Manager Orders Improvements At Animal Shelter

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County Manager Terry Bralley recently toured the Davie County Animal Shelter and ordered immediate enhancements.

Bralley, along with building inspector William Whaley, toured the shelter off Eaton Road in Mocksville and found the conditions to be less than ideal for the unwanted animals dropped off daily.

With freezing conditions outside, Bralley found the heating source in the building inadequate. Water in dishes was frozen. Animals were suffering from exposure. Of the four dogs penned at the time, two were in such poor condition the decision to destroy them was made immediately. The two remaining dogs were put down by the following morning.

"I toured the building with Mr. Whaley and (animal control officer) Robert Cook, and told Mr. Cook to give me a laundry list of the things he needed to get the place in shape," Bralley said. "Mr. Whaley is already working on some of the problems. We'll fix it."

The building, a 20 by 40-foot block structure with containment areas on both sides, was originally constructed as temporary housing for lost pets. Cook, who is under a $101,000 annual contract to provide animal control services for Davie County, said he knows the conditions are less than ideal, but he is doing the best he can with the resources he has.

"I've been working real hard with the local humane society to try to get their building up," Cook said. "I'm a dog owner myself, and I hate to see any animal suffer."

Cook said the facility is adequate for temporary holding, which is exactly what most dogs and cats brought to the shelter can expect. According to Cook, the state requires shelters to hold animals for three days for owners to claim them. After that, the law allows the shelters to euthanize the animals. Cook said the county shelter follows the letter of the law.

"We hold every animal for three days before we destroy them, but just about every animal that gets dropped off here is unwanted," Cook said. "We try to place those that we can, but for most we have no choice. We have to put them down."

Cook said he euthanizes the animals by placing them in a 4 by 3-foot insulated box and administering poison gas. The process takes 18 seconds. The carcass is bagged and disposed of in a landfill.

Missionaries Survive Tsunami

They Say Funnel Donations Through Respected Agencies
By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

Members of the congregation of Hillsdale United Methodist Church breathed a collective sigh of relief Thursday when word got out that a sponsored family on mission in South Asia survived the devastating earthquake and tsunami that took over 140,000 lives.

Don and Ramona Turman, whose son Keith was the founding pastor of Hillsdale, sent word by e-mail that the destructive force that wiped out entire villages did not affect the area where they run the Wesley Methodist church on the island of Java.

"We want you to know that we are safe and that none of the effects of the devastating earthquake and tidal waves reached the city of Jakarta," wrote Turman. "But, like you, the magnitude of the destruction and death has left us in a state of shock and deep sadness."

Turman, who is a teacher at the Wesley Methodist School of Theology and serves as pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, stated that several members of his congregation had family that perished, but there were also stories of miraculous survivals.

Officials in South Asia have all but given up on finding any survivors on the tens of thousands that are still missing, and global attention has turned to getting food and water to survivors. On Monday, the USS Bonhomme Richard and two other warships carrying a Marine expeditionary unit, dozens of helicopters and tons of supplies steamed into the Indian Ocean to join in relief operations off the hard-hit northwest coast of Sumatra.

Later this week, the group was to begin operations off the shores of Sri Lanka.

Turman said relief efforts put together by the United Methodist Church had started hours after the tsunami hit, and suggested those who wish to help channel their efforts and donations through well established agencies.

Mebane Challenge Going Public

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Watch for the orange bracelets. Learn that the "RUN" on bumper stickers, posters and t-shirts stands for "Are You In?"

It's the Mebane Challenge, and although more than $1 million of the $1.5 million goal has been raised from 61 donors, the final three months of the campaign will focus on educating the masses.

"I believe we will surpass that goal," Diana Parrish, a consultant heading the fund-raising drive, told members of the board of education Monday night. "It's exciting to see this community come together. It's about our children and our teachers."

The Mebane Foundation issued a challenge to the community last August; if it passes the school bond referendum (which it did) and raises

Ridgeway Could Face Death Penalty

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

Superior Court Judge David Lee has found substantial evidence to support the motion by the District Attorney's office to proceed with the prosecution of Randy Greensbury Ridgeway, the self-confessed killer of 14-year-old Danielle Klase, as a capital case.

That decision makes Ridgeway eligible for the death penalty.

Assistant District Attorney Rob Taylor said it should come as no surprise that the state would ask for the death penalty.

"When you look at the heinousness of this crime, there's just no doubt in my mind that the statute applies," Taylor said, referring to the law that determines if a case merits the highest level of punishment. "There are aggravating factors that were presented to the judge, and he ruled in favor of the request."

If convicted, Ridgeway's execution would be by lethal injection. According to the state statutes that guide the methods of state sponsored execution, the mode of carrying out a death sentence is by administering to the convict a lethal quantity of an ultrashort-acting barbiturate in combination with a chemical paralytic agent until the convict or felon is dead.

Sherry Lynn Collison, the victim's mother, said that punishment was not enough.

"I've never been a vindictive person," Collison said. "But that is just too easy for him. I'm glad he (could get) the death penalty, I just wish it could be worse."

Ridgeway confessed to police that on the evening of Sept. 21, 2004, he walked up behind Klase and struck her in the head multiple times with a hammer and killed her. At some point after she was dead, Ridgeway told police he showered the child, then dragged her body into the living room and raped her. Bruises later identified as bite marks were found on the child's face.

Ridgeway said he then dressed the victim in pajamas and positioned her in bed to give the appearance of a sleeping child.

He confessed that after attempting to create a normal scene, he sat and waited in the living room for Collison to arrive home.

It is not known if Ridgeway planned to kill Collison as well, but Collison claims to have found a large butcher knife hidden under a pile of laundry on the floor near her side of the bed the following day. Collison also found a condom in the child's bedroom. A large dark stain, believed to be the victim's blood, could also be seen on the living room carpet, where the sexual assault presumably took place.

Police report Ridgeway had been drinking at the time police arrived, but Sheriff Allen Whitaker did not disclose how much or if alcohol played a part in the crime.

According to Collison, she arrived home from work on Sept. 21 at approximately 11:30 p.m. and found Ridgeway sleeping on the couch. She said she entered her daughter's bedroom to kiss her goodnight but found her daughter to be unresponsive and quickly realized she was not breathing.

According to Dwayne Smith of Davie EMS, when paramedics arrived, the child had no vital signs. She was pronounced dead at Davie County hospital upon arrival.

At the time of the initial investigation, Whitaker said police became interested in Ridgeway as a suspect upon detective Robert Trotter's arrival. After identifying him as a suspect, Ridgeway was questioned and confessed to the killing a short time

Lee's Army moved faster than I-95 traffic

Over Christmas, I got a lesson in traffic jams. I thought I knew a lot about sitting in line during my mornings while waiting my turn to get through the intersection at Hillsdale.

Around here, we start demanding new road construction if we have to wait through three stoplights. Up north, motorists must be more patient.

My oldest son is now employed by the federal government, and we went up to see him graduate from his training in Washington, D.C.

Traffic was smooth all the way up Interstate 95 until we approached the city. It took us two hours to travel the final 20 miles.

We returned home Dec. 23, and my now travel-savvy son advised us to get on the road before 3 p.m.

We did, but it didn't help.

The entire route was leaving town for Christmas. We crawled along at a snail's pace until getting to the High Occupancy Vehicle lanes. Since there were three of us in the car, we zipped over to the express lanes and blew by thousands of other motorists stuck in traffic.

I felt a little guilty, but not much. It was one of the few times I could legally break in line — all because my 14-year-old was in the back seat.

He suddenly took great interest in our luck, and began noticing that lots of other cars in the fast lane didn't have the required number of passengers.

The fine for violators was $1,000, but the Highway Patrol was not around that evening. The State of Virginia could have built a lot of new schools that day.

But the fast lanes finally slowed to a crawl, too. Near the end, traffic stalled even in our lanes. The merger with I-95 backed up for at least a mile.

It took us three hours to travel 30 miles. Without the HOV lanes, it would have taken us more than five hours. Traffic crawled along almost the entire way to Richmond, Va. We saw one little boy answering the call of nature along the side of the road — his parents unable to get to an exit.

Gen. Robert E. Lee's Confederate Army must have made better time than we did — advancing and retreating.

My son has been told not to expect to get off for Christmas for another three years. That means we will be making the same trip year after year to see him and his beautiful bride during the worst travel times of the year.

...I read with interest about a proposed new super highway in Texas this week with more than casual interest. If built, it would be huge — far beyond the scope of any interstate we have today.

On my days in the north, I-95 between Washington and Richmond would have been crowded even with 20 lanes.

Trying to figure madness of Iraqi insurgents

It isn't polite to call someone stupid, but you have to wonder about the intelligence of the insurgents in Iraq. Day after day, suicide bombers blow themselves up in an attempt to take others into eternity with them. Usually, they are killing their own countrymen.

Others attack the United States soldiers, often with disastrous results for themselves.

If they were smarter, they would let us finish our mission in Iraq, invest billions in new schools, sewers, streets, electrical grids and utilities. They would steer clear of our forces, and not try to challenge someone with superior fire power. They would allow the elections to take place, allow the country to be rebuilt and lay low until we declare our mission finished.

Smarter terrorists would wait for us to pack and leave, and then fight among themselves.

By their actions, the underground terrorists have demonstrated they don't care for the future of their country, the welfare of their people or the future of their children. It's hard to imagine the brutal regime they would craft for their country.

Armed Forces Has Motivated Volunteers

As if there is any doubt about what kind of person volunteers to join our Armed Forces, let me tell you all about one such person who is now an official veteran. I was contacted, accidentally, by a recently discharged service member who is planning to attend Forsyth Technical as a full-time student using his hard earned Montgomery G.I. Bill education benefits. To make the money go farther, he chose to move back in with his family. To make it even more interesting, he was discharged with disabilities that I neither asked about, nor did he offer information on.

So what makes him so different? How about his reason for the call, though accidentally? He wants to volunteer in some capacity that will help his fellow veterans. He told me about his friends still serving in the Armed Forces; that he felt compelled to do something that would honor them. He wanted to do it by working with other veterans. As a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American veterans service organizations; I began to tell him how desperately these organizations need volunteers (not to mention members) to serve at the Winston-Salem Community Out-Base Clinic or the VA-Medical Center in Salisbury. The first point of contact that I could offer was to the American Legion Department of North Carolina Service Officer. They exchanged phone conversations, then met face to face at least twice, before he was chauffeured to the clinic for a meeting with the staff volunteer coordinator. He is now being set up to become an American Legion Service Representative at the clinic, a role that will enable him to help veterans make application for much deserved U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs benefits. He plans on being there at least twice a week and is looking forward to the training. Now the kicker. He refuses to accept any reimbursement of his expenses by the American Legion. To him, that defeats the point of volunteering. He wants to give something of himself and is not looking for reward or recognition.

So regardless of what the national news media tells America, the all-volunteer Armed Forces are quite capable of attracting highly motivated young men and women to serve this great nation. I know because I got to know another one.

Firefighters Are Unsung Heroes

I am writing to acknowledge some heroes of Advance and Davie County. I was visiting out of town when our Christmas Eve celebration was breaking up and it was brought to our attention that a local resident's home was on fire. My father, being extremely experienced in the area, and I rode up to the home to see the house gone. I remember thinking how awful for this to happen to someone on Christmas Eve. We found out that everyone escaped and thanked God for that.

Then I began to look around because I felt a need to do something. In looking around I saw a Christmas miracle where all of these people came together on Christmas Eve to help someone in distress. I was proud of the volunteer and Advance firefighters for leaving their homes to come to the aid of someone else. I realized I had taken it for granted that they do this everyday.

I would like to thank everyone there that night when life changed dramatically for those residents. Thank you to the Advance Fire Department, all the volunteer firefighters, the sheriff's department, and the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

On a night where we feel blessed to be with our loved ones, these people dropped everything when called to help with the horrible situation. The next time you see anyone of these people, make sure you thank them, for they are assets to your community.

Pregnant Women Didn't Go Out; Trousseau Showings

As I have said before, in bygone years a Sunday afternoon pastime was going to the depot to see the train come in and see who got on or off. I remember as a very young child walking to the depot with daddy one Sunday afternoon and young Dr. Lester Martin got off the train with his suitcase and we all walked up depot hill together. He had completed his training and come home to practice medicine with his father, Dr. W.C.

Martin, whose office was at the top of the long flight of stairs between what is now Bizzy Bees and a law office.

I remember that Dr. Lester and Mr. Arthur Holleman had a double wedding (they married sisters), and I stood on our upstairs porch uptown as the newly married couples drove through town. I remember it was an open car, with a very solemn Dr. Lester driving with "Miss Helen" broadly smiling. In the back seat was a smiling Mr. Holleman and a solemn "Miss Elizabeth." Mr.

Holleman was head of the Southern Bank and Trust Co. located in the building beside the American Cafe which now is occupied by a beauty shop and several offices.

Sometime later, Dr. Lester delivered my baby sister. His father had been our doctor for a long time and after Dr. Lester came, some of us referred to him as "old Dr. Martin." He said he didn't like that and we asked what he preferred being called. He said we could call him Dr. W.C.

Dr. Lester moved his office to what is now Martin & Van Hoy Attorneys office and he was there a long time. He was then specializing in Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat problems. Mary Woodruff worked for Dr. Lester and later her daughter, Margaret, worked in his office. They lived in a house on the site where the log house is now located, just below the square, on South Main Street. I've been told that the log house was part of the home occupied by the Woodruff family. Next door to them was the home of Dr. and Mrs. Evans, a retired couple. He was a former podiatrist and I understand a very good one.

In thinking back about those years, I think of how things have changed. Certainly some of the changes have been for the better. At that time, when it became obvious that a woman was pregnant, she did not go out in public but stayed home until the baby was born. Also, many young brides chose to have a trousseau showing, a party for their girlfriends to see their new wedding outfits, fancy lingerie, etc. I remember when I was young, taking piano lessons, my teacher was going to get married and was having a trousseau party. These parties were usually held in the afternoon. I remember I was the last pupil before the party that day, and the teacher asked if I would like to see her trousseau. I would and I did. As I left the house, a man drove up, bringing his pregnant wife so that she could see the wedding clothes and leave before the other guests, all ladies, arrived. Imagine that! Nothing like this would have appeared in print, either, back then.

Many young girls had what they called a "hope" chest. I think articles were put there that they thought would be needed when they married. For those of us who didn't choose to marry, I guess it would have been called a "hopeless" chest.

Even before this, when I was very small, I remember my father taking me to a home somewhere in Davie County where someone had died. The bed in which the person had died had been taken down, the pictures in the home had been taken down and put back facing the wall, and the clock had been stopped. I did not understand that then, and I still don't. I think that practice must have gone out of style soon after. People also used to sleep on feather beds and feel sorry for those who didn't have one. I doubt if young people today have ever seen a feather bed.

You don't see a lot of cut glass any more. It was popular around 1904 when my parents were married. Some of it is very beautiful.

Back then, most ladies had long hair and they had little jars on their dresser, in which they put loose hair from their combs, after combing their hair. These were called hair receivers. Later, you would could find in antique shops, three-piece sets of Bohemian blown glass. They consisted of two perfume bottles and a powder jar, which were told was actually the original hair receiver. The perfume bottles were much larger than the perfume bottles of today. The ones I have seen were dark red or wine in color and beautiful.

There is one thing that was popular when I was a child that still has not gone out of style and that is quilting. Ladies used to meet and sometimes spend the day quilting. People still make quilts. Classes are available for those wishing to learn the art. Some of our Davie County ladies make the most beautiful quilts.

I mentioned in a recent column that I wondered if anybody ever still made the delicious old-fashioned kind of mints that melt in your mouth. I hadn't been able to find any. Well, somebody does. Mr. James Gaddy brought my sister and me a Christmas tin of these delicious mints that his wife and her mother, Mrs. Ivy Nell Boger, had made. I've always heard they were so much trouble to make, which makes us appreciate them all the more. This was very thoughtful of them.

In The Mail ... Advance Parade A Valuable Tradition

To the editor:

This letter is in response to an e-mail sent to the county manager, Terry Bralley, concerning the Advance parade. The writers complained about the inconvenience the parade causes to local residents who have other plans and that these residents were not taken into consideration as to the routing and planning of the parade. The writers stated that they have lived in Advance for four years and as luck would have it, they have had out-of-town Christmas obligations all four years on the same day as the parade.

I am sorry that we have to inconvenience anyone when we have our parade, but it gives so much joy and excitement to all involved that I think one day of inconvenience is worth it. Besides they were out of town, so what's the problem? They want us to route the parade down Feed Mill Road. That's real considerate of the people on a dead-end road that is not long enough for all the parade vehicles, especially tractor-trailer trucks and floats. Where will they go and how will they turn around? We have walked and ridden the parade route and the route is the only way we can go. The big rigs cannot turn off of Comarater Road and then again toward the fire department. It is impossible. They cannot turn on Feed Mill as it cuts back at an angle and there is nowhere to go. They cannot cut back down on Underpass Road as it is too sharp to turn. Believe me, we have tried to figure out a better route and there is none. Also, as the writers live off People's Creek Road, there is another way out of there. It is, granted, a little longer to get back to Hillsdale, but you can get there.

The Advance Christmas Parade just celebrated its 10th year. That's six years before you moved here. Now, I know a lot of people who move into our neighborhood do not always understand our ways or our traditions, but this has become a tradition. I was not born and raised in Davie County. I came here from Winston-Salem, but I adopted to the ways of our area and would not move out for any amount of money. I hope all of our new residents will become involved in our community as there are lots of ways to be a part of Advance instead of being critical.

I want everyone to know why we keep having our parade. We don't charge anyone to be in our parade. However, from the participants and our neighbors, we get a lot of donations that go to What Christmas is All About. Maybe you don't know what Christmas is All About. On Christmas Eve, we have two fire trucks, two Santas and lots of children and adults who go all over Advance to needy families, our elderly and others who have lost a loved one during this year. We use our contributions that we have gathered throughout the year for this. The needy ones who have lost a loved one know they are also loved. The contributions don't just stop at Christmas. We pay things all through the year for those who really need help. We have paid oil bills, bought food for some, helped a family who was in an accident, bought two Cub Scout uniforms, paid a dentist for one of our firemen, gave the rescue squad money for helping with our car show, paid for portable toilets for our fire department yard sale, gave a donation to the King Hillbillies, who have raised over $1 million for the Shriner's Hospital, paved a driveway for a senior citizen, paid pharmacy bills, and paid toward funeral expenses when one of our young people got killed in an accident. These requests have come through outside family members within our community. Advance people care. That's why a little inconvenience one time a year is worth it all.

Also, there was a legitimate complaint about the mess after the parade. We are going to try to resolve this next year; however, have you ever tried to clean a roadway after a parade and when the regular traffic is allowed to travel again? We have and it's very dangerous. We will, however, try to resolve this.

If there are further complaints, please direct them to us and not the county manager. He has enough problems running the county. You may leave any complaints at L&S Advance Fire Department or with me. We will try to explain and resolve any complaints. However, the parade will go on, I hope, for another 10 years and more.

Volunteers Make Humane Society Successful

To the editor:

As we start into a new year, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who make the Humane Society of Davie County a success. We are just a few months away from starting construction on our Animal Adoption Center. Several volunteers (Terri Hamm, Bruce Braunstein, Chessie Smith and Dave McGoigle) committed many hours to finalizing construction drawings and a construction budget for the project. Additional volunteers (Myra McGoigle, Sally Braunstein, Linda Hartle, Sue Latham, Tasha Champ and Becky Vanderklok) chaired fundraisers to provide funds for the adoption center project, as well as the adoption programs. Special thanks goes to Julia Howard, Terry Bralley and Christine Sanders who helped secure funding for our center from the state, county and local governments. Special thanks also goes to Sgt. Harlin Freeman, who helped us solicit construction assistance from the North Carolina National Guard, and Robert Cook who has joined our board of directors to help us in the planning and running of the facility.

The adoption center would be of no value without the adoption programs. We hope to expand these programs significantly once the center is open. Despite the limitation on animal numbers with limited foster homes, we were still able to adopt 126 dogs and cats in 2004. This includes 15 cats from our satellite center at Village Way Animal Hospital. During the last two months of 2004, two of our scheduled adoption days were cancelled due to holiday weekends, yet we still were able to adopt 12 dogs and cats during 2004 (Amber Bost, Amie Kausch, Myra McGoigle, Michelle Richardson, Tasha Champ, Robyn (Tammy) Grogan and Denise Collura). Special thanks also goes to others who acted as foster homes during the year, including Dr. and Mrs. James Beeson, Dr. Karl Frazier and Dr. Emily Roberson.

The other component of the Humane Society's long-term program is encouraging spay/neuter to decrease the number of unwanted animals. Our spay/neuter program has expanded to include free spay/

A Fine And Interesting Paper

To the editor:

The Enterprise Record carried a most complimentary article on one Elizabeth McMahan. That article, though it gave her far too much praise, was nevertheless greatly appreciated. The photo of all my first cousins in the Miller clan was especially enjoyed. If it had included their spouses (Grady, David, Kathy, Nancy, Felix and Inez), it would have been even nicer. And I enjoyed seeing Marie, yet another Miller relative, in the article on the special Davie volunteers. But whether relatives are featured or not, this Davie County native looks forward to each week's Enterprise Record. Congratulations on a fine and interesting paper, even if it makes my head big.

A New Use For Old Cards

To the editor:

For those who would like to put their old Christmas cards and other greeting cards to use in a special project, here is a worthy cause to help children.

Christmas or any occasion cards, the front page only, with no personal writing and clean, can be sent to St. Jude's Ranch, a Christian organization that takes in children through the court system, who are abused, have no parents or are troubled.

There are several of the ranch type settings, and the children stay there until they are 18 or are adopted. Some of the teens go to college thru this program.

Fifteen years ago, they started the program of recycling cards to help raise money for the children's personal needs and to help them learn the value of work. The children receive 15 cents a card, and glue the front onto a new back. This money is set aside for college education and personal needs, such as trips. Mail them to St. Jude's Ranch, 100 St. Jude's St., Boulder City, NV 89005-1618. You may order cards by contacting them at P.O. Box 60100, Boulder City. Learn more at www.stjudesranch.net.

Many churches in North Carolina have been participating in this project for years. I have been involved for five years, gathering and shipping.

NOTICE OF A FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

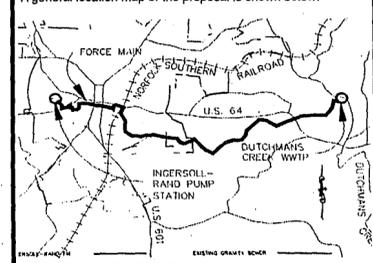

The USDA, Rural Development (through its Rural Utilities Service) has received an application for financial assistance from the Town of Mocksville, NC. The proposed project consists of installing 5,500 linear feet of force main sewer line and a pump station to redirect the wastewater generated by Ingersoll-Rand from the Bear Creek Wastewater Treatment Plant to the Dutchman's Creek Wastewater Treatment Plant. The Dutchman's Creek Treatment Plant will be upgraded to handle the additional flow.

As required by the National Environmental Policy Act, the Rural Utilities Service has assessed the potential environmental effects of the proposed project and has determined that the proposal will not have a significant effect on the human environment and for which an Environmental Impact Statement will not be prepared. The basis of this determination is a thorough review and analysis of the environmental information reported in the environmental assessment including public and regulatory agencies' comments regarding the proposed project. In order to avoid or minimize any adverse environmental impacts, the Rural Utilities Service will require the applicant to incorporate the following mitigation measures into the proposed project's design: an approved sedimentation and erosion control plan, and best management construction practices.

Copies of the Environmental Assessment are available for review at the Rural Development office at 2301 W. Meadowview Road, Suite 104, Greensboro, NC 27407, phone (336) 294-7181, and at the Town Hall of Mocksville, NC. For further information, contact Larry D. County Orders Improvements At Outdated Animal Shelter

According to a report submitted to Bralley, Cook euthanized more than 1,400 animals in a one-year period. The report states that from July of 2003 to June of 2004, 916 dogs were dropped off at the shelter. Of those, 62 were fostered to new families, 10 were removed from the shelter, 41 were returned to the owner, and 803 were euthanized. The percentage of cats that escaped the gas chamber was worse: 697 were delivered to the shelter. Forty were placed in foster care, three were returned to their owners and 651 were euthanized. Cook said many of the cats dropped off are too wild for sheltering, and would not make good pets. Others were in poor health, and euthanizing them was the most humane thing to do. Cook said it was he who made the decision as to which animals are possible foster candidates, and which needed to be destroyed. Cook's report states that raccoons, skunks, groundhogs and a fox were dropped off at the shelter in the same time period.

Davie County has a Humane Society, but the organization has no facility. Land on Eaton Road, approximately one mile from the existing county shelter, has been purchased for the Humane Society's building. That building is planned as a no-kill facility, and construction is expected to start this year.

Reporter Jackie Seabolt assisted with this, the first in a series of articles about the animal shelter and the humane society.

Planning for Long-Term Care?
Are you worried about what would happen if you or your spouse became physically or mentally incapacitated? With the average cost of nursing home care exceeding $50,000 per year, seniors are rightly concerned about losing their life savings. Medicaid may provide a solution. Unfortunately, many seniors have been badly misinformed about Medicaid eligibility and aren't aware of their rights.

Buying an old house to fix up has an attraction for many people. If you can find a house with charm and character, a renovation may enable you to create just the living environment you want. You should start with a good Realtor to help you locate the right house and recommend lenders who make both acquisition and construction loans.

Financing a renovation is perhaps the most difficult part of the whole project, especially if the house needs extensive work. Few banks will make these loans to people who are not professional developers. You should prepare for your loan application by having a written proposal. It helps to have an engineer's report or architectural plans and to include estimates from contractors covering the costs and timetables for the work to be done. Your Realtor can help you put together a market analysis of the neighborhood to show that you will not be over-improving the property compared with other homes in the area.

Are You In? Challenge Picking Up Steam

$1.5 million, the foundation will kick in another $750,000. The money will be spent for pre-kindergarten schooling for children who need it, and for technology improvements in every school. The campaign has been in the quiet phase, Parrish said, with most of the donations so far being from school employees and donors able to donate large amounts.

Oak Valley developer Bo Davis became the fourth to commit $100,000 or more for the project, on the heels of a donation from Calvin and Lisa Phelps in the same amount.

"This is quite the new year gift for Davie County Schools," said Sally McGuire, co-chair of the campaign. "We are so excited to see business individuals like the Oak Valley developers give back to Davie County."

"Other business leaders like Calvin and Lisa Phelps have also graciously given back to our community - a true indication of a community coming together."

Davis called the donation an opportunity he couldn't pass up. "The success of the Oak Valley community has hinged on the ongoing success and recognition of Davie County Schools," Davis said. "We have been very fortunate to be involved with such a successful development and wanted to show our appreciation for one of the key components that make this area so attractive to homebuyers."

"We urge all Davie county residents to do their part by being involved in ways that allow the system to meet the challenge," he said.

The challenge is a must-win for the schools, said superintendent W.G. Potts.

"It enables us to educate all of our children with technology that truly engages them and also places our younger children on a level playing field by helping them to be ready when the time comes to enter kindergarten," Potts said.

The Oak Valley pledge was the fourth over $100,000. Two were anonymous.

Parrish said the emphasis now will be on smaller donors. The orange bracelets are for awareness, and proceeds from the $3 each sale will go to athletic booster clubs at Davie High and North and South Davie middle schools.

In February, events will include Change for Change collection of spare coins by elementary students and a "Have A Heart - Be A Part" campaign for smaller businesses. She's hoping businesses will donate a portion of proceeds for the month to the challenge.

"Help spread the word," she told the school board members. "That's where we're at right now."

She sent an email to every teacher after learning that some still weren't fully behind the project.

"It's not only about the children, it's about you," she said of the teachers. "It's not about the donations, we need them to help spread the word. They are in direct contact with the students and the parents."

Any business interested in participating can call Parrish at 940-6897.

Davie County Enterprise Record

Chief Wayne Williams said he was disappointed beyond belief when he walked into the Jerusalem Fire Department on the morning of Dec. 27.

"It just shows we're not exempt from anything anymore," Williams said. "These crooks don't care what they break into. Churches, fire departments, it just doesn't matter to them. None of them are safe from this anymore."

According to Williams, Jerusalem Fire Department lost more than $2,000 worth of equipment and emergency medical supplies to thieves who broke into the firehouse. Williams said the firehouse became the latest statistic in a growing number of businesses that have fallen victim to late night break-ins in the area.

"There are a lot of businesses in the area that have seen this happen over the last few months," Williams said. "Even though this is the first time we've been broken into in several years, it's not a complete surprise."

Williams said the break-in most likely occurred during late Sunday evening or the early morning hours.

Williams reported that the thieves made off with several saws, a medical bag and approximately $50 of petty cash.

Williams said although the losses were insured, Jerusalem has installed an audible burglar system to deter future break-ins.

Woman Cited For Providing Alcohol To Minors At Party

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Davie County woman has been arrested and charged with one count of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and two counts of selling or giving alcohol to minors under the age of 21 after police responded to a neighbor's complaint of noise.

Sherry Whitington Williams of 122 Riverview Townhouse Drive in Advance was hosting a party in which beer and alcohol were served to several people under the age of 21, including a student of Davie High School. The under age consumers were also charged with possession of beer or wine under the age of 21.

Deputy Bill Roseboro of the Davie County Sheriff's Department reported that during the early morning hours of Dec. 29, he responded to a noise complaint and found the party going on in the home of Williams. Roseboro reports that one of Williams guests, 17-year-old Cameron Lambert of 2031 Meadow Glenn Lane in Winston-Salem, was grossly intoxicated and resisted arrest. He was charged with resisting a public officer.

Mitchell Lawrence Cooper, 18, and Tashia Lynn Guldge, 17, will join Williams and Lambert in court on Jan. 20.

Cookeemee Post Office Employees Retiring

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Judy Phillips took a pay cut to come here.

Libby Owens came here 26 years ago, and hasn't left. By the end of January, the two U.S. Postal Service employees will have retired. Although they no longer will take care of mail for the residents of this box only post office, they still care about the people - and they know the people still care about them. "The customers are part of your life. People embrace you," Owens said. "They make you part of their life, and that, I'll miss."

She's not going far. The Woodleaf resident doesn't have far to travel to visit. Her father was the Woodleaf postmaster, and when she started 26 years ago, she was a floating clerk for Cookeemee, Woodleaf and Cleveland. She came to Cookeemee after a few months and never left.

Phillips has headed the Cookeemee Post Office for the past six years, taking a pay cut to come here from the hectic Lewisville post office.

"I didn't care," she said. "Everybody here has loved me from day one. They accepted me."

Phillips' parents came to live with her, and customers at the post office regularly asked about them. They asked about her sister, who also lives with her.

She likes the intimacy of the Cookeemee Post Office. She knows when someone is looking for a package, or when they're looking for a piece of mail from a relative.

"When it comes I'll call them and tell them their package is here. They'll say I can't come now and I'll say I can bring it to you on my lunch hour."

That type of personal interaction didn't happen in her previous Postal Service jobs in Raleigh, Greensboro and Lewisville.

"This is the best job I've ever had. It makes a difference when people know you," Phillips said.

"I live here and I'm going to stay here. It's home now," she said.

A new postmaster has not been named. Craig Mock will take care of the job on an interim basis when Phillips retires later this month.

Owens accepts a card from Lynn Rumley.

Johnny Dale Head thanks Phillips for her service.

Couple Supports Farming, Rural Life At Annual Meeting

James and Edwina Gaddy of Advance were among the hundreds of farmers from across the state who recently attended North Carolina Farm Bureau's annual meeting in Greensboro. The Dec. 5-7 meeting was the organization's yearly grassroots, policy development roundup. "As agriculture prospers or suffers, so goes our state," said Larry Wooten, president of North Carolina Farm Bureau. "Farmers have faced numerous situations over the past year, many, like hurricanes, beyond their control. But they've also persevered and overcome just as many challenges. We look forward to pursuing numerous opportunities in 2005."

Among the political guests in attendance were the following elected officials: U.S. Sen. Elizabeth Dole, U.S. Sen-elect Richard Burr, U.S. Rep. Howard Coble, U.S. Rep. Mike McIntyre, North Carolina Secretary of State Elaine Marshall, North Carolina Agriculture Commissioner Britt Cobb and Steve Troxler, Republican candidate for ag commissioner.

The Gaddys helped propel Farm Bureau's mission of improving the standard of living for farmers and rural residents by attending and actively participating.

Cornatzer-Anderson Engagement Announced

Charles W. "Pete" Cornatzer announces the engagement of his daughter, Hollie L. Cornatzer of Advance, to Kevin B. Anderson of Statesville, the son of Charles and Linda Anderson. The bride-elect is also the daughter of the late Shirley H. Cornatzer. She is a 1996 graduate of Davie High School and attended Forsyth Technical Community College. She is employed by Forsyth Medical Center. The future groom is a 1993 graduate of West Iredell High School and graduated from Nashville Auto Diesel College. He is a warranty administrator with Carolina CAT of Statesville. The wedding is planned for Jan. 22 at Advance United Methodist Church.

Anderson-Gist Engagement Announced

Ray and Eva Anderson of Mocksville announce the engagement of their daughter, Raya Nicole Anderson to Terrance Sean Gist. The bride-elect is a 1999 graduate of Davie High School and a 2002 honor graduate of Point Park College, Pittsburgh, Pa. She is a choreographer and dance instructor in Dayton, Ohio. The future groom is the son of Gwendolyn Gist of Dayton. He is a 1995 graduate of Dunbar High School, Dayton, and of Wilberforce University, Xenia, Ohio. He is a computer consultant. A wedding is being planned for May 20 at Christ Cathedral Church in Dayton.

- loss of interest in activities you normally enjoy.

Baylin Cotillion at Forsyth Country Club

Denise Bassen, Eddie Morgan — World Class Ballroom Competitors
Social Graces • Dining Skills • Correct Manners
• Table Etiquette • Pre-Teens • Teenagers

Registration in Baylin Cotillion for 6th, 7th & 8th grade students in the Winston-Salem, Clemmons, Bernuda Run, Advance, Lewisville and Mocksville areas are now being taken. Cotillion is also available for High School students who missed the earlier sessions and realize that college and job interviews are just ahead. Cotillion training emphasizes Table Etiquette, Dining Skills, Correct Seating, Leaving the Table, the Menu and Ordering. During Cotillion, members are taught how far in advance one should invite a partner to an event, when to offer his arm, how to get a lady up and down steps wearing long or short dresses, coping with coats, car doors, receiving lines, hand shakes, introductions, responses, developing conversation skills and how to network a party or business meeting. When social and business knowledge is needed, it is too late to learn. Students are more receptive as early teens. There is time to practice before college and business interviews which often include a meal at an upscale restaurant or private club. At the completion of Baylin Cotillion students have learned skills to use daily, socially and later in business life as seen in the photos of our Formal Dinner and dance held in March at Forsyth Country Club.

Cotillions will be held at Baylin Dance Studio of Clemmons beginning Thursday, Jan. 13th from 7-8:30 p.m. For information call 766-2988.

Fresh Encounters: Learn To Connect With God In 2005

"Fresh Encounters," learning to connect with God in 2005, will be held at Farmington Baptist Church Jan. 9-Feb. 13.

How does God speak? How do you recognize God's voice? Have you ever wanted to know how to listen to God? How can you tell the difference between your thoughts and God's thoughts?

"Hearing clearly from God is critical in life," said pastor Scott Lyerly. "Hearing from God, listening to God, recognizing His voice, knowing His will, talking with God, gaining guidance for life, knowing your purpose in life, experiencing God, these are all important issues for us. The Fresh Encounters series is about how to connect with God in a real and personal way."

The 11 a.m. series includes: In Pursuit of God, Jan. 9; Preparing For A Fresh Encounter, Jan. 16; Learning How God Speaks, Jan. 23; Identifying The Voice of God, Jan. 30; Discovering God's Purpose For Your Life, Feb. 6; and Experiencing The Presence of God, Feb. 13.

Farmington Baptist is on 1835 Farmington Road, and on the web at farmingtonbaptist.org.

Lil' Panthers Academy

Offering Flexibility In Childcare

Ms. Cathy and Ms. Tara with some of the Lil' Panthers Academy friends.

Attention working parents - you're prayers for quality, convenient daycare have been answered.

Regardless of the hours you work (9 to 5 weekdays, nights, weekends, etc.), you no longer have to worry about where to leave your children.

Lil' Panthers Academy in Advance offers flexible hours seven days a week, rain or shine, snow or ice.

"We tailor our facility to the parent's work schedule," notes Tara Armstrong, co-owner of Lil' Panthers Academy. "We understand that time flexibility is a priority for most parents. That's why we focus on being as flexible as possible."

Along with her husband and Lil' Panthers co-owner, David Armstrong, Tara opened the doors to the Academy in June 2003.

"My whole background is in the child care field," Tara comments.

For many years Tara and her family lived in South Florida where she ran three preschools for one owner. After her second child was born, Tara decided to get out of the business until moving to this area almost four years ago. At the time, she was working for Mary Kay cosmetics.

"Strangely enough, my work with Mary Kay brought me back into the child care field again," she explains. "I found that I needed 'on the spot' and evening child care."

Lil' Panthers is a four-star facility.

That's when the idea for the Lil' Panthers Academy was born.

"When we first opened, the name of the school was 'Hour by Hour Childcare.' But we found that people didn't realize that we were a four-star licensed facility," she said. "So we decided to change the name."

Diverse programming, child pickup available

Lil' Panthers offers incredibly diverse programming which ranges from High Reach curriculum, Tae Kwon Do (which is located next to the Academy) and gymnastics, available through a co-op arrangement with Salem Gymnastics. They also have someone who comes twice a month from the Davie Library to read to the children. Meals, including breakfast, lunch and dinner, are $3 each.

Another service the academy offers is child pickup from a host of local preschools such as those at Macadonia Moravian, Hillside Baptist and Forsyth Country Day School.

"Those preschools usually just offer the regular preschool hours which are generally from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.," Tara says. "We pick up the children and transport them to our facility until the parent picks them up later that evening. Right now our enrollment is around 75 kids."

Terrific teaching staff is state certified

Lil' Panthers receives subsidy funding from several counties including Davie, Forsyth and Davidson. The Panthers staff consists of nine state-certified teachers who are experts in working with children.

"Our teachers are wonderful," Tara says with pride. "We have the same group that started with us a year-and-a-half ago. They love children and enjoy their work."

Registration runs from June to June for kids six weeks to 12 years old. The fees are $45.00 for one child and $60.00 for two or more children. The weekly rates are $129.00 for kids 0-2 years old, $119.00 for 2-3 year olds, and $109 for three or more kids.

"Kids Night Out" every Friday

On Friday nights, Lil' Panthers Academy has "Kids Night Out" from 5 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. They are usually fed pizza or McDonalds and watch a movie. The rate is $7.00 per hour per child plus $3.00 for the meal. There are also weekend hour rates available.

Lil' Panthers Academy is located at 5393 U. S. Highway 158 (right next to Dollar General) in the Bermuda Quay Shopping Center in Advance.

Hours: 6:30 a.m.-11:30 p.m. Monday-Sunday
Lil' Panthers Academy hours are 6:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Monday through Sunday, seven days a week.

"We are open on all snow and ice days when most preschools and schools are closed," Tara adds. "We pride ourselves on accommodating each parent's needs."

Come by and visit or give Tara and the staff a call for more information at (336) 940-6450.

Boys Survive Thrillers, Repeat As Moir Champs

4th-Quarter Rally Seals Tourney Title

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY - Davie's boys basketball team had been here before, 24 hours earlier, in fact. A close game that would be decided by a play or two in the late stages. And for the second straight day, the War Eagles pulled out a 58-56 edge-of-the-seater over East Rowan in a Sam Moir Christmas Classic championship that had some amazing twists and turns.

In the semifinals against West Rowan, the top-seeded War Eagles coughed up a 17-point lead before riding Michael Mashore, who hit a clutch 3-pointer, and Josh Aiken, who scored with four seconds left in overtime, to a 68-67 win.

In Thursday's finals of the 33rd-year event at Catawba College, No. 2 East Rowan wiped out a substantial Davie lead and was ahead 46-39 late in the third. But the poise and resiliency that the War Eagles demonstrated against West were evident again as they scored 19 of the final 29 points.

"With hard work and preparation, sometimes you get the luck and get the bounces," Davie coach Mike Absher said after Davie improved to 10-1. "And I believe anything that happens for them they deserve, because they've got tremendous heart and character. We had to fight through some things, and I don't think I can put into words the type of character we have on this team."

Aiken finished with 19 points and 12 rebounds on 9-of-12 shooting, a command performance that earned him the tournament MVP award. Cliff Burns had 11 points and 10 rebounds. Foo Smith had nine points, seven rebounds and four assists. And while Michael Mashore had a quiet eight points, he hit a pivotal 3-pointer for the second straight night.

The win not only avenged Davie's lone loss, 69-60 in the first week of the season, it also delivered a second Moir title in a row. It wasn't settled until East star Alstin Vanderford missed two close-range shots in the final five seconds. When the second one rimmed off, East players collapsed to the court while a swell of noise erupted from the orange section of the stands.

"To win this Christmas tournament twice in a row is real exciting," junior Raeshon McNeil said. "Nobody down here wants Davie County to win."

Worth Noting ...

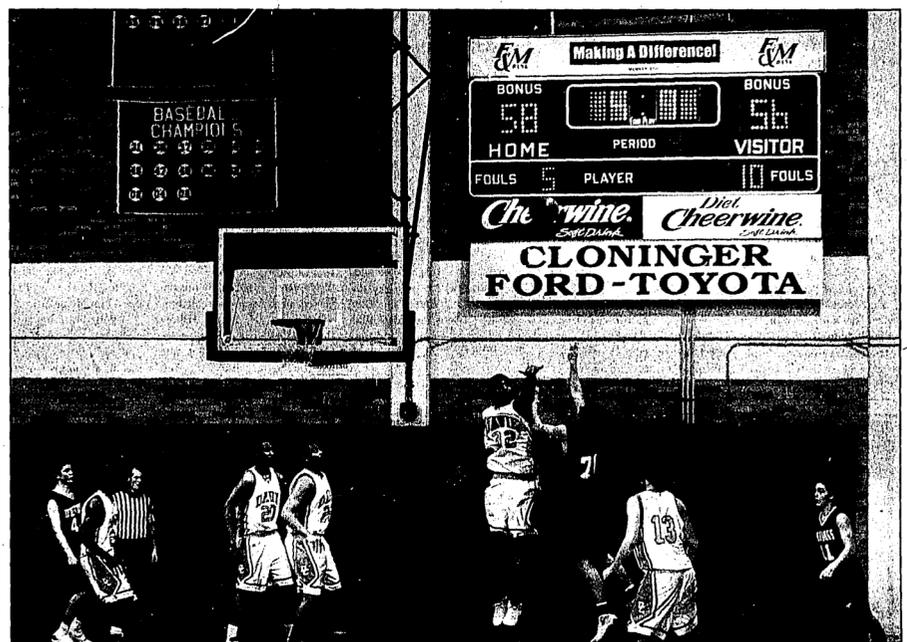

Davie wrestlers Kyle Smith, Russell Hilton, Dusty Johnson, Aaron Hollifield, Jeremiah Raby, Timmy Allen and Ryan Boehm went 8-0 in the Warrior Classic at E. Gaston. Johnson, Hollifield, Hilton and Allen have surpassed 100 career wins, joining a club that includes only nine others.

Josh Aiken scored 22 points, including the game-winning shot with four seconds left, in a 68-67 OT win over W. Rowan in the Moir semifinals. Cliff Burns added 13 points, 10 rebounds, 8 assists and 6 blocks.

Aiken shot 9-of-12 for 19 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and won tournament MVP after Davie shaved E. Rowan 58-56 in the Moir finals.

Freshman Melsha Fowler of Davie varsity girls totaled a team-high 26 points in two losses in the Sam Moir Christmas Classic.

Jack Rooney of Davie JV boys basketball scored 18 points in a 47-34 win over SW Randolph in the finals of an eight-team tournament. He won tournament MVP after averaging 14.3 points in three wins.

Mashore's 3 Sets Up Aiken's Game-Winner In OT

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY - In a game that had to be seen to be believed, Davie's varsity boys basketball team blew a 17-point, third-quarter lead, trailed late in the fourth and again in overtime, but managed to escape when Josh Aiken scored for a 68-67 win over West Rowan in the semifinals of last week's Sam Moir Christmas Classic at Catawba College.

Davie, the top seed in the annual event, improved to 9-1, while No. 5 West dipped to 4-6.

West's defense surrounded Cliff

Burns when he gathered an entry pass with time running out in OT and West clinging to a 67-66 lead. He slipped a pass to a guy who had missed four straight shots. But Aiken delivered with a three-foot layin and West's 65-foot heave at the buzzer banged off the backboard.

"I had to make it," Aiken said. "I had to find it."

"I knew I was going to get a double-team, and I knew somebody was going to be there," Burns said. "Josh happened to be there, and I had all the confidence in the world that he was going to get it done."

The game-winner capped a 22-point performance for Aiken, who wound up winning the tournament most-valuable-player award after Davie squeaked by East Rowan, 58-56, in a thrilling final. Burns had an enormous game with 13 points, 10 rebounds, eight assists and six blocks. Foo Smith hit 5 of 6 free throws for 14 points. Although Michael Mashore only scored eight, he hit the biggest shot of the game, a 3-pointer that pulled Davie within one with 1:35 left in OT.

The game opened just like the first meeting, when Davie used a 17-0 start to cruise 77-53 in Mt. Uila. Aiken went on a personal 8-2 run for a 17-5 lead, Smith buried a NBA 3 at the first-quarter buzzer and Raeshon McNeil set up a Mashore layup for a 29-14 lead. Aiken hit 6 of 8 shots for a 34-22 halftime lead, and it was more of the same when Smith pushed the margin to 37-22 in the third.

"I told them at halftime: 'We still have that same cloud around our head that we did in Mt. Uila, but look guys, we're only down 12,'" West coach Mike Gurly said. "We know Davie's good, but I think we respected them a little too much. We finally got more physical."

The game opened just like the first meeting, when Davie used a 17-0 start to cruise 77-53 in Mt. Uila. Aiken went

Cliff Burns said, "We're planning to beat them this year."

In most of the meetings from 1989-2004, the Titans employed a superior stable of weapons and were simply too good for Davie. They were so much better that about 25 of the streak's games were yawners.

The War Eagles had a shot last year, but the end left them with a familiar empty feeling. They gave a superior effort in the first meeting at West, but the Titans shot a ridiculous 58 percent and Isanc Rose poured in 37 points as West pulled away 107-80. The rematch was a wrenching 72-71 decision that left

34 Straight Losses

Davie Tries To End Dubious Streak Vs. West Forsyth

If you're a Davie fan or varsity boys basketball player under the age of 18, this could be the year you've waited a lifetime for.

When the War Eagles host West Forsyth on Jan. 11 in the Central Piedmont 4-A Conference opener, they will have a little added incentive. They can do something they haven't done since Moby Dick was a minnow, since Bull Durham was a big-screen hit, since Whitney Houston was at the top of the music charts.

They haven't beaten West since the 1987-88 season. That's 34 straight losses. That might be the nastiest streak in Davie history.

Absolutely Awesome

Wrestlers Hammer Two High-Profile Programs

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie's wrestling team put its unbeaten record on the line against two formidable foes - Riverside and East Gaston - in last week's Warrior Classic at E. Gaston, and the War Eagles turned both showdowns into one-sided, take-that victories.

Riverside has won the last three 4-A dual championships. Not only did the War Eagles beat the Pirates for just the second time in the last eight meetings, they made it look easy, 57-12. Although E. Gaston, another long-standing powerhouse, won last year's 3-A state tournament, Davie kicked the Warriors around the mat 51-18.

Before going to that two-day tournament, Davie scalded Fred T. Foard (79-0), East Burke (48-21), East Rutherford (75-3) and West Rowan (73-3). Then Davie ran its record to 30-0 by winning eight times at E. Gaston, including 68-7 over R.S. Central, 63-16 over Myers Park, 75-6 over West Brunswick, 63-7 over South Point, 83-0 over West Mecklenburg and 75-0 over Bunker Hill.

The Riverside match was going to tell a lot about the War Eagles' chances of meeting Cary, the prohibitive favorite to come out of the east bracket, in the state dual finals, and they were clearly superior to a team that was 6-1 against them since 2000-01.

"We did what we were supposed to, but I didn't think we'd beat Riverside as bad as we did," Coach Buddy Lowery said. "We wrestled good, but that's expected. We're pretty dang good."

This was a showdown of two proud legacies. Riverside coach Walt Tolarchyk has 600-plus wins in a career that began in 1966, while Lowery is 482-76 with two state titles and eight state runner-ups in 29 years.

The Pirates struck first for a 6-0 lead, but they didn't score again until Davie had reeled off 36 straight points.

Timmy Allen, Bubba Boger, Garrett Parks, Ryan Boehm, Kyle Smith,

Foursome Making History

With another month and a half remaining in the season, a host of Davie High wrestlers have already made history.

When the season started, there were nine members in the 100-win club. Now there's 13. Senior Dusty Johnson (124-41) and juniors Aaron Hollifield (111-24), Russell Hilton (110-21) and Timmy Allen (101-25) have joined the list.

On top of that, there were only three wrestlers who won 100 matches in a three-year span before those four matched the feat with plenty of room to spare.

When Patrick Lowery entered his 2001-02 senior season with 112 wins, he was the only guy to reach the century mark as a junior. Now Hollifield, Hilton and Allen share that distinction.

Arnold, Rice Make Football All-State; 4 Named All NW

Davie's record-setting football season has produced a slew of postseason awards.

Seniors Cooter Arnold, Ryan Boehm, Ted Randolph and D.J. Rice claimed spots on the Winston-Salem Journal's All-Northwest team. Arnold and Rice were two of eight repeat selections on a team that covers 13 counties, and Arnold was the only player to make the squad on offense (running back) and defense (cornerback).

Arnold, who has verbally committed to North Carolina, rushed for 2,344 yards, passed for 547, accounted for 39 touchdowns and made eight interceptions as Davie finished 14-1 with its first-ever berth to the state semifinals. Center Boehm's blocking graded out at 94 percent, and he made 29 pancake blocks. Ted Randolph, who is headed to Wake Forest, graded at 90 percent at tight end and averaged 17.6 yards on 11 catches. And linebacker Rice made 181 tackles, including 36 for losses and nine sacks.

Seven players from Northwest N.C. were named to the Associated Press All-State team, including Arnold on offense and defense and Rice.

That's all the more impressive when you consider N.C.'s senior class is regarded as one of the best in the nation. Miller Safrit, a regional recruiting analyst for scout.com, ranks N.C.'s class No. 6 behind Texas, California, Florida, Ohio and Georgia.

Davie Trounces 2 Defending State Champs

Russell Hilton and Dusty Johnson strung the run together, and Aaron Hollifield, Chris Ange, Craig Brown, Jeremiah Raby and Brandon Stewart dropped another 21 unanswered points on Riverside in the first.

Davie, which captured 11 of 14 weight classes, deeply enjoyed giving Riverside a dose of its own medicine.

"They usually beat us, but I don't think they have anything for us this year," Raby said. "They lost a bunch (last year) and we didn't. They just didn't (bring in) enough people this year. I guess."

"It was a mentality booster," Allen said. "Now that we know we can beat them, it'll be a different story (this year)."

The War Eagles looked like their usual selves against vaunted E. Gaston, which is to say unstoppable. Josh Barnes and Allen got the 51-18 snowball rolling with first-period pins, and they proceeded to take 10 of 14 decisions.

"They're one of the top teams in 3-A and we killed them," Raby said.

"They thought they could beat us," Allen said. "They thought they could beat us at 112 (where Hilton beat defending state champ Jared Grigg 13-10) and 103 (where Smith pinned in the first)."

"The suspense was gone when Parks fought back for a pin and 18-3 lead at 215. Boehm, Smith, Hilton, Johnson, Hollifield, Raby and Stewart followed with wins. "They've got pretty good tradition," Lowery said. "They used to beat us when they were in 4-A. They're pretty dang good."

Only three previous Davie teams reached 30 wins (30-2 in 1999, 32-3 in 2002 and 30-5 in 2003), and the War Eagles (30-0) are already three Ws from setting a new record.

Just how good were the War Eagles over two days? Consider seven starters went 8-0 and three more went 7-1. Smith, Hilton, Johnson, Hollifield, Raby, Allen and Boehm were perfect, and Ange, Stewart and Parks fell once in eight tries. Everyone went at least 5-3, with Boger at 6-2 and Adam McLwain, Brown and Barnes at 5-3.

That adds up to 98-14. The total score in eight matches was 535-66. And with the lineup holding seven juniors, four sophomores and only three seniors, Davie could be doing this fabulous stuff again next year.

How about the season records. Starting at 103 and going up, junior Smith is 33-1, junior Hilton 34-1, senior Johnson 26-2, sophomore McLwain 22-8, junior Hollifield 34-1, sophomore Ange 29-5, sophomore Brown 28-7, sophomore Stewart 30-4, junior Boger 11-4, Junior Parks 30-3 and senior Boehm is 17-0.

Smith is better than he was supposed to be as a first-year starter at 103.

"He's doing great," Hilton said. "Everybody thought he'd be good, but nobody thought he'd be 34-1."

Parks started slow as a sophomore heavyweight. But since struggling to 12-9 midway through last year, he's 42-8. He worked tirelessly in the offense to move from HWT to 215 and lost 50-some pounds, from 264 to 210. The reward has been a 30-3 record at 215.

"You don't have to worry about him panicking and getting upright," Lowery said. "He looks like he's going to sneak up on somebody. It's like they're going to shut their eyes and he's going to run up behind them."

Davie was 22-0 with Raby on the sidelines. When he finally made his senior debut at E. Gaston, the lineup became even more ruthless.

"I was missing being out there with my team," he said. "I just got tired of watching, and I was ready to get out there with them."

Notes

McLwain endured the toughest division (125). He lost three times, but one was against Riverside's Colton Palmer and another was against defending state champ Rob Tate of E. Gaston. The sophomore didn't do bad against either one, trailing just 5-2 when he was pinned by Palmer and holding Tate to five points.

"That's all you can ask," Lowery said. "He wrestled his butt off. There were some daggone men in his weight class."

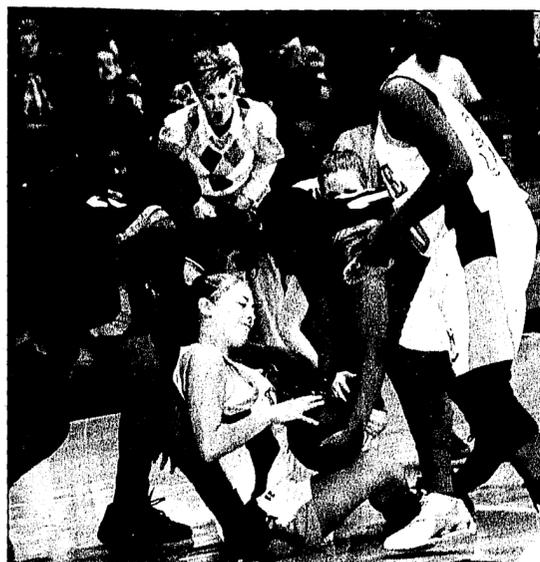

"The War Eagles are 101-3-1 in 19 years in the Central Piedmont Conference. They've claimed first place 16 times, have a league winning streak of 15 and have never lost to West Forsyth.

But West (20-0) is as good as it's ever been, and the Titans happen to be Davie's first CPC opponent on Jan. 6 at home at 6 p.m.

"West is pretty good. There's going to be some close matches," Lowery said. "But if we wrestle like we can, we'll win. We've got a lot of confidence. Let's keep a level head and get it on."

When you combine Davie's individual records, it comes out to a mind-bending 363-45 (.890).

After facing W. Forsyth, Davie competes in a tournament at Orange on Jan. 8 and travels to South Rowan Jan. 12 at 6 p.m.

Joni Garrett fights three Hornets for possession in Davie's 76-43 semifinal loss.

Girls Have No Answer For Salisbury Team, Lose At End To West Rowan

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

SALISBURY - No wonder Karen Stephens suffered her worst loss in three years as Davie's varsity girls basketball coach in the semifinals of last week's Sam Moir Christmas Classic at Catawba College. Shayla Fields' supporting cast, which is normally a faceless crew that doesn't scare anyone, transformed into a band of pit bulls right before Davie's eyes and combined to sink 19 of 26 shots.

Davie's six-game winning streak was ripped apart 76-43 by Salisbury because Fields' helpers, who came in averaging 25 points a game, neatly doubled their output (47) on a night when Fields did her usual thing (29 points, exactly her average).

Davie exited 0-2 when it lost the third-place game, 54-51, to No. 2 West Rowan, which averaged a 58-56 loss from Dec. 8.

Davie, the No. 1 seed in the annual tournament, faded with 6:30 left in the second quarter of the semifinals and wound up missing 34 of 50 shots. No. 4 Salisbury, on the other hand, hit its stride after sputtering past No. 5 East Rowan, 47-43, in the first round.

"Where have we been?" Salisbury coach Jennifer Shoaf said. "We had a heart-to-heart (after beating E. Rowan), and it paid off. We had to make a statement today, and I think we did."

The Hornets, the defending 2-A state champions, became a powerhouse midway through Fields' sophomore season, winning 16 of the final 17 games in 2002-03, going 31-0 last year and improving to 7-2 against Davie. That's a 54-3 run.

Still, they're actually beatable when Fields has to do it all. Unfortunately for Davie, the Hornets were close to world-beaters on this night. When Fields started 2 of 5, her teammates knocked in 4 of 6 shots for a 15-7 lead. Fields shot a mortal 50 percent in the first half, but Salisbury had a commanding 34-22 lead because her teammates shot 60 percent.

"We had some balanced scoring," Shoaf said. "We won (over E. Rowan) with Shayla only scoring 15 points. (We drilled Davie) because of a total team effort."

For Davie, it was a surprising display of futility. Carly Booth (three points) only attempted three shots after coming in with a 13.4 scoring average. Nicole Maready (five shot attempts) went scoreless for the first time in 35 games. She was averaging 11 points. And Alyson Walker (six points) only got off four shots as Davie wilted under Salisbury's suffocating man-to-man defense.

"We were intimidated by their defense and we backed down," Stephens said. "We expected Fields to score her points and control their other players. Fields was going to get her points, but our other players had to step up and do their job, and they didn't do that. The score was a lot worse than it should have been."

The only bright spot for Davie was freshman point guard Meisha Fowler (14 points on 4-of-7 3-point shooting). She triggered a 7-0 run that pulled Davie to 16-14, and she scored five straight to make it 23-19 with 3:38 left in the second quarter.

"Fowler picked us up and made something happen," Stephens said. "But the inside game had to pick it up also. They hadn't been playing that aggressive, and they stepped up to the championship contender that they are."

"Fowler hit some amazing shots," Shoaf said. "Everybody had told me No. 15 could shoot, and most of her 3s came with defense in her face. But we did a really good job on Maready and Booth, and that was our focus. People said there were scouts here watching those two. I was like: 'Are they that good?' I hadn't heard anything about them. We denied the ball hard against them."

Davie fell apart into 1,000 pieces in the third. A 10-0 Salisbury run made it 44-22, and soon after it was 57-27. The megastar (Fields) went 10 of 23 from the field, hit 8 of 9 free throws and added seven assists as Salisbury shot an astounding 59 percent.

Fields, the most prolific female scorer in Rowan County history, has 2,199 points and averages 23.6 in her 93-game career. She will be a N.C. State Wolfpack in 2005-06.

"When her outside shot wasn't going, she was able to create, get some easy opportunities and make some three-point plays," Shoaf said. "Yeah, that was the Shayla of last year. She's a good all-around player. I could ask her to guard the other team's best player, and she'd do a good job on them."

"She'll go with a behind-the-back move, or she'll lean in and get the three-point play. She doesn't need much space for her outside shot. She's exciting, and she hustles just as much on defense."

W. Rowan 54, Davie 51
When Brooke Harris tied the game at 10 with a baseline jumper, the tone was set. Davie and W. Rowan traded baskets in a shootout that was entertaining all the way to the last second.

Davie's star of the game was Walker, who dropped in seven straight points for a 21-19 halftime lead. Then she nailed a 3 while getting decked, a four-point play that gave Davie a 35-28 lead with 3:02 left in the third. But when it looked as if Walker's four-pointer was going to be the difference, West countered with a 9-0 run.

Maready gave the momentum back to Davie in the fourth, cashing in a pass from Booth for a 45-42 lead. After West tied it, Joni Garrett scored twice on put-backs, the second providing a 51-50 lead with 1:20 left.

But just when it seemed that Garrett was going to be an unlikely hero, West scored the final four points in a scrap that featured 11 lead changes and seven ties.

Davie offset 29-percent shooting with 12-of-15 accuracy at the line, but West prevailed by hitting 9 of 14 free throws in the fourth.

"We didn't want to play like we did (vs. Salisbury)," Walker said. "That was horrible and we knew we could do better, and we did play better."

Walker hit 4 of 4 free throws for 17 points. That was a return-to-form game for someone who struggled to 11 points in the last three games. Maready bounced back with a double-double (12 points, 11 rebounds). Fowler had 12 points to finish the tournament with a team-high 26. And Garrett had four points, seven rebounds and three steals off the bench.

Davie had five shots in the final 38 seconds, but all of them missed. Fowler's game-tying 3 with the clock running out was blocked as West got revenge for the 58-56 decision in Mt. Ulla.

"West (7-3) is a good team, so I don't think we have much to hang our heads about," Walker said.

Aiken Beats West Rowan In OT

Just when it looked as though Davie was going to glide into the finals for the fourth time in seven years, West sophomore Jamal Carpenter came up with six straight points. Carpenter was suddenly baffling Davie with slashing moves to the basket. But when Aiken produced a three-point play for a 48-31 lead, Carpenter's exploits (33 points) were being dismissed as a one-man attempt to make the final score look respectable.

But West kept coming and the War Eagles couldn't do anything right. They fell into the trap of thinking West was going to be intimidated by the early blowout and roll over, and the fourth quarter was a strange reversal of fortunes. Carpenter scored over the 6-foot-7 Burns, and West turned a steal into a 59-57 lead.

"(In the first meeting) Carpenter lost his composure, had eight points and got his shot blocked like 39 times," Gurly said. "Tonight I never saw him lose it mentally."

"I guess we started looking toward East Rowan and forgot we had to finish this game," Burns said. "And they played hard. They put it to us and we were backing down. (Carpenter) talked a lot of noise, and he played great. Hey, he didn't back down tonight."

"I figured it was going to be pretty much the same (as the 77-53 game)," McNeil said. "They played a lot better obviously. We had some breakdowns, but we kept fighting and came through at the end."

Burns' rebound bucket and Smith's two free throws forged ties. In a remarkable sequence in the final 12 seconds, West missed two point-blank shots, Smith stole the ball after an in-bounds and raced downcourt with one eye on the clock and one eye on the basket. Carpenter blocked Smith's 7-foot runner from behind as the horn sounded. He appeared to scrape Smith's arm, but the official signaled the play was clean, sending the game to OT.

Davie's bench was irate at the controversial no-call.

"I guess he didn't want to make a call," Smith said. "When I first got the steal and turned to go, he grabbed my whole arm and I thought I heard him blow the whistle then. I kept going. I floated it and he hit my arm again."

"I thought Foo got fouled," Absher said. "I think (Carpenter) was a little stunned that there wasn't a foul called."

West opened OT with two inside baskets over Davie's tall defenders and led 67-63. With the clock showing 1:35, Davie needed someone to provide a spark. Mashore did it, taking a pass from Burns and nailing a 3-pointer from the left wing.

"As Mashore was coming down the floor, (assistant coach Shannon Pulliam) was yelling: 'Get your shoulders squared,'" Absher said. "(Pulliam) knew he was going to get the opportunity to shoot it. Ironically, I was talking to Mashore before the game about how he's accepted his role, but he could really get to us on the next level. I hope that will give him the confidence that he needs."

The guy who bailed Davie out had missed 3 of 4 shots from long range.

"I was struggling and I air-balled one in the first half," Mashore said. "I was trying to step up and hit the big shot, and it felt good when it left my hands. It helps me out a lot because I've been kind of streaky."

West point guard Ronnie Cuthbertson went to the line with 11 seconds to go and West ahead by one. But he missed both and Aiken rebounded. Moments later, Burns was trapped on the right block. He flipped the ball to Aiken, who was right under the goal, and Aiken saved Davie's bacon.

"Aiken can play," Gurly said. "I love playing against Davie because they're so well-coached and they're a good team."

"We gutted out a win against Mooresville (74-61), but nothing like this," Absher said. "You've got to give Aiken credit because he struggled from the end of the third through the fourth on shots he typically makes. But to gather himself and make that basket speaks highly of him."

"It was crazy the way it ended," Burns said. "This will prepare us for East Rowan."

Notes
Carpenter scored 20 points in the third and fourth, but none in OT. That credit goes to Smith. "We decided either Foo or McNeil needed to be on him at the end," Absher said. "Foo will fight anybody and he was the right guy to play him."

McNeil got a surprise start-over Smith - in his third game of the season, and he answered with three steals and two assists in the first quarter. "He's getting his basketball legs," Absher said of the football standout. "Foo missed practice for a family trip, so we gave Raeshon the nod and he played really well."

"Though West is obviously not close to the team it once was, it always means something to beat Gurly, who guided West to 61-0 in the 2002 and 2003 seasons."

"I have a lot of respect for Coach Gurly and their program," Absher said. "You don't win back-to-back state championships unless you do the right things. They're too well coached not to play hard, and hopefully a game like this will help us tremendously down the road."

Davie Wins Moir Classic With 4th-Quarter Rally

It's heart-wrenching to go through two games like that," Burns said. "But it's fun, it's good competition and I think it'll help us in the conference."

The War Eagles (10-1) threatened to knock East (7-3) out in the first quarter as Mustangs coach Greg McKenzie called one of the quickest timeouts ever (34 seconds in). Aiken flushed a powerful dunk with a defender on him, McKenzie called time again less than four minutes in and East looked lost when Drew Yeager drained a 3-pointer for a 22-13 lead.

But behind the spectacular shooting of Vanderford, the Mustangs got off the deck. After going scoreless in the first quarter, Vanderford scored 11 straight East points as Davie watched its halftime lead dwindle to 34-31.

Vanderford, a smooth guard with a radar shooting eye, reached the 1,000-point milestone midway through the second. He finished with 22 points on 9-of-20 shooting, along with seven rebounds and three assists.

"He's a winner," East coach Greg McKenzie said. "He'll be playing somewhere next year. He's one of the best I've coached in 19 years."

With East getting more confidence and momentum and Davie getting outthrust, the Mustangs grabbed their first lead at 37-35 and surged ahead 46-39 with 1:50 left in the third.

East, in the finals for the first time since 1990, could taste its first Christmas-tournament title since 1975.

"They're not very athletic, but they shoot the ball extremely well," Burns said. "I kind of felt it slipping away. Calls weren't going our way and the game wasn't going our way. But we tried to keep my head, and it all turned out to be good."

"We're not the biggest team, but we've got a lot of winners, and that's why we're having a good season," McKenzie said.

For the War Eagles to win the Moir for the third time in six years, they had to repeat their semifinal heroics. That's exactly what they did. Smith, Aiken and Mashore rallied Davie to 46-45.

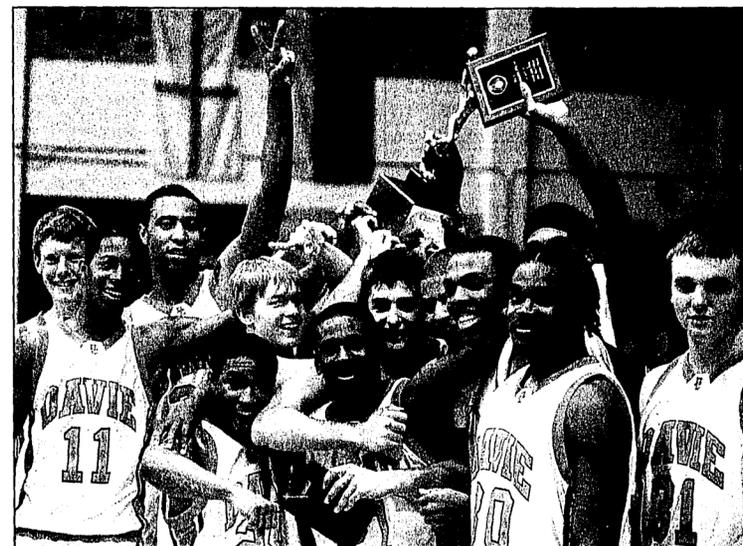

A three-point play restored East's lead to 49-45, but a 13-7 Davie rush came about because Mashore couldn't have picked better timing for a clutch 3-pointer. When Burns kicked Mashore the ball on the left wing with four minutes left, he was 0-for-5 from downtown. He fired the long ball anyway, and it hit nothing but net.

"I don't think there were any losers out there," McKenzie said. "It was just one of those things where somebody had to lose. They made the plays last night, too, so they're a pretty good team."

With the crowd screaming, McNeil and Aiken gave Davie a 55-51 lead. The din of hoarse voices rose again when Vanderford launched a long, contested 3 that swished with 29 seconds to go. That made it 55-54.

Smith sank a pair of free throws, but the gutsy Vanderford answered with a transition bucket that pulled East to 58-56.

McNeil missed two free throws with 15 seconds left, and the Mustangs could win or tie on the last possession. They went to the right guy, Vanderford wanted to try a game-winning 3 on the right wing. Smith's chest-to-chest defense foiled those plans, but Vanderford blew by for a clean 15-footer. It missed, but the carom landed right in Vanderford's hands, and he had an open 8-footer. The bank was closed as the game ended in celebration for Davie and in heartache for East.

"I wouldn't want the ball in anybody's hands but Vanderford," McKenzie said. "Those usually go for him. We wanted him to shoot a 3, but (Smith) jumped out at him. He's great at following his shot, and (his second try) was like a layup for him. It just wasn't meant to be."

"I just knew one of them was going to go in, and we were going to have to go to overtime again," McNeil said.

"That last play was a little scary," Smith said. "We lucked out on it, but we'll take it any way we can. This will get us ready for conference."

Fans were exhausted. Players were emotionally and physically spent. The War Eagles got mud on their boots, but they pulled together again just as everything seemed to be tilting the wrong way. They were less-than-stellar in the middle quarters, but they did just enough to sustain a nine-game winning streak.

"Anytime you get in situations where it's close and you have to fight to win, that's only going to help you down the road," Absher said. "East is tough, they fight you, and I'm glad we had more than them."

Notes: Aiken won MVP by scoring 41 points, grabbing 19 rebounds and making 19 of 29 shots (66 percent) in two games. But he shunned the spotlight after accepting the plaque. "Pete (Burns) should have gotten it. Everybody worked hard," he said. "Without my team, I wouldn't be MVP of this tournament." ... By Burns' lofty standards, he had a subpar game, a season-low 11 points on 5-of-11 shooting and just one block. "He's tough in there," McKenzie said. "He doesn't look like it, but he finds a way to get in front of you and post up." ... The War Eagles play at Mooresville Jan. 5 before opening CPC play against visiting West Forsyth Jan. 11. They go to South Rowan Jan. 14.

War Eagles Haven't Beaten West Forsyth Since 1988

Davie angry and bitter. Rose (25 points) followed Davie's go-ahead bucket with one of his own, the game-winner falling through the net with four seconds left.

As a result, the streak lived on. "Last year we thought we had them, and we let them slip away," Burns said.

There wasn't a mystique and aura to West back in 1988.

Denny Key was in his second year of rebuilding Davie, and the War Eagles hammered West 75-57. Clifford Dulin produced 15 points and 15 rebounds, Shane Aiken rebounded. Moments later, Burns was trapped on the right block. He flipped the ball to Aiken, who was right under the goal, and Aiken saved Davie's bacon.

The War Eagles embarrassed West again in the rematch, 90-59. Dulin had 22 points and 14 rebounds, and four teammates contributed double-figure points: Anderson 12 and Craig Nestor 10. They went on to achieve one of the finest seasons ever, 18-7 and 10-3 in the CPC. The second-place finish remains Davie's best showing in 19 CPC years.

Believe it or not, 2-21 West and Reynolds were the CPC's bottom feeders in 1988.

But everything changed for good when Key left Davie for - of all places - W. Forsyth in 1988-89. West's assistant coach, Steve Hurley, replaced Key in an odd switch that was ill-fated for Davie and just what the doctor ordered for West. It was especially weird since big Denny Key faced son Denny Key, then a Davie senior, in 1989.

The first father-son showdown went to the elder Key 59-49, and 33 West victories have followed. Look at what the War Eagles have endured since 1989: 83-57, 91-69, 81-55, 74-41, 60-42, 68-53, 77-34, 66-38, 67-48, 97-63, 98-46, 107-80.

How stinking, miserably rotten are those scores?

While West was just too good and too deep in most of the meetings, a handful of games have been littered with the word "almost."

In 1992, with the Davie gym packed, the Bubba Coleman-Tyrone Martin-Keith Koozay War Eagles led 58-53 with 2:31 left. But they unraveled like a cheap sweater and lost 61-58.

"I hated to see their faces after a game like this," then-coach Charles Crénshaw said. "This was a dagger through the heart. This could have been such a great win for our program. A win would have meant so much more to us than to them."

In 1993, Coleman penetrated and kicked to Jason Phelps, who had an open look from 16 feet with the game tied at the end. It barely missed, and Davie lost 65-60 in overtime.

In 1995, Jonathan Vaughters assisted a Chad Lanier layup for a one-point lead with three minutes left. It wound up being the same old thing, a 49-41 loss.

In the second of three games in '95, Lee Puckett delivered a three-point play for a 51-49 lead. But West's Titicus Pettigrew forced OT with two free throws with three seconds left, and West won in OT 70-64.

In the finals of the CPC Tournament, Davie was only down one at halftime. But West rendered Davie helpless in the second half and rolled 59-40.

Davie absorbed more heartbreak in 2000. It was 44-44 in the fourth quarter, but West responded with a 21-5 run to win 65-49.

Davie had a chance to stun Chris Paul and Co. in 2002. Paul had just four points in the first half, but Davie lost 63-50 by shooting 25 percent.

And last year's 72-71 loss at Davie hurt to the bone. The War Eagles hit a storybook shot with 10 seconds left, only to watch Rose answer at the other end.

A year later, that game still gnaws at the War Eagles' guts. Next week they'll try to erase the 0-for-the-last-34 stigma in front of a Paint-The-Gym-Orange home crowd.

In a departure from past scripts, the game appears to be a tossup. The Titans have trotted out Porches, Jaguars and Escalades almost every year since "You don't want to put too much emphasis on one game, but you want to get off to a good start."

-Coach Mike Absher

1989, but they're a modest 6-6 after mashing 1-10 East Forsyth 96-72 in their last game. They have just one returning starter from last year (Tyler Boardman), and their tallest player is 6-5 center Adam Fought. Their other starters stand 5-10, 6-2, 6-2 and 6-4.

Meanwhile, the War Eagles are brimming with confidence. Their nine-game winning streak includes back-to-back dramatic wins in the Sam Moir Christmas Classic. They seem destined to finally end the West hex. They won't revel in any accomplishments until the streak is stopped.

And emotions will run high in an atmosphere that promises to be raucous. Davie fans are encouraged to wear orange in support of their team.

"(In years past) we've been trying to dig ourselves out of a (CPC) hole, and to win the first one and to beat those guys would be a big, big boost," Davie coach Mike Absher said. "It's West Forsyth. Our guys are well aware of the streak. They thought they had it snapped last year at home. Hopefully we can have a good prep for them and stop that streak."

The War Eagles are hungry to do things they've rarely, if ever, done, and they've got the tools to do it. West appears more vulnerable than it's been in many years, and Reynolds - which won the state from 2000-02 and finished second last year - doesn't look unbeatable. The War Eagles haven't won a conference championship since 1970, so Jan. 11 offers the ideal opportunity to crank up a compelling run in a dramatic way.

"We feel we have a great chance to win the conference," Burns said. "I've felt we could will have to play its best. "They're a very dangerous team," Absher said. "They shoot it very well. Boardman pretty much dictates their tempo. He's such a good free-throw shooter, and he likes to penetrate and get to the basket."

Jan. 11 is only one game. It's silly to think the outcome will make or break the season. But when you only play eight conference games, and when you're tired of looking up at a bitter rival, Jan. 11 has the significance of a late-season affair.

"You don't want to put too much emphasis on one game, but you want to get off to a good start," Absher said. "With eight games each game is big, more so than if you played in an eight-team conference with 14 games."

County Backs Society's Plan For No-Kill Shelter

By Mike Gunning
 Davie County Enterprise Record

Dr. Robin Brock of the Davie County Humane Society may not like the county-managed animal shelter, but she won't criticize the county's efforts.

"I try not to be critical of the county," Brock said. "I know where it's been and where it's come."

Brock said much of the un-manned shelter's problems are not because of how it is managed, but because of the location.

"It's so remote, it's not a location that attracts people who want to adopt," Brock said. "It's a place to drop off and forget. We need a place to recycle."

Brock is heading the effort to build a new no-kill facility on a 15-acre plot of land one mile from the current shelter on Eaton Road in Mocksville.

The Humane Society, which received non-profit status in 1998, has raised more than $100,000, much of it from the Margaret C. Woodson Foundation, to build the facility. An additional $100,000 has been pledged from the county, with an additional $30,000 coming from the town of Mocksville.

Groundbreaking is expected to take place sometime this year, with much of the construction being done by National Guard unit volunteers from Mocksville, Mooresville, Siler City and other North Carolina counties. Brock said the volunteers will work weekend shifts and some two week stints. She added the construction will probably take a year, and hopes to open the doors by spring 2006.

"That will cut down enormously on the facility's construction costs," County Manager Terry Bralley said.

Bralley said the exact date of the groundbreaking wouldn't be determined until later in the year, but said the facility couldn't come sooner, because Davie County's shelter is unsuited to handle the amount of stray and unwanted animals that are dropped off at the shelter weekly.

Last year, more than 1,200 dogs and cats, an average of almost three animals a day, were euthanized because there is no plan to maintain them long term.

Animal Control Officer Robert Cook said he works with the Humane Society to try to foster or promote adoption of many of the animals, but the numbers of those dropped off is overwhelming. The

Tuskegee Airmen Here Monday

They were in the forefront of the Civil Rights Movement.

They came before Rosa Parks and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. They weren't as famous as the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy or Malcolm X.

But when the Tuskegee Airmen entered the segregated Officer's Club at Freeman Field, Ind., in the 1940s, they paved the way for the equal treatment of all people.

Three members of Tuskegee Airmen will speak at the Martin Luther King Celebration Monday, Jan. 17 at New Shepherd Baptist Church in Coolee.

The day will start with a news conference at noon with Leonard "Hawk" Hunter, Cleopas Mason and Wilson V. Eagleson.

At 12:30 p.m., cars will line up for a motorcade to Coolee. Black and white cars are needed. At 12:45, with a police escort, the motorcade will travel down U.S. 601 South to N.C. 801, to New Shepherd church on Wall Street.

From the church, a march will take place in Coolee, ending back at the church in time for the program, which will start at 1:45 p.m.

Davie residents are invited to take part in the program at any time.

Wilson V. Eagleson, a retired first lieutenant with the U.S. Air Force and a Tuskegee Airman during World War II, will be among the presenters at the program. He will be joined by Hunter and Mason, Vietnam War veterans.

All are members of the Wilson V. Eagleson Chapter of the Tuskegee Airmen, based in Goldsboro.

Doom And Gloom Congresswoman Says Orientation Brought Disturbing News

By Mike Barnhardt
 Davie County Enterprise Record

Virginia Foxx was glad to be in Davie County Monday.

"As the Fifth District's newest member of Congress, she had just spent her first few days in Washington. There were orientation sessions which mostly gave "doom and gloom" forecasts of what to expect.

And there was the matter of getting around the highly-secured city of Washington, D.C., and the even tighter security in the Canon Office Building where she is in Office 503.

Yet, she remained optimistic as she traveled across the district Monday, learning what the people want and need.

"It's going to be a challenge to get things done, but we're part of the greatest government in the world, in the greatest country of the world... and we have an opportunity to make it better. That's humbling," she said.

Foxx saw on the first day the partisan ways of the U.S. House and Senate. She's been appointed to the agriculture, government reform and education reform committees.

To Wayne Webb, she should do something about the cost of health care.

A business owner who has provided health care coverage at no cost to his employees, Webb has seen the costs escalate to where that's not possible.

"Every year we're getting beat down with increases and there's no way to fight it," Webb said. "We need help... with the insurance companies or with tax credits."

Webb said he won't hire anyone who can't pass a test for use of illegal drugs. That's not easy, because about 70 percent of those applying for a job at his business can't pass such a test.

SBI Begins Investigation Of Sheriff's Office

By Mike Gunning
 Davie County Enterprise Record

The SBI has begun a formal investigation of the Davie County Sheriff's Department at the request of District Attorney Gary Frank and Sheriff Allen Whitaker.

The investigation stems from an anonymous letter received by Frank regarding alleged abuses of department policies and liberties taken by Sheriff Allen Whitaker and one of his officers, Lt. Jimmy Phipps.

Whitaker was given a copy of the letter, and contacted Frank.

"I have nothing to hide," Whitaker said at the time. "I asked for an outside agency to investigate, because if there is something going on, I want to know about it."

The unsigned letter was particularly accusatory towards Phipps. The letter claimed, among other things, that the 30-year-law-enforcement veteran used his access to county property to allow family members use of county vehicles.

Phipps was accused of bringing home a department owned laptop computer on several occasions for his girlfriend's use. The letter alleged that Phipps allowed her to use county equipment and supplies to do homework after hours in the detectives' office.

Phipps is accused of sending officers to collect traffic cones from Davidson Community College and deliver them to a private event. The letter claims that event was for a political supporter of Whitaker.

Phipps has denied all charges.

"Other than to say that I'm not guilty of this, I can't comment until this investigation is over," Phipps said. "I'll let the facts speak for themselves."

Whitaker said he has been interviewed by the SBI, but refused comment as to what was discussed. He said many of the agent's interviews with other members of his staff have taken place in his office, and said he was cooperating fully and expected every member of his staff to do the same.

Whitaker said the investigators have been courteous, and have kept the sheriff in the loop as to which officers and staff they wanted to interview. He has not been told what was said in the interviews.

The sheriff said he was not concerned about the investigation.

"We'll be fine," Whitaker said. "I told the staff, just be honest, tell the truth, and we'll be fine."

Being Safe: There Are Ways To Live Longer

You can't stop a tsunami. You can't control an earthquake. Hurricanes, tornadoes and floods have a mind of their own. Try as we might, there's nothing we can do to stop them. But there are things you can control in this life that will make you safer.

Scenes from the destruction in the Indian Ocean countries have disturbed all of us. We aren't in much danger of a tidal wave here, but we are in danger of getting hit by a car.

So fasten your seatbelt.

Fasten it all the time, not just when you're going on vacation.

Put your little children in car seats. A new law now has stiffened the requirements for children to be in booster seats.

Don't speed.

Despite all the stories of people killed in speeding cars, many of us assume tragedy will never visit us.

Slow down.

Keep your body healthy with good food and exercise.

Don't smoke. Cigarettes seem to be linked to a dozen or more health ailments. Just don't.

Election Losers Need To Call It Quits

My political career ended in 1973. I ran for vice president of the student body at Western Carolina University.

Esposing a liberal agenda of co-ed dorms and better food in the cafeteria, I had managed to upset all my fellow student government members. About six of us ran for the job. I finished in a comfortable first place, but a runoff was required. All the other candidates endorsed the second place guy.

I wasn't as lovable then.

So the run-off was eventful.

When the votes were counted, I won. So they counted again, and I won. So they counted again, and I won. So they counted again, and I lost.

That's when I knew it was time to find new friends. I went to work for the campus newspaper.

What I didn't know was that the thing to do was to sue someone.

That's what they do these days.

Close elections are nightmares.

The race for the N.C. Commissioner of Agriculture still hasn't been decided six weeks after the voters made their choice. The State of Washington's gubernatorial election is still being challenged. People are still crying fraud about the presidential election in Ohio, even though President Bush won by 100,000 votes.

Florida voters must be happy that the fussing was in Ohio this time, not in their state.

The state agriculture dispute hinges on 4,000 ballots that were deleted in Carteret County. Those votes probably favored Republican Steve Troxler. His campaign has gathered affidavits from 1,352 of the voters who said they voted for him. That would be enough to guarantee him the election.

But affidavits don't necessarily meet election guidelines for settling disputes.

The state elections board once ordered an entirely new election, which would cost several million dollars and result in much fewer voters participating. It also considered holding another vote just in Carteret County.

There has been no easy answer, and election regulations are unbending.

Democrat Britt Cobb, who has been the acting agriculture secretary, has continued to press for another vote.

It's time for him to do what I did in 1973 and find some new friends.

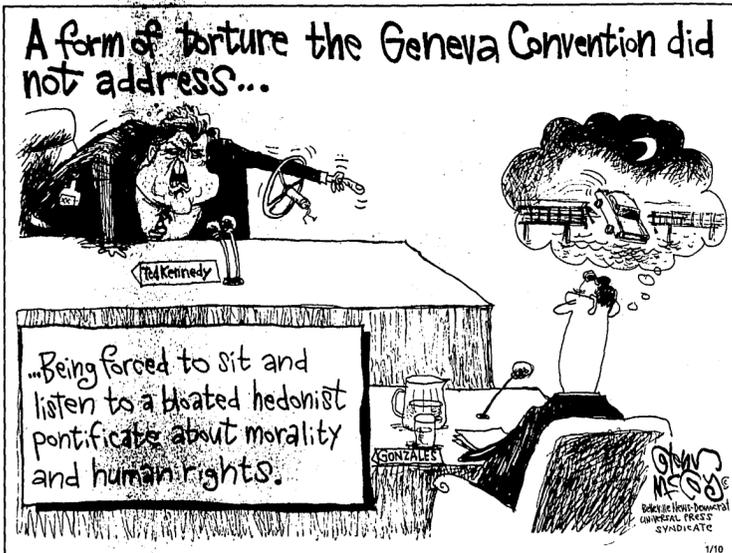

He lost. Not by much. But he lost.

With 3.5 million votes cast, less than 4,000 votes separated the candidates.

Close is not enough to win, but it is enough to cause a lot of bickering and legal maneuvering.

Alcohol Sales? Let The Good Times Roll

To the editor:

Looking back on the 40 years I've lived on Underpass Road, there were approximately 15 houses in Greenwood Lake, as it was called. Lou Stabler started it. He was about 25 years ahead of his time.

Then there was Bermuda Run, top notch. That got the ball rolling. Then there was Hidden Creek, with its own "sewage system," a package plant which didn't work out to well.

Then came more and more developments, the latest one Oak Vally, golf course and all the goodies. There were a few smaller ones that sprang up.

Now comes the Granddaddy of them all - Kinderon. It has approximately everything a resident from the cradle to the grave, except a museum. It has an undertaker, shopping center with everything, including beer and wine sales. One thing I failed to mention. Bermuda Run is incorporated and started to grow. So far it has surpassed Kinderon shopping center. That's how they got beer and wine sales. Tanglewood Crossing, the shopping center at 158 & 101, is in line after they make a few improvements. In all fairness, they should be able to sell alcoholic beverages. When they are ready, they can.

The partners running Kinderon knew they needed an industrial sewer system so they made a deal with Forsyth County. At the time, a lot of people, including myself, thought there was limits Forsyth and the pipe line could handle. Apparently not. They keep adding to it so there seems to be no limit.

Where are all the clergy and the tee-totalers going to eat and buy groceries if they are not going to patronize these establishments?

I don't care one way or another. I don't drink, although I do come from a long line of saloon keepers. My grandfather, aunts and uncles did own bars. At one time I tended bar in my younger years. So let the good times roll.

President In The Process Of Dismantling Social Security

To the editor:

President Bush has taken the first shot to dismantle Social Security. So much for Christian love and charity, huh?

White House sources have revealed their plan to cut our promised benefits, benefits we have worked hard and paid for. George acts like he is paying the money out of his own pocket but Social Security is not an entitlement program - it is our own money that he is taking from us.

George, his family and friends are wealthy; they have never had to really work to live and have never had to worry about saving for retirement - so what do they know or care about us?

By the time this is over, we will think Marie Antoinette was kind, for she at least offered cake to the peasants, while George's pro-life stance is to let the elderly starve.

As to privatization, what happens when one invests in a seemingly sterling company like Enron or Krispy Kreme, only to see your investments lost as the company has been involved in corporate fraud? Who then will care for you when you are old? Not the government - they will tell you it was your fault for being a poor investor.

Family Fighting 'Uncompassionate' System

To the editor:

My name is Leesa W. Masten. I am the mother of three and grandmother of one. I am married and have been married to the same man since I was 17 years old. He is my soul mate. We were best friends in high school and went on to marry. I feel this information is important for you to know so you will understand my story a little better.

My husband was diagnosed with Multiple Myeloma (Cancer of the Plasma) in November 2003. Since that time it seems I have fought for every ounce of help that has been supplied to my family. We went from having two good incomes to having nothing. Not only has my family had to face the fact that we would be losing our family patriarch but we have faced many battles with the way our Department of Social Services operates. My husband went from making $19 an hour to being totally disabled in the matter of minutes. I went from making $10 an hour to caring for my spouse on a 24-hour basis. We went from owning a 2,500 square foot modular to living in a 500 square foot apartment. Conditions for a person that has been diagnosed with a terminal illness were not optimal. At diagnosis, my husband was given only 30 days to live. But, thank the Lord, it has been one year and he is still alive.

Our first battle was with Food Stamps. We have never received Food Stamps during our 21 years of marriage. But we were ineligible for them, due to the fact that during the early stages of diagnosis my husband was allowed to draw unemployment benefits because the future of his work status was unknown. Those benefits stopped in February, 2003. We then received nothing until April 2004. We were only eligible for benefits during April. Our representative in the Davie County DSS office was rude and uncompassionate. I believe someone in this position should be compassionate to any and everyone seeking help in their office. Most people are not there to abuse the system, most are there because circumstances have given them no choice.

Finally my husband's disability arrived May 19, 2004. It was a long 7 months for our family. Our income at that time was $1,213 a month for my husband and $303 for each of the two remaining children at home. It took me from May, 2004 until the present to catch our bills up. I am still working on this each month; fighting with everyone from Duke Power to Yadkin Valley Telephone. No one cares the situation or why you can only make partial payments. But that is not my biggest concern. It is now time for the Medicaid benefits to be reevaluated. Never did I once think that this would even be an issue.

We have been told by numerous representatives that our income level is too high for full Medicaid benefits; although a person having NC Medicaid can go to work making at least $11 per hour with many hours of overtime and still receive full benefits, while also receiving insurance from the company. That person does not even have to pay the $3 co-pay required by NC Medicaid or the $20 co-pay required by their private insurance. We are over the income level and have to meet a six month deductible in excess of $5,000, which is virtually impossible under our income status.

NC Medicaid guidelines state a person can receive full benefits if they retained a job after beginning benefits. Their income must be earned income.

In the meantime, a person who is terminally ill and unable to work has to meet a deductible as large as his income. Someone must pay this $5,028 deductible twice in the same year.

There must be a problem with our system when a person capable of working and doing so can receive full benefits and a cancer patient whose situation and ability to continue to live is based upon treatments being received cannot receive full benefits due to the fact that the disabled cancer patient's income is unearned. Must I also reiterate on the fact that for 24 years the cancer patient worked daily, missing only a minimal amount of days of work.

I intend on stepping forward with my story. My goal is to change the laws for the good of the people, though my husband may not live to benefit from the change someone else will.

Show's Depiction Of Multiple Sclerosis Wasn't Accurate

To the editor:

This letter is in follow-up of a recent letter concerning the 12-13-04 episode of "Judging Amy." CBS presented a storyline depicting a young mother with MS (multiple sclerosis) who ends up giving up custody of her child because of depression. Depression was presented as the major symptom of her disease. This story was very disturbing to me because of the inaccurate medical information presented. A person portraying a doctor stated the only treatment for MS was antidepressant drugs. This is a very misleading and inaccurate statement. While MS is a chronic neurological disease for which there is no current cure, there are five disease-modifying drugs on the market to treat MS. These drugs do not cure MS but help to prevent exacerbations or flare ups of the disease. For people like me who have MS, these drugs can greatly improve your quality of life.

If you are a person living with MS, a caregiver, family of someone with MS, or just an interested person I encourage you to attend a meeting of the Davie County MS Support Group which meets the second Monday of each month in the classroom at Davie County Hospital at 6 PM. For further information about the support group you may contact Kathy Coble at 998-3314 or Carolyn Moore at 998-6398. I also encourage you to become a member of the Central Chapter of North Carolina MS Society. Call 1-800-Fight MS for information. Get the facts! Be involved!

Animals Deserve Better Than Local Shelter Provides

To the editor:

After reading the front page story in the Jan. 6, edition regarding the improvements at the animal shelter, I was left with more questions than answers. Not the least of which was, what improvements were ordered? I am wondering what prompted the tour of the shelter by County Manager Bralley and building inspector Whaley? Was there a complaint, or is this an annual procedure?

Most people would agree that the term shelter which Webster's dictionary defines as "to protect" means a place of safety, a respite from harm. How can we use the term animal shelter when the animals we harbor there are dying of exposure, without water to drink because their dishes are frozen?

Yes, I am filled with questions but will limit myself to just two more. Mr. Cook stated that he alone decides which animals will be euthanized (though he used the term destroyed). Does Mr. Cook have special training to allow him to decide which animals are in such poor health as to warrant this ending? Does he have a veterinarian on staff to consult with?

And finally the newspaper stated that Mr. Cook receives $101,000 annually on a contract basis to provide animal control services for this county. As a taxpayer and a person concerned with the animals welfare, I would like an accounting of how this money is spent. I have been to the "shelter" to drop off donations of food and used bedding and have never seen an employee there. I did a quick calculation and based on the retail cost of a bag of premium dog food, it would cost approximately 38 cents a day to feed a 50-pound dog.

I am not trying to point fingers, but I would really like to have some answers to at least a few of my questions.

INSURING PROPERTY BEFORE THE PURCHASE

Many homebuyers are concerned about whether they have an insurable interest in the property before the actual closing. The answer is an unqualified "yes." The buyer may not be the record owner of the property yet, but he or she has an insurable interest in the property as soon as both the buyer and seller execute the agreement of sale.

So should you get hazard insurance before the closing? It depends. Buyers do not usually insure a property until the title passes to them from the seller. You should know what the agreement between you and the seller stipulates in regard to insurance.

Most agreements provide that the property will be insured for a specific amount. This is very important to both parties. From the buyer's point of view, however, it is critical that an adequate sum or full replacement value be stipulated. Watch out for agreements that are worded "as now insured." This is an all-too-common practice that usually indicates that the seller does not want to increase inadequate insurance coverage.

Congresswoman Virginia Foxx fields a question from Debbie Pullen, chair of the Davie Board of Education.

Town Manager Christine Sanders welcomes Foxx to Mocksville.

"I would like to see pressure put on the county to not only drug screen, but to only do business with companies that drug screen. We've got to do something," he said, adding that employees who abuse drugs require more in health care costs.

Foxx said she realizes the most people's "real wages" are going down, because they have to pay more for health care. "It's a major problem," she said, citing an estimated $10,000 a year cost for a family of four. She favors insurance pools, or associations where groups of employers could join to save costs.

Ralph Hollshouser of Davie County Hospital said that while the issue of health care delivery is complex, the administrative costs, or paper work, involved with Medicare and Medicaid patients is difficult, time consuming and costly. "We could use those dollars in a more positive way," he said.

Foxx agreed that money is wasted in the medical care and entitlement programs, and they will fiscally fail if something isn't done soon.

She was also questioned about education, jobs and terrorism. W.G. Potts, Davie schools superintendent, asked Foxx to consider the federal No Child Left Behind legislation, which makes it difficult to hire adequate teachers in a tight market.

Debbie Pullen, chair of the Davie Board of Education, said counties and states are required to spend more and more money teaching children who don't speak English as their primary language. She also expressed a concern about federal mandates for education for the disabled, which only come with 40 percent funding.

Mary Rittling, president of Davidson County Community College, said she is concerned about the higher education bill, which places two- and four-year colleges into the same category, although their missions are different. Many people would choose not to go back to school for job retraining because of costs if the bill is passed, she said.

Foxx promised to take the concerns to the appropriate committee chairs in Washington.

"We really are facing some major issues. It's going to take a lot of hard work and a lot of folks saying we need to put partisan issues aside," she said.

W.G. Potts, Davie Schools superintendent, and Mary Rittling, Davidson Community College president, talk to Foxx about education issues.

"Folks can't be concerned about jobs in the future," Foxx said. "We're just not going to have those low-skill jobs. People are going to have to take some responsibility for getting an education and being trained. We can't look to somebody else to solve the problems for us."

She said she would help her constituents as much as possible when they visit Washington, D.C. But expect tight security. "It belongs to you, let us know if you're coming," she said. "Security is unbelievable. Leave lots of time to go in and out of the buildings."

A workshop for new members of Congress brought disturbing news on terrorism, she said.

"What we're hearing is not very pleasant. It's scary ... with all these people who want to come here and destroy us. We're able to do this on a regular basis. You will see me in Davie County and awfully lot."

Foxx promised to work hard, and to keep a staff that does the same.

County Manager Terry Bralley said he was glad Foxx came to Mocksville. "This might be the only time a Congressperson has come to us and said, 'I want to know what you think.'"

Foxx said she hopes to make it a habit, asking for people to tell her of events so she could choose when to come to the county.

"I've spent a lot of time in Davie County and I really do love Davie County," she said. "We came to hear what your concerns are. I hope we'll be able to do this on a regular basis. You will see me in Davie County and awfully lot."

Foxx said she hopes to be in the district on most weekends.

"I'll get around to every county in the district every now and then."

Todd Poole is her district director, and will man an office in Clemmons at Meadowbrook Mall. The telephone number there is 778-0211.

Mocksville Mayor Dr. F.W. Slate gave Foxx something to think about. "You know Mocksville is a well-run town. You know Davie County is a well-run county," Slate said. "Do you think you could get Washington to be more like Mocksville and Davie County?"

County Open To New Ideas For Adoption Of Animals

shelter was built before the county experienced a population explosion, which translated to an unexpected growth in animals left at the shelter.

"It's a real shame, because a lot of these dogs are not strays, these are dogs that people just don't want anymore," Cook said. "We need to build this (Humane Society facility) to get more space, that's the real McCoy."

Cook, who is an animal control contractor for the county, has been trying to help the Humane Society raise the funds needed to build the facility. As a member of the Humane Society board, Cook attended a meeting with Brock and Humane Society treasurer Chessie Smith in which members of the Mebane Foundation were given a tour of the shelter in an effort to garner financial support.

He has also assisted the North Davie Middle School Student Council in the making of a video of the shelter. The video, which showed the current shelter and the need for a new no-kill facility, has inspired the NDMS students to raise more than $10,000 in donations to the Humane Society since 2001.

Cook said he keeps healthy animals at the shelter for longer than the required three days. He contends that if an animal is healthy, and is in his opinion adoptable, he will make every effort to try to foster the animal.

"I'll keep an animal longer than the three days if the situation calls for it," Cook said. "The three days is a minimum, not a maximum. I've held animals for more than a week when I thought I could find it a home."

Bralley has given buildings/facilities manager William Whaley the green light to start work on putting up a ceiling in the facility. Currently, there is nothing between the fabricated roofing and the concrete floor inside the un-insulated building. Maintaining ambient temperature in the building is difficult.

"I expect work to start on that this week, before the cold weather moves in on Friday," Bralley said. "That should go a long way in helping to keep those animals warm."

Bralley said that the county board of commissioners has been a proponent of the new no-kill facility.

"The county has allocated $50,000 this year towards the Humane Society, and another $50,000 next year," Bralley said. "We support their efforts in what they're trying to accomplish."

Similarly, Mocksville has allocated $15,000 this year with another $15,000 next year to the effort. Bermuda Run and Cooleemee have declined to pledge any amount to the shelter at this time.

Bralley said in the meantime, he was open to new and fresh ideas to help people recover their lost pets as well as help those wanting to adopt to see what is available at the county shelter. Bralley said he was talking with his information technologies department to determine the viability of using a web page on the county's web site to show pictures of the animals at the shelter.

Highway Patrol

The following traffic wrecks in Davie County were listed by the N.C. Highway Patrol.

Fog Blamed For Wreck
A North Carolina man was charged with driving with license revoked and stop sign violation after he wrecked the vehicle he was driving Jan. 3.
Ronnie Louis Ford of Statesville was driving his 1997 Mazda vehicle south on Marginal Street during foggy conditions. Ford failed to stop his vehicle at the stop sign intersection of Davie Academy Road and collided with an embankment off the shoulder of the roadway. Ford's vehicle came to rest in a private yard.

Trooper J.R. Allred reported the accident occurred at approximately 6:32 a.m.
Three Deer Hit In County
Three deer were reported hit by vehicles. In the following incidents no drivers were reported injured:
Paul Richard Brown of 221 Ben Anderson Road, Mocksville was driving his 2000 Chevrolet pick-up east on Bear Creek Church Road when a deer entered the road and collided with Brown's vehicle. Trooper J.R. Allred reported the accident occurred at approximately 4:20 a.m.

Ronnie Dale Everhart of 2957 U.S. 601 South, Mocksville was driving his 2000 Ford pick-up south on Farmington Road when it collided with a deer crossing the road. Trooper A.A. Justice reported the accident occurred at approximately 5:20 a.m.

Seth Graham Gales of 290 Aubrey Merrell Road, Mocksville was driving a 1996 Saturn south on Calahala Road when the car collided with a deer crossing the road at approximately 9:30 p.m. Dec. 30, reported Trooper M.T. Dalton.
Wreck On Interstate
An Illinois man was charged with failure to reduce speed after the vehicle he was driving hit another Jan. 4.
Montie Ervin Thompson of Rockford was driving a 2001 International tractor-trailer east on I-40 behind a 1995 Mercury vehicle driven by Isaias Policarpo Reyes of 131 Deck Circle, Mocksville. Thompson failed to slow in time and his tractor-trailer collided with Reyes' vehicle.

Trooper M.T. Dalton reported the accident occurred at approximately 12:45 p.m.
Accident On Marginal Street
Both drivers were charged after an accident in Davie on Jan. 8.
Lonell Pruitt of 1136 Junction

Road, Mocksville was driving his 1988 GMC pick-up north on Junction Road. Lonnie Dean Shore of 945 Main Church Road, Mocksville was backing his 1985 Ford pick-up out of a private drive. Pruitt drove his vehicle left of center in an attempt to pass Shore's vehicle, but the two collided.
Trooper A.J. Farmer reported the accident occurred at approximately 2 p.m. Pruitt was charged with improper passing. Shore was charged with failure to yield right of way.

African-American Aviators To Be At King Celebration time sharing his experiences as one of the Air Force's first African-American aviators with churches, schools and other organizations.

"The Tuskegee Airmen should be considered in the forefront as true pioneers of the civil rights struggle for equality," said Priscilla Williams.

Because they fought in the same war, the men thought they should be allowed to eat and drink in the same club. Their actions subjected them to arrest and court-martial.

Their actions led President Harry Truman, in 1948, to issue an executive order desegregating the armed forces.

"The attainment of civil rights within the civilian population likewise stemmed from these very same actions," Williams said.

A native of Indiana, Eagleson completed the Aviation Cadet Program at Tuskegee (Alabama) in 1943. In 1944, he was credited with destroying two German aircraft, possibly two others. He left active duty in 1946, but re-enlisted in 1948.

Many of Eagleson's memories from World War II are displayed at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

Hunter joined the U.S. Air Force in 1955, and earned two Air Force Commendation medals, the Air Force Outstanding Unit award, and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal.

He retired from the service in 1978. A television show host, he is active in community affairs.

A New York City native, Mason joined the U.S. Air Force in 1956. He earned two Air Force commendation Medals, the Distinguished Unit Citation, three Outstanding Air Force Unit awards, the Army Good Conduct Medal, the Air Force Good Conduct Medal with four oak leaf clusters, the Vietnam Service Medal with three bronze stars, the National Defense Service Medal, the Republic of Vietnam Cross of Gallantry and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal.

He retired in 1979. He serves on the board of governors of the Tuskegee Airmen National Museum, and is a retired senior special agent with the Department of Defense's Defense Security Service. He is chapter president of the Tuskegee Airmen.

More information on the Airmen is available online or at the public library. A program will follow the program.

United Way Hoping To Raise $450,000

The Davie County United Way (DCUW) has announced that it will extend the annual campaign until late January or early February.

"For the past five years the campaign goal has been $450,000," stated Executive Director Mary Beth Forst. "I am not giving up hope that we will make that goal this year."

To date, the Davie County United Way has raised over 80 percent of its goal. Provided projections come in as expected, DCUW expects to be $20,000 short of the $450,000.

"That's just a little over four percent of the total amount of money raised," Forst said. "I know that Davie County is generous. We take care of our own. If we all work together, we can raise the difference so that we can all say, we did it."

To make a donation or pledge to DCUW, email Forst at marybeth.dcuw@mocksville.com or call 751-0313. Donations and pledges made may be designated to any one of 20 United Way agencies or support the Community Impact Fund which funds the DCUW Resident Assistance Program, Call 211 and Day of Caring.

- Davie Domestic Violence and Rape Crisis Center
- Davie Family YMCA
- Emergency Relief Fund of Davie County
- Family Services
- Girl Scouts
- Hospice of Davie County
- Partnership for a Drug Free NC
- RSVP
- Salvation Army

DCUW has begun the 2005 allocation process, in which volunteers from the community help determine what agencies will receive funding from DCUW over the designations they receive from donor gifts. The deadline for receiving applications for this process is Jan. 21. Agencies must request funding for programs that would impact the community in the following ways: Children & Youth; Health & Wellness; or Crisis Intervention.

Canal Breached; Historic Mill Site May Have To Go

COOLEEMEE - A visit from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) Saturday is resulting in what will likely be the loss of an old grist mill site on the South Yadkin River here.

Breck Bullock of South Yadkin Power said the canal along the raceway is ready to breach. If it does, the county would lose a water intake source and a sewer main line could be broken.

"The company produces hydroelectric power from the water in the raceway, a manmade canal that runs from a dam and entering back into the river downstream. The company has been in an ongoing battle with proponents of RiverPark at Cooleemee Falls - The Bullhose over the amount of water taken from the river. The grist mill site, because of its historic value, has been a topic of debate between the two groups.

"It's a safety issue," Bullock said. "We have to do what Washington (FERC) requests."

He said the sewer line has already been exposed, and the area has sinkholes.

"The portion of the canal has to be resurfaced where that rock wall runs beside the canal," he said. "We'll have to build a new retaining wall."

Water is seeping to the back side of that wall.

Bullock said the state's historic preservation office is aware of the situation. "They're not happy, but they realize what must be done," he said.

Company Honors Voreh

Matt Voreh, Davie County investment representative for the financial services firm Edward Jones, was one of 110 representatives honored at a business management forum in St. Louis, Dec. 1-3.

Voreh was recognized for the excellent business management skills he has demonstrated. In addition to being honored, Voreh met with other Edward Jones investment representatives to share ideas for increasing office efficiency, improving customer service, increasing investment knowledge and expanding his knowledge in the area of estate planning.

Edward Jones representatives regularly attend advanced training seminars and classes such as this.

Rotary Club Donates Shelter Boxes To Tsunami Victims

The Rotary Club of Mocksville is donating five shelter boxes through Rotary International to Tsunami victims overseas.

The boxes cost $900 each for a total of $4,500, which will provide shelter for a total of approximately 50 people.

These local funds will receive matching funds from Rotary District 7690 as well as Rotary International Foundation. The matching funds will provide the necessary financing to purchase more Shelter Boxes that provide shelter to even more people.

Rotary clubs and individuals throughout the United States are providing support to Shelter Box USA, a unique humanitarian project designed to respond to the overwhelming need for emergency housing and subsistence supplies in areas affected by Tsunami.

The first three shipments, totaling 600 boxes, are leaving Cornwall, England for Sri Lanka, Indonesia and India to provide housing, shelter and comfort to 6,000 victims. Additional shipments of boxes will be leaving within days for island areas.

Shelter Boxes are large green heavy-duty plastic boxes that each contain a 10 ft x 20 foot three-room 10-person tent, 10 sleeping bags, water purification equipment to support the needs of 10 people for six months, a multi-fuel cook stove, cooking equipment, eating utensils, tools, and assorted other survival items.

Shelter Box has become an international grass-roots service project of Rotary clubs worldwide. Headquartered in Cornwall, England, with support centers in the United States, Australia, Canada, and Japan, Shelter Box has provided housing and comfort to more than 25,000 people after natural and man-made tragedies have struck.

Since its inception in 2001, boxes have been shipped to Iran, Pakistan, Granada, Uganda, Iraq, Afghanistan, Algeria, Angola, and Liberia.

A single, complete Shelter Box is supported by a tax-deductible donation of $900. Requests have been made for many hundreds more Shelter Boxes to help tsunami victims.

Donations from businesses, individuals, civic, religious and Rotarian groups support the efforts of the Shelter Box Trust. Requests from recognized international aid agencies are processed through the office of Shelter Box Trust. Shipments are airlifted by commercial, humanitarian, and governmental organizations—usually at no charge.

Further information on Shelter Box USA can be found at www.shelterboxusa.org or by calling 941-358-7676.

The mission of the Rotary Club of Mocksville is to support its members in fulfilling the Object of Rotary by: fostering the development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service; encouraging high ethical standards in business and profession; recognizing the worthiness of all useful occupations; dignifying of each Rotarian's occupation as an opportunity to serve society; promoting the application of the ideal of service in each Rotarian's personal, business and community life; and nurturing advancement of community understanding, goodwill and peace through a fellowship of professional persons united in the ideal of service.

Schools Honor Barrett, White

Former county commissioners Ken White and Dan Barrett were honored by the Davie County Board of Education Jan. 3.

David Owens, school board member who campaigned at the same time as White and Barrett, said both were good commissioners, and caring friends.

"They treat people in a personal way, and took their job very seriously," Owens said.

School board chair, Debbie Pullen, said the board was proud to nominate the board of commissioners for the board of the year in 2001. White and Barrett were two of the county commissioners that won the state honor from the N.C. School Boards Association.

"We're very proud of the partnerships we've had with you," she said. "We were able to talk to you very honestly about the needs of the schools."

White called education an investment, and said that of the five most influential people in his life, two or three were coaches and teachers.

"Thank you for all you do," Barrett said. "We got a few things done, but there's a lot more to be done."

Boy Sells Lemonade For Tsunami Relief

After returning from a Christmas trip to South Carolina, Alex Gallagher, 9, of Adavine, saw a news report about the tragic tsunami in Southeast Asia.

Alex asked his mother, Dr. Theresa Gallagher, if he could donate money to help the victims.

He was particularly interested in the fate of the children, saying that he wanted to help those who were less fortunate and needed food and shelter.

Alex, his mother, and Adam, his 5-year-old brother, went online and found charities they thought could use donations, including Doctors Without Borders, Save the Children, and UNICEF. He contributed all the money in his piggy bank and the state quarters he had been collecting for years.

On Monday and Tuesday after New Year's, he set up a lemonade stand in front of his house, spending hours selling drinks and cookies to anyone who would stop.

Many of his patrons were construction and utility employees who are working on new homes going up on his street in Oak Valley.

One man stopped and wrote a check for $50.

When Alex closed up shop on Tuesday afternoon, he had raised a little over $133, which he plans to split between the charities.

He plans to set up again after school and on weekends. Alex also wants to get his Cub Scout troop and fourth grade class at Pinebrook Elementary School involved in helping the children and families devastated by the natural disaster.

35-0 And Counting: Matmen Subdue Upstart Tians

By Brian Pitts
 Davie County Enterprise Record

West Forsyth's wrestling program has come a long way, but not nearly far enough to bother Davie County. Davie, the top-ranked team in Class 4-A, is a huge favorite to win its 17th Central Piedmont Conference title in 20 years. West, ranked ninth in the state, is the league's No. 1 challenger. And when the neighboring rival met last week at Davie in the CPC opener, it amounted to the regular-season championship. The setting was classic - a large audience from Clemmons on one side of the gym, and the usual throng of Davie screamers on the other side. But the visitors didn't have much to talk about as the unbeaten War Eagles stuffed the Titans 35-0. Junior Aaron Hollifield of Davie interpreted the difference between Davie and West. He said West came in hoping to win, while Davie knew it would win. "I know they're well-coached and this is one of the better teams they've had," he said. "But it might be a little mental for West. You know Davie County's pretty prestigious. Everybody knows us and everybody respects us. It may have been in their heads that we're Davie County." The win represented Davie's 15th straight CPC win, as well as its 20th win in as many tries against West. "We're real big rivals, and we were so fired up in the back that we were hoping and hollering just like the football team would," junior Josh Barnes said. "Coach (Buddy Lowery) told us to quiet down and get our minds right. We did, and look what happened. "We treated it as if we were wrestling (No. 2 Cary). It makes you feel good, especially with the strongest team they've had in many years." While Davie has always thrown West - and everybody else in the CPC - around like rag dolls, this West crew is no slouch. Coach Mike Bryant's four-year rebuilding record speaks for itself. In 2001-02, when the Titans had nine first-year starters, they won "three or four times." They "might have won seven matches in 2002-03. They turned heads by going 22-9 last year, and with 12 returners they're 20-2 this year, their other loss to 2-A power Bandys. The 50-6 score might have been reminiscent of all the other Davie romps - it beat West 56-9 last year, 65-4 in 2003 and 73-6 in 2002 - but the Titans are as good as their record, and they made Davie work for seven of 12 wins. West provided more evidence of its toughness later in the week when it won the nine-team Winston-Salem/Forsyth County tournament, beating runner-up Parkland by 47 points. "I think we can beat Riverside," Bryant said. "I think next to Davie we're probably the toughest team in the (western) state. I think Davie and us should

Streak Ends Mooresville Zaps Boys 9-Game Run

By Brian Pitts
 Davie County Enterprise Record

MOORESVILLE - Davie's varsity boys basketball team was supposed to grab its 10th straight win last week at Mooresville and sail into the Central Piedmont Conference with heavy gusts at its back.

But things didn't go as planned. Mooresville sucked the momentum out of the War Eagles, 68-57, as the longest winning streak since 1999-00 went up in a puff of smoke. It was a downer for the War Eagles, who got easily outbounded, thoroughly outplayed and shot just 43 percent from the field.

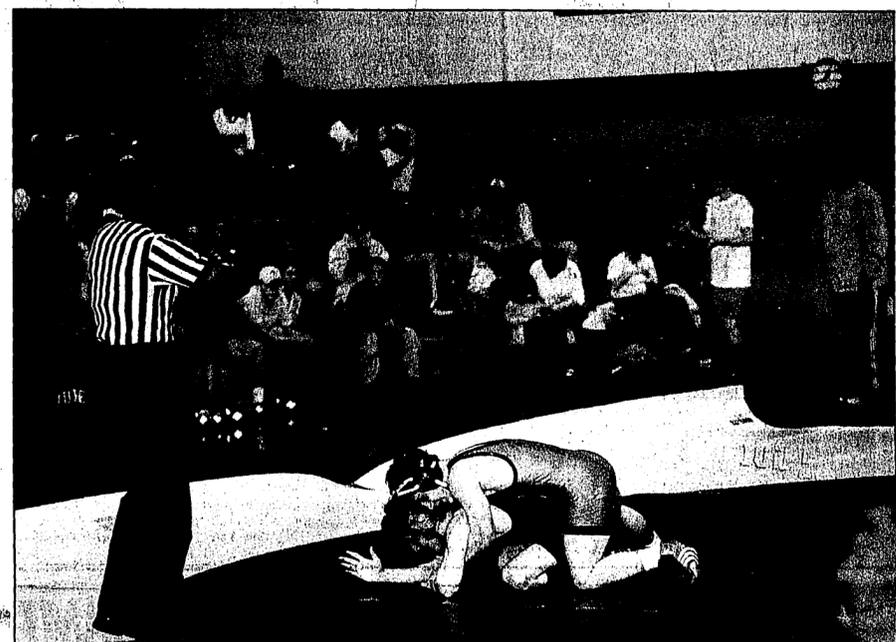

Davie (10-2) must get back on its feet, and in a hurry, because two of its first three CPC games are against West Forsyth and Reynolds, which have finished 1-2 in the league for a long, long time.

"I think we were a little flat, and they were probably already looking forward to West Forsyth (on Jan. 11)," Davie coach Mike Absher said of the nonconference loss.

This was payback for the Blue Devils (8-4). They watched Davie torch the nets at an astonishing 62-percent clip in a 74-61 decision in Mocksville, and they turned the tables without warning, one night after playing terrible in a 14-point loss to Kannapolis.

Ange Honors His Lost Father With A Win

By Brian Pitts
 Davie County Enterprise Record

The Davie wrestling team's thoughts about going undefeated and setting records took a back seat last week to a tragedy in its extended family.

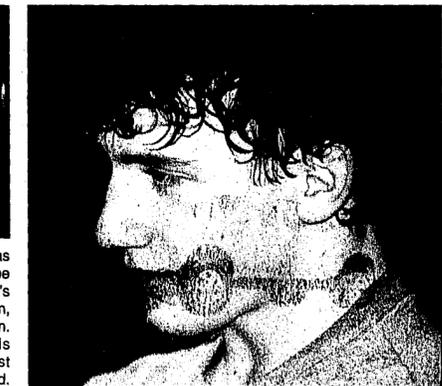

Tony Ange was a dedicated father who loved watching his son, Chris Ange, wrestle. He watched Chris go 16-0 as a North Davie eighth grader, and he reveled in Chris' 30-5 success as a sophomore varsity starter.

Tony Ange followed every step of his son's road toward stardom, but he won't be around to see anymore of his 135-pound dominance. Tony anxiously awaited the Jan. 6 Central Piedmont Conference clash with West Forsyth, but for the first time in Chris' career, his father wasn't in the stands for a home match.

Tony died Monday, Jan. 3 of a massive heart attack. He was 54.

When Chris and Davie were practicing on the evening of Jan. 3, Chris didn't know his father had Tony Ange, above, was as proud as a father can be as he watched his son's wrestling career. That son, Chris, won his match Jan. 6, three days after his father's death, and just hours after he was buried.

War Eagle Girls Stomp Mooresville

By Brian Pitts
 Davie County Enterprise Record

MOORESVILLE - Coach Karen Stephens did not go wild after her Davie varsity girls basketball team pasted host Mooresville 59-32 in last week's final nonconference tuneup. If the War Eagles take a 3-0 Central Piedmont Conference record (no worse than a 2-1 start appears to be a lock with South Rowan and Reynolds having one win between them), that would be something to get excited about.

"We ran the floor a little bit better, and we hit the boards a little stronger," Stephens said after Davie snapped a two-game slide with a victory that was easy despite 33-percent shooting. "We missed some little shots that we should have hit, but I was pleased that we were relentless in going after it a second or third or fourth time."

The War Eagles had won six straight before going 0-2 in the Sam Moir Christmas Classic. Everyone expected them to rout Mooresville, which lost 59-28 in Mocksville, and they scored at will, especially in the first quarter.

While Mooresville (6-5) was missing 10 of 11 shots, five War Eagles were scoring for an 18-6 lead that quickly decided the outcome. Meisha Fowler buried a 3-pointer, Carly Booth scored on a putback and Alyson Walker hit a jumper for a 10-3 lead. Davie scored eight of the next 10 points on a Booth layup, an Ashley Comatzer rebound, a fastbreak layin by Walker and steal-and-layup by Comatzer.

Walker and Fowler connected from beyond the arc in the second quarter as Mooresville finished the half with 5-for-22 shooting. Davie continued to pile it on in the third as four scorers finished in double figures.

Nicole Maready had 14 points and 12 rebounds, Booth and Walker had 11 points each and Fowler had 10. Booth converted 4-of-6 field goals and 3-of-4 free throws, a performance she needed after scoring six points in two Moir games.

"She wasn't pleased (after the Moir)," Stephens said. "She didn't have as many points and rebounds, and she was controlled a little bit too easy. So she came out wanting to play better."

Booth reached double-figure points for the eighth time despite getting saddled with fouls and spending significant time on the bench. If she starts avoiding cheap fouls, her 11.5 average will take off.

"Carly said: 'I'm not hustling and getting where I need to be, and it cost me to get in foul trouble,'" Stephens said. "So she knew exactly what she needed to be doing. It's just getting them to do what they're talking about."

Excelling Under Pressure Swim Teams Prevail In Two Nailbiters

The Davie and South Rowan swim teams battled furiously last week, and neither meet was settled until the last event. But Davie's boys and girls outlasted the Raiders in both finishes.

Davie's girls maintained around a 10-point lead virtually all the way, but they were behind when it was time for the 400 freestyle relay, the 11th and final event. Hannah Jakob, Marie Robertson, Laura Vanhoy and Stephanie Wendel pulled Davie through with a first-place performance.

The biggest lead in the entire boys competition was two points. Davie led by two going into the 400 free relay, and again the War Eagles delivered with everything hanging in the balance. The clinching push came from Drew Esposito, Justin Lee, Shelby Wallace and Daniel Wendel.

For all 22 events, it was up and down and back and forth. Davie's girls won 88-81, edging South by a total of 13 points in two meetings. Davie's boys won 87-83, avenging a disappointing loss in November. How much better can it get?

"It was a nailbiting experience, and I knew the 400 freestyle relays had to place first or we would lose," said a delighted Jennifer Richardson, Davie's coach. "I had to send (assistant coach) Sandee Renn to the scorer's table to take a peek at the score - I was afraid to look."

Davie's 400 relayers saved the day, but they only got the final huge wins. Jamie Stanciliff was a double winner (200 IM, butterfly) for the girls. Teammate Vanhoy notched the other individual win (50 free). The boys had three double winners - Wendel (200 free, breaststroke), David Stein (50 free, 100 free) and Esposito (butterfly, 500 free). Justin Lee added a first in the backstroke. The girls' lead evaporated in the backstroke and breaststroke. Davie was in trouble. The outcome rested on the shoulders of Jakob, Robertson, Vanhoy and S. Wendel, and they beat South by almost 10 seconds.

"I could tell by the look in Stephanie Wendel's eyes that she knew (we had to win)," Richardson said. "I think most of the crowd figured the backstroke and breaststroke had closed the door on us, but the 400 relay pulled it off with a fantastic swim."

"I looked over at Wendel (the last leg of the relay) and said: 'We needed that.' I brushed my brow as if to say: 'Whew.' What a great win."

The Davie boys were bummed out after losing to South in late November. They returned the favor when Esposito, Lee, Wallace and D. Wendel swam a season-best time in the 400 relay, 3:45.17.

"I knew the boys wanted this win bad," Richardson said. Davie took first in every event, but barely put South away because the Raiders had a ton of second- and third-place finishes. Going into the last event, Davie

The outcome in Davie's wrestling match against Asheboro came down to heavy-weight, and Michael Cartner provided the War Eagles a 36-27 victory with a pin. Earlier in the match, Davie got pins from Steve Buchin (107 weight class), Shawn Steele (114), Tony Foster (134), Dale Barneyeastle (147) and Steve Dunn (197). Davie's JV boys basketball team got blistered 99-41 by Salisbury, Austin McGuire and Tim Tabor scored 14 and 11 points, respectively. Davie's JV girls lost to Salisbury 46-41 despite 18 points from June Hildebrand. Sharon Broadway added 10. Selena Fowler and Tammy Pulliam scored 10 each as Davie's varsity girls snapped a 10-game losing streak with a 45-26 win over Salisbury. Davie's varsity boys improved to 6-5 with a 59-49 win over Salisbury. Tracy Frost scored 20 points. Doug Jacobs and Tony Tatum had 12 and 11.

No Surprise Varsity Girls Throttle Mooresville

Mooresville didn't find the mark from 3-point range until its ninth attempt, missing 39 of 51 shots for the game. Davie crushed the Blue Devils on the glass, 50-36, and they got breakaway shots from Comatzer, Maredy and Wagner, who provided a vicious, in-your-face rejection that slammed off the protective padding behind the basket.

Maredy has been on a mission since going scoreless against Salisbury, bouncing back with 26 points and 23 rebounds in two games.

"She's been more positive about herself in what she's doing, and she's not worrying as much," Stephens said. "She was stressing a little bit about things, and now she's not as much."

With a chuckle, Stephens added: "We thought she was trying to pad her rebounds because she would get two or three shots on one possession sometimes."

Although Davie outscored Mooresville in every quarter, it wasn't particularly artistic. The teams combined to go 4-for-25 from long range, and Davie shot a total of 23-of-69.

But the War Eagles are starting to get a lift from reserve power forward Joni Garrett. The sophomore showed some bite for the first time in a 54-51 Moir consolation loss to West Rowan, and she followed that with five points, six rebounds and four rebounds. She had a little extra push.

Notes: Davie opened Central Piedmont Conference play earlier in the week against West Forsyth. It hosts South Rowan on Jan. 14 and plays at Reynolds Jan. 18. ... Davie went 1-2 in a holiday tournament in Asheboro, sandwiching losses to Eastern Randolph and Central Davidson around a win over Trinity.

Eastern Randolph 42, Davie 32 - Rebecca Riddle 8, Brittany Wharton 6, Morgan Owens 5, Lauren Parker 4, Grace Didenko 4, Lauren Walker 3, Samantha Judd 2.

Davie 32, Trinity 28 - Riddle 10, Owens 7, Walker 5, Carly Stauffer 4, G. Didenko 4, Vanessa Didenko 2.

Central Davidson 26, Davie 25 - Stauffer 6, G. Didenko 6, Jaelyn Smith 4, Owens 3, V. Didenko 2, Riddle 2, Judd 2.

JVs Shake Shooting Woes With Authority

Davie's JV girls basketball team shot 21 percent from the floor in an ugly 32-28 win over Trinity. It shot 23 percent in a 26-25 loss to Central Davidson.

So what did the War Eagles do after missing 79 of 101 shots in those games? They nailed 19 of 37 attempts last week at Mooresville, a 51-percent performance that buried the Blue Devils 38-23.

Talk about reviving their stroke.

"We took better shots, we played a lot smarter and we were more patient," Coach Debbie Evans said after Davie improved to 5-6 in nonconference play. "We're probably not going to shoot 51 percent many games, but we were taking higher-percentage shots."

A 14-4 run in the second quarter gave the War Eagles a commanding 24-11 halftime lead.

Schafer Shoots 8 For 8 As A MH Freshman

Allison Schafer, a 2004 Davie graduate, is starting as a true freshman for Mars Hill's basketball team.

The Advance resident had a memorable game when the Lions improved to 7-4 with a blowout win over Montreat College (1-14) last week. She drilled all eight of her field goals for 17 points.

Ange Wins While Picturing His Dad In The Stands

taken his last breath. The death shocked everyone. There was no warning, no apparent illness. He stayed home from work thinking he was sick with the flu.

While tears enveloped Davie's wrestling family, Chris plodded on and went to practice Jan. 4. Five and a half hours after the burial service, Chris walked onto the mat against West Forsyth. It's what his father would have wanted - insisted upon, probably.

With Tony beaming from way above, Chris won 6-2, drawing a deafening roar from a raucous and emotional crowd.

"My dad liked to watch me wrestle, and also it kind of helped me clear my head out," said Chris, whose mother is Marilyn Ange. "It made me think a little bit better. I just wanted to win for my dad, because he'd talked about the West match. He said: 'You know, next week you've got West Forsyth.' He planned on coming."

Chris recalled one of the last wrestling conversations with his dad.

"I got beat by the No. 2 guy from East Gaston, and he told me to keep my head up," he said. "I beat the next guy and he said: 'Good job. Just think how good you're going to be doing next year and the next year.' He planned on following it through. He hadn't been sick at all."

Chris worked feverishly this summer at the home of junior Aaron Hollifield. Father Larry Hollifield, a pastor who helped officiate the funeral, saw how wrestling was a large part of Tony's life.

"He was really pumped up that Chris made the lineup," Larry said. "He was real thankful for us helping Chris, and he'd look back there at us and point No. 1 in the air when he won. He said: 'We've got another Aaron in the lineup.' He was a big fan. He loved seeing Chris do well."

Davie punished West 50-6 to run the series record to 20-0, but all the attention was on Ange. He's a quiet, humble and kind 16-year-old who needed to focus on something other than grief, to be around people who care about him.

"There's good kids around him supporting him, and that's what it's going to take for a long time." Coach Buddy Lowery said. "He doesn't say much, he's real tenderhearted, and he's a great kid. If we had a room full like him, I could live with it."

"He's one that's close to his parents," assistant Matt Sain said. "He's a fun kid to be around. He doesn't say a whole lot, but he can be funny, when him and (Adam) McIlwain get together. If you could have 14 Chris Anges ... you'd love to have his attitude and his work ethic."

When Chris walked out to face a 21-6 Vince Murphy, the crowd gave him a standing ovation, breaking into tears. Chris gutted it out, picturing his dad in the stands and managing to win 6-2.

"You know it had to be tough to play a game with a heavy heart. What was Chris thinking?"

"This was the most important match I've wrestled in my whole career," he said. "I really wanted to win. My dad passing away, I think that really has strengthened me to really go after it, because he really liked to watch wrestling. We had the ceremony at 2 o'clock today. Of course that was going through my mind. I was trying to concentrate on the match, and I was trying to put it out of my mind. But it's tough with something like that."

"When he was in high school (in Virginia), his major move was the fireman's carry. That's what he hit a lot. I wanted to try to hit that tonight, but I didn't get a chance to."

When referee Cecil Mock raised Ange's arm in triumph, the crowd stood up once more, fighting back tears and yelling simultaneously. The normally stoic Lowery struggled to keep his emotions under control. Even West's coach, Mike Bryant, felt the grief, slapping Ange's hands just like he does when one of his guys charges onto the mat.

"Ange has a ton of heart for coming out today and wrestling and wrestling hard and winning," Bryant said. "I was just as proud of him as if it'd been one of my kids. I still wanted my kid to win, I'm not going to lie about that. But at the same time, I lost a parent as well. It's a tough thing to go through, and I thought what he did was brave."

Ange's teammates clustered around him when he returned to the bench. Davie assistant Howard Riddle sustained the same loss in September.

"After what he went through, I don't know how you got on the mat," Riddle said. "Emotionally, I can't imagine having any energy left to focus. That's one of the more impressive things I've seen. When he won, it really hit everybody on the bench. It'll be hard for a long time. You think about where he would have been. I don't think I've ever seen a group of kids and coaches as emotional as we were when he came off the mat. I think wrestling is what is going to help him get through these tough times."

The feeling was shared by Sain. "It got to me," he said. "Before the match, I was looking for West to come in and I saw him pull up. He got out of his car and I said: 'How ya feel, buddy?' He said: 'I wouldn't miss it for the world.' He buried his dad three hours ago and he was worried because he's a little late. He grabbed his clothes and was jogging in. He probably felt like he'd done wrestling not telling how many matches when he walked on that mat. Emotionally he was drained. He had to be.

"He's got the heart of a muck truck. He's got the heart of a lion."

The War Eagles are hurting for their dazed and mourning teammate. They marveled at his courage.

"I got goosebumps when he went out there," Timmy Allen said. "Just seeing him come out after something so tragic like that and giving it his all, that's heart right there."

"Wrestling's tough as it is," Ryan Boehm said. "I don't know too many people who could go out there after their father died. He came to practice on Tuesday. He looked like he was just happy to be there. We decided we would do this one for him and his dad, and I couldn't be more proud of him."

"I don't know how I would have been able to do that in those circumstances," Kyle Smith said. "He wanted to do it for his dad."

War Eagles Lives Up To No. 1 State Ranking

(by White) caught him by surprise. A lot of them get mad when they give up something they know in their mind they shouldn't. That's the mentality they've got, and I guarantee you nobody will get a quick takedown on Timmy again because he didn't like that. He didn't like getting taken down the way he did."

It was a woulda-coulda-shoulda night for West, which lost yet another close one when Bubba Boger pulled out a tie-breaking escape at the buzzer for a 4-3 win at 189.

"That boy's pretty good," Lowery said of Boger's foe, Tommy Harper. "Bubba just can't get well. He's had daggone strep throat, he's had the daggone croup. He wrestled good. He wrestled good at East Gaston, and then he took two steps back because he had to miss two days."

Garrett Parks punctuated the latest brilliant win in a season full of them with a 27-second pin at 215. Though the Titans were close at 103, 135, 140, 145, 152, 171 and 189, Davie got the best of them each time.

"Everything went Davie's way," Bryant said. "We'll get to see them again, maybe at home."

"We wrestled like we were supposed to," Lowery said. "Did some of them scare us? Yep. But after we got going, it kind of deflated them."

"I wouldn't mind that 6 (points) not being there, but West is a program on the rise," Boehm said. "They knew what to do to stop us (from pinning), and they're very well-coached. But we're a very talented team. We've got the tools to do what we'd like to do."

Bryant gave major praise to Johnson and Hollifield.

"Hey, Dusty's a great wrestler," he said. "Dusty's just a pinner. You can kind of count on something like that. I was hoping we wouldn't get pinned."

"You don't really expect to beat Hollifield, but we had him on his back for about a second. It would have been nice to hold him there."

Notes

Interestingly enough, Bryant knows Hollifield very well. In the offseason schools can pick up three kids from the outside, and last summer Hollifield wrestled with the Titans, even traveling with them to a tournament at Disney World.

"That's my buddy," Bryant said. "He's come a long, long ways. He's very aggressive, he takes good shots, he's smart and he's got a good home and good values. It's hard to argue against a kid like that. I told him he can wrestle on my summer team all he wants. We love having him around, and he's good for our lineup well into the season. Raby is 13-0 and Boehm is 22-0. All of Boehm's wins have been either a forfeit or pin.

The ones with one or two losses are Allen (39-1), Smith (38-1), Hollifield (39-1) and Hilton (38-2).

Davie goes to South Rowan on Jan. 12, to Reynolds on Jan. 13 and hosts North Davidson on Jan. 20. The start time is 6 p.m.

Davie received pins from Piper, Josh Johnson, Jesse Frye, Phillip Scott, Wilson, Scates and Murphy. Goforth, D.J. Garetson and Barnett contributed decision wins.

Not surprisingly, the War team.

Hollifield looks almost invincible to his friendly rival.

"If Aaron doesn't win the state this year I'm going to be upset," Bryant said. "He'll do it this year. He'll be a two-timer. If he plays his cards right, Aaron's the man to beat at 130."

Boehm wouldn't reveal whether Coastal Carolina is his frontrunner. "I'm going to take my visits," he said. "It's gotten a lot more hectic lately."

Boehm added that it's no secret why Lowery is closing in on 500 wins. "We've got the best middle-school programs, and we've got the best refiner in the state (in Lowery)," he said. "He just polishes us."

Boger's buzzer-beater win brought the crowd to its feet. But the nonchalant junior wondered what all the fuss was about. "A win's a win," he said with a shrug.

Sophomore Adam McIlwain has endured a string of bad luck. Seemingly everybody he faces at 125 is a powerhouse. He battled hard against a 25-3 opponent, but fell short 6-4. "He's been wrestling some men," Lowery said. "But it's going to help him in the long run."

Raby knocked off a 26-3 opponent at 145, and didn't even wrestle up to par, Lowery said. "In most cases, the only person that can beat Barnes is Barnes. If he can stay focused, he's as good as anybody around," Lowery said.

In Saturday's tournament at Orange, Davie tore through Orange (48-18), Pinecrest (62-9), Southwest Randolph (53-9) and Leesville (51-27).

Big surprise, huh? The ho-hum surge lifted Davie to 35-0, eclipsing the school record for wins (the record had belonged to the 32-3 team in 2001-02).

The War Eagles claimed 44 of 55 individual matches. What's even more impressive is they did it without Parks, who injured his back in the first match, and Stewart, who was out sick.

Brown, Raby, Allen, Boger, Boehm, Smith, Hilton and Hollifield went 4-0; McIlwain went 3-1; and Ange and Barnes went 3-1.

Pit your "hoops" knowledge against some of the greatest sports minds in the area each week in our Basketball Contest.

The first place winner each week will receive a check for $20 plus a sporty Enterprise Record ball cap so everyone will know you are a WINNER! Our second place winner each week receives a check for $5.

The first person to get all games correct in a single week will get our BONUS PRIZE of $250.

THE RULES

1. Anyone can enter except employees of the Davie County Enterprise Record and their families. Only one entry allowed per person per week. All entries must be on original newsprint or Fax 336-751-9760.
2. Games in this week's contest are listed in each contest advertisement on these two pages. Fill in the contest entry blank and submit or mail the entry to the Enterprise Record, P.O. Box 99, Mocksville, NC 27028.
3. The first entrant correctly predicting the outcome of all games in a week will receive a bonus of $250. Weekly prizes are $20 and an Enterprise Record cap for first place and the second place winner receives $5. In case of ties, the entrant who came closest to the total number of points in the tie-breaker wins. If a tie still exists after the tie-breaker game the awards will be divided equally among the individuals who are tied.

4. Entries must be delivered to the Enterprise Record before 5 p.m. Friday each week. The office is located at 171 South Main St., Mocksville, NC. 5. Winners will be announced following each contest in the next issue. Decisions of judges will be final. A new contest will be announced each week.

War Eagle Boys Enter CPC On A Down Note

points against Kannapolis, they dropped 31 on Davie. A Mooresville assistant even conceded: "We never expected to beat Davie. We're Jekyll and Hyde."

Mooresville head coach Steve Mauney said: "We had a real disappointing loss last night. We did not play good at all, and the guys wanted to prove that they're better than they played last night."

The reversal happened in part because point guard E.J. Wilson saved Mooresville from an early knockout, and then Peoples and Bowers took turns sucking the wind out of Davie. And it also happened because Davie's top scorer, power forward Josh Aiken, struggled mightily after not starting for the first time due to missing a practice.

In the first meeting, Aiken gave Mooresville a big headache: 27 points on a 12-of-14 shooting, nine rebounds and five assists. He was averaging 19 points a game, and he was coming off a MVP performance in Davie's Sam Moir Christmas Classic triumph.

Aiken and center Cliff Burns had been Davie's 1-2 scorers in five of the last six games. Burns was up to the challenge - with a season-high 24 points on 10-of-15 shooting, along with four blocks - but Aiken looked nothing like his typical self (three points on 1-of-6 field goals).

"Aiken missed practice (two days earlier)," Absher said. "It was one of those things he couldn't avoid, I had to enforce the rule and he just didn't seem to really get into the flow. He made started every game, and maybe that's why he never really got going.

"We had a big dropoff with Aiken, but I would have liked to have seen some other people step up and try to help us out." The War Eagles started well enough. Burns struck in the low post, Michael Mashore launched in a 3-pointer, Kyle Winters buried a trey and Burns threw down a dunk as Davie blew ahead 10-2.

Then Wilson pushed Mooresville back into the game with six unanswered points, a one-man assault that triggered a 17-4 run that startled Davie.

Bowers found his groove in the second quarter as Mooresville surged ahead 25-16, and Peoples took over in an 11-2 run that sent the Blue Devils into halftime with a 36-25 cushion.

"Peoples didn't score the night before, and I can think of three jump shots he made when he had hands in his face," Absher said. "Obviously they were motivated to play better. We were coming off (the Moir title and nine straight wins), and we weren't as focussed as we needed to be."

Although Burns sparked a rally in the third, Aiken never could find the game-breaking rhythm that Davie has come to expect.

"Burns killed us, but Aiken had a tough night," Mauney said. "I'd like to think that was our defense, but they're going to have on and off nights, and fortunately we caught him on a bad night."

Raeshon McNeil stole the ball late in the third and sprinted to the other end, drawing a foul, making two free throws and pulling Davie within 44-39.

It was 50-41 when Davie sealed its fate with self-inflicted wounds. McNeil missed a wide-open fastbreak layup. Then, much to Absher's chagrin, Aiken did the same thing on the very next possession. Then Foo Smith, who is normally calm, cool and clutch, airballed an open 3-pointer, and Davie never could wrestle away the momentum.

"We just couldn't hit a streak where we played consistently," Absher said. "On defense, too. We had a lot of breakdowns on defense. The most frustrating thing was even as we fought at times, we kept getting within striking distance, but we could never get that one extra

Shellshocked JV Boys Suffer 66-Point Swing In Rematch

Davie's JV boys basketball team obliterated Mooresville 82-37 on Dec. 15. No one could have predicted what happened in last week's rematch at Mooresville.

The Blue Devils showed nothing's impossible, performing a gigantic 66-point swing with a 64-43 win that left Davie mystified.

"Their main scorers played in both games," Davie coach Terry Mitchell said. "We played a lot worse, and they obviously played a lot better."

The War Eagles had won seven straight, including a big 3-0 showing in a holiday tournament in Asheboro. But they experienced a nightmarish letdown in the final tuneup for Central Piedmont Conference play.

"I think we were overconfident from winning the tournament, and we had two poor practices," Mitchell said. "We played like we practiced."

After taking a 30-26 lead into the break, the Blue Devils controlled the entire second half, outscoring Davie 34-17.

Jack Rooney carried the load with 19 points, but he didn't get much help. Jared Nelms was next with eight, and Wesley Turner had five. In the 45-point win over Mooresville, Davie placed four players in double figures - Whit Merrifield with 19 points, Rooney with 16, Sean Miller with 11 and Turner with 10. This time Merrifield, Miller and Turner combined for seven.

"We shot poorly, we played defense even more poorly and we didn't have a lot of hustle," he said. "I didn't think we would lose, but I told (assistant Larry) Habegger that I thought it would be a battle. I thought it would be close." Notes: The War Eagles entered the CPC at 8-3. It's been feast or famine. All their wins have come fairly comfortably, and their losses have been by 36, 19 and 21. ... Rooney is scoring at a 17.7 clip in the last three games. ... Davie opened CPC play earlier in the week against West Forsyth. It hosts South Rowan on Jan. 14 and plays at Reynolds Jan. 18.

Mooresville 64, Davie 43 - Jack Rooney 19, Jared Nelms 8, Wesley Turner 5, Dennis Redmon 4, Dillon Manship 3, Deonte Dismuke 2, Sean Miller 2.

North Wrestlers Win By 69 On A 'Sloppy' Day

When a coach offers words like "rusty" and "mistakes" and "sloppiness," you instinctively suspect that it wasn't a good day for his team.

Despite less than his best stuff, last week against visiting Southeast was just another day at the office for North Davie's wrestling team. Coach Ron Kirk was far from impressed by the Wildcats in their first match after the holidays, complaining that "we really looked rusty. Some of the kids didn't practice that much (over the break), and we made some mistakes from being out over Christmas, a little sloppiness here and there. We've got to get our rhythm back together."

The Wildcats' rust, mistakes and sloppiness didn't matter. They still destroyed the Patriots 78-9, and that's just not fair. How many coaches would love to have a 69-point win on an off day?

North recorded pins in 11 of 13 weight classes. How about that, coach? "In every other

North received pins from Randy Beil at 95, David Oakley at 105, John Flowers at 114, Rusty O'Connor at 121, Michael Rowe at 127, Michael Maready at 132, John Lattimore at 147, Chance Davis at 154, Josh Smith at 162, Caleb Rominger at 173 and Devin Trull at 191.

Beil, Flowers, Smith and Trull worked the Patriots over the quickest, delivering pins in the first period. Chris Smith and Davin Gray took forfeits.

The owner of 38 straight wins stands 11-0 overall and 5-0 in the Mid-South Conference. The average margin has been 76-9. To put North's dominance into perspective, it averages 76 points per match, while opponents needed 11 matches to surpass 100 points for the year.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE North Davie vs. South Davie, and it's time to get ready for the annual showdown to decide the regular-season championship. North should cream China Grove on Jan. 13 at home. A win there, coupled with an expected South win at Knox on the same day, would mean two unbeaten conference records will butt heads Jan. 18 at South at 4:30 p.m. This would mark the ninth straight year that everything has come down to North vs. South.

The Wildcats have won the last two meetings, three of the last four and they're heavy favorites to make it four of five. They sent a message to South by hammering Erwin 60-27. By contrast, South split with Erwin, needing clutch wins at the end to pull out the match that counted in the league standings.

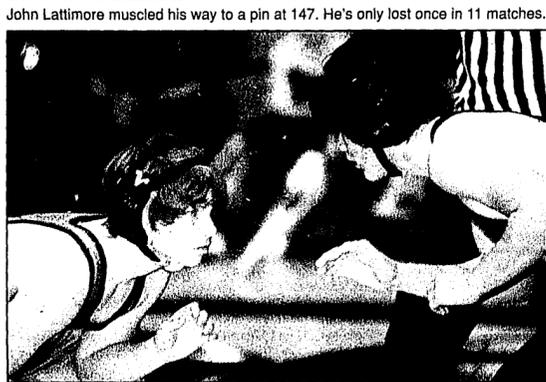

Twelve North starters have one or no losses, including Flowers at 11-0, O'Connor 11-0, Rowe 11-0, Maready 11-0, J. Smith 11-0, Rominger 11-0, Trull 9-0, Davis 5-0, Beil 10-1, Lattimore 10-1, Oakley 8-1 and C. Smith 8-1. Although Davis missed the first six matches, he's as hot as anyone, pinning all five opponents.

Those numbers don't sound good for South. Kirk hopes his team won't take the Tigers for granted.

"They know week in and week out there's somebody ready to whip their rear end," he said. "South is waiting on them, and I keep telling them that even though South's lost one match, it doesn't mean they can take them for granted."

"We don't want to look past (N. Rowan and China Grove), but we're looking forward to South. They're going to be good. It's going to be different not having Howard (Riddle, who left South to become Buddy Lowery's assistant at Davie) there, but I'm sure (new coach Perry) Long's going to have them ready."

North Basketball Teams Enjoy Cupcake Wins

North Davie's seventh- and eighth-grade girls basketball teams got an opportunity to dine on a cupcake last week at Southeast, and the Wildcats feasted. Both teams jumped out to a monster lead, and both games ended every bit as lopsided as they were expected to be.

North's seventh won 39-10, North's eighth won 39-13 and a good time was had by all.

"I was very pleased," said Trish King, who coaches both squads. "Everybody got in and got a lot of playing time. Our goal was to try to get everybody to score. They were fun games to coach."

A pair of blowouts were forecasted because of what happened when South Davie faced the Patriots. The seventh Tigers won 49-9 and the eighth Tigers picked up their only win against Southeast, 33-6.

Behind starters Kaycee Dixon, Jennifer Booth, Costner Merrifield, Elizabeth Davis and Clare Moser, the seventh Wildcats (6-3, 3-2 Mid-South Conference) came out in a fullcourt man-to-man defense and scored 12 of 14 points in the first quarter. The second quarter was no different as North closed the half with a 26-2 lead.

"We hadn't played man-to-man much, and it worked beautifully," King said. "Ninety percent of our baskets in the first quarter were layups - just stealing the ball and going in for a layup."

The biggest factors in the laughter were Booth (10 points, four steals), Merrifield (eight points, six rebounds) and Dixon (six points, four steals).

Booth, who had played small forward all year, switched with Dixon between point guard and shooting guard, and the experiment worked perfectly.

"We like the way Booth handles the ball, and both (Booth and Dixon) made wonderful passes," King said. "It gave Dixon a chance to not feel as much pressure at the point and shoot more from the wing."

Michele Phillips and Moser added six and four points, respectively, but the sweetest point of all came from Jessica Strickland. She's one of those reserves you can't help but pull for. Listen to this feel-good story.

"At the beginning of the season she had a cast on her foot," King said. "She ran sprints with the cast because she wanted to play so bad. You would have thought we won the conference championship when she scored (from the free-throw line)."

The eighth-grade game was over in the first quarter. Carly Pratas, Hannah Stroupe, Amber Parrish, Sarah Evans and Kellie Brown made sure of that. The starters outscored Southeast 17-1 in the first six minutes, and North (8-2, 3-2) poured it on again in the third, extending a 24-5 lead to 36-8.

"They're a solid five," King said of her starters. "They click together. They played rec ball together and they know each other. I can't wait until they play in high school."

The major contributions were spread evenly as six players scored between four and eight points, including Stroupe (8 points, 3 assists), Parrish (8 points, 7 steals, 3 assists), Brown (7 points, 6 rebounds, 6 steals, 4 assists), Pratas (4 points), Evans (4 points, 7 rebounds, 4 steals) and Jordan Schultz (4 points).

The early catalyst was Stroupe, who scored six of her eight in the first quarter.

"All six were steals and layups," King said. "We'd been talking to her about playing more aggressively at point guard, and she did that."

Parrish (also played the point and) she had some nice look-away passes."

Notes: Both North teams are 3-2 in the conference. Both lost big to Knox and both lost narrowly to Erwin. ... North plays at China Grove on Jan. 13 and at home to South Davie Jan. 19. The MSC Tournament starts Jan. 21 at host S. Davie. "Both teams feel like they can win it," King said. "They have the confidence."

N. Davie 39, Southeast 10 (seventh) - Jennifer Booth 10, Costner Merrifield 8, Kaycee Dixon 6, Michele Phillips 6, Clare Moser 4, Rebecca Bobo 2, Elizabeth Davis 2, Jessica Strickland 1.

Surprising Smoot Sparks South To 6th Straight Win

Whatever coaches Becky Miller and Sheila Tribble said to their South Davie seventh-grade girls basketball team at halftime last week at China Grove, the words were magic.

The Tigers led 13-8 at halftime, but the first half - by South standards - was anything but good. They were a different team in the third quarter. In fact, they were absolutely superb, outscoring China Grove 16-1 and rolling to a 32-14 Mid-South Conference win that kept South (7-1, 6-0 MSC) in a first-place tie with Knox.

The Tigers had been on a tear, spanking Southeast 49-9 and thumping North Rowan 38-14. But when they sleepwalked to the uneasy first-half lead, the coaches tore into them.

"We came into the game flat," Miller said. "After seeing the last few practices, I was afraid of that. We had a nice little talk at halftime. (Assistant) Tribble got on them; I tried to get in a word. They got their heads on straight, and they came back a different team after our talk."

Coming in, point guard Sara Handy had accounted for three of South's four double-figure performances, scoring 10, 11 and 12 in earlier games. Maleia Stevenson, the No. 2 scorer, had the other double-figure effort at 10.

But instead of Handy attracting the spotlight in the crucial third quarter, it was the unlikely Smoot. Although she was third with a not-so-scary 4.7 scoring average, Smoot turned up her game, burying Southeast under the third-quarter avalanche with 10 points.

Smoot converted 6 of 9 shots to finish with 13 points, the most a Tiger has scored in eight games.

"We switched our inbound play, and Smoot scored all 10 of those points off inbound plays," Miller said. "China Grove came ready to take it from us, and (if Smoot hadn't caught fire) I believe they could have."

Not to be forgotten is the fact that Stevenson, who was second with five points, provided assists on four of Smoot's five field goals in the third. Machel Gadsden added four points.

"Those two showed a lot of leadership," Miller said of Smoot and Stevenson. "Maleia would lead her into the basket, and she stepped up and took care of things. She took up the slack when they were giving Sara fits."

WITH THE REGULAR SEASON down to two games, the race for first boils down to a Jan. 13 gut-check game that will separate visiting Knox and South. The survivor will likely claim the title, although North Davie (6-3, 3-2 MSC) is certainly capable of knocking South off on Jan. 19 at North.

The Tigers have won six straight, but they will have their hands full with Knox, which won the nonconference meeting early in the year 31-24. South trailed 18-7 at halftime before making a futile rally.

"I'm sure Knox feels like they're No. 1, but we'll see (his) Thursday," an undaunted Miller said. "As long as we can play like we did in the second half (vs. China Grove), we should do well."

Notes: The win over CG continued a tear for South, which produced 12 scorers in the 49-9 win over Southeast and 10 in the 38-14 win over N. Rowan. Handy led the SE game with eight points, followed by Gadsden, Erin Naylor and Smoot with six each. Handy also led the N. Rowan game with nine, followed by Morgan Wyatt with seven. ... Handy was averaging 9.2 points over five games before getting held to three against CG. "They were real quick and played her man-to-man real tight," Miller said. "Sara still did a good job of getting the ball down the court." ... South will host the MSC Tour-

South Soars, Prepares For First-Place Clash With North Davie

South Davie's wrestling team gathered steam for the annual first-place battle with North Davie by drumming visiting China Grove 83-4 last week.

After China Grove opened with a three-point decision, Austin Brown, Matt Garretson and Dylan Fulk delivered successive pins for a comfortable 18-3 lead. The margin grew and grew as George Gama, Shyteek Brown, Zac Shoemaker, James Cousins, Chris Hurt, Trey Lowe, Tyler Sanford and Justin Miller all treated China Grove like a box of pizza.

The Red Devils closed the match by handing forfeits to Jarred Burcham, Lewis Farve and Josh Burcham.

"We're wrestling well right now," Coach Perry Long said as South improved to 7-1 and 6-0 in the Mid-South Conference. "The kids really worked hard over the Christmas break, and we're looking really good."

The Tigers face two opponents (at Knox Jan. 13 and at nonconference Northeast Guilford Jan. 14) before hosting North Davie (11-0, 5-0) on Jan. 18 at 4:30 p.m.

Should the Tigers take down Knox - they won the first meeting 54-36 - the regular-season finale against North will mark the ninth straight year that the regular-season title has been determined by a North-South clash.

If the comparative scores are any gauge, particularly the Erwin matches, the Tigers face a daunting challenge. South split a pair of bitter battles with Erwin, losing by six in nonconference play and winning the conference match by 13. It has won seven straight since the season-opening loss.

But North drilled Erwin 60-27, so avoiding a third straight loss to North will require more than South's customary staunch effort.

"(Ron) Kirk's tough," Long said of N. Davie's coach. "He's got a good team. But we've gotten a lot better, and the kids are ready to wrestle. They know it's a big match, it's very important to them, and we're just going to wrestle."

"The Erwin matches were good for us. We know what it feels like to be down, and we know how it feels to come back. They were some good matches for us, and I think we'll be pumped up to wrestle North."

Although the Tigers' individual records pale in comparison to North's, they still have their share of solid credentials. Shoemaker and Farve are 8-0, S. Brown is 7-0, Gama is 5-0 and Josh Burcham is 7-1. Then there's Hurt and Sanford at 4-1; A. Brown, Garretson, Cousins and Miller at 6-2; and new starter Fulk at 2-0 with two pins. Lowe is another fresh face in the lineup, and he won his debut - by pin - against CG.

Among the pin leaders are S. Brown, Shoemaker and Farve, who have combined for 18 six-pointers in 23 chances.

Carpenter Turns Into Furniture Maker After Retirement

Hayden Myers helped build his home. He helped build the homes for his three children, and all live next door to each other on Main Church Road. At age 77, Myers days of building homes are over. Nowadays, he's more likely to be in the shop behind his home, turning a piece of oak into a table leg, or cutting the pattern to a jewelry chest. A retired carpenter and painter, he prefers making furniture now - at his own pace. "I had done carpentry work for over 50 years, and I had always liked to make furniture," Myers said. "It's for a hobby, a pastime." He couldn't see making money at his hobby. The cost of lumber is too high, and you can't turn raw wood into a half-moon end table in a couple of hours. His first piece was a stereo cabinet, still in his house. "Mostly I've made half-moon end tables. My mother had one and Ethel's (his wife) mother had one." Turning the legs is the most difficult part in making a table, but also the most rewarding. "I don't have a duplicator. You have to do it free hand. It feels like you've accomplished something when it turns out like you want it to." "It's something to occupy your time. Most every day, I'll come out here and work a couple of hours." Hayden and Ethel celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on Jan. 8, and have lived on the family property for all but five years. Myers has seen the cost of a board foot of oak go from 10 cents 40 years ago to $4.75 now. "That's the reason you can't make a living selling homemade furniture. Sometimes you could make enough to get the money back for your lumber." Although he almost lost a couple of fingers last year, Myers has no plans of quitting his hobby. "I'm going to keep it up as long as I can," he said.

This stereo cabinet was among the first pieces Myers made.

Once a profession, woodworking is now a hobby for Myers.

Auditions For Music Man Jan. 17 At Brock Performing Arts Center

The Community Theatre of the Davie County Arts Council will hold auditions for Meredith Willson's The Music Man on Monday, Jan. 17 from 7-9 p.m. at the Brock Performing Arts Center. Doors open at 6:30 pm for registration. Call backs will be held Tuesday, Jan. 18 at 7 p.m.

A popular favorite, The Music Man tells the story of a traveling con man named Professor Harold Hill as he goes to River City, Iowa, to start a children's band. As Hill makes his way around town selling band instruments and uniforms, townspeople soon find out that he has no intention of teaching the group to play, only sell them the props to be a band.

Soon, Marian, the town librarian, discovers his secret and a rollicking musical tells the story of what happens as the town is swindled by a lovable swindler.

Featuring classic songs such as "Till There Was You," "Gary, Indiana" and "Seventy-Six Trombones," Meredith Willson's The Music Man is an American tale of romance, music, and small town.

Performers auditioning for a lead role are asked to bring sheet music for a prepared song. An accompanist will be provided. For those auditioning to be part of a singing ensemble, performers will be asked to sing with a group. Anyone auditioning may be asked to read from the script and learn a simple dance sequence both nights. Come prepared to stay the full time. Bring appropriate shoes and dress in layers.

More than 20 cast and chorus roles are available for adults and children, ages kindergarten and up. Rehearsals are tentatively set for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, from 7-10 p.m., possibly some Saturdays. Due to the nature of the show, producers are seeking (not required) children and young adults who can play music at a basic level and own/rent a band instrument. The Davie County Arts Council encourages non-traditional casting and urges all those interested to audition.

There are plenty of opportunities to be a part of The Music Man without being an actor onstage. Production staff needs include stage manager, set designer, lighting designer, props master, production crew, house manager, and more.

Performances for The Music Man are April 1, 2, 3, 8, & 9. The Brock Performing Arts Center is located at 622 N. Main St. in Mocksville.

THANK-YOU!

Once again, God has answered prayers & blessed us richly with His bountifulness! He is worthy of our praise!

A Storehouse For Jesus wishes to warmly thank each sponsor, donor, volunteer and prayer warrior involved in making Thanksgiving and Christmas 2004 possible for so many Davie County residents! You touched our hearts, and most importantly our clients' lives, with your generosity and willingness to make the holidays brighter for your neighbors.

You gave abundantly! Many of you called back to sponsor repeatedly. It was wonderful to see the participation of the many children and students who wanted to help other children and students.

Because of your generosity, we were able to provide Thanksgiving dinners for 374 families, feeding 1,501 individuals. For Christmas, you provided gifts for 530 families, giving to 1,123 children, 62 adults, and 101 seniors. You also provided Christmas dinners for 85 senior families, feeding 157 individuals.

Author, Artist Meet With Woman's Club

The GPWC-NC Mocksville Woman's Club met on Dec. 1 for their annual Christmas meeting at Bermuda Run Country Club. The tables were decorated for Christmas with large, hand-painted tin snowmen. The club officers Linda Sechrist, Mary Lou Musselman, Elette Owen, Vickie Smitherman and Elke Albrecht served as hostesses.

A short business session was held followed by the program. Elette Owen welcomed the guest speakers, Kim Underwood and Garnet Goldman. Kim is a columnist for the Winston-Salem Journal who has recently written a children's book titled "His Dogness Finds a Blue Heart." Goldman is the artist from Winston-Salem who illustrated the book. Following the program, Underwood and Goldman signed copies of the book that were available for purchase. The December meeting was also the conclusion for the fall fundraiser for the club. The fall fundraiser for 2004 was a $1,000 gift certificate to Hanes Mall. Elette Owen announced the winner was Kurt Bostian from Mocksville. Pauline, his wife, was at the meeting and accepted the certificate in his behalf. A toast was made for the new year. The food was blessed by Marlene Shamel and then approximately 56 members and guests enjoyed a sit down luncheon.

Fatzinger Climbing Mountain For Arts Council

Jim Fatzinger, who is helping the Davie County Arts Council develop a more secure funding base, is going to climb Mt. Kilimanjaro in Tanzania, Africa, to raise funds for the arts in Davie County. "I'll do the hard part," Fatzinger says. "But now the Davie County Arts Council needs the residents of Davie County to do the easy part. Call Regan Jones, acting executive director, with your pledge per meter or kilometer; 100 percent of your pledge will go to the Davie County Arts Council and will be 100 percent tax-deductible on your 2005 taxes." Mt. Kilimanjaro is a dormant volcano and the highest peak in Africa at 19,400 feet. That's equivalent to just a little under 6 kilometers or almost 6,000 meters above sea level. Fatzinger suggests that Davie County residents who, according to the by-laws of the Arts Council, are considered members of the organization, pledge $5 per kilometer ($30), one penny per meter ($60) or $25 per kilometer ($150). When Fatzinger returns, each donor will receive a photograph from the highest point he reaches on the mountain along with their "Thank You" letter from the organization. The climb is part of a series of bold, creative steps the board of the Arts Council is taking to ensure the vitality of the arts in the community and in Davie County schools, Fatzinger said. A private, nonprofit coalition of more than 100 national education, arts, business, philanthropic and government organizations wrote "Champions of Change" in 2001 summarizing the value of the arts. The executive summary from this report includes these words, "realizing the full potential of learning in and through the arts for (our) children will require heroic acts from all segments of our society. With the 21st century now upon us, we must meet and exceeded the challenge of giving our young people the best possible preparation we can offer them." "It is time for us to be heroes," Fatzinger said. "This is the least that I could do. But the real heroes will be citizens of Davie whose new or continuing support of the Arts Council will help attract quality arts and cultural programming to our community and the Arts In Education programs that help distinguish the quality of public education in Davie County."

Conservation Grants Available Through Soil & Water Office

The North Carolina Foundation for Soil & Water Conservation is offering grants through the state's Soil & Water Conservation Districts for the closure of waste storage structures on former confined animal operations. If you are interested in learning more about the Davie Soil & Water Conservation District or how its programs can benefit you, call 751-5011 or email jcreason@mocksville.com. The foundation is offering to cost-share 75 percent of the cost of the closure project, with the landowner contributing the remaining 25 percent. Left alone, these structures can leak, rupture, or overflow greatly reducing downstream water quality due to the nutrients and bacteria found in animal wastes. Because of the improved quality of water, there is great public benefit from closing such structures. The Davie Soil & Water Conservation District encourages landowners interested in closing a waste storage structure on their property to contact their office at 751-5011 no later than Monday, Jan. 24. The Davie Soil & Water Conservation shares the state division's mission of protecting and preserving soil and water resources. This is accomplished through providing financial, technical, and educational assistance to landowners throughout Davie County. If you are interested in learning more about the Davie Soil & Water Conservation District or how its programs can benefit you, call 751-5011 or email jcreason@mocksville.com. The Community Foundation of Davie County will be the topic at a meeting at 10:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 31, at Davie Senior Services, North Main Street, Mocksville. Jane Stimpson will present a program on the importance of the foundation. Call 751-0611 to register.

Spotlight on Business

Jim's Fruit & Stuff Has New Owners

A few years ago when Deborah Dull would visit Jim's Fruit and Stuff, she would always comment to the owner on what needed to be done in the store.

"I used to go in there all the time and tell him what needed fixing up or changing to make the store look better," recalls Deborah.

Unfazed, the owner would respond by telling Deborah that when she owned the store, she could do whatever she wanted to.

Well as it turns out, that very comment recently became a reality for husband and wife team Deborah and Gary Dull of Mocksville. They are now the proud new owners of Jim's Fruit and Stuff, a unique and customer-friendly store located at 3311 Highway 601 North in Mocksville.

"We took over the reigns October 1, 2004," explains Deborah during a recent interview. "Prior to taking it over, I worked for Ketchie Creek Bakery for the past six years. Jim's has been operating for the past 10 years and to now own it is something very exciting about."

Store similar to General Stores from days gone by. Asked to describe what Jim's Fruit and Stuff is all about, Deborah alludes to general country stores from days gone by, local businesses that stocked an assortment of items, offered gardening supplies and, more importantly, focused on providing the best service imaginable to members of the local community.

Delicious fresh food
In the food department, Jim's Fruit and Stuff is a true delight for any palate, selling delicious jams and jellies, ice cream by the scoop, fresh baked breads and cakes along with fresh fruit and vegetables.

And for all of the "Green Thumb" gardening types in the area, there is also a nursery on the premises.

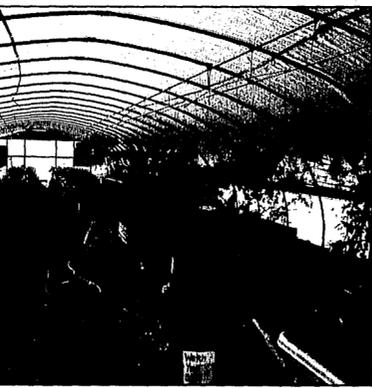

Ugly Roof Stains? American Roof-Brite can remove them

American Roof-Brite has the answer for those unsightly, if not damaging stains that appear on shingle roofs. Professional roof cleaner and American Roof-Brite owner Don Sunday is the expert behind the business. With over 30 years of roof-cleaning experience, American Roof-Brite has the knowledge and technical skill to kill roof fungus spores, the usual cause of the black or discoloring stains on asphalt and fiberglass shingles.

Don bought his American Roof-Brite dealership over four years ago, after researching the company and its product. What he likes to impress upon his customers is the method he uses to clean roofs.

The first step is to apply an environmentally safe, biodegradable cleaning compound to the roof area. This application sits on the roof for several minutes. The formula eats away at the cause of the roof stains, fungus. This is one of the steps that separates American Roof-Brite from other roof cleaners, who just spray the roof with a high-pressure wash.

The next step for Don is a low-pressure/high volume wash. Don is passionate to let his clients know that this low-pressure wash is an important difference in roof cleaning technique. Most people assume that what a roof needs is a high-pressure wash. This, Don says, could not be farther from the truth. In fact, a high-pressure wash usually causes damage to a roof, tearing up shingles from the roof, which can result in interior water damage. Not good. The low-pressure/high volume method used by American Roof-Brite has been trusted by homeowners for over 30 years.

Gardening supplies also in stock
Deborah, who has been a landscape designer for 29 years and Gary, also a landscaper, are also proud to carry a large supply of gardening items in the garden center.

"We have garden plants, flowers, gift baskets and bird feeders just name a few," Deborah says.

With the busy spring planting season rapidly approaching, fruit trees will be coming in a few weeks as well.

The couple, who are 30-year residents of Davie County, enjoy working together and visiting with all of the people who come by the store.

Grand opening planned for the spring
Jim's Fruit and Stuff will be holding their very first open house/grand opening in the spring. They are still working on the date and will announce it soon. Store hours are Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., Wednesday and Saturday 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Deborah can be reached at (336) 492-2625.

The third, and final step that Don incorporates, is the application of a stainblocker, or sealer. This layer of protection is guaranteed to prevent fungus growth for three years.

Roof stains are not just ugly, but the fungus that causes them can damage your home. Merely washing your roof is not enough. The three-step process used by Don Sunday and American Roof-Brite is an environmentally safe, professionally proven method for killing roof fungus, and preventing it.

American Roof-Brite is owned by Don Sunday. You can reach Don at (336)-785-2030.

Master Gardeners Have Successful Year; New Class Starting

The Davie County Extension Master Gardener Volunteers have had another active year in 2004, and as the new year approaches, they hope to increase their numbers.

The Master Gardeners provide many services to the community. They conduct educational programs and perform beautification and community service projects throughout the county.

The Master Gardener Volunteer program is a national program of trained volunteers who work in partnership with their local Cooperative Extension Center. Before becoming Master Gardener Volunteers, participants complete a horticulture training course that offers a minimum of 40 hours of instruction. Students learn about lawn care; ornamental trees and shrubs; insect, disease and weed management; soils and plant nutrition; vegetable gardening; home fruit production; garden flowers; water conservation; and more.

Recruitment is under way for a new class to begin in late January at the Davie County Cooperative Extension Center. Classes will be held on Wednesday mornings for 14 weeks. After successfully completing the course, students agree to provide at least 40 hours of volunteer service back to Cooperative Extension during the next year. Students may also join the local Master Gardener Organization, where they enjoy various field trips, guest speakers and special programs.

The Master Gardener Volunteers have completed and participated in numerous projects throughout the county over the past six years. Recently, they offered a Fall and Holiday Decoration Workshop, participated in the United Way Day of Caring, and renovated the Davie Hospital landscape. A favorite among Master Gardeners is the annual 4-H Junior Master Gardener Camp held each summer. This week-long day camp functions much like the adult program. Children receive gardening and environmental education, take field trips, and perform community service projects.

Colleen Sparks, Master Gardener coordinator, said that she is proud of what the program has become in Davie County. The Master Gardeners work hard and give so much back to the community, she said.

There are 38 active Master Gardener Volunteers in Davie County. In 2003, they contributed 2,392 hours of volunteer service to Cooperative Extension and the community valued at more than $40,000.

For more information or an application, contact Sparks, horticulture Extension agent, at NC Cooperative Extension, 180 S. Main St., Mocksville, or call 751-6297.

County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

We have had several former County Liners home for the holidays. Hanna and Jeffrey Gaither, students at Oklahoma State University, visited their parents, Mike and Kelly Gaither, and other County Line relatives. Janice, Larry and Elizabeth Meyer of Kentucky were holiday guests of Janice's parents, Cecil and Ruth Cartner. Mickey and Kathy Cartner of Arkansas visited Mickey's brothers and sisters and their families.

Dwayne Koontz, son of Joe and Jean Koontz and grandson of the late Marshall and Laura Koontz, recently returned to active duty in Iraq after a few weeks of rest and relaxation while visiting his parents in Florence, S.C., and his relatives in County Line. After Dwayne's return to Iraq, his parents joined his uncle and aunt, Arthur and Barbara Koontz, for a leisure trip to Williamsburg.

The College Class of Clarksburg United Methodist Church wishes to thank those who came to the turkey shoot this past Saturday. The class will sponsor another turkey shoot from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 15. The shoot will again be held at the Clarksburg Boy Scout Hut across the road from the church on NC Hwy. 901. If you enjoy target shooting, just try your skills at the turkey shoot this Saturday. All proceeds from the shoot will again benefit the American Cancer Fund.

Society Baptist Church will have a special speaker for the Sunday evening worship service at 6 p.m. Larry and Charlotte McCoy, coordinator for "Operation Go Mexico" for the Southern Baptist Convention, will present a program of their work in Mexico. Larry is a 1961 graduate of Cool Spring High School.

The V-Point Ruritan Club will hold their regular monthly meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 13 at the V-Point Building on Old Mocksville Road. The Future Farmers of America (FFA) of North Iredell High School will present a program on parliamentary procedures. All interested residents are invited to attend.

On the last Saturday and Sunday evenings of January church singings will be at Pleasant View Baptist Church and Society Baptist Church, respectively.

Congratulations to three couples who recently celebrated another year of "long-term wedding bliss." Esther and Herman Campbell of Clarksburg celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary Dec. 24. Lois and Paul Cartner of Society celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary Jan. 6. Gladys and Lester Walker of Salem celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary Jan. 10.

We send get-well wishes to Pat H. Swisher of Clarksburg. Pat has been hospitalized for surgery at Davie Regional Medical Center. Bueford Lambert has been transferred from Iredell Memorial Hospital to Wake Forest Medical Center. Mae Walker has been transferred from Davie County Hospital to Wake Forest Medical Center and was scheduled for surgery this past Tuesday. Both Sadie Smith and Brown Porter remain at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Also, Hugh Frost remains hospitalized at Forsyth Medical Center.

We continue to pray for Casey Jones and Jack Koontz of Salem United Methodist Church while they are working on church building projects in Jamaica.

We would like to wish Clyde Douthit Teague a Happy Birthday. Mr. Teague is a member of the Farmington Baptist Church and celebrated his 99th birthday on Jan. 4.

After walls of water - HOPE. Farmington United Methodist Church is planning several events to raise funds for the relief effort in response to the tsunami disaster in Southeast Asia. There will be a "Poor Man's Supper" Saturday, Jan. 22 from 4-8 p.m. in the church fellowship hall. Donations will be accepted. The youth will be staying in tents in honor of the victims. As funds are raised, the youth will be able to leave. The community is invited.

We all know church suppers are famous for desserts. At the supper, they will be serving pound cake only. Not just any pound cake, but the "best" pound cake. They will have a contest to decide who makes the best pound cake in the church. Make sure you go and judge for yourself. Monies raised will be used to purchase family shelters for the displaced victims. A donation of $108 will furnish a

Many people attended the Advance Masonic Lodge and Ladies Auxiliary dinner Saturday night, Jan. 8 at the Lodge Hall. After the dinner new officials were installed.

We welcomed many visitors to the Methodist church Sunday. Hollie Cornatzer, bride-elect of Kevin Anderson, was honored with a bridal shower Sunday afternoon, Jan. 9 at the Methodist church fellowship hall. A large crowd attended showering the honoree with many lovely gifts. Little Vogler, who's a shut-in, was able to attend the shower.

Andrea Hendrix of Myrtle Beach spent Friday and Saturday with her mother, Janie Hendrix, and grandmothers, Edith Zimmerman and Pauline Hendrix of Fork. Andrea was a supper guest of Edith on Friday and Saturday nights.

Sympathy is expressed to Willie Mae Howard and Cliff Howard in the death of their son and brother Kenneth Howard.

Ken died Sunday morning at Forsyth Medical Center.

Charlotte Williams, formerly of Bermuda Terrace, has been moved to Brookstone Terrace of Clemmons assisted living.

Sudie Howard is back at Somerset Assisted Living in Mocksville after being hospitalized at Forsyth Medical Center during Christmas.

Those in the community celebrating birthdays this week are Elaine Strider and Kent Dunn on Jan. 10 and Sandy LeRoy on Jan. 12. Happy Birthday to all.

Obituaries

Noah Earl Beck

Mr. Noah Earl Beck, 93, of Liberty Church Road, Mocksville, died Monday, Jan. 10, 2005, at Davie Place of Mocksville.

Mr. Beck was born June 7, 1911, in Davie County to the late William Asbury and Lula Bowles Beck. He had retired from Heritage Furniture Company and had been a farmer. Mr. Beck was the oldest member of Bear Creek Baptist Church and a former member of Liberty Baptist Church.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Zola Dorothy Anthony Beck; 3 brothers, Rufus Beck, Alfred Beck and Walt Beck; 2 sisters, Mary Mitchell and Ruth Pennington.

Survivors: a daughter, Carol (Jimmy) Atwood of Mocksville; 2 sons, W.A. (Brenda) Beck of Mocksville and Fred (Judy) Beck of Harmony; 6 grandchildren; 2 step-grandchildren; 3 great-grandchildren; and a step-great-grandchild.

A funeral service was held at 2 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 12, at Bear Creek Baptist Church with the Rev. Lee Cook officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Memorials: Bear Creek Baptist Cemetery Fund, c/o Caroline Beck, 222 Speer Road, Mocksville.

James M. Thompson Jr.

James Murdock Thompson Jr., 75, of Waits Street, Coolemece, died Tuesday, Jan. 4, 2005 at his home.

Born in Davie County on March 5, 1929, he was the son of the late James Murdock Thompson Sr. and Sadie Bivins Thompson. He was retired from the U.S. Air Force and was a member of Good Shepherd Episcopal Church in Coolemece, the American Legion, and was a life member of the D.A.V.

Survivors: his wife, Janet Barber Thompson, whom he married March 18, 1961, in Norwich, England; a son, James L. "Rusty" (Sherry) Thompson of Winston-Salem; 2 daughters, Jo Anne T. (Michael) Waite of Crosby, Texas and Jada T. (Mark) White of Greensboro; a brother, Bobby Thompson of Coolemece; and 3 grandchildren.

A sister, Faye Dudley, preceded him in death.

A celebration of life service for Mr. Thompson was held on Friday, Jan. 7, at 11 a.m. at the Good Shepherd Episcopal Church in Coolemece with Rev. Joan Vella officiating. The flag ceremony was conducted by the District 11 Memorial Honor Guard.

Memorials: Good Shepherd Episcopal Church General Fund, P.O. Box 1047, Coolemece.

Memorial Service For The Unborn Jan. 20 At Blaise Baptist Church

The Davie Pregnancy Care Center will hold a memorial service for the unborn on Thursday, Jan. 20 at 7 p.m. at Blaise Baptist Church in Mocksville. This service is for anyone who has been touched by the loss of an unborn child, whether through abortion, miscarriage or stillbirth.

"It is a way to give honor to the millions of innocent babies that have died since abortion was made legal 32 years ago," said Gwyn Jones. "We invite you to come and experience healing through our Lord Jesus Christ. We choose to celebrate life and our Creator's wonderful works. Our decision comes from a belief in God's word and we stand true to what God says regarding His view of human life and the value He places on it. We seek to recognize our Creator and give Him glory, honor and praise for giving us life and for the gift of eternal life through the atoning sacrifice of His son, Jesus Christ."

For more information, call Jones at 492-2783 or the Davie Pregnancy Care Center at 753-HOPE (4673).

Davie Place

Assisted Living Community

Davie Place salutes the Mayer family, Elizabeth, her daughter Kathy and her son Tom, Jr.

The Mayer Family

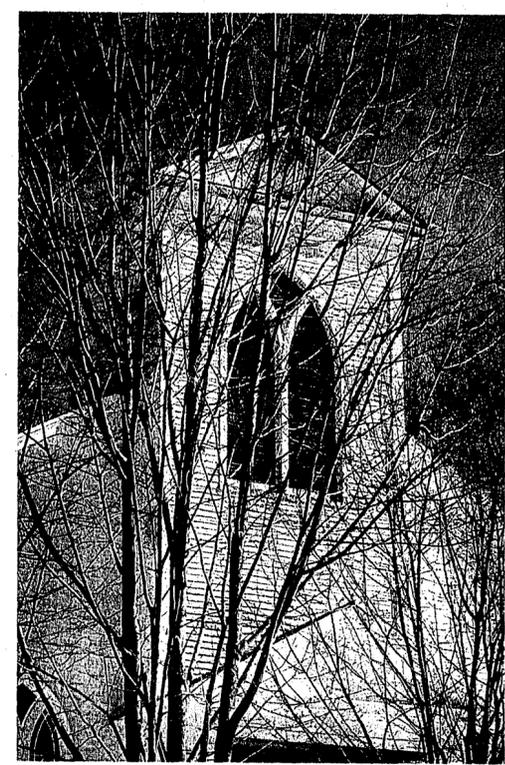

The Mayers are the first family to call Davie Place their family home. Formerly from Statesville, they have been with us since September 10, 2004.

Elizabeth, who will turn 88 years young on July 4th, and Kathy spent many pleasant hours planting and tending flower gardens at their Statesville home. They also enjoyed mowing their lawn, several acres in size, with push mowers.

Tom was employed as a shipping department worker prior to moving to Davie Place. Elizabeth was a school teacher.

The whole family enjoys the food and refreshments at their new home, as well as the many church related activities.

NOTICE OF A FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

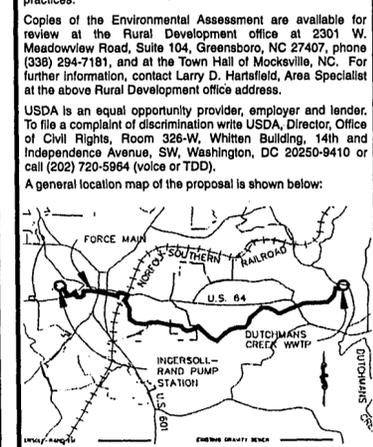

The USDA, Rural Development (through its Rural Utilities Service) has received an application for financial assistance from the Town of Mocksville, NC. The proposed project consists of installing 5,500 linear feet of force main sewer line and 1 pump station to redirect the wastewater generated by Ingersoll-Rand from The Bear Creek Wastewater Treatment Plant to the Dutchman's Creek Wastewater Treatment Plant. The Dutchman's Creek Treatment Plant will be upgraded to handle the additional flow.

As required by the National Environmental Policy Act, the Rural Utilities Service has assessed the potential environmental effects of the proposed project and has determined that the proposal will not have a significant effect on the human environment and for which an Environmental Impact Statement will not be prepared. The basis of this determination is a thorough review and analysis of the environmental information reported in the environmental assessment including public and regulatory agencies' comments regarding the proposed project. In order to avoid or minimize any adverse environmental impacts, the Rural Utilities Service will require the applicant to incorporate the following mitigation measures into the proposed project's design: an approved sedimentation and erosion control plan, and best management construction practices.

Copies of the Environmental Assessment are available for review at the Rural Development office at 2321 W. Meadowview Road, Suite 104, Greensboro, NC 27407, phone (336) 294-7181, and at the Town Hall of Mocksville, NC. For further information, contact Larry D. Hartfield, Area Specialist at the above Rural Development office address.

USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer and lender. To file a complaint of discrimination write USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, Room 326-W, Whitten Building, 14th and Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-9410 or call (202) 720-5964 (voice or TDD).

Swiss Miss

Davie Girl Back Home After Living In Geneva

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Sarah Hauser was apprehensive when her father told her they were moving to Switzerland. Sure, Geneva was a safe and beautiful city, and she loves to travel. But that was a long way from family and friends, to be in a new school with strangers from all over the world.

Two and a half years later, she had similar feelings when it came time to leave Switzerland and come back home to Davie County.

Sarah said that within three weeks, she had adjusted to life in Geneva.

"I was excited because I like to travel. Once I got there, I was a little bit nervous, a bit intimidated, but you get used to it."

Attending an international school with students from 123 countries, she had made new friends - from Africa, Spain and Jordan.

"It was a very diverse group," she said. "All of them are used to change, so they accepted me. We would go out on weekends, to the movies, bowling ..."

Her father said he had no problems allowing his teen-age daughter going out on her own. The public transportation system there is excellent, and crime is virtually non-existent.

"I didn't have to worry. It's really, really safe, nice for a young person," he said.

They did have to get used to all stores being closed on Sunday, and just about everything shutting down at 6:30 every night.

Most people in Switzerland speak some English, but all students in her school were required to learn French.

"The teachers as well as the students are from everywhere," Sarah said. "You get a lot of points of view. The international school had a lot more activities than the schools here."

One of their favorites was the "kermesse," a get-together of parents and students who set up booths with food and other items from their native country. They were open to the city and raised a lot of money for the school.

Located on a large lake, and in a valley between two tall mountain ranges, the scenery around Geneva is spectacular, the Hausers said. They had views of the lake and mountains from their home. The weather was similar to here, he said, because the mountains catch most of the severe weather before it reached the city.

"It was snowing heavy one day, and I didn't know what to do (about sending Sarah to school)," Ken said. "I called the radio station and the man said, 'You're from America, aren't you?'"

School is never canceled for snow in Switzerland.

Sarah said the schools there have more dances, and more subjects. "The school was very hard, and the math subjects were jumbled into one."

She came back to Davie High School last fall ahead of her class. Counselors considered putting her into the 11th instead of 10th grade, but she and her father are glad they didn't.

"The transition academically has been easy," she said. "I'm making all A's in math, and I've never done that before."

She's having to repeat a few classes because they were designed differently, and she couldn't get the credit here.

Sarah was picked by her classmates in Geneva to be a peer counselor, and she spent a weekend in the mountains being trained for that job. Her dad said she was good, and kept everything other students told her in confidence.

"At Davie, I'm trying to start something like that," Sarah said. "They need something like that, to welcome new people."

Her goal is to become a psychologist.

"I've always loved talking to people and helping them out. That's something I've always done."

The food was great, but portions there are about half of what is normally served here, Sarah said. She learned to love kabobs, a type of sandwich with shaved rotisserie meat and a white sauce that, according to Sarah, "is better than a sandwich." She also loved the Portuguese pizza. "It was the best pizza in the whole world, but it's not like it is here."

"And the chocolate, ahhh ..."

Sarah misses the friends she made in Geneva, and stays in touch via email. She doesn't want to go back to live, but would like to visit.

"It's really nice here, I'm just getting used to asking for a ride everywhere," she said.

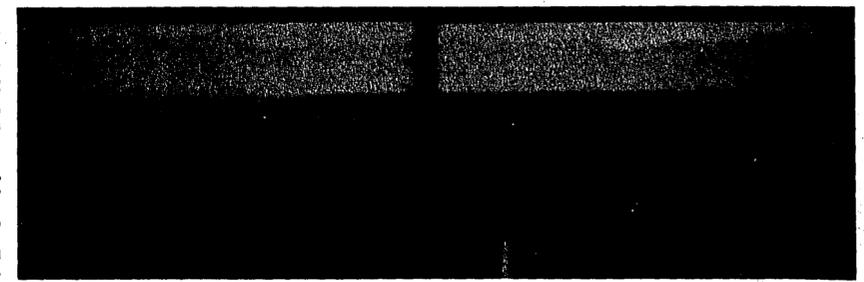

She lives off NC 801 between Farmington and Hillsdale with her father and stepmother, Anita. Her mother and stepfather, Patricia and Craig Steele, live in Yadkinville.

Sarah Hauser is adjusting to life as a Davie High sophomore after spending two and a half years in Geneva, Switzerland.

Sarah looks over a book of photographs - mostly of friends she made at an international school in Geneva.

Sarah had this view of Lake Geneva and the mountains beyond from her bedroom.

Salisbury Post Celebrating 100th Anniversary In 2005

The Salisbury Post is celebrating its 100th anniversary with events throughout the year.

"Just putting out a newspaper each day is a major undertaking," says Publisher Lucy Talley. "To do it every day for 100 years is an extraordinary accomplishment."

Among the events already scheduled:

• Waterworks exhibit: "Salisbury Post: 100 Years," April 2-June 11. The exhibit will include 40 photographs taken by photographers. • Social at Salisbury Station, May 20. This gathering will honor local leaders, advertisers and special guests. • Open House, 6-7:30 p.m., June 4.

• Salisbury Symphony outdoor concert, 8 p.m. Saturday, June 4. The concert will take place on Post property, and residents are invited to come and bring a picnic supper.

A Centennial special section will be published May 29, which will include historic photos, photos from the building renovation in the 1980s and highlights of newspaper history and local history through the years.

Founded Jan. 9, 1905 by J.C. Doub, E.C. Arey and Gabe M. Royal, the newspaper was purchased on July 22, 1912, by James F. Hurley. The Hurley family's association with the Post continued until Dec. 13, 1996, when Publisher James F. Hurley III sold the newspaper to Evening Post Publishing Co. Cathy Wilkerson served as publisher from 1996 until 2004. Talley, a longtime employee of Evening Post Publishing Co., became the Post's new publisher in October.

"This is an important time to reflect on our successes and triumphs — all 100 years of them," Talley says. "I know many people, especially the Hurley family, look back with great pride on many outstanding achievements."

It's also a time, Talley adds, for the Post to thank its many advertisers, subscribers and readers. Over the years, the Post has come to be regarded by the newspaper industry as the state's best mid-sized daily newspaper.

Its current Sunday circulation is 24,200. Post staffers and photographers have consistently won awards from the N.C. Press Association in writing, editing, photography and design.

In 1989, Rose Post, a 52-year veteran of the newsroom, received the Ernie Pyle award for human interest writing, an award second only to the Pulitzer prize.

"The Post is widely recognized as Rowan County's leading provider of local news, including sports and features, and you can count on us to have an opinion or two along the way as well," Talley says.

For more information about the Salisbury Post, visit its Web site at www.salisburypost.com.

DHS Football Coaches Honored By Ed Board

They teach right from wrong. They teach discipline. They mold boys into men.

And this past year, they led a group of Davie High School students to 14 wins on the football field, one of the most successful in the school's history.

They're the coaches, and on Jan. 3, they were recognized with a reception, and certificates from members of the Davie Board of Education.

"One of the things that is extremely important ... and the one thing that thrills me ... is building character," said superintendent, Dub Potts. "I have never been around a bunch of guys who have the quality that these guys have."

It's heartening to parents to know that such men are coaching their sons, Potts said.

The football season was an exciting one for the team, the school and the community. It was more than 1,000 yard rushers and 14 wins, it was about bringing a community together, Potts said.

He took time to thank the spouses and significant others of the coaches, who willingly gave up their loved ones to help raise other people's children.

Head Coach Doug Illing praised all of the coaches.

"They do the nuts and bolts work ... not just to teach them how to play football, but how to be men and how to be successful in life."

Hollerin' Champ To Speak At Catawba College Forum

Kevin Jasper of Farmington remarks that "hollerin' in general is done all over the world, but ... the folk art of hollerin' as it is practiced in Southeastern North Carolina's Sampson County is unique to that area."

Jasper has competed in the National Hollerin' Contest in Spivey's Corner every year since 1998. Except for his first year of competing, he has placed no lower than first runner-up and has won the championship twice, once in 2000 and again in 2004.

The National Hollerin' Contest, held in Spivey's Corner each year on the third Saturday in June, "provides a means for helping to preserve the almost lost folk art of hollerin'." In a multi-media presentation (including, of course, vocal demonstrations) at the next Catawba College Community Forum, Jasper will explore and explain the differences between the universal holler done worldwide and the hollerin' done in the Sampson County region.

Jasper grew up in the Winston-Salem/Greensboro area, earned a bachelor's degree in mathematics with a computer concentration from UNC-

Greensboro, then went on to earn a second bachelor's in computer science from North Carolina State University, followed by a master of divinity from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has worked in information systems for many years and has served as pastor at two churches. He is a software developer in the Information Systems Department at Wake Forest University and is enrolled in the master of arts in liberal studies program at Wake Forest.

As National Hollerin' champion, Jasper has appeared twice on the David Letterman Show as well as on "Live" with Regis and Kathie Lee. He has also been seen on television news programs and heard on an interview guide over 100 radio stations worldwide. He feels it is his "privilege and responsibility to educate the public in the fine folk art of Spivey's Corner hollerin'."

The Catawba College Community Forum will present Jasper at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 18 in Tom Smith Auditorium in Ralph W. Keiser Hall on the campus of Catawba College in Salisbury. The event is free and open to the public.

Davie Schools

North Davie Middle

In Social Studies, students completed a study of time periods in the history of Europe by reading the novel, Door in the Wall, which took place during the Middle Ages. They worked on Middle Ages packets and designed castles of the time period. Students are studying the cultures of Europe and Russia. Travel posters have been designed to depict places of interest in these regions.

Cooleemee Elementary

Mrs. Kistner's students are talking about a new shape each week. This week they are re-viewing the star and circle. They are working on letters and on word and sentence building. The third graders are beginning cursive writing. They have been studying about tall tales and are continuing to learn multiplication facts.

Ms. Cheryl's Pre-Kindergarten class were as busy as little elves in Santa's workshop this week. One of our favorite activities - making "gingerbread houses" made this a very sweet week of fun as each child designed, built and decorated a unique house complete with delicious trimmings. What fun it has been to watch as a little row of houses became an entire village. The children also used their creative abilities and talents this week to make very special gifts and greeting cards for their families. In addition, wonderfully scented, cinnamon ornaments which the children had made the week before were distributed to special teachers and friends within our school building as a special thank you during this holiday season. Finally, rehearsals for the Christmas program continued in earnest complete with costumes and jingling bells. Our friends and families to be joined us on Monday, Dec. 20 for a wonderful evening of Christmas music and fun.

Competition Cheerleaders Win Regional Classic

Under the direction of Angie Bickel, the team will compete for the state title at the Lawrence Joel Memorial Coliseum on Jan. 22. The team won first last year at the State Cheer Tournament.

On Saturday, Jan. 15, the varsity cheerleaders will host a winter warm-up clinic, a traditional camp different from the traditional camp held during the summer.

It is open to all cheerleaders from grades K-8, and will be held in the Davie High School gym from noon-3:30 p.m.

Registration cost is $25 before Jan. 14, $30 at the door. Participants will receive a t-shirt and entry into the next home basketball game.

All girls who complete the clinic will learn a short dance and two floor cheers. Participants will be invited to attend the Reynolds basketball game to cheer third and fourth quarter of the girl's game and first and second of the boy's game. The performance will conclude with a half-time finale of skills learned during the camp.

Registration forms are available at wargenlepre.com or at the high school. For more information, contact Bickel at 751-5905. All proceeds will fund an upcoming trip to the Atlanta Nationals.

Davidson Community College Offering Online Classes

Kru Rick Davis oversees a fight in his Muay Thai camp in Statesville.

Muay Thai

Demonstration Saturday At North

Learn the art of Muay Thai Kickboxing Saturday from 1-2:30 p.m. in the North Davie Middle School Gym.

Rick Davis of Statesville, a world champion in Muay Thai, will bring some of the fighters from his camp to gauge interest in starting a camp in Davie County.

Local law enforcement agencies have expressed an interest in sending some employees, said Scott Lyster, Farmington Baptist Church pastor and Muay Thai devotee. The sport has increased his endurance, strength and confidence, he said.

Lyster thinks the camp can help just about anyone - of any age and gender.

Davis has studied extensively in Thailand, where the form of fighting was used by the Army. It's gone from the military to a sport, and is still the No. 1 sport in Thailand.

Davis had studied karate all his life when he was introduced to Muay Thai.

"They beat me to a pulp," he said. "I went into boxing school ... then I went into kickboxing. I would stay in Thailand for months at a time, studying Thai boxing. It made me a champion."

Muay Thai doesn't use "air fighting." Participants are hitting a bag, or an opponent. At every session, there are live fights.

Davis said of all the martial arts, Muay Thai is the best. "I've researched them all. Most are based on theory. The Thai do it every day. It's not a concept, they practice it every day."

There's a reason for the practice. "If it doesn't work, you could die."

Even though it sounds dangerous, at organized fights, there is rarely a knockout or injury, Davis said. His Statesville gym trains six professional fighters. Many will come to the North Davie demonstration.

"The No. 1 thing is safety ... and with safety is fitness ... the mental aspect of confidence, not cockiness."

If he was confronted on the street, Davis said he would likely walk away from a fight, "so I don't hurt you."

"You're always striking an object as hard as you can. If someone is attacking you, you're blocking and punching back. The main thing is keeping calm," he said.

"In Rick's gym, you would fight at least five rounds every time," Lyster said. "It builds up a mental confidence."

Last year, Lyster said he couldn't run up and down the basketball court. This year, he's running circles around guys much younger than he. "The cardio-vascular results are awesome."

He hopes the Mocksville camp will take hold.

"A strong person builds strong families. Strong families make a strong community, and strong communities make safe communities," Lyster said.

Workouts are scheduled for 90 minutes, although most stay longer, he said.

Starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, visitors can learn the history of Muay Thai, watch a series of the art, observe the conditioning of a Thai boxer, learn self-defense tactics, experience a kickboxing camp in action and meet professional fighters.

You can even see Davis break some baseball bats with his shins.

"If people are looking to get in shape and have fun doing it, this is the place to go," Lyster said.

Davis shows off some of his championship belts.

Women are among the professional fighters Davis trains.

Two boys practice at the Muay Thai camp.

Bermuda Run Planning New Wastewater Facility

Additional Capacity Could Be Used In Eastern Davie
 By Mike Gunning
 Davie County Enterprise Record

The Town of Bermuda Run is seeking a permit to build a wastewater treatment plant that will serve areas surrounding the town in eastern Davie County.

In a letter addressed to Steve Tedder of the Department of Natural Resources, County Commissioner Michael Allen wrote that such a facility should be operated by a public entity, and that the county supports the request.

Allen stated that if the proposed plant matures into a greater regional solution in eastern Davie, then a collaborative effort between the town of Bermuda Run and the county may prove to be in the best interests of the whole community. The new plant, if approved, will have a planned capacity of 750,000 gallons a day. It is expected to phase out the package treatment plant serving much of Bermuda Run. There are still some neighborhoods in the town that work off septic systems, and the town plans to provide sewer to those homes, because many of the septic systems in the town fail because of problems with land percolation.

Town Manager Beth Dirks appeared before the board of commissioners Jan. 3 to request county support of the endeavor.

"In order for us to seek a permit, the state requires that we have regional support," Dirks said.

Dirks said the plant would have approximately 500,000 gallons of additional capacity above what Bermuda Run requires.

"It is our intent to offer service outside our limits," Dirks said. "We have identified a need in this area of the county, and believe this plant can serve those needs."

County Manager Terry Bralley said the county supports the town's endeavors, but stopped short of committing financial resources to the development of the project.

"We intend to keep the doors open for future collaboration," Bralley said. "If this proves to be beneficial to both parties, we may enter into some agreement."

Woman Pleads No Contest To Embezzling From Lawyer

By Mike Gunning
 Davie County Enterprise Record

A Mocksville woman pled no contest to 10 counts of obtaining property by false pretense in superior court last week.

Janet Tucker Barbour, of 293 Country Lane, faced a total of 57 charges, but because of a plea arrangement, had 47 of those charges dismissed.

She was sentenced to 10 days in jail followed by 60 days of electronic house arrest. Barbour has been ordered to make restitution to her former employer in the amount of $22,757, and was ordered to serve 100 hours of community service. She is under supervised probation for three years.

Barbour served as the secretary and office manager for attorney Lynn Hicks from 1995 until early November 2002, when Hicks discovered discrepancies in the record keeping of her office business checking account and client trust accounts.

Hicks believes the money that Barbour stole over the years went to support the frequent gambling trips she took.

"She would go several times a year," Hicks said. "She would take long weekends or spend a few days during the week, as long as she could get away, she did."

Hicks said Barbour would often talk about the fun she had on the trips to Las Vegas when she got back.

"It's ironic in a way, that she would tell me all the fun she was having," Hicks said. "And it was on my money."

According to Hicks' testimony, in mid-1999, Barbour convinced her she was capable of handling the bookkeeping and maintaining the trust account, as well as making the necessary withholding tax payments to the IRS. Barbour was maintaining the business account without incident, and Hicks agreed to the arrangement.

In early November 2002, Hicks discovered cancelled checks and missing or incorrectly marked check stubs in Barbour's desk. Barbour was away from the office tending to her ailing father.

Hicks' investigation unveiled that earlier that year, Barbour had written a check made out to herself in the amount of $1,150 from the trust account, then made a deposit in the same amount nine days later.

"It has never been the policy of this office to allow cash advances from the trust account or any account in this office," Hicks testified. "No one, myself included, ever had authority to take cash advances from any account."

Court Personnel Pleased With Renovations

By Mike Gunning
 Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County Superior Court went into session on schedule last week, giving Judge David Lee the honor of being the first to sit behind the bench of the newly renovated courtroom.

Davie County buildings manager William Whaley toured the facility recently, and was pleased with the results of the three-month project.

"There's still a few touch ups that need to be completed," Whaley said. "But this is far better than what it was."

Assistant District Attorney Rob Taylor agreed.

"I love it," Taylor said. "I can see everybody from where I sit."

The top floor renovation, which is near completion, started on Oct. 1, with a budget of $145,000 allocated to the project by the county commissioners last September.

The project was put on the fast track because of concerns that were raised about moldy conditions in the courthouse. Superior Court Judge Kimberly Taylor threatened to suspend court proceedings if improvements weren't made immediately.

"These are improvements that needed to be done," Whaley said. "It's been at least 30 years since this place has been worked on."

Whaley, who oversaw the project, said the primary concern of the renovation process was to control the amount of moisture that permeates the upper floors. That meant first tackling an outdated roof that was prone to leaking during heavy rain storms.

Integration Ended Age of Dinosaurs In Our Schools

Before Martin Luther King Day becomes just another holiday, we need to remind ourselves about why this Monday in mid-January deserves our attention.

The topic of the annual King speech contest in Mocksville this year was Brown vs. the Board of Education.

Youngsters gave their speeches about the 1954 landmark court decision that paved the way for school integration.

For students who have never known life without computers, the internet, cell phones and instant messaging, looking into this case must have seemed like probing into the age of dinosaurs.

There were no dinosaurs 50 years ago, but the idea that children should be separated into black schools or white schools must seem to our children like something from the Jurassic period.

One teacher, discussing the case with her classroom, had a difficult question posed by a Hispanic student: Which school would he have had been assigned to attend back in 1954?

That period of history ended none too soon.

Today's students—black and white and Hispanic—manage to mix and mingle without much regard of our color.

It wasn't that way in 1954.

It wasn't that way in my childhood. But we have come a long way in a relatively short amount of time.

A little girl named Linda Brown lived in Topeka, Kansas. She had to ride a bus five miles away. There was a school for white kids only a few blocks from her home. She couldn't go there because she was black.

The Supreme Court voted unanimously to overturn the idea of "separate but equal" school systems for whites and blacks. The court found that they weren't equal and they should not be separate. Change came slowly. Ten years later, according to history books, only one percent of the black students in the South attended desegregated schools.

Without a federal nudge, integration wouldn't have happened in the South even with a court order.

In 1957, President Dwight D. Eisenhower had to send National Guard troops to Little Rock High School in Arkansas to protect the first black students going into a white school. People resisted the change. Our country went through a difficult time. There were riots and protests across the South. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated.

One of his now-famous speeches had declared, "I have a dream that my four children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character."

Let us forget, this was not just a problem in Topeka, Kansas and Little Rock, Arkansas, and Montgomery, Alabama.

Local schools did not fully integrate until 1968. Many black students rode buses a lot more than five miles to get to their school. Here, a few pioneering black students made the first ventures into integration—becoming the first to cross that racial divide.

Weren't they brave?

A couple months back, I visited a reunion of the 1966 class of North Coolee School—the last 7th grade class at that black school.

Those students later joined me at the newly integrated Davie High.

Despite our distrust and the centuries of legal separation, we learned to get along—to go to the same schools, share the same teachers and play on the same teams.

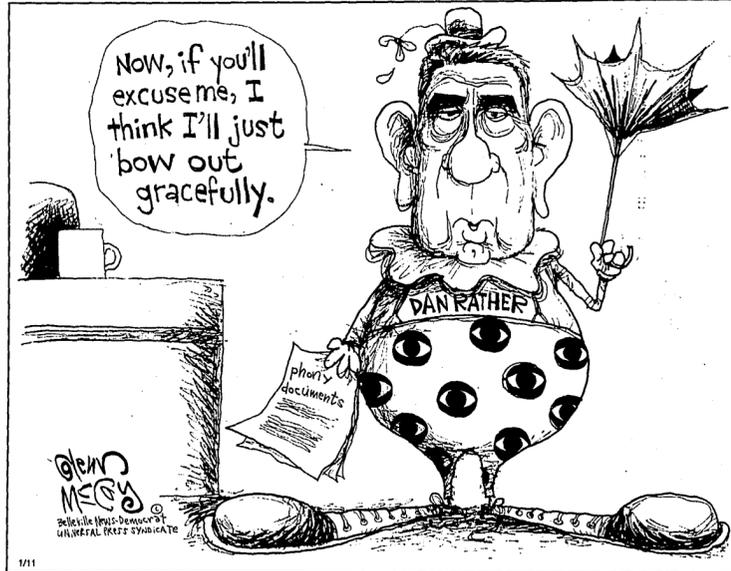

Today's students—living in a more enlightened age—must find it hard to imagine that it was ever any other way.

In that way, Brown vs. the Board of Education has been a huge success. It hasn't solved all our problems. But our schools now live up to the goal of the Declaration of Independence's message: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

Brown vs. the Board of Education reminded our nation of the meaning of the word "all." We remember that and the memory of the difficult struggle that will become foggy with the passing years.

Aren't you glad the age of dinosaurs has ended?

Social Security Funds Belong To Government

To the editor:
This is in response to Syndi Holmes's letter to the editor criticizing President Bush's decision to reform Social Security. Again Ms. Holmes is examining issues through her polarized Democrat beer goggles. It is clear that Ms. Holmes would rather insult, complain and criticize something, than to actually form an educated opinion and express that opinion in a constructive manner. She tells us that "Social Security is not an entitlement program — it is our own money". Wrong. It is the government's money, Americans do not have any legal rights to money paid in. (Please refer to Fleming vs. Nestor) The Supreme Court ruled Congress has total control of how much and when someone will get their money and how much money will be taken from each citizen.

Social Security is the largest pyramid scheme ever created. Social Security, just like a pyramid scheme, had good returns in the beginning; in 1940 retirees could have a return of 135 percent. Social Security, just like a pyramid scheme, has diminishing returns as time passes; average returns for a retiree in 1999 were 4 percent. Just like a pyramid scheme, a minus return is expected in the near future. And, just like a pyramid scheme it will collapse when the inevitable decrease in new investors (workers) occurs.

Ms. Holmes ignores the facts:

- President Clinton proclaimed we have a Social Security crisis (February 1998).

- Congressional Democrats, like Daniel Patrick Moynihan and Robert Kerry, have suggested partial privatization of Social Security for years.

- Approximately five million state and local employees are exempt from paying Social Security and instead participate in retirement plans administered on the state and local levels.
- Democratic President Lyndon B. Johnson, with the Democratic controlled House and Senate, moved the Social Security "trust fund" into the General Funds, so Congress could spend the excess.
- Democratic President Jimmy Carter gave Social Security annuity payments to immigrants at age 65, even though they did not pay into the system.

- Democratic support for abortion on demand, that has decreased the tax base by killing 15 percent of the population, further reducing the worker to retiree ratio. (44.7 million abortions, since 1972, divided by the US population of 295 million)
- Yet Democrats, like Ms. Holmes, are standing in line to blame Republicans for letting the "elderly starve", and criticizing any proposal the President may have, to keep Social Security solvent. And again Ms. Holmes ignores the facts and demonstrates, how pure hatred for one person, President Bush, can prevent a logical thought process.

In closing ask yourself some questions. How many times will Congress increase the age that you can retire? How high will they raise Social Security (FICA) taxes? And, how many people will have to suffer, to keep the Democrat's sacred cow fat and happy? Social Security will go bankrupt. The sooner we start to have an active debate on a viable alternative, the better. We cannot continue to put our head in the sand and hope the problem goes away.

County Shows Support For Unwanted Animals

To the editor:
Times must be good in the county when stray and unwanted animals command a miniseries for the newspaper. As a past commissioner, president of the Forsyth Humane Society, and lifelong dog owner, I understand the pain of pulling the plug on a puppy, but practically must prevail over political pressure. If I read correctly, the county has generously allocated $150,000 towards the new shelter this year and $50,000 next year; not long ago we had to pull teeth to get the same amount over to the ailing hospital that cares for people - not pets.

The animal problem in the county is a direct result of lack of responsibility of pet owners, not caused by the county employees or facilities and anything commissioners or animal control officers do to help should be appreciated not condemned.

Some animal lovers would rather spend time bashing the county than going to the shelter to work. They are the ones who need help. They are the ones who would rather wreck their vehicle than run over a rat. And for those who really don't get it - water freezes in the winter - whether it is in a shelter, pasture or home.

Many Helped With Flu Shot Clinics

To the editor:
On behalf of the Davie County Health Department staff, I want to thank the many persons, in our own county and surrounding counties, who have expressed their appreciation for the work done by our staff regarding our recent flu shot clinics. You may have said a kind word to us, written a letter to the editor, or shared a positive comment with a neighbor - for this we are most grateful.

The last few months have been a most challenging time for public health in dealing with the flu vaccine situation. Your patience and

Beautician Putting Together Book

To the editor:
I completed 59 years working as a beautician in Mocksville. I have seen many changes and I have worked for many people. I would like to thank everyone for their business. I am working on a memory book and I have received several remarks and pictures to go in my book. If you are a customer, former customer or have a picture of a deceased customer, I would appreciate you sending it to me.

Thanks again to everyone who has been a part for the many years I worked for you, and I am still working part time at Mayfair in Mocksville.

Remember Storehouse For Jesus

To the editor:
It is exciting to see the land up on Hwy. 64 east begin to be transformed from an unused field to a site for A Storehouse for Jesus. Each of us know someone who had benefited from this ministry, whether by the joy of giving or receiving.

Please remember the Storehouse with your prayers and gifts to allow them to complete this building and the landscaping required. Your donation will allow all the volunteers to help the folks who need a leg up to have the simple things that we take for granted. Search your heart and send a check to the Storehouse in care of CCB, 148 Water St., Mocksville, and mark it for the building or landscaping fund.

RUN? Campaign Will Have Impact

To the editor:
The Mebane Challenge is exciting to me. As the technology assistant at William R. Davie Elementary School, I just want to express my gratitude to all the volunteers within the campaign working to raise the $1.5 million. I am excited about the opportunities this challenge will provide not only for my school, but all the schools in Davie County. At WRD we had a luncheon to raise money and are creating recipe books that will sell for $1 to help the cause. I really hope everyone in this community comes together to support the Mebane Challenge so we can meet the deadline of March 31. This challenge will have an impact on all of us (students, parents and teachers)

Be Wary Of Insurance Coverage

To the editor:
This letter is to all people who are potential auto insurance buyers.

If you plan to buy auto insurance, please pay attention to what coverage you are getting. Would you not think if you already had a policy with two vehicles being covered with liability and comprehensive and bought another and called your insurance agency and said to cover the one that you just bought with the same coverage that you would have comprehensive and liability? This is not always the case.

Did you know that comprehensive insurance is not listed as comprehensive anymore? Just pay attention to what coverage you have because if you don't pay attention and pay your bill, you don't have a leg to stand on with the insurance company - you are told "You paid your bill, you should have known what you were paying for". Pay attention to what coverage you have.

Abortion Draining Social Security

To the editor:
I don't usually write letters to the newspaper but I must respond to Syndi Holmes' letter that appeared in your Thursday, Jan. 13 issue regarding Social Security.

I want to address Syndi's statement "... it is our own money that he is taking from us."

The money that is taken from our paychecks for Social Security (FICA tax) goes to the benefits of all those collecting Social Security payments. This is not like a retirement plan where our money is set aside in a specific account for our future individual benefit.

When Social Security was started in 1935 there were 16 employees paying into the program for every one collecting. That number is down to 3 persons for everyone receiving a benefit in 2003. The number will drop to 2 in 2030.

Where's the new work force?
The answer is they've been contracepted or aborted out of existence. We have been watching babies being aborted for 32 years. The number killed is over 45 million babies.

This does not include those wiped away by the morning after pill or never created due to contraception.

The economics of abortion is destructive. Social Security is only part of it. Think of all the shoes, books, bikes, clothes, etc., that there was not or will be no need for because these consumers don't exist. Think of the industry and jobs that aren't or won't be created to provide these things because there is no need.

And the moral destruction goes to all ends of the earth. Don't blame our problems on George Bush and others with Pro Life beliefs. They are trying to turn the tide. Until we stop aborting and contracepting our children, there will continue to be war, terrorism, poverty, child abuse and Social Security problems. Every aspect of our lives is affected by this evil. And every time a baby is aborted the knife cuts deeper into American Society.

God help us.

WHAT IS THE MARGIN ON AN ARM?

When you are shopping for an Adjustable Rate Mortgage (ARM), one of the important things to consider is the margin. Each time your loan is adjusted, the new interest rate will be tied to whichever of several interest-rate indices is specified in your contract. The margin is the percentage spread above the index rate applicable at the time of the adjustment.

Let's suppose that you have a one-year ARM with a 2.5% margin and that your applicable index at the beginning was at 3.5%, plus margin of 2.5%, for a total rate of 6.0%. If at the end of the first year the index rate had moved to 4.0%, then the rate for the second year of your loan would be adjusted to 6.5%. Some lenders offer lower initial rates with higher margins. Such a mortgage would be cheaper if the index rates did not rise later, but more expensive if they did. And because ARMs are only one of the many different mortgage possibilities, the smart way to go is to sit down with us and let us suggest to you the best choices so that you can make a wise decision. Attorney Says Trust Of Bookkeeper Led To Problems

Hicks discovered that Barbour had written a check in the amount of $300 and claimed it was for mileage. "I've never had a mileage check, with all the travel I do to Charlotte and Greensboro, I've never had a check for that amount," Hicks said. "And she wrote one to herself for $300? She never had any mileage. She worked in the office."

cut herself two paychecks seven times during a 10-week stretch in 2002.

Hicks claimed part of Barbour's responsibilities included paying all withholding taxes as required. She said Barbour prepared the proper withholding tax forms and presented them for signature, but failed to send them into the IRS with the proper payments. Hicks said she found several notices from the IRS claiming the firm's tax delinquency hidden in Barbour's desk among her personal belongings.

The taxes had not been paid since mid-1999, the time when Barbour took over the bookkeeping duties.

Hicks claimed the damage caused by Barbour's action have been emotionally and financially devastating. In order to make the trust fund whole, Hicks said she was forced to take a personal loan to fund the account's shortage caused by Barbour's pilfering.

"All I ever wanted to be was a good lawyer," Hicks said. "I'm not an office manager, that's why I paid her. I'm going to be paying off this loan for 15 years."

Hicks said the exact dollar amount of Barbour's theft was nearly impossible to determine because trying to reconstruct the accounts was made more difficult because of missing stubs and cancelled checks that were lost or destroyed.

Forensic Accountant David R. White, an investigator with the North Carolina Bar Association, agreed.

White said he reviewed the firm's financial records and found a myriad of unsettling cash movements between accounts and credit card advances. Wells said the history of the checkbook transactions were difficult to recreate because of the way Barbour kept the books.

"I've poured over the records over a period of several weeks," White said. "I finally found two or three estates that were short funds."

White testified that Barbour admitted to taking monies from the accounts over a period of time, and that she tried to replace as much of the money as possible after the thefts were discovered.

"She said she didn't want to see Ms. Hicks hurt in any way," White said. "She tried to put the money back so Ms. Hicks wouldn't lose any money."

At one point, Barbour refinanced her Mocksville home and deposited $95,000 into Hicks trust fund. Hicks said Barbour forged her name during the transaction, and continued to use the trust fund checking account as if it was her own personal checkbook.

Barbour's attorney, James Quandy of Forsyth County, claimed that Barbour was entitled to use the money because she was the depositor, and that Mrs. Barbour believed she and Hicks had an agreement allowing Barbour use of the funds.

Quandy confronted Hicks on her decision to allow Barbour full oversight on the firm's financial affairs.

"Did you not review the checkbooks after she had consolidated them?" Quandy asked.

"Apparently not well enough," Hicks said. "I had stopped checking after her because she had gained my trust and confidence over the years. She violated that."

Even with the $22,757 that has been relinquished by Barbour, Hicks feels she is still several thousand dollars in the hole. But that's not what bothers her the most.

"This whole thing has changed me in a way I don't like," Hicks said. "I have such a hard time trusting people now. I used to be very trusting, now I'm suspicious of everyone. It makes the job a lot less enjoyable."

County Working On Courthouse

"We fixed the roof, and now have the water run off under control," Whaley said. "That was a big part of this job."

Gone are the old single-pane windows, replaced with modern double insulated glass.

"These have a 1/2 inch air space, so they won't sweat like the old ones did," Whaley said. "They're also UV protected, and really cut down a lot on outside noise."

All wallpaper has been removed and replaced with fresh paint. The layout of the Superior Court has been changed, which Whaley said was a result of input from court personnel.

"We got a lot of suggestions about how things should be," Whaley said. "We worked with what people said."

Based on those suggestions,

Whaley approved covering the floors with fresh carpet and removing every seat in the courtroom and replacing them with church style pews. The court stenographer's chair has been moved to offer a better view of the witness stand and jury pool, and the judge's bench has been repositioned. A new built-in bookcase behind the bench gives the judge easy access to reference books.

Improvements abound in the adjoining offices as well. The probation department offices have been renovated, as has the judges chambers.

Whaley said more than 2,000 pounds of outdated books have been discarded from the law library, which is still under renovation.

Even assistant district attorney Wendy Terry got in on the deal. Terry chose the colors which can be found throughout the third floor.

"It's a good color scheme," Whaley said. "We'll probably use a similar look throughout the building as we move on to the first floor."

Whaley expects the top floor to be completed by the end of the month, and to start work on the main floor after July 1, which begins the county's fiscal year.

"There are still a lot of major projects that have to be completed," Whaley said, "including replacing a 34 year old air conditioning unit."

Whaley said the dollar amount needed to be allocated towards the upcoming project is not known, but he believes the county commissioners will see fit to approve the money needed for completion of the project.

Superior Court

The following cases were heard in Davie Superior Court on January 3. Presiding: Judge David Lee. Prosecuting: Robert Taylor and Steve Boone, Assistant DAs.

-Everette Anderson, 4 counts felony probation violation, sentenced to 18 months.

-Walter Athey, felony breaking and entering, sentenced to 18 months, 20 days credit; attempted larceny dismissed.

-Robert Brown, first degree sex offense of a child, dismissed; first degree rape of a child, reduced to statutory rape, 20 years, 288 days credit, psychological evaluation; statutory rape, dismissed; first degree statutory rape, dismissed.

-Kenneth Cardwell, first degree rape of a child, sentenced to 7 years, 425 days credit, $1397.50, cost.

-Richard Carter, attempt to obtain controlled substance by fraud, reduced to common law uttering of a false document, prayer for judgement.

Charges Incorrectly Listed

It was incorrectly reported last week that Patrick Little was convicted of various charges in the Jan. 6 session of Davie District Court.

Little was not charged or convicted of the offenses listed, including DWI, driving after drinking and possession of drug paraphernalia. We apologize for the error.

The Curse? Misery At The Hands Of West Lives On

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Cliff Burns came through with a monumental performance in last week's ballyhooed battle between the West Forsyth and Davie boys basketball teams with a full house of screaming fans on hand. His inside clinic included 31 points and 11 rebounds. The 6-7 center with the 747 wingspan blocked eight shots.

But Burns' effort still couldn't change the War Eagles' luck against West Forsyth.

They were intent on ending a curse that started in 1988-89, and it seemed like the right time. They didn't belong on the same floor with West during most of the losing streak, but this year was different. West doesn't have overpowering size, and it only has one big-time scorer (point guard Tyler Boardman).

With the student sections from both sides creating bedlam and with an early

Cliff Burns came through with a monumental performance in last week's ballyhooed battle between the West Forsyth and Davie boys basketball teams with a full house of screaming fans on hand. His inside clinic included 31 points and 11 rebounds. The 6-7 center with the 747 wingspan blocked eight shots.

But it didn't pan out. West tormented Davie once again, 71-62, the 35th straight time that Davie has bowed to the Titans, who have averaged 22 wins under eighth-year coach David Laton.

"I had the upmost confidence that those guys were going to win that game," third-year Davie coach Mike Absher said. "I didn't know if it would be Burns or (Josh) Aiken or (Foo) Smith or (Michael) Mashore, I just felt like as a group we would do whatever it took to win the game. And you know what, we didn't."

The Titans (8-7, 2-0 CPC) are not a well-oiled machine like so many past teams in an amazing run that started in 1988-89. Collectively, they look as innocent as Boy Scouts. But make no mistake, they're tough as nails and they can flat-out shoot the rock. Their record is deceiving because of three losses in a national tournament in Washington, D.C.

And here's another key in a game the Titans controlled for the final 24:35. They always seem to set the world on fire against Davie. When West meets Davie, the rim on West's end looks like the Atlantic Ocean.

"Everybody played well," Laton said in an understatement. "Our kids were excited about it. We knew it was going to be a tough game here, and they were looking forward to coming over. It was a great atmosphere."

The War Eagles, on the other hand, were left to wonder where it all went wrong. Will the depressing stumble leave scars in their psyche?

"They're 8-7 and they played like they're undefeated," Burns said. "We've got to take our hats off to them. They played a great game. We've got to work on the little things."

"I don't know," said a befuddled Smith. "It shows us we need to work harder in practice and try to beat them next time. It's going to be a hard game to swallow, but I think we'll get by it and it will make us better."

Davie did recover in time to beat South Rowan going away, 81-61. Smith and Mashore were the heroes, combining for 44 points and nine 3-pointers.

It looked as if Davie and West were going to trade baskets all night when it was 17:16 West. But a 55-second stretch bridging the first and second quarters knocked the War Eagles on their heels and they never completely stopped the bleeding.

That stretch was painful to watch; three different Titans getting layups, two of them off turnovers. Davie committed nine turnovers in the first half, and West converted eight of them into points.

"That was the turning point," Absher said. "We started turning it over, and you can't give that good a team that many easy chances."

After West sprinted to a 30-18 lead, Burns turned into a one-man wrecking crew, scoring eight points in an 11-6 spurt that pared the halftime margin to a workable 36-29.

Burns ended the half by stepping out and making a 15-footer, and he opened the third with a bang. When Smith assisted the big fella on an inbound pass, Davie was within 39-36 and its rabid fans were going bananas.

But every time Davie made a move, West had an answer. A 10-0 Titan blitz put Davie against a 49-36 wall.

Then Burns resumed his human SportsCenter act with two buckets in an 8-0 Davie run, and Raeshon McNeil found the noise to a deafening level when he banged a 3-pointer from the wing with 30 seconds left in the third. The long ball pulled Davie to 49-47.

Heartbreak Girls Come Up Just Short Against West

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie's varsity girls basketball team experienced heartbreak in last week's Central Piedmont Conference opener against visiting West Forsyth.

The War Eagles thought they had West reeling when Tyra Wagner scored for a 41-35 lead midway through the third quarter. They played harder than ever. They refused to give in even when star Bri Scott nailed the Titans late in the third. And they had West in trouble with 5:10 left in the game.

A few more buckets and a few more stops and Davie, which rebounded with a breezy 55-34 win over winless South Rowan later in the week, would have likely been 3-0 in the CPC heading into Friday's key tilt at North Davidson.

The 65-55 loss was hard because Davie came so close to winning a game that could greatly impact the race for first place.

"We wanted to win this game so bad and start the conference off right, and we let down at the end," junior Carly Booth said. "We thought we had them. We had our chances and we should have won it. We're pretty upset, but we're going to put this game behind us."

West coach David Sands breathed a superized sigh of relief after surviving Worth Noting ...

Wrestlers Aaron Hollifield, Timmy Allen, Kyle Smith and Russell Hilton reached the 40-win plateau as Davie improved to 37-0. The foursome is a combined 162-5.

Melsha Fowler of Davie's varsity girls hit four 3-pointers for 16 points and Carly Booth had 14 points, 13 rebounds and three blocks in a 65-55 loss to W. Forsyth.

Cliff Burns of Davie's varsity boys had 31 points - on 14-of-17 shooting - 11 rebounds and eight blocks in a 71-62 loss to W. Forsyth. In an 81-61 win over S. Rowan, Foo Smith hit 8-of-11 shots, including four 3s, for 27 points, and Michael Mashore added five 3s and 17 points.

Elizabeth Davis of N. Davie's 7th girls scored the game-sealing points in a 22-18 win over China Grove.

Chance Davis is 7-0 with seven pins for N. Davie's 13-0 wrestling team.

Jamie Stancliff, David Stein and Daniel Wendel posted first-place times in a swim meet against vaunted Reynolds.

Jack Rooney scored 23 points and Deonte Dismuke added 15 as the Davie JV boys upended S. Rowan 60-44. Rooney had five 3-pointers.

Big Win: 7th Tigers Knock Out Knox

Coach Becky Miller has been saying all season that South Davie's seventh-grade girls basketball team is good enough to take down Knox and win the Mid-South Conference's regular-season championship.

The Tigers proved it last week, blasting Knox in the first quarter and riding the phenomenal start to a 31-22 win that averaged a 31-24 nonconference loss in the second game of the year. When the Tigers huddled at midcourt in postgame celebration, pointing their index fingers toward the ceiling and howling in unrestrained delight, they had their seventh straight win, assurance of at least a share of the regular-season championship and a lock on the No. 1 seed in the MSC Tournament.

"We did a lot of things right," Miller said. "They played unselfishly. They did everything we asked of them and more."

Both teams came in sporting 6-0 MSC records. South entered the regular-season finale, Jan. 19 at North Davie, at 8-1 overall. The tournament begins Jan. 22 at host S. Davie, with the semifinals on Jan. 24 and the finals Jan. 25.

The Tigers destroyed the potential for drama by dissecting Knox 12-0 in the first six minutes, and they all but put the win away by extending the margin to 23-8 in the second quarter.

The blazing start - which included four points from Ashley Smoot and Maleia Stevenson and three from Machel Gadson - brought a smile to the faces of Miller and assistant Sheila Tribble.

"We knew No. 3 (point guard "Bubbles" Phifer, who carried the Trojans with 13 points) was tough," Miller said. "We were mentally prepared for that game. We came out focused from minute one, and I've never seen our fastbreak work so well."

Knox outscored South 22-17 after the first quarter, but the torrid first was plenty good enough because of a trapping defense that prevented Knox from over getting within serious striking distance.

There's a reason he could reach the 500-win milestone by season's end. He never leaves one single stone unturned. He's always trying to polish them just a little more.

"Sometimes I think Hilton just goes out there saying: 'I've got to make weight for tomorrow night, and I'm going to wrestle six minutes,'" Lowery said. "Hollifield is going to beat you. (But) he could pin more. Johnson didn't wrestle bad. Has he wrestled better? Yes."

"Everything I'm saying is just picky, little stuff. Johnson pinned the guy in the second period and I'm complaining. It's nothing we can't fix."

Davie got little challenge from a South team that came in ranked 10th in the 4-A state. Chris Ange, Josh Barnes, Timmy Allen, Jeremiah Raby, Garrett Parks, Ted Randolph and Brandon Steward added wins as Davie took 11 of 14 decisions.

Lowery did hand a gold mark to Smith, who managed to dominate a tough Jacob Hill 13-5. "I thought we were going to have a barnburner there because (Hill) gave Hilton all he wanted (once) last year," he said.

The War Eagles were every bit as devastating against Reynolds. They won 13 of 14 matchups for a 74-5 beating, getting pins from Johnson, Ange, Stewart, Barnes, Bubba Boger and Parks and five-point technical falls from Hollifield and Raby.

It didn't matter one bit that Davie was missing two starters, 633-pound Craig Brown and a 25-9 Adam McIlwain.

Straight Shooter Lowery Manages To Find Little Mistakes In 37-0 Wrestlers

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Anyone who knows Buddy Lowery understands that the bottom line is not everything to Davie's 29th-year wrestling coach.

Even on a night when the No. 1-ranked War Eagles welcomed No. 10 South Rowan 59-12, Lowery wasn't smiling. He was too busy finding room for improvement. It's tough to meet all of his standards. He always finds little mistakes. And when Davie faces a February opponent that threatens its hopes of winning the state dual championship, little things add up.

"We wrestled well, but we're still doing some little things wrong," he said. "If you want to be good, you're going to find those little things. We're hunting because little things are what get you beat."

Russell Hilton cruised 15-0 at 112. Dusty Johnson registered a pin at 119 and Aaron Hollifield pinned his 130 opponent. Although those three have a combined record of 112-7, Lowery said there's plenty of ways for them - and the other 11 - to get better.

"There's a reason he could reach the 500-win milestone by season's end. He never leaves one single stone unturned. He's always trying to polish them just a little more."

"Sometimes I think Hilton just goes out there saying: 'I've got to make weight for tomorrow night, and I'm going to wrestle six minutes,'" Lowery said. "Hollifield is going to beat you. (But) he could pin more. Johnson didn't wrestle bad. Has he wrestled better? Yes."

Davie's varsity basketball teams clobbered Children's Home, with the Rebelettes winning 52-13 and the Rebels 65-24. Shelton and Bailey paced the Davie girls with 12 and 11 points, respectively. William Carter and Randall Ward did the most damage for the boys, scoring 19 and 18.

Allison Schafer, a freshman for Mars Hill College's girls basketball team, performed another eye-popping shooting display in a 74-67 South Atlantic Conference win at Tusculum.

A few days after connecting on 8-of-8 shots, the Advance product scored 12 points on 5-of-6 shooting. She tried two 3-pointers and hit both.

It's a shame that they're not somewhere in the middle of the lineup, where one of them could move up or down," Lowery said. "It's a good problem to have in a way, but either one of them can win the conference, win the regional and win the state. There's a lot of people that say, 'All I want for Christmas is a heavy-weight,' and I've got two. It's hard to keep two people happy that are that competitive and good. Both of them have a lot of respect for each other.

There was a Davie parade of pins against Reynolds. Michael Murphy, Goforth, Garretson, Barnett, Evans, Jonathan Dwiggin, Patrick O'Connor, James Wilson, Graham Harmon and Travis Seales stuck their foes, while Dixon won by technical fall and Phillip Scott by a 10-2 major decision.

Goforth actually wrestled twice and pinned both of his opponents.

Stancliff, Stein, Wendel Shine For Swim Teams

Reynolds won the girls meet 117-50 and the Demon boys won 105-63.

"We swam hard," Richardson said. "Reynolds is a good team. Our top swimmers are comparable to their top swimmers, Reynolds just has more top swimmers. We were outnumbered, not necessarily outswam."

As strong as the Demons are, they could not slow down Jamie Stancliff, David Stein and Daniel Wendel. Stancliff captured the 100 freestyle, Stein won the 50 free and Wendel claimed first in the 500 free.

Davie also finished first in the boys' 200 free relay, a foursome that featured Shelby Wallace, Drew Esposito, Wendel and Stein.

So the double defeats did not mean a total loss for Davie. "Our boys made regional times in every event but one. That's outstanding," Richardson said. "I went into the meet with

Wrestling Team Rolls To 37-0

"We took care of business," Lowery said.

RANDOLPH AND RYAN BOEHM might very well be as nasty as any heavyweights in the state. Unfortunately, only one of them can fit in the lineup. Randolph earned the nod first, then Boehm moved in and left carnage everywhere he went. Now Randolph is the starting HWT.

Randolph has a 7-1 record. Boehm is sitting on a 22-0 mark. With the exception of forfeits, all but one of Boehm's victories has been a pin. It's just too bad there's not room for two guys that appear to be automatic.

"It's a shame that they're not somewhere in the middle of the lineup, where one of them could move up or down," Lowery said. "It's a good problem to have in a way, but either one of them can win the conference, win the regional and win the state. There's a lot of people that say, 'All I want for Christmas is a heavy-weight,' and I've got two. It's hard to keep two people happy that are that competitive and good. Both of them have a lot of respect for each other.

"It's a hard match to ref even

There was a Davie parade of pins against Reynolds. Michael Murphy, Goforth, Garretson, Barnett, Evans, Jonathan Dwiggin, Patrick O'Connor, James Wilson, Graham Harmon and Travis Seales stuck their foes, while Dixon won by technical fall and Phillip Scott by a 10-2 major decision.

Goforth actually wrestled twice and pinned both of his opponents.

Registration for the 2005 Little League season is Jan. 22 and 29. Registration will be held at the Davie Youth Complex and the Brock Gym from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. both days.

The leagues are open to boys and girls ages 5-16. The cost to register for T-ball is $40, $50 for coach pitch and $60 for minors and up.

Big Cliff Burns played magnificently in a losing cause.

West Forsyth traps junior guard Raeshon McNeil.

Coach Mike Absher makes a point to ReShaun Parks.

But Davie frustration built again as West ripped off five straight points. "I thought we were in good shape when the third ended," Absher said. "The momentum was changing and we couldn't sustain that. Whereas in the Christmas tournament when we got down, we sustained those comebacks. I thought if we could just get ahead by one or two, then the ball would be on the other side of the court."

As always, Boardman was a huge part of West's success. The quintessential floor general amassed 17 points, five rebounds, six assists and four steals while committing just one turnover.

But Davie's runs were short-lived because Boardman got substantial help from Jon Dobbins (21 points). Michael Reklis added 14. West only hit five 3s, but it cashed in 18-of-23 free throws.

In the fourth, Aiken, Smith and Burns cut the deficit to five on four trips down the floor. However, the next sequence left Davie feeling an all-too-familiar despair. Davie missed a 3, Boardman posted up and used his strength to score, and Davie turned it over.

"Boardman gives you the little head fake, and as soon as you relax, he's by you," Davie assistant Mike Dinkins said.

"He's the typical point guard that we've had," Laton said. "He can shoot, he can drive and he can make the pass on the break. He had some beautiful passes."

Burns is money just about every time out. He dropped in 14-of-17 shot attempts and barely missed a triple-double. Smith had 13 and Aiken-10.

But in a shortcoming reminiscent of Davie's loss at Mooresville, it got little production outside of Burns. Deleting Burns' numbers, Davie shot 11-of-48 (23 percent). Balance was a strength during Davie's 10-1 start. Now, with back-to-back losses, it's a question mark.

"We had our chances and turnovers and not getting back on defense are basically what cost us the game," Burns said.

"We didn't hit outside shots when we needed to, and that would have made the difference," Smith said.

"We usually have some inside and outside," Absher said. "We've got to find other people to score."

Notes: Davie's not alone. S. Rowan has also lost 35 in a row to West. Burns said Davie can atone for this downer. "I don't think this makes or breaks our season," he said. "We get another shot at them. We can still have a good season." ... The crowd was filled to capacity (1,300). "I know the team's very appreciative of the support," Absher said. "It would be nice to have that every home game. You want to run out there and feel that excitement."

Davie 81, S. Rowan 61
As if the West loss wasn't bad enough, South heaped more misery on the War Eagles, hitting them between the eyes with a 10-0 start.

Who expected a 3-12 team to boldly hit 9-of-14 3-pointers in the first half? Absher was bewildered.

"I didn't really know what to expect after (W. Forsyth)," he said. "They were making 3s, getting every bounce and we couldn't finish inside."

Mashore changed the game. Mashore came from oblivion to restore order. The designated gunner had been in a severe slump, missing double figures in six successive games. But he found his rhythm at a critical moment, hitting three of his five 3-pointers in the first quarter and allowing Davie to grab an 18-16 lead. The 6-3 senior finished with 17 points and eight rebounds.

"Mashore made some big 3s," Absher said. "When we've had success, (Burns, Aiken, Smith and Mashore) have been in double figures, and he really came through big."

South also got a heavy dose of Smith, who put together a fabulous line (27 points, six rebounds, five assists). He hit 8-of-11 field goals, including all four 3-pointers, and converted 7-of-9 free throws as Davie's lead steadily grew after the first.

"We knew they don't like us very much," Smith said. "It's always pretty crazy playing South, and I think that pumped us up and inspired us to play harder."

"Foo did a great job of pushing the ball the entire game, which created more opportunities," Absher said.

It wasn't just Smith and Mashore who piled on the Raiders (3-13, 0-3). Absher plugged in Morgan early, and the reserve power forward proved worthy of the call, hitting 2-of-3 field goals to go along with five rebounds and two assists. McNeil was a spark off the bench with six assists.

"They gave us some instant energy, and all of a sudden we turned it on," Absher said. "For us to play well in that atmosphere made me extremely proud. We took a big shot from them."

Notes: The Raiders, whose top two players are on crutches, are headed toward an eighth straight losing season. At one point they had four freshmen on the floor. ... Davie outrebounded South 56-38. ... Burns had 15 points and 12 rebounds, and Aiken had 13 points. ... Davie (11-3, 1-1) plays at N. Davidson on Jan. 21 before hosting two nonconference games (Jan. 22 vs. Statesville and Jan. 26 vs. Wilkes Central).

W. Forsyth 71, Davie 62 - Cliff Burns 31, Foo Smith 13, Josh Aiken 10, Michael Mashore 3, Raeshon McNeil 3, Devon Venable 2.

Titans Finish With A Flourish To Deny Davie's Girls

a game that opened in bizarre fashion - West jumped ahead 12-0, only to watch Davie score 12 of the ensuing 14 points - and went on to produce wild twists in momentum and emotion.

"I knew it was going to be a great game," he said. "It was two good teams getting after each other, and someone had to lose that game. It looks like we're the same kind of team. I think we're just identical to each other."

"In an eight-game league, that's huge for us."

The game couldn't have begun worse for Davie. West sophomore guard Sarah Kate Caudle poured in eight points in a span of 1:28 to vault the Titans to a jaw-dropping 12-0 advantage.

Then the War Eagles began beating up on West. With senior center Nicole Maready giving them a shot in the arm, they went on a 12-2 run.

Switching to a fullcourt press three and a half minutes after tipoff proved disruptive and fueled Davie's comeback.

"When you're a good team like Davie and have a good coach like Coach (Karon) Stephens, they always come back," Sands said. "I love playing against Davie and I love coaching against her."

After the strange first, the teams went back and forth the rest of the way. Freshman point guard Meisha Fowler took over in the second quarter, answering an 0-for-5 start from 3-point range with back-to-back 3s. West's Brittany Bumgarner drained a 3 at the halftime buzzer to tie the score at 26.

Fowler gave Davie the momentum again in the third. The lefty nailed a long 3 over an outstretched arm before popping another one with Bumgarner in her grill. When Ashley Cornatzer hit a 10-footer, Sands called tim-out with Davie leading 36-28. Moments later, Fowler made another shot, this time with a dazzling assist after rebounding a West miss. Wagner ran the floor, took the pass on the right side and converted a bank shot for a 41-35 lead.

Fowler won over Sands. "How many 3s did she hit?" he said. "Gosh almighty, I could not believe it."

After the slow start, Fowler hit 4-of-7 bombs for 16 team-high points. Booth added 14 points. West, meanwhile, got 22 points from Scott, 20 from Caudle and 13 from Bumgarner. "My team told me if I wasn't making the shots to keep on shooting it and it's going to go in," Fowler said. "So they gave me confidence to keep on shooting."

There was all kinds of drama in the fourth as neither team could break away from the other by more than four points until 1:30 remained.

Booth broke a tie at the free-throw line. Then Booth gathered a sick pass from Alyson Walker and scored over the intimidating Scott for a 49-45 Davie lead. Walker drew Scott's fourth foul and hit a tiebreaking free throw.

"Both teams were playing at a high level," Stephens said. "I was pleased with the effort. We did a pretty good job with the size that they have."

In the game's most defining moment, with 3:10 to go, Bumgarner changed the momentum for good, hitting a 3-pointer for a 52-50 West lead. The dagger ignited a closing run of 16-5.

Scott was too much, hitting 10-of-15 field goals (all in the paint) and adding nine rebounds. Caudle offset 4-of-15 shooting by making 10-of-12 foul shots. And point guard Bumgarner buried 3-of-4 3-pointers, along with only committing one turnover.

"Our kids showed courage in the fourth," Sands said. "I didn't know we had it in us to come back like that."

If the War Eagles wind up in second and a game behind West, they will remember the 16-5 fade with the outcome hanging in the balance. West beat Davie for the third straight time to improve to 9-5 and 2-0 in the CPC.

"This was a big game for the seniors, and I thought we would win," Fowler said. "It hurts but we have one more chance to beat them. We can't let this game get us down."

"We had our opportunities, but we had a few letdowns defensively in the fourth," Stephens said. "That's a learning experience and we're just going to have to get better."

Booth did all she could. Her double-double performance (14 points, 13 rebounds) included 8-for-8 foul shooting and three blocks.

"And we didn't give her much of a break," Stephens said. "We expect her to play at the same pace the whole night, and she's really done a good job. We probably don't give her enough credit for the things she does, whether she's coming out and getting the ball or hitting the boards or scoring or passing down low. She does a lot of good things."

Davie 55, S. Rowan 34 - Walker 17, Maready 16, Booth 9, Fowler 8, Evony Tucker 3, Alicia Allen 2.

in the third, but Davie (9-5, 1-1) promptly wrapped things up with a 14-2 spurt.

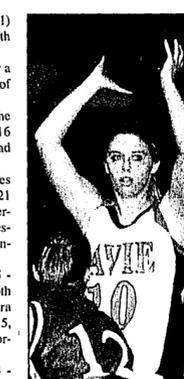

It was a massaging win for a team that had dropped three of four games.

Walker and Maready did the heavy lifting with 17 and 16 points, respectively. Booth had nine and Fowler eight.

Schedule: The War Eagles play at N. Davidson on Jan. 21 before hosting two nonconference games (Jan. 22 vs. Statesville and Jan. 26 vs. Wilkes Central).

JV Girls Lose 2 Hard-Fought Battles

Coaches always talk about the importance of making free throws, and Davie's JV girls basketball team found out the hard way last week what poor free-throw shooting will do to you in close games.

The War Eagles missed 15 of 20 foul shots in a 30-29 loss to West Forsyth, and they missed 13 of 20 in a 42-36 setback to South Rowan. It was the first week of Central Piedmont Conference play, and the close-but-no-cigar defeats dropped Davie's records to 5-8 and 0-2.

"We would have been looking good (against W. Forsyth) if we hit 50 percent of our foul shots," Coach Debbie Evans said.

Davie and West launched 97 field goals, but only 20 of them found the mark as things stayed tight from start to finish. The War Eagles led most of the fourth quarter and were ahead by two with the ball and 25 seconds left.

But they missed a layup that would have sealed it and West made them pay by hitting a game-winning 3-pointer with 10 seconds left.

"We didn't play that bad," Evans said. "We led for a good part of the game."

The end was painful because the girl who hit the winning 3 had missed 13 of 14 shots and hadn't attempted a 3. Davie would have overcome its abysmal free-throw shooting if it hadn't given West three opportunities in the closing seconds. The 3 followed two West misses.

"We didn't box out on the last possession, and it cost us," Evans said. "(The game-winner) was a rainbow. When she was fixing to take the third shot, I thought, 'We're going to pay for this.' It hurt to lose one like that, especially when you led most of the fourth quarter."

Morgan Owens led Davie with six points, Samantha Judd had five and Vanessa Didenko, Lauren Parker and Rebecca Riddle had four each. Didenko added four assists and six team-high rebounds.

S. Rowan buried Davie 15-4 in the second quarter to take a 23-10 halftime lead. But Davie made up for the drought by staggering South in the third.

Grace Didenko came to the rescue, scoring seven of her nine team-high points during a 16-5 spurt that trimmed South's lead to 28-26.

"We were flat in the first half, but we fought back hard," Evans said. "Grace really turned it up.

Debbie Evans has kept the JV competitive despite 4 young players on the varsity.

She got some steals and a three-point play with a left-handed layup. She really sparked us. I guess the competitiveness came out in her."

After the War Eagles produced a tie in the fourth, their opportunity for a big win collapsed. The end left Evans with mixed emotions.

"We had a little lapse where we had two turnovers and they got layups off them, and we never caught back up," she said. "We fought back, we just needed something in the first half to go with it."

Besides nine points, G. Didenko had seven rebounds and three assists. V. Didenko and Riddle had six points, and Lauren Walker had five. Owens contributed seven rebounds.

Notes: The CPC games were a microcosm of a frustrating season for Davie, which has lost five games by six points or less, including two by a single point. ... The War Eagles play at home on Jan. 21 (vs. North Davidson), Jan. 22 (Statesville) and Jan. 26 (Wilkes Central).

W. Forsyth 30, Davie 29 - Morgan Owens 6, Samantha Judd 5, Vanessa Didenko 4, Lauren Parker 4, Rebecca Riddle 4, Lauren Walker 3, Amanda Stewart 2, Carly Stauffer 1.

S. Rowan 44, Davie 36 - Grace Didenko 9, V. Didenko 6, Riddle 6, Walker 5, Morgan Owens 4, Parker 4, Judd 2.

Rooney, Dismuke Propel JV Boys To 1-1 In CPC

Facing West Forsyth without point guard Whit Merrifield was bad enough. When the Davie JV boys basketball team had to play without its other starting guard, Anthony Atkinson, the War Eagles were really behind the 8-ball.

The result was no surprise, a 73-55 loss at West in last week's Central Piedmont Conference opener. Merrifield, Davie's No. 2 scorer, suffered a concussion against Mooresville and missed two games, while Atkinson was sick and only played four minutes against West.

"By losing two starters, we didn't get our normal shots," Coach Terry Mitchell said. "Losing your point guard makes a lot of difference. There was a ripple effect through the lineup."

The War Eagles bounced back to beat visiting South Rowan 60-44. The split left them 9-4 and 1-1 in the CPC.

Dillon Manship erupted for 17 points, and Davie attempted 22 more shots than West. But Davie didn't take advantage of the added opportunities, shooting 36 percent to West's 50 percent.

The War Eagles were alive at halftime, trailing 33-28, but West broke it open in the third by outscoring Davie 20-13. Jack Rooney had 12 points and Deonte Dismuke nine.

"It was definitely our poorest shooting game of the year," Mitchell said.

Rooney controlled the entire game against S. Rowan, popping five 3-pointers, scoring 23 points and lifting his team-high average to 13.7. To put Rooney's value into perspective, Davie's third scorer averages seven points - and seven is Rooney's lowest output of the season.

But the win was largely defined by the second-quarter play of Dismuke. Davie pounded South 23-8 for a 35-18 lead that secured the win, and Dismuke contributed mightily to the game-deciding run (eight points); Rooney had four and John Michael Groce came off the bench to hit a 3-pointer.

"We were really hot," Mitchell said of the second quarter. "Dismuke is a streak shooter, and when he's hot he can shoot as well as anybody on our team."

Dismuke finished with a season-best 15 points. No one else, other than Rooney, had more than six.

Schedule: The War Eagles play at home on Jan. 21 (vs. North Davidson), Jan. 22 (Statesville) and Jan. 26 (Wilkes Central). W. Forsyth 73, Davie 55 - Dillon Manship 17, Jack Rooney 12, Deonte Dismuke 9, Jared Nelms 7, Kenny Rivers 4, Dennis Redmon 4, Eric Lowery 2.

Davie 60, S. Rowan 44 - Rooney 23, Dismuke 15, Redmon 6, Nelms 4, Wesley Turner 4, John Michael Groce 3, Rivers 2, Manship 2.

7th Tigers Rock Knox In First-Place Showdown

"They're a good team, but our defense is so tight," Miller said. "Our one trap was extremely good because we're really quick. It's something (former South coach) Tim Kenney put in. He's had a lot of success with that, and we ran it the entire game."

The first player the Trojans addressed on the South scouting report was top scorer and point guard Sara Handy. The steady Handy broke Knox's fullcourt pressure with relative ease, but the Trojans did hold the eight-point scorer to four points.

No matter. Every championship-caliber team needs second and third options who can carry the scoring load when the need arises, and the other weapons in South's arsenal did the trick.

The fixation on Handy opened things up for Smoot (10 team-high points), Stevenson (eight points) and Gadsden (seven). Stevenson rose to the challenge with 4-for-5 shooting, and Smoot converted 5-of-11 attempts.

That's 25 combined points, quite a turnaround for a trio that tallied just eight in the early-season loss at Knox.

"They stayed on Handy real close," Miller said. "Every team we've played has keyed in on Handy, and they still haven't figured out that they can't do that to us. We've got other people to score."

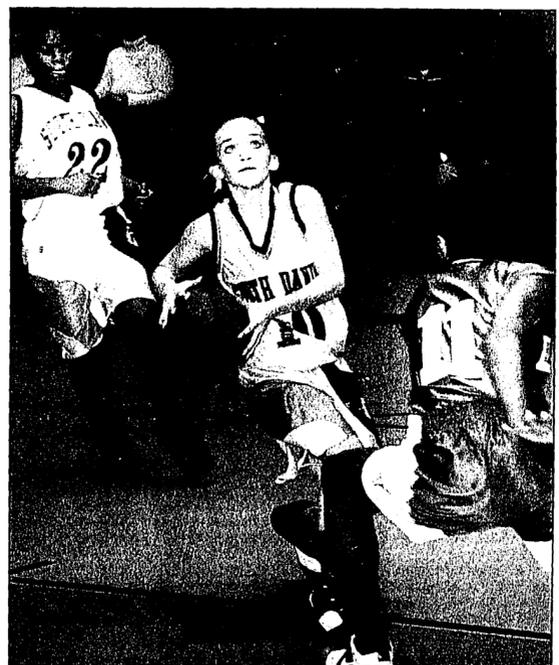

"Smoot, Stevenson and Gadsden have size and good quickness with the size. Smoot and Stevenson stepped up so much for us."

Knox outplayed South in the third, charging within 27-18. But it was a belated charge, thanks to South's amazing first quarter.

"I think we were tired in the second half because we played our hearts out in the first half. Plus, they adjusted to us," Miller said. "They were down one of their (starters), but she wasn't that big of a factor (in the first meeting, scoring six points)." Notes: Handy leads with a 7.6 scoring average, followed by Smoot at 6.2, Stevenson at 5.7 and Gadsden at 4.2. ... Nine points was the closest margin in South's seven-game run.

South Wrestling Rolls To 8th Consecutive Win

South Davie's wrestling team didn't have to break a sweat to drub Knox 60-18 last week. Due to six forfeits from the host Trojans, it was 36-0 before the match even began.

In the seven weight classes where Knox could field a wrestler, it was pretty tight, with South winning four and losing three. The winners were Justin Miller at 171, Lewis Farve at 189, Caleb Koontz at 119 and James Cousins at 135.

The win lifted South, which faced unbeaten North Davie on Jan. 18 for the regular-season championship, to 8-1 and 7-0 in the Mid-South Conference.

Miller and Farve delivered pins for a quick 12-0 lead. While Farve rolled to 9-0 to remain one of three unbeaten, Miller demonstrated his vast improvement since the beginning of his seventh-grade season.

"Miller has come a long way, he really has," Coach Perry Long said. "Early on he didn't know what was going on. He'd never wrestled before, and he just felt like he wanted to try it. He won't quit."

Cousins was sloppy for two periods, but he caught fire in the third, racking up six points in a frantic comeback that resulted in a 10-9 win.

The day represented the starting debut for Koontz, who made the moment count with a pulsating 15-14 win.

"I didn't expect him to win," Long admitted. "I knew he had the desire to wrestle hard, but he hasn't had a whole lot of matches. He ran a lot of great moves, and he didn't let the kid up in the third period or it would have gone to overtime."

Notes: Shytek Brown (125) and Zac Shoemaker (130) took forfeits to improve to 8-0 and 9-0, respectively. ... After closing the MSC race against N. Davie, South ends the regular season with a pair of nonconference matches against Lexington, Jan. 20 at home and Jan. 25 on the road.

Armed And Ready

Wall's Tigers Begin Journey With Loads Of Hype

Coach Brent Wall of South Davie's eighth-grade boys basketball team has a little extra baggage in his coaching duties: Managing high expectations.

The Tigers have lots to live up to after going 12-1 last year, when they won the Mid-South Conference tournament and set a school record for middle-school wins. Twenty-point wins will be expected to be routine for a team that won 11 times in 2004 by 15 or more points.

"They know what they're trying to do after and what's at stake, and that will drive them," Wall said. "They know how to win. Six or seven of them are football players (who went 16-0 in two years)."

The roster includes Drew Absher, Shytek Brown, Jess Cartner, Landon Harris, Brandon Hill, Xavier Howell, Zach Illing, Perry James, James Mayfield, Chris Sponaugle, Michael Wainwright, Brandon Walls and Josh Whitaker.

The Tigers opened on Jan. 8, whipping Forsyth Home Educators by a predictable 63-32. In nonconference games, they play at Erwin on Jan. 20 and at home to Knox on Jan. 27.

They boast a magnificent tandem in Mayfield, who led last year's team with a 15.5 scoring average, and Absher, who averaged 13.6.

Absher, who plays both guard spots, does so many things so well that Wall can't remember coaching or facing a player of his caliber. He put up three 20-point games a year ago.

"He's as good as I've seen at this level," Wall said. "Besides scoring and ball handling, he can rebound, he's got court vision and he can pull (a 3-pointer) on the break. Davie's got them a good one coming for the next four years."

Mayfield is a 6-0, 180-pound train who can play any position except point guard. He scored 18 or more five times.

"And he plays bigger than that," Wall said. "He's stepped his range out. He's hitting 3-pointers in practice."

The third scoring threat last year was power forward/center James, who remains raw as a basketball player but is blessed with superior athletic ability.

"He's come a long way," Wall said. "Last year was really his first year of organized basketball. He's quick as a cat, and he's got a pretty good shot on him, too."

Four players - Brandon Walls, Chris Sponaugle, Landon Harris and Zach Illing - are vying for two starting spots, and there's plenty of other under-the-radar guys who could get significant playing time.

"It depends on what we're going to play," Wall said. "I've got six or seven starters because Illing is waiting in the wings. He came off the bench (vs. FHE) and hit two 3s. He's got a great-looking shot."

Howell, Brown, Wainwright, Cartner and Whitaker give South extraordinary depth.

"Howell can do it all," he said. "You know what Brown can do in football and wrestling. We're real athletic. We're not only deep, we're athletically deep."

One more thing: Hill is a newcomer who has caught the coach's eye.

"My first-year man is 6-1 or 6-2," Wall said. "He's just now learning the game, and he's very athletic."

Last year Tim Devericks' multitiered Tigers posted wins between 15 and 38 points on the way to 8-0. The rocket ride ended in a controversial 54-53 loss to Knox, which went on to claim the regular season. Mayfield missed much of the game with foul trouble, finishing with 21 points on a day when he could have scored 30-some, and Knox stole it at the buzzer on an answered prayer, a banked 3-pointer from way out.

South got mad and won the next two by 24 and 31 points. After slipping past West Rowan by seven in the tournament semifinals, it laid a 22-point beating on North Rowan, setting the record for wins in the process.

A much-anticipated collision with Knox comes at home on Jan. 27 at approximately 6 p.m. As early as it will be in the season, the outcome should go a long way toward determining the regular-season champion.

"They're looking forward to playing Knox (which was upset in last year's semifinals, thus ruining a 2004 rematch)," Wall said. "Mayfield had (21) and sat at least one-third of the game."

South's teams, including Devericks' seventh graders, go to Erwin on Jan. 20. After hosting Knox, South opens MSC play at Corriher-Lipe on Feb. 1.

Despite the loads of hype, Wall won't entertain the notion that South is a lock to finish no worse than second.

"You never know in Rowan County," he said. "A kid might be at one school one year and at another school the next. I don't look at what they did last year. You've got to play one game at a time."

S. Davie 63, Forsyth Home Educators 32 - Absher 17, Mayfield 13, Walls 11, Harris 9, Illing 6, Howell 4, Sponaugle 2, James 1.

Davis, Wildcats Win 4 Straight To Tie Record For Most Wins

When you talked about the North Davie seventh-grade girls basketball team through the first nine games, names like Kaycee Dixon, Jennifer Booth and Costner Merrifield popped up first.

But there's a new major contributor to the streaking Wildcats, and her name is Elizabeth Davis. The power forward entered Jan. 7 as merely the No. 5 scorer, but no one has made as many strides as Davis, who elevated her game to a new level against Forsyth Country Day and rode the wave in two games last week that improved North to 9-3 and 5-2 in the Mid-South Conference. The stretch saw wins of 32-17 over FCD, 28-17 over North Rowan and 22-18 over China Grove.

"Davis is starting to shine on offense and defense," Coach Trish King said. "She's a sleeper. She doesn't look like she's aggressive. She's quiet but she comes out hard on the court."

"She played an exceptional game (vs. FCD). She's starting to take it to the basket now, and she's so quick she can sit back (in the lane) and then steal the pass."

Davis fueled the rout of FCD with 10 points, nine rebounds and four steals, with Merrifield adding eight points and eight boards. Davis continued her as-son's eight points and six rebounds against N. Rowan and five points, 13 rebounds and the clinching basket against China Grove.

"Without her defense (vs. N. Rowan), I don't know what would have happened," King said. "She was a big factor."

King only used six players in a fierce battle with N. Rowan, and Merrifield (eight points), Davis, Dixon (four points, six steals), Booth (four points, 11 rebounds, five steals), Rebecca Bobo (two points) and Clare Moser (two points) gutted out the victory.

The Wildcats went into the fourth quarter with a shaky 18-15 lead, but they finally put the Mavericks away with a 10-2 explosion. Booth scored four of the 10 at crunch time, while Dixon, Bobo and Davis chipped in one basket apiece.

The rebounding of Booth and Merrifield was the difference.

"Booth kind of took over in the fourth. She got most of her (11) rebounds in the fourth," King said. "Booth and Merrifield box out better than anybody. They do it without even thinking about it."

King got tested a little more than she wanted by pesky China Grove. But even though the Red Devils forged a late tie, they never grabbed the lead, thanks in part to a Booth-Davis play that nailed the coffin shut.

With North up 1 and the clock under a minute, Booth hit Davis with a pass, and Davis scored while getting fouled. She completed the 3-point play at the line.

"The play sealed the Wildcats' fourth win in a row. They've won seven of eight, including a revenge win over N. Rowan, and they entered the final week of the regular season in a tie for most wins in North's seventh-grade history. Jamie Leryly's 1997 team finished 9-3.

Notes: Davis is a totally different player than the one who scored three points in a four-game span in the third-through-six games of the season. ... North hosts South Davie on Jan. 19. The MSC Tournament begins Jan. 22. S. Davie is the host of the three-day tournament.

N. Davie 32, Forsyth Country Day 17 - Elizabeth Davis 10, Costner Merrifield 8, Kaycee Dixon 4, Jennifer Booth 4, Rebecca Bobo 4, Clare Moser 2.

N. Davie 28, N. Rowan 17 - Merrifield 8, Davis 8, Dixon 4, Booth 4, Bobo 2, Moser 2.

N. Davie 22, China Grove 18 - Dixon 6, Booth 6, Davis 5, Merrifield 4, Moser 1.

8th Wildcats' Winning Streak Crumbles

North Davie's eighth-grade girls basketball team felt great after ambushing North Rowan by a deceiving 39-25. The Wildcats felt terrible in the next game, a 50-35 loss to China Grove in which they unraveled in the fourth quarter after rallying within one in the third.

The bright side of the coin first. The Wildcats (10-2, 4-3 Mid-South Conference) did whatever they wanted against N. Rowan, producing leads of 10-2, 22-7 and 37-9. A 16-2 finish by the Mavericks made the final margin look respectable.

The Wildcats used "awesome" defense from Sarah Evans and Carly Pratasap to disarm N. Rowan's foremost weapon, a 6-2 center.

"We double-teamed her, and Evans and Pratasap frustrated her," Coach Trish King said.

Pratasap and Hannah Stroupe paced the scoring with 10 points apiece. Stroupe added five steals, and Pratasap handed out three assists and hit a 3-pointer. The Wildcats also got seven points from Kellie Brown, six points, nine steals and three assists from Amber Parrish, and five points and four steals from Samantha Maready, who also hit a trifecta.

The sensational showing marked N. Davie's third straight win, and six wins over seven games. King sang the praises of guards Stroupe and Parrish, who orchestrated the march to 10-2 with consistently beautiful passing.

"They set everybody up. They start the plays, and we can count on them as floor leaders," King said. "They thread the needle to our post players. Some of the great passes they make don't end up as assists."

Stroupe, in particular, seems to improve every few hours.

"She has stepped up her game even more," King said. "She improves game after game after game. She's become a very solid leader."

The Wildcats, who mashed Forsyth Country Day 32-15 in a nonconference game before cruising past N. Rowan, entered China Grove with a bounce in their step. They were only two wins from tying the record for eighth-grade victories at North (King's 1997 squad went 12-3), and they handled the Red Devils easily (43-26) in the first meeting.

The rematch at CG, however, was another story. CG took immediate command and weathered a North run to carry a 32-31 lead into the fourth. The final six minutes were sheer misery for North, which watched CG reel off 18 of 22 points for a 50-35 decision.

Even though North positioned itself for the win in the third, the entire game was as frustrating as slow traffic in the left lane.

"When Parrish doesn't score and Brown only has four points, you know we're not playing well," King said.

The culprit in the fourth-quarter meltdown was foul woes. North lost two starters when Pratasap and Parrish fouled out, and its troubles were compounded by awful free-throw shooting (8 of 22).

King was so agitated by the fall that she picked up a technical foul, her first since the 1995-96 season.

"(Losing Pratasap and Parrish) hurt our chemistry," said the frowning coach. "The game was getting out of control, and I got a technical called on me. We got frustrated. The whole game was frustrating. We weren't hitting from the line and were not playing well."

Pratasap and Stroupe were the scoring leaders with 13 and 12 points, respectively. Evans gave every ounce of her energy while adding six points and nine rebounds.

"Evans wasn't going to give up," she said. "She was all over the floor and grabbing rebounds."

Notes: North hosts South Davie on Jan. 19. The MSC Tournament begins Jan. 22. S. Davie is the host of the three-day tournament.

goes out there and takes no prisoners. He'll be my O'Connor next year."

While the Wildcats are beating teams by an average margin of 68 points, they often find their toughest matches in the practice room instead of the game mat. The action is especially contentious when Flowers and O'Connor get together. A Rowe-O'Connor battle is also a treat to watch.

"Flowers will get mad sometimes when he gets beat by O'Connor," Kirk said. "He takes it hard, but that's what makes him better. Oakley will get mad, too. What makes Rowe better is wrestling O'Connor day in and day out."

Notes: North won five of six preliminary matches. Jake McKay and Alex Woodell had pins against N. Rowan. McKay and Bret Peterson had pins and Woodell won 8-0 vs. CG. North closed the regular season at S. Davie Jan. 18. The MSC tournament is Jan. 22 at China Grove.

Living Legends

Tuskegee Airmen Draw Crowd To King Celebration

By Mike Barnhardt
 Davie County Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Living legends of American history were here Monday, helping area residents celebrate Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

They were members of the Tuskegee Airmen, including one original member, who were responsible for integrating the Armed Forces in the 1940s.

"We have living legends and living history here, not black history, but American history," said the Rev. Savalas Squire Sr., Davie NAACP president.

Wilson Eagleson, an original Tuskegee Airman, fielded questions after a history of the group was given by Leonward "Hawk" Hunter. Chapter president Cleo Mason was also on hand as New Shepherd Baptist Church was filled to beyond capacity.

Hunter was in Washington, D.C. in 1963 when King gave his famous "I Have A Dream" speech. He met King, and said it is important for young people to understand the impact he had on this nation.

But they brought in people like Eagleson, a pilot who became hooked after he saw some barnstormers at a country fair in North Carolina.

Still, the military didn't want the men to fight for their country. They brought in scientists to testify that the blacks couldn't handle the altitude, that their brains were too small.

The airmen did, however, have an ally in Washington, D.C. The president's wife, Eleanor Roosevelt, visited Tuskegee and went on an airplane ride with one of the pilots, leaving her Secret Service agents dumfounded on the ground.

"The rest is history."

"The legend began," Hunter said, "that has not been equalled by any fighter squadron in this country. They set records. The Tuskegee Airmen never lost one fighter to the German Air Force."

The Germans feared, and respected, the Tuskegee Airmen, Hunter said.

When they returned after the war, all of the black pilots were sent to Franklin Field. They weren't allowed in the white officer's club, although they had fought in the same battles in the war.

"They didn't stand for it, and went into the club. The airmen were court-martialed; an action that was later overturned. President Harry S. Truman later integrated the armed forces.

Hunter said that Eagleson holds a special place in the hearts of members of the Tuskegee chapter, which is named in his honor.

here. I fought for it, and if I had to, I would die for it."

When America entered World War II, the colored people or Negroes as they were called, were told they weren't smart enough to fly airplanes.

The government started the Tuskegee Experiment to train a group as fighter pilots, and it was set up to fail.

But they brought in people like Eagleson, a pilot who became hooked after he saw some barnstormers at a country fair in North Carolina.

Still, the military didn't want the men to fight for their country. They brought in scientists to testify that the blacks couldn't handle the altitude, that their brains were too small.

Hunter said that Eagleson holds a special place in the hearts of members of the Tuskegee chapter, which is named in his honor.

New Shepherd pastor, the Rev. Melvin Kester, welcomes the crowd which filled the church to over capacity.

Residents march through the streets of Cooleemee prior to the afternoon program.

Davie residents packed New Shepherd Baptist Church in Cooleemee for the Martin Luther King Jr. Day celebration featuring the Tuskegee Airmen, seated in the front left.

Weber-Brown Couple Married Dec. 18

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robert Longworth

Reese-Longworth Couple Wed At Chinquapin Grove

Veita Amour Parks Reese and Louis Robert Longworth were married at 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 8 at Chinquapin Grove Missionary Baptist Church in Mocksville. The pastor, the Rev. Anthony Woodruff, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey H. Parks of Mocksville. She is a graduate of Davie High School and is employed with ESR as an administrative assistant in Winston-Salem.

The groom, a former resident of Belize, Central America, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Longworth of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He is employed with Bi-Lo in Statesville as a co-manager.

They are both active members of Chinquapin Grove Missionary Baptist Church.

Her son, Terrance "TJ" Jones, escorted the bride. Her matron of honor was Michelle Allen of Mocksville. The maid of honor was the bride's daughter, Ebony N. Jones. The great-niece of the bride, Amarayah A. Seawright of Charlotte, was the flower girl.

The groom's best man was his father, Louis L. Longworth, and the ring bearer was Daniel Woodruff of Winston-Salem. The ushers were Michael Elliott Anthony, the bride's nephew of Greensboro, and Dominique Lemar Woodruff of Winston-Salem.

Music was by Towanna VanEaton of Winston-Salem. Soloist was Paula Lewis of Mocksville and a duet was sung by Towanna VanEaton and Devane Antoin' Woodruff of Winston-Salem.

The wedding director was Phyllis Woodruff of Winston-Salem. Assisting the director were Virginia M. Laughlin and Willie Mae Frazier, both of Winston-Salem.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bride's sister, Barbara Seawright of Mocksville, in the church fellowship hall.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church and the coordinator was Tououp Echison of Mocksville, sister of the bride. Assisting were Patricia Moore of Mocksville, sister of the bride, Robin Longworth of Greensboro, daughter of the groom, and Leslie Daughtry of Raleigh, friend of the bride.

After a honeymoon, the couple will reside in Mocksville.

Whitney Lynn Weber of Clemmons and Justin Talmadge Brown of Advance were married Saturday, Dec. 18 at Centenary United Methodist Church in Winston-Salem. The Rev. Jack Yarbrough officiated at the 5:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of J.D. and Vicki Weber of Clemmons. She graduated from West Forsyth High School and earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where she was a member of Kappa Delta Pi education honor society. She is employed as a fifth grade teacher at Mocksville Elementary School.

The groom is the son of Tal and Jenny Brown of Advance. He graduated from West Forsyth High School and earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from The Citadel. He is employed as a business banker with BB&T.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

Becky Gibbs of Clemmons was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Anna Engelbrecht of Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, the groom's sister; Laura Hess of Raleigh; Kristin Johnson of Lewisville; Bobbie Jo Munson and Jennie Sucher of Chapel Hill; Nicole Whitman of Winston-Salem; and Brooke

Whitney of Charleston, S.C. The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Joe Engelbrecht of Mountain Home Air Force Base, the groom's

Mrs. Justin Talmadge Brown

brother-in-law; Brian Johnson of Minnesota; Scott LaFavers of Durham, Steven LaFavers of Greenville and Gavin Williams of Brevard, the groom's cousins;

• A kitchen shower was hosted by Becky Gibbs, maid of honor.

• A miscellaneous shower was hosted by Leslie Palmer.

Go Red

Lunch & Learn To Focus On No. 1, No. 3 Killers Of Women

Heart disease and stroke are the No. 1 and No. 3 killers of women.

They are two of the many cardiovascular diseases that kill nearly 500,000 women each year. That's more than the next seven causes of death combined, including all forms of cancer. Fortunately, you can do a lot to prevent these killers.

Go Red For Women helps you discover unique lifesaving power by learning about heart disease and stroke and taking positive action to reduce your risk of both.

Healthy Carolinians of Davie County are once again partnering with the Heart Center at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center to host:

Go Red for Women, Lunch & Learn on Tuesday, Feb. 1, 11:45-1, Davie County Public Library.

The cost for lunch is $5 and pre-registration and payment is required. Registration deadline is Friday, Jan. 21. Call Andrea Collins at 751-8700.

Come and enjoy a heart healthy lunch and lots of information. Speakers will be Dr. Jennifer Thill from Davie County Hospital and Stephanie Starling-Edwards from the Heart Center at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center.

Don't forget to wear red; a prize will be given for the snappiest red dresser.

The wedding is planned for March 19 at Macedonia Moravian Church.

The wedding is planned for April 16 at Liberty United Methodist Church in Mocksville.

Southern Identities To Be Topic

The 13th annual Let's Talk About It book discussion series begins Tuesday, Feb. 8 at the Davie County Public Library. The theme for this year's program is "Journeys Across Time and Place: Mapping Southern Identities." The idea that the South has an identity has existed since before the Civil War. "A sense of place" in Southern writing has become a cliché. But in fact, the South is many places and people with identities, individual and collective. The series explores the ways in which individuals in their specific places shape Southern identity and are in turn shaped by culturally constructed identities. The books in this series give a sense of the range and complexity of Southern identities from before the Civil War to deep in the 20th century. Titles are: "Shiloh and Other Stories" by Bobbie Ann Mason, "The Known World" by Edward P. Jones, "Nowhere Else on Earth" by Josephine Humphreys, "Wolf Whistle" by Lewis Nordan and "Song of Solomon" by Toni Morrison. Programs are free, open to the public, and begin at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays, Feb. 8, Feb. 22, March 8, March 22, April 5. Attend one or all five programs. Books are available at the library. Presentations by visiting scholars are followed by group discussions of the books. Teacher renewal credit is available for attendance at four of the five programs. All programs meet in the multi-purpose room of the Davie County Public Library at 371 N. Main St. in Mocksville, 751-2023. The Let's Talk About It program is funded with a grant from the NC Humanities Council and in collaboration with the NC Center for the Book, a program of the State Library of NC.

Spotlight on Business

RV Superstore In Mocksville Is America's RV Headquarters

A home on the road? More and more people are pondering that question today and increasingly the answer they arrive at consists of just two simple letters — "RV."

Recreational vehicles have grown in popularity over the last decade and have become a second home to many folks who love to travel.

But for those who are looking to explore the excitement of being an RV owner, deciding where to shop can be a daunting task.

Enter The RV Superstore of Mocksville, an experienced dealership that knows more than a little about recreational vehicles. They can answer virtually any RV question and are always eager to help anyone with their search for the perfect "second home."

"We carry all different sizes, models and prize ranges to fit every budget," says Jeff Plemmons, owner of RV Superstore of Mocksville. "We love to educate people on everything that is available."

Jeff and his staff have a combined total of over 100 years of RV sales experience and knowledge. But their most valuable asset is their commitment to customer service. They take great pride in helping each customer find just the right RV to fit his or her needs.

"We have all worked in the industry for years and can provide lots of good, sound advice to people that might be looking for their first RV," says Jeff enthusiastically. "We can also offer assistance for anyone looking to upgrade to a bigger one."

Depending on what you're looking for, RV Superstore in Mocksville has just about every make and model available.

Wide variety of RV models to choose from "Our inventory is abundant and our RVs are available in a wide price range," Jeff continues. "We carry the Starcraft folding trailer which starts around $4,500 to the 40-foot Diesel Thor Mandalay Coach which runs about $250,000."

They also carry gas coaches such as the Hurricane, Windsport and Infinity motor homes which range in size from 30 feet to 38 feet. The price range on these models is anywhere from $65,000.00 to $130,000.00.

A host of amenities available The larger RVs are equipped with various luxuries and amenities such as hardwood cherry, heat pump and solar panel, entertainment centers, ultra leather recliner and central vacuums just to name a few.

"We have all ages coming in buying RV's," Jeff says. "It doesn't take a special license and there doesn't seem to be one model more popular than another. It just depends on the travel needs of each customer."

Jeff explains that RV Superstore of Mocksville also has a fully-stocked RV parts and accessories store along with LP gas and a dumping station. They are also a full-service dealership.

"We believe in taking care of our customers from start to finish," Jeff says. "We don't stop with the sale. We continue to provide each customer with fair and reliable service."

Brand new showroom under construction RV Superstore is planning the construction on a brand new showroom and offices on a 10-acre tract conveniently located off Interstate 40 at the Mocksville-US 601 exit 170. Store located at 440 Blaise Church Road in Mocksville.

Jeff would personally like to invite you to come out and take a look at some incredible RV's. They are located at 440 Blaise Church Road off of I-40 exit 170 in Mocksville. Store hours are 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Website: www.rvsuperstore.net Give them a call toll free at 866-369-7435 or locally at 336-753-0014. Visit their website at www.rvsuperstore.net to browse the complete line-up of the highest quality RV's the dealership has to offer.

Craft Guild To Hold Jury

The Winston-Salem Craft Guild will hold a jury for new members on Feb. 15 at 7 p.m. at South Fork Recreation Center in Winston-Salem. The guild is open to residents of the North Carolina Piedmont, including Davie County. Each year, the guild holds four shows for its juried members, as well as networking and additional show locations. Guild members may only sell items at the guild shows for which they are juried and which they created.

The cost to enter the jury process is $5. Deadlines for entries is Jan. 31. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Winston-Salem Craft Guild, P.O. Box 30122, Winston-Salem, 27130-0122, or contact via email sunfire72@carolina.rr.com for an entry form. At least six of the guild members participated in the Davie County Arts Council event last fall.

Be sure to check on your neighbors who live alone, especially the elderly. If you need a warm place to stay, call a neighbor or friend.

The Clarksbury Boy Scouts have planned a one-day ski trip to Winter Place Sunday, Jan. 23. Special speaker for the worship service at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday will be Ronnie Williams, lay speaker from New Hope Baptist Church.

Piney Grove AME Zion Church will have a special "Fifty State Rally" service at 6 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 23. The service will be a fundraiser to liquidate the church mortgage and will include prayer, praise and music. All churches in the Statesville AME

Zion Church District will participate. Following the service there will be a period of fellowship and refreshments in the fellowship hall. Pastor Lester Fisher invites everyone in the community.

Society Baptist Church will have a Baptist Men's organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 20 in the fellowship hall. The meeting will begin with dinner followed by the worship service at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday. All men of the church and others interested in a men's ministry are invited.

This weekend Casey Jones and Jack Koontz of Salem will be returning home from their church building trip to Jamaica. We continue to pray for a successful building mission and for a safe return trip home.

Our community sends get-well wishes to Bondelia S. Wooten of Pleasant View and George Redmond of Piney Grove. Bondelia has been hospitalized at Davie Regional Medical Center for pneumonia. George has been hospitalized at Wake Forest Medical Center for surgery. Mae Walker is doing well after successful surgery but remains hospitalized at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center. Hugh Frost remains hospitalized at Forsyth Regional Center. We are thankful that Bueford Lambert, Brown Porter, Sadie Smith and Pat Swisher have improved and are recuperating at their homes. Join us as we pray for the Lord's divine healing and blessings in the lives of these residents.

If you have news or memories, call Shirley 492-5115.

Family members honor Wilburn Spillman (standing, right) Jan. 8 at the Farmington Masonic Lodge.

Farmington News

By Laura Mathis
Farmington Correspondent

We would like to wish Christine Lyster a "Happy Birthday". Her birthday was Jan. 18 and she is the wife of Pastor Scott Lyster at Farmington Baptist Church.

Farmington United Methodist Church will have a Poor Man's Supper on Saturday, Jan. 22 from 4-8 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Pintos, potatoes, slaw, cornbread, and pound cake will be served. Donations will be accepted for the Tsunami relief effort. The community is invited. They are in the process of assembling "Health Kits" that will be sent to Southeast Asia. If you would like to help, contact the church.

Wilburn Spillman was honored by his family during the Saint John's Day Banquet at the Farmington Masonic Lodge on Saturday, Jan. 8. A print, titled "Within Due Bounds", was presented to the Lodge in honor of Mr. Spillman by his son-in-law, Jim Hutchins. He recognized Mr. Spillman as a role model not only to him, but to many other Masons over the years. Mr. Spillman has been a member of the Lodge since 1951.

The Farmington Ruritan Club met Jan. 13 for their first meeting of the year. The following new officers were sworn in: president, Larry Holbrook; vice president, Jackie Lane; secretary, Tim Ballard; treasurer, Chip Essic; 1 year director, Thomas Johnson; 2 year director, Gary Steele; 3 year director, John Smoot.

The Farmington Community Center is in need of folding chairs and tables, a refrigerator in good condition, and sports equipment such as: a portable basketball goal, tennis rackets, basketballs, volleyballs, and baseball equipment. This equipment will be stored and used by families or groups renting the facilities. The Community Center should get a new roof on the rear building this week. Thank You to all who helped raise the funds. If you have information about items for the center or other info to share, call me at 998-0825 or email: herbalaccents2003@yahoo.com.

Healthy Carolinians Of Davie Gets $45,000 Reynolds Grant

Healthy Carolinians of Davie County received a $45,000 grant award by the Kate B. Reynolds Charitable Trust of Winston-Salem to continue efforts of the Healthy Carolinians Task Force in addressing health issues and concerns of Davie County.

The mission statement of Healthy Carolinians of Davie County is "to provide the health department and the entire local community with a consensus plan to guide and assist in collectively planning and instituting long-range preventive health care strategies to improve and meet the future community health needs of Davie County citizens."

Healthy Carolinians of Davie County has been in existence for over a decade. The Task Force is appointed by the county commissioners and is made up of community leaders, citizens, as well as representatives from the health department, hospital, businesses, and the faith community.

The Kate B. Reynolds Charitable Trust was created in 1974 by the will of Mrs. William N. Reynolds of Winston-Salem. Three-fourths of the Trust's grants are designated for use for health-related programs and services across North Carolina, and one-fourth for the poor and needy of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County.

Jimmy Myers Back After Nearly Two Years Active Duty

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

The 22nd District of North Carolina's court system welcomed back Judge Jimmy Myers from active duty with the US Navy recently.

Myers, a lifetime Davie County resident, was called to active duty in February of 2003 and took on the role of battalion chaplain of mobilization support at Marine Corp base Camp LaJeune.

Myers, a commander 05 (Lieutenant), said he was excited about returning to the bench he vacated nearly two years ago, but if called, wouldn't hesitate to return to serve the military as it saw fit.

"As a Navy chaplain, I worked under the command of Camp LaJeune," Myers said. "It was an honor and a privilege to work there. The US Marine Corps knows how to use chaplains in a very appropriate manner."

One of Myers' responsibilities was with Battalion 8, which processed reserve soldiers getting ready to go overseas.

"I would minister to them, and I assisted in the administration and medical aspect," Myers said. "It was our job to make sure the soldiers were physically qualified to go."

Conversely, Myers also worked with returning soldiers.

Myers arrived at Camp LaJeune shortly after the beginning of hostilities in Iraq. His arrival also coincided with the return of soldiers from Afghanistan who may have suffered from post traumatic stress syndrome. Several of these soldiers were involved in domestic violence cases, many of which resulted in a fatality.

Myers said the military was quick to act to these violent outbreaks by its soldiers, and created a group of professionals to establish a system of assistance to soldiers who had just experienced the horrors of war. They called the program "Warrior Transition."

Myers said he became involved with many of these returning soldiers by ministering to them and offering counseling to the soldiers, and was often present during group therapy sessions as the soldiers discussed haunting memories of the war.

"The stories they told were horrible," Myers said. "One that stands out is from a soldier that came upon a school. There must have been some kind of celebration going on, because all the children were dressed in little bunny costumes. All of the children were dead."

Myers said most of the traumatic experiences he heard about revolved around the death and injury to innocent children. "I've heard stories of insurgents holding children to their chests as they fired on our soldiers," Myers said. "They were using the children as human shields."

Myers said his job as chaplain also meant having to make the calls to families of fallen soldiers. In fact, Myers made the first casualty call in the war against Iraq.

"It was the hardest thing I ever had to do," Myers said. "He was a 23 year old soldier, married with a child on the way, killed in a motor vehicle accident while under fire."

Myers added that moments like that made the war very personal to him, and that he was proud that the Marines continued to support the family of that soldier with services offered to active military families.

"I have a great deal of respect for the way the marines maintain their commitment to the families of fallen soldiers," Myers said. "I've stayed in touch with that soldier's wife for almost two years, and she's been helped every step of the way by (the USMC)."

Myers said he was surprised to learn just how many of the reserve soldiers that have been called to active duty have public service jobs in their civilian lives.

"It's just amazing how many of the fine men I met in Battalion 8 medical are police officers, firemen, EMS guys," Myers said. "I have such a great amount of respect for these guys and the sacrifices they make to our country."

Myers said much of his experience will probably carry over to his approach to cases he hears on the bench.

"These last two years have really shown me how important it is to protect our laws, and to protect our children," Myers said. "It's the most important thing a judge can do."

Psalm 23

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Davie Schools

William R. Davie Elementary has new kitchen facilities that allow for easy moveability and storage (left), and the new classroom building (right) will more than double the amount of current space.

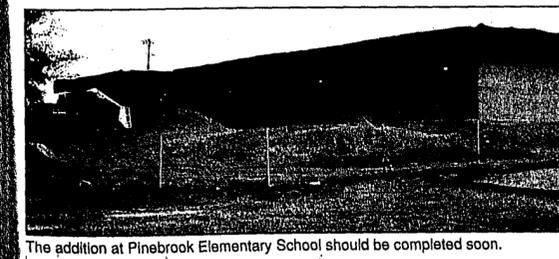

This new structure is the gymnasium for Mocksville Elementary School.

The dining space at Mocksville Elementary has more than doubled.

Construction Projects Mostly On Schedule

Fourteen months after residents of Davie County overwhelmingly passed an $8.825 million school construction bond, many projects are beginning to move into the final phases.

The bond enabled Davie County Schools to renovate and add to four elementary schools, improve the heating and air conditioning system at both middle schools, and renovate the science facilities and restrooms at Davie High. The bond also enabled the stadium at Davie High to receive renovations.

"The citizens of Davie County should be proud of the work this bond has accomplished. Although we are still in need of additional facility space, this bond is moving us in right direction - a direction that will put our students in permanent facilities," said W.G. Potts, superintendent.

Work on the numerous bond projects began during the spring of 2004 when funds became accessible to the school system. As expected, a substantial portion of the work was done during the summer months.

"The Shady Grove and Pinebrook projects began the day before the teachers left in May of 2004. Jarrell Contractors worked closely with school personnel to finish interior work before students returned in August. Hendrix and Corriher worked on the kitchen/dining area renovations and students and staff have been extremely pleased with the new look," said Dr. Van Johnson, assistant superintendent and director of operations.

"Wishon and Carter Construction converted the old gym at Mocksville Elementary to both dining and office area during the summer months. The work at Cooleemee over the summer consisted largely of prep work and adding additional parking," added Johnson.

Residents had the opportunity to enjoy a newly renovated stadium at Davie High School.

"The stadium is a true reflection of Davie County as it is used quite a bit to host large events attended by residents and others outside the county. We have had a tremendous amount of positive comments about the renovations and the improvements. Although classrooms are our most important facilities, athletic venues are often most visible to those in the community. We are very proud of the renovations to our stadium and are looking forward to more system-wide improvements in the future," said Doug Iling, teacher and head football coach at Davie High.

Projects at Shady Grove and Pinebrook are expected to be complete within the next month and students can expect to move into new classroom space that includes areas for art, music and resource.

The most substantial projects funded by the bond have been moving at a steady pace at Cooleemee and Mocksville elementary schools. Cooleemee is expected to open nine new classrooms, a new art/music room, four resource rooms, and two exceptional children's classrooms when the project is completed. Mocksville Elementary's projects include an expanded dining facility, which is complete, a new gymnasium, three resource rooms, and additional space for offices and workroom areas.

The Davie High project wrapped up at the end of November with additional restroom facilities in the cafeteria area, and renovated restrooms throughout the school. Science facilities were renovated throughout.

"We now have flat-top desks for workable lab space for students, and the new lab stations give us the work area we need to conduct lab group activities and experiments. Although it would always be nice to have more space, students now have work areas that facilitate collaborative, hands-on investigations and instructors have more storage space for materials," said Elizabeth Bustle, science teacher at Davie High.

The new classroom portion of the project at William R. Davie is expected to be complete and ready for student occupancy in the next few months. As voters may recall, the Davie County Board of Education moved forward with funding the William R. Davie project when a $20.5 million bond was defeated in March of 2003. Over $3 million in reserve funds were put to use beginning in the summer of 2003 as over 26,000 square feet of new classroom, kitchen/dining, and resource/office space were begun.

The new building addition is near completion and students are anticipated to begin occupying this portion of the school in March.

This week in developmental readiness our class has been working hard to get back into the routine of things after an exciting Christmas break. The children are doing wonderfully and are very excited to begin new projects, learn new letters and practice our colors, numbers, days of the week, months of the year, patters, sequencing and so much more. We have been working on the letter D and learning about dinosaurs this week. We would like to welcome Ms. Kay to our classroom. We are all looking forward to spending the rest of the year with her.

This week in the early learning class we got in the mood for winter. We discovered things that are cold. We also enjoyed reading the book "The Mitten." We had fun painting and experimenting with dollies and glitter, as we made special snowflakes.

Ms. Cheryl was happy to welcome back all the students of the Pre-Kindergarten class after the nice long holiday. The children were still excited about all the holiday festivities and the teachers enjoyed expanded Circle Times in order for each child to join in with their holiday stories.

Our classroom is beginning to look like winter, even if the outside temperatures are still a little warm. A snowy scene covers our bulletin board and the children are adding to it with wonderful fingerpainted, snow covered trees. Then we added a winter village. Each child created from brightly colored paper their home complete with doors, windows and a chimney.

Two new Letter People were introduced to the class: Ms. F and Mr. O. The children were quite "tickled" to make "Funny Feet" paintings and enjoyed playing "Giant Steps, Baby Steps" during gym time. We celebrated Mr. O by making and decorating our classroom with chains of O's and by introducing the concept of opposites.

Where is winter? Where is the snow? These are questions that the kindergartners in Mrs. Kaye Vandiver and Miss Jodi Walker's class are asking. Although the weather is unseasonably warm, our class is busy learning about winter weather and how it affects both animals and people. The children have experimented with ice and melting processes and after reading "The Snowy Day" by Ezra Jack Keats, we even made it snow in our classroom. Soon we will begin to study hibernating animals with the help of our media specialist, Mrs. Choate.

Mrs. Beaver and Mrs. Mellon's first graders have begun a winter unit of study. They have been reading and writing about penguins and wishing for cold weather and a little snow. We all agree that penguins are an amazing and delightful bird. Tacky the Penguin is our favorite story character right now. He has entertained us and made us laugh. The children have enjoyed retelling his stories and comparing his stories to other books we have read. Tacky is definitely "an odd bird, but a very nice bird to have around." Our class has been learning about Martin Luther King Jr. during January. The children practiced their writing skills by sharing what their dream is to help make the world a better place. Dr. King would be very proud of our first graders.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Pruitt's class has been reading Balto, the Alaskan dog that saved the town of Nome in 1925. Balto and his sled dog team were able to travel 800 miles in blizzard conditions with temperatures -30 degrees to get diphtheria medicine to very sick children. The children wrote and illustrated wonderful stories about Balto's bravery. Our entire class of 21 children met a free pizza certificate from Pizzza Hut.

Linda Drye, Angela Spillman and Lor Collins, kindergarten teachers at William R. Davie Elementary School, show their support for the Mebane Challenge at a luncheon.

It Started Here School Helped Class Of '60 In Successful Careers

They are retired from Fiber Industries, Ingersoll-Rand and the Winston-Salem Housing Authority.

They once worked for GMAC, New York City, 3M and the Davie and Rowan school systems.

One is an author, and still works as director of the Intoxicated Drivers Resource Center in New Jersey.

All give part of the credit for their successful careers to the education they received at the Davie County Training Center, the school for black children when they graduated from high school in 1960.

The group was instrumental in getting a flag pole renovated at the school on Campbell Road in Mocksville, now known as the Central Davie Education Center. That flag pole had been erected the year most of the classmates were born - 1942. It was a popular meeting place.

Last week, some of the female members of the class got together at Prime Sirloin in Mocksville.

Jacqueline Watkins Cook said the idea came about as members attended the funerals of deceased classmates.

said. "We should be coming together while we can laugh and talk and have fun."

As the women talked about their careers, Faye Cain Carter said their successes were due, in part, to the education they received at their alma mater.

"Had it not been for Davie County Training School, we couldn't have accomplished what we did," Carter said. "We will always cherish our memories of this school."

They're In William R. Davie Faculty, Staff Show Their Support For Mebane Challenge

Faculty and staff at William R. Davie Elementary School are doing their part to support the Mebane Challenge.

On Thursday, Jan. 13, employees at the school brought in various menu items and employees contributed $5 each for the covered dish style luncheon. The money collected is being designated as a pledge to the challenge on behalf of the school.

Tracey Phillips, technology assistant, and Wanda Dalton, a teacher assistant, were the main organizers.

"We've had these types of luncheons for other important causes in the community. The staff always enjoys the food and fellowship, and the donations always go to a good cause. We want to do our part to reach the Challenge goal by March, and this is one way we thought we could help," said Phillips.

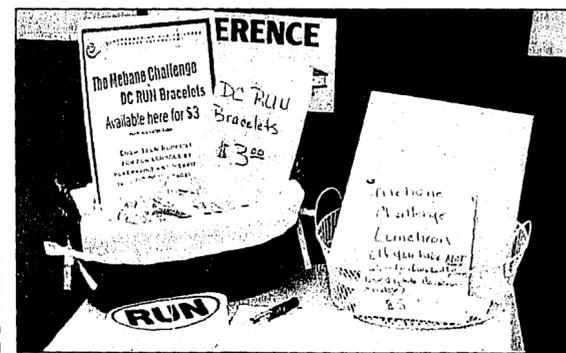

"We couldn't have done this without the help of several other staff members who helped organize the luncheon—we truly appreciate their willingness to help," added Dalton.

The luncheon raised nearly $400, but William R. Davie isn't finished.

"After the luncheon, the suggestion was made to gather up all the recipes in a recipe book and sell them for $1 each. We are in the process of doing just that and we'll donate those profits to the challenge as well," said Phillips.

"The staff at WRD cares very deeply about our children, and when they can do something to help them, like supporting the Mebane Challenge, they come through with flying colors," said Danny Carter, principal.

RUN stickers, orange bracelets and the Have A Heart campaigns are getting into full swing.

Tracey Phillips and Wanda Dalton were the main organizers for the WRD Mebane luncheon.

DAVIE COUNTY ENTERPRISE RECORD

NORTH CAROLINA DAVIE COUNTY NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE
04-SP-252
Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust executed by Herman Williams and wife, Bonnie Williams, to Tamara A. Fleming, Trustee, dated the 29th day of November, 2000, recorded in Book 363, Page 195, of the Davie County Registry, North Carolina; default having been made in the payment of the note secured by the said Deed of Trust, and the holder of the note evidencing said indebtedness having directed that the Deed of Trust be foreclosed, the undersigned Substituted Trustee will offer for sale at the door of the Davie County Courthouse, in the City of Mocksville, Davie County, North Carolina at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, the 25th day of January, 2005, and will sell the highest bidder for cash the following real estate more particularly described as follows:
Being known and designated as Lot No. 6, of "Jesse Acres" as set forth in Plat Book 7, page 40 (folio 250), Davie County Registry, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

Being known and designated as Lot No. 6, of "Jesse Acres" as set forth in Plat Book 7, page 40 (folio 250), Davie County Registry, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

Subject to Fictitious Covenants in Deed Book 204, page 428, and as Amended in Deed Book 209, page 683, Davie County Registry, and any other easements/restrictions of record. For back title, see Deed Book 204, page 434; Deed Book 204, page 391; Deed Book 44, page 54; and Deed Book 38, page 57, Davie County Registry. See also Tax Map N-6, Parcel 47.06, located in Jerusalem Township, Davie County, North Carolina.

The purchaser of the property described above shall pay the Clerk's Commissions in the amount of $45 per $100.00 of the purchase price (up to a maximum amount of $300.00), required by NCGS §7A-308(a)(1).

This sale will be made subject to all prior liens of record, if any, and to all unpaid ad valorem taxes and special assessments, if any, which became a lien subsequent to the recording of the Deed of Trust. This sale will be further subject to the right, if any, of the United States of America to redeem the above-described property for a period of 120 days following the date when the final bid period has run.

A deposit of 5% of the amount bid or seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00), whichever is greater, is required and must be tendered in the form of certified funds at the time of sale. This sale will be held open ten days for bids as required by law. Following the expiration of the statutory upset period, all remaining amounts are immediately due and owing.

Alcohol-Related Cases Fill Court Docket

By Mike Gunning
 Davie County Enterprise Record

A new study released by the president of Mothers Against Drunk Driving states that on a national level, drunk driving arrests are up after showing a decrease or steady rate for 14 consecutive years.

A recent review of the District Court docket reveals that Davie County is right in line with the study.

Of the 153 people facing charges in Davie County district court last week, 52 were charged with an offense that centered around alcohol, including 46 that involved drinking and driving. That translates to almost 30% of the case load before Judge Dale Graham as alcohol related, and a substantial rise in alcohol related crimes to appear on the docket.

Assistant District Attorney Kevin Beale said he was surprised by the amount of alcohol-related cases on the docket, but he wasn't deterred. Beale, along with assistant district attorney Wendy Terry, successfully prosecuted each of the DWI cases.

they faced.

"By the time those cases get to me, they're already pled out. I can't take credit for all of that," Beale said. "It's the good work of the police and others that make the convictions."

According to the MADD report, Davie County is feeling the effects of a trend that has police officers across the country on edge.

During a 14 year period, ending in 2003, the number of drunk driving fatalities was on the decrease. In 2004, there had been an increase of 7% of alcohol related fatal accidents. Also for the first time in that time span, the number of people between the ages of 15 and 20 killed in alcohol related accidents went up as well.

Wendy J. Hamilton, the national president for MADD, has been pushing for even tougher legislation against those convicted of DUI offenses.

"It is the position of MADD that the act of getting into a vehicle and driving it while under the influence is an intentional act," Williams said.

"Someone getting into a vehicle while impaired knows that to do so highly increases the likelihood of seriously injuring themselves or some innocent person on the road. To continue to do so and then injure someone - in MADD's opinion, as well as the opinions of several state courts, this conduct is enough to raise the culpability level to that of a violent crime."

MADD, which celebrates its 25th anniversary this year, recently released a law enforcement leadership

Fugitive Caught At Traffic Stop

A Mocksville man who had eluded arrest on a felony count of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill has been taken into custody, thanks to a broken headlight and an astute sheriff deputy.

Deputy Shawn Ruff spotted Curtis Larry York, of 1891 N.C. 601 South, driving on Greenhill Road on Jan. 20. Ruff, who was out on routine patrol, noticed York's 1996 Toyota Camry had a broken headlight, and pulled the vehicle over. Ruff found York to be intoxicated, and placed him under arrest.

A routine check of York's ID showed the man was wanted in Iredell county for assault, and wanted in Davie on charges of domestic criminal trespassing and injury to real property.

York is being held at the Davie County Detention Center under a $25,000 bond.

Sheriff Allen Whitaker said the arrest is the result of good law enforcement.

"He's a fine officer," Whitaker said of Ruff. "He's very mellow and soft spoken, but he's very thorough. He does good work for the people of Davie."

22 Evacuated After Ceiling Collapses In Nursing Home

Water in a dry sprinkler system line may have frozen, causing the system to malfunction and the line to burst, resulting in the emergency evacuation of 24 residents at the Meadowbrook Terrace convalescent center in Advance.

According to reports, a pressurized line which contained water burst sometime after midnight Tuesday, causing a false fire alarm.

Ann Canter, an employee of the center, found the alarm detection system to indicate a problem in the laundry room. She responded to that section of the building, and found nothing out of sorts. Then she heard aides yelling that a section of the ceiling had collapsed in another wing of the building.

Canter responded, and found the ceiling in one of the resident's rooms had crashed down on her as she slept, covering her with saturated insulation and ceiling material. The resident received minor injuries.

"It all happened just like that," Canter said, snapping her fingers.

Firefighters from Advance, Smith Grove, Farmington, and Conatzer-Dulin responded, as did EMS and Davie Rescue Squad.

Davie County Fire Marshal George Frye Jr. also responded.

Frye said the sprinkler system, which is inspected every year, is a dry sprinkler system operated by pressure, and would normally not contain water. However, periodic system checks may use water to evaluate pressure, and residual water may have frozen in the lines before being blown out, causing the pipe to burst.

Center said a different section of the system was worked on the day before, but Frye said he was unsure if that could be related to the broken line.

"There was a lot of standing water in the hallway and a damaged ceiling, but no running water was coming from the line," Frye said. "And thankfully, the patients were never in any danger."

Dwayne Smith of Davie EMS agreed.

"The patients were initially evacuated to another wing of the building, as well as the hallway," Smith said. "Eventually, we transported 22 of them to Meadow-brook's facility in Clemmons."

Smith said one patient was transferred to the hospital, but said that was not due to the collapse. Another resident was moved to a room on the west side of the facility.

Smith said he was pleased to see how all the agencies responded to the incident, including Yveddi transportation, who assisted in the transfer of patients to the Clemmons facility.

"Everybody came together exceptionally well," Smith said. "It proves the Unified Incident Command works."

Brrrr ... It's Cold, But Davie Dodges Wintry Mess

Winter finally hit the Triad with a bang last week, and Davie County dodged a wintry bullet that brought enough snow to blanket much of the East Coast, leaving the area in a cold front after record warm temperatures. Several areas in North Carolina, including the northwestern mountains and Raleigh to the east, weren't so lucky, and found themselves buried under several inches of snow. Mocksville's roads remain clear, which is good news to taxpayers. According to Town Manager Christine Sanders, clearing the roads of Mocksville falls under the responsibility of the public works department. Sanders said recent equipment acquisitions have helped place Mocksville in a high state of readiness. "We were ready last week," Sanders said. "All the equipment was tested and ready to go." Although Mocksville does not have a line item budget for snow removal, Sanders said the town is financially prepared. The town takes a historical approach to determining how much money to put in the budget. "There is money in the street department and in public works that goes to responding to a snow storm," Sanders said. "We look at what it cost us in the past, and try to judge the amount we will continue to need." If the winter produces enough storms that exhaust the budget, the town can transfer funds from other budgets to cover the cost. But that doesn't come free. Typically, money that is transferred from another department leaves that budget short, and would eventually have to be replaced, possibly by a tax increase. Sanders added that, thanks to a purchasing agreement with the state, the town has plenty of salt and sand mix to handle a snow storm like the one that hit Raleigh last week. According to County Manager Terry Bralley, all other roads in the county are maintained by the state and have been for many years. "Apparently, we did such a poor job of it in the 20s and 30s, that the state took it away from us," Bralley said. "Now it is illegal for counties to plow state managed roads."

Bralley said that although the county is not involved in clearing the streets, it is involved in providing emergency shelter should a storm or other emergency warrant such a response. Bralley said the county EMS department, headed by Dwayne Smith, has several designated locations that will provide emergency shelter if the need arises. In an emergency, EMS can be reached by calling 911 or 751-0808.

Alcohol-Related Cases Fill District Court Docket summit report which includes several recommendations for increasing the use of general deterrence strategies to stop drunk driving-such as sobriety checkpoints. The report states that the Center for Disease Control (CDC), acting independently of MADD, did a study which showed a drastic reduction in alcohol related accidents in areas where sobriety checkpoints were set up. In that instance, North Carolina Highway Patrol troopers working in conjunction with local law enforcement resulted in almost fifty stops netting in infractions, with over half alcohol related.

"That was a very successful event," Terry said. "It goes to the higher efficiency of the local police departments in coordinating those efforts to capture drunk drivers."

"It is an issue of scheduling the man power, and when we have a certain area we want to watch," Whitaker said.

from a checkpoint that was set up in Davie County last October. In that instance, North Carolina Highway Patrol troopers working in conjunction with local law enforcement resulted in almost fifty stops netting in infractions, with over half alcohol related.

"That was a very successful event," Terry said. "It goes to the higher efficiency of the local police departments in coordinating those efforts to capture drunk drivers."

Terry, who as an officer of the court witnessed that roadblock, said she would like to see local law enforcement repeat the sobriety checkpoint.

She may get her wish. According to sheriff Allen Whitaker, the sheriff's department is open to increasing the number of road stops in the county.

"We average about two stops of that magnitude a year," Whitaker said. "We'd like to do it more often, but the equipment used is limited, and gets spread out over the state."

Whitaker added that although interdepartmental checkpoints don't happen as often as he would like, the sheriff's department actively sets up checkpoints throughout the county.

Setting up the stops falls right in line with the philosophy of Hamilton's organization.

"A key goal of the Summit was to engage law enforcement in a dialogue about the importance of preventing drunk driving in order to save lives and prevent injuries," said Hamilton. "We also wanted to share the scientific evidence showing that frequent and highly visible enforcement activities have the greatest impact on deterring drunk driving."

And with the help of the National Guard, they may.

A no-kill animal shelter. The shelter can be run that way because it will be run by the Humane Society, not by the county. To be clear, a no-kill facility is one in which adoptable animals are held, either at the shelter or in foster homes, until they are adopted.

The shelter hopes to only accept animals that can be adopted, but there are tests that have to be run on each animal that is brought to them. There is also a seven day waiting period before an animal can be adopted. During that time, the animal will be kept in an isolation room to make sure it doesn't have kennel cough, parvo or any other severely contagious disease. It is possible that someone could unknowingly bring in an animal that is sick but shows no immediate outward signs of it. The waiting period is designed to protect the other animals in the shelter, but also protect adopters from broken hearts down the line when they find their pet can't be saved.

"We hope the separate isolation rooms, one for cats and one for dogs, will keep diseases from spreading through the shelter." The isolation rooms are on a separate ventilation system as well to help keep disease from spreading to those animals that have already been quarantined and are adoptable.

The Humane Society started raising funds for the shelter in 1999. Since then, the Woodson Foundation has donated $85,000 to their cause. The county has pledged $50,000 both this year and next. North Davie Middle School has raised $21,383 over four years. And the Town of Mocksville has pledged $30,000 over the next two years. With the help of Rep. Julia Howard, the Humane Society received $10,000 from the state. In addition to the cash donations, there will also be donations of time

Humane Society Provides Safe Haven For Davie Animals

Lost and abandoned animals in Davie County are about to see their situation improve immensely. Right now there is only one shelter in the county. It works closely with the Humane Society of Davie County. But there may be a day when the Humane Society is able to find homes for all the adoptable animals brought to the county shelter.

When complete the 5,400 square-foot building will have 45 kennels for dogs and 63 cages for cats. The floor plan is set up so that a dog could come in and never see a cat, and vice versa. There's a grooming area for the dogs and 63 cages for cats. The floor plan is set up so that a dog could come in and never see a cat, and vice versa. To be clear, a no-kill facility is one in which adoptable animals are held, either at the shelter or in foster homes, until they are adopted.

The Humane Society has been working towards a shelter since they were founded in 1990, and are very excited that their dream is so close to fruition. "We can't thank the National Guard enough for all their help as we've worked through the request process. But we'd like to be able to provide at least one warm meal a weekend to the units that are here, working from sunrise to sundown each day."

Setting up the stops falls right in line with the philosophy of Hamilton's organization. "We also wanted to share the scientific evidence showing that frequent and highly visible enforcement activities have the greatest impact on deterring drunk driving."

Which is why Brock plans to ask local restaurants to donate one meal for the men and women who are going to work so hard to raise the shelter. Davie County has enough restaurants that she feels if each could donate one or two meals throughout the building process, the effect would be great. "These people come here and work all day and will likely be eating military rations while they're here. I'd just like to see the community provide one warm, tasty meal each weekend as a way to show our appreciation."

Check out the new Davie County Public Library website!

Davie County Public Library is pleased to announce its new website at www.daviecountylibrary.com. The site provides patrons with links to the Davie County library catalog and a number of valuable electronic databases. The online library catalog allows patrons to search for books, CDs, videos, or DVDs in the library collection by author, title or subject. Patrons also may renew books and request holds in the My Account section. A user ID and password are required to access My Account. Ask a library staff member for help in setting up your access. The library website provides access to:

- NC Live collection of databases including magazine and newspaper articles, health and medical information and Novelist, a reader's advisory service.
- Reference USA is an extensive online business and residential directory.
- Stant Squad assists with school homework across age levels and subjects.
- NC Echo shares information on special NC cultural collections and locations.
- Heritage Quest and AncestryLibrary.com simplify genealogical research.

The website provides a library calendar of events, a collection of useful Internet links and information on what is new in the library. This project was supported in part by the Institute of Museum and Library Services under the provisions of the federal Library Services and Technology Act as administered by the State Library of North Carolina. Why not explore the online library resources and tell us what you think!

Let's Talk About It

Our annual Let's Talk About It book discussion series kicks off on Tuesday, February 8, 2005 at the Davie County Public Library. The theme for this year's program is Unknown Worlds: Identities in the South. "The idea that the South has an identity has existed since before the Civil War. 'A sense of place' in Southern writing has become a cliché. But in fact the South is many places and people with identities, individual and collective. The series explores the ways in which individuals in their specific places shape Southern identity and are in turn shaped by culturally constructed identities. The books in this series give a sense of the range and complexity of Southern identities from before the Civil War to deep in the twentieth century. Titles are:

Shiloh and Other Stories by Bobbie Ann Mason	February 8
The Known World by Edward P. Jones	February 22
Nowhere Else on Earth by Josephine Humphreys	March 8
Wolf Whistle by Lewis Nordan	March 22
Song of Solomon by Toni Morrison	April 5

Programs are free, open to the public, and begin at 7:00pm on Tuesdays. Attend any or all of the programs. Books are available at the Library. Presentations by visiting scholars are followed by group discussions of the books. Teacher renewal credit is available for attendance at four of the five programs. All programs meet in the multi-purpose room of the Davie County Public Library at 371 N. Main Street in Mocksville, phone 336-751-2023.

The Let's Talk About It program is funded with a grant from the NC Humanities Council and in collaboration with the NC Center for the Book, a program of the State Library of North Carolina.

Worth Noting ...

Elections Update

Voters who move within the county should notify the Board of Elections office of their new address in order to be able to vote without delays in future elections. If you have not voted in the past two federal elections the Board of Elections will be mailing you a voter I-D card to confirm that you are still at the address they have for you. If this voter I-D card is returned undeliverable as addressed, they will mail a forwardable confirmation card to give you an opportunity to make corrections. If both cards are returned undeliverable, you become inactive. Once made inactive, you will not be able to vote without updating your information with the Board of Elections office. If a voter remains inactive through two federal elections, they are removed, and must re-register.

Risk Watch is Back

This fall, teachers in three elementary schools began teaching Risk Watch, a comprehensive injury prevention curriculum. Last year, students at William R. Davie Elementary School participated in Risk Watch. The program was such a success the county applied for and received funding from The Office of the State Fire Marshal to continue the program at William R. Davie and to expand the program to Coolidge and Mocksville elementary schools. The grant, in the amount of $10,000 has been used to purchase the curriculum, needed materials, and to train the teachers on how to use the curriculum. The curriculum consists of eight safety topics: motor vehicle safety, fire & burn prevention, water safety, poisoning prevention, falls prevention, firearms injury prevention, bike & e-scooter safety and choking, suffocation & strangulation prevention. Students study one topic per month. Speakers from the community such as police officers, fire fighters, and poison control representatives will visit classes to reinforce safety messages taught by the teachers. The Davie County Risk Watch program continues to be a collaborative effort among the health department, school system, fire and law enforcement.

Child Passenger Safety Seat Changes

Effective January 1, 2005, North Carolina expanded its child passenger safety laws to include children less than their year old and less than 80 pounds. The major change to the law is that in most cases, children are now required to be in a booster seat or some other type of child passenger restraint system until they reach eight years of age or 80 pounds, whichever comes first. The previous threshold for switching to a properly fitted seatbelt was on a child's fifth birthday or 40 pounds, whichever came first.

Flu Vaccinations Available for Children

Davie County Health Department staff have been very busy in providing the flu vaccinations to those citizens who meet the CDC's guideline for receiving the flu vaccinations. The first on mass clinic on November 8th, 2004 at the Brock Gym in Mocksville, with other appointment-only clinics in November and early December. We are now giving appointments for children under three during our regular clinic hours.

Davie Nurses Pass Communicable Disease Surveillance Certification

Lizian Angell, R.N., Melody McCune, R.N., and Caroline Winebarger, R.N., have completed a Communicable Disease Surveillance and Investigation course provided through efforts of the General Communicable Disease Control Branch of the Division of Public Health and the University of N.C. - Chapel Hill. Out of 78 enrollees for the course, only 44 completed the course. This additional education for our staff will assist them in carrying out the legal responsibilities that health departments have to investigate and report communicable diseases.

Health Department Remains Healthy

Several audits were recently completed on the Health Department. On November 24, 2004, the Women's Health Clinical Services department was audited by the NC NC Women's Health Branch of Public Health. No deficiencies were noted on the exit interview and the staff was complimented on their quality assurance program. Next came the Federal Clinical Laboratory Improvement Act audit on December 6. This audit ensured the clinical laboratory services program was in compliance with federal regulations. Once again, no deficiencies were noted and the staff was complimented on their continued compliance. Finally, there was the Carolina Access II Asthma audit on December 16. This portion of the Access II program focuses on developing organized Medicaid managed care systems specific to Asthma. Medical records were audited and everything was found to be in compliance with the program.

Davie Community Health Assessment Completed

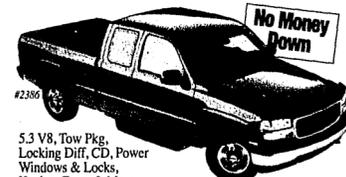

Andrea Collins, our health educator, has just finalized our Community Health Assessment for Davie County. Many thanks to Davie County citizens completing the health surveys, members of the Healthy Carolinians task force, the statisticians of the Regional Public Health Regional Surveillance team, and in-house staff for their tireless efforts in this process. The Community Health Assessment helps identify those areas in which citizens and the medical community can make an impact of the health of Davie County citizens.

All North Wildcats Take Tigers To School

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Among the certainties in life, a North Davie wrestling win is closing the gap quickly with death and taxes.

The Wildcats came into last week with 13 blowout victories, and they were just as relentless against host South Davie, romping 52-25 in a regular-season finale that determined the Mid-South Conference championship.

It was the eighth straight year that the regular-season race came down to a North-South feud, and for the fifth time in the span, including the last three showdowns, North walked away on top. North finished 14-0 and 8-0 in the MSC, while South dropped to 8-3 and 7-1.

"I kept stressing to them that South was going to come to wrestle," North coach Ron Kirk said. "But this team is as good as any (middle-school team) I've had in the past."

What in the world does Kirk put in his wrestlers' water? Looking down at everyone else is a place that's as familiar to him as a church is to a preacher. His career numbers are startling: 13 perfect seasons in 25 years, 15 regular-season titles, 22 straight years in first or second, 41 straight wins and 81 wins in the last 82 matches.

It goes on and on. Kirk's career record is 323-35, a .902 winning percentage. North has won 222 of 229 since the 1987-88 season. It's won 109 of 112 conference matches since becoming a middle school in 1993-94.

South's first-year head coach, Perry Long, was in awe as North claimed 10 of 15 weight classes.

"I knew they were tough," he said. "But I didn't know how tough."

North's thorough whipping is even more impressive considering South had defeated MSC opponents by an average of 49 points. David Oakley's 11-4 win at 103, John Flowers' first-period pin and Michael Rowe's 11-6 win staked the Wildcats to a 12-0 lead, and that was just the start of South's long day.

Rusty O'Connor, Chris Smith, Ryan McAndrews, John Lattimore and Chance Davis pounded out pins in five of the next six matchups for a 42-3 wipeout. For good measure, Caleb Rominger and Randy Bell added a pin and 18-6 major decision, respectively.

South's wins came from Zac Shoemaker, Justin Miller, Lewis Farve, Josh Burcham and Kevin Whitley.

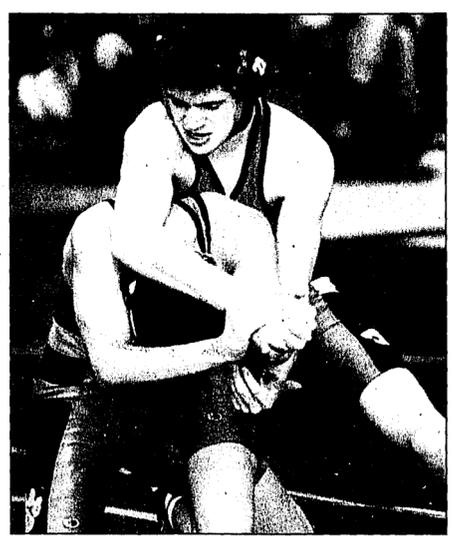

There was a split in the only two dramatic confrontations. The first one unfolded at 125, where unbeaten Rusty O'Connor of North and Shyteek Brown locked up.

Brown seemed headed to 10-0 when he stung O'Connor early 3-0. He was clinging to a 4-2 edge when O'Connor switched gears and planted Brown on his back in the second period.

"I didn't think Shyteek would lose, but things happen," Long said.

O'Connor's rally drew raves from Kirk.

WELCOME - In the second half of Friday's watershed game at North Davidson, Davie's varsity boys basketball team turned a crippling loss into an improbable win. After leaving a mess on the Black Knights' floor in the first half, Davie turned a listless performance into a critical 57-49 win.

The War Eagles missed 26-of-33 shots in the first half and trailed 24-15. If they would have gotten on the bus with a 1-3, fourth-place Central Piedmont Conference record, their chances for the third state-playoff berth would have been all but lost and their morale

Worth Noting

Ted Randolph and Dusty Johnson got pins in 37 and 41 seconds, respectively, in Davie wrestling's 72-3 win over N. Davidson. Russell Hilton handed Brody Essick his second loss of the season, 10-8 in overtime.

Nicole Maready of Davie's varsity girls had 21 points, 14 rebounds and five assists in a 68-60 win over Reynolds, and Carly Booth had 19 points and 14 rebounds in a 56-52 loss to N. Davidson.

In the varsity boys' 80-75 loss to Reynolds, Josh Alken had 20 points and nine rebounds and Cliff Burns had 19 points, 12 rebounds, six blocks and five assists.

The N. Davie 8th girls took charge against S. Davie behind Hannah Stroupe's nine third-quarter points. Kellie Brown added 13 rebounds in the 25-22 win.

Daniel Wendel and David Stein of Davie swimming were apart of three winning relay teams. Overall, they were involved in five wins in an 88-81 victory over E. Forsyth.

Rebecca Riddle of Davie's JV girls had 10 points and 10 rebounds in a 36-33 loss to Reynolds.

John Flowers, Michael Rowe, Rusty O'Connor and Caleb Rominger of N. Davie wrestling ended the regular season at 14-0, with Chance Davis at 8-0. S. Davie's unbeaten are Zac Shoemaker and Lewis Farve, both at 11-0.

Girls Throw Away Chance At First

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Earlier in the week, Davie (10-6 overall) slipped past fourth-place Reynolds 68-60.

"Everybody's trying so hard, but we let down in certain situations," senior center Nicole Maready said. "It's hard losing games like this when we know we can beat them."

"That's two games we could have won," Coach Karen Stephens said. "Neither team hurt us. We hurt ourselves by turning the ball over and not doing what we're capable of."

In the quiet of the Davie dressing room at N. Davidson, one number stood between Davie and a three-way tie for first - 11. That's how many steals North star guard Colby Hunt came up with.

The War Eagles' energy was there.

Their determination was apparent. You could see the fire in their eyes. But ball handling ... that's still a work in progress. Point guard Meisha Fowler suffered a gash above her left eye in the first quarter, stayed on the bench the rest of the game and Davie couldn't compensate for the loss of a player who makes nearly two 3-pointers a game and averaged 11.8 points in the last six games.

It committed 32 turnovers, and the biggest reason for the poor execution was the presence of Hunt. The four-year starter is the guts and glue of the Black Knights (10-8, 4-0 CPC). She's a bona fide winner, making everybody on her satisfied.

Randolph, Johnson, Ange, Raby and Barnes didn't waste any time, all pinning in the first period.

But the headliner was Hilton's 10-8 overtime win at 112. The combined record of Hilton and his opponent, Brody Essick, was 72-3. After two periods, Hilton was falling the test 8-3.

You're not supposed to overcome such a deficit against a 32-1 stalwart, but somehow Hilton managed to do just that, storming back for a tie and completing a 7-0 run in overtime. The signature win lifted Hilton to 41-2.

"That was the only match that West Forsyth lost to North," Lowery said.

Handy Helps South Seal Conference Title

What a difference a little halftime lecture can make. In the first half of last week's South Davie-North Davie seventh-grade girls basketball game at North, the Tigers hardly looked like the same team that had won seven straight to surge within one step of capturing the regular-season championship outright.

South coaches Becky Miller and Sheila Tribble weren't happy with a 10-9 deficit, and they let the Tigers know it, their eyes burning holes in the hallway walls. The Tigers listened and then made up for their sluggishness in a lurry, drilling North 9-0 in the third quarter and cruising to a 30-14 win.

South entered the Mid-South Conference Tournament at 9-1. It went 8-0 in the league's regular season. North fell to 9-4, 5-3.

"We had a nice talk," Miller said. "That halftime talk has been the key to several wins. The halftime talk brought them back to their senses, and they came out and played great ball."

Before South's top scorer, point guard Sara Handy, put a second-half thumping on North, Costner Merrifield, Elizabeth Davis and the Wildcats spent the first 12 minutes making South cringe. Although the Tigers had the No. 1 tournament seed locked up, an upset loss would have prevented them from joining the short list of South teams that have seized sole possession of first place in 12 years of middle-school play.

"I told the girls we had nothing to lose and everything to gain," North coach Trish King said. "The pressure was all on them."

Davie Wins 17th CPC Wrestling Title In 20 Years

Davie's wrestling team rolled by 44, 47 and 69 points in the first three Central Piedmont Conference matches, and it picked up where it left off last week against visiting North Davidson. There was no fooling around as the War Eagles took care of business to the tune of 72-3. That's what everyone expected, given that Reynolds beat the Black Knights 44-32 and Davie beat Reynolds 74-5.

Timmy Allen, Ted Randolph, Dusty Johnson, Adam McIlwain, Chris Ange, Jeremiah Raby, Brandon Stewart and Josh Barnes provided pins, Kyle Smith got a 17-0 technical fall and Aaron Hollifield picked up a major decision as Davie captured 13 of 14 weight classes.

While North tumbled to 7-13 and 0-4 in the CPC, the state's top-ranked 4-A team collected its 18th straight CPC win and its 17th CPC title in 20 years.

Davie is 38-0 on the season and 105-3-1 all-time in the CPC.

"Coach (Buddy) Lowery said we needed to score 75 points to make it a challenge for us, so I wanted to do my part and win," junior Russell Hilton said. "We did what we were supposed to," Lowery said. "I think everybody was satisfied."

Randolph, Johnson, Ange, Raby and Barnes didn't waste any time, all pinning in the first period.

But the headliner was Hilton's 10-8 overtime win at 112. The combined record of Hilton and his opponent, Brody Essick, was 72-3. After two periods, Hilton was falling the test 8-3.

Anyone interested in trying out for a 9-under AAU/USSSA baseball team, contact Joe Boyette at 751-3009 or email at joeb@umpire.com.

You cannot turn 10 before Aug. 1 2005. Tryouts will begin in February. This will be tournament baseball played on weekends. The team will play two tournaments a month from March through July. There will be some expense to be determined at a later date. The team will be called the Rivercats. The team will consist of 11 or 12 players. Practice will be 2 days a week.

Davie Boys Celebrate A Senior Night Victory

The Davie-East Forsyth boys swim meet last week boiled down to the 400 free relay, and Davie's foursome rose to the challenge to give the War Eagles an 88-81 Senior Night victory at the Davie YMCA.

Davie's girls, however, couldn't handle East, losing 111-59.

Daniel Wendel and David Stein were the crucial ingredients for the Davie guys, who had to place first in the 400 relay to edge out East. They helped three relays to first, along with picking up an individual win apiece.

Wendel won the 200 IM, Stein the 50 free, and they got first-place support from Matt Lee (100 butterfly) and Drew Esposito (500 freestyle).

Coach Jennifer Richardson couldn't be much happier with her boys.

Justin Lee swam an all-time best in the 200 free (2:07.31), qualifying for regionals. Dustin Frye showed three seconds off his personal best in the 200 free (2:35.26), and also got his personal best in the 100 backstroke. Brent Spivey had a personal best (2:49.79) in the 200 IM. Nick Huncker knocked three seconds off his 50 free (29.90). Matt Lee made regionals with a 1:03.24 in the 100 butterfly. That's not only his personal best, but it puts him under the required time for regionals. The 400 freestyle relay - Wendel, J. Lee, Esposito and

With this being the final home meet of the season, Richardson honored seniors Casey Harrison, Mitchell Lawrence, Stein, Colby Kinder, Robertson, Chrissy Sparks, Dana Vestal and S. Wendel.

Earlier in the week, Davie succumbed to West Forsyth and Reynolds. In the girls meet, it was West 135, Reynolds 120 and Davie 51. On the boys side, it was West 133, Reynolds 108 and Davie 61.

"They both carry a high percentage of swimmers that swim year-round," Richardson said. "When a team has double the amount of kids with that level of talent, it's hard to compete."

Stein Playing Division I Soccer

Chris Stein of the Division I Campbell University soccer team was named to the all-academic team in the Atlantic Sun Conference for the second year in a row. The junior maintained a grade-point average of 4.0 during the 2004 fall soccer season.

Stein walked onto the Fighting Camels as a goalkeeper in his sophomore year. He is a first-year student in the Campbell School of Pharmacy, where he is pursuing a doctor of pharmacy degree.

At Davie, Stein was an all-conference and all-region performer as a junior and senior. He holds Davie records for saves in a season and a career (538). He also started on varsity basketball teams that went 31-19 in two years.

Stein earned a Presidential Academic Scholarship to Campbell, then impressed Coach Doug Hess enough to land a spot on the soccer team. He is one of only two players from North Carolina.

Stein backs up Brandon Kirksey of Mississippi. Although the real season is played in the fall, the Camels play a spring schedule, and that's when Stein could get a chance to show what he can do.

"We've got a great keeper (in Kirksey)," he said. "But I could start this spring because the starting keeper is getting knee surgery. So I plan on playing a lot. We play Wake Forest, Old Dominion and Greensboro, so it's a pretty tough schedule."

Chris is the son of Joe and Marianne Stein of Mocksville. His brother is Davie senior David Stein.

Boys Come Out Of Nowhere For Big Win would have hit rock bottom. But after absorbing a tongue lashing at halftime, Josh Aiken, Michael Mashore, Cliff Burns, Foo Smith and Raeshon McNeil summoned some magic and came out of nowhere to score 42 points in the second half.

Smith Mashore

The comeback lifted Davie, which lost earlier in the week to first-place Reynolds 80-75, to 12-4 and 2-2 in the CPC, good for third place. North fell to fourth at 11-7 and 1-3.

"We had to step it up or we were going to be in a deep hole," Burns said. "And we decided to play like the team we are. Whoever lost this game has to depend on other people to make the state playoffs."

"Last year was the same scenario," Davie coach Mike Absher said. "We were both 1-2 and they got us. We want to be in control of what we want to do, so it was a huge swing game."

The War Eagles were a clunker in the first half, spotting North a 9-0 lead and hitting 4-of-19 shots in the first quarter. They went 3-for-14 in the second as everyone in the Davie crowd was fretting and wishing they had stayed home. At the break Burns was 1-for-8 from the floor, Aiken 2-for-8 and Mashore 2-for-7.

"The first half was horrible," Burns said. "I missed four or five point-blank shots. It was hard to watch I know from the stands. I feel sorry for people who paid money to see that first half."

Coach Absher, Coach (Shannon) Pulliam and Coach (Mike) Dinkins gave us some good words at halftime," McNeil said. "We came out and played like trash. We knew we were the better team, and we were down only by nine we knew we could come back."

The War Eagles went from horrendous to tremendous. After managing just three offensive rebounds in the first half, they grabbed four in the first possession of the second half. Aiken and Burns scored inside in a 6-2 run. Mashore, McNeil and Burns teamed up in a 7-2 run, and McNeil's pass to Dustin Morgan cut the deficit to 36-30 at the end of three.

"We talked about two things at halftime - picking up defensive pressure and getting it inside," Absher said. "And we had better ball movement. When you move and then take a shot, it's a heckuva lot easier to be a good offensive rebounding team because you've got them out of position."

Davie took North apart, 15-0, in a five-minute stretch in the fourth. Burns dropped an "and-one" on North's bread-and-butter player, 6-6 Jamal Durham. When Burns missed the accompanying free throw, Mashore ripped the rebound out of Durham's hands and stuck it in, and the War Eagles were off and running on the mother of all turnarounds.

They were suddenly flawless. Their competitive energy was unbelievable. McNeil played it coy on an inbounds pass at mid-court, baiting the passer into a soft throw, stealing it in a blur and dashing in for a layup. Aiken followed with a bucket over Durham, giving Davie its first lead at 40-39.

North coach Fredrick Hurt called timeout after Aiken ball around lazily, and we weren't being real aggressive, so I guess they figured we were going to keep letting them pass it around like that."

Notes: The win was a measure of revenge for North's sweep last year. ... Absher might need to start giving halftime speeches during pregame. "We've got to figure out a way to start games better," he said. "We got down 10-0 to South Rowan, 10-2 to Reynolds and 9-0 here. That's definitely not good intensity." ... The War Eagles play home nonconference games against Wilkes Central on Jan. 26 and Providence Day on Jan. 28. They play a CPC game at W. Forsyth on Feb. 1 before hosting Statesville in the last nonconference game on Feb. 2.

Reynolds 80, Davie 75
Although the War Eagles lost to Reynolds for the 29th time over 30 meetings, they showed they can rub shoulders with the big, bad Demons.

Reynolds isn't the juggernaut that won three straight 4-A titles in 2000-02 and finished second last year, but it still throws a bevy of size, depth and quickness at you.

"I'm not into moral victories, but there was some confidence developed tonight," Absher said. "You hate to lose, but there's a lot of good things that came out of this."

Reynolds scored 10 of the first 12 points. That's when past Davie teams have often rolled over. But instead of losing by 44 or 55 like they did last year, the War Eagles made Reynolds work long and hard to put them away.

Mashore's three long balls kept Davie close at halftime. Reynolds' 14-6 run early in the third appeared to doom Davie, but Winters' 3 triggered a 15-3 run. Aiken capped the run, and Burns kept Davie alive early in the fourth.

Smith scored five points in 52 seconds, each time cutting Reynolds' lead to three. The only problem was Reynolds was converting 7-of-8 free throws.

Davie couldn't stop A.J. Highsmith, an inside-outside tormentor who scored 25 points. Big Michael Copeland, who has Division-1 tools in the paint, had 16. Burns countered with 19 points, 12 rebounds, six blocks and five assists, and Aiken had 20 points and nine boards. Smith (12) and Mashore (11) added double-figure scoring.

The loss was the easiest of the War Eagles' four setbacks to forgive. They couldn't be too down on themselves after pushing the No. 4 team in the state. Three of Reynolds' five losses have come against nationally-ranked teams.

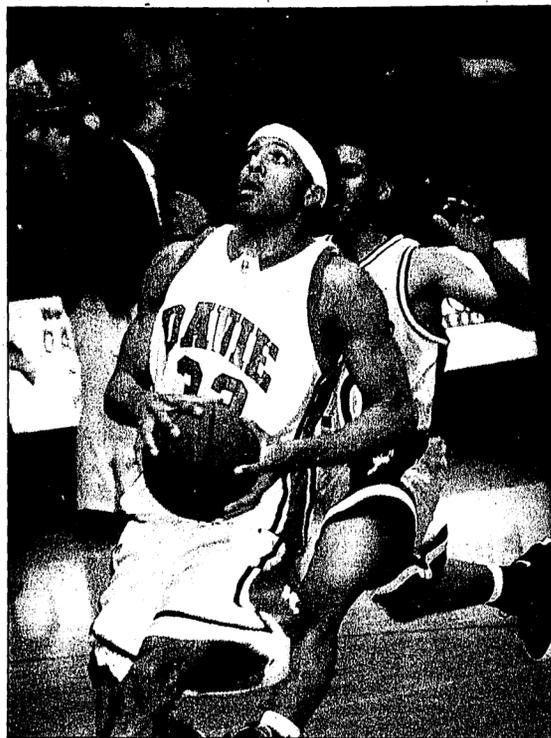

"You never say it's a good loss, but last year we would have folded up and lost by 40," Burns said. "This year we lost by five, so we have confidence that we can play with the best in the state."

"When it was 51-35, it could have very easily been a 30-point blowout," Absher said. "At halftime our guys realized that we played pretty bad and were within eight. So we can compete against them."

Hunt Steals Davie's Chance For First-Place Tie

team twice as good even on a night when she missed 7-of-9 field goals and scored just nine points.

Hunt was still the best player on the floor because she handed out eight assists and wrestled away seven rebounds to go with her 11 steals.

"She's very quick in the passing lanes," Stephens said. "She adds so much to their game because you're always wondering what she's going to do. She's all over you with her body. That mentality to get all over you frustrates you. She's so aggressive, and she makes their whole team better."

Take a 10-2 North spurt that bridged the first and second quarters. Four of North's five baskets sprang from two Hunt steals and two Hunt assists.

Davie trailed 25-24 at halftime because it gave eight points away on uncontested, transition layups.

"Hunt didn't come out the whole game, and she motivates others to play hard because they see her busting her tail," North coach Kim Payne said. "If the ball's around, she's going after it. She would frustrate me, too. She had a rough offensive game, but it doesn't deter her from playing."

Booth opened the third with a go-ahead bucket, but 11 turnovers in the eight-minute period spelled a 38-32 hole in a game that was aggressive, physical and bruising. Booth's eight points in the fourth allowed Davie to hang around, but every time the War Eagles saw a crack Hunt slammed the door on their fingers.

With the margin 40-36, Davie had a 2-on-1 fastbreak. But Hunt knocked the ball away from behind and immediately heaved a long pass for a wide-open layup. Maredy hit two free throws to close Davie to 48-44 with 2:56 left, but North scored a layup when Hunt slung the ball deep on an inbounds play.

That was the knockout blow. Booth answered the challenge with 19 points and 14 rebounds, hitting 7-of-9 free throws. The junior forward is averaging 12 points and nine rebounds. "She always does the job," Stephens said. "What we've got to do is add two or three people to her. She sees the floor well. With Meisha out, we let her bring the ball up some and get us in our offense."

"Booth is tough in the post," Payne said. "She moves constantly. We knew that was coming."

Maredy contributed what has become a standard double-double (13 points, 10 rebounds). She is averaging 13.8 points and 11.2 rebounds in the last six games. Senior guard Alyson Walker had 11 points.

But Davie was hampered by the loss of Fowler.

"We worked hard in our half-court defense," Stephens said. "We kept their two guards from shooting the 3 (North made one from beyond the arc). But we turned the ball over too much. It also hurt having Fowler out as an additional ball handler."

"They doubled down on us inside, and we needed Meisha out there," Booth added. "Just little plays have held us back. We played awesome defense. It was our turnovers that gave them the game. It wasn't their offense."

Stephens hopes the second stinging loss in the CPC doesn't have a detrimental effect on the rest of the season. "We could have been at the top in a three-way tie," she said. "Hopefully we'll react in a positive way."

Davie 68, Reynolds 60

The War Eagles did just enough to beat Reynolds. They didn't take control until the final five minutes, so Stephens put little stock in a harder-than-expected win over a 2-15 opponent.

"The game plan was to go inside," she said. "We had a size advantage, and I couldn't get them to understand that we don't need 3s, that we just need to push it inside. Once we did that we were fine. They've got to realize we've got to go after what's working. Don't fix it if it's not broken."

Davie was fortunate to lead 29-26 at halftime. Reynolds clanged 11-of-18 free throws in the first half and finished 15-for-30.

"Looking at their free throws, we shouldn't have been in the game at halftime," Stephens said. "We were lucky."

After Reynolds rallied from a 49-40 deficit to 49-45, Booth, Ashley Cornatzer and Maredy put together a run that finally knocked Reynolds out.

Maredy shook off a rocky start to finish with 21 points, 14 rebounds and five assists. Booth (16 points) was efficient, making 6-of-10 field goals and 4-of-5 free throws. Fowler had 11 points, five rebounds and five assists, and Walker had nine points.

"Maredy played really well after her first few shots," Stephens said. "She set her base and did the things she can do. Both her and Booth can score almost at will if they want to."

Schedule: The War Eagles play home nonconference games against Wilkes Central on Jan. 26 and Providence Day on Jan. 28. They play a CPC game at W. Forsyth on Feb. 1 before hosting Statesville in the last nonconference game on Feb. 2.

Davie 68, Reynolds 60 - Nicole Maredy 21, Carly Booth 16, Meisha Fowler 11, Alyson Walker 9, Ashley Cornatzer 4, Joni Garrett 2, Tyara Wagner 2, Allison Mackintosh 2, Shanicka Brown 1.

Splendid Surge

Boys Hold Off Reynolds

Davie's JV boys basketball team completed the first lap around the Central Piedmont Conference in splendid fashion.

In the first game of last week, the War Eagles beat host Reynolds 46-41. Then they destroyed visiting North Davidson 65-34, entering the week at 11-4 and 3-1 in the CPC.

"Everybody (in the CPC) has lost at least one. So at worst we're tied for first," Coach Terry Mitchell said. "We control our own destiny to win the conference."

The hard-fought win over Reynolds gave Davie a sense of accomplishment. The Demons, whether you're talking about varsity or JV, are always a tall hurdle. The varsity Demons won 4-A titles from 2000-02, and last year they finished second in the state.

"It's the first time I've won there in three years," Mitchell said. "We've beaten them here the last two years, but they're a different animal over there."

The War Eagles controlled most of the game, but it was never by much.

The telling sequence came in the last minute. Davie was up by three and it had only committed two team fouls. Since a foul wouldn't put Reynolds on the line, Whit Merrifield could afford to be aggressive, and he preserved the win by making two steals.

Jack Rooney led the Davie scoring with 11 points, followed by Dillon Manship with 10 and Merrifield with seven. It overcame the absence of starter Dennis Redmon, who was under the weather.

"It was probably our best team game of the year," Mitchell said. "Several parents said they thought it was the best we've played. It was one of the best. Reynolds is real tall and real athletic."

The unsung hero was Kenny Rivers, who helped out with six points. "He's been a little shy on offense, but he was taking the ball, spinning and going to the basket," he said.

Davie met surprisingly little challenge from North Davidson. The Black Knights stayed within 14-13 in the first quarter, but they were rendered helpless from there. Davie outscored North by nine, 14 and seven in the next three periods.

Two reasons the win was impressive: North had beaten Reynolds, and North came in with a respectable 8-5 record.

"That's the best game we've played overall," Mitchell said. "We had good ball movement and we played pretty good defensively."

Rooney scored 15 points and Redmon returned to the lineup with 13. But they got plenty of help as six War Eagles delivered at least seven, including Merrifield with nine and Jared Nelms and Manship with seven each.

"Redmon is a really good mid-range jumper shooter, probably our best from 8-10 feet," Mitchell said. "He goes up vertically and shoots it well, and he got several of those."

Notes: Davie lost a starter in Anthony Atkinson, who moved out of the county. Redmon replaced him in the starting lineup. The other starters are Merrifield, Rooney, Manship and Nelms. ... Mitchell is quietly putting together a solid record. In two years as JV coach, he's 25-10 overall and 8-4 in the CPC. ... Davie plays home nonconference games on Jan. 26 against Wilkes Central and Jan. 28 against Providence Day. It returns to the CPC with a game against visiting West Forsyth on Feb. 1.

Davie 46, Reynolds 41 - Jack Rooney 11, Dillon Manship 10, Whit Merrifield 7, Kenny Rivers 6, Jared Nelms 5, Deonte Dismuke 5, Eric Lowery 2.

Davie 65, N. Davidson 34 - Rooney 15, Dennis Redmon 13, Merrifield 10, Dismuke 9, Nelms 7, Manship 7, Rivers 4.

JV Girls Suffer More Than Their Share Of Tight Losses

Davie's JV girls basketball team can't get over the hump.

The War Eagles aren't far from having a .500 record, or even a winning record. Eight of their 14 games have been decided by six or fewer points. But they've left the gym feeling empty in six of them.

The latest hard-to-swallow setback was last week's 36-33 decision at Reynolds. The War Eagles led 33-32, but Reynolds went up by one with 30 seconds left. Davie got a steal and had a layup to retake the lead. But it missed and Reynolds knocked down two free throws for the 36-33 lead.

The War Eagles stole an inbounds pass to give them had one last chance. But their game-tying 3-pointer missed, dropping them to 5-9 overall and 0-3 in the Central Piedmont Conference.

Davie suffered its third consecutive defeat despite 10 points and 10 rebounds from Rebecca Riddle. Morgan Owens was the high scorer with 11, and Vanessa Didenko added six points and five assists.

Reynolds 36, Davie 33 - Morgan Owens 11, Rebecca Riddle 10, Vanessa Didenko 6, Elizabeth Budd 2, Tonetta Ramsey 2, Lauren Walker 2.

Handy Leads Undefeated South

 North's team 10-4 in the second half, finishing with five field goals in nine attempts. It was her fourth double-figure outing of the season, but her first in five games.

"Handy really stepped up and was the leader that we expect her to be," Miller said. "I was very proud of her."

"We tried to put a lot of pressure on Handy because she's a good ball handler and good shooter, and our 3-2 worked very well in the first half," King said. "We prepared for their 1-3-1 halfcourt trap, and we handled that very well in the first half."

"I'm not sure what happened. I think we rushed too much. We were playing like we were down by 10 instead of being down by one. We were panicking."

Ashley Smoot backed Handy with seven points, and Elyssa Tucker chipped in four. Smoot has made huge strides, averaging 10 points in the last three games.

"Smoot keeps stepping up," Miller said. "And don't forget about the intangibles that Maleia Stevenson and Machel Gadson provided. They've been critical to South's success since day one."

"Stevenson is such a leader," Miller said. "She just scored two, but she gets the ball down low for us, she's smart with her passing and she gets a lot of assists."

"I can't say enough about Gadson. She's so tough down low. She hustles and she plays with her heart."

The halftime turnaround brought a resounding end to a historic season. Since becoming a middle school in 1993-94, only two other South teams have gone undefeated in the regular season. Tribble's eighth graders went 17-0 and 11-0 in 1999, and Tim

- Photos by James Barringer

Kenney's seventh graders went 13-0 and 8-0 in 2002.

During the eight-game winning streak, the closest margin is nine points. And South protected its all-alone glory by breaking a team that had won seven of eight games.

"South is a very good team," King said. "They played together as a team, and we did that in the first half."

"We took them at halftime that we didn't want co-champs," Miller said. "We wanted it outright. We'd worked too hard for that to happen to us, and they stepped up."

Notes: Merrifield and Davis accounted for 12 of North's 14 points. Merrifield had six points, seven steals and five rebounds. ...North averaged 32 points over the previous eight games. ...The MSC Tournament was Jan. 22, 24, 25.

S. Davie 30 - Sara Handy 10, Ashley Smoot 7, Elyssa Tucker 4, Machel Gadson 3, Sydney Nelson 2, Maleia Stevenson 2, Morgan Wyatt 2.

N. Davie 14 - Costner Merrifield 6, Elizabeth Davis 6, Kaycee Dixon 2.

The crowd reacts during the emotional North-South match, which North won by a convincing 52-25.

Kirk Pads Legacy With 13th Perfect Record In 25 Years

 "Shyteek came after him hard. Shyteek was quick and fast, and he took him down and almost took him down again," Kirk said. "But O'Connor has the technique and wore him down. He was patient, he knew what to do and knew how to work him." Kirk said the sky's the limit for O'Connor's Davie High future. "He goes to camps, and he likes it," he said. "He comes from a wrestling family (brother Patrick is a strong JV sophomore who has 17 varsity wins). I think his dad was a state runner-up in high school. He's got the background for it." Kirk also loved the way O'Connor and Brown handled the emotional end. "Those two showed a lot of sportsmanship, the way they walked off the mat, shook hands and hugged each other," he said. "That was true sportsmanship because both of them were undefeated. That's just class."

The other compelling duel, at 130, involved another pair of unbeaten, North's Michael Maready and Shoemaker. Shoemaker got a reversal with 20 seconds left in the third for a 10-8 lead. Maready returned the favor right before the buzzer, forcing overtime.

Early in OT, Shoemaker got a takedown to win 12-10. "Shoemaker knows how to win," Long said. "Both of them are tough. It was just who wanted it the most." North's Rowe and Lattimore handed George Gama and Trey Lowe their first losses, while Miller and Farve of South handed Josh Smith and Devin Trull their first defeats. Kirk, however, put as asterisk by Smith's second-period-pin loss. He broke his thump in P.E. and was forced to compete with a cast.

"Smith was ahead 5-2, got put in a bad situation and couldn't get leverage to get out of it," he said. "Honestly, I was surprised with that one," Long said. "I didn't think Miller could beat him. But he came to wrestle, and he's just a seventh grader."

Farve took down an unblemished 189-pounder from Northwest Guilford in the last match, and he was overwhelming once more against a tough Trull.

"That kid (Trull) is tough," Long said. "That was Farve's second-toughest match. The kid from Northwest Guilford was undefeated, and those are the only tough matches he's had." "Farve is a big 190-pounder. He's just huge," Kirk said. "Trull weighs under 180 and most 190-pounders I've seen are pudgy and under 190. Farve looks over 6 feet and he's stout."

Even though three fell for the first time, the season records in North's lineup are unreal. Flowers, Rowe, O'Connor and Rominger are 14-0; Davis is 8-0 with eight pins; Maready, Lattimore, J. Smith and Bell are 13-1; Oakley, C. Smith and Trull are 11-1; and McAndrews is 10-3.

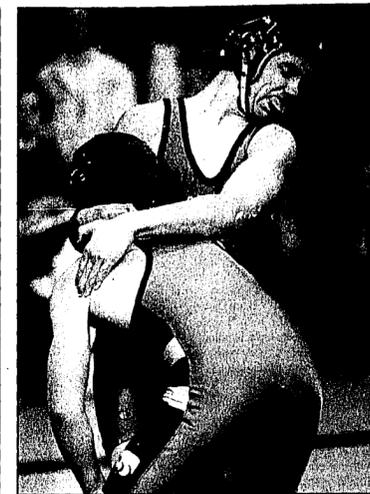

"If Rowe stays with it, he could be a good one," Kirk said. "Maready has improved vastly. If he stays with it, he'll do good at Davie. Even though McAndrews has lost three, he has shown vast improvement. Davis is into it. If he stays in Davie County, he'll make a good one. His dad (Rayvan) lives in Florida, and Chance is talking about moving to Florida."

"Josh Smith will make one heckuva wrestler and football player if he stays with it. I don't know what Rominger might do. Yes, he can be a good wrestler, but football is probably going to be his main sport. Trull wrestled hard (vs. Farve). He could be a good one, too."

Notes: In the match before meeting North, South ran into a buzzsaw and lost 48-36 to a unbeaten NW Guilford team that has incredible punch throughout its lineup. South got pins from Brown, Shoemaker, Cousins, Lowe, Farve and Burcham. "That's the most points they've allowed," Long said. "They're something. About all their starters were undefeated. They've got 47 kids on their team. I was amazed." ... The MSC Tournament was Jan. 22. North will host a JV tournament on Jan. 29.

Wildcats Can Thank Stroupe For Averting Upset Loss

Brian Pitts
 Davie County Enterprise Record

When does a win feel almost like a loss? Or a loss feel almost like a win? North Davie, a 25-22 winner, and visiting South Davie felt that way after the Wildcats barely avoided a huge upset loss.

With South stumbling along at 1-8 and North boasting a 10-3 record, a Wildcat wipeout looked like a sure thing coming into last week's eighth-grade girls basketball game. One team left with its heads up, and it wasn't the one coached by Trish King. While South coach Beth Carter could take plenty of positives from the Tigers staying close - and holding several leads - from start to finish, King was irritated by a completely uninspired effort.

And King didn't mince any words. "I was not pleased at all after the game," she said. "This was one of the worst games we've played. I don't know if it was the excitement of the crowd and the noise. We told them not to take South for granted, and I think some of my players took the game for granted. Our strong point all year has been working together, and my biggest disappointment is we didn't play together as a team. So it was a win, but it definitely wasn't a victory."

Carter had the Tigers ready. They've improved considerably with the return of guard Tanisha Turner, who missed the first seven games with an injury, and they stunned North with a 7-4 first-quarter lead.

Turner busted out of the gate with five points, including a 3-pointer, and Andrea Grant's six second-quarter points allowed South to enjoy a 13-12 halftime lead.

When Turner was sidelined, Grant was forced to do all the important ball handling as well as carrying the scoring load. Turner's backcourt help gave South the confidence to win.

"If I could have had Tanisha and Andrea running the show all year, it really would have made a difference," said Carter, whose team ended the regular season at 1-9 and 1-7 in the Mid-South Conference. "I wish we could go back and play three or four games. Because if they would have played all year like they played against North, we could have won some games."

South maintained a small lead for most of the third quarter. King and assistant Beth Hall kept waiting for somebody to do something meaningful, and they can thank guard Hannah Stroupe for sparking a run that gave North a 21-16 lead going into the fourth.

While her teammates were searching and struggling and stressing, Stroupe displayed poise, nailing a tiebreaking 3-pointer with 1:30 left in the third. In the final 10 seconds of the period, Stroupe came through again, stealing the ball, sprinting downcourt and converting a layup for the 21-16 lead.

That five-point burst proved to be the decisive factor. Stroupe scored two baskets in between, accounting for all nine of North's points in the third.

"That 3-pointer is what did it," Carter said. "That kind of put the icing on the cake."

Rising to the occasion was nothing new for Stroupe. Not only has she scored between seven of 10 points in six consecutive games, she also does the kinds of things that floor leaders do.

Besides Stroupe's nine points and four steals, North got seven points, 13 rebounds and five steals from Kellie Brown, six points and six rebounds from Sarah Evans, and four steals from Amber Parrish.

"Stroupe has probably been our most consistent player," King said. "She's come from a quiet floor leader to a very vocal floor leader who tries to get the girls to do what they're supposed to do. The whole game she tries to get us set up to run our plays. No matter what's going on in the game, we can rely on her."

"In the first half we were making one pass and shooting. We called timeout and told the girls that Hannah has the hot hand and let's get the ball to her."

Still, South came ever so close to catching North at the finish line. A Tiger launched a 3 to 3:30 to play, but the tying shot wouldn't go. Brown swished a 16-footer to push North's lead to 25-20, but Grant answered 35 seconds later, driving to the baseline and scoring from an impossible angle.

Grant, who finished with a game-high 12 points, put South in position to tie in the closing seconds. With North clinging to the 25-22 margin, Grant tried the left wing. The shot wasn't there, but she drew defenders and found an open Turner at the top of the key. Turner's 3-ball with four seconds left was straight, but short.

Carter was proud of the way the Tigers traded baskets against a superior opponent.

"It was the first game they all played with their heart," she said. "We played a good game. We just couldn't come up with it at the end. Turner was open, and it was a great shot. It was just short."

The Wildcats escaped to improve to 11-3 and 5-3, one win from tying a North middle-school record set under King in 1997. But what mattered to King was how they performed.

"South did a great job on us," she said. "I told (Carter) we were lucky to get the win because they outplayed us. They were focused, they wanted to win and we played out of control."

Seeing Orange

Wristband Sales To Increase Challenge Awareness

The orange wristbands are beginning to surface in Davie County, but do you know what they stand for?

DC RUN, Davie County, Are You In?

RUN, the catch phrase for the Mebane Challenge, is embossed in the orange silicon wristbands, which are being sold to increase awareness for the Mebane Challenge by the booster clubs at both middle schools and the high school.

The idea for the wristband project was the brainchild of Kelly Wilson, co-chair of the special gifts division and mother of two young children, soon to be students in Davie County.

"The success of the Lance Armstrong 'Livestrong' wristbands has been such a phenomenon, especially among young people. I thought having orange wristbands with 'DC RUN' would be a great way to promote the project to our students and community at large."

- Kelly Wilson

"DC RUN" would be a great way to promote the project to our students and community at large," said Wilson.

Her thought was correct. The committee made the decision to order 2,500 wristbands and offer them to booster clubs at North Davie, South Davie and the high school as a fundraiser. The groups were told that if their clubs sold all wristbands, then they would be entitled to 15 percent of the proceeds. The idea has not been to make a profit for the Mebane Challenge, but to raise awareness and break even on the cost of the wristbands.

The wristbands are being sold for $3 each. The booster clubs at North and South Davie could earn $225 with the sell of all wristbands, and the Davie High booster club could earn $450. The clubs have been selling them at events such as basketball games and wrestling matches.

The booster clubs at Davie High School and South Davie Middle have decided to donate their earnings back to the Mebane Challenge.

Even the youngest kids in Davie County want to be in on the wristband craze. Here, 4-year-old Mason Horne inspects his DC RUN wristband.

Faculty and staff at William R. Davie Elementary School show off the banner for being the first for 100 percent participation in The Mebane Challenge.

They're First

William R. Davie Meeting Mebane Challenge

On the heels of a successful Mebane Challenge luncheon, William R. Davie Elementary faculty and staff can boast that they are the first school to reach the 100 percent participation mark.

The school has been one of the most vocal in promoting the challenge, and the support of employees at the school has been a priority at the school level.

"It's never easy to dig into your own pocket, but when you know the benefits of even a small donation, you truly have a desire to do what you can to help," said Tracey Phillips, technology assistant at William R. Davie.

The school has rallied itself around the challenge by coming up with ways they can generate awareness and support.

The luncheon was a staff effort that produced another awareness builder - the production of a recipe book that will consist of dishes enjoyed by employees at the Jan. 13 luncheon. Recipes are being collected and the book will soon be produced. Staff members plan to sell the books for $1 and donate any proceeds to the Mebane Challenge.

William R. Davie will be rewarded for the efforts by receiving a new LCD projector and luncheon.

"The projector is a way of saying thank you. The schools have so much to gain from this challenge. If they can receive a projector for helping meet the goal, that just puts them in better to shape to utilize the technology money that will be a result of the challenge grant," said Butch Rooney, director of technology for Davie County Schools.

Change For Change: Students To Collect Spare Coins

Don't be surprised if you see Davie County students looking high and low for spare change.

The Mebane Challenge Change for Change campaign kicks off Monday, Jan. 31 and students will do their best to rally classmates to help gather coins for the Mebane Challenge.

The Change for Change program was the idea of Tiffany Gullidge, co-chair of the special gifts division, mother of two children (one in kindergarten and another not far behind), and native of Davie County.

"The title says it all - Change for Change. We want students to see how they can truly be a part of this exciting Challenge and be involved in 'changing' how students learn through technology in Davie County," said Gullidge.

The program will ask that every classroom at the elementary level and each grade level at the middle schools to put together some type of "bank" where they will collect coins. On March 10, an early release day, each classroom or grade level will turn in their coin collection. The classroom or grade level with the largest donation will be treated to a special celebration.

"Everyone wants to be rewarded for their efforts, and this provided us with an opportunity to do just that," said Gullidge.

Students will continue to receive additional information on Change for Change from their school. Individuals are encouraged to contact Tiffany Gullidge at 998-6206 if they would like to help with the Change for Change program.

Will Myers, Kathryn Bradshaw and Andrew McBride, students at Cornatzer Elementary, are ready to begin collecting Change for Change.

REAL ESTATE WEEKLY
 By Debbie Prachel
 Owner/Broker
 Premier Carolina Properties

THE GOOD INSPECTOR
 Structural inspection contingencies are a common feature of offers. A buyer is allowed a certain period of time to have an expert look over the home—the structure, plumbing, wiring, roof, and appliances so they will have a good idea of what they are getting into.
 How do you find the right inspector? Look for an expert on pre-purchase home inspections, not simply a renovation contractor or a friend who can tell copper from galvanized pipes. There are specialists in most cities, or you can obtain a list from a Realtor in Davie County. Ask for recommendations from friends who have recently purchased homes. Most inspectors have some background in building or engineering and have had additional training related specifically to residences. Call several companies and ask about the background and training of the staff as well as their rates.
 Debbie is an award-winning full-time professional real estate broker in Davie County.
 For professional advice on all aspects of buying and selling real estate, you can reach Debbie at Premier Carolina Properties, 336-908-7777 or 336-909-1284, or visit her website at www.pcpnc.com.

McDaniel-Cline Couple Married On December 30

Jennifer Dae McDaniel and Jordan Jeffrey Cline were united in marriage on Dec. 30 at Catawba Omwake-Dearbon Chapel in Salisbury. Father of the bride, R.D. McDaniel, officiated the 7 p.m. ceremony.
 The reception followed at Jericho Church of Christ in Mocksville.
 The bride was escorted by her father, R.D. McDaniel. Maid of honor was Chastity Barber of Woodleaf. Matron of honor was Kyla Hall, sister of the bride, of Harrisburg. Bridesmaids were April Runnige of Salisbury, Heather Essic of Greensboro, Lori Collins and Dena Shoffner, sisters of the groom, of Mocksville. Amanda McCoy of Mocksville was junior bridesmaid.
 Best man was Jeff Cline, father of the groom. Ushers were Greg Schenk of Woodleaf, Troy Shepherd of Mocksville, Kaleb Walker of Mooresville, cousin of the groom, Brent Collins of Mocksville and Daryl Hall of Harrisburg. Landon Harris of Mocksville was junior usher.
 Kaylee Shoffner, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Jackson Noble, cousin of the bride, of Woodleaf, was ring bearer.
 The bride is the daughter of R.D. and D'lea McDaniel of Woodleaf. She is the granddaughter of Raymond and Lavie McDaniel of Woodleaf and Dan and Mary Smith of Reno, NV. She is a 2004 honor graduate of West Rowan High School where she was a N.C. Scholar and a member of the National Honor Society. She is attending Rowan Cabarrus Community College.
 The groom is the son of Jeff and Gena Cline of Mocksville. He is the grandson of Flake and Penny Cline, and Pete and Louise Walker, all of Mocksville. He is a 2004 graduate of Davie High School. He is attending Rowan Cabarrus Community College.
 Following a wedding trip to Charleston, S.C., the couple will reside in Mocksville.

Surprise Lillie Mae Scott Honored On 75th Birthday

Lillie Mae Scott of Cedar Creek Road, Mocksville, was honored on her 75th birthday on Jan. 15 by her six children, 11 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She was married to the late Arthur L. Scott.
 The family matriarch was surprised with a dinner at Cites Restaurant in Winston-Salem.
 Mrs. Scott said she thanks God for allowing all her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren to come together on such a joyful occasion. She loves to garden and work on her quilts. She created her own patterns and designs.
 Her children call her blessed. A woman who fears the Lord, they said, is to be praised and that is why they rewarded her for her work over the years. Mrs. Scott gives credit to God and said she reads her Bible as a road map for daily living.
 The children are George and Virginia of Mocksville, Henry and Katrina of Paterson, N.J., Arthur and Ida of Decatur, Ga., Clifton and Ramona of Raleigh, Garry and Shirley Crowner of Baltimore, Md., and Sarah Scott of Mocksville.
 The great-grandchildren are TeQuan, Chaïse and Joshua Scott, Karis Adams, and Taylor and Stevon Scott Porcha.

Women Celebrate Friend's Birthday With Vegas Outing

Believing that a woman's 50th birthday should be a time for celebration, Teresa Correll decided to plan her own party. She invited nine girlfriends to join her at the Mandalay Bay Resort & Casino in Las Vegas from Jan. 12-16.

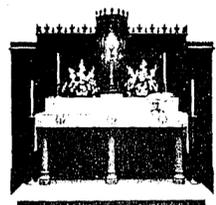

They started each day with at least four hours of pampering in the resort's luxury spa; toured area hotels such as Caesar's Palace, The Bellagio, Luxor and Excalibur; attended the Cirque du Soleil O show; saw the light show in the old Las Vegas; and visited the original casinos, The Golden Nugget and Binion's Horseshoe.

On Friday evening, the enjoyed a three-hour formal dining experience at The Mix Restaurant, which included 64th-floor penthouse views of the city. The friends surprised Correll with a gold charm bracelet to commemorate the trip, and each guest presented her a charm that reflected their friendship.

To end the evening, they changed into Red Hat Society attire and formally initiated their own club - The Vegas Red Hatters - which originated on, of course, her 50th birthday, Jan. 14, 2005.

Jenny Turner, Teresa Bivins, Debbie Ward, Jeanette Nelson, Glenda Smith, Kathy Mason, Teresa Correll, Betty Smith, Gloria Allred and Sherrie Ridenhour live it up in Las Vegas.

Lions Offering Free Diabetes Checks Friday

Free diabetes screening and blood pressure checks, sponsored by the Mocksville Lions Club, will take place Friday, Jan. 28 from 9 a.m.-noon at Foster Drug at 495 Valley Road in Mocksville.

Medical staff and trained volunteers will be on-hand to obtain a drop of blood by finger stick and it will be tested in a glucometer. If requested, volunteers will measure your blood pressure. Results of the test(s) will be given. All tests and results are confidential. You should report results to your family physician.

The club is not responsible for diagnosis and treatment. These are voluntary screenings. Not eating for 6 to 8 hours before checks is requested, but not required.

It is recommended that those at risk of diabetic have a dilated pupil eye exam at least once a year.

Diabetic eye disease refers to a group of eye problems that people with diabetes may face as a complication of this disease.

Diabetic eye disease may include: Diabetic retinopathy - damage to the blood vessels in the retina, the leading cause of blindness in American adults; Cataract - clouding of the eye's lens; Glaucoma - increase in fluid pressure inside the eye that leads to optic nerve damage and loss of vision.

Cataract and glaucoma also affect many people who do not have diabetes.

Many people at high risk for diabetic eye disease are unaware that they could be going blind. It is these people that Lions reach with sight-saving information through LEHP.

Ask yourself the following questions and evaluate your risk for developing diabetic eye disease.

1. Are You Diabetic? The longer someone has diabetes, the more likely he or she will get diabetic retinopathy. Nearly half of all people with diabetes will develop some degree of diabetic retinopathy during their lifetime.
2. Are You African-American, Hispanic or Native American? In the U.S., African-Americans are 1.6 times as likely; Hispanics are more than 2 times as likely; and Native Americans are 2.7 times as likely to develop diabetes.
3. Are You of Retirement Age? About half of all diabetes cases occur in people over the age of 60.
4. Are You Lacking a Regular Source of Health Care? Individuals that do not regularly make appointments with a health care professional run the risk of ignoring the onset of diabetic eye disease. Without a yearly eye exam, vague symptoms may go unnoticed until it's too late and the disease has progressed to a severe stage. Many times, there are no symptoms in the early stages of the disease.

If you answered yes to any of the above questions you are "at risk" for developing diabetic eye disease and should schedule a dilated pupil exam with your local eye doctor at least once a year.

Diabetic eye disease often shows no symptoms in its earliest stages. Blurred vision may occur when swelling in the eye occurs.

Detection comes from regular dilated pupil eye exams. It is recommended that everyone at risk have their eyes examined at least once a year.

Spotlight on Business

Frank Rozzella, Kathy McPherson and Tiffany Nichols of the UPS Store at Tanglewood Commons Shopping Center.

Packing, Shipping & More

UPS Store at Tanglewood Commons

Their official business color may be brown, but their products and services are as diverse as a color chart.

In fact, when it comes to pack and ship services, the question isn't "What can The UPS Store do for you?" It's "What can't The UPS Store do for you?"

The answer is practically nothing.

From the fairly obvious (shipping, packaging, mailbox and postal services) to the more specific (color copies for scrapbooks, passport photos, blueprint copies, notary service and greeting cards), The UPS Store provides virtually everything an individual or small business needs for day-to-day operation.

And that includes outstanding customer service.

Stores located in Tanglewood Commons and Lewisville Commons

Husband and wife team Frank Rozzella and Kathy McPherson, owners of The UPS Store locations in Clemmons and Lewisville, pride themselves on taking a hands-on approach to the needs of every customer that walks through their doors. Whether you need to send a birthday gift to a relative in Montana, ship a dozen sets of fine china to a customer in Des Moines or just pick up packing tape and bubble wrap, they can handle the job.

"Customer satisfaction is extremely important to us," explains Frank with a note of pride. "We love to help, regardless of what a customer's needs are."

UPS rates and service

Frank and Kathy opened their first store in the Lewisville Commons shopping center three years ago. It was known as Mailboxes Etc. back then. The name changed to The UPS Store in April 2003 when UPS purchased Mailboxes Etc.

"Being involved with UPS has been a big plus for us," Frank noted. "It provides the customer with easy access to UPS services. Shipping a package at one of our stores is exactly like shipping one at UPS. The rates are competitive and the service is the same. That is very convenient for most customers. And it is also important to note that if we pack it, UPS honors the insurance."

3-D greeting cards, mail box service available

Most people are aware of what The UPS Store can do in terms of pack and ship services. What they may not know is that Frank and Kathy's stores carry an extensive line of greeting cards (including clever "pop-up" 3-D cards) and color copying (at the Clemmons location). They can also e-mail and print documents, print and mail invoices and send out gifts for promotional mailings.

For people who may be looking for a mailbox, The UPS Store offers various sizes complete with a street address.

"We also receive packages, sign for them if needed and can even forward them to you if you have a second home in another city or state. That's especially helpful to some of our customers who live here part of the year and somewhere else the other part."

12" x 12" color copying of scrapbook pages

Another noteworthy service provided by the UPS Store is 12" x 12" color copying of scrapbook pages. This service is available at the Clemmons location.

To take advantage of any of the products and services of The UPS Store, Frank and Kathy invite you to visit their stores. In Clemmons, The UPS Store is located in the Tanglewood Commons Shopping Center. The phone number is (336) 778-0028.

The Lewisville store is located at the Lewisville Commons Shopping Center and can be reached at (336) 945-0663.

Ugly Roof Stains? American Roof-Brite can remove them

American Roof-Brite has the answer for those unsightly, if not damaging stains that appear on shingle roofs. Professional roof cleaner and American Roof-Brite owner Don Sunday is the expert behind the business. With over 30 years of roof-cleaning experience, American Roof-Brite has the knowledge and technical skill to kill roof fungus spores, the usual cause of the black or discoloring stains on asphalt and fiberglass shingles.

Don bought his American Roof-Brite dealership over four years ago, after researching the company and its product. What he likes to impress upon his customers is the method he uses to clean roofs.

The first step is to apply an environmentally safe, biodegradable cleaning compound to the roof area. This application sits on the roof for several minutes. The formula eats away at the cause of the roof stains, fungus. This is one of the steps that separates American Roof-Brite from other roof cleaners, who just spray the roof with a high-pressure wash.

The next step for Don is a low-pressure/high volume wash. Don is passionate to let his clients know that this low-pressure wash is an important difference in roof cleaning technique. Most people assume that what a roof needs is a high-pressure wash. This, Don says, could not be farther from the truth. In fact, a high-pressure wash usually causes damage to a roof, tearing up shingles from the roof, which can result in interior water damage. Not good. The low-pressure/high volume method used by American Roof-Brite has been trusted by homeowners for over 30 years.

The third, and final step that Don incorporates, is the application of a stain blocker, or sealer. This layer of protection is guaranteed to prevent fungus growth for three years.

Roof stains are not just ugly, but the fungus that causes them can damage your home. Merely washing your roof is not enough. The three-step process used by Don Sunday and American Roof-Brite is an environmentally safe, professionally proven method for killing roof fungus, and preventing it.

American Roof-Brite is owned by Don Sunday. You can reach Don at (336)-785-2030.

Club Donates To Nursing Scholarship

Davie Business Women Association (DBWA) held its monthly meeting on Jan. 5 in the conference room of CCB on Valley Road in Mocksville.

The guest speaker was Sylvia McClintock, who owns Organizing Chaos, a business based in Rockingham County. Her steps for becoming organized include de-clutter, organize, and simplify. She travels across the United States conducting presentations to groups and one-on-one consulting to help people manage their time and become organized. For more information about her services, visit www.tamethechaos.com.

A presentation was made by the club's president Janel Hensley to Katrina Wells, an instructor in the nursing program at Davidson Community College-Davie Campus. The

Davie Senior Services Sponsoring Bowling League

The Davie County Silver Strikers will begin a bowling league starting Monday, Jan. 31. People age 55 and older who have a desire to meet weekly for donation by DBWA will be placed in the Toya Cleveland Scholarship Fund to help students pursuing a nursing degree.

The group saved the best for last by waiting until the end of the meeting to announce the DBWA 2004 Woman of the Year. Brenda Battle was the recipient.

Members of DBWA nominate the member they believe has exhibited hard work, character, and community service during the year. All recommendations are reviewed by committee members who do not participate in the nominations. Since Dorothy Graham nominated Brenda for the award, she was given the honor to announce the winner.

"This year's winner is someone who is a role model for me," Graham said.

Brenda was a founding member of Davie Business Women Association, a past treasurer and active member of the Mocksville Rotary Club, and incoming chair of the Davie Chamber of Commerce. For the past seven years, she has been employed as an investment representative with Edward Jones on Valley Road in Mocksville. She lives in Lewisville with her husband, David. They have two daughters and are grandparents.

Members of DBWA believe Brenda has a winning smile that contributes to her success, Graham said.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Feb. 2 at noon at the Davie County Public Library. The topic will be self-defense for women and the speaker is Keith Turping, chief instructor for Karate International. Anyone interested in attending or for friendly competition and fun. Substitutes are also needed. The cost is $5.50 per week for 10 weeks. Games are played at Creekside Lanes in Winston-Salem, with free transportation. For more information, call Davie Senior Services at 751-0611. This event is co-sponsored by Mocksville/Davie Parks & Rec.

Learn About Breast Cancer At Feb. 15 Program Here

Breast cancer survivors, though relieved to be through their cancer treatments, are often faced with the worry of a cancer recurrence.

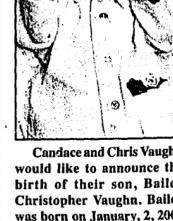

Sharon Gentry, patient navigator from The Derrick L. Davis Forsyth Regional Cancer Center, will speak on the subject of breast cancer recurrence and answer questions. Gentry is a nurse and works with women who have been diagnosed with breast cancer, as well as those who have been diagnosed with a recurrence of breast cancer.

Cancer Services will have breast cancer information and resources available to participants. The program is sponsored by Cancer Services and is free and open to anyone interested in learning more about breast cancer recurrence.

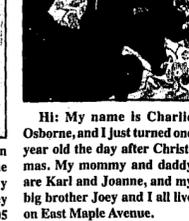

The program will be held at the Davie County Public Library, North Main Street, Mocksville, on Tuesday, Feb. 15 at 6:30 p.m. Call 760-9983 for more information.

My name is Graycie Correll. I celebrated my first birthday December 26, 2004 with an Elmo party. I enjoyed sharing cake and ice cream with my family and friends. I had such a great time I had to have a little nap so I could finish unwrapping my presents! My daddy and mommy are Stephen & Amy Correll. My grandparents are Roger & Caroline Beck and Terry & Louise Correll. Thanks to everyone who came and for all my presents.

Candace and Chris Vaughn would like to announce the birth of their son, Bailey Christopher Vaughn. Bailey was born on January 2, 2005 at Forsyth Hospital and weighed 7 pounds 9 ounces. He was 21 inches long. The family resides in Harmony, North Carolina.

Hi! My name is Charle Osborne, and I just turned one year old the day after Christmas. My mommy and daddy are Karl and Joanne, and my big brother Joey and I all live on East Maple Avenue.

I had a Winnie-the-Pooh party with my family at my Mom-in-law's house, she's my grandma, Marie Jones. My Aunt Lela and Uncle John Butero were there, my sister Amanda, my brother Joey and mommy and daddy.

I got lots of wonderful presents and my big brother Joey helped me open them. He got a present, too, even though I'm the birthday boy, and I got one on his birthday. Thank you, everyone who came and for all my presents. I think I'm really gonna like getting older.

Due to the threat of winter weather, the Poor Man's supper at Farmington United Methodist Church was postponed until Saturday, Jan. 29 from 4-8 p.m. Donations will be accepted for the tsunami relief effort.

The Farmington Methodist Church Men's Bible Class met on Tuesday, Jan. 18 at 8 a.m. for their monthly breakfast outing at Battle Branch Cafe; 18 class members and guests were present. These meetings serve as a good opportunity to enjoy conversation and fellowship with each other that you don't get too many chances to do other wise. Others are welcome. For information on dates and time, call John Hartman (998-3209) or John Caudle (998-3718).

The Farmington Volunteer Fire Dept. has put in an order for a 2000 gallon tanker that will be replacing a truck that is about 30 years old. They are expecting it to be delivered in August 2005. The fire department is looking for male or female volunteers ages 16 and up who would like to help form a Fire Department Auxiliary. These volunteers serve with numerous tasks. They sometimes respond to extended calls with refreshments. They also play a part in some of the fund raisers and special events that we would be able to offer (car wash, bake sale, Halloween carnival). They would probably meet once a month to plan and organize events for the community to raise money and awareness of the fire department.

The Red Hat Revelers met on Tuesday the 25th at the Bermuda Village Retirement Center. They visited the health center to cheer up patients and residents. Afterwards, they met for lunch at the Clemmons Kitchen. Their next meeting will be Feb. 22.

On Sunday morning, following the worship service, the Methodist congregation gathered on the front walk of the fellowship hall for the Mortgage Burning Ceremony of the new fellowship building. The Rev. Harry Sammons officiated. Many pictures were taken along with the bursts of applause.

The Methodist Men will be serving a spaghetti supper Wednesday night, January 26 beginning at 5 p.m. Proceeds will go towards a new sign in the church yard. Supper includes drink, salad and dessert for $5 per plate.

Get well wishes to Charlie Richard Roberts who has been confined to home with pneumonia. Richard is the Methodist church's assistant pastor. The congregation sent him a card shower this week.

We are welcoming the Methodist church for the past several Sundays. Ben and Ann Browder, Tommy and Dena Browder and family. Also we welcome Scott Denson of Peoples Creek Road for past three Sundays.

Many people braved the inclement weather Saturday afternoon to attend the wedding of Holly Cornatzer and Kevin Anderson at the Methodist church. Following the beautiful wedding the groom's relatives hosted a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Our community experienced freezing rain Saturday morning and afternoon. Due to icy conditions, some of area churches cancelled Sunday services.

Pleasant View Baptist Church will have a special singing at 7 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29. The gospel group Dove Creek of North Jredell will present a program of bluegrass gospel music. A love offering will be taken to support Dove Creek's ministry. Pleasant View invites everyone.

Rather than the Sunday evening worship service, Society Baptist Church will have a special singing at 6 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 30. The gospel group Canaanland of Princeton will present a program of southern gospel music. A love offering will be taken to support Canaanland's ministry. The church invites everyone.

The V-Point Ruritan Club will sponsor a breakfast at the V-Point Building on Old Mocksville Road on Saturday, Feb. 5 from 6-10 a.m. All proceeds will benefit the club's community projects.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of James and Ruth Powell. The Powells were found dead in their home by their daughter Reponda (Kenny) Smith on Friday morning. At one time James operated a store on NC 901 near Clarksburg. Kenny is the son of Wayne Smith and grandson of Sadie Smith. Anyone who knows anything that may help solve the homicides is urged to contact the sheriff's office.

We are thankful that we have had no reported hospitalizations this week. Bondella Wooten remains hospitalized at Davis Regional Medical Center. Hugh Frost remains hospitalized at Forsyth Medical Center, and Mae Walker remains at Wake Forest University Medical Center. George Redmond has improved and is recuperating at his home.

Join us as we pray for the Lord's healing and comfort in the lines of Bondella, Hugh, Mae, and George and the family of the Powells. We continue to pray for those residents who are taking outpatient treatments.

Congratulations to Kevin and Kathy Sikeleather and Caleb of Ridge Road. On Jan. 19, they welcomed an 8 lb. 10 oz. baby boy, Coda Wayne.

If you have news or memories, call Shirley 492-5115.

The annual training session for the United Methodist Church was held last Sunday at Tyro UMC. Those attending from Wesley Chapel were Pastor Tommy Robertson, Marie Miller and Devilla Smith.

Kathy Miller was surprised with a party in honor of her birthday on Friday, Jan. 14 at the AMF Bowling Lanes in Winston-Salem. Hosting the party were her daughter and son-in-law, Suzanne and Bryan Lakey, and son, Matthew. Approximately 30 friends and family enjoyed the celebration and a round of bowling.

Bob and Kathy Ellis escorted several people from this area to the 55th inaugural celebration in Washington, D.C. last week. They were Wayne and Daphne Frye, Doris Williams and Martha and Gina Smith. Also attending were Andrea Gentry and Andrew Brock.

We wish a happy birthday to Patrick Miller who celebrated his birthday last week.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters Hosting Bowling Fundraiser

By Sheri Symanski
Special to the Enterprise

Big Brothers Big Sisters Services of Davie County will host a kick-off for its annual Bowl For Kids' Sake fundraiser on Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Everyone interested in forming a team and participating in the event is encouraged to drop by the BBBS office from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. or from 4-6 p.m. to pick up pledge sheets and team information. Big Brothers Big Sisters is located at 110 Depot St., just off the square in downtown Mocksville.

One game of bowling can make a difference in a child's life. Big Brothers Big Sisters of Davie County serves more than 80 children and relies on community support and fundraisers like Bowl For Kids' Sake (BFKS) to continue and grow its programs. BFKS is responsible for raising one-third of the agency's operating budget for the year.

Bowl For Kids' Sake, presented by Mocksville Wal-Mart, will take place on Saturday, March 5 at Woodleaf Lanes in Salisbury (20 minutes from Mocksville). This year's event marks the first time that Davie County will hold its own event rather than combining with the Winston-Salem office.

"We are excited to host our own event for Davie County participants this year," says Dr. Regina Graham, director for the Davie BBBS office. "We have received such great support in the past that we are glad to provide a separate venue to focus on Davie participants and fully recognize our business sponsors. "Everyone who participates says how much fun it is to bowl with friends and see so many others from our community. With our own Davie County event, this year should be the best yet."

Adding to the fun next month will be a friendly competition between community groups. A "King Pin" award will be given to the organization or business whose bowling teams raise the most money in one of several categories. Categories include banks, churches, civic organizations, and the school system. Individuals who form teams will compete in a "community" category.

"As participation in Big Brothers Big Sisters continues to grow, more funds are needed to oversee the agency's programs," said Graham.

For more information, to sign up a team, or to obtain pledge sheets if you are unable to attend the Feb. 1 kick-off, call the BBBS office at 751-9906.

will receive a colorful Bowl For Kids' Sake t-shirt. In addition to the team recognition, prizes are awarded to individuals who raise significant amounts of money.

During the past 12 months, Big Brothers Big Sisters Services of Davie has experienced a 55 percent increase in the number of children served. Bowl For Kids' Sake is the agency's one annual fundraiser, making its success even more crucial for the children in Davie County involved in BBBS programs, Graham said.

"As participation in Big Brothers Big Sisters continues to grow, more funds are needed to oversee the agency's programs," said Graham.

Hospice Schedules Training Sessions For Volunteers

Hospice of Davie County is offering its annual Hospice volunteer training.

If you have a desire to serve others in your community, Hospice may be the opportunity for you — you may work directly with Hospice patients and families, perform office duties, and/or assist with special events for Hospice.

Hospice of Davie invites interested persons to participate in its annual volunteer training sessions. Dates for the training are Tuesdays - Feb. 15, Feb. 22, March 1, and March 8, from 5:30-8:30 p.m. each session. A soup and sandwich supper will be provided for all participants. Interested persons must register by Feb. 11. Call Janine Atkinson, volunteer coordinator, Hospice of Davie County, at 751-8770, Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Separation, Divorce Can Have Lasting Impact On Children

By Marc L. Williams
Special to the Enterprise

When parents proceed with a marital separation, every member of a family soon recognizes that life may never be the same.

Should such parents decide to divorce, then, for at least the next one year in our state, the lives of these family members will become a constant adjustment to changes in a long-term situation of instability and uncertainty. Their family as they have known it, sometimes for many years, will, in many ways, eventually cease to exist.

This often feels like a not-so-small death, yet no one actually dies, rather their sense of family cohesion becomes fragile and sometimes broken altogether. For the children, regardless of age, a sense of powerlessness and doubt may become keenly felt, as they have little or no control over much of anything that happens during this year.

While there are many self-help books on this subject, the focus of many of these books is usually on how the children of pending divorce need to be treated, which is understandable. We are all concerned with their welfare during such a time of stress and upheaval. What I want to focus on, however, is the relation between the spouses and how that is portrayed both to and through their children. Ultimately, this is what children remember as they grow up and eventually marry themselves.

We have all known grown children whose parents are divorced who will sometimes recount how that divorce affected them. Sometimes they will say that they are almost glad their parents divorced, that the squabbling and rancor became unbearable.

There was love once, and even if there is no real friendship any longer, divorcing parents owe their children more than a sad legacy.

which they only slowly recovered. How parents treat each other during separation can leave a deep impression on their children for many years to come, ranging from the benign to the worst "court wars."

All of us also know separated parents who still bicker and complain about each other, both to their children and sometimes to anyone else who will listen. I refer to this as "love gone sour," because of its dramatic intensity. Some divorced people can not "get out of each other's hair." Even after both spouses have remarried. It can be painful to watch two people who once loved each other now recount minor mistakes and blame.

What can be done to help such families, those who divorce is inevitable and riddled with wrath and sorrow on all sides? We must encourage them to reconcile, not to stay married "for the children's sake" or even get remarried, but to spend small amounts of time together without arguing and blaming. I often suggest that these families go out to lunch together once a month to feel like a family again, at least for a little while. There was love once, and even if there is no real friendship any longer, divorcing parents owe their children more than a sad legacy.

What we remember about our parents and families years later can make all the difference in who we are.

The Venezia's Family Restaurant at the Tanglewood Crossing Shopping Center will donate 10 percent of total meal purchases to the PTO. Fill out the school coupon and include your child's teacher's name. The class that has participated most will win a pizza party.

The PTO's Cougar Closet is a place that staff can go to find a change of clothes for students. If parents have any new or gently used items of children's clothing they could donate it would be appreciated. Items the PTO are collecting include jeans, sweaters, pants, tops, wind suits, jackets, underwear, and footwear.

There's an arctic chill in Mrs. Brooks' first grade class. Students are discussing polar animals and their habitats. They are each going to be doing a brief report on an animal that lives in the polar region. Students have been learning more math facts. They had a pizza party in December because everyone in the class had memorized the math facts they had learned this year. The next unit of study will take them to the seven continents. During the geography unit, students will be learning where the seven continents are and labeling the major oceans.

Mrs. Ancuta and Mrs. Peeler thank Pre-K parents who helped to make the holiday breakfast so much fun. The children performed some holiday songs and did a wonderful job, especially with "The Twelve Days of Christmas." The children participated in many fun, holiday related activities which included making reindeer food, decorating stockings and bells, coloring candy canes, and creating gingerbread men ornaments. A special hallway project based on the Polar Express was created by students. They painted fir trees and made railroad cars. On the cars, they wrote what the children said they would like to do in the New Year. The class continued learning the alphabet. For "Y," they grew a yam plant and made Yummy Yogurt. For "G," they talked about the color green and gingerbread and made green eggs and ham. The first week back in January, went smoothly. The children did a great job of finding their names at new table seats. Their new table names are the Penguins, Polar Bears and Puffins. Their new name cards have their first and last names.

They will continue alphabet work and when a unit on colors is completed, they will begin working on number concepts.

The second graders in Mrs. McDaniel's class have begun a unit on the Polar Regions. They are learning all about animals that live there and their habitats. The students are working on a polar project due at the end of the month. In the project they are choosing either the North Pole or the South Pole, then they are explaining in some creative way which animals live in the region they chose and they will tell about their habitat. This week the class is reading The True Story of Balto, the bravest dog ever. After reading the book, they will watch the animated movie and compare and contrast the book and movie.

Mrs. Stiller's 4th grade math class has been preparing for the practice EOG; they have been working hard on division and understanding word problems. In social studies they have started a unit on the Civil War in North Carolina. In communications the students have been talking about Martin Luther King Jr. and have read several books about him and other African Americans. They are continuing to work hard for the upcoming writing test in March.

Career Minded

Davie High Counselor Helps Students Get On The Right Track

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

For students of Davie High who know what they would like to do for a career, Rex Hobson is the best friend a kid can have.

Hobson heads the Davie High Career Development office, and since the early 90s, he has worked diligently to place students with area professionals as their shadow for a day. The experience gives a student first hand view of the daily activities of professionals in legal, health care and business professions. "It's a lot easier for someone to understand what a professional does when they see them at work," Hobson said. "It's a lot more informative than reading about them."

Hobson said he serves about 10 to 20 percent of the student body, but has recently increased the amount of advertising on the Davie High campus to lure more students to the CD office. He schedules career development seminars for freshmen and sophomore parents to let more people know what services are available for their children.

Hobson said students are encouraged to join their parents at the 7:00 PM meetings, usually held in the multipurpose room at DHS.

"My goal is to keep the word career in front of them," Hobson said. "We want to better prepare them for getting out into the real world."

"It gave me a lot of confidence," Carter said of the experience. "I know I can do it if I put my mind to it."

Hobson said the students aren't the only ones who get something out of the program. Many of the folks who were shadowed commented later that they felt they were able to give something back, and had an opportunity to help someone. "They get a chance to make a real difference," Hobson said. With the Davie High paper out of circulation because of lack of interest, Hobson relies on the guidance office internet newspaper, the Eagle Echoes, to get the word out about the services his office offers. Hobson said the Eagle Echoes is updated several times a week, and gives students and parents up to date information on career development opportunities, seminars, summer internship programs and other career opportunities.

event. Mayor Slate and the town commissioners provided DC RUN wristbands for each participant. Central Carolina Bank contributed Savings Bonds and businesses and individuals provided a $1,000 scholarship for the high school winner.

Following the welcome, Jenny Ledbetter sang the National Anthem.

The Rev. Savalas Squire Sr. of Shiloh Baptist Church and president of the Davie NAACP, addressed the topic subject, "The Significance of Brown vs. the Board of Education." Squire said the event was another opportunity for all people of this community to come together and that is what Davie County is all about.

Julius Suter, retired principal, introduced the 42 participants. Judges included Carol Livengood, Sylvia Steele and Squire.

The contest is sponsored by the Town of Mocksville to encourage students of Davie County to achieve excellence in their responsibilities as citizens.

"The Town of Mocksville applauds students who increase their involvement in civic and cultural relationships and appreciates the knowledge each student shares," Sanders said.

Winners were:

6th-8th grade - first, Melissa Nichols, North Davie Middle; second, Tatum Snow, North Davie; and third, Kelli Parks, North Davie.

9th-12th grade - first, Latasha Arnold, sophomore, Davie High; second, Amanda Nichols, freshman; third, Kevin Boehm, Ellen Carter, sophomores.

The team students have been using microscopes in science. Students in Mrs. Davis's social studies group have molded terra cotta soldiers to correlate with a study of China.

A rally to celebrate the accomplishments of students was held on Jan. 13. Nine students were honored for "All A" honor roll, 27 students achieved A/B honor roll status, and five students were chosen for principal's roll. Ten were named Phabulous Paraphros for overall citizenship this quarter. The Phabulous Paraphros for second quarter are Chelsea Parish, Chelsea Janson, Stefan Mook, Daven Gray, Katie Gordon, Nora Hayes, Chase Sampson, and William Mills.

Top AR students for second quarter are Emma Gordon (85 points), Will Suggs (61 points), and William Mills (57 points). The Geography Bee representative from the Paraphros Team was Chelsea Parish. Nora Hayes and Emma Gordon will represent the team in the Spelling Bee.

Students are working on evaluative and problem/solution writing in language arts, in preparation for the March 1 State Writing Test.

Congratulations to Melissa Nichols for her first place honor in the Town of Mocksville speech contest Jan. 16. This annual speech contest is held in honor of Martin Luther King Jr. This year's focus was the Brown vs. The Board of Education Supreme Court case.

We surpassed our goal and raised $605.27. We would like to thank everyone for their generous contributions. The money raised was sent to the Red Cross Tsunami Relief Fund. As money was collected, contributors were given a link to sign. The student council added each link to a "Link of Life" that is on display in our media center. Again thanks to everyone for their contributions.

Central Davie
 This week in developmental readiness, students have been working on the letter D and devoting time to the winter and snow themes. The children learned about dinosaurs, watched as little capacitors became big dinosaurs when put in water, and classified them by color, shape and size. They spent much of center and art time discussing winter and the clothes worn when it is cold. The children created and decorated hats and mittens by using art materials. The final project has been snowman. The children enjoyed working with Ms. Amy as she had them create in their minds what they would need and how they would make a snowman if they were out in the snow. After using their imagination, the children made snowmen to decorate the classroom to make it feel a little more like winter time.

The students in Ms. Cheryl's pre-kindergarten class have been preparing for snow. The classroom has become a "snowman" assembly place. Two multi-step projects produced snowmen from each child. One project involved finger-painting winter backgrounds and decorating lacy paper snowmen to decorate. The other projects had the children sculpting snowmen from PlayDough with whole cloves for eyes, buttons, and other decorations were added as the sculptures dried. Just like the "three little kittens," they hung warm winter mittens (colorfully trimmed with colored rice) to dry on the classroom door. The children have begun a small weaving project: a group effort which provides small muscle exercise and some quiet individual time to sit and concentrate during morning hours. The weaving is becoming colorful and will be a beautiful addition to the classroom.

The kindergarten readiness class has started a study of bears. Students made a bear den to display the art made by the class. They are reading many books about the kinds of bears and hibernation. They are making "bear biscuits" when Ms. Cammie and Ms. Lori visit homes. Some other activities they have done: go on bear hunts, play the "bear-a-chute" game and paint with ice. The kindergarten readiness class continues to study winter. The class has been making snowflakes and creating winter art projects. They talked about how to dress properly for cold weather. This led to many activities in the dress up center. Students are studying letters and numbers of the week, as well as the color purple and the shape of a star.

Ms. Cammie and Ms. Lori continue to visit the children in their homes and the "bear biscuits" have been a treat to create and eat.

This week in the early learning class, students explored winter clothes. They practiced putting on coats, gloves and hats, and discovered that snow and ice are cold. They saw some snowflakes falling outside the classroom.

Mocksville Elementary
 Student of the Week, Jan. 17-22: Joshua Howell, Victoria Atkins, Luis Pastor-Chorn, Taylor Godbey, Hannah Spears, Aubrey Pegg, Marla Griffith, Katie Koontz, Cindy Corriher, Lisa Tritt, Aubrey Bearden, Ariel Harvat, Taylor Bearden, Walker Foster, Carrie Miller, Rachel Williams, Brittany Money, Tania Ruano, Anna Marie Whitaker.

Ms. Garner and Mrs. Russell's kindergarten students have been learning about winter, hibernating animals and snow. The students celebrated the 100th day of school. They did several fun writings including what they will look like when they are 100 years old, how they would spend $100, and what they wish they had 100 of. They made hats of 100 items to wear throughout the day and enjoyed a 100th day snack.

Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Cook's first graders have been reading "If You Give a Mouse a Cookie." They decided to munch on cookies and have some milk to go with it. They made snowflakes and are hoping to see real ones. They learned that all snowflakes have six points.

Mrs. Strickland's third graders are learning about light and color. They experimented with prisms to see rainbows in the sky. Students observed how a straw looks under water and figured out why they are shadows. They are reading newspapers to get ready to become reporters and interview school heroes.

Coolmees Elementary
 Mrs. Wilcox's fifth grade class is starting to review vocabulary words for the reading and math EOGs. Each student will make a set of vocabulary words on index cards and there will be weekly tests. Students are starting Math Coach and Reading Coach as a review and to help with test taking skills. Eli MacLean won the class spelling bee. Students reviewed websites in the computer lab to accompany the government unit and on the tsunami websites they learned more about the disaster in Asia. The class will continue to collect canned goods through the end of January for Storehouse for Jesus.

Kindergarten classes celebrated the 100th day of school with special events. Students participated in performing 100 exercises, eating 100 snack items, counting out hundreds of soda can ring tops to benefit Ronald McDonald House, and creating books titled, "If I Had $100." In addition to the 100th day activities, students in Mrs. Stein and Mrs. Seamon's class have been creating thinking maps to help organize all the new information they are collecting in their heads. They learned how to use the "donut" map to brainstorm topics such as the clothing they wear in the winter, and the KWL chart to organize information they know about topics such as American Black Bears. Students have been amazed to see the large storehouse of information they already know being organized and written down in this way. Students are excited about an upcoming field trip to the home of classmate Brandon Koontz. They miss Brandon and Brandon misses his friends while he has been in the hospital and at home getting strong enough to return to school. In the meantime, he has invited them to his house to see his pet donkeys, Stacy and Stuart. Stacy and Stuart have huge appetites for Graham Crackers so Brandon's classmates agreed that they would share some of the "donkey food" they eat at snacktime with Brandon's pets. The class is planning their trip for Monday, Jan. 31. Parents are reminded to sign the permission slip for this new date. Parents are urged to be at school on the evening of Feb. 1 for Partners in Print because some of the workshops will be taught by kindergarten teachers and be held in their children's classrooms.

First grade classes are reading harder books and continuing to learn how to spell more words. Students are writing stories about woodland animals and discussing winter which has really arrived. In math, they are adding and subtracting. They are learning about time and money and counting by 2s, 5s and 10s.

Third grade students are continuing to work on multiplication facts. They will celebrate learning skills with a sundae treat. The third grade has started to do extra review practice in reading and math to start to prepare for the EOG test. They have been studying about real and fictional heroes in Social Studies.

Fourth grade students have been practicing for the writing test. Mrs. Ward's class is studying the Early Settlers in North Carolina and Mrs. Cutler's class is studying about the Indian tribes that inhabited this state before the settlers. Mrs. Jones' class has been studying North Carolina agriculture, in social studies and doing experiments with rocks and minerals in science. They are enjoying Book Lunch on Tuesdays and Book Club on Thursdays. On Tuesday those who want can spend their lunchtime in the classroom reading while they eat their lunch. On Thursday the Book Club is reading Trumpet of the Swan by E.B. White and discussing what they've read when they meet for lunch.

Family Reading Night is coming up on Feb. 8. First and second graders who have earned at least 10 AR points were treated to a Krispy Kreme doughnut sprinkle party on Friday. The students enjoyed creating their own topping for their doughnuts, and they were given a certificate to celebrate their efforts.

Seniors Plan Charleston Trip

Davie Senior Services will sponsor a trip to Charleston, S.C. during azaleta time. Participants will tour Magnolia Plantation and then tour the city and watch The Citadel dress parade. Other points of interest will be the Charleston Market, a tour of the CSS Hunley, a harbor dinner cruise and a dinner at an upscale restaurant. To sign up or learn more, call 751-0611. The trip is scheduled for March 31-April 2. Money must be paid by Feb. 18.

Register Kids Now For Kindergarten

It is time for all children who will turn age 5 years old on or before Oct. 16 to be registered for kindergarten in Davie County Public Schools. Registration forms are available from all elementary schools or at the board of education office on Cherry Street, Mocksville.

Each elementary school has scheduled an orientation for families to become more familiar with the school the child will attend, and to help parents get all the information they need to get their children ready for school.

Parents should bring the following to kindergarten orientation: proof of age 5 (registered copy of birth certificate); verification of Social Security number; verification of being a Davie resident (water or power bill, tax records).

Following is a schedule for kindergarten orientation:

School	Date	Time	Phone
Cooleecee	Feb. 10	6 pm	284-2581
Comarizer	Feb. 3	6:30-7:30 pm	940-5097
(Parents only, students will have separate open house.)
Mocksville	Feb. 15	5-6 pm	751-2740
Pinebrook	Feb. 24	6 pm (A-M) 6:45 (N-Z)	998-3868
Shady Grove	Feb. 15	6:30 pm	998-4719
William R. Davie	Feb. 21	5:30-7:30 pm	492-5421

At kindergarten screening, families will receive health assessment forms that will need to be filled out before the beginning of school. The following information will be required: proof that each child has met state immunization requirements (SDTP, DTP or DT doses, 4 polio vaccine doses, 1-4 Hib doses, 3 HEb doses, 2 measles doses, 1 mumps dose and 1 Rubella dose); and proof that each child has had a physical exam within the last 12 months.

For more information, call the kindergarten transition program at Central Davie Education Center, 751-0016.
