Explicit Questions On Student Health Survey Criticized

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Should Davie County students be asked explicit questions about sex, drugs and teen pregnancy?

Is it enough to give their parents an opportunity to say their children may not take such a survey, or should the survey only be given to parents who say they wish for their children to take it?

These were the questions on the minds of members of the Board of Education at a meeting Nov. 21, to discuss the adolescent health behavior survey in which a large percentage of students in grades 6-12 participated Nov. 22.

The first time sixth graders have participated, this is the third time the survey has been conducted in the schools, according to Davie County Health Director Dennis Harrington.

Though teen pregnancy and infant mortality rates were low, a study conducted in 1989 showed the abortion rate and the number of girls under 18 with repeat pregnancies was higher in Davie County than surrounding counties.

A number of area agencies began efforts to reduce this number. The county received a grant, and the CAN-STOP (Community Action Now To Support Teen Outreach Programs) Council was formed of community representatives in 1990.

The survey was created to meet the evaluation component required for grant funding and should show whether or not CAN-STOP programs are helping, he explained.

Director of Student Support Services Dr. Nancy Dominick said the survey provides a variety of comparisons, following a particular student from year to year and comparing population to population.

Only a summary of the results and the various comparisons are actually seen by anyone in Davie County. No one here knows how an individual student responded, Harrington said.

He told the board there is no choice but to have a survey to evaluate the CAN-STOP program.

Honest As The Day Is Long

Couple Finds $10,000, Returns It To Owner

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Honesty is the best policy.

At the time, it may seem foolish, but in the long run, being honest will reap huge rewards.

Barbara and Joe Boyden of Lansing are hoping that is true. They are in a position to know.

Barbara found $10,000 - in cash - on Thanksgiving Day, and saw that it was returned to who had lost the money.

It puts the question in everyone's mind. What would you do if you found $10,000 cash in a store parking lot, and no one had seen you pick up the money, and the store was closed?

"I said, we can't keep this," Barbara said. "I thought, this could be my money ... and my maker is up there looking at me."

If it had happened a few years ago, Barbara said she would have taken the money and ran. "It's been just a little while since the Lord took hold of my heart ... and it makes me feel good, I'll tell you that. Even if there's no reward, it doesn't matter. I did what I thought was right."

There was a reward, from Jeremy Grant, the 18-year-old Swaim County resident who lost the money, and some anonymous rewards from people who heard about the Boyden's good deed.

Barbara blushed when asked how she found the money.

"We were looking for a rest room," she said. "We started to stop at Burger King, but it was crowded. I said, let's go over there (to the BP station). I started toward the door. I looked to my left, and there was this pile of money. It was laying there all wrapped up in a rubber band."

Barbara immediately took the money to the car and threw it on the front seat.

Joe's eyes got big. He noticed more than $2,600 right away. "I thought it was time to go home," he said with a laugh. He kept counting.

They checked the front door, and the store was closed.

Not knowing what to do, they put the money in the glove compartment, locked it, and went for a family Thanksgiving celebration in Spencer.

The next afternoon, they stopped at the store again. Mocksville Police Officer Joey Reynolds was there, in plain clothes. He had taken the report a day earlier of the teen who had lost $10,000. Reynolds and Joe Boyden played a "cat and mouse" game, trying to figure out if the other was for real.

Man Missing Since Nov. 8 Found Tuesday In Charlotte

A 25-year-old Advance man missing since Nov. 8 was found Tuesday in Charlotte, trying to withdraw money from a banking account.

Christopher Layton "Tee" Rayle, a manic depressive who relatives feared would be in danger because he can become emotionally unstable without his medication, was back in Davie County by noon Tuesday, being examined by a doctor.

Family members said he got out of bed the morning of Nov. 8, and told his grandmother he was going to the drug store to get tooth paste. Family members hadn't seen or heard from him since that time.

Rayle said he had gone to visit friends in Spartanburg, S.C., when his car broke down. A few days later, he rode a bus to Charlotte, and had been staying and working at a Salvation Army mission, he said.

The Davie County Sheriff's Department and the SBI were involved in the search for Rayle. Posters were placed in stores across Davie and into neighboring counties.

He promised Tuesday to let sheriff's officials know if he planned to leave without notice again.

Hillsdale Rezoning Decisions On Tap For Dec. 16 Meeting

It's been the topic of debate for several months, and finally the decision on two re-zoning requests in the Hillsdale area of eastern Davie are soon to be decided by county commissioners.

The board set a 7 p.m. meeting on Monday, Dec. 16, as the date they will make a decision on the two requests affecting more than 550 acres. If granted, hundreds of acres of commercially-zoned land, as well as areas for high-density residential development, would be added to the rapidly-growing eastern Davie area.

Commissioners have already approved contracts that will allow extension of sewer lines from Forsyth County into Davie County.

Price Of Bread: Still Too High After All The Years

There are riveting times in life that shake you to your soul and make you wonder: Have I accomplished anything at all?

My very first editorial — assigned in college — was a lament on the sad state of affairs.

A loaf of bread had just hit 50 cents.

Woe is us, I wrote.

I launched into a tirade about the money-grubbing bread makers. The greedy middle men. The wheat brokers. The truck drivers. The granaries. The grocery stores. It was a chance to set things right. To have the last word. To use my influence to bring prices back down where they belonged.

I criticized everybody but the farmers. They were sacrosanct. I hailed from a farm, excusing my bias. Besides, farmers were getting less for a bushel of grain that year, not more. Still, the price had mysteriously soared.

Some were even predicting the unthinkable: A loaf of bread that cost a dollar.

I picked up a loaf of bread at the supermarket the other night: $1.72.

I was outraged.

Are we living in an age when a loaf of bread will soon cost two dollars?

Has life come to this?

It's the Republicans' fault. Or the Democrats. Bill Clinton or Newt Ginghrich. Or maybe I was wrong long ago. Maybe it has been the farmers all the time. If they didn't have to have tractors with air conditioned cabs ...

Now that a loaf of bread costs three times more than when I was in college, the primary consideration is this: Does the bread taste any better? It's pretty much the same. Some bread makers add mystery fiber these days. Some bread tastes a little like sawdust. But a basic loaf of white bread tastes about the same. .

It still gets stale.

It still molds.

It still goes with peanut butter and jam.

It still comes in a plastic bag.

A bread company recently sent me four loaves of its product to review. It was a new kind of bread. One loaf had cranberries in it. Another had raisins. One had nuts. Another had blueberries.

As a rule, I don't do reviews. Not theater. Not books. Not bread.

But I did take a loaf home. There was too much for me, and the boys wouldn't eat it. I set aside the rest of the loaf. Days and even weeks went by. The bread didn't mold. I threw it away after a month. I saw the brand later in the store: $2.50 a loaf.

The price of automobiles has also gone up, too. But with cars and trucks, at least there have been major improvements. Power windows. Power seats. Air conditioning. Leather interiors. Tires can last 80,000 miles. The cars run smoother, quieter and even longer.

But bread is bread.

There's not much to get excited about. Except for the price. It's too high. Was then. Is now.

Human Causes More Important Than Animal Issues

To the editor:

[Letter is in regard to Lynn Hall's column "Can an unarmed deer elaim self-defense?"]

I am not a hunter but am married to a very conscientious hunter. His views of your article are quite different than mine. He does not like people referring to animals as cartoon characters. For example, a deer is not a "Bambi". He has seen deer die by various methods. He witnessed dogs chasing, catching and ripping a deer to shreds. Deer have a life-span of about eight years. If left to die naturally, they usually lose their teeth and die of starvation. They can no longer chew their food. The animal involved in the death of more human beings than any other animal is deer. This is due largely to the high incidence of highway accidents involving motor vehicles and deer. In his way of thinking, being killed by a hunter may be the most humane cause of death for a deer.

Hunters do more financially for improving the quality of life in the wildlife kingdom than any other group. Much of the money generated by hunting associations and hunting license fees filters into preserving animals' natural habitats. The money is also used to prosecute those who use unethical hunting techniques, such as poaching. The majority of hunters adhere to and support the ethical treatment of animals. New hunters must attend a Hunters Safety Training Course.

Putting all that aside, I want to tell you a little of how I feel. When I read articles like yours, I feel that people have not decided to play God. If you have not already figured it out, I and my husband are Christians. I would be a hypocrite to say that I believe it is wrong to use animal products for man's benefit. On the other hand, our family pets have been treated better than a lot of people treat their children. I cried for a week when my little dog died this year.

While I do not actively go out in search of animals to kill, any unwelcome creature that dares to encroach on my territory is probably doomed. I do not see anything cute about a mouse. I loathe cockroaches, spiders and other such pests. Just how much of an animal rights activist are you?

I grew up on a farm. I do not have a problem with a person being a vegetarian. My problem comes when a vegetarian tries to play holier than thou. Some form of animal life is killed in growing and preparation of, yes, even vegetables. There are all kinds of animals that prey on our edible vegetation. Did you know that pesticides kill worms and bugs that infest crops? Did you know that landowners have a legal avenue for killing deer that eat their crops? The real tragedy is that when a deer's death is for crop preservation not hunting, the deer by law cannot be processed for food. Many landowners just leave the deer lying right where they kill it.

If you are not well educated in all aspects of the animal rights movement, I strongly suggest you get past the surface issues and understand just what extremes some people go to in the advancement of their cause. I caution you to not become so involved in this cause that you put more value on an animal's life than a human's life. Hunters are protected by law from bodily harm in the pursuit of their sport. Some people take their causes deadly serious.

It really surprises me that we live in a society where abortions and euthanasia are practiced, and yet people become enraged by issues surrounding the animal kingdom. Let's face it, our society does not appear to put much value on any type of life. We let convicted killers back on the streets every day in America.

I always come back to one particular line of thinking on this issue. Wouldn't it be great if all the energy used to preserve animals was used on relieving the suffering of human beings? Why not take up the child abuse cause?

Better yet, why not take up the cause of Christ and get involved in saving lost souls from an eternity of suffering?

Class Reunion Was A Success

To the editor:

The Davie High class of 1976 reunion committee would like to use this letter to thank the many businesses for their sponsorships and door prize donations for our 20th year class reunion, held Saturday night at the high school gym. (Please see the ad in this edition for a complete listing.)

We would especially like to thank Judy Miller of Davie High School, who went above and beyond the call of duty. Judy worked like a soldier and we appreciate her patience and cooperation in allowing us to use the gym.

Planning and delivering a successful reunion took a great deal of time and effort and our committee members did a thorough job. We were delighted that so many of our classmates attended. Just seeing so many smiling and familiar faces made all the work seem worthwhile. We hope this reunion will be a fond memory for those who attended for many years to come.

Any takers for the 25th reunion?

Life At Age 420? Scientific Research May Be Going Too Far

Some days I sit around marveling at all of the technological advancements we've made, just during my lifetime. We have just about every convenience you can imagine, and I start to wonder what could be left to invent. What else could there be? We have computer chips, microwaves, fat-free food, remote control and the Thigh Master. What else do we need?

I guess scientists are starting to feel the same way, because instead of focusing attention on coming up with new "things", what they seem to be doing instead is trying to re-invent people. For a while there was talk of cloning, DNA programming for certain selective traits, and even manipulating genes in order to prevent some terrible disease before the person is even born. Some of the things they're working on seem like good ideas. But not all of it. After doing some reading, it looks like some of the research going on is a little crazy— like maybe someone hasn't given enough consideration to all of the implications.

Lynn Hall

The research I have in mind was the cover story in a recent news magazine. It seems scientists are close to unlocking the secret of aging. In the laboratory, work being done by two scientists, has prolonged the life of a tiny transparent worm called a Nematode from nine to 50 days, and fruit flies from 70 days to 140 days. According to the article, transfer this to humans, and we could be living up to the ripe old age of 420. If you stop to think that in the year 1900, life expectancy for the average person was 47, living to the age of 420 by the next turn of the century seems like one of those giant steps for mankind.

Since we all take a personal interest in our own mortality, not to mention the lengths some of us will go to retain our youthful appearance, at first glance this sounds pretty good. Just imagine never getting wrinkles, arthritis or AARP mailings. Imagine spending your 121st birthday water skiing at Lake Norman. Your 221st birthday hang gliding off Grandfather Mountain. And your 321st birthday, changing the diapers of your newborn?

Whoa! Now that's where this whole idea starts to get a little shaky. If all of the people residing on this planet will still be around 400 years from now, and still reproducing, how will we ever find a parking place at the mall? How high will high-rises have to be? How many women's restrooms will they need at football stadiums? And aren't those lines at Disney World long enough now? Can you imagine getting your retirement watch from the company after 400 years of faithful service? Getting a life-time warranty on your Timex? Can you imagine how many relatives you'd have? How many times you'd have to take out the trash, empty the dishwasher and put up and take down a Christmas tree?

I don't know about the rest of you, but it makes me tired just thinking about it. While the thought of living forever has a certain appeal, I think the best thing researchers can do for now is to put this project on hold. At least until they answer some key questions. Like if many of us will be celebrating 420 Thanksgivings, is someone going to come up with some new recipes for turkey leftovers?

Drawing Raises Money For Domestic Violence Victims

To the editor:

During October, Davie Domestic Violence Services hosted many awareness and fund-raising events. One of those events included a random drawing Oct. 30 at noon. Many local merchants generously donated various items to be used as prizes for the drawing. All the proceeds from the drawing went toward providing food, clothing, shelter, for the victims of domestic violence in Davie County. The generosity of the merchants made the drawing a huge success.

Nearly $500 was raised from the drawing. Without the contributions from the merchants the drawing would not have been possible. On behalf of Davie Domestic Violence Services, I would personally like to thank each and every business that contributed to the drawing. The support Davie Domestic Violence Services has received from local merchants is overwhelming and greatly appreciated. We hope to give back to the community as much as the community has given to the program.

If you have been contacted as a winner of one of the various prizes, come by the domestic violence office and claim your prize by Dec. 9. Thank you again to all of those who participated in the Domestic Violence Awareness Month drawing.

Commissioners Need To Clean Up Davie County

To the editor:

As I read the paper and the letters to the editor, one thing stands out to me. Davie County people are not happy about a lot of things going on, or in my case, not going on.

The family of the murdered mother and daughter thinks there is not enough being done to catch the killer. Well, I'm sorry for them, but it isn't often a killer will just walk up and turn himself in. There are others having a hard time with the way the school bus routes are this year. I really wish them luck.

Then there are people, like me, who are tired of hearing about what Hillsdale wants. There are people who stand to make a bunch from this rezoning. It's about time our commissioners take a look at the rest of Davie County. I'm asking the county manager, commissioners, health department, social services and the EPA to take a ride through the county, up Hwys. 601, 158, 801 and 64 and see what's happening. There is junk and trash and junk cars everywhere. On Main Church Road, there is an open dumpster in a front yard; trash and garbage everywhere. There is junk falling out of a falling down building. Junk cars are all over the front and back yard. Old tires are collecting water in the front yard, empty buckets of whatever are collecting water. This will guarantee the neighborhood of one more spring and summer with huge mosquitoes. There are places like this all over Davie County. I know because I rode over the county and looked. Some of the places have a fence around them. What good does that do? Since mosquitoes, rats, snakes, and skunks don't use keys? (Hello.)

I've been told to get a signed petition and bring it before the commissioners. Now, with all the messes in the county, they know that's not possible. Besides, isn't that what our taxes pay the commissioners to do, take care of the county? This is what I voted for them for. We think it's time the commissioners get their sights away from the eastern part of the county and Hillsdale and pay a little attention to the other parts of the county.

The woman with all the dogs, well she is going back to court because of all the unsanitary conditions. Are the voters of Davie not as important as these dogs? Maybe we are voting for the wrong people. Robert Cook seems to be the only official who is doing his job. How about it, Robert?

I want to remind the commissioners that these people who aren't taking care of their homes and land probably don't care enough to get out and vote, either.

I wonder what people traveling through Davie think when they see all this mess. I doubt they would want to come here to live and raise a family.

If anybody else has seen these awful sights along the roads of Davie, I'd like your opinion.

Gibson Gives Her Side Of Cooleemee Story

To the editor:

I'm writing in response to the letters written by Judy and Charles Benson in last week's paper. I just want to clarify for the people of Cooleemee the statements that were made in those letters.

The so-called "private meeting" which was held in town hall at the conclusion of the regular meeting on Nov. 20 was nothing more than a flashback of Jackie and the previous board. Jackie making false accusations coupled with her normal dramatic theatrics. What's new? Yes, I did indeed raise my voice at the mayor. If anyone has ever tried to make a comment in the presence of her "henchmen", you know that raising your voice over the rude and obnoxious comments they make is the only way to be heard.

A citizen had asked me during the regular meeting what he had to do to speak during the meeting. I told him if he raised his hand and was recognized by the board, he may be able to speak. The citizen made the comment to Commissioner Gibson (yes, my husband), during the so called "private meeting" in town hall, that he didn't think it was right that the board had taken away the right of the people to comment at the regular town board meetings. Commissioner Gibson informed the citizen of the policy of being recognized by the board which was put in place to stop the continuous outbursts and interruptions by some members of the audience (sorry henchmen, didn't mean to step on your toes). I made the comment that I had informed the citizen, during the regular meeting, of that policy. Jackie then shouted out at me saying, "And who are you to tell him he can speak." Having been standing in the back during this farce of a meeting, and listening to her lying and false accusations, yes I did shout back, "I said if he was recognized by the board." But of course, Jackie only hears what she wants to anyway.

It was at this point Chief Wooten stopped the meeting, saying "This is a public building, it's out of control, and I'm going to ask you to leave or I will start arresting anyone who refuses." I didn't "start towards" the mayor as Charles Benson fantasized. With some of Davie County's finest law enforcement officers standing between me and the illustrious mayor, I feel certain had I wanted to "start towards" her, unfortunately, I never would have been able to even get close. This leads me to wonder: if Charles Benson even wrote the letter, or was it written with aid of our illustrious mayor and her dramatics?

Another point to consider when reading the letters by Judy Webb and Charles Benson; both refer to Chief Wooten giving "five minutes" to clear the building. It would seem at least one of them would be able to get the details correct, unless they both had help. For the record, there was no five minute limit, Chief Wooten cleared the building immediately upon those present gathering their belongings. Commissioners Gibson and Rumley and myself followed those instructions as well. When we left the building, the others who were present were getting in their cars and leaving. We spoke to each other in the parking lot before also leaving. The fantasy stories being devised by Jackie and her henchmen makes it seem as though one of them must be the reincarnation of Walt Disney.

Are we going to allow this small radical group of Jackie and her henchmen to split our town again with their lies and false accusations? No, not this time. The present board of commissioners have made tremendous progress in the past year to improve the quality of life for all of Cooleemee's citizens. What has Jackie Morton brought to town since being elected? Embarrassment, ridicule, and slow downs in progress.

Get a grip Jackie. Stop trying to be the devils advocate all the time. Even though you were elected due to the majority of voters splitting over two other fine candidates and you sliding in the back, have dignity enough to do something good for a change instead of trying to keep trouble stirred up. If you can't think of anything good, you could do for the citizens of Cooleemee. I have an idea for you-resign.

School Board Questions Policies Surrounding Student Survey

But board member Mark Jones asked if the potential for students to be dishonest when they answer questions is taken into consideration.

Several similar questions are asked on the survey to see if answers are valid, Harrington told the board.

"This survey was developed with a team from the health department and school system over a course of five to six months," he said.

Wording of questions goes along with the abstinence based curriculum taught in the schools through the family life education program – many beginning with "I never", he said.

But board member Janie Garnett said she is afraid the survey sends mixed signals by asking students if they have done things that they are taught not to do.

Unlike the messages they get from television, movies, magazines and music, students are taught at school that they can say no. That message may be refuted by asking these questions, she said.

Harrington argued there is no evidence that asking a question would trigger behavior or send a mixed message.

Jones said that it is naive to think that no child is impacted by the survey, especially a seventh grader who will be asked the same questions several times before graduating.

"After a seventh grader is asked for the seventh time in a row, he begins to see some normalcy to this action," he said.

Some of the questions are explicit, Jones said. "I believe it does send a double standard."

A mother told him that her daughter, who is starting to get pudgy, might get ideas from a question on the survey about what one might to do keep from gaining weight, Jones said.

But board member Marlene Shamel said students are already exposed to information about eating disorders from their health classes at school and from television programs.

Board of Education members Mark Jones, Marlene Shamel, Janie Garnett and David Owens listen to comments about the student health survey.

Superintendent Dr. Bill Steed, who helped design the survey, said that members of the group argued over nearly every question.

Steed, who has two daughters at Davie High, said that many of the members of the group that worked on the survey are parents.

"We became the conscience of that group," he said.

The school system has always been sensitive to the feelings of parents and students, inviting parents to examine it and allowing students to choose whether or not they wish to participate.

Board member David Owens said he and his child had agreed not to participate in the survey.

Many parents might not realize the explicit nature of some of the questions simply by reading the letter they were sent about the survey, Garnett said.

That letter invited parents to visit the Board of Education Offices to review the survey.

Parents who did not wish for their children to take the survey were asked to return the letter denying permission.

If parents take time to read the letter, the second paragraph tells exactly what the survey is about, Shamel said.

According to that letter, topics include safety, nutrition, substance abuse, human sexuality, sexually transmitted diseases, teenage pregnancy and medical and dental care. These questions are designed to gain information on student attitudes, knowledge and behaviors on issues such as eating habits, safety, drug use and sexual activity.

Owens said parents may have come to trust school leaders too much, giving up some of the responsibility for knowing about things and becoming involved.

Jones and Garnett suggested sending a letter that asks parents for permission for their children to take the survey rather than one that asks them to respond only if they do not wish for their children to participate.

To do that would require follow-up telephone calls, as it does at the beginning of school to get student immunization records. School nurses have no time to make those calls, School Health Director Frances Tutterow said.

She said they would probably only get about five percent of the letters back.

According to Dominick, it is necessary to get the widest possible sampling of the population to determine curriculum and services that should be offered by the schools. That could not be done from five percent.

That would seem to suggest parents do not want their children to participate, Jones said.

But Steed said it is unfair to assume that just because the letters are not returned.

People are busy, and it is difficult to get things back, he said.

"Parents need, based on the type of survey this is, to be pro-active," Jones argued.

Giving parents a chance to be more actively involved would be a positive step, he said. "It is our responsibility to undergird the values of the parents of this county."

Dominick said that most of the parents who have reviewed the survey said it is not as bad as they expected.

The survey has been given twice before. "I truly believe it the survey had been traumatic, parents would have come to us," she said.

Garnett said she is still concerned about the double message being sent to students.

"This kind of information is being gathered across the state annually," Dominick said. The state survey is similar.

Based on the surveys previously conducted in Davie County, she said, "Our students are waiting longer to become sexually active than those across the nation."

"I would like to believe we are headed in the right direction," she said. "There is no other way to know that for sure."

Jones said he is still concerned about the explicit nature of the questions on the survey but is not debating the survey. "The question is making sure parents have a pro-active opportunity."

Owens said many parents may not have read past the first paragraph of the letter and suggested that it have a warning stamp to alert parents to the sensitive nature of the issue.

"People have become comfortable with the family life curriculum, but they are not familiar with the things in the survey," Jones said.

Shamel suggested that any changes in policy be made later since the survey was set to be given the following day.

But Jones asked how long it would take to reissue a letter to the parents of middle school children.

Board attorney Wade Leonard recommended that the board not take a vote because this meeting had been advertised as an informational meeting only.

Jones said he will always air his concerns and "advocate for the parents and children of the county."

He thanked all those who presented information.

There will be ample time to look at making changes before the survey is given again, Owens said.

Board Could Have Voted, Attorney Said 'No'

The school health survey had been debated for a couple of hours when Davie Board of Education Vice Chairman Mark Jones asked for a motion.

School officials stepped in.

The superintendent, Dr. Bill Steed, said the board couldn't vote on changing the letter to parents (See separate story) about the survey because the special meeting was advertised "to receive information." He said the board had to be careful not to violate the state open meetings law.

Steed suggested that rather than vote, the board could come to a consensus on whether to allow the survey to be taken the next day, or whether to postpone it until a new letter could be sent to parents.

In stepped Wade Leonard, the board attorney.

Leonard said it wouldn't be appropriate to come to a consensus, either. The item was for information only and no action should be taken.

Jones later said he was taken aback. "I was so flabbergasted, I didn't strive forward."

As it turns out, the board not only could have come to a consensus, they could have voted on that or any other issue, according to Raleigh attorney Amanda Martin, an expert on the open meetings law. "N.C. law doesn't differentiate what a notice must state," she said.

Steed said later he based his opinion on Leonard's advice. The board has always worked with meeting agendas with information items and business items. No votes are ever taken on the information items.

Leonard agreed, and said he didn't base his opinion on the open meetings or any other law.

"We try to be consistent," Leonard said. "If anything last minute comes up, we add it on at the beginning of the agenda." He pointed out that the published notice for the special meeting was to receive information. "To jump in there and take a vote would have been patently unfair," he said.

Leonard's contract with the board was discussed in closed session Monday night, and the board voted to delay action.

Couple Returns $10,000

Joe asked if anybody had lost anything. "I told Joe, yea, a guy reported some money missing," Reynolds said. Joe asked how much, and Reynolds wouldn't give a definite answer. "I said a lot."

Reynolds eventually figured out the Boydens were seriously trying to return $10,000, and the Boydens learned to trust Reynolds. It's a heart-warming story, Reynolds said.

Barbara Boyden is unemployed, and her husband works for a construction company. "Ain't that something, unemployed, find $10,000 and turn it in," Reynolds said.

Assistant Police Chief Wayne Stoneman, who had the privilege of handing Grant his money Friday night, had similar feelings. "Working here, we see so much of the bad," Stoneman said. "This restores our faith in people."

WXII-TV began broadcasting the story before it's 11 p.m. newscast. One of Grant's relatives saw the story, and called him on a cellular telephone. Grant and other relatives were on the road, tracing their steps, trying to find the cash.

Grant had received the money from an insurance settlement, and was taking it to a relative in Thomasville to invest. He said he lives 60 miles from the nearest bank, and cashed the insurance check and hit the road with the cash in his pocket.

Commissioners To Vote On Rezoning

Bill Burnette, one of the three landowners paying to extend that sewer system into Davie, is also one of those seeking a re-zoning, asking for a special use permit for 300 acres along Hwy. 158 and I-40.

Neighboring property owner Bert Buhnson, an opponent of Burnette's request, said he wanted the same opportunity to develop his property, and presented an almost identical plan for 253 acres adjacent to the property owned by Burnette and his partners.

The Dec. 16 meeting is not a public hearing. Commissioners promised to make their decision at a night meeting, when more residents could attend. Hundreds, many opponents of the requests, attended public hearings over the past couple of months.

Farmington and Smith Grove fire fighters spent about four hours putting out hot spots. – Photos by Mike Barnhardt

Fire Destroys Advance Home

The home of an Advance family burned to the ground Saturday afternoon.

No one was home at 188 Bobbitt Road, the residence of Frank and Wendy Hinman III and their two sons, Brooke and Cooper, when the alarm was sent to the fire department at 12:49 p.m., according to Fire Marshal George Frye.

Both the Farmington and the Smith Grove fire departments responded to the call. "The fire was under control in about 30 minutes," said Frye, but firemen spent four hours putting out hot spots throughout the area.

The Hinman's house "is destroyed," said Frye. The damage is estimated in excess of $100,000.

The cause of the fire is unknown. "We do not suspect any foul play," said Frye. An investigation of the cause is under way.

Located in a remote area, the house was fully engulfed in flames before fire fighters were notified.

Water/Sewer Fund In Black; No Increases Expected

Water and sewer rates should stay the same in Davie County next year.

Auditor Billy Benson brought the news to county commissioners in the annual audit report. In previous years, he had suggested increases so that the county's water/sewer fund would be self-sufficient.

"If the water/sewer fund is going to pay its commitments, it's going to be necessary to operate in the black to a large degree," Benson said.

Funds coming in are enough to pay the debts, including a new water treatment plant in eastern Davie.

"That needs to be monitored on a year to year basis, but right now, I don't see that you need to do anything," Benson said.

Overall, the county is in good financial condition, according to the auditor.

Davie has 24 percent of the budget as "undesignated," or in reserve. Although well above the eight percent minimum required by the state, Benson said the undesignated money is not excessive. "The state recommends you keep at least one month of expenditures, you've got about three."

Cooleemee Clerk Resigns; Mayor Cites Contradictions

COOLEEMEE - Town Clerk Patty Nail has resigned.

Mayor Jackie Morton says that Nail was frustrated with contradicting orders from board members - and orders from board members for her to hide things from the mayor.

The town commissioner with the responsibility of town clerk said that Nail didn't give a reason when she called on Sunday, Nov. 17 and said she wasn't going to work any more.

"She declined to write up any reasons. She said she just couldn't do the job," said Town Commissioner Lynn Rumley. "I'm surprised."

At a meeting on Nov. 20, the board hired Janet Wright as the new clerk for a 30-day trial period. Wright began work on Nov. 21.

At the same meeting, commissioners appointed Rumley as the deputy town clerk, making her responsible for the clerk's office when the clerk is on vacation or when the town is without a clerk because of resignation or firing.

Planning Board To Hear Request

There will be a meeting of the Town of Mocksville planning board on Tuesday, Dec. 17, 1996, at 7 p.m. at the Mocksville Town Hall.

Tommy Alexander, represented by attorney Grady L. McClamrock Jr., submitted a petition to rezone 2.78 acres of property from Residential (R-20) to Highway Business (H-B). This property is bordered on the west by U.S. Hwy. 601 on the north by Southwood Drive and on the south by Rollingwood Drive. It is further described as being parcel A-1 of Davie County Tax Map K-5-1.

Woman Reports Firing Gun To Frighten Would-be Attacker

A Mocksville woman reported she fired a gunshot to scare off a would-be rapist early morning Sunday.

"She reported somebody broke in and tried to rape her," said Davie Sheriff's Detective Chris Shuskey. "She shot at them as they left. She said he was holding her down and she shot trying to scare him and he ran."

The 31-year-old woman was alone when the incident happened. She couldn't give a description of the man, Shuskey said.

Department of Corrections tracking dogs were called, and followed a short lead, but it was called off because of the rainy weather, Shuskey said.

The investigation is continuing.

When he arrived at the scene, McBride told him the driver of the other car had driven into the parking lot. She pointed out the car, which was parked in the fire lane of the shopping center near the Wal-Mart entrance, Stoneman said.

Thompson, who had a four-year-old girl with her, admitted she had been in an accident but said she had to pick up her daughter at Wal-Mart.

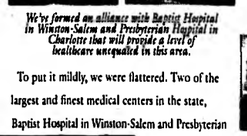
Wonderful Things Can Happen When Both Baptist And Presbyterian Put Their Faith In You.

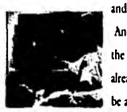


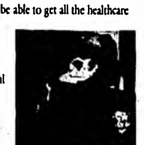
We've formed an alliance with Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte that will provide a level of healthcare unequaled in this area.

To put it mildly, we were flattered. Two of the largest and finest medical centers in the state, Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, wanted to form an alliance with us.

So, of course, we took them up on it.

And soon you'll be able to take advantage of shared services between all three medical centers. You'll have access to more specialists, greater technology, including high-tech heart surgery and cancer treatment, and more insurance options.





And when you add all that to the other great services we already have, it means you'll be able to get all the healthcare you need right here.

Which not only shows that wonderful things can happen when both Baptist and Presbyterian put their faith in you. It shows wonderful things can happen when you put your faith in Rowan Regional Medical Center.

Child Abuse Death Rates Rising

CHAPEL HILL--Between 1985 and 1994, 259 North Carolina children under age 11 were murdered across the state, according to a study conducted at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Public Health and the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner.

Among the cases 219 were judged child abuse homicides--defined as the killing of a child by a person responsible for the child's health or welfare--23 were non-abuse homicides and 17 contained insufficient information to decide.

"Child abuse homicide rates in North Carolina have risen about 38 percent in the last 10 years," said Dr. Marcia Herman-Giddens. "We don't know why. This could be due to increased awareness of the problem or an increase in abuse as some studies suggest. Current prevention strategies may need to be strengthened."

Herman-Giddens is medical director of the N.C. Child Fatality Prevention Team and a UNC-CH faculty member. The Governor's Crime Commission sponsored the research through the School of Public Health's department of maternal and child health. Pam Carlson and Sarah Verbiest were project managers.

The researchers found:

•Children under 12 months were at greatest risk, followed by 2-year-olds and 1-year-olds.

•While blacks make up 28 percent of the N.C. population, 53 percent of child victims were black. Forty-two percent of the dead were white, and 5 percent were other races or not determined.

•Among children under age 1, peak risks were at ages 1 day, 2 months and 3 months.

•Private residences were crime sites in 80 percent of cases, either the victim's or a caretaker's home.

•Forty-four percent of the kids died from blunt-force injuries. The next most common method was shaking, followed by asphyxiation and firearms. More than half the firearm deaths were murder-suicides often related to domestic or custody disputes.

•Seventy-eight percent of the victims were killed by the natural parents.

•Male caretakers committed 50 percent of the murders, mother 28 percent, baby-sitters or relatives 9 percent, and no information was available on the remaining 12 percent. Of the male caretakers, 54 percent were the father, 32 percent were the mother's boyfriend and 12 percent the stepfather.

"One of our most important findings was there no reasonable way to track criminal outcomes," Herman-Giddens said. "Overall, we found that only about 40 percent of the perpetrators we could identify were convicted or served jail time. Even though we used three different sources, we could find no information on criminal charges in 12 percent of cases and incomplete or sketchy information in 37 percent of them."

The continuing study's goals include documenting child abuse homicides during the decade, learning how to make prosecutions more successful, building a foundation for improved investigations and identifying jurisdictions where specialized training could help. It involved detailed analysis of an follow-up on all 273 child homicide deaths in the medical examiner system among children age 10 and under. Fetal deaths and non-resident deaths were then excluded, leaving 259 cases.

"We learned from this study that child abuse accounts for the majority of all homicides to children 10 years and younger, and that children under age 1 are particularly vulnerable," Herman-Giddens said. "This age distribution has implications for prevention strategies.

"Crying babies and toddlers in the toilet training stage seem to be difficult ages for caretakers to handle," she said. "After day one, it could be that behavioral issues such as colic and not sleeping through the night put children at increased risk of being abused."

The authors recommend:

•wider recognition that young child homicide victims are most likely to have been killed by one or more natural parents.

•listing victims' names in criminal records to improve information collection;

•targeting males who take care of children and all people who take care of those under age 1 for special prevention efforts that include teaching how to handle stress children can cause or contribute to.

N.C. Chief Medical Examiner Dr. John Butts, professor of pathology at the UNC-CH School of Medicine, chairs the N.C. Child Fatality Prevention Team. He said the study provides an important yardstick by which to measure future initiatives and interventions toward preventing child abuse homicides.

The group favors increased education for professional and the public about their responsibility for reporting suspected child abuse, enhanced protective services for abused spouses and children and development of child death review processes in all human service agencies, Butts said.

'Dripless Shifter' Comes To Davie High School

His teeth blackened, his hair unkept and with a thin moustache, Daniel Faill looks the part of a rogue.

Actually, the Davie High School junior is playing the lead role in the upcoming play "Tartuffe," part of a twin bill including "The Scheme of the Dripless Shifter" scheduled for Dec. 12-15 in the Davie High School drama room.

Faill explains his part and the play.

"I move into Orgon's house ... and I'm fooling him, making him think I'm religious," Faill said. "Everybody knows I'm fake except Orgon and his mother."

Tartuffe becomes so endeared to Orgon that he puts him in his will in place of his own son.

"All through the whole thing, I'm trying to seduce Orgon's wife," Faill said.

"It's a religious hypocrite, who completely dukes this wealthy man, who takes him in his home and trusts him to the point of letting him marry his daughter," said Davie High drama teacher, Susan Shortt.

"Unknown to the man, Tartuffe, the imposter, has a secret passion for the wealthy man's beautiful young wife. He foold everybody until he is tricked into showing his true colors," Shortt said.

The two, one-act plays will be presented at 7 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, Dec. 12-15 and at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15 in the school's drama room. Admission to the duo of comedies is $5 for adults and $4 for students.

Tammi Schmit and Jamie Seats rehearse a scene from the play.

HILLSDALE - Opportunity to better serve clients and a convenient location are two reasons why Larew-Wood-Johnson Insurance has expanded into the Hillsdale area.

The company's newest branch is at 130 Hwy. 801 South (next to First Union Bank).

"It's important that the members of our staff are accessible to their clients," said Bill Johnson, president of Larew-Wood-Johnson. "For more than 80 years, we've been a part of the Mocksville community, so it only seemed natural that we expand into the adjacent neighborhoods like Hillsdale, Bermuda Run, Advance and Clemmons."

Johnson and his staff of 12 are available at both locations to provide advice on insurance matters ranging from home and auto to life and health. As an independent agency, the staff can research options for clients.

"We think of our clients as friends and neighbors," Johnson said. "So their insurance protection is our number one priority. Providing superior service is part of our commitment to each client."

An open house at the new Hillsdale branch will be held from 3-6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 11.

"Whether you're a current client or just an interested neighbor, we invited you to stop by and visit us at our new location," Johnson said. "We hope folks will feel welcome in our newest home."

After 11 Titles, Davie High Wrestlers Dethroned At King Of The Mat

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

WELCOME – Davie occupied the King of the Mat's throne for 11 consecutive years, but the War Eagles were dethroned Saturday at North Davidson High.

East Davidson, a 2-A power, returned from its presumed grave in the final round of the 15th annual tournament to nudge Davie from the hot seat with 220.5 points, 11 better than second-place Davie and 100 ahead of the next closest pursuer.

Ledford's 120.5 points, North Davidson's 109, East Gaston's 102, Garner's 50, Central Davidson's 46, West Davidson's 36.5, Thomasville's 35 and North Forsyth's 33.5 rounded out the 10-team field.

Davie had four individual winners: Adam Bailey, Adam Connor, Tim Ijames and Jon Mauney.

Second-place finishers David Nail, Jeff Wilson, Zeb Carter and Brian Murphy were knocked off in the championship round to give East the needed edge.

Coach Buddy Lowery, who expects to win every match, got what he expected.

Rust, extra baggage, lack of aid from other teams and a makeshift lineup hampered the War Eagles, who should improve to normal form in the near future. "We wrestled about like we're supposed to," Lowery said. "Nobody scored any points. We're going to get better once we get people in the right places.

"It takes a while to get them there. We have to hunt and peck, take our time and get some quality practice time in."

Football players Nail, Drew Ridenhour, Murphy and J.J. Rice went to war on just three days of workouts, and Jake Marion, another wrestler fresh from the gridiron, was out of town.

That caused Lowery to do some juggling. "That makes it rough," Lowery said. "We've just got to get in the right places. C.J. (160) was two above what we wanted. We've got to get Jake in the lineup and get the football players in better condition."

Bailey, a sophomore who wrestles at 103, marched to the title with three straight pins. "He was consistent all day," Lowery said. "Three pins, you can't ask too much more."

Connor, a senior at 130, flattened three men faster than any wrestler. His pins took 17 and 23 seconds and 2:34. "He gets himself ready," Lowery said. "He's been through the wars before."

The sleeper of the team, Ijames, a senior who won by pin, technical fall and decision, is Lowery's type of wrestler. "He does what I like," Lowery said. "He listens, 'Tim do this, Tim do that.' He'll try it. He'll outthink you and outwork you. There were a whole lot of 135 pounders who looked better. ... Him and eight-ball (Connor) are about the same. They just get it done."

After a two pins, Mauney (140) dominated Ledford's David Gouge 18-6 in the finals for a

Others Measure Success Against Davie Matmen

Traffic's nowhere near the headache and Andy's Barbecue and Reggie's Flower Shop decorate the scenery instead of towering banks, but Davie's wrestling team has skipped town the last 11 years to go home, to a place called Welcome.

Mike Lambros, the long-time wrestling coach at North Davidson who escaped the sweltering practice chamber two years ago, devised a giant tournament in 1982 and called it the King of the Mat.

When wrestling comes around, you don't eat. The tournament is held in the heart of eating season, the day after Thanksgiving, when fats stare you in the face especially when grandma informs you that the turkey will go bad at her house.

"Parents are eager to see their kids wrestle," said Jack Self, North's second-year coach. "They've been through Thanksgiving, been in the house and they're ready to get out."

Thomasville and the host Black Knights won in the infant years, Davie took the cake in 1986 and has been eating ever since.

Lambros unofficially changed the name seven years ago, when he greeted a visitor. "Welcome to the Davie County Invitational," said Lambros, whose ties with Davie coach Buddy Lowery date back to the late 1970s. "I told Buddy I'd run the tournament, but we can just move it over to Davie County."

One year, an inquisitor asked Lambros who the favorite was. "Are you kidding?" he replied.

But Saturday night, with a steady drizzle and grey sky outside, Davie's house was robbed. No kidding.

Two weeks of postseason football put the War Eagles in a full-nelson, which is illegal on the mat, and overweight wrestlers and Jake Marion's absence fulfilled all of the requirements for a curious reunion.

The oddest development was another football rippling effect.

"I think in two or three weeks, when we get in our regular wrestling room and have the football players back for two or three weeks, we're going to be good," Connor said. "We were missing (Marion) Saturday, too.

"The Greyhound Classic is when we're going to show it off, when we're going to turn it up."

Just Marion being out of action, though a key ingredient, caused Johnson to move up two weight classes, Zeb Carter was placed in Marion's 171 slot and freshman Drew Ridenhour was tossed into the 189 fire prematurely, instead of Pete Tunis, a sophomore who has experienced hot coals before.

"Once we all get in our weight down and get Jake back, we'll be ready," Connor said.

Marion, along with Connor, has tasted the flavor of a state championship firsthand, from the starting lineup, and lures for seconds.

Without the Scotty Sprys and Neil Cornatzers, senior leaders Connor, Marion, Wilson and Johnson will have to lead the way. "I guess it will be a let-down if we don't get (to the state finals) this year. Last year was sad," said Marion, who was 28-8 last year, of the early exit from title contention.

Three War Eagles Are All-Conference Football Selections

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Rice

Ward

Brown

Davie High's varsity football team, which finished second in the Central Piedmont Conference, had three players named to the all-conference team.

J.J. Rice, a sophomore defensive tackle, and David Daye, a senior tailback, each were named for the second time and senior safety Andy Ward made the team for the first time.

That was it.

Davie's gripe? The third-place West Forsyth Titans, who lost 7-3 to Davie, had eight players to make all-conference.

"I don't have an answer," Coach Benjie Brown of Davie said. "All you can do is nominate. More deserved it but you can't do anything about the votes."

Mt. Tabor coach Bob Sapp, who led his 11-2 club to the league title, and Spartan wide receiver Jimmy Caldwell took the coach and player of the year awards.

Sapp, who started from scratch five years ago, has transformed Mt. Tabor into one of the top programs in the state. Caldwell was by far the top receiver in the league, a deadly weapon who earned the nickname "Slash" due to his versatility.

Daye's numbers were player-of-the-year material. He almost single-handedly carried the offense, rushing for 1,472 yards and 17 touchdowns, without a passing attack to offset stunting defenses.

Brown rescued the War Eagles from the league bunker to pin high in his first year. The War Eagles (8-5), who finished over .500 for the first time since 1987 and ended a six-year playoff disappearing act, creamed Reynolds and North Davidson, won at Ledford and ended the regular season with the win over the Titans (8-3), holding them to three points.

Brown tried his best to find something positive. "I think it was a variety of things," he said. "You look at us on paper and we're not that flashy, I would liked to have gotten more – we deserved more – but it can be a tribute to how well we played as a team.

"I'm upset in some ways ... and proud in some ways. When you only have three, it shows how much team work we had."

Around the league, the 5-8, 225-pound Rice is regarded as one of the most dominate defensive lineman.

The league will have to fear him for two more years. "He's a real good football player," Brown said. "He's worked hard to learn our scheme, he had to learn to be more disciplined and was one of our leading tacklers.

"He was a team leader by example. A lot of players look up to him for that reason."

Ward was one of the hardest hitters on a hard-hitting defense. He also intercepted three passes. "He's a solid player," Brown said. "He's not flashy but very consistent.

"He was a team leader and ended up a very good defensive back. He didn't get beat deep and tackled well, one of the reasons (he was chosen)."

Daye, the team leader, left a mark on the program that will live for years. "He is a great player who worked extremely hard," Brown said of the 5-8, 160 pounder. "He has a big heart, great feet and balance. ... He was our offense.

"I hate he's leaving. We'll have to try to find somebody to take his spot and hope they're as good a team player, has his heart and the ability that he has."

The Legacy

Teams From Across The State Expect Big Things From DHS Wrestling Team

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Celebrity crews in the music business occasionally make a world tour for salivating followers, who saver the moments knowing that it could be the last lap around the track.

But for Davie County wrestling junkies, Buddy Lowery's crew habitually tours the state every winter, which makes for a long winter for envy pursuers.

Well, it's December, which means the War Eagles see their only friend every morning when they shave.

"People just stare and just look at us," Jake Marion said. "We're the legacy coming in as far back as anyone can remember."

Jeff Wilson said: "When people see somebody in a Davie jersey, they expect them to be good even if they're not."

Starting his 21st year in the driver's seat, Lowery has six all-conference returners loaded up and ready to ride, a venture that has produced 11 straight Central Piedmont Conference championships and two state titles, the dual crown in '94 and individual title in '95.

Since the War Eagles entered the CPC 11 years ago, they've lost just two matches. South Rowan and Grimsley hold the destintion as the only teams to defeat Davie, and Mt. Tabor forced a tie.

All of those rare developments happened in the early '90s.

It would take a well-paid secretary to keep track of the accomplishments over the past decade. Davie has routinely won the midwest regionals and own several runner-up finishes in the state.

And the only way to start a streak is to end one, and one ended Saturday in the King of the Mat tournament. East Davidson rallied in the 11th hour to prevail over the War Eagles, who had won the annual tournament 11 years in a row.

A lengthy football season, which had a domino effect on several weight classes, and overweight wrestlers caused Davie's clutch to slip last weekend but this year's crew claims it hasn't even shifted gears yet.

Adam Connor, 93-15 in his career, Wilson, C.J. Johnson, Brian Murphy, Adam Bailey and Marion, all of whom were all-league performers last year, are in charge of this season's transmission and also hold the key to the state's vault.

Connor insists that the engine will run smooth with time, preferably next week in the Greyhound Classic, which Davie lost last year for the first time since '90.

On top of all the other setbacks, they were without shelter until last week,

Worth Noting ...

Davie's Adam Connor, a senior wrestler, recorded three pins in his abbreviated time during the King of the Mat tournament. His pins came in 17 and 23 seconds and 2:34. Other Davie wrestlers were Adam Bailey (three pins), Jon Mauney (three pins), Tim Ijames (two pins) and Jeff Wilson (two pins).

David Daye, J.J. Rice and Andy Ward were named all-conference football players. Rice and Daye are on the squad for the second time, while Ward was awarded after he flash ... Jeff Beaucham of Davie destroyed a team high 16 tackles, including seven losses, North Davie, in two weeks ... Farmington may had five touchdowns and two assists ... Charlie Ijames, Davie's heavyweight, pinned his opponent in 2:34 of the first period ... Davie's Jon Mauney (140) pinned Ledford's David Gouge in 3:46 of the first period ... Davie's Jeff Wilson (152) pinned Davie's Tim Ijames in 2:34 of the first period ... Davie's Brian Murphy (119) pinned Ledford's Jeff Hall in 1:30 of the first period ... Davie's Adam Bailey (103 the result. The cover boys lost their veil of invincibility for just the third time in the tournament's 15-year history in a 220-209 loss to East Davidson.

To Lowery, the brutal results weren't as outlandish as they might sound. When you're the lead horse in every crusade, you learn to live with a red dot aimed at your forehead. "It's not all a bed of roses," Lowery said. "I won't say we wouldn't beat them tomorrow, today or the next day, though.

"We've got a lot of potential, but potential hasn't won too many matches. We've got to work our butt off and we've got to be lucky."

Lambros dismisses the loss as hot news, due to the circumstances. "One of the things that hurt them today was the condition of the kids, but it also says something about the athletic program at Davie, the way the football team has done," Lambros said.

"A lot of these kids have just been out three days – what they call mat rust – and you let them get the mat rust off ...?"

Around 9 a.m., when the first shots were fired, the War Eagles were right at home and stayed that way through dinner time.

They led by two points after one round, by five after round one of the consolations and by six when the semifinals were completed. When the consolation finals were in the books, East owned its first lead of the day, 190-189.

By then, a two-team sprint to the finish line was evident, because each team had eight in the finals, including four head-to-head bouts.

The juices started flowing, eyes turned and East was oozing.

East was fuming after Davie's Adam Bailey pinned East's 103 man with 36 seconds left in the second period and boiling when another East wrestler was stomped by Davie's Adam Connor.

When Tim Ijames won 10-6 at 135, out-of-contention teams headed for the exits, and Jon Mauney's 18-6 romp in the next match pushed Davie's lead to 12.

"I thought we had blown it in the semis," Coach Bobby House of East said. "We lost a couple of matches I thought we were going to win."

Another fresh triumph turned to mold when Davie dropped every match from 145 on. Davie discovered the brutal facts when East, which has won two state titles in three years, clinched the show at 171.

Davie's stunning loss reeked of blown opportunities: too many thirds and fourths and not enough firsts and seconds, but no one declared a group crisis.

In the opposite corner of the gym after the last gasps of the stunner, House, who broke through the rusty gates of Davie's house, was out of breath.

He waited 13 years for this ultimately exhilarating victory. His club squeaked past Davie a year ago in the Greyhound Classic, which is a week from Saturday.

"We beat Davie by three points up there and I said, 'Well, we've got a chance next time, we've got a bunch of guys coming back,' " House said. "We have six state qualifiers back, and they all just wrestled great today.

"To win this tournament with Davie owning this tournament so long, it's a special feeling. This is a good stepping stone for us. It helps us measure where we stand right now.

"Davie's got a great team, we'll see them again in Statesville and it may go the other way next time. ... They're good."

They're so good that when it happens, you grab the yardstick.

East beat a program that thrives on longevity and immortality. "It's like I told Buddy the other day in the seeding meeting, 'Buddy, for so long I've tried to get our program up to you," House said. "That's what I've been programming to our kids to do.

"We do that because Davie County is the elite as far as I'm concerned."

Then the clock zeroed in on 11 p.m., a good 18 hours after the show started. The show wouldn't have gotten off the ground without a precise game plan from Self and his volunteers.

Self worked for months, past midnight the day before the event and arrived Saturday around 6 a.m. after a mere four-hour power nap. "We try to make this a showcase for the kids," said Self, who receives a big hand from Kip Childress, a DJ on the side who pieced together background music all day for added flavor.

"It takes a lot of organization and it sometimes drives me crazy. It's kind of like three days of going absolutely in sane, but it's worth every minute of it, and I'd turn around and do it again tomorrow if I had to."

So would East. "Not to take anything away from East, but if we wrestled this tournament in about three or four weeks, it would probably be a different outcome," Lambros said.

While the light mist sprinkled outside, a river ran inside. Lowery implied that the sun would return. "You can't worry about the past," he said. "It's down the river, man."

And 11 years later, so is Davie's home.

Connor Ijames Bailey Nail

major decision. "He was a pleasant surprise," the coach said of the junior. "He needs to learn and listen to get better, and wrestle under control."

Nail (145) and Murphy (215) both had to settle for second, but for different reasons.

Nail was rusty while Murphy ran up against brawny Dan Matthews of North Davidson. "I don't know how good (Daniel Cranf of Ledford) is," Lowery said of Nail's foe in the finals. "I'd like to wrestle him again. No excuses but Nail only had three days of practice. Give me three more and he'll win.

"(Murphy) beat the young ones and then got beat by a senior. He got a hold of a man."

There's no reason to panic. "We're going to get better today," Lowery said. "We just got beat by a good team."

Wrestlers Going Into '96-'97 Campaign With High Hopes

. "Between me, Jeff, eight-ball (Connor), C.J. and guys like Murphy, we'll have to help. We don't have the big names but everybody is decent. I think, really, to win the state, we'll need some luck. I don't think we're as good (as '94 and '95) but we're close.

. "Our goal is to win it. We've got to get it going."

Last season's 28-2 performance wasn't sufficient work, according to Mocksville's high standards. "Last year, we did nothing," said Wilson, 33-5 a year ago. "It felt bad. In the past, we intimidated others. We need to gain back that respect, like whenever I was a freshman and sophomore."

A trip to Allegany and the Davie Duals tournament will precede the Greyhound Classic on Dec. 14, the checkered flag that will ignite the War Eagles' winter-long campaign for elite status.

"You don't realize until now how good we were (two years ago)," Connor said. "You take for granted, 'If I lose, everybody else will win.' Now the pressure is on us.

"It's a big thing, to get back to the state finals like we used to. It's a big thing to live up to."

Notes & Quotes

Coach Hoping Colleges Will Look At Davie Running Back

Mary Ann Edwards' reasons for sticking with a zone defense makes plenty of sense. Edwards is South Davie's eighth-grade girls basketball coach.

"We'll primarily use a zone defense because at this level, you want teams to shoot outside," she said. "You've got to have a quick lineup to play man-to-man ... everybody has to do their job. Although, we will use man-to-man if necessary."

Her philosophy: Young players have a tendency to fire from long range because of the three-point line, but it's usually out of their range.

The beginning of the road in late November always has its share of potholes for Davie's ninth-grade basketball program – that's without playoffs.

With the football team's season lasting two weeks longer than the norm, Coach Clyde Studevent had to play the waiting game.

Once prospects came out, they worked with the junior varsity until further notice. Five freshmen never made it to Studevent's camp, leaving him without any proven scorers to work with.

Studevent didn't make his final cut until early this week. There were 13 hopefuls still alive going into the Thanksgiving break. "Thirteen is too many," he said last Wednesday. "I've got two dangling. I'll come down to 11.

"It's been hard. We've had to wait on the JV and varsity coaches to cut because they kept a lot up there. We're always a week behind and then the football team won."

Wil Lowdermilk, a junior wrestler at Davie, is recovering from a severe car accident. After months of rehabilitation, Lowdermilk, although it's a light workout, is practicing with the War Eagles and is hoping to return to action soon.

Tee Bahnson, a senior tight end on Davie's football team, may walk-on at Davidson, said War Eagle coach Benjie Brown.

Tailback David Daye, who put up rushing numbers that are appealing to small colleges, doesn't look appealing to scouts. Although he's 5-8, 160, the heart is hard to detect. "(Recruiters) are scared of Daye because of his size, which is sad," Brown said. "They don't want to spend $30,000 on someone his size. "I'm hoping somebody (will sign him) but it's not up to me."

Davie's boys play a no-mercy basketball schedule. The War Eagles put up a fight, but fell to North Iredell, 77-70, in their opener. "North Iredell was (the Foothills 3-A) Conference champs last year and then you turn around and play Statesville," Coach Darrell Steele said.

"Their coach told me, 'If we don't win (the Foothills), it's my fault.' He said they're athletically loaded. Then we play West Rowan and Salisbury. Then in our conference, there are no weak teams.

"Hopefully we'll be able to compete with them, but we've go to do the fundamental stuff."

Derick Faulkner, a transfer from Wilkes Central, had a nice debut with the War Eagles at North Iredell.

The junior hit 3 of 4 field goals, including one 3-pointer, for 12 points and had three rebounds. "He tried to do too much, but I think he knew a lot of those guys and took a couple of bad shots," Steele said.

"(But) he's a great addition to us."

The boys responded by winning each game on its home court. "(Chestnut Grove) had a lot of folks there," North coach George Newman said. "They played to the crowd. ... We had an excellent crowd, too. Every time the crowd got louder, the players played better."

War Eagle Wrestlers Thrash West Iredell

Davie coach Buddy Lowery appropriately described the season opener against West Iredell as the time of the year when fans and wrestlers can easily doze off, a temporary calm before the storm.

As far as West Iredell is concerned, the storm has already hit and left, a 75-3 thrashing Monday (Nov. 25) at Davie.

"We're kind of in a lull period right now," said Lowery, whose club competed in the King of the Mat tournament Saturday. "We don't know where people are at. It makes some mad. They think they should be wrestling. Some have just come off football, but they've been (here) and are a little better."

Davie was obviously better than West, which lost 13 of 14 weight classes, eight by pin.

The pins were recorded by Chris Jones, Adam Connor, Jon Mauney, Jeff Wilson, C.J. Johnson, Zeb Carter, Pete Tunis and Brian Murphy.

Tim Ijames won a 7-6 decision and Adam Bailey, Chad Boger, Matt Foster and Michael Mitchell were handed forfeits. The War Eagles would have run the tables, but West's 112-pounder beat Jamey Holt 5-3 in overtime.

Tinkering around, Davie still caused heavy damage on an overmatched West squad. "We had different people (in different weight classes)," Lowery said. "We had people overweight, so we moved people around to fill some weight classes."

• In preliminary action, Brad Pack, Nick Summers, Johnny Daye, David Nail, Jeremy Sink and Foster all pinned

Davie Girls Open Season With Loss To Raiders

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mike Dinkins, Davie's girls basketball coach, knew that scoring would be a problem for the War Eagles this season.

It was a major problem in the first game.

Looking over North Iredell and Davie's rosters, the scales were tilted in the Raiders' direction even before tipoff of North's 40-27 win Tuesday (Nov. 26) in Olin.

North has five starters back from a club that clubbed Davie's veteran squad twice last year. Davie has one, point guard Page Steed. "That in itself was a big disadvantage," Dinkins said.

War Eagle shooting was horrendous. Of their 57 shots, 38 clanged off the rim and 10 more touched nothing, adding up to 16 percent shooting from the floor.

Add 27 turnovers to the shooting woes and it's simple to understand why the War Eagles struggled. They didn't rebound either.

"I'm disappointed with our offensive rebounding," Dinkins said. "We only had 11 offensive rebounds. We had 27 turnovers ... if you convert one-third of those, that's 18 points.

"The shots were not falling. Some need to learn, if their shot's not falling, find others. Some were 1 of 9. Of 57 shots, 10 were air balls. That kind of takes the chance away for an offensive rebound."

Their youth was hidden early on, however, as the War Eagles blistered North's man-to-man defense for a 10-6 advantage after eight minutes. Then, after switching to a zone, the Raiders hit high gear by outscoring Davie 15-3, in the second quarter and 16-6 in the third.

North's zone put Davie in all sorts of quandaries. "The first eight minutes, we were doing exactly what we wanted," Dinkins said. "Then they went to a 1-3-1 and shut us down right there at the end of the first quarter.

"We ran the offense (in the second period) but we didn't get the ball inside. They made adjustments, but we just didn't hit the shots."

The second-year coach went to his bench early and often. "Since it was an opening game, I tried a lot of different combinations," he said. "When we got down, I was searching for points from a lot of people."

Davie ended the game with an 8-3 spurt to go home on a favorable note. "I've got a good group of girls," Dinkins said. "We've got too many good kids to not come together."

Team camaraderie was evident. "The one thing I'm proud of was the bench support," he said. "I heard (the bench) all the time pulling for everybody. That's a real positive note. I'm going to keep playing up-tempo ... all the girls will see action.

"Everybody on my bench will play every game."

• Ashlee Andrade didn't scratch but yanked down nine rebounds, a team high. "She played the best game she's played for me," Dinkins said. "We need more production from the inside girls. ... Leslie Holcomb led all War Eagles with six points. She hit two of Davie's three 3-pointers. Jodie Stone hit the other, three of her five points. ... Allison Foil and Jennifer Hendrix accounted for four points each, and Tiffany Peoples, Erin Umberger and Kathryn Jackson had two apiece.

• Steed handed out six assists and came up with two steals. Holcomb also had a pair of steals. ... Andrade attempted all but one of Davie's six free throws, making two. The Raiders, who had five girls to score between five and eight points, weren't much better, converting 6 of 18 from the line.

JV War Eagles Walk Over North Iredell In 51-24 Win

On the heels of last season's 18-2 record, Davie's junior varsity girls basketball team has a tough act to follow.

The act seems even tougher with 14 freshmen and a new coach, Tammy Reavis, an assistant under varsity coach Mike Dinkins last year and who is succeeding Carol Cozart.

But, with one game in the books, the new faces have posted old results as the War Eagles trampled North Iredell 51-24 here Tuesday (Nov. 26).

Doing most of the damage were sisters Christy and Amanda Frogge, a double dose of inside strength that combined for 23 points.

They had more than enough help.

Megan Mick added seven points, one of 10 girls who contributed. Julie McDaniel, Elise Whitaker and Erin Baldwin scored four apiece, Tina Harkness had three and Molly Allred, Katherine Phillips and Jerri Ann Angell each had two.

The War Eagles, despite facing a zone defense, had too much inside for the Raiders, who handed Davie one of its two losses last year. "They did a good job," Reavis said of Christy and Amanda Frogge. "They scored 23 of our 51. We scored a lot off rebounds."

With an entire roster making its debut on the high-school level, Reavis didn't foresee a 27-point wipeout. "We saw a lot, things that we haven't been doing in practice," Reavis said. "But we've been practicing against the varsity.

"They played a 2-1-2 defense, so we got a lot of shots from the outside."

The War Eagles applied heavy pressure throughout the game – a style that they'll be familiar with when they reach the varsity – and the Raiders didn't have an answer, falling behind 13-4 after the first quarter.

The visitors climbed within five at the half but an 18-7 third-quarter run by the War Eagles had the Raiders scorched, and they were cooked by the time Davie finished the game with a 13-2 binge.

Youth can bring inconsistency, but this team may be far from done. "If we keep improving, we'll be good," Reavis said. "Because we've got 14 freshmen, they'll have to keep working."

• Other players on the squad are: Jill Seamon, Dewitt Myers, Amber Hamm and Ember Spillman.

South Davie Team Battles Injuries

The coach is wobbling and the team is hobbling.

South Davie eighth-grade basketball coach Mary Ann Edwards is on the pregnancy list, while three of her players – Shelby Michael, Ashley Hanes and Larissa Lookabill – have been on the injury list. Amber Carter and Kim Hilton were in Florida for a week.

Edwards

"I haven't had but two practices with everybody there," Edwards said.

Everybody's there now and so is the season. Michael's pulled muscle, Hanes' broken finger and Lookabill's sprained ankle have healed.

The Tigers opened up at J.N. Fries Tuesday and host North Rowan this Thursday.

"They caught themselves up pretty well," Edwards said of players who have missed time. "I tried to put in the easy stuff first."

The starting five will not be easy. Several of Edwards' 11 players can play different positions. "I haven't decided on a starting lineup," she said before Tuesday's opener. "This is probably the most versatile team I've ever coached."

Katie Bernhardt, Hilton and Stephanie Hepler are post players who can drift out. "They can move away and shoot, too," Edwards said. "I'll have to move one of them to a small forward – if all three are in – and they can handle the ball well."

Michael, last year's leading scorer with a 7.3 average, Carter, Cindy James and Mary Jo Hood are guards. Michael played point guard for seventh-grade coach Sheila Tribble, but may move to the wing due to her scoring ability.

"I'll rotate them in, but I haven't decided on a point guard," the coach said. "Shelby has grown some and I may take her from point guard, not saying that you won't see her ever playing it. I'll do that so she can score.

"James has showed a lot of improvement. She has probably the best looking shot on the team. She's very athletic."

Carter, not noted as a scorer and who could play some point, can help tremendously with her defense. "She plays great defense," Edwards said. "She'll worry somebody to death. She's probably the best hustler we've got."

On three occasions last season, Hood, who averaged 5.1, scored 12 or more points. "(Hood) can be a great shooter. She's real versatile; she'll play a guard or a forward. She might even play a post position."

Hanes, Tara Benson, Tiffany Scott and Lookabill give Edwards more options. "Tiffany will probably play forward, and Ashley will play a guard or forward," she said. "(Scott) and (Lookabill) will be backups at one of the guard spots. Tiffany is a good shooter and Larissa has speed."

Michael, Hood and Bernhardt, who was second in scoring at 5.5, were the primary scorers on last season's 6-7 squad, while Carter (2.3), Hepler (1.8) and Hilton (2.6) contributed as well.

The Tigers should have a another balanced attack. "There's not one star," Edwards said. "Any of them can shine on any given night."

North Davie Wins Two In Row To Start Season

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Spelling may differ from one place to another, but the early results from North Davie's girls basketball team indicate that the Wildcats leave the T out of team.

That wise choice is the reason they're unbeaten after two games, said Coach Trish King.

North used a strong second half in consecutive days to defeat Chestnut Grove, 27-20 here Monday (Nov. 25) and 24-19 Tuesday at Chestnut Grove.

"I'm real proud," said King, who coach North's boys last year. "Everybody got into the game. We're real team oriented and we play together real well."

Take Stacey Queen for example. She scored just six points in two days, but her name was used frequently by the coach. "Sometimes the one's that score are the only one's in the paper," King said. "Stacey played great defense – she didn't have a point (in the rematch) – but she had a lot of steals for us."

In fact, Queen had six steals, most of them coming in the second half when the Wildcats rallied from four down.

King did away with the zone and her girls outscored Chestnut Grove 12-3 after the break, and didn't allow a point in the fourth period.

When Queen found the loose balls, she usually found Heather Schleupner, who scored a team-high 14, all but 10 of North's points, pulled down nine rebounds and dished out three assists.

"We came out of the zone and went to full-court pressure," King said. "Stacey fed someone for a lot of baskets, and Heather was in the right place at the right time."

Stingy defense was critical since both teams found points hard to come by. "Our shooting percentage was low," King said. "(Heather) was the only one hitting. She has strong moves and got open for the ball. She had a great all-around game."

Winning a day earlier gave North a boost. "The defense pulled it out," King said. "We were feeling a little more confident with a win under our belt."

• Emily Morton had four points and four rebounds to help out, and Heather Lanning, Mary Beth Dinkins and Sarah Jackson each had two. Dinkins had two assists.

North Wins Opener

Dinkins' 3-pointer to start the third quarter, which broke open a 10-10 game, and Susan Delaney's six quick points allowed the Wildcats to surge ahead and hold on to a 27-20 victory.

"Mary Beth's three really sparked us, and Susan came in and hit three in a row. That was real crucial; she hadn't played hardly any," King said.

The scoring was evenly distributed. Delaney, Queen and Schluepner led with six points apiece, and Morton (four), Dinkins (three) and Jackson (two) contributed to the cause.

"We worked together," King said. "It was a defensive game. Our defense was very good, a pattern that's our strongest asset.

"It was basically a game to get the first-game jitters out of the way and to get the kinks out."

Butero And Murphy The Big Winners

By Morgan Harper
Davie County Enterprise Record

Thank you to those of you who participated in last week's contest-- there weren't a lot of you, but we'll chalk that up to the holidays.

We had numbers varying from six misses all the way to 17. I do like those high numbers, so I have to say congratulations to Randy Craver of Advance for missing the most. It takes a team player to take a deep breath and move on to the next batch of games like you're doing right now, and you, sir, are a team player. Good work, and good luck next week.

Now for the ones who get some almost- instant gratification for their choices. I have two entries in front of me that have six misses. One belongs to John Butero and the other to Jason Murphy, both of Mocksville.

They both chose Notre Dame over Univ. of Southern California. A lot of you did. You must have really wanted to see Lou Holtz win his last regular season game. Sorry to Christy, Dave, Fred and the rest of you, especially Lou.

The gentlemen vying for $25 both rooted for Buffalo over Indianapolis. They, again, were not alone. And New Orleans over St. Louis. And Miami over Oakland, too. Sorry to Billy, Randy, Dillard and the rest of you, especially Jimmy Johnson.

So, with six apiece, naturally it's tie- breaker time. Mr. Murphy, 24 + 36 = 60. Mr. Butero, 24 +14= 38.

The closest to 79 points would be contestant number one. Jason Murphy, come get your money. And despite your instructions, I'm not going to leave a message on your machine. Just read this and come and get your prize.

And you, Mr. Butero, please come and get yours, too. Congratulations, and remember you're all winners on the inside, even if you don't get paid for it.

THE HARMON FORECAST

Thursday, Sunday and Monday, Dec. 5, 8-9

(Thursday) PHILADELPHIA.....23 INDIANAPOLIS.....17
This is the third of four straight huge games for the Colts! They've faced N.Y. and Buffalo and they jackle K.C. next week. The Eagles were 20-10 winners the last time these teams met, in '93.

(Monday) BUFFALO.....32 SEATTLE.....16
The Bills will beat Seattle by staying on the ground and pounding a weak rushing defense. Last year Jim Kelly threw three TD passes as Buffalo held off the late-rallying Seahawks to win 27-21.

CHICAGO.....16 ST. LOUIS.....10
Unlike the '95 Bears-Rams matchup, won by St. Louis 16-28, there won't be a lot of offense on display this time, but if any defense will give up points to the non-scoring Bears, it's the Rams'.

CINCINNATI.....20 BALTIMORE.....18
Intercepting Vinny Testaverde four times five weeks ago, the Bengals came from 18 points behind to beat the Ravens 24-21 on Doug Pelfrey's field goal as time ran out. They're still that close.

DALLAS.....28 ARIZONA.....13
With Emmitt Smith rushing for 112 yards and the Cowboys defense shutting Arizona down, Dallas won its 12th in a row over the Cardinals in Week Seven, 17-3. The Cowboys D has only gotten better.

GREEN BAY.....27 DENVER.....24
The Broncos may be a better bet to make it to the Super Bowl, but the Packers will provide further evidence of the NFC's dominance. They haven't met since '93, when the Pack beat Denver 35-27.

HOUSTON.....24 JACKSONVILLE.....12
In September, Eddie George rambled for 141 yards to lead Houston over the Jaguars 34-27. This is a crucial game for the Oilers, who lost once to Jacksonville last year and can't afford to again.

MIAMI.....23 N.Y. GIANTS.....19
With enough defense to keep the struggling Dolphins offense off balance, the Giants could make this interesting, N.Y. has won two of the three times they've met, most recently three years ago.

WASHINGTON.....28 DETROIT.....15
Intercepting four Scott Mitchell passes and surviving 113 yards of rushing from Barry Sanders, the Redskins opened the season by edging the Lions 17-13. Minnesota hasn't swept Detroit since '89.

NEW ORLEANS.....21 ATLANTA.....14
The Saints turned the ball over on their first three possessions on the way to handing the Falcons an ugly 17-13 win three weeks ago. N.O. doesn't want to lose to Atlanta twice two years in a row.

N.Y. JETS.....25 NEW ENGLAND.....22
Our upset of the week, matching the Jets, who as many underdogs have nothing to lose, and the Patriots, who are stressed by a tight divisional race. N.E. came back to beat N.Y. 31-27 last month.

PITTSBURGH.....24 SAN DIEGO.....13
Lacking the offense to score much against the Steelers, the Chargers can keep this game close only by limiting Pittsburgh's fearsome rushing attack. In '95 the Steelers took S.D. easily, 31-16.

DALLAS.....28 ARIZONA.....13
who could've guessed that the 49ers would lose two of their first three games with the Panthers, including a 23-7 shocker in Week Four? Or that this would be the game of the year in the NFC West?

SAN FRANCISCO.....30 CAROLINA.....17
WASHINGTON.....28 TAMPA BAY.....14
After battling the Eagles, 49ers and Cowboys, the Redskins should dominate T.B. The Buccaneers have won three straight in this series, but they'll be helpless against Washington's running game.

(Monday) KANSAS CITY.....26 OAKLAND.....21
Oakland outran and outpassed the Chiefs in their first matchup three months ago but still lost 31-3. The Raiders still have the statistical edge, but K.C. has beaten them seven games in a row.

Josh Barnhardt corrals the rebound as Jason Neese prepares for an offensive effort in Davie's season opening loss at North Iredell.

Davie Team Slips In Season Opener

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

After last season's stumbling act, Davie's boys basketball team got off on the right foot at North Iredell but landed on familiar ground.

After leaping to a 10-0 lead in the opening minutes, the War Eagles lost their stride in the fundamental department and eventually fell 77-69 Tuesday (Nov. 26) in Olin.

This was the 16th straight loss for the War Eagles, dating back to last Christmas, but they seem pointed in the right direction.

For instance, the Raiders won the Foothills 3-A Conference last year and Davie ran an efficient offense, scoring the third-highest total in its last 24 games.

"Dean lost his first one," said Coach Darrell Steele of Davie, referring to Hall of Famer Dean Smith of North Carolina. "We have a good group of guys. They have intensity, they want to do better and I think they will."

After smooth sailing early, Davie's 28 turnovers delivered too many opportunities to the Raiders, who also had their way on the boards.

"We came out real good. We did everything right in the first few minutes, and then the turnovers hit us," the fourth-year coach said. "We're not boxing out. The guys are doing what they want to do instead of what we have been emphasizing."

Josh Barnhardt – who scored a team-high 16 points, grabbed five rebounds and had two steals – and Derick Faulkner, who scored 12 in his Davie debut, each connected from 3-point range to give Davie the early momentum.

Before the quarter was over, however, the Raiders owned a 12-10 lead. They stretched it to six by halftime.

Derrick Dulin, a senior forward, scored all five of his points in the second quarter, while Barnhardt and Faulkner kept pumping. They combined for nine of Davie's 20.

But by this time, trailing 36-30 midway through, the War Eagles had already made their bed.

"We had 25-28 turnovers, missed free throws (10-16) and didn't do the fundamental stuff," Steele said. "They didn't hurt us outside. ... They've got a good ballclub, but we do too."

All Jamie Neese and Derick Faulkner can do is watch as a Raider soars to the basket for two points.

Barnhardt was the hot man again in the third, scoring six along with Faulkner's four and Eric Kistler and Jason Neese's three for the period, which saw Davie shave the lead to 51-46.

The Neese twins (Jason and Jamie) found their groove in the final quarter, scoring six each, but North outscored the visitors 26-24.

"Hopefully we'll come together with a few more games," Steele said. "We had more intensity (than the scrimmages) and the defense was better, but it wasn't as good as it should be."

A day before Thanksgiving, the team assembled to study the film. "A few things cost us," Steele said. "... They know it now."

• Junior point guard Charles Miller will be out another week with an ailing ankle, and big man Ray Spain is recovering from a bout with pneumonia. ... Kistler, who was cut last year, scored nine, including one 3-pointer. ... Jason Neese, last season's leading scorer, scored 15 on 7-of-12 shooting and grabbed four rebounds. ... Jamie Neese (six), Tremaine Dulin (two), Geric Potts (two) and B.J. Johnson (two) also scored.

Ninth Graders To Start Season Dec. 11

For a coach that has virtually seen it all, Clyde Studevent, Davie's ninth-grade basketball coach, doesn't know what he'll see when the War Eagles start their season Dec. 11 at Surry Central.

After last season's 12-3 year, Studevent, a long-time coach in the county, doesn't expect a repeat, not unless there's an ace in the hole.

"Last year, I could see the cards opening up," Studevent said. "I could see it on the floor. Kenny Collins (14.5 ppg) stood out. This year, a lot of it will fall on how well I can put it together. I'll have to bring (the talent) out."

When Collins wasn't cutting to the basket or launching a 3-pointer last season, Shunta Frazier, who averaged a team-high 16.1, was scoring inside at will.

Collins is on the junior varsity, Frazier no longer attends school and freshmen Larry Umberger, John Orsillo, Shawn Brooks, Jared Vaughters and Duane Phillips are members of Brian Cantrell's JV team.

"There are no real great shooters in the crowd," Studevent said. "It's hard to say. We're not big and I can't say we're quick. There's not one (player) that I can say will carry us. It's a question mark year."

The most experience on the floor, Studevent said, comes from South Davie freshmen products Ricky While, who averaged 2.8 points last year, and Marcus Lassiter, a 3.6 scorer.

"Ricky I think started for (Barry) Whitlock," Studevent said. "I can count on floor experience with him. Others played but they didn't start. Marcus got some game experience, but no one was truly a starter in the eighth grade."

One thing you can count on: Studevent will find time to laugh. "They've all showed up for practice," he said, laughing about the tough year ahead. "They're excited. The kids seem to be a group that wants to play."

No More Questions

JV War Eagles Rip Raiders By 51 Points

A JV team that was supposedly full of question marks left the North Iredell Raiders questioning themselves after Tuesday's 70-19 debacle at Davie.

The War Eagles, behind 19 points from freshman center John Orsillo, ripped the Raiders to shreds with an attack that saw 12 players score.

This was the season opener for both clubs. The War Eagles were at Statesville Tuesday.

While the only double-figure effort came from Orsillo, Duane Phillips and Zach Manning added nine and seven points, respectively, and Kenny Collins and James Blakley pitched in with six a piece.

Shawn Brooks added five, and Trent Howell, Jared Vaughters, Eric Kofke and Larry Umberger scored four each. Ronnie Blackburn had three and Chad McBride had two.

Although they won by 51 points, it could have been uglier. The War Eagles were 13 of 30 from the foul line.

There's still work to do. "We've got a lot of getting better to do – on defense and rebounding," said Coach Brian Cantrell. "We're young, and if we keep listening and do the things we're coached, we'll have more ball games like this.

"I told them there were three things we had to show: class, sportsmanship and discipline."

They showed all three, and then some. "To hold them to 19 was something, but the thing that pleased me was, we showed class, sportsmanship and discipline," he said.

Cantrell, who was nervous before the game, could breathe easy when the War Eagles, who led 11-6 after one quarter, blew the doors wide open with a 24-5 run in the second period.

They outscored the Raiders 35-8, including an 18-2 fourth-quarter spurt.

"I was real nervous," Cantrell said. "We've had a lot of guys come in late (due to football). They did a good job. We had to do two things: play defense and rebound. If we did those things, I knew we'd be OK."

While Orsillo made a remarkable debut, sophomore returners Kofke, Blakley and Lanier added the needed leadership. "They showed signs that they remember a lot from last year," Cantrell said. "They're the leaders.

"Orsillo had a great game. The guards got the ball to him and Umberger passed off a lot. The whole team worked together. Everyone got in; it was a whole team effort."

Manning, Phillips and Collins each had a three-point basket.

Advance Man Lands Hole In One In Ocala

Advance to Ocala, Florida is a long ways from home, but Austin McGuire Jr. obviously felt right at home on Golden Ocala Golf and Country Club's No. 4 hole.

While Bill Burnette of Advance and Emory Dennard of Clemmons looked on, McGuire, using a sand wedge, lofted a shot from 104 yards.

With the friendly roll, the ball trickled into the cup for a hole in one.

North Davie Splits Season Openers

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

The North Davie boys basketball team was in midseason form in the season opener and preseason form one day later.

In splitting a pair contests with Chestnut Grove – a 39-34 North win Monday (Nov. 25) at home and a 35-27 loss at Chestnut Grove the next day – North coach George Newman was befuddled over his team's dynamic effort one day and unraveling act the next.

"We played the first game like I thought we'd play the second," Newman said. "(The opener) was like the third, fourth or fifth game of the year, like we'd played three or four conference games."

Then with one player on vacation and Wes Miller, the team's leading scorer so far, shaken up, North fell apart in the rematch.

"We lost one to vacation and it took away our height when Wes got banged up," Newman said. "Without experience, they wiped us clean in the third and fourth quarter."

Chestnut Grove, which owned a slim 15-14 halftime lead, took charge with a 20-13 run to finish the game. "We'd get within five and they'd pull away," Newman said game two. "We didn't execute. They're a lot more physical, that's too much for us (in consecutive days).

"We could have used a day to sit back and see what we did wrong. It was just inexperience."

• Miller and Justin Goode, who had five rebounds, led the way with eight points apiece. Miller was shut down throughout the second half. ... Andrew Jones chipped in with five, and Eric Shepherd, Josh Lackey and Joey Glasgo each had two.

Impressive Opener

North, trailing 21-18 at halftime, turned up the defensive dial several notches to pull out a 39-34 win.

A 21-13 second-half spurt was fueled by the defense. "We just extended the defense," Newman said. "It was nothing more than a half-court and zone press."

Goode drew a charge near the end of the third, igniting a 10-0 run. "The key was the charge call," Newman said. "That was an excellent defensive save right then and there. It was like a wave; it shifted the momentum to our side, then we took a commanding lead."

Strong guard play pulled North through when Miller was saddled with three fouls in the first half. "He's quick for a big man," Newman said. "He's mature, like a second-year vet. Hats off to the guards – (Matt) Hudson, Glasgo, Goode and Shepherd – they pressured the ball and created turnovers.

"I found out real quick we can't play a half-court game. I said, 'Let's use the whole court and see if it makes a difference."

• Miller was the main man, scoring a team-high 11 and claiming six rebounds, while Shepherd and Goode had 10 and eight respectively. Goode had five rebounds to go with his points. ... Shawn Levan, Hudson, Jones and Alex Vontsiasky had two points apiece.

Wildcat Wrestlers Fall To Lexington

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

What Ron Kirk, North Davie's wrestling coach, was afraid would happen happened.

Kirk watched five wrestlers, who combined to go 65-0 last year, move on, leaving him with a shortage of firepower, and the Wildcats' 41-match winning streak became a memory soon as the season started.

Lexington made itself the answer of a trivia question, benefiting from a 47-42 win Monday (Nov. 25) at South Davie, by snapping the three-year streak.

It was also only North's second loss in 78 matches, dating back to 1991, the year it's six-year run of conference championships began.

That streak in still intact, along with the Wildcats' 34-0 mark in Piedmont Middle School Conference matches. "It's like I told them, the 41 consecutive winning streak is over, but we still have never lost in the (PMSC)," said Kirk, who was obviously sad to see this day come.

North visited Lexington, the home of the spoilers, Tuesday for a rematch with more history on the line.

Much of last season, the Wildcats jumped on top early, fell behind in the middle weights and rallied for the win while the crowd looked on in amazement.

The Wildcats were working in similar fashion – leading 18-0 after pins from Tyler Black, Adam Sain and Justin Dyson – but three straight losses from 112-125 and seven of eight losses through 152 finally cost them.

After the three pins to open the match, Sain (130), who pinned Dustin Whitfield in the second period, was North's only winner until Carl Waggstaff recorded a first-period pin at 160 to cut Lexington's lead to 41-30 with three classes left.

North's Rich Hunter and Chris Nichols pinned their men at 189 and heavyweight to end things.

The Wildcat bookends were effective, but the middle weights decided their fate. "The only person to wrestle good in the middle was Andy Sain," Kirk said. "From 119-152, we looked like we'd never seen a wrestling mat.

"I think we were too nervous. I thought we'd respond better than we did."

• The departure of Josh Crutchfield, Brad Pack (44-0 in two years), Zeke Earle, Drew Ridenhour and James Atkins, all of whom went 13-0 last winter, left huge holes for Kirk to fill this year. And Matt Foster lost just once.

Nobody scores without the proper feed.

Ever notice all of the food images we use to describe the games we play? The batter steps up to "the plate." The tennis player "serves" an ace. The basketball guard "dishes off" a "perfect feed" for the easy lay-up underneath. You have to be "hungry" if you want to win.

Actually, that last one's got it backwards. Because the surest way to "choke" in sports or in school is to play without the proper feed. In fact, food plays a crucial role in how our kids perform in phys ed class, and all their other classes, too. Food even impacts standardized test scores. Because kids who regularly eat balanced, nutritious meals learn better. It's just that simple.

Angell, Davie Construction To Build Putting Green

Don G. Angell, founder of Bermuda Village Retirement Resort, Advance, and Davie Construction have contracted with Lawnscope of Oak Ridge, to build the largest artificial "synthetic" putting green not only in North Carolina, but probably in the nation.

Bermuda Village is one of the nation's most upscale communities and is certified by the Association of Retirement Resorts International as the Premier Retirement Resort in North Carolina.

Director of Marketing Peter Heaven said, "This is one more of the many amenities that Bermuda Village offers its 250 plus residents. Our goal at Bermuda Village is to offer the very best in amenities and service so that our residents can enjoy the very best that life has to offer."

This putting green will provide relaxation golf when the 27-hole championship course proves too strenuous.

Lawnscope, a leading southeastern builder of synthetic putting greens, will start construction in late November and hope to be finished by Christmas. The green will be approximately 10,000 square feet and feature 18 putting holes and a chipping area said Jim Crotts, Lawnscope's owner. He and son, Jim, will be building the green.

The synthetic bentgrass surface undulates and reacts like a real grass green, but required a fraction of the time consuming maintenance. The first one in North Carolina was installed at Wake Forest University in 1987.

Golf Journal Magazine says that many touring pros, including Paul Azinger, Steve Elkington, Larry Mize, and John Huston have installed synthetic putting greens at their homes. So have such noted golf enthusiasts as Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls, the magazine says.

For more information on synthetic bentgrass greens, call Lawnscope at (910) 643-8267 or write to the company at 6107 Trotter Lane, Oak Ridge, N.C. 27310. In North Carolina, you can call toll-free at 800-532-9883.

South Davie Wrestlers Whip Lexington Team

On a day when one heralded streak ended, another one began. At least that's what South Davie hopes is the case.

Lexington roasted North Davie in the middle weight classes on its way to a 47-42 win, snapping North's 41-match winning streak, and South made a big statement by whipping Lexington 58-24, all of which took place Monday (Nov. 25) at South Davie.

Coach Matt Wilson is responsible for South's only conference title, and his matmen are off and running this season, though it's early.

A good portion of his club enjoyed a 7-0 football season, reason to believe the current seventh-grade class hasn't even touched the surface yet.

The match started with pins from South's Luke Koontz and Tony Angell, and Seth Correll (9-8) and Nathan Bolin (15-3) followed that up with decision victories.

The four wins out of the gate had the Tigers ahead comfortably, 19-0.

Lexington cut into the lead with consecutive pins at 119 and 125, but Drew Beck was the first of four straight pins at 130. Wesley Johnson, Luis Soto and Tommy Head each put six points on the board, putting the match out of reach.

Willie Froelich and Adam Barber had pins in the upper weights and Jhockton Dalton won 11-4.

The backfield in football and two of the top athletes in the seventh grade, Neil Rice and Patrick Lowery, were each pinned in their middle-school debuts.

South still won by 34 points and you have to believe Rice and Lowery will rebound to have solid years.

• Sammy McEwen, Jacob Garner, Daniel Sparks, Donnie Beaver, J.R. Harden and Michael Hawbaker had wins for South in preliminary action.

Mocksville Artist's Drawing Featured On Christmas Ornament

Those Christmas tree ornaments you see at area banks were made from a drawing by a Mocksville artist.

Melissa Cartner drew the picture that shows the northeast quadrant of the town square in downtown Mocksville. The work was commissioned by Downtown Mocksville, Inc., a group of local merchants and civic leaders.

"I submitted my work to the Downtown Mocksville board. They look at work and choose an artist to do the ornament."

The ornament was a collaboative effort between Cartner and that board.

"They told me what they wanted," Cartner said. "I did some sketches ... and they chose what they wanted."

Inside each ornament, on sale at banks, Serendipity Shops and Daniel Furniture, is a card giving a brief description of the history of the buildings. Among the buildings shown is the American Cafe, which was built in 1933; the old Southern Bank & Trust Building, which was built in 1923 and the Horn-Harding Building, originality built in 1878 and re-built in 1938.

Cartner, the former Melissa Marklin, began taking art classes in the fourth grade under Glenda Beard. She studied interior design in college, while continuing her art training by taking drawing and painting courses. She has done commissioned art work for several people, she said.

This drawing is the first that has been reproduced in prints. Water color was added to 25 of the black and white prints. The original is on display at Daniel Furniture on South Main Street.

Artist Melissa Cartner drew the print of downtown Mocksville buildings depicted on the 1996 Christmas ornament now on sale.

Former TV Personality To Lead Mocksville Christmas Parade

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

To Carolinians his name has as familiar a ring as sweet potato pie.

For more than 40 years, Doug Mayes brought the news into their homes.

Saturday, the residents of Mocksville may recognize the familiar face of the former anchorman as he leads their annual Christmas parade along Main Street as this year's grand marshal.

From the end of the parade route, Mayes will make his way back to the town square where he will broadcast live on local radio station WDSL in a format similar to his popular "On the Square" series from Charlotte's WBTV Channel 3.

That series began in 1974 during the Watergate investigations when his station manager was looking for a way to get more people involved in the news, Mayes said.

"On the Square" would draw so many people that he started contacting police departments in the towns he was planning to visit to alert them about the potential crowd.

It was so successful that stations all across the country began to pick up on the idea.

In some ways, he said he thinks "On the Square" may have been the start of talk television.

"I think it was because people wanted to talk and have someone to listen to them," he said. "I love to talk, and I've learned to listen."

Mayes had only to ask a question, and people were eager to respond. The best part of the job was meeting and being with people, he said.

Most of his questions on the square in Mocksville will probably be about Christmas – its true meaning, commercialism and the economy this year compared to last Christmas.

Though he has a few questions in mind, Mayes said the topic of the program will be whatever people want to talk about that morning.

> "I love to talk, and I've learned to listen."
> - Doug Mayes

"I know we will have a lot of fun," he said.

"I'm excited and very happy to be coming to Mocksville and hoping to see some old friends," he said.

Mayes has visited Mocksville in the past for his "On the Square" broadcasts. A 33rd degree Mason, he has also been keynote speaker at the Masonic Picnic.

This visit will provide Mayes with an opportunity to spend the day doing some of the things he likes best – meeting and talking to people and broadcasting.

Retired from WSOC-TV Channel 9 in Charlotte, he still records some commercials but no longer does live broadcasts.

"I miss the excitement but not the pressure," he said.

Trying to retire for several years, Mayes spends a lot of time at home with his wife Ruby but said he couldn't be happy just sitting around doing nothing.

His latest accomplishment is the book Charlotte: Nothing Could Be Finer, which was released about a month ago. The features the past 45 years of Charlotte history told from Mayes' perspective.

He maintains an office in the Charlotte area and accepts speaking engagements occasionally.

Though not his first stint as grand marshal for a small town parade, his visit to Mocksville will be his first parade job in several years.

Following the parade, Mayes can be seen and heard at Willow Oak Shopping Center where he will perform with the GV band.

Recognized often for his broadcasting abilities from "On the Square" and "Midday With Mayes", his musical talents are a better kept secret, but he has been interested in music even longer than broadcasting.

Taught to play the guitar by his Aunt Bertha at an early age, he eventually made his way to the stage of the Grand Ol' Opry as a bass fiddle player years before breaking into the broadcasting business as a radio announcer.

He doesn't really consider himself a singer but enjoys it. He recently performed "In The Garden", which is his favorite hymn, with his pastor for the congregation at Denver United Methodist Church.

As for his upcoming performance in Mocksville, Mayes said he would rather get the crowd to help him sing some songs they know – maybe even some Christmas songs.

He said he is looking forward to a full day on the air in Mocksville.

The group consists of 36 sixth through eighth graders representing nine Davie County churches will go to Moore's Chapel United Methodist Church in Charlotte for a performance on Friday, Dec. 6, to present the musical, "A Strange Way to Save the World." The musical was written by Dennis and Nan Miller.

The musical will be presented at Mocksville's First Baptist Church, North Main Street, at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 8.

"It's a Christian musical contrasting the circumstances of Christ's birth and our way of looking at life," said Amelia Little, choreographer and drama director. Lewis Phillips and Barbara Basham are music directors.

The show features drama presentations along with the music, including seven songs.

"It's a wonderful opportunity for these kids to go out to different communities to share their witness in a unique way," Little said. "The church we're going to (Moore's Chapel) has very few youth, and they're trying to start a community group."

Members of the chorus have been practicing since August.

"This group is open to any young person in the community who believes in Jesus Christ and is in the sixth, seventh or eighth grade," Little said.

Libby Henderson, Martha Harris, Becky Little and Erin Grey rehearse for upcoming musical.

Will Someone Please Print This Message Around The World And Please Take It Around The World?

A NUMBER NO MAN CAN NUMBER...

FROM THE BEGINNING OF TIME ON EARTH TO NOW, HOW MANY PEOPLE HAVE LIVED?

No man can know how many people have lived on Earth or estimate the number from Adam to now.

All have lived from air we cannot see –
Air we breathe and cannot see or live without.
Why do some people question the one that made the Earth?
Because they can't see Jesus' spirit. Jesus' spirit and the air are two of the greatest things on Earth and neither can be seen.
We need help from the murders, rapes and heart-breaking, heart-sobbing violence. People have tried sin –
It doesn't work!
The precious one that died on the cross loves all of us.
He can help all who turn their head and heart to Jesus.
Jesus is the only help for the world.
Jesus has to be in our hearts to know.

People need to get saved,
have a good character and make something out of themselves.
Edgar B. Norman

Local Builders Attend Show

ADVANCE—David Miller, CGR, Allen Brewer and Rodney Miller, all employees of Miller Building & Remodeling Co. attended the 1996 Remodelers' Show, a national trade event that attracted 13,000 remodeling professionals to Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15-17.

This group took advantage of some of the 90 plus educational programs offered and spent many hours in the 110,000 square-foot exhibit hall where more than 375 companies displayed their products and services.

"Judging by the increase in attendance and the popularity of the education seminars, it is clear that remodelers want to educate themselves and their employees to improve their business skills and level of professionalism," said Bill Asdal, CGR, 1996 chairman of the NAHB Remodelers Council. The show is sponsored by NAHB and co-produced by the NAHB Remodelers Council and REMODELING magazine.

Miller Building & Remodeling Co. has been in business since 1980. Their employees include two administrative personnel and seven craftsmen. They specialize in full-service residential and light commercial interior and exterior remodeling including replacement windows, vinyl siding, kitchens, baths, sunrooms and more. Owner, David Miller, can be reached at (910) 998-2140 to discuss remodeling projects.

Spiritual Resources: Joy To The World

By Shirley Cottle

Joy to the world the Lord has come! What a wonderful season. Christmas is with us once again.

It is a wonderful season at our household too. Our granddaughter is two years old today. How swiftly the time has gone. She has filled our days with new surprises. She sings a good bit of her waking hours and is in constant motion. I have learned to slow down when I am with her so that I may observe the many wonders of the days and nights. I have also learned to run with her as we race 'with the wind' or play ring around the rosy. All she has to do is say "Come grandma," and nothing else matters.

This Holy Christmas season has opened yet another world of wonders as seen through her eyes. It's newness for her has allowed me to experience her excitement as well.

As I observe and participate in her learning, I wonder how it was in the family of Joseph, Mary, and our Savior Jesus Christ. We probably know the story of Jesus' birth as written in the gospel's of Matthew and Luke, quite well. We will hear it frequently at this time of year: His virgin birth, his place in the manger, the angels singing, the Magi, the shepherds kneeling before him. I can imagine the joy of Mary and Joseph as they too were caught up in the newness. The gospel's give a beautiful description. Birth is a wondrous thing, even in the midst of harsh conditions. As we read farther however, we find that part of the story of the young life of Jesus involves a hasty flight into Egypt for his safety.

How safe my granddaughter is, at least as is humanly possible. Her parents have not had to make a 'hasty flight' to protect her. But many are not so fortunate: the family caught in estrangement, the family caught in violence and abuse, the illegal immigrant.

Joseph and Mary made haste in their flight with Jesus to Egypt. They listened to an angel of the Lord and did not delay.

We too need to make haste and listen to the voice of god. As we enter this Christmas Season and the celebration of the birth of our Lord, we need to be ready to help those children who need to 'take flight' from situations of danger. We need to listen and make haste that they too may experience the newness and joy of growing and learning, to sing songs and move forward unafraid.

Joy to the world our Lord has come! Let us listen carefully to His voice and be obedient to His call, that all children may experience this wondrous time of celebration.

Recipes Add Flavor To Season

By Babs Wilkinson
N.C. Dept. of Agriculture

One of the most cherished times of the year is this coming season when our homes are decorated for the holidays and the scent of evergreens mingles with tantalizing aromas from the kitchen. For most of us, as we gather with friends and family, it means bring out our treasured recipes that we make only once a year to share with those near and far.

In my family that includes Grandma Lula's Pork Cake, Aunt Nora's Persimmon Cookies, Aunt Katherine's Seafoam Candy, and Mom's Fudge, and Cornbread Stuffing.

Regardless of what family favorites you enjoy, why not say "Merry Christmas" with your food gifts packaged in plastic or glass containers, baskets, or festively wrapped boxes. Picnic baskets, hat boxes, and decorative tins are large enough to hold several items and also have practical uses after the food is gone.

Proper storage is important to remember as you package your food for gift giving. Foods that require refrigeration should not be packed too far in advance or left out under the Christmas tree. To be sure each item receives proper care, it's a good idea to include a note with each gift detailing special instructions for storage.

For some favorites that are sure to become treasured recipes in your recipe box that are great to enjoy as well as share try some of the following.

Quick & Tasty Vegetable Dip

2 cups sour cream
1/2 cup meat (chicken, turkey, ham)
1 package of vegetable soup mix

Mix well and decorate with chopped nuts, paprika, and/or parsley.

Chocolate Coated Peanuts

1 pkg. (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate
2-1/2 cups roasted shelled Virginia type peanuts, skins on

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Add peanuts and stir to coat. Turn out on waxed paper, separate with a fork. Allow to cool.

Easy Meatballs

1 pound hamburger
1 package Lipton soup mix
3/4 cup evaporated milk

Spoon into balls using a tablespoon measure. Place on baking pan and cook at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Sauce:

1 cup ketchup
1 cup brown sugar

Mix together and heat.

Moist Sweet Potato Bread

2/3 cup shortening
2-2/3 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups cooked, sweet potatoes
2/3 cup water
3-1/3 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoons soda
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
2/3 cups pecans
2/3 cups raisins

Combine flour, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves; add to creamed mixture, mixing well. Fold in pecans and raisins. Spoon into 2 well-greased and floured 9x5x3 inch loaf pans; bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes or until bread tests done.

Honey Butter

1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup honey

A Time For Giving

Area Groups Strive To Help Needy

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Christmas is the time of giving.

And the people of Davie County are doing their fair share for the area's needy children and their families.

In addition to its regular food and clothing offerings for the needy, A Storehouse for Jesus has found sponsors for 126 needy children and 18 adults and is still seeking sponsors for 16 children.

A child's sponsor is provided with basic information, including sizes and clothing items needed and the toys the child most desires.

This is the same kind of information that Angel Tree sponsors receive.

This year's angel tree contains more than 300 names which were distributed to sponsors through area churches, businesses and the Mocksville Town Hall.

There are still 16 bells from the tree available at Town Hall. These are needy adults – many elderly.

The Mocksville-Davie Jaycees will also be helping needy children through their annual Christmas Cheer project.

Jaycees and other volunteers will be taking more than 40 needy children shopping at Wal-Mart Dec. 14.

Each child receives $100 – half to be spent on clothes and other needed items and the rest for toys. Each child is accompanied by an adult.

Local businesses provide breakfast and snacks for the children, and Santa Claus always makes a special visit before the shopping begins.

This project is made possible through donations from businesses, individuals and organizations and funds raised at the Jaycees' haunted trail at Rich Park.

"It is important to give everyone an opportunity to contribute," according to Glynn Bell, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Members and friends of the Holy Cross congregation are participating in "A Sharing Tree" through which they donate hats, gloves, mittens, scarves, underwear and socks to be distributed by the Christian Network for the Needy.

"We had a good response last year and hope for an even better response this year," Bell said.

This gives individuals an opportunity to contribute as much or as little as their situations permit, she said.

To find out about contributing to A Storehouse for Jesus, one should call 634-1060. To help the Jaycees with Christmas Cheer, call 634-0629.

For information about "A Sharing Tree", call 634-5419 or 634-7256.

The Davie County Department of Social Services has worked in cooperation with area organizations this year in an effort to see that all needy families are helped, with as little duplication as possible.

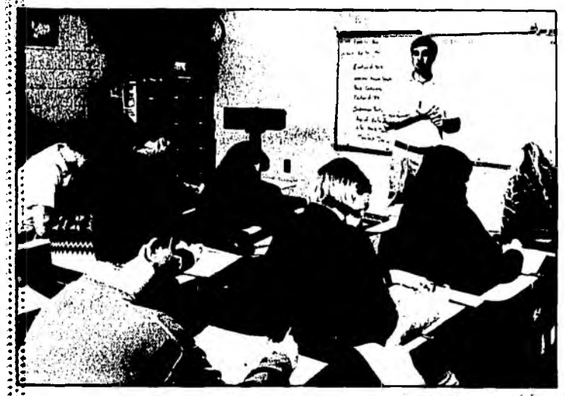
Since coming to Davie High School six years ago, Cary Powers has taught "just about everything".



Davie County Teacher of the Year Cary Powers is good at what he does in part thanks to his philosophy on teaching: "If you respect your students, they'll respect you."

One Good Teacher

Cary Powers Recognized As Davie County Teacher Of Year

By Morgan Harper
Davie County Enterprise Record

There are always lessons to be learned, but what makes some of them the most memorable is the way in which they are taught.

In short, a good student excels with a good teacher. And Davie High's Cary Powers is one good teacher.

"There's something about when you see that light come on," Powers said.

Powers is Davie County's Teacher of the Year, an honor his family has received in two generations. His mother, an elementary school teacher in Asheboro, received the award in the early 1980s.

Each school faculty votes on one teacher to represent their school, then they go through an interview process and write essays to narrow the competition, and a selection committee makes the final decision.

"I am honored to represent the teachers in this county," said Powers. "We have good teachers at all levels, and (the selection committee) had to make a tough decision."

This year, Powers is teaching AP U.S. history and U.S. government, but he has taught "just about everything," he said since coming to Davie six years ago. He has taught geography, world history, U.S. history and current events along with several other courses. "We've got a fairly large selection," Powers said of his department.

He came to Davie County after teaching at a U.S. Army school in Arizona for one and a half years. He has coached several sports. He has two young children. He and his wife, an English teacher at R.J. Reynolds High School, are planning to move to Davie County with their daughter and son next year.

But one thing that remains consistent is his method of teaching.

"If you respect your students, they'll respect you," said Powers. "They're smart, they know why you're here."

Kids today face different obstacles than kids in the past have faced, "but kids are kids," said Powers. "High school is the time to test the limits of authority. They have to deal with more things than we dealt with, and we have to take that in to consideration.

"Teachers should understand what's going on outside the classroom," Powers said.

He remembers his fifth grade teacher as one of his biggest influences. "She

Powers is the second member of his family to receive this honor. His mother, a teacher in Asheboro, earned the award from her own county in the early 1980s.

Davie Residents Participate In HeartWalk

The event featured a 1 mile fun walk and a 5 mile walk.

The American HeartWalk is a national event sponsored by Healthy Choice Foods and, locally by the Healthy Carolinians of Davie County, held in communities across the country during several weeks in October and November.

The non-competitive, just-for-fun event drew participants of all ages. The walkers raised money for cardiovascular research by asking friends and co-workers for contributions for walking the course. A record $3,440 was raised by 10 teams representing schools, industry and the Town of Mocksville.

The top three teams were: Town of Mocksville-$804.50; South Davie Middle School-$690.40; and North Davie Middle School-$550.88.

Cardiovascular diseases, including stroke, are America's No. 1 killer. They affect people in their 30s, 40s and 50s-often their most productive years. And children aren't excluded from cardiovascular diseases, either. There are only two ways to fight them: finding the cure through research and preventing them in the first place.

The State of North Carolina has an average death ruge of 42 percent from cardiovascular diseases and stroke--Davie County has an average of 41 percent.

"Thank you to all of the volunteers and walkers who participated in the 1996 Healthy Choice American HeartWalk," said event co-chair, Mike Garner.

Mocksville Middle School's team proves they have heart.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) -- A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Davie High Teacher Honored As County's Best

was very nurturing," he said, "and she was interested in what we did away from school, in us as individuals."

A way Powers has kept in contact with students outside of the classroom is his involvement with Davie athletics. He began coaching football and men's track, then three years ago he brought the school's cross country program back from hibernation.

"Mr. Potts let me out of football to coach cross country," he said, "and within the last three years we've had a great deal of success." Three of the team's runners and Powers traveled to the 4-A state championships in Charlotte Nov. 15. Powers will not be coaching the team next year. "I feel I've gone as far as I can with the cross country team."

Powers credits changes in the teaching environment to overall improvements he's seen at Davie High. "The physical environment has been improved with the addition of new facilities," he said. "There have also been three different principals with three different leadership styles that all had their strengths.

"We have good relations between the administration and the faculty, and that has caused better relations between the faculty and students," said Powers. "We've been working together to do what's best for the kids. I've seen that county-wide."

Powers also believes Davie County needs to work hard to keep young teachers. "In the last two or three years we have seen a lot of transitions around here, and we had and have an excellent faculty.

"Like most teachers, given the right atmosphere and the right encouragement, all kids can learn up to their potential," he said.

The key is finding ways to challenge them, said Powers. "Learning can be fun and exciting, and I think we're doing that in Davie County."

Of Powers, U.S. government student Holly Ramsey said, "He makes it very interesting. It's not the same thing as other classes." She talked about a favorite story of the students that Powers tells of a cross- country drive with a friend. "All of his classes know of the story, and it's expected to be heard every year. It's one of the things that makes him different."

Senior Derek Johnson took AP U.S. History under Powers last year, and said, "His approach is better than most. He teaches a lesson but makes it fun to be in class."

Johnson said that some teachers give work. "He works through examples. He talks to the students like they're people, not like they're little kids."

Principal Linda Bost calls Powers an "excellent" teacher. "He is unassuming in his manner, but the students clamor to get in his classes. He has high expectations for his students, and helps them meet them," she said. "He goes the extra mile."

"I enjoy seeing kids succeed," said Powers. "When they get excited, you get excited."

What would Cary Powers, who between teaching, coaching and home, has a "full plate," tell others who were interested in teaching?

"It's hard work, it's long hours, but it's a very rewarding job. It's different every day, and every year you get a fresh start.

"If you enjoy people and want to make a difference, teaching is an excellent way."

Powers explains a concept to students in one of his classes.

Resident Efforts Against Duke Power Ending

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Efforts to get Duke Power to accept responsibility for a power surge on Mother's Day that cost Davie residents and their insurance companies thousands of dollars to replace destroyed appliances are drawing to a close.

Representatives from Duke Power met with Mocksville residents in July to discuss the power surge, which was caused when a tree limb fell across a power line near the Duke Street substation.

After that meeting residents voted to send a petition to the State Utilities Commission requesting an investigation.

According to the group's representative, Kevin Long, Duke Power has made a motion for the Utilities Commission to dismiss the case against the power company.

In its response, Duke Power denies allegations that non-removal or lack of trimming could have caused the damages suffered by Mocksville residents.

The company also denies any equipment problems that could have contributed to the power surge or degree of damage.

After receiving a six month extension to review Duke Power's response and seek additional evidence, Long said the group must decide whether to accept Duke Power's response or request a formal hearing by the Utilities Commission.

Long said he has discussed the situation with attorney Wade Leonard, who was a victim of the power surge, and Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley, and all agree that the residents have come as far as they can go.

"It's the little guys against the big guys with big bucks," Long said.

He said he is unhappy with Duke Power's response but has decided not to pursue the effort any further unless a large percentage of the residents want to have the hearing and are willing to travel to Raleigh to go before the Utilities Commission.

Long asks that anyone with input about what the group should do should contact him as soon as possible at 634-2132.

Davie Teen Convicted Of Shooting His Father

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Davie County teen-ager will spend six months in prison for shooting his father.

Sanford Brent Jones Jr., 16, pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury last week in Davie County Superior Court.

Jones admitted to shooting his 42-year-old father with a .22 rifle outside their home after an argument June 19.

The argument had apparently started when his father asked him why he had not cleaned the house or brought the newspaper inside. His father struck him with a baseball bat and told him to get out of his house, according to Assistant District Attorney Gwenda Priest.

His father offered to drive him to Mocksville, but the defendant said he was going to a friend's house, she said.

Jones later returned to his father's house with a rifle, shooting his father once in the back after arguing again on the porch, she said.

It took his father a long time to recover from the injury, but he is doing well now, Priest said.

He does not want his son to go to prison, she said.

"It's a horrible situation," said Jones' attorney Rob Raisbeck.

His client said he shot his father in the side rather than the back after warning him not to come any closer, Raisbeck said.

Just 15 at the time of the shooting, he said Jones has grown up quickly, spending the last five months in a Wilkes County youth home.

His parents are concerned about the incident and about the well-being of their son and his two siblings still in the home, he said.

"They don't want to see their son go to prison," he said.

They do not feel it would be appropriate for him to return to the home, but he has an aunt and a grandmother, who are willing to take him in if he is allowed back into society, Raisbeck said.

"Nobody knows what to do when a 15 or 16 year old boy does something like this," said Judge Lester P. Martin.

He sentenced Jones to 25 to 39 months in prison but suspended that sentence for three years with the exception of six months.

He will be placed on intensive probation upon completion of his six-month prison term.

Martin ordered him to complete the IMPACT program, pay $500 attorney fee and $152 court costs.

County Briefs

Chairman NCACC Voting Delegate

Davie County Commission Chairman Larry Hayes was elected by fellow board members as Davie's voting delegate to the N.C. Association of County Commissioners legislative goals conference Jan. 9-10 at Research Triangle Park.

Phone System For Sheriff's Dept.

A $10,800 telephone system has been installed at the Davie sheriff's department.

The county wanted to wait until the new jail was built to upgrade the system, but the old telephone system "crashed," according to county finance director Jim Stockert. Nearly $5,800 of the costs were paid for by the sale of an old car and an insurance settlement for damage to a car. The sheriff will delay purchasing a vehicle, Stockert said.

Furniture, Equipment Bids Approved

County commissioners approved nearly $20,000 worth of bids for furniture and equipment - all going to the low bidders in different categories.

Shooting Range Under Fire: It's The Only Place For Officers To Practice

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Residents of Garden Valley want the firing range at the VFW hut on Sanford Avenue closed.

About 70 members of the community signed a petition urging Davie County and the town of Mocksville to close the facility, claiming stray bullets, lack of sound barriers and lead contamination of soil poses a threat to their safety and lowers the value of their property.

"When the shooting starts, it sounds like an army attack," said John Barnette, who presented the petition to the Mocksville Town Board of Commissioners Dec. 3.

People have experienced things in their houses rattling when the firing range is in use, he said.

The problem is that firing range is the only official firearms training site for law enforcement officers in Davie County, and officers must qualify periodically in order to carry firearms, Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley said.

The town had planned to build a firing range and a training ground for fire fighters near Davidson County Community College's Davie campus. But the company that owns the land is not willing to sell, he said.

Mocksville officers have been using a firing range in Lexington for training, but, when Police Chief Richard Sink was unable to schedule a time to use that facility, Bralley said he told the chief to use the Sanford Road facility.

He apologized for authorizing Sink to use the firing range after promising that the town's officers would train elsewhere.

But, without qualifying in firearms, officers can't legally carry their weapons, he explained.

That means qualifying during the day and at night, according to Sheriff Allen Whitaker.

Whitaker's officers had been scheduled to use the firing range for training three days this week.

After talking to Barnette, he agreed to make arrangements to use a facility outside the county.

Hillsdale Rezoning Decision Monday

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

They've had plenty of time to think about it. They've received plenty of telephone calls, and more than enough suggestions and information.

Now it's time for county commissioners to make the decisions that many say will not only shape the future of eastern Davie County - but the entire county as well.

In two separate requests, developers are asking that 553 acres be rezoned for special uses, including business and high-density residential areas.

Commissioners asked staff to get reports on how the developments would affect services such as schools and police protection.

County Manager Ken Windley said it's difficult to come up with specific numbers for those requests.

Davie Sheriff Allen Whitaker told Windley he would likely need more officers regardless, because of other growth in the area.

A survey of the new Oak Valley development, which county planners estimate will have similar residents (lifestyle, income) as the proposed developments - revealed they had an average of 1.3 school age children per household.

If developed as currently zoned, as many as 1,900 residential units could be built on the land proposed for rezoning, Windley said. If the developer's requests are granted, 1,200 units would be built.

Windley said that is the basic information he provided commissioners to make their decision.

The developers are asking for variances in the county zoning ordinances, making for smaller

What Christmas Is All About
In Advance, It's Fun, Helping Others And, Of Course, The Annual Parade

ADVANCE - What is Christmas all about?

Just ask the folks in Advance. They know.

And while Saturday's parade is designed as a fun event for everyone, the groups putting on that parade got together years earlier for a different reason.

"No words can describe the rest of this story ..... but Santa had tears in his eyes when he returned from this trip."
- Linda Carter

They wanted to help their neighbors.

Four years ago, two young families were facing tragedy. One had lost a husband and father, the other a wife and mother to cancer.

"This small community got together with the Advance Fire Department and Santa Claus and started What Christmas Is All About," said Linda Carter. "Christmas Eve, after collecting money and gifts, Santa in a fire truck visited these two families.

"No words can describe the rest of the story, but Santa had tears in his eyes when he returned from this trip.

"On Christmas Eve, if you look, you can see Santa delivering good cheer in the fire truck behind a convoy of cars led by Danny and Judy Chandler of the Davie County Sheriff's Department," Carter said.

But why the parade?

Radio personality "Aunt Eloise" of WTQR decided to play a joke on Advance, saying the community was having a parade beginning at the post office and ending at L&S Grocery, operated by Carter. The two are next door to each other.

That was three weeks before Christmas, and Carter began receiving calls of people wanting to be in the parade.

"You can't joke with Advance and not expect something to come of it," she said.

Carter and Shirley Markland of Advance Florist talked about having a parade and connecting it with "What Christmas Is All About".

It worked.

Dec. 16, 1995, dawned cold and rainy. But before the morning was over, 175 units had participated in the first-ever Christmas parade in Advance.

Elvis was the grand marshal. The permit came from New York City.

"We had some of the most original ideas that have ever been in a parade," Carter said. "The happy laughter was worth all the hard work everyone put in."

The parade, she said, is dedicated to Aunt Eloise Cotton of WTQR and in honor of Brittany and Ashley Cope.

The group hopes to top last year's effort with the 1996 parade, which will begin at 10 a.m. on Cornatzer Road at the elementary school, travel down Hwy. 801

Tri-County Moving To Site At Davie County Hospital

Tri-County Mental Health may move into a wing at Davie County Hospital as early as next spring.

Currently housed in the Brock Building, Tri-County would occupy 2,400 square feet of the hospital.

The agency will have a separate entrance, so it will not interfere with other hospital operations, said County Manager Ken Windley.

The hospital's intensive care units will be moved to an area closer to the emergency room.

Carolina Medicorp will pay half the cost of renovations at the hospital. Tri-County will pay $10,000 and Davie County will pay the remainder, not to exceed $15,000, county commissioners decided on Dec. 2.

"It's not an expansion of services," said Commissioner Diane Foster, also a member of the Tri-County board. "They would be re-hiring vacant positions."

County Manager Ken Windley said the county should recoup the costs within two years by rent charged to Tri-County. Currently, the agency doesn't pay for the space it uses at the Brock Building.

"We're the only county that has never charged them rent," Foster said.

The renovations should take from two to three months to complete, Windley said.

Bundle Of Joy Shines Brighter As He Turns 6

He was born that way.

Six years later, he still has it. He runs. He sings. He laughs.

There is a personality emerging with it. Is he stubborn, or just very determined? Is he fearless, or just reckless when he tries to go toe-to-toe with his brother, 10 years older?

Robert's birthday is this week.

Babies are called bundles of joy. He has been that all his life. It has been infectious. Neighbors and friends over the years have been eager to borrow Robert for an afternoon. They seemed to need a dose of his joy.

Many times, adults get too serious about themselves. About events around them. They lose their ability to laugh and play and enjoy living. Robert has kept me from doing that.

He has introduced me to the sibling rivalry concept.

His older brother plays baseball. In T-ball last summer, Robert doggedly played in the dirt, avoiding becoming too involved. Robert has carefully carved out his own interests, and they seem to be headed in very different directions from his brother's.

I may not be able to renew my baseball coaching career. Robert may be a swimmer, instead.

That poses a dilemma. How can I prepare him for life without exposing him to the craziness of Little League baseball? How will he be able to cope in the work world as an adult without having the experience of cut-throat coaches, screaming parents and blind referees?

Life isn't fair, and Little League is the best way to teach that.

A father has a responsibility.

But this dad has taken care of his son in a more important way. I have found him a mom. No, a mommy.

I had thought a Super Dad would be able to bridge the gap in his life after Mary died. It was a silly thought, perhaps. But I tried. I tried to do everything with him and for him that both a father and mother would do. I made cookies, but they weren't very good. I went to day care programs, but other kids had mothers there.

He is a bundle of joy, but he has never been happier than when I told him he would have a new mommy. He hugged me and cheered. At the wedding, he jumped up and down when Lillian walked down the aisle with her father. At a little girl's birthday party just after the wedding, he loudly called Lillian "Mommy" for the first time. All the children had to hear. He kissed her good-bye four times.

He reads books with her, too.

He hugs her during prayers at night.

And she makes cookies ... that are good.

She has loved me. She has loved the boys. Our boys. Life at our house for the past three months has been a study in human chemistry. And it has been amazing to watch the joy in a very happy little boy grow brighter. To grow fuller. And complete again.

Show Home Raises Money For Habitat

To the editor:

Davie County was privileged to have a Southern Living Show Home in the Oak Valley Development near Advance. This home was open to the public for nine weeks from the middle of September through the middle of November. During this period of time, over 8,000 people toured the home. Each person paid $2 admission a portion of which will go to Habitat for Humanity of Davie County and the Junior League of Winston-Salem. Both of these organizations provided volunteers to monitor visitors as they toured the home. It was my responsibility to recruit volunteers for Habitat. Now that it is over, I want to express my sincere appreciation to the 225 people who donated their time and talents to help with this effort. I am especially grateful to Carol Quinn, Mike Hendrix, Barbara Basham, Sandra Jones, Diane Crotts, Neal Smith, Telesia Grant, Lee Barber, Esther Wall, and Karen Smith for their help with recruitment.

I am also grateful to several organizations which furnished many of the volunteers including the Bermuda Run Garden Club, Mocksville Civitan Club, First Methodist Church, Macedonia Moravian Church, Concord United Methodist Church, First Baptist Church of Mocksville, St. John's Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, and the Jericho Church of Christ. Without the support of these organizations, my job would have been more difficult.

Finally, I would be remiss if I did not express my appreciation to the builders of the show home, Barry and Sybil Sidden, Lewisville, who made it possible for Habitat to participate in this effort as a fund-raiser. It was a good experience working with these people and I appreciate their patience and understanding when things did not always go as planned.

On behalf of the board of directors of Habitat, we appreciate all those who volunteered and all of those who simply toured the home and contributed to the cause through their donations. It is this kind of volunteer spirit, among other things, that makes Davie County a wonderful place in which to live.

Davie Volunteers Raise $3,440 For American Heart Association

To the editor:

On behalf of the American Heart Association and the Healthy Carolinians of Davie County, we would like to thank all of the volunteers and walkers who participated in the 1996 Healthy Choice American Heart Walk. This first time event raised $3,440 to fight cardiovascular diseases and stroke--our number one killer.

The following teams participated:

Town of Mocksville, $804.50; South Davie Middle School, $690.40; North Davie Middle School, $550.88; Mocksville Middle School, $366.13; Thomson Crown Wood, $371; BB&T, $215; Pinebrook Elementary, $150; Wal-Mart, $110; Davie County Schools, $100; Shady Grove, $57; and miscellaneous donations, $25.

Many thanks to all of the people in the community who may have sponsored a walker. In addition, we would like to thank the committee members and companies that donated refreshments, including: Janice Jackson, Davie County Parks and Recreation Department, Becky Miller, Dub Potts, Carol Spry, Christine Jackson, Kim Shuskey, and Michele Shaver.

Program Was Success

To the editor:

To all the merchants who allowed Mt. Olive United Methodist Church to place fliers in their place of business. These fliers promoted Mt. Olive's Thanksgiving Service and their program "Christmas Clearinghouse." Both were successful. Many bags of clothes and other articles will be taken to Crossnore Children's School, located in the mountains. In addition, several boxes and bags filled with a wide variety of food was sent to the Yadkin Christian Food Ministries. Again thank you. Your help made this event a great success. God bless you.

The Reason We Celebrate Christmas Is Proof Of Miracles

Jeanne Houpe

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas.

Everywhere I go I see lights, garlands and bows welcoming the season. Jingle bells and familiar songs ring out from the radio and TV. It's time for sweaters, jackets, fuzzy slippers and heavy blankets. It even smells like Christmas – pine trees, holly berries, peppermint and gingerbread.

Long before Thanksgiving has arrived I have already started looking forward to the turkey, the hot chocolate and the TV Christmas specials. It's the most wonderful time of the year.

That's why there's one thing about Christmas that I don't understand: people who spend the whole season complaining.

We've all heard them. They have too many gifts to buy, and the mall is too crowded. They can't find a parking space within a mile of the store and hate walking past the people collecting money for charities.

They don't know what to give anyone on their lists and don't have enough money to spend even if they knew. They are tired of hearing Christmas songs and think it's a waste of time to decorate.

They dread rushing from one family gathering to another and have nothing fit to wear to the company Christmas party. They're angry because they have to miss their favorite TV show so their children can watch their "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer" video one more time.

They won't give Ebenezer Scrooge a run for the money, though a visit from the Christmas spirit might be just what they need.

A touch of the Christmas spirit could have them searching for Christmas songs on the car radio and joining the neighborhood carolers. They might even end up hosting one of those dreaded family gatherings and renting more Christmas videos for the kids.

The joy of shopping for the people they love would outweigh the displeasure of battling the crowds at the mall. And they would want to stretch that little bit of money they have further to give to the less fortunate at Christmas.

It doesn't take a miracle to change someone's attitude. But, even if it did, the very reason we celebrate Christmas is proof that miracles happen.

Davie People Have Time To Care About Others

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to thank Phillip who lives on Underpass Road and helped me get gasoline and help of a police officer when my van run out of gas.

My van stalled at a busy section of Lewisville-Clemmons Road in Clemmons. It was about 5:30 p.m., dark and raining. I asked the driver of a truck in the nearby parking lot to help. Despite the rain, the driver, Phillip, called help in on a CB radio and took me to the closet gas station. He helped me get gas and poured it in the gas tank. By the time we got back from the gas station, there was a police patrol car flashing blue lights behind my van. There was another man who volunteered to keep an eye on my van until the police arrived.

It is people like Phillip that makes living a joy. This incident reminded me of a similar car problem I experienced 8 years ago in Southern California. When I was visiting my injured husband at a large hospital, my car's battery died and I couldn't start the engine. I asked several people to help me jump start the car. Several of them refused to help. Some might have said something like, "I am busy." It was at this time I decided to escape from Southern California some day. I thought I couldn't live in a place like this. A place where people did not care about others. A place where people were too busy to offer help to a stranger who needs help.

I am so glad we made this big move from Southern California to here in Davie County, or North Carolina in general. Life is still somewhat slow pace and people have the time and heart to care about others. There are a lot of problems in this world, or even in this area, but as long as there people like Phillip and those people who turned in $10,000 they found in the parking lot, life is not a bad thing to live.

Thank you again for all your help, Phillip.

Residents File Petition To Close Law Enforcement Shooting Range

Whitaker said he understands the residents' concerns.

"Anytime there is live fire, there is always danger," he said.

Despite the added difficulty with scheduling and making travel arrangements, he said is willing to work with the residents until a remedy for the problem can be found.

The problem is not just training sessions for town and county officers, Barnette said.

Since the police department used the range, he said he has heard shots fired and seen pickup trucks parked there several times.

That may be because every member of the Davie County Law Enforcement Association has access to the range, Sink said.

According to Mocksville's Firearms Training Officer Greg Bagshaw, a key may be signed out and returned by members of the association at any time.

At one point the firing range was not tightly controlled, but now it is, he said.

That is still not enough, according to Barnette, who was appearing before the board to make this request on behalf of Garden Valley for the second time in four years.

He said children in the neighborhood wanted to sign the petition because their parents won't allow them to play outside when the firing range is in use.

When he came before the board four years ago, Barnette said some officers had admitted that stray bullets had gone out of the range.

Shots are fired in the direction of Sanford Road and the group home located directly across the road. Group home residents are scared to death, Barnette said.

An earth berm, at least 25 feet tall, around the place where shots are fired makes it unlikely for any shots to escape, Bagshaw said. The range meets National Rifle Association safety requirements.

The range is probably less than 50 feet from the town limits and may already be in violation of town noise and zoning ordinances, he said.

But what alarms him most is the possibility lead contamination in the soil and water because there is nothing to catch the spent rounds, Barnette said.

Only law enforcement officers are allowed to fire lead bullets, Bralley said, because steel rounds would be more dangerous.

"Lead in the ground is something we don't want," he said.

No one that visits the site could not say that it is a bad situation whether it meets NRA standards or not, and moving is the only way to correct the situation, Bralley said.

But, in the meantime, he suggested having town attorney Hank Van Hoy and county attorney Bob Price investigate to see if there are any legal reasons for closing the firing range, which is not owned by the town or county.

In efforts to work with the residents, Whitaker asks that they understand that officers must be trained but said he is willing to entertain any suggestions that might help with the situation.

He said everyone was looking forward to having a new firing range at the community college.

"We were depending on that to happen, and obviously it is not going to," he said.

Hillsdale Rezoning Requests To Be Decided Monday Night

lot sizes for homes and less space between the homes. In return, more land would be left undeveloped.

Many of those opposed to the request say the problem is with the commercial and business zonings. There are hundreds of acres already zoned for such purposes in the Hillsdale area, and there is not need for hundreds of acres of more zones, they have told members of the planning board and county commissioners.

Although Monday's meeting is not a public hearing on this issue, commissioners had promised to make that decision at a night meeting so that residents could attend. More than 100, the majority opposing the rezoning requests, attended previous meetings.

Advance Parade Saturday

before turning onto Peoples Creek Road.

After the parade, an antique car and tractor show will be held at Advance Methodist Church, where craft and food booths will be set up.

The Advance Fire Department, parade sponsors this year, will sell parade souvenirs including caps, t-shirts, sweatshirts, and a video of last year's parade.

"Rules for the parade are very simple," said Ronnie Robertson. "No one is to throw candy from a moving vehicle. Candy may be given to clowns who will walk the parade route handing it out.

"Everyone should ride on a vehicle, except the band, ROTC, and marching units. Tractor-trailers are discouraged and allowed only with authorization of the parade committee.

"Last and most important, you must have fun," Robertson said.

It's not too late to take part in the festivities. Call 998-7347 if you want to enter.

Although parking is available in the area, car pooling is encouraged. Lots will be open at the fire department on Fire Station Road, at Advance Baptist Church on Hwy. 801, at the mill at Hwy. 801 and Feed Mill Road, across from L&S on Hwy. 801 and at the Advance Masonic Lodge on Hwy. 801.

Wonderful Things Can Happen When Both Baptist And Presbyterian Put Their Faith In You.

We've formed an alliance with Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte that will provide a level of healthcare unequalled in this area.

To put it mildly, we were flattered. Two of the largest and finest medical centers in the state, Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, wanted to form an alliance with us.

So, of course, we took them up on it.

And soon you'll be able to take advantage of shared services between all three medical centers. You'll have access to more specialists, greater technology, including high-tech heart surgery and cancer treatment, and more insurance options.

And when you add all that to the other great services we already have, it means you'll be able to get all the healthcare you need right here.

Which not only shows that wonderful things can happen when both Baptist and Presbyterian put their faith in you, it shows wonderful things can happen when you put your faith in Rowan Regional Medical Center.

County May Regulate Communication Towers

Those tall communication towers popping up along I-40 and other places could soon be regulated in Davie County.

County commissioners will conduct a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Monday on a proposed ordinance regulating the towers.

Among the proposed rules:

- towers will be permitted in areas zoned for industrial, shopping and business uses, and as special uses in residential and agricultural areas;
- the towers must meet national standards, and cannot have a sign or logo attached;
- each tower must be able to hold at least two users;
- an eight-foot fence must surround the tower;
- towers adjacent to agricultural and residential districts shall have minimum setbacks of 60 percent of the tower's height; those adjacent to non-agricultural and non-residential districts shall have minimum setbacks of 40 percent of the tower's height;
- towers proposed to be located within a two-mile radius of another tower shall require co-location on the other tower, if that isn't available, a special use permit would have to be obtained from the county board of adjustment;
- color must be light gray unless otherwise required by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), and lights must be those required by FAA, not aimed toward adjoining properties.

Before making their decision, county commissioners will hear from the public. For more information, contact the county planning and zoning department at 634-3340.

Cooleemee Briefs

Handicapped Improvements Required

Work is continuing, although slowly, on a Community Development Block Grant to improve Clark Road and Hickory Street neighborhoods.

Town commissioner Jack Jerome said a new rule on title searches is taking longer than expected, and financial information is being gathered on owners of houses expected to be refurbished. The right of way for water lines and paving of Clark Road has been laid out.

The town will likely have to spend some money to make town hall accessible to the handicapped. An American with Disabilities Act inspection found several problems, Jerome said, including: doorways too narrow, handicapped rails, and heights of the mirror and water in the rest room. "It's no major thing, just something we'll have to do," Jerome said, adding the town should have ample time to make the improvements without affecting the grant.

Sound System, FAX Machine Possible

Board member Bill Gibson is going to get price estimates on a sound system for town meetings, and on a FAX machine. The possible purchases are expected to be discussed a the board's meeting Dec. 17.

Bids Accepted For Town Hall Cleaning

Town board members decided to have town hall cleaned for $45, and then to accept bids on regular cleaning of the building.

Tennis Court Entrance To Be Paved

The board agreed to pay $450 to have the entrance from Marginal Street to the recreation center at the tennis court paved.

The cost will include paving from the street to the fence line, said Commissioner Jim Wishon.

Funerals Escorted When Requested

Mayor Jackie Morton asked if there was a policy on when police would escort funeral processions, saying some had received escorts while others had not.

Police Chief Tim Wooten said officers have escorted funerals each time a request has been made, and will continue with that policy. Bill Gibson, police commissioner, said if a funeral was missed, he apologized, and that he tried to be sure that every procession in Cooleemee had an escort.

Commissioner Lynn Rumley said she would include in the next town newsletter an item that requests for police escorts should be made.

Fire Safety For Holidays: Keep Tree Watered, Turn Off Lights At Bedtime

With the holidays upon us, the Davie County Fire Marshal's Office is offering some tips for fire safety.

"Keep your Christmas tree fresh," says Fire Marshal George Frye. "Make sure you keep it away from a heat source and keep it well-watered."

This is important whether the tree is cut or has a root ball. Natural cut trees used in public buildings and businesses must be treated with an approved fire retardant chemical.

Be sure electric light strings are in good condition. Check for cracked insulation or bare wires. Replace the lights if you have any doubts about their safety. Always use UL listed light sets.

If you have to use an extension cord, check to be sure it can carry the anticipated load and never run the cord under a rug or across a high traffic area.

Lights used outdoors should be listed for outdoor use. Lights should be taken down after the holidays. Leaving decorations up year-round can be a fire hazard. The sun and other weather conditions will degrade the insulation.

Always turn off the tree and other decorations before leaving the house or going to bed.

After the presents have been opened, dispose of the wrapping paper promptly and properly. Never burn wrapping paper in the fireplace or stove. The heat produced by the rapidly burning paper could damage the fireplace or stove and create a hazard and burning paper can also float out of the chimney and onto the roof and could ignite combustible materials. Always dispose of ashes and hot coals properly.

"And finally, here is a gift-giving suggestion: Give someone you love a smoke detector and fire extinguisher for Christmas. If they already have a smoke detector, give them a battery," Frye said. "Have a happy and fire-safe holiday."

Crescent EMC Issues Refunds To Local Customers

Member-consumers of Crescent EMC are receiving an early Christmas present. The local cooperative is returning over $1.6 million in cash refunds to 43,123 homes, businesses and industries served by Crescent EMC. The checks were mailed Dec. 3.

The cash refund represents the capital credits of the cooperative. Crescent EMC is a not-for-profit electric cooperative owned by those receiving electricity from it. As such, any money left over after the cooperative's cost of doing business is given back to their members-consumers. This would be the profits of an investor-owned corporation. In the case of a cooperative, these profits are called credits and belong to those served by the cooperative.

Crescent EMC uses this money for a period of time to retire debts and build equity. It is also used for emergencies such as storm damage. When financially able to do so, Crescent refunds the capital credits to their member-consumers.

Most member-consumers receiving electricity from Crescent EMC in 1995 and 1977 will receive a refund check. This blended method of returning capital credits allows newer member-consumers as well as long-time member-consumers to share in the benefits of belonging to and owning a cooperative. The amount of the refund check depends upon the length of time the member-consumer has received electricity from Crescent and the amounts of their monthly electric bills.

Only checks of $5 or more were written at this time. However, the money is not lost by the member-consumer, but remains in their capital credit account to be refunded at a later date.

During 1995, Crescent also refunded approximately $217,163 to estates of deceased member-consumers. These refunds are paid on a discounted basis upon application by the legal representative of the estate.

Crescent serves approximately 47,999 member-consumers in parts of Iredell, Alexander, Wilkes, Yadkin, Cabarrus, Catawba, Davie, Gaston, Rowan, Lincoln and Mecklenburg counties. Headquartered in Statesville, Crescent has district offices in Taylorsville, Cornelius, Mocksville, and Statesville.

Man Arrested On Drug Charges

A Mocksville man was arrested Friday night after officers found 4.5 grams of marijuana in his home.

David Thomas Hall, 21, of 450 Sanford Ave., was charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

According to Detective K.L. Hunter of the Mocksville Police Department, officers had obtained a search warrant to search Hall's house based on complaints that drugs were being sold from the home.

His roommate, Wesley Allen Couch, was also charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Charges are pending against two other people who were visiting at the time of the search.

Hall is scheduled to appear in Davie County District Court on these charges Jan. 9.

Mocksville Annexes Land

Property Annexed

After holding a public hearing at which no comments were made, the board voted unanimously to annex property located off U.S. Hwy. 601 as requested by property owners.

Included in the annexation are Horn's Truck Stop, Marlo Corporation, Fidelity Company and Junker & Sons Featherlite Trailers along I-40.

The annexation will be effective Jan. 1.

Contract Established With Auditor

The board voted unanimously to approve a three year contract with Eddie Carrick of Daniel, Taylor, Carrick and Company of Lexington at a price not to exceed $9,500 per year.

Improvements Made At Park

A new roof and shingles were installed on the old concession stand at the softball field, which is now being used for storage. New shingles were also put on at Shelter One. The work was done by community service workers, according to Parks Director Bill Wiseman.

A new large grill was installed at Shelter Two to better accommodate groups who use the shelter, he said.

New Officer Hired

Kramp's father was a career police officer, Sink said.

Town In Good Financial Situation

He said that 35 percent of revenues for this year's general fund budget have been collected. Expenditures from that budget are also at 35 percent.

Last year at this time 43 percent of the utilities fund had been collected. This year is slightly better at 45 percent, Slate said.

The big difference is that only 37 percent of the utilities fund budget has been spent as opposed to 52 percent at this time last year. That's because there have been no major projects this year, he explained.

Mocksville Moves Into New Age

Greg Bagshaw presented several of Mocksville's Internet pages to the board near the end of the meeting.

Among those are special pages designed for the holiday season.

He said Mocksville is as up-to-date with its Internet pages as many larger cities and has managed this without spending a lot of money.

Town Manager Terry Bralley said that Davie County will be able to promote its industrial sites on the Internet.

DHS Wrestlers Run Over Opponents In Davie Duals

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

It only seemed that five schools were run over by a tank Saturday. It was really Davie County's wrestling team.

The War Eagles broke loose in the sixth annual Davie Duals Tournament, flattening Northwest Cabarrus, Morganton Freedom, South Mecklenburg, North Rowan and Salisbury with a fatality rate of 338-34.

The War Eagles were shocked by Alleghany four days earlier.

"We just had more practice, three or four days of nothing to worry about except getting better," Coach Buddy Lowery said. "Since day one, I think we've gotten 100 percent better.

"We're getting better on our feet but we're still not controlling the hands, but if we did everything right, I wouldn't have a job. We're still in a learning process. We've got a bunch of young kids that are trying to get better."

In picking up five more wins, Adam Connor, the most valuable wrestler in the King of the Mat, and Jon Mauney improved their records to 9-0 on the season, while Tim Ijames and Brian Murphy upped their marks to 8-2.

Adam Bailey, a 103-pounder who sat out Saturday with an injury, is still one of three War Eagles unbeaten on the year, 5-0.

Davie will attempt to regain supremacy at Statesville High in the Greyhound Classic Saturday, after slipping to second last year for the first time in five years.

East Davidson, which ended Davie's run in the Greyhound Classic and rallied to end Davie's 12-year winning streak in the King of the Mat, will be on hand. "I'm not worried about revenge against East Davidson," Lowery said. "If we wrestle as well as we can, everything will take care of itself. Yes, I hope we win but I hope we act like we've got some brains, too. I'm worried about how we act if we win."

The War Eagles (6-1) are making strides despite the loss to 1-A Alleghany. "I'm not disappointed," Lowery said. "We've gotten better every day. As long as we have that kind of attitude every day, I can live with that.

"I feel good at this point. All the young ones are going to improve. The seniors are supposed (to win). They're giving us real good leadership. We'll get better today."

• The following are the records heading into Thursday's home match against North Iredell: Pete Tunis, 6-1; C.J. Johnson, 7-2; Jeremy Sink, 7-3; Jamey Holt, 7-3; J.J. Rice, 7-3; Jake Marion, 4-1; Brad Pack, 4-1; Zeb Carter, 5-3; and Nick Summers, 3-3.

Alleghany Stuns Davie

The stunning loss at Alleghany, 40-22, Tuesday (Dec. 3) served as a wake-up call for the War Eagles, who responded by running over everybody in site in the Davie Duals.

"Again, I don't like to get beat but it opened some eyes, but we didn't get beat by a bunch of fish, either," Lowery said. "They were second in the state in 1-A/2-A last year and had five returners who were in the top-4 of the state.

"They had everybody back, kind of like we were a couple of years ago."

Tigers' Clawing Falls Short Against J.N. Fries

Coming off a 1-11 year as seventh graders, South Davie was in position to match last year's total in one try.

The Tigers clawed back into contention with a steal in the closing seconds to set up one last shot Tuesday (Dec, 3) at J.N. Fries.

He got just that, but Chris Seaford's open three bounded off the back iron, leaving the Tigers with a 48-45 loss. A couple of days later, potent North Rowan found its groove in the second half and sailed to a 49-26 win at South.

"All year, we've got to make free throws and control the basketball, things we didn't do in the first two games," Whitlock said. "We don't have the athleies to turn the ball over."

Another steal set up Seaford's 3-point try. "I called timeout to set up the play," Whitlock explained. "We wanted to take a 3-pointer because we had no timeouts left. Seaford had a good look, it just hit the back of the rim.

The Tigers led by six at halftime before being outscored 18-9 in the third quarter They were paced by Nicholas Propst's 20 points. Eight points from Rod Tenor, six from Mikey Arnold, four from Benial Davis and Scottie Crump and three from Seaford rounded out the South scoring.

North Too Talented

South stayed within striking distance for a half, down 23-18, but the Mavericks, conference champs at 13-0 a year ago, blew the doors wide open with a 26-8 second-half surge.

Their pressure defense rattled the erratic Tigers.

The Tigers missed 16 of 25 free throws, five of which were front end of one and ones.

Propst was the high man again with 11 points. Davis and Crump added four each, Tenor and Arnold had three apiece and Jeremy Hardin had one.

• The remainder of the eighth-grade roster is: Matthew Johnson, Cory Dulin, Bill Horan, Mike White and Derrick Dewalt.

Worth Noting ...

Tommy Head, South Davie's 145-pounder, pinned a North Rowan wrestler in six seconds, helping the Tigers to a 75-12 win.

North Davie wrestlers Rich Hunter and Chris Nichols, with the Wildcats backed in the corner, had consecutive pins to lift North to a 43-39 win over Lexington, the same team that snapped North's 49-match winning streak.

Kyle Kelley of Davie's JV basketball team had 14 points, 12 in the second half, as the Cougars rallied to beat Mount Tabor 31-29.

Adam Connor and Jon Mauney, varsity wrestlers at Davie, each rolled to 9-0 on the year as the War Eagles won the Davie Duals Tournament.

Davie swimmers Ryan Powell and Brad Clark, members of the victorious relay medley, each won two individual events as well.

Shelby Michael scored nine of her 10 points in the second half to lead South Davie to a 30-25 win over J.N. Fries.

JV Coach Wants More

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

As far as Davie JV coach Brian Cantrell is concerned, there's no mercury in the barometer.

The War Eagles, 3-0 after two wins last week, are far from satisfying the coach's hunger.

"We're not playing good," Cantrell said after his boys rallied past Statesville 73-61 and rolled over West Rowan here Friday, 73-61. "I don't know if I'm being too hard, we're not playing good. I think West has some good talent, but for some reason, we wait until the third quarter. When we get in the conference, we can't wait until the second half or we won't be in too many ballgames."

Greg Lanier, Eric Kofke and James Blakley, three returners, are keeping the War Eagles afloat, Cantrell said.

Kofke, a sophomore swingman, scored 14 points, came up with 12 steals and dished out six assists in two games. Along with 11 points, Blakley grabbed 12 rebounds and picked up seven steals, and Lanier found his shooting touch for 10 points, including a pair of 3-pointers, in Friday's win.

"The last two games, they've really stepped up," Cantrell said. "The leaders have carried us, along with Kenny Collins off the bench (eight assists, five steals in two games)."

Eleven players scored in each win.

"Now that some have been with me over a month, if they don't rebound and play defense, they're going to sit down quicker. They've been around long enough, if they don't rebound and block out, they found out against West Rowan that they'll sit down."

John Orsillo led a balanced attack in the 12-point win over West Rowan with 14 points – when the War Eagles opened up a tied game at the half by outscoring the Falcons by six points in the third quarter and 30-22 in the final period.

Shawn Brooks (11 points on 4-of-4 shooting) and Lanier (10 points) were the other War Eagles in double figures.

Trent Howell and Kofke added eight points a piece, Blakley had seven, Collins and Larry Umberger had five and Zach Manning, Duane Phillips and Kenny White had two each.

Davie missed 17 of 35 free throws.

In the win over Statesville, Orsillo was the lone double-figure scorer with 12 points, while Collins added eight and Kofke and Umberger chipped in with six each.

Howell, Blakley and Lanier had four each, while Manning (three), Phillips (two), Brooks (two) and Chad McBride (one) added more scoring.

A Good Start: Davie High Swim Team Finishes Second In First Meet

Even with Mike Heiny, the Central Piedmont Conference's swimmer of the year, swimming in the regionals in Texas, Davie's boys made a strong showing in their first meet of the year, finishing second to Mt. Tabor Thursday at Winston-Salem State University.

The War Eagle girls also finished second.

The Spartan boys racked up 142 points to Davie's 91 and South Rowan's 45. In the girls, Mt. Tabor had 162 points, 77 ahead of Davie while South had 54.

"We were missing Mike Heiny. If we'd had more depth, we would have been all right because we took five events," first-year coach David Rondestvedt said of the boys.

"You can only swim two events and two relays. This week (Wednesday), we'll try to be organized a little better and fill every event."

Brad Clark won first in the 100 breast (1:07.39), individual medley (2:12.42) and was on the first-place medley relay team (1:50.03), along with Lucas Lamands, Ryan Powell and William Johnson.

Powell won two races, taking the freestyle (23:56) and butterfly (1:03.05).

Amy Call led the War Eagles with two second-place finishes, the individual medley (2:31.11) and the backstroke (1:11.92).

In relay events, the War Eagles produced two seconds, the medley and the free.

Jill Prillaman, Tracy Boggs, Call and Kiristin Clement finished the medley in 2:16.78, and Dana Call, Clement, Prillaman and Amy Call finished the free in 4:39.83.

War Eagles Struggling To Survive Early In Season

MT. ULLA – West Rowan's varsity girls remain loaded after last season's 20-8 campaign, while Davie unloaded.

The Falcons unleashed a roster full of weapons on the War Eagles Friday night, putting three players in double figures and six with at least six points in a 60-35 win.

Davie had trouble even attempting a shot against the Falcons' pressure defense. West led 36-11 at the half.

"I see a dim light at the end of that tunnel," Dinkins said, pointing to the end of the hall, a good 20 yards away. "If we'd played (like we did in the second half) in the first two ball games, we'd be 2-1 right now instead of 0-3, just because of the effort.

"It was entirely two different teams, and the good thing about it, they showed a lot of character because they could have rolled over and quit. It could have been a 40-point blowout, and for some reason they decided they didn't want to give it up."

Juniors Leslie Holcomb and Kathryn Jackson ignited the offense from long range in the third quarter as Davie outscored the Falcons 13-10. Holcomb nailed two 3-pointers in the period and Jackson connected from around 22 feet.

"That was a big lift," Dinkins said, "because the core that's coming played really tentative in the first two games. The ball wasn't going in for Leslie and Jackson wasn't looking for her shot.

"We've definitely got to pat Melinda Richie, because I thought the way she played the second half is the way I've seen her play."

Holcomb finished with 10 points and Jackson had six. Allison Foil added four and Jodie Stone, Page Steed and Erin Umberger had three each. Dana Smith and Kim Anderson had two.

Davie experienced its worst shooting at Statesville, using an 8-2 run in the last minute of regulation to make the final score 32-24.

Stone led with eight points and Smith and Ashlee Andrade added five each. Jackson and Anderson scored two a piece and Umberger and Foil each had one.

Davie Falls To West Rowan In 107-72 Blowout

MT. ULLA – What began as basketball disintegrated into bedlam on several occasions during West Rowan's 107-72 victory over Davie County Friday night in nonconference action.

Bobby Shipwash's Falcons are traditionally the favorites in the Yadkin Valley 2-A Conference. The Falcons have won 46 of 56 games under Shipwash, in his third year.

Davie, on the other hand, has lost 18 straight games.

Applying full-court pressure all over the floor, the Falcons jumped to a 25-9 lead after one quarter and extended the margin to 55-22 by halftime.

The only drama prevalent was when the Falcons surpassed the 100-point barrier with 1:38 left.

Derick Faulkner led three players in double figures for Davie with 18 points on 6-of-14 shooting from the field, including two 3-pointers.

Jamie Neese and Eric Alspaugh, a pair of 6-6 forwards, added 10 each, and senior Eric Kistler had eight. The War Eagles also received seven from B.J. Johnson, six from Derrick Dulin, five from Cedric White, four from Jason Neese, three from Tremaine Dulin and one from Ray Spain.

The War Eagles, who were 25 of 61 from the field, including 5 of 10 from 3-point range, hampered their chances of staying within sniffing distance of West by missing 19 of 36 free throws.

Earlier in the week, the War Eagles, deadlocked in a 39-39 game with nearly two minutes remaining at Statesville, unraveled in crunch time and fell to the Greyhounds 47-39.

Jason Neese knocked down 9 of 11 free throws for the bulk of his team-high 17 points, while Derick Faulkner added eight.

Davie got five points from Jamie Neese, four from Alspaugh, three from Josh Barnhardt and two from Geric Potts.

There's No Limit At Feeding Time For Wrestling Coaches

After scoring just two points in North Davie's first two games, forward Heather Lanning had 12 in the last two.

"Heather has really improved her footwork and shooting," Coach Trish King said. "She's a very determined player and will get a lot more playing time."

Wrestlers are restrained when meal time arrives, but Davie coaches Buddy Lowery and Jeff Barneycastle have no limits, thanks to the parents who set up the hospitality room at the Davie Duals Tournament all day Saturday.

"I want to send a special thank-you to all the mommas who furnished food in the hospitality room," Lowery said, "and the ones who ran the gate. You can't run a first-class tournament without their help."

Scott Young and Devore Holman, football coaches who are enjoying some free time, are helping Davie wrestlers.

"Our wrestlers are lifting weights everyday and it's helping us get a whole lot stronger, but it's because Coach Young and Coach Holman are lifting with the boys before practice," Barneycastle said. "We're working on our strength."

It was suggested last week that it would take a top-notch secretary to tally the figures of Davie's wrestling team from the past decade or so. The War Eagles had won the King of the Mat tournament, which is 15-years-old, 12 consecutive years until two weeks ago. Last week it was reported as 11 straight years.

Shelby Crest, the football team that knocked Davie out of the playoffs, is actually Crest Senior and located in Shelby. There happens to be a couple of Crest graduates in Davie County.

South Davie Pins Mavericks To Mat For Big Win

No wonder. Beck's pin in the first period Thursday at North Rowan was the first of eight pins in the last nine weight classes, pacing South Davie to a 75-12 wrestling romp at the Mavericks' gym.

The only class that didn't result in a pin was at 171, where Willie Froelich received a forfeit. "We're real solid from 130 up," Wilson said of his 2-0 Tigers.

The Tigers, who have outscored two opponents 133-36, seem more sure than the coach did in preseason. "We're coming along real well in the lower weights."

They're coming along even without 93-pounder Tony Angell, one of South's returning starters who broke his collarbone and could be lost for the season.

Luke Koontz, outweighed by 14 pounds at 83, outlasted his opposition 15-13 and Jacob Garner got a pin in the second period for a 9-0 lead.

While the Mavericks had pins at 103 and 125, Nathan Bolin and Jason Morgan had pins in between before Beck started the rout.

Head's pin took six seconds.

In preliminary matches, Michael Hawbaker and Daniel Sparks had pins to push both of their preliminrecords to 2-0.

Tigers Defeat J.N. Fries, Fall Hard To North Rowan

After South Davie's eighth-grade girls basketball team won at J.N. Fries 30-25, Coach Mary Ann Edwards said she couldn't remember the last time she was 1-0.

She didn't want to remember the second game, a 55-7 drubbing to North Rowan here Thursday.

"If North Rowan doesn't win the (Piedmont Middle School) Conference, I'd like to see who's going to," Edwards said. "They have more basketball talent with true ability than anyone I've ever seen.

"They can shoot, play defense and they know where the ball is on the floor all the time. There's no way we could have prepared for them. It was 16-2 before I could look up."

The next time the coach looked up, it was 27-2 at the end of the first quarter, and then 40-5 at the break.

The Mavericks took the third quarter off, scoring just one basket. They returned to form in the final six minutes to put on a 13-0 display.

Michael Keys Win

The Tigers had plenty to cheer about on the ride home from J.N. Fries, after a five-point win to open the season.

Shelby Michael, South's top offensive threat, led the charge with 10 points, six of which came from the foul line when the outcome was in doubt.

"Shelby hit 6 of 8 free throws and we win by five," Edwards said. "Basically the difference in the game was we made (free throws) when we got there."

The Knights exploited the offensive glass for second and third shots against South's man to man to take a 14-11 lead into the locker room.

The Tigers, switching to a zone, didn't find favorable results until the final period, when they took command with a 12-4 surge.

"We changed our defense in the second half," Edwards said. "We went to a 2-3 because they were getting second and third shots in the lane. That was the turning point in the game."

With the Knights extending the defense throughout, the Tigers finally came up with the answer in the fourth.

By doing so, nine of Michael's 10 came after halftime; Stephanie Hepler picked up six points; and Kim Hilton, Mary Jo Hood and Katie Bernhardt added four each. Amber Carter had two.

"They were in a man to man the whole game," Edwards said. "We made some adjustments and got better shots.

"It was a typical first game. J.N. Fries is a lot like we are – they're balanced. They don't have one star, they're balanced with decent size. We're real similar."

Wildcats Split Two

North Davie's eighth-grade boys split two games last week, dropping a 64-50 decision to Forsyth Country Day before rebounding for a 48-41 win over Northwest Cabarrus here Thursday.

The split leaves the Wildcats with a 2-2 record.

A trio of Wildcats – Eric Shepherd (16 points), Justin Goode (14) and Wes Miller (10) – paved the way in the win over Northwest.

The Wildcats also got four points from Matt Hudson and two each from Andrew Jones and Shawn Levan.

Miller's 20 points and Goode's 15 weren't enough against a fundamentally sound FCD squad. Levan and Hudson each added four, Matt Greene had three and Jason Lingle and Joey Glasgo had two apiece.

Wildcat Wrestlers Squeeze Past Lexington In 43-39 Win

North Davie's Wildcat wrestlers flipped homestanding Lexington over just before the final bell for a 43-39 comeback win Tuesday, Dec. 3. Two days later, they beat Northwest Cabarrus 49-33 at Northwest.

Ron Kirk's Wildcats, who were on the verge of consecutive losses for the first time since 1980-81, are 2-1 with growing confidence.

Trailing 39-31 with two matches left, North's Rich Hunter and Chris Nichols restored lost pride by pinning Lexington at 190 and heavyweight for the winning margin.

North climbed out of a black hole with little time to spare. "We just wrestled better (than the first meeting)," Kirk said. "We had a couple of different people in there. We're making improvement."

North was without the services of Cassidy McMahan. "He had a death in the family," Kirk said. "With him, we probably would have had six more points because I was going to move him where he would have won, and we won one by decision where i thought we would pin."

"It should've been fifty-something to twenty-something."

After Andy Sain received a forfeit at 131, Lexington ran off four pins for a 33-25 lead, but Carl Wagstaff started a hot stretch at 161, pinning his opponent for the first of three pins in four matches to close the door.

Early Surge

Northwest – which lost the first five matches, four by pin – was out of contention before the 125 class. Black, Adam Sain, Steven Stanley and Bullard had pins and Dyson won 9-8 for a 27-0 advantage.

The teams split the remaining 10 divisions. North's five wins – which came from Tommy Watson, Russ McManus, Cassidy McMahan, Hunter and Marco Reid – were all pins.

"The Northwest match was the same, we should've won sixty-something to twenty-something," Kirk said. "We're young and still learning. We'll take it match by match and week by week. We fizzled out at a few places, but we're getting there ... or we're trying to get there."

• Jordon Kahrs, Josh Stanley and Jeremy Miller had preliminary wins at Northwest, and Stanley and Kenny Orsillo won at Lexington.

On A Roll: JV Team Romps Past Statesville, West Rowan

Christy and Amanda Frogge, combining for 22 of Davie's points, continued to carry the load in a 39-29 basketball win over Statesville and 11 players contributed in the JV War Eagles' 52-25 romp over West Rowan here Friday.

The wins improved Davie's record to 3-0 on the year.

Christy Frogge has scored 14, 14 and 15 points in the wins to pace a balanced attack.

The War Eagles led Statesville 18-6 after one quarter, by eight at halftime and outscored the Greyhounds 19-4 to put the game away in the third.

Other than Christy Frogge's 15, Julie McDaniel had 11, Molly Allred eight and Tina Harkness four.

Amber Hamm, Ember Spillman, Katherine Phillips, Elise Whitaker, Megan Mick, Amanda Frogge and Dewitt Myers had two a piece.

"Defense won that game, too," Coach Tammy Reavis said. "Defense is winning for us. We look good, playing man-to-man full court."

The War Eagles, after trailing 10-6, jumped in front with a 24-5 surge over the second and third quarters and maintained enough breathing room to prevail, despite a 14-9 run by Statesville to end the game.

Christy Frogge had a team-high 14 points while Amanda Frogge added eight. Harkness scored seven, Hamm four, Allred three and Phillips three.

JV Wrestling Team Crushes Alleghany Trojans

For Davie wrestlers, it's a relief to escape hostile practices and beat up on some strangers. There's no relief in site, however, for War Eagle opponents, at least until the 21st century.

Davie's JVs, loaded with promising freshmen and some varsity-level wrestlers who are fighting weight, had its way with Alleghany, beating the 1-A Trojans 39-10 Thursday in Sparta.

"Alleganys not bad but they're nothing close to their varsity," Coach Jeff Barneycastle said. "Those boys can't challenge (their varsity), but some of ours are as good as our varsity."

Freshman Brad Puck started the match with a first-period pin at 103, the first of three straight Davie pins. Jamey Holt and Chad Boger followed with pins, and Thad Johnson's major decision and Johnny Daye's technical decision put Davie ahead comfortably 27-0.

Joyce was on the short end of a 13-10 score, and Boger was dropped in the second period. "He wrestled very well," Barneycastle said.

"Pack and Mauney were supposed to win. The rest of them wrestled well. We got after 'em."

Injuries, Illness Cost Eighth Grade Wildcats A Win

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

With three players injured, one sick and Northwest Cabarrus in town, the chances of North Davie's eighth-grade girls basketball team remaining unbeaten were ailing at best.

The Warriors, who led by seven at halftime and by as many as 11 in the third quarter, had a war on their hands Thursday at North Davie before they crippled the Wildcats with a bucket in the closing seconds to prevail 34-32.

The loss dropped the Wildcats, who defeated Calvary earlier in the week 35-26, to 3-1 on the year.

"Then I was drawing straws," Coach Trish King said.

North's top player, Heather Schleupner, was far from her usual self. "She's been sick this week," King said. "She wasn't 100 percent.

"I told them after the game they have nothing to be ashamed of. I think (Northwest) is one of the better teams we'll see. I was real impressed with them."

Without Jackson to handle the full-court pressure, the Wildcats, after jumping out to a 10-6 lead, watched Northwest use a 12-2 spurt at the end of the first and outset of the second quarter to take an 18-12 lead with 1:53 left before halftime.

"We were rattled. We never had the ball under control. We had more assists to them than assists to us," she said.

North shaved the lead to five – with an 8-3 run to tie the game at 32-32 – heading into the final six minutes.

Queen, who was coming off a 17-point performance and joined Schleupner and Emily Morton to lead with eight points, penetrated for a basket less than a minute into the fourth and banked home a jumper with 2:45 left to put the lead to 32-28.

Heather Lanning, emerging as a threat off the bench after an eight-point showing against Calvary, took an inbounds pass from Mary Beth Dinkins 5 seconds after Queen's bank and scored to make it a two-point game.

Then with 45 seconds left, Lanning went it again, taking a long pass for a layup to tie the score.

The ball ricocheted off a Warrior foot and out of bounds with 15 seconds left. Dinkins received an inbounds pass under the Warrior basket and tried an outlet pass. The ball was swatted down with two hands, retrieved by the defender and put in with seven seconds left.

North never got a shot off.

"If we'd had another minute, we might could have won the game," King said. "It could have gone either way at the end. If we would have played the first half like we played the second half, then we would have won."

After regrouping, the Wildcats outscored Northwest 18-13 in the second half. "We calmed down, were patient and passed the ball," King said. "I had to juggle the lineup. I'm proud of the defensive effort, and the offense came through in the second half.

Lanning had two field goals, both in crutch time, and four points, while Kaitlin Callahan and Shannon Handy had two points apiece.

Queen Pours In Season High

Queen, who scored a season-high 17 points along with seven steals, alone outscored Calvary in the fourth quarter, 11-10, in leading the Wildcats to a 35-26 win.

"It was the Stacey Queen Show," King said. "She basically got a lot of steals and layups off of them. She had some real nice jumpers inside the free-throw line. She just had a hot hand."

Lanning found the groove, scoring eight points to raise her average to 3.5 per game. Queen's showing put her atop the scoring list at 7.8 while Schleupner is down to 7.5. Morton, who scored four along with Dinkins, is at 5.0.

Davie County Enterprise Record

John White. John White of Mocksville. You did not win the contest this week, but I had to recognize you because you missed the most games. No one tied with you, but a lot of people missed almost as many as your 18.

In fact, this week was probably the worst I've seen in a long time. A lot of people participated, but it seemed no one could turn out a good guess.

If you take in to account that the games were more difficult (I mean, how could I or most of you know who would come out on top between Clinton and South Columbus?), it makes the high numbers easier to swallow. The average missed was 13.

There's no immediate competition for Mocksville's David Spillman, who alone missed eight. Spillman chose three high school and five pro games incorrectly. He, like the majority, did select the Redskins over Tampa Bay. Wrong answer, you guys. Please check the number and try again.

"Now what about second place?" you're asking yourself. There was a tie between Sean Stevens of Advance and Billy Hendrix of Mocksville who has been on the winner's coattails all season.

And second place goes to the closer point spread... belonging to Hendrix. Billy, you're getting closer. I see great things in your future. Your mom still needs some help from you though when it comes to football, so give her some tips the next go- round.

Winners, come get your money or I'll take it and buy lunch for the office. Just kidding, but do come pick it up. Christmas is just around the corner.

I hope you all have not been discouraged by this week's high numbers. You know the old, "If at first you don't succeed, try and try again?" Don't forget it.

Do your best. It will be the last chance for you to shine in the Enterprise contest this year. Not to put any pressure on you or anything.

THE HARMON FORECAST

(Saturday)
PHILADELPHIA.....32 N.Y. JETS.....27
The Jets have never beaten the Eagles, but two strong offenses may turn this into a shootout--in the last two Philly-N.Y. games, both played in New York, which produced a total of 130 points.

SAN DIEGO.....20 CHICAGO.....16
No shootout here: The Chargers' and Bears' defenses rank in the league's bottom half and Chicago respectable defense makes this almost a toss-up. The Bears were 16-13 winners over S.D. in 1993.

(Sunday)
ATLANTA.....23 ST. LOUIS.....13
Five weeks ago against the Falcons, the Rams scored more points than any NFL club since '89, rou ing Atlanta 59-16. Reventy for revenge in front of a home crowd, guess who's the better team now.

CHARLOTTE.....27 BALTIMORE.....13
If the Panthers had the Ravens' passing game to supplement their rushing attack and their solid fense, this contest might be a blowout. Baltimore can throw, but it can't win without defense.

DALLAS.....28 NEW ENGLAND.....21

DENVER.....29 OAKLAND.....20
Quarreling Jeff Hostetler's 250 yards of passing, the Broncos shed out a narrow 22-21 win over t Raiders last month. Denver should have an easier time winning its fourth in a row over Oakland.

GREEN BAY.....31 DETROIT.....16
In Week 10, Packers QB Brett Favre had neither Antonio Freeman nor Robert Brooks to throw to, bu he still tossed four TD's as G.B. beat the Lions 28-18. The Pack will complete a decisive sweep.

(Monday)
BUFFALO.....27 MIAMI.....23
Sacking Jim Kelly seven times and picking off three of his passes, the Dolphins defense led Miam over Buffalo in October, 21-7. The Bills are a much more confident team now than they were then.

HOUSTON.....26 CINCINNATI.....13
After Eddie George and kick returner Mel Grey combined for 415 yards, Al Del Greco's field goal Off gave the Oilers a 30-27 win over the Bengals two weeks ago. This is a must-win for Houston.

JACKSONVILLE.....16 SEATTLE.....9
These two teams grind out lots of yards but not enough points. In '95, though, the Seahawks had plenty of both against the Jaguars, pounding them 47-10 in their highest-scoring game in 10 year.

KANSAS CITY.....21 INDIANAPOLIS.....14
This seemed as good a preseason pick as any for the AFC Championship, but now neither team belon in it. They last met in last year's playoffs, when the Colts shocked the favored Chiefs 30-7.

MINNESOTA.....22 TAMPA BAY.....18
With Trent Differ throwing three TD's in the second half, the Buccaneers stunned Minnesota in We Seven, 26-13, their first win. The Vikings have sunk to mediocrity, but they'll avoid a sweep.

N.Y. GIANTS.....19 NEW ORLEANS.....13
The Giants and Saints have two of the NFL's weakest offenses--just like last year, when N.Y. has similar problems but still had a huge 474-yard, 31-first-down day against N.O., winning 45-29.

SAN FRANCISCO.....28 PITTSBURGH.....20
A Super Bowl preview? The 49ers say not there, but the Steelers, who have virtually no passing game, just aren't up to it. They haven't faced off since '93, when S.F. won--in Pittsburgh--26-1

WASHINGTON.....26 ARIZONA.....21
In a wild game five weeks ago, Cardinals QB Boomer Esiason threw for 322 yards and Kevin Butler kicked a 32-yard field goal late in OT as Arizona beat the Redskins 37-34. It won't happen again

Homebuilders Donate To Students

The nail gun, hammers and levels valued at more than $500 were donated by the homebuilders, money raised from the sale of a storage building. Money from that sale will also be used to help build a Habitat for Humanity house, said Brad Dyer, homebuilders president.

"This is very important, because these are the guys who will be working in the industry," Dyer said. "This is a good way to help the community and support these kids. A lot of times they don't always have the tools and resources they need."

Mocksville-Davie Homebuilders is growing, going from 31 members last year to 46 now, making it one of the fastest growing chapters in North Carolina, said Jim Moore, treasurer.

The two made the presentations to the students, along with carpentry teacher Jeff Barneycastle and masonry teacher David Crotts.

School Construction, Technology Wiring Operating On Schedule

The computer lab at William R. Davie Elementary School will be fired up Dec. 16, Davie Schools Director of Auxiliary Services W.G. Potts told the Board of Education Dec. 2.

The technology wiring project is near completion in the schools and should be finished shortly after the original target date of Dec. 10. The high school project will be the last one to be completed, he said.

The Cooleemee project is running behind, but it should not take long to catch up there. Expenses from the fire at Cooleemee are estimated at $135,000 so far, he said.

Potts predicted all the wiring projects will be completed by Christmas vacation.

Construction projects are underway at Mocksville Elementary, Shady Grove, Pinebrook and Davie High.

Most of the concrete foundation has been poured for the addition at Mocksville Elementary and the underground plumbing in place. The footings have also been poured there for the cafeteria expansion, Potts reported.

Cars that pick up and drop off students have been re-routed and grading has begun at Pinebrook.

The construction company has had difficulty finding soil that meets compaction standards at the Pinebrook site. Only one area of the campus was found to have adequate soil. That soil will have to be moved to the place where the additions are planned, he explained.

The same problem exists at Shady Grove. Unable to find any soil on the campus that meets compaction standards, the construction company will haul soil from Mocksville Elementary to the Shady Grove site, he said.

Moving dirt from one location to another will add about $20,000 to the cost of the Shady Grove project, he said.

The board voted to accept an alternate bid of $24,578 from Sports Equipment & Flooring for installation of a gym floor at Pinebrook.

Potts said he recommends this floor due to its ease of maintenance and cleaning and because it is shown to cause less injury to the knees and joints. It is also versatile with easy to replace pieces.

Representatives from the companies involved in construction meet twice a month to discuss progress and problems that arise, he said.

School Briefs

Meeting Scheduled For Jan. 13

The next board meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Jan. 13, at the Board of Education Offices.

Pinebrook Featured In Magazine

The Project Wild Site, which was developed by Vulcan Materials, at Pinebrook Elementary School has been featured in Wildlife in North Carolina Magazine, according to Superintendent Dr. Bill Steed.

The site is available to all Davie County schools, he said.

Vocational Award Winner Introduced

Davie High vocational guidance counselor Rex Hobson introduced the DHS winner of this year's Servistar All American Vocations Student Award, Ashley Hodges, who told the board how vocational education has benefited him.

Davie To Receive 'Opportunities' Grant

According to Vocational Education Director Neil Essie, Davie County should receive up to $150,000 over the next three years as a result of the School-to-Work Opportunities Act of 1994.

He presented a list of ideas for how the money might be used. Among those was the hiring of a job coach to work with functional curriculum students. These are students who are unable to complete the course work needed to earn a regular diploma.

A local committee is working with a doctoral student for Appalachian State University to develop a grant proposal for the next round of funding, Essie said.

Budget Amendments Approved

The board approved several transfers between line items in the current expense fund.

Among the changes were the addition of $25,328 within the transportation budget for the salary of the computer coordinator for the TIMS system and $6,780 for the temporary position used during the vacancy.

The state public school fund received an increase of $1,945 for interest on the technology allotment and additional funds for substitute teachers. The transportation allotment increased $136,097 from additional state funds.

The federal grants fund increased by $284.57 by adding the Drug Free Schools funding.

'97-'98 Calendar Committee Appointed

The board approved a committee to develop a school calendar for the 1997-98 year.

The committee is made up of two parents, two principals, a faculty or staff member from each Davie County School, a representative from the Central Office, two school board members and a student.

Two Field Trips Approved

The board gave final approval for an overnight field trip by the Davie High Student Council to attend a state conference in Raleigh Nov. 9-11, which had been administratively approved by Steed.

The board also approved a request for the eighth grade class of South Davie Middle School to visit the Outer Banks and coastal region in May. The cost of the trip is $155 per student, and efforts will be made to help students who cannot afford it.

Garnett To Attend Meeting

The board appointed its newest member, Janie Garnett, to attend a meeting to help figure out how to meet board members' needs sponsored by the Institute of Government in cooperation with the N.C. School Board Association Jan. 9, at Catawba Valley Community College in Hickory.

Runners, Football Players Recognized

Members of the Davie High cross country team who participated in the state meet, Hillary Brickey, Caroline Steed and Geric Hill were introduced to the board by Coach Cary Powers, who also thanked the assistant coaches for the time they gave the team.

Head football coach Benjie Brown introduced coaches and players from this year's football team – the first to win a playoff game in the high school's history.

He said he was proud to be associated with the group that had accomplished a lot more than people though possible.

Brown said he was also grateful for the support the football program received from administration and the community.

Player Brian Myers addressed the board on behalf of the players. He thanked the coaches for all they did and said he was glad to be part of a history-making team.

Chairman Jerry Swicegood Honored

Steed presented Board Chairman Jerry Swicegood with a plaque from the N.C. School Board Association for serving on that organization's board of directors for the past four years.

"In four years probably what has meant more to me than anything else is the realization of what we have in Davie County," Swicegood said.

Davie has a school system second to none brought about by teachers and administrators, he said.

When he retires from the Board of Education at the end of his term, it will be "with thanks in my heart for people who have meant so much to your young people."

"We have a lot to be thankful to god for," he added.

Board member Mark Jones thanked Swicegood for the work he has done of the N.C. School Board Association Board of Directors.

"He has put forth exemplary service," he said.

DHS Drama Students To Perform Plays

The Scheme of the Driftless Shifter and Tartuffe will be presented by Davie High School drama students Dec. 12-15 in the drama room.

The two, one-act plays will be presented at 7 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, Dec. 12-15 and at 3 p.m. Sunday in the school's drama room. Admission for the comedies is $5 for adults and $4 for students.

"It's a spoof of a play within a play where everything that can go wrong, goes wrong. Lines are missed. Cues are bad, and the acting is really, really bad."

Tartuffe is the story of a religious hypocrite who moves into a man's home, fooling him until his true colors are finally revealed.

Board Seeks Forgiveness Of Days Missed For Fire

Students at Cooleemee Elementary School missed two days of school in October after a fire caused damage in one of the buildings, and the Davie County Board of Education hopes the state school board will excuse those days.

The board voted unanimously Dec. 2, to have Superintendent Dr. Bill Steed petition the state for forgiveness of the days missed at Cooleemee.

State law allows local boards to petition the state for forgiveness of missed days, Steed said.

The state board has approved similar requests from other schools this year, he said.

Steed said he had encouraged the board to postpone making a decision about how to deal with time missed until the state ruled on those requests.

He said he is concerned that Cooleemee will be behind by two days, but the school calendar is a tight schedule.

Cooleemee could use the snow makeup days already figured into the schedule to replace the days missed after the fire "if we knew there would be no snow days," Steed said. "But we don't know that."

He said he has talked with Principal Jeff Albarty and the staff at Cooleemee, and they have agreed to work hard to make up for the time missed.

If the state board denies the request for forgiveness, the board will have to choose two days that might be used to make up for the time missed, he said.

Advisory Council Praises Mocksville Middle Programs

Mocksville Middle School is always two steps ahead of recommended state requirements, the school's Advisory Council Chairperson Jim Michael told the Davie County Board of Education Dec. 2.

A dedicated staff provides excellent learning opportunities, he said.

Among the programs he praised were the Friendship Club for girls, accelerated reading and character education.

PTA meetings are special at Mocksville Middle School, he said. The theme for the first meeting of the year was "Things to Come."

Especially enjoyed is the "Night of Kindness". At this last PTA meeting of the year, each student recognizes a person other than a parent or teacher who has made an impact in his or her life, he said.

Principal Bill Campbell said there were tears in the eyes of several members of the audience at this meeting last year.

"The purpose is for children to think about the people in their lives," Campbell explained.

Board member Janie Garnett asked teachers from Mocksville Middle if they have been able to see the evidence of success with the character education program.

One parent said she has been trying to teach her child to say things like "Yes, ma'am" since she was a baby, and character education has helped the child to learn.

Ashley Hodges Named All-American Vocational Student

Parents, Teachers, Staff Concerned About Merger Of Mocksville Schools

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Plans to merge Mocksville Elementary and Mocksville Middle schools next year are moving along as scheduled with construction under way at Mocksville Elementary.

The problem is that the two schools have a combined student population of 765, and Mocksville Elementary will be able to accommodate only about 575.

What will happen to the other students? Will the county be redistricted to spread these students among Davie County's other four elementary schools? With overcrowding a problem in other areas of the county, how many students can be placed at other schools?

These are some the questions on the minds of parents and staff members at the two Mocksville schools, which they presented to the Davie County Board of Education recently.

Superintendent Dr. Bill Steed said he was not surprised by any of the concerns.

All the questions will be addressed during the next several months, he said.

Perhaps the board could respond to some of the concerns at an open forum in January, said Mocksville Middle School Advisory Council Chairman Jim Michael.

Some of the questions cannot be answered that soon, such as where teachers from the two schools will be working next year.

A board of education committee is working on the Mocksville Elementary and Mocksville Middle situation and county-wide plans for the future, said board member Marlene Shamel. "We do understand your concerns."

Michael said the group is concerned for the children, which are always the top priority.

"This is not the first time we have combined schools," Steed said.

It has happened before, and the goal is always to improve, he said.

The group asked the board if parents, teachers, staff members and administrators from the two schools will be an active part of the decision making process on issues concerning the school consolidation.

Steed said he believes the board can work with the schools throughout the next several months.

Other concerns include the moving of equipment and furniture from Mocksville Middle to Mocksville Elementary, the number of teaching units in each suite and where the exceptional children's classes at Mocksville Middle will go.

Before choosing to add mobile units at Mocksville Elementary, the group asks the board to consider the feasibility of the cafeteria expansion and the addition of seven tables accommodating more than 575 students, how often that many students will have physical education in the school's small gym, the library holding enough equipment, books and other materials to maintain circulation for more than 25 classrooms and how the school will hold assembly programs and PTA meetings.

Another question expressed by people from the two schools is if staff will be added in custodial, secretarial and cafeteria services to account for the additional students, especially if mobile units are used.

The group even asked if the board has considered leaving the fourth and fifth graders at Mocksville Middle School since there will not be enough space for them at Mocksville Elementary School.

One comment submitted was: "Many parents feel we are giving up more than we are gaining by closing Mocksville Middle School."

"Decisions of this magnitude must be given adequate time and the proper attention to detail in order to succeed and not jeopardize our children's quality of education," the group said in its final comment to the board.

Davie High Senior Earns Merit Scholarship To Attend UNC-Chapel Hill

SALISBURY—Will Hege, a senior at Davie High School has won a North Carolina Merit Award to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Hege

The North Carolina Merit Award program awards up to 220 one-time $500 scholarships annually to North Carolina students in competition for the Morehead Award.

Hege, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hege of Advance, is vice president of the Beta Club, co-captain of the soccer team, and is involved in the activities of Macedonia Moravian Church. He will advance to the Piedmont Region competition for the Morehead Award on Dec. 13, in Salisbury.

"The North Carolina Merit Award recognizes those students in every North Carolina county who embody the ideals of the Morehead Program. Clearly, Will Hege is exceptional in his achievements and potential as a student and leader," said Charles E. Lovelace Jr., executive director of the John Motley Morehead Foundation, a private educational foundation based in Chapel Hill.

"The North Carolina Merit Award helps the Foundation achieve its goal of enhancing the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill by attracting the most outstanding students to enroll here."

Hege was selected from among 17 high school nominees chosen earlier by area high schools. Interviews were conducted by the Davie-Rowan Selection Committee. The Davie-Rowan Committee consists of five members: Bill Johnson and Steve Walker of Mocksville, Jean McCombs of Faith, and Pat McGuire and Bill Kenerly of Salisbury.

At the school and county competition levels, the selection process for the North Carolina Merit Award and the Morehead Award are the same. Nominees are judged on four criteria: leadership, scholarship, character and physical vigor. School committees nominate outstanding students to be interviewed by local Morehead selection committees. Students selected by the local committees to advance to the regional competition for the Morehead Award receive the North Carolina Merit Award. The full scholarship supersedes the $500 Merit Award for the semifinalists who go on to receive the Morehead Award.

Fourteen Morehead Regional Committees throughout the state will select the 70 North Carolina finalists to appear for interviews with the Foundation's Central Selection Committee in Chapel Hill March 1-4, 1997. Approximately 54 nominees from selected independent and public secondary schools across the country, and two nominees from Great Britain, are also interviewed at that time.

Morehead Awards provide all-expense-paid undergraduate educations at UNC. The value of an award for a North Carolina resident is more than $47,200 for four years of study on campus, and for summer internships available to Morehead Scholars through the Foundation's Summer Enrichment Program.

The late John Motley Morehead III, a native of Spray, now Eden, and an 1891 UNC graduate, established this program in 1951. More than 2000 Morehead Scholars have attended the University. Currently 196 Morehead Scholars are studying on campus.

Morehead, an engineer and founder of the Union Carbide Corporation, lived in Rye, NY until his death in 1965.

Mt. Olive Church Collects Clothes, Toys For Children's School

By Louise Young

On Nov. 30, the sun was shining inside the Mt. Olive United Methodist's Fellowship Hall as their nurture committee held their first and successful "Christmas Caring Clearinghouse", Saturday, 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

Members of the Wyo community brought many large plastic bags packed full with clothes, toys, and other items, to be taken to Crossnore Children's School in the mountains. Many boxes and bags filled with food were taken to the Yadkin Christian Food Ministry.

Raising funds for the Nurture Committee were also included. Morning found the men of the church cooking and selling ham biscuits. Noon found them making soups and sandwiches that were served with chips and a homemade pickle. Coffee and soft drinks were available all day.

Funds were raised for the Tape Ministry. A member of the church donated heart shaped boxes made from the wood benches of the original church buildings.

The Nurture Committee persuaded Santa Claus to take time out of his busy schedule to visit the children. As the time of his arrival approached, you could hear his jolly voice singing out "Ho, ho, ho, Merry Christmas everybody." Of course, you can imagine the response of the children. Any shyness or hesitancy didn't last long. All it took was Santa's grin and his outstretched hand.

When the children with their twinkling eyes and big grins climbed upon Santa's lap, he told them of the true meaning of Christmas. Christmas was the celebration of our Savior Jesus Christ's birthday. He then gave them a paper to write what they wanted for Christmas. All left feeling excited and happy that they had sat on Santa's lap-heard the true meaning of Christmas-left their Christmas list-received a candy cane and had their pictures taken with Santa.

Sunday school begins at 9:55 a.m. with worship service beginning at 11 a.m. The church is located at 3521 Wyo Road off Courtney-Huntsville Road. Call (910) 787-5456 or (910) 463-5917.

In Memory Of
David Lee Mackie
Friends have forgotten him but I haven't.
I'm living with the pain.
I loved my son and I miss him.
He was a good boy.
Every day hurts more.
Christmas is just another day to me with my son gone.

With Thanks To All of You
Some people seem to specialize
In doing thoughtful deeds.
Before you ask, they understand
Your problems and your needs.
They help because they want to,
They find joy in being kind,
And making others happy
Is the first thing on their minds.
They make this world a better place
By practicing the art
Of reaching out to others
And by giving...from the heart.

My, another has rolled around
It makes 51 I have worked in this great town
As I look back on things in the past
One important thing is friends that last
Thank you to all I say
Everyone that inspired me from day to day
This past year was hard, but this one thing I know
God watches over us everywhere we go
Thanks to everyone that's been a part.
Love, Merry Christmas, Happy New Year
Sincerely from my heart.

Cana News

By John "Cain" Godwin

I am back reporting from the land that Moses was never allowed to enter. Moses was not allowed to enter the promised land.

N.C. Hunters for the Hungry kicks off a new season. Sportsmen are asked to donate venison. Have you bagged a deer yet this year? If you have or know any one who has more venison than their freezer can hold, tell them about hunters for the hungry. This is a nation-wide organization that collects and distributes this food to the hungry. The food is inspected by the government. Our local processor is Midway Meats Inc., 910-764-2684.

I take my hat off to Wyonna B. Dull for her article in the paper last week, "Human Causes More Important Than Animal Issues." It helped to restore my faith in the county that we all love so much.

There are many beautiful light displays through the community. Did you see the three white deer (in front of the old chicken house that burned)? They look great out there, especially at night when they are illuminated.

I saw a bumper sticker at the Farm Bureau convention this week that said, "Farmers, the first Environmentalists." Isn't that the truth?

Cana pond owners, if you are tired of the non-migrating Canada geese taking over your ponds, maybe you should do what they are doing in the big City of Charlotte. Eight decoys disguised to look like dead geese are now floating around Freedom Park lake. The decoys appear to be discouraging their living counterparts from making themselves at home. Do you think this same logic would work with skunks?

Get ready. The Cana Homemakers Bazaar is going to be this Saturday, and don't forget to get there on time. Timing is the important part of shopping at the school. There is a limited supply, and the goods are in high demand. I will be counting cars again. Traffic in Cana?

Local Jaycees Earn Awards

The Mocksville-Davie Jaycees have the number six ranked chapter in the state.

The local chapter received several honors at the Jaycee mid-year convention held in Raleigh in November.

The Mocksville-Davie chapter came in first place in the Parade of Excellence for its population division.

The Parade of Excellence rewards chapters for participation in state and national Jaycee activities, community involvement, charity projects, personal development projects and maintaining and recruiting members.

The Mocksville-Davie Jaycees also won first place honors in population division three for public relations, international involvement for writing letters to U.S. military personnel stationed around the world and state and national involvement for its dunking booth project that raised money for Mission Inn, a pediatric AIDS facility.

The chapter also received a certificate of appreciation from Mission Inn as well as a special tribute from the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation for support through the Swim Splash held at Cooleemee Pool last summer.

The local chapter won first place in its population division for government involvement for its project "Election Day" in which the Jaycees ran voter registration tables in Davie County on several occasions.

Also recognized as a first place winner in the population division was a church visitation project in the life improvement category.

The dunking booth project, voter registration and letter writing campaign projects were second place overall winners in the state.

Shannon Pratt received a certificate for participating in write-up, a contest in which Jaycees take a portion of the creed and write an essay about it.

To OPEN THE EYES of one child is to broaden the possibilities of every generation.
To LIFT THE BURDEN of one family is to raise the hopes of an entire community.

The presents come to life on one of the floats during Mocksville's annual Christmas parade.

Annual Christmas Parade 'Goes On'

Davie residents didn't let Mother Nature spoil their fun Saturday morning.

Despite a cold rain, which was heavy at times, the annual Mocksville Christmas Parade went on as usual.

The bands couldn't play in the bad weather, but the parade wasn't quiet.

There were plenty of sirens from the fire, police and medical trucks. There were singers from church, civic and Scout groups.

Although under umbrellas and sheets of plastic, or peering from inside a vehicle, there were plenty of dignitaries, beauty queens and just friendly folks to offer a "Merry Christmas" to those brave enough to stand outside.

Even Santa Claus, riding on the Mocksville-Davie Jaycee float, kept his spirits up with plenty of "Ho, Ho, Ho's" to the little ones' delight.

Most of the spectators either watched from vehicles parked in lots along North Main Street, from under umbrellas or from under awnings over the sidewalk in front of downtown businesses.

The parade, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Davie County Chamber of Commerce, wouldn't be a success

Please See Parade – Page D3

The rain isn't enough to dampen the spirits of these Pinebrook cheerleaders, as they share their Trojan cheers and chants with the crowd.

Marlene Shamel accepts the Oustanding Clubwoman certificate from Stella Fisher, Mocksville Woman's Club president.

Local Woman's Club Honors Marlene Shamel

Marlene Shamel was honored at a recent meeting of GFWC Mocksville Woman's Club as she was presented a certificate naming her the NCFWC District 6 runner-up for the Frances B. Fry Award for Outstanding Clubwoman.

Shamel is serving as second vice president of the club.

The Conservation Department, Myrna Harris chairman, introduced Martha Cooper, a representative of the N.C. Museum of Natural Sciences, who gave a program on "butterfly gardening". Her slide presentation highlighted many wildflower plants which attract butterflies, and she gave each club member seedlings to use in their gardens.

The club voted to bring unwrapped toys, books and toilet articles to the Christmas meeting, which will be given to the local Domestic Violence Services.

The annual Christmas Samples brunch was held at the log cabin of Marlene Shamel, with Belle Boger, Peggy and Shelia Tutterow assisting the hostess. The club's "1996 Christmas Sampler" cookbook went on sale last week. These books are available at several locations: Kelly Insurance, Happy House Miniatures, Phipps Textiles, Don Bowles CPA Office, Thea's and Judy Bailey's beauty salons. Or you may purchase one from any club member. Proceeds will be used for the scholarship fund.

Reservations for the Christmas Party need to be made with Jean Shaffer by noon on Monday, Dec. 16.

Holiday Story Telling Program Planned

The Davie County Arts Council and McDonald's of Mocksville will present a children's Christmas program titled "Christmas Time - Christmas Tales" at the South Davie Middle School Theatre on Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 4 p.m.

The program will be presented by The Folktellers - Barbara Freeman and Connie Regan-Blake and will include Christmas folk tales and legends for children of all ages. These storytellers have been entertaining audiences for many years and although they have embarked on solo careers, the Arts Council has them teamed up again for this special Christmas presentation.

Tickets are $1 and due to limited seating, you are advised to get yours in advance by calling the Arts Council at 634-3112. Any remaining tickets will be sold at the door on performance day.

Town To Start Charging For Use Of Compost Facility

Starting Jan. 1, the town of Mocksville will begin charging people to dump debris at its compost facility.

The Town Board of Commissioners voted Dec. 3, to begin charging for compost services.

Fees will be $5 per pickup truck load and $3 for half a truck load. The town will also begin charging $5 per scoop of mulched leaves.

Most facilities charge for allowing people to dump their yardwaste, said Town Manager Terry Bailey, and employees are suspicious that all the people using the facility are not residents of Mocksville.

He said a lot of commercial landscapers bring large loads to the facility.

The board also agreed that the facility should only be open every other Saturday during the winter months.

Commissioner Vernon Thompson asked if the fees would apply in an emergency situation like last winter's ice storm.

The board would be able to suspend the policy under special circumstances, Bralley said.

DHS Students Learn About Real World At Career Day

Approximately 300 juniors participated in the annual event which drew 50 career speakers from professions ranging from the ministry to word processing.

Career Day is designed to meet all students' needs, said Hobson, whether they are planning to continue their educations at a four-year institution, community college, or are going immediately to work from high school.

The next step for juniors is to take part in the "shadowing" program, Hobson said. Students choose a profession and set up a "shadowing day" where they "get out in the real world for just one day to experience a career. Shadowing is scheduled through Hobson and students participating are counted present at school. Hobson said the school averages twenty shadows a month.

"After shadowing, students should consider taking courses that relate to their career of interest, then consider internships," said Hobson.

Internships are "one of the best things we've ever done here. "Internships are offered in career, service and teaching. The school averages 60 per year.

"Every student needs to do career planning," said Hobson. "We really want students to get involved and think about careers."

"The sooner the kids start to think about careers, the better."

Cooleemee Teacher Attends Seminar

CULLOWHEE—Donna M. Henderson of Mocksville, a third-grade teacher at Cooleemee Elementary School, recently attended a seminar at the North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching.

Henderson was one of 21 North Carolina teachers participating "Celebrating Sixty Years of Gone With the Wind," Nov. 18-22, conducted senior fellow Jerry Franson.

NCCAT, a unit of The University of North Carolina, provides a year-round series of interdisciplinary seminars and other programs dedicated to advancing the art and profession of teaching. Mary Jo Utley is director.

Town Planning Board To Hear Request

There will be a meeting of the Town of Mocksville planning board on Thursday, Dec. 19, 1996, at 7 p.m. at the Mocksville Town Hall.

Tommy Alexander, represented by attorney Grady L. McClamrock Jr., submitted a petition to rezone 2.78 acres of property from Residential (R-20) to Highway Business (H-B). This property is bordered on the wes by U.S. Hwy. 601 on the north by Southwood Drive and on the south by Rollingwood Drive. It is further described as being parcel A-1 of Davie County Tax Map K-5-1.

County OKs 300-Acre Special Use Rezoning In Hillsdale

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

County commissioners approved plans for a 300-acre development along Hwy. 158, I-40 and Yadkin Valley Road Monday night.

Bill Burnette and the Hillsdale Group had asked for the re-zoning that not only added commercial zones, but included variances drastically cutting back the space allowed between houses and shops.

Even with those variances, commissioners said, the re-zoning could have less of an impact had the county left the land zoned as is - R12 - which could allow as many as 1,354 more residences than the developers are proposing, depending on court decisions on state watershed protection rules.

"This is profound information," said Commissioner Diane Foster. "As a commissioner, I've considered it my responsibility to look at what is in place now to what is proposed.

"I think the proposed project is better. Less units is better for our county, less expensive for our county, less traffic," she said.

> "I don't believe they will ever listen to the will of the people. I don't think the board has ever been given more reasons to vote against something. I'm totally shocked."
> - Charles Fox

Opponents of the project, which started with a handful of residents in eastern Davie and spread to well over 1,000 from across the county signing a petition and hundreds attending previous meetings, were dumfounded by the decision.

"I'm lost for words," Charles Fox said after the decision was handed down. "This looks like a total loss for the people of Davie County."

The opponents had done their homework. They sent direct mail to residents. They bought newspaper advertisements. They provided commissioners with "books" of information with reasons why the rezoning request should not be granted.

"I don't believe they will ever listen to

Unifi Buys Davie Land Near I-40

Unifi has purchased more than 150 acres of land in northeastern Davie County, although the company's plans for the land are uncertain.

Unifi purchased two parcels of land from Titan Ventures for more than a half million dollars.

One parcel is 31.5 acres. The second parcel is 130.8 acres. Both are on the north side of I-40 about a mile east of Farmington Road, according to deed transfers recorded with the Davie Register of Deeds.

Unifi a New York based corporation, with its main North Carolina office in Greensboro.

Terry Bralley, chairman of Davie County's council of economic development said Unifi purchased the land, "with expansion in mind," but "at this point in time they have no plans of what it might be or when it might be."

"They have been working on the purchase for some time," said County Manager Ken Windley. "They must have come to an agreement on a price."

A representative from Unifi was unavailable for comment.

Newspaper To Publish Early

The Davie County Enterprise Record will be published early next week, so local subscribers should receive their copy before Christmas Day.

The newspaper will be printed and distributed in newsracks on Monday. Davie County mail subscribers should receive it on Tuesday.

Deadlines for the issue will be at noon Friday, Dec. 20 for all news items, classified and display advertisements.

The newspaper office will be closed Dec. 24-26.

Three Dogs The Limit For Woman

She Also Must Pay County After 50 Dogs Confiscated

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Residents along Hillcrest Drive, Advance should no longer be complaining about hearing countless dogs barking from inside the home of their neighbor Susan Walker.

She agreed in Davie County District Court Thursday to have no more than three dogs at her residence.

Accused of animal cruelty and neglect in January when investigators discovered about 50 animals living in her house with almost every inch of the floor covered with feces, Walker was back in court last week for violating an agreement she made with Davie County in February.

The original animal cruelty charges were dismissed at the request of the Davie County Humane Society and Walker's attorney Grady McClamrock on the Enterprise Record Sold To Charleston, S.C. Company

The Davie County Enterprise Record will be part of a three-newspaper purchase announced Friday to a Charleston, S.C. newspaper family.

Since the early 1970s, the majority owner of the newspaper has been the Hurley family of Salisbury, also owners of the Salisbury Post and the Clemmons Courier.

The family plans to sell its interest to the Evening Post Publishing Co., the parent company of the Post & Courier of Charleston, S.C. The Post & Courier is primarily owned by the Manigault family.

The Enterprise Record and The Courier, weekly newspapers and part of the Davie County Publishing Co., are owned by publisher Dwight Sparks and brothers Jim Hurley, Gordon Hurley and the late Haden Hurley.

The sale, subject to completion of a definitive purchase agreement, is expected to take place in early 1997.

"It has been a privilege to work with the Hurley family," said Sparks. "They have always valued quality newspapers that serve their communities well. They carefully picked the new owners with an eye for someone who shared that commitment. We look forward to a bright future."

The Hurleys have published the Salisbury Post since 1912. They purchased majority ownership of the weekly newspapers in the 1970s from the late Myrtle and Gordon Tomlinson. The Tomlinsons continued as publishers of the newspapers until 1985 when Sparks joined the company.

"The Hurleys never had a publicly visible role in the Enterprise Record's operation, but they were always proud of the newspaper's success here. That's why they rescued a struggling YMCA capital fund drive and gave the largest donation to the campaign at $200,000," Sparks said.

"Sarah Wood and I went down to talk to Jim about the campaign. I had hoped for a gift of maybe $50,000. He listened to Sarah's description of all the work she had done and how the well seemed to be dry. The fund raisers were exhausted from making sausage biscuits and selling barbecue and doing just about anything to raise money. He asked Sarah to step outside and wondered if $200,000 would be enough to rescue the project.

"I was stunned.

"That put the local campaign over the $1 million mark and guaranteed that the YMCA would be built," Sparks said.

The Hurley family has published the Post for three generations, but the announcement of the sale had seemed inevitable.

"My brother Haden's death, my serious illnesses (cancer and a brain aneurysm), and my brother Gordon's and my advancing ages mean it is time for us to step aside," Jim Hurley said last week. "Our next generation has other interests, so we have

Peace On Earth? Not A Bad Gift Idea For Christmas

We do get a little nutty about Christmas, don't we?

Every year, we set out to make this Christmas ... one to remember. That's a lot of pressure.

Christmas brings out the sentimental fool in all of us. If we do something once, it becomes an instant tradition. We have to do it every year after that or ... it just isn't Christmas.

Of course it is.

Some devout Christians get their nose out of joint at Christmas. They bemoan the commercialization of the holiday. They lament the loss of the "true meaning of Christmas." They see apostasy in those people who use the abbreviation "Xmas."

A preacher the other day said he had the opposite view. What other time does Christianity get so much free press? What other time of year to people consciously try to be nice?

Christmas can drive you crazy, if you let it. Last year we drove to the mountains to cut a fresh tree. The previous year, nearly all the needles had fallen off our tree before Christmas. We were determined to get a fresh one. As it turned out, that proved to be our "best Christmas tree ever." With that tradition in place, we had to do it again this year. It was raining and cold. Snow was on the ground in the mountains. Fierce winds blew. But we went. It took me and my son an hour to agree on the "perfect Christmas tree." We hiked over the mountain three times surveying all the trees. Finally frozen and exhausted, we just grabbed one.

We'll have to go to the mountains again next year. It's cheaper to buy the tree there. We saved probably $5. Of course we spent $20 for gasoline making the trip.

Buying Christmas presents, let's face the truth, is painful. How can you find a present that is meaningful, surprising, delightful and ... cheap? Should it be practical? Or should it be frivolous? How can you find the perfect presents for aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews, sons and daughters, husbands and wives?

You could ask them what they want. Somebody will always say, "Peace on earth."

Where do you find that?

Why can't they be happy with a new cookbook or tie?

I have always admired my sister-in-law. She finishes her shopping in October. One sister mails her Christmas cards the day after Thanksgiving. I have wondered if she addresses them on rainy days at the beach in July. Isn't that too organized? What is Christmas without last-minute shopping? What is Christmas without frantic worry about what to buy? What is Christmas without searching through the house for tape to wrap presents?

That's tradition, too. For me, at least.

I like just about everything about Christmas, except ... wrapping presents. I do it very badly. My paper never quite covers the box. I don't do bows. I don't do ribbons.

Christmas is a wonderful season. If you don't let it control you. If you don't go crazy observing every instant tradition. If you have fun. If you realize the kids can't remember every Christmas. That's okay. Make sure they know you love them and care for them. This year, give them "Peace on Earth" in your household. They will love it.

Case Is Success In Battle Against Animal Cruelty

To the editor:

I commend the County of Davie and the Animal Cruelty Investigator, Ms. Terri Hamm, on obtaining a court order in the Susan Walker animal cruelty case. This is a great success in the battle against animal cruelty and will set the precedence for any future cases that should arise in Davie County, and elsewhere.

I take this opportunity to educate the public on several issues. First, the animals seized from Ms. Walker's residence were not all in "good condition," as was stated on a television newscast. Two young cats were found in an outbuilding, severely malnourished. One has been euthanized; the other is in veterinary care at the time of this writing. All reasonable measures will be taken to save its life.

Secondly, the position of Animal Cruelty Investigator of Davie County is a volunteer, non-paid position. Ms. Hamm, as have recent past cruelty investigators in Davie County, receives no compensation for her service; Ms. Hamm took off from work, on several occasions, to prepare for, and to testify in court, for this case.

Thirdly, the role of the Humane Society of Davie County in animal cruelty cases is to lend support to the animal cruelty officer. We provide foster homes for animals seized in such cases, and lend aid during an animal seizure, if possible.

If you are interested in assisting the Humane Society by providing emergency foster care for animals seized in cruelty investigations, please contact us at 704-634-5214.

Thank you to all involved in bringing the Walker case to closure.

Best wishes for a compassionate holiday season.

Lawsuit Hurts Food Lion's Image

To the editor:

Food Lion is at it again. It seems they didn't believe in that old saying "let sleeping dogs lie."

The way they are going about this lawsuit may put a few dollars in their pocket but it sure isn't doing much for their image. They are not saying what was aired on TV was false, just the method they used to pull of the sting was unethical. Let's get real. How can they charge trespassing when they hired these people? If ABC would have asked Food Lion to let them make a tape of their unclean practices, what would have been their answer? Had Food Lion let them come in to observe the daily routine it would have been at a much later date so they would have had time to clean up their act and get everything ship shape. They say a picture is worth a thousand words, and a lot of people saw that picture. By not suing claiming the charges were false they are more or less admitting guilt, that the program was accurate.

If by chance Food Lion wins this lawsuit, and that is possible, (look at the OJ trial) it is going to set a precedent, and put every sting operation the government, police, use in their investigation of drug buys, undercover operations by the FBI, CIA, in jeopardy. They all do the same thing, hopefully unbeknown to the culprits. Should Food Lion win it will only succeed in tying the hands of the people who keep us informed of unsavory practices.

Food Lion has a monopoly in Davie County, especially East Davie. We don't even have a produce market. But Clemmons is just a few miles away. Make a comparison of the options in Clemmons. There are BiLo, Lowes Foods and soon to come Harris Teeter, all beautiful stores, excellent selections, almost always special sales. So Food Lion claims of low prices isn't a big draw, these other stores are competitive. The only extra expense is a little gas and most of the time you are going that anyway. Maybe they will find someone else to sue, to recoup their loses.

I haven't heard that TV program mentioned in over year. "They just woke up that sleeping dog".

In one instance Food Lion claims the employees weren't giving Food Lion a days work that they were hired for, that is a reason to discharge an employee-not sue. If every employee in the country were sued for that reason, the courts couldn't come close to handling the suits.

'Twas The Night Before Christmas, All Through Bermuda Run ...

Mike Barnhardt

'Twas the night before Christmas
And all through Bermuda Run,
The residents were gathering,
And aiming their guns.
Across Hwy. 158, they angrily stared
In hopes that Bill Burnette and those developers
Would be standing there.
With money in his pocket
And blueprints on his arm
Bill said don't worry,
I mean you no harm.
And Lurry Hayes in his kerchief,
And Carl Boon in his cap,
Had just settled down
For a county commissioner's nap,
When up the highway, there arose such a clatter,
Carl sprung from his bed
To see what was the matter.
Away to the window
He flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters
And threw up the sash
Bulldozers and backhoes
Were digging those lines,
From Clemmons it was coming,
And barely in time.
What what to his wondering
Eyes should appear
But a sewer system
Coming ever so near.
But on the highway
In a car that was scootin',
Carl knew in a moment
It must be Tim Wooten.

More rapid than eagles
And quieter than a mouse,
Tim flew with the breeze
Right past Carl's house.
He whistled and shouted
With spirit and with glee
I'm going home, to the Valley.
To the top of the porch!
To the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away,
Dash away, all!
I'll parade in Mocksville
And Advance I'll do,
If they have one in Turkeyfoot,
I'll be there, too.
And then, in a twinkling,
Tim heard on his roof
The prancing and pawing
It was definite proof.
As he drew in his head
And was turning around,
Down to Cooleemee Town Hall
They came with a bound.
Dressed all in cotton
From their head to their feet,
They were listening to Jackie
With their mayor they would meet.
But Bill didn't like it,
and neither did Lynn.
So Big Chief Tim Wooten,
Decided to step in.
Next door was Jim Helmstetler
Bottles flung on his back,
He looked just like a peddler
Just opening his pack.
His eyes, how they twinkled!
His dimples, how merry!
His cheeks were like roses
Too much holiday sherry!

When up Hwy. 601
In the center of the county seat,
The trees were brightly colored
As a holiday treat.
The angels were hung
On the tree with care,
In hopes the good residents
Were willing to share.
All over the county
The children could hear,
Coming in from Farmington
St. Nick must be near.
He had a broad face
And a round little belly
That shook, when he laughed,
Like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump,
A right jolly old elf,
A detective he's not,
Just Santa himself.
He spoke not a word
but went straight to his work,
Handing candy canes to young'uns
Then turning with a jerk.
He sprang to his pickup,
Cranked it with a whistle,
And away he flew
Like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim,
Ere he drove out of sight,

Happy Christmas to all,
And to all a good night.

Mayor Wishes For Drug Free Christmas

To the editor:

In March of 1995, Lynn Rumley, director of the Cooleemee Historical Association, (CHA) and not yet a Cooleemee Town Commissioner, requested on behalf of the CHA, that the Town of Cooleemee assist her in obtaining transfer of community service of a convicted drug dealer from Alleghany County to Davie County. In the Nov. 20 issue of the Davie County Enterprise-Record she is quoted as saying,"...so he could work for the Cooleemee Historical Association. He was honest and a good worker." Rumley said the claim she was bringing someone to town to sell drugs to children was "slanderous and libelous. I'm considering court action."

Rumley's honest and good working friend was involved on numerous occasions in Alleghany County for such felonious activities as maintaining a place to keep controlled substance, manufacture of controlled substances, possession of marijuana, carrying a concealed weapon, transporting a juvenile while defendant was using a controlled substance, no vehicle registration nor insurance, instructing, aiding and abetting a person in driving a motor vehicle while impaired, possession with intent to sell and deliver controlled substance, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, etc.

On Nov. 12, I received a certified letter from Rumley stating, "Your charge was patently false and this statement was intended to maliciously slander my character and reputation. I demand you make an immediate and unequivocal retraction of this charge and issue a public apology for same in the public media."

Now, Mrs. Rumley, here's the public apology, in the public media, which you demand. Only, it's not an apology to you because I don't feel inclined to apologize for something someone else did.

I issue this public apology to all people who have ties in Cooleemee and surrounding areas. I am truly sorry and greatly disturbed with the presence of drugs in all neighborhoods. I hope that God will direct our adults and children to just say no.

I wish you all a very merry and drug-free Christmas. God bless you.

Jackie Morton, Mayor
Town of Cooleemee

Faculty, Staff Thanks PTSA For Luncheon

To the editor:

We, the faculty and staff of Davie High School, would like to express our sincere and grateful thanks to the Davie High PTSA, especially Mrs. Lorna Beauchamp and the hospitality committee, for the delicious luncheon on Friday, Dec. 6. We are indeed fortunate to have such wonderful and caring parents at Davie, and we especially appreciate their taking the time during this busy Christmas season to make us feel so special.

Throughout this year, they have shared with us graciously in preparing tasty meals and delectable treats. Though words may fail to express our complete gratitude, we wish to acknowledge their kind efforts, time and attention to the faculty and staff of Davie High. We are thankful for all they do for us.

Our wish is that all may enjoy the holidays with family and friends, sharing the joys of the Christmas season.

No Candy Throwing At Parade

To the editor:

The Mocksville-Davie Jaycees would like to thank all those who braved the elements to participate in the Christmas Parade Dec. 7.

We would also like to thank those that refrained from throwing candy from the floats during the parade. Even though the entry form states that no candy will be thrown from the entries, some persons still think they are supposed to toss candy as they pass along the street.

If anyone had seen the small child, last year, about 2 years old dart into the street to pick up a piece of candy under one of the large trucks carrying one of the football teams they would not even think about throwing candy. Fortunately, the truck was able to stop before a tragic accident occurred. No one wants to place such a child in harms way and it only takes a second for a small child, not realizing the danger, to get loose from mom or dad and get into the street.

Thanks again to those that participated. We debated whether to postpone the parade. Based on the weather information we had, we thought the day would get progressively worse and there really was no other Saturday in December to hold the parade without conflicting other holiday events in the community.

Residents react to the commissioners' decision to rezone 300 acres in the Hillsdale area.

Hillsdale Rezoning Approved By County

the will of the people," Fox said. "What really, really upsets me about this ... I don't think the board has ever been given more reasons to vote against something. I'm totally shocked."

John Sangimino said that Foster's rationale in making the decision was the same pitch Burnette used as a threat against opponents - this is what could happen if you don't grant this.

About 50 of those opponents held a meeting after the county vote Monday night. Although frustrated, they said they are willing to do what it takes to have this decision reversed and to affect other decisions.

They talked about boycotting any businesses going into the new development. Several promised funding to hire a lawyer to study the case for reasons to file an appeal. They may start a letter campaign. They may start a watch dog group to monitor all county meetings. And when election time it comes around ...

According to Sangimino, the project hinges on a sewer line being extended into Davie County (Burnette is one of the developers paying for the initial installation of the system) from the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Utilities Commission. The capacity promised Davie will likely be used quickly.

Forsyth, with a four-year's notice, could cut or stop that capacity, Sangimino said. That would mean Davie County would have to build it's own treatment plant ("We would be asked to pay for what we didn't want in the first place.") or the developed property could be condemned. He said real estate agents and people buying property along those sewer lines need to know those facts.

Rick Wilkerson said the county "totally disregarded the law" because they approved a development that can't be built because of current watershed regulations. Although those rules are being challenged in court, until overturned, they are still in place.

The commissioners approved the request on a 3-1 vote, with Foster, Joe Long and Larry Hayes voting to make the change. Carl Boon, who lives across Hwy. 158 from the development, voted against the request.

Foster said Burnette's project did not create the problems that exist in eastern Davie. The department of transportation (DOT) tries to solve traffic problems before they become a crisis, she said.

Hayes said the county has made a new I-40 interchange at Redland Road a top priority in talks with DOT, and that plans are already set to widen the Hwy. 801 bridge over I-40.

"We've went through this from one end to the other. The number one thing we have to look at is the school situation, with what is proposed to what is in place today," Hayes apologized for the time it took the county to make a decision.

"I think the people deserved every possible study ... and talk to as many people as we could," Hayes said.

Foster said the decision was difficult. "We've tried to do what is best for you and for the county," she said.

There were several conditions placed on the rezoning, including the following requirements:

- a minimum of an additional 12 feet of right-of-way for N.C. Department of Transportation for widening U.S. 158, and additional 30 feet of right of way for widening Yadkin Valley Road;
- entrance on Yadkin Valley Road must be coordinated with proposed Bahnson development;
- residential area must be connected by at least two streets to adjoining Bahnson Farms development;
- ingress and egress from any street onto U.S. 158 and Yadkin Valley Road shall have, at minimum, entrance lane, left turn exit and right turn exit;
- acceleration and deceleration lanes and left turn lanes at all entrances and exits;
- current farm bridge must be used for one-way, one-lane traffic for passenger vehicles and pickup trucks;
- cattle crossing tunnel can be used for pedestrian and bicycle traffic only;
- height limit of three stories for all structures;
- 50 foot buffer on 158 and Yadkin Valley Road, and along any commercially zonea area that abuts any residential zoning;
- residential density shall not exceed 553 dwelling units in the R-12 special use district;

Bahnson Decision Postponed

Commissioners postponed a decision on whether to grant a similar rezoning adjacent to the Hillsdale Group property.

Bert Bahnson had requested an almost identical rezoning for 253 acres he owns.

"It's similar, but different because it does not lie between two major thoroughfares," Foster said.

She said it would be better if Bahnson's commercial areas were closer to Yadkin Valley Road and the entrance to the development, rather than abutting the residential area in Burnette's development.

The request was sent back to the county planning board to allow Bahnson to amend his request to reflect the change. It was adopted unanimously.

Walker Must Allow Inspection Of Home For Animals condition that she abide by the terms of a special agreement.

She had agreed not to own or possess any animal for five years, to give up ownership of the animals removed from her home in January, to repay the county $7,858.60 for boarding expenses and medical fees of those animals and to allow periodic inspections of her home during the next five years.

Responding to reports from neighbors, Animal Cruelty Investigator Terri Hamm discovered several dogs at her home in October. That violation of her agreement with the county landed Walker back in court Nov. 14.

According to Hamm, she had also failed to pay restitution to the county.

Judge Jimmy Myers granted a motion by McClamrock to continue the case 30 days.

McClamrock said he hoped the county would change its position during that time.

And several things did change.

When investigators last went to her home, Animal Control Officer Robert Cook said she only had a few dogs that she was not supposed to have and has cleaned up the house.

Walker pleaded guilty to the animal cruelty charges Dec. 12, but the county agreed to have the judge continue prayer for judgement in the case on the condition that Walker abide by the original agreement.

She must pay the county $4,500 in monthly payments to the county and have only the three dogs now at her home, Judge Kimberly S. Taylor said.

The county is asking for that amount rather than $7,858.60 because some of the expense was incurred after Walker's agreement with the county.

Walker must abide by the agreement for five years unless the county terminates it earlier.

If she violates the terms of the agreement again, she will be brought back to court, facing up to 45 days in jail, Taylor said.

"This time she has to do it or be sentenced," Cook said.

According to Assistant District Attorney Mark Gottholm, Walker has no prior criminal record.

Cook said most of the animals taken from Walker's home in January have been adopted.

Opposition leader Charles Fox leads a discussion after the commissioners' meeting.

Davie Family's Home Destroyed By Fire

A child playing with a lighter apparently started a fire that destroyed a home Monday morning - taking with it the Christmas presents for three children who lived there - along with all their clothing and other belongings.

Sherry Marie Thompson lived in the home off Main Church Road Extension and Hwy. 601 North with her three children, ages 3, 4 and 5.

Thompson said she awoke to the smell of smoke in the home, and got her three children outside.

Davie Fire Marshal said his investigation revealed that one of the children was playing with a lighter, which ignited some clothes in a front bedroom.

Firefighters were on the scene within a few minutes, but the house was engulfed in flames before they arrived. The house is owned by Buster Phillips, and was destroyed, Frye said.

Neighbors who noticed the fire immediately started worrying about the children, who had lived in the house for a little more than a week.

"I heard something popping. I looked out the window and the house was on fire," said Mike Boyell.

"I went to the back door and started knocking," said Jesse Dalton. "I didn't know if the kids were out or not."

Dalton said he had moved from the house earlier this year because he thought it was a fire hazard.

He looked at the family's Christmas tree, which was still on the porch.

"These kids ain't going to have no Christmas. All their stuff is burned up," Dalton said.

The Red Cross was called to provide assistance to the family.

This house was destroyed Monday morning when a child playing with a lighter caught some clothes on fire.

Sherry Marie Thompson and two of her children watch their home off Main Church Road Extension burn.

Davie County Arts Council Receives State Grant

RALEIGH—Nonprofit groups in Davidson, Davie and Rowan counties have been awarded $90,282 in grants from the N.C. Arts Council for arts programs and projects during 1996-97.

The Davie County Arts Council received $13,061 to fund a community performance series, the Artists in the Schools program, and grassroots arts programs by Davie County groups.

The N.C. Arts Council awards grant money each year to help provide diverse arts experiences for citizens in all 100 counties of North Carolina. In 1996-97, the Council will distribute a total of $4.25 million to arts organizations, schools, libraries and other non-profit organizations that sponsor arts programs.

"Arts programs in North Carolina are flourishing due to the vibrant and successful partnership between the public and private sectors," said Mary Regan, executive director of the N.C. Arts Council. "We must continue to nurture and support arts in our communities to provide all North Carolinians with opportunities to participate in, be challenged by, and enjoy a variety of arts experiences."

Dropout rates for students in grades 7-12 in North Carolina public schools improved slightly during the 1995-96 school year.

While the state rate improved from 3.78 percent to 3.73 percent, the dropout rate in Davie County was down to 2.4 percent in 1995-96 from 3.38 percent in 1994-95, according to state data.

That means that 23 fewer students dropped out of school in Davie County last year than the previous year.

Deputy State Superintendent Richard Thompson said while he is pleased that the number decreased from 1994-95, that state and local educators are concerned about the futures for any students who fail to get a high school education.

Major reasons school systems report students drop out are attendance problems, choice of work over school and academic problems.

According to Davie County Schools At-risk Coordinator Carolyn Beaver, the majority of the students who dropped out of school last year in Davie County gave attendance problems as their number one reason for leaving school. Academics were second.

One of the things she thinks has helped most to reduce dropout rates has been the creation of student assistant core teams that try to target at-risk students and set up plans and programs to help those students stay in school, she said.

Efforts begin early to help students before they are so far gone that they can't get out of trouble, she said.

The school system also tries to work with families to keep communication open about what is going on at school, she said.

Most students drop out during their ninth or tenth grade years, she said, and 30 at-risk students from that group are chosen each year to participate in the ACES (Another Chance at Educational Success) program, according to Beaver.

The program helps students who had trouble succeeding in the regular classroom setting who want another chance, she said.

Dropout rates have improved greatly over the years in Davie County, she said. "I feel we are doing a good job."

Superintendent Dr. Bill Steed said Davie County has a good school system that works with at-risk students in grades K-12 to prevent dropouts.

He is pleased when those efforts show positive results but would ultimately like to see Davie County have no dropouts, he said.

Christmas Trees Pose Danger To Cats, Dogs

Humans may see the Christmas tree as a symbol of everlasting life, family celebration or a joyous winter season, but to cats, it's just one great big toy.

And a potentially perilous one at that.

During the holidays, cats (and dogs) are inclined to get into trouble, says Dr. Barbara Simpson, adjunct assistant professor at North Carolina State University and a veterinary behaviorist. "We all want our pets to celebrate with us, but we have to find a way to have our Christmas and keep our pets safe," she says.

Simpson makes some suggestions for cat and dog owners.

•Cat owners should not use tinsel on their trees. Tinsel can get caught behind the animal's tongue, causing injury. And cats who ingest tinsel can suffer serious gastrointestinal traumas, most of which require surgery to treat. Ribbons and string also should be kept away from cats for the same reason. "You can play with a toy on a string with your cat, but be sure to put it away after playing," she says. "Cats should not be left unattended with a string."

•Think carefully before giving a puppy as a gift for Christmas, says Simpson. "Every year, there's always a rash of Christmas puppies that wind up at the pound because the recipient wasn't happy with a gift that wet on the floor and chewed on the pillows." Christmas is a very hectic time to get a dog, and training a puppy requires a lot of energy and time. People need to make sure that a puppy is wanted and that the breed is suitable for the household.

Winter is the worst time to get a puppy because neither puppy nor owner likes to go out in the cold--and a puppy needs to go outside a lot. Puppy owners need to set up house rules and teach the pet to be calm. Often Christmas is a bad time for these restrictions, especially if there are small children in the house. Housebreaking a dog in winter takes much longer than in summer, the ideal time to get a puppy, Simpson says. In the warmer months, owner can spend lots of time outside with it, socializing the animal and housebreaking it easily. "If you want to give a puppy as a gift, give a box with a picture of a puppy in it and promise to get a real one in the spring."

•Keep your dogs away from the chocolate box. Chocolate contains the compound theobromine, which is toxic to dogs. The same goes for caffeine. Both substances cause central nervous stimulation and can give a dog serious heart, gastrointestinal and nervous system problems. Effects of chocolate ingestion might not be obvious for 3 to 8 hours, but can be deadly if the dog has eaten too much.

All it takes is a little precaution and common sense, says Simpson, to make the holidays a safe, fun time for dogs and cats alike.

No Garbage Pickup On Christmas Eve

Garbage pickup dates will be changing slightly for the holidays.

The only schedule change for county trash pickup will be Dec. 24. Resident who normally put their trash out on Tuesday evening should put it out Monday evening, Dec. 23.

No recycling pickups will be made Dec. 24, 25 or 26.

Recycling pickups will resume on the next regular pickup date.

The Davie County Solid Waste Facility will be closed for Christmas Dec. 24, 25 and 26. It will also be closed New Year's Day.

County Library To Close For Holidays

The Davie County Public Library will be closed several days in upcoming weeks - for the holidays and for employees to update the collection.

The library will be closed at 5:30 p.m. Dec. 23, and on Dec. 24, 25, 26 and Jan. 1 for the holidays.

It will be closed Dec. 30-31 and Jan. 2-3 for employees to place bar codes on the collection as the library works to complete a computerized check-out system. The bar codes will allow staff to check out and check in those items using scanners.

New library cards with bar codes will be issued to patrons as they come in during the new year.

Needy Children See Tanglewood Lights

Riding through neighborhoods at night to admire the Christmas lights decorating yards and houses is a fond childhood memory for many.

People now spend hours waiting in line at places like Tanglewood, Traphill and McAdenville just to spend a few minutes admiring their light displays.

But some children may never have the opportunity to experience the wonder.

This year a local church came up with a plan to help some of those children.

Group Focuses On HIV/AIDS Battle

This year's theme for World AIDS Day was "One World. One Hope."

This worldwide theme emphasized the need for people everywhere to put aside their differences and to work together to face the challenges of slowing down the epidemic and alleviating its impact.

The Healthy Carolinians of Davie County Task Force is focusing attention on HIV/AIDS through the Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD) Committee for Davie County.

Kathy Cornatzer, family nurse practitioner from the Davie County Health Department, is the chair of the committee.

"The recognition of World AIDS Day will give us the opportunity to focus attention on this devastating disease that affects us all," Cornatzer said. She also believes that there is hope for eliminating HIV/AIDS if we protect ourselves and others from infection, educate our families and community members about prevention measures, and support research efforts that make prevention, testing, and treatment more effective and accessible to all populations.

Dennis Harrington, Davie County Health Department Director said: "Estimates are that more than 20 million people worldwide are currently living with HIV/AIDS, over five new infections occur every minute. It is important for everyone, even in counties as small as Davie County, to understand how they can protect themselves from HIV and how they can help those who are infected. We are pleased that we have concerned citizens willing to work through a committee to help address HIV/AIDS concerns here in Davie County."

Davie County has reported nine cases of AIDS since official reporting began. Additionally, HIV positive status (individual infected with virus who has not developed full symptoms of disease) for citizens must be reported in Davie to date there are 10 reported infections. Of the 10 HIV positive infections reported, six are in the 20-29 age range which means most of them probably acquired the infection while they were teen-agers. Many teens put themselves at risk for HIV infection by their behaviors. It is important that they are educated about ways of protecting themselves against HIV/AIDS.

For more information about HIV/AIDS and how you can help protect yourself and community, or if you are interested in being involved with the STD Committee of the Healthy Carolinians of Davie County Task Force contact Cornatzer, or Janet Packett, coordinator of Healthy Carolinians of Davie County at 634-8700. Also, watch for articles about various sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) and how you can protect yourself.

10 Things You Need To Know About HIV/AIDS

1. The AIDS pandemic has left no continent untouched. Approximately 21.8 million people are living with HIV/AIDS and over 5.8 million have already died because of the infection.

2. AIDS (acquired immunodeficiency syndrome) results from the late stage of HIV (human immunodeficiency virus). In some cases, AIDS can take more than ten years to develop. A person infected with HIV may look and feel healthy for many years and not even know they have HIV but, during this time can transmit the virus to someone else, which is why it is very important to individuals to get tested.

3. HIV is found in the following types of body fluids:
- *semen (and pre-ejaculate fluid)
- *vaginal secretions
- *blood
- *breast milk

4. HIV does not survive long outside the body, and therefore can only be transmitted when certain types of body fluid (see above) of an infected individual enters an uninfected individual through unprotected sex, sharing needles or from an infected mother to her child.

5. Sexual transmission of HIV can be prevented. Sexual intercourse in the major route of transmission of HIV. You can prevent the sexual transmission of the virus by:
- *abstaining from sexual intercourse (this is the only 100% safe and effective way to avoid the risk of becoming infected with HIV.)
- *practicing mutual monogamy (having sex with only one partner who has sex with only you) with an uninfected partner

You can significantly reduce the risk of spreading HIV through sexual intercourse by:
- *using latex condoms correctly from start to finish with each sex act
- *engaging in safer sex practices that involve no exchange of body fluids

6. Infection through blood can be stopped. Blood for transfusion is tested for HIV infection and discarded if contaminated. Needles, syringes, and other skin-piercing instruments should never be shared.

7. You do not get HIV from:
- *donating blood
- *mosquito bites and other bug bites
- *sharing cups and utensils
- *sneezes or coughs
- *hugging, touching or dry kissing a person with HIV
- *sharing telephones, computers or coffee pots
- *going to any public place with HIV infected people
- *drinking fountains or toilet seats

8. Discriminating against people with HIV/AIDS-or those thought to be at risk of infection-violates individual human rights and endangers public health. It drives the problem underground, making the efforts at prevention and care much more difficult.

9. AIDS affects everyone-Educate Yourself and Others.

10. You can help stop the spread of HIV/AIDS. Get involved in community efforts.

Helen Gantt Receives Sam Walton Award

Helen Gantt, president of Gantt Personnel, has been selected to receive the Sam Walton Business Leader Award, sponsored by the Wal-Mart Foundation.

Gantt was selected to receive the award by the Davie County Chamber of Commerce, which received a $500 grant in the honoree's name.

"Wal-Mart established the Sam Walton Business Leader Award to recognize local business people who best exemplify the principles Sam Walton, its late founder," said Davie Glass, president and CEO of Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.

"Sam built his business on three principles: dedication to customer service, respect for employees and community involvement," Glass said. "These are the principles that he lived and worked by, and the principles that continue to guide us into the future at Wal-Mart."

Gantt was one of more than 720 business people in Wal-Mart communities around the country who were selected by their local Chambers of Commerce to receive the award. Participating chambers received a total of more than $360,000 in grants from the Wal-Mart Foundation as part of the awards program.

North Davie's Kirk Has Plenty

The river of wrestling sprang from North Rowan High a quarter of a century ago – when Buddy Lowery and Ron Kirk, two of Coach Ralph Shatterly's stars, shattered the wrestling landscape – and flowed to Davie County almost two decades ago.

Brian Pitts

Lowery and Kirk, heavy wrestlers who routinely pulled out close matches at the end, guided North to the Western Association crown twice and met up with Davie County for the first time in 1972, the year Lowery was a senior and Kirk a sophomore.

A Davie wrestler named Buck Hall buckled Kirk, who despised Davie but moved there in 1980 to start North Davie's program.

He hasn't left. "I never thought I'd come here," said Kirk, whose career record is 206-32. "Davie was one of our biggest rivals. Now it'd be hard to leave."

Kirk shook off the Hall loss and finished fourth in the western region. Lowery took third.

Kirk introduced the Greco-Roman sport to some eager listeners 17 years ago, explaining that there weren't any ropes. "The first day that winter, with 22 or 23 kids, most of them said, 'Where are the ropes and turnbuckles?,' Kirk said. "We talked about this for a while."

The Wildcats finished 6-7, their only losing season. The lessons Kirk instructed didn't take long to absorb.

The next year, Dale Barneycastle, Carey Gregory, Tony Foster and Michael Driver led North to a 13-0 mark, the first of seven unbeaten seasons and first of nine conference championships.

Since then and going into last Monday, North has won 166 of its last 185 matches, including 34 of 40 JV deals.

After the '82 breakthrough year, every year has looked like a rerun, reaching a state of dominance.

The Wildcats went 45-15 from '83-'87, their desert years compared to the oasis, a nine-year span that has seen Kirk lose just four times. The Wildcats lost once in '88, '90 and '93 and posted perfect records the other six seasons.

The expanding dynasty is stronger in the second phase than its first. The last three years of the North Piedmont Conference ('91-'93) went to the Wildcats and they still haven't lost in the Piedmont Middle School Conference, winning all 34.

Ronnie Mendenhall, who coached at Southeastern Stokes from '83-'90, is the only man to stand toe-to-toe with Kirk. His career record was 84-15, half of the losses belonging to Kirk.

"I miss those days," said Mendenhall, who joined the administration to feed three children and a wife. "I felt very fortunate to be one of the only ones to experience a few wins against him.

"Kirk was really the only person to beat me. His teams were always well-disciplined. We always knew when we went to his place it was going to be a battle. I have great respect for the man. He has a class program."

Trinity, which won 45 of 48 matches from '94-'96, tripped over North's consistent machine three years in a row. "I always go wrestle them because of their tradition," said Coach Tom Gates, who refuses to host North. "They're one of the best teams in the state. I've never beaten Kirk in five years.

Davie High Swimmers Paddle Past West Forsyth

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

David Rondestvedt, Davie's swim coach, could have fell flat on his face. Instead, West Forsyth's boys did Wednesday at the Davie YMCA.

Rondestvedt beat the Titans in his second meet ever, something that's never surfaced in school history. The War Eagles won the meet with 67 points to West's 60 and North Davidson paddled in with six.

The War Eagle girls took second with 36 points, four ahead of the Black Knights but 43 behind West.

The new coach, a week earlier, hoping [illegible] only challenge the Titans for the league crown, but wear it.

"As long as we stay healthy and work hard, we'll have a real good shot at it," Rondestvedt said.

Top swimmer, and nationally ranked, Mike Heiny returned from competition in Texas, finallizing Davie's lineup, and the War Eagles swam fluently.

"We needed to make adjustments in the lineup, and we made sure we filled every event with two swimmers. With two (in each event), we got eight and 14 points," Rondestvedt explained. "And some [illegible] third and fourth – we ended up with seven points.

"Definitely having Heiny back helped us."

Heiny – who won the 200 medley relay (1:49.08) and 500 freestyle (5:03.37) – wasn't the only story. Ryan Powell and Brad Clark each claimed two individual events.

Powell tied a West Forsyth swimmer for first in the 50 free with a time of 23.08 and took the 100 butterfly in 1:01.46, and Clark triumphed in the 200 individual medley (2:08.71) and the 100 breast (1:06.64).

[illegible] came on strong in the 100 free and the 100 back," the coach said.

The War Eagles claimed two of three relays, despite subpar efforts. "Our 200 medley was first and we were first in the 400 free relay," Rondestvedt said, "and we didn't go all out. We can improve those. ... We just did what we had to."

In girls action, the Titans swept all 11 events while a Davie swimmer was runner-up each time.

Wrestlers Win Again In Statesville

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

STATESVILLE – Davie County's wrestlers got even – and then some.

Avenging losses to East Davidson in the King of the Mat tournament three weeks ago, ending Davie's 12-year run, and last season's Greyhound Classic, snapping their five-year reign, the War Eagles found the cure-all Saturday in the 14th annual Greyhound Classic.

The East Davidson Golden Eagles found out what it's like when the War Eagles are performing up to expectations.

Not much fun.

Davie's 228 points were 64 ahead of East, 91 better than third-place South Rowan and 107 in front of South Caldwell, handing the War Eagles their sixth Greyhound Classic championship in seven years.

"I was wanting to wrestle well, not just because of (East Davidson)," Coach Buddy Lowery said. "We got to drill a little bit, but we wanted to impress the South Rowan people, too. We wrestled like we were supposed to."

Davie took three undefeated wrestlers and came back with two.

Adam Connor (11-1) lost for the first time, while Jon Mauney (13-0) and Adam Bailey (8-0) remained undaunted. "Adam (Connor) lost 8-6 in the finals," Lowery said. "It was just the little things."

Jeff Wilson (12-1), C.J. Johnson (10-2) and Brian Murphy (11-2) gave Davie five champions.

Adamson, a junior, has emerged as one of the premier wrestlers. "I knew he was going to be good, I didn't think he'd be undefeated," Lowery said. "He's real strong, especially in that (145) weight class."

There's room for more. "It's hard for him to (keep his weight) down. People like Eric Blankenship and Kendall Chaffin would come in 20 pounds, (heavier after Christmas)," Lowery said. "He won't do that, he's not going to have enough time."

North Davie Eighth Graders Trounce Mooresville, Kannapolis

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

The North Davie eighth-grade girls basketball team's pressure defense rattled two more teams last week, holding Mooresville and Kannapolis to a total of 42 points.

The Wildcats trounced the Red Imps 31-16 and Heather Schleupner and Emily Morton muscled North to a 36-26 victory here Thursday.

"We play a lot of man to man," Coach Trish King said. "When we went to the zone, (Kannapolis) scored so man to man kind of saved us, which credits the team for working hard."

Morton escaped her recent slump by scoring a season-high nine points and grabbing seven rebounds. Schluepner, slowed for a week will an illness, scored 11 and yanked down 13 rebounds.

"Emily played real well," King said. "She had some good passes from the guards. She could have scored more than nine but she missed some layups, but she played real well."

Schluepner, a forward, showed her versatility by bringing the ball upcourt, taking pressure off point guard Sarah Jackson and Stacy Queen.

"The girls did a good job breaking the press," King said. "We were more patient. Heather did a good job getting to the middle and bringing the ball down."

The coach received solid play from Heather Lanning (two points, six rebounds) and Susan Delaney (four steals). "Delaney played an exceptional game," she said. "She handled the ball, made some good passes and some crucial steals. I'm real pleased with the way she played."

Three of Delaney's steals came during North's 7-2 run in the fourth, when the Wildcats extended their 29-24 lead.

"(Lanning) is hitting the boards real strong," King said. "She's been working on boxing out in practice."

Jackson (five points), Queen (four), Mary Beth Dinkins (three) and Mindy Seamon (two) all contributed. "When Mindy scored, then everybody has scored (at least once)," King said. "One of our goals is for everybody to score in one game."

Schluepner's 8.6 scoring average is tops on the team, followed by Queen's 6.3 and Morton's 5.5.

Pressure Unravels Red Imps

It wasn't artistic, but the Wildcats will gladly accept their 31-16 win at Mooresville Monday (Dec. 9).

"Overall, not one person stood out," King said. "Everybody played well, hustled and ran the offense. Everybody got a lot of playing time.

"I guess it was one of our more team efforts. I subbed so many people. ... I had different lineups in that weren't used to each other. This is probably the most versatile team I've every had. It's easy to mix up our lineup."

The Red Imps fizzled against North's full-court pressure, walking more often than throwing the ball away. "We put a lot of pressure on the ball," King said. "Jackson and Queen did a good job. We put so much pressure on the ball that they walked a lot."

The Red Imps didn't account for more than four points in a quarter until the fourth, when the game was already safely put away.

Schluepner and Morton cleaned up the mess, teaming for 13 rebounds and 15 points.

Schluepner led six players with 11 points, Lanning added six and Dinkins had five. The Wildcats got four from Morton, three from Queen and two from Amy Campbell.

Dramatic Win Ends Losing Streak

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY – Davie girls coach Mike Dinkins hadn't had a good night's sleep in days, going into Friday's nonconference basketball game at Salisbury, a battle of two winless teams.

Dinkins' wife, Pat, summonsed him to arrange – and rearrange – three Christmas trees during Davie's 0-4 start, staying up as late as 2 a.m. "People don't realize what (the losing streak and the lack of rest) has been like," Dinkins said.

When Dinkins arrived home late Friday night, he couldn't sleep. Good thing the trees were up, Christmas knocked 12 days early.

The War Eagles, who averaged 30 turnovers and shot under 20 percent during the skid, rallied from a nine-point deficit to pull off a 31-29 victory.

"It's got to be good for the girls," Dinkins said. "The moral has got to go up."

Leslie Holcomb, a junior guard who was the shortest player on the floor, put Davie ahead (26-25) for the first time in 16 minutes with a 3-pointer in front of Davie's bench with 7:02 left.

Twenty seconds later, Holcomb, bombed in another 3 from the same spot for a four-point lead.

Now the team's leading scorer with a 6.8 average, Holcomb finished with a game-high nine points, four steals, three assists and two rebounds.

Backcourt mate Kathryn Jackson snatched five steals and three rebounds to go with her season-high eight points.

"Their playing time is going to go up," said Dinkins. "We might have to go small."

Forward Dana Smith and center Erin Umberger (five rebounds) added six points apiece to aid an alling offense from past weeks.

"Smith hit a key basket for us to give us a five-point lead. I thought that was big. That's six (points) we haven't been getting from her."

High School Freshman Too Much For Uncle Wrestling Coach

"We were wrestling in the floor the other day, and I tore the cartilage in my knee," Tim Johnson said, laughing. "We've been going at it. ... It runs in the family."

With South Davie's wrestlers rolling and North Davie surging, the chances of a North-South showdown for all the marbles on Jan. 27 at North is still a possibility.

"It might come down to a Davie County showdown," said South coach Matt Wilson, who defeated Ron Kirk's Wildcats in 1987 with the regular-season crown at stake, South's lone title in 16 years.

"I hope it does ... it can't do anything but make (Davie coach) Buddy Lowery better."

Winston-Salem State defensive back Deryl Wilson made a big splash on the CIAA, making the all-rookie team, while teammate Jonathan Vaughters' freshman season was splattered by injuries.

Vaughters, undersized at 225 pounds, should bulk up in the off season as he prepares to play a vital role next year.

"He was getting hit from all sides," said Andrew Faison, WSSU's defensive coordinator. "Right now, he's a starting linebacker going into spring ball. I look for him to add more weight. He's around 5-10, 5-11, and he needs to be a little heavier to go all 11 (games).

"He's a bull. ... I'm looking for big things out of him."

Leslie Holcomb kept firing away, and the guard finally ignited Davie to a 31-29 win Friday at Salisbury.

The junior, scoring a game-high nine points, hit consecutive 3-pointers from identical spots to hand her team the lead early in the fourth quarter, their first lead since the opening seconds of the second quarter.

After a rocky start, Holcomb saved her best for late. "I pulled her out in the first quarter and said, 'You've got to keep shooting. The shot's there. It's on the rim, you've just got to get it above the rim,'" Coach Mike Dinkins said. "And a little later on, she hit a real big 3 to give us a five-point lead."

For a team that is experiencing a severe case of the shooting blues, Davie's varsity girls will not have much time to solve the problem.

The War Eagles are averaging 29 points a game. "We're really going to be hurting going into exams (this) week," Dinkins said, "and we can't practice going into exams.

"So we (played last) Monday, they won't let us practice Tuesday and then we come back and play Friday. I'm basically missing three days of practice."

Then Dinkins remembered last year's crazy ride, though the conference tournament champions grabbed control of the wheel during the stretch drive. "I've had teams before do the same thing and come back and shoot the lights out," he said. "So you can't tell with these girls. Maybe we'll come out and really light it up."

Davie JV basketball coach Brian Cantrell had his hands full at West Rowan.

Davie lost 56-51. "It was one of those bizarre games," he said. "The scorekeeper had a tough time. She had the wrong points up. ... To be honest, it was hard to keep up with what was what. The refs couldn't keep up with what was going on.

"I tried to keep my mind on the score – more than the scorekeeper."

Respect Is Key To Success For Wrestling Coach

come here? People get behind them there. The community is behind them. It's a different world. When we lose, the bus ride's the same. He gets something out of the kids others can't."

In South Davie's early years, Tim Johnson, the brother of Davie native Terry, delivered the county's first shutout, his claim to fame. "Ron helped get me started," said Johnson, the Tigers' coach from '82-'84.

"Ask him who got the first shutout. We have a good time with it. ... He may not remember it."

Last winter's drainage appeared to have left Kirk in shambles, dropping a 47-42 season-opening match to Lexington to snap a 49-match winning streak.

Gary Hankins, Lexington's coach, played scrooge. "I would put him at the top of middle-school coaches in the state," said Hankins. "For my guys, North Davie shows us what wrestling's all about. I gage us on how well we do against Ron."

During this season's stretch run, teams will try to get rid of Kirk's stranglehold on the league. With a loss already, a reversal is conceivable.

Kirk acknowledged that last spring. "He's been known to stretch the truth," Johnson said. "When he says he's not good, that doesn't mean he's not going to finish first, second or third."

Coaches from yesteryear took their parting shots. "He'd take your kids and beat his kids," said Ray Rhodes, South Stokes High's football coach who battled Kirk in the '80s.

"He knows wrestling backwards and forwards," said Gates. "He's probably forgot more than I know."

"You better keep him because if he decides to leave, I'm going to take him," Hankins said.

"When you see him, tell him I'm thankful I left when I did," said Jimmy Christy, a former coach at South Rowan Junior High.

The Wildcats (5-1) have to take down six more opponents, assuming South Davie doesn't stumble, to set up a Davie County season-finale showdown. "He must be doing something right," said Christy. "I'm not in that room. I don't know what he's doing."

This is what: Kirk has built an immovable house that doesn't budge, and he's reserved a floor for rival coaches, one floor below the penthouse.

War Eagles Wallop Raider Wrestlers

A team that is aiming to get right by January appeared right last week.

Davie's wrestlers bounced North Iredell all over the mat 68-12 here Thursday for their sixth win in a row and seven out of eight decisions overall.

"We're hoping to get there by January," Coach Buddy Lowery said. "That's the time to get right. What helps is three or four good days of practice."

The Raiders were out of their league. "Everything fell our way," Lowery said of the five pins and four forfeits. "I'm not trying to embarrass them, but I want to wrestle hard. A lot of times you wrestle like the people you're playing."

This wasn't one of those times.

Adam Bailey, Adam Connor, Jeff Wilson, Pete Tunis and Brian Murphy took care of their men with pins.

Jon Mauney and C.J. Johnson's opponents went the distance, but paid the price. Both got a major decisions, Mauney's count was 10-1 and Johnson, 13-3.

Jake Marion, one of five War Eagles to get forfeits, had an opposition but he disappeared at bell time. "They weighed somebody in," Lowery said. "He just didn't wrestle. ... I don't know."

Jeremy Sink, Tim Ijames, Jamey Holt and J.J. Rice also accepted the easy six points.

Nick Summers and Zeb Carter were dropped for pins. "Nick wrestled well," Lowery said. "He just didn't get it done. (The Raider) was a pretty good wrestler.

"Zeb fell into it. If he'd ever got going, he'd have been all right."

Thad Johnson, Brad Smith, Zeke Earle, Adam Boger and Wil Lowdermilk, back after a serious automobile accident, won preliminary matches. "It was Wil's first time wrestling," Lowery said. "He's been drilling and doing the light stuff."

Coach Credits Veterans For Leadership

Leadership from the veterans is the reason for Davie's resurgence. "They're working hard. We're drilling, and plus, we've got a lot coming back," said Lowery, who has five senior starters.

"All of them are doing a real good job with leadership, roles that aren't noticed. They're patting (the underclassmen) on the back. I've got some pretty good kids.

"Jeff's working pretty hard. He complains sometimes, but they all do. Tim (Ijames) leads by example. I mean, he works his butt off. C.J., 8-ball (Connor) and Jake (Marion), same thing. None of them are vocal but they lead by example."

Jeremy Sink, Zeb Carter, Jake Marion and Pete Tunis each won two of three matches, while J.J. Rice prevailed in three of four.

Minor adjustments and all five could have joined the elite. "Sink barely got beat," Lowery said. "Zeb wrestled well. He got beat by East Davidson in the semifinals. He wrestled his hind-end off. He lost a good, close match against a guy (South Caldwell's Josh Raymond) in the finals who was MVP."

Sophomore Tunis, the seventh seed who is underweight at 189, shoved two higher seeds to the exits. "He beat a No. 2 seed," Lowery said. "It wasn't even close, then came back and pinned a No. 3 man and then got beat by (East Davidson's) Donald Childress.

"He's a junior or a senior, more of a true 189 pounder. Childress loses to get to 189. If Tunis adds 15 pounds of muscle, then he'll have it made."

Rice, a 5-6 sophomore, lost in the first round before a hot finish. "In the first round, he put a 275-pounder on his back two or three times," Lowery said.

"You can't make the sucker grow three more inches. There wasn't a doubt (Rice) was better, but that guy was bigger. Rice was better with technique. Too dang short is what he was."

Jamey Holt, Nick Summers and Tim Ijames split four matches. "Holt had a rough day," Lowery said. "He was close to being real good, but he got beat by East Davidson 3-2.

"Nick got pinned in the semis, just got caught. He was doing good at that point. Then in the consolation finals, he got beat 4-3. That's the kind of day it was – 4-3, 3-2.

"Ijames thought he'd be able to get (to the finals). Both of his losses were by one point."

Last weekend's breeze didn't offer the competition that the next two weeks will. "If we can get these holidays over with and keep our weight, it'll be great," Lowery said. "It's hard during this time, they're not on schedule.

"(Usually), you do this, you do this, you go home and go to bed. Now, you go to practice and have 10 hours to eat and get in trouble."

Sophomore David Nail injured his shoulder and will miss as much as a month. "He'll be out three or four weeks," Lowery said. "That's hurt us a little bit." .... Statesville, South Caldwell, North Davidson, Enka, Burns and Asheville were the other schools involved.

JV Wrestlers Win At Greyhound Classic Tournament

The type of punishment that took place Saturday at the Greyhound Classic, the kind that Davie's JV wrestlers inflicted and eight other teams suffered, held all the surprise of man bites dog.

Barneycastle

"Nobody scared us," Coach Jeff Barneycastle said.

Varsity wrestlers who couldn't make weight drifted down to the lower ranks, but were bounced by several War Eagels.

Six won first place – Thad Johnson, Brad Pack, Zeke Earle, Wil Lowdermilk, Nathan Joyce and Steve Lankford.

Johnson, Earle, Lowdermilk and Lankford had varsity wrestlers standing in their way, but they didn't get in the way. "We beat several wrestlers that didn't make weight for varsity," Coach Jeff Barneycastle said. "I know five or six varsity wrestlers were in the JV tournament that we beat.

"We got a lot of good mat time against some good competition. Our JVs are pretty tough. We can compete with the varsities."

South Davie Beats Undefeated Erwin

Lack of depth may be the only thing to slow South Davie's wrestling team this year.

If it eventually does, it's too late to rescue the Erwin Eagles, who were unbeaten until they visited Mocksville, where the Tigers dismantled Erwin 54-30 Monday (Dec. 9) to remain atop the Piedmont Middle School Conference.

The Tigers, who have lost starters Seth Correll (broken arm) and Tony Angell (broken collarbone) for possibly the remainder of the year, hammered Chestnut Grove on the road Wednesday to improve to 4-0.

The win over Erwin gave the Tigers reason to celebrate their arrival as a PMSC front-runner. "That was a good indication of how strong our team is," Coach Matt Wilson said. "I think we've got some holes to fill, but we're pretty strong."

The hole grew deeper when Neil Rice, a starter at 160, quit the team before it left for Chestnut Grove.

"We've lost two to injuries and one quit," said Wilson. "I'm running out of depth. We've got every (weight class) filled, and after Christmas we'll move people around to make us stronger."

Mike White, who dropped basketball, joined the team late last week. He'll probably take over at heavyweight.

The Tigers didn't shift gears until Drew Beck hit the mat at 131, where he pinned his Erwin opponent to give South its first lead at 21-18, an advantage the Tigers never relinquished.

Wesley Johnson followed with a pin, and after Luis Soto lost for the first time this year, Tommy Head and Patrick Lowery had consecutive pins for a 15-point lead.

Froelich got a pin and Dalton dominated in a 13-0 decision. Barber received a forfeit.

After Nathan Bolen and Jason Morgan claimed pins, the Eagles took care of Travis Call at 126, the last time they led in the match.

South Smiles

Assistant coach Howard Riddle, who was harassed by a fan after Koontz was beaten to start the match, watched the Tigers harass Chestnut Grove from 112 through 189, 11 divisions that were owned by South, eight by pin for a 72-12 victory.

Garner, Bolen, Johnson, Soto, Lowery, Froelich, Greg Tilley and Barber each had pins. Chestnut Grove handed Morgan, Call, Beck, Head and Dalton forfeits.

• Bolin, Beck, Johnson, Head, Froelich and Dalton are all 4-0. Garner, who missed weight one day, is 3-0. .... Soto, Morgan and Lowery each have one loss. .... The Tigers have tallied 259 points on the year to 78 by opponents, an average margin of 65-20.

War Eagles Kick Past Titan Team

Four War Eagles captured second-place finishes in two events: Sally Riddle was second in the 200 medley and the 200 free; Jill Prillaman in the 200 individual medley and the 500 free; Sarah Stein in the 50 free and the 200 free relay; and Betsy Riddle in the 100 backstroke and the 400 free relay.

Lisa Thompson (100 breast), Aimee Grole (100 freestyle) and Tracy Boggs (100 butterfly) also had seconds.

"I think they all improved their times, even the girls had slight improvements," Rondestvedt said.

Davie Girls Rally Past Salisbury

Smith's bank just inside the free-throw line, was the first points of the fourth quarter and the beginning of an 8-0 run.

Tiffany Robinson of Salisbury knocked down a free throw, making the score 29-26, before Dinkins opted for a spread offense, finishing the game with guards Jodie Stone, Jackson, Page Steed and Holcomb to go with Umberger.

"We took some of the time off the clock, because we only had three team fouls with under two minutes to go," Dinkins said. "So we let them use about 10 seconds and fouled."

So did the Hornets, who sent Davie's top free-throw shooters to the stripe in the waning minutes. The War Eagles responded by missing 8 of 10, including six straight.

Two foul shots from Umberger, who hit all four of her attempts, with 46 seconds left were half of Davie's points from the line out of 13 tries. "We shoot them everyday," Dinkins said. "You just can't explain it. We keep a chart everyday and we had our two best free throw shooters shooting the last six, and we didn't hit a one of them."

Stone, Jackson and Holcomb missed two each in the closing 27 seconds, but the Hornets flopped.

After Umberger's free throws gave the War Eagles their largest lead of the game, 31-26, Salisbury's Ellaevon Phifer nailed 3 of 4 from the line to slice the lead to two. Zsaqulta Poag misfired from point-blank range for a tie.

The game was decided when Holcomb rebounded Phifer's shot from 10 feet with one second left. "It was a big win for the girls," Dinkins said. "You know ... when you finally get your first one, the intensity will pick up."

With Smith, Holcomb, Jackson, Allison Foil and Umberger getting the nod, Davie shredded Salisbury's zone for a 9-6 lead after one quarter.

Four players scored in the period. Jackson lined home a 3-pointer 50 seconds in, Holcomb fed Smith for a layup, Umberger scored over two people, and Anderson's layup finished a fast break.

The Hornets played with stiff fingers, turning the ball over frequently as Davie limited its turnovers to 18 for the game. "We cut our turnovers down just simply because we went to a smaller lineup," Dinkins said.

The Hornets started the second quarter with a 12-0 spurt. Davie's only points in the quarter came right before the buzzer, when Jackson banked in a desperation 3-point heave to cut the halftime deficit to 18-12.

Davie was 5 of 27 from the floor in the half, including 2 of 12 from 3-point range. "That's been our problem all year," Dinkins said, "going eight to nine minutes without a score. We've got to find somebody to score when we really need a score. Right now we haven't found that person."

Davie was averaging 6.6 a quarter. Down by three after Holcomb's 3- and Umberger's free throws, Jackson stole an entry pass into the post, pulled up at the foul line and buried a jumper with just over two minutes left in the third. "That was a key possession because they had us outnumbered down there," Dinkins said.

Smith, from in deep, shot over three defenders for a basket before Salisbury closed out the quarter with five points for a 25-21 lead.

• Anderson, who has contributed in four of five games, scored two points. .... Davie (1-4) was 11 of 46 from the field and 5 of 23 on 3-pointers. .... In the previous four games, the War Eagles had been outscored by 18 points, averaging 28.5 per game. .... Ankle injuries had junior forwards Ashlee Andrade and Melinda Richie in street clothes. They will be missed for four to six weeks.

West Jumps Up Early

Falling behind 16-0, Davie couldn't make up enough ground to threaten West Rowan as the Falcons won 56-28 Dec. 10 in Mocksville.

The War Eagles outscored West 11-7 in the second quarter, closing to 23-14, but fell behind by 16 by the end of the third. West added insult to injury with a 20-8 spurt to end the game.

Holcomb led eight Davie players with nine points, including two 3-pointers.

Umberger had six, Stone added four and Smith, Jackson, Foil and Ashlee Andrade each had two. Jennifer Hendrix had one.

Walking Wounded: Team Battles Injuries

The walking wounded is becoming a group ordeal. injuries have four Davie varsity basketball players gimpy.

Junior guards Derick Faulkner and Charles Miller of Davie's varsity boys are sidelined temporarily and Melinda Richie and Ashlee Andrade, two varsity juniors, are limping on a long-term basis.

Miller is planning to return this week, after spending three weeks on the shelf from a deep thigh bruise that occurred during a second-round football playoff loss at Crest.

Faulkner, Davie's leading scorer (12.6 PPG) before the injury, suffered a possible stress fracture last week and his time table is in doubt.

He gave it a try early in Friday's game at Salisbury, but soon returned to the bench for good. "He tried to play and he can't move," Coach Darrell Steele said. "I told him, 'Derick, son, you need to go ahead and rest that thing and try to let it heal instead of me losing you for the season.

"Same way with Miller. Everybody's saying, 'When is Charles coming back?' Why should I throw him out there now when he isn't 100 percent? He said he's going to try to play next week. We'll see. I told him it's left up to him. ... I'm not going to (make the decision) until either his mom or dad tells me that he's OK."

Girls coach Mike Dinkins' has a bigger dilemma on his hands. The War Eagles, who have been manhandled on the boards, lost two of their top rebounders.

They managed to attack the glass somewhat better, Dinkins said, in their 31-29 win Friday night, Davie's first win in five tries.

But glaring at the big screen – Richie and Andrade are expected to miss four to six weeks – the War Eagles will undoubtedly miss their presence.

"We were really hurt," Dinkins said after the win. "Two of our better girls, who have been coming off the bench, giving us quality time, have ankle injuries. So we've got to regroup a little bit from that and see how that goes.

"We've been killed on the boards and Andrade's been getting three or four (rebounds) a game for us, and any time you can pick up an extra possession – especially the way we shoot – we need everything we can get."

Varsity War Eagles Struggle In Early Season Play

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY – After the road weary War Eagles arrived back to Davie High Friday night, basketball coach Darrell Steele, slumped over in a chair, tossed the cap of his empty drink bottle toward a nearby trash can.

He missed and was wide on two other tries, summing up Davie's fortunes at Salisbury.

A sympathetic player passing by picked up the lid and flushed it home, just like the Hornets flushed Davie 74-42 in a nonconference game.

Steele presumed Davie's 61-49 setback two days earlier to West Rowan, after the Falcons drilled Davie by 35 at their place, would serve as the needed boost going into Salisbury.

The turnovers had decreased from 28 in the opener to 25 and to 20.

The turnovers rose back to 28. "I thought after we played West Rowan we'd play a much better game, but good Lord," Steele said, "I don't know. ... I think my boys get intimidated. I don't understand it.

"We had 15 turnovers in the first half – in 16 minutes? That's about a turnover a minute. I don't understand it."

It didn't help matters when Derick Faulkner, the point guard who was averaging nearly 13 points a game until last week, was unable to go.

He tested his possible stress fracture early. The test was short. Faulkner's ankle allowed him to play only a couple of minutes. "I knew we were going to be in trouble tonight when I knew Derick wasn't going to be 100 percent," said Steele, who is waiting on the return of injured point guard Charles Miller, who has yet to play with a hurt thigh.

Trailing 18-8 after one quarter, Davie then turned to its big man, who delivered seven of his 10 points in the second quarter, all but three of Davie's total for the period, and swatted many of his 13 blocks for the game.

Foul trouble, which kept Spain on the bench for 16 minutes, all but took away his chance for a triple-double. He finished with five rebounds, including two assists and one steal on a 4-for-5 shooting night.

Even with Spain owning the lane, the Hornets outscored Davie 24-10 in the second to take a commanding 42-18 halftime lead.

Davie never threatened in the second half.

Josh Barnhardt joined Spain in double figures with 10 points, including three assists and two 3-pointers. Eric Kistler and Jason Neese, the team's top scorer at 11.8, added eight points each. Eric Alspaugh (four assists, two steals) and B.J. Johnson had two apiece, and Jamie Neese and Derrick Dulin had one.

The War Eagles shot 32 percent (14-43) from the field, making 3 of 9 3-pointers and 11 of 18 free throws.

Their average dipped to 54 points a game; opponents are scoring over 73.

• Faulkner's average is second on the team at 8.4, while Barnhardt (6.2) and Jamie Neese (6.0) are close behind. Kistler is averaging five and Alspaugh 4.6. .... The War Eagles have played four of their five games on the road.

Falcons Pull Away

After a 107-72 debacle one game earlier, the War Eagles shocked West Rowan by keeping the game tied at 9-9 after eight minutes.

The Falcons returned to form in the second, outscoring Davie 29-15 for an insurmountable lead on their way to a 64-49 victory.

The Neeses had strong showings for Davie, combining for 25 points, nine rebounds and 10-of-11 shooting from the field.

Jason Neese pumped in 15 points, and Jamie Neese was 5 for 5 from the floor for 10. Alspaugh and Tremaine Dulin added seven apiece and Faulkner was held to four. Davie got two each from Barnhardt and Kistler and Johnson and Cedric White had one.

The War Eagles were only 2 of 13 from behind the arc, while West drilled eight 3s.

Davie Center Ray Spain Shines In Salisbury

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY – Salisbury was the winner, but Davie County's Ray Spain was the story.

Spain, a junior center who is coming off a bout with pneumonia, made several of the Hornets' shots Friday night appear nauseated.

Spain

In a 74-42 romp in front of a full crowd, most of Salisbury's shots were quite healthy – when Spain wasn't occupying most of the lane with his wide wingspan and 6-7 height.

In just over 16 minutes of action – limited time because of three quick fouls – Spain had 10 points (nine more than he had all year), 13 blocks, five rebounds, two assists and one steal.

Spain was the only lit bulb in an otherwise dark outing for the War Eagles, who dropped their third straight game by double digits and fifth in a row overall.

Although he's one of the tallest players around, Spain has never walked as tall as he did exiting the Hornets' floor.

He had Friday's stage all to himself. Even veteran Salisbury radio voice Howard Platt was shaking his head as he loaded his van afterward. Scattered Davie fans slapped high fives as Spain swatted virtually every shot attempt from close range.

"Tonight, he was the bright spot," said Coach Darrell Steele of his project, whose father, Al, is 6-6 and brother, Brian, is 6-9. "Really and truly, it was his coming out party. He's been working hard in practice. Football was late and then he was sick."

Spain went from footnote to top story in the second quarter, when he scored seven points on three straight trips down the floor for all but three of Davie's points in the period.

Soon after, he picked up his third foul and he sat down until midway through the third quarter, which ultimately erased his chance for a rare triple-double, coming up five rebounds short of the feat.

Later, Steele second guessed sitting the big man down. "I should have just left him in there," he said. "When I took him out, I thought we might have still been in the second half. ... Then I looked up and said, 'I should've let him play.'"

Spain's emergence earned him a starting role for last Monday's game.

His minutes will presumably depend on fouls. "Hopefully, he'll do that night in and night out," Steele said. "I knew about his shot-blocking ability, but in some games, he gets a lot of fouls on that.

"Ray's a big kid with long arms. You can't teach six feet, seven inches, but you can teach the fundamental stuff. He works hard on his jumping ability and he's improved his free throws (2-3 vs. Salisbury)."

With some fine tuning, Spain can do similar damage on a nightly basis. "He's still got a lot of things he's got to work on and develop," Steele said. "He's got the tools but as I've said, he's going to have to continue to work and work and get better.

"To be honest with you, the brightest spot on the court was Ray Spain tonight, in an otherwise disappointing ballgame."

JV War Eagles Rout Salisbury For Fourth Win Of Season

Two freshmen, Shawn Brooks and John Orsillo, teamed for 39 points in Davie's 69-52 rout of Salisbury here Friday, the JV War Eagles' fourth win in five basketball games.

Their unbeaten streak of three games was snapped earlier in the week at West Rowan, 56-51.

Brooks' 23 points, four more than he had scored all year, didn't shock Coach Brian Cantrell. "Like I said, when we were at team camp, I knew he'd play JV ball," he said. "The guards did a good job getting him the ball, and the other points came from his hustle. He had a lot of putbacks."

Phillips, two points, did the intangibles and Orsillo had his fifth straight double-figure game with 16. "Duane is really playing well," Cantrell said. "He and Brooks have really stepped up the last few games. They've got their nervousness out, and their picking up the offense and the defenses. Basically, now they're playing like they can. It's not a surprise.

"(Orsillo) played real well. He's more comfortable with the defense. He's getting after it as far as rebounding goes."

Protecting a 28-26 halftime advantage, the War Eagles extended the lead to seven by the start of the fourth.

The Hornets were forced to foul late, and Greg Lanier turned out to be the wrong choice. "They put him on the line in the last two minutes," Cantrell said. "He hit 6 of 8, that really put the game away. He's pretty tough."

Those free throws accounted for all of Lanier's points, and Eric Kofke was the third War Eagle in double figures with 12. James Blakley and Larry Umberger added four and Kenny Collins had two.

Orsillo, is averaging a team-high 14.2 points a game, followed by Kofke's 9.4, Brooks' 8.4, Collins' 5.8, Umberger's 4.8 and Phillips' 4.2.

Falcons End Davie's Hot Flash

Kofke's season-high 17 points wasn't enough to deny West Rowan's 56-51 win, ending Davie's three-game winning streak.

Kofke, a sophomore, showed flashes of brilliance. "He's really stepped up, looking like he did last year," Cantrell said. "It's not only his points, his turnovers are real low and he dished out probably eight assists. He did a real nice job."

The War Eagles, trailing by one going into the fourth, didn't stop penetration by the Falcon guards and ultimately paid for it.

"We just didn't play real well, not fundamentally," Cantrell said. "If we allow penetration, we're not good at all. If we stop penetration, we can play with anybody in the league."

The Falcons held a comfortable margin throughout the fourth.

Orsillo and Collins had productive games with 10 and eight points, respectively. Davie got six from Phillips, five from Umberger, four from White and one from Brooks.

Deryl Wilson Named To CIAA All-Rookie Team

Winston-Salem State's Deryl Wilson, who has limited rope at home, didn't have a problem tying up ball carriers.

Wilson

"In this day and time, you give a kid rope and he'll hang himself," WSSU defensive coordinator Andrew Faison said. "I think it's good that his mom has tight reigns on him."

The freshman defensive back, who started the season on the Rams' bench, made a steady climb and ended up on the CIAA all-rookie team.

Off the gridiron, Wilson hit the books as hard as any opponent, attaining a 3.3 grade-point average last semester. "He's a great kid," Faison said of the 1995 Davie High graduate. "I'll tell you, he comes from a great family. His mom cracks the whip. If she was a male – and I'm not sexist – I'd like to have her as a coach.

"He's doing it on and off the field. He had a 3.3 (GPA). I rest assured he's still on the Dean's List."

This accomplishment will probably be a minor step before Wilson is done, according to Faison, who decided to redshirt Wilson before the 1995 season. "The only thing he was lacking was experience," he said. "We redshirted him so he could gain experience, and it's paid off. He did good things as a freshman.

"Now I've got a vision. The good thing about him is, he's calm, cool and collective and hasn't let it go to his head."

JV Girls Continue To Breeze By Competition

Play is slumping but wins are rolling for Davie's JV girls basketball team. The War Eagles beat Salisbury 40-23 here Friday and won at West Rowan (Dec. 10) 50-41.

"They were ugly, ugly wins," Coach Tammy Reavis said. "The more we play, the worse we play."

They've played well enough to improve their record to 5-0.

Christy Frogge's 12 points and Tina Harkness' 10 paced Davie's win over the Hornets, who fell behind 12-2 in the first quarter and never mounted a threat.

When the War Eagles doubled up the Hornets (16-8) to open the second half, their fifth win was in the bag.

Eight other players scored.

Molly Allred had four and Amanda Frogge added three, and Julie McDaniel, Ember Spillman, Elise Whitaker and Jerri Ann Angell had two apiece. Katherine Phillips and Amber Hamm had one.

Behind Christy Frogge's 14.2 scoring average, the War Eagles are outscoring opponents by 18 points. Harkness is scoring 6.6 a contest and Amanda Frogge, 5.6.

It was more of the same in Mt. Ulla, where the War Eagles jumped on the Falcons early and rode to a nine-point win.

Christy Frogge (16 points) and Harkness (nine) were responsible for half of Davie's output. Erin Baldwin produced a season-high seven, Amanda Frogge added six and Spillman and Phillips had four each. Hamm and Angell had two apiece.

The War Eagles extended a 16-10 lead to 11 by halftime and maintained control throughout the second half.

Coach Hopes Team Has Started Long Winning Streak

North Davie wrestling coach Ron Kirk believes in long winning streaks. The one he's riding isn't long, but it's got to start somewhere.

The streak is three after the Wildcats' 50-29 victory at Kannapolis Thursday.

The win pushed the Wildcats' record to 3-1, and they overcame adversity in the process, an uphill climb they couldn't make not so long ago.

"They've improved some," said Kirk, referring mainly to his middleweight wrestlers, who held their ground after growing pains at the outset of the season. "If we can get everybody healthy, we'll be OK."

Cassidy McMahan, a 152-pound wrestler, has missed recent action with an injured neck but should return soon. Justin Dyson has been ill, forcing some wrestlers who have been slowed by injuries or illnesses to come back sooner than expected.

With the short deck, Kirk wasn't able to fill the 152 and 189 weight classes, handing the Blue Devils 12 of their 29 points. "Every time I turn around, someone's sick or hurt," Kirk said. "Like I said, we're taking it day by day."

Tyler Black and Adam Sain, two unblemished wrestlers at 83 and 93, gave North an early lead at 10-0. Black got a second-period pin and Sain dominated with a 14-3 decision.

The Blue Devils took three of the next five divisions – by technical fall, pin and decision – to climb back, trailing 22-14, but Tommy Watson, Russ McManus and Andrew Ellis all pinned their men to put Kannapolis in a huge hole at 40-14.

All but three of the Blue Devils' points from there came virtue of North forfeits. Carl Wagstaff and Josh Stanley's decisions made the final margin 21 points.

Kirk was discouraged with narrow defeats at two spots – Mitchell Bullard's 12-10 loss at 119 and Chris Nichols' 1-0 setback at heavyweight.

"At 119, we lost because (Bullard) locked hands three times," Kirk said. "At heavyweight, we lost because we locked hands, just inexperience stuff, things we've got to improve on."

• Jon Ashley, Tim Dhonnhok, Kenny Orsillo and Michael Berghorn claimed preliminary victories. .... This marked the first time in four matches that the Wildcats have scored 50 points in a match. .... It was also North's widest margin of victory, after a four-point win at Lexington and a 16-point difference at Northwest Cabarrus.

Newman Optimistic As Wildcats Drop Two

Newman, North Davie's eighth-grade boys basketball coach, found them all, even though his team lost two games last week to fall two games below .500.

"We're just having a fundamental breakdown," Newman said. "They gave it their best, but they've got to realize they're competitive. They've got to get over that psychological bump.

"I don't care who's undefeated, this group is capable."

The Wildcats (2-4), trailing 29-14 going into the fourth quarter against Kannapolis here Thursday, put up a furious rally only to lose 41-37.

At one point, they cut the margin to 38-36. "What a comeback," Newman beamed. "This shouldn't have been happening. The kids didn't block out and we missed 16 free throws.

"It was a heck of a comeback, but they hit their free throws and we didn't. They put 'em in the bag down the stretch."

North's defense stiffened in the second, holding Kannapolis to two points for an eight-point halftime deficit, but a 10-2 surge by the Blue Devils to open the second half caused North to resort to the comeback trail.

"We didn't seem like we were executing, not on the offensive end," Newman said. "Nothing was happening (in the first half). They outrebounded us and we didn't convert.

"I don't think anybody wanted to score."

Wes Miller, North's lone double-figure man at 12 points a game, led seven players with 11 points. Eric Shepherd's eight and Matt Greene and Justin Goode's six gave the Wildcats plenty of weapons to turn to.

Red Imps Tilt Contest In 3rd

After staying close for a half, down 23-16, Mooresville put the Wildcats away by holding them scoreless for the entire third quarter in North's 43-27 loss.

The Red Imps scored eight in the period to put the game out of reach.

Miller hit his average with a team-high 12 points, while Shepherd had nine and Goode and Shawn Levan had four and two, respectively.

• Goode's second-best average is at 9.1 points a game, and Shepherd is at 7.5.

South Davie Falls To Erwin

The Erwin Eagles had their way with South Davie, taking both basketball contests by wide margins on the Tigers' home floor.

The Eagles jumped all over Mary Ann Edwards' girls (1-2) in the first quarter, outscoring them 13-2, and used an 11-2 spurt to start the second half on the way to a 37-20 rout Dec. 9.

Barry Whitlock's boys (0-3) fell behind 10-3 after six minutes and never caught up, dropping a 45-23 decision.

Shelby Michael, the team's leading scorer with a 7.0 average, and Katie Bernhardt led the girls with eight and six points, respectively.

Kim Hilton added four and Amber Carter and Mary Jo Hood had one apiece.

Erwin held top scorer Nicholas Propst to three points, 13 under his previous average, in its blowout. Rod Tenor led with seven points and Cory Dulin – praised heavily for his play off the bench and who will start next game, said Whitlock – added six.

Benial Davis' four, Chris Seaford's two and Bill Horan's one point was the remainder of South's scoring.

Newman, North Davie's eighth-grade boys basketball coach, found them all, even though his team lost two games last week to fall two games below .500.

"We're just having a fundamental breakdown," Newman said. "They gave it their best, but they've got to realize they're competitive. They've got to get over that psychological hump.

"I don't care who's undefeated, this group is capable."

The Wildcats (2-4), trailing 29-14 going into the fourth quarter against Kannapolis here Thursday, put up a furious rally only to lose 41-37.

At one point, they cut the margin to 38-36. "What a comeback," Newman beamed. "This shouldn't have been happening. The kids didn't block out and we missed 16 free throws.

"It was a heck of a comeback, but they hit their free throws and we didn't. They put 'em in the bag down the stretch."

North's defense stiffened in the second, holding Kannapolis to two points for an eight-point halftime deficit, but a 10-2 surge by the Blue Devils to open the second half caused North to resort to the comeback trail.

"We didn't seem like we were executing, not on the offensive end," Newman said. "Nothing was happening (in the first half). They outrebounded us and we didn't convert.

"I don't think anybody wanted to score."

Wes Miller, North's lone double-figure man at 12 points a game, led seven players with 11 points. Eric Shepherd's eight and Matt Greene and Justin Goode's six gave the Wildcats plenty of weapons to turn to.

Red Imps Tilt Contest In 3rd

After staying close for a half, down 23-16, Mooresville put the Wildcats away by holding them scoreless for the entire third quarter in North's 43-27 loss.

The Red Imps scored eight in the period to put the game out of reach.

Miller hit his average with a team-high 12 points, while Shepherd had nine and Goode and Shawn Levan had four and two, respectively.

• Goode's second-best average is at 9.1 points a game, and Shepherd is at 7.5.

South Davie Falls To Erwin

The Erwin Eagles had their way with South Davie, taking both basketball contests by wide margins on the Tigers' home floor.

The Eagles jumped all over Mary Ann Edwards' girls (1-2) in the first quarter, outscoring them 13-2, and used an 11-2 spurt to start the second half on the way to a 37-20 rout Dec. 9.

Barry Whitlock's boys (0-3) fell behind 10-3 after six minutes and never caught up, dropping a 45-23 decision.

Kim Hilton added four and Amber Carter and Mary Jo Hood had one apiece.

Erwin held top scorer Nicholas Propst to three points, 13 under his previous average, in its blowout. Rod Tenor led with seven points and Cory Dulin – praised heavily for his play off the bench and who will start next game, said Whitlock – added six.

Benial Davis' four, Chris Seaford's two and Bill Horan's one point was the remainder of South's scoring.

Christmas Cheer

Jaycees Spread Cheer To Davie County Children

Amy Wood tries to stay within budget as she helps Samantha Sanderson and Jennifer Caudle pick out some socks.

Every year the Jaycees take elementary school age children that might not otherwise have the opportunity on a holiday shopping spree at the Mocksville Wal-Mart, allotting each child $100.

An adult volunteer tries to make sure that the children spend about half the money on things they need and the other half on things they want.

Proceeds from the Jaycee haunted trail and donations from area businesses and civic groups enabled the Jaycees to take 42 children shopping early Saturday morning.

After meeting for breakfast at the Mocksville-Davie Recreation Department, the group headed to Wal-Mart where they enjoyed shopping and a special visit from Santa Claus.

"Christmas Cheer is the reason I joined the Jaycees," said project chairperson Jeanne Houpe.

Seeing the excitement on the faces of the children when they are finally able to get something they have wanted for a long time makes all the hard work worthwhile, she said.

Janie Williams was one of those children. She said she was finally able to get the cassette player she had wanted most of her life.

Now she will be able to listen to her favorite Tim McGraw song whenever she wants.

Samantha West was happy to get the shoes she needed and the "Baby All Gone" she had been wanting, according to her shopping partner Jeannie Trotter.

But not all of the children were able to get what they want, Houpe said.

One little girl wanted a bicycle with training wheels but wouldn't have had enough money left for the things she needed, she said.

"But I think Santa Claus may take care of that Christmas wish and a few more," Houpe said.

Talking to Santa in the snack bar when they finished shopping was a highlight for many of the children, she said.

One of the most touching things for a lot of the volunteers is seeing how many of the children use part of the money to buy gifts for their parents, grandparents or siblings, she said.

Gretchen Stamper said that six-year-old Ezekiel Curry wouldn't start shopping for himself until he picked out some candy for his mother.

"When they finished shopping, most of this year's volunteers were already asking if they could sign up to help again next year," Houpe said.

"Christmas Cheer just seems to have that kind of effect on people, she said.

"This is one of the largest groups we've ever taken [shopping], and we couldn't have done that without the help of a lot of people," she said.

Jaycees asked their spouses and friends to help, and a number of people called to offer their assistance, Houpe said.

Several local businesses have become standard contributors to the project – some donating money and others donating food and drinks for the children.

Just as helpful were the businesses that donated items and the volunteers who helped with the haunted trail, which is the Jaycees' major fund raising project for Christmas Cheer, she said.

"I've only been involved with the project two years, and it has become the highlight of the Christmas for me. I guess that's why so many people are anxious to help," she said. "It's what Christmas is all about."

Alicia Crotts helps Janie Williams and Tonya Correll choose the outfits they want, in the children's clothing department.

Ezekial Curry asks Gretchen Stamper for advice about whether or not to buy an Etch-A-Sketch.

John Wood offers his assistance to Ashley Brewer as she shops for some new clothes.

The bride-elect is a 1990 honors graduate of the University of Tennessee with a bacheior's degree in communications. She has served on staff with Campus Crusade for Christ for 6 years; first at Auburn University and currently in Zagreb, Croatia.

J. D. Furches, a self made man.

As is often said, man does not live by bread along. This could be said of J.D. Furches, always ready and willing to help his fellow man. Helping many to finance carts and homes.

J.D. always made his word his bond. If he promised a customer something, he would stand by what he told them. A lot of people would call J.D. over the phone and buy a car, saying I have never met you before, but they tell me you stand by your word. Honesty was his policy!

J.D. was a simple man with simple taste. He loved going to his place in the mountains, take Black Bones, his dog, and spend the day. Sometimes his family would go. He was making plans to spend more time there. He loved nature, but he would never rest when he was there, he was either cleaning out the branch or gathering wild grapes. His dog was always by his side.

J.D. graduated from Farmington High School and went to work as a mechanic for his brother, Rob Furches (deceased). After serving two years in the U.S. Army, he went back to work for his brother as a mechanic. Later he took a job at the Pontiac place in Mocksville and worked there for five years.

J.D. and Al Ellis formed a partnership and went in business at South End. Later he sold his half to Al Ellis, and went back to work with his brother Rob. They formed a Studebaker dealership and later Willis Dealership. Eventually, J.D. bought this dealership from his brother.

J.D. was in the car business for 56 years and loved every minute of it. A lot of people have said he was the only man they had ever seen that could listen to a motor and tell what was wrong with it.

J.D. first went in the Dodge business in 1965, took on Chrysler and Plymouth in 1971, and has had the full line for many years.

Some of the awards of excellence are: 1978 Penna Star, 1981 Star of Excellence, 1982 Award of Excellence, 1986-1987 Award of Excellence, 1991 Award of Excellence, 1994 Award of Excellence, 1985 Penna Star Club. He had won many things all over the world and enjoyed the fellowship of other dealers.

He enjoyed his family and grandchildren, but the business always came first! We will miss him more than words can express.

Wonderful Things Can Happen When Both Baptist And Presbyterian Put Their Faith In You.

We've formed an alliance with Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte that will provide a level of healthcare unequaled in this area.

To put it mildly, we were flattered. Two of the largest and finest medical centers in the state, Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, wanted to form an alliance with us. So, of course, we took them up on it.

And soon you'll be able to take advantage of shared services between all three medical centers. You'll have access to more specialists, greater technology, including high-tech heart surgery and cancer treatment, and more insurance options.

And when you add all that to the other great services we already have, it means you'll be able to get all the healthcare you need right here.

Which not only shows that wonderful things can happen when both Baptist and Presbyterian put their faith in you. It shows wonderful things can happen when you put your faith in Rowan Regional Medical Center.

In memory of J.D. Furches
A self made man in every way.
Working hard every hour of the day.
He touched so many lives you could name them all and he employed all kinds, great or small.
Always willing to lend a helping hand.
I can not name a more successful man.
He will be greatly missed, but he has answered Gods call.
And we will all meet again at God's altar call.

Fun Learning For 'Good' Kids

Special Classes Make Students Eager To Learn, Behave

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The first thing you notice when you walk into Stacy Stafford's classroom at Mocksville Middle School is the size.

There are only eight students, sometimes fewer.

The second thing you notice is the students. They're paying attention, eager to learn.

The third thing you notice is the Stafford's enthusiasm, and that of the assistant, Myrtle Stroud. They obviously enjoy their jobs.

Stafford teaches what is called a self-contained class. The students had trouble learning in a regular class setting.

"Our goal is to get them out of here full-time, into mainstream classrooms," Stafford said.

Some students stay longer than others. And programs fit each child's needs.

"All of the children in here have a different problem. Most have some type of emotional or behavior problem.

"We spend every second of the day on behavior. We're strict disciplinarians, we have to be. We're constantly talking to them about how they feel," she said.

There's nothing normal about this class. Students have snacks during class. Music plays in the background. Stafford runs up the hallway with one student, and dances back into the classroom. Another hides under pillows for a few minutes.

"These are all things to help them learn to pay attention," she said. "There is a purpose to every activity. We find something that works for each child."

Don't think this class is all fun and games. It isn't.

"People need to be there to tell them, 'this is what you need to do while you listen.' There's a heavy academic focus, and that's new to some of these kids, but they learn to love it.

"Now, they whine when we don't do reading and they whine when we dont have science."

The rewards for doing good in a subject aren't candy and prizes. The students get to do an extra activity designed to help them learn something about the particular subject.

"We try to make sure they know what they're here for, to learn new things," Stafford said. "They all have self-esteem, and self-esteem has to come from the inside, from doing something you're supposed to be doing.

"We're dealing mostly with personalities here. We try to get them to enjoy life," she said.

Students in the self-contained classes, and there is at least one at every school, go through extensive counseling and other intensive programs before the placement. The main criteria is that they still aren't learning in the regular class setting.

"It takes a year or a couple of years to work it out," Stafford said.

Stafford had no idea she would end up teaching these special children. She finished college and didn't even know they existed.

Then, four years ago, she came to the job at Mocksville Middle.

"Now, I can't imagine doing anything else," she said. "I love coming to work every day.

"If you'll take the time to listen, the problems are all fixable. These kids - all kids - are basically good.

"There's no reason these kids can't make it. You just have to motivate them to want to do better. These kids can get a good job later, they can go on to college," Stafford said.

Myrtle Stroud watches over the students, as Stacy Stafford explains today's lesson.

Beaver Honored For Community Service

During her 33 years working in the Davie County school system, Dr. Carolyn Beaver has had a number of roles, including teacher, guidance counselor and dropout prevention coordinator.

Beaver

She's the kind of person who won't accept the answer no, Counselor and Service Coordinator for Family Services of Winston-Salem Elaine Whitman told members of the Davie County Board of Education Dec. 2.

A counseling agency that handles everything from adoptions to operating a battered women's shelter has had an office on Sanford Road in Davie County for about a year.

But Family Services had been seeing clients from Davie County long before establishing an office here – often at Beaver's request, Whitman said.

Even when she was in a private practice, Whitman said she received calls from Beaver asking her to see children and their families and telling her she would find the money to pay for it.

"[Beaver] is the reason Family Services has an office out here," Whitman said.

"She respects and honors families and tries to find ways to match services to children," Whitman told the group.

Presenting her with a plaque for community service, Whitman said Beaver was one of the people honored at an awards banquet recently.

Beaver said she was honored to receive the award alongside such individuals as Cynthia Smoot of WGHP Channel 8 News.

When she calls and asks Family Services to see a child, they always manage to work the child in, never turning anyone away, she said.

"I appreciate their willingness to come to Davie County," she said.

Beaver said her church gives $1,500 each year to the at-risk fund, which she uses to help children.

Return Of The Kid

Redland Church Production A Modern 'Christmas Carol'

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Calvin Shepherd could be a modern-day Scrooge.

Sure, he likes Christmas. It brings in extra shoppers to his toy store, and extra dollars into his pocket.

But somewhere along the line, Calvin Shepherd lost the true meaning of Christmas. It would take an angel to bring that meaning back.

Area residents will get a chance to learn about Calvin Shepherd in "Return Of The Christmas Kid," a dramatic production presented by members of Redland Pentecostal Holiness Church Dec. 20-22.

The free production will take place in the church, on Baltimore Road just off Hwy. 158, at 7 p.m. Dec. 20 and 21 and 6:30 p.m. Dec. 22.

"It's a modern story of the Christmas Carol," said Jeana Garraghty, who has directed the church's Christmas play for years. "He substituted work as a Band-Aid for feeling. Then one day, on Christmas Eve, he ..."

Garraghty didn't want to give away the story, which features Ken Brownlow and Calvin Shepherd and his wife Karen Brownlow as the angel. Twenty-five church members are part of the cast.

"In his search back in time, he visits his father and mother's toy store. He has to re-deal with his mother dieing of bone cancer," Garraghty said.

Brad Wombaugh, who plays the role of Calvin's son, says it's on one of those trips back in time when Calvin accidentally breaks Baby Jesus in a manger scene.

"That's symbolic of the whole story," Wombaugh said. "He thought he was trying to put Jesus back together, but really, he was trying to bring his life back together."

"It's almost to the point Christ is put on the back burner, and without him, there would be no holiday," Garraghty said. "It took Calvin a while to realize that."

While the play has a serious meaning, there are some funny moments, Ken Brownlow said, like the time Calvin goes back to the fifth grade to recite the Christmas story from the Bible.

"He has to re-live being humiliated," Brownlow said. "He makes a disgusting shamble of the whole thing. It's riotous. There will be people rolling in the floors."

Drama has become a big part of Redland's ministry.

"There's a lot of talent built up in the church," Brownlow said. "It's a big part of the ministry of this church."

Wombaugh added: "We believe, that through drama, we can reach out to people who may not otherwise come to church. The whole idea is to uplift Jesus Christ."

Spiritual Resources: Focus On Person Of God

By the Rev. Richard S. Eskew

Many people are wearing lapel pins that say, "Jesus: the reason for the season." This is a great idea that reminds us to focus on the person of God and what it means in our hearts. This is especially true as we give praise to God in our many celebrations during these weeks. Many will disdain the secular observances, while others will have no traditional religious celebrations. God can use the spirit of Santa Claus, and I suppose that God wishes that religious observances were no more true to who Jesus really was and why he sent his son.

I just love all that surrounds Christmas! Let me share with you some reasons for the season:

Decorations stored in worn boxes are opened and placed on the Christmas tree and around the house. Pretty lights twinkle in the night and bring warmth to our dwellings. Burning candles flicker in a sacred flame as the Advent wreath leads us in the season of waiting for the Christ child. The Christmas tree glitters with ornaments from past celebrations: one ornament from a family Christmas many years ago, one from when our first child was born, and a new ornament for 1995. Lights outside homes further proclaim the celebration. Preparing for "the reason" stirs many feelings in our hearts.

Being close to family, friends, and even strangers is a part of "the reason." Many families will gather to exchange gifts and enjoy a festive meal. We will have the chance to be close and touch hearts. Lots of hugs and kisses will be given and many will give evidence our common need for love. Christ is the reason we love and have permission to show love.

Religious services help us focus on "the reason." How wonderful is the music of choirs and the smiles of children as they replay the story of Christmas. No matter how many times we see the story, it is always rich with blessing. The decorated church and special offerings for missions here and abroad call for our best. Folks become benevolent as they find that "the reason" for giving far exceeds any blessings of the past year.

All of these examples of our Christmas celebrations are intended to bring us as close as possible to "the reason for the season." I long to sit in awe beside the manger with Mary and Joseph and feel the presence of God's holiness, trying all the while to comprehend how much this child Jesus loves me and how God blessed me in this ultimate gift-giving. How wonderful and unbelievable it is to know that "the reason for the season" has not changed for 2000 years. God is still celebrating and the heavens are lighted with the glory of millions of angels singing praise.

Yes, the Christ Child is "the reason for the season." Yet through this act God is also saying to all people, "You are the reason for the season."

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believes in Him shall have everlasting life. For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved." John 3:16-17

Recommendations To Parents Help Decrease SIDS Deaths

In 1994, the national "Back to Sleep" awareness campaign was begun to educate the public about the American Academy of Pediatrics' (AAP) recommendations that healthy infants no longer be placed on their stomachs to sleep.

The N.C. SIDS Program, Division of Maternal and Child Health began its own campaign the following year. The National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) recently reported a 30 percent reduction in SIDS deaths since the release of the AAP recommendation.

Survey results show that the nationwide "Back to Sleep" campaign efforts have played a significant role in the reduction and have resulted in 1,500 infant lives being saved. Before 1992, 70 percent of infants in the U.S. slept on their stomachs; now 70 percent sleep on their backs or sides, said Julie Coleman, Davie health department social worker and SIDS counselor.

SIDS, or Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, is the sudden death or an infant under 1 that remains unexplained after an autopsy, an examination of the scene of death and review of case. SIDS continues to be the leading cause of death in children between 28 days and 1 year, accounting for some 6,000 deaths in the United States each year.

Autopsy reports from the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner in Chapel Hill indicate that in 1995, a total of 119 North Carolina infants died from SIDS.

According to Dennis Harrington, Davie County's health director, "From 1992 to 1995, a total of 514 confirmed SIDS deaths were reported for North Carolina and two of those were from Davie County."

SIDS most often occurs in infants between the ages of one week and seven months. The infants are seemingly health and no cause of death is found upon autopsy. According to the SIDS Alliance, it is likely that SIDS, like many other diseases, will eventually have more than one final explanation. Research in recent years suggests that placing normal infants on their sides or backs to sleep may reduce the risk of SIDS.

Although it is hoped that back or side sleep positioning will decrease the number of SIDS cases, SIDS cannot be predicted or always prevented. For families that lose an infant to SIDS, help is available through the Davie Health Department. The department offers a trained SIDS counselor to provide families with bereavement support and information about SIDS.

The counselor is available to conduct workshops for other professionals involved with SIDS families such as funeral directors, emergency management personnel, hospital emergency staff, ministers or churches and other community groups.

More information about SIDS can be obtained by contacting Coleman, (704) 634-8700. She is available Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Public Demand Growing For Traditional Home Health Care

There is a growing demand for health care services available to the public in their own homes. Some of the reasons for this demand have to do with tradition, technology and cost-effectiveness. Home care is the oldest form of healthcare-and it is also the newest, said Janet Blair, home health coordinator with the Davie County Health Department.

Modern technology has developed to the point where many services available in a hospital can be provided at home. There is significant evidence that it is less costly than other forms of care, and it is a satisfying form of health care available to the public, Blair said.

On Nov. 22, the health department's home health agency staff joined other local health care providers and city, county, and state governmental leaders in a luncheon celebration. The lunch was provided by the Southland Medical Supply Company. Several city and county governmental leaders made home visits with some of the health department's home health nurses.

According to Dennis Harrington, Health Director and President of the North Carolina Alliance of Public Home Health Agencies, "Home care has increasingly received public legislative attention. The cost-effective and high quality services available in today's home care agency offers an attractive alternative to institutional care at a time when our nation is facing pressures to curb the rising cost of health care in all sectors, public and private."

The health department's home health agency was founded in 1972. The agency provides home care services on a daily, weekly, or monthly basis to nearly 400 clients each year. Services provided include nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, medical social work, and in-home aide care.

Fees for services are paid by Medicare, Medicaid, and private insurance. In the absence of a third party payer, limited state funds are available through the Home Health Services Program (HHSP). Eligibility for these funds are based on a sliding fee scale and the household income of the patient.

Hospice services are available through the agency. "The integration of Hospice services into our local Home Health Agency offers our clients a more comprehensive array of services to help meet their in home care needs at all stages of their lives," Harrington said.

Hospice of Davie County was organized in 1984 as a voluntary, community-based, non-profit organization. The purpose of Hospice is to minister, share concern, and render aid to the terminally ill and their families.

Blair, executive director of Hospice, says that "an individual is eligible for Hospice care if they have been diagnosed by their physician to be terminally ill and have less than six months to live."

Services offered by Hospice are: physician-directed medical care, nursing care, emotional support provided by trained volunteers, spiritual support, social work services, bereavement, and education about a terminal illness. Hospice is supported by United Way funding, community donations, memorial contributions, and bequests.

As an alternative to institutional care, home care fosters a sense of independence and self-respect by affording patients the right to receive services in the comfort of their homes, with the reassurance and companionship of family and friends. Home care is recommended to families by their physicians, medical social worker or hospital discharge planner. Home care is appropriate for persons recovering from illnesses or accidents and for those suffering from chronic long-term conditions such as diabetes, high blood pressure.

In North Carolina, home care is available to people of all ages. Current statistics reveal that 68 percent of home health patients are over 65 years of age and most have more than one medical complication or condition. Furthermore, home health agencies are more frequently being asked to provide patients with medical services in the home that have been initiated in a hospital such as IV therapies.

The Davie agency is a member of the NC Alliance of Public Home Health Agencies, the N.C. Association for Home Care, and is fully accredited by the N.C. Accreditation Commission For Home Care, Inc.

For more information about services, Blair at (704) 634-8770.

Hadley Finishes Basic Training

Hadley completed 11 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits physically and mentally.

Hadley and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a.m., by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Hadley spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training.

Hadley and fellow recruits worked as a team to solve a number of tactical problems during the program. They performed close order drill and operated as a Marine small infantry unit in the field.

Advance Residents Celebrate Season With Annual Parade

ADVANCE - Merry Christmas, ya'll.

Folks here know how to put on a parade.

The second annual event - complete with two sheriffs, Davie's Allen Whitaker in front and Davidson's Gerald Hege in the not-yet-world-famous Spider Car, went on without a hitch Saturday morning.

There was doubt it was Christmas. Area churches sang Christmas carols. Little children dressed as angels. The Davie High School band played seasonal tunes.

But there was more. Area businesses, farmers and individuals got in the spirit. Some did little more than put a wreath on a tractor and drive it down the street. Others went a step further, such as the "Frontier Christmas" float. The Indian could be heard up and down the street.

And there were dignitaries. WTQR's Aunt Eloise could barely see above the roof of the limousine in which she was riding.

The homecoming queen of Advance High School, 1956, rode on the back of a convertible. "She" gave a new meaning to the word queen.

Even the Advance postmaster rode on the back of a car. But was that really her?

There were the usual fire trucks blasting sirens. The noise coming from a Cornatzer-Dulin truck was Michael Allen, singing, or attempting to sing, "All I want for Christmas is my two front teeth." Don't quit your day job, Michael.

The parade has quickly grown to Davie's largest, with nearly 200 entries. Crowd estimates were in excess of 1,000.

The parade is sponsored by the Advance Volunteer Fire Department and the community group, "What Christmas Is All About."

This lovely lady claims to be the 1956 Advance High School Homecoming Queen.

The Davie High School band performs Christmas music as they march past the spectators on N.C. Highway 801.

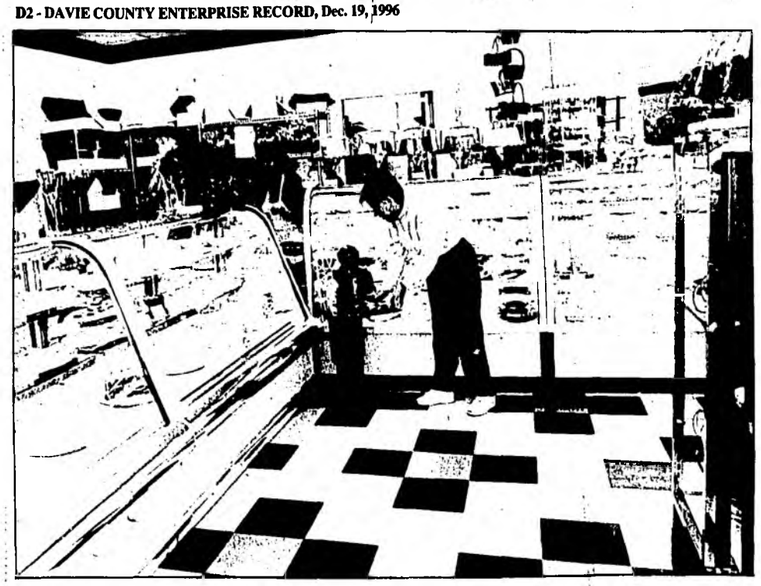
A couple of Santa's elves were on-hand to lead the procession through Advance Saturday morning.



Ketchie Creek owner Debbie Koontz uses one of the bakery's decorations to display some fresh baked rolls.

Ketchie Creek Bakery Moves To New Location

Just over 13 years ago, Debbie Koontz quit her job at Belk so she could spend more time at home with her children.

Then someone asked her to bake them a cake.

That request started a business that went from her basement to Squire Boone Plaza in 1990 to a new store on Valley Road in Mocksville a couple of weeks ago.

And Ketchie Creek Bakery is much more than Debbie Koontz baking a cake at home. She has 12 employees helping to make the cakes, candies, pies, cookies and other sweet concoctions the store sells.

With the new location, the list has expanded. Ketchie Creek is open for lunch, serving fresh soups and sandwiches featuring the New York style deli meat, Boar's Head.

Cappacino and Expresso is sold ("People are going bonkers over that."), and Ashby's Ice Cream as well. Sugar cake and more chocolate candies have been added.

The gift line, baskets, salad dressings, specialty vinegars, paper products, gift baskets and other items have been expanded.

"We saw a demand for nice, quality things," Koontz said. "We try to make good products all the time."

Ketchie Creek is open from 7 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 7-8 on Fridays and 7-5 on Saturdays. Lunch is served from 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

"In January of this year, we wanted to expand and were unable to acquire any more space where we were," she said. "We've proven that this is the kind of thing people want."

Koontz chose local architect John Fuller to design her new building. Wishon & Carter were the builders.

"I wanted a real contemporary, fun place," she said. "Everything we've always done, that's all the same. We have a wonderful staff, very conscientious. There's no way one person could do this.

"I feel really blessed with the way it has grown. I didn't plan this. I would never have dreamed this," she said.

Aprons Made For Alzheimer's Patients

Davie County's extension homemakers have started a project, sewing aprons to help area Alzheimer's disease patients.

The aprons, called "fidget aprons" are made with a variety of objects, such as buttons, bows, zippers, bells and other items that give the patients something to do with their hands.

According to Davie County Senior Center Director Kim Shuskey, Alzheimer's patients often become restless and fidgety as the disease progresses.

The aprons can reduce the anxiety patients feel by giving them something to do with their hands, she said.

If you have an Alzheimer's disease patient who could benefit from a fidget apron or are interested in sewing an apron, call the Davie County Senior Center at 634-0611.

Mocksville Man Serves On USS Nassau

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Michael L. McKnight, son of Von L. and Glenda S. McKnight of 1538 Cornatzer Road, Mocksville, recently departed on a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Nassau.

McKnight is one of nearly 940 Sailors and Marines who left his home port of Norfolk, Va., with the lead ship of the USS Nassau Amphibious Ready Group (ARG), which also includes the amphibious transport dock USS Nashville, the dock landing ship USS Pensacola and the 26th Marine Expeditionary Unit. The ARG will travel to the Mediterranean Sea to participate in several multinational amphibious landing exercises.

The USS Nassau ARG and its embarked Marines present a U.S. presence which can provide a rapid response in times of crisis. With helicopters, conventional landing craft and high speed air cushioned assault craft, and ARG's Sailors and Marines like McKnight's can conduct a variety of missions from reconnaissance and amphibious assaults to evacuating civilians and providing humanitarian aid.

USS Nassau and its amphibious ready group are scheduled to return to the United States in May.

The 1989 graduate of Davie High School joined the Navy in October 1991.

If you missed the play and singing at Eaton's Baptist Church last week, you really missed out. You should of seen the little children holding their candles. Even the really small children were so proud to hold their candle even though their's were not lit.

The Cana Homemakers Annual Bazaar went well. The weather was perfect. No rain but a cool chill blowing to make that wassail taste so good. There were so many people this year we thought we were going to have a parking problem, but we didn't. I counted over 60 cars. With the average car having 2 to 3 people in it.

Sports Store Finds New Home

R&J Sports has moved from Squire Boone Plaza to a new store on Country Lane, just off Hwy. 601 in Mocksville.

Ronnie and Jeanette Smith started the business in 1977 in a shop beside their house, selling mostly hunting supplies.

The business expanded and it was moved to downtown Mocksville, and eventually ended up in the shopping center, where it operated for nine years.

It also evolved into a shop that supplied screen and embroidery prints as well as engraving for ball teams and leagues.

Increasing rent and the desire to move all the business under one roof (The screen printing was still done in the shop beside their house.) was the reason to seek a new location, Ronnie Smith said.

Smith embroiders a name on a Davie High letter jacket.

– Photos by Robin Fergusson

The new 2,300 square foot building allows Smith do work on the screen printing and embroidery while watching the store. All of the work is computerized.

Smith said he has found his niche in the sporting goods business. Located in a small county, he can't compete with bigger stores to get business from schools and leagues. "They (teams) don't come here because I don't have it, and I don't have it because they don't come here."

Many of the sporting labels such as Nike and Starter are also hard to come by, because a retailer has to buy in bulk - in quantities single stores can't afford, Smith said.

Still, there is a market. Embroidered names on letter jackets are popular, as are screen prints on t-shirts and sweatshirts. Caps can be screen printed or embroidered.

And while those bigger stores may have a bigger variety and the brand names, do they offer North Davie, South Davie and Davie High School items?

Not likely. But R&J Sports does.

There were 23 senior citizens treated to a delicious meal at Clemmons Kitchen on Thursday evening, and then to enjoy the Tanglewood Festival of Lights. Our thanks goes to Larry Boles, and Eddie Weatherman for the transportation, and the secret pal for paying for all the food and lights.

Remember all the ones in nursing homes, and all the many that are sick in their homes, and hospital with the bug that is going around.

The East Davie Senior Citizens met Monday, Dec. 9 for their Christmas party, and that will be their last meeting until the month of April due to bad weather months.

I would like to wish everyone that reads this column, and all others a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Safe Food Practices Important At Holiday

RALEIGH--Holidays are meant to be a festive time. As families gather to share in meals, care needs to be taken to ensure food safety so relatives only suffer from being "over stuffed" and not some food-borne illness.

Preparing and serving a safe and delicious holiday meal means starting with fresh ingredients and using safe food handling, preparation and storage practices. If one of those elements is ignored, safety can be compromised.

Before you even take home ingredients to prepare the big feast, inspectors with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture routinely test food to ensure its safety.

This year about 50,000 food product samples will be tested to ensure their quality, said Bob Gordon, director of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture's Food and Drug Protection Division. Each sample will go through an average of four different quality assurance tests.

"The North Carolina Department of Agriculture works hard every day for consumers to make sure the products you take home meet safety guidelines," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said. "This helps protect the public from harmful substances and ensures that consumers are not putting themselves at risk."

Apple cider and apple juice, a seasonal favorite, has drawn close scrutiny from inspectors this year following the widely reported discovery of the harmful E.coli bacteria in a California-based brand of unpasteurized apple juice.

Random samples have been taken of both pasteurized and unpasteurized juice produced in North Carolina and outside the state. No E.coli bacteria has been found in any of the tested products, Gordon said.

The department's focus shifts during the holiday season to items likely to find their way to your table--such as nuts, hard candies, honey and seasonal vegetables.

"In the case of nuts and candies, we try to make sure they are fresh and haven't been held over improperly from last year," Gordon said. Improper storage could result in bugs in the product or spoilage.

In testing honey, inspectors are looking to see if the product is pure honey or a lesser quality product. In the past, Gordon said inspectors discovered producers mixing honey and corn syrup to stretch their honey supply and, in the end, sweeten their profits.

Starting with a safe food supply doesn't always guarantee food safety once the dishes are served. Harmful bacteria can develop in food just two hours after cooking, said Barbara Wilkinson, a NCDA home economist.

"You can't always look at food and see the bacteria and smell it. Not all bacteria is visible, especially in meats," Wilkinson said. "I would be real careful about not saving meat more than two to three days in the refrigerator."

Symptoms of food-borne illness include diarrhea, vomiting, stomach cramps and a flu-like feeling. "Often people dismiss food-borne illnesses as a 24-hour virus when in actuality it was probably caused by something they ate," Wilkinson said.

Heat is one of the primary combatants of harmful bacteria, therefore food needs to be cooked to a specific internal temperature. The internal temperature is the degree of heat inside the meat.

Turkey should be cooked to an internal temperature of 180 degrees and ground beef dishes, pork or ham to 160 degrees. Food thermometers should be placed in the thickest section to ensure it is cooked thoroughly.

Other healthful tips:

•After the holiday meal clear the table and store leftovers in the refrigerator to thwart bacteria. "You don't really want to leave it out to snack on four or five hours later," Wilkinson said. Cooked foods typically are good for three or four days after initial use.

•Leftover gravies should be heated to boiling when reusing.

•Cream pies, such as coconut and lemon meringue, need to be stored in the refrigerator.

•Products containing eggs or mayonnaise need to be promptly refrigerated.

VFW Defends Firing Range As Safe, Needed For Police Training

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

There are two sides to every story.

While about 70 Garden Valley residents have signed a petition urging Davie County and the town of Mocksville to close the firing range on Sanford Road, members of the VFW want to see the range they built for the people of Davie County remain open.

Since it was built by the VFW and Davie County Law Enforcement Association in 1984, the range has been used primarily as a firearms training facility for law enforcement officers, according to VFW Post Commander Harold Frank.

Officers must qualify during the day and at night in order to carry a gun, explained Frank, also a former special deputy for the Davie County Sheriff's Department.

Since residents began complaining about the noise and danger created by the firing range, the Mocksville Police Department has done virtually all of its firearms qualifying outside the county. Recently Sheriff Allen Whitaker also agreed to make arrangements for his officers to do their firearms training outside the county.

To save taxpayers the expense of sending officers to Davidson County to qualify was one of the reasons the firing range was built, Frank said.

Residents donated money to have the range built, and no tax dollars were spent on the project, he added.

People probably wouldn't be too happy if most of the county's law enforcement officers are out of town qualifying with their firearms when a catastrophe happens, VFW member Irvin Hepler said.

Not only has the range been used for firearms qualifying by local officers, it has also been used to teach firearms safety classes to several hundred county residents, Frank said.

Davie County has 14 instructors certified to teach these classes. Four of them are qualified to train law enforcement officers, he said.

The facility has been used to train individuals to carry a concealed weapon as required by the state concealed weapons law, he added.

In addition to pointing out the benefits of having a firing range in the county, Frank and Hepler refuted each of the arguments presented by Garden Valley spokesman John Barnette at the December meeting of the Mocksville Town Board.

With shots fired toward Sanford Road, Barnette said residents of the Davie County Group Home located across from the firing range are frightened of stray bullets.

Frank said representatives met with the group home director before the firing range was built, and there have never been any direct complaints from the group home.

Any stray bullets across Sanford Road have probably come from hunters using the woods around the VFW, he said.

"To shoot out, you'd have to do it on purpose," Frank said, "and it would be hard to shoot out if even if you wanted to."

Woman Cut In Throat

Man Attempts Suicide; Arrest Warrant Issued

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Davie woman was in an intensive care unit at Rowan Regional Medical Center in Salisbury on Sunday night, being treated for a "serious" cut to her throat at the hands of her live-in boyfriend.

That boyfriend was a patient at N.C. Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem, being treated for what authorities believe is a self-inflicted cut to the throat.

Warrants have been issued charging Ray Lamar Wagner, 46, of 1848 Junction Road (He also had a Harmony address.), with attempted murder, said Davie Sheriff's Detective Lt. Jimmy Phipps. Wagner was under watch by deputies at the hospital Sunday night, and was expected to be arrested on Monday morning.

Melanie L. Jordan, 40, also of 1848 Junction Road, ran to a neighbor's house just before 10 a.m. Sunday. She was bleeding from the throat.

Talking Trash: County Eyes Awarding More Commercial Franchises

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County was one of the first rural counties to start a recycling program.

And for the past six years, other counties have followed Davie's example of recycling success.

Several residents told county commissioners last week they want that recycling success to continue, and fear it won't if the county isn't careful when it changes the way companies are allowed to collect garbage.

Currently, Davie Sanitation has exclusive household and industrial and commercial rights for garbage collection in Davie County, with companies that had accounts prior to the county ordinances allowed to service those businessess.

Although the commissioners plan to give Davie Sanitation another exclusive franchise for household garbage collection, they appear ready to open up the industrial collection to any company that meets standards yet to be set.

The key, they said, will be making sure that all companies collecting garbage take that garbage to the county's solid waste transfer station; therefore paying tipping fees that help pay for the recycling program.

Russell Barber of Davie Sanitation said for it to be fair, all companies should be required to take waste to the county facility. "Every truck load (we have hauled) has faithfully gone to Davie County ... at $47 a ton," he said.

He asked commissioners how they would stop other companies from going to other landfills, some at costs as low as $22 a ton. He also warned about the practices of some major garbage collection companies.

"We're not stopping them now, and I'm worried how we're going to stop them later (from taking trash to landfills in other counties)," Barber said.

"They are going to come in and cut the prices, and when they run you (competition) aground, you're going to see higher prices," Barber said. "Do what is fair to the citizens of Davie County."

Commissioner Larry Hayes said companies failing to follow the ordinance by taking trash to the Davie site should be fined, with the franchise revoked on the second offense.

Commissioner Diane Foster said that franchise should be revoked on the first offense.

All residents who spoke at a public hearing spoke in favor of Davie Sanitation.

Elizabeth Bohl said Davie Sanitation plays a major role in making the county recycling program a success.

Unifi Davie Plans: Warehouse, Office, Manufacturing

A warehouse, offices and manufacturing facility could be built by Unifi, Corp. on 162 acres of land recently purchased in central Davie County.

The company has petitioned the county to rezone the land from residential-agricultural to Industrial I-4. The land is located on the northwest side of I-40 between Rainbow Road and Pinebrook School Road, at the end of Lee Jackson Drive (State Road 1463).

Proposed uses of the land, according to a news release from the Davie County Planning and Zoning Office, include developing warehousing, office and manufacturing facilities.

The company paid more than $500,000 for the land, purchased from Titan Ventures.

A Unifi spokesman could not be reached for comment.

A public hearing on the request is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the commissioner's room, second floor, Davie County Administration Building in Mocksville. The county planning board will make a recommendation to county commissioners, who later will have the final decision.

Terry Bralley, chairman of Davie's council on economic development, said Unifi had been considering locating here for quite some time.

The Bible's Story Of Christmas

And it came to pass in those days that a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered.

This census first took place while Quirinius was governing Syria.

So all went to be registered, everyone to his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be registered with Mary, his betrothed wife, who was with child.

So it was, that while they were there, the days were completed for her to be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling cloths, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

Now there were in the same country shepherds living out in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were greatly afraid.

Then the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which will be to all people. For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord.

"And this will be the sign to you: You will find a Babe wrapped in swaddling cloths, lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying:

"Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace,
good will toward men!"

So it was, when the angels had gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said to one another, "Let us now go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us."

And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger.

Now when they had seen Him, they made widely known the saying which was told them concerning this Child.

And all those who heard it marveled at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart.

Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told them.

And when eight days were completed for the circumcision of the Child, His name was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before He was conceived in the womb.

(Luke 2:1-24)

Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, saying, "Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the East and have come to worship Him ..."

When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy.

And when they had come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshiped him. And when they had opened their treasures, they presented gifts to Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

Lack Of Conviction Makes Sad Day For Davie

To the editor:

The rezoning of 300 acres has been approved, was any one surprised? Any one looking at the track record of the board of commissioners shouldn't have had any doubt as to the outcome.

Part of the problem is the people themselves. One person remarked "It's a sad day for Davie County" but didn't have a strong conviction to put his name to the statement. Like to many others they won't stand up and be counted.

Diane Foster said she voted to approve because the developers modified the density of the project. Are we to assume that this agreement is set in concrete, and the density can never be increased? Sounds good but only time will tell. I didn't hear any one promise to jump off the Wachovia building if the density was increased. As I've stated before I have mixed feelings about development. I don't see to much wrong with more shopping area, another grocery store, some other stores, a little competition, so our tax dollars stay in Davie County. There is enough residents in East Davie presently to support more shopping area.

At this point there isn't much that can be done short of laying down in front of the bull dozers when construction starts.

Bert Bahnson got the dirty end of the stick. He said he may go back to farming and keep his mouth shut. I doubt that I will go back to driving a truck and I know that I will not keep my mouth shut.

The commissioners had themselves in a box after making the commitment with Forsyth County on the sewer line. If they voted against the approval the developers would have reneged on the financing, canceling the agreement with Forsyth would have had the commissioners with egg on their faces, would have been bad for their image. They couldn't allow that.

Family Blessed By Time In Mocksville

To the editor:

Almost seven years ago, Security gave me the opportunity to choose between Mocksville and another Piedmont North Carolina area for a new workplace. After only one visit to each town, Mocksville was selected, a decision which was never regretted.

In the world of mergers and acquisitions, however, plans are sometimes foiled. Such is the case for the Huntleys. Now we're spending this holiday season in yet another town. It's not Mocksville.

But among life's greatest blessings are the true and lasting friendships which distance cannot take away. During our relatively short time in Mocksville, we were truly blessed, as we crossed paths and gained the friendship of some of the finest people on earth. The value of friends is far greater than money, position or title.

Please accept this as our sincere "thanks" to all who made our lives better for having known you. We extend the warmest holiday greetings and best wishes for 1997 to all of Mocksville/Davie County.

May God continue to bless you.

Christmas Cheer Successful Again

To the Editor:

The Mocksville-Davie Jaycees were able to help 42 Davie County children recently through our annual Christmas Cheer project. We couldn't have done this without the many people who volunteered their time to help us shop that morning and to who helped us raise money for Christmas Cheer at our haunted trail in October.

We are also grateful to the local businesses, civic organizations and individuals that donated money to the project or food for the children.

Special thanks should go to the town of Mocksville for use of Rich Park for the haunted trail, which was our major fund raising effort for Christmas Cheer and to Santa Claus for visiting the children at Wal-Mart while we were shopping Dec. 14.

Coming Home For Christmas

In preparing for the last issue before Christmas, I had a chance to interview a number of ministers and in the course of those interviews, one of the ministers said something that stayed with me in the days and week that followed.

Lynn Hall

He said that there is something in the Christmas story that draws people home, both figurative and literally. He, as well as the others I spoke with, talked of the need most people have this time of year to cling to past traditions or create new ones, images that hold together for us all the warmth and joy and security that being part of a family means.

Two weeks ago the Rev. Neal Wilcox, executive director of the Rescue Mission, talked about people who are homeless and estranged from their families, coming in search of a place to find a sense of belonging during the holiday season.

Loneliness is terrible no matter what the season, but something about Christmas seems to touch that special place in the heart that needs membership, to feel a part of something and be included. No matter what our current situation, almost everyone has special childhood memories of Christmas and family, even when those memories have faded with time, become ragged around the edges, we can still look at a Christmas card, see a lighted tree shining through a window, a nativity scene displayed in a store window, and be instantly that child again. It's one of those moments that encompasses both the greatest joy and at times, the most painful sorrow.

The popular Christmas song, "I'll Be Home For Christmas," captures the essence of this Christmas need, with both its joy and its sadness.

When I talk about going home (meaning Kentucky to visit my parents), a friend always scolds me. "This is your home, right here." That's true, but I'm not talking about a physical home, I'm talking about a place of the heart, a place that represents the child still in me, the kid who still needs a hug, a shoulder to cry on occasionally.

I'm talking about a place that holds the memories of times when I felt carefree, able to scramble to the top of the tallest tree, to tempt the waves as they towered above me, waiting for just the right moment to come crashing down, swallowing me in a foamy wall of water.

Of a time to dance on a tightrope at the top of the circus tent and to glide through the clouds on imaginary wings of whisper-thin webs silk, innately aware of the safety net of my parents arms waiting below to catch me should I fall. That's the home I long for, especially this time of year. I haven't been "home" for Christmas for six or seven years now. And I haven't been "home" for a year and a half, and I've found myself very "homesick" this holiday season. I miss my mother and my father and my sister and brother-in-law and all of their children. My Christmas wish-list this year would have a trip to Ohio-where my sister lives and where my parents will go for the holiday. If I close my eyes, I see us arriving, pulling up in the driveway and everyone coming out to greet us and help carrying in the luggage and the sacks of Christmas packages. There would be hugs and laughter and familiar stories and lots of good things to eat. But most of all there would be that sense of "coming home", coming back to that childhood Christmas of surprise and excitement and of course that unconditional love that is at the heart of family.

That won't happen this year, and may never again, but like the song says, I'll be there for Christmas, "if only in my dreams".

Harold Frank explains how difficult it would be to fire a shot out of the range across Sanford Road, as Irvin Hepler demonstrates how one might aim toward the other berm behind the targets.

VFW Members Want To See Firing Range On Sanford Road Kept Open

To further ensure safety, the gates are locked at all times, and there is only one key.

To get that key, a member of the Davie County Law Enforcement Association must sign for it and tell what kind of weapon he or she will be using. No one may keep the key overnight unless for nighttime shooting, which is permitted only for law enforcement qualifying, Frank said.

For all law enforcement officers from all departments in the county to qualify at night probably takes less than three hours of firing time twice a year, he said.

Any member who has a copy of the key made will be permanently barred from the range, he said.

The gate is closed while the range is in use, and a flag is put up to let people know that shots are being fired, he added.

"The last thing we want to do is get anybody hurt," he said.

That's why there is a strictly enforced set of rules for the firing range.

Only members of the VFW or Law Enforcement Association and their guests are allowed to use the facility.

In the case of a class, there must be one instructor per student while firing, though fewer are required for law enforcement officer qualifying, Frank said.

With the exception of nighttime law enforcement qualifying, the firing range is only open 8 a.m. to dark—Monday-Saturday. No shooting is allowed on Sunday.

Only paper targets placed on the range's backers may be used, and shooting positions are to be determined by the instructor.

Muzzles must be pointed down range with the cylinder swung out or the slides locked back and the magazine or cartridges removed when the shooter is not in the firing lane preparing to shoot.

No one is to go down range of the firing lane until all firearms are open, unloaded and either in a holster or on a table.

Anyone using the range is responsible for clean up the debris left from shooting, and no one under the influence of alcohol or drugs will be permitted on the range.

In the 12 years since the range opened, Frank said there has never been any kind of accident there.

As an NRA (National Rifle Association) club with a range that meets NRA standards, Hepler said the Law Enforcement Association and VFW have been able to purchase insurance on the firing range. For very little per person, the range has $1 million in liability, medical and legal coverage.

According to Frank, no fully automatic weapons or high powered rifles are allowed on the range as an additional safety measure.

As for the complaints about noise, Frank admits that some sound is bound to get out when guns are being fired but said the VFW has held meetings while the firing range has been in use without the noise being enough to interfere.

When the range was first opened, sound equipment was set up at three different locations in Garden Valley, Hepler said.

All sound tests met OSHA standards, Hepler said.

Since Hurricane Hugo, Frank said he believes the woods are thicker with brush and should create a stronger sound barrier between the homes and range.

During law enforcement qualifying, officers are timed by an instructor and must complete several relays within a short amount of time so actual firing time and the resulting noise is minimal, according to Hepler.

The other concern of Garden Valley residents is the danger of lead contamination of soil and water from the bullets fired at the range.

There is scarcely any run-off from the firing range to cause water contamination, Frank argued, and a thriving deer population in the area has not been harmed by contamination.

Aware that the town had been considering building a new firing range behind the Davie Campus of Davidson County Community College on Hwy. 601 South, Frank said he didn't think members of the VFW would mind if the county gets a new firing range.

But those plans never came to fruition. Until another firearms training facility is created, the VFW's position is that a safe place for officers to train with their guns already exists at the VFW hut on Sanford Road.

Attempted Murder Charge To Be Filed

A few minutes later, Wagner showed up at the same house, also suffering from a cut to the throat.

Davie Sheriff's Sgt. Jimmy Atwood and Deputy Judy Chandler were on the scene within minutes.

"Mr. Wagner made a statement to the deputies that he cut Melanie, then tried to kill himself," Phipps said.

Wagner had no prior criminal record.

He could face other charges after tearing up a Davie EMS ambulance on the way to Davie County Hospital.

That incident happened at Junction and Jericho Church roads. Wagner apparently broke the back glass of the ambulance with his head and arms, Phipps said.

Deputy John Coley, who was following the ambulance in his patrol car, subdued the man. N.C. Highway Patrol, Cooleemee police and other deputies assisted. Blood was splattered all over Coley and his car during the struggle.

More officers were called to Davie County Hospital when Wagner was taken there, and an officer accompanied EMTs on the ambulance for the trip to Baptist Hospital.

Phipps wasn't able to talk to the victim or suspect long Sunday, and doesn't know the reason for the attack. "The family said he had been acting strange the past couple of days. He had been acting real jealous of her."

County Eyes Trash Pickup

"I'm concerned Davie County is in danger of losing its recycling program," Bolt said.

Marshall Tyler said that while he realizes the need for a free-enterprise system, the county needs to make sure all companies play by the same rules. Make sure contracts "are aggressively enforced ... because some of the folks in this industry do not have the best reputation."

Jonathan Wishon said he had documents showing where major garbage collection companies had been fined for environmental problems and price fixing.

"I hope the board will take upon itself to set up some bad boy laws ... and put teeth in for the violations. I would like to see a local company, personally."

Harold Frank said he saw no need to change when Davie Sanitation was doing a good job.

Commissioners said the change could actually help Davie Sanitation.

Barber agreed, saying he was confident the company could provide better service, but emphasizing again - only if all companies follow the same rules.

Commissioners will have a second vote on awarding Davie Sanitation an exclusive household franchise on Jan. 6. At that meeting, County Manager Ken Windley and County Attorney Robert Price will present the board with some guidelines.

Cooleemee Police Chief Tim Lee Wooten was involved in an accident Tuesday, when his car collided with a pickup truck that had been driven into his path.

Wooten, 41, of Advance, was traveling south on Old Yadkinville Road at 11:58 a.m. when Robert Maurice Tenery, 64, of Butner drove his 1992 Ford pickup into the path of Wooten's 1995 Chevrolet.

Wooten said he tried but was unable to avoid a collision by steering from his travel lane.

Tenery was charged with a safe movement violation, reported Officer K.D. Hendrix.

Damage to Wooten's vehicle was estimated at $4,500 and Tenery's at $3,000.

No serious injuries were reported.

Mocksville Teen Arrested

Allegedly assaulting a 75-year-old man and taking money from his wife landed a 17-year-old Mocksville teenager in jail last week.

Cooleemee police arrested Charlie Turner, of Turrentine Church Road, Tuesday afternoon after an extensive investigation led them to determine that he was responsible for robbing Fred and Jessie Pierce of Cooleemee.

Turner allegedly struck Fred Pierce in the face and demanded his wallet before demanding money from Jessie Pierce. When she handed him an envelope containing $1, he ran and jumped into a vehicle that drove away, according to Officer F.W. Baldo.

He may also be the suspect in at least one other attempted robbery, Baldo said.

There are believed to be two other people involved in this crime, and more arrests are expected, he said.

Charged with common law robbery, attempted common law robbery and assault and battery, Turner was placed in the Davie County Jail in lieu of a $10,000 secured bond.

He will face these charges in Davie County District Court Jan. 23.

Family, Holidays & Home

Tradition Continues In Old Log House

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

More than 100 years ago, their ancestors cut logs from trees on the farm, making a house for their growing family.

That same family still holds special celebrations there, and about 40 will fill the house on Christmas Day, laughing and talking, eating and exchanging gifts.

Belle Boger and Peggy Tutterow say it is special to go back to their homeplace for Christmas.

"It feels good. You think about how things used to be," Boger said. "We didn't have much, but we had a lot of fun."

A tree would be cut off the farm on Christmas Eve, to be decorated with popcorn strings, and colored paper. "We would tie some of the little gifts on the tree, like a little doll for the girls or a pocket knife for the boys," Boger said.

Like now, there was great anticipation among the children.

"Santa Claus would come by this window in the winter time to see if us children were being good," Tutterow said. "We were really scared, we thought it was really Santa Claus. There wasn't any TV or anything to learn about Santa Claus."

The presents were simple, but appreciated, Boger said. "We would get an apple, an orange and a stick of candy."

Like then, there's still plenty to eat when the family gathers for Christmas. And the house is decorated throughout.

Both of the sisters and Tutterow's daughter-in-law, Sheila, and Boger's daughter's family, Joe and Marlene Shamel (They now own the farm.), help to decorate the house.

The tree and greenery and many of the other decorations come from the farm. Boger paints many of the Santa figures and other items that can be found all over the house. She makes the paper ornaments - bells, hearts and trees - for the tree.

Under the tree, there is an original set of Lincoln Logs. There are antiques and collectibles throughout the home.

"We all collect a lot, so we already had most of these things," Sheila said.

John Wesley and Margaret Elizabeth Starr Martin would be proud of their ancestors. They started the family tradition on the farm off Deadmon Road when they bought 111 acres in 1885 for $401.99.

They built the log house, adding on rooms as needed as their family grew to include five children. Margaret died in 1897 and John Wesley died in 1930. in his will, he stated he wanted his daughter, Annie Martin Daniel and husband Silas Daniel (who were already living in the log house) to have around 91 acres of his farm and to pay the four heirs $300 each.

Each year, the family cleared new land to grow more cotton, grain, and hay.

In 1936, Daniel remodeled the house and added two more rooms and a front porch. In 1950, a lake was added. In 1961, another lake was built.

Daniel died in 1957 and in 1961 his daughter Belle D. Boger and husband James D. Boger bought the farm. In 1979, the log house was restored for family get-togethers, and a dining room and kitchen added.

Each Christmas, Easter and Thanksgiving the families come together "for a great time," Tutterow said.

Christmas As Seen Through The Eyes Of A Five-Year-Old

By Beth Cassidy
The Clemmons Courier

On counting down to Santa with Sam...

Thanksgiving Day wasn't only a day of giving thanks at our house. It also marked the beginning of the unofficial countdown to Santa for Sam, my almost-5-year-old son. Not a fellow who has been known to sit still for long, he raced through his meal and started comparing notes with his cousins on what they would get for Christmas. I listened for insider information.

The countdown continues...

The neighbors put up their tree right after Thanksgiving. We have never put our tree up this early and never will. Sam thought it was wonderful. He kept wanting to go visit and sneak peeks at that tree.

It's raining, it's pouring...

The tree lighting that we always go to is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and it's raining. Sam stands with his nose pressed against the door, blowing warm air out and drawing pictures I will have to Windex off later. "Will they still have the tree lighting?" he asks. "Will Santa be there? What does Santa do when it rains? Does the sleigh have doors? How high does he go?"

By the time he is done asking questions, he has forgotten about the tree lighting. I take him and the baby to McDonald's in the rain. I find out later the tree lighting took place anyway.

Sunday. Children's time at church.

The preacher asks the children what will happen in a few weeks.

Sam pipes up "Santa comes!"

The congregation laughs.

The preacher reminds Sam that it is Jesus' birthday. I'm mortified that he didn't give the right answer.

Christmas at Hunes Mall...

I persuade my husband to take us to the mall Saturday night. I want the children's photos taken on Santa's lap. This is a sample of the conversation on the way:

"Mama, will the reindeer be at the mall?"

"I don't know, Sam. You'll just have to wait and see."

"How long will it take to get there? Where is the mall, anyway?"

"You know how long it takes."

"Bababababababa. Dadada." (Katie adds her two cents.)

"Sam, take your finger out of the baby's mouth. Quit kicking the back of my seat. Behave or I won't let you see Santa."

"He's just excited," Dad offers.

"Mama, what are the reindeer's names again? I can only think of one. How does Rudolph's nose light up? Can everyone see it? Can I see it? I want to stay up and see Santa. Will he come in my room? How does he get everything down the chimney?"

And on and on and on.

We stand in line for eons waiting to see Santa. Baby hates Santa, we find out. Sam tells him everything he wants. I see the veins bulging out in Santa's forehead. "Time to go," I tell Sam. He kisses Santa bye.

When will we get the tree?...

Sam is aching for a tree. We can't decide if we should buy one or get a free one from a friend's tree farm. The decision-making is driving Sam crazy.

Santa and the Grinch all at once...

I tell Sam that today I have to work but he gets to go with me, to a festival at the Reynolda House Museum. Santa and the Grinch will be there, I tempt him. On the way he keeps asking how long it will take. Traffic is horrible. I tell him to stop asking questions and be quiet so I won't have a wreck.

We get there and parking is horrible. We are a little late and run for the entrance. He colors a reindeer mask, picking each color carefully, naming pretend reindeer parts I have never heard of. He sticks his tongue out and to the side of his mouth while he's coloring. I can tell he's really concentrating.

During the music presentation he puts his fingers in his ears. I threaten him. He takes them out and claps politely when it's over. He shakes hands with an animated Grinch and a bored and skinny Santa.

He enjoys the Hanukkah presentation and the recitation of "The Night Before Christmas." He tells his dad later he had a great time.

Tree Day!

Dec. 14 we get our tree. I dread taking it into the house. On Sam's first Christmas, since he was pulling up on everything, we tied the tree to the wall. Every year since we decorate while he's asleep. This year, he's too aware of everything. "Mama, when do I get to decorate? Do I get to put the lights on?"

"No, that's daddy's job."

"But can I do it, let me do it."

"No, you can do something later."

"But what?" Can I put the beads on?"

"No, that's my job."

"But why is that your job? Can I do it?"

And on and on and on.

Once the lights and beads are on, I give him his own box of (unbreakable) ornaments to hang. Amazingly, he does a great job. I tell him so.

Later in the night, after the house is quiet, I go through the ritual I have performed probably every year since I have been on this earth.

I sit in the dark with the tree lights on.

My dad and I used to do this. Someday Sam and I and Katie and I will do this. I sit there in the dark and think about the holidays with children.

Sure, those things were easier.

But emptier.

Especially once I moved away from home. Now with my own family and my own children, I'm seeing the holidays through different eyes. I'm believing in Santa all over again (if I ever stopped) and trying to take the time to slow down, read "The Night Before Christmas," leave cookies and milk out for Santa and appreciate the wonder of children and the season of giving.

Spiritual Resources: Listen To The Lord

By Shirley Cottle

A very wise woman once told me that when she is in church she always expects to leave with a spiritual blessing. It may come from a hug or a smile, a hymn or a prayer, the sermon or a Bible text; but always a blessing is received. She is in the worship service in expectation. Recently, such a blessing was mine, when a young man sat down with the children to give the children's message. His illustration was a simple one, easy to follow and understand. It was the simple illustration of the telephone, and how one part is for speaking to someone, and the other part is for listening to someone else. Do we want to talk more than listen, he asked? He continued by saying that many times we do all the talking to God, but do little listening when He speaks to us.

Speaking and listening take an action. It means that we are expecting others to listen as we speak, and in turn to listen as they converse. But listening is difficult. It means that we have to turn our attention off ourselves and to someone else. And when that attention is directed to God, the listening should be done with expectation. We seek Him in our prayers wanting solutions, guidance, healing, direction. But many times we move too quickly to hear His response. We are impatient, in a hurry; wanting an instant solution, and we become weary and tired in our own frustrations.

In the Old Testament writing of Isaiah, we hear these words to those who wait upon the Lord for their answers. "Do you not know? Have you not heard? The Everlasting God, the Lord, the creator of the ends of the earth does not become weary or tired. His understanding is inscrutable. He gives strength to the weary, and to him who lacks might He increases power. Though youths grow weary and tired, and vigorous young men stumble badly, yet those who wait for the Lord will gain new strength; they will mount up with wings like eagles, they will run and not get tired, they will walk and not become weary." Isaiah 40: 28-31.

And in the New Testament writing of Matthew, chapter 17, we find God speaking to some of the disciples at the transfiguration of Christ. "While Peter was still speaking, suddenly a bright cloud overshadowed them, and from the cloud a voice said, "This is my Son, the Beloved; with him I am well pleased; listen to him!"

In both Scripture writings we find these words of expectancy. To wait and to listen. They are also action words because they require the attention to be on someone else and not on self.

I was glad I had been present at church on that recent Sunday. It was a reminder that listening to others requires a closed mouth and an open ear. And it reminded me once again that God expects me to listen to His voice if I am to know His response to my questions, and in the waiting I shall be renewed in the strength of my spirit.

How long has it been since you listened in expectancy? You may be surprised at the blessings. "Those who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they will run and not get tired, they will walk and not become weary."

New Program Starting

Beginning January of 1997, the Davie County Health Department will fully launch a new program titled, "Welcome Home Baby" for all residents of Davie County.

The purpose of this new program," according to Dennis Harrington, health director, "is to provide Davie County parents of newborn infants with health promotion and disease prevention information that they can utilize to support the future health and development of their children."

A major goal of this new program is for a public health nurse to conduct a home visit with all newborn infants (under one month of age) and their parents who are residents of Davie County. The nurse will provide health information to the families of newborn infants on topics such as childhood immunizations, well baby care, health care for the mother, mother and baby nutritional and dietary concerns, and childhood safety and injury prevention issues. The nurse will be able to provide information as to the availability of needed health care resources and support services.

According to Caroldine Winebarger, health department nursing director, "The program has been designed for a Public Health Nurse to make every effort to contact the parents of Davie County newborn infants, less than one month of age, by telephone so as to arrange for a 'Welcome Home Baby' visit."

"If a Davie County family has not been contacted by phone or received a home visit by a health department nurse within one month from their infant(s) birth, please contact Melissa Spry, RN, public health nurse at the Davie County Health Department (634-8700).

The health department is open Monday-Friday, from 80 a.m.-5 p.m.

War Eagles Snap 20-Game Losing Streak With Win Over North Iredell

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Eric Kistler, a second-string mystery guest, became Davie County's man of the moment here Monday, leading a 63-60 upset over North Iredell.

The last time Davie, riding a 20-game losing streak, played a winning part was during the 1995 Sam Moir Christmas Classic, a 57-43 victory over East Rowan to snap an eight-game losing streak.

Kistler, a senior guard who had scored 25 points in five games, delivered 15 off the bench, 10 in the fourth quarter, and Jamie Neese, a 6-6 forward, gift wrapped a career-high 16.

Coming off three losses that averaged 27 points, fourth-year coach Darrell Steele turned to a student for the starting lineup.

The student chose four and strongly suggested Cedric White, averaging less than a point a game in his first organized action since the eighth grade.

"One of the students told me he grew up with Cedric White, and said if I start him, he'll get more confident," Steele said. "His lineup was White, the Neeses (Jason and Jamie), Derick Faulkner and Josh Barnhardt. He said start that lineup, and I did. They played great."

Kistler

Jamie Neese, who never reached double figures in his first 25 varsity games, hit 7 of 12 field goals for 16 points, his third double-figure effort in four games, grabbed 12 rebounds and had two steals.

His brother, Jason, the team's most consistent scorer, compiled a double-double (10 points, 10 rebounds) and collected two steals. Derrick Faulkner, a 6-2 guard who returned from a nagging ankle injury, had nine points and four blocks while playing all but 21 seconds.

Point guard Charles Miller, seeing his first action after a football injury, scored four and picked up a key steal. "Everybody contributed," Steele said. "It's been a long time. It feels good to get a win, man.

"Maybe we'll get it together. We did a lot of good things and maybe we'll keep adding on. I'm real pleased."

More than anything, he was pleased with 13 turnovers, 15 shy of Davie's average. "We still did some things wrong, but we did more right than wrong," Steele said. "The biggest difference was we didn't turn the ball over as much."

Just like in the first meeting with North and against Statesville, the War Eagles, trailing 50-45, entered the fourth quarter with hope, but that's when they routinely fold.

Not this time. "It was a close ballgame and we didn't lay down," Steele said.

Kistler glued the pieces together by knocking down two of his three 3-pointers in the final eight minutes, including a jumper and four free throws.

He was responsible for 10 of Davie's final 18 points. "He just got in a zone," Steele said. "Kistler lit it up. We knew he could shoot."

In the waning seconds, Miller, on defense, tipped the ball to Kistler, who was fouled and sent to the line.

He canned both free throws. "That kind of sealed it," Steele said.

Unlike last year's lone win over lowly East Rowan, the War Eagles knocked off a formidable foe. "We beat a good ballclub," Steele said. "They picked up a couple of ball players (since the first meeting). You couldn't say the refs gave it to us. We played 32 minutes of basketball and didn't quit the whole time.

"Maybe it's a wake-up call. We know we can win now."

The War Eagles owned a 16-14 lead after the first but, while clinging to a 31-30 lead with time running down, they allowed North's Chad Ford to nail an open 3-pointer for a one-point lead at intermission. "That's not a good way to go into the locker room," Steele said. "I said, 'Guys, you've played a good game but we should've been on him.' "

Ford shredded Davie for 24 points and Arnold Gaither added 15, North's only double-figure scorers.

"I told them (a win) would be a good Christmas present for us coaches," Steele said. "They said, 'Merry Christmas.' "

• Eric Alspaugh contributed three points and Barnhardt, Ray Spain (two blocks) and Derrick Dulin each had two. .... Davie was 25 of 56 from the field, 4 of 14 on 3s and 9 of 14 from the foul line. North made 14 of 23 free throws and two 3-point shots. .... Kistler did his damage in 13 minutes of action. .... Jason Neese is still atop the scoring list at 11.5 a game. Faulkner is second at 8.5, followed by Jamie Neese's 7.6 clip, Kistler's 6.6, Barnhardt's 5.5 and Alspaugh's 4.3.

Tigers To Practice At Davie High Over Holiday Vacation

The Tigers – who clobbered West Rowan (60-32) and China Grove (70-15) last week to remain atop the Piedmont Middle School Conference – will routinely visit Davie High's practice facility during the holidays before cranking back up Jan. 9 at Corriher Lipe.

"We're going to practice over the break," Wilson said. "I think it'll help us. ... A lot of teams take time off. We're going to get around some of the high-school guys and watch them wrestle a little bit.

"When we get our (two-pound) weight allowance, we'll be able to move people around and I think it'll strengthen our lineup even more."

China Grove will attest that South's lineup needs no fixing, after the Red Devils collapsed from 105 to 191 Thursday at South.

China Grove dropped nine straight matches, eight by pin, to fall out of contention early. "We're doing about as good as we can do right now," Wilson admitted. "We had a good match; we paired up good with them."

The Red Devils will beg to differ. They were pinned by Brian Sellers, Nathan Bolin, Travis Call, Drew Beck, Wesley Johnson, Luis Soto, Tommy McDaniel, Patrick Lowery and Willie Froelich.

By the time Lowery (171) pinned his man in eight seconds, injuring the Roll Continues For North Davie Girls

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

December couldn't have dawned brighter for Trish King, North Davie's eighth-grade girls basketball coach.

The Wildcats, needing two wins to secure a firm position in the Piedmont Middle School Conference race, will spend the holidays in the driver's seat.

North (7-1), which hadn't scored more than 36 going into last week, oiled the offense to go with its well-oiled defense in two wins – 40-34 over Concord Monday, Dec. 16 and 41-25 over J.N. Fries here Thursday.

"It's a great way to end the first part of the season," King said. "We're 4-1 in the conference, and last year we lost to the last two teams we played.

"That gives us an optimistic view of what will happen down the road."

The road has clear sailing if Heather Schleupner, 33 points in the wins, keeps up last week's pace. Coming off a season-high 19 points, the forward dished to Emily Morton, who finished with 10 against J.N. Fries, her first double-figure outing.

"J.N. Fries, I guess, found out how good of a shooter Heather was and she passed off to Emily," King said.

Schleupner kept the ball enough to score 14, and the Wildcat defense did the rest. "Stacy Queen had a lot of steals," the coach said. "The defense played real good. I'm real proud of the defensive effort.

"I'm proud because, at times, the refs were a little (inconsistent) and the girls rose above that."

North rose to the occasion in the fourth quarter. The Knights, who sliced a 14-point halftime deficit to nine, were handcuffed for four points in the final six minutes.

North was psyched up. "We had 19 fouls, more than usual," King said. "We were a little over aggressive. We really wanted to win the last game before Christmas."

Queen and Mary Beth Dinkins complemented North's top guns with six points apiece, and Sarah Jackson and Shannon Handy added three and two, respectively.

• Schleupner's recent tear has her average up to 10.6, and Queen (6.2) and Morton (6.1) are side by side.

Hitting On All Cylinders

Rarely will a coach admit to accepting a loss, but that's precisely what King would have done against Concord.

But that never transpired as North operated with precision in a 40-34 victory. "We could have lost and I would have been happy because we played so good," King said.

"Oh man, it was the best game we've

North Davie's wrestling team, which has seemingly turned the corner, hasn't arrived at its destination. "We're still not where we want to be," said Coach Ron Kirk after three wins in four days. "I'm happy we're winning but our performance level can improve."

Kirk

The Wildcats, six-year defending conference champions, established themselves again as a legitimate Piedmont Middle School Conference contender with home wins over Concord 47-36 and Mooresville 48-40 and a road victory Thursday at J.N. Fries 51-35.

North's middle weights have stepped up, a major reason why North is knocking on the PMSC's door. "An example of the middle weights coming through was at 135 and 140," Kirk said.

Tommy Watson and Russ McManus, the 135 and 140 pounders, delivered consecutive pins that turned a four-point match into a 33-17 North lead.

Ten points was as close as the Knights would come the rest of the way, as Cassidy McMahan, Carl Wagstaff and Rich Hunter gained pins to finish the match.

The highly competitive Kirk wanted wins at heavyweight, 103 and 125. Victories there and Kirk's boys would have posted points in the 60s, where Kirk is accustomed to living.

"We were winning 9-8 at heavyweight and (Chris Nichols) got pinned," Kirk said. "We can't break the phobia of scoring 50 points. If we win those, we score around 60.

"We got upset at 103. Justin Dyson got pinned with three seconds left, and we lost at 125 (Chris Gorgia) by pin. It was late in the third and the score was 14-7. ... I'm not saying we could have won, but we were wrestling with him."

One-two punch Tyler Black and Adam Sain, the 83 and 93 classes, started the match with pins, their fifth conference wins without a loss.

A pin by Mitchell Bullard (119) and a decision by Steven James (130) kept North, which saw its lead shrink to 12-11, ahead 21-17.

North got preliminary wins from Chase Sanders, Josh Stanley, Brandon Gentry, Kenny Orsillo and Jerimiah Hein.

Kirk's Type

Kirk's juices were flowing against previously unbeaten Mooresville, which was blasted in the low and high weights leading to a 48-40 win for North.

"It was a great match," Kirk said. "I'm real tickled with the effort."

Black, Sain, Dyson, Stanley and Bullard decked the Red Imps with five straight pins from 85 to 121 for a 30-0 lead. "We're real strong in the first five classes," Kirk said, "and we're very inexperienced in the middle. We're not as consistent as I'd like."

The inexperience showed as Mooresville bounced back to claim five wins in a row, four by pin, to make the contest 30-28.

The Wildcats answered that retaliation with pins from McMahan and Wagstaff to place the outcome on the back of Hunter, who stuck Mooresville's 191 pounder for the decisive six points.

Before Hunter entered, North was protecting a 42-34 lead with two divisions left.

Stanley and Michael Berghom won prelim matches.

North Prevails

Thanks to a 29-0 lead through five matches, North escaped with a 47-36 win over Concord.

The Wildcats fell hard in the last nine classes, winning three, but dodged the upset. "Concord is fairly weak," Kirk said. "We lost matches at 181 (Hunter) and 130 (Andy Sain) where we shouldn't have."

McManus and Wagstaff's forfeit wins and McMahan's pin were North's only victories after Black, Adam Sain, Dyson, Stanley and Bullard jump started North with an insurmountable lead.

Worth Noting ...

The Neese twins, Jamie and Jason, combined for 26 points, 22 rebounds and four blocks in Davie's 63-60 upset of North Iredell.

Tina Harkness, a JV freshman guard, hit a game-tying 3-pointer with 16 seconds left to send Davie and North Iredell into overtime. In a losing cause, she finished with 21 points.

Eric Kistler, a senior guard who scored 15 points for Davie, had three 3-pointers in the second half, including 10 points in the final eight minutes, to lift the War Eagles over North Iredell.

JV player Eric Kellis has amassed 48 points in the last three games, guiding Davie to a 5-1 record.

Tyler Black, Adam Sain and Cassidy McMahan have combined to go 14-0 for North Davie's wrestling team, which has won six straight matches. "So we're not too shabby," Coach Ron Kirk said.

Notes & Quotes

Established JV Wrestling Program Relies On Experience

The difference in Northwest Cabarrus and Davie County's wrestling program could be linked to the JV program, Davie's is established.

Northwest suited just four JV wrestlers when the War Eagles came to town last Monday. All four were pinned by Zeke Earle, Brad Pack, Wil Lowdermilk and Thad Johnson. Lowery schedules tourements to give his wrestlers, particularly the younger ones, needed experience for down the road. He hasn't told his wife, Tara, yet.

"I'll break it to my wife now," Lowery said. "We're going to wrestle (in three tournaments in January)," Lowery said. "That'll be five matches each day. To make sure we don't break a rule, we'll only wrestle once during the week.

Carter beat a 160-pounder from East Davidson to pull off a big upset. Two days later, he lost. "He just cut too much weight in a day," Lowery said of Carter's loss against Northwest Cabarrus. "He beat a real good wrestler from East Davidson. If he'd stay in between, he'd be a good wrestler instead of this up and down, up and down. His wrestling's as flexible as his weight. "He's going to learn. It's his first time on the varsity. He'll figure out how to do it."

No wonder. The War Eagles are 5-1, winning their five games by an average of 19 points. "The kids are becoming real coachable," Cantrell said. "If they keep on listening like they are now, they won't do anything bu get better."

Nobody cares for five-hour practices – unless you win, precisely what Davie's varsity boys did Monday night after Saturday's grueling workout. "Saturday morning practice, they don't like that," Coach Darrell Steele said. "I told them either to learn to do it right or we'll be back, we'll be here Saturday morning at 7."

A 20-game losing streak didn't help matters. Something worked. "I'll never give up on (them)," Steele said. "All the early morning practices and staying up late was worth it (when Davie won its first game). We had bench support. They were all standing up.

"Coach (John) Williams, Coach (Frank) Dotson and I told them we'd break them before they break us. We lifted weights, jumped rope and practiced for five hours."

Now with a win, the War Eagles will tried to avenge their 32-point loss to Salisbury last Friday. "I hope we have a lot better ballgame," Steele said.

Charles Miller, Davie's junior point guard who scored four points in 17 minutes, saw his first action of the year against North Iredell. "He said his ankle's not bothering him," Steele said. "I asked him (the day of the game) and before the game and he said the swelling had gone down. He didn't know whether he was going to play until game time."

Cedric White, a talented junior, is lacking experience. "He's a good athlete but he hasn't played organized basketball since the eighth grade," Steele said. "Once he gets some confidence he's going to be a good ball player."

Davie varsity girls coach Mike Dinkins knew scoring would be hard to come by, but underestimated the problem. "It never crossed my mind with who we had coming up," he said. "We only have five more points on the year than turnovers (179-174).

"We've got to shoot more consistently. That's what we've been doing in practice, shooting the basketball. The big disappointments: shooting and 28 turnovers a game."

The one game they had less than 20 turnovers, at Salisbury, the War Eagles won 31-29. On the season, Davie is shooting 21 percent from the field and 42 percent from the line.

Knights Edge Out Wildcats

North Davie's eighth-grade boys, who avoided costly mistakes for three quarters, turned the ball over in crunch time against J.N. Fries here Thursday and lost 28-24, their fourth straight defeat and sixth in eight games.

"We didn't commit nearly as many turnovers (as in recent games), but down the stretch, we had three critical turnovers that called for the end," said Coach George Newman.

Newman ditched his customary full-court pressure for a zone in an attempt to slow the Knights' big man inside.

It worked. "This game was probably our best defensive effort," Newman said. "It was the first game that we've played zone that long, but the kids took out their top player. We doubled down on the box and tried to tie him up with the ball."

The collapsing zone held him to seven points after he had his way with 28 last year, but the Wildcats' top three threats – Justin Goode, Eric Shepherd and Wes Miller, who averaged almost 30 points a game coming in – were held to 15 points.

The Wildcats, who trailed 24-18 with six minutes left, had some hope but the Knights' enforcer sealed the outcome.

Goode was North's only factor offensively with 11. Alex Vontsinsky added four, Joey Glusgo had three and Miller, Shepherd and Andrew Jones each had two.

• Miller's 10.5 average leads the Wildcats, followed by Goode's 9.3 and Shepherd's 6.5.

Time For Class

A team that's fun to watch is Concord – unless you're on the court with them. "Concord taught us a lesson," said Newman, whose club was pounded 60-33 to the Goldminers Monday, Dec. 16.

"They're a very athletic team," Newman said. "We tried to run and gun with them, but that's not the thing to do. They really know how to put pressure on the ball."

By Concord turning up the heat, it turned a seven-point contest into a 42-24 game after three quarters.

Miller's 10 points and Goode's nine led the Wildcats. They also got five from Shepherd, three from Nick Kistler, and Matt Greene, Josh Lackey and Jones had two apiece.

• Unfortunately for North, the Goldminers may not be the best team around. "Knox, I heard, may have the best pressing team to come through here in five years," Newman said. "I can't wait to see them.

"And (South Davie coach Barry) Whitlock said North Rowan has the most awesome athletes."

Varsity Girls Fall Short In One Point Loss

By Brian Pitts

Umberger Holcomb

No cheap thrill slashed down to a bargain-basement price could lift Davie from the agony of its 35-34 setback to North Iredell, the War Eagles' fifth loss in six games.

For Coach Mike Dinkins, Monday's game at Davie marked a return to a place he hoped he had left behind after the War Eagles' 31-29 win over Salisbury: Turnover City.

Davie, shooting 21 percent on the year, hit only 11 of 42 from the field for 26 percent.

The coach envisioned a much better scenario going into last Friday's home game with Salisbury. "If we'd have beaten (North Iredell), we'd be 2-4 coming home against Salisbury," Dinkins said. "Then you're maybe looking at 3-4. ... They didn't realize how big this was.

"I can't figure it out. One day we have a great practice, one day we're dragging. The big word is: consistency."

The War Eagles, who trailed by seven late in the third quarter, got the margin down to one with two minutes left but failed from the free-throw line on a chance to tie.

After falling back down by five, Davie cut the margin to three and then Page Steed's short jumper made it a one-point game with under a minute left. The Raiders botched the front end of a one and one, but Davie squandered its last chance.

"We had two extra possession in the last minute," a flustered Dinkins said. "It would have been a big win for us."

Davie, down by four in the closing seconds, got a 3-pointer from halfcourt at the buzzer from Leslie Holcomb, three of her team-high 10 points.

After leading 10-7 at the end of the first quarter, the War Eagles went cold and were outscored 12-3 in the second, a quarter in which Davie is averaging under five points. "That's the same quarter that's been our demise all year," Dinkins said, "and we're giving up over 11.

"We had a decent start and had several chances at the end."

Blanks were fired in the third. Davie scored four points and held North to two.

Then Holcomb and Erin Umberger, teaming for 15 of Davie's 17 points, kept Davie within striking distance in the fourth.

Holcomb's 10, including two 3-pointers, all came in the final eight minutes. "Leslie's getting more confident," Dinkins said. "She's over the jitters from the first couple of games."

Umberger, 10 of 15 from the line on the year, hit all four of her free throws and had two steals to go with her eight points.

Jodie Stone, awakening from a slump, scored all five of her points in the opening quarter, Kathryn Jackson added three, and Allison Foil, Steed, Dana Smith and Kim Anderson each had two.

• Davie received three assists and two steals from Steed. .... Stone and Jackson each hit a 3-pointer for Davie, which shot 4 of 21 from behind the arc. .... Davie converted 8 of 10 free throws. .... Dinkins was encouraged by support from the bench. "I was real pleased with the enthusiasm on the bench," he said. "To me, the biggest key to the way we play is enthusiasm on the bench and the way the bench played. We had a lot of valuable minutes from Anderson, Jennifer Hendrix and Amanda Hendrix."

Boosters To Host Shootout

The First Annual Great Davie Shootout, put on by the North Davie Booster Club, will be Jan. 11, 1997 at North Davie Middle School.

Boys and girls, third through the eight grade, are eligible to compete in three-point, free-throw and hot-shot competitions.

Those participating will square off against their age groups – third and fourth graders will be paired, along with fifth and sixth and seventh and eighth. Trophies will be awarded to the first-, second- and third-place finishers in each division.

The gates will charge $10 for a family of three and $2 for each additional member, up until Jan. 8. After that deadline, the entry fee is $15. Concessions will be available.

played all year. We did everything I asked. The defense was really good and the offense had the best passing ever, and we run the plays."

North found the right play for Schleupner, who lit up the board for 19 points, scoring at least four in each quarter. "She had an excellent game," King said. "She was not just scoring inside, she hit outside shots. We've been trying to get her to shoot more outside, because that's what she's going to have to do in high school.

"She took the bull by the horns."

North wasn't in the clear until Handy eamly sank two free throws in the waning seconds. "She hit two free throws that kind of sealed it," King said. "By then, we were up by four.

"She's gotten a lot more playing time lately. Her offense and defense has improved. She's seeing a lot more playing time and will see more."

The Wildcats, who led 19-10 at halftime but were threatened in the third, maintained their lead taking care of the ball.

That job belonged to Jackson, the point guard. "She played a great game," King said. "She handled the ball. They put a lot of pressure on Sarah. She only hit one (3-pointer) but she hit it when we needed it."

Coach Trish King can't believe her eyes.

Queen and Morton had six points each, and Handy and Susan Delaney added four and two, respectively. Schleupner grabbed 10 rebounds to go with her explosive scoring.

Wildcat Wrestlers Warm Up For Conference Title Battle

Right when the Wildcats warm up, they're off until Jan. 9. Kirk welcomes the break. "It'll help because we'll get practice time, and it'll give some minor injuries time to heal," he said. "We've still got some competition left – Erwin, China Grove and South Davie (6-0). You can't count anybody out."

• Black's pin against J.N. Fries took 19 seconds. "He took him to the cleaners pretty quick," Kirk said. .... North's undefeated wrestlers in conference action are Black (5-0), Adam Sain (5-0) and McMahan (4-0).

• Dyson, Stanley, McManus, Wagstaff, Hunter and Bullard have suffered one loss each. "Bullard has come on a lot since that 12-10 loss to Kannapolis," Kirk said. "He's been impressive. All the ones with one loss, I feel could have beaten them," he said. .... Things aren't as bad as they once seemed. North has rattled off six straight wins. "So we're not too shabby," Kirk said.

Coaches Matt Page, Matt Wilson and Howard Riddle take it easy during their team's 70-15 rout over China Grove.

South Davie Continues To Slaughter Opponents

opponent's back in the process, South owned a 64-9 advantage. McDaniel's pin at 160 took only a matter of seconds, while the other six pins occurred in the second period.

A major decision from Michael Hawbaker – along with Luke Koontz and Adam Barber's forfeits – was South's only win that didn't result in a pin but he still dominated, winning 14-2.

Jacob Garner, a 6-4 loser, and Jhockton Dalton, stuck with 40 seconds left in the second period, were dropped from the unbeaten list.

Lowery also has just one loss, while Bolin, Beck, Johnson and McDaniel improved their records to 6-0.

Big Wave

In a knotted match at 18-18, West Rowan was hit by a tidal wave at 135, where Beck started a stretch of six pins in a row in South's 60-32 rout.

Following Beck were Johnson, Soto, Lowery, McDaniel and Froelich. After West's pin at 189, Dalton, the heavyweight, polished off the Bulldogs with a first-period pin.

A forfeit to Koontz and pins from Garner and Bolin put South in front 18-6, but West rallied with back to back pins at 125 and 130 to tie the score.

Studevent's 'Mystery Team' Off To Surprising Start

Ignorance was bliss last week for Davie's ninth-grade boys basketball team.

The War Eagles didn't know they weren't supposed to win games by an average of 25 points this season. The talent was presumably in short supply for Coach Clyde Studevent.

Davie pounded Surry Central 59-44 and wiped out West Davidson 64-29, both on the road.

Studevent's remaining cautious. "We'll find out if we're for real when we hit the Winston-Salem schools," he said. The War Eagles won't hit Forsyth County until Jan. 10, when they travel to Parkland.

Travis Peacock, the center on the War Eagles, who weren't supposed to own an effective post player, dominated West inside with 16 points and six blocks.

"We had his day," the coach said. "If he comes around, we'll be in pretty good shape. I've been looking for a big man.

"This team is totally a mystery team."

Marcus Lassiter guided Davie for the second time with 19 points. Ricky White added 10, Jason Hawks had six, Dominic Graham five, Andy Boger four and Jory Rankin and Kevin Ashley had two each.

The War Eagles, after an 18-2 spurt, led 32-6 by halftime. They cruised home from there.

In the rout over Surry Central, Lassiter's 21 points and White and Rankin's 15 proved to be too many formidable weapons.

Graham added six and Ashley pitched in two.

DHS Teddy Bear Tree Benefits Needy Children

There are plain little teddy bears. There are teddy bears with top hats and teddy bears in Christmas clothes. They come in all sizes and colors.

And they come from the hearts of nearly 100 Davie High School students who donated teddy bears for a special "teddy bear tree" in the school's front office. There were so many bears that they wouldn't all fit on the tree. Much of the reception was filled with bears last week.

Hopefully, those bears will brighten a Christmas morning for a needy child in Davie County.

Jaime Dyson knows the special bond a child can form with a teddy bear. "I still have one," said the president of the senior class.

"We decided it would be a good idea to collect teddy bears to give to needy children at Christmas," she said. "We're going to take some to Davie County Hospital for kids that come to the hospitel, some to social services and some to a day care."

Teachers Receive Grants From Crescent

By Morgan Harper
Davie County Enterprise Record

Some Davie County science and English students are getting rewards they did not expect for the holidays thanks to two Davie County teachers who were presented Crescent Electric Bright Ideas Grants Dec. 6.

Marilyn McClamrock of South Davie Middle and Susan Landry of Mocksville Middle were among the 18 teachers out of 89 applicants awarded grants from the electric cooperative.

Crescent divided $14,000 among those chosen. Projects are to be completed by the end of the school year.

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders taking science courses at South Davie will get a renovated greenhouse.

The $2,000 grant presented to McClamrock sparked "a big hoopla," according to McClamrock. She and teachers Shelia Tribble, Belinda Garner, and Sandy Greene made up the team which applied for the grant.

"We're hoping to make repairs in the greenhouse and replace equipment," she said. Purchasing supplies including seeds, hoes and tools are also on the list of things to do.

The greenhouse, built in the 1970s, needs refurbishing, said McClamrock. After being used for storage for a period of time, "It's time it was used as a greenhouse," she said.

A master gardener from the Senior Center will be helping move things along, and also plans for a visit from a botanist are under way.

Work on the greenhouse will begin in January. "We hope to get it off and running again," said McClamrock.

The Mocksville Middle fifth grade class of over 100 was the purpose behind the grant for which Susan Landry applied.

Landry, along with fellow fifth grade teachers Faynita Brannon, Gaye Carothers, Stephanie Kiel, Gina Smith, Elizabeth Tucker, and volunteer Holly Angell, came up with the plan to create a magazine for and by students.

The $1,500 Crescent grant will enable the school to publish a literary magazine comprised of writings from each fifth grader.

"We're using different formats of writing, poems, short stories," said Landry. "Maybe artwork, also. The students will help to pick theirs out."

Students will not be publishing their first drafts, Landry said. They will be revising and editing their work along the way. "We want to give them a chance to see what it's like to be a published author. We're really excited.

"It will help with the students' self-esteem," she said. "To see their work in print will provide a boost for those who are writers."

Students know they will be able to publish their works and are deciding what they feel is their best product.

Students probably aren't thinking about their new projects they are being offered as an advantage for those who are giving, but Crescent Electric's Dusty Rhodes does.

"It's a different way of advertising, and at the same time making good use of money," said Rhodes.

Rhodes said that through state co-ops, Crescent Electric brings in approximately $200,000 per year. From that amount, $14,000 that was once used for state-wide advertising is distributed in grant form.

"Crescent feels strongly tied to the community," he said. As a non-profit organization, "The community is the owner of Crescent. Me and you and 48,000 other people own Crescent."

"Our mandate is anything to help the community."

Carbon Monoxide Kills

Throughout America, thousands of people each year turn on their kerosene heaters, gas logs or gas stoves to help warm their homes as they sleep during crisp fall and winter nights.

Many who use such devices often keep windows and doors tightly shut against drafts while the night winds howl beyond the window panes. Because of this practice, more than 200 of these people may never wake up the next morning. Some 5,000 more will fall ill--all victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

"Carbon monoxide poisoning is a real danger in the fall and winter when people use kerosene or gas appliances incorrectly or without proper ventilation," says M. Cassandra Wiggins, a housing specialist at North Carolina State University. "Many people think carbon monoxide is only a problem with car exhaust, but keep in mind that any device which operates on gasoline, diesel fuel or kerosene will produce carbon monoxide, one of the deadliest gases known. It's colorless and odorless. And a relatively small amount, when released into an unventilated space, can sicken or even kill the occupants of a household."

Carbon monoxide results from incomplete combustion of gasoline, kerosene, charcoal, or wood says Wiggins, an associate environmental housing specialist with the North Carolina Cooperative Extension Service at N.C. State. The unique structure of the carbon monoxide molecule--it has only one oxygen atom instead of the two found in carbon dioxide--robs oxygen from the blood. Low levels of carbon monoxide poisoning can produce symptoms such as dizziness, headache, watery eyes and nausea.

The symptoms can be mistaken for those produced by other illnesses. If levels of the gas are high enough and the occupants do not receive proper medical intervention, the ultimate symptom can be death.

"People must be aware that some types of loose popular gas fireplace logs must be used when the chimney flue is open, just as with conventional wood logs," says Wiggins. "If you use a kerosene heater, make certain that you leave a nearby window open at least 1-inch to vent the area. And, remember, never use a gas stove to heat a home. Some people do this in a power outage, thinking that they're taking advantage of a good backup heating source, but it can be dangerous. During cold weather, it's normal to want to shut all doors and windows tightly to keep heat from the home. But if you use these unvented devices in an unventilated environment, you're asking for trouble."

There is a similar danger with using barbecue grills or hibachis inside the home. This practice can sometimes occur during a winter power outage when people want to cook a meal without going outside. Wiggins says that this practice, too, is dangerous. Not only is there a danger of fire and smoke, but there is the added problem of carbon monoxide. Charcoal lighter fluid is a petroleum product, charcoal briquettes can contain petroleum products to help them ignite.

"Generally, wood-burning stoves are okay," says Wiggins. "They're usually vented to the outside, and the [complete] combustion of wood does not tend to produce carbon monoxide. You do have to be careful of a smoldering fire in the fireplace with a closed flue in the chimney. Incomplete combustion produces carbon monoxide. Don't close the chimney flue unless the fire is completely extinguished."

Stocks, Bonds Are Stocking Stuffers That Keep On Giving

GREENSBORO--When the stockings are hung by the chimney with care this holiday season, parents might want to put in something new--and a little unusual--as a stocking stuffer for their children.

A gift of stocks or bonds is a gift that has the potential to keep on giving, and also can help start the kids' education on how the American economic system works.

"Stock is probably one of the best gifts that a parent could give a child," said John Redmond, director of the N.C. Council on Economic Education, which has its headquarters in the Joseph M. Bryan School of Business and Economics at The University of North Carolina at Greensboro. "These kinds of gifts pay dividends in more ways than one, and they do so for a very long time.

"There's lots of evidence that indicates that children are ignorant of how the 'real' world works and what opportunities and responsibilities are out there for them. Children are better off if they can begin to learn the basics of how the economy works, how money is earned and can be invested. They can take more seriously the need to begin to prepare themselves for the future."

That sounds like a heavy educational assignment for a few shares of stock, Redmond admits. He doesn't encourage parents to buy stock for kids at too early an age, unless it's for, say, a college account. "I'd say the early middle school years would be about right, maybe around sixth grade or so, if the intent if to help them understand the stock market and investing," said Redmond. "But that really depends on the intellectual maturity of the child."

At that time in their young lives, children begin to develop a broader awareness of what's going on in the business world, and they can understand that McDonald's, Burger King and Hardees are in competition. They are aware of the different brands, and they begin to see the relationship between advertising and the products that they buy and wear or eat.

Once the decision has been made to give stock for Christmas, the question is "What stock to give?" Familiarity should figure into the decision, said Redmond, so that a child can own stock in a company with which they are familiar.

"It may not be the best idea from an investment standpoint, but it helps if they are able to see a company they own shares in and can buy some of its products, whether it's hamburgers, pizza, shoes or video games," said Redmond. "They understand and identify with the businesses they see every day. This can give them a sense of participation when they can buy products from companies in which they own stock."

Bazaar Held At Old School

The Cana Home Extension Club's 27th annual Christmas bazaar began early as Stanley Smith started fires in the old Cana School wood stoves.

Lewis Beck had already ensured that there was enough wood available to keep the school building toasty warm. Loaves of homemade bread were planned so that they would come out of the oven for delivery just in time for the 10 a.m. opening.

Shoppers were greeted by Ruby Leagans, and Ruth Essic registered each one for door prize drawings. This year's prize winners were Caroline Ridge, Ivey Nell Boger and Jerry Webb.

Vada Beck and Sue Couch served the shoppers homemade wassail made from Mossa Eaton's recipe and cookies made by the club members.

A wide variety of home canned items prepared from the previous summer's gardens and fresh fall garden produce were sold. Ivey Nell Boger, Grace Forrest, Nelda Brown and Betty Smith provided assistance in the food good section where shoppers had choices of homemade breads, cakes, cookies, pies, party mixes and candy. Baskets that contained various home-made food items and suitable for gift giving were also available this year.

Ruth and Chip Essie provided a large portion of the various types of greenery. Each year club members get together early in the bazaar week to make boxwood and cedar wreaths. Yule logs and other greenery treatments, bird houses and bird feed were also sold.

In the handicraft section, there was a selection of Christmas tree ornaments and decorations, casserole covers, bread warmers, hand towels and many other items too numerous to mention. Ruby Boger was in charge of the bargain table that was piled high with items for the avid bargain hunter to select from.

Cashiers were Edwina Barney and Jane Webb. Proceeds from the bazaar are used to maintain the Cana School and for various community and Home Extension Club activities.

"Thanks to each and everyone who came. The community's participation means a lot to the Cana Home Extension Club members," said Jane C. Webb, club secretary.

Cana News

By John "Cain" Godwin
Cana Correspondent

I heard a fellow say something that I think applies to Cana. "We do not inherit the land from our ancestors, we borrow it from our children." Isn't this the way we live in Cana. We do not dream of the day that we will own the land, but when our children will own and protect the land. Land is great but family is priceless.

Merry Christmas to everyone in Cana.
