cornatzer, Margaret Bowens Dwiggins, Vae Jones Everhart (Glenn), Annie Ruth Luper Howard (Alvin), Irvin Jones (Pat), Raymond Myers (Doris) and Peggy Jolly Seaford (Bill).

Also attending since 1988 was a former classmate, Howard Carter and wife Louise, who moved away from the area during high school.

Unable to attend were Lois Holder Cornatzer and June McCulloh.

The decor was centered around a Hawaiian theme from the class nigh using the class colors — green an white and class flower — rose.

Before the blessing by Ada Mae Carter, there was a moment of silence in memory of the two deceased class members, Rowena Williams Clontz and L.C. Ellis.

After the meal, Jimmy Bailey shared with the group some of the songs he has written and which had been recorded by either Nashville or local artists. "Beautiful Eyes" was recorded and sung by Keith Bradford of Nashville. Dot Carter shared photographs of a trip she made to Hawaii.

Vae Everhart brought photographs of last year's reunion, and others shared memorabilia of the senior year.

Also Mary Ann Barnhardt told of visiting the former high school teacher, Mrs. Lillie Parker, in Sylva.

Mrs. Russell Burnham Hawes Jr.
... was Mary Margaret Salley

Couple United In Marriage Aug. 22

On Saturday, Aug. 22, at 5 p.m., Mary Margaret Salley and Russell Burnham Hawes Jr. were married in the Clemmons United Methodist Church in Clemmons. The minister was the Rev. John Koonts Ferree.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mackay Salley of Marchmont Airpark, Advance and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Burnham Hawes Sr. of Winston-Salem.

The bride's dress was white silk shantung embossed with Alencon lace that was beaded with sequins and pearls. The hemline and the train of the dress was bordered with the same lace and sequins.

She carried a bouquet with one center Casablanca lily surrounded by white roses, tube roses, baby's breath, and ivy.

The maid of honor was Lara Amperan from Chapel Hill. The bridesmaids were Paige Payne from Jasper, Tenn.; Valerie Hawes Maley, sister of the groom, from Winston-Salem; Lisa Smith Gregory from Laurel, Md.; and Karen Pate Kolcusky from Point Pleasant, N.J.

The best man was Russell B. Hawes Sr., the groom's father. The groomsmen were Thomas W. Henson Jr. from Rocky Mount; J. Drew Royall from Columbia, S.C.; Michael J. Maley from Winston-Salem; and George Mackay Salley Jr. from Advance, brother of the bride.

The music was provided by Andrea Bath Moore of Charlotte, who played the violin, and Russell Kimbro of Kernersville, who played the trumpet. The soloist was Bonnie Berlin of Winston-Salem, and the organist was Jean Blackwell of Lewisville.

Betty Hampton was the wedding director. She also arranged all the flowers for the church service as well as for the reception.

The reception was held at the Bermuda Run Country Club where the band "Special Occasion" played while the guests dined. The bride and groom left the reception to go on a 15-day honeymoon including visits to the islands of St. Lucia, Martinique, and Puerto Rico.

Parties

• Lara Amparan and Lisa Gregory had a lingerie shower in the bride-elect's honor in Chapel Hill in late June.

• A "Round-the-Clock" shower was given for the bride-elect on Aug. 1 by Mary Elizabeth Shough, Barbara Wolfe, Virginia Diseker, and Joan Crotty.

• A cookout was hosted for the couple by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keller and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Tatum of Winston-Salem on Aug. 1.

• A candlelight dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. James Hewett of Clemmons was held with the bridal couple as guests.

• A seated dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hawes Sr. for the wedding party, relatives, and close friends of both the Hawes and the Salleys. This was held at The Stouffer Hotel, and it followed the rehearsal for the wedding that took place on Aug. 21.

Couple Speaks Vows In Home Wedding

The lawn wedding of Deedra Jo Horne to Ronald Lewis Bright was held at 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 15, at the home of the bride's parents on Powell Road. The Rev. Glenn Sellers officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, wore a traditional bridal gown of white satin. She carried a bridal bouquet of white and baby blue silk flowers.

Marilyn Renegar, the bride's aunt of Lone Hickory, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Amy and Crystal Horne, the bride's two sisters.

Danny Hartman of Advance was the bridegroom's best man. Child attendant, Josh Bright, the bridegroom's nephew, also of Advance, was ring bearer. Justin Horne, the bride's brother, was doorman.

The bride's parents honored the couple and guests with a reception immediately following the ceremony.

Beth Beck of Winston-Salem was soloist at the ceremony and the reception.

Bird seed bags and helium balloons were passed out among guests by Amy and Crystal Horne and Lisa Bright, the bridegroom's sister.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Horne of Route 1, Mocksville. She is a graduate of Davie High School and is employed by Western Steer of Mocksville.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bright of Route 4, Advance. He is a graduate of Davie High School and is employed by Residence Inn by Marriott of Winston-Salem.

The couple will make their home in Mocksville following a honeymoon at Carolina Beach.

Parties

• Cathy Bright hosted a floating bridal shower on July 5 at Redland Pentecostal Holiness Church.

• A miscellaneous shower was also given by Marilyn Renegar on July 18.

• Blaise Baptist Church honored the couple with a basket shower in August.

• A dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents was held at Smith Grove Fire Department on Aug. 14.

Crisis Pregnancy Hotline Opens Here

A teenager or other person with questions or problems associated with crisis pregnancies now have a Hotline in Davie County to call for a listening, non-judgmental ear.

The Davie County LoveLine is handled by the Jericho Church of Christ and coordinated by Harold Dyer.

The hotline number is (704) 492-5683 and is available 24 hours a day.

Tom Slaughter, executive director of AGAPE of NC, explains: "Too often, single women, families and at times men feel overwhelmed by the circumstances relating to pregnancy. The LoveLine volunteers consider a crisis anything that the caller considers a crisis."

The callers are sometimes victims and the volunteers may need to help calm them down and help them see a solution they can handle. The caller may have many questions, but there may not be an objective person to turn to for a confidential source for information and support.

LoveLine volunteers, all of whom are members of the Church of Christ, undergo special training. AGAPE has trained and certified about 550 volunteers to staff the LoveLine phones statewide.

The hotline is now in operation in Greensboro, Winston-Salem, High Point, Raleigh, Jacksonville, Wilmington, Burlington, Asheboro, Kannapolis, Goldsboro, Apex, Shelby, Reidsville and Cary.

Mocksville LoveLine officially opened July 28, but was actually in operation a while before. The hotline gets many calls a day such as, "what position the birth father has", "information on sex" and "what it feels like to be pregnant."

"There is a phenomenal amount of ignorance on sex", Slaughter said. "As high as 90 percent of unwed mothers in crisis pregnancies will have to have Social Services intervene because of abuse or neglect of children.

The volunteers can help birth mothers find the help they need through other services and hopefully reduce that percentage."

LoveLine volunteers do not give advice, they simply make the caller aware of their options. Whether they choose a parenting or adoption plan, the caller will know the facts and consequences of each choice. If the caller is interested in adoption, AGAPE of NC has counselors on call 24 hours a day.

LoveLine doesn't solicit birth mothers to place for adoption. "Our volunteers and staff are available to assist regardless of the choice made by the birth parents," said Tom Slaughter.

There were several community leaders at the press conference on July 28 held at the Jericho Church of Christ. Among those present were Diane Foster, Davie Co. Board of Commissioners; Dennis Harrington, health director; Karen Smith, Davie Co. Social Services; and Betty Griffith, Davie Co. Coordinator and several other volunteers.

"The Health Department is very interested in this hotline because the volunteers will help provide information to birth mothers on prenatal care therefore lessening the chance of fetal death," Harrington said.

Jones To Speak At Fork

Sunday at the 11 a.m. service, Aug. 30, the Rev. John Jones, a native of Mocksville, will be speaking at Fork Baptist Church.

Born on Nov. 20, 1960, the son of the Rev. Archie and the late Julia H. Jones, Jones is working with the Baptist State Convention as associate language director.

He is married to the former Patricia Reavis and they have two daughters, Kaitlyn, 4, and Meredith, 2.

Jones received his bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and master of divinity degree from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1989.

The pastor is the Rev. Ken Evans. Fork Baptist Church is located approximately six miles east of Mocksville or 12 miles west of Lexington on U.S. 64.

Davie Schools

Davie High

The deadline to register for the October SAT is Sept. 11. Registration forms and a study guide are available in the guidance office. Students should complete the registration form before the Sept. 11 deadline or they may have to take the SAT in Greensboro. The guidance office recommends that all seniors going to a four-year college should take the SAT in October. Students are responsible for mailing registration forms to the college board.

Students eligible because of family income may take the SAT free and may not have to pay an application fee when applying to colleges. See Mrs. Miller for income guidelines concerning these fee waivers.

Parents interested in hosting a student from Germany for 10 weeks, October-December, should contact Rex Hobson in the guidance office at 634-5905.

Mocksville Elementary

There are 11 new faculty/staff members: Kimberly Blue, school psychologist; Judy Sherrill, third grade teacher; Tracy Willard and Susan Cain, exceptional children's teachers; Linda Haulbrook, Angie McGee, Danny Watts, teacher assistants; Donna Carter, cafeteria co-manager; Earle Barker, Chapter I teacher; Kim Smith, Chapter I assistant; Elaine Snow, returns as music teacher.

Enrollment is approximately 470 students. Children are studying everything from fairy tales and bears to dinosaurs and Australia.

William R. Davie

There are three new staff members: Amanda Heineman, grade 2/3 teacher; Gary Bailey, custodian, and Betty Akers, custodian.

The first PTO meeting for the 1992-93 school year will be an open house on Tuesday, Sept. 1.

A new student incentive program will begin this year. Each month teachers will be asked to choose 2-4 students from their class who have been outstanding school citizens. Students will have their pictures placed on a display on the student incentive bulletin board in the cafeteria. The students will receive a certificate and a good citizen's ribbon in their classroom. Their names will also be published in the weekly school news in the Davie County Enterprise-Record. Good citizens will be invited to eat lunch with the principal and assistant principal on Citizens Day each month and receive a special dessert with their lunch.

North Davie

School pictures will be made on Sept. 2.

New staff members are: Marie Agrillo, Chris Callison, Ann Graham, Susan Shortt, Steve Holt, Lorene Johnson, Connie Little, Mark Sinopoli, Mary Reed, Peggy Hendrix and Karen Barnhardt.

The seventh grade class was given a presentation by three Japanese college students on Aug. 21. The speakers talked about the Japanese written language and shared examples. The main topic of discussion was the similarities and differences between Japanese and American schools. It was noted that students in both cultures study basically the same subjects, however, both the Japanese school day and year are longer, and the students are required to wear uniforms.

Pinebrook

The first day of school was a smooth one for students and staff; 535 students are enrolled. Numerous parents attended open house on Monday, Aug. 17.

New employees are: Sandy Hendrix, second grade teacher; Becky Kimerling, speech and language teacher; Anna Newman, music; Susan Boger, Spanish; Kathy Short, clerical assistant; Candy Brake and Rita Gunnoe, primary assistants; Betty Jo Laymon, cafeteria manager; Glenna Purdey and Georgia Smith, food service; Tom Glasscock, custodian; Betty Taylor, bus driver.

Other new personnel and in-school transfers include: Susan Landry HOTS (Higher Order Thinking Skills) teacher; Brenda Davis, AG teacher (formerly a sixth grade teacher); Shannon Pryslazniuk, sixth grade teacher (former Spanish teacher).

Leaving for other duties are: Jeanne Penland, to live and work in the Mideast; Elaine Snow, working at other elementary schools; Peggy Hendrix, cafeteria manager at North Davie; Donna Carter, co-manager at Mocksville Elementary cafeteria; and Merlie Allen, bus driver for North Davie.

Parents will have the opportunity to use the voice communications system again this year. Parents can call their child's teacher voice-tel number daily and listen to a message concerning activities the class participated in that day, homework, field trips, and other information. Parents can also leave a message for the teacher.

Students will be out of school for an extended Labor Day weekend. There will be no school for students on Friday, Sept. 4, or on Monday, Sept. 7.

The first PTA meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 22, at 7 p.m. It will be an open house in conjunction with a book fair. Beginning in October, monthly activities will include Skate Night on the first Tuesday and Burger King Family Night on the third Tuesday. The Parent Involvement Committee of the PTA will meet the second Thursday of each month.

School Briefs

Administrators Learn Some Style

Davie County Schools administrative staff participated in in-service training two weeks ago, said Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, at the board of education meeting Aug. 3.

Several presentations were given, including one on learning styles, by Jacque Dunbar of the Northwest Technical Assistance Center in Wilkesboro. Dunbar grouped the Davie staff into groups according to what kind of learners they were. Steed said Dunbar did an excellent job in her presentation, and the training session was "very successful."

13 Student Reassignments OKd

Approval was given for 13 Davie students to be reassigned to different schools. Reasons given ranged from preference to child care, and the grades included ranged from kindergarten to grade nine.

Ten students were approved to be released from the Davie system to attend schools in Forsyth, Yadkin, and Iredell Counties. For most of those, their parents lived in different counties, and the student was moving to be with another parent.

Steed said releases and acceptances were "generally an even swap."

Schools As Shelters Approved

The American Red Cross is in the process of updating their disaster plan, Steed said, and requests that schools be used as temporary shelters in the event of a natural disaster.

The board voted unanimously to allow the Red Cross, through the Davie County Emergency Management/DSS, to use any Davie school. Utilization would depend on the location of the disaster and the type of facility needed.

Seven Davie students are recipients of the White-Martin Scholarship.

The scholarship, established in 1972, was named for George Martin and his wife, Brooke White Martin. Martin said it was set up for Davie High students who were planning to further their education at an institute of higher learning.

The students may attend any four-year or community college, in or out of North Carolina.

The scholarship was set up as a trust, said Bobby Jones, treasurer of the committee. The income that is generated from the trust is used for the scholarships. The amount each person will receive is based on earnings, Jones said.

Students who are interested in applying should contact the guidance office, Jones said. A committee reviews applications and selects winners.

Those receiving the scholarship this year are:

• Keri Michelle Draughn, daughter of Ervin and Brenda Draughn of Route 4, Mocksville;

• Angela Johnson, daughter of Joseph and Minnie Mason of Route 3, Mocksville;

• Jennifer Seats, daughter of Phillip and Kathy Seats of Route 1, Advance;

• Courtney Krenach, daughter of Robert and Susan Krenach of Route 1, Advance;

• Bessie James, daughter of Richard S. James of Route 3, Mocksville;

• Alton Gene Beal, son of Frances Jean Beal of Route 5, Mocksville;

• Tobin Lee Kennedy, son of Joey and Vickie Kennedy of Route 9, Mocksville.

Anderson Earns Degree

Robert Anderson graduated from Forsyth Technical Community College at Wait Chapel on Thursday evening, Aug. 13, with honors with an associate degree in radiation therapy technology.

He is on staff at Iredell Memorial Hospital. He is the son of Zolfie and Edith Anderson.

Chamber Donating Davie Leadership Scholarship

The Davie County Chamber of Commerce directors voted to provide a scholarship, available to Chamber members/employees, for Leadership Davie County.

The recipient of the 1992/93 Leadership Davie County scholarship will go to Chamber member John Wood of Larew-Wood-Johnson, Inc.

Leadership Davie County offers organized learning experiences and practices. Through a variety of seminar activities, participants will explore topics and issues relevant to local government, education, human services, law enforcement, the environment, and economic development.

YMCA Country Dance Saturday

The YMCA will host a country and western dance Saturday, Aug. 29, in the YMCA gymnasium from 7 p.m. to midnight.

"The Country and Western Dance is a good example of our efforts to provide programs and services to the whole family," said Phyllis Potter, program chairperson for the Davie Family YMCA Board of Managers. Chuck Tomlinson will the the D.J. for the evening, and Jerry Cope will provide live entertainment.

Cost will be $5 for couples and $2.50 for singles. Tickets are on sale now at the YMCA. Concessions will be available. Door prizes and special dedications will also be on the agenda. Smoking or alcoholic beverages are not permitted in the YMCA.

"Joe and I really enjoy having a clean family environment to dance in," said Elizabeth Tyson, volunteer dance instructor at the YMCA. The YMCA will provide on-site care for the evening in the nursery for infants - preschool. The Youth room will also be available for ages 5 and up, with activities including two hours of swim time and snacks. Cost will be $3 per child.

For more information, call the YMCA at (704) 634-9622.

Community College Offers Fall Courses For Adults In Davie

Davidson County Community College will offer the following continuing education classes in Davie County beginning Sept. 2, 3, and 4.

A registration fee will be collected at the first class meeting. Persons must be at least 16 years old in order to enroll. Students 16-18 must have written permission from their public school superintendent authorizing such enrollment. Persons 65 or older may enroll free of charge.

To pre-register or obtain additional information, call the Continuing Education Office at (704) 634-2885.

Ceramics and Pecan Figurines will provide instruction in the proper techniques for cleaning and preparing greenware for firing. Participants will learn how to paint and add individual detail work to finished projects. Each participant will have the opportunity to complete several figurines and ceramic items. (Wednesdays beginning Sept. 2, 8:30-11:30 a.m.; Brock Building, Mocksville; 17 weeks, $30 fee)

Introduction to Microcomputers is designed for adults who have very little or no prior knowledge of computers. It should remove some of the fears many adults feel regarding computers through classroom and "hands-on" experiences. (Thursdays beginning Sept. 3, 6:30-9:30 p.m.; North Davie Jr. High School, Farmington Road; 8 weeks, $35 fee)

Consumer Crafts will teach basic techniques for creating a variety of simple craft items using silk or dried flowers, ribbons, and lace to decorate baskets and stuffed bears. Basic stitches for different types of needlework such as crocheting, knitting, and needlepoint will also be taught, and participants will also be instructed in making scarves and decorating belt buckles. (Thursdays and Fridays begining Sept. 4, 1-4 p.m.; Davie Village, U.S. 64 and Crestview Drive, Mocksville; 17 weeks, $30 fee)

Woodcarving will focus on the basic woodworking techniques using primarily the tools everyone has around the home. Even beginners with little or no experience in woodworking can learn to use power tools safely and more effectively. Through brief lectures, demonstrations, and extensive hands-on practice, participants will build confidence and skill in making their choice of wooden items. (Fridays beginning Sept. 4, 8:30-11:30 a.m.; Brock Building, Mocksville; 15 weeks, $30 fee)

Hi! We're Kourtney and Benji Cohen. Kourtney turned 5 on July 26. Her mom and dad took her to Carowinds on her birthday. Kourtney would like to thank Whitney, Russ, Brooke and Aunt Annie for going with her. Benji turned 2 on Aug. 1. Kourtney and Benji had a party at their home on Benji's birthday. Everybody enjoyed pizza, cupcakes and ice cream. Kourtney had a Barbie cake and Benji had an Ernie cake just for themselves to enjoy. They would like to thank everyone for the nice gifts they received.

Cooleemee Church Celebrating 91st

Rezoning OKd, But Board Wants Area Screened

A company's past tardy record in complying with zoning rules almost cost it a new rezoning.

Environmental Waste Recycling, Dennis and Grace Draman, requested that county commissioners rezone 19 acres from residential to industrial special use.

The property is at the end of Boger Road at I-40.

The county rezoned six acres for the company in 1989 on the condition that it screen the area so it couldn't be seen from I-40.

Commission Chairman Bert Bahnson asked County Zoning Officer Jesse Boyce if there were problems getting the company to comply with those requirements.

"Initially, yes," Boyce said.

"Didn't it just sit there?" Bahnson asked. "It's there on the interstate and it set there for a long time."

Boyce said the Dramans finally complied with the first rezoning stipulations after he began making the requests by letter.

Bahnson said the 19 acres should be screened from I-40 before any improvements are made.

The Dramans have proposed to tear down most of the farm buildings on the property, screen it from I-40, and build a welding and fabrication shop to work on machinery used in the business.

"I would like to see the aesthetic parts of this letter done before they start the business," Bahnson said.

Commissioner Diane Foster said the offer to screen the property is vague, saying "as much as possible."

Boyce asked for leverage to deal with the Dramans on screening the property.

"We've come a long way. I'd very much like to see a site plan," Bahnson said.

The board OKd the request on the condition the company follows restrictions proposed now and before the first rezoning.

"Give Jesse (Boyce) the leeway to see that it is totally screened," Foster said.

2 Earn Bowman Gray Degrees

The physician assistant program of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine held the 22nd annual commencement exercises Aug. 15.

Forty-two students participated.

The commencement speech was delivered by Martha H. Kelly, PA-C, a 1984 graduate of the program. Kelly has served as the outpatient clinical adviser volunteer at a refugee camp on the Thai-Cambodian border. She is an emergency medicine PA at the Hennepin County Medical Center in Minneapolis, Minn.

Among the graduates were Suzonne D. Ijames and Melissa Shouns Winters.

Ijames is the daughter of Dennis and Yvonne Ijames of Route 8, Mocksville and graduated from Wake Forest University in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in biology.

Winters, the wife of former Mocksville resident Brent Winters, graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with a bachelor's degree in chemistry.

Susan Landry Goes To Center

CULLOWHEE — Susan H. Landry of Mocksville, a reading teacher at Cooleemee Elementary School and at Pinebrook Elementary School, recently attended a Teacher-Scholars Program at The North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching.

As a teacher-scholar, Landry was one of three North Carolina teachers who helped write and produce a slide-tape show they call "A Teacher's Dream Comes True," to be used in recruiting teachers to the North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching.

Landry has both a bachelor's and a specialist's degree from Appalachian State University in Boone.

NCCAT, a unit of The University of North Carolina system, conducts a year-round program of renewal seminars for the state's public school teachers. Approximately 3,700 teachers from every county and every school district in the state have participated in center programs since full-time operations were initiated in the fall of 1986.
