Schools, County Working To Close Budget Gap

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County seniors will have something to cheer about, but school officials will need to scramble to cut almost half a million dollars off their budget if a $75.6 million budget proposed by County Manager Terry Bralley is approved by the board of commissioners Monday night.

The budget, which is $17 million more than last year, includes an additional $13.3 million for capital improvements.

Bralley said $12 million of that money will go towards the construction of a new middle school that will be built on land donated to the county earlier this year. That land is located on NC 801 in Advance. Another $1.3 million will go towards the completion of the Davie County Senior Center.

Bralley said the senior center has been a project that has been on the county's calender for many years.

"The facility that the seniors have been using under the Brock Gym has just run out of space," Bralley said. "We're looking at a location that we own on Meroney Street to build a facility that will allow the seniors to continue with the programs they have."

Bralley said the new building will have the space needed for programs, such as Meals on Wheels, to survive.

"We have visited other senior centers, and have gotten ideas as to what this building needs to have included to see that the seniors needs are met," Bralley said. "There have been a lot of seniors working towards this goal for several years."

The proposed middle school is expected to relieve overcrowding at North and South Davie middle schools. The expected capacity of the school is 600 students.

Construction on the school is expected to begin in the spring of 2006. According to Bralley, architectural and construction bids have not yet been received.

Schools Superintendent W.G. "Dub" Potts said the new school is a welcomed relief, but it won't bring an end to the woes of the Davie School system.

Potts requested a 16 percent increase in county funding for the coming year, but the county responded with an offer of two percent. Potts said the two sides are meeting to close the gap.

"We're still working," Potts said. "We still need to cut $400,000 from our side. The problem is we're trying to keep the cuts out of the classroom. Any more cuts will cost us positions, and we're trying to avoid that. If we keep on cutting, we'll feel the effects in the classroom."

Potts said he knows the hold harmless money from the state was not included in Bralley's budget, but he said he's praying some of the $1.4 million the county received from the state finds its way into his schools.

"We're just hoping some of that money comes through for us," Potts said.

Court OKs Farmington Kart Track

Juanita Harding can remember a time when her property on NC 801 was surrounded by rolling farmland.

She remembers the black Angus cows she used to keep, and the quiet summer nights she used to enjoy in the company of her family and friends.

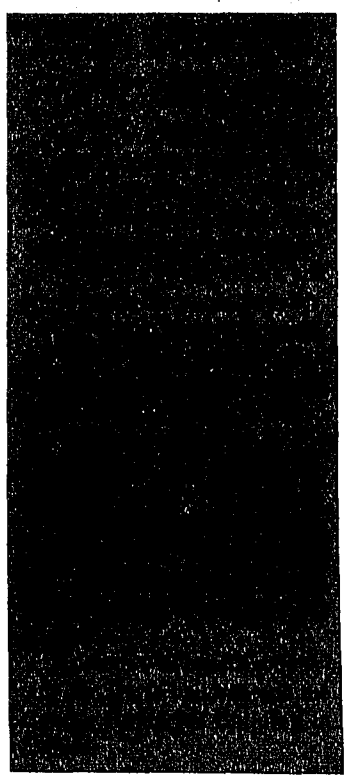

"My husband got this property on May 5, 1946," Harding said. "He got it from his people, it's been in his family for generations."

Harding never considered moving, until the Farmington Motorsports Park was built on adjoining property.

"Some times the noise is so bad it rattles the windows," Harding said. "But the trespassers are the worst."

Harding said she has had to get rid of the cows that used to graze her pasture, because people trying to avoid an entry fee next door would cut holes in her fence to sneak into the dragstrip.

Pre-Trial Release May Lose State Funding

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

A 10-year partnership between the state and Davie County that proponents say has saved county taxpayers more than $2.33 million may soon come to an end if language in the proposed state budget is passed.

Jack Tiernan, director of the Pretrial Release Services and Judicial District 22 Resource Center, said the language will cut funding to his department and if alternate funding is not available, he could be out of a job, and Davie County could go without a pretrial release program.

Pretrial release is a structured program in which those who are charged with a crime and are awaiting trial must adhere to certain criteria and supervision to remain free on bail. Failure to maintain those standards could be cause for revocation of bond rights, and the defendant could await trial behind bars.

"When we had issues of jail overcrowding, it became a way to address that," Tiernan said. "But it's not about letting (accused criminals) just run the street. We add curfews, we have searches and warrantless drug tests, and if they're violated, they can have their bond revoked. It's a lot like being on probation, but before the trial."

Tiernan said the courts have embraced the program.

"A lot of judges will make pretrial a condition of release," Tiernan said. "Even if they make bond, they still want them to have supervised conditions."

Pretrial Release Services and the Judicial District 22 Resource Center in Davie County offer drug treatment, supervise and otherwise keep track of defendants awaiting trial and those recently convicted. With the new language, funding to pretrial programs throughout the state will be eliminated.

All funds previously available for pretrial release will be reallocated

Old Veterans Get Medals Long Overdue

Congressman Virginia Foxx presented some very late-arriving medals on Monday to several servicemen who fought in wars long past.

Two were from the Vietnam era; one from World War II.

I chatted briefly with the two Vietnam vets — one from Lewisville, the other from Mocksville.

If Vietnam War veterans didn't get the respect they earned 35 years ago, that has certainly changed now.

One of the veterans on Monday, Wayne Snyder, said the public recognition is now very positive, very supportive. He was on a ship in the Gulf of Tonkin in the early years.

Veterans from those days just wanted to come home and put that war behind them. Many didn't get or ask for the medals they had earned. With curious and proud families now, they have a renewed interest in their service — and the medals.

Foxx helped redress that old omission on Memorial Day — presenting the medals.

Sgt. James "Ronnie" Evans of Lewisville received eight medals. One of his daughters had graduated from high school last week — no small accomplishment. But his own awards were from a grateful nation in recognition for his battlefield service. Trying to recover a downed helicopter crew, he was hit by North Vietnamese machine gun fire.

He spent eight months recovering in military hospitals.

It was a fitting day for remembering and honoring old soldiers who fought for our country.

Watching Tomato Plants, Counting On The Fruit

I won't have the earliest tomatoes in the county this year.

My puny plants had trouble getting someone to sink them into the soil. I bought them with good intentions to get an early start. But they sat in the little plastic planters — nearly dying of thirst several times.

They are making progress now, but I was tempted to cheat last week.

One hardware store had nearly-grown tomatoes in one-gallon planters — almost ready to bloom. They sold for $5.

If my first tomatoes aren't ready before July, that price will seem more reasonable.

Tires Make Music Only I Can Enjoy

I heard that sound again last week — the one that used to mean it was safe for me to sleep.

It was the sound of oversized tires singing against the asphalt on my street.

My oldest boy came home.

I hadn't realized the association I had with that sound, but I knew last week he was home before I could see him.

It's a sound perhaps only I would consider musical.

Swimmers Hit The Water

The area pools open their swim leagues this week. Oak Valley will invade Clemmons West — an event significant to me because of my younger sons' participation.

Four or five years ago I lamented my involvement with swim teams. I wanted my boys to play baseball — a real sport, I said then. Besides, swim events can take four and five hours.

Swim mothers threatened me. Swim coaches said I was an idiot, and, perhaps, they were right.

I have adjusted. I have learned to endure the lengthy meets and get excited about the competition. When my boys emerged from the icy pool water last week during practice, I had to admit this is not a sport for the fainthearted.

Do You Feel Safer Now As An American?

To the editor:

May 10 was an auspicious day for American taxpayers as the Senate unanimously passed a $82-billion emergency spending bill for the continuing war on terror, following passage of the bill by the House of Representatives last week. President Bush praised Congress for its bipartisan support of the measure and said he was looking forward to signing it.

The $76 billion that is going to the Pentagon will supply armour for soldiers and combat vehicles, ammunition, missiles and other war materials will only carry combat operations through Sept. 30 per the Pentagon, and it has not said how much additional funds will be needed beyond that date.

Some of the funds will be used to increase death benefits for families of soldiers killed in combat; $592 million is allocated to build a new embassy in Iraq, which will be the largest US compound in the world according to plans.

This brings the costs of the war on terrorism up to the $300 billion mark. As every American citizen is footing this bill, I think you should ask if you are getting your money's worth. Are you safer?

For $300 billion, Afghanistan, by 2002, had regained it's preeminence as the world's leading supplier of opium. According to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, opium production in Afghanistan in 2003 amounted to about 3,600 tons, three-quarters of world production. Per an Oct. 6, 2004 article in the Washington Post, "28 of the country's 32 provinces are apparently producing opium, and employing more than 1.7 million people at this work."

According to the Oct. 4, 2004, LA Times,"U.S., U.N. and Afghan officials believe that opium smuggling is a source of funding for Taliban insurgents, Al Qaeda terrorists and criminal gangs operating in Pakistan and Afghanistan and that trafficking and use are rising in Iraq while under Saddam Hussein's rule, Iraq is believed to have been relatively drug-free." It is worth noting that under Taliban rule, opium cultivation was severely repressed, although they now appear to have no scruples about using drug funds to support their causes.

For $300 billion, the insurgency in Iraq continues to claim more lives. According to Iraq Body Count, a minimum of 21,523 Iraqi citizens have been killed since this war began.

For $300 billion, plus the costs of Homeland Security, which is requesting $34.1 billion in 2006 and to which the House bill is appropriating them $31.8 billion, the United States remains without secure borders as thousands of illegal immigrants of numerous nationalities pour unchecked over the southern border weekly.

A May 8 New York Times article titled "U.S. to Spend Billions More to Alter Security Systems" states that "After spending more than $4.5 billion on screening devices to monitor the nation's ports, borders, airports, mail and air, the federal government is moving to replace or alter much of the antiterrorism equipment, concluding that it is ineffective, unreliable or too expensive to operate."

On May 10, for an additional $1 billion, a new federal program goes into effect to help hospitals cover the cost of treating illegal immigrants while the Census Bureau reports that 45 million Americans lack health insurance.

According to the US Debt clock, "the US Federal (our) debt is $7,756,161,640,819.58 as of May 11 and with the estimated population of the United States at 296,073,694 persons, that makes each citizen's share of this debt $26,196.73. The National Debt has continued to increase an average of$1.69 billion per day since Sept. 30, 2004." The US Debt Clock further states that "Seven generations from now we will all be owned by the banks and be impoverished if this continues." (It may be of interest to know that the primary holder of the US IOUs is China.) And Bush's primary concern continues to be Social Security? America has a much more present and pressing issue with the National Debt and it's implications. Let no American forget that Bush entered his Presidency with a budget surplus.

Add up the figures,the costs and the debt, the unknown costs of maintaining prisons for alleged terrorist suspects, who are to be held indefinitely, the costs of incentives (as increased aid) paid to Coalition members to support the war, then add in the "1,785 coalition troop deaths in Iraq, the 220 coalition deaths in Afghanistan, the medical costs of the 12,243 U.S. troops who have been wounded in action according to the Pentagon (the Pentagon does not report the number of non-hostile wounded)" the deaths of contractors and journalists, plus the Iraqi civilian deaths, injuries, the destruction of a society and a country's infrastructure, and a growing insurgency toll averaging 70 attacks per day in Iraq and ask, "\With all these costs, am I safer now?"

President Bush says this is a new, on-going and indefinite war. But it is one that the US people realistically cannot indefinitely fund. Maybe the President, Congress and Halliburton should be required to give uncompensated services to lessen the taxpayers' load - just in the same way the government requires hospitals to give uncompensated care?

Giggles And Slaps At Church Services

Do you ever wonder why some things are so funny when they happen in church and they wouldn't really be funny if they happened somewhere else. I remember one Sunday night at my church, a local minister who was pastor of a church out in the county and who for some reason did not have a service at his church that night, was in our congregation with his little daughter. She was giggling and her father gave her a resounding slap on the cheek. I'm sure he didn't realize how loud it would sound. I'm also sure he was surprised and embarrassed when the little girl laughed outright and every head in the church turned in his direction. He had a ruddy complexion anyway, and this didn't help. The whole church was amused, and this minister was obviously uncomfortable.

Louise Stroud

Something brought to mind a funny little incident that happened at my church on a Sunday morning years ago. I was playing the offertory on the organ in the choir loft, and the collection plate was being passed in the choir. This was before the day of choir robes. When the plate was passed to one of the men, he reached in his shirt pocket, under his coat, and whipped out his church envelope (he thought) and put it in the plate. Almost instantly he realized what he had put in the plate was not his offering envelope, but a BC headache power. He made a grab to get it back but missed. In fact, he made several attempts. I became so interested in what was happening that when I looked back at my music and I realized I'd been playing all the while but I had no idea where I was on the page. The piece I was playing was a favorite of Dr. S.B. Hall, the druggist in town, and every time I played it, he would tell me the next week how much he enjoyed it. Well, this time I made a trip to the drug store the next day to ask him if he had noticed anything different about the offertory on Sunday. I knew he would have been listening. He hadn't noticed anything different, and I felt better.

I've noticed one thing in our church involving hymns that has changed. For years, many times we did not sing all the stanzas of a hymn. We might sing first, second and last or the first three stanzas of a hymn. If it had been an unusually long service, we might close with only two stanzas of a hymn. For the last number of years we have sung the entire hymn every Sunday. I believe it was in a piano workshop that I attended some years ago that our instructor told us never to speak of a hymn as having a certain number of verses. He said a verse was actually one line. The proper word was stanza. I try to remember this but I think most of us think in terms of how many "verses" a hymn has. After that, I did look in the dictionary and discovered that verse meant a line and also a stanza, so we're OK either way.

Back to the funny things that happen in church. Years ago, at our church it was customary to call the church roll once a year at a business meeting. One year, when the man who was calling the roll came to the name Louise Cooper Horne, he said "Lou-i-zy" Cooper Horne. Well, I got the silly giggles, not even thinking about what would happen when he got to my name. I was just getting back to normal when he said "Lou-i-zy" Stroud. I don't know how I managed to say "present" but I guess I did.

Some things happened that were not so funny. When I was a child, I don't know how old I was, but I could read and in our Sunday School class back then we were given a little four-page paper each Sunday called the Sentinel, and it had a short story in it. On this particular Sunday, my parents evidently were not at church. As the preacher was preaching, I decided to read the title story, which I did. Early the next morning a widow lady in our church made a trip to our house to tell my mother that she had seen me reading the little story while the preacher was preaching. Well, I didn't get a whipping, but mama explained to me that I must not ever read anything in the little paper during church service.

We had a lady in our church who played the violin and one Sunday she played a violin solo at church. This same widow lady and her widowed mother let it be known that they objected. The lady's mother learned of this and said that her daughter would never again play the violin in our church. She quoted the scripture about "If eating meat offends my brother, I will eat no more meat." How times have changed.

Do you ever think about things that would have been an impossibility in time past, actually coming to pass in this day and age? It has occurred to me that in years to come, a church organist might (at his/her convenience) record a Prelude, an Offertory and a Postlude and even the accompaniment for an anthem for a particular Sunday and on that Sunday a button could be pressed and this music would come forth at the proper time. Also, the organist could record the entire hymnal and when a hymn number was called, a properly numbered button could be pushed and that hymn would be played. All this, whenever the organist needed or wanted a Sunday or several Sundays off. I do remember at one point in my 61 years as church pianist/organist I did not have an assistant organist for three years and was fortunate in not having to miss a Sunday during that time.

I often wonder how a church service will be 50 years from now. One thing is certain, I'll never know.

Little Lambs Continue To Help

To the editor:

For 12 years, the Little Lambs Ministry (Carol Stream, Ill.) has been ministering to the needs of the orphans in Ukraine. This ministry began with a visit to orphanage #21 in Kiev (capital city) in which they learned that 55 children would be sent to a psychiatric hospital that summer due to lack of orphanage staff and funding. Mrs. Renalt Kurz was asked to help and for the first time that summer in 1992 organized a camp for orphans. She and her staff fell in love with the children that they met at the camp. The children were like sponges soaking in all the love and affection we gave them. That summer she realized that it does not take a higher education to help orphans - just a big heart. Later that year, after much prayer and consulting with friends, the Little Lambs Ministry was born.

The summer of 2003 because of a very generous donation from the Southside Baptist Church in Mooresville, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Harmon of Mocksville were able to purchase 120 pairs of shoes for one of these orphanages. The following year, Fork Baptist Church of Mocksville helped along with others donated the funds to purchase shoes for 220 children in another orphanage. These children share shoes in the winter months which are 30 below with much snow. The government is able to give only $3 per child for a year to these homes to furnish all their needs. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon enjoy meeting the founder of the Little Lambs Ministry each year in the capital city of Kiev to help buy these shoes. Mrs. Renalt Kurz grew up in one of the former Soviet Union countries and knows the hardship and heartaches of these people. She now lives in the USA and her husband is one of the leaders in the Bible League, located in Chicago which sends Bibles all over the world. Little Lambs Ministry can be contacted at P.O. Box 87463, Carol Stream, Ill. 60188. Each year they welcome students 17 and up to travel for one month to work in Russia and the Ukraine in one of these orphanages. The needs the Harmons have this year as they travel to this county is for many pairs of eyeglasses (you may buy them at the Dollar Tree Stores which come in many strengths and are sorely needed). You may contact us at our home 336-492-5855. We would love to come and share with small groups or churches the needs in this country. On July 27, we will leave again for our tenth summer to do outside Bible Schools in many rural farm villages in this country and stay until the end of August. This year the Harmons have been able to share the needs of 320 children in two orphanages that need winter shoes and through Southside Baptist of Mooresville and other special folks we have raised $1,900 for this purpose. Thor-Lo Factory in Statesville has graciously given us 320 pairs of their best socks to take that each child will have a decent warm pair of socks for the 30 degrees below winter months.

We want to just thank the churches in Davie County, the many special groups and individuals who have helped us this year. You may contact us at 336-492-5855 to help us with our needs of magnifying glasses for older adults in the villages who will never get the opportunity to be able to see to read without your help.

Murder Victims Missed

To the editor:

On June 6, 1995, two of the most loving and caring people I have ever met were murdered. They were my best friend, Tracy Garner, and her mother, Dresa Matayoshi.

The friendship Tracy and I shared was special. It doesn't come along very often. It's hard to lose someone that beautiful. The memories of laughter and love reminds me that not everyone gets to be this close to people who are so special.

They have been missed every day for the past 10 years and will be missed for years to come.

I will always have my little buddy Trace in my heart. I take her everywhere I go.

Hopefully, one day this case will be solved because a lot of people still care.

In loving memory.

Report From Raleigh

Legislature Supporting NASCAR Hall Of Fame Bid

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

This week the General Assembly approved Senate Bill 525, a finance bill that will aid North Carolina's bid for the NASCAR Hall of Fame.

The bill increases the Mecklenburg County occupancy tax from 6% to 8% if North Carolina wins the bid for the Hall of Fame facility. The facility would be located in Charlotte, and the tax would generate $65 million of the total $137.5 million financing package. Remaining revenues would be generated from other sources. The tax would be allowed as long as the City of Charlotte bears the debt..

Between 400,000-500,000 people are expected to visit the Hall of Fame each year. Many see this project as an economic development opportunity with estimates as high as $70 million annually.

Senate Bill 525 moved at a fast pace through the General Assembly. The bill was debated and received a favorable report by the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday, May 18. By Monday, May 23, the bill had passed out of the Senate and was sent to the House. On Tuesday, May 24, the bill was debated and passed in the House Finance Committee, and by Thursday, the NASCAR Hall of Fame financing bill was approved by the full House. The bill passed through both chambers with overwhelming support.

Now that the Hall of Fame financing bill received a green light from lawmakers in Raleigh, the proposal will be presented before NASCAR. North Carolina faces competition with Atlanta and Daytona in its bid.

• The House Finance Committee approved an interesting bill on Thursday of this past week. House Bill 1541, titled Homeowner Association Amendments, makes numerous amendments to the existing law affecting homeowners' associations and condominium unit associations. The intent of the bill is to protect homeowners by making it more difficult for associations to foreclose on homes for a failure to pay fees.

The bill places a cap on charges for late payment of assessments and on attorneys' fees charged to homeowners. It reduces the maximum fine that may be imposed from $150 to $100 per day and provides that the fine applies to each day more than five days after the decision by a homeowners' association. The bill requires that homeowners' associations provide a 15-day period from the date of any mailing to pay an outstanding balance without charging attorneys' fees and court costs. It prohibits a homeowners' association from levying, charging, or attempting to collect a service, collection, consulting, or administration fee from a lot owner unless the fee is expressly allowed in the declaration. It requires that homeowners' associations provide owners an opportunity to attend and speak at meetings and requires that associations maintain detailed records accessible to homeowners. The bill limits homeowners' associations' ability to restrict the display of the US and NC flag and political signs, unless the deed of conveyance clearly establishes such restrictions.

House Bill 1541 is likely to receive a vote in the House chamber next week.

I was pleased to have Ellen Carter, daughter of Daniel and Susan Anderson of Mocksville, to serve as a page this past week. Ellen, it was a delight having you serve the General Assembly for the week. I thoroughly enjoyed having you, and you represented Davie County well.

Portraits Of Long-Time Attorneys Unveiled

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

Portraits of two retired Davie County attorneys were hung in the courthouse last week.

The Davie County Bar Association commissioned the portraits of John Tabor Brock and William E. Hall.

Brock practiced law from 1954 to 1998; Hall from 1960-2003.

His former partner, Grady McClamrock, recalled Brock giving him a chance to practice law in Mocksville.

"He taught me a lot of things," McClamrock said. "He was tremendously dedicated to his family and his county."

While he served as county attorney, Brock helped guide the Davie commissioners in steps to protect Davie Hospital, establish and expand a county water system, zoning and several building projects.

"Davie County has a friend in John Brock," McClamrock said. "We owe him a debt of thanks."

Brock, recovering from recent surgery, recalled some of the early hardships establishing a practice here with little money. He joined his father, the late N.C. Sen. Burr C. Brock.

"It's a pleasure for me to stand here and look out at all the old faces I worked with over the years and be in this courtroom again," he said.

As a beginning attorney, he recalled buying his first new suit for his trip to court.

When addressing the judge, he forgot proper courtroom decorum and didn't stand up.

The judge sternly admonished him, and Brock "shot straight up."

Unfortunately, there was a nail in his chair.

"It ripped the seat out of my new suit, and I had to stand there for five minutes being lectured by the toughest judge in the state with my seat ripped out."

Attorney Hank Van Hoy introduced Hall.

"He's regarded as one of the best trial lawyers to practice in Davie County," Van Hoy said.

Hall looked at the audience gathered in the courtroom and confessed an act from his early days in the county.

The courthouse's old bell rope was once a visible part of the courtroom. Someone had fashioned the rope into a hangman's noose, and it hung there ominously for all to see.

Hall considered it an improper decoration for a court.

When he found himself alone in the courtroom one day, Hall took action.

"I cut the noose," he said.

The culprit was never discovered. But the noose was never again part of the courtroom.

Hall's son, William, also spoke, recalling his father's methods at home.

"Thankfully, he adhered to the principle of innocent until proven guilty. He's been a great lawyer and an even better dad."

Van Hoy praised Hall and Brock for being willing to take on unpopular cases and serving the county well.

Retired Superior Court Judge Lester Martin, who presided over the ceremony, also praised them. "It is nothing but justified that these two friends of the court be recognized in this fashion," he said.

Don't Get Burned!

You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:

- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:

- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

Police Looking For Women For Stealing Dog From Pound

Mocksville police are looking for two women they believe stole a dog from the county animal shelter Thursday morning, May 27.

Video cameras show the two women driving up in a black, four-door Honda with special wheels and license plate on the front. They took a long-haird, tan and white Pekinese dog and left, said Mocksville Police Detective Nelson Turrentine.

Anyone with information leading to the identity of the two women is asked to call Turrentine.

THE SELLER MAY PAY

You have finally saved enough for a down payment on your first home, with a little left over to buy the furniture you will need. Then you hear about additional closing costs you weren't anticipating which seem like a real setback.

One way to cover such a shortage is to make the sellers an offer that calls for them to credit you for some of the closing costs. As a rule, the sellers may pay a maximum of 3 percent of the sales price if the buyer is putting five percent down. If the buyer is making a down payment of 10 percent or more, the seller can contribute up to 6 percent of the sales price to cover the buyer's closing costs. The buyers may pay for some items, such as prepaid taxes and the first month's mortgage payment. Sellers may also contribute to paying the appraisal, points, title insurance, settlement attorney fees, state or local transfer taxes and similar items. Keep in mind that if the credit is included in the price of the house, the appraiser will have to justify the amount. based on sales prices of similar homes in the neighborhood.

Debbie is an award-winning full-time professional real estate broker in Davie County.

Anne Berkeley plays the guitar at the third annual bluegrass festival sponsored by the Cooleemee Civitan Club last month.

Festival Filled With Bluegrass Music

The early morning overcast skies did not prevent the Third Annual Old Time Fiddlers' and Bluegrass Convention from being a success.

By mid-day the clouds had burned away and the Clement Grove Picnic Grounds in Mocksville had filled with people and the sounds of bluegrass music. Not only were there folks from neighboring states, but folks from as far away as Illinois attended.

Everywhere you turned throughout the day there were small groups jamming and practicing. The talent included youth categories to the seasoned performers.

At 2:30 the show started with 49 individuals showcasing their talents. At 5:30 the house band, "Broke-N-Lonesome" kept the entertainment coming with a variety of traditional and hard-driving bluegrass. At 6 the band competition started with 19 bands competing for the top prizes in the Old Time and Bluegrass Categories.

The $500 for first place in the Old Time Band category went to the Roan Mountain Hill Toppers from Roan Mountain, Tenn.

The $500 for first place in the Bluegrass Band category went to the Cana Ramblers out of Cana, Va.

Members of the sponsoring Cooleemee Civitan Club thank all of the sponsors, those who competed and those in attendance at the event for helping make it a financial success. Some of the proceeds were presented during the show to A Storehouse for Jesus, Camp Manna Ministries, and Davie County Hospice. Arrangements to send money to the rest of the club charities are being made.

HorseFeathers Offering Summer Camp Opportunities

Summer is almost here, and while there are many kinds of summer camps to choose from for most children, there are few services specifically geared for people with special needs.

HorseFeathers offers a horse camp especially designed for disabled children and adults.

People of all ages are eligible to attend the summer camps at HorseFeathers. Whether you are afflicted with a learning impairment, developmental disability, have ADD or ADHD, or are physically disabled, Camp Kandu welcomes you. The camps are divided into Jr Camp Kandu for children under the ages of 10 and regular Camp Kandu for teens and adults.

The camp offers instruction for basic horse care (the proper way to lead a horse, how to groom, how to feed, mucking stalls, and riding), arts and crafts, music, walks on wooded trails, and fun. Don't be surprised if you get a little wet on one of these warm sunny afternoons.

Michele Parrish is HorseFeathers' certified behavioral therapist, and has experience training typically functioning children as well as individuals diagnosed with autism, Turret's Syndrome, ADD, and OCD, and adults challenged with emotional instability, anxiety disorders, and depression. She has an extensive background in show competition, training horses, instructing children and adults, and equine management. She was director of equestrian programs at the High Point YMCA Camp Cheerio last summer, and is directing all the therapy programs at HorseFeathers.

Parrish joins a staff experienced with clients having muscular Dystrophy, Multiple Sclerosis, Autism, Cerebral Palsy, ADHD, mental seizures and many other forms of disabilities. The therapy horses are especially trained and are very patient and gentle. All volunteers are exceptional members of our community. TheHorseFeathers' facilities at 3910 NC 801 N. in Mocksville, are private and far away from traffic concerns.

Each week-long camp costs $200 per person, although discounts are available for groups of three or more individuals. There are cost considerations for siblings of camp attendees. Each camp runs Monday-Friday from 1-5 p.m. during the following weeks:

- Jr Camp Kandu (ages 10 and younger), June 13 - 17, July 11 - 15, Aug 1 - 5p;
- Camp Kandu(ages 11 through adult), June 20 - 24, July 18 - 22, Aug. 8 - 12.

Campers are advised to wear long pants and boots or heeled shoes for riding. A change of clothes (sneakers, shorts and t-shirt), towel, sunscreen, hat, and a large drink are recommended. An afternoon snack will be provided.

Camp will be held whether rain or shine.

Call HorseFeathers at 998-3576 or via email at Info@HorseFeathersofNC.org to sign up. Space is limited.

HorseFeathers, a non-profit 501 (c)(3) organization, provides year round therapeutic riding for disabled children and adults.

Farmington Girl Scout Camps Open To All Girls

FARMINGTON – Girls who want to combine adventure with fun are invited to join any or all four sessions of day camp being held throughout the summer at Camp Seven Springs in Davie County.

The camp sessions are presented by the Girl Scouts, Tarheel Triad Council, from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays. Camp is open to all girls, whether members of the Girl Scouts or not.

All sessions will offer favorite camp adventures for girls who have completed grades K-8, such as swimming and playing at the lake's sandy beach area with its sliding tubes, making arts and crafts, singing, taking nature hikes, and enjoying other fun outdoor activities. Canoeing, kayaking, paddle boating and archery will be offered for girls in the Junior Girl Scout age level and above, while younger girls enjoy other age-appropriate programs.

All age levels will experience a team-building session on the low ropes challenge course and participate in patriotic flag ceremonies.

Sessions will feature activities related to a weekly theme in addition to the general camp activities, making each session different for those who want to attend camp all summer long. Girls can earn Girl Scout Try-Its, Badges and Interest Projects .

Fees are $100 for Girl Scouts and $130 for others. A $5 discount per person applies for second and additional siblings if registrations are submitted in the same envelope

Here's a breakdown of camp sessions, dates and special activities:

Session I: Camp Cupcake– June 20-24 – Would you like a camp with all the "girlie" frills of jewelry making and cookie decorating? How about purple, pink and lacy crafts? Then this is the week for you. Have fun in the out of doors with all the glitz and glamour you love, including a "Sweet Seven Springs Party" to conclude the week's activities. Registration deadline has been moved to June 3, and late registration fees have been waived.

Session II: Mardi Gras, Y'all – June 27-July 1 – New Orleans, watch out. Camp Seven Springs will experience the fun and festivity of Mardi Gras. The girls will make decorative masks and crafts of green, purple and gold, learn some historic facts about New Orleans, and sample Cajun cuisine. The big event for the week will be a Mardi Gras Parade, complete with throws and a Camp Seven Springs Mardi Gras Ball. Registration deadline has been moved to June 10, and late registration fees have been waived.

Session III: Surfing Springs, USA – July 11-15 – ALOHA. Have fun this week learning about our 50th state. Celebrate the ways of the Hawaiian Islands and people through crafts, games and food. Get all wet at our Hawaiian luau, playing fun and silly water games to conclude the week. All this and the general camp program, too. Registration deadline has been moved to June 24, and late registration fees have been waived.

Session IV: Mountain Madness – July 18-22 – Crafts galore. Explore the folk arts of the Appalachian Mountains. Try your hand at the way the mountain folk lived a long time ago. Make toys and crafts using materials you find in nature. At the end of the week, each age level will celebrate their week's accomplishments at a Big All-Camp Mountain Festival, where they will play historic mountain games, sing mountain tunes, and display crafts. Registration deadline has been moved to July 1, and late registration fees have been waived.

Camp directors for Seven Springs are Beth Layton and Nancy Smith.

Transportation is available to camp for an additional fee for campers from Kernersville, Walkertown, Winston-Salem, Lewisville, Clemmons and Advance, as registrations warrant. Final bus stops will be set according to need and feasibility after registrations are received.

Transportation fee is $30 per family per session, in addition to the session fee. Sibling registrations requesting bus transportation must be submitted in the same envelope to ensure the family bus fee charge.

The week before a session begins, campers will be notified of specific transportation stops and times.

Depending on the stop location, the pick-up time generally will be between 7:30 a.m. and 8:15 a.m. The drop-off time will be between 5:15 and 6 p.m. If using council transportation, parents must arrange their own transportation to and from the designated stop and are responsible for the girls until the bus arrives. Only girls on the transportation roster will be allowed to ride the camp buses.

For more information about Seven Springs Day Camp, call Jewel Fox at 369-7424, or visit www.tarheeltriad.org for registration and health forms.

Neighbor Worried About Kart Expansion

Now she believes the situation will only get worse.

On Thursday, May 20, the NC Court of Appeals ended a two-year fight by Harding and some of her neighbors to prevent the building of a go kart track bordering Harding's property.

"They plan on putting that track 200 feet from my bedroom window," Harding said. "And they argued that the noise from the new track would only increase the decibels by two points. Let me tell you, it may be only two points, but when you move the source of the noise, the noise sure seems louder."

The ruling allows High Performance Holdings LLC to proceed with their plan to build a one-fifth mile track on the Farmington Motorsports Park property. High Performance expected to begin construction earlier when the Davie County Board of adjustments approved a special use permit for the track in May of 2003. That decision was made after four contentious public hearings in which owners near the proposed track publicly opposed the construction.

> "They plan on putting that track 200 feet from my bedroom window. And they argued that the noise from the new track would only increase the decibels by two points. Let me tell you, it may be only two points, but when you move the source of the noise, the noise sure seems louder."
> - Juanita Harding

The appeal was based on resident's claims that the Board's decision was in error because High Performance did not have plans that met the minimum health and safety requirements of the special use permit.

The appeals court did not agree, and that decision upset Harding.

"Naturally, I'm disappointed, anyone would be," Harding said. "They said they were going to build a berm, to try to keep the noise down. But what I see happening is every time the wind blows, it usually comes from the west. All that trash and debris over there is going to run up over that berm and land on us. That's not good for anyone."

Representatives from High Performance and the Park did not return calls.

Pre-Trial Release May Lose Funding

That will mean more defendants awaiting trial behind bars, and no drug testing or treatment available for those awaiting trial.

Robin Howell, criminal justice programs administrator with Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments, said the cost of losing the program far outweighs the cost of funding. With an average cost of $45 a day to house, clothe and feed a prisoner, Howell said the program pays for itself in savings over the cost of imprisonment, but the savings don't stop there.

"There is a legal liability to having overcrowding in the jail," Howell said. "There have been lawsuits won by prisoners over the issue."

Howell said that's just the beginning of the additional costs taxpayers will bear if the program is lost.

"If a person awaiting trial suddenly requires medical attention, like a woman who is arrested and is about to give birth, if she's in an inmate, the jail has to pick up her medical bills," Howell said. "Even if she has private insurance. As a matter of fact, any one in the system that requires medical attention has the bill paid by the jail."

Davie County Manager Terry Bralley said he wants to see the Pretrial Release program continue.

"From what I've seen and heard of the program, it's a valuable resource to this community," Bralley said. "We will lobby hard to see that the state continues the funding."

Bralley said it was too early to comment on whether the county would pick up the additional burden if the state failed to do so.

Public Hearing Monday On Proposed County Budget

According to county finance director Jim Stockert, Potts may have to look elsewhere.

"That money is kept in reserve for capital improvements at the county level," Stockert said. "$750,000 has been slated for one time expenses in the 2005-2006 budget."

Stockert said some of the projects that the hold harmless money will fund include courthouse renovations, repairs to the Brock recreation center, and upgrading the county phone system. The remainder of the money will remain in the reserve fund until such time as county management allocates it for other projects.

The public hearing on the budget will be held after the opening of the 7 p.m. meeting.

Big Thoughts, Big Dreams

McNeil Lures Offers From Glamorous Football Schools

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Patrick Lowery and David Wooldridge started the tradition in 2001. Lowery signed with N.C. State and Wooldridge with North Carolina. The lineage of Division I-A football prospects grew when Wake Forest sought Sam Stovall in 2002, and last year Ted Randolph inked with Wake Forest, Cooter Arnold jumped on North Carolina and the Tar Heels flirted with D.J. Rice before he wound up joining Ryan Boehm at Coastal Carolina.

Raeshon McNeil has continued the tradition. The rising senior is the next great thing. The cornerback received a scholarship offer from Notre Dame in early April, and South Carolina, North Carolina, Wake Forest, Duke, Virginia and N.C. State have followed with offers.

McNeil

To illustrate McNeil's lure as a cornerback, an Ohio State assistant, Notre Dame head coach Charlie Weis and a Miami assistant all flew to Mocksville in a span of two weeks to meet personally with Davie coach Doug Illing. The head coaches at Virginia, North Carolina and Wake Forest have also visited Illing's office.

For McNeil, this is like living a dream.

"It's pretty exciting," he said. "Since I've been playing varsity, I've seen guys being recruited and all that stuff. I've been wanting to live it for three years, and I couldn't wait until it was my turn.

"It's come quicker than I thought it would. I knew I'd be recruited, but I never imagined it would be as extensive as it is now, with some of the schools that have come by and some of the schools that are interested. I figured it would be just ACC schools, but it's gotten a lot bigger than that."

Why McNeil? Why does he make some of the most glamorous programs in the country drool? First of all, he's 6-1 with a 4.4 40-yard dash and a 30-inch vertical leap. Secondly, he's extraordinarily bright, a 4.1 weighted GPA in the first semester of the 2004-05 school year and a 1100 SAT score.

"You see 4.0 and 1100 SAT, and that's an immediate attraction on any athlete," Illing said. "Then you take his position, a 6-1 defensive back. Usually you see them at receiver, and when you see them at DB that's a very valuable person that you want apart of your program. DBs are (generally) 5-10, 5-11. Raeshon's a guy that's tall and can play with those tall receivers."

You know there's something different about McNeil when Miami sends a recruiter on an out-of-state voyage.

"Everybody goes to Florida for athletes, and to look at McNeil and give him consideration speaks for itself," Illing said. "You don't see them come out of the state too often, not for skill positions."

Getting an offer from Notre Dame, which boasts 11 national championships and seven Heisman Trophy winners, is something about every little football player dreams about. How firm is Weis' belief in McNeil? The former offensive coordinator of four Super Bowl champions promised McNeil that his scholarship will remain on the table all the way up to February signing day. The only stop Weis made in North Carolina was 1200 Salisbury Road.

"He was the first head coach to come through, and he's Charlie Weis, which makes it even better," McNeil said. "A man of his stature coming all the way to North Carolina just to see me, that says a lot. I was anticipating it all week. Just to see him come through, the guy that's been with the No. 1 team in the NFL (New England), was pretty exciting.

"One thing he stressed to me that hasn't really been stressed from other schools that have offered me is that no matter how long it takes or how many guys they sign, up until February on signing day my scholarship will still be there. I will still have a spot. That really took a lot of pressure off me and made me feel really good about Notre Dame. That made me realize he meant business."

McNeil has five favorites. Notre

McDaniel Dazzles On The Mound

John McDaniel was mesmerizing on the mound. Except for the second inning when host Winston-Salem scored two unearned runs, the righthander for Mocksville's Legion baseball team retired 21 of 22 batters as Mocksville surged to an 8-3 non-league win on Friday.

McDaniel's two-hitter was the best thing about Mocksville's fourth win in six tries, but not the only thing.

• Dan Poindexter continued his brilliant offense by going 3 for 4 with two doubles and a walk. The fourth-year player's onslaught - 12 hits in 23 at-bats for a .522 average - makes Coach Mike Lovelace shake his head in wonder. "He didn't pick up a bat this spring (for Lenoir-Rhyne)," the coach said.

• Zach Vogler flailed away for three games, getting one hit in 12 official trips to the plate. His slump became grimmer when he struck out in his first two ABs against Winston. Then his extra batting practice with George Daywalt, who was a Mocksville assistant from 1989-95 and the head man from 1996-98, paid handsome dividends, two singles and a triple between the fifth and ninth innings.

The two Ks dropped Vogler to 4 for 22. The torrid turnaround catapulted his average from .182 all the way to .280.

"He went to the cage with Daywalt and his dad (Ken Snow), and Daywalt said he was going to get him straightened out," Lovelace said. "He asked for a bucket of balls and worked some kinks off. He struck out twice and then he mashed it."

• David Boyles also had a big game. Mired in a season-long slump, he swatted a game-tying, solo home run in the fourth and made two key plays at second to help McDaniel cruise along.

"Boyles hit it hard some other times and didn't have anything to show for it," Lovelace said. "And he made two great defensive plays, and would have had three but he slipped down. With Johnny Mack throwing strikes, everybody wants to play defense behind him."

McDaniel started with a bang, striking out the first three batters in the bottom of the first. He gave up two hits and two runs in the second, but looked fabulous for the next six innings.

The only guy to reach during that span came on a swinging bunt that was thrown away at first with two outs in the eighth. He struck out six, walked none and lowered his ERA from 4.26 to 1.88. He's 2-1 this year and 6-3 in two years.

"McDaniel was a machine," Lovelace said.

Boyles' two-out homer in the fourth forged a 2-2 tie, and Matt Hutchens' jet-

Poindexter, McClannon Star In Comeback

Mocksville was struggling and standing on the verge of a third straight loss on May 25 at Rich Park. But the local American Legion baseball team followed five lackluster innings with three dominant ones, rallying to beat Lexington 6-4 in its Southern Division opener.

The stars were Dan Poindexter and Andrew McClannon. Poindexter hit a two-run homer in the sixth, foiling Andrew Hunt's shutout, and McClannon blended a game-tying double with strong relief pitching to improve his record to 2-0.

After outscoring Lexington 6-1 down the stretch, Mocksville's two-game slide in non-league play was forgotten.

"Hunt was shoving it," Coach Mike Lovelace said after Mocksville improved to 3-2 overall. "He was tough for the first five innings. (Poindexter's home run) is what picked us up. McClannon was big lift. It was a reversal from the last two games. We were ahead the last two games going into the (bottom of the fifth) and ended up blowing it. And tonight it was the exact opposite."

Poindexter

Lexington frustrated starting pitcher Poindexter in the second, third and fourth, scoring two of its three runs after there were two outs and nobody on base. Meanwhile, Hunt, the Central Piedmont 4-A Conference Player of the Year from North Davidson, had Mocksville under wraps. Lance Emert opened the bottom of the first with a single, but that was the only Mocksville hit through five.

"I didn't know Hunt was that tough," Lovelace said of the lefthander. "That's why we played for one run in the first. He threw three pitches for strikes. It was nothing overpowering, he just got ahead.

"There for a while, I was wondering if we were going to get anything going. We were flat."

Down 3-0, Mocksville desperately needed a lift. Poindexter provided it on Hunt's 1-2 pitch, homering to center to make it 3-2. Poindexter was clutch on the hill even though he wasn't close to as sharp as he can be, fanning back-to-back batters with two on in the third and doing the same thing in the sixth. He struck out 10 in six innings.

That's the type of effort Mocksville grew accustomed to receiving from Poindexter last year, when he hit .427 with nine homers and won six games with two saves.

"Once Dan did that, we did the little things at the end," Lovelace said. "He hasn't had his best stuff yet, and he still struck out 10. He's had some time off

Drew Absher Plays For AAU Empire

Drew Absher was the main man for South Davie's boys basketball team the past two years, leading the Tigers to a combined 24-3 record by averaging 13.6 points in 2003-04 and 22 in 2004-05.

Absher plays a supporting role for the North Carolina Gators, averaging eight points at shooting guard. But even though he isn't the center of attention for his 14-under AAU team, there are many moments when he elevates the entire team. He's the No. 5 scorer on a state dynasty, but he plays bigger than his statistics.

"They look at him as a zone buster," Coach Kenny Miller said. "He can make defenses spread out and make them have to guard us man-to-man. If anybody has a green light outside, it's him. I call him my J.J. Redick."

Miller has built an AAU empire. His Gators have won the state championship five of the last six years, and the one exception was a runner-up. Seven players have been aboard all six years, and Absher is a third-year member with three state titles.

This year has been amazing. In late March, the Gators won the Florida Super Regional. In April they went 7-0 in the state tournament, winning by an average of 30 points. The closest margin was 10, and they thumped the Charlotte Royals 81-61 in the finals. That's ridiculous.

In a national tournament in Houston in late April, they toppled three opponents that finished among the top 15 nationally in 2004, and they did it in a span of 48 hours. That's insane. They lost by two to Texas Select, which beat a California squad that won the national championship in 2004.

Their record through May 14 was 18-1, and they're ranked in the top 20 in the country.

Besides Mocksville's Absher, the Gators consist of two players from Wilson, one from Charlotte, one from Taylorsville, one from Kernersville, two from Winston-Salom, two from Summerfield and two from Greensboro.

Absher, a rising freshman, appears to be one of the most gifted prospects that Davie High has seen. A spot-up shooter a year ago, he has taken his game to another level.

"Drew's helped this team a lot," Miller said. "Not only did he come back stronger, but he's improved his ball handling. He's been able to give us not just his shooting ability, but he's been able to put the ball on the floor. Now when teams run out to respect his jump shot, he's able to give a pump fake and go past them, which really opens things up for other guys."

Davie's Silver Spirits Bring Home The Gold

Prior to leaving for the West Virginia State Senior Games in May, someone told the Silver Spirits I and II to " bring home the gold," and that's exactly what they did.

On Saturday, May 7, both Davie County basketball teams brought home gold medals from the West Virginia State Senior Games. Each team won gold, the 60+ age team won gold in their class and the 65+ age team won gold in their class.

Players participated were: Sue Allen, Alice Barnette, Vickie Frye, Lois Green, Nancy Haynes, Rachel Howard, Charlotte Miller, Aileen Steelman, Lucy Swaim and Dolly Urdanick. Several of the team's other players were unable to go with the teams. Vanessa Carter, coach of the Silver Spirits, accompanied the teams.

The Davie County Silver Spirits I and II are preparing for National Senior Games in Pittsburgh, Pa. They'll also be playing in the North Carolina Senior Games held during October at East Carolina University in Greenville. They will also be participating in other in-state and and out-of-state senior games.

Players encourage other seniors to get active and stay healthy by participating in the Davie Senior Games. Anyone interested in joining the teams may contact Dolly Urdanick at DBC006@aol.com or by phone at 284-4795, or Alice Barnette by phone at 909-1445. The teams hold practice on Mondays from 6:30-8 p.m. at the Brock Gym on North Main Street in Mocksville.

And men, there is also a team for you to play on. "The Silver Sparks," sponsored by the Davie County Enterprise-Record, also practice at the same time and location.

If you're 55 years of age or older, join the fellowship, fun and serious basketball.

Going National

15 Qualify In Senior Games

At the 20th annual North Carolina Senior Games State Finals, the Davie County Senior Games had 15 participants qualify for the 2005 National Senior Games - the Senior Olympics. The Nationals will be held in Pittsburgh, Pa., June 3-28.

The Davie County Senior Games registered participants are: Sue Alln, Alice Barnette, Vickie Frye, Lois Green, Nancy Haynes, Rachel Howard, Charlotte Miller, David Salmon, Aileen Steelman, Lucy Swaim, Dolly Urdanick, Elizabeth Williard and the Silver Spirits Basketball team's coach, Vanessa Carter.

Another Davie County resident, Jeanette Harpe, will be representing Piedmont Plus Senior Games at the Nationals playing softball.

Although the other women qualified in several events, they will be concentrating on 3 on 3 basketball at the Nationals. David Salmon will be competing in running events.

This delegation of Davie County Senior Games will be competing against qualifiers from 49 other states and Canada. The National Games competition is a biennial event and is held in different sites across the United States.

North Carolina Senior Games is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing year-round health promotion and education for adults 55 years of age and better, and is sponsored statewide by the North Carolina Division of Aging.

Other sponsors for Davie County Senior Games are Town of Mocksville, County of Davie, Mocksville/Davie Parks and Recreation, Davie Family YMCA, and several business and individuals.

For more information about how to be a participant, sponsor or volunteer at your local Senior Games, contact Sandra Boyette at 751-2325.

Spotlight on Business

Tile Rite's quality craftsmanship

If you're considering new flooring or a remodeling project for your home or business, Rick Silver at Tile Rite provides quality craftsmanship, reasonable rates and outstanding customer service – the kind that people deserve and should expect when hiring a contractor.

Highly skilled tradesman

Rick is a highly skilled tradesman who has worked with ceramic, procelain and natural stone for the past 17 years. He brings a wealth of knowledge to every estimate and job, along with a catalog of photos that showcases his previous work.

Rick's level of confidence is well warranted. He is proud to have a large following of satisfied customers that call him to do their new projects and continually refer their family and friends to him.

Rick's wife Julie says, "People know good work, a good deal and a good man when they see it. And they stick with it."

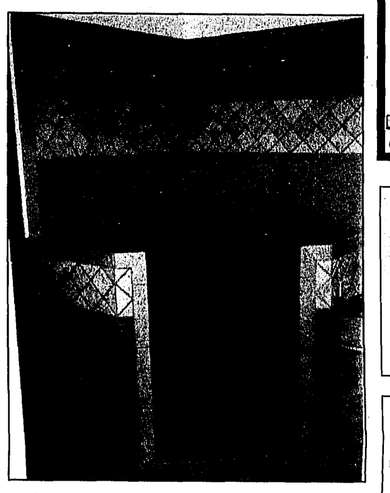

Enhancing your home's value

Ceramic, procelain and natural stone tile are the best combination of beauty and durability available on the market. No other product will enhance the value of your home more than these tile products.

It is no secret that bathrooms and kitchens are the focal point of any home when it comes to resale. These rooms along with patios, sunrooms and fireplaces can be turned into showroom quality areas with little effort.

As these photos demonstrate, Tile Rite's Rick Silver can convert your patio, bathroom or kitchen areas with brreath-taking tile.

No middle man involved

Unlike some retail companies and other contractors who subcontract out their work, Tile Rite eliminates the "middle man" in order to keep the customer's prices lower and the level of service higher.

Why pay inflated prices from flooring retailers when you can save money by dealing directly with the installer?

Free estimates

As always, Tile Rite's estimates are free and the customer is under no obligation whatsoever for this service. Upon request, Tile Rite will either bring the showroom to you or you can visit area showrooms and see everything that is available.

Either way, Tile Rite can save you money on your purchase, and have the product delivered free of charge. People may also purchase their own tile and have Tile Rite install it.

At Tile Rite, customer satisfaction and tile installation are always the primary focus.

For a free estimate or inquiries, feel free to call Rick at 813-8453 anytime.

(playing backup at Lenoir Rhyne), and it's just a matter of getting in a routine."

Before Poindexter's game-turning blast, Mocksville had mustered just three hits in nine innings dating to a 7-5 loss at Randolph County.

It got crucial contributions from Brad Corriher and McClannon. Corriher opened Mocksville's seventh with a double over the center fielder, and after a David Boyles sac bunt, McClannon tied it with an opposite-field, ground-ball double over third. Corriher capped a decisive three-run eighth with a two-RBI single.

"Corriher went 2 for 4 and his average came down," Lovelace said with a chuckle. "And he played great at first base."

McClannon also played a big role on the mound, pitching one-hit ball for three innings.

"Not to have thrown at Guilford, and doing what he's done, has been unbelievable," Lovelace said. "He didn't even throw any bullpen at Guilford. He played third base."

Luck smiled on Mocksville in the eighth. The first batter, Poindexter, reached on an error. Foo Smith bunted, the pitcher threw wildly to first and Poindexter came around with the tiebreaking run. Zach Vogler singled and stole second to put runners at second and third. That's when Corriher broke Lexington's back.

"That's a big win to battle back like that," Lovelace said.

Notes: After four and a half innings in the previous two games, Mocksville was outscored 12-0. ... Zach White was the loser in relief. ... Corriher is 6 for 10 with three doubles.

Mocksville Lets Leads Slip In Two Losses

The Mocksville Legion baseball team had a 5-1 fifth-inning lead over Mooresville, then watched it slip away as Mooresville scored seven unanswered runs.

Corriher

The next game at Randolph County on May 23 followed the same script. A 5-2 fifth-inning lead got visiting Mocksville's hopes up, but it got them dashed by Randolph's three-run seventh, which turned a 5-4 Mocksville lead into a 7-5 defeat.

Mocksville fell to 2-2, with all four being non-league games.

The Nos. 1-3 batters in the order - Lance Emert, Wesley Douglas and Dan Poindexter - went 6 for 12. But DH Brad Corriher, batting sixth, had the only other hit.

"At the top we've got averages of .412, .417 and .533 and Corriher is hitting .667. And then we've got .182, .188, .143, .154 and .077," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "We're going to have to get more productivity out of the bottom of the order. David Boyles has been here, but he didn't get to play a lot this spring at Wilkes (Community College), so it's going to take him a couple weeks to get in a rhythm. Corey Martin didn't bat one time for Forbush, so he hadn't seen any live pitching. So it's going to take time for these guys to adjust."

Lovelace was thrilled by the first 4 2/3 innings that starter Spencer Hodges turned in. The lefthander from Starmount retired the first two batters in the bottom of the fifth, but his effort was soured by a single and two-run homer that shaved Mocksville's lead to 5-4.

"We got great starting pitching. Hodges had them offbalance until the fifth," Lovelace said.

Reliever John McDaniel got the final out of the fifth to preserve the one-run lead, and he kept Mocksville ahead in the sixth. But he fizzled in the seventh, giving up a leadoff home run, two singles and a walk. An error was mixed in as Randolph scored three runs for the 7-5 lead.

Corriher led off the fourth with a towering homer to right that tied the score at 2-2. Things looked promising for Mocksville when it pumped in three runs in the fifth. Poindexter ripped a go-ahead double to right-center, Foo Smith's ground out plated a run and Mocksville's lead was 5-2 on a deep sacrifice fly by Zach Vogler.

"The biggest surprise is Corriher," Lovelace said of the lefthander. "He hit a monster home run off a hanging curveball from a lefthanded pitcher. It was 336 (feet) down the right-field line, and the right fielder didn't have to move."

The last four innings, however, were a different story. For the second straight game, Mocksville couldn't muster anything after the fifth. The visitors went 2 for 13 from the sixth inning on, after going 2 for 14 between the sixth and ninth the night before. It's been outscored 12-0 in the span of those innings.

To this point, Mocksville's offense lacks balance. Corriher, Douglas, Emert and Poindexter finished the night with an accumulative .480 average, while everyone else is a miserable .152.

"We have to stay within ourselves and not try to do too much," Lovelace said. "We don't have a lot of guys that are going to hit home runs. We're just going to have to do the little things it takes to win."

Notes: Emert moved from second to leadoff, singled twice, walked and "hit another ball hard," Lovelace said. ... Douglas reached four times with two singles, a walk and hit by pitch. ... Corriher was 1 for 1 with two walks and a HPB.

propelled legs ignited a three-run fifth. After reaching on an infield error, he stole second and third. Lance Emert broke the tie with a double and scored when Winston-Salem errored a tough play off the bat of Wesley Douglas.

After Brad Corriher made it 4-2 with a fielder's choice, Vogler capped the uprising with a single to right.

Winston-Salem pulls from North Forsyth, Reynolds, Mount Tabor and West Stokes. Two of Lovelace's players from Tabor - he's been the varsity coach there for two years - started and played the whole game.

"We hit it right on the nose, and they pitched Jay Laramore from Reynolds and D.J. Mitchell," Lovelace said. "And (North) Carolina was there to look at Mitchell for a position player. I think they're going to offer him."

Notes: Corriher had a double and two RBIs, continuing a dominating run that includes a .538 average, a season-long six-game hitting streak and team highs in walks (five) and doubles (four). ... Emert and Poindexter also have six-game hitting streaks. ... McClannon was a hardluck 0 for 5. "He hit it hard four times," Lovelace said. "All of them were to the infield, but they were shots." ... Outfielder Foo Smith was sick and didn't start for the first time. ... Hutchens stole three bases.

Kuell Gets Juniors Off On The Right Foot

Kuell

Pennington

Tom Kuell of the Mocksville Junior Legion baseball team delivered an eye-opening pitching performance in a 6-5 Southern Division win at Southern Alamance on May 25, and Zach Howard has produced at the plate in every game as Mocksville entered the week at 3-1 overall and 2-0 in the division.

In a Sunday doubleheader at Mooresville, Mocksville won 8-4 in the game that counted in the standings. In the nightcap, Mooresville scored six runs in the seventh to take a shocking 9-8 non-league decision.

In the first division game of the season, Kuell went all seven innings to lead the 6-5 win over Southern Alamance.

"He pitched a heckuva game," Coach Charles Kurfees said. "He pitched out of a lot of jams. He kept it low and nibbled on the corners all night long."

The clinching hit was provided by Matt Pennington, whose two-run double turned a deficit into a lead. Howard led with three hits and Justin Thompson boomed two doubles.

Howard had three hits and Chris Brogdon earned a win by pitching five innings in the 8-4 division win at Mooresville. Jacob Vernon and Heath Boyd added two hits each, and Tucker Pinard shut Mooresville down in two innings of relief.

Kurfees played his reserves in the second game, and they responded with a comfortable lead.

"We played the kids who work hard at practice all the time and don't get to play much," he said. "They deserved to play."

Bryan King pitched effectively for five innings, and Pinard protected the lead in the sixth. Josh Eder, Clint Howell and Howard - as usual - had 2 hits apiece, and things were going good as Mocksville entered the last of the 7th with the 8-3 lead.

But what looked like certain victory disintegrated into self-inflicted defeat. Mocksville's undoing was walks and errors.

"We walked two and then we decided we couldn't catch the ball," Kurfees said. "We threw a ground ball out in the road, and we dropped a fly ball. Then we walked two or three, and the next thing you know they get two on and a base hit to win the game."

Despite the messy finish, Mocksville is 2-0 where it matters. The biggest reason why is Howard, who is "tearing it up" at the plate along with playing terrifically at shortstop. Boyd has been just as good at second base.

Notes

• There's a new kid in town, and his name is Jacob Vernon, a rising freshman at Davie who previously went to a private school in Winston-Salem. His family built a house in Farmington. Kurfees believes he's an up-and-coming star. He plays catcher for Mocksville; and he told Kurfees he's a fullback/linebacker in football.

"You'll be writing about Vernon next fall in football," Kurfees said. "He's already lifting weights. He's already in the football program."

• For the first time in Mocksville's 24-year history, it has a player from Rowan County - Jake Koontz, who goes to West Rowan. The word is a host a players from Rowan County's team bolted to South Rowan, giving South 30-plus players. The commissioner stepped in, measured the mileage from Koontz's residence - as well as others - and determined that Koontz lives closer to Mocksville than Rowan and S. Rowan.

"He's our property," Kurfees said. "But I said: 'If you want to play at Rowan County or wherever, I'll release you.' We're not going to get in a war with those guys. We respect everybody. He said: 'I want to play here.' "

• Mocksville's upcoming games: June 2 away (Cherryville at 5), June 3 away (Rowan County at 7), June 4 at home (Mooresville doubleheader at 4), June 5 away (Eastern Randolph DH at 4) and June 7 at home (Montgomery County at 7).

Legion Roundup

May 23 - Randolph 7, Mock 5

Mocksville takes a 5-2 lead before allowing five unanswered runs. It's 4 for 27 in the last four innings of the last two games.

May 25 - Mock 6, Lexington 4

Mocksville wipes out a 3-0 deficit behind Dan Poindexter's two-run homer and Andrew McClannon's game-tying double. They also combine for 13 strikeouts.

May 27 - Mock 8, Winston 3

John McDaniel pitches an eight-inning two-hitter with no walks, while Poindexter and Zach Vogler provide three hits each. David Boyles hits a tying homer in the fourth, and Vogler drives in four runs in the last five innings.

Upcoming opponents: June 1 home (Stanly County), June 2 home (Kannapolis), June 3 home (Eastern Randolph), June 4 away (South Rowan), June 5 home (North Wilkesboro) and June 7 away (Concord).

Danny Correll And Sons Win Golf Classic

Danny Correll and his sons posted a 15-under-par 57 at the True Blue Plantation to win the second-annual Hannah & Friends Celebrity Golf Classic in Pawleys Island, S.C.

The Corrells were paired with former Wake Forest and current Carolina Panther wide receiver Ricky Proehl.

Hannah & Friends is a non-profit foundation dedicated to providing a better quality of life for children and young adults affected by Autism and Global Delays. The University of Notre Dame head football coach Charlie Weis and his wife, Maura, founded Hannah & Friends in recognition of their daughter, who has been affected by these developmental disorders.

The 2005 Celebrity Golf Classic was even bigger and better than last year's inaugural event, which raised more than $135,000 with 20 NFL celebrities participating.

Oak Valley Swimmers Have High Hopes

Oak Valley hits the water again this week, aiming to run the board for its first swim championship.

"We're looking real good," said new head coach Brent Gaither. "This team has more potential than any we've had in the past."

He takes over the top job this year from three-year coach Larry Umberger, who is finishing his study at Clemson University this summer.

Gaither, a junior history education major at East Carolina University, had been the assistant Orca coach.

The team's first meet is Thursday against rival Clemmons West.

Oak Valley has 120-plus swimmers to put in the water this summer. Sheer numbers help rack up extra points in dual meets, especially in relay events.

"We're filling out the age groups, so we will have no trouble with the relays," Gaither said.

Oak Valley has never beaten Sherwood or Brookwood. Gaither said his team has its sights on both - and more.

"We've set lofty goals, like beating Sherwood and Brookwood and going for the championship. We can't take Clemmons West lightly, though," he said. "Our swim league is a lot like ACC basketball. You can't take anyone lightly."

Catherine Nitz has been recruited as the assistant coach. Others on the staff include Stephanie Wendel and Drew Esposito.

"We have an optimistic, energetic coaching staff," Gaither said.

Oak Valley will be bolstered by young swimmers who take the sport seriously, competing year-round.

The Orca schedule includes:

- June 9 at home against Sherwood Forest.
- June 14 at home against Old Town.
- June 16 at Forsyth Country Club.
- June 21 at home against the former Hickory Hill team.
- June 28 at Brookwood.
- June 30 at home against Willow Run.
- The Winston-Salem City meet in mid-June at Bolton Pool.
- The League Championship July 15-16 at Forsyth Country Club.

Summer Sports Camps Offered

Rec Department

The Mocksville-Davie Recreation Department is holding several camps in June and July. They include:

- Baseball - June 20-23. Register by June 15. Cost $60. Ages 7-14. Rich Park from 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Instructors: Davie coaches Mike Herndon and Todd Bumgarner, West Stokes' Kirk Goodson, North Davidson's Bobby Byerly and college players.

- Tennis - June 6-10 and June 27-July 1 at South Davie. Cost $30 per week. Sign up for one or two weeks. Beginners from 9-10:15 a.m. Deadline is one week before camp. Instructor: Tina Arey.

DHS Basketball

- The Davie High girls basketball camp - for all grades - is June 6-9. On June 9 campers will go from 9 a.m.-noon. The June 6-8 morning session from 9-noon is for grades 1-8, and the evening session from 1-4 p.m. is for grades 9-12. The cost is $50.
- The Davie boys basketball program will hold a mini-team camp for rising ninth and 10th graders on June 3, 4 and 6 from 1-4 p.m. The cost is $70, which includes instruction, insurance and T-shirt.

Davie will have boys basketball camps on June 3-4, June 13-15 and June 21-25.

June 3-4 is a parent/child camp. The cost is $50 for parent and child and $15 for each additional child. The camp will include instruction on how to work with your child; games, contests and prizes; a pizza dinner on Friday night; and continental breakfast on Saturday.

June 13-15 is a shooting and player development camp. The cost is $50. The camp will include skills development sessions with Coach Mike Absher, an appearance by Lenoir Rhyne College coach John Lentz, shooting technique and emphasis on individual player development.

June 21-25 is a day camp that costs $90. The camp will include daily lectures with the War Eagles staff, learning basic offensive and defensive fundamentals, learning rules and terminology, games and prizes, and a championship game on Saturday.

You can also register online by going to www.dhs.davie.k12.nc.us and click on Quick links, then athletics, then spring schedules and then summer camps. Walk-in registration for all the camps is also an option.

Arnold 7th In Triple Jump

Cooter Arnold of Davie finished seventh in the triple jump in the state 4-A track-and-field championships at N.C. A&T on May 21.

Arnold competed in three events, and he jumped 44 feet, one inch in the triple. The first-place distance was 48-4.5. The Davie senior also participated in the long jump and 400 relay. His male teammates at the meet were seniors Deon Cody (shot put) and Ryan Boehm (discus), juniors Jaspen Gray (400 relay) and Jonathan Mayfield (400 relay) and sophomore Kenneth Brown (400 relay).

Davie had one girl competing, and that was freshman Tamika Reynolds. She did the long and triple jumps.

Davie's boys finished 45th with two points, and Davie's girls didn't score.

DHS' All-Conference Players Announced

Davie produced six all-conference players in baseball and softball, four in soccer and three in tennis.

Making the All-Central Piedmont 4-A Conference team in baseball were senior Lance Emert; juniors Zach Vogler and John McDaniel; and sophomores Whit Merrifield, Zach Howard and Brandon Stewart.

Seniors Amy Alexander and Carrie Sain; juniors Hannah Tierney, Ashley Whitlock and Kaitlin Hall; and sophomore Whitney Williams were named in softball. In the final stats Whitlock's average was posted at .200, but that was an error. She actually hit .236.

Seniors Alyson Walker and Sharon Woodward, junior Justine Gamble and freshman Stephanie Jarvis were selected in soccer. Juniors Matt Hauser and Phillip Hursey and freshman Alex Appelt were honored in tennis.

Davie Producing Plenty Of College Athletes

Has Davie High ever produced more college-bound athletes than it did in 2004-05? If so, it hasn't happened many times. There has definitely never been more football players to earn college scholarships.

Seven players from the 14-1 team that made the 4-A state semifinals will be on the gridiron this fall: Cooter Arnold at North Carolina, Ted Randolph at Wake Forest, Ryan Boehm and D.J. Rice at Coastal Carolina, Dustin Morgan and Deon Cody at Winston-Salem State and Zac O'Brien at Lenoir-Rhyne.

Three players from the boys basketball team that finished second in the conference for the first time since 1988 will step up to the next level - it's just a matter of where. Foo Smith is leaning toward Greensboro. Cliff Burns and Josh Aiken have yet to make their final decisions.

Nicole Maready is going to play basketball at Pfeiffer, Lance Emert is going to suit up for Lenoir-Rhyne baseball and Corey Doub is going to run cross country at Mount Olive.

And Jessie Whitesides has been signed by Catawba in softball. Unfortunately for Davie, she never displayed her pitching skills and lightning speed at Rich Park. She was home schooled.

South Davie Wins MSC 'Titles' Trophy

South Davie won the trophy for most regular-season championships in the nine-team Mid-South Conference.

The Tigers collected four titles, including eighth-grade football under Coach Todd Bumgarner, seventh-grade girls basketball under Becky Miller, boys track under Brenda Holmes and boys tennis under Barry Kennedy.

Old School

Davie Sports News From June, 1996

- The Mocksville Legion baseball team blew a 6-3 ninth-inning lead and lost 7-6 to Rowan County. Mocksville built the lead behind the pitching of Destry Swaim and the hitting of Andy Ward, who was 3 for 4 with a home run. Rowan won on a three-run homer by David Trexler.

Stephen Ashworth and Carlton Hire were both 4 for 6 with five RBIs in a 20-13 win over Lexington. Shane Allen was 4 for 5 and David Whitaker was the winning pitcher, giving up three unearned runs in five innings.

Charlie Wands and Ashworth had four hits each and Jansen Keene added three in a 14-4 win over Statesville. Wands pitched all nine innings.

Wands had four hits and Jeff Prince, Ward and Keene added three each as Mocksville rolled over Wilkes County 17-6. Swaim closed the door with 3 2/3 scoreless relief.

Mocksville had runners at second and third with one out in the ninth, but didn't score in an 8-7 loss to South Rowan. Coach George Daywalt's club came in 4-0 in the Southern Division. Ward, who homered, Charles Miller and Brian Anthony had two hits each.

- In the second round of the 3-A/4-A slow-pitch softball playoffs, Davie led Hickory 8-1 through five and a half. But the hosts scored six in the sixth and two in the seventh to stun Davie 9-8.

The loss ended the careers of three four-year starters - shortstop Jonette Williard, second baseman Janis Barney and pitcher Jennifer Bell. Bell, Keisha Wagner and Tania Dillard were all 3 for 4, and Williard hit an inside-the-park home run. Davie finished 17-8.

Rising Davie High freshman Drew Absher drives to the basket for the South Davie Tigers.

Rising Freshman Helps AAU Team To National Ranking

But Absher is so good because he combines talent with unselfishness and intangibles that every team wants.

"He motivates other guys," Miller said. "I can stick him anywhere on the court and he can make things happen. Whether he's playing guard or a position he's never played, he gives you 100-percent effort. And the rest of the guys respond to him a lot because they see a guy that doesn't sometimes have the talent they have, but the heart he puts out there is so big that the other guys respect that."

Absher's talent goes beyond the basketball court. He was an unsung hero on a South Davie football team that romped to 16-0 in two years, and he was the Tigers' No. 1 golfer, shooting consistently in the low 40s.

But his focus now is on helping the Gators make a run in the national tournament in Florida.

"We love to win our state, and that's a goal we set every year," Miller said. "But we're trying to get our mind frame set on that national title. For a couple years we may have gotten a little complacent with just winning our state, and this year I think we've got all the right people together to win the nation. We're 10 deep and I run five people in at a time."

Notes: Drew is the son of Mike Absher, Davie's varsity boys basketball coach. ... The Gators have given back to their respective communities, working in the yard on Saturdays at churches and project homes. In mid-May in Mocksville, they worked at First Baptist Church and cleaned inside and outside at two houses.

Fighting Irish Tops On McNeil's List

Dame is No. 1, followed by (in no particular order) Virginia Tech, Virginia, Miami and Ohio State. Stanford has called Illing and expressed interest. McNeil expects to hear offers from Ohio State, Miami and Tennessee in the near future. The only other player the Miami coach was recruiting on his trip to North Carolina was a linebacker from Crest.

Illing

"The other night on the phone, Ohio State's coach told me he's probably going to have me an offer early (this) week," he said. "The Miami assistant coach said he's going to take my tape, all the coaches are going to review it and more than likely they'll give me an offer pretty soon, which is definitely what I've been waiting on. All football players want to play for one of the big Florida teams. I'm expecting one from Tennessee pretty soon, too."

McNeil, Illing and Devore Holman are flying to South Bend, In., on June 3 for an unofficial visit at Notre Dame. McNeil has walked campuses at Virginia, Virginia Tech, Duke, Wake Forest and Tennessee, and he plans to go to Virginia for the second time on June 11.

He said he's wide open, that his final answer will be a difficult one.

"I've never really followed college or pro," he said. "I've just played, so I don't really have a favorite team. I'm really taking my time and not trying to rush. You've got to really do your homework on guys you talk to, and you've got to talk to coaches more than once to weed them out."

McNeil plans to major in architecture and computer science.

Davie home-schooled children take part in a "mini society" activity at the county office building led by 4-H volunteer Kim Crowley.

Mini Society

4-H Leader Helps Home Schoolers Learn About Life

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

If Kim Crowley is in charge of a 4-H program, Tracy Carter doesn't worry.

That's because the 4-H Extension agent knows that Crowley loves learning, loves teaching children and genuinely cares.

"I truly appreciate her judgment and trust her to lead our youth in representing Davie County well," Carter said. "On the other hand, youth always have a great time when she is in charge."

Crowley was recognized as an outstanding adult leader on the district level.

She loves everything about 4-H.

"My kids started in 4-H nine or 10 years ago. I inherited the club (4-H Home Club for home-schooled children) four years ago," Crowley said. "What I like about 4-H is that it is hands-on activities."

In the spring, she led a group of some 25 home-schooled children in a mini-society, where they learned entrepreneurship, economics, advertising and other aspects of a society.

They met for two hours twice a month.

"This is so much like play they don't realize they're learning," Crowley said.

The 4-H Home Club meets the second and fourth Thursdays at the Brock Gym on North Main Street in Mocksville, from 1-3 p.m. Crowley has led electric projects, cooking projects and more. She leads them through community service projects, such as going to nursing homes, cleaning litter from roads, stocking shelves at A Storehouse for Jesus and planting flowers at the Davie County Public Library.

As a 4-H volunteer, she has led Summer Fun workshops and chaperoned on many trips.

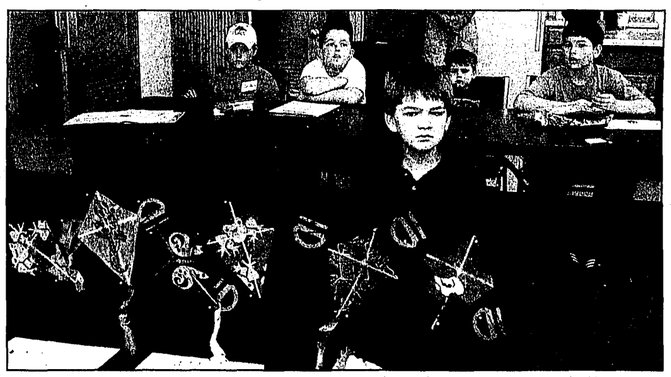

According to Carter, Crowley is the Davie 4-H "curriculum specialist."

"She has developed the skill to take any topic and turn it into a learning experience for herself and youth. She actively seeks out opportunities to learn and share them with others in any way she can."

Carter said that Crowley goes about her volunteer work with no

Right Equipment In Kitchen Makes Cooking Easier

By Robin Lowder
Davie County Enterprise Record

The idea of setting up a new kitchen or updating an existing one should be an easy task if you consider some basics.

I would like to share with you my philosophy about how, or how not, to set up a kitchen. It is simple. I break it down into three groups: the necessity items, the good to have items and the novelty items.

The first purchase for your kitchen should be a good set of cookware. I don't recommend buying the cheapest set because they generally don't last long and end up having to be replaced in less than a year. I look for cookware that has a heavy base, is non-stick and can be used with metal utensils. This type of cookware tends to cook more evenly and holds heat for longer periods of time. Also, check to see if you cookware comes with a warranty.

Your second best purchase is a set of dishes that are dishwasher safe, microwave safe and are great for everyday wear. I know of one woman who has been using the same set of Corelle dishes for more than 20 years.

The third purchase would be a good set of silverware that can be used for everyday, has a simple pattern and can be easily replaced if any are lost or end up in an ugly accident in the garbage disposal.

The fourth purchase for this group would be a good set of knives. A set of knives does not have to be the most expensive to work great. When knife hunting, look for high-carbon stainless steel. They are easier to sharpen and clean. A knife should not be too heavy or too light. It should be comfortable in your hand and easy to handle. The most commonly used knives for preparing food are the chef's knife, paring knife, slicing knife and serrated knife.

These items help a kitchen to run smoother and should include things such as spoons and spatulas of various sizes for cooking or serving. A strainer comes in handy at my home at least 3-5 times a week. Just in case of power failure, I wouldn't be caught without a handheld can opener. Casserole dishes can be small enough to cook for two or large enough to cook for a crowd. Round and square cake pans in different sizes are great. I learned the hard way why not to use a 9-inch round cake pan for a recipe that calls for an 8-inch round cake pan. Don't forget the cookie sheets and cooling racks. Yes, two mixers really are better than one, a good 4 or 5 quart stand mixer is great for big jobs such as mixing cakes, cookies and breads, while a good hand mixer works well for small jobs like beating egg whites or mixing pudding. Metal or stainless mixing bowl sets are a great investment because they can be used with hot or cold items and they don't hold odors like wooden or plastic bowls do.

Stockpots in 8 and 10 qt sizes are good to have for cooking soups, stews, whole chickens and large batches of potatoes for potato salad. All kitchens need small and large glass measuring cups for liquids and plastic measuring cups and spoons for dry ingredients.

Potholders, oven mitts and trivets are one of those things you can never have too many of.

Even though you may have a food processor, a good old-fashioned box grater can still come in handy for the small jobs. Some of the smaller gadgets needed for the kitchen might include: garlic press, cherry pitter, strawberry capper, funnels, timer, biscuit cutter, whisk and a sifter. One of the strangest things people find in my kitchen and they have to ask, "What are you keeping the dental floss in the kitchen drawer for?" I have to tell them "It is the best tool to use for cutting cake squares and bread dough that I have ever found."

I use the term novelty items because it describes those kitchen appliances or gadgets you use one or two times or until the novelty of the item wears off, then it goes on a shelf and stays. I will admit I have a bread machine that I haven't used in ... let's just say a really long time. I guess in this line-up we should include things like the sandwich maker, the blender, those special shaped cake pans and who can forget the fondue set? (I hear fondue is making a comeback so you might want to hang on to it).

The best thing to remember when setting up your kitchen is to buy items that fit your budget and lifestyle.

German Chocolate Chess Pie

Filling
3 eggs, beaten
1 and 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 T. vinegar
1 t. vanilla extract
1 tablespoon. cornmeal
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup miniature chocolate chips

Pie Crust
1 and 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening, chilled
5 tablespoons ice water

For pie crust, combine flour and salt in a medium-mixing bowl. Cut in shortening with a fork until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add ice water and stir until mixture forms a soft ball. Refrigerate for 30 minutes. Remove from refrigerator and place on a floured surface and roll in 1/8 inch thickness. Place in pie plate and flute edges. Set aside

Preheat oven to 325 degrees.

In a medium mixing bowl combine all filling ingredients and mix well. Pour into the prepared pie shell. Bake pie for 60 – 65 minutes or until middle is firm. Serves 6-8.

Banana Pecan Torte

Submitted by Dale Lowder
1 cup Butter, softened
2 and 1/2 cups sugar
4 large eggs
2 cups mashed ripe bananas (approx. 4 medium)
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 and one half cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
3/4 teaspoon Salt
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 cup chopped pecans, toasted

Frosting
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup butter, softened
3 and 1/2 cups confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3/4 cup chopped pecans, toasted

In a mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in bananas and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients; add to creamed mixture alternating with buttermilk. Stir in pecans. Pour batter into three greased and floured 9-inch round cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until a toothpick inserted comes out clean. Cool in pans for 10 minutes; remove to wire racks to cool completely.

For frosting, beat cream cheese, butter and sugar in a mixing bowl. Add vanilla. Spread between layers and on top of cake. Sprinkle with pecans. Yields : 12-16 servings

Chicken Casserole

Submitted by Carolyn Brown
1 (3-4 lb) chicken, that has been cooked, boned and shredded
1 stick butter or margarine, melted
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 can cream of celery soup
1 soup can of chicken broth

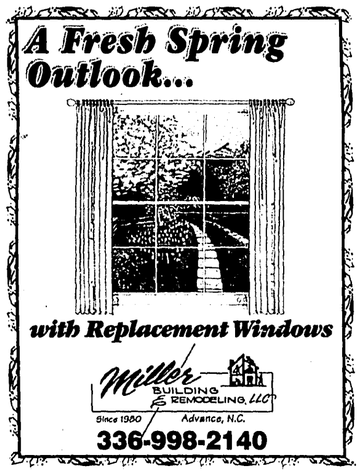

Place shredded chicken into a buttered 9x13 inch baking dish. Pour melted butter over chicken. In a small bowl combine, flour milk and baking powder. Mix well. Pour over chicken. In a small bowl combine soup and broth. Mix well. Pour over chicken. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Tips and Hints

• When choosing bakeware, remember that lighter colored pans cook at a lower temperature and will produce a lighter crust while dark pans tend to produce a thicker, darker crust and can toughen delicate cakes if baked too long and at too high a temperature.

• When choosing a tube to be used especially for pound cakes, a light interior pan or two pieced pan will produced a higher lighter pound cake.

• Send recipes to rdlideas@triad.rr.com or P. O. Box 693 Lewisville, 27023.

Freeman Earns Nursing Excellence Award At Baptist

Freeman

On May 3, Heather Blakley Freeman of Graywood Court in Advance received the Nursing Excellence Award from Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center.

Freeman, a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro School of Nursing, is a RNBSN at Brenner's Children's Hospital adolescent floor.

The award is given each year during National Nurses Week. Nurses are nominated by their co-workers and chosen by a review board made up of members of the professional development council. The application process includes background information on the applicant's education, professional and personnel committees and activities.

The application also considers how the nurse displays excellence, compassion, innovation, integrity and collegiality in their practice as a registered nurse.

Angels Among Us

The 12th annual 5-K family walk at Wade Stadium in Durham was held April 23 with 24 teams raising $643,000 for the brain tumor center at Duke Hospital. "Hubbas Bubbas" pictured above raised $31,000. Those from Mocksville walking were Donald and Katherine Hursey, for their daughter, Carla Stitt of Raleigh, a 1979 Davie High School graduate. Carla and her husband Greg, and children Megan and Brooke, participated. A total of 28 family members participated on Carla's behalf.

Former Davie 4-H Agent Earns NCSU Top Honor

Safrit

Dr. R. Dale Safrit, former Davie County 4-H agent and currently associate professor and Extension specialist in the Department of 4-H Youth Development, has received one of North Carolina State University's three top honors for his statewide leadership in the areas of extension and engagement.

Safrit received the Alumni Outstanding Extension and Outreach Award at an Honors Convocation May 12, held in conjunction with spring commencement.

The award carries a $3,000 one-time monetary award. Only three university faculty are chosen annually for this award, which recognizes individuals who offer significant contributions in making scientific information available and understandable to North Carolina's citizens."

Safrit and seven other NCSU faculty members were inducted into the NCSU Academy of Outstanding Faculty Engaged in Extension at a dinner held April 27 at the University Club in Raleigh. The academy is the only one of its kind in the nation, and recognizes excellence in extension and outreach at the university.

Safrit was recognized for his leadership in the areas of youth and adult volunteer leadership development. He co-chairs a statewide Cooperative Extension committee that has enabled N.C. Extension 4-H agents to reach more than 10,000 youth and adults with leadership development programs. He provides faculty leadership to a first-of-its-kind web-enhanced curriculum designed to train and support teen and adult volunteers in teaching younger youth in their communities.

Safrit is a former 11-year faculty member at Ohio State University where he taught undergraduate and graduate courses in volunteerism, leadership, non-profit program development and strategic planning, and administration. He co-authored the book, Developing Programs in Adult Education: A Conceptual Programming Model (2002, Waveland Press, Inc.) as well as author or co-author of more than 42 peer reviewed articles in scholarly and professional journals.

His professional accomplishments and recognitions include: Epsilon Sigma Phi's North Central Regional Award for International Programming; the Award of Excellence from the Volunteer Administrators' Network of Ohio for outstanding contributions to field of Volunteer Administration; two-term president of the statewide association Volunteer Ohio; the National 4-H Agents' Association Distinguished Service Award; the Ohio State Departmental Outstanding Advisor Award; and Outstanding Teaching Awards at the college and department levels.

Safrit has presented invited sessions in 39 of the 50 United States, four Canadian provinces, and 11 other countries including the United Kingdom, Ireland, Finland, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, Armenia, Russia, China, Mexico and Brazil.

Safrit is a native of Rowan County and was a life-long NC 4-H member. He was the 1976 valedictorian of West Rowan High School and holds bachelor's degrees in entomology and science education, a master's in medical-veterinary entomology, and a doctorate in adult education, all from NC State.

He was the 4-H agent in Davie County from 1983-1987. Safrit is the son of Mr. And Mrs. Lloyd A. Safrit of Candlewick Drive in Salisbury.

Older Adults Can Get Job Training

Experience Works is a non-profit organization that helps low-income senior citizens get training for jobs in their communities. It is recruiting individuals age 55 and older, with limited income, who want to learn new skills, gain job experience, and work full or part-time.

Through the Senior Community Service Employment Program, Experience Works collaborates with nonprofit organizations and community-service agencies to provide paid work experience, training and job placement services to seniors in local communities.

Giving back through community service and learning valuable skills is the key to success for many seniors, said Billy Wooten, Experience Works regional director.

Bermuda Village residents meet newcomers at a dinner on the Garden Terrace.

Bermuda Village News

By Lisa O'Donnell
Bermuda Village Correspondent

Residents gathered in the living room last Thursday evening for a Newcomer's Happy Hour. New residents were stationed throughout the room, (identified by a group of colorful balloons close to their station), and were greeted by more than 100 established residents.

The newest residents included: Charlie and Starr Braswell from Wake Forest, Fred and Mary Brookwell from Hilton Head, S.C., Woody and Marilyn Edwards from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Glenn and Ginger Glover from Winston-Salem, Louis and Mary Lipinsky from Mooresville, Jean Shaffer from Bermuda Run and Barbara and Talbot Smith from Savannah, Ga.

Following Happy Hour new residents dined together on the Garden Terrace. The evening's menu featured baked Virginia ham accompanied by a tossed salad, steamed broccoli and squash, and an ice cream sundae bar for dessert.

Mary and Fred Brookwell came from Hilton Head, S.C.

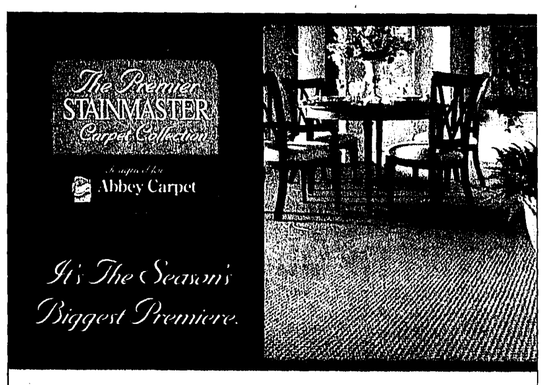

Barbara Smith welcomes Glenn Cover from Winston-Salem.

Charlie Braswell from Wake Forest with Nicky Stange.

Farmington News

By Laura Mathis
Farmington Correspondent

Saturday, May 28 was a big day for the Pansy Furches family. There was an auction at the Furches estate on Farmington Road. People came as far as Florida.

Farmington Ruritans had their annual golf tournament May 27 at Pudding Ridge Golf Club. Thirteen teams competed. Keith Green was captain of the winning team. His teammates were Mike Chapple, Eddie James and Jeff Gunter. They were sponsored by The Kinderton Hayworth Miller. The winning team won $200. The second place team was Team Captain Mike West, C.W.Allen, Roger West, and Lester Allen. They were sponcered by Sun Trust Bank of Mocksville.The second place team won $100. Other contest winners included: Rodger West for Longest Drive, Randy Brown for Closest to Pin, and Buck Cleary for longest drive in the Seniors Division. These winners all received $50. The Ruritan Club appreciates all who participated in the fundraiser. Proceeds go toward scholarships for area high school students.

The Farmington Community Center had a large walkway constructed this past week. This walkway will serve as a wheelchair ramp and safe way to access the building for those unable to use the stairs. The walkway was constructed by employees of Ronnie McCuiston Concrete. This is one of the projects that the center is doing to prepare for the up-coming program with Senior Services. We would like to thank the Good Timers Square Dance group which contributed $200 toward the construction of the walkway. Members of the group have been active in installing a new floor in the meeting room which will be used by the Senior Services program. Keep in mind that the center continues to need the support of the community to be able to complete other projects. The breeze-way leading to the building needs repair. Volunteers are needed to take off and replace rotten wood. A rubber roof to cover the breeze-way will cost aproximately $1000 so donations are needed. Now that the gym has been painted, volunteers are needed to refinish the wood floors on the entrance and stage floors.The tennis courts also needs some work; installing a new net, filling in cracks in cement, and painting new lines. If you want to help with these projects call me at 998-0825.

The Davie County Coon Hunters Club will have their monthly meeting June 7 at 7 p.m. at the Farmington Community Center. Their Buddy Hunt will follow. The Clubs PKC Hunt is scheduled for June 16 at 8 p.m. For more information, call Carl Falin at 998-6271.

The Farmington Community Center will be hosting a free martial arts demonstration for all ages on Friday, June 10 at 7 p.m. This will be a kick-fff for upcoming classes by Karate International. These classes will be given weekly at the center. Karate International has a broad range of classes from small ones to seniors. There is a Family Class and a Self Defense Class (I think all women should look into this one). There will be hot dogs and hamburgers for sale. For more info on the event or the classes call 945-5063.

Louise Walker and her family would like to thank the good Samaritans who stopped to assist Louise this past week. Louise, who is 87, was working at the edge of her yard pulling weeds. She became light-headed and fell over into the road. The good Samaritans stopped and helped her to the house where she was able to call family. Mrs.Walker and her family really appreciate your care and concern.

The Farmington Community Association meeting will be Monday, June 6 at 7:30. All board members are asked to attend.

The Farmington Volunteer Fire Department will meet June 7 at 7 p.m.

The Farmington Ruritan Club will meet June 9 at 7 p.m. They will be treated with a special presentation on Farmington history,

Ronnie McCuiston's company installed the ramp.

Our community sends congratulations to Paula Shew Allen and Elaine Koontz Snow. Paula, daughter of Margaret and Paul Shew, was the 2004-2005 Teacher of the Year for Davie High School and Elaine Koontz Snow, daughter of Oscar and Sarah Koontz, is the 2005-2006 Teacher of the Year for Davie High School. We are proud of the accomplishments of our home-grown young women.

We congratulate these graduates: Bryan Rogers, associate in early childhood, Mitchell Community College; and Shawn Owens, Davie High School.

We send get-well wishes to Cleo Gaither of Calvary. Cleo was hospitalized at Wake Forest Medical Center last week but is recuperating at home. Beatrice Lackey is recuperating at her home on Ridge Road. Join us as we pray for the Lord's continued healing in the lives of these residents and others who are having health problems.

This week we paid tributes and gratitudes to those who paid the ultimate price for our country - those who gave their lives for our freedom. On Memorial Day, we remember those who were killed in action.

Last year, we paid tribute to five County Line soldiers who were killed in action in World War II - Billy Daywalt, Adren Koontz, James Moore, Edward Stroud and John Wilson. We again remember these young men and the effects of the war upon their families. Words can never express the depth of our respect and gratitude to them and their families.

Our residents answered the call to serve either in the military or in a support role at home during World War II. The support included manufacturing goods, rationing gas. All effort was put in winning the war.

For those enlisted or drafted, they left spouses or sweethearts, parents and friends - some never to return alive. Others returned after the war, but some of those returned disabled for life. Today, 1,500 of the World War II veterans died each day.

Two cousins, Roy Lee West and Henry Lee Williams, were drafted. Roy returned unharmed but Henry returned disabled for life.

Roy lived with his parents, Lee and Bessie Safriet West, on Ridge Road and was drafted by the U.S. Army in February 1942. After basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C., he was assigned to the Golden Arrow 8th Infantry Division in Europe. His task was to lay wire/cable for communications ahead of the troop invasions. He was involved in Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland, Central Europe and the Battle of the Buldge. During one 10-month period, Roy was out of range of enemy fire only 10 days.

While Roy was in Europe, he received much encouragement via letters from family and friends - especially a favorite girlfriend Clara Sain of Bethel, whom he had last seen in July 1943. After the war in Europe was over, Roy returned to County Line in July 1945 to see his family and Clara and was later discharged from the Army in September 1945.

But for Roy, his war service was not yet over. Just as he had been encouraged, it was now time for him to give back.

Roy's cousin Henry, son of Jack and Emily West Williams of nearby Rowan and later Ridge Road, had been drafted by the Army in 1944 and was serving in Europe. Henry and an Army buddy were captured by the Germans and held prisoners-of-war during the winter of 1944-1945. The Germans were having difficultly getting needed supplies; hence, they stripped their prisoner sof any usable goods. They stripped Henry of his boots. Henry and his buddy escaped, hiked during the night, and lay low in the woods during the day. They made it to the Allied territory but not before Henry's feet were severely frostbitten.

Henry as returned to Durham Veterans Hospital for amputation of his feet at the arch and later to his family and friends and sweetheart Betty West. After the war, Roy was able to help Betty and Henry by visiting and taking Betty to Durham.

As with most couples after the war, Henry and Betty and Roy and Clara later married (September 1945 and February 1946, respectively). Both couples settled on Ridge Road, soon enjoyed good times again, and reared families - hence, the baby boom began.

Many Davie residents will remember Henry as a part-time salesman at Reavis Ford in Mocksville. He died of a heart attack in June 1971 and Roy lost a long-term battle with leukemia in June 1976.

We pay tribute and are indebted to all veterans of war.

In the summer of 1946, Roy and Clara and Henry and Betty enjoy good times again.

People in our area celebrated the Memorial Day Weekend in a variety of ways. Friends and family of Brandi Beck surprised her with a party at Sagebrush Restaurant in Statesville in honor of her 21st birthday. They also ran an ad in last week's Enterprise with photos of a much younger Brandi and a more grown-up version.

My husband, Chris and I attended the wedding of his niece, Kristin Tuttle to Ron Segars Jr. in Winston-Salem on Saturday, May 28 - Chris's birthday. Paula Tuttle, who is Chris's sister and Kristin's mother, was born on May 31.

The Sheffield area will be busy Saturday, June 4 with the community yard sale starting early that morning at the fire department.

Later that same afternoon at the Community Center, the Reeves family will hold their family reunion with a covered dish meal beginning at 4.

New Union Methodist Church announced this year's Laity award was given to member Jimmy Bailey. His wife Ruby, brother-in-law Charlie, mother-in-law Lois Caudle, and other family members attended the service to join the congregation in surprising Jimmy with this honor. Sue Cabe presented the award. This designation is presented once a year to a person who has been outstanding in the church and the community. Special speaker for the services was Sister Patsy Brewer. Previous award recipients were Hazel Smoot and Wanda Sutphin. A Laity lunch in the church's fellowship hall followed the services.

New Union will sponsor a fundraiser breakfast on behalf of Terry Keaton on Saturday, June 18 at the Sheffield/Calahaln Community Center. Terry is a patient at UNC-Chapel Hill University Hospital, where he is awaiting heart and kidney transplants. Church members will bake goods to sale.

The church's Women's Fellowship reminds everyone about the dinner meeting at Zeko's Village Restaurant June 14 at 6:30 p.m. Brenda Bailey at 751-7567 is the contact person.

I suspect that Terry and Sandra Dyson will try to avoid traveling late at night in the future. On their way home last week, they encountered a cow that was on Hwy. 64, instead of in a pasture beside the road. Although their vehicle was damaged, fortunately they avoided serious injury. However, the cow wasn't so lucky and did not survive. The last time they were driving home late at night, they had a similar interaction with a deer.

Homecoming will be at Wesley Chapel Church on Sunday, June 5 with Ted Baity speaker. Service will be at 11 a.m., with a covered dish dinner immediately following in the fellowship hall. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mac Eure needs our thoughts and prayers. He had a massive stroke several weeks ago. He is improving but is not well.

Kathy Ellis and Nora Latham spent last week visiting their son and grandson, Ethan Boger, and wife, Allison, in Pittsfield, Mass. They had a great time touring the area. They visited Vermont, Rhode Island and New York while there.

Bill and Nancy Benson of Charlotte recently visited and spent some time with Nora Latham.

Jayne Stacey Sanford

Jayne Stacey Sanford, 83, died Thursday, May 26, 2005 at her home on South Main Street, Mocksville, after several years of declining health.

Born Nov. 8, 1921 in the Harlan County town of Lynch, Ky., Mrs. Sanford was the elder daughter of Charles Blanford and Gladys Marie Blend Stacey. She attended upper elementary school at Saint Cammilus Academy in Corbin, Ky. and was assisted by her teachers to go from seventh grade to ninth grade, so that as a high school student, she could compete in the Kentucky State Classical Voice Contest. She won the contest all four years of high school and was offered a scholarship to The Julliard School. She chose instead to study at Mount Saint Joseph College and the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music in Ohio. During World War II, Mrs. Sanford worked alongside Rosie the Riveter at the Willow Run Bomber Plant near Ypsilanti, Mich. In thelate 40s, she taught music in Kentucky. She married Jack Sanford in 1950 and made Mocksville her home for the next 55 years. In the early 1950s, she was active in the community, serving as president of the Davie Heart Association and the Red Cross Home Representative to military families for many years. She was instrumental in forming the hospital auxiliary and started the Candy Striper program. She directed the junior and senior choirs at First Presbyterian Church for several years. She was a profile reader and a letter writer and remembered everyone's birthday. Many will remember her as their Girl Scout leader. She led a senior troop for many years, chaired committees and served several terms on the board of directors of the Tarheel Triad Girl Scout Council.

Her parents, her sister, Margaret Stacey Childers of Lexington, Ky. and her husband, John S. (Jack) Sanford of Mocksville preceded her in death.

If you are a single mom and would like to attend, contact the church office at 998-3022 by June 2. Green Meadows is located at 1646 NC 801 N.

New Life Plans VBS

Vacation Bible School will be held Monday, June 6-Saturday, June 11 at New Life Ministry Pentecostal Holiness Church, 229 Milling Road, Mocksville. For ages 6-12, there will be games, arts, crafts, and singing. On Friday there will be a graduation ceremony, perfect attendance certificates and prizes. A game day for children and parents will be held Saturday, including table tennis, badminton, horseshoes, basketball and croquet, with free hotdogs and drinks.

VBS will be from 6-8 p.m. Monday-Friday, and from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturday. For more information, call Kay at 751-5229. It would help if children are registered by Friday, June 3.

First Presbyterian, Holy Cross Vacation Bible School July 17-22

First Presbyterian Church and Holy Cross Lutheran Church will sponsor Vacation Bible School July 17-22 at First Presbyterian, 261 S. Main St., Mocksville.

The first night of Bible School will begin at 4:30 with a family cookout. All other nights will begin at 5:30 with a meal for the participants. Classes will be from 6-8.

The theme is "A Voyage To Jesus, A Passage to Peace." There will be class time, arts and crafts, and singing each night. There will be classes from children age 2 through adults. The Bible stories are from the Gospel of John: Feeding the 5,000; Healing of a Man Born Blind; Washing the Disciples' Feet; The Resurrection of Jesus; and Breakfast by the Sea.

Come aboard the SS Peacefinder for the voyage to the Sea of Peace. To register or get more information, call First Presbyterian at 751-2507.

Ramble Across America At Bear Creek Baptist VBS

Bear Creek Baptist Church is planning for a "moving" Vacation Bible School Sunday, June 12-Thursday, June 16 from 6:30-8:45 p.m. Family Night and commencement service will be Friday, June 17 at 6:30 p.m. No one is too young or too old. There will be classes for all ages.

Children from birth to sixth grade will travel (without leaving the church) to destinations across America as they learn about worship, thankfulness, salvation, belief, and obedience to God. The theme is Ramblin' Road Trip - Which Way Do I Go?

Children can dress for the trip if they like: Sunday - wear red, white and blue to visit Washington, D.C.; Monday - baseball hats and team shirts for a Chicago stop; Tuesday - straw hats for a trip to the farm in Lebanon, Kan.; Wednesday - shorts and hiking boots for a trip to Yellowstone National Park; and Thursday - sunglasses and bright-colored shirts for the amusement park at Knott's Berry Farm in California.

Youth in seventh-12th grades will actually travel to church members' homes during VBS. Youth will meet at the church at 6:30 each night and be taken to a church member's home, where they will have Bible study, recreation and refreshments, returning by 8:45.

The adult class will be held in the church sanctuary, Sunday-Thursday from 7-8. The study will be on the book, EKG-Empowering Kingdom Growth by Ken Hemphill. The adult class will be taught by Ralph Pitts.

Friday night, June 17, everyone will bring their families and meet for fun and fellowship with a hotdog supper and commencement service.

Pre-registration will be Sunday, June 5 from 3-5 p.m. For more information or directions to the church, call 492-7456.

Fairfield To Honor Cooter

On June 5 at 4 p.m., Fairfield Missionary Baptist Church will hold a program in recognition of James "Cooter" Arnold for his contributions to football in Davie County. Arnold graduated from Davie High School this year after leading the varsity football team through a successful season.

Arnold finished with 5,172 rushing yards and 67 touchdowns, both school records. In addition to local accolades, he is the only player to be on offensive and defensive all-state teams and was ranked the No. 17 player in North Carolina by the Charlotte Observer. He will be continuing his career at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Join his coaches, teachers, classmates and more on June 5 as he is recognized for his accomplishments and to wish him the best as he continues his college career. The event will be held at Fairfield Missionary Baptist Church at 164 Excalibur Lane, off US 601 South in Mocksville. For learn more, contact Justice Fulton at 751-5798.

Turrentine Baptist Plans Vacation Bible School

Join Turrentine Baptist Church on Saturday, June 11 from 9 a.m. -2 p.m. for the Vacation Bible School titled "Jerusalem Marketplace: Where Jesus Walked to the Cross".

Walk the streets of a Jerusalem marketplace to experience Bible-learning activities for children and adults. Experience the sights, sounds, and smells of a bustling marketplace. While visiting the shops, enjoy the sweet aroma and samples from the bakery, candy shop and herbs and spice shop. Hear the authentic music, and learn the role of the basket-makers. See the shopkeepers training apprentices in weaving, pottery, jewelry making, and carpentry. Share the streets with the animals. Learn more about God's love and Jesus' sacrifice by becoming immersed in authentic Bible-times culture.

All ages are welcome. Classes will be held for children age 3 through 12th grade, and adults are encouraged to come at any time to visit the Marketplace Shops. All are invited at 1:30 for a re-enactment program of Jesus' walk to the cross. If you need more information, call 998-5100. Turrentine Baptist Church is located at 613 Turrentine Church Road, Mocksville.

agenda other than trying to help children learn.

"All Kim expects is a smile from a child and a thank you from parents, which she often receives, but deserves so much more."

Gina Maurice, a member of the Home School Club, agrees.

"She is fun, energetic and most of all, really nice," Gina said. "Mrs. Kim puts together very cool meetings like worm day, tree measuring and a Christmas party."

Sign Up For Next Mini-Society

School's out, so now what? Well, you could start your own business.

It may sound a little unrealistic, but with the help of the Davie 4-H Mini-Society Day Camp, it could really happen for youth in grades 4-6, July 25-29.

Mini-Society is a wonderful hands-on way to learn about entrepreneurship, economics and citizenship. Participants will spend the mornings developing and experiencing their own "real world." By creating their own society, money and business, they will gain skills in multiple areas, discover cooperation, creativity, goal setting, self sufficiency and have fun. Youth who accept the Mini-Society challenge will have the opportunity to "purchase" a business and sell goods and services to each other with the currency they create. Money they earn can be spent at daily auctions.

Each afternoon campers will go on field trips to explore our real society. They will visit local government offices and learn about what happens behind the scenes. Trips to area businesses and talks with the entrepreneurs who run them will provide valuable insight into our society and what it takes to start your own business.

The program will be held each day from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Davie County Office Building meeting room, 180 S. Main St., Mocksville. Registration is $60. Register with the Cooperative Extension, 180 S. Main St., Suite 210 or call 751-6297 for more information or to request registration materials.

Davie 4-H is the youth component of Cooperative Extension and a United Way agency.

WCU Student Wants More Than A Diploma

Reading Great Books Among His 'Education'

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

Brandon Robinson wanted more out of college than a diploma. He wanted an education.

The Mocksville native will receive his bachelor's degree in history from Western Carolina University this summer. During his college years, he has read 300 of the books written by Western civilization's deepest thinkers.

He didn't do it for extra credit or part of a class assignment. He did it for himself, devoting several hours a day to reading the erudite writings of philosophers and historians.

Robinson, 23, started his serious reading at Davie High, also trying to become an accomplished speaker.

He was selected to deliver the WCU winter commencement address earlier this year.

Through his college years, he patterned his self-education after Thomas Jefferson, reading many of the same books that had influenced the young Jefferson — books on philosophy, politics, literature, theology and sociology.

Plato, Socrates, Aristotle — Robinson plowed through those and many more. Some were boring. Some were difficult to understand. None are on today's best seller list.

One of the books had gone undisturbed for decades in the university library.

"My history professor had checked it out in 1976 — before I was born. That was the last time it had been checked out."

The books may be culturally significant philosophical works, but some were real sleepers.

"Without a doubt, the most boring book I ever read was Aristotle's The Politics," Robinson said.

Robinson's goal was a classical education. In addition to the books, he has collected and learned classical music and developed his writing skills through letters and journals.

"People who have only known me in college assume I have always been a class nerd," he said. "In high school, I was average, but people did not know about my reading behind the scenes."

In high school, a book about Jefferson inspired him to read broadly.

His goal: To be a modern Renaissance man in Jefferson's mold.

The ideals of Jefferson are sometimes hard to find in today's sex-charged, celebrity-conscious life-style. Today's dominant philosophy sometimes seems to be Nike's slogan, "Just do it."

Robinson said that would disappoint America's founding fathers such as Jefferson and Madison who searched for the meaning of life and its highest ideals.

What would they think if they could see America today?

"They would worry that we have allowed American freedom that they sacrificed their lives for to be a license for self-gratification instead of creative expression. The 'pursuit of happiness' for Jefferson was the pursuit of spiritual and intellectual freedom. They would be worried we are not cultivating our inner resources. I think all of them would share that fear."

Robinson said Davie County still has a lot of people who follow the mold of Jefferson — devoting themselves to public service. He recited a long list of local people who he watched as they devoted themselves to the community.

"In American society, in general, we are in danger of losing the idea of the citizen — the citizen who realizes with great liberty and freedom there are duties and responsibilities. In Davie County, I think, that is still very strong."

He honed his speaking talents with recordings of speeches by John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr. and Franklin D. Roosevelt. He also admired the speeches of Abraham Lincoln, another self-tutored man.

He had the real life local examples of speakers Hank Van Hoy and Julius Suiter. Mocksville engineer John Grey talked with him during his high school years about the great books. And Mocksville businessman Dan DesNoyers, knowing his regard for Jefferson, took him to Monticello.

Students Encouraged To Balance Faith, Family, Health, Work

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Carol Herndon looked across the gym at Davie High School.

The bleachers were filled with a few teachers and administrators, a handful of parents - and hundreds of students.

It was an academic excellence recognition, and Herndon was amazed that some 400 students had made the honor roll in a single school.

The 16-year Food Lion employee, now executive vice president, said she made it to where she wants to be in life by balancing faith, family, health and work.

"I'm responsible for my own life. I make choices every day," Herndon told the honor students. "Don't excuse yourself from responsibility. Think, 'I will cause something to be'."

If you take control of your own life, you can't blame others and be a victim, she said.

"You control the future. Be resolved to accomplish what you really want to accomplish. If you understand that, it's critical.

"In life, all you have is your word. What you say to people, what you commit to people, you absolutely have to honor it."

Faith, family, health and work guide everything, Herndon said.

"I absolutely believe we're here on Earth for a defined purpose. It isn't a chore to figure out what that is, it's our responsibility."

Herndon has overcome pressures at work, and cancer, but chose to take control of her life.

"If it is to be, it is up to me. I think life really is that simple. Find your passion. Put your word against it. Be responsible and your accomplishments will be extraordinary."

Recognized at the ceremony were the academic letter winners, including the top 8 percent from the senior class, and the top 5 percent of the freshman through junior class.

Student Seeks Diversified Education

He won Mocksville's Martin Luther King Jr. speech contest in 1998, and marveled when told the prize is now a $1,000 scholarship.

At WCU, he received the 2003 Community Builder Award. He has been assistant editor of The Gadfly, a journal published by philosophy students. He is also a public relations assistant for the school's Hunter Library and an assistant to the university planner.

He plans to enter law school in a couple years, eventually practicing law in the piedmont area of North Carolina. Like Jefferson, he wants part of his life to be devoted to public service.

"I would like to be an active voice in the community and emulate some of the individuals I saw growing up," he said.

Robinson is the son of Victoria Lynn Price.

He cited this as his own philosophy of life: "Live a life so beautiful in form, and so original in expression, that efforts to polish it after death would be unnecessary."

His favorite book was Soren Kierkegaard's The Sickness Unto Death, and he regarded Kierkegaard as one of the more underrated philosophers of the age.

His professors haven't always agreed with the time he has devoted to reading. His grades have slipped at times because of it.

"I was an A-student until about a year ago. I'm now a B-student," he said.

But he considers the sacrifice worth it.

"This project was a product of inspiration. If I simply pursued the standard curriculum I would be considered an educated person, but I would not feel enlightened. I would not feel intellectually complete. I felt the drive to pursue this. I don't recommend that everyone necessarily do that, but looking back at it, I haven't been a failure as a student and I have a wealth of knowledge that will transcend any degree, and I can take this with me for the rest of my life."

Robinson contends that others — who only read romance novels or the best sellers — might also appreciate these timeless classics.

"I honestly believe anybody can do it. Anybody who went to college a long time ago. Grandparents who never went to college. White collar, blue collar. Conservatives. Liberals. The average person is highly intelligent, and the average person if they have the curiosity and the will to learn can do it. It does not take genius, or I couldn't have done it."

Beverly Hobson's third graders at Shady Grove Elementary School who created the Town of Funsville.

The Town Of Funsville

Shady Grove Third Graders Design The Perfect Place

ADVANCE - The Town of Funsville is considered the perfect town by Beverly Hobson's third grade class at Shady Grove Elementary School.

On April 22, Mrs. Hobson's third graders joined with the Davie County Planner and North Carolina Division of Community Assistance planners to develop what they thought would be the perfect town for Davie County.

The students were given a Perfect Town Map exercise to work on before the planners visited their classroom. Each student designed his or her own perfect town. Their individual designs were brought together to create the perfect Town of Funsville in Davie County.

Students had the opportunity to role-play either as a planner, one of the commissioners or a developer and express their concerns and opinions on the development of the Town of Funsville.

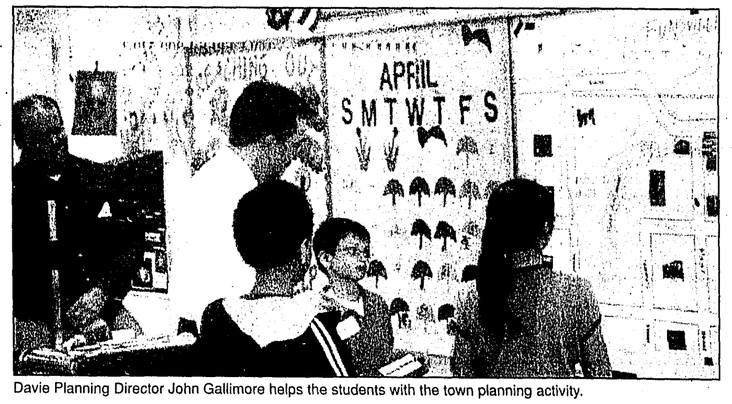

A visit to their town would take you down Squirrel Street near the Funny Fun River which is the most popular area for housing, education, recreational activities and businesses like the ice cream parlor, the candy store and the pizza restaurant.

A walk down Main Street and Pennsylvania Avenue will take you to the local police and fire departments, banks, medical facilities and several restaurants.

The Davie County and NCDCA Planners agree that Mrs. Hobson's third grade class had some great ideas on Community Planning and a vision for their future. said John Gallimore, Davie County planning director.

Students serving as commissioners make it clearn which way they are voting.

Davie Planning Director John Gallimore helps the students with the town planning activity.

North Cooleemee Graduates

The Concerned Citizens of North Cooleemee recently recognized graduates from the neighborhood, including: Keisha White, Kings College in Charlotte; D.J. Rice, Coastal Carolina College in Conway, S.C.; Nasa Bares, UNC Greensboro; Clifford Burns, scouting colleges such as Kansas, Mississippi, Texas and Utah; Brandon Goolsby, North Carolina School of the Arts; and Craig Kenny Link, NASCAR motor school in Mooresville. "The concerned citizens are proud of their accomplishments over the years," said Barry Melton. "We would like to thank the community for their support, and the Cooleemee Police Department and Davie County Sheriff's Department."

Schools Writing Program Plan

The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) requires that each local education agency submit an application and plan in order to receive federal funds.

This plan is good for one year.

The Davie County School System is writing its plan prior to submitting assurances of compliance to the Department of Instruction. Interested persons are encouraged to review the plan or the assurances and make comments concerning the implementation of special education under this federal program. All comments will be considered prior to the submission of the plan or the assurances to the N.C. Department of Instruction in Raleigh.

The IDEA Plan or the assurances are open to public review and for comments through June 3 in the office of exceptional children's program, Central Davie Education Center, 220 Campbell Road, Mocksville.

Wilkinson Earns Master's Degee

William Charles Wilkinson received his master's degree in agronomy from North Carolina State University in Raleigh on May 14.

In December 2002, he received his bachelor's degree in agronomy with a minor in agricultural business from NCSU. While a student at NC State, he was an active member of Farmhouse Fraternity and Alpha Zeta. He plans to continue his employment with the NCSU Soil and Crop Science Department.

Wilkinson is a 1998 graduate of St. Stephens High School in Hickory. He is the son of Cynthia and Bruce Blackburn of Hickory and Tom Wilkinson of Cooleemee. Maternal grandparents are Edith Waller and the late Kenneth Waller of Woodleaf. Paternal grandparents are Mabel Wilkinson and the late Ray Wilkinson of Mt. Ulla.

School Bus Drivers Sought

In an effort to train additional school bus drivers to meet the growing student enrollment in Davie County, a bus driver training course will be offered July 11-13 at the DCCC-Davie Campus in Lab 100.

The class will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on July 11 and 12, and 8:30 a.m.-11 a.m. on July 13. There is no charge.

Individuals who obtain a valid bus driver's license and drive for Davie County Schools will be reimbursed for the cost of a license.

For more information on school bus driver positions with Davie County Schools, call 751-2627.

Three From Davie Earn Degrees From East Carolina

Three Davie students at East Carolina University were awarded degrees during spring commencement exercises.

Tamie Potts earned a bachelor's degree with honors in social work. She was also named to the chancellor's list with a 4.0 grade point average.

Kyle Nichols earned a bachelor's degree with honors in chemistry. He is also an honor roll student with a minimum 3.0 grade point average.

Kristen Cox earned a bachelor's of business administration degree with honors in management. She was also a dean's list student with a minimum 3.5 grade point average.

PUBLIC NOTICE
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT COMMISSION/ NPDES UNIT
1617 MAIL SERVICE CENTER RALEIGH, NC 27699-1617
NOTIFICATION OF INTENT TO ISSUE A NPDES WASTEWATER PERMIT

On the basis of thorough staff review and application of NC General Statute 143.21, Public Law 92-500 and other lawful standards and regulations, the North Carolina Environmental Management Commission proposes to issue a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) wastewater discharge permit to the person(s) listed below effective 45 days from the publish date of this notice.

Written comments regarding the proposed permit will be accepted until 30 days after the publish date of this notice. All comments received prior to that date are considered in the final determinations regarding the proposed permit. The Director of the NC Division of Water Quality may decide to hold a public meeting for the proposed permit should the Division receive a significant degree of public interest.

Copies of the draft permit and other supporting information on file used to determine conditions present in the draft permit are available upon request and payment of the costs of reproduction. Mail comments and/or requests for information to the NC Division of Water Quality at the above address or call the Point Source Branch at (919) 733-5083, extension 520. Please include the NPDES permit number (attached) in any communication. Interested persons may also visit the Division of Water Quality at 512 N. Salisbury Street, Raleigh, NC 27604-1148 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. to review information on file.

The Town of Mocksville, 171 Clement Street, Mocksville, North Carolina, has applied for an expansion of NPDES permit NC0021491 for its Dutchman's Creek WWTP in Davie County. The 0.3 MGD expansion will increase the facility's permitted flow from 0.68 MGD to 0.981 MGD. The facility discharges treated wastewater to Dutchman's Creek in the Yadkin-Pee Dee River Basin. Currently BOD, ammonia nitrogen, cyanide and total residual chlorine are water quality limited. This discharge may affect future allocations in this portion of the watershed.

Drowning Victim Loved The Outdoors

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

A three and a half day search ended Monday night when the body of a Mocksville man was recovered in the Second Creek Tributary of High Rock Lake.

Searchers with Liberty Fire and Rescue found 43-year-old John Kalish Jr. about 20 yards off the shore of Cow Island around 8:30 p.m., more than two hours after the recovery operation was suspended by Rowan County Emergency Services.

Kalish's body was pulled from the murky waters near where he was last seen when he fell out of his boat Friday afternoon. He was not wearing a life vest.

Rowan County Emergency Services Director Frank Thomason said the rescue operation, which included more than 100 people from as many as 25 agencies, had been scaled back by Monday afternoon to four boats and a dozen men.

"We were no longer in rescue mode," Thomason said. "We suspended the operation at 6, but we had some men who agreed to continue to search for a few hours after that."

Thomason said the length of time needed to recover the body was not unusual for a drowning victim at High Rock.

"The water is pretty dark and the bottom is real muddy," Thomason said. "And there is a lot of debris on the bottom, which makes it real hard to locate the body."

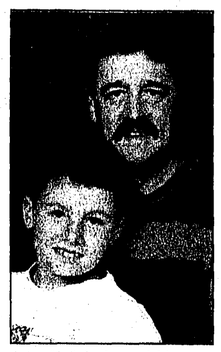

Kalish was camping with his 10-year-old son, John Frank Kalish III, his best friend Frank Brown, and one of Brown's friends. Brown's friend and his son were on the island setting up a tent as he and Brown trolled about 20 yards off shore.

According to reports, the boat may have struck a log and started to take on water. As Kalish tried to start a bilge pump, he moved a battery, lost his balance and fell over the side and into the water.

Kalish's father, John Frank Kalish Sr., said his son may have hit his head on the boat's motor, but added that he had been suffering back problems after an injury while moving a deer stand. Kalish said it was possible his son's back may have locked up on him when he leaned over or when he fell into the water.

Kalish moved to Mocksville from Sumter, S.C. in 1980. He was an avid hunter and fisherman with a love of the outdoors, and an outstanding punter and defensive back

Anonymous Letter On Sheriff's Dept. Started DA's Investigation

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

District Attorney Garry Frank said he knows the identity of the author of the anonymous letter that prompted a six-month-long investigation into the Davie County Sheriff's Department and alleged wrong doing of Lt. Jimmy Phipps.

Frank declined to comment on the identity, stating to disclose it would be inappropriate before he renders his final say on the investigation.

The investigation included interviews with a county commissioner because of information that was brought to the attention of Frank. Frank said Commissioner Michael Allen was interviewed by agents with the SBI when the investigation into the origin of the information led them to Allen's door.

"Mr. Allen was interviewed because information that may have been germane to the case was circulating," Frank said. "There was a chain of events that led us to believe that Mr. Allen may have been the source of that information."

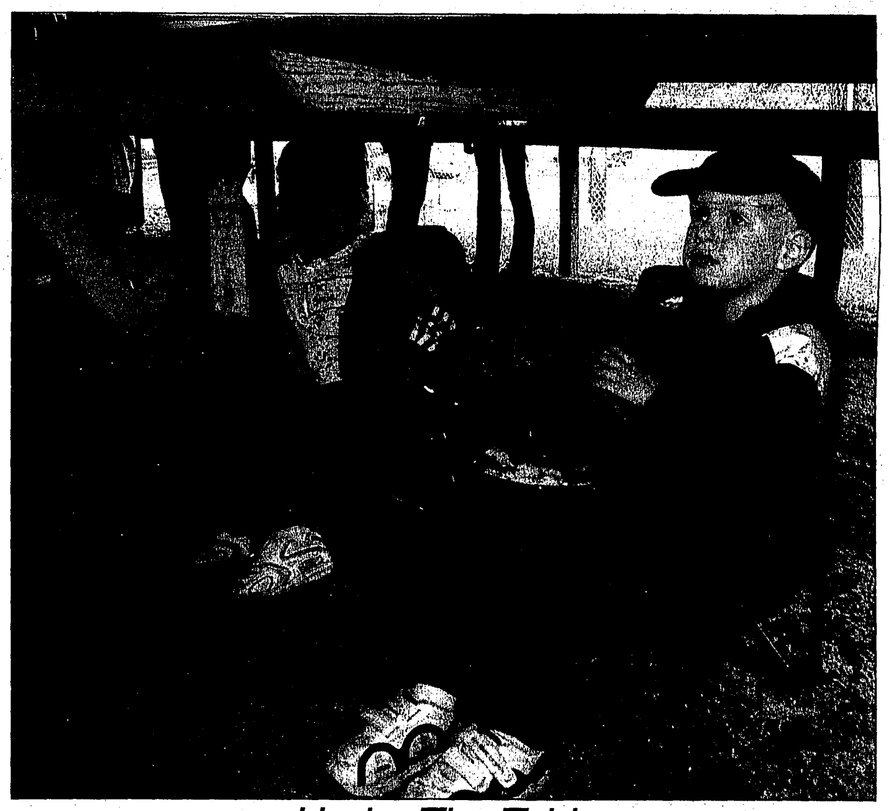

Frank said Allen called his office at least once after his initial interview with the SBI to clarify some of the information he had given them.

Frank would not comment on whether he felt the information needed to be clarified.

Frank would also not say whether the information helped his case, nor would he say if the information was able to be substantiated.

The investigation was spawned at the request of Sheriff Allen Whitaker. Whitaker said he contacted Frank last fall when he learned of the letter, and requested the independent investigation. He claimed it was the right thing to do

Budget OKd With $50,000 More For Schools

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

County Commissioners passed a $75.5 million budget Monday evening, marking the largest budget ever for Davie County.

County Manager Terry Bralley said almost a third of the budget, ($24 million) will go towards capital improvements - or building projects.

"This was a real bricks and mortar budget," Bralley said. "The new school and senior center construction takes up a large part of this."

Ongoing water line construction will exceed $5 million, and the water/sewer enterprise fund exceeds $4 million.

Bralley said that he felt the commissioners did a fair job addressing the budget requests of the school.

"There was an additional $50,000 appropriated, and we released $100,000 of technology funds immediately," Bralley said.

Bralley said the $150,000 additional funds meets the schools request for an additional 2 percent over what he had recommended.

Superintendent W.G. "Dub" Potts said he appreciated the additional funds, but he would still need to trim almost $200,000 from his budget.

"Our first priority has been to make sure the classroom isn't affected," Potts said. "But we're still going to have to cut quite a bit from our other programs."

Potts said the energy manager's

Spring Cleaning Uncovers Old Shopping Mistakes

Spring cleaning is finally over at my house. I have been through the attic. The bathrooms. The bedrooms. The closets. Even the basement.

Over the past month, I have cleaned everywhere — except under the kitchen sink. It's just too dangerous to go there without EPA advisors.

I have tossed clothes that don't fit — giving up on ever getting back into a size 36 waist. Neither will the boys wear their toddler clothes again.

I gave scores of unread books to the library. I made weekend trips to Goodwill to dump things.

It amazed me that I, with my reputation as a cheapskate, had bought all that stuff. Even more amazing, I had kept some of it for decades.

Some things I couldn't part with.

Precious Mary gave me that 20 years ago — for Father's Day. Some assembly required.

It's a bow-back chair from the factory, unfinished and probably very easy to put together. And still in its original box.

I haven't found the time, motivation or skills for the job.

It requires reading instructions, which is always a problem for me.

I tried to get my oldest son to put it together once. He declined. Son Two can handle details. He may inherit the chair.

I almost tossed the box onto the pile going to Goodwill. I considered it as potential yard sale fodder. But I couldn't do it.

I did get rid of my table saw.

I bought the Sears Craftsman 10 inch table saw in 1980, planning to become an amateur furniture maker. Since my days in shop as a freshman at Davie High, I have imagined I could be a really skilled craftsman.

So I got the saw.

Then I realized I needed a dozen other tools to go with it. And I feared that maybe I hadn't actually learned enough in shop class to become a certified cabinetmaker.

So the table saw became a lonely tool. I made bird houses with it and little else.

I almost sold it 10 years ago.

I would have advertised it in last week's newspaper, but I missed the deadline.

Then I remembered my brother-in-law. He really is a handyman. So I dumped it on him, with cautions not to put his fingers close to the blade.

It went to a better home.

It was a ruthless cleaning — at times.

I threw out the old video tapes of not-so-good movies I had watched once — or not at all. Broken toys. Torn clothes. Ugly ties. Mismatched plastic food containers. Canned food from another century.

Other things were granted a reprieve.

Like the tennis racket, even though I haven't played in 10 years.

Like a favorite suit that will fit again if I drop a dozen pounds in the right places.

Like several very expensive baseball bats from Son One, saved for a chance that Son Three will use them one day.

The cleaning process was a peculiar way to look back at my shopping habits.

On impulse, I had squandered money on things I didn't need, that didn't fit and that I had never used.

Like the forgotten Christmas dishes that are never retrieved from the attic during the proper season. Like the dubious curtains bought because they were on sale — not because they were pretty or actually fit the window. They were still in the container. Like the shirts that just didn't look the same at home as they had in the store.

During the process, I resisted urges to go shopping. Why add to the pile? Why spend so much on items that lose their appeal so quickly? Why buy another table saw?

But my consumer habits have not been totally changed.

Now that the closets, the attic and basement are organized ... it's time to start hoarding again. Empty shelves and bare corners have a way of attracting stuff.

Cornatzer-Dulin Breakfast A Success

To the editor:

Chief David Smith and I would like to express our gratitude to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cornatzer-Dulin Volunteer Fire Department for again sponsoring our May fundraising breakfast and our sincere appreciation to the members of our community who donated food, drink, and eating utensils to support this project. Your tireless efforts and generosity made the breakfast a big success.

We would especially like to thank all of you in the community who joined us for breakfast. Your generous donations to the fire department at the breakfast help us to provide additional personnel training, community awareness programs, and safety equipment, all of which help us to provide the best possible fire protection to you, the residents of our fire district, as well as those of you living in surrounding districts to which we provide mutual assistance.

Thank you very much for your support. We look forward to seeing you at the breakfast again in the fall.

Cost Of Not Fighting Greater

To the editor:

In one of last week's letters, frustration was expressed with the federal government's over spending, our nation's expanding debt, our porous borders, the cost of caring for the illegal immigrants and a concern of China having a growing influence on our national economy. With that being said, I would like to be the first to welcome the author of last week's letter to the Republican Party.

Throughout her story she kept repeating the war on terror cost $300 billion; but the alternative of not fighting terrorism is vastly more costly. The following is a small list of how expensive not fighting terrorism can be: Four civilian aircraft, 385 million; two major buildings, with a replacement cost of 3 to 4.5 billion; damage to a government building, 1 billion; estimated economic losses to New York City, 105 billion; national economic losses approaching 2 trillion; and finally, so nobody forgets 2,992 murdered with 6,291 injured. What happened on Sept. 11, 2001 was the result of not fighting terrorism.

This country's war on terror did not start with the invasion of Afghanistan. It started with a handful of courageous individuals attempting to regain control of the hijacked United Airlines Flight 93. That event was the first time Americans stood up and fought against terrorists, instead of quietly sitting down and giving them what they wanted, ending the era of appeasement. This selfless act of a few, potentially saved hundreds of lives by causing the aircraft to crash in an empty field in Pennsylvania instead of a populated area.

Then she asks the question "Do you feel safer?" Safety is a relevant feeling. Is it safer now, compared with 20 years ago, when hundreds of thousands of soldiers were on the border with East Germany and West Germany? Is it safer now, compared to 43 years ago, during the Cuban missile crisis? Is it safer now, compared to 65 years ago, when Hitler had control of almost all of Europe? I would have to say no, I do not feel safer. Not because I am scared of another terrorist attack; but, because of Americans who are so close-minded and full of hatred, like the author of last week's letter, who think President Bush is the enemy in the war on terror.

Thank You For KidStrong

To the editor:

I am writing to express my sincere gratitude for everyone who helped to make the first annual KidStrong an enormous success. We hope to make KidStrong an annual event, and I wanted to thank everyone who helped in our inaugural event. I wanted to thank all the teachers at North Davie who worked so hard to make this a successful event. I especially wanted to thank Dana Keeney, Kitty Hartung, Candy Poplin, Jon Marshall, Deb Gustafson, and of course, my mom Chris Callahan.

I also wanted to thank the Davie County businesses which contributed to this event. Please continue to patronize these businesses to show your appreciation for their support.

I know that it's sometimes hard to realize how individuals are making a difference in the fight against cancer. After all, cancer is a big issue and we're only individual human beings. But the reality is that I wouldn't be here today unless individuals hadn't made a donation to cancer research 15 years ago. More importantly, events like KidStrong ensure that in another 15 years, families will be less likely to be affected by cancer.

Many people made extremely generous donations of their time and money, and I simply don't have the words to express my gratitude. But I can tell you that your generosity has clearly demonstrated that humanity is stronger than cancer. You have renewed my faith that one day we will defeat cancer entirely.

The Goat Train

The Goat Train was a real eye-catcher during the 1950s as it made its way through this area, stopping in Mocksville and Clemmons. The goats pulled a paddlers' wares. One of his stopping places was near Tanglewood Park at the old water fountain in the triangle of U.S. 158 and Lasater Road. The paddler sold garden tools, and children loved to see the goats. Charles "Muggs" Smith of Farmington found this old post card photo of the goat train and remembers seeing it as a boy. The Enterprise Record welcomes old photographs of Davie people and places. Let's Work Together For Common Good - Our Schools

To the editor:

For the members of the Board of Education and for everyone in the county, this has been an eventful year for our school system. First of all, we are excited about the new middle school that we will be building in the near future. We are grateful to Mr. Ellis for his most generous gift of land and to the county commissioners for agreeing to fund the new school.

Another great event for our school system was the Mebane Challenge. Thanks to the philanthropy of Mr. Allen Mebane and the residents of Davie County, we are able to update the technological capacity of our schools, a move which will better prepare our students for the demands of the modern world.

Yet there is much more to do. We must have a second high school in the near future. Davie High School is so overcrowded that everyone in the county should recognize it as a crisis which is only going to get worse as more and more students are sent there from the middle schools. Once again the commissioners are working with the school system to find suitable property for a new facility. In addition to building a new high school, we also must update our high school curriculum so that it meets the needs of students in the 21st century.

The budget that the BOE presented to the county leaders listed our real and ongoing needs, which are getting greater every year. A 2% increase in the school budget this year and for the last several years is certainly not enough. That is why I believe that our local school board needs some sort of taxing authority such as other counties in our state have solely for schools.

Finally, there is a large group of proactive parents who want to see the school system meet the needs of all of its students. This is an asset to all of us. If we all work together for the common good, we can indeed make dreams come true.

Carefully Choose Child's Camp

To the editor:

I wanted to write to all the parents who are sending their children to camp this summer. This week, I have sent my son to Cub Scout camp and have seen numerous advertisements for camps which inspired me to write this letter to educate parents on what to look for in a camp. I also hold horse camps at my farm and been involved in directing or assisting with camps since 1991. I have had a wide range of experiences, some good and some bad, and think it would be wise to share with other parents my experiences.

Parents need to do their homework when looking for a camp. Just because it seems like a respectable organization does not mean that the camps offered are up to safe standards. Parents should find out who is going to be with the children and request that a background check has been completed and a copy is available if requested. I have known nice people you would never suspect who have records of offenses that may make parents question whether they want to leave their child in that person's care.

The person running the camp should be educated in that field. If the camp is open to children with special needs, the person running the camp should have the proper education, such as a special education, occupational therapy, speech therapy or some sort of relevant college degree. Make sure that if the person running the camp has some type of certification that they have the degree to back it up. I went to a one-day weight training class for occupational therapists and now I am a certified weight trainer. I am certainly not qualified to teach weight training, even though I received my certificate.

Many places use college students for help because they are cost effective and available, but they might not be properly trained. I was involved in a camp where 14 children, ages 5-7, were taken to a pool with no lifeguard and supervised by only two college students, which, I am not sure were lifeguard trained.

I was employed, fresh out of college, as the art director at a reputable camp and ended up teaching sailing since the "water safety instructor" had no sailing experience. I took children out on the Pamlico River in sailboats with no lifeguard training.

I am thankful that nothing ever happened under my care because I would not have known what to do. All leaders, including college students, should have some supervision during the camps. I have loved the college students who have helped me in the past, but they are still "students" who usually do not have children of their own yet, and are not completely clued in on the capabilities of children.

The ratio of children to leaders should be appropriate for the activity. Swimming, horseback riding, and any other extreme sports should have a smaller ratio than, for instance, a soccer camp. I have a one camper to one leader ratio with all my beginner riders, no matter what age, while on the horse and four campers to one leader ratio for other on-the-ground activities.

Most parents just drop off their children and assume that the camp is safe and supervised. It is important to ask the following questions. If the camp is held outside, what do they do if a thunderstorm approaches? What does the camp do during the hottest times of the day to get the campers out of the heat? Will the leaders apply sunscreen to your child? If they go on a field trip, how many additional leaders do they have? What is the camp policy on a camper being left alone with a leader? Does the camp carry the required liability insurance for operating a camp? Most insurance companies I have dealt with require additional coverage for camps.

Before you sign your child up, go out the facility where the camp will be held and make sure it is safe. Most importantly ask lots of questions and ask to see proof of documents. Do not be afraid to ask or afraid you will offend anyone by asking to see these documents. You will only offend the camps that do not have the right documents. As a director of a camp, I am assured by parents who are concerned and am happy to supply them with the information.

I offer horse camps through the Davie YMCA, SibShops, A Storehouse for Jesus and Hidden Horse Farm. I know of a lot of great camps and some shady ones, too.

Be smart for your child's sake and have a great summer.

Ellen James, Hidden Horse Farm, Mocksville

Elliot Richardson The Real Hero

To the editor:

With all the news coverage of Mark Felt, the Deep Throat of the Watergate Era, one might think that he really was a hero. It is true that some people do and they are entitled to their opinion. According to the news coverage, his family thinks he is and they also seem to think that is time for a big pay day.

On the other hand, some people could look back and recall the news coverage of that time and come up with a different view. In the 1970s all the news media of the major cities with few exceptions portrayed the FBI as a terrible organization and J.Edgar Hoover as some sort of reincarnation of Ivan the Terrible or some other historic bad guy. Now at the same time Mark Felt was Hoover's deputy - his right hand man. If old Hoover was a bad guy then Mark Felt was marching lock step with him. When President Nixon did not appoint Felt as FBI director an awful lot of folks thought this was a wonderful idea because the old ways had to change. At least that is how the major news media portrayed things.

Today we are hearing different reasons for Felt revealing that he was in fact "Deep Throat". Most certainly money is an issue and I find this part really amusing. Felt retired as one of the highest paid bureaucrats in the federal government. Every year since his retirement he has gotten a cost of living adjustment. He has a medical plan unique to the FBI that is second to none. He lives with his daughter in Santa Rosa, Calif. Now most people, those who work or had to work for a living, would see this as living large. Santa Rosa is a nice area and you will not get in there on the cheap.

Felt's family is interesting, also. According to the news it seems that they some how think that there should be something in it for the them. The news reports that the daughter sees herself as a single mom who has a son to worry about, someone who has evidently finished college and soon will finish law school but with some debt. Only in California would a 61-year-old woman see herself as a single mom with burdens. Most of us at this age (my age) would tell the kid to suck it up and get working. My image of a single mom with burdens is someone who slings hash for a living while caring for two toddlers, and I'm thinking of my own mother. I guess I just can't conjure up much sympathy for someone residing in Santa Rosa with a well-paid tenant or house guest, whatever, who must be helping out with the groceries.

Of course, now is the time to strike a deal. While Felt is alive he can validate relevant facts or help embellish any story line that is pursued. I don't think you will really hear much about a disgruntled bureaucrat skulking around dark garages. Rather we will hear things that will help the news media kick Richard Nixon around some more.

Was there a hero during this time? I think so. We don't hear anything from his family. He did not lurk in dark places. He in fact operated in the light of day. He told people openly what he thought and what he wouldn't do. His name is Elliot Richardson, the former attorney general. He refused to obey President Nixon's direction to fire Archibald Cox. As a principled man of good character and personal integrity he resigned his position and faded into history. His family isn't pursuing a book deal and in the world of Washington, D.C. where our leaders usually only fall on their swords if they know they can miss them or that they are made of rubber, he stands as a hero in my opinion.

Report From Raleigh

Crossover Passes; Budget Ongoing

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

This week both chambers of the General Assembly geared up for the crossover deadline Thursday, June 2.

By the end of Thursday, certain bills that do not carry a fiscal impact must pass one of the chambers in order to remain alive this legislative session. Members in both chambers worked to get their bills passed out of their chamber.

The following are a few of the issues under discussion during the week:

HB 529 - Suspend Executions For Two Years. This week the House Judiciary I Committee approved House Bill 529, which suspends executions in North Carolina for two years while performing a study on issues relating to the death sentence. The bill would create a study commission on Capital Punishment comprised of five senators, five representatives, and five members of the public appointed by the governor. The commission would be required to meet with representatives of victims, law enforcement, or other interested parties. The Study Commission would be required to issue a report no later than the 2008 regular session. However, this bill would not prevent the issuing of the death sentence by the courts while the suspension is in effect.

House Bill 529 was filed by Rep. Hackney on March 7. The bill was heard in Committee on Tuesday, May 31. The Committee members reviewed the bill and voted 8-6 in support for the bill. The bill awaits consideration on the House floor. It was the intent to have the bill heard this week; however, House Speaker Jim Black stated that a vote by the full House will likely take place in a couple of weeks, after the House has passed its version of the budget.

HB 76 – Ban Smoking In Restaurants. Under a compromise reached under this bill, restaurants would have been required to designate at least 50 percent of their dining space as a nonsmoking section. A person could be asked to leave by the restaurant's manager if the person does not extinguish tobacco products when asked to do so by restaurant employees. A provision was included in the bill that would require minors working in restaurants with smoking areas to receive written permission from parents before working in smoking areas. House Bill 76 received a favorable report from the Judiciary I Committee May 31. The bill was considered on the House floor the following day and failed by a vote of 58-62.

HB 330 – Living Wage Act. House Bill 330 would have raised the minimum wage from $5.15 to $6.15 effective Jan. 1, 2006. This bill was sponsored by Rep. Adams and was given a favorable report by the House Commerce Committee on Wednesday, June 1. While the amended version excluded this provision, the original bill provided for additional minimum wage increases to $7.15 on Labor Day 2006 and to $8.50 the following year. The amended version of the bill providing for only the $1 hourly increase from $5.15 to $6.15 was considered by the full House later Wednesday and failed by a vote of 52-66.

If you would like further information on any of these bills or the budget, feel free to contact my office. The House is expected to complete its version of the budget within the next several weeks. I'll keep you updated as the budget continues to progress.

Don't Get Burned!
You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:
- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:
- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:
Winston-Salem Regional Office

Chief David Smith and I would like to express our gratitude to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cornatzer-Dulin Volunteer Fire Department for again sponsoring our May fundraising breakfast and our sincere appreciation to the members of our community who donated food, drink, and eating utensils to support this project. Your tireless efforts and generosity made the breakfast a big success.

We would especially like to thank all of you in the community who joined us for breakfast. Your generous donations to the fire department at the breakfast help us to provide additional personnel training, community awareness programs, and safety equipment, all of which help us to provide the best possible fire protection to you, the residents of our fire district, as well as those of you living in surrounding districts to which we provide mutual assistance.

Thank you very much for your support. We look forward to seeing you at the breakfast again in the fall.

Cost Of Not Fighting Greater

To the editor:

In one of last week's letters, frustration was expressed with the federal government's over spending, our nation's expanding debt, our porous borders, the cost of caring for the illegal immigrants and a concern of China having a growing influence on our national economy. With that being said, I would like to be the first to welcome the author of last week's letter to the Republican Party.

Throughout her story she kept repeating the war on terror cost $300 billion; but the alternative of not fighting terrorism is vastly more costly. The following is a small list of how expensive not fighting terrorism can be: Four civilian aircraft, 385 million; two major buildings, with a replacement cost of 3 to 4.5 billion; damage to a government building, 1 billion; estimated economic losses to New York City, 105 billion; national economic losses approaching 2 trillion; and finally, so nobody forgets 2,992 murdered with 6,291 injured. What happened on Sept. 11, 2001 was the result of not fighting terrorism.

This country's war on terror did not start with the invasion of Afghanistan. It started with a handful of courageous individuals attempting to regain control of the hijacked United Airlines Flight 93. That event was the first time Americans stood up and fought against terrorists, instead of quietly sitting down and giving them what they wanted, ending the era of appeasement. This selfless act of a few, potentially saved hundreds of lives by causing the aircraft to crash in an empty field in Pennsylvania instead of a populated area.

Then she asks the question "Do you feel safer?" Safety is a relevant feeling. Is it safer now, compared with 20 years ago, when hundreds of thousands of soldiers were on the border with East Germany and West Germany? Is it safer now, compared to 43 years ago, during the Cuban missile crisis? Is it safer now, compared to 65 years ago, when Hitler had control of almost all of Europe? I would have to say no, I do not feel safer. Not because I am scared of another terrorist attack; but, because of Americans who are so close-minded and full of hatred, like the author of last week's letter, who think President Bush is the enemy in the war on terror.

Thank You For KidStrong

To the editor:

I am writing to express my sincere gratitude for everyone who helped to make the first annual KidStrong an enormous success. We hope to make KidStrong an annual event, and I wanted to thank everyone who helped in our inaugural event. I wanted to thank all the teachers at North Davie who worked so hard to make this a successful event. I especially wanted to thank Dana Keeney, Kitty Hartung, Candy Poplin, Jon Marshall, Deb Gustafson, and of course, my mom Chris Callahan.

I also wanted to thank the Davie County businesses which contributed to this event. Please continue to patronize these businesses to show your appreciation for their support.

I know that it's sometimes hard to realize how individuals are making a difference in the fight against cancer. After all, cancer is a big issue and we're only individual human beings. But the reality is that I wouldn't be here today unless individuals hadn't made a donation to cancer research 15 years ago. More importantly, events like KidStrong ensure that in another 15 years, families will be less likely to be affected by cancer.

Many people made extremely generous donations of their time and money, and I simply don't have the words to express my gratitude. But I can tell you that your generosity has clearly demonstrated that humanity is stronger than cancer. You have renewed my faith that one day we will defeat cancer entirely.

Dan Callahan, Atlanta

The Goat Train

The Goat Train was a real eye-catcher during the 1950s as it made its way through this area, stopping in Mocksville and Clemmons. The goats pulled a paddlers' wares. One of his stopping places was near Tanglewood Park at the old water fountain in the triangle of U.S. 158 and Lasater Road. The paddler sold garden tools, and children loved to see the goats. Charles "Muggs" Smith of Farmington found this old post card photo of the goat train and remembers seeing it as a boy. The Enterprise Record welcomes old photographs of Davie people and places. Bring them by the newspaper office on South Main Street across from the county courthouse in downtown Mocksville.

Let's Work Together For Common Good - Our Schools

To the editor:

For the members of the Board of Education and for everyone in the county, this has been an eventful year for our school system. First of all, we are excited about the new middle school that we will be building in the near future. We are grateful to Mr. Ellis for his most generous gift of land and to the county commissioners for agreeing to fund the new school.

Another great event for our school system was the Mebane Challenge. Thanks to the philanthropy of Mr. Allen Mebane and the residents of Davie County, we are able to update the technological capacity of our schools, a move which will better prepare our students for the demands of the modern world.

Yet there is much more to do. We must have a second high school in the near future. Davie High School is so overcrowded that everyone in the county should recognize it as a crisis which is only going to get worse as more and more students are sent there from the middle schools. Once again the commissioners are working with the school system to find suitable property for a new facility. In addition to building a new high school, we also must update our high school curriculum so that it meets the needs of students in the 21st century.

The budget that the BOE presented to the county leaders listed our real and ongoing needs, which are getting greater every year. A 2% increase in the school budget this year and for the last several years is certainly not enough. That is why I believe that our local school board needs some sort of taxing authority such as other counties in our state have solely for schools.

Finally, there is a large group of proactive parents who want to see the school system meet the needs of all of its students. This is an asset to all of us. If we all work together for the common good, we can indeed make dreams come true.

Linda H. Barnette, Mocksville, Davie Board of Education

Carefully Choose Child's Camp

To the editor:

I wanted to write to all the parents who are sending their children to camp this summer. This week, I have sent my son to Cub Scout camp and have seen numerous advertisements for camps which inspired me to write this letter to educate parents on what to look for in a camp. I also hold horse camps at my farm and been involved in directing or assisting with camps since 1991. I have had a wide range of experiences, some good and some bad, and think it would be wise to share with other parents my experiences.

Parents need to do their homework when looking for a camp. Just because it seems like a respectable organization does not mean that the camps offered are up to safe standards. Parents should find out who is going to be with the children and request that a background check has been completed and a copy is available if requested. I have known nice people you would never suspect who have records of offenses that may make parents question whether they want to leave their child in that person's care.

The person running the camp should be educated in that field. If the camp is open to children with special needs, the person running the camp should have the proper education, such as a special education, occupational therapy, speech therapy or some sort of relevant college degree. Make sure that if the person running the camp has some type of certification that they have the degree to back it up. I went to a one-day weight training class for occupational therapists and now I am a certified weight trainer. I am certainly not qualified to teach weight training, even though I received my certificate.

Many places use college students for help because they are cost effective and available, but they might not be properly trained. I was involved in a camp where 14 children, ages 5-7, were taken to a pool with no lifeguard and supervised by only two college students, which, I am not sure were lifeguard trained.

I was employed, fresh out of college, as the art director at a reputable camp and ended up teaching sailing since the "water safety instructor" had no sailing experience. I took children out on the Pamlico River in sailboats with no lifeguard training.

I am thankful that nothing ever happened under my care because I would not have known what to do. All leaders, including college students, should have some supervision during the camps. I have loved the college students who have helped me in the past, but they are still "students" who usually do not have children of their own yet, and are not completely clued in on the capabilities of children.

The ratio of children to leaders should be appropriate for the activity. Swimming, horseback riding, and any other extreme sports should have a smaller ratio than, for instance, a soccer camp. I have a one camper to one leader ratio with all my beginner riders, no matter what age, while on the horse and four campers to one leader ratio for other on-the-ground activities.

Most parents just drop off their children and assume that the camp is safe and supervised. It is important to ask the following questions. If the camp is held outside, what do they do if a thunderstorm approaches? What does the camp do during the hottest times of the day to get the campers out of the heat? Will the leaders apply sunscreen to your child? If they go on a field trip, how many additional leaders do they have? What is the camp policy on a camper being left alone with a leader? Does the camp carry the required liability insurance for operating a camp? Most insurance companies I have dealt with require additional coverage for camps.

Before you sign your child up, go out the facility where the camp will be held and make sure it is safe. Most importantly ask lots of questions and ask to see proof of documents. Do not be afraid to ask or afraid you will offend anyone by asking to see these documents. You will only offend the camps that do not have the right documents. As a director of a camp, I am assured by parents who are concerned and am happy to supply them with the information.

I offer horse camps through the Davie YMCA, SibShops, A Storehouse for Jesus and Hidden Horse Farm. I know of a lot of great camps and some shady ones, too.

Be smart for your child's sake and have a great summer.

Ellen James, Hidden Horse Farm, Mocksville

Elliot Richardson The Real Hero

To the editor:

With all the news coverage of Mark Felt, the Deep Throat of the Watergate Era, one might think that he really was a hero. It is true that some people do and they are entitled to their opinion. According to the news coverage, his family thinks he is and they also seem to think that is time for a big pay day.

On the other hand, some people could look back and recall the news coverage of that time and come up with a different view. In the 1970s all the news media of the major cities with few exceptions portrayed the FBI as a terrible organization and J.Edgar Hoover as some sort of reincarnation of Ivan the Terrible or some other historic bad guy. Now at the same time Mark Felt was Hoover's deputy - his right hand man. If old Hoover was a bad guy then Mark Felt was marching lock step with him. When President Nixon did not appoint Felt as FBI director an awful lot of folks thought this was a wonderful idea because the old ways had to change. At least that is how the major news media portrayed things.

Today we are hearing different reasons for Felt revealing that he was in fact "Deep Throat". Most certainly money is an issue and I find this part really amusing. Felt retired as one of the highest paid bureaucrats in the federal government. Every year since his retirement he has gotten a cost of living adjustment. He has a medical plan unique to the FBI that is second to none. He lives with his daughter in Santa Rosa, Calif. Now most people, those who work or had to work for a living, would see this as living large. Santa Rosa is a nice area and you will not get in there on the cheap.

Felt's family is interesting, also. According to the news it seems that they some how think that there should be something in it for the them. The news reports that the daughter sees herself as a single mom who has a son to worry about, someone who has evidently finished college and soon will finish law school but with some debt. Only in California would a 61-year-old woman see herself as a single mom with burdens. Most of us at this age (my age) would tell the kid to suck it up and get working. My image of a single mom with burdens is someone who slings hash for a living while caring for two toddlers, and I'm thinking of my own mother. I guess I just can't conjure up much sympathy for someone residing in Santa Rosa with a well-paid tenant or house guest, whatever, who must be helping out with the groceries.

Of course, now is the time to strike a deal. While Felt is alive he can validate relevant facts or help embellish any story line that is pursued. I don't think you will really hear much about a disgruntled bureaucrat skulking around dark garages. Rather we will hear things that will help the news media kick Richard Nixon around some more.

Was there a hero during this time? I think so. We don't hear anything from his family. He did not lurk in dark places. He in fact operated in the light of day. He told people openly what he thought and what he wouldn't do. His name is Elliot Richardson, the former attorney general. He refused to obey President Nixon's direction to fire Archibald Cox. As a principled man of good character and personal integrity he resigned his position and faded into history. His family isn't pursuing a book deal and in the world of Washington, D.C. where our leaders usually only fall on their swords if they know they can miss them or that they are made of rubber, he stands as a hero in my opinion.

Report From Raleigh

Crossover Passes; Budget Ongoing

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

This week both chambers of the General Assembly geared up for the crossover deadline Thursday, June 2.

By the end of Thursday, certain bills that do not carry a fiscal impact must pass one of the chambers in order to remain alive this legislative session. Members in both chambers worked to get their bills passed out of their chamber.

The following are a few of the issues under discussion during the week:

HB 529 - Suspend Executions For Two Years. This week the House Judiciary I Committee approved House Bill 529, which suspends executions in North Carolina for two years while performing a study on issues relating to the death sentence. The bill would create a study commission on Capital Punishment comprised of five senators, five representatives, and five members of the public appointed by the governor. The commission would be required to meet with representatives of victims, law enforcement, or other interested parties. The Study Commission would be required to issue a report no later than the 2008 regular session. However, this bill would not prevent the issuing of the death sentence by the courts while the suspension is in effect.

House Bill 529 was filed by Rep. Hackney on March 7. The bill was heard in Committee on Tuesday, May 31. The Committee members reviewed the bill and voted 8-6 in support for the bill. The bill awaits consideration on the House floor. It was the intent to have the bill heard this week; however, House Speaker Jim Black stated that a vote by the full House will likely take place in a couple of weeks, after the House has passed its version of the budget.

HB 76 – Ban Smoking In Restaurants. Under a compromise reached under this bill, restaurants would have been required to designate at least 50 percent of their dining space as a nonsmoking section. A person could be asked to leave by the restaurant's manager if the person does not extinguish tobacco products when asked to do so by restaurant employees. A provision was included in the bill that would require minors working in restaurants with smoking areas to receive written permission from parents before working in smoking areas. House Bill 76 received a favorable report from the Judiciary I Committee May 31. The bill was considered on the House floor the following day and failed by a vote of 58-62.

HB 330 – Living Wage Act. House Bill 330 would have raised the minimum wage from $5.15 to $6.15 effective Jan. 1, 2006. This bill was sponsored by Rep. Adams and was given a favorable report by the House Commerce Committee on Wednesday, June 1. While the amended version excluded this provision, the original bill provided for additional minimum wage increases to $7.15 on Labor Day 2006 and to $8.50 the following year. The amended version of the bill providing for only the $1 hourly increase from $5.15 to $6.15 was considered by the full House later Wednesday and failed by a vote of 52-66.

If you would like further information on any of these bills or the budget, feel free to contact my office. The House is expected to complete its version of the budget within the next several weeks. I'll keep you updated as the budget continues to progress.

Don't Get Burned!
You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.
Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.
IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:
- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:
- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

Mocksville Man Given Medals From Vietnam War

A Mocksville man received his Vietnam War service medals on Memorial Day — 38 years after he left the Navy.

Wayne Snyder, a Pennsylvania native, joined the Navy in 1963 and served on the USS Kearsarge in the Gulf of Tonkin as part of an anti-submarine task force.

On Monday, May 30, Congressman Virginia Foxx presented him with five service medals — National Defense Service Medal, Expeditionary Medal, Armed Forces Vietnam Medal, Vietnam Service Medal and the Meritorious Unit Commendation Medal.

Snyder, 62, served from 1963 to 1967. He moved to Mocksville four years ago to be closer to his daughter and grandchildren.

He and his wife, Amy, live in the Myers Park development off Milling Road.

Snyder said the public attitude has changed drastically toward Vietnam veterans.

"When I came back, you basically got into your civies and put it in the past," he said. "Now the reception is great, and the support from the general public is fantastic."

Foxx helped secure the medals for him that should have been awarded when he left service. He was one of several veterans decorated for their service on Monday in Foxx's Clemmons office.

100 Attend Service Honoring Veterans

About 100 people attended an annual memorial service on Monday, May 30 at the Brock Performing Arts Center in Mocksville.

Members of the Davie High School JROTC Color Guard conducted the flag-raising ceremony, followed by Lynn Hicks and local Scouts leading in the Pledge of Allegiance and the National Anthem.

Mocksville Town Manage Christine Sanders distributed gift certificates to all the veterans for a free buffet provided by Prime Sirloin in Mocksville. There were 30 veterans in attendance.

Norm Carlton, Davie County Veterans Service Officer, introduced the guest speaker - Judge Jimmy Myers, who has served as a Commander, Chaplain Corps, U.S. Navy Reserves.

Myers recently served during Operation Iraqi Freedom and praised all the men and women who have fought for continual freedom in America.

He explained his role as a chaplain, whose responsibility it is to inform families when soldiers die during active duty.

After the speaker, a solo was provided by Fred Roth, a veteran. He was accompanied on the piano by Barbara Basham.

A memorial wreath was placed near the podium, followed by taps.

Mistress of ceremony, Dr. Regina Graham, thanked the guest speaker and organizers of the program, who included Terry Bralley, Norm Carlton, Christine Sanders, Nellie Frank, Lynn Hicks, and Graham Funeral Home.

Davie Unemployment Rate Listed At 4 Percent

Davie's unemployment rate decreased from 4.3 percent in March to 4.0 percent in April, according to figures released last week by the Employment Security Commission of North Carolina.

April jobless rates for surrounding counties: Davidson, 5.8%; Forsyth, 4.6%; Iredell, 4.9%; Rowan, 5.2%; and Yadkin, 4.8%.

Don't Get Burned!

You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:

- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:

- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

Winston-Salem Regional Office
Division of Air Quality
N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources
Phone: (336) 771-4600

DA's Investigation Includes Talk With Commissioner

to prove his department had nothing to hide.

Allen, who chairs the board of commissioners, recently sat in on a closed session in which the investigation, and Phipp's career, were discussed behind closed doors.

A closed session of the commissioners is permitted by law if the board meets certain criteria defined by statutory basis.

At the meeting in which the board entered the closed session, county attorney Robert Price offered two statutory basis for the closed session. Price claimed the closed session was necessary so the board "could consult with an attorney employed or retained by the public body in order to preserve the attorney-client privilege," and "to hear or investigate a complaint, charge, or grievance by or against an individual public officer or employee".

The Enterprise Record has taken the position that the meeting was held illegally, and has requested the minutes of the meeting to be disclosed.

Price declined, citing two cases he thinks justifies the county's position. One of those cases, Harris vs. County of Forsyth, deals with an eighth grade student who was placed in a holding cell for misbehaving during a school tour of the Forsyth County Jail. The second case, Hubbard vs. County of Cumberland, represents a case of a sheriff department employee that sues the department and the county over mismanagement of retirement accounts.

"They'll say that the case establishes that a sheriff's officer is considered a county employee, and that the county has a vested interest in the actions of the sheriff's department," said Mike Tadych, an attorney who specializes in recognizing open meeting law violations. "That's not in dispute. But the fact remains, the board does not and has not practiced hiring and firing over department employees, so they have no jurisdiction to speak about (Phipps) behind closed doors. They could just as soon discuss the propriety of the Wake County sheriff under that thought process. And there is no civil liability here, so there is no cause for attorney/client privilege. They're throwing up a red herring. The cases don't apply."

Tadych said regardless of whether the closed meeting is eventually found to have been legal or not, it still should never have happened.

"Even though the county doesn't have firing, hiring and management oversight, they can still bring pressure to bear," Tadych said. "That alone is a good enough reason for the closed door meeting not to have taken place."

Allen, whose wife works for the sheriff's department, declined to comment on whether he felt there was a conflict of interest in attending a meeting in which his wife's boss was being discussed.

"You can take all of your questions to (county attorney) Bob Price," Allen said.

Price said Allen did not display a legal conflict of interest by participating in the meeting.

"The working relationship between (Allen's) wife and Phipps is not enough to give (Allen) a conflict of interest in the eyes of the law," Price said two weeks ago.

However, when Price was told that Allen had been interviewed by Frank, he was less inclined to maintain that position.

"I did not know that," Price said. "I was not aware that Michael was interviewed as part of the investigation."

Price refused further comment.

Frank said Davie County Manager Terry Bralley was also interviewed, but declined to comment on whether Bralley was interviewed as a result of the information he received from Allen. Bralley said he was unaware that Allen had been interviewed at the time he was questioned.

Frank said he hoped to conclude the investigation in the next week.

"I'm dedicating my time this week to bringing this to conclusion," Frank said. "I'm very close to a decision at this point."

in high school.

The elder Kalish goes by his middle name, Frank. He called his son "Johnny."

When Johnny's son was 8 years old, he became separated from his wife, and spent the last two years as a single parent. His son played football for the William R. Davie Raiders, and every Saturday, Johnny could be found on the sidelines, cheering on his son's team.

Frank Kalish said his son was known to show up at school and have lunch with his son two or three times a week.

"I had one of my grandson's teachers call me to tell me how sorry she was," Frank Kalish said. "She said she never met a father who loved his son more than my boy did."

Family attorney Lynn Hicks agreed.

"He was one of the most good-hearted boys I ever met," Hicks said. "Just a real good, good-hearted boy, and real close to his son."

Kalish had worked as a machinist for Ingersoll-Rand in Mocksville. He met his girlfriend, Tricia Merkwa, there.

"He was a wonderful father, a wonderful friend," Merkwa said. "He would go out of his way to help anyone. That's just the way he was."

Merkwa said she and Kalish became involved shortly after his marriage fell apart. Her own marriage had also just came to an end.

"We were each other's support," Merkwa said. "We were like best friends, and things just developed from there."

Merkwa said the two just started to discuss their plans.

"He was my best friend," Merkwa said. "The last few months, we started to really take things seriously."

Merkwa said the area where her boyfriend drowned was well known to him.

"That was one of his favorite places," Merkwa said. "We were just there last Sunday fishing for crappie."

Recently, Kalish was working in construction, and devoted much of his free time to his son, often taking him fishing and hunting.

"He started teaching my grandson to hunt and fish just as soon as he was old enough to hold a pole," said the elder Kalish. "He caught his first fish in the pond back on our property. Recently, Johnny went to the school at the end of the EOGs. I don't know if there was a bribe involved, but when he saw his son's scores, he signed him out early and took him fishing."

Frank Kalish said he was grateful to all the rescue and search personnel who worked throughout the weekend to find his son. He said he was especially thankful for the searchers who continued in the water hours after the operation was called off.

"I counted 147 people out there," Kalish said, fighting back emotion. "I just can't say enough about that."

He added that he was putting together a box of his son's possessions to give his grandson when he got older.

"I'll give them to him when he's older," Kalish senior said. "It'll be a good way to preserve his memory of his daddy."

Surviving: his son, John F. Kalish III; his father, John F. Kalish Sr. and wife Kristine of Mocksville; his mother, Judy Miles and husband A.J. of Summerton, S.C.; grandparents Elizabeth Housen of Sumter, S.C., Helen Tilford of Port St. Lucy Fla., T.W. Geddings of Delphos, Ohio. He had 5 sisters, Cici Murphey, Patricia Korn, Debbie Kuglar, Vicky Martin, Cindy Kalish, a brother, Kenny Barnhardt, and a special friend, Trish Merkwa of Woodleaf.

Funeral arrangements are being made in Sumter, S.C.

The Kalish family would like to send a special thanks to all the rescue workers and volunteers for their efforts.

Estranged Wife, Sister Arrested For Breaking Into Victim's Home

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

Police arrested Dina Kalish, the estranged wife of drowning victim John Frank "Johnny" Kalish Jr., for breaking into the home of her ex-husband while search and rescue personnel were searching for his body Sunday night.

Kalish's body was recovered 24 hours later.

Reports show that Kalish and her twin sister, Tina Carr Brown, both of Winston-Salem, broke into her estranged husband's home through a window. Family members said Johnny and Dina have been separated for two years.

At the time of the arrest, as many as 50 people were combing the waters of High Rock Lake in what Rowan County Emergency Services Director Frank Thomason called a large scale search and recovery operation.

Judy Miles, Johnny Kalish's mother, drove from Summerton, S.C. when she heard of the search effort for her son. She was on the shore watching the recovery operation when she got a call from her former daughter-in-law.

"Dina called me on the phone and said she was in his house," Miles recalled. "She said she was going to get the house ready for little Johnny. She felt the house was still hers even though she left two years ago."

"I thought it was the most horrible thing that someone could do," Kris Kalish, Johnny's step-mother, said. "My step-son, who is like my own son, isn't even declared dead, and she's in there trying to take over his house. I was so upset, I couldn't believe what I was hearing."

Frank Kalish said he was shocked when he heard his former daughter-in-law had broken into his son's home.

"I was utterly appalled," he said. "It was like she was thinking 'Johnny's dead, it's mine now.'"

Kris Kalish said two of her stepson's friends discovered the two women in the home when they went to the house to retrieve some tools they had used earlier to fix the boat. They called her and told her what was happening. After a quick conference with her husband, she called the police.

Both women were charged with one count of breaking and entering. They were taken into custody without incident, but both were found with knives in their pockets.

The sisters were held on $2,500 unsecured bond. They were released on their own recognizance.

position has been dissolved, and bus drivers will not be getting a salary increase unless money from the state transportation allotment has enough left to cover a raise. Teacher's may see a cut in tuition reimbursement, and non-instructional support (office workers) may be cut back as well.

Potts said the toughest cut he had to make was $25,000 in tech support contracts.

"That's a tough one," Potts said. "You know if you don't keep up with your equipment, then you fall behind."

Potts said he was already concerned about future budgets.

"We are taking $540,000 and putting it into recurring expenses. That's like taking from your savings account to pay bills that come due again next month," Potts said. "We need to increase revenue into our recurring expenses account, or we're going to be in big trouble next year."

Legion Dumps Wilkes

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

Most coaches would have frayed nerves knowing they were going into the toughest part of the schedule without a full core of stating players. But not coach Mike Lovelace of the Mocksville Legion baseball team.

Lovelace said he wasn't really worried when three of his starters decided to go to the beach for a few days, missing the game against Southern League opponent Wilkes County.

He knew what he was talking about.

Mocksville (7-2, 4-0) scattered 19 hits on its way to a 10-0 route of the visiting team from North Wilkesboro Sunday night.

The absences of starters Dusty Snow (1b), Lance Emert (ss) and Matt "Foo" Smith (lf) were covered by Matt Hutchins, Corey Martin and Brandon Johnson. The three combined for 7 of Mocksville's hits.

"Those guys really stepped up," Lovelace said. "They came in and filled their roles well."

Andrew McClannon (3-0) continued his dominance of the mound by mixing his speeds and keeping Wilkes off balance with a three hit, 77 pitch performance. Lovelace said he was pleased with the efficient manner in which McClannon disposed of Wilkes County.

"He doesn't have overpowering stuff," Lovelace said. "But he really hits his spots well, and he's been about our most consistent starter. He never took the mound once for Guilford College either this year, they used him at third."

McClannon isn't the only roster player who has been showcasing a talent their college coaches have yet to see.

Pitcher/thirdbaseman Dan Poindexter continued to tear the ball at the plate, extending his hitting streak to 10 games. Poindexter was used solely as a pitcher at Lenoir-Rhyne College, and didn't see live action pitching until the legion season started.

"He's just a good all around player that can just flat out hit the ball," Lovelace said. "He's tough to beat no matter where they throw him."

Wilkes pitcher Scottie Wilcox, a teammate of McClannon's at Guilford College, shut down Mocksville through three innings. David Boyles reached on a fielder's choice, than stole second. Hutchens laced an RBI double to left center to open the scoring to give Mocksville a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning.

Zach Vogler and Wesley Douglas touched Wilcox for back to back singles to open the fifth, and Poindexter punched a double to score Vogler. With runners on the corners, Boyle smacked a triple, scoring Douglas and Poindexter. McClannon singled in

Mocksville Passes Litmus Test With Flying Colors

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

If Saturday's 10-4 Southern Division win at South Rowan is a true indication of the state of Mocksville's Legion baseball team, then buckle up for a fun ride.

Mocksville abused a college pitcher (Cody Livengood) who had been unhittable in two starts for South, and dominated an early-season showdown for first place in the SD. That's five straight wins. That's 3-0 in the SD. And that left Mocksville feeling pretty good about itself.

Mocksville finished second in the SD the past two years. Can it win it for the first time since 1993? Dan Poindexter, who thrust winner pitcher Dusty Snow into a comfortable lead with a three-run triple, salivates at the possibility.

"I'll tell you what, we've definitely got a chance to take first place with this one," he said. "Because the pitching staff is deep and we hit the ball real well. The only flaw we have right now is our defense, and that's definitely starting to shape up. I think we've got a No. 1 team here, the way we pitch and hit."

Zach Vogler, who lit the fuse with a two-run hit in the first, likes what he sees.

"It's a pretty big win," he said. "We're swinging the bats a whole lot better than I thought we were going to at the beginning of the season. There's only been one game when we didn't hit good."

South entered its SD opener at 4-0 overall, while Mocksville moved to 7-2 and 3-0.

Coach Mike Lovelace, who served a one-game suspension for getting tossed at Mooresville and had to follow the action from the bleachers, was downright ecstatic. The visitors did everything right defensively. And who expected them to feast on Livengood, who gave up eight earned runs in 5 2/3 after striking out 17 in his previous 12 innings? In those 12 innings, opponents had one hit.

But Mocksville rendered the last three innings garbage time because of its 3-6 batters. Poindexter had three hits, including two triples, and three RBIs. Snow had two hits and two RBIs. Foo Smith had two hits, two RBIs and two walks. And Vogler had two hits and three RBIs.

What's remarkable is Mocksville pulled away on a night it struck out 14 times. That lowlight was more than negated by 13 hits and nine walks.

"It seemed like we either got a hit or struck out," Lovelace said. "For our one and two hitters to not get any hits and still win, that's pretty big. We got eight hits against a pitcher who pitches for a junior college in Missouri. Livengood's their No. 1."

Mocksville set the tone in the first. Poindexter and Snow put together singles for a 1-0 lead, and Vogler made it 3-0 with a two-out hit. In South's half of the first, Poindexter and David Boyles turned an inning-ending, 5-4-3 double play with runners at the corners.

Snow gave Mocksville five solid innings. John McDaniel worked three scoreless frames, and Spencer Hodges mopped up, allowing an unearned run in the ninth.

This was vintage Poindexter, one of the finest performers in Mocksville history. He sliced a two-out triple in the fifth and scored on Snow's hit. In the sixth, after South had crept back to 4-3, he delivered the roundhouse hook, a three-run triple that traveled 395 feet in right-center and gave reliever McDaniel a 7-3 cushion.

Mocksville didn't stop until the margin was out of reach. Snow and Poindexter scored on a Smith triple that looked like a replay of Poindexter's three-run, three-bagger.

"They were undefeated and I thought

Smith Homers, Legion Team Holds On For Win

The Mocksville Legion baseball team's 12-11 win at Mooresville on May 31 started beautifully but wound up being a little ugly. The game should not have had the tying run at the plate in the bottom of the ninth inning. Mocksville should have breezed. Mocksville should have won easier than it has all season.

Instead, closer John McDaniel needed a nice play from second baseman David Boyles to wrap things up.

But Mocksville got a Southern Division win, and that's all that ultimately mattered as it improved to 6-2 and 2-0 in the SD with its fourth straight victory. Mooresville got a moral victory after trailing 10-3 halfway through. The fans got to see 28 hits. And Coach Mike Lovelace got a couple gray hairs.

"If we just make the routine, fundamental plays, that game's 12-5 or 12-6," said Lovelace, whose first-place club committed four errors and allowed five unearned runs. "They made one error at shortstop in the ninth, but it wasn't costly. They fielded everything else. We had some huge errors that gave them chances to scramble back."

Mocksville held on because it got big performances from up and down the order. Five guys had two hits (Dusty Snow, Brad Corriher, Foo Smith, Zach Vogler and Boyles), Lance Emert paced a 16-hit outburst with three hits and Smith was 2 for 3 with a home run and three walks.

The superb offense made a winner out of Corey Martin, who pitched 5 1/3. "I know of five more (hard-hit balls) that were outs," Lovelace said. "I mean we were hitting the ball on the nose. It was a merry-go-round."

In the top of the first, Mocksville swung the bat as if it was pregame BP, scoring six runs.

Emert opened with his sixth straight single. After a pair of walks loaded the bases, Snow, fresh off West Forsyth High's run to the state 4-A semifinals, announced his legion arrival with a two-run double down the first-base line. Corriher blasted the next pitch to the wall in center for a two-run double. The next batter, Smith, connected for a two-run, opposite-field homer that wasted no time sailing out in right-center.

"We scored six runs with no outs, and (No. 7 batter) Vogler hit a shot to third and the guy went down to one knee to catch it," Lovelace said.

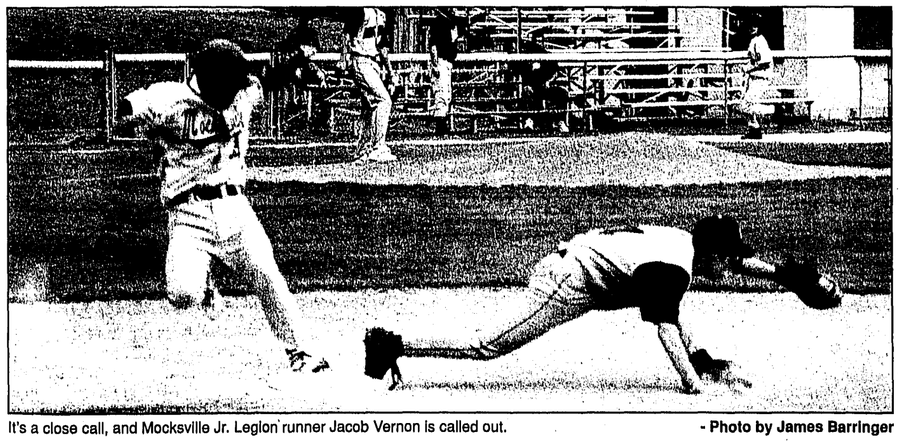

Smith and Boyles broke out of slumps. They were hitting .222 and .174, respectively, before helping Mocksville pound out season highs in runs and hits.

"Smith choked up on the bat (on his homer)," Lovelace said. "We had told him he was being late on the ball, and he made a nice adjustment."

Emert and Corriher are playing with all kinds of confidence. Emert (.472) singled twice in the first, running his consecutive-hits streak to seven, and this was the continuation of a staggering season for Corriher. He hit his team-leading fifth double, he pushed his No. 1

Even though Mocksville's Jr. Legion baseball team snapped a three-game losing streak with an 11-6 Southern Division win over visiting Mooresville in the first game of a doubleheader on June 4, Coach Charles Kurfees saw familiar flaws.

Staggering Mocksville (3-2 SD record) ultimately managed to regain its footing - thanks to a five-run fifth inning that broke a tie game wide open - but the coach was not pleased with much else.

"We're still struggling," he said. "We made too many errors and mental mistakes. A balk hurt us. We hit a little better, but we missed a few signs."

In the second game of the twin bill, which didn't count in the division standings, Mooresville squeezed past Mocksville 2-1 by scratching out a run in the sixth.

Mocksville is maddeningly sporadic. It went back and forth with Mooresville for four innings, and then it exploded for five runs. The fifth-inning crusher

Andrew McClannon leaps for a high throw at first base.

Brad Corriher concentrates on his next pitch.

Corriher, Emert Key Win

In the past two years, Lance Emert has seemingly always been in the right place at the wrong time.

As a Davie High junior in 2004, Emert hit .306 and made all-conference. But his fine year was overshadowed by two sophomores. Pitcher John McDaniel sparkled to a 6-2 record, and Brad Corriher broke into the lineup and roared to a team-best .321.

This spring at Davie, Emert flourished at shortstop and pounded the ball at a .395 rate, catching the eye of Lenoir-Rhyne and easily making the all-conference team. But Emert's stellar ride was lost a bit in the uproar over sophomore Whit Merrifield, who hit .442, and another sophomore, Brandon Stewart, who used an incredible second-half charge to climb to .373.

Emert came into May 30's non-league game at Rich Park between his Mocksville Legion baseball team and Winston-Salem hitting .360. But wouldn't you know it - another superb stretch by Emert was caught in the shadows of amazing streaks by Corriher (.538) and Dan Poindexter (.522).

But after an 8-5 win - Mocksville's third straight - there was nothing that could obscure this phenomenal night. Emert went 5 for 5 with three stolen bases, and through seven games there's no one playing any better as Emert leads Mocksville in at-bats, runs, hits, RBIs, triples, homers and stolen bases.

The long wait for the spotlight hasn't bothered Emert. He made it perfectly clear that he values team play more than any individual glory, no matter how overdue it might be.

"I didn't really care about how I was hitting, as long as we were winning," the future Lenoir-Rhyne player said. "As long as we're winning, it doesn't matter what my average is. I don't care if I go 0 for 5 as long as we win the game."

Emert complemented the second strong outing by Corriher, who befuddled the Northern Division's early leader on three hits, allowing two runs (one earned) in six innings, walking none and needing a mere average of 14 pitches per inning.

"Everybody wants to play defense behind him," Emert said. "He doesn't throw too hard, he just gets outs."

The key inning was the fifth, when Mocksville broke a 1-1 tie with three runs. After Andrew McClannon singled and moved up on a wild pitch, Corey Martin knocked him in. Emert singled and scored on a Poindexter hit, and Corriher helped himself with a sac fly.

Emert, batting leadoff for the fourth game after beginning the season at No. 2, tormented a team that is 3-0 in the Northern Division and 0-2 against Mocksville. He pulled singles to the left side in the first, third, fifth and sixth, and he poked one the other way in the eighth. His average mushroomed from .360 to .467, and he kept pace with Poindexter (.481) by extending his hitting streak to seven games.

"He's a little aggressive for a leadoff hitter, but I guess when you go 5 for 5 you can do what you want to do," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "I don't know the last time we had somebody go 5 for 5. I don't know if many people could go 5 for 5 during batting practice.

"He accounted for four runs, almost half our hits and almost half our stolen bases."

That's not all. He made a "nice catch" in left field in the seventh. He moved to third when Poindexter relieved Jonathon Hutchens with the tying run at the plate in the ninth, and he finished Winston off by charging a slow roller and throwing off one leg to first.

"How fitting," Lovelace said.

The Emert-Corriher combination made Mocksville hum. Wes Hobson sent Corriher's third pitch over the fence in right-center (Hobson's brother, Gib, is a pitcher for N.C. State), but that was the only thing Winston had to cheer about. Corriher faced four batters in the second, the minimum in the next three and gave up an unearned run in the sixth.

The lefty's offerings might look ordinary, but his precision has been remarkable. He hasn't issued a walk in 10 1/3 innings, and his ERA is 1.74.

"He throws three pitches for a strike, and he can throw his offspeed at any time," Lovelace said. "He's a great guy to have. It's been unfortunate for him that he's had two great outings in two non-league games. He's going to get some division innings."

Notes: Corriher was 0 for 2, ending his six-game hitting streak. ... On Mocksville's seven steals, including two by David Boyles, Lovelace said: "That's the most in one game since I've been head coach (since 1999). As soon as you got ready to go, we were going."

average to .474 and he has a 1.74 ERA in two mound starts.

Corriher also retrieved an errored throw at first and cut down a runner at the plate in the sixth.

"He made a hustle play," Lovelace said. "We threw it away, he came over to our dugout and threw it home. That would have ended up being the tying run (in the ninth).

"Emert has been unreal. He's hitting to all fields. It's like he's on another planet."

Mocksville produced three runs in the fifth to put Mooresville in a 10-3 chokehold. But Mooresville kept battling and Mocksville's wheels came off. The hosts scored two in the fifth to pull to 10-5, it scratched out one in the sixth to pull to 10-6 and Mocksville winced as they scored four in the eighth to pull to 12-10.

"We just went through the motions, and (Mooresville reliever) Justin Harris did a great job against us for 3 2/3," Lovelace said.

McDaniel recorded five outs to get the save. With two outs in the ninth, Matt Marshall hit a solo homer to make it 12-11, but Mocksville survived a potential disaster when Boyles got the final out. A grounder ricochetted off Snow's glove at first, and Boyles charged and made the play as Lovelace breathed a sigh of relief.

Mocksville has taken two of three from Mooresville, which "is the best team they've put together in several years," he said. "I honestly feel, with the starting pitching they're going to get, they're going to be one of the top three teams."

Notes: McDaniel only needed 19 pitches to go 1 2/3. "He's just a strike machine," Lovelace said. "He says: 'Here it is, hit it and let's play defense.' " ... Martin evened his record at 1-1. ... Snow, a pitcher/first baseman/DH, was a big bonus in the first game of his fourth Mocksville campaign.

Notes & Quotes

Lovelace Beams At 9-Deep Pitching Rotation

• The Mocksville Legion baseball team started 3-0 in the Southern Division for the first time since 2000. That 2000 team went on to claim fourth of 16 teams in the Area III standings and finish 24-10, the most wins in the last 11 years.

• Kannapolis is considered the team to beat. It started 1-3 in the SD, but that was attributed to Northwest Cabarrus High's run to the 3-A state finals. When Kannapolis puts all the pieces together, it will be tough to tame.

But Kannapolis nonetheless has dug a hole, and maybe - just maybe - this is the year Mocksville, which finished second in 2003 and 2004, ends its 11-year title drought in the SD.

How excited is Dan Poindexter?

"So far most of the guys who have started (on the mound) have been lights-out," he said. "(Brad) Corriher has been doing a great job. (Andrew) McClannon hadn't pitched all year in college and he's doing a great job. (Dusty) Snow pitched great (Saturday at South Rowan), and (Corey) Martin is going to do real well.

"That's probably the best pitching rotation I've seen or heard about in the league."

Indeed, this is quite likely the best rotation Lovelace has assembled in seven years as head coach, and possibly the best since the glory days of 1989-93. Lovelace has all sorts of cards he can play, including one who hadn't pitched through June 4 - Brandon Johnson. Johnson started the year for the new Western Forsyth team, but since he's rumored to be transferring to Davie High next year, he asked for and received a release from WF and joined Mocksville May 30.

And when Poindexter gets his arm revved up, you better watch out. Mocksville took a five-game winning streak into June 5, and none of the wins belonged to the ace. They went to McClannon, John McDaniel, Corriher, Martin and Snow.

"With us adding Johnson, it makes our staff nine deep," Lovelace said. "That's a good luxury to have. If we can put up runs, I feel real good about this team."

• The Mocksville-S. Rowan game was supposed to be a hard collision (South was 4-0). Instead, Mocksville took the litmus test with stunning ease, 10-4.

"We figured it would be us and Mocksville fighting for first place," South catcher Jonathon Basinger said. "We wanted to prove a point tonight, but we didn't quite get the job done."

• When Poindexter went 2 for 8 in two games and watched his average dip from .522 to .452, Lovelace said the third baseman/pitcher/No. 3 batter was in a slump. Only stars can go 2 for 8 and be in a slump.

Poindexter regained his flair at South, going 3 for 5 with two triples and three RBIs.

After putting up some of the best numbers ever last year, you had to wonder what Poindexter would do for an encore. Through nine games he was leading the team in average, runs, hits, RBIs and triples. You can be excused for a 6.30 ERA over 10 innings when you've got a nine-game hitting streak.

Boyles

• Snow, who helped West Forsyth High reach the 4-A semifinals, bursted onto the Mocksville scene, getting a win in his first start and four hits and four RBIs in his first 9 at-bats.

Unfortunately for Mocksville, Snow's hot start was interrupted by the traditional senior beach trip. Even worse for Mocksville is the fact that three other guys will miss most of this week. Snow, Lance Emert and Foo Smith will miss five games, and Matt Hutchens will miss three.

"And this is going to be a huge week," Lovelace said. "We're going to have a four-game division stretch without three starters, and they're the one, four and five holes.

"This is a great group to be around. The chemistry is unbelievable, the way they've meshed together. It's kind of a shame we've got some that's leaving."

• In the last two games (May 31 and June 4), Smith was 4 for 6 with five RBIs and Vogler was 4 for 10. Smith is first in walks. Smith and David Boyles took four-game hitting streaks into June 5.

• Boyles caught fire when Lovelace moved him down to No. 8 in the order. He was hitting a dismal .150 after six games, but he soared to .281 by going 6 for 12 over three games.

"(The slow start) was because he didn't play this spring," Lovelace said of the college freshman. "And he's played a great glove. He's the best second baseman I've had."

• Mocksville entered the season with some huge shoes to fill. West Forsyth's Nick Slega-Riz, who blossomed in center field and the lead-off spot last year, declined a Mocksville return and stayed home at Western Forsyth.

Surprisingly Mocksville hasn't missed a beat. The credit goes to Emert, who is hitting .415 at leadoff, and Vogler, who has handled center field and hit .289.

• Lovelace has a pleasant problem at first base. Corriher or Snow? Both are everyday-quality. Corriher entered June 5 with a .415 average.

"Corriher's bat has to be in the lineup," he said. "I'm having a hard time with them, but I guess that's a good problem."

Mocksville Drubs S. Rowan

it was going to be a tight game," Vogler said.

McDaniel (2-1, 1.89) had enough run support, but Mocksville tacked on one anyway. Smith singled with two outs. Then Vogler toasted the right fielder, a double that made it 10-3.

Notes: Lance Emert's season-long, eight-game hitting streak was stopped. ... Assistant Brad Bullard, a former center fielder and leadoff batter, handled the coaching duties while Lovelace hung around outside the fence. He was dumped in the ninth at Mooresville after Poindexter was called out on strikes despite getting hit by the pitch on the elbow. The umpire said the curveball would have caught the corner. Lovelace didn't agree. He didn't get his money's worth, either, saying he was the victim of a quick trigger.

Team Gaining Confidence

Boyle, and Johnson, playing in his first game with Mocksville, scored McClannon with a single to lift Mocksville to a 6-0 lead.

The score held in the sixth, but Hutchens, Corey Martin and Johnson each had singles to open the seventh. Vogler ripped a single up the middle to score Hutchens and Martin. Two outs later, Brad Corriher slapped an 0-2 pitch up the middle to score Johnson and Vogler to push the score to 10-0. The game ended with the mercy rule.

"That was big, right there," Lovelace said. "To finish in seven at this point of the season and save two innings off my arms is real big."

This marks the first time in Lovelace's seven years at the helm that Mocksville started the conference schedule 4-0. He chalks up the early season success to experience and chemistry.

"I'm fortunate to have the right blend of guys on the field. Vogler and Corriher are young, but the rest of my guys have been around," Lovelace said. "They're playing with a lot of confidence right now."

Juniors Fritter Away 5-0 Lead

Cameron Clinard swings the b at for Mocksville.

Colby Seaford unleashes a pitch to the plate for the Mocksville Jr. Legion team.

Mocksville's Junior Legion baseball team has plenty of work to do and kinks to iron out if it wants to finish among the top three in the 16-team Area III standings for the third straight year.

Visiting Asheboro's 6-5 win over Mocksville on May 31 was a flashback to a 9-8 loss to Mooresville on May 29, when Mocksville - albeit in a non-league contest - failed to hold an 8-3 lead in the seventh inning. In the Asheboro game, which counted in the Southern Division race, Mocksville allowed six unanswered runs after taking a 5-0 lead that should have been larger.

"We left the bases loaded twice," Coach Charles Kurfees said after Mocksville slipped to 3-2 and 2-1 in the division. "We're not hitting with men on base at all."

Mocksville took early control by scoring three times in the bottom of the first. Cameron Clinard followed a walk and error with a two-run single, and Matt Pennington knocked Clinard in with a single.

Zach Howard and Clint Howell sandwiched third-inning hits around an Asheboro error as Mocksville staked pitcher Colby Seaford to a 5-0 cushion.

Mocksville, however, gave it all back in the fourth. Although Seaford gave up a two-run double and RBI single, Asheboro's five-run uprising was more about what Mocksville did wrong than what Asheboro did right. Back-to-back errors - one on a throw and the other on a boot - kept the inning from ending without any runs.

In the decisive fifth, Mocksville self-destructed again. An error put a runner aboard, and a wild pitch brought him home with the tiebreaking run.

With the collapse, Mocksville wasted five innings of respectable work by Seaford, as well as two perfect innings by reliever Tucker Piner.

"Seaford pitched a great game. He pitched good enough to win," Kurfees said. "Take a couple plays in the field away in the fourth and we probably win."

Defense wasn't the only thing that went bad. Trailing by one, Mocksville had two on and no outs in the fifth. Then the batter missed the bunt sign and popped up.

"We missed a couple signs in the fifth," Kurfees said. "If we get that bunt down, we probably win the game."

Asheboro's reliever exasperated Mocksville. He took the hill in the sixth and struck out three in two innings.

"Their big stud just blew us away," he said.

Notes: Mocksville sorely missed the glove of infielder Justin Thompson, who was sick and couldn't play. ... Howell and Howard led the way with two hits each. ... This was the fourth one-run decision in five games, and Mocksville is 2-2 in those games. This was the third game to end 6-5.

Howard Homer Accelerates Tear

was capped by a two-run home run from unconscious Zach Howard.

Pitcher Tom Kuell went all the way to improve to 2-0. Both his wins have come in the Southern Division.

"We struggled behind him fielding the ball," Kurfees said. "Kuell pitched a pretty good game. He got a little shaky and walked a few, but the errors got him down."

While Mocksville's dicey defense and hot-and-cold offense have the coach perplexed, Howard has been a beast since day one. Mooresville became the latest opponent to get smacked around by Howard's season-long, seven-game hitting streak. Before homering in the fifth, he ripped a double.

"Howard is killing it, and he made some great plays at third base," Kurfees said. "He just had another great game."

"You can't be on a hotter streak than he is," assistant Andrew Jones said.

Kuell got plenty of offensive support, including two hits each by Heath Boyd and Matt Pennington.

Mooresville 2, Mocksville 1

Bryan King made his first legion start a sensational one, pitching six innings in the non-league battle with Mooresville. Unfortunately for the rising Davie junior, Mooresville's two pitchers were a little better.

"He pitched a heckuva game," said Jones, who coached alone as Kurfees served the first of a two-game suspension for getting ejected at Rowan County. "He kept everything low. He made two mistakes. He had an 0-2 count and got the ball up on two batters. They hit doubles and those were their two runs. Other than that, he did a fine job."

Mooresville touched King in the first, but it errored Shawn Maxwell's hopper in the third, tying the game. Mooresville regained the lead in the sixth.

In the bottom of the seventh, Mocksville threatened to win it with one swing. Cameron Clinard laced a leadoff single to left and moved to second on Boyd's sac bunt. Clint Howell dumped a single into shallow right and stole second. Chris Brogdon walked on four pitches to load the bases for Howard, who grounded into a 6-2 fielder's choice that kept Mooresville's lead at 2-1.

Justin Thompson hit the ball sharply, but the second baseman grabbed it and flipped to second for the final out.

King isn't overpowering. What makes him effective is varied speeds and exquisite control. He made believers out of people by going 6-1 for Davie's 20-3 JV.

"He's tough to hit," Jones said. "He keeps them offbalance and throws that curveball for a strike. If you'll play defense, he'll get outs."

Notes: In the first game, Mocksville avoided the first four-game skid in its three-year, 85-game history. ... Upcoming games: June 9 home (E. Randolph), June 10 away (S. Rowan), June 11 home (Kernersville), June 12 away (Kernersville) and June 14 home (SW Randolph). The games begin at 7 p.m.

Kurfees Ejected In Heated Loss To Rowan

Another tense duel ensued between visiting Mocksville and Rowan County in a Junior Legion baseball game on June 3 at Salisbury High. Fittingly, one call, one hit, decided the game.

The 16th installment of the big rivalry was tied in the sixth inning. For the eighth time, it wound up being decided by one or two runs. Rowan evened the score in the latter category by getting the benefit of a base umpire's call at second and scoring two runs in the sixth for a 5-3 victory over Mocksville, which dropped its third straight to fall to 3-3 overall and 2-2 in the Southern Division.

In the bottom of the sixth, Rowan's runner took off from first with nobody out. The ump ruled the base stealer safe, and that turned out to be the difference after an intentional walk and one-out sacrifice fly broke the 3-3 tie.

After the crucial call, Coach Charles Kurfees stomped out of the dugout and angrily confronted the ump. The heated exchange resulted in an ejection, and Kurfees spent the rest of evening in the parking lot.

"Vernon hosed his (butt)," Kurfees said after getting the heave-ho for the first time as Mocksville's third-year coach. "I went out and said: 'You blew that one.' The stands were full and we went at it. The fans were all over me."

Rowan got off and running in the first, using two walks and two errors to score three runs. Heath Boyd's double and Zach Howard's triple breathed life into Mocksville in the third. Later in the third, Justin Thompson executed a safety-squeeze bunt to forge the 3-3 tie.

But after the disputed stolen base, Mocksville intentionally walked the No. 8 batter to load the bases, and Rowan regained the lead on a sac fly. The next batter hit a dribbler down the third-base line. Instead of letting the ball roll - assistant coach Andrew Jones said it would have eventually gone foul - Mocksville's fielder picked it up and watched the fifth run come in.

Self-inflicted wounds have become a bad habit. Mocksville squandered commanding leads in the previous two games, and it absorbed a three-game slide for just the third time in the Jr. Legion's three-year, 84-game history.

Kurfees didn't mince words.

"We're beating ourselves," he said. "If we (don't walk the first two batters and botch two tailor-made double plays) in the first, we win the game. We looked like our old team (in the three-run third), but we don't bunt the ball when we need to and we don't work the pitcher when we need to."

Cameron Clinard did recover from the shaky first, pitching into the sixth and keeping Mocksville in the game. "Cameron pitched well enough to win the game," Kurfees said.

With the score tied and one out, Josh Eder showed how badly he wanted to beat the archrivals. He ranged to the right-field line, laid out and caught a fly ball, then jumped up and nailed a tagging runner at the plate.

But Mocksville never could get the lead against Josh Honeycutt, a rising senior who is also a third-year member of Rowan's junior squad.

"We faced a pretty good pitcher," Jones said.

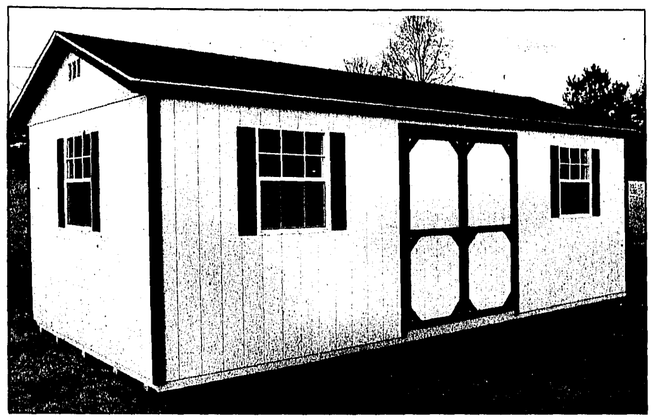

"These guys played JV baseball and this is a little better than JV baseball," Kurfees said. "It's a different game."

Notes: Howard's spectacular season lived on with two hits. He's yet to go hitless. "When he makes outs, he hits it hard," Kurfees said. ... Rowan leads the series 9-7.

Spotlight on Business

Mast Woodworks storage buildings

The setting is picturesque. The finished product is impeccable.

Conveniently situated between Interstate 77 and Highway 421 in Yadkin County is a storage building construction business that provides a rare commodity these days—the highest quality craftsmanship at extremely affordable prices.

And as the owner of Mast Woodworks, Alvin Mast Jr. wouldn't have it any other way.

"If you are going to be in business there are three simple rules that I tell my boys. Satisfy the customer, do the best you can and do better than the competition," explains Mast.

A sole proprietor who insists on delivering work of the highest caliber, Mast is truly a "hands-on" type of guy.

"My boys and I personally build each storage unit from the ground up," he notes.

He says that the two items that make his business stand out from the rest are quality work and reliable service.

"I have been building storage buildings since 1989 and I know what it takes to build a good quality building," Mast says.

Top grade materials, turn-key custom work

The craftsmen at Mast Woodworks start each project with T-111 fur siding and top grade lumber. They then build virturally any size and style of storage building you could want, from 8' x 8' all the way up to 14' x 40'. Metal roofing is also available. "We can even do garages if that's what you're looking for," Alvin says.

Mast emphasizes that his company is fully capable of handling custom work. "We can customize any part of the building, from lofts to work benches to extra doors and so on. We can also handle the electrical work and on-site delivery. All the customer needs to do is provide the leveling material and we can haul, deliver and level up the building when we get there."

All deliveries are made by Hall's Delivery Service. Mast Woodworks has been working with Dale Hall for four years now and has been extremely happy with his work.

"Dale has done a wonderful job for us. We have not had one customer complaint," Mast comments.

'Handyman Special' features workshop and storage area

One popular style of building Mast Woodworks currently features is the Handyman Special. It features a storage area on one end and a workshop on the other.

Owner has spent his career in construction business

Mast, who has been in construction all of his life, says he got interested in building storage units so he could have a business close to home.

"I wanted to get off the road and stay home. Sometimes in construction I would have to travel 75 to 100 miles away. I was tired of morning and evening travel," explains Mast.

Free estimates available

"We are happy to give anyone free estimates and provide pictures of our work," he adds. "And we always encourage people to stop by and see one of our buildings in person."

Mast Woodworks is located 10 miles west of Yadkinville and six miles north of Union Grove at 5328 St. Paul Church Road in Hamptonville (Windsors Crossroads District.) For the convenience of their Clemmons customers, Mast Woodworks has opened a lot to showcase their buildings on the corner of 1-58 and Harper Road. They can be reached at 468-1194 Monday through Saturday 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Davie Schools

Davie High history teacher Jeremy Byrd introduces Appalachian State professors, Drs. Peter Petschaus and Zohara Boyd.

The professors answer questions from students.

Living History

ASU Professors Discuss Holocaust With DHS Students

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The professors candidly answer questions from the Davie High history students.

They lived through one of the darkest times in recent history - the Holocaust.

They were only children, but Drs. Zohara Boyd and Peter Petschaus came away with views of life and the world, and they brought those views to history students at Davie High School last month.

Both are professors at Appalachian State University in the Center for Judaic, Holocaust Education Studies and Non Violence Center.

The professors faced the students with no set program. They answered questions, honestly and directly.

Boyd had lived the most dramatic life. Polish and Jewish, her family was captured and sent to and sent to what was called a ghetto. Many family members didn't survive.

Her family, via false documents, was able to get released.

Boyd was born in 1942, on the day called Bloody Friday because so many Jews were massacred. She still doesn't celebrate her birthday.

As a young child, she was a Jew in one place, a communist in another, a Nazi in another ... "I always knew at which place I was allowed to be which person. It makes for an odd sense of feeling who you are."

Petschaus led a more normal life in the mountains of southern Germany. His father was a Nazi prison guard. "I was a child ... and didn't understand what war was."

The students' questions made the two professors think.

One student caught on to Boyd's statement that she hadn't accepted organized religion.

"How can you say you don't believe in God ... when you're here today?" the student asked.

Boyd's answer was quick.

"Six million Jews and 26 million Russians are not here today," she said, adding that she can't understand why a loving God would allow that to happen.

"The purpose I have given to my life is to give witness," she said. "I am alive because I was in one place and not another."

She believes that one survives pretty much by chance.

"That's what experience has taught me," she said.

The war, including growing up disguising who she was, developed her views, Boyd said.

"People like happy endings ... and that going through tough times make you better. I think I would be a much nicer person had I not gone through this war."

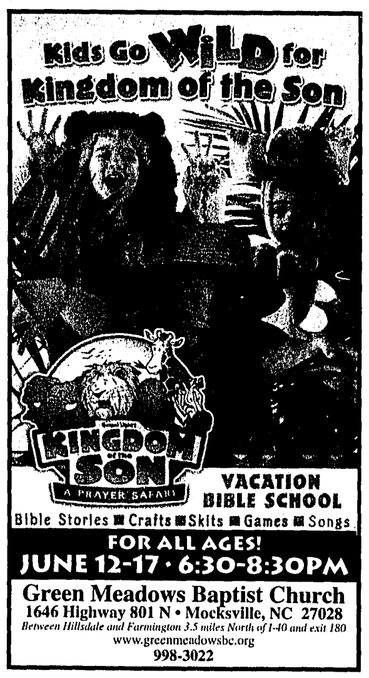

Answering prodding questions from the students, Boyd said she has never been able to fully trust people, has trouble accepting religious faith, is cynical, tough and suspicious.

Petschaus had similar feelings. He said he is disillusioned with society.

"I do not trust government ... because they can quickly be turned on the people of that society," he said.

Petschaus said religion is a personal struggle for people. Some who go through traumatic events such as war come out more religious, some less.

"You have no choice to whom you're born," Petschaus said. "Anytime you're discriminating against someone else, you're discriminating against someone who has no choice."

Schools Seeking Grant

Davie County Schools is submitting an application for a Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities Act Grant for the 2005-2006 school year.

The purpose of this act is to support programs that prevent violence in and around schools; prevent the illegal use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs; involve parents and communities; and are coordinated with related federal, state, school and community efforts and resources to foster a safe and drug-free learning environment that supports student academic achievement.

For more information on this grant, contact the school health office at 751-7704 ext. 34.

William Sterrett Earns Doctorate

William L. Sterrett, son of Clay and Teresa Sterrett of Staunton, Va. and grandson of Roy and Elaine Brown of Mocksville and the late Wilson and Eleanor Sterrett of Staunton, earned a Ph.D. in administration and supervision from the University of Virginia in Charlottesville on May 21.

Sterrett is an assistant principal with the Charlottesville City Schools. He lives in Charlottesville with his wife and son.

The following is the hooding statement, which his advisor, Pamela D. Tucker, wrote, that was read at the graduation hooding ceremony.

"William Sterrett is a testament to the energy and vitality of youth. During the past year, William has become a first-time father and administrator, in addition to completing his doctoral work for a Ph.D. in administration and supervision. His dissertation on the 'Perceived Instructional Leadership Role of Elementary Principals in Virginia" will serve him well as a second-year assistant principal at Johnson Elementary School here in Charlottesville. William has juggled these multiple tasks and sleepless nights with humor and gentle persistence. We wish his wife, Stephanie, and his young son much happiness in their newly acquired time with Daddy."

McNeil Earns Doctorate

Bryan McNeil received his Doctor of Philosophy in Anthropology degree during ceremonies at UNC-Chapel Hill on May 14 and 15.

McNeil

His dissertation, "Searching for Home Where Mountains Move: When Economy, Environment, and Meaning Collide in an American Place" was submitted to fulfill the studies and requirements for the advanced degree.

McNeill will be teaching in the Social Science Department at NC Governors School West during the summer and is pursuing a post doctorate position this fall.

McNeill graduated from Davie High School in 1994, attended Wake Forest University and completed his undergraduate degree at UNC-CH graduating with Distinction in 1998. He is the son of Tom and Donna McNeil.

Corey Doub Receives Mount Olive Scholarship

MOUNT OLIVE- Corey Doub of Advance has been named to receive a $2500 merit scholarship at Mount Olive College.

Doub

Doub is the son of Gary and Lanita Doub. He is a graduate of Davie High School and plans to enter MOC in the fall to major in biology.

Merit Scholarships are selected on the basis of grade point average, class rank, and SAT scores. The scholarship is renewable annually.

2 On Lipscomb Provost's List

Two Davie students at Lipscomb University in Nashville, Tenn. were named to the Provost's List for the spring semester with minimum 3.5 grade point averages:

Meghan Godbey of Towery Road, a finance/economics major, and Brent Skiver of Dreamhaven Lane, a biology major, both of Mocksville.

High-Tech Studies

South Students Learn About Russian Animals

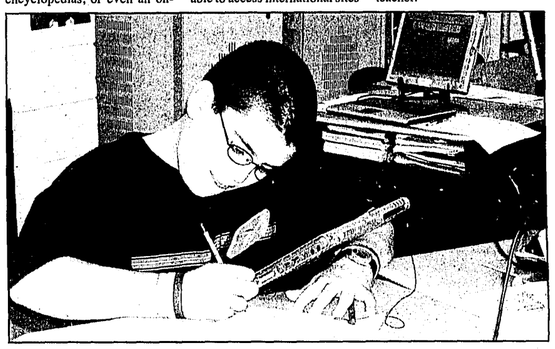

South Davie Middle School sixth graders in Belinda Garner's science classes recently worked on an integrated unit on Russia.

Their task was to investigate endangered animals in Russia focusing on the reasons for the animals' near extinction.

Instead of using traditional encyclopedias, or even an online encyclopedia, students used cutting-edge technology. All work was completed in the regular classroom rather than traveling to the computer lab.

Students worked cooperatively using remote computer tablets at their desks which were connected to wireless internet. Students were able to access international sites and organizations many of which contained live feeds, audio, and video that brought the animals to life.

Students were able to compose their facts into a word document while simultaneously completing their research. The completed word document could then be printed, or emailed to the teacher.

Wireless internet and a remote tablet allow Will Jones to conduct research in the regular classroom.

12 Earn UNC-CH Degrees

Twelve Davie students at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill were awarded degrees at spring commencement.

Dana Jeanette Call of Mocksville earned a master's of accounting degree.

Justin Alan Gach of Advance earned a master's of accounting degree.

Sarah Elizabeth Leidy of Advance earned a bachelor's degree in sociology.

Bryan Thomas McNeill of Advance earned a doctor of philosophy degree in anthropology.

Anna Riddle Mitchell of Jacksonville earned a doctorate in pharmacy degree.

Sarah Teague Monger earned a bachelor's of business administration degree.

Telisca Ver'Na Penn of Chapel Hill earned a bachelor's degree in psychology.

Whitney Elizabeth Sexton of Advance earned a bachelor's degree in psychology.

Brandy Nichole Sparks of Chapel Hill earned a bachelor's degree in journalism and mass communications.

Olivia Angelyn Steele of Mocksville earned a bachelor's degree in nursing.

Shepard W. Stephenson of Advance earned a bachelor's degree in psychology.

Rebecca Lynn Stockert of Advance earned a bachelor's degree in journalism and mass communications.

Scott W. Sutton of Bermuda Run earned a bachelor's degree in biology.

Teacher Attends Seminar

Trina H. Jackson of Advance, seventh-grade language arts and social studies teacher at North Davie Middle School, attended a seminar, To Love the Land: Sustainable Development in the Mountains held April 4-8 at the North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching.

NCCAT provides residential seminars in the arts, sciences, humanities and technology for pre-kindergarten through 12th-grade public school teachers. The seminars are offered on a year-round basis at no cost to teachers. They are designed to renew teachers vitality for teaching and to equip them with new knowledge for the classroom.

Franklin Earns Wake Forest Degree With High Honors

On May 16, Joseph Chad Franklin graduated magna cum laude with honors in psychology from Wake Forest University, where he made the dean's list each semester of his four years of study.

Franklin was inducted into the Golden Key International Honor Society. Golden Key recognizes the top 15 percent of the junior and senior classes according to grade point average.

For high achievement in five Latin classes, he was inducted into Eta Sigma Phi, the National Classical Languages Honor Society. For his work in psychology, he was inducted into Psi Chi, the National Honor Society in psychology.

Franklin minored in neuroscience, volunteered at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center, and completed two major independent research projects, which will be published in scientific journals. He spent his free time tutoring, playing guitar, painting, learning tae kwon do and producing a television show on Wake TV.

Franklin plans to conduct more research and pursue a doctorate in clinical psychology. A 2001 graduate of Davie High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Franklin of Mocksville.

Boger Pursuing Double Major

Wendy Boger has maintained a 3.7 grade point average for the last two semesters at Davidson County Community College in Lexington. She is pursuing a double major in the health care field and plans to graduate in 2007.

She is the daughter of William G. Boger of Granite Quarry, and Sherry and Roy Rassmussen of Woodbury, Conn. She is the mother of DJ, Leslie and Cody James of Mocksville and the wife of Islam Abdelrahman.

Bryant On ASU Dean's List

Brett Bryant, son of Forrest and Wanda Bryant of Mocksville, has earned a place on the dean's list at Appalachian State University. He is pursuing a degree in middle school education.

Two From Davie Receive Honors From Salem College

Salem Academy held its annual Recognition Program on May 27, presenting awards to students for excellence in the areas of academics, fine arts, athletics, and student life and service.

Two area students received honors.

Amber Brennan, a rising senior, received the Rensselaer Math and Science Award. She is the daughter of Tim and Martha McCraw of Advance and Gregory Brennan of Hatboro, Penn.

Alicia Jayo, a graduating senior, received the Betty Clauset History Award. She is the daughter of Jeanne Wallace of Winston-Salem and Manuel Jesus Jayo of Advance.

South Band Students Rate Well

South Davie band students came away from competitions with top awards in the spring.

The eighth grade band earned an excellent rating, one point from superior, at the North Carolina State Concert Festival.

More than 60 schools participated in the festival. Each performed a march and two concert selections - March Ravissimo by John Edmondson, Aztec Celebration by James Swearengen and Harrowgate Festival by Edmondson.

They were judged on beauty of tone, rhythmic precision, balance and technique.

"I am very pleased with the progress the eighth grade band made this year," said Kathy Ferebee, director.

The group performed at Busch Gardens (Virginia) in May, and played in the Mocksville and Advance Christmas parades, Christmas caroling for South Davie students, concerts for three elementary schools and at PTSA meetings.

Kathy Ferebee is South Davie's band teacher.

Members of the band include: Haley Allred, Octavia Boyd, Carrie Brewer, Michael Brewer, Tracey Brown, Lindsay Cartner, Cody Clark, Kaitlin Dodd, Kara Dodd, Jack Evans, Megan Gibson, Britni Grammer, Dana Hayes, Rebecca Hendrix, Luke Hollifield, Marian Hunckler, Melinda Jablonski, Mary Jarvis, Maggie Keeble, Bradley Key, Jordan Lane, Chad Lee, Paul Lince, Daniel McBride, Madison Melton, Vasilika Millo, Lauren Mock, Jamie North, Cody Rusher, Cory Shires, Jacob Snow, Corey Spell, Chris Sponaugle, Joseph Spry, Joseph T. Taylor, Zachary Taylor, Stephanie Walker, Jonathan West, Megan Whittaker, Tabi Wilt and Jake Wyatt.

Thirteen of the seventh and eighth grade students competed in a solo and ensemble festival at A.L. Brown Middle School.

Students prepared selections to perform before judges, and those on a wind instrument were accompanied by Paul Ijames, a music major at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

South students received nine superior and six excellent ratings. Some students performed duets, and Kristin Ferebee competed on two instruments.

Following are the ratings of South seventh graders:

Brittany Clark, flute solo, superior;

Jessica Butner, snare drum solo, superior;

Gerald Stakely, tenor sax solo, superior;

Charlie Hoose, clarinet solo, superior;

Kristin Ferebee, alto saxophone solo, superior, and flute solo, excellent;

B.J. Plummer, snare drum solo, excellent;

Jessica Butner and B.J. Plummer, drum duet, excellent; and Brittany Clark and Grace Williams, flute duet, superior.

Eighth grade participants were:

Jamie North, clarinet solo, superior;

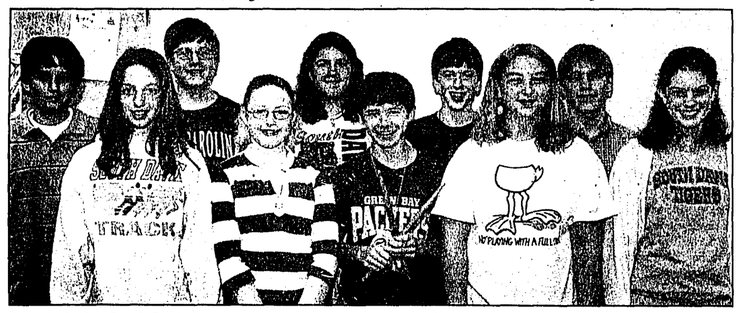

Jack Evans, trumpet solo, superior;

Luke Hollifield, alto saxophone solo, superior;

Carrie Brewer, clarinet solo, excellent;

Joseph Taylor, snare drum solo, excellent; and

Davie People

The tables are filled with food at the 125th annual Masonic Picnic held last week in Mocksville.

Brenda and Eugene Hunter fill their plates.

Children and adults listen to Robert Elsner talk about the benefits of good nutrition.

Good Eats

125th Masonic Picnic Raises Money For Children's Home

Be sensible in what you eat. Exercise your brain.

It seemed like a lot of "don'ts," but the advice from Dr. Robert Elsner at the 125th annual Masonic Picnic last week in Mocksville wasn't nearly as harsh.

Use moderation when eating fatty foods fried quickly in high heat.

Eat more of the fresh vegetables and fruits, raw or slightly cooked. Eat more of the fish (broiled, grilled or baked). Eat more natural foods.

A researcher at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center in Winston-Salem, Elsner said stuides show that people who eat less fried and fatty foods are less violent, have higher IQs and have a decreased or delayed chance of suffering from dimentia or Alzheimer's.

He uses Jesus as an example. While it is assumed he ate at several occasions, the only time it mentioned what Jesus actually ate - the food was broiled fish and a honeycomb.

"Balance the raw and cooked," Elsner said, "considering what's going to give us the better quality of life."

He urged moderation in all things, including what we eat.

"Try to eat a few of those vegetables a little less cooked ... a little less fried, and when you get older, you will have a better quality of life."

Dr. Robert Elsner: "Try to eat a few of those vegetables a little less cooked ... a little less fried."

Mocksville Police Chief Robert Cook enters the gate for the famous picnic dinner.

People search the tables for fried chicken, potato salad, deviled eggs and other homemade delicacies.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leon O'Neal

Willoughby-O'Neal Couple Speak Vows

Teri Nicole Willoughby of Mocksville and James Leon O'Neal of Cooleemee were united in marriage at 11 a.m. Saturday, May 21, at Cody Creek in Dobson. The Rev. Jimmy Lancaster officiated.

The bride is the daughter of James and Teresa Blackwelder of Mocksville and Ricky Willoughby of Carlisle, Ky. Her grandparents are Larry and Mildred Jolly of Carlisle, Ky. and step-grandmother, Elizabeth Blackwelder of Mocksville. The bride graduated from Mitchell Community College with an associate degree in nursing. She is employed at Davis Regional Medical Center in Statesville.

The groom is the son of Tony and Tammy O'Neal of Cooleemee. His grandparents are Leon and Frances O'Neal of Cooleemee and the late James Bean and Bob and Nell Cope of Mocksville. He graduated from Davie High School and is the owner and operator of O'Neal's Lawncare.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, the bride chose Amanda Fredrick of Lexington, Ky. as her maid of honor. Sabrina O'Neal, sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid. Flower girl was Alexis Crotts of Mocksville.

The groom's father was the best man. McKenzie Willoughby, brother of the bride, was a groomsman. Ring bearers included Tanner Sechrest, nephew of the groom, and Avery Taylor.

Danielle O'Neal was the guest book attendant.

After the reception at The Depot, the couple went on their honeymoon to Orlando, Fla. and will return home to live in Cooleemee.

Mrs. Bobby Gene Rycroft Jr.

Nichols-Rycroft Couple Married At Mocksville Church

Tiffany Marie Nichols of Mocksville and Bobby Gene Rycroft Jr. of Mocksville were united in marriage at a Royal Ceremony on April 23 at noon at Jericho Church of Christ in Mocksville. Dr. Tom Torpy officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Derrick and Teresa Nichols of Mocksville. Her grandparents are Dean and Linda Nichols of Cleveland, N.C. and the late Robert (R.L.) Lashmit and Betty Lashmit of Mocksville. Great-grandmother is Ruth Bivins of Cooleemee. She is employed as assistant manager for the UPS Store in Clemmons.

The groom is the son of Marie Culler of Mocksville and the late Bobby Gene Rycroft of Thomasville. He is employed as a residential sales coordinator with ADT in Winston-Salem.

Given in marriage by her father, the song "A Song For My Daughter" was played. Matron of honor was Amanda White, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Nicole Terry, niece of the groom, and Jessica Koontz, future sister-in-law of the bride.

Flower girl was Kiersten Nichols, niece of the bride. Miniature bride was Mckenzie Phillips, daughter of the groom.

Best man was Michael Lashmit of Winston-Salem, cousin of the bride. Groomsmen were Blake Nichols and Chad Nichols, brothers of the bride.

Ring bearer was Colton Nichols, nephew of the bride. Miniature groom was Jake Rycroft, son of the groom.

Program and register attendants were Cheyenne Lashmit, cousin of the bride, and Brittany Toney, friend of the bride.

Wedding and music directors were Danielle and Troy Shepherd.

The bride wore a white Cinderella wedding gown with silver embellishments.

Following the ceremony, a reception and Medieval Feast was held in the Festivity Hall.

After a honeymoon to the N.C. mountains, they are at home in Mocksville.

Mullican-Coleman Engagement Announced

Paul and Darla Mullican of Winston-Salem announce the engagement of their daughter, Heather Lianne Mullican, to Jesse (Bubba) Coleman, son of Jan Coleman of Cooleemee and Gene Coleman of Denton.

Native to Winston-Salem, the bride-to-be received her undergraduate degree from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington and earned a master's of business administration degree from High Point University. She is employed at Vista Realty.

The groom-to-be graduated with a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and is employed by Sheffield Financial.

A Sept. 3 wedding is planned at Lewisville United Methodist Church, followed by a reception at Forsyth Country Club in Winston-Salem.

Carter-Minor Engagement Announced

Paul and Tammie Carter of Advance announce the engagement of their daughter, Amanda Faye Carter of Advance to Bobby Grant Minor III of Advance, the son of Bobby and Janet Minor of Advance.

The bride-elect is a 2002 graduate of Davie High School and in May earned an associate degree from Forsyth Technical Community College. She is employed by Eckerd Pharmacy.

The groom-to-be is a 2001 graduate of Davie High School and in May earned an associate degree from Forsyth Technical Community College. He is employed by Lowes Foods.

Hood-McMillian Engagement Announced

David and Patricia Trexler of Cooleemee announce the engagement of their daughter, Kena Diane Hood to William Christopher McMillian.

The bride-elect is a 1998 graduate of Davie High School and is a long-time employee of Western Steer-Prime Sirloin.

The groom-to-be is the son of Rush and Thursa McMillian of Hillsville, Va. He is a 1995 graduate of Carroll County High School and is employed with Jockey International of Cooleemee.

The wedding is planned for July 1 at Victory Baptist Church of Cooleemee.

Gough-Hoots Memorial June 26

All descendants of John and Catherine Gough, Sam and Barbara Hoots, Frank and Polly Hoots, Jasper J. and Maude Hoots, Abe and Martha Wishon, Rhone and Louise Harpe, Lee and Mary Harriet Allgoode, L.N. Groce and Amanda Groce, Henry W. Hoots and Mary Atwood - the descendants of John and Emily Adeline Gough Hoots - are invited to a memorial service at Deep Creek Baptist Church on June 26 at 2:30 p.m.

After the service, anyone who wishes to visit the cemetery may do so.

Emily Adeline Gough Hoots was born in 1816. She married John Hoots in 1835. In the next 20 years, she gave birth to 11 children. She died at the age of 45. Before her death, she asked to be buried under an apple tree at the old home place.

When her oldest son, Enos, died, a cemetery was started near their home. When her husband John died, he was buried there. Six unmarked graves may contain some of her children who died at an early age.

Jack And Clara Corriher Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Marie Harris and Dorothy Neal shop at the Bermuda Village clubhouse.

Bermuda Village News

By Lisa O'Donnell
Bermuda Village Correspondent

The main living room of the Bermuda Village clubhouse was transformed into a clothing boutique when Carte made a stop last Thursday.

Judy Burton and Kelly Giubileo established Carte nine years ago and have been traveling the southeastern states ever since. They work 49 weeks a year making more than 250 stops traveling to retirement communities. They said their work is rewarding by providing the service for women who are homebound.

The room was filled with more than 10 racks and 1,500 items of summer apparel; mix and match separates from Alfred Dunner, Leslie Faye dresses, blouses by Yves St. Clair, Jenny sweaters and more. An array of costume jewelry was also available.

Jeanne Noakes takes advantage of the "local" shopping.

Sheffield-Calahaln News

By Janice Jordan
Sheffield/Calahaln Correspondent

Children of all ages look forward to this time of year, and not just the beginning of summer vacation from school. June is Vacation Bible School for many churches.

Liberty Wesleyan will have a one-day Bible School Saturday, June 25 at the church on 2106 Sheffield Road. Ages from 1-12 are invited. It will begin at 8:45 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m. No pre-registration is necessary.

Seniors are invited to meet every second Tuesday of each month at Liberty Wesleyan Church. June 14 is the date of this month's gathering, which will begin at 10 a.m. The Tom Dooley Band will entertain, followed by lunch in the fellowship hall. Contact Scott Newton, pastor, at 492-7239.

New Union United Methodist Church has planned a benefit breakfast for Terry Keaton. He has been a patient at the University of North Carolina Hospital at Chapel Hill for several weeks, and requires the use of a heart pump. He is awaiting heart and kidney transplants. Terry grew up in the Sheffield community and is married to the former Tenita Prevette. The breakfast will take place from 6:30-10 a.m. Saturday, June 18 at the Sheffield/Calahaln Community Center. Donations are welcome. Church members will have home-baked items for sale. Your participation in the fundraiser will be greatly appreciated, as will your prayers.

After several days in the hospital, Linda Kay Allen Drye is at home recuperating from surgery. Although additional surgery will be needed, she is gaining strength, and her family is happy to have her back at home with them.

Part of Sheffield Road's residents had a scare Friday evening when a motorist reported sighting a large raccoon behaving erratically. Although nocturnal, this animal was in plain view during daylight, staggering through one neighbor's yard and into the highway. The animal left the area on its own, so there is no way for us to know if it was rabid. Everyone, especially children, should remember to use caution when encountering any wild animal. Make sure rabies vaccinations are current for pets.

Joe Anderson and his wife, Josephine Horton have returned from a cruise in Alaska. After flying into Vancouver, British Columbia, they boarded the Spirit and traveled northward through Alaska's famed inside passage waterway. Stops along the way included visits to the towns of Juneau, Ketchikan, Skagway, and Sitka, where Joe and Josephine enjoyed excursions such as whale-watching, dog sledding, and viewing Indian dancing. Josephine was most impressed with the enthusiasm of the mixed breed dogs that pull the sleds, and with the care and attention they receive from their handlers, even though there were roughly 250 dogs at the facility they visited. All sled dogs are called "Huskies" and are chosen for their enthusiasm for pulling under harness and their ability to work in conjunction with the other sled dogs. Thirteen dogs were able to pull six people in a wheeled sled with no difficulty. The weather was ideal throughout the week-long cruise, and provided many hours of scenery watching, including viewing the magnificent glaciers. Even though there was one night of some rough water, nothing detracted from their special adventure. Joe and Josephine regretted leaving the ship board meals and accommodations behind when they reached Anchorage, their final destination before flying home.

My husband and I have had the good fortune to visit parts of Alaska and have found the scenery and the experience to be outstanding. Imagine my surprise, when standing in the lobby of our hotel in Fairbanks a couple of years ago, I heard a woman tell another guest that she was from a small town in North Carolina. I couldn't resist approaching her to tell her that I too was from the Tar Heel State, living in a small town near Winston-Salem. We were all from Mocksville. That was the first time I met Phyllis Potter and her husband, Bob. Now I'm a believer that sometimes it really is a small world.

George and Janie Brown from Ringgold, Ga. were guests at our home during the Memorial holiday. George is a former business associate of ours from the period we worked in the north Georgia area, and his wife is the retired director of transportation for the Catoosa County School System. Although they traveled here in their personal car, they brought photographs to show us of their new motor home. Next month, they will leave on a two month trip from Georgia to Montana, and from there to Canada and Alaska, for a trip that will total 13,000 miles.

Members of the Sheffield/Calahaln Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary thank everyone who participated in the community yard sale at the fire station last Saturday. It was a perfect weather day for the sale, but the sellers were able to set up their tables inside the truck bay, just in case a shower occurred. Buyers seemed to appreciate being able to shop inside out of the sun. If you weren't able to attend, you missed some bargains. It's only through the participation and support of the community that events like these are successful.

Congratulations to Ken and Virginia Lanier. Word was sent to me that Tuesday, June 7 marked the 48th anniversary of their marriage.

David and Dawn Allen have returned from vacationing in Myrtle Beach, S.C. with family members. It was a great way for Dawn to celebrate her birthday on May 30.

As always, thank you for continuing to send your comments and your news to me at 492-5836 or to my email, jvfjordan@hotmail.com.

Farmington News

After several days of cloud and rain, the weekend weather was pleasant. It was nice to see the warm sunshine Saturday with the blooming flowers, singing birds, and a light breeze. It was enjoyable here in Farmington in spite of the rumbling of motorcycles up and down the road all day (thanks to the Farmington Motorsports Park). If we could turn back the clock.

Saturday, May 28, was a big day for Pansy Furches and family. The auction at the Furches estate on Farmington Road was a success. Auctioneer W. Randall Woodruff with Great State Auction handled the event. Many hours were spent prior to the auction preparing items for the sale and moving them out of the house and onto the lawn.

There were 800 items sold, including: glassware, lamps,dolls, furniture,tractors, and automobiles. There was Mrs. Furches' well-known 1990 Lincoln Limousine, a 1924 Huppmobile that sold for $7,000, and the highest bidding item, a '69 Dodge RT Convertible that sold for $30,250. Skies threatened rain but people came from as far as Michigan, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Florida.

For some, it was a family event. Parents came with strollers, blankets, and chairs for the young ones. The supply of snacks and toys showed they were planning to stay for a good part of the day.

There were several members of the Furches family there who took part in the bidding.

Pansy Furches spoke with some of the community residents. Some people came simply to look and enjoy food and conversation with friends and neighbors.

I spotted James Essic heading to his car with his arms full of dolls. His wife, Lelia Essic, later told me that they had purchased some of the dolls for the purpose of donating them to the Storehouse For Jesus.

Pansy Furches would like to thank those in the community for their many prayers and concern during her time of illness. She appreciates the support that she and her family have received from the community.

"There is nothing like Farmington people," she said. "They will always stick together".

Please continue your prayers for Mrs. Pansy and her family.

The free martial arts demonstration will be Friday, June 10 at 7 p.m. at the Farmington Community Center, sponsored by Karate International for all ages. There will be hamburgers and hot dogs for purchase. Proceeds will benefit the Center.

James Essic goes home with some dolls for his wife's collection.

The community would like to send condolences to the family of Klyde Teague. Mr. Teague died at the age of 99. He was the oldest member of the Farmington Baptist Church. Services were held at Farmington Baptist Saturday, June 4 and he was laid to rest at the Farmington Community Cemetery.

The breakfast at Wesley Chapel UMC will be Saturday, June 18 from 6:30-10. Everyone is invited to attend. Homecoming was last Sunday, June 5 at 11. Ted Baity was the guest speaker. Approximately 70 members and visitors enjoyed his message. It was good to see Mattie Ward, Johnsie Shelton and Louise Dill as they have not been able to attend in quite some time. We have two new little girls that were not here last year, 3-month-old Annabelle Cate Lakey, daughter of Bryan and Suzanne Lakey, and 5-month-old Caroline Joyce Dill, daughter of Jason and Amber Dill.

Marie Miller had the misfortune to fall and break her hip last week. She spent several days in the hospital but is home recuperating now.

James and Lelia Essic had as their guest for Sunday daughter Mary Ellen Candillo from Winston-Salem. She brought lunch to honor her father for an early Father's Day celebration. After lunch they went to the beautiful Holden Gardens and enjoyed visiting Mrs. Lola H. Holden, Patsy and Caswell Booe and Charles Holden.

Chinera Latham and Kendra Jacobs spent last weekend in Charleston, S.C. visiting with Audra Raus and her husband, Glenn.

Elbaville UMC in Advance hosted the Davie County Mini Retreat on Monday, June 6. Amelia Hodges of Winston-Salem, vice president of Friends of Ronald McDonald house, was the guest speaker. Over $1,600 was raised in the offering, which was presented to her for the Ronald McDonald House. Wesley Chapel members attending were Dewilla Smith, Nancy Collette and Kathy Ellis.

Vacation Bible School at the Methodist church last week was a great success with an enrollment of 80 children. Average attendance was 68. We extend thanks to the many people from the congregation who assisted daily. Commencement program was Saturday morning. Director Janine Roberts is to be commended for doing a wonderful job.

The First Baptist Church Bible School is in progress through June 10 from 6:30-9 p.m. titled "A Rambling Road Trip" across the U.S.

We welcome Angela Burton back to the Methodist Church (our church secretary) who has been out several days recuperating from gall-bladder surgery. We missed you Angie.

Brenda Zimmerman of Glen Cove, N.Y. and her friend Maxine Glenn of Bayville, N.Y. arrived Thursday, May 26 to spend Memorial Day weekend, through Monday, with her mother, Edith Zimmerman. On Saturday Adrian Farley and friend Kristen Wyckoff of Arlington, Va. arrived to spend the weekend. Janie Hendrix and granddaughter Isabelle Barmun of Charlotte joined her sisters for the Memorial Day weekend visit. Later they attended the Shutt Gathering on May 28.

Hank and Gaye Wade have returned from a two months vacation across the U.S. They were in 17 states going as far west as Salt Lake City. They toured many national parks including Yellowstone, White Sands, Monument Park, Mammoth Cave plus others. They toured eight military bases (Hank is retired from the Navy). They saw the deserts in full bloom which was enjoyable. In Hopkinsville, Ky. they stopped for genealogy research. Hank's great-grandfather resided here in the 1860s-1870s and the college, church and other buildings are on the National Register of Historic Places in his memory. The Wades drove 19,528 miles on their two-month tour.

Harriett Chandler of St. Petersburg, Fla. visited her cousin, Vernelle Greene, in Chuchland for a week prior to Memorial Day. While here they visited Edith Zimmerman.

A Shutt gathering was observed Memorial Day weekend, at the invitation of Edith Shutt Zimmerman and daughter Brenda Zimmerman. The descendants of Johann Jacob Schott/Shutt who came to America in the 1700s from Zweibrucken, Germany, met at the Methodist church fellowship hall Saturday May 28, with relatives from Texas, Missouri, many parts of Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, New York and all over N.C., totaling 40 people. Meeeting in the early afternoon the group toured the John Wesley Shutt house on Shutt Road, and the John Edward Bell Shutt house on Highway 801. Returning to the fellowship hall (and prior to the 6 p.m. buffet meal) there was a welcoming program and family introductions, as to where they were from and their relationship to our ancestor. Seven door prizes were awarded. On Sunday, May 29 the out-of-state Shutts were invited to attend worship service at the Methodist church, afterwards a lunch in the fellowship hall. Our Pastor the Rev Harry Sammons, wife Jane and son Lewis were invited to join the Shutts for lunch. The Shutts have been members of the Methodist church for the past 149 years, joining shortly after they came to Davie County in 1855-56. Sunday afternoon the Shutt relatives visited Edith Zimmerman at her home before leaving for their respective destinations.

Pete Cornatzer is a pateint at Forsyth Medical Center suffering a stroke on Friday which has affected his right side. Get well wishes go out to him.

Dale Myers, a long distance truck driver of Greely, Colo. surprised his mother Anna Lee Myers with a visit on Memorial Day. They enjoyed a barbecue meal from Tar Heel Q, eating at Anna Lee's home, where they were joined by Dale's sisters and brother-in-law, Cathy and Rommie Barney and Marcia Goshorn.

A group of 12 have returned from a cruise trip to Alaska, under the direction of Cleo Carter Beriti. Among them were Tama O'Mara, her daughter Gina McRae, Carolyn Barnes, Janet Foster, DeAnna Dillard, C.W. and Joyce Foster, Christine Miller and her daughter Rita Hagan of S.C. Flying out of Greensboro the group went to Vancouver, Canada where they boarded their ship. They had off shore tours of Juneau, Skagway and Ketchikan. One day they had an all day cruise inside Glacier Bay, plus other points of interest.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Kazie Lee Smiley. She died at her home last Sunday.

Leslie Ellis is spending five weeks in Spain studying additional courses of Spanish. She is a rising senior at UNC-Greensboro, majoring in Spanish, and won a teacher's scholarship to Madrid, Spain. While there she has been able to take many side trips of see the country. Leslie is the daughter of Robbie and Julia Ellis and the granddaughter of Inez Hartman.

REAL ESTATE WEEKLY

By Debbie Prachel
Owner/Broker
Premier Carolina Properties

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMERTIME

Summertime is real estate prime time, when new "For Sale" signs start popping up at the curbside in every neighborhood. Sellers who started making repairs and repainting their homes several months ago are now listing freshly decorated, ready-to-show properties. Families with children are eager to buy now so they can move during summer vacation, before the new school year begins.

The price and condition of a property are the two most important factors in any market. Buyers and sellers will benefit by obtaining comparative sales information from experienced local real estate agents, or paying for a professional home appraisal, which provides an objective opinion of the real market value.

What can we expect of this year's summer market? Competition will be even higher than at other times of the year for the most desirable properties. Multiple offers are common in many areas, so as long as the property is in good condition, sellers can be assured of success. Homebuyers who are pre-approved for a mortgage loan will be in a better position to make a timely offer on the right home.

The housing market usually slows down in late summer and then picks up again in the fall. Now is definitely the time to act!

Debbie is an award-winning full-time professional real estate broker in Davie County.

The Ketchie Connection

June is the most popular month for weddings. Many pastors will perform weddings this month. Have you ever wondered which County Line pastor has married the most couples? Perhaps a Baptist or Methodist since those are the prominent faiths in our area?

Around 1866, the Rev. William Rufus Ketchie began ministering at Saint Matthew's Lutheran Church on Davie Academy Road. Although our area was thinly populated in the 1800s and early 1900s, the Rev. Ketchie performed more than 150 marriages just in Davie.

The Rev. Ketchie was born near China Grove on Feb. 13, 1839. He worked on the family farm during the summers and attended the field schools when possible. In 1860, he entered North Carolina Lutheran College in Mt. Pleasant and continued his studies until September 1861. He willingly served as a private in Co. H 8th North Carolina Infantry of the Confederate Army until the end of the war.

On March 31, 1866, he married Sallie Jane Patterson and in May 1866 was certified by the North Carolina Lutheran Synod to "preach the gospel and bury the dead within certain presented limits." He did not attend a seminary but was tutored privately, perhaps by the Rev. Samuel Rothrock and/or the Rev. William Artz, professors at Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary. In 1868 his license was renewed to "preach the gospel and administer the sacraments of the church."

In the fall of 1868, the Rev. Ketchie took charge of Saint Matthew's and New Jerusalem/ Reformation churches. He remained pastor at Saint Matthew's until 1882, but was removed from New Jerusalem in 1871. He re-entered the N.C. Lutheran College, and studied for two years after he was regularly ordained by the N.C. Lutheran Synod in December 1871.

While serving at Saint Matthew's, he served churches in Rowan and Forsyth counties before retiring from the ministry in 1888. He served as secretary to the N.C. Lutheran Synod from 1874-1875. He was a well-respected minister and citizen in our community and continued to conduct marriages in our area after his retirement. He was a supply pastor in 1892 and 1897.

At the beginning of his ministry, the Rev. Ketchie and his wife Sarah Jane settled on a farm on Ridge Road near Ketchie Creek and Little Creek. They had two children, Fannie Jane and William Franklin Hubbert "Hub," before her death. He then married Ann Catherine Plaster of Enochville in 1876 and they had a daughter, Mary Edna. After Ann Catherine's death, he last married Salena Jane Hoover of Statesville in 1889.

The Rev. Ketchie was an energetic leading citizen in County Line. Today he would probably be called a "bi-vocational" pastor. He was a learned man and around 1868 or so took over operation of the local school - hence called Ketchie's School. The school was begun in February 1844 when Joseph Shives sold the Davie County Board of Education a tract of land for a common school. The Ketchie School operated until it was replaced by a new two-room building named Davie Academy in the fall of 1907.

According to census records, a carpenter named Jasper Starrette of Rowan was living with the Ketchies on their farm in 1870, but by 1880 had his own farm nearby. Perhaps Starrette helped the Rev. Ketchie with some of his building projects.

The Rev. Ketchie built a house, barn, sawmill, and a blacksmith shop. He helped start a community post office. According to the research of historian James Wall, Ketchie chose the name Kappa for the post office because there were three other post offices in nearby Rowan named Alpha, Omega and Phi and referred to the route serving the post offices as the "Greek Line." Hence, the surrounding area was known as the Kappa community even as late as the 1940s and 1950s.

The Ketchie daughters married and moved away. Fannie Jane married S.W. Daniel in 1888. Mary Edna married Lutheran minister Eli H. Sloop, a former pastor of Saint Matthew's, in 1897; and after retirement in 1931, they resided in Harrisburg, Va. Hub Ketchie married local Hannie Willson and remained on the family farm where they reared their son Lee. Hub helped his father with some of the Ketchie projects. The Davie Record in 1910 reported that Ketchie & Son of Kappa had installed a first-class flour mill and were producing an excellent grade of flour. Hub was also in the lumber business.

In 1910, the Davie Record reported that a serious fire destroyed the blacksmith shop of the Rev. Ketchie. His barn, which was near the shop, caught fire and his stock of four horses burned to death. He had been working in his shop the evening before the fire. This was a heavy loss for Rev. Ketchie since he had no insurance on the buildings or stock.

The Rev. Ketchie died on April 16, 1921, at the age of 82. A short funeral service was held at his home after which his body was taken to China Grove and laid to rest at Green Lawn Cemetery. His son Hub died in December 1946, and grandson Lee died in 1994. Both are buried at Society. Two great-grandchildren, Billy Ketchie and Martha Ketchie Lambert, continue to live in County Line.

During his life and ministery in Davie, the Rev. Ketchie married many couples whose descendants now live in County Line. He married some residents at their home, but many came to his home to be married. In the latter cases, some brought family and friends as witnesses. Others just used as witnesses some of the Ketchie family or nearby families such as the Cartners and Starrettes.

In many cases, the Rev. Ketchie married parents and later their children.

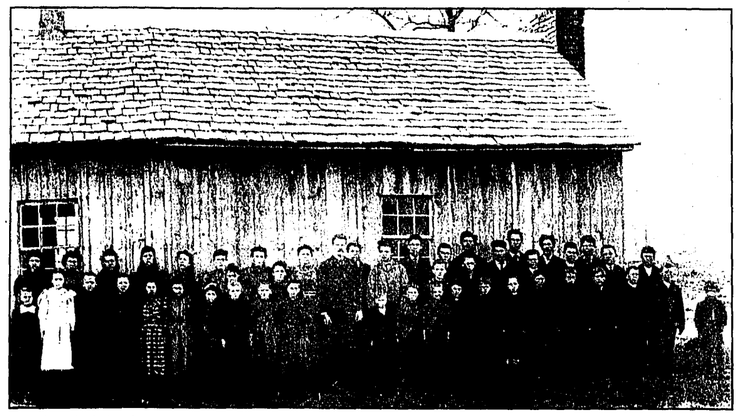

For example, he married my grandparents Charles and Maggie Gaither Thorne (1907) and my great-grandparents Harrison and Maria Kesler Thorne (1871) and Richard and Jane Owings Gaither (1886).

He married Jasper and Sarah Cartner Starrette (1871) and later their daughters Della and husband Flake Campbell (1903) and Mamie and husband Will Harper (1904).

He also married siblings Cora Stroud and husband Lonnie Cartner (1893) and brother Jim Stroud and wife Daisy Hudson (1901).

Some of the couples the Rev. Ketchie married included Cartners, Daywalts, Gaithers, Griffiths, Joneses, Kellars, Koontzes, Prathers, Safriets, Smoots, Strouds, Walkers, etc. He was definitely vital to populating County Line. During this month, we will feature pictures of some of the couples Rev. Ketchie married.

Much appreciation is given to the family and friends of the Rev. Ketchie for providing photos.

Masonic, DEU Picnic Important To African-American Community

Annica Teasley, 3, of Statesville, was among the children at the picnic.

Faye Cain Carter welcomes the crowd to the picnic.

In between the sounds of gospel music and the smells of a carnival, the several hundred people who attended the Masonic and DEU Picnic in Mocksville Saturday got a history lesson.

Magalene Hudson-Gaither researched the origins of the picnic, from its beginnings in 1884 to now.

The picnic started as a way to raise money to enhance educational opportunities for African-American children. From that initial group, the Davie Educational Union (DEU) was born.

Some 40 people attended that first picnic. Admission was 25 cents and $10 was raised. Volunteers went from house to house soliciting baskets of food to be sold on the picnic grounds.

There was music, and a speaker.

The picnic regularly drew crowds from Davie and surrounding counties. People would leave their homes early in the morning and get to the picnic any way they could - walking, horse and buggy and later, by train.

By 1888, the DEU had raised enough money to achieve its primary goal. They purchased an acre of land on Depot Street for $100 to erect a combination school and community building. DEU trustees who signed the deed were J.H. Gilmore Jr., L.M. Vaneaton, J.H. Bobbitt, Richard Pass, Addison Clement, a Mr. Williams and Elijah Gaither. The deed was later re-recorded and Bobbitt's and Williams' names were replaced with Terry H. Hellard and G.W. Eaton.

That land was deeded to the Davie County Public School Committee in 1916 for use as a free public school for African Americans.

In 1950, the Masonic Order of Corinthian Lodge 17 joined the efforts, and the annuel DEU Picnic became the Masonic and DEU Picnic, Gaither said. The two groups divided the proceeds.

Among the beneficiaries have been the Davie County Training School, the Central Oxford Orphanage, widows of lodge members, the disabled and African-American boys and girls seeking higher education.

Gaither read several old newspaper reports about the picnic.

"Down through the years, any number of Afro-American students have received benefits from the benevolence of these two distinct groups," Gaither said.

She talked about reports about merging the Masonic and DEU Picnic on Saturday and the Masonic Picnic held on Thursday. Traditionally, the Saturday picnic is attended by African-Americans and the Thursday picnic by whites.

It's a tradition that needs to stay, Gaither said.

"Sponsors of the Afro-American picnic think of the picnic as a part of their history and culture and oppose merging the two events," she said. "The picnics are among the town's most important social activities and whether they merge or remain two separate groups, the Mocksville Picnics are here to stay."

Magalene Gaither reads the history of the Masonic and DEU Picnic.

There wasn't much time for sitting as the music kept the audience moving.

Big Brothers/Sisters Recognizes Student Volunteers

By Sheri Symanski
Special to the Enterprise

Five graduating seniors received recognition from Big Brothers Big Sisters at the Davie High Awards program May 12.

Madison Owen, Abby Hartman, Candace Scott, Katie Smith, and Corey Peoples received gift cards in appreciation for volunteering with the agency. The awards were presented by Regina Graham, Ph.D, the outgoing director of Big Brothers Big Sisters in Davie County.

"Recognizing seniors was something I started three years ago as a way to thank the graduates for serving as Big Buddies in our after-school program," Graham said. "In most situations, students begin volunteering with BBBS as freshmen or sophomores and choose to continue through their senior year. This is just a small way to say thanks for countless hours of mentoring a child on a weekly basis during the school year. The five seniors we honored this year have all volunteered with BBBS from two to three years."

Honoring the graduates was one of Graham's last tasks on the job. May 13 was her last day of employment with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Davie County.

"The Advisory Board has known since February that I had other ventures I wanted to pursue and that they should begin looking for a replacement," she said.

Graham was a part-time instructor in the School of Education at Winston-Salem State University and a graduate student at UNC-G pursuing a doctoral degree when she was hired to become the agency's director in November 2000. The advisory board acknowledges Graham's effort in growing the BBBS program and positively affecting the lives of more than 250 children and their families during her tenure.

"I was on the board when Regina became director," said board member Emily Harpe. "She has done amazing things with this program. We will truly miss her, but we wish her the best and know she will do well in her future endeavors."

During the past four and a half years, BBBS of Davie has grown to include not only the traditional Big Brother Big Sisters matches, but also a Big Buddy after-school program that had more than 40 matches this school year and a Lunch Buddy program that began last year. Funding for these programs through grants and donations from individuals, civic organizations and businesses increased under Graham's leadership, including the agency's first annual campaign in 2004 and the first Davie-only Bowl For Kids' Sake in March.

Graham is thankful for everyone in the community, including the Davie United Way, which supports Big Brothers Big Sisters. It has a newsletter and website (www.bbbsdaviecounty.org). The newsletter was created by part-time assistant Sheri Syman-ski, who coordinated much of the sponsor and team involve-ment for Bowl For Kids' Sake.

"I give kudos to Sheri for putting my idea into action and creating the newsletter," said Graham. "She has been a great help and a true friend. I was blessed to have her assist me in carrying out the goals I set for the growth of the agency."

The website was created by Graham's husband, Raphael Hauser, and is maintained by Jim Moore and his students at Davie High School.

"Performing this job has been like a personal ministry," said Graham. "I've focused on helping children and families in need and connected them with volunteers who serve as mentors who strive to make a difference in their lives. It has truly been a blessing to watch children mature and develop through the friendship and support of a Big Brother or Big Sister, and to know that God utilized me to get that relationship started."

Graham extends thanks to all the volunteers for their significant role in the success of the agency.

"I extend the highest praise to all the Big Brothers, Big Sisters, Big Buddies, Lunch Buddies, Bowl For Kids' Sake participantss, and Advisory Board members," she said. "You are the reason our agency has been successful. You are the ones who have the positive impact upon children. You are making a Big difference."

Before joining Big Brothers Big Sisters, Graham was a middle school teacher and a college instructor. She was a foster parent and a guardian ad litem volunteer. She is a member of the Davie Board of Education and other community and state organizations impacting children.

One of the last items Graham took off the wall in her office was a framed message that was given to her that read, "Fifty years from now it won't matter what my bank account was, what my house looked like, or what kind of car I drove, but the world may be different because I was important in the life of a child."

It Helps To Make Asthma Action Plan

"It is 2 a.m. and I have been awakened by my son's constant coughing. As I enter his room to check on him, I notice his breathing sounds wheezy. How suddenly things change; he was fine when I picked him up from daycare early evening.

"Tired and sleepy, I set up his Albuterol treatment - he instantly stops coughing - but continues wheezing. I know it's going to be a long night working to get his asthma under control, and also know I can't miss another day of work."

"Does this sound all too familiar?" asks Cathy Manson, dietician of the Davie County Health Department.

"I personally have experienced this scenario, along with many moms and dads, and we understand the fear and frustration, as well as the constant vigilance necessary for a child with a chronic disease. We are always asking ourselves - why is he coughing tonight? What did I miss? Is this asthma or just a cold? Can I manage this attack or do I go to the emergency room or doctor's office? What do I do next?"

When we breathe normal, air goes in and out of our lungs through tubes called airways, airways that become more sensitive with asthma.

Two things usually happen during an asthma attack: muscles tighten making airways smaller; and the inside of the airways tend to swell and make extra mucus.

These changes make it hard for us to breath. Asthma is a chronic lung disease that often begins during childhood and may last a lifetime.

The cause of asthma is unknown. You may inherit asthma from your parents, grandparents or other relatives, and/or you may have allergies that influence asthma's development.

When an asthma attack is just beginning, you may start wheezing, coughing, or have shortness of breath. Your chest may feel tight and you may not be able to sleep well. You may tire quickly during exercise.

Allergens such as dust mites or dander from cats and dogs may trigger an asthma attack. Cigarette smoke and air pollution can cause symptoms to worsen. Another potential trigger may be exercise-induced asthma, especially if the air is cold and dry. Having a cold or respiratory illness can contribute to asthma symptoms. Other potential triggers can be cockroaches, indoor and/or outdoor mold, or pollen.

"One lesson I have learned is to work with our doctor to develop an asthma plan," states Manson. "When taking my son to asthma and allergy specialists, I was able to learn what specifically he was allergic to and was able to decrease these allergens. Then an asthma plan was developed and followed. What a difference it has made in his attacks."

An "Asthma Action Plan" is a plan your doctor can give you with instructions on medications to give your child and what action to take when he is in the: Green Zone - breathing is good, no coughing or wheezing; Yellow Zone- coughing, wheezing, short of breath; Red Zone - medication not working, coughing all the time, breathing hard and fast, etc.

For more information on asthma, Manson recommends you contact your primary care provider.

Sisters Win Davie Business Women Contest

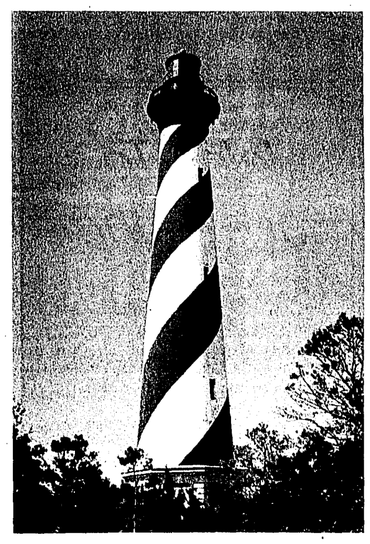

Davie Business Women Association (DBWA) held its monthly meeting on June 1 at the Rotary Hut in Mocksville.

This was a networking meeting in which members were asked to promote their business or hobby. Members made display tables accentuating their business and a contest was held for the most creative table.

The first place winner was Sheri Symanski and her sister, Jill Davis, owners of Orange Cat Art.

The two photographers create note cards using photos of places throughout North Carolina. Their cards include scenes from the Nantahala River, the Joyce Kilmer and Cherokee national forests, and the Outer Banks. Notecards are available in sets of 4, 8, and 20 cards, and custom sets can be designed. Posters and custom framing are available. Contact www.orangecatart.com.

The second place winner was Janel Hensley of Coldwell Banker Triad Realtors, and the third place winner was Rebecca Flynt, a licensed clinical counselor.

The first place winner received a gift certificate to Bizzy Bees and a DBWA t-shirt.

The next DBWA meeting will be held on Wednesday, July 6 at noon at the Rotary Hut in Mocksville. The guest speaker will be Marty Miller from A1 Investigations. All women who are interested in attending as a guest or want more information about joining are encouraged to contact President Janel Hensley at 998-1153.

James Ebright Ordained As Priest

The Rev. James A. Ebright, son of Mabel Ebright and Arthur Ebright, was ordained to the priesthood in the Catholic Church at Saint Patrick's Cathedral in Charlotte on Saturday, May 28.

Ebright has been a member of St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church in Mocksville since his baptism in 1975 in the original church building, referred to as "The Little White House," on the Yadkinville Road site occupied by SunTrust Bank. His mother, sister Deborah, and brother, Scott, are members of St. Francis.

On Sunday afternoon, May 29, Father Ebright celebrated his first mass as a priest, Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ, a Solemn Mass of Thanksgiving, at St. Francis.

Concelebrants were priests of the Diocese of Charlotte. Principal concelebrants were: the Rev. Andrew Draper, TOR, the Very Rev. John T. Putnam Jr.; and the Rev. Ian Trammell.

Master of ceremonies was the Rev. Christopher Roux. Organist was the Rev. Robert Ferguson, Cantors were Patrick Cahill and Charles Desch. Lectors were Enid Hageman and Linda Harris.

Fellow seminarians and deacons attended as servers and acolytes. Members of the Ebright family were gift bearers.

Following the Mass, the Corpus Christi procession was conducted by the celebrants and parishioners.

The Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Daughters, the Columbian Squires and other parishioners presented Father Ebright with a celebration feast, accolades and gifts following the services.

A full dinner of pork barbecue was served to approximately 300 guests.

The Nancy Gerrety Confirmation Class and the Linda Harris Faith Formation Class performed dramatic religious pieces for the celebrants and assembly.

Ebright graduated from Davie High School in 1993 and Wake Forest University in 1998. He completed theological studies at the Theological College of the Catholic University of America in 2005.

Along the way to completing his studies, prior to his ordination, he participated in pilgrimages to The Vatican, Medjugorie, Bosnia and Fatima, Portugal.

In July, Ebright will begin his duties as parochial Vicar at our Lady of Grace Catholic Church in Greensboro.

Heifer Project

Miracle Farm Kids earned money by saying Bible verses to raise money for Heifer Project International. The money they earned will go to buy a flock of chickens for a poor family somewhere in the world. Instead of giving them a can of soup, heifer Project trains the family to care for the animals. One chicken can provide 200 eggs, food and a source of income. By accepting a Heifer Project animal, which could be anything from a goat to a water buffalo, the family agrees to pass on the gift to another family in need. Not only do they supply an offspring from their animal, they also pass on the knowledge of caring for the animal. For more information on Heifer Project go to www.heifer.org.

Spicing It Up In The Kitchen With Relish

By Robin Lowder
The Clemmons Courier

Loosely translated, the Webster's Dictionary defines a salsa as spicy sauce of tomatoes, onions and hot peppers; chutney as a thick sauce containing fruits, vinegar, sugar and spices; relish as a highly seasoned sauce (as of pickles) eaten with other food to add flavor and lastly, chow-chow as mixed pickles in mustard sauce.

Most of these definitions still hold true if you look at books on canning. If you take a look at more modern recipes for fresh versions, you will see that not all salsas are tomato based and not all chutneys are fruit based. It is quite the contrary. The next question would be, can any of the above mentioned be served as dips, sauces, spreads, appetizers, side dishes, condiments or dessert toppings? The answer in short is they are all correct.

Everyone by now should be familiar with the chips and salsa served in Mexican restaurants and at parties, but how about a fruit salsa served with wedges of piecrust baked with cinnamon and sugar? It is sure to get your taste buds begging for more, but then a true corn lover couldn't resist the taste of a roasted corn salsa.

During a recent cooking class, I had the opportunity to try grilled Brie with spicy tomato chutney that sent your senses reeling. The tomato chutney was spicy hot yet the grilled Brie brought a calmness to the taste buds. I guess it really is true, chutneys, like salsas, don't all have to be made according to definition. Relishes are another item we all think of as something you put on hotdogs and hamburgers, but not all relishes are pickle relish. Look around and you can find relishes made of peppers, onions, corn or even cranberries.

I will have to say the definition for chow-chow really confused me. The chow-chow I ate growing up has nothing to do with pickles or mustard. My definition of chow-chow is grated cabbage, peppers, vinegar, salt and spices packed in pint jars and canned by grandmothers and great-grandmothers in years gone by. If anyone has this recipe please send it to me. I would love to have it.

Going against traditional definition can be risky and fun at the same time. Learning to make homemade salsas, chutneys, relishes and chow-chows can be rewarding. It takes a little experimenting to find the right combination of herbs and spices to compliment the right fruit or vegetable. Begin with the things you know you and your family love as your basis such as strawberries. Begin to add other fruits like mango, pineapple, kiwi and cantaloupe, and then add your spices such as cinnamon and ginger. Then add a little kick with some chopped cilantro.

When experimenting with flavors, be careful when adding items that have a lot of kick like cilantro, jalapenos, red pepper flakes and allspice. Add these items in small amounts and keep adjusting until you have the right balance. Remember, it is always easier to add than to take away.

Salsas, chutneys, relishes and chow-chows not only add flavor to a meal, they add color and texture - a great alternative to things like sour cream, mayonnaise and creamed based gravies.

The added benefits of a few more vegetables or fruits to the diet are a plus, not to mention they are lower in fats.

Hope you will get your summer started with one of these great recipes. Looks like it is going to be a hot one.

Grilled Pesto Tuna with Pan Roasted Corn Relish
Submitted by Jeremy Howell

(Thank you, Jeremy, for letting me share this with readers.)

4 tuna steaks
1 cup pesto sauce
2 ears fresh corn (kernels removed)
2 plum tomatoes, diced
1 red onion, diced
1/2 cup diced
Texas Pete pepper sauce
3 cloves garlic, sliced
1 bell pepper, diced
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
salt and pepper to taste
fresh basil

Marinate the tuna steaks in the pesto sauce for 1-2 hours. Heat a pan to med-high heat. Place the tuna steaks on a hot grill and cook for about 4-5 minutes per side. While the tuna is cooking, add the corn and the garlic to the hot pan and cook until they start to char. Remove the corn and garlic to a large bowl and toss with the onion, tomatoes, peppers, oil, vinegar and fresh basil. Season with the salt and pepper, remove the tuna from the grill and place on individual plates. Top the tuna with the relish and serve.

Fresh Fruit Salsa

1 and 1/2 pounds fresh strawberries, diced
1 fresh mango peeled and diced
4 fresh kiwi, peeled and diced
1/2 fresh pineapple, peeled and diced
1/2 small cantaloupe peeled, seeded and diced
1 and 1/2 teaspoons, cinnamon
1 and 1/2 teaspoons, ground ginger
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons apple jelly

Place all ingredients in a large bowl and mix well. Refrigerate for two hours.

To make piecrust chips to go with this:

Take two pre-made piecrusts from the dairy case. Unroll them on cookie sheet, cut into wedges with a pizza cutter. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar, bake until just lightly browned and crisp.

Pineapple Chutney

1 – 20 oz. can of crushed pineapple, undrained
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/2 cup finely chopped sweet red pepper
1/2 jalapeno pepper finely chopped
1/2 cup finely chopped red onion
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
1 teaspoon fresh minced garlic
1 and one-half teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon brown sugar

Combine all ingredients in a medium bowl and mix well. This goes great with grilled pork loin or ham steaks.

Tips and Hints

• If you have plastic bowls or pitchers that container odors, shred some old newspapers, and place the shreds in the containers and seal with the lid for several days.

• If you are having trouble getting you child to eat cooked carrots, add a tablespoon of brown sugar while cooking them. It gives them a sweet taste kids will enjoy.

• Send recipes, comments and tips you would like to share to rdlideas@triad.rr.com or P. O. Box 693, Lewisville, 27023.

Attorney Asks Yadkin Valley To Reinstate 37

By Dwight Sparks
Davie County Enterprise Record

An attorney has asked Yadkin Valley Baptist Church in Advance to reinstate 37 members taken off the church roll in January.

Attorney W. Kirk Sanders of Winston-Salem, representing the dismissed group, has written a letter to the church asking for "prayerful consideration."

Former member Benjamin King of Advance said the group has not received an answer.

"All we want is to put us old folks back on the roll - whether the preacher goes or stays," he said. King, 68, has been a member all his life.

Many of the others dismissed are also aging, lifetime members.

"I hate this happened. I would have never believed it," he said at his home last week.

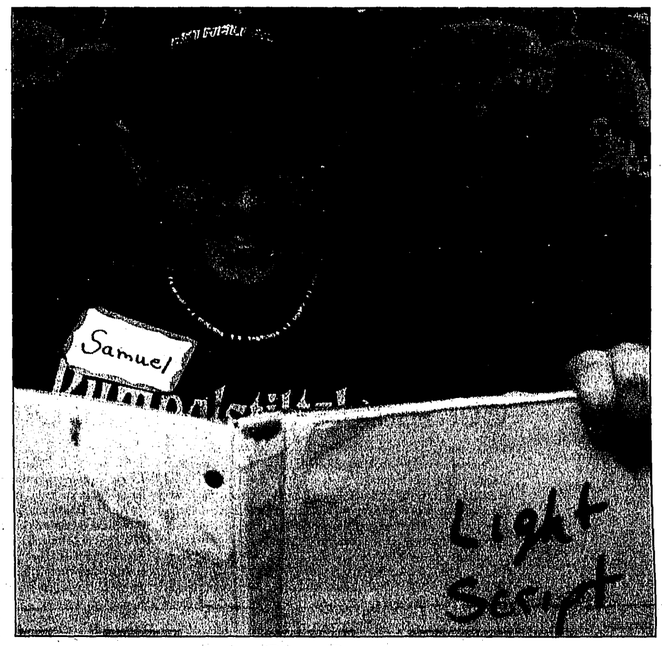

King was one of 37 who signed a petition last year asking for the church to address several disputes in the congregation.

Two weeks later, the church stripped all 37 of their memberships.

One of the disputes centered around the Rev. Ronnie Craddock allegedly interfering with an annual vote on church members being placed on the Deacon Board.

"Every October, we have a vote among the assembly to replace deacons on the board," former member Eddie Weatherman said. "I was one of the deacons who counted the votes several times, and we kept

Man Held For B&E

He's A Suspect In String Of Break-Ins At Area Churches

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Forsyth County man who was taken into custody for attempting to break into Horn's convenience store may be the man responsible for breaking into over a dozen churches in five counties over the last several weeks.

Fred Brent Allen, 53, of 766 Ivy Yokley Road, Winston-Salem, has been charged with breaking and entering, larceny after a break-in and possession of burglary tools by the Mocksville Police Department.

Detective Brian Diggs of the Davie County Sheriff's Department said Allen, who was arrested while sitting in a car in the Center United Methodist Church parking lot, is a good suspect because the burglary tools he was found with are similar to the ones used in the church break-ins.

Mocksville Police Detective Ken Hunter agreed. "He has been charged with breaking and entering

Newspapers Win 11 Advertising Awards

Davie Publishing newspapers brought home 11 awards from the 2005 Advertising Conference and Awards Ceremony June 10 at the Sheraton Imperial Hotel and Convention Center in Research Triangle Park.

The contest was open to all N.C. Press Association newspapers.

The Clemmons Courier, competing in the small community division, won four awards: first for best community signature page; first for best full color institutional ad; third for best full color home furnishings and appliance ad; and third for best small ad.

The Davie County Enterprise Record, competing in the medium size community newspaper category, won seven awards: first for best community service signature page; second for best spot color institutional ad; second for best restaurant/entertainment ad; third for best use of full color; third for best real estate ad; and third for best full color institutional ad.

Clemmons Courier Advertising Director Christy Clark won first in the best full color institutional ad for a promotion for the Lewisville and Clemmons fire departments. The judge wrote: "Very strong message for the public to know. Good use of photos. Hope you run it every year."

Clark also got first for an ad called "Celebrating The Fourth" in the best community service signature page category. The judge wrote: "Dominant use of American flag photo illustrates the theme perfectly without the standard use of fireworks. Nice job."

Clark teamed with Jeannie Trotter for an ad for MT ETC. that won third in the best small ad category. She teamed with Jill Potts for the third place ad in the best full color home furnishings and appliances for an ad for Triad Appliance Center.

Chamber Director Wants To Develop Strategic Plan

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Tracey Gibson is ready to lead the Davie Chamber of Commerce to the next level.

A 17-year employee of the Greater Statesville Chamber of Commerce and former executive vice president of that group, Gibson was hired this spring to head the Davie chamber.

It was a career goal.

Gibson said leading a chamber of commerce had always been her desire, and when she was passed over for the Statesville job over a year ago, she resigned and began seeking employment elsewhere.

Her resume caught the attention of members of the Davie chamber's search committee, who were looking for an applicant with chamber experience.

She's already familiar with the computer software used here, and is working on the website - which will allow local businesses to have links. The chamber will be able to track how many "hits" each business receives, and from where.

She wants to start a leadership program, similar to the Davie Leadership program that Davidson County Community College taught here for several years. Gibson led that program in Statesville for 10 years, and said it is a good way to teach people about the community - and prepare them for positions of leadership within the community.

She wants to bring in a consultant to help the Davie chamber come up with a long-range strategic plan.

"We want everyone in the community to be involved," she said. It could include types of entertainment to be recruited, types of industry that would fit into the community.

"It's very apparent you are right in the middle of a large growth spurt," Gibson said. "I've met lots of wonderful people who want to be involved and help the chamber grow."

In addition to starting a new job, Gibson came on board with a new staff, as well. Joan Carter, the president, had resigned to become town manager for Bermuda Run. Izzie Tutterow, administrative assistant and events coordinator, had resigned to work for Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Christy White has been hired for Tutterow's job, and Gibson wants her to attend the week-long Chamber Institute at the University of Georgia. There, she will learn volunteer management, event planning and how to deal with boards.

Gibson completed that course, and said it would be useful to any chamber employee.

A Troutman native, Gibson is a graduate of South Iredell High School, and earned an associate's degree from Mitchell Community College and a bachelor's degree from Gardner Webb University, both in business.

She and husband Creighton have one daughter, Brittany, 5. Her mother, Linda Eason, also lives with the family.

How To Have Great Children: A Father's Role

This will be my 24th Father's Day observance, and I'm still unsure how I'm doing. Still insecure that I may not be doing this job the way it should be done.

Do I love these boys enough? Push them adequately to make something of themselves? Punish them when they do wrong and praise them for doing right?

Back in 1981 I had this delightful little boy who would grasp my face, count my teeth and squeal with delight when I entered the room.

He crawled on all fours eager to get to me, and I would grab him and toss him high. And I quickly understood that children are truly one of God's great blessings.

The two boys that followed have similarly thought highly of me, cherished their time with me and made me swell with pride.

Life offers no reward better than this.

And, I can imagine, there is no worse heartache than the loss of affection of a child.

I have questioned whether I'm too lenient. Too indulgent. I have also wondered if I were too harsh. Too confining. Too unwilling to let them make their mistakes.

This is a job with uncertain results. And uncertain guidelines.

Good parents sometimes have rotten kids. Rotten parents can have good kids.

I have always looked at my boys as my best legacy — allowing me to even transcend the grave and continue to have a mark here through them ... and their children.

A woman told me once she didn't worry too much about her parenting — her children would need something to talk to their psychiatrist about when they grew up. I laughed, but inwardly I have hoped my children won't need a psychiatrist to get them over me.

I have tried to be consistent. To do what I say I will do. To punish when they cross over the line. To praise their successes. And to leave no doubt that I love them completely.

But I have also learned not to make them too comfortable — not to make them want to spend their entire life with me.

I saw the urge to leave the nest come over my oldest — an urging to break the bonds and go. And call home three weeks later.

Seeing him go boldly into the world was just about as satisfying as when he was 6 months old and crawled on all fours to get to me.

Much of my parenting insecurity is because my children are not growing up as I did on the farm. They haven't milked cows, collected the eggs, fed the pigs and shoveled manure. My boys have groused about mowing the lawn and household chores.

I have feared they wouldn't learn a work ethic, that they would grow up to be slugs and bums.

But there are ways to learn to value work without getting up at 4 a.m. to milk the cows.

I turned my oldest son over to Tommy Fleming at Mocksville Builders Supply. When he was 15, Paul stacked lumber for a summer. It was hard. It was hot. And he came home beaming every evening — smelling of sweat and pine resin. He has been a willing and eager worker since then.

I have also come to recognize that the secret to good parenting may not be what we do for our children, the toys we buy them or even the amount of time we spend with them. Those things are nice, but what I remember and treasure most about my own father wasn't the time or the toys. It was his character that I admired most. And it was the example of his character that has served me best over the years.

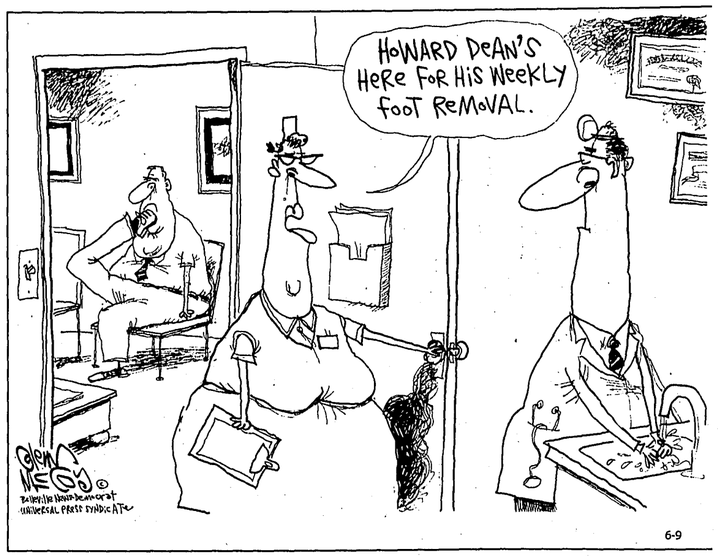

Our recent story about WCU student Brandon Robinson, who has read 300 of the great books of Western literature, contained his own philosophy of life. He cited this as his own philosophy: "Life a life so beautiful in form, and so original in expression, that efforts to polish it after death would be unnecessary."

That reminded me of my dad's life.

Maybe Robinson, 23, has absorbed the wisdom of the ages through his reading — wisdom that could serve all us fathers well as we mark another observance on Sunday.

The best gift and legacy we can give our children could be living an honorable life.

Consumers Need Control Of Health Care

To the editor:

Some observations about the squabble between Blue Cross Blue Shield and Baptist Hospital.

BCBS recently offered a 46% rate increase to renew the coverage at the company I work for. No options, take it or leave it. I wonder what they offered Baptist Hospital. When you're paying $900 per month already to cover your family, that hurts.

I wonder what the compensation of the top 25 executives is at these two giants. I'll bet you find a little excess.

I wonder how much of a hospital bill is overcharges and charges for things not actually received. Guess we will have to ask a charge nurse.

We have some of the best health care in the world. I wonder if we are really getting a good value at the prices we pay in a system where the theory seems to be, overcharge what the market will bear.

We, the consumers, pay the bills for things we no longer have control over. Our health care system is out of control and all facets of it need to be reigned in. Insurance companies are risk takers. It seems to be that the only risk they take is a reduction in profits or not raising executive salaries and bonuses on the backs of all of us who pay the bills. Medical providers seem to follow the same path, charge more for less.

We must get some of the control and direction back into the hands of the consumer. After all, don't we pay the bills?

Picnic Has Die-Hard Supporters

To the editor:

I would like to thank everyone who participated in this year's Masonic Picnic. Despite the foul weather, there were many diehard supporters who turned out for this 125-year-old tradition that raises funds for the Oxford Orphanage and Masonic-Eastern Star Home. Thank you to the picnic basket contributors, to our speaker Dr. Elsner, to Tyson Foods, and to the women in the deli at Food Lion 932 for frying more than 100 chicken halves. The Davie County Masonic Lodges have worked tirelessly to carry on with this worthwhile endeavor. Please continue to support Davie County and this age old event by making plans to picnic with us next year.

UMW Supports McDonald House

To the editor:

It is with great appreciation that I am writing to share how the Davie County United Methodist Women generously supported the Ronald McDonald House of Winston-Salem. Each year the Davie County United Methodist Women hold an evening mini-retreat and on June 6. The retreat was hosted hy the Elbaville United Methodist Church Women. A charity is always selected to benefit from an offering made at the retreat. This year the Ronald McDonald House was chosen.

After a delicious dinner, the wonderful evening included learning how families are served at the House. The Ronald McDonald House serves as a "home away from home" for families with sick children who have come to our community in need of medical care. Serving these families would not be possible without donations from many individuals and groups. On behalf of the families served by the Ronald McDonald House, I would like to say thank you to all the Davie County United Methodist Women for their incredible generosity. Thank you also to Elaine Smith and others at Elbaville for doing such an outstanding job.

Nancy Spaugh, community relations coordinator, Ronald McDonald House of Winston-Salem

Jamboree A Success

To the editor:

The Battle Branch Jamboree held at the Battle Branch Cafe June 11 was a huge success. I would like to thank the bands, Cimarron Bluegrass Band, Crusher Run Bluegrass Band, Plank Road Bluegrass Band, Junior Dunn and his Country Grass Show, Broke and Lonesome Bluegrass Band, Kara and Lauren Dunn, Tommy Drifter and the Lost Travelers and The Billy Seats Family Gospel Singers. Each of these bands and performers did an outstanding job.

We had visitors from Darlington, S.C., Dandrige, Tenn. and Virginia who came just to see the Battle Branch Jamboree.

We thank ou all and hope to see you again in the fall for the fall version.

Report From Raleigh

Bill Includes Extension Of Half-Cent Sales Tax

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

The House passed Bill 1630, a tax package that will make up a portion of the revenues in the House version of the state budget. House leaders unveiled the revenue package before the finance committee.

The $562 million revenue package includes a two-year extension on the half-cent sales tax increase, which is expected to bring in $413 million to the state next year. Another two-year extension is applied to the half-percent income tax increase on the state's highest income earners, adding another $40 million to the revenue stream.

It includes a provision that aligns the estate tax sunset with the sunset provided by the federal government (currently 2010), a section that conforms certain sales taxes to the 7% standard tax rate (a part of the Streamlined Sales Tax Agreements), and a provision that applies sales tax to service contracts and warranties. Under the sales tax conformity section, candy would no longer be exempted from the 7% tax, and cable service and satellite radio subscribers would pay a 7% tax.

The revenue package was passed by the House Finance Committee on Tuesday by a vote along party lines of 19-11. The bill passed second reading in the House on Wednesday, by a vote of 63-55. Democratic leaders have indicated that this revenue package will likely not be the only tax and fee increases that are proposed. As early as next week, additional taxes, including a cigarette tax increase, could be officially brought before a committee for deliberation.

Also included in House Bill 1630 is a portion that provides for a budget continuation for 30 days past the June 30 budget deadline. This could be the beginning signal for a lengthy budget debate between the House and Senate that could last well into the summer.

If you would like further details on the budget, contact the office.

I was pleased to visit with Tim Barron from Davie County who was in Raleigh visiting this past Wednesday. It was great seeing you Tim.

Enterprise Wins Seven Ad Awards

The Enterprise Record staff, which consists of Advertising Director Ray Tutterow, sales representative Bob Corson and designers Jeannie Trotter and Jill Potts, took first in the best community service signature page for a piece titled "July 4th Liberty Page." The judge wrote: "Use of space and type really make this ad pop. The advertisers are secondary to the theme, making it work great."

Tutterow won six additional awards:

• second in best spot color institutional for an ad for Julia Howard;

• second in best restaurant/entertainment for an ad for the Davie County Arts Council Ho' Down;

• third in best real estate for an ad for Milling Way Garden Villas;

• third in best food for an ad for Accel ("Like the picture of the store. Personalizes the ad," the judge wrote.);

• third in best full color institutional for an ad for Julia Howard ("Eye catching," according to the judge.); and

• third for an ad for Howard Realty in the best use of full color category.

Attorney Asks Church To Reinstate Members

counting two votes separating the top two vote getters. But there was 15 votes between them and the rest of the group."

Weatherman said Craddock, who has declined several requests for an interview, entered the room where the counting was taking place, and didn't like the results of the vote because one of the front runners was not a supporter of the pastor. Weatherman said instead of announcing the new Deacons, Craddock instead told his congregation there was a tie, and called for a recount.

"Whether there was a tie or not, it shouldn't have mattered," Weatherman said. "We were trying to place two deacons, and they were the top two. But one of those wasn't a big supporter of him, and he used the constitution to his benefit to keep him off the board."

Weatherman said one of the top contenders chose to remove his name from the vote in response to Craddock's actions.

Weatherman said his wife Bonnie became entangled in Craddock's wrath when she asked him to respond to accusations and rumors of inappropriate behavior made by a female member of the church. Weatherman said Craddock refused, and accused his wife of slander.

"He said at the meeting that if anyone has something to say to him, say it to his face," Weatherman said. "And she did. I've read a lot about slander, and it's not slander to confront someone with something like that. If I tell you that you smell, that's not slander. If I tell everyone else, then that's slander."

Weatherman said the member who made the accusation was one of the 37 cast out.

"This was all done wrong," Weatherman said. "I just want to see the names put back on because it was done biblically wrong, constitutionally wrong and legally wrong."

Sanders agreed.

"These cast out members contend that they are still members of Yadkin Valley Baptist Church," the attorney's letter states. "The reasons they assert for maintaining their membership are that their removal from membership was and is improper. The following discussion is not for the purposes of inflammation of emotions, but to demonstrate why these cast out members should be returned to the membership rolls of Yadkin Valley Baptist Church.

"Notice was given of a termination of the memberships in a Jan. 9, 2005 letter. In that letter of removal, the reason given for attempting to remove the members was based on the members signing a letter with 'false statements and slanderous remarks.'"

"The letter the church clerk referred to is dated Dec. 27, 2004. Nothing is slanderous or fallacious in this letter. Points were addressed and opinions given concerning certain church actions described in the December letter. These cast out members, your fellow members, were addressing shortcomings in upholding the constitution and rights of the church. This includes questioning whether the minister could unilaterally recall a vote on Deacons and the treatment of Bonnie and Eddie Weatherman on Sept. 27, 2004.

"In return for these cast out members attempt at dialogue and addressing accountability for any perceived injustices in their December letter, there was not an attempt at reconciliation and discussion, only termination of membership. Groundless termination per Article IV and V of the Constitution.

"I trust you as the deacons of Yadkin Valley Baptist Church will prayerfully contemplate returning the cast out members to their status in the church. Please advise me of the church's willingness to return these members to full, active status."

For some, being returned to active status would begin the process of healing that many long for. For others, having their names put back on the roles wouldn't make a difference.

"I'll be honest with you," Weatherman said. "I would like to see my mother's name put back on the roles. She's 77 now, and has been attending that church since she was a little girl. I've seen her cry twice in my life. Once, when my brother drowned, and when this happened.

"As for me, it just doesn't matter anymore."

Area Churches Victims Of Break-Ins

into Horn's convenience store," Hunter said. "And the tools he had on him leave marks similar to the ones left behind at other crime scenes. We anticipate additional charges."

Hunter said forensic tests on the tools will determine if they are the same ones used to forcibly gain entry in area churches.

Bixby Presbyterian, Davie Baptist, Fulton United Methodist and Cornatzer United Methodist Churches are the latest victims in what Diggs called a difficult investigation.

"They're running a pretty clean operation," Diggs said. "We've picked up a few clues, such as foot prints and tire prints, but so far, we haven't been able to match them up."

Hunter said the arrest was made because of an astute deputy who noticed Allen sitting in a car next to Center United Methodist Church staring at the Exxon station across the highway. Center United Methodist was one of the first churches broken into during the string of attempted robberies.

A man had been caught on video during the Horn convenience store break-in, and Deputy Derek Pfaff, who had a description of the suspect, detained Allen when he noticed he fit the description. Pfaff called in Officer Andy Fowler, who made the arrest.

"He's a very bright officer," Sheriff Allen Whitaker said of Pfaff. "He's been with us about a year, and I'm glad to have him on the force."

Four churches in Davie experienced a forced entry last week, but only Cornatzer United Methodist listed a missing item, reporting the larceny of a 25-inch color TV valued at $150. Three of the four churches listed several hundred dollars worth of damage.

"It was all structural damage," said the Rev. Karl Kelly of Fulton United Methodist Church. "We aren't aware of anything missing. Of course, we might come across something missing later when we go to find something that's not there."

Kelly, who has been with Fulton for a year, said it was the first time he knew of the church being broken into in quite some time.

"Some members told me it was broken into around five years ago," Kelly said. "I don't know if anything was taken then either."

Donald Parks said his church had minimal damage, and that the whole incident left many in the Bixby Presbyterian congregation confused.

"It makes no sense to me," Parks said. "There was no damage to any outside doors, just the interior ones. And there was plenty of things they could have taken, like TVs and such, but as far as we know, nothing is missing."

Dennis Caudle, pastor at Davie Baptist, said his church got off easy.

"They pried open a door and looked through some drawers and stuff, but they didn't take anything," Caudle said. "You could tell they were looking for something, but they didn't really do any damage."

Other churches involved in break-ins in recent weeks include Center and Jericho Church of Christ, both in Mocksville. Pastor Steven Blair of Center said the break-in to his church has similarities to others in the area.

"Other than some doors and a few broken desk drawers, there wasn't any damage," said Blair, who estimated the total amount of the damage to be around $1,000. "And they overlooked a TV and a VCR that was right there for the taking."

Caudle said he believed the would-be thieves would get their due.

"It reminds me of an old commercial where the guy brings his car to the mechanic," Caudle said. "The guy says 'you can pay me now, or you can pay me later'. They got themselves involved in God's business, and they can pay Him now, or they can pay Him later."

Case Continued: Officers, Suspects Tell Different Stories

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Cary woman who said she loves to sing patriotic songs testified that it was the police, not her and her husband, who started an altercation on I-40 which led to her and her husband Geoffrey's arrest for assault on a government official.

Amy Grisham spent an emotional hour on the stand in district court relating the facts as she remembered to Judge Jimmy Myers. Deputies Jeff Harpe and Kim Harrell of the Davie County Sheriff's Department remembered the events of that day quite differently.

According to Harpe's and Harrell's testimony, on Sept. 11, 2004, they were dispatched by 911 to mile marker 165 on I-40 west to respond to a potential domestic dispute involving a man and a woman on the side of the road. The 911 transcript said the two were witnessed pushing or shoving each other near a truck that was towing a boat trailer. The truck was resting on the side of the highway.

Harpe said he pulled up behind the trailer and quickly surveyed the situation. He noticed glass under the driver side door, and realized the window had been busted out. He then found Geoffrey Grisham lying on the ground under the trailer.

"He jumped up when he heard me coming with a tire iron in his hand," Harpe said. "I immediately asked him to drop the tire iron. He refused."

Harpe said Geoffrey Grisham immediately started to curse at him, and needed to be told three times to drop the tire iron before he complied.

"Why do I have to drop the tire iron?" Harpe recalled Grisham as saying. "Who are you to come here and tell me what to do?"

Harpe said Grisham was cursing, and he attempted to get Grisham to calm down.

"I was there responding to a domestic," Harpe said. "I was trying to determine if a crime had been committed."

Harpe said Grisham asked him if he was going to help him change his tire.

When Harpe declined, Grisham became angry again.

"If you're not here to help, then get out of here," Harpe claims Grisham yelled.

Harrell testified that she proceeded to the front of truck where she found Amy Grisham waiting with her mother.

"I asked her what happened, and she told me that they locked the keys in the car and that her husband busted the window out with his fist to get them," Harrell said. "She kept trying to go towards her husband, but I needed to keep them separated until we knew what was going on."

Assistant District Attorney Wendy Terry asked if keeping parties apart during a domestic call was normal procedure.

"Absolutely," Harrell said. "We're trained to keep them apart so we can get both sides of the story and make sure everyone is safe."

Harrell said Amy became irritated, and started asking her why they were harassing them. Harrell said she explained keeping her and her husband apart was procedure, but Amy became as verbally abusive to her as her husband was with Harpe.

"She said 'We're taxpayers, we don't need this kind of harassment'. She asked me for my badge number, and kept yelling that they had a lawyer in the family," Harrell said.

Harrell said she and Harpe determined there was nothing further they could do, and turned to leave. That's when things turned bad.

"As I was going towards my car, she (Amy) grabbed my arm and spun me around," Harrell said. "She held up this cell phone to my face and told me to talk to her lawyer. I told her to back away, I'm not talking to anyone."

Harrell said as she turned to walk away again, she looked over her shoulder and saw Geoffrey approaching her at a quick gait with the tire iron held in an assaultive position.

Harrell said she told him to drop his weapon, and unholstered her revolver. Only then did Grisham dropped the tire iron.

Harpe handcuffed Grisham, and placed him in the back of his patrol car. Harrell said Amy then tried to get her husband out of the car.

"I told her to stand back, get away from the car," Harrell said. "Then she started hitting and slapping us."

While Harpe and Harrell restrained Amy, Geoffrey started kicking at the rear window of Harpe's vehicle. He succeeded in kicking out the back window.

Harpe and Harrell both agreed that the situation was getting out of control, and chose to keep the two separated. They called for back up and began to transport the couple to be processed, leaving Amy's mother at the scene.

Magistrate David Miller testified that when the Grishams arrived at the jail, their demeanor had not changed.

"He was very agitated," Miller said. "It was obvious he wasn't happy to be there."

Amy painted a much different picture of that day.

"We were getting ready to begin a trip to Lake Hiawasi," Amy said. "We were driving west of Winston-Salem when the trailer started to rattle. I said, 'Oh my goodness, we have a flat'."

Amy testified that her husband struggled for quite some time trying to fix the flat with a jack that was too small. She recalled two local men who came to their rescue, and helped them get on their way.

"We got back on the road, and Geoff was so hot, so sweaty, that I started to drive.

"And I'll never forget this. I looked over at my mother and told her we should consider ourselves lucky that God has blessed us with a life that affords us a boat that gets a flat. Then I turned on the radio, and started singing the song 'I'm Proud To Be An American'. After a few minutes, I felt the trailer rattle again. I said Oh my goodness, we have another flat."

Amy claimed they pulled over, and Geoff went back to fix the flat again. She testified that her husband struggled with the flat again for the same reason.

"I said 'Mommy, look at poor Geoff, he's so hot, so tired, let's go back and encourage him," Amy testified. "But I heard her close the door to the truck, and I looked back and said 'Mommy, you just locked the keys in the truck.' I ran to Geoff, and told him that the keys were locked in the truck, and Geoff said 'Oh, no.'"

Amy testified that Geoffrey calmly walked back to the front of the truck and punched his fist through the window to retrieve the keys, then went back to fix the flat.

"I asked him why he did that, and he said it was to get the truck open," Amy said. "I used the tire iron to pop the lock, and as I was handing it back to him, I had it held over my head, so I guess how that might have looked a little fishy to a passerby."

Amy got emotional as she recalled the arrival of Harpe and Harrell.

"I looked around the side of the truck, and saw him (Harpe) pushing Geoff over and over. He was pushing Geoff into a ditch," Amy said. "I thought, 'Oh my goodness, what is happening? I'd better go see.'"

Amy said Harrell then blocked her from going to her husband, and started pushing her as well.

"All I wanted was to make sure that the deputy didn't hurt my husband," Amy said. "But then he (Harpe) went ballistic."

Amy proceeded to testify that Harpe was sarcastic and continued to be aggressive towards Geoffrey, and that Harrell kept asking her if her husband had a problem. She claimed neither she nor her husband used foul language, and that her husband never came close to Harrell with a tire iron.

"Geoff said to the officers, 'if you're not going to help me with the tire, then just leave'," Amy said. "That was when he picked up the iron to fix the tire. There was never a threat. Harpe just ran at him and knocked him down and threw him in the police car for no reason."

Amy claimed she reached out to ask Harrell for help, but never swung her around.

"My mother had called my father, and I was trying to talk to him on the phone," Amy said. "But Harpe grabbed me and twisted my arm behind my back, then threw me down, and shoved my face in the ground. I was screaming to my father over the phone what they were doing to me, but I dropped the phone when he shoved my face into the ground."

Amy claimed Harpe drove his knee into her back, causing extensive pain. When she was offered medical assistance at the jail, she refused.

Amy recalled how Harpe spoke with a sarcastic southern drawl when calling for medical assistance. The imitation of the officer's voice drew the ire of Terry.

"Your honor, I object to this witness speaking with a heavy drawl when referring to this officer," Terry said. "There is no place in this courtroom for her to continue this dramatic performance."

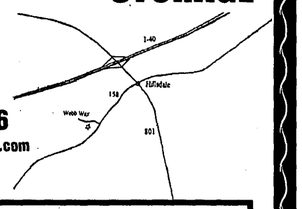

Amy smiled at her husband as the assistant district attorney objected, then quickly returned to her tearful testimony as Myers asked her to continue.

Myers continued the case until July 7, the next available date for him to be in Davie Court.

Dutch Elm Disease Killing Trees

A destructive fungus called Dutch Elm disease is killing elms in Davie County. All American and European species of elms are susceptible to the disease.

Dutch Elm disease is caused by a fungus which is spread by boring insects, mainly the European bark beetles, but can be spread by root grafts to nearby healthy trees.

The first visible symptom of the disease is a rapid wilting of the leaves on one of more branches in the top of the tree. The leaves on affected branches turn yellow and then brown. These leaves gradually become shriveled and brittle and may shed prematurely. In a cross-section of a diseased branch or stem, there is more or less continuous brown ring in the outermost annual ring.

Once a tree becomes totally infected, it should be cut immediately to lessen the danger to any healthy trees. Diseased trees become breeding areas for the bark beetles which continue the cycle. If you see a branch in top of a elm tree starting to turn, cut it immediately, well below the area infected and you have a 65 percent chance of the tree surviving. The chances drop rapidly after that. Fertilize trees to maintain vigorous growth and lessen the chances of contracting the beetles and Dutch Elm disease.

If you have questions about Dutch Elm disease, contact the NC Forest Service at 751-5319 between 8-9 a.m. Monday-Friday. The office is located in the old Davie County Office Building on the top floor.

Check Evergreens For Bagworms

Now is the time to check evergreen trees for bagworms. The bagworms are present in great numbers this year and will cause considerable damage to many yard trees. Although the bagworm normally is found on the evergreens, it will eat on some hardwoods.

The best control for the bagworm is to remove the bag with the worm inside and burn them. The bag looks sort of like a Christmas decoration hanging from the tree branch. It is made up of plant parts such as the needles of the cedar tree and woven together with silk like fiber. You will need a good pair of scissors to remove it from the tree. If the caterpillar is actively feeding, you can use chemical pesticides on the bags to kill the pest. There are several pesticides available to the homeowner, and they can be found at agricultural and garden stores, as well as department type stores. Once you have your pesticide, be sure to follow the label to keep from hurting your tree or yourself.

Time is an important factor in getting rid of the bagworm. It can cause mortality of the tree if it is left too long on the tree to feed. Check the trees very carefully because the bag may be only a quarter of an inch in the early stage, but will become over an inch long later on.

If you have any questions about bagworms, contact the North Carolina Forest Service at 751-5319 between 8-9 a.m., Monday-Friday, located in Davie County Office Building, 180 S. Main St., Mocksville.

GOOD REASONS TO BUY A HOME NOW

Realtors sometimes hear people declare that they are waiting until home prices drop to buy property. This approach has several drawbacks, including the possibility that home prices will continue to go up! There are solid reasons to buy a home now, no matter what conditions currently shape your local market.

You gain wealth when you buy property. The average national appreciation in the value of real estate is between 5 and 6 percent annually. If you keep the home, you benefit from home equity ownership interest. If you pay rent, you hand the same money over to someone else. Building home equity is like putting cash in the bank. It is a means of saving money and having a stable, secure place to live at the same time. The home is yours to change and decorate as you wish, and the more you improve it, the more your investment grows. If you get a fixed-rate loan, your monthly mortgage payments won't increase over time, whereas a landlord will probably raise your monthly rent. The U.S. government allows you to deduct the interest you pay on your mortgage and your property taxes. If you decide to sell the property, you are allowed to keep $250,000 in tax-free profit as a single taxpayer or $500,000 as a jointly filing married couple.

Financial gain, stability, tax savings, predictability and freedom are all good reasons to buy a home in any real estate market.

Debbie is an award-winning full-time professional real estate broker in Davie County.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying and selling real estate, you can reach Debbie at Premier Carolina Properties, 336-998-7777 or 336-909-1284, or visit her website at www.pcpnc.com.

Don't Get Burned!

You can be fined up to $10,000 for illegal open burning in N.C.

Smoke from open burning can cause serious health problems and pollute the air. That's why the state regulates open burning. Only leaves, branches or other plant growth can be burned.

IT'S ILLEGAL TO BURN:

- Garbage, paper and cardboard
- Tires and other rubber products
- Building materials, including lumber
- Wire, plastics and synthetic materials
- Asphalt shingles and heavy oils
- Paints, household chemicals and agricultural products

Homeowners can burn yard trimmings – excluding logs and stumps – if it's allowed under local ordinances, no public pickup is available and it doesn't cause a public nuisance. Other allowable burning includes campfires, outdoor barbecues and bonfires for festive occasions. Landowners also can open burn vegetation to clear land or rights-of-way, provided that:

- Prevailing winds are away from built up areas and roads
- Fires are at least 1,000 feet away from occupied buildings
- Burning is done between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Remember, burn permits issued by the N.C. Division of Forest Resources, its agents or any local government do not excuse a person from following these state air quality rules. For more information, contact:

Winston-Salem Regional Office
Division of Air Quality
N.C. Department of Environment and Natural Resources

Rowan Beats Mocksville Unmercifully

If ever there was a game to forget about completely, this was it. If ever there was a time to focus strictly on the next day, it was after Sunday's 17-5 home loss to Rowan County.

That was the attitude Mocksville American Legion baseball coach Mike Lovelace took after getting smacked by Rowan one night after winning on Rowan's field. No one specific game makes or breaks a season, especially when you're tied for first place in the nine-team Southern Division of Area III.

But that's the only comforting thing Mocksville (10-4, 6-2 SD) could cling to after getting outhit 19-11 and getting outscored 14-1 from the fourth inning on.

"It's not going to linger," Lovelace said. "This is a good group and they'll pull back together. I don't have any doubt in my mind. Now that everybody's here (and back from the beach), I think it's a wake-up call. We went there and won at a tough place, but to come here and get it handed to us is going to wake us up. We've got some 19-year-olds that are wanting to pull people together and pick it up. So there's some good things that can come from this. We'll bounce back. These kids will bounce back."

Rowan jumped ahead 3-0 in the top of the third, but Mocksville pushed toward a ninth win in 10 games with four runs in the bottom half.

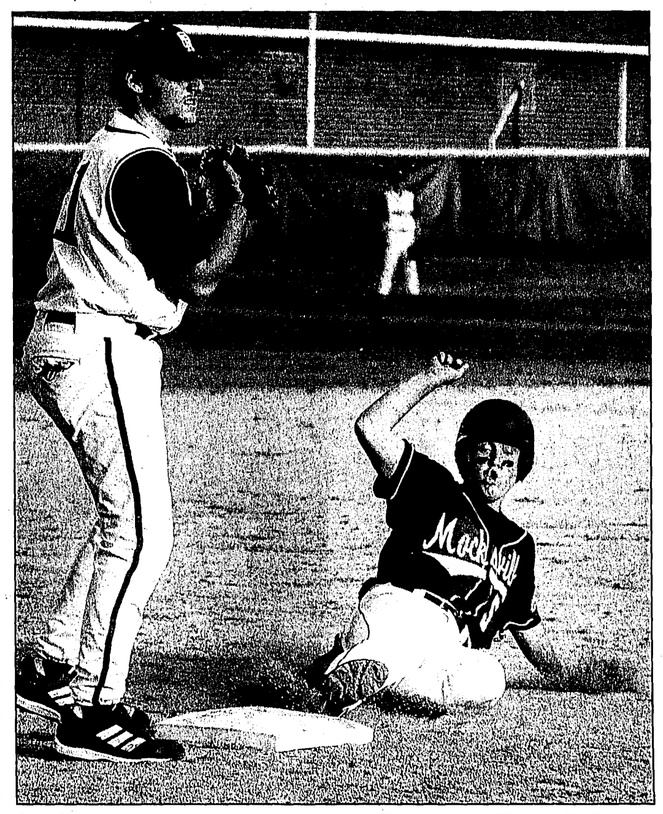

Dan Poindexter followed singles by Corey Martin and Zach Vogler with a run-scoring hit. Dusty Snow drew Mocksville within a run, and Brad Corriher provided a 4-3 lead with a double.

But Mocksville did next to nothing the rest of the night. Rowan produced four hits in a three-run fourth, four hits in a four-run fifth and the visitors kept pouring it on in the seventh, eighth and ninth. Rowan (10-6, 5-4) isn't nearly as dominant as years past, but it had everything clicking so well that it rang up 19 hits, played error-free defense and turned three double plays.

Mocksville, meanwhile, self-destructed. It committed six errors, two pitchers (Dusty Snow and Corey Martin) uncorked six wild pitches and the dismal game was all but over by the fifth.

"It was one of those nights," Lovelace said. "They cashed in on every opportunity. It seemed like every time we made a mistake, they made us pay for it. They made the routine plays and we didn't."

Legion Beats Old Nemesis

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

It never comes as a surprise when Dan Poindexter dominates for Mocksville's Legion baseball team. But Poindexter's performance in Saturday's 10-7 win at Rowan County tested the bounds of believability.

Poindexter was about skill, determination and power. He got three hits, including a game-tying home run that sparked a six-run fourth. He capped the game-turning fourth with a two-run single. His third hit provided a 9-7 lead. He made a clutch catch at third base. He struck out Rowan's cleanup batter on a 3-2 pitch with the bases loaded and two outs in the eighth, and he slammed the door with three scoreless relief innings.

Poindexter enhanced his reputation as one of Mocksville's all-time flashiest weapons and led the first win at Rowan since 2001. Furthermore, Mocksville (10-3 overall) rose to 6-1 in the Southern Division for the first time since 1994.

"He did it with the bat, and then he did it with three innings of pitching, and then there was the catch to his left that held them down," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "He pretty much did everything. It was one thing after another."

Throw in Zach Vogler (reached base four times), David Boyles (three hits, two RBIs), Wesley Douglas (two hits, including a homer when Rowan was up 3-0) and John McDaniel, who gave up one run over four innings after sloppy defense staked Rowan to the early lead, and a host of guys played a big part in the first road win over Rowan in the last eight tries.

"It's a huge win," Lovelace said as Mocksville seized sole possession of first over Stanly County. "The guys couldn't remember the last time we won down there."

Mocksville started sluggishly. Three errors in the first two innings put the visitors behind the eight-ball.

"We had three guys that came back from the beach, and at the beginning we looked like we had some rust," Lovelace said. "We went six up, six down in the first two innings, they had a 3-0 lead and we could have easily folded the way it's been (against Rowan) in the past."

Poindexter was just one reason Mocksville won for the eighth time in

Mocksville Delivers Rude Payback

Angry Mocksville took the fight to Concord from the outset and never let its thumb off the visitors in a 17-5 wipeout in the second game of a doubleheader June 10 at Rich Park. The local American Legion baseball team was mad after losing the first game 11-4, and the split kept Mocksville (9-3, 5-1) in a first-place tie with Stanly County in the Area III Southern Division.

"After you get drubbed like that, it's always important to come back strong with a win," No. 3 batter Dan Poindexter said. "We made up for it."

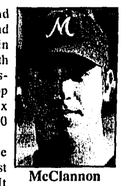

Starting pitcher Andrew McClannon (six strong innings), leadoff man Zach Vogler (three hits, including a home run, and two RBIs) and Poindexter (3 for 3, three RBIs, two walks) engineered the most runs for Mocksville since the middle of 2003. The explosion stemmed from a stern lecture by Coach Mike Lovelace, who ordered the troops to step up their intensity.

"I had to lay it on the line and tell them if we're going to stay in first place that this was a must win," he said. "And the guys responded well."

"The second game was real important for us," Vogler said. "Lovelace really chewed us out, and that helped get our mind focussed. We had to step up and play."

Mocksville took a 2-0 lead when Vogler homered in the second off Jaryd Keese, a pitcher for UNC-Pembroke. "That's a pretty good pitcher," Lovelace said. "He was tough against Rowan and Stanly County."

The outcome was a forgone conclusion by the end of Mocksville's third. Poindexter doubled, Brad Corriher singled and McClannon and Corey Martin plated them with singles. Mocksville didn't stop until it had six runs and an 8-0 lead.

McClannon

Mocksville was actually just warming up. It scored one in the fourth, two in the sixth and six in the seventh. The Nos. 3-7 batters - Poindexter, Corriher, David Boyles, McClannon and Martin - poured it on by combining for 11 hits and 10 RBIs.

Spectator To Starter: Correll Turns Golf Career Around

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

To say Seth Correll has turned his golf career around at Catawba College would be one of the understatements of the century.

Correll

Correll's 2002 freshman season was dreadful. He had a uniform just like the other nine Indians, but the only time he needed it was team-picture day. His sophomore season was worse - one appearance the whole year.

To make matters even worse, Correll's academics were buried in the bunker, constantly dangling around 2.0 until he plunged completely and wasn't eligible during last year's fall semester.

Things have certainly changed for the rising fifth-year senior from Mocksville. Catawba coach Sam Gealy sees a different Correll now, an outhouse-to-penthouse transformation that has set the stage for a nice final chapter to an adventurous journey.

"He began to work a lot harder on his golf game," Gealy said. "In the spring when he became eligible, he got a chance to be in the lineup and he's been in the lineup ever since. I think his senior year is going to be a pretty solid year for him. From where he started to where he's going to end up, he's going to feel really good about what he's been able to accomplish over his period of time."

Things didn't start according to Correll's plan. It didn't help that he waited until his junior year at Davie High to drop baseball and chase golf. After spending three years in Catawba's reserve wilderness, he frequently found himself wondering if his day would ever come.

"The thing I regret is not quitting baseball earlier," Correll said. "I started golf late. I think if I would have started earlier, I'd be better than I am now. Not playing much amateur-tournament golf when I was a teenager, I felt whenever I got to Catawba I was behind everybody else, and I went in with no confidence at all. The guys there had been playing tournament golf longer than I have. I knew I could play, but I didn't have any confidence in my abilities just because I started so late."

The turning point from reserve to key contributor began last August when Correll moved to Salisbury to live on campus.

"Whenever I lived at home, I wasn't hanging out with the team as much as people who lived there," he said. "Now since I've moved down there, I go to school, go to practice and the team will go out to dinner. So I've gotten a lot closer with the team and gotten more involved with the team."

Rather than staying on the spiraling road, Correll went to work and completely changed his identity. His academic eligibility restored for the second semester of the 2004-05 year, he played in Catawba's last five tournaments. The results reflected a dramatic swing of fortunes: 37th of 85 players with a score of 77, 25th of 75 players with an 80-79, 19th of 60 players with an 80-78 and 20th of 40-plus players with a 76-77-76 in the Division II South Atlantic Conference Championships.

"He solidifies our lineup in the middle," Gealy said. "We count on him for a pretty steady performance, and he also has the ability to work with the younger guys. He's shown he can motivate them; he can kind of get after them a little bit.

"The weather was horrendous for most of our tournaments, and he averaged around 77. Considering how difficult the conditions were, that's pretty solid."

What Gealy admires most about Correll is his determination. He's quite a player for a guy who is largely self-taught.

"He doesn't have what I would call a classic golf swing, but he has the ability to get the job done," the Indians seven-year coach said. "He makes a lot of the key four- and five-foot putts to kind of keep his round going. I look at him as maybe not the kid that's going to shoot real, real low, but he probably isn't going to shoot real, real high. He's going to be that solid performer that every coach looks for and has to have somewhere in their lineup. Everybody has to look at themselves as a No. 1 because your score's got to count at some point in time, and so far he's proven to be a very consistent player and one I think we can count on day in and day out.

"I think the more he's in the lineup, the more comfortable he's going to get."

When Correll put together the 78-80 for 19th out of 60, the wind was howling at 40-50 mph on both days. He fired a 72 a few weeks ago in the U.S. Open Qualifier in Gastonia, finishing 14th out of a whopping 132 contestants and missing the next stage of qualifying by two shots. That tournament required a 1.4 handicap or better.

"I haven't had the help that some kids have to fine-tune their swing," Correll said. "I've never really had anybody tell me: 'This is what you're doing wrong and this is what you need to do.' They're trying to build their swings like Tiger Woods, and me and (teammate) Steven Harvey have the same mentality: We just tee it up and say: 'There's the fairway, there's the green, just hit it.' We're not really worried about what our swing looks like."

Less than a year ago, Correll was faltering, searching, second-guessing. Now everything has come together and the experience has helped him as a player and a student, his grade-point average leaping to 2.92.

"He's really turned it around," Gealy said. "Not only is he improving athletically, but also in the classroom."

"A lot of that is because of my dad (Danny) staying on my (butt)," Correll said. "But again, moving me down there got me more committed to school, too.

"After my second year I talked to my dad and mom (Teresa) about transferring. All and all it's turned out for the best. Coach Gealy has talked to me about possibly being a captain (next season). The first couple of years I didn't think I would be around too long. But talking to my parents and stuff, I've realized what I want to do and what's important. So instead of transferring and starting over with a new coach and team, I decided to get to work."

Coach Appreciates Fight And Grit In Jr. Legion

Clinard Kuell Howell

Coach Charles Kurfees is very happy with his Junior Legion baseball team, even though Mocksville has seesawed to 7-7.

To really appreciate Mocksville's season at the halfway point of the schedule, consider the competition level and the fact that only four games haven't been decided by one or two runs and that no margin has surpassed five runs. Mocksville dropped six of seven, but now it's won three of four. And five of its defeats have been by one run.

With Mocksville standing 5-3 in the division, Kurfees and assistant Andrew Jones are satisfied, especially with arguably its best player - shortstop and No. 3 batter Zach Howard - out with a severely sprained ankle. On top of that, Mocksville only has two players with high-school varsity experience.

"We can't complain," Kurfees said. "They really do pull for each other, and they're a good bunch to be around. Everybody thinks Junior Legion is like JV baseball, but Kernersville has four varsity players off of Glenn and several varsity players off East Forsyth. Who do we have as a varsity player? Howard - he's hurt. (Tom) Kuell - he only pitched (14 innings for Davie). We face guys that can play. Two guys from Asheboro were by gosh chunking it. They ought to be on the big Legion team somewhere."

"We're giving ourself chances to win, and that's all you can ask for," Jones added.

In recent play, Mocksville dropped a doubleheader at Eastern Randolph (4-3 and 18-15), it beat visiting Montgomery 3-0, won 5-4 at South Rowan, lost 5-4 at home to Kernersville and won 6-4 at Kernersville.

While the offense has been Mocksville's shortcoming, a pitching staff that includes Colby Seaford, Cameron Clinard, Kuell, Bryan King and Chris Brogdon have exceeded all expectations.

"We didn't think we would have any pitching, but that's actually been our best thing," Kurfees said.

Seaford did a "tremendous job" on the mound in the 3-0 win over Montgomery. Clinard struck out 10 and had a two-hitter through six innings in the 5-4 win over South Rowan. His effort was stained by South's four-run seventh, turning a comfortable shutout into a scare. But he "shoved it up South big-time," Kurfees said. "Then he just lost his control."

Kuell pitched well in the 5-4 loss to Kernersville, and King was solid in the win at Kernersville. Seaford relieved him in the seventh and got the save.

All in all, their success is a tribute to courage and grit.

"They are pitching their hearts out," Jones said. "Clinard has pitched really well for not pitching hardly any in high school (at West Forsyth)."

Among the highlights from the last three games were homers by Kuell at South Rowan and by Justin Thompson at Kernersville. Thompson's blast at East Forsyth High soared over the 335-foot fence in left.

At Kernersville, King got critical defensive help from Kuell, the first baseman scooping a throw in the dirt to preserve a 5-4 lead.

"He had a game-winning pick," Jones said. "It would have tied the game if he doesn't pick it."

The offense really misses Howard, but thanks mainly to Josh Eder, Clinard, Thompson and Clint Howell, Mocksville has managed to keep its head above water.

"We're starting to hit the ball a little better," Kurfees said. "Eder is starting to hit the ball. We moved him to leadoff. Thompson had been in a slump, we worked with him and he's starting to hit now."

The offensive climb that has grabbed the most attention belongs to Howell. "He's our sparkplug," Jones said.

"He's a feisty little guy," Kurfees said. "He's hard to strike out. He puts the bat on the ball."

Schedule: Mocksville's next games are June 18 (home doubleheader at 2 against Pineville) and June 19 (home against South Rowan at 2).

Old School

Davie Sports From June, 1979

• Charlie Boger and the Davie Truckers won the Mocksville Jaycee softball tournament. Boger earned the home-run and MVP trophies, while Terry Johnson took home the hitting trophy.

• Mocksville's No. 1 Junior Babe Ruth baseball team routed Cornatzer twice. In a 16-2 win, Barry Whitlock was the winning pitcher and Thad Bullock the leading hitter. In an 11-4 win, Chris Jones was the winning pitcher, while Whitlock paced the offense with two hits.

Mocksville No. 2 split with William R. Davie. After losing 9-3, Mocksville won 5-3 behind two hits from Doug James.

• Ken Jordan went 16-0 in the regular season for Surry Community College's tennis team. He advanced to play in the national junior college tournament in Waco, Texas.

Old-Timer's Softball, Baseball Saturday In Cooleemee

COOLEEMEE - On Saturday afternoon, June 18, the annual "Old Timer's Softball Game" sponsored by the Town of Cooleemee will be held at the Cooleemee School Ballpark off Marginal Street behind the Cooleemee Fire Department.

This event has games scheduled for both women and men.

The women's game is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. and is open to all women 25 years of age or older.

The men's game is scheduled to begin at around 4 p.m., following the women's game, and is open to all men who have played on a Cooleemee team in the past. The men must also be 50 years of age or older.

With the help of the Cooleemee Civitans, Ron Bivins Jr., Grimes Parker Joey Reynolds and others, the town has done some sprucing up to the ballpark.

Bring your lawn chairs and enjoy some softball entertainment and fellowship.

Refreshments will be available.

Minor Yankees Win Regular Season

The Minor Yankees finished the regular season with a 14-0 record.

"The team celebrated success due to excellent teamwork and each boy giving their all," said Head Coach Greg Gobble and Assistant Coach David Oakley. "We express our appreciation and pride to each child for their hard work, good sportsmanship and overall kindness during this season."

They said parents and sponsors also showed commitment and support. "We would also like to express our gratitude to all the volunteers and officers of Davie County Little League who have provided a top notch facility on which to play. Due to all the noted contributions, the Yankees not only had a season of learning about America's favorite pastime, but they were able to have fun while doing it."

Team members decided before the tournament to dedicate the games to their classmate, Johnny Kalish III, whose father had drowned in High Rock Lake. They used "Johnny Runs" as their team words before each inning.

"Our thoughts and prayers go out to this little boy who so many of our team went to school with," Gobble said.

The Yankees beat the Devil Rays 8-6 in the quarterfinals, and downed the Astros 12-2 in the semifinals before losing 7-5 in the finals against the Red Sox.

"Our boys, though sad, had a great winning spirit," the coach said. "We finished the season playing 17 games and losing only one."

Spotlight on Business

Bermuda Mini's Self Storage is located at 146 Commerce Drive in Advance.

Bermuda Mini's Self Storage

Out of storage space in your home or office? Or maybe there is some seasonal furniture or equipment that you don't want to have clutter your garage?

In any case, Bermuda Mini's, located on U.S. 158 in Advance, can help. It's the place to store all of your excess business or personal property, just call 998-9661.

With 296 storage units, including 63 that are climate-controlled, the community has excellent options when they need to store belongings.

"The business is doing very well," said Jessica Dezendorf, who owns the business along with her husband, Ladd, and Lorin Wood. "People seem to have a real need for it. We're very clean and have a secure facility. We get very positive responses from our tenants."

Bermuda Mini's are used for a wide variety of reasons. The staff has even seen neighbors join together to rent space. Christmas decorations, outdoor furniture, tools and other things that clutter a home are just a few of the reasons people obtain a rental space.

"We're very proud of our facility and we've tried to construct a place where our customers will feel safe and secure," notes Jessica.

Bermuda Mini's has double pass coded gate. Customers must enter their pass code to get in and out of the facility.

"Our computer system records the date, time and unit number for every entry into the key pad," Jessica expains.

Sandra Scholl, the manager at Bermuda Mini's Self Storage, originally came to the facility as a customer.

"We moved here from Pennsylvania and looked at all the storage facilities before renting at Bermuda Mini's," she explains.

The Scholls rented with Bermuda Mini's for seven months while their new home was being built. She was so impressed with the professional attitude and friendliness of the owners that she came on board as an employee and has now been there for eight years.

"We go out of our way to make arrangements for customers," Sandra adds.

Clients are able to use a trailer to move items into their storage unit at no cost (call for more details.) Free security round locks are given to tenants if they are staying for more than a month.

Monthly rent reminders are e-mailed to tenants. For those who do not have e-mail, a courtesy phone call is made. Convenient payment envelopes are provided for those who request them.

The newest service at Bermuda Mini's is the acceptance of credit cards. Now tenants can have their rent automatically paid on a monthly basis.

Cleanliness, attractiveness and friendly service is what you will find at Bermuda Mini's Self Storage. Empty units are cleaned and sprayed regularly. The entire area is lighted with spotlights.

So if you're tired of all that clutter stacked up in your home, call the efficient, courteous staff at Berrmuda Mini's Self Storage at 998-9661 today. Better yet drop by Bermuda Mini's located at 146 Commerce Drive in Advance behind A Cleaner World and next to Bermuda Quay Shopping Center on U.S. 158.

Dusty Snow fires to the plate.

Brad Corriher receives a pickoff throw at first base. The first-year Legion player is hitting a sweet .357.

Dan Poindexter gives a fist to Zach Vogler (7).

Second baseman David Boyles wheels and fires to first for a double play.

Dan Poindexter has been incredible, hitting .474.

Legion Roundup

June 10 - Concord 11, Mock 4

Concord's Frankie McAteer follows his three-run homer with a grand slam as Mocksville's six-game winning streak gets broken. Zach Vogler goes 4 for 4 in defeat.

June 10 - Mock 17, Concord 5

Pitcher Andrew McClannon improves to 4-0, and Dan Poindexter goes 3 for 3 with two walks and three RBIs as Mocksville outhits Concord 16-6. Vogler also collects three hits, including a homer.

June 11 - Mock 10, Rowan 7

Mammoth homers by Wesley Douglas and Poindexter ignite eight unanswered runs as Mocksville takes over sole possession of first with its first win at Rowan since 2001. Poindexter gets three hits, four RBIs and the save.

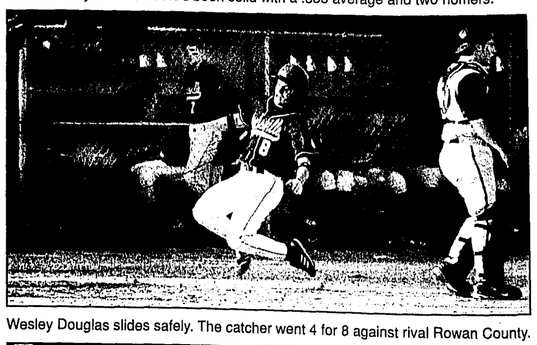

June 12 - Rowan 17, Mock 5

Mocksville surrenders 19 hits and falls into a first-place tie with Stanly. Mocksville leads 4-3 before getting outscored 14-1. It was trying to defeat Rowan back-to-back times for the first time in 14 years.

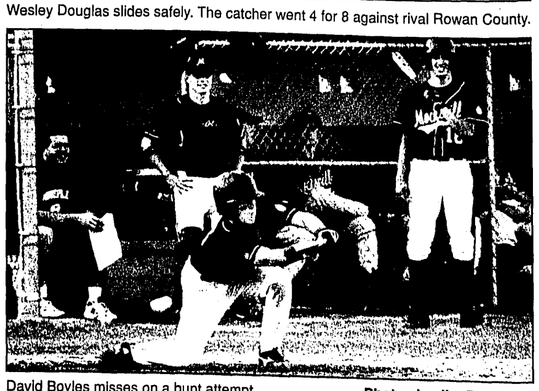

Upcoming games (7 p.m.): June 15 home (Mooresville), June 16 away (Stanly County), June 17 away (Lexington), June 18 away (Kannapolis), June 19 home (South Rowan), June 20 home (Kannapolis), June 21 away (Wilkes Co.).

Foo Smith eyes the ball. He's been solid with a .333 average and two homers.

Wesley Douglas slides safely. The catcher went 4 for 8 against rival Rowan County.

David Boyles misses on a bunt attempt.

Concord Stops Mocksville's 6-Game Winning Streak

Vogler

The Mocksville Legion baseball team was hardly used to this sort of treatment. Visiting Concord used a seven-run fourth inning to thump Mocksville 11-4 in the first game of a doubleheader on June 10, and the hosts couldn't rely on any what-ifs or might-have-beens. In their only two previous losses - 8-5 at Mooresville and 7-5 at Randolph County - they blew leads, but this time Mocksville knew what it felt like to be dominated.

Mocksville (8-3, 4-1 Southern Division), which rebounded marvelously with a 17-5 romp in the nightcap, had won six in a row and was off to its best Southern Division start since 1996. The humbling loss also stopped a 5-0 run at home.

"We were very flat," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "We hadn't played since (June 5 because of three rainouts), and we hadn't had any practice or anything."

Lovelace dreaded seeing four players leave for the beach, and the absence of two .400 hitters (Lance Emert and Dusty Snow) and a .333 hitter (Foo Smith) was too much to overcome.

Mocksville's dominance was interrupted by a finesse pitcher who went all seven innings. Righthander Tripper Newsome didn't have a commanding fastball, but he had Mocksville frustrated.

"He was just around the plate," Lovelace said. "We didn't strike out one time the whole night."

Zach Vogler, who moved to leadoff against Wilkes County in the first of three shorthanded games, erupted for four hits in four at-bats. But a 4-for-4 game never felt so hollow.

"(Newsome) didn't throw real hard, but we couldn't hit him," Vogler said. "(My) hits don't matter if we lose the game. I'd rather go 0 for 4 and win the game than go 4 for 4 and lose."

Mocksville seemed ready to extend its winning streak, scoring in the first two innings for a 2-0 lead.

But Frankie McAteer fed a starving Concord team - it came in 1-7 and 1-3 in the division - in the next two innings. He blasted a three-run homer in the third for a 3-2 lead, and he left the yard with the bases loaded in the fourth, a seven-run inning that knocked Mocksville out at 10-2.

Starter Brad Corriher (1-1) had only allowed two earned runs in 10 1/3 before getting tagged for 10 runs. It was a strange sight to watch this one get away. Mocksville had given up more than three runs in an inning just once, and that was four in a 12-11 win over Mooresville.

Andrew McClannon had two hits, John McDaniel hit a two-run homer on the heels of Concord's monster fourth and Vogler singled four times. Other than that, it was listless for Mocksville.

"We leave the park and Vogler's out there hitting some more at 11:15," Lovelace said. "McDaniel (a fill-in starter in left field) was as good as anybody we've had out there. He looked like a natural and he hit the ball hard every time he was up. He just missed another home run (on a fly to center) in his last at-bat."

Dan Poindexter went 0 for 3, his 10-game hitting streak ending with a walk in his final AB. "I told him to swing 3-0, and it was a foot outside. He was a team player," Lovelace said.

nine games. After Boyles singled in the third, Douglas rode the next pitch over the wall in left.

In the fourth, Poindexter led off with a deep drive to left that landed hours later somewhere in the woods. That homer tied it at 3-3.

"Douglas hit one of the longest home runs I've seen until the next inning when Dan hit his," Lovelace said. "Dan's was even higher up the trees. But both of them were no-doubt."

Later in the fourth, Brad Corriher mixed a single between walks to load the bases for Boyles, who chopped a two-run, tiebreaking double past third. Poindexter capped the six-run fourth with his second hit of the inning, smoking a curveball for a two-run single.

Rowan pulled to 8-7 in the seventh, but Mocksville answered with two runs in the eighth. Douglas singled, and two outs later, Lance Emert walked. Then Poindexter and Dusty Snow delivered run-scoring hits that restored a 10-7 lead.

Poindexter was in the middle of everything. Rowan loaded the bases in the eighth and had a .400 hitter up in Kevin McMillan. The score was 10-7, the count was full and everybody was moving. Poindexter froze McMillan with a curveball. Bye-bye, good night.

"It buckled his knees," Lovelace said. "They had Brett Mulkey (who has six homers) on deck, and Dan struck him out to lead off the ninth."

"He made a catch at third in the sixth. It was a shot. That saved a run when it was 8-7."

McDaniel got the win for a 3-1 record. He gave up seven runs on 10 hits in six innings, but only four were earned. Poindexter notched his second save. He exorcised the Newman Park demons despite only pitching 2/3 of an inning in the last seven games.

"Any time the game's on the line, we're going to win or lose with him," Lovelace said. "McDaniel did everything we asked for six. He threw ground ball after ground ball."

Notes: Mocksville came through before the biggest crowd of the year at Rowan. The 50/50 pot was worth $226. ... Rowan fell to 9-6 and 4-4. ... Mocksville got 13 hits off four Rowan pitchers.

Notes & Quotes

Mocksville Hitting A Robust .338

• Coach Mike Lovelace of Mocksville couldn't complain after splitting Friday's doubleheader with Concord. In fact, he was almost giddy after winning two of three with three starters at the beach.

Andrew McClannon, Zach Vogler, David Boyles, Corey Martin, Brandon Johnson and - of course - Dan Poindexter held down the fort until Lance Emert, Foo Smith, Dusty Snow and Matt Hutchens returned from Myrtle.

"That was big," he said. "I'll call that a successful stretch."

• There's a lot of baseball to play. But if the season ended today, Mocksville would own the highest batting average in team history. The 1990 team - which, by the way, swatted 80 homers in 38 games - hit .333, and through Sunday Mocksville stood at .338.

Eight guys with at least 18 at-bats are .300-plus, including Poindexter (.474), Vogler (.397), Emert (.388), Brad Corriher (.357), Boyles (.346), Smith (.333), Snow (.333) and McClannon (.308).

"The bats have really surprised me," the seventh-year head coach said. "If we get any pitching at all, the way we're swinging it, we could have a big year. We've got two 19-year-olds (Boyles and Douglas) near the bottom (of the order), and this lineup could be as balanced as we've had since I've been here. I thought pitching and defense were going to be pretty good, and it's all starting to come together."

• Mocksville is in position for its first Southern Division title since 1993. It finished second the past two years. It entered the week tied at the top with Stanly County, which visited Rich Park June 14.

"It's been a while since we've been at the top at this point," Lovelace said.

• Vogler, who lifted his average 78 points in Friday's doubleheader with Concord by going 7 for 9, had a team-best, seven-game hitting streak going into June 14. Smith has hit in six straight.

Poindexter's 10-game streak ended against Concord, but he immediately began another one. For the year he's hit in 13 of 14.

Poindexter

Boyles

• Boyles, a 2004 West Forsyth graduate, gathered rust from not playing in the spring and opened 2 for 16. Then he turned multi-hit games into a ho-hum occurrence, going 16 for 33 in an eight-game run that ended Sunday against Rowan County.

Similar circumstances contributed to Martin's slow start. He was a pitcher who didn't pick up a bat for Forbush. He hit his stride after starting 2 for 20 and went 8 for 19 over five games. His streak ended Saturday at Rowan.

• When Mocksville won at Rowan, it was 6-1 in the SD for the first time since 1994. It also ended a seven-game losing streak at Rowan's Newman Park. The last win there was 9-8 in 2001.

• Twenty-four hours later, however, Mocksville was haunted again by Rowan, which has ended Mocksville's season six of the past 10 years. It was trying to do something unheard-of - win consecutive games in the series. It failed miserably, 17-5.

It hasn't posted back-to-back wins over Rowan since Lovelace's pitching days. The year was 1991.

• Guilford's Chad Boone, a West Forsyth graduate who played for Mocksville in 2003, was named honorable-mention for the American Baseball Coaches Association's All-South Region team.

The sophomore infielder hit .333 and led Guilford in triples (three), tied for the lead in RBIs (45) and was second in home runs (eight) and slugging percentage (.573). Boone hit safely in 16 of the last 17 games, and helped Guilford (24-17) set a school record with its fourth straight 20-win season.

Boone was a switch-hitting infielder who hit .341 for Mocksville two years ago.

Dismal Loss To Rowan Makes For 1st-Place Tie

Rowan tortured Mocksville with seven infield hits. Maybe the remarkable meltdown doesn't happen if Mocksville takes advantage of an excellent opportunity in the first. Vogler was hit by a pitch and Lance Emert singled, and they were at second and third with nobody out.

The next batter, Poindexter, struck out. Snow grounded to third, Corriher flew out and Mocksville didn't score.

"How often does that happen?" Lovelace said of Poindexter's strikeout with two in scoring position. "One out of 100 times?"

The beginning of the end was the fourth. Martin's leadoff single - with the score 6-4 Rowan - was erased by a double play.

"The ball bounced their way," Lovelace said.

Notes: Foo Smith launched a solo homer to left-center in the sixth. "He hit it out of the world," Lovelace said. ... Poindexter, Wesley Douglas and Martin had two hits. Smith had two walks to go with his dinger. ... Snow slipped to 1-1. ... Two Rowan relievers combined for four scoreless innings.

Win Moves McClannon To 4-0

McClannon and Poindexter. McClannon improved to a fancy 4-0, and he has 20 strikeouts in 21 innings. Poindexter boosted his average to .468, hitting safely in 11 of Mocksville's 12 games.

"(Tripper Newsome, who riddled Mocksville in the first game) was throwing 75 miles per hour, and sometimes I find myself trying to wind up and yank the ball, and I roll over it all the time," Poindexter said. "(Keese) had a lot more behind it, and we seem to hit guys like that. I know I hit guys like that better, and I think the whole team is basically like that."

Lovelace had the right pitcher on the mound to answer Mocksville's first loss in seven games. And McClannon didn't need his "A" game to rack up more superlatives. He had a streak of nine scoreless innings before Concord's two-run third.

"He's just been unbelievable," Lovelace said. "He didn't have his best stuff, but he was effective enough. He was going to be our starter tomorrow at Rowan, but I knew after we dropped game one that we had to go with our best right now, and he's definitely been our best.

"To only give up three hits to a team that had 15 the game before is pretty impressive."

Notes: Frankie McAteer homered twice in game one, and he went deep again in the seventh. His third homer of the night and seventh of the season, however, was erased when Mocksville caught him for missing first base. ... Vogler went 7 for 9 in the DH, raising his average from .326 to .404.

Oak Valley Looks Good Until Weather Spoils Week

Oak Valley had expected to be well on its way to a spectacular swim season by now.

Instead, the Orcas have barely stepped out of the starting gate.

Three attempts at swim meets in the past two weeks have resulted in one postponement and two interruptions thanks to rain, cold and lightning.

"The weather has been our biggest opponent, and that's something we can't control," said Coach Brent Gaither.

Two abbreviated meets, however, served notice that Oak Valley this year is powerful and fast — and now everyone knows it.

Gaither said Oak Valley was dominating the Clemmons West match and had a slight lead over Sherwood, which hasn't lost in two years.

"We were threatening," he said. "We have very fast kids. I'm very pleased with the performances we've had. We've had some great come-from-behind wins, and we've got some tremendous leadership among the kids."

Oak Valley's ranks have swollen to 130 swimmers, making it one of the biggest teams around.

This week, the Orcas host Old Town and travel to Forsyth Country Club — teams they split with last year.

Gaither said the meet must get through at least 60 events for it to be official. The Clemmons West meet got to event 40; the Sherwood meet only got in 21 events.

The Sherwood competition will be completed next week. The Clemmons West meet, because it had already been resheduled once, may not be finished.

That would disappoint Gaither, who is in his first season as head coach and was eager to claim that first meet as a win.

"We looked like we had victory in our sight but couldn't get there," he said. Oak Valley was leading 251-192 when the meet was stopped.

Oak Valley had Sherwood in the cross-hairs, too, with a 122-121 lead, the team the Orcas will use to gauge their progress in the off-season.

"We've had this one marked on the calendar for months," Gaither said.

Team Relay

• 9-10 girls, Grace Bartelt, Claire Whitaker, Palmer Benson, Kathryn Lane; boys, Quinn Holland, Zach Coffey, Michael Mebel, Jack Rayborn.

• 11-12 girls, Hannah Keeney, Laura Shelton, Erika Coffey, Katie Davis; boys, Kyle Macey, Landon Whitaker, Jay Stancliff, Nathan Milleson.

• 13-14 girls, Taylor Moore, Amelia Nitz, Autumn Jones, Summer Holland; boys, Atticus Lum, Robert Sparks, Jake McKay, Cassidy Champney.

• 9-10 boys, Quinn Holland.

• 11-12 girls, Summer Holland; boys, Jay Stancliff.

• 13-14 girls, Taylor Moore; boys, Daniel Wendel.

Here are the Oak Valley first place finishers against Sherwood:

Relay

• 7-8 girls, Teddi Utt, Caitlyn Radatovich, Morgan Wininger, Anna Berrier.

• 9-10 boys, Zach Coffey, Brenden Radatovich, Michael Mebel, Quinn Holland.

• 11-12 girls, Erika Coffey, Laura Shelton, Summer Holland, Katie Davis; boys, Kyle Macey, Nathan Milleson, Jay Stancliff, Christian Day.

• 13-14 girls, Hannah Keeney, Amelia Nitz, Autumn Jones, Taylor Moore.

Free Style

• 7-8 girls Caitlyn Radatovich; boys, Nolan Day.

• 9-10 girls, Palmer Benson; boys, Quinn Holland.

• 11-12 girls, Summer Holland.

• 13-14 boys, Daniel Wendel.

Oak Valley swimmers Meredith Bennett, Kathryn Bennett, Ashley Fanale and Jane Ashley.

Jake McKay executes the butterfly for Oak Valley.

Coach Christin Howard leads the B arracudas in a pre-meet cheer.

Cade Carney, Phillip Kelly, Nick Castellano, Logan Sessoms and Evan Dowell wait for their turn to swim.

Swim Time

Cold, Rainy Weather Doesn't Deter Barracudas

Chris Eagan swims the butterfly for the Bermuda Run Barracudas.

The Bermuda Run Barracudas started their swim season last week with meets against New Sherwood and Old Town Country Club.

There were some cold, rainy practices, but Coach Christin Howard inspired the swimmers to jump in and swim their practice laps anyway. Assistant coaches for the Barracudas this year are Abby Hartman and Laura Williams.

In the meet against New Sherwood the 10 and under medley relay team of Ashley Dowell, Hannah Craver, Avee McGuire and Kelsey Hatherlee took second place while the boys team of Phillip Kelley, Logan Sessoms, Chris Eagan and Evan Dowell placed first.

Other swimmers included Hamilton and Harrison Disher, Cade Carney, Nick Castellano, Salem, Ivey and Cade Carney, Madison Hayden, Elizabeth Hartman, Caitlyn Hauser, Lindy Carson, Alex Keiser, Bond Craver, Morgan Sessoms, Kerry Eagan, Davis and McKenzie Bishop, Athena Rhoades, Alec and Hannah Lee, Will and Avee McGuire, Jessica and Julianna Button, Sarah Welch, Jennifer Collins, Madeline Seagle, Charlie Rhoades, Natalie Castellano, Madison Ling, Steven Angell, and Hannah and Gracie Tedder.

In the meet against Old Town Country Club the 10 and under medley relay team of Hannah Craver, Ivey Carney, Ashley Dowell and Salem Carney took second place again.

Kerry Eagan took first place in girls 8 and under freestyle.

Salem Carney and Ashley Dowell swam butterfly and Lindy Carson placed first in girls 11 & 12 individual medley.

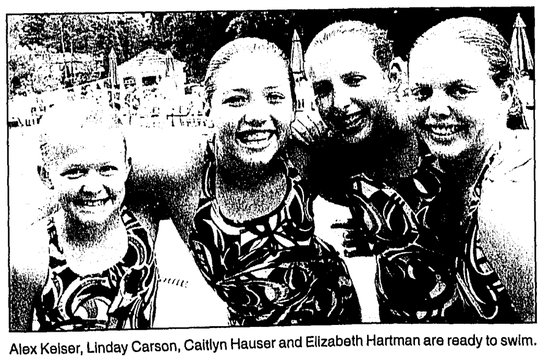

The Barracudas have home meets coming up against Jonestown and Peacehaven.

Bermuda Run swimmers Gracie Tedder, Kerry Eagan and Morgan Sessoms.

Caitlyn Hauser, Alex Keiser, Jessica Button, Elizabeth Hartman and Lindy Carson pose for the photographer.

Alex Keiser, Linday Carson, Caitlyn Hauser and Elizabeth Hartman are ready to swim.

Kerry Eagan celebrates her first place win in freestyle.

Jessica button lines up to swim against Old Town.

See The Jungle Book This Saturday

They had an audition Monday, and 57 Davie young people were cast in The Jungle Book.

They'll rehearse all week, and on Saturday, the drama camp students will present the production at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Brock Performing Arts Center, North Main Street, Mocksville. Admission is $5.

During the week, workers from Missoula Children's Theatre will be teaching the young people who to speak where the audience will hear, how to be expressive, how to tell a story with voice and body - and how to have fun, said Shirnest Tolbert.

They meet from 1-5:30 daily for rehearsals and other activities provided by the Davie County Arts Council.

Luke Hollifield, Stephanie Watts and Chelsea Parrish rehearse for The Jungle Book.

Miller-Cranfill Couple Married

Mrs. Darren Spencer Cranfill

Amanda Lee Miller of Advance and Darren Spencer Cranfill of Clemmons were united in marriage at 3 p.m. June 11 at Mocks United Methodist Church, Advance.

The Rev. David Sowers officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Rick and Debbie Miller of Bailey Road, Advance. She is a 1995 graduate of Gospel Light Baptist and earned a bachelor's degree in 1999 from Bob Jones University, where she was a member of Theta Delta Omicron and was named to Who's Who Among American Colleges. She is a real estate broker with Coldwell Banker Triad Realtors in Advance.

The groom is the son of Olin and Diane Cranfill of Woodlands Court, Advance. He is a 1987 graduate of West Forsyth High School and in 1994 earned a law degree from the Wake Forest University School of Law. A member of the Village of Clemmons Planning Board, he is in private law practice in Clemmons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sleeveless Miado satin gown in Ivory champagne. The A-line gown and attached chapel train was trimmed with satin and embellished with embroidery, Swarovski crystals and beads.

Matron of honor was Candie Miller Smith, cousin of the bride. Usher was Jake Miller, brother of the bride.

Guest book attendant was Allison Miller. Scripture readings were by Jake Miller, the bride's brother, and Vicki Fleming, a friend.

Musicians were: Josh Hilton, piano; Alyssa Evans, Amanda Judd, violins; Brian Evans, viola; Alex Johnson, cello; Cathe Hockaday, bell; and Ricky Hockaday, sound.

Greeters were Mr. and Mrs. Jake Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tkach, Mr. and Mrs. Brent Burton and Amy Powers.

The wedding was directed by Tiffany Gulledge.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Musicians were Equinox guitarists and servers were Maxine Bailey, Susie Anderson, Lucy Phelps and Amy Powers. After the reception, the couple went on a wedding trip to Pearl Islands, Panama, Central America. They will be at home on Mocks Church Road, Advance.

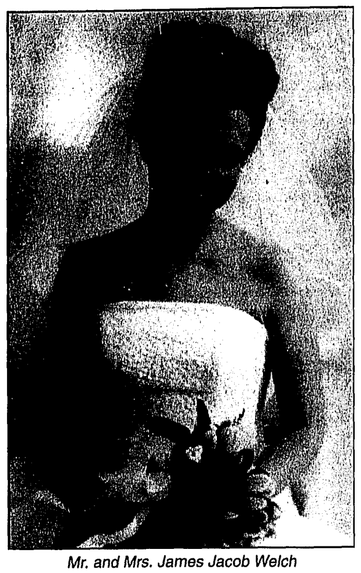

Social Events

• A rehearsal barbecue was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Olin Cranfill on Friday, June 10 in Advance.

• On May 7, a bridal tea was hosted by Debbie Mason and Anna Fergeson at Mrs. Mason's home on Kingsmill Drive, Advance.

• On May 14, a bridal shower at the home of Vicki Fleming, James Way, Bermuda Run, was also hosted by Tiffany Gulledge, Sue Johnson, Allison Miller, Terri Burton, Renny Stroupe, Donna Tkach and Patsy Crenshaw.

• On June 11, a spa morning was hosted by Reginna Miller and Candie Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jacob Welch

Parks-Welch Couple United In Marriage

Tracie Melissa Parks of Clemmons and James Jacob Welch of Midlothian, Va. were married Saturday, May 28 at Clemmons Moravian Church The Rev. Dan Redding Jr. officiated at the 3:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Keith and Joni Parks of Clemmons. She graduated from Davie High School and earned a degree in elementary education from Appalachian State University. She will be teaching first grade at Pinebrook Elementary School.

The groom is the son of Jim and Regina Welch of Midlothian. He graduated from Monacan High School and earned a degree in special education from Appalachian State University.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

Shannon Parks of Advance, the bride's sister-in-law, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Jessica Allen of Mocksville; Katie Crooks of Richmond, Va.; Erin Johnson of Reston, Va.; and Emily Ness of Charlotte.

The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Justin Coffey of Richmond; Brad Parks of Advance, the bride's brother; and Adam Welch and Chris Welch of Midlothian, the groom's brothers.

Sydney Treadaway of Rocky Mount, the bride's cousin, was the flower girl. Spencer Treadaway of Rocky Mount, the bride's cousin, was the ring bearer.

A reception at the Village Inn Golf & Conference Center in Clemmons followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to Pigeon Forge, Tenn., the couple made their home in Lewisville.

Carter-Minor Engagement Announced

Paul and Tammie Carter of Advance announce the engagement of their daughter, Amanda Faye Carter of Advance to Bobby Grant Minor III of Advance, the son of Bobby and Janet Minor of Advance.

The bride-elect is a 2002 graduate of Davie High School and in May earned an associate degree from Forsyth Technical Community College. She is employed by Eckerd Pharmacy.

The groom-to-be is a 2001 graduate of Davie High School and in May earned an associate degree from Forsyth Technical Community College. He is employed by Lowes Foods.

The wedding is planned for July 2 at Elbaville United Methodist Church, Advance.

Ingram Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary

The Rev. Franklin Myers with Reggie and Annie Belle White Ingram.

A renewing and anniversary worship service for Reggie and Annie Belle White Ingram was held May 20 at 6 p.m. at Ijames Baptist Church. The Rev. Franklin Myers conducted the service. The couple, who married May 20, 1955, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with more than 150 family and friends in attendance.

Mrs. Ingram wrote the service as a celebration of how God had blessed the Ingram family for these 50 years. The Ingrams thanked God for their "three lovely daughters and the best sons-in-law anyone could ask for." They also thanked God for their six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The couple's oldest grandson, Bradley Stapleton, escorted Mrs. Ingram. Mrs. Ingram wore an ivory satin trim jacket dress of woven polyester. She carried her original Bridal Prayer Bible.

The Ingrams vowed, as they did 50 years ago, to ask God to continue as the head of their family, and thanked Him for all His blessings. Mrs. Ingram also wrote a poem about their family. All three daughters and Mrs. Ingram read a portion of the poem.

As a special surprise to his wife, Mr. Ingram gave her a diamond anniversary ring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingram and the couple's daughters and sons-in-law, Dawn and Sam Cozart, Sherri and Randy Trotter, and Torri and Mike Stapleton, lit a candle to show that God is the center of the family and they are under God's grace. The couple chose "Go Light Your Candle," as their final song to signify what the entire service was about, spreading the light and love of Jesus to the world; while remaining at the center of their family.

Music was provided by the Ijames Baptist Adult Choir, the Gobble Sisters (Myrtle, Vauda and Creola), and an instrumental trio, Robert Ellis, Myrtle Stroud and Jamie White.

Special guests were Vernell Bodenheimer, sister of the bride; and Elson and Judy Ingram, brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

A memory video of old pictures was created by Richard White and was played at the beginning of the service.

Jennifer Mahaffey, granddaughter of the Ingrams, made the invitations for the 50th anniversary.

A buffet dinner was served following the ceremony. Many of the couple's nieces, nephews and several close friends assisted in the reception. Robert and Vauda Ellis, Robert Rogers and Priscilla Dwiggins prepared the meal. Torri Stapleton, daughter of the Ingrams, made the satellite anniversary cake. Vauda Ellis directed the ceremony.

On Sunday, May 22, the Adult Women's Class of Ijames Baptist Church honored Mr. and Mrs. Ingram with a monetary gift and a poem that was written for the couple tiltled "Loving Thoughts," and was framed in a gold frame honoring the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary. The class also gave Mrs. Ingram a photo bracelet containing the couple's daughters, sons-in-law and their grandchildren. The class wishes the Ingrams many more happy years together.

Carroll And Betty Hanes Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Carroll and Betty Hanes celebrated their upcoming 50th wedding anniversary at a dinner at The Depot restaurant at Cody Creek in Dobson. Close relatives and friends attended on June 3 for the meal hosted by the couple's four daughters.

They were married on July 2, 1955, the last couple to be married at the wood frame Center Church that preceded the current structure.

More than 125 residents turned out for the annual Hawaiian Luau Party last Friday evening.

Residents donned their muumuus, Hawaiian shirts, and colorful floral leis for the occasion.

The dining room was transformed into a tropical paradise with lush green plants filling the room with spots of colorful birds of paradise, amaryllis, and hibiscus bushes. Fresh, cut bamboo added to the overall decor.

The party began at the bar with Mai Tais and a medley of succulent appetizers under the umbrella canopy. The appetizers included: shrimp with cocktail sauce; sevich; fresh crab dip; smoked mussels, tuna and oysters; hearts of palm, avocados; and an assortment of juicy, tropical fruit. Chef J.P. Wilmart used his culinary talents to carve beautiful tropical centerpieces.

The dinner buffet began at 6 p.m. and featured pork tenderloin, Honolulu duck with mango sauce, and broiled mahi mahi, accompanied by fried banana fritters, wild rice, and a steamed vegetable blend. Dessert was a tasty pineapple upside down cake topped with whipped cream and a cherry.

Mim and Al Andrews are decked out in their Hawaiian best.

Aaron and Lillian Rose sport colorful leis at the luau dinner table.

Congratulations to Richard Roberts who will go into full time ministry in July, going to Mt. Olive Methodist Church. He has been assistant minister here for quite some time. We are going to miss Richard and wife Janine. Janine has had charge of the Children's Church service for the past few years. Richard will preach Sunday at church, his last Sunday with us.

We welcomed Bob and Shirley Solomon as visitors to our church Sunday.

Dr. McCollum and wife Erma, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Moore were Saturday night dinner guests of Jack and Dorothy Carter. These couples attend Fork Baptist Church. Dr. McCollum is chaplain at Thousand Trails Campgrounds.

Vernelle Greene of Churchland was a Friday afternoon visitor of Edith Zimmerman.

The Zimmerman reunion was held Saturday evening, June 11 at the VFW building with approximately 45 people - descendants of the late Ottie Daniel Zimmerman and his two wives Sandra Garwood Zimmerman and Julia Sprinkle Zimmerman. A patriotic decor was used, including the red, white and blue candles and napkins. Prizes were given for the oldest, youngest, tallest, shortest and the one driving the longest. Cathy Z. Davis from Lexington won the scavenger hunt prize, with Mike Folds and daughter Brittany at the mike for the contest. The reunion was under the direction of Martha Z. Folds, Eva Sowers Bostick and Weeta Zimmerman. The younger assistants were Amanda Matthews and Brittany Folds. Harold Zimmerman has received permission from the Methodist church to bury a 25-year time capsule at the foot of Mr. and Mrs .O.D. Zimmerman's grave. Harold will be collecting information and items for a few more days.

Jack and Dorothy Carter, brother and sister-in-law Gray and Ruby Nell Carter, sister and brother-in-law Peggy and Felix Rummage of Davidson County left Sunday for a few days trip to the N.C. mountains at Linville.

Get well wishes go out to Frances Robertson who underwent open heart surgery at Forsyth Medical Center Friday. She had a triple by-pass, plus a valve replacement.

Pete Cornatzer remains a patient at Forsyth Medical Center. A speedy recovery is wished for him.

Virgil Potts has returned to Bermuda Terrace Nursing Home after being in Forsyth Medical Center last week.

Sheffield-Calahaln News

By Janice Jordan
Sheffield/Calahaln Correspondent

Among local churches holding Vacation Bible School this month is Ijames Baptist at Sheffield and Ijames Church roads. Theirs is scheduled to begin Monday evening, June 20 and will run through Friday evening, June 24.

Further out Sheffield Road, Liberty Wesleyan Church will have a one-day Bible School Saturday, June 25. Ages from one through 12 are invited. It will begin at 8:45 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m. No pre-registration is necessary.

New Union United Methodist Church hopes everyone will attend their benefit breakfast for Terry Keaton Saturday, June 18 at the Sheffield/Calahaln Community Center on Turkeyfoot Road from 6:30-10 a.m. Awaiting heart and kidney transplants, Terry remains a patient at UNC-CH Hospital. Terry grew up in the Sheffield community, where his sister Barbara Gobble still resides. Donations will be welcomed. Church members will also have home-baked items for sale.

Advance sales for the tapestry throw commemorating New Union Church's 225th anniversary, will end June 30. Contact Brenda Bailey at 751-7567 to place an order.

One way to get out of the house or to entertain your children on Tuesday and Thursday nights is to attend a church league softball game. They play at Center Community Field and at Rich Park, with games beginning at 6:30 p.m. New Union and Liberty Wesleyan are two of the participating churches.

Special thanks are sent to neighbor Greg Gobble for stopping to let us know that a large section of our fence was down. Apparently an unknown vehicle did not stop at Georgia and Duke Whittaker roads and went through the fence. Cattle were moved to another pasture while repairs were made.

As the Father's Day holiday approaches, keep in mind neighbor Frank Kalish. He and his wife, Kris, recently lost his son, Johnny, to a drowning accident. Condolences are sent to them and all of Johnny's family for their loss.

Saint Matthew's Lutheran Church Homecoming will be Sunday, June 26. "Dinner on the grounds" will be at 1 p.m. Bring a picnic basket full of good food and lots of memories to share.

Our community sends congratulations to Michael and Jean Duty of Salem: On June 8 they welcomed a new daughter, Makayla, to their home on Davie Academy Road. Grandparents Jimmy and Teresa Smoot live nearby and are also delighted with Makayla's arrival.

We send get-well wishes to Joel Cartner of Salem. Joel was to have surgery at Wake Forest Medical Center on Tuesday. Beulah Mae Osborne is recuperating at her home. Join us as we pray for the Lord's blessings in the lives of Joel, Beulah Mae, and other residents who continue with outpatient treatments.

On Sunday our community and local churches will observe Father's Day. Churches will pay tribute to our fathers and some will recognize the oldest and the youngest present. On Friday, June 17, Pleasant View Baptist Church will honor fathers with a Father's Day supper at 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

County Line fathers have worked hard through the years to provide us with a beautiful community. This week we dedicate our column to our fathers and pay tribute to them.

Wilburn McDaniel was the son of Jesse and Della McDaniel of Ridge Road. He and his wife, the former Willipearl Rumple, built a house near his parents' home and reared their daughters Hazel and Doris. After Willipearl's death to acute leukemia in 1965, he married Louise B. Powell. He worked for Burlington Industries and farmed part-time. He was a dedicated family man and member of Salem United Methodist Church. He went to be with the Lord in 1976.

Clyde Williams was a son of Newton and Ida McDaniel Williams. He and his wife, the former Zeola McDaniel, settled on Ridge Road and reared their sons "Sonny" and Ed. Although he farmed some, he was a carpenter by trade and worked on many houses in County Line before working in Winston-Salem in his later years. He was a dedicated family man and went to be with the Lord in 2000.

Bill Seamon was a son of John and Emma Seamon. He and his wife, the former Etta Williams, lived on several farms off Davie Academy Road and Ridge Road before building a home on Ridge Road in 1948. They had seven children, six of whom reared families in Davie, Iredell, and Davidson. Bill farmed some but was a carpenter and helped build many houses and buildings in this area. He was dedicated to his family and his Society Church where he donated his skills to make repairs. He went to be with the Lord in 1990.

Everette Evans was a son of George W. and Ada A. Evans. He and his wife, the former Lucy Safriet, made their home on Old Mocksville Road and reared their daughter Frances there. Everette worked for the Iredell County government and was a part-time farmer. Everette was a big kidder with us young folks at Society and surprised us by singing a duet with Lucy at church one Sunday night. Everette went to be with the Lord in 1988.

Paul Foster Dwiggins was a son of "Dobe" and Bessie Cartner Dwiggins and was reared near Davie Academy. He and his wife, the former Annie Koontz, reared their children Joyce, Billy, and Bobby near Mocksville before returning to live in County Line. A veteran of World War II, Paul was a security guard and a former deputy sheriff. He was devoted to Annie and joined her at Autumn Care as their health declined. When she died May 6, he seemed to lose his will to live. I wanted to cheer him up and stopped to take a picture of him for our column last Wednesday afternoon. He laughed about old times as we talked for a little while about his friends in County Line. He hadn't been feeling well and I was going to take his picture another time. Later that night he joined his beloved Annie in Heaven.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the Dwiggins family and we pray for the Lord's comfort upon them.

Happy Father's Day.

Mandy Hines held a Pretty In Pink Pampered Chef party at her new home. A portion of the proceeds will help breast cancer research.

Pool season begn May 18 in Kinderton, and some of the many folks enjoying the pool are Darien Johnson and her two daughters, Amber and Taylor. The pool and clubhouse are a great place for neighbors to visit. If you are one of the few who have not picked up your pool key, you can visit Pat Russell on Parkview Lane, 942-2383. You can see Pat at the pool, as well. Thanks for all you are doing to help with the pool, Pat.

While some were splashing in the pool over Memorial Day weekend, the Bowmans were enjoying the last days of their Disney World vacation. I wonder if Myra and Maggie have taken off their mouse ears yet? And, thanks to Isaac, the family survived a Darth Vader light saber attack.

Gail and I enjoyed a lovely boat ride on Lake Lillian. What a beautiful view of Kinderton.

Congratultions to Izzy Tutterow, the director of Big Brothers/Big Sisters in Davie County. We are looking forward to helping raise funds for this worthy cause.

Catherine Frye and Kena Bowman are in the early stages of a playground campaign.

We are looking forward to the 4th of July. We are planning a bicycle parade through the neighborhood for children to ride their decorated bikes, dressed up and showing their patriotism. We will discuss plans at the Events Committee next meeting, Thursday, June 23 at the clubhouse.

Jesse Wayne Ford turned 2 years old on Sunday, May 29. He celebrated with a "Wiggles" party with his family and friends at his home.

Jesse is the little brother of Maddie, and son of Klint and Sheree Ford of Mooresville. He is the grandson of Janet and Woodie Bates of Advance and Becky and Dan Ford of Matthews. His great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClamrock of Mocksville, and Nelle Ford and Dorothy Speering of North Augusta, S.C.

We would like to thank everyone for the nice gifts and for helping us celebrate Jesse's 2nd birthday.

Memorials: Autumn Care, 1007 Howard St., Mocksville.

In Memory of Margaret Tuttle Tucker
April 3, 1920 – June 8, 2005

I felt your hand upon mine. I heard you whisper in my ear. I knew you were there all the while, even though you thought I wasn't "here".

I could feel the warmth of your presence. I saw the teardrops fill up your eyes. There were even times of laughter, before you'd start to cry.

Memories filled the room around me. You all took numerous trips down memory lane. I felt all of your emotions: love, laughter, happiness and pain.

I wanted to reach out to hold you. I longed to chase away your fears. Just so say once more, I Love You, as the end is growing near.

But do not fear tomorrow. Do not dread the thought of me being gone. For I have created seven wonderful children, who's own lives must carry on.

I've had children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren so my legacy will forever live on. So "carry my torch" my beloved children.....I'm tired, I'm going home.

Men's Day Program Saturday

There will be a Men's Day Program Saturday, June 11 at 11:30 a.m. at Clement Grove Church, 159 Parker Road, Mocksville. Guest speaker will be Elder John Fodrell of Church of God, Greensboro.

Singing On The Porch Sunday At Union Chapel Methodist

Union Chapel United Methodist Church will host another "Singin' on the Porch" on Sunday, June 19 at 5 p.m. Guests willbe "Maggie and Friends" from Yadkinville. There is no charge, but a love offering will be taken.

Union Chapel is located on US 601, Mocksville, a mile north of I-40. The singing will be in the sanctuary in case of inclement weather.

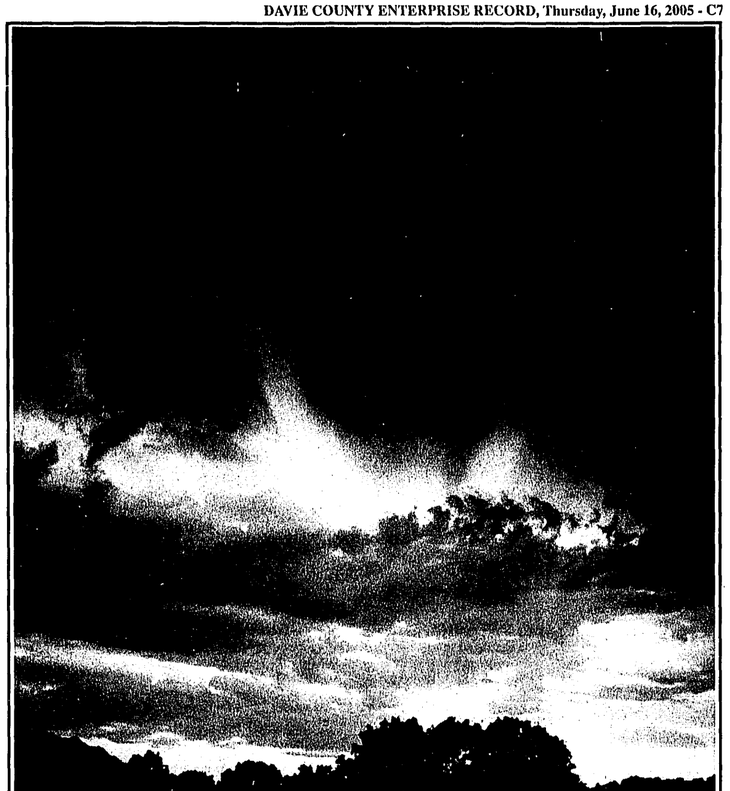

A Heart For Missions Theme For Union Chapel Bible School

Union Chapel United Methodist Church will offer a Vacation Bible School called "A Heart for Missions," with creative activities for ages 3-4 through sixth grade June 20-23 from 6:30-8:30 each evening. The church is on US 601, Mocksville, a mile north of I-40. Pre-registration is encouraged. Call 751-6814 or 998-6353.

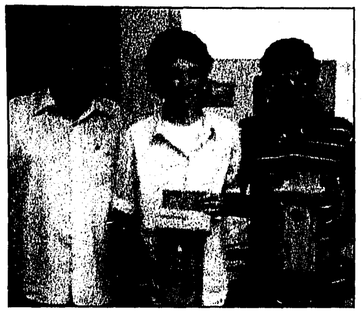

A Heart for Missions is designed to teach children to learn from Biblical examples about missions, helping them identify the needs of their community and involving them in a hands-on experience of missions. They can create a craft for someone in a nursing home. The church will be transformed into a learning hospital, in which children assume the role of medical interns and are divided into groups such as lab work (crafts), X-ray (Bible activities), and ear, nose and throat (music) plus others.

RELIGIOUS BUT WRONG
While America is becoming more and more a secular society, still communities like ours are blessed to have a high percentage of religious people. But we must not forget Jesus' warning that religious people are often wrong. In His famous Sermon on the Mount Jesus put it this way, "Not every one that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 7:21)
PRAISE THE LORD
In today's world we use many different expressions to demonstrate our religious convictions. We say for example, "Praise the Lord." Or we ask, "Do you know the Lord?" or "Are you a born again Christian?" These and other religious expressions are well and good, but only if we are allowing God's Word to direct our lives. Jesus asked this question, "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" Luke 6:46)
THE WILL OF GOD
It's God's will that counts -- not what we may feel in our hearts to be right, not what our church might teach, not the traditions we have received from our forefathers, not what fits in with modern contemporary culture -- but are we doing God's will.

Farmington News

By Laura Mathis
Farmington Correspondent

The Farmington Ruritan Club met on June 9.

Their special guests were Zach Bivens and Keith Mathis. After enjoying a delicious meal prepared by women from Farmington Methodist Church, Bivens and Mathis gave presentations on Farmington history and life in Farmington during the Revolutionary and Civil wars. They used a project board on which they displayed pictures and maps. The club learned about Farmington at a time when it was called "Little Currituck" because of the heavy migration of settlers who came here from Currituck County after hurricanes destroyed their villages. The club heard about Farmington's early days when George Wesley Johnson opened a general store which later also included the Farmington Post Office.

In years to come, Farmington would have two good sized tobacco factories, tin shops,a cabinet maker turning out fine furniture and coffins ,and even a place for shoe repair, fixing watches, and getting a haircut.

The Ruritans learned how General Cornwallis came through during the Revolutionary War. While crossing Dutch-mans Creek, Cornwallis gave the name "Pudding Ridge" because of the soft muddy terrain that the troops had to cross.

In 1865, during the Civil War, Union General Stoneman came through. Local residents were forced to prepare food for the troops and give them guns, ammunition, and horses.

Club members heard letters read that had been written by local people during this time and about the story that Ms. Emma Brown told of when she was little and the soldiers came to her house. They took her mama's hens and her daddy's horses and guns.

Zach Bivens and Keith Mathis are home schooled and had studied Farmington history as a school project. They gave the presentation to the Farmington Ruritan Club to earn extra credit.

After the presentation, each of the club members received a map illustrating the trail of Gen. Cornwallis through Davie County.

Bivens and Mathis were presented with bluebird houses by the club.

The Farmington Community Center would like to thank Mocksville's Board of Commissioners who approved the proposal that will allow Senior Services to begin a satellite program at the center this Fall. This program will provide meals and activities for area seniors. "Thank You" commissioners for your support.

Members of the Red Hat Revelers enjoyed a nice trip to Abingdon, Va. They were joined by the Classy Red Hatters of Ennice. The group went to the Bartar Theater to see the play, Singing In The Rain. They later enjoyed lunch at the Martha Washington Inn. The Red hat Revelers' next outing will be June 28 at the Carriage House in Winston-Salem.

The Farmington Country Club will be meeting at the Venezia Italian Restaurant Thursday at 7.

Shady Grove School Class Of 1951 Has Reunion

On June 4, members of the Shady Grove Class of 1951 held their class reunion in Mocksville with a meal and reminiscing.

All but three surviving classmates were present, including: Alma Barney Shoaf, Wayne Myers, Elizabeth Ann Foster Hendrix, Robert Lee Hendrix, Vestal Potts and friend Lucy, Bobby Jean Hamilton Daniels and friend James, Peggy Carter Rummage (Felix), Edythe Mock Rummage (Bill), Graham Hendrix (Joyce), Tom Cornatzer (Ann), and Nell Lee Burton.

The three unable to attend were Nell Hendrix Wyatt, Gerard Husser and Jean Craver Thomas.

There was a moment of silence in memory of classmate Ronnie Burton, who died since the last reunion.

Other deceased class members are: Alton (Kit) Beauchamp, Mozelle Jones Nichols, Betty Jean Sprye Williams and Mary Rose Frye Joyner.

Boys Learn 'Chilvary' At Day Camp

FORK - They shot BB guns and bows and arrows. They went swimming and had sword fights.

Is this learning?

It sure is, and the 84 boys who attended the annual Uwharrie District Cub Scout Day Camp last week at Thousand Trails, graduated the week as a Knight.

The camp was designed to teach the boys the 12 core character values that Cub Scouting encompasses, and it was called the Code of Chilvary for the camp, with Medieval-type games to make it fun.

"They enter as a Squire, go through training and they will be decorated a Knight at the end of camp," said Cindy Kirkus, program director. "We want them to be modern day Knights."

Cub Scouting has 12 core values:

• citizenship - contributing service and showing responsibility to local, state and national communities;

• compassion - being kind and considerate, and showing concern for the well being of others;

• cooperation - being helpful and working together with others toward a common goal;

• courage - being brave and doing what is right regardless of our fears, the difficulties or the consequences;

• faith - having inner strength and confidence based on our trust in God;

• health and fitness - being personally committed to keeping our minds and bodies clean and [illegible]

• honesty - telling the truth and being worthy of trust;

• perseverance - sticking with something and not giving up, even if it is difficult;

• positive attitude - being cheerful and setting our minds to look for and find the best in all situations;

• resourcefulness - using human and other resources to their fullest;

• respect - showing regard for the worth of something or someone; and

• responsibility - fulfulling our duty to God, country, other people and ourselves.

The boys at day camp learned those values, and had fun doing it.

Dominique Turner, 9, enjoyed swimming the most.

Will Canter of Mocksville said the bow and arrow activity was the most fun. "I'm best at it," he said. Will also enjoyed the BB guns and crafts.

Kirkus praised the staff at Thousand Trails, who all but closed part of the park for the camp. Boys from Davie and Davidson counties attended.

Zachary Baker shows his father Michael, Cubmaster for Pack 503 at Union Chapel United Methodist Church, the shield he made.

Life vest on, Dominque Turner is ready for the raft.

Mocksville Students Spending Semester In Greece

Few students of ancient history can claim to have gazed at the cloud-obscured top of Mt. Olympus, eaten olives in the cradle of democracy, or peered into the face of a 3,000-year-old mummy.

But when thinking back on such history lessons at the end of this summer, Adrienne Grey of Mocksville may have quite a story to tell.

Grey, a junior communication disorders major, is among 36 students spending the term at Harding (Searcy, Ark.) University's International Program in Greece.

In addition to cultural and language studies during their semester in Greece, students study biblical archaeology and the humanities. They take part in educational tours of Israel, Turkey, the major greek islands, Northern Greece and Egypt.

The students will spend the semester in Porto Rafti, an Athens suburb. Such proximity to the historic city allows them to explore ancient Corinth, Epidaurus, Mycenae, the ancient Agora, the Acropolis the Parthenon and many other remains from antiquity that give them a sense of the history that has shaped Western civilization.

The students live in the Harding-owned Artemis Hotel, which has 24 apartment-style, fully furnished units. In additon to providing classroom space, the building has a library, computer room, 200-sent dining room and swimming pool. The campus is a 10-minute walk from the Aegean Sea, home to some of the most beautiful beaches in the world.

Harding also maintainns international programs in Australia, Chile, England, France/Switzerland and Italy.

"Each of these places is like a jewel that sparkles off the face of the globe," said Dr. Jeffrey T. Hopper, dean of international programs. "Participation invariably makes for a life-changing experience. Semester after semester our students return with more poise, self-assurance and confidance, and with the knowledge that they can make their way in the world."

23 Earn ECU Academic Honors

Twenty-three Davie students at East Carolina University earned academic honors for the spring semester.

Named to the chancellor's list with 4.0 grade point averages were: Ashley Gaskin, Karen Hester, Tamie Potts and Amy Sink.

Named to the dean's list with minimum 3.5 grade point averages were: Amanda Bralley, Jennifer Broadway, Kristen Cox, Amber Gray, Allison Howell, Amanda Miller, Lillian Myers, Daniel Stiling and Megan Warchol.

Named to the honor roll with minimum 3.0 grade point averages were: Christopher Gaither, Patrick Little, Kyle Nichols, Hemali Patel, Brandon Shore, Alexandre Vonsiatsky, Armand Vonsiatsky, Stephen Williams, Corey Wood and Christopher Wooldridge.

Cancer Survivors

Davie county cancer survivors Betty Griffith and Ann Johnson celebrate life at National Cancer Survivor's Day hosted by Cancer Services, Forsyth Medical Center, and Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center on Saturday, June 4. More than 250 survivors, families and friends attended the annual event at Holy Family Catholic Church in Winston-Salem. Dr. Eugene Paschold, a cancer survivor and oncologist, delivered an inspirational message, and Cancer Services presented the 4th Annual Patient Advocate Awards to Jan Gordon, Jenny Morris and Sandy Wiles.

Relay Wrap Up Dinner Monday At Prime Sirloin

A dinner to wrap up the 2005 Davie County Relay for Life event will be held on Monday, June 20 at 6 p.m. Prime Sirloin in Mocksville is sponsoring the meal.

Team participants are invited.

Awards will be given to teams based on the amount of money raised. There will be information about changes in store for Relay 2006.

To R SVP, contact Tamara Wade-Roach with the American Cancer Society at (704) 500-2040 or toll free at (866) 227-4508.

Davie High principal Larry Bridgewater hands the keys to this car over to Misael Moreno-Luna.

'Deserving' DHS Student Wins Car

Misael Moreno-Luna has a car to drive to work.

No more borrowing the family's only vehicle. No more bumming a ride with a friend.

Moreno-Luna has a red Ford Focus with leather seats and power features. He earned it - by being good.

Moreno-Luna won a drawing at Davie High School for the car. Students were nominated by teachers and staff for showing responsibility. Ten of those cards containing nominations from each grade were put in a bucket, and out of the 240 names submitted, Moreno-Luna won.

He was at work when his name was drawn. A friend called.

"I didn't believe her," he said. "I was shocked. I think it's a pretty car, and I'm going to keep it."

Principal Larry Bridgewater said the annual car give-away promotes good behavior, especially at the end of the school year when students sometimes allow their minds to wander.

"It worked out really well, because this kid really needs it and deserves it," Bridgewater said.

Scholarship Winner Wants To Teach

Abby Hartman was introduced to members of the Davie County Retired School Personnel at their meeting on June 2.

Hartman

Hartman, who received the group's annual scholarship, is a 2005 graduate of Davie High School who plans to major in education at Appalachian State University this fall.

"My entire life, all I have ever wanted to do was be a teacher," Hartman said. It was those words that convinced the scholarship committee that she was the right choice.

She has experience in caring for and teaching children, including babysitting, Bible school, teaching swim lessons, and tutoring at her church, Augsburg Lutheran.

In the community, she has participated in Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Habitat for Humanity, and Relay for Life. At Davie High, she was yearbook junior editor and photography editor, president of the Future Teachers of America and a member of the History Club and Spanish Club. She spent two semesters interning at Pinebrook Elementary School.

The Retired School Personnel also installed Carolyn Beaver as president and Elnora Gore as vice president for the 2005-06 term.

Members and guests heard updates on the state budget cost-of-living adjustment for retirees, and recent modifications to the state health insurance plan.

A program of music was provided by the Davie County Senior Chorus.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 1 at noon at Bermuda Run. All retired school personnel are invited.

Bethea Earns Degree

Shayla Nicole Bethea of Mocksville received a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte on May 14.

Bethea

She has been awarded acceptance into the graduate education program at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte in the master's of teaching program.

She is the daughter of Denise Gray of Mocksville and Kevin Moses Bethea of Winston-Salem, and the granddaughter of Sammie Lee and Inez Gray of Walkertown.

Phillip Hollingsworth Earns Degree From Elon College

Phillip C. Hollingsworth of Advance earned a bachelor's degree with honors in Spanish from Elon College.

The son of Kenneth and Shirley Hollingsworth, he was also named to the spring semester president's list for studentswho make no grade below an A-minus.

Bass Earns Degree From Davidson

Joseph Baird Bass of Mocksville was one of 434 seniors to graduate in commencement exercises on Sunday, May 15 at Davidson College.

Bass is the son of Joseph and Marijke Bass of Mocksville, and is a graduate of Davie High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in history at Davidson.

While at Davidson, Bass held a General Thomas Corbin Scholarship. He was captain of the varsity soccer team and was named Most Valuable Player and All-Region Scholar. This summer, he will join the law firm of Parker Poe Adams and Bernstein as a paralegal.

The Smith Family

This photograph of the Smith family was made at a family reunion on Saturday, June 4 at the Center Community Building.

Dental Health More Than Fighting Cavities

Oral (dental) health means much more than no cavities.

Oral health is important to total health. The health of your mouth is linked to the health of your body.

If you have dental disease - tooth decay, gum disease or other lesions or infections of the mouth, you are not a healthy person. Research reveals a connection to the following systemic diseases: heart disease; stroke; diabetes; premature, low birth-weight babies; respiratory ailments and cancer treatment.

A person with gum disease is twice as likely to develop heart disease. Periodontal (gum) disease is a major complication of diabetes. The diabetic person is more susceptible to developing infections; conversely, severe gum disease may increase the risk of developing diabetes and make it more difficult to manage blood sugar levels.

Recent studies have shown that women with periodontal disease (infection of the gums) have 3-5 times more risk of premature (preterm) birth. Premature babies are born before 37 completed weeks of gestation. In 2000, premature/low birth-weight was the leading cause of neonatal mortality in the USA, accounting for 23 percent of deaths in the first month of life.

The bacteria that cause gum disease have been linked to other problems. Respiratory ailments and less successful cancer treatment may also be connected to unhealthy gums. Gum disease affects about 75 percent of American adults and is a primary cause of tooth loss.

Make an oral health appointment if you experience any of these warning signs of gum disease:

• bleeding gums when you brush, floss or eat;
• red, swollen or tender gums;
• pus between your teeth and gums when the gums are touched;
• change in the way your teeth fit together when you bite; and
• persistent bad breath or unusual taste in your mouth.

Dental professionals have recognize the link between good oral health and nutrition for a long time. The American Dental Association has recommended that children and adults limit eating and drinking between meals for years. Preference to nutritious foods identified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture should be given for meals and snacks. Good nutrition also has a significant impact on your body's immune system.

The USDA's dietary guidelines encourage consumers to limit intake of beverages and foods high in added sugars that may crowd out other healthy foods from their daily diet. The agency identifies soft drinks as a major source of added sugar.

Americans drank more than 53 gallons of soft drinks - per person- in 2000. This amount surpassed all other beverages including milk, beer, coffee and water. One of every four beverages consumed in America today is a soft drink and it is clear that all soft drinks have displaced other nutritious beverages and foods from the diet.

Did you know that some soft drinks contain as many as 11 teaspoons of sugar per serving? Increased sugar in the diet increases the risk of tooth decay. There is a positive association between sugar-containing soft drink consumption, especially heavy consumption, and risk for tooth decay according to published studies.

Most soft drinks contain phosphoric acid and citric acid. Prolonged exposure to acid can do permanent damage to teeth by producing a condition called "erosion," or the loss of hard tissues (enamel) from the tooth surface. It is widely accepted that acid in food and beverages plays a major role in the development of enamel erosion. Diet soft drinks rely on nonnutritive sweeteners instead of sugar; however, they also are acidic and may increase the risk of enamel erosion.

Foods like cheese, peanuts, lean protein, sugar-free chewing gum, and high-fiber fruits and vegetables may help protect your teeth from decay by increasing saliva flow, lowering acid levels, and cleaning your teeth of food bacteria during the chewing process. Drinking water throughout the day also will help reduce bacteria buildup and food from sticking to your teeth.

What can you do to keep your mouth healthy?

1. Brush twice a day; floss, or use another interdental cleaner once a day.

2. Limit snacking between meals; choose nutritious snacks without added sugar.

3. Schedule regular dental check-ups.

4. Eat foods with nutrients to build and maintain healthy gum disease and enhance your immune system.

5. Do not use tobacco. Ask your dentist or dental hygienist for oral cancer screening.

For more information, contact a dentist; or contact Sharon Boger, RDH, Public Health Dental Hygienist with the NC Oral Health Section serving Davie County at 751-7704, ext. 41.

Josh and Mandy Tenery announce the birth of their son, Lucas Ryan Tenery. Luke was born at 11:44 p.m. on May 30, 2005 at Forsyth Medical Center. He weighed 8 lbs. and was 22 inches long.

Maternal grandparents are Gary and Linda Groce of Advance. Maternal great-grandparents are Joe and Leona Williams of Farmington, and Wade and the late Lottie Groce, also of Farmington. Paternal grandparents are Sam and Debbie Tenery of Mocksville. Paternal great-grandparents are the Rev. Robert and Willo`deane Tenery, also of Mocksville, and the late Wilburn and Grace Couch of Elkin.

Preschool Registration Now Open

Davie County Schools Preschool Program has openings for the fall.

Hours at Central Davie Education Center will be from 7 a.m.-5 p.m. and the cost is $115 a week, which includes breakfast, lunch and snacks.

Hours at William R. Davie Elementary are from 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and the cost is $75 a week, including breakfast, lunch and a snack.

Contact Peggy Nuckolls or Pam Collins at 751-0016 for an application. There are no registration fees.

County Gets 'Set-Aside' Funds

Davie County will receive $7,504 in state set-aside funding from the Emergency Food and Shelter (EFSP) National Board.

Davie County United Way (DCUW) applied for a portion of the $157,904 funds available from EFSP in 2005.

The funds are for areas with high unemployment/poverty levels that did not meet the national board's minimum requirement, areas with targeted pockets of homelessness or poverty, areas experiencing negative economic changes such as plant closings, or areas with documented measures not ordinarily reflected in unemployment and poverty data.

The Emergency Food and Shelter Program was established on March 24, 1983, withteh signing of the "Jobs Stimulus Bill," Public Law 98-8. That legistlation created a national board chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) that consisted of representatives of American Red Cross, Catholic Charities USA, United Jewish Communities, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, The Salvation Army, and United Way of America.

Fairfield Baptist Honors Cooter Arnold

A special program to honor James "Cooter" Arnold was held on Sunday, June 5 at 4 p.m. at Fairfield Baptist Church in Mocksville.

Arnold recently graduated from Davie High School and received a football scholarship to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The members at Fairfield church hosted the event to recognize Arnold's talents and accomplishments and to wish him well in future endeavors.

Prelude music was provided by pianist Paul Ijames and the program was opened by master of ceremony, Justice Fulton, one of the primary organizers of the event. The congregation sang "What a Fellowship" as the opening song and after the scripture and prayer, the welcome was given by Betty Clement.

Raphael Hauser introduced his wife, the guest speaker, Dr. Regina Graham. The title of her message was "Make the Right Choices." Her advice to Arnold was to maintain a relationship with God, and God would bless him and help him to make the right choices.

Graham acknowledged the history that was made in Davie County with the DHS varsity football team's winning season and subsequent participation in the state championship and Cooter's key role in the team's success.

After the message, reflections were given by coaches, family members and community leaders. Former coaches Ron Bivens, Craig Michaels, and Stan Riddle gave remarks and shared memories of coaching Cooter, including his desire to play football since he was a small child. Cooter would watch the game from the sideline, anxious to play. The coaches told him to come back when he became a third grader, and the first play of his first game, he scored a touchdown.

The Rev. Willa Cummings-Reid presented Cooter with a plaque from the Davie County NAACP and she also extended words of congratulations from the Davie County Clergy Alliance.

Family members who spoke included Cooter's aunt, Shirley Easterling and his grandmother, Beatrice Clement. The service was closed with prayer by the pastor, Rev. Carvana. The church provided refreshments for everyone in the fellowship hall.

Arnold will attend football training at UNC June 22. Cards of congratula-tions can be mailed to Cooter Arnold, 134 Excalibur Lane, Mocksville.

Children's Home Donation

Summer Band Camp Scheduled

Summer Band Camp will be held July 11-15 in the Davie High School Band Room.

Rising seventh grade band students will meet from 8:30 a.m.-noon, rising eighth and ninth grade band students from 12:30-4 p.m.

The students will play band music, listen to music, draw, march and have fun. Cost is $50 per session. Rising eighth and ninth graders may take both sessions for $75.

Registration deadline is Friday, July 1. To learn more, call 751-5941 between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Registration forms are located at both middle schools, Bi-Lo, Food Lion and Wal-Mart.

DA: Sheriff's Department Conduct Not Criminal

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

District Attorney Garry Frank has cleared Sheriff Allen Whitaker and Lt. Jimmy Phipps of the Davie County Sheriff's Department of criminal charges, but stated corrective actions were necessary to fix the department's problems.

Although Frank found Phipps responsible for "inappropriate use of county property," Whitaker said he doesn't expect to hand down any disciplinary action on the 24-year veteran.

In his report, Frank found it impossible to conclude whether Phipps was in violation of the law when documenting his time card because "allegations ... that raise issues of time accountability ... is not detailed or documented with first-hand accounts".

The issue was raised because Phipps was accused of watching deer in a field while on county time.

However, Phipps testified that on that day, he and corrections officer Dale Robertson were discussing a case. He admitted to pulling over on the side of the road to show Robertson a field where he had spotted a large deer earlier in the day on his way to work.

> "This investigation does not establish a basis for criminal charges. The investigation does reveal a need for more stringent guidelines."
> - DA Garry Frank

Phipps said they stayed and watched the deer in the field for "10 or 15 minutes", then left and went to Bojangles in Mocksville for breakfast. Phipps and Robertson told investigators they continued to discuss a case, and that Phipps made several calls to his office while they were there.

Phipps signed time card for that day does not show any breaks.

Whitaker said Phipps, who he described as the third in command of the department, is given a lot of latitude when it comes to working his 160 hours a month. Whitaker described Phipps actions as "being over the day-to-day operations and the detective division, in addition to supervising the patrol shift supervisors and being the operations manager."

Whitaker said because Phipps is exempt from overtime, he is free to work the hours he chooses, and is not required to clock-in and clock-out throughout the day.

Chief Deputy Mark Howell, who collects weekly time cards, said there was no way to determine if Phipps actually worked 160 hours in a month, but that everyone was expected to be honest in their reporting of hours worked.

Frank concluded that there was no real time card for Lt. Phipps, and

Sheriff To Seek Reelection

By Mike Gunning

Despite a year of criticism, controversy, a failed lawsuit against a former deputy and a district attorney's investigation, Sheriff Allen Whitaker said he hasn't had enough of public service.

"I am definitely running again," Whitaker said. "I'm out campaigning everyday."

Blood Drive, Marrow Typing This Saturday

Help others be a survivor.

The Jake Linville Celebration of Blessings marrow typing and blood drive will be held from 10 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Saturday, June 25 at the Brock Gym, North Main Street, Mocksville.

Presenting donors will receive a free t-shirt.

Jake was dingnosed with leukemia on May 5, 2004, just hours after the birth of his little brother. Luckily, his new sibling was a perfect match and is helping save his life.

Over the past year, Jake has used more than 40 units of blood and platelets. He is recovering at home and doing great.

Each year, thousands of people like Jake are diagnosed with life-threatening blood diseases and many require marrow transplants. Often, they must rely on an unrelated donor to find a match.

Volunteer blood donors help.

To join the National Marrow Donor Program, bring a photo ID. You will have to fill out a form and give a small amount of blood from your arm. The cost of marrow typing is $65.

For more information or to schedule an appointment, call Lisa Wayda at 998-4229.

Patriotic People

Members of the First United Methodist Church of Mocksville choir - Fred Roth, Lou Ann Wilson, Gayle Kelly and Paula Harris - rehearse for a patriotic concert to be presented Sunday night. The handbell choir will also perform. For more information and photos, please turn to Page C1.

Commissioners Give Themselves A Raise

County commissioners recently passed a $75 million budget that saw virtually every department in the county have to tighten its belt and search for alternative sources to fund their programs.

Staff positions have been cut from several departments, and county bus drivers were told not to expect a raise unless the state picked up the budget shortfall.

That didn't stop county commissioners from voting an increase in money for themselves.

During a budget workshop on May 2, commissioners agreed unanimously to increase their normal salary by two percent, the same cost of living increase that all other county employees were entitled to.

However, a $49 monthly stipend for travel expenses was increased by over 300 percent, to $200 per month per commissioner.

"That money is given automatically," County Manager Terry Bralley said, "They do not have to account for that with receipts."

Commissioners receive a base salary of $3,672, with the chair receiving $5,417, as compensation for time and effort in overseeing the management of the county. That salary includes the two percent cost of living adjustment over last year.

The additional expense allowance raises their total compensation from $4,260 (base salary plus $49 a month expense allowance) to $6,072 with the expense allowance increase. The board chair will see their total compensation package increase from $6,005 to $7,817.

"It has been since 1989 that the monthly expense was increased," commissioner Tom Fleming said. "It reflects the higher cost of gas, and cell phone use, and general expenses we incur going to different functions."

Bralley said the increase will cost the county an additional $9,900.

According to the N.C. Institute for Government website, public servants are entitled to reimbursement for travel expenses to special meetings, continuing education workshops, and other necessary travel to carry out their duties.

Sheriff Needs HR Director's Expertise

Here's what we can learned from the District Attorney's report on the Davie County Sheriff's Department: These days, fighting crime isn't enough.

Sheriff Allen Whitaker needs a human resources director — someone skilled in following all the intricate personnel rules, making sure all the overtime guidelines, all the hiring procedures, all the holiday and vacation schedules and all the necessary training procedures are followed correctly.

Given the choice of adding deputies or paying for a pencil-pusher, any sheriff would prefer putting deputies on the street. These days, when there is more than one employee in a business, employers can have big-time problems when someone gets mad.

This investigation was never about effective law enforcement. That was not challenged. It was about rumor mongering and in-house bickering.

More than an investigation by the State Bureau of Investigation, the sheriff needs a personnel geek capable of waltzing through the labor relations laws to avoid the recriminations of employees who try to embarrass the department.

Both the sheriff's department and the Emergency Medical Services department had to pay employees for overtime last year that had been improperly documented — again a problem resulting from not being totally clear with labor regulations.

The more recent accusations were petty: loaning traffic cones and tables for private events, parking a county vehicle on private property, a deputy's girlfriend using a sheriff's department computer.

But petty things — manipulated by a disgruntled employee — can cause major headaches.

District Attorney Garry Frank said the sheriff needs to tighten up his personnel rules. He may also need to knock some heads together inside his detective division, where this "scandal" originated. Someone tried to shame the department and the boss. This was not a whistle blower who sent anonymous letters across the state complaining about the sheriff's department. It was a mean-spirited, backhanded attack on the integrity of the sheriff's department. Angry with Lt. Jimmy Phipps, the letter writer tried to settle a score by proxy — hoping to get Phipps indicted by the District Attorney for flimsy reasons.

It didn't happen.

For six months, the sheriff's department has had to deal with the distraction of a SBI investigation. Now cleared, Sheriff Whitaker should take the steps necessary to make sure all his employees serve this county and quit fighting among themselves.

Best Chocolate Cake Ever

The cake called me home for lunch.

It is the best chocolate cake I've ever tasted, and that includes a lot of cakes.

The baker: My 14-year-old son.

We went to the beach last week, and I read the Charlotte Observer for several days. In the cooking section was a recipe for $300 Chocolate Cake.

Thanks to 50-caliber sunblock, I didn't bring home much of a tan, but I did clip out that recipe.

Sunday night, we went to the grocery store with the list of ingredients.

Despairing of my lack of cooking and providing desserts at home, Robert has cooked several chocolate cakes this summer. Borrowing a spring-form pan from a neighbor and rushing from door to door in the neighborhood for missing ingredients, he has tackled several difficult recipes.

His only previous cooking experience was making instant macaroni in the microwave.

The first cake tasted awful. The second was okay. The third was excellent. The fourth was good. But the one this week ...

The legend behind the recipe is that somebody ate this cake in an upscale New York restaurant many years ago. She asked for the recipe. Later, she received a bill for $300.

It was money well spent.

I found flour and chocolate sauce on the floor, on the cabinets, on the counter, on the stovetop and on my shoes when I got home on Monday. Egg shells, powdered sugar and dirty pans were piled in the kitchen sink.

I was about to complain about the mess, but I tried the cake first.

After the first bite, I rolled up my sleeves and started cleaning the dishes and wiping the counters - my contribution to the finest cake ever.

Sheffield Community Cares

To the editor:

The people of the Sheffield comunity are indeed generous and caring folks. We, of the New Union United Methodist Church, would like to thank the many folks who planned and carried forth and the many more who came out in support of the recent breakfast and bake sale fundraiser for Terry Keaton. Folks of New Union UMC and Liberty Wesleyan Church worked on this project for many weeks. We were joined in those weeks of preparation by folks from other congregations and the community.

This broad community support made the actual event on June 18 a tremendous success. We thank all who shared in any way for their generosity, it speaks of a deeply caring community.

The Rev. Galen Hahn, Pastor
New Union United Methodist Church

Many Help Special Residents

To the editor:

Saturday night was Special Olympics 2nd annual awards celebration. I wanted to take this opportunity to publicly thank those who did so much to make it a special evening for a special group in our community.

Somehow I missed publicly thanking one of the sweetest, most giving human beings on this earth, Carrol Foster. He has served on the steering committee for two years and has been a major force with the help of his wife, Missy, in fundraising and sponsorships. He has been that extra set of hands at Fun Nites and practices, traveled with us to away games and SONC weekend competitions, always with a smile and a loving attitude.

Then there is Lib Banks. I know how I missed her. She was busy with Missy's help, taking pictures. Last year she took pictures of every athlete getting their award, with their family, with their teammates, with their friends, with the person across the room. For Lib that was not enough, she and Missy turned the dance room into a photo studio, made beautiful keepsake photo folders, took both instant and digital photos of everyone, with their family, etc. On top of all this, she and her husband Jerry sponsored a table.

I want to thank Terry Bralley and Christine Sanders not only for sponsoring a table each but also for giving of their time to present all of the awards, with great dignity and respect. Julia Howard, last year's presenter, was unable to attend due to a scheduling conflict, but sponsored a table and sent her love.

A special thanks goes out to a great steering committee: Ann and Danny Bailey, Barbara and Sara Ijames, Alicia Lawson, Annette and Rusty Parker, Scarlet, Jill and Denny St. Clair, and Kay Barker, who gave up their Friday evening and Saturday afternoon to get every detail set up just right, and then stayed to clean up.

Last but not least, I want to thank the great rec staff: Sandra Boyette, Megan Jordan, Chris Shepard and Keith Naylor. You were wonderful. Thanks for the support. Everyone working together makes it happen.

Kathie Streit
Special Olympics Davie Coordinator

Deputies Threaten Employee

To the editor:

Not long ago, I had to deal with an unpleasant experience with two Davie County deputies. I feel obligated to tell what happened.

On Friday, May 27, an employee at Uniform Express called the sheriff's office business number and stated that she felt threatened by another employee and would like to be accompanied during her departure from work. Two deputies arrived shortly thereafter. They did no investigative work to verify that a threat existed. Instead, they became threatening to the accused and dictated to him where he could go and not go on the property. He proclaimed "I have a right to be here." He was told by one of the deputies, "When I'm here, you don't have any rights."

I could not believe what I had been told. Law enforcement is paid with citizen taxes to guarantee rights, not take them away. Soemthing needs to be done. I have a security video of this incident.

Church Article Misleading

To the editor:

I am writing to let you know that the article that appeared in this week's paper concerning the events that have occurred at Yadkin Valley Baptist Church over the past several months is not an accurate representation of what took place. I am not going to take the time to critique every aspect of the article, but as a current member I take exception to the critical nature this article sheds on our church.

Why would an article such as this be printed without providing both parties the opportunity to respond? Is that fair and balanced journalism? I was informed that our pastor was contacted about a response by e-mail on Tuesday, which in my opinion is not enough time for a response when the article appeared in Wednesday's paper. In the article, it states something to the effect that he failed to comment. Was he given adequate time to comment?

I was also under the impression based on the editorials you printed that nothing more would be printed in your paper concerning this issue. What is your justification or reason for reneging on that statement? I am not a regular reader of your newspaper, but I am a faithful member of YVBC and based on what I have read concerning events occurring in our church, a lot of what has been written is misleading if not an outright misstatement of facts. I am not a journalist, but I would think that obtaining both sides of a story would be advisable before publishing any future articles.

Michael Carter
Advance

(Editor's Note: The Enterprise-Record made repeated unsuccessful attempts over several days to contact the church pastor and a deacon. Several months ago the newspaper did suspend letters to the editor on the Yadkin Valley Baptist issue. However, the newspaper never suspends news coverage of legitimate events. Last week's story concerned an attorney writing the church in an attempt to reinstate the ousted members.)

Sheriff Whitaker To Seek Another Term

by an independent investigation into the management of the sheriff's office, admitted that changes had to be made in his department if he was going to regain the trust of the community.

"I've been addressing policy concerns and made some changes already," Whitaker said. "We've installed a secure area for electronic devices like computers, cell phones, recording devices, cameras and we've changed our mechanisms for issuing those in and out, those sorts of things."

Whitaker said he would work to improve the morale on his staff, which he said the recent investigation led by District Attorney Garry Frank, hurt.

"Certainly, it hurt. It was a distraction," Whitaker said. "It kept us from doing our daily work and concentrating on serving the public. We had to stop, we had to be interviewed, address certain issues. Instead of being proactive and out in the community, we had to be reactive to an investigation that someone initiated through an anonymous letter."

Whitaker said the investigation opened his eyes to how he and some of his employees lacked open communication, but hoped they could quickly resolve them.

"I think all the personnel here need to realize that if there is a concern, bring it to me, or the chief, or the sergeant," Whitaker said. "They don't have to undertake an investigation on their own, they don't have to call in an anonymous letter writer and those sorts of things. If there is a concern, document it, bring it to our attention, and let us address it."

Whitaker added that with 64 employees, differences in opinion were bound to happen.

"With that many employees, you have that many different personalities," Whitaker said. "Let us come together, let us resolve them. Give me that opportunity."

Whitaker said despite anyone's perception, his office is well run.

"It's solid," Whitaker said. "The sheriff's office is being managed correctly in my opinion. Obviously we have some disagreements in policies, but I'd like to note that we have been in compliance with all county policies the entire time.

"I want the people to know that this is an ongoing process" Whitaker said.

DA Clears Sheriff's Lieutenant Of Criminal Conduct

therefor not possible to determine if Phipps "cheated" on his card, because Phipps was following a loose time card policy that was condoned by Whitaker.

Frank concluded that Phipps use of county property, particularly the personal use of a laptop computer and a NEXTEL cell phone, were allowed because Whitaker's interpretation of the county policy is broad and permissive.

"It is apparent that inappropriate activities have occurred. The statements of those interviewed by the SBI make that fact abundantly clear," Frank said in a statement. "Corrective administrative remedies were and are necessary."

Frank said he was unable to clearly determine that actions attributed to Phipps violated statute because many of Whitaker's internal policies are too loose and often not written.

In the report, Whitaker said he uses a "generic" policy regarding the use of county owned vehicles by his employees.

The report states that on Jan. 5, Whitaker told investigators he has a verbal policy that allowed his employees to conduct some personal business while on duty. Whitaker said he has granted permission for his deputies to transport family members in assigned vehicles, and that some employees, particularly command staff and detectives, are permitted to use the vehicles on trips to the grocery store, church, the YMCA and community functions.

"It would be acceptable for them to be in their county cars anytime of the day, whether at work or not, anywhere in the county or neighboring counties," Whitaker is quoted as saying in the report, "so that they would have quick access to their cars and equipment if needed."

Whitaker gave Frank a copy of the generic policy he said he followed regarding use of county owned vehicles. That policy has not been adopted by the county.

Frank found that the generic written policy differs from the policy set forth by Whitaker.

The first paragraph of the generic policy that Whitaker gave Frank states "vehicles owned by the county and assigned to the sheriff's office shall be used for official business only. North Carolina statute prohibits the use of county owned vehicles for personal reasons."

Whitaker said he still believes he is justified in allowing some personal use of the vehicles.

"We have to have that flexibility for the public's safety," Whitaker said. "There is no department in the state that requires officers to park that vehicle the moment they are off duty, especially if they are subject to be called back."

Whitaker said he has had to call detectives and other officers back on several occasions in the past.

"I have had to call people back on numerous occasions, including myself," Whitaker said. "You have to remove yourself from wherever you are and get to your vehicle. It's crucial, it's a matter of life and death."

Whitaker said he has begun reviewing the policies that Frank said were an issue.

"In the sheriff's department, there can be hundreds and hundreds of unwritten policies. Since this has become an issue, I'll go through this (Frank's) report, make some notes, and identify policies that need to be updated," Whitaker said. "I will go through my policy manual and see how I can adjust and change it to make it more appropriate, put it in writing and publish it."

The investigation stems from an anonymous letter dated Nov. 15, 2004, in which several allegations were made into activities that the author, who described him or herself as an employee of the department, claimed to have knowledge of.

Those allegations included Phipps using a county vehicle to tow his son-in-law's race car, and borrowing county property for personal use.

The author suggested Phipps allowed Sonya Hutchins, who was dating Phipps at the time, to use a county owned laptop to assist her in dental hygienist studies.

Karen Allen, Phipps administrative assistant and wife of county commissioner Michael Allen, told investigators that she had "first hand knowledge" of many of the allegations Phipps was accused of.

Allen, who collected evidence of Phipps actions and didn't report them to Whitaker, denies being the author of the letter.

Allen told investigators she knew of Hutchins' use of the computer, because she found printed materials she linked back to Hutchins on an office printer. Allen admitted to holding her own internal investigation by having her husband call a cell phone that she believed Phipps had given to Hutchins.

According to Allen's testimony, Hutchins answered the phone when her husband called. Allen said her husband had met Hutchins, and recognized her voice when she answered. Allen turned over evidence of labels that were printed on an office computer to the SBI. Those labels referenced dental hygiene activities.

Whitaker said Allen never came to him with any of her concerns or findings, and that he knew nothing about either Karen or Michael Allen's actions until the investigation by Frank began.

"The only thing she ever brought to me were more or less about personality conflicts and those sorts of things," Whitaker said. "If she had brought these allegations to me, we could have looked at each allegation at face value and took action accordingly."

Whitaker said he feels let down that his employee believed she needed to take the course of action she took.

"Certainly I would have liked to have known up front," Whitaker said. "But that was the decision she made."

Allen, who is still employed by the department, refused comment.

Commissioner Michael Allen said he got involved in the investigation because he was asked by a private resident to look into who had the cell phone. Allen said the resident was not his wife.

Allen also said he had gone to Sheriff Whitaker with undisclosed concerns in the past, and was satisfied with the way the sheriff handled his concerns. He would not comment on why he chose not to go to Whitaker when he found the phone was being used by Phipp's friend.

"I took it to the county manager," Allen said.

Bralley said he took Allen's concerns straight to the source.

"I called Sheriff Whitaker and discussed those concerns with him," Bralley said. "There were a number of issues that we discussed that turned up in the letter."

Phipps admitted to investigators that he allowed his girlfriend to use the office computers after hours, but denied she ever used the laptop for the same purpose, or that she ever used it outside of his presence. Hutchins also denied using the laptop for her homework.

Phipps admitted to asking detective Stuart Parker to help his girlfriend with some graphs she needed for her studies. According to the testimony of detective J.D. Hartman, Parker was upset about having to do the assignment ordered by Phipps.

According to the report, Phipps said his girlfriend was in possession of the county owned cell phone was because he put the cell phone in her car, "just in case he was riding with her and Sheriff Whitaker needed to contact him, and in case his cell phone battery died."

That phone, which was assigned to former detective Tony Leftwich, was collected by Phipps in February of 2004 when Leftwich left the sheriff's department to work in Iraq.

Phipps said the phone may have been left behind in his girlfriend's possession, but was not left for her personal use.

Karen Allen testified she asked Phipps for the spare phone to allow her the same level of access to the detectives, and claims Phipps told her it was in Whita-ker's possession. When Allen followed up with Whitaker, he said he didn't have it.

Detectives Parker, Hartman and Robert Trotter, as well as Allen, told investigators they heard Hutchins and Phipps having personal conversations over the walkie-talkie feature of the phones on several occasions.

Whitaker said he gave permission to Phipps to allow his girlfriend to hold the phone.

"He asked if she could hold it, I checked on if it would cost the county anything, it would not," Whitaker said. "She was using the direct connect feature, it didn't cost us a thing. It actually made Lt. Phipps more accessible."

Whitaker added he was aware that Phipps used the county equipment for personal use, and that Phipps had told him his girlfriend was using the office printer, but that the paper she used was purchased by Phipps. According to Whitaker, that was not a policy infraction, because once again, the personal use of the equipment did not cost the county any money.

Frank found that the use of the laptop, as well as use of the office computer and printer, did not constitute criminal activity, because Whitaker's policies regarding personal use of the items was "broad and permissive".

"Under the circumstances it is my opinion that this investigation does not establish a basis for criminal charges relative to these items of equipment," Frank said. "The investigation does reveal a need for more stringent guidelines and dedicated adherence to those guidelines."

County Attorney Robert Price sent Frank a copy of the county's technology use policy. That policy governs the personal use of the county's electronic property.

"As we interpret the policy, personal, nonbusiness use of county computers is allowed, if it is without cost to the county, conducted 'on the users own time', outside business hours," Price wrote. "Of course, illegal or immoral use is a violation of that policy."

Price said he believed the same policy applies to cell phone use. "While I am not aware of a written policy which governs cell telephones, our policy with respect to cell telephones is the same," Price said.

Third Rabies Case Filed

Officials with the State Laboratory of Public Health confirmed a third case of rabies in Davie County this year.

According to Barry Bass, health director, the case involved a raccoon that tested positive for the virus. The raccoon had an encounter with a dog in the Sheffield Road area. The dog that was exposed was current on its rabies vaccinations and received a booster.

There was no direct human contact with the raccoon.

"People need to be especially wary of wild animals that are behaving in a strange or unusual manner," Bass said. "No one should ever try to pet a stray or wild animal, no matter how innocent or tame it may appear".

Bass stressed the need for rabies vaccinations to be current. "It means the difference between life and death if the animal is exposed to rabies," he said. A dog or cat with current rabies vaccine would only have to have a booster if it came in contact with a rabid animal. He urges anyone who has a pet and is not sure of its vaccination status to contact the pet's veterinarian.

Should a wild animal bite a domestic animal, livestock, or human, residents are advised to keep the animal in sight and contact the Davie County Animal Control at 751-0227. Anyone having questions about rabies should contact their veterinarian or Jeff Beauchamp, R.S., Davie County Health Department at 751-8760.

Man Held For Rape And Kidnapping

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

An El Salvador man who claims residence in Mocksville is being charged with first degree kidnapping and rape after allegedly holding his former girlfriend and her children hostage overnight before releasing them last Sunday morning.

Carlos Alberto Alas, 27, of 121 Westview Ave. in Cooleemee, also faces charges of first degree burglary, larceny of a motor vehicle, and two additional counts of second degree kidnapping.

Detective Stuart Parker of the Davie County Sheriff's department said Sonya Perez and her children were held captives of Alas on Saturday when he forced himself into her home and refused to leave. Parker said Perez claimed to be afraid of Alas, and complied with his wishes to allow him to stay. Alas left early the next morning, but returned shortly after. Alas then forced Perez and her children to come with him to a location he was staying at in Iredell county.

"At some point he was threatening her that they needed to get back together," Parker said. "He also threatened her with a knife as well."

Parker said Perez claimed Alas took her and her children back to her home in Mocksville, and forced her to have sex with him. It is not known if the children, ages 7 and 10, were in the house at the time of the assault.

Alas is being held in Davie County jail on $50,000 secured bond.

Report From Raleigh

House OKs Budget

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representativves

After last week's passage of the $562 million revenue package that included two-year extensions on the half-cent sales tax and the half-percent income tax increase on the state's highest income earners, the House has passed its version of the budget.

The House budget is a $17 billion spending plan that raises more than $800 million in new revenues.

Incorporated in the budget bill passed this week is a 25-cent cigarette tax increase that would raise the tax from 5 cents to 30 cents per pack. This tax increase is expected to raise an additional $142 million during the next fiscal year. (The Senate budget included a cigarette tax increase of 35 cents per pack.)

Under the House budget, fees would be increased on vehicle registrations and titles, as well as certain drivers' license fees. The budget includes a tax credit for small businesses that provide health insurance for employees as well as credits for job incentives to the film industry.

Under the House version, most state employees and university workers would receive a flat $1,086 pay increase. Public teachers would receive an average 2.5% salary increase and community college workers would receive the better of a 2.5% or $500 increase. Community college faculty would be given an additional 2%. (The Senate budget provided a 2% raise.) The minimum state salary is raised to $20,112.

The State Employees' Health Plan is receiving $137 million in additional funds, as premiums for family coverage would increase by 15 percent. An extra $200 million is appropriated for the increasing cost of Medicaid.

In the area of education, the House budget appropriates an additional $200 million for enrollment increases at public schools, community colleges, and schools in the UNC system. Teachers would receive $100 million in bonuses as a part of the ABC's of education that rewards teachers at schools meeting certain expectations. Included for the Davie Campus of Davidson County Community College is $154,836 in funding for the recent designation as a multi-site campus. Davie Campus would also receive $39,500 to start a Truck Driver Training Program.

The House also placed $170 million in a Rainy Day Fund.

The House version of the budget was sent through the finance committee. After passing through the finance committee, the budget received a favorable report from the Appropriations Committee. The bill passed second reading late Wednesday night with a party-line vote of 63-57 and third reading early Thursday morning.

The budget bill will be sent back to the Senate, and will likely be sent to a conference committee to work out differences between the House and Senate versions.

If you would like further details on the budget, call and I'll be happy to provide you additional information.

I was pleased to meet with Michael Morton of Davie County this past Wednesday. Michael was in Raleigh on behalf of Carolina Farm Credit, and we enjoyed a good visit.

2 Hurt As Truck Crashes Into Tree On 64 West

By Jackie Seabolt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Charges are pending after two men were hospitalized following an afternoon wreck last Friday.

According to a report by N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper A.A. Justice, Christopher William Fostner of Mt. Airy was driving a 2004 Chevrolet pick-up truck east on U.S. 64 around 1:30 p.m. on June 17.

The pick-up was traveling the authorized speed limit of 55 mph at the time of the crash and there were no drugs or alcohol suspected, according to Justice's report.

Davie EMS Assistant Director Mark Hancock said Fostner's truck hit the tree head-on. "It was a horrific wreck, the truck was torn up pretty bad."

Fostner was pinned inside the pick-up and it took more than 25 minutes to get him out, according to Hancock.

Hancock said Fostner and a passenger, Matthew Lankford of Westfield, were taken to Baptist Medical Center for treatment.

The hospital reported Lankford was in good condition, but had no hospital record on Fostner at presstime.

According to Justice's report neither Fostner or Lankford were wearing their seatbelts.

July 16 Motorcycle Poker Run To Benefit Hospice

A benefit motorcycle poker run and auction in memory of Heather Revis to benefit Hospice & Palliative CareCenter will be held on July 16.

Registration for the poker run ride will begin at 9 a.m. at Sherry's: A Private Club in Clemmons. The ride begins at 11 a.m. The final card of the poker run will be drawn at Ted's Kickin' Chicken, South Main Street, Winston-Salem, with the auction to follow. Cost is $15 per rider or $25 per couple. Hospice was a favorite charity of Revis, who died on April 17 at age 25 from injuries in a traffic wreck.

The proceeds will be used to support patients and their families being cared for by Hospice & Palliative CareCenter. Hospice relies on financial contributions and fund-raising events in order to bridge the gap between the cost of providing services to people with serious illness and the amount reimbursed by Medicare or third party insurance.

Yadkin Valley Telephone Brings Home National Marketing Award

Yadkin Valley Telephone's marketing efforts received national attention when it won first place in the Complete Marketing Campaign of the National Telephone Cooperative Association's TeleChoice Awards program for its Envision Digital Video cable TV marketing campaign.

Kay W. Dunn, marketing manager, accepted the award during the Spring PRNet Conference in Scottsdale, Ariz. April 24-26.

As in past years, the competition was intense as judges reviewed entries from NTCA member systems across the nation. The brainchild of the NTCA Marketing Committee, the awards recognize excellence in telco public relations and marketing endeavors.

Entries in the Complete Marketing Campaign were judged on pre-campaign planning, quality and appropriateness of images used and overall design, quality of text throughout all the campaign materials, cohesiveness of materials, results of the campaign – how well the goals were met, cost-effectiveness of the campaign and effectiveness and appropriateness of the media and tactics used.

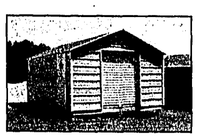

Ed Kemp Associates, an advertising agency in High Point assisted in developing the campaign.

Quiet Determination

Woman Gives Glory To God For Ability To Learn Vocation

Quiet determination, these are perhaps the two best words to describe Marybeth Saunders.

She doesn't have to jump up and down or make a lot of noise to be noticed, she doesn't feel the need to run at the head of the pack.

Quietly, in her own lady-like manner, giving all glory to God, she excels. And she excels in a vocational field that has been traditionally male dominated.

Saunders came to Lyndon B. Johnson Job Corps Center in March of 2004. She had her high school diploma so she was able to enter LJB's welding program full time.

She caught on quickly and by August 2004 her instructor, Frank Gunter, thought that she was ready for work-based learning at the Macon County Health Department.

"Work-based learning jobs are an important part of our students' education. These jobs prepare our students for the outside world as no classroom ever could and we truly appreciate the employers who are willing to be part of this program," Gunter said.

When Saunders isn't working or attending classes she stays busy. Her achievements include holding the offices of bay leader, shop foreman, student mentor, jacket leader, recreation foreman, and art/crafts aide. Her awards include Welder of the Month, LBJ Top 10 in Recreation, and the Bowling Award.

LBJ students recently had an opportunity to donate blood at Holly Spring Baptist Church, and Saunders was one of the first to sign up. She was not allowed to participate ... she hadn't waited long enough since the last time she donated.

When asked to what she contributes her success, Saunders said: "My faith in God. I also have a love for people. I would stop at nothing to make people smile and feel good about themselves."

"My son Isaiah, who is 3 years old, leaving him was the hardest thing I ever had to do, but I knew that in the long run this is what I would need to do to make sure he and I had a good life together in the future. Without the help of my mom Ruth-Ann and my sister Katie I wouldn't be able to go to Job Corps so I thank them so much."

Her family lives in Mocksville.

Saunders has completed her training at LBJ, graduated with honors, and been accepted to the Clearfield Job Corps Center in Utah for the Advanced Automotive Training Program.

The center in Franklin is home to 205 students, ages 16 – 24. This federal program offers them the chance to improve their lives and enhance their futures. For students entering without a high school diploma, LBJ offers academic training to help them receive either their high school diploma or GED, while furnishing vocational training in brick masonry, business technology, carpentry, cement masonry, culinary arts, Facilities maintenance, painting, and welding. Students arriving with their high school diploma are able to attend vocational training full time.

Linebacker Buchanan Commits To Tar Heels

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie's football team was so good last year that even its unheralded players are getting recruited.

During the 14-1 march to the state 4-A semifinals, Davie's defense limited opponents to 9.5 points a game, holding nine to seven or less. Amid all that, somehow this was overlooked by fans and media: Logan Buchanan is a big-time linebacker. Buchanan committed to North Carolina on June 14, becoming the sixth member of the Tar Heels' 2006 class. He can sign a binding national letter of intent in February.

A source reported recently that a college coach asked Davie coach Doug Illing for film on a certain kid. Illing said that's not really possible - the kid was a bit player last year.

When the fall rolls around, Illing will have 12 former players wearing college uniforms. Buchanan has added to the buzz, and yet he and several others were underappreciated on a muscle-flexing defense that revolved around D.J. Rice and his season and career records for tackles.

Buchanan

Illing

Reaching the Division I-A level doesn't happen overnight. It's just that Buchanan had to wait in line for his day in the sun.

"You didn't really hear about the juniors when you've got a lot of seniors getting recognized. The juniors are kind of underpublicized," Illing said. "A lot of D.J.'s plays were made by what people did around him, too. That's the good thing about our scheme of things - they feed off each other."

Buchanan attended a one-day camp at UNC on June 11 and received the scholarship offer two days later. Wake Forest, Maryland, South Carolina, East Carolina, James Madison and Appalachian State were seriously interested in him, but Coach John Bunting of UNC was the first to hand out an offer.

When the phone rang the night of June 13, Buchanan didn't hesitate. He's delighted to be a future Tar Heel.

"I never really was a Tar Heel fan, but ever since they started recruiting me in the winter and getting to know all of them, I really like them," said Buchanan, who will have two War Eagles as teammates in David Wooldrige and Cooter Arnold. "After visiting their campus and facilities, I kind of fell in love with Carolina. I didn't want to miss my chance by waiting to see how many offers I was going to get. This way I don't have to worry about it anymore, and I can go ahead and get on with my senior season. That's where I thought I would go anyway. Even if I did wait around for other offers, I would have ended up picking Carolina."

While other coaches expressed concerns about Buchanan's size (6-2, 205) at linebacker, the Tar Heels said Buchanan's combination of size and quickness fit their bill. He runs the 40 in 4.6 seconds.

"They had questions about his size, but Carolina saw him firsthand and went ahead and put the offer out there," Illing said. "They realized he's got good speed, good height and plays downhill with a lot of technique."

"Carolina is looking for linebackers that really have speed," Buchanan said. "They said: 'We can put the weight on you. Don't worry about that. You've got the height and the frame to put on a lot of weight.' "

Last year Buchanan was second to Rice with 119 tackles, including 12 for losses and eight sacks. He made 71 stops as a varsity sophomore.

Now Buchanan can see a future he hardly imagined just a year ago.

"I never thought I'd be Division-I material," he said. "It's hard to believe this is all happening. But I worked hard, really got my strength up and played my hardest."

"You knew he was going to grow into a big frame," Illing said. "It was a matter if he worked hard in the weight room and put up some stats."

Notes

• The 12 Davie products headed to or already playing football in college are: Patrick Lowery (N.C. State), Wooldridge (UNC), Arnold (UNC), Ted Randolph (Wake Forest), Rod Tenor (Catawba), Billy Riddle (App State), Zach Jakob (Davidson), Ryan Boehm (Coastal Carolina), Rice (Coastal Carolina), Zac O'Brien (Lenoir-Rhyne), Dustin Morgan (Winston-Salem State) and Deon Cody (Winston-Salem State). ... Raeshon McNeil, a rising senior, will push the number to 14 whenever he picks his Division I-A destination.

• Buchanan has strong bloodlines. His father played one year of football for N.C. State, and his mother "was a good athlete in college," Illing said.

• Last year, the 20 players UNC listed at linebacker averaged 227 pounds. They ranged from 203-256.

• The college hype around McNeil and Buchanan intensifies the hunger in Davie's up-and-coming players. There's tangible evidence all around to encourage them to strain, sweat and dream big.

"It pumps a lot of enthusiasm into our younger kids," Illing said. "They are energized by getting in here and lifting, getting better and creating their own opportunities. They're going to work to achieve it. If you've got enough people dreaming and working to achieve it, good things are going to happen."

Mocksville Title Hopes Fading

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

So this is what happens when a slumping team faces a streaking one. Saturday's first-place showdown matched sliding Mocksville against sizzling Kannapolis, and it only took host Kannapolis three innings to illustrate they're headed in opposite directions.

Kannapolis played like a team that believes the Southern Division championship is theirs, scoring the first nine runs, while Mocksville played like a team on weak batteries. The result was 14-5.

Mocksville (12-7, 8-5 SD), which has led the standings most of the way, lost for the fourth time in six games. By contrast, Kannapolis, which got off to a slow start because of Northwest Cabarrus' march to runnerup in the 3-A high-school playoffs, romped to its seventh straight win.

At the end of the night, Stanly County and Kannapolis were tied for first at 9-4, while Mocksville and Rowan County were tied for second at 8-5. Mocksville played three games in two days earlier in the week to try to salvage a first-place tie.

"Kannapolis is the best team on paper. No doubt about it," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "They can hit."

Mocksville had an undefeated pitcher on the mound (4-0 Andrew McClannon) in what was supposed to be another heart-pounder in a race that has been full of memorable drama. But Kannapolis didn't get the message, scoring two in the second inning, two in the third and five in the fourth.

Down 9-0, Mocksville was in a state of shock and despair.

It was Mocksville's fifth game in five days and McClannon's second straight start on three days' rest. He got a no-decision the time before, an 8-7 win over Stanly. This time it didn't work out well.

"I know what it's like. It's tough (pitching on three days' rest)," Lovelace, who pitched at Charlotte, said. "He's gone 100 pitches in both of them. So I've got to be careful with him because we've got to have him ready for next week."

Mocksville revived hope with a five-run fifth. Zach Vogler's infield hit loaded the bases, and Lance Emert's single put Mocksville on the board. Dan Poindexter doubled in a pair and Dusty Snow followed with a two-run single that chased Blake Ketner, a Catawba-bound pitcher who needed 95 pitches to get 12 outs.

Ketner was unbeatable in his last outing, striking out 11 in a complete-game 1-hitter against Stanly. He only struck out one against Mocksville, but it didn't matter because of the overwhelming offensive support he got .

Hodges' Relief Backs Poindexter's 4 RBIs

At least Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace doesn't have to worry about his Legion baseball team giving up. It is far from finished despite some roster upheaval and three losses in four games. It bounced back from two straight defeats with an 11-7 win at Lexington on June 17.

Mocksville owed this one to Matt Hutchens - who started in right field for the second time since the loss of Corey Martin, who left the team after starting 14 games - and Foo Smith, who moved from outfield to catcher with Wesley Douglas, a two-year starter at catcher, not in uniform.

Mocksville got two hits and a huge catch from Hutchens and two hits and solid play behind the plate from Smith, who hadn't put on the "tools of stupidity" since the high-school season.

Then, there was Spencer Hodges, who preserved the win with four scoreless relief innings.

The win lifted Mocksville into a three-way tie for first in the wild and wacky Southern Division. Mocksville, Kannapolis and Stanly County were all 8-4, and Rowan County (8-5) made it a four-way tie in the win column.

"Hutchens was tremendous in right field," Lovelace said. "He should have gone 3 for 4, but the second baseman laid out and stabbed it. He hit three balls

Mocksville Cruises For 7, Loses In 11

Pitcher John McDaniel was enjoying an exceptional performance and Mocksville's Legion baseball team was in marvelous shape on June 16 at Stanly County.

Ahead 5-1 after seven innings, Mocksville appeared poised to maintain a slim lead in the Southern Division. But then came the bottom of the eighth, when the game turned on Mocksville like a monster in a Stephen King novel. Stanly rose from the dead with four runs to tie the game, it manufactured a tying run in the ninth and it prevailed in the 11th, 7-6.

Five days earlier, Mocksville was winners in eight of nine. After losing for the third time in four games and creating maybe the tightest race of all time, the night left four teams within a half-game of each other - Stanly at 8-4, Mocksville and Kannapolis at 7-4 and Rowan County at 8-5.

If Mocksville (11-6 overall) winds up missing the division title, it won't forget what might have been.

"McDaniel was cruising along for seven innings," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "He was tough. He was getting ahead. ... We just couldn't seal the deal."

Earlier in the week at Rich Park, Mocksville stung Stanly 8-7 on Andrew McClannon's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth.

In the fifth, Dusty Snow lifted Mocksville to a 4-1 lead with a two-run blast over the center-field fence. Both his homers have come against Stanly.

Mocksville increased the lead to 5-1 in the seventh, and McDaniel had Stanly completely befuddled. He retired 12 batters in a row and faced one over the minimum between the third and seventh. He was on track for a 4-1 record.

The eighth, however, wrecked McDaniel's tremendous night. Stanly's four-run uprising started with a disputed pitch to the No. 8 batter. McDaniel's fullcount fastball was called ball four, and Lovelace wasn't happy about it.

David Mills New Rec Athletic Director

Mills

If you haven't heard of David Mills, you will. He's the new athletic director of the Mocksville-Davie Parks and Recreation Department. He's the successor to Joe Boyette, who held the position for 21 years before leaving May 11 to become director of the Yadkin County Recreation Department.

Mills has been called upon to continue the strong program that Boyette left. Though it's a formidable task, Mills could not be more ready.

"I've got a great feel for everything from small children to collegiate students up to adults," Mills, 25, said. "So I've got a variety of talents that probably make it easy to adjust to a town like Mocksville.

"I'm very excited. Obviously I'm filling some big shoes. I welcome that and I'm just ready to get going."

Mills is a New York native who moved to Raleigh in the second grade. He grew up in Raleigh loving soccer and baseball. He reminisced about his playing days, playing football for the first time as a 1996-97 Wake Forest-Rolesville senior and making the all-conference team at kicker. The 6-3, 230-pounder was an all-conference tennis player as well.

Mills went to N.C. State, earning degrees in parks & recreation and tourism, with a concentration in sports management.

He appears to have solid credentials for Mocksville-Davie AD. The past two years he worked at the YMCA and in the N.C. State Athletic Department, his chores ranging from budget management to game-day operations.

"I made an appointment with (N.C. State's) Senior Athletic Director and told him I'd like to explore collegiate athletics, and he got me teamed up with Justin Gainey, a former basketball player," Mills said. "I helped run the NCAA (Basketball) Tournament at the RBC Center in the first and second rounds. I handled the track facilities, budgeting for them and renovations that are being made to their facility.

"I really thought collegiate athletics was the place to be. After time I came to a realization that there's a difference between dealing with alumni and athletes and being community-based. I hate to see my free tickets go to N.C. State football and basketball games, but ...

"I have some connections. I understand Davie's got a great wrestling team. I know a lot of the coaches really well and a lot of directors at N.C. State. So whatever I can do to help ... You never know. If I know there's talent, maybe we can get a coach down here and get some guys some opportunities."

Mills, who is single, is a bundle of energy who can't get enough of sports. He maintains a youthful exuberance. He's already latched onto First Baptist's church softball team, and he can give tennis lessons. He's been a firefighter for nine-plus years, and "I'll probably be looking to get in the fire department in Mocksville," said Mills, who is in his third week on the job. "I can already tell I'm going to be happy here in a small town on the outskirts of a big town. That's the way I like it."

Mike Garner, the 26-year director of the Mocksville-Davie Rec who evaluated 20-plus candidates, was captivated by Mills' enthusiasm.

"I'm excited to have a young man like David that is well-rounded, and his maturity was one of the main differences in the other candidates," Garner said. "We had some good candidates, but I think David can come in and bring some new energy and new ideas to the department. That is exciting. Even though Joe had been with us 21 years and he does have big shoes to fill, I think David can come in and do a good job for us."

Mills said he is somebody who will do whatever it takes to keep the leagues growing.

"I've studied leisure and recreation," he said. "In this field it's the public and participants. It's your time and your free time. You're choosing to do this, so I take that very seriously to not only evaluate what programs we're providing, but really bring my 'A' game each time I come to work or participate myself. I'm going to hopefully get involved with some teams here, if I have time for it. Any free time I have I want to spend it on the field playing. It's my passion.

"I have umpired and refereed everything from adult basketball leagues to youth basketball and softball. Being both a player and umpire, the more you know from every aspect of it.

"Every person in recreation is going to have somewhat of their own philosophy of how they'd like to see things run. I really want to get the feel for how things were done and look at maybe bringing in some new programs that maybe haven't been introduced in Mocksville. I'm a people person. I want to get involved with the public and talk to people. It's always an open-door policy with me. I'll always take emails and surveys and do my research, develop something that people can say, 'Hey, this guy's for real,' and take pride and comfort in knowing we're going to have a good athletic and recreation program here."

Old School

Davie Sports From June, 1968

• Roger Dale Myers, a four-year football starter for Coach Jack Ward's Davie Rebels, signed a grant-in-aid to play football for Lees-McRae. The 5-11, 190-pounder started on offense and defense as a Davie freshman, and he started at fullback, defensive end and linebacker his last three years.

Myers signed with a Lees-McRae team that only lost one game in '67, to Northeastern Oklahoma in the Junior College Athletic Association national championship.

• Cooleemee's Little League baseball team scored five late runs to beat Mocksville 9-3. The top hitters for Cooleemee were Jerry Howard, Ron Bivins, Jeff Jordan, Ricky "Doober" Glass and Sid Nail. For Mocksville, David Dwiggins was 2 for 2 and Randy McDaniel 2 for 3.

Dan Desnoyers led the way in hitting and pitching as Farmington toppled Mocksville 4-1. Allen McDaniel and Billy Clark had the two hits for Mocksville.

Registration Open For Four Sports Camps

SPACE VS FEATURES IN NEW HOMES

When today's homebuyers are given the choice of more space or higher quality features in their new home, they will usually opt for better features, according to a recent survey. When asked to choose between a bigger house with few amenities or a smaller house with high quality products and amenities, 63 percent chose the latter.

To pay for those quality features, 57 percent said they preferred to include them in the base price of the home, while 43 percent wanted them to be offered as options at extra cost. While homes do not appear to be getting bigger, they are definitely getting better. There's a marked increase in quality, with updated features and amenities, the survey report noted. Surveyed households indicated enthusiasm for just about every upscale feature available, but became more realistic in their views when they were asked to choose among alternatives.

The top features homeowners want in the kitchen are a walk-in pantry, island work area, special use storage, and built-in microwave. More than a third of respondents wanted their kitchens visually open to the family room, with a half wall. About 34 percent wanted the kitchen to be completely open. The top bathroom features included a linen closet, an exhaust fan, and a separate shower enclosure.

Coach Mike Lovelace (20) congratulates Zach Vogler (7) after leaping the fence and robbing a three-run homer.

Kannapolis Knocks Locals Out Of First

After cutting Kannapolis' huge lead to 9-5, Mocksville only managed one hit against two relievers.

Vogler made two amazing plays in center field. If he doesn't rob a home run from Garrett Sherrill in the second and take away a triple from Eddie Boger in the fourth, it would have been real ugly.

"He saved six runs," Lovelace said. "He made the play of the year when he robbed a home run a foot or two above the fence. He ran straight into the fence full blast. He made another catch on the dead run."

If that's not enough, Vogler went 2 for 3 and reached base four times, shooting his average to .390.

Poindexter (.461) extended his tear with a single, double, walk and two RBIs. A second double was erased by a full-extension grab by Kannapolis' left fielder. It came with two on and no outs in the seventh and Mocksville threatening to turn an 11-5 score into 11-7.

That signaled Mocksville's last gasp. It wound up not scoring any in the seventh, while Kannapolis padded the lead in the bottom half.

Notes: Kannapolis has won the last two Area III titles. ... In his first Legion pitching appearance, Matt Hutchens faced four batters in a hitless ninth. "He throws hard," Lovelace said. "He was a surprise to me. I may have found another arm." ... Kannapolis outhit Mocksville 18-7.

Legion Blows Late Lead

"The umpire started squeezing a little bit," he said.

Two doubles and two singles later, it was 5-5. The game remained an adventure in the next three innings.

Mocksville regained a 6-5 lead in the ninth. Foo Smith singled, Brad Corriher laid down a sac bunt and David Boyles produced a RBI hit.

Controversy involved Stanly's No. 8 batter again when he led off the last of the ninth with a hit by pitch from reliever Dusty Snow. He came around to score after a sac bunt and single.

"The ball hasn't hit him yet," Lovelace said. "The ump said it grazed his pants. The batter didn't move. He didn't do anything."

Snow walked to lead off Mocksville's 11th. Smith reached when nobody covered first on his bunt. Corriher moved both of them with a bunt, and Stanly intentionally walked Boyles to load the bases.

With only one out, Mocksville was tantalizingly close to knocking Stanly off its feet. But it grounded the first pitch into a 1-2-3 double play.

In an ominous beginning to Stanly's 11th, the No. 8 batter, who was as irritating as a telemarketer, led off with another hit by pitch. Then Mocksville kicked a two-hopper and Snow drilled a batter in the helmet on an 0-2 pitch, loading the bases with one out. The next guy blooped a single up the middle, ending the game.

It was a bizarre and excruciating turn of events.

"We had our chances," Lovelace said. "They battled back, we battled out of a jam in the 10th and we had opportunities in the ninth and 11th. We let it get away from us.

"The top of the 11th was the big blow. We executed everything perfectly and they got out of it."

Where does Mocksville go from here? "We can do one of two things," Lovelace said. "Fold the tents or pull together."

Notes: Poindexter, Smith and Boyles were all 2 for 4. Poindexter and Smith added two walks each. ... Smith has a team-high 16 walks/HPBs to go with a .308 average. ... The night before, Stanly overcame a 3-0 deficit to beat Rowan 5-4 in 10 innings.

Notes & Quotes

Vogler Average Soars Over 12-Game Stretch

• When Zach Vogler went 2 for 5 in a 12-11 win at Mooresville on May 31, we didn't know a star was being born, did we? Since then Vogler has ridden a torrid surge. Going into Monday's home game with first-place Kannapolis, the leadoff batter had hit safely in 11 of 12 games. His average over that span was .463 (25 for 54).

• That Lexington chopped a 7-0 Mocksville lead to 9-7 before losing 11-7 seemed appropriate. Through 18 games, the average margin was Mocksville 8, opponents 7.

• The Davie guys - Vogler, Lance Emert, Foo Smith and Brad Corriher - hit a combined .306 for Davie's 10-14 team. That's good, but not great.

They have blossomed against Legion pitching, combining for .350.

Vogler hit .313 for Davie and was hitting .380 for Mocksville going into Monday. Smith hit .224 for Davie and was .311 for Mocksville. Corriher hit .276 for Davie and was .352 for Mocksville. And Emert hit .395 for Davie and was .362 for Mocksville.

• During Mocksville's 9-2 run that ended with an 8-7 home win over Stanly County, Lovelace watched in amazement as hits kept coming from everywhere.

To that point, Vogler had hit in seven of eight games, Smith in six of seven and Dan Poindexter in 13 of 14. David Boyles hit safely for the eighth time in nine games, while Andrew McClannon, Dusty Snow and Corriher extended their streaks to four, five and six games, respectively.

• After beating Stanly 8-7 on McClannon's two-run hit in the ninth, Mocksville was 7-2 in the Southern Division for the first time since 1994 and 11-4 overall for the first time since 1997.

The giddy euphoria from that day is gone. After leading or sharing the lead in the division from day one through June 17, Mocksville entered the final three games one game out of first. If it doesn't recover to grab a share of the title, Mocksville's last SD glory will remain 1993.

Vogler Earns High Praise In Lopsided Defeat

Poindexter

Vogler

There's no doubt the Mocksville Legion baseball team has had a terrific season. But the second awful loss in three games, 12-3 to visiting Mooresville on June 15, dampened spirits and created some doubts about whether Mocksville can hold on to first place.

After winning six in a row, Mocksville has kept everyone guessing. It won 10-7 at Rowan County before losing the next day to Rowan 17-5. It pulled out an 8-7 thriller over Stanly County, but one night after taking that huge step it got bullied by Mooresville.

Coach Mike Lovelace was puzzled as to how Mocksville (11-5, 7-3 Southern Division) could knock around Stanly's Andy Helms, the freshman pitcher of the year from Belmont Abbey's conference, but couldn't take down a distinctly lesser arm in Mooresville lefthander Aubrey Meadows.

Mocksville's lead in the wide-open division was reduced to a half-game. When all the June 15 games checked in, there was an amazing five-way tie for first in the win column, with Kannapolis and Stanly at 7-4, Rowan County at 7-5 and Mooresville at 7-6.

"We have a hard time adjusting," he said. "We have guys that really step it up and focus more against a better pitcher. Now people are starting to throw something slower. We struggled with the guy from Concord, and tried to jerk everything instead of staying within ourselves."

Mocksville led 3-2 after three innings, but the rest of the game demonstrated that the nine-team SD can smack you in the teeth just one day after handing you roses. Mooresville outscored Mocksville 10-0 in the last six innings.

Mooresville got three home runs from three players. Cleanup man Geoffrey Ballard went deep in the second, and No. 2 batter Matt Marshall connected in the fifth. Luckily for Mocksville, those were solo shots. The third homer was the knockout punch, a grand slam by No. 5 batter Matt Skidmore in the seventh.

Mocksville was very much alive in the seventh, trailing 4-3. But it threw away a potential double-play ball to put runners at second and third with no outs. After Lovelace ordered an intentional walk, one swing drastically changed the game - the Skidmore grand slam that made it 8-3. The question then was whether Mocksville could bounce back from this ugly loss the way it did after unraveling 17-5 to Rowan.

While Lovelace was sending out all 15 players in the late stages, Marshall was carving Mocksville up in four relief innings (one hit, seven strikeouts).

AT LEAST Lovelace had the satisfaction of watching Zach Vogler go 3 for 5 with a home run and Dan Poindexter go 2 for 2 and reach base five times.

The coach loves the way Vogler approaches the game. The leadoff man and center fielder has displayed enough talent to lead or share the lead in stolen bases and homers; rank second in triples, runs and hits; third in RBIs, doubles and average (.382); and hit safely in eight of nine games. But he thrives on heart and desire, playing every night as if his postgame hot dog depends on it.

After driving a Meadows offering over the left-field wall in the first, Vogler beat out an infield single. Then with the count 0-2, he got the only hit off Marshall, a sharp stroke to right field.

"He went to left field and then to right, and that's when you know you've got the concept of what to do as a hitter," Lovelace said. "He took some extra swings after batting practice and worked on the fundamentals and the mental approach of hitting. He's here an hour before (time to arrive) to try to get a little better. Whenever he hits it, he always tries for second base. He always goes 110 percent. Anytime you have that type of work ethic, all that work's going to pay off at some point.

"We've been fortunate to have a player that works as hard as he does, and hopefully it'll carry over to the rest of the guys."

Poindexter's two-run single in the third turned a deficit into a 3-2 lead. He was hit by a pitch twice and also walked. Remarkably, he leads Mocksville in eight offensive categories, including a .460 average, and he's second in walks/hit by pitches.

"They tried to pitch around him," Lovelace said.

Notes: Brandon Johnson gave up four runs in five innings, not a bad showing for a guy who had never pitched in Senior Legion. He had two strikeouts in a 1-2-3 first and fanned two with two on to escape the second at 1-1. "He kept us in the game against a good-hitting team," Lovelace said. "He kept the ball in the infield and made some quality pitches." ... Mocksville is 2-2 against Mooresville.

9th-Inning Hit Keeps Mocksville In First

McClannon

Snow

When you have repeated comebacks and all kinds of individual superlatives bunched together with a myriad of emotion, there's often an epic game. Mocksville and visiting Stanly County treated fans at Rich Park to a crucial affair that had it all - incredible drama, back-and-forth electricity and extremely high tension.

Mocksville American Legion baseball coach Mike Lovelace has seen numerous dramatic games both as a player and a seven-year head coach, but he hadn't coached in anything quite like Mocksville's 8-7 win on June 14. Not only did it strengthen Mocksville's grip on first place, it's the kind of win that championship runs are built upon.

While Dusty Snow went 4 for 5 with two doubles and a home run, Andrew McClannon knocked in two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning, beating the conference freshman of the year from Belmont Abbey College in pitcher Andy Helms and lifting Mocksville (11-4 overall) to 7-2 in the Southern Division. Rowan County and Kannapolis were tied for second at 7-4, and Stanly slipped to 6-4.

"This was a classic game," Lovelace said. "Their were warnings from the umpires on pitchers throwing at people. They stopped the game; it was that intense. We got thrown out at the plate, and we scored on a balk. It was a playoff atmosphere.

"This may have been the biggest (win of my coaching career), especially being down one against a freshman-of-the-year pitcher."

Mocksville scored in four innings against Helms, who went 8 1/3, and each rally was aided by Snow, who started a three-run second with a towering solo homer to left.

"He hit it down to the creek," Lovelace said.

Count the heroes:

• Snow is a fourth-year pitcher who hadn't been known as a dangerous hitter. He was 2 for 12 from 2002-04, and the homer was his first in 31 Legion at-bats. But he was smoking-hot for West Forsyth High, hitting .562 in the conference and .468 overall with six dingers, and his rise in Legion has been dramatic.

The four-hit masterpiece elevated him from .333 to .435 through 23 trips. After opening the scoring, he doubled in a two-run sixth, singled in a one-run, game-tying seventh and doubled and scored the winning run in the ninth.

"Dusty was amazing," Lovelace said. "He has absolutely turned it around. He's gone from not batting to being our No. 4 hitter. He's there to protect Dan (Poindexter). How fitting that he scored the winning run."

"It's been awesome to get that chance and show what I can do," Snow said.

• Lovelace chose to start McClannon on the mound and use Poindexter in relief, and the unbeaten McClannon (4-0) validated the decision with yet another impressive showing. He confounded Stanly for five innings, pitching much better than his final stats showed.

"He got tired (in the sixth)," Lovelace said. "But man, he was on again on three days' rest. I went back to him in the biggest game of the year because he's been our go-to guy and I knew I had Poindexter waiting."

• Not to be outdone, Lance Emert was 0 for 3 before coming through with singles in the seventh and ninth.

• And Corey Martin made his one hit count, a two-out, two-run single in the sixth for a 5-4 lead.

"We got 11 hits off Helms, and that's his first loss," Lovelace said. "I think they held him back a game for us. He's not overpowering, but he's good. He struck Poindexter out three times on sliders. That's how good his stuff was."

Stanly countered Mocksville's 3-1 lead with three runs in the sixth. That was only a preview of lead changes to come.

In the bottom of the sixth, Martin delivered his two-run single. Stanly didn't flinch, scoring two in the seventh. Mocksville kept the drama going in its half of the seventh, tying the game at 6-6. Stanly wasn't through, using two infield hits to take a 7-6 lead in the ninth.

In the bottom of the ninth, Emert started the most exciting win in memory with a single. One out later, Snow, a lefthanded pitcher who bats from the right, jerked a 2-2 pitch down the left-field line for a double. With runners at second and third, Stanly intentionally walked Foo Smith to face McClannon, who "looked bad" while striking out in his first at-bat of the game in the seventh.

With fans hanging on every pitch and the participants dangling between ecstacy and agony, McClannon fell behind one ball, two strikes. Then he drilled an opposite-field shot over short, plating the tying and game-winning runs.

"Everybody went crazy," Lovelace said. "It was an amazing finish."

"My heart was pumping and my adrenaline was going hard," Snow said. "I was wanting to win that game bad."

The finish made a winner out of Poindexter, who went 2 1/3 in relief to give him a 1-0 record with two saves. McClannon said the magnitude of the moment was matched only by a conference championship-clinching win over North Davidson when he was a quarterback for Davie football in 2003.

"The first time, (Helms) threw me a fastball chest high on the outside part, and he struck me out," McClannon said. "It worked pretty good, so I figured he would go to it again. Lovelace told me to choke up and put it the other way.

"At dinner tonight me and my parents were wondering when was the last time Mocksville had sole possession of first place. That's a huge win for us. Fans shouldn't have gotten short-changed on tickets tonight."

Notes: Poindexter slipped from .474 to .443. ... Helms hit four batters. Douglas took two of them. "In the eighth he got hit on a 3-0 pitch," Lovelace said. ... Snow is headed to Lenoir-Rhyne, where he'll join Poindexter and Emert. "He got a good amount (of scholarship money)," Lovelace said.

Mocksville In Title Hunt

right on the nose, which is a big lift for us. He hadn't been in the outfield but one game, and he looked like a natural.

"Smith did everything and more we asked. He blocked everything. For him to go back there and us not miss a beat was a big positive."

Dusty Snow paced a 19-hit attack by going 4 for 6. Zach Vogler and Lance Emert were 3 for 5. Dan Poindexter had two hits and four RBIs. And Brad Corriher was the other multi-hit performer, going 2 for 3 with two walks and his third sacrifice in two games.

Mocksville hit Lexington like thunder in the first two innings, building a 7-0 lead. Back-to-back singles by Vogler and Emert ignited the first-inning outburst, and Poindexter's two-run single fueled the momentum in the second.

Lexington's starter only recorded three outs.

Sometimes you've got to be lucky. Lovelace couldn't help but laugh at Snow's four-hit game, which hiked his average from .367 to .417.

"He didn't hit a ball that didn't take eight hops," he said. "They just had eyes. It was unbelievable."

Four RBIs on two hits was vintage Poindexter, who has been so hot that his average slipped to .458. He has three homers and 28 RBIs in 18 games. After knocking in two in the three-run second, he homered with Emert aboard in the sixth, pushing Mocksville's lead to 9-3.

"It didn't get out by a lot, but it was smashed," Lovelace said of the 2-iron homer. "If it would have hit the fence, it may have knocked it down."

Mocksville had to weather a raging Lexington storm before sailing to just its fourth win in the last eight games. Lexington hit a three-run homer off Poindexter, who improved to 2-0 despite giving up seven runs on nine hits, in a four-run sixth that sliced the margin to 9-7.

Spencer Hodges bailed Mocksville out when it was ready to collapse. The third-year, spot-duty pitcher relieved Poindexter after the three-run homer and foiled Lexington's comeback.

Hodges came through just in time. He entered with a 7.71 ERA in 9 1/3 innings, but thrived in adverse situations to lower it to 5.40.

He hit a batter with his second pitch, then loaded the bases with another hit batter. The game would have been tied if not for a stellar catch by Hutchens, who charged in to grab the pitching wedge and keep things at 9-7.

"He came out of nowhere to make the catch," Lovelace said.

Hodges worked a perfect seventh. But he allowed a single and a four-pitch walk to open the eighth. A 6-4-3 double play by Emert and David Boyles got him out of that tight spot. The lefty allowed a leadoff walk in the ninth.

Pretty it wasn't, but when you're fighting for your championship lives, style points hardly matter.

"He'd get in the stretch and then get them out," Lovelace said. "When he keeps the ball down, people have a hard time adjusting to his offspeed. His hat flies to the side and they get out on the front foot.

"This is how he was last year. When they cut it to 9-7, we couldn't have had a bigger lift."

Notes: Corriher moved to second in RBIs (18). ... In back-to-back starts, Hutchens' average has risen 42 points to .242.

Brogdon And Clinard Pitch Jr. Legion To Division Wins

Mocksville's Junior Legion baseball team is 7-3 in the Southern Division, and give plenty of credit to the pitchers.

Chris Brogdon went the distance and carried Mocksville to a 3-2 win over visiting Southwest Randolph, and Cameron Clinard gave Mocksville another strong pitching performance in a 6-1 win over South Rowan Sunday at Rich Park.

Sandwiched in between was a doubleheader loss to visiting Pineville. But that 0-2 swing didn't count in the division standings.

Mocksville's offense did just enough to back Brogdon in the 3-2 win over SW Randolph.

"The umpire was giving the low strike, and Brogdon's one of the smartest pitchers I've been around," assistant coach Andrew Jones said. "He knows what the umpire's going to call. He's been one of the most consistent pitchers on the team, if not the most consistent."

Clinard stymied South Rowan 6-1. He scattered four hits in five innings in a game that was called after five because of rain. The game, however, was official by the time the bottom fell out of the sky.

Brogdon

Colby Seaford and Justin Thompson fueled the offense. Both went 2 for 3, with Thompson homering.

Mocksville (9-9 overall) even drew praise in its two non-league losses to Pineville, which bonsts 10 players who played varsity ball in high school.

"They have a really good team, one of the best we've faced," Jones said. "They had varsity players at every position basically, and we were right there with them for two games."

In the 8-4 game one, one of Thompson's two hits tied the game at 2-2, a two-run triple that slammed off the top of the fence in center.

Tucker Piner hurled two scoreless innings in relief in the second game, a 6-2 loss. But four errors did Mocksville in.

Notes: Mocksville's downfall has been hitting. Fortunately for Mocksville, opponents on average haven't done much with pitchers Seaford, Tom Kuell, Brogdon, Clinard and Bryan King. The average score through 18 games was Mocksville 5.5, opponents 5.2. One of the reasons why Mocksville hasn't scored more than six runs in eight games is the injury to Zach Howard (ankle). Mocksville is 4-3 in his absence. "We hit BP two hours before the game and keep on hitting, hitting and hitting," Jones said. "I enjoy all the strategies, but I'd like a blowout every once in a while. Howard was our hot bat and our three man in the order. Take that out and we're struggling."

Sheds & More At Sheds Unlimited

Quality of work and customer satisfaction are just a couple of the things that set Sheds Unlimited apart from other competitors.

Over 10 years ago when Jimmy Boettcher, a Davie County native, fell on the job and injured his knee, he decided that the time was right to do something on his own.

"I already had one bad knee and when I had the accident at work, I just thought that this would be a good opportunity to venture out on my own," he explains.

Quality sheds, garages and carports available

Ten years later, Sheds Unlimited is full-blown success story – selling all types of quality buildings from wood and aluminum to garages and carports. The sheds are pre-built and the garages and carports are built on-site.

"The sheds are built with the same quality and craftsmanship as a house," he mentions with pride. "We use 3 1/4" plywood floors and Tamko shingles which have a 25-year warranty. We also give a one- year warranty on the total building."

The sheds are quoted by the square foot. If the customer desires any extras, they are added at cost.

Jimmy comments that the A-roofs are the most popular and most requested style shed but quickly adds that he can build any style the customer wants.

Sheds Unlimited provides a 'turn-key' service. They bring the shed to your home free of charge, furnish blocks for leveling and set it up for use right away.

Full line of campers also available as of July 1

Starting July 1st, Sheds Unlimited is expanding it's business and will be adding a full line of campers.

"We will have around 18-20 campers on site for people to come by and take a look at. We will carry Maxlite, Pilgrim, Camp Master, Monaco and Open Road just to name a few,"Jimmy comments.

They will also have a full-service department for each customer's convenience.

Mini custom scooters, ATVs, auto detailing available too

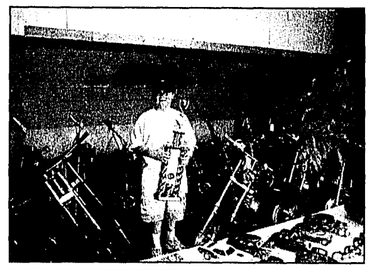

They also have a dealership of mini custom scooters and ATV's on the property.

For the summer only, they have added a detail shop operated by Pam Hedrick. She will be washing, waxing and cleaning cars, pickup trucks and motorcycles right there on the premises.

Located In Mocksville

Sheds Unlimited is located at 1668 Highway 64 West in Mocksville beside the BP gas station. It's on exit 168 off of I-40. The hours are Monday-Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Jimmy can be reached at (336) 492-5418.

Go by and visit Jimmy and see all that he has to offer at Sheds Unlimited.

Oak Valley Orcas Win Two Meets

Oak Valley claimed two wins last week - boosting its hopes for a first league championship.

The Orcas topped Old Town 550-344 at home and defeated Forsyth Country Club 478-421 in Winston-Salem.

The team swims against the Davie Devil Rays this week and will resume a rain-delayed competition against defending champion Sherwood.

"This was an exciting week," Coach Brent Gaither said. "Last year, Old Town jumped up and bit us, and this year we win by over 200 points. That turn around is impressive."

The going was much harder against in the second meet.

"Forsyth Country Club has a lot of year-round swimmers. We were fortunate to beat them last year, and we were able to slip away this time. We were in control, but it was a nail-biter at the end," Gaither said.

The action is no less serious this week.

"We hope to get some momentum going into the city meet and get ready to face Brookwood," he said.

This weekend, Oak Valley will send nearly 60 swimmers to the annual Greater Winston-Salem Swimming Championship — a competition drawing all the best swimmers from pools in the area.

Gaither is hoping to make a big showing there, building on the Orcas' emerging status as a powerful swimming pool.

"It's amazing to see the city meet rankings. In almost every race we've got someone in the top 10. In the past, we banked on two or three kids. Now we have a kid in every age group that we can count on, and we have relay teams across the board."

The Davie Devilrays — the former Hickory Hill team — had been a big rivalry in Oak Valley's first seasons. Since losing its host pool, many of the top Hickory Hill swimmers have switched to Oak Valley, making this meet almost a family reunion.

The Sherwood meet, however, will be all serious. The meet was suspended with the score almost tied at 120-121. Sherwood has not lost in two years.

Gaither said the Orcas would like to post its first win over Sherwood. "They see us now as a threat in the league, and they take us much more seriously. I like the way our team comes together at the meet and the young kids cheering on the older kids."

Davie Devil Rays Work Hard, Enjoy First 4 Swim Meets

Jeff Mighion is head coach for the Davie Devil Rays swim team, assisted by Christy Sparks and Allison Mackintosh.

The team has had four meets at Forsyth Country Club, Brookwood, Willow Run and Clemmons West.

"The team is working hard and enjoying swimming," Mighion said.

Weekly "Can-Do" swimmers are: Josh Lankford for the week of May 23, Caitlin Tutterow for the week of May 30, Kaitlin Fletcher for the week of June 6, and Johnson Marklin for the week of June 13.

Swimmers of the Week for May 23: 6 and under, Victoria Sinopoli, Brandon Lankford; 10 and under, Tanner Junker, Annalee Tutterow; 11 & up, James Ray, Madison Junker.

Swimmers of the Week for May 30: 6 & under, Sydney Beauchamp, Heath Slabach; 10 & under, Jacob Lambert, Tatum Edwards; 11 & up, Joel Shuler, Amanda McCoy.

Swimmers of the Week for June 6: 6 & under, Lloyd Junker; 10 & under, Louis Patrick Mu, Anna McBride; 11 & up, Shelby Wallace, Rachel Mackintosh.

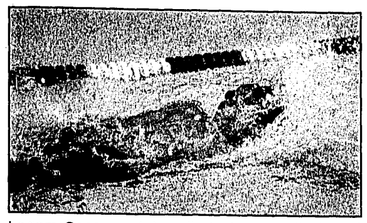

Swimmers of the Week of June 13: 6 & under, Emma Slabach, Daniel Turner; 10 & under, Paige Berryhill, Nick Sinopoli; 11 & up, James Mighion, Laura Vanhoy.

Evan Dowell pulls out a first place in the breaststroke.

Bermuda Run Swimmers Getting Stronger

Bermuda Run hosted a home meet against Jonestown pool last Tuesday.

It was a close meet and Bermuda Run had several swimmers who placed well in races, but ultimately Jonestown won. Thunder in the area de-layed the meet, but the storm passed without incident. About halfway through, the skies opened up and poured rain, but it didn't deter the swimmers or the parents.

"Our swimmers are getting stronger and faster with each meet," said Coach Christin Howard. "We have some excellent swimmers on our team as well as a really good group of younger kids. They're all eager to get in the water and do their best. We have a very dedicated team."

The Barracudas next meet will be against Peacehaven pool. "That meet will be a huge challenge for us" said Howard. "They are a much bigger team than we are, but we're looking forward to the competition. We have a lot of confidence and a lot of heart. Our swimmers will do their best and that's all I ask of them."

Here are the first place winners for the Barracudas:

MA Brewer, Karen Price and Amy Basham take part in a rehearsal.

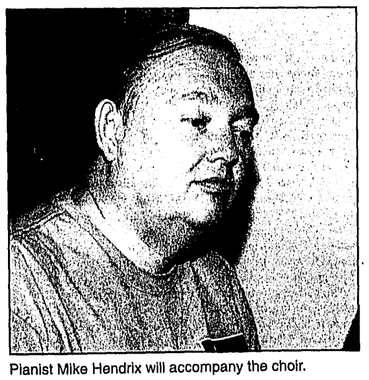

Lou Ann Wilson, Teresa Deal and Janet Taylor concentrate on hitting the right notes.

Pianist Mike Hendrix will accompany the choir.

Patriotic Concert Sunday

First United Methodist Church of Mocksville will be decked out in red, white and blue on Sunday evening.

And the sounds that come from the sanctuary of the church will be patriotic as the chancel choir and handbell choir present an all-American concert.

The concert begins at 7 p.m., and the public is invited.

Mrs. Steve Gilliland

Cloer-Gilliland Couple Married In Pennsylvania

Diane Cloer of Advance and Steve Gilliland of Pittsburgh, Pa. were married on Saturday, June 11 at Whitestown Road Baptist Church in Butler, Pa. at 3:30 p.m.

The Rev. Butch Sherrill of Bethlehem United Methodist Church in Advance officiated.

The bride is the daughter of the late Williame Rohde and Rita Rohde of Clemmons. She has been a flight attendant for US Airways for 21 years. She is the financial secretary for Bethlehem United Methodist Church and an independent distributor for Premier Designs jewelry.

The groom is the son of the late Gilliland of Butler, Pa. and Patricia and Dave Wise of Portersville, Pa. He is the CEO and founder of Performance Plus Professional Development, Inc., a Pittsburgh-based company that was recently recognized as one of the 100 fastest growing privately held companies in Pittsburgh. He is an author and motivational speaker.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her sons, Adam and Alex Cloer of Advance.

Joy Cunningham of Advance was the maid of honor.

Todd Crissman of Kittaning, Pa. was the best man. The ushers were the bride's and groom's sons, Stephen Gilliland and Josh Gilliland of Kittaning Pa. and Adam Cloer and Alex Cloer of Advance.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall following the ceremony.

The couple will live in Advance.

Mrs. Alan Ray Ewing

Delaney-Ewing Couple Married

Tracy Leigh Delaney of Advance and Alan Ray Ewing of Greensboro were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 11 at Clemmons Moravian Church. The Rev. Ray Burke officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Charles and Becky Delaney of Advance. She is employed by the BB&T Funds Management Group in Winston-Salem.

The groom is the son of James and Janice Ewing of Reidsville. He is the international operations manager at Service by Air in Greensboro.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless neckline and corset back gown that featured a layered asymmetrical effect on the bodice. Created from Mikado silk, the gown was embellished with Swarovski crystals, bugle beads, seed beads, sequins and glass beads.

The bride selected her sister, Susan Sparks, as her matron of honor. The groom's father, James Ewing, was the best man. Ushers were the groom's uncles, Larry Jones and Steve Jones.

Jerry Jones was the organist and accompanied were the solos of Melissa Alphin and James Ewing.

Betty Lou McCauley was the wedding director.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Crystal Ballroom at the Village Inn Golf and Conference Center.

After a honeymoon to Cancun, Mexico, the couple will make their home in Advance.

Mrs. David Brian Pilcher

Foster-Pilcher Couple Married At Cody Creek

Stephanie Lee Ann Foster and David Brian Pilcher, both of Mocksville, were united in marriage at noon on Saturday, June 4 at Cody Creek Chapel in Dobson. The Rev. John Brown officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Foster of Mocksville. Her paternal grandfather is Glenn Foster of Mocksville.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pilcher of Winston-Salem. His paternal grandmother is Catherine Pilcher of Winston-Salem. The groom works for A+ Communications.

The hour was chimed by ringing of the church bells. The chapel doors were hung with two heart wreaths in memory of the bridal couples' grandparents: Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fulk, Mrs. Doris Foster, Mr. John S. Pilcher Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eastman.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a candlelight gown of silk-satin faced organza featuring a strapless bodice and princess skirt. The gown was embellished with pearl and crystal beading at the bodice and hemline and had a chapel-length train.

Her headpiece was a crystal beaded tiara, attached with a fingertip-length veil of candlelight tulle.

She carried a fresh bouquet of Eskimo roses, bowardia, freesia and limoneum, which were handtied with a silver organdy ribbon.

The maid of honor was Hannah Brown, the bride's daughter, of Mocksville. The bridesmaids were Tracie Patella, the bride's sister of Winston-Salem and Mary Ann Medford of Mocksville.

The flower girls were Madelyn Patella, niece of the bride, and Regan Pilcher, niece of the groom.

The best man was Matthew Pilcher, the groom's son of Mocksville. Groomsmen were John Pilcher, father of the groom of Winston-Salem, and Bradley Medford of Mocksville.

The ring bearers was Chase Melton.

During the ceremony, the bridal couple, the couple's children and their parents participated in the Unity Candle lighting ceremony. At the conclusion, both children were presented with special family medallions from their parents.

Chasity Stevens of Lexington, Ky. read a poem titled, "Heaven Sent."

Music was provided by Brandon Green of Hickory. Sheila Tutterow of Mocksville was the wedding coordinator.

The guest register attendants were Megan Medford and Gracie Medford. The program attendant was Brandon Medford.

Rehearsal Dinner

A rehearsal dinner was June 3 at The Depot at Cody Creek.

Reception

The bride's parents hosted a reception following the wedding at The Depot at Cody Creek.

Guests were seated at tables covered in white linen cloths and centered with vases of purple roses, limoneum and tree fern. Messages were written to the bride and groom on a matted photograph of the bridal couple held on a brass easel.

The buffet table was covered with white linen and draped with lavender organdy. A variety of vases of fresh roses, sunflowers, bells of Ireland, stock, and alstromeria were placed over all of the tables. Accents of pink, lime green and purple were used.

A buffet of hors d' ouevres were served featuring carved brown sugar ham, fresh strawberries, skewered tortellini and ravida with marinara sauce, grilled mesquite chicken and pepper kebobs, a variety of summer canapes, lemon squares, walnut cookies, antipasto platter, cheese display with homemade chips and breads. Beverages included sparkling blackberry spritzer and peach tea.

The bridal table was covered with a white linen cloth and draped with lavender organdy ribbons and lace. It held a four-tiered white wedding cake flanked with crystal candleholders and crystal votives.

The all-white iced cake was designed with diamond designs and featured flavors including vanilla cream, blackberry wine and red velvet. Fresh bouquets of miniature pink and purple roses, and myrtle diagonally decorated the cake.

Upon cutting the first slice of cake, the groom unveiled the bridal portrait.

At the completion of the reception, the couple departed through a shower of bubbles, by limousine. They went on a wedding trip to Punta Cana, Dominican Republic. They live at 156 Maple Tree Lane, Mocksville.

Showers

• A lingerie shower was given by Mary Ann Medford at The Village House, Clemmons, on May 21.

• A miscellaneous bridal shower was given by Tracie Patella and Felicia Riddle at Courtney Baptist Church Family Life Center on May 22.

Saleeby-Mauney Engagement Announced

Eli N. Saleeby Jr. and Gay L. Saleeby of Washington, N.C. announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwendolyn Leggett Saleeby, to Jonathan Wallace Mauney of Wilmington. He is the son of Steve and Lynda Mauney of Advance and is a 1998 graduate of Davie High School.

A Caribbean wedding is planned for July 30 in St. Lucia.

Duane Kalie Completes US Navy Basic Training

Navy Seaman Apprentice Duane C. Kalie, son of Rebecca L. and stepson of James M. Sekula of Advance, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Kalie completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations". This exercise gives recruits the skills and confidence they need to succeed in the fleet. "Battle Stations" is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of honor, courage and commitment. Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

Kalie is a 2004 graduate of Davie High School, Mocksville.

Haley Brook Jones, daughter of Mark and Amy Jones, celebrated her 3rd birthday on June 11th.

Her celebration included a trip to Chuckie Cheese on the 10th, with her parents, brother Steven, sister Christine & friend Zach and also her special friend, Aubrey.

On Saturday the 11th, she had a pool party at her aunt Annette and uncle Denny (Boger's) house with guests in addition to her family, grandmother Peggy Jones, Barry Jr. & Norma Jones, Stacie Boger & Zach. She enjoyed hotdogs & a Pokeman cake.

Thanks to all of you for Haley's gifts and for making her birthday so special.

Senior Can Play Board Games

Rollins Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary

In celebration of 50 years of marriage, Harold and Shirley Rollins were treated to some quality time with their children and grandchildren.

All kinds of ideas were bantered around as what to do and where to go. It ranged from a nice cruise to what happens in Vegas stays in Vegas. The only guidelines were "no nuts, colored mints, chicken salad or pimento cheese finger sandwiches, or fruity punch."

A house at Hilton Head was rented for the family to have a private get-away. The house would have slept 12, but only 8 were invited.

"That's the way mom and dad wanted it," said son, Loyd Rollins. "We spent time on the beach, time at the pool, time watching movies, and of course eating, but with none of the aforementioned foods as part of the fare."

There were pictures taken and memories shared with loads of smiles and laughter which made the time fly by. The five days seemed like five hours, he said.

"This is much like the time mom and dad have spent together, 50 years going by like five all with loads of smiles and laughter thrown in. We can't leave out the tears, though. Neither can we forget the accidents or the sickness, the lean times or the fat times. Mom and dad have taken their marriage vows seriously, thus being marvelous examples for us as their children to follow. They place their faith in Christ and their trust in each other and never has there been a time where either has let them down."

Their children are Loyd and Martha Rollins, Richard and Gaye (Rollins) Orsini, and their grandchildren are Ann Orsini and Lorri Jones.

Harold and Shirley Rollins celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at Hilton Head with their children and grandchildren.

Reunion Sunday

Descendants of John and Catherine Gough, Sam and Barbara Hoots, Frank and Polly Hoots, Jasper J. and Maude Hoots, Abe and Martha Wishon, Rhone and Louise Harpe, Lee and Mary Harriet Allgoode, L.N. Groce and Amanda Groce, Henry W. Hoots and Mary Atwood - the descendants of John and Emily Adeline Gough Hoots - are invited to a memorial service at Deep Creek Baptist Church June 26 at 2:30 p.m.

After the service, the family cemetery may be visited.

Emily Adeline Gough Hoots was born in 1816. She married John Hoots in 1835. In the next 20 years, she gave birth to 11 children. She died at the age of 45. Before her death, she asked to be buried under an apple tree at the old homeplace.

When her oldest son, Enos, died, a cemetery was started near their home. When her husband John died, he was buried there. Six unmarked graves may contain some of her children who died at an early age.

A memorial marker has been erected in the cemetery bearing the names of Emily Adeline, her husband John and their 11 children.

Society Baptist Church will begin Vacation Bible School with a pizza kick-off supper at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 26. The theme is "Rambling Road Trip: Which Way Do I Go?" Regular classes for 3-year olds through adults will be 7-9 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, June 27-29, and will feature Bible study, crafts, games, and refreshments. Family night will be Thursday featuring a commencement and worship rally followed by a cookout. All residents are invited.

Vacation Bible School at Salem United Methodist Church will be held 7-9 p.m. July 13-15.

Clarksbury United Methodist Church will host a barbecue chicken dinner from 11:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Thursday, June 23, at the fellowship hall on Hwy 901. Plates will consist of barbecue chicken, beans, slaw, roll and dessert and will be sold for $7 per plate. Take-out orders will be available. Upon request, plates will be delivered for orders of five or more. Proceeds will benefit the medical needs of Starr Simmeran who needs a liver transplant. For further information or to place an order, call Ann Cline at 704-546-7321 or Louann Jones at 704-546-2510.

Saint Matthew's Lutheran Church Homecoming will be Sunday, June 26. "Dinner on the grounds" will be at 1 p.m. Bring a picnic basket full of good food and lots of memories to share. Renew old friendships and enjoy an afternoon of family fun.

Bobby and Shirley Prather Lewis of Stroud Mill Road will be honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, June 25, with a reception from 2-4 p.m. at the fellowship hall of Clarksbury United Methodist Church. The couple's daughters and their families will host the event and invite friends and relatives to join them.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Harvey Beck of Clarksbury. Harvey passed away last week at Davis Regional Medical Center after a lengthy illness. He resided with his wife Mildred on Reavis Road and was a dedicated family man and member of Clarksbury United Methodist Church.

Joel Cartner is recuperating at home.

Join us as we pray for the Lord's blessings and healing in the lives of Joel and the Beck Family.

In the article on the "Ketchie Connection," Arthur Smoot was incorrectly identified as Arthur Smith. I apologize for the error.

This week we hope you enjoy some photos of early couples in County Line who where married by the Rev. W.F. Ketchie. Perhaps you are old enough to remember their living here or in some cases just hearing about them or knowing their descendants. As always, much appreciation is given to those who shared their treasured old photos.

Richard "Rich" and Jane Owings Gaither were married by the Rev. Ketchie on Aug. 26, 1886, as witnessed by J.J. Starrette, Elizabeth Starrette, and John A. Cartner. They settled on the Owings farm on US-64 West and reared their children, Maggie, Art and Clara. Years later, on June 20, 1907, daughter Maggie and Charles Thorne were also married by the Rev. Ketchie was witnessed by J.H. Elam, J.A. Gaither, and Miss D.B. Owings. Charles and Maggie last lived on Ridge Road and reared their sons, Foster, Mark and Bruce.

Karate International came to the Farmington Community Center Friday, June 10. Instructor Wayne Joyner was there to give demonstrations and answer questions. He illustrated one of his classes called Stranger Danger and gave tips on how to get free of someone who is trying to hold you against your will. Joyner is looking to begin classes at the center once there are enough participants to sign up. The classes will be once a week from 6-7 p.m. The cost will be $35 a month and will be for ages 6 and up. Joyner is able to work with all levels at the same time. Along with the demonstration, Larry Holbrook and Tim Ballard with the Farmington Ruritan Club cooked some great hot dogs. Anyone wishing to sign up for karate classes or have questions may contact Joyner at 945-5063 or 416-9782.

The Farmington Community Center will be having there 2nd Annual Farmington Fun Day on July 2, from 11-3. There will be music, food, games,cake walk, a raffle, and more. Come out and enjoy time with friends and neighbors. If you are a member of a bluegrass or gospel group and would like to help, give me a call at 998-0825.

The Farmington Volunteer Fire Dept. will meet June 21 at7 p.m. They are involved in an emergency vehicle drivers class through the end of the month.

Father's Day was observed at the Methodist church Sunday prior to worship service. Devotional booklets were given to each father by the church.

Richard Roberts, assistant pastor, had charge of the worship service Sunday. It was his last Sunday with us since he has been appointed minister of Mt. Olive church on Wyo Road.

Pam Roberts Karr and husband Eric Karr and their 5 month old son Ian Karr of Greensboro were visitors at the Methodist church Sunday, coming to hear her father Richard preach and also for Fathers's Day.

Mona Potts has been battling kidney stones since the first of June and has been hospitalized twice for removal. First a stint was inserted for a short period, then removed on the second hospitalization. Mona reports she is feeling better.

Chris Farley and son Brian Farley of Arlington, Va. arrived Friday evening for dinner, and to spend the night with Edith Zimmerman. They left Saturday morning to drive to Pinehurst to attend the 2005 U.S. Open Golf Tournment. They spent Saturday and Sunday at Pinehurst.

Get well wishes go out to Morgan Mock who was seriously injured in an auto accident on Cherry Hill Road, and is hospialized at a Winston-Salem hospital.

Jeanette Cornatzer and Edith Zimmerman visited Pete Cornatzer Sunday afternoon at Whitaker Care Rehab in Winston-Salem. Other visitors were Clinton Cornatzer, wife Bonnie and son Brooks. A speedy recovery is wished for Pete.

We want to thank everyone who has helped make the breakfast at Wesley Chapel UMC a success for the last year. Thanks to the workers, Joan Barsdale, Nora Latham, Marie Miller, Dewilla Smith, Betty West, Toby Hawkins, Pete, Madelyn and Andrea Gentry, Ted Williams, Bob and Kathy Ellis, Vernon Dull, Clyde and Virginia Murray, Toni Horton, Sara Eure, Nancy Collette, Marlene Trivette, Janice James, Martha Warner and Pastor Tommy Robertson. We extend many, many thanks to all those who attend each month. There will not be another one until Sept. 17.

Frankie Hackett was guest speaker at Wesley Chapel on Sunday while Pastor Tommy Robertson was on vacation. There was a short Father's Day program presented by Kathy Ellis. The oldest father was Gene Miller, the youngest father was Patrick Miller and the father with the most children present was Gene Miller, who gave his second gift to Vernon Dull for having his daughter, Tina Gobble, with him. Every father present was given a gift bag of fruit, nuts and candy.

Congratulations to Ted and Mindy Williams on the birth of their son, Robert Jackson (Jack), born Wednesday, June 8. He weighed 6 lbs. 5.8 oz.

Fran and Megan Craver, Louise Dill and Nora Latham visited Louise and Nora's sister-in-law, Helen Latham, in Monroe last week. Cousins Helen Jane McCaskill of Fort Washington, Md. and Lorna Price of Monroe came to visit also.

Audra and Glenn Raus of Charleston, S.C. came to visit her parents, Jim and Chinera Latham, for Father's Day. Saturday night they had dinner at their home with Kendra and Jim Jacobs and Nora Latham also attending.

Marie Miller celebrated her birthday on Wednesday, June 15 with a dinner at her home hosted by her daughters-in-law, Kathy Miller and Nancy Miller.

Their son and daughter-in-law, Neal and Brenda Essic, and their grandson and family, David, and Sadie Essic treated James and Lelia Essic to lunch for Father's Day.

Ellen Tutterow celebrated her 9th birthday with a party at her home on Monday night hosted by her parents, Ted and Mindy Williams. Those present were her step-sisters, Laura Bishop and Carrie Williams, and her nephew, Ben. Also present was her new little brother, Jack.

The family of Terry Keaton would like to thank everyone who participated in the benefit breakfast for him last Saturday. The show of support was overwhelming, as the community center was packed the entire morning with people from all areas of the county and even as far away as King and Greensboro.

Sheffield area residents, known for their compassion and generosity, were out in full force, as well. Terry, who remains a patient at UNC-CH Hospital, has six siblings, as well as his father, J.W. Keaton living in the Sheffield area. Brothers include Johnny, Jimmy, and Charlie Keaton, and sisters are Barbara Gobble, Maxine Edwards, and Becky Hill. Terry's wife is the former Tenita Prevette.

New Union Methodist Church was the sponsor of the event, and their wonderful cooks prepared a breakfast that would rival any professional restaurant. Volunteers had also baked pies, cakes, cookies and all sorts of other tempting items which sold quickly. A little light-hearted competition developed between New Union Church's Pastor Galen Hahn and Liberty Wesleyan Church's Pastor Scott Newton over their baking skills. A silent auction was held for each preacher's cake. I would say that both could be declared winners. At the end of the morning, Randy Groce held an impromptu auction for the remaining few baked goods. Good spirited bidding quickly developed among Tammy Beck, Sandra Dyson, and Junior Reeves over a persimmon pudding. That gave me a good idea about where to market the persimmons from my trees later this fall.

The sample tapestry throw commemorating New Union Church's 225th anniversary was on display at the community center during the breakfast. Presale orders will end June 30. Contact Brenda Bailey at 751-7567 to place an order.

Engaged couple Andy Drye and Brandi Beck started their day at the benefit breakfast, but Andy had no idea how busy his day would become. Since his 21st birthday is Wednesday, June 22, he may have not suspected that Brandi planned to celebrate a little early. With the help of friends who knew about the plot, Brandi pulled off a surprise party Saturday night that really got Andy's attention. Helping Brandi were her father, David Beck and his wife, Tammy, who hosted the party at their home. Brandi's friend, Jaclyn Barney, who attended with her fiance', Justin Baker, was also one of the planners.

Father's Day turned out to be cool with much needed rain, but unfortunately also came with several thunderstorms. We were able to finish our cookout and our homemade ice cream before the first storm struck. As is often the case in such weather, several accidents occurred on I-40, so many firefighters, emergency medical technicians, and law enforcement personnel spent much of the day rendering aid to the victims. Whether they are paid professionals or trained volunteers, all of them deserve our thanks for being there when we need them.

Ann Richardson graciously informed me that she sends our news column each week to a former Sheffield resident who lives in Florida. I appreciate everyone's feedback and comments. Please continue to send your news to me at 492-5836 or to my email address, jvfjordan@hotmail.com.

Welcome to Kenny and Margie Stone. They moved into Kinderton Village on Bridgewater Drive last week. Kenny and Margie are Kena Bowman's parents. Kena and Robert live on Old Towne Drive.

Bill Saunders has a new bicycle. His grandkids will have a great time riding with him. They will be saying, "Slow down, Grandpa!"

Sharon and Jere Dailey went to Lancaster, S.C. for a glider ride on Friday, soaring at 3,000 feet above the earth. They enjoyed the beautiful views of the green earth and the quietness of an airborne ride.

Saturday, Jere went to Kernersville, where he took a seminar on becoming part of he actors and entertainers clients. This will give him the opportunity to be in a TV commercial or TV show. Wish him good luck.

The flowers are really filling out with all this good rain we have been getting.

Kinderton is excited to see Davin and Megan Brown's new furniture store being built in our business section. When all is complete, it will be just a short bike ride in the tunnel under the interstate and you will be there.

Many fathers had cookouts last week and enjoyed time with their family. You could smell the grills all over Kinderton. Yum, yum.

Guitarist Colin Fullerton, grandson of Bermuda Village resident Caroline Fullerton, gave an outstanding concert last Wednesday evening. He captivated the audience with beautiful melodies and with anecdotes of the composers and songs.

Colin began studying, at the age of 6, with Patrick Lui at Winston-Salem's Community Music School. For the past year and a half he has been under the tutelage of Chuck Mounger and will begin studying with Joseph Pecoraro at the North Carolina School of the Arts in the fall of 2005.

He has won two regional competitions and was runner up in 2004 and 2005 in division III of Columbus State. Local appearances include solos and duets in student recitals including: three "Honors" performances at the Stevens Center, the Apple and Irish festivals at Bethabara Park, three times as an opener for the Piedmont Guitar Orchestra, the grand opening of the Old Salem Toy Museum and three solo performances for the participants at the Senior Services Center.

Colin opened his first set with Canarios written by Gaspar Sanz (1640-1710) and other classical pieces including Autumn Theme, which was written by Colin himself. The second set contained a variety of non-classical music including; bluegrass, traditional Irish, and some "acid rock" with Led Zepplin's Stairway to Heaven.

The residents of Bermuda Village look forward to Colin's encore performance as he continues his studies at the North Carolina School of the Arts.

Cedar Rock goes to the BEACH!

Friday June 10th the staff and residents of Cedar Rock Assisted Living celebrated "Beach Days". We had a great time, even if we weren't really there. Our dining room was decked out with sand buckets, beach balls, and sun glasses. Our dietary department planned a meal of beach inspired foods, and the best part was we didn't get sand in our ice cream! Our special guests were Diane and Rick Snider, who came and shagged for us! They are great dancers and we enjoyed their visit so much. Thanks Diane and Rick. Later that afternoon, we took a break and watched a beach movie. It was almost as good as being there!

Anyone can look at the thermometer or just go outside to see how hot and humid it is becoming.

Now that summer is officially here, the last thing on your mind is having to go into a hot kitchen and fire up the oven and stove for a big home cooked meal. Summer salads of all types can be made with little cooking or none at all. The vast varieties of salads can appeal to the young as well as the young at heart. Chocked full of vitamins, minerals and proteins salads can be an interesting alternative to a heavy meal.

When most people think of salads they generally conjure up visions in their minds of iceberg lettuce and tomatoes and cucumbers dripping in dressings on a plate at the beginning of a meal.

This just is not the case anymore.

The beloved salads as we know them have moved to other venues such as bean, meat, vegetable, fruit and gelatin salads and they can be made into side dishes, main courses and desserts.

One of my favorite salads growing up was a simple pineapple salad my mother made. I would always save it as my dessert. She would take lettuce leaves and place them on a plate, place two or three pineapple slices on the lettuce leaves, spoon a small dollop of mayonnaise in the middle of the pineapple slices and place sharp shredded cheddar cheese on top of all of this. I still love this salad to this day. I now make a version of it using pear halves for my husband.

With the huge variety of lettuce, beans, meats, vegetables (fresh, frozen or canned), and fruits in the market place, it is hard not to able to come up with some variety of salad to please even the pickiest of eaters.

Once you have the salad figured out, now comes the real dilemma, what dressing? Do I use bottled dressing or do I make my own?

It is up to your own taste and whether or not you want to take the time. But, with the abundance of flavored oils, vinegars and fresh and dried herbs out there, it goes without saying fresh is always better.

Fresh oil and vinegar dressing are easy to make. Begin with a half-cup of your choice of oil such as canola, vegetable, or olive oil then add a small amount of vinegar such as red wine vinegar, cider vinegar or a good balsamic.

This is your base; now you can add the fresh or dried herbs like dill, oregano, poppy seeds, mustard seeds, parsley, basil, minced garlic and more. Use your imagination and your tastes buds to determine what works best for you.

If you prefer more creamy dressing like Thousand Island for French, these too can be made rather simply at home. Thousand Island dressing can be made from a combination of mayonnaise, chili powder, onion powder, pickle relish and a little ketchup.

Bean Salad
Robin's version
Bean salad

1 – (14.5 oz can) green beans
1 – (14.5 oz can) wax beans
1 – (15 oz can) light red kidney beans
1 – (15.5 oz can) northern beans
2/3 cup sliced red onion
2/3 cup sliced green pepper
2/3 cup sliced red pepper
1/2 cup sliced celery
Dressing
1/3 cup canola oil
3 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon celery seed
1/8 teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
1 teaspoon fresh dill

Place beans, onion, peppers and celery in medium bowl, mix well.

Place dressing ingredients in a jar with a lid and shake well. Pour dressing mixture over beans and toss lightly. Chill for one hour.

Mixed Fruit Salad with Honey Yogurt Dressing
By Carolyn Brown
Fruit
2 cups cantaloupe cubed
2 cups honeydew cubed
2 cups strawberries, hulled and halved
1 cup green seedless grapes
1 cup fresh blueberries
Dressing
1 and 1/2 cups vanilla yogurt
1/3 cup honey
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 tablespoon grated orange rind.

Place all fruits in a large glass bowl that has a lid.

Place the dressing ingredients in a small bowl and mix well. Pour the dressing over the fruit just before serving. This can be garnished with a cup of slivered almonds.

Seven Layer Salad
Robin's version
Note: You can use the already grilled chicken strips or breasts in your grocer's meat case as a short cut.

1 small head lettuce shredded
1/2 head red cabbage shredded
4 or 5 grilled chicken breasts cut into strips
1 (14.5 oz can) sweet yellow corn drained well
1 and 1/2 cups diced tomatoes
1 (8 oz) container of sour cream
2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese

In a large glass bowl layer ingredients in order listed. Chill for one hour and serve. (You can also serve this with sliced black olives and your favorite salsa.)

Tips and Hints

• When cooking pasta for use in salads, remember to salt the water after it has come to a boil, add pasta along with a tablespoon of vegetable or olive oil. When pasta tests done, drain well and rinse with cold water.

• When preparing greens for salads, wash them and drain them well on paper towels. Nobody wants a watery salad. Tear the greens instead of cutting them, it keeps them from bruising.

• If you are adding diced tomatoes to a green salad, place the diced tomatoes on a paper towel to drain before adding to the salad. This also helps to prevent dressing from becoming watery.

Thank you for the notes and emails, and keep them coming, I love hearing from the readers. rdlideas@traid.rr.com or P. O. Box 693 Lewisville, 27023.

Rotary Celebrates 60th Year With Former Members

It didn't take long for Graham Madison to notice the changes at the Mocksville Rotary Club.

The president, Joan Carter, is a woman. Women members dotted the packed room at last week's luncheon meeting.

Madison, who will be 101 on Aug. 4, likes the change. He said Rotary is still about good food, music and fellowship - and most of all - service above self.

Madison was one of many special guests last week as the club celebrated its 60th anniversary. He spoke, as did Rocky Johnson, Sun Trust CEO and a former Rotarian.

Other former members of the club were invited for what was called "Remember the Members."

Madison said he joined the Mocksville club in 1949 after moving here from Cooleemee, where he was a member of the Lions Club. "Here, the Rotary was the prominent club," he said. He was president of the Mocksville club in 1953, the same year he was Master of the local Masonic Lodge.

Madison remembers supporting Boy Scouts and planting magnolia trees throughout town.

He also remembered running the first stop light ever installed in Charlotte.

Johnson remembers buying his first share of stock from Cecil Morris, the sale of which helped provide funding for the current Rotary building. He remembers going to Rotary meetings when he was a Boy Scout, and going to all sorts of events at the Rotary building.

Rotary impacted his life through the people he met, Johnson said, people such as George and Lester Martin, Dr. Seagle, Oren Heffner, Bob Hall, Graham Madison and others.

Other past members also shared memories.

• Bobby Jones, 1988-2002, was invited by Rocky Johnson and was president in 1992-93.

• Judge Jimmy Myers remembers being a member of the first Interact Club in 1968. He gave recognition to Jeff Wells for starting that group. Interact is Rotary affiliated group at the high school level.

• Alan Martin joined Rotary in 1959 in Plymouth, the Mocksville club in 1973.

• Lester Martin joined in 1956 due to an invitation by Claude Horn.

• Vernon Johnson was invited by Bob Potter and was a member from 1975-1980.

• Wayne Eaton joined in 1953 due to an invitation by Graham Madison.

• Jack Pennington joined in 1951 or 1952. His father-in-law was the first president and he donated the lot upon which the Rotary Hut stands. Pennington was president in 1969.

• Jim Stockert was a member from 1989-1996 and was secretary-treasurer when Bobby Jones was president.

• Former schools superintendent, Jim Everidge, was a member from 1964-1981.

• Beth Humphrey was a member in the late 80s through the early 90s due to the invitation of Helen Gantt.

• Oren Heffner was comical in his recollection of his time in Rotary. "I joined in 19 something, was president in 19 something and left the club in 19 something."

• Ann Dyson served as secretary for years. She was the third woman to join Rotary and was invited by Eric Ennis. She worked for many years before being installed during Ralph Greco's tenure as president.

• Frank Bahnson didn't remember the exact years he was in Rotary, but the memories of the fellowship and friendships he made will remain always, he said.

• Other guests included: Dick Jarvis from Bank of the Carolinas, former Clemmons Rotarian; Charlie Scharnaglee, who was visiting from the Vennenburg Village Rotary Club inn California; and Bill Junker, who is on leave from the club but wanted to take part in the celebration.

Will Dwiggins welcomes 100-year-old Graham Madison back to the Mocksville Rotary Club.

Bill Junker, Joe Harris, Rocky Johnson, Van Lankford, Jack Pennington and Dr. F.W. Slate enjoy a laugh at the Rotary meeting.

Davie Schools Celebrate Successful Year

By Wendy Horne
Special to the Enterprise

The Davie County School System experienced a number of successes throughout the 2004-05 school year. In an effort to share these successes with the community, the following summary has been prepared.

• Davie Schools accepted a challenge grant from the Mebane Charitable Foundation. The challenge was to raise $1.5 million in private funds over a 12-month period and the reward was a match of $750,000 for technology and preschool advancements. The community rallied around the cause and met the goal one day prior to the campaign deadline.

To date, nearly $1.6 million has been raised.

• William Ellis, a Davie native, donated 41.41 acres of land off N.C. 801 in Advance to the Davie County Board of Education. Plans are under way to build a new middle school on the property.

• The board of education continued the Character Education Awards Program, which promotes student development in and out of the classroom, for the second year in a row. The board recognized more than 100 students from within the system with awards for successful character development.

• The board of education continued its A+ Awards program, which recognizes employees of the system for professional accomplishments - 14 were recognized and presented with the DCS A+ Award pin.

• Mocksville, Pinebrook and Shady Grove elementary schools and North Davie Middle School were recognized as "Honor Schools of Excellence". This designation is North Carolina's top recognition for student performance in the ABC's of Public Education testing program.

• William R. Davie students, faculty, and staff participated in the Polar Express Reading Challenge to read as many books as possible with the intent of raising money for struggling schools to receive books and other resources. During October and November, random announcements were made throughout the school day to "Drop Everything And Read"—this was signaled by a train whistle over the intercom. In the end, 357 students at WRD recorded more than 6,200 books read during the first 22 days of October. Students were rewarded by a private showing of the Polar Express on Nov. 6 at the Wyndsong Movie Theatre Complex in Winston-Salem.

• Eagle Academy students from Davie High School were recognized by the State Board of Education for their academic success. Eagle Academy is an on-campus, academic program designed for 9th graders identified as at-risk for dropping out. During 2004-05, 72 students were enrolled in the program and all advanced to the 10th grade.

• Pinebrook and Shady Grove elementary schools opened new building additions - made possible through the bond approved by voters in 2003.

• Employees at Cornatzer Elementary were active in the county wellness program. Their participation earned them the status of being one of the top 10 State Wellness Programs.

• William R. Davie Elementary moved into a new building in early April.

• Mocksville Elementary received four first place awards at the 2004-05 Public School Math IV Championship.

• Twenty-three retirees were honored at the annual retirement dinner hosted by Davie County Schools.

• Cooleemee teacher, Janet Jones, received a $2,000 reading grant from the Community Foundation of Davie County to be used to provide summer reading materials to all students.

• South Davie Middle School was the first middle school in the southern U.S. to use a distance-learning environment.

• Cornatzer Elementary raised more than $5,200 through its school reading program.

• The Pinebrook PTA provided support by updating the grades 3-5 computer lab, media center, and support areas. Teachers in grades 3-5 were provided with new computers.

• More than 500 fifth grade students successfully completed the DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program, a cooperative effort of the Davie County Sheriff's Department and Davie County Schools.

• The Town Board of Cooleemee has supported Cooleemee School with a monetary donation toward technology for the past two years. They also fund a school crossing guard and support the self-contained class.

• Principal and assistant principal reassignments were announced in May. They include: Rex Allen, principal at William R. Davie; Cary Powers, principal at Shady Grove; Carol Cozart, assistant at South Davie; Danny Carter, principal at South Davie; Maureen Gildein, assistant at Cornatzer; Lynn Marrs, assistant at Pinebrook; and Dr. Robert Landry, principal at Pinebrook.

• The PTA at Shady Grove continued to be active. More than $12,000 was raised for new playground equipment.

• South Davie competed in the Envirothon for the first time advanced to the state level.

• Davie County Schools continued the system wide wellness program. The program provided prize incentives to staff members who strived to be physically fit.

• Cornatzer Elementary began a Beautification/Landscaping Club for students.

• South Davie students were effective community leaders by donating food to Davie residents in need during Thanksgiving, providing coats for needy children during cold weather, and providing Tsunami fund relief for those in Indonesia.

• Davie County Schools continued its Annual Assistant Principal of the Year Recognition Program sponsored by Sylvan Learning Center and the program's winner for Davie County was Carol Cozart, assistant at Davie High School.

• Eleven students at North Davie received recognition for academic excellence by Duke University's Talent Identification Program (TIP).

• Cooleemee Elementary's Partners in Print was successful with average attendance being 100 students and parents.

• Cornatzer Elementary began two successful after school programs: the after school homework and tutoring program and the after school writing clinic.

• Seven students from Davie High School will attend Governor's School this summer. The six-week program is the oldest statewide summer residential program and serves 800 students in science, math, English, social science, foreign language, and the arts.

• Nearly $1.8 million in scholarships were awarded to Davie High seniors planning to further their education.

• North Davie's Kid Strong Fun Run

4-H To Sponsor 'Mini Society' Camp

School's out, so now what? Well, you could start your own business.

It may sound a little unrealistic, but with the help of the Davie 4-H Mini-Society Day Camp, it could really happen for youth in grades 4-6, July 25-29.

Mini-Society is a wonderful hands-on way to learn about entrepreneurship, economics and citizenship. Participants will spend the mornings developing and experiencing their own "real world." By creating their own society, money and business, they will gain skills in multiple areas, discover cooperation, creativity, goal setting, self sufficiency and have fun. Youth who accept the Mini-Society challenge wil have the opportunity to "purchase" a business and sell goods and services to each other with the currency they create. Money they earn can be spent at daily auctions.

Each afternoon campers will go on field trips to explore our real society. They will visit local government offices and learn about what happens behind the scenes. Trips to area businesses and talks with the entrepreneurs who run them will provide valuable insight into our society and what it takes to start your own business.

The program will be held each day from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Davie County Office Building meeting room, 180 S. Main St., Mocksville. Registration is $60. Register with the Cooperative Extension, 180 S. Main St., Suite 210 or call 751-6297 for more information or to request registration materials.

Davie 4-H is ta United Way agency.

Classes Offered At Davie Campus

The Davie Campus of Davidson County Community College will offer the following classes beginning July 11. For more information, call 751-2885.

Fundamentals of Investing

Course covers common roadblocks to financial success as well as keys to success. Risk and cash management, retirement and college planning, stock market terminology are covered. In addition, guidelines on how to find stocks that are right for you. Lunch will be provided. July 12, T, 11:30a.m-1 p.m., 1.5 hours, Instructor: Brenda Battle, Materials Fee: $10.

Experienced Motorcycle Rider Safety Course (2-Up)

This one-day course is designed for experienced motorcycle operators, with their riders, to sharpen skills and techniques for safer riding. and Walk raised more than $13,000 for the Lance Armstrong Foundation for cancer research.

• Three students will attend the Summer Ventures program this summer. The 4-week, state funded program is for academically talented students who may eventually pursue careers based in science and math.

• North Davie was presented with an award by the Davie United Way for the greatest increase in participation and support to the campaign than any other school in the county.

• The Cooleemee Civitan Award recipient was Cooleemee teacher, Marianne Stein. This award is presented to an outstanding staff member who exemplifies good citizenship, community involvement, and dedication to education as well as being a positive role model to students and fellow staff.

• North Davie's MathCounts team placed second in regional competition. The team is coach by Steve Rareshide.

• Ninety-one percent of Davie High seniors are anticipated to seek additional education or training; 43% of those will most likely attend a 4-year college or university, and 38% will attend a community or junior college.

• Mocksville Elementary had the highest level of participation by staff at the kick-off event for the Mebane Challenge in October.

• The Davie High varsity football team were 14-1 for the season, as well as a state semifinalist.

• Jason Whitaker, a teacher at North Davie Middle School, was selected as the 2004-05 Davie County Teacher of the Year. Whitaker was presented with the Gold Star Award, on behalf of Central Carolina Bank, which recognizes excellence in teaching.

• Mocksville Elementary's Volunteer of the Year, William Ijames, was selected as the county volunteer of the year.

• Shady Grove's Exemplary Service Award winner, Bermuda Village, was selected as the county Exemplary Service Award winner.

• Davie High renovations, including renovated restrooms, science rooms, and the stadium, were completed and made available for student and public use.

• Six Davie County teachers received their National Board Certification this year: Kerry Blackwelder, Lori Culler, Mary Hendrix, Marianne Stein, Cooleemee; Nancy Pettit and Kristie Pristas, Mocksville. Davie has 40 teachers who are certified by the National Board.

• Rachel England, a bus driver at Mocksville Elementary, was selected as the Bus Driver of the Year for Davie County Schools.

• The Davie High varsity wrestling team was state 4-A runner-up.

• Danny Cartner was named Davie County Principal of the Year. Mr. Cartner was principal at William R. Davie Elementary School.

• Susan Riddle, a teacher assistant at Cornatzer Elementary, was named Teacher Assistant of the Year.

• Dreama Barber, an exceptional children's teacher at Davie High, was recognized as the Davie County School's Exceptional Children's Teacher of the Year.

• Barbara Osteen, a school social worker, was recognized as the Davie County School's Student Assistant Professional of the Year.

Student To Attend Duke Academy

Benjamin Josiah Tutterow, a student at Davie County High School, will attend the Duke Youth Academy for Christian Formation July 10-23 on the campus of Duke University in Durham.

Duke Divinity School sponsors the Youth Academy, supported by Lilly Endowment Inc. Almost 200 teen-agers from varied denominations and nearly every state have attended the two-week program since its inception in 2001.

"The students who come to the Youth Academy look for something more than a traditional 'church camp'," said Fred Edie, faculty director. "Through our program, students will explore the baptismal covenant as the foundation of their faith, learning through practices of prayer, service, worship and study."

Benjamin, the son of Jeff and Sheila Tutterow, attends Union Chapel United Methodist Church.

Nancy Tutterow stands in front of the big shoe use dfor Class Night. "We were the children of the 'Old Lady Who Lived in the Shoe'," she said.

Elsie Smith and Dorothy Leagans as valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively.

The Class Of '41

Members Endure War, Depression; Make Best Of Situations

They were the Class of 1941, young and eager to get out in the world, make it on their own, and enjoy life to the fullest.

But the war was raging in Europe, things were not looking good in Japan and many of their friends and family had been drafted or had enlisted in military service.

For this Class of 1941, their plans for the future had to be delayed. Many in the class of 54 seniors served in World War II and three paid the supreme sacrifice.

They were, at that time, the largest class to graduate from Mocksville High School. Having come up during the Depression, they learned to get by on hand-me-downs and one pair of shoes at a time. It did not take a lot to make this class happy.

They respected each other and their teachers and had lots of good clean fun, said class member Nancy Tutterow.

Along the way, teachers and the principal kept things in line and everyone tried to keep from making a trip to the principal's office.

The first reunion this class had was in 1981, their 40th year. Gordon Tomlinson and Robin Fergusson from the Enterprise Record attended, and reported it in the June 5, 1981 edition.

Of the 51 members who graduated, 26 have died, including three killed in service, Albert Clay Markland, Frank White Poplin and Charles Gordon Stonestreet. Others who have died: John Boyce Cain, Mabel Joyce Cain Benton, Laura Cartner Lutz, Eleanor Caudell Daniel, Anner Forrest Evans, William Hobert Hoots Jr., George Hubert Kimmer, Wayne Lakey, James Gray Latham, Margaret McAllister Dalton, Oscar McClamrock, William H. McDaniel Jr., Eugene W. Smith, Margie Walker Butner, Agnes Whitaker Ratledge, Blanche Whitaker Boger, Mary Lois Wilson, Edgar Chaffin, Margaret Turner Grant, Audrey Dean Howard and George Wilson Mason.

From this class have come nurses, teachers, clerks, salesmen, mill workers, department managers, bankers and others. There were no preachers or doctors, but there was a superior court judge.

For those who returned from their tour of duty, they were able to attend college through the GI Bill.

Fourteen of the 28 living class members attended the reunion. Elsie Smith Black read a humorous poem relating to life nowadays for members of the Class of '41.

Enterprise Record Editor Gordon Tomlinson talks with friends James Latham, Bill Daniel and Paul Gray Boger in 1981.

Class Has Reunion

On June 4, members of the Shady Grove Class of 1951 held their class reunion in Mocksville with a meal and reminiscing.

All but three surviving classmates were present, including: Alma Barney Shoaf, Wayne Myers, Elizabeth Ann Foster Hendrix, Robert Lee Hendrix, Vestal Potts and friend Lucy, Bobby Jean Hamilton Daniels and friend James, Peggy Carter Rummage (Felix), Edythe Mock Rummage (Bill), Graham Hendrix (Joyce), Tom Cornatzer (Ann) and Nell Lee Burton.

The three unable to attend were Nell Hendrix Wyatt, Gerard Husser and Joan Craver Thomas.

There was a moment of silence in memory of classmate Ronnie Burton, who died since the last reunion.

Other deceased class members: Alton (Kit) Beauchamp, Mozelle Jones Nichols, Betty Jean Sprye Williams and Mary Rose Frye Joyner.

Dining together on Sunday, June 5 are Louise Calloway and Don Busick, William Laurie Brock and wife Jane, Mary Kathryn Bowles Driver and husband Harry, and Edith King Mounce.

Farmington High Class Of '52 Has Reunion

Fifty-three years ago, on May 22, 1952, 18 seniors graduated from Farmington High School.

On June 2, class member Don Busick of Harvard, Mass., arrived in Farmington to attend the 53rd year class reunion to be held Saturday, June 4.

On June 3, class member Bonnie Speer arrived from Tyler, Texas, and met Mary Kathryn Driver and her husband, Harry, at the arbor of the Farmington High School site at 5:45 p.m. They joined Edith Mounce, Edna Ann Shelton Beck and husband Grady, and Lillian Allen Groce and husband Elmer, for dinner at Captain's Galley in Hillsdale.

On Saturday morning, June 4, the Drivers met Busick and William Laurie Brock at the school auditorium to decorate for the reunion, reception and dinner that afternoon and evening.

The dining tables were covered with a white tablecloth and centered with "graduation bears" and glass vases with tea lights.

The display table was covered with a white cloth for class members to display annuals, scrapbooks and framed pictures. The stage was outlined with a daisy chain, interwoven with a garland of ivy and tea lights.

The reception table was covered with a yellow cloth with a white lace overlay, with a centerpiece of daisies and white roses. The dinner table was covered with a royal blue cloth with a centerpiece of spring flowers and daisies.

The reception was hosted by Mary Kathryn Driver and Edith Mounce. Class members and guests arrivved at 4 to listen to 50s music, enjoy punch and lemonade, fruit, chips, vegetables and pastries while they renewed acquaintances.

Special guests were a former teacher, Elfreta McBrayer Frady and her husband, Worth Frady of Fairview.

A 6 p.m., Mary Kathryn Driver wlecomed everyone. William Laurie Brock presented a book titled, "Apples of Gold" to Mrs. Frady from the class members as a token of their thanks and appreciation for her help, guidance and advice.

Harry Driver gave the invocation. Class members and their guests were served a picnic dinner of hamburgers and hotdogs, cooked by Brock, potato salad, three-bean salad, slaw, baked beans, chili, relish, lettuce and tomatoes, tea and coffee, drinks, pound cakes, German chocolate cake, strawberry pie and pecan pie.

Candid and posed photographs were made throughout the event.

Those attending: Lillian Allen Groce and husband Elmer, Eula Beck Shuler, Don Busick and Louise Calloway, Edith King Mounce and husband Keith, Mary Kathryn Bowles Driver and husband Harry, Bonnie Speer, Edna Reavis and Bill Bracken, William Laurie Brock and wife Jane, Elfreta McBrayer Frady and husband Worth.

On Sunday afternoon, June 5, some class members attended a farewell luncheon at the Golden Corral Steak House at Hanes Mall in Winston-Salem: William Laurie Brock and wife Jane, Don Busick and Louise Calloway, Edith King Mounce and husband Keith, and Mary Kathryn Driver and husband Harry.

Horse Camp

Children Gain Confidence

Each week for six weeks, 10 children learn confidence in themselves as they learn the aids needed to direct and control a 1,000 lb. four-legged friend.

They learn responsibility as they learn how to groom that four-legged partner, but also why it is important.

Marissa Johnson, owner of Dixieland and director of Mocksville/Davie Recreation's Summer Horse Camps, is a firm believer of teaching good basic horsemanship, be it mounted or unmounted. She teaches each camper, as she does her many private students, the safest horse handling techniques.

At Dixieland all riders adult or youth must wear a certified equestrian helmet, no bicycle helmets are allowed. During camp Johnson has two senior counselors work together, presenting her daily lesson plans for grooming, bathing, tacking, tack care, basic horse care and lunging to half the campers, while she is working in the indoor arena with the other five on riding skills assisted by four junior counselors. All six are chosen from her private students, all with the expertise needed to be safe and effective assistants in her techniques.

Then the groups switch. Each group spends about 1 1/2 hours a day astride their mount.

Hunt seat is the basic discipline used as its helps to develop the needed balance and allows good contact between the rider's legs and the horse. Campers get to spend time playing horseback games, plus they decorate their mounts with washable paints before learning proper washing techniques.

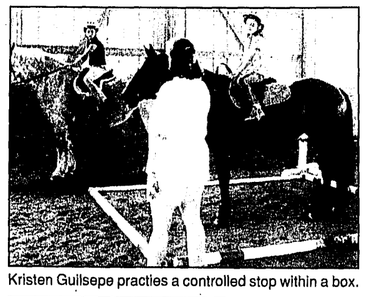

Everything is made fun and challenging, each day is filled to the brim with laughter and accomplishments, some big, some small.

The afternoons are spent with Kathie Streit, program director of the recreation department. Monday, Wednesday and Friday are spent at the Yadkinville pool. Tuesday and Thursday are filled with field trips and crafts, all equine related.

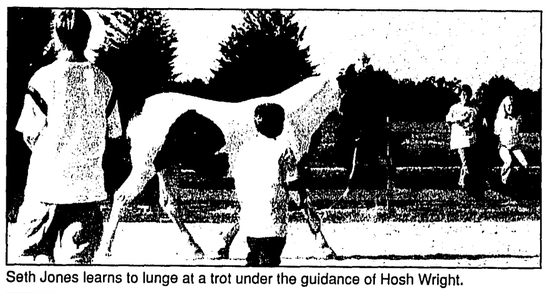

For more information, call 751-2325. There are limited spots available for the last two weeks in July.

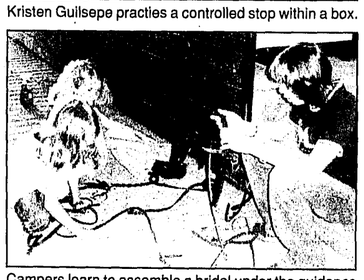

Katherine Funderback and Kaitlyn Creech show off their painting skill with Phantom.

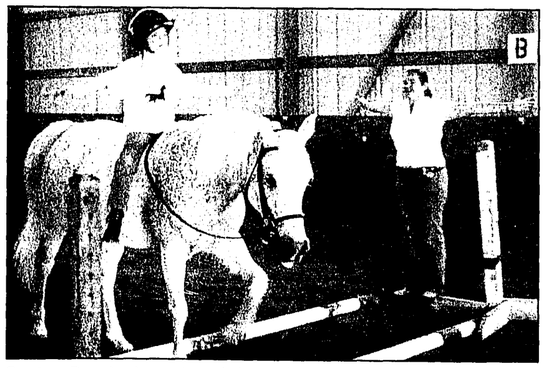

Kristen Guilsepe practies a controlled stop within a box.

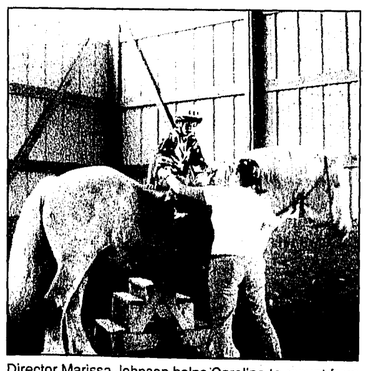

Seth Jones learns to lunge at a trot under the guidance of Hosh Wright.

Campers learn to assemble a bridel under the guidance of counselor, Chet Hansen.

Campers learn to roll wraps and pads

Man Dies In Plane Crash

A Mocksville man died last Thursday when the airplane he was piloting crashed near his home in Yadkin County.

George Patton "Pat" Scarlett, 60, was pronounced dead at Hoots Memorial Hospital in Yadkinville shortly after the mid-afternoon crash.

A witness said the wing to Scarlett's plane clipped a power line prior to the plane crashing into a tree.

Flying was one of Scarlett's loves, and he hosted annual fly-ins for charity at his home landing strip called Scarlett Airfield. He volunteered for Alpha Acres and Teen Challenge in Harmony.

He is survived by a wife and six children.

There's No Need To Roam This July 4th

Don't let high gasoline prices spoil your Independence Day weekend celebration.

There's plenty to do every day in Davie County, starting with tractors and bluegrass music on Friday, July 1 and continuing with fireworks and rock and roll music on Monday, July 4th.

The Piedmont Antique Power Association kicks off the weekend with its annual tractor show. Gates open at 10 a.m. Friday at the Masonic Picnic Grounds off North Main Street, Mocksville, and in addition to more than 100 antique tractors and engines, festivities will include bluegrass and gospel music on Friday night, and a parade on Main Street in Mocksville beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 2.

Also at 10 a.m. on Saturday, the new Kinderton community in eastern Davie will have a patriotic bicycle parade on Windsor Circle and Bellhaven Drive.

The Farmington community will celebrate Saturday, as well, with a "fun day" from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. There will be music, hotdogs, barbecue,

Helping The Victims

Agencies Working Together To Curb Domestic Violence

By Mike Gunning
Davie County Enterprise Record

> "We're there to make services more confidential and less frightening. That's important in a small community."
> - DDVS/RCC Director Martha McQueen

Martha McQueen, director of Davie Domestic Violence and Rape Crisis Center, said the eighth annual Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault conference was a success.

McQueen said the primary goal of the conference, held at the Bermuda Run Country Club, was to shed light on the effects of domestic violence and stalking on the victim.

With the assistance of a panel that included defense attorney Rob Raisbeck, assistant district attorney Wendy Terry and district court judge Mary Covington, attendees were exposed to the legal process that the victim and the defendant experience while going through the judicial system.

The conference caps another successful year for McQueen's department. The agency, started in 1995, has increased the amount of services while continuing to develop strong partnerships with the legal and medical community. A result of the partnership between Davie County Hospital and Davie Domestic Violence Services (DDVS) includes the Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) program.

In the past, a victim of a sexual assault who requested medical attention was subject to the same treatment and conditions as any walk-in patient at the hospital emergency room. This included sitting in a sometimes crowded waiting room for extended periods of time.

Not anymore.

Today, a victim of an assault is quickly taken to a private room, where a specially trained nurse works with the victim in complete confidence and privacy. Law enforcement, and a representative of DDVS are called in, and if the victim chooses, a statement can be made.

"We're there to make services more confidential and less frightening," McQueen said. "That's important in a small community."

McQueen said once the initial contact with the victim is made, the DDVS agent acts as a guide for the victim.

"We're there to offer support and let the victim know that they're not alone," McQueen said. "If they need help going through the legal process, we can help them with that, but we never pressure them one way or the other. We just let them know what their choices are."

McQueen said the SANE nurse is trained to administer a rape kit, and collect all evidence. In the event the victim chooses not to press charges for any reason, the evidence can be stored for a later time.

The program has been funded by a two year grant totaling $115,000 from the Duke Endowment.

McQueen said the program is a natural extension of DDVS' mission.

"Our part is to be the face on their path to healing," McQueen said. "This program helps us to do that."

Filing Starts Friday

3 Davie Towns To Elect Board Members

The filing period for council and board members for the towns of Bermuda Run, Cooleemee and Mocksville will open at noon on Friday, July 1 and will close at noon on Friday, Aug. 5.

Filings in Bermuda Run will be for council seats in Districts II (Robert W. "Bob" Griffin) and V (Ron Hoth). A primary will be required on Oct. 11 if more than two persons file for either seat. Only residents of District II and V are eligible to vote.

Filing in Cooleemee will be for two commissioners, seats now held by Jean Cornatzer and Frances Parker.

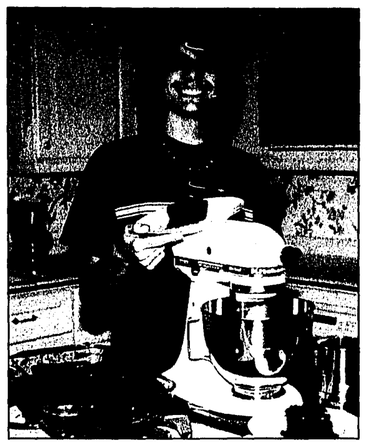

Filings in Mocksville will be for three commissioners, seats now held by Richard W. Broadway, William L. "Bill" Foster and Lash Gaither Sanford Jr.

All filing fees are $5, payable to the Davie County Board of Elections. The elections office is at 124 S. Salisbury St., Suite 102, Mocksville, and is open Monday-Friday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Direct questions to 751-2027.

Robert Sparks with a piece of his $300 Chocolate Cake.

World's Best Chocolate Cake

It pays to read this newspaper. Chances are, you will remember this issue as the best investment you've ever made.

Below you will find the recipe for $300 Chocolate Cake.

I wrote about it last week. Desperate for desserts, my 14-year-old has baked a few cakes this summer. There have been a few disasters, but this recipe produced the best chocolate cake I've ever had.

I raved about it last week, but I didn't give you the recipe.

Some of you called. Some wrote. Some asked about it at church. One woman even rang the doorbell at home on Saturday wanting the recipe. Some thought I might have just exaggerated the results because my son was the cook. Not so. Come by the house, and I'll let you sample the last remaining crumbs.

The recipe's history: A woman ate this cake at a swank New York restaurant and asked for the recipe. She got it — and a bill for $300.

We found the recipe in the Charlotte Observer while at the beach.

That mean's you're getting a 600 percent return on the news stand price of this week's newspaper. Wall Street couldn't beat that even before the technology bubble burst.

Robert made the same cake again this week — just to make sure he could do it twice. If anything, the second was better than the first. I had noticed some tiny chewy things in the first cake. Turns out, he sifted the flour and then dumped in the remaining flour kernels, too.

He also cooked the second cake with an 85 percent reduction in mess, too. Under the supervision of a real cook this time, he didn't use every pan, saucer, cup and spoon in the kitchen. He only spilled flour once. And he didn't lift the hand mixer - spinning at full speed - out of the bowl - painting the walls with cake batter.

Also, consider the photo above. If you think my son ought to get a hair cut, please call him, write him, tell him at church, or ring the doorbell on Saturday morning. He disputes his father's assertion that his hair looks shaggy, unkempt and is the perfect nesting ground for fleas, ticks, cockroaches and other crawling things.

But with cake this good, his father will be tolerant.

— Dwight Sparks

$300 Chocolate Cake
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 cups sugar
Pinch of salt
1 cup oil, such as Wesson
1 cup water
4 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa powder
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 eggs
Frosting:
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
5 tablespoons milk
4 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 (1 pound) box confectioners' sugar

SIFT together flour, sugar and salt. Set aside.

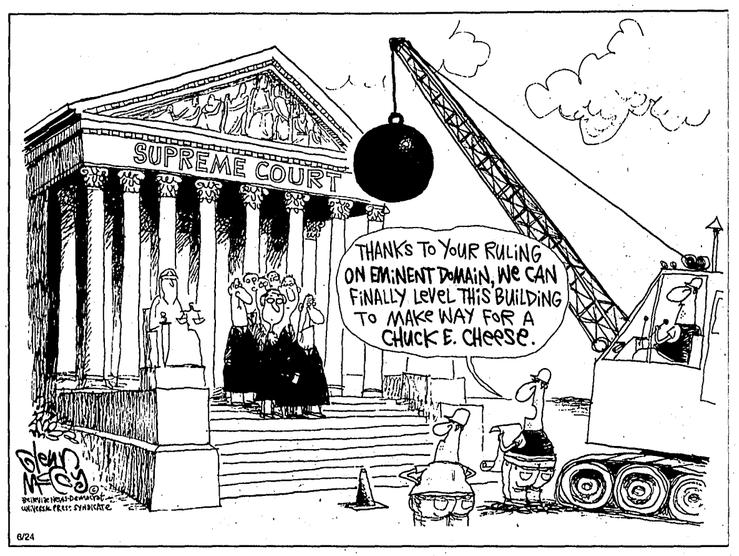

COMBINE oil, water and cocoa powder in a saucepan. Stir mixture as it comes to a boil, then boil 1 1/2 minutes. Immediately pour over the flour mixture and stir well.

ADD the buttermilk, soda and eggs. Mix well.

POUR into a greased and floured 13x9 inch pan and bake at 300°F for about 40 minutes or until the cake tests done.

FROSTING: Combine the butter, milk and cocoa powder in a saucepan. Stir and bring to a boil. Boil 1 1/2 minutes. Cool slightly. Add the vanilla and confectioners' sugar. Blend thoroughly, stirring until all the lumps are gone.

SPREAD frosting over the cake. The frosting will firm as it cools and will taste like a ganache.

Student Shows Individual Responsibility

To the editor:

I wish to congratulate the mother of the fine young man (Brandon Robinson) who chose the high road of life by demanding more from an education than just a degree. I commend your own reference to him in your recent editorial. Most of all I applaud him for setting the example for so many other young people of our times.

I cut the original article from the newspaper and have passed it around to numerous co-workers as an example of what is sorely lacking in our society - personal responsibility, accountability, and the passion to be more than society expects. No one that I offered the article to commented about the "black boy" or the "non-traditional home life" or the "local country boy". Everyone was amazed that any young man (or woman) of our current society's self centered and instant gratification seeking culture had the discipline and self determination to pursue such an outstanding goal to its successful conclusion.

But unlike so many in our society this young man chose not to accept mediocrity. No this young would make Thomas Jefferson quite proud. He is living the American dream already. As he related in the article, the experience gained from his own self education will be of far greater benefit than any traditional college class. I dare say that he could hold his own in a discussion with Jefferson, Franklin, Adams, Hamilton, Lincoln, King, and many others of renown simply because he chose the more difficult road that set himself apart from the pack. When my family watches the film "National Treasure" and the lead character is reciting a line from the Declaration of Independence by heart, he is told by another character that "No one talks like that anymore." What was the lead character's response? "No. They don't. But they should." I'll wager that this fine young man understands quite well what those 95-cent words written by the inspired hearts and enlightened minds of our nation's founders mean. I wager that he has all ready demonstrated what the intent of those same words are.

When our nation's founders put their lives on the line they did it for all the generations to come regardless of our individual ambitions. They looked forward to a society that aspired to personal and cultural heights. Their hope was that this new society would foster the creation of more such inspired hearts and enlightened minds. They would be disappointed for the most part were they to be with us today. Yet the residents of Davie County, that same supposedly backwoods, redneck infested, good ol' boy, (well you know the rest from all the other articles our county's naysayers have gotten published in the paper) would point to this fine example of a 21st Century self-made man. I don't know this young man's political or religious points of view are. I may not agree with his views if I did know them. But I will not question his ability to understand the various points of view on a given topic and to discuss them rationally instead of zealously advocating a politically correct one for the sake of appeasing the masses. Such a person with that much desire to better themselves will better the lives of others.

God may have created all men equal, but it is the responsibility of the individual to rise above the rest. Congratulations and best wishes for your future success.

Time For Iraqis To Defend Themselves

To the editor:

Our military is having difficulty meeting the recruting goals lately. They have lowered the standard and increased the incentives, or so it has been reported. You no longer have to be a high school graduate, and the incentives have increasd to $20,000 for a 15-month enlistment.

The parents are discouraging their children from joining the military. There was a song popular a few wars back 'I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier, I raised him to be my pride and joy.' It seems that that song is being revived.

What is puzzling about this war other than not finding weapons of mass destruction: they have been training the Iraqi for at least two years and they are still not ready to defend their own country.

In World War II, the most basic training our GIs received was 13 weeks, some less and they were sent into combat, and made a darn good showing. They won the war. The same goes for all our military past and present.

The GIs in Iraq have done the heavy lifting. Bring them home. If the Iraqi still can't defend themselves, they never will.

Fire Victim Supports Firefighters

To the editor:

Last Wednesday afternoon, a large hay shed which I own, full of 1,500 round bales of hay, was found to be on fire. I was about 20 minutes away when I heard about it.

When I arrived on the scene, five volunteer fire departments were already on the scene, doing all they could to combat the blaze. This went on throughout the rest of the day, and all through the night, into the next day. I was told that 400,000 gallons of water was hauled and put on the fire.

I want to express my utmost thanks and appreciation to the Jerusalem VFD, Cooleemee VFD, Center VFD, County Line VFD, Scotch-Irish VFD, the Davie County Rescue Squad, Lakey Backhoe Service and all friends and neighbors who helped with the problem.

I have always beeen a strong supporter of volunteer fire departments and the rescue squad, and now I am an even stronger supporter. Thanks again to everyone.

Report From Raleigh

Budget Most Troubling In Representative's Career

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

Last week, the House approved a $17.1 billion spending plan that includes tax and fee increases totaling nearly $900 million.

Upon receiving the House version of the budget, the Senate considered the budget on Monday, June 20. Without surprise, the Senate failed to concur with the House budget bill.

Both the House and Senate have since appointed members to a conference committee to work out the differences between the two versions of the budget. Only members who voted for the budget were appointed to the conference committee.

Along with 57 other members of the House, I voted against the budget bill and, as a result, will not be serving on the budget conference committee. I regret that I am unable to serve on this committee. I have served in the House for nine budgets in my tenure, and the budget passed by the House this session is the most troubling to me thus far. The budget is inundated with excessive tax and fee increases that will hurt struggling families in Davie and Iredell counties and across North Carolina.

> "The budget is inundated with excessive tax and fee increases that will hurt struggling families in Davie and Iredell counties and across North Carolina."

While the state is growing at a fast pace and Medicaid costs to the state are soaring, the members of the General Assembly should set priorities in the budget and explore ways to cut needless spending, rather than automatically approving tax increases. Some legislators may suggest that this exploration has taken place; however, I submit that the state still has a long way to go in order for fiscal responsibility to be restored.

An example of why spending cuts are needed surfaced this week in the newspapers. After hearing about other states' Medicaid programs covering Viagra pills to sexual offenders, state health officials in North Carolina finally checked and discovered that the same situation was present in North Carolina. Last year, the Medicaid program in North Carolina paid for more than 41,000 prescriptions for erectile-dysfunction drugs costing the state almost $800,000, with a portion of those prescriptions provided to sexual offenders. Viagra is not considered a drug necessary for treating life threatening illnesses or diseases. It may enhance the quality of life for some, but such medications should not be provided at taxpayer expense. This is just one of many examples exhibiting state government's need to take a closer look at excessive spending in its budget.

With the interests of the people of North Carolina in mind, the legislators and department administrators need to closely examine each program funded by taxpayers. Each department should be required to provide justification for every dollar of state funding they receive.

Programs that are ineffective and do not achieve a justifiable purpose need an avenue for reassessment. The House version of the budget includes a provision requiring the Department of Public Instruction to use "zero-based budgeting," which will require them to provide justification for all necessary expenditures. While this is a step in the right direction, the General Assembly should begin requiring this from every department.

The members of the General Assembly owe a move toward fiscal responsibility to the many struggling families across North Carolina, who pay taxes and cannot afford to shell out additional dollars for the increased taxes and fees provided in the House budget bill. As the budget debate continues, I will continue to work to hold down state spending and to restore fiscal responsibility in state government.

If you would like further details on the budget, call on me, and I'll be happy to provide additional information.

Tractors Are 'Like Money In The Bank'

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Chester Reeves bought a Case 190 tractor, made in 1960, from a woman in Advance last year.

It had been sitting in an outbuilding.

Come Friday and Saturday, that Case, restored and running, will pull a train of four barrels as the Piedmont Antique Power Association sponsors its annual show and parade.

The Case, and a 1949 T20 Ferguson, are the newest in the stable of 15 tractors that Reeves, president of the association, owns.

That love for tractors is what draws more than 100 people every year to the Masonic Picnic Grounds off North Main Street in Mocksville. It's there they show off their tractors and engines. Hundreds more come just to look at and hear the tractors, and hear the stories that go with each one.

To some, it's an heirloom their father or grandfather used. To some, it's a tractor they remember from childhood. To others, it's just a love.

"It's just like money in the bank," Reeves said of his hobby. "I'm in the car cleaning business. On slow days, this keeps me busy and I enjoy it, and they're all going up in value."

A restored tractor is easily worth several thousand dollars more than before the restoration, he said.

That little Case Reeves bought last year will have a special job at this year's show. Reeves used four plastic barrels, installed seats and hooked them onto the back of the tractor. Children - and adults - loved riding on the "train" at a recent family reunion and Reeves thinks they will be just as anxious to ride behind the tractor on Friday and Saturday.

The tractor show begins at 10 a.m. Friday, and the machines will be arriving all day and evening.

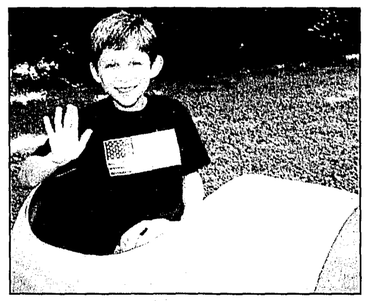

Entertainment begins at 6:30 p.m., and will feature the Craft Brothers Quartet. Among the other bands scheduled to perform are Flatland Bluegrass and Hard Drive.

Gates open at 8 a.m. on Saturday, July 2. The line-up for the parade begins at 9 a.m., and the parade begins at 10.

Reeves said that the streets will be blocked for this year's parade. The route will be reverse from year's past, with tractors traveling from the Brock Center up North Main Street to the town square, turning left and going down Depot Street, and returning to the picnic grounds via Railroad Street.

A kiddie tractor pull is scheduled for 11 a.m. at the picnic grounds.

There will be a drawing at 2 p.m. for an 8hp 110 John Deere miniature tractor built by James Hendrix. Tickets are $1 each or 12 for $10. Second prize is $500, third prize $100.

Ethan Holland waves from the back barrel on the "tractor train."

"Last year, we had 110 tractors. This year I think we'll have more, and I'm looking for a bigger turnout," Reeves said.

Membership in the 78-member club, which meets the first Monday of every month at the Brock Center, is growing, Reeves said. Darrell Lee is vice president, Harry Lee Howell secretary and Allen Moran treasurer. Board members are W.C. Phipps, James G. Hendrix, Kenneth Green and Larry King.

If It Can Cut Grass, It's Welcome In Cooleemee Parade

COOLEEMEE - The town's annual July 4th celebration will begin at 10 a.m. with the one-of-a-kind lawnmower parade, and a tricycle/bicycle parade for children that will follow the lawnmowers.

The only requirement for entering a lawnmower is that it must be able to cut grass. A goat was entered one year.

In order to qualify for judging and prizes, all lawnmowers and tricycles/bicycles must be decorated with the July 4th theme. First, second, and third place prizes will be awarded for the best decorated lawnmowers using the July 4th theme. First, second and third place prizes will be awarded for the best decorated tricycles/bicycles.

No prior registration is required. If you plan to enter, be in Cooleemee by 9:30 a.m. Watch for signs and personnel to show you where to line up your lawnmower or tricycle or bicycle.

The prize awards for the best decorated lawnmowers and tricycles/bicycles will be announced on the front porch of the Zachary House after the parade.

Hotdogs, soft drinks and ice cream will be sold at old-timey prices.

There will be old-timey games for the children such as sack races, three-legged races, dashes, Hula-Hoop, and tug-of-war, all with prizes.

Door prizes will be awarded, and there will be a raffle for a hand-painted lazy susan.

If watermelons are ripe, they will be free to everyone at the town's covered picnic shelter adjacent to the Zachary House.

YMCA Receives Grant For Literacy Initiative

Through a $5,000 grant from the Margaret C. Woodson Foundation, a $3,000 grant from The Community Foundation of Davie County, and a $1,700 grant from the Davie County United Way, the Davie Family YMCA will begin a literacy initiative this fall.

The program, to be called "Davie County Reads," aims to fund the literacy education of 10 adults during the next year. The YMCA, the two foundations and the United Way have identified literacy among adults as one of the community's greatest needs to be addressed for 2006.

Based on a similar successful program in Forsyth County run by the Community Outreach Services YMCA, the Davie County Literacy Initiative will recruit, select and train capable volunteers as tutors and pair them with adults throughout the community who are unable to read.

One volunteer tutor for the Forsyth County program, Lorri McDaniel, a Davie resident and YMCA member, has been working with her learner, Wilbur "Clay" Black-well, for more than a year, and has seen dramatic improve-ments.

"The greatest benefit for volunteers and learners in this type of program is that they both are able to see improvements every day," she says. "Since Clay and I started working together, he's learned to read and pay his monthly bills, and read and understand road signs. It's very gratifying work."

"The grants will help us purchase the training and curriculum materials and other administrative materials to get the program started," says Ed Barron, executive director of the Davie Family YMCA. "The resources of these great community partners and the community outreach capabilities of the YMCA will surely make this program a great success. We aim to make a significant impact on the lives of the individuals and families of the Davie County community through teaching them the life skill of reading."

The Davie Family YMCA is a branch of the YMCA of Northwest North Carolina, a non-profit United Way agency with a mission of helping people reach their God-given potential in spirit, mind and body. Serving Forsyth, Davie, Stokes, Yadkin and Wilkes counties for the last 116 years, the YMCA continues to build strong kids, strong families, strong communities.

homemade desserts and ice cream, a raffle and animals to pet. Proceeds will benefit the community center.

On Sunday, Eatons Baptist Church will host its annual Independence Day outdoor service beginning at 10:30 a.m. with a bluegrass gospel band, followed by a cookout.

Start Monday in Cooleemee, when the town's annual lawnmower and bicycle parade starts at 10 a.m. Stick around for hotdogs, soft drinks and ice cream sold at "old-timey" prices. There will be old-timey games for children.

Save enough energy for Monday night, when the action shifts to Rich Park in Mocksville, where the band 3rd Generation will perform beginning at 7:30 p.m. Fireworks will light up the sky at 9:30, followed by more live music. Parking is limited in the park, and costs $5. Parking at the Brock Center Center off North Main Street for the walk to the park is free.

The beaches may be nice, the mountains cool, but there's plenty to do in Davie County this holiday. Even the American flags that line streets in Mocksville are reminders that we're free to celebrate.

MPD Captures Wanted Man

Mocksville police captured a man Monday who was wanted by the United States Postal Inspection Service.

Jeffrey Scott Wall of Edgewood Drive was caught while attempting to visit his grandmother at Autumn Care nursing home.

Officer Stuart Shore reported that on Monday afternoon, Detective Ken Hunter called and said the suspect was in the parking lot at Autumn Care.

Shore was first on the scene, and parked his patrol car on Duke Street, waiting for other officers.

When he received a call saying the suspect may be leaving, Shore drove into the parking lot and saw the suspect standing next to a car. He asked him if he was Wall, and the man said yes.

"He was very cooperative and said he just wanted to go see his grandmother," Shore said.

Officer Danny Chandler, Hunter and Detective Nelson Turrentine arrived to help with the arrest and interview.

Wall was wanted for identity theft type crimes.

Not Unanimous

A report last week that county commissioners unanimously adopted a 300 percent pay increase had some misleading information.

Although the budget was adopted unanimously, the board earlier had a 3-2 vote to increase their travel expenses, with Richard Poindexter and Bobby Knight voting against the increase, and Michael Allen, Johnny Frye and Tom Fleming voting in favor.

ONLINE HOMEBUYERS AND TRADITIONAL BUYERS

Today's consumers who are looking to buy their first home or invest in real estate vary in the way they go about finding that perfect home or investment property.

Recent statistics indicate that over half of all buyers start their home search online, and that almost two-thirds of all first-time homebuyers are now using the Internet as a means of researching available homes for sale and exploring financing options. Online buyers are more likely to be young, highly educated and have high paying jobs. They use the Internet to contact a real estate agent and to gather information about what services the realtor will provide to assist them in the transaction.

The traditional buyer is often a repeat buyer, someone who has already gained experience in the process of buying property. They may have spent a week or two previewing homes or neighborhoods, but once they engage the services of a real estate agent, they typically look at twice as many homes as Internet buyers, and they rely more heavily on the realtor to provide them with information.

Whether you prefer the traditional or online approach or a little of both, your real estate professional will guide you safely through the transaction. Debbie is an award-winning full-time professional real estate broker in Davie County.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying and selling real estate, you can reach Debbie at Premier Carolina Properties, 336-998-7777 or 336-909-1284, or visit her website at www.pcpnc.com.

Backs Against Wall

Lexington Takes Shocking 2-0 Lead In Opening Series

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville Legion baseball coach Mike Lovelace has barely experienced anything like this. The seventh-year head coach entered the Lexington series with a 16-5 record in his team's first round of the playoffs. He was swept by Rowan in 1999, but he won 16 of 18 games in Mocksville's opening round from 2000-04.

However, Mocksville's early-playoff dominance has taken a plunge. Fifth-seeded Lexington grabbed a 2-0 lead in the best-of-5, first-round series with a 12-9 home win over No. 4 Mocksville on June 26.

This is a hole no one saw coming. Nor did anyone expect Lexington to tee off on John McDaniel, who gave up 14 hits in eight innings. The pinpoint-control righthander looked nothing like Mocksville's No. 1 ERA man. It was 3.38 over 40 innings at game time, but it was severely damaged as Lexington scored four in the first and socked three home runs.

"He got the ball up and they made him pay early," Lovelace said.

Lexington ran its winning streak to seven. By contrast, Mocksville (14-10) has lost three of four, four of six and six of nine.

After Lexington had a five-hit first inning, it hit solo homers in the second and third and scored two on three hits in the seventh. The crippling blow was a three-run homer in the eighth by Brandon Clodfelter, turning a 9-5 score into 12-5. Besides the long ball, Clodfelter went 3 for 5 with a double.

"He ate us up," Lovelace said. "With McDaniel on the mound, I thought we were in good shape. But they hit him. They're just hot."

Dan Poindexter blasted a three-run homer to trim its deficit to 5-4. Before then, Mocksville had managed just 11 runs over 25 innings.

Mocksville was playing catch-up all night. Lexington made it 6-4 in the third, and it answered Mocksville's run in the seventh with two in the bottom half.

Zach Morton was the winner. Though the lefthander allowed six earned runs on 9 hits in 8 innings, he struck out 11.

"He threw curveballs at our feet and threw three pitches for strikes," Lovelace said.

Mocksville matched Lexington in hits (14-14). Lance Emert was 3-5 with two RBIs, Poindexter 3-5 with four RBIs and Andrew McClannon 2 for 3.

Although it hardly mattered in the end, Poindexter's homer to left was something to see. Afterward he autographed his fifth rocket launch.

"He hit the farthest home run I've ever seen at Lexington," Lovelace said. "I'm surprised someone found it. Somebody got it and had him sign it. He signed the ball at 375 feet, but I told him he needed to change it to maybe 410."

Mocksville battled against little hope in the ninth, scoring four runs. Emert, Poindexter, Dusty Snow, Foo Smith and David Boyles strung hits together as Mocksville climbed within 12-9 with still no outs. No telling what could have happened if Zach Vogler wouldn't have gotten rung up on a 3-2 pitch earlier in the inning. Lovelace fumed at the call, claiming the pitch was low and away.

Lovelace isn't as distressed as you might think. He's frustrated, but he tried his best to look at the bright side.

"The two pitchers we faced are two of the better lefthanders in the league," he said. "I mean Andrew Hunt (of North Davidson) was the player of the year in the CPC, and Morton has always been tough. He's actually their No. 1, he just wasn't ready to go (Game One).

"The good thing is - and I may sound stupid for saying this - I still feel good. We're 27 outs away from being done, but we've got two of our better pitchers yet to go (in Dusty Snow and Poindexter). We've just got to get off to a good start (in Game Three)."

Mocksville Plummets In Opener

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

If you thought the end of the regular season couldn't get any worse for Mocksville's Legion baseball team, Lexington proved you wrong in Game One of the first round of the Southern Division playoffs on June 25 at Rich Park.

A tale of teams headed in opposite directions was played out as No. 5 seeded Lexington defeated No. 4 Mocksville 5-3 in the best-of-5 series. Lexington picked up its sixth straight win, while Mocksville (14-9) lost for the sixth time in 10 games. At one point it was strutting at 10-3.

McClannon J. Hutchens

Mocksville's fortunes kept plummeting against lefthander Andrew Hunt, who held the hosts to one run over six innings and left after eight with the 5-3 lead.

Mocksville got seven anemic hits and never led. It was hitting an impressive .328 through 20 games. But it has leaked oil the past three games, going 16 for 81 for a .198 average. Lexington pulled it out behind a four-run seventh that made Dan Poindexter's 3 for 4 night an afterthought.

"We didn't have a lot of opportunities except for the sixth (when Mocksville struck out twice with two runners on) and the seventh (when Mocksville scored twice to cut into a 5-1 deficit),"

Please See Lexington - Page B5

Poindexter Carves Epic Numbers

While Mocksville's Legion baseball team was losing 12-9 at Lexington in Game Two of the first-round series, Dan Poindexter was his usual self with a home run, three hits and four RBIs. While Mocksville was slipping closer to early-exit disappointment - it trailed two games to none in the best-of-5 series heading into Monday's Game Three - Poindexter was purring right along.

The dynamic star is setting the world on fire. It's just too bad he's enhanced his storybook season during his team's extended slump.

In 24 games, the third baseman, pitcher and No. 3 batter leads Mocksville in average (.457), runs (27), hits (43), RBIs (37), doubles (nine), triples (three), home runs (five), saves (two).

What quality does Coach Mike Lovelace admire most in his fourth-year player? He's selfless. After boosting his four-game numbers against Lexington to 9 for 18 with three homers and 10 RBIs, Poindexter wasn't eager to talk to a reporter. He's never comfortable talking about himself.

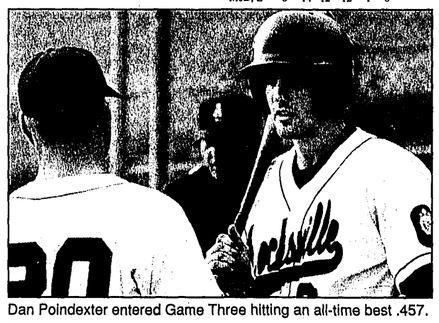

"The reporter asked him how many home runs he's hit, and he had no idea," Lovelace said. "All he worries about is wins and losses. He doesn't know his batting average. When he takes BP, he doesn't yank everything. Everything is middle to right."

It's safe to say Poindexter, a 2004 West Forsyth alum and rising sophomore at Lenoir Rhyne, has assured his Mocksville immortality. At season's end, he will become just the second player in its 24-year history to hit .400 in two seasons. Steve LeFaivre turned the trick in 1998 and 1999.

He entered Game Three with the highest average ever (43 for 94, .457). Shane Wagoner hit .449 (40-89) in 1990 and David Perkins hit .430 (43-100) in 2003. Poindexter seized the No. 3 ranking last year at .427 (44-103).

Red Carpet

Notre Dame Charms McNeil, Davie Coaches

Raeshon McNeil, the coveted cornerback who has received seven Division I-A football offers, and three coaches took a flight to remember on June 3.

The plane landed in South Bend, In., and then Davie coaches Doug Illing and Devore Holman, former Davie coach Bill Oakley and guest-of-honor McNeil walked on air. They spent two days at Notre Dame. They found out how it feels to get red-carpet treatment from one of the most storied places in college football. They found out how big recruit McNeil is to Notre Dame's rebuilding hopes under new coach Charlie Weis, who collected four Super Bowl rings during his run as an NFL offensive coordinator.

McNeil Holman

Despite a string of mediocrity, the Fighting Irish play all their home games on national television. Despite slipping to also-ran status last year, in many eyes they remain the idea of football paradise.

And they want McNeil, the rising senior at Davie who has also received offers from North Carolina, Wake Forest, N.C. State, Duke, Virginia and South Carolina.

Here's how badly: "He's No. 1 on their priority list," Illing, Davie's head coach since 1998, said, "Another cornerback is No. 2. They're trying to get defensive backs that can come in and play right away."

Illing said the visit was an awesome experience. It started with Holman giving everyone on the plane a good laugh. He'd never flown before. He swore he never would, but the chance to see Touchdown Jesus was enough to pull him on that scary plane.

"It was hilarious," Illing said. "Holman started saying his prayers out loud. There were only 20-25 people on the plane, and they were all laughing."

Was McNeil praying out loud? After all, he'd never flown, either.

"McNeil was like: 'Shoot, this ain't nothing,' " Illing said.

Weis escorted the wide-eyed guests all around. He did all he could to woo McNeil. When McNeil and the coaches walked through the locker room, they became emotionally overwhelmed. Oakley, the former offensive coordinator at Davie and current coach at North Forsyth, went along for the ride because he's always been a huge Notre Dame fan.

"When we went into the locker room, the Notre Dame fight song kicked in and then the Rudy theme song kicked in," Illing said. "They probably had 10 No. 8 jerseys (McNeil's Davie number) up in the lockers and told him this could be his number. That was a special moment for me and I'm sure it was for Raeshon. I looked over and Holman was crying, Oakley was crying and tears were welling up in my eyes. It was an emotional moment, standing in that locker room with all that tradition, from Knute Rockne to the Four Horsemen and on and on and on."

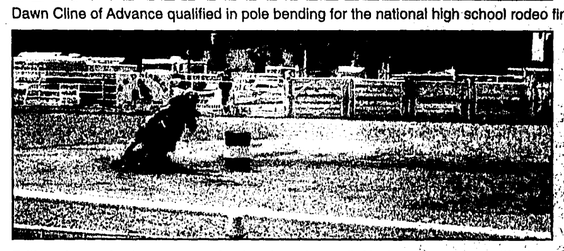

McNeil said last week his top three choices are Notre Dame, Virginia and Virginia Tech. He's taking a visit to Virginia Tech on July 8.

"When he comes back from there, he'll probably decide," Illing said.

3 Going To Rodeo Nationals

DHS Students Among 1,500

Three Davie young people have qualified for the 57th Annual National High School Finals Rodeo July 18-24 in Denver, Colo.

Brittany Taylor Logan, a 10th grader, will compete in barrel racing.

Dawn Cline, a 10th grader, will compete in pole bending.

Josh Cline, an 11th grader, will compete in bull riding.

All are students at Davie High School.

Joshua Cline, 17, of Advance, was in third place in bull riding after the state finals. The top four advance to the nationals.

Dawn Cline, 16, of Advance, his sister, qualified third in pole bending.

Although Davie High School doesn't recognize rodeo as a sport, the three competed in the state finals at Piedmont Saddle Club in Greensboro June 10-12.

The three are raising funds to attend the national finals. Call Richard Cline at 998-2130 or 682-4237.

The national high school finals will feature more than 1,500 contestants from 40 states, five Canadian provinces and Australia. It is called the world's largest rodeo.

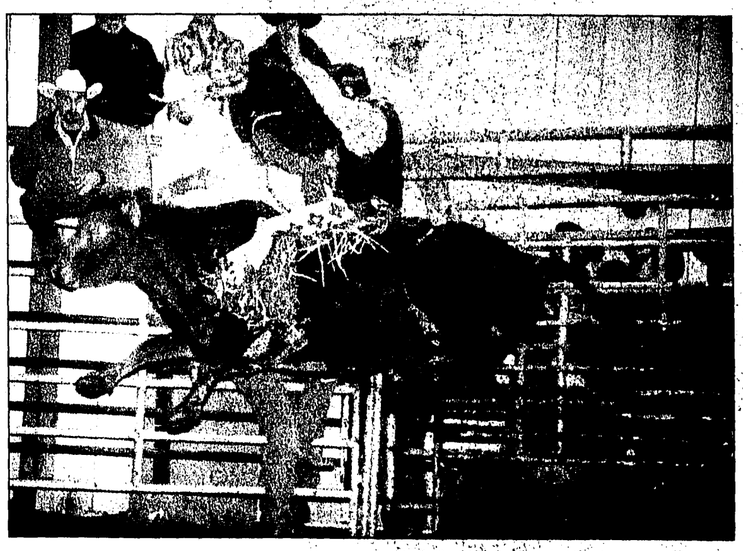

In addition to competing for more than $125,000 in prizes, contestants will be vying for more than $225,000 in college scholarships - as well as for the title of national champion.

To make the finals, contestants must finish in the top 20 after two go-rounds of competition. The Sunday finals performance will be televised on the Outdoor Life Network.

Other events during the rodeo will be a Cowboy Prom, nightly dances, a rifle shooting contest and tournaments.

Josh Cline of Advance (above and below) will be in the national high school rodeo finals in bullriding.

Davie Sports From 1972

Stan Riddle pitched and slugged the North Davie Pony League baseball team to a 9-1 win over Cornatzer at Bullard Field.

Riddle pitched a three-hit shutout until Cornatzer scored an unearned run in the last inning. Al Lewis paced the winners with three hits, while one of Riddle's two hits was a home run. North Davie also got two hits from Roger Durham, Ken Snow and David Harris.

For Cornatzer, Mark James, D. Potts and R. Ellis had one hit.

North Davie got outstanding defensive plays from Mark Jones and Dale Sherrill in a 5-2 win over Cooleemee. Riddle was again the winning pitcher as North improved to 6-1.

Atkins Defends Pudding Ridge Title

Kevin Atkins (65-76) successfully defended his title in the Pudding Ridge Am after a three-hole playoff with Seth Correll (71-70).

Atkins' uncharacteristic 76 in the second round gave some competitors hope, but his course-record 65 in the first round provided enough cushion to get him in a playoff, which he won with a birdie-4 on the third hole.

Results are as follows: championship flight - Atkins 65-76 (141), Correll 71-70 (141), Gary Pugh 72-70 (142), Richard Giles 74-71 (145); first flight - Scott Neely 75-70 (145), Jamie Caudill 76-75 (151), Gray Logan 75-76 (151), Jackson Hendrix 75-77 (152), Lance Waggner 77-75 (152) and Wayne Kiser 75-78 (153); second flight - C.W. Allen 83-80 (163), Drew Ridenhour 83-83 (166), Vince Myers 84-82 (166), Luke Phelps 85-82 (167) and Chuck Phelps 86-82 (168).

Country Club Rug & Fabric Care

"If it's cleanable, we clean it."

The succinct business philosophy of Joe Chopiin speaks volumes about the mission of Country Club Rug and Fabric Care. Joe, who owns the well-known cleaning service along with his son, Chris, takes personal pride in delivering quality cleaning to every customer, regardless of the item.

"We clean just about everything"

"We clean just about everything, from carpets, upholstery, draperies and bedding to suede, leather, animal skins and outdoor furniture cushions," he explains with a note of pride. "What the dry cleaner can't clean, we will."

And they make it easy. "We come to your door, pick up your items to be cleaned and deliver them back to you," he adds. "Or you can drop them off to us if that's easier for you."

Joe and Chris try to work within a 50-mile radius, focusing on local customers and their needs. Along with cleaning, they will also travel to the customer, move the furniture to pick up the rug and when they return, place the rug and furniture back in place. There is a minimum charge for this service.

An array of professional services

Some of the other professional services Country Club Rug and Fabric Care offers are:

- Pick-up and delivery
- Rug cleaning
- Rug Washing
- Fabric cleaning
- Teflon protector
- Repairs
- Moth proofing
- Deodorizing
- Specialized spotting
- Rug blocking
- Storing

"We have a large drying room with fans and dehumidifiers where we hoist the rugs up to dry," Joe notes. "That process usually takes about 24 to 36 hours for an average size oriental rug."

Regular cleaning promotes rug longevity

Joe loves to educate customers on what gives long life to a rug and explains that there are an assortment of reasons why people should clean them, regardless of whether they are located in a home or business.

"A clean rug has brighter, clearer colors and the wool is glossier," he says. "If this isn't reason enough, washing a rug also protects it. When a soiled rug is used, solid particles cut the fibers and accelerate wear. If a rug is to be stored, then washing it to protect it from carpet beetles, moths and mildew is a good idea."

Joe said another motive is to discover the rug's true condition. "The first washing of a newly-acquired rug may disclose virtues and faults. One may discover brilliant colors and attractive design details or painted areas and permanent stains.

"Ultimately, the truth is best."

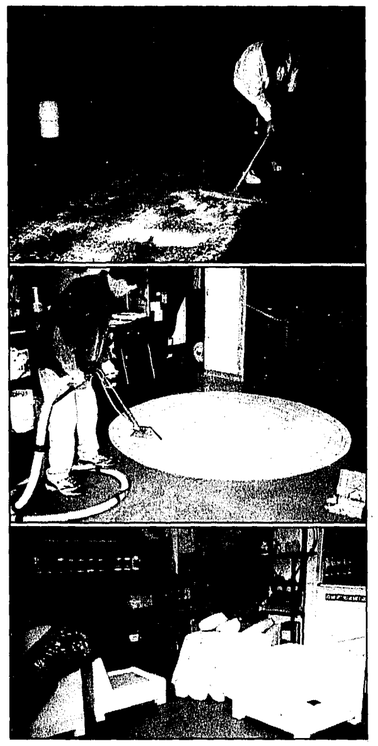

In business since 1991

Joe started his carpet cleaning business in 1991 and has been at his current Country Club location, 5723-F Country Club Road, since 1996. He notes that in addition to their complete line of services, Country Club Rug and Fabric Care also sells rug padding and rug protectors.

So take a good look at your rugs. Chances are they need some attention and professional cleaning will enable them to last longer and retain their beauty.

One quick call to Joe and Chris at 336-945-7864 makes the process quick and easy.

The "Mocksville Mountain" looks on as Mocksville battles South Rowan in a critical game that Mocksville lost, 2-1, in the final inning. - Photo by Jim Barringer

Zach Vogler reaches for an outside pitch. He leads Mocksville in at-bats and stolen bases.

John McDaniel lost despite six shutout innings.

Homer Spoils Mocksville's Shot At 1st

John McDaniel just couldn't finish. He didn't have enough gas to go the last quarter-mile.

The righthander for Mocksville's Legion baseball team bedeviled visiting South Rowan for 6 2/3 innings of a seven-inning game on June 21 at Rich Park (the game was seven innings instead of the standard nine because Mocksville was having to play a doubleheader with South and Wilkes County). He was holding a 1-0 lead with two outs and nobody on in the top of the seventh.

Ivan Corriher kept South (8-11, 4-11 Southern Division) alive with a ground-ball single up the middle. Then the No. 8 batter, Jacob Cooper, spoiled McDaniel's mastery with one swing, driving the ball over the fence in left-center and providing a 2-1 South lead. Mocksville (13-8, 9-6) loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh, but shortstop Brett Shore threw out Dan Poindexter to end the game.

The loss killed Mocksville's chance at sharing first in the nine-team SD for the first time since 1993. It wound up in second for the third year in a row.

McDaniel got a fly to right and a pop to second to start the seventh, then got two strikes on the next batter. But Corriher kept South alive. McDaniel got two strikes on Cooper.

But it wasn't meant to be. Cooper pulverized a fastball that tore Mocksville's guts out. As the bolt of lightning sailed into the trees, Coach Mike Lovelace fell back in his chair, players' eyes stared at the ground and shoulders slumped in the dugout. On the other side of the field, South fans applauded loudly, reveling in their role as spoiler.

"He was throwing strikes, getting ahead and burying us," South assistant coach Chris Anderson said of McDaniel. "He was great. That kid deserved a better fate. ... I was praying for a (Cooper) double."

The outcome left Stanly County and Rowan County tied for first at 10-5, Kannapolis at 9-5 and Mocksville at 9-6. Mocksville has been down this heartbreaking road before. In last year's regular-season finale, it was one win from tying for first and taking the No. 1 seed in the playoffs before losing 14-4 to Rowan County.

Mocksville rebounded with a 7-2 win over Wilkes County, but it finished in a three-way tie for second because it lost to one of the last-place teams (Wilkes and South tied at the bottom) one day after beating one of the teams (Kannapolis) that was in the mix for first.

Lovelace was hurt so much that he couldn't speak. He was too crushed to talk about what happened, too crushed to explain Mocksville's four hits and three double-play grounders.

"We went from one out away to being in first for the first time in 12 years to (fourth seed)," left fielder Brad Corriher said. "I knew we had a chance to come back, but it was disheartening. Me and Zach (Vogler) looked at each other and said: 'Man, this did not just happen.' We fought the whole year to get a shot to play for first and we were right there. It just slipped away."

McDaniel cruised through South's order, recording three perfect innings and facing just four batters in two others. But don't blame it all on the pitcher. Mocksville kept the door open by going 1 for 17 in the 3-9 spots in the order. Vogler was 2 for 3, but Lance Emert and Foo Smith had the only other hits.

Brad Corriher's cousins, South catcher Ivan Corriher and South third baseman Chase Deal, evened the score after getting pounded, 10-4, by Mocksville in Landis.

"Whenever we play all my family comes, and I've played AAU with a lot of the other guys on the team" Brad Corriher said. "It was for family bragging rights, and we don't have it now."

Emert's hit-and-run single pushed Vogler to third with no outs in the first, but Mocksville only managed one run, on a double-play grounder. Mocksville loaded the bases with one out in the third, but came up empty as South turned a 4-6-3 twin killer. Mocksville bounced into another DP in the sixth.

It just goes to show what can happen when you let a team hang around, especially with Cody Livengood on the mound.

"We had so many opportunities we didn't cash in on," Brad Corriher said. "It wasn't that one pitch. We just didn't cash in on opportunities earlier in the game - myself included, everybody."

Mocksville tried to summon an answer in its last at-bat. Andrew McClannon walked with one out. South butchered an easy hopper off the bat of Matt Hutchens. Vogler stepped in with two on, and he was 2 for 2 on the day, lifting his average above .400. But Livengood reached back and got him on strikes.

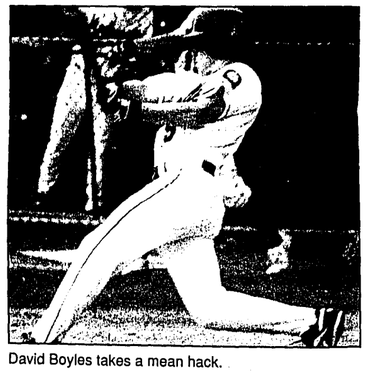

Emert heightened the drama by coaxing a walk on a 3-2 pitch, Livengood's fifth of the game. That brought up Poindexter, who came in swinging .450 with a five-game hitting streak. The tension mounted even more as he worked the count full. All three runners were moving on the payoff pitch.

But the normally-reliable Poindexter bounced out to short, just the third time in 21 games he went without a hit.

"Dan's the one guy we weren't going to let have a chance to beat us, and here he was with the bases loaded," Anderson said.

"I was so scared because he's their best hitter," Livengood said. "But I'd thrown him curveballs all day and he'd been beating them into the ground."

Notes: Mocksville lost with its best ERA man, McDaniel (3.38), on the mound. ... The Corriher family fun figures to spill into football. Brad will be a senior quarterback for Davie High, while Ivan plans to QB South Rowan.

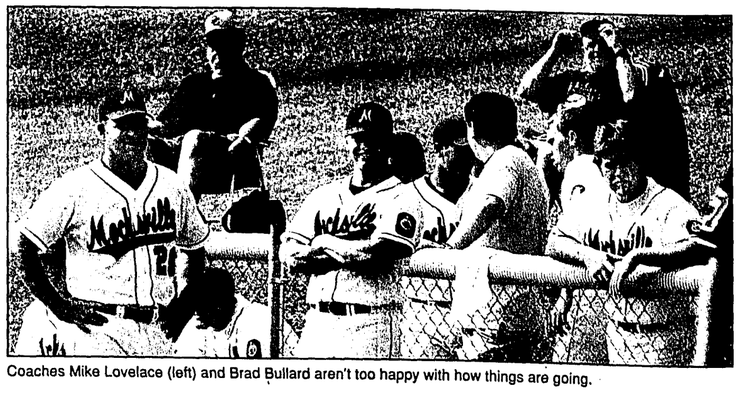

David Boyles takes a mean hack.

Mocksville Rides Pitcher Snow To Comeback Win

Disaster struck in the first inning on June 20 at Rich Park. When Mocksville committed two errors and allowed four unearned runs to visiting Kannapolis in the top of the first, it seemed like an omen of some really bad things to come.

Instead of falling out of the race for first in the Southern Division, however, Mocksville's American Legion baseball team responded again when a loss would have destroyed hopes for winning a four-team derby at the top. Mocksville followed an abysmal start with an about-face, slowly inching back in contention and pulling through 7-6.

The comeback forced a three-way tie for second between Kannapolis, Mocksville and Rowan County. Those 9-5 teams trailed Stanly County by one game.

"We kept our hopes alive to accomplish something that hasn't been done in a long time," Coach Mike Lovelace said. "I couldn't be more proud than what we did tonight."

In Mocksville's previous game, Kannapolis pulled Mocksville's pants down 14-5. The rematch two days later started as more of the same.

Snow

Smith

Corriher

Pitcher Dusty Snow's defense betrayed him and then the big lefthander surrendered a three-run homer to cleanup man Jay Hosack. Mocksville gave Kannapolis another unearned run in the second, digging the hole to 5-1.

"Before I could get out of the dressing room we had already made two errors," Lovelace said. "I get on the field and it's first and second, and (assistant coach Brad) Bullard said Snow's throwing the best game of his life."

With Mocksville backed in a corner, Snow showed stunning resolve, blanking Kannapolis from the third through the eighth. Once Mocksville decided to catch the ball, Kannapolis didn't have a chance.

"That's the best I've seen him throw in a long time," Lovelace said. "And it was against a great team. The other night they got 18 hits off of us."

Lance Emert went a big, fat 5 for 5, David Boyles was 3 for 5 and Brad Corriher was 2 for 5 as Mocksville scored six of the last seven runs.

Coming in there was little to suggest that Snow had nine machine-like innings in him. He only lasted five in his two earlier starts, and he was 1-2 with an 8.79 ERA.

He gained redemption the hard way, outdueling Nick Daniels (who was 11-2 for Northwest Cabarrus High and picked up a win in the Class 3-A state-final series), holding Kannapolis to two earned runs, fanning eight and stopping Kannapolis' seven-game winning streak.

"With us playing 23 innings in two days, we couldn't ask for more than a complete game," Lovelace said.

"I can't say enough about how Dusty pitched," Corriher said. "That was a gutsy performance. We didn't help him the first little bit. He was huge."

"Finally when we (went ahead), it was a big relief, in a close, close race for first place," Snow said. "Something was clicking, and I just kept going. Lovelace kept asking me: 'Can you go another one?' I said: 'I'm good to go.' It was just awesome."

Head-banging frustration was the Mocksville theme in the first five innings, when it stranded nine base runners. It got just one run out of a bases-loaded threat in the third. It loaded the bags with one out in the fifth, but failed to scratch, leaving Kannapolis ahead 5-4.

Mocksville finally broke through in the sixth. Foo Smith and Corriher got the big hits. Smith doubled to left-center to tie the game. Corriher hit the next pitch into right-center for a double that produced a 7-5 lead and soothed Mocksville's nerves. Both came with two outs, and they followed an Emert single.

"I've been struggling a little bit, and I came up here and hit with my dad this morning and yesterday morning and tried to get back to hitting it solid," said Corriher, who was 3 for 14 in the last four games. "He threw me a fastball down the middle and I jumped on it."

Emert showed off his bat, going 5 for 5 for the second time this season and inflating his average from .351 to .392.

"We owed them that one," he said. "I don't know how I hit the ball like that again, but I stayed back. I'm learning to keep my hands back, driving through and trusting it."

Boyles' bat was missing for two games (1 for 10). He went back to his comfort zone, pulling the ball.

"That's patented Boyles," Lovelace said. "People challenge him with inside fastballs, and that's why we have him in the seven hole."

Notes: One of the heroes was John McDaniel, who smoked an RBI single in a two-run fourth that cut the deficit to 5-4. He entered with just 20 at-bats all spring, nine for Davie High and 11 for Mocksville. ... Daniels was battered for 11 hits in five innings. ... Corriher moved to second in doubles and RBIs, trailing Dan Poindexter in both categories. ... Mocksville had lost three of four. It's been resilient, only losing two straight on two occasions.

Win Against Wilkes Salvages Tie For Second

After a crushing 2-1 loss to South Rowan in the first game of a doubleheader on June 21 at Rich Park, despair was a serious issue as Mocksville's Legion baseball team turned toward the nightcap with Wilkes County.

Mocksville had missed an opportunity to play for a share of first place in the Southern Division, and it was hard to get back up and play a last-place team. It's hard to refocus when you're still stewing over South Rowan's two-run homer in the last inning.

The regular-season finale was a big snore, but Mocksville found a way to dispatch Wilkes 7-2.

"We had played so many games in a row, and we were all just kind of lagging and our feet were dead," left fielder Brad Corriher said. "It was tough, given the situation. It was tough, but we fought through it."

Although Mocksville only mustered five hits, it found enough ammunition to score three runs in the top of the first (Mocksville was the visitor because this was a makeup game that was originally scheduled to be played at Wilkes) and three more in the third.

For all intents and purposes, those two big innings were the ballgame.

Once again, Zach Vogler had two hits while hitting safely for the 13th time in 14 games. That put him over .400 on the season. The other three hits came from Dan Poindexter, Corriher and David Boyles.

"Coach Lovelace told us if we wanted to be in second place we had to beat Wilkes," Vogler said. "We went out knowing we had to win or we'd be seeded (lower). It was kind of hard to go out there and play - just losing to South Rowan, the way we lost and the way we swung the bats."

Mocksville wasted no time taking charge. Poindexter homered with Lance Emert aboard in the first, and Corriher followed with an RBI double. Boyles stroked a two-run single in the third to stretch the margin to 6-1.

Wilkes hit solo homers in the second and fourth as Mocksville settled for a five-run verdict that was little consolation. By dropping five of nine games down the stretch, it wound up in a three-way tie for second. Mocksville, Kannapolis and Stanly County finished one game behind Rowan County, but Mocksville drew the No. 4 seed for the playoffs. South Rowan and Wilkes tied for last.

"I think everybody thought we were going to walk all over South, and the second game we knew anybody could bent anybody," Vogler said. "We hit the ball when we needed to. The first game we didn't get timely hits, and the second game we got hits with runners on base. We did the little things to win."

Brandon Johnson, who had pitched just five innings all season, rolled to his first Legion win. He pitched a complete-game six-hitter.

Legion Roundup

June 20 - Mocksville 7, Kann 6

Dusty Snow blanks a team with a seven-game winning streak for six straight innings. Mocksville's rally from a 5-1 hole includes Foo Smith's tying double and Brad Corriher's go-ahead double.

June 21 - S. Rowan 2, Mock 1

John McDaniel comes within one pitch of a shutout when South's Jacob Cooper hits a two-run home run. Mocksville only manages four hits when a win would ultimately give it a share of first place.

June 22 - Mock 7, Wilkes Co. 2

Zach Vogler gets two of his team's five hits and Dan Poindexter homers as Mocksville, which had lost five of eight, salvages a tie for second place.

June 25 - Lex 5, Mocksville 3

Andrew McClannon and Jonathon Hutchens combine for 18 strikeouts, but it's still not enough in Game One of the playoffs. Poindexter notches his sixth three-hit game.

June 26 - Lex 12, Mocksville 9

In Game Two, Lexington jumps on top 4-0 in the first and holds on for its seventh straight win. Poindexter homers and drives in four runs in defeat.

Lexington Wins Playoff Opener

Coach Mike Lovelace said. "Lexington is just doing the little things. They capitalized on key walks and an error, and they got four of their eight hits in one inning."

Mocksville's mound starter, Andrew McClannon, did his best to carry his team to victory, retiring his first seven batters and leaving with the game tied at 1-1. He struck out 10 in six innings.

McClannon kept putting himself in jams, but he somehow avoided trouble. He struck out two with the bases loaded in the third, which kept Lexington to one run. He escaped another bases-loaded jam in the fourth, again with a pair of Ks.

"He was tough whenever he needed to be," Lovelace said.

Mocksville's third pitcher, Jonathon Hutchens, made Lexington look feeble, whiffing an amazing eight in 2 2/3 scoreless innings. He faced 10 batters, or two over the minimum.

"He gave us a chance," Lovelace said.

Unfortunately for Mocksville, Hutchens exerted his presence when it was too late. That's because Lexington exploded like a shaken Cheerwine can in the top of the seventh, parlaying four hits and an error into four runs. Spencer Hodges was tagged with the loss, only recording one out.

"Hodges' ball was up and they were aggressive on him," Lovelace said.

Were it not for a close call that went Lexington's way in the bottom of the seventh, Mocksville might have rallied all the way back. With two on and one out and the score 5-3, Lance Emert was punched out at first for a 4-6-3 double play. A safe call would have brought up Poindexter with two on, and he opened the eighth with a single.

Singles by David Boyles, Matt Hutchens and John McDaniel helped pull Mocksville from 5-1 to 5-3. But after the disputed call against Emert, six of Mocksville's last seven batters went down.

"We've struggled a lot with lefthanders," Lovelace said.

Notes: Jonathon Hutchens got seven of his eight strikeout victims swinging. ... Mocksville was 2-0 against Lexington, winning the regular-season contests 6-4 and 11-7. ... This marked Poindexter's sixth three-hit game. He rose to .449, tying for the best average in team history (Shane Wagoner hit .449 in 1990).

Poindexter Production Legendary

categories is absurd. Add 17 walks/hit by pitches, which stand second to Foo Smith's 19, and Poindexter's season seems even more unbelievable. What's more is he's hit safely in 21 of 24 games.

"People have tried everything they can to pitch around him, and the only thing that works is the intentional walk," Lovelace said. "With balls six to eight inches off the plate (in Game One), he found a way to get three hits."

Lovelace calls Poindexter a throwback. He's more Levis than Ralph Lauren, more pickup than Escalade.

"He doesn't put on batting gloves or wristbands," Lovelace said. "He'll put a little dirt on his hand and he'll look at the first pitch every time."

Game Two was symbolic of the way Poindexter uses all fields. His first hit was a towering homer to left, his second hit was up the middle and his third hit was to right-center.

"The first time he struck out on a nice breaking ball," Lovelace said. "The next time he singled and he said: '(The pitcher) tried to pitch me the exact same way he did the first time.' That's someone who understands the game and knew what was coming. You can't play him pull or straight up. He's going to hit it wherever it's pitched.

"Guys constantly throw him away, and he feasts off mistakes."

Barracudas Lose To Loaded Peacehaven Team

The Bermuda Run Barracudas played host to the Peacehaven Dolphins last week in one of the largest meets of the season.

The Barracudas put forth a great effort and placed well in races, but in the end the size and talent of the Peacehaven team took its toll on the Barracudas, said Coach Christin Howard.

"This was a tough loss, but we're not too discouraged. The team knows they swam their best. We're looking forward to the next challenge, and hoping for a win against The Elks/Grandview," Howard said.

The Barracudas have a bye after this meet, and plan to use that extra practice time to hone their skills. No meets have been rained out. Two ended early, but enough events were completed to constitute a complete meet.

Bermuda Run has two meets left in the season before finals.

The following were the top swimmers for the Barracudas this week:

Oak Valley Coaches Catherine Nitz, Drew Esposito and Brent Gaither rally the troops.

With a flag and Go USA!! on his chest, Joe Boyle sings the National Anthem. Sherry Stancliff holds the microphone.

Oak Valley 2nd Among 30 Pools

Oak Valley finished second on Friday in a championship swim meet among 30 Winston-Salem-area pools.

The meet pushed the Orcas one step away from the coveted championship crown.

Perennial champ Sherwood claimed the title again, but Oak Valley's strong finish allowed it to leap-frog other powerful pools, including Brookwood and Waterford.

For a team that took more than two years to claim its first win in a dual meet, Coach Brent Gaither said Oak Valley has shown a fierce desire to succeed.

"After going 0-7 and 0-7 in the first two sensons, they have made one of the fastest turn-arounds in the league," he said. "It's a competitive appetite by the swimmers and the parents. This is such a tremendous accomplishment for us."

Oak Valley finished fourth last year and had set a goal to finish in the top three this year. Gaither saw his team do one better.

"Our kids really took charge," he said.

He took 60 swimmers with him.

Oak Valley was led by Nolan Day, Palmer Benson, Daniel Wendel and Autumn Jones.

Day claimed three gold and three silver medals.

Benson took two silver and two bronze medals.

Wendel took two gold and two silver medals.

Jones took five silver and one gold medal.

The 7-8 girls medley relay team — Teddi Utt, Caitlyn Radatovich, Morgan Wininger, Blakley Gantt — took gold.

The 9-10 boys relay team — Michael Mebel, Brendan Radatovich, Zach Coffey and Nolan Day — took two silvers.

The girls 13-14 relay team — Taylor Moore, Molly Graham, Autumn Jones and Katelyn Jones — took two silver medals.

Oak Valley also split two dual meets last week, winning over the Davie Devil Rays and narrowly falling to Sherwood.

The Sherwood meet — interrupted two weeks ago by lightning — was Oak Valley's first loss of the season.

"It was disappointing," Gaither said. "They just outswam us. They were missing some kids in that first meet. We were missing some this time. It was a fun meet. Some of our best times came in. It was exciting even though we were unable to pull the upset."

Sherwood has not lost in two years. The meet had been suspended with Oak Valley holding a 121-120 lead.

"They were worried," the coach said. "They were clearly rattled the first time. I felt like we would pull the upset. There was a serious tone. We're moving ahead. If not this year, then next."

Sherwood won 521-423. The Orcas closed the gap by 40 points over last year.

The Devil Rays meet had a family reunion tone. Gaither grew up swimming for that team, formerly Hickory Hill, which has struggled after losing its home pool two years ago. Gaither let his swimmers know before the meet that this one was for fun as much as competition.

"We stress sportsmanship every night, but these are our neighbors," Gaither said. "If our kids swim in high schoool, they will swim with these kids. That's where I got my start. Even though their numbers are down, they still have some tremendous swimmers."

The Orcas swim against Brookwood of Clemmons this week — hoping to post its first-ever win over that team. Only Brookwood and Sherwood in the league remain undefeated against Oak Valley.

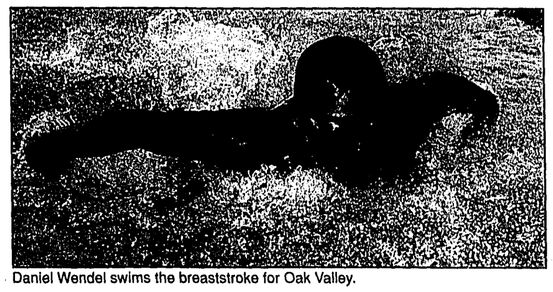

Assistant Coach Catherine Nitz gives Trevor Poppe a lift our of the pool.

Team mom Gloria Bartelt gives Blakley Gantt her swim assignment.

Jessica James and Teddi Lett are proud Orcas.

Daniel Wendel swims the breaststroke for Oak Valley.

Kristen Dray, Kathryn Bennett and Meredith Bennett are happy members of the Oak Valley team.

Jennifer Booth and her mom, Sheryl Booth.

The Davie Devil Rays swim team members Anna Lee Tutterow, Taylor Lankford, Hayley Lambert, Emily turner, Jacob Lambert and Tanner Junker in the pool.

Coach Jeff Mighion helps Maggie Goad out of the pool,

Cindi Freeman encourages her children, Peyton and Kirsten.

Devil Rays Go To Brookwood, And Oak Valley

The Davie Devil Rays had two meets last week - at Oak Valley and at Brookwood.

"Everyone is working really hard and swimming well," said Coach Jeff Mighion.

The Can-Do Swimmer for the week of June 20 is Rebecca Hendrix.

Swimmers of the Week for June 20 are: 6&under, Zachary Howell, Maggie Good; 10&under, Beau Byerly and Hayley Lambert; 11&over, Steve Jarvis and Anna Smith.

A Joyful Sound

Seats Family Combines Music, The Lord For Special Message

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

In 1976, Billy Seats was on that first van that Turner's Creek Baptist Church sent out to surrounding communities.

"I was their first van kid," he says with a smile.

Nowadays, Seats is preaching to the "van kids" of 2005. Every Sunday, some 65-70 people hear Seats preach at Southside Baptist Church in Yadkinville, half of them under the age of 16, many of those arriving by van. Like him in the 1970s, it's their only connection to church and the Lord.

They'll likely hear stories from Seats' life, ones they can relate to, and ones that relate to the Bible. And they'll hear - and play and sing - music. Banjo, mandolin, guitar, keyboards. Seats thinks that getting children interested in music will get them interested in church, and in the Lord.

Seats said he was saved in 1989. In 1995, he began preaching.

And for his work since then, he was awarded a doctorate degree from

Spillman-Atkins Engagement Announced

Paul M. Spillman and Connie P. Spillman of Farmington announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida Leann Spillman to James Larry Atkins Jr. of Mocksville, the son of Barbara Atkins of Mocksville and James and Stella Atkins of Winston-Salem.

The bride-elect is enrolled in the medical assistance program at Forsyth Technical Community College. The groom-to-be is a graduate of Appalachian State University with a master's degree in physics.

A Caribbean wedding is planned for Aug. 11 in St. Lucia.

Davis-Baity Couple United In Marriage

Suzanne Elizabeth Davis and Joshua Matthew Baity were united in marriage at 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 25 at Macedonia Moravian Church in Advance. The Rev. Roger Kimball officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Davis of Winston-Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chamberlain of Advance. Her maternal grandparents are Virgil Hartman of Winston-Salem and the late Ms. Treva L. Poindexter. Her paternal grandparents are Ralph Davis of Winston-Salem and Eva Payne of Mocksville. The bride earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from High Point University and a certificat de Langue Practique Francais from L' Universite de Lumiere, Lyon, France. She will be attending Salem College this fall to pursue a master's degree in education.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baity of Yadkinville. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T.R. Wagoner of Boonville and the late Mr. Leo Bryant. His paternal grandmother is Blanche Hutchens of Yadkinville. The groom earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Davidson College. He is a unit supervisor for R.J. Reynolds in Tobaccoville.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore a strapless, ivory ballgown with hand-beaded bodice. She carried a hand-tied bouquet of ivory and pink roses.

The bride chose Jennifer Doby Davis of Lewisville, her friend, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were: Jordan Baity of Dobson and Julia Baity of Yadkinville, sisters of the groom; Brittany Chamberlain of King, step-sister of the bride; Kristin Colahan of Lyon, France, friend of the bride; and Christina Johnson of Jamestown, step-sister of the bride.

Madeline Linville, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

Celebrate July 4th With A Picnic

By Robin Lowder
Davie County Enterprise Record

On July 4th, our country will celebrate one of the most patriotic of holidays with the likes of parades, ballgames, speeches, re-enactments, fireworks and picnics. The Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4th, 1776 and the celebrations for that time were sporadic at best, but the people of this great nation one year later still wanted to remember the significance of that document with the lighting of candles, guns being fired and the ringing of bells.

To this day, the celebrations have grown and the food has changed somewhat over the years.

I can envision a pig being cooked on an open pit alongside some form of fowl and maybe a little beef and long tables assembled under trees filled with such things like sweet cakes, apple pies and what ever bounty of vegetables from the current year's crops. Nowadays, one can only imagine the wholesome and honest taste of foods prepared in such a natural setting.

Although there are those out there who would argue, we cook outside on a bar-b-que. It's just not the same thing. During the late 1700s, the American people didn't have to worry about the chemicals that could be creeping into their food from the charcoal lighter fluid or the gas grill. The fruits and vegetables were free of pesticides and the grains were free of preservatives. I realize the life expectancy was not as long back then, so I guess some good can be said for preservatives.

How we cook and what we cook has come along way, but Americans sure know how to celebrate. Picnic foods have come long way from just hotdogs, hamburgers and lemonade to smoked salmon, caviar and champagne. Being a country girl at heart, I do like to experiment, but you won't catch me going too far out on a limb.

When planning a family outing or picnic, I believe in starting with the youngest member of the family and asking each person what they would enjoy sharing with the rest of the family or group and have them help by preparing the food. Sometimes the simplest of foods can make a great meal. Making homemade pimento cheese, egg salad or chicken salad can be a snap and they are easily transported.

Putting together a picnic basket can be a great way of bringing a family together. Assign each family member certain items to be in charge of packing. Be sure to include the essentials: cutlery, paper plates, napkins, cups, salt, pepper and a trash bag. Don't forget the cooler for ice, drinks, mustard and ketchup and it is also good to have a separate cooler that will not be opened often to house things like hamburger, hot dogs, cold cuts and anything that contains mayonnaise, such as potato salad and deviled eggs. Pack your choice of breads, crackers and snacks and you're almost ready to go. Oops. It should be a crime to forget dessert. Pick a good soft quilt or comfy lawn chairs and head to the park to catch a fireworks display.

Whatever your plans are for the holiday, have a safe and happy 4th of July.

Tips and Hints

• If your picnic includes homemade chicken salad or other salads that may require mayonnaise, mix all ingredients for your dish in an air tight container placing it in a cooler until ready to use. Take a fresh jar of mayonnaise with you and add the mayonnaise at the last minute.

• Send recipes on the following subjects to share with other readers: ice creams, summer vegetables and kid's favorites to: rdlideas@triad.rr.com or P. O. Box 693 Lewisville, NC 27023.

Beefy Baked Beans

Submitted by Linda Harmon of Mocksville

1 pound ground chuck
1 large chopped onion
1 (8oz.) can tomato sauce
1 (32 oz.) can pork and beans (do not drain)
6 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon karo syrup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup ketchup
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown the ground chuck and the onion in medium skillet and drain well.

In a greased 9 x 13 casserole dish, mix all the above together. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Linda says she doubles this recipe for groups of 10 or more and uses a deep tin foil pan.

Easy Pork Chop Sandwiches

8 thin sliced, boneless pork chops
1 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon hot sauce
1 cup Kentucky Kernel seasoned flour
1/2 cup canola oil
4-6 buns
1 small tomato, sliced
4-6 lettuce leaves
Mayonnaise and mustard

Place milk, egg and hot sauce in medium bowl and beat for 2 minutes with a fork. Place pork chops in milk mixture to soak for 5 minutes.

Place seasoned flour on a plate. Set aside

Pre-heat canola oil in a large skillet on medium heat.

Dredge pork chops in the flour and place in hot skillet. Cook pork chops until they are golden brown on each side. Drain on paper towels.

Place mayonnaise or mustard on a bun; add pork chop, lettuce and tomato. Serves 5-6 depending on size of pork chops. (You can put two small pork chops on a sandwich.)

Fried Apple Pies

Crust
2 cups All Purpose flour
2/3 cup chilled shortening
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
6-7 tablespoons ice water
2 c. Shortening (to fry in)
Filling
6 Granny Smith Apples, peeled and diced
4 tablespoons butter
1 and 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon cloves
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
3/4 cup packed brown sugar

For pie crust, combine flour, sugar and salt and cinnamon in a medium-mixing bowl. Cut in shortening with a fork until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add ice water and stir until mixture forms a soft ball. Refrigerate for 30 minutes. Remove dough from refrigerator and place on a floured surface and roll to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut dough into six-inch circles. Set circles aside

Meanwhile, place apples and butter in a microwave safe dish. Cook on high for 7 minutes. Remove from microwave and add cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg and brown sugar, return to microwave and cook for an additional 5 minutes. Remove from microwave and cool slightly.

Place shortening in a 12-inch skillet and heat. Place 2 tablespoons of filling in each circle, fold and crimp edges. Place pies in hot oil and fry until golden brown. Remove pies to a paper towel. Serve hot or cold. Makes 6-8 fried pies.

Essay Contest To Be Part Of Center Fair

The Center Fair committee met June 20 to work on plans for the Sept. 10 fair.

One of the additions this year will be the essay contest. Such a contest in 2003 got a good response. For ages 9-13 and 14-18, the topic will be "My Best Friend," for others who remember, the topic is "Life Before TV." Tell your story.

First and second place essay contest winners will receive a cash prize.

Entries should be between 250 and 300 words, typed or written neatly. Do not put your name on the entry. As a fair exhibitor, you will receive a number and that will be placed on your entry.

Entries will be judged based on content, expression and creativity, originality, grammar and neatness. Entries will be displayed and winners announced at the fair. Winning essays will be printed in next year's fair catalog.

The Historic Center Arbor will be available this year. Exhibits and some of the entertainment will be under the arbor.

There will be a gospel quartet that will sing about 3 p.m. Other entertainment will include a brass ensemble from Davie High School.

There will be vendors and other activities throughout the day. And don't forget the barbecue. Center firefighters will join members of the community association to serve barbecue Friday, Sept. 9 and Saturday, Sept. 10.

Rodney and Michelle Cline of Advance announce the birth of a son, Tucker Jacob Cline, at 12:03 a.m. on June 20, 2005 at Forsyth Medical Center.

Tucker weighed 7 lbs. 7 oz. and was 20.5 inches long.

Maternal grandparents are Marlene and William Blackmon of Winston-Salem and Drs. William and Frances Moon of Cartersville, Ga.

Paternal grandparents are Gerald and Brenda Cline of Advance.

Lizzie Beck Reeves ... and in a photo from 1959.

The members of Liberty Wesleyan Church reported that they enjoyed a special Father's Day service June 19 that included guests from High Point and from as far away as Florida.

Josephine Anderson Horton, originally from Iredell County, is a long-time resident of Calahaln where she lives on property adjoining her son, Roger Anderson. A member of Mt. Bethel United Methodist Church, Mrs. Horton is a certified lay speaker. She has recently filled the pulpit for Mt. Bethel and also for Cool Spring United Methodist Church.

Heather Miller and Justin Dyson were honored at a bridal shower Sunday afternoon in the fellowship hall of New Union Methodist Church, hosted by family members. Justin is the son of Terry and Sandra Dyson.

A surprise birthday party for Lizzie Beck Reeves and Zelma West Reavis was given Sunday afternoon at the Sheffield-Calahaln Community Center. Both ladies turned 90 years old on June 28. Lizzie has always lived in Sheffield. Zelma, who is originally from eastern Davie County, has been at home in the Turkeyfoot area for a number of years. Lizzie's daughter, Phyllis Reeves Williams and Zelma's daughter, Brenda Reavis Reeves coordinated the event. Brenda is married to Lizzie's son, Bill. Also attending was Lizzie's son, Eugene. In addition to her three children, Lizzie has six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Besides daughter, Brenda, Zelma has another daughter, Wincie, and two sons, Richmond and John Frank.

Several other people from our area recently celebrated birthdays. Christi Ward's special day was June 20. She is married to Kevin Ward, and they have a daughter, Morgan.

Dell Foster, whose birthday was June 21, spent that evening with his parents who came from Pfafftown to have dinner with him in Mocksville. The following weekend, he and his wife Karen, with their two children and other family members, enjoyed a cook-out in the North Carolina mountains in his honor.

Members of Andy Drye's family, including his parents Lanny and Linda Drye, joined him and his fiance`, Brandi Beck, along with friends, at Logan's Roadhouse in Statesville Wednesday, June 22 to acknowledge his birthday.

Also on Sunday, a luau was held for James (Jim) N. Anderson, who was celebrating his 70th birthday. Although originally planned as an outdoor event in Calahaln, rain showers necessitated moving the party to Center UMC Family Life Center. Guests participated in the theme by wearing festive, colorful outfits, and enjoyed such treats as fruit cakes and cheese straws. Hosts were Jim's sister Alice and her husband, Mickel Barnette. They were assisted by their daughter Sabrina Conrad and her husband, John, along with their son Greg Barnette and his fiance`, Amanda Matthews.

Mr. Anderson taught at West Forsyth High School for 31 years and was pleased that many of his former students and co-workers attended. He enjoys singing in the choir at First United Methodist Church, where he serves as assistant organist. He is also a caregiver for his mother, Sarah Anderson, who makes her home with him.

Please remember Lucille LeVan, former Calahaln resident, in your prayers. She continues to have heart problems, and must now use oxygen full-time. She is residing at Statesville Manor.

Please continue to send your news to me at 492-5836 or to my email, jvfjordan@hotmail.com.

Bermuda Village recognizes residents celebrating their birthday each month with a dinner party. Last Wednesday residents celebrating June birthdays were honored.

Festivities began in the dining room with a table fea-turing turkey breast, bread stuffing, cranberry sauce, and a steamed medley of fresh vegetables. After dinner every-one headed for the living room for dessert and an iced Kahlua coffee. The dessert table was decorated with a summer floral centerpiece. Items in-cluded mini-cheese cakes, cream puffs, eclairs, lemon squares, frosted brownies, chocolate covered raisins, and bite-size chocolate pieces. Iced coffee was topped with Kahlua, whipped cream, and dash of chocolate syrup.

Kinderton News

Kinderton Correspondent

The first Patriotic Bicycle Parade in Kinderton Village will be held July 2. We will meet in the green area on Windsor Circle and ride up Bellhaven Drive to the clubhouse where the contestants will be judged and awards will be given. Everyone should come early so you don't miss the parade, which starts at 10 a.m.

Have you seen the nice sidewalk that was poured last week in front of one of the estate homes on Brookstone Drive that looks over the green area on Lakefront Drive. As it comes down from the large porch it curves outward as opening arms to welcome visitors.

My neighbors Nadine and Mike Baker welcomed a beautiful baby girl in April. Her name is Sophie and she is enjoying Kinderton, as she strolls over the neighborhood with mom and dad.

Remember when Amber and Taylor Johnson sold all those Girl Scout cookies? It really paid off Sunday when their Girl Scout troop went to Carowinds. I bet they had a great time. I can't wait to buy more of those cookies.

I was so excited as I left the meeting that the Town of Bermuda Run had last week in the Kinderton business section. We all talked about the benefits of planned growth. We listened to Gerry Mignacca, chair of the town planning board, tell us of the continuous growth anticipated in the area of eastern Davie we know as Hillsdale.

"As we travel and visit the unplanned areas in North Carolina, I often feel these areas look the same and refer to them as 'Anywhere USA.' Davie County is a great place to live, and we enjoy a wonderful quality of life. I sincerely believe that special planning for future growth will help manage and ensure that unique quality and benefit our county as the place to live and work," said Mignacca.

Pedestrian friendly sidewalks, streetlights, green areas, walking paths, commercial design guidelines and landscaping requirements were a few things mentioned to keep the residential and commercial areas unique.

The overall theme for the information meeting was summed up for all of us to consider: Quality Planning + Quality Growth = "Somewhere Special, USA!"

Clarksbury United Methodist Church wishes to thank everyone who supported the barbecue chicken dinner to benefit Starr Simmeran. A check for $7,300 was presented to Starr for support of her liver transplant. Praise the Lord for everyone's support.

Clarksbury will have a patriotic celebration Sunday, July 3. The celebration will begin with games and fellowship at 4 p.m. The sanctuary choir will present a patriotic program at 5 p.m. A family cookout will begin at 6 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Society Baptist Church will conclude Vacation Bible School Thursday night with a commencemet and worship rally followed by a cookout and fellowship. Everyone is invited.

Remember Salem's Vacation Bible School will be 7-9 p.m. July 13-15.

Saint Matthew's Lutheran Church Homecoming this past Sunday afternoon was attended by more than 50 former members, relatives, and friends. After a building, grounds, and cemetery fund financial report by Lawrence Cartner and invocation/blessing by Glenn "Buster" Hendricks, everyone enjoyed a bountiful picnic dinner on the grounds. Much appreciation was expressed to those individuals who voluntarily help maintain the grounds. Sunday, June 25, 2006, will be next year's homecoming.

In concluding our "Ketchie Connection," we proudly feature more photos of some of our County Line folks who were married by the Rev. W.F. Ketchie. We hope you have enjoyed this flashback of some early County Line bridal couples and the impact of the Rev. Ketchie upon our community. We appreciate greatly those who have shared their treasured family photos dating back to the 1870s.

Many families will be traveling this weekend. Regardless of plans, we wish each of you a safe and happy July Fourth.

James D. and Maggie Felker Walker were married by the Rev. Ketchie on Jan. 6, 1884, as witnessed by George Felker, Johnny D. Felker and Laura R. Felker. James and Maggie settled on Grady Lane and reared their children, Edna, Luther and Cordie - all of whom reared families nearby.

We welcomed the Rev. Harry Sherrill and wife Julene Sherrill of Mt. Airy as visitors to the Methodist church Sunday for worship service. Rev. Sherrill is a former pastor of our church.

A beautiful cut flower arrangement was placed on the altar at the Methodist church Sunday in memory of Mrs. Paulina Barney's 107th birthday, given by grandson and his wife Randy and Jill Barney. Mrs. Barney died last year just before her 106th birthdy.

Ronnie Smith, Methodist church organist, taught the Sallie Sue Peebles Sunday School/ Mens Bible Class Sunday in the absence of our teacher, Harold Zimmerman. Harold was away on a church retreat for the weekend. Thanks to Ronnie for a wonderful lesson.

Reta Vogler celebrated her birthday Sunday, June 26 with many cards and well wishes from the church congregation. She is recuperating from a stroke.

John Farley of Arlington, Va. and friend Arnold Edwards of Harrisonburg, Va. spent from Tuesday to Thursday with John's grandmother, Edith Zimmerman. This is the first time Edith had seen John since he returned from a 3 month "Semester at Sea" trip around the world. He traveled the third world countries and had 'thousands' of pictures to share with Edith. We only got to Japan, China and parts of India, others will be seen later. John was so fortunate to be ahead of the tsunami in Thailand and the earthquakes in other parts of the tour. On Wednesday afternoon Edith and the boys enjoyed going to The Lucky Four Kennels on Burton Road to see the minature horses and the show beagle dogs, also a visit with aunt Bess Bennett in the Cornatzer community. John and friend Arnold are rising seniors at James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Va.

Dona Carter and daughters Lindy and Hayley Carter have returned from a cruise to the Bahamas. Hayley got to meet the dolphins at the Blue Lagoon in the Bahamas which was very exciting, she also celebrtaed her 11th birthday while on the cruise. They especially enjoyed the 'formal night dinner'.

Get well wishes go out to Stella Vogler who underwent surgery Monday at Medical Park Hospital in Winston-Salem.

Frances Robertson is in Whitaker Care Rehab after open heart surgery at Forsyth Medical Center last week. She is suffering from fluid on the lungs and other complications.

It's not the technology.

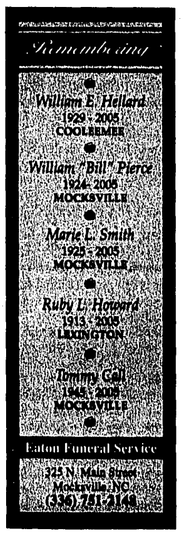

It's the people.

"Yadkin Valley's been a good neighbor around here for over 50 years, and I remember when that was pretty much all they provided — good, reliable telephone service. Things have changed. Today, as a YVT Data Services Technician, I can set your home or business up with any kind of state-of-the-art communications service you want. That includes high speed Internet and, now, Envision Digital Cable Television, with more of the channels you want, and a lot less expensive than the other cable TV companies. You'll get better service with us, too. After all, we're part of this community...right here, where we've always been, just a short drive or a local phone call away when you need us."

Family Shares Music, And A Love For The Lord

West End Bible College on April 23, when he spoke to fellow graduates. Members of his church sacrificed to give him an engravved gold watch, he said.

"God just gave me a heart for people," Seats said, "to try to love them even though they may not love themselves. One man said that our church seems to want the ones that noone else wants. I took that as a compliment."

Seats, wife Teresa, daughter Katie, 16, and son Able, 11, travel throughout the Southeast, conducting revivals and meetings most of the year. On weekends, they're back at home, conducting the weekly auctions behind their home in northern Davie, and ministering to the people of Southside Baptist Church.

"I give glory to the Lord," Teresa said. "We try to put the Lord first in our life. There's no sacrifice, it's a joy."

They try to make all children in the church feel the same. They've cleaned dirty babies and clothed them, and they've loved every child and adult that walks through the church doors.

At age 2, the babies in the church get a toy guitar.

"We feel like if we can get them interested in music and church, we can keep them out of trouble down the road," Teresa said.

Billy said that dealing with other people's "discouragements" is worth the trouble. "What's kept us going is when I go to church and open the van door and a whole line of children line up and say, 'Hey, Preacher Billy, I love you'."

Tears come to his eyes when he talks of a 3-year-old baby born to drug addicts, who almost blind, seeks out Preacher Billy to hug on Sundays. "Actually, I hold her, and I use it in the Lord holding you when you seek the Lord to hold," he said.

And there's the music. It brings Seats' family together.

His father taught him the guitar. Teresa's family was musical, but her father tried to teach her brothers, not her.

The interest in music started again when their church didn't have any music. She is self taught on the mandolin.

"I kept praying for God to send us a piano player. I didn't realize, but he did, and it was Katie," Teresa said.

Their children have taken to music naturally.

"Katie played 'Jesus Loves Me' on the piano with one finger," he said. She learned to play bass guitar. And she sings.

When Able came along, so did another musician. They got him a doghouse bass to play - and lean on - so he would quit holding onto his mother. By age 3, he had learned to recognize the sounds of the instruments and copy what he heard.

One day, Billy and Teresa thought they heard Katie practicing on the piano. It wasn't her. It was Able, who had taught himself to play by listening to Katie. He can also play the mandolin, banjolin, steel guitar and fiddle.

"He plays six or seven instruments," his mother said. T

The Seats family travels most weeks, playing music and conducting revivals and church meetings. Those are held Monday-Wednesday. By Thursday night, they're back at Southside conducting services. Auctions are held in a barn behind their house on Friday and Saturday nights, and on Sundays it's back at Southside.

On many Mondays, they're back on the road.

The children are home schooled, and much of their work is done in a vehicle, Teresa said.

Everywhere they go, Seats sees examples he can use in the pulpit. Everyday people, going through everyday problems. "Even in the darkest times of our life, God is developing our faith," Seats said.

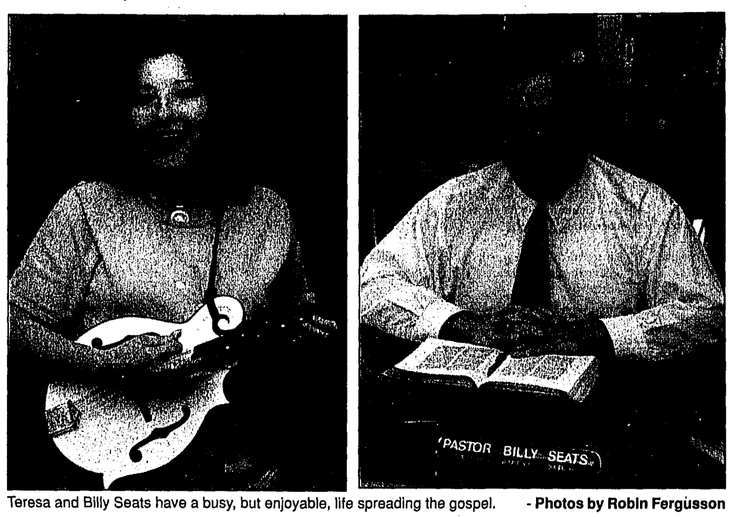

Along the way, the children have received more than education from books. While serving a church in Virginia, the family was asked what they wanted to do on a day off. They wanted to see the White House, and one of the church members had connections.

The family received a personal tour, and had lunch there. They toured the Rose Garden, and got to play with President Bush's dogs, Miss Beasley and Barney. "When we walked in, they handed me Miss Beasley," Katie said. "Barney growled at me," Able said.

"They've learned to love it," Seats said of his children. "Katie's got the best voice, and he's (Able) got the most talent with the instruments."

Seats loves to see children grow to love the Lord. He loves to see adults do the same.

"I just believe that God is able to change anybody's life. Every family can have a happy home if they just accept Jesus Christ," he said.

Teresa and Billy Seats have a busy, but enjoyable, life spreading the gospel. - Photos by Robin Fergusson

Foundation Making A Difference

The Community Foundation of Davie County announced its first round of grant awards from unsolicited requests in May, selected by the grant distribution committee from proposals submitted in what will now be an annual grant cycle with a March 1 deadline.

The focus for 2005 grants was youth and literacy projects.

"The Community Foundation chose these two focus areas because issues were consistently raised in both of these areas in community surveys and interviews," said Jane Simpson, foundation president. "This focus will change in future grant cycles. One of the important aspects of any community foundation is its ability to change as community needs change. This will be important in 20, or 30, or 50 years. We do not know what issues Davie will face. The only thing we know for sure is that they will be different."

Grant dollars were awarded from the Community Unrestricted Fund, the Abe and Miriam Brenner Unrestricted Fund, and "Let Your Money Talk" funds contributed at the end of 2004.

"We are pleased to make our first round of grants," said Simpson. "We know that this is the beginning of continued support for projects within the county. We look forward to the day when the foundation can award even greater dollars for community causes. We continue to work to grow the endowment, especially unrestricted dollars. As the endowment grows, so do the funds available for Davie County."

The following five awards were made to organizations for projects impacting youth and/or literacy in Davie County:

• Big Brothers Big Sisters Big Buddy Program – Matches volunteers with elementary children during the 2005-2006 school year. $3,500.

• YMCA – Davie County Literacy Initiative – Trains volunteers to work one-on-one with adult non-readers in a comfortable setting to improve their ability to read. $3,000.

• Davie County Public Library – Youth Advisory & Book Review Board – Purchase books for teens, meeting expenses & guest speaker honorariums. $2,375.

• Cooleemee Elementary School - "Fishing for Knowledge" – purchase books for elementary children summer reading program. $2,000.

• Community Foundation of Davie County – Youth Grants Board – empowers young people to address issues affecting young people in their community. $1,200.

(Total funds available for granting by Youth Grants Board in 2005 will be $5,000)

"It was a difficult decision for the Grant Distribution Committee. All of the requests were important, but in the end I think all of the committee agreed these five grants were the best use of our limited dollars," said Sally Smith, committee chair. "Based upon their unanimous approval, our board of directors obviously agreed with the recommendation of the committee."

The Community Foundation of Davie County, Inc. "serves to provide pathways for caring people to leave a legacy that will shape the future of our community."

"We 'Connect People Who Care with Causes they Care About'," Simpson said. "The community foundation works to promote a spirit of giving in our community and build a permanent endowment that is invested eternally. Earnings from the endowment will benefit Davie County charities and projects that are important to you forever."

The foundation accepts gifts in any amount, at any time, toward its Community Scholarship Fund and its Community Unrestricted Fund. A variety of options for establishment of named funds in honor or memory of loved ones is also available. To learn more, contact Simpson at 753-6903 or jsimpson@daviefoundation.org or visit the foundation web-site at www.daviefoundation.org.

This is the first in a serious of articles about the foundation, its donors and beneficiaries.

Big Buddy James Kyle has fun with his "Little Buddy" in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program.

This new "Teen Corner" has been created at the Davie County Public Library. Community Foundation grant funds will purchase books for teen readers and sponsor guest speakers for teens.

Free HIV Counseling, Testing Available At Health Department

Efforts to promote HIV testing by the National Association of People with AIDS and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) are encouraging people "to take control of their health and their lives by taking the test".

Local health departments and HIV prevention organizations across the country encourage people to seek counseling and testing for HIV.

HIV - the human immunodeficiency virus - is a virus that kills the body's CD4 cells. CD4 cells help the body fight off infection and disease.

AIDS - the acquired immunodeficiency syndrome - is the disease one gets when HIV destroys the body's immune system. Normally, the immune system helps fight off illness. When the immune system fails, one can become sick.

The first United States cases of AIDS were identified in 1981, but AIDS most likely existed here and in other parts of the world for many years before that time. In 1984 scientists proved that HIV causes AIDS.

CDC estimates that 180,000 to 280,000 people nationwide are HIV-positive but don't know it. HIV counseling and testing enables people with HIV to take steps to protect their own health and that of their family and friends. It also helps people who test negative for HIV get the information they need to prevent infection.

Many of those who are infected with HIV are unaware of their HIV status and may unknowingly be transmitting the virus to others.

Anyone can get HIV.

The most important thing to know is how you can get the virus. You can get HIV by having unprotected sex with someone who has HIV. The virus can be in an infected person's blood or certain body fluids and can enter your body through tiny cuts or sores in your skin or mucous tissue.

You can get HIV by sharing a needle and syringe to inject drugs or sharing drug equipment used to prepare drugs for injection with someone who has HIV.

You can get HIV from a blood transfusion or blood clotting factor that you received before 1985.

But today, it is unlikely you could get infected through blood products because all blood in the United States has been tested for HIV since 1985. Babies born to women with HIV can also become infected during pregnancy, birth, or breastfeeding.

You cannot get HIV by working with or being around someone who has HIV. You cannot get HIV from sweat, spit, tears, clothes, drinking fountains, phones, toilet seats, or through everyday living, such as sharing a meal. You cannot get HIV from insect bites or stings. You cannot get HIV from donating blood. You cannot get HIV from closed-mouth kissing.

It is important to know how to be protected from exposure to HIV. Don't share needles and syringes used to inject drugs, steroids, vitamins, or other medications, or for tattooing or body piercing. Don't share equipment used to prepare drugs to be injected. The surest way to avoid transmission of a sexually transmitted disease is to abstain from sexual activity, or to be in a long term mutually monogamous relationship with a partner who has been tested and you know is not infected.

For persons whose sexual behaviors place them at risk for sexually transmitted diseases, correct and consistent use of a condom can reduce exposure. However, condoms are not 100 percent effective and cannot guarantee protection. The more sex partners a person has, the greater the chances are of getting HIV and other diseases.

Don't share razors or toothbrushes because of the possibility of contact with blood. If you are pregnant or planning to become pregnant, talk to your doctor or your local health department about being tested for HIV. Drug treatments are available to help you to reduce the chance of passing HIV to your baby if you are infected.

A person can have HIV and feel perfectly healthy.

HIV testing is the only way to know for sure if you are infected. Taking the test is one way a person can start to take control of their health.

Free and confidential HIV counseling and testing is available at the Davie County Health Department. This service is available during regular business hours Monday-Friday from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1-4:30 p.m. except for Wednesdays from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. The health department is located at 210 Hospital St. in Mocksville. Walk-in visits are welcome for HIV counseling and testing.

For this and other information about HIV/AIDS go to www.cdc.gov/hiv; or contact the health department at 751-8700.

Program Provides Flowers To Seniors On Birthdays

Davie Senior Services delivers flowers to homebound senior citizens on their birthdays.

And they need flowers.

Volunteers can donate the flowers, and senior services staff will provide the vase, card and delivery with a smile.

If interested, call Senior Services at 751-0611.

Volunteers Are Needed For Meals On Wheels

Go somewhere that really matters - to a homebound senior citizen's home to deliver a hot, nutritious lunch.

Volunteers deliver the lunch meal to seniors who can't cook for themselves. If you can give about an hour once a day, once a week, once a month or whatever suits your schedule, you can become a homebound meals volunteer.

Call Davie Senior Services at 751-0611 for more information.

GETTING TO KNOW JESUS

Do you...
...ever hear people talk about Jesus and wonder about what you hear?
...wish you knew more about the Bible, and want a good place to start?
...want to see for yourself what the Bible really says, rather than what others say about it?

AUTHENTIC RECORD

While many books have been written about Jesus and while we have heard many things said about him which may or may not be true, there is one absolutely reliable source of information -- the Bible itself. Four New Testament books -- Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John -- tell the original, authentic story of Jesus.

Isaacs Performing At Farmington This Saturday

Dove Award Winning bluegrass/gospel recording artist The Isaacs will be featured in a musical event on Saturday, July 2 at the Farmington Motor Sports Park in Mocksville.

This event begins at noon.

This popular family group, comprised of family matriarch Lily Isaacs, son Ben Isaacs, daughters Sonya Isaacs and Rebecca Isaacs Bowman, as well as son-in-law John Bowman, originally organized 30 years ago. Their musical influences encompass varying musical genres, including bluegrass, rhythm and blues, contemporary acoustic and Southern Gospel, creating a unique style of their own, as they marry bluegrass harmonies and instrumentation with modern Gospel lyrics.

This unique style has captured the hearts of listeners nationwide. Honors and accolades have flowed their way. This year they received a Dove Award from the Gospel Music Association, as well as two International Bluegrass Music Association Award nominations. They have enjoyed regular appearances on the Grand Ole Opry, and throughout 2005, in addition to their own concert events, the group will perform in excess of 60 dates on the Gaither Homecoming Tour with Gospel Music Hall of Fame songwriter Bill Gaither.

On Saturday, July 2, this musical family, enshrined in the International Country Gospel Music Association Hall of Fame, will bring its unique musical presentation to the Farmington Motor Sports Park in Mocksville. The family's performance will include many songs which have soared up the Southern and Bluegrass Gospel music charts nationwide, including "He Ain't Done Me Nothing But Good," "I Surrender All" and "Heroes," which became the group's most recent Top 40 hit earlier this year, as well as their current radio release, "Friend Till The End."

Cooleemee Gets New Street Signs

COOLEEMEE - The town has new green signs on aluminum posts on many streets.

Earlier this year, town commissioner, Jean Cornatzer, noticed that some of the town's street signs were missing from the posts. Some were too faded to read. Some were bent, and some posts were leaning.

She made a list.

Then, Cornatzer presented her findings to fellow commissioners. Heading up the project, Cornatzer submitted designs and cost estimates to purchase 20 new street signs and 10 posts, plus installation hardware.

The board approved moving forward with the project.

The new signs are made of heavy gauge aluminum, green with white lettering.

"The color and lettering on the street signs is eye-catching and makes them easily visible," she said.

The town plans to continue the project of replacing old signs with new ones.

Cooleemee Civitan Club members volunteered to install the new signs and posts.

Cooleemee Civitans installing new street signs in the town are Ralph Polk (on ladder), Dude Jordan (at bottom of ladder) and C.D. Turner Sr. in the back.

Vet Office Opens

Dr. Duane Barnett has opened Mocksville Animal Hospital at 1138 Salisbury Road.

Barnett, of Davie County, has been practicing veterinary medicine since his graduation from Auburn University in 1991.

"Our hospital is offering full veterinary services for dogs and cats, with future plans to include the care of horses," he said.

The office is open Monday-Friday from 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Saturdays by appointment. The telephone number is 753-8438.

Churches Plan Bible School

First Presbyterian and Holy Cross Lutheran churches will sponsor Vacation Bible School July 17-22 at First Presbyterian, 261 S. Main St., Mocksville.

The first night of Bible School will begin at 4:30 with a family cookout. All other nights will begin at 5:30 with a meal for the participants.

Classes will be from 6-8 using the theme, "A Voyage to Jesus, A Passage to Peace."

There will be dinner, class time, arts & crafts, and singing each night. There will be classes for students from age 2 to adults.

The Bible stories participants will learn about will be from the Gospel of John: Feeding the 5,000, Healing of a Man Born Blind, Washing the Disciples' Feet, The Resurrection of Jesus, and Breakfast by the Sea.

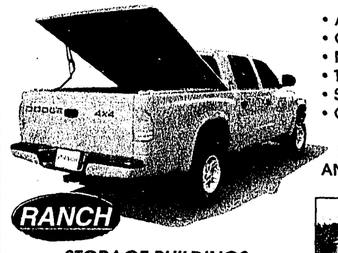

Come aboard the SS Peacefinder for a voyage to the Sea of Peace.

To register or for more information, call First Presbyterian at 751-2507.
