Is Bigger Better? Offensive Line Can Prove Point

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

If bigger is better, then look for hefty results from Davie's offensive line.

At 255 pounds each, there's no questioning the size, but Coach Benjie Brown is curious to see what the War Eagles do with that bulk.

"You would be hard pressed to find a line bigger (in the conference or anywhere)," said Brown, the line coach along with Lee Linville. "There may be some better or quicker lines, but it will be hard to find a line bigger."

The longest grocery lists come from the bookends, tackles Joel Crotts, Ryan McClannon and Allen Livengood, all 290-pound seniors. Crotts, the left tackle, is one of three returning starters, and right tackle is still on the plate for either McClannon or Livengood.

"Joel's a big, strong boy and a pretty good football player," Brown said. "Two will see playing time (at right tackle). It's hard to say right now which one will win that starting position. They are both good kids and they're both pretty good players."

Davie is seasoned at guard, where returning starters Jeremy Helton (225 pounds) and Wesley Melton (245) will line up.

"Jeremy's gotten bigger and stronger in the off-season and I look for him to be another asset," Brown said of his senior left guard.

A steady weight-room diet has pushed Melton, a junior, to nearly the top of the depth chart.

"He has made great strides and is the most improved lineman we've got," Brown said. "I'll go as far to say he's one of the best lineman we've got right now. He grew up a lot in the off-season and has really come on with a new attitude. I'm looking for good things out of him.

"He has gained some confidence and there are several reasons why: he worked hard in the weight room and he was a member of the JV baseball team. That helped him some because he was able to grow with those kids."

Anchoring the line at center is a newcomer of sorts, senior Brian Murphy, a starting tight end last season. The reason for the switch: a shortage of beef, he has the brain power required to carry out Brown's complicated blocking schemes and it clears room for tight end Ray Spain.

When Brown broke the news, Murphy nodded.

"He has taken that change very well," Brown said. "He's learned how to play in there and he's a very good offensive lineman.

"He's a smart kid who understands the blocking assignments very well, and he's helped us out making calls. We needed some more guys to play inside; we didn't have a lot of experience coming back. With his size and strength, we felt he could fit in, and we're able to let (Spain) play more tight end. Instead of having one stand around, we are able to get both on the field and that is better for us."

The wiry Spain (6-8, 220) looks like he could reach halfway to Spain, a big reason why the senior started from ground up. He has, though, developed into weapon, a sticky-fingered receiver for quarterback Drew Ridenhour.

"He is kind of awkward to coach because he is long-legged, but he is working extremely hard," Brown said. "A lot of our success will hinge on how well Ray comes along. He's got to continue to progress.

"We already know he can catch the ball – he is a fantastic receiver - but we have got to get him to blocking a little better."

Brown has engraved blocking schemes to take advantage of Davie's size and compensate for lack of speed.

"We are big and strong but we are not very fast, so we are trying to use blocking schemes to take advantage of that," he said. "If our kids can learn how to do that, then they'll be very good. Some of the combination-type blocks take longer to perfect, so our offense will probably struggle at first. We'll have to be patient with it.... It will develop as time goes on."

Juniors Andy Heling, Jimmy Booe and Brad Smith are reserve tight ends.

Another Residential, Golf Community May Come To Hillsdale

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

HILLSDALE — Sewer lines are not yet in the ground, but a major new development has been proposed for Hillsdale.

Bermda Village owner Don Angell wants to build a retirement complex on 110 acres on N.C. 801 across from Bermuda Run.

Angell said Tuesday the development is only in the preliminary stages, and the land has not been purchased. "We don't even have a contract on it," he said. "We're exploring it now."

Similar to Bermuda Village, the complex will appeal to retirement couples seeking smaller homes with lots of amenities, including golf.

The proposed site is the large open land between Riverview Townhouses and Hidden Creek subdivision. Hidden Creek neighbors will meet Friday to discuss the impact the development will have on their homes.

Developers have told Davie County manager Ken Windley about the plans, but they have not made a formal request for zoning changes.

"I don't know a whole lot about it," Windley said. "A representative of Don Angell came by and asked questions about it.

"I don't know what kind of density they are going to ask for. They are going to be tying some development in with golf course expansion.

Development in Hillsdale has long been hindered by lack of sewer. Sewer lines are being installed now to link that area to the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County sewer line.

Windley said the only remaining hurdle in getting sewer for the area is securing an easement for the sewer line running to Tanglewood Park.

Sewage for Hidden Creek, Oak Valley and Meadowbrook Terrace of Davie flows into a package sewage treatment plant at Hidden Creek. With Oak Valley growing, the plant has become smelly for neighbors on Talwood Drive.

The Hidden Creek Homeowners Association has asked that all 64 homes in the development be allowed to the new sewer line so that the package plant can be closed. Oak Valley has reached an agreement to join the sewer.

David Smith of Smith Grove, former village manager of Clemmons, is working as Angell's representative for the new development.

Hidden Creek neighbors have been told they will see a plan of the development at the end of September.

Watershed Rules Could Increase Development

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County commissioners are scheduled to vote on watershed regulations in October.

While some of the proposed changes in watershed rules have been mandated by the state, the issue that created controversy at a Davie County Planning Board meeting Aug. 26, is whether or not to allow more development in these areas.

That is up to the commissioners.

After a lengthy discussion, the planning board voted 4 to 3 to recommend no changes in present regulations.

Watershed ordinances are designed to protect the drinking water supply by limiting land that can be covered by surfaces which water cannot penetrate and will run off, such as buildings, parking lots and driveways.

Under present regulations, land in the Yadkin River watershed may be developed up to 24 percent with curb and gutter and up to 36 percent without curb and gutter. That permits one house per half acre with curb and gutter and one home per one third acre without curb and gutter, according to Davie Planning and Zoning Director John Gallimore.

In the Hunting Creek watershed, a land owner may request special permission to develop additional land, as five percent of the land in the entire watershed may be developed up to 70 percent. If a watershed includes 1,000 acres, then 50 acres could be 70 percent covered.

If this were allowed, requests would be taken from land owners on a project by project basis. Approval would be at the discretion

Making Memories

It's Home, But Family Looking Forward To Indoor Plumbing, Appliances

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - What would seem like a trip back in time for most has been a way of life for John and Maggalee Ijames.

The couple moved to their house on Clark Road in 1947 and raised four children. The house is more than 100 years old.

The Ijames family has made a lot of memories in the little wood house that is older than the town of Cooleemee where Mrs. Ijames still prepares two meals a day on a wood cookstove.

Preparing to move out of the house, which will soon be torn down, fills the couple with mixed emotions.

"We've been here so long that there's no place like home. You hate to see where you've been for 50 years to be destroyed. There are a lot of memories here," Mr. Ijames said.

But, at 75, he said he will be glad to get inside a new mobile home provided through a community development block grant.

When it rains, it rains in the living room of the old house as much as it rains outside, he said.

They have to be careful walking through the dining room, afraid they might fall through, where the floor sinks in because a sill has broken beneath the floor.

"The old house has about had it," Mr. Ijames said. "It's where a lot of people wouldn't put their dog."

Every time their children visit, they ask when their parents will be moving into the new home, he said.

After 50 years in the house with no bathroom, Mrs. Ijames wonders what it will be like to live in a house with controlled heat and air conditioning, and she's looking forward to using an automatic washer and dryer and cooking on an electric or gas stove.

Her husband is glad it will be easier for her but doesn't think the wonderful cook's food will ever taste as good as it does on the old wood stove.

Among her specialties are cornbread and homemade vegetable soup, he said. In addition to her cooking he praised her for always keeping the house neat as a pin despite its condition.

Proposed Industrial Park Worries Neighbors

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Increased traffic and decreased property values concern neighbors of a 167 acre tract of land on U.S. 601 north of Mocksville, which owners had requested be rezoned for an industrial park.

Those neighbors crowded into the commissioners' room at the Davie County Administration Building to share their concerns with the county's planning and zoning board last week.

After about two hours of discussion, the planning board voted unanimously to recommend an amended request that eliminated all the land across Allen Road from the rezoning, to the Davie County Board of Commissioners for approval.

If the commissioners approve the request, it will mean the rezoning of about 150 acres from residential and agricultural use to industrial.

The commissioners will vote on the request after conducting a public hearing at their Sept. 15 meeting.

Though the property was zoned for residential and agricultural uses, it has been listed and shown as an industrial site since 1980, according to chairman of the Council of Economic Development and Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley.

The Hollingsworth Company, which constructs industrial buildings for lease, expressed an interest in the site in January. Of all the sites company founder Joe Hollingsworth considered in North Carolina, he liked this one most of all, Bralley said.

Buildings are needed to attract industry, but Davie County didn't want to use taxpayer money for

Traveling Bear Didn't Come Back Home This Time

He's gone again. This time, he may not come back.

It has been a week.

We have asked around. We have left messages. We have looked in the lost and found.

"Present" bear had to go to school. Robert had to show his favorite bear in all the world to his new classmates. He has taken him many other places, and the bear always made it back home. We warned Robert. Be careful. Watch out for him. Guard him and protect him.

It would be terrible if something happened to "Present" bear.

Some where between first grade, the YMCA and home, "Present" bear got lost. He was left behind and not stuffed back into the book bag.

There's nothing really remarkable about him, except for his knit sweater with an American flag on it.

His cousin, Kristin Miller, gave it to Robert for Christmas three years ago. That's how he came to have the name "Present" bear. He's a nappy bear, not stuffed too tightly. His eyes are kind of hidden by the cloth. Flappy arms and legs.

He's a well-traveled bear, remarkably durable. He's been to the beach, to the mountains, to grandparents' houses, to the playgrounds, to church.

He's been to the Health Department and received booster shots. He's been belted into car seats.

He's been dragged through sand and endured the cruelty of the washing machine.

Robert has more than a half-dozen bears, and there's nothing obviously distinctive about this one that earned it the reputation as his favorite.

One of his bears is dressed in a suit.

One wears a tie and glasses, and Robert compares it to his father.

One has dots on his paws, earning it the name, "Dotty."

One has a wonderful ribbon tied into a bowtie.

He has a white bear. He has a brown bear with a white spot on his neck. They get almost no attention at all.

Another bear, stuffed with beans or something, feels almost real. It's a beautiful bear, and I thought he would love it and adopt it as the bear of distinction, the most-favored bear. The bear he sleeps with.

But he didn't.

Not when there was "Present" bear.

As the movie, "Toy Story," so wonderfully demonstrated, there is usually one toy that is most dear to a child's heart. One toy that brings him joy, peace and security.

"Present" bear was that for Robert.

He hasn't cried about his disappearance. We've all been a little melancholy. We've talked about where he might be. On an adventure. Lost. Who knows?

The truth is, "Present" bear probably got tossed. The YMCA folks told us they have to clean things out quickly, and we didn't realize immediately that the bear didn't come home.

Someone thought they remembered a bear in a sweater. But they couldn't find him.

We think he's gone this time. He was a good bear.

Princess Di Deserved More Happiness

Jeanne Houpe

It was more than 16 years ago when I sat in front of the television with my grandma mesmerized by the closest thing to a real life fairy tale that I've ever seen, as the young and beautiful Lady Diana Spencer married her prince at St. Paul's Cathedral.

It was a hot July day, and Grandpa spent most of the day working outside, as we waited for my aunt to arrive from Ohio for a visit. It was a memorable day in my life – one of the last special times I had at home with Grandma.

That's one of the reasons it felt us if someone had plunged a knife into my chest when I heard that Princess Diana was dead.

As the shock wore off, anger took its place at how she lost her life – a car wreck in a Paris traffic tunnel as she tried to escape the paparazzi.

In the line of duty, I have often heard people refer to me as "the press". Knowing that many of those people would also call the photographers in their relentless pursuit of Diana the press, I hope they will find a new label for me.

The real press has an important job. It is a safeguard and a source of the information that people need to know. It's frightening to think about what some elected officials might try to do if there were no press, when one considers what some of them try to do with the press watching.

Somehow I've never put the tabloids with their farfetched stories and trick photographs in the same category with The New York Times – or Davie County Enterprise Record. Neither would you catch me comparing the likes of Entertainment Tonight to 60 Minutes.

It's amazing to me that there are enough people in the world whose lives are so boring that they have time to

Advice From Mother Of Murdered Girl

To the editor:

My daughter, Misti Anne, was murdered seven years ago on Sept. 4, 1990. I want all parents to realize how quickly your child can be taken from you.

I said good-bye to Misti Anne at 6 a.m.; just 60 minutes later, she was dead in our living room. My advice to you is, don't trust anyone with the life of your child. If you have a bad feeling about anyone, no matter who they are, realize there is a reason why you feel this way. Nothing is worth your child's life. Stop this person from being around your child. If your child has told you that they have been threatened in any way - confront the person and let them know you are aware of the threat.

Don't keep a regular routine where a tragedy is convenient. We always kept a minute-by-minute routine daily. All someone has to do is watch your home and family to work out a few minutes to hurt or kill your child. If you feel you shouldn't leave your child alone and can't find a place for them to be safe - stay home with them. You may lose a day's pay, but you'll still have your child. If you think your child is safe in your home ... Misti Anne was alone only 15 minutes ... long enough to be murdered.

How old is old enough to be alone? Misti Anne was 14. She was small and defenseless and no match for an insanely jealous ex-boyfriend armed with a .22 bolt action rifle. He shot her three times. I can't save her now, but maybe something I say will help another child somewhere, someday. Listen to your children. Take what they say seriously.

Jealously is a dangerous emotion. It turns normal people into murderers if they are unstable to begin with. If a boyfriend or girlfriend shows un-natural obsessions and sets rules that must be followed and is possessive to the point that the opposite sex (no matter what age or relationship) isn't allowed freedom, then worry. Something is wrong and the chances that something bad will happen is probable. Even 14 and 15 year olds are too young to have boyfriends and girlfriends. Friends are okay. Don't let them have relationships with the opposite sex at this young age. It may seem innocent, but for Misti Anne, it turned out to be deadly.

All children are different. You know your child or you should. Listen and talk to your child about all friends in their circles. If they are reluctant to talk about anyone in particular, then be concerned. Know your child's friends and remember to take threats seriously, such as, "If you break up with me, I'll kill you." Children say ugly things sometimes, but don't shrug an uneasy feeling off. If I had taken my own advice seven years ago, I wouldn't be writing this today. My Misti would be 21 and I wouldn't have a broken heart. I wish I had read these words before my world came apart. Not all situations like ours would turn so tragic, but are you willing to take that chance?

I hope my personal experience in our situation is taken the way I intended it to. I only want to spare another family of going through what we have. Misti Anne was a delightful child and I'll always love her and miss her. The ache I feel in my heart doesn't go away. Misti Anne will always be my baby girl because I won't let her age in my heart. She was 14 and a true gift from God.

Her murderer will be eligible for parole in the year 2005. Where will Misti Anne be on that day?

In Rose Cemetery.

Emergency Personnel Provide Above Average Care

To the editor:

I would like to express my gratitude and thanks to all the emergency medical and fire teams that responded on Aug. 20 to T&L Trucking co-owned by T. Howard.

After being stung in the mouth by a bee, I suffered a severe allergic reaction and went into respiratory distress.

The quick action and professional quality of care I received was above normal, along with the calm and caring attitudes of each one. It made it easier to follow their instructions to help myself.

I would like to praise each one by name but am unable to do this. I was informed that the first to arrive was Junior Smith, who ironically responded when my father had respiratory problems, once more he came to the rescue. Also the ambulance attendant who explained each and everything that he was going to do, his calm manner and gentle nature really made a big difference.

I could never repay these guys enough, but I will say, my opinion of the emergency medical teams here in Davie County, because of past experiences, has raised 100-percent and then above.

I'll never forget you.

School Supplies Appreciated

To the editor:

On behalf of the children in Davie County who need a helping hand with school supplies this year, I would like to thank CNN and all the churches and individuals who so generously brought school supplies to A Storehouse for Jesus. What a help you have been. We had such an abundance of supplies that we have been able to share with the schools. I know you would have been blessed, as we have been, at the relief the parents showed and the excitement the children expressed when they received their supplies. Thank you for always being there when the call for help goes out. Davie County is blessed to have you.

Princess Diana Didn't Have That Fairy Tale Life

keep up with what's going on in the lives of a world's worth of celebrities. More importantly, what do they care?

It's good for the world to know that Princess Diana took a stand for AIDS patients and campaigned against land mines, but it should have been none of anyone's business where she went on vacation or every time she gained or lost 10 pounds.

The Princess of Wales took that title with the same fairy tale visions I had as I watched her grand wedding to Prince Charles.

What could a princess possibly have to worry about?

For Diana, there was plenty. A husband who didn't love her, a royal family that wanted to shape her to fit their mold and a ceaseless spotlight and the inevitable criticism brought by it.

Her death is being called a tragedy. But the real tragedy is not Diana's death. It was her life. At 36, she had known a life of far more unhappiness than happiness.

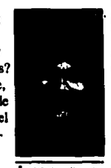
Seeing her only as the princess, it was easy to criticize her every move, forgetting that before she was a princess, she was a woman. She was a daughter, a sister, a mother, a friend.

It appears that like most women she was willing to sacrifice much of her own happiness for her sons. And, like most women, she wanted to know the joy of love.

Her romantic link to millionaire Dodi Fayed, who was also killed in the accident, had brought a healthy portion of criticism to Diana from the press. Yet, her friends say she had known a few weeks of happiness with him. It's a shame she could not have known more.

I hope the lesson to be learned from this tragedy will not go ignored.

Dear Hillary ... You're Not The Only One With Memory Lapse



Lynn Hall

Dear Hillary,

I was reading the daily newspaper last week and came across a column all about the problem you're having with your memory, and boy, do I know what you're going through. Well, I mean I don't know exactly what you're going through since I'm not the First Lady, and in fact am not even in politics. Not to mention the fact that I don't even know anyone with a million dollars. But hey, forgetting is forgetting isn't it, whether you're the wife of the President of the United States or simply the mother of two demanding teen-agers?

Well, maybe it's not exactly the same, since I bet Chelsea doesn't get an attitude when you forget to bring home the Bagel Bites she really wanted or that composition notebook for school she really, really needed. But then that's probably because you're not the one running out to the Piggly Wiggly to do the grocery shopping for the family. Which means you've never had to wander around the parking lot trying to remember where you parked the limo either. And be grateful for that. Those bag boys can get really testy when they have to follow you up and down two or three aisles while you try and remember which car you drove to the store and where you left it.

But then an annoyed bag boy can hardly be compared withe the cruel taunting of a ratings-hungry news anchor or the verbal harpoons of a nationally syndicated columnist over a few lousy telephone calls. Sure, I may get home and find the bag with my milk, macaroni and malted milk balls missing, but that's relatively minor compared with waking up every morning to find yourself lambasted on national television or in bold type on the editorial page of the newspaper just because you can't remember making a few silly, illegal phone calls to friends and well-to-do people asking them to make large financial contributions to the Democratic Party. Do they think you have nothing better to do than keep track of every single important $100,000 to $1 million phone calls you make?

Good grief.

Don't they realize you have more important things on your mind? Hasn't anyone noticed you've been rather busy lately? Haven't you been busy helping your daughter pack for college? Making sure you've returned all those confidential files to the FBI? Hunting for all those insignificant notes and documents Kenneth Stark keeps pestering you about? Making sure you get some small token of appreciation in the mail to Susan McDougal each week just to let her know you and Bill are thinking of her? Hasn't that annoying Paula Jones kept you preoccupied, not to mention trying to help Bill come up with something for which his presidency will be remembered throughout history (other than the fact that he'll be remembers as the president who was the center of more criminal investigations than the mob.).

Haven't any of these television news reporters or syndicated columnists ever forgotten to stop for that loaf of bread or gallon of milk on the way home from work? Where they left the car keys? A friend's birthday? The capital of Iowa? And if so, perhaps they ought to be a little more sympathetic to the Clintons and less critical of these memory lapses. Of course, it might also help, Hillary, if you and Bill would tape record more of your phone calls and conversations, instead of just jotting things down on notepads that seem to get so easily misplaced. In fact, there's probably some old taping equipment down in the White House basement left over from another administration. Push a button and your problems with an overzealous media would be over in a snap. Hey, it worked for Nixon, didn't it?

Sincerely,
Lynn "Pin-A-Note-On-My-T-Shirt To-Remind-Me" Hall

A Big Change

But to save the old house would cost a minimum of $80,000, he said.

Historic Davie Inc. made efforts to save the house, according to Julie Patton of HDI's Preservation Committee, but the house was too far gone.

If HDI had been aware of the house sooner, it might have been able to preserve this piece of pre-1900 Davie County heritage, she said.

In those days all the homes in the Clark Road area were small tenant houses, she said.

In this case all that is left for HDI to do is document the house so that future generations will know of its existence, Patton said.

But she hopes that in the future people will make the organization aware of similar situations before it's too late.

To Mr. Ijames, who worked in the cotton mill in Cooleemee for 26 years and later at Ingersoll-Rand in Mocksville, and his wife, who worked in people's homes, seeing the old home go is a blessing if it means an easier life for them.

"People in these fine homes don't know how blessed they are," Mr. Ijames said.

Ijames said it would cost at least $80,000 to fix up the old house where he and his wife have lived for 50 years.

Ijames stands in the dining room where the floor is about to collapse.

Ijames escapes the heat by having a seat on the porch he added onto the house a few years ago.

New Industrial Park Proposed

that purpose and has been looking for a developer to do that, he said.

It costs $900 of local money to send one child to school each year, he said. The only way to keep the tax rate low is to encourage industrial development.

About 60 percent of taxes in Mocksville are paid by industry and 23 percent in the county, he added.

The Hollingsworth Company's industrial shell buildings in Clinton, Tenn. have added greatly to the tax base there, according to Hollingsworth representative John Allen.

In addition to adding to the tax base, new industry will provide employment opportunities to the 4,000 residents who leave the county each day to work, he said.

The Hollingsworth Company is proposing an industrial park with 11 buildings, ranging in size from 66,000 square feet to 150,000 square feet, beginning with four buildings and parking areas on about 40 acres at the front of the tract along U.S. 601.

The buildings are designed for light industry and distribution type businesses – not industries that will create a lot of noise or smoke, he said.

He said the site would include a lot of landscaping, buffers and even a walking trail.

"We have been looking for something that would be a benefit to Davie County," said Bill Hall, one of the land owners.

But a neighbor asked the owners and developers if they would build this industrial park in their own backyards where they are trying to raise children.

A resident of Ijames Church Road, Karen Richardson, said she sees the area as primarily residential and agricultural.

When looking for property to buy, she said she found nothing about there being a large industrial site in the area.

Richardson said it is worth the drive to and from Winston-Salem to work every day to keep the quality of life her family has in Davie County. "I wouldn't mind paying higher taxes to preserve that quality of life."

Chuck Keegan of Hidden Valley Road said he moved to Davie County to bring his children up, bought five acres and built a house.

"As far as I'm concerned [that house] won't be worth anything," he said.

Building contractor Eric Brown told the planning board that the reason people come to Davie County from other places is because of its rural environment.

"We don't need to be messing that up," he said.

"What I'm hearing here is that residents are losers. You'd rather have business because that pays more, and I resent that," said Glen Fleeman of Advance.

"Why don't you pave the whole county over and make it all business?" he asked.

Paul O'Neal of Ijames Church Road expressed concerns about the increase in traffic on U.S. 601 and the possibility of a hazardous waste storage company leasing one of the buildings.

He added that he had heard a rumor that Mocksville would be extending the city limits to take in the new industrial site, which would mean more taxes for neighbors.

But Bralley assured him the annexation would be a satellite annexation, taking in only the industry.

O'Neal's other big concern is what will happen if the property is rezoned for industrial use and the deal with Hollingsworth collapses.

In that case, the owners could sell the property for another industrial use, admitted planning board chairman Jim Eaton.

Several planning board members mentioned concerns about that possibility.

If Hollingsworth does not go through with the deal, Hall said the property owners would not just let anything come into the site.

Though he is sympathetic to neighbors, Eaton said the land is commercial property, and he does not believe the rezoning will decrease property values.

His personal concern is being asked to rezone 167 acres when only about 50 of it will be developed initially, he said.

After members of the planning board discussed this concern, Hall amended his request to eliminate the 17 acres across Allen Road and extend the rezoning only to the right-of-way of Allen Road, which would prevent an entrance on that road.

Allen said he believed the Hollingsworth Company would be willing to exclude that land.

"I feel this is a good compromise," said planning board member Wee Brock.

of the commissioners, Gallimore said.

In general, he said a need for an increased percentage is for commercial and industrial developments with large building and parking lots.

County commissioners will vote Sept. 15, on whether or not to increase the amount of development that may be permitted in each watershed.

If the county chooses to do so, the state will allow 10 percent of the land to be covered up to 70 percent, Gallimore said.

Several residents shared concerns and expressed opposition to increased development in Davie's protected watershed areas.

The variances being considered were pushed through the state legislature by lobbyists. At some point people have to take notice that water needs to be protected, said Marilyn Bost of Advance.

"We can't just keep pouring bad things into our water," Bost said. "There are problems with Davie County water now."

She warned there will be more problems if leaders don't start abiding by stricter guidelines.

Gene Cross argued that there have been no studies showing it would benefit the county to allow higher density development in the watershed, while three years were spent developing watershed regulations.

The county should study the possible effects before making a decision that could have a negative impact, he said.

Cross invited board members to smell the water at his house.

Pollution is already a problem, and watershed regulations are in place to protect drinking water. If the county needs higher density development, it should be put somewhere that it is less likely to harm the water, he said.

Stephen Triplett, who owns land in the Hunting Creek watershed, asked the board to keep present regulations. "I think it's a very reasonable plan."

Charles Fox, who lives in the Yadkin River watershed, told the board that there is already too much pollution, and the county does not need to further destroy its drinking water.

"Do not our children and grandchildren have the God given right to have at least as clean water and air as we have had?" Fox asked.

"What will be the cost to the taxpayers in Davie County to pay for further water purification if this '70-10 provision passes?" he asked.

A 300-acre project, which has already been approved by county commissioners, in the Yadkin River watershed would require this amendment of the watershed ordinance to be built, he said.

Fox went on to ask the board to allow more time for Davie residents to review the proposal.

"There are hundreds of questions that need to be addressed before you vote on this proposed change," he said.

He suggested that the board reject the proposed change, delay a decision for 60 days to allow a better understanding of the impact or recommend to county commissioners that the proposal be put before Davie County voters.

Planning board chairman Jim Eaton said he does not know and understand all the watershed regulations but shares concerns about clean water.

That water should not just be left as good as it was found but made better for future generations, he said.

"I think we should keep all the regulations as they are," he said. "We have an opportunity as a board here tonight to try to plan for some organized type of growth."

If the proposed changes would allow increased density on a project by project basis, Eaton said, "I'm against it."

Wee Brock made a motion to recommend that county commissioners keep present watershed regulations. The motion, seconded by Garry "Tiny" Livengood, carried by a 4 to 3 vote.

The board voted unanimously to recommend approval of several state mandated changes in local watershed ordinances, including declassification of the Bear Creek watershed since there is no longer an intake for water there.

The board also voted to recommend adding a definition for cluster development and changing the wording in the definition of built upon area as required by the state.

Saturday morning Aug. 30, the United Methodist Men met with our church around 9 a.m. and took them to the Bob Hege fish pond to go fishing. They had a good time, caught fish and threw them back into the pond. Those men met at the church before lunch time and had their lunch grilled when they came back to church.

Sunday morning after Sunday school most of us went down to Fulton Church for the 11 a.m. service, which was an oldtime camp meeting. We sang old hymns, learned about camp meetings of long ago. We were out side not to far from the river. It is believed that camp meeting's were held where Fulton Church is today. Bryce and Ina Smith were there and he had charge of the 11 a.m. service along with Pastor Susan Hubbard. Mr. Smith was pastor of Elbaville, Fulton and Bailey's Chapel charge from 1968 to 1972.

Elaine Smith and her mother Mabel Howard visited Elaine's aunt Elva and uncle Mack Krites in Winston-Salem last Sunday evening. Aunt Elva was a sister to George Howard, Elaine's father and Mabel's late husband.

Dana and Jay Lockhart's baby girl is now one year old. Her birthday was Aug. 29. Her name is Sasha Ann. She had a birthday party Sunday evening at 5 p.m. at her grandparents Kevin and Rachael Zimmerman's home on the river. Sasha Ann is my first great-granddaughter.

Ray Purdy has been in the hospital in Maryland, but is out now doing much better.

Mocksville High School Class Of 1947 Holds 50th Reunion

The 1947 graduating class of Mocksville High School held its 50th reunion on Saturday, Aug. 16, at the Smith Grove Ruritan Club.

The building was decorated to reflect a western theme. The class colors of red and white and the school colors of black and gold were used.

There were cowboy boots filled with flowers on the snack table. Tin tubs were full of red geraniums alongside bales of straw covered with cowboy gear. Everywhere one looked there were cowboy hats, boots and bandanas.

The flowers at the head table were donated by Opa Lashmit Mastin, golden mums tied up with black and gold ribbon.

At 3 p.m. teachers, members and former members with their spouses began arriving. Each was given a name tag with their pictures that had been taken from the annual and copied for the name tag. There were 71 persons attending.

During a social hour, class members and guests laughed, talked, and reminisced while flash bulbs popped.

An array of finger food with a fruit tray and punch was prepared by the committee.

Louise Armsworthy Wilson was kept busy filling the punch bowl while Estelle Allen Smith greeted the members with their name tags. Lynda Dunn Gilley and Christine Barneycastle Wyatt kept busy making sure everyone was having a good time and getting their pictures taken.

At 6 p.m., a baked chicken dinner was served by the Smith Grove Ruritan Club. Thanks were returned by class member Ben Powell. After dinner, which included peach pie, the program began in full swing.

Class president, Jack Pennington, was emcee. Each class member and all former members were asked to stand and give an updated look at his or her life, including retirement, children and grandchildren.

Wanda Hendrix Bryant read the class prophecy from the annual, which was written by Nancy Ann Ijames Myers 50 years ago. Christine Barneycastle Wyatt said at least her prophecy had come true, because she still had a Virgil (Wyatt) in her life.

Jack Pennington read some excerpts from magazines and newspapers about happenings in 1947.

The highlight of the program was by Opa Lashmit Mastin. A surprise, she wrote and read a tribute of remembrance for the seven class members who are deceased. There was a moment of silent prayer for them. She also prepared a table with candles and a scroll with each one's name.

Jim Wilson entertained with western music and songs and members sang along on several.

Opa Lashmit Mastin gave a performance along with some dialogue with John Robert Purvis. She was dressed as the lady in red with long beads and long red gloves. She sang and mimed "Accentuate the Positive." This was done as it was in a program at school so long ago.

The day closed with a discussion of a committee for the next reunion which will be in the year 2000. The same committee was appointed along with the addition of Martha Mason Brown.

The group sang led by Jim Wilson, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," after which Ralph Bowden made several group pictures.

"We all had such a good time, and we were so grateful to our teachers for coming to share with us," said Estelle Allen Smith. The teachers attending were: Helen Crenshaw, D.J. Mando and his wife Ethel, Leo Williams and his wife Anna, Madeline Smoot Sparks and her husband Johnny; and Mrs. Beryl Dryden from Neptune Beach, Fla., who brought Roberta Bowles with her.

As goodbyes were said, Opa Lashmit Mastin gave each class member a white folder, embossed with a red rose and tied with golden ribbon. Inside was a parchment scroll with the tribute of remembrance written on it. Also, Jack Pennington had made copies of 1947 class memorabilia and had it all packed neatly in separate packets.

"As we closed out the 50th reunion, we all felt that we had "acted well the part, there all the honor lies, which was our class motto," Smith said.

Spiritual Resources: Influencing Children

By the Rev. Glenn Sellers

In the book of Exodus we have the account of Moses leading the Children of Israel out of bondage. In his attempt to persuade Pharaoh, Moses brought plagues upon the Egyptians. During the process Pharaoh offered several compromises to Moses; such as: he would allow the Children of Israel to worship God as long as they stayed in the land, or he would allow them to go out into the wilderness to worship their God but they would have to leave their livestock behind. To all of those compromises the answer was no. One of the compromises that Pharaoh offered was that he would release them to go and worship in the wilderness but they would have to leave their children behind.

The spiritual lesson of this is very pertinent for today. Egypt symbolizes the sinful, worldly lifestyle which has people in bondage. It is from this which God seeks to deliver us. And God's salvation means a total departure from the ways of this world with no exceptions.

The last compromise I mentioned which Pharaoh, symbolizing Satan, offered involved the children. The question I have for us is it possible that we as Christians have unwittingly accepted this compromise today? We send our children to schools which teach not one God but whatever you believe is OK. That we are here by chance and not be design. Seven hours a school day our children spend with peers who do not share our moral standards. Then when they come home, they are allowed hours of unsupervised television. Needless to say the message of television today is anything but Godly. Then for many the only instruction in Godliness is what they receive in Sunday school.

And sad to say an attitude among many parents today concerning children's discipleship is apathetic at best. Are we as Christians leaving our children in the world? What can we do to make sure our children are not left in the world?

Television should be supervised, what they watch should not be left up to them. And if they are exposed to a message which is contrary to the Bible, we as parents have a responsibility to share with them the truth. Many do not have an alternative to public education therefore the solution is to become involved in your child's education. Know what they are learning in school, talk to them about it. Our educators have been crying for this for years. Involve them in church and children's discipleship programs. By far the most important influence upon a child is their parents. What does your lifestyle say to your children. Is there a difference between what they learn in Sunday school and what they see at home? One day we parents will give an account for the way we have raised our children, not the public school officials nor the television producers. Remember Jesus said "suffer the little children to come unto me," and again He said "It would be better for you to hang a millstone around your neck and jump into a lake than for you to lead one of these little ones astray."

Memory Walk To Raise Money For Alzheimer's Association

Memories are a precious gift we all hold dear to our hears.

However, many adults no longer have this gift. It is taken away by Alzheimer's Disease. The fourth leading cause of death among adults, Alzheimer's strikes more than 4 million adults a year.

The Davie County Senior Center will help "Preserve the Memories" with the annual Memory Walk.

This one-mile fun walk will raise money for the Piedmont Triad N.C. Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. Sheriff Allen Whitaker will lead participants on Saturday, Sept. 13 beginning at 10:30 a.m. at the Center Fair. Participants can walk as an individual, or form a team to create a friendly rivalry between schools, businesses, civic groups, etc.

Register anytime before the walk or on the day of the walk from 9-10 a.m.

Everyone is invited to recruit sponsors and walk for the Alzheimer's Association at the Center Fair. Prizes will be awarded to those who raise specific amounts: $50, Memory Walk t-shirt; $150 or more, free admission ticket to Old Salem. Special prizes will be awarded to the top three money raisers in Davie County, and a grand prize to the top three money raisers in the nation.

There will be several door prizes the day of the walk, and a plaque awarded to the team which raises the most money in Davie County.

You may come to the Senior Center on Friday, Sept. 12 to deliver your money and receive your t-shirt (if eligible) to wear the day of the walk. All money must be received by 10 a.m. Sept. 13.

To register, make a donation, or receive additional information, call the senior center at 634-0611.

Davie Unemployment Rate Among Lowest

Davie County continues to have among the lowest unemployment rates in the state.

According to figures released last week by the Employment Security Commission, Davie's jobless rate for July was 2.2 percent, down from 2.4 percent in June.

Unemployment rates for surrounding counties: Yadkin, 2.7%; Rowan, 2.9%; Iredell, 3.4%; Forsyth, 2.9%; Davidson, 2.9%.

State Legislature Agrees On Welfare Reform Package

Welfare reform will become reality, said Rep. Julia Howard (R-Davie).

After weeks of debate, the House and Senate have agreed on a welfare reform package.

The House inserted welfare reform legislation into the budget as a way of forcing reluctant Senate Democrats to deal with the issue, Howard said. "Two years ago, the House passed a bold welfare reform package only to have it ignored by the Senate," she said.

"This is a great day for North Carolina. Hard-working, taxpaying citizens deserve this much needed reform of our obsolete welfare system," Howard said.

Details of the package include having no cap on the number of counties. A total of 15.5 percent of caseloads will be eligible to participate, with 90 percent maintenance of effort in year one and 80 percent maintenance of effort in year two. Maintenance of effort is the key component that allows counties the flexibility to devise innovative plans to move individuals from welfare to work, she said.

"This plan calls for innovative action, improved efficiency, and lower cost to the taxpayer. We will continue to expand welfare reform until the entire system is overhauled and welfare as we know it is a thing of the past," Howard said.

Center Fair Memories: Continuity Of A Community

By Kathy Chaffin

There are three things you need to could say about people in the Center community. At one time or another, almost everyone had set foot in a tobacco patch. You couldn't talk about one to another because chances are they were related. And at the bottom of every memory box, there was a ribbon from the Center Fair.

The fair began in 1922 with agricultural exhibits displayed in the arbor. The second year featured electric lights after two men from Harmony wired the arbor with a Delco lighting system. A stage was built, and a choir sang. The theme song was "When the Baby Cries at Night, You need a Delco Light."

During one of the early fairs, C.C. Sanford's mare brought a Majestic range and hired someone to make biscuits and other goodies to promote sales. In 1926, there was a death in the community, and the fair was canceled. The following year, the fair was moved to Mocksville, where it would be held for the next 15 years. Center had active Grange from 1944-1955, and it sponsored two fairs during that time.

In 1957, the Center Community Development Association was formed along with the Center Volunteer Fire Department. The fair was reorganized with the addition of the now famous pit-cooked barbecue, with profits being divided equally between the association and fire department. Children, their parents and grandparents participate submitting entries ranging from field crops to baked goods to crafts made at local Vacation Bible Schools. The young and old smiled with pride when they carried them back home with blue, red and yellow ribbons attached. More than one family shared secret recipes for prize-winning pies and cakes. In this close-knit community, the competition was fierce, and a winning entry carried much status.

As the number of family farms dwindled, the entries in the field crop categories fell, but you can still find tobacco, cotton, gourds, hay and a wide range of flora and vegetables in keeping with the times; categories have been added, deleted and altered.

As modern conveniences left arbor and shelters were more time on their hands, the competitive fall park, our talents, fine arts, photography and horticultural features expanded. There are even categories for Best Collection and Best of Show.

Scheduled every year for the second Saturday in September, the barbecue goes on sell on the morning of the Friday before and fair entries are accepted that morning. Last minute entries are accepted only the most talented for fair-time judging. Entries are displayed throughout the day for everyone to see and picked up after 6 in the evening.

The essence of the fair is captured on the face of a little boy or girl picking up the prize money. The winning cow manager, but the Center Fair is not about money. It's about pride, pride in oneself and pride in the community. About taking time to talk to neighbors and eat a barbecue sandwich with a friend. It's about trading secrets for growing the biggest vegetables and the prettiest flowers, the most elaborate quilt patterns and the meanest cobbler, without the best chocolate cake and persimmon pudding that melts in your mouth.

It's about memories, a brother and sister eating a busted watermelon in the gravel driveway in front of the arbor, the sweetness of the ripened fruit soothing the disappointment over dropping what they were certain would be a prize-winning entry; a treasured collection of ribbons won for canned goods by a mother who died too soon; and the surprise on a little girl's face when she sees a blue ribbon on a drawing she had to be talked into entering.

But most of all, the Center Fair is about continuity, and the quiet assurance that comes from knowing that the children and grandchildren of today's winners will be carrying home ribbons for many years to come.

Hammer Time: War Eagles Rip Visitors From Virginia

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

All the preseason whispers promised that a football elitist would visit Mocksville Friday night to butt heads with Davie County.

Pregame talk was cheap because the Pulaski (Va.) Cougars never fit the perceived description, at least not against the upstart War Eagles, who hammered the reigning kings of the Roanoke Valley 3-A District 31-1 4 in the season-opening endowment game at War Eagle Stadium.

The traditional power, which resides nearly two hours up I-77, were 10-2 last year.

This is 1997.

"Our kids were focused and ready to play," Coach Benjie Brown of Davie said. "It's been a long, hard preseason. We've put a lot of time in and we were ready to go."

No one was more ready than Davie senior tailback Cedric White, who knifed through the Cougar defense 24 times for 217 yards rushing and two touchdowns after sitting out last season. And the War Eagles possibly have the top reserve around, brother Ricky White, who added 72 yards and two TDs on 19 carries.

Holding up his end of the deal, Brown also utilized his revamped passing game. Sophomore quarterback Drew Ridenhour completed eight of 12 passes for 65 yards.

"We have to run the football to win," said Brown, whose club accumulated 334 yards on the ground, 181 more than Pulaski's Wing-T offense. "Any high-school team that's any good is going to have to do that. We were able to mix the pass a little bit, still not as good as I would like to. But it helped loosen things up."

It didn't take the Cougars long to meet one of Davie's dynamite safeties, Scott Cornatzer, who intercepted Dorian Hendricks' first varsity pass on the third play of the game, setting up a lead that Davie never relinquished. Cornatzer couldn't have scripted the beginning of his senior year any better.

"It got us off to a good start," he said after a cold shower. "It got me off to a good start and, coming out early, I thought that was key. (The intended receiver) was my only responsibility in the whole game. I just had to watch him and he just went straight up the field."

And Davie, starting from Pulaski's 45, promptly went straight down.

Cedric White carried four of five plays, gaining at least nine yards each time, and glided into the end zone from nine yards out less than four minutes into the game. The extra point from Eric Kofke made it 7-0.

A clipping penalty wiped out a 52-yard touchdown on a screen pass from Ridenhour to White, but the War Eagles built a cushion on another 45-yard drive that started with a second left in the opening quarter.

Ridenhour completed three passes during the march, the foremost one going to fullback Jonathon Creason in the right flats on fourth and four from the Pulaski 29. Creason hauled in the short toss, avoided a hot pursuer and lumbered down the sideline 24 yards to the 5. Ricky White covered that on consecutive runs for a 14-0 advantage.

All indications led to a huge halftime lead when Davie marched from its 29 to Pulaski's 21 with under two minutes left in the second. After three Cedric White runs that totaled 49 yards, White was stopped after a minimum gain, Ridenhour threw over receiver Brian Lane's head on a deep fade, and a screen to White was smothered for a 10-yard loss.

Davie lost seven more on a fourth-down reverse that never materialized because of a fumble, handing Pulaski possession with 1:01 to go. The Cougars were back on their feet one play later, when halfback Kwasi Scott took a screen pass 62 yards through the teeth of Davie's defense for a seven-point halftime deficit.

Brown warned his troops about the possibilities of a quick turnaround.

"We overcame some adversity along the way," he said. "I told our kids they are going to have some big plays. They bounced right back when they got down."

The game turned for good, though, at the outset of the second half. Davie took the kickoff, started from its 35 and gave Cedric White the ball four straight times, the final carry going 40 yards just 1:34 into the third period. White followed the

Knockout Pulaski Goes Home With Cramps, Loss

During warm-ups, which were approximately two hours before the Pulaski Cougars trudged to the loser's dressing room, past rankings and accolades concerning the Virginia intruders washed over the bleachers and manicured grass like common rain.

Davie fans seeking a sip of the football spirit spewed on the home side, anticipating what was billed as a heavy-weight clash.

Jerry Walser, a former assistant for the Thomasville Bulldogs who is Davie's backfield coach, noticed the congestion when the War Eagles roared out of the locker room.

"I'll tell you what, this is my fifth year in Davie County and this is the closest Davie County has come to a Thomasville crowd, and that's a real accomplishment," he said. "We received a standing ovation when we came out, and I said: 'Holy cow, man. They are going to start barking in a minute, like at Thomasville.' "

I came to this conclusion at halftime, when a minute walk to the concession stand became a four-minute shoving match: If War Eagle Stadium had been a cardiovascular system, the diagnosis would have been clogged arteries and imminent heart attack.

The eager customers felt like Vienna sausages, a prepared Davie team felt confident, and mere seconds into the game the Cougars felt like Walser students who rushed belatedly into history class and realized that he was passing out a pop quiz – and he wanted dates.

On the third play of the game, Pulaski coach Joel Hicks -- who has 12 Roanoke Valley District titles, four regional championships and nearly 300 victories in 19 years -- felt compelled to test the airwaves with quarterback Dorian Hendricks, who unleashed his first varsity bomb toward Scott Cornatzer's kitchen. The Cougars walked into

Walkers Reach 1,000 Mile Mark

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Van Fagan, Mary Evans and Retha Whitaker are like the Energizer rabbit – they just keep going and going and going.

The avid walkers, members of the Mocksville Elementary School's faculty, set out last Labor Day to walk 300 miles. The initial goal was too low, prompting the women to aim for 800, then 1,000.

A year later, they reached satisfaction, fulfillment of completing their mission.

"We set a goal of 300 miles and we said: 'Surely if everybody walks 10 miles a week, we can walk 300 miles in a year,' " Fagan said.

Make that 300 by December.

"As it turned out, 300 was just really too low for the school year, because we had already reached 300 by Christmas," I said: 'Let's reset our goals. Surely if we can do 300 miles, we can add 500 to it because we can walk 100 miles a month.' "

They conquered 800 by May, giving them the summer break to achieve their ultimate goal. So they reached higher.

"Shoot, we were only 200 miles away from getting 1,000 so we said: 'Walk during the summer and keep up with your miles. Then we'll get together before school starts and finish the miles together,' " Fagan said. "And we did. We egged each other on and did it."

Consistency's the key to avoid fizzling out.

"You've just got to be steady at it," said Fagan, who averaged walking a little less than three miles a day. "Sometimes if you miss a few days, then you've got to double your time."

The trio started a second journey toward 1,000 this past Labor Day, but history says they'll up the ante.

"We really could set a goal higher because it is pretty easy to do 100 miles a month," Fagan said. "We just like to walk."

Cross Country Team Dominates At Meet

Starmount hosted a cross-country invitational, but Davie owned it.

Nine teams and 90 runners followed the War Eagle boys, who outdistanced the closest pursuer by 50 points.

"We got to see what we need to do," said Coach Cary Powers, whose girls were rained out. "We'll see a lot stiffer competition down the road."

Opponents will not face many tougher than Davie's Garick Hill, the overall winner in 17:13, 30 seconds ahead of the runner-up.

Hill didn't even rev his jets.

"He didn't get a real good workout," Powers said. "He had an excellent time for this early, so he looks like he's going to have a good year."

Davie Wins Series

After taking the first game against North Iredell, Davie's varsity volleyball team forgot how to pass, leading to a spurt that saw the Raiders take 30 of 36 points.

The War Eagles didn't forget how to win, though.

They regained their composure, overcame a 2-1 hole and won the best-of-five series 15-7, 0-15, 6-15, 15-4, 15-13.

"In the second and third games, it was a totally different team that walked on the floor," said Coach Tammy Reavis, whose girls opened the season with a romp over Northwest Cabarrus. "We finally got it back together. Nicki Davidson played real well on the front row."

But that was it. Davie botched most passes to setter Leann Spillman, who was forced to run wild.

"We didn't pass well and Leann was running all over the place," Reavis said. "She didn't have any good passes to set. I'm not pleased. We should have beaten North in three games."

The War Eagles pushed around a disordered Northwest club, which fell 15-5, 15-12, 15-9. "They would bump the first ball back over," Reavis said.

"We played good enough to win, but we can play a lot better. Melinda Richie played real good and Anna (Samm) served real good."

JVs Unbeaten

Leo Brunelli, the first-year JV coach, mirrored Reavis, saying he's happy with a 2-0 start but there's room for improvement.

Both Northwest Cabarrus and North Iredell pushed Davie to the limit before falling 15-3, 5-15, 15-7 and 15-4, 11-15, 15-8, respectively.

"We played OK," Brunelli said. "If we keep improving in practice, we'll be ready to go in the conference. We got a pretty good team effort, which made it nice."

Brunelli has a nine promising freshmen in the fold, a stout class of newcomers that should keep Davie in the conference's upper class through the turn of the century.

"If they keep improving, the program will be strong for several years to come," said Brunelli, who used the nonconference matches to evaluate his talent. "I was able to play all 15 players in both matches.

"I've always been one not to have a set lineup. Whoever is playing good that particular day will get the opportunity."

War Eagle Tennis Wins First Match, Overcoming Injuries

With two starters out and one playing gimpy, Davie's tennis team pasched the holes and prevailed at North Davidson on Aug. 27, winning 7-2 in a season-opening match.

On a tender spike, Molly Koontz, the fifth seed, was 10-1, while Kristen Powell and top seed Jeannette Miller nursed their own injuries.

Koontz, whose ankle took a beating, may join out-of-action list.

"We've just got to get everybody healthy," Coach Carol Conant said. "We've got the walking wounded. ... Actually, they're wounded, not walking.

"Molly hurt her ankle last fall, and it has just been a nagging thing. Last month, she went to different doctors and had ex-rays to try to get it defined. It's been for more and more.

Powell, who wore a cast for two weeks after stepping awkwardly on a ball, is still hobbling. "She didn't have good results (from the cast)," Conant said.

And Miller has a strained shoulder. "Her shoulder is sore again today (Fri-day)," said Conant, whose club begins conference play this Monday at home against powerful Mt. Tabor. "We want everybody strong and healthy for conference," she said.

Spirit Spews From Stands At Stadium During Davie Win

the teeth of a lion because the senior safety gobbled up the pass, giving his club possession at Pulaski's 45.

Everything flowed from that one interception, the first jab in a third-quarter knockout.

After five plays, including four massive runs from tailback Cedric White, the War Eagles were up 7-0, and up for good. These were the early fragments of a 31-14 romp.

Davie's first offensive play was toss sweep left to White, a bread-and-butter play that became common as Andy Griffith reruns. After a year away from the sport, White went 14 yards on his first carry as a senior, small change on a 217-yard rushing night.

He distributed credit to his offensive lineman.

"I've got to give it to the offensive line," he said, pointing to Jeremy Helton, Wesley Melton, Joel Crotts, Alan Livengood, Ryan McClannon, Brian Murphy and tight end Ray Spain. "They have been working hard all summer. (Without them), it wouldn't be possible to get 200 yards and two touchdowns."

Davie coach Benjie Brown juggled his tailback cast. Ricky White, Cedric's sophomore brother, scored twice and gained 72 yards and fullbacks Melvin Williams and Jonathon Creason combined for 45.

"Cedric met expectations and Ricky had a great game, too," Walser said. "As far as my group goes, every guy I've got contributed."

Brown has the luxury of shuffling his cards and pounding breathless defenses into submission.

"We are fortunate to have several running backs who are ready to play," he said. "Those guys were able to receive probably equal time. Melvin was able to get the job done and Cedric and Ricky kept each other fresh. It was just a fine performance by all of them."

The White boys ran with unusual vigor, devastating Pulaski's wooden defense with 289 combined yards.

"They have both learned to be very physical runners," Brown said. "They run with their pads over them, and they are punishing backs at times. They worked hard this summer to understand our system, and they've got a bright future ahead of them."

Davie's methodical marches, including scoring drives of 13 and 16 plays that consumed one-fourth of the game, elicited a testimonial from a baffled Hicks. "Those big kids (on the line) just wore us out," he said. "They stood up there, leaned against us and walled us. We couldn't handle it."

Hicks implied that Davie's tailback tandem was a phenomenal machine that sometimes purred like a 1955 Chevy.

"They are tough. . . . good-looking kids," he said. "They can run. We couldn't do anything about the toss sweep. They don't need to pass."

Hicks could hardly believe what he was seeing, a two-platoon team with superior talent and depth. "They've got 22 really good players," he said. "I can't come up with 22 good ones like that."

Twice, on a 62-yard screen pass and a 48-yard run, Pulaski popped the Davie defense's titanium bubble for scores that closed the gap to seven points, but a pair of long scoring drives by Davie midway through the second half unplugged Pulaski's light. Davie had 25 more snaps, a pounding that caused the two-way Cougars to cramp.

"We had cramps and everything going both ways," Hicks said. "I felt like we didn't get the ball enough. Ya'll held it on us. . . . We needed more snaps."

Hicks tried to put a positive spin on the painful episode.

"Maybe it will help me, because we made a couple of defensive changes," he said. "A couple of kids lost their job down there. Maybe if we would have played someone weaker and won, I wouldn't have found that out. . . . Maybe it'll help me."

If Davie had a Virginia address, Hicks could visualize the War Eagles in the late-November playoff picture.

"Up here they would be a damn contender," he said. "It would be safe to say they could get near the finals for sure. We've got a couple of teams down on the coast who are really good, but I don't know how I'd compare them. I don't know anything about North Carolina football."

He bit his tongue. The achy session was conducted Friday night, when a program that once wallowed in insecurity is suddenly the reason for job insecurity.

Team Playing Deep

The injured girls have remained upbeat, encouraging their coach.

"They are here (at practice) every-day," she said. "They are still part of the team and that is really good."

If there is a bright side, lower-seeded players have been able to develop their games with the added playing time.

Erin Hege, who jumped to the top of the ladder, won 10-5 against North and Lauren Poplin (10-4), Lindsay Thomas (10-8) and Nancy Vogler (10-3) also triumphed. In doubles, Hege and Poplin won 8-1 at No. 1 and Vogler and Sarah Stein won 8-5 at No. 3.

"The good part is, the other girls have picked up the game and filled in the gaps," Cozart said. "With people out, we played deep and both of our backhands were out of doubles."

• If Davie is going to challenge for one of the three playoff berths in the Central Piedmont Conference, it'll have to frustrate opponents. "We are not in a position to overpower our opponents," Cozart said. "We are going to have to play smart, capitalize when they're not serving well and hurt them on second serves."

pace, finishing third in his War Eagle debut and achieving his personal-best time.

"I thought (17:50) was a real good showing," Powers said. "He started the season out right."

Every Davie runner completed the course and Shannon Mayhew, Jamie Neese and Jason Neese closed out at seventh, eighth and 10, respectively, giving the War Eagles five of the top-10 slots.

"With the new faces we've got, I didn't know what to expect," Powers said. "It was a good opener for us."

• The girls were in the process of their race, when the bottom fell out. They argued with Powers, who made the final call. "All the girls looked good," he said. "They love to run in the rain. They were mad at me (for making them load the bus)."

Pinebrook is the War Eagles' new home, where they raced Wednesday against West Iredell and the site of this Wednesday's meet with North Davidson. Melvin Fogg and Larry Lanier made it possible. "They have been excellent working with us, and they're excited," Powers said.

War Eagle Soccer Team Falls In Season Opener

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Pete Gustafson hopes first impressions aren't indicative of what's ahead for Davie's soccer team.

The War Eagles not only lost their season opener 5-3 at North Davidson, but they lost all composure.

After rehearsing his speech, a discouraged Gustafson lectured the troops the next day.

"After many hours of thought, I summed up how I felt," he said. "We lost due to immaturity. I can't coach maturity but I can sit immaturity down. . . . We wanted to get in people's face and push, and that scares me with the (ejection) cards."

On the bright side, Davie dominated most phases of the match, firing 15 shots to seven by the Black Knights, who rallied in the closing 12 minutes from a 3-2 deficit.

"I feel deep in my heart that we were more dominate, but when they score five goals on seven shots. . . ?" he said. "That can't happen. We've got to make it more difficult.

"At times, we pounded them. There were several times when they wouldn't get outside the 40 (yard line)."

Striker Eric Kofke pumped life into Davie time and again when the club needed a boost, scoring all three goals and almost single-handedly handing Davie lead with just 12 minutes left.

That's when the collapse occurred, a debacle that saw North score three times in four minutes to steal the match.

"The defensive marking wasn't covering enough space," Gustafson explained. "When they were deep in the penalty area, we were too lose. When we pushed them out, we were too tight, and the backdoor is what killed us. You've got to encourage the sideway pass instead of the through pass.

"We got up and laid back, and you're not going to win many matches like that."

• Davie's home match with Forbush, which was scheduled for Aug. 27, was rescheduled for Sept. 6. .... Kofke, a junior, appears ready for a monster season in the scoring department. "He obviously made a difference," Gustafson said. "He is a very strong player. Traditionally, a strong player plays midfield, and he should be able to do the same thing at midfield. He definitely played a hard game." .... Kofke received assists from Randy McDaniel and Brandon Johnson.

JVs Top North

Sean Garnett's JVs jumped North Davidson 2-0 and held on for a 2-1 victory.

After a scoreless first half, Luis Soto became instrumental in the outcome, assisting both goals, the first to Jay Smith and the clincher to Mitchell Garner.

Davie ruled until weakening in the waning minutes, when North finally erased the shutout. But that was too late.

"We controlled most of the game. But at the end, we were tired and it showed," Garnett said.

This affair had all the ingredients for a cakewalk, but the War Eagles kept the door cracked by botching several scoring opportunities.

Garnett is urging his team to step on the neck.

"We missed probably 10 chances to score," he said, "so that is where we need to improve. But at least we got the chances."

If they capitalize more frequently down the road, the War Eagles are capable of becoming a consistent winner.

"Our goal is to beat one of the top three (Mt. Tabor, West Forsyth and Reynolds) in the conference once," he said. "If we get 23 matches, we should get 16 wins ... if we work hard.

"We've already come a long way since the Salisbury scrimmage (Aug. 19). We've just got to finish the chances we get."

• Stopper Justin Long continuously jabbed the Black Knights. "He played extremely well," Garnett said. "He saved us five or six times with good tackles and getting back on defense."

Wildcat Volleyball Team Aiming For Top As New Season Opens

North Davie's volleyball team has a tough act to follow. Its own.

Trish King's girls will be hard pressed to match the success of last year, when they blitzed the league with a 13-1 record, but don't count them out of the title race.

If they overcome youth and avoid an early-season stumble, then look out because King envisions a dominant club by late September.

"We are going to be inexperienced – I lost everybody from last year – but we'll be OK because I have a lot of good athletes," she said. "They are learning fast, picking up things real easy, and working hard.

"By midway through the year, we'll be where we were last year, but we'll be real competitive from the get-go."

On the middle-school floor, most teams can build championship scenarios in the preseason because of the frequent changeover in athletes. They're only around two years, which tends to shuffle the league leaders and sustain a fresh flavor at the top.

"It would be tough (to repeat) but you never know the competition," King said. "You're only here two years, so you never know where everybody stands. I'm real enthusiastic and positive."

Shouldering much of the load will be twins Melinda and Melissa Spach, two expendable parts from 1996 who didn't sulk after being cut. They devoted many practice hours to the sport, consequently gaining an edge of most everyone else.

"They played a lot of recreation volleyball (in the off-season) and they're probably two of the best players I have," King said. "They really impressed me when they came to tryouts this year."

The other 10 girls are relatively balanced, giving King several lineup options, although eighth graders Julie Dyson and Morgan Harris have emerged as forceful servers.

"Everybody is kind of equal," she said. "Julie Dyson and Morgan Harris have real strong serves, so I expect good serves from those two."

Tony Hutchins Sinks Hole-in-one

Tony Hutchins of Advance measured Twin Cedars' par-3 No. 13 hole, knocking down a hole-in-one with a 7-iron on Aug. 23.

The spectacular shot covered 152 yards. Bill Stainback witnessed the feat.

War Eagles Send Pulaski Packing

right side of the line, cut across the grain and split two helpless defenders before coasting in for a 21-7 lead.

"We wanted to try to pound on them in the second half," Brown said. "They were getting tired and we wanted to make them chase the football."

A big gainer once again got Pulaski back into contention on the ensuing possession, when star running back Craig Hodge squirted through the line for a 48-yard scoring dash. "We couldn't play our normal defense against them because they were unorthodox," Brown said. "We knew we were taking some chances on some things, and it ended up hurting us on a couple of plays."

But a 13-play Davie drive following Hodge's burst sealed Pulaski's fate. After a touchback on the kickoff, six straight runs by Ricky White carried Davie to the 47 and a 21-yard scamper by Cedric White took Davie to the 12, where the drive stalled. But a 35-yard field goal by Kofke made it a two-possession game, a comfortable margin with Davie's reliable defense.

"I told our guys if we scored again I felt like we'd win the game," Brown said, "because we knew they were getting tired. As the game progressed, they got (weaker, weaker and weaker) and they started cramping up a little bit on us.

"The field goal really did become a big play in the game, giving us some breathing room where we could take a few more chances."

If there were any lingering doubts, Davie erased them with a 16-play drive that began with 1:24 left in the third and ended with Ricky White scoring his second TD with only 4:50 left. A 13-yard completion from Ridenhour to Charles Miller converted a third down and a grab by Lane, who was heavily shielded, on first and goal from the 18 moved the War Eagles into point-blank range at the 4.

• The War Eagles won their fifth straight regular-season game. .... Paul Sparks, a junior cornerback, intercepted a pass in the waning seconds. .... Davie converted seven of 12 third downs, while Pulaski was one for eight. .... Davie racked up 21 first downs to the Cougars' 10. Cornatzer averaged 40 yards on two punts. .... No turnovers in a season opener was impressive. "The kicking game and number of turnovers are usually what wins the game," Brown said. "And we played both of those areas pretty well."

After Big Win Coach Says Davie Football Team Still Has Work To Do

After Davie coach Benjie Brown graded Friday night's game film against Pulaski, if was virtually impossible to read Brown's poker face.

Davie won the game 31-14, but the coach announced that the War Eagles, who visit North Iredell Friday at 7:30 p.m. for a nonconference football game, have work to do.

The War Eagles' shutout bid was crushed by two big plays by the Cougars, a 62-yard pass and a 48-yard burst through the gut of the defense.

"We are nowhere near where we need to be, especially on defense," he said Sunday night. "I was disappointed with several aspects of our defense. I've got some concerns that hopefully will get better in the next few weeks."

On the other side of the ball, Brown wants better results through the air, despite 8-of-12 completions from quarterback Drew Ridenhour, and fewer breakdowns from the line.

"We are still not throwing the ball as good as I would like," he said. "We're big and strong up front but we got outquicked at times and we blew some assignments, so we've still got some getting better to do."

Brown ignored North's 0-2 record, insisting that the War Eagles can't take the Raiders, losers to Mt. Airy and West Iredell, for granted.

"They've lost two games but they are very dangerous in a lot of ways," he said.

"They are a young team. You can tell in their last game that from the beginning of the game until the end, they got better and better. And as the year goes on, I think they'll get better and better."

Coach Charles Love's club will not hesitate to put the ball up, precisely what Brown wants. His plan is to stuff the run.

"They are throwing more than they have in the past and are doing that fairly well," Brown said. "The big point will be to make them one-dimensional. We'll probably try to stop the run. If we make them throw, I think we stand a good chance to have success. We can't let them do both.

"We will try, being a nonconference game, to pick some phase of our offense and work on it."

Brown doesn't sense a letdown from his club, which has won five straight regular-season games, dating back to last year's 27-0 romp at Reynolds.

"They have done a good job of not getting overconfident," he said. "As we go through (the next five nonconference weeks), we are going to have to continue to do that.

"If not, we are going to have a letdown and probably lose to a team we shouldn't lose to."

• Senior Jonathon Creason, Davie's starting fullback, injured his shoulder in the season opener and may have to sit Friday night. Melvin Williams is the backup. "He has got a badly bruised shoulder," Brown said. "I don't know what his status will be." .... Davie leads the all-time series with North Iredell 16-8-1 but has lost six of the last eight meetings, including last year's 23-12 loss.

Conrad Chappell, Chad Heiner Win Contest's Premier Week

By Dwight Sparks
Contest Director

He chased down our delivery truck Wednesday morning, determined to be the first person in America to buy the Enterprise-Record.

Clutching money in his fist, he waved desperately for a newspaper.

He raced home eager to be the first to enter this year's contest, seeking that early-bird advantage.

That's the kind of enthusiasm and joy we bring each week to our contest faithful. Dillard Moody had memorized our delivery route to be able to grab the first still-warm, freshly-baked newspaper.

Alas, he may have been the first buyer, but he was not the first to enter. Technology got the best of him.

First to enter was Joe Boyette, who zipped his entry through our FAX machine 30 minutes after the newspaper arrived in town.

What a beginning it was. The kudos and plaudits for sports editor Brian Pitts are still rolling in, praising him for the world's finest football edition ever published. The attention, the praise, the adoration was just too much for our young wordsmith, our master of metaphor. He had to take ... a day off.

And our contest faithful ...

They have been stunned, overwhelmed by the newspaper's generosity in doubling the contest grand prize to $500. A new leaf has turned. A tiger has changed his stripes. Ice has formed in the evil place.

The publisher has become a big spender.

Those are among the gentle comments we have received. Of course there were others. Some have threatened to bankrupt the newspaper by actually claiming the prize.

Not to worry.

No one can correctly guess 35 games. We have not taken the threats seriously. Besides, we actually have $500 after the newspaper sales from last week. From Fork to Cooleemee. From Shady Grove to Turkeyfoot. From County Line to our outposts in Clemmons, the newspapers were snatched up by our faithful contest participants eager to cash in.

One by one, our contest entrants expressed their delight at our return. Life has meaning again. Joy has returned. There is a reason to get up in the morning. Weekends have significance again.

The football contest brings that kind of purpose.

But, gentle readers ... We tried to help you. We gave you a clue, and some of you failed to heed us. We told you Davie would beat Pulaski, even giving you the suggested score, 28-10. But some of you failed to realize that Davie County is awesome. These are not the gentle lads of the past. They have it all this year, as soon as the boys learn the meaning of the word "clipping" at this week's practices. Davie County will be favored to win ever game this season, with the possible exception of Mt. Tabor, and even that one is a toss up.

But on to last week's contest.

Who won?

CONRAD CHAPPELL of Cooleemee, COME ON DOWN!

Chappell missed only six in the premier week to take his place among the rich and famous. He earns this week's $25 prize. He is a well-rounded football fan. He missed two prep games, two college games and two NFL games.

What joy we brought to his household when we told him the news Tuesday morning.

"That makes me feel good," he said, masking his disbelief.

What will he do with all the money?

"I'll spend it for him," said his wife, Edith, adding, "I was just kidding."

The Chappells have three children, Doug, William and Lou Anne, and four grandchildren.

Doug played on some of Davie's best basketball teams in 1969-70 and now coaches at Starmount. Which raises the question:

Why did Starmount suddenly drop Davie from its football schedule this season? Is it really because Davie denied Starmount an undefeated regular season last year? Were they scared?

"That's just what they're saying," Mrs. Chappell said. "They were looking forward to it. They just double-scheduled."

So they made the easy choice to play ... someone else.

Missing seven were Chad Heiner, Eddie Nuckols and Scott Whitaker. Heiner emerged with the $10 second place prize because of the tie-breaker.

Close behind with eight misses were Tim Johnson, Leon Ladd, Jimmy Moon, Tracey Arnold, Dave Poplin and Sue Vaughn.

There were some other notables, not necessarily because they missed so few. They deserve an award of their own:

BASKETBALL AWARD: to Grant Lakey for missing 20. But it was the first week, and we were all a bit rusty.

VISIONARY AWARD: to Ruth Anne Hiatt, Russell Senger, Denise Potts and Tim Johnson for being our only entrants picking N.C. State to upset Syracuse.

Thank You
The flower that you sent that day,
The card you mailed along the way,
The service you stopped by to render,
The gift you brought with thought so tender,
The prayers you said which played a part,
In easing the pain that was in our hearts
Each helped us to find that strength to bear,
The loss of the one we held so dear.
It was to us a great comfort indeed,
To see you in this time of sorrow and need,
So from our hearts which you tried to help mend,
We thank you sincerely again and again.
For being such wonderful friends.
Special Thanks to the Davie County Hospital Staff, Home Health & Karen Karbo.

Davie Dancers Win First Place At ASU Camp

Davie High School Dancing Boots were the best at a Universal Dance Association camp at Appalachian State University in early August.

The 13 dancers received three trophies: Superior Performance of a home routine (This qualified them for national competition in Orlando, Fla. in the spring.); the 110 percent award given by instructors to the team that showed the most effort; and the Superior First Place Trophy for earning the most blue ribbons.

"For the first time in our history and the camp history at Appalachian, we received 39 blue ribbons out of a possible 39 blue ribbons," said instructor, Susan Wall.

Hilary Davis was named an All-Star at the camp. She also was first runner-up in a drill down competition. Andrea Dull was second runner-up in that event.

Monica Duncan was also named an All-Star, and along with Davis, is invited to participate in a New Year's parade in Paris, France. Davis, Duncan and Tracy Delaney were invited to dance at the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York as a result of their performance.

Hilary Davis, Monica Duncan and Tracy Delaney won special awards at dance camp, and were invited to dance in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

Hillsdale Sewer Needs Increasing

The lines aren't in the ground yet, but more sewer capacity is needed in the Hillsdale area.

Davie County commissioners voted unanimously Monday afternoon to endorse a proposed contract with the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Utility Commission for additional sewer capacity for eastern Davie County. The utilities commission approved the increase Monday night.

Davie's first contract with the utility commission allows up to 270,000 gallons of waste per day.

Current commitments could take up to 200,000 gallons per day, according to County Manager Ken Windley.

The 550,000 gallons per day is about the capacity that the force main could carry to Forsyth County and would ensure some capacity for future growth, Windley said.

The only initial expense to Davie County will be $10,000 to $15,000 for new propellers, he said.

County Attorney Bob Price said he has reviewed the contract and finds no problems with it.

If approved by the utility commission, the agreement will come back to the Davie County Board of Commissioners for final approval.

The extension of the Forsyth sewer system across the Yadkin River at U.S. 158 is being funded by private developers, who in turn, have been promised certain amounts of capacity. Those developers will be repaid when customers start using the sewer service.

The system will serve the immediate Hillsdale (Hwys. 158/801) area, Oak Valley and rest areas along I-40.

Davie Schools Open With 5,216 Students

The class of 1999 is 299, the class of 2000 is at 369.

But what about future classes?

From kindergarten through the ninth grade, students enrolled in each grade total more than 400 in every class except three, and those don't need that many additions to reach the 400 mark.

The numbers challenge - and worry - school officials.

Space is at a minimum at every school, even those with construction projects completed this year. And with residential construction continuing its rapid pace, the number of students will increase just as rapidly, possibly this school year, Dr. Bill Steed, superintendent, told members of the board of education Monday night.

The board will look at ways to fund a new elementary school, while studying school district lines. When that new school is built, the lines will be revised. Not only is funding not decided on that new school, a location hasn't been picked, either.

Steed said the opening of school was successful, with predictions on the number of students close to projections.

Theater Company Seeking More Community Involvement

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The Davie Theater Company is changing.

It's becoming more community oriented, and in that spirit, is seeking a new name and some new faces.

The group is sponsoring a contest to select a new name, with the winner receiving a year's pass for theater productions at the Brock Auditorium on North Main Street in Mocksville. Renovations are expected to be complete by winter. The winner will be announced at the company's first production in the new venue - "Oliver" - tentatively scheduled for March.

"We want a new name for the Davie Theater Company that will be a part of our overall attempt to make Davie County citizens more possessive of the theater company," said the group's president, Freda Ramsey.

The current name sounds like an independent company. They want a more community oriented name that reflects the volunteer, non-profit effort, she said.

"The people of Davie County need to feel like this is their community theater group," said Judy Swicegood, secretary. "We're also very fortunate to have someone with the ability of Freda."

Ramsey shrugs off the compliments and steers them in the direction of The Brock.

Theater company performers in the past there have been hindered by a lack of dressing rooms, no air conditioning, poor lighting and acoustics, and a stage that dancers worried would collapse under their movements.

Not so the new auditorium. Not only will it be more comfortable for the performers, it will be much more comfortable for the audience, as well, Ramsey said.

They hope this new, first-class facility renews interest in community theater in Davie County.

What started 10 years ago with the original production of Davie's history called "The Forks of the Yadkin," the Davie Theater Company has produced several plays over the years, including "Oklahoma," "Wizard of Oz," "Bye, Bye Birdie" and "Steel Magnolias."

The newest effort, "Who's Under Where," is scheduled for mid-October.

"We desperately need volunteers," Ramsey said. "Many performers have come and gone, and if we could just have a lot of folks doing a little ... then we could continue to grow and do more."

The result of a "self study" was the need to incorporate new talent and create a greater sense of community, Ramsey said.

New talent doesn't have to mean actors and actresses, although those are needed. It takes a lot of talents to put on a major production: seamstresses, painters, electricians, lighting and sound technicians, people to design and print tickets and brochures, work in the box office or hospitality rooms. You don't even have to have a special talent, just a willingness to help and learn.

Answered Prayer: Mysterious Return Of A Boy's Bear

There is good news this week. People still care. The milk of human compassion and love still flows.

Prayers are answered.

There is joy in Mudville.

There had been nighttime prayers at our house for "Present Bear," the fuzzy, lumpy bedtime companion of our 6-year-old. He had gone to school ... and stayed.

Lost.

Gone forever.

Without a trace.

Robert's cousin heard the story and remembered a Christmas present of her own three years ago. She, too, had received a miniature version of the very same bear.

A senior at Davie County High, Karin Miller searched her closet for that bear. And there it was, good as new. The store's tag was still hanging from its ear.

It's official name: Spare Bear.

At bedtime, she brought it to Robert.

Would it ... fill the empty place in the bed?

Could Robert accept it and love it and cherish it the way he had "Present Bear?"

His eyes looked at first in disbelief. The bear in front of him was a copy of his own bear. Only it was clean. It was fresh. Never dragged through the sand. Never tumbled through the grass. Never dripped with chocolate ice cream.

He grabbed "Spare Bear" and hugged his cousin.

He held the bear, unable to comprehend his good fortune and the wonderful cousin who had given her very own bear to him.

How can we understand the significance? For adults, it might be the same as giving someone your car.

Robert slept through the night, snugly tucked in with the appropriately named "Spare Bear."

He was still holding him the next morning when we woke him for school.

But there's more.

Before he left for school, I walked outside for the morning newspaper.

Sitting atop my truck was ... "Present Bear."

Some how, some way , the nappy bear found his way home. There was no note. No message. "Present Bear" just sat there, parked on the hood, his back resting against the windshield.

I called for Robert, and he charged outside holding "Spare Bear."

He's back!

Now he sleeps with two bears.

Once again, his father is amazed at the love and affection for this little boy. So many people have cared for him. He really has been raised by a village.

What a lesson it has been about God's goodness. About people who care. About the small gestures of love that mean so much to children. To all of us.

Rezoning On 601 North Not Good For Residents

To the editor:

On Sept. 15, our board of commissioners will make a decision that will affect Davie County for generations to come. The board is being asked to rezone 150 acres on 601 N (near Allen Road) for an industrial park.

An industrial park would be a good thing for Davie County--there is no arguing that. But this area is not the appropriate place for it. The land along 601 N. is now used primarily for residences and agriculture. There is a smattering of businesses, but the majority of the area is rural in nature.

The commissioners are being asked to rezone the land to I-3, a designation that allows chicken processing plants and manufacturing of paper products and fertilizer. The developer does not "intend" to use the land for the purposes, but they would be legally allowed. When they make their decision, the commissioners should not consider what the current developer sasy he will do, but what could happen 10, 15 or even two years from now. They should ask whether a chicken processing plant should be next door to where people are raising their children.

I find it especially alarming that the planning board, in approving this proposal, essentially let a landowner who wants to sell and a developer who wants to be near an interstate decide where to locate an industrial park. Where is the "planning" in this scenario? The board satisfied the wishes of the developer and the landowner at the expense of the people who live in the area. Yet it is the people who have made this area home who will be living with this decision for years to come.

The commissioners will consider this proposal at their Sept. 15 meeting (7 p.m., County Administration Building). I encourage Davie County residents who have an opinion--either for or against--to write the commissioners or be heard at the meeting.

Kinships Create Appreciation, Sense Of Heritage

To the editor:

As we bid farewell to our beloved Queen of Hearts, we must pause in loving memory of a beautiful, humanitarian, lady who was much more than just a royal, icon, celebrity, but was also a member of our family. I am proud to say that I am a distant cousin to Princess Diana through several of our common family surnames: Alexander, Cobb, Longfellow, Root, Rockefeller, Spelman, Wadsworth and Young. However, the intent of this article is to let you know that you may also be kin to this remarkable and unforgettable Princess.

Popular interest in the Princess of Wales has remained almost constant since her 1981 courtship, engagement, and marriage of Lady Diana Frances Spencer to H.R.H. Prince Charles Philip Arthur George, Prince of Wales. The marriage introduced a large slice of Americana into the genealogy of the British royal family. Their children, including a probably future sovereign, will ancestrally be one-16 American. For the Princess's maternal grandfather, the 4th Baron Fermoy, was not only a graduate of St. Pauls School and Harvard who lived in the U.S. until his fathers death in 1920 and served during World War I as an American Army Captain in France; he was also be a few minutes the eldest male offspring of an Irish Lord's second son and the daughter of an American millionaire. This daughter, the Princess's American great-grandmother, twice divorced, known generally as Mrs. Frances Burke Roche, died at age 89 in New York City in 1947. She and her sister Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, were in the 1890s two of Mrs. Astor's "400" and remained prominent in New York and Newport society thereafter. Their millionaire father, who loathed his daughter's "foreign" marriage, was Franklin H. Work, half Scotish, raised in Chillicotte, Ohio, Wall Street stockbroker, horse owner, and protege of Commodore Vanderbilt. Worth $15,000,000 at his death in 1911, Work may well qualify as a tycoon and "robber baron." His mother, born in Baltimore, was largely of Philadelphia, Maryland, and New Jersey ancestry, but one of her almost certain great-great-grandfathers, Joseph Boude, was an innkeeper and distiller in Marblehead, Mass. Frank Work's wife, Ellen Wood, the Princess's American great-great-grandmother, was the daughter of John Wood (1785-1848), a prosperous portpacker and early settler of Chillcotte, born in what is now West Virginia, the ancestry of whose parents has not yet been determined. Ellen's mother was the daughter of Dr. Joseph Strong, 1770-1812, a Philadelphia surgeon born in Connecticut who graduated from Yale in 1788 and whose own wife, Rebecca Young, was the daughter of a privateer, Capt. Peter Young, also of Philadelphia, born probably in Scotland. Capt. Peter Young, the Princess's fifth great-grandfather is listed in the Naval Records of the American Revolution, 1775-1788, as Master of the following ships: Neptune on Aug. 5, 1779, Havannah on July 3, 1780, and Nancy on Dec. 11, 1781.

Dr. Joseph Strong, the Princess's "gateway ancestor" to New England, was the son of Benjamin Strong, a revolutionary soldier, and patriot, a first cousin of the martyr spy Nathan Hale, a second cousin removed of both Vermont hero Ethan Allen and the second wife of William Floyd, signer of the Declaration of Independence from New York, and a fourth cousin once removed of both Joseph Warren of Bunker Hill and William Williams, signer of the Declaration of Independence of Connecticut.

In 1981 and 1982, Gary Boyd Roberts and William Addams Reitwiesner, authors of "American Ancestors and Cousins of The Princess of Wales" (Genealogical Publishing Co., 1984), provided discoveries and documentation of American ancestry and near relatives to the New York Times, the Washington Post, and through Reuters and UPI news agencies. John Chancellor used much of their material during NBC's coverage of the royal wedding. Gary Boyd Roberts' published an article on "The New England Ancestry of H.R.H. the Princess of Wales," published in the April and October 1982 issues of The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, and William Addams Reitwiesner's privately distributed "The American Ancestors and Relatives of Her Royal Highness The Princess of Wales." Mr. Roberts' article was one of the most favorably received in the Register's history, and in the summer of 1983 popular interest in the Princess's American ancestors was rekindled by wide reporting of a distant kinship between the Princess and 10th cousin, our former first lady Nancy Reagan.

Indeed there are at least 250 specific distant kinships to the several thousand most notable individuals in American history. These 250 include 12 presidents or their wives (the two Adamses, Fillmore, Hates, Cleveland, T. Roosevelt, Wilson, Coolidge, F.D. Roosevelt, Truman, Nixon, and Reagan); various "tycoon" families (Armours, Colts, Marshall Fields, Firestones, Fords, H.L. Hunts, McCormicks, J.P. Morgans, Potter Palmers, Pillsburys, C.W. Posts, Rockefellers, Scribners, Strauses, Tiffanys, Vanderbilts, and Whitneys); a sizable number of literary figures or their spouses, especially those leaders associated with Harvard, the mid-19th century "flowering of New England," abolition or reform (later Adamses, Alcotts, Beechers, Holmeses, Emerson, Longfellow, E.E. Hale, Bancroft, Prescott, Motley, T.D. Weld, Susan B. Anthony, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton); and numerous 20th century entertainment, media, sports figures or their spouses (C.D. Gibson, Caruso, Valentino, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, John and Ethel Barrymore, Orson Welles, Humphrey Bogart, Spencer Tracy, Shirley Temple Black, Anthony Perkins, Julie Harris, Lee Remick, Dina Merrill, Sidney Lumet, Eddie Duchin, Henry Luce, Lowell Thomas, Edward R. Murrow, Bert Bradlee, George Gallup, the Alsops, Walter C. Camp, and "Gene" Tunney). Also included are five U.S. vice-presidents (Colfax, Morton, Sherman, Daws, Rockefeller), eight secretaries of state (Washburne, Root, Lansign, Stimson, Acheson, Dulles, Herter and Vance), two presidents of Harvard (Kirkland an Lowell), seven presidents of Yale (Elisha Williams, the two Timothy Dwights, Woolsey, Hadley, Seymour, and Brewster), and a wide variety of 20th century literary figures or their wives (among others, Frank Norris, L.F. Baum, Clarence Day, Hart Crane, F. Scott Fitzgerald, J.P. Marquand, Robert Penn Warren, Archibald MacLeish, Barrett Wendell, Van Wyck Brooks, Samuel Eliot Morison, Arthur Schlesing Jr., and Erle Stanley Gardner.) Other notable kin include Amelia Earhart, Brigham Young, Howell Cobb, U.S. Secretary of the Treasury, Speaker of the House of Representatives and Henry Alexander Wise, a Confederate General, and Virginia governor.

As we read, view, and experience history, it is always important to instill our youth the fact that we are all members of their family of mankind. Were we had the wisdom to know all of the bloodline connections in our families, we would soon realize that we are actually all kin to each other at some point. Realizing this as a society, we may begin to respect each other as we would our immediate family. If we teach our children about this kinship, the history or "his story" would become "my family's story," and create within our youth a proud sense of heritage and a greater interest or appreciation for history. This wonderful lady will be sadly missed but fondly remembered in the hearts of her kin and all people she touched.

The Center Fair: Smell Roses And Eat Some Pig

Beth Cassidy

On days such as these, with a tiny nip in the night air and a blindingly beautiful Carolina blue sky, one's thoughts might turn to...

Center Fair.

Mine do.

I moved to Davie County in 1986, bringing with me a love for festivals of any type. Must have sprung from my passion for the North Carolina State Fair. Such a large event was this that administration at the high school I attended looked the other way when students cut class on the first Friday of the fair.

Oh, that fair.

Pies with vinegar, hot, salty country ham biscuits, the biggest snake in the world in a trailer, and the Himalaya ride.

So I guess you could say I came to Davie looking for a good time.

At first, it was elusive.

There was no large fair, except the Dixie Classic Fair, which I've attended for the last 10 years.

But there was the Masonic picnic, which I've attended for the past 11 years. (Todd has me beat. He hasn't missed it in 33 years.)

And there was Arts Alive. One of my favorites.

And then, there's Center Fair.

One of the first ones I can remember was in September 1992. I was pregnant, about five months so, and had what some would call a gargantuan appetite. The Enterprise staff was going for lunch on Friday and called to me to join them. I had no idea where I was going. (You never knew with those folks. One time, we all piled in the back of the van and gentle Dwight took us on a wild ride through the county, finally arriving at the Harmony cafeteria. Yummy.)

So to the Center Fair we went. Of course Ray was already there, dishing out what I discovered to be the best barbecue in the world.

I bought a huge sandwich...and ate it.

Then I bought another... and ate it.

I thought Robin Fergusson was going to have a coronary. She, in turn, thought I was going to have a coronary.

But I couldn't stop myself.

I went to bed that night dreaming about delicious little pigs.

The next day, Todd and I went and enjoyed all the day had to offer. Crafts, prize roses (I smelled every one.), gigantic vegetables and sunflowers, things in jars, putt-putt machines (those loud old engines) and more barbecue.

So enjoyable was the Fair that I have only missed one since, and I was out of town then.

And, sadly, when this year's Fair rolls around, I will again be out of town.

But look for my "prize-winning roses," my "prize-winning picture of Katie baby," and please, eat some barbecue for me.

Davie Theatre Company president Freda Ramsey and secretary Judy Swicegood show off thespian comedy and tragedy masks that will be used in a display at Festival on the Square Sept. 20.

Theater Company Prepares For Upcoming Events

"We would like to grow into a full-scale season that would include acting workshops, children's theater and productions (especially in the summer)," Ramsey said. "Our (Davie County) claim to fame is Daniel Boone, and we're trying to work on something to highlight that."

The new Brock Auditorium should make area residents want to perform - and see - performances here, Ramsey said.

"The greatest need is the community support," she said. "The Brock was a hindrance, but the quality has been exceptional even with that handicap."

There's even talk about re-writing the bylaws of the theater company, allowing general membership with an executive board to oversee day-to-day operations.

Put your thinking caps on and create a new name for the Davie Theater Company. The group will have a booth set up at the Festival on the Square Saturday, Sept. 20 in downtown Mocksville. You can submit your entry then... or even sign up to help with the next production.

Officers of the company also include: Van Fagan, vice president; Amelia Little, treasurer; Steve Pharr, legal advisor and public relations coordinator; Mike Orsillo and Lewis Phillips, board of directors.

Man Found Naked, Bleeding On Porch In Cooleemee

COOLEEMEE – A man was discovered naked and bleeding on the porch of a home on Clark Road Aug. 27.

Responding to a report about the man, Cooleemee Police Sgt. W.B. Harrington found Tracy Wilson naked, bleeding and yelling that he had snakes on him.

Harrington determined that Wilson, who was apparently hallucinating, was wanted on other charges, according to Police Chief Tim Wooten.

He was taken into custody by the Davie County Sheriff's Department after being treated for an injury.

It was determined that Wilson had jumped on a table in a home on Clark Road, broke the table and cut his foot, Wooten said.

Man Threatened At Babysitter

Vernon Leonard was in for a surprise when he went to pick up his child from a babysitter's house Sept. 2.

The next thing he knew the babysitter's father, Ed Hepler, rammed into his vehicle with a truck, while he and his children were inside. Hepler threatened to kill him, Leonard said.

Leonard said his daughter suffered a sprained hip and his back was injured.

Patricia Marie Hepler reported to the Davie County Sheriff's Department Sept. 3, that her father had threatened to kill Leonard and said she was next, according to Deputy J.S. Parker.

Hepler, 60, of 835 Dulin Road, Mocksville, was arrested for injury to personal property, communicating threats and assault with a deadly weapon.

He will face these charges in Davie County District Court Sept. 11.

Woman Arrested For Damaging Trailer

COOLEEMEE – A Salisbury woman was arrested Aug. 21, after she apparently broke out the windows and beat in the sides of a mobile home on Elk Lane with a baseball bat and doused the interior of the trailer with gasoline and kerosene.

Responding to a report of an arson in progress, Cooleemee Police Officer E.M. Parker discovered Evelyn C. Eichelberger, 30, who told him that a boyfriend had given her the trailer, and she was angry because members of his family were trying to take it back from her.

She was charged with injury to real property and released under a $2,500 unsecured bond. She was set to appear in Davie County District Court Sept. 4.

An investigation is continuing to determine ownership of the mobile home, according to Police Chief Tim Wooten.

Cooleemee volunteer fire fighters assisted in securing the scene, Wooten said.

Fugitive Escapes Davie Officers

COOLEEMEE – Davie law enforcement officers attempted to track a fugitive from Florida for two and half hours along the South Yadkin River Aug. 18.

Officer C.E. Drum of the Cooleemee Police Department discovered that Brian Leroy Bruce, 21, of Williston, Fla., wanted for breaking and entering, larceny and violating probation was in Cooleemee while investigating a report of shoplifting at Cooleemee Supermarket.

Drum located a small amount of marijuana in the vehicle of suspect, Lisa Dawn Riddle, 31, of Bowens Road, Advance.

Andrea Denise Hardy, 17, of 180 Bowens Road, was also charged with simple possession of marijuana and obstructing and delaying an officer.

Searching the vehicle, Drum also discovered two IDs – one belonging to Bruce and the other to the owner of the car, a man from Kernersville.

After Drum issued citations to the women, officers followed them to the Bullhole where they were camping.

Bruce jumped and ran up river. Officers from Cooleemee and the Davie County Sheriff's Department tracked him for about two and half hours. Unfortunately, they were not able to locate him, according to Cooleemee Police Chief Tim Wooten.

Riddle and Hardy are scheduled to appear in Davie County District Court Sept. 25.

On Saturday, Sept. 13, an environmental forum on air and water quality and the enforcement of environmental laws will be held from 10-11:30 a.m. at the Rotary Hut on Salisbury Street in Mocksville.

Citizens, organizations, and community leaders interested in these issues are invited to attend this forum sponsored by the Clean Water Fund of NC (CWFNC), a private, non-profit membership organization committed to environmental justice, and Davie Environmental Awareness League (DEAL). It is free and open to the public.

This meeting is one of a series of forums the Clean Water Fund of NC will be holding across the state on local air and water quality issues and how they relate to the enforcement of environmental laws statewide. CWFNC is conducting a statewide campaign to toughen the enforcement laws for the health and safety of communities and workers across the state.

Speakers include the Rev. Donald Jenkins of Shiloh Baptist Church who has been working to stop the contamination of the air around his home and church in Mocksville; Angie Newsome and Jacquelyn Pikul of CWFNC; and Jonathan Wishon of DEAL. The forum will be interactive, with time for discussion (including recent concerns over the South Yadkin Power Company impacts on the South Yadkin) and for planning strategies for action.

Lindsley Returning For Festival

Steve Lindsley, a former resident of Davie County will return to perform in the annual Festival in the Square at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 20.

A singer/songwriter for over a decade, Lindsley began taking his music seriously this past year and decided to venture into the studio in January, 1997. The result, after two months of hard but enjoyable work, is Lindsley's CD debut, "Among the Weeds and Wheat." The CD contains 10 original, acoustic-based songs with a style that blends folk and alternative acoustic.

At the heart of Lindsley's music is his religious faith and how it intersects with everyday life.

"I probably wouldn't label my music 'contemporary Christian,' because that conjures up a particular style and sound. I just enjoy sharing my music with others and sharing the faith story that has shaped my life. It means a lot to have people care enough to listen."

Lindsley, living in nearby Lexington, hopes to continue playing for folk and acoustic venues in the years ahead. "It's great to come back to familiar territory; and to revisit the people and places that made an impact on me and my music. I'm looking forward to the 20th."

His CDs, which have already sold over 500 copies in just five months, will be on sale at the Festival in the Square for $12.

What an uplifting experience we had yesterday during the commissioning service for our Belarussian missionaries. Francis Smith led us in a heartfelt ceremony. Afterwards, we had a final meeting and pot-luck dinner at the home of Ken and Brenda Hanes. The founders of ASBRO (the organization that is sponsoring the trip), Rich and Allison Culpepper and Denise Moore, who coordinates the schedules of the trips were able to be there and they were able to answer many questions. Rich Allison, and Denise have travelled to Belarus many times and it was comforting to know that they will be accompanying our group as well. Please continue to pray for our missionaries.

Bob Minor continues to do well and is thankful for everyone's prayers and concerns. Continue to remember Roy Potts and his family.

The youth class surprised their teacher, Charlott Mayhall, with a mini-birthday party Sunday morning before class. Please remember Charlott also, as she is have back trouble. Also, Happy Birthday to Catherine Duffy.

By using the latest research, we can find a tumor while it's in its earliest stage of development. That means less radical treatments for our patients and a greater chance for complete recovery.

But just as important is our level of patient care. The enthusiasm of our staff creates an environment of encouragement and support for our patients. I believe this combination of leading-edge technology and commitment to our patients is why so many excellent physicians want to be part of our Cancer Center team.

This Is A Cancer Gene On A DNA Strand That's 1,000 Times Smaller Than The Head Of A Pin

Detected In The Molecular Medicine Research Lab At Forsyth Hospital

Imagine sorting through the human body – one cell at a time – looking for cancer. Research so intricate that it can find the beginnings of a tumor while it's still 1,000 times smaller than the head of a pin. These tiny discoveries can make a huge difference in the lives of our patients through earlier intervention and more effective treatments. This leading edge research is called molecular diagnostics, and it's an integral part of patient treatment at Forsyth Regional Cancer Center.

Spiritual Resources: Strive To Be God-like

By Louise Stroud
First Baptist Church

Let us think briefly about striving to be God-like. All of us are imitators. Maybe we don't consciously plan it that way but it just come natural. If a lady sees a hairstyle she likes, she may see if she can wear her hair that way.

Young people all want to be like their peers. Remember when it was a disgrace to wear clean saddle oxfords to school? I remember reading about a mother who discovered her daughter's shoes in terrible shape so she cleaned them up so they looked real nice. When the daughter discovered it she cried and had a temper tantrum. She'd be disgraced if she wore those clean shoes to school. Another mother bought a nice pair of jeans for her daughter, who promptly cut them off with jagged edges and went out and rubbed dirt and grass stains on them, to try to look like the other kids. Wouldn't it be nice if we looked for the good qualities (the more desirable) qualities in our friends and tried to imitate those? If there is someone you admire and you think you'd like to be like him or her, you would first have to really get to know him or her, on a personal level. We are created in the image of God, but this does not mean that we automatically become God-like. We have to get to know Him through Bible study and prayer. If we are to be God-like we will imitate Him in the matter of forgiveness. On the cross, Jesus forgave those who put Him there. If we are able to imitate God, we must forgive our enemies, those who wrong us. Esau forgave Jacob for doing him wrong. Joseph forgave his brothers for selling him into slavery so these Bible characters were imitators of God.

We are to love our enemies. We are to return good for evil. We are to forgive seventy times seven. We are to feed the hungry, care for the sick, the homeless, the widows, and the orphans. If we do these things, we become God-like and people will never know that we are born again Christians who are striving to do God's will here on earth.

You've heard people say-"I knew he was 'so and so's' child because he not only looks like his father, he acts and has mannerisms just like his father." Do we act enough like our Heavenly Father that people will say, "I know he's a child of God, because he acts so much like his heavenly Father. He's kind, generous, forgiving, loving, etc."

I'm sure you've heard this many times, but I've often thought about it. "If I were arrested for being a Christian, would there be enough evidence to convict me?" I would hope so. If you've never thought seriously about this, it's something you might like to ponder.

Davie Futures To Reorganize, Discuss 'Important' County Issues

By Joanne Hoops
Davie County Enterprise Record

For years people had talked about the need for a YMCA and a community college in Davie County.

Those needs were met when the public and private sectors of the county came together to work toward a set of goals recommended by the Davie Futures group.

The YMCA and community college were two of the 55 recommendations made by Davie Futures in its report released Jan. 1, 1989.

Less than 10 years later, leaders in the county have decided its time to revisit Davie Futures to be prepared for the changes in the county as it heads toward the 21st century.

One of the first rural counties in the state to see the need for a strategic plan, Davie saw the growth in the county and felt to preserve and enhance the quality of life, there needed to be an effort to look at important issues facing the county, said Lee Rollins, who chairs the Davie Futures group now being formed.

There has been talk about the need to revisit Davie Futures for the past three years, he said.

With representatives from each of Davie's elected bodies, the Chamber of Commerce and the community, a steering committee will meet next month to begin discussions about the issues facing Davie County, he said.

Revisiting the strategies set forth by the original Davie Futures group and looking at new challenges facing the county, Rollins said he believes the group will have established a framework for discussion by the end of the year.

At that time, task forces in the areas of education, economic development, infrastructure and quality of life will begin to conduct public meetings around the county to gain public input.

By next summer, those task forces should have reports prepared from which the steering committee will develop a set of recommendations for the future.

With limited time and countless issues facing the county, Rollins said he believes Davie Futures gives the county a strategic focus.

"Sometimes you have to choose which [issue] to tackle first," he said.

People can tend to become isolated from the issues truly effecting the entire county, and this is a chance to look outside the blinders, he added.

Rollins, who was at college when the first Davie Futures group was preparing its report, said he wanted to be involved in the process because he has witnessed the success the other Davie Futures report had.

Davie Futures gives the people of the county a chance to be pro-active rather than reactive, he said.

Rollins has made presentations about the project, sponsored by the Davie County Chamber of Commerce and the Davie Leadership Alumni to the boards of commissioners for Davie County, Mocksville and Cooleemee, and they have all given their support, he said.

Anyone interested in learning more about Davie Futures may contact Rollins at the Hillsdale branch of Mocksville Savings Bank or call the Davie County Chamber of Commerce.

A lot of the proposals are likely to be time consuming and capital consuming, he said, but Davie Futures allows people to zoom in on a single issue and work together if enough enthusiasm can be built.

County Briefs

State To Be Paid For Services

County commissioners voted to pay the state 1/12th of the money budgeted for mental health services for the year for each of the three months that Davie's mental health services have been under state control. Beginning in October, mental health services will be provided by Forsyth-Stokes Mental Health. According to County Manager, the other counties, previously served by Tri-County Mental Health, are also paying in this manner.

Domestic Violence A County Agency

Commissioners voted unanimously to approve a motion by Diane Foster to move Davie Domestic Violence Services back under the auspices of the county rather than the sheriff's department. There is a lot of gray area about the sheriff's department making arrests and DDVS assisting victims. This move should help clear that up, Foster said.

U.S. Tire Gets Bid For Tire Removal

Commissioners voted unanimously to accept the bid of U.S. Tire Recycling of Concord for removal of tires from the Davie County Solid Waste and Recycling Facility for $57.50 per ton or $575 for a 10 ton load.

County OKd To Collect Property Taxes

The board voted to authorize the collection of all real and personal property taxes other than motor vehicles. That total levy is $8,851,611.35.

E-911 Revenue Fund Established

Commissioners amended the 1997-98 budget, reducing the general fund by $90,500 and establishing a special revenue fund for E-911 known as the emergency telephone system fund. According to Finance Officer Jim Stockert, this special fund is required by the state legislature.

The total revenue increase in the special fund is $240,500, which includes $150,000 collected for E-911 through telephone bills.

Budget Amendments Approved

The board voted to decrease the violence against women budget by $1,954. Other grants received for the program were sufficient for expenses, Stockert said.

Other approved amendments included the reduction of the N.C. Council and Marriage License budget by $310 and an increase in the victims of crime fund by $839 for computer software and a decrease of $252 for travel and equipment rental.

The commissioners also approved a budget amendment, increasing the Hospice budget to cover expenses for Medicare certified clients.

Employee Health Insurance Selected

The board voted to accept a bid from the N.C. Association of County Commissioners Health Insurance Trust.

Although United Health Care presented a lower bid for single employees, N.C. Association of County Commissioners Health Insurance Trust had better rates for children, spouses and families. Bids were $180.23 for single, $255.62 for an employee and child, $369.01 for employee and spouse and $521.95 for family, according to County Manager Ken Windley.

The same company will also provide group term life and accidental death and dismemberment coverage.

Voting Equipment Demonstrated To Commissioners

Davie County commissioners witnessed a demonstration of an electronic voting machine Sept. 2.

It is being recommended that all counties go with direct record equipment because of recounts, Barbara Mosby of Election Products Inc. said.

The Votronic provides printed results from all precincts, is battery operated in case of power failure and has a memory backed up by three chips. Not a single vote has ever been lost on the Votronic, she said.

The machine can be upgraded with software and may even allow curbside voting, she added.

Direct record equipment is better than machines that read paper ballots because ballots must be printed precisely to be read by machines, certain markings cannot be read and votes cannot be changed without getting another ballot, she said.

This system would save a small amount on labor costs by eliminating the time needed to assemble and count ballots, according to Hank Van Hoy of the Davie County Board of Elections.

EPI charges $25 per year for each voting terminal for maintenance, and they operate on standard D cell alkaline batteries. The Votronic comes with a three year warranty, Mosby said.

Oct. 28 Deadline For Registering To Vote In Next Election

Residents of the Bermuda Center Sanitary District, Town of Cooleemee, and Town of Mocksville will be going to their respective polling locations, Tuesday, Nov. 4. Each of these elections are non-partisan.

The Bermuda Center Sanitary District residents will be electing two directors to serve four year terms. Electors will choose between William A. Burnette, Judy C. Emminizer, William H. Green, and Don House.

The Town of Cooleemee will be electing a mayor, and two commissioners. The term for each office is four years. Electors will choose between Jackie Morton and Grady Spry for mayor, and between John Chandler, Tommy Daywalt, and Lynn Rumley for commissioners.

The Town of Mocksville will be electing a mayor, and three commissioners. The term of office for mayor is for two years, and electors will choose between F.W. Slate, and Dusty Wheaton. Lynne Hicks, Ed Kelly, Lee Rollins, Steve Walker, and Jim Wall are each seeking one of the three commissioners seats.

The deadline for registering to be eligible to vote in each of these elections is Friday, Oct. 10. Persons who are properly registered now do not have to re-register, but if a person has moved, or changed their name the elections office should be notified of these changes by Oct. 10 also.

Applications for absentee voting may be filed with the elections office beginning Friday, Oct. 3 for ballots to be mailed. These applications may be filed by the elector themselves, or on their behalf by a member of their immediate family, or legal guardian. The deadline for filing these application is 5 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 28.

"One Stop" absentee voting will be available beginning Monday, Oct. 13 and will end Friday, Oct. 31.

Persons who due to illness or disability may request absentee voting until 5 p.m., Monday, Nov. 3 to be eligible for counting.

Questions may be directed to the Board of Elections office at 634-2027 during office hours, Monday-Friday.

Applications For Grave Markers Being Taken Sept. 13 At Mocksville Legion Post

American Legion Post 174 of Mocksville will take applications for a memorial grave marker Saturday, Sept. 13, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Davie County Public Library.

Any county resident with a deceased veteran in their family can apply for the marker, which is provided by the government at no cost to the family. There will be several types of markers from which to choose.

Bring copies of the deceased veteran's discharge form (DD-214) and death certificate.

James M. Brock, Davie veterans service officer, will be on hand to talk about services for veterans and their families. Representatives from the Veterans of Foreign Wars will also be present.

"It is most unfortunate that many of our veterans' graves remain unmarked in Davie County," said Barry J. Cartner of Mocksville. "As a young veteran myself, I would hate to overlook a veteran's gravesite when we place American flags on them for special occasions.

"Our veterans deserve to be remembered and these markers are made available by our nation's government as a lasting sign of appreciation for their service," Cartner said.

War Eagles Rout Raiders 44-0 In Olin Friday Night For Third Win Of Season

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

OLIN – The North Iredell Raiders were hit by a relentless freight train Friday night in a nonconference football game.

Before Davie County's cheerleaders could shout "Move that ball," tailback Cedric White was strutting toward the end zone, a 52-yard touchdown trot that transpired 18 seconds into the game on the first play from scrimmage.

White, who rushed for 146 yards and two TDs on 15 carries, took a pitch right, headed down the sideline and wasn't touched until he received high-fives from his beaming teammates, a sudden jolt that announced that a 44-0 rout was on.

The War Eagles were off and running toward their first 2-0 start since 1984 and their most lopsided victory since trashing Trinity 47-7 in 1983.

It epitomized the early portion of the season for both teams. Davie resembles a machine and North is stuck in a three-game losing streak.

Charles Love, the 24-year North coach who is the uncle of Davie athletics director Buddy Lowery, was prepared for the blow.

"We are nowhere close to where they are," said Love, whose club had won six of the last eight meetings. "That's where we are trying to get. I think them, Hickory and Statesville are the three best teams we'll face on our schedule. They are doing a great coaching job. The coaching staff has great chemistry and the kids are believing in what they do."

Davie jumped ahead 17-0 after one quarter, held a commanding 30-0 halftime lead and clicked off two more touchdowns in the final period, a War Eagle clinic that could have become extremely ugly.

But Benjie Brown, Davie's second-year coach, refrained from the lethal sweep runs and used the cushion to test the passing arm of quarterback Drew Ridenhour, who was 10-for-20 with 129 yards and two touchdowns.

"We wanted to do some things with

Cross Country Team Dusts Competition

Davie's cross country teams delivered a nearly perfect performance while dusting West Iredell and Forbush in last Wednesday's meet at Pinebrook, the War Eagles' new home.

The boys, led by Garick Hill's 17: 19 first-place time, did reach perfection with 15 points to West's 60 and Forbush's 64. Teammates Marshall Pitts, Shannon Mayhew and Jamie and Jason Neese populated the other top-five slots.

Brooks

The girls just missed a ringer, attaining 19 points to Forbush's 51 and West's 60. Colleen Brooks took top honors in 23:13 and Sidra Ledford (second), Laurie Deach (fourth), Jerrie Peeler (fifth) and Caroline Steed (seventh) all checked in with top-seven performances.

Brooks' stellar time brought a broad smile to Coach Cary Powers' face.

"I was real proud of Colleen because she has worked hard all summer," he said. "That's real gratifying for me."

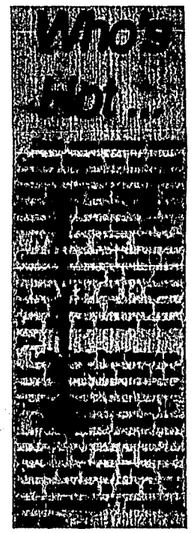
Touring a new course was like test-driving a car.

"I felt I did pretty good because it was my first race, and I didn't know my race pace," said Brooks, who foresees the War Eagles running smoother in the future.

"The team did pretty good, but we could do a lot better. Caroline and Megan (Mick) had side stitches because none of us were used to our race pace and it was very hot."

Unfamiliarity also showed Hill, who assessed his time as adequate.

"It was new course with a lot of sharp turns. I knew what to expect at Starmount (in the season opener)," he said. (But) I was pretty happy with the team. We have a lot of work to do, but we looked pretty good."



Wildcat Volleyball Team Sweeps At Mt. Airy

North Davie's volleyball team wanted to carry its momentum into a new season. The Wildcats couldn't have scripted it better.

They swept Elkin (15-12, 15-7) and Mt. Airy (15-8, 15-10) 2-0 in best-of-three matches Thursday at Mt. Airy, dominance that Coach Trish King didn't expect this soon.

"I was apprehensive (before the match) but I felt real good afterward," said King, whose girls are coming off a 13-1 championship season. "We played like we had already played a match. We are coming along quicker than I thought."

Christina Gajewski and Lyndsey Smith had five points apiece in the first game with Elkin, and Dette Riddle served nine winners in the clincher. "She almost won the game by herself," King said.

"I was real pleased with everybody's effort. We were better than I expected."

Gajewski's 10 points in game one with Mt. Airy and Holly Marsden's 12 in the defining second game paced North.

The blowouts enabled King to clear her bench, discovering sharp serving in the process.

"Everybody got to play and our serving went real well, the one thing that I was concerned about," she said. "You can't play if you can't serve."

Tammy Reavis, Davie's volleyball coach, is trying to mold a fluid unit. Must be nice tinkering with an undefeated engine.

The War Eagles dumped Northwest Cabarrus (16-14, 15-13, 15-10) and North Davidson (3-15, 15-5, 15-9, 15-12) last week to remain unblemished at 4-0 in the nonconference season.

"I'm trying to find a lineup that works," Reavis said, pointing toward conference play that began this week.

"Everybody has contributed at their strong point, and that's what we've got to do to win.

"As long as we think team and not individual, we'll be fine. We're trying to gel. One person plays good one day and another the next."

North staggered Davie 15-3 in the first game before the War Eagles retaliated with three successive victories.

"We were real bad (in game one). We didn't do anything. We didn't even get through the rotation," Reavis said.

"We came back and picked it up in the second game. I started six new players, then rotated them around. And we played better."

Davie clicked from the outset against Northwest, which fell short each time against new Davie bodies.

"We played real well," Reavis said. "We passed real good. Six different people started and everybody mixed in, and Northwest had improved (from Aug. 26)."

Opposites: Middle Schools Take Different Paths In Football

When the North Davie Wildcats and South Davie Tigers wrestle for season-opening victories this week, it'll be the convergence of two trains.

Since the Piedmont Middle School Conference expanded four years ago, sheltering North and South and making room for 13 teams in two divisions, the Tigers have been heading north and the Wildcats have been heading south.

On the sunny side of the street, Barry Whitlock's Tigers have stood on the precipice of the top on the seventh- and eighth-grade levels, winning 22 of 30 seventh-grade games, including two division championships and the PMSC title last fall. They've topped out 19 wins in 29 decisions (one tie) as eighth graders, including 12 of their last 14, and finished as Northern Division runners-up the last two years.

On the cloudy side, Ron Kirk's Wildcats have fallen to the PMSC's lowest reaches, losing 21 of 29 seventh-grade games and 22 of 30 eight-grade contests. Combined, they've tumbled in 25 of 28 games in two years.

Brian Pitts

South's eighth graders, coming off a 7-0 season that was capped by a memorable 48-46 smashing victory over previously unbeaten Concord in the PMSC title game, enter the 1997 season with outrageous expectations.

Despite having magic man Neil Rice, who rushed for 1,447 yards and averaged a whopping 13 yards per carry in 1996, the Tigers are no flat-out lock to duplicate last year's magical run. They're in the Southern Division this year, a league stocked with formidable opponents unlike the Northern Division, which occasionally coughs up a vacation in the form of an Erwin or Corriher-Lipe. The Northern Division includes giants such as Mooresville, Concord and Kannapolis.

Whitlock is preaching for his boys to confront the unseen future instead of dwelling in the glorious past.

"I knew from day one the eighth graders were going to have the big head, think that they can't get beat, and we just sat down and talked about it," he said. "The Southern Division is a lot tougher conference. Mooresville only lost to Concord by four points (last year), and I heard people say that Mooresville was better than Concord."

The Tigers have a big target on their back.

"Everybody is shooting at us," said Whitlock, who is 41-18-1 since 1993. "They would rather beat us than anything. Everybody is saying that Concord is going to be the game (on Oct. 15). But I'm going to tell you, we better take one game at a time, because every game we play will be the other team's championship."

South's seventh-grade team doesn't possess a dynamic star, casting a shadow of uncertainty. Whether they can remain in the contender class remains anyone's guess.

"I don't have that one guy that can score at any given time," Whitlock said. "I don't have that J.J. Rice, Ricky White, Mikey Arnold or Neil Rice. We are going to have to get 4-5 yards at a time and hang onto the football. We are not going to break a lot of long touchdowns."

Whitlock is braced for a fall, possibly as far as the middle of the pack.

"I'm not expecting that much," he said. "We just want to improve each day as a team, because I don't think we've got the talent to win the conference. We've got the talent to be competitive in every game."

With the gentler schedule, both Wildcat teams should end their non-contending slide and buff their tarnished reputation.

Kirk has useful depth in his eighth-grade backfield and a mountain offensive line, averaging nearly 200 pounds across the front.

"We've got good size and I think we'll be well-improved this year and have a pretty good season," Kirk said. "We've got a nice-looking backfield."

Kirk envisions a remarkable revival, with an upper-echelon finish a likelihood and a date in the title game a solid possibility. Don't laugh. North is probably closer to being back than many people realize. For instance, the seventh-grade Wildcats went 6-2 in 1994 before falling on their face the next year, going 0-7 in the Southern Division and proving that things can turn overnight.

"Our goal is to play on Saturday night at the end of the season (in the championship)," he said. "Changing divisions will make us more competitive I think. We are not looking for miracles, but I think we are going to be a strongly-improved team. It would be nice to go from the bottom to the top."

The seventh graders are also singing the worst-to-first verse, a possible breakthrough that would restore a fragile team psyche.

"I feel like we'll win some ball games," Kirk said. "Everybody's first goal is to play on Saturday night. But if we win a high percentage of our games, it'll be a vast improvement."

The projected new contender will clash with the defender on Wednesday (Sept. 10 at North) and Thursday (at South), giving fans a taste of what's ahead on the 1997 menu. But this is merely a warm-up week, nonconference duels that won't shatter any dreams.

"I'm taking the North Davie game as a scrimmage," said Whitlock, who has 75 players on two teams, South's largest turnout. "We are not ready and I know Kirk is probably not either. We started a week later in school and I'm going to play a lot of people and get an idea. I get two nonconference games to try different people at different places."

Kirk is restless after touring the PMSC's Dismal Swamp, presumably the reason he's embracing this moment. Whitlock insists that this week is substantially no different.

Davie Volleyball Team Undefeated In Early Season

Twice Davie held commanding 7-0 leads against North Davidson and twice the War Eagles flopped during crunch time, losing for the first time in four matches 16-14, 15-10 here Thursday.

Two days earlier, Davie whipped Northwest Cabarrus 15-6, 15-7.

Davie came apart at the seams against the formidable Black Knights.

"They're good but they're not unbeatable," said Brunelli. "They're one of the better teams we've seen this year.

"Lack of communication and teamwork (caused the collapse). It was disappointing, but we have a chance to redeem ourselves (Sept. 8). Hopefully, things will continue like the first seven points."

Davie made quick work of Northwest.

"We played well," Brunelli said. "We just came out and it was over. It was one of the best matches we've played this year, and everyone played well."

Amanda Bailey provided several strong serves.

Hayes Competes Finishes 27th In Grand Nationals

Ten-year-old Tyler Hayes went to the MBL grand nationals in Louisville, Ky., with big hopes last summer.

He wanted his name on a plate, a distinction only bestowed to the best bicyclists in the country.

Going into the meet, he was 33rd.

Coming back from a broken arm earlier in the summer, Tyler placed 27th in the national meet.

than any other, but Kirk exclaimed that whoever buys that believes in deflected Hail Mary passes.

"I'm just like Whitlock, we are here to beat each other's brains in," Kirk said. "We'll try our best to win both games."

All eyes will zoom in on Rice, probably the most superior figure in the league, an inhibited star who causes panic attacks every time he touches the ball.

"I know more about that eighth-grade team than I even want to know right now," said Kirk, who will attempt to shadow a runner who scored 20 times last year. "It's not too much to know: Rice left, Rice right, Rice up the middle and Rice running the ball wherever he wants to go.

"Of course, Barry's got a lot of backdoor plays that he'll pull out of his pocket. I've coached against him too long to know that he's going to have his kids ready. He can cycle it he wants to."

He laughed. But this is no laughing matter. Nonconference clashes won't dash November dreams, but it's a good chance to gather September momentum and chug toward Saturday night, which beats traveling south toward nowhere.

Davie soccer coach Pete Gustafson discusses strategy with his troops.

The War Eagles' Eric Kofke hustles after the ball in Davie's 3-2 loss to North Davidson.

Davie Soccer Team Falls To Black Knights For Second Time 3-2

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

As it is with so many mysteries, there was no simple solution to how North Davidson's soccer team upended Davie for the second time this season, rallying again to take a 3-2 victory here last Wednesday.

Davie coach Pete Gustafson and JV coach Sean Garnett put their heads together, coming up with few answers other than capitalizing when opportunities come knocking.

"I'm not so sure that anything's wrong," Gustafson said of his 0-2 team. "We made mistakes but we also had some great stuff. We played hard. I don't feel we ever gave up, not at all.

"That doesn't make you feel good, it's like kissing your sister."

Davie held its own in the shot department, firing 16 to North's 17, but two defensive breakdowns foiled the War Eagles in the dying minutes, when North snapped a 1-1 tie with two scores in the closing seven minutes.

"One concern that worries me is twice in the (waning) minutes we've lost," said Gustafson. "I don't see that (North) is stepping up, I don't see that. Defensively, we had two mistakes and they scored on both. I'll give them one."

The War Eagles hammered deep inside North's territory seven times, scoring just once on the one-on-one drives.

"In my mind, it should have been 6-3," Gustafson said. "That's called not finishing. We worked our tail off. We're doing the job except we're not finishing, and it's not any one individual."

Six minutes into the match, Eric Kofke found Brandon Johnson for a 1-0 lead, but the Black Knights rattled off three unanswered goals before Johnson assisted Kofke on his team-high fourth goal of the year two minutes before the final horn.

Gustafson applauded his boys for restraining themselves when North bordered dirty play. "I'm very proud of the way we handled ourselves," he said. "A couple of instances, they challenged us by pushing without the ball and we made every attempt to stay out of trouble."

Davie varisty soccer player J.R. McClamrock takes control of theball.

Aarron Elwood of Davie's varsity soccer tam dribbles the ball upfield.

Soto, Garner Lead Team To Season Opening Win

The map stayed much the same in the Davie JV soccer team's second straight win over North Davidson: Luis Soto to Mitchell Garner, victory.

Soto assisted Garner both times in Davie's season-opening 2-1 win over North, and the duo struck gold again in the rematch, a 1-0 victory here last Wednesday.

Garner doesn't even realize his potential.

"He's got a real good shot and he's aggressive, what you need at forward," Coach Sean Garnett said. "He's in the right place at the right time. He needs to build his confidence because he doesn't think he's as good as I do."

Undoubtedly North's a believer in punched in more goals if not for the Black Knights' imposing keeper.

"Their keeper is 6-8 from Romania and he made some real good saves against Mitchell," Garnett said. "Against any other team, he would have probably had three goals."

The War Eagles are unbeaten, but barely. They dodged several bullets down the stretch, giving them plenty to iron out at practice.

"We seemed a little flatter (than the opener)," Garnett said. "We were not moving as much. The week off hurt us, too. We were a little out of shape.

"Even though we had a shutout, at the end we were holding on for dear life. We didn't mark well and weren't aggressive enough."

War Eagles To Battle Salisbury High

How long has it been since Davie beat the Salisbury Hornets? You have to go back 13 tired years, when Benjie Brown, Davie's football coach, was a freshman at Thomasville High.

After Davie won 34-28 in 1984, the series died until 1993, the year Salisbury assumed the upper hand, winning four straight years to take an 8-4 lead in the series. They'll lock up for the 13th time Friday night at 7:30 at Salisbury.

The one-sided recent history doesn't shock Brown.

"We don't matchup well against them, and that's probably the reason we struggle with them year to year," he said. "They are (always) real quick, have a lot of speed and are very aggressive on defense."

And they're 0-3.

But that's misleading, considering the Hornets have lost to two rated teams, 1-A Albemarle and 3-A Concord, and unbeaten West Rowan, which is 3-0 under former Davie coach Randall Ward.

"They are the best 0-3 team in the state if I was making a bet," Brown said. "I think Salisbury is a very talented team. They've played a real good nonconference schedule so far, and that's probably the reason they haven't won."

The Hornets' fleet feet could present problems for the War Eagles, who will attempt to win their first three games for the first time since 1984.

"It will be interesting to see how our kids respond (to Salisbury's speed)," said Brown, whose club suffered a bitter 14-6 loss last year, when ill-timed fumbles wiped away several scoring opportunities.

"Being able to eliminate big plays and being able to deal with their aggressiveness on defense will be very important," Brown said. "They are a wishbone team but they'll break the bone and line up with two backs and with one back and motion around some.

"They're about like us, they'd rather run it than throw it. But if it comes down to throwing, they aren't afraid to do that either."

our passing game," he said. "I felt like if we got a lead, we could feel comfortable working on different aspects of that and try to make some improvements in that area.

"We ran (the sweep) for a touchdown on the first play and I didn't want to get into a deal where we were going to score a bunch of points and embarrass (North) or embarrass ourselves in the process."

Eric Kofke, who was successful on five of six extra points, nailed a 37-yard field goal, his second of the year, to increase the lead to 10-0 and defensive end Jamien Smith returned a Derek Dalton interception 66 yards to the North 17 to set up White's second score, a 9-yard run that extended the margin to 17-0 in the final minute of the opening quarter.

Davie fullback Melvin Williams, who had a career night while rushing for 54 yards on 10 carries, fumbled the play before Smith's pick, handing the Raiders the ball at the Davie 19, but the sophomore QB returned the favor. Dalton's next pass ended up in War Eagle hands when Scott Cornatzer grabbed his second interception of the year, setting up another score as Ridenhour hit receiver Charles Miller on four-and-goal at the 2 with 11:40 left in the second.

"That was not the turning point in the game, but if we could have held those (INTs) off and did some things, it would have helped us down the road," Love said. "We are doing the best we can with 25 players."

Dalton misfired on 14 of 18 attempts, gaining only 20 yards, mainly due to Davie's swarming defense.

"They didn't throw the ball that well and we had some good pressure up front," Brown said.

Ridenhour and Miller hooked up again late in the second, a 31-yard touchdown completion that was capped by a Miller flip into the end zone. Miller caught the ball near the sideline, cut left and sprinted toward paydirt, making it 30-0 at the break.

Brown put a leash on the offense in the second half, leading to a scoreless third quarter.

"We treated the second half as a time to do some things that we don't do a lot of, things we'll need before the year's out," Brown said. "We played a tremendous amount of people and tried to do a tremendous amount of stuff."

Love wasn't kidding himself. "We were probably assisted a whole lot in the second half," he said.

Davie returned to the end zone three seconds into the fourth, when a second-effort surge by Williams led to a 1-yard score. Ricky White, the backup tailback who ran for 114 yards on 14 carries, had runs of 16 and 20 yards on the drive and Chad Boger's first-ever catch, an 18-yarder, moved Davie inside the 20-yard line.

The White brothers padded their totals while engineering the final scoring march. Cedric broke several tackles and nearly went the distance on a 45-yard scamper, setting up Ricky's 28-yard score.

"Cedric and Ricky had great games," Brown said. "It was a great offensive effort."

Brown, guarding against potential overconfidence down the road reminded his troops that the nonconference schedule occasionally coughs up an inferior opponent. The real deal hasn't begun.

"Defensively, we had a shutout but I see several areas that we need to improve at," he said. "We have to continue to improve each week. If we don't, we won't be ready to go when the real thing happens in conference play. I don't think we are where we need to be."

• Ridenhour spread the wealth, hitting five receivers, including Kenny Collins, Brian Lane and Ray Spain .... One concern from the opening week lingered, penalties. Davie committed 11 for 100 yards. "It's something we've got to improve at," Brown said. "Our kids play real hard and that's one of the reasons we get so many penalties. Hopefully, we can get it under control."

Davie Vs. Salisbury ... How Do You Spell Revenge? And The Contest Winners

By Dwight Sparks
Football Contest Director

Of course, you want to know who won the football contest. But there is a more pressing issue. What will happen this Friday when Davie County goes to Salisbury.

We know Coach Brown's driven. He's young and has fire in his eyes.

He's quiet and studious on the sidelines, never seeming to get upset or agitated.

He has the respect of the players, and Davie County is on the verge of crowning him king.

But what do we really know about Coach Benjie Brown? What about his inner psyche? What motivates him?

In other words, does he believe in R-E-V-E-N-G-E?

He wasn't here when it happened, so it may not be the same personal affront to him that it was for the rest of us. But two years ago, Davie County High football suffered its worst humiliation in all its 40 years.

Salisbury High blistered the War Eagles — we still have trouble repeating the score — 64-0.

It was a year when Salisbury had everything. It marched through the season undefeated and fell one game short of a state championship. Davie was ambushed. Davie was embarrassed. Davie was shot in the back and then robbed of its wallet.

Have we forgotten?

No.

Have we forgiven?

No.

Last year, Salisbury delivered another injury, defeating Davie here as Brown fine-tuned this new War Eagle machine.

This time, Salisbury must be squirming. The shoe's on the other foot. Davie figures to win this one, and it's just a matter of what the final score will be.

That humiliation brought on a number of changes immediately. The Davie High players on that 1995 team gathered the next week and decided ... never again. Never again would that happen. Not only that, Davie would win, and the team finished a respectable season, just missing the playoffs.

It was about that same time that junior varsity coach Jerry Walser gave his famous speech to that promising young team.

Boys, he said. You've got only 35 games left in your high school career. What are you going to make of them?

They decided to make the most of them. Not only that, they decided 35 was not enough. Why not add some playoff games?

So that sets the stage of Davie's return to Salisbury, the scene of the school's most devastating slaughter. But that turned out to be no Waterloo. No Little Big Horn.

What will the score be?

Brown will unleash the War Eagles' fury for three quarters. Score 49-0.

Now, we can get back to the contest. Who won?

JIMMY LOOKABILL, COME ON DOWN!

Ah, yes. Jimmy Lookabill, that frequent winner and fierce competitor in the contest.

He and KENNY JOHNSON both missed eight games. Lookabill claimed the $25 prize with the tie-breaker.

What will he do with all the money?

Alas, when Mr. Cash called, Lookabill was still hard at work at Lexington Furniture.

Daughter Julie, who missed 10, took the call and handled the news with dignified calm.

"He'd better give it to me," she said. She's 17. Sister Jamie, 19, and mom, Jennifer, have all been past winners in the contest.

Kenny Johnson was denied first place by only three points on the tie-breaker. He collects $10.

What else is going on?

This weekend is a special one for your beloved contest director. For it was one year ago that he stood trembling at the end of the aisle, flanked by father, brother, sons and nephew.

It was one of those in-the-spotlight moments. One of those times when the Contest Director felt ever-so- awkward. Speechless even. But he tried to conceal it.

Bridesmaids had made their long pilgrimage to the front of the church.

The door to the back of the church then ... closed.

The Contest Director was just a bit confused.

Where was she? Why did they close the door?

Suddenly, the door was flung open, and there stood a vision.

A beautiful woman in white.

The audience stood and turned toward her.

Clutching the arm of her father, she walked down the aisle as a thousand eyes riveted on her.

What a fantastic dress.

It had lace and little pearls, and it was long in the back.

Frou-frou, women call it.

It filled the entire aisle. And the young bride walked with a smile on her face, like she really was glad to be marrying me.

The Contest Director's 5-year-old son started jumping up and down at the sight of her, and his father had to place a firm arm on his shoulder to make sure the young boy didn't charge up the aisle to greet her. Because you never know about him ...

The Contest Director and his kin were all dressed in their best James Bond uniforms, rather spiffy.

And the bride's father brought his daughter gently to the front, standing strategically between the bride and the groom.

What a moment it was.

Dad gave his permission, and we were allowed to hold hands.

We recited the vows. The priest — my new brother-in-law — prayed for us, place his stole around us and tied it into a knot. He gave us Holy Communion, and before you could count to 1,010, we were floating down the aisle.

That began a honeymoon now moving into its first year.

But we wander ...

What about our special award winners? Those who were eliminated from cash consideration, but merit the fame of our non-cash awards ...

BASKETBALL AWARD — the ignominious prize for the one who missed the most, indicating that basketball must be their sport. It was a hard call, but Jerry Raeder of Ijames Church Road won, missing 22. Ruth Anne Hiatt was close with 20 misses. Evelyn Hepler missed 18, and David H. Smith, 17.

CLOSE BUT NO CIGAR AWARD: To those missing 10 — Russell Senger, Edwin P. Robertson, Dillard Moody, Pam Stockert, Jason Murphy, Steve "The Hit Man" James, Mike Alexander, Bill Serfass, Billy Serfass.

OUT OF TOUCH AWARD: To Cathy Reimer, who picked Central Michigan to beat Number 2-ranked Florida. The score was 82-6, Florida. Hint, hint, Coach Brown.

APPALACHIAN MADNESS AWARD — To Stephen Serfass, who picked Appalachian over Clemson.

WAKE FOREST AWARD: To Denise Potts of Advance, one of the few to pick Wake's upset of Northwestern.

Cooleemee Opens Season With Win Over Shady Grove

Cooleemee's varsity football team started the season with a bang, beating Shady Grove 22-14.

JV Rams Overcome Trojans

A third-quarter touchdown run broke a scoreless game and lifted the Mocksville Rams junior varsity football team to an 8-0 victory over the Pinebrook Trojans Saturday in the season opener for both teams.

Jaspan Gray led Pinebrook with 41 yards rushing and five tackles, and Jonathan Ayers and Bubba Boger had four tackles each. Coach Tim Dunn also praised the play of Tyler Hayes and Justin Smith.

JV Team Falls To Cooleemee

Shady Grove JV football coach Maxie Melton experienced frustration against Cooleemee Saturday afternoon in the season opener.

His running back, Whit Merrifield, gained 150 yards on 10 carries, but his team lost 20-16.

Merrifield scored twice, on runs of 60 and 30 yards, and Jonathan Mayfield (10 carries, 50 yards) and William Goad (1-20) added productive runs. Mayfield carried in two two-point conversions.

Shady Grove's defense was led by Andrew Pryor and Brandon Hedrick, who had six tackles each, and Kevin Boehm and Tracy Easter had several stops.

Rams Defeat Pinebrook 6-0

A well-drilled Mocksville Rams varsity football team defeated mistake-prone Pinebrook 6-0 Saturday in the season opener.

The Rams broke a 40-yard touchdown run, their lone first down, and stuffed Pinebrook, which had seven first downs but three turnovers, at the 1-yard line with two minutes left to preserve the victory.

Ronald Boger, Pinebrook's coach, was gracious in defeat.

"They've got a good coaching staff (Ted Kiser, Donnie Beaver and Mark McClannon) and they were better prepared than my team," he said. "They know how to put a team on the field. They played good with no turnovers and that's how you win, especially in the first game with equal teams."

Kevin Ashley, 15, won the overall title by defeating Stephen Kaluzne in a one-hole sudden death playoff. In the 10-and-under division, Jonathon Loos defeated Josh Parrish in a one-hole playoff. The 11-13 division was won by Ryan Knoll by nine strokes over Vincent Curtis.

Volleyball Registration Underway

Coed volleyball registration has started at the Mocksville-Davie Parks and Recreation Department.

The deadline to enter is Sept. 19. The Sunday-only league will crank up Oct. 5. Teams will be asked to referee the matches. For more information, contact the recreation department at 634-2325.

South Davie Softball Coach Optimistic At Season's Start

Grimes Parker, South Davie's softball coach, hopes inexperience doesn't hamper the Tigers, who opened their season Sept. 10 at home against Erwin.

"We're young and inexperienced so we'll be satisfied to finish .500," said Parker, whose 17-player club consists of 11 seventh graders. "Hopefully, we'll do better."

Most of South's team did participate in fast-pitch over the summer, a plus heading into the season.

"That's an advantage," said Parker, who is assisted once again by John Williams. "This is a good group that's been working hard."

Davie Wins Three Of Four

Davie claimed three of four decisions in fall baseball action at Rich Park over the weekend.

Davie II swept a doubleheader from North Iredell, rolling 15-0 and 8-4 behind the pitching of Victor Patti and Skip Crider.

Patti tossed a no-hitter, striking out 10, and Tony Snow cranked a two-run homer.

Travis Allen pitched a 3-hitter, leading Davie I to a 12-2 victory over Central Davidson. Ryan Desnoyers, who suffered the loss in game one (6-2), was 3 for 3 and Andrew Rogers added two hits.

Jerod Stanley roped two hits in the first game.

Davie II is scheduled to lock up with South Iredell in a twin bill Saturday at 9 a.m., and Davie I has a doubleheader with North Davidson starting at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

JV Team Romps Over Raiders 35-6

David Hunt, Davie's assistant football coach, didn't know exactly how to summarize the JV team's 35-6 romp over North Iredell here Thursday.

"I don't know if we looked good or they looked worse," Hunt said.

Michael Burton's 60-yard touchdown strike to Rod Tenor got the ball rolling, and the Raiders never recovered.

"You know how JV games are sometimes. Once one team gets ahead, it snowballs," Hunt said.

Tenor also punctured North on defense, picking off a pass and sprinting 80 yards for six points, and Nick Propst, Johnny Daye and Mikey Arnold added rushing TDs.

"Tenor had a good ball game, Daye and Arnold ran the ball real hard and Burton had an efficient game distributing the ball," Hunt praised.

Davie (1-0) played effective defense with the exception of a breakdown that led to North's lone score, a 50-yard touchdown run.

"We had a misalignment problem, which is almost to be expected," Hunt said. "We're swimmy headed because they've had more coaching in the last month than they've had in their life.

"The defense played pretty well up front. As with all JV games, you're going to have a number of mistakes."

Defensive lineman Jory Rankin, linebacker P.J. Cockerham and defensive back Jeremy Shoffner performed particularly well for Davie. "Shoffner had several big hits in the game," Hunt said.

"They're not particularly strong, so the key is how we improve (this week)."

Notes & Quotes

Boosters Uprade Cross Country Program

Friday's Davie-North Iredell varsity football game had all the ingredients for a massacre, but War Eagle coach Benjie Brown applied the breaks at halftime, when Davie led 30-0. It tacked on 14 more points for the final.

"We didn't hold back but we didn't run a full complement of plays that could have busted the game open," Brown said. "We didn't set up one play with another play. There for a while, we ran the same play time after time, trying to let our guys compete but yet not try to exploit anything that they were doing."

Larry Lanier and Melvin Fogg, Pinebrook principals, spearheaded the movement of lauding Davie's cross-country program a home course at the elementary school, and more aid was provided last week from Davie's Booster Club.

Coach Cary Powers issued more thanks, particularly to Tiny Livengood and Kathy Comatzer. "They provided us first-class equipment," he said. "We've had great runners all along, so now we've got great runners and great equipment."

The much-needed additions were modernized stop watches, shoot flags and ropes and various other items. "We could run a meet for any school in the state now," Powers said.

South Davie football coach Barry Whitlock can attest that winning breeds big numbers. Coming off a 7-0 seventh-grade season, Whitlock discovered seven new faces when the eighth graders met for preseason practice. "With the season we had, I think it's got a lot to do with it. All of them won't get to play, but just being apart of the team helps a lot. I've got a few who may start."

When asked about Neil Rice's upcoming eighth-grade year, Whitlock winced, reflecting back to the nightmarish eighth-grade season that brother J.J. Rice went through in 1994. Coming off a 1,000-yard seventh-grade season, just as Neil is, J.J. suffered a severely sprained ankle early in the opener and missed most of the season as South stumbled to 3-4-1.

"The only thing we hope is that there is no injury," he said. "Neil is looking about like last year. He hasn't missed a step.

"All (the offensive line) needs to do is make a little hole and let Neil get a little daylight. No. 1, we can't have any injuries; No. 2, we can't be overconfident; and No. 3, we have to play hard every game. And what happens, happens."

Whitlock has joined forces with Davie's program, adopting Brown's defensive model and operating some of his offensive philosophies.

"Benjie and I have a pretty good relationship," he said. "I go down there and talk to him, and he lets me borrow equipment and so forth. I feel like things I do will help his program down the line, even if we have to suffer a little bit with wins and losses. And I like what Benjie's doing. He's getting a lot more kids out, he's including the middle-school coaches and he invites us to a lot of his games. Like last year, he invited us to ride the bus with the team to the playoffs and everything. We've got a lot better relationship than it has been between the high school and the middle school."

The unity may shock some folks because Brown and Whitlock are opposites. Brown's a conservative and Whitlock thrives on rolling the dice. "We are running their defense, but I'm still trying to get him to run my offense," Whitlock said, laughing.

Tennis Team Cruises Past North Iredell

When asked about last week's home match against North Iredell, Davie tennis coach Carol Cozart scratched her head.

She didn't remember a match.

Moments later, everything came together, but the memory lapse was understandable. There wasn't much of a match.

Davie drove the Raiders into the ground, cruising 9-0. The closest match was Nancy Vogler's 10-2 win at No. 5 singles. Everyone else breezed 10-1 except for Lindsay Thomas, who buried her opposition 10-0. The other winners were Jeannette Miller, Erin Hege, Lauren Poplin and Meredith Harris in singles and Hege-Poplin, Miller-Thomas and Vogler-Sarah Stein in doubles.

"Last year (against North) our wins were in the 10-2 range, but they were inexperienced," said Cozart, whose club improved to 2-0. "His experience didn't come back so they're in the same shape, if not worse."

The laughing stopped this week, though, when the conference season began with home matches against Mt. Tabor and Reynolds, dominant teams in the Central Piedmont 4-A.

"We are going to continue to get ready everyday," Cozart said Thursday during practice. "It will be interesting to see Mt. Tabor because they've had some unfamiliar names in the paper. But they're not going to field a weak team."

Cozart would settle for a healthy team. Miller has recovered from a shoulder strain, but Molly Koontz and Kristen Powell, two starters, are still hobbling on bum ankles. Koontz is waiting on results from an MRI and Powell is wearing an air cast.

"Molly is going crazy (wanting to play)," Cozart said. "Powell wants to play so badly, but we want to bring her along slowly."

The injuries have opened the door for others, the one positive that Cozart is clinging to.

"We've been playing a revolving door and the girls have adapted," she said. "I still feel like we're stronger (this year) because we've worked on our games. If hard work gets you there, we'll get there."

Louisiana Men Arrested In Davie

Two Louisiana men were arrested on drug charges Aug. 27, at 801 Shell in Davie County.

Matthew David Byrum, 24, of New Orleans, La., was charged with felony possession of a schedule VI substance, possession of hashish and obstructing and delaying an officer.

He was wanted on other charges in New Hanover County, according to Davie County Sheriff's Deputy S.D. Moxley Jr.

Charlie James Byrum III, 27, of New Orleans, La., was charged with obstructing and delaying an officer, driving while license revoked, expired registration, expired tag and possession of less than 1/2 ounce of marijuana.

According to Moxley, both men have too many aliases to list.

They were placed in the Davie County Jail under no bond and are scheduled to appear in Davie County District Court Sept. 18.

Planning Board Votes On Subdivision

The Davie County Planning Board voted unanimously Aug. 26, to recommend approval by the Board of Commissioners of a 13-lot subdivision on Children's Home Road.

All lots in the subdivision, known as Oak Grove, will be served by wells and private septic tanks, according to Davie Planning and Zoning Director John Gallimore. It includes 19.4 acres.

The board voted to recommend approval by the commissioners of requested road names for private roads.

Each of these roads serves two or more residences and need to be added to E-911 system, Gallimore said.

Those included are Hampton Lane on U.S. 64 and Lera Lane on Howardtown Circle.

The board also voted to recommend a change in the name of an established state road from Rhinehardt Road to Rhynehardt Road.

The Davie County Board of Commissioners will vote on these proposals at its Sept. 15 meeting. A public hearing will be conducted at that meeting to allow those interested to be heard in favor or opposition to these changes.

Town Planning Board To Meet

There will be a meeting of the Mocksville Planning Board on Tuesday, Sept. 16, at 7 p.m. in Mocksville Town Hall.

Roy Harris and Johnny Marklin, represented by Grady L. Tutterow, have submitted a revision to lots 18-25 of New Hampshire Court. This single family residential land subdivision is located off the south side of Jericho Church Road.

Scott Angell has submitted a request to rezone 4.64 acres from residential-agricultural to industrial for the operation of a trucking business. This zoning amendment was reviewed by the Mocksville Town Board on Aug. 5 and returned to the planning board for further study.

All parties and interested citizens are invited to attend, and may speak in favor of or in opposition to the changes. Prior to the meeting, additional information may be available in the officer of the zoning enforcement officer, Davie County Administration Building, 123 S. Main St., Mocksville, weekdays between 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. or by telephone at 634-3340.

Arts Council To Produce Video

Videos are big business and are now considered an art form.

The Davie County Arts Council is producing a promotional video and is in need of a 9-12 year old male. The part is non-speaking but will require several short shooting segments throughout the year. All applicants should be Davie County residents.

Nancy Norton, executive director of the Arts Council, is producing the video.

"This project started out as an informational video for the Arts Council. With potential funding from the State Department of Tourism, the project has grown to incorporate Davie County as a whole," she said.

Informal auditions will be held at the Parks and Recreation Center in Mocksville on Main Street on Friday, Sept.12 at 3:30 p.m. "This is a non-speaking role that requires a specific look to be captured on video. We plan on using all the children interested, in an overall shot sometime next year," Norton said.

Because of a new technique in cataract surgery performed at Southeastern Eye Center by Dr. Epes, patients like Betty Stone are able to return to their normal activities immediately. County OKs Industrial Park; Residents Plea For Denial

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

After hearing the protests and concerns of residents at a public hearing Monday evening, the Davie County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously to approve a request by William E. Hall and other property owners to rezone 150 acres on U.S. 601 north of I-40 near Allen Road from residential and agricultural use to industrial.

The Hollingsworth Company of Tennessee plans to purchase the land to develop an industrial park with eight to 10 buildings to be leased to companies dealing in light manufacturing and distribution, according to Hollingsworth representative John Allen.

The buildings will not be designed to accommodate the sorts of industries that generate a lot of smoke and noise, he said.

This site was chosen over all potential sites considered in North Carolina, Chairman of the Davie County Economic Development Council and Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley said.

Most industries want an existing building to move into and begin operating quickly. Many towns have spent taxpayers' money to build facilities to attract industry. Mocksville has a rare opportunity in this case to work with Hollingsworth with the town providing water and sewer only, he said.

Hollingsworth was interested in a site along I-40, he told commissioners.

Mocksville is interested in recruiting industry to maintain a good tax base and keep tax rates low for property owners, said Mocksville Town Attorney Hank Van Hoy.

But many residents from the area near the site remained opposed to the rezoning.

Martha Bowers said the house she and her husband are building on Brookwood Trail off U.S. 601 is not just another house but the result of 27 years of dreaming and planning. They chose that site because it was rural and picturesque.

Clemmons was once a quaint community, but poor planning has made it just a strip along I-40, she said.

336 Davie To Get New Area Code

The good news is: Davie County will be one area code when new lines are drawn in mid-December.

The bad news is: That new number is not 910, or 919, or 704. It's 336, one of three new area codes approved by the N.C. Utilities Commission.

The 336 code will have a permissive dialing period of six months, from Dec. 15-June 15. During the six-moth period, calls can be made to customers in the affected areas by using either the old or new area code.

When the mandatory dialing period begins, callers will hear a recorded message instructing them to re-dial using the new area code.

An unprecedented demand for telephone numbers is driving the need for additional area codes, said Jan Dempster, Sprint's director of corporate communications. The growing popularity of fax machines, computer modems, wireless telephones and additional lines in homes is consuming telephone numbers at a record pace. All three existing area codes - 910, 919 and 704 - are expected to run out of numbers in 1999.

The utilities commission decided to use the geographic split method - dividing existing area code boundaries - to create new area codes.

Northeastern North Carolina will use a new 252 area code, with the 336 code coming from north and central portions of the state. The 828 code will be in western North Carolina.

The southeastern section, including Fayetteville, will keep the 910 area code. The Raleigh area will keep the 919 code and the charlotte area will keep the 704 code.

Davie Students Again Score High On SAT

SAT scores aren't the best way to judge how a school system operates, but it's good to see that you're doing a decent job of educating students.

The 1997 Scholastic Aptitude Test scores have been released, and like usual, Davie County students have done well.

Davie students' average score of 1,014 is 36 points higher than the state average, and two points below the national average. It's the 13th highest average among the 117 school systems in North Carolina, and second in this region behind Mooresville City Schools.

Dr. Bill Steed, Davie Schools' superintendent, said while he's proud of the results, "That is not all we do in schools. It is not one of the standards by which the high school is judged."

Teachers and administrators are constantly looking for ways to improve the learning process, which in turn, should improve scores on all tests, Steed said. It takes good teachers, challenging classes and parents who encourage their children to do well to have successful students, he said.

The SAT is broken into two sections, verbal and math. Davie's verbal score of 509 is ninth best in the state, the math score of 505 is 13th best. A total of 58.5 percent of seniors took the test.

Davie students scored 11th best in North Carolina in 1989, 21st in 1990, eighth in 1991, ninth in 1992, ninth in 1993, sixth in 1994, 13th in 1995 and 11th in 1996.

Steed doesn't pay a lot of attention to how Davie scores compare to other schools, but at state and national averages.

Farmer Cited For Illegal Pumping Of Cow Waste Into Davie Creek

A former Davie dairy farmer is trying to make sure there are no more environmental violations at a farm off Serenity Drive, in the County Line community.

Michael Lee Gaither of Harmony was sent a letter by the State Department of Environmental, Health and Natural Resources advising him of the illegal action.

Investigators concluded that Gaither pumped cow waste from a lagoon into a drainage ditch that flowed into Little Creek. Neighbors downstream called the state when they noticed a gray matter floating in the creek.

The letter told Gaither to install adequate erosion control measures on the ditch. After Gaither takes that action, the state will decide whether to seek legal action.

He is subject to civil penalties of up to $10,000 per day for violation of laws, either in the past or present.

Pollution, Watershed Cited As Environmental Concerns

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Industrial pollution and increased development in protected watershed area are among the serious environmental problems facing Davie County, according to residents at an environmental forum Saturday in Mocksville.

The Rev. Donald Ray Jenkins of Shiloh Baptist Church on Depot Street in Mocksville shared how he and his church have battled with United Plywood, an industry located across the street, about pollution and noise coming from the plant since he came to the church five years ago.

Little has been done to help until a massive dust cloud covered the parsonage and street in front of the plant in March. Since then the N.C. Environmental Management Commission imposed a fined against the industry.

The church sent a petition asking that the fine be enforced in the full amount, he said.

Jenkins told the group he didn't feel the church got the kind of support it needed from the community.

Residents need to see issues as a community, coming together to say they are not going to tolerate conditions like these, he said.

When the town or county is deciding a zoning issue, residents ought to be there because once land has been zoned for industry, it's almost impossible to do anything, Jenkins said.

Leaders seem pro-business and industry willing to rezone for industry to get more tax money, he said.

"I'm not against industry. I just want some common courtesy," Jenkins said.

The county needs tax dollars, but people need a good place to live, he said.

Crossing Yadkin: Sewer Pipes Going Across Bridge

Link by link workers have been crossing the Yadkin River bridge this week, connecting Hillsdale with Forsyth County's sewer line.

The progress has been slow — nothing like the fast growth the sewer line may open for the Hillsdale area. Clemmons experienced the same overnight tremors when it installed a sewer system.

Restaurants and hundreds of houses have been built just because sewer made it possible.

Will that growth expand across the river, following the trail of the sewer line?

That's easily predictable.

Already, some are saying the pipeline is too small. That's being a little too optimistic. But sewer will enable changes that were never possible before.

Grandparents Join Kids For School Lunch

It was Grandparents Week at many of the local schools last week. Teachers asked students to invite their grandparents for lunch.

There is something wonderful about the relationship between children and their grandparents. Grandparents love the children just as they are. They don't worry if the youngsters aren't at the top of the class. If they're not the fastest runner. The best speller. The best athlete.

The magic of the relationship is obvious. Hundreds of grandparents went to the schools last week. Children proudly hugged their grandparents and marched them off to the lunchroom.

But there's a big problem with Grandparents Week. Some grandparents live out of town. Out of state. They can't come.

One grandmother found herself being instantly adopted last week. She went to school to eat with her grandson, but a little girl in the classroom grabbed her other hand. She was one of those whose grandparents couldn't come. She needed a grandmother-for-the-day.

She found one.

Those letters from the teacher are important.

Those invitations to the school — invitations for student programs, for performances, to meet the teacher — are premium notices. More than the chance it gives us to look at the school, those invitations let the children know how much we value education, how much we care about what goes on in those buildings that shape their future.

We need to go more often.

The schools welcome visitors.

Teachers especially welcome those who come to help.

All of us are constantly reminded of the problems in the schools. We talk about why SAT scores are lower than other states. We debate the merit of going back to basics and the necessity of getting every child on the Internet.

Going to the classroom helps ruin all those easy solutions we have — all those quick fixes we would impose if we were superintendent for a day.

Go with your children — your grandchildren — to school for lunch. The children will be glad you did. The lunches aren't bad.

Cable Company No Help Fixing Problem

To the editor:

I would like to launch another complaint against Genesis Cable of Mocksville.

I called them earlier in the week to fix a problem with the cable in my bedroom. When they finally arrived here to fix the problem, the cable technician didn't know what he was doing. On Friday, he and another guy came out to "supposedly" fix the problem. Instead of them looking in the area I told them the problem was, they went all around it. They cut the cable ends off all the lines underneath and inside of my house.

They say if I have a problem to call Stefanie, the office manager. She says that if a "mess" isn't cleaned up underneath my house in two weeks, they will cut my cable off.

After the incompetent cable techs left, I found the problem and fixed it myself. I had to go to Wal-Mart and spend $30 for a cable crimper (to fix the end on the line) and ends to go on the line in my room.

We all thought Friendship Cable was a sorry cable company, but if the truth was to be known, Genesis Cable is a lot worse than Friendship. At least if you had an outage, with Friendship, they did make every attempt to locate and fix the problem.

If we're going to have a cable company in Mocksville, then let's get a decent company, one where the techs at least have sense enough to locate and fix the problem. Maybe Time Warner can come in and buy out Ge...sis.

I know people in Winston-Salem who have cable and they say that Time Warner Cable is a great cable company.

If anyone else has had the problems with Genesis Cable that we have, please contact me, Ruth Anne Hiatt or Terry Roeder. Maybe there will be a way to get rid of Genesis and get Time Warner in here.

Who Are These People?

Iris Latham of Lexington brought in these two photographs, but she doesn't know where or when they were made. She grew up in the Bixby community of Davie County, and the photographs belonged to her father, Calvin Sanford Massey of Bixby. The Enterprise-Record welcomes old photographs of Davie people, places and events. Bring them by the newspaper office on South Main Street, Mocksville, or mail to P.O. Box 99. All photographs will be returned.

It Takes 2 Double AA Batteries To Exercise ... For The Walkman

Is it just my imagination, or did people only begin to exercise after the advent of the Walkman? Weren't the Exercise Bike, Cardio Glide and StairMaster a direct result of someone having stumbled upon the fact that if a person's mind could be otherwise engaged, his or her body would be more willing to endure great pain?

I can only believe the answer is YES. And not that any self-respecting walker, jogger and Nautilus devotee wouldn't be taught defining a deltoid, much less toning a trapezius without being "plugged in", one can't help but wonder what if was that motivated the health and physique-conscious individual BW (Before Walkman).

Lynn Hall

How in the world did they find the courage to put one foot in front of the other in order to go exactly no where except around and around the track at the local YMCA without Jewel, The Eagles or LeAnne Rines to urge them on?

How did they ever find the inspiration to brave those cold February mornings in Spandex and Reeboks to run lonely neighborhood streets before the dawning of lightweight headphones and Bob and Sheri?

How in the world did anyone endure 45-minute stretches on the StairMaster without the latest Tom Clancy book on tape to keep one going onward and upward despite incredibly painful leg cramps?

Exercising without a Walkman would be like trying to water-ski behind a boat with no motor, or rollerblade in the sand. Going to the gym without your Sony would be tantamount to forgetting our shorts and having to walk out of the locker room wearing only your Hanes.

How did our pre-Jane Fonda forefathers and mothers do it? I can't imagine. All've tried. Recently in fact. Last week even hen this great insight into the significant correlon between exercise and entertainment was sked by an outing to the YMCA for a worko

That morning I had ped my gym back with all of the necery apparel—shorts, T-shirt, Nike runn shoes, sweatbands, Walkman aneadphones and Anne Perry's latest novel tape. Imagine my embarrassment, not tention annoyance, upon discovering tl someone had removed the batteries fr my Sony. Here I was, feet secured in the dal straps, handlebars and seat carefy adjusted for my individual height and mfort, controls set to a program to maxi calorie-burning and cardiovascu benefits, only to discover I had no batte.

Suddenly I could no ler remember what I was supposed to dwith my feet. The handlebars bars felt kward in my grasp, the bicycle seat far too narv for adequate support. Perspiration beaded my chead as a prelude to the paralyzing fear of oncoming anxiety attack.

Blinded by humiliation, feelinaked and exposed to the world, I wonderow I would ever get down off that exercise bike a back down the stairs to the locker room. That's en I felt the slight tap on my elbow. I opened eyes and looked at the women peddling bry on the bike to my left. She smiled sympathetlly and then held out her hand. Inside were tw AA batteries. My heart stopped pounding, the ring in my ears subsided. I tried to stammer out anks, but she waved me off.

"Forget it," she said softly. "Be there. Done that."

Education On Environmental Problems Group's Goal

That's just what Charles Fox of Advance asked the group to do.

He admitted he had not helped Jenkins and others with their concerns but has been battling the rezoning of 300 acres in eastern Davie for commercial and high density development and the potential change in watershed regulations that will have to approved by county commissioners to allow that development.

The Davie County Board of Commissioners will vote Oct. 20, on whether or not to change watershed ordinances.

Industries and developers may own land, but they do not own the air and they do not own the process through which the land cleans and filters the water, Fox said.

"We as citizens have the right to the process of the watershed," he said.

While other counties are starting to realize their mistakes and voting not to further destroy watersheds, Davie County seems to be pushing to build more and more in the watershed, Fox said.

He urged those at the meeting to write letters and speak to county commissioners to convince them against further destruction of Davie's watersheds.

The average working person doesn't have time to study all the issues and has to depend on those who have been elected to make the right decisions. The problem is those people don't have the ears of their elected officials, he said. "A few big developers and property owners are controlling what happens in the county."

"They count on our ignorance to get all this passed," said Delores Clendenin.

Educating people is one way people at the meeting decided they could make a difference.

But Marshall Tyler of the Davie Environmental Awareness League said that an educational process would embarrass commissioners but not get rid of the business interests they have.

He suggested the county needs some elected officials who don't have conflicting interests.

People get to the point they can't fight because they don't have time or money, Fox said.

He told the group is part of a group of residents that has filed a civil suit against the county, trying to overturn the rezoning of the 300 acres for development in east Davie.

"Look at the extent citizens have to go to," he said.

Jacquelyn Pikul of the Clean Water Fund of North Carolina said her organization is trying to educate people on environmental problems and get them active and empowered.

About two years ago CWFNC started an entorcement campaign trying to ensure that environmental laws are enforced.

Often industries are not fined for violating these laws, and, if they are, it is one to five percent of the maximum fine for the offense, she explained.

"Our goal is to get the public to tell the Environmental Management Commission they want fines paid in the full amount," she said.

The money collected is supposed to go to the schools in the county where the company fined is located.

Petitions and resolutions are available through CWFNC to help people, she said.

If fines are raised, maybe companies will begin to take what they are doing to the environment more seriously, said Angie Newsome of CWFNC, a former resident of Davie County.

It shouldn't be cheaper to pollute and pay the fine than it would be to stop polluting. Enforcement through fines should be an incentive not to pollute, she said.

It's not fair that United Plywood Industries can petition EMC to lower its fine, but Jenkins and his church have no right to petition for a higher fine, she added.

But most fines are based on paperwork and not actual pollution, which is one reason companies fight them so hard, according to Claude Horn, owner of Horn Oil Company.

Horn shared with the group his efforts to prevent the establishment of a power plant on the South Yadkin River at the Bullhole.

As owner of the Rowan County side of the Bullhole, said he had spent thousands of dars trying to keep water coming o the dam, but there is nothing he can do.

When the plan to establish the power plant originated, he without the only person willing to fight preserve "the Niagra Falls of Coolnee".

He even made vi tapes of the site and sent them to Vhington D.C., but the federal governit determined it was more importan the environment to save on the ning of coal by using water from the er, he said.

Jonathan Wishon the Davie Environmental Awarene eague invited people with concerns oin the group, which was formed in 0 to battle the proposed siting of a ardous waste incinerator in North olina.

DEAL has also n concerned about the cleanliness water in the South Yadkin River s helped establish door to door recyc in the county, he said.

To join the organ ion, which has no dues, one should c ct Wishon or Tyler.

County Rezoning 150 Acres For Industry

Bowers asked why another industrial park was needed when one is sitting overgrown and underdeveloped on Milling Road.

"I'm asking you to think twice before you start giving away Mocksville and the hometown flavor it has," she said.

Under present zoning laws, the park could include everything from a landfill to a meat packing or poultry processing plant, Mark Williams, who owns land on James Church Road near the site, told the board.

Anita Keegan of Hidden Valley Road asked what would happen if the deal didn't go through as planned but the land remained zoned for industrial use.

Another resident suggested the best way to ensure that Davie County grows and prospers in this case would be having the developer apply for a special use rezoning.

Chuck Keegan expressed concern about the decrease in his property value.

He said there is nothing good about this rezoning.

Commissioner Diane Foster questioned Allen about what types of buffers would be used to screen the industrial park from the residential areas since the board can impose no specific restrictions under a general use rezoning.

Allen assured her that his company would adhere to all zoning regulations, which requires at least a 10 foot buffer. Plans are also to have two berms in front of the park and a heavily landscaped entrance, he said.

The sides and backs of buildings need to be well-screened in a mixed area, Foster said before asking if residential neighbors would receive more buffers than industrial neighbors.

Residents are concerned about the development wrecking their neighborhood, she said.

The setback for the park is 40 feet, and an extra 10 feet of that could be made into a buffer, Allen said.

"I don't want these people hurt from anything that's done in here. I want these people protected," said Commissioner Larry Hayes.

Foster also questioned the types of signs to be used and told the group she felt this zoning should have been a special use request.

In studying this request, she said she has requested the removal of some of the uses now existing under the I-3 industrial zoning category, such as a landfill or fertilizer manufacturer.

She said she is concerned about these uses being permitted anywhere in the county.

Allen said he would fully support the removal of some of those uses from the zoning ordinances.

Foster told the crowd it is difficult to sit on the board when considering zoning issues.

"We are stewards of land, stewards of the environment and stewards of the economy," she said. "We are also stewards of the next generation."

It's a fine balance and something she takes seriously, Foster said.

As much as she is concerned about the character of this neighborhood, Foster said she would make the motion to approve the rezoning.

With a potential need for jobs in the future and a belief that this will not have a major effect of property values in the area, Foster said she believes the good outweighs the bad.

Motorcycle Wreck Injures Man

A Mocksville man was injured Friday evening attempting to elude a N.C. Highway Patrol trooper.

Phillip M. Press, 47, of 131 Forest Lane Apt. 26, was taken to N.C. Baptist Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Press was driving a 1997 Honda motorcycle attempting to elude Trooper T.S. Kennedy, the trooper reported. He was traveling south on Locust Street in Mocksville attempting to elude arrest and failed to stop at the Maple Street stop sign.

The motorcycle overturned onto its left side. The motorcycle regained traction, traveled a short distance and rolled over again, sliding on the road.

Press was charged with speeding to elude arrest, improper passing, failure to stop for blue light and siren, careless and reckless driving and driving left of center.

Man Convicted Of Cutting Woman

A Mocksville man, facing up to 98 months in prison for assaulting his girlfriend with a knife, received a suspended sentence last week in Davie County Superior Court.

Bobby Marion Booe Sr., 45, pled guilty to assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury.

Booe cut his ex-girlfriend, Tonya Renee Motley, on the neck within an inch of the jugular, under her right breast and on her shoulder, according to Assistant District Attorney Gwenda Priest.

At a friend's house, he had accused Motley of having an affair and threatened to kill her. When officers arrived at the scene, Booe told them he had planned to kill her and was going to get a gun and finish, Priest said.

This is a case of man allowing alcohol to get the best of him, said Booe's attorney Ed Vogler.

Booe was extremely intoxicated and had used poor judgment, he said.

Judge Howard R. Greeson Jr. sentenced Booe to 36 to 53 months in prison but suspended all but six months of that sentence for five years and placed him on supervised probation to include an evaluation Family Services and compliance with recommendations, participation in the day reporting program, no contact with the victim, payment of court costs, $1,000 in attorney fees, $206.78 to the victim of medical bills and medication and a $1,000 fine.

Davie Jury Convicts High Point Man Of Larceny

A Davie County jury found a High Point man guilty of larceny last week in Superior Court.

Stephen Michael Hankins, 38, was accused of stealing 20 foot boards from a Davie man.

Hankins claimed to have purchased some of the boards and received others from his uncle for work he was doing on his house in Lexington.

He told jurors that the man had accused him of taking his wood after he refused to give him something free from his furniture sales truck.

"I'm no thief," Hankins said.

Judge Howard R. Greeson sentenced Hankins to 45 days in prison suspended three years.

He ordered him to serve 10 days of that sentence in the Davie County Jail immediately, pay $1,000 fine, $700 attorney fee and court costs.

Greeson fined Hankins' attorney Lori Hamilton $50 for being outside the courthouse while the jury deliberated.

Man Sentenced To 26 Years For Being Habitual Felon

Structured sentencing was designed by state legislators to put repeat offenders in prison for a long time.

It did just that to a man found guilty by a jury of two counts of obtaining property by false pretenses and being a habitual felon last week in Davie County Superior Court.

Judge Howard R. Greeson Jr. sentenced Jerry Doyle Dwiggins to 313 to 398 months in prison, which means more than 26 years.

Dwiggins had been convicted of two counts of uttering forged checks in 1983, two counts of forgery in 1989 and possession of a stolen vehicle in 1993, making him a habitual felon, according to Assistant District Attorney Steve Barnhill.

Dwiggins' attorney Wade Leonard questioned the fairness of such a sentence when many are only placed on probation for violent crimes.

Greeson recommended that Dwiggins be granted work release. As a condition of work release, he ordered him to pay $575.30 in restitution to Davie Jewelers and $1,250 in attorney fees.

Davie United Way Kicks Off New Campaign

Helen Gantt is a survivor.

She battled cancer - and won.

Last week, she told her story at the kickoff campaign for the Davie County United Way fund drive. Regularly, she tells her story to other cancer patients.

"I wouldn't be here today thanking you if it wasn't for a lot of wonderful people at Cancer Services," Gantt said. "I appreciate them so terribly, terribly much."

Gantt said she had never given a lot to the United Way, a major source of funding for Cancer Services.

"From now on, when Allen (Martin, Davie United Way director) calls me, I'll be here. I know what Cancer Services has done for me and do for other women and for men."

Gantt was one of four people to speak about how a United Way agency helps.

Melinda Braddy said her family lost all their belongings in a house fire in March.

She had always given to United Way, but didn't really think about where the money was going. When her house burned, the Red Cross was there, offering immediate and long-term help. "We couldn't have gone through this without the Red Cross," she said.

Doris Fowler praised Hospice, who made it possible for her terminally ill husband (Mike) to spend his last days at home.

"During the time he was in the hospital ... his only request was that he come home," she said. "Had it not been for Hospice, we could not have brought him home.

"Hospice was there the day I brought him home, and every day thereafter. If I wanted to ask a question, if I wanted someone to talk to, and if I just wanted to cry, they were there," she said.

Before that, she didn't know about Hospice.

"Until you need them, you don't know who they are or what they are. I have never known anyone so caring and so giving," she said.

Joe Hennigan spoke on behalf of the parents who use the Davie Family YMCA for day care services. United Way helps sponsor scholarships for children there, which now serves 80 children every morning and more than 200 in the afternoons. "The need is increasing," Hennigan said. "They (United Way) help keep our programs affordable."

Neal Smith, president and general campaign chair for 1997/98, said that 1998 is being called the "year of the volunteer." The best place to find volunteers is at agencies supported by United Way, he said.

The campaign received a boost when Ingersoll-Rand gave its corporate donation, a $10,000 check. The goal is $425,000. Smith said it is important for Davie residents who work outside the county and contribute through payroll deductions, to designate the money be sent back to the Davie County United Way, where it can benefit local agencies.

Clarence "Bighouse" Gaines, former Winston-Salem State University basketball coach, gave the group a pep talk.

"Don't put anybody in this campaign who doesn't believe in what you're doing," he said. "Your responsibilities are to get off your rump, go get $425,000.

"Get everybody involved. Each person has to feel that they're a part. Now is the time."

Gaines regularly volunteers in Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, and sees first-hand the benefits of United Way agencies.

"You don't know what it's like to be hungry, but Meals on Wheels is the only meal some of these people get." He is trying to get more Scout troops, and has seen the good work of Hospice and Elderly Services, he said.

Davie County has about 30,000 residents, and all should feel like they're a part of the United Way effort, Gaines said.

War Eagles Win Grueling Battle To Best Start Since '84

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY - Davie's resurgence in football continued to grow Friday night, as did Salisbury's misery.

A grueling 24-13 road victory had significance written all over it for the War Eagles. They snapped a four-game losing streak to Salisbury, beating the Hornets for the first time since 1984, and they're 3-0 for the first time since 1984.

Meanwhile, the Hornets, two years removed from a 12-1 record, are reeling with four straight losses, which have all been delivered by formidable opponents (West Rowan, Albemarle, Concord and Davie).

Coming off a 44-0 rout of North Iredell, the War Eagles had to sweat this one out, plowing forward despite lingering cramps and sickness that eventually sidelined defensive tackle J.J. Rice and safety Scott Cornatzer, two prominent figures on Davie's stout defense.

"We had to fight our tails off to win the game," Coach Benjie Brown of Davie said. "It was a tough win.... We are worn out."

Hard-fought losses have worn out its welcome in Coach Conrad Green's camp, the site of a 64-0 laugher over Davie in 1995, the War Eagles' previous visit.

"We thought we could play with this bunch," Green said, "and we did in spurts. We just have to get out of that mode. We are not playing four quarters of good football."

A lightning bolt named Cedric White struck in the opening seconds for the second consecutive week. After going 52 yards for a touchdown on the game's first play from scrimmage against North Iredell, White jolted the Hornets with a 92-yard kickoff return. And the first of three Eric Kofke extra points gave Davie a 7-0 lead.

"We might have seen some heads hanging after the opening kickoff," Green said.

Brown drills sound special teams.

"I felt like we could win the special teams part of it, and I think we did," he said. "That's part of the game.... You've got to play offense and defense, but the special teams are awfully important."

Davie's defense, which held its ninth straight opponent under 18 points, pitched its seventh consecutive scoreless quarter and led 17-0 heading into the second half, when the Hornets clawed back.

A substantial kickoff return took them near midfield and 10 runs, including gains of 15 yards from Scottie Everhart and 12 from David Martin, positioned them for a 2-yard Martin touchdown run, a score that tumed the momentum and cut Davie's lead to 17-7 after Nick Goodman's point-after kick.

But Salisbury was bound for the juicer when three Hornet defenders failed to jump on White's fumble after a 15-yard run. White somehow managed to pounce on the lonely ball, and Davie resumed nailing the coffin shut.

White eventually scored his second TD, from 3 yards out, but not until Davie converted two clutch third downs. Faced with third and nine at the Salisbury 44, trump card Kenny Collins showed flashes of 1996, taking a reverse 10 yards through traffic. Then White, who surpassed 100 yards rushing for the third straight week, had his third and fourth runs of 10 yards or more on the drive, the last being a 16-yarder over the left tackle on third down that moved his team

Davie Beats Sickness, Cramps To Upend Hornets

SALISBURY – In the backwash of Davie's brutal 24-13 win over Salisbury, fans strolling the field for postgame slaps and hugs could read Coach Conrad Green's body language like a $2 souvenir program.

He's the reluctant boss of an 0-4 Salisbury team, the boss of a team that's stumbled in 12 of its last 14 games, the boss of a team that's learning that games still count more than hype.

After receiving a consoling hug from his wife and after delivering a short pep talk to his son on the eve of a little league football game, Green roasted his staggering team, and himself, harshly.

"It's amazing," he said, chuckling. "These guys talk about doing this and that and haven't done it yet, and I've talked about doing it too and we haven't done it yet. I don't really know what to say right now. We've got to get it together."

Brian Pitts

In the orange and victorious corner, Davie coach Benjie Brown was trying desperately to finger the source of a first-time problem: Why did the pistons lock on tackle J.J. Rice and safety Scott Cornatzer, two of the catalysts on Davie's assertive defense?

A spreading virus evidently drained their batteries.

"I've never been around a team that cramped up," said Brown, dumbfounded. "We've got some kids who are real sick. We've got a flu bug or something going through, and we had a bunch of our boys get real tired and we cramped up. I don't think we're out of shape. We've put enough work and time into it where we shouldn't be."

After absorbing penetrating words during halftime of a 17-0 game, the Hornets found their option-game rhythm on the first series of the third quarter, chewed up over six minutes on an 11-play drive and pulled within 10 points on David Martin's 2-yard sweep.

Davie lost its edge, its shutout and in the process struck one of Brown's raw nerves.

"Our boys lost a little of their intensity at halftime," Brown said. "I don't

Tigers Overcome Power Of Erwin 4-3

South Davie's softball team opened the season playing like a team that might just have the ability to become a contender in the Piedmont Middle School Conference.

The Tigers pulled a fast one here Thursday, rallying twice to knock off traditional power Erwin 4-3.

"Erwin's one of Rowan County's most powerful softball teams. They're always in the top two or three in the standings," Coach Grimes Parker said.

"This was a very exciting game and a real big win for us. Usually, Erwin beats us."

Not this time. Trailing 3-2 in the bottom of the fifth, South's Holly Williams triggered the decisive rally with a bunt single. "It was an excellent bunt," Parker said. Brittany Walker followed with a hit, Samantha Cartner, who was 3 for 3, drove in the game-tying run and a wild pitch brought home Cartner for the difference.

"We held on by the skin of our chin," Parker said. "It was a whole team effort. Everybody came together when we needed it. This victory was for all the girls."

Kristen Durham was steady on the mound, striking out six in her debut, and outfielders Williams and Randi Moore, shortstop Walker, second baseman Christin McClamrock and catcher Casey Doub played vital roles defensively.

"Kristen did a real good job for a seventh grader, and the defense got her out of some jams," Parker said. "Holly made some good plays, Moore made some excellent plays on some line drives, and Walker played a good shortstop. McClamrock played good defense, and Doub did an excellent job behind the plate."

Walker had two hits and Williams, Ryanna McDaniel and Moore had one hit apiece.

Coaches: North Good, South 'So-So'

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

In a scrimmage that determined strengths and uncovered flaws, North Davie received high marks on Coach Ron Kirk's grade scale and Coach Barry Whitlock termed South Davie's showing as so-so.

"I felt pretty good about both teams," Kirk said of his seventh- and eighth-grade football teams. "Our defenses need work but our offenses moved the ball. This showed us a lot of what we need to work on. Cassidy McMahan run good for the eighth grade, and Jon Goode ran good for the seventh."

North's seventh crossed the goal line once and denied South any points, while South's older group struck paydirt three times while smothering North.

"But, to tell you truthfully, I was pleased with my seventh graders more than I was the eighth grade," Whitlock said. "We didn't score but we drove down to about their 25 the first time we had the ball.

"I thought (the eighth graders) were sloppy. We put the ball on the ground two times, and North's eighth has improved. They've got McMahan at tailback and have a couple of big linemen. It was a good test for us."

In eighth-grade action, South went to the air for its first points, a Cody Wright-to-Jason Hogue hookup that covered 30 yards in the air and 65 all told.

Wright's bomb hit a streaking Hogue in stride. "It was right on the money," Whitlock said. Tight end Dave Poplin, a first-year player, made a nifty catch on the two-point conversion.

Lisa Lanier Hoping To Slash Her Way To 2000 Olympics

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Lisa Lanier is a pioneer.

Her list of accomplishments goes on and on.

At the top of that list is the fact that she's alive. Born with Osteo Genesis Imperfecta, or brittle bones, doctors gave her a short time to live. She's outlived their predictions many times, and suffered through more than 100 broken bones in her 26 years.

With the help of her mother, now Vicki Bullard, she made it through Davie County Schools, including driver's education and the band. Lisa Lanier went on to college, graduating from St. Andrews with a degree in philosophy. She lives on her own, in a townhouse she's buying in Winston-Salem, where she works for a law firm.

Lisa Lanier doesn't let the fact that she's confined to a wheelchair stop her from living, and she's leaving her past accomplishments behind, heading for Atlanta.

Lisa Lanier wants to be in the Olympics, and this week she's moving to Atlanta to train. No job. No permanent place to live. But it's the place to be if you're disabled and want to train for the big show - the 2000 Paralympics in Sydney, Australia.

Her sport? Fencing.

Lanier brings strength, determination and fire to the traditionally "snooty" sport. After her first win, when you're supposed to salute the maestro (coach) and your opponent, she couldn't hold back clenching her fist and pulling it to her body with a resounding "Yes."

"I have instincts about things," she said. "This could be my next big thing. It was real new. If you're a pioneer, no one knows if you screw up."

The action is quick.

The distance from the swords to the bodies are measured, and then the wheelchairs are locked into place. There's no retreating. It's combat, one on one. The swords and suits are equipped with electronic devices that record when scores are made, usually within seconds.

It's a chance for Lanier to release some of her competitive spirit. "I don't care if I'm losing 14-1, they're going to have to work to get that last point," she said. "I could never participate in sports because I could break something. I'm really competitive. I've always wanted to do something and couldn't, so this was a good opportunity."

> "If I don't go, I would always wonder what if, and I don't want that. I really think this is going to be a huge wheelchair sport."
> - Lisa Lanier

In the fall of 1995, Lanier's name came up with Mike Boyd, president of the Winston-Salem Fencing Club, and Mike Phillips of the disabled person's network. They asked her to try it, and she jumped at the chance.

"I started fencing right then. I'm the only one in the state. I'm still the only one in the state," she said. She practiced with able-bodied fencers, but there aren't many of those in this area, either.

There are only seven disabled female fencers nationwide who have competed, and not all of those are confined to a wheelchair.

Lanier hopes the sport picks up interest with others in a wheelchair. She's already ranked fourth in the country, with the top three making the Olympic team, but would love to see more competition. "What's most important to me, besides going to the Paralympics, is making sure this sport grows."

Players Suffer Through Virus While Fans Get Football Mania

know whether it was the humidity or what, but mentally we weren't as sharp as we wanted to be. We are going to have to overcome that and become a better team."

But instead of losing their grip, the War Eagles responded like a relentless champion. Staring at a three-and-out series that would have reversed the momentum, tailback Cedric White sprung free through a hole wide enough for a Bronco on third and four. Before the 15-yard run to Davie's 42-yard line was complete, White fumbled amid three Hornets. White recovered and the Hornets paid a stiff price.

White surges of 12, 10 and 16 yards and a Kenny Collins 10-yard reverse on third and nine secured Salisbury a date with infamy. White scored from the 3 with 19 seconds left in the third, mushrooming the lead to 17 points.

"I knew he would get some (yards), and he did," Green said of the back who rushed for 102 yards on 20 carries. "He got good tailback yardage. He broke some plays. He got big chunks at times and we stuffed him at times."

Brown put the passing game into his mental incinerator and played smash-mouth football.

"We didn't want to take a chance on another (interception)," he said. "We just drew up in a shell and tried to protect our lead. We weren't trying to get too fancy until we had to get fancy."

He had to on third and long at the Salisbury 44, where Collins introduced himself to the crowd with his trademark reverse.

When asked about the ace in the hole, Brown's explanation was beautifully simple. "I just felt like they were overplaying our sweeps tremendously, and we had to do something about it," he said. "It looked good because we took care of the football. But if we would have put it on the ground, it would have looked like a bad call. We did what we felt like we had to do to win the game."

With Cornatzer and Rice on the sideline for body repairs, part-time players became full-time soldiers with the task of keeping the wheels between the lines.

These were tense moments, the closest thing to a crisis that Davie has experienced. Matt James, a strong safety, moved into Cornatzer's free-safety shoes and took care of almost every loose end. Linemen B.J. Johnson and Ronnie Blackburn added more glue.

"They did a great job," linebacker coach Scott Young said. "Those guys did a great job of coming in, and we were able to (hold on). Hat's off to our kids. They did what we asked them to do and were able to get the win, and that's the main thing."

James, in perhaps his best game yet, was tougher than a door knob. One invigorated fan counted eight tackles in the fourth quarter alone.

His fingerprints were found all over earlier ball carriers.

"Matt had an outstanding game," Brown said. "We tried to put him in a position where he could be in on a lot of plays. With Scott getting cramps, his role became even more important. He was able to slide in (at free safety) and compensate."

In the sweaty aftermath of the War Eagles' ninth win in their last 10 games, some enraptured fans and demanding players felt utterly unfulfilled about a convincing 11-point win over a talented team. Brown overheard the moans and groans and addressed the growing issue.

"The sad thing that has developed is that our kids, after the game, didn't feel like they were successful," he said. "They won the game and a lot of them were disappointed. Some people have higher expectations than what they need to put on our kids.

"We won the game, but some of them were disappointed that we gave up two touchdowns. We won the game, but we didn't beat them 40-something to nothing. A win is a win."

Weekly wins are increasingly winning over hundreds of hard-charging hearts, a growing chorus that yearns for the jugular of each passing challenger. In other words, football mania has reached Mocksville.

Wildcats Rally To Victory

It certainly wasn't pretty, as North Davie volleyball coach Trish King readily admitted.

Staring defeat in the face Thursday at Calvary, which stunned North 15-3 in the first game and led 10-6 during the second of a best-of-3 series, the Wildcats' light bulb came on and they prevailed (3-15, 16-14, 15-13).

"I kept telling them not to give up," King said. "And finally, something clicked. We passed better and served much better."

North lost style points, but improved to 3-0.

"It wasn't pretty," said King, whose girls were caught sleepwalking during game one. "I didn't think we got off the van. Mentally, we were not there. We hit out of bounds, into the net and we didn't serve good. We went around the rotation before we hit a serve in."

King had some choice words between games and shuffled her lineup, sparking the comeback.

"They were real upset," King said. "We regrouped, talked about the things we did wrong and I made changes at four positions."

North rallied in game two and survived the rubber match behind nine points from Christina Gajewski and seven from Holly Marsden.

"We're fortunate to have come out on the winning side," King said, "because nobody played real outstanding. Everybody had their bright spots and (bad) spots.

"But it's a win and we'll count it."

North, South Meet In Scrimmage

Despite that and two Neil Rice TD runs, Kirk applauded his troops, who lost six of seven games as seventh graders.

"For a while, (we held them)," he said. "We kept Rice pretty much intact inside. We didn't do bad."

North's seventh graders penetrated to South's 10 in the opening segment of the scrimmage, but an expired clock halted the potential score. The Wildcats settled for a touchdown later on.

Kirk counted the first threat as points, increasing the margin to two touchdowns in his mind.

"Actually, we should've scored twice," he said. "We were inside the 10 but we had to switch teams. We probably would have scored and won that phase 14-0."

South was somewhat crippled by the absence of halfback Michael Clement, who was suspended, putting most of the running load on Ben Allred.

"We didn't have our starting halfback, and he's the best running back I've got," Whitlock said. "Ben ran the ball hard on that first drive. He had a couple of five-, six- and seven-yard runs, and that's the way our season is going to have to be. We can't pass the ball."

Despite being held scoreless, South benefited from the experience.

"Defensively, we've got a lot of work to do," Whitlock said. "It was a good learning experience because they're used to little league. I found some good things. We didn't have any turnovers."

Quarterback Brian Hunter of South poses little of a passing threat, but he ran the team smoothly.

"I thought he did pretty good," Whitlock said. "We didn't fumble any snaps and none of the backs went the wrong way or anything, something you would expect in the first game."

A heavy downpour of rain on Sept. 10 forced the coaches to make altered plans for the second year in a row, but Whitlock favors the friendly scrimmage.

"I don't know how parents like the game like that, but as far as coaches I like it," he said. "I think Ron enjoys it, too, because there's no pressure."

Cross Country Teams Leave Opponents In Rear-View Mirror

Davie's cross country teams continued its mastery of the hilly and dirt roads last week, leaving Forbush and North Davidson considerably behind in the rear-view mirror en route to blowout wins.

The boys scored a perfect 15 for the second meet in a row as Forbush and North clocked in with 46 and 76 points, respectively. The girls' 24 was easily better than Forbush's 53 and North's 54.

"We worked real hard last week in practice, and I'm pleased with how we responded," Coach Cary Powers said.

They worked hard in the rain last Wednesday. Dark clouds dumped rain on the Pinebrook course, forcing officials to shorten the race.

"But you take our times and convert them, then we still did a whole lot better," Powers said. "So we're getting better."

Davie's Jerrine Peeler gave winner Kristen Foltz of North a run for her money, finishing six seconds behind and in second at 17:30. With Colleen Brooks out sick, Peeler and others tied up the loose ends.

"Other people stepped up and responded," Powers said. "Jerrine had a chance (for first) until the end. She showed a lot of composure since she's just a sophomore, and Foltz is a senior and was expected to win. She gave her more of a push than I think Foltz expected."

Powers worried something awful about leaving someone out of his praising speech. He recalled almost everyone.

"Sidra Ledford and Caroline Steed continued to improve," he said. "Megan Mick and Elise Whitaker ran exceptionally well and Laurie Desch ran well.

"I hate to leave anybody out, because all of them improved tremendously."

Ledford was third in 17:35, Desch fifth in 18:05, Steed sixth in 18:13, Mick eighth in 18:39 and Whitaker ninth in 18:48.

In the boys' romp, Garick Hill (12:54), Marshall Pitts (13:28), Shannon Mayhew (14:10), Jason Neese (14:43) and John Clevenger (14:53) occupied the top-five slots and Justin Pullen (15:10) finished eighth.

They also overcame a missing cog, Jamie Neese, a regular top-10 runner who was out with bronchitis.

"Clevenger stepped up and had a super meet," Powers said. "Of course, Hill, Pitts, Mayhew and Jason Neese ran their usual strong races, and Pullen ran well. And Billy Jones has improved since the first day."

Powers finally summed up the wet and one-sided day.

"There wasn't anybody that I was displeased with, and that's rare," he said.

DHS Tennis Team Continues Improvement

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie tennis coach Carol Cozart put a positive spin on a week that had no spin at all.

After bowing to Mt. Tabor 9-0 on Sept. 8, the War Eagles showed improved play in an 8-1 loss to Reynolds here Wednesday.

Powell

"We actually played much better," Cozart said. "Everybody came off the court and their response was: 'She was really good and I played well. If I would have played that well against Tabor, things would have been different.'

"So I hope that's one of the positive things we learned (last) week, that we just need to play as hard as we can and not accept that the team is just too tough. We knew it was going to be a tough week. I hope we came out of it with a little better resolve to what we can do."

Sarah Stein and Nancy Vogler did what no other War Eagle could do last week, win a match. The No. 3 doubles team slipped past their Reynolds' opponents 8-6.

"They did pretty good," Cozart said. "I was real pleased with them because that was a tough match for them, and they managed to pull it out."

Davie was doomed from the time Mt. Tabor filed off the van. The Spartans' rich history played mind games with the War Eagles.

"This is a rebuilding year for Mt. Tabor, and I thought we should have done better," Cozart said. "I felt like we were more evenly matched and that we should have gotten some of those matches.

"Mt. Tabor and its long history, winning tradition and so forth, obviously was on our minds."

Cozart was encouraged by the return of durable Kristen Powell, a returning starter who entered the fold for the first time last Wednesday at No. 4 singles.

A severely injured ankle has lingered for weeks, but there's little that can hold this junior back.

"I was delighted," Cozart said of Powell's long-awaited return. "She had maybe 80 percent of what her movements were, but she still has that same aggressiveness. She still comes to the net, doing all those things that she was doing.

"She is a competitive person anyway. She had the toughest match in singles and they were right on serve until it got to be 5-6, and the girl seemed to go from that point. I was very pleased with her match."

Cozart can spot positives in the darkest moments.

"We've got Kristen back now and we're going to get (injured) Molly Koontz back pretty soon, so things are looking up," she said.

Davie Team Off To Roller-coaster Start In CPC Play

Davie's varsity volleyball team experienced a roller-coaster ride during the Central Piedmont Conference's first week, hitting a valley in a loss to Reynolds and climbing up in a win over South Stokes here Thursday.

"We played better at times," said Coach Tammy Reavis after a 13-15, 16-14, 2-15, 15-8, 15-9 win over the Sauras. "We're just up and down. We can't get our momentum going.

"We're going to come together before long."

Reavis received strong efforts from freshman Heather Schleupner and senior Kim Anderson.

"Heather did a good job stepping up (to varsity) and she played real well," Reavis said. "Kim played real well and (setter Leann Spillman) is doing a good job, although she's having to run all over the court."

Outside of a third-game win against Reynolds (1-15, 6-15, 15-6, 6-15), Davie struggled miserably.

"We played good one game, but the rest of the time we didn't play real well," Reavis said.

In nonconference action, Davie flirted with disaster against North Davidson but survived a tightly contested fifth game to pull out the win (15-4, 11-15, 15-12, 13-15, 15-12).

"They're decent, real consistent," Reavis said of North. "We played sluggish but real good at times.

"It was a little scary, though, (after dropping game four). We had trouble serving that game."

JVs Off To Strong Start

Davie lost to North Davidson (5-15, 10-15) but won the matches that mattered most, the CPC duels.

Davie topped Reynolds (15-3, 1-15, 15-11) and South Stokes (15-6, 9-15, 15-12) to leap atop the conference standings at 2-0.

Davie's potent starting lineup, which performs in the first and third matches, didn't lose a game.

The reliable group is Amanda Bailey, Sarah Jackson, Tara Young, Brooke Gravatt, Tisa Campbell and Mary Beth Dinkins. Reserve Kim Hilton also excelled. "Brooke played real well at the net," Coach Leo Brunelli said.

JV Soccer Team Battles North Iredell For 2-0 Win

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

The easy time that Davie's JV soccer team was supposed to have with the North Iredell Raiders turned into a full-fledged battle.

Davie won 2-0 at North on Sept. 9, but the War Eagles were clinging to a precarious lead until Mitchell Garner drained a shot off a Ryan Barnes pass with just two minutes left, long after the team was expected to have put the match away.

"North wasn't the best team we've faced by far," said Coach Sean Garnett, whose club also bounced Forbush 3-1 to remain unbeaten at 4-0.

"We really played down to their level. We just didn't show up. I'm going to have a heart attack because we keep hanging on, hanging on. If we keep this up, we'll start getting beat."

Before Garner provided the icing, the Raiders were seriously threatening to tie the score.

"They were coming down our throats like crazy," Garnett said. "But we held on with another pretty goal on a cross (from Barnes) and a header (from Garner)."

Justin Long put Davie in front with a first-half goal from 25 yards out. He scorched it.

"He's getting more active," Garnett praised. "He dribbled through the midfield and ripped it. It was a good shot. Like I've said before, he is really doing great for us."

Davie 3, Forbush 1

Davie buried Forbush behind two goals from Barnes and one from James Pittman.

Garner found Pittman for a first-half goal that sent the teams into halftime tied at 1-1.

"The ball was bouncing around the box and he finished it," Garnett said. "He's been trying to get over a knee injury, and he's starting to come along."

The score remained tied until the first of two goals from Barnes, whose header from Travis Ervin broke the tie. "It was real pretty, the prettiest goal of the day," Garnett said.

Luis Soto assisted on the other Barnes score.

• The coach praised Ricky Bentley, a sturdy wall at keeper. "The only goals all year have been direct kicks," he said. "Bentley has been doing real well. Goalie is not is first choice, but he's sticking in there and I'm real happy." ... Garnett finally took Soto out of the match, against his will. "Luis was everywhere," he said. "He's a warrior. I had to take him out at the end because he was hobbling. It was a war." .... Pete Gustafson's varsity squad didn't play last week because of three cancellations for various reasons.

War Eagles Beat Salisbury For Third Straight Win

to the 3. One play later, Davie led 24-7 with 19 ticks left in the third.

By the time Salisbury scored the game's final points, only 3:46 remained. Quarterback Michael Blount, an unpolished sophomore who threw two interceptions, finally connected with a teammate to trigger the scoring march. Tight end Robert Ketcham ran a streak pattern and caught Blount's pass, just his second completion in 12 attempts, in stride and ran 42 yards to Davie's 29. Everhart scored from 8 yards out on a sweep.

Davie's attacking defense set up its second touchdown. Midway through the first quarter, Blount rolled right to avoid heavy pressure and unleashed a high-arcing pass toward Everhart. But safety Matt James reached high and snagged the ball, his first pick of the season, to hand his team possession at the Hornet 30.

The Drew Ridenhour-to-Charles Miller hookup covered most of that ground on a four-play scoring drive. On a sideline route, Miller bobbled a pass before corralling a 23-yard reception. He had no such trouble on a 6-yard slant with 3:14 left in the first, the third TD reception of Miller's short wide-receiver career that extended the lead to 14-0.

James

Kofke

Ridenhour, a promising sophomore, soon made the first noticeable mistake of his quarterbacking career, an interception by Joe Angie on an ill-advised pass. He streaked 45 yards and White's saving tackle at the Davie 3 became monumental when the dust cleared. The Hornets never scored. In fact, they went the wrong way, wiping out a touchdown on a holding penalty and losing five yards when Blount was rushed heavily by Rice and sacked by Kenny White. Goodman's 32-yard field goal was considerably short and wide right.

"Of course getting in from the 1-yard line might have changed things, but that's not anybody's fault but our own," said an irritated Green.

Davie took over at its own 20 and two faces that occasionally get lost in the shuffle, fullback Jonathon Creason and reserve tailback Ricky White, played vital roles in a long drive that set up a Kofke field goal and a 17-0 halftime lead.

Hugging the ball with two hands, Creason, who sat out the North Iredell game with a deeply bruised shoulder, lumbered 23 yards running straight ahead and Ricky White traveled 42 yards on consecutive runs over the left side, taking Davie to the Salisbury 9.

Davie bogged down and called for Kofke, who crushed a 38-yard field goal. "(That) was a big part of the game," Brown said. By the time the game ended, Kofke became Davie's second-leading scorer behind Cedric White's six TDs, making his third field goal of the year from at least 36 yards.

Get Fired Up: Pep Rally Set Prior To N. Wilkes Game

Jeff Ward, Davie's seventh-year secondary coach, wore a helmet and pads the last time the War Eagles started a season with four straight wins.

Coach Bill Peeler's 8-2-1 1973 team opened with wins over West Rowan, South Stokes, North Stanly and South Iredell, and the contemporary War Eagles will seek a similar start Friday night, when the North Wilkes Vikings, a 2-A team from the Mountain Valley Conference, visit War Eagle Stadium at 7:30 p.m. This will be the first meeting between the teams.

On paper, Davie is huge favorite against the 1-2 Vikings, but stranger things have happened.

"You talk to your kids about playing up to their level every time they go out," Coach Benjie Brown said. "You approach each game in a business-like manner, whether it's an easy game or a hard game.

"It's more of a business instead of a game is what we try to treat it like, and take each opponent serious and don't overlook them."

Brown doesn't fear a letdown from his troops.

"I'm going to be surprised if our kids overlook this team. I hope they don't," he said.

"They are good enough where any given night if we don't play well – put the ball on the ground and don't play good defense – things could happen and lose the game."

Crotts, who visited the doctor on Monday, is doubtful for Friday.

Davie High Vs. North Wilkes

When: Friday, Sept. 19
Time: 7:30 p.m. (Pep rally, 6:30 on practice field)
Where: War Eagle Stadium, Hwy. 601 S., Mocksville

"I don't know how serious he is at this point, but it's not a fracture," Brown said. "I talked to his mom and she said he has not been in any pain, there's no swelling or anything. I don't think it's going to be something that will keep him out a long time."

Last year's magic coupled with this year's surge has created a stir around Davie's campus, which will begin to shake an hour before game time Friday night when Shannon Allred's cheerleaders perform a pep rally on the practice field. Allred is urging fans to attend.

"Some people are doing things to encourage school spirit," Brown said. "Fan support and school spirit are pretty good right now anyway. I hope it continues and I hope we'll keep people interested."

• In the last 19 years, five other Davie teams (in 1978, '79, '80, '82 and '84) started the year 3-0 before suffering losses to Thomasville, Brown's alma mater, each time.

Bryan Eagle, David Smith Win Pigskin Prognosticating Contest

By Dwight Sparks
Contest Director

He wasn't by the telephone when the call of his life came. He wasn't at home. He had left no message.

There was no way to tell Bryan Eagle that he was .... THE WINNER! He had won the Enterprise-Record football contest. We had to postpone the opportunity for him to bask in the glow of that victory. We could have made his day, made his week, made his year ... indeed, made his life, just a little sooner.

Like the people who enter Publisher's Clearinghouse sweepstakes, our contest players have that same anticipation of being rich. Of rolling in the cash. Only this is no sweepstakes. This is not a simple enter-and-hope scheme. The football contest matches wit and skill with luck and fortune.

Winning the football contest is a real accomplishment. Something one would mention in his autobiography, in his obituary, as he reviews his life's work.

It's that big.

There was no trouble reaching second place winner DAVID H. SMITH.

We reached him at Ingersoll Rand, and he hadn't taken his ear plugs out. "A thousand dollars?" he said.

Well, no ... Ten dollars. PRETTY GOOD, HUH?

"I feel pretty good," he said. Life is good these days. His younger son, Brad Smith, is a junior tight end for the Davie War Eagles, number 92. The team is undefeated. He and his wife, Patsy, also have another son, Bryan, 26.

And now he has all this money.

"I don't know what I'll do. Probably take my wife on vacation."

He won a couple years ago, also second place. And he's searching for the big money.

He was denied this time by one point on the tie-breaker. Kicked out of the money was Mike Alexander of Cooleemee, also missing six. Alexander picked all the NFL games correctly. Eagle picked all the prep games right.

And now for our coveted non-cash awards:

BASKETBALL AWARD — to Alan Moon, missing 18, with honorable mention to Ruth Anne Hiatt, missing 17.

FLASH IN THE PAN AWARD — to Kenny Johnson, second place last week, missing 15 this week.

WORST PICK OF THE WEEK AWARD — to Bonnie Maness, Denise Potts and Jerry Roeder, for picking Duke, the major college team with the longest losing streak, to beat anybody.

VISIONARY AWARD — to those picking Purdue to beat Notre Dame — Becky Hendrix, Kim Riley, Carl Jordan.

PREP FOOTBALL EXPERTS — to those picking all the high school games correctly, Bryan Eagle, Vernon Thompson, S.B. Sidden Jr., Billy Hendrix Jr., Conrad Chappell and Charlie Johnson.

FAMILY AFFAIR — it is a proven fact that the family that plays the football contest together, stays together. Entire families enter the contest. Mother, father, sisters, brothers, aunts and uncles. In a three-way battle between the Moon family, the Serfass family and the Lookabills, the Lookabills emerged as winners. Julie Lookabill missed seven. The Serfass record — Billy, 10; Stephen 12; Crystall, 14; Bill, 13. The Moons — Jimmy, 12; Amanda, 13; Sandra, 14; Alan, 18.

CLOSE BUT NO CIGAR AWARD — To Mike Alexander (6), Julie Lookabill (7), and missing eight, Randy Miller, Kim Lakey, Tim Elmore, Corey Wood, Steve Frye, Vernon Thompson, S.B. Sidden Jr., Renee Jackson.

CONTEST PLAYER IN TRAINING — To Dustin Jordan of Cooleemee. The 9-year-old missed 13.

In closing, the Contest Director must issue this gentle reminder: The object of the game is to pick the winners, not the losers. There were still a few entrants who picked Salisbury to beat Davie County.

Some of our players have been slow to realize the 1997 War Eagles are the real thing. The Davie game has become one of the contest gimmies. This week Davie plays North Wilkes, not Starmount, as had been originally scheduled. Starmount mysteriously found a conflict in its schedule. North Wilkes was a last minute substitute. Our prediction: Davie 56-0.

JV War Eagles Fall Victim To Salisbury's Wishbone Offense 12-6

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

David Hunt, Davie's assistant football coach, accepted the JV team's 12-6 loss here Thursday to Salisbury philosophically, citing fullback Johnny Daye's emergency promotion to the varsity as a severe blow.

Varsity fullbacks Jonathon Creason and Melvin Williams have battled injuries, leaving their status in the fog heading into last Friday, and the coaching staff was forced to strip a vital weapon from the junior varsity's offense.

"Part of the (loss) is the coaching staff's fault," Hunt conceded. "(Taking Daye up) hampered the offense a little bit."

Couple that with Salisbury's complicated offense, the wishbone, and Davie was in for a long night, especially with limited preparation.

"The wishbone is a difficult offense to prepare for in three days," Hunt said. "To be honest with you, we put a lot more time in preparing the varsity. We didn't have the whole repertoire of defenses in to put against it. I thought the kids played fairly hard."

Jeffrey Anderson, a tight end, made an impromptu move to fullback and helped tailback Mikey Arnold tally over 150 yards rushing, including the lone touchdown.

"Anderson had two days of work, and that's not really the kind of preparation you need (at fullback)," Hunt said. "Mikey ran the ball real, real well, and when you really don't have that fullback in front of you in an I-formation it's kind of tough to run the ball real, real well."

Davie withstood a furious Salisbury storm on the opening drive, stuffing the Hornets inside Davie's 10 before giving them a second chance on an Arnold fumble after a substantial gain.

"They got the ball and just marched it down the field," Hunt said. "I mean, they just slugged us in the mouth."

The fumble gave the Hornets possession at the Davie 20, where they began a go-ahead drive. A failed two-point conversion kept Davie's hole at 6-0.

The score stood up until the early minutes of the fourth quarter, when Arnold scored a game-tying touchdown. But with kicker Jory Rankin's ankle injury, Davie was forced to go for two points.

That failed, Salisbury promptly drove the field and clinched a win with a late score.

"They took it and just hammered us again with about a minute left," said Hunt, who promised that Salisbury will be heard from in the future.

"They've got an outstanding array of athletes with tremendous size and quickness. They are going to be good in a couple of years."

Hunt implied that Davie will have to continue to rely on technique over superior talent.

"These kids are going to have to learn that technique is going to be their key to success," he said. "They aren't blessed with the greatest athletic ability in the world, but we are going to get there."

Rod Tenor had another superb game at receiver and Jeremy Shoffner continued to shine at defensive back. But Davie missed Rankin's presence on the defensive line.

"That hurt us some when he went down in the second quarter," Hunt said. "That took away what little experience we had on the line."

Hunt also blamed the loss on several sputtered drives deep in Salisbury's territory.

"We got inside the 20 three or four times and just couldn't get it in. It was one of those deals," he said.

Wildcats Pound Red Imps 25-4

Before the North Davie-Mooresville softball game, both coaches decided to enforce an hour, 45-minute time limit.

By the time the Wildcats finished their work, that was probably much too long for the Red Imps, who were driven in the ground 25-4 in four innings.

This was a splendid season opener for North coach Jamie Lyerly. "Everyone played, the defense was good and we hit the ball well," she said.

Stacey Handy guided her team, pitching two shutout innings and getting two singles. Ashley Williams and Layne Grout also joined the two-hit parade, and Jenna Richie, Dawn Singleton and Lauren Cornatzer had one hit each.

Amanda Sink pitched the third and fourth innings in relief.

Mocksville Rams Fall To Cooleemee

Cooleemee's varsity football team toppled the Mocksville Rams 18-8 Saturday.

Coach Ted Kaiser of the Rams was pleased with the performances of tailback Michael Mashore, tight end Jamon Jefferies, fullback/noseguard Mitchell Roberts and defensive end/quarterback Andrew McClannon.

JV Rams Clobber Redskins In 30-0 Win

Shady Grove's varsity football team blanked W.R. Davie 14-0 Saturday behind Derek Cornatzer's 93 yards rushing on 11 carries.

The Bulldogs also got 37 yards from Justin Brown, 35 from Troy Brooks and 26 from Justin Norsworthy.

Cornatzer and Malachi Gentry had interceptions and Zackary Jacobs and Brown led in tackles for Shady Grove, which had three touchdowns called back for penalties. Special teams also played a big role, as the Bulldogs recovered two unharmed kickoffs.

Coach Mike Seaford commended Thomas Schaumbach, Christian Johnson and Brian Goughrour for their efforts.

Shady Grove Blanks William R. Davie

The Mocksville Rams JV football team clobbered the Cooleemee Redskins 30-0 Saturday.

Coach Daniel Brown hopes that this is a step in the right direction, preferably toward the level of Cooleemee, which has captured the league title three of the last four years.

"First, let me give honor to God," Brown said. "Cooleemee has an excellent program and their coaches are exceptional. We are trying to build our program to be as competitive as Cooleemee's, as well as the other teams in the league.

"We had a great game, and we knew we had to. We had players that played super, including defensive guard Garret Parks and running back/linebacker Reshaun Parks. A lot of the fourth graders stepped up, (especially) running back Tim Allen and Tony Booe on defense. All the team members played great."

Exhibition Game Planned In Mocksville

The Wake Forest Black and Gold game, a baseball intrasquad exhibition, has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 27 at Rich Park in Mocksville.

The Black and Gold game will be preceded by a youth clinic with the Demon Deacons at 5:45 p.m., which will give the Wake Forest players and coaches an opportunity to instruct youngsters in batting, fielding, pitching and base running. Following the clinic, the Wake Forest players will take part in a home-run derby at 6:45 p.m.

George Greer, now in his 17th season of coaching on the collegiate level, is in his 11th season as the Wake Forest coach. He has a 446-357 overall record, including a 340-235 mark with the Deacons.

Wheels Makes Basketball Cards

The word is out; the thunder rolls...basketball rules...and Wheels Rookie Thunder Basketball rocks.

Conceived, designed and assembled by many of the same people who put together some of the most successful basketball products of the early '90s, Rookie Thunder represents a major step forward for the Mocksville cardmaker previously known only for a series of racing sets.

"We're more than that," says Wheels CEO Dan Correll. "We're an integrated sports-collectibles company, a public company, and a company dedicated to making the highest-quality trading cards possible. One look at Rookie Thunder ought to confirm all those points."

Rookie Thunder doesn't skimp on high-quality card components he said. Each card is printed on 24-point board and features multiple player images--a rarity for draft-pick sets. In addition, each card is UV-coated and foil-stamped.

Two subsets add star punch to the basic set. The six cards of Take Two are actually three two-card panels that reunite college teammates Ron Mercer and Derek Anderson (Kentucky), Bobby Jackson and John Thomas (Minnesota), and Scot Pollard and Jacque Vaughn (Kansas).

The Young Guns subset features players who opted to enter the draft early. The cast of characters includes Mercer as well as Colorado's Chauncey Billups, high-schooler Tracy McGrady, Villanova's Tim Thomas, and Michigan's Maurice Taylor.

If you take on Rookie Thunder's chase program in a friendly game of one-on-one, here's what you'll find:

Rising Storm (1:12 packs), a bold hobby-only parallel, and its retail-only counterpart, Storm Front (1:12);

Shooting Stars (1:11), which features the best shooters in this year's rookie class--everyone from Chauncey Billups and Brevin Knight to Tim Duncan and Keith Van Horn--on cards layered with etched holographic foil;

Thunder Boomers (1:28) which spotlights big men, leading with Duncan and including Van Horn, Tony Battie, Danny Fortson and Tracy McGrady, on die-cut acrylic cards (Hobby only);

Double Trouble (1:42), two-sided-embossed, two-fronted cards that pair up Duncan and Van Horn, McGrady and Mercer, Tim Thomas and Fortson, Billups and Jacque Vaughn, Knight and Bobby Jackson, and the draft's two premier big men, Duncan and Battie;

Lights Out (1:96), where five players who can shoot out the lights--Billups, Van Horn, Duncan, Mercer and Antonio Daniels--are featured on cards printed with phosphorescent inks so they glow in the dark; and Thunder Ball (1:216), which pairs chunks of official basketball leather die-cut images of Duncan, Van Horn, Billups, Daniels, Battie, Mercer, Thomas, Adonal Foyle, McGrady and Fortson.

Rookie Thunder gives you authentic Thunder Stroke autographs of all the top players. Our Take Ten autograph program puts a chance at an authentic Thunder Stroke autographed card into every pack.

Each pack will contain either a blue Take Ten autograph-qualification card or a red Take Ten "trigger" card. Collectors who get nine blue Take Ten qualification cards of a player and one red Take Ten "trigger" card of the same player can exchange the 10 cards for an authentic Thunder Stroke autographed card of that player. Players featured include Tim Duncan, Keith Van Horn, Ron Mercer, and many more.

"The look and feel of this set is simply outstanding," Correll said. "We hope it gives basketball collectors an idea of the work we've been doing in racing. In fact, the 'Rookie Thunder' name is the name we gave our first racing product."

Rookie Thunder Basketball will be available in early October. It has a suggested retail price of $2.49/pack.

On Her Way: Lanier Aims For Olympics

The sport is new here, but is established overseas, especially in France. "There's a lot of tradition," she said. "There more you win, the more respect you have. It's a very snooty sport, very dignified ... hard to get in. You're supposed to salute your opponents. You're not supposed to have any emotion, but when I won my first bout ...

"It takes a lot of finesse and skill and speed, but you could be a big, huge man vs. a little woman and the little woman wins. You can do this sport and be the underdog and whup up," Lanier said.

Lanier has already begun her training, dieting and working with weights. It's even more difficult to lose weight when you're in a wheelchair, and there aren't many places for her to work out.

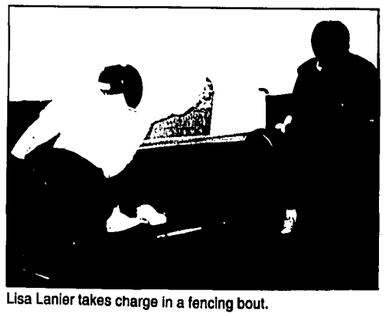
Enter Atlanta.

She's going to live with another disabled fencer until she gets a full-time job and place of her own. And there's the Shepherd Center, a complete gym designed for the disabled. You can count on seeing her there almost daily. She hopes to make the swim team, as well.

"I'm already in debt, and I've got a job ... but if I don't go, I would always wonder what if, and I don't want that," she said. "I really think this is going to become a huge wheelchair sport. It's just going to take a while. And Atlanta is one of the most accessible and disabled friendly cities in America."

She will work with her coach on Mondays, and fence with friends on Wednesdays. On Tuesdays and Thursdays she'll lift weights. A demanding schedule, but one you have to expect from a potential Olympic athlete.

"I have my reservations and I'm nervous, but you only live once," she said.



Lisa Lanier takes charge in a fencing bout.

Lanier sports the first medal she won at a bout.

Lanier is ranked fourth in the nation, and the top three fencers will make the Olympic team.

"You only live once," says Lanier as she puts on her fencing gear and prepares to for a move to Atlanta where she will train for the 2000 Paralympics in Sydney, Australia.

Night Breeze

Davie Doctor Finds Making Music Relaxing

Festival Musician

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

ADVANCE - There's a fiddle on the wall at Dr. Tom Jolly's home. It belonged to his grandfather, Dewey Frederick Dowell, a champion fiddler from Union Grove.

That ability to make music was handed down, but the music his grandfather made was as different from Jolly's as night is to day.

Jolly, a family practice physician in Winston-Salem, is a member of the band Night Breeze, along with Dr. Jeff Young, a Virginia surgeon. Jolly plays keyboards and mixes the musical tracks via computer and keyboards, and Young plays saxaphone.

They'll play at 1 p.m. Saturday at Festival on the Square in downtown Mocksville, as well as Thursday evening at Corpening Plaza in Winston-Salem, and Friday and Saturday nights at The Cellar.

"I work hard, a very stressful environment," Jolly said. "I can put on these headphones and make up music and float away. I can play for six hours and it feels like it's 15 minutes."

He calls the music pure contemporary jazz rock, new adult contemporary, quiet storm, smooth jazz or whatever the current catch phrase is. Fusion is a better word, a fusion of jazz, rock, pop, R&B, hip-hop, gospel and funk. It's a fusion of the influences on his musical career, from The Allman Brothers to Gino Vanelli to Edgar Winter to SpyroGrya.

Jolly's interest in music started in junior high. He had taken organ lessons earlier, and played occasionally in church, but wasn't really interested.

"I met some guys who played by ear, and I thought that was pretty cool," he said. Jolly picked up on some tricks to learn playing by ear, and during high school and college, he played keyboards for rock bands.

He got "bored" with rock music. He got bored playing for drunk, unappreciative fans in bars. And he got even more bored with the lifestyle.

So he went to medical school, selling all of his music equipment.

He learned quickly that was a mistake. After three months, he was making music again, this time with MIDI - computer equipment that allows him to digitally record one track at a time.

In 1990, he met Young, a saxaphone player and fellow doctor, and they "clicked." "We had this vision of playing some tunes and doing an album," he said.

That first album is a reality, called "On Call." It's sold about a thousand copies.

Because of their busy family and medicine lives, Night Breeze doesn't perform very often. Jolly thinks the Mocksville festival is the perfect place for their music to be heard.

According to both doctors:

"Music is medicine for the soul. It evokes moods and elicits emotions, allowing us to laugh cry, feel happy or

Ceramic Art

Mocksville Couple Among The Best In North Carolina

Festival Artist

Horseramics.

Tricia Hardy is an expert at the art, making and painting custom ceramic designs of people's horses.

The award-winning artist, who operates MAD Ceramics in Mocksville with her husband, Jeff, creates many more pieces than horses. There are dogs, and Santas, and angels, and one of her favorites, Indians. You name it, she can cast it and paint it.

Owning a shop is a dream come true for Hardy, a fine arts graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University and fashion illustration graduate of the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts.

"I thought it was cheating if it came out of a mold," she said.

She painted a rabbit for a friend.

"That one piece hooked me. I realized how much detail you can put into one piece. My mother also got hooked from that first piece."

She worked for more than 20 years as an illustrator, and also kept ceramic painting as a hobby.

They moved here in 1986. Two years later they bought the shop, located off Milling Road.

Jeff makes the slip, the liquid clay that forms the mold, using the "JRs" name, a formula designed by J.R. Campbell, using clay from a mine on the Kentucky/Tennessee border, and adding talcum powder and water. The formula changes based on humidity and temperature.

After making the slip, you must pour the molds, and when dry, clean the seam lines and put detail back with cleaning tools. It's hard work, with some molds weighing a hundred pounds or more. "You've got to really like this kind of work, because it's hard," she said.

The greenware, as it's called at this stage, is fired in a kiln to 2000° F. to harden it to the bisque stage. It is fired again to make the glaze stage. Firing can take most of the day for the heating and cooling of the kiln.

"There are hundreds of techniques to finish a piece," he said. You can paint or glaze the pieces at just about any stage to get a different effect. Some are permanent, and some can be changed if you make a mistake.

"A lot of times I experiment," Mrs. Hardy said. "I custom paint horses and dogs. That's my favorite thing. Indians are my next favorite. I don't want to mass produce anything."

She said the Arts Alive (now Festival on the Square) show is the best of the ones she attends.

MAD Ceramics is a full service studio, catering to retail as well as wholesale customers, and is one of the five largest studios in the state. It is open Tuesday, Wednesday and Fridays from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

"Whenever I'm open, I consider it workshop time," she said. "They can come in and work and I can help them."

These Indian pieces were made by Tricia Hardy, who said she especially enjoys Indian artwork.

Tricia Hardy shows off a plate she painted.

Pino News

By Nora Latham
Pino Correspondent

The guests at Wesley Chapel Sunday were Justin and Ryan Dull, grandsons of Coleen Dull. Next Sunday, we will have the pleasure of having guest speaker, Marie Collins, from the Storehouse for Jesus. We all look forward to hearing her message.

Matthew Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Myers, is recovering from an accident on his 4-wheeler. His wrist was broken and he received several stitches in his chin. We missed him at church Sunday as we remembered him in our prayers.

Mr. Harmon Latham is home and doing well after having a pacemaker put in at Baptist Hospital last week. He would like to thank everyone for the prayers, cards, visits, flowers and gifts that he has received. Also, last week during his illness, his son, Jim from Tabb, Va. visited for a few days.

The United Methodist Women had their September meeting last Wednesday at the church with 6 members present. Dewilla Smith is president. Coleen Dull was hostess. Kathy Ellis presented the program about Christians in China and the missions there. During the business meeting it was decided to have a community breakfast Oct. 18. Chicken pies will be made this week to sell with the proceeds going into the building fund.

Andrea Gentry, a senior at Pfeiffer University, was home for the weekend. Ethan Boger and Joe Sutton, both students at N.C. State University were also home for the weekend.

Recent visitors of James and Lelia Essic were James' cousin, Marilyn Richardson Sizemore, her husband Henry, and their two sons, David and Michael of Albany, Ga. The Sizemores and Essics attended the annual Essic family reunion at Sagebrush Restaurant on Saturday evening, at which time 44 members of the Essic clan and their descendants were present. On Sunday afternoon, the Sizemores and Essics attended the annual mineral show sponsored by the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Gem and Mineral Society.

Silver Eagles Seniors Visit Fearrington Village

The Silver Eagle Seniors met at Bermuda Quay and boarded the van and headed to Fearrington Village, nestled in the countryside near Chapel Hill.

As they arrived, the dairy barn and silo dominated the landscape and Belted Galloway cows grazed in the meadows.

The group saw the many shops and the variety flowbeds throughout the village. Some of the plants came as far away as England. They had lunch at the Market Cafe, which once was the old granary of the store features, newspapers, specialty foods, baked goods, gourmet coffees and gifts.

They left Fearrington on to Chapel Hill, where they toured the Horace Williams House and boarded the historic trolley for a tour of Chapel Hill. The guide pointed out sites of interest, the battle park, UNC bell tower, courtyard, churches, and many of the buildings on the UNC campus. The guide said that in 1793, the area was nothing but woods, a few farms, mills and a chapel on a hill, that is why it was named "Chapel Hill".

On the route, he pointed out where the chapel stood, now a parking lot. The guide also told about the first student to attend UNC was late for his first class, was from Wilmington, a long walk.

In Burlington, the group stopped at Shoney's for "ice cream" and a short meeting.

Jo Cheek called the meeting to order. She welcomed the five guests and Kathy Streit, van driver. She told about the many opportunities during September and October. Remember the Senior Fair is Oct. 23.

The October meeting will be at Western Steer in Mocksville, with a guest speaker.

Tina Lovings To Bring Dynamic Sound To Festival

Singer/songwriter Tina Lovings of Greensboro will perform at Mocksville's Festival on the Square Saturday at 2 p.m.

Tina Lovings will bring her style of folk/gospel music to Mocksville's Festival on the Square at 2 p.m. Saturday.

It's a style that is gaining in recognition.

A California native who lives in Greensboro, the singer/songwriter is a recent recipient of North Carolina's music fellowship, as well as being included in the N.C. Touring and Residency Artist Director in 1997-98. Last year, she received the United Arts Council emerging artist grant that allowed her to produce a CD of nine original songs.

She has dedicated herself to uplifting others through her music, and has performed a numerous festivals, music showcases and on television. She regularly donates time to nursing homes, homeless shelters and a center for Alzheimer patients. She has toured through 10 states.

Two music critics wrote the following about Lovings:

"Some artists are still striving to create something meaningful, original, and based on quality and beauty, things sadly absent in much of today's life. With a folk-influenced sound recalling the Indigo Girls, Lovings builds songs that shift and move with an energy and skill that matches the level of emotion in her singing and lyrics. Organic, rootsy and touched by southern experience, Lovings' music defies easy categorization, the same sort of praise we've heard others make about Suzanne Vega, Marti Jones and Ben Harper ..."

"There's an urgency and a dynamism to Lovings' arrangements that take her tunes to a higher plane. She touches pop, gospel and country."

Shirley Wicker

"Let's join hands with our families, friends and neighbors to make this a special day."

Festival On The Square Saturday

It's got a new name and a new home.

But members of the Davie County Arts Council still promise it as the premier showcase of the arts in Davie County.

Arts Alive is now Festival on the Square; and as the name implies, it will be held on court square and surrounding streets in downtown Mocksville, rather than at the Masonic Picnic Grounds.

The festival will be Saturday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

"During the four years that I served on the executive board of the Davie County Arts Council, I heard the same request over and over from many in our community, 'Please move Arts Alive back downtown'," said Shirley Wicker, past arts council president.

"As always, there will be great entertainment, crafts, food, and lots of children's activities," she said.

A special feature this year will be visual arts, with a highlight being an art auction.

Craftspeople or volunteers wanting to help with the festival are asked to call 634O2112.

"Let's join hands with our families, friends and neighbors to make this a really special day for the arts," Wicker said. "Presence will show our support for the arts and for all the hard working volunteers who make up the arts council. Hope to see you there."

Althouh there is no "headline" performer this year, the Arts Council has lined up a variety of local and regional talent.

Music on the main stage will include the Davie High School band, a church choir, original acoustic music by former Davie resident Steve Lindsley, old world music, jazz featuring a local doctor with a musical heritage, an orginal folk/gospel artist and a local favorite, The Southland String Band will end the day with some foot-stomping bluegrass fun.

The streets will be lined with artists and crafts people. A potter will have their work on display, as well as demonstrate the craft. Paintings, wood crafts, and other original creations will not be on display and/or sale, but will be the subject of demonstrations.

Food vendors will also set up booths, and a silent art auction will be held.

A gallery of children's arts by area children age 4-12 will be featured.

A children's area will begin with a storyteller at 10:30, and include a puppet show, juggler, drama, and a mime. A clown will hand out helium balloons to children and balloon artist will make balloon creations for children.

Interactive children's activities will include face painting, festival masks, streamer balls, art creatures (painting), sidewalk chalk and wacky sculptures.

Musical Doctors Provide Medicine For The Soul

sad. It has great healing power. For us, it's a great way to balance life by giving us an outlet, a way of expressing ourselves apart from our careers.

"Maintaining balance in life is something that everyone struggles with.

"The chance to attain this balance by writing and performing music while devoting one's self to a career in medicine involves a delicate and intricate weave of time and engergy. When you listen to this music, there is hope that it will in some way provide some balance to your life."

He hopes to volunteer some in local schools, letting students know that music doesn't have to be rigid and boring.

"I remember as a kid being turned on by a musician at school," he said. "Kids need to know that music can be fun."

Cana News

Wow. Did any of you make it to the Center Fair? There were more people and exhibits than in the past. That fair is really growing. There were old tractors and old men, both spitting and moving slowly. There were muscadines, scuppernongs, green grapes, purple grapes, and James grapes. There was Indian corn, popcorn, sweet corn, sweet potatoes, and sweet peas. There were big tomatoes, cherry tomatoes, yellow tomatoes, Roman tomatoes, tomato juice, and tomato sauce. It was great. So many prize winning foods, I bet Food Lion wishes they could buy them that good. Farm Bureau agent Catherine Lane won a blue ribbon for the largest canteloupe. Cana's own Edwina Barney won a blue ribbon for the largest sunflower. Those Bogers must get a lot of sun on that side of Cana. Ha, ha.

The grass seems to be slowing down some. Sounds like a good time to get the blades sharpened.

Have you seen the Great Wall of Clemmons on I-40 as you pass through? I'm not sure if they are trying to keep us out or them in? I guess I will know when I see what direction they point the barbed wire at the top. The real question is: Who is man enough to shoot a deer that jumps a fence that tall?

Happy Birthday to Billy Ray.

Club Makes Annual Quilt

By Grace Parrish
Club Reporter

The East Davie Extension Homemakers Club held their meeting Sept. 9 with Dee Johnson.

President Jo Cheek presided.

Lois Stephens gave devotions, taken from a 1969 Washington Post newspaper. The theme was "God Is Living".

County Extension Agent Peggy Nuckolls gave the program, "The Tree That Can Save Your Life." She gave out forms showing how to fill out your "family tree". She urged everyone to try to get family medical history that may be helpful in the future.

In the spring club members quilted their annual quilt. It's a queen size "Old Maids Puzzle" pattern. Tickets are for sale from any member for a dollar donation. It will be on display at the Craft Fair, Oct. 24, in the County Office Building.

The club has made fidget aprons for Alzheimer's patients and dolls for childrens hospitals.

For the August outing, several members went to Blowing Rock.

The issues leaders finished their reports and turned them in to Nuckolls.

After repeating the "collect", everyone had lunch with Mrs. Johnson.

Hillsdale News

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Sasser Jr., who were married on Saturday at First Methodist Church in Mocksville. Mrs. Sasser is the former Julie Matthews. Julie is a graduate of Davie High School and formerly lived in Bermuda Run. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Toby Mathews of Advance.

Please remember Rick Bodenhamer. Rick had eye surgery on Monday afternoon and we need to pray for he and his family and for a speedy recovery.

Also, remember Lori Correll, Lori spent the weekend at Forsyth Hospital battling a severe case of pneumonia. When I saw her on Sunday she seemed to be doing much better.

Ron Masters is recovering from open heart surgery. He actually had surgery last month, however I only found out on Saturday. Please pray for Ron's complete recovery and regaining his strength.

Also, continue to remember the Goodrich family who lost their home in a fire on Labor Day. I'm sure this continues to be a hardship we want to support them as they try to recover from their loss.

The women of Hillsdale will meet on Thursday at 7 p.m. at the home of Carolyn Hemric. Brenda Hanes will be in charge of the program.

Hillsdale Baptist Church will have a fellowship at the river on Sunday evening at 6:30. Bob and Mickey Minor have been kind enough to allow us to use their picnic area on the banks of the Yadkin River.

The youth spent Saturday and Sunday at a mountain cabin for a weekend of recreation and Bible study. There were 11 youth in attendance and they were chaperoned by Sam and Charlott Mayhall, Walt and Annette Minor, Michael Ray, and Shari Mayhall. They stayed at a cabin owned by Michael Ray's family, who were nice enough to offer the use of their cabin. Our pastor, Reg Alderman, spent the evening with them on Saturday, but of course had to return for Sunday service.

New Girl Scout Troops To Form In Cooleemee

Girl scouts are coming to Cooleemee.

Registration for Brownies (ages 6-8) and Juniors (ages 9-12) will be held at Cooleemee First Baptist Church Thursday, Oct. 2, at 6:30 p.m.

The cost is $25 per year for insurance and supplies or $12.50 every six months. Financial assistance will be available for those who need it, according to Sissy Neal, who is trying to establish girl scouts in Cooleemee.

Neal, who moved to Cooleemee from Philadelphia, Pa. in July, has been involved in girl scouts for five years and has been an official leader for three years. This summer she helped at Camp Seven Springs in Farmington.

Plans for the group include craft and service projects, Neal said. She's hoping for lots of interest from the community.

Sweet Potatoes Take Odd Twist On Farm In Northwestern Davie

Charlie "Doc" Howell doesn't know what happened to his sweet potato crop this year.

In between those perfectly oblong orange tubers are some strange, gangly-looking spuds.

They taste good, but they sure are ugly.

And there going to take extra work for Howell, because he's having to dig them by hand rather than with a tractor. The potatoes are spread out so much a tractor would tear them up.

Howell, who lives on Bramblewood Lane in northwestern Davie, has been growing sweet potatoes on the land for many years. He didn't do anything differently this year.

"Its as good-a-tastin' potato as I've ever put in my mouth." Howell prefers them baked, but can't eat too many because of diabetes.

He suspects the dry weather late in the season caused the strange growth. Though shaped oddly, there are plenty of the potatoes to go around. He's dug five bushels, and has three rows he hasn't even touched.

Scout Troop Elects Executive Board

Junior Girl Scout Troop 21 elected its executive board Sept. 10. Executive board members are Brianna Montgomery, treasurer; Sabrina Eades, secretary; Teresa Shadroui, vice president; and Kate Sykes, president.

The executive board form of government is one of three forms of government recommended for junior girl scout troops. The other forms of government are the town meeting and the patrol system. Each junior girl scout troop has the responsibility of determining which form of government will work best for their troop.

The executive board is responsible for making decisions about troop activities, such as service projects, troop trips and proficiency badge work.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 21 is a small troop with eight currently active members. The troop has decided to allow the present executive board positions to run for two months. After the months, new members of the executive board will be elected, giving other troop members the opportunity to gain leadership experience.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 21 meets on Wednesdays after school until 5 p.m. They meet at the Mocksville Church of Christ. The troop is lead by Dr. Susan Sykes and Mrs. Sonny Bugh. The troop is open to girls in grades 4-6. Anyone interested in joining the troop should contact Loretta Brook, Girl Scouts of the USA field director, at 998-0912.

Spiritual Resources: Trade Offs

By Hazel Smoot

Since the beginning of time man has used the Barter system as a means of obtaining the things in life he desires. It is interesting to observe the various trade offs we use in our lives. By each exchange we make in our lives we hope to improve our position and make a better life for ourselves.

We exchange our time and talent to obtain monetary compensation. This comes to us usually in the form of a check which we are free to sign and cash. By this exchange we are trading a piece of paper for something better which can be useful to us. We trade off our money for the things we desire and believe are important. The choice we make reveal much about our values and interests. With this money we can buy the necessities of life and reap the rewards of also helping our fellowman.

When we consider the choices we make, we can find a perfect example in Jesus. He went about doing good, helping others, bestowing honor upon each individual and exchanging His life for our freedom. His sacrifice (or trade off) was an exchange that would enable us to know the happiness of right living and encouragement in the disappointments and problems we encounter daily.

When we consider the possibilities which are available to us today and the opportunities we have to be an inspiration to others, we can be thankful for the exchange of money for our time and talent. Our life is also a check which can only be signed by us. What we do with our lives is a revelation of the value of our trade offs.

Each day is a new unsigned check. How we spend it and what we accomplish is an exchange for a clear conscience and a life of purpose. Remember there is more to a check than just the amount. The signature makes all the difference because that is what makes it valid. When we have signed it, then we are free to spend our days making right choices. These choices are our contribution of bringing honor to our creator, who is the giver of all blessings. Our signature should represent Christ and his principles to every one we meet. May each of us use our resources wisely and prayerfully.

Hometown Christmas Print Sales To Benefit Davie High

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

It's a favorite Christmas tradition in these parts - coming to Mocksville to see the lights on the huge oak trees on the town square.

Now, that "Hometown Christmas" is on canvas, a painting by Yadkin County artist Patricia Hobson.

Prints of that painting will be sold for $20 each, with half of the money going to the Davie High School PTSA. Winston Printing is making the 2,000 prints, which will be signed and numbered.

"It's hard for the high school to do fund-raising projects ... and they are in desperate need of money," said Terri Lemasters-Espy, PTSA ways and means chair. "It's a great gift for employees ... to display in businesses ... gifts for people who used to live here."

Doing a charity print is nothing new to Hobson. She's done several for other schools and non-profit agencies. For that, she's receiving a Governor's Volunteerism Award. "I've always had a soft spot when it comes to kids and education," she said.

"I feel like this would be something anyone would want. We're calling it 'Hometown Christmas.' It could be a hometown anywhere in North Carolina."

The print - 24 inches long and 11 inches deep - is a snow scene, with a lamp post and the trees lit with white lights prominently displayed. You can also see the courthouse and several of the businesses on the square.

"We weren't sure what to paint, we just knew it would be somewhere in Davie County," Hobson said. "We went downtown first. I saw the trees and I said this is it. And when Terri called me about the lights at Christmas ...

"I had always wanted to do a Christmas piece, I had never done that."

A native of Courtney, Hobson got started in art early.

"When I was in the fifth grade at Courtney Elementary School, I used my eight crayons and it looked like pastels blended together." That drawing won a county contest, and went on a tour of the country, even abroad.

"I've always done some kind of art work."

Her favorite piece is whatever she's working on at the time. One of her more recently releases was "Hale-Bopp," a print of the famous comet in the sky above Pilot Mountain.

"I get brainstorms. I have an idea book, but I've got more paintings in my head than I'll ever be able to paint," she said.

Orders are being accepted for the "Hometown Christmas" print. Send $20 to: DHS Print, Terri Lemasters-Espy, P.O. Box 2083, Advance, NC 27006. The prints will be available at a holiday fine arts night scheduled for Monday evening, Nov. 17, at the school. In addition to performances by fine arts students, Hobson will be on hand to give personal signatures to prints.

Espy hopes this will become an annual project for the high school PTSA.

Test Scores Aren't The Most Important Results Of An Education

> "We desire to see a school full of children who feel loved, confident rather than a stack of papers that indicate on a certain day ... they received a certain score on a test."
> - Jimmy Lancaster

Tests. Students often dread them. Local, state and national officials often use the results to measure the success of the student, or the school, or the school system.

Performing well on a test shouldn't be the main goal of schools, Jimmy Lancaster, chair of the Cooleemee Elementary Advisory Council, told members of the board of education recently.

"We realize that the standard of today for success is test scores ... whether it be the state standards or SAT ... our students are bombarded with the idea to be successful, you must score a certain percentage on test.

"We believe this breeds excessive and undue pressure on students," Lancaster said.

At Cooleemee, while tests are important, teachers and administrators are taking a different approach.

"It is our conviction that the quality of life of one's education is far more dependent on that child achieving confidence in his/her self than any test score," he said. "We desire to see a school full of children who feel loved, pleasing and confident rather than a stack of papers that indicate on a certain day ... at a certain time ... they received a certain score for performing well on a written test."

Cooleemee is achieving that goal through teamwork, including administrators, teachers, staff, parents and the community, Lancaster said. On Friday afternoons, teachers get together at a time called "Celebrations" where they celebrate accomplishments of their students during the week.

Cooleemee has 420 students, 37 more from the start of school last year. There are 13 new faces on staff, and new windows have been added to the gym. The PTA provided cellular telephones for bus drivers to remain accessible.

Reading and math are focuses of academic efforts, with teachers trying innovative ways to encourage students to excel, Lancaster said.

He asked the board of education members to be a part of the Cooleemee team. As growth continues, it will become more and more difficult to provide quality education in the space provided, he said.

"In four short years we have grown by approximately 100 students, or four classrooms. We are excited about this steady growth. Until now, the impact is a positive and challenging one; however, one day, if means are not available to handle this consistent growth, it could become a negative influence."

Lancaster said he realizes the board are facing similar problems across the county. "We need to envision the future and to begin to lay the ground work for the anticipated growth the future brings to our county school systems."

Another need is for a full-time nurse. Office staff spend much of their time dispensing medicine to students.

"We are going to do our best to mold, shape and create the most nurturing atmosphere and environment conducive to allowing our children the very best education they could receive anywhere within our county," Lancaster said. "We simply ask for the members of this board to continue to be a part of our team and provide for us the essential goods needed to educate our students into the 21st Century."

grade STARS Team. She spoke with students about "The Soul of Writing." While handling the jobs of wife and mother of three, she has published three children's books. She is waiting to hear from her publishers about a young adult novel she has written. Mrs. Jakob spoke to students about how she writes, where she gets her ideas, and what it takes to write a good children's book. She made suggestions for future writers such as keeping journals and always having a note pad handy to jot down ideas. Students learned about the publishing process, and found that persistence is the key to getting a work published.

To make her point, Mrs. Jakob shared a piece with students that had been rejected by publishers several times. Students commented on how good it was and were confused as to why it had not been accepted. Mrs. Jakob read from her published works and from the novel she is trying to get published.

The message Mrs. Jakob was making is that a person should pursue their dreams, never put them off, and never give up.

Mocksville Middle

The staff and students welcomed many grandparents to lunch on Grandparents' Day. Over 110 grandparents and friends attended lunch with students.

Rachel Ijames and Martha Rooney have joined the staff to assist in remediation of reading and math. They will work closely with Susan Landry in a program to strengthen academic skills. They began on Sept. 12.

Many thanks to all who supported the fund-raiser making it a success. Merchandise will be arriving in three to four weeks. Parents will be notified.

The PTA enlisted parent volunteers to assist in a beautification project.

A book fair will begin Tuesday, Sept. 30, in conjunction with the PTA meeting that night at 7. The fair will end on Oct. 8.

The Developmental Class has completed activities as they learned about leaves. After taking a walk to collect leaves, they did leaf rubbings. A wreath of leaves and other fall items were made for the classroom door. Students traced their handprints and cut them out to form large leaves of a giant tree as they learned about their family trees.

Mocksville Elementary

Kindergarten students of Kaye Vandiver and Jodi Walker have been busy making new friends, learning school and classroom rules, and finding out about themselves. Reading "Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See?" has encouraged learning basic colors and an innovation of the book was made to learn about school helpers. Students made silhouettes of themselves after reading "The Important Book" and dictated important facts about themselves also. Students used basic shapes to construct "shapely selves" and to tell more facts about themselves. Families and friendships have been important units of study using such books as "The Three Bears" and "Corduroy." Daily poems, "Cub News", and Nursery Rhymes have given students their first reading experiences.

First graders of Rachel Joyce and Betty Blakley are writing their own alphabet book.

Elizabeth Starnes and Debbie Brown's students are doing a unit on zoo animals.

Leslie Bland and Jane Anderson's students are doing a unit on puppies. They made their own puppy and wrote about it.

First graders of Jane Beaver have reviewed the alphabet, colors, and sounds. They have explored the world of alligators, bears, and teddy bears.

Grandparents are invited to have lunch with their first grader on Sept. 24. Check with your child's teacher for the actual lunch time.

Second graders of Sandra Robinson have been studying sharks and whales. They have become experts. Students read "Hungry, Hungry Sharks" and "Whales, the Gentle Giants." They have also learned about ocean animals from the computer program Mrs. Robinson wrote. Students wrote a pop-up book about ocean animals and created an ocean habitat using the classroom computer. The art project for this unit was making shell and sand paperweight.

Students of Susan Wall Smith and Tina Felts have completed self discovery activities. Each student did a three dimensional portrait and used their name to form acrostics. After reading "The One in the Middle is a Green Kangaroo," students worked on activities revealing their position in the family. Reading "Molly the Brave" and "Me and Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day" led to activities that focused on dealing with feelings.

Third graders of Shirley McMillan and Maria Knight are reading "The Chocolate Touch." This is a story of a little boy who loved chocolate and what happens to him because of this love. Students are learning about animals with backbones and have divided into 5 groups to discuss an animal in each category: mammals, birds, reptiles, fish, and amphibians. Students are learning the new Saxon math program. Each day students participate in "The Meeting," a morning meeting lead by the Student of the Day.

Students of Tracy Poindexter and Lynn Zoubek started the year with a unit on dinosaurs. They went on a dinosaur hunt for dinosaur bones and read several stories about dinosaurs. Next they will discuss frogs and read "Jump Frog Jump."

Students of Karen Kirkpatrick and Roxanne McDaniel have been studying bus safety. They practiced safety rules for riding on a bus, a van, and in a car. Students are beginning a study about Johnny Appleseed and will be working with apples. A trip to Carrigan Farms is planned for the end of September.

Grandparents are invited to join their student for lunch on Sept. 26.

Students of the Week of Sept. 8-12 were Caitlin Tutterow, Edward Renfroe, Cameron Sheppard, Brad Gaither, Chelsea Reynolds, Patty Kurfees, Ceciley Reynolds, Karlyn Phipps, Daniel McBride, Jordan Chuby, Kelly Solovotzoff, Brandon Hill, Frederick Martinez, Patrick Shore, David Pruitt, C.J. Dwiggins, Shaye Lewis, Dustin Gordon, Marc Schmitt, Bianca Byrne, Samantha Hobson, Kelly Felts, John Vandall, Ashley Sales, and Matthew Sherrill.

Cooleemee Elementary

Students Janell Yount and Dianne Snider have been working on a "Me" unit learning about themselves. They have sorted each other by similarities and differences. They made a rainbow of themselves to show how everyone is different. Students have learned the songs, "The World is a Rainbow" and "Shake My Sillies Out" which they performed at a special program for their grandparents on Friday, Sept. 5. Grandparents were treated to cookies and lemonade after the presentation.

Students are taking extra classes - music, media center, Spanish, and computer lab.

In the computer lab fifth grades of Susie Wilcox help them learn to use the mouse.

Shady Grove Elementary

First graders of Pat Johnson and Kathy Smith used magnifying glasses to discover egg sacs and newly hatched caterpillars on a milkweed branch. They observed the caterpillars eating, growing, and spinning a chrysalis. They hope to have a Monarch butterfly in about 3 weeks. Several students have brought caterpillars to the classroom and have watched, learned, and read about butterflies.

Bonnie Spach and Judy Howard's second graders received a visitor Thursday, Sept. 4. Sherry Irving-Crawford talked with students about juvenile diabetes. Mrs. Irving-Crawford is the Hemodialysis Study Coordinator at Bowman Gray School of Medicine. She gave a short talk about diabetes and showed some of the items used by a person with diabetes. Students were given booklets for their parents to read, pens, note pads, and several items to take home.

Mrs. Spach's class and other teachers and students at the school participated in a "Walk to Cure Diabetes" on Sept. 12.

Fourth graders of Elnora Gore read Shark Lady. They made facts and opinion charts, wrote summaries, and did research on various sharks. The research was shared through posters, booklets, and displays.

William R. Davie Elementary

Kindergarten students of Linda Drye, Lori Latham, and Stacy Brunelli studied bears and the letter "Bb" last week. They studied habitats of bears, read "Brown Bear, Brown Bear," and had a Teddy Bear Picnic. They also shared cards and a book they made about grandparents with their grandparents on Friday.

Kelly Lowdermilk and Ashley Wagner, reporters from Judy White's fourth grade, visited Ms. Latham's class to see what students there were doing. They reported that her students were studying the letter "An" and making daily news to send home to their parents. They had a "Show and Tell" with things that begin with the letter "A." Students played in centers and on the jungle gym during their play time. They have also been playing Match on the computer.

Fourth grade reporters Kayln McEwen and Kena Gentry visited Linda Drye's class to see what students were doing. In addition to learning the letter "Aa" and apple, they were reading apple stories and poems. "The Giving Tree" was the favorite book of everyone.

First graders have been busy learning lots of new and exciting things. They are recognizing some words and learning how much fun reading can be. They are studying the alphabet and the different sounds. Students have learned bus safety rules and why they are so important. Mr. Lemmons presented a program, which included a favorite character - Winnie the Pooh, on the importance of safety on the school bus.

Grandparents were invited to have lunch with students on Friday, Sept. 12 in celebration of Grandparents' Day. Students are using the computer lab.

Brittany Renegar and Justin Cave, reporters from Judy White's fourth grade, visited Alyce Bagshaw's second grade. They found students studying bus safety, and talking about weather. Students were studying about clocks and number charts and reading "Big and Little."

Citizens of the Week of Sept. 12 are Matthew Speer, Brandon Toney, Spencer Lanning, Bethany Nesbit, Charlie Boger, Tasha McKinney, Martika Lattimer, Diana Delao, Brittney Gunter, Jessica Harris, Brandon Adams, and Jennifer Childress. Bus Riders of the Week of September 22 are Justin Daywalt, Brittany Draughn, Victor Mendez, Mariah Lyons, Sy Easling, Mary Howard, Aaron Davis, and Emily Whitaker.

Second graders of Cindy Orrillo invited grandparents to Grandparents' Day Sept. 5. Songs, poems, and presents were shared.

Students have begun pen pals with Mrs. Ellen McDaniel's second graders at Cooleemee Elementary.

The Monarch eggs collected in a field next to the school have hatched and grown into caterpillars. They have formed their chrysalis and students are waiting to see the adult butterflies.

Fifth graders visited Horne Creek Historical Farm as a part of their study of the history and government of the United States. Students made apple cider, ground corn, and played games that were popular in the late 1800s.

Fifth graders began DARE classes. Students are working with Officer Whitesides.

Dean Prim Golf Classic Raises Funds For College Scholarships

ADVANCE-The ninth annual Dean Prim Classic Golf Tournament raised more than $80,000 toward college scholarships for deserving area high school students.

The 1997 tournament, held Sept. 5 at Bermuda Run Country Club, featured more than 120 golfers in a captain's choice event to benefit the Dean Prim Scholarship Fund. Founded by the family of the late Dean Prim, the Fund has provided 29 scholarships to high school students in Yadkin, Davie and Forsyth counties since 1975.

"I've always been taught that it's important to give back to the community," said Billy D. Prim, son of Dean Prim and CEO of Blue Rhino Corp.

The tournament's opening banquet on Sept. 4 featured former Vice President Dan Quayle and former N.C. Gov. Jim Martin, both of whom spoke about the importance of education to the future of the country.

"This is our way of honoring the memory and remembering the dedication of Dean Prim," Martin said. Dean Prim, a former Yadkin County Board of Education member, was committed to improving the education of youth in his community.

In his remarks to a banquet audience of more than 200, Quayle noted the Prim family's history of leadership and its continuing belief in the value of quality education.

"People say 'Somebody needs to do something about this,'-Billy Prim says 'I need to do something about this.'"

Quayle then turned his attention to what he calls a crisis in American education: stagnant SAT scores, a rise in the number of assaults on teachers and the decline in global competitiveness. The solution, Quayle said, is to make school administrators more accountable, restore local government control and introduce "good, old fashioned competition and choice."

"There is no secret to education," Quayle said. "A child goes to school knowing someone cares, knowing they must take responsibility for their actions and believing they have an opportunity and a right to go as far as their dream can take them."

The Dean Prim Scholarship Fund is dedicated to improving the education of youth in the Triad. The Fund now awards three full college scholarships annually.

Memorial Garden To Be Constructed At Davie High

A memorial garden is being constructed at the front of Davie High School in memory of students who have died while a student there.

A committee of faculty, students, PTSA, band and athletic boosters and administrators have been working for several months with landscape designer Deborah Dull. The garden, complete with water, a carved eagle, plants and memorial stones with the names of the deceased students, will be located at the front of the school, near the new media center toward Hwy. 601.

Some of the work will be done by classes at the school, such as masonry, carpentry and horticulture, while some is being handled by parent volunteers. Donations from area individuals and businesses will also be accepted.

Family members of the deceased class members may also participate by making donations to purchase equipment or plants or items. The committee will not accept plants or items, but will use the money to buy a certain item. That is being done so the garden will have a uniform look.

"We are very sensitive to the family members," said Principal Linda Bost. The school has a list of the students, but family members or friends are urged to call the secretary, Shirley Cottle, to make sure the name is included and is spelled correctly. The only stipulation is the person must have been a student at the high school at the time of their death.

Committee members include: Bost, Cottle, Dull; students Bryan Lakey, Carla Eaton and Laura Correll; faculty members Carol Cozart, David Crotts, Jeff Barneycastle, Brenda Collins and Brad Sherrill; PTSA members Peggy Page and Leesa Church; band booster Amelia Little; and athletic boosters Tiny and Yvonne Livengood.

Anyone wanting more information or to make a donation, contact Cottle at the school, or send check to Davie High Memorial Garden, Attn: Shirley Cottle, 1200 Salisbury Road, Mocksville, NC 27028.

Foil Receives National Service Scholarship

Allison Foil, of Mocksville has been named a 1997 National Service Scholar and awarded a college scholarship of $500 by the Corporation for National Service in recognition of an outstanding record of community service.

The award matches a local scholarship of $500 provided by Lions Mocksville. Launched last fall by President Clinton, the National Service Scholars program challenges communities and local organizations to raise at least $500 for a junior or senior in their local high school, which the federal government then matches. School principals select scholarship recipients.

Foil is among 1,690 first-year scholarship winners announced by President Clinton in his recent radio address on community service. "Next year it will be even bigger," he said. "Our goal is to make this program available in every high school."

Foil graduated from Davie County High School and plans to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

High schools and local organizations interested in next year's National Service Scholars program may call, 202-606-5000, Ext. 293.

The Corporation for National Service is a public-private partnership that administers three national service initiatives-Americorps, National Senior Service Corps, and Learn and Serve America.

Mocksville Woman's Club Makes Plans For Year

Members of the GFWC Mocksville Woman's Club held their first meeting of the 1997-98 year on Sept. 10 at Bermuda Run Country Club. President Stella Fisher called the meeting to order, and devotions were offered by Lelia Essic.
New club yearbooks were distributed, and the proposed budget was approved by members.
Jan. 10 has been set as the date for this year's Arts Festival. This will give the clubwomen and students at North and South Davie middle schools and Davie High School a longer time to prepare entries. There are numerous categories in arts and crafts, visual arts, including painting, sculpture and photography, and literature. In addition, for high school students only, there are the following categories: dance, piano, instrumental, vocal music, drama, and public speaking. Students interested in entering their works may contact their teachers for further details, or they may call Peggy Page at 634-7577, or Marlene Shamel at 998-2277.
Plans for the Nov. 1 Benefit Fashion Show which is being held at Bermuda Run Country Club on behalf of the Brock Performing Arts Building Fund were discussed. Local models will be appearing, with ladies'; mens; and children's holiday fashions being provided by Added Dimensions, English's, Fraleigh's and Sweaters and Things. You may call Jean Saunders at 634-3413 for ticket information.
International Affairs Chairman Eva Jurgensen introduced Hannah Turner, North Carolina chapter coordinator for Operation Smile, who presented a history and slides of the volunteer program which she directs.
Operation Smile originated in 1982 in the Phillipines under the guidance of Dr. and Mrs. Bill Magee. The North Carolina chapter was organized in 1990 under the supervision of Beth Marshall. There are 26 chapters nationwide. To date, corrective plastic surgery has been successfully done on over forty thousand children on five continents. Volunteer teams do approximately four hundred procedures in a two-week period. They sponsor an average of eight to ten missions each year.
The North Carolina chapter sponsors teams to Panama, Ecuador and other third world Central American nations.
Support for Operation Smile comes from many sources, including corporate and private donations world-wide. Youth clubs in the schools help with their "Pennies for Smiles", their goal being one million pennies. The chapter has an annual calendar sale, and in November they sponsor a "Smiles Galore" Auction.
"Sometimes miracles require a lot of hard work". Mocksville Woman's Club has contributed to this worthy project for several years.
Hostesses for the luncheon were Belle Boger, Marlene Shamel, Peggy Tutterow and Sheila Tutterow.
Thirty-three ladies were served a buffet lunch, including guests Ms. Tucker and Suelle Peacock, who recently moved to Davie County from Wisconsin.

JobReady Education Program, Intiative Recognized By State

Sept. 14-20 is JobReady Week throughout North Carolina.
JobReady is North Carolina's system of school-to-work, an educational approach that combines advanced classroom courses and high academic standards with real-life learning to prepare all students for post-secondary education and the cutting-edge jobs of the 21st century.
School-to-Work initiatives are designed by local partnerships made up of employers, educators, community organizations, and local government to provide youth with a broad array of choices to gain knowledge and skills and to explore careers. The goals of this nationwide grassroots movement are to improve education and how Americans are prepared for work.
"School-to-Work is based upon the fundamental belief that education works best and is most useful for life and future careers when students have the opportunity to apply what they learn in real work situations," said Neal Essic, Davie Schools' director of vocational education.
North Carolina has 71 partnerships representing 94 counties of which Davie County is one. The Governor's Commission on Workforce Preparedness has awarded over $8 million in seed money during the past year to assist these local partnerships. Davie County received a $100,000 grant for the 1997-98 school year.
The funds will be used for a number of local initiatives.
A significant portion will go toward the development of a comprehensive K-12 career guidance program. Another large portion will go toward the employment of a job developer who will work with Davie High students to further open up opportunities for work-based learning experiences like job shadowing. Thirty-five educators were given the opportunity to tour three local industries this summer through JobReady funds to learn firsthand about the local job market.
Funds will also be used from the grant to explore alternatives for dropouts, to foster cooperative agreements with post-secondary educational institutions-especially Davidson County Community College-and to conduct a longitudinal study of Davie High School graduates to ease the transition from school to work or to post-secondary education.
For more information, call 1-800-500-WORK or Essic at 704-634-5921.

Davie Native In Second Year With Thunderbirds

Staff Sgt. Jeffrey York is entering his second year as a member of the U.S. Air Force Air Demonstration Squadron, "Thunderbirds" in July 1996 and is stationed at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

York

The "Thunderbirds" present precision aerial maneuvers to exhibit the capabilities of modern, high performance aircraft and the quality Air Force people. A Thunderbird air demonstration is a mix of six aircraft performing formation flying and solo routines.

The four aircraft diamond formation demonstrates the training and precision of Air Force Pilots while the two solos highlights the capabilities of the Lockheed Martin, F-16 Fighting Falcon.

The squadron performs no more than 88 air demonstrations each year and travels more than 200 days. Since the units inception in 1953 more than 287 million people in all 50 states and 59 foreign countries have witnessed the red, white and blue jets in more than 3,400 official aerial demonstrations.

All "Thunderbirds" are volunteers competitively selected for assignment to the team. Members are drawn from their respective career fields Air Force-wide.

An enlisted tour of duty with the "Thunderbirds" is a minimum of three years and maximum of four. Requirements for being selected to the team vary in each career field but each member must have their commander's recommendation, demonstrate exceptional aircraft management abilities, show they possess extensive knowledge of the job and perform with outstanding professionalism.

York is an aircraft maintainer, commonly referred to as crew chief, on the Lockheed Martin F-16 Fighting Falcon. Aircraft maintainers are responsible for all maintenance performed on an aircraft, this includes everything from servicing the aircraft with fuel, to routine inspections and major maintenance. They also identify and ensure all aircraft discrepancies are annotated and fixed.

Every weekend from mid-March through November, at each show site, "Thunderbird" officers and enlisted personnel visit hospitals, schools and summer camps; appears as guests on radio and television programs; and inspire young people to stay in school, off drugs and on the road to success.

York is a 1986 graduate of Davie High School and enlisted in the U.S. Air Force in 1987. He is the son of John and Deanna York of Advance.

Cub, Boy Scouts Relive History Aboard Aircraft Carrier Yorktown

Cub Scout Pack 574 and Boy Scout Troop 525 recently relived a part of history when they participated in the camping program aboard the World War II Aircraft Carrier Yorktown in Charleston Harbor.

The troop became "shipmates" with other troops as they toured Yorktown, World War II Submarine Clamagore, World War II Destroyer Laffey, and World War II Coast Guard Cutter Ingham.

The scouts had the opportunity to see modern and World War II vintage military aircraft. The group also participated in a presentation by U.S. Navy veterans.

Morning and evening meals were prepared and served to youngsters in the "chief's mess" aboard the Yorktown for the full effect of having lived aboard a famous man-of-war.

Pack 574 and 525 also took a boat ride to Fort Sumter in Charleston Harbor where the Civil War began.

Troop 525 is sponsored by Holy Cross Lutheran Church of Mocksville, and Pack 574 is sponsored by First Methodist Church of Mocksville. Michael Kirkpatrick is the scout leader.

A Davie County man received a suspended sentence after a jury found him guilty of possession with the intent to sell or deliver cocaine last week in Davie County Superior Court.

Jarvis Tremayne Garner was sentenced by Judge Howard R. Greeson Jr. to eight to 10 months in prison suspended five years during which he will be on supervised probation to include the special conditions that he submit to searches and drug tests, not use, possess or control any illegal drug or controlled substance, report for and comply with the recommendations of a substance abuse evaluation and serve two months of the sentence in prison.

Garner must pay $1,000 fine, $172 court costs, $100 restitution and $900 attorney fee.

Greeson ordered the drugs and paper from the case to be destroyed.

Hi, my name is Kelsey Dianne Wooten. I wanted everyone to know I turned 2 years old on Aug. 27, 1997. To make it special, my mommy and daddy, Laticia and Roger Wooten, had an ice-cream and cake party with family. My mommy made a Mickey Mouse cake for me. Also, we had a luau. We had 72 guests. We ate barbecue, hot dogs, and the fixins. I played games with my friends. My grandparents are Everette and Dianne Sain, and R.G. and Judy Wooten. My great-grandparents are Lucille Daniel, Elizabeth Sain, and Minnie Wright. I'd like to thank everyone for helping me celebrate my birthday. I had a great time. I love you all.

Crescent Electric Sponsoring Blood Drive

The summer months always bring about a shortage of blood supplies.

People are harder to find during the summer months because of vacations and outdoor activities. More donors have low hemoglobin or iron levels caused by lighter summer diets and more activity. Some people simply complain that it's just too hot to donate blood.

However, the need for blood is real and remains constant throughout the year, no matter the season. People cosinuously have accidents, premature babies are born, and patients rely on blood transfusion therapy in their battles against cancer.

In this area, at least 1,500 donors are needed every day to meet patient blood needs.

You will have the opportunity to help reduce the blood supply shortage at a blood drive on Sept. 22, 1997, at the First United Methodist Church on Main Street, Mocksville. Hours of the drive are 2-7:30 p.m. in the church fellowship hall sponsored by Crescent EMC's Women's Committee. Serving on the Committee from the Mocksville area are Frances Beck and Judy Swicegood.

Any eligible person who has not given since July 28, 1997, may donate. All blood types are needed.

Public Hearing On Incentives For Industrial Park Is Oct. 6

Town Wants To Extend Zoning, Add More Commercial And Industrial At 601 N, I-40 Area

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

County commissioners last week rezoned 150 acres of land off U.S. 601 North near Allen Road from residential-agricultural to industrial.

A Tennessee developer plans to build and industrial park there.

Town commissioners on Monday approved a policy concerning offering incentives to business and industry, and along with county commissioners, will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 6 at the Davie County Public Library on whether to pay to extend water and sewer services to the site.

The two boards propose to split the estimated $402,000 to extend services to the site, which would likely become annexed into the town when the buildings are occupied. In additional, as much as $38,000 per site would be reimbursed to the developer for extending services (roads, water and sewer lines) inside the park, said Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley.

He said Hollingsworth Company, the developer, operates a good facility in Tennessee with quality tenants. The buildings would be near 100,000 square feet, and as many as nine units eventually constructed. Bralley expects construction to begin as soon as details for services are worked out.

Town board members said the 601 North area around I-40 is the natural place for commercial and industrial development. They will hold a public hearing the following night on extending the town's zoning jurisdiction, and have already directed the town's planning board to consider putting more industrial and commercial zones in the area.

Town Attorney Hank Van Hoy said the policy is a written form of past practices - the town seeks quality industries that are non-polluting, pay high wages and are good corporate citizens.

Cable TV Improvements Continuing

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Genesis Cable is working to improve service to its Davie County customers, local director of operations Joe Staud told the Davie County Board of Commissioners Sept. 15.

There have been some delays in the rebuilding of the system with fiber-optics, but the work has never stopped. When it is completed, it will be great, he said. Local customers will have access to 72 channels, and pay-per-view will be available countywide.

While most cable companies hire subcontractors, Staud said he recently hired three employees for installations.

Some complaints county leaders have been getting must have come from a disgruntled former employee, he said. Among those are that subcontractors have not been getting paid and that the company needs a second bucket truck.

The company's bucket truck is only used when it will speed up the repair process. Often it is easier for an employee to climb a pole than to call for a bucket truck, and 40 percent of Davie's cable is underground, he said.

If a subcontractor has not been paid, it is because they have not done the job, he added.

Staud presented an example of how his company is often blamed for things that it cannot help.

A customer called upset because cable had gone out during the coverage of Princess Diana's funeral. It took repairmen 12 hours to find the problem, which turned out to be an amplifier that someone had blown up by shooting with a gun.

Genesis will have all lines replaced by the end of the year, beginning with the areas from which the most complaints are received, he said.

The company's public relations are not good, Commissioner Larry Hayes suggested.

He said a woman called him to complain about the problems she

Detective Robert Trotter: "It Looks Like A Piece Of Swiss Cheese"

Man Destroys Mobile Home In Saturday Shooting Rampage

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

The ground was covered with shell casings, and a Mocksville man is lucky to have escaped unharmed after his brother went on a shooting spree Saturday night.

Allen Eugene Bobbitt, 45, of 160 Klunie Road, Mocksville, was arrested early Sunday, after his brother Kenneth Burt Bobbitt reported that he had shot at his trailer with a high-powered rifle and two shotguns.

Allen Bobbitt had apparently been drinking for several hours when he got into an argument with his girlfriend, Tonya Luanne Hoots, 26, according to Davie Sheriff's Detective Robert Trotter.

Hoots ran from their mobile home to Kenneth Bobbitt's house after he pushed her against the wall and choked her.

Allen Bobbitt walked outside, fired two shots into the air with a rifle and yelled for them to come out and threatening to kill them. Fleeing the trailer, Kenneth Bobbitt hid in a ditch and Hoots in the woods as he opened fire on the trailer, Trotter said.

He fired a number of shots with the rifle before leaving to get the two shotguns, which Hoots said had been at her father's house in Courtney.

When he returned, Hoots said he assaulted her again as she tried to take a gun away from him, according to Trotter.

Kenneth Bobbitt, who said he didn't know why his brother did this, was struck by two shotgun pellets but was far enough away that they didn't penetrate his body, Trotter said.

His brother made several threats that he was going to kill him, Kenneth Bobbitt told officers.

The trailer was destroyed. Every side of it had been shot, and there were shell casings everywhere, Trotter said. "It looks like a piece of Swiss cheese."

Bobbitt

After he believed his brother had passed out, Kenneth Bobbitt walked to C's Barbecue to call for help.

Not knowing if he was awake and might shoot more, officers called Allen Bobbitt out of his mobile home. He came voluntarily, and the three weapons were seized, Trotter said.

The incident had started about 8:30 p.m., he said, and Bobbitt was arrested at 4:24 a.m.

He has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, assault by pointing a gun, assault on a female and damage to real property.

He was placed in the Davie County Jail under a $50,000 secured bond and is scheduled to face these charges in Davie County District Court Oct. 16.

In addition to the church history exhibit, the day's activities will include a food, music and crafters selling their wares. Pony rides will be available for the children.

Music will include gospel, old-time and music groups.

Crystal River of Lexington, which includes Cooleemee native James E. Pierce and his son Scott Pierce. The elder Pierce is a 33-year veteran of the music business, a former Nashville studio musician. He plays lead guitar. His son is lead singer and bass guitarist, and writes most of the group's original music.

Crystal River also includes Tim O'Quinn on drums, Bobby Goins singing and on rhythm guitar, mandolin and fiddle, Steffanie Huffman singing, Kyle Workman on keyboards and David Hall on steel guitar.

Another gospel group, the Oak Ridge Men of Greensboro, includes Cooleemee native Norman Ridenhour. They, along with Farmington Bluegrass and other old-time musicians will share the festival stage.

Texas Cowboys Roaming Range In Their Pickups

The Wild West may be tame now, but the days of cowboys live on.

There are still plenty of cowboys in Texas, but they don't fit their image from the old movies.

Based my own very unscientific poll, the cowboys of Texas are nice folks. Courteous and polite. Soft-spoken. They have nothing to prove. They don't swagger and boast.

They don't have to.

They wear belt buckles as big as saucers that display their accomplishments in the rodeos. That does all their talking.

Cowboys drive big pickup trucks with extended cabs now. The horses stay close to home.

I spent several days in Fort Worth, Tex., last week during the annual National Newspaper Association convention. I spent a minute atop a longhorn ... steer. He was a cowboy's pet.

Billy Bob's, the huge dance hall and beer oasis, has a stuffed bull for tourists to climb on for photos.

Fort Worth is an exciting town.

It was the place where the railroads stopped long ago. It was the southwest's link to the East. Cowboys herded their cattle to the booming city to sell them to faraway markets. The Fort Worth stockyards handled more than 30 million cows during those years. It was news to me, but they also handled about the same number of sheep and hogs.

You don't see many movies about cowboys herding hogs.

Bert Bahnson wasn't the first to have range hogs.

I expected everyone in Texas to wear cowboy hats. That wasn't the case at all. Tourists seemed to be wearing the hats.

I couldn't resist.

But there was no mistaking the real cowboys. The walk. The confidence.

A museum in Fort Worth has dozens of the Western paintings and sculptures of Frederic Remington, the master artist of cowboys and Indians.

Looking at the modern architecture of a bustling city, it was hard to imagine that the Wild West days ended only a century ago. Remington died in 1909, and he painted desperately in those final years to capture the vanishing days of the frontier.

It was an amazing time.

Cowboy must have led difficult lives, braving harsh conditions and dangers. They needed to unwind when they got to a city like Fort Worth. The city has such landmarks as Sundance Square, where the Sundance Kid made a name for himself.

They were simple times.

They were exciting times.

People could do more than dream dreams. They could load up their wagon and head west for gold and treasure and danger. Many did. And many died.

There's nothing obviously worth fighting about in Texas. It's hot. It's flat. It doesn't rain much. But there were many fights here. The Indians, Mexicans, cowboys, gold prospectors and settlers all wanted this land.

Burning Garbage Causes Air Pollution

To the editor:

Maybe some of you don't know or maybe you just don't care, but it is illegal to burn household garbage in a barrel. I talked to our county fire marshal. He told me that the only materials legal to burn in a barrel are sticks, twigs and leaves.

I cannot understand why our law officers look the other way when people do this regularly. I know of at least two businesses that burn illegally. One is a garage where county cars are maintenanced.

I can't understand why anyone would want to do this to save a few dollars. The fees at the landfill are reasonable. The fees to pick up garbage are also reasonable.

Maybe you feel that this practice isn't hurting anyone. This practice is air pollution. Multiply your barrel by several hundred barrels and you're pouring out as much pollutants as a large industry.

This may be considered an "old fashioned" idea, but have some consideration for your neighbors.

My husband and I like to sit in our yard and smell the nice flowers we've planted. This isn't possible when our neighbor is burning garbage.

Consider this a warning. My husband and I are going to do everything we can to get this practice stopped. All an officer has to do is look in your barrel to see what you've been burning. You don't have to actually be caught in the act of burning.

Respect Family, Friends Of POW/MIAs

To the editor:

How many of us can recall a moment in our lives when we have been left behind by friends or family members, for any number of reasons? Perhaps we were separated in a shopping mall or at a fair as a child. Which of us has been stood up for an important date as a teenager? As adults we may have been forgotten during our birthday or anniversary.

Hopefully all of these events ended in a joyful reunion or celebration with our loved ones. Many who have shared these experiences may remember feelings of being alone, forgotten, helpless, and perhaps even frightened.

Now try to imagine that you are a service member in a far off part of the world, separated from those who you trust and depend upon, fighting off an enemy that is closing in around you with each passing minute. Will you be captured? Wounded? Killed? Will your family and friends ever know what became of you? Will anyone come to rescue you?

Although I was never a POW/MIA, I would imagine these thoughts to be very similar to those who have found themselves in this situation. Regardless of our individual opinions on specific POW/MIA issues, each of us should take a moment to reflect upon the suffering of another human being.

Be grateful that so many POW/MIA's have returned home alive, for there are others who never will. Be respectful towards those families and friends who continue to search for those who are lost. Be sympathetic to those whose search has ended with a solemn funeral service after years of anguish and pain.

But most of all, we must never forget those who may still feel forgotten.

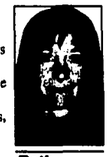
Change Is Inevitable: Just Get Used To Dialing 336



Beth Cassidy

Change.

It is inevitable. But that doesn't make it any easier.

Is it age that causes us to set our jaw and rail against the currents that sweep us all along? Or is it genetic? Our parents resisted change and so do we.

Summer slides gently into autumn, and winter bumps into spring.

Children grow. Puppies grow. Kittens grow.

Fashion moves from hippie to preppie to grunge to retro and back again.

There are divorces, deaths, marriages, and career changes.

And there are area code changes.

Yesterday, my son asked, "Does the sun move?"

His dad wisely answered, "No, the sun is constant. We are the ones who are moving."

It's that momentum that takes us from sunshine to moonlight and back again, and it is that same forward movement that precipitates the change in all our lives.

There have been complaints about the new area code. I feel sorry for the small business owners who are barely able to pay their employees and eke out a meager living for themselves. Having to finance this change will cost them a month's worth of groceries.

But the world is growing and changing, and our area codes go right along with it.

We can gripe about it all we want, but it won't do any good.

I admire a U.S. 158 homeowner in Clemmons who said to me recently, "It doesn't matter to me what they do with the 158 Corridor. I'll just sell my house and move. There's no use to get upset about it." Now there's a man not afraid of change.

Yes, we were promised 8 years of 910, but it just didn't happen that way. Let's get over it and get on with our lives.

And let's remember to dial 336.

The Sounds Of ... Barking

To the editor:

For most of my life I lived in a large city. I hated it. One of the things I hated most were the nighttime sounds of the city. They were bad sounds: sirens, all kinds, police cars, fire trucks, ambulances. Traffic, buses, trucks, cars and low flying planes and helicopters. All night long. (The city never sleeps.) The sounds of your neighbors: People arguing, babies crying, radios, stereos and TVs. And, of course, the occasional gun shots. All bad sounds. You get used to them, learn to live with them and even manage to shut them out, partially, but never completely. You keep your windows closed. No great hardship there; city air stinks and it's not safe to leave windows open.

At the first opportunity I left the noise of the city and moved to the country, to beautiful, quiet, rural Davie County. Now I could sleep with the windows open and I soon found that the county nights were also filled with sound. These were good sounds: crickets, cicadas, and other insects. Whippoorwills, cows mooing in the pasture, an occasional owl and maybe a duck or goose that had been disturbed in its slumber. At night the country air is cool and clean. Turn off that noisy, expensive air conditioner. Open the windows and fall asleep to the lullaby of good sounds.

But then you hear the barking dogs (bad sound). People in the city have dogs, too. They keep them as pets and for protection. The family loves the dog and it lives in the house as a member of the family. The children play with it and someone takes it for walks and exercise. The dog keeps the same hours as the family. It knows the normal city sounds and can identify something out of the ordinary, such as a person trying to break in.

The dog barks and the family wakes and investigates why the dog was barking. Of course the interloper has fled. The family says "good dog", and they all go back to sleep.

Why do country people have dogs, I wonder? Country dogs live outside and are rarely, if ever, permitted into the house. Except to feed and water them, they are given practically no attention. Most are confined almost constantly in very small enclosures, or are chained to a stake. The lucky ones have a small dog house where they can escape the weather. They pace their little enclosures or at the end of their chain, wearing away bare patches in the ground. Some are allowed to just roam free. You see them fouling neighbors' property and lying dead beside the road.

And they bark. They bark at night, sometimes all night. They bark for any reason and for no reason: a passing car, a rabbit, a far off train or to answer another dog half a mile away. Or maybe the owner forgot to feed them, again. Like the boy who cried wolf, the dog's barking is ignored by its owner who mostly doesn't even hear it. They do hear other people's dogs though. Mr. Jones complains about Mr. Smith's dog. Mr. Smith is bothered by the dogs of Mr. Brown and Mr. Jones and Mr. Brown can't understand why Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith can't keep their dang dogs quiet. But none of them hear their own barking, barking, barking.

Pity the poor neighbor who doesn't have a dog. He hears all of them and can't even retaliate. All he can do is close the windows, partially shutting out not only the barking dogs but also the good sounds and the cool, clean air. Turn on the noisy air conditioner (which probably disturbs his neighbors) and breathe the dry recycled air.

People of Davie County, please evaluate why you have a dog. You feed it and clean up after it, but what pleasure do you get from having a dog that spends 98 percent of it's life in a little cage. Don't let it wander the neighborhood. And please, please, please, try to keep it from barking and barking and barking at night.

Be a good neighbor.

It's Textile Heritage Day Time

Food will include hot dogs and hamburgers, and polish sausage and grilled chicken sandwiches by a vendor from China Grove.

Denny Creason's Backyard BBQ will have a booth with proceeds going to the Cooleemee Historical Association, which sponsors the festival and operates the Zachary House and museum.

Crafters will include Cooleemee native Bobbie Howard Black, whose pottery will include a special Centennial plate featuring the Bullhole.

Churches in the exhibit will include Erwin Temple AME Zion, North Cooleemee Baptist, Cooleemee Methodist, Cooleemee Baptist, Cooleemee Presbyterian and Cooleemee Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd.

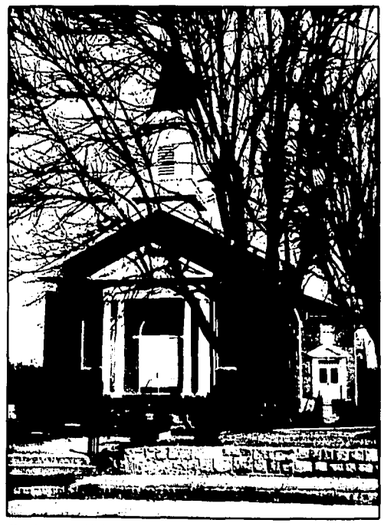
Religious life has always been important to Cooleemee area residents, from pre-mill times to today.

The Episcopal Church was built in 1901 under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. Francis Murdock. The first Sunday School superintendent was Ashe Bost. The parish house was built in 1912.

Cooleemee Presbyterian was organized at about the same time, as people began moving to the town to work in the new mill. The Rev. Francis M. Allen organized the church, with 17 charger members. The first building was dedicated in August, 1904.

Cooleemee Baptist also began with the cotton mill, and was an outgrowth of a Sunday School started by the second resident of the town, Samuel Jesse Tatum. It met in a house, then on th escond floor of the J.N. Ledford store. In 1900, it was organized as a mission of Jerusalem Baptist, and the Rev. C.H. Utley was the first pastor, in 1902. The first building was completed in 1905.

The Rev. J.M. Downum started Cooleemee Methodist in 1901, with services in a building on Watt Street, later to the hall over J.N. Leford Co. The Rev. J.B. Craven was the first pastor, in 1901 and th first wooden building was constructed.



Cooleemee United Methodist Church is located on Main Street.

The Crystal River Band will be part of the festival's featured entertainment.

had with the cable company. The first time she called, an employee went to her house and told her he was just sent to appease her. Later another representative of the company told her the problem would probably take six months to cure.

County Manager Ken Windley said he had received complaints about cable not being buried. One woman had been trying to get her cable buried for 11 months, and the company finally jumped on it when he called. That was the sixth call made to Genesis.

Frustrated customers should call Staud. "I'll get it handled," he said.

Commissioner Richard Poindexter said he can see a difference.

His neighbors are not complaining as much, and he receives fewer phone calls than he used to get, he said.

Fire Marshal To Present Program

The Davie County Senior Center sponsors a monthly "Lunch and Learn" program at the Western Steer in Mocksville on the first Thursday of each month at noon.

Speakers from every walk of life discuss a variety of topics for an hour of food, fun, fellowship and learning.

On Thursday, Oct. 2, George Frye, Davie County Fire Marshal, will be our guest at Lunch and Learn. Frye will talk to the group about fire safety and prevention. All seniors in Davie County are invited. Western Steer provides a free drink to all seniors. Ask for the free coupon at the door.

Incentives Eyed

"Good industry helps us strive to maintain lower taxes," he said. "When you do that, you're working for the common welfare, the good of the whole community."

When looking at offering the incentives, the town expects the expense to be paid back within 10 years in tax revenues.

Bralley said that industries want to locate near an interstate highway.

"We're at a point where people will have to accept certain changes," Mayor D.J. "Nick" Mando said. "You've got to keep up with the times."

County Commissioners Support Effort To Rename 158

One of Mocksville's highways could soon have a new name.

Local members of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Burr Brock and Harold Frank, asked Davie County Commissioners to support a request to the N.C. Board of Transportation to name U.S. Hwy. 158 the Military Order of the Purple Heart Highway.

Letters of approval are needed from all the towns and counties through which the highway passes, according to Brock, who is in charge of public relations for the state organization.

The Military Order of the Purple Heart is trying to have the road, which begins in Mocksville and ends in Manteo, renamed all the way across the state, said Frank, Mocksville VFW Post Commander.

The Purple Heart organization was founded by George Washington, Brock told commissioners.

To be a member, one must have been shot, stabbed or injured in some other way in battle, according to Frank.

Many of the local members are veterans of World War I and II. This way of honoring them will not cost taxpayers anything, Brock said.

Commissioners voted unanimously to assist the organization in getting the new road name, which would continue to be known as U.S. Highway 158 also.

Oct. 10 Voter Registration Deadline For Next Election

The deadline for registering to vote, or make precinct/name corrections to be eligible to vote in the upcoming Nov. 4 elections is Friday, Oct. 10.

Only electors residing within the boundaries of the Towns of Mocksville and Cooleemee, and Bermuda Center Sanitary District will be going to their respective polling locations Tuesday, Nov. 4. There will be no county-wide elections this November.

With approval of the county commissioners', manager, and the board of elections' arrangements have been made to give the voters in the Town of Mocksville the opportunity to vote on the Votronic direct record elections equipment.

Agreement has been made with Global Elections Systems to give the voters in the Town of Cooleemee the opportunity to use the Accu-Vote scan equipment.

"There has been no decisions made to purchase electronic equipment at this time, but this will give the electors in these two locations the opportunity to see first hand the benefits of using electronic equipment," stated Margaret Shew, county elections director. There will be no cost to the county, or Towns for using this equipment in these elections.

Applications for absentee voting by mail may be filed with the election's office beginning Friday, Oct. 3. Voting by mail is available for electors who know they will be out of the county the entire period that the polls will be open, 6:30 a.m.-7:30 p.m., or who due to disability or health problems will be unable to travel to the polls, Nov. 4. Applications may be filed in person, or on behalf of a voter by their immediate family, or legal guardian until Tuesday, Oct. 28.

"One Stop" absentee voting will be available in the election's office beginning Monday, Oct. 13 for the convenience of an elector who will be unable to go to the polls, but able to come by the election's office to cast their ballot by 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 31.

If there are questions, call the elections office at 634-2027 during office hours.

County Looks At Sewer Rates For East Davie

Potential sewer rates for sewer service in eastern Davie County are being considered by the Board of Commissioners.

County Manager Ken Windley presented commissioners with a proposed list of fees Sept. 15.

The board is expected to vote on the proposal at its Oct. 6 meeting.

The proposed fees are comparable with other counties around Davie, according to Windley.

If approved, tap-on-fees will be $850 for a four inch line, $1,250 for a six inch line and actual cost plus 15 percent for an eight inch line.

Capital fees would be $480 per bedroom for a residence, $480 per 1,000 square feet for a store, $480 per room for a hotel or motel, $100 per employee for an office or factory, $2,000 per 1,000 square feet for a medical or dental office and $4 times gallons per day of actual permitted flow for industrial wastewater.

If the plan is approved, residents would be charged a $15 minimum for the first 3,000 gallons and $5.70 per 1,000 gallons.

My heart attack came unexpectedly early one morning. My doctor told me to go directly to the Emergency Room at Forsyth. I've never experienced such a level of care. My treatment in the emergency room, my heart catheterization and my angioplasty were all flawless. They walked me through every step, so my wife and I knew my options and exactly what was going on. There's no way I can describe the attention I received or the thoroughness. It was magnificent.
Most of the time people are terrified of going into the hospital. But truly, it is the opposite at Forsyth. I can't imagine anything being done better. Today I'm doing great.

Medical Equipment Business Open In Davie

With the trend of shorter hospital stays, Davie Medical Equipment on North Main Street in Mocksville continues to pick up business.

Company co-owner Tom McMillan was director of respiratory care at Davie County Hospital for 16 years before starting his own business.

"We supply respiratory and home medical equipment help patients in the home," he said. "Our job is to help set up the hospital setting in the home. It's an advantage to the people in Davie County to have something close and local."

Supplies range from compression hosiery to wheelchairs and hospital beds, and just about everything in between. Items can be purchased, or rented. The company works with insurance groups, Medicaid and Medicare, he said.

"We get quite a bit of walk-in traffic. A lot of people want to see what's available before they get it," McMillan said.

There are two full-, and two part-time employees.

Highway 601 Property Rezoned For Truck Repair Business

The Davie County Board of Commissioners voted to rezone 4.1 acres on U.S. Hwy. 601 South from residential to highway business for special use as a truck repair business.

Property owner Robert Byrne agreed to restrict truck traffic at the business 9 p.m.-7 a.m. except in emergencies.

Byrne's building is brick and about 17 feet high. It is surrounded by woods, and much of the neighboring land is already zoned for highway business or industrial use, according to his attorney Hank Van Hoy.

He assured the board there will be no hazardous wastes and no junk trunks parked outside the building.

Byrne lives on the property with his wife and three children where he will operate this business repairing and refurbishing tractor traller trucks. His work requires welding and cutting but will create no loud noise, hammering or hazardous waste, Van Hoy said.

The only disturbance to his neighbors will be when trucks enter and leave, Byrne told commissioners.

He said he is a considerate neighbor.

Hearing no opposition to Byrne's request, the board voted to approve it.

Commissioner Richard Poindexter abstained from voting, telling the board he is a close friend of Byrne's.

The board also voted to approve the requests for new road names for two unnamed private roads that serve two or more residences.

A road off U.S. Hwy. 64 West was named Hampton Lane, and a road off Howardtown Circle was named Lera Lane.

The board also approved a request to change the name Rhinchardt Road to Rhynehardt Road.

There was no public comment on any of the road name changes.

Church Restoration Project Needs Volunteers, Money

Cherry Hill Lutheran Church needs help.

Organized in 1873 but not used in years, the historic church building has fell the victim to time and vandals. It sits on a hill at Cherry Hill and Point roads, and it's the newest restoration project of Historic Davie.

Work days have been scheduled for Sept. 27 and Oct. 11 at 9 a.m. Call Julie Patton at 634-9533 or Polly Gales at 634-4533 for more information. Volunteers should bring their own tools if possible. This Saturday, workers with ladders and paint scrapers are needed, as well as tools for cleaning the grounds. Manpower is also needed to help level the church.

"We encourage yoth groups, church clubs and Scouts to help," Patton said.

Historic Davie is accepting - and needs - money and volunteers for the project.

The estimated cost of restoration is $84,694 - with $56,999 needed to pay contractors, and volunteers willing to donate time, saving $28,095.

War Eagles Terrify North Wilkes With 71-0 Thrashing

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

The sequel to Scream, a horror film that was the summer's hottest movie, is supposed to premier sometime next year. But North Wilkes will attest that stations WXII and WGHP taped previews of the sequel Friday night at War Eagle Stadium, where the Vikings were terrified 71-0 by unbeaten Davie in a nonconference football game.

In a thrashing that marked Davie's first 4-0 start in 24 years, the War Eagles scored the most points in school history and recorded the most lopsided victory ever, topping a 64-6 romp over North Stanly in 1973.

The Vikings, a 2-A team from the Mountain Valley Conference who dropped to 1-3, can blame Starmount for the nightmare. The Rams, as late as the first day of school, were scheduled to visit Mocksville but Coach B.W. Holt inadvertently scheduled Watauga, North Wilkes and Davie on the same date. Holt, who has lost three times to Davie in the last four years, chose Watauga, a move that eventually turned into a home rout for the Rams. That left Davie and North and the series will continue through 2000.

Benjie Brown, Davie's coach, suggested that the mismatch beat sitting at home.

"We got to play a lot of kids," he said. "We worked on a lot of stuff that hopefully will help us down the road. We played an inferior team but their kids played hard. They probably did the best they could do. It just so happened that we are more talented and the scoreboard showed it."

North coach Jeff Peal, who told Davie's staff not to apologize for playing hard when Brown sent word that nothing malicious was intended by the embarrassing final score, was just relieved that none of his players were carried off on a stretcher. The Vikings, though, had 23 healthy players at game time and around 20 in the painful end.

"Fortunately, we don't think anybody's hurt bad," Peal said. "We started with low numbers and we got a little lower by the third quarter. We played hard but playing hard doesn't get it when you're outgunned so much.

"Davie's got an excellent team that is very well coached with some great athletes. Hat's off to Davie."

One minute into a game that had two TV cameramen roaming the home side, defensive end Nathan Joyce recorded the first of seven Davie sacks on North quarterback Jonathan Peebles, who helplessly scrambled 16 times for minus-56 yards. Joyce's hit, the first of three sacks for the senior, jarred the ball loose and J.J. Rice, who had two sacks, recovered the ball at the North 14. Quarterback Drew Ridenhour, on fourth and one at the 5, followed center Brian Murphy to the end zone on a sneak and Davie led two minutes into the game.

The rest of the night was extra-point practice for kicker Eric Kofke, who drilled eight of 10 PATs. The War Eagles led 14-0 after one quarter, 30-0 at the break and 57-0 after the third.

Ridenhour and receiver Charles Miller hooked up for the fourth time this year on a touchdown pass, brothers Cedric and Ricky White each scored twice and Matt James, Jonathon Creason, Melvin Williams and Kenny Collins added TDs.

James returned an interception 50 yards down the visitor's sideline, and Williams and Collins busted free for long runs when Davie was sincerely trying to milk the fourth-quarter clock and soften the blow. Williams, a reserve fullback who rushed nine times for 92 career-high yards, split the heart of North's defense for a 44-yard run and Collins, a scout-team tailback in practice, sped 53 yards outside in his first tour of duty in the backfield.

Brown winced as the score climbed.

"We were trying to keep the score down and we gave (Williams) a bunch of carries," he said. "We ran the same two (inside) plays probably the whole last quarter, and we had some break unfortunately. I was proud of Melvin – I'm glad he got the touchdown – but we weren't looking to score. . . . We were looking to run time off the clock and

Soccer Team Wins Two

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie's varsity soccer team needed a victory. It wasn't going for style points.

After losing two matches to open the season, the War Eagles finally picked up some wins last week, beating Forbush and North Iredell 3-2 while tying Northwest Cabarrus 2-2.

"We needed some wins, and we got them. It was just an ugly, ugly game," Coach Pete Gustafson said after closing out the three-game week with North Iredell.

Now that the War Eagles have some wins, Gustafson isn't fooling himself into thinking his team (2-2-1) has made a complete recovery.

"The defense plays really well at times, then just has a one- or two-second breakdown," he said. "It's not a lack of effort, it's strictly a mental game. And that part of us has got to change.

"We lost our composure (against North), and I'm kind of at odds of what

Cross Country Teams Strong In Early Season

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Sometimes, even Cary Powers can't help but marvel over Davie's cross country teams.

"We are real strong as long as our top five stays healthy," said Powers, whose War Eagles opened the league schedule with dominating wins over South Stokes and South Rowan last Wednesday at Pinebrook.

The boys were once again perfect with 15 points to South Stokes' 48 and South Rowan's 65, and the girls' 18 easily topped South Stokes' 48 and South Rowan's zero.

"I think they were surprised that we did as well as we did. We were real excited. We've got a real good shot at finishing well in the conference."

Garick Hill (17:29), Marshall Pitts (17:55), Shannon Mayhew (18:15), Jamie Neese (18:50) and Jason Neese (19:00) swept the top spots in the boys' race and Colleen Brooks (23:04) and Jerrine Peeler (23:31) paced the girls with one-two finishes. Sidra Ledford (23:34), Caroline Steed (24:42) and Laurie Desch (25:31) closed out at fourth, fifth and sixth.

Davie ran smoothly on weary legs. Two days earlier, Davie stomped Forbush, North Iredell and South Iredell on North's 3.2-mile course, shortly longer than the 3.1-mile customary course.

"That worked us pretty hard," Powers said. "It had lots of turns and hills,

Tennis Team Needs Strong Finish To Earn Playoff Berth

With four of 10 precincts in, Davie's girls tennis team is losing the Central Piedmont Conference playoff race. A 9-0 landslide over downcast South Stokes is the War Eagles' only CPC victory, but late September and early October have failed to report, two big primaries that could land the War Eagles one of three postseason berths.

Brian Pitts

In a telltale match with an inside lane for third place at stake, the War Eagles slipped 5-4 at West Forsyth last Wednesday, a distressful loss that reeked of blown opportunities.

In an odd twist, Davie possibly took a giant step forward.

"We should have had that," Coach Carol Cozart said. "The good part about that, I think the girls realize we should have had it and we could have had it. We let easy things go.

"I think the girls almost surprised themselves. You know, West Forsyth is tougher than Mt. Tabor, and yet we lost to Mt. Tabor 9-0. So we can - and will – do better against Mt. Tabor next time."

Thank goodness there's next time, because a ragged showing at the top of Davie's ladder, where Jeannette Miller and Lauren Poplin fell 10-0 at Nos. 1 and 2 singles, shifted enormous weight on the lower steps. "I felt like Miller and Poplin were getting some good points, but we weren't scoring well," Cozart said.

No. 3 Erin Hege held serve ahead 6-5, prime position for a vital victory while Kristen Powell, Lindsay Thomas and Nancy Vogler dispatched their opponents at Nos. 4-6, but Hege's net game melted on her way to dropping five consecutive points and the match.

With the ball in Hege's corner, Cozart prematurely counted to seven.

"I was looking for that score to go to 7-5, but Erin stopped doing some of the things that she had been doing to get her to that point," she said. "She didn't get to the net and do those things she needs to do. You know, all it takes in those games is a point here and a point there to turn the whole tide. She worked the whole way through it, and all those games were deuce and ad, but she just couldn't seem to (regain command)."

Thomas bolted ahead 5-0 and coasted to a 10-3 win, while Powell and Vogler staged beautiful comebacks. Powell fell behind 3-0, Vogler 5-0, then both stormed back for sizable wins (10-5 and 10-6).

"She got in a groove and ran off six points in a row," Cozart said of Powell, who has spent most of the season hobbling around on a bad ankle. "She has just played exceptionally well since she's come back. I've been real pleased with her."

Cozart laughed when recounting Vogler's sluggish start, when she played with wooden legs and mainly spectated.

"It was one of those things where she was standing in one spot and if the ball wasn't hit there, she was having difficulty with it," he said. "She finally realized what moving her feet was going to do. . . . We tease her about that a lot. She started moving her feet and got some really good results with it. She ran off seven straight games, very lopsided games, and I was real pleased with that."

Vogler's revival symbolized the War Eagles: They were back on their feet, tied 3-3 with three doubles matches dangling. But a split was hardly comforting. "We easily could have been up 4-2 after singles," Cozart said.

No. 3 Vogler and Sarah Stein, long-time partners with requisite chemistry, picked apart their opponents in a matter of minutes, vaulting the War Eagles to the doorstep of victory.

But the Titans' top doubles teams

Who's Hot

War Eagle Soccer Team's Record Improves With Two Wins, 2-2 Tie

to do about that. But we are going to remain positive and keep pushing at it.

"Other than that, I'm proud of the guys."

A picture-perfect finish from Greg Lanier, a penalty kick from Brandon Johnson and a 20-yard direct kick from Tim Kokoski put Davie in the driver's seat at 3-0.

Kokoski, who had his coming-out party last week with two goals and two assists, fed Lanier for the first goal, then played mind games on the direct kick.

"It was pretty neat," Gustafson said. "He lined up like he was going to kick it with his right, and then he came around. It was just a beautiful goal."

The Raiders rose from the dead, striking twice late in the second half to turn a blowout into a fierce battle.

There's that mental lapse again.

"Then it was nothing but a war," Gustafson said. "It was not a pretty game. But we held on, we didn't give up.

"It was a pretty good week. Our goal was obviously to go 3-0, and we did the closest thing without losing that you can do."

• Kokoski, a junior left midfielder, grabbed the coach's attention. "He had a good week, no doubt about it," said Gustafson, who also commended Aarron Ellwood, sophomore Jeremy Howell, Eric Kofke and Johnson. "Kofke and Johnson are putting goals in and they're getting assists." . . . Kofke and Johnson lead the team in goals and assists with four and two, respectively, and Kokoski has two assists.

Earlier Action

Brian Campbell's goal with 10 minutes left lifted Davie to a 3-2 win at Forbush, and scores from Johnson and Kokoski salvaged a 2-2 tie against Northwest Cabarrus.

"I started him at striker and moved him back to midfield, so that's good in itself," Gustafson of Campbell, who chipped the winner over the keeper's head.

A Kofke-to-T.J. Potts connection started the scoring, and Kokoski and Johnson performed together beautifully for a 2-0 lead.

"Kokoski hit a cross from the left side," Gustafson said. "It was a gorgeous goal – a gorgeous cross, gorgeous goal."

Keeper Tim Cope had nine saves. Davie and Northwest slugged it out for 80 minutes, without a winner.

"It was just a war, a great game and very even," Gustafson said. "I thought it was a really good game; clean, no messing around. It was just a good game to watch."

Cope had seven saves and Potts added five.

Davie High JV Soccer Team Undefeated After Victory Over North Iredell

North Iredell's JV soccer team caught Davie napping two weeks ago, nearly pulling an upset before falling 2-0, but the Raiders were out of tricks in a rematch last week.

Alert and observant, the War Eagles rolled 4-1, running their record to 6-0-1 under Coach Sean Garnett.

"We slipped the last time, but this time we stepped up a lot more and didn't go down to their level. We really controlled the game," said Garnett, whose team dominated the shots 20-2.

After first-half goals from Luis Soto and Mitchell Garner, who added another score later, Garner dished to James Pittman for a third goal that allowed Chris Shore to enter the match at keeper.

Everything worked the way Garnett drew it up at halftime.

"I told them to score in the first five minutes so I could get Shore in there at goal, and four minutes into the second half we scored," Garnett said.

"Shore did a good job with four saves. That was good for him. I'm glad he's stuck with it. He's working hard."

The magical duo of Soto and Garner hooked up again in the closing minutes, capping the scoring.

But Garnett made sure to applaud the unsung defensive leaders, standouts who seldom stand out on the stat sheet.

"Derek Turner has been playing great defense," Garnett said. "Nick Goughnour, Turner, Justin Simpson and Justin Long are defenders who have kept us in a lot of games. I'm proud of how they're doing."

Garner Rescues Davie

After the War Eagles unraveled against Forbush, allowing two unanswered goals that sent them down 2-1, Garner punched in a heroic game-tying score with only 10 seconds left to send the match into a draw.

"We fell apart and then we tied it up," said Garnett of the Soto-to-Garner goal. "We were pretty excited. We got lucky, but we showed a lot of character and pride.

"We worked hard the last 10 seconds. .... We should have worked hard the whole game."

Garner, the team's runaway leader in goals, scored the game's first goal on an assist from Jay Smith.

In the second of three matches, Davie repelled a stingy Northwest Cabarrus team 2-1. "They're the best team we've faced skill-wise," Garnett said.

Ryan Barnes had a big day, assisting Soto and sending home a pass from Travis Ervin.

"We stepped up that game," Garnett said. "Jeremy Link played hard and won a lot of balls."

Mitchell Garner works his way toward another goal for Davie's JV soccer team.

Team Aims For Playoffs

held the key. No. 1 Poplin and Powell (10-7 losers) butchered themselves with unforced errors and No. 2 Miller and Hege (10-6 losers) forgot to charge the net, an 11th-hour fade that sent Davie spiraling down the tubes.

"Everything Poplin and Powell hit that typically would be a winner, they just seemed to get to," Cozart said. "Then we kept making some unforced errors. We would set up a point very nicely, we would move around and do great, but when it came to the final shot we just didn't execute. And that cost us.

"Miller and Hege let them take over the net. You just can't do that, particularly in doubles, because you just can't sit back there and hit. It will kill you. They got to the net first and took it way."

Davie decimated South Stokes and should bounce mediocre South Rowan, leaving the difference between fourth and third place on rematches with high-powered Reynolds, Mt. Tabor and West Forsyth.

Davie will need a can of magic to knock off Reynolds and Mt. Tabor (though Cozart insists that West Forsyth is in Tabor's class) but the War Eagles should win a minimum of four matches, five if they redeem themselves against West on Oct. 6 at South Davie.

Davie began to approach its potential in Thursday's 8-1 win at Northwest Cabarrus, a victory that revealed refinement on the heels of flawed play at West Forsyth. Before falling like dominoes during crunch time, Northwest repeatedly presented a challenge to Davie, and Cozart prefers it that way.

"This was more of what I like to see in a nonconference match," she said. "Those matches were in question all the way through the middle part of the match. It's not like we went in there and just started zipping them off. Everything was real close.

"We had a chance to come back and correct what we did wrong against West. We were doing some of the things correctly that we had done incorrectly against West. I feel like they learned something about themselves. I think they realize they're better than they've been playing. I hope that's going to carry over, because we still have a lot of matches to play."

The wilting summer left center court this week and chilly autumn will hold serve until the climactic end, about the time the War Eagles find out if they're staying or going.

so we ran a little tired. I thought that was excellent."

• At North Iredell on Sept. 15, Davie's girls rolled with 20 points to Forbush's 60, North's 65 and South's 77. The boys' 18 was far better than South's 64, Forbush's 87 and North's 91. Brooks (23:35) and Hill (17:38) paced both clubs with overall-winning times.

Brandy Koontz, Ashlee Andrade, Elise Whitaker and Megan Mick offer stiff competition for South Stokes and South Rowan.

Wildcat Softball Team Earns Another Lopsided Win

The opening week of the season has been pretty much a yawner for North Davie's softball team.

The Wildcats torched the Kannapolis Blue Devils 16-1 here Wednesday for their third straight win, lopsided victories that have totaled 58-12.

The battery, Stacey Handy and Brandy Sain, was the catalyst. Handy struck out 10 (in five innings because of the 10-run rule) and Sain was superb behind the plate.

"Stacey did a super, super job," Coach Jamie Lyerly said. "This was Stacey and Brandy's best game so far. Both did an excellent job.

"We played good defense and the hitting was good. It was a good team effort."

North pounded out 19 hits, including five doubles by Handy, Amanda Sink, Layne Grout, Jenna Richie and Dawn Singleton.

Lauren Cornatzer, Sain, Ashley Williams, April Ervin, Ashley Knoll and Sheena Smith also had hits. Sain and Grout led with three hits each.

North Davie 17, Mooresville 7

By all accounts, North Davie wasn't at its best. But give the Wildcats 16 walks and they don't have to be.

"We did not hit the ball as well as the first game against them," said Lyerly, whose club's 17-7 win on Sept. 15 was the second over Mooresville in a six-day span.

"We made several defensive errors – a fly ball was dropped in the infield and we threw to the wrong base."

But North could afford an occasional mental lapse with the Red Imps' erratic pitching. Singleton, Sain, Williams and Smith had the only hits, and pitcher Handy kept Mooresville from drawing close.

She struck out three and walked just two in four innings and Grout, who walked seven, struggled through two innings.

North Davie Breezes Past Forsyth Country Day

Forsyth Country Day's chances of knocking off North Davie's volleyball team were slim with all of its pieces intact – zip with a lineup stripped of four starters.

The unbeaten Wildcats breezed (15-2, 15-4) to their fifth consecutive win here Wednesday.

"I felt kind of bad for (FCD) because they were missing six players and four starters," Coach Trish King said. "Yet they went out and played a pretty good match against us under the circumstances."

Stars Christina Gajewski and Melinda Spach were responsible for 16 of North's 30 points.

"Our serving is coming on much better," King said. "We're trying to work on the overhead serving more instead of underhand. I'm just real proud of the girls. I think they are doing a lot better than I ever expected."

The rout allowed King time to empty her bench.

"What I was most excited about was I got to play a lot of kids who haven't played much," she said.

Summit Stomped By North

The Wildcats were geared for a war when Summit visited Farmington, but Summit has descended to mediocrity since last year.

That was evident as North cruised 15-8, 15-9.

"It wasn't a real exciting match," King said. "The kids were nervous coming in because we were expecting a real tough match, but Summit came in and were real weak. We ended up beating them fairly easy."

King was impressed that Summit's flawed played didn't become contagious.

"The girls didn't let the flow of the match interrupt their rhythm," she said. "Sometimes, when the other team isn't playing real well, you tend to let your guard down. But we kept our guard up and played real well. We were real ready and focused."

Spach and Gajewski carried the load in game one, serving all 15 points, and Candice Lesperance served six winners in the second game.

make some first downs."

Collins, a starting wide receiver who has made a living on reverses over the last two years, unveiled another side of his repertoire, rushing for 76 yards on four carries at tailback.

"He's never lined up and actually run one of our (running) plays," Brown said. "It was a good experience for him, and it gives us a chance to look at somebody else in case something crazy was to happen."

Cedric White topped 100 yards rushing for the fourth time, tallying 153 on 11 carries as Davie churned out 420 yards on the ground, and the bullish defense turned the Vikings' feeble offense the other way. They had minus-24 total yards, two first downs to Davie's 22 and punted nine times while Davie punter Scott Cornatzer took the evening off. Tackle Forrest Breedlove and linebacker Kenny White had two of Davie's sacks, and ends Bradford Ivey, Jamien Smith and Joyce dropped dazed runners all night.

Brown credited the entire defensive unit for turning out the lights time and again.

"They all had good games," he said. "They ran a lot of option plays, which allowed our rush ends to make some plays on the quarterback and look good to people in the stands."

People in the stands seldom saw safeties Cornatzer and James, among others, involved in tackles.

"The whole defensive line really played well," linebacker coach Scott Young said. "Those guys (Rice, Breedlove, B.J. Johnson and Ronnie Blackburn) got after it and my linebackers and defensive backs were complaining all night that they weren't getting to make any tackles, because the defensive line was taking care of all the business.

"I thought Joyce had the best game he's played this year. We had him playing in a special package, and he played that position to the hilt. He did a wonderful job."

And Rice constantly disrupted North's flow, nearly taking the snap on several occasions.

"J.J. is something else," Young said. "I like those boys (from North Wilkes) – I thought they played with a lot of heart – but they just don't have anybody who can block J.J."

Davie To Battle Central Davidson

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Can the giddy Davie War Eagles come back down from their 71-0 pasting of North Wilkes before Friday night's nonconference contest at Central Davidson? Or will they experience a severe week-long hangover?

Some can handle blowouts, some can't.

Coach Benjie Brown predicts that his streaking boys will be geared for the 7:30 p.m. date, Davie's first meeting with the Spartans, members of the Tri-County 3-A Conference, in 27 years.

"I think they'll handle it fine," he said. "We are trying to work on different aspects of our game, and we'll use the next two (non-league) weeks to do the same thing. I expect (Friday's) challenge to be a little bit tougher, the next week (at home against North Davidson) will be tougher and then we'll get into conference play and things will get real tough then."

Davie's coaching staff is spending this week turning the War Eagles' focus toward this game, not the anticipated future. "They've got to understand that each week is going to get a little tougher and that we are going to have to play a little bit tougher," Brown said.

Davie High Vs. Central Davidson
When: Friday, Sept. 26
Time: 7:30 P.M.
Where: C. Davidson

The Spartans' secondary will likely receive a steady diet of Drew Ridenhour passes, a phase of Davie's game that Brown is looking to sharpen even more as the conference road looms closer. Ridenhour tossed his fourth touchdown pass, each of which has gone to receiver Charles Miller, against North Wilkes while completing seven of 12 passes for 59 yards. The sophomore continued to spread the completions, hitting four different targets, but a couple of bombs fell incomplete when Miller and Kenny Collins had their men beaten badly.

"We protected pretty good and Drew made some good throws, we just had a few balls dropped and Drew overthrew Miller," Brown said. "That is something we need to work on a little bit, but we put it out there for food for thought for other teams.

"They are not going to be able to sit there and say that we don't have the ability to throw the ball."

• Central Davidson, which sits a short drive from Davie assistant Jerry Walser's home, is 1-4 and has been outscored 111-56. . . . Davie and Central are knotted at 1-1-1 in the short series, with Davie losing 18-14 in 1966, winning 21-14 in '68 and tying 24-24 in '69. . . . A win and the War Eagles would post their third-best start in school history. Davie's 1959 team started 6-0 before slumping to 7-3, and the 1965 team won 10 straight before losing in the first round of the playoffs. Both clubs were coached by Jack Ward, Davie's all-time winningest coach.

JV War Eagles Cruise Past North Wilkes 24-0

Davie's JV football team strapped North Wilkes to the whipping post on Thursday, cruising 24-0, and by the time the varsity finished beating the Vikings to a bitter pulp, the damage totaled 95-0.

"Anytime you win and keep that goose egg, you're pretty happy," said Scott Young, an assistant coach. "We got a number of turnovers, Rod Tenor had some outstanding punt returns and (tailback) Mikey Arnold had a great game.

"Overall, we had a pretty good effort. We had some players step up in the absence of (injured) P.J. Cockerham, one of our defensive leaders."

Arnold rushed well over 100 yards for the second straight week, scoring three touchdowns in the process, and Tenor took a bomb from quarterback Michael Burton to paydirt for the fourth TD.

Davie, which improved to 2-1, led 18-0 at halftime and spent the rest of the night trying to burn the final 20 minutes.

Exhibition Game To Be Played

The Wake Forest Black and Gold game, a baseball intrasquad exhibition, has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 27 at Rich Park in Mocksville.

The Black and Gold game will be preceded by a youth clinic with the Demon Deacons at 5:45 p.m., which will give the Wake Forest players and coaches an opportunity to instruct youngsters in batting, fielding, pitching and base running. Following the clinic, the Wake Forest players will take part in a home-run derby at 6:45 p.m.

George Greer, now in his 17th season of coaching on the collegiate level, is in his 11th season as the Wake Forest coach. He has a 446-357 overall record, including a 340-235 mark with the Deacons.

Who Picked N. Wilkes? Don't Make That Mistake Again

By Dwight Sparks
Football Contest Director

He missed the telephone call by five minutes. Had he waited a little longer. Had he stayed for another cup of coffee ...

What a difference it would have made. What was just another Monday could have been turned into one of the best days of his life.

Instead, Bill F. White of Jack Booe Road had to wait.

He wouldn't find out until two days later that he was the winner. He had cashed in. His ship had come in.

White won the football contest.

Yes, gentle readers, he is THE WINNER.

What was the best thing that's ever happened to him? That would be marrying his wife, Dianne, of course.

Where would winning the contest rank?

"That would be second," she said.

Dianne took the call just after her husband had left for work. He's a truck driver for Lee Jeans, and Monday he was leaving for Missouri, not to be back until Wednesday.

He knows football.

"He watches it all the time on TV," his wife said. His favorite NFL team is Washington, and his favorite college team, Carolina.

The Whites have three children, all grown. They are Kevin, Lisa and Samantha.

What will he do with the money?

"I think he should just give it to me," his wife said.

White only missed six games, along with Scott Whitaker of Oak Grove Church Road. White claimed the $25 grand prize from Mr. Cash with his tie-breaker prediction.

Whitaker, meanwhile, picks up the $10 second prize.

Gentle readers, we have reviewed the instructions in the contest carefully. For some reason, some of our entrants seem confused. The instruction say to pick the ... winners. Not the losers. Yet, last week, so many of our entrants missed and missed and missed.

That's not the case with Bryan Eagle. Last week's winner demonstrated again that he's got football smarts. He missed eight, finishing in third place.

Also missing eight were Steve Lakey, David H. Smith, Robert Duncan, Randy Miller, Vernon Thompson and Rodgers Peoples.

Now for our coveted non-cash awards:

BASKETBALL AWARD — that ignominious award given to the one who missed the most games, indicating that basketball must be his sport — to Keith Dunn of Pudding Ridge Road. He missed 21. Honorable mention goes to Dustin Jordan, 9, of Cooleemee.

MOTHER OF THE YEAR AWARD — to Kathy Cornatzer, mother of Davie football's awesome safety Scott Cornatzer, the team interception leader, and the legendary Neil Cornatzer. Why didn't the Cornatzers have more sons to keep the Davie High football program going? While she may be the mother of outstanding athletes, she is not ready for Las Vegas. She missed 15 in the contest.

BUBBA COLEMAN AWARD — to Bubba Coleman, who played everything at Davie High not so many years ago. He's alive and well and living in ... Clemmons? Wouldn't he like to have had the pass protection and defense from this year's team? He missed 10 games.

STUDENT IN TRAINING AWARD: To Bryce Whitehead, 9, of Cooleemee, who measured in with 13 misses.

SEND A MESSAGE AWARD: To Tim Johnson, a good old Mocksville boy who has found work in China Grove, including heavy coaching duties in the middle schools at South Rowan. Johnson, son of Lethia and Charlie Johnson, is a contest faithful. But don't you figure he has already told South Rowan's coach that it will be a waste of time to even scout Davie this year?

There's no way they will win.

DARK AGES AWARD: (anonymous) to the only contest player who picked North Wilkes to beat Davie. We won't mention the name. It wouldn't be right. But you should know that Columbus has already discovered America, the earth is round, and Davie will win again this week, but not by so much.

Davie 64, Central Davidson 0.

Notes & Quotes

North Wilkes Coach: 'We Were Outmanned At A Lot Of Places'

North Wilkes football coach Jeff Peal made the understatement of the year after Davie's 71-0 trashing Friday night. "I felt like we were outmanned at a lot of places," he said.

Other than the score, Peal appreciated the Davie High surroundings. After the beating on the field, booster club member Emery Cornatzer, safety Scott's father, raced to the loser's dressing room to drop off 25 or so hot dogs and sodas. "We really appreciate the hospitality the Davie County football program showed us," he said. "We were treated with upmost respect, fed and taken care of nicely. Davie's got a first-class football team and the facilities are nice."

North Wilkes certainly stands a better chance against Davie on the wrestling mats. The Vikings, under Peal, have won the Mountain Valley Conference five straight years. In fact, Peal's last regular-season loss was delivered by Buddy Lowery's War Eagles four winters ago. "It would be nice to get a dual scheduled (with Davie) sometime. We'd like to," said Peal, who will begin his 13th year in a couple of months.

Davie's cross country teams are blazing the road with 10-0 records, but league powers West Forsyth, Mt. Tabor and Reynolds are next. Mt. Tabor hosted Davie and West on Wednesday.

"I've got cautious optimism," Coach Cary Powers said. "I feel like we've got an outstanding (boys) team. We've got lots of experience, but Mt. Tabor always has a good team and Reynolds, by conference time, always fills an excellent team.

"In the girls, West Forsyth and Mt. Tabor didn't lose much from last year. They'll be at the top of the conference. Reynolds has a lot of good young runners, so we're in a dogfight. We don't have a lot of depth or experience, so (this) week we'll see where the girls stand."

North Davie's volleyball team has avoided a common pitfall in sports: becoming stale. The Wildcats' competitive drive has propelled them to 5-0. "I'm real excited that we are getting better. We are not being stagnant," Coach Trish King said. "We are improving every game and that's what you want."

But the real test was Monday, when Chestnut Grove, which was responsible for North's lone loss during 1996's 13-1 season, hosted the Wildcats. "I think Chestnut Grove will give us a challenge," King said. "Last year we lost and it wasn't because they were that good. It was because we let down our guard and didn't play real well. Calvary will be another challenge for us because it was so close (Sept. 11 in a 3-15, 16-14, 15-13 North win)."

The South Davie seventh-grade team's 30-6 loss to Mooresville was Coach Barry Whitlock's worst setback since 1994, when Northwest Cabarrus blanked the Tigers 28-0.

The loss also snapped South's 10-game winning streak, a torrid stretch that started after a 22-6 loss to West Rowan in 1995.

South Davie Clobbers Knox 42-3 In Four Innings

As nightmares go, it has never been worse for the Knox Trojans than last Wednesday's softball game with South Davie.

This is no misprint: South Davie 42, Knox 3 in four innings.

"A game like this is good and bad," said Coach Grimes Parker, whose Tigers destroyed Corriher-Lipe last year in similar fashion, 39-0. "They were terrible, just terrible."

Parker isn't fooling himself. His girls, who improved to 2-0, still have work to do.

"A victory is a victory but we made a lot of mistakes," he said. "We did some good things, too. We hit well and ran the bases well.

"Our girls are getting confident now. They know they can hit and score runs. They seem to know what to do with the ball now."

Parker doesn't have a pitcher with Kim Hilton's control, but seventh graders Kirsten Durham and Brittany Walker are progressing nicely.

"The seventh graders are learning," said Parker, who got two innings each from Durham and Walker.

South ripped 27 hits, including six home runs. Ryanna McDaniel led the way with six hits and a homer, Walker and Samantha Cartner (two homers) had five hits and Durham and Randi Moore (two homers) had three hits. South got two hits from Sara Erb and Christin McClamrock and Holly Williams had one hit, a homer.

The schedule becomes stiffer this week for South, which battles West Rowan, Corriher-Lipe and North Rowan over the next week.

"We've got some tougher games coming up," Parker said. "Hopefully, we'll win two of the next three. Then we'll be happy."

Seventh Grade Tigers Collapse 30-6 To Mooresville

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

The South Davie seventh-grade football team collapsed against Mooresville as fast as it launched into a meteoric rise.

South's Michael Clement returned the opening kickoff 92 yards for a 6-0 lead, then the Tigers immediately recovered an onside kick that wasn't an onside kick. "It really wasn't supposed to be an onside kick," Coach Barry Whitlock said. "It went about 20 yards and their guy didn't get on it."

Then the Tigers' wheels went in four different directions, leading to an embarrassing 30-6 season-opening loss here Wednesday.

"From there, everything went down hill," Whitlock said. "They were good but we made them look better. We fumbled a snap, they scored on a fourth and 17 and we didn't tackle well. The defense didn't play good at all.

"I don't know if we were intimidated by their size or if it was first-game jitters. . . . I don't know. Hopefully, we are going to get better."

The Tigers' lack of effort rubbed Whitlock's skin like sandpaper, half-heartedness that's uncharacteristic of a Whitlock-coached team.

"I wasn't pleased with the effort," he said. "I don't care if we get beat 50-0 if we play hard. But I don't think we played hard, and we'll work that out starting (last Friday) at practice."

The Red Imps repeatedly ran through would-be tacklers, and the Tiger offense went backward as often as forward.

"We've got to tackle better," Whitlock said. "We were in the right places sometimes, but we just did not tackle.

"We had probably more penalties in that game than we had all of last year. Offsides here and there. The offense didn't move the ball much at all."

Thomas Parsley, the defensive end/center, and Clement were the only players that performed admirably.

"Parsley had a pretty good game, and Clement was a bright spot on kick-off returns," Whitlock said. "Other than that, we've got a lot of work to do.

"I hope they're the best team we see. If not, we're in trouble."

South Davie Opens Season With 26-6 Road Victory

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

There aren't many good times to catch South Davie's eighth-grade football team, a high-voltage squad coming off an unbeaten 1996 season, and a game following a so-so outing against North Davie isn't one of them.

And Mooresville paid a stiff price Thursday, when the Tigers began their quest for repeat titles with a convincing 26-6 road victory.

Coach Barry Whitlock, one day after suffering a 30-6 beating from Mooresville on the seventh-grade level, couldn't believe his eyes when the Red Imps shuffled to the field.

"I thought they were going to be a little bit better. I mean, their seventh graders were bigger than their eighth. . . I think they got the teams mixed up," he said.

Flashes 1996 reappeared when quarterback Cody Wright, on second and short, looked deep for receiver Jason Hogue on South's opening series. Wright hit his buddy in stride on a streak route for a 35-yard score. Neil Rice, who rushed for a game-high 131 yards on 13 carries, ran in the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

A talented runner often lost in the shuffle, Adrayus Arnold, broke loose and stretched the lead. He turned an inside run into a 68-yard TD scamper down the sideline.

"That was a good run because it really wasn't designed to go outside," Whitlock said. "He bounced it outside and beat them down the sideline."

A 14-yard reverse by Hogue pushed the halftime lead to 20-6, but some screws needed tightening. South's offensive line, which is gradually evolving into a one-way unit, was failing shield pursuing tacklers from time to time.

"We are working on where all of my offensive line is not going to play defense, so when they come over on the sideline we can sit down and talk," Whitlock said. "They showed me at the half where Mooresville was lining up, and we finally figured out how to block them."

The halftime chat paid early dividends, as Rice broke free for 85 yards, the game's final points.

"You could have driven a truck through the hole," Whitlock said. "We finally blocked it right."

• Arnold rambled for 90 yards on just five carries and South's bruising fullback, Patrick Lowery, churned out 50 impressive yards. "When you get 50 out of the fullback, that's pretty good," Whitlock said. "Patrick had some good, tough runs. They stopped Neil pretty good." . . . Other than the long TD completion to Hogue, South's passing game fizzled. "We didn't pass the ball well," he said of the 2-for-10 showing.

Tiger Tennis Team Splits Matches

South Davie's girls tennis team experienced both sides of a blowout last week, whipping the Corriher-Lipe Yellow Jackets 9-0 and falling 9-0 to the Knox Trojans.

In the home win against the Yellow Jackets, Erin Carter, Katie Miller, Andrea Harris, Martha Harris, Sarah Williams and Meg Brewer won in singles and Carter-Ashlee Prevette, Andrea Harris-Anna Mackintosh and Martha Harris-Deanna Shamel were victorious in doubles.

The Tigers, who are coached by Melanie Linville, are home the next three matches: Erwin on Sept. 25, China Grove on Sept. 29 and Mooresville on Sept. 30.

DHS Volleyball Teams Overcome Mt. Tabor

Davie's volleyball teams christened the school's new gym with victories over Mt. Tabor Thursday.

Tammy Reavis' varsity rolled in four games (15-8, 15-9, 5-15, 15-12) and Leo Brunelli's junior varsity survived a thriller (12-15, 22-20, 17-15).

"The atmosphere was wonderful," said Brunelli, whose club whipped West Forsyth two days earlier 17-15, 7-15 and 15-11. "It was loud and the crowd really got into it."

Coming off a 5-15, 7-15, 11-15 loss to West, Kim Anderson and setter Leann Spillman guided the varsity past Mt. Tabor.

"We played well against Mt. Tabor," Reavis said. "Kim played real well, hit real well, and Leann served real well."

The conference split left Davie, which smoked Salisbury earlier in the week, at 2-2 in the league and 8-2 overall.

"We played up and down, like we have all year," Reavis said. "But we're Brunelli eventually hit the right buttons in the draining Mt. Tabor match, finding a combination that rallied for two tense wins.

"I tried every combination and we finally found it," he said. "It was a total team effort. It was really exciting. Both teams had chances to win."

Ashley Sanders and Amber Carter provided clutch serves throughout the day. "They really gave us a spark," said Brunelli, as the War Eagles remained unbeaten in the league at 4-0 and 7-2 overall.

Cooleemee Defeats Pinebrook

Cooleemee's JV football team turned back the Pinebrook Trojans 20-6 Saturday.

Leading 14-6 at halftime, a 15-yard touchdown run midway through the third quarter iced the game for the Redskins. Pinebrook's lone score was a 20-yard completion from quarterback Johnathon Ayers to Mark Huggins.

Coach Tim Dunn of Pinebrook praised offensive linemen Steven St. John and Dennis Hale. Other highlights: Ayers passed for 76 yards and made seven tackles; Jasper Gray rushed for 88 yards and made five stops; and Huggins and Curt Davis made five and four tackles, respectively.

Varsity Redskins Beat Trojans

The Cooleemee Redskins capitalized on the Pinebrook Trojans' offensive mistakes to take a 16-6 decision Saturday in a varsity football game.

Coach Ronald Boger's team went to the air early and Cooleemee went the other way, returning an interception 30 yards for an 8-0 halftime lead.

The Redskins broke a 50-yard run in the third quarter to put the game out of reach. Pinebrook finally spoiled the shutout with a fourth-quarter TD.

"We try to throw and we've got a lot to work out there," Boger said. "Our defense did a good job, we just shot ourselves in the foot on offense.

"But we're getting better. We played pretty good, we just got beat and that's the way it goes."

Mocksville Rams Drop Raiders

The Mocksville Rams' varsity and JV football teams handled the W.R. Davie Raiders 22-8 and 22-0, respectively, Saturday.

"W.R. Davie has come a long way since they first started," varsity coach Mark McClannon said. "Their team played a good game today.

"Our line blocked really well. All of our players had a great game."

Dustin Morgan scored two touchdowns, Blake Klinksiek added another and the defense was led by Mitchell Roberts' 11 tackles.

Daniel Brown's JVs rolled behind TD runs from Tim Allen (60 yards), Reshaun Parks (40) and Aaron Geyer (13).

"First, let me give honor to God," Brown said. "W.R. Davie played a good game today, and their coaches are great. All of our players played a great game. We would like to thank God, our coaches, parents, sponsors and booster club."

Parks and Allen added two-point conversion runs for the Rams, who recovered eight fumbles.

Wildcats Fall To Erwin Seventh Grade Team On Winning Streak

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

The mission this season for North Davie's seventh-grade football team was crystal clear.

Win a game. Any game. Stop the 1-13 skid that the Wildcats have endured since 1995.

Now suddenly the Wildcats are riding a two-game winning streak (dating back to last year's 20-14 playoff win over China Grove) following a 16-0 win over Erwin here Wednesday, when Coach Ron Kirk's program won its second season opener in 10 tries since joining the Piedmont Middle School Conference, the first since the seventh grade's 20-12 overtime win over rival South Davie in 1994.

Tailback D.J. Sales was the offensive catalyst, rushing for 116 yards and one touchdown on 10 carries, and the stingy defense held the Eagles to just 11 total yards and two first downs.

"We ran the ball well and we played defense well," Kirk said. "We gang tackled a lot."

On a nine-play scoring drive on North's first possession, fullback Jon Goode and Sales carried 61 of the drive's 63 yards. On first down from the Erwin 22, Goode forged ahead seven yards, then 15 running through weak arm tackles for the eventual decisive score with 1:14 left in the opening period. Nick Raby knocked through the first of two point-after kicks.

North scored the game's final touchdown before Erwin even got the ball, easily recovering an onside kick at the Erwin 40. Raby squibbed the ball perfectly and Sales pounced on it, unattended.

Five plays later, after 11 and 13 yards runs from Goode and big Josh Wallace, Sales danced through the left side from the 3.

No one else found the end zone over the final 22-plus minutes, with the exception of a troubled Erwin runner, who was dropped in the end zone for a 12-yard loss and a safety midway through the fourth quarter.

That job, worth two points for North, was completed by headhunter Chris Riddle. Goode led with eight tackles and Kevin Boger and Chris Hauser added five stops.

"We came up with 32 tackles, we got two fumbles, an interception (by Wallace) and a safety, so the defense played pretty good," Kirk said.

• Sales and Trent Young recovered fumbles.... Goode tallied 40 yards on seven carries and Wallace collected 28 on five runs. . . . Quarterback Nick Luffman completed one of two passes, connecting with Brad Blackwelder for nine yards. . . . North had eight first downs.

George Newman talks with North Davie's Josh Wallace.

Wildcats Beat Erwin

North Davie's eighth-grade football team finally figured out a way to stop Erwin on Thursday, but by then it was too late.

Suicidal breakdowns in the first half, when North fell behind 32-6, led to the Wildcats' 40-12 road loss.

At the top of the error list were three interceptions, one of which was returned for a touchdown, and a punt that was returned 40 yards to paydirt by a lumbering linebacker. "The short punt went to a linebacker that everybody had already run by," Coach Ron Kirk said.

"(Other costly mistakes) took Erwin close to the red zone if they didn't go for touchdowns."

Assistant coach Jonathon Martin said: "Big plays killed us, that's all you can say. In the second half, we played a good ball game, but they had already done their damage."

After regrouping from a horrendous half, the Wildcats scored twice, first on a freak touchdown reception by Adam Sain on a Justin Dotson pass. "He was sitting on his knees and it fell right in his hands. The ball was tipped. It was a gift from heaven," Kirk said. Then, in the waning seconds, sub Daniel Sullivan plunged in on a 1-yard quarterback sneak.

"That (drive) was the only thing that looked good all day," Martin said.

Fullback Doug Smith carried North most of the way, gobbling up most of his 25 rushing yards on the march.

"In the second half, our offense played more like we needed to," Kirk said. "We just need to drive the ball between the tackles.

"We felt like we should have played better. We got beat on turnovers. . . . We had about eight."

Brandon Gentry rushed for a team-high 72 yards on 12 carries and Cassidy McMahan had 23 on seven runs.

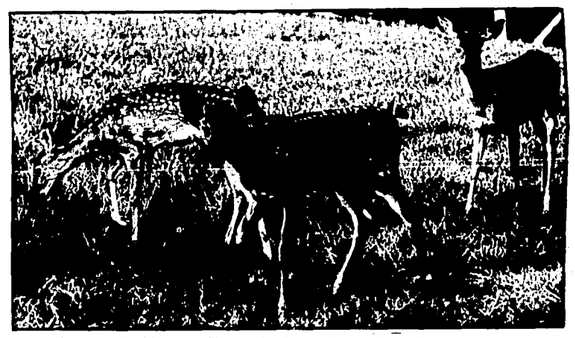
Davie People

This fawn was about the size of house cat when it was born, according to owner John Williams.

John Williams, Keith Waller and Bill Meadows walk away from the deer lot they built in their spare time after checking on the animals.



These three-month-old fawns still haven't outgrown their white spots.

Man Raises Deer On Farm In Davie

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Watching nine white tail deer, two golden pheasants and a wild turkey roam around inside a 10 feet high fence, some might think they had stumbled upon a small zoo. But, for John Williams and his family, that's just home.

According to Williams, he started raising wild turkeys with the intention of setting them free. Last summer he began raising deer. He has always liked them and saw potential for making money. The pheasants came from a trade for two wild turkeys that liked to chase the deer.

While he eventually hopes to make some money selling them, for now he said he enjoys watching the children that come out to the farm to see his rapidly growing deer herd.

Williams started in the deer business by buying three does and renting a buck from former Davie resident Jake Koontz, who raises deer in Rowan County.

About three months ago, each of his does, Granny, Dot and Wild Thing, gave birth to twins – four does and two bucks.

Before those fawns are a year and a half old, he will have to build another fence to separate the bucks from the does.

He's planning to start that project when the weather cools off, but it's not one he's anxious to begin, he said.

Working on it in their spare time, it took Williams and his friends, Bill Meadows and Keith Waller, about a month to build the first one.

Before starting to raise deer, one must be licensed by the state, and the fence must pass inspection, he explained. The fence has to be dog proof up to six feet and include a shed and a number of trees to pass inspection.

The woven fence is 10 feet tall, has 120 fence posts, and it is buried beneath the ground six inches, he said.

He feeds the deer sweet feed, grass and corn. They enjoy watermelons from his garden, and he spoils them by buying about two bags of apples for them each week.

They will venture pretty close for an apple, and the oldest one, Granny, will even allow people to pet her sometimes.

Walk Raises $2,700 For Alzheimer's Association

Thirty-eight people came out on Saturday, Sept. 13, for the Davie County Senior Center's local Memory Walk for the Alzheimer's Association.

Sheriff Allen Whitaker led people of all ages around the softball field at Center Fair for this one mile funwalk. Over $2,700 was raised for the Alzheimer's Association.

Marie Miller was the top money-raiser in Davie County. She raised $1,040. Second place winners were Jimmy Myers and Ernest Seamon, who each raised $150.

Three teams were also formed for some friendly competition. The Senior Trotters club, the Davie County employee team, call the "Wind Walkers", and the Town of Mocksville's Wellness team. The town's team swept the victory of top team money-raisers, and received a plaque to display at Town Hall. The other teams were then challenged for next year's walk.

"Special thanks go out to these walkers who came out on a Saturday morning to raise money for the Alzheimer's Association. Thanks also to the many individuals and businesses who sponsored the walkers and contributed prizes for that day, and the volunteers who helped to plan and worked at the event," said Senior Center director Kim Shuskey. Deer Raised On Davie County Farm

Wild Thing earned her name because she will only get within three or feet of a person, according to Meadows.

They are tame because they have always lived in captivity, Williams explained, but they don't like to be caught. To do that requires a tranquilizer.

He said he will probably keep all nine of the ones he has now, as he tries to build a herd. A deer needs to be three years old before it can be sold, and a buck should have at least eight points.

In the wild a deer usually lives to be about seven or eight years old. In captivity, one may live to be about 12, Williams said.

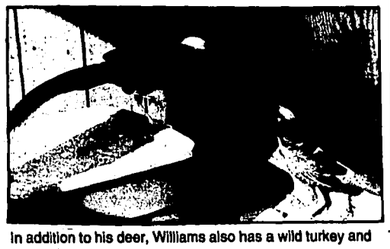
Williams enjoys watching the deer so much, he said he has thought about putting a bench under a shade tree inside the fence where he could sit and feed them, he said.

The fawns can be seen springing and bounding around the field in the early morning and late afternoon, he said.

"It's fun to watch them run with their tails up," Meadows said. "I love the fawns with the little spots on them."

They are about the size of house cats when born, he said.

Williams said his family eats deer meat, but they won't be eating any of these.



In addition to his deer, Williams also has a wild turkey and these pheasants.

Local Artist Unveils Vitreograph

The 1998 Winston-Salem Artist of the Year, Alix Hitchcock, unveiled the first print of her "vitreograph" titled "Moving Through" at a private reception on Sunday, Sept. 21, at The Millhouse, home of Bruce C. Anderson and James A. McCool, MD in Clemmons.

Hitchcock, a resident of Mocksville, teaches at Wake Forest University and maintains a studio on Burke Street in downtown Winston-Salem. She created the vitreograph through a new hand printing process that uses glass plates at Littleton Studios in Spruce Pine.

The vitreograph will be on display and for sale at the Sawtooth Center for Visual Art. A limited edition of fifty prints will be sold at $350 each for the benefit of the 52-year-old community art school.

Hitchcock was chosen to be the Artist of the Year by a committee of past honorees under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Sawtooth Center for Visual Art. She will be honored through the year in various ways. One of her prints will be given to the city of Winston-Salem to be hung in City Hall. She will create a one-woman art exhibit to open in June, 1998 with assistance from curator Melrose Buchanan of Salem College and Academy. Hitchcock plans to schedule a class at Sawtooth Center to educate the community about the details of vitreograph printing, and her approach to visual art.

The vitreograph is a four color drawing, titled "moving through" depicting moving figures "reaching for, searching out, dancing with...life". Hitchcock decided to use a new technological process to create her piece to have rich, vibrant colors and because the techniques offered new challenges and opportunities for the artist.

Davie Native Lands First Job Assisting White House Chief Of Staff

His classmates at Davie High School knew Demond Martin was a leader. After all, they had elected him vice president of the senior class.

Martin

Despite their confidence in him, members of the class of 1992 probably didn't expect Martin to be making things happen in Washington, D.C. by the time he was 23.

But the 1997 UNC-Charlotte graduate has spent his summer helping make history.

Tracking down U.S. senators for emergency teleconferences, taking calls from House Speaker Newt Gingrich and arranging late-night budget negotiation session in the power rooms of the White House, Martin helped close the historic balanced budget deal signed into law Aug. 5.

The former UNC-Charlotte student body president began working as an assistant in the office of White House Chief of Staff Erskine Bowles in June after Bowles spotted his resume while he was interning briefly in the vice president's finance office down the street.

Remembering the day Bowles called for an interview, Martin said, "My heart was beating fast."

Martin's mission in his new job: to make sure Bowles, known in Washington as a stickler for efficiency, has a by-the-clock day. That meant juggling meetings with the president, the press, Bowles' staff and various congressional leaders in addition to providing all the briefing books and data needed by the chief of staff at the right time.

An accounting major, Martin said his background came in handy, as he strived to keep track of Bowles' schedule.

He said he longingly remembers hourlong lunches he enjoyed while working for an accounting firm in Charlotte, as his present job finds him slamming down a salad brought to his desk just outside Bowles' office. To stay fit, he does push-ups and sit-ups after work because the gyms are all closed by the time he leaves work. He has often worked 13 and 14 hours a day.

"You've got to love what you do, or you'll burn out, but I feel it's an honor," he said of his job.

He describes the White House as awe-inspiring and not just to tourists.

"You walk in and a Marine opens the door for you," Martin said. "You come into this beautiful environment with amazing artwork and (decor). It's something you see on TV clips and you're there," he said.

But the confirmed Democrat has no plans of being a politician.

He plans to return to work for the accounting firm where he has worked the last three summers in Charlotte around the time Bowles leaves Washington.

He is also planning to be married next summer to Kia Murray, a senior elementary education major at UNC-Charlotte. He proposed while they were on spring break in Cancun in April.

His parents, Thomas and Rita Martin of Pineville Road, Mocksville, are proud of their son, who proved he could make things happen at UNCC where he led a successful $50,000 fund raising campaign to launch and off-campus shuttle for students two years ago and gave the commencement speech at his graduation in May.

Thomas Martin said he wasn't surprised by his son's achievement.

"He's always been a good boy," he said.

As for how his son came to have such an opportunity, he said it was more than being in the right place at the right time.

"He knows how to talk to people," he said. "He's always eager to get (involved)."

The youngest of four children, Martin is happy he could make his parents proud.

"They've made a lot of sacrifices for me to do well," he said. "For them to see me working for our country this way made me so glad."

Hillsdale News

Congratulations to Sandi and Andy Lipscomb who were married on Saturday. Sandi is the former Sandi Galliher.

Josh Hanes was treated to a birthday party on Saturday night by his parents Ken and Brenda Hanes. There was plenty of pizza, salad, and cake to eat and afterwards adults and youth alike had a blast playing charades and doing skits. Happy Birthday to Josh and also to Brandon McBride.

Brenda Hanes shared information on Belarus during Sunday school, she had previously shared the same with the Women of Hillsdale on Thursday at the home of Carolyn Hemric. We are all so excited about the first group of Hillsdale Missionaries that it seems that is all we can think about, please continue to pray for them as they prepare for their journey.

Bob and Mickey Minor were kind enough to let us use their riverside picnic area again Sunday night for a churchwide fellowship. We had a great selection of food and afterward the youth and some adults participated in contests and skits. We had a great time and it got dark way too fast.

Next Sunday during worship service, Ron Copple, a missionary from Nigeria, will share with us.

Please continue to remember Junior and Ginger Smith in the loss of their son, Joseph; also Betty Gunter in the loss of her mother, Mary Sowers. And we need to remember the family of Randy Harris who lost their home last week due to fire.

"Our Customers Are Our Best Reference!"

North Carolina jazz composer Matt Kendrick will perform on the Square in Mocksville 3-5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 5.

Jazz Concert Planned

Matt Kendrick, one of North Carolina's most promising jazz composers is bringing his Unit to the Square in Mocksville.

Continuing the 'Afternoon Beneath the Oaks' series, the Davie County Arts Council is sponsoring this outdoor fall event.

"Weather should be delightful under the Square's old oak trees," reports Nancy Norton, executive director of the Arts Council, "and listening to jazz on a Sunday afternoon is euphoric."

The Matt Kendrick Unit specializes in jazz, mainly acoustic jazz. Typical instrumentation's are: piano, upright bass, drums, saxophone and trumpet.

"Our music is classic jazz," describes Kendrick.

They have played concerts for all the major festivals in North Carolina. They have five CDs out, one of which charted on National Jazz radio charts. This is an experienced group of musicians that plays world class jazz.

Since 1990, Kendrick has been composing work inspired by paintings. So far this juxtaposition of the sonic and visual arts has produced 19 "canvases".

Come hear the "art" of The Matt Kendrick Unit on Sunday, Oct. 5 from 3-5 p.m., Main Street, Mocksville on the Square.

Call 704-634-3112 for more information. This is a free event.

'Repeat Performance' To Be Shown At Liberty

"Repeat Performance," a modern movie about Christ's absolute and unconditional forgiveness and love, will be show at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 28 at Liberty United Methodist Church, Liberty Circle, south of Mocksville.

Sean Purchase (Joseph Manning) is 17, but has experienced more emotional pain than many face in a lifetime. Abandoned by his mother as a small child, he grew up with a father who was too devastated to support his son.

But Sean thinks the world of his father, and wants to follow in his footsteps as a musician. Sean becomes even more withdrawn with his father's suicide. His father's girlfriend, Shona Matheson (Lisa Crittendon), cannot make a connection with him. The only ones who seem able to reach him are his friend Aaron (Christopher Page), his music teacher James Harris (David Telford) and Shona's father Bruce Matheson (Bernard Moody).

When things seem they can't get worse, Sean and Aaron fatally strike a Samoan boy with Shona's car. Despite Sean's pleading, Aaron refused to turn around to help. He threatens to blame the hit-and-run on Sean if he calls the police.

All Sean can see is hopelessness, and contemplates suicide. Through Bruce, Mr. Harris, Petal - the Samoan boy's mother (Olivia Muliaumaseali'i) - and televised footage of Dr. Billy Graham, Sean begins to learn the power of forgiveness.

Repeat Performance is a movie for our time - a time when so many face utter hopelessness, struggle with anger and bitterness toward others who have done them wrong, feel there is nowhere to go and no one to turn to, said James David Reep, Liberty pastor. Repeat performance says there is an answer ... and the answer is Christ's absolute and unconditional forgiveness and love.

For more information, call the church office at 284-2818.

Senior Trotter Club Plans To Visit Greenfield

The Senior Trotters met on Sept. 18 at the Center Community Building for their regular meeting. There were 13 members and a visitor present. Elizabeth Massey, president, welcomed everyone and Bill Seaford had devotions, using "Our Song" as the topic for his devotions. He read I Corinthians 7:7. He said God has given each of us gifts for a purpose. They should be used to help each other and other people. Minutes of the August meeting were read and approved and the treasury report given.

Plans have been made to travel to Greenfield on Oct. 14 for breakfast and a day in the mountains. This is in addition to the regular meeting. Those that would like to go should be at the next regular meeting to complete plans for this trip.

The president chose the following people to be on the nominating committee: Louise Tutterow, Virgil Foster, Paul Forrest and Jean Seamon.

For the program Nancy Tutterow did the poem about "Little Orphan Annie" and in her own imagination gave the story of Annie as she grew up to be an adult and what happened to her. Annie had a good life and you would be surprised at how her life turned out.

Mary Helen Forrest won the door prize.

The next meeting will be Oct. 9. Members are to dress for Halloween. Pearline and Bill Seaford and possible others will do a skit and Ruth Tutterow will tell a story. The group will go out for lunch.

Spiritual Resources: Blessed Are The Poor...

By Tom Torpy

Blessed are the poor in spirit. Now there's a paradox. Most of us haven't tasted poverty. Many of us may have experienced being poor. But abject poverty is different. Poverty is when a person is hungry and there is no food; not even any to steal. Poverty is being without clothes to provide a barrier between the sensitive flesh and relentless elements. Poverty is needing medicine and having none. Poverty is being without the resources necessary for life.

Poverty of spirit is similiar. Perhaps more of us have experienced that kind of poverty. Poverty of spirit is when a person doesn't have the spiritual resources necessary for life. There comes a time (the time is particularly common in the middle years) in our lives when we wonder what happens next. I mean what happens after I've worked and played and learned and taught and grown old. What then? Perhaps then is when we realize our lack of resources. Time forges forward and age follows in its wake. We cannot reverse time or age with diet, exercise, or an artificial youthful appearance. Neither can we slow it down. In fact, time's pace accelerates as it progresses. What then? A sense of futility? Passive resignation? Complete capitulation? Do we exist only because we don't know what else to do; or because the future is too discouraging to consider? Do we exist only to die? Our spirits are impoverished.

Read again. Jesus said, "Blessed are the poor in spirit." How can that be? Does contentment ("blessedness") come from being without necessary resources? Perhaps. Because those who recognize they do not have the resources necessary for life are the first ones to look outside themselves for the resources they need. Perhaps they are the ones who look to God for that which they know they lack. And those who look find God to be compassionate, generous, and willing to share the resources of heaven. These are the ones to whom God imparts wealth of spirit; hope, peace, purpose- the resources necessary for true life, abundant life, eternal life. That's why the poor in spirit are blessed. They no longer belong only to earth. For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Computers In The Class

Davie High Teacher Finally Receives Funding For Help In Science Classes

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

Steve Havnaer is one of the science teachers at Davie High who has been crusading for computers in the science department for at least 10 years.

When it comes to computers at school, many have the mindset that they are just good for word processing and spread sheets, but, in a scientific setting, the right kind of computer could do much more.

They could allow students to interface with the outside world, measuring things like temperature, pressure and changes in light, he explained.

"We started looking around for a workable solution," he said. What Davie High's science teachers found was expensive – $1,500 just for a computer.

Finally, their luck changed with the discovery of the computer based lab at the N.C. Science Teachers Convention in Greensboro two years ago.

The computer based lab and a variety of sensors needed to allow students to conduct experiments could be purchased for $600 per station.

Students could use these computers to do meaningful experiments, Havnaer said.

Unable to convince school officials of a need for computers in the science department, Havnaer took his cause to the community.

There he found it just as difficult to convince the public of a need for computers for scientific experiments.

Contributions from Dr. Gary Prillaman, the Davie High PTA and several anonymous donors helped, and the science department was finally able to get some money budgeted from the school.

Technology is an issue Principal Linda Bost is interested in pursuing, and she was receptive to the idea, Havnaer said.

For about $7,000, he was able to get the equipment to allow 15 stations – ideal for a class of 28 to 30 students, putting two students at each station, he said.

Last week his students were using the computer based lab to determine the effects of temperature on enzymes. The computer system will draw a graph for them, which they can transfer to their individual disks and print, he said.

The system comes with manuals to assist the teacher and programs for experiments, and the equipment is designed to stand continued use, he said.

Havnaer uses the computer based lab regularly with his APP students and anticipates other teachers taking advantage of the computers more often as they adjust to the new block scheduling system.

All the department's teachers have been through a training course for use of the computer based lab, he said.

State guidelines say that 40 percent of science class time should be lab time. The block schedule and the computer based lab allows him to get closer to that ideal than he ever has, Havnaer said.

Steve Havnaer assists Kathryn Jackson, Ramona Pittman and Jill Prillaman at the computer.

The ABCs Of Education: Tests Allow More Detailed Chart Of Student Progress

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The ABCs of public education.

The new accountability measures should help school administrators keep up with progress in classrooms; but the rules put pressure on schools to do what could eventually become impossible - improve on test scores year after year.

End of grade tests are given to students in reading and mathematics in grades 3-8 and writing in grades 4 and 7. Schools are judged on a performance level based on the percentage of students at or above grade level; and on a growth standard, where an expected growth rate is established for a particular school based on the previous performance, statewide averages.

The tests gives schools more information than they have had in the past, said Davie Schools superintendent Dr. Bill Steed, down to the scores of students in particular classrooms.

"The mechanism is there to pinpoint where the weak parts are, where the strong parts are," Steed told members of the Davie Board of Education earlier this year. Scores of individual classes and students can be tracked from year to year.

Board member Jerry Swicegood asked if a teacher could be denied tenure because of a continuous low scoring of his or her students. Dr. Van Johnson, personnel director, said there are no rules to that effect, but the scores could be considered.

Board member Mark Jones pointed out that tenure is no longer automatic, but must be granted by the board of education.

Steed said that Patsy Crenshaw, general supervisor, will work with individual schools on plans for improving areas. That can be broken down to suggestions to individual classes, he said.

Two Davie schools - Shady Grove Elementary and North Davie Middle - were named "Schools of Distinction" by the N.C. Department of Public Instruction. That means from 80-89.9 percent of the students performed at or above the grade level standard.

Four schools - Mocksville, Pinebrook and William R. Davie elementaries and North Davie Middle - met the "Exemplary Growth Standard," meaning they performed better than expected. Those schools are eligible to receive cash incentives from the General Assembly.

One school - Shady Grove Elementary - met the "Expected Growth Standard," meaning the school reached the growth that was expected, based on previous performances, statewide averages and a statistical adjustment.

Three schools - Cooleemee Elementary, Mocksville Middle and South Davie Middle - were not recognized, meaning they failed to reach the growth standard although more than 50 percent of students scored above grade level.

No school in Davie County was designated as low performing. Those schools are assigned an assistance team to help staff devise ways to help students achieve at higher levels.

Steed said it is important that the numbers received in the ABCs of Education are used properly, and looked at over a period of time. For instance, a teacher shouldn't be judged as poor because their students may fail to meet expected growth for a certain year.

Board members said the plan could be flawed in that it expects growth year after year, when in reality, that may not be possible.

Teresa Cook's and Robin Harden's students voted on their team name: the Falcons. The team motto is "Flying High with the Falcons". Team progress reports went home Sept. 23. Students in Teresa Cook's science classes are writing research projects on famous scientists. Projects are due Oct. 13. Students in Robin Harden's communications classes are reading works of fiction and making a story map about their book. Their maps must include all the places where action happens in the novel. Novels must be chosen from the Accelerated Reader program. Students in her social studies classes spent two days in the media center learning to use reference materials while "traveling around the globe". Next week they will finish a unit on world map skills and begin a unit on European map skills.

Students of Teresa Cook and Lynn Moore have begun Math Superstars. Students on the Falcons team may participate in this program which focuses on problem solving and higher level thinking.

Students are recreating an astronomical scale of the solar system in science classes. A new program is being implement in math classes called Saxon, which focuses on basic skills and continuing review.

A Scholastic Book Fair will be held in the Media Center Sept. 25- Oct. 1. Students will bring home a book list highlighting many of the books. Parents are encouraged to review the list with their children and help their children select books to read. Students will be able to preview the book fair during their communications classes on Thursday and Friday and may purchase books from 7:45 a.m.-4 p.m. and during the PTSA open house Monday, Sept . 29. Proceeds from the book fair will help raise funds for the media center. Parents who would like to volunteer to work the fair should contact Chris Callahan during school hours.

Special activities will be planned throughout the school year for the students who return each of these calendars.

Students made dinosaur books about their favorite dinosaur. They fossilized an egg and made predictions about what kind of dinosaur would batch. They made dinosaur skeletons from macaroni. A luncheon on Friday, Sept. 19, ended the study. They had dinosaur sandwiches, dinosaur eggs, Stegosaurus boneyplates, sharp teeth, pre-historic trees, swamp juice, and foaming volcanoes.

Third graders of Judy Sherrill are learning about good nutrition. Students measured their digestive tract, read food labels, and prepared nutritious snacks from each part of the food pyramid. They ate junk food to see if they could tell the difference in how they felt and how their bodies worked.

Elbaville News

By Mary Lillian Zimmerman
Elbaville Correspondent

In the absence of our pastor Susan Hubbard, who was on vacation last week, Bertie Lanier Foster was our speaker Sunday morning. Bertie's husband Bruce Foster came with her. She talked to us about God's love and how God's love is everywhere. Mrs. Lanier was brought up in Davie County but she and her husband live at Reeds in Davidson County now.

Elbaville-Fulton MYF met at regular time Sunday afternoon. One of their counselor's Debbie Livengood was celebrating her birthday on Sunday, and after the meeting the children had a surprise birthday party for her. Her children members of MYF were already there of course, and her husband Dennis Livengood came.

On Saturday night the Markland family's got together in Elbaville fellowship building for a family reunion, around 35 were there. Those attending were the R.J. Markland and family, the Dee Ette Markland family, Maybelle Markland Orrell, Lillian Markland, Angelia Markland Bailey and family, also Pat Markland Cope.

Debbie and Steve Hege, Peoples Creek Road spent last week at the beach.

Rachael Zimmerman attended the wedding of her sister Angie Miller and Jackie Davis in East Bend on Saturday. All of Rachael and Kevin's children were in the wedding.

Dot Carter and Elaine Smith attended Festival on the Square Saturday and also visited Bill and Alene Potts and Alene's brother Fred.

All people at Elbaville Church are glad to hear that Bob Minor is improving everyday from the open heart surgery that he had. We really miss him and wife Mickey every Sunday. Bob and his family want to thank everyone for the cards, visits, food and prayers. We hope to have them back in church soon.

Seven From Davie Enroll At Catawba College

SALISBURY--Seven students from Davie County are helping Catawba College make history this fall. They and 514 other new students are part of the largest enrollment in the 146-year-old college's history.

Those from Davie County include: Tommie Crotts and Christy Naylor, graduates of Davie County High School, and Daniel Brake, Benjamin Hartsell, Jansen Keene, Vickie Lyerly, and Susan Stowers, all of whom are transfer students.

On the first day of class 1,312 individuals had enrolled in the private college compared to 1,178 last year. That was cause for celebration.

But the celebration was preceded by a mad scramble in July and August to provide additional housing, classes--and even mailboxes--to accommodate the new students.

The number of applications went from 1,097 last year to 1,634 this year--an increase of 49 percent. Late July saw the number of new students inch toward 400--with about 90 percent needing on-campus housing. Those figures prompted officials to close admissions to residential students on Aug. 1.

In the meantime, officials seized every possible space for housing. The president of the college is even providing living space for a few students.

Dean J. Michael Wilson added more classes in English, speech, communication arts, math, Spanish, sociology and music, and assigned more freshman advisors so the advising groups could remain small. And director of orientation Carl Girelli marshalled a host of upperclassmen as Alphas to help freshmen make the transition to college.

Freshman advisors and Alphas shepherded the new students through registration and provided the information and support they needed. "The advisors and Alphas know they've been entrusted with something very sacred," Girelli says. "That's the care of somebody's child."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

TAKE NOTICE that a Joint Public Hearing will be held before the Board of Commissioners of Davie County and the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Mocksville on the 6th day of October, 1997, at 7:00 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Davie County Public Library, 371 N. Main St., Mocksville, NC, pursuant to the provisions of NCGS § 158-7.1 to consider appropriations for the purpose of aiding and encouraging the location of industrial enterprises.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE, that the appropriations being considered are for the extension of water and sewer to the perimeter of the property described in Deed Book 92, Page 559 of the Davie County Registry at an approximate cost of $400,000.00 and for site improvements, including water, sewer and roads, which are dependent upon the construction of virtually completed Class A industrial facilities each containing 75,000 to 100,000 square feet upon the basis of actual cost of site improvement up to, but not exceeding $38,000 per site. Card Of Thanks

DALE CHAFFIN & family would like to acknowledge all the prayers & support from family & friends these past 9 months. Illness is never welcome but to occur so suddenly at the holidays & so far from home it seems especially tragic. The weather in Biloxi was heavy & grey with fog often reflecting our moods. Although the hospital staff & friends we made there helped us deal with our isolation. The fog literally lifted when the cards, calls & family arrived. Our stay in Mississipi would continue like a roller coaster as did the subsequent hospitalization at Forsyth Memorial Hospital. Still the cards, calls & now personal visits continued with many encouragements that lifted our wounded & "grey" spirits. The rehabilitative journey has been long, arduous & continues every day. There are so many we wish to thank, those who provided support often physical, to us in our time of need. Thank you again.
Dale Chaffin & Family. Mocksville, NC

WE WOULD LIKE to express sincere thanks to all the friends, neighbors & loved ones for every prayer, card, phone calls & visits, as well as the food & all other acts of love & kindness shown during the recent illness & death of our special loved one. May God Bless each of you, is our prayer.
The Family of Ruby H. Baker.

Baity Receives Commendation Letter

Navy Airman Westley S. Baity, son of Kent T. and Vickie L. Baity of Wills Road, Advance, recently received a Letter of Commendation while assigned with Strike Fighter Squadron 37, Naval Air Station Cecil Field, Jacksonville, Fla.

Baity was recognized for his superior performance of duty. Displaying remarkable dedication and initiative, Baity consistently performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner, according to a Navy news release.

Baity is a part of today's naval forces as they shift focus away from long-distance war at sea to handling the challenges of regional conflicts affecting U.S. interests.

Whether helping provide humanitarian assistance and disaster-relief or projecting power ashore and providing forward presence, sailors like Baity work assigned to ships, squadrons or shore commands around the world.

The 1995 graduate of Davie High School joined the Navy in June, 1995.

Park Developer Filling Need For Fast-Paced Industries

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Industries don't have time these days to expand. The process of finding a site, developing a plan and going through with it can take two or more years.

By then, the site, or the proposed use, may be outdated.

In step Joe Hollingsworth.

Hollingsworth, a Tennessee developer, has carved a spot in the industrial community constructing "spec" buildings. His newest project may be off U.S. 601 North at Allen Road near Mocksville.

County commissioners have rezoned the 150 acres for industry, and on Monday night, they will host a joint public hearing with the Mocksville Town Board on extending water and sewer services to the site. The estimated cost: $402,000. Up to $38,000 per site would also be reimbursed to the developer for building the water and sewer lines and roads within the development. That would be paid at the time of occupancy.

The public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Davie County Public Library.

If it goes through, Hollingsworth said ground should be broken within two months. A building would be completed by spring. He doesn't think it will take long for a business to occupy the building. John Allen, former director of economic development for Davidson County, has been hired as a local recruiter.

There are approximately nine sites in the park, and there will always be a building ready for an industry and a site graded ready to construct another. All buildings, between 75,000 and 108,000 square feet, will be expandable.

Hollingsworth began building "spec" industrial buildings in his hometown of Clinton, Tenn. That park is full now, with the latest tenants being the U.S. Postal Service that pays workers $25,000-$30,000 a year; and a company that expanded within a year, started workers at $14 per hour.

He estimated companies that would locate in Mocksville would pay competitive wages, between $10 and $14 per hour.

Hollingsworth hired a consultant to find the best site in North Carolina for such a park. It was narrowed down to Davie County, Statesville, Northwest Greensboro and Davidson County. "Davie County simply wouldn't let the tiger go," he said.

The park will give Davie County an edge other communities recruiting industry won't have, Hollingsworth said.

"If you're just marketing green field, you're competing with 3,000 other communities," he said. Allen added that only 20 percent of companies are looking for "green field," or an individual site to develop.

Approximately 300 communities have Couple Facing Animal Cruelty Charges Say They're Innocent

By Jeanne Houpe
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Cooleemee couple charged with cruelty to animals Saturday say they have done nothing wrong.

Four days after several puppies and a dog that apparently had a broken leg had been seized from their residence on Junction Road, Donnie and Lynn Allen received a criminal summons to appear in Davie County District Court Thursday to face charges of cruelty to animals.

On the same day all dogs remaining at the Allen home were taken into protective custody by Davie County Animal Cruelty Investigator Terri Hamm, she released from her supervision 85 dogs the Allens are keeping in a warehouse owned by Roger Spillman in Cooleemee.

Despite numerous complaints about the Allens' operation at the warehouse over the past several months, Hamm didn't see the cruel conditions at the warehouse she found at the Allen home, according to Cooleemee Police Chief Tim Wooten.

For months Wooten said his department has been receiving anonymous reports of dog fights at the warehouse and the couple throwing dead dogs into the South Yadkin River. Others simply complained about the noise from the dogs barking and the odor.

Most of the reports were unfounded,

Mocksville To Enforce Sign Rules

Signs. Mocksville has ordinances regulating the size and types of signs that can go in certain locations, but the ordinances are rarely enforced.

That is changing.

Town board members agreed last week to hire local attorney Andrew White to enforce the town's zoning ordinance, including sections dealing with signs. He began work Wednesday.

"One of the issues we have to deal with is signs," said Town Manager Terry Bralley. "A lot of time it's people just not knowing the rules."

Town To Hear Comments On Rezoning, Planning Area

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville will hold two public hearings on Tuesday night, both of which could add to businesses in the Hwy. 601 North/I-40 area.

The town wants to extend its planning jurisdiction to the north of I-40 and Blaise Church Road.

Town board members already have asked the planning board to study zoning for the area, considering business and industrial uses. "Because it's developing and requiring our services, we should," said Town Manager Terry Bralley.

The manager has also asked the planning board to consider rezoning land from residential-agricultural to industrial that is behind commercial property that fronts Yadkinville Road south of Madison Road.

Residents wanting more information on exact areas to be included in the zoning may go by town hall.

Also on Tuesday, the town board will again hear comments on a rezoning request from Scott Angell. He wants 4.6 acres rezoned from residential-agriculture to industrial at Madison and Evans roads. It adjoins a trucking business now operating there.

Planners in August recommended the land be rezoned, but town board members sent it back for further study. In September, the
