Mocksville Man Shot In The Back

Investigators Think Incident Was Accident

By Jackie Edwards
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Mocksville man was shot July 2 around 7:45 p.m. while traveling on Davie Academy Road in Mocksville.

Tony Robert Rhinehart, 31, of 153 Stagecoach Road, was shot in the back while riding in the front seat of a 1994 Ford truck driven by his girlfriend, Bernice Ebright, 52, also of Stagecoach Road.

According to Davie County Sheriff's Chief of Enforcement Jimmy Phipps, Leroy Hill, 34, of 399 Fairfield Road, Mocksville, was riding in the back seat of the truck when a .380 semi-automatic pistol he was unloading discharged, went through the front seat, and shot Rhinehart in the back.

Hill, who is Rhinehart's brother-in-law, called 911 from his cell phone to report the shooting.

According to Phipps, the truck was stopped by a police road block in the 600 block of Hardison Road between Duke Street and Salisbury Street in Mocksville. From there an ambulance transported Rhinehart to Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem.

The weapon was recovered and the truck has been impounded until the victim can be interviewed. According to Phipps, alcohol was involved. "All three - the driver and both passengers had been drinking."

Rhinehart is presently at Baptist Hospital in critical condition and is unable to speak.

"No charges have been filed, pending an interview with the victim," Phipps said.

Planning Board Gives Initial OK For Skating Rink, Game Room

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Noble Design and Ken Carrico have petitioned the county to rezone 3.55 acres of land at U.S. 601 North and Cana Road from residential (R-20) to highway business special use. The county planning board unanimously recommended approval of the rezoning last week, with county commissioners getting the final say after a public hearing at 7:15 p.m. July 10.

Because the old Blackwelder Manufacturing building was used before zoning, it was considered a "nonconforming" use, said John Gallimore, Davie's director of planning and zoning.

Because of the change in nature in the use of the building, and because Carrico plans many improvements, a zoning change is necessary, Gallimore said, adding that the neighborhood is a mix of business, industrial and residential uses.

Ray Parker, speaking for Noble Design, said the entire building and grounds would be renovated. The property includes a brick building and a metal building. The upstairs in the brick building would be the skating rink and a snack bar, with the game room downstairs. Billiards tables would be in the metal building, which is only a few inches from the brick facility.

The building will hold 300-375 people, he said, and approximately 25 employees would be hired.

The video games, he said, would be all electronic and nonviolent. There would be a lot of table games and billiards.

Neighbors aren't so positive with the idea.

Three spoke against it at the planning board meeting, and another wrote a letter in opposition.

"I'm not opposed to rezoning ... but to what's going to be placed there," said

Bermuda Run Board Trying To Figure Out How Things Work

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

BERMUDA RUN — It has been a town less than a year, and Bermuda Run's town board is still trying to figure out how things work.

"I'm very confused about areas of responsibility and protocol," board member Al Barnette said Monday.

He said the five councilmen are sometimes working on the same project, often without knowing what the other is doing.

Step-by-step, the board members worked through a method of operation June 26 in a work session.

Committees were assigned and board members agreed on specific tasks.

"The process works a lot smoother if you have a quarterback," said Terry Bralley, town manager of Mocksville, who has been helping Bermuda Run with its start up.

Board members quickly agreed they need at least a part-time manager and hope to find an interim person to fill that job within a month. The board had searched for a manager last year but never hired anyone.

Mocksville Attorney Elected President-Elect of N.C. Bar Association

By Jackie Edwards
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville attorney Henry "Hank" Van Hoy has been named president-elect of the North Carolina Bar Association.

As Van Hoy was interviewed last Thursday in his office he voiced his enthusiasm, "I'm very excited."

Van Hoy is a general practitioner with the firm of Martin, Van Hoy, Smith, and Raisbeck. He has practiced law since 1974 in Mocksville.

There are two bar associations in North Carolina. The North Carolina State Bar was established in the 1930s. Its main focus is issuing licenses and disciplining lawyers.

The other association is the North Carolina Bar Association. This is the organization that has chosen Van Hoy as president elect. It was established in 1899 and is an all volunteer organization. Its responsibilities include legal service for the poor, continuing legal education, and the promotion of professionalism and civility. "We help young lawyers understand we have a high duty and responsibility," said Van Hoy.

Part of this responsibility is involvement in the community. "In a short hand version, working for the greater common good," said Van Hoy.

Van Hoy touched on how he felt about being a lawyer and practicing in a town like Mocksville. He made reference to the 1962 movie To Kill A Mockingbird. The film is about a Southern lawyer who defends a black man falsely accused of raping a little girl. "The lawyer, Atticus Finch, took the case and he tried it. He was not popular, but it was the right thing," said Van Hoy. That is what Van Hoy believes the N.C. Bar Association is about. "I will represent my client. I will do the best I can."

"We have to do something to enable people to have a fair opportunity and have enough staff to process it."
- Hank Van Hoy

Van Hoy spoke of the responsibility of community involvement. "Mocksville, Davie County is a great place to live." His involvement centers around the thing most important to him - family. He is active in his church, First Presbyterian Church in Mocksville. He's also implementing a program by the N.C. Bar Association into local schools. This program, Lawyers In The Schools, will provide resource materials and knowledge to classrooms. Van Hoy's law firm also provides a scholarship to Davie High School for the senior with the highest grade in history.

Van Hoy's other community services include involvement with the Rotary Club, YMCA, Boy Scouts troop and election board.

Van Hoy plans to focus on different issues as president elect. He wants to make sure small town lawyers and firms realize all the benefits the N.C. Bar Association has for them. He wants to encourage quality of life issues for young lawyers who typically work long hard hours. "If I don't know who my neighbor is I'm missing something in life," said Van Hoy.

Amanda Darling, 10, and DeAnna Darling, 7.

My 'Darling girls' are leaving the neighborhood

When the doorbell rings, no longer will I anticipate the smiling faces of two wonderful girls. No longer will I swing the door open to find one of them hugging her baby doll. No longer will they rush past me on their way to play with my boys.

The moving truck comes this week.

For a couple of years, I have had a close look at what life would have been like with daughters.

They giggle a lot. They're more bashful. They're quieter ... at least when they visit their neighbors.

Did I call them wonderful girls?

More precisely, they are our Darling girls.

Amanda and DeAnna Darling were in line to be our next generation of baby-sitters. They were thrilled when Michael was born, and I had plans to employ them on Saturday nights.

They fed him, changed him, entertained him.

Their dad, Dr. Jim Darling, for 10 years had been one of the anchors of the emergency room at Davie County Hospital. He patched up my boys from time to time and helped Mary through painful times. But with the hospital's changes, he has taken a job in his native New York.

The hospital's problems have suddenly become personal. A family that has had a profound impact on the community is moving away. Jim and Carolann have been active in their community and church, Holy Family Catholic. She helped start the wildly popular children's clothing exchange years ago. She encouraged all her neighbors to line the streets with candles at Christmas to raise money for the Ronald McDonald House.

Jim could be seen walking fields across Davie County. Farmers invited him to search for arrowheads when they plowed.

Jim and Carolann have touched many people. But the girls have made the biggest impression on me.

I'm going to miss them.

Revisionist View Of Civil War Wrong

To the editor:

I would like to reply to Mr. Jenkins lengthy letter of June 22. I am but an unlettered layman, and certainly I do not have the education to achieve the level of ignorance and misunderstanding Mr. Jenkins has. I do, however, know enough of history and current affairs to refute some of his arguments. To deny that the Civil War was not fought over states rights is the most blatant kind of revisionism.

Consider these facts.

Mr. Lincoln, in his first inaugural address, offered support for a Constitutional amendment permanently legalizing slavery. Nor did his Emancipation Proclamation free a single black man, as it only "freed" those slaves in areas at war with the Union. Slaves in the north (of which there were many) remained enslaved nearly through the end of the war.

General U.S. Grant intimated to his wife in a letter that (to paraphrase) 'if this war was being fought over slavery, I would turn and head for home tomorrow'. As a matter of fact, the Union Army was required to return any escaped slaves seeking refuge, and some officers who did help runaway slaves were disciplined and stripped of their commissions.

Despite what many today preach, there were black Confederate soldiers fighting in the war. They were paid the same, and served the same duties as white Confederates, unlike the black soldiers in the Union Army, who served as cooks, stable hands, and officers' servants, at half the pay, and also having to buy their own uniforms.

At the same time as Mr. Lincoln had slaves in this nations' White House, Mr. Jefferson Davis had taken in a young black boy whom he treated as a son. At the end of the war, this child was removed from the household against his will.

Slaves in the South were not cheap, with many costing more than $1000 (pre-war values, not Confederate script). This represents an investment of twenty to thirty thousand dollars today. While there were mean-spirited and violent people then as there are today, how many people do you know who would beat to death that kind of investment? Few Southerners could ever hope to afford such a luxury, and few would fight and die for some rich man's comforts. They fought for the states rights the Constitution offered but which were denied them by the North.

In the census of 1860, Northern politicians argued that blacks should only count for 2/3 of a person, while Southerners counted blacks the same as whites. And as for being sent forth with little or no economic resources after being freed, they were certainly in the same boat as whites in the South. After the war, the North declared Martial Law, with no recourse to Constitutional Rights, and spent those years looting and cheating the South out of what little was left after the battles. There were quite a few blacks as well as white "carpetbaggers" taking all they could, and ensuring Southern poverty.

It was under the flag of the United States that slavery was legal for almost 90 years, almost 6 million Native Americans were killed or herded onto reservations, and even saw times in the 1940s and 1950s where blacks were used as unwitting guinea pigs in medical and nuclear research experiments. Not the Confederate flag, the U.S. flag.

Mr. Jenkins, I am not defending racism, or slavery, or the hateful actions of small-minded people, but to tell me that my heritage and culture are less worthy of pride than your own is exactly what you seem to be preaching against. You can't have it both ways, and if you have to rewrite the history books to make your point (as Hitler and Stalin had to), maybe your point needs to bear a little more inspection. The First Amendment provides that Mr. Moon can say what he thinks, just as you can. It doesn't subject speech to tests to determine if what you have to say deserves to be said or not. It is groups like the NAACP who would subject otherwise free speech to the litmus test of political correctness. As an aside on the NAACP, the flag issue in South Carolina could only be resolved by state legislature. The NAACP issued its demand that the flag be taken down after the legislature had ended for one year, with a deadline scheduled before it was to reconvene. This political chicanery can hardly be called fair-minded or noble.

By the way, I think if you really were concerned about the enslavement of blacks, you would spend your time telling us about Sudan, Algeria, and Chad, where black slaves are being bought and sold by Muslim Arabs today. Instead, you seem to be more worried about denigrating someone else's civil rights here in a country where your own rights are protected by law. My conclusion is this: You, Pastor Jenkins, are every bit the racist that Mr. Moon is. Lucky for the both of you that you live in America, and not in any of a few dozen African countries where dissenting voices often find themselves hacked or beaten to death on the side of the road by those with their own wounded pride.

On The Trail

With Fresh Legs, Sherden Hikes On; 1,600 Miles To Go

Fresh from a week's rest, our John Sherden marches on.

This week, he reaches the 600 milepost on the Appalachian Trail in his quest to hike from Georgia to Maine before winter.

May 28 — Forest Service Road 66 to Davis Farm Site — 12 miles

Back on the trail rested and almost well. My pack weighed out at 50 pounds again. Every stop I send something home or trade for something light, and my pack always starts at 50 pounds. The trail gremlins seem to be adding rocks. Forty pounds is comfortable, 45 pounds hurts and 50 pounds is stupid.

3 pm — thunder showers, lightning and heavy rain.

All day we have been hiking a narrow ridge around Burkes Garden, sometimes described as "God's Thumbprint." Burkes Garden is a Shangri La-type valley surrounded by a mountain ridge line.

We hit camp just at dark. There is room for four tents if they are small. Two were there. We made four. There was fresh cow poop in our two spaces.

We pitched our tents on the fresh cow poop. The view into the valley, however, was spectacular.

May 29th — Burkes Garden to I-77 — 15 miles

We broke camp real late. The next campsite was 17 miles. Not a chance. Our last few miles were in the rain uphill on a narrow ridge line with no water. Not a camping possibility to be found. Finally as we got to the Interstate we found some houses and a hidden flat spot. We begged water from one of the houses and camped next to the road.

A safety rule is NEVER camp near a road. The spot we found was so well concealed that we went for it with no ill effects.

May 30th — I-77 to Jenny Knob Shelter — 12 miles

Beautiful weather. Great time. Hit camp early.

Cooking my evening meal I ran out of butane fuel. My Primus stove is multifuel, so I switched to white gas which I had never done with this new stove. The fuel pump is missing a gasket. Now I have to freeload on other people's stoves for tomorrow's evening meal and the next two breakfasts.

May 31st — Jenny Knob Shelter to Wapiti Shelter — 14 miles

June 1st — Wapiti Shelter to Pearisburg, Va. — 17.5 miles

17.5 miles was unintended. While daydreaming I went 3/4 miles down the mountain after missing a trail intersection and then had to do 3/4 miles right back up the mountain. Not smart.

The last two miles of the day had a vertical drop of 2,000 feet. That will blow a person's knees. There were folks hobbling about town that evening.

Tomorrow morning, we have to climb that 2,000 feet to get out of town with a freshly provisioned pack at maximum weight.

'Southern Whites' Aren't The True Racists

To the editor:

As a "Southern White" who has heard of and can even quote the first Amendment, I also feel compelled to correct the distortions and lies Mr. Donald Ray Jenkins placed before the people of Mocksville and Davie County.

To start, it's my right to fly or support anyone who flies the Confederate flag - so says the first amendment. But by exercising this constitutional right I am in your own words "either extremely prejudiced, extremely ignorant, extremely insensitive, or all three". That statement, Mr. Jenkins, shows your ignorance to the meaning of the first amendment. Boiled down, it means simply that even if it offends I still have the right to voice my opinions verbally or visually, right or wrong. You also stated that the NAACP acted in accord with the first amendment in South Carolina. That, Mr. Jenkins, is a big distortion of the truth. How could the NAACP be acting in accord with the first amendment when they were protesting against the "Southern Whites" freedom of speech? When you use the term "Southern Whites" you make it sound like a disease, and your use of the word "redneck" (which is nothing less than a new way of saying honky or cracker) is offensive. Considering the amount of times you used one or the other in your letter, I don't bet you see them as offensive. You have the right to use whatever term you wish because of your freedom of speech. (I wonder if this letter would have been printed if I had used the "n" word throughout?) Tell me again what you and the NAACP were protesting. Can we say double standard?

You say you're a minister of the gospel, yet your letter is full of racist innuendos such as your reference to Shakespeare's line "the devil can cite scripture for his purpose". Throughout your letter you referred to Southern Whites, the South, and rednecks as being prejudiced, ignorant and insensitive. You even compared people who fly the Confederate flag to Nazis. You also stated that God needs more ministers to take "righteous" stands against the "wiles of the devil". I gathered from your letter that you consider yourself one of these "righteous" ministers. I have to ask, do you speak out so vehemently when you speak to or see a black Muslim who follows the five percenter doctrine and displays their symbol on their person, their car, or their home? Since they believe all whites are blue eyed devils and because you compared Southern Whites to the devil twice, I can only conclude that you applaud their beliefs. (But that's your constitutional right to do so.)

You called Mr. Moon a liar for generalizing and stereotyping blacks on Memorial Day. You should read his letter again because in it he stated what he saw right there in Davie County and nothing about the "millions of blacks" across our country. How can you call another man a liar when it's unlikely you were even there to see and be able to dispute his claim? You said that "all" Americans tend to forget the sacrifices our veterans made and that they just want to relax and mingle with friends - especially on Memorial Day. You truly need to do more research Mr. Jenkins. All across the south, hundreds of Memorial Day celebrations are staged and attended by almost entirely whites.

Also, every year there are thousands of "ignorant and insensitive Southern Whites" going on bike runs to veterans memorials all across the country, showing respect and support for the sacrifices our veterans made. So not "all" Americans tend to forget. If as you say black can "serve" honorably, then why can't they show respect just as honorably?

You said you have lived in Davie County for almost eight years. I was born in the Davie County Hospital and have lived in or around Davie County all my life. My family has been in the county so long that some of them still remember riding to town in a horse and buggy on nothing but dirt roads. To hear you criticize and compare "Davie County whites" to "slave masters" is nothing less than an ignorant and racist remark. I remember growing up in a county where whites and blacks got along and accepted each other.

As far as Davie County whites only going into black communities when it's to benefit whites ... are you trying to tell me whites don't try selling in their own community? I would think the black communities would appreciate the chance to meet the candidates. It seems to me that a minister of the gospel should encourage blacks and whites to worship together. If you're saying whites don't go to black communities to just sit down and visit - how many times do or have Davie County whites been invited into the black community for purely social reasons?

Let me end on two notes: In any modern society slavery is wrong. During the start of this country slavery was still in wide use all around the world. Whites did not create this problem by bringing blacks into this country, the problem already existed. How can any educated person lay all of the blame on whites when let us not forget that some of your own people sold you into slavery for trinkets.

All I hear from you and others like you is how prejudiced "Southern Whites" are. I suggest that Southern blacks are the true racists in the south. The sad truth, Mr. Jenkins, is that the racism and hatred in your own heart towards anything southern and white will keep your eyes from seeing the truth.

Vote For A Government That Will Serve All Of The People

To the editor:

The eligible voters who read this article in the Enterprise Record should keep it as a reminder at election time. State lawmakers in Raleigh, in concert with and defended by Attorney General Mike Easley (at taxpayer expense), struggle to close a half-billion dollar deficit. The reason is representatives now in office keep passing tax statutes that conflict with the U.S. Constitution and Decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court. This is an attempt to establish their ow 'ctatorship form of government.

First, the Intangible Tax was ruled unconstitutional, to be paid back. Third, the so-called Controlled Substance Tax, ruled a criminal penalty Jan. 13, 1998 in the case of Lynn v. West, F3d, (4th Circuit Court of Appeals 1998), but not before the state, defended by honest Mike Easley (up for governor) collected 26 million more dollars. It's apparent the present regime doesn't intend to pay this back. It holds true that "the greed for power creates blind justice."

Vote in a government that will serve the people, not themselves.

It Sounds Like Writer Wants To Remain In Segregated Society

To the editor:

I'm answering Rev. Donald Ray Jenkins' long letter on racism. Don't belabor us whites, for we had to struggle to get ahead. After all, I'm only one generation removed from "sharecropping," as my dad's family farmed that way and left only when old enough to try for better work and pay. Everybody had hard times back then.

Our preamble to the Constitution reads as follows: "We hold these truths to be self evident that all men are created by God equal among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," so join with us in the pursuit of happiness or sulk, expecting a mile an hour push by someone. If your race thinks it should be up with Bill Gates by now, sorry, sorry, sorry.

Your people have "come a long way, baby" since slavery. Consider the real facts. Had not your ancestors made it over here, you would be ducking bullets a lot faster over there. Just read what's happening in Hutu and Tutuland today. Would your people wish to be over there? I think not.

You mentioned the NAACP, and there were other spin offs after 1909. A man whose last name was Schiff, hired the House of Rothchild or Bilderbergers, formed it for the purpose that most blacks would fall in behind, hate Whitey and the Jews and cause huge riots. This didn't happen as your people were struggling just to be able to eat.

Enter Martin Luther King, who held it under control emotionally until Memphis. When he would work the crowds up, he would leave the back way while they were breaking plate glass windows on the streets. By this time in the 1900s, we had something to counter riots. So riots weren't needed. The same 1909 organization did Mr. King in. He had to be stopped.

When your people came on boats they didn't anchor off the coast of Africa and the boat crew hide behind trees and capture them one by one. No, they purchased 1000s from the winners of their clan battles, some very large captures and had not they started for the U.S. in shackles, they would have starved to death in makeshift POW camps over there.

Don't tell me your people are not prejudiced. Jesse Jackson went overseas several years ago as a peacemaker and rescued one - a black lieutenant - no whites came back with him. Is that not racism?

If your people, as you say, refuse to support the charities or buy something from whites and only help fill up revivals on request, I suggest leaving you and yours alone. If your youth are not interested in salvation and don't wish to be included, stay away.

Sounds as if your people wish to remain segregated and look after your own, according to your statements.

Alcohol Involved In Fatal Wreck Saturday Night

Reynaldo Lorenzo Onofre, 24, of 134 Berkshire Lane, died at the scene, reported N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper Terrance D. Shaw.

Maria Pablo Mendez Aviles, 34, of 126 Sunset Drive, Mocksville, was taken to N.C. Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem for treatment of injuries.

Both were thrown from the vehicle.

Onofre was driving a 1981 Volkswagen at an estimated 70 mph on Liberty Church Road and failed to stop for the stop sign at U.S. 601, Shaw reported. The car hit a ditch on the opposite side of U.S. 601 at an estimated 60 mph.

Onofre had been drinking, Shaw reported.

Wayne Ireland. "This is a rural community. We don't need 350 people there on Friday night raising cain."

Traffic could also be a problem, and Ireland said a nearby community has a history of problems with illegal drugs and alcohol. "If you put this next door, you're asking for trouble, especially when the guys across the road, who have a history of problems, come filtering in."

"I cannot see any benefit from this," said Ann Slater. "We have after-hour problems already."

The 350 people is unlikely to be reached, Carrico said. That's just the limit allowed by the fire marshal.

He said he started looking for a place to open such an establishment because he has to travel to other towns for entertainment for his teenage and younger children. He wants a safe place for his, and other people's, children.

"Skating is exercise, it's not somewhere for delinquents to hang out," Carrico said.

Parker agreed.

"We will not tolerate a drug scene or an alcohol scene. We might be able to influence the community to the better with our efforts."

If successful, the group plans to put a small recording studio in the building. A stage is possible for live music, and the building could be rented for special events.

"It's almost destined to be a hit," Parker said. "We think we can draw people in from other towns for entertainment."

Planners agreed, but put a few stipulations on the proposal. If adopted by the commissioners, those stipulations would go with the property, even if it was sold, Gallimore said.

Only the business stated can be built. It must close by 11 p.m. Monday-Saturday and be vacated by midnight. Sunday hours would be limited to 1-6 p.m. A security guard, would have to be present when open. Parking and outside areas would have to be lit, without intruding onto neighboring property. No alcohol or illegal drugs could be allowed.

Local Lawyer To Promote Diversity In Community

Diversity is also important to Van Hoy. Young and old, big and small, male and female - Van Hoy wants to do things that encourage diversity.

"We have excellent judges and district attorneys in this state," Van Hoy said, "but their work load is too heavy. We have to do something to enable people to have a fair opportunity and have enough staff to process it."

Van Hoy pointed out the increasing Latino population. Yet there are few lawyers who speak Spanish, and not enough translators. "It should not be an us and them, but a we. We need a way and means to join together." Van Hoy believes that way is through churches, schools, and professional organizations.

"We need to do things that help lawyers be better," Van Hoy said. The N.C. Bar Association sends out a monthly newsletter to educate its members about current issues and also to make members aware of what the bar does and what they can do.

Van Hoy is also part of a network of lawyers that volunteer for Habitat for Humanity. "It's a great program that ought to be in all states." Van Hoy said. Lawyers volunteering draft deeds and equity agreements.

"My aspiration is to facilitate more pro bono efforts like Lawyers In The Schools, Habitat, and to foster other programs for the public good."

Van Hoy said he was a blessed man to have such a wonderful wife and children, and to live in Davie County. "There is one of the most charitable, good spirits here," he said.

According to Van Hoy organizations like the N.C. Bar Association will go on despite the people that run them. "This is not just an honor for me, it's an honor for the community. A community dedicated to excellence."

Van Hoy is the first president elect from Davie County in the 101 year old N.C. Bar Association. He smiles and says, "I bet you I won't be the last."

Local attorney Grady McClamrock Jr. spoke at the N.C. Bar Association meeting.

"Hank Van Hoy has his priorities right and we can take a lesson from him," McClamrock said. "He is dedicated first to his family, next to his community and next to his profession."

Van Hoy, McClamrock said taught him to be prepared, not to waste time over trivial matters, to be dependable, to keep control of your client, and to remember that your reputation to the court, Bar and community is more important than any case or client.

Don't Get Burned!
You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.
Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.
IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:
• Garbage, paper and cardboard
• Tires and other rubber products
• Building materials, including lumber
• Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
• Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
• Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products
Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:
• Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
• Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
• Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.
Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:
Winston-Salem Regional Office

Pest Populations No Bigger Than Usual

The summer is a great time to enjoy the outdoors in North Carolina. Unfortunately it's also the season when pests can chase you back inside.

This year, pest populations may not be any bigger or more bothersome than usual, despite early fears that the effects of flooding from Hurricane Floyd would make matters worse, said North Carolina State University entomologist Dr. Charles Apperson.

Still, there are no signs that pest populations will be smaller or less bothersome than usual this summer, either. So take care.

Apperson said there are five pests that garner the most attention. Some are merely irritating, while others can pose major health concerns:

Mosquitoes. Early signs suggest these insects shouldn't be a major problem this year, since the size of their populations tend to be tied to rainfall amounts.

"Mosquitos aren't bad right now, and until we get a considerable amount of rain we're not going to see any tremendous mosquito problems develop," Apperson said.

Even without Mother Nature's help, it's possible to create a mosquito problem on your property by allowing water to stand in buckets, birdbaths or tires, Apperson said. Asian Tiger mosquitoes, a disease-carrying form of the pest, can pose serious health risks.

Ticks. The number of complaints about this tiny pest are running higher this year than last, Apperson said. Rainfall is the environmental variable that stresses ticks the most.

Ticks are most active when the weather is neither exceptionally dry nor extremely wet. They prefer moist soil and high humidity. During dry conditions, ticks will burrow below the vegetation to get closer to moist soil, emerging occasionally to look for a host to bite.

Ticks can carry a variety of pathogens that may lead to health problems, including Lyme disease, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, and the recently discovered Ehrlichosis, which is carried by the Lone Star Tick. Check yourself carefully for ticks after being outside, and remove them promptly.

Chiggers. These bright red arachnids are small, but can be a big pest. Chiggers live in areas with lush undergrowth, pine straw or moist soil.

They attack humans, birds, reptiles and other animals. The saliva they inject into their host causes red welts and itching. Scientists don't anticipate chiggers will be a larger problem than normal this year.

Termites. These six-legged insects can cause serious damage to structures, often long before they are discovered. Piles of sawdust-like pellets are a distinct sign of infestation. Apperson said it's a good idea to have your home inspected every year, since most commercial termite treatments only provide about a year's worth of protection. He expects termite populations to be in the normal range this year.

Fire Ants. Found mainly on the Coastal Plain and the Piedmont, Apperson said fire ants are spreading westward in North Carolina. Fire ants build dome-shaped mounds, and will sting if they're disturbed. Apperson recommends leaving a fire ant nest alone unless it's in an area where people or pets may come into contact with it.

He expects fire ants to be found in similar numbers as last year; however, homeowners may find more of the pests indoors, as the ants search for moisture during our recent dry weather.

Snakes. While scientists generally don't consider snakes to be pests, many homeowners do - especially if they find the slithering reptiles in their yards.

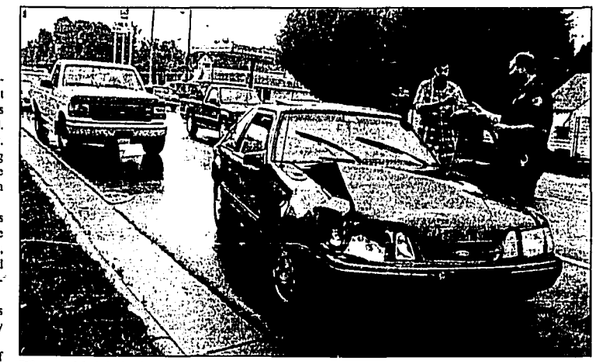
N.C. State zoologist Dr. Harold Heatwole said snake populations are not growing; in fact, they may be declining a bit as development destroys more of their habitat. That forces many to find new homes which might include your backyard.

"There's also seasonal movement. In the spring you may get the young snakes dispersing, they're on the move looking for a place to set up a home," Heatwole said.

He said there are two venomous snakes in North Carolina to be aware of - the cottonmouth, found in wet, swampy areas and near streams; and the copperhead, which lives in upland wooded areas.

Heatwole said while rattlesnakes can be found in North Carolina, they are becoming more rare.

Heatwole said removing piles of wood or debris from your property will discourage snakes from taking up residence in your yard. He also said snakes are best left alone since many prey on other pests like mice and rats. Snakes generally only bite when stepped on or cornered, Heatwole said, noting that as many as 80 percent of snake bites happen while a person is trying to kill the reptile.



Three-Vehicle Wreck

Three vehicles were in a wreck on Yadkinville Road near Country Lane last Thursday. According to a report by Mocksville Police Officer Rick Gilliland (shown above), Wesley Arthanuel Johnson, 20, of 332 Parker Road, failed to stop the 1992 Ford he was driving before it struck in the rear a 1991 Honda driven by Cindy Edwards Ginther, 35, of 353 Koontz Road, knocking it into the rear of a 1995 Pontiac driven by Leslie Ann Dean, 23, of Winston-Salem. - Photo by Robin Fergusson

Night Of Entertainment Planned

Many may remember the night of entertainment, held at the library, to raise funds to build the Brock Performing Arts Center.

Now that the center is built, once again local performers are ready to bring a night of talent.

The Mocksville Civitans and the Davie Theatre Company are sponsoring the event. This time, there will be a silent art auction with works from the Carolina Craftsmen and local artists such as Janet Dean and Ken Curtiss, to go along with the performances.

It all will take place at The Brock at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 29. Tickets are $7 in advance.

Talent will include instrumentals, vocal, ensemble and humorous and dramatic interpretations.

"It is surprising how abundantly gifted are the people of our county," said Pamela Curtiss, Civitan president.

Freda Ramsey and Van Fagan are organizing the talent for the show, the Civitans are serving refreshments and auctioning the art and craft works.

"Don't miss this opportunity to see your friends and neighbors at their best," Curtiss said.

Youngsters Get Glimpse At Life In Days Gone By

Three Being Held For Larceny From School

Three men are being held in Davidson County Jail for school break-ins in Lexington and Mocksville.

Roger Allen Zimmerman, 23, of Winston-Salem, Joshua Grey Thomas Poindexter, 19, of Yadkinville, and Michael Dale Wafford, 25, of Mocksville are each charged with felonious breaking, entering, and larceny. They are coworkers.

According to Davie Sheriff's Department Detective Robert Trotter, on June 20, in the early morning hours, an outbuilding at William R. Davie Elementary on U.S. 601 North in Mocksville was broken into. Several items were stolen: a pressure washer, clippers, hedge trimmer, leaf blower, a Weedeater, tool box, drill, shop-vac, and more. The value of the stolen items totalled more than $3,000.

Six days later, on June 26, another school break-in occurred in Lexington. The same three men are accused of breaking into the school there and attempting to steal another pressure washer. They left during the break-in and went to a Waffle House. They returned to load the stolen pressure washer into Poindexter's van, the same vehicle used in the William R. Davie break-in, only to find the police waiting to make an arrest, according to Trotter.

"We've recovered approximately 98 percent of the stolen items," Trotter said, "A few are still missing." The items were recovered from Wafford's residence on Cable Lane in Mocksville.

From Streets To Elections, BR Officials Discuss Options

BERMUDA RUN — The Bermuda Run town board has assigned itself a big list of projects for the coming year.

- Adopting a fair water rate structure.
- Adopting street light and street sign policies.
- Deciding what to do about street signs within the town.
- Implementing the bar code entry system at the town gates.
- Possibly revising its policy on vacant lots.
- Gaining ownership of the town streets and negotiating a deed transfer with the Bermuda Run Country Club.
- Installing sewer for 200 homes in the original part of the development still on septic systems..
- Improving streets.
- Adopting a traffic ordinance.
- Deciding whether to change the board's election system to avoid primary run-offs.

Water Billing: The board said it will have to decide how to tackle the water billing problem. In the newer section of Bermuda Run, water is purchased in bulk from Davie County, and all homeowners pay the same fee.

One board member said a widow living alone pays the same water bill as a family of five with a swimming pool and irrigation system.

Installing individual meters at every home will be expensive. Mocksville manager Terry Bralley said the board should consider the meters as cash registers — the only way to get paid for the service.

Street Lights and Street Signs: The board needs to inventory all the street lights and adopt a policy on what it will pay for. Bralley said the town needs to decide on a standard light it will finance. If homeowner associations want more expensive lights, they would have to bear the extra expense.

Similarly, street signs need to be uniform. Mayor John Fergusson said he had received complaints by firemen that they couldn't read the signs because they were not reflective. "The recommendation from everybody is to go with standard signs."

Board member Ted Titsworth said his daughter had been involved in an accident, but the investigating officer would not issue a ticket because standard highway signs were not posted.

Board member Al Barnette said Salem Glen and other communities use standard signs that are altered slightly to give the community an individual sign.

"I don't see any reason for paying all that money for signs that aren't legal," Fergusson said.

Bralley said the board would have to decide, "Do you want to do standard signs or the sexy stuff?"

Fergusson said there would be a few complaints, but most residents would be glad to have standard signs.

Bar Code Entrance: The town is almost ready to switch to its bar code entry system. The town is trying to iron out some problems with its computer to manage the system, and the bar codes must be mailed for residents to post on their cars.

"We should have had this done long ago," Fergusson said. "We're starting to get a lot of calls."

The town also has to decide who will manage the system. The Bermuda Run Country Club has been approached.

Board member Charles Whitman said the town needs to publicize the change to avoid criticism. "There is going to be more screaming and hollering than Dante's Inferno," he said.

The bar code system will allow residents to activate the entrance gates as their car approaches.

Vacant Lots: Board members were told one owner of a vacant lot has been written and told to mow the lot, but nothing has happened.

Bralley said the town's ordinance may be too vague. He said the ordinance should require lots to be mowed or cleaned for health, safety and welfare reasons. Otherwise, "you are going to clean up the world," he predicted. He said the ordinance should not be fussy, and owners of wooded undeveloped lots in their original state shouldn't be expected to mow them. If a lot is overrun with rats or trees block the visibility of traffic would be adequate reasons for requiring owners to mow them.

Otherwise, Brailley said the board needs to learn to deal with complaints. "A lot of times, two or three people sound like an army. "It's a seasonal issue. Every October it goes away. Every summer it comes back."

Gates And Street Ownership: Attorney Don House said he was negotiating an exchange of ownership of the towns streets from Don Angell and the Bermuda Run Country Club.

He said Angell is seeking assurance the gates will remain up if the town ever decides to seek state Powell Bill funds or no longer charges a gate fee to residents.

"This has been in discussion for two months," he said.

Angell owns most of the streets in town and wants to surrender ownership to the town. The town will pay for maintenance of the streets.

Fergusson said the town board needs to be clear that it will not surrender the gates to Angell, and it wouldn't be legal for him to operate the gates if the board ever opens the streets to the public.

"We just won't take it (the streets) at all if that's the case," he said. "It's not that he's got something we want."

He said one of the major reasons for incorporation was to repair the streets that had been neglected. He suggested the town and Angell have similar goals.

"He is the largest taxpayer in here, and he wants to do the right thing, too," he said.

Delinquency Payment Options: Bermuda Run has not yet decided how to handle delinquent accounts. Mayor John Fergusson said the problem was limited, mostly to non-resident property owners. Bralley encouraged the board to adopt a policy for collecting delinquent accounts, eventually attaching the debt to the property if it is not paid.

Election System: Attorney Don House asked the board whether it wanted to continue with its current election method, which requires a run-off primary if a candidate doesn't receive 40 percent of the vote.

Bermuda Run didn't realize it had adopted a primary method of election until the first election was held last fall. House said Bermuda Run was the only town in the county that had primaries. The other towns require only a plurality for election.

The town's run-off primary cost $1,200. Board members indicated they would like to alter the system.

BR Residents Could Save On Sewer Connections

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

BERMUDA RUN — Residents may save $2,300 per house in a proposed method of connecting the remaining 200 homes to sewer here.

Instead of connecting to the new sewer line that links with the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County sewer, the town wants to add those houses to its existing sewer.

Engineer John Gray of Mocksville said that would be the least expensive way of linking the remaining homes to the sewer system, avoiding the expensive connection fees to the other line.

The existing Bermuda Run Sanitary package plant has a 190,000-gallon-a-day capacity, and that can be expanded, he said.

The plant treats about 123,000 gallons a day. It serves the newer section of Bermuda Run and Bermuda Village.

Gray, who is making a topographical study of the town to design the sewer lines, said connecting to the existing sewer is the best use of the existing facility.

Bermuda Run had reserved 70,000 gallons a day of capacity on the new line which crossed the Yadkin River last year to serve Kinderton, eastern Davie County and the rest stop on I-40.

Gray said the town can petition the state to increase the capacity of the sewer to accommodate the added homes.

Golf Carts And Horse Racing; Board Tackles Several Issues

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

BERMUDA RUN — Golf carts on the streets of Bermuda Run?

What should the Town of Bermuda Run do about it?

The town board decided last week the best thing to do might be absolutely nothing.

Bermuda Run Country Club is enacting new rules that will prohibit the use of private carts on its golf courses, and operators will have to be licensed to drive.

Should the Town of Bermuda Run forbid private golf carts from using its streets?

Mayor John Fergusson told the board last week to ignore that issue.

"Every morning there are no less than 10 that go by my house," he said.

In fact, golf carts can't help but use the streets. Carts have to cross the street to go between the sixth and seventh holes.

"We have had this problem forever," Fergusson said. "Anytime there is a shotgun (golf tournament term) start, there are carts all over the streets."

But doing something about the problem would require enforcement, and the town is not prepared to do that, he said.

Board member Ted Titsworth suggested the board should drop the discussion.

"It's a golf course community. You're going to have golf carts," said Terry Bralley, town manager of Mocksville.

As for horse racing, the Bermuda Run Homeowners Association has asked the board to take a position on a proposal to bring regular horse racing to Tanglewood. A letter from John Guglielmi, president of the homeowners association, said the track would generate noise and traffic.

Board members said Tanglewood was outside their jurisdiction.

Guglielmi's letter also called for the speed bump to be put back on Crosby Boulevard and for the town to make a donation to local fire departments and the rescue squad.

Fergusson noted that the speed bump had been taken out at the recommendation of the N.C. Department of Transportation for better traffic flow. And while town residents pay taxes that fund the fire departments, the town government does not make donations with taxpayer money.

New Town Board Figuring Out Duties For Members

"Management by committee doesn't work," echoed Charles Whitman.

He said the board had dumped a lot of responsibility on the shoulders of Mayor John Fergusson, but Fergusson has wanted to concentrate on the board's financial issues.

"The first thing we should do is impeach John and hire him as city manager," Whitman jokingly suggested.

"There's not enough money in Bermuda Run — not in Davie County," Fergusson replied.

In its first year, Bermuda Run has tackled a host of problems, some large and some small.

"You can never fix every problem," Bralley told them, reminding the board of the old maxim, "Don't let the things that matter least get in the way of the things that matter most."

The town board has run into a lot of citizen complaints. One last month concerned the way the grass is being trimmed on a main street.

Fergusson said that one rankled him. "I got upset when they complained that the mower was not set at the right angle."

He disagreed with the impression that nothing was getting accomplished.

"We have a very short memory," he said, reciting the roads and sewer projects the board has taken on. "You cannot do all that in a year. There's no council in the world that would pave the roads and put in the sewer in a year. You've got to exercise some patience."

Bralley led the board through a method of handling complaints and letting them know what to do and how to respond to a variety — from noxious weeds to potholes.

The board questioned whether it needed to maintain an office, since there are few visitors, or whether it should find larger quarters so it could conduct meetings and do work there.

Bermuda Run has relied on Mocksville and its staff for help in getting started. Danny Smith, director of public works, has helped with repairs. Beth Dirks has filled in as town clerk. And Bralley has helped the town as a fill in town manager until it can make other arrangements.

Bralley said he considered his involvement a professional courtesy, adding that the Town of Mocksville wanted to see Bermuda Run get off to a good start.

He cautioned the board against micro-managing every decision, but instead to focus on setting policy. "You're bottom line is, get it fixed within the budget," he said, adding that the town has already approved contracts with firms to do much of the work it usually encounters.

But he said the board and the public needs to understand what the town will do for its citizens and what it won't do, such as provide brush collection.

He said the town and the board need to know how to get a street light fixed, how to get a pothole filled. And the board needs a plan for handling calls and fixing problems.

"It's not so much that nothing's being done but that no one knows what's being done," said Barnette. "People in this community are very visual oriented. They want to see something being done with their money."

"We've got to come up with the bucks to get that part-time guy," said board member Ted Titsworth.

"I couldn't agree with you more," Bralley said.

Davie Jobless Rate At 2.9%

Davie County's unemployment was unchanged - at 2.9 percent - from April to May, according to figures released this week by the Employment Security Commission of North Carolina.

May jobless rates for surrounding counties: Davidson, 2.3%; Forsyth, 2.5%; Iredell, 2.4%; Rowan, 2.7%; and Yadkin, 2.1%.

Local Artist Gets Inspiration, Ideas From Women Of Age

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Terry Reavis-Freeman draws inspiration from the elderly women she teaches in aquacize classes at the Davie Family YMCA.

Some of them suffer from arthritis, some from weakening of the muscles, some from just the wear and tear of 60 years and more in this world. But they go on. The women take the exercise class, and have full, productive lives.

Reavis-Freeman has drawn pictures all her life, and one day she started thinking about those women, and about her grandparents.

"I was sitting around and had these little old ladies popping up in my head," she said. "I started drawing pictures of ladies of age who can do things."

Some of the figures come out of her head, but most contain some feature of a women who has touched Reavis-Freeman's life.

"They come out of my head, but once I draw them, I can see people in them," she said. "People I've gotten to know, their features come out in my mind. I get my inspiration from people I see. I may take a nose from one and an ear from another."

She has a series of drawings called "Cane and Able," which show elderly women, with their canes, doing active things.

Those, and other drawings by the Davie native, will be on display at the Davie County Public Library in Mocksville through July.

Reavis-Freeman has a series of drawings on napkins, called "Nanny Napkins." They're her favorites because her mother and grandmother are called nanny. She is the daughter of Lowell and Wilma Reavis.

"I just find it a blessing that the Lord has kissed my mind and gave me these pictures in my head," she said.

She has entered her drawings in the Center Fair, but this is her first public showing. "I'm scared," she said. "And I feel so humbled by the opportunity that someone wants to see my things. There has to be a reason for everything."

Reavis-Freeman is also a big support of water exercise. It's terrific for people like herself, who have health problems because of extra weight, and for the elderly. There's not as much pressure on the muscles and bones when you exercise in the water.

"We're living longer now, and we need to keep ourselves to where we can do things," she said. "These ladies (aquacize) are not depressed."

Reavis-Freeman tells the story of a woman who was told by her doctor that she was close to having to go to a nursing home because she wasn't able to take care of herself. At age 76, she began taking the YMCA's water aerobics class. After two months, she's able to do her housekeeping again, and should be able to stay at home longer.

Reavis-Freeman recommends the YMCA for everyone. The water exercise class has helped her, and she works out in the weight room when possible. After all, she's got a family to take care of.

Reavis-Freeman and husband Harlon Freeman live with their children near Cooleemee. He works for the National Guard in Mocksville, and they attend Victory Baptist Church in Cooleemee.

For the former associate dean of a college in Mississippi, coming home to Davie County to be a mother, teacher, wife, and healthy person has been a blessing, indeed.

Green Meadows Baptist Gets New Minister

Green Meadows Baptist Church has a new pastor, the Rev. Michael Waters from Emerado, N.D., where he served as pastor of Calvary Christian Fellowship from March of 1997 until June of this year.

Waters is a graduate of South Guilford High School in Greensboro. After graduating in 1987, he attended college at Brevard College in Brevard where he earned an associate degree. He then enrolled in the University of Greensboro where he received his bachelor's degree in psychology. In 1994, he obtained his master of divinity degree at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminar in Fort Worth, Texas.

Waters' education also consists of teacher certifications in Evangelism Explosion Ministry, Seminary Extension Diploma Studies for all Southern Baptist Seminaries, and Biblical Financial Studies for Crown Ministries.

Throughout his years of schooling, Waters was active in local churches. While attending UNC-Greensboro, he served as a pastoral intern at Pleasant Garden Baptist Church in Pleasant Garden. During his years of schooling at Southwestern in Texas, Waters served as a volunteer chaplain for both the Tarrant County Jail and Huguley Memorial Medical Center in Ft. Worth, Texas.

He served as associate pastor with the included responsibilities of youth director and music director at Corinth Baptist Church in Ravenna, Texas from September of 1992 until October of 1993 and, in February of 1994, was promoted to pastor of the church. During his tenure as pastor at Corinth, the church was blessed with high growth in Sunday School attendance and was able to complete the construction of a new education building and remodeling of old buildings, all debt free.

In March of 1997, Waters was called as pastor to Calvary Christian Fellowship in Emerado. During this years there, the church was blessed with increased growth in spite of downsizing at the local Grand Forks Air Base, from which Calvary drew over 90 percent of its members. The church was also blessed with the addition of a number of small group Bible studies as well as a MOPS (Mother's Of PreSchoolers) program. Due to the projected continuation of downsizing at the military base, Waters felt the call to leave North Dakota and will continue his ministry as the pastor of Green Meadows, where he received a unanimous vote in his favor.

Waters is 31 years old, has two young children and has recently celebrated his sixth wedding anniversary with wife, Angie. Waters and his family will reside in Davie County.

Mocksville Romp Biggest Mismatch In 9 Years

Team Completes Sweep At Troy

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Greene

Infante

Bowling pins stay up longer than Troy did against Mocksville-Davie, which wrapped up a cakewalk three-game sweep, 16-5, in the second round of the Area III American Legion baseball playoffs June 30 at 13th-seed Troy.

The 48-12 accumulative score represented the biggest mismatch since Mocksville outscored Concord 48-8 in three games in 1991, which happened long before the 10-run mercy rule was adopted.

"It was fairly easy," Coach Mike Lovelace said after No. 4 Mocksville advanced to face No. 5 Asheboro in a best-of-five quarterfinal series that started Monday. "We swung the bats, we pitched well and we finally played fairly good defense. With us making two errors in a three-game series, that was a big plus. Scoring a lot of runs in the first two games (19-4 and 13-3 wins), the guys got a lot of confidence and it carried on."

Sustaining an impressive pattern, Mocksville got contributions everywhere, particularly from No. 9 batter Willie Infante, who stole the spotlight from red-hot Chris Brake with a single, double and five RBIs.

He laced a bases-loaded, three-run double off the right-center wall to build a 6-0 lead in the third. Then Infante, who was hitless in the first two games, stroked a two-run single to right-center in the sixth to make it 10-2. Both hits were with two strikes.

"He was big," Lovelace said. "I told (assistant Brian) Hightower he needs to just go up to the plate and start with two strikes. He'd be better off, he gets all his hits with two strikes."

Mocksville's pitchers were less than overpowering, but it didn't matter. The defense, which has been maligned most of the year, didn't make an error for the second straight game and Troy compounded its problems by walking 13 batters and hitting four more.

"I wanted a sweep because I know anything can happen," Lovelace said. "I've been on both sides of it, and it can happen once momentum starts going

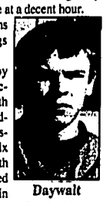
Daywalt 4-4

Two days after game one was suspended because of lightning, the Mocksville-Davie Legion baseball team wanted to make quick work of Troy so it could start the regularly-scheduled game at a decent hour.



Daywalt

Fourteen runs in three innings did the trick.

Blitzing Troy the moment action resumed with Mocksville leading 5-2, Mocksville hung up six runs in the fourth inning, exploded for eight more in the sixth and blasted five doubles and five homers while rolling to a 19-4 win on June 28 at Mando Field in Game One of the best-of-five second-round Area III playoff series. Thanks to the ruthless attack, Game Three started around 8:45 p.m. (Game two at Troy on June 27 was rained out.)

"Since we've been waiting, I guess we were ready to get this one over with and start on the next game," said second baseman Andrew Daywalt, who led the scoring spree by going 4-for-4 with four runs, three RBIs, two doubles

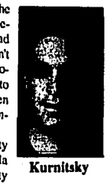
Kurnitsky Decides To Stay At Davie

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Derek Kurnitsky had his good-byes rehearsed and his bags packed, but memories of two glorious seasons tugged at his heart as he reached for the door.



Kurnitsky

As much as he drools over becoming a head coach, he couldn't summon the emotional strength to walk away, even if it meant enhanced status.

Davie County principal Linda Bost and varsity boys basketball coach Jim Young surrounded Kurnitsky - who recently was a finalist or foremost candidate for four varsity jobs, including two in Florida – at the crossroads.

"Dr. Bost and Jim did a pretty good job of really, I like to say, recruiting me to stay," said Kurnitsky, Davie's freshman coach the past two years. "They made me feel very welcome. She is awesome to work for. I don't know if they're are any principals that are better than her, and Jim is great to work for, too. And when they said we'd like you to be here, that means a lot to somebody.

"They kind of put the full-court press on me."

As much as Kurnitsky relishes the Davie administration and Young's staff, the overriding reason he spurned high-profile positions to remain in Young's shadows was the cohesion he's developed with players.

"I have a great teaching situation and I have a great coaching situation, and they were a big part of it," he said. "But the absolute No. 1 reason - besides the fact that I have a nice girlfriend (South Davie Middle teacher Maggie Crowell) that lives here and a lot of friends and all that - was the kids. Every time I went on an interview, I looked at other kids and other programs and said: 'They're not the same kids. Those aren't my guys.' "

Kurnitsky attributes his amazing success, 36-1 in two years, to his reputation as a player's coach. Although one minute he's screaming in their face, the next minute he's embracing them, putting an arm around their shoulder, loading them in the car.

"I get that way and I think part of the reason I've been successful is my kids going to miss coaching (high school), but I really like the little kids' tournament team. And the more I thought about (moving to elementary), the more I realized that that's where I want to be."

MEANWHILE, who's going to inherit the Davie gold mine? Ace pitcher Shannon Handy, catcher Stacy Queen, third baseman Ashlie Sanders, shortstop Stacey Handy, left fielder Amber Carter, center fielder Kim Hilton and right fielder Brandi Comatzer are returning starters for '01, creating perhaps the greatest hopes ever.

"My girls are concerned with next year, with what's going to happen," Keith Handy said. "Man, we've worked like dogs for this."

Bost reassured the skeptics.

"We're working on that," she said. "We don't know what we're going to do, and it's going to be hard to find somebody with Miss Reavis' ability. But we'll work on it, we'll do right for our girls and we'll have a good coach."

War Eagle Softball Coach Stepping Down After Two Stellar Years

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Reavis

Bost

Tammy Reavis stepped down as Davie County's varsity softball coach last week, abruptly ending a near spectacular two-year run.

After guiding the War Eagles to one of the best seasons in school history last spring, Reavis has lost the appetite for the big stage, despite the potential for a greater 2001 season behind several returning starters.

"I've been working with the adapted and dysfunctional kids, and teaching those children made me realize that there's a lot of teaching going on there and I like the little kids," said Reavis, also a physical education teacher at Davie who plans to land a Davie County elementary school job. "I feel like that's where my interest is right now. I'm not sure yet where I'm going to be, but I feel like a move to the elementary school is what is best for me right now."

The news jolted at least one family.

Keith Handy, the father of pitcher Shannon and shortstop Stacey, said his daughters were disconsolate and bewildered at how Reavis could turn her back on such a promising future. Davie was one clutch hit from making the Class 4-A state semifinals last year, losing 3-2 in 10 innings to Alexander Central in the quarterfinals.

"Shannon sat in the hall and cried the night (teammate) Stacy Queen called her and told her about it," Keith said. "Shannon and Stacey are down there now helping her with those little kids (at softball camp). I've got no complaints (with Reavis' performance)."

Davie's principal, Dr. Linda Bost, said Reavis flourished under daunting conditions, succeeding the late Darrell Steele, who compiled a 145-73 mark, achieved eight state playoff berths in 10 years and led Davie to the quarterfinals his last year in 1998.

But Reavis quickly proved that she belonged at the controls, beating regular-season champ West Forsyth in the Central Piedmont Conference Tournament and finishing 17-7 in 1999. Last year Davie waltzed 8-0 through the CPC regular season and beat Shelby Crest (1-0) and Northwest Guilford (2-0) in the playoffs before finishing 19-6.

"Filling the position of head coach after Darrell Steele was a tall order to fill," the fourth-year principal said. "Anybody coming in had quite a lot to live up to. There's real high expectations, and I believe Miss Reavis fulfilled those expectations and has done an outstanding job. I mean, you can look at her record (36-13, .734) and you can look at what she accomplished with those girls, and she's done an excellent job."

The huge success makes this a quite bizarre development. When coaches get out early, it's typically because they couldn't win.

"Miss Reavis has decided to step down, and the reasons are different from what some people think that they are," Bost said of Reavis, who is spending her summer coaching a 12-under tournament team. "She has the talent to work with the younger kids and kids with special needs, and that's what she wants to do, and so we support her in that.

"One of the advantages of having one high school is that all those (12-under) kids will come to the high school. So we'll get the advantage of Miss Reavis' coaching anyway."

Reavis, who appears headed to new Cornatzer Elementary, contends that the 12-under level can satisfy her competitive urges.

"I think we had a very successful season, and that's a good note to leave on," she said. "I'm

Basketball Camp

Derek Kurnitsky instructed a basketball camp at the Brock Gym recently for about 17 rising third through sixth graders. Helping Kurnitsky, Davie County's JV boys coach, were Davie players David Orsillo and Brian Hunter. "It was a good camp," said Joe Boyette, the athletic director of the Mocksville-Davie recreation department. "The kids got one-on-one instruction."

Coach Kurnitsky 36-1 In Two Years

know I care about them," he said. "I'm not just their coach. I take them to a basketball game, I take them to the mall to buy a pair of shoes. I've gotten very close to them. They were the main reason I didn't leave."

Kurnitsky's career started taking shape as a manager for Florida State from 1992-96. "I've been in every arena," he says proudly.

He coached JV at 5-A Clearwater High (Fla.) in 1997-98, going 26-12, and took over Davie's freshmen in 1999. The War Eagles blitzed people by an average of 73-45 and finished 18-1. They somehow surpassed that last year, going 18-0 and creating a sparkling resume for Kurnitsky, whose lone loss was 55-51 to Mount Tabor.

"They've kind of made my career here, so they've done a lot for me and I figured I owed it to them," he said.

Kurnitsky's decision to stay softens the blow to Young's staff. Pat Cook, who will remain a teacher at Davie, has stepped down as chief assistant, and three-year JV coach Leo Brunelli accepted the head job at North Stanly.

"I would have left them high and dry, and I didn't think that was right," said Kurnitsky, who recently turned down his fourth head-coaching offer to fill Davie's JV vacancy. "I had a school a couple weeks ago ask me to interview - I was kind of their No. 1 choice - but I had already made a commitment to Dr. Bost and Jim Young to stay at least one more year, if not longer, and I'm not two-faced. If I make a commitment, I do it."

Kurnitsky loves to relate his situation to the old Dean Smith-Bill Guthridge bench, the lieutenant sitting alongside the legend for 30 years. After leading Davie to the winningest season ever, Young is 431-195 in 27 years.

"This is where I'm most comfortable," he said. "This is such a good area and the people have been very nice to me. The people have kind of taken me in as a local, and they don't do that very often around here. They didn't just see me as some foreigner. I'm just tickled to death. If I coach here another 30 years, I'd be satisfied to be the Bill Guthridge around here."

Notes: Young hopes to complete his revamped staff by early August. Tim Kenney, who has coached at South Davie for three years, could replace Cook as varsity assistant, and Steve Hamlin could move up from assistant to head coach at South Davie. That would leave only one vold, a freshman coach.

Central Cabarrus, which is moving up to Class 4-A in 2001-02, was not placed in the revamped Central Piedmont Conference as anticipated, the North Carolina High School Athletic Association announced last week.

That leaves the CPC, which dropped to five members when South Stokes became 2-A after the 1998-99 year, with six teams for 2001-02 realignment: Davie County, South Rowan, Reynolds, West Forsyth, North Davidson and South Iredell.

South Iredell appealed, citing that a new high school near Lake Norman would drop it to 2-A size, but got denied.

Instead of joining the CPC, Central Cabarrus was put in a 4-A league with Charlotte schools Harding, North and West Mecklenburg, a new Mecklenburg County school, West Charlotte, Vance and Independence.

"I really thought the CPC was what (Central Cabarrus) wanted to do, but they want to stay where they are," said Davie County Superintendent Dr. Bill Steed, a longtime NCHSAA board member. "And if they don't request a change, of course they will stay where they are."

For the CPC, that's a disappointing development for several reasons. South Iredell projects a new high school to open in three years, which will drastically reduce South's enrollment and likely leave the CPC with five teams again from the fall of 2003 to the spring of 2005. And the smaller the conference, the bigger the strain on schedules. CPC athletic directors would have to resume finding seven nonconference football games.

"What concerns me is South Iredell," Steed said. "They are still assigned to the CPC, they are going to build a new school, and that will reduce their size to a small 3-A or a large 2-A. If that happens, at the end of two years (after the 2002-03 year) they will probably appeal and the CPC could drop to five again.

"And that's a problem. Five teams, that's difficult. It's tough in football with only four conference games. Ideally, you want seven or eight (conference teams)."

Leagues Start In August

There will be leagues for golf, coed softball and men's open softball through the Mocksville-Davie Recreation Department starting in August.

Playing one night a week, the men's open league will have unlimited home runs. The rec will supply bats and balls. The entry fee is $225 for the first six teams to sign up.

The golf league will start Aug. 7, playing each Monday at Hickory Hill at 5:15 p.m. Only 10 teams will be allowed, and the deadline for entry is July 21. The cost is $50 for each four-person team.

Gathering Steam

South Girls Attend Basketball Team Camp

South Davie girls basketball coaches Sheila Tribble and Melanie Adams took 13 rising eighth graders to Catawba Team Camp and gathered steam for next season, going 7-3 and making the semifinals of the tournament.

The players included Elizabeth Belluci, Jessica Bowling, Elizabeth Colbert, Jamie Durham, Molly Harris, Megan Howell, Kourtney Hanrahan, Allison Mackintosh, Danielle O'Neal, Bekah Peeler, Christy Taylor, Alyson Walker and Erin Whitaker. They posted a 7-6 Piedmont Middle School Conference record as seventh graders last winter.

"It was an outstanding team camp," Tribble said of the June 18-21 camp. "There were 10 teams at the middle-school level, and they played tough, hard-nosed basketball. Our girls did great and represented South Davie with aggressive play and good sportsmanship. It was an all-around super camp. We are excited about next season."

A Tiger finished first or second in every competition.

- Walker, O'Neal and Whitaker finished runner-up in 3-on-3.
- Walker hit four 3-pointers in a minute to claim runner-up in the 3-point contest. The winner hit five.
- And South took the top spots in the free-throw contest, with Colbert hitting eight of 10 and O'Neal seven of 10.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Susan Sykes

The Gardener's Lament

Ouch! You just put in a day of gardening and your body aches from head to toe. This time you really over did it. Lifting something too heavy, such as a shovel load of dirt, can easily strain the shoulders and upper back. Bending over or kneeling down may put stress on the lower back. What can you do? When the days become warm and the ...ons start to bloom many gardeners turn to their doctors of chiropractic to ease the aches and pains. A chiropractor's expert adjustments can restore spinal integrity, lessen discomfort and help muscles relax again.

What about the next time you garden? Chiropractors recommend that you take the special precautions you would when doing any other type of exercise. Before gardening, warm up with stretching exercises and knee bends. Also learn the right techniques for lifting, pushing, hauling, bending down and squatting. If possible, always kneel rather than squat since the former is easier on the back. Do not bend at the waist to pick up a tool because it will strain your back. Instead, bend at your knees and ankles. Do not hunch your shoulders when raking or hoeing. Stand up straight and let your stomach and leg muscles do the work. Following these guidelines will ease the aches and pains and let you truly enjoy the pleasures of gardening.

Triad Thunder Rolls To 15-8 Record

The Triad Thunder girls softball team has been put to the test this summer, and it's responded with excellent grades.

Playing on an 18-under level with essentially all 17-year-olds, the Thunder has rumbled to 15-8, finishing among the top three in three of four tournaments. Six of the players – Jessica Whitley, Layne Grout, Stacy Queen, Ashlie Sanders, Kim Hilton and Amber Carter – are girls who helped Davie County High post a 19-6 record last spring.

"Jessica is the only girl on this team who will age out of 18-under," said Coach Mark Whitley, whose staff includes Ron Grout and Gene Queen. "This group is young, in other words. We've played several teams with some players who are returning from college after their freshman year. My point is, we're playing some top-shelf competition."

Catcher Queen, third baseman Sanders, center fielder Hilton and left fielder Carter started for the Davie team that captured the Central Piedmont Conference regular-season championship at 8-0 and advanced to the quarterfinals of the Class 4-A state playoffs, losing in 10 innings to Alexander Central. Whitley capped her fourth varsity year by going 6-1 with 31 strikeouts and seven walks in 41 1/3 innings for a 1.37 ERA. And Grout, who is versatile enough to play first base, outfield and pitcher, is surely to start on the much-anticipated 2001 team.

"We beat a team from Wilmington, and they had some college players on the team," Mark Whitley said.

The Thunder finished second in a tournament in Goldsboro, second in pool play in Raleigh, second in Charlotte and third in the state tournament, earning World Series' berths in NSA and USSSA in the process.

Notes: West Forsyth High's Kandace Wemsing and Joyce Braun are members of the Thunder. ... Whitley might walk on at North Carolina. "She was given a good look by a few places, including Appalachian State," her father said. "The Appalachian coach was really interested in her, but Jessica has always wanted to go to Chapel Hill. She talked to the (Tar Heel) coach and was invited to walk on." ... Ashley Bracken, who helped Davie go 17-7 in 1999, plays for the Thunder's 20-under squad. ... The 18-under Thunder will play in at least three more tournaments, including one in Virginia Beach.

THE SYMBOL SAYS IT ALL

You have seen this symbol at health agencies, day-care facilities, neighborhood centers, and on all United Way posters and publications.

But did you know the symbol's very simple, yet universal, message?

At the bottom is a helping hand. The hand symbolizes the services and programs supported by United Way.

The image in the center, the symbol of mankind, is cradled by the helping hand. It shows that all people are uplifted by United Way.

In these figures is the sum total of the United Way mission — to increase the organized capacity of people to care for one another.

to their side. When you start smelling blood, it's time to put them away."

The game was all but locked up after a four-run sixth made it 10-2, but the seventh still meant something as substantial hitting streaks for Zach Greene and Skipp Crider hung in the balance. While Crider lined out in the sixth, got hit by a pitch to start a six-run seventh and watched his 14-game run come to an end, Greene came through again in his last gasp, bouncing a single to push his season-long streak to 25 games.

The next time somebody heads to Vegas, it wouldn't be a bad idea to ask Greene to come along.

"It's unreal," Lovelace said of the leadoff man, who was 0-for-5 going into his last at-bat for the third time. "He's unbelievable. I know of four (last-inning hits) right off the top of my head.

Coach Mike Lovelace encourages his team.

"He was in there in the seventh wanting another at-bat. He made an out in the sixth, and we ended up batting around in the seventh for him to get up. Hightower said he was in the dugout between innings praying. Whatever works for him."

No one ever said the game is fair. Crider hit it in the mouth in the sixth for an out, and Greene's bouncer had eyes.

"Skipp hit a shot to first base, a line drive and the guy reached out and caught it."

Notes: Drew Ridenhour was hitless but reached four times on walks and hit batsman. ... Brake was 1-for-2 with two runs, three RBIs, three walks and three stolen bases, making him 7-for-9 with 12 RBIs for the series. ... Also in the series, Daywalt was 6-for-10 and Dellacona 5-for-9. ... Travis Allen picked up the win even though he gave up three runs in 2 1/3. ... Mocksville hit .379 for the series. "All 16 of our (Game Three) runs were earned," Lovelace said. "We left 11 guys on after 16 runs."

Crider Homers, Improves to 6-1 On Mound and two stolen bases. "Hopefully this is going to be a three-game series and over quick."

With two Troy pitchers resembling a flimsy Mike Tyson opponent, fourth-seeded Mocksville (17-6) socked five home runs, banged 15 hits for the fourth time this year and continued to demonstrate why it's the highest-scoring Mocksville team in seven years.

Kevin Shuping and Chris Brake – who was 3-for-4 with two doubles and three RBIs – delivered back-to-back homers in the second for a 3-2 lead, Skipp Crider and Matt Dellacona connected in the fourth to make it 11-2 and Drew Ridenhour creamed his team-leading sixth dinger in the sixth as Mocksville closed it out after six and a half via the 10-run rule.

"The biggest thing was we helped their power, throwing behind and having to come back with straight balls up in the zone," Troy coach Whitey McRae said after No. 13 Troy fell to 9-12. "Not taking anything away from them – they're a great team and a good coached team – but we helped the power. We pitched behind all night. It's what they hit out – 2-0, 3-0, 3-1, sitting dead red and giving them fastballs belt high."

Troy actually had a chance to climb back into contention, loading the bases with nobody out while trailing 11-4 in the top of the sixth. But Troy's main guns wilted against the unflappable Skipp Crider, who induced a 5-2 fielder's choice from a .430-hitting Brent Simpson and retired the Nos. 3-4 batters on infield pops.

The only fans surprised that Troy got one measly run out of three hits and an error were fans watching Crider, a crafty 18-year-old lefty, for the first time.

"It's funny," catcher Brake said after Crider scattered nine hits and ran his record to 6-1. "Sometimes Skipp will get himself in trouble, but he always seems to find a way to get out of it. I don't know how he does it."

With the outcome in the bag, suspense in the late stages involved leadoff man Zach Greene, who singled sharply up the middle in his last at-bat to sustain his world-class hitting streak. Greene had never defied bigger odds during the 23-game streak, though, because he was playing significantly less than 100 percent after getting hit in the elbow by Crider during practice.

"I just didn't really get mad until that last at-bat," he said. "I took the elbow brace off because it was pulling on my arm, and I knew if he hung a curveball I was going to (get a) hit."

Notes: Mocksville scored 19 runs for the fourth time even though Troy played error-free defense. ... Daywalt raised his average 28 points to .358, second on the team. "Whatever they throw, I feel like I can hit it now," he said. ... Brake's only out in four ABs was a shot in the gap that was run down. "I don't know what's happening to me," said Brake, who is 11-for-25 (.440) the last seven games.

Brake A One-Man Show, Goes 6-7 With 3 Home Runs

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

There are scripts straight out of Hollywood, and then there are scripts even more unbelievable.

Brake

Pitcher Cody Wright improved to 6-1, but even his dominant complete game took a back seat to Chris Brake, an unsung player who finally got his due against Troy on June 28 at Mando Field.

Rub your eyes, check your eyeglass prescription and squint all you want, but Brake was a one-man highlight show in Game Three of the best-of-five second-round Area III playoff series, going 3-for-3 with a double, two home runs and six RBIs as the Mocksville-Davie American Legion baseball team rolled 13-3 to seize a commanding 2-0 series lead.

For the night – No. 4 Mocksville romped 19-4 in a suspended Game One that was completed prior to Game Three – Brake went 6-for-7 with three doubles, three homers and nine RBIs.

"I don't think I've ever had a night like that," the catcher said. "I don't know what it is. It's weird, everything is clicking right now. I really don't know how to explain it. I don't know what to say really."

Coach Mike Lovelace couldn't believe what he'd just seen, a singles hitter batting eighth in the order displaying impromptu power. Brake, who unveiled a new hair style for the playoffs, had five doubles and 15 singles during the regular season, then promptly laced six extra-base hits and drove in nine of his 22 RBIs during two drubbings of No. 13 Troy (9-13).

The consensus is that Brake, who earned a scholarship to UNC-Charlotte largely because of elite catching skills, will keep the bleached blond hair.

"I don't know what to say about it," Lovelace said. "He colored his hair blond and I don't know what else he's done. But good Lord, I guess he thinks everything looks like a beach ball.

"And he's hitting at the right time. Of course behind the plate he's doing a great job like he's done all summer, but as far as swinging the bat, he's just been unbelievable. He's been unconscious. I don't know what else to say."

Brake lofted a three-run homer to left in the second for the 11-0 lead, then put the cherry on top with a deep two-run homer in the fourth, making it 13-0.

All that from an unassuming fellow who hit .244 last season. All that from someone who had zero homers through 22 games.

"Once he hit that first one (in Game One), I think he got a little confidence," assistant Brian Hightower said. "Then the next one comes along, and then the next thing you know you feel like you can't get out. It is amazing when everything you hit has been hit hard."

Brake's only out in the series was a liner to right-center.

"I've been hitting off the tee at home," said Brake, who has juiced up his average 54 points to .366, No. 2 on the squad. "That might have helped me a little bit, but other than that they've just been putting the ball in the zone and I've been swinging at the first pitch I've seen."

Lost amid Brake's magical moment was another impressive performance by Wright, who retired 11 of 13 - including four looking at strike three – after surviving a bases-loaded jam unscathed in the first. Wright carried a two-hit shutout into the fifth and final inning. The 10-run rule stopped the game, which was scheduled to go seven instead of nine, after four and a half innings.

"He kept it down and mainly stayed with fastballs, and they couldn't catch up with it too well," Lovelace said after Mocksville won for the 13th time in 15 games. "The guys are confident, and that's been the key to it."

Although Wright (6-1) gave up three runs in the last inning, he preserved the 10-run lead and joined Crider (6-1) as the first Mocksville pitchers in seven years to win six games. The other six-game winners since 1990 are Brock Keene and Marcus King in '93 and Lovelace in '91 and '90.

"He's young and we've got to make sure he stays focused," Lovelace said of the 16-year-old right-hander. "It just comes with maturity. Smelling that zero, that's what I want him to get to. No matter what the score is, I want him to feel like it's a 0-0 game."

Notes: With Mocksville cruising, Greene, who extended his hitting streak to 24 games, hustled for a rarely-seen triple to left-center. "We're up 11-0 and he's diving into third with a triple," Lovelace said. "I take him out of the game and he runs up foul balls." ... Crider's first-inning triple stretched his streak to 14 straight.

Extra Innings: Mocksville-Asheboro Series Could Be Slugfest

• It's rather fitting that Mocksville-Davie and Asheboro will do battle the Fourth of July week, because Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace foresees big crowds and serious fireworks in the best-of-five quarterfinal series of the American Legion Area III playoffs.

"The next series is going to be huge," he said. "It could be a five-gamer. It's supposed to be a matchup of evenly-matched teams. It could be a slugfest."

Both teams breezed through the second round, with fourth-seeded Mocksville (19-6) sweeping Troy 19-4, 13-3 and 16-5 and No. 5 Asheboro (22-5) sweeping Stanly County by equally substantial margins.

"They're good," Lovelace said. "They did the exact same thing we did. We averaged 16 runs a game in ours, and they scored double digits in all their wins. They had double-digit hits in every game, and we had (33) hits."

On the mound, Lovelace will go with Skipp Crider (6-1, 3.13) in Game One, Cody Wright (6-1, 4.32) in Game Two and then either Erik Walker (3-1, 3.98) or Travis Allen (3-2, 3.37).

"Our arms are well rested," he said. "Erik and Travis hadn't thrown in 14 or 15 days (before the final Troy game), and Skipp is one that can throw every day.

"Asheboro can swing it, but their coach said their pitching is not as good as ours. I don't know."

• Legion officials talked about starting the series July 4 at Mocksville, but Mando Field was not available then due to the annual symphony concert. Nonetheless, Mocksville will be at home in games one, three and - if necessary - five, while Asheboro will host two and - if necessary - four. Game time is 7:15 p.m.

• Zach Greene suffered a scary injury in practice before the Troy series. It's nothing for Crider to plunk an opponent, but the last thing he wanted to do was derail Mocksville's catalyst and leading hitter, Greene, who absorbed a pitch on the elbow.

"He didn't mean to," Greene said. "He called every day checking on me and making sure I was alright over the weekend. It just happens."

Greene ignored doctor's orders, played through the pain and somehow preserved his season-long hitting streak.

"I was supposed to be out about a week or so, but I wanted to play in the playoffs," he said.

"Having the year he's having, you can't keep him out of the lineup," Lovelace said.

• Lovelace played a bad joke on Greene late in the final wipeout of Troy, indicating that a pinch hitter would hit for him in the final inning with the streak on the line.

"I told him since it was the seventh inning and we were up so big that I was going to pinch hit Cody Wright for him," Lovelace said. "He thought that was pretty good."

Good Samaritans

Cooleemee Civitan Club Setting Records With Numbers, And With Community Service Projects

By Lynn Rumley
Special to the Enterprise

COOLEEMEE – It's early on a Saturday morning and more than a score of Baptists, as well as men from other denominations, are laboring to help a little Episcopal church in dire straights.

"That's the type of men that joined our new Civitan Club" says its president Aubrey Wensil. "We mean to be a service club, and what was in these men's hearts is what got them to join."

Chartered two months ago, the Cooleemee Civitans were the largest local club chartered in the state, the nation or the world during the last 20 years. Local members are pretty proud of this distinction, in a town with a population of a little over a thousand people.

"I'm here because I just believe in helping people," says life-long Cooleemee resident Jack Eudy. "I was raised that way."

Along with the others, Eudy was busy painting walls, doors and trim at the Good Shepherd Episcopal Church. Wensil laughs and says, "We're having fun while we're helping people."

After the Civitans got organized and began meeting people last April, they began looking for good deeds that needed doing around town. Several individuals saw needs and did things on their own, including cutting brush and mowing lawns for the elderly.

In April, members Harry Wallace and Robert Taylor asked the group if they would help Cooleemee's oldest church. A tree had crashed through Good Shepherd's parish house last year. Although insurance covered the main repairs, much was left to be done - more than the fewer than 20, mostly female congregation could cope with.

The Civitans did not hesitate.

"I don't know how we can ever repay them," says Nellie Webb, treasurer of the local Episcopal Church Women. She and others prepared a lunch of sandwiches and cold drinks for the good Samaritans. "It is just wonderful."

Retired textile worker Don Trexler enjoys belonging to the new Civitan group. "I just like helping people, and this is a good group of guys." he says.

William Davis, who works in textiles at KoSa across the river in Rowan County, takes dialysis treatments three times a week. Yet he showed up to do his share at part of this Saturday work detail. "There are people who can't help themselves, and they need us," says Davis.

In this close-knit former mill town, there is a long standing tradition of neighbor helping neighbor, brought by Cooleemee's pioneers when they migrated here from our rural countryside a century ago. The village was once full of fraternal orders, and in the post World War II years, it boasted of many civic groups.

When Burlington Industries closed the cotton mill, the town's major source of employment, an all-volunteer recreation association took over running the swimming pool. Many of these efforts, though, didn't survive the last two decades.

Fortunately for the town, the new millennium has been a resurgence of volunteer activity in Cooleemee.

A major volunteer effort is under way to build a park at the river, and the Cooleemee Recreation Association has been revived.

A new beautification effort has been born calling itself the COTTON Club (Cultivate Our Town, Tend Our Community).

And now, the Civitans.

With their unofficial headquarters at George Jordan's True Value Hardware store, local men began talking about the town's need for a true service organization and began signing up. Spurred on by Woodleaf Civitan "club builder" Steve King, the new group's rolls were first joined by ones and twos.

"Then it just took off," says President Wensil. "Two or three would join in the morning, and I'd call Steve to tell him. Then, I'd have to call him back in the afternoon to say there were two or three more."

"We picked with George, telling him we knew he was threatening to cut off credit at the hardware store if the boys didn't join," says Wensil. Jordan signed up 44 of the clubs 79 charter members.

Cooleemee's Civitan range in age from their late 20s to their early 70s

They collected non-perishable food for Davie County's main food pantry, The Storehouse For Jesus, last month.

They are eyeing other projects, such as aiding Hospice by building ramps and installing handrails inside homes of cancer patients who need them.

This summer, members will be distributing surplus produce from their gardens to the elderly and needy people in the area, says Wensil.

Right now the Civitans are collecting any and all saleable items, except for clothes, for a big auction they plan on Saturday, July 22, beginning at 10 a.m. at VFW Post 1119 on N.C. 801 South in Cooleemee.

While debates will continue about where to display the Ten Commandments, Cooleemee's new Civitan Club has no doubts about how to put them into action.

'Tame The Tube' For Your Children

In one way or another television has become a part of everyone's life.

It is a wonderful tool that allows us to keep up with events all over the country and the world. It has also become a pastime for many individuals, including our children.

Robert Schrag wrote an article in the University of Chapel Hill Press titled, "Taming of the Tube" in 1990. This article discloses the following facts:

- the television in the average American household is on for more than 7 hours a day;
- children age's 9-14 watch 5.5 hours of television each day; and
- each year, the average child views 1,000 incidences of rape, homicide or other brutal assaults in television.

"These facts bring to our attention the importance of monitoring the television that our children watch," said Heather Bode-Pearson, Davie CANSTOP coordinator. "Music channels and prime time television make premarital sex and alcohol use and violence look acceptable."

If your child is watching one of these shows, turn it into a teachable moment. Take this time to share your views on these issues with your children.

"Believe it or not, your children are listening to what you say, so take advantage of it," she said.

If you would like any further information on talking to your child about sex, alcohol and other drug use, call Bode-Pearson at Davie County Health Department (336) 751-8785.

'Move The Mouse To See The House'

Crowder McChesney Offers Online Real Estate Tours

Want to go and look at homes for sale tonight? With the latest technology available through Crowder McChesney & Associates, you can view homes quickly and privately through your computer.

Crowder McChesney & Associates has just announced their partnership in what is sure to be the hottest new trend in the real estate industry. In an agreement with IPIX.com, customers will be able to access all of Crowder McChesney's listings in a 360-degree moving tour, just by the click of their mouse.

"The IPIX videographer shoots the home," said Byron East, Manager of the Clemmons office of Crowder McChesney. "Moving in a circle, you can view the kitchen, family room, bedrooms, and can make evaluations and choices before you go out to look."

Viewers can tour the houses from at least four different vantage points, using their mouse to move in a circular viewing, or pause at special areas of interest. From the camera's objective lens, a viewer can stand on the front lawn and see the exterior, or examine the outdoor panorama from the Master Bedroom. The virtual tour, available from any Internet access (such as a public library, if customers do not own a computer) will greatly aid buyers who have trouble picturing a property from two-dimensional photographs.

Crowder McChesney is one of the first agencies in North Carolina to offer this innovative service, at no cost to customers. East says that this is an advantage for those who list their homes with Crowder McChesney & Associates.

"It makes the entire process more efficient," says East. "I can suggest several dozen home that fit your criteria; and you can make your decisions, cutting those down to four or five that you want to go out and see with our Realtors."

Byron East also points out that families who were having to fly thousands of miles to come and look at houses in a new location, can now glean valuable information through the IPIX Virtual Tours offered by Crowder. Agents can also email prospective clients specific virtual tours, of properties that meet their criteria. Call Crowder McChesney's office at (336) 766-0515 for more information; or visit www.cmahomes.com.

Crowder McChesney also lists multiple properties on a National Realtor website at www.realtor.com, with photographs and detailed information on various sites.

Community College Working With Industry To Upgrade Employee Skills

One hour each week, a group of employees in the Wood Division of Thomasville Furniture Industries (TFI) switches gears, trading hectic jobs handling lumber on the manufacturing floor for finished tables and chairs in a nearby classroom setting.

They receive instruction in a variety of subjects, from basic math and communications skills to training in technical fields. The purpose is to expand their know-how and improve on-the-job performance.

It's all part of Davidson County Community College's Workplace Skills Program, a cooperative, customized education endeavor with area businesses designed to help employers better educate their employees for the workplace.

"Our role is to provide customized training for interested employers in the Davidson and Davie County areas," Toni Underwood, DCCC's assistant workplace coordinator for literacy, says. "We go into companies like TFI and upgrade skills that employees already have, particularly those in communications and math – whatever the company wants.

"Most of the people who come into the program know how to do their job, but this helps them to do the job even more efficiently and effectively and is a wonderful training tool."

Sharon Hennessee, TFI manager of work-based education and organizational development, agrees.

"This program represents a true partnership between industry and academia to enhance the business, technical, and interpersonal skills of its participants," she said. "Together, we have developed 'industry-specific' curricula based on the skill requirements for our employees in, for example, machining, sanding, assembly, and finishing.

"This gives them an opportunity to learn in a team-based environment where they are encouraged to share their expertise as well as help with hands-on instruction."

Primarily part-time instructors — many of whom are retired teachers and business professionals — teach classes. Becky Myers and William Gore are two examples of the caliber of the teaching staff.

Myers, who recently retired from Central Middle School where she taught for 31 years, teaches math and communications skills at TFI as well as at Women's Prison, also through a program offered by DCCC.

Gore, who joined DCCC in 1994, retired from the Army Reserves in 1992 after 24 years and from R.J. Reynolds in 1994 after a 25-year career. He received his master's degree in divinity from Hood Theological Seminary and completed the program in Pastoral Care Program at N.C. Baptist Medical Center before joining DCCC in 1997.

"The instructors with DCCC are all professional," Jolly says. "We have a diverse workforce and people are on many levels of education. Some need help with basic literacy skills while others are more advanced.

"These instructors work with each person individually, and they are good about being sensitive to people with less education. They are also flexible with the schedule. We've had situations where we had a crisis on the floor, and employees couldn't get away for class. Instructors work around these incidents."

In addition to basic math classes — during which employees are taught how to read rulers and convert fractions to decimals — and reading classes, DCCC instructors help employees improve technical competencies by coordinating classes with experts from the company or vendors.

"The benefits of the program have been great," Jolly says. "In the short term, we have seen the reading and math levels of our employees rise, on average, one grade level. Second, classes have resulted in expanding skills of our employees. We bring in only a portion of a department at a time, leaving others on the floor to keep production going. This forces employees to cross train, and thus, their skills grow."

Jolly adds, "But the side effect of offering these classes has turned out to be one of the best benefits for us. Lots of teamwork develops and friendships form. It's so hectic on the production floor that it's often difficult for employees to have time to form strong friendships. In class, employees are exposed to everyone in the department and have time to really get to know one another. That translates into better teamwork on the job."

In addition to TFI, DCCC works with other area companies, including Lexington Furniture Industries. Last year, more than 800 people benefited from DCCC's Workplace Literacy Program.

"We tailor the program to meet the needs of a business," Pat Phillips, chairperson of literacy services for the college, says. "We can help any area company improve employees' skills. These skills may range from learning to read a ruler and how to measure, to taking messages and mastering computer programs, and to helping employees understand their benefits package.

"We also offer pre-employment testing and training before someone is hired. Classes are free, and they can be long-term, just a few weeks, or a one-shot deal. We're ready to provide whatever the company needs."

For more information on the Workplace Literacy Program, contact Pat Phillips, chair, Literacy Services, 336-249-8186, ext. 211 or Toni Underwood at 336-249-8186, ext. 106.

For more information about DCCC, call the college at 336-249-8186 or see the Website, www.davidson.cc.nc.us.

Brownie Troop 1207 Helps Clean Joppa Cemetery

The girls had lunch at McDonald's prior to the community service. They gave their leader, Rhonda Fortner, a surprise wedding present.

The girls have also designed a quilt square to be submitted to New Moon magazine. Girls from around the world were asked to make a square to celebrate women of the past, present and future. Each square will become part of a millennium quilt that will be taken on a tour of the United States.

Rubbing The Bell

Parents Offered Suggestions On Discussing Sex With Teenagers

• Fifty percent of teens say they "trust" their parents most for reliable and complete information about sexuality and related issues. (Journal of Adolescence, 1995)

• Teens who report having a strong connection to parents, family and school have higher grade point averages, are less likely to participate in violence and substance abuse and are less likely to become sexually active at an early age. (Journal of Adolescence, 1994)

• Lack of parental support may result in depression and early onset of sexual activity in adolescent females. For teenage males, weak parental support may result in increased alcohol use, which is associated with the onset of early sexual activity in young men. (Youth & Society, 1992)

All of these facts point to one thing - parental involvement in a child's life is important.

Teenagers want to hear from you.

A recent survey reveals that seven out of 10 teenagers said that they were ready to listen to things parents thought they were not ready to hear. Although this is wonderful news, it doesn't make it any easier to talk to teenagers about sexuality.

The following tips are taken from a pamphlet titled "Encouraging Abstinence: Tips for Parents." Try using these tips while expressing how you feel about sex and why it is best for them to wait until they are adults to engage in sexual activity.

Be honest about how you feel. It is okay to be direct about wanting them to wait and let them know you trust them to make good choices. Be specific about what you feel is acceptable. You should be prepared to answer questions about sex and relationships. If you are uncomfortable talking about sex, let your teenager know; more than likely they are uncomfortable too.

Tell them why! Let your teenager know if your reason for saying these things is a religious one or if you are just concerned abut their future and their health. By sharing your reasons, you will help them think through their own.

Look for a teachable moment. For example, you can talk about reasons for waiting while watching a television program about HIV or teen pregnancy.

Start talking early - even before they start dating. Help your child think through the decision to wait before he or she is in a serious relationship. Continue these talks when he or she starts to date.

Let them know what sexual feelings are natural. Let your kids know that it is okay to have sexual feelings - but they do not need to act on them! Remind them that there are other ways to express affection such as gift giving, spending time together and taking the time to really get to know each other.

Teach them to say NO. Ask your teenager what he or she would do in a situation where their date wanted to have sex and they did not. After asking this question help them find positive and assertive ways to say NO.

Give them tips for avoiding sexual pressure. Discuss times when it may be harder to say no and then give them suggestions on ways to avoid those situations such as planning group activities or spending time in public places. Make sure you let them know that using drugs or alcohol may make it harder to say no.

Help them plan for the future. Ask your child, "What are your goals? Where do you want to be in one year? Five years?" Explain to them that sexual activity could get in the way of their plans. Let your child know that he or she is too important to risk getting a sexually transmitted disease or have an unplanned pregnancy.

To get a copy of this pamphlet and more information on talking to your teen about abstinence please call He~ther Bode-Pearson at Davie County Health Department (336) 751-8700.

Family Services Offers Counseling For Individuals And Families

By Kelly Hogan, MAEd, NCC
Family Services Child and Family Therapist

"Can I show you a magic trick?" blurted Sam as he walked in the door to our Family Services office.

As I watched Sam perform his trick for our Administrative Assistant Pam Roberson and me, I had to marvel at the tremendous growth of this little person during the time I had worked with him.

Six months before, 8-year-old Sam reluctantly entered our house on Sanford Avenue, next to the water treatment plant. As I spoke with his guardian, he had curled upon the sofa, silent, eyes firmly fixed on our blue carpet, seemingly determined to retreat to his own private world.

The offer of playing a game in my sand tray aroused him from his safe corner of the sofa to my office where he dug around in the sand looking for hidden objects. All the while keeping a watchful eye on me. Fleeting giggles would escape from Sam when he discovered a toy, and over time his suspicions melted as he made eye contact with and began engaging me, his counselor.

This was the beginning of our work together, during which time Sam would share events in his life that had been buried like the toys in the sand.

I learned Sam's home was a place where a boisterous boy was punished severely and where his bedroom at night was a scary and unsafe place.

I also learned that Sam was creative, that he loved sports and animals, and that is he could be anywhere, he would be at the beach. Along with these, I learned that, like the Indians he pretended to be while in my office, Sam was a warrior. And as we worked together, Sam learned to channel his skills as a warrior to begin to cope with the effects of his abuse.

Along with counseling Sam and his mother, Jen, also participated in a parenting class at Family Services.

Having left her abusive husband, she faced life as a single mother with three children.

The task of parenting seemed overwhelming to her. However, as Jen progressed through the class, she learned of a myriad of skills: new ways to communicate and support her children; what to expect of her children at different ages; how to handle discipline problems; and new strategies to balance the many roles she had as a parent.

By the end of the group, she not only appeared more confident, but she also shared that she felt more equipped to handle challenges of parenthood. Like Sam, I also marveled at the work Jen had accomplished in the group.

Along with Sam and Jen, many people call and benefit from the services we offer at Family Services.

As a Davie County United Way agency, we are greatly indebted to the financial support we receive. As a result of this support, we are able to provide services on a sliding scale, enabling clients to access our range of services at a reduced fee.

Overall, Family Services offers individual, marriage, family, and group counseling. More specifically, we offer individual counseling for both children and adults addressing a wide variety of needs including mental health issues, such as depression, grief issues, behavioral problems, anger management skills, trauma, parenting skills, relational challenges, and general adjustment issues. Along with our ten week parenting group mentioned above, we also offer a 35 week anger management group for offenders of domestic violence, a teen anger management group, as well as groups designed for the individual needs of children, such as children's grief group. Family Services also offers pregnancy and adoption counseling. Beyond these services, we also offer specialized workshops on family related issues for groups in the community.

For more information regarding these services, contact us at 751-4510.

When is an oncologist more than just an oncologist?

When he or she becomes Board Certified.

Board Certification indicates preparation over and above the normal training a doctor receives. Maintaining this certification requires even more training.

At Rowan Regional Medical Center, our staff includes three board certified oncologists from Carolina Oncology Associates available around the clock. And they're assisted by specially trained oncology nurses.

So if you need to see a cancer specialist, call Carolina Oncology Associates for an appointment.

Because they're better prepared to help you.

Hospital Proposal Withdrawn

Davie County Hospital's future is in limbo - again.

Davis Hospital of Statesville had made a proposal, agreed to by county commissioners, to manage the hospital with special services, semi-acute beds and an emergency room.

Last week, Davis Hospital was sold to HMA, a company that has no interest in Davie County Hospital. County officials were told that the proposal was no longer valid.

Novant, which wants out of a lease agreement because the hospital is losing money, agreed to work with the county until something is resolved.

The matter was sent back to a hospital committee to study all options. That committee met for months before the Davis proposal was received. It was the only acceptable proposal to manage the local facility at that time.

Deeds Hopeful Not On Ballot

An independent voter seeking the Davie County Register of Deeds job fell short of receiving the needed signatures to be put on the November ballot.

Ina Beavers said she met a lot of interesting people while seeking the signatures, most of which she obtained on her own.

And she found out that there are a large number of people living in Davie County who aren't registered to vote.

"It was a lot more difficult than I thought it would be, but for the most part, people were very supportive," Beavers said. "It was a great experience getting out to meet the people. I wish Brent (Shoaf, Republican nominee) the best and support him 100 percent.

"I encourage people to register to vote. I found a lot of people who are not registered," she said.

Woman Accused Of Cruelty To Animals In Contempt Of Court

By Jackie Edwards
Davie County Enterprise Record

- Robert Cook
Animal Control Officer

Susan Walker of 399 Hillcrest Drive in Advance has violated a court ordered list of restrictions she agreed to abide by her after criminal charges against her were dismissed in February 1996.

When animal cruelty investigators visited her home recently, they found 25 dogs and 10 birds. She was under court order not to have any animals.

The Davie County Sheriff's Department and the county zoning office are also investigating.

January 1996 - Walker's home was raided and several animals seized. She was charged with cruelty to animals and possession of stolen property.

According to past reports, the conditions at the home on Hillcrest Drive were deplorable. The inside floor of the home was covered with animal feces, and there was feces covering a bed. There were rats inside a sofa where a dog lay nursing puppies, and more dogs were hiding under the sofa. The remains of a dog that had died months earlier was found inside the home.

Outside, there were more dogs found. A small casket held the remains of a dog that had died but had never been buried.

Investigators went to the home after receiving reports back then of animals running loose on Walker's property. Her name was also brought up in connection with Vickie Fulk, a former resident of Ginny Lane in Advance. Fulk's home was also raided in 1996 and several mistreated animals were taken. Fulk left the area at that time on outstanding charges and has never returned. Walker claimed some of the animals at her home belonged to Fulk.

February 1996 - Charges against Walker were dismissed after a Humane Society representative and Walker's attorney presented a list of restrictions for Walker to abide by:

- not own or possess any animals for five years;
- repay the county for all medical fees and boarding expenses of animals removed from her home;
- relinquish all ownership of animals;
- allow periodic inspections of her home for five years.

Walker agreed to abide by these restrictions and was allowed to keep three elderly dogs that originally belonged to her. She could not replace any of those three in the event of their death.

November 1996 - Davie County Cruelty Investigator Terri Hamm went to Walker's home after neighbors complained they heard dogs barking in the area.

She discovered Walker had violated the restriction agreement when as many as 15 dogs were discovered at the Hillcrest Drive home.

Walker had also failed to pay back any of the money she owed the county at that time.

December 1996 - Walker returned to court for the violation of her restriction agreement. The court ordered her to comply with the agreement. If she violated the agreement again she would be brought back to court and could face up to 45 days in jail.

Members from Davie County Animal Control, Humane Society of Davie County, Davie Sheriff's Department, and Davie's Planning and Zoning went to

Images In Sand: Flag, Washington, Turtles On Beach

Didn't come close.

Robert and I make pretty good drip castles on the beach, but they don't compare to the architectural wonders that others produced last week.

Faced with the outstanding competition, I didn't enter my castle when the judges came through. Robert had produced a relief sculpture of a sand turtle, but that didn't impress the judges either.

One of the winners was a near life-sized relief of Washington crossing the Delaware. The detail was tremendous.

Two families made a huge reproduction of the Liberty Bell. One family reproduced the United States symbol on the back of quarters.

Another group made a railroad circling a mountain of sand. A young girl with billowing blonde hair was buried in sand formed to make her look like a mermaid.

One family designed a car.

With shovels, trowels and brushes, the experts worked hours crafting sand into amazing forms.

Contestants had about three hours to work on their structures, but some must have come earlier. They had to complete them before the tide came in.

They were judged in several categories — patriotic themes for the Fourth of July, the beach environment or a general category.

We spent last week at a South Carolina beach. You can't stay in South Carolina now without the Confederate flag surfacing.

True to form, some college kids made a huge reproduction of the Confederate flag. They painted the sand in the appropriate colors. Then they explained in convoluted logic how the Confederate flag was a patriotic theme appropriate for the Fourth of July.

Judges found a way to create a new contest category and award the flag a special prize. Their generosity didn't thrill everyone on the beach. Some around me muttered about the obvious pandering to yahoo pride on an inappropriate occasion.

The Confederate flag may have been lowered from the South Carolina statehouse that week, but it resurfaced in the beach sand.

The surf and sun prevailed over the muted protests. The flag in the sand would also disappear as soon as the waves came closer. But rewarding the exuberant and perhaps slightly intoxicated flag creators dulled the contest and cast doubts about the judges.

It is amazing how that flag has continued to create controversy. The Civil War should be remembered, not celebrated. The war is a dark stain in our nation's history. A war that shouldn't have been fought. A war that should have been avoided. A source of shame, not pride.

We are now so far removed from the bullets and cannon, the war seems more like fun these days.

Mocksville Should Enforce Ordinances Like Cooleemee

To the editor:

When I saw the article about Cooleemee cracking down on ordinance violators, I thought Mocksville could learn from them.

The woman they are taking to court must not be in the loop. There is a house across the street from me in town (Mocksville) that has been falling down for the 22 years that I have lived here. There have been petitions and complaints for at least 15 years. When the hay and brush gets five feet tall and over, a fire hazard, and someone calls, they say, "Oh, the house on the turn." A commissioner or someone will come and bush hog it. Then it goes on until another complaint.

Fifteen years ago, several town fathers "came and looked." One said, "We would have to condemn it." There has been nothing done to the decaying house or the brush in the back, hiding the dump in back of the house. The leaves haven't been raked in years. They just blow on somebody else. People drive by and throw out their paper cups and paper plates. I am getting tired of picking the ones up that blow on my property.

In the big City, they would call the owner a slum lord. The slum has been inhabited about two years of the 22 I have lived here. I have put up with two drunks knocking on my door at 2 a.m., a kid hollering "Momy, who's that man in the house," copperheads from the brush in the back, rats, ticks and devaluation of my property. When the town picks up the leaves, they miss in front of the slum house because there are cans, bottles and junk along the road.

If you don't believe me, drive Pine Street and look.

Civitans Helpful

To the editor:

The congregation of Good Shepherd Episcopal Church extends humble and heartfelt thanks for the help of the Cooleemee Civitans in the restoration of our Parish House.

Those members who came to our aid gave generously of their time and talents. We are very fortunate to live in a community where such acts of kindness occur and are deeply appreciated.

Vogler Family Thankful For Compassion

To the editor:

We want to say thank you to our friends, family, and neighbors who sent food, and flowers, mailed cards, paid a visit, or said a prayer for us during our difficult time last week when Grant passed away.

We are especially grateful to first responder, David Miller. His diligent hard work and compassion was deeply appreciated. To the two crews of EMS workers who responded we too say thank you. Your compassion and caring words were reassuring and comforting to us.

It's Time To Go On ... Without Malice

To the editor:

Please allow me to ride off into the sunset like the Lone Ranger and Tonto after this letter to the Rev. Jenkins and his thoughts.

My mention of Rev. Martin Luther King was not meant in any detrimental way. He accomplished through the NAACP what was needed for your race. You could say a splendid job, even, for both sides mentioned.

One correction from last week: Jacob Schiff was hired by the House of Rothschild and today his thinking has been put into practice in our media (TV, papers, and magazines).

There are more worthwhile causes to rally around than a battle flag used for generations ago. Why, if my own relations on either side of my family were strung up for cattle rustling or horse stealing back then it would not raise either eyebrow. Let 'em hang.

Since Rev. Jenkins is a minister of the gospel, he should know that: "He that taketh hold of the plow and looketh back is not fit for His Kingdom."

So let's all go forward, there's more greatness in the future. Tomorrow is our only promissory note.

S.B. Sidden

Minister Responds To 'Unlettered And Biased' Writers

To the editor:

I am engaged in scholarly research this summer and have little time to respond to the unlettered and biased people who disagree with my views. But since my letter to the editor in the June 22 Enterprise-Record brought to light the deep, underlying ignorance and bigotry of a certain class of people, conscience requires that I make another attempt to enlighten those who are the victims of intellectual, moral, and spiritual blindness. Had Randy J. Myers, Richard Robbins, and S.B. Sidden Jr. read my editorial with intelligence and objectivity, if indeed they have these qualities, neither of them would have written the hogwash so prominently displayed in the July 6 Enterprise-Record. I hope these men and others who think like them will hire an educated, impartial tutor to read and comprehend to them the contents of this letter, so that when they write future letters to the editor, they can move beyond begging the question, killing the messenger, and assassinating the English language, to discussing important issues with insight, knowledge, and grace. Perhaps some of the English and history professors at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill will be willing to teach the unlearned how to engage in constructive debate without resorting to ad hominem, ad populum, fallacies, false analogies, faulty use of authorities, hasty generalizations, non sequiturs, post hoc errors, and slanting.

To deliver people from ignorance and prejudice to light, knowledge, truth, and brotherhood is indeed a formidable, if not impossible task. The teacher must deal with ingrained attitudes, long held beliefs and traditions, not to mention years of miseducation and socialization. The teacher also realizes that no one is so blind as he who refuses to see the light.

Myers, Robbins, and Sidden are obviously not used to new ideas, nor are they very kind to one who seeks to expose them to a world beyond the small towns, and small-town mentality, of Advance and Manson.

But I have another, more important job than that of a public schoolteacher. It is my calling to the Christian ministry. A halfhearted minister would become discouraged when he is attacked and maligned by agents of the devil. But my faith in God is strengthened when I see Scripture being fulfilled before my eyes. Myers, Robbins, and Sidden make real the words of Proverbs 1:7: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despite wisdom and instruction." Along these same lines are the words of Jesus Christ to the Pharisees, another group that rejected spiritual discernment: "But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth" (John 8:40). Jesus goes on to tell the Pharisees, "Ye are of your father the devil" (John 8:44). My point is that anyone who tells diehard Ignoramuses and bigots the truth is subject to persecution in the local newspaper. Allow me to use the remainder of my letter to answer the warped opinions of Myers, Robbins, and Sidden.

Mr. Myers, before you write another letter to the editor, please take some elementary courses in standard written English, news writing, and argumentation and debate. Your shallow education shows in your misuse of capitalization (the term whites should not be capitalized, the term First Amendment should be capitalized, and the term South should be capitalized when you are referring to the southern part of the United States), in your not understanding the entire First Amendment, in your taking my Shakespearean allusion out of context, in your changing the syntax and sense of my sentences, in your inaccurate portrayal of today's Black Muslims, and in your not understanding what stereotypes and generalizations are.

Mr. Myers, you come across as most ignorant and ludicrous when you say, "I remember growing up in a county [Davie] where whites and blacks got along and accepted each other." People never "get along and accept each other" when there is an unequal distribution of power. In addition to the courses noted above, you really need to take some fundamental courses in sociology and psychology. I almost forgot to recommend the course that started this whole debate in the first place: history. While some Africans sold their own people to the slave dealers, the overwhelming majority of American blacks were kidnapped from their homeland in West Africa and brought to the United States. And to try to erase the part white America played in the African Slave Trade by saying "[w]hites did not create this problem" is too ridiculous for comment.

Mr. Myers, Luther A. Moon referred to himself as a "redneck." Therefore, you should consult him, not me, if you have a problem with the term

Finally, Mr. Myers. I hope you get on your knees and ask God to forgive you for doing only what He can do: look into my heart and see the kind of man I am.

Now let me say this to Mr. Robbins. Before you write another editorial which assumes you know what caused the Civil War, you should do as I have done: take several college courses in history, political science, law, philosophy, business, and literature. Then you will be able to write an intelligent assessment of the political, social, economic, and moral issues involved in the War Between the States. To quote a few historical tidbits, many of which are wrong (for example, the United States Constitution, not the Northern politicians in 1860, declared slaves as 3/5 persons for the purposes of taxation and representation) to solidify your preconceived erroneous conclusion reminds me of God's words to the children of Israel: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge" (Hosea 4:6).

To correct all of Mr. Robbins' errors would make my letter too long, so I will focus only on a few. At first, the Union Army did return runaway slaves to the South, but on May 24, 1861, Union General Benjamin E. Butler of Virginia set a precedent when he refused to return three runaways to their owner, a Confederate officer. Butler called the black slaves "contrabands." Subsequently, on Aug. 6, 1861, Congress passed the first Confiscation Act, which allowed the Union army to confiscate runaway slaves as articles of war. These slaves were then put into service for the Union army.

If Mr. Robbins wants to learn how many slaves were beaten to death or how slaveholders "valued" their slave property, he should read any of the one hundred or so slave narratives, stories written by former slaves that tell abut the horrendous treatment black slaves received from white men, women, and children. For starters, I would suggest Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, An American Slave; The Interesting Narrative of the Life of Olaudah Equiammo, or Gustavus Vassa, The African; The History of Mary Prince, A West Indian Slave; and Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl by Harriet Jacobs. Just as informative on how slaves were treated are manuscripts containing interviews with ex-slaves and taped recordings of interviews with ex-slaves. The University of North Carolina at Greensboro has an excellent collection of the manuscripts; tape recordings may be purchased from commercial book publishers or may be found in scholarly libraries.

Mr. Robbins, the original document or agreement used to govern the Thirteen Colonies and later the United States was called the Articles of Confederation. The document, which emphasized the power of individual states over the federal government, proved disastrous and was wisely abandoned in 1789 in favor of the preset United States Constitution. Please read The Federalist Papers by Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, and John Jay to understand why the delegates at the Constitutional Convention voted in favor of a strong central government instead of allowing each state to govern itself as an independent nation (states' rights advocates).

Mr. Robbins, you reach the height of absurdity when you compare former black slaves to whites in the post-Civil War South. Whites were, and many still are, angry with blacks, whom they perceived to be the cause of the miserable conditions existing in the South. Black Codes were enacted to check the progress of recently freed slaves, sharecropping became another form of slavery for blacks, the Ku Klux Klan came into being to "keep blacks in line," and Southern whites were determined not to treat persons formerly termed "property" as human beings.

Mr. Robbins, my article dealt with, among other things, the Confederate flag,

Local Residents Support VFW's Annual Poppy Campaign

To the Editor:

This is a belated but most sincere note of appreciation to those who donated to the Veteran of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy program held recently. I would remind you that every penny of the money you gave will go directly to the relief of veterans and their dependents.

My thanks also go out to the ones who displayed the American flag during the Independence Day celebration. Your gesture of patriotism brings to remembrance the terrible debt owed to our founding fathers and the military veterans who have defended this country since its birth. A special "thank you" to all who fly the American flag openly every day reminding us that freedom is not free and in order that we remain free we must sacrifice and be willing to even die for this nation under God in which we are privileged to live.

Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He has chosen for His own inheritance. Psalm 33:12

Habitat For Humanity Important To Davie County Residents

To the Editor:

Thanks you so much for your support of Habitat for Humanity of Davie County. Through your newspaper the "Davie County Enterprise" we can let folks know how important Habitat for Humanity is in our county.

In just six years, Habitat has completed four homes and hopes to begin home 5 in the fall. Contributions are needed to ensure that family 5 will be in an affordable, decent home as soon as possible. Monies are needed for materials and undonated labor—could you/would you help? Tax deductible donations may be mailed to Habitat for Humanity of Davie County, P.O. Box 101, Advance, 27006.

Volunteers are also needed. New officers will be sought in the very near future. Habitat for Humanity is in need of some community-recognized folks to take some lead roles in its organization. Habitat for Humanity of Davie County needs a "Jimmy Carter" speaker/advocate for its mission. Are you that person? By being an all-volunteer organization all donations are used to build homes... Board members who are willing to be ACTIVE, who will lead and promote the mission of Habitat are also needed. Please contact Neal Essic 336-751-5921 immediately if you can accept God's call for this mission.

Please answer the call to help Habitat partner with those in need.

Four Facing Drug Charges

COOLEEMEE - Four people were arrested at a building on 262 Main St. on June 29.

Officers served a warrant on Jesse Ray Boulding, 18, of 110 Hinkle Drive, Mocksville, charging him with soliciting to commit a felony, conspiracy to commit forgery, contributing to the delinquency of minors, forgery, and receiving stolen goods. He was placed in the Davie County Jail in lieu of a $20,000 bond.

Three people were each charged with possession of drug paraphernalia: Charles David "Doodles" Jacobs, 30, of 1313 Junction Road, Marilyn Jackobs, 48, also of 1313 Junction Road; and William Earl Day, 43, of 262 Main St. All are scheduled to face the charges July 27 in Davie District Court.

Police Chief Tim Wooten said that several pipes used for smoking illegal drugs were found in the building.

The property on Hillcrest Drive in Advance is overgrown, but animal cruelty investigators said that conditions inside the home are much worse than that outside.

Dogs, Birds Found In Woman's House

Walker's home Tuesday, June 27 around 9 a.m.

There they discovered 25 dogs, most chihuahuas, poodle mixes, and a border collie, along with 10 birds.

"The conditions in the house were much worse than before," said Animal Control Officer Robert Cook. Animal feces littered the floor inside the house.

The dogs and birds were seized and were transported away by Animal Control Officer Dean Myers.

Breed rescue took most of the chihuahuas and several of the other dogs have been placed in good homes, according Hamm.

According to Cruelty Investigator Steve Paccitto, "Right now we're waiting to find out what charges will be filed." There have been no cruelty charges filed at this point.

Mocksville Zoning and Planning Director John Gallimore said there was a specialties permit issued years ago for the property on Hillcrest Drive but there were a number of conditions that went along with it. "We're looking at those conditions and whether any have been violated," Gallimore said. "Everything is pending until we make a closer examination of the situation."

Formal charges against Walker have not been made at this time.

Help Stop Road Litter

As the number of vacationing motorists rises, so does the potential for increased litter along North Carolina highways.

THE N.C. Department of Transportation (NCDOT) encourages travelers to act responsibly by disposing of trash properly in containers conveniently located at the department's 62 rest areas.

NCDOT also encourages citizens who witness littering incidents to record the license plate number, date, and location of the violation and contact the department's Office of Beautification at 1-800-331-5864. The offender will receive a letter outlining the litter laws along with a free car litterbag. The letter is signed by the Colonel of the Department of Motor Vehicles to reinforce the seriousness of littering violations.

Litterbug reports can also be made by completing a Swat-A-Litterbug report form available online at www.dot.state.nc.us/litterbug. Last year more than 8,000 offenders were reported.

Two Types Of Drought Can Do Harm To Trees

There are two types of drought that affect trees.

The first is short term drought and the second is long term. Trees are most affected by the latter, because accumulated periods of no moisture are felt for years.

There are several factors of moisture stress that hurt trees. The first factor is subnormal amounts of precipitation. This itself causes the other factor to come into play.

Trees that have restricted root space become stressed even sidewalks, streets, driveways, and areas between roads could cause stress under normal conditions but without water it could be deadly for trees.

Trees that are shallow rooted, such as dogwood, and black cherry, are always at risk when there is a drought, but trees that grow along lakes, ponds, and rivers could die first when water tables are extremely low.

The symptoms of moisture stress do not appear until late summer, after extended periods of hot, dry and windy weather. Some of these symptoms are: leaf scorch (burned appearance), die-back of twigs and small branches, premature dropping of leaves, interveinal necrosis (green veins and brown tissue in between).

You can help your trees survive drought by watering them during extended dry periods before the drought becomes severe. The best time to water your trees is between 4 and 8 p.m. Place a rain gauge on the ground, turn on the sprinkler to cover the area under the crown and let it go until you have 1 to 2 inches in the rain gauge. Do this only once a week and the tree should get along well.

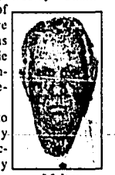
Mulching around the trees keeps moisture around the tree longer. Put 2 to 4 inches of old mulch around the base of the tree. Don't use new mulch because it causes heat buildup and the trees don't need that.

If you have any questions on drought, contact the N.C. Forest Service at 751-5319 or come by the Davie County Office Building, Room 309, Monday-Friday, 8-9 a.m.

Advance Man Arrested

An Advance man was arrested Friday for possession and selling of cocaine. Troy Wesley "Chalk" Melton, 73, of 211 Baltimore Road, was placed in Davie County Jail under $5000 secured bond.



Melton

According to Davie County Sheriff's Detective Tony Leftwich, surveillance of Melton's Baltimore Road home began around 7 p.m. on July 7. An anonymous call informed the authorities that Melton would leave his residence that evening to transport cocaine to another location.

Melton left his home shortly after 7 p.m. and detectives stopped the 1988 Chevy Celebrity has was driving at Baltimore and Cornatzer roads. The found Melton transporting more than six grams of cocaine, valued at over $900, and placed him under arrest.

Melton was charged with felony possession of cocaine, felony possession with intent to sell and deliver cocaine, and maintaining a vehicle to keep, sell, and deliver cocaine.

Melton has no criminal history. According to Leftwich, his sentencing will be at the discretion of the judge.

Minister Responds To Letters From Readers

not the United States flag. A good argument deals with the issue at hand instead of using extraneous information to confuse and perhaps sway the audience. You also sidetrack the information contained in my letter when you talk about slavery and political unrest in several African countries. Since I was born in the United States, the Constitution says I am a citizen of the United States, not of Africa. If you are concerned about what is going on in Africa, you need to talk to President Clinton or others who have the power to do something about it, not to me, a schoolteacher and Baptist pastor.

Mr. Robbins, as I said in my June 22 letter the heritage of the South is ignoble. I stand by my statement. I was born in the South, reared in the South, received my academic training in the South, and have spent my professional career in the South. I do not intend to go anywhere. By the same token, however, I will not close my eyes to history. I only wish you would open yours. Let me give you a biblical parallel. Both Jesus Christ and the Apostle Paul were Jews. But neither of them allowed their heritage to prevent them from chastising the Jews when they were in error. So I, a native Southerner, will not refrain from criticizing the South when she is in error, as she was during slavery.

Mr. Robbins, please get a good college dictionary and usage guide so that you can avoid stale and clichéd terms like litmus test and political correctness in future letters to the editor. You also need to learn what "denigrating someone else's civil rights" and "racist" mean before using the terminology.

Finally, Mr. Robbins, I am proud to be an American and will avail myself to all of the rights and privileges this country offers, including carrying a couple of surprises in my Ford F-150 pickup and Buick Park Avenue Ultra for anyone bold enough to physically challenge my right to free speech.

I am almost tired of writing, but I must inform Mr. Sidden that his quotation beginning "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal..." comes from the Declaration of Independence, not the United States Constitution.

Mr. Sidden, I can't be too hard on you, since I have already noted your intellectual limitation above, but please do not compare the economic, political, and social status of blacks in America to that of whites. Get several good history books and have someone help you read and interpret them so that you will understand why it is illogical to compare the advances blacks have made since slavery to the current status of white Americans. Your skin and physical characteristics have never been used by the institutions of society to deny you equal opportunity. Most black people will tell you that their God-given traits have historically and systematically been used to relegate them to second-class citizenship.

Again, Mr. Sidden, your shallowness prevents me from coming down too harshly upon you (we must all make allowances for fools and babies), but the United States is a nation of immigrants. The Native Americans are the only people who can lay a legitimate claim to the American soil. So I suggest that you, not I, return to whatever Godforsaken country your ancestors came from. I will forgive you if you are unable to find your ancestral home, since researching a family's genealogy requires far more skill than you are capable of.

Mr. Sidden, anyone who speaks ill of the noble work of Martin Luther King Jr. needs prayer and redemption. I can help you erase your ignorance, but only God Almighty can transform the demon possessed.

Mr. Sidden, your lack of knowledge concerning how most blacks came to America and how Jesse Jackson has freed servicemen of all races is embarrassing to every resident of Advance and Davie County who has an ounce of sense.

Poor Mr. Sidden, when you begin your intense catch-up course in United States history, you will learn the origin of segregation in America. Be sure to underline the materials in your history book that deals with Richard Allen, Prince Hall, and Plessy v. Ferguson (1896).

Finally, Mr. Sidden, it is obvious you need education and salvation. You say you struggled to get ahead. I am sure you must have struggled with your hands, because your heart and head, as illustrated in your letter, leave much to be desired.

Mr. Editor, the conclusion of my letter is at hand. Had Myers, Robbins, and Sidden done their homework, my letter would not have been as long. But each of these men is a product of his culture and relies on inaccurate data and nonsense to get his views published. And it is my duty as a Christian minister and bearer of light to challenge the darkness that is enveloping our world. My task is not always easy, but I have set my hand to the plow and have no desire to look back (Luke 9:62).

Don't Get Burned!

You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:

- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:

- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

Hundreds of tractors roared through downtown Mocksville July 4th for the first antique tractor and engine show and parade sponsored by the Piedmont Antique Power Association.

First Antique Tractor Parade A Success

They got lots of support.

More than 100 tractor owners showed up to ride their machines through downtown Mocksville on July 4th. Even more showed up at the Masonic Picnic grounds for the show and child's tractor (pedal powered) pull.

"A special thanks goes to all the exhibitors for coming out and to everyone who had a part in making our first annual tractor show a huge success," said Benny Dyson of Mocksville, president of the sponsoring Piedmont Antique Power Association. "We look forward to an even bigger and better second show, hope to see you there."

Dyson credited several businesses, Mocksville Police Chief Jack Keller, Mike Garner of the Mocksville-Davie Parks and Recreation and Davie Sheriff Allen Whitaker for helping make the event a success.

Brookstone Terrace Offers Independent Lifestyles For Seniors

Administrator Gina Styers knows what it feels like to search for a clean, comfortable environment in which to place a beloved parent. She has been in that very situation herself.

"First of all, you would like to find a place close to home," said Ms. Styers, when she had to find a facility for her father. "But what you really want is a facility you are pleased with - a clean, comfortable place with excellent staff." This is one reason that Ms. Styers is Administrator at Brookstone Terrace, a new assisted living facility in Clemmons.

Brookstone Terrace, owned by Meadowbrook Healthcare, is a brand new residential care home at 4430 Clinard Road, directly behind Meadowbrook Manor on Highway 158 in Clemmons. Built two years ago and licensed for 20, Brookstone offers unique one-on-one personal care for each resident. Semi-private and private rooms are available, as well as two large units suitable for couples. Each room has a sitting room which adjoins the living area, showcased by sunny bay windows. The couples' quarters feature a separate sitting area.

Compare Brookstone's spacious square footage to other senior living communities in the area, and be pleasurably surprised at how much more you get for your money. Furnished units may be selected at no extra charge, or residents can choose an unfurnished unit.

Brookstone Terrace employs Certified Nursing Aides, who undergo in-house training by Registered Nurses and pharmacists in administration of medicines. Licensed nurses and Brookstone's physician are accessible 24 hours a day; and the doctor comes to Brookstone weekly.

Brookstone also features 24-hour per day, 7-day per week access to a Clemmons pharmacy. They have contracted with a mobile X-ray service who comes to Brookstone, as well as a phlebotomy lab for blood work, and mental health services. Dr. Bob Wingate, a Clemmons podiatrist, makes regular visits to Brookstone for personal footcare. Every medical need is supplied through the caring staff at Brookstone Terrace.

"We also encourage community service from our residents," said Ms. Styers. She said that Brookstone residents made 50 Easter bags this spring and took them to the Children's Home in Winston-Salem. Residents enjoyed giving them to the children and spending time with them.

A full-time Activities Director plans a host of events, including the popular weekly Shopping Day, a Family Day (one recently was a Hawaiian luau), and Fourth of July celebration, complete with fireworks. Personal transportation by staff may include taking residents to salon visits, eating out, going to movies, or medical appointments.

"We want our residents' lifestyle to be as personal as possible," said Ms. Styers. "We thrive on that."

Brookstone serves delicious, well-balanced meals planned by a registered dietitian, in a spacious dining room that even boasts a fireplace. Personal laundry and housekeeping services are another of the many perks of living at Brookstone. Residents can relax in the living room by the fireplace, or sit out on the screened-in porch during one of the summer ice cream or watermelon parties. All year around, the living is easy at Brookstone.

Residents will feel secure with the 24-hour emergency call system, and the excellent security provided by staff. Should a resident need rehabilitation or skilled nursing care, Meadowbrook Manor is in close proximity to the Brookstone home.

Brookstone Terrace brings peace of mind to concerned family members, and an ideal living arrangement with assistance for all of life's demands. Seniors will benefit from the wellness program at Brookstone that emphasizes meeting their needs physically, mentally and spiritually at every level.

Cooleemee Club Meets At Ridenhour Arbor

The meeting was called to order by Reba Holt, president. She asked Virginia Plott to lead the club in prayer.

The devotions were given by Pauline Hall, chaplain. She spoke of how people are more afraid of having their privacy invaded, or their identity stolen than they are of an atomic attack.

Reading from John 15:16, Hall talked about the 12 disciples. She read an article that stated hypothetically that the resumes of the 12 were put into a computer for a managerial position, and that only Judas Iscariot qualified. The other disciples showed too much weakness. The question was asked, "Aren't you glad that when Jesus looked at us that he didn't take you for what you are, but for what you could be?" Jesus sees the potential in all of us and has called us to be His disciples.

Francis Miller called the roll. There were 33 members and 2 visitors present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Nancy Foster, secretary. The thought for the day: "Don't be concerned about the years in your life - rather the life in your years."

The program was given by Daisy Ridenhour. Everyone had been asked to bring a wrapped gift for playing bingo. Hall called out the numbers while Colleen Moore, Dot Hamby, Ridenhour, and Jane Sneed set out the meal. Ridenhour furnished the hotdogs. The desserts and other fixings were supplied by the members.

James "Doll" Foster said the blessing, and everyone sat down for the meal.

The next meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church on July 10. Everyone has been asked to bring a craft or hobby they enjoy.

July 4th Concert Goers Getting Free Tickets

The Davie County Arts Council wants to thank everyone who came to the 4th of July Concert in The Park.

As everyone settled in for an evening of beautiful music with their families and friends, there were wonderful picnic spreads of fried chicken, deviled eggs, sandwiches, watermelon, desserts, and much more for all to enjoy. It was a true testimony of hope from everyone that an evening summer thunderstorm wasn't even a possibility.

Unfortunately, the weather had other plans for the evening and the crowd only had the opportunity to enjoy hearing the Winston-Salem Piedmont Triad Symphony play their first two pieces.

Everyone had their fingers crossed for the rain drops to go away, but it was to no avail. The musicians and the crowd patiently and somewhat nervously held out to the last minute, but in the end, everyone had to scramble to a dry and safe place.

At least the rain, thunder, and lightning finally cleared in time for everyone to celebrate Independence Day with the real fireworks.

Although the Arts Council will not be able to re-schedule another date for the symphony, it is offering four complimentary tickets to everyone who paid admission for Concert in the Park to the next summer concert, which features Phil and Gaye Johnson.

Phil and Gaye Johnson will be at The Brock Saturday.

Be the Arts Council's guests on Saturday, July 15 at 8 p.m. at the Brock Performing Arts Center to hear their eclectic music style which blends traditional country, western swing, bluegrass, and a little country rock.

"For everyone who has had the privilege of hearing Phil and Gaye at festivals throughout North Carolina and the southeast, you know what a special treat it is to hear Phil and Gaye live in concert," said Dagmar Bardo, executive director of the arts council.

Gaye performs on guitar and sings lead vocals with an extraordinary, mountain alto. "If you like the sounds of Emilou Harris and Joan Baez, you'll love Gaye's voice," Bardo said.

Phil writes much of the duo's material and accompanies Gaye on mandolin, guitar, harmonica, resonator guitar, and harmony vocals.

Phil and Gaye Johnson have released four recordings: Cornbread and Sweetmilk Time, Mountain Flower, The Lost Broadcast, and Folksongs from Carl Sandburg's The American Songbag.

Concert goers will enjoy traditional bluegrass and folk songs including "Miguel" by Gordon Lightfoot, "Sing Me Back Home" by Merle Haggard, and "Hard Times Come Again No More" by Stephan Foster.

If you would like to get four complimentary tickets to the Arts Council's Summer Concert featuring Phil and Gaye Johnson, stop by or call the Box Office at 751-3000 prior to 2 p.m. on Friday, July 14.

Box Office hours are Monday-Friday, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. The Brock box office is at 622 N. Main St. in Mocksville. Regular tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for children, students, and seniors. For groups of 15 or more people, tickets are $9 for all ages.

Eight From Hillsdale Baptist On Mission Trip To Honduras

The eight members traveled with eight Calvary Baptist Church members to the Central American country to aid Southern Baptist missionaries, Max and Joan Furr, in the construction of a new church building.

Pastor Reg Alderman said the mission parallels the mission of Hillsdale Baptist and the anticipated completion of the first permanent church structure on U.S. 158 in Hillsdale.

"Beign involved in missions has always been the heartbeat of our mission at Hillsdale," Alderman said. "And as we complete our new buildign, it seems fitting that we should be helping build another structure for another church on a foreign mission field."

The team will return July 15.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Susan Sykes
Chiropractic Physician

Scoliosis

Scoliosis - literally "curvature of the spine" - is not merely an exaggeration of the normal dorsal curve, but a sideways turn. As the spine leans in one direction or the other, it causes the other parts of the body to counteract the imbalance. If spinal curvature is to the right, for example, the head may lean in the same direction, the left hip and shoulder may be elevated and the feet may bear weight unevenly. The imbalance may not be noticeable to the casual eye, but your doctor of chiropractic is especially trained to spot it.

Scoliosis occurs in approximately 2 percent of women and less than 1 percent of men. It usually starts in the early teens or pre-teens and may gradually progress as rapid growth, or puberty, takes place. Once this growth is over, mild curves will probably not change. However, severe curves nearly always progress and get more pronounced. The sooner that scoliosis is recognized and treated, the better the chance for a successful treatment. Scoliosis is more responsive to the effective healing methods of chiropractic in its early stages. Make an appointment with your chiropractor to have your child examined for this condition, especially if you suspect any curvature problems.

Russell "Rusty" and Diane Smiley of Oklahoma City, Okla., arrived last week to spend time with their families. Among those they visited were Rusty's mother, Kazie Smiley and his sister, Louise Potts.

The family of the late Walter Cornatzer met Sunday at the home of Bill Livengood and wife, Jean Cornatzer. Livengood, on Riverview Road in the Fork community. Approximately 35 relatives attended. Janie C. Sanders came from Forth Worth, Texas; from Winston-Salem were Helen C. Snipes, Betty C. Shore, and Joe Cornatzer. From this area were Mildred C. Carter, Ruby C. Potts, Thurman Cornatzer, Seabon Cornatzer and Connie Cornatzer. Many grandchildren and great-grandchildren were also present. We are happy to report that Lois Cornatzer, Seabon's wife who has been seriously ill, were able to attend the reunion.

Edith Zimmerman's Sunday night visitors were Jean Livengood, and daughter Lu Ann Livengood, and Jean's granddaughter, Marlena Parker, Betty Shore of Winston-Salem and Janie Sanders of Forth Worth, Texas.

David and Carole Folmar and children Bailey, Paul III, and Page of Knoxville, Tenn., spent the weekend of July 4th with their parents, Paul and Sue Folmar and Brack and Judy Bailey.

We were especially pleased to have David sing in our church choir July 2. Bailey and Paul Folmar III remained with their grandparents this past week.

The "Over the Hill Gang" went to Chimney Rock by bus on Monday, July 10. At the Chimney Rock Park they were treated to a catered cookout meal. Later in the day, they toured Lake Lure. Forty-six people went. The trip was under the direction of Sam and Janie Chaplin.

Hi, my name is Marie Ijames and I turned four years old on July 11, 2000. My parents are Chad and Naomi Ijames of Pope A.F.B. N.C. They gave me a party on July 2, 2000 at our home. We had a cookout with hotdogs, hamburgers and all the trimmings. My birthday cake was a Barbie cake, and we had homemade ice cream, made by my Papaw Dean. My grandparents are Bruce and Dorothy Dean of Warner Robins, Ga., Billy and Susan Ijames of Mocksville, N. C. Great-grandparents are Bessie Sparks of Advance, Colean Ijames of Mocksville, Edna Shultz of Little Rock, Ark., Joseph Hudson Sr. of Las Lanes, N.M., and Frank and June Dean of Warner Robins, Ga. Thank you everyone who came to help me celebrate my birthday and for all the nice gifts.

When is an oncologist more than just an oncologist?

When he or she becomes Board Certified.

Board Certification indicates preparation over and above the normal training a doctor receives. Maintaining this certification requires even more training.

At Rowan Regional Medical Center, our staff includes three board certified oncologists from Carolina Oncology Associates available around the clock. And they're assisted by specially trained oncology nurses.

So if you need to see a cancer specialist, call Carolina Oncology Associates for an appointment.

Ho-Hum: Mocksville Dominance Continues Against Asheboro

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Coach Mike Lovelace of Mocksville-Davie's American Legion baseball team braced for a fierce down-to-the-wire series, but he forgot to tell his players, who reached their peak and put on a stunning all-around display while ejecting Asheboro three games to one.

Ridenhour

Game Four was just another day in paradise for fourth-seeded Mocksville, which heated up late to whip No. 5 Asheboro 16-6 in eight innings, sealing an Area III quarterfinal playoff series in which it overwhelmed a team that had won 22 of 27 games by 42-20.

"We played our best ball of the year this series," Lovelace said after Mocksville (22-7) set up a semifinal date with Kannapolis. "Even the game we lost, we still had a chance to win."

Ace pitcher Skipp Crider captured the bookend games, reliever Erik Walker shut down Asheboro the final four-plus innings of Game Two and Travis Allen and Andrew Daywalt held Asheboro at bay in Game Three.

"If you would have told me at the beginning of the series that we were going to hold Asheboro to three, six, five and six runs, I wouldn't have believed it," Lovelace said. "I mean, they were averaging double digit runs in their last series (a sweep of Stanly County), but they just weren't able to keep up with our bats.

"Our pitching was a little bit better than some people realized. I'm starting to even believe it."

Mocksville committed just three errors in the series, and the offense continued to pound away at historic standards. Outhitting Asheboro 50-33 for an average of .337, Mocksville (.330 for the year) is just three points off the .333 record set in 1990 and is averaging 10.6 runs per game, matching the record established in 1991.

Mocksville, which buried Troy 48-12 in three games in the second round and has won 17 of 20, is hitting .353 (83-for-235) in the playoffs.

"Our offensive stats are unbelievable," said Lovelace, beaming. "If we play like we did this series, we have a chance to do a lot more big things this summer. If we play the way we just played, it's going to be hard for people to beat us, no matter what they put on the field."

Mocksville, which held a tenuous 4-3 lead heading into the seventh because of Asheboro's three-run homer in the fourth, crushed all suspense by hanging up six spots in the seventh and eighth innings.

Just when it appeared Willie Infante was disappearing from the highlights reel, going 1-for-12 in the first three games, the 16-year-old shortstop burst loose with three hits and three RBIs, including the second-inning hit that put Mocksville ahead to stay at 1-0.

Infante, an efficient .279 hitter, has amazingly converted 26 hits into 28 RBIs.

"It says a lot about this team when your nine-hole hitter goes 3-for-4 with three RBIs," Lovelace said. "He comes through in big situations. With two strikes, boom, here comes a big hit. He got us started in the second inning. Twenty eight RBIs out of the nine hole ... that's a great year for most people."

Dellacona Sparks Win With Triple In Game 3

Everyone wanted to know how far Steve LeFaivre's bomb went, but the blow that stung Asheboro the deepest traveled about half as far.

That first-inning, three-run triple was delivered by Matt Dellacona, who staggered to the park feeling as blue as someone dangling 10 floors by the end of a rope. Not only was he suffering from the flu, but he entered Game Three 0-for-5 for the series, a mild skid for realists but a downright depression for the kid who demands daily brilliance.

"Tonight was kind of difficult because I have the flu and wasn't supposed to play," said Dellacona, whose long face actually evolved into near content after sparking Mocksville-Davie's American Legion baseball team to a 12-5 victory July 6 at Mando Field. "I was real sick last night, but I had to be here because this is my team and I can't let them down."

In a rally that started with two out and nobody on, Mocksville loaded the bases for Dellacona, who lofted a high drive to center. The ball barely eluded an outstretched glove, crashed off the wall for a triple and lifted Mocksville to a 3-1 lead it never relinquished.

"Another foot and it would have been much better," said Dellacona, always looking for more. "But I'm feeling better because I'm not in a slump any more."

Chris Brake, the recent terror, followed the triple with a single for a 4-1 lead and pitcher Travis Allen made the early uprising stand. Despite working with men on in every inning, and despite walking four in the first four innings, Allen got the outs that counted.

After walking the first two in the third, he fanned third-place batter Ben

Dellacona

LeFaivre

Yow and coaxed a fielder's choice from Matt Webster, the hero of fifth-seeded Asheboro's 6-4 Game Two win after slamming a three-run homer. In the fifth, Allen blew away Webster with two on and two out and Asheboro trying to cut into Mocksville's 4-1 lead.

"That Webster boy is a pretty good stick, so I'm happy I did alright with him," Allen said after No. 4 Mocksville (21-7) improved to 6-1 in games following a loss and became the winningest team since 1993. "We seem to swing the bats better here, so I felt alright starting tonight."

Although Allen walked six in 6 1/3 and was occasionally out of sync, he got the job done in his first start since tossing a complete-game win against Moorefsville on June 14. Allen had only thrown 2 1/3 since then, but improved to 4-2 and put Mocksville in position to wrap things up.

"I was pretty out of shape," he said. "I thought that led to most of my walks. But yeah, I got out of it and at least kept us in the game."

A MEMORABLE night for LeFaivre started as a nightmare. With the bases loaded, nobody out and LeFaivre digging in, everyone sensed the slugger breaking the 4-1 game wide open. But first baseman Michael Stefanacci speared a smoking liner, stepped on first and fired to second to nip a diving Skipp Crider to complete a stunning triple play.

"The triple play happened so quick that I didn't even know it was a triple play," Lovelace said. "All of a sudden it was over with. I was like: 'Lord have mercy.' You hit a ball that hard and it's a triple play."

LeFaivre got his revenge in marvelous fashion, connecting for a three-run homer off the top of the left-center wall in the sixth for a 10-3 lead. An inning later with Ridenhour aboard, he sent a homer into another area code. The second shot, LeFaivre's team-leading seventh, landed on the softball field, 400 feet and then some for a 12-4 lead.

"I hit (the triple-play ball) good," he said. "I wanted to get a couple RBIs out of that, and I killed our inning."

Then he killed the remnants of Asheboro's spirit.

"I had never hit into a triple play before, that kind of ticked me off," he said. "I usually hit better when I'm mad, so I kind of took it out on the ball the next couple at-bats. I got all of that (last) one."

LeFaivre, a future Wake Forest Demon Deacon, is hitting a gaudy .448 the last 13 games and has a team-high 32 walks.

"Then he showed what he could do," Lovelace said. "I don't know if they've found it yet or if it's down in Cooleemee. I don't even know which way Cooleemee is, but it was a long way."

Andrew Daywalt, the staff's finest secret weapon, continued his astonishing effectiveness when summoned in the seventh. With two on and one out, Daywalt walked the bases loaded but struck out Lane Hunt and got Brian Clodfelter to fly out, preserving a 10-4 lead.

"He's battled all year," Lovelace said after Daywalt lowered his ERA to a team-high 1.89 after allowing an unearned run in 2 2/3.

Notes: Zach Greene's remarkable 27-game hitting streak was stopped as he stood helplessly on deck in the ninth. "It had to come to an end sometime," he said. "Yeah, I'm upset, I wanted to keep it going. But I'll take a win any time. I'll start a new one. It was fun." ... To win the series, Asheboro would have to stop Mocksville's seven-game home winning streak. ... Almost forgotten amid Dellacona's tone-setting triple and LeFaivre's fireworks was a 4-for-4 performance by Ridenhour.

At Age 72, Bob Benson Scores 71 On Two Golf Rounds

Bob Benson, playing at Twin Cedars Golf Club in Mocksville on June 17, recorded an 18-hole score of 71, a stroke less than his age. He was playing with grandson Seth Worden, who was visiting on leave from the Navy, and Jerry Ratledge of Sheffield.

Then on June 24, Benson posted another 71 at Twin Cedars while playing with Kenny Jordan, Mark Jordan and Dude Jordan.

Benson has been playing golf 53 years, trying to shoot his age or better the past two years. He built Twin Cedars in the late 1960s and later sold it to Tommy Price of Hickory. In June 1999, Benson took radiation treatments for cancer. Then on July 5, 1999, he had four-way bypass on his heart.

But Benson has made a strong recovery over the past 11 months in order to accomplish his goal of 72 or under. It is only fitting that he could do this on the course he built.

Duane Phillips First Davie Player In 23 Years To Play In East-West Game

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Four months after completing an electrifying Davie County basketball career, Duane Phillips' resume is still growing.

Scoring 40-plus points twice can't compare to this. Earning the MVP award for torching North Rowan in the Sam Moir Christmas Classic can't compare to this. Gaining recognition as all-conference, all-Northwest and second-team all-state can't compare to becoming the first War Eagle in 23 years to be selected for the annual East-West All-Star Classic July 18 at the Greensboro Coliseum.

"This is an honor," he said. "Really, what you dream for is to play in the All-Star game. I'm ready for it, to see how it is playing against the best in the state."

Joining Phillips on the West roster are West Caldwell's Dan Anderson, who is headed to Loyola Maryland; Page's Brandon Clifford, who is headed to UNC-Wilmington; Burlington Williams' Elliot Cole, who is headed to East Carolina; West Forsyth's J.K. Edwards, who is headed to an Iowa junior college; Dudley's Chris Ferguson, who is headed to Campbell; Mount Tabor's Joel Justus, who is headed to UNC-Wilmington; Ashbrook's Sean McCarthy, who is headed to UNC-Greensboro; West Rowan's Scooter Sherrill, who is headed to N.C. State; and Mitchell's Daron Williams. The West coach is Jon Harder of Morehead.

"Of course, there is going to be some butterflies in my stomach," said Phillips, a 6-1, 160-pound guard. "But I'm looking forward to it. That's going to be a fun challenge."

There's no better way for the greatest Davie player of the generation to go out, the perfect prelude to a career at Spartanburg Methodist Junior College. Dwayne Grant, in 1977, was the last player to carry the Davie banner in the East-West game.

"That's almost my age (23 years)," said Derek Kurnitsky, Davie's JV basketball coach, who talked on behalf of Phillips with varsity coach Jim Young vacationing in Florida. "He'll help put us on the map, because people will see Davie County and next year they'll say: 'Well, that's where the Phillips boy used to play.'

"He's such a good kid and just so enjoyable to be around. Our whole staff will probably miss that more than anything, just the type of kid he is. He's never down, he's never bummed out. Win or lose, he's just a great person to be around."

Altering School's Image

While new direction in Young and a strong senior class deserve considerable credit, Phillips stirred the program's three-year revolution.

Before Phillips arrived as a sophomore starter in 1997, Davie had failed to reach 10 wins in 10 of 12 years and averaged seven victories since the post-Grant era in 1978. Davie responded with rising records of 10-14, 15-10 and an unprecedented 21-6. The 36 wins over 1999-00 represent the second-best two-year run in school history, trailing 37 in 1969-70.

Phillips carried the '99 team with a 26.5 scoring average, and despite immense hype, intense pressure and smothering defensive attention from opponents, Phillips turned in averages of 24.9 points, 4.5 rebounds and 4.3 assists as a senior.

With Phillips fueling the winningest team ever behind an assortment of inside and outside moves that left fans breathless, Davie upset the eventual Class 4-A state champion, Reynolds, for the first time in seven years and swept two from Mount Tabor, which had won eight of the previous nine meetings.

All that happened after Phillips, a Spencer native, overcame the urge to transfer to North Rowan High.

"I was thinking about going back to North, but I had too much going for me at Davie," said Phillips, who joined Randall Ward, the late Jingles Ijames and Grant in the 1,000-point club at 1,544. "It was good that I stayed at Davie. Coach Young came and I guess it was a sign for me to stay."

Kurnitsky, who moved from Florida before the 1998-99 year, emerged just in time to watch Phillips set the scorebook on fire.

"He's as good a scorer – and I've seen some big-time players – as I've ever seen," he said. "He's just a pure scorer. He's one of those kids that can get his shot off at any time, and a lot of high-school kids can't do that."

Then Kurnitsky laughed. "We're going to miss him a little bit."

Phillips, who has been playing pickup games regularly to maintain his rhythm, reports to Greensboro on July 15, practicing with the West and attending functions for three days. The boys game will follow the girls game on the night of July 18.

"You know how all-star games are, there's not much defense so he should probably score a lot of points," Kurnitsky said. "They are highlight reels, slam dunks and shooting 3s. That's his type of game, so he'll be fine.

"He'll probably be an unknown, but probably by halftime they'll know exactly who he is. By halftime, they'll say: 'Man, this kid can play.'"

College Destination

Phillips, who fantasied about playing for former Michael Jordan roommate Buzz Peterson, dismissed Appalachian State when Peterson took the Tulsa job, committing instead to Spartanburg, a powerhouse in the junior-college ranks,

"It changed my mind when Buzz left," he said, "because I really didn't know how it would be with him gone. I talked to him like three days before he announced it. It would have been nice."

29 Basketball Players Attend ASU Team Camp

Twenty-nine girls from Davie County High headed to Boone and Appalachian State University for four days for team camp June 21-24.

From the beginning, players began a full schedule of instruction in fundamentals, drills and competitions in one-on-one, foul shots; skill and on top of it all, 12 games. While most team camps operate playing games only, ASU is well known for its focus in the basics and full schedule. The girls were awakened at 6:30 a.m. each morning with breakfast at 7 a.m., followed by one activity after another until 10 p.m.

Surely not the place for the faint of heart, the Davie girls hustled everyday. With 45 teams from five states on hand, the competition boasted the likes of East Burke, who made it to the round of 16 last year in the state playoffs.

The Davie girls were divided into three teams. The 10 girls who competed on the varsity level included Lauren Cornatzer, Sara Erb, Heather McDaniel, Ryanne McDaniel, Emily Morton, Deanna Shamel, Dawn Singleton, Brittany Walker, Ashley Williams and Sarah Williams.

The other two teams who competed as junior varsities included Heather Boger, Andrea Dwiggins, Brandi Harpe, Jenifer Horton, Allison Howell, Megan Jordan, Kelli Lawhon, Ashley Peoples and Emily Pettorini on team No. 1 and Jenifer Barney, Alyse Bowden, Brittany Crotts, Brittany Holt, Kierston Kahrs, Savannah Kowalski, Alison McNeil, Jessica Nelms, Allison Schafer and Megan Wanucha on team No. 2.

Pettorini, Kowalski and Walker represented their teams in the free-throw championships. Walker's miss on the last shot kept her from tying the camp varsity champion. Representing their teams in the one-on-one competitions were Dwiggins, Schafer and Williams, who made it to the semifinals on the varsity level before narrowly losing to the camp runner-up. Three players were recognized as all-stars from their teams: Peoples, Kahrs and Walker.

Special recognition, the Gatorade Hustle Award, was given to select players throughout the camp. It recognized outstanding and consistent effort and a never-give-up attitude. Jordan was selected by ASU coaches and players to receive one of the awards.

In addition to Davie County coaches Carol Cozart and Debbie Evans, former players Tina Harkness and Julie McDaniel traveled with the team and coached.

Grant Last Davie Player In East-West

Spartanburg was a wise choice, Kurnitsky said.

"Two years there will do him good," he said. "After that, the sky is the limit for him. After two years of JUCO, who knows? He might improve so much that he might go higher than (ASU). All bets are off when you go to junior college."

"I'm going to work on grades and work on getting bigger," Phillips said. "It's a nice school. They've got a good program. They're ranked 13th or 14th in the nation."

"I'm just going to play my game, have fun and play how I usually play," Phillips said. "Just having fun out there is the main thing. If I am open, you know I will shoot it. My dad's side, my mom's side and friends (will be there). Scooter is going to be there, so there is going to be a lot of Salisbury fans there."

A Look Back ...

Duane Phillips marks the first Davie County boys basketball player since Dwayne Grant to be selected for the East-West All-Star Classic.

In 1977, Grant stole the show at the Greensboro Coliseum. Leading the West to a 97-90 victory, the 6-4 forward had 18 points and eight rebounds in 31 minutes, hitting eight of 15 field goals, including an exclamation-mark dunk in the waning moments.

Grant accepted a scholarship to Virginia Tech, then wound up at Catawba, where he set several records. Grant and Phillips hold Davie's single-game scoring records of 45 and 43 points, respectively.

LeFaivre, Ridenhour Lead Quarterfinal Win

Greene, Drew Ridenhour and Andrew Daywalt picked up two apiece as Mocksville banged out 16 hits and made four pitchers pay dearly for walking nine and hitting two others.

The mythical MVPs of the series (Chris Brake was the unofficial recipient against Troy for going 7-for-9 with three homers and 12 RBIs) were Ridenhour, who was 10-for-18, and LeFaivre, who was 8-for-16 with nine RBIs.

"He's stepped up for the big games," Lovelace said. "He knows it's playoff time. They made some mistakes to him, they ended up having to pitch to him, and he cashed in."

After demonstrating his offensive skills with a recent 27-game hitting streak, Greene used the Asheboro series to showcase his deceptive – yet deadly – arm. After gunning a runner at home in Game One, Asheboro got suckered again in the bottom of the seventh of the clincher.

"On a single up the middle, Greene threw a one-hop strike, (catcher) Brake blocked the plate and I don't think their coach could believe that it had happened again," Lovelace said of the rallying-killing throw that preserved a comfortable 10-4 lead. "I think the coach thought it was going to be an easy play because Greene hadn't even gotten it when the guy rounded third."

Asheboro Evens Series In Game 2

Cody Wright of Mocksville-Davie's American Legion baseball team trotted into Game Two with the wind at his back, riding a four-game winning streak since May 31.

Asheboro was hardly impressed, though.

Cleanup man Matt Webster greeted the right-hander with a three-run home run that paved the road to a 6-4 Asheboro win July 5 at Asheboro that evened the best-of-five Area III quarterfinal playoff series at 1-1.

"He didn't have his control that he's had lately," Coach Mike Lovelace said after Wright gave up five walks, four hits and five runs in 3 2/3 innings to fall to 6-2 against fifth-seeded Asheboro. "He was all over the place. It was raining a little bit, but he wasn't himself that night.

"He said: 'I just didn't feel like I've been feeling the whole summer.' It's tough, you're not going to have your best stuff every night."

By contrast, two Asheboro pitchers displayed precision – walking two – and held Mocksville's 6-9 batters to 1-for-14, handing No. 4 Mocksville just its second loss since June 5 in a July 4 game that was suspended in the fourth with Asheboro leading 5-2. Both teams replaced the starting pitchers when play resumed the next day.

"(Starter Tyson Pugh) changed speeds and kept us off balance," Lovelace said. "We hit (reliever Michael Stefanacci), but we hit it right to them. We only struck out once or twice, but they played good defense. We gave the second baseman a great work out."

Mocksville won the hitting battle but still came up short. Behind a 7-for-14 effort from the heart of the order – Drew Ridenhour, Steve LeFaivre and Andrew Daywalt – Mocksville outhit the winners 10-6 and reliever Erik Walker held Asheboro to one run on two hits through 4 1/3.

But Mocksville couldn't recover from a running mistake in the seventh. With runners at second and third and batter Daywalt representing the go-ahead run, Lovelace sent Ridenhour home on a wild pitch. Asheboro cut him down for the final out, a pivotal moment that loomed larger when Daywalt started the Mocksville eighth with a single.

"We didn't really go dead, it was just one of those nights," Lovelace said. "They caught it and their pitchers kept the ball down and stayed ahead.

"We had some chances. I sent Drew, he got thrown out and Daywalt (later) gets a single. We were aggressive and they made a great play."

Mocksville trailed 6-2 after six, but scratched back on an RBI single by Ridenhour and run-scoring double by LeFaivre, whose single staked Mocksville to a 1-0 lead in the first.

But then Webster unloaded on Wright, and Asheboro nursed the lead throughout.

"We outhit them but they got the key hits," Lovelace said. "We just weren't able to come through with a big hit."

Mocksville's inability to complete the rally undermined Walker, who easily worked around four walks in his team-high sixth relief appearance.

"He threw very well," Lovelace said. "He got out of some jams. The one run they scored, we had a double-play ball that we didn't turn. He did everything that we asked him. He kept us right where we needed to be."

Notes: The ninth inning marked another dramatic moment for Zach Greene, who stepped in 0-for-4 but singled sharply to stretch his hitting streak to 27. "He hit a two-strike pitch right up the middle, line drive," Lovelace said. "He's been doing it all summer. Nothing amazes me any more."... Asheboro improved to 23-6 while Mocksville fell to 20-7.

Crider Fans 11 In Game 1 Win

The slugfest that Mike Lovelace advertised between fourth-seeded Mocksville-Davie and No. 5 Asheboro never materialized in Game One July 3 at Mando Field in the American Legion baseball playoffs.

Mocksville did its part, but Mocksville ace pitcher Skipp Crider didn't let Asheboro do theirs.

"Skipp threw the best game I've ever seen him throw," Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace said after Crider scattered nine hits and run his record to an eye-popping 7-1 as Mocksville rolled 10-3 in the opener of the best-of-five Area III quarterfinal series. "It was his third complete game. He just seems to keep doing more every time he goes out."

The manner in which Crider triumphed was what stunned many. The finesse lefty who lacks an overpowering reputation kicked it into high gear – fanning 11, nearly half his total from 43 previous innings - while maintaining his control with three walks. Often that ratio has been almost reversed.

"He understands that this is his time, the last time he'll probably ever get to play for an organized team," Lovelace said. "I wish someone would give him a chance to play somewhere. His effort was tremendous."

Mocksville's top two hitters – Zach Greene at .402 and Chris Brake at .382 – fueled the attack. Leadoff man Greene produced four hits in five at-bats, scored three runs and stole his 19th base, tying him with Bubba Coleman for fourth on the record list.

The scrappy lefty singled to trigger a four-run fifth that staked Mocksville to an ultimately decisive 4-0 lead, pushed his well-chronicled hitting streak to 26, and revived his bid for the 10th .400 season in Mocksville history. Teammate Steve LeFaivre has achieved that feat twice.

"What makes Zach special is he understands how the game is played and he's got speed," assistant Brian Hightower said. "He can do a lot of things with the bat.

The other starring role involved Brake, the hero from the stomping of Troy. After going 7-for-9 with 12 RBIs in that 3-0 second-round sweep, the catcher picked up where he left off with two hits, three RBIs, two walks and his 10th stolen base.

His two-out, two-run triple capped the four-run fifth that sent Mocksville to its 15th win in 17 games.

"He deserves it," said left fielder Matt Dellacona, who recalled when Brake was hardly feared as a hitter. "I don't want to say people doubted his ability, but they figured with him being so big he should be able to hit a lot better than he was.

"He's been in the cage working on it, and now it's paying off. He used to be one of the weaker hitters, and now he's one of the better hitters I've ever seen. He deserves every bit of credit he gets because he's worked hard for it."

Not only did Greene torment Asheboro at the plate, he made a play in center that Lovelace nominated as the most significant defensive moment of the game.

With Asheboro threatening to seize first blood in the second inning, Greene fielded a single, unleashed a strike to home and made the runner look like a fool.

"He was out by three feet; he didn't even slide," Lovelace said. "It was big because it was a 0-0 game and only one out."

Crider quelled one potential threat after another, stranding a runner six times, and thus joined elite company. By moving to 7-1, Crider became the first Mocksville hurler in nine years to reach that win total and just the fourth in 19 years. Lovelace won seven or more twice, and Denny Key, Chad Triplette and Jack Kimel did it once.

On top of that, Mocksville made one error, rapped 12 hits and whipped a team that was coming off an easy sweep of Stanly County.

"I thought it was one of the best all-around games that we've played all summer, as far as pitching, defense and getting key hits," Lovelace said.

"I still say they are a very solid team. Skipp set the tone and kept them off balance, but they can also hit. They averaged double digits in runs and hits against Stanly County."

Extra Innings: Surprising Kannapolis On Deck

• On paper, the Mocksville-Kannapolis Area III semifinal playoff series looks like a substantial mismatch.

After all, steamrolling Mocksville swept Kannapolis in the regular season, has won 17 of 20 since May 31 and is coming off two dominating series victories, a combined score of 48-12 against No. 13 Troy in the second round and 42-20 over No. 5 Asheboro in the quarterfinals.

But don't try selling the heavy-favorite notion to Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace, a firm believer that No. 9 Kannapolis is hardly a flash in the pan.

"This next series worries me more than anything," he said of the best-of-five series that started July 11 at Mando Field. "I've thought about it ever since we (advanced)."

Lovelace is edgy because Kannapolis won three of four from an Eastern Randolph team that rolled through the regular season 17-3, registering an 11 on a 1-10 shock scale.

"They may be the hottest team right now," he said. "I don't know what they're doing, but they beat two quality teams (including No. 8 Lexington in the second round). We beat them soundly in the regular season, so I'm worried about how our kids are going to respond."

This is not the same Kannapolis team reliever Travis Allen thwarted down the stretch in a 14-9 win on May 19. This is not the same team Skipp Crider baffled 13-1 on June 3. This is not the same staff Drew Ridenhour owned, going 6-for-8 with seven RBIs in two games.

"They're a young team, but they've had to do something right," Lovelace said. "They haven't scored a lot of runs, but they're just a scrappy team. At this time anyone could win. That's why you play. Eastern Randolph was one of the better teams."

Game Two on July 12 and Game Four (if necessary) on July 14 will be at Kannapolis, while Game Three on July 13 and Game Five (if necessary) on July 15 will be at Mocksville.

• Steve LeFaivre has rocketed to .382 as perhaps the hottest hitter in the area, a surge that prompted ultimate respect from Asheboro in Game One when it intentionally walked the slugger in the first inning to load the bases in a scoreless game.

"I couldn't believe it," Lovelace said. "I haven't ever seen anyone intentionally walked in the first inning of a 0-0 game. And we have one of the best sticks in our lineup behind him (Andrew Daywalt).

"It is respect. The next time he came up, they pretty much did the same thing – all breaking balls, a 3-0 breaking ball. They just didn't want him to hit it, but we'll take base runners."

Although Mocksville's relentlessness throughout the order foiled the strategy, Asheboro had the right idea as LeFaivre went 8-for-16 with nine RBIs for the series.

• Skipp Crider's complete-game wins in games one and four propelled him into select company. At 8-1, he's fourth on the victory list. Jack Kimel went 12-3 in 1987, Lovelace 10-2 in 1989 and Denny Key 9-4 in 1989.

Crider shrugged off two homers, including a three-run shot that pared Mocksville's lead to 4-3 in an eventual 16-6 series-clinching victory, on the way to his latest win.

"I know he's going to battle because he's a winner," Lovelace said. "I mean, he's not won eight times against just anybody. He's faced tough teams."

• A potential serious injury cast a shadow over Mocksville's Game Four win at Asheboro. In the ninth with the game in the bag, shortstop Willie Infante injured his wrist (throwing hand) stealing his first base of the season. He had three hits and three RBIs.

"We've been worrying all weekend if he's going to be able to go this week," Lovelace said. "I don't know how serious it is. I know when I took him out he couldn't even swing a bat."

• The Mocksville-Kannapolis and Rowan County-Concord semifinal winners will advance to the state tournament in Caldwell County no matter the outcome of the Area III finals.

With four areas granting two berths each, Caldwell County will host an eight-team double-elimination tournament to decide the state championship.

"If we win this next series, (football) will be on hold," said Lovelace, Davie County's receivers coach. "I would miss minicamp and could miss the first week of school."

The day was rounded out with teams using offenses and defenses introduced. Though tired at the end of each day, everyone returned ready to go again the next day. Such effort and excitement was rewarding for coaches to see, and promising for girls basketball in Davie County.

Winners in the competitions in each grade level were:

Fifth Grade

Bishop To Visit The Episcopal Church Of Ascension In Fork

Bishop Michael Curry, newly consecrated bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, will visit the Episcopal Church of the Ascension at Fork on Sunday, July 23 at 11 a.m.

The service will include Baptism, confirmation and Holy Eucharist. Following the service, there will be a fellowship meal in the Parish House.

Curry was born March 13, 1955 in Chicago, Ill. He is the son of the late Rev. Kenneth S. Curry (who served as an Episcopal priest) and Dorothy Strayborne Curry. Curry attended the public schools in the Buffalo, New York area and received his bachelor's from Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y. He received his master of divinity degree in 1978 from the Yale Divinity School

He was ordained Deacon in 1978 at St. Paul's Church in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1978 he was ordained priest at St. Stephens's Episcopal church in Winston-Salem. He was elected Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina on Feb. 11. He was ordained and Consecrated Bishop at Duke Chapel, Durham on June 17.

Curry and his wife Sharon have two daughters and make their home in Raleigh. His duties are varied as he serves as Bishop of one of three dioceses in North Carolina.

The Church of the Ascension is located at 183 Fork Bixby Road, Advance, in the Fork community. Everyone is invited to this special service. Local clergymen will be recognized at the fellowship meal and given the opportunity to meet the new bishop.

Habitat Celebrates New Home Dedication

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Leonard came from the Habitat Regional office to help Habitat for Humanity of Davie County celebrate the completion of the Cheryl Melton family home.

Newly elected school board member Debbie Bingham Pullen wished the Melton family well and Dewey Hunt Jr., president of the Davie affiliate, led the dedication service.

Melton, representing Mrs. Melton's church, read the scripture and Rev. Dennis Marshall, Cooleemee and Hardison United Methodist churches had the invocation beginning an inspiring home dedication.

The Melton family, friends of their family, members of their church family, neighbors from their new community and Habitat for Humanity board members joined hands to ask God for guidance and blessings in this new home.

Mrs. Melton sang a special song from her heart praising God with every word.

A cake decorated to depict the meaning of Habitat volunteers and families working together, was served. Construction volunteers of different races were shown, working together, side by side to accomplish the task of helping neighbors.

Partnering with families to build adequate homes is not only good exercise for the body but very filling for the soul. A home is built for someone in need and the need to help neighbors is also met, said volunteer Diane Crotts.

Clyde Hendricks served as the construction leader. Skilled and unskilled workers joined to construct a home for the Melton family.

Thanks also to all those who have contributed to the Humanity Fund which is the source for funds to build Habitat homes—Habitat can only be as effective as its volunteer workers and contributors are, Crotts said.

A fund drive is going on to collect funds to help build Home 5. "Please reach out and help us provide adequate housing for the qualifying low-income family." Crotts said.

Tax deductible donations can be sent to: Habitat for Humanity of Davie County Inc., P.O. Box 101, Advance, 27006.

Mrs. Melton encourages all those in Davie County who are in need of affordable, decent housing to apply for Habitat for Humanity partnership, she said. Contact Leland Richardson—751-2644 for further information.

Early Childhood Classes To Start

An information session for adults interested in taking courses to obtain an early childhood certificate, diploma, or associate degree, will be held on the Davie Campus of Davidson County Community College on Thursday, July 20.

Attendees will learn more about the college's early childhood program at the session, set for 6:30 to 8 p.m. in room 200 of the Classroom Building.

Offered by DCCC's early childhood staff, the session is planned for child care providers who have completed one or both of the entry level courses, Early Childhood Credential I and II, and who want to obtain information about enrolling in advanced courses for the upcoming fall semester.

Courses leading to the early childhood certificate are available on the Davie Campus in the evenings beginning Aug. 19, according to Judy Zimmerman, early childhood division chair.

"Courses usually meet once per week to make going to school more convenient for adults who already work in child care and want to pursue advanced education," Zimmerman said.

"The purpose of this session is to talk with adults who have already taken Early Childhood Credential I and II and want to continue their education. We will discuss the steps adults need to complete to be ready for taking additional coursework when classes begin in August."

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report
Town of Mocksville
PWSID # 02-30-010
July 3, 2000
It is a pleasure to report that our drinking water is safe and meets all Federal and State requirements. This Annual Water Quality Report is designed to inform you of the quality of drinking water delivered by the Town each day. This is a condensed report. For detailed results or if you have additional questions please contact Jerry W. Byerly at 751-2635.
The Town Board of Commissioners governs the Town's water system. Please feel free to attend any of the regularly scheduled Town Board Meetings held on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. at the Mocksville Town Hall, 171 Clement Street. For additional information regarding the Town Board Meetings contact Terry Bralley, Mocksville Town Manager, at 751-2259.
The Town of Mocksville routinely tests its drinking water in accordance with Federal and State standards. The EPA and the State of North Carolina set the monitoring schedule. All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. These substances can be microbes, radioactive substances, inorganic or organic chemicals. All drinking water, including bottled water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It is important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.
We are fortunate that our water source is Hunting Creek, a stream that originates in Wilkes County and flows through Davie County to the South Yadkin River. Hunting Creek provides a very high quality source of water for treatment.
Our water was extensively tested for 76 regulated substances including microbiological (monthly, '00), radioactive (March '00), inorganic (March '00), synthetic organic (March '00), and volatile organic (March '00) contaminants. These tests indicated that our water was completely safe and in compliance with all State and Federal drinking water regulations.
The water was further tested for 46 unregulated substances including synthetic organic (March '00) and volatile organic (March '00) chemicals. The unregulated chemicals detected were chloroform in an average concentration of 69.5 parts per billion over a range of 7.1 to 119 parts per billion, bromodichloromethane in an average concentration of .75 with a range of .5 to 1.0 parts per billion, bromoform in an average concentration of 8.0 with a range of 5.0 to 12 parts per billion, and chlorodibromomethane in an average concentration of 2.88 with a range of .5 to 9.0 parts per billion. One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000. This chemical is a by-product of the Town's disinfection process.
The EPA has determined these tests indicate our water IS SAFE.
The EPA establishes maximum contaminant levels (MCL) allowable for a variety of substances. MCLs are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having an adverse health effect.
Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly and infants can be particularly at risk of infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline.
The Town of Mocksville Water system has provided a plentiful supply of safe, clean water in the past and will continue to meet our high quality standards in the future. Even during past ice storms and Hurricane Hugo we provided continuous services to our customers.
As we work to meet ever more stringent standards it may be necessary to make improvements in the water system. Additional rate increases may be required in order to pay for these improvements.
Please call our office if you have questions.

Cornatzer Kitchen, Gymnasium Delayed

By Kim Justen
Davie County Enterprise Record

The classrooms and administration areas of the new Cornatzer Elementary will be completed before the beginning of school.

But areas that will most likely not be complete include the kitchen, media center and gym.

Board of education members learned last week that office and computer lab furniture is scheduled to be delivered this week and installed as soon as the inspections are completed. The final electrical inspection was scheduled for the beginning of this week.

The installation of the carpet for the media center was delayed while messier work in the area was completed. Now complete, the carpet was rescheduled to be put in on Tuesday, July 18. The media center awaits furniture, and as soon as it arrives, it will be put in place.

The gymnasium was one area of the school that was put toward the end of construction in order to guarantee that the classrooms would be ready in time. Several issues have delayed the completion of the gym.

Controversial Catfish To Make Debut At River Daze Saturday

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - As the town prepares to celebrate its first "River Daze" festival on the South Yadkin Saturday, a cloth catfish is entering a controversy over water in the river.

"Blinky," a puppet show by Cooleemee Historical Association president Jim Rumley, will be shown for the first time about 7:15 p.m. Saturday at the festival, to be held along the river banks off the lower parking lot at the mill.

The festival is a fund-raising effort and publicity effort to build a park called Riverpark at Cooleemee Falls (The Bullhole).

"It goes back to the problems we've had with water flow and to alert the next generation," Rumley said.

South Yadkin Power, which has a lease to produce electricity from the dam, issued a statement Monday saying it complies with all licensing requirements concerning water flow. The second phase of construction should begin next month, said Lyn, Pearlie and Breck Bullock.

> "It goes back to the problems we've had with water flow and to alert the next generation."
> - Jim Rumley, puppet show author

The Bullocks, owners of South Yadkin Power, say they are not opposed to the park at the river, just to people trying to put them out of business.

Blinky is a puppet catfish, and his spirit has witnessed all of the history of that area of the South Yadkin.

In an overview of the puppet show, Rumley wrote: "This is the story of how the Bullhole got its name. The central character is a catfish named Blinky. In 1997 the local hydroelectric operation removed all the water from the Bullhole, leading to Blinky's demise while trying to save some of the smaller catfish trapped in shallow pools of water.

County Delays Decision On Skating Rink, Billiards Hall

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Plans for a family entertainment complex on U.S. 601 North and Cana Road ran into some opposition Monday night, July 10, and county commissioners postponed a decision on whether to allow The Noble Group to open its first business under the Bladez name.

Ray Parker, incorporator for Bladez, said the old Blackwelder Manufacturing Building would receive extensive renovations for the company to operate a skating rink, billiards tables, non-violent video games, and a recording studio.

After hearing several neighboring residents speak against the rezoning of 3.55 acres to allow the business, county commissioners put off a decision, saying more study was needed.

After the meeting, Bladez officials said that many of the questions the commissioners mentioned have already been answered, but they were only given three minutes to present their proposal at the public hearing.

Complaints from neighbors centered on an already existing problm with crime across the road, traffic, noise and lights.

Wayne Ireland of Cana Road spoke for a group of opposing residents, saying that more planning was needed.

"Who's going to use this facility? I'm not," Ireland said. "And I don't think Mocksville residents will either."

Some residents won't go outside their homes at night for fear now, and if the property was rezoned, it could be worse, he said. "This will not work at that corner as it is today."

Alzheimer's keeps us from thanking President Reagan

He is slowly but surely being elevated to one of the best presidents of the century. Even Al Gore — still trying to define himself — has imitated Reagan's style in this year's campaign.

Republicans invoke his name at every occasion, elevating him in the party to the status as the GOP's 20th century Lincoln.

Television documentaries and books now chronicle the unusual success and style that made the Reagan presidency one of the best.

Sadly, Reagan is afflicted with Alzheimer's disease and can't enjoy the warmth and affection he now enjoys with the American public.

His daughter, Maureen, described her father's condition on a television show this week: "He makes it very easy for us," she said. "He goes for walks and does all the things that we encourage him to do. But the disease just gets worse every day. And it is just that it never gets better. So ... when I say (his condition) is not so good, Alzheimer's families know what I'm talking about."

Reagan is 89, but he has been out of the spotlight since he announced his affliction years ago.

There were many things he accomplished. His economic policies set the stage for the booming economy we now enjoy. He set the stage for the fall of the Berlin Wall. His policies were a key factor in the fall of the Soviet Union.

But the biggest success Reagan can claim was the change in attitude of his nation. He inherited a stumbling, bumbling giant of a nation that was losing its confidence. Inflation and unemployment were soaring. Iran had held our embassy hostage for nearly two years. Our military strength was rusted and ineffective. The Republican party still suffered the stain of Nixon. And President Carter had the reputation of a good man but dismal leader.

Reagan changed that.

He invested heavily in our military, and used its power effectively. Reagan had the reputation of a trigger-happy gunslinger, and the Iranians freed the hostages as soon as he was installed as president. He made Americans proud of the nation again.

We may yet find a way to make him the fifth president on Mt. Rushmore.

It was a pivotal presidency.

It's little wonder that Gore would want to imitate Reagan's demeanor and not President Clinton. With his presidency coming to a close, Clinton is groping for some success to claim, rather than sex scandals.

It's a shame we can't embrace Reagan, can't applaud him and give him the thanks he deserves.

Jenkins Sounds Like A Textbook Liberal

To the editor:

I am writing this letter in response to Mr. Jenkins' letter in the Davie Enterprise on July 13. I read this letter and to me he sounded like a textbook liberal. When presented with fact, all a liberal can do is insult and call people names. You sound as if you are a pretty well-educated man, but the downside is that you also come across as downright ignorant of the facts. You may very well take this letter and make fun of me by the sentences I use or a missed capitalization of a word and even my use of the English language; but in no way will you be able to call me ignorant because I have the facts on my side.

...The first subject that I will be taking you to class on is the Civil War. Slavery was an issue but not the main issue. Ihave a hard time believing that over 3 million men fought and over 620,000 men died during the Civil War for or against slavery, especially when the majority of the people in the South did not own slaves. Slavery was legal not only in the South, but also in the North.

Revisionist historians and Northern textbooks and other materials have depicted the War for Southern Independence as one in which righteous Yankees shed their blood to free the slaves from evil Southerners. But historical reality is not so cut-and-dried. On March 2, 1861, the 36th U.S. Congress (minus, of course, the seven seceded states of the Deep South) passed by a two-thirds majority a proposed amendment to the Constitution. Had it been ratified by the requisite number of states before the war intervened and signed by President Lincoln (who looked favorably on it as a way to lure the Southern states back into the Union), the proposed 13th amendment would have prohibited the U.S. government from ever abolishing or interfering with slavery in any state. The proposed 13th amendment reads: "No amendment shall be made to the U.S. Constitution which will authorize or give to Congress the power to abolish or interfere, within any state, with domestic institutions thereof including that of persons held to labor or service by the laws of said state" Note well that this amendment was designed to be unrepealable (i.e. "No amendment shall be made...") This gives the lie to claims that a righteous North went to war in 1861 to free the slaves. If that had been the South's goal, then what better guarantee did it need than an unrepealable amendment to the Constitution to protect slavery as it then existed?

Here's some more facts, Mr. Jenkins. The Constitution of the Confederate States of America, which was adopted on March 11, 1861, in Article 1 Section 9, says: "The importation of Negroes of the African race from any foreign country other than the slaveholding states or territories of the United States of America, is hereby forbidden; and Congress is required to pass such laws as shall effectually prevent the same." Although it did not forbid slavery it did forbid slave trade with Africa. It may not mean a lot to you, Mr. Jenkins, but the fact remains that the Confederate Constitution forbid the slave trade while the U.S. Constitution did not.

Any argument that one can make that the Civil War was about slavery and slavery only can be tossed out.

Couple Thankful For Help

To the editor:

We appreciate this opportunity to express our gratitude for the support we received from citizens in Davie County and surrounding areas since our home was destroyed by fire last April.

The firemen who worked long hours are to be commended for their dedication to such a worthy mission. Fellow citizens went beyond the call of duty to provide food, clothes, shelter, and money we needed. Contractors who worked to remove the rubbish and build our new home exceeded our expectation, and business firms and individuals who made contributions to furnish it displayed the utmost care for our welfare.

We wish we could do more than merely say thinks, but this comes from hearts which have genuine gratitude for what God provided through friends who recognized our need.

On The Trail

Hiker Faces Humidity, More Humidity ... And Dehydration

Are we having fun yet?

But not here on the Appalachian Trail.

Of course, back at home there are no patches of wild blueberries. Back at home there are no encounters with wild turkeys. Back at home, everything is safe and predictable.

Now approaching 800 miles of the 2,100-mile journey, Sherden encounters miserable heat and humidity. Summer weather sets in hard and fast on the trail.

Gone are most of the hikers who started back in March in Georgia. And our Sherden encounters the dreaded enemy of hikers — dehydration.

He has developed a firm belief in angels — trail angels. At desperate times, angels have mysteriously supplied campsites with drinks and food. He encounters one this week as he ran dangerously low of water.

Here's Sherden's report:

June 9 — Troutville, Va. to Fullhardt Knob Shelter — 5 miles

Hot and humid. A fully replenished pack from town weighs too much. In town I ate much too much. It's always uphill going out of town. Left town at 1 p.m.

I decided ahead of time that I was only going 5 miles and that I would quit with a clear conscience.

Melvin roused a turkey hen who ran around him in circles, squawking rather than flying off. She must have had young in the area.

June 10 — Fullhardt Knob Shelter to Boblets Gap Shelter — 14 miles

He puts his oatmeal in cold water at night and his cocoa in cold water at night. In the morning you have a cold but palatable breakfast ready to go.

June 11 — Boblets Gap Shelter to Bryant Ridge Shelter — 12 miles

Hot and humid. H-U-M-I-D!

I was going to do 15 miles today and tent at a water point, but at 5 p.m. I came upon the most beautiful shelter that I have ever seen right next to a stream.

The shelter was dedicated to an architectural student who died in his mid-20s. His university had a contest to design the nicest shelter. The result is a four-level piece of art.

This morning I took a break in what turned out to be a blueberry patch. I spent 15 minutes pigging on my first blueberries of the season. Yummy.

June 12 — Bryant Ridge Shelter to FS road 35 — 15 miles

Hot and humid! Had a 3,000-foot today.

I arrived at my destination unable to go one more step only to discover that there was no water. With quart, I used a pint to cook and gave Melvin a pint to go with his dry dog food, which I had cut in half so that he wouldn't be too thirsty. Breakfast would have to be a couple miles down the trail.

As I was putting away the evening dishes and fighting the black flies who were drawing blood under my socks, under my watch, under my knee brace, etc., a car came roaring down the forest service road and screeched to a dusty halt.

Out jumped a trail angel with cookies, crackers, soda pop, Gatorade and water. This isn't fiction. It's trail magic. Melvin got the rest of his dinner and a quart of water. I drank a quart, and there was breakfast in the morning.

June 13 — FS Road 35 to Johns Shelter — 12 miles

Hard climb in the morning.

June 14 — Johns Hollow Shelter to Beuna Vista, Va. — 10 miles

The morning started with a 2,500-foot climb in 100% humidity. The climb was a steaming cauldron with 50 yard visibility.

By noon, I found blood in my urine. Went to the emergency room in Beuna Vista where the doctor attributed it to extreme exertion. He said that I was the second thru hiker in two days with this and that every marathon runner eventually gets it. Diagnosis: Severe dehydration.

A 4 p.m. a major thunderstorm came through, breaking the oppressive humidity.

June 15 — Buena Vista, Va. to Brown Mtn Creek Shelter — 8 miles

Some days you get the bear. Some days the bear gets you. Yesterday, the bear got me. Today was a half day with a pint of water every hour. I've got religion now.

Because of heavy rain, I slept in the shelter. The No Seeums dined on me, making for a lousy night's sleep.

The heat and humidity have returned.

June 16 - Brown Mtn. Creek Shelter to Seely Woodword Shelter - 15 miles

The morning started with an unrelenting 3,000-foot climb followed by a 1,000-foot climb. The humidity was so thick that I couldn't see Melvin ahead of me through the steam.

I'm the only one at the shelter tonight. Two months ago we sometimes had 20-30 through-hikers at a shelter. Only one in 10 actually makes it. The big party at Damascus for Trail Days was a strong draw. Then, apparently, it was off to the bus station.

June 17 — Seely Woodward Shelter to Harper Creek Shelter — 15 miles

Two miles from camp we were hit with a torrential rain soaking everything to the bone. It felt good after a week of being hot and sticky.

The temperature is a little cooler today.

Yesterday's climb is the last of this magnitude until Killington, Vt., where it will be neither hot nor humid.

June 18 — Harper Creek Shelter to Laurel Springs Gap — 13 miles

Heavy rains.

Writer Sick And Tired Of Stereotyping Of Southern People

This was called The Emancipation Proclamation. This proclamation did not apply to slaves in border states fighting on the side of the Union; nor did it affect slaves in Southern areas already under Union control; nor did it affect any Northern State. This document came two years after the beginning of the Civil War.

Here's another fact, Mr. Jenkins. Abraham Lincoln was actually a white supremacist. So the Emancipation Proclamation sounds like a politician trying to make an issue after already fighting for two years.

Mr. Jenkins, the fact remains that the War for Southern Independence was not fought over slavery and that will indeed be a bitter pill to swallow for those who demonize the South and her honorable symbols. But truth is truth. What the South fought for was simply the right to govern its own affairs free from an intrusive central government in Washington, D.C. That fight, thank God, is still on.

Here's another fact, Mr. Jenkins. The 13th amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which abolished slavery, was ratified on Dec. 18, 1865. Did you know that many Southern States ratified this amendment long before many Northern States did?

To tell you the truth, Mr. Jenkins, I am sick and tired of people like you, the media, and Hollywood who have stereotyped the people of the South. A major theme of the American media and popular culture is ridicule and contempt for everything Southern. A major theme of American historical writing is the portrayal of the South as the unique repository of evil in a society that is otherwise shining and pure. A severely condensed but essentially accurate interpretation of American history could be stated thusly: those who want to be left alone to pursue their destiny, restrained only by tradition and religion; and those whose identity revolves around compelling others to submit to their own manufactured vision of the good society.

Southerners have less reason to be loyal to the collective enterprise of the United States than does any group of citizens. The South was invaded, laid to waste, and conquered when it tried to uphold the original and correct understanding of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It took 22 million Northerners with all of their industrial might four years of the bloodiest warfare in American history and the most unparalleled terrorism against civilians, to subdue five million Southerners - all followed by the horror of Reconstruction. And still after all of this, the South is larger and more salient in population, territory, historical importance, distinctive folkways, music, and literature than many separate nations of the earth. Were the South independent today, it would be the fourth or fifth largest economy in the world.

Now, Mr. Jenkins, let me take you to class on another subject, that of Martin Luther King Jr. But before I begin, let me say once more that I do not deal in hearsay, but only the facts. So before anyone calls me a racist, please check the information. You said in your letter and I quote: "Anyone who speaks ill of the noble work of Martin Luther King Jr. needs prayer and redemption." Well, Mr. Jenkins, in our day and time it is perfectly okay to trash our founding fathers, such great men as George Washington (the father of our country), and Thomas Jefferson (author of the Declaration of Independence) all because they once owned slaves. But to say anything bad about MLK is a sin. This is going to be another hard pill to swallow, but the truth is the truth.

MLK is remembered for his peaceful civil rights protest, battling segregation in Birmingham, Ala. (1963), "I Have a Dream" speech in Washington, D.C. (1963), and marching for voting rights in Selma, Ala. (1965). How many people know that he plagiarized his way to a Divinity Doctorate at Boston University (fact)? He also had ties to communist and communist organizations (which President Kennedy warned him about). During the years of 1965-1968 he called for "radical change in the structure of our society" to redistribute wealth and power (sounds like liberal philosophy to me). By 1967 King called the United States "the greatest purveyor of violence in the world today." You haven't heard the "Beyond Vietnam" speech on network news retrospectives, but the national news media heard it loud and clear in 1967 - and loudly denounced it. The Washington Post patronized and I quote: "King has diminished his usefulness to his cause, his country, and his people." He not only plagiarized, associated with communists, but also was an adulterer. President Lyndon B. Johnson (liberal Democrat) even went as far as to call MLK a "hypocrite preacher." Like I said, only the facts. But don't take my word for it, check it out for yourself. You can find it in the congressional record on Oct. 3, 1983; it details the communist affiliations of King.

Let me throw you another curve. On Jan. 31, 1977, U.S. District Court Judge John Lewis Smith issued a court order that sealed the FBI files, recorded tapes and transcripts from the FBI's surveillance of King between 1963-1968, for 50 years. So call me what you want, but in 2027, the truth will come out.

One last thing the NAACP and people of Mr. Jenkins' caliber spend too much time trying to rid the South of the Confederate flag, its symbols and everything honorable about our heritage, when they should be concentrating on the breakdown of the African-American family, drugs, crime, and the AIDs epidemic spreading throughout their race. If you are to survive as a people, you need to look at your culture first instead of trying to purge the South of its symbols and heritage. I personally think that the earlier should be of more concern than the latter.

I am not a racist or a bigot or someone who hates my country. I served my country in the U.S. Marines and in combat for this country. I love my country and tears come to my eyes every time I hear the Star Spangled Banner. I know that we have our problems here in the good ole USA, but believe me, I have traveled all over the globe and there is no other country better. The good of this country far outweighs the bad. But during these days of political correctness and demonizing all that is good with this country, it is hard to find the truth unless you search for it.

I know that this letter may have left a sour taste in some peoples' mouths, but the first amendment gives me the right to say whatever I want even if it may offend some. Remember that the U.S. Constitution does not guarantee you the right to not be offended.

Christians Should Convey His Love

To the editor:

I wish to address this letter to Mr. Donald Ray Jenkins. While I am certain my grammar and education fall short of his and my vocabulary isn't as large, I wanted to bring some things to his attention. I only read your letter written in response to Myers, Robbins, and Sidden, so I know nothing of your first letter, nor have I read their responses to it. What I wish to address doesn't relate at all to the issues at the heart of the debate. I was, quite simply, shocked by how open you were at your attempts to humiliate and belittle these three, and yet quote the Bible to support your remarks and observations.

I am not a minister, in fact, I am newly reborn. I was baptized in 1997 and still have much to learn about His Word, but what I have learned is that Jesus taught us to love and it is God's place to judge and punish.

"My dear brothers and sisters, be quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to get angry. Your anger can never make things right in God's sight." James 1:19-20(NLT).

"And 'don't sin by letting anger gain control over you.' Don't let the sun go down while you are still angry, for anger gives a mighty foothold to the devil." Ephesians 4:26-27(NLT).

"But I say love your enemies! Pray for those who persecute you! In that way, you will be acting as true children of your Father in Heaven. For He gives His sunlight to both the evil and the good, and He sends rain on the just and the unjust, too." Mathew 5:44-45(NLT):

"But I say, if you are angry with someone, you are subject to judgement! If you call someone an idiot, you are in danger of being brought before the high council. And if you curse someone, you are in danger of the fires of hell." Mathew 5:22(NLT).

"Dear friends, since God loved us that much, we surely ought to love each other. No one has ever seen God. But if we love each other, God lives in us, and His love has been brought to full expression through us." I John 4:12(NLT).

It is not my intent to shed an unfavorable light upon you, I also get angry and speak out when I feel called to defend my causes from time to time. My concern lies when we, as Christians, use the Bible to back those causes or arguments, that we remember we are representing our Father in Heaven to those who may be lost. Are we conveying His love?

Don't Get Burned!

You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:

- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:

- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

Cooleemee To Celebrate First River Daze Saturday

"However, this is not the end of the story. The spirit of Blinky lives on, fighting to save The Bullhole for generations to come."

The puppet show includes the naming of the Bullhole and of Cooleemee. Blinky even runs into Daniel Boone.

John Bennes, a local actor who appears in the new movie "The Patriot," did the voices for the characters in the show. Local children have been practicing for weeks handling the puppets.

The puppet show ends with Blinky's Indian friend saying: "Blinky loved his home here at Bullhole. Blinky would have done anything to stop Bullhole from going dry. But now, we human beings, I say it now our duty to carry on as caretakers of this most beautiful spot. We owe that to Blinky in the name of the Great Spirit in The Sky."

There is a tube race planned for 3 p.m. Saturday from the wildlife access (Junction) to the dam. Cash prizes will be awarded. Pre-register at Davie Discount Drugs or the Zachary House.

There will also be rubber duck races at 6 p.m. for cash prizes. Buy ducks $5 or baby ducks $2 at the Zachary House or at the Davie Chamber of Commerce.

A fish fry will be held from 6-8 p.m., with plates of catfish, fries, slaw, hushpuppies and homemade cake going for $7.50. Visitors are asked to bring their own lawn chairs.

Skating Rink Plans Draw Criticism From Neighbors

Ruth Richardson said the corner has been trouble for law enforcement for years. "My horror is ... you turn loose 200 young teenagers ... and it's open season for drug dealers."

"I remember when it was a good community and I've seen it go down," said Carman Smith. The developers' intentions appear to be good, but the problems in the area may be too great to overcome, he said. "I fear this will create a hangout."

"I applaud somebody trying to get something for the young people, but this is not the place for it," said Jimmie Caudle. Turning down the proposal would be doing the developers a favor, he said.

Steve Paccitto said allowing the rezoning would be putting a burden on the people who have lived in the area the longest. "It's very unfair. The only ones who can protect the people in this neighborhood is you."

Sam Hall asked the commissioners a question. "Would you send your kids or grandkids to that place?"

Dan Desnoyers, who has operated a business in the building owned by the Blackwelder family for several years, said he has not had a problem with residents from across the road.

The building is a good resource for the county, and it needs repairing, Desnoyers said. "This may be the last best chance for anyone to save that building."

In an interview the next day, Parker, Tim Bullins, and Lisa Carico, president of Bladez, said they wouldn't allow the type of problems the residents fear.

"We're trying to put in a family oriented complex," Parker said. They envision a place where parents and children could go, and all have choices for entertainment. They wouldn't allow young children to enter without an accompanying adult.

Bullins pointed out that Bladez is a business. They don't want people "hanging out," they want ones who will spend money.

He plans to operate a recording studio, and record individuals and local bands playing for teen events.

Carico said she and her husband have been knocking the idea around for a couple of years after finding there's not much entertainment opportunities for families in Davie County. The Blackwelder building is the only one they've found with an open span that would allow for a skating rink.

If approved, Parker said it would take 3-4 months for the construction company to complete extensive repairs and renovations.

"Bladez is an effort to try to rebuild the family fun concept," Parker said.

The company is asking the county to rezone the proprty from residential-agricultural to highway business special use.

The county planning board recommended approval of the rezoning, with several stipulations.

One of those stipulations could make the business cost prohibitive, Parker said, that of requiring a security guard to be on hand at all hours. That would cost nearly $1,200 a week at the going rate for an off-duty Davie Sheriff's Department deputy.

The other was that the business close at 6 p.m. on Sundays. They would like to stay open until 9.

Parker said he understands the neighbors concern about crime, but that is a different issue. The crime neighbors speak of is already there and needs to be addressed.

"Proposing that a not-yet-existing skating rink is the cause of an existing problem seems very foolish," he said.

County Commissioner Michael Allen agreed that there's not a lot of recreation opportunities for young people, but backed away from approving the Bladez request because of "unanswered questions."

He said the location is the biggest problem, and he questioned staying open until 11 p.m. on weeknights, which wouldn't be appropriate for youth, he said. Security is another question.

Carl Boon, who made the motion to table the issue, agreed, adding that the neighborhood problems should be first addressed. That motion passed on a 4-1 vote, with Allen voting no, saying the matter should go back to the planning board for further study.

Cornatzer School Should Open For Students

When the basketball goals arrived, they had been built incorrectly and had to be remade. The new ones now hang in the gym. Because of other work being delayed in the gym, the floor installation was delayed and been rescheduled.

"I don't anticipate the gym being ready by the open of school," stated Dub Potts, director of auxiliary services. He was quick to point out, however, that the field behind the school was sowed last year, so there is a grassy area for the students to use until the gym is ready.

The other area if concern is the kitchen.

The dishwashing equipment was an integral part of equipping the kitchen. Progress in the kitchen is at a standstill until it is installed. As of July 3, the vendor said it would be at least 10 days before it was delivered. To date, no dishwasher has arrived. Once it is delivered, it will take another 10 days to finish installing all the kitchen equipment and have it inspected.

While the kitchen area cannot be used to prepare food, the cafeteria area will be available for the students during lunch. During the first seven days of school at Cornatzer, bag lunches will be brought to the school and served to students by the cafeteria staff. Those seven days of "bag lunches" will include two pizza days and a Chick-Fil-A lunch, and milk will be available. Breakfast will be served beginning Monday, Aug. 7, and will include child favorites like Pop Tarts and breakfast breads that don't require heating.

At this time, the board believes that barring any unforeseen problems, Cornatzer Elementary will receive its certificate of occupancy before July 26, the date staff are scheduled to come in and organize their classrooms and offices.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Susan Sykes
Chiropractic Physician

Improving Our Body Through Chiropractic

Sports and rigorous exercises are becoming increasingly popular for building body strength and endurance. Through casual basketball games, regular morning runs or daily bicycle workouts, millions of men and women are training their muscles, tendons and joints to be more efficient. In fact, through exercise, we enhance all of our body's capabilities. For example, an avid swimmer has a larger than normal lung capacity and a jogger has stronger and more agile legs.

However, sometimes we push our bodies too hard. During sporting events, muscles may cramp, joints swell and nerves become pinched. Such conditions can severely hinder performance on the field, court or mat, as well as cause severe pain. Chiropractors, many of whom specialize in sports chiropractic, are professionally trained to correct any subluxation of the spine and help your body heal itself. By making spinal adjustments, they can reduce the stress and tension you have put on your body frame. In turn, they help your body perform at its optimum level in or out of the game. What kind of workouts will build your body without causing harm? Working with your chiropractor, you can develop a realistic yet satisfying exercise or sports routine that keeps you in the best of shape all year round.

Mocksville-Davie Pounds Kannapolis In Game 3

By Jack LeFaivre
Special to the Enterprise

It's as true today as in the days of Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove.

Momentum in baseball is tomorrow's starting pitcher.

Kannapolis entered Friday night's game four reeling from back-to-back losses of 14 to 1 and 12 to 2 as Mocksville-Davie took a 2 games to 1 lead in the best-of-five series.

Not to worry.

Bobby Helms, the slender righthander who had won key games against Lexington and Eastern Randolph in previous series victories, was ready. Pitching on just two days rest, Helms turned in a complete game 10-6 victory to even the series and force a decisive fifth game at Rich Park.

"Bobby pitched a great game," said Kannapolis coach Joe Hubbard. "He was ready to pitch. He wanted the ball." Mixing a slider and changeup with his fast ball, Helms held Mocksville hitless until the fourth inning, by which time his teammates had taken command and built a comfortable lead.

Allen settled down to retire 7 straight batters before his control betrayed him again. With one out in the 3rd, Gurley singled to right, moved to second on a walk to cleanup batter Chad Tuttle, then scored on a pair of passed balls to make it a 3-0 game.

And in the fourth, more problems.

After a pair of one out singles by John Goodman and Harris, Allen walked Emerson and with the bases loaded hit Gurley with a pitch to force in a fourth run and give Kannapolis a lead that would never be seriously threatened.

Helms, meanwhile, continued to sail along, allowing only two runners beyond first base until the fifth inning. Kevin Shuping led off the Mocksville fifth with a base on balls and Willie Infante lined a hit off the fence in rightfield. But Infante was out trying to stretch his hit on a perfect relay from Harris to second baseman Steve Swann to shortstop John Goodman, breaking the back of a possible big inning that would have made the game close again.

Kannapolis leftfielder Dusty Carmichael, who had missed Games 2 and 3 to attend college orientation, made it a 6-1 game with a long 2-run homer to left in the last of the fifth and Helms had all the margin he would need.

Mocksville had just one opportunity to get back in the game... and they nearly did. Chris Brake singled and Shuping doubled to start the seventh... and both scored on a triple by leadoff man Zach Greene, cutting the Kannapolis lead to 6-3. But Helms bore down, retiring Skipp Crider on an RBI groundout that made it 6 to 4 and getting Drew Ridenhour on a pop to second.

That was as close as Post 174 would get.

Andrew Daywalt, who relived Allen in the 5th, retired 9 of 10 batters through the seventh and nearly escaped the 8th. After loading the bases with no one out, he struck out Gurley and retired Tuttle, but Helms ripped a two-out single and Ryan Kraft added a two-run double for a 10-4 lead... and game five was a certainty.

"Mocksville is a great hitting team," said Helms. "I knew I had to hit my spots or they can murder you."

Kannapolis Rallies From 2-1 Deficit To Beat Mocksville

By Jack LeFaivre
Special to the Enterprise

Underdog Kannapolis rallied from behind with another ninth inning miracle to defeat Mocksville 11 to 8 and advance to the area 3 championship series against Rowan County.

The overachieving 9th-seed from the Towel City, which earlier won a 5-game series over Lexington and then dispatched No. 1 seed Eastern Randolph in 4 games, scored four runs in the top of the 9th at Rich Park just four nights after their 5-run 9th had pulled out game one. In between they had lost games two and three by a combined score of 26 to 3.

"I give all the credit to these kids," said Kannapolis coach Joe Hubbard. "They played awfully hard. There was a lot of emotion out on that field, but they were able to keep themselves under control."

Kannapolis won by doing what underdogs in all sports have to do. They stayed close, hung around early in the game when Mocksville had chances to take a big lead, then took advantage of Mocksville mistakes and produced big hits at the most opportune times.

Trailing 1-0 in the second, Mocksville tied the game on Chris Brake's double to right then had the bases loaded with no one out after Kevin Shuping was hit with a pitch by Kannapolis starter Julian Bonds. Third baseman Nate Amerson then booted Willie Infante's grounder allowing a second run to score, but Brake was thrown out at home by leftfielder Matt Harris for the first out of the inning - and after Zach Greene's bunt single reloaded the bases, Bonds got Skipp Crider to ground into a doubleplay to end the threat.

Instead of a big lead, Mocksville had to settle for a 2-1 margin and that was quickly erased with catcher Zach Gurley lofted a two-out homer to left to tie the game in the top of the third.

Steve LeFaivre's one-out double triggered a 3-run third for a 5-2 lead but Kannapolis chipped away when Amerson's blooper to right scored Steve Swann in the fifth to make a close again at 5 to 3.

Through five innings Crider was pitching well and should have gotten through the sixth innings unscathed. But with two outs, Ryan Craft hit a routine grounder to Drew Ridenhour at third. Ridenhour chose to throw to second for the force but Andrew Daywalt was off the bag. Crider then walked Swan to load the bases and 15-year-old freshman Jonathan Goodman, hitting less that .150, belted a three-run double to center for a 6-5 Kannapolis lead.

Adam Russell, who replaced starter Bonds in the fourth, then proceeded to give the lead back to Mocksville. With Crider and Ridenhour on base he threw Daywalt's bunt attempt into the leftfield bullpen area, allowing both runners to score. But again, with disaster looming, Russell escaped, striking out Matt Dellacona and Brake.

Kannapolis quickly re-tied the game in the seventh inning on Tuttle's infield single off reliever Cody Wright and the game moved into the nail-biting final innings as Wright matched Russell pitch-for-pitch and then some. The 16-year-old fireballer struck out two batters to strand a runner in scoring position in the seventh... then fanned the side in the top of the eighth, putting Mocksville one run from what seemed a certain victory.

But it wasn't to be. Russell refused to buckle, stranding LeFaivre at third in the bottom of the eighth following a two-out single, steal and wild pitch by retiring Daywalt on a fly to center.

And the ninth, as it did throughout the series, belonged one way or another to Kannapolis. With Wright still firing hard, Gurley popped to shallow right to open the inning, but the ball popped out of Daywalt's glove. One out later, Bobby Helms singled to left and Wright faced Dusty Carmichael, whom he had fanned in the seventh. Straining with every pitch, Wright threw one too many, collapsing in pain between the mound and first base after hitting Carmichael to load the bases.

Following a 10-minute delay, Erik Walker replaced Wright, who was rushed to the hospital emergency room. Craft, whose grand-slam won

Mars Hill College Gets 'Steal' With Davie's Zeke Earle

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Zeke Earle had no trouble convincing Mars Hill that he has college-football credentials.

The Mount Tabor tape did it for him.

Davie High coach Doug Illing sent the film featuring one of the most dominating individual performances ever seen (24 tackles and two blocked kicks), and Mars Hill called back and told Earle not to bother coming up for a visit, that they'd seen all they needed.

"I didn't have to try out or anything," said Earle, who received a virtual full scholarship to the $18,000 tuition school. "They called and asked me if I had any friends that would go to a tryout thing, but they said I didn't have to worry about it."

Mars Hills, a Division-II school in the South Atlantic Conference, wasn't about to blow this opportunity. With Earle playing a starring role at free safety for last year's 10-3 War Eagles, they beat West Forsyth for just the second time in 12 years, knocked off Mount Tabor for the first time since 1991 and captured their third conference championship in 44 years, and first since 1984.

Earle averaged 13.3 yards on 13 carries as an emergency tailback, averaged 35.5 yards on 44 punts, feasted on the kickoff team and made 113 tackles to earn first-team all-state at safety, Davie's first such selection since Billy Blackwelder and the Jacobs brothers (Chris and Doug) in the 1980s.

Earle

Mike Herndon, Davie's linebackers coach, said the Lions should stop by the sheriff's office and turn themselves in, because snatching Earle is a flat-out steal.

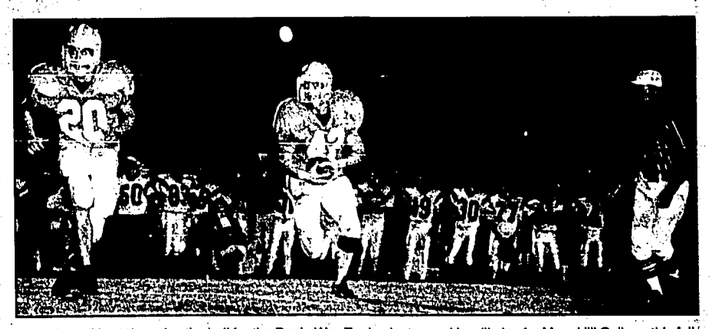
"I think he's a Division-I player," Herndon said of Earle, a 5-11, 195-pounder who runs the 40-yard dash in 4.5 seconds. "He's a blue-chip player, there's not a doubt. I would say definitely he is one of their top recruits. Heck, he was an all-state player. How many times does a Division-II team get an all-state player?

"I can't say he's the best (I've coached) because there's been a bunch of them, but he is one of the best. He's up there in the top three or four, I know that."

Everybody knows that, including Mars Hill defensive coordinator Kevin Barnett, who wore out the remote's remind button during Earle's Mount Tabor masterpiece. Earle's spectacular qualities were distinctively epitomized in a mere hour. He runs like he's got dynamite in his britches, he's as agile as a stray cat, he's stronger than thunder, he attacks ball carriers like a snarling dog fighting for a trash can, and he would run through Hades in a gasoline suit if that's what it takes to win.

"The thing that impresses me about him is he just plays extremely hard," said Barnett, also the assistant head coach. "You just don't find too many high school kids that play that hard. He's very explosive.

"We feel real fortunate that he's coming.



Zeke Earle (No. 42) carries the ball for the Davie War Eagles last year. He will play for Mars Hill College this fall.

I'm looking forward to working with him, I can tell you that. Once he gets here and gets in the secondary (at either free or strong safety), then you'll see really the quality of player he is. He is a real good player, but I think he is even going to be a better college football player, because he's so aggressive and real receptive to learning."

Devore Holman, Davie's defensive line coach, said Earle is so fearless that he'd bear hunt with a switch, and Herndon agrees that Earle is a classic model of a football player.

"He's got savvy for the game, he's a competitor, he's a headhunter and he's got a football body," Herndon said. "He doesn't have an ounce of fat on him, it's all muscle. He's like an ol' bull. Once he gets going, he brings a lot with him."

Beyond all those high marks, he's got a booming personality.

"You're not going to find many kids that are as fun to be around as Zeke," Herndon said. "He enjoys playing football and he's just a terrific kid."

He's got a terrific shot at starting as a freshman, and that's not because the Lions are down and rebuilding. They were 7-4 last year, third in the SAC.

"It's totally up to him," Barnett said, "because we don't really have a starter coming out of the spring at either strong safety or free safety. So he will be given an opportunity, and we feel like we're going to be a little bit better this coming season."

Notes: Mars Hill doesn't hand out $17,300 football scholarships to just anyone. "I'm not sure how many they give out, but it's not many," said Earle, who turned down Wingate's offer. "That's a bunch of money they're giving me to play football."

Three other 1999 Davie players plan to walk on – Adam Boger and Bradford Ivey at Western Carolina and Michael Burton at Mars Hill.

Baseball Camp

Several Davie County youngsters learned some fundamentals of baseball at a camp last week at Mando Field at Rich Park. Among the coaches and teachers were Coach Jerry Walser from Asheboro, Davie High Coaches mike Herndon and Todd Bumgarner, Glenn High Coach and former Mocksville-Davie Legion Coach Dale Ijames, Mocksville-Davie Legion player Andrew Daywalt and Daniel Hollifield from the Davie High team.

the opening game, singled through a drawn-in infield for two runs and a 9-7 lead... then Swann and Harris added run-scoring singles for insurance.

Russell needed those extra runs.

Fighting fatigue and wildness he walked Dellacona and gave up a one-out hit to pitcher Walker. One pitch from loading the bases he retired Infante on a 3-2 groundout but Greene, as he did all season, battled in the clutch and produced a looping double to left to make it 11 to 8.

Exit Russell Enter closer Nick Cadolino.

With Crider at the plate representing the tying run and Ridenhour looming in the on-deck circle, he went to a three ball two strike count.. then finished it with a called third strike that had the small but boisterous Kannapolis fans streaming toward the field before their unlikely heroes could reach the dugout.

It was a gut wrenching end to a 24 and 10 season for a Mocksville team that bounced back from a 9 and 21 disaster a year ago.

"It's tough to see it end like that," said coach Mike Lovelace. "We were on a mission after last year, but we just fell a little short. This has been a great group, one of the closest I've ever been around. It's tough to see a teammate go down like Cody did and still battle back at the end. But they did. Kannapolis just beat us tonight."

Notes: Mocksville loses a lot of talent. Greene, Crider, Ridenhour, LeFaivre, Dellacona, Brake and Shuping all age out. Daywalt, Infante, pitching stars Wright and Walker return along with Travis Allen.

Greene, whose only season was a remarkable success, will play at Surry Community College. Ridenhour will head to Western Carolina to continue his career in Cullowhee, LeFaivre will play at Wake Forest and Brake will catch for UNC-Charlotte. Crider will attend UNC-Wilmington, where Shuping returns for a second year and Dellacona is slated to attend Augusta College in Georgia.

Mocksville Falls In Finals

"I told our guys to prepare for a 5-game series," said Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace. "They came back and showed what they have. They think they can play with us now. It's a one-game championship series so we'll see how our guys do."

Notes: Mocksville is now 8 and 3 in three playoff series vs Montgomery County, Asheboro and Kannapolis... Brake is 16-for-36 with 20 runs batted in during the post-season... Greene's triple was his third on the playoffs... Steve LeFaivre went 0-3 with two bases on balls, ending a 13-game hitting streak... Ridenhour's ninth inning double extended his streak to 8 games... Crider, victimized by Ryan Kraft's grand-slam in the 9th inning of game one, will get the start in game five. The winner of the series will face Rowan County for the area 3 championship beginning July 17th in Salisbury.

9th-Inning Grand Slam Gives Kannapolis Game One Win

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

One swing by Kannapolis' Ryan Craft ruined Skipp Crider's eight innings of dominance.

The seventh-place batter smashed a grandslam in the top of the ninth inning to lift No. 9 Kannapolis to an improbable 6-5 victory July 11 in Game One of the Area III semifinals at Mando Field.

As shocking as Craft's crusher was for casual American Legion baseball fans, the stirring rally from a 5-1 deficit was nothing unusual for Kannapolis fans, who have been intoxicated by a Cinderella run that includes upsets over eighth-seeded Lexington and No. 1 Eastern Randolph.

"Our team won't give up," Craft said after Kannapolis (19-11) stole a 1-0 lead against No. 4 Mocksville (22-8) in the best-of-five series. "Everybody says we're supposed to be down in every series, but we just keep coming through and won't give up."

Mocksville appeared to be a lock in the ninth, a 5-1 lead feeling more like 15-1 because of Crider, who strolled to the mound with a three-hitter and a 9-1 record within sniffing distance.

But the cool lefty with the wide assortment of baffling offspeed pitches imploded without warning. After an error that seemed like an afterthought, Crider hit a batter and walked two, forcing in a run to make it 5-2. Then after jumping ahead of Craft 0-2, Craft hung tough before creaming the grandslam to left-center.

Just like that it was 6-5.

"I don't know what to say," Kannapolis coach Joe Hubbard said. "We're just playing hard. (Crider) had us baffled. He did the same thing up here (in the regular season), changing speeds well and getting us to fish for pitches. He did a great job. He may have gotten a little tired, I don't know."

Mocksville couldn't pick up its head in the bottom of the ninth as two relievers disarmed a team averaging 10 runs down the stretch. Steve LeFaivre's sixth-inning single was the last hit for Mocksville – which had won 17 of 20 and was swinging like the '27 Yankees while steamrolling to the semifinals – as Brandon Russell shut down Mocksville in the seventh and eighth and Nick Cadolino fanned two in a perfect ninth to offset horse Bobby Helms' early exit.

"They stole one from us," Lovelace said. "The first game of a series is the most important. We're going to handle something that we haven't handled in our first two series. We're down in the series.

"This is why you never want to put up equipment, pick up baseballs or do anything like that until you get those final outs. The game is 27 outs."

Mocksville let Helms, the only Kannapolis pitcher with a big reputation, off the hook in the early stages, stranding eight runners through four despite four Helms walks.

"We dodged a whole lot of bullets early," Hubbard said. "Bobby didn't have his best stuff, but he battled hard and got out of a lot of jams that kept us in the game."

Drew Ridenhour, who doubled and singled his first two trips, led off the Mocksville fifth with his seventh homer. Moments later, Andrew Daywalt singled, stole second, moved to third on a fly out and scored on a passed ball for a 2-0 lead.

Mocksville made it 5-0 in the sixth, with Kevin Shuping connecting for his third homer and Zach Greene and Crider coming around after reaching on fielding errors. Five runs seemed like plenty for Crider, who had allowed a bloop hit through six.

Losing the shutout in the seventh didn't seem significant when Crider, who hurled a complete-game three-hitter in Mocksville's 13-1 pasting of Kannapolis on June 3, got through the eighth unscathed.

But Kannapolis had other ideas, rising from the dead while displaying guts and heart that have become its signature.

"We had our chances early and it came back to haunt us at the end," Lovelace said. "We're going to find out how good we really are and if we can bounce back from something like this.

"Skipp was sharp again. When you only give up five hits, you expect to win. But they kept battling and battling, and that's how they've been winning. They're a nine seed, but still you cannot take anyone lightly."

Notes: Ridenhour is 9-for-12 with nine RBIs in three games against Kannapolis. ... Shuping had two hits, Greene tripled and LeFaivre reached on three of five plate appearances. ... Infante, who has played short all year, moved to second because of an injured wrist suffered in the final inning of the previous series. Daywalt, a two-year shortstop for Davie County, made a smooth transition. "Willie's probably 70-75 percent, but he's a battler," Lovelace said.

Mocksville Gets Redemption In Second Game

Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

One of the good things about playing American Legion baseball is that if you lose one night, you get the opportunity to bounce back and redeem yourself the next night.

Mocksville-Davie never craved the heavy schedule more than July 12, one night after absorbing the nastiest loss imaginable, the 5-1 lead that dissipated in a New York second when Ryan Craft drilled a ninth-inning grandslam off Skipp Crider for a miraculous 6-5 win.

Shellshocked after the first game of the best-of-five Area III semifinal series, Crider and Co. trudged to the parking lot with their heads down, shoulders slumping and legs dragging. No words could ease the pain of flat out giving one away.

"I was feeling good and then I ran out of juice," said Crider, who was three outs from his ninth win. "That was by far the toughest loss. I didn't get any sleep that night. I felt horrible."

Mocksville got no sleep before Game Two, but unfortunately for Kannapolis, it got mad. Crider sent an immediate message, socking the first pitch he saw in the top of the first inning over the right-field fence for a two-run homer that triggered a 14-1 wipeout that buffed Mocksville's tarnished psyche.

"I was wanting a little revenge the next game," Crider said after his four-seeded team (23-8) emphatically evened the series at No. 9 Kannapolis (19-12). "I was swinging for the fence, I wanted a little payback."

"I probably only slept three hours the night before, wondering how we were going to respond," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "We couldn't wait to get back on the field – I'm glad it didn't rain – and they really got focussed tonight. We're back to where we were."

Mocksville methodically mounted a substantial lead, scoring two in the third, two in the fourth and one in the seventh to stake starter Cody Wright to a 7-1 cushion.

Drew Ridenhour's two-run single made it 4-0, Crider's double made it 6-0 and doubles by Steve LeFaivre and Matt Dellacona made it 7-1.

"It was amazing the way that happened," Ridenhour, who was 3-for-6, said of the bitter loss that pumped Mocksville's adrenaline for Game Two. "I like being on the end we were always on in high school. That was tough, especially being the first game of a big series like it is. We can't underestimate them – they showed that – and we had to prove to them that we are the better team because we are a better team."

Wright demonstrated he's an infinitely better pitcher than his previous performance, a 3 2/3 outing against Asheboro in which he allowed four hits, five runs and five walks.

He tossed a complete-game five-hitter, struck out eight and walked one. Kannapolis' lone run was unearned as Wright ran his record to 7-2.

"My arm really felt good," he said. "It had been about two weeks since I'd pitched, and I needed that rest. I felt 10 times better.

"Everybody was wanting to win, and I think that's one of the best games I've had in a long time."

Wright capped his fourth complete game with flair, fanning the side in nine pitches and moving into a tie with Lovelace and Chad Triplette for fifth in single-season victories.

"He looked a whole lot better," Lovelace said. "He had everything working again, and he got better as the game went on. That's a good sign for us."

Matt Dellacona, who doubled twice and drove in three runs, matched Ridenhour with three hits, and Crider, Chris Brake and Zach Greene added two hits apiece.

The biggest blow came in a seven-run ninth. With a 10-1 lead, Lovelace gave Greene the green light at 3-0. The gritty, gutty leadoff man responded with an unexpected grandslam, his first homer in 135 at-bats.

"Normally I wouldn't give a lead-off man green light 3-0 and he looked at me twice to make sure," Lovelace said of Greene, who has a .377 average, 21 stolen bases and at least a hit in 30 of 31 games. "That probably caps off everything that he could possibly do this summer. This has been a dream season for him, I would guess. He's done about everything."

Notes: At 21, Greene needs seven steals to reach Nate Newsome's record set in 1989. Next up are Allan Chapman's 26 in '91 and Dedric Dobson's 27 in '92. "I'm looking forward to see if he can get the stolen-base record," Lovelace said. ... Ridenhour is 12-for-18 with 11 RBIs in five games against Kannapolis. "They throw the right pitches to me, I guess. I don't know what it is," he said. "Once you get to hitting somebody, it's good to see them coming."

Extra Innings: Team Earns Comparison To '89 Squad

• A look at this year's stat sheet brings back memories of the glory years, the 1989-91 teams that featured a southpaw pitcher named Mike Lovelace and compiled a 90-38 record, the greatest three-year stretch in Mocksville-Davie American Legion baseball history.

"I think about how good those teams were back then," said Lovelace, Mocksville's second-year coach. "Offensively we had some great hitters, and I think this team has the same making."

That's quite an assessment. After all, in 1989 Mocksville won the Southern Division, Area III and Western State championships and finished second in the state at 37-15. In 1990 it finished second in the division behind Rowan County, at 25-13, but smacked 80 doubles and 80 homers. And in 1991 it claimed the Southern Division regular season and averaged a record 10.6 runs.

The 2000 crew (24-8 through July 13) has many similar traits. Seven regulars are hitting .336 or better, Zach Greene has hit in 31 of 32 games and stolen 22 bases, bash brothers Drew Ridenhour and Steve LeFaivre have combined for 15 homers, 74 RBIs and a .384 average, and Matt Dellacona and Chris Brake have combined for six homers, 74 RBIs and a .349 average – and those are the sixth and seventh men in a lineup that's hitting .332.

Mocksville, which was one win from advancing to the nine-team state tournament heading into Game Four of the Area III semifinals at Kannapolis July 14, has posted nine blowout wins (10 runs or more), it won at perennial elitist Rowan County for the first time in seven years and it stopped a slide that saw Mocksville go 71-76 from 1995-99.

"We don't hit as many home runs (compared to the glory years), but these guys come up with big hits and we hit for more of an average," Lovelace said. "I mean, our on-base percentage is over .500 and that's just unheard-of at any level. At T-ball level you may see that. Whenever you're talking about Legion and one out of every two guys get on, you know that something good is going to happen. Also, we have 20 or 30 more walks than strikeouts, and you don't see many teams with that either. We have great discipline."

Lovelace put down the scorebook and revealed the sentimental rewards the summer has brought.

"This is probably the best bunch I've been around in a long time," he said. "I could take each one of them home with me every night because they're such a close group. They give me 110 percent every time they hit the field."

Wife Penny wouldn't go for a team sleep-over, but she loves spending every night at the park.

"She's gotten attached to them," the husband said. "She's been every night. Every road trip she makes banana pudding or some kind of snack for us. The kids like that and she enjoys being here. I'm fortunate to have one that's that way."

• Among the most compelling developments of the year has been Ridenhour's defensive evolution. He built his reputation as a star catcher, but with Brake behind the plate, Ridenhour moved to the infield for the good of the team.

He hasn't blinked. In fact, as good as he is at catching – he's certainly the best backup catcher in the nation – Ridenhour might be better at the hot corner. Not only has he made few errors, he's hardly made a bobble, and effortless throws across the diamond are always belt high.

"It's good on my knees," said Ridenhour, who underwent knee surgery in the winter. "I've felt good all year. I enjoy catching, but I enjoy playing third and I've been happy over there. I like to take ground balls even during batting practice."

"I'm very impressed," Lovelace said. "I mean, he's a great athlete. Any thing you ask him to do, he's been able to do it for us. He's played third, first and caught. He's just a team player and loves the game."

• After trotting around the bases and celebrating a grandslam in a 14-1 win at Kannapolis in Game Two, Zach Greene jokingly taunted his coach, who was homerless in 123 at-bats from 1989-91:

"We finally had a little short porch for the lefties to swing at," said Greene, who hit his first homer in his 135th at-bat. "I told Lovelace I wanted to pass his all-time home runs in Legion. It was good."

Lovelace didn't evoke fear at the plate, but no one laughs at his career pitching numbers: 23-6 record, four saves, 253 1/3 innings, 246 hits, 106 earned runs, 262 strikeouts, 128 walks and a 3.77 ERA.

M-D Wins Big In Game 3

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

It's almost safe to say Kannapolis' Game One comeback win was a gift from the baseball gods. For the last two games have resembled the bully against the geek, with fourth-seeded Mocksville-Davie following up a Game Two rout with a 12-2 seven-inning romp that moved the local American Legion baseball team a win from clinching the Area III semi-final playoff series.

"I've been very impressed with the way our guys have stepped up these past two games," Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace said. "We've gotten two great pitching performances after Game One."

Meanwhile, Kannapolis can't get over the hangover that has plagued them since Ryan Craft stole the opener with a ninth-inning grandslam. After swallowing that bitter pill, Cody Wright threw a five-hitter and gave up one unearned run as Mocksville pounded out 14 hits in a 14-1 win. Then in Game Three, Mocksville hung up 14 more hits, Erik Walker hurled a four-hitter and Kannapolis fell to 1-5 in the season series.

Putting it in perspective, they were shaking hands before the 50-50 cash pot could make its way through the audience. Patrons were waiting for the winning-ticket announcement while Kannapolis licked its wounds.

"We didn't hit the ball tonight, we didn't hit the ball last night, and we've got to play better defense," said Kannapolis coach Joe Hubbard, whose

BUSINESS 2000

Soap Du Jour, Now 3 Years Old, Expands To Winston-Salem Shop

When Cathy Baskin was injured in a car accident four years ago, she could not imagine anything good coming out of it. Especially not beginning a business that now sells in 49 states and overseas.

"I saw a program on 'Discovery' about making soap," said Ms. Baskin. Her interest piqued, the former Registered Nurse began to experiment with all-natural blends of soap. The result is a rapidly multiplying business of unique products now being marketed around the world.

In just three years, Baskin's all-natural soap production and sales has outgrown her home. Soap Du Jour's new location at 704 Brookstown Avenue, beside Rainbow Cafe in Winston-Salem, features a number of Baskin's matchless soaps, lotions, baby products and massage oils. Cultivated by Cathy Baskin's careful research, Soap Du Jour's soaps have a intriguing quality: they will not cause sensitive skin to itch after using them.

"My husband uses my soaps to shave with," said Ms. Baskin. "If you shave your legs with my soap, you will never itch again." The soaps are formulated using the natural glycerin which occurs in soap production. Unlike regular soaps, which have salt that causes the skin to burn, Baskin's soaps contain glycerin, without other synthetic properties. Baskin states that nine out of ten commercial soaps dry the skin. Soap Du Jour soaps protect the natural moisture while cleansing the skin.

Her special "Good Morning" soap embodies a peppermint blend, which is known to increase circulation. This soap also contains eucalyptus, which has been used for centuries to open sinuses and respiratory passages, and lavender, which eases the pain of itching from poison ivy or sunburn.. Her soap "Patsy Lee," named after a close friend, includes lavender and oatmeal. Like her friend, "Patsy Lee" soap is "sweet and honest, but like Southern ladies, has enough grit to get the job done."

Soap Du Jour soaps and lotions have no synthetic fragrances or colors. Conventional lotions have alcohol and formaldehyde; but Ms. Baskin has created fragrant lotions with no harsh chemicals that would aggravate allergies or other skin conditions.

Cathy Baskin's husband, an electrical contractor, was experiencing a problem with the skin on his fingers splitting open from strenuous use at his job. Regular lotions were not helping. Ms. Baskin created "The Original Soap Du Jour Solid Lotion Bar," a free-standing block of lotion that absorbs directly into the skin, coating and healing.

Other soaps heal and rejuvenate skin, with calendula, a marigold derivative used in healing wounds. Ms. Baskin has created a soap which acts as an insect repellent, which can be used in watersheds and on children. It has no toxic ingredients. Tested on the fields of Little League baseball, Ms. Baskin was not content to advertise its effectiveness until she was positive that it worked.

"It really does keep the mosquitoes and fleas at bay," she said.

Soap Du Jour features a whole line of baby products, including diaper rash cream, massage oil, soaps and solid lotions. One massage oil, "Deep Purple," is named after Ms. Baskin's grandmother, who was a big band singer in New York. It contains an absolute rose blend, which is normally valued at $145 per ounce. Ms. Baskin says that both pediatricians and dermatologists have referred patients to her products, because of their all-natural contents.

Visit Soap Du Jour's website at www.soapdujour.com, for a complete listing of their many products, and to order on-line. Soap Du Jour is in the process of developing a line of pet products which will soon be on the market.

Soap Du Jour's new shop is open Wednesday - Saturday from 11-5 PM, at 704 Brookstown Avenue in Winston-Salem. Local shoppers will want to take advantage of this growing new business in town. Call Cathy Baskin at (336) 723-8800 for more information on these exciting new products.

Pitching Key To Game 4 Kannapolis Victory

team has responded in similar predicaments, storming back to oust Lexington and stunning top-seeded Eastern Randolph three games to one.

"We've been here before. If we pull one out (in Game Four), anything can happen in Game Five."

Walker, one of the game's stars, vacated the premises before reporters could track him. Teammate Skipp Crider reported that Walker cut the celebration short because of a nagging headache, but his head hurt nothing like Kannapolis' pride.

It took four innings for Kannapolis to get past second base as the tall 16-year-old scattered four hits and rolled to his fourth win in five decisions.

"He did another great job, he's been strong his last few outings," Lovelace said.

As strong as Walker was, it was nothing out of the ordinary for a staff that includes four 16-year-olds and grandaddy Skipp Crider. Andrew Daywalt (1-0), Travis Allen (4-2), Walker (4-1), Crider (8-2) and Wright (7-2) have a 3.61 ERA between them while gobbling up 251 of 266 possible innings.

It's been said many times, but it's worth repeating: Pitching was allegedly Mocksville's Achilles' heel.

"I've got a lot of confidence in five of our guys right now," Lovelace said. "(Four 16-year-olds) is what I think about everyday. It's only going to get better as the years go on. These guys have grown up tremendously as a staff. Skipp's been a great leader, and these guys take pride in what they're doing."

Kannapolis couldn't do anything with Walker's curveball, which caught four strikeout victims looking.

"It's been that sharp the past few nights out, and his fastball is starting to move a little bit more," Lovelace said. "It's a good curveball, and he's only going to get better."

As usual Mocksville battered the ball throughout the order. Zach Greene and Crider, the 1-2 punch, led with three hits. Drew Ridenhour and Steve LeFaivre added two each at the 3-4 spots, and Matt Dellacona, Chris Brake (two hits) and Kevin Shuping (a hit, three walks, two stolen bases) delivered at the bottom.

"I said it the whole time when we found out we had Mocksville: From top to bottom they swing the stick as good as any team we've played this year," Hubbard said.

Ridenhour's hot bat was predictable. After going 2-for-3 with a SAC fly, three RBIs and a double, the K-Town Killer is 14-for-21 with 14 RBIs in six meetings.

"I'm doing well, we're doing well and you can't ask for much more," he said. "Success if fun."

During a six-run fifth that pushed the difference to 11-1, LeFaivre interrupted the church softball tournament on the lower field. The mammoth homer was his team-leading eighth, and Ridenhour is hitting .387 with seven homers and a team-best 43 RBIs.

"Right in the middle, they've got some really, really good power hitters," Hubbard said. "We've got to figure them out."

Note: Shortstop Willie Infante is only a shadow of himself, forging on despite a taped-up wrist on his throwing hand. While he's managed in the field, he's 1-for-11 at the plate. "It's getting better. But I have to use my whole arm instead of my wrist and it hurts when I bat," he said.

Local Man Leads Cub Scouts To Record Numbers

Cub Scout Pack 574, sponsored by First United Methodist Church, is 48 years old.

Edwards became cubmaster in 1996 and started with 30 cubs and eight adult leaders. Today the pack is 90 cubs strong with over 20 trained adults in various leadership positions. Under Edward's direction, the pack has earned the Bishop's Award of Excellence, a Methodist award for honor packs, for the past two years. The pack has also earned the Quality Unit award for each year that he has been Cubmaster.

Edwards started his scouting experience in 1990 when his oldest son, Justin, now a high school senior and Eagle Scout, started in the Tiger Cub Scouting for first graders. Clayton Edwards has continued the family tradition having completed the Cub Scout program and is well under way in his Boy Scout adventure. Cathy Edwards supports her Scouting family in many ways, including serving on the Pack Committee.

Edwards was a Tiger Cub Coach and a year later became Pack treasurer prior to being Cubmaster. He has earned the Cross and Flame (adult religious award), Den Leader Coach Award, Scouter award and Boy Scouter award. He was invited by the Old North State Council to attend Philmont Scout Ranch quality pack management training and Cub Woodbadge training. These extensive training experiences will provide him ways to further improve the pack.

Edwards has developed a long-range vision for a true Scouting experience for Davie County boys. Through his hard work and leadership the pack has grown and expanded its involvement in community service projects as well as developing traditional Scouting experiences. These include participation in conservation projects such as the Big Sweep as well as camp clean up days known as Beaver days, planting trees and other den activities. The pack has hosted FUMC blood drives and participated in flag distribution to veterans' graves. The Pinewood Derby has become a great tradition as well as Cub Parent Weekend camping experiences.

In January, Edwards was presented with the Cub Scouter of the Year for the Uwharrie District. In March 2000, he graduated from National Camp School. He received the Cubmaster Award; among the requirements for this award is at least a three year tenure as a Cubmaster. In June 2000, the American Legion presented Cliff with the Cubmaster of the Year for North Carolina.

For Edwards, further training and awards brings more responsibility. This year he was program director for the Cub Day Camp, a five year old program. In June, the program was held, for the first time, in Davie County at Rich Park and a record number of boys attended - 140.

Davie People

Routine inspection of the hives ensure no problems such as parasites or diseases.

Davie Couple Busy As Bees

Local Beekeepers Reap The Harvests Of Their Hard Work And Dedication

By Jackie Edwards
Davie County Enterprise Record

Imagine this.

You decide to move to Davie County. You do the usual packing that all movers do - clothes, furniture, housewares, and furniture. But, don't forget your honeybees.

That was the situation for Greg Fariss two years ago. He transported approximately four truckloads of his buzzing friends from Maryland to his new home in Advance.

Greg, who used to be a bee inspector for nine counties on the eastern shores of Maryland, has been a beekeeper for nearly twenty years. He, along with his wife Susan, maintain 30-35 hives.

And Greg's bees are, for the most part, friendly. He explained that honey bees are actually genetically predisposed to friendly or aggressive behaviors.

Greg explained the process for forming a new swarm of bees. He places swarm boxes made of wood so many feet from the ground in trees in hopes that new bees will make their home there.

According to Greg, "Beekeeping is an old skill. It's the oldest agricultural pursuit. There are jars of honey in the pyramids that are still good. This is an old, old art."

Greg became interested in beekeeping when he was in his twenties. He attended a friends wedding and saw the bees his friends father had. After that Greg took beekeeping courses and read every book he could find on the subject. His favorite is The Hive and the Honey Bee, a book first published in the late 1800's.

The benefits and uses of honey bees are tremendous.

There is also apothecary. This is the use of bee venom in the treatment of people with diseases like multiple sclerosis and arthritis.

Bees are also used in crop pollination. If properly done pollination can increase crop yields by as much as one-third. Apples, melons, cantaloupes, squashes, and cucumbers are the most popular crops used in bee pollination.

But the most well known use of honey bees is for the production of honey.

Greg explained the differences in honey. The source of most honey in this area is the poplar tree. "This makes for a very pleasant honey that's dark, but not strong," Greg said. Lighter honey comes from plants like clover and alfalfa. The sourwood tree in the mountains produces nectar for the honey bees in that area.

Susan handles most of the marketing of their honey sales. She sells at area festivals and calls on local business in the area like Serendipity Shops and Clemmons Country Market.

Greg hopes to start doing public and educational speaking in this area about beekeeping. He would like to offer a short course of five or six classes to let others know about this agricultural art.

But for now both he and Susan are content to continue what they consider an age old skill that produces an abundance of awards.

Cooleeme Senior Citizens Hear Devotional Story

The Cooleemee Senior Citizens met on July 10 in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church.

Reba Holt, president, opened the meeting by asking Pauline Hall to lead the club in prayer.

The hymn, "Bringing In The Sheaves," was played by the assistant pianist, Alice Barron. Hannah Jones led the club in the singing.

James "Doll" Foster, assistant chaplain, had the devotions. He read from Hebrews: 4. He spoke on how wonderful it is that we can go to the Lord in prayer. He told the story of a farmer who would go out into the fields and talk to the Lord.

The farmer said, "Lord, I'm kind of worried that things aren't quite right in our little town. You never hear church bells ringing; children can be seen playing in the parking lots on Sunday mornings; the churches compete with one another for the most attendance; and the town now has a liquor store that they call the ABC."

As the farmer continued his talk with the Lord, he spoke about how the schools had changed in its stand on religion. He said, "I think for me, Lord, the only thing we can do is like in the song 'Trust and Obey'."

The roll call was called by Francis Miller. There were 24 members present.

Nancy Foster, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. The thought for the day: "If you want long friendships, develop a short memory."

The sunshine and treasury reports were given by Jones and Bettie Smith.

Holt called for a discussion on the future plans of the club. Smith brought up the question: "What year did the club hold its first meeting, 1960 or 1961?" The members decided to have their annual yard sale on September 8 and 9 at the Ridenhour Arbor.

The activities to be held at the Senior Center were read by Bobbie Daniel, substituting for Barbara Thornton.

Pauline Hall was in charge of the program. She had asked members to bring and show the club a craft or hobby that they enjoyed doing. Each person got up and told a little story about what they had brought.

Afterwards, Hall read a story about a couple who were reunited in America after being separated for 35 years. They were from Austria. Her husband had forced her to leave when the Nazis came, but she was captured and imprisoned. He was arrested and put into a concentration camp. Neither had known what had happened to the other.

The meeting was adjourned following the singing of the club song, "The More We Get Together."

The next meeting will be held in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church on July 24.

Knitter Turns Hobby Into Business Venture

By Jackie Edwards
Davie County Enterprise Record

Ellen Dreschler loves to knit.

It's something she first began as a young girl. But three years ago, she began doing it for profit.

A friend who owns a yarn store in Greensboro told her about a company website posting for people who could knit. Dreschler discovered more information through a chat group call the Knit List.

The company, Knit One Crochet Too, based out of California, was looking for experienced crafters to complete at-home projects.

Dreschler's first project was an afghan and since then she's completed numerous others. Some of which have included a sweater, pocketbook, wrap and vest. She is completing a sweater that she estimates could retail somewhere between $150 and $200.

The way the company works is you are emailed and asked if you are interested in a certain project. They pay you in patterns, buttons and yarn. Dreschler has lots of yarn stashed away.

Dreschler discovered knitting as a child from her mom, but being so young, she lost interest. It wasn't until the early 80s that a co-worker at another job got her started again.

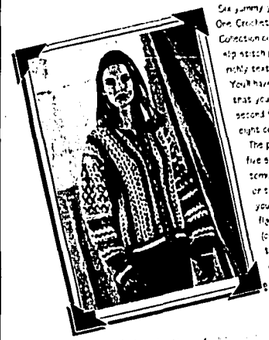
Dreschler's projects all have deadlines. She has always completed her projects on time. She has even mailed some overnight to California.

Her finished projects are displayed at stores and craft festivals. A pocketbook she knitted was featured in a craft book and a wrap is shown on a website for a yarn store.

Dreschler also enjoys knitting for family and friends. "I made golf club covers for my husband." She's also made a sweater for her father's birthday and baby gifts.

According to Dreschler, knitting can go wherever you go. She brings it along to basketball games and even knits while exercising on the stair machine.

THE TAPESTRY JACKET
Cuff to Center Slip Stitch Cardigan



Six yummy yarns from the first One Crochet Too Gourmet Collection combine in four easy slip stitch patterns to make a richly textured Tapestry Jacket. You'll have it done so quickly that you'll want to make a second from one of the other eight coordinated colorways. The pattern is written in five sizes and can be customized for short, average or tall heights. Whether you are short and full figured or tall and slender (or anywhere in between) this pattern can be worked in your body and arm length.

This is a pattern for one of the projects Ellen has done for Knit One, Crochet Too, a company in California.

Mrs. Grady Beck has returned home after recent surgery at Forsyth Medical Center. She is slowly improving but needs our continued prayers.

Dawn and Amanda Hughes went to church Sunday with their grandmother, Mrs. Johnsie Shelton, and had lunch honoring her birthday at Golden Corral in Statesville.

We thank all the neighbors and friends for all they did for us in the loss of our aunt, Mrs. Inez Reavis.

In Memory of Mrs. Eloise Stephens

I've lost another wonderful customer and friend.

She was so faithful to the very end.

She was always so pleasant and kind, a better person would be hard to find.

It seems illnesses and accidents kept coming her way.

She tried so hard to overcome them day after day.

But we know God knows best,

To her family I send my sympathy and love,

Mt. Olive Methodist Church To Celebrate Homecoming July 23

Mt. Olive United Method Church, 3521 Wyo Road, will celebrate homecoming on Sunday, July 23, beginning at 9:55 a.m. with Sunday School.

The celebration will continue with worship service and special singing at 11 a.m.

The Rev. James "Gene" Cloer from Statesville, pastor from 1977-1979, will be guest speaker. A buffet lunch will be served in the fellowship building immediately following the worship service.

A history memorabilia of items from "yesteryear" pertaining to church history will be on display in the fellowship building, compiled by Anne White, Martha Tise, and Al Hudson.

Even though Mt. Olive's member growth has fluctuated over the years of its existence for various reasons, the present spiritual growth has been overwhelming during the past few years. The church, organized in 1889, began with a pastor of a 4-point charge to the present student-pastor status as of June 2000. The present pastor, Gary Foster, was appointed to Mt. Olive in June 1996 and remains the minister to its 125-member congregation.

Mt. Olive is located three miles from Farmington UMC on the Wyo Road in Yadkin County. Foster and congregation invite former members and pastors, friends, community, and everyone to attend this celebration in the life of the church.

For more information, contact Gene Whitaker 998-3195.

Courtney Baptist Church has a new before-school ministry.

This is in addition to the after-school ministry that has been in operation for two years. The hours will be 6:45-7:45 a.m. The hours for the after-school ministry will be 2:45-5:45 p.m.

The bus from Courtney Elementary School will pick the children up in the morning and bring them back to the church in the afternoons. Transportation will be provided in the mornings and in the afternoons for the children who attend William R. Davie.

The ministries will operate on an all-day schedule for teacher workdays, some holidays and during the summer.

Shari Cheek is director and Vanessa Simpson is assistant director, both having many years of childcare experience. Snacks are served each afternoon, along with time for homework, and devotions for all the children.

A Mothers Morning Out Ministry is for children age 2 through 5. This is a time for moms or grandmothers to get a break and take some time for themselves. The children will be able to make new friends, experience new things and have age appropriate devotions each morning. This ministry operates on Monday and Wednesday morning from 9-noon. Shari Cheek is director.

The goal at Courtney Baptist Children's ministries is to provide a safe and loving environment while teaching children about Christ so that they in turn can teach others. If you would like more information on any or all of the above ministries, or would like to enroll your child, call Cheek at 336/463-3003.

Community Service Earns Pack 574 Methodist Award

"I promise to do my best to do my duty to God and my country ..."

So starts the Cub Scout promise and Cub Scout Pack 574 does its best to do its duty to God.

The Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church recently awarded for the second straight year, the Bishop's award of Excellence to Cubmaster and Pack Committee member Cliff and Cathy Edwards.

The Cubmaster, in turn, presented the award to the pack's sponsor, First United Methodist Church of Mocksville, at the 10:55 a.m. worship service on July 2. The Rev. Charles Turner presented Cubmaster Cliff Edwards with a display ribbon.

The award, which includes a multi-stage application process, has stringent service requirements. For the local church project, the pack hosted a blood drive for First United Methodist. Participation in the clothing drive for flood victims earned the local community service project requirement.

Mariana M. Mathewson

A descendant of several well-known North Carolina families, she was born in Lenior on Nov. 11, 1916 to William Carroll Moore and Margaret Barber Moore. Margaret Moore served as Register of Deeds in Caldwell County for more than 35 years following the death of her husband.

Mariana Moore was interested in attending medical school, but this was during the Depression, so instead she applied to and was accepted at Watts School of Nursing in Durham. Following graduation, she planned to continue her education, but was called to work at the infirmary at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill during an influenza epidemic. It was there she met her future husband, Kent Mathewson. They married Sept. 7, 1940, at St. James Episcopal Church in Lenior, and both attended graduate school at Syracuse University where she was in the master's program in public health. She did not go back into full-time nursing because of the demands of her husband's profession and her desire to raise her family.

Following graduate school, her husband joined the War Department and they spent a year in Spokane, Wash., prior to his being called to active duty, at which time they relocated to Palm Beach, Fla. Promoted to the rank of Captain, Mathewson took discharge from service to accept a position with the Veteran's Administration and moved his family to Richmond, Va. In 1947, he was offered the position as city manager for Asheboro and the family returned to their home state of North Carolina. Bluebird Bonanza
4-H Camp Teaches Children How To Care For Chirpers

A crew of 17 children from Davie County, along with helpers, worked diligently last Wednesday to complete construction of Kentucky bluebird boxes.

That day's activity was the Bluebird Bonanza. It taught participants how to build bird houses and a chance to learn about birds. "We've offered this for the last five or six years," said Thompson.

The Kentucky bluebird boxes are assembled from scratch. After boards are measured, cut, drilled, and nailed together you have a completed bird house. The entire process takes about three hours.

The design the 4H uses is sparrow proof. "It was developed by a man at University of Kentucky after 30 years of research," according to Thompson.

Many of the participants had already planned what they were going to do with their finished bird box. One participant was going to put his box in a tree where birds perch everyday. Another was going to put hers in a tree with lots of other feeders.

One fact is for sure, the blue birds in Davie County will have several new places to call home thanks to the Bluebird Bonanza.

Mary Lois Wilson Reminisces About Life In Davie County

Mary Lois Wilson was born in Davie County on Jan. 11, 1923. It was a Tuesday and she arrived around 10 that evening.

Her family grew tobacco and picked cotton near Mocksville. She attended a one-room schoolbuilding and graduated in 1941 in a class of 34 students.

But information into her childhood and growing up in Davie County is not her main focus, her reason for sharing her story is to celebrate the last 10 years of her life at Meadowbrook Terrace in Advance.

By Mary Lois Wilson

Ten years ago, on July 25, 1990, I rolled myself in the front door at Meadowbrook Terrace of Davie, Advance. It was a Tuesday afternoon around 2:15 p.m.. I had come here from Davie County Hospital after having surgery to remove my right leg and foot on July 5, 1990. My left leg and foot had been removed earlier, in February of 1989. Dr. Francis Slate was the doctor who performed that surgery.

The first person I met at Meadowbrook and still remember well today was Dianna Hackett. She worked in the office and told me I was the 35th resident to register.

Rodney Worley was administrator. Several have been here since him, and all moved onto other places.

One administrator I remember well was Mr. Buck Wilder. When Mr. Wilder arrived at Meadowbrook he asked me how long I had been here. I told him nine years and he said, "You've been here long enough to be speaker of the house."

Peggy Miller is the current administrator. She is a nice, friendly young lady that's ready to help in any way.

As the days passed, I became used to my new home and it's activities.

My sisters, Sarah Koontz and Mabel Pence, brought me to Meadowbrook. They visit me regularly every Tuesday and I look forward to spending time with them. They always bring something along with them and help keep me up to date on the news in their communities.

I enjoy listening to church hymns that are sung by members of Jericho Church of Christ in Mocksville. When they visit I always have a list of song requests for them. They enjoy hearing reports about what's happened at Meadowbrook since their last visit.

Other bands that visit are Sunny Carter's Bluegrass Band , Lewis Browns Band, the Senior Rhythm Band, and Retired Senior Chorus.

A young lady comes to visit every Tuesday morning and brings her large white dog. He goes from room to room for the residents to see and enjoy. His name is Charlie and he is decorated for each holiday. He enjoys a snack if you have one for him.

The telephone provides company for me because I can call my family and friends every day.

My favorite baseball team is the Atlanta Braves. They haven't done very well this spring, but I've been watching the team for years.

I decided that the food here is not prepared or served the way it was when I was at home. One of the great cooks at Meadowbrook named Annie Mabe had an accident. Unfortunately, she has not been able to return.

Our facility is kept really clean by our housekeeping staff. They clean everyday, and even dust, too.

I also enjoy sending out Christmas cards. I get started early each year so they will all be ready to mail around the first of December. I usually send out over 100 cards. I'm very lucky, because I also receive many cards myself. They are brought to my room in packs bundled by rubber bands. I have received cards from President Bill and Hilary Clinton.

From that you will know that I am a Democrat. I have had the pleasure of voting in every election that has come and gone since I have been at Meadowbrook. It didn't matter where I was at voting time, my friend Margaret Ann Shew, from the board of elections, would always send my ballot, even when I was in the hospital.

There have been many CNAs that have come and gone at Meadowbrook. I can't remember them all, but there is one that stands out in my mind. His name is Tag Bowers and he is from Mocksville. He answered my call bell that first night I was here.

There is also a nurse I remember well. Her name is Jo Ann Best, and she has been a great help to me.

I had suffered from asthma for more than forty years and was also a diabetic. My breathing and sugar are kept under control by my doctor, Joel L. Edwards, M.D. He has been my physician for over twenty years. Now and then my sugar level may drop, so I have to eat some sweet food or drink some orange juice.

While at Meadowbrook I have had to occasionally use a breathing machine. This varies depending on the weather conditions outside. Hot weather can be very difficult, so I roll out the front door early in the morning to sit for a while and hear the birds sing. One thing that was told to me just a few days after I came to Meadowbrook was that if I could do for myself I had to do it.

Even though I am in a wheelchair I do for myself as much as I can. My doctor, Dr. Edwards, has told me many times that I have done the best of anyone he's ever seen confined to a wheelchair. I haven't given up and I enjoy living so well.

My birthday is January 11 and I look forward to it each year. I got a Blum's Almanac last birthday. Another special gift I received is a clock. I got it for my birthday in January of 1999. A different bird sings every hour. I also have a giggling snowman that I got for Christmas in 1999.

Before coming to Meadowbrook, I lived a great part of my years on Davie Academy Road one mile from Jericho Church Road of Christ. I attended every Sunday until my health made it impossible to continue. I have a motto, it's "Stand on two feet, if you can, and don't go down in defeat." Although I can't stand, and I have to sit, I do my best to enjoy every day. My only wish for my 10 year celebration would be for a good home cooked meal and some red roses.

Two From Davie Earn Scholarships From Meredith

Kristina Marie Harkness of Advance, daughter of Dale and Lynn Harkness and Janette and Ron Waugh, received two scholarships - the Teaching Fellows and Emerging Leaders.

Abby Jean Brickey of Four Corners Road, Mocksville, daughter of David and Jean Brickey, received the Emerging Leaders Scholarship.

The scholarships recognize freshmen with outstanding scholastic abilities and achievements. Based on merit, the Emerging Leaders award is based on leadership potential in academic and co-curricular areas.

The Teaching Fellows program is designed to encourage talented high schools seniors to enter a teaching career. Award winners receive a scholarship from the state for each of their four years in college while meeting program requirements. At Meredith, the college awards grants to assure full coverage of tuition, room and board.

Bullhole Controversy Continues: Groups Clash Over Water In River

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Breck Bullock and family want to produce electricity from water powered turbines at the old mill on the South Yadkin River. Their company, South Yadkin Power, has been permitted to do just that.

Lynn and Jim Rumley and the Cooleemee Historical Association wants to build a park on both sides of the river. They've raised hundreds of thousands of dollars to do just that.

Can the two coexist?

Right now, that doesn't seem likely. Much of the controversy centers around the amount of water in the river.

Bullock said that South Yadkin Power is required to keep water in the river, rather than diverting it all into a raceway that drives turbines to generate electricity.

But because it is a small hydroelectric project, the minimum release into the river is 64 cubic feet per second. The Rumleys, he said, want the company to consistently release 150 cubic feet. Last week, Bullock said there wasn't 90 cubic feet of water per second in the river.

"We can't do that. We could if somebody wanted to compensate us for it. They want a compromise on water flow, but who's going to pay for that?" The company has $1.3 million invested in the project.

A news release from the Cooleemee Historical Association said that the group welcomed the hydropower project after they were assured that water levels would be maintained for traditional recreation activities and to maintain fish and wildlife, that the public would continue to have access to the river.

"At the center of CHA's concern is the potential loss of water from approximately 600-700 feet of the main river

River Daze This Saturday

COOLEEMEE - The Rive Daze festival scheduled for last week was postponed until this Saturday because of rainy weather. It will be held rain or shine.

A tube race will be held from the Junction to the dam, beginning at 3 p.m. Minimum age is 16, and the entry fee is $10. Cash prizes will be awarded. Entry forms are available at the Zachary House and Cooleemee Discount Drugs.

A rubber duck race ($5 per duck, $2 per baby duck) will begin at 6 p.m., with the finish line at a fish fry at the river, accessible from the lower parking lot at the mill. Catfish plates will be sold for $7.50 each ($6 advance). There will be a puppet show featuring "Blinky," a catfish who has witnessed 100 years of history at the Bullhole.

Proceeds will go to the park efforts.

Mocksville Experiences Water Outage

Mocksville was without water for approximately seven hours Tuesday after a line broke in the area of Valley Road and U.S. 601.

"A coupling on the joint of one of our main 12-inch lines came undone," said Mocksville Town Manager Terry Bralley.

The outage occurred around 5:30 a.m. July 25, and crews began working to correct the problem shortly after 6 a.m.

The actual repairs were finished around 10:30 a.m. but water was not immediately restored. "There was annual maintenance being done on the tank on Campbell Road, so there was no water there," according to Bralley. Crews couldn't fill the tank on Campbell Road fast enough to restore water immediately.

More than 80 percent of Mocksville was affected by the outage. Water was restored shortly after noon that day after the system was pressurized.

Bralley suggests initially running water longer than usual to clear air from the pipes. "If people have lasting problems with water discoloration or air in their pipes they can call us at town hall, 751-2259."

Johnny Frye said that public works director Danny Smith and his crews care about the people in the town, and work hard to restore services.

On Friday, Smith and others worked all night - sometimes in waist-deep water, while remaining polite to residents with questions. Although paid, those workers go beyond the call of duty for their neighbors, he said.

Car Crashes Through Front Of Mocksville Restaurant

Xue Yang, 31, of New York, N.Y., was driving the1996 Toyota that went through the front of the China Grill at Squire Boone Plaza, stopping just short of the counter.

She told Mocksville Police Officer Keith Gunter that she was attempting to park, and instead of hitting the brake pedal with her foot, hit the gas instead. The car was traveling at an estimated 20 mph when it jumped the curb and crashed into the building, Gunter reported.

Yang and a 7-year-old passenger, Lan Zheng, were not injured. The car sustained only minor damage, while damage to the restaurant was estimated at $2,000.

Davie School Bus Garage Named Best In The State

The Davie County School Bus Garage has been awarded the title of safest bus fleet in North Carolina for 1999-2000.

The Department of Public Instruction performed an annual school bus inspection in Davie County on May 9. Ten percent of the school buses were evaluated in all areas of transportation operation - maintenance, data entry, and labor reporting.

A point system is applied for any defects. A low point average is representative of fewer defects. Davie's score was 3.67, the lowest in the state.

According to Davie School System Transportation Director Todd Naylor: "Our guys work hard. It's a whole effort for the team. There's no way one person could do it."

- Schools Transportation Director Todd Naylor

The school bus garage in Mocksville has seven employees. maintain 60 school buses, and 15 activity buses.

"We work year round, performing perventative maintenance all year," Naylor said.

School To Start Next Thursday

They will report for school for the 2000-2001 year on Thursday, Aug. 3.

Open houses for students and parents are scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 1, from 5-8 p.m. at elementary and middle schools, and from 6-9 p.m. at Davie High School.

Teachers were to report on Wednesday.

Benchmark Media Sold To Adelphia

Benchmark Media, the cable television provider to much of Mocksville and Davie County, is being sold to Adelphia Communications.

Although Adelphia will be the corporate owner, little will change at the local level, said Benchmark's Michael MacNeilly.

The change is scheduled to take effect Oct. 30.

Davie County Attorney Bob Price said the biggest change will be at the corporate level, not the local level. Adelphia provides service to 7.9 million homes.

The franchise is scheduled to expire in 2002 in Davie County.

Benchmark has approximately 6,800 subscribers in Davie and Rowan counties.

Declaring A Truce: Flag Letters Show Deep Passions

We are calling a halt to the battling letters to the editor over the Confederate flag issue this week. We have gathered at our own Appomatox and decided not to surrender, but to sign a truce.

Some readers will heave a sigh of relief. Others will prefer to continue.

Our writers have said just about everything that can be said on this topic. From the letters, we've learned a lot about the history of that period. People who missed some of the early letters have come to the office to buy those back issues. One letter this week suggests we should turn our attention to the United Way and its good works. Though noble in its effort, the United Way just can't invoke the same passions as the Confederate flag.

The letters have been remarkable — a weekly education about the Civil War and the passions that people continue to feel about something that happened so long ago.

Also, the letters have demonstrated how different people can look at the same events and learn very different lessons.

Northerners and Southerners fought the war for different purposes. Blacks, in the same way Jews can't forget the Holocaust, can't ignore the generations their ancestors spent as slaves in this country. White people can easily put the war aside as a footnote to history. For blacks, the war is their history.

Surveys have determined that while blacks and whites agree that our nation has made progress in racial harmony, they disagree decidedly on how much. Hearing the same evidence, an overwhelming percentage of whites thought O.J. Simpson was guilty. Blacks, by contrast, did not agree.

The Rev. Donald Ray Jenkins, a professor at Winston-Salem State University, has eloquently defended his position on the Civil War with his letters. His view is not popular among Southerners who hold a Hollywood image of the Old South. But we should hear Jenkins and understand him, even if we disagree. Our continued progress in racial harmony depends on it.

Southern boys still like to wave the Confederate flag and recall the glorious stories of Gen. Robert E. Lee and Gen. Stonewall Jackson. But the flag offends blacks. It always will. It always should.

As one letter noted, our board of education recognized that when our schools were forced to integrate. Changing the mascot at Davie High demonstrated their racial sensitivity in a time when Confederate passions were ablaze.

This newspaper is fortunate to have so many letter writers. In an age when many people are afraid to stand up and be counted, our letter writers boldly state their opinions. This is a better newspaper because of it.

Years ago, we conducted a poll to determine what features catch the attention of our readers. Our letters ranked at the top — far ahead of the editorial. With that humiliation, the editor put an end to the polls.

Our letter writers are special to us — especially the ones that correct the editor as needed.

By the way, what do you think of the United Way?

Our Children Need Love And Support

To the editor:

This article is not concerning the southern flag or heritage. Thankfully I was born in '71. I was brought up with Afro-Americans whom were free. Fortunately, we realized we were not responsible for the acts of our ancestors and forefathers. We enjoyed our era. Most importantly, racism is an act in which every individual has to look into their own heart. I prefer the present and the future. The past cannot be changed. Love thy Brethren.

The one thing that lays heavily on my heart is child abuse. I am a 28-year-old survivor of child and sexual abuse. Children don't ask to be hurt. They need love and support. So do survivors. I never blame my actions on my past, but in reality, due to my past, I suffer from free-floating anxiety. I am in a great anxiety class that I thank God for every day. My goal is to one day open a child abuse center, but for now, if I can reach one person, then my suffering was not in vain. Thankfully, due to my dad, grandmother, The Morgans, Fergusons, Angells and the Boger-Steele families, I turned out to be a fairly decent individual. I also bless many, many friends and my therapist Rebekkah who advised me to publish this. I would love to start a support group; If you share my interest please contact me. The abused are often the silent ones. We need our chance to talk. Help prevent future danger to our children. I thank God every day for my two children, Courtney and Chase. Thank you for your time.

Cooleemee Should Consider Grants

To the editor:

Everything you read about Cooleemee is the river or bullhole, but nothing about the City. Has no one really looked at the houses or saw how slum-like they are? Nearly half of the houses need repairs or demolishing (including mine). The owners are older people with little income, lots of sickness, or vacant landlords, so they continue to be an eyesore.

If the City could get a low-income grant, maybe people would try to improve their houses. If a house is sold, young people don't buy because the City offers nothing. You have to go to another City for a theater, restaurant, dairy bar, skating, bowling, shopping, dancing. The old Cooleemee offered most of the above.

We have no parades, car shows, street dances, art and craft shows, nothing to encourage people to visit. If something is not done in a few years the City will be one big slum.

Food For His Flock Again A Success

To the editor:

It is with a grateful heart that I extend my thanks to you for helping to make our Food for His Flock campaign so successful in May. We appreciated your gift of printing the first copies of our fliers and posters and for placing a advertisement in your paper concerning this event. Your support of this independent non-profit Christian ministry, as well as your kindness and concern for others, has helped us to serve nearly 7,000 people during the first half of this year.

All of us at the Storehouse for Jesus have a mission. It is to share the good news of God's love, care, and intention for all people through our words and through our deeds. We want the people that we serve to recognize Jesus in us and to provide the opportunity for those who are in physical and/or spiritual need to receive Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior.

The gospel of Jesus Christ has called each of us to help the people among us who are less fortunate. You have heeded the call of service to your fellowman. And, for this, I am extremely thankful.

May God continue to bless you in all of your endeavors.

Marlene B. Shamel, Volunteer
Storehouse for Jesus

Thanks For EMS

To the editor:

Our family would like to thank the Davie County EMS and the 1st Responders who came to help our mother, Helen Beaver, on July 16. Thank you for all that you tried to do. The outpouring of support, flowers, food and prayers were very much appreciated

The Helen Beaver family

On The Trail: Poison Ivy, Ticks & Gnats ... Ain't This Fun

Talk about bad luck.

There are no Holiday Inns spaced conveniently along the trail — just cold, hard ground for most nights. Unable to make it to one of the shelters along the trail, Sherden desperately picks his bed for the night among the poison ivy.

June 21 — Waynesboro, Va. to Calf Mt. Shelter — 8 miles

A half day today out of town. I sent 23 pounds home today and bought lighter gear to cut down on my excessive weight. (My pack) weighed out at exactly 50 pounds again. How is this possible?

Today is Nude Hikers Day on the trail. I forgot all about it and didn't even see a nude hiker.

June 22 — Calf Mtn. Shelter to Left Mtn. Campground

June 23 — Left Mtn. Campground to Hightop Hut — 14 miles

Beautiful day. Low humidity. Didn't quite make it to Big Meadows Campground.

Hiked to Skyline Drive to get water and camped on a meadow in a poison ivy patch.

June 25 — Naked Creek Overlook to Pinnacles Picnic Area — 14 miles

The 20-miler on Thursday has absolutely wiped me out. I had heard that 20 miles a day in the Shenandoah Park were very doable. Wrong! Twenty miles can be done, but then you are worthless for three days unless you're half my age or better. From here on out, it will be 15-18 miles a day on easy terrain.

We got a humongous shower at 5 p.m. It was great for a while not to be hot and sticky.

June 26 — Pinnacles Picnic Area to Range View Cabin — 18 miles

Deer ticks, stinging gnats, chiggers, and in the morning, slugs on everything.

The stinging gnats crawl under my watch, my socks, anything tight and draw profuse blood. During the day they fly into my mouth, eyes and ears.

More On The South's Ignoble History; Attempt To Educate The Recalcitrant

To the editor:

Since the number three represents completeness in Christian literature, this is my final letter to the editor about my views on the South's ignoble history and my attempts to educate the recalcitrant.

Mr. David Caudle and Mrs. D.P. Dimmig are the latest in a line of individuals who have taken great pains to vilify me for pointing out the real historical forces surrounding the Civil War and the Confederate flag. Let me address Caudle first; then I will turn to Dimmig.

What Mr. Caudle needs to do is go buy an unabridged dictionary of the English language and look up the word liberal. In its unpolluted form, liberal means one who is broadly educated, open-minded, and free from widespread prejudices and provincialism. So when Mr. Caudle accuses me of being "a textbook liberal," he unknowingly pays me a compliment.

Mr. Caudle also needs to reread my June 22 and July 13 letters to the editor. In them he will find a reasoned argument on the forces that led to the Civil War. Anyone with a grain of common sense knows that labor is the second highest cost in operating a business. With 3-1/2 million slave laborers, the South was not about to commit economic suicide by freeing its black servants. History records many wars that have been fought for far less incentive.

Mr. Caudle, the African Slave Trade as regards the United States officially ended in 1808 (United States Constitution, Article 1, Section 9, Clause 1), over fifty years before the beginning of the Confederacy. So to say "that the Confederate Constitution forbid the slave trade while the U.S. Constitution did not" further shows your ignorance. Also important is that African slaves were smuggled into the United States until 1861 and that the children born to slaves were legally slaves themselves. These facts should show you that it took the Civil War to end slavery in the United States.

Mr. Caudle, I never said the Emancipation Proclamation abolished slavery. More important is your point that "many Southern states ratified the Thirteenth Amendment before many Northern states did." After the South had been soundly defeated in the Civil War, what other choice did it have?

Since the South wants "to be left alone," Mr. Caudle, why is it that every time a natural disaster, like Hurricane Floyd, occurs, Southern politicians call upon Washington for assistance? Also, I have never attempted to glorify the North but simply to relate Southern history as it occurred, not as you wish it had occurred.

Mr. Caudle, had your Southern idols of yesteryear been guided by good sense and sound logic instead of relying on their sentiments about the plantation and slavery, they (the five million you mention in your article) would have thought twice before taking on twenty-two million Northerners. Most important is that they rebelled against a constitutionally established government and they were rightfully defeated and subdued.

Mr. Caudle, the personal flaws of Martin Luther King Jr. do not take away from the great work he did for America. I have heard Martin Luther King Jr.'s sermon titled "A Time to Break Silence," which he delivered at Riverside Church in New York City on April 4, 1967. In this sermon on the United States' involvement in the Vietnam War, King does say, "The United States is the greatest purveyor of violence in the world today." But before you criticize King's statement, please listen to the whole sermon, read a good history of the Vietnam War, and watch a scholarly documentary on the subject. You will then learn how our government used napalm on defenseless Vietnamese women and children, how our government supported the brutal regime of Diem, how our government refused time and again to allow democratic elections to be held in Vietnam, how our government diverted funds intended for domestic projects to fight an undeclared war in Vietnam, and how 58,000 American soldiers died senseless deaths in Asian jungles. By the way, we lost the Vietnam War. Moreover, just as the First Amendment to the United States Constitution allows you to write your nonsense, so does it allow persons like Martin Luther King Jr. to express disapproval of their government's actions. The Declaration of Independence, written by Thomas Jefferson, is one of the noblest expressions of dissent in world history. Please read it sometime.

Mr. Caudle, I am not responsible for what happens to every black person in the world. My job as a Christian minister is to brighten up the corner where I am. And I intend to continue to do that despite detractors like you.

Mr. Editor, let me say just a word to Mrs. D.P. Dimmig.

Mrs. Dimmig, the first paragraph in your letter destroys the integrity of your entire letter. Please do not criticize an author until you have read everything he has written on the current subject under discussion.

Mrs. Dimmig, I have walked with God since 1966, I have preached the gospel of Jesus Christ since 1980, and the Holy Spirit abides within me ever day. Since I have been feeding on the solid food of God's Word for thirty-four years, I suggest that you, who are still drinking milk, go slow in your criticism of me (1 Corinthians 3:2; Hebrews 5:12-14; 1 Peter 2:2-3).

The greatest act of love in human history, the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, was intertwined with violence. Jesus was showing His love for sinful humanity; sinful men were showing their hatred for the Truth.

The prophets of the Old Testaments and the disciples and apostles of the New Testament were not concerned with tact when it came to declaring war on sin. Even Jesus Himself used strong language when condemning evil, hypocrisy, and misplaced values. In seeking to bring light to the ignorant, the uninformed, the misinformed, the narrow minded, and the prejudiced, I am simply following in the footsteps of the great men and women of God who preceded me.

Paul, in the New Testament, called the enemies of the gospel "dogs" and "evil workers." When people were wrong or mistaken about some principle of the Christian faith, Paul would often preface his Epistle with the phrase "Now I would not have you ignorant." All of my letters to the editor have been attempts to teach the ignorant. When Paul sent Titus to preach the gospel on the island of Crete, Paul characterized the Cretans as "liars, evil beasts, slow bellies."

Even before Paul came on the scene, Jesus Christ did not worry about offending someone when it came to the great matters of His day. Our Lord called Herod, the evil ruler of Palestine, "that fox." Jesus called the scribes and Pharisees, who fought His ministry on every hand, "fools and hypocrites." Jesus also called a certain rich man a "fool" because this man had misplaced priorities.

So, Mrs. Dimmig, I am in good company when I tell things as they are. And I don't lose any sleep when I am persecuted in the media, for Jesus taught "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

Well, Mr. Editor, I guess I have written enough. My letters to the editor have brought me both compliments and condemnation. It is unfortunate, of course, that I am often the lone voice in the wilderness. But I take my orders from God, and when the Holy Spirit moves me to write another letter to the editor, I will comply "for if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?" (1 Corinthians 14:8).

Reader Clears Up Confusion About Teen Center

To the editor:

As a graduate of the 1999-2000 Leadership Davie Class, I would like to clear up a miscommunication in the community pertaining to our class project, the Davie County Teen Center.

We are not associated with the efforts of Mr. Ray Parker (Noble Designs) who was attempting to establish a skating rink in the Cana Road area. Mr. Parker's is privately owned, where the Davie County Teen Center project is a group effort made up of representatives from all over the county.

Although both projects offer a place for teens, our project is separate and apart from the private effort of Mr. Parker. Hopefully, with the help of the community, we will accomplish our goal by providing a safe drug-free environment fro our future leaders. If you would like to get involved with our effort, please contact Vicki Robinson at the Parks and Recreation Department at 751-2325.

Cooleemee Civitan Club Sends Out Thanks

To the editor:

The Cooleemee Civitan Club would like to send their sincere gratitude and appreciation to all the people who generously donated items for our recent auction. Also to the club members who gave up a lot of time and effort to make this such a huge success. We are also very grateful to all the fine people who came out and supported our cause to raise funds for our upcoming projects. It was a win-win situation for everyone involved.

We also want to express our gratitude to Keith Marcady and Terry Brown, auctioneers, who donated their time and energy to make this possible. Not only did they call the auction in a nice professional manner, but also they made sure we had everything available to make this event a smooth-running event.

Again, thank you Davie County for helping us help you.

Messages Of Hate Leave Reader Disappointed

To the editor:

It's your paper to run as you see fit, but I was extremely disappointed that you allowed Don Jenkins to use the Enterprise to verbally, personally attack Mr. Sidden and the other gentlemen who dared disagree with Jenkins on the Confederate Flag issue.

To have differing viewpoints is one thing, but to get "down in the gutter" by calling those who disagree a fool, as Jenkins did, does not bear effective testimony to his title "Reverend." Jenkins goes to great efforts to impress on us how educated he is but he has failed to learn one of life's great but simple lessons is that when you are tearing someone down you have to be one level below them - like in the gutter.

All I could get out of Jenkins' two letters, particularly the second, was pure and simple hate. I could feel hate coming off the paper. Jenkins does gross injustice to the name of Christ with his hypocritical tirade. The Enterprise "drops a notch when it permits (promotes) these messages of hate as cultivated by Jenkins. Shame on you.

I sincerely hope that in the future the hate content of letters to the editor can be considered and eliminated prior to publications. That would not be censorship. You have the right and the duty not to print hate messages such as Jenkins'.

Letter Honors Special Doctor In The Community

To the editor:

I am writing this letter about a very special doctor respected in our community that will be retiring the end of this July. His name is Dr. George Kimberly of the Medical Associates of Davie in Mocksville. This is the best way I know to honor him as physician and friend and for the many years of service in the medical profession.

We need more compassionate, caring, understanding physicians that take the time to talk with patients and not at them. Dr. Kimberly always took the time to listen while treating the whole person as an important individual, not an object.

By his example, it is my hope that other physicians will keep this in mind as they come in contact with their patients. I can say this from past experience and trouble of finding a caring physician; therefore, it has blessed my heart having found Dr. Kimberly over seven years ago. During these years I've had my ups and downs with a few words of anger a time or two, yet, with Dr. Kimberly's patience, gift of discernment and spoken truth, he never gave up on me. I have learned from him. For all this I will always be grateful.

There come s a time in each person's life when it becomes necessary to move on; so, now I speak for all the patients and staff, past and present, that will miss Dr. Kimberly, along with sharing all best wishes for him and his family, and our prayers. There are no goodbyes. There is an appreciation, a thank you, a warm smile, and a hug when we meet. God Bless you.

Exchanges Are Fueled With Bigotry, Not Compassion

To the editor:

With some interest I have been reading the public exchange between Messrs. Myers, Robbins, Sidden, and Jenkins. I have no desire to interject any facts or opinions into their discussion. My comments concern attitude.

Mr. Sidden's latest offering, published July 13, was gracious and conciliatory, while that of Mr. Jenkins was an exceptional "cussin'," the best I have heard or read in several years. Although it was thankfully void of vulgar and coarse language, which certainly made it rise above the common, it was, none-the-less, a "cussin."

Brother Jenkins (in the spirit of Galatians 6), I observe that from your excellent, God-given intellect you exhibit arrogance, not humility; for your superior education you exhibit pride, not gratitude; and to those with whom you disagree you express bigotry instead of compassion and conciliation. The tone is more like a militant, fundamentalist Muslim than a Spirit-filled Christian. Therefore, I beg you, please study Romans 12:14-21 with an open heart.

Those who are not Christian and might be considering accepting The Way may wonder if this is the way Christians act toward those with whom we disagree. Please let me assure you that, even though we are not perfect, most of us try to accept with compassion and charity those with whom we disagree, and with liberality to help those who are less fortunate - physically, mentally, and spiritually - than we. Thereby, obeying the commands of our Lord, we hopefully win them to the Kingdom and to a better and more bountiful life.

Lengthy Letters Are A Waste Of Space And Reading Time

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to say three things.

First, concerning the ongoing saga of the Civil War/Confederate Flag issue that has dominated these letters for the past several weeks - enough already. Let's move on to another subject.

Second, maybe you should consider changing the rules for letters to the editor. A limit on the length would be a welcome change. This would keep you from wasting your space, and me from wasting my time when reading them. If people don't stay within the set length then do what you get paid for - edit them. Maybe then people would get to the point and not be so likely to ramble.

Third, I'd like to say that Davie County is a great place to live and this paper does a good job of reporting the day-to-day events. However, I believe we could all benefit from more articles in the paper about the Davie County United Way - let the people know who they are and what they're about. They and the many organizations that fall under them are doing excellent work. Almost entirely run by dedicated volunteers, they are striving to help this community in countless ways, and I just think that everybody should know more about them.

It's Time To Move On ...

For several weeks now, the Enterprise Record has been printing letters from readers concerning the Confederate flag, and concerning the opinions of the writers of the letters. While we appreciate our readers' opinions on this issue, we've had enough. And many of our readers have told us that they've had enough as well.

This week's splattering of letters will be the last published on this issue.

Thank you for letting your opinion be heard, but let's change subjects.

South Yadkin Power Issues Statement

Hydroelectric development was authorized by Congress through the PURPA law to encourage production of pollution-free power from a largely wasted natural resource by small scale private initiative. Small hydroelectric power producers of the United States produce electricity utilizing old existing dams on rivers and creeks, with water wheels connected to generators, from a renewable resource that is not harmful to the environment.

The true history of Cooleemee is being enacted by South Yadkin Power, Inc.

South Yadkin Power, Inc. is a domestic corporation, licensed for the water power project, designated as Project No. 11264 in the records of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

South Yadkin Power Inc. believes it is time to defend itself against allegations that have been going on for some time now from the self-appointed spokesperson of the 'Cooleemee Park' and Historical Society. I have worked with the North Carolina Dept. of Cultural Resources very closely while compiling the Cultural Resources Management Plan for the Cooleemee Complex. I found Mr. David Brook, Renee Gladhill Early, Ellen Turco and others to be very professional and I commend them for their work and interest in our heritage. When these allegations began we passed them off knowing that no thinking person would be influenced by them and the source. Over time, I guess if something is repeated enough, it will gather a following.

1. Allegation of a grist mill at South Yadkin Power

We were involved with the project in the early 1990s - we know for a fact there is only a few stones left where the grist mill would have been many years before we came on the scene. This has been verified by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission who inspects regularly.

2. Allegations of not completing a 'Cultural Resources Management Plan'

In a letter signed by Mr. David Brook, Deputy State Historic Preservation Officer of the North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources, he stated, 'Thank you for your letter of July 15, 1997, transmitting the revised Cultural Resources Management Plan for the Cooleemee Dam Complex. The revision incorporates the recommendations outlined in our July 10, 1997 letter, and is acceptable to us.' Mr. Brook's letter was also sent to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the Cultural Resources Management Plan was put to rest years ago.

3. Alleged 'fish kill' by South Yadkin Power, Inc.

This happened in July, plant was not even running. This big fish kill was blamed on South Yadkin Power. Friends of the powers that be caught the fish, put them on the bank and took pictures of them. Need I say more?

4. Allegations that South Yadkin Power, Inc. is drying up the river.

Excerpt from federal license:

'Although spillage over the crest of the dam would be the environmentally preferable method of releasing the recommended minimum flow, the developmental costs of this alternative, less energy production, economic return, and pollution abatement outweigh its environmental advantages. Therefore, we are recommending that one of the dam's silt gates be used as the method of release.'

We would like to add that South Yadkin Power does not control the rains.

5. Allegations of not releasing enough water.

We have recently relocated our staff gauge to its proper place below the dam. When it was first installed we placed it on the dam to allow water over the dam if there was any water flowing. This has not satisfied the people we were trying to please so we will now operate as our Federal license dictates.

6. Allegations of diverting too much water and drying up the river

With the staff gauge on the dam, water running over the dam (when there was water), how did we divert too much water? License states we do not have to pass it over the dam. Documentation is sent to Federal Energy Regulatory Commission not the 'Rumley Inquiry.'

7. Allegations of destroying Cooleemee history

Letter dated March 5, 1992, from Mr. David Brook, Deputy State Historic Preservation Officer, State of North Carolina Dept. of Cultural Resources states, 'As stated in earlier letter, we have reviewed the project and have found that the changes to be made to the Cooleemee Dam Complex and the Burlington Industries building will not be visible from the surrounding roads. The dam project will only involve maintenance and the Burlington Industries Building project will be in the basement. Therefore, we have determined this project , as proposed, will have no adverse effect upon the Cooleemee Dam.'

8. Allegations that Breck Bullock, Corp. Manager of South Yadkin Power, failed to keep appointment to demonstrate water flow levels to reach agreement of water in main river channel.

South Yadkin Power, Inc. has reached an agreement with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to generate electricity and sell power. (Rules, regulations, water flows, have already been agreed upon.)

9. Allegations that South Yadkin Power is opposed to Cooleemee Park

A few years after the license had been issued to South Yadkin Power, Inc., Lynn Rumley approached us with the idea she had of a park and asked our opinion. We did not have any objection then and we still do not as long as she does not object to us having a power plant.

We would still like to work with sincere park people not out to put us out of business.

10. Allegations that South Yadkin Power has posted its land and will not allow public access to the river.

It is true that a lot of our land is posted and we will prosecute trespassers; however, we do allow access to the river. Posting was done after continual break-ins, damage and destruction, vandalism and theft, also bomb threats, that has cost us a lot of money. We have hired private detectives, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been called in on the case.

11. Allegations that historical artifacts have been found on property that the park would like to possess.

State Historical Preservation Office states that 'there are no known archaeological sites within the proposed project area and that it is unlikely that any archaeological resources which may be eligible for listing on the register would be affected by the project construction.'

We have already combed and covered all property of South Yadkin Power. The only artifacts or items of interest that we have found turned out to be crack pipes and whiskey bottles, but I'm confident that they were not left by the Indians.

12. Allegations that South Yadkin Power is not capable to complete the project.

The owners of South Yadkin Power, Inc., Lynn Bullock, Pearlie Bullock and Breck Bullock, already own two other power plants and have constructed and engineered others. We have never been out of compliance with any agency on regulations. Pearlie Bullock is the Compliance Manager for FERC on two projects.

The 'BULLHOLE' story also has another side. This side can be found in the police records of both Davie and Rowan County. Check the arrest of crack-heads, addicts, habitual law offenders and other such low life that is breeding at the 'BULLHOLE.' Pull the newspaper articles written about this worthy piece of history: "Ten to Fifteen People in Fight at Bullhole," "Man Beaten with Ball Bat at Bullhole Saturday Night," "Davie High Feud Ends as a Brawl at the Bullhole," "High School Star Athlete Drowns at Bullhole." These are only a sample, plenty more...

SOUTH YADKIN POWER, INC. is to begin the second phase construction on Aug. 1, 2000. Equipment will be arriving this month. Contractors and workers are in place but we anticipate a need for more workers.

Anyone objecting to the Cooleemee Power Plant had ample opportunity to protest and be heard. It was published in all the local papers before the license was issued. It is a little late, and very unfair, to use unscrupulous means to try and cause problems for people making a living by working.

Enclosed here are the simple, honest facts if your paper is interested in honesty.

Water At Bullhole At Center Of Controversy

channel directly below the dam," the news release said. "This is the area known as the Bullhole. Our concern is that by diverting all but three percent of the water from this area, another of our historic landmarks may be lost, as we lost the Old Square in 1963."

Bullock said that three percent figure is false.

"We're doing what we're allowed to do. If they've got a problem with that, they need to get the laws changed."

The Bullocks claim that a fish kill reported in 1997, when the plant first started operation, was a fake, that fish were caught, thrown on the bank and a photograph taken. They say that property has been vandalized, and they've posted it for no trespassing.

The Rumleys claim that because they've questioned the project with regulating authorities, the Bullocks have changed their attitude, moving gauges where they can't be monitored, and posting the property so that what they're doing can't be monitored.

"We really had no problems until they decided to put this park in," Bullock said, "and they realized that we own the land on the Davie side from the dam all the way past the mill, and we also control the water rights. They realized that with us in the picture, they would have trouble with Cooleemee Falls (the proposed name of the park)."

The company has been producing electricity off and on since 1997, using two turbines and a generator. Another turbine is being added this summer, and they hope that within two years they will have a turbine at the old grist mill site that will allow them to operate more in low flow situations.

"With all the controversy and dry year, there hasn't been the water there to run it," Bullock said. "Everything that's coming down the river is coming right through the Bullhole." The plant has operated for 24 hours in the last two months.

Bullock said they tried to work with park proponents, and offered to sell the land before second phase construction began. They offered to help the group operate the electrical generators, but were turned down.

Hydroelectric power is environmentally friendly, Bullock said. Large power companies are required to buy what small operators produce. "It is a renewable resource. It would take about 50,000 tons of coal to produce the amount of electricity we could produce in a year. We take the water and put it right back in the river."

But that water goes back into the river several hundred feet below what would be the center of the park. And that's what worries the historical association.

"RiverPark at Cooleemee Falls was planned after two years of discussion with community members and consultants with N.C. State's Recreation Resource Services," the CHA news release said. "The Town of Cooleemee received a $250,000 Parks and Recreation Trust Fund grant from the state in June to purchase the land needed for the park and begin development. Fund raising efforts have begun to match the grant dollars as required by the state. Land negotiations have also begun.

"The Cooleemee Historical Association has, and will continue to, voice concerns about water levels at the Bullhole to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) and other appropriate governmental agencies."

In a letter to FERC on July 18, Jim Rumley, CHA president, asked that South Yadkin Power's application for an amendment to its license be denied. That amendment would allow for the 64 cubic feet of water per second in the main channel.

If allowed, it would negatively influence the park project, Rumley wrote. "Under the existing license, between 600 and 700 feet of the main river channel will be virtually dried up. It is this section of the river that is most dear to the community and is now the focus of development as a public nature park."

Rumley called the amount of electricity produced and the clean air it produces "insignificant. "It is impossible to believe that Commission would allow the heart of Cooleemee's river and new park to be de-watered."

Rumley asked that the amendment be denied, and that the values used by South Yadkin power be reviewed. He claims that the company originally overstated the capacity for the plant, and went outside the normal licensing process in getting its first turbine running.

"We ask that the Commission reject South Yadkin Power's amendment because we believe it was not proposed in good faith," Rumley wrote. "We feel that the request to drop required water flow is ... part of an ongoing effort to intimidate the Cooleemee Historical Association, the RiverPark project, the town and its citizens from speaking up about the adverse effects of the hydro project on our community. Filing for this specific amendment, which has no immediate business purpose, closely follows and allegation of non-compliance and a letter of protest to the Commission from the Cooleemee Historical Association."

The power company cut off all water flow over the dam after a visit to the Rowan side by park and tourism officials, Rumley said, adding that water has been flowing over the race steps, going behind the island and offering no value to the company.

Breck, Lyn and Pearlie Bullock issued a statement last week that dealt with many of the historical association's claims. It is printed with this article in its entirety.

Bus Garage Employees Maintain State's Safest Fleet

Along with the best score in the state on their annual school bus inspection, Davie County School System was also awarded the Excellence in Pupil Transportation Award last year from the Institute for Transportation Research and Education. This award salutes Davie's efficiency and commitment to service.

Davie County uses a computer program called Transportation Information Management System (TIMS) to locate each student's home and map routes for drivers. This system has been a big cost reducer for the department and helps reduce expenditures in the budget, Naylor said.

Don't Get Burned!

You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:

- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:

- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

The board of trustees set a goal of $10 million, and the public phase will begin in October. Funds will be used to construct a new classroom building and for the renovation of Alumni Hall, which was built in 1914. Other objectives include increasing the endowment and enhancing the operational objectives.

"I am honored to have the opportunity to represent Oak Ridge Military Academy as the campaign's chairman," Mebane said. "It is an outstanding institution and deserves to have its history and traditions preserved into the 21st century and beyond.

"We have a challenging task ahead of us, but with diligence and teamwork, I am certain we can achieve the goals of this campaign and see the academy prosper."

Mebane is the vice president and general manager of Nonwovens, a new division of Unifi, Inc. It will begin operation in the first quarter of 2000, producing meltspun nonwoven fabrics with new manufacturing technology.

Mebane earned a masters of business administration degree from Wake Forest University. He was elected to the Oak Ridge Foundation Board of Trustees and the Oak Ridge Military Academy Board of Trustees in April 1999 and was one of five nominees for the academy's annual alumnus of the year award in October 1999.

He has served as the director of the Children's Home Society of North Carolina, the North Carolina Outward Bound School and the Alumni council of Babcock Graduate School of Management at Wake Forest University.

Oak Ridge provides education to young people in grades 7-21 as boarding or day students.

School Will Begin On Time

Dr. William Steed, school superintendent, has been faced with the same question every day: will the start of school be delayed? "Let me give an emphatic, No," said Steed at the July school board meeting. "We are not delaying school because we don't need to. All the schools are opening on time." School starts Thursday, Aug. 3.

Bus Garage Employees Recognized

During the board meeting, the Davie County school bus garage employees were recognized for their efforts to maintain the buses. In a letter to Dr. Steed after the annual school bus inspection, David Sluder wrote, "Your buses are in the best condition of any I have inspected this year." At a recent state transportation meeting, Davie County had the best inspection record out of 100 counties.

In order for the vocational program to meet the new guidelines set up by the Carl Perkins Act to receive state and federal funding, a new plan had to be submitted. This plan was approved by the board for submission to the State for approval. The changes required by the Act affect testing procedures and tracking, but do not change the courses offered by Davie High School.

Pre-K Screening Date Is August 1

Screening for the Davie County School's Pre-K class will be conducted Aug. 1.

If you have a 4-year-old and are interested in the Pre-K class, call the Preschool Office at 751-2491 for a screening appointment.

USDA will distribute $340 million to compensate tobacco farmers who suffered a reduction of tobacco quota or acreage for the 1999-2000 crop years.

As directed by Congress, farmers of designated types of tobacco will receive a portion of the $340 million to help defray lost income resulting from declining quotas and allotments. Eligible kinds of tobacco include: Flue-Cured types 11-14, Burley type 31, Fire-Cured type 21, and Cigar Filler/Binder types 54-55.

Sign-up at the Davidson-Davie County FSA Office begins on July 31 and ends on Sept. 1. Payments will reach farmers between Oct. 1-20.

Individual farm payments will be allocated evenly between farmers and quota owners for Flue-Cured and Cigar Filler/Binder tobaccos. Payments for Burley and Fire-Cured tobaccos will be split three ways between farmers, quota owners, and those in control of the quotas.

Red Cross Asking For Blood Donations Because Of Critical Shortage

Due to a blood shortage nationwide, the American Red Cross is asking for immediate blood and platelet donations to boost critically low supplies.

Virtually all of the Red Cross' 36 Blood Services regions have been appealing for donations in local communities in recent weeks. However, despite these efforts, a critical need for all blood types remains. All eligible donors are encouraged to call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE to schedule a blood donation appointment.

The Carolinas Blood Services Region of the American Red Cross, which serves 80 counties and 110 hospitals in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee, has been appealing for blood and platelet donations since mid-June. However, the available blood supply continues to remain at a day's supply or less for most blood types, particularly type O.

"Patients who need blood in emergency situations absolutely depend on a readily available supply," said Red Cross President and CEO Dr. Bernadine Healy. "No patient should ever be left to wonder if the lifesaving blood they need will be available to them. Cancer treatments, organ transplants and evolving medical procedures would not be possible without a safe and available blood supply. We urge all eligible blood donors to help us during this critical shortage by scheduling an appointment to donate blood - the gift of life."

Some of the hardest hit areas include major metropolitan cities such as Los Angeles, Detroit, Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia. With supply levels down nationwide, it has been difficult for regions that consistently have robust inventories throughout the year to help support these metropolitan areas. Last summer, local efforts were able to sustain the Red Cross' national blood supply and a nationwide appeal for blood was not needed.

Despite an overall increase in collections this year, higher demand has contributed to the summer blood shortage, an already challenging time for collections. Red Cross system-wide collections are more than 145,000 units ahead of last year at this time. Compared to 1999, hospital distribution this year of Red Cross blood was up 5.8 percent in April and 6.1 percent in May.

Historically, the summer months are a challenging time for blood centers. The most prominent factor affecting summer collections is that high schools, colleges and universities are on summer recess. During the non-summer months, this population accounts for approximately 15 percent of Red Cross blood collections. Other factors affecting the supply are that people have more options on how to spend their free time during the summer as they take vacations and engage in traditional summer activities.

"Whenever a natural disaster strikes, the overwhelming response the Red Cross receives from the public is what helps victims of that disaster carry on," Healy said. "A blood shortage is a disaster, and we need the same level of public support for this disaster as we do for a hurricane, tornado, flood or fire."

Volunteer blood donations help patients being treated for accidents, routine surgeries and serious diseases such as cancer, heart disease and hemophilia. Despite the fact that giving blood is easy, safe and takes less than one hour, only 5 percent of eligible Americans donate blood. To donate blood, one must be healthy, at least 17 years old, and weigh 110 pounds or more.

For more than 50 years, the American Red Cross has been the primary supplier of lifesaving blood and blood products in the United States. The Red Cross collects blood voluntarily donated by approximately 4.5 million donors, annually providing more than 6 million units of blood for patients nationwide.

Cooleemee Plans Drainage Workshop

The Town of Cooleemee will have a drainage workshop on Tuesday, Aug. 1, 6:30 p.m. at town hall.

It will also have an ordinance workshop on Thursday, Aug. 3, 6:30 p.m. at town hall.

Hunter Safety Course Planned

A hunter safety course will be taught Aug. 14, 15 and 16 by the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission in the Mocksville Wal-Mart snack bar.

Call 751-1266 to register.

Participants must be at 12 years old to be certified, and the course is required for anyone purchasing a hunting license for the first time.

64/Cornatzer Rd. Intersection Gets Improvements

At the request and assistance of Rep. Julia Howard (Davie), $150,000 has been allocated to widen a portion of U.S. Hwy. 64, creating a turn lane onto Cornatzer Road.

Heavy traffic from trucks traveling from I-40 to I-85 has caused a great amount of concern about road safety in the area, especially due to the new elementary school, Cornatzer Elementary School, which will open near the exit. "Bus safety is a top priority for all of us, the safety of our children," Howard wrote in a letter to Speaker of the House Jim Black requesting the funds.

With help from Sen. Betsy Cochrane; Howard was able to garner support from both legislative chambers and ultimately win approval for the project.

"I am very happy that this project was approved," Howard said. "It will improve our community and help make it a safer place."

An All Star: War Eagle Phillips Stands Out In East-West Game

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Duane Phillips of Davie County played a scant 11 minutes in the East-West All-Star boys basketball game July 18 at the Greensboro Coliseum.

But it was all he needed to leave his imprint on the 52nd-annual event for the greatest players in the state.

Capitalizing on every precious second, Phillips hit three of six shots, a 3-pointer and two free throws for nine points as the West shocked heavily-favored East 86-82 before nearly 5,000 fans.

"He did a great job," said Davie County coach Jim Young, who pleaded successfully for Phillips' selection after the 6-1 guard was snubbed by a previous all-star game. "It showed that he's definitely Division-I caliber. He didn't miss a beat with them. I was very proud of him. He represented Davie County, our conference and everything very well."

Phillips, who averaged 24.9 points, 4.5 rebounds and 4.3 assists while paving Davie's road to the sectional finals and a school-record 21 wins last season, amazingly played a pivotal role in the surprising outcome despite sitting down 21 of 32 minutes.

Duane Phillips drives to the basket.

"It's a shame he didn't get to play (more) because he was better than some of the ones that did," Young said. "But that's the way those all-star games are."

"Duane's a terrific kid who can really play," Harder said. "He's a scorer. I probably should have played him some in the fourth quarter."

Becoming the first male War Eagle to play in the East-West game since Dwayne Grant in 1977, Phillips wasted no time demonstrating why he scored 1,310 points his junior and senior seasons.

Entering the game at the 4:49 mark of the first quarter with the West trailing 16-8, Phillips immediately drilled a 3-pointer from the wing and came right back with two free throws, temporarily becoming the leading scorer on a team that featured N.C. State-bound Scooter Sherrill of West Rowan.

"What got me hyped was when we were warming up, seeing all those people out there that we were about to play in front of," Phillips said. "It was a nice experience.

"I just felt pumped up. The whole week I knew I could play with those guys. It wasn't anything different."

Although Dan Anderson of West Caldwell consumed 29 minutes as the primary point guard, backup Phillips made vital plays in the third quarter that repelled an East team that boasted several Division-I signees. His layup provided a 56-54 lead that the West protected the rest of the way, and his 15-footer from the elbow made it 59-56.

"He went in and made things happen," Young said. "He was on. He was ready to play. That was the thing I was pleased to see. I knew he (belonged), but to actually see the top kids in the state out there and him playing right with them was something."

Despite the third-quarter spark, Phillips remained on the bench throughout the fourth and got less time than everyone else.

But Phillips, showing the class, smile and gracefulness that Davie fans came to admire, declined to portray the limited role as a disappointment. Instead of moping on the bench, he cheered teammates vigorously as the West hung on in the closing seconds.

"I was happy just to be in there," he said. "I'm not used to (sitting), but it was an all-star game and I know we've all got to get equal time. I knew once I got in there that I really did my job, so I wanted to support them and wanted to get the win."

In another show of class, Phillips, who hadn't carried a heavy point-guard load since his sophomore year, gave credit for his short yet strong showing to the one who ate his playing time.

"I learned from (Anderson)," he said. "I just watched him, saw how he did things and tried to adjust back to how I played point as a sophomore. It just came back to me. I felt more responsible and in the game."

Notes: The East, which was expected to roll and thus coasted through workouts, got what it deserved, Phillips said. "We had two practices (per day on July 16-17). We stayed busy constantly," he said. "We were told the whole week that we weren't going to win. They said the East had better talent and much more height, but we worked harder in practice than they did. They didn't practice hard at all, and it paid off for us." ... Phillips, who plans to play two years of junior-college ball before pursuing the Division-I level, will leave for Spartanburg on Aug. 20.

A Determined Fighter

Davie's Lisa Lanier Fences Her Way To U.S. Paralympic Team

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

ATLANTA - Lisa Lanier is going to the Olympics.

The 28-year-old Davie native will be in Sydney, Australia this October competing for the United States Paralympic fencing team.

Those who know Lisa aren't surprised. When she puts her mind to it, she can do almost anything.

Davie native Lisa Lanier will fence for the United States in the 2000 Paralympic Games in Sydney, Australia.

After all, this little girl, born two months premature with the brittle bone disease osteogenesis imperfecta, wasn't supposed to live until age 3.

But she did.

But with the help of her mother, she did, playing in the marching band. Then she went on to graduate from college, living on her own.

Every time Lisa Lanier got a challenge, she met it. To get her to be successful, all someone had to do was tell her it wasn't possible.

She was living in Winston-Salem when she was introduced to the sport of fencing from her wheelchair. Always wanting to participate in sports but unable to do so competitively, Lisa went at the sport with a full head of steam.

It wasn't long before she headed for Atlanta, a hotspot for fencers with physical disabilities.

"I left Davie County with nothing but my swords and my van and some CDs, not knowing what in the hell was going to happen," she said.

She lived with a friend for a while, but soon got her own apartment. She got a job with Benefits America, a company that helps the terminally ill sell life insurance policies. It's a good job, with a company that is supportive of her efforts.

"After that happened, it gave me a great deal of confidence," she said. "Now, there ain't nothing I can't do."

Getting to be named one of the top three physically disabled fencers in the country wasn't an easy task.

She works from 9-6 every weekday. On Mondays and Wednesday nights, she goes for rehab on a broken leg (She's broken so many bones in her life she stopped counting a long time ago.). On Tuesdays and Thursdays, she takes the hour drive from her Buckhead apartment to Marietta for hour-long fencing lessons.

On Friday nights, she takes foil lessons. On Saturdays, it's five-hour practices at the Shepherd Center, a hospital and gymnasium for the disabled.

"We're their most successful sports team," she said with pride. Five of the eight U.S. Olympic fencers train at the Shepherd Center.

Lanier has competed in bouts across the United States, and since October, has been to Budapest, Hungary, Spain, and Italy. Traveling overseas has been a wonderful, but cumbersome experience.

On those weekends, she leaves work at lunch on Thursday and a coworker drives her to the airport. She has her bags packed, and gets on the airplane, arriving in the foreign country the next day.

Jeff Lankford Takes Win In Low Country Golf Open

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Jeff Lankford finished 17th in a Buy.com tournament in Raleigh, left the golf clubs in the garage for two weeks while vacationing at Myrtle Beach and Disney World and returned home a mere day before embarking on a tournament near Hilton Head.

An extended vacation on the heels of a modest showing doesn't seem like a formula for success in the Low Country Open, but Lankford somehow emerged from his two-week break stronger than he's been in quite awhile.

The Mocksville resident who is among the country's top club pros fired a 69-71-70 to capture the Low Country Open.

"I didn't even take my clubs with me the two weeks we were gone and just didn't do anything," the former N.C. State standout said. "I wasn't expecting much.

"We spent a week at the beach, went straight from there to Disney World, drove back about 6 o'clock Sunday night, and then I left out the very next morning – so I was pretty give out and didn't really know what I was going to do."

He did far more than anyone else. Playing amid toaster conditions that peaked at 102 degrees, Lankford produced a 6-under-par total for three rounds, won the event by five strokes and hauled off $4,200 for wife Angela and three young kids.

"It's nothing like the Buy.com,

Kannapolis Comeback Leaves M-D Shellshocked

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville-Davie's Legion baseball team was poised, confident and just one victory from facing Rowan County in the area finals and then competing in the nine-team state tournament.

The Area III semifinals against ninth-seed Kannapolis seemed like a formality, particularly after No. 4 Mocksville responded from a crushing 6-5 game-one loss with 14-1 and 12-2 wipeouts.

Life was a beach for an offensive juggernaut that had blitzed Troy, overwhelmed alleged power Asheboro and evoked historical comparisons to the late 1980s and early '90s while seizing a commanding 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series against Kannapolis. The 13- and 10-run blowouts in games two and three were not that close, and Kannapolis had surely run out of magic after rallying past No. 8 Lexington and stunning No. 1 Eastern Randolph in previous rounds. Coach Joe Hubbard's classic overachievers were in a tailspin and nothing short of a miracle could save them.

Please See Mocksville - Page B2

Shelton Howard of Mocksville, shown batting, fielding and throwing, has been called one of the best baseball players his age, and is playing inthe world tournament in Louisiana this month.

Shelton Howard Playing For Angels In World Tourney

Shelton Howard of The Carolina Angels was named most valuable player of the North Carolina USSSA baseball tournament this year.

The Angels will play inthe world tournament in Lafayette, La., this month.

And a miracle it was. In the most improbable reversal in memory, Kannapolis rose from the dead, won games four and five (10-6, 11-8) and underlined an old adage: It's not the size of the dog in the fight, it's the size of the fight in the dog.

"It was like the 1960 World Series," right fielder Steve LeFaivre said, pointing to Pittsburgh's shocker over the New York Yankees after Mocksville went home despite outscoring Kannapolis 45-30 in the series. "They caught a lot of breaks and hung around. Hang around and anything can happen.

"I think we had a lot better offense and we played really well defensively, but they just hung around I guess."

A memorable season was in the making as Mocksville won 19 of 23, including four of five (counting the regular season) against Kannapolis, but the collapse by a team laden with 18-year-olds somewhat tainted the season and left folks with a bittersweet perception.

"We had a great year (24-10) compared to what we did last year (9-21), but I thought this group – once we got to where we were – was going to be a lot more because this was a really special group," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "It's tough losing seven starters because it's seven good ones."

Eight days later, the sour taste remained as Lovelace returned from the beach for the start of football minicamp at Davie County. The bitterness lingered because Mocksville was clearly stronger in several vital areas: hitting, pitching, depth, speed, power.

"I still think about it," he said, "because it was such a great group of guys. We ended up losing to make it 2-2, and anything can happen in the last game. We may have been the better team on paper, but by golly they got after it."

When the dust cleared, Kannapolis' incredible rally from a 5-1 deficit in the ninth inning for a 6-5 game-one win became a hot topic once again. If Mocksville averts that and doesn't give up a grandslam to the seventh-place batter, it quite likely sweeps the series.

"We should have killed that team," LeFaivre said. "I guess I could see it coming after Game One. That was the real turning point I think. That would have been a big game to win.

"It gave them a little hope. It gave them the light. They saw they had a chance to win after that. You look back at that game. We should have killed that team."

Lovelace

LeFaivre

While Mocksville boasted five pitchers with impressive numbers, Kannapolis' staff consisted of Bobby Helms and the staff. But behind a gutsy complete game, Helms willed Kannapolis to the 10-6 win that tied the series at 2-2, and bizarre things happened in Game Five: A 15-year-old, Jonathan Goodman, batting .150 belted a three-run double for a 6-5 Kannapolis lead, and Mocksville's Cody Wright suffered a scary injury that required a trip to the emergency room with the game tied at 7-7. After fanning two to strand a scoring-position runner in the seventh and blowing away the side in the eighth, Wright crashed to the ground on a pitch in the ninth. Fortunately, it wasn't as serious as it looked (presumably a strained tendon).

Battering a running-on-fumes Erik Walker, who had one day's rest before impromptu relief of Wright, Kannapolis poured across four runs to clinch it 11-8.

"Cody was pitching great," LeFaivre said. "He was pitching harder than I think I've ever seen him pitch. Maybe he overdid it, but I think he could have shut them down. ... It was tough on Walker because he'd pitched two days before.

"I wish we were still playing because I know we could have beaten Rowan County – or given them a good match – and then we would have had a good chance in the state tournament."

Time heals all wounds, and thus a week later LeFaivre could reflect fondly on the 2000 ride that saw seven starters exhaust their eligibility: Zach Greene, LeFaivre, Drew Ridenhour, Chris Brake, Matt Dellacona, Skipp Crider and Kevin Shuping.

"It was a big improvement," said LeFaivre, who hit .383 or better all three years, including .400 twice for an unprecedented feat. "In the end it was fun, and that's the most important thing. I had a great time. I met a lot of new people, made a lot of new friends. That's the most important thing I think."

Injury To Cody Wright Derails Mocksville Legion In Game 5

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Even though Kannapolis had become known for miracle rallies and even though Mocksville-Davie had blown a 5-2 lead and found itself tied heading into the ninth inning, Mocksville appeared to be in good shape with Cody Wright on the mound in Game Five of the American Legion Area III semifinals.

Wright

The 16-year-old righty had struck out five in two previous innings, including Dusty Carmichael, the batter with two on and one out in the top of the ninth. You can easily imagine Wright, who was 7-2 coming in and 12-3 for Davie High and Legion combined, getting Carmichael, finding away to preserve the tie and Mocksville scoring one (which it did) in the bottom of the ninth for the clinching win.

Wright, working on two days rest after tossing a complete-game gem in which he gave up five hits, one unearned run and struck out eight in a 14-1 rout in Game Two, felt the weight of a state-tournament berth on his shoulders and tried to carry the load.

But fate wouldn't have it. On a pitch that hit Carmichael, loaded the bases and led to a four-run uprising that sapped Mocksville's spirit in an 11-8 season-ending loss, Wright collapsed to the ground and squirmed in unyielding pain, clutching his elbow.

"I was in my bed-like chair, and boy as soon as he fell down, I jumped up, flew down, grabbed him and we were headed for (the emergency room)," David said. "I just freaked and got him to the hospital as soon as I could.

"(Teammates) said they heard it pop, that's what got me. Andrew Daywalt and several people said they heard it pop and thought he'd torn it loose or something."

Wright presumably revved the engine too high three days removed from his previous appearance, but he was so dominant over 11 innings against Kannapolis that the notion of coming out never crossed Wright's hungry mind.

"I felt it a couple pitches before that, but it was just real minor pain," he said. "I didn't want to come out, it was too big a game. I think I was throwing a lot harder than I usually do. I usually throw about 87, so I think I was throwing around 90.

That's why Mocksville would have likely advanced to the Area III finals against Rowan County and advanced to this week's state tournament in Caldwell County if it weren't for the fatal pitch that knocked out Wright and prompted Mocksville to turn to its last available pitcher, Erik Walker, who relieved just two days after hurling a complete-game gem in a 12-2 seven-inning drubbing in Game Three.

"It really popped," said Davie's rising junior, who wound up with a hard-luck loss. "I just fell to the ground it hurt so bad. I think it scared me more than it hurt, though. I was really scared about my career, that I'd done something really bad that couldn't be fixed."

"He was just throwing too hard, too soon," David said. "When you hear him grunt like that ... he can't do many pitches like that. I'd love to have one of those clocked. He started out throwing like that, and he can't do that. When he grunts, he's throwing every little bit he's got."

FORTUNATELY for Davie County, Mocksville and most importantly Cody, the injury looked much worse than it turned out. While he was scheduled to see an orthopedic specialist on July 24, a strained tendon was the preliminary diagnosis and Cody felt fine as he left the hospital at 3:30 a.m.

"The ER doctor said just a strained tendon," David said. "We haven't seen a specialist yet, but he's not in a lot of pain. He's used it and everything. He's going to start playing for the Carolina Vikings (AAU team soon), and their coach said you'd strained a tendon when you hear them pop like that. The ER doctor said he'd be out probably 10 days."

Davie High Soccer Tryouts Aug. 1

Tryouts for the Davie County High boys soccer team will begin Aug. 1 from 10 a.m. to noon at Central Davie.

Paralympics In Australia Next Stop For Fencer From Davie

Some foreign countries, and airlines, aren't as handicapped friendly as the United States, she said.

After arriving in the hotel on Friday, she sleeps that night and then goes to the Saturday tournament, which usually lasts about 12 hours. It's the same schedule on Sunday, and after a little celebration on Sunday night, she's back on a plane to Atlanta. She's at work again on Tuesday.

A relative new spon the United States, European fencers far outrank them. Some are paid to fence full-time, and many have been fencing for a long time.

Lisa's mother, Vicki Bullard of the Cornatzer community in Davie County, has been with her most of the way. She's been named the manager of the United States team, and designed the logo which the team sports.

Her daughter, Vicki said, is highly competitive. You might even say she's possessed.

"If I lose a bout, I replay it in my mind a million times," Lisa said. "I'm my worst critic, I'm so hard on myself."

Almost all of the fencers Lisa faces are much larger, with average size bodies and disabilities later in life. Lisa is the only one with her condition, and she's also the only one on the U.S. team who lives alone.

"It's because I'm so short (under 4 feet) and so little," she said. "I'm usually not a vocal person, but I get into this zone. All I see is my opponent and my director and my coach. I can hear momma but I don't want to see her.

"I don't know what's going on with everybody else. I growl, I yell and when I mess up, I yell at myself and roll my eyeballs."

To imagine her disadvantage, think about the start of a bout, when the fencers stretch out their swords. Lisa's sword is usually at her opponent's elbow, theirs at her shoulder.

"That's usually why my bouts last so long. I have to wait for my opponent to come to me. For every move they make, I make about four. You have to be quick and able to think ahead.

"It's like a chess match. It has been coined physical chess. That's one of the major reasons I like it, not only is it physical, it's very challenging mentally."

Lisa thinks her intelligence gives her an edge. "My strategy and my strength in my arms are two of my biggest strengths," she said. "I'm getting quicker, but I'm still not quick enough."

Lisa Lanier has always had a goal in life, and she's about to reach another. After the Paralympics, she knows she will have to take some time off to let her broken leg heal. She's not sure, but most likely after that, she will begin training for the 2004 Olympics. She thinks she can medal by then.

"A big part of me wants to continue, because I know if I continue training the way I have, I can medal," she said.

After that, she wants to coach, and help young people with disabilities to be active in sports, especially fencing. "That was not available to me as a child. I already have it in my head how I want to do some things."

Lisa's coach is Janusz Mlynarz. And the team works hard. There's a mini-camp for the team in Atlanta Aug. 5-6, and an eight-day training camp in September at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs. On Oct. 8, they leave for Australia and the Paralympics, returning Nov. 1. Fencing bouts are scheduled Oct. 20-24.

Her mother is proud, and rightfully so. She still gets the goose bumps when thinking about Lisa rounding the track for the opening ceremonies for the World Championships in Germany in 1998. "There's nothing like seeing your young'un compete at this high a level," she said.

"Nothing I've ever done or will ever do would have been possible without the support of my family and friends." Her grandmother, Vicki's mother, Anne Barnhardt, made a quilt to sell to help pay Lisa's expenses. Aunt Kristi and others are always there.

"And my friends, I've got friends I didn't know I had. Everybody's been real supportive."

A college friend who lives in California read an article about Lisa that had appeared in the Atlanta Journal Constitution on the internet, and sent an email to his parents. They sent her $100.

It takes a minimum of $16,000 a year to compete on that level, Lisa said. Tax deductible donations are accepted at the Atlanta Disabled Sports Donation, 715 Saddle Creek Circle, Roswell, GA 30076. Note that the donation is for Lisa Lanier.

"It's been an amazing response and I feel very fortunate," she said.

"I hope to do well and do my hometown and my country well."

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

By Dr. Susan Sykes Chiropractic Physician

Dislocated Shoulder?

Do you have a severe pain in your shoulder? Perhaps it is dislocated. The shoulder joint has the greatest range of motion of any other joint in the body and is more prone to dislocation. Simply, dislocation is when the joint is pulled out of the socket, because the arm is beyond its range of motion. Many severe shoulder injuries that cause dislocation are due to a direct trauma such as a fall from a bike or a skiing accident. Once you dislocate a shoulder joint, the chance of dislocating again are greatly increased because the tendons and muscles that hold the shoulder in place have been stretched.

Severe pain is usually the first sign of a dislocated shoulder. Your shoulder and chest may have muscles spasms, and your arm may become limp and/or feel out of place. After your arm has been put back into its socket, the area may still be very painful, especially during movement. Other symptoms include neck and/or upper back pain, headaches and arm pain. If you are concerned about a dislocated shoulder, make an appointment with your doctor of chiropractic for a complete examination. Depending on the situation, he or she will adjust the shoulder back into its socket, suggest X-rays or further diagnostic testing, perform joint and muscle therapy and/or provide rehabilitation and recommend ways to prevent further injury.

Lankford Gaining Momentum For Qualifying School

but it's one of the big ones in our section and one of our points tournaments," he said. "I had a second place and a couple third-place finishes last year, but I hadn't won one since '98.

"I guess (after getting away) you're relaxed and you don't expect a whole lot out of yourself."

The impressive victory established momentum as Lankford, 36, gears up for another run at the PGA Tour. Once again he plans to attend PGA Qualifying School in the fall, an opportunity that has been made possible by LeBleu president Jerry Smith, who revived Lankford's career with a sponsorship that covers golf expenses.

"Jerry has been one of the best things to happen to me," said Lankford, who will play in four or five more Buy.com tournaments before qualifying school. "He's helped me stay so positive, so this has been just wonderful. I was kind of looking for a sales job and I talked with Jerry. He kept saying that maybe I need to keep playing, and we worked out a sponsorship.

"So as long as I have that deal, I'll probably pursue (the PGA Tour) pretty heavy. What I've worked out with him has really taken a lot of pressure off."

Expecting More Of The Same

Lankford is hardly surprised at Tiger Woods' stranglehold on the PGA world. Woods, 24, just became the fastest player to win all four majors, and he's nowhere close to being satisfied.

"I think he really has a good shot to win all four in one year," Lankford said. "That's never been done, and it wouldn't surprise me if he did that one year. He says he's only playing 75 percent of his capability. I'd hate to see it if he's not showing all he's got."

Lankford has had the pleasure of watching Woods from close range. "I watched him hit balls at a couple PGAs I've played in, and it's pretty amazing to watch," he said.

David Phelps Wins TOP Eliminator At Farmington Dragway

Taking the $4,000 TOP Eliminator paycheck was Clemmons' David Phelps in his Chevrolet Monza. The veteran Phelps defeated 20-year-old Brian "BB" Williams of Kernersville for his first win of 2000 out of the over 100 TOP Eliminator entries. Phelps ran an 8.52 ET at 103 MPH to stop the Chevy powered Dragster of Williams. Brian regained the Quality Oil TOP Eliminator division points lead with this big runner-up finish. He now has a 60-point lead over Dan Whisnant with eight races remaining.

Veteran "Foot Braker" Julian Lewis of Greensboro scored his first Sportsman division win of the year taking the $2,000 first prize check. Lewis turned the Farm's 1/8th mile drag course in 7.84 seconds at 89 MPH to defeat the "Hit Man," Michael Spaugh of Advance.

Six year Drew Moffitt of Wallburg scored his first career Street Machine Junior Dragster win over Buddy Baker from Asheboro. Drew is a third generation drag racer, as his dad, Lee, and grandpa, Terry, both race at Farmington.

Featured Saturday night, July 29, will be the Quality Oil Co. Quick 8-PRO MOD Shootout. Todd Tutterow of Lewisville will lead the world's "quickest and fastest" eight PRO MOD's, as the defeating champion of this event. Quality Oil points will be up for grabs in TOP Eliminator and Sportsman classes. Gates will be open at 10 a.m. Time trials start at 12:30 p.m. and final eliminations begin at 6 p.m.

For more information call 336-993-2982 or 766-5861.

Rec Department Plans Golf, Softball Leagues

There will be leagues for golf, coed softball and men's open softball through the Mocksville-Davie Recreation Department starting in August.

Playing one night a week, the men's open league will have unlimited home runs. The rec will supply bats and balls. The entry fee is $225 for the first six teams to sign up.

The golf league will start Aug. 7, playing each Monday at Hickory Hill at 5:15 p.m. Only 10 teams will be allowed, and the deadline for entry is July 21. The cost is $50 for each four-person team.

Coed softball will start in mid-August and play through early October. The deadline for entry is Aug. 1. Any one can play this year; there's a $15 fee if you do not live or work full-time in Davie County. League nights will be Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

DHS Football Practice July 29

Davie County's first official practice will be July 29 at 9:30 a.m.

JV players are to report Aug. 2 at 3 p.m. in the gym to receive equipment. Their first practice will follow at 5:30 p.m.

War Eagle Volleyball Tryouts Aug. 1

Thirty-one kids attended new coach Dave Markland's camp recently. "I was very excited to see the amount of interest," he said. "The girls worked very hard all week, and I saw a lot of improvement. That's an encouraging sign leading into the season."

A Big Bass

Amelia Grubb caught this 9.25 pound largemouth bass at about dusk July 15 at a local farm pond. She was using a rubber worm when she landed the lunker. The daughter of Mark and Melanie Grubb, she was fishing with her father and brother, Bradly.

Kenny Stone Shoots Ace

Using a 4-iron on the par-3 No. 4 hole, Stone drained the hole-in-one from roughly 160 yards out as Bobby Wall, Michael Hunter, Jeff Wilson and Kevin Robertson looked on.

"It's one of those things you think about happening but you don't think it ever will. It's my first one and probably my last one," Stone said, chuckling.

"They said it went in," Stone said. "I thought it was short, so I helped Jeff find his ball. Then I walked up and there it was."

Davie Law Wins Open League

Top-seed Summer's beat No. 3 Davie Law to win the open-league softball tournament last week at Rich Park.

Tatum's, which tied Summer's for the regular-season title, got upset in the tournament.

The church tournament belonged to the underdogs as No. 7 Redland beat No. 4 Cooleemee Hardison in the finals. Victory and Blaise were the top finishers, respectively, in the regular season.

Brite Future For Not-So-Bright Roofs: American Roof-Brite To The Rescue

American Roof-Brite has the answer for those unsightly, if not damaging stains that appear on shingle roofs. Professional roof cleaner and American Roof-Brite owner Don Sunday is the expert behind the business. With over 30 years of roof-cleaning experience, American Roof-Brite has the knowledge and technical skill to kill roof fungus spores, the usual cause of the black or discoloring stains on asphalt and fiberglass shingles.

Don bought his American Roof-Brite dealership over four years ago, after researching the company and its product. What he likes to impress upon his customers is the method he uses to clean roofs.

The first step is to apply an environmentally safe, biodegradable cleaning compound to the roof area. This application sits on the roof for several minutes. The formula eats away at the cause of the roof stains, fungus. This is one of the steps that separates American Roof-Brite from other roof cleaners, who just spray the roof with a high-pressure wash.

The next step for Don is a low-pressure/high volume wash. Don is passionate to let his clients know that this low-pressure wash is an important difference in roof cleaning technique. Most people assume that what a roof needs is a high-pressure wash. This, Don says, could not be farther from the truth. In fact, a high-pressure wash usually causes damage to a roof, tearing up shingles from the roof, which can result in interior water damage. Not good. The low-pressure/high volume method used by American Roof-Brite has been trusted by homeowners for over 30 years.

The third, and final step that Don incorporates, is the application of a stainblocker, or sealer. This layer of protection is guaranteed to prevent fungus growth for three years.

Roof stains are not just ugly, but the fungus that causes them can damage your home. Merely washing your roof is not enough. The three-step process used by Don Sunday and American Roof-Brite is an environmentally safe, professionally proven method for killing roof fungus, and preventing it.

Install Beautiful Floor Coverings With Bermuda Carpet Center

"We hired Bermuda Carpet Center to install 2800 square feet of carpet in our church," said Beroth, chairman of the Building Committee at Brookstown Methodist. We were carpeting five classrooms and a choir room.

A former building contractor himself, Beroth selected Bermuda Carpet Center to do the work for his church. He says that they are very pleased.

"I would recommend them to anyone. Bill Burton is great to work with, " said Beroth. "We are well-satisfied."

Bermuda Carpet Center, located in the Bermuda Quay Shopping Center in Advance, off Highway 158, has a showroom overflowing with state-of-the-art samples of carpet, hardwood flooring, ceramic tiles, vinyl and Formica laminated flooring. Bermuda Carpet has a decorating style to fit every budget, from small bathrooms to large kitchens and playrooms, dining rooms and dens.

Bill Burton, manager at Bermuda Carpet, says that the flooring industry is continually upgrading their products to provide superior quality for a reasonable price.

We have the new Formica flooring, which looks like a hardwood floor, but has a 15-year comprehensive warranty, says Burton. It is guaranteed by the manufacturer against water damage, stains, wear, fading and manufacturing defects. There are no grout lines to collect dirt; and it wont dent or scratch."

The new Formica flooring has a top laminate that the company says is so water-resistant, that it can even be used outdoors. In 1997, dealers across the United States voted Formica flooring the 1997 Dealers Choice Award for Best Laminate Flooring Product. And this versatile product comes in a cornucopia of colors, patterns, and styles.

Ask Bill or sales associate Brad Tuttle about the many plush grades of Columbus, Shaw, Philadelphia or Salem carpets available for your home or business. Bermuda Carpet also carries durable vinyl flooring by Armstrong and Congoleum. Or replace those worn traffic areas in your home with the exquisite polished beauty of a new hardwood floor by Harris-Tarkett.

Local College Student Witnesses Historic Elections In Mexico

Jason Sheets recently returned home to Davie County from a six week stay in Mexico. He was there for a program offered through his college in advanced grammar and Mexican civilization. But Sheets visit involved more than just classes and studying, he was present for a historic election that changed Mexico's presidential reign.

Sheets is a rising senior at Western Carolina University. He is 20 years old and after he graduates with a teaching degree in English, and a minor in Spanish, he would like to pursue high school teaching. "It was amazing, the importance of being there on election day," said Sheets.

The two opposing parties in Mexico's presidential campaign were the PRI (Institutional Revolutionary Party) and the PAN (National Action Party). "The PRI has been in power since 1929 and has never lost a presidential election," according to Sheets. However, the reign of the PRI party has been littered with tales of fraud and corruption.

Sheets was staying in Puebla, a city in east central Mexico that is about the size of Raleigh. When the announcement that the PRI party had lost its 71 year presidential reign was broadcast Sheets reported hearing sirens and people screaming in celebration. "Here we take our right to vote so lightly," he said, "I was thinking, these people would stand in line for hours to vote."

Sheets also spoke of the traditions and customs of Mexico and how they are a wonderful thing. He told of his experience with the people. "They are so generous, so friendly, and such wonderfully nice people." A group of children rushed up to him and his college classmates asking them questions and wanting them to speak English.

Sheets doesn't have plans to return to Mexico immediately but would like to visit again someday. "You can't be patriotic, you can't appreciate what you have until you travel."

Entertainment Showcase Saturday Night

On Saturday night, go to The Brock for a night of varied entertainment.

Hear classical music from Frederick McIntyre on the violin and Paul Ijames from the N.C. School of the Arts on the piano.

Hear Louise Stroud tell the story of "Miss Lizzie's" first trip to New York, and it's quite a story, because Miss Lizzie had never been to a big town before.

Hear Sandra Vance tell an intriguing story.

Hear Carl Wicker play the banjo.

Hear and see some of Davie County's most talented entertainers perform drama routines, comedy, dance and sing gospelmusic at the Entertainment Showcase, sponsored by the Davie Theatre Co. and the Mocksville Civitan Club. Proceeds will go to Civitan community projects, and to theater company productions.

The show begins at 7:30. Go early to make a bid at the silent auction, featuring area craftsmen and artists, including glass blower Ken Curtiss, artist Janet Dean and woodturner Glen Mace.

It is the second such showcase for Davie County. The first was held at the Davie County Public Library to raise money for the Brock Performing Arts Center. Now, some of those same performers and more will show off their talents inside the center.

"Members of the theater company are pulling out all the stops as they prepare their costumes and props," said Freda Ramsey, who just finished a year as president of the group. "We want to enjoy a production in The Brock and to help fund theater company productions and the Civitans community projects."

Theater productions can be expensive. The group wants to perform "The Sound of Music" next year, but the royalty, or fee that must be paid just to get the right for the production, is $3,500. "We want to continue to make the shows affordable to all the families of Davie County," Ramsey said.

Cooleemee RiverPark Project Benefits From Scout Project

Cooleemee's RiverPark was the beneficiary of monies raised by a service project conducted by members of Mocksville Boy Scout Troops 505 and 525.

Concessions were sold at the concert and fireworks display at Rich Park's Mando field the evening of July 4. The concession stands were manned by Boy Scouts JJ Byerly, Kelly Hill, and Jordan Howell. Over $200 was raised to contribute to the park.

Boy Scouting is a world-wide program. It has been chartered in the United States for over 90 years. It has a proven record of helping to build character in young men.

Boy Scouting is open to any boy that has finished the fifth grade, until they reach their 18th birthday.

For more information, contact the leaders of Troop 505 at 7 on Monday nights, at the scout hut beside Center United Methodist Church, U.S. Hwy. 64 west of I-40, or the leaders of Troop 525, also at 7 on Monday nights, but at the scout hut behind Holy Cross Lutheran Church, off US Hwy. 601 south of Mocksville, or call Boy Scout District Headquarters at 1-800-367-9166.

Shiloh Baptist Choir Celebrates 23rd Anniversary Sunday

The Shiloh Baptist Church Gospel Choir celebrated its 23rd anniversary Sunday afternoon at 3.

The program opened with Muriel Studevent Graham, choir president, making a statement of the occasion. Then Shiloh's choir marched in singing two arrangements of "Amazing Grace."

Ellis

Lillie M. Johnson extended a welcome to guests, followed by Scripture read by Muriel Graham and prayer by Inez Baker Mayfield.

A vocal rendition of "Jesus Keep Me Near The Cross" by C.L. Fairchild of the National Baptist Convention was played on CD. The choir and congregation joined in the singing.

Mrs. Lucy Howell, a 100-year-old guest from the Farmington community, received a standing ovation in recognition of her longevity.

The feature of this year's program was a mini-address by Deborah Gaither Ellis, who gave highlights from a workshop she attended titled: "From the Juke Joint to the Choir Loft." Among her presentation was a brief discussion of the three types of gospel music: The Tinsley type introduced by Charles Albert Tinsley, grandfather of gospel music; the Holiness Pentecostal type introduced by Bishop Mason; and Rural Gospel introduced by Thomas A. Dorsey, father of Gospel and composer of "Precious Lord, Take My Hand."

Ellis, a Catawba College graduate, has been teaching math at Statesville Senior High School for 27 years. She has done further study at Appalachian State University and Meredith College. She has received numerous awards. Among these are Statesville Senior High Teacher of the years 1979 and 1998; 1995 Renaissance Teacher of the Quarter; 1989 North Carolina Cheerleading Coach of the Year; and 1979 Statesville Human Relations Award.

She advocates singing to elevate the good times and singing to ease the bad times. Donald Jenkins, pastor, pronounced the benediction.

Salvation Army Helping Davie Families In Need

Because of its membership in The United Way, The Salvation Army was able, recently, to work with other Davie County agencies to assist the victims of a house fire. The victims, a man and wife, had lived in their mobile home for four years. On the day of the fire, the husband was out of town because of his work.

The cause of the fire that destroyed their residence was not known, but the devastation it wrought on their lives was almost complete.

The wife first contacted The American Red Cross. Scott Claybrook of The Red Cross gave the man and wife a voucher for meals at a local restaurant and two night's lodging at a local hotel. He then referred the fire victims to A Storehouse for Jesus to receive food and clothing and to The Salvation Army for additional help.

The Salvation Army's caseworker, Gloria Lindsey, provided five more nights of lodging so the family could await an insurance settlement. During the time a church offered to allow the family a place to live and Ms. Lindsey agreed to pay for an electrical deposit.

The victims assured Ms. Lindsey they would be able to take care of their needs from this point on.

The Salvation Army offers emergency assistance to Davie County families throughout the year. Lindsey can be called Monday through Friday and interviews applicants on Mondays in the office of Allen Martin, The United Way director. The Salvation Army is a United Way agency.

The Tar Heel Kitchen: North Carolina Peaches In Season

The Tar Heel Kitchen
From the N.C. Dept. of Agriculture

Blushed by the sun with a sweet aromatic fragrance, peaches are elegant to see, wonderful to smell and delightful to taste.

Peaches are savored all around the world, and the United States produces almost half of the world's supply. In North Carolina, most of the time we rank 8th in the U.S. production with the weather playing a larger part of this factor.

North Carolina peaches are usually ready to harvest by late June and last through the middle of August. When picking out a fresh peach to take home with you, the red color is referred as the blush. The blush often helps one to identify the variety.

To check for ripeness, look at the background color. It should be creamy to gold. If the peach's background color is green, it suggests a sign of immaturity. An immature, picked peach will become shriveled or flabby and have a tough, poorly flavored flesh.

Peaches that have large, flattened bruises will not ripen well either. This type of fruit will soften and shrivel and will not store well.

Once a peach is picked, it will not develop any more in flavor, but it will continue to ripen, making the fruit softer and juicer. A tree-ripened peach has a delicious aroma and a well-defined crease. It will be firm, but not hard and should be free from blemishes and have unwrinkled skin.

A medium size fresh peach is chucked full of nutrients. As well as being low in calories, (about 40) a fresh peach contains a fair amount of calcium not common in most fruit, some Vitamin C, and a small amount of Vitamin A.

To determine your needs for canning or freezing, 3-4 medium-sized peaches are equal to one pound, 2 cups of sliced peaches, or 11/2 cups of pulp. One bushel of peaches will generally yield 18 to 24 quarts.

Today's peaches are a good buy compared to the past. During first-century Rome a peach cost the equivalent of $4.50; and in Victorian England, a peach would have cost you about $5.

Creamy Peach Pie

1 deep dish graham cracker pie crust
3-4 cups frozen whipped topping
1 (7 ounce) jar marshmallow cream
2 cups chopped fresh peaches
1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries
1/2 cup toasted chopped almonds

Fold marshmallow cream into whipped topping. Add peach chunks, cherry pieces, and almonds. Spoon mixture into piecrust and freeze for 3 hours. Garnish with slices of peaches and cherries if desired. Yield 1 pie.

Peaches With Blueberries

1 cup frozen whipped topping
/2 teaspoon almond extract
4 large fresh peaches
orange juice
1/4 cup sliced almonds
1 cup fresh blueberries

Peel, halve, and pit peaches, toss in a little orange juice. Place peach halves, hollow side up, in small individual bowls. Fill each hollow with 1 teaspoon of the almonds. Evenly distribute blueberries over almond-filled peach halves. Blend whipped topping and almond extract. Top each peach with whipped topping. Sprinkle peaches with remaining almonds. Yield: 8 servings.

Cool Peach Salad

1 (3 1/2 ounce) box peach gelatin
2 cups cottage cheese
1 cup peach yogurt
1 (9 ounce) carton frozen whipped topping
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 cups sliced fresh peaches
1 cup strawberries sliced

Sprinkle gelatin over cottage cheese and yogurt and mix well. Add remaining ingredients and mix gently. Serve as salad or dessert. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Streit Named Coordinator Of The Year

The Special Olympics North Carolina Piedmont Triad Area presented their awards on June 8 in Winston-Salem. Coordinator of the Year was presented to Kathie Streit of Davie County.

Coordinator of the Year award is presented to the person who has exhibited the best example of voluntary action to improve the quality of Special Olympics at any level. The volunteer should have provided a full year of service.

Streit ensures Davie County is involved in every event offered through Special Olympics. She is tireless in her efforts to promote Special Olympics in Davie County. Streit has been involved with Special Olympics since 1989 and is the mother of Special Olympics Davie County athlete, Global Messenger and SONC Board Member, Stacey Streit.

Special Olympians Compete In Equestrian

More than 60 Special Olympics athletes from across North Carolina competed in the 2000 Special Olympics North Carolina Equestrian Championship July 15-16 at the James B. Hunt Horse Complex in Raleigh.

Athletes from Davie County included: Ashley Loper who rode Abor, Shawn Black who rode Teddy, Melinda Simon who rode Abor, Sara James who rode Outlaw, Stacy Streit who rode Teddy, Asley Caudle who rode Teddy, and Cathy Bretz who rode Outlaw.

"The Equestrian Championship was a success," said SONC President Keith L. Fishburne. "The volunteers, under the leadership of Games Director Dot Kohlbach, did a great job organizing a wonderful event for the athletes."

As an international sport program, Special Olympics bases its equestrian rules upon the Federation Equestrian Internationale, the American Horse Shows Association and the American Quarter Horse Association. FEI or national governing body rules are used except when they conflict with the Special Olympics sports rules. In such cases, the official Special Olympics rules apply.

In North Carolina the first equestrian competition was offered in 1998. Since then, more than 80 coaches have completed Special Olympics equestrian coaches certification. This certification ensures that coaches know the proper training techniques and safety in the sport.

Special Olympics North Carolina offers year-round sports training and competition for more than 25,000 children and adults with mental retardation or a closely related disability. These athletes inspire greatness through their success and provide motivation to the thousands of coaches, sports officials, local program committee members and event organizers involved in Special Olympics statewide. SONC offers Olympic-type competition in 18 sports on local and state levels.

Cochrane received the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor May 7.

In 1992, Cochrane was named the North Carolina Association of Home Care's Legislator of the Year and received The Order of the Long Leaf Pine from then-Governor James Martin. In 1993, the North Carolina Health Facilities Association named Cochrane its Citizen of the Year, and in 1994 she was named Legislator of the Year by the North Carolina Wildlife Federation. She was given the same honor the following year by the Autism Foundation.

More recently, Cochrane was Meredith College's Distinguished Alumnae of the Year in 1996 and was awarded the Myers-Honeycutt Award for excellence in Public Service. In 1997 she was honored by the Aging Advocates of North Carolina with their coveted Dr. Ewald W. Busse Award.

21 Complete Davie Leadership Program

The 1999-2000 Leadership Davie County (LDC) class held its graduation ceremony May 17 at Samuel's on Main restaurant, becoming the 10th consecutive successful leadership development program held in Davie County.

John Thomas, program coordinator, said, "Each Leadership class works with a professional facilitator who helps participants develop personal skills in listening, trust, and team-building.

"They also learn to deal with change and multiple cultures as well as techniques for negotiating and resolving conflict. Most importantly, they learn to create a vision of the future that can lead to a stronger community."

Other topics covered during the eight-month program were Davie County history, economic development, education, community services and the arts.

The 1999-2000 LDC class community service project involved organizing a steering committee to explore the feasibility of a community teen center to provide a place where teens could meet with friends and participate in various activities.

The LDC class sponsored a live band dance in May at the National Guard Armory attended by approximately 100 youth. The dance was a way to test interest in a teen center and learn more about the needs of community teens. The LDC raised approximately $600 from food sales at the dance that will be used for future activities.

Graduates of the 1999-2000 Leadership Davie County program and their employers are: Jody Addertion, Davidson County Community College; Wayne Anderson, Ingersoll-Rand; David Barnes, Energy United; Joseph B. Cana News

Tragedy strikes Cana. Last week Nick Taylor was sharpening the blade on their mower. When he was installing the blade the wrench slipped and his wrist slid across the newly sharpened blade. The blade cut into his wrist and through his tendons. With a loud holler, his grandmother, Ms. Grace, came out to see what was wrong. She called Nick's dad, Jimmy, who knew immediately they had to get to the hospital ASAP.

The cut was so clean that Nick said he did not even feel the cut as it happened. Later the pain was terrible. He is now wearing a cast. No one can predict how he will heal. Keep Nick in your prayers. He has some nerve damage in his left hand.

There was a lot more news this week but after thinking about Nick Taylor it just doesn't seem as important.

She fought so hard to the very end.

A kind and loving mother was she, always busy as a bee.

Her church was always on her mind,

Friendly and considerate of others,
I know and she loved and liked to tell you so.

I will miss her sweet smile, But we will see her again in a little while.

Sympathy and love to the family I say, But we will all meet again in Heaven some sweet day.

Davie Smart Start Seeks Activity Proposals

Davie County Partnership for Children (Smart Start) is seeking proposals by organizations and agencies interested in offering services and activities for families with children ages 0-5 years old.

If approved, funding would begin in August.

Proposals will be accepted for the following activities:

• Subsidized Child Care. 30 percent of the total allocation must be used for subsidized child care. There are a large number of children on a waiting list for child care. This subsidy allocation will enable the county to better serve those in need, said Peggy Nuckolls, director.

• Hispanic/Bilingual Child Care and Family Information Program. There is a rapidly expanding Hispanic population in Davie County and, while there is some bilingual ability, it is widely observed and reported that in a high percentage of cases, families cannot speak English. Therefore, those families and their children are missing access to service because they often have no idea where to go for services, or what types of services are available. This activity will provide opportunity for the Hispanic population in Davie County to be able to better communicate and interact on a day-to-day basis.

• Preschool School Technical Assistance program will allow the partnership to assure that teachers in daycares are learning to create classroom environments and curriculum to help children age of 4 be prepared for school. This technical assistant will provide on-site model teaching techniques, materials and other resources to all childcare providers. Curriculum will be created in collaboration with the day care providers and use within classroom settings with children age of 4.

For specific questions on these programs, contact Nuckolls at 751-2113. All proposals will be due by noon Aug. 7.

Family Remembers 'Mr. George:' He Put Church First

When Cornatzer Baptist Church opened its doors, George Barney was there.

He taught his family to worship the Lord with the same fervor, and this year they tied a yellow ribbon around a maple tree in his honor.

In 1958, when plans were made to build a new brick structure, the tree was in the way. It was a tall tree, but Barney helped to dig it up, and move it further away from the construction. It was hot that summer, and he hauled water to the church every day to keep it alive.

Being at Cornatzer Baptist Church wasn't anything new to Barney. When there was a service, he was there. Often, he would take his family, and then go get others who needed a ride, said daughters Bobbie Shoaf and Ella Smith.

He was song leader and an active deacon most of his life, and he willingly took care of the tasks of stoking fires and lighting the lamps back in the old days.

When it snowed, he shoveled paths.

There was no hired janitor, but he gladly took on that job, as well.

"We can remember back when revival services were held in the afternoon and at night, Mr. George (as most folks in Cornatzer knew him) would stop his farm work so he could attend all services," Bobbie Shoaf said. "He also enjoyed having the preachers in his home for meals and overnight when necessary."

His favorite phrases were: "If it's the Lord's will" and "The Lord willing."

"We always sat up at the front," said Ella Smith, his daughter. "We had one preacher, Preacher Groce, he would give us candy in a little box."

Mrs. Shoaf remembers a certain Christmas. "When I was real little, it was at Christmas, he brought us to church and then he left to go pick up some other people. I was so excited because it was Christmas."

The sisters know how important church was to their father, and how it should be just as important today.

"He put church first," Shoaf said.

Mr. George Barney (left) shares a handshake at Cornatzer Baptist with pastor, E.M. James.

Senior Center To Offer Inspirational Devotions

Beginning in July the Davie County Senior Center will offer a program of inspirational devotion, Bible study, socialization with friends, and lunch.

Local ministers from a variety of faiths plan to speak. The programs will be conducted in a non-denominational setting, in keeping with the restrictions of state and federal guidelines.

The program, "Inspirational Thoughts," will be held once a month at 10:45 a.m. in the nutrition site of the Davie County Senior Center. It is intended for those 60 and older, but any interested person may attend.

Lunch will follow the program at 11:30 a.m. Cost of the meal for people under 60 is $4.46. Those over the age of 60 may eat for a donation upon completion of required paperwork.

The first of the "Inspirational Thoughts" series will be Monday, July 31 at 10:45 a.m. The Rev. Joe Smith of Turrentine Baptist Church will be the speaker. Local ministers who are interested in this opportunity can contact the Davie County Senior Center.

Call 751-0611 by July 27 if you plan to stay for lunch. Attendance of the program only requires no RSVP.

Center Methodist Receives Church Of Excellence Award

Last month at Lake Junaluska, Center United Methodist Church was presented with the Church of Excellence Award.

Accepting the award on the church's behalf was the Rev. Bill Wombaugh. This award requires that a church be active in local and world missions, and growing in attendance and membership.

In meeting the award requirements, documentation of the church's activities had to be provided. In 1999, Center increased its Sunday School attendance from 50 to 59, began a new young adult Sunday School class, doubled the attendance in the Children's Sunday School class, and participated in the Disciple Bible Study program. Additionally, six young people were received into the church membership on Profession of Faith through a Confirmation Class.

The United Methodist Women actively support 15 outreach ministries, and the United Methodist Men sponsors Boy Scout Troop 505. An authentic log cabin was donated and moved to the church site and is being prepared to house troop activities. It is scheduled to be complete by late summer.

A new education/worship building addition has recently been completed. It was determined that a preschool program was needed in the community and that the new building was ideal for such a ministry. The program was approved last year and began in April 2000. Enrollment has almost tripled since then, increasing from 11 to 30 children.

Aviation Students In Davie Are Soaring High

College Offers Unique Degree

By Jackie Edwards
Davie County Enterprise

The Missionary Aviation Institute, which began in 1974, is designed to give students the training necessary to become a missionary pilot.

Dan Kelly is the schools program chair and director of flight training.

"Missionary aviation kicked off in the late '50's," says Kelly. It cam about to make missionary work easier. "A place that would take a week to reach by land would take an hour by plane."

According to flight instructor of nine years, Bradley Blank, "If a missionary is in a third world country or jungle they need to know how to fix their plane."

Students who enroll can complete a study plan which leads to an associate or bachelor degree in missionary aviation. Graduates of the bachelor's program gain a private pilot and a commercial license, with an instrument rating. They will also have accumulated approximately 340 hours of flight time.

The degree earns a double major in bible and aviation, with a minor in missions.

"This is a very, very unique program. There are hundreds of flight schools. There are hundreds of bible colleges. We offer a bible and technical combination," said Blank.

The school is an extension of Piedmont Baptist College in Winston-Salem. In 1979 the college purchased Sugar Valley Airport, located on a 70 acre tract of land on Gilbert Road between Farmington and Smith Grove, to use for its Missionary Aviation Institute.

For the past twenty years the school has used this one hangar, which only has enough room to hold one of the six plans they use. "We have to play musical planes," said Blank.

About a year ago fund-raising began for a new hangar. According to Kelly their efforts have brought in close to $50,000. Construction of a new larger hangar has begun. They hope the sixty by sixty feet steel building will be complete by this fall. "The door and sheet metal are here. We just need the labor to do it." The school wants to use volunteer labor.

The second phase of MAI's fund-raising will be for re-pavement of their runway. "The runway hasn't had anything done to it in thirty years," says Kelly, "It's lasted a long time and is still usable, but it's showing signs of wear."

Energy United Accepting Grant Applications

Each year, Energy United awards grants to educators for innovative instructional projects. This is the seventh year Energy United has offered the Bright Ideas grants and, to date, more than $152,665 has been awarded throughout the cooperative's service area. Statewide, more than $1.9 million has been awarded to classroom teachers by North Carolina's electric cooperatives since the beginning of the Bright Ideas Program in 1994.

The grants fund special educational projects that are not covered by traditional school funding. Public school teachers in grades K-12 are eligible to apply. Projects in any discipline will be judged and those chosen as "Bright Ideas" will receive funding. Recently, Energy United has funded such projects as an aquaculture (fish tank) project, purchase of a computer projector, purchase of a digital camera for a student newspaper, a favorite author T-shirts project, a printmaking program, and many more.

As much as $2,000 can be awarded for each project.

Bright Idea materials have been distributed to area schools. Applications are also available from Dusty Rhodes, Energy United manager of public relations, by calling 704/878-5115, or 800-522-3793.

NC Study On Crime Shows A Decrease In Violence

North Carolina residents generally feel positive about the state's criminal justice system and school safety, and perceive that violent crime is decreasing, according to a recently completed study on North Carolinians' perceptions of crime and victimization.

The study was commissioned by the Governor's Crime Commission and executed by researchers at North Carolina State University.

The results show that self-reported victimization - being the victim of a crime - remained constant from 1997 to 1999, while people's feelings about violent crime improved significantly during the same period.

In the latest study, 12.6 percent of respondents felt that violent crime had recently decreased, compared with 5.8 percent who felt that way in 1997. The percentage who felt that violent crime had recently increased was 38.9 percent in 1999, down from 55.7 percent in 1997. Analysis shows that individual perceptions about crime and safety are influenced by factors such as gender, race, education level, income and age.

The overall results are encouraging, said Dr. Michael Vasu, professor of political science at N.C. State and lead researcher on the study. He said improvements in how North Carolinians feel about crime show that the state's investments in crime prevention are paying off.

"Over the last four to five years, the state has invested a lot of money in community policing, which is a real shift in the way we police," Vasu said. "They're assigning officers to public housing complexes and particular neighborhoods. They're requiring police to interact more and more on a daily basis with the citizens. There's been an investment by the Governor's Crime Commission in after-school programs and juvenile day treatment centers."

Vasu said the results indicate that there is a social effect from such efforts to spend money on crime prevention programs.

"Since violent crime has been steadily declining in North Carolina, it's good to see that more people are also feeling safer," said David E. Kelly, N.C. secretary of Crime Control and Public Safety, the department which oversees the crime commission. "However, there are still more than a third of our citizens who feel that violent crime is increasing when it really isn't. That means the law enforcement community still has some work to do to spread the crime prevention message."

Completed in late 1999, the survey includes responses from 3,000 people randomly selected within each of the three geographic regions of the state - Eastern, Central and Western North Carolina. The demographics of the respondents, with respect to gender, race, age and income level, match the overall representation of the state itself.

The 37-question telephone survey is similar to one conducted in 1997, and the results can be compared for benchmarking purposes, Vasu said. Respondents were asked about their own experiences with crime and their perceptions of crime and law enforcement. The report does not address reported crime statistics.

- Non-whites and Hispanics reported higher victimization rates than their proportion of the population. The age group reporting the highest level of victimization was 25 to 34 year olds.
- As a group, Hispanics were more likely to be shot at, knifed, attacked, or victimized by sexual assault than to face less violent forms of victimization such as robbery. Overall, men were more than three times as likely as women to report being the victim of a knife, gunshot or other type of attack.
- Respondents with low incomes (less than $15,000) were less likely than others to be victims of monetary crimes and more likely than others to be victims of violent crimes.
- Types of reported victimization varied by geographic region. Compared to their proportion of the state population, Eastern N.C. residents reported more robbery by force and sexual assault; Central N.C. residents reported more assault and sexual assault; and Western N.C. residents reported more crimes of every type except sexual assault.
- Women were significantly more likely than men to feel unsafe in their neighborhoods after dark. Respondents over the age of 50 were least likely to feel safe after dark in their neighborhoods, and respondents with higher incomes were more likely to feel safe.
- Perceptions about school safety improved slightly from 1997 to 1999 - a time period that included highly publicized school violence incidents around the country. The number of people who felt that community schools were safe increased from 45.1 percent in 1997 to 48.8 percent in 1999. The number who felt schools were unsafe decreased from 14.9 percent to 11.2 percent.
- The majority of respondents - 57.2 percent - do not believe that law enforcement officers treat all suspects the same. However, the percentage of people who strongly agreed that all suspects were treated equally increased marginally from less than 1 percent in 1997 to 2.4 percent in 1999.
- Race is a significant factor in how people perceive law enforcement. Black and other minority respondents were more likely than whites to disagree that law enforcement officers treat all suspects the same. Black respondents and those with lower incomes were more likely than others to disagree that courts are concerned with the rights of defendants. Black respondents and other minorities were more likely than whites to indicate that juries are biased.

Tips For A Marriage Kinship

By Marc L. Williams

Over the years, I have been challenged by couples who present in a serious crisis, since one or both spouses are contemplating a marital separation.

They have been arguing strenuously for months or years, spend little enjoyable time together, have unsatisfying sex lives, and wonder what happened to the joy they had felt long ago. While some marriages drift into complacency but survive intact, these stormier marriages no longer have a sense of stability which could be reassuring, since many days bring more trouble of some sort.

The word divorce is considered, spoken or yelled loudly, as there is a strong sense of frustration and failure on both sides.

Many of these troubled marriages have common problems: adultery, alcohol or drug abuse, spouse abuse, or serious trouble managing money. Every one of these marriages has poor communication between the spouses, as each defends against the other in a rigid fashion. The couple has largely stopped listening to one another, and instead tends to scold and issue blame for what may well not be central to their troubles. Arguments become their usual way of talking to each other.

It is possible to try to pull such a marriage out of the mud and feel even a small sense of kinship again.

- Ironically, it is best to stop focusing on the problems for a while and to begin spending some enjoyable time together; go out to dinner without your children, go shopping, work together in the yard, sit and talk about anything pleasant for a while, or cuddle in bed and don't talk at all. I often tell couples that marriage must be more than the sum total of its problems. It is important to use eye contact and try to be at least a little affectionate. There has to be something positive in the relationship for it to continue, and this must be cultivated, just like a garden.
- Once you are spending some enjoyable time together, focus on one problem at a time until it is at least partially resolved, and do not pick the worst problem first. You are trying to improve your communication and sense of hope, not be a quick miracle worker.
- Try your best to stop lashing out at your spouse for past problems. Chances are that both of you have made mistakes, so scolding each other about them will not help. A word about dealing (eventually) with infidelity: in order for progress to occur, the guilty spouse must not remain overly defensive, because you want to try to understand why the affair(s) happened and what this means for your marriage. You will ask yourself: is there any hope for us? Saving your marriage is more important than trying to defend the indefensible.

Finally, I would strongly suggest that you pursue professional help before a separation occurs. While I will sometimes agree with couples that a separation is necessary, more often I will want you to work harder to keep your marriage together before making such a drastic decision. Remember, you do not want to become part of the 50 percent divorce rate unless it is absolutely necessary.

Crosby Scholars Receives $6,000

Sharing with the Winston-Salem Forsyth Crosby Scholars, Davie's program gained more than $6,000.

The Davie program will soon be seeking partnerships with local sponsors to ensure future funding. It is optimistic that it will be recognized as funds from the 2000 Crosby Tournament are disbursed, said director, Alan Hyland.

At least $5,000 will be coming to Davie as Crosby Scholar James Stewart bagged that sum while scoring the daily lowest gross award at the Bermuda Run golf tourney in June.

One in every three 7th-12th graders returning to school in Davie County this week is a Crosby Scholar. Open to middle and high school students in the county school system (sixth graders join their second semester), membership will be offered to students who have two or more years to go before graduation.

Those who have previously left the program may reapply. Applications are accepted until Labor Day. There is no need for last year's scholars to re-enroll.

With increasing competition for college places, Crosby Scholars receie guidance on choosing a college, and how to make a successful application. Access to information on careers and college selection is available for free to scholars and their families. Scholars have opportunities to attend college and job fairs. They are also offered training in test taking and study skills.

The scholars get incentives to recognize the progress they are making.

Locks Of Love

Hairstylist Kay Stockton gets ready to cut 10 inches of hair from Morgan Owen, to be donated to a program that makes wigs for children without hair.

Advance Girl Donates Hair To Charity

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

ADVANCE - Morgan Owens has locks of love for other children.

Literally.

The 11-year-old daughter of Ben and Lynn Owens of Advance went to Gemini hair salon last week with a mission: to have at least 10 inches of her waist-length brown hair cut.

Shop owner and hairstylist Kay Stockton did just that. And she tied it in a rubber band, and Morgan's mother tucked it away inside a plastic bag.

That hair will help another child, one with a disease such as alopecia areala that causes hair to fall out by the fistfuls, mostly in children.

Morgan donated her hair to the Locks of Love program in Palm Springs, Fla. That group makes wigs for those children without hair, and provides them at low or no cost.

Morgan has always had long hair, and after seeing a program on the disease and how it renders young girls her age bald, she decided to help.

"I would feel bad if I didn't have any hair," she said.

"The good thing about her situation ... 10 inches and it will still be long," said her mother. "We would like to challenge the rest of the county to do the same."

Locks of Love takes the hair that isn't suitable for wigs for children and makes hair for dolls, which it sells to help pay for the program.

Locks of Love provides recipients with a custom, vacuum fitted hairpiece made entirely from donated human hair. The vacuum fit is designed for children who have experienced a total loss of scalp hair and does not require the use of tape or glue.

For more information, contact Locks of Love at 1640 S. Congress Ave., Ste. 104, Palm Springs, FL 33461; or visit the website at: www.LocksofLove.org.

120th Annual Masonic Picnic Here Next Week

Tradition Helps Homes For Children And The Elderly

The 120-year-old tradition of having a picnic to benefit charity carries on in Mocksville next week with the annual Masonic Picnic.

The week begins Monday at 6 p.m., with carnival rides and games at the Clement Grove picnic grounds, off North Main Street in Mocksville. That carnival runs nightly through Friday.

The picnic is sponsored by Davie's Masonic lodges, Mocksville, Advance and Farmington.

The highlight of the week is the famous picnic dinner at noon on Thusday. Donors, many from families that have carried on the tradition for generations, bring picnic baskets filled with homemade pies and casseroles, fried chicken and ham biscuits ... just about every kind of food imaginable ... to be spread out under an arbor on the picnic grounds.

Prior to the dinner, beginning at about 10:30 a.m., a program is held under the big arbor. Expect to hear Alan Jackson, Travis Tritt, Hank Williams, George Strait and Elvis, and local entertainment Brad Cartner pulls out all of his best impersonations.

The guest speaker will be Danny "Chocolate" Myers, the 6-5, 265-pound "gas man" for the No. 3 Chevrolet driven by NASCAR champion Dale Earnhardt.

One of the most popular crew members in stock car racing, Myers has been a commentator on ESPN 2, has appeared in television commercials and in movies, including the "Smokey and the Bandit" series.

More Than 200 Attend Cooleemee River Daze

More than 20 volunteers fried salt and pepper catfish fillets the old-fashioned way — in large black iron pots — with hush puppies frying alongside them. Over a score of homemade cakes were donated and served by local women.

River "Daze" was held at the river on the grounds of the Stokes County Yarn Co. Their maintenance director, Dwane Crandel, old-timer Wayne Beck, Ricky Glass and his young "Davie Street Volunteers" cleared the area of debris. For many attending it was the first time they had stood next to the river in years.

Tension was high as over 300 rubber ducks neared the finish line in the river, manned by Cooleemee's O'Neal family. During the weeks leading up to River "Daze," residents had purchased numbered duck tickets. "Lucky Ducks" were: Wade Crotts of Woodleaf won $200 cash prize for first place; Dicky Parnell of Salisbury won a $100 savings bond for second; Paul Fisher of Granite Quarry's F&M Bank won third place, receiving a dinner for two at Outback Steakhouse; the baby duck race was won by Robert Price of Mocksville, who received a $50 WalMart gift certificate.

The night was topped off with the debut of "The Adventures of Blinky" puppet show. Its main character is the spirit of a long-gone catfish, who was an eye witness to over 1,000 years of history at his Bullhole home.

When he was young, Blinky met the Indian who named "Cool-ee-mee," later he taught Daniel Boone how to explore the frontier, and in his later years Blinky witnessed the demise of a bull ox during Cooleemee's construction. Voices for all the characters were recorded at the studios of WDSL-AM in Mocksville by working actor John Bennes. Puppeteers were all local youngsters who had practiced for a month.
