Town May Close Intake To Allow Growth

Board Told Bear Creek Water Not Necessary

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Mocksville town commissioners may abandon a 46-year-old drinking water source to support development in the western part of town.

Because of upcoming watershed regulations, development will be restricted in the Bear Creek watershed, which includes the lucrative U.S. 601 and I-40 commercial area. The problem is that town commissioners have already spent more than a million dollars extending a sewer line to that area to promote commercial development.

At the board's next meeting Sept. 7, Town Manager Terry Bralley said he expects the board to discuss the possibility of dropping Bear Creek as a source of water and depending only on the newer Hunting Creek intake, further west of town.

The move could salvage property values for landowners northwest of the intake.

"The important thing is that the board has some options to look at," Bralley said. "We are very fortunate that we have options."

After a tour of the two watershed intakes last week, town Commissioner Dr. Francis Slate said he favors dropping the Bear Creek watershed, which supplies only 13 percent of the town's water. Commissioner Jim Wall said it seemed reasonable.

The board already knows that it can get along fine without pumping water from that area, said Jerry Byerly of the public works department.

During the summer the Bear Creek pumping station was not used while engineers tested the water for possible contaminants. Meanwhile, Hunting Creek pumps ran a little longer each day and pumped almost to the water plant's capacity.

Girl Hit By Car Critical

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE — A Cooleemee School 5th-grader was struck by a car on N.C. 801 Monday afternoon while riding her bicycle.

Tina Dales, 10, of Duke Street, the daughter of Debbie Stewart and Jesse Dales, is in critical condition in intensive care at North Carolina Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem. She is suffering from a closed head injury.

Cooleemee Police Chief Matt Dillon said Tina and her brother, Terry, had gone together to buy a bicycle and were returning to town about 4:23 p.m.

As they were crossing N.C. 801 near Spillman's Handi-Cupboard, Annell Watkins, 73, of Jerusalem Avenue, was driving south at about 35 mph. The speed limit is 45 mph.

Watkins told Dillon that she saw the two children on the bicycles and pressed her brakes to avoid them. Tina was struck on her bike by the front right fender of her 1984 Buick.

Dillon said after being struck Tina went over the hood of the car and landed on the left side of the car near the convenience store parking lot.

The bicycle went under the car.

"I don't think she ever saw the car," Dillon said.

No charges have been filed against Watkins.

Dillon said from the information he has gathered there was nothing Watkins could have done to avoid the accident, and he does not expect to charge Watkins.

"Unfortunately this is one of those things that just happens," he said.

Roger Spillman said he was driving up the street when he saw Tina crossing the road in front of her brother.

"Before I knew it one kid was

Recycling Barn Working

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A compact car came whizzing by Mary Seats recently as she picked up cans in front of her Farmington Road house. Out the drivers window, over the car and into the ditch came a 7-UP can.

"Boy, it kinda made me hot for this little car to come and throw me a can," Seats said.

Rest assured — that drink can will end up in a recycling bin somewhere.

Her friends may laugh at the time and care she takes to sort her trash, but Seats' $1,400 recycling barn is an environmentalists dream. With it, she has become the neatest and cleanest recycling enthusiast around.

Teen Prostitution Cases To Be Held In Superior Court

Five of the defendants in the teen prostitution case waived their right to a probable cause hearing in Davie District Court last Thursday, and were ordered bound over for trial in Superior Court.

And the mother accused of promoting the prostitution of her two daughters faces additional charges of child abuse and intimidating a witness.

The five, all from Mocksville, were Janie Marie Allen, 31, of 156 Avon St., her five-in boy friend, Jeffrey Scott Bailey, Bobby Marion Booe Jr., 17 of Route 8, Wendall Matthew Turner, 27 of Little Korea Road, and Charles L. Leach, 46, of 136 N. Main St.

The case broke this June, and at that time Mocksville police officer V.S. Fields, said two of the young girls involved were Allen's daughters. The girls ranged in age from 11 to 15.

Allen was arrested June 17 and charged with two counts of promotion the prostitution of a minor, distribution of marijuana to a minor and with assault.

Bailey was charged with selling or delivering a controlled substance to a minor.

Booe was charged with three counts of promotion prostitution of a minor. He was charged in connection with girls ranging in age from 13 to 15, and according to the arrest warrant, he told them they could make $30 of every $100 collected.

Turner and Leach were arrested for having sexual encounters with the young girls. Turner, who was arrested July 13, was charged with two counts of statutory rape and three counts of first degree statutory sexual offense.

Leach was charged on July 2 with one count of first-degree sexual offense. He was arrested again on July 9 and charged with two additional counts of first degree sexual offense.

A sixth defendant, Jason Arnold Lambert, 16, failed to appear for his scheduled court appearance. An order for his arrest was issued and his bond set at $25,000.

Lambert faces five counts of Jail Escapee Sentenced To Four Years In Jail

Twenty-two-year-old John L. Mayfield of Cooleemee was sentenced to four years in jail in Davie District Court after pleading guilty to misdemeanor breaking and entering, two counts of misdemeanor larceny and escaping from jail.

Mayfield and co-defendant Stanley L. Pruitt, 21, were charged with a break-in at the Davie County landfill. A cash register was taken along with cash and car keys.

Mayfield had been charged with felony breaking and entering and larceny, but those were reduced to misdemeanors based on his plea. The assistant district attorney, Georgia Nixon, told Judge James Honeycutt that Mayfield had three other convictions for breaking and entering.

Mayfield escaped from the Davie County jail on June 23, taking a jail uniform.

Pruitt had no prior convictions and was given a two year suspended sentence. He was to pay a $250 fine, perform 100 hours of community service and make restitution.

Just Can't Shake Those Bad Songs From My Mind

Music is important to us Baby Boomers. It has defined our generation. We still know all the words to every song the Beetles produced. Tina Turner is still one of the world's great beauties, to us. And Paul Simon's lyrics made us all feel like deep thinkers.

But what about those bad songs? The REALLY bad songs.

A couple of Kansas City Star reporters recently wrote about the songs that have stayed in their mind's Rolodex of tunes. They suddenly spring to mind without warning.

Songs like "Disco Duck" by Rick Dees. Or the Starland Vocal Band's "Afternoon Delight."

Or worse, "(Shake, Shake, Shake) Shake Your Booty" by KC & the Sunshine Band. I had forgotten entirely about that very forgettable song until last year during little league football. At one parents meeting, I had to endure a 30-minute cheerleader rehearsal of "Shake Your Booty." Ten-year-old girls shaking their "booty."

I was never so happy that I have sons.

If the good songs have made our generation what it is, the bad songs have haunted us. The Kansas City Star defined the bad songs as those awful tunes that had actually been hits, however briefly.

Songs like "The Candy Man" by Sammy Davis Jr. Songs like "Me and You and a Dog Named Boo" by Lobo. Or "Having My Baby" by Paul Anka.

I found myself humming that last one when Mary was pregnant, and I kicked myself. Stop it!

The reporters had a few others they singled out. Near the top was "Feelings" by Morris Albert, 1975. That one never translated well in my shower. And "Happiest Girl in the Whole U.S.A." by Donna Fargo. "After the Lovin'" by Englebert Humperdinck.

The radio waves are still dominated by Boomer music. The oldie-goldie stations abound and prosper. Rap music just can't compete. But the oldie-goldies also include a lot of oldie-duds. And Boomers in those days didn't know the difference. The lyrics of "Disco Duck," once triggered, can't be shaken from the mind.

"Disco ... Disco Duck."

Who wants to think about that? It's paralyzing.

That may account for the success of conservative radio broadcaster Rush Limbaugh. His vast audience doesn't tune in because it agrees with him, those people are merely fleeing bad songs. The awful oldie-goldies that just won't die.

Do Town Office Workers Reflect People?

To the editor:

I recently had occasion to be in two of Mocksville's government office buildings. While there, I observed no persons of color working in any of the offices I visited.

As a former personnel analyst for another North Carolina city, it was my responsibility to fill that city's job vacancies. All positions, unless exempted by the assistant city Manager, had to be advertised to the public via a formal process. Additionally, we had an affirmative action plan with goals and timetables to ensure the racial makeup of the city's offices were reflective of its residents.

I am sorry to inform the residents of Mocksville that employees in its town offices are not reflective of its citizenry.

I would like to know the process the Town of Mocksville follows in filling its vacancies and how is the public informed of its openings?

Aplastic Anemia Victim Thanks Community

To the editor:

As many of you know, I have aplastic anemia and I am scheduled for a bone marrow transplant on Sept. 8. I would like to thank everyone for all the nice things they have done for me since I have been sick. From the kind words to the hard work done for the fundraisers -- it has been just incredible. I have made many new friends that have touched my life deeply. I don't know how or why I have aplastic anemia, but I know it has been the blood of other good people that has kept me alive -- and will continue to keep me alive until my bone marrow transplant can be done and it starts to produce again.

Anyone who has ever given blood can know they are truly keeping someone alive. I would also like to ask everyone to keep us in your prayers. I have been told that I have some hard times ahead and I need all the support I can get. I would also like to advise everyone to check their insurance and know what they have. My insurance company can not cancel my policy, but they have made my premiums $1,200 a month. That means after the first of the year I will not be able to afford any insurance. I have to be gone for at least 100 days and I would love to hear from everyone.

Camp Coverage Excellent

To the editor:

Once again it is my privilege to express appreciation to you and your staff for the excellent coverage you gave to the Girl Scout Outreach Day Camp. The joy and pride these children must feel to see their pictures publicly displayed cannot be measured.

While I'm at it, a few more thank yous are in order. The Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council continues to provide the staff support, equipment, site and resources without which the camp would not be possible.

The generous gifts of Davie and Yadkin County citizens to their United Ways are vital to the continued success of our efforts. The staff of the Davie and Yadkin County Departments of Social Services recruited the girls who would otherwise not have this experience. And the staff of Girl Scout Leaders deserve special recognition for their contribution of patience, time and love as they helped girls have fun, learn new skills, experience success and feel good about themselves.

Since you probably need to reserve space for others to express their views, I will not be able to list all the individuals and businesses to whom much appreciation is due. You know who you are and your reward must be a very warm feeling as you know you have made a difference in the life of a child.

Coed Softball Teammates Show No Mercy

Mike Barnhardt

"Write if off as one of life's embarrassing moments." That's what they told me. It was easy for them to say.

"Everybody has a bad day." That was even easier for them to say.

"I know how you feel."

Softball teammates can be downright mean.

If they knew how I felt, then why were they choking on their own spit from laughing at me? Why were their clothes dirty from where they rolled on the ground in hysterical laughter? And if they knew how I felt, why on earth didn't one of them come to my relief sooner?

It was a co-ed softball game at Rich Park. Every man who has ever played co-ed softball knows it as the sport that routinely puts men in their place ... hitting pop flies while the women get base hits and score runs.

Being the wiley veteran that I am, I had resigned myself not to play coed softball this year. I remember last season. I got the most laughs falling down across home plate and gingerly skipping back to the dugout holding my sore back side. There's a permanent scar there. Veterans don't heal quickly, sometimes never.

I was tricked into playing this year. I had agreed to be on a team, but only if I didn't have to play. I could coach a base, or keep the scorebook. They said that would be OK.

Then the big game came last week. We had a commanding 19-0 lead. The coach asked me if I wanted to go in the game as a designated hitter. I didn't want that humiliation. There's not a woman on that team who can't hit the ball harder than I can.

So I volunteered to go into the game as a pitcher. That was something I knew I could do. I had pitched in church league. My ERA was high, but at least I threw strikes. Only two walks the entire season.

I strutted to the mound with the confidence of Tom Glavine. The umpire threw me the ball and I took a practice pitch — a perfect strike. No need to ruin something that is working, so I told the umpire I was ready.

The first batter was taking all the way. Again, I threw a perfect strike — if the plate had been on the other side of the batter. He walked. In coed softball, if you walk a man, the woman automatically walks. So she walked. It went like this for batter after batter. He walked, she walked. He walked, she walked. Over and over it went. I lost count how many people walked, but I think it was somewhere in the neighborhood of 20 straight batters.

My arm was spastic. I couldn't control it.

Fans were screaming for me to follow through. I tried, but it didn't work.

I begged teammates on the field to come in the game for me, and they just shrugged the shoulders. I looked to the coach in the outfield and told him to send in a substitute, and he told me to keep trying.

I looked to the dugout for relief. There's no way any of those guys could come in the game. They were either rolling on the ground laughing at me or couldn't see through the tears in their eyes.

Finally, after the umpire began threatening my life, our starting pitcher re-entered the game. I left the game with my glove covering my face, and we managed to hang on for a win, but only by a few runs.

I'll bet that no one will ask me to play on their team next year — unless they would rather laugh than win.

What a way to end a career. I guess I'll have to settle for Geritol and Grecian Formula and cheer for the young guys from the top of the hill, as my athletic ability quickly goes down the other side.

Covering Books Not Easy Any More

Lynn Hall

Whatever happened to those tan and green bookcovers we used to get when I was in school? These were already pre-cut and all you had to do was moisten the glue on the flaps, press them down and you were in business. The schools gave us these covers and it took about five or ten minutes and you ahd all your books covered.

We've sent men to the moon, built a better mousetrap and can pop popcorn with just hot air. So why have we taken this gigantic step backward in the book covering department. It's a major reason I read dread the first week of school.

"Hey, mom, I need three books covered by tomorrow morning or I'll get a demerit." This news bulletin is delivered at 9:45 p.m.

"I'd love to help," I reply, "but I'm busy filling out these 54 forms you brought home from school today and writing the six checks you have to have by tomorrow."

"Aren't you finished with that yet? You started right after dinner."

"Yes, but after I finished the 54 you need, I had to start filling out your sister's 54 forms. And I'm trying to explain how to get from school to our house on the back of this one, so please let me concentrate."

"Well, what about after that? Could you cover them then?"

"I doubt it. I still have to get to K-Mart before it closes and try to find that plain red T-shirt and black pants you need for gym class."

"And after that?"

"It will be midnight and I'm not allowed to use sharp objects like scissors after being up 18 hours straight."

I hear a lot of grumbling and then someone banging around in the kitchen. In a few minutes, he's standing beside me, scowling.

"How am I supposed to cover the books when we don't have any big paper grocery bags, just this little plastic kind?"

I detected the big stall. "And next I guess you're going to tell me we don't have any tape either."

"You got it," he noted.

"Oh, go to bed. I'll do it."

He was right. We had no paper grocery sacks and the little plastic ones were impossible. It finally came down to choosing between the baby shower gift wrap or the Christmas paper with the little green elves. I went with the holiday motif since I didn't have any tape and had to use Easter Seals to hold the paper together.

Claudia Benson Shumaker, Margaret Blackwood and Helen Daniel Eaton were the guards on the 1933 county champion basketball team, which took the title away from Smith Grove. Note the old Cana school bus in the background. The team was the first to wear shorts in the county; they were forbidden to go from the dressing room to the gym without a coat because the neighbors complained. Claudia Benson was named best all around student and won many awards. She married John Shumaker in the fall of 1933. She served in the WAAC in World War II. She is a retired interior decorator in Ft. Mother Supports Florist's Stand Against DHS Policy

To the editor:

I am writing in response to Benita Wyatt's article on Davie High School's new policy on flowers and balloons no longer being delivered to students from local florists. Benita Wyatt is the owner of Sisters II Florist at Squire Boone Plaza. In the last three years she has grown to be more than a business owner. She is my friend. She has supported me and has done things for me beyond the so-called "call of duty." I didn't know Benita until my daughter was killed three years ago. She has gone way out of her way to do unusual arrangements that I've asked for.

She has a lot of compassion. She has supported me in my most confusing times and I will support her in any way I possibly can. My daughter would be attending Davie High School this year if she were alive. I believe with all my heart that I would love for her to receive flowers and balloons on her birthday. That is a very important day in all teenagers' lives. I feel that the teenagers of the time we live in need all the love and attention, not to mention encouragement, in all that they do. Something as simple as flowers or balloons attached to a stuffed animal would do the young adults of today a lot of good. Flowers show love and concern and they let others know, "Hey, somebody, somewhere cares about you." That's a good feeling no matter when or how you can get it.

Davie High School students are our future and they are young adults -- not children any more. High schools shouldn't restrict anything positive. There is so much negative forces against them trying to grow up. Don't deprive them of something that represents only good things such as love and caring in the shape of flowers or balloons on special occasions.

I sent my daughter, Suzan, flowers one year at school because she was depressed and feeling down on herself. One single pink rose with a card that said, "Just because I love you", helped her get thru a bad time. She felt uplifted and she smiled a lot that day. That was worth everything to help her feel good inside. That's what flowers and balloons do. They make you feel good. Giving them or receiving them is a good thing.

Don't you think the new Davie High School policy needs to reflect on bad things instead of good things?

Fire Department Apologizes For Inconvenience

To the editor:

I would like to apologize to all the people who may have been inconvenienced by the Fork Volunteer Fire Department's pre-survey drill that was practiced on the Fulton Methodist Church on Aug. 21.

It was not our intention to inconvenience or cause a problem for anyone during this drill. This drill was done to see if the alarm should go off, we as the Fork Volunteer Fire Department could actually flow the needed water to contain the structure; also to see if all of the needed fire departments around could come together to perform this task, not only for water, but for manpower, and also the ideas that would make it easier, if the alarm would sound at 2 a.m. The element of surprise had to be installed so that we could actually see how each department could perform. The drill was a success. We learned a lot.

This drill was a planned drill. We started planning July 5. We met with each department from July 5-Aug. 16 planning each stage of the drill. During each department's training, we went over the fire department's objective. During the training exercise there were about 75 firefighters that were involved in the training; there were about 56 firefighters who were involved.

We apologize to everyone who ran out of water, to the Davie County Water Department for the inconvenience in thinking they had a leak in the water system, about 1000 gallons a minute.

I would like to thank the people and places that had a part in this: to the Davie County Communications Department, Alice and Steve; to the Davidson County Communications Department that without them, mutual aid could not happen from the next county; to the following fire departments and to their firefighters, that without them no one department could even think of putting out, or hauling or pumping the amount of water that we all did for such a large structure, Fork, Advance, Comatzer-Dulin, Jerusalem, Reeds, Smith Grove, Mocksville, Cooleemee.

Last I would like to apologize to all the people that may have heard the initial call that there was a structure fire at their church. It was not my intent to cause you a hardship, or scare you, but it was for you and your church's benefit to see if this could actually be performed. Glenn Stanley has been faithful to help train us, and most of all a true firefighter's friend. To him I take my hat off as a chief to say thanks from me and all my firefighters. You really don't know how much we care.

Anyone that is 14 years old or older that would like to become a part of this fire department and be able to give something back to your community contact me at 998-4184 or 998-5545.

Seats' stores her washed and squashed recyclables inside her $1,400 recycling barn.

Although her friends laughed, Seats bought this barn last year for recycling.

Trash Kept Neatly In Barn

crafty sign over the door proclaiming the existance of "Mary's Recycling Barn." Seats organizes the recyclables she has spent hours collecting, cleaning and crushing.

Washed and squashed aluminum drink cans are separated into one box. Next to it, tin soup cans with the labels removed and flattened like hockey pucks are kept.

Glass bottles are washed, tin pie pans are stacked, and another box holds styrofoam plates and egg cartons.

Seats even takes the time to peel off the labels of detergent bottles with a small knife before she recycles them.

She doesn't have to take all this time to make the recyclables suitable for reuse. She just never bothered to ask any different.

"My friends, they laugh at me and say '$1,400 for a recycling barn?' But I don't care."

And her family appreciates her work. Her brothers and sisters, sons and daughters, bring their recyclables to Seats each week to store inside the barn and out of their kitchens.

Every few weeks she makes a trip to Pinebrook School to deliver her bounty.

"When we get it all together it's a truck load."

Seats doesn't get paid for her recycling efforts. Instead she does it because it feels right. She doesn't have any grand ideas about being a hard-nosed environmentalist.

"I think I'm doing my part. As long as I satisfy myself, that's all that matters."

At 64, Seats said she has always been conservative. But when countywide recycling started several years ago, she saw it as a way to reduce and reuse.

Her recycling philosophy also includes making many uses out of one product.

After cereal has been eaten, the inner bags are washed and reused for keeping sandwich meat fresh.

Mind you, the boxes are recycled.

Instead of dumping dirty furnace filters, she cleans them and uses them again.

And when they are worn out, filter materials can be recycled.

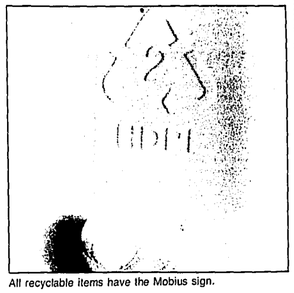
She takes round funeral wreaths back to the florist to be used again, and after she buys flowers she takes the plastic pots back to the nursery.

"I just do it. When I give clothes to Goodwill, I don't want that little tax slip. When I give it I give it — nothing in return."

All of this has greatly reduced the amount of trash she has to throw away. Usually it's just one small bag every few days.

And for now, she will keep prodding family members to recycle.

"It's not all that hard and it doesn't take that much time. I keep griping to my brother, Ya'll are gonna start that or I'm gonna cut you off."



All recyclable items have the Mobius sign.

Town Considering Closing Bear Creek Water Intake

And because Hunting Creek's pumps have been refurbished, that plant is capable to pumping what water is needed, Byerly said.

Wall said even if the town ever needed more water than Hunting Creek could provide, recent improvements made by the county to its water system ensured that the town could buy county water.

The town's water lines are constructed to tie into county lines in three places.

Dropping Bear Creek from use had been discussed over a number of years, he said, but the watershed restrictions brought it to the table for action.

Bralley said he plans to visit watershed regulators in Raleigh and find out how the town might declassify the Bear Creek watershed area to increase allowable development.

Bralley said he expected that it would take a resolution from the board to stop using the watershed area and then an application would be filled with the state's Department of Environmental Management. Bralley said he didn't know how state regulators would handle the process, but he expects it to take eight to nine months.

Research Computer Added At DHS

Term Papers To Be Easier?

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Researching a term paper was never so easy at Davie High as it will be this year.

Of course, students won't agree that term papers are easy.

But new equipment and a subscription to NewsBank, all donated to the school library, will provide students with computer indexing of 100 national newspapers. Within minutes of conceiving an idea, students can have a printout of what "The New York Times" has printed on the subject.

This fall, all of the school's students will be trained to use the new equipment.

Librarian Ellene McIntyre said the new equipment will reduce the amount of time students spend searching for materials, giving them more time to spend writing their papers.

The school's catalog of newspaper articles, which are reduced to fit on microfiche, reaches back to 1992. Each month a new set of articles covering news of the last month will arrive at the school. Each year the school will have to pay about $1,500 for the next year's news.

The equipment and first year's subscription were donated to the school by Mocksville Savings Bank in memory of Miss Flossie Martin, a former school teacher and long-time Davie historian.

McIntyre said Martin helped many people conduct research and would be happy to see the students using NewsBank for papers.

McIntyre said the library had a similar indexing system for magazine articles, but before the school only received three daily newspapers.

And then the library only had shelf space to keep those for about a month.

This system takes away the need for storage space by placing the articles on a micro-size sheet.

The system is exactly what many colleges use, McIntyre said, and it will help college-bound students prepare for college papers.

All classes will use the materials, including International Studies and law-oriented classes, she said.

NewsBank will also enhance student debates, she said, because students will have access to many different opinions in the editorial pages of different papers.

The computer accesses articles from 100 newspapers.

Bob Holmes takes time out from his one-man volleyball matches to preach to group at Brock Gym.
— Photos by Robin Fergusson

Bob Holmes came into Mocksville with a 4,050-104 record Saturday night.

The one-man volleyball team ran head-on into the Spillman family of Farmington. Make that 105 losses.

Holmes, of Massachusetts, didn't mind. There are more important things than winning volleyball matches.

He had been asked to try out for the Olympic team. He had been asked to play professional volleyball, with one-match prize money sometimes as high as $50,000.

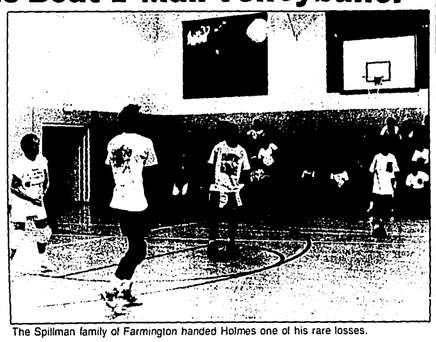
"The reason I travel around the country doing this is not for volleyball," Holmes said. "More important to me than the Olympics is that young people find hope in their life. That hope in America is Jesus Christ.

"There's more important things than money ... and that's saving souls," he said. "It's not a one-man volleyball team. God has given me the strength and Jesus Christ is my partner."

Holmes delivered his message between matches against area churches, the Spillmans and the Davie High School girl's team.

He got the idea after learning of the nation's high teen suicide rate. He plays from 80-100 games a week, telling teenagers that pre-marital sex is wrong, that homosexuality is wrong, that abortion is wrong.

"George Washington said it is impossible to govern the world without God. I with we had a president like that again.



The Spillman family of Farmington handed Holmes one of his rare losses.

"It's hard to believe we have a country that is allowing perverts to take over.

"There's still a God," Holmes said, waiving a Bible above his head. "With all that trash going one, we need to get back to this book in America."

He told the audience not to believe the notion that sex with a condom is safe sex.

"God created sex for marriage. There is no safe way to break God's rule. Sex is not safe unless you do it God's way.

"God loves everybody, but God hates sin, and sin brings judgment," he said.

"I don't care how many games I win or lose. What matters to me is that I see you in heaven."

Clean Sweep Help Sought For Sept. 18

It's time for fall cleaning---of North Carolina's beaches, lakes and rivers.

Thousands of volunteers will be taking to North Carolina's shores on Sept. 18 for the First Citizens Bank Big Sweep, the country's largest statewide water way litter cleanup.

Hundreds of locations have been chosen for cleanup across the state, including several local sites.

In Davie County, Big Sweep Coordinator Mike Garner has selected 3 cleanup sites: 601/South Yadkin Access Area; South Yadkin River; and Bull Hole/Cooleemee Dam.

The Big Sweep '93 is set for Sept. 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. More than 12,000 volunteers picked up 256 tons of waterway litter during Big Sweep '92.

Last year in Davie, 68 volunteers picked up 2,500 pounds of debris including a car, a freezer, ties and 70 bags of trash.

Volunteers include recreational boaters and canoeists, fisherman (lots of fishing line is among the debris), 4-H and scouts, plus the Mocksville Women's Club.

Volunteers who register by Sept. 8 will receive a free Big Sweep t-shirt.

Big Sweep volunteers do more than just gather trash. They also record their finds on data cards. The totals from those data cards are used by the Center for Marine Conservation in compiling national statistics on waterway litter. Bartholomew says they're also used in North Carolina to target educational efforts.

You can volunteer for the cleanup by picking up a brochure at the Mocksville/Davie Parks & Recreational Department or call the Department at 634-2325 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday-Friday.

Mardis Gras

Arts Alive Festive To Re-Create That Louisiana-Style Tradition

This is the first in a series of three articles written by the Davie County Arts Council intended to educate residents about New Orleans and Mardi Gras and to inform residents of Arts Alive Festival activities that relate to this year's theme, "Arts New Orleans Style."

"Laissez Les Bons Temps Rouler." Translation: "Let the good times roll."

And that's just what will happen at this year's Arts Alive Saturday, Sept. 18, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

The Davie County Arts Council has chosen a New Orleans/Mardi Gras theme for its annual Arts Alive.

Arts Alive will distinguish itself this year by tapping into the richness, colorfulness and uniqueness of the New Orleans culture. New Orleans is the oldest major city in the South.

Seven flags flew over New Orleans in the early days. Each time a new nation would take over, some members of the deposed government would leave the city while others stayed behind. New Orleans, therefore, represents a blend of many cultures. The historic French Quarter with its wrought iron accents has the charm of a European town. In the early 1900s, black musicians made New Orleans a world-famous center for jazz.

Creole cooking, a spicy blend of French, Spanish, Italian, American Indian, African and other ethnic dishes, originated in the bayous of southern Louisiana.

The carnival season of Mardi Gras brings all these cultures together once a year for parties, parades and general merriment before the somber time of Lent. In the early 1800s Mardi Gras was characterized by masked balls with the first parades consisting of people in masked costomes on foot, in carriages and on horseback. Rex, the King of Carnival, selected purple, gold and green as the official Mardi Gras colors and organizations called Krewes were formed to coordinate these parades. Over the years the parades became more and more elaborate with many floats, eventually with Hollywood celebrities riding as kings tossing "throws," inexpensive trinkets, to the crowd from the floats.

The Arts Council will recreate for you at Arts Alive some of the highlights of the New Orleans/Mardi Gras scene.

Arts Alive will kick off Sept. 18, Saturday morning, at 9 a.m. with a parade through downtown Mocksville and ending at the Masonic picnic grounds. Spectators are invited to follow the parade and end up at the picnic grounds. Craft vendors, origfnal art, Cajun cooking and children's activities will fill the grounds. Music will be everywhere culminating in the performance of the nationally-known Cajun band Beausoleil.

Michael Doucet, the leader of Beausoleil invites us all to let the good times roll by saying, "The more people dance, the better we play."

Rotarians Help Panama Children

Five children born with malformed faces, it only takes $700 to change their lives.

Mocksville Rotarians hope to change the lives of two small children in Panama from donations given after hearing about Operation Smile recently.

Dick Maxwell, a former Guilford County commissioner and a Rotary Club member, has visited Panama several times and seen Operation Smile volunteers reconstruct the faces of children born with cleF pallets.

He told Mocksville Rotarians about the program recently.

The children come by canoe and donkey and line up outside the clinic, hoping to be chosen for the operation. Only about one in 20 are chosen each time the doctors arrive.

A team of plastic surgeons, nurses and speech therapists from across the country give their time for the pro-bono work. The operations, costing $700 each, are paid for through donations from Rotary Clubs across the country.

In many developing countries, birth defects and malformed chilfren are seen by society as a product of a parent's sins. Children are shunned by their families in public and without the operation are not able to become part of the community, Maxwell said.

One little boy always carried a dirty wash cloth in front of his face, Maxwell said. The boy was too ashamed to remove it for any activity other than eating.

Maxwell said the most rewarding part of the work was when the boy looked at his face in a mirror after surgery and asked, "Is that me?"

"What a marvel. What a transformation," Maxwell said.

In the United States and other developed countries, only one in 700 births have cleF lips or cleF pallets. And here most families are able to have surgery at a young age for those with defects.

But in rural, developing countries, the incidents of malformities are greater, occurring once in every 300 births. Few of those poor families can afford to correct the problem.

Every year Operation Smile doctors help 2,300 children. And while they do their work, American doctors work to train native doctors to learn their reconstructive surgery techniques so that they may help more patients.

Faulkner makes his baskets from white oak splits.

He has made more than 620 baskets for friends.

The Cathedral Window basket is the most difficult.

A Basket Case

Man's Hobby Filling House

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

You might say Mark Faulkner has become a basket case over his baskets. He's weaved 620 of them.

Throughout his Mocksville home, more than 300 baskets adorn the walls, shelves and basket trees, made from tall posts with hooks. The baskets display dried flowers, pictures, fire place kindling, and even bread.

"I've got some baskets stuck in the closets because I have no place for them all," Faulkner said. But he keeps making more.

The other 300 he's made can be accounted for throughout the homes of his friends and family. Every year, on special holidays, Faulkner's friends can make a safe bet that their gift will include a tightly woven basket.

"I enjoy giving them away, and I don't give them to someone unless I know they will appreciate them. There's a lot of time and work put into them."

In 1982 Faulkner learned from his grandmother's friend how to make his first basket. He took a few classes in Lexington, but crafts are nothing new to him. Soon he was off creating new designs on some fancy shapes for classmembers to copy.

The hardest basket design to make is called a Cathedral Window because it includes curled reeds that reveal colored wood strips made to look like church windows.

He only made two of them and gave one away.

That was a sacrifice.

"But if I could give that Cathedral Window away I would give any of them away."

Faulkner buys the materials in bulk and soaks the reeds before beginning work. For round bottom baskets, he puts the wood splits on a nail and begins weaving.

To make the baskets look like antiques, Faulkner boils walnuts to make the stain.

For the 4th of July holiday, he made baskets from strips died red and blue.

Egg baskets, which are popular among unique collectors, are hard to make because they are held together by many areed ribs. But Faulkner's kitchen is full of them.

He's made picnic baskets — his favorite — chicken feed baskets, a telephone basket, and a pew basket, which was used year ago to receive church collections.

One basket is made to hold two wine bottles, and can be modified to hold two 2-liter drink bottles.

His collection also includes a few that he didn't make, but they have sentimental value.

One egg basket was used by his great-great-grandmother to carry her lunch to school each day. Another basket was used by family members to measure corn.

For Faulkner, baskets are just another part of his craft repetoir. He's made prize-winning quilts and crocheted many doilies and blankets.

"When I get the notion I might make 25 or 30 before I stop."

It's a fun and easy craft that Faulkner claims anyone can learn.

He taught several 10-year-olds at his church and an 84-year-old friend.

Since then he has taught basketry to 10 more people.

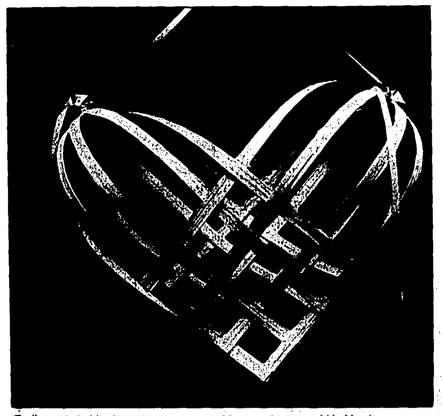
Faulkner sometimes sells his baskets and will custom-make them for friends to give as gifts. But he said he's never had a desire to sell them at craft shows for a profit.

When he does sell them prices range from $15 to $75.

Each is a work of art.

"You'll never find two baskets alike. If you look at the workmanship, they are different."

When he gets in the mood, Faulkner will make 30 baskets at a time.



Faulkner started basketry 11 years ago and has taught some of his friends.

He's no stranger to crafts. Faulkner weaves chairs, crochets, makes china dolls.

Crescent Helps Teen Challenge

Crescent EMC's Women's Committee recently contributed $200 to assist Teen Challenge of North Carolina.

Established in Harmony in 1979, Teen Challenge is a non-profit Christian organization that serves primarily women ages 18-30 who have a serious life-controlling problem such as drug or alcohol abuse.

These women must have a strong desire to change their lifestyles through the means of the Teen Challenge program. They must make a one-year commitment to the program, and live full-time at the center. During this time, the "students" undergo training to enable them to change their behavior and lifestyle in an effort to overcome their problem. The program focuses on self-discipline, character growth and spiritual wholeness, all of which are developed through a rigidly disciplined schedule of activities. If need be, it is possible for a student to acquire her GED or vocational training to help her enter the work force.

Women who enter the Teen Challenge program pay no application or tuition fees. Their stay is provided free of charge, and it costs approximately $12,000 for each student to participate. The center is supported entirely by the contributions of individuals, families, churches and organizations. Because they emphasize the spiritual aspect of the healing process, they do not receive any state funds to finance the program.

Lena Campbell, a Crescent member from the co-op's Taylorsville district and chair of Crescent's Women's Committee, stated that, "The Women's Committee felt very strongly about contributing their funds to Teen Challenge. After becoming acquainted with Teen Challenge, the Women's Committee agrees wholly with their mission and structure, and supports their efforts to help young ladies find a positive cure to their behavior and lifestyle problems."

Crescent EMC's Women's Committee is made up of Crescent members from throughout the co-op's service territory. Crescent formed the Committee to enable women to become involved in cooperative programs and use their special talents and abilities for the benefit of their respective communities and Crescent EMC. Funds of the Committee are raised by the Committee members themselves.

Headquartered in Statesville with district offices in Taylorsville, Mocksville, Cornelius and Statesville, Crescent serves approximately 41,000 consumers in parts of 11 counties in this general area.

The Women's Committee of Crescent EMC recently contributed $200 to assist Teen Challenge in Harmony. Joan Dix, left, committee treasurer, with Elizabeth Green and women at center. At right is Frances Beck, vice chair of the committee.

Novak Aboard USS Nimitz On Deployment

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class William Novak, son of Robert A. and Eugenie Novak of Route 4, Advance recently returned aboard the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, homeported in Bremerton, Wash., from a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific and Persian Gulf as part of the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz Battle Group.

While operating in the Persian Gulf, the battle group completed 19 bilateral and multinational exercises with various Gulf nations in continuing efforts to develop and strengthen political and military ties with countries of the region.

During this deployment, USS Nimitz's embarked aircraft squadrons flew nearly 3,000 missions in direct support of Operation Southern Watch, enforcing the U.N. "no fly" zone over southern Iraq.

The carrier received its second consecutive Admiral Flately Memorial Award, presented annually to recognize ships which surpass all competitors in overall contributions to aviation safety.

Today, American aircraft carriers, their planes and escort ships provide a global presence, standing ready to respond to protracted contingencies at a moment's notice, from the sea.

Ports visited were Hong Kong; Singapore; Dubai and Jebel Ali, United Arab Emirates and Pattaya Beach, Thailand.

Center Fair Continues Davie County Agricultural Tradition

In the early 1920s, the farmers and merchants of Davie County, along with the county agent, sponsored a week-long agricultural fair at the Center Arbor and the Center School, which was also the community building.

A group of men from Harmony who represented the Delco Light Agency, came and demonstrated their system by providing light for the arbor and outside area. Their theme song was "When Your Baby Cries At Night, You Need a Delco Light". The song was sung by the gospel choir which provided the entertainment.

The fair continued to be held at Center until 1926.

Because a local family could not use the church for a funeral during fair week in 1926, it was decided to move the fair to the Masonic Picnic grounds in Mocksville in 1927. It continued to be held there until 1941, when war came.

Electricity was provided for the Arbor and Center Methodist Church by L.M. Tutterow who purchased one of the Delco systems for his home and store.

In 1948, a one-day fair was sponsored by the Center Grange and it was again held at the Center Arbor and Community Building. The Grange continued this fair until they disbanded in the mid 1950s. It was then sponsored by the Center Community Development Association (1954) to be joined by the Center Volunteer Fire Department in 1957. Since then these two organizations have worked together along with local businesses and individuals to provide an agricultural fair for the people of Davie County.

This year, the Center Fair will be held Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Center Community Building. There will be numerous antique tractors, dated from the early 1920s through the 1050s, on display. John Deere, Farmall, Ford, Oliver, Allis Chalmer, and a 1929 caterpillar crawler will be among those on display. Other antique vehicles are expected.

Other displays will be provided by the N.C. Forestry Service, Soil and Water, Highway Patrol and the Lions Club.

Crafts for sale will also be available. Many of our local craftpersons will be participating again this year.

Live entertainment will begin under the historic Center Arbor at 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon. It is free.

Pork barbecue will be sold all day Friday, Sept. 10, and Saturday, Sept. 11.

In Loving Memory of Misti Anne Mathena

January 10, 1976
September 4, 1990

Pain In A Mother's Heart

Misti Anne is on my mind and my heart every waking moment. On September 4th, the thought of her is more painful than other days. That day represents horror and nightmare. On this date this year is the 3rd anniversary death date for Misti Anne. She was shot to death 3 years ago. My heartbreak is 3 years old. The first year I was still in shock. I relived for the first 18 months for her to get off the school bus and come home to me. I wouldn't accept her death. The second year was as if the first year never happened. I tried to shake but it was still fighting reality. This year the pain is different. It seems more centered now. The tears don't release the pressure around my heart anymore. The loss of her is so strong and so overpowering that sometimes I can't breathe. Since Misti Anne has been gone I haven't been able to experience happiness without sadness being close by. I have looked in the sky and wondered insolvance of times exactly where she is. She is everywhere. I see her and hear her in places I never expected. I see her in every glimpse. The bright colors and freshness after a rain remind me of her personality and spirit. She was a very bright and cheerful child. I see her in a rose that is yellow with pink edges. The breathtaking beauty reminds me of how beautiful she was to me. I see her in a sunbeam streaking through the clouds. She sent bright and warm streaks of love arrived in several different directions. Her love was aimed as a sunbeam at my heart and her family. I see her in the biggest, brightest star in a dark sky. A dark sky represents loneliness and a bright star secures the night with its brightness. She could make me feel secure in my darkest times with a special hug, a sweet smile or, "I love you, Momma." I see her in a beautiful baby innocent, loving and so trusting. She was so innocent, so young and so loving. She trusted with all her heart. I hear her in a small child's laughter. Misti Anne was 12 years and the day I married her step-father. The video of this event was the last video of her. She was in the swimming pool, hanging under the diving board when a loose up brought forth a wonderful sound of laughter from her. That sound warms and breaks my heart at the same time. Whenever I want to hear her laugh I watch that tape. I love to hear her laugh but it hurts to hear her. Everything good and beautiful reminds me of her. Even things that I think absolutely nothing to do with her - remind me of her. Since losing her, I feel like I've been as close to insanity as I can get without being insane. It's like getting the breath knocked out of you and you can't get it back. I feel like I'm not alive nor am I dead. I'm caught in between. I yearn to be with God and shake all the parents in the world and yell at them "Do you realize what a miracle your child is?" But you are the most important possessors in our lives. Except for one thing. You have them today, but will you have them tomorrow? I never ever thought it was that I would have to bury my 14 year old daughter. I always thought my children would bury me when the time came. Misti Anne was only gone for 15 minutes in the safety of my mother. She was getting ready for school. 14 years old - 13 minutes - death. No one anywhere can tell me there is a pain worse than burying my little girl, Misti Anne. You can compare and I'll agree with you but the pain in my heart doesn't go away. I carried her under my heart for 9 months. I held her in my presence before anyone else and I loved her as soon as I knew she was growing in my love. If I made a list of the kind of child I would want, it would be Misti Anne. She wasn't perfect by any means, but she was as close as humanly possible. Words don't help because they are just that, words. Friends don't help because they don't understand. To understand is to be where I am and I wouldn't wish this on anyone - ever. Imaginary or otherwise - it's too horrible. Time doesn't help. It just prolongs the pain. Don't trust anyone with the life of your child. Love your child as if this is the last day you'll spend with them. It may well be just that. I told Misti Anne every single day of her life that I loved her, just as I call tell my other children every day. We have "Mother's Day", We have, "Father's Day." We need a "Children's Day" - not just one day a year but 365 days a year. My heart died 3 years ago on September 4th. I hate that day. Sometimes reality is so painful and hard to deal with. I just push it away. It always pushes right back. I can't get away from my nightmare. I don't know if I've accepted my loss even as of now, after 3 years. I smile and I laugh, but it never reaches my heart. Most days I do very well. Other days I don't do so well. I wish I could close my eyes with all my might and the horrible hell would go away from me. But my nightmare is for life. I would cut off my arms and legs to have her back. I have asked thousands of times in the last 3 years - why? But it doesn't change anything. My 14 year old daughter, Misti Anne Mathena is still dead. I love her with all my heart and soul but she is still dead. I miss her so much I could scream and I can't do a darn thing about it. I can't bring her back. She's gone forever from this world. Her murderer got life in prison. He will be free again someday to live, love and possibly kill again in the name of love. That's a scary thought and it makes me physically sick. Life is life - not just a few years of free room and board. Life made my life Hell on earth for the rest of my natural life. Not just a few years - a full lifetime. Misti Anne should be 17 years old and starting her junior year at Davie High School, having the time of her life. Instead, she is 14 years old forever and in a small, cold grave in Rose Cemetery. I'll never know what she looks like at 17. As long as I love her, she will live in my heart forever and a day. With sadness in my heart and in loving memory of my youngest daughter, Misti Anne Mathena on September 4th, I will always love and miss her.

Sadly missed and loved dearly by her family -

Building A Moral Compass

By The Rev. Hampton Morgan

Navigators, past and present, have set and maintained their course by the compass. It is an indispensable tool for those who sail ships, fly airplanes, or hike in the back woods. Even though radio signals now guide airliners and great ships from point to point, no responsible navigator would ever leave home without a compass.

Yet children by the busloads are being sent off to school and into their neighborhoods without a moral compass. Given the realities of the modern world, the teaching of values is the single greatest challenge facing parents today.

A staggering increase in juvenile crime -- especially murder -- was recently reported in the press. The callousness with which young people are turning on one another -- to steal, to injure, to sexually assault, and to kill -- frightens even seasoned observers of juvenile crime. Those arrested, say police and court officials, show an alarming lack of remorse or concern. It is as if the offenders place no value whatsoever on someone else's possessions -- or life.

Prison Fellowship's president, Charles Colson, who understands better than most the problems of those behind bars, has stated often in recent months that crime in America is at heart a moral problem. To fix it, he says, convicts will have to leave prison with something they did not have when they entered -- a moral compass.

Such a compass is much more difficult to acquire later in life than in early childhood. Nothing short of a spiritual conversion will accomplish this for some teens and adults.

Which is why parents should make the moral education of their children a top priority. This will require of parents at least three things. First, a high-quality commitment of their time and energy to this task. Plainly stated, no one else can do this job as well as a parent, not even TV's Mr. Rogers. Especially not the writers and producers of most prime time television shows. No one else has the credibility of a parent in this task. It is, after all, to parents that the book of Proverbs says, "Train up a child in the way he should go ...." do not delegate this responsibility to someone else.

Second, this assignment requires a clear sense of right and wrong, and a determination to live by those standards. To impart a moral compass to children, parents themselves must have a functioning one. But caught up in the relativism of our times, an alarming number of parents have, at best, a faulty compass. Others pay lip service to standards of right and wrong, while their own behavior betrays their words. Children are not perceptive about some of the things parents wish they would notice, but they have good insight when it comes to discerning a phony adult. The rule is: teach it, but make sure you practice it.

Third, building a moral compass within a child requires spiritual leadership. To a young child, a parent stands as God's direct representative. Many of the attributes a child eventually intuits of God are first experienced in relationship with mother and father. The strong and unconditional love of a parent will teach a child, better than a sermon, that God loves in that way too. A parent's willingness to forgive an erring child speaks volumes about God's desire to forgive. Even a parent's admission of a mistake will model for a child the importance of confession. The sensitive use of prayer and scripture in the home, is also an important aspect of spiritual leadership. Active participation in a church also ranks high.

The great Moravian educator John Amos Comenius said, "Children do not train themselves spontaneously, but are shaped only by tireless labor." No labor can have more enduring value than the building of a moral compass within the souls of our children. God has entrusted this important assignment to parents -- to mothers and to fathers.

Bracken In Mediterranean

Marine Pfc. John S. Bracken, son of John A. and Lois E. Bracken of Route 6, Mocksville, recently returned from a successful six-month Mediterranean Sea, Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean deployment with 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit, Camp Lejeune.

He embarked aboard ships of the USS Wasp Central Command Amphibious Ready Group (CARG 2-93).

The CARG deployed ahead of its regularly scheduled Mediterranean Sea deployment to support the humanitarian efforts of Operation Restore Hope, providing much needed food supplies to Somalia. In April, the CARG's four ships, Navy and Marine helicopter squadrons and 24th MEU's 2,100 Marines deployed to the Persian Guilf and participated in multinational exercises in that region.

Exercises in the Gulf were cut short when the CARG was ordered back to Somalia to support United Nations Coalition forces. Marines of the 24th MEU conducted familiarization operations in Mogadishu.

This deployment exemplified the mobility, flexibility and capability of the Navy and Marine Corps team to operate forward, demonstrating U.S. power and resolve, from the sea.

While deployed, Bracken visited Bosaaso, Somalia; Jebel Ali, Abu Dhabi and Dubai, United Arab Emirates; Kuwait, Bahrain; Rota, Malaga and Benidorm, Spain; Rhodes, Greece and Toulon, France.

He joined the Marine Corps in December, 1991.

Pino News

By Mrs. Elma Dull
Pino Correspondent

Worship services at Wesley Chapel Methodist Church Sunday, Sept. 5, will be at 11 a.m.

Pino-Farmington Homemakers Club met at the home of Carolyn Boger last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Latham visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dill one day last week.

Harry and Ellen Rawlings have had a constant stream of visitors over the past few weeks. Their daughter Linda, with their grandchildren, Melissa and Little John, spent two weeks with them. During the first half of their stay, Harry and Ellen's son Keith was also here. Everyone had a great time at Carowinds, and while Linda and Ellen spent day after day shopping, Keith and Harry continued putting up the neverending supply of fence posts and also helped out over at the Latham's. A big thanks goes out to Kathy and Bob Ellis for the use of their refreshing pool.

During the second half of Linda's stay, her friend Barrie Beck visited from Long Island for a few days. Everyone enjoyed riding the donkey, which Linda has just saddle broke. In addition to more shopping, we spent a day at the N.C. Zoo. As Barrie was preparing to return home, Chuck and Debbie Marklin pulled up the driveway.

While their stay was too short, their visit was enjoyed immensely. On their way out, they decided to join the "Adopt a Highway" program by "adopting" our driveway. Regretfully Linda and the kids are getting ready to return home too. The children were a delight; each day was filled with more excitement. Little John loves his Pop Pop and was mesmerized by all the tractors. Melissa enjoyed the long walks, shooting with Grandpa and going to the Spirits game.

Mr. and Mrs. James Essic have recently returned to their home after an extended visit on the eastern shore of Virginia. They said good-by to three of their grandsons who left for college. Jeff Essic, son of James "Chip" and Ruth Essic, is a senior at N.C. State University in Raleigh. David, son of Neal and Brenda Essic, is a freshman at Carolina. Joe Candillo, son of John and Mary Ellen Candillo of Winston-Salem, is a freshman at Louisburg Junior College, Louisburg, N.C.

Davie Wins Opener With Good Running, Hard-Nosed Defense

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

OLIN — Davie County could point to a number of strategic moves by coach Randall Ward as the key to its 20-13 victory at North Iredell Friday night.

But perhaps the best strategy of all came before Friday night's game — when Ward kept Hamilton Cuthrell out of a scrimmage at North Rowan and Endowment Game against West Rowan.

The Raiders didn't scout Cuthrell so they thought nothing of him — that is, until he blistered their defense for 158 yards on 18 carries.

"I think (Cuthrell) is a quality back," said North coach Charles Love. "But we hadn't seen him. We didn't see him in the preseason scrimmage and we didn't see him last week. And he didn't do a real great job against us last year. Tonight was the first time we'd seen him."

What Love saw was mainly a blur. The Central Piedmont Conference's top sprinter displayed his 10.4 speed in the 100 meters, streaking to touchdown runs of 73 and 30 yards.

"He's the go-to guy because he can get to the corner," Love said.

As much as Cuthrell, Ward pointed to his defensive effort. North Iredell was inside the Davie 20 four times but failed to score. The Raiders missed three field goals. And by the time their offense finally scored, there were only two minutes remaining and the War Eagles led, 20-7.

"They were in our territory a number of times and we could've folded up," Ward said. "But our players kept their poise. I'll go anywhere with these kids. They've been like this since they came to us as sophomores. They're just a tough

Clement's 199 Yards Leads JVs

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Hamilton Cuthrell's 158-yard running performance Friday night for the Davie County varsity football team shouldn't have surprised North Iredell coaches.

Clement

They endured an even more impressive showing a night earlier when James Clement ran roughshod over the Raiders in an 18-8 War Eagle victory.

The sophomore scored on runs of 76 and 64 yards, finishing with 199 on the night.

"Football is a team sport," said coach Randall Ward. "It takes a combination of running and blocking — I think James would say the same thing."

With Davie leading 8-6, the defense held North deep in its own territory. On fourth down, Zach Stokes knocked down a pass.

On the next play from the Davie 24, Clement took the handoff. He was bumped at the line of scrimmage but went the distance for a 12-8 lead.

When Clement wasn't running, he was doing a good job defensively at middle linebacker, making several unassisted tackles while bursting through the line. Along with Daniel Brewer and David Daye, North could never consistently

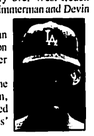
Correction: Davie Soccer Team Can Score

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Without a doubt, the most satisfying goals in Davie County's 7-1 victory over West Iredell came from seniors Barry Zimmerman and Devin Speas.



Speas

Both have seen the lean times, especially last season when the team hardly ever scored.

Not anymore. With nine seniors on this year's team, the West Iredell win served notice to the War Eagles' 1993 opponents.

Davie County can score.

The victory was a rousing beginning to what coach Pete Gustafson hopes is the school's most successful boys season ever. And once Speas scored the first goal at 24:00, the rout was on.

"It took a long time to score," he said, "but when we got that first one, it was bing, bing, bing. We relaxed and worked on finishing."

That's exactly what Gustafson expected, considering the veterans on this team.

"We had four high-quality goals," he said, "that didn't happen by chance. They were planned, executed and finished."

Speas Starts It

When Mark Stephens assisted Speas for the first goal, it broke the ice. Speas sent a 25-yarder at an angle into the net.

Fifteen seconds later, Davie had scored again when sophomore Erik Crutchfield scored on an assist from Speas.

At the 28-minute mark, it was Crutchfield again on a cross from Dan Callahan.

Crutchfield couldn't be stopped. Eleven minutes later, Joseph Ashburn sent him a pass that he scored on for a 4-1 halftime advantage.

"Two of Erik's goals were just being in the right place at the right time," Gustafson said.

Crutchfield's third score was the most outstanding. After watching the keeper leave the net, he blasted between the goalie and the ball and sent it in.

"It was the prettiest, hustling goal I've seen in a long time," Gustafson praised.

Zimmerman added the fifth goal at 45:00 when he chipped the ball 35 yards past the goalie.

Ted Boland received a pass from Callahan and with his chest, rammed it home for a 6-1 lead.

Scott To Play For Elizabeth City

Brandon Scott may be continuing his basketball career after all.

Scott, who graduated last year from Davie High School, will attend Elizabeth City State University. He had sent film to the coach there, who apparently liked what he saw, according to Charles Crenshaw, who coached Scott at Davie.

Scott

Scott was asked to walk on and was told there may be money for him in the future.

Scott, a 6-3 small forward, has been working on his game during the summer, according to Crenshaw.

"He's worked on his ballhandling," said Crenshaw. "He had several double figure games for us last year. He ran the floor as well as anyone we had.

"He has a lot of athletic ability. The only thing he lacks is experience. The potential is there to get better."

Padding The Average

It was a strange kicking night for Davie punter Matt Sain in the War Eagles' 20-13 victory over North Iredell.

He began his career with a 33-yard punt. Then, punting from the endzone, he was rushed heavily after a bad snap. He raced out of the endzone and got a kick off that went for only a net three yards.

He followed that with punts of 16 and 33 yards.

On the game's last play, with the clock running down and Davie nurturing a seven-point lead, he needed a good kick from his own 45.

It was his best effort of the night, booming the ball 50 yards to the North Iredell five as the game ended.

The roller coaster ride left Sain with five punts for an average of 27 yards.

CPC Report

The new Central Piedmont Conference lost only two of its seven games in the opening week — one that was totally expected and one that wasn't.

League favorite West Forsyth lost to Carver for the first time ever, 7-0. South Stokes, meanwhile, fell 33-0 to Eden Morehead.

Winners included Davie, North Davidson 31-8 over West Davidson, South Rowan 49-0 over Northwest Cabarrus, Mount Tabor 26-21 over North Forsyth and Reynolds, 26-0 over Parkland.

Legion Report

Forbush and Starmount send players to Mocksville's Legion baseball team. Two of those players proved they aren't too bad in football, either.

In Forbush's Endowment Game, David Vogler caught two touchdown passes in a 15-0 win over West Henderson.

Russ Pardue caught two scoring passes as well, but Starmount fell to North Surry, 19-18.

USA Today

Two CPC players were chosen as top players in North Carolina in USA Today last week.

Back Jomo Legins of Reynolds and kicker Jamie Peele of North Davidson were listed.

Soccer Winners

Davie County had plenty of company in soccer after the first week of CPC action.

Every team in the league was undefeated. Mount Tabor was 2-0, while Davie, North Davidson, Reynolds and West Forsyth were all 1-0. South Stokes and South Rowan had 0-0 records.

Biggest Couch

This year's Central Piedmont Conference award for the most intimidating assistant coach may go to North Davidson's Tom Kleinline, a four-year starting lineman for Wake Forest University.

Kleinline, in his first year of coaching, stands 6-6, 275.

How Big Is Davie?

Davie County's student enrollment of 978 ranks it 54th among 87 4-A schools. West Charlotte is the largest school with 1,670; followed by Richmond County with 1,620.

bunch."

Going back to two season-ending victories in 1992, Davie has now won three games in a row, the first time since 1987.

"Four in a row, if you count the Endowment Game," Ward said with a smile.

Another Close One

Neither coach was surprised by the seven-point difference. It was the fourth consecutive year the game has been decided by a touchdown or less and the third straight season the visiting team won.

Defense set up the game's first score. Todd Corvin pounced on a fumble late in the first quarter at the North 30. On the first play from scrimmage, Cuthrell, who didn't start, took a handoff from Neil Cornatzer and sailed into the endzone. Marnic Lewis' extra point made it 7-0.

The second quarter saw both teams take turns missing field goals. North missed from 31 and 29 yards while Lewis misfired from 32 yards, negating a 12-play, 67-yard drive.

Despite the sweltering heat, Davie's defensive players corralled Raider tailback John Jackson, arguably the Foothills Conference's top runner. North's stable of speedsters were never able to duplicate Cuthrell and break a long run.

Cuthrell

Vaughters

"We worked on stopping (Jackson) all week," said linebacker Michael Agrillo. "We keyed on him and stopped him pretty well."

The heat didn't wear down Davie's defense, either.

"It was pretty rough during warmups but once the game started, you don't worry about the temperature," Agrillo said.

Second Half Sprints

Davie's defense didn't allow North to tie the game in the third quarter. The offense did.

Cornater's fumble was picked up by Brad Cone on the Davie 26 early in the third period. He stumbled five yards before regaining his balance and tying the score.

"We had our heads down," said Corvin. "But the captains got everybody back together."

North missed a golden opportunity after forcing a punt from Davie's endzone to begin the fourth period.

Matt Sain's kick went to the 37 and the Raiders marched to the 16. But Kyle Duncan smashed quarterback Ed Wright to the ground for a five-yard loss and North missed its third field goal, this one from 39 yards.

"That was a big play by Kyle," said Ward. "He ran hit as hard as anybody we've got."

The big defensive hit spurred on the War Eagle offense, which had done nothing in the second half. Cuthrell ran for seven yards to the North 27 on first down and then got around the end. He tiptoed down the sidelines 73 yards for a 14-7 advantage with 7:29 remaining.

"They were stacking the middle because Jared (Eure) was running hard inside," Ward explained. "They had to respect that so we ran the option with Ham."

It was Davie's initial first down of the second half.

"We don't know how to ready ourselves for a runner like him," said Love. "He has exceptional speed."

After Mark Mason forced a fumble by Cokey Williams that Josh Ward recovered, Love had an opportunity to see the third member of Davie's backfield strut his stuff. Jonathan Vaughters, a 195-pound junior, plowed past a block by Steve Moore and was gone on a 48-yard scoring jaunt, putting the game away. Davie led 20-7 with 4:27 left.

"Moore told me he was going to open a hole," said Vaughters afterward. "I knew I had it as soon as I touched the ball. Moore blasted that dude over and there was a big hole. I stiff-armed somebody and I was gone."

Love wasn't pleased.

"We're quick to give up," he said. "The last touchdown is a fine example of that. We're sitting with a third-and-12 situation and in my opinion, we were looking for a place to lay down."

Jackson moved to quarterback and immediately tossed a long touchdown strike to Tyrone Barber. But the Raiders ran out of time-outs and clock.

"This sets the mode and gives us momentum," said Ward. "The guys will come to practice Monday and be happy. We just want to keep this going."

Cuthrell Off To Fast Start

Hamilton Cuthrell couldn't have asked for a better start to his senior football season.

The Central Piedmont Conference's top sprinter did just that — sprint his way to touchdown runs of 73 and 30 yards. He finished with 158 yards rushing, the highest total since the days of Reggie Sales four years ago.

Josh Ward put his name in two different categories. He caught a pass and recovered a fumble.

Davie was still clinging to its four-point lead when Clement went untouched 64 yards with 7:10 remaining in the game to seal it.

"It was a typical first game for young guys on the high school level," Ward said. "But I was pleased with the enthusiasm. We made mistakes but they were half-time mistakes. The kids are learning."

Davie is now 1-0.

Clement got his yardage on only 16 carries, an average of 16 yards per try.

Sam Griffin and Derek Foster drew praise from their performance on the offensive line while Paul Keeton was praised for his defensive effort.

With sophomore Neil Cornatzer being brought up to the varsity, freshman Andy Ward started at quarterback. He was 2-for-3 for 13 yards. Josh Nail and Jason Murphy were on the receiving end of his completions.

The jayvees are home again Thursday against Salisbury.

Eric Prim then scored the final goal when he dribbled through the stopper and sweeper for an easy goal.

"That was just skilled ballhandling," an elated Gustafson said.

"Our midfielders, Ashburn, Brent Ward and Callahan, were serving wide balls to the open space," he continued. "What a change instead of forcing it up the middle. It was really happening. What we've worked on in practice paid off — but it has to continue."

Don't Forget The Defense

Defense had Gustafson just as thrilled.

"Ben Forrest and Scott Tutterow did a great job in goal," he said. "Ben made saves twice. I'm real excited about our goalies. I think they're both all-conference."

Also being praised on defense were Ben Edwards, Jonathan Dixon and Matt Young.

"West Iredell was better than I thought they'd be," said Gustafson. "They have a new coach who'll have an impact on that team.

"But we reached our objective. We played very well."

Notes:

- Davie is 1-0.
- Davie outshot West, 26-12.
- The jayvees have yet to play.
- Davie was scheduled to be home Wednesday night at 7 p.m. against West Rowan. It's next match will be Sept. 7 at home against West Iredell.

Dove Season Will Begin Sept. 4

Wildlife

RALEIGH -- Novice and experienced dove hunters alike can learn more about their sport by heeding a few words of advice from Capt. Terry Waterfield of the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission.

The first segment of the three-way split season opens at noon Sept. 4 and closes at sundown Oct. 2. Hunting begins at noon each day of the first season and will be allowed from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset during the second and third segments. Second segment is Nov. 22-27 and the final segment opens Dec. 13, closes at sundown on Jan. 15. Daily bag limit is 12, possession limit is 24.

Waterfield, who lives in Elizabeth City, not only is the supervising enforcement officer for Wildlife District I, he also is an experienced hunter.

The veteran officer and hunter advises all hunters to check their shotguns closely before heading into their fields. He urges hunters to make sure guns are in proper condition and that autoloaders and pump guns will hold no more than three shells, most allowed under state and federal law for dove hunting and waterfowl hunting.

"This is really important," Waterfield said. "Your shotgun not only needs to be in good working order, but for dove hunting it can't legally hold more than three shells. People sometimes get in trouble without thinking because they may have hunted deer or other game where more shells are allowed. Make sure your guns won't hold more than three shells. This may save some embarrassment if you are checked in the field by an enforcement officer."

Waterfield also advises all hunters to shoot at least one or two boxes of shells at flying targets prior to going into the field. These can be hand-thrown targets, skeet or trap targets or sporting clays. Most hunters haven't fired their shotguns since last dove season or waterfowl season so a bit of practice will help, he said.

"More importantly, let me tell you how to be a better hunter, take more doves with less shells, and not cripple birds," he said. "Don't be making very long, almost impossible shots. Be patient, wait for the doves to get within 25 yards to 30 yards. That makes a lot of difference. You see people killing one or two birds with two or three boxes of shells and you know they are trying to shoot birds that are out of range."

Safety is more important than taking doves, and Waterfield advises that hunters be conscious of the direction of the muzzle of the gun at all times. Gun safety begins before the hunt, continues when hunting ends. Loaded guns should never be placed in vehicles.

"And don't shoot at low flying birds, make sure they are high enough that you are not going to endanger another hunter or a farm animal and don't shoot in the direction of houses or outbuildings," Waterfield said. "Also, keep your safety on until you are ready to pull the trigger. Always respect the property of the landowner and be sure to obtain permission before hunting."

Rowan Schools Happily Take Davie County Back

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Rowan County is welcoming two Davie County junior highs back to its athletic conference — apparently with open arms.

North and South Davie will rejoin seven of their former opponents in the new Piedmont Middle School Conference, along with Mooresville and three teams from Cabarrus County.

When Davie asked for reinstatement last season, the league members voted 8-3 to accept the schools. The three dissenting votes came from Cabarrus County schools while all seven Rowan athletic directors and Mooresville voted them back in.

League president Van Miller of Knox seemed happy with the reunion.

"Knox, particularly, has had a good experience against Davie County," the athletic director and wrestling coach said. "They're as close to us as Cabarrus."

Miller went to school with North athletic director Ron Kirk.

"He's the only wrestling coach I haven't beaten," he laughed.

Lasting friendships were also a reason to reinstate Davie schools, which were traveling to a league with teams in Davidson, Guilford and Randolph counties.

"I've always gotten along with Charles Crenshaw, Sam Beck, Rick Hendrix and other coaches," said Miller. "We've known each other for a long time. Their conference is breaking up and we didn't want to leave them shut out.

"I think these schools will be real competitive. We're all similar in makeup and it will also cut down on transportation."

Crenshaw, Kirk Happy

Both Kirk and Crenshaw, South's athletic director, saw the same benefits in joining the league, which was the Tri-County Conference before the Davie schools came.

"We won't have to bum around to find games," said Crenshaw. "And now, we can renew old friendships and build new ones."

The PMS Conference will give Davie a new team. Before, the schools combined their seventh and eighth graders to form one team. Now, each grade will have its own.

Also, North and South will be put in divisions, with seven teams in one and six in the other. North and South will alternate divisions each year.

"It's good that we have a seventh grade team in football and basketball," Crenshaw said. "It will take a year or two to get the seventh graders going but they'll feel like they have a better chance to play."

Kirk is certainly happy joining the Rowan schools again. The former North Rowan High School star will see some familiar faces.

"I know a lot of the guys in Rowan County," he said. "I like going to Rowan better than High Point or Asheboro. And the travel time is better."

Whitlock, Tigers Prepare For Tougher Conference

Beginning his seventh season coaching football at South Davie Junior High, Barry Whitlock is all for his teams entering a new conference.

But he knows the Piedmont Middle School Conference will be much harder than the North Piedmont league he just left.

"We're in a tough conference," he said. "With Kannapolis, two Concord schools, Northwest Cabarrus, Mooresville ... it will be difficult for the seventh graders. It will also be difficult for the eighth graders who didn't play as seventh graders."

For the first time, South opens the season with a seventh grade team — and an eighth grade squad:

- The seventh graders were scheduled to host North Davie Wednesday, Sept. 8.
- The eighth graders were to play at North, Thursday, Sept. 9.

Youth League Players

Several of Whitlock's eighth graders played in the Davie Youth League last year. And while he'll be counting on players like quarterback Ryan O'Neal, he knows they're in for a wake-up call.

"It's a different atmosphere," he said. "They'll be starting out like seventh graders. It would've helped them playing here as seventh graders but at least they got to play."

O'Neal, along with running backs J.J. Rice and Shanta Frazier, led Cooleemee to an undefeated season last year. Now, they'll join Whitlock as he tries to build a seventh grade team and an eighth grade team.

Of his returning bunch, he said tight end Jonathan Creason and back Nathan Joyce lead the way.

Joel Crotts, who broke his arm and missed much of the season, is back to anchor the line.

South have 19 eighth graders and 17 seventh, which is about what Whitlock expected.

With two teams, games are scheduled on the same day, making it tough on the coaches. Whitlock still hasn't finalized his schedule as he tries to switch games to another day.

"It takes away from the kids because all of our coaches won't be there together," he said. "With all of our coaches at one game, instead of split up, we can give them more help. It's good for the seventh graders to get a chance to watch the eighth graders and the eighth graders to watch the seventh. But some schools wouldn't change."

Whitlock will have three assistant coaches: Grimes Parker, Ray Whitaker and Bobby Wall.

Parker is a long-time coach in Davie County, who coached South's freshman team before Whitlock arrived.

Whitaker is a former offensive line starter at Catawba College. He is in his first year, teaching math and science.

Wall is a long-time youth league coach who will serve as a volunteer.

"Bobby knows a lot of these kids," said Whitlock.

Kirk Glad 7th Graders Are Finally With Him

North Davie's football coach and athletic director Ron Kirk is excited for many reasons about joining Rowan County again in the Piedmont Middle School Conference. He is rejoining friends he has made over the years. He went to high school in Rowan County.

But perhaps more than anything, he is happy to have seventh graders finally playing for his school.

Kirk never liked having kids at his school playing in the Davie Youth League, where until this season, they were still eligible for little league. But now, North will have a seventh grade team and an eighth grade team. The seventh graders are finally staying home.

"I like having a seventh grade team," he said. "It gets kids involved here instead of playing little league."

Greeting Hunter

When North and South Davie were welcomed into the league, the youth league dropped its seventh graders, which left Kirk with players like speedster Thomas Hunter, who would have probably stayed down and played for Pinebrook without the changes.

Kirk welcomed 31 eighth graders and 21 seventh graders. He said he is expecting more seventh graders to come out.

"I was expecting 30 and 25," he said of the numbers.

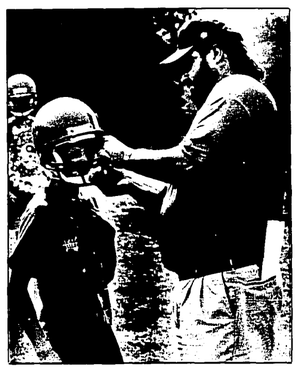
He likes what he sees so far. Returning is half of the offensive line back and some of the backs.

"We'll be pretty decent," he said. "We have several people back that didn't start."

Kirk has also done a good job of rescheduling, getting his two teams playing on opposite days. They were originally scheduled to play on the same day.

Kirk, whose combined 7-8 grade team went 4-3 last year, will coach the linebackers. He has four assistant coaches:

- Mike Dinkins will coach the backs.
- George Newman will be in charge of the line.
- Mark Sinopoli will coach the defensive secondary.
- Chris Callison will coach the receivers.



Coaching is not all Xs and Os. For North Davie's Ron Kirk, it also means fixing equipment.

A Successful Homecoming

Volleyball Team Hands Myers Win Over Alma Mater

HARRISBURG — When Sherrie Myers and her Davie County volleyball team marched into North Mecklenburg last week for a tri-match with North and South Mecklenburg, it was more than just volleyball.

It was a homecoming.

Myers, the former North Meck star, returned to the site of some of her greatest athletic achievements. But what she accomplished last week was much more satisfying than when she played.

"I wanted to show off my players to my former coaches," she said.

Davie did show off, defeating South Meck, 15-8, 3-15, 15-2 and edging Myers' alma mater, 11-15, 16-14, 15-12.

In another match, Davie squashed Statesville, 15-4, 15-8, 15-8.

Winning In Charlotte

Going to Charlotte was something Myers had been looking forward to.

"It was very, very emotional," she said. "I had been anticipating going all week. And the girls were excited. They wanted to see where I played. And I wanted my old coaches to be proud of me."

Everything was accomplished, although Davie did struggle with North, losing the first game.

"We just didn't call the ball well," Myers said. "But we were never out of it. I figured we could come back to win."

Davie trailed in the second game 14-13 before Shannon Umberger served three straight winners.

"Her serving is much better than last year," Myers said. "We're all better."

Davie was in control of the third game, winning by three.

"We were tremendous at the net," Myers praised. "We made fewer errors and stepped up our game."

Maria Newsome, at 6-3, dominated with four blocks, three kills and three aces. Tracie Sechrest had three kills and one ace. Jonette Williard had two kills, one ace and one block. Umberger finished with one kill, one block and one dig.

"North Meck already had four matches under their belt," said Myers.

"Jonette has fit into the puzzle nicely," said Myers. "She's our defensive specialist. She's done an incredible job. It's nice to see a sophomore step up."

Myers thinks this year's seniors are going to carry Davie over the top. Three — Sechrest, Umberger and Tracy Robbins — are in the starting lineup, along with sophomores Williard and Laura Moyer and Newsome, a junior.

"Tracie is on fire," Myers said. "The seniors want to go undefeated. They're on a mission. And to be at this level this early, I can't complain."

Notes:

- Davie is 3-0.
- Davie was to travel to Statesville Thursday for a 4 p.m. match. The War Eagles won't play again until Sept. 7 when they host West Iredell.

Statesville JVs Defeat Davie, 15-5, 5-15, 15-9

The Davie County jayvee volleyball team couldn't follow the path of the varsity last week, losing its first match to Statesville, 5-15, 15-5, 9-15.

Coach Laddin Lakey started Kelly Robertson, Beverly Coulston, Melanie McDowell, Page Steed, Amanda Hendrix and Magan Hendrix. McDowell sprained her ankle and is out of action.

"They saw what it's really like to play high school volleyball," said varsity coach Sherrie Myers. "It was a real eye-opener for them. But they're learning. They're a lot further along than I thought they'd be."

The Contest Winners

Butero, Jackson Win Bucks, Sports Editor Wins Nothing

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

My goodness, the sports editor never expected the overwhelming number of football contest entries in the first week of play. In the past, the first week usually has the least amount and it grows as the season goes.

Not this year. Apparently, everyone wants to beat the sports editor.

Well, you're going to have to wait. I tied for first place with only three losses in a contest filled with nothing but high school games.

Of course, I don't get any money. The publisher won't allow it. Just look at my paycheck (just kidding, boss).

The sports editor noticed plenty of new names, including one Yankee. Well, actually, he was from Pfafftown. That's north of here, right?

And there were the loyal names that we've come to love: Lillian "Gish" Sidden, Bryan Davis "Rules," Leon "The Man From" Ladd, Mo "Knows" Dobson, Doris "Indiana" Hauser and "Handy Dandy" Randy Thompson, the greatest runnerup in the history of the contest.

The football contest is kind of like a family reunion. We all know each other through this contest and we see each other once a year — during football season.

And three of our most loyal family members tied for first place with three misses: Kim "Stonewall" Jackson, "Mmm" Vernon Thompson and "Big Bad" John Butero.

We went to the tiebreaker: Davie's 20-13 win over North Iredell.

Butero predicted 37 points, which was closer than Jackson's 27. Butero takes home $25 and Jackson the whopping $10.

And the sports editor? He gets a pat on the back from the publisher.

The Awards:

The "Expert" Award: To Dillard Moody "Blues" and "Wild" Bill Serfass, the only entries to correctly predict the outcome of the first three games.

The "Bad Start" Award: To S.B. Sidden "On The Dock Of The Bay," the only entry to miss the first four games.

The "Oops" Award: To Kenneth Smith "And Wesson," "Wild" Bill Serfass and Brad "Soup" Lagle, the only entries to choose West Davidson over North Davidson.

The "Clunk In The Clutch" Award: To Donald J. Tucker, who had only one wrong answer until missing 3 of the last 4 games.

The "Earth To S.B." Award: To Sidden, the only entry to choose Kansas over number one Florida State. You know, S.B. is really making a name for himself in this first week. Why stop now?

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: To (who else?) S.B. Sidden, who missed 11 of 18. Ouch!

The Record
First Week: 15-3
Season Total: 15-3

To tie three veteran and wise prognosticators like Butero, Jackson and Thompson makes my day. Let's do it again, boys.

This Week's Games

Vanderbilt at Wake Forest: Wait until you see this Rusty Larue throw. Wake Forest by 10.

Stanford at Washington: The Huskies play like they're on probation. Stanford by 14.

Denver at NY Jets: I want to pick the home team but ... nah. Denver by 5.

NY Giants at Chicago: I never go against da Bears at home. Chicago by 7.

Seattle at San Diego: Were Chargers a fluke last year? No. San Diego by 9.

Tiebreaker Game: Colorado 21, Texas 17.

Other Winners:

N.C. State, Virginia, Kansas, UCLA, Detroit, Cleveland, Kansas City, Green Bay, Miami, Buffalo, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Minnesota.

This Week's Winners:
First Place: $25
John Butero (won tiebreaker)
Second Place: $10
Kim Jackson

THE HARMON NFL FORECAST - SUNDAY AND MONDAY, SEPT. 5-6

*BUFFALO.....31 NEW ENGLAND.....13

Buffalo has won five straight season openers and three AFC titles in a row, but the Pats' new coach, Bill Parcells, may fire them up enough to keep it close. Bills won both '92 matchups.

*CHICAGO.....24 N.Y. GIANTS.....21

More new coaches: Dave Wannstedt takes over in Chicago and Dan Reeves in N.Y. The Bears and Giants have been trading wins since 1987, and it's Chicago's turn, though it's a near-toss-up.

*CLEVELAND.....21 CINCINNATI.....16

The Browns and Bengals spent the 1992 season locking up from the bottom of the AFC Central, but at least they gave each other sore competitions. Each won this matchup in their home stadium.

DENVER.....28 *N.Y. JETS.....25

No longer butting heads with Dan Reeves, John Elway finally may help the Broncos beat loose. Boomer Esiason has an uphill fight to make the Jets winners. Denver won last year, 27-16.

*DETROIT.....20 ATLANTA.....18

The Lions have beaten the Falcons the last four times they've played, but, then again, Detroit has lost its last four season openers. Lucky Atlanta has one of the NFL's toughest schedules.

*GREEN BAY.....27 L.A. RAMS.....19

On their way to a respectable 9-7 record in the NFC Central last year, the Packers beat the Rams 28-13. L.A. coach Chuck Knox needs help on a defense that led the NFC in first downs allowed.

KANSAS CITY.....30 *TAMPA BAY.....14

Quick, which team will be the sentimental favorite to win another Super Bowl for a certain legendary quarterback? That's making too much, but hey, K.C. was good before Joe Montana arrived.

MIAMI.....32 *INDIANAPOLIS.....17

The Colts pulled off a 31-20 upset in Miami last season—and then Miami returned the favor in Indianapolis, 28-0. Seven wins will make Don Shula the winningest coach in NFL history.

MINNESOTA.....28 *L.A. RAIDERS.....21

These two teams have not every three years since 1970, and the Raiders have won four of those five games. Jim McMahon might make a perfect Raider, but will he work as a Viking?

*NEW ORLEANS.....26 HOUSTON.....22

Having spent eight months stewing over their stunning overtime loss to Buffalo in the AFC wildcard playoffs, the Oilers will be out for blood, but the Saints at home are the better team.

*PHILADELPHIA.....29 PHOENIX.....16

Philadelphia got as far as the NFC divisional playoffs last season before losing to Dallas, and along the way the Eagles beat the hapless Cardinals twice, 31-14 and, in a defensive fight, 7-3.

*SAN DIEGO.....33 SEATTLE.....10

Before the Chargers got stomped by Miami in the second round of the '92 AFC playoffs, they looked nearly unstoppable. West collar dweller Seattle was being a victim, 17-6 and 31-14.

SAN FRANCISCO.....27 *PITTSBURGH.....24

This shapes up as a great game, between the NFL's best regular-season team in '92 (S.F.) and one that's still exploring its potential (Pittsburgh). They last met in '90, the 49ers winning 27-7.

(Monday)

DALLAS.....31 *WASHINGTON.....26

Make no mistake: The Redskins were better than their 9-7 record indicated last year, splitting their two games with the Cowboys, but Jimmy Johnson simply will not allow Dallas to let up.

Seat Belts Prevent Injuries

No highway deaths during Labor Day weekend.

That's the goal for North Carolina's roadways from 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 3, to midnight on Monday, Sept. 6 (Labor Day).

Gov. Jim Hunt urged Labor Day travelers to buckle up.

"Our goal is zero traffic fatalities on North Carolina roads during the Labor Day weekend," Hunt said. "I think we can reach that goal if people will just use their seat belts when they get into their cars."

The number of highway deaths has steadily decreased during labor Day for the last five years. In 1992, highway crashes on Labor Day weekend killed five people. In 1991, 12 people died in highway fatalities during the holiday weekend.

While traffic fatalities have decreased, the number of people injured has increased. In 1992, 1,266 people were injured on North Carolina highways during Labor Day weekend as compared to 974 in 1991.

The number of traffic crashes also increased from 1991 to 1992. In 1992, 1,495 highway collisions were reported during the Labor Day weekend. In 1991, 1,109 vehicles crashed on North Carolina roads during the holiday weekend.

"While the number of crashes and injuries has increased, we're seeing fewer deaths," said Joe Parker, Director of the Governor's Highway Safety Program. "This shows that seat belts and air bags are doing their job in protecting people on our roads. Although we still want to reduce the number of collisions, one of the best ways to prevent deaths or serious injuries when involved in a crash is to wear a safety belt."

Studies have shown that lap and shoulder safety belts reduce the risk of fatal injury to front seat vehicle occupants as much as 45 percent. The risk of moderate to critical injuries is reduced by 50 percent.

"North Carolina's seat belt use rate is about 65 percent," Parker said.

Warm Weather To Continue

The weather should continue with the warm trend through the Labor Day weekend, according to the National Weather Service.

There will be a chance of showers and thundershowers each day under partly cloudy skies, with high temperatures in the upper 80s and lows near 70.

Seven Common Siding Problems

Wood composite siding and other wood-based siding materials have been used extensively for residential construction throughout the United States for decades. Wood products represent affordable cladding material that has allowed the price of homes to be within reach of many market segments. When these products are properly installed and finished by a qualified builder or installer, and receive normal homeowner maintenance, they will perform as designed and look great for many years.

Many reported problems concerning wood-based siding are not caused by the product itself, but can be traced to Seven Common Errors of Wood-Based Siding Application. By avoiding these pitfalls, builders and installers can prevent costly call backs, homeowner complaints and wasted time.

Builders and siding installers can avoid the Seven Common Errors of Wood-Based Siding Application by following manufacturer's installation guidelines and paying special attention to these areas:

1. Flashing—Properly installing simple metal flashing over windows, doors and other horizontal surfaces prevents water from penetrating the exterior wall of the home.
2. Caulking—All gaps around doors, windows and other wall openings should be filled with a long-life caulk as a barrier against water entry.
3. Painting—Two coats of high quality, low- or no-chalking acrylic latex paint will protect the siding from the weather. It is particularly important that paint is properly applied to the bottom edge as well as the face of the siding.
4. Roof/Wall Detail—A two-inch clearance should be left between the roof and siding where the roof abuts a vertical wall, and the gap should be flashed to divert rain water.
5. Concrete Contact—An air space or vapor retardant membrane must be kept between wood or wood composite siding and masonry to prevent deterioration of the siding. Siding must not come in direct contact with masonry.
6. Grade Clearance—Maintaining a minimum six-inch clearance between the siding and finished landscape grade, will protect the siding.
7. Rain Gutters—According to HUD Minimum Property Standards, rain gutters must be installed on any single story home with less than 12 inch overhang.

These installation guidelines must be followed up by periodic homeowner maintenance. Masonite Building Products Group has developed a booklet covering homeowner maintenance. To receive your copy, write to: Siding Care Kit, c/o Masonite Customer Service, Department F, P.O. Box 4032, Monroe, Louisiana 71211.

Cracks Add Up To Big Air Leaks

When this winter's high heating bills hit home, you may be surprised to know that cold air may be leaking in (or warm air out) through a hole in your wall as large as a medium-size TV screen.

That mysterious hole adds up from all the cracks that may exist around the frames of your old windows. For example, a one-sixteenth inch wide crack around a standard 3-foot by 5-foot window adds up to 12 square inches (a hole about the size of a brick) for each window. If you have, say 15 such windows in your home, there's your TV-size hole.

Air leakage around the perimeter of windows and doors is known as "infiltration", and it can add a significant spin to your utility meter.

Caulking can help, but if your windows are too old, warped or loose-fitting, replacing them with new, thermally-efficient aluminum windows may be the best answer — and an investment that will soon pay for itself from energy savings.

Most homeowners know that double-glazed or double-pane glass helps save energy, but it's only part of the story. The frames must be tight-fitting to minimize air leakage and must be made to stay tight-fitting over years of assault by wet weather and excessive heat. That's where aluminum shines!

Aluminum is "dimensionally stable", meaning it won't change shape over time by warping, rotting, bending or softening like other materials. Gaps and leaks simply don't have a chance to form. And, aluminum frames with insulating thermal barrier frames minimize heat loss due to conduction.

Mocksville Studying Cable TV Options

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Cable television services can now come under federal guidelines, but an industry executive told Davie officials recently the option could cause more problems than it would solve.

Ron Kam, Friendship Cable Southeast vice president, spoke to a joint meeting of county commissioners and Mocksville and Cooleemee town board members.

Friendship Cable has approximately 4,500 subscribers in Davie County.

"We don't want the federal government involved," Kam said. "We don't think they can be as sensitive to the desires of the community."

The new Cable Consumer Protection Act gives local governments the right to apply for certification with the FCC. When granted, it would give them some control over rates charged to customers.

The law would cause the local governments to lose franchise fees, as well as cause legal problems figuring out the FCC guidelines. "We feel like we have a local relationship. That gets voided when it gets so highly structured."

Kam urged the boards not to apply for certification, saying Friendship would try to do everything that would allow without going through the federal red tape. Among those offers was a promise not to raise rates without permission of local authorities. If that didn't work, the local governments (Mocksville and Davie County) could apply for FCC certification at any time in the future, he said.

"Your constituency thinks you're going to solve every single problem they'll ever have with cable television," Kam said.

"We appreciate our relationship with the people in this community. Look at both sides of the coin. See what you'll give up and what it's going to cost you," he said.

That's exactly what Mocksville plans to do, said Town Manager Terry Bralley. "It's not as simple as it looks. It's complicated," he said. "I would caution us to take time and study the issue and look at ways we can make it better."

Mocksville has set up a committee to study the possibility of FCC certification for cable TV services.

Lowes Closing Local Store

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Since she started work 19 years ago in the deli of Lowes Foods on Mumford Drive, Edith Beck heard rumors that the store might close.

A couple of weeks ago the rumors turned to truth.

Lowes officials have decided to close the 23-year-old store sometime in the next month, store manager Joe Shermer said.

"It's been rumored that the store would close ever since I went to work there, so I got immune to it," Beck said.

Employees like Beck will be offered work at either the Clemmons or Yadkinville stores.

But what will become of the building is not known.

Shermer said the store had faced steady declining sales, even before Food Fair opened its new store in town late last year. As Mocksville grew, Shermer said, the store lost business because it was no longer located on a main road through town.

The store's 15 full and part-time employees will be offered work elsewhere, he said.

Shermer said there he has not yet received a date to close the store, but he expects to close during the next month. He said the store would have a going out of business sale.

Lowes operates 50 stores in North Carolina and Virginia. The Mocksville store is one of the smaller stores in the chain.

The closing will disappoint many long-time customers, Beck said. And will be a change from her work routine of 19 years.

Instead of driving seven miles from home, Beck will commute out of town.

"It'll still be Lowes, just not Mocksville."

Vehicle Death Case Dropped By Grand Jury

A grand jury has dropped the case against an Advance man accused of hit and run in the death of Michael Shannon Wensil of Cooleemee in April.

Michael Wayne Bailey, 22, of Route 2, Advance, will not face charges of felony hit and run after a Davie County Grand Jury dropped the case Tuesday. Bailey's car struck Wensil on U.S. 64 near Dutchman's Creek April 9. According to a report by Highway Patrol Trooper W.D. Grooms, Wensil was standing in the road when he was struck by Bailey's 1991 Honda between 1 and 2 a.m.

Bailey was charged with felony hit and run and misdemeanor death by vehicle after investigating officers determined that he should have known that his vehicle struck Wensil. Those charges were brought more than two weeks after the accident.

Officials Won't Talk About Drug Bust In Davie

Law enforcement agencies are keeping a tight lid on an apparent drug bust at Lake Myers Campground almost two weeks ago.

Davie Sheriff Bill Wooten did little more than acknowledge that several law enforcement agencies were involved. He referred questions to the SBI's Joe Momier. Momier refused to comment.

According to unofficial reports, just under 300 pounds of marijuana was confiscated, as well as camping related equipment. Two people were taken into custody.

Apparently, the suspects had brought the marijuana to the campground in an effort to hide. Wooten said the campground was the second choice for the suspects, that they had moved the drugs there from another county.

The investigation not only involves several agencies; it involves several states, Wooten said.

Momier said releasing information on the case could jeopardize further arrests.

Buckle Up: Officers To Check Seat Belts

Buckle up.

You've heard the message for years. If you hadn't taken notice, now is the time.

During the next month, local law enforcement agencies are joining forces to check area motorists' seat belt use.

"Some people say it's not comfortable, but that's a minor issue if it saves your life," said Davie Sheriff Bill Wooten. "I realize the seat belt law is good. I've worn them for 36 years and still wear them."

The sheriff's department, Mocksville police and N.C. Highway Patrol will participate in the traffic stops.

Wooten said they while his officers will help with this project, they will not begin stopping motorists for seat belt violations.

"We'll write people citations for not wearing a seat belt at a checking station, but we don't want to become a traffic agency. We've got too many other things to do," he said.

The checkpoints will be held across the county, with a goal of 80 percent compliance with the law. Pamphlets will be available to give to motorists, Wooten said.

"If you get an 80 percent compliance with people wearing seat belts, you'll have a big reduction in injuries."

Cowboy Games No Longer Cool In Modern Days

Kids are different these days. They think about different things. Their imaginations don't play with the same thoughts and ideas I toyed with.

That sank in Sunday when I took the boys to Tweetsie Railroad at Boone.

Tweetsie is one of those timeless tourist attractions. It's basically the same show today that it was 35 years ago when I saw it as a boy.

The cowboys and Indians fight the same fight. The steam engine chugs and whistles along the same track.

Maybe I have slipped as a parent. Maybe Robert's just 2 and shouldn't understand these things. But he didn't grasp the cowboys and Indians at all.

He watched them shoot at each other.

He watched them throw the tomahawks.

He watched the Indians scream their war whoops.

And he asked me what they were doing ... Are they mad?

There aren't any cowboy and Indian television cartoons these days. The cartoons run heavy on monsters, imaginary creatures and ghosts and witches.

Cowboys and Indians aren't politically correct.

At Tweetsie, there is a coin-operated gunfight contest with a cowboy named Sam Reno. Drop in a quarter, and Sam Reno, a mean-talking gunslinger, challenges you to a shoot-out.

"When I say, 'Draw.' Draw!"

Robert had trouble understanding that. The only drawing he knew about was with a crayon.

I will have failed him as a father if I don't instruct him in the fine art of squaring off for a shoot out in the nature of Wyatt Earp at the OK Corral.

Sam Reno and Wyatt Earp and Kit Carson and Buffalo Bill Cody have been replaced. Modern day heroes for kids are Big Bird, Ernie and Bert, Cookie Monster, Grover and ... Barney the dinosaur.

Little boys don't sing the "Davey Crockett" theme song, they sing Barney's "I love you, you love me ..."

Maybe things are better. Our children are singing of love, not trying to shoot people with their cap busters. Play guns are frowned on as toys. Little boys don't wish for guns and holsters and chaps and cowboy boots the way they once did.

We have come so far.

Little boys don't have toy guns, but when they get bigger they carry Mom and Dad's real pistols to school. They shoot it out in real life, as recklessly disregarding the value of life as if they were using cap busters. Metal detectors are guard high schools and football games to make sure the big boys leave their weapons at home.

No, it's not the fault of Barney and Big Bird. It's a lot of things. Blame television. Newspapers. Blame abortions. We value life less. Everybody has an "attitude" these days. Cap busters have been replaced by laser stun guns.

But Tweetsie's still with us. As charming as ever. Full of imagination for boys and girls. And parents can see the steam locomotive and remember a slower, calmer time.

Volunteers Needed

To the editor:

On Aug. 22 in the Salisbury Post, the Ronnie Campbell family was featured in an article about the Zachary House.

We want to thank Emily Ford for a well-written article. However, we feel that there are others who are deserving of praise. Joe Link, Junior Link, Jim Rumley, Ed Nettles, Carl Jordan, the Tommy Daywalt family, Michael Carter and young Alan English have also done a lot of hard work.

Now, it's time for more Cooleemites to get involved. If you can sweep, scrape sand or paint, we need your help. Any amount of time you can help will be appreciated. Come to the Zachary House any evening after 7.

We believe that by preserving yesterday's history, we help build a better tomorrow.

A Nation Without A Conscience

To the editor:

My comments are in regard to Attorney General Janet Reno's recent question to the Greensboro students as to what "we" can do to help them.

Why are we now so alarmed at the crime in our schools and elsewhere? When a mind is not filled with good, there are no alternatives -- it will be filled with evil. It does not take degrees, nor even a degree, just a Christian perspective and good old common sense to see what is amiss.

Prayers, devotions, discipline, have been removed from the schools and other public places and yet we want to call ourselves a Christian nation, we want to think all will turn out for good and that we will produce a nation of law-abiding citizens. But God cannot be pushed aside and things work out for good in the homes, schools, or society. We cannot do what we want to do individually nor can we do what the world is telling us to do and be called God's people.

When one has no self-esteem or self-respect, it is just a law of life that he or she will have no respect for others nor for God and what is right.

We must get back to the Biblical fact that we are each made in God's image and are each of great worth. It is our respect for and obedience to God that gives us self-respect and respect for the worth of one another.

The answer by one student that an officer be placed in each school will not be the solution to our crime problem in the schools; but a change within, a change in one's self-worth, will make a change which will go beyond the bounds of the schools to produce law-abiding, responsible children and young people and untimately law-abiding, responsible adults.

Our nation is truly destroying Herself as She reaps daily the rewards of what She is sowing. All we need do to see what is happening to us is to pick up any given newspaper or turn on the TV. The degree of abuse both physical and sexual, the taking of life, immorality, corruption, to name a few of our problems, is astounding. We have become a nation without a conscience.

Let us cease fooling ourselves as a nation and stop treating the symptoms but begin to acknowledge and treat the cause of our crime problem.

Recycling Program An Example

To the editor:

This letter is in response to the Aug. 26 article titled, "Business Garbage Collection Cost May Rise." I read your paper on a regular basis and enjoy it very much. The article may have been misleading to most people as it was to me at first.

Yes, the recycling program is an added factor in the planning of the county budget. As a parent and grandparent, my reasons for recycling are very simple. I want very much to do my small part in the preservation of the environment for my children and grandchildren. I feel the article paints the recycling program as a major culprit in the garbage rate increases and I feel this is very unfair. Yes, the recycling program costs money to run and $300,000 is not exactly pocket change. I am always concerned at any increase in the cost of living as I am a senior citizen on a fixed income.

The people of Davie County should be made aware of the facts. The main culprit is the restrictions placed on all counties of North Carolina by the state concerning existing and future landfills. After either October or November of this year, Davie County can no longer place garbage in its landfill and must send it to Forsyth County. I hope that the decision to send our refuse to Forsyth doesn't pose a liability problem to Davie in the future.

I sincerely hope this article doesn't deter the good folks of Davie County from continuing their recycling efforts. We have been and I believe shall continue to be a shining example to the rest of the state of what a small county can do once it's set its mind to what some consider an all but impossible task. They say good news doesn't sell newspapers and maybe this is true, but I would like to see more positive press on such things as the recycling program here in Davie County.

Is There Really Be Such A Thing As 'Lite' Bologna?

Mike Barnhardt

Regardless of how you spell it, all this "light, lite" stuff is getting out of hand. Light or lite is the new buzzword among the food industry trying to cash in on the diet fad.

Lite, you would think, would mean that the food is good for you - or at least that it's a diet food.

Think again.

Don't be fooled by the lite fad.

I heard a fellow the other week telling me about getting stopped by a highway patrolman. He had drunk a few beers before driving (Is there such a thing as a "lite" bruin?) and the trooper asked him how much he had drank that night. "Five beers," he said, "but they were lite beers." He thought you could only get half as drunk on a lite beer. That lite actually means there's at least a millimeter fewer calories in the beer. I don't think calories make you drunk or keep you sober.

The way I understand it, to earn the term "light" or "lite," a food must have fewer calories in it than the original product.

Eating such foods don't mean you'll lose weight or be healthier.

How many times have you seen fat people drinking a diet cola? How many times you seen them using that diet cola to chase a candy bar? How many times have you heard them say they don't really like the diet cola they just drink them to make room for the candy bar?

How many times have you seen these fat people lose weight?

Don't get me wrong. There's nothing wrong with eating foods termed "light." Just don't think that puts you on a diet.

Personally, I drink diet or light soft drinks and beer. There's something about those diet additives that tingle my tastebuds.

I even eat diet bread, although there's nothing diet about the filling I put between two slices of bread. Usually, I have to put extra stuff between the bread to make up for the lack of flavor and texture (Diet bread has the texture of wet cardboard) found in diet bread. The whole wheat diet bread is the best. It not only feels like wet cardboard, it looks like it, too.

But there's some things that should never be considered as "light" foods.

Potato chips should never be a diet food. Light potato chips have less fat, less salt, less calories. Who cares? We eat potato chips for fat and salt and calories. If all you carrot eaters want to be healthy, chomp away, but leave our potato chips alone. You crunch your way, and we'll crunch ours.

Meats should never be a diet food. McDonald's even tried a diet hamburger. Do they still serve that thing?

The worst culprit of all is Oscar Mayer. They even advertise it. And to make it worse, they use an innocent little child to advertise it - "lite" bologna. How could bologna ("baloñie" to you home folks who flunked spelling) be a light food. This is the stuff made of all the parts of a cow and pig that can't be cut into real meat. High in fat. High in additives. High in everything you really don't want to know about, bologna, no matter if it does have fewer calories than the real stuff, doesn't deserve a "light" label.

All this light talk makes a fellow want to get a six-pack of the caffeine and sugar-rich Jolt Cola, a bag of the greasiest and saltiest potato chips ever made, lay back on a polyester covered sofa and watch Archie Bunker re-runs.

Have a light day.

What's Next, Commercial Sponsors For TV News?

Laura Williams-Tracy

The other afternoon I was passing through the living room as CNN blared from the T.V. A news clip that caught my ear made it apparent just how much commercialism has permeated our lives.

Some nit-wit delegate to the United Nations, it was reported, made the modest proposal that a good way to pay for all of the peace keeping missions around the world would be to allow corporations to sponsor the events.

It would be just like the Olympic Games. And you remember what it's like during the Olympics - every Tom, Dick and Harry company says on its commercial that it is an "Official Sponsor of the 1992 Olympics."

And we already have people buying acres of land the the South American rain forests in an effort to preserve them.

Next we'll be putting slogans on the side of the Space Shuttle as it boldly goes where no man has gone before.

But this U.N. thing is really sort of sick if you think about it.

Imagine some hard-hitting journalistic piece about the war in Bosnia. A soldier hiding in a bombed out building in Sarajevo wards off sniper fire as people below scurry in the streets. His shirt has a Burger King emblem on it that that says, "I love this place."

And talk about the cola wars. Pepsi and Coke could duke it out by posting their slogans on the side of tanks as they roll through Somalia.

Of course the T.V. cameramen would catch it all on the late-night news, temping all of us to get up out of the recliner and find something cool to drink.

At the end of the segment, a woman's pleasant voice would say something like, "Proud Sponsor of the Gulf War."

Military units in Ethopia could be sponsored by Hardees: "Are you ready for some real food?"

And somehow Michael Jordan would have to be in a commercial, considering that he's already in just about every one on T.V. now.

He could fly by in a U.N. heliocopter and yell down to soldiers aiming at their targets through a view finder: "Just Do It."

If the U.N. mission involves over-seas operations, I'm sure the cigarette companies will want to get involved. Joe Camel might look cool hanging out on a street corner in the Gaza Strip.

Toyota could be the official carrier of U.N. troops who would shout, "I love what you do for me," as their trucks plowed through enemy territory.

We haven't heard much more about this proposal from the U.N., and for good reason.

But be certain of one thing, if the enemy got too tough we could just send over some complimentary Taco Bell and give them all heartburn.

Victory Supreme.

Is There Really Be Such A Thing As 'Lite' Bologna?

Regardless of how you spell it, all this "light, lite" stuff is getting out of hand. Light or lite is the new buzzword among the food industry trying to cash in on the diet fad.

Lite, you would think, would mean that the food is good for you - or at least that it's a diet food.

Think again.

Don't be fooled by the lite fad.

I heard a fellow the other week telling me about getting stopped by a highway patrolman. He had drunk a few beers before driving (Is there such a thing as a "lite" brain?) and the trooper asked him how much he had drunk that night. "Five beers," he said, "but they were lite beers." He thought you could only get half as drunk on a lite beer. That lite actually means there's at least a millimeter fewer calories in the beer. I don't think calories make you drunk or keep you sober.

Mike Barnhardt

The way I understand it, to earn the term "light" or "lite," a food must have fewer calories in it than the original product.

Eating such foods don't mean you'll lose weight or be healthier.

How many times have you seen fat people drinking a diet cola? How many times you seen them using that diet cola to chase a candy bar? How many times have you heard them say they don' t really like the diet cola they just drink them to make room for the candy bar?

How many times have you seen these fat people lose weight?

Don't get me wrong. There's nothing wrong with eating foods termed "light." Just don't think that puts you on a diet.

Personally, I drink diet or light soft drinks and beer. There's something about those diet additives that tingle my tastebuds.

I even eat diet bread, although there's nothing diet about the filling I put between two slices of bread. Usually, I have to put extra stuff between the bread to make up for the lack of flavor and texture (Diet bread has the texture of wet eardboard) found in diet bread. The whole wheat diet bread is the best. It not only feels like wet cardboard, it looks like it, too.

But there's some things that should never be considered as "light" foods.

Potato chips should never be a diet food. Light potato chips have less fat, less salt, less calories. Who cares? We eat potato chips for fat and salt and calories. If all you carrot eaters want to be healthy, chomp away, but leave our potato chips alone. You crunch your way, and we'll crunch ours.

Meats should never be a diet food. McDonald's even tried a diet hamburger. Do they still serve that thing?

The worst culprit of all is Oscar Mayer. They even advertise it. And to make it worse, they use an innocent little child to advertise it - "lite" bologna. How could bologna ("baloñie" to you home folks who flunked spelling) be a light food. This is the stuff made of all the parts of a cow and pig that can't be cut into real meat. High in fat. High in additives. High in everything you really don't want to know about, bologna, no matter if it does have fewer calories than the real stuff, doesn't deserve a "light" label.

All this light talk makes a fellow want to get a six-pack of the caffeine and sugar-rich Jolt Cola, a bag of the greasiest and saltiest potato chips ever made, lay back on a polyester covered sofa and watch Archie Bunker re-runs.

Have a light day.

What's Next, Commercial Sponsors For TV News?

The other afternoon I was passing through the living room as CNN blared from the T.V. A news clip that caught my ear made it apparent just how much commercialism has permeated our lives.

Some nit-wit delegate to the United Nations, it was reported, made the modest proposal that a good way to pay for all of the peace keeping missions around the world would be to allow corporations to sponsor the events.

Laura Williams-Tracy

It would be just like the Olympic Games. And you remember what it's like during the Olympics - every Tom, Dick and Harry company says on its commercial that it is an "Official Sponsor of the 1992 Olympics."

And we already have people buying acres of land the the South American rain forests in an effort to preserve them.

Next we'll be putting slogans on the side of the Space Shuttle as it boldly goes where no man has gone before.

But this U.N. thing is really sort of sick if you think about it.

Imagine some hard-hitting journalistic piece about the war in Bosnia. A soldier hiding in a bombed out building in Sarajevo wards off sniper fire as people below scurry in the streets. His shirt has a Burger King emblem on it that that says, "I love this place."

And talk about the cola wars. Pepsi and Coke could duke it out by posting their slogans on the side of tanks as they roll through Somalia.

Of course the T.V. cameramen would catch it all on the late-night news, temping all of us to get up out of the recliner and find something cool to drink.

At the end of the segment, a woman's pleasant voice would say something like, "Proud Sponsor of the Gulf War."

Military units in Ethopia could be sponsored by Hardees: "Are you ready for some real food?"

And somehow Michael Jordan would have to be in a commercial, considering that he's already in just about every one on T.V. now.

He could fly by in a U.N. heliocopter and yell down to soldiers aiming at their targets through a view finder: "Just Do It."

If the U.N. mission involves over-seas operations, I'm sure the cigarette companies will want to get involved. Joe Camel might look cool hanging out on a street corner in the Gaza Strip.

Toyota could be the official carrier of U.N. troops who would shout, "I love what you do for me," as their trucks plowed through enemy territory.

We haven't heard much more about this proposal from the U.N., and for good reason.

But be certain of one thing, if the enemy got too tough we could just send over some complimentary Taco Bell and give them all heartburn.

Victory Supreme.

Fire Damages Home; Cause Is Not Known

Authorities don't know what caused an early morning fire Sept. 2 that heavily damaged a mobile home in Pines Trailer Court off U.S. 158.

Smith Grove firefighters were first called to the scene at 12:43 a.m. They found flames going through the roof of the home owned by Timothy Cox Branum.

"He said he was asleep and he woke up and couldn't breathe," said Davie Fire Marshal George Frye. "It was real hot in there, a lot of smoke."

Branum tried to go back into the mobile home, and assaulted two firefighters who wouldn't let him. The Davie County Sheriff's Department was called, but the firefighters decided not to press charges against Branum.

Frye said the fire appears to have started in an end bedroom, and Branum was sleeping in a bedroom at the opposite end of the home.

Smith Grove firefighters were joined by Comatzer-Dulin, Farmington and Mocksville, and were on the scene for almost four hours.

"I feel like it's an accidental fire," Frye said. "I don't see anything suspicious about it."

Branum didn't have insurance on the mobile home. Damage, not including contents, was estimated at $6,000.

.09 Is Enough For A DWI Conviction

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise Record

A .09 on the Breathalyzer test and the ability to drive like Dale Earnhardt while drinking didn't keep one Davie County man from being found guilty of DWI in Davie District Court last week.

Gary Sidney Bunker, 30, was arrested Aug. 3 after he had apparently broken into several mini-storage warehouses and then fled the scene with police in pursuit. In court last week, Bunker plead guilty to four counts of misdemeanor breaking and entering, but because the Breathalyzer was less than .10, plead not guilty to DWI.

N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper C.D. Jones, testified that Bunker was being chased by Mocksville police and he joined in, at times driving in excess of 80 mph on I-40, Farmington Road and U.S. 158.

Jones said they attempted a running road block, but Bunker managed to drive around the patrol car and continue, until stopped along 158.

Bunker's attorney, Hank Van Hoy, argued that his client was not significantly impaired or he would not have been able to drive that far and at that speed without an accident.

"This man is a thief, he was running and managed to elude police," Trooper Jones testified that he managed to get around his car and he didn't know how he'd been able to do that. The facts cry out — they compel that he be found not guilty," Van Hoy said.

Assistant district attorney Jeannie Rogers called Bunker's driving "lucky."

Judge Jessie Conley agreed and found him guilty.

He was sentenced to 12 months suspended for 2 years and ordered to pay a $400 fine and serve a seven-day active sentence on the DWI conviction. He also was not to operate a motor vehicle until properly licensed and obtain a substance abuse assessment and comply with the recommendations of that assessment.

A no liability insurance charge was consolidated with that sentence.

The four misdemeanor breaking and entering charges had been felonies, but were reduced under the plea arrangement. On those, Bunker received four separate two year sentences. Those were all suspended for five years and he was to pay $100 fine and court costs, perform 100 hours community service and submit to any searches or screening tests for drugs or alcohol. The guilty pleas to resisting and obstructing a public officer, and speeding to elude arrest were consolidated with the breaking and entering charges for sentencing.

Three larceny charges, a possession of stolen goods, possession of burglary tools, carrying a concealed weapon, reckless driving, failure to stop for stop sign and fictitious or cancelled registration documents were dismissed under the plea arrangement.

The merchandise taken from the warehouses was recovered.

Drive Joins Centers

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Merchants and shoppers at Squire Boone and Willow Oaks shopping centers are looking forward to increased business and better traffic now that the two parking lots are connected.

Construction began this summer on a two-lane link between the shopping centers, and was completed last week. Now customers can drive from stores such as Wal-Mart and Food Lion to Food Fair and back without driving onto busy U.S. 601.

Many merchants and customers began talking about the link while Willow Oaks was being renovated last fall.

Frank Lindine, a property manager with Concord Assets Management, which owns Squire Boone Shopping Center, said his company and Biloo, the real estate arm of Food Fair, agreed to split the cost of adding the easement between the properties.

"It took us a while just to get together to talk about it. But once the lines of communication were open it went very well," Lindine said.

Lindine said there were problems with customers making a U-turn by McDonalds to go to the other center. The easement should stop the need for such maneuvers, he said.

"I think it will do some good, but whether it solves all the problems I don't know."

Lindine said he still favors a traffic signal for customers making a left turn out of the centers, but he admitted that was a much more expensive project.

Bill Messic of Food Fair said the actual construction took only a few days, but the usual red tape held the project up for almost a year.

Both companies had to approve the plans, he said. But both companies had plenty of support from the shopping center tenants.

James Willard, assistant manager of Food Fair, said he belived the link would help all of the businesses. Often, he said, customers complained about the difficult time they had shopping at both plazas.

"I think they are pretty happy about it," Willard said.

Juveniles Captured In Davie

A Pfafftown juvenile who led Davie police on a high-speed chase across the county on Aug. 17 came back on Aug. 25.

The first time, he was in a car he had taken from his brother. It was totaled when the 14-year-old wrecked in Mocksville, at the end of the chase that had begun in Hillsdale and continued on N.C. 801 to U.S. 64 in Fork before heading toward Mocksville.

Last week, the youth, and another boy were in a van reported stolen from Rawley Apperon Inc. in Winston-Salem.

A neighbor had spotted the van at Underpass and Ashburton roads, and alerted the Davie sheriff's department about the two boys.

The sheriff's department spent much of the day looking for the boys, before dogs tracked them to a nearby home, where they were apparently visiting a girlfriend, according to sheriff's reports.

Fumble Returns Beat Davie, 21-20

Davie Can't Maintain 20-7 Advantage

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

SALISBURY — You can't blame Davie County for wanting to think of Salisbury's 21-20 victory Friday night as its second Endowment Game of the season.

As far as the War Eagles are concerned, this is the one that shouldn't have counted.

Davie dominated the game offensively and defensively but lost on three freakish and improbable plays:

• Holding a 6-0 lead in the third quarter, Deryl Wilson knocked the ball out of Carlos Steele's hands at the 44 at the end of a 42-yard scamper. Good for Davie, right? Nope. Marvin Dixon simply scooped it up and raced untouched the final 44 yards for a score.

• When Hamilton Cuthrell scored his second touchdown in a three-minute span of the third quarter, the War Eagles went up, 20-7 with 1:15 left in the period. Good for Davie, right? Nope. Javon Caldwell simply took the football 80 yards on the very next play from scrimmage, putting the Hornets back in the game.

• Davie still had the lead and the ball early in the fourth quarter and was moving the chains with a bullish running game. Good for Davie, right? Nope. William Gaddy led a hard rush that forced a fumble by quarterback Neil Cornatzer. The ball rolled back to the 28, where he picked it up and raced in for the tying points. Elliot Gealy then won the game with his third extra point of the night.

The outcome left players and fans stunned. It was something

Davie coach Randall Ward has definitely seen too much of. The loss was the ninth time since he returned to Davie as coach in 1989 that his team has lost by a touchdown or less.

He tried to remain composed, although obviously disappointed.

"You're always disappointed when you lose," he said. "We made the physical mistakes and those are things we can eliminate. This team is mentally tuned in. Tonight, we just made mistakes we shouldn't have made. But we can correct those."

In two games, Ward has already seen three fumbles recoveries returned for touchdowns.

"We tried our best and worked hard," Ward sighed. "Tonight, we just didn't win."

Davie will try to bounce back Friday when it hosts another 2-A team, Forbush, at War Eagle Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

Taking The Lead

Davie's offense didn't get going until it took over with 5:20 remaining in the second quarter on its own 39.

Jonathan Vaughters began the drive with a run of 14 yards. But eventually, Davie faced a third-and-26 from its own 47.

Cornatzer lofted a pass to Ron Armstrong, who made a leaping catch on the Salisbury 23-yard line for a 30-yard gain.

Armstrong caught his third pass of the first half moments later, taking the ball to the one with 22 seconds left before

Forbush, Starmount To Visit Here

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Darrell Force and B.W. Holt know that on paper, the odds appear to be against them.

Force

Their 2-A football teams at Forbush and Starmount are traveling to 4-A Davie in back-to-back weeks, beginning Friday when Forbush visits Mocksville. But both are looking forward to the challenge.

"We put Davie on the schedule because the better people we play, it prepares us for our conference," Forbush's Force said.

Forbush lost several starters from its Northwest 2-A Conference champions but already has a win over a Central Piedmont Conference foe. The Falcons ripped South Stokes, 26-7 last week.

It also defeated West Henderson, a 3-A school playing down in 2-A, in its Endowment Game, 15-0. Mocksville Legion baseball player David Vogler caught two scoring passes in that one.

Now Forbush will have its toughest test in facing 1-1 Davie.

"We don't schedule people for wins," Force said. "We schedule people for competition."

Starmount's Holt agreed. "You have to play to the level of competition. Very seldom, if

Junior Highs Join New Conference

North, South Begin Season Wednesday

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

A new era in Davie County junior high athletics will begin this week when North and South Davie teams begin play in the Piedmont Middle School Conference.

The Davie schools are moving from the North Piedmont Conference into a league with Rowan and Cabarrus County schools, as well as Mooresville.

On Wednesday, it all gets underway with North and South Davie playing each other in football and softball.

Football

In football, the two schools will play a seventh and eighth grade schedule. In the past, they combined the two grades.

They will also be in different divisions:

• South joins Mooresville, Northwest Cabarrus, J.N. Fries, Concord, Kannapolis and Mooresville.

• North will be in a division with the Rowan County schools: Knox, China Grove, West Rowan, North Rowan, Erwin and Corriher-Lipe.

At the end of the season, every school will have a playoff game. The first place teams will play. The second place teams will play. And so on.

'Tired' Soccer Team Wins

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Ever try playing three 80-minute soccer matches in three days?

Go ahead, try it, says Davie High School coach Pete Gustafson, and you'll feel just like his War Eagles last week.

By the waning moments of Davie's match with West Rowan, it's third of the week, the War Eagles were dragging, losing 2-1.

"We were dead tired," said Gustafson.

Dead tired, maybe. But not dead.

Davie had enough energy to score two late goals, one by Brent Ward and the other by Devon Speas, to beat the Falcons, 3-2.

Volleyball Team Still Undefeated

Myers' Road Warriors Improve Mark To 6-0

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The Road Warriors are now 6-0.

That's what Davie County volleyball coach Sherrie Myers is calling her team. Heading into this week, the War Eagles were undefeated with five of those six wins coming on the road.

"If we can do that on the road, think of what we can do at home," she said.

Myers

Davie will find out Thursday: Nemesis West Forsyth is coming to town.

Since turning 4-A in 1984-85, the Central Piedmont Conference volleyball wars have gone something like this: West first, Davie second.

Myers wants that to change this season.

"There is so much excitement, so much enthusiasm," she said. "Playing should be fun and these girls are having fun. They don't want to lose."

Davie defeated three more opponents last week:

• Forbush lost a five-setter, 7-15, 16-14, 11-15, 15-13 and 15-9.

Steve Moore: To Eat Or Not To Eat

If Davie County offensive lineman Steve Moore ever develops an eating disorder, he can look back to his senior year at Davie County High School.

After his junior season, Moore decided he was too light for offensive line. So he began lifting weights and cramming food in his mouth.

Moore

"I ate five meals a day," Moore said.

He achieved his goal. When the season started, he was nearing 223 pounds, a whopping 50 more than the previous season.

But he also wanted to be a Marine, joining the Corps June 6.

Wouldn't you know it? He was suddenly faced with a weight limit.

"They go by height," Moore explained. "For my height, I should weigh 197."

Oops.

So he started losing. The day he had to be weighed, he stood in at 209.

"I hadn't eaten anything the day before or that day," he said.

But he was still over the required weight.

"I had to get a waiver," he said.

CPC Report

Last week, five of the Central Piedmont Conference football teams won. This week, five of the seven lost.

The only winners were Reynolds, 19-0 over Glenn and North Davidson, 10-0 winners over Lexington.

West Forsyth can't find an offense and lost its second straight game, 7-3 to North Forsyth. The defending champ is 0-2.

Mount Tabor lost in overtime to Carver, 27-20.

Forbush, Davie's opponent this week, throttled South Stokes, 26-7.

West Rowan scored late to defeat South Rowan, 18-13.

This week's schedule will see West at East Forsyth, Ledford at North Davidson, Kannapolis at South Rowan, South Stokes at McMichael, Carver at Reynolds and Mount Tabor at Glenn.

Legion Report

A weekly report on Forbush and Starmount, which sends the Mocksville Legion baseball team players:

After opening with a one-point loss to North Surry, Starmount trounced rival Elkin, 49-7.

Starmount has changed the design on its helmets. After years of the five-point star, the Rams have now duplicated the Los Angeles Ram helmets with a ram's horns.

Forbush will try to make it two in a row over a 4-A Central Piedmont Conference foe when it comes to Davie Friday. Forbush spanked South Stokes, 26-7 last week.

College Report

According to brother Denver, Campy Walker is no longer playing football for Western Carolina.

Denver said Campy actually intercepted a pass in one scrimmage but said he was not feeling that thrill any longer. He will try to play baseball or transfer and play baseball elsewhere.

ever, do we play down a classification."

While Forbush will reunite Vogler and R.J. Speaks with the Mocksville Legion fans Friday, Starmount will visit Davie next week, Sept. 17, bringing three familiar Legion faces in Dennis Kuykendall) Barron, Denver Walker and Russ Pardue.

Davie could have its best gates of the season when the two Yadkin County neighbors come over and Force knows it.

"The financial part was a reason (for playing Davie)," he said. "It should be a great gate. We'll bring a lot of people and they'll bring a lot to our place next year.

"We're just so close. The boys play baseball together and I think it will be a great rivalry.

"But it will be hard to compete with Davie year in and year out."

So why have a 2-A school going against a 4-A school?

"We don't have anything to lose," Force said.

Greeting Forbush

Despite having 18 lettermen and 11 starters back, Force lost all of his skill people.

His linemen are a strength, however. In fact, the line may be the largest Davie faces all year. And Force knows that if he makes the 2-A playoffs for the fifth year in a row, he'll rely on big people.

Leading the lineman is Speaks, a 6-3, 285-pound tackle, who turns into the largest third baseman in creation during the summer.

The Falcons average 6-2, 256 on the front wall, thanks to Brad Petitt (6-1, 285), Brian Drumwright (6-2, 215) and Marty Jones (6-1, 240).

But Speaks is the most highly-recruited. Several ACC schools are looking at the behemoth.

"North Carolina and N.C. State are the two really looking at him but it will depend on what kind of year he has," Force said of Speaks' chances of going Division I. "If he dominates, both schools will offer him. If he doesn't dominate, he'll be Division I-AA, something like Appalachian State or Western Carolina."

What does Force mean by dominating?

"He'll have to knock his man off the ball, control the line of scrimmage and not not get pushed back. He'll have to be physical."

Force will have to make him meaner.

"R.J.'s a nice, easygoing kid," he said. "He's a pleasure to be around. He's a yes-sir, no-sir kind of kid."

Vogler, another senior, is playing football after a year's absence. He will be a wide receiver.

"David didn't play last year but we're looking for good things from him," Force said. "We'll try to take advantage of his height and speed. He can make a big contribution."

Starmount: A Power

As much of a power as Forbush has been since Force's arrival, Starmount is even more so under the direction of Holt.

And the three Legion players are among the Northwest Conference's top players.

Walker is a strapping, 6-1, 205-pound junior who hits with authority. He is also a tight end and follows brothers Brocke and Campy on Holt's team. This season, he plays with another brother, Dustin, who is an offensive weapon.

"All of the brothers have been different," Holt said. "Denver's the biggest of the bunch."

Barron was known as "Kuykendall" during Legion. But sources say he has legally changed his name to Barron. The North Carolina Prep News Magazine calls Barron, "a good hitter with great speed."

"Dennis is wired a little bit different," said Holt. "He's the most intense player on the field."

Pardue stepped in to play quarterback last year due to an injury and in his first game, threw for 257 yards. But he may play strictly defense this season, considering Elkin's Chris Charles has transferred to Starmount. In the first two games, they have alternated. Pardue has caught touchdown passes from Charles and scored himself while playing quarterback.

But Holt says Pardue may be even more important as a cornerback.

"Russ is a tremendous defensive back who doesn't know his potential," Holt said. "One coach said Russ could probably play anywhere but tackle — and he could probably play that."

As far as playing Davie, Holt said, "It probably gives us an advantage. They might not look at us as big and strong as some of their other people they play.

"We want to play somebody who will get after us early — and we know Davie will."

Cuthrell Over 200 Yards

Hamilton Cuthrell only had a chance to run the football one time in the first half against Salisbury.

He still wound up as the team's leading rusher, doing all of his damage in the second half. He now has 234 yards in two games.

Several new names appear in the football stats. Justin Carter, Matt Sain and Ron Armstrong entered the receiving stats. In fact, Armstrong is now the leading receiver.

Deryl Wilson picked off the team's first interception.

Neil Cornatzer and Josh Ward entered the scoring column. Cornatzer scored his first varsity touchdown and Ward his first two-point conversion. Cuthrell is running away with that race. He already has 24 points on four touchdowns.

halftime.

Cornatzer slipped in six seconds later. The extra point was missed and Davie led 6-0 at halftime.

Ironically, the 13-play, 61-yard drive did not include one run by leading rusher Hamilton Cuthrell, who had only one carry in the first two quarters for minus one yard.

But once the second half began, Cuthrell cranked it up and so did the Davie offense.

After Dixon's fumble return put Salisbury ahead 7-6, Davie marched downfield and reclaimed the lead. Thirty yards of penalties on the same play put Cuthrell in position to burst over from five yards out. Josh Ward then caught a pass from Cornatzer for a two-point conversion and Davie's lead was 14-7.

After the kickoff, Wilson intercepted Arthur Jackson on the Davie 38. He raced to the Salisbury 38, where Cuthrell immediately sprinted past the Hornet defense for a long touchdown run with 1:15 left in the third quarter. But once again, Davie missed the extra point.

Still, after Marnie Lewis' kickoff went into the endzone for a touchback, Davie appeared to be taking control of the game, leading 20-7.

Can't Hold It

Amazingly, it took only 15 seconds for Salisbury to get back into the game. Caldwell took the handoff on first down, got outside and went 80 yards, narrowing the margin to 20-14.

It would be a strange fourth period.

After Gaddy's fumble return put Salisbury up, 21-20, Davie immediately began marching downfield, easily getting two first downs. But Gaddy intercepted Cornatzer on the Salisbury 24.

The War Eagle defense forced a punt and the offense took over with 5:29 left. Again, it drove into Salisbury territory before a fumble turned it over with 2:47 remaining.

And again, Salisbury gave it back, fumbling with 1:40 on the clock. But a short run and three incompletions ended the game, ending Davie's three-game winning streak, dating back to last year.

Notes:

- Davie and Salisbury are both 1-1.
- Cuthrell was Davie's leading rusher with 76 yards on 11 carries.
- Wilson's pickoff was the team's first interception of the year.
- Take away only two runs from Salisbury and the Hornets would have finished with 42 yards rushing instead of 188.
- Jonathan Vaughters had 67 yards on the ground and Jared Eure 57.

Soccer

It was Davie's third win in four matches and second of the week. The War Eagles also defeated Starmount, 7-1.

The three wins already equal last year's output.

The only loss of the week came to private school Forsyth Country Day, 6-2.

Beating West Rowan

Bryan McNeil got Davie off to a rousing start against West, taking a cross from Cam Kofke and scoring at 8:15.

Unfortunately, no War Eagle scored again for 53 minutes. By that time, West led, 2-1.

At 61:00, Mark Stephens dribbled the ball through the defense, dished to Speas, who tied the match.

"And it was a left-footed kick," Gustafson said.

Nine minutes later, Jonathan Dixon assisted Ward for the game-winner.

"You have to remember we played 240 minutes of soccer in 90 degree heat," Gustafson said. "We proved we could come back."

Speas has become a leader

"He's a little playmaker," Gustafson said. "He can score or set somebody else up. Most of his goals have been tied hard, real tough situations."

Beating Starmount

While West Rowan is a fairly strong team, Starmount can't say the same, thus the six-goal loss.

"This isn't one of their strongest years," Gustafson said.

That was obvious in the match's first 10 minutes when Davie took a 3-0 lead.

McNeil scored at 1:00 on an assist from Speas. Four minutes later, he scored again, this time on an assist from Joseph Ashburn. McNeil then assisted Ward at 10:00.

"Bryan has really come on," Gustafson praised. "He scored four goals and assisted on two or three others this week."

Speas made it 4-1 at 15:00 and Ashburn scored at 30:00. Both were unassisted goals.

The last two goals came by Erik Crutchfield and McNeil in the second half. McNeil's was unassisted while Tim Fisher assisted Crutchfield.

Davie outshot Starmount 30-7.

Losing To Forsyth Country Day

Gustafson knew he'd have his hands full with Forsyth Country Day. Most private schools have good soccer programs.

But Davie stunned Forsyth, leading 1-0 at halftime and 2-1 early in the second half.

Ward scored the match's first goal at 27:00 on a throw-in assist from McNeil.

Forsyth tied it at 45:00 but Speas came right back with a goal two minutes later on an assist from Kofke.

"They were shocked that we were contesting them," Gustafson said. "You could tell."

But at 48:00, Davie was called for a hand ball and the free kick resulted in a FCD goal and a 2-2 deadlock.

Gustafson said the call turned the match around.

"The hand ball took the air out of our balloon," he said. "In the next eight minutes or so, they scored four goals."

Gustafson was still pleased with the play that saw FCD outshoot Davie, 22-12.

"I felt good except for eight minutes," he said. "We lost our focus, got a little lazy, didn't mark up and let them penetrate too deep."

Forsyth Country Day did leave the field with a little more respect for Davie's program — but that didn't please Gustafson.

"They're comparable to West Forsyth in our league," he said. "They're a tough, tough school. But I'm tired of respect. We should've beaten them."

Notes:

- Davie is 3-1.
- Last year, Davie finished 3-13-3.
- Davie outshot West 20-10.
- Davie is averaging 4.5 goals and giving up only 2.5.
- Davie visits Parkland Wednesday and hosts Statesville Sept. 13.

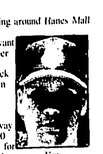
Key Should Be Walking To The Mound, Not The Mall



Ronnie Gallagher

Notes 'n' Quotes....

I saw Denny Key walking around Hanes Mall Saturday afternoon.

Key

He said what I didn't want to hear. His baseball career is over. After suffering through injuries to his back during his three seasons in the Cleveland Indians organization, he retired before the age of 23.

Retiring was the only way he could keep the $32,000 the Indians promised him for a college education. Had he quit, he wouldn't have gotten the money. So retirement was the only recourse.

He is still recovering from a blood clot and chipped disc wrapped around a nerve, which severely hampered his career. But he says he can finally bend over and tie his shoes.

Key is currently attending UNC-Greensboro and playing softball.

But when he left the pros, he still had his blazing fastball. It's doing him no good playing in softball leagues and walking around the mall.

I want Key to remember two words: Bryan Harvey.

Like Key, Harvey shrugged off a chance at stardom and big bucks. There were some people who followed him in his days with the Mooresville Legion who thought he was just lazy. But those same people kept nudging him back. He finally pitched in a semi-pro game, was seen by a scout and is now worth $3 million a year.

Get well, Denny. Rest your back. And then, get back into the game of baseball where you belong.

• West Iredell lost in five sets, 10-15, 15-4, 15-12, 13-15 and 15-8.

• Statesville lost, 15-7, 15-2, 6-15, 15-9.

"Shannon Umberger said before the Statesville match, 'Let's put on a clinic' and we did," said Myers. "That match was an eye-opener. I was in awe."

Beating Forbush

Myers was impressed with 2-A Forbush, a consistent playoff contender.

"They are fundamentally sound," she said. "Forbush always has a strong program.

And the Falcons showed it, beating Davie in the first game. The teams split games 2 and 3 before Davie won the final two.

"I think we like living on the edge," Myers said. "And we have been. We had to fight back."

In Game 4, Tracy Robbins served six points. In Game 5, Laura Moyer served eight points, including the last five.

Tracie Sechrest had six kills against Forbush. Umberger had seven kills and Maria Newsome five kills and 11 blocks.

But sophomore Jonette Williard led the way with a whopping 12 kills.

"She was just tremendous," Myers praised. "It was amazing how on Jonette was."

Newsome

Umberger

Another Five-Setter

Davie was faced with another down-to-the-wire, five-setter against West Iredell. The War Eagles lost the first game, won the next two and then split games 4 and 5.

"West Iredell serves very hard every time and they're either on or off," Myers explained. "But when we had a chance to set up our offense, they couldn't touch us. They're not a good hitting team."

In the deciding, fifth game, Sechrest served five points. She also finished with eight kills, two aces and one block.

Newsome had six kills and 13 blocks. Williard and Robbins each had six kills.

"Maria was awesome," Myers said. "When she's blocking, the top of the net is at her elbows. Her timing is incredible and her hands are big. I don't know why (West Iredell) couldn't realize that you can't go through her."

Beating Statesville

Myers said the Statesville win was "by far, our best match."

Statesville only managed nine points in the first two games. Myers put her subs in for Game 3 and was beaten but when the starters returned in Game 4, it was over.

Sechrest had 14 serving points in the match while Newsome had 11 kills and five blocks.

"I have never seen Maria hit so well," Myers said.

Robbins had five kills, Umberger six kills and Williard two.

Now, West Forsyth comes in Thursday.

Notes:

• The West match will be Davie's first conference match.

• Newsome, the 6-3 junior, had 22 kills and 29 blocks in three matches.

• Against West Iredell, Umberger had an all-around game with three kills, four aces, one block and one dig.

• The West Forsyth match begins at 4 p.m. A jayvee match will also be played.

• Davie is back on the road, going to South Stokes Sept. 13 and South Rowan Sept. 14.

Reynolds comes to Davie Sept. 16.

Kiger Moves Up In Points Race

Mocksville's Keith Kiger scored his second Sportsman Division points win of the year Aug 28 at Farmington Dragway.

Kiger, driving his 1968 Dodge Dart, collected $300 for his win over new points leader Donald Thomas of Mount Airy, who drove a Plymouth Satellite.

Kiger ran a 8.29 E.T. at 85 miles per hour to defeat Thomas, the three-time Sportsman champion. Kiger also moved from fifth to third place in the points standings. With five remaining races, Kiger is now only one win away from taking the points lead.

Mocksville has six of the top 15 Sportsman cars. After Kiger, Larrry Boggs is sixth, Darrell Kiger eighth, Chris Groce ninth, Rhonda Eckelson 12th and Roger McDaniel 13th.

In the Top Eliminator Division, Steve Long of Advance is tied for 10th.

Area Sports

Bowling

Several Davie County bowlers are participating in the Tootsie Rollers League at Woodleaf Lanes in Salisbury.

On Aug. 31, Karen Baity had the high game with a 215 and high series at 575.

Smart and Sassy won the high team game at 626 and also won team series at 1,725.

First place was claimed by Correll's Pin Heads and the War Eagles.

Four bowlers are needed to fill the league, which bowls at 9:30 a.m. Anyone interested should call Audrey O'Neal at 634-4224.

Jockey Golf

The first annual Jockey Charity Captain's Choice golf tournament will be held Oct. 9 at Twin Cedars Golf Course in Mocksville.

Entry fee is $30 per entrant, which includes green fee and cart. Four-person teams will play.

The tournament is open to all golfers and proceeds will be donated to local charity.

For more information, call 704-284-2544.

Rec Soccer

The Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department will begin its youth soccer program for boys and girls in its leagues at Pinebrook Sept. 25 and run through Oct. 30. Play will be held on Saturdays and Sundays.

Salisbury Golf

The fourth annual Salisbury-Rowan Home Builders Association Fall Captain's Choice Golf Tournament is scheduled for Sept. 16 at Corbin Hills Golf Course.

The entry fee is $40 per entrant, which includes green fee, cart, dinner and beverages.

This tournament is open to all golfers. For more information, call Mike Julian (704-636-0131), Kathy Stalheim (633-0100) or Mae Buttner (638-0101).

"I guess the two first place teams will be playing for the real championship but I like it," said South coach Barry Whitlock, who went on to say the playoff setup will give every team a playoff-type atmosphere.

On Wednesday, Sept. 8, the two seventh grade teams will meet at South. On Thursday, they meet at North.

Whitlock's teams then will have two weeks off. The Tigers won't play again until Sept. 23.

"I think having two weeks off will help," he said. "It gives us a chance to adjust."

Whitlock will be joined on the coaching staff by longtime — and successful — coach, Grimes Parker and first-year teacher and coach Ray Whitaker.

The burly Ron Kirk returns at North Davie with his assistants Mike Dinkins, Mark Sinopoli and George Newman.

Softball

Despite going to the high school to teach, Darrell Steele will still coach the North Davie 7-8 grade softball team. Becky Miller will once again coach South Davie.

Last season, North lost only two games, both to champion Asheboro, finishing 10-2.

Miller couldn't be reached for comment but has several starters back as well, including Angie Priestley.

"I don't know much about these teams," Steele said. "When we played them in the ninth grade league, it was always Erwin. I lost a few girls to soccer but I think we can win."

North Soccer

A dream of Davie High soccer coach Pete Gustafson was realized this year when North Davie began a junior high soccer program.

North will play Ferndale, Welborn School and Trinity. Its first home match will be Sept. 20 against Trinity.

Karen Umberger, the Davie High swim coach, now has a new title: soccer coach.

South Tennis

South Davie can't match North in soccer but it does have something the Wildcats don't: a girls tennis team, coached by Georgia Amos.

And if homecourt advantage means anything, South has it made. Seven of its eight matches are at home. The only away match is Sept. 29 at Corriher-Lipe.

The first home match is Sept. 13 against Mooresville.

Enterprise Will Even Go To Prison For A Contest Entry

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When the sports editor says the Enterprise-Record Football Contest is played far and wide, he ain't kidding.

This week's contest saw entries come from Mocksville, Cooleemee, Advance, Clemmons, Bermuda Run, Yadkinville, Spencer, Pfafftown, Kernersville and the Forsyth County prison.

The Forsyth County what?

That's right, another first for the sports editor. The entry came with this note:

"Ronnie, I hope a Friday postmark is good enough. The prison won't let me run my entry over to Mocksville."

I guess not.

Well, there's no money going to the prison but the first place money is going to Davie High School — which is like a prison to some students (Hey, it's a joke). Neil "And Pray" Cornatzer, the varsity quarterback, missed only two and wins the $25 first prize.

At first, we were worried we might put Davie on NCAA probation by giving players money. But we called Lou Holtz and he said it would be okay.

Ten tied for second with three losses but Billy "On The" Serfass was closest to the total number of points in the tiebreaker. He wins $10.

The Awards:

The "Heisman" Award: To Stephen "Scratch The" Serfass, Joe "Pretty" Boyette, Rodgers "Everyday" Peoples, Bryan "Bald" Eagle, Terry "You Can Call Me" Johnson, "Jazzy" Jeff Bell and Tara Lowery were all correct on 6 of 7 college games.

The "Proposition 48" Award: To Billie C. "Take A" Lookabill and Kevin Gilbert, who missed 5 of 7 college games.

The "Earth To Bill" Award: To "Wild" Bill Serfass, the only entry to pick losers Seattle, New England and Phoenix.

The "Oops" Award: To Tara Green "Hornet," Pamela "Air" Jordan, Neil Jackson and "Little" Joe Holcomb, the only entries to pick Western Carolina over Kansas.

The "All-Pro" Award: To Brad "Soup" Lagle, Steve "French" Frye, Lethia "Magic" Johnson, Sarah Baker "The Touchdown Maker," and Billy Serfass, who were correct on 10 of 12 pro games.

The "Bring Your Playbook and Come To My Office" Award: To June "Twenty Dollar" Beal, who missed 6 of 12 pro games.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To John "Double Cheese" Boger, who had only two wrong answers until missing the last three games.

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: To Nancy Duncan "Doughnuts," who missed 10 of 19. Ouch!

The Record
Last Week: 14-5
Season Total: 29-8

The 'ol sports editor missed five games, which was about the norm. Maybe I'll be better this week. Let's do it.

This Week's Games

Clemson at Florida State: Charlie Ward will beat the Tigers in basketball, too. Florida State by 14.

Notre Dame at Michigan: I'm getting the feeling that Lou Holtz is more trouble than he's worth. Michigan (because it's at home) by 2.

Georgia at Tennessee: Georgia couldn't win at home last year when it was better. So there's no way the Bulldogs will win away with Tennessee better. Tennessee by 9.

Buffalo at Dallas: The D in Big D mean "Dead." Buffalo by 3.

Kansas City at Houston: Hey, Joe Montana, can you win in a dome? KC by 7.

Tiebreaker: N.C. State 24, Wake Forest 14.

Other Winners:

Arkansas, Penn State, Oklahoma, Minnesota, New England, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Green Bay, Washington, NY Giants, LA Rams, Miami, Denver.

This Week's Winners:
First Place: $25
Neil Cornatzer (2 Misses)
Second Place: $10
Billy Serfass (3 Misses)

THE HARMON NFL FORECAST - SUNDAY AND MONDAY, SEPT. 12-13

*CINCINNATI.....20 INDIANAPOLIS.....19

The Colts have won three straight in this series—all of them at Cincinnati. But Indianapolis is coming off a tough game with Miami, and these two teams are closer than their '92 records reflect.

*DALLAS.....28 BUFFALO.....24

The last time they met, Super Bowl spectators hoping for a great game (including two Harmon Forecasters) were exiting the Rose Bowl by the third quarter. The Bills should be back to normal.

DETROIT.....17 NEW ENGLAND.....10

In 22 years the Lions and Patriots have met only four times, each winning twice. The Pats, once again the likely AFC East weakling, met up with the division bully, Buffalo, last weekend.

*HOUSTON.....32 KANSAS CITY.....27

Moon vs. Montana—a playoff preview? The Oilers have beaten the Chiefs three straight years, including a wild 23-20 '92 OT win after K.C. scored the tying TD with only 23 seconds to spare.

L.A. RAIDERS.....24 SEATTLE.....13

In '93 L.A., Seattle's fellow AFC West contender, won its fifth and sixth straight over the Seahawks by a combined score of 39-3. And to think they played for the AFC title 10 years ago.

*MIAMI.....30 * N.Y. JETS.....21

They may be on opposite ends of the AFC East, but the Jets have stopped the Dolphins in three of their last four meetings. Last year N.Y. won 26-14 at home, then Miami won a squeaker, 19-17.

*MINNESOTA.....27 CHICAGO.....19

On week five of the '92 season, the Vikes nudged the Bears 21-20. A month later their relative positions in the NFC Central were clarified when Minnesota flayed all over Chicago, 38-10.

NEW ORLEANS.....33 ATLANTA.....14

The gap between the Saints (12-4) and the Falcons (6-10) in the NFC West last season was the largest between consecutively ranked teams in any division. New Orleans won both times they met.

*N.Y. GIANTS.....26 TAMPA BAY.....13

It's been two years since the Giants last met—and defeated—the Buccaneers, 21-14. But the result is no longer a certainty: T.H. Farrel as well in the NFC Central in '92 as N.Y. did in the East.

PHILADELPHIA.....29 GREEN BAY.....22

With two Chris Jacke field goals in the final 1:31 last November—the last one as time expired—Green Bay pulled off a major upset, beating the Eagles 27-24. The Pack leads this series 19-6.

PITTSBURGH.....31 L.A. RAMS.....17

The last time the Steelers met the Rams, three years ago, it was no contest, Pittsburgh winning 41-10. With the Steelers still improving and the Rams struggling, it won't be much closer in '93.

SAN DIEGO.....28 DENVER.....21

This should be a stern test for both teams, which have high playoff hopes. They split in '92, the Broncos winning 21-13 at Mile High and the Chargers taking their turn at Jack Murphy, 24-21.

*WASHINGTON.....26 PHOENIX.....16

A shocking 27-24 loss to Phoenix last year ended the Redskins' seven-game winning streak against the Cardinals. When they met again in D.C., Washington took its revenge with a 41-3 drubbing.

(Monday) SAN FRANCISCO.....35 CLEVELAND.....20

Cleveland last beat the 49ers 12 years ago, though they've only played three times since. The Browns' defense is only passable, and with S.F.'s offense, we mean that in more ways than one.

Davie Tennis Team Now 2-2

Davie County girls tennis coach Mary Ann Rankin likes to know a little something about her opponents.

But that was the problem with her Central Piedmont Conference opener last week. South Stokes was an unknown quantity.

"We didn't know what to expect," Rankin said after the 5-4 loss.

Davie did defeat North Davidson, 7-2 and had a match with Statesville rained out.

Losing To South Stokes

Davie split the six singles matches against South.

Carrie Brown lost at number one, 8-4 but Tami Ramsey followed with a hard-fought 9-7 victory.

After Kelly Archer lost 8-3, Jenny Mando won at four, 8-5.

After Beth Campbell lost at five, 8-6, Page Archer bounced back for an 8-1 win.

That left doubles to decide the outcome.

Brown-Kelly Archer lost 8-2. Ramsey and Mando won 8-5 and Campbell-Page Archer lost the deciding match, 8-1.

"Doubles have been hurting us," Rankin said.

Rankin sensed South Stokes was a good team from what her sophomores were telling her.

"Beth and Jenny remembered playing some of the girls in junior high," she said. "They evidently have a good junior high program."

Beating North Davidson

The Black Knights were strong at 1-2-3 but were skunked from that point on.

Brown won 8-3 before Ramsey and Archer each lost. But North's 2-1 lead was short-lived.

Mando and Campbell each won by 8-2 scores. Page Archer defeated her opponent 8-0 at number six.

In doubles, Davie took three straight wins. Brown-Archer won 8-6, Ramsey-Mando won 8-1 and Campbell-Page Archer won 8-0.

Rankin has three sophomores in the starting lineup in Ramsey, Mando and Campbell. She has been thoroughly impressed with Mando.

"Jenny has really improved — not only with her strokes but with her physical condition," Rankin praised. "When she gets in a close match, she can pull it out at the end."

No Match

It may have been a good thing that the rain halted Davie's match with Statesville. The Greyhounds were winning big.

Brown, Ramsey and Archer all lost and could win only three games in the three matches.

Mando and Page Archer led at numbers four and six by a score of 5-2 while Campbell trailed 5-3.

Davie has played enough now that Rankin is mapping out her strengths and weaknesses.

"We've got to work harder in doubles," she said. "Ramsey and Mando are working well, though. They're real good friends and it's important to communicate to be successful."

Notes:

- Davie is 2-2.
- Mando is undefeated.
- Winning exhibitions against South were Tiffany Harris and Laura Prillaman, 8-4.
- Lori Vogler lost in an exhibition singles match, 8-1.
- Against North, Kelly Archer lost a tough, 9-8 decision (7-1 in the tiebreaker).
- Campbell had been moved down to number six due to an injured ankle. But Rankin said she was now healthy and is back at five.
- The Statesville match will not be made up.
- Davie met the top teams in the CPC this week in Mount Tabor in Winston-Salem Tuesday and Reynolds at the South Davie courts Wednesday.
- Davie goes to West Forsyth Sept. 13.

Daye, Jayvees Run Past Salisbury In Thriller, 32-24

In the season's first week, James Clement rushed for 199 yards in a Davie County jayvee victory.

So when he was suffering from a hamstring pull in the second game, Davie coaches didn't panic.

They just gave the ball to freshman David Daye.

Daye

And he responded with 111 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown as the jayvees romped to an exciting, 32-24 football win over Salisbury.

"I had no problem running him that much," said coach Randall Ward. "He's built low to the ground, has good body lean, good feet, balance and quickness."

Clement ran only 10 times but made the most of them, gaining 65 yards.

"Each back gives us something different," said Ward.

It was Daye who did most of the running that set up Davie's first score. Quarterback Andy Ward did the honors from two yards out with Daye adding the conversion run for an 8-8 lead.

But Salisbury came right back to knot the score at 8 going into halftime.

Daye set up his own touchdown run in the third period. He picked up a fumble and carried it 40 yards to the Salisbury eight. Two plays later, he scooted in from seven yards and added the conversion for a 16-8 lead.

After Salisbury used a 50-yard scoring pass to tie the score again, the War Eagles finally began pulling away.

With 9:52 left in the game, Ward scored again on a short run. Clement's conversion gave Davie a 24-16 advantage.

"I can't say enough about our blocking," said Ward. "Jason Boger had a good game down inside. Our offensive line had a super game blocking. When a young man takes pride in his blocking, it means something."

A fumble recovery by Daniel Brewer led to another score.

"That wasn't a fumble recovery," Ward said. "That was a takeaway."

Brewer later scored on a strange play, where the ball was left lying on the ground, resembling a fumblerooski. Brewer picked the ball up and strolled into the endzone.

Clement added another two-point conversion for a 32-16 lead with 7:06 left.

Jason Murphy had a key quarterback sack on Salisbury's next possession, forcing a punt. The Hornets later scored but there were only 46 seconds when it happened. Derek Foster recovered an onsides kick and Davie ran out the clock.

"We made alert plays," Ward said. "I thought our defense and blockers had excellent games."

Notes:

- Davie is 2-0.
- The War Eagles were called for only two penalties, "which is good for a jayvee bunch," said Ward.
- Jason Harbour had an interception that he returned 40 yards in the second quarter. But Davie couldn't score.
- Davie drove inside the Salisbury 15 twice but turned the ball over.
- Brewer ran three times for 36 yards. He blocked a punt, recovered a fumble and led the team in tackles.
- Ward was 2-of-6 passing for 15 yards. Murphy had one catch for nine yards and Daye grabbed the other for six.
- Davie goes to Forbush Thursday for a 7 p.m. game and travels to Starmount the following week.

Paying A Debt

Thief Returns Money After 20 Years

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise-Record

COOLEEMEE - Someone who shops at Cooleemee Supermarket has either gotten religion or gotten some extra pocket money.

Store Manager Charlie Park opened his mail last week and found an envelope stuffed with $60 and a handwritten confession to a shoplifting spree some 20 years ago.

"Dear Sir," the short letter began. "15-20 years ago I was in your store and in dire financial problems. I took items from your store without paying. Here is the money. I am sorry for this dishonesty. I hope your store is prospering. God Bless."

"I couldn't believe it," Park said. "This guy must have had this on his conscience for 15 years."

The letter left few clues about the identity of the former-thief, who robbed the store long before Park and his family bought it four years ago.

Could it have been a customer who visited once and never returned? Or is it a regular customer who shops there each week, and feels guilty each time he enters the store?

The letter had no return address, but was postmarked from Charlotte.

In a city that large, that's not much of a clue, Park said. But the postmark at least shows that the letter was mailed somewhere south of Cooleemee and not from inside Davie County.

But Park thinks it must have come from someone with connections here.

Since the incident took place, the grocery store has changed its post office box number. The letter writer had the right address.

Margaret Jacobs, a 28-year-employee of the store, would have been working there when the mystery writer did his deed.

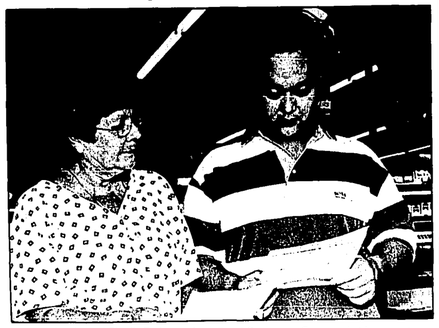
Like all other stores, the Cooleeme Supermarket has had its share of petty theft, Jacobs said. And often the former owner, Dolan Hedrick, went easy on people who were caught stealing. Rarely did he call the police.

Today, it seems like more people steal for the excitement of the crime, she said.

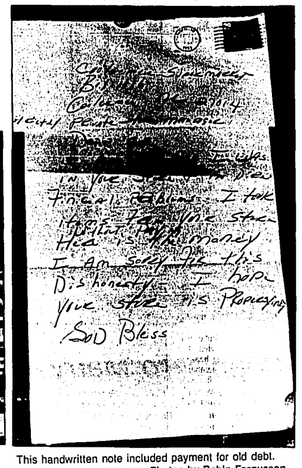
Jacobs surmises that this person must have really needed the food, and possibly stole the $60-worth of groceries over a period of time.

That doesn't make it right, she said, but she is encouraged by the letter.

"At least it shows that they are a changed person. I feel like maybe they do believe in the Lord now and wanted to make this right."



Margaret Jacobs and Charlie Park examine letter at Cooleemee Supermarket from a patron who stole food 20 years ago.



This handwritten note included payment for old debt.

Arts Alive Festival To Feature Cajun Cooking

What ..... Arts Alive Festival
When ..... Saturday, Sept.. 18
Time ..... 9 a.m.- 6 p.m.
Where ..... Masonic Picnic Grounds
Features ..... Cajun flavord , arts, crafts festival, Entertainment

Jumbalaya, Crawfish Pie and File' Gumbo. "Son of a gun. Gonna have some fun on the bayous."

The lyrics to that song demonstrate the enthusiasm New Orleans people have for their Cajun food. Cajun is an old, French country cooking which began in Southern France, moved to Nova Scotia and then came to Louisiana with the Acadian people.

When New Orleans people gather together for any special occasion, food is always a prominent part of that fun. The following treats are often seen on Louisiana tables: Jumbalaya, a highly seasoned tomato and rice dish combined with beef, pork, fowl or seafood; Crawfish Pie, a pie made of a crawfish sauce in a semisweet crust usually with a garnish of crawfish tails; File' Gumbo, a Cajun soup of vegetables and meats or seafood thickened with file' powder, an herb of ground young sassafras leaves.

The ingredients in Louisiana cooking always depended on what is readily available. Natural resources, such as a variety of wildlife, wild herbs and peppers, a wealth of fresh seafood and fruits and vegetables nurtured in the subtropical climate, make New Orleans a cook's paradise.

The Davie County Arts Council wants to share some mouth-watering Cajun food with you at Arts Alive on Saturday, Sept. 18, at the Masonic picnic grounds from 9 a.m.- 6 p.m. Mocksville's own Ray Everest, owner of Bistro 900 restaurant in Winston-Salem, will be serving up some Cajun treats.

These and other culinary delights may be consumed in the New Orleans style French sidewalk cafe where you may be served by a Davie High French student while you watch the entertainment stage.

Eating is only a small part of the fun to be had at Arts Alive. The festivities will kick off at 9 a.m. with a Mardi Gras style parade led by the Davie High Marching Band from the downtown square to the Masonic picnic grounds. The parade will feature a float designed to demonstrate the Mardi Gras theme. In holding true to the Mardi Gras theme, riders of the float will toss "throws", inexpensive trinkets, to the crowd.

The Dancing boots will also join the parade and the Davie High Drama students are sure to provide a colorful entry. Spectators are invited to join in at the end of the parade to go to the picnic ground where more fun awaits.

Over 40 exhibitors will be set up at the Masonic picnic grounds to offer for sale a variety of hand made crafts to delight old and young alike. The Kids Only station will give children an opportunity to make Mardi Gras masks and other fun crafts. The third, fourth and fifth graders in Davie County schools will have the opportunity to make Mardi Gras masks in school. The masks will be used as decorations at Arts Alive with winning masks from each school displayed.

Janet Dean will unveil her original print made specifically for this year's Arts Alive and reproductions of that print will be available for sale. Two entertainment areas will feature locally, nationally and internationally known entertainers including, to mention only a few, choruses, mime, dance and culminating in a performance by "Beausoleil" the Cajun Band that accompanied Mary-Chapin Carpenter in her Grammy winning hit single "Twist and Shout".

Shortt To Be On TV

C. Vincent Shortt, president of Shortt Stories Teleproductions, Inc., Advance, has received word that two programs created by his company will be premiered in North Carolina on UNC-TV, the statewide public television network.

"Inn Country USA," the lifestyle series of 26 half hour programs which profiles upscale Country Inns around the Nation will premiere Saturday, Oct. 2, at 4 p.m.

"We are delighted the programming people at UNC-TV thought enough of our new series to schedule us between The Frugal Gourmet and The Victory Garden, two of public television's most popular programs," Shortt said. "It would be difficult to imagine a better place in the schedule."

Two North Carolina inns, The Greystone Inn at Lake Toxaway, and the Richmond Hill Inn, in Asheville are both included in the series, as well as 24 others from Eureka, California to Key West, Fla.

"13 Reasons To Hope," the 13-part series on innovative approaches to addressing the problems in public education, will premiere at 3 p.m. on Oct. 13. The first program in the series was taped on location at The Downtown School in Winston-Salem.

"This series is really about courage," Shortt said, "the courage of people willing to risk failure to bring about much needed change in our schools."

Former Georgia state legislator, Julian Bond narrates the series.

CAN-STOP Awarded Grant

The Greater Triad chapter of the March of Dimes has awarded a $2,000 grant to the Davie County CAN-STOP Health Fair.

Richard Etheridge, March of Dimes review committee chairman, presented the award at a meeting last week of the CAN-STOP council, formed to provide guidance in preventing unwanted teen-age pregnancies.

"You do great work in Davie County and the March of Dimes is very pleased," Etheridge said. "Having close-to-home resources with flexibility can mean a lot to someone who is frightened or who may have a hard time building a support system for herself and her family."

Davie Health Director Dennis Harrington said the council's goals are long term. "We all recognize that teens having babies are a risk to their health, their education and sometimes their psychological future."

Harrington said the work of the council should be seen for years to come. "You will see behavior changes down the road, I'm almost certain," he said.

Susan Hockaday will chair the health fair committee, with help from Mike Garner, T.K. Edens, Alice Gaither and Ernestine Grant.

The March of Dimes, Etheridge said, awards grants based on three priorities: preventing premature births, improving access to prenatal care, and preventing unwanted pregnancies in teenagers.

"We feel that the 1993 grantees have put a great deal of care into designing ways to reach women at risk of giving premature birth," he said.

The mission of the March of Dimes is improving the health of babies by preventing birth defects and reducing the rate of infant mortality.

Fats Play A Number Of Roles In Cooking, And In Diet

By Babs Wilkinson
N.C. Dept. of Agriculture

Fats and their liquid counterparts, oils, are often misunderstood.

To some, the word fat means being overweight; to others, it's a messy cleanup after frying.

But to a nutritionist, fat represents one of the three major dietary components of food - the other two being proteins and carbohydrates.

Fats are the most concentrated source of food energy, yielding 9 calories per gram - over twice as many calories as are supplied by either carbohydrates or protein, both of which yeild 4 calories per gram. Fats give food distinctive flavors and aromas, leaving us with a feeling of satisfaction of fullness after we have eaten.

Fats also contain the fat-soluble vitamins A, D, E and K and are the sole source of linoleic acid, the essential fatty acid the body cannot manufacture for itself. Some fat is necessary in the diet to maintain good health. Consumption of moderate amounts of fat (about 25 percent of our daily calorie intake) in addition to a balanced diet and regular exercise is generally acceptable for healthy people.

As far as cooking is concerned, fats have a number of roles to play. In pastry making, it's the melting of the fat that puffs the dough and makes a flaky crust. Fats are used in breads to add tenderness, moistness and flavor.

For frying, fats are a must. Fats can be heated to a much higher temperature than water so foods not only cook but brown, too. They also form the emulsifying agent in gravies and mayonnaise.

For some recipes that cut back on the amount of fat in your diet, but still have that flavor of just fried, try one or all of these oven-fried recipes.

Oven-Fried Catfish

2 pounds catfish
1/2 cup Italian-seasoned breadcrumbs
1 egg beaten
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Dip fillets in egg; lightly coat with breadcrumbs. Arrange fish in a single layer of a well-greased, shallow baking pan. Combine butter and lemon juice; drizzle over fish. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Oven-Fried Parmesan Chicken

1 cup fine cracker crumbs
1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Dash of garlic powder
1 (2-1/2 to 3 pound) broiler-fryer, cut up and skinned
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine first 6 ingredients and stir mixture well. Rinse chicken with cold water, and pat dry. Dip chicken in butter and dredge in cracker crumb mixture. Place chicken in a 13x9x2 inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until done. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Oven-Fried Eggplant

1/3 cup fine, dry breadcrumbs
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 (3/4 pound) eggplant
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
Garnish: fresh basil

Combine first 4 ingredients in a shallow dish. Peel eggplant, and cut into 1/4-inch slices. Spread both sides of eggplant slices with mayonnaise; dredge in breadcrumb mixture. Place on a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees, uncovered, for 10 to 12 minutes or until eggplant is browned. Garnish, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Cheesy Oven Fries

3 medium potatoes
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon paprika
1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
3/4 teaspoon garlic powder
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Wash potatoes well, and cut each into 8 wedges; set aside. Combine Parmesan cheese, salt, garlic powder and paprika, stirring well. Dip potato wedges in melted butter; arrange in a single layer in a lightly greased 15x10x1-inch jellyroll pan. Sprinkle cheese mixture evenly over potatoes. Bake uncovered, at 375 degrees for 40 minutes or until potatoes are tender and browned. Yield 4 to 6 servings.

Discipline Affects Behavior

Eight-year-old Tommy is cranky, insisting on his way all the time. Timmy, who is the same age, is considerate and cooperative.

"While basic temperament may be partly to blame, their parents' styles of discipline is also related to different types of behavior," said Dr. Cynthia Johnson, extension human development specialist at North Carolina State University.

"Researchers have found that the type of discipline a parent uses influences the type of person a child becomes," Johnson explained.

The extremely permissive parent has few rules and allows the children to do as they please. Children of extremely permissive parents are often cranky and whinny. They are very aggressive and want their way all the time.

The extremely strict parent expects immediate obediance, gives no explanation for demands and uses physical punishment. Children of extremely strict parents are either timid, withdrawn and very dependent or they rebel and defy authority.

A moderate parent has rules that are enforced consistently and is firm, yet kind, warm and loving. The parent takes the children's ages and uniqueness into account, and tries to understand why they act the way they do.

Children of moderate parents are responsible and cooperative. They have good self-concepts and are considerate of others. Moderation works well when disciplining children.

Discipline helps children learn to get along with other people, teaches them to behave in an agreeable way and helps them learn to control their own behavior. "Appropriate discipline is a gift that parents give their child," Johnson said.

Coy Privette To Speak At Blaise 'Citizens Against Lottery' Event

Former State Rep. Coy C. Privette, Kannapolis, and Bill Brooks, chairman of "Citizens Against The Lottery" in Raleigh, will be the key resources leaders for a workshop, "The Christian Looks At Gambling", to be held at Blaise Baptist Church, U.S. 601 at I-40, Mocksville, on Sunday, Sept. 12, 7 p.m., according to Mark Jones, workshop co-ordinator.

Privette, a native of Statesville, served 4 terms in the N.C. House of Representatives, representing Cabarrus, Stanly, and Union counties. During his legislative tenure, he was named the most effective legislator in his first term; served as the Minority Joint Senate-House Caucus Leader; and was the recipient of Mother's Against Drunk Driving Legislative Award.

Brooks is the former staff economist for the U.S. Senate Agriculture Committee and more frequently for N.C. Citizens for Business and Industry.

North Carolina has been targeted by the gambling industry for legalized gambling since this state is the largest in the nation without any form of legalized gambling, according to Privette, who serves as the executive director of the Christian Action League of N.C. "Even every state in the often referred Bible Belt has fallen victim to some form of legalized gambling except the Tar Heel State," he said.

The gambling industry has legislation before the N.C. General Assembly that would establish a state-operated lottery and allow para-mutuel gambling (horse racing with off-track betting parlors). The lottery proposal has already passed the Senate and will be before the N.C. House when it re-convenes for its 1994 session. The Senate and House para-mutuel gambling bills have passed their initial legislative committees and can be acted upon also in next year's legislative session.

"The purpose of the workshop is to educate concerned citizens about this insidious evil of gambling and its detrimental impact upon society," Jones said. "Citizens will be motivated in responsible ways to defeat these proposals."

The workshop is free and open to the public. A free will offering will be taken to cover cost of materials. This workshop is a joint venture of the Christian Action League of NC, Inc., and the NC Christian Coalition.

Spiritual Resources
Praising God — Regardless

By Shirley Cottle

Once in a while, we are privileged to spend a few minutes with someone who causes us to look again at how we express our faith. Such was my recent blessing.

As soon as she got into the car, and until we reached our destination some 15 minutes later, she never quit speaking of the goodness of God in her life. Her praise to God was of her children and husband, of family and friends, of God's creation in nature, and her desire to share His love with others. She was so happy that God had opened a door of opportunity through which she could share these expressions of her strong faith. As I listened I marveled at such faith, for our destination was to the doctor's office; a frequent thing for her as she battles some serious illnesses. Yet she did not dwell on her treatments, discomfort, or the disruption in her young life. There were no negative or doubting statements. She only spoke of God's goodness.

In Philippians 4:13, Paul writes, "I can do all things through Him (Jesus Christ) who strengthens me." And in verse 11; "I have learned to be content in whatever circumstances I am."

For Paul, prisons and beatings, confinements or freedom, plenty or hunger, were not the things that ruled his life. His devotion and allegiance were to Christ, his Redeemer, his source of real strength and contentment. Through her statements, I knew she had this same assurance.

So it made me look once again at how I respond to the life threatening events of my life. Do I have a "Why me" response? Do I give the impression to others that God only loves me when everything is going well? How do I respond to the temporary disruptions in my life? Do I blame others, complain all the time, or see nothing good around me? Our short drive gave me a much needed reflection into how I truly react. My faith was strengthened by her words of praise.

Do the trials of today seem to be too much for you? Are you saying, "Why me?" Remember then these words from the Apostle Paul and believe with all your heart that Christ is with you in all circumstances (if you desire His forgiveness and presence,) and "I can do all things through Him who strengthens me," will lift you up.

And she opened her mouth and spake only of the goodness of God. And the blessing was all mine.

Spanning The Years

Training School, Central Davie Students Reunite

Black students who attended Rosenwald School, Davie County Training School and Central Davie High School got together for a reunion on June 26, reminiscing about the days the romped through the halls - some as many as 50 years ago.

The idea for a reunion for the schools, attended by black students before integration, began in 1989, when members of the class of 1953 began plans for their 36th class reunion. Dorothy Rucker Graham, the class secretary for that year, was helping to organize that reunion. When graduates from other classes discovered the activity at Morrison-Studevent Funeral Home, where Graham worked, they requested to be a part of the reunion. Ironically, the idea was born in a funeral parlor.

After integration, the school, off Campbell Road in Mocksville, became a middle school, housing both black and white students.

In addition to the many graduates attending the reunion from Mocksville and Davie County, 30 came from Winston-Salem, one from Pfafftown, five from New York, 11 from Salisbury, two from New Jersey, one from Greensboro, two from Charlotte, one from Maryland, one from Lexington, two from Connecticut, one from High Point, two from Fayetteville, one from Virginia, and Christine Rucker Summers, who traveled the most, coming from Dorchester, Mass.

Charlie Barker, Pecola Holman and Sadie Jones were masters and mistresses of ceremony. Others on the program included Charles Patterson, Susan Bentley, Rachel D. Carson, the Rev. T.S. Holman, Allen Steele and Alfred Mason.

Black students were taught in homes until the late 1800s, when the Davie Educational Union opened a school on Depot Street in downtown Mocksville. In the early 1900s, Dals and Hodge Gaitherled a drive for a new school, settling on the location on Campbell Road. That school opened with grades 1-8 in 1925. The ninth grade was added in 1931, the 10th grade in 1932 and the 11th grade in 1933. The 12th grade was added in 1946.

COOLEEMEE

The children in Mrs. Coutts' first grade class have had a special friend in their classroom since school began. They named her Michelle. She began as a tiny caterpillar, so small they had to watch her through a magnifying glass. Over the weeks, Michelle ate lots of milkweed and grew large. One Monday when the children returned, she had turned into a chrysalis with a gold thread in it. A week later, there was much excitement as Michelle came out of her chrysalis as an orange monarch butterfly. Quietly, the children told Michelle good-bye and placed her on the bushes outside. As the weather turns cooler, she will begin her long flight to Mexico to spend the winter.

First grade students of Cynthia Wilkinson and Jenny Hendrix have spent the beginning of school learning about bears. They have read Brown Bear, Hairy Bear, and Bears. Science has been integrated with the language program as they discussed mammals, hibernation, and the five senses. Vocabulary words have been sent home twice. These words need to be reviewed regularly. Parents and grandparents will visit the classroom on Sept. 13 to see the work. Al and Barbara Thornton are classroom volunteers.

PINEBROOK

The fifth grade students are planting a fall vegetable garden and have cleared an area for a bird and butterfly sanctuary. Area nurseries and businesses have donated seed and plants. Outdoor science is a hands-on experience and teaching tool.

NOTICE: While pulling honeysuckle roots last week, Ian Scott uncovered a 1973 Davie High girl's class ring with the initials "DLC" engraved inside. If you could help in locating the owner, call the school. Second graders worked with Mandy Plyler and Rita Gunnoe on beginning consonant sounds using the book, Chicka Chicka Boom Boom. They made their own coconut trees and personalized them with the letters in their name.

The students of Elizabeth Vogler, Wanda Leagans, and Gladys Scott will have their "Dinosaur Dinner" Sept. 10. The students have started their training for using the 2nd grade computer lab.

The second grade class of Sandi Robinson and Maria Knight has been studying the ocean habitat with special emphasis on sharks and whales. The reading books for this unit are Hungry, Hungry Shark and Whales, the Gentle Giants. The class made a book about whales for the reading center and each student wrote and illustrated a pop-up book about ocean animals. These will be on display in the classroom during the PTA open house. The cooking project for this unit was to make "edible aquariums" for snack time. Each student also had the opportunity to make a sand and sea shell paperweight. Some of the other art projects included paper plate fish and crayon resist ocean pictures. Student of the Week honors for Aug. 30-Sept. 3 were earned by Collin Ferebee, Tiffany Doss, Casey Crowley, Justin Ijames, Jackie Stevenson, Serena VanCuren, Reuben Ijames, Jon Gobble, Thim Phommavahn, Matthew Shinault, Jennifer Williams, Sara Beth Snow, Ashlee Prevette, Megan Dwiggins, Emily Williams, Mercedes Soto, and Kayla Snyder.

License Renewal Plan Changes

RALEIGH - Today's winning numbers are four, six, four and seven.

Gov. Jim Hunt got four. He may be somewhat chagrined to find out that Lt. Gov. Dennis Wicker got a better deal than he did with six.

Secretary of Transportation Sam Hunt got four, too, and it was his idea. President of the Senate Mare Basnight and Speaker of the House Dan Blue beat them all with sevens.

No, it's not a miniature lottery and it likely won't satisfy folks who want North Carolina to have a real lottery. But computing when you'll have to renew your driver's license under the new 5-Year Driver License Program just enacted by the N.C. General Assembly can be fun.

North Carolina drivers are about to see a change in the old four-year license renewal requirement - a change that will save them time and approximately $1.5 million a year in tax money.

In January 1995, the Division of Motor Vehicles will begin a graduated process toward a 5-year renewal system that will cause drivers between the ages of 18 and 62 to renew their license at four, five, six, seven or eight-year intervals.

The graduated program is necessary since going to a straight five-year renewal system would mean no drivers would renew their licenses in 1999, creating a substantial decrease in revenue.

After the initial phase-in, drivers will renew their license when their age is divisible by five. Renewals would occur on the following ages: 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, etc., making it easier for drivers to remember when license renewal time rolls around.

Hunt said he and Gov. Hunt discussed the idea before its introduction.

The system works a bit differently for 17-year-olds and drivers 62 years or older. All 17-year-olds will renew their license for the first time at age 20, only a three-year renewal. Drivers 62 and older will be on a straight five-year renewal system with no phase-in.

It's important to remember that the phase-in process begins in January, 1995. Renewals before that date remain at four years. (For example, if your license expires in June 1994, you will renew then for four years until 1998. You should determine the age you will be in 1998 to see how the phase-in will affect you.)

Highway Deaths Continue Decline In North Carolina

RALEIGH - The number of deaths on North Carolina highways declined for the sixth straight year, according to preliminary figures announced by the North Carolina Department of Transportation's Governor's Highway Safety Program (GHSP).

In 1992, 1,262 people died on North Carolina roads, compared to 1,368 people in 1991.

"This decline is particularly noteworthy considering that the amount of miles driven on North Carolina highways continues to increase each year," said Transportation Secretary Sam Hunt.

Traffic deaths in the state have dropped each year since 1986, when the mandatory seat belt law went into effect.

"The greatest factor influencing the state's steadily improving highway safety record is the public's commitment to safe driving," said Hunt.

Hunt applauded the efforts of the Highway Patrol, the Division of Motor Vehicles Enforcement, local law enforcement agencies and others who make North Carolina roads safer.

"Together, we will continue our efforts to educate the public and promote safe driving," GHSP Director Joe Parker said. "Our goal is to prevent highway fatalities and save lives."

According to preliminary figures from the U.S. Department of Transportation, the 1992 state fatality rate dropped to 1.88 from 2.11 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles traveled. While the fatality rate dropped, the number of vehicle miles traveled increased from 64.9 to 66.9 billion miles per year.

North Carlina has shown continued progress in reducing traffic deaths since 1966 when Congress enacted the Highway Safety Act of 1966. At that time, the state's highway death rate was 6.78 deaths per 100 million miles traveled. Officials attribute the decrease in fatalities to: enactment of stricter motor vehicle laws that deal with safety seat use, mandatory seat belt use and tougher driving while impaired laws; efforts by safety organizations to deter drunk and drugged driving; and safety and design improvements in motor vehicles.

"While we are pleased with the significant improvement, our job is by no means finished," said Parker. "We will continue to work to make North Carolina's roadways safer."

Earlier this year, the GHSP awarded 33 grants to local law enforcement agencies to enforce the safety belt law in their communities. This fall the NCDOT will launch a five-year highway safety initiative that will focus on increasing safety belt and child restraint use through enhanced law enforcement and publicity.

Snakes Can Be Beneficial

Many people have a natural fear of snakes and become quite concerned when these animals are found near a residence.

The first reaction is to immediately chop the snakes head off. But snakes are actually beneficial creatures whose primary food source is rodents, said Darrell Blackwelder, Cooperative Extension agent.

There are more than 37 species of snakes in North Carolina. Only six species are poisonous.

The most common poisonous snake in Davie County is the copperhead. Copperheads are short, thick snakes usually found near brush piles or dense undergrowth. The timber rattle snake or caneback rattler is also a poisonous snake found in this region.

Most people think cottonmouths are indigenous to this area, but this area is too cold for this snake to survive. Cottonmouths are found in the eastern part of North Carolina, starting near the Fayetteville area.

These three snakes belong to a group of snakes called pit vipers. These are characterized by a pit between and slightly below the eye and nostril; long movable fangs; a vertically elliptical pupil; undivided scales on the underside of the tail; and a triangular tail.

The Extension Service often receives calls from residents that are building or have built homes in wooded areas or near grassy fields. Most sightings occur in the spring or fall when snakes are in search of food or moving to or from hibernation areas, Blackwelder said.

Snakes can be discouraged from staying in an area by cutting off their food supply and cover. Mow closely around homes and outbuildings, and store firewood or lumber away from the residence. Reduce mulch layers around the shrubs to discourage small animals or rodents. Close cracks and crevices in building and around pipes and utility connections with 1/4 inch mesh hardware cloth, mortar, sheet metal or caulking. All doors and windows should have tightly fitting screens.

Repellents such as sulfur or mothballs have proven generally ineffective at keeping snakes away from residences. Snakes can easily be removed by sweeping into a box or a paper bag. A large snake can usually be carried away with a stick or garden rake.

If a snake enters a residence, it may be difficult to find. Since snakes seem to like moisture, they can be coaxed to an area by placing wads of damp cloth covered with dry ones at different places along a wall. The piles must be large enough to allow a snake to crawl under them. Check the piles each day to find the snake.

It may be necessary to kill poisonous snakes. Use a long handled hoe or shovel to kill by severing the head from the body. Do not handle the head of dead snake. Recently killed snakes may bite by reflex action. Poisonous snakes should be killed only if their presence endangers humans or pets.

If a person is bitten by a poisonous snake, do not cut the wound and suck out the blood. Do not apply a tourniquet. Keep the victim as calm as possible. Apply an ice pack to the wound. Seek help at the nearest hospital emergency room immediately. Put the snake in a secure container and bring to hospital for possible identification.

Contact the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service, Davie County Center for more information about control of snakes. Ask for Ag Information leaflet AG-472-20.

Summer's Lack Of Clouds Could Make Fall Colors

CULLOWHEE -- As the old saying goes, every cloud has a silver lining. For Western North Carolina's annual onslaught of leaf-lookers, this summer's lack of clouds may hold a multi-colored lining.

That's as in the dazzling reds, oranges and yellows of an above-average fall color season, according to Western Carolina University biology professor J. Dan Pittillo. A prominent expert in Appalachian plant ecology, Pittillo -- if you'll pardon the pun -- goes out on a limb about this time every year with a prediction about the impending fall color season.

And this year, the news is good -- at least for those who like to look at brilliant fall foliage. Long periods of hot, dry weather in the summer usually produce brightly colored leaves in the fall, Pittillo said.

"Based on my experience over the past few decades, my prediction is that there will be some brilliant fall leaf colors," he said. "Usually, with droughty weather, there is brilliant fall color.

Pittillo is quick to add the disclaimer that predicting fall color is, at best, an inexact science. All bets are off when it comes down to the finicky disposition of Mother Nature, especially considering ever-changing mountain weather conditions.

"There are a couple of factors that might dull the color," Pittillo said. "An early heavy freeze -- below 28 degrees Fahrenheit -- or a lack of sunny fall days could impact the brightness of the color." Hard rains and winds can knock the fragile leaves from trees, bringing the color show to a sudden stop.

Asleaf-lookers begin making plans to travel to the mountains, it's important to remember that leaves at higher elevations change color earlier than those found in the lower-lying valleys and coves. And that means it is nearly impossible to specify when the so-called "color peak" will take place, Pittillo said.

"The timing is always hard to predict," he said. "The higher elevations might begin to develop color by midto late September. If it frosts in September, however, this will speed up the process."

Pressed to pick a peak, Pittillo proclaimed that perhaps the first and second weeks of October will be the best bet. "The katydids began chirping in the middle of July at my house, and the old-timers usually think it will frost within two months, suggesting a mid-September frost," he said. If the old-timers and the katydids are right, that points to the best fall color in the first couple weeks of October.

The botanical process that leads to the annual changing of the color guard is already in the works. Cooler temperatures by night and more-direct sunshine by day contribute to the development of a structure called the "separation layer." That cuts the flow of nutritional material to the leaf, allowing the decomposition of chlorophyll, which gives leaves their green color in spring and summer. As the chlorophyll breaks down, other pigments -- always present in the leaves, but usually masked by the green of chlorophyll -- are revealed.

Sourwoods, maples, sassafras and birches will be the first to make the change, turning red, orange and yellow. Hickory and yellow poplar should begin to brighten in mid-season, with oaks turning yellow or red late in the season.

Depending upon weather conditions, some swatches of fall color may last until about Thanksgiving, Pittillo said.

Water Intake Dropped

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville commissioners decided last week to drop the town's oldest drinking water source to rely on a newer and larger system.

In the long run, the move may earn millions in commercial development for the town if plans to declassify the Bear Creek watershed go as hoped.

By abandoning the use of Bear Creek watershed as a source of drinking water, town officials hope state regulators will change that area's watershed classification from WS-2 to a WS-4. The lower the classification, the less development can be achieved, according to state drinking water rules which take effect in October.

Bear Creek's watershed area includes the lucrative U.S. 601 and I-40 commercial area. That's where the town has already sunk more than a million dollars laying water and sewer lines to entice businesses to build there.

John Grey, Mocksville public works director, said the town's Hunting Creek water intake is a much better system and is capable to handling the town's water needs.

Keeping restrictions on the Bear Creek watershed area will be expensive and a hardship on those residents, he said.

Grey said the only disadvantage to dropping Bear Creek is that the town's two pumps run on different power supplies, and before they could back each other up. But he added that Bear Creek was not a reliable source for all of the town's water because it often runs dry.

Town Attorney Hank Van Hoy said commissioners need to consider the economic disadvantage to losing the area for development.

The board voted unanimously to drop the intake as a water supply, but decided to buy a generator in the event that the sole water source, Hunting Creek, ever had a power outage.

Annexation

Cooleemee Hearing Monday Night

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The sign in Keth Hodgson's yard says it all. "This ain't Cooleemee."

One of the more vocal opponents to Cooleemee's proposed annexation, Hodgson will tell you straight out that he will not be annexed into the town.

Many of his neighbors feel the same way. So do others in North Cooleemee and along Junction, Duck Pond and Flat Rock roads that the town board is considering taking into the town.

They will have their say Monday night beginning at 7:30 at a public hearing at the VFW Building on N.C. 801. The board is expected to vote on the annexation on Oct. 11.

Hodgson's mother, Elsie, has lived at the home off N.C. 801 for 57 years. She grew up in Cooleemee.

Their home now is in area they call Rocky Knoll, which she says is separated from Cooleemee by North Cooleemee.

Murderer: 'From My Heart, No, I Am Not Guilty'

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

In his heart, Charles Toreno Ramsuer told the judge, he was not guilty of killing a man he claims beat his girlfriend.

But after one failed attempt at a plea, Ramsuer pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the death of Johnny Ray "Squeaky" Porter in Davie Superior Court last week. He was sentenced to 25 years in prison.

Ramseur

Standing before Judge Lester P. Martin last week, Ramsuer, 33, of Statesville, reluctantly answered Martin's questions about his willingness to accept the plea.

"Is this man on any drugs?" Martin asked Ramsuer's attorney, Romallus Murphy of Greensboro. "Is this the way he normally acts?"

Martin then asked Ramsuer if he was guilty of the crime.

"From my heart, no I am not guilty," Ramsuer answered.

His answer drew a quick command from Martin to take him back to jail. "This man is not ready to plea to anything," he said.

A few moments later, Murphy asked permission to bring Ramsuer back to try again. This time, Ramsuer accepted the plea bargain and accepted responsibility for the murder of Porter on July 8, 1992.

Ramsuer's cohort, Amos Tucker, 20, of Statesville, also appeared the following day before the judge and pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting the murder. He received a 20 years sentence suspended for five years probation. Tucker was ordered to spend six months active time in prison.

Davie County Sheriff's Detective Alan Whitaker testified that deputies had collected statements from the men's friends claiming that they searched Davie County in a pickup truck looking for Porter on the morning of his death.

Ramsuer had learned that Porter had beaten his girlfriend, Deforte Tucker Porter, Porter's estranged wife, the night before, Whitaker said.

According to testimony, Tucker told Porter's friends that if he and Ramsuer found Porter they were "going to waste him."

Porter's neighbors called deputies to the scene of Porter's Sheffield trailer early that afternoon, where Porter was found face-up in the kitchen. He had been shot in the face and head.

Detectives never found the gun.

They say Ramsuer went inside the trailer, shot Porter, and took Deforte Porter to the truck where Tucker was waiting.

Judge Refuses To Reduce Bond

A bond reduction was denied for one of the suspects arrested for promoting prostitution of several Mocksville girls.

Judge Lester P. Martin refused to reduce Bobby Marion Booe's $15,000 bond during Davie Superior Court last week.

Booe's attorney, Tammy Flemming asked that his bond be reduced and that his grandmother be allowed to supervise him.

Booe was arrested in June and charged with three counts of promoting prostitution of a minor. His bond was set at $6,000, which he later posted and was released.

Booe's bond was revoked after he violated probation by being in a car near the victims, and he was taken back into custody.

Booe's bond stands at $15,000.

Top Cajun Band To Highlight Arts Alive

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

More On Arts Alive Festival, Page C6

Get ready to tap your feet and clap your hands. Get ready to have a good time. Get ready to dance.

Get ready for Beausoleil - the hottest Cajun band around, a bit of country music, folk music and bluegrass - in French.

Beausoleil will bring it's show to Mocksville Saturday to cap off Arts Alive, a day-long celebration that begins with a parade from downtown Mocksville to the Masonic Picnic Grounds on North Main Street at 9 a.m.

There, the festival keeps with the Mardis Gras and Cajun theme with arts and crafts vendors, food and entertainment on two stages - culminating with a performance by Beausoleil (pronounced Boo-sa-lay) at 5:30.

Band leader Michael Doucet said area residents can expect to hear some familiar sounds like fiddles and guitars, banjos and drums, except that it will be delivered with the flair of authentic southwest Louisiana performers.

"It's the rural French dance music of southwest Louisiana," Doucet said in a recent interview from his home near Lafayette. "This music has always been around. It was mostly house, or back porch music."

The music is acoustic, except for an electric bass. And most of it is in French. "I don't think it makes any difference. The emotions and the sentiments get through," Doucet said.

He must be right.

Changing Season: It's Later Than It May Seem

The coolness in the morning air this week came at long last. The hot summer may finally be winding to a close. Not over. But the end's in sight.

It's about time.

The summer heat has been a record breaker. Rain has become only a memory. And it's mid September.

Time for a little briskness in the air. Time for ... heavy rains produced by hurricanes in the Atlantic. Emily may have messed up the Outer Banks, but we didn't even get a few inches of rain as a benefit. Farmers have long counted on the hurricanes to end the summer droughts.

It has been hot, but it hasn't been the worst of summers. Many tobacco farmers -- judging by the size of their crops -- seem to have fared well. Corn fields have seen better seasons, but we've there have been far worse years.

I did a double take while driving on U.S. 64 through Davidson County on Sunday. Truck farmers were on the roadside with a trailer load of ... pumpkins. They looked like big ones.

After the exhausting heat of summer, the change of seasons is especially welcomed. It' a chance to change the wardrobe. To pull out the wools and sweaters. To put away the kiddie pool. To give up on the flower garden in the front yard.

Already some of the oak leaves have died somewhat prematurely and dropped on the lawn.

Poplar leaves in many places have already begun to change to their bright yellows. They always seem to be the first to put on the fall colors.

In a month the neighborhood will be filled with the nagging whine of power blowers on Saturday mornings. And Friday evenings. And Thursday evenings. And Wednesday ...

That firewood that I had planned to cut for winter is still standing tall in the trees. The chainsaw is sharpened and ready. I decided 90 degree weather is no time to cut firewood. A few crisp mornings may inspire me.

Football is well underway. About 20 percent of the season -- two games worth -- has already been played. Major League baseball is winding down to the World Series next month. The patient Atlanta Braves have finally seen the San Francisco Giants fade. The elusive World Series may come their way yet. And, of course, the NBA is a few weeks away from starting its eight-month basketball season.

The leaves haven't changed yet. The still don't need to be raked, but the calendar continues to move faster and faster. Think of this: it's only 14 weeks til Christmas.

Four distinct seasons is one of North Carolina's best attractions. There's a little snow, but not too much. A lot of heat in summer, but not the immobilizing kind that prevents all outdoor activity. There's lots of trees that make the fall colors beautiful. And we have dogwood trees and azaleas to make the spring beautiful.

But all four seasons seem to pass too quickly.

Parents Should Stand Up For Teachers

To the editor:

I believe the parents of Davie County students need to stand up and fight for our teachers. Maybe we should start by impeaching the current school board and superintendent because of their ludicrous decision making abilities.

Next year, our school will change to the middle school concept. In preparation, the board shifted most of our principals to schools outside of their expertise. They were doing a great job where they were, and most didn't want/need change. Now the same mentality has shifted our teaching staff helter skelter across the county. Was any logical judgment used in teacher placements? Were the teachers with seniority given any respect for their dedication to our children? Did the board just throw all of the names in a hat and place teachers in schools like a game? Do you really think the "balance" speech (or excuse) for your decisions makes any sense?

My children have been in the Davie School system for 12 years, and they attend Davie High, North Davie Jr. High, and Pinebrook Elementary. For the first time ever, I am ashamed of the direction and decisions being forced on our staff and students. Team teaching groups have been split, requests for school placements ignored, and seniority a non-existent factor. Teachers have even been shifted between North and South junior highs, which makes absolutely no sense. The teachers were told they have no choice this year, but could request changes next year. The board ignored their original placement requests, so why should they listen next year.

Wake up school board. You have destroyed the morale of our staff. Their hard work, team skills, and dedication to or children didn't matter to you. You told the students that happy teachers weren't important. You say you want a positive transition next year. Why don't you remember the children you were elected to represent"? Your job is to protect our children's education, not to destroy the morale of our educators. I think you need to consider the people who educate our children as our No. 1 asset and treat them as such. We have the best teachers, don't try to chase them off. They are a great group of people.

Center Fair, Barbecue Is Again A Success

To the editor:

I would like to thank all of those who supported the Center BBQ and Fair this past weekend. It was one of our largest ever and was a huge success. We sold 5,300 pounds of BBQ, which was 1,000 pounds over last year. My apology to those who were turned away when we sold out. We will try to have even more next year. A big thanks to our volunteer firefighters and their families and our community volunteers for helping make this event possible. Many hours, days and weeks ahead are spent in preparation. Thanks also goes to all those who entered exhibits in the fair, to the individuals that took the time to bring antique tractors and antique cars for display, and to all those who brought crafts and other exhibits for display. The special music under the arbor was good and the weather was perfect. We hope to have an even larger area of displays next year. Thanks again for everyone's efforts to make Center a good community in which to live.

More On Davie County Justice

To the editor:

After all the squawking on TV by lawyers in California, the word is getting around that the bashing is justified. Where there is smoke there is fire. Today's society has been brainwashed by the legal profession for many years. The public trusted them. But since the late 30's the lawyers with their collection of bar associations control the court systems. They are supposed to be the "watch dog" of the courts, and do not have to answer to any higher authority. That's like putting a wolf to guard the chicken house.

History repeats; they are like the big labor unions, who after years of success became so corrupt that they ruined many companies. Two months ago (May 24) I gave up on beating the system. Today I still have not received my measly share of my life's savings: 15 cents on the dollar. That's what Davie County justice is doing to me.

Reader Knows Davie Is The Best

Folks around here know that Davie County is the best place to live. But don't look for us on Money Magazine's list of the best cities to live in the United States.

We even found out that we're not qualified to be named an All-American Community. We're not qualified because there's not enough crime, violence, racial tension and homelessness.

Hate we missed that designation. Why did we work so hard to get it?

Maybe we don't want to be an All-American City. Maybe we don't want to be ranked as one of the best places to live.

Mike Barnhardt

Patricia Cooper Gregory wrote a letter about leaving "mindless banality" in Augusta, Ga., and crime in Winston-Salem to live in Advance and Davie County. "The best city to live in is not a city. It's a small town that gets it's mail on the rural route," she said.

Amen.

She even compiled her own criteria for judging a community's livability. It's worth printing here.

If you can see Canadian geese fly over your house every morning - 15 points.

If half the weekly local newspaper deals with what is going on in our schools - 20 points.

If people wave and honk as they drive by - 10 points.

If few people use turn signals because they know who you are and where you're going - 5 points.

If taxes are low but we have first-class schools, libraries, YMCAs and senior citizen centers - 25 points.

If more is spent per capita on canning jars than crack - 20 points.

If all you have to do to attend a family reunion is step out your back door - 30 points.

If big hospitals, office buildings, shopping malls and performing arts centers are a 30 minutes drive away - 30 points.

If good restaurants are 10 minutes away - 10 points.

If your home cooking is better than the best restaurants because you raised the food - 50 points.

If the best social events include ice cream socials, Moravian cooking bakings, chicken stew suppers and volunteer fire department barbecues - 40 points.

If Money Magazine and the All-American City organization used Patricia's criteria, Davie County would be at the top of every list. It really doesn't matter, because we're already at the top of the only list that matters - our own.

Writer Offers Solutions To Flower Deliveries At DHS

To the editor:

I am writing in response to the new flower delivery policy at Davie High School. As the policy stands now, neither flowers nor balloons can be delivered to the school. There are two sides to this dilemma and I can understand both sides. Let's view both sides with an open mind.

There are several advantages to having such a policy at a place designed for learning. First, we must examine the fact that there is quite a disturbance when a student receives flowers/balloons. It is true that the student is not allowed to pick the delivery up until he or she leaves school, but that student must be sent a note telling them to stop by the office at the end of school. This is a hassle for the administration to over-see, as well as a disruption to the class when the note is delivered. We can't overlook the predicament of what to do when the student forgets to stop by and pick up his or her flowers. Not only does that leave rotten flowers, but the administration hears from the upset parents, boyfriends, etc. When in actuality it was no one's fault except for the student's forgetfulness. Most importantly, we must address the element that this new policy solves many headaches on Valentine's Day. Besides having to deal with all the hurt feelings from those that do not receive anything, there is also the reality of having no room to walk.

On the other hand, there are disadvantages to the new procedure. It is obvious that Davie County florists will suffer a cut in money. This will not only affect the florists, but it will trickle-down and affect the High School. Having been on the Homecoming Committee, I can honestly say how much support we received from Sisters II Florist. Benita Wyatt was more than willing to "cut a cheaper deal" and still managed to donate a lot of the extras that made Homecoming so special. For example, the school paid for carnations for the Homecoming Court and Ms. Wyatt generously sent roses. She is a former graduate of DHS and has always been more than cooperative in working with the high school on all occasions. However, if her business is cut, then she will understandably revoke her deals and assistance. Next, there are the other florists, such as Davie Florist, who also charitably furnish one free carnation to any student with an honor card. Will such support continue if word gets around that the high school does not support the local businesses? If the support does not continue, where does the school go to get flowers needed for homecoming, receptions, etc? It would be a shame to have to take Davie County revenue and spend it in another county for flowers, especially on Valentine's Day.

This situation is quite a dilemma. So what are some possible solutions?

First, there is an idea of allowing flowers just on Valentine's Day. The money on that day alone is tremendous. Or what about using the last minute of school to call out the name(s) of anyone needing to stop by the office on his or her way out? Although, one of the best solutions I have heard is an agreement to allow deliveries only one day a week. However, the florists would have to agree to have the deliveries made by lunch time. This would allow one of the office assistants to place notes in the teachers' boxes by the time that class was dismissed for lunch. All fourth period classes are dismissed for lunch either at the beginning, middle, or end and notes could be given out before the bell rings to resume class.

I am sure that there are advantages, disadvantages, and solutions that I have overlooked. But after examining this matter closely, it is apparent that we have a potentially big hindrance. However, we are dealing with hardworking and intelligent parties on both sides. There has to be a compromise somewhere in the middle. For the businesses, students, and county; take time to work it out.

Not Everyone Dissatisfied With Cooleemee Government

To the editor:

For the approx. last eight years, since the incorporation of Cooleemee, we have heard many people come before the town council to express their views, pro and con, as to how Cooleemee is progressing. Many of the comments have been very critical of the town council's actions, or lack of action. There have been many personal attacks against the Mayor himself. I would like to make some comments, too.

If you listen to the various speakers over the last 8 years, you would believe that nobody has any faith in how Cooleemee is being governed. Frankly, it is embarrassing to pick up the paper and read all of the news items about our town council meetings. One would conclude that everyone is dissatisfied with the mayor and the town council. I have had outsiders ask me what is wrong in Cooleemee? Can't anyone get along? My answer is that the comments in general do not reflect the views of the majority of the people of Cooleemee. It seems that there is a very vocal minority and that there is a very silent majority. I think that it is time for the silent majority to speak up and to say that we support the actions of the town council and that we think that we have an excellent major and that personal attacks against him are not justified.

Many very positive things have happened since the incorporation of Cooleemee. We now have police protection, a branch of the public library, free garbage collection and free street lights, to mention a few.

We also have one of the lowest tax rates in N.C. It has been stated that our tax rate has been doubled. That is very true. It went from 10 cents/hundred dollars to 20 cents/hundred dollars. For this amount of tax we are getting street lights that previously had been paid for by Burlington Ind. The town of Cooleemee is also providing garbage collection that otherwise would cost most of us almost twice the cost of our present taxes. We definitely are getting more than we are paying for. Part of the reason the tax rate increased was that the town was counting on revenue sharing to keep our tax rate low, but the day our incorporation became effective it was discontinued by the federal government. Other costs were also included as the town progressed in its efforts to provide the necessary services as requested by the citizens of Cooleemee.

Let me say again that I am well pleased with actions of the mayor and the town council over the last eight years. This was not an accident. It was done by the very excellent leadership of our Mayor. It is my personal opinion that no other mayoral candidate over the last eight years could have done as well. He has devoted much time in his work as mayor and I believe that this work is paying off. I will be very pleased to vote again for him as mayor.

I would like to see more of us silent majority citizens come to the meetings and express our views. It is time that we speak out in support of our elected officials and to let them and the readers of the various media know that there is definitely something right about Cooleemee. We need to be more positive in our criticism of the efforts of the town officials. Rather than offer negative criticism, we need to offer constructive criticism. If we disagree with the town council, say so; but try to offer a constructive alternative, including what you would do, how it would be done, and what is the cost, and where is the money coming from. It is easy to be against something, but much harder to suggest a realistic alternative.

Also, before you criticize, make sure you have all of the facts in hand before speaking. Too many times accusations have been made without the speaker having all of the facts. It may make good headlines for the speaker, but I think that it reflects negatively on the speaker.

A reduction in the cost of fire insurance would be a big saving for the citizens of Cooleemee. This would be accomplished by lowering the ISO fire rating. It is erroneously thought that the town has something to do with this rating. The Cooleemee fire department is responsible for the rating and any reduction of the ISO rating has to come from the actions of that department. Certainly the town could offer some assistance, but the onus is on the fire department to take the necessary steps. Other parts of the county have lower fire ratings than us. How did they do it?

Finally, I support the newly introduced system of requiring citizens to request a place on the agenda before speaking before the town council. I agree with our mayor that this will enable our citizens a voice in a fair and equal manner. Hopefully, it will eliminate the personal and vitriolic attacks against the members of the town council.

Fork Thankful For Blood Drive Help

To the editor:

We, at Fork Baptist Church, wish to thank all the people who gave blood at our American Red Cross Blood Drive Aug. 30. The people at Sara Lee assisted in this drive and their donors are greatly appreciated. Although we did not reach our goal (125 pints), together we collected 104 pints, of which 16 were first time donors. We are so proud to give someone another chance to live with our blood. Again, a very special thanks to each one who gave blood or helped in this worthwhile community project.

Pet Poisoning Upsets Cooleemee Family

To the editor:

We are upset because someone near us put out anti-freeze or some other poison for our cats to eat or drink. Two of them died. One of them hid and we didn't know where, so she had to die and do all her suffering by herself. That upset me very much. We had to see the other one, which isn't a pretty sight, and had to call the law to destroy her.

We had three females and one male. They came to our house so we decided to keep them. We had the three females spayed and gave them their shots. I went to my neighbors and asked them to not let anyone run them off or hurt them because we had them fixed and it shouldn't be any trouble as far as having kittens or tomcats hanging around. They didn't roam far from us. They went to a few houses right around us. We live at the bottom of Duke Street in Cooleemee. I don't think anyone from Duke Street or over on Davie Street or out on 801 would come down here to kill our cats. They absolutely didn't roam like that. They stayed right around us. We could call them and they would come in just a few minutes. We will be keeping our eyes open day and night. If and when we do catch you, you will be indicted. That's a promise, for taking your hatred out on an animal that looks to humans for care and kindness. We were trying to do that for them, but you put a stop to that. One other thing bothers me and that is that everyone around us has had animals at some time or another. For some reason, they want to deprive us of that pleasure.

Society Unwilling To Accept Things A Society In Chaos

It is the law which provides society with order and yet it is the law profession which may destroy that order. Laws provide the guidelines for how society functions: they define what is legal and illegal, right and wrong. Yet the practice of law has become a game in which the object is to confuse, twist or redefine those rules. The law's purpose is to place responsibility and insist upon accountability. Yet in the practice of law, responsibility has become a shuttlecock to be batted around until it lands "somewhere else." In legal terms, this is the age of the "innocent, because life has done me wrong" defendants. There are no criminals, only crimes and those crimes are proverty, abuse, neglect, racism and all sorts of conditions which are being used to justify pleas of "temporary insanity."

Lynn Hall

And it isn't just in criminal court. Our civil courts are operating under the same mentality. Haven't you heard the ads? "If you've been in an automobile accident, you may have been injured and don't even know it." Implied is the "call me and we'll figure out an ailment, someone to blame and we'll both make out like bandits." Then there's the poor three-pack-a-day smoker who lives attached to a breathing machine because of emphysema. Forget warnings about addiction and health hazards. So you made a bad decision considering what's now happened to your health, but why should you shoulder the responsibility? Cigarette companies are loaded. Let's blame them. "It's not my fault," has become the new national battle cry for the suffering and the accused.

Thousands of people watched as a truck driver was pulled from his truck and severely beaten, but by the time the case gets to court, the injured driver isn't the victim. It's his attackers who are the real victims, your honor.

Those are the front page headline-making examples, but there are others. A story appeared in a local paper recently about a man who shot his wife in front of their son. According to his attorney, it was simply a case of an "irresistible impulse." He just couldn't stop himself, your honor. It was clearly a case of momentary insanity and therefore, should not be viewed as his fault.

A teenage girl steals checks from the family she babysits for and then goes around cashing them, signing the woman's name. "But she's a good student, your honor. She's been accepted to college. It was just a case of friends telling her this was an easy way to get some money."

A teenage girl asks a group of boys to take her car and trash it so she can collect the insurance money. The attorney for one of the boys puts on his best "good ole boy" smile and tells the judge, "why your honor, this was just a case of this young man succumbing to feminine wiles."

A society unwilling to accept responsibility is a society in chaos. But, then, that's just one opinion.

Members of the Cajun band Beausoleil will headline performers at Saturday's Arts Alive Festival in Mocksville.

Festival To Have A Cajun Theme

1970s, the band, and the music, began drawing enthusiastic audiences in the United States.

"Since the 80s, there's only two states we haven't played in," Doucet said. "It's American music, created in Louisiana. People like to dance and like this music all over."

Beausoleil plays some of the traditional songs from southwest Louisiana. They also compose some of their own. "It's important to compose new material in our traditional vein. It keeps us fresh," he said.

"We're just trying to say, 'This is how we live, this is our culture, this is our music'," Doucet said. "We're not trying to change the tradition, but to push it forward."

The tradition is what gave the band its name.

Cajun, Doucet said, was derived from the term Acadian, a group of French people who settled in Nova Scotia and northern Maine in 1604. In 1755, the English deported them because they didn't take sides in a war, and about 20,000 of the people migrated to southwest Louisiana.

There, they passed down stories of the long trek, and of a particularly fertile region they had nicknamed "Beausoleil." They also passed down their music, old French songs that throughout the 20th Century absorbed the influence of other music forms such as country and rhythm and blues that had made its way to Louisiana.

Michael Doucet, master fiddler, leads the band Beausoleil.

Band members include: Michael Doucet, lead vocals and fiddle; David Doucet, guitar, lead and backing vocals; Jimmy Breaux, Acadian accordian; Al Tharp, bass, banjo, fiddle, backing vocals; Billy Ware, percussion; and Tommy Alesi, drums.

Mocksville OKs Higher Rates For Water, Sewer

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

Beginning next year, water, sewer and grave plots will be more expensive in Mocksville.

The town board voted to raise water and sewer rates by 10 percent last week and increased the cost of a plot at Rose Cemetery by $100.

For in-town households that use up to 4,000 gallons of water every two months, their bills will increase from $10 to $11 for water and from $12 to $13 for sewer. Outside of town limits, bills will increase from $14 to $15.40 for the first 4,000 gallons of water and from $17 to $18.70 for sewer.

After the first 4,000 gallons, each additional gallon will increase by eight percent, or from $1.35 to $1.50 for water and from $1.65 to $1.80 in town limits.

Town Manager Terry Bralley said an average water bill of $60 should rise to about $62 every two months.

The board also voted to increase water deposits from $50 to $75. Bralley said that increase would make up for losses the town withstands when residents move without paying their water bills.

Town officials last increased water rates in October 1991.

These increases will be effective on the December 1993 bill, Bralley said.

In January, the price of a grave plot in Rose Cemetery will jump from $250 to $350 for town residents and from $500 to $600 for people outside of town limits.

The last time those prices were increased was 1985. Before that, rates were $125 per plot.

"Believe me, $250 is a bargain," Bralley said. "That's almost unheard of."

Bralley said residents can buy plots now before the increase takes effect Jan. 1, 1994.

Landowner Free Of Regulations

A Mocksville developer received permission from town commissioners last week to continue developing a neighborhood inside the protected watershed area without restriction.

The board voted 5-0 to grant Rudi and Gisela Faak a vested right to continue developing Stonybrook, a single family subdivision on Madison Road. The Faaks have already built six homes on the neighborhood's 63 lots.

Town Manager Terry Bralley said that granting the vested right to the Faaks would not affect neighbors. Current watershed regulations in that area restrict building.

Business Associaties Report Growth

Since 1991, nine new businesses have survived downtown and have created 25 new jobs, Janice Schooler of Mocksville Business Associates reported last week.

In the past month, four new businesses opened, including a fish market and comic store, Schooler said. Two professional offices open on Depot Street and in the court square.

The downtown area has reaped the benefits of more than a million dollars of public and private investment into the area, she said. Three buildings have been renovated with another 10 redoing their facades.

In all, 18 new businesses made a start downtown, but nine failed.

Yard Waste Being Collected

The town will accept yard waste on Saturday Sept. 18 and 25.

The drop-off site is behind Mocksville Elementary from 8 a.m. until noon. The service is free to town residents.

Free mulch is available for pick up by any Davie County resident.

Bill Wiseman, grounds-keeper, said participation has been light so far, but is expected to pick up when the weather turns cooler.

Public Hearing On Annexation Is Monday Night

like Cooleemee," she said.

Historically, Cooleemee was run by the mill, she said. "People here and in North Cooleemee, they were independent people. They owned their own homes.

"To me, North Cooleemee, Rocky Knoll and Edgewood are all independent. I just don't want to be in Cooleemee. Whatever we have here, we're happy with. I don't see why we can't all just get along and they leave us alone."

The proposal, she said, will split neighborhoods. Homes on one side of Edgewood Circle would be within Cooleemee, those on the other side outside the town limits. At Rocky Knoll, only homes on one side of N.C. 801 are being considered for annexation.

"As it is now, we all feel bonded together as friends," she said. "It won't be the same. I would like for it to remain the way it is."

Some town officials say opponents aren't looking at the benefits of being annexed into town.

The town's tax rate is 20 cents per $100 property evaluation, meaning someone owning a $40,000 home would pay $80 in town taxes.

The savings on garbage collection would be more than that, said town board member Bill Cranfill. The town charges a $3 monthly landfill fee for garbage collection. Contracting privately, a resident would pay close to $13. "You knock off $10 a month for garbage, so they're saving money right there," Cranfill said. "I see very little change, if any."

Newly annexed areas would receive the same services as other town residents - garbage collection, police protection and street lights.

Mayor Bill Gales said the opposition, though vocal, does not represent all the people. He sees annexation as a way to bring additional revenues to the town while helping Cooleemee's current neighbors.

"If you look at the revenue total, when the population increases, you increase your tax revenue, taxes people already pay," Gales said. "You would open up avenues for more people to get involved in Cooleemee government, good people."

The town's Powell Bill monies, earmarked for roads, could be used to improve the roads in the area, Gales said.

"I would like to see us work more with the county government to try to get the sewer lines extended," he said. "It opens up more avenues for commercial development."

State rules helped to dictate areas that could be considered for annexation, he said, rules about the number of lots of five acres or more, the area that already joined the town limits. It wasn't possible to consider Jockey or Greasy Corner for this type annexation, he said.

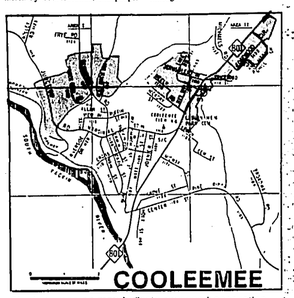
"If everybody would just look at and read the report and study it, it makes a whole lot of sense," he said.

The area (a detailed map and description is on display at town hall) travels down Junction Road, cuts across and includes Duck Pond and Flat Rock roads. Another proposed annexation area includes North Cooleemee, and parts of Edgewood Circle and some homes on that side of N.C. 801.

- An additional .34 mile of gravel road and 6.81 miles of paved roads would be added to the town streets.
- An additional 17-19 street lights will be needed.
- The town's population would increase by approximately 286 residents.
- An estimated $9,213 more would be brought in from property taxes.

If approved, the annexation would become effective at the end of the year, which is in the middle of the town's fiscal, or budgeting year.

According to the annexation report compiled by the Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments, the town would lose almost $2,000 during that first six months. By the following fiscal year, the town should gain $50,000-$60,000 a year in benefits, mainly from the town's share of state and federal monies, based on population and street mileage.



Shaded areas on map indicate proposed annexation.

DWI Charge Upheld By Jury

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

A jury disagreed that an older-model Breathalyzer machine might not have given accurate data when a Mocksville man was tested in 1991 after an evening of partying.

The Breathalyzer 900 was used to test Rodney Decaster Barnes, 36, of Mocksville, on Nov. 30, 1991, has since been replaced with a computerized machine for testing for intoxication. But despite its age, the jury found that its .10 reading and testimony from the arresting officer was enough to find Barnes guilty of DWI.

He was sentenced to 120 days in prison, but the sentence was suspended for two years and Barnes was placed on probation. He was ordered to pay a $200 fine and court costs, perform 48 hours of community service and receive an evaluation at a mental health clinic.

Defense Attorney Ed Vogler argued that the Breathalyzer machine, which was 15-20 years old and had to be calibrated by hand before each use, was close to a reading below .10 - then the state minimum for legal intoxication. The machine was also kept in a metal cabinet and its reading had to be read from an angle.

But Trooper W.D. Grooms, who administered the test, said the machine functioned properly even when it was replaced with newer equipment.

Barnes was stopped about 2:50 a.m. on U.S. 158 in 1991 after Highway Patrol Trooper J.R. Allred spotted his 1985 Saab weaving in the road.

Allred testified that although Barnes was polite and cooperative, he emitted an odor of alcohol and failed several field sobriety tests. During the Breathalyzer test, Allred said Barnes was giggling and almost fell down.

Davie's 37-Point Second Half Beats Forbush

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

When it comes to second half finishes, the Atlanta Braves hold nothing over the Davie County High School football team.

The War Eagles — and tailback Hamilton Cuthrell — continued their trend of exploding after intermission Friday night, rallying for a 37-14 victory over Forbush.

Cuthrell

All 37 points came in the final two quarters as Davie took advantage of five Forbush turnovers. It was the most points for Davie since a 47-7 win over Trinity in 1983.

In three games, Davie (2-1) has scored only 13 points in the first half and 64 in the second.

"You can't always wait to come alive in the second half," cautioned Davie coach Randall Ward.

Davie had only 58 total yards in the first half and went into the locker room trailing 7-0 at halftime. But offensive coordinator David Hunt wasn't too worried. He said Davie had come within a step of breaking several long runs. After making some blocking adjustments, the War Eagles dominated the third and fourth quarters.

"Up front, we got off the ball a lot better and the backs ran real hard," Ward said.

Forbush coach Darrell Force seemed stunned by the second half, which saw several personal fouls called on his team.

"We just lost our composure," he said. "We didn't have a comfortable lead by any means — but we did have the lead. We came out in the second half and played like we were behind."

Davie won the game by the exact same method it lost, 21-20, to Salisbury a week before.

"The ball bounces funny," Force said. "Last week, it bounced bad for them. This week, it bounced bad for us."

Cranking It Up

Nothing went right for Davie in the first half. Matt Sain's 42-yard punt return for a score was nullified by a clip. Field goals of 27 and 40 were missed. The teams entered intermission with A.J. Stimpson's 11-yard run being the only score of the first half.

But Davie took the second half kickoff and marched 67 yards for a quick score. The final 30 came on Cuthrell's touchdown run. He went up the middle and burst outside, sprinting past the Forbush defense to tie the score.

"The key to the game was taking it in there and scoring," Ward said. "It changed the complexion of the game. The momentum changed."

On the extra point, two unsportsmanlike conduct penalties on Forbush began its demise.

"We did some things I wasn't real proud of — things we don't teach at Forbush," Force said. "We teach them to play with intensity and enthusiasm — but not with their mouths."

The Falcons were forced to punt from deep in their own territory. R.J. Speaks had to run down a bad snap and was tackled on the Forbush one by Cuthrell and Jared Eure after a 34-yard loss. One play later, Jonathan Vaughters dove over for a touchdown and Davie led, 13-7.

It was just the beginning of Forbush's second half nightmare. Jerome Carter recovered a Stimpson fumble two plays later, leading to Marnic

Roberson Bids Farewell To Davie Youth League

Carl Roberson always had a plan. He wanted to coach youth football for 20 years and then get out.

He'll have to settle for a 19-year career.

Roberson

The most familiar face in youth football was not on the sidelines Saturday when the Davie Youth League opened its season. He has called it quits one year early. The Mocksville Cowboy coach is leaving the battles against Pinebrook, Cooleemee — and even the board of directors.

Roberson deserved a better ending to his coaching career. But last year was not normal. He had to forfeit a playoff win over William R. Davie after parents stormed the board of directors meeting. Then, his seventh graders were taken from him. The league was not going to play at the high school any longer. And when it decided to include third graders, that was it. Roberson closed the book on his storied coaching career.

The league is going from 4-5 and 6-7 grade leagues to 3-4 and 5-6. The games will now be played at North and South Davie junior highs.

"I was going to get out of it next year anyway," he said. "I was going for 20 years. But with all of the circumstances, I figured if they're going to do all that changing, it's time to get out."

Roberson's biggest complaint before leaving the Cowboy program was bringing third graders into competitive football.

"I had my people vote against it," he said. "I have a granddaughter who's in the third grade and she's big for her age. I feel third graders are too small to play football.

"When I coached in Winston-Salem, they had a team like that. Coaches went on the field in what we called a controlled scrimmage. If they do that, it would be fine."

When Roberson's family moved to Davie County two decades ago, the Mocksville team had been split. The new group needed a coach. Roberson's brother, Larry, was president of the team and asked Carl.

Roberson remembers his first Mocksville-Pinebrook encounter — which would turn into the league's hottest rivalry.

"Us and Pinebrook got into it my very first year," he said.

The game ended in a tie. Back then, the ball was placed at midfield and each team had four downs. Whoever had the most yardage after four plays won.

"We won the toss and I went on defense first to see what I had to do," Roberson said. "They lost four or five yards so when it was our turn, I had the quarterback fall on the ball four times and we won.

Roberson smiled. "A lot of people weren't expecting that. They didn't know I had been

War Eagles Fall In Five Games

West Forsyth Wins Volleyball Showdown

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

This was supposed to be the year that Davie County finally beat West Forsyth in volleyball.

It didn't happen.

West Forsyth is still king of Central Piedmont Conference volleyball — at least, for now.

The veteran War Eagles ran into tradition and fell in five games, 15-12, 8-15, 4-15, 15-10, 15-11.

It was the conference opener for both teams — and despite losing, Davie coach Sherrie Myers saw enough positives to smile afterward.

"It tells where our program has come and where we can possibly go," she said. "We used to get smeared by them three straight games by scores like 15-2, 15-3."

A drained Myers watched her team lead 8-1 in the fifth game before falling.

"That was like a state playoff match," she said. "That's the type we'll see at that level."

It was not a good week to play "Wests." After beginning the season 6-0, Davie also fell to West Iredell, 3-15, 5-15, 15-12, 15-11, 15-4.

'New Look' Davie Youth Football League Begins

The Davie Youth Football League began its season Saturday with more than a few changes:

- There was no more high school. Teams played Saturday at North Davie Junior High School.
- There were no more 4-5 grade and 6-7 grade divisions. Now, it's 3-4 grade and 5-6 grade.
- There were no more seventh graders. They're now playing for the junior highs.
- There was no more Carl Roberson. The longtime Mocksville coach retired.

And then, there were some things that didn't change — like Pinebrook and Shady Grove picking up victories.

Ronald Boger's 5-6 grade team defeated Mocksville, coached by Ted Kiser, 14-6 during the opening day.

Shady Grove's 5-6 grade team routed William R. Davie, 50-0.

In 3-4 grade action, Pinebrook's Trojans beat Mocksville's Rams, 22-6.

Pinebrook quarterback James Stewart got the Packers off to a good start by running the opening kickoff back 65 yards for a touchdown. He then tossed the conversion pass to Jojo Pollard.

Zeke Earle ran in from 37 yards out later for the Packers. Mocksville scored near the end of the game on a long run.

Stewart completed three passes for 17 yards.

South 8th Grade Whips Wildcats

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Wheeler Boone caught a 52-yard touchdown pass from Derrick Smoot in the early minutes of North Davie's eighth grade football game against South Davie last week. Wildcat coach Ron Kirk looked across the field and saw his counterpart, Barry Whitlock, throwing his cap to the ground in disgust.

The score was North's second in the first four minutes of the game and the Wildcats were seemingly on their way to an easy win, leading 15-0.

By the end of the game, however, it was Kirk who wanted to throw his cap. South rebounded from the bad start, scoring just before halftime and eventually winning, 24-15.

"We lost our momentum," Kirk said. "We just died."

Hunting For Running Room

Dear Mr. Referee: Can We Talk?

Pete Gustafson takes pride in the fact his Davie County soccer team plays with sportsmanship.

So imagine his dismay and surprise when his team was hit with two yellow cards (a warning) and one red card (a disqualification) in a 3-0 loss at Parkland last week.

Gustafson

In the end, there were 24 fouls called on Davie to only four on Parkland. Devon Speas was ejected.

"In our first five games, we had no cards, no problems, no anything," Gustafson said. "I went to the ref and asked him to explain why it was so one-sided. His first answer was, 'You have the rudest fans I've ever seen.'

"I told him that didn't have anything to do with the match — but I guess it did. He let it determine the calls.

"He started raising his voice so I walked away. I wasn't going to talk to him if he's raising his voice."

Gustafson said the officiating wasn't why his team lost.

"We lost because we argued with the referees," he said. "But we're not an aggressive team. So I thought it was pretty weird."

Legion Report

Davie's football team had the chance to see David Vogler and R.J. Speaks on Forbush's football team last week. Both played Legion baseball during the summer.

This week, another team that supplies players to Mocksville, Starmount, will visit War Eagle Stadium.

The Rams will bring in Dennis Barron, Russ Pardue and Denver Walker.

While Davie was thumping Forbush, 37-14, Starmount coach B.W. Holt was in the pressbox scouting. He had the week off.

This week, Forbush has an open date.

Thanks, Barry

When South Davie eighth grade football coach Barry Whitlock watched North Davie's Jesse Bonds haul in a 53-yard touchdown pass against his team last week, he threw his cap to the ground and stomped up and down the sidelines.

Why? He had just been beaten by one of his pet plays, the backdoor pass.

North coaches were laughing about it after the game. Whitlock was diagramming it recently while North assistant Mike Dinkins looked over his shoulder, writing it down.

"We worked on it about 10 minutes," North head coach Ron Kirk said with a grin.

But it wasn't something he did just to fool his friend.

"We're going to run it again," he said.

Two Teams

So what did Whitlock and Kirk think of coaching two different teams instead of combining the seventh and eighth graders as they had in the past?

It got mixed reviews. Both think there is some good and bad.

"I still like one team," said Whitlock, "because we can work with the kids more. But some of the kids who wouldn't get to play are now getting out on the field. I'd like to have a few more numbers."

Kirk said, "I like it this way. It gets more kids involved and gets coaches more involved. Once the seventh graders get it in their mind that little league is out, more will play."

Marello Is Gone

Buddy Lowery's wrestling program was dealt a severe blow last week when his all-conference 103-pounder Chris Marello moved with his family to Atlanta.

Marello was only a sophomore. He was 28-4 as a freshman on Davie's team that went all the way to the state championship match before losing to Cary, 25-22.

The Buddy System

Sherrie Myers has become very tired of the same question every time her Davie County volleyball team plays West Forsyth.

"I always used to get, 'How bad did you lose?' " she said. "I thought, 'Do I always want people thinking of me losing?' "

She doesn't.

This year, she is coaching the best volleyball team since she arrived three years ago. She wants the notions of losing to end.

"I want to be like Buddy," she said, referring to wrestling coach Buddy Lowery, who has one of the state's most respected programs. I want to have a team like Coach (David) Hunt's baseball team.

"I want a tradition in volleyball."

Chaffin — A Linebacker

Kendall Chaffin went to Wingate's Bulldogs as a defensive lineman.

Chaffin

They moved him to offensive line, where he made second team all-SAC-8 a year ago as a junior.

Now, he'll try to make all-conference honors again, only now, he is back to defense.

As a linebacker.

Chaffin, a 1989 graduate of Davie High, was moved to middle linebacker during the spring practice. He made an immediate impact on the Bulldogs' defense in his first game at the positions middle linebacker.

During Wingate's 44-16 loss at East Tennessee State, Chaffin was [illegible] tackle (five solos and three assists).

Likes To Block

Jared Eure proved to his coach Friday night that he is a team man.

The fullback ran the ball only three times for three yards but was a valuable member of the offense due to his blocking for Hamilton Cuthrell and Jonathan Vaughters.

"Jared did one heck of a job blocking," said coach Randall Ward. "He told me, 'Coach, run 43 — give it to Ham. I want to block for him.' "

Statements like that make coaches beam.

"That really means something for a senior to say that," Ward said.

Notebook

A 4-A Difference

Forbush, the defending Northwest 2-A Conference champion, played two straight Central Piedmont 4-A Conference opponents — with completely different results.

A week after smashing hapless South Stokes 26-7, Forbush was smashed itself by Davie County, 37-14.

"South Stokes is a lot bigger than Davie," said coach Derrell Force. "But they don't have the speed. Davie does and that was a concern for us."

His fears were confirmed by speedster Hamilton Cuthrell, who ran for 112 yards and scored three touchdowns.

Davie Tennis Team Loses To Conference Powers

The Davie County girls tennis team ran into two Central Piedmont Conference powerhouses last week in Mount Tabor and Reynolds.

The results were predictable. Davie fell to Tabor, 7-2 before being shut out by the Demons, 9-0.

Losing To Tabor

Davie did manage to win one singles and one doubles match against Mount Tabor.

Tami Ramsey took an 8-5 decision at number two. She then joined junior Jenny Mando to win at number two doubles, 8-2.

At number one singles, Carrie Brown lost 8-1. At three, Kelly Archer fell, 8-6. Mando lost a heartbreaker at four, 9-7. Beth Campbell and Page Archer lost a five and six, 8-1 and 8-3.

In doubles, Brown-Archer fell 8-0 while Campbell-Archer lost 8-1.

Losing To Reynolds

Davie was no match for one of the top programs in North Carolina. The biggest winner for Davie was Campbell, who won five games at number five. Both Archers and Ramsey won only three games apiece. Mando took two and Brown was beaten 8-0 by Hesta Fleming.

In doubles, Davie's three teams lost 8-1, 8-2, 8-2.

Notes:

- Davie fell to 2-4 overall and 1-3 in the CPC.
- Both Mount Tabor and Reynolds are undefeated.
- Mando lost her first matches of the season.
- Davie will go to North Iredell Thursday and to South Stokes Sept. 22.

Forbush

Lewis' 36-yard field goal. It gave Davie a 16-7 advantage.

A 77-yard pass from Andy Tarr to David Vogler set up a short Stimpson run, which cut Davie's lead to 16-14 after three periods.

Force said, "Last week they led and Salisbury broke a long one. We hoped they'd think, 'Here it goes again.' But we couldn't keep the pressure on them."

Wild Fourth Quarter

Forbush's last gasp came on Davie's first possession of the final period.

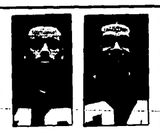
Joey Wilkins intercepted a long Neil Cornatzer pass. But he fumbled and Daryl Wilson recovered on the Forbush 15. It amounted to a 44-yard gain, setting up another Cuthrell scoring run. With 5:34 remaining, Davie led 23-14.

"That was the turning point," Force said.

It got worse:

• After the kickoff, Tarr's pass on first down was picked off by Lewis. Cuthrell eventually scored his third touchdown of the game from 19 yards out. With 1:28 left, Davie led, 30-14.

• After the kickoff, Tarr fumbled on first down. Linebacker Michael Agrillo picked up the loose ball on the 32 and raced to the two. Lewis, now at quarterback, scored on a sneak for the final points.



Lewis Vaughters

For the third straight game, Davie waited until the second half to showcase Cuthrell. He had 16 of his 20 carries after intermission and behind the blocking of fullback Eure, rushed for 112 yards. Vaughters finished with 79 on 11 tries.

Force was asked if he'd see a better triumvirate of backs this season.

"I certainly hope not," he sighed. "We tried everything we had in our defensive playbook. Cuthrell ran great and those two blocking backs did a good job. We got there at times and just didn't tackle. That had a lot to do with their running backs. They ran hard and made us miss."

Ward was proud that his players weren't troubled by the one-point loss to Salisbury a week earlier.

"The kids came in Monday and their heads were not down," he said. "They were determined to show people they could play football."

But he knew that once again, turnovers were the key.

"Forbush is a fine football team," he said. "The score is no indication of how tough the game was."

Forbush, a 2-A playoff participant in each of the last four years, will now regroup.

"It was just one of those things," Force said. "We contained their speed until the end of the ballgame when it got out of hand. They didn't make any turnovers and we did."

Notes:

• Davie actually had two touchdowns called back. Ron Armstrong's 12-yard scoring catch from Cornatzer in the third period was called back due to holding.

• Sain punted four times for a 42-yard average.

• Forbush ran only four offensive plays in the fourth period.

• Davie will face another Northwest Conference power — and third straight 2-A team — in Starmount Friday night in Mocksville.

Lewis: 13 Points In Victory

Marnie Lewis will remember the 37-14 win over Forbush for a long time.

He played defense and came up with an interception. He played quarterback and scored his first varsity touchdown. He played kicker and booted a field goal and four extra points.

The senior vaulted into second place in scoring with his 13-point evening. He still trails Hamilton Cuthrell, who is running away with that department. He already has seven touchdowns in three games to go with three 100-yard plus outings.

Deryl Wilson took over the lead in fumble recoveries with two, both coming against Forbush. He also ran the ball for the first time.

Also entering a new category were Michael Agrillo and Jerome Carter — in fumble recoveries.

Showdown

Against West Forsyth, Davie overcame a 6-3 lead in the first game to go ahead 10-6, thanks to three serving points each from Laura Moyer and Tracie Sechrest and one from Jonette Williard.

West then ripped off seven straight points and held on.

But Davie bounced back, winning Games 2 and 3 behind 6-3 junior Maria Newsome. Down 6-0, she had three blocks and a kill as Davie swept ahead 11-7. West got as close as 11-9 but a kill by Tracy Robbins gave possession back to Davie. She eventually served an ace to even the match.

With momentum, Davie thrashed the Titans in Game 3, jumping ahead 7-1 on a Shannon Umberger kill. With the score 10-4, Sechrest served the final five points, giving Davie a 2-1 game lead.

"We were blocking tremendously well," Myers said. "We really covered the court."

West then won the fourth game, which had 30 side-outs. Davie overcame a 9-2 deficit, tying the game at 10 on a dink by Moyer. West then scored five straight points.

"Both teams felt the pressure in the fourth game," Myers said. "West knew it had to win."

Sechrest and Newsome served Davie to a quick 8-1 advantage in Game 5 but Myers knew it was far from over.

"West has the tradition, they've been in these pressure situations before," she said. "They play year round. This is our first year of playing really top-caliber teams. We've beaten teams like Forbush, North Mecklenburg and South Mecklenburg. So we hung tough. But West's experience showed."

Before Myers could blink, West had tied the game at 8. A Robbins serve gave Davie a 9-8 lead. Four side-outs later, West finally surged to a 12-9 advantage that grew to 14-11.

"Even then, I thought we would come back," Myers said. "We were just a little short."

Newsome finished with 13 blocks, six dinks, three kills and two aces.

Sechrest had eight kills, two aces, two digs and a block. Umberger had six kills and Williard four blocks. Robbins had three kills and two aces.

"I am not disappointed at all," said Myers. "My seniors know the hours and the sacrifice they've put in and they know this is the best team we've had in three years. They proved to me they can stay mentally tough in a match like that. This match told us a lot about ourselves."

Losing To Another West

Davie blazed West Iredell in the first two games of its match, allowing only eight points. But Myers played her subs in the third, lost, and the War Eagles could not regain their momentum.

Amy Mason totaled two kills and one ace. Katie Desch had three kills, two aces, two digs and one block. Janis Barney had four kills and Judy Ellis three kills and one ace.

"It was a fluke," she said of the West Iredell loss.

coaching 10 years for the Red Shield Boys Club and the Clemmons Cowboys."

Roberson took Lewisville to an undefeated Sertoma Bowl appearance in 1969. He was ready to get out of coaching when he moved here and his brother made contact.

"I went from year to year," he said. "I just got into the routine of it, just like going to work. You go to football practice every day too."

Last season was Roberson's worst. A team full of sixth graders finished nowhere near the top. But he was optimistic that his coaching career would end with a bang in 1993. Mocksville's 4-5 grade team had made the finals. His sixth graders would have a year of experience.

League changes have prevented all that.

Roberson never thought there was anything wrong with some seventh graders staying in youth league instead of playing for South Davie's 7-8 grade team.

"We had a place for seventh graders when a lot of them would just sit the bench," he said. "But they've got their own team now.

"I've had a lot of success and I've won a lot of regular seasons. But I have no idea about my career record. I know a lot of guys who keep stuff like that but I never have.

"I don't do it for the stats. I don't do it for the glory. I do it for the kids. I love working with them or I wouldn't have done it for as long as I have.

"I've been lucky to have good assistant coaches. John Williams and Dennis Sine have been with me the whole time."

Roberson said he won't try to be an influence on the board of directors.

"I'm not going to be a part of that stuff up on the hill. When I get out, I get out."

Well, maybe not all the way out.

"My granddaughter will be cheering," he said. "I've never had the chance to watch her. I'm not saying I'll be at all of the games but I'll come."

He'll just be in the bleachers a year earlier than expected.

Davie County Football

Jayvees Remain Undefeated With Shutout Victory

Even in jayvee football, it's hard for a 2-A team to beat a 4-A club.

Just ask Forbush, which fell to Davie County, 22-0 last week.

And it wasn't that close.

The War Eagles scored all 22 of their points in the first half and had two other long scoring runs after halftime nullified by penalties.

Davie's first score was set up by the defense. Zach Stokes caused a first quarter fumble that Josh Nail recovered on the 13. James Clement stormed to the endzone two plays later. Daniel Brewer scored for a 6-0 lead.

It was Stokes' second caused fumble. He had forced one earlier that Jason Boger fell on at the 13. But Davie couldn't score.

Tight end Jason Murphy hauled in a 17-yard pass and Brewer added a 22-yard run in the second period that led to a David Daye 15-yard touchdown run, ending an eight-play drive. He broke two tackles on the play and Brewer added the conversion for a 14-0 lead.

With 1:30 left before halftime, Forbush tried a fake punt but Dusty Smith made the tackle. Forbush still regained possession but Jason Harbour recovered a fumble.

With eight seconds left, Daye caught a pass from Andy Ward in the flat. With his coaches screaming to get out of bounds, he cut back, broke a tackle and cut again, going 43 yards for the touchdown. Another Brewer conversion run gave Davie a 22-0 halftime lead.

"It was a flood pattern," said coach Randall Ward. "We threw it to the short man. Daye just did a super job."

Davie began the second half by cheering Clement's 90-yard sprint for a score. But a clipping penalty brought it back.

Davie then fumbled but the defense, led by Smith, stopped Forbush at the Davie 10. Smith finished with eight tackles.

"That's the best game that boy has had," Ward said of Smith.

Daye promptly matched Clement by scoring on another 90-yard run. And the officials promptly matched their previous whistle, signalling holding and bringing it back.

Forbush drove to the 10-yard line in the third quarter before Boger made a big hit. On fourth down, Harbour tackled a Falcon short of the first down, giving the ball back to Davie and preserving the shutout.

"The kids hung in there on defense," Ward said.

Before the final horn sounded, Boger and Brian Moore had pounced on second half fumbles.

A total of eight different running backs saw action, led by Daye's 56 yards on six carries. Clement ran 13 times for 48 and Brewer had 36 yards on five tries.

The 6-2 Murphy has been impressive. He hauled in three of Ward's four completions for 37 yards.

"Andy's like everybody," said Ward. "He's improving."

Offensive coordinator David Hunt doesn't mind throwing to Murphy at all.

"He's going to be a good tight end before he gets out of here," said Hunt.

Notes:

Davie improved to 3-0.

• Damien Lewis ran for 19 yards on three carries and also had a 40-yard punt.

• Also running the football were Aubrey James, Dustin Allen, Shane Campbell and Frankie Tatum.

• Ward finished with 80 yards passing.

• Davie goes to Starmount Thursday night at 7 p.m.

South 7th Graders Win, 50-0

South Davie didn't keep statistics in its seventh grade football opener against North Davie last week.

That's okay with North coach Ron Kirk. He didn't want to see them after his Wildcats were slaughtered, 50-0 on the South field.

Most of Barry Whitlock's team is made up of the Cooleemee youth league team that went undefeated last year. It appeared the players haven't missed a beat.

Cooleemee's running backs, J.J. Rice and Shanta Frazier, are together again — and the results were the same last week. Frazier, the tailback, broke several long runs around the ends, scoring two touchdowns. Rice, the fullback, scored three times, once on an interception return.

Third string back Kenny Collins even got in on the act with a touchdown run. David Nail had a 32-yard run.

"We've got some good athletes," Whitlock understated. "All of our backs ran well. J.J. is a mixture of power and speed and Shanta is quick. They compliment each other. And Collins did a good job, I thought."

Paul Sparks, playing his first game ever at quarterback, only passed twice, completing a 16-yarder to Frazier in the second quarter. His main duty was handing off to his stable of backs.

Nail did most of his damage on defense. He and Ronnie Blackburn made sure North's speedy threat, Thomas Hunter, never got outside.

"We had an eye on Hunter," said Whitlock. "Our ends were the key. They made him go back inside toward our linebackers."

Kirk was certainly impressed.

"Barry's got a good, little seventh grade team," he said. "I knew they had those running backs from Cooleemee. We just have to work on our fundamentals."

South dominated the time of possession and Whitlock said he was pleased with the lack of errors.

"We had no fumbles, which was something I was worried about," he said. "We didn't have a lot of penalties either. But it's not going to be easy. With Kannapolis and Concord, teams like that, it's going to get tougher."

Notes:

• South is 1-0. North is 0-1.

• This is the first year that North and South have had solely a seventh grade team. In years past, the seventh and eighth grades combined.

• Whitlock also praised the play of defensive lineman Truman Kiser.

• Jason Shermer was 4-for-6 passing for North. Three of his completions went to Jessie Marion.

Chris Wooldridge caught the other.

• Wooldridge was North's leading rusher with 28 yards.

• Kirk praised the play of his middle linebacker John Daye and fullback Blake Smith.

• North doesn't play again until Sept. 30 at Corriher-Lipe.

• South hosts Mooresville Sept. 23.

South

It didn't start that way. The flashy Smoot took the opening kickoff and sped 76 yards for a touchdown. He scored the conversion run and just like that, North led, 8-0.

"I strictly told our kicker not to kick it to Smoot," said Whitlock, "and he did it anyway. I've always said it's the most dangerous play in football."

South immediately fumbled the ball, giving North a chance to try the pass play to Bonds. Smoot kicked the extra point this time and North led comfortably by 15.

It appeared North would score again, driving deep into South territory. But a holding penalty forced the team backwards.

"We died after that," said Kirk.

With a couple of minutes left before halftime, South's Matt James hauled in a punt on his own 32 and dragged defenders with him 62 yards to the North four. He scored moments later and South had life, trailing 15-8.

"His run was the key," said Whitlock. "We knew we were back in it."

Early in the fourth quarter, James, a transfer from the Washington D.C. area, burst over from seven yards. Quarterback Jonathan Creason hit Shane Allen with the conversion and South led, 16-15.

The touchdown was set up by a 43-yard, Creason-to-Allen completion, which took the ball to the 10.

"Shane's got good hands," Whitlock said. "He runs his patterns right."

With two minutes left, Creason iced the game with a one-yard quarterback sneak. James added the conversion run.

"I knew we had the talent to come back," Whitlock said. "Our backs (James, Matt Hamrick and Nathan Joyce) compliment each other. Joel Crotts and our line blocked well. And our defense played well. North only scored on those two big plays."

Brian Campbell and Eric Godbey drew praise from Whitlock on defense. North didn't have a first down in the second half.

"South was fired up after halftime," Kirk said. "We lost our drive in the second half. We jumped on them so quick that we just got relaxed.

"The way we started, we should've had 28 or 30 points at halftime."

Notes:

• South is 1-0. North is 0-1.

• This is the first year the schools have fielded an eighth grade team. They used to combine the seventh and eighth grades.

• Creason also had a 32-yard completion to Ryan O'Neal. He was 2-for-3 for 75 yards.

• James finished with 62 yards rushing, Hamrick 42 and Joyce 36.

• Kirk was impressed with South's offensive line. "There were so many times, our defensive line was blown off the ball."

• South goes to Mooresville Sept. 23.

• North hosts Corriher-Lipe Sept. 29.

The Contest Winners

'Look At Me, I'm Sandra Dee ... I'm Rolling In Mon-eee'

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The sports editor tires of hearing the whining of so many football contest players. "I coulda-shoulda-woulda" comes out of many mouths each week.

Like my buddy, Terry "You Can Call Me Johnson." He always thinks he's going to beat me. He seldom does, of course.

In fact, he can't even beat his wife, Sandra "Dee" Johnson.

She was one of 10 entries to miss only five in a very hard week. Her 48 points came closest to the 50 total points scored in N.C. State's 34-16 win over Wake Forest. She wins the whopping $25 first place prize.

Sandra "Dee" beat out Rodgers "Everyday" Peoples, Justin Carter "Country," Mo "Knows" Dobson, Donald Moody "Blues," David "Oil" Spillman, Tim Miller, Pamela "Air" Jordan, Aubrey "Jesse" James and Joyce "Klippety" Klopp.

Finding a second place winner was more difficult. In the tiebreaker, Dobson and Jordan tied with 54 points. So the crack staff here went to the winning team's score. Dobson picked 34 points right on the nose, to 31 for Jordan. Mo does know she's getting $10.

The Awards:

The "Whatever Happened To" Award: Last week's winners Neil "And Pray" Cornatzer missed 6 and Billy "On The" Serfass missed 7.

The "Heisman" Award: To Doris "Indiana" Hauser, Steve "Just A Little Bit" Morgan, Pamela "Air" Jordan, Mo "Knows" Dobson and Aubrey "Jesse" James, all who were a perfect 7-for-7

The "Proposition 48" Award: To Jamie "Take A" Lookabill, who missed 6 of 7 college games.

The "All-Pro" Award: To Sandra "Dee" Johnson and Donald Moody "Blues," who were correct on 9 of 12 difficult pro games.

The "Bring Your Playbook and Come To My Office" Award: To Ba-Ba-Barbara Perkins, who missed 10 of 12 pro games.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To "Wild" Bill Serfass, who had only two wrong answers until missing 6 of the last 7.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award 2: To S.B. Sidden "On The Dock Of The Bay," who had only two wrong answers until missing 3 of the last 4.

The "Earth To Paula" Award: To "Hey, Hey" Paula Buttero, who chose losers Wake Forest, Atlanta and Tampa Bay.

The "Expert" Award: To Steve "High Rock" Lakey and Erick "The Red" Streit, the only entries to pick Phoenix's upset over Washington.

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: To "Ba-Ba" Barbara Perkins, who missed 14 of 19 games. Ouch!

THE HARMON NFL FORECAST - SUNDAY AND MONDAY, SEPT. 19-20

DALLAS.....27 PHOENIX.....19

The Cowboys have won five straight from the Cards since 1990, including 31-20 and 16-10 victories last year. Poor Phoenix is coming off opens with two other NFC East powers, Philly and Washington.

L.A. RAIDERS.....24 CLEVELAND.....20

Cleveland won this matchup last year, 28-16, the first time the Raiders and Browns had met in five years. The Raiders had flashes of brilliance in their stunning upset of Minnesota two weeks ago.

NEW ORLEANS.....32 DETROIT.....23

In a 13-7 win in '92, the Saints had the Lions' number, not allowing Detroit beyond its own 34-yard-line the entire second half and controlling the ball for more than 40 of 60 minutes.

N.Y. GIANTS.....22 L.A. RAMS.....16

Though they were brothers in mediocrity last year, the Rams registered a surprisingly easy 38-17 win over the Giants in Anaheim, with Jim Everett completing 18 of 21 passes. It's New York's turn.

PITTSBURGH.....30 CINCINNATI.....12

The Steelers breezed to two wins over Cincinnati in '92, allowing the Bengals only three field goals. Once again, Pittsburgh will be at the top of the AFC Central, and Cincinnati will not.

SAN DIEGO.....26 HOUSTON.....24

When the Chargers visited Houston a year ago, both Warren Moon and the Oiler defense were hot, and they shut down San Diego 27-0. The Chargers not only haven't forgotten, they've become contenders.

SAN FRANCISCO.....31 ATLANTA.....14

If the Falcons don't get off the plane in S.F., we won't blame them. In the space of three weeks in '92, the 49ers pounded them 56-17 and 41-3. S.F. has won seven of their last nine meetings.

SEATTLE.....16 NEW ENGLAND.....7

The Seahawks have beaten the Patriots the last three times they've played, all of them in N.E., and Parcells' Pats still have a long way to go. The exciting rematch is only five weeks away.

WASHINGTON.....28 PHILADELPHIA.....27

The toughest pick of the week, between teams that split their two games last year, Washington winning 16-12 in Washington and Philly winning 17-13 in Philly. The deciding factor is on is the NFC East.

(Monday) KANSAS CITY.....27 DENVER.....17

John Elway threw two TD passes in the last two minutes to lead the Broncos to a 20-19 win over the Chiefs in week five of '92. In the season finale K.C. got its revenge, bombing Denver 42-20.

The Devon Speas Show Has Good, Bad Ratings

Last week, Davie County soccer fans were treated to the Devon Speas Show.

The ratings varied from Top Ten status against West Iredell to being cancelled against Parkland.

Speas

First, Speas scored all three of Davie's goals in a 3-2 victory over West Iredell.

Then, he was ejected in a 3-0 loss to Parkland.

The West Iredell win was the fourth of the season for the War Eagles, which is already one more than last season, when the team finished 3-13-3.

Beating West

West actually led 1-0 after 24 minutes of play but Speas quickly tied the score at 28:00.

He scored on a penalty kick at 36:00 and scored again 10 minutes later.

"All three of his goals were unassisted," said coach Pete Gustafson.

The fourth-year coach couldn't be happier, despite the fact that Davie did not play up to its potential.

"We've improved a lot but we still didn't plan, execute or finish," he said. "We beat them earlier, 7-1 so we could've done better. But it is nice to have an off game and still win. We are competing at a higher level."

Defensively, Ben Forrest and Scott Tutterow combined to make nine saves in goal.

Losing To Parkland

Gustafson saw nothing nice about the loss to Parkland, a former Central Piedmont Conference opponent.

"They totally beat us to the ball," he said. "We were lax. We didn't go after the ball and you can't score if you don't have possession."

Davie still managed to outshoot the Mustangs, 18-12, "but we had few one-on-one opportunities," Gustafson said.

It didn't help that Speas was red-carded and thrown out of the match. Without their leading scorer, the War Eagles rarely threatened the Parkland goal.

Notes:

- Davie is 4-2.
- Davie outshot West Iredell, 22-12.
- Because of the red card, Speas had to sit out the next match
- West Forsyth visits Davie Thursday and then the War Eagles go to South Stokes Sept. 21.

South Surprises Wildcats By Gaining Softball Split

North Davie Junior High softball coach Darrell Steele knew he had six starters back from last year. He knew he had talented seventh graders coming in.

What he didn't know was that South Davie had a load of talent too.

South surprised Steele by battering North, 12-5 in the first game of a doubleheader last week at South before North regrouped to earn a split, beating the Tigers even worse in the second game, 19-2.

It was the opening doubleheader of the season for both schools.

"I don't know if we were nervous or what," said Steele on the first-game loss. "I don't mind getting beat but when you give the game away, that's inexcusable."

South coach Becky Miller thought North was simply beaten by timely hitting and good defense.

"We were throwing the ball well and got some big hits," she said. "We have a lot of potential."

First Game To South

South led 3-1 after one inning as Audrey Williams, Jessi Carter and Laura Windley each scored.

North finally took the lead in the third, 4-3 on a Leeann Spillman run but then South erupted for eight runs in the fourth inning. When Amanda Dwiggins, Lisa Turner and Tosha Hunter walked to begin the inning, the Tigers had momentum. Three errors by the Wildcats didn't help. When the inning was over, South led 12-4. Pitcher Anna Sumn held North down the rest of the game.

"I thought Jessi hit real well for us," Miller said. "And Anna pitched well. We just had an excellent game."

Second Game To North

South was hurt early in the second game when its star, Angie Priestley, injured her ankle.

"Without Angie, we had to shift people and they were playing out of position," Miller said. "It took time to adjust. We played well after the third."

But by then, North led, 16-1. The big blow was a first inning, grand slam homer by Kim Anderson.

"I knew they wouldn't beat us two straight," said Steele. "I don't know what happened in the first game. We were in a daze, in another world."

Notes:

- Both teams are 1-1.
- Priestley was taken to the hospital. "Hopefully, we'll have her back," said Miller. "She's such an aggressive player. She keeps the team together."
- South travels to Concord Monday, Sept. 20.
- North goes to Cotriher-Lipe, Monday, Sept. 20.

Davie People

Judging the canned goods at the Center Fair Saturday, from left: Mary Ellen Walker, Novella Salley, Ivey Nell Boger, Ruby Leagans and Nancy Allen.

A Davie County Tradition

Fair, Barbecue Brings Crowd To Community

A group of Davie women carefully examined the jars of canned beans and preserves, looking at the color, the texture, anything they could see. The longed for a taste of the goodies canned inside. That would make their job of judging the best at the annual Center Fair much easier.

Just around the corner, at the edge of the historic arbor, young people from Davie and Yadkin counties walked around a ring with their lambs.

Nearby, arts and crafts vendors had their displays, as did environmental type organizations, including the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District, trying to promote a new wildflower program.

At the other end of the arbor, N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper talked to passers-by looking at the 1941 Buick Highway Patrol car he brought for display. It made heads turn as he drove it to the fair along U.S. 64.

Area residents brought antique tractors for display. John Deere's, Ford, Oliver ... they were all there ... even an old Caterpillar bulldozer.

You didn't have to look to learn of the other goings on. The loud clap of steam engines filled the air, as did the distinctly hickory smoke smell that only comes from barbecue cooking over coals. And there was lots of barbecue sold — more than 5,000 pounds — by the time supplies sold out Saturday afternoon.

The fair was held by and for the Center Volunteer Fire Department the Center Community Development Association.

A ribbon and a cash prize goes to first place cake entry.

Davie and Yadkin 4-Hers held a lamb show at the fair.

Movie 'Eye Of The Storm' Planned At Advance Baptist

The movie "Eye of the Storm" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 19 at Advance Baptist Church.

The movie from World Wide Pictures stars Connie Sellecca (Hotel, PSI Luv You) and Jeff Conaway (Taxi, Grease), with Deborah Tucker (Dallas, Happy Campers).

Returning home from covering the Persian Gulf War, the movie's story is based on award-winning TV journalist Tom Edwards and his producer who are given the task of keeping the ratings high.

It puts them at odds, since Tom feels the best story is one which would trash the faith of returning servicemen and women. "The war is over, what role does God play now? Is He out in the open or has he been put back in the closet?".

Tom's real war is at home with his daughter and within his own heart. In the wake of his wife's death, he immerses himself in his work, leaving Jill hurt and alone. Their struggling attempts to reach out to each other serve only to widen the gap between them.

Through the stories of soldiers from Operation Desert Storm and the support of a co-worker, Tom comes to experience genuine peace in the midst of the storms that engulf him.

"Eye of the Storm" address issues relevant to today's society, a story of what faces many single parents and their children as careers are juggled with personal relationships.

For more information, call the church at 998-6302.

Six Inducted Into Davie Republican Hall Of Fame

Morris Kennen Stroud Brock Smith Alexander

Former U.S. Sen. James T. Broyhill addressed Davie County Republicans at their inaugural Hall of Famie banquet Saturday night, Sept. 11, at North Davie Junior High School near Farmington.

Broyhill commented on several of President Clinton's policies.

He said Clinton was elected as a new kind of Democrat, but in reality he is the same as "tax and spend" Democrats who have controlled Washington for the last 50 years. Broyhill said no tax increase has ever spurred the economy, and that real spending cuts are needed if the country is going to return to the prosperity it enjoyed during the Reagan years.

The senator questioned where Vice President Al Gore was when the Reagan administration through the Grace Commission had recommended an overhaul of the federal bureaucracy.

At that time the Democrat-controlled Congress had blocked the Republican plan, Broyhill said. Broyhill was quick to point out that Gov. Clinton had proposed a similar program in Arkansas that eventually cut about 100 jobs and cost more than it saved. Broyhill said he hoped that over $100 billion could be saved, but he doubted that it would happen.

The former senator was also critical of Clinton's health care proposals. He first questioned whether we have a health care crisis in America, and he offered his concern that the increased taxes to pay for the president's plan would hurt small businesses which are the backbone of the American economy. The senator warned against a growing "instant gratification" attitude in American society.

The highlight of the evening was the induction of the first members into the Davie County Republican Hall of Fame. Six Davie Republicans were honored for their contributions to the party. Honored were: the late B.C. Brock Sr., who served a record 11 terms representing Davie County in the state legislature; the late Queen Bess Kennen, who worked for women's right to vote and served as a national committee woman during the presidency of her friend Herbert Hoover; the late George E. Smith, who served a record four terms as sheriff; C. Frank Stroud Jr., who never held public office but worked tirelessly behind the scenes in spite of a handicapping condition to elect Republicans to office; Cecil Morris, who served as county commissioner, party treasurer and chairman, and was noted as an outstanding fundraiser; and Charles "Buddy" Alexander, who served a record five terms as a county commissioner.

Each inductee received an engraved plate, and their names will appear on a permanent plaque. About 150 Republicans paid to attend this first Hall of Fame banquet.

Senior Trotters Tour Tobacco Farm

Senior Trotters met in the Center Community Building Sept. 9 for their regular meeting.

The president, Ann Evans, presided. She gave a welcome to 20 members and one visitor, Irene Fuller.

She extended sympathy to the families of Evelyn Griffen a member, Pauline Seamon, Clyde Hardin, Everette Latham, and Charlie Barnhardt.

Sick members are: Lois Evans, in Baptist hospital almost a month; Wade Dyson in Davie hospital - back at Davie Village; Kathryn Jones still has to have surgery on her other foot. There may be more members, but these were reported.

Devotions were given by Nannie Wilson with Ernest Seamon leading in prayer.

Clarence Forrest led the group in a hymn, "Blessed Assurance." "Happy Birthday" was sung to Sarah Anderson. Her date was Sept. 10.

A nominating committee was elected by members. They were Millard Anderson, Virginia Evans, Ernest Seamon, John White.

It was voted to pay Margaret Latham for all the get-well and sympathy cards she has sent and stamps.

All announcements were made on trips, Arts Alive, Chuck Wagon Gang, Center Fair and BBQ.

Next month the club will have a dress-up Halloween Party with prizes, covered dish meal and maybe witches brew.

Senior Trotters met Tuesday, Sept. 14, at 11 a.m. to go out to eat - to visit a modern dairy farm.

For the program, members answered the roll with "What We Did This Summer." Members had family gatherings in California, Arizona, Florida, South Carolina and North Carolina beaches and mountains. One member took a northern route to the state of Washington and 13 states. One member went to the Holy Land in Virginia.

Millard Anderson dismissed with prayer and thanks for the food. The club went to the BBQ House to eat.

After lunch, the club traveled to Helen and Dale Chaffin's tobacco farm in cars and vans, driving through tobacco fields, around the edges of 55 acres.

They found Dale and son, Mike, repairing the tobacco machine that picks the leaves about eight inches. This machine loads the tobacco in trailers. This trailer goes to the barn where a forklift picks it up, packs it in the barn. It is cured with propane, then the forklift takes it out of the barn and back to the trailer. This trailer is covered and ready for market.

Betty and James C. Grissom (from Fork club) joined the club at the farm. They visited the huge greenhouse where seeds are planted and tobacco plants started. They even saw opposum grapes.

This modern tobacco was educational with its eight barns, but in the distance, club members could see two old barns, like old-timers used 50 years ago. Memories began.

Primers: getting wet from head to toe just pulling the leaves off plants.

Sleds: drawn by a horse or mule for primers to put tobacco into or carry back to barns.

Handers: straighten each leaf and hand to stringer or tier. The end next to stalk had to be the end tied.

Stringers or tiers: using a wooden horse to hold the stick - then twine to loop or tying tobacco on sticks. These sticks are heavy with green tobacco. Here is where tobacco gets on your body and clothes and hair. Fingers get so sticky they stick together. Someone would cut a watermelon - so sometimes you would get a taste of the bitter gum on your hands.

Barn: sticks were hung in the barn on rafters to the top. Two wood furnaces cured the tobacco with the temperature regular. Someone stayed at night so the temperature would not drop.

Pack-house: after curing it had to have the right seasoning from the weather to keep it from crumbling. Then it was removed from the barn - packed and covered with quilts or sacks.

Hands: each leaf had to be pressed out by hands, sorted or graded. Using a leaf covering the stalk end making it about two inches wide, making it neat for market.

Chicken stew: at the barns cooked in big iron wash pots. Neighbors and friends came with chicken and bowls.

An Emotional Gift From God

There was a song out some time back that said, "big girls, they don't cry, cry, cry; big girls, they don't cry." Did that mean 'big' age wise, 'big' size wise, or 'big' emotionally wise? Since I am one who releases some of my hurting emotions through tears, I wondered if I looked younger than I perceived in the mirror, or had lost that needed weight. Or did the song imply that it was not 'grown-up' emotionally to cry.

As the song lyrics ran through my mind, I thought of that beautiful short sentence in John 11:35; "Jesus wept." In this chapter we are being told the story of the death of Lazarus, a very dear friend of Jesus. Prior to this short sentence, we see Jesus meeting with Martha, and Jesus saying to her that "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me shall live even if he dies, and everyone who lives and believes in Me shall live even if he dies, and everyone who lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?" And Martha said to Him, "Yes Lord; I have believed that You are the Christ, the Son of God even He who comes into the world." Then she goes for Mary, who comes to Jesus weeping at the loss of her brother, and the Jews who came with her, also weeping. And Jesus was deeply moved in spirit, and was troubled. And He wept. Did He weep because of His great love for Lazarus? Did He weep because they truly did not believe that only at the physical death of those who believe in Him could eternal life be possible? Whatever our own speculation, "Jesus wept." For love, yes. For being misunderstood, yes. For compassion, yes.

I'm glad that on this journey called life, I have a Savior, who wept. For I know that it is an emotional gift from God, I gift that lets me express my feelings of hurt at death, at physical and mental pain, at misunderstandings, and threatening situations. And from my crying, I feel better. My assurance is based on His affirmation; "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me shall live even if he dies, and everyone who lives and believes in Me shall never die." And His question to me is the same as to Martha. "Do you believe this?" And if I reply, 'yes Lord;' then I can go my life's way and say to those I meet, "The Teacher is here, and is calling for you." (John 11:28)

'Big girls' do cry. It is a healing gift from God. Have you shared this gift of love, compassion, and spirit? Someone greater than we did, and I am forever grateful.

Tutterows Honored

It all started at Ijames Baptist Church with a volleyball game between the youth and youth leaders and parents. According to the parents, the match ended with a tie; however, the youth won fair and square.

While the adults were recuperating from the ordeal, there was a cookout of grilled hot dogs and hamburgers, chips, cookies and drinks. After the meal, the youth presented a bronze flower vase to Larry and Marsha Tutterow to be placed in the church sanctuary in their honor for the many years of service as their leaders. Along with the vase was a personal plaque with a message to the Tutterows.

Although the hot dogs and hamburgers were filling, the youth did a "roast" to Larry and Marsha. During this time, they summarized the most important events of the past several years and the leadership shown to them by the Tutterows. They included such things as deer and bear hunting trips, beach trips, retreats, as well as a lot of good Bible teaching.

There were many other leaders mentioned during the program; however, Larry and Marsha have been the main workers with much help from the others.

Special guests were the pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Ben Mull.

Russell Angell says no-till farming not only saves money, but helps to conserve and enrich the soil.

No-Till Farming Brings Awards To Angell Family

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Russell Angell stops his pickup truck in the middle of the family's farm just north of Mocksville.

Woods stretch out to both sides, a corn field is in front and a soy bean field behind.

Angell moves his hand around in a circle, and asks where plants grow the best. The answer: in the woods.

"Mother Nature taught us the best place to grow stuff," Angell said. "Those woods there, that's no-till."

No-till is a farming term that means the ground is not plowed before planting or after harvesting. "The ideal situation would be to leave it alone, but the weather doesn't always cooperate," Angell said.

Angell and his father, Charlie Angell, own and operate Brantley Farms, and they were named Davie Soil and Water Conservation District farm family of the year at a banquet at the Smith Grove Ruritan Club last week. Brantley Farms is also the conservation farm family of the year for the 11-county District 8.

Although they use other conservation practices such as grassed waterways and field borders, it's the no-till that has caught their interest.

"We don't seem to do anything we wouldn't do anywhere else," Russell Angell said. "We don't go out of our way. We do what's best for the land."

Usually, the Angell's grow about 400 acres of corn, all but that on bottom land no-till; about 700 acres of soybeans, all no-till; and about 500 acres of wheat, about a third no-till, and two-thirds conventional and minimum till.

Angell said no-till originally was an economic decision. They started experimenting with the practice in the mid-60s.

"When we started, we didn't have the chemicals and it wasn't feasible in a lot of places. We couldn't control the weeds," he said. "I hesitate to say economics is the reason, because it does conserve the soil."

No-till farming uses less tractor fuel, less equipment, less fertilizer, and nowadays, about the same chemicals as used in conventional tilling.

So why don't more farmers use the no-till method?

"It's a mind set we have to break in order to no till," he said. "There's something about getting on a tractor and plowing up 20 acres and smelling that fresh soil. That's the way we were taught."

While Brantley Farms uses no-till as much as possible, they study it even more. Angell has even visited a South American farm where never till is being touted. "The never till situation for building organic matter, saving the soil, would be ideal." For that to happen, a farmer would have to have perfect weather at certain times in the growing season, something that isn't that predictable here, Angell said.

Two other farm families were also honored for their conservation practices at last week's banquet: Leroy and Tommy Dyson, and Paul, Bill and Arnold Weatherman.

Pre-kindergarten through sixth grade classes are having a "Grandparents and Special Friends Day" on Friday, Sept. 24 from 1:30-3 p.m. Each classroom will be sharing special activities about grandparents. Call the school office at 492-5421 to let us know if you will be able to attend.

Sixth grade students from Tonya Kerr's and Jerry Jones' classes traveled to Hanes Mall Cinema on Friday, Sept. 3, to watch the movie "Secret Garden". They are reading the book in class. The movie was good and it was nice for the students to meet other sixth graders from Pinebrook and Shady Grove, who also attended.

The fifth and sixth grade students of Jerry Jones and Tonya Kerr have completed a unit on dinosaurs. Activities included measuring and graphing the length of dinosaurs, writing time lines, drawing pictures, writing reports on individual dinosaurs, reading poetry and books about dinosaurs, and writing a "Dinosaur ABC Book" with words describing dinosaurs. Because of the movie "Jurassic Park" this summer, there was much speculation as to whether or not dinosaur DNA could be recreated. The unit was celebrated by painting pictures of dinosaurs on t-shirts.

Jerry Jones' 6th grade science class had a "Nacho Cook-off" on Monday, Sept. 13. The students prepared nachos in solar ovens that they had designed.

These students were chosen for showing consistent good citizenship in their classrooms. They were rewarded with a special luncheon on Friday, Sept. 10, at which time their parents were invited to eat with them.

The first PTA meeting of the year was held Monday, Sept. 13, at the school. Following a brief business meeting, open house was held and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Life Insurance: What's In It For You?

This is one of the many important questions you should ask when you meet with an insurance agent. As a New York Life agent, I welcome your questions, because there's no reason why you shouldn't ask me as much about myself as I ask about you.

In order to help you plan a financial strategy, I have to ask you a lot of questions, but I expect you to ask me just as many. Questions like "what sort of policies do you own?" and "how do you get paid?" I've built many long-term relationships with my clients answering their questions honestly, and they've come to trust me.

School Board OKs Teacher Assignments For '94-'95

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie High School, and North and South Davie middle school teacher assignments for the 1994-95 school year were approved by the Davie County Board of Education last week.

The announcement was made now so that the teachers, many of whom will change schools, can receive proper training as the system prepares to change to the middle concept next fall, said Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent.

Ninth graders will attend Davie High School, and North and South Davie will become middle schools housing grades 6-8.

Some current junior high teachers will go to the high school. Those decisions were mainly based on certification, Steed said.

He said all principals had input on where teachers would be assigned.

"My interest was in making two exemplary middle schools - with some moving out and some moving in," Steed said. "We tried to look at the individuals ... and place people in the best places to serve our students."

The changes were unanimously approved by the education board. Steed met with teachers the following day.

"I told them it was a group decision," he said. "It's important we put those staffs together now for planning reasons."

Advance News

By Edith Zimmerman
Advance Correspondent

Homecoming will be at the Methodist Church Sunday, Sept. 19, with the Rev. Carl Haire, a former pastor, preaching at the 11 a.m. service. Picnic dinner will be in the grove following the worship service.

Grandparents Day was observed at Methodist church Sunday, Sept. 12. During the Children's Time Sunday morning, conducted by Mrs. Julene Sherrill, the children passed out ribbon-tied scrolls of poetry to all the grandparents. Poems were titled "Grandparents Are Special People".

Among the visitors at church Sunday were Mark and Teresa Cope and daughters, Britany and Ashley.

Miss Mandy Foster, bride-elect of David Smith, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Sunday afternoon at her home. Mandy's aunts sponsored the shower: Mrs. Lois Cornatzer, Mrs. Judy Keaton, Mrs. Ruby Howard and Mrs. Mary Wilma Holder. Approximately 35 people showered the honoree with many useful gifts.

Mrs. Janice M. Jackson underwent gall bladder surgery last Wednesday at Davie hospital. She is recuperating satisfactorily at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Potts were among those injured in the tractor-trailer accident on I-40 on Labor Day afternoon. They were treated at the hospital and released. They are being treated at the out-patient clinic.

Countywide Smoking Rules Being Considered

Smokers could have to be more careful where they light up if rules proposed by the Davie County Board of Health are adopted.

The health board will hear public comment on the proposal beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 30 at the Davie County Public Library. Copies of the proposed rules are available for review at the health department.

The board is expected to vote on whether to adopt the rules after hearing from the public. The board cited reports on the dangers of second-hand smoke as the reason for the proposal.

Davie Health Director Dennis Harrington said state law gives local boards of health the authority to establish countywide smoking rules. That authority will be limited after a new state law goes into effect Oct. 15.

The proposal would prohibit smoking in the following places:

- child care facilities;
- elevators;
- grocery stores;
- polling places;
- public rest rooms;
- service lines;
- public transportation;
- public areas of galleries, libraries, museums when open to the public;
- seating areas and adjacent aisles not open to the sky primarily used for movies, concerts or exhibits;
- seating areas and adjacent aisles of enclosed

Cooleemee Neighbors Say No To Annexation

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Neighboring residents being considered for annexation made one thing clear Monday night.

They don't want to be forced to become a town resident, questioning whether town services would be worth the amount of taxes.

Even some residents of the current town cautioned the town board about annexing people who did not want to be a part of the town.

"I merely wish and urge town board members, that you search your hearts," said Jackie Morton, a current resident. "Don't think of force. Let's have good neighbors. Forget about the dollar signs in your eyes."

> "We should never force neighbors, family and friends to do something against their will."
> - Lynn Rumley, Cooleemee resident

Lynn Rumley said she enjoys living in Cooleemee and wants more people to become involved in civic matters. "I do not think annexing people who do not want to be annexed will do that," she said. "We should never force neighbors, family and friends to do something against their will."

One town resident, Denny Creason, spoke in favor of the annexation. He told the audience of approximately 200 gathered at the VFW building that being a part of the town could be a cost savings. "I'm saving $139 a year by being in the Cooleemee City Limits," Creason said. "People are not interested in facts, they're only interested in what they want to hear."

Most of the crowd didn't want to hear Creason, who received a cool response.

Other speakers received cheers, applause and "Amens" as they took the podium, one after another saying the town didn't have anything to offer.

"I'm satisfied," said Dan Presnell. "You want to cram it down our throats and we don't like it."

"I don't think you have anything to offer us," said Kathy Anderson. "Ya'll don't need to come down there and mess with us."

"I don't think it's right. I don't think it's fair," said Linda Whitt. "You're not giving the ones who we want to hear a chance to talk."

She was referring to Keth Hodgson, the first speaker, who Mayor Bill Gales threatened to have removed by police after he refused to leave the podium after being there for three minutes - the amount of time allowed for each speaker.

"I'm not through yet," Hodgson said when Gales told him his time was up.

Man Killed; Two Locals Arrested

MURPHY - A former Davie resident has been charged with the murder of an elderly Cherokee County man, and a Davie woman has been charged with being an accomplice.

Ronald Charles Reynolds, 27, a former Davie resident who gave police an Albemarle address, was charged last week with first-degree murder, said Cherokee County Sheriff's Detective David White.

Martha Jane Mullis Rhodes, 26, of Route 9, Mocksville, and Ronald Manual Rogers, 26, of Murphy, were each charged with being an accessory after the fact of a murder.

Rogers was arrested the day after the Sept. 1 murder. Reynolds and Rhodes were picked up Sept. 7 in Melbourne, Fla.

Cherokee Sheriff Jack Thompson called the murder senseless. The 69-year-old man was fishing the Valley River near the Marble community. "They happened to be there for some unknown reason."

The victim had been shot in the head. Police think Reynolds killed the man. Robbery is the only known motive.

"The victim had gone fishing, to one of his favorite fishing spots. His wife got concerned when he didn't come home, and had a friend go look for him. He found the vehicle and saw some blood near the vehicle, and called the sheriff's department. We found the victim's body in the river," White said.

"It's sad," White said. "A man should be able to go fishing with his wallet in his pocket."

Landfill Prison Escapee Goes On Crime Spree

A prisoner on a work detail at the Davie County Landfill walked away from the job last week, and apparently went on a crime spree through two states before being captured in Montana.

Michael Hampton Sonner, 25, probably shouldn't have been on the work detail in the first place, said Davie County Manager Ken Windley.

All of the prisoners who work at the landfill are volunteers, with time taken off their sentence for time worked on the job. All come from the minimum security Davidson County prison, and most are serving time for misdemeanors or are near to their time for release.

Sonner was serving a 10-year sentence for breaking and entering.

Windley said he is asking the department of corrections to check the workers' records more closely, but that the county still plans to allow prisoners to work at the landfill. "Without these prisoners, we don't have a recycling program," Windley said.

The prisoners aren't held under armed guard at the landfill, or at prison. Landfill officials are instructed to call the prison if any leave the work detail.

Sonner did just that about 9:15 a.m. Sept. 14.

Department of Corrections officials, with help from the Davie County Sheriff's Department, began looking for the escaped inmate. Tracking dogs had traced his scent to the Hickory Hill development off Comatzer Road.

About 30 minutes later, at 3:30 p.m., Keith Mason came to his home beside the development on Comatzer Road and discovered it had been broken into.

Several rooms had been ran-

Sign Ordinance Not Enforced

By Laura Williams-Tracy

In Mocksville, illegal, portable business signs have sprung up along Mumford Avenue and Yadkinville Road like fall chrysanthemums.

But for town officials the smell isn't sweet.

During the summer months, more and more businesses have cultivated the signs along the roads to alert customers to sales, business hours and work available. But at least 13 of the signs at fast food restaurants, flower shops, hotels and even churches are

Smoking Bill Hasn't Done Much To Help Smokers

The N.C. General Assembly may have thought it was taking a bold step for tobacco rights. Earlier this year legislators approved a bill to require local governments to enact smoking guidelines...

Many governments are doing just that. But tobacco is taking it on the chin again -- this time along Tobacco Road.

Clemmons was about to ban smoking in its new town hall under construction. That's before R.J. Reynolds Tobacco employees organized and reminded the village fathers just how much tobacco money floats around Clemmons.

Davie County is getting into the act, too. The county Board of Health is considering broad guidelines to restrict smoking in public places.

The same considerations are underway in 100 counties and more than 500 municipalities. It has been prompted by the legislature's deadline for adopting smoking regulations. It began as nothing more than make-work legislation from Raleigh -- a chance for the General Assembly to stand up for an embattled industry.

But if the tobacco advocates felt they needed a pat on the back in Raleigh, they received something far different. Before, their problems were in Washington. Now, they have hundreds of grass fires spread across North Carolina.

The legislature has mandated that 20 percent of all public buildings must be designated for smokers by Oct. 15. There's one catch: The new law doesn't apply for counties or municipalities with smoking ordinances in place by then.

Local governments found themselves with another order from Raleigh, forcing them to measure every building and plot a smoking area. Some are doing what Clemmons started to do: Just ban smoking. It's easier than jumping through all the hoops created by the legislature.

With a lot of effort, organizing and attending meetings, the tobacco group has restored the right to smoke in the lobby of the new Clemmons government building when it is finished. But this was the smallest of battles. There's no way they will be able to spread themselves across the state and protect the right to smoke in every courthouse, every municipal building, every public place. They've got less than a month to do it.

Some of the counties may enact restrictions far beyond anything imagined before. Davie County's health board wants to ban smoking in child care facilities, elevators, grocery stores, polling places, public restrooms, libraries and a list of other places.

The health board, and the hundreds of other local agencies across the state, didn't have smoking on the agenda until the legislature's mandate. With the Oct. 15 deadline looming, many of the local governments are in a hurry to establish their own policies. And they're finding it easier to just eliminate it. The mood of the public is deeply against offensive cigarette smoke in public places.

The General Assembly's good intentions for tobacco have backfired. Many public no-smoking rules will be established across the state. The brushfires have served to distract the tobacco lobbyists. Instead of worrying about $1-per-pack tax increases on cigarettes, punitive taxes that would destroy a legitimate and important industry, the tobacco lobby has been thrown a curve from the most unlikely places.

Davie High Youth Prayer Event A Blessing

To the editor:

As a parent of a Davie High School student, I must comment on a recent student initiated activity that it was my pleasure to attend.

The event was "See You at the Pole", a national youth prayer gathering. The approximately 90 Davie High students in attendance were part of a national group of more than three million young people. These young men and women came out on their own at 7 a.m. to pray for their families, their school and their nation. What impressed me most was the behavior and motives of these students. In my estimation, they weren't there for press coverage (there was none), they weren't there to cut class (the event was held before school). I believe these young people were there to acknowledge the blessings God has bestowed on this nation, and out of their concern for their neighbors.

With all of the negative press our schools and young people get today, it was a blessing to see these faculty and students publicly acknowledging their love for God and their nation.

Careless Hunters

To the editor:

It's that time again -- deer hunting. I wish I could warn the deer to take cover. Some of the hunters have no respect for those who live on Point Road and we don't like it, because it is dangerous. My house has been shot into. Luckily, I was inside. You don't know when to go outside, because somewhere in the woods is a hunter and a gun. They know people live here and should be more careful. That type we can do without.

Some park in a curve that you can't see around, on the wrong side of the road. So we do have many problems and will be glad when the season is over.

So hunters, if you don't know where we live, please check us out. We are here and don't want to leave from a hunter's bullet.

Grand Jury Action Debated

To the editor:

This letter is in response to the Sept. 9 front page article in the Davie County Enterprise titled "Vehicle Death Case Dropped By Grand Jury."

As a concerned citizen of Davie County, I would like to know how the grand jury came to the conclusion that a hit and run, which resulted in the death of Shannon Wensil, was not important enough to take to trial.

What was said to the grand jury that caused them to come to this conclusion? On Sept. 7, how many cases did the grand jury send to trial? How many cases did they dismiss? Was this the only case dismissed? It appears that the death of this young man is not as important as things like trespassing or possession of stolen goods, or other cases.

Having children of my own, I cannot imagine what it would be like to lose a child in this manner and then have the grand jury dismiss this case as though it was not important enough.

Again I ask why and how the grand jury could dismiss something as valuable as a human life without question?

Newspaper Program A Success

To the editor:

This letter is written as an expression of appreciation to the many businesses and industries who chose to become sponsors of the "Winston-Salem Journal's Newspapers In Education Program," titled "Literacy Through Partnerships." Not only is the monetary contribution appreciated from those who could help, but also to those of you I called upon and were unable to donate, I still appreciate the time and courtesy you gave me from your busy schedule just to talk and get acquainted.

The monetary contributions will go far in helping provide teachers in Davie County with newspapers for enhancing literacy education.

We are glad to work with you collaboratively as partners in the educational process. Together we can make great strides at improving the literacy rate and we can provide employers with better prospective future employees.

This great support affirms the belief that Davie County has a good school system with caring and helpful community people and dedicated teachers who strive hard to make a difference.

Baptist Hospital Maze Can Make Visitors Sick

Mike Barnhardt

A fellow came into the office the other day, and made an outrageous comparison. Davie High School, he said, was getting so complicated it was like going to Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem. You can't find your way to any part of the school without help.

I'll admit, Davie High has buildings scattered all over. And if you haven't been there in quite a few years, like a couple of centuries ago when we were students, the navigation can become complicated.

But the comparison stops there.

There is no place on earth more confusing than N.C. Baptist Hospital (Airports are excluded from this comparison.).

Of course, no one wants to get sick. But if you become a patient in Baptist Hospital, you should really appreciate any visitor who has the gumption, ability and stamina to visit you in your room.

The first problem is parking.

Sure, they have a nice parking deck. We don't have parking decks in Davie County, so some of us country podunks wonder what we're to do when we try to drive onto the parking deck and there's a barricade in the way. Take a few minutes, and you can figure out that you have to take a ticket from a machine and the barricade is lifted for you to enter the parking lot. Don't bother trying to be polite. I thanked the machine for my ticket and didn't get a "Your Welcome" in return. I guess they haven't invented polite machines yet.

Warning: Never enter the Baptist Hospital parking deck in any vehicle higher than six inches. It can be a frightening experience. The huge cement columns appear to be ready to take the top off your car at any minute. The next trick is to find a parking space nearest to where you need to go, which isn't easy. All the parking spaces near the elevator and steps are always full. You can try catching a ride on the commuter train that continuously travels the parking lot, but that takes out half the fun. Besides, you won't know where you're at when you get there.

Get out of the parking lot (Don't worry if it takes longer than an hour. College PhD's have been known to be lost in that parking lot for days. One parked his car in the green section and hasn't been seen since.) And head to visit your sick one.

Easier said than done. There are about a zillion buildings at Baptist Hospital, and not all of them are even hospitals. Take away a few minutes for looking at the few zillion new buildings under construction. By now, you've walked about two miles and the nice flowers you brought are beginning to wilt.

Finally, you enter the hospital. Walk about another mile to reach the elevator. Hopefully, you won't have to go too high, I hear the patients on the higher floors are in the worst shape. Safely inside the elevator (The dum thing is bigger than my bedroom), you punch the button for the floor your going to and wonder if the guy next to you in bedroom slippers and a hospital gown has one of those terminal catchy diseases.

Get off the elevator on the appointed floor and there are about 16 different directions you could go - Reynolds Tower, North Tower, the Tower of Piza, left wing, right wing, chicken wing. The choices are dizzying.

When you finally reach the patient's room, wilted flowers in hand, you flop into the chair in exhaustion. You grab the patient's oxygen mask and inhale a couple of times. Instead of you asking about the patient, they ask you if you're OK. You catch your breath and tell them you think so.

Then you look at your watch. You had allotted three hours for the visit before returning to work. Two hours had already elapsed, and you knew it would take at least an hour to find your car. You tell them good-bye and say you'll visit again soon.

Davie High School may be a bit complicated, but I'll try to figure out building C from G before looking for towers from an elevator from a long hallway from between two buildings next to a decked parking lot with steps leading to the wrong building.

It just goes to prove that bigger ain't always better.

Slippery Slimers Slithers Are Scary

Laura Williams-Tracy

"Slippery slimey snakes, be careful what you say. Cause if they do not like you, they'll slip and slide away."

A children's saying, maybe, but I'm hoping it holds true.

I told my Mom last week that I have decided to confront and conquer my biggest fear; snakes.

"Why would you want to do that?" she asked.

"Because," I told her, "I don't want my children (future tense) to be afraid of them. It's a learned thing," I explained. "And somehow, I blame you for teaching me to fear snakes."

"No," she said, "you are afraid of snakes because in a former life you must have been thrown into a snake pit."

But if I hadn't learned to be afraid of them in that life, then plunging into that slithering mass wouldn't have bothered me at all.

It's logical, I guess, but it doesn't explain why many grown men and women who hold high positions in government and business jump into window sills at the sight of a serpent.

Snakes are my main phobia. When I see them in the road, I downshift gears just to make sure the tires drag across their bodies as I go over. You can't kill nature's noodles otherwise.

And when I see them flattened in the road - the duty done by some merciful snake-hater - I immediately pick my feet up off the floorboard so that I don't make any indirect contact with them. A squeal is usually appropriate at that time.

When hiking through the woods, snake-haters always jump about 20 feet over fallen logs. It's a well-known fact among snakes that we step on an doff logs within close striking range.

I don't understand people who think they are beautiful. How could you love something with no limbs or eyelids. If your cat looked that way he would be gross.

And what's up with snake charmers who hypnotize snakes with music. I figure once you've suckered a snake into a basket, it's time to pump a few bullets under the lid.

Oh, and did you ever notice how much a turtle's head looks like a snake's?

I wouldn't be snuggling too close to Tippy in the aquarium.

Only this summer was I able to make it all the way through the reptile exhibit at the Atlanta zoo. At times in the past I have been mysteriously drawn to the work janitors do to keep our public parks clean.

Strangely, I love to watch the cable programs on snakes of the world. I do it of course with my feet tucked firmly under me.

Faith Lost In Child Abuse Support System

To the editor:

The purpose of this letter is to address an issue that many of us choose to overlook until it effects us -- child abuse. I operate a licensed home daycare, and had been doing this for about a year when a child fell and was hurt while in my care. This prompted the Social Services to bring misdemeanor child abuse charges against me in October, 1992. There were other people in my home throughout that particular day and some still present when the child left. They told Davie County Social Services how the child looked and acted when she left. It was like the investigators chose to ignore this information and the fact that there was no evidence that the child was abused in my home. I went to Davie County District Court in December, 1992, and was found not guilty of these charges by the Honorable Judge Cathey.

I thought my nightmare was finally over and I could get on with my life. But in January of this year, I received a letter from the Daycare Section in Raleigh stating that they were going to revoke my licenses. During the next few months I had to send them information as to why they should not stand by this decision. In July, the attorney general realized that something didn't add up, so she met with me and my witnesses to discuss what had happened in October, what had happened in court and what was going on now. After meeting with the Attorney General's office, they found no reason why I should not be able to keep my daycare license and continue to keep children in my home. I feel that this matter could have been avoided if it had been investigated properly from the very beginning, and I would not have had to go through what I did.

I have lost faith in the system that is supposed to be protecting our children. During this time, I heard disturbing stories as to where other children were abused and neglected and it was not being investigated. After going through this nightmare, I have to wonder where the priorities of these people are and why they weren't doing their jobs better. Are they just there for their paycheck and job title and not the responsibility that goes along with their job? I can only pray that no child is being abused and nothing is getting done about it.

I would like to thank my family and friends for believing in me and standing by me. I wouldn't have made it through this without their love and support. I hope that from now on cases will be investigated thoroughly and all people involved will be listened to carefully before any charges are made especially against an innocent person. This is something that will be with me for the rest of my life because people in a small county, like Davie County, will only remember that I was charged with abuse and nothing else. To these people, I say I can hold my head up high in this world because I have done nothing wrong and when it is time to meet our Maker I can do it with a clear conscience because God knows I didn't hurt the child, but He knows who did, and they will have to answer to Him someday.

Keep Bear Creek

To the editor:

Mocksville commissioners: If you care for the health of Mocksville residents, don't stop taking water from Bear Creek, the most pure water in the county.

It looks like money and greed are more important than Mocksville having the safest drinking water possible.

Tyson Foods has a plant beside Hunting Creek in Iredell County. There's already been a fish kill in Hunting Creek because of this plant. I understand they are under investigation by the EPA. Tyson Foods has bought land on the opposite side of Hunting Creek from their plant. Will they bury hazardous waste a few feet from Hunting Creek?

It's too late when you are dying of liver cancer. Hunting Creek water only is a big health gamble. Using Bear Creek water, you have a less health hazard.

Don't stay still on this issue. Your life might be affected.

Help Is Appreciated

To the editor:

I would like to express my appreciation to a lot of people for helping me with my investigation work.

First, the sheriff's office for getting papers served if and when I needed them. A deputies for help beyond their call of duty. This to me in the role of animal cruelty investigator cannot be measured. I would like to name each and everyone, but there are too many.

The DA's office for being able to see a case five minutes before court and then doing such a good job.

The magistrate's office for helping me with the correct papers at the right time.

Last, but not least, the newspaper for helping with photos and articles to get help with taking care of the animals.

All of these people deserve a heartfelt thanks from me and all the people and animals they have helped.

Mayor William Gales and other board members listen as Keth Hodgson opposes annexation proposal

Annexation Plan Draws Angry Crowd

"Either leave or I'll ask the police to escort you out," Gales said.

"If you want to arrest me, I'll go willingly, but you are not going to throw me out," Hodgson said.

Board member Bill Cranfill told Hodgson he had heard his threats for six month and didn't want to hear any more.

Several people in the audience tried to give their allotted time to Hodgson, but Gales had announced at the beginning that no speaker could allot their time for another speaker.

Russ Spry said he likes Cooleemee and wants good things to happen in the town. He already has services the town offers, Spry said. "Let's improve what you've got before you try to expand."

William Davis of Flat Rock Road said the board members had already made up their minds to approve the annexation. He chided them for not paying attention to the speakers. "Most of you are not paying attention," he said. "You're not looking at the speakers. You're not making eye contact. I think you've already made up your mind."

Kathy Anderson: "I don't think you have anything to offer us."

Walter Cook agreed, saying the residents were already getting "jipped" for services on county taxes. "I don't know what we'll get from the city," he said, "but we're going to be annexed. How you're going to spend my tax money, that's what I want to know."

"I live in the country, and I want to stay in the country," said Reba Holt. She said she had her own street light and they carry their own garbage to the landfill. "And the police come by my house every day," she said.

Nook Blackwood said her family also takes care of the services offered by the town. "We're happy the way we are."

"The way you handled it was really stupid," said Debbie Meisenheimer. If annexed, she would be a resident of Cooleemee but receive her mail on a Mocksville route. "We do a lot for Cooleemee as a neighborhood without being forced into something," she said.

The town board is expected to vote on the annexation issue on Oct. 11. "Show up on the 11th and make them look you in the face when they vote," Hodgson said.

Hearing On Proposed Smoking Rules Is Sept. 30

sports arenas and convention halls;

• all rooms, chambers, places of meeting or public assembly under control of county or any political subdivision of state;

• lobbies, hallways, or other common areas in apartment buildings, condominiums, retirement facilities, nursing homes and other multiple-unit residential facilities;

• all buildings owned and leased by Davie County;

• all public and private schools and community colleges within Davie County; and

• all health care facilities.

The proposal also regulates smoking in restaurants.

If adopted, restaurants that seat 30 or more will have to designate a non-smoking area of at least 30 percent of the indoor seating capacity. Effective July 1, 1995, that would increase to one-half and the non-smoking area will be to be physically divided "as practicable."

Restaurants that seat less than 30 would have to be either all smoking or all non-smoking, with a notice placed near the door.

The proposal also says that all employers "shall make reasonable provisions for smoke-free air for non-smoking employees."

Smoking areas could be designated outdoors, a separate and adequate ventilation system could be provided in a non-smoking area, or a separate smoking room with exhaust could be provided.

All employers would have to adopt a smoking policy and make a copy of that policy available to employees and prospective employees.

Excluded from the ordinance: private residences and clubs, state and federal facilities; restaurants, hotel rooms or meeting places being rented for private functions.

The proposal also has rules for signs and enforcement procedures.

"During the past few weeks, the Davie County Board of Health has diligently reviewed EPA reports on environmental tobacco smoke, also known as second-hand smoke, in order to develop and adopt smoking control rules for Davie County before the Oct. 15 deadline," Harrington said.

"The purpose of these rules is to protect and promote the public health and welfare by regulating smoking in certain public places, eating establishments, and places of employment to minimize the public's exposure to (second-hand smoke). Where individual needs conflict, the need to breathe smoke-free air shall have priority," he said.

The EPA's report said second-hand smoke is responsible for 3,000 lung cancer deaths each year in non-smoking adults and impairs the respiratory health of thousands of children.

The EPA also estimated that second-hand smoke lowers a child's resistance to infections such as bronchitis and pneumonia, and that as many as 300,000 children and infants suffer a respiratory tract infection because of second-hand smoke.

"Based on a thorough review of the EPA report, the Davie County Board of Health has proposed smoking control rules for Davie County," Harrington said.

"The board wants the restrictions and limitations of these proposed smoking control rules to be viewed as minimum standards, and should not be construed as limiting, in any way, the authority of persons in control of a public place, a restaurant, or a place of employment, from prohibiting smoking totally within their establishment," he said.

Sign Law Enforcement Lax In Mocksville

in violation of a town ordinance against portable signs.

"Some of those signs are clearly in violation of the ordinance. I don't think there is a question about that," said Town Manager Terry Bralley. "We need to either change the ordinance or enforce it."

Mainly for cosmetic reasons, the town adopted the regulations in 1989 to discourage unattractive signs that flash at motorists or that aren't a permanent part of the town.

Bralley said the problem is that when one business illegally places a sign, all of its competitors follow suit without checking to see if the sign is legal or if they need a permit.

It's the job of Jesse Boyce, the town's zoning director, to enforce the rules and make businesses take the signs down.

"We don't particularly like it, but we want our businesses to survive so we haven't enforced it real hard," Boyce said.

Portable signs are a "natural creeping thing" that just haven't been top priority for Boyce, he said. He plans to crack down on businesses next year, having given many of the new shops a chance to get up and running.

Bralley said he was not concerned that enforcement is lax, adding that the signs were a tough problem to keep up with.

"I'm not sure there is a clear sense of if it is fair," he said. Many business people think that the ordinance interferes with their ability to attract business.

He added that several of the town's commissioners were not on the town council when the ordinance was adoped and the issue may need to be looked at again.

Mayor D.J. "Nick" Mando said he might be willing to bring the subject up at a board meeting to measure the board's sentiments about the sign ordinance. He said he had not noticed the signs were a problem and didn't yet have an opinion about keeping or lifting the ban.

"I haven't been that keen of an observer," Mando said.

Escapee Is Caught In Montana

sacked, and a pistol had been stolen. The suspect also stole the keys to Mason's pickup truck and left in the truck, which contained a shotgun, said Davie Sheriff's Detective Nelson Turrentine.

"The dogs tracked him to within a half mile of where this happened," said Lt. Jimmy Phipps, chief detective.

Authorities believe Sonrier drove Mason's truck to Montgomery County, Virginia and visited friends, and then broke into a woman's home for the night, where he raped her. He forced the woman to withdraw money from the bank, and left in her truck.

He was captured Saturday at a bus depot in Butte, Mont.

In North Carolina, Sonner will face charges of escape by the department of corrections, and in Davie County, felony breaking and entering and larceny from a residence, larceny of an automobile, and larceny of a firearm.

Jury Can't Reach Decision In DWI Case

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

A jury couldn't come to a decision about who was the "phantom driver" of a car that sped away from a Cooleemee policeman last October and then slowed while at least one person jumped out of the moving vehicle.

Assistant District Attorney Eugene Morris argued in Davie Superior Court last week that James Murry Dewalt, 41, of Mocksville, who has a criminal record of three DWIs, was driving the car.

A Cooleemee Police Officer lended some credence to Dewalt's claim that he was only riding in the car when he testified that he saw a man running from the car as it slowed down.

Superior Court Judge Lester P. Martin declared a mistrial when after almost seven hours of deliberations jurors did not return verdicts on charges that Dewalt was driving while his license was permanently revoked, that he failed to yield to police officers in persuit or that he was a habitually impaired driver.

The jury's only decision was that Dewalt was guilty of resisting and obstructing a public officer. He was sentenced to 6 months in prison for that offense.

Dewalt was arrested on Oct. 2, 1992 after the car he was in was chased into Cooleemee from the Rowan County line on N.C. 801.

Cooleemee Police Officer Ronnie Boger testified that he had to swerve his partrol car to avoid being struck by an oncoming car. He pursued the car into Cooleemee where it only sped up when he tried to pull it over.

With the police car in pursuit, the car turned into the driveway of the car's owner, Mary Dickerson, and sped around the back of the house and down into a ditch. Boger said he ran to the car and found Dewalt attempting to get his legs out from underneath the steering wheel.

Dewalt refused to get out of the car and when he was forced out he slipped on wet grass and slid underneath the car. Boger waited for help from the Davie County Sheriff's Department to get Dewalt out.

Boger testified that Dewalt, who admitted that he had been drinking, failed several field sobriety tests and was combative with officers.

When questioned by Defense Attorney Michael Parker, Boger admitted that he saw a man running from the car.

Dewalt testified that he never drives after having his license revoked and that he was drinking but not driving that night. When the officer began to chase the car, Dewalt said he told the driver, known only as "Robert" to stop the car.

When the car rounded the back of the house, Dewalt said "Robert" jumped out of the car.

Morris said he would try the case again during the October session of Superior Court.

Mocksville Plans To Pave All Of Town's Dirt Roads

Mocksville town commissioners have decided to dump dirt roads.

The board voted at its meeting last week to pave all nine of the town's remaining dirt streets.

For $68,273, the board could have paved Spruce, Center, Harding, Raymond streets and Marklin Avenue. For $50,000 more, the contractor will pave Lakeview, Locust, Park Hemlock and Walnut streets and Cemetery Street to the softball field.

"It makes good sense to get out of the dirt road business altogether," said Commissioner Francis Slate. He made the motion to add on the remaining roads.

Town Manager Terry Bralley said he thought the contractor would extend the contract to include the remaining roads and could have the work done by November.

He added that paving the roads was a great service the town could provide to residents. Before last year, residents had to pay half of the cost of paving their road.

Dollar General Stores To Open In Mocksville

Dollar General Stores, owned by Dolgencorp, Inc. of Kentucky, has leased a 7,150 square foot store in the Mocksville Marketplace Shopping Center in Mocksville and will open in late September, 1993.

Founded in Scottsville, Ky., in 1939 by Cal Turner Sr., Dollar General got its start when Turner bought overstocked merchandise from other retailers, then sold it in small towns around Appalachia for a fraction of the original price. "Being the last days of the Depression, people needed every bargain they could get so Dad found plenty of customers," says Dollar General Chairman and CEO Cal Turner Jr.

Cal Turner Jr. has led Dollar General during an era of growth. Through a new store development program, the company has increased its size from 1,300 stores located in 23 states in 1989 to its current 1,622 stores located in 24 states, and it continues to open new stores weekly. In 1992, the company posted sales of $920.7 million.

Dollar General Corporation is headquartered in Nashville, Tenn., with administrative offices and a distribution center in Scottsville, Ky., and a second distribution center in Homerville, Ga.

Mocksville Marketplace Shopping Center, a 46,000 square foot center, is located on U.S. 601 south in Mocksville. Food Lion is the existing major tenant in the center which also includes Hart's Pizza, Wheels Racing and Rideo Odyssey.

Davie Board Approves Residential Subdivision Plans

The Davie County Planning Board approved plats for several residential subdivisions at its meeting last week.

The board approved the first phase of Oak Valley, a 560-acre housing development planned in Advance. The subdivision is located on the west side of N.C. 801 just south of Hillsdale.

The first phase of development will include an 84.8 acre portion dedicated to single residence houses. Later, several more phases will be added.

Developers plan to build a public golf course designed by Arnold Palmer at the site as well as a country club and other recreational areas.

Thursday's review was of the lot sizes, road names, and other aspects of the site. The land is already zoned residential R-20.

The first site will depend on its sewer from the Rayco packaged treatment plant, said Jesse Boyce, planning and zoning director. The plant already has capacity for the first phase of home building, he said.

• The board also approved a preliminary review of a residential subdivision on Baltimore Road called Baltimore Heights.

The site is 18 acres and will include lots for 14 single family homes.

• The board approved a two-lot, 15-acre subdivision called Low Meadow at the Gilbert and Sugar Creek roads.

• Planning board members also approved several changes to the Davie County addressing ordinance, which is being put into effect. Planners will not attempt to assign street numbers to individual campground sites and other recreation areas.

Boyce said the county's system would not work with the small and winding roads inside many recreational sites. He added that emergency vehicles could not get into the sites very easily anyway.

The board also agreed to designate private roads with blue street signs, while keeping public road name signs green.

New Jail Considered By County

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

Knowing that state officials could soon be breathing down their necks, Davie commissioners took the first step Monday night to alleviate crowded conditions at the county jail.

After a lengthy executive session, the board voted to hire, Grier-Fripp, a Charlotte architectural firm to do a feasibility study on a new jail.

"We feel like it's coming because a number of times there have been 25 inmates in there, and once there were 32," said Commissioner Larry Hayes. The jail's capacity is 18 inmates.

The 20-year-old-jail doesn't have space for juveniles or women inmates, many of whom are taken more than three hours away to Rocky Mount to be housed. About 80 percent of county prisoners are awaiting trials. The remaining inmates are mostly misdemeanants.

The feasibility study should help commissioners determine what is needed, how big and where it should go, said Commissioner Joe Long.

Without the study, the commissioners were reluctant to venture a guess on the cost of the project. They said they would know more about the size of the proposed jail when consultants examine state crime data to see what needs must be met in the coming years.

Even if the project was started now, said County Manager Ken Windley, it would take at least two to three years to complete.

Davie Bruises Its Way To 17-14 Victory

Davie Matches Starmount's Physical Play In 17-14 Win

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County proved Friday night that it can be just as physical as anyone, defeating Starmount's football team, 17-14.

And the War Eagles were physical on both sides of the ball.

"When the offense needed to be picked up, our defense made a big play," said coach Randall Ward, who is 3-1 for the first time in his five years here. "When the defense needed to be picked up, our offense did it."

Starmount, annually a 2-A power, is known for its smashmouth football. Behind the hitting of Dennis Barron and Denver Walker, along with the running of quarterback Chris Charles, the Rams didn't disappoint.

But Davie made all the big plays, coming up with four turnovers on defense and 281 rushing yards on offense.

"We probably got some real good bruises tonight," said Ward.

His team also got a real good dose of respect from Starmount.

"We expected them to be good," said Walker, a defensive end, who'll also play Legion baseball in Mocksville next summer.

"It can be a good rivalry," added Starmount coach B.W. Holt. "We'll try and compete with these 4-A people."

Davie Wouldn't Fold

Davie never folded after Jared Eure's three-yard run gave the War Eagles a 7-0, second quarter lead. Davie matched every Ram score from that point:

- When John Ford Torrence tied it at 7-7 with 5:38 left in the third quarter on a 13-yard run, Matt Sain's interception gave Davie a chance to retake the lead. Hamilton Cuthrell sprinted 45 yards for a 14-7 advantage with a minute remaining in the quarter.
- When Torrence tied the score early in the fourth period, Cuthrell ran Davie inside the Starmount five. Mamic Lewis' field goal with four minutes left gave Davie a three-point cushion that turned into the winning points.

Friday Nights Are Starting To Look Good In Davie County

Ronnie Gallagher

B.W. Holt paid Davie County's football team the ultimate compliment following Starmount's 17-14 loss to the War Eagles Friday night.

"We were beaten by a better football team," the burly Ram coach said.

Considering Starmount is one of the top three teams in the state when it comes to playoff wins over the past decade, you know he hasn't said that very often.

But Holt is like most everyone else who has seen the War Eagles play football in 1993. He was impressed — and somewhat surprised.

After all, Davie is not a football powerhouse — and with only 13 winning seasons in 38 years, it has never been considered one.

Starmount is a powerhouse. But in the first half, it was Davie that did the dominating.

"They impressed me defensively in the first half," Holt said. "I thought they were soft defensively."

Not this team. Although Davie coach Randall Ward said he could see his players tiring late in the game, they still made the big plays at the end and won a close encounter — another surprise to many.

"Our guys have spirit and they have grit," Ward said. "The more confidence these kids get in themselves, the better they'll get."

And the more confident their fans will become.

You can ask any of the players and they'll say the fans are the ones they want to impress and make believers out of. The fans come every season, thinking, "Maybe this will be the year the only high school in our county gives us a winner."

Usually, after four games, Davie has a losing record and the interest has waned.

Not this season.

With a 3-1 record, there is a definite buzzing in the stands. This is a fun team to watch. This has been a team effort.

"If I name one player, I have to name all of them," Ward said.

With a bye this Friday, Ward, the players and the fans have two weeks to savor why Friday nights in 1993 have been so special:

Hamilton Cuthrell: The Central Piedmont Conference's MVP in track last season, he has a chance to become Davie's first 1,000-yard rusher since Shane Fleming in 1987. Of course, he can fly (10.4 in the 100 meters) but he has surprised many with his power.

Every game, the fans wait for him to get around the end and dazzle them with his speed. He hasn't failed, recording scoring runs of 73, 30, 38, 30, 19 and 45 yards. He already has eight touchdowns in four games. If there is a better tailback in the league, I want to see him. (Move over, Smyle Wagner, you've got company).

Cuthrell's Helpers: If there are three better backs on one team in the CPC than

Volleyball Team Beats Reynolds

Davie Tops Previously Undefeated Demons

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County's volleyball team obviously likes playing five-game matches this season.

The War Eagles have eeked out four wins in those five, marathon matches, including last week's big 15-10, 13-15, 12-15, 15-10, 15-10 win over previously undefeated Reynolds.

The victory places Davie firmly in second place in the Central Piedmont Conference behind unbeaten West Forsyth.

"I guess we like living on the edge," said coach Sherrie Myers. "But beating Reynolds was big. We had heard through the grapevine that they were better than West Forsyth.

"They're a lot like us. They have a lot of talent, their coach has played and he's building his team into a good one like mine. It's interesting to see how Davie County and Reynolds have

High-Scoring Jayvees Top Rams, 42-26

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

BOONVILLE — Football fans love offense — so David Daye and James Clement gave them plenty in Davie County's wild and wooly, 42-26 jayvee victory at Starmount last week.

The War Eagles ran for 428 yards and ran a whopping 65 plays in the victory.

"The center got tennis elbow," joked coach Randall Ward.

His elbow couldn't have been any more sore than the legs of Daye and Clement. They combined for 48 carries and 381 rushing yards.

The effort certainly impressed Doug Chappell, Starmount's jayvee coach and 1969 graduate of Davie High.

"Daye's a good, hard runner," Chappell said. "And Clement is good."

Colton: Shuford's Next Linebacker

Davie County linebacker coach Tim Shuford has waited out several opposing drives that have gone right down to the wire.

But nothing can compare to the waiting he had to do in the past month while counting the seconds until his first child was born.

Shuford

But on Tuesday, Sept. 14, it happened: The birth of Shuford's son.

He handed out cigars at Davie's football game Friday night in honor of his new 7-pound, 6 ounce baby.

And just like a linebacker coach, Shuford gave his child a linebacker name:

Colton Blake Shuford.

The Wing-T

Davie's defensive effort in a 17-14 win over Starmount Friday night was even more spectacular when you consider the War Eagles never see a Wing-T offense like B.W. Holt threw at them.

"That's a heck of a team to defend," said coach Randall Ward. "And it's a program that starts the kids off in the third, fourth grade. These kids have been running that offense all their lives."

Davie's offensive coordinator and line coach David Hunt added, "Our kids don't see a bit of the Wing-T. It's hard to duplicate in practice. It is an old offense that is regaining popularity, partly because of the success at Winston-Salem State and North Carolina A&T — and changing the blocking rules. East Forsyth is a Wing-T team and so is Parkland. This is becoming a hotbed for the Wing-T."

Ward pointed to the many blocking schemes that throw defenses off.

Notebook

"Starmount has real good skill people and it's really difficult to find the football a lot of the time," Hunt said.

CPC Football

So, you thought Hamilton Cuthrell had a good running night against Starmount, huh?

His 159-yard output was only the third best in the Central Piedmont Conference Friday night as five different rushers had 100-yard evenings:

West's DeCarlos West ran for 240 yards and scoring runs of 64, 94 and 60 yards in the Titans' 28-0 win over Glenn.

• Reynolds' Jomo Legins ran for 193 yards and scoring runs of 75, 6 and 18 as the Demons beat East Forsyth, 40-19.

Laymarr Marshall of Mount Tabor also had a big night, going for 158 yards in a 40-0 Spartan win over Parkland.

• North Davidson's Smyle Wagner is only six yards from 3,000 career yards, going for 112 in the Knights' 28-14 win over Central Davidson.

South Rowan and South Stokes were losers, Rowan losing to Mooresville, 37-21 and Stokes falling to Reidsville, 41-14.

Heading into conference play, there are two surprises in the league: Reynolds at 4-0 and Davie at 3-1. All other teams have at least two losses.

East-West

Coaches have already been named for next year's East-West contests in soccer, basketball and football.

The West coaches in football are Kenny Ford of Swannanoa Owen and his assistants: Eddie Williamson of East Davidson, Richard Grissom of Elkin and David Moody of Asheboro. Davie assistant coach Cary Powers played for Williamson in high school while at Asheboro.

Bo Brickels of Concord and Larry Sipe of Kings Mountain will head the West boys

All games will be played in Greensboro. Soccer is July 18, basketball is July 19 and football is July 20.

Chappell Returns — With Barger Story

Doug Chappell came home Friday night.

The Starmount assistant football coach and head jaycee coach has fond memories of his high school years, growing up in Cooleemee and playing football, basketball and track at Davie High.

And like most former Davie athletes, the 1969 graduate has a Bolt Barger story.

Stories about the gruff Barger are numerous from his days at North Rowan and Davie. Here's another one:

"In my senior year, we had to beat North Rowan for the North Piedmont Conference (track) championship," Chappell said. "We won 115-114. Coach Barger put me and Jingles (James) in the high jump. Jingles finished fourth and I won it in a big upset.

"When I cleared the winning height, Coach Barger, who wasn't usually very emotional, jumped straight up in the air and split his pants from seam to seam."

As a track member, Chappell and his teammates ran everywhere.

"We didn't have a track," he said. "We'd run past the school bus garage. Or we'd go to the railroad track and come out at Jericho Baptist Church. Or he might send us down to the golf course and back. We'd run with bowling pins under our arms until we just couldn't make it."

Chappell grinned. "Every now and then, we'd try to slip off. One time, Hubert West tried to slip off under the shed. He caught us and we all paid dearly."

But Barger made an impact.

"He was a great coach," Chappell said. "He'd work us."

Chappell enjoyed coming home to Mocksville, where his parents still live, but added, "I would've liked to have been on the winning side."

He'll get a chance next year when Starmount's Jaycees are scheduled to visit Mocksville.

"The home side has been moved," he said. "I'm looking forward to coming next year with the jaycees and being on this sideline because this was the home side when I was here."

Starmount

"That really says something about the character of our team," Ward said. "The kids feel that hey, if you're going to score on us, we're going to score on you."

Ward took a chance on the final scoring drive. He faced a fourth-and-two from the Ram four and went for it.

"There were still six minutes left and our defense was getting tired," he explained. "I knew the kids were pumped. I asked them if they could get two yards and they said yes sir. So I told them I believed in them."

Cuthrell got to the two but a five-yard penalty resulted in Lewis' field goal, the second consecutive game he has connected. It just made it inside the right goalpost.

The defense still had to stop one last Starmount drive. Behind Charles, the Rams moved from their own 36 to the Davie 40 where they faced a fourth-and-seven.

Charles slid past the defense for 10 yards to the Davie 33 with only a minute left.

"They ran that option," sighed Ward. "I had seen it on film and knew it was coming. But (Charles) is a great player and that's the best offensive team we've seen."

Charles was also put out of the game on the play.

"He caught an elbow in the thigh," Holt said.

Russ Parlue replaced him and eventually faced a fourth-and-five on the Davie 28 with 19 seconds left. He completed Starmount's first pass of the game to Torrence.

With a wide open field in front of him, Torrence collided with one of his linemen and fell to the ground after a four-yard gain. Davie took possession and ran out the clock.

"We had a chance," shrugged Holt, nodding toward where the collision occurred. "We have a screen right here that if our guard gets out of the way, we walk in."

Davie's last defensive surge was led by Jerome Carter, who had four of his six tackles in the final four minutes of the game. Four other players had at least five tackles.

"We reached down and played hard," Ward said. "We had several guys who had their best game defensively — and we had to have that against a team this good."

Can't Stop Cuthrell

Starmount came into the game wanting to keep an eye on Cuthrell. He still rushed for 159 yards on 24 carries and broke another long, scoring run.

"You bang him, you bang him and you bang him but if you don't wrap him up, he'll break it on you," said Holt, "and he did it to us."

Walker, who was in on 12 tackles, agreed, saying, "He's probably the best back we'll see all year."

Cuthrell didn't break away until the second half. Fullback Jared Eure did the damage in the first two quarters, running for 65 of his 71 yards. For the game, Davie had 281 yards on the ground.

"They won the first half and we won the second half," said Holt.

Charles finished with 131 yards rushing on 12 carries as Starmount finished with 208. A total of 170 came in the second half, Charles had 104 of his yards after intermission.

"It was a real physical football game," whewed Ward. "That was by far the best team we've played. Holding that team to 14 points is real good."

Notes:

- With the endowment game added to the record, Davie is 4-1.
- Starmount fell to 1-2.
- Kyle Duncan and Michael Agrillo each had fumble recoveries.
- Charles' first two passes resulted in intereceptions by Sain and Ron Armstrong.
- Mark Mason, Deryl Wilson and Armstrong all had pass receptions.
- Starmount's Barmo, another Legion player, was in on 10 tackles from his linebacker spot.
- Davie has a bye this week before hosting winless South Stokes Oct. 1.
- The scoring summary and statistics are in the Scoreboard on page 2B.

Davie Backs Hard To Stop

Davie County's running back trio of Hamilton Cuthrell, Jared Eure and Jonathan Vaughters are definitely hard to stop.

Cuthrell's 159 yards against Starmount put him over the 500-yard mark after only four games. Vaughters is averaging six yards per carry and Eure, after his best game, is averaging 5.0. Cuthrell has eight touchdowns.

Entering categories for the first time were Deryl Wilson in receiving, Matt Sain and Ron Armstrong in interceptions, Kyle Duncan in fumble recoveries and Eure in scoring.

Davie doesn't throw much but when it does, it goes for long gainers. Armstrong is averaging 22 yards per catch and Mark Mason 21.5.

Michael Agrillo had his second fumble recovery of the season while Marnie Lewis now has scored 20 points.

Cuthrell, Jared Eure and Jonathan Vaughters, I want to see them. All are averaging at least five yards per carry behind one of the smallest — but crafty — lines in Ward's five years here.

The Linebackers: If there are three better linebackers on one team than Eure, Kyle Duncan and Michael Agrillo, I want to see them. Agrillo is the deceptive one, smaller than most, but leading the team in fumble recoveries and tackles. Duncan and Eure pound runners to the ground with frightening power.

Ron Armstrong's Hands: If there is a better set of hands in the league, I want to see it. Armstrong made a diving interception against Starmount and offensively, is averaging 22 yards on four pass receptions.

Deryl Wilson: If there is a better defensive back in the league, I want to see him. Wilson has speed, power and that linebacker-type attitude. He's so talented, in fact, that offensive coordinator David Hunt is even working him into the offense.

The Maturing Of Neil Cornatzer: Friday night, the sophomore quarterback fumbled on the three and later threw an interception. Ward was seen calming him down on the sidelines.

"I got on Neil a couple of times tonight," Ward said. "But things like that happen. I told him he had made some good decisions too."

Instead of willing, Cornatzer led the winning drive. On one play, he faked the pitch, went 15 yards and just as he was getting hit, tossed the ball back to Cuthrell for 11 more.

"That's coming of age," Ward said with a smile.

The Band: There isn't a better band in the league than Davie's. There never is.

The Second Half: Remember the days when Davie fans would shuffle on out at halftime, thinking that yes, the game is over. Not this year. If there is a better second half team, I want to see it. In four games, Davie has scored 20 points in the first half and 74 after halftime. With its weapons, the game is never over.

The Press Box: I can tell you right now, there isn't a more impressive press box in the league. Each Friday night comes complete with great food and even more laughter. If you like biting sarcasm, this is the place to be.

But what do you expect with Mike Holcomb as the P.A. man?

The Tomahawk Chop: Davie County adopted the Tomahawk Chop a few years ago.

Friday night, sports fans heard it at War Eagle Stadium.

Saturday night, they heard it from Florida State fans as the Seminoles beat North Carolina.

And Sunday, they heard it when the Atlanta Braves played the New York Mets on national TV.

Now, when was the last time you heard Davie's football team mentioned in the same breath with Florida State and the Braves? The Braves may go to another World Series. The Seminoles may win a national championship.

And the War Eagles?

Stay tuned. For the first time in 10 years, Friday nights are looking pretty good in Davie County.

climbed the ladder."

Davie also saw the other side of the CPC when it defeated winless South Rowan 15-5, 15-5 and winless South Stokes, 15-4, 15-6, 15-0.

"It was like playing a junior high team," Myers said. "It was basically time for us to practice our serves. Everybody played and everybody played well."

Beating Reynolds

Myers said she expected a five-game match with Reynolds.

It was the same old, same old," Myers said. "We've been in that situation before."

Myers watched her team show maturity throughout the match.

"When Jonette (Williard) hit two straight in the net, she was still yelling, "Set me, set me,' " said Myers. "In the past, a player would want to come out. But the girls know that if you mess up, you're not coming out. It's okay. Regroup and play your game."

After winning the first game, Davie lost the next two. With its back to the wall, seniors Tracie Sechrest and Tracy Robbins led the War Eagles back.

"They knew they had to win," Myers said. "They have that desire. Robbins had so much heat on that serve."

Williard led the team with 11 kills, while Maria Newsome had 10 and Sechrest nine. Shannon Umberger had eight kills and Robbins six.

"You could tell by the number of kills that we hit tremendously," Myers said.

It makes Myers angry that only two teams from the CPC are getting playoff berths.

"We've got three really good teams deserving to go," she said. "So beating Reynolds was very crucial on how the conference will end up."

Beating South Stokes

Newsome led the way against South Stokes with four kills, six aces and one block. Williard had three kills and three aces. Robbins had four kills, two aces and one dig.

Beating South Rowan

The match was over in an hour.

Newsome finished with three kills, one ace and five blocks. Williard had two kills and two aces. Laura Moyer had two kills and three aces. Judy Ellis had two kills and one dig.

Jayvees Winning

The jayvees have caught fire as well, winning all three of their matches last week and improving to 4-0 in the Central Piedmont Conference and 6-3 overall.

The jayvees defeated South Stokes, 15-7, 11-15, 15-5. They then beat South Rowan 15-1, 15-7.

And finally, Reynolds fell, 15-10, 15-11.

"A light has gone off over them," Myers said. "It has clicked on what it is like to play high shcool volleyball. Everyone is keeping their composure and having fun."

Playing well for the jayvees in last week's wins were Magan Hendrix, Page Steed, Melanie McDowell and Amanda Hendrix.

Notes:

- Davie is 9-2 overall and 3-1 in the CPC.
- Robbins served eight aces against Reynolds. She also had five digs.
- Newsome had eight blocks against Reynolds.
- Laddin Lakey is coaching the jayvee team.
- Forbush visits Davie Thursday. Davie goes to West Forsyth for a rematch Sept. 27 and South Stokes comes to Davie Sept. 28.

Co-ed Volleyball Registration Begins

The Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department is taking registration for its co-ed volleyball league.

Teams will have four men and two women.

Teams can register until Oct. 1. For more information, call Joe Boyette at 634-2325 (day) or 634-3877 (night).

Jayvees

But it was Chappell's team that started the track meet. It took only one minute and a 70-yard run on the opening drive to put the Rams up, 7-0.

You think that was quick? It took Daye only 20 seconds to get it back. A 42-yard scoring run and conversion put the War Eagles ahead, 8-7.

Starmount retook the lead at 13-8 but a Davie drive ended with Daye's six-yard run and conversion. Davie led after one quarter, 16-13.

That drive came after a fumble recovery. Daye had a 21-yard run, Clement a 14-yarder and Daniel Brewer a nine-yard burst to set up the touchdown.

Daye forced a fumble early in the second period that Josh Nail pounced on, leading to another Davie score.

Clement did the honors this time, going in from six yards with 7:20 left before halftime giving Davie a 22-13 advantage.

Davie had yet another chance to score before halftime but an interception on the Starmount five saved the Rams. Starmount finally went into the locker room trailing only 22-19.

Davie's offensive coordinator David Hunt said, "The first half was just the field events. The track meet started in the second half."

With the ball on the Starmount 44, Clement burst through the line, broke a tackle at the 25 and sailed in for his second touchdown. Daye's conversion run made it 30-19.

Starmount faced a fourth-and-inches on its next drive. It got 40 yards on the play, leading to another Ram score and a 30-26 deficit going into the fourth period.

However, Starmount could not stop Davie's running game. "We were making a living on the halfback dive," Hunt said.

Ironically, it was a pass completion that gave Davie some breathing room.

After Starmount was hit with a couple of penalties, Brewer had a long run to the Ram 12. Andy Ward then drilled a pass to Jason Harbour with 9:51 remaining for a 36-26 Davie lead.

With 4:41 left, Davie finally made a big defensive play. Clement slammed the Starmount quarterback to the ground on fourth down, turning the ball over.

Damien Lewis then added an on-by-the-way touchdown with 1:06 left for the final score.

Ward was impressed with the blocking of his offensive line. He cited the play of linemen Derek Foster and Sam Griffin.

"When you have 428 yards on the ground, the backs didn't do it all themselves," he said.

And defense?

"Well, we kept pressure on the offense to move the football," he said.

That was no problem for Daye and Clement. Daye finished with 197 yards on 23 carries. Clement had 184 on 25 tries. Each had two touchdowns.

"For the spectators, it was a fun game to watch," Ward said.

Notes

- Davie improved to 4-0.
- The jayvees are averaging 33 points per game.
- In four games, Clement has 496 yards rushing and Daye has 384.
- Davie is off this week but plays South Stokes Sept. 30.

Soccer Team Heads Into League Play With 6-2 Mark

War Eagles Shut Out Statesville, Parkland

Davie County's soccer team is heading into the meat of its Central Piedmont Conference schedule.

But before it gets to that point, it is making mincemeat out of its nonconference opponents.

Behind seniors Joseph Ashburn and Devon Speas, Davie tied a school record for wins in a season last week with victories 5 and 6, defeating Statesville 1-0 and Parkland, 3-0.

Speas

"I think the best we've done is something like 6-12-1," said coach Pete Gustafson.

Considering his team has at least 13 more matches, he grinned widely.

"I think we can beat that old record," he said.

Beating Statesville

Ashburn scored the only goal against Statesville early in the match.

Cam Kotke sent a cross that Ashburn put into the net at 8:00.

"Joseph nailed it," Gustafson said. "He hit it just right."

Gustafson praised the play of his midfielders, especially Brent Ward and Ashburn. The defense was the bright spot against what Gustafson termed a decent team.

"Our defenders are covering their men accurately," he said. "We're now starting to jell and accepting our roles and responsibilities."

He is satisfied with Ashburn's effort.

"Joseph's really come along physically, as well as mentally," Gustafson said.

Davie outshot Statesville, 14-13.

Beating Parkland

Davie got some much-needed revenge on Parkland's Mustangs, who had defeated the War Eagles a week earlier by the same score.

Personal fouls hurt Davie the first time, knocking Speas out with an ejection. This time, he stayed in the game and Parkland paid the price. Speas scored two of the three goals.

The first came at 16:00 on a penalty kick. The 1-0 score held up through halftime.

At 44:00, sophomore Dan Callahan scored, heading the ball into the left corner of the goal from 10 yards.

"It was a beautiful header," Gustafson said. "Callahan's been a little dry lately so maybe he's coming out of it."

Speas then made a one-on-one move at 78:00, scoring on an 18-yard shot for the final score.

Notes:

- Davie is 6-2.
- Scott Tutterow had seven saves in goal while Ben Forrest had four.
- Davie outshot Parkland, 22-8.
- Gustafson also praised the play of Bryan McNeil, Erik Crutchfield and Mark Stephens.
- The match at home with West Forsyth was rained out Thursday. It has been rescheduled for Oct. 18.
- Davie will host South Rowan Thursday and go to Reynolds Sept. 28.

Twin Cedars Is Becoming Davie's 'Hole-In-One Haven'

Twin Cedars Golf Course, the Hole-in-One Haven, is still giving area golfers plenty of thrills.

The latest to record a hole-in-one is the Rev. James Clement, who used a six-iron to ace the 165-yard, par-three fourth hole last Friday.

Watching the feat were Crystal and Kathy Clement.

Rec Soccer

The Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation Department will begin a youth soccer program for boys and girls in its leagues at Pinebrook Sept. 25 and run through Oct. 30. Play will be held on Saturdays and Sundays.

Co-ed Softball

The Mocksville Davie Parks and Recreation Department's co-ed softball league has begun.

A total of 14 teams are entered. Games will be played each Monday and Thursday at Rich Park. Three contests will be played each night, beginning at 6:30 p.m. and both the softball and baseball fields will be used.

Jockey Golf

The first annual Jockey Charity Captain's Choice golf tournament will be held Oct. 9 at Twin Cedars Golf Course in Mocksville.

Entry fee is $30 per entrant, which includes green fee and cart. Four-person teams will play.

The tournament is open to all golfers and proceeds will be donated to local charity.

The Contest Winners

On Sunday Afternoon, The Publisher Held His Breath

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Imagine it is Sunday afternoon and you are Advance's Jimmy "Blue" Moon. You're watching the NFL scores closely because after 17 games, you have no misses in the Enterprise-Record Football Contest.

You've picked the LA Raiders, who have led the entire way. You're going to reach deep inside the publisher's pocket and take out $250 for getting all 19 games correct.

Ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha!

Then, in the last few minutes, Cleveland scores twice and wins by one. Ouch.

Now, imagine it's Sunday afternoon and you're "Step By" Stephanie Whitaker and you picked Cleveland to win. With one game left, you have 18 straight wins. Your pick, Houston, has been beating San Diego all day. You're going to reach deep inside the publisher's pocket and take out $250 for getting all 19 games correct.

Ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha!

Then, in the last minute, San Diego kicks a field goal and wins by one. Double Ouch.

And so it went for this week's football contest. Not only did those two come close but they were joined by Terry "You Can Call Me" Johnson, "Slim" Jim Boger and Mike Alexander "The Great," all only one miss from winning the grand prize of TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS.

The publisher really felt bad that he couldn't give it to one of them, right Dwight?

Ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha!

The sports editor, breathing a sigh of relief, had to go to the tiebreaker score of 40 points in Florida State's 33-7 win over North Carolina.

Whitaker's 41 was the closest so she takes the zero off the original total and wins $25. Boger was next with 52 points. He wins (hohum) $10.

The Awards:

The "Whatever Happened To" Award: Last week's winners Sandra "Dee" Johnson and Mo "Knowes" Dobson missed 4 and 7.

The "Heisman" Award: To Doris "Indiana" Hauser, Moon and Whitaker, all who were 11-for-11 in college picks.

The "Propaganda 48" Award: To John "Double Cheese" Boger, who missed 6 of 11 in an easy week.

The "Oops" Award: To Rodgers "Everyday" Peoples and Todd "Last And" Westmoreland, the only entries to pick the LA Rams over the NY Giants.

The "Oops" Award 2: To Dillard Moody "Blues," Steven "Ten Penny" Nail and "Just Say" Julie Lookabill, the only entries to pick Michigan State over Notre Dame.

The "Oops Award 3: To Jesse "Marlin" Perkins, Ba-Ba-Barbara Perkins and Gary "Sitting On His" Duffield, the only entries to pick Pittsburgh over Ohio State.

The "All-Pro" Award: To Johnson, Boger and Don "Juan" Tucker, who were correct on 8 of 8 pro games.

The "Bring Your Playbook and Come To My Office" Award: To Margaret "Thatcher" Leonard, who missed 6 of 8 pro games.

The "Find Another Nickname" Award: To Chuck Perdue. If the sports editor were choosing, he'd use "Ground" Chuck Perdue, or Chuck "Wagon" Perdue or Chuck Perdue University.

But Chuck gave himself his own nickname. Would you believe, Chuck "The Chicken" Perdue?

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To James "Alf's Well That's" Atwell, who had only one miss until dropping 4 of the last 5 games.

The "N.C. State Fan" Award: To Brad "Soup" Lagle, who predicted Florida State to beat Carolina 50-0.

The "Earth To Suzanne" Award: To Suzanne "Serial" Keller, who had six teams listed that weren't even in this week's contest.

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: To John "Double Cheese" Boger, who missed 8 in a easy week. Ouch!

Last Week: 15-4
Season Total: 56-19

Four misses was a common number this week and the sports editor feels bad about it, especially considering Terry Johnson beat me. Let's see if he can do it two consecutive weeks.

This Week's Games

UNC at N.C. State: Finally, the streak ends and Carolina wins. UNC by 3.

Wake Forest at Northwestern: I'm sorry. Northwestern by 1.

Miami at Colorado: I'm not sorry. Colorado by 2.

Miami at Buffalo: Miami can't win north of the Mason Dixon Line, we all know that. Buffalo by 7.

San Francisco at New Orleans: Usually, I go with the Dome. Not this time. San Francisco by 6.

Tiebreaker: Colorado 24, Miami (Fla.) 22.

Other Winners:

Virginia, Clemson, Western Carolina, Georgia, West Virginia, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Southern Cal, Cleveland, Minnesota, Houston, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati.

This Week's Winners:
First Place: $25
Stephanie Whitaker (1 Miss)
Second Place: $10
Jim Boger (1 Miss)

THE HARMON NFL FORECAST - SUNDAY AND MONDAY, SEPT. 26-27

*BUFFALO.....28 MIAMI.....21

We think a trend will end: The past four times these AFC East rivals have met, the visiting team has won—including the Bills' 29-10 triumph in the AFC championship game-last January in Miami.

*CHICAGO.....19 TAMPA BAY.....14

In '92 the Bears beat the Buccaneers at home, 31-14, lost a 20-17 thriller in Tampa and finished below the Bucs in the NFC Central for the first time in 10 years. Both are fresh altor a week off.

CLEVELAND.....24 INDIANAPOLIS.....22

Having traded wins since 1988, the Browns and Colts are still evenly matched, so we'll go with mild upset. Bernie Kosar was sacked 11 times in Cleveland's 14-3 loss in Indianapolis last year.

*DETROIT.....20 PHOENIX.....19

This may be a surprisingly good game, with the Lions coming home from New Orleans and the Cards glad to be done with Dallas. They've met only once in 13 years, a 16-13 Phoenix win in '89.

*HOUSTON.....32 L.A. RAMS.....20

With their tough early schedule, the Oilers may think of this as relatively easy game, but if they do they're asking for trouble. Three-years ago, the last time they played, it was 17-13 Rams.

*MINNESOTA.....27 GREEN BAY.....26

A tough call, between clubs that have been known to dominate a great team one week and fall apart against an also-ran the next. In '92 the Vikes won 23-20 in OT in G.B. and 27-7 in Minneapolis.

*N.Y. JETS.....23 NEW ENGLAND.....12

The Jets and Patriots split last year, New York winning at home, 30-21, and N.E. returning the favor with the biggest of its two wins, 24-3. Th Jets are showing signs of leaving the Pats behind.

SAN FRANCISCO.....34 NEW ORLEANS.....31

The game of the week, with the NFC West already at stake. The Saints must still dream about 20-7 fourth-quarter lead over the 49rs last November that vanished with two Steve Young TD passes.

SEATTLE.....17 CINCINNATI.....10

Falcon Runners Beat North Eighth Graders

North Davie football coach Mike Dinkins didn't know the player's name. All he knew was "Number 32."

That's all he wanted to know after West Rowan's 26-14 victory over North's eighth grade last week.

The Falcon running back was the key to the game, getting outside time and again for long gainers.

"They were taking two tight ends and overloading," Dinkins explained. "We weren't adjusting to it and we didn't shift."

When West went up 14-0, Dinkins decided to take quarterback Derrick Smoot and move him to tailback. The decision worked as Smoot led the Wildcats downfield for a score and a 14-8 deficit.

"We felt like we needed to get him on the corner," Dinkins said. "He's quick."

Sure enough, Smoot broke several tackles on a nifty, 40-yard touchdown run. He added the conversion and with two minutes left in the first half, North trailed by only six.

But "Number 32" went to work, making several long runs in the final 120 seconds, the last one going for a score and a 20-8 lead.

"If we had kept them out of the endzone, we'd have had momentum going into the second half," Dinkins said.

West scored the second half's first touchdown and built an insurmountable 26-8 lead.

North then scored on a 35-yard completion from Smoot to Jesse Bonds. The ball was tipped at the 15 before Bonds hauled it in and raced into the endzone.

Notes:

- North is 0-2 overall and 0-1 in the conference.
- Defensively, linebucker Scott Cornatzer played well at middle linebacker while defensive back Dyrell Dalton had an interception. Leedale Harris also drew praise from Dinkins.
- North is off this week. It hosts Corriher-Lipe Sept. 29.

Wildcat 7th Graders Fall Just Short, 24-22

It wasn't as bad as the 50-0 shellacking South Davie laid on them in the season opener, but to the North Davie Wildcats, their 24-22 seventh grade football loss to West Rowan was harder to swallow. At least in this one, they had a chance to win.

"I thought we showed a lot of character," said assistant coach Mike Dinkins.

North actually scored first, taking an 8-0 lead. Jason Shermer drilled a 20-yard strike to Jesse Marion for a touchdown. The same combination got the conversion.

"The big thing coming in was whether we could move the ball," said Dinkins. "That opening score gave us a lot of confidence."

West Rowan came back to lead 18-8 at halftime and went up 24-8 in the third.

That's when the Wildcats began their comeback.

After recovering a fumble, North marched downfield on a 40-yard drive. Chris Wooldridge finished it by romping 25 yards for a score. He ran the conversion and North was within 24-16.

Late in the fourth quarter, West was simply trying to run out the clock on dive plays.

"We stood up a ballcarrier," Dinkins said, "and Wooldridge stripped him."

The next thing Dinkins knew, Wooldridge was standing in the endzone on the end of a 60-yard return. But the conversion failed.

With three minutes left, the Wildcats regained possession and tried a few pass plays that were deflected away.

Shermer was 3-for-8 passing, all going to Marion. Wooldridge finished with 60 yards rushing.

"West has a real good ballclub," Dinkins said. "If it weren't for a fumble and a long touchdown run, we could've won."

Notes:

- North fell to 0-2.
- Dinkins praised the play of Brad Smith, a linebacker, and Scott Neas, a lineman.
- North doesn't play this week but goes to Corriher-Lipe Sept. 30.

Without Priestley, South Suffering

Funny how a team's fortunes can go downhill when its star goes down.

But that appears to have happened to South Davie's softball team.

After winning its first game of the season, Angie Priestley was knocked out with a severely sprained ankle. The Tigers have never recovered, losing their next three games by a total of 43 runs.

The latest two losses were to Mooresville last week in a doubleheader, 15-4 and 20-4.

"We still hit pretty well but our defense was pitiful," said coach Becky Miller. "We weren't making good throws."

Losing The First

South actually led Mooresville in the first game, 1-0. Anna Samm's double was followed by singles by Lisa Turner and Audrey Williams.

Mooresville went up 4-1 before the Tigers closed to within 4-3 in the third. Williams doubled and Jessi Carter boomed a home run.

"Jessi's hitting great," Miller said. "We depend on her for her bat."

But Mooresville then exploded, scoring five in the third and six more in the fourth.

Getting two hits apiece for South were Williams, Samm, Laura Windley, Amanda Driggins, Tosha Hunter and Donna Pennington.

Losing The Second

This time, there was no doubt. Mooresville had 15 runs by the second inning of the second game.

South managed three runs in the first. Hunter had a double and Windley, Sherry Head, Ashley Andrade and Tiffany Nichols all had singles.

In the third, Williams singled and Carter drove her home with a triple.

"We play Mooresville two more times so maybe we can give them better games," Miller said. "Our hitting can only do so well. Our defense has to get better."

Miller did see a good defensive performance from Head, who has moved to third base.

"Sherry was our one bright spot," Miller praised. "She played terrific."

Notes:

- South fell to 1-3 overall and 0-2 in the PMS Conference.
- Since Priestley went out, South has been outscored, 54-11.
- Priestley has a cast on her right ankle and is expected to be out until Sept. 27. "She might be back for the last game or maybe the tournament," Miller said.
- Ten different players had one hit for South in the second game.
- South was scheduled to go to Concord Sept. 20 and plays at home against Kannapolis Sept. 22.

Since injuring her ankle, Angie Priestley's absence has been felt at South Davie.

North Still Splitting Its Doubleheaders

North Davie's softball team is doing exactly what coach Darrell Steele doesn't want.

It keeps splitting doubleheaders.

For the second straight week, Steele watched a sweep go down the drain when a West Rowan player hit a home run in the final inning of the first game to beat the Wildcats, 4-3.

North did bounce back to win the second game, 5-3.

"If we ever get our bats going, we'll be okay," Steele said. "I thought we'd be doing better than this but this is a tough conference."

Losing The First

Two solo home runs in the first inning helped West to a 3-0 lead before North came back to tie it up.

Beth Bracken scored in the third on a hit by seventh grader Ashley Bracken.

North tied in up in the fifth with two runs. Melinda Richie singled and Janell Sykes walked. Beth Bracken's two-out single eventually brought home the tying runs.

In the last inning, another West Rowan homer won the game.

"This big, humongous girl got one over our left-centerfielder's head," Steele said.

Winning The Second

Again, North fell behind 3-0 before the Wildcats came back.

North scored three in the fourth inning. Ashley Bracken started things with a triple. Holly Allen and Leeann Spillman also had singles.

The winning runs came in the fifth. Natalie Foster singled and Ashley Latham walked. Bracken's double won it.

"We're young," Steele said. "We have a couple who started last year but the rest played sparingly. I think we can do better."

Notes:

- North is 2-2 overall and 1-1 in the Piedmont Middle School Conference.
- Steele really like Bracken, whom he compares to former Davie star Dot Spaugh. "She plays the same position and reminds me a lot of Dot," said Steele. "She's got the arm and has a better bat at this level."
- North had an open date this week but goes to Corriher-Lipe Sept. 20.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

If you're like a lot of people, you may have occasional or persistent back pain and wonder what caused it. You try to think of some incident in which you may have strained your back, and come up with nothing. But there must be some reason why you have back pains. The truth is that even the simplest of incidents may be the cause, such as reaching high on a shelf to get something. Or stooping suddenly to pick up something that has fallen. Or maybe you need some tips on good posture.

Whatever the cause, the problem may be that your spinal column is out of alignment. No pain-killing drug can cure the CAUSE. It can dull the pain for awhile and give you temporary relief. But if your back is out of alignment, the pain will probably not go away unless you get the treatment you need. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

She was introduced by Education Department Chairman, Mrs. Betty Hall.

With the Davie County Schools having the reputation as one of the finest systems in the state, club members were encouraged to consider volunteering in one of the many areas where extra time and talent are needed --classrooms, office, special off-campus trips, or even working on projects for the classroom teachers at home. She talked about the school construction program recently started at the high school, and explained the many services for children pre-Kindergarten thru graduation in the nine schools of the system. Plans for the change to Middle School program, which will become effective next year, were explained.

During the business session members voted to accept the proposed budget for '93-'94.

The Ways and Means Committee announced plans for two events scheduled for November. The 3rd Annual yard sale will be held at the N.C. Armory on Nov. 5 and 6. Sale hours are Friday, 9 a.m.-7 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.

After a year's absence, the club will again have their cafe open at the Davie Craft Fair (also held at the Armory) on Nov. 12-13. Homemade vegetable soup, hog dogs, desserts and beverages will be served.

Proceeds from both these fund-raisers will be used for scholarships and community projects.

Mrs. Gina M. Lyon of Bermuda Run, an active member of the club since 1988, has moved to Zeeland, Mich. The resignation of Mrs. Vena Harris was accepted with regret. Mrs. Harris has been responsible for printing the club's monthly newsletter since its beginning in 1980. The 100th issue was distributed in May '93.

Members interested in the Book Review will meet at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 22, at the home of Club President Doris Carman. They will discuss Greensboro author William R. Trotter's "Bushwackers", "The Civil War in North Carolina: The Mountains."

Conservation Department Chairman Mrs. Myrna Harris signed up volunteers to participate in "Big Sweep '93" on Saturday, Sept. 18.

Nothing Feels As Nice As A New Car. Unless It's Our 7½% Rates And Tax Deductibility.

Every time you look at new cars, you hear two voices in your brain: One says, "I will be a happier, more productive person with this extra-nice car." And the other voice says, "You can't afford it!"

When car loans lost their tax deductibility, the frugal voice really took over.

But now Southern National may be able to bring back what the tax man took away.

Because with a Tax Advantage Loan from Southern National, you can borrow at the low interest rate of 7½% APR and still deduct the interest from your taxes.

In fact, if you're a homeowner, we can show you how to access up to 100% of the equity in your home, and deduct up to 100% of the interest.

What that all means is that you can buy more car for your money. Probably more car than you ever thought you could afford.

So call or stop in at your nearest Southern National branch. And we'll show you how to travel in fine style, for less.

Skip The Dealer Financing. We Can Make The Interest Tax-Deductible.

Spiritual Resources
A SOLID FOUNDATION

By Shirley Cottle

Most of us have at least one favorite leisure time activity. For me it is hiking; especially in North Carolina. Recently, my husband and I spent a day at Stone Mountain State Park. As we were climbing that mountain, we took some "off the path" excursions and climbed portions of that great granite mass. As we went higher, we would stop and rest at intervals and try to take in all the beauty surrounding us. Every stop gave us a wider view of the horizon. When at last we reached the top, we could see mountain tops, and valleys, clouds and sunshine. It was breathtaking.

I thought of how immovable this mountain appeared. Yet God's great creations of earth and matter are still susceptible to wear. For on this day there were intermittent showers. As the water made its way down the face of that mountain, you could see where other times of rain and storm throughout the thousands (or millions) of years since it had formed, had taken some toll. Crevices etched, holes worn, ridges pronounced; all were visible. Yet the mountain stays "in tact"; strong and solid at its base.

Our Bible gives us many references to God as a rock. Psalm 19:14: "May the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be pleasing in Your sight, O Lord, my Rock and my Redeemer." And in the Gospel of Matthew we are given these words of Christ Jesus about wise builders of spiritual faith. "Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on a rock. The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house; yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the rock." (Matthew 7:24-25)

When Jesus asks His disciples, "Who do people say the Son of Man is;?" Peter answered, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God." Jesus replied, "Blessed are you, Simon son of Jonah, for this was not revealed to you by man, but by my Father in heaven. And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it." (Matthew 13-18) The Rock is Jesus, living Son of God. And He is that solid base on which the Church of His Name is built, unshakable, everlasting.

As we climbed Stone Mountain it appeared to be unshakable, unmovable. But earthquakes can move mountains, and rains and storms can take its toll. Only the Rock of Christ Jesus is from everlasting to everlasting. If we are firmly founded in Him, then the quakes and storms of life will not leave us devastated, but established firmly, able to climb again to our upward goal.

As we climbed higher that day on that granite mass, the view was breathtaking; God's majesty in creation, surrounding us.

On what foundation have you established your faith? In Christ, the Solid Rock, the base is unshakable and everlasting, and at the summit, the view is breathtaking, for it is a promise from Him. Who do you say that He is?

Owens, Steed Nominated For Awards

Fellow board of education members have nominated David Owens for the Raleigh Dingman Award, given annually by the N.C. School Boards Association to the best school board member in North Carolina.

The Davie board also nominated superintendent, Dr. Bill Steed, for the state superintendent of the year award. In addition, Steed has been named to the State Board of Education's Professional Practices Commission.

Public Education Committee Formed

Davie schools have formed a committee which can provide information on public schools to interested groups.

Possible topics which can be presented to clubs or other groups: middle school concept, community college, vocational education, year-round schools, countywide advisory council, redistricting and other issues.

Power Failure Handled At Pinebrook

When Pinebrook Elementary School officials came to school a few weeks ago, they found a school without electricity. Buses were already on the road.

They had the task of taking students back home.

Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, said school officials did a good job of making sure students had a supervised place to go, either at home or at school or at the Davie Family YMCA.

"It reminds parents to communicate with schools to make sure there is a plan to take care of that child should such a situation occur," he said.

Staff Development On Wednesdays

Students will be released early on a Wednesday each month so that teachers and other staff members can be trained in the middle school concept.

Training activities for teachers are scheduled for 1:30-4 p.m. on those early release days.

Vocational Annual Report Given

Vocational students are more likely to find a job than those who leave high school looking for work without taking any of the courses.

Neal Essie, Davie schools vocational director, presented an annual report to members of the board of education recently.

"People who complete our vocational courses find work more readily than those who do not," Essie said.

From 1986 to 1993, Davie High graduates going on for more education increased from 66 percent to 82 percent; those going straight to work went from 30 percent to 16 percent, those attending a community college went from 27 percent to 41 percent.

"Because of the nature of work, that's exactly what we want to see happen," Essie said. "I think we're tracking in the right direction."

Teacher Assignments May Change

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise-Record

The Davie County Board of Education asked Superintendent Bill Steed to review and possibly change some of the teacher assignments made two weeks ago.

Board chairman Nancy Grooms said nine of the teachers that will be moved in the system's change to middle schools have complained.

Earlier in the month the board had unanimously approved the changes. Now, Mrs. Grooms said some of the changes have caused problems.

"As a board member, maybe I should have reviewed it some more — taken a little more time with it," she said.

She said the nine teachers have varied complaints. "They feel a loyalty to the communities they serve. They feel a move would not be good for them," she said. "They've been very professional when they've called."

The changes result from the system's plans to move ninth graders from North Davie and South Davie junior high schools to Davie High next fall. Also, sixth graders from all the elementary schools would be transferred to North and South. The junior highs would become traditional middle schools for grades 6-8.

The changes also required wholesale shifts in teachers — and thus, the complaints.

"I'm not sure there's going to be changes — just some re-thinking," said Mrs. Grooms.

Steed will make his recommendations in November.

He said the assignments between North and South were made after considering the teachers certifications, their leadership and experience. Principals reviewed the proposals and made their own recommendations.

Steed said the number of students at a school always determines the teacher assignments. "I felt like our role was to assemble the strongest staff at both schools.

He said some teachers had been nervous about their assignments when the board first began considering the middle school change. He had committed to telling them well in advance of next fall.

"Most of our people have accepted it, and they're committed. Even those with concerns have said they will do the best possible job. It just comes down to, 'Does it have to be me?' "

The board's action came Monday in special called meeting. The board met for 2½ hours in private with Steed about the assignments. Board member Luther Potts was absent. No teachers attended the meeting.

With more than 6,000 middle schools across the country, breaking up Davie's two junior highs certainly isn't following a fad, said Ken McEwin, the school system's middle school consultant.

In fact, middle schools are the most popular grade organization in North Carolina and in the country, McEwin said Davie's decision to change to middle schools in the 1994-95 school year is a step toward a tried and true system with good results to back it up.

Junior highs aren't being shut down because they didn't work well, he said, but because they act too much like miniature high schools.

Students from 10-14 years old don't learn as well when they move to a new teacher and new room every 50 minutes, he said. That system deters teachers from spending much time getting to know each child.

Instead, those age groups need continuity and guidance from teachers.

McEwin is leading a task force that will determe how the system will work in Davie County schools. The task force, which includes at least 10 parents and the teachers who have been assigned to the middle schools, will research and visit other middle schools and will ultimately determine what Davie County middle schools will be like.

Most likely, middle school teachers will be grouped into teams. Probably, sixth grade teachers will be grouped in pairs, 7th grade teams will be of three teachers, and in 8th grade, four teachers will make up a team.

"Once everybody understands (middle schools) it's almost impossible to be against it."

- Ken McEwin, middle school consultant

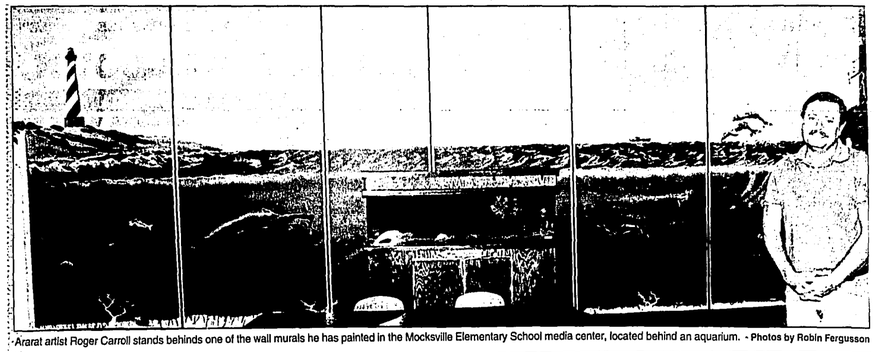
By teaching in teams, teachers are able to add cohesion between the lessons in each class, he said. For example, an English teacher may have students diagram sentences that deal with a science project being conduced in science class.

The system increases the contact students have with the same teachers every day. And it raises teacher morale, he said, because most teachers don't want to teach alone.

And just as the younger students need more personalized contact with teachers, McEwin said research shows that 9th grade students are usually mature enough to handle departmentalized learning on the high school level.

As in Davie County, McEwin said some school systems have to pay for changes in the schools to shift the students.

"Any time you reorganize school systems there are some concerns. But once everybody understands (middle schools) it's almost impossible to be against it."



Ararat artist Roger Carroll stands behinds one of the wall murals he has painted in the Mocksville Elementary School media center, located behind an aquarium. - Photos by Robin Fergusson

Artist Hopes To Stimulate Imaginations

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Dozens of times every day, someone tells Roger Carroll he is doing a good job.

And occasionally, a young student will go up to one of the murals he is painting on the walls at Mocksville Elementary School and look at the scene - a fairy tale come to life, an underwater odyssey - and imagine what it would be like to be there.

The former factory worker relishes these moments.

"People hunger for people to tell them they're doing a good job. I hear that about 100 times a day," Carroll said. "That's a true blessing."

Carroll's work is being paid for by the school's PTA, and he hopes the murals will do more than brighten the school's media center.

"I try to do a broad diversity of subject matter, things that will stimulate the children's interest in reading, in the environment. The subject matter is as broad and diverse as our imaginations can be ... anything that would stimulate their interest.

"It causes them to take a little more pride in their schools and they take care of them." Sometimes, Carroll lets a student help in painting a mural. "It gives them a little bit of pride in ownership of the mural," he said.

The father of three children and three grandchildren, Carroll says he tries to set a good example for the students. While he paints, he listens to classical music, to give the young students a taste of fine music.

"It makes you conscious about the values your children are coming in contact with. My theory is, if you feel better about where you're at, you're going to do better."

He has been painting school murals for about a year and a half. He had dabbled in art earlier in life, but put that to the side to raise his family.

"I asked God to divert me into an area where I could do something worthwhile and utilize the talents he has given me," Carroll said. "I get an opportunity to share with the students. We all are given something that we can give."

He estimates he has painted murals in 25-30 schools in northwest North Carolina and southwest Virginia.

An itinerant Baptist minister from Ararat, Carroll said he mostly encounters enthusiastic attitudes among teachers and administrators, but sometimes sees the cynical side of educators.

"You come across folks like Mr. Suiter (Julius, MES principal) who has a positive outlook. They're looking for ways to make a more positive learning environment."

Committee To Consider Year-Round Schools

A committee has been established to study the possibility of going to year-round schools in Davie County.

Dr. Sam Houston, former Mooresville superintendent, will speak to the committee and others interested in the concept at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 27 at North Davie Junior High School.

The committee is expected to make a recommendation to the board of education.

Committee members include the principal, a teacher and parent from each school:

Cooleemee - Jeff Albarty, Pat Koutts, Kathy Bellucci; Davie High - W.G. Potts, Terry Hoyle, Hank Van Hoy; Mocksville Elementary - Julius Suiter, Judy Sherrill, Vickie Balsley; Mocksville Middle - Bill Campbell, Marie Ellis, Debbie Broadway; North Davie - Larry Bridgewater, Susan Barnhardt, Cathy Hege;

Pinebrook - Melvin Fegg, Candy Poplin, Ginger Morrison; Shady Grove - Linda Jones, Elnora Gore, Tammy Young; South Davie - Robert Landry, Ann Smith, Keith Hilton; William R. Davie - Larry Jones, Cindy Minor, Kris Buckles; board of education - Marlene Shamel, Clyde Scott; central office - Bill Steed, Dwight Jackson, Van Johnson and Elaine Strider.

Cooleemee Pleased With New Principal, Assistant

Davie schools should be commended for the smooth transaction of new principals, a member of the Cooleemee Advisory Council told board of education members recently.

Dale Parsley said the council is pleased to have Jeff Albarty as principal and Mary Sine as assistant principal.

Sometime during the school year, the advisory council for each school will attend an education board meeting, telling about their respective schools and voicing concerns.

Parsley brought four concerns to the board:

- commitment to keeping up with technology, including computers;
- would equipment purchased by PTA stay in Cooleemee when the schools change to middle schools;
- would all schools receive fair treatment in the budget during transition to middle schools; and
- a countywide advisory council is needed to share concerns and ideas.

"I really don't have any grumbles, these are just some of our concerns," Parsley said.

"There are no real complaints if it concerns kids," said superintendent, Dr. Bill Steed.

Steed said the schools are concerned about technology, but money isn't available to keep the most modern equipment in each school. Often, by the time the schools can afford equipment, it is outdated.

The schools are planning to start a program to make sure teachers know how to use modern technology, Steed said.

The schools haven't decided what equipment will go where when middle school changes are made, but Steed promised that each school would be adequately equipped and maintained.

A countywide advisory council is already being organized, Steed said.

Board member David Owens said the board likes to hear from advisory councils. "We do appreciate all the work the advisory councils are doing," Owens said. "We don't take the advisory councils lightly."

4,694 Students Enrolled In Davie

Davie schools opened with 4,694 students, 46 more than were enrolled at the same time last year.

Elaine Strider, general supervisor, reported the attendance figures to the board of education recently.

Attendance is up at South Davie Junior High and Mocksville Middle schools, and down at Davie high, Mocksville Elementary, Shady Grove and William R. Davie.

Figures after 10 days:

- Cooleemee, 425;
- Davie High, 1,005;
- Mocksville Elementary, 430;
- Mocksville Middle, 379;
- North Davie, 608;
- Pinebrook, 530;
- Shady Grove, 526;
- South Davie, 543; and
- William R. Davie, 248.

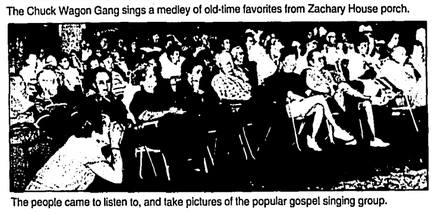
More than 300 people brought lawn chairs to enjoy music of Chuck Wagon Gang at historical association concert.
- Photos by Robin Fergusson

The Chuck Wagon Gang sings a medley of old-time favorites from Zachary House porch.



The people came to listen to, and take pictures of the popular gospel singing group.

Concert Moves Indoors

COOLEEMEE - The Chuck Wagon Gang came out on the porch of the historic Zachary House here last week to the delight of more than 300 onlookers, who were also casting glances towards some cloudy skies.

And after a few songs, the rains came.

But it didn't stop the concert, a benefit sponsored by the Cooleemee Historical Association to increase support for the annual Textile Heritage Festival, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 2.

The Chuck Wagon Gang stayed on the porch, and the crowd moved inside the old house, which was once the mill manager's house. It is being converted into a museum of Cooleemee and textile mill village history.

Rabies Clinics Are Saturday

On Saturday, Sept. 25, rabies clinics will be held in Davie County from noon-2 p.m. at the following locations:

Davie Veterinary Clinic, 140 Salisbury St., Mocksville (704) 634-5931,

Farmland Veterinary Clinic, U.S. 64 and N.C. 901, (704) 492-7148, Valley Animal Clinic, 1230 Yadkinville Road, Mocksville (704) 634-6201.

As in the past, North Carolina approved vaccines will be administered at these clinics. All vaccines will be given by a qualified veterinarian. (Due to the rabies law passed by the N.C. General Assembly on July 1, 1984, the rabies vaccination requirement for cats is the same as dogs.)

There will be a charge of $5 for each animal vaccinated. Other vaccines will be available at a reduced cost.

United Way Campaign Has $350,000 Goal

The 1993/94 United Way Campaign was "kicked off" Wednesday, Sept. 15, with a goal of $350,000 announced.

Rick Cole, president and campaign general chair, said in his opening remarks: "The goal is always based on funds needed to continue support of the 32 agencies comprising the United Way in our county. It is important to note that one gives through the United Way and it is the best way to help our fellow citizens in need."

Campaign Cabinet members Sarah Wood, Jean Cleary and, for Perce Musselman - Steve Walker, reported pledges from their divisions of commercial/retail and service, financial firms and industry, respectively. Pledges reported amounted to 10 percent of the goal.

There were no employee "pacesetter" campaigns conducted this summer.

Local corporations and firms were asked to "paceset" by making known their pledges at the kick off. Employee campaigns will be conducted from Sept. 15-Nov. 19.

Notable among the pledges were Sara Lee Corporation's $7,000 pledge announced by Jim Bailey of their Narrow Fabrics plant. Steve Walker announced Ingersoll-Rand's pledge of $5,000. The local Wal-Mart store pledged $5,000.

Charles Dunn of Mocksville Savings Bank was honored for his firm's long time and exemplary support. He was presented a gold toned framed certificate. The firm has historically lead its division in corporate support.

A highlight of the kick off meeting was the playing of a new United Way song written by Sara Lee's Jim Bailey. The song's tape will be available for radio play during the campaign. It is also the background music for their employee campaign video.

Volunteers serving on the campaign cabinet and directing fund raising activities for their divisions were introduced and are as follows: Jean Cleary, financial firms including real estate; Perce Musselman, industry; Sarah Wood, commercial/retail and service firms; Patsy Crenshaw, educational facilities; Allen Martin, special gifts including residential and leadership circle members ($1,000 or more); Eric Ennis, professionals (attorneys and accountants' firms); Dennis Harrington, governmental units and United Way agencies' employees; Paul Mighion and Mike Kinsel, co-chairs, healthcare facilities and professionals.

Sweet Lovers Haven catered the event. Davie Family YMCA, an agency, provided the location at their facility on Cemetery Street.

Daniel Bradshaw, area director of Tri-County Mental Health, has announced his resignation, effective Nov. 12.

"While we have made great strides over the past four and a half years, I feel we have reached a point where a change in leadership would be mutually beneficial to the Board and myself," Bradshaw said.

Hi! My name is Sharee Renee Knight. My first birthday was Aug. 26, 1993. Mom and Dad gave me a party on Saturday, Aug. 29. I would like to thank my friends and family for the nice gifts and for all of the things they did for me that weekend. My parents are Larry and Marla W. Knight of Route 1, Mocksville. RESTAURANT MANAGEMENT
WE'RE INTERESTED IN STUDYING SUCCESS
If you consider yourself a successful person, we would like to talk with you. Restaurant management experience is a bonus, but not necessary. We are presently interviewing for management positions. But before you call, answer these questions about yourself:
- Do you see the fast service restaurant industry as more than a job — as an opportunity to serve guests and grow professionally?
- Do you get excited when you see your teammembers do a good job?
- Do you see and understand the balance between people, resources, and economic resources?
- Do your work people to like you and do you work at it?
- Is it important to you to see others grow and succeed in their jobs as well as you?
- Is a 40 hour week critical to your lifestyle? How do you like serving guests on the weekends?
- Do you have high standards of your own personal convictions as well as business decisions?

These are critical questions we have definite opinions about. We think the right answers spell success.
Applications are being accepted and interviews will be conducted:

Davie Man Killed In Parking Lot Shooting In Winston-Salem

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

Winston-Salem police are considering robbery as a possible motive for the shooting death of a Mocksville man early Sunday morning.

Tony Saunders Pendergrass, 28, of 780-A N. Main St., Mocksville, was shot three times in the chest and once in the buttocks after he and two friends left the Silver Fox Lounge on Peters Creek Parkway about 2 a.m.

Winston-Salem Police Officer T.L. Kennedy was writing a traffic ticket nearby and heard shots. He arrived at the scene and saw a group of men scatter.

Two men ran to Kennedy telling him their friend was wounded. Pendergrass was found lying in the lot bleeding from his chest. He was pronounced dead at North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

Police would not release the names of Pendergrass's friends.

Winston-Salem Police Capt. L.G. Davis said Pendergrass was approached by a black man who pointed a gun and demanded money.

Witnesses said that a man demanded money from Pendergrass and that the two argued and struggled.

Robbery is a possible motive, Davis said. But police are still investigating other motives.

She said the department had no suspects.

Pendergrass had worked as a maintenance man at Autumn Care Nursing Home for two years.

Two Farm Workers Killed In Accident

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

Two men who had been working in the area only a few weeks were killed in a collision on U.S. 601 near the Yadkin County line Saturday night.

Four farm workers from Yadkinville had traveled south to Davie County about 7:15 p.m. in a 1981 Chevrolet. The driver, Saturnino Salazar, 39, of Route 6, Yadkinville, failed to stop at a stop sign at Childrens Home Road and U.S. 601 and the car was struck by a 1983 Ford driven by Brian Keith Shore, 29, of Boonville.

Salazar and a back seat passenger, Martin H. Sanchez, 43, of Route 6, Yadkinville, were killed.

Toby Rodriguez, 41, of Yadkinville and Vianey Gonzales Campos, 33, of Route 6, Yadkinville, were also passengers in the car.

Shore was hospitalized at Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem but has been released.

Fork Baptist Receives Largest Settlement Ever From Davie Civil Jury

By Lynn Hall
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Davie County civil court jury last week awarded the largest settlement ever in the county's history to Fork Baptist Church, some $556,000, and congregation members hope the judgment will serve as a means to protect other churches and groups from unethical companies.

The case involved a contract Fork Baptist had signed with Temple Construction Co. of Greenville, S.C. to build an addition to the church. The negotiations for that contract began in the spring of 1989, and were concluded in December of that year.

Attorney for the church, Hank Van Hoy, said the congregation had learned about Temple because the company had done work for another church in the community. He said throughout the negotiating process, Temple's agent, Terrance Lane, represented the company as able to meet all the requirements for the project.

"During that period, Lane even attended a service at Fork where he witnesses about his own faith and beliefs."

Cooleemee Festival To Celebrate Textile Mill Heritage

More On Textile Heritage Day- Page D1

COOLEEMEE -- If you visit this little piedmont textile mill village, you might think they are getting ready for a visiting dignitary.

Scores of volunteers are painting walls, doing all sorts of carpentry work, buying banners and balloons, putting up posters, planting flower beds, and making logistics plans for traffic flow.

But they are not preparing for one special guest -- they are preparing for thousands to come to the Cooleemee Historical Association's Second Annual Textile Heritage Festival to take place here on Saturday, Oct. 2. Gates will open at 9 a.m. and festivities will last until around 10 p.m. Admission is free.

"Everyone who comes is special -- especially if they ever worked in a spinning room, wove cloth, carded cotton or fixed a loom," says CHA President Thurman Miller. "The days are gone when one could drive down Hwy. 29 and see hundreds of working cotton mills in the South. But we are determined that these proud people be remembered."

CHA began its work in 1989 by interviewing old-timers in this mill village which sits northwest of Salisbury about 13 miles. Starting out with 21 founding members, the history group has now grown to have members in over 650 houses across the country. On Sept. 9, CHA accepted the nation's most prestigious award from the American Association for State and Local History at their Convention in Columbus, Ohio. Many professional historians have called the group's grass-roots effort "pioneering."

A highlight of this year's Textile Heritage Festival will be the opening of a year-round museum whose photos, artifacts and documents describe the birth of a unique southern sub-culture -- the cotton mill village. With the museum's hundreds of images, text and dozens of old work tools Cooleemee is making a serious attempt to document and interpret its own history. "If we waited for someone else to do it, it might never get done."

Old Fashioned Vacation Still Has Plenty Of Appeal

The moment I put our bags in the room, I sensed something was different about this lodge.

No television. No air conditioning. No telephone.

The walls and ceiling were unfinished pine boards. The bed was ... hard.

The only modern conveniences were indoor plumbing and reading lamps -- electric, thankfully.

It defined the word "rustic."

From the outside, we expected something vastly different. The approach to High Hampton Inn was majestic. Stately trees and boxwoods lined the long driveway. The lawns were well-manicured, topped with a big flower garden.

High Hampton Inn, tucked away in the southwestern North Carolina mountains, is today largely the same as it was in the 1930s. It is an escape from the fast lane. A wonderful escape. The inn has a golf course shadowed by Chimney Top Mountain. There are tennis courts and hiking trails and a lake.

There is one television and a couple of telephone booths in the lobby.

Mary and I were merely looking for a place to spend the night while revisiting Western Carolina University nearby. What we got was a delightful glimpse of an old fashioned vacation. Cars in the parking lot had license plates from across the United States. One elderly woman, about to leave, said she had been there for more than a month. The place has lots of repeat business.

High Hampton has a large cafeteria. Breakfast and dinner are included with the room rate. Coats and ties are required for dinner.

I had packed light. No coat. No tie. I was planning to take Mary out for dinner, when the staff pointed me to a large rack of sport coats and a box of ties.

I found a natty brown coat -- an Arnold Palmer signature jacket -- and a loosely matching tie. It may not have been my color, but it got me in to dinner.

It was Saturday, and I had wanted to keep up with a few football scores. Without ESPN, I didn't find out who won the Carolina-State game until Sunday night when we got home. Another guest had asked about the score, but that prompted a long discussion about the REAL "Carolina" -- South Carolina or North Carolina.

High Hampton has resisted the urge to modernize. Other resorts, such as Grove Park Inn in Asheville, have every modern convenience. High Hampton thrives in its simplicity and its old-fashioned elegance. Guests play croquet. They serve afternoon tea. They learn quilting and bridge and watercolor.

Our room was equipped with a window fan. We didn't need it. The room had a large vase of freshly cut flowers and a basket of fruit when we checked in. The Holiday Inn doesn't do that.

At night, people gathered in the vast lobby by a fireplace to talk and play cards. Outside, there's a huge porch and patio. We went to bed early. Visitors there tend to get lots of sleep.

It was everything most people consider boring. And uncomfortable. Sort of an Edsel in an age of Nissans.

We found it charming -- a drastic break from the sameness of every other motel along the highway.

Let Elected Officials Pick Smoking Rules

To the editor:

Thank you for running an outline of the Board of Health proposed smoking policy in last week's paper. I was particularly interested to learn that the board based its policy on the EPA's report on the effect of second hand smoke. When RJR and Phillip Morris challenged the validity of the report by bringing suit against EPA, the EPA stated that the courts had no authority to review its reports. This reply further weakened an already suspect and obviously exaggerated report. Worse, our tax dollars are expended in the printing and promulgation of biased-lamed or outright false information. What has happened to our system of checks and balances?

We all know from sad experience that when government gets involved in our private lives or business affairs the price goes up. The price is more than just monetary - its loss of freedom. That's a very high price to pay.

Our board of health is composed of sincere members of our community whose single consideration is health. Our elected representatives have a broader view taking in such considerations as loss of jobs, our farming income and the manufacturing industry. They also have a much less restrictive policy to be placed in effect Oct. 15 unless the county adopts its own policy. I believe we will all be better off to allow the policy of our elected representatives to become our policy.

Judicial System Benefits The Criminals

To the editor:

I would like to touch on a few subjects that affect all of us in one way or another.

The so-called minorities in most communities, for example the Piedmont, make up about 25 percent of the population and commit 75 percent of the crime. Bear with me, I don't have all the statistics at my disposal, but I am close.

Take law enforcement: a police officer, today, before he apprehends a suspect, has to make a split second decision as to how much force he can use. If he doesn't use enough the culprit escapes or the officer winds up dead. If he uses a little too much force, he could wind up doing hard time in prison or at least suspended without pay while he is raked over the coals by what I term "do gooder committees".

If all the police forces the country called in sick, for a week, then we would see how well all the do gooders could keep the criminal element in check.

Look at the judicial system. If the officers put a criminal behind bars, he is out before the officer gets the paper work done. If a white officer is charged with use of excessive force and the judge doesn't hang him out to dry, we hear "discrimination" yelled loud and long with threats to riot (burn and loot). The officer is then re-tried and/or re-sentenced. It seems that there is no such thing as double jeopardy when it comes to police officers, only for criminals. It looks to me as if the judges and juries would crucify Jesus Christ all over again to appease the criminal element.

To touch on another subject -- NAFTA. They say one plus would be raising Mexico's standard of living (sending jobs down there). It would solve the illegal migration from Mexico to the U.S. Then why not give each criminal, when he's tried, a check for a million dollars? If, as they say, poverty is the cause of most crime, that should solve that problem. I do not think either one of these ideas makes sense.

Take a quick look at the tobacco industry: lung cancer vs. employment. If a tobacco farmer has to cut back on his crop, he can raise another crop in its place. If a tobacco factory worker gets laid off, he can look for a job elsewhere. But a person who dies of lung cancer, what alternative does he have? Reincarnation? Recently, I read a statement in the paper of a man who bragged that he was an elderly man who "had been a heavy smoker all his life and was in the pink of conditions." Probably so. There are exceptions to every rule. I know we all have heard of people bailing out of an airplane and the parachute failed to open and the jumper survived. This is another exception to the rule.

We Could Learn A Lot From Our Ancestors

Mike Barnhardt

I admire the people of Cooleemee, the ones who are working so hard to preserve the history of their community - and other small towns that sprang up around cotton mills.

I admire them for honoring the blue-collar workers that built this country. I admire them for honoring the way of life of our ancestors.

And I wonder: someday in the future, will our children and grandchildren remember the way we lived.

Things change quickly these days. Common practices to our parents and grandparents seem like ancient customs to us. I'm just approaching middle age, yet the changes that have occurred in my lifetime seem tremendous.

I remember outhouses. Now, we have automatic commodes that play the tune "Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head" when you do your business.

I remember getting spankings from school teachers when I misbehaved. Now, teachers can't spank a student without an Act of Congress. More likely, it's the students who will be spanking ... or cutting ... or shooting, the teacher.

I remember getting spankings at home when I misbehaved. Now, parents opt for a "time out," a more "civilized" approach to discipline.

I remember when "coke" was a cola that came in small, green bottles, and you could sip it through a straw. The most harm it could do was give you gas. Now, it's a drug that comes in powder and you sniff it into your nose. And it can kill you.

I remember when there were only four channels on TV, and the most violence you would see was on "Gunsmoke" and the only nudity was natives on public television. Now, there are hundreds of channels, and "Gunsmoke" is on the family channel and the nudity can be found on network TV.

I remember when everybody knew everybody - not because they were nosy - but because they cared. Now, you're lucky if you can recite your next-door neighbor's name. And people depend on the government for help instead of each other.

I remember when you felt safe to leave your home for a week and not bother to lock the door. Now, sophisticated home security systems are the norm, and you're afraid to go shopping because of the crime.

I remember when Elvis' hips and Mick's lips were the worst things in music. Now, the musicians talk about killing cops and raping.

I remember seeing prisoners working on the side of the road, and trying to be good so I wouldn't end up like that. Now, the criminals laugh at our much too lenient prison system.

I remember when the most fun a kid could have was exploring in the woods. Now, it's indoors while exploring a fake world on a video game.

Things do change quickly, and as you can see, it's not always for the better.

If you can remember these things, you know what I mean. If you can remember even further back, you know more than the rest of us how quickly things change. And if you can't remember any of these things, pay attention. Change and progress don't always make things better.

So when you go to Cooleemee for the Heritage Festival this Saturday, look at the exhibits of the way our ancestors lived and worked. Talk to some of the old-timers about how things used to be.

After all, you could learn something.

Collecting Contagious, Not Genetic

Lynn Hall

Are you familiar with the Universal Law of Any Flat Surface? This particular maxim holds that a flat, empty surface, irregardless of size, will within 24 hours of being spotted, be completely covered by school papers, junk mail, library books, pens, pencils, newspapers, magazines, shin guards, soccer socks and the good scissors you thought were gone forever.

I made this discovery after I married and had children. When we moved from a small two-bedroom apartment into a two-story, three bedroom house with an unfinished basement, there were just two of us and I used to wonder what we'd do with all that extra space. I remember we had a few things down in the basement — a tool box, some camping equipment and a few odd pieces of scrap lumber. I didn't go back down for a couple of months and by the time I did, this stuff had multiplied more prolifically than a hutch full of bunnies. For a while I thought it was some kind of miracle of the loaves event, until I discovered I had married a "collector," and I'm not talking about antiques. This fondness for collecting turned out to be not just a habit, but rather a genetic defect of some sort. I know this because both of his offspring inherited this tendency. Two Christmases ago, the kids got a little miniature pool table from Santa. It was great fun for two week and then it became a drop off point for all school jackets, hats, toys, Nintendo games and anything that came from the garage and which we intended to return to the garage just as soon as we had more time.

That turned out to be so handy, we got a ping pong table last year and have actually quadrupled our basement storage space. It's amazing how much more a regulation size table will hold. I've seen it covered with all 26 volumes of the encyclopedia and the two-volume dictionary, someone's winter wardrobe that never made it to the attic and the overflow from the pool table of items still waiting to be delivered to the garage.

About once every three months I have what I call my Mount St. Helen's tantrum and threaten to throw everything I find that isn't in its right place into the trash can. This usually causes a flurry of activity for about 30 minutes as everyone rushes for their favorite belongings, and when the dust settles, I usually discover a piece of furniture I'd forgotten I had.

I came home earlier this week to find the clean clothes I'd asked the kids to fold and put away still all over the dining room table. "How about taking care of this mess?" I yelled up the stairs. "We did," came the answer.

"I still see clothes down here," I tried again.

"Yes, but those aren't ours. They're yours."

Oh.

"Well, since I'm fixing dinner for you, how about at least carrying them up and putting them on my dresser?"

In a moment one small muttering-under-her-breath person appeared and picked up the stack of clothes. She disappeared upstairs and in a minute I heard, "I can't put them on your dresser. It has too much stuff on it."

"Then set them on the chair," I instructed.

"It's too full, too."

"Then just set them on the bed," I said, getting annoyed.

"That's covered with stuff too." It was quiet a minute and then in a tone of voice I recognized as very familiar. I heard, "Should I just throw away everything that isn't where it's supposed to be?"

I turned up the volume on the radio and pretended I didn't hear. Maybe this isn't genetic at all. Maybe it's just contagious.

Writer Asks If Annexation Report Is Legal

To the editor:

I would like to thank the people who stood up for me at the Cooleemee annexation hearing. It means more than I can put into words. The last thing Mayor Gales wanted was for me to be arrested, because he would have to appear in court where he can be forced to answer questions.

A lot of people have called asking for more information on the only question I was allowed to ask and the town board could not answer.

I asked if the annexation report had not been legally approved, how could the public hearing on annexation be legal? Mayor Gales did answer. He said he did not care if it was legal or not. Mature answer for the leader of a town.

The reason I think the annexation report was not legally approved is found in the Charter of the Town of Cooleemee. Article V, section 2 says the town attorney shall attend all meetings of the board of commissioners. It makes no exceptions for special meetings such as when the annexation report was approved. The town attorney was absent.

Article III, section 7 says a vote must be taken upon all ordinances and resolutions. When Mayor Gales announced a resolution to no longer allow public comments at town meetings, he did not take a vote. The first meeting affected by this was the meeting to approve the annexation report. Everyone attending this meeting had their first amendment rights violated by Mayor Gales.

Clearly, the town board only wants to obey rules that favor their interest.

It's ironic that this scheme of Mayor Gales to raise money will probably raise the taxes of everyone in Cooleemee and put the town in debt well into the next century. It works this way. The people have a legal right to attend public meetings in Cooleemee. Sometimes the Cooleemee Town Hall has too many people at the meetings to be safe in case of fire. In fact, this meeting held at the VFW seemed to be over the limit. I guess Cooleemee will have to build a new town hall. I like the ones with a clock tower.

Concert Was Great

To the editor:

Well, the Chuck Wagon Gang concert in Cooleemee was outstanding, even with the rain, over which we have no control. In having to move in the Zachary House, I'm sure we saw a lot of people, which otherwise, we would not have seen. It was great renewing old acquaintenances. So in spite of the rain, thanks to the many people who helped make the concert a success. I am proud to have been born in Cooleemee, and I'm looking forward to the next big event, the '93 Heritage Day in October.

It is great to see how the folks in Cooleemee are all pitching in and getting the Zachary House fixed up for the Museum and Historical Society. They are really great people.

Social Services Helps Children

To the editor:

In response to the article about the child abuse support system, we feel the need to defend the Davie County Social Services and commend them on a job well done. Our daughter was the victim of day care child abuse and the Davie County Social Services came to be the only comfort for us in a long and heart breaking ordeal. We greatly appreciate all of the support they gave us when the local judicial system failed. Marchita Williams of the Davie County Social Services is an incredible person and she serves as a credit to her profession. Thank you for all that you have done for us and for being there in our time of need.

As parents of a victim of day care child abuse, we hope that one day the local court system will only do the kind of fair, honest, and professional job that Davie County Social Service offers the citizens of our county.

Many Helped With Festival

To the editor:

On behalf of the Davie County Arts Council, I would like to thank all those who have complimented us on Arts Alive. We have heard so many good things, which make our efforts worthwhile. When you come out and enjoy one of our events, then we have achieved our goal.

Having a Mardi Gras theme this year created a festive atmosphere. It was a colorful, tasty and musically fun addition to the festival. We hope to continue with many themes in the years to come.

For future festivals, we also wish to recapture the enthusiasm shown by our school children. Arts Alive was a community effort and a large part of that volunteer involvement came from our students. Many children from our schools contributed in some way, along with lots of adults from our community. These volunteer contributions of talent and time, combined with the work of the Arts Council board and our executive director, made Arts Alive '93 a huge success.

Thanks to all of you who volunteered in some way and to all of you who came out and enjoyed.

Kim Smith, President
Davie County Arts Council

Trooper L.D. Chappell said no charges would be filed.

Authorities held the names of the victims for several days while Chappell attempted to contact family members in Mexico.

He said that the families lived in a very rural area of Mexico and did not have a telephone in their homes. After a three-day search, he was able to reach the families by calling a community store and having someone go out and find the families.

Chappell said it was difficult reaching the families with tragic news.

"I would want to know as soon as possible," he said.

Chappell said the men were not related but were co-workers for a Boonville tobacco farmer. Sanchez, Campos and Salazar had shared a trailer in Yadkinville.

Textile Heritage Festival Scheduled For Saturday

Cooleemee To Honor Mill Workers

says Miller. "This is our chance to tell our grandchildren exactly how their ancestors lived doing cotton mill work."

The festival will also feature "Way Back When" exhibits showing those traditional country crafts which made mill families nearly self-sufficient; river boat rides on the South Yadkin; an air castle and games for children; a civil war re-enactment group; old-time music; hand-made craft sale; and food all day.

The Cooleemee Historical Association has been working to restore the old Zachary House, originally built in 1924 for the Mill's general manager J.W. Zachary and his family. The festival will be held on its grounds and the museum is situated inside on the first floor. The Zachary House is located at 14 Church St., at the corner of Marginal Street off N.C. 801.

"CHA hopes its Textile Heritage Center will not only serve as an anchor for an historic district here, but will also become a center for the regional study of cotton mill heritage," Miller said.

"We would like to compare notes with mill people from other villages," says Lynn Rumley who edits CHA's quarterly newsletter -- "The History Loom." "Write us about life in your mill village and plan to come to the Festival," she suggests.

The museum is accessible to the handicapped, and drop-off points will be set up Saturday at Church and Cross streets.

Church and Duke streets will be closed during the festival, and visitors can park in areas across from the Cooleemee Shopping Center off N.C. 801. A $1 parking fee will go to the Cooleemee Volunteer Fire Department. Shuttles will be provided free, both from the parking area and from the festival site to the Junction for the river boat rides.CHA's mailing address is Box 667, Cooleemee, NC 27014 or you may call (704) 284-6040 for more information. Crime Prevention Is Goal

COOLEEMEE - The Cooleemee Police Department is planning several crime prevention events during October, beginning with a community awareness meeting from 6-7:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 4.

The meeting, in the school gymnasium, will include a discussion of crime prevention and include a schedule of events for the month, said Police Chief Matt Dillon.

The department is planning several classes to tell town residents how to help police and themselves. "We want to teach them how to protect themselves, their property and their businesses," Dillon said. "Hopefully, we can have a class every day of the month."

In addition to this campaign, Cooleemee police are joining other law enforcement agencies in the county in participating in the statewide "Click It Or Ticket" seat belt campaign.

The agencies are planning traffic stops throughout the county to check compliance with the seat belt law, Dillon said.

Jury Awards Settlement To Fork Baptist Church From Construction Co.

The church paid Temple $25,500 initially and by early 1990, nothing had been done at the site, other than a construction office of sorts placed at the location. "The Davie Inspections Department quickly realized that Temple was not a licensed contractor and voided the building permit."

Van Hoy said that when Temple had applied for the building permit, they'd left off the name of the builder, "per-haps hoping to get by with this." Under state statute, any project in excess of $45,000 requires that the general con-tractor be licensed.

"Lane told church members later that he intended to try and get his license, but that just means he knew all along that he was violating the law. " He said Lane also told the church and in all this time the cost had increased, and instead of $358,000 to build the addi-tion, it would now cost them more than $400,000.

In this same time period, the state board which licenses general contractors, started an action against Temple because they weren't licensed.

The church asked for their money back, and Temple refused. The church also asked if they could use the plans that Temple had been planning to use, and they said no on that as well. "This left the church with no choice but to take legal action," Van Hoy said.

Because Temple was not licensed, this meant, he said, that the contract was illegal and unenforceable. Van Hoy said he never thought Temple had a case, but their attorneys first attempted to say that the contract referenced a document called general conditions, which stated there can be no litigation, but allows for arbitration. "The church never saw these general conditions and the court held that this was not part of the contract." Van Hoy said Temple appealed, but lost there as well. "At that point their attorneys pulled out of the case."

In the trial brief, the church had sought action for breech of contract.

Van Hoy said the church addition was built by Wishon and Carter, and because of delays, increases in materials costs and the fact that new plans had to be done, the building costs rose by $42,000. That plus the $25,500 the church had already paid Temple, put the damages at approximately $67,000 for breach of contract.

"The measure of damages for fraud is done differently," the attorney explained. "The difference is looking at what you could have reasonably expected the project to cost, and we thought Temple low balled us to get the contract, so we figured $370,000. was a more accurate number." The $30,000 difference in $370,000 and $400,000 plus the $25,500 already paid, makes $56,000 and that's what the jury found as compensory damages for fraud.

Under unfair trade practices, Van Hoy cited concealing the fact that the company wasn't licensed. "In fraud, you are entitled to punitive damages, and in this area the jury looks at bad acts, rather than actual damages suffered by the church. And in looking at this side of it, the jury felt 10 times the damage to the church was a fair punitive judgement.

Other bad acts, included the fact that, even while the state board had taken action against Temple, the company was still advertising in publications such as the Biblical Recorder. "I think the jury was also angry that he was praying on the religious emotions of the congregation to win their trust."

Van Hoy said they congregation won't know for a while if they'll collect anything, "but they felt this was important to deter unlicensed contractors from taking advantage of other unsuspecting groups or churches."

Clemmons Company To Haul Davie Garbage

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

A small Clemmons company beat out several garbage magnates and received the bid to haul Davie's garbage to the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County landfill.

AMSCO Inc. will begin hauling garbage from the site of the Davie County landfill to Winston-Salem in October. The company was approved unanimously by the Board of Commissioners last week.

County Manager Ken Windley said that although AMSCO's experience is primarily in hauling municipal sludge and not garbage, he could recommend the company because it received high marks from its customers and submitted the most aggressive bid.

Sam Pack, AMSCO's transportation manager, said that beginning with Davie County the company is planning to expand its services into garbage hauling. But for now, Davie County would receive more personal attention from a small company like AMSCO than a national garbage company.

Davie's contract specifies that AMSCO will privide the trucks that will haul trailers already owned by the county.

AMSCO's price for the first year will be $105 for each 62-mile round-trip to the landfill and back to a transfer station that will be built at the site of the old Davie County landfill. That bid was about $20 less than what representatives of Browning Ferris Industries said they could offer.

The county attorney still plans to will work out the details of the contract before the board decides how long of a contract it will sign.

AMSCO was also selected over BFI and Waste Management to transport the garbage until the transfer station is built. A transfer station is similar to a garbage warehouse where garbage is compacted and loaded into 40 cubic yard trailers for the haul.

The county will pay AMSCO $125 per haul during a four to five month interim period while the transfer station is being built. In an effort to save some money, county landfill workers may make as many as three hauls each day with a county-owned garbage hauler.

Unemployment Rate 3.8%

Everybody Votes Nov. 2

On Nov. 2, voters will decide for or against an amendment to Article V of the North Carolina Constitution, proposed by the General Assembly during their legislative session this summer.

All registered voters in Davie County can vote on this issue.

The proposed amendment, known as "Section 14 - Economic Development Financing Bonds," presents a plan which would authorize towns, cities, one counties to borrow money without pledging their full faith and credit and without first obtaining voter aproval for the specific purpose of financing public projects associated with private and commercial economic developments.

Under this plan, municipalities would have the power to designate geographical zones where specific improvements are sought to be built. The municipality would determine the current property value within that designated territorial area, prior to issuing bonds to finance improvements in infrastructure. The interest and principal on these bonds would be paid from the revenue attributable to the increase in value resulting from subsequent industrial development in that area.

For more information about the proposed amendment, contact Julie Snee at (919) 733-7355.

Man Dies After Truck Slams Into Train

A Salisbury man was killed Monday afternoon when the pickup truck he was driving rammed into the side of a train.

Roy Edward Parchmont, 66, of Woodleaf Road, was driving the truck on Junction Road near Cooleemee when it hit the train Monday afternoon. He died at N.C. Baptist Hospital.

Trooper T.D. Shaw with the N.C. Highway Patrol doesn't know why Parchmont was in the neighborhood. He was thrown from the truck and pinned underneath. He had suffered head injuries.

The train whistle had been sounded, Shaw said, because a boy who lives nearby goes out to watch the train when he hears the whistle. Monday, he saw the truck hit the train's engine.

"He ran back in the house and told his mother a truck had hit the train," Shaw said.

The truck came to rest in a ditch beside the train tracks.

Members of the Cooleemee Fire Department responded to the train-truck wreck Monday that claimed life of Salisbury man.

Small Businesses May Receive Loans

Self-employed small business people in Davie County may be eligible to join a peer group that makes loans available to the businesses.

An information session on the "microenterprise loan program" will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 13 at the Davie County Public Library.

The loans are for prospective and existing small business owners who cannot get financing from traditional banking institutions. The program is directed by the Yadkin Valley Economic Development District (YVEDDI).

For more information, call Richard Miller at (919) 367-7251.

Extension Agent 'Certified Plantsman'

A Davie County Cooperative Extension horticulture agent has been named a "certified plantsman" by the N.C. Association of Nurserymen.

Darrell Blackwelder received the certification on Sept. 1.

"This recognition is awarded after a person experienced with plants passes an intensive testing program," said William A. Wilder Jr., Nurserymen executive director.

"The certified plantsman program is designed to identify horticulturists qualified to assist with gardeners' questions. Those certified can provide answers in plant identification and culture," he said. "they are also familiar with plant disease and insect problems."

Wildflower Seeds Available From SCS

Wildflower seeds are available from the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District.

Three types of seeds are offered for $5 per packet: a Southeastern mixture, a shade mixture and a low-growing mixture. Each covers 400 square feet.

Seed can be sown from September-November or March-May.

For more information, call the district office at 704-634-5011 or come by the office in the county office building, 180 S. Main St. (next to the courthouse), Mocksville.

Fire Marshal Continues Fire Prevention Education Effort

By George H. Frye Jr.
Davie County Fire Marshal

"Get Out! Stay Out! Your fire safe response" is the theme for this year's observance of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 3-9.

Fire Prevention Week is commemorated nationally each year to highlight the value of fire safety education. It was first proclaimed by President Warren G. Harding in 1922 to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. That fire killed 250 people, left 100,000 homeless and destroyed more than 17,400 buildings.

According to the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), 3,500 Americans died in home fires in 1991. This figure could be significantly reduced if people would plan ahead and practice fire safety measures.

Time is the critical factor during a fire. Each second that goes by increases the likelihood of serious injury or death. This is why early detection through the use of properly installed and working smoke detectors is so important.

All family members should know at least two ways out of the house in case the primary exit is blocked by fire. Plans should also be made for small children and persons with disabilities.

If a fire occurs, get out immediately. Don't waste time trying to take possessions or pets. Get out and call the fire department from a neighbor's house.

Hot smoke and deadly gases rise to the ceiling first. So if a fire is burning in your home, crawl low to the nearest exit.

Plan ahead for the unexpected. When a fire occurs, there is fear, darkness, confusion, blinding smoke and searing heat. If fire escape plans have been drawn up and practiced, your chances of escape are greater. Practicing escape plans with the whole family will help keep everyone calmer during an emergency because they will feel more confidant of their actions.

Once outside, everyone should gather at a pre-determined meeting place to be sure all persons successfully escaped. Never go back inside a burning building. Many people who have done so have been trapped or overcome by smoke and gases and have died.

Remember, have a good escape plan and practice it. And if a fire does occur, get out and stay out.

For more information about fire prevention and fire safety, contact the Davie County Fire Marshal's Office at 634-0453.

Remember These Fire Safety Tips

Here are some fire safety tips from the Davie County Fire Marshal's Office:

PREVENTION

- Children who find matches or lighters should give them to adults.
- Post the 911 emergency number at each telephone.
- Properly install smoke detectors in homes and businesses and be sure to maintain them.
- Keep fire extinguishers handy and know how to use them.
- Use and store flammable and combustible liquids properly.
- Be sure of the locations of exits from structures.
- Practice emergency escape plans.
- Keep electrical equipment in good operating condition.
- Have heating systems checked out prior to use.
- Keep homes and businesses clear of accumulated trash and rubbish.

IN CASE OF FIRE

- Get out of the structure immediately.
- Notify Fire Control (911), and: stay calm; state the nature of the emergency; give your name, the phone number from which you are calling, and the exact location of the emergency.
- If clothes catch fire: stop, drop and roll to put out the fire.

For more information, contact the fire marshal's office at 634-0453.

Barber Heads Bond Effort

John Barber, a former Davie County manager, has agreed to spearhead a countywide effort to secure passage in the Nov. 2 election of two educational bond referendums that will pay for capital improvements at the state's 58 community colleges and the 16 campuses of The University of North Carolina, including nearby Winston-Salem State University.

The $560 million package provides $310 million for the UNC campuses, the UNC Center for Public Television and the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics.

Davie County residents who are interested in finding out more about the two referendums should call Barber, who resides in Bermuda Run, at (919) 998-0268.

A man who was leading a horse down Wyo Road late Friday night was struck by a oncoming car.

According to a report by N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper J.R. Allred, Elbert Stevenson Miller, 45, of Route 1, Advance, was walking near the center line of Wyo Road near N.C. 801 at 10:50 p.m. and was pulling a horse. Miller walked into the southbound lane and was struck by a 1987 Dodge driven by Theodore S. Davis, 66, of Route 1, Advance.

The horse was grazed by the car, but Miller came to rest on the hood of the vehicle.

He was taken to North Carolina Baptist Hospital where he was listed on Monday in critical condition in an intensive care unit.

Patrol Sgt. Mike Yelton said it appeared that Miller was having difficulty with the animal.

No charges have been filed.

If Your Bank Only Lets You Borrow 80% Of Your Home Value, Tell Them You're Moving 100% Of Your Business To Southern National.

Every bank in town is talking about home equity loans and credit lines.

Unfortunately, most of those places will only give you credit for 80% of your home value.

It's like 20% of your hard-earned dollars just flew out the window.

And you know that in the early years of a mortgage, you're not paying down much principal, so it takes a long time to build up significant equity.

With their 80% rule, you might not even qualify for a credit line.

And even if you have built up a lot of equity, you're losing out on a great deal of your borrowing power.

But at Southern National, we can show you how to access up to 100% of the equity you've built up in your home. You'll have unparalleled borrowing power, and your interest rate will be just 1½% over the prime rate, which means you can borrow right now for just 7½% APR*.

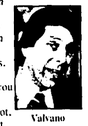
T-Shirt Is A 'Cotton Shrine' To Jimmy V

I wear a lot of T-shirts to work.

First of all, that shows what tax bracket I'm in. Secondly, I'm always comfortable.



Valvano

The publisher has been kind enough to let me dress this way. His only rule is neatness — which basically means keeping my shirt tail in my pants.

So I try to make a fashion statement. Can you do that with T-shirts?

Whether you can or not, I make the effort. I want T-shirts that no one else around here has.

When ESPN began advertising the Jimmy V Team T-shirts, I had to have one. I made the first tax-deductable donation of my life, spending $25, which goes to cancer research. In return, I received my shirt with Jim Valvano pictured on the front.

At first, I figured it was just a neat shirt, something no one else had.

I was wrong. It was much more than just a neat shirt. Much, much more.

It has become a symbol, a 100 percent cotton shrine to one of America's most popular sports figures.

I can't wear it anywhere without someone saying, "Hey, neat shirt." Or, "That's really nice." Or "Where did you get it?" Or "I want one of those."

I wish everyone who said that would call and donate the money. What better cause than cancer research? What better face to wear on your chest?

Jim Valvano wasn't Superman but he was just as popular. When The Crosby Celebrity Golf Tournament came to Bermuda Run in 1986, tournament director Bill Voiers asked Valvano to play. He instantly became the tournament's favorite son.

"For me, he was an inspiration because he had such a zest for life," said Voiers, whose job it is to secure commitments from sports and entertainment celebrities. "He was competitive but he was funny and always up."

There was the year he was paired with North Carolina's Dean Smith. He would work the crowd, offering to get Dean's autograph for "a measly five bucks."

Reporters flocked to Valvano after every

Davie Won't Look Past South Stokes

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Reynolds is unbeaten after five games. West Forsyth's defense is as strong as ever. Mount Tabor leads the league in scoring.

Ward

Davie County football coach Randall Ward doesn't want to hear any of it.

"I'm only thinking of one team and that's South Stokes," he said Monday morning.

The 3-1 War Eagles open their 1993 Central Piedmont Conference football season Friday at War Eagle Stadium against the Sauras, owners of an 0-5 record. They just broke a losing streak that at one time climbed toward the 30-game mark.

"We're starting a rivalry with a team we don't know a lot about," Ward said. "The kids are looking forward to it."

South, which enters the CPC from the Metro 4-A Conference, has been outscored 177-34 so far, including last week's 45-0 loss to Mount Tabor. Scores like that scare Ward.

"Everybody you play has the capabilities to beat you if you don't play your best on every play," he said. "Turnovers can equalize things quickly."

Ward is concerned with South Stokes' size. The Sauras have 12 players over 200 pounds, ranging from 215 to 290. He is also taking South's passing game seriously.

"Reidsville hasn't been scored on except for them," Ward said, "and South scored 14 points. They'll throw it all over the field."

Ward says his defense will have to respect quarterback Ryan Dunlap, a 6-3, 170-pounder, as well as tight end Bud Hardin, who stands 6-4, 230.

"They like to throw to the tight end and to the slotbacks," he said. "They run the I formation and sort of a Wing-T.

"South Stokes is getting better — and we have to get better too."

With the winning record, Ward likes the different attitude toward his football team.

"You see it with the kids out I've seen it in the community too," he said. "People come up to you and ask about the team. It's what the program is all about."

Ward and the War Eagles are still stinging

Soccer Team Splits With South Teams

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

Davie County High School soccer coach Pete Gustafson is ready to begin a tradition.

Now he has to convince his players that they can do it.

"My theory is good teams do what they're supposed to but great teams do what you don't think they can — the unexpected things.

"No one expects us to beat a West Forsyth or Mount Tabor," he added. "But that's how you start a tradition."

Gustafson would have liked that trek toward respectability to have begun last week when he faced South Stokes and South Rowan in Davie's first Central Piedmont Conference matches of the year.

He made it only halfway, defeating South Stokes 5-3, before falling to South Rowan, 5-1.

Beating South Stokes

Davie zipped out to a 5-1 lead over South Stokes before Gustafson subbed. The Sauras added two goals in the final 10 minutes to make it a bit closer.

"They weren't as strong as a lot of teams in the conference," Gustafson said. "We were able to move the ball on them and create."

It took Davie only four minutes to score as Bryan McNeil nailed a shot on an assist from Dan Callahan.

"It was a great pass and a good header," said Gustafson.

Devon Speas scored at 31:00 and Callahan made it 3-0 after an assist from Can Kofke.

South scored at 57:00 but Ted Boland sent a Callahan pass in two minutes later. Erik Crutchfield scored off an assist from Brent Ward at 66:00.

Losing To South Rowan

Gustafson was definitely impressed with South Rowan's speed and it beat Davie.

The War Eagles hung close during the first half, trailing only 1-0. But the Raiders then stuck in three goals in the second half's first 10 minutes to go up 4-0.

Ben Edwards tries to block a shot by a South Rowan player during Davie's 5-1 loss.

"We made a couple of mistakes that cost us a couple of goals," Gustafson said.

"South Rowan was very fast. We tried to take them on individually instead of attacking as a team. If you can't outrun somebody, why try and take him one-on-one?"

The quick, second half scores have haunted Davie in the past.

The Endowment Game was played so the North Carolina High School Athletic Association could add to its funds. It took half of the take while the two teams split the other half.

Lowery

"We didn't make $1,000," said Lowery. "But even if we made $5,000, we'd only keep $1,250 after splitting it up."

He wasn't complaining. "You wouldn't make that much in a scrimmage."

Lowery said he heard no complaints from people paying $4 because it was played like a real game.

"They fuss more about paying $1 for a scrimmage," he said. "They looked at it as a game."

Lowery knows how important it is to make as much money as possible off the football team.

"This money is used for non-revenue sports like volleyball and golf," he said.

"Look at golf. I'm sure Finley Golf Course (in Chapel Hill, where the state finals are played each year) doesn't come cheap."

Lowery said the Endowment Game will get a better response next year and he wouldn't be surprised if the NCHSAA counted it as an eleventh game. This year, the points and yardage did not count toward a team's final statistics.

But he also thinks some people will always grumble about the percentage of money they get to keep.

"A lot won't be satisfied until they get 100 percent of the gate," he said. "They're greedy."

Covering All The Bases

Davie High School's football team may have had last Friday night off but the coaches didn't.

Randall Ward's staff didn't scout just one game either. It scouted all three of the Central Piedmont Conference openers.

Ward, his brother Jeff, Jerry Walser and Jerry Callison attended West Forsyth's 40-13 rout of North Davidson.

Notebook

Tim Shuford, Cary Powers, Bryan Cantrell and Devore Holman watched Reynolds snuff out South Rowan, 48-14.

Paul Dreschler scouted Mount Tabor's 45-0 shellacking of South Stokes.

"It looks like the teams we thought would be strong are," said Ward, "and possibly stronger. Reynolds is having a super season."

The Record Book

Davie County is listed in the state record book but it isn't the kind of record to be proud of.

In 1966, North Rowan receiver Kenny Beck caught 19 passes in one game against the War Eagles.

Davie got the last laugh, however. It won the game.

Speaking of records, former Mocksville Legion pitcher Chad Greene is listed among the football greats. His 99-yard scoring pass to Steven Tucker while at Forbush is the longest pass completion ever.

Bovender's Catch

Gray Bovender, a former Mocksville Legion baseball player, caught his first college pass for North Carolina in a 44-7 win over Ohio University two weeks ago. He is second string receiver behind UNC's all-time leader Corey Holliday.

The Other Bovender

West Forsyth's senior receiver Brad Bovender is following in his brother's footsteps. In a 40-13 win over North Davidson Friday night, Bovender caught a 41-yard scoring pass from Brian Mayers and a 36-yard touchdown pass from halfback Rico Porter.

Bovender will also follow his brother in Legion baseball. A starting centerfielder, he will play next summer.

CPC Report

Davie's football team had the week off and got a chance to scout all three games in the Central Piedmont Conference Friday.

West Forsyth welcomed North Davidson back to 4-A by whipping the Black Knights, 40-13.

Reynolds remained undefeated by sticking South Rowan, 48-14. Reynolds leads the league in points scored (139) and defense (33 points in five games)

Mount Tabor ripped hapless South Stokes, 45-0.

Let's Realign Ourselves

Last year's realignment did nothing but create bad blood and a record number of appeals from high schools. So the North Carolina High School Athletic Association has decided to let schools realign themselves next time.

Schools will have the option of aligning themselves for all sports or for football only orfor football and basketball only.

In some sports, every team would be included in the state playoffs.

Legion Report

Starmount and Forbush, two schools that send players to the Mocksville Legion baseball team, had very different Friday nights:

Starmount, coming off a 17-14 loss to Davie, blitzed North Stokes, 65-0.

Forbush, who also fell to Davie, lost a 22-14 lead to Mount Airy and was sent home with a 24-22 defeat when the Bears scored on a safety.

The safety came on a bad snap from center on a punt.

William R. Davie: Few In Numbers, Long On Talent

William R. Davie has always struggled with numbers for its football teams. Everybody always seems to have more players to choose from.

But in 3-4 grade action, the players may be few in number but long on talent.

The Raiders remained undefeated in the Davie Youth Football League with a 12-0 win over Pinebrook Saturday at North Davie Junior High School.

Pinebrook bounced back in the 5-6 grade game to win a hard-fought tussle, 12-0.

In another doubleheader, Cooleemee socked it to their neighbors to the east, Mocksville, in two games.

W.R. Davie...0

Pinebrook coach summed up his team's game in three words: "It was ugly."

The Packers had three touchdowns called back in the first half. They fumbled once in the endzone. And they had 140 yards of penalties. Injuries are also hurting Pinebrook. Boger played without three starters Saturday.

Zeke Earl scored both Pinebrook touchdowns on runs of 48 and five yards. Richard Burton didn't score but raced for 48 yards on only four carries.

Andy Hooks and Dennis Rattler led the defensive effort for Pinebrook, which plays Cooleemee next Saturday.

Despite the loss, William R. Davie was pleased with its improvement. After giving up 84 points in its first two games, William R. Davie held Pinebrook to only 12.

Leading the way defensively for the Raiders were Brandon Anderson, Danny Testa, Timmy Shaffner and Matt Foster. The combined for 18 tackles.

Jimmy Lee Harris ran for 46 yards on offense.

Cooleemee...14

A strong defense was the key to the defending 6-7 grade champ's win.

Offensively, Jeremy Shaffner and Chris Bender scored touchdowns. Bender rushed for 45 yards and Shaffner finished with 30 yards.

B.J. Nichols completed a pass for the two-point conversion.

Mocksville did not report.

It appears Butter Dewalt is the class of the running backs in this league. Pinebrook was burned for 120 yards on 14 carries and one touchdown by Dewalt in the win.

Bradley Prevette caught a 25-yard scoring pass from quarterback Justin Dotson, who was 4-of-5 passing. He also hit Jason Hogue on a two-point conversion.

Brandon Gentry played well, scoring a conversion.

Defensively, the Raiders were led by Jason Jones, Brandon Bledsoe, Jordan Karhs and John Glassock.

Pinebrook's scores came in the second half and both were defensive plays. Adam Sain ran back an 80-yard interception return, followed by a 55-yard fumble recovery by Doug Smith.

Donnie Vestal and William Morrison led Pinebrook on defense with nine and six tackles. Morrison also recovered a fumble.

Kevin Boger, Clint Stanley and Chris Nichols all had good blocking games for the Trojans.

Cooleemee...20
Mocksville...2

Four different Redskins scored as Cooleemee had no trouble with Mocksville.

Running in for touchdowns were Cody Wright, Luke Phelps and Neil Rice. Wright rushed for 35 yards and Rice had 31. Phelps finished with 12.

Andy Gudbey added two points on a safety.

On defense, Rice, Darren Taylor and Scott Ebright were the stars. Cooleemee has yet to be scored upon this season.

Mocksville did not report.

Davie Backs Hard To Stop

South Stokes will be the next team to try and stop Hamilton Cuthrell's speed, Jared Eure's power and the Davie County offense when the Sauras visit War Eagle Stadium Friday night.

Cuthrell's 159 yards against Starmount put him over the 500-yard mark after only four games. Vaughters is averaging six yards per carry and Eure, after his best game, is averaging 5.0. Cuthrell has eight touchdowns.

Davie doesn't throw much but when it does, it goes for long gainers. Armstrong is averaging 22 yards per catch and Mark Mason 21.5.

Marnie Lewis has scored 20 points and Michael Agrillo has two fumble recoveries.

"It was the same old thing," Gustafson sighed. "They score quick and we get kinda down."

Boland, a striker, who was involved in a kidnapping and was shot in the leg during the summer, has become a scorer for the War Eagles. He sent a 35-yard screamer past the goalkeeper for Davie's only goal.

"He caught the keeper slepping," Gustafson said. "He's doing well. He doesn't seem to be hampered by his injuries."

Gustafson was still upset that Davie didn't win.

"There is no doubt that we can compete with these people," he said. "We can if they'd just listen."

round. If you wanted a good story, just ask him one question. He'd do the rest.

Voiers

I felt sorry for him the year he had to explain the black mark on N.C. State's reputation. Here he was at The Crosby, a feel-good golf tournament, talking about fixing games, selling shoes and defending himself against other unproven allegations.

It was the first time Crosby fans had ever seen him without a smile creasing his face.

When his press conference was over, I approached him.

"Jim, I'm going to marry a New York Italian Catholic from Long Island in a few months. Got any advice?"

Just like that, his eyes sparkled. The smile came back. After all, he was a New York Italian Catholic from Long Island too.

He began talking about how much food I was going to eat from the day I married into a family of Italians. He said there was nothing like the spirit of an Italian family. And then, he said something in Italian, patted me on the shoulder and walked away.

I've listened to Valvano many times but it was those few moments that will always stand out. Even though he had just been powdered with negative press, he still remembered why he was at The Crosby. To make people laugh.

"The first year, when The Crosby was treading new ground, Jim was here doing TV all during his round," said Kathryn Crosby. "He played, he talked, he laughed. He told me, 'This is going to be fabulous.' Jim Valvano made us happen as he made his basketball teams happen. He gave such joy to what he did. He had such an excellent sense of humor."

Voiers knew how much Valvano meant to Crosby fans. He wanted him at the 1993 Crosby, regardless of whether he could play or not.

"I told him, 'I'll drive over (to Cary) and pick you up and bring you here,' " Voiers said. "I got the sweetest letter from his wife. It was really nice. She said (The Crosby) meant a lot to both of them and it would be a goal to try and be here."

He didn't make it. Deep down we knew he wouldn't. That's the terrible thing about reality. We all knew he had only precious days left.

At the Clambake, Voiers asked for a moment of silence and thanked Jimmy V for being a special person.

"Everybody applauded, meaning that was the right thing to do," Voiers said. "They all wanted to do that."

I put in a tape last week of college basketball, featuring Duke and North Carolina, which usually enthralls me. This time, I sat there, angry. Jim Valvano was on this tape, laughing, joking and just being Jimmy V. I became depressed. Watching him made me think of another person I know, a pretty lady here in town who is battling cancer.

Why does disease do this to us? Why can't we beat it?

Valvano knew he wasn't going to beat cancer. So he did everything he could in his last days to make sure we beat it in the future.

"He put up such a gallant fight against a disease we know is so awful," Crosby said. "He fought it and he lost with bravery. Everyone who knew him loves him."

All that is left is memories — and in my case, a T-shirt that cost me the best $25 of my life. In fact, I'm calling again right now and ordering another.

It may just be a T-shirt to you.

It's turned into much more for me.

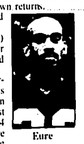
from their only loss, a 21-20 defeat to Salisbury in the second game of the season. Salisbury won by turning two fumble recoveries into long touchdown returns.



Eure

"We should be (undefeated)," said senior fullback Jared Eure.

When Starmount was driving late in Davie's last game, a 17-14 victory, Eure said the defense used the Salisbury loss as motivation.

"Everybody looked at each other and said, 'Salisbury,' " he said. "Every team we play, we'll think of Salisbury."

Ward added, "We're taking that one point and telling them that you have to play hard on every play."

Davie will enter Friday's game with no major injuries. Kicker Marnie Lewis will wear a soft cast on his hand for two more weeks but is expected to play.

"We're okay," Eure said, "just bruised up. I've got a lot of bruises on my elbows."

A healthy War Eagle team can be scary. South Stokes may be bigger but Davie has much more speed, thanks to backs Hamilton Cuthrell, Eure and Jonathan Vaughters. Quarterback Neil Cornatzer is becoming more comfortable running the show with each game. A small but resilient offensive line has been a pleasant surprise.

And the defense has been strong from game one, which is what Ward says a team needs.

"On any level, in order to be consistent and win, you have to play good defense," he said.

Eure noted that Ward didn't let up in practice last week, despite no game on Friday.

"It was hard," he said. "We practiced like it was game time on Friday."

He also said there would be no letup because of South Stokes' record, recent tradition or reputation.

"It's going to be just like any other game," Eure said. "We won't let up at any time."

Middle School Football: South Davie 54, Mooresville 0

South 7th Graders Pound Mooresville

Tigers Have Outscored Foes By Whopping 104-0 Count

Mooresville found out last week what North Davie already knew: South Davie has one very good seventh grade football team.

After two games, the Tigers have outscored their opponents by a whopping 104-0.

Mooresville lost, 54-0.

Whitlock

"I don't know if I expected to score this much but I knew we had a lot of talented running backs," said coach Barry Whitlock. "Our line has done a good job and the defense hasn't been scored on."

South didn't wait to showcase its talent — but did it through the air. Quarterback Paul Sparks hit Ronnie Blackburn with an 18-yard completion on the first play from scrimmage that came close to being broken for a score.

Two plays later, fullback J.J. Rice bulled over three defenders and scored from 42 yards out.

"I think the tone was set right there," said Whitlock.

On the next possession, David Nail broke two tackles on a 26-yard scoring run. Blackburn then sailed in on a 56-yard end-around play.

Sparks hit Shante Frazier with a 22-yard pass that set up Rice's 17-yard scoring run and South led 26-0 at halftime.

"After we scored our third touchdown, it looked like Mooresville quit," Whitlock said. "They weren't even trying to tackle us."

It only got worse.

The first play of the third quarter saw Nail rumble in for another 26-yard touchdown run. Rice added his third touchdown and the Tigers led, 42-0.

Even when Whitlock wasn't trying to score, his players did anyway. He put Kenny Collins at quarterback and called for a simple sneak up the middle. Thirty-four yards later, Collins was celebrating in the endzone with a score that put the Tigers ahead, 48-0.

South's final touchdown added insult to injury. With two minutes left, Mooresville was forced to punt from its own endzone. But the punter kicked it right into the rump of his blocking back. The ball fell harmlessly onto the ground. While Mooresville players stood still, Nail pounced on the loose ball for his third touchdown.

"We were very physical and aggressive early," Whitlock said.

J.J. Rice ran for 108 yards in South Davie's win.

"All of the running backs ran hard. And Sparks has been steady. He isn't a gifted quarterback but he does the right things."

Rice finished with 109 yards on the ground and Nail had 83. Sparks was 2-for-2 for 40 yards.

As intimidating as the offense was, Mooresville was stunned by a hard-hitting Tiger defense. Rice, the middle linebacker, and Nail powered their way for 10 tackles apiece.

"J.J. made some sticks early and their backs didn't want the ball," Whitlock said. "Nail made one hit that was the hardest I've ever seen."

Recovering fumbles for South were Patrick Austin, Matthew Klutz and Matthew Jones.

"The toughness of this whole team surprises me," Whitlock said.

Notes:

• South is 2-0 but has yet to play a game in the Southern Division of the Piedmont Middle School Conference. A later game with Mooresville will count, however.

• South is in the division with Cabarrus County schools.

• Whitlock praised the play of Austin on both sides of the ball. He is a center/linebacker.

• South travels to Concord Thursday and hosts Kannapolis Oct. 6.

Shante Frazier splits two Mooresville players on his way to another long run for South Davie's seventh grade football team.

South Davie coach Barry Whitlock sends Stevie Barfield into the Mooresville game.

South 8th Graders Fall Short, 18-14

All South Davie eighth grade olball coach Grimes Parker could y about the Tigers' 18-14 loss at ooresville last week was, "We d our chances."

He was referring specifically to e final three minutes of the game hen South drove deep into Blue evil territory.

South had a first-and-goal from e Mooresville five-yard line but ouldn't get the ball into the end-
one. Its closest shot came when onathan Creason's pass just went off the fingertips of Matt James.

Mooresville took over but Parker visely used his three timeouts and got the ball back at midfield with a minute remaining.

Creason tried a couple of passes but South ran out of clock.

The loss was the first for South this season.

"I thought both teams played well," said Parker, "but a few mistakes hurt us."

After Mooresville took a 6-0 lead, Matt James and Creason gave South an 8-6 advantage, hooking up on a 54-yard touchdown pass.

James caught the ball in the flat and simply outran the Mooresville defense down the sidelines for the score. Creason then ran for the conversion.

"That pass came within an eyelash of being intercepted," Parker said.

Mooresville led 12-8 at halftime but again South retook the lead on Nathan Joyce's two-yard run, 14-12.

A long pass in the third quarter resulted in the winning points as the Tigers' last drive fell short.

James and Creason each rushed for 72 yards. Matt Hamrick added 43.

"We controlled the second quarter," Parker said. "I thought we ran the ball pretty well."

Parker also praised husky defensive tackle Joey Wesolouski, who had three tackles in the backfield.

Notes:

• South is 1-1 and is still 0-0 in the Southern Division of the Piedmont Middle School Conference. The game was nonconference but the two will meet again Oct. 28 in a game that will count.

• Mooresville dressed out 45 players and two-platooned.

• Creason passed for 60 yards.

• Concord visits South Thursday at 4:15 p.m. The Tigers then travel to Kannapolis Oct. 7.

Volleyball Team Now Stands 12-2

Sherrie Myers was almost in tears after watching her Davie County volleyball team defeat Forbush Thursday in five games.

Despite improving her team's overall record to 12-2, they weren't cears of joy.

Myers was upset that her team had played yet another five-game match.

"We just like playing volleyball, I guess," she shrugged. "There are too many teams taking us five games that shouldn't."

Davie eventually defeated Forbush 15-4, 11-15, 15-11, 13-15 and 15-9. And it was the second time last week that Davie had to scramble for a five-game win.

In a Central Piedmont Conference battle, North Davidson won the first two games 15-8, 15-12 before Davie gutted out the last three, 15-3, 15-13, 15-11.

"We were really off," said Myers. "The way we were playing, I thought we'd be on the bus after game three. But we came back."

In another match, Mount Tabor was no trouble, falling to the War Eagles, 15-7, 15-4, 15-9.

Beating North

Laura Moyer began Davie's comeback against North Davidson after the two losses. She served eight straight points in the third game, followed by five straight by Tracy Robbins. It gave Davie the momentum that continued to build in games 4-5.

"We just got off to a slow start," Myers said.

Maria Newsome, Davie's 6-3 junior, had seven kills, six blocks and one ace. Jonette Williard had seven kills and Katie Desch five. Robbins had four kills and five aces. Shannon Umberger had three kills and two blocks.

Beating Mount Tabor

After the close win, Davie experienced "Myers' Word of Prayer."

"What that is, is we don't see a volleyball at practice," explained Myers. "We run. Unfortunately, we've been playing to the level of our competition. Against West Forsyth, we played at a much higher level and against others, we've been mediocre. We had lost our focus a little. But it kind of got our heads back on track. We took care of Mount Tabor."

Newsome led the way with four kills, three blocks and two aces. Williard had three kills, five aces and a block. Robbins had five kills and Umberger finished with three kills, one ace, two digs and a block.

Beating Forbush

Davie won the first game over Forbush and the two teams split from that point on.

"We got distracted with the crowd," Myers said. "We have to tune it out. Forbush talked a lot of trash but we have to forget that. That kind of stuff should fire you up, not make you crumble."

After Forbush tied the match at 2-2, Davie finally broke away in Game 5, winning by six points.

"That wasn't the Davie volleyball team I've seen the last week," Myers said.

Notes:

• Davie is 5-1 in the CPC, good for second place behind undefeated West Forsyth.

• North Davidson just entered the newly-realigned CPC.

• Davie begins the second round of play in the CPC and Myers is worried. Only two teams from the league get playoff berths, which will probably be between Davie, Reynolds and West Forsyth. "We do not need to lose another match," she said. "I don't want it to come down to a coin toss."

North Davie Softball Team Improves To 4-0 In Division

North Davie's softball team was giving coach Darrell Steele a terrible headache by splitting its first two doubleheaders.

Last week, they gave him the perfect pain reliever by sweeping two conferenee doubleheaders and taking the early control of the Piedmont Middle School Conference's Northern Division.

North, which plays with all of the Rowan County schools, is now unbeaten in its division at 4-0. Two earlier losses were nonconference.

"We're still not hitting like we're capable," Steele said after watching his 7-8 grade Wildcats defeat Knox 12-2 and 9-2, followed by 7-6, 13-3 victories over Corriher-Lipe.

Beating Knox

Steele said Knox wasn't a very good softball team but he still found himself down 1-0 in the first inning.

But North reeled off a 10-run second inning. Leslie Holcomb's bases-loaded triple was the big blow. Wendi Cartner, Melinda Richie and Leann Spillman all had doubles.

"We had a lot of hits but some of those balls should've been caught. Knox wasn't any good."

In fact, Steele said it was a wonder North hit the ball as well as it did, considering the pitcher was throwing fastpitch — and the umpire was calling strikes.

"Our defense was pretty good, though," Steele said.

Ashley Bracken led the way in the first game with three hits. Richie, Spillman and Dana Smith all had two each.

In the second game, North had another big second inning, scoring six. Sykes, Bracken, Kim Reich and Natalie Foster had big hits.

Beating Corriher-Lipe

North got a scare in the first game with Corriher-Lipe. The Wildcats trailed 6-0 before scoring six in the fourth inning.

Richie slugged a two-run triple while Anya Potts, Smith, Cartner and Spillman all had hits.

Holcomb walked in the fifth and scored the winning run after a Bracken double.

Bracken had two doubles. Williamson, Harpe and Foster each had two hits.

Notes:

• North is 6-2 overall.

• Potts had a big triple in the second Knox win.

• Davie was supposed to have a showdown with Erwin but it was rained out and rescheduled for October.

• North was scheduled to visit China Grove Wednesday. It plays North Rowan Oct. 4.

South Splits Two Doubleheaders

South Davie split two softball doubleheaders last week with Concord and Kannapolis.

Against Concord, the 7-8 grade Tigers fell in the first game, 7-5, before rallying for an 11-1 victory.

Against Kannapolis, South lost the first 6-2 and won the finale, 8-2.

In both losses, South fell behind early.

"We just don't get our bats going," said coach Becky Miller. "But we're in syne defensively in the infield."

Splitting With Concord

The Tigers bounced back in the second game against Concord with eight early runs. Concord could not overcome the 8-0 second inning deficit.

Anna Samm led the way with a home run. Audrey Williams finished with three hits, while Jessi Carter, Laura Windley and Davis all had two.

South faced the same scenario after losing the first game to Kannapolis.

Again South took a big, second-game lead into the third, up 7-1.

Lisa Turner and Samm led the way with three hits apiece. Williams and Carter each had two

The Contest Winners

Lonnie Anderson Wins Contest — But Does Burt Know?

By Ronnie Gallagher
Davie County Enterprise-Record

After realizing that Lonnie Anderson had won this week's Enterprise Football Contest, the publisher had one question.

Does Burt know?

Isn't that just like the publisher? He's been reading the National Enquirer way too much.

The sports editor had to sit the publisher down and explain that Burt Reynolds just broke up with Loni Anderson, not Lonnie Anderson.

Actually, we know nothing of Lonnie Anderson. Is Lonnie a he or a she? Did Lonnie ever work at WKRP?

Whoever Lonnie Anderson is, that is who gets the whopping $25 for winning in a tiebreaker over Sandra "Dee" Johnson and B.F. "Goodrich" White. All missed five in a very difficult week, full of upsets.

In the tiebreaker (Miami's 35-29 win over Colorado for a total of 64 points), Anderson's 45 points edged White's 44. So B.F. gets the $10.

The Awards:

The "Whatever Happened To" Award: Last week's winners "Step By" Stephanie Whitaker and "Slim" Jim Boger missed 9 and 7.

The "Heisman" Award: To White. Rence "Action" Jackson, David "I Don't" Carrick, "Eenie-Meanie-Minee" Mozeile Thompson and "Fish" Gill Mullis, all who were correct on 9 of 11 college games.

The "Proposition 48" Award: To John "Double Cheese" Boger, who missed 9 of 11 college games.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award: To "Two Peas In A" Todd Barnhardt, who had only two wrong answers until missing 5 of the last 7.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award 2: To Thompson, who had only three wrong answers until missing 4 of the last 6.

The "Choke In The Clutch" Award 3: To Craig "Quag" Myers, who had only five wrong answers until missing the last three.

The "Earth To Alan" Award: To Alan "Maynard G." Kreps, the only entry to pick big losers Wake Forest, Duke and Missouri.

The "Now, That's More Like It" Award: Last week, the sports editor poked fun at Chuck Perdue for picking his own nickname: Chuck "The Chicken" Perdue. He came up with a better one this week.

Would you believe "Up" Chuck Perdue?

The All-Pro" Award: To Stephanie "Klippety" Klopp, who correctly predicted 7 of 8 very tough pro games.

The "Bring Your Playbook And Come To My Office" Award: To John "Double Cheese" Boger, who missed 7 of 8 pro games.

The "It Just Ain't My Week" Award: To "Double Cheese" Boger, who missed a contest record 16 of 19 games. Double Ouch!!

The Record
Last Week: 10-9

I give an "Ouch" to myself and to rest of us.

THE HARMON NFL FORECAST - SUNDAY AND MONDAY, OCT. 3-4

*BUFFALO.....26 N.Y. GIANTS.....21

The last time these two teams met, the Bills began a forgettable streak: their 20-19 loss to the Giants in Tampa early in 1991 was the first of three (or more?) straight Super Bowl defeats.

*CHICAGO.....23 ATLANTA.....19

The Bears have won four straight over the Falcons dating back to 1985, including a 41-31 win 1 year, Chicago's biggest offensive day of the season. Both clubs are fading in their divisions.

*DALLAS.....30 GREEN BAY.....27

An important early game for both teams, who last met in '91, the Cowboys winning 20-17. Dallas will be fresh-after a week off and probably mad as hell after spending it contemplating its 1-2 record.

*DENVER.....21 INDIANAPOLIS.....14

The most recent Broncos-Colts game was a 27-17 Denver win in '90. Anything can happen with Indianapolis, but only if the Colts were playing at home would we have the courage to pick an upset.

DETROIT.....20 TAMPA BAY.....10

Though they both had many more weaknesses than strengths in '92, the Lions won't be wallowing the Buccaneers this year. The proof that they were moving up was a 38-7 late-season trouncing.

*KANSAS CITY .....24 L.A. RAIDERS 23

Jeff Hostetler seems to be bringing the Raiders to life, which could mean even more trouble for the Chiefs than they had with L.A. in '92, losing 28-7 after winning 27-7. The AFC West is tight.

NEW ORLEANS.....31 L.A. RAMS.....17

In winning their fifth and sixth straight over the Rams last season, the Saints took a close one13-10, then handled L.A. easily in December, 37-14, building a 37-0 lead by forcing six turnovers.

PHILADELPHIA.....28 N.Y. JETS.....21

In their four games over the past 21 years, the Jets have yet to beat the Eagles. Sure, the Jets can beat the likes of New England, but this game may show whether their upset of Miami was a fluke.

SAN DIEGO.....26 SEATTLE.....14

The Chargers weren't exactly awesome in their opening 18-12 win over the Seahawks, needing six John Carney field goals. With all the new AFC West firepower, S.D. can't afford to let up here.

 *SAN FRANCISCO.....33 MINNESOTA.....27

Driving toward the 49ers' end zone late in the game last December, the Vikings were stopped a S.F.'s 35 and lost a heartbreaker, 20-17. The 49ers have won five of the last six in this series.

(Monday) WASHINGTON.....27 MIAMI.....24

A Redskins win would be something of an upset; this is the wrong time for Mark Rypien to be absent from the Washington lineup. The 'Skins were 42-20 winners the last time they met Miami, in '90.

Woman's Green Thumb Is Rewarded With Bananas

Regina Miller admires banana trees in her yard. Growing bananas here isn't easy, she said.

By Laura Williams-Tracy
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Meet Regina Miller - a modern day Johnny Appleseed.

If it grows, she'll plant it. If it produces fruit, well that's all the better.

At her Cooleemee home too far north for banana trees, she has produced 33 monkey treats in three years.

Those may not be the best numbers for an accomplished tropical plant gardener, but Miller sees it a different way.

The first year she set out banana plants by her pool, she didn't grow any fruit. The second year, her plants yielded two, tasteless green bananas.

This year she had 31.

All the hard work it takes to grow several bananas has Miller asking one question: "I don't see how bananas are sold for 29 cents a pound at the grocery store?"

Especially considering that after the plants produce bananas one time, they can never produce again.

Actually, banana trees aren't trees at all, Miller said. According to the encyclopedia, they are herbs. Which of course makes a banana an herb and not a fruit.

Miller knows she's fighting an uphill battle to raise bananas well above the Equator. And the task means lots of extra work for her.

This fall when the weather turns cool she will dig up her tropical back yard and transfer the stalks to plastic bags bound for the basement.

During the winter they will lay dormant, until after the final frost of the spring season. Then she will return them to their place by the pool.

Miller suspects that this year's healthy crop was due to the warm, humid summer and her constant watering. In their native homeland, banana plants require from 80 to 120 inches of water every year.

Last year the plants bloomed in July, and this year they bloomed in June, making her backyard look something like Palm City.

Bananas aren't the first thing this green thumb has tried.

Once she dried out a lemon and planted the seeds in her yard. What grew was a tree that hasn't made any fruit, but the leaves from the plant smell like lemons and are good for putting in the house.

"I like experimenting with things. I tried to put an apple seed in the ground. But it didn't grow like Johnny Appleseed's did."

This year, the trees have yielded 31 bananas. - Photos by James Barringer

Flu Shots Now Available At Davie Health Department

Flu season occurs in the United States from about November to April.

The Davie County Health Department will begin Friday, Oct. 1, providing flu shots at a cost of $4.50 per vaccination.

This year's flu vaccine can provide immunity against the following strains: A/Texas/36/91 (H1N1); A/Beijing/32/92 (H3N2); and B/Panama/45/90. Each of these types have been circulating in the past year and are thought to be the most likely to occur in the United States during the winter of 1994.

Health officials definitely recommend that the following groups receive the flu vaccination:

• Healthy people 65 years of age and older.

• Adults and children with long-term heart or lung problems.

• Residents of nursing homes, and other institutions housing patients of any age who have serious long-term health problems.

• People of any age who have been treated for kidney disease, cystic fibrosis, diabetes, anemia ("low blood"), or severe asthma.

• People with a type of cancer or immunological disorder (or uses certain types of medicines) that lowers the body's normal resistance to infections. (Because influenza might cause serious illness and complications in persons infected with the HIV virus which causes AIDS, these persons should receive the flu vaccine.)

• Children and teenagers (6 months through 18 years of age) on long-term treatment with aspirin who if they catch the flu, may be at risk of Reye's syndrome (a childhood disease that causes coma, liver damage, and death).

• Doctors, nurses and others in hospital and outpatient settings who have contact with high-risk patients of all ages.

• Personnel of nursing homes and chronic-care facilities who have contact with patients or residents.

• Individuals providing care to high-risk persons at home, as well as all household members, including children, whether or not they are providing care.

• Other persons not previously mentioned who wish to reduce their chances of contracting the flu.

Influenza ("Flu") is a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs that can make someone of any age very sick. The symptoms of *flu are fever, chills, cough, and sore*ness and aching in the back, arms and legs.

The Davie County Health Department is located on Hospital Street across from the Davie County Hospital in Mocksville. Clinic hours for receiving flu shots are Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. and 1-4:30 p.m.

For more information about influenza or the flu vaccine, contact Caroldine Winebarger, R.N., at 634-5985.

Woman Goes To Convention

Representing the Davie County DAV and Auxiliary Chapter No. 75 at the 1993 National Convention of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) and its auxiliary in San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 14-19, were: Elizabeth Overcash and Barbara and Hassel Cox. Overcash Hassel is also the DAV State Department Commander of North Carolina.

They were among some 5,000 delegates, family members, and guests who convened at the San Francisco Hilton and Towers for the DAV National Convention.

Among the initiatives discussed at the convention were the continuing questions surrounding the POW/MIA issue; how the Department of Veterans Affairs medical care will fit into National Health Care Reform; and the proper diagnosis and medical treatment of Persian Gulf veterans.

Also among the convention highlights was a speech by former DAV executive director Jesse Brown, who is now the Secretary of Veterans Affairs.

Elected at the convention to lead the DAV membership as National Commander during the 1993-94 year was Dick Mabrey. Chosen as DAV Auxiliary National Commander was Bonita Newell.

The local DAV Auxiliary won the "Catherine Early" award for their participation and activities at the Veterans Administration Medical Center (VAMC) in Salisbury. The contributions and help given by the community at the Arts Alive Festival, bake sales, and the Forget-Me-Not Drive (the handing out of blue forget-me-not flowers in November) helps to support this activity. The continuation of the communities support is appreciated by the Davie County DAV and Auxiliary members.

Farmington Methodist Church Started At Olive Branch

The 50th anniversary celebration of the Farmington Methodist Church on May 30, 1931, closed the first 50 years of the life of the Farmington Methodist Church after a foreground history of 78 years in the activities of the Olive Branch Methodist Church.

This made a continuity in the community of 128 years being carried on by the descendants of those earliest settlers and others who from time to time moved into the community. Sen. Will Brock of Chattanooga, Tenn., the guest speaker for the 50th anniversary, was a descendant of Richard Brock, a son of Enoch Nathaniel Brock, one of these early settlers. He brought a message of encouragement and inspiration of faith in the future of the church and community.

The Rev. M.G. Erwin, in his third year as pastor of the Farmington charge, led the church as it began its second 50 years in worship of God and its service to mankind. Erwin was followed in the fall of 1934 by the Rev. H.C. Freeman who remained for four years.

In December 1934, it was decided to remove from the church building the cupola which looked badly and needed other repairs.

The Rev. Joe W. Vestal was pastor of the charge from 1938-1944.

In August 1935, the Ladies Aid under the leadership of Mrs. Moses B. Brock, and workmanship of Frank Henry Bahnson, erected a rock marker near the road on the East front lawn of the church. It tells the date of building of the church in 1881.

The many deeds accomplished by the Ladies Aid Society for the parsonage, church and community, if recorded, would well fill a book. They are deeds involving time, labor, food, clothing, furnishings for home and church, money for insurance and many other needed supplies. It was organized as the Ladies Parsonage Aid Society in 1892. During the years 1930-1950, the following ministers with their families have served the Farmington charge comprised of these churches: Farmington, Wesley Chapel, Mount Olive, Huntsville, Bethlehem and Smith Grove: 1930-1934, M.G. Erwin; 1934-1938, H.C. Freeman; 1938-1944, Joe W. Vestal; 1944-1948, John S. Folger; 1948-1950, John S. Oakley.

On April 21, 1951, four churches were on the Farmington Charge with John S. Oakley as pastor: Farmington, Wesley Chapel, Mount Olive and Huntsville. The other listed pastors who have served the charge since it became a four church charge were: 1950-1951, John S. Oakley; 1951-1955, Grover C. Graham; 1955-1956, John Hoyle III; 1956-1958, Frank Jeffers; 1958-1960, Alvin G. Amick; 1960-1967, Bennie B. Bearden.

Superintendents of the Sunday School after James N. Brock, B. Frank Luna, Holden Smith and others of Olive Branch days, are: S.A. Jarvis, Frank M. Johnson, Leon Cash, Albert Ellis, Frank H. Bahnson, Will A. Taylor, Thomas Herbert Nicholson, Thomas H. Redmon, William Ben Smith, John Frank Johnson, Leo Franklin Brock, William Bem Smith, Leo Franklin Brock, Burr Coley Brock Sr., William Wilburn Spillman, John Henry Caudle, John H. Eidelleman, James Moses Brock, William Franklin Brock, Joe Carr Harpe, H. Ray Harding, Joe Carr Harpe.

Before any Sunday School rooms were built to the church the entire church membership was divided into classes according to age. They gathered in the sanctuary in assigned places for the class study.

In 1924, the three rooms on the West side of the church were built. Then in 1950 north of these three rooms on the same floor level four more rooms were built and a fellowship hall and kitchen were added underneath in the basement. These rooms took care of all but the older men's class who remained in the sanctuary as did the Methodist Youth Fellowship which meets in the Fellowship Hall in the basement.

In 1958, Mrs. Effie Jonas Allen presented chimes to the church as a memorial to her late husband, Oscar R. Allen.

The Mocksville Circuit was divided in 1876 and the Farmington Circuit was formed.

The new parsonage was dedicated on Sunday, Aug. 27, 1961.

The current pastor of the church, located at Farmington Road and N.C. 801, is the Rev. David L. Nolan.

Services are at 11 a.m. the first and third Sundays, with Sunday School at 10 a.m., and at 10 a.m. the second and fourth Sundays, with Sunday School at 11 a.m.

Gets Navy Training

Navy Midshipman 1st Class Keith C. Bernhardt, son of Harry C. and Ellen Rawlings of Route 8, Mocksville, was recently commissioned upon graduation from the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) Program, with Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

During each undergraduate semester, officer candidates completed naval science courses as well as a full academic schedule that led to a degree. These courses, combined with annual summer training aboard ships and shore installations, serve to prepare NROTC graduates for the duties and responsibilities of a commissioned officer.

He is a 1989 graduate of Connetquot High School of Bohemia.

Returns From Hawaii

Marine 1st Lt. Carlos B. Clubb, son of Shirley T. Clubb of 158 Riverbend Drive, Bermuda Run, recently returned from a six-month deployment to Okinawa, Japan with 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines, 3rd Marine Division, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

During the deployment, training was conducted in small unit patrolling, urban training, helicopter-borne raids and extensive live fire exercises.

Clubb also participated in Team Spirit 93, a joint combined exercise with the Republic of Korea. During the exercise he worked closely with the Korean Marines, conducting force on force operations with various units in the Fleet Marine Force.

His battalion then embarked aboard the USS Belleau Wood for Operation Cobra Gold 93 in Thailand, in which the U.S. and Thai Marines participated in various cross training and amphibious operations.

The Navy and Marine Corps are swift to respond on short notice to crises in distant lands. Naval forces, deployed overseas are poised to respond to national tasking from the sea.

The 1986 graduate of West Forsyth Senior High School of Clemmons joined the Marine Corps in February, 1988. Clubb is a 1986 graduate of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, with a bachelor's degree.

SPIRITUAL RESOURCES

A Sparkle Of Hope For Unity

By The Rev. Hampton Morgan Jr.

As we stood in front of the display, tears came to the eyes of a couple of the members of our group. Our host explained that the Baptists do not believe in icons, but that the items we were now gazing on came as close as anything else.

I was a member of a delegation of Moravians, visiting the Richmond, Virginia offices of the Foreigh Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. The display that so moved a few of our group was some of the personal effects of the late Lottie Moon.

The most famous of all Baptist missionaries, Lottie Moon, gave her life serving Jesus Christ in China. Photographs, her writing desk, her "missionary trunk," and other personal items are on display in the foyer of the mission office. Her memory is still cherished among Southern Baptists with an annual Christmas offering for missionary work.

The Moravians and the Southern Baptists had not heretofore ever had such an official meeting of their mission board leaders. We have no cooperative work anywhere in the world, nor has any been planned. Our mission leaders, however, became aware of a significant shift in emphasis at the FMB office, and requested an invitation that we might learn more.

Both our churches have a long and distinguished history of missionary work. Our's dates from 1792; the Baptist's more recently. Both our churches, however, have invested most of their resources -- financial as well as human -- in areas where Christianity has been present for a long time. We have largely ignored those areas of the world that have had little to no Christian witness since the birth of our faith 2000 years ago.

What impressed us is that the FMB is now doing something about that. Three years ago, the Southern Baptists had deployed less than three percent of their missionary force among totally unevangelized people. As of this year, eleven percent are working in those areas. FMB officials assured us that this shift in direction is irreversible.

We were also impressed with how willing the Southern Baptists are to share with other churches in reaching the unreached with the Christian gospel. Several of our researchers and mission strategists spent the better part of a day with our delegation. They spoke candidly of successes, failures, and the obstacles we must all overcome if the Great Commission is to be fulfilled.

The spirit of our meeting in Richmond said a great deal to me about the work of the Holy Spirit in bringing about unity among the churches. One person who worked in the FMB office confided in me that ten or fifteen years ago, our delegation would probably not have received an invitation to consult. I can add that ten or fifteen years ago, we probably would not have sought a contact with a church whose tradition is so different from ours.

Clearly, however, God is doing a new work within the churches. As the world races toward the end of the century and the beginning of a new millenium, Christians everywhere are conscious that time is running out. In the fact of the world's overwhelming problems, along with the unprecedented opportunities for the proclamation of the gospel, the churches cannot afford to continue in disunity. The Holy Spirit is diligently working to change that.

A small, but significant, example of this took place when Moravian and Southern Baptists talked in Richmond last week. Our relatively minor differences over baptism or church goverment did not even surface in the discussions. We found unity in a mutual concern that 1.2 billion of the world's people are completely unevangelized. With time runing out, what can we all do about that?

Workers Raise Cash For Flood Victims

Folks at Lee Apparel in Mocksville care about their counterparts in the Midwest.

R. Cheek

Last Saturday, they got together to wash cars and trucks and vans, sell baked goods and have some fun while providing funds to help families in St. Joseph, Mo., families who also work at Lee Apparel but who lost everything during the floods.

"They lost everything," said Randi Cheek, Mocksville quality assurance supervisor who headed the effort.

She praised the Mocksville employees.

"All of the employees have contributed," she said. "If they didn't come out to work, they came out and bought items, brought the kids by to see Barney.

"Ever since I've been with the company, I've seen people who want to help others out," she said.

"And we've had lots of support from the people in the county. You can tell this is a county where people really care."

The day of the car wash, she heard more bad news. Heavy rains had again struck the Midwest.

"The people out there are going to need some more money. I called yesterday and it's rained for three days. It's flooding again."

Proud People

Cooleemee Coming Together To Honor A Past Way Of Life

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - There are times when other people shouldn't know where you live.

Thurman Miller tells the story about going to school in Cooleemee for the first day many years ago. The teacher asked him where he was from. His reply was "Bootleg Alley."

He went home and told his mother what he had said to the teacher.

He got a "whuppin'." "Next time, just tell them you're from North Cooleemee," his mother said.

This weekend, it will be OK to be from Bootleg Alley, or North Cooleemee, or Cooleemee, as the townspeople show their pride in their rural mill village heritage with the second annual Textile Heritage Day, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday and lasting well into the night.

Renee O'Neal is another person proud of her town. She has spent many hours helping to refurbish the Zachary House for a museum. "I'm not ashamed to tell people where I'm from," she said. "I love this place, and I've spent many hours up here. I do it for my kids ... and my grandkids. I love history."

Lonnie Campbell has been working on the house daily since March. "I come every night. For the last month, I've come seven days a week," Campbell said. "Cooleemee is a good little town, and we've got to have something to bring everybody together. I love history. I would like to see this turned into a textile museum. I want to see the house took care of, and people come and see it.."

The main attraction for the day, according to Miller, is the people. As president of the sponsoring Cooleemee Historical Association, Miller said folks will come together from as far away as Oregon for the "Cooleemee Reunion."

"The people is the thing," he said. "Last year, I saw people I hadn't seen in 50 years. They all said we'll be back, and I've talked to others who said they're going to come this year."

And those people tell stories.

Miller picks up an autographed baseball signed by members of the Cooleemee championship team in 1937. "They might as well have closed everything down on baseball night," Miller said, "because everybody went to the baseball game. We would pick up bottles and sell them to get money to get in the game."

Old Artifacts To Be On Display In Museum At Festival

COOLEEMEE - Mary Ann Campbell has never stepped foot in a textile mill in her life.

But going on a tour with her through the Zachary House here is like going back in time - to a time where textile mill villages were the king.

She'll show you a 1903 Sears catalog. She can show a set of "sad irons," one for light clothes, one for heavier clothes, and one for overalls. The irons cost 76 cents, the handle 47 cents. "I've seen my aunt iron for hours with these things," she said.

There's a cornshuck doll made by her grandmother, and someone's record book from 1903. There's Cat Alexander's miniature tea set she played with as a child, and an extensive collection of old hats. There are shares to the Cooleemee Baseball Club sold for $5 each in 1937.

She has been busy working on family files, which are quickly filling a file cabinet. "Everybody who comes through the door has something to do with Cooleemee," she said. "I've never been in a cotton mill in my life. I'm just interested in history."

The artifacts - both from cotton mills and from the rural countrysides from which they were built - will be on display Saturday at the Cooleemee Historical Association's second Textile Heritage Day festival.

The Zachary House, once the home of the mill manager, will house a permanent and temporary museum. Members of the group are busy making last-minute repairs and tidying up for the thousands of visitors expected Friday.

There will be music from the porch, demonstrations of old-timey crafts and customs, a Civil War encampment, more modern craft booths, games for children, rides on the South Yadkin River and lots of food.

COOLEEMEE SCHOOL

Janet Jones' fourth grade class celebrated the completion of the novel "Skinny Bones" by Barbara Parks by having a baseball celebration day. Students wore their favorite caps in class, chewed bubble gum, and ate pizza for lunch. They also learned about Abner Doubleday and the beginning of baseball and how to read the baseball box scores in the newspaper.

In math Jones' students collected data on favorite teams and made pictographs. They learned how to calculate batting averages. Jeff Albarty, principal, taught a science lesson. The day ended with a dramatic reading of "Casey at the Bat" by Ernest Lawrence Thayer.

Chapter 1 students in Isabelle Sides and Debbie Smyers classes had a special day on Sept. 21. Special guests visited each class to read the book "The Doxpbell Rang" by Pat Hutchens. Later the guests returned as "Grandma" from the book to serve cookies to the students. Appearing in special Granny costume to serve cookies were Joetta Snow, Jeff Albarty, Susan Landry, Mary Cranfill, Julia Comatzer, Bonnie McGowan and Sandra Pike. Susan Cain's class was the special invited guests of the Chapter 1 second grade.

SHADY GROVE SCHOOL

The school celebrated grandparents week by inviting grandparents to school for lunch. A total of 273 grandparents visited the classrooms and some talked with students about themselves, what they did for a living, and how school was different then. Some came from New Jersey, New York, and Virginia. Having a 98-year-old great-grandmother to visit was a treat. Beverly Hobson's and Jane Carter's third grade class ate apple dumplings Thursday, Sept. 22, made by some of the students in the class with the help of Stephanie Davis and Melva Winters, parent volunteers. The activity went along with the study of Johnny Appleseed and how living things have needs.

There were over 40 volunteers to attend the volunteer orientation meeting on Thursday, Sept. 16 in the school media center. Mike Hendrix, the coordinator for volunteer services for Davie County Schools, spoke to the group along with Charles Markland, Cathe Hege, Jo Ann Helms and Mary Guttenberg. Refreshments were served, volunteer assignments were given.

Bus students of the week were Carla Baker, Chip Grimes, Elizabeth Stone, Jenna Groce, Amanda Griffin, Ryan Wren, and Brandon Peacock.

Cammie Walker's fourth grade class was recently visited by Kenneth Potts, a pilot for U.S. Air. He spoke to the class about the technology of airplanes. As a summary for the book, Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, the class constructed and flew paper airplanes. Seth Seaford's plane flew 80 feet.

PINEBROOK SCHOOL

Winners for the Arts Alive Mardi Gras mask contests were: Anne Garatrech, Brittany Bledsoe, and Kristen Snider. Kristen Snider was also the county wide winner for third grade.

Vicky Potts, Sandy Albarty, and Karen Myer's third graders attended three programs at Horizons Unlimited in Salisbury on Sept. 24. The students participated in three programs: Larry Cat is Space, What Is a Seed, and Indians and the Earth. Students had hands-on experiences making models of the moon, demonstrating Indian spears and blow guns, and dispersing seeds.

Pinebrook School's fall Book Fair was Sept. 16-20. Pam Hart was team leader volunteer. Sandy Young and other volunteers helped make the book fair a success. The profits will go to all classroom teachers and the media center.

Debbie Crutchfield, Leigh Anne Davis, and Linda Idol's first grade class took a trip on Sept. 20 to Tanglewood to participate in the program "The Green Machine". Children went on a nature walk, learned about trees, leaves, seeds, and the importance of plants to wildlife and people.

Linda Idol's class also visited Earl Douthit's apple orchard on Rainbow Road. Students ate apple butter and homemade bread as a part of their study of trees.

NORTH DAVIE JR. HIGH

Fifty students attended the first FBLA meeting for the year. Officers will be elected Sept. 29.

The seventh grade Safari Zone team had a family pizza supper before PTSO open house on Sept. 13. Parents helped with this event. Safari Zone students are studying Africa in social studies learning centers using the CD-ROM in the media center and the Geo Safari and other reference materials in the classroom. Students on the Safari Zone team with good classroom behavior were rewarded with watermelon on Thursday, Sept. 16. September Students of the Month from the Safari Zone team are Greg Lanier, Lauren Poplin, Brian Smith, Amanda McDaniel, Callie Bailey, Suzy Pence, and Sallie Wilkins.

MOCKSVILLE MIDDLE

Nearly 100 mothers of students attended the "Muffins for Mom" breakfast on Tuesday, Sept. 21 for muffins, juice and coffee as they learned about volunteer opportunities at the school.

Student Council officers have been selected: John Orsillo, president; Telisea Penn, vice president. Sarah Stein, secretary; and Shana Brewer, treasurer.

MOCKSVILLE ELEMENTARY

During September, students learned about the author of the month, Tomie dePaola. Kindergarten and first grade students colored bookmarks with an illustration from one of his books. Second and third graders drew their favorite scene from The Art Lesson, and autobiography by dePaola. In October, students will "meet" the author/illustrator Stephen Kellogg.

All four kindergarten classes took a trip to the first station on Sept. 28. The children saw the fire trucks and watched someone slide down the pole. Students have been learning about fires and what to do if there is a fire. Chris Kares and Shirley Driggars' class is still watching their chrysalis. Chris Kares and Angela Koontz classes are working on books about fall. Students are watching leaves turn colors. Second grade students of Wanda Leagans and Angie McGee have been studying apples and fall. The students have learned what states grow apples and how apples grow. The students have weighed and measured apples. A multitude of stores have apples as part of them. The children have read and worked with the characters in these stories. And, of course, students have eaten apples. A special event was held on Sept. 24. The students had an "apple tasting party". Apple chips, apple cookies, apple butter, apple candy, and a lot of other apple treats were served.

The second grade students of Gladys Scott and Elizabeth Vogler are studying Australia. They are learning about marsupials and reading books such as McBungle Down Under.

Sandi Robinson's class is studying dinosaurs.

Third graders are involved in an embryology project with the help of 4-H leaders. Eggs were placed in the incubators eight days ago. Students are turning eggs, checking temperatures, and regulating the humidity in the incubators. If everything goes as planned the students should be proud parents of dozens of chicks in less than two weeks.

Classes of Tracy Willard and Amy Martin, along with Sherry Page and Roxanne McDaniels classes, are involved with the study of animals. Students are planning a trip to the N.C. Zoo.

Karen Kirkpatrick's and Rose Ray's class made applesauce and apple pie, planted apple seeds, and joined Wanda Leagan's second grade class for an apple tasting lesson. The unit will conclude with a trip to Carrigan Farms Sept. 30.

Students of the Week Sept. 20-24 were: Brandy Short, Jordan Michael, Winston Huntley, Janna Seamon, Charlie Turner, Julie Panon, Heather Hoover, Elizabeth Colbert, Kyle Anderson, Margaret Steele, Zach York, Corey Wood, Mona Patel, Alisha Burton, Ashley DesNoyers, and Brittany Walker.

Firepup Teaching Students Fire Safety

"Firepup, the mascot of the National Fire Safety Council, is featured prominently in this year's fire prevention material to be distributed to Davie County students Oct. 3-9.

Students in grades K-5 will get fire safety coloring books offering fire prevention tips as well as advice on what to do in an emergency situation.

Davie County Fire Marshal George Frye said the material was purchased with donations. "I am very grateful to our local businesses and civic organizations which participated in this very important project. Their generous support will help make Davie County more fire-safe," he said.

Frye also expressed appreciation to the Davie County Schools for agreeing to present the materials to the students. "It takes a cooperative effort in the community to help our young people become aware of the potential dangers of fire and to teach them how to react in an emergency," he said.

Although the material is planned for distribution during Fire Prevention Week, it can be used at any time.

CHIROPRACTIC
FOR BETTER HEALTH

Drs. Simmer and Sitzmann, D.C.
CHIROPRACTORS

WORKER'S COMP COVERS

For injuries which are job-related, Worker's Compensation will compensate the patient. This applies to chiropractic treatment as well as other types of health care. In fact, because of the savings in both time lost and costs, insurance companies are very favorably disposed to chiropractic treatment of injuries.

What kind of savings? Well, for every day a worker is off the job because of a job-related injury, it costs Worker's Comp, the company, and the individual money, anything which can reduce the amount of time lost is a money-saver; and, over the years, chiropractic treatment has proven itself extremely effective in returning workers to full activity after certain types of injuries.

Of course savings in money may not be your primary interest, but it should be in your interest to be returned to full and vigorous health in the shortest possible time, and with the least chance of complications.

Mocksville artist Janet Dean displays one of the printed afghans depicting Davie history.

Afghan Depicts Davie Historical Sites

Davie County artist Janet Dean has unveiled a limited series printed afghan that depicts the area's rich history.

The afghan's design shows a little about Davie County at the turn of the century, she said recently at a reception for the artwork. Points of interest include a ferry boat which shows how cotton, tobacco and mail arrived by the Yadkin River, a livery stable that was once located on Depot Street, the old courthouse, and a stamp from C.C. Sanford, one of the first mercantile shops in Mocksville.

Only about 150 of the afghans will be printed and available for sale.

They cost $50 and can be purchased at Serendipity Shops in the court square.

Dean has been painting Davie County scenes for the past year. Her works include a color print of Martin Brothers General Store, the courthouse, jail, Mocksville Academy and several scenic prints.
