Town Residents Concerned With Safety At RiverPark

By Wendy Horne
Davie County Enterprise Record

The Cooleemee Town Board approved the 2006-07 budget following a public hearing June 20.

A tax rate of 38-cents per $100 valuation will remain.

The town expects to receive a small percentage increase for sales tax, utility franchise tax, beer and wine tax, and each household will be charged $10 for collection services.

Some of the specific expansion expenditures include a 3% salary increase for all employees, funds to maintain and improve the police department building, funds to begin leaf pick up for residents inside the town limits, and funds to begin clean-up at Holler Park.

Although few residents attended the public hearing, concern was expressed over the operation of the Riverpark.

"The people who are frequenting the park look at it as a place to drink and have fun," said Clarence Spillman. Spillman asked the board for an explanation as to why this was being allowed.

Debbie Spillman also voiced concern over the funds allocated for the Riverpark project. "That project is getting more money than the school. Is there not some way the board could give more money for our children - either through the school or the pool?" asked Spillman.

Following the hearing, Commissioner Frances Parker addressed concerns. "In the past, funds for the school have gone up as the fiscal year progresses and additional funds are realized. The board hopes to be able to continue that."

Commissioner Earl Lester addressed concerns regarding the Riverpark. Lester said that three meetings had been held in the last 30 days regarding how incidents would be handled by Davie and Rowan law enforcement. Lester said both counties had agreed to respond to calls at the Riverpark.

"The town wants the Riverpark to be a place where kids can be taken. Steps are being made to fix things. We all want the park to be a place where Cooleemee residents can feel safe and be proud," said Lester.

Reflections Art Show Coming

The Davie County Arts Council's Art Works Committee will host Reflections: A Perspective of Davie County's Past & Present art show.

Works of art will be on display at the Historic Jailhouse & the Brock Performing Arts Center July 17-Sept. 8.

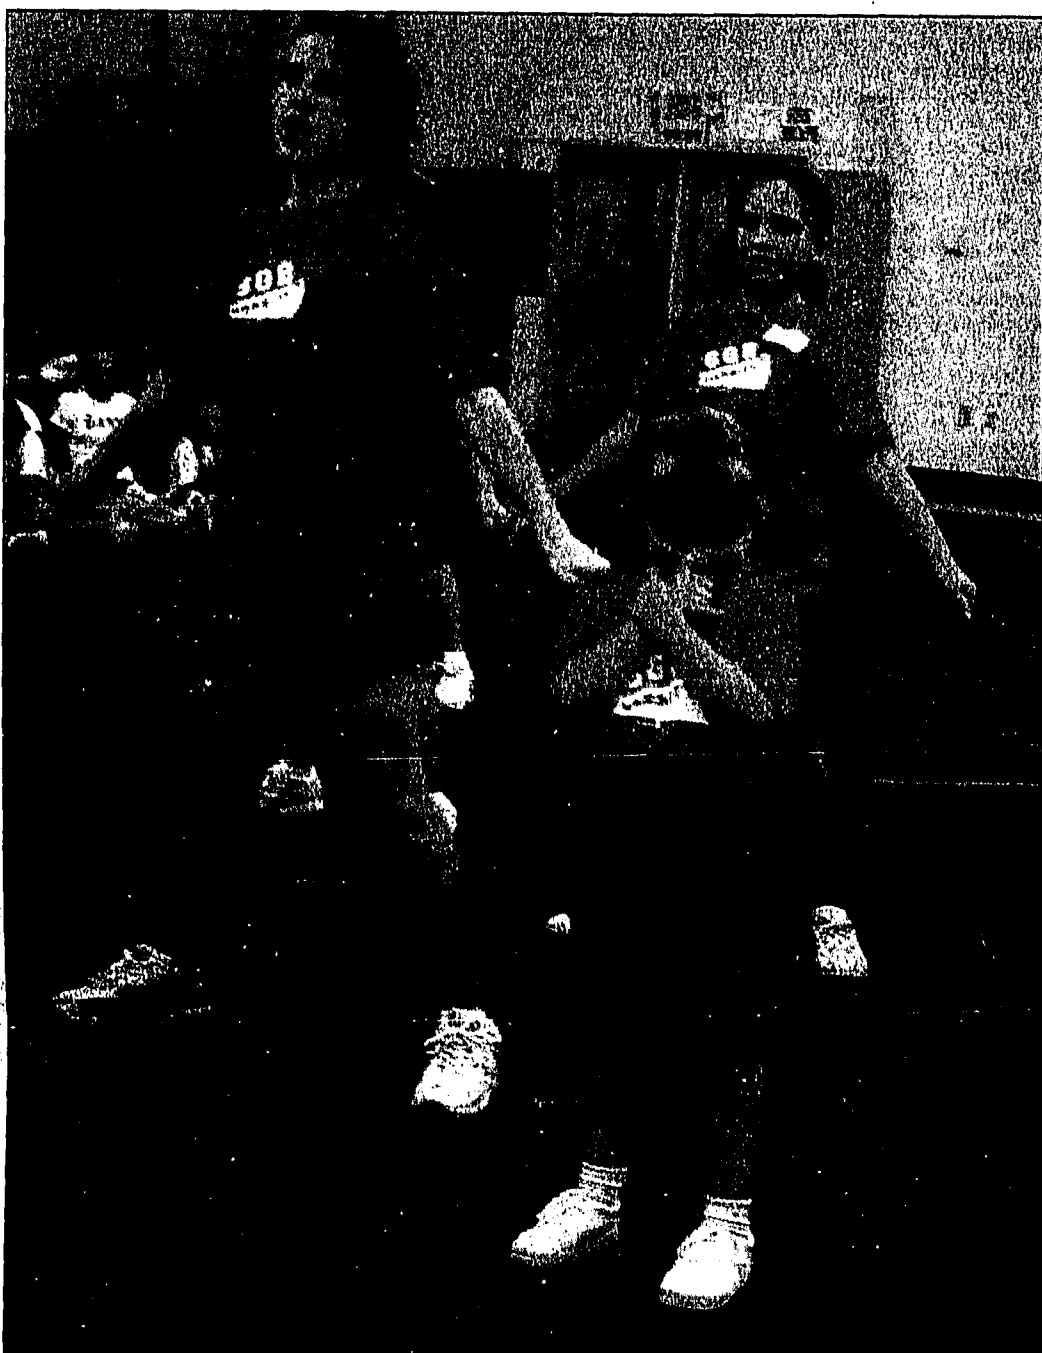

The project is part of a larger event being organized by Historic Davie, the Daniel Boone Family Festival is Aug. 18-19 to commemorate the 250th Wedding Anniversary

Downtown Luxury Developer Says Mocksville Right Place For Townhomes

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The market is out there.

Empty nesters with money, some leaving sizeable estates, others with vacation homes in the mountains or on the coast.

They want to be a part of preserving history. They want to live in a safe, friendly environment. They want amenities close by.

Downtown Mocksville has all that, and Howell Dunlap, managing partner at Dwell Development in Winston-Salem, believes that Colonel Austin's Way being developed at Main and Lexington streets will become the town's newest community.

The townhomes aren't normal. For one thing, there's the price - $600,000 and up. Nine units will be built on the 1.2 acre tract. The garden built by Hugh Larew will remain largely intact. The old jail, which was designed and built by Col. Henry Austin in 1883, will remain, as will an old doctor's office from Cana, which will be a building for residents.

The three-story, 3,000 square-foot units will be serviced by an elevator, with four bedrooms and four and a half baths. Top of the line construction materials and workmanship will be used.

"They want every bell and whistle," Dunlap said. "Home prices have escalated, and this type of alternative is viable.

"They really don't want a smaller space. That want something that's less maintenance. It may be the final home they buy. We've got something that's fresh and innovative

Pirate Kite Breaks Free At The Beach

It was the finest of kites — a pirate's skull on a black field — and it was a flier.

Day after day, it raced up to the sky — tethered by the 300-foot line. It danced up there.

Everyone admired it. Little boys and girls walked by me at the beach, gazing up and squinting at the distant pirate. Women and men looked, too — saying what a fine kite it was.

"It's really up there," a young boy told me.

He was right.

"How long did it take you to get it up there?" an elderly woman wanted to know.

Mere seconds. With the steady wind of the beach, the reel screamed as I let the kite run. We tied the line to the beach chair and let that pirate stay up for hours.

I bought it for $2.50 at Ben Franklin before we left for the beach last week. At the beach, I knew, it would have cost three times that, but it was the pirate, more than the price, that attracted me.

My little boy, 7, is a pirate. His favorite clothes sport pirates, so why not a kite?

I have had many kites — big and small, expensive and cheap, trick kites, kites with 20-foot streaming tails, box kites and more. This kite was for Michael.

For days, he let me be the captain. He paid it little heed, preferring, instead, to build sand castles and play in the surf. Then, he took charge.

With my help, he wound the kite in, only to release it, over and over.

Long ago, I learned never to give a kite all the string — always hold something back. Kite spools aren't always tied securely at the base.

Near the end of the day, we had brought the kite almost down when Michael let it run once more. The old pirate took advantage of him.

Michael gave him the full line, and the string whipped off the end of the spool.

The pirate was free — and heading inland. It sailed until we could see it no longer — never losing altitude.

My very shocked son was left with an empty spool — and some tears.

The pirate is gone, but he was a fine one.

It was a good week at the beach.

The transformation isn't complete, but I'm increasingly forsaking my beloved mountains for the beach.

In my salad days, I would hike the mountain trails and camp in the wilderness, as far from the crowd as I could climb. God seemed a little closer up there — His open-air temple situated among the towering trees or by the clear streams. The worries and problems of society were far, far away.

But with children...

The beach is easier, and they like it better.

There are fewer parental worries, too. On the beach at low tide, they have the world's largest sand box to play in — acres and acres of flat land — within easy view. You can't lose them at the beach.

I have just returned.

We spent the early mornings working crossword puzzles. My bride has introduced me to crosswords, and I have slowly figured out some of the techniques. Between the two of us, we can usually master them.

We read Mr. Popper's Penguins and a host of other children's books to the youngest son. Al Gore once said that was his favorite book, which may be the real reason he lost the election.

We had two children's books-on-tape to play for the ride down and back. Both books were for about three and a half hours. For the first time, we didn't hear the words, "Are we there, yet?"

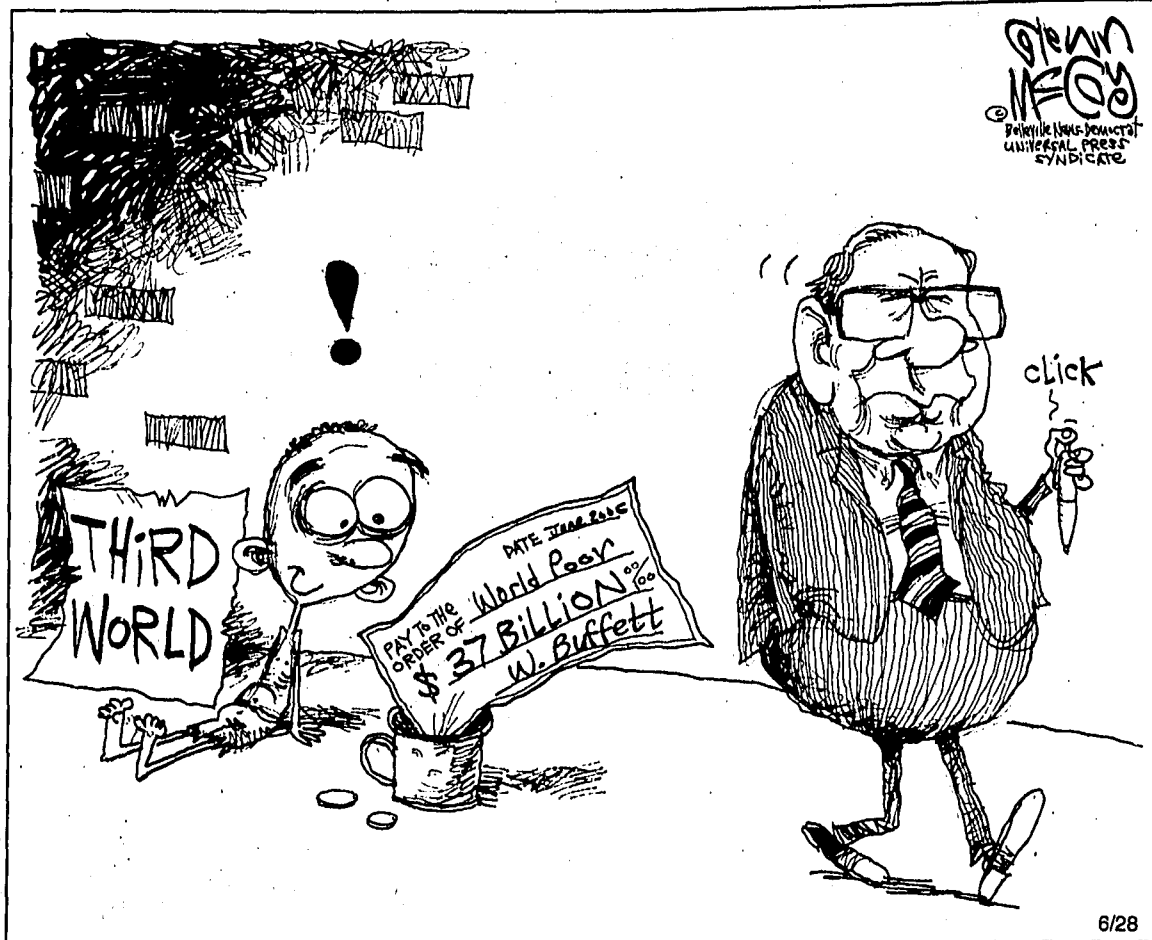

The flower projects on the highways are the best I remember. Day lilies are in full bloom, and they are stunning. We stopped and gawked at a day lily farm in South Carolina that had hundreds of varieties. There are some locally, too, that sell roots to those who want to take them home, and this is the best time to see the colors.

Back at home, my own day lilies aren't doing badly.

Neither are the tomatoes.

They aren't ripe yet, but it's almost time to stock up on mayonnaise and sliced bread.

In The Mail ...

Time For Some Democrats

To the editor:

I've read several letters to the editor from the good citizens of Davie County who are angry at the tax increases imposed upon them by the board of commissioners. I would remind the residents of Davie that their taxes have been raised constantly over the years by Republican commissioners, since only Republicans are ever elected in Davie County. The angry letter writers to the Enterprise can vote the three commissioners out who raised their taxes and replace them with three other Republicans, and so on and so on, who will continue to do the same thing. The Republicans in Davie County have no one to blame but themselves for the tax rates they are paying because Republicans have been in power in Davie forever. There are no checks and balances in Davie County.

Of course, the Republicans will counter by saying that if Democrats were in control the taxes would be a whole lot higher. That is a nonsensical argument since any Democrat who would ever be elected in Davie County would know it would be political suicide for the party to raise taxes. Any Democrat ever elected to a commissioner's office in Davie County who was facing the dilemma of cutting programs or raising taxes would be forced to cut programs for the sake of staying in office. There's only one tax and spend party in Davie County and it's the Republican Party.

If the residents of Davie County really want a change in how politics are done they need to go to the polls, and if need be hold their noses, and vote to put some Democrats on the board of commissioners. And if Democrats are ever elected to office and immediately vote to raise taxes they will know for sure they will never be elected again.

Though I am a Democrat I have not kept up with the Davie County Democratic Party since I have lived out of the county most of my adult life, but surely there are some good and responsible people in that party who would do their best for the residents of Davie County. I remember that one of my high school teachers, Mr. E.C. Tatum, was a former leader of the party. Mr. Tatum was a great man and I am sure there are others like him who would give balance to the board of commissioners.

I would like to say one more thing to my fellow citizens who are appalled at having to pay more taxes. Rep. Virginia Foxx, who represents the 5th congressional district of which Davie County is a part, voted for two bills in the 109th Congress which speaks louder than words on her priorities. She voted on the one hand for HR 4297 which will give $90 billion in tax cuts to the richest people in the country. On the other hand she voted for HR 609 which will add $6 billion to the amount that middle class students, like my daughter, will have to pay on college loans. On July 1 my daughter's interest rate on her future loans went up 40%.

Ninety billion dollars given to the wealthy; 6 billion plus taken away from the middle class. If you agree with that, then vote to reelect Foxx. I will vote for whoever is running against her. Our country and our country needs a change.

Mark Denton, Mocksville

Are Commissioners Deaf?

To the editor:

It is indeed encouraging that nearly a month after the Davie County commissioners met and voted to raise taxes 5 cents, one car hear residents of this county continuing to express their concerns of how their money is being spent. If you stop and listen, their voices can be heard in the grocery stores, the local restaurants, and even this weekly paper expressing their views. They are aware of all the new homes being built all over the county. Estimated taxes on a lot with a new home is approximately $1,170 and up. Customers are coming out of Wal-Mart knowing they have paid a 2% tax on their purchases which remains here in the county; and why does an industry have to be given incentives just to come here?

The commissioners did indeed turn a deaf ear to the people who put their trust in them, and the only way we can be heard is when we go to vote.

Just Read The Word

To the editor:

Deuteronomy 22, "Let's Look Like Women." On Sunday, remember the Sabbath Day and keep it holy. Men and women should read the whole chapter for themselves. God wanted me to tell you to read the word. You don't have to believe what I said, just read the word.

Christians are to obey God's Word. Jesus said it and I believe it. Lillian and Lee V. Pruitt

Memories Of Downtowns

Sometime ago I read that only four little towns in North Carolina still had a downtown business area. Everything was moving to shopping areas. Those mentioned were Mocksville, Spruce Pine, Southport, and I can't remember the other one. Even though we now have three shopping centers and a Super Wal-Mart, with other businesses nearby, I'm thankful we do still have downtown Mocksville.

Our town square is a sight to behold at Christmas time. We have the four big oak trees that are lit and the uptown buildings are all outlined with lights. The planters in downtown Mocksville contain small trees that are all lit and enhance the beauty of the square. In fact, these uptown planters have blooms year round and flowers bloom around the four oak trees in the parks on the square. We should thank these people periodically, who keep our square looking so pretty year round. This takes time and work. I know, because in my younger days I spent time and energy trying to grow flowers, with little success. I always hoped but my thumb never did turn green. I have never seen any town prettier than ours at Christmas.

Downtown Forrest City is supposed to be noted for its beauty at Christmas but it was certainly no prettier than ours when I saw it years ago.

My sister and I are familiar with Spruce Pine. In 1975, her husband had a severe heart attack and was hospitalized for three weeks in the Spruce Pine Hospital, where he received excellent care. Spruce Pine is near Little Switzerland where we have vacationed for many years. We attended First Baptist Church in Spruce Pine when we were on vacation. When Jimmy was in the hospital, people would call from across the street to ask about him and offer help. Saturday morning in Spruce Pine was a busy time and there was a lot of traffic on the main street uptown. It reminded me of the traffic Mocksville used to have on Friday afternoons. I had the misfortune to have a flat tire on a Saturday morning on that busy street. I could not believe people were so nice. They would stop and ask if they could help and nobody seemed upset or mad about it. In due time, it was fixed and things were back to normal. Of course, that was sometime back and I realize that nowadays people don't seem to have the patience they once had. Everybody is in a hurry. One day we went into one of our favorite stores. Nobody was there. We looked around a little and then went on down the street. We met the proprietor and he said he guessed we'd been in the store and did we want anything. Imagine leaving a store unattended today. One store, in which we've shopped for many years, is McCalls, which carries a large line of clothing. The salespeople know you and always seem glad to see you.

We had a friend, Ruth Wiseman, a native of Spruce Pine, who lived here in Mocksville for a time and attended Central Baptist Church in Spruce Pine. I'll always remember once when my sister and her husband were in Little Switzerland, Ruth invited me for a weekend. My sister and husband said they were going to First Baptist on Sunday and I said I was going to Central with Ruth. When we arrived at church, I went with her to the choir room and they said that their pianist was away that day and would I play the piano with their organist. I said I'd be glad to because that's the way we did it in my church at home. After a bit, they were going over the special and they turned to me and said "Our strongest alto is not here. Can you sing alto on this number?" Well I'm really not a singer but when I did sing I sang also because I could never reach the high notes. I looked at the music and told them I thought I could handle the alto. At the last minute, a lady came rushing in, out of breath, and she said, "Oh here's our alto. You go back to the piano" (which I hadn't been to yet). When I walked out to the piano in the sanctuary, I glanced at the congregation and the first people I saw were my sister and her husband, who I thought were at First Baptist. I'm sure they were surprised to see me go to the piano.

I don't know anything about Southport. I have not been to the eastern part of the state in a long time. I have been to Caswell years ago but don't remember seeing Southport. My sister and I and Claire Wall (later Grose) spent a weekend at Caswell Baptist Assembly Grounds. What we did not know was that, unlike Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly Grounds, Caswell closes down on weekends, having just regular services for the staff. Others are welcome, of course. The weekend we were there, the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Shore happened to be there and he brought the Sunday morning message. It was a long trip down and we were tired and hot when we arrived (no air conditioning back then.) When we went to register, the man at the desk said he didn't know where he could put us. He kept saying he just didn't know where we could stay. I became quite upset and produced our confirmation. I told him I'd like to talk to Richard Redwine, the director of Assembly and a relative of ours. About that time, Mr. Redwine showed up and the clerk told him that he had not assigned us a room because the whole place was empty and he just didn't know where to put us. Well, that was a shock. At least we were relieved. We were assigned to a huge, three story building that had been a General's Headquarters during the war. I think the other couple was assigned there during the weekend. We were told that the power usually went off for awhile every night. We had a quiet weekend. It was certainly different from what he had expected. Ridgecrest is always such a busy, crowded place.

I am not as familiar with eastern N.C. as with western N.C. I remember my first trip to Wrightsville Beach in 1918 or 1919 when I was 6 or 7 years old. I remember seeing few houses. I didn't see many people but I remember one lady down on the beach giving me a large conch shell and telling me that when I got home I could still hear the ocean roaring in it.

Changing the subject, I enjoyed Dwight Sparks' editorial about raising his three boys and about their piano lessons. Having worked with more than 600 boys and girls during my 57 years of piano teaching, I think I learned a lot about children. I came to realize that not all children are intended to be musicians. However, I still maintain that a fair amount of musical knowledge will give them a deeper appreciation of music throughout their lives. Many of my students, with whom I have kept in contact, have children and grandchildren who are playing the piano or some musical instrument. Many are serving as pianist in their churches, which makes me proud. I did enjoy Robert Sparks' piano concert at the June Retired Teachers meeting at Bermuda Run. He did so well. I see a bright future for him in music.

Raleigh Report: Budget Conferees Agree

By Julia C. Howard
NC House of Representatives

The end of the fiscal year on June 30 has come, and I am pleased to report that state budget conferees have reached an agreement for the 2006-2007 year.

While an agreement has been reached, both chambers of the General Assembly will not vote on the conference report for the budget until next week. Details will be included next week.

To recap the budget process, the Senate passed its version near the end of May and the House completed its version on June 15. A conference committee was appointed to reach a resolution on the budget before the 2006-07 fiscal year beginning July 1. "Differences between the House and Senate plans that have been resolved include pay raises for state employees and Medicaid funding for counties. The Senate proposed a 5% pay raise for state employees while the House proposed a 5% pay raise and an additional $300 bonus. Both have compromised on a 5.5% pay raise for state employees.

Another issue that has received much attention from members of both chambers is Medicaid funding for counties. Currently, counties across the state pay 15% of the non-federal Medicaid costs for residents residing in the respective county.

The Senate proposal included no additional funding for the county-share of Medicaid while the House version caps Medicaid costs for all counties at the 2005-06 levels. The cap would save counties $42.4 million next fiscal year. Davie is projected to pay out almost $1.7 million over the next fiscal year for these Medicaid costs. For years, I have been urging members of the General Assembly to begin the process of lifting the great burden of Medicaid off of the shoulders of counties. I will provide you with more details next week, including any Medicaid relief for Davie County provided in the new budget agreement. Both chambers of the General Assembly passed a continuing resolution that will enable federal grants for social services and all other state programs to continue at current levels until July 7.

The House and Senate are expected to take the first vote on the budget on Wednesday, followed by a final vote on Thursday.

Along with extensive work completed on the budget bill, the House also passed Senate Bill 700 Flag/Pledge of Allegiance in Schools. This bill directs local school boards to implement policies requiring the display of the United States and North Carolina flags in every classroom and requires that an opportunity be provided for the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance on a daily basis. Current law encourages local school boards to implement such policies but this piece of legislation will make it a requirement. This bill requires schools to provide instruction on the meaning and origins of the flag and the Pledge of Allegiance. The Senate passed this bill last year and the House passed the measure on Friday.

The House also considered Senate Bill 774 Seat Belt Use Enhancements in Committee that would require all automobile passengers to wear seatbelts. Currently, all front seat passengers and children under the age of 16 are required to wear seat belts. This bill would amend the law to require all passengers, including adult passengers in the back seat, to wear seat belts or face a $25 fine. The seat belt law in place was enacted in 1985. Over the past three years, statistics have shown that a backseat passenger is over twice as likely to be killed in a car accident. Proponents arguing for the added seat belt requirement point to evidence showing an increased risk of death for drivers and other front seat passengers when passengers in the rear of the vehicle are not buckled. On the other hand, many opponents of this bill believe that drivers should be free to make the personal decision to buckle up in the backseat rather than being forced to make the decision by the state. This bill has passed in the Senate and will likely be considered on the House floor this week.

Next week's newsletter should contain additional information about the new budget agreement for next fiscal year.

times of Davie County's past and present. Cash prizes will be awarded $300 for first place, $200 for second and $100 for third. Artists are invited to enter up to three works that have not been previously exhibited at an Arts Council show. Works submitted are not guaranteed entry and will be selected by the Art Works Committee.

The Historic Jailhouse is located at 284 S. Main St., Mocksville. The Brock Performing Arts Center is at 622 N. Main St., Mocksville. For a prospectus, contact the Arts Council at 751-3112 or info@daviearts.org, for more information, check the website www.daviearts.org.

Boone Facts

Daniel Boone, 22, married Rebecca Bryan, 17, on Aug. 14, 1756. According to James Wall's "History of Davie County," they lived in a cabin near Mocksville owned by Daniel's father before building a cabin on her family's land near Farmington. The Boone Family Festival will be held in Mocksville Aug. 17-19, highlighted by a downtown festival on Aug. 19.

here we like to find sites with a unique quality and build around it to make it look like they have been there together."

Dwell is developing a similar project adjacent to Korner's Folly in Kernersville.

The development will include a small garden for residents to use. A brick wall will face US 64, and extra insulation in the front should take care of traffic noise, said Ken McDaniel, an architect with Walter Robbs Callahan and Pierce.

"It's a win-win for Mocksville," Dunlap said. "We're preserving the jail ... and the life-time work of Hugh Larew with his garden, and we're creating nine upscale townhomes in which families will come here and participate in the community. That's what new urban is all about."

People who buy at Col. Austin's Way will be interested in preserving history, he said. Century 21 Triad is marketing the project, with Elizabeth Swicegood as lead agent. She and husband Kyle also see the project as a plus for Downtown Mocksville.

"The people who choose to live here are interested in a maintenance free, carefree lifestyle without giving up living space," she said.

"Downtown Mocksville has fantastic walkability. You can walk to restaurants ... to the library ... to the Brock (Performing Arts Center) ... to churches," Kyle Swicegood said.

Using the slogan "Where History Meets Today's Home," Dwell hopes to break ground by the end of the year.

The Swicegoods give much of the credit for the project to the current property owner, Steve Robertson, who moved his businesses there. The property no longer suits his needs. Two older homes on the site will be moved.

Robertson had plenty of chances to sell the property, but those potential owners wanted to raze the land and start from scratch. He didn't want that. The old jail, and Larew's garden, both needed to be preserved.

Robertson and Dunlap are friends, talks progressed, and Col. Austin's Way was born.

"It's going to be fantastic for Downtown Mocksville. It will be the first new community in Downtown Mocksville in a long time," Kyle Swicegood said.

Peebles Opening Here On Aug. 9

Peebles will open its new Mocksville store on Aug. 9 in Squire Boone Plaza on Yadkinville Road in the former Wal-Mart building.

Peebles offers clothing for the family, plus shoes, accessories, jewelry and home gifts. Brand names include Izod, Reebok, Sag Harbor, Rafella, Clarks, Liz Claiborne, Chaps, Levi's, Carter's, Nike and more.

The store has its own brand credit card, and a VIP program that rewards frequent shoppers. A four-day grand opening celebration is planned, starting with a ribbon cutting ceremony on Wednesday, Aug. 9 at 8:45 a.m. All shoppers can get a 15% discount grand opening shopping pass, and the first 150 age 16 and older on Wednesday and Thursday will receive free gifts - a canvas tote bag on Wednesday and an umbrella on Thursday.

On Friday and Saturday, all customers will receive a $10 Reward Card good for future purchases. Three, $500 gift cards will be awarded from among those who register those first four days.

A subsidiary of Stage Stores, Peebles operates more than 560 stores in 31 states throughout New England, the Mid-Atlantic, Southeast and Mid-West.

Smart Start Of Davie Gets Good Audit Report

Smart Start of Davie County has a clean bill of fiscal health, according to the Office of State Auditor. An audit of 2004-05 Smart Start activities found no instances of non-compliance or weaknesses in internal controls.

The audit looks for compliance in three core areas: accuracy of financial statements, how the partnership processes and authorizes transactions such as grants, accounts payable, payroll and cash receipts, and contract compliance.

"We are very pleased with our results," said Ruth Hoyle, board chair for Smart Start of Davie County. "We have worked hard to use every tax dollar wisely to help our county's children, and this audit shows we have done just that."

Smart Start, North Carolina's nationally recognized public-private initiative, was created in 1993 with a mission to ensure that every child in the state arrives at school healthy and ready to succeed. Smart Start financially supports programs that increase the number of quality child care centers, provides education credits to child care workers, supports parent education programs and offers preventive health screenings for children.

The N.C. Partnership for Children places emphasis on local control, coupled with strict accountability, oversight and tough measures to ensure fiscal integrity. Local Smart Start partnerships undergo biennial financial and compliance audits by the state auditor.

Markland-Bolynn Couple Married In Yadkinville

Joy Elizabeth Markland and Talon Dwayne Bolynn, both of Clemmons, were married Saturday, May 13, at Courtney Baptist Church in Yadkinville. The Rev. Ricky Atkins officiated at the 5 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Gaither and Ann Markland of Mocksville. Her grandparents are R.J. and Mildred Markland of Advance and the late Edgar and Nannie Burgess. The bride graduated from Davie High School in 1993 and Appalachian State University in 1999 with a degree in graphic arts and imaging technology. She is employed by Siegwerk Ink Packaging in Winston-Salem.

The groom is the son of Harmon and Kim Stevens of Advance, and the late Gary Wayne Bolynn. His grandparents are Larry and Pat Logan of Winston-Salem and Fred Burgess Sr. of Clemmons. The groom graduated from North Davidson High School in 1996 and is employed by Penn Engineering in Winston-Salem.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father. She wore a formal gown designed by Maggie Sottero. The white satin strapless gown featured an overlay of English net adorned with Swarovski crystals and delicate floral embroidery in pastel pinks, blues, and olive greens. The fitted bodice had side rouching, which led to an A-line silhouette. A romantic corset back closure led to a chapel length train edged in floral embroidered scalloped lace. Complementing the gown was a single layer waltz length veil with delicate white piping and a beaded tiara encrusted with Swarovski crystals.

The bride carried a hand-tied nosegay bouquet of white and blush pink roses and light blue delphinium accented with an heirloom handkerchief belonging to her late grandmother; nine white roses represent the family members who had passed away. Family members lit nine-branched candelabra before the ceremony in memory of those special family members.

The matron of honor was Katie Morgan of Huntersville; maid of honor was Tracey Walsh of Charlotte. The bridesmaids were Pam Markland of Morganton, sister-in-law of the bride; Kristen DeMange of Greensboro, Meredith Hanks of Mocksville and Ashley Burgess of Winston-Salem, cousin of the groom. The honorary bridesmaids were Carrie Loy, Connie Arrington and Kristin Johnson of Winston-Salem, Tracy Ewing of Advance.

The flower girl was Cricket Hayes of Mocksville, niece of the groom.

The groom chose Mark Richardson of Winston-Salem as his best man. Groomsman were Scottie Fulp of King, Jason Markland of Morganton, brother of the bride; Brian Trump of Pinnacle, Chris Foster of Kernersville, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Darren Drane of Winston-Salem and Patrick Groce of King. The ring bearer was Austin Scott of Clemmons, cousin of the groom.

The program and registry attendants were Christie Gardner of Charlotte and Andrea Gentry of Huntersville. The wedding coordinator/director was Christina Prizyanluk.

Wedding music featured Mark T. Snow on viola, Worth Williams on cello and Laura Beth Dangerfield on flute. The soloist was Andy Miles of Columbia, S.C.

The DJ announced the wedding party and parents as they entered the reception. The reception was hosted by the bride's parents and was held in the church's multi-purpose room.

An appetizer display of fruits, vegetables and cheeses with assorted dips and crackers was served before the buffet meal. The buffet consisted of stuffed chicken breast, roasted pork tenderloin, mixed vegetables, roasted potatoes, apples, rolls and a variety of drinks was served to approximately 225 guests. The four-tiered wedding cake with each tier having a different flavor was decorated with the same floral design of the bride's dress; the cake topper was a miniature bride and groom Barbie and Ken, the bride is an avid Barbie collector.

A video of the bride and groom with their respective families throughout the years was continually playing.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents was held on Friday May 12, for the wedding party and friends at Copeland's in Winston-Salem. The groom's cake was cheesecake.

After a honeymoon in Savannah, Ga. the couple will make their home in Clemmons.

Original Christianity

No Head But Jesus

That Jesus is the legitimate head of the church all Bible students will admit (Ephesians 1:22-23; Colossians 1:18) and yet most churches are organized under some earthly ecclesiastical head.

Such was not the case originally. At first while each local congregation had its own internal organization of elders and deacons, no denominational organization existed. But over the centuries numerous denominations have developed exercising varying degrees of authority over local churches.

This was not true in original Christianity. Rather each local church was autonomous with Christ as its head and the apostles' doctrine the only rule of faith and practice.

Cooleemee Senior Citizens Take Part In 'Flower Quiz'

The Cooleemee Senior Citizens Club met June 12 in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

The meeting was called to order by the President. The opening song was "Love Lifted Me."

The president gave the devotion using Romans 5:1, "Justification by Faith." "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Prayer was said. The roll call was answered by 14 members, the minutes read, the sunshine and treasurers reports were given.

The events taking place at the Davie County Senior Center was announced. Window fans are available at the center for any senior citizen in need of one to keep cool during hot weather.

Ethel Messick was in charge of the program. She had a Flower Quiz, a short course in Most Important Words, Miracle of Prayer, and Heaven's Grocery Store.

Everyone is to bring finger food to the next meeting for lunch. The next meeting will be July 10 at 10 a.m. Everyone is welcome.

Do you suffer with headaches more than twice per week????

I have been helping people with migraines and headaches for over five years now. I have a great amount of compassion with someone who experiences headaches because I was once a sufferer of them myself. That is how I became a Chiropractor. After seeking treatment for them from a chiropractor while I was in college, I felt very passionate about helping others who also experience them. I have been successfully helping people relieve their headaches in Yadkinville where I have my fulltime office. I recently opened an office in Hillsdale, I am currently accepting new patients. To see if I can help you I have attached a special offer through July only.

Hi, I'm Dr. Leslie Horne and I've been helping patients get rid of their headaches for over five years.

County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

This week our community celebrated our nation's birthday, the Fourth of July. Some celebrated quietly; others celebrated with cookouts and fireworks. We hope everyone had a great day and remembered those early settlers who fought for the birth of our nation.

Society Baptist Church celebrated with a church-wide picnic at the family lake of Bill and Beverly Stroud. Approximately 70 church members and guests enjoyed fishing, games, and delicious food followed by devotions and special singing.

There will be a "Preachers' Fellowship" at Pleasant View Baptist Church Saturday, July 8. The service will begin at 4 p.m. and will conclude with a period of refreshments and fellowship at 6 in the fellowship hall. The church invites everyone.

The Baptist Men of Calvary will have a men's prayer breakfast at 8 a.m. Sunday, July 9, in the fellowship hall. The men invite others.

The United Methodist Women of Clarksburg will meet at 7 p.m. Monday, July 10, in the fellowship hall. Alice Wall and Mildred Beck will lead the program followed by a period of refreshments and fellowship. Malinda Smith and Nell McMahon will be the hostesses. The women invite others.

The Boy Scouts of Clarksburg will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 11 at the Scout Hut across the road from the church. The scouts invite all boys interested in joining.

The Women of Mission of Calvary Baptist Church will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 11, in the fellowship hall. The women invite others to join in a study of mission work followed by refreshments and fellowship.

Piney Grove AME Zion Church will have Vacation Bible School from Tuesday, July 11 - Friday, July 14. There will be classes for children of all ages. Classes will begin at 6 p.m. and will include Bible study, crafts, games, and refreshments. All children in the community are invited.

Salem United Methodist Church will have a special prayer meeting service at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 12. There will be special prayers to the Lord for the many in the church and community who are sick or have health problems. Church members invite others in the community to this special prayer for healing and blessing.

The United Methodist Women of Salem will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 12, in the fellowship hall. Sheila Campbell will lead the program, after which there will be refreshments and fellowship.

The women invite others.

The V-Point Ruritans will have a board meeting at 7 p.m. at the V-Point Building on Old Mocksville Road. Attendance can be used as a make-up meeting for blue ribbon bonus points. The Ruritans report that construction on the outdoor shelter at the V-Point Building and re-roofing of the current building are progressing as scheduled.

Upcoming events include the Red Cross blood drive Monday, July 17, at Clarksburg United Methodist Church. Bible schools are scheduled at Society Baptist Church Monday, July 17 - Friday, July 21, with a kick-off meeting on Sunday, July 16, and at Pleasant View Baptist Church Saturday, July 22. Clarksburg United Methodist church has scheduled a weekend Bible school Friday, Aug. 4 - Saturday, Aug. 5.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Robyn Clinard of Doby Road. She died last Friday morning from injuries sustained in a head-on collision on NC 901 near Clarksburg. She worked at Ben Franklin in Mocksville and lived with her husband Wesley and children Kaitlyn and Luther. She was an active member of Bethany Presbyterian Church, where she was laid to rest in the church cemetery Tuesday.

We send get-well wishes to Faye Pope of Clarksburg and to Velma Smith and Becky Cartner of Salem. Faye has been hospitalized at Iredell Memorial and Velma has been hospitalized at Forsyth Medical Center. Becky is taking outpatient treatments for cancer. Marshall Godbey is in rehab.

Perhaps some of you have missed a long-term familiar face at Parker Tire and Recapping on NC 901. Clay Love has been disabled since having an aneurism and open-heart surgery a few months ago. He will be having heart surgery again in two or three weeks. He is living with his brother in Wilkes County.

Join us as we pray for the Lord's healing and blessing in the lives of Faye, Velma, Becky, Marshall, Clay, and the family of Robyn Clinard.

If you have news or memories to share, please call Shirley at 492-5115 or email sallink@hotmail.com.

After church Sunday at Wesley Chapel we had lunch at the fellowship hall. We had four freezers of homemade ice cream, sandwiches and dessert. Everyone stayed and enjoyed the meal and fellowship.

The Farmington Red Hatters had lunch at the Tea Room in Lexington for their June meeting. Those attending were Jane Brock, Rachel Brock, Margaret Jo Brock, Mary Brock, Tib Hoots, Ostine West, Wanda Harris, Janice Hord and Nora Latham. Chip and Ruth Essie honored his mother, Lelia Essie, at Holden Gardens for her birthday. A delicious meal was served to the honoree, her husband, Jim Essie, Neal and Brenda Essie, and granddaughter, Sadie Essie, and Nora Latham. The daylilies were beautiful.

Glenn and Audra Raus and little daughter, Caroline, of Charleston, S.C. spent the weekend with her parents, Jim and Chinera Latham. Jim and Chinera had a family dinner on Sunday evening. Others joining them were Charles and Kathy Mashburn, Bob and Kathy Ellis, Jim and Kendra Jacobs and son, M.J., Beth Mashburn, Fran and Dennis Craver, Megan Craver, Dale Latham and Nora Latham.

The oil portrait of the late Harold Zimmerman was unveiled last Sunday in his former Sunday School class. Harold's sister, Cammie Z. Walker and children Lauren and Luke Walker, brothers Randy and Mike Zimmerman were present for the presentation as well as many from the church congregation who were not Sunday School class members. The portrait was a gift from Grant and Trisha Ward.

We lost two of our long-time community leaders and neighbors this week. Frank Markland and his sister-in-law, Ruby Markland, died Tuesday - Frank at Forsyth Medical Center and Ruby at Bermuda Terrace. Funerals were Friday just hours apart. We extend sympathy to these families. Our community has suffered a great loss.

Trisha Ward and son Luke were visitors of Edith Zimmerman last Wednesday.

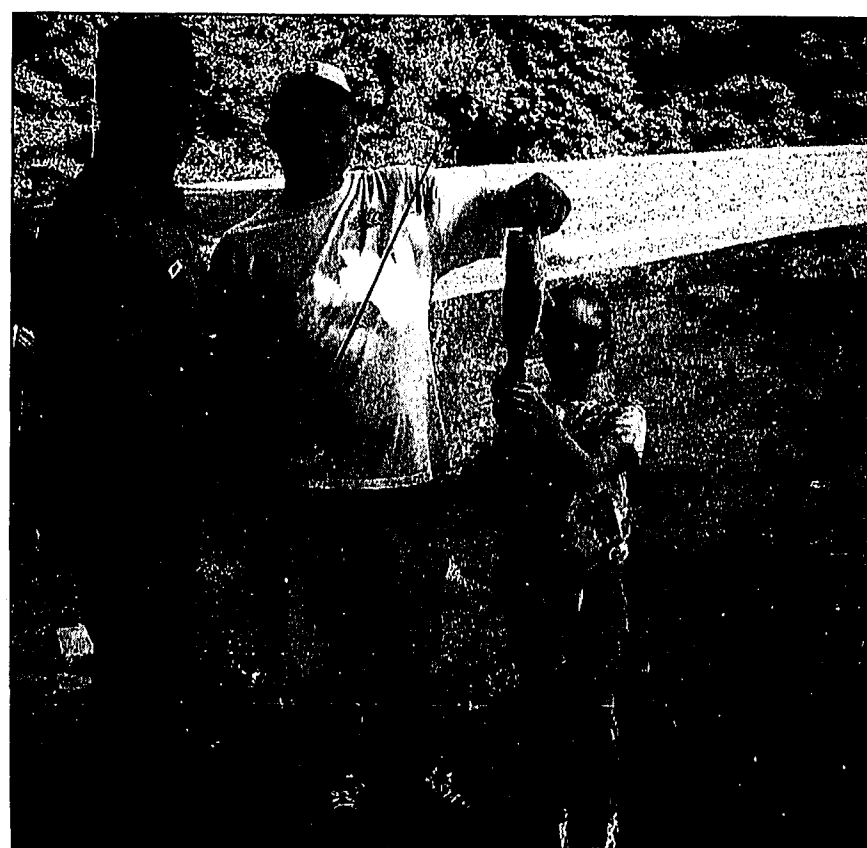

Peter and Karen Pan entertained their Sunday School class, the Sallie Sue Peebles/ Mens Bible class of the Methodist church, with a cook-out at their home on Burton Road July 4th in the afternoon.

Edith Zimmerman had surprise visitors on Friday from Virginia. They were the Rev. Bill Aman and wife Barbara from Warsaw, their daughter and son-in-law Ginger and Cecil Goodman from Richmond. They are distant cousins and were here doing genealogy. We toured cemeteries, old homesplaces of Advance, the Methodist church and fellowship hall, the day care center, the country store and other places of interest. Many pictures were taken along the way. Friday night they treated Edith to dinner at Cracker Barrel in Clemmons. They camped at Lake Myers and came back here Saturday for a short while. Bill's dad, Ollie Aman, practically grew up in this community at the home of his Uncle Adam Leonard as a foster child. In later years when Ollie Aman would come back to visit his son, Bill came along, so he (Bill) remembered the "old"

"I was awestruck," said Otis Snow, who was a freshman outfielder. "I was new to the school, moving there during Christmas. I was only 14 years old, and I just felt fortunate to be apart of it."

The offensive catalysts in the monumental win were the usual stalwarts. Speed demon Alton Sheek opened the Mocksville first with a triple and scored on Z.N. Anderson's single. Hits by Darwin Allen and cousin Lester "Poogie" Allen made it 2-0. Mocksville's third run came when Anderson reached on an error and the Allens followed with singles. Mackie Deadmon added a triple.

The Wildcats were headed toward a playoff surge that saw them knock out four teams. Henry Shutt, who was senior first baseman, said continuity and camaraderie were crucial to their success.

"Remember the song Don't Step On My Blue Suede Shoes?" said Shutt of Orlando, Fla. "Our theme song was Don't Step On Our Blue Suede Shoes. Whenever we would win, that's what we would sing coming back on the bus. I don't ever remember any egos getting in the way. We were enjoying it."

In the first round of the playoffs, Mocksville ripped apart King 8-1. Howell worked five stress-free innings, and Billy Sell, who was just as frightening, threw no-hit ball in the final two. The offense was led by Anderson (two hits) and Deadmon (two-run double).

The rest of the playoffs were best-of-3 series. After losing Game 1 to both West Yadin and Stoneville, the Wildcats pulled out the second and third games each time.

Sell was brilliant in Game 2 against visiting W. Yadin, striking out 13 in a two-hit shutout. Anderson (3 for 3), Snow (2 for 4) and Sheek (2 for 4) powered the 8-0 win, with Sheek leading off the first with a triple.

H.T. Meroney, who won two games as a sophomore pitcher, still remembers the impression the freshman prize (Snow) left on Shutt's late father, Henry Shutt Sr.

"I remember stuff back then better than what I had for dinner last night," said Meroney of Virginia Beach, Va. "Henry looked at Otis and said: 'That boy right there is a ballplayer. I can tell by the way he runs across the field.' There's something to that. You look at people, you see them take infield or something, and you can tell who a ballplayer is. Anybody with any experience can, and Mr. Shutt had plenty of experience. He played first base for Duke, and he was right (about Snow)."

In Game 3 at Rich Park, Mocksville got past W. Yadin in sneaky fashion, parlaying two hits into a 4-2 win. Sheek - we just talked about this guy - had both hits.

Mocksville produced lots of runs with small ball, and its superb speed made Howell the series-clinching winner. Lester Allen and Snow executed a double steal in the first, both runners scoring on the catcher's throwing error past third. In the fourth Lester Allen's steal of third forced another throw into left field.

"I was probably the louisest basketball player Davie County ever had," said Sheek of Dallas, Tx. "At Coolee I fouled out in less than three minutes. Baseball was my niche."

Mocksville had been overwhelmed by W. Yadin in Game 1, losing 7-0 in five rain-shortened innings and failing to get a hit off Jerry Dickerson. Team manager William Long didn't like what he was seeing, and he took his frustration out on Coach Bill Peeler's fungo bat. Meroney remembers it vividly.

"I think Peeler's fungo had been broken and had about two rolls of tape on it," he said. "West Yadin started scoring a bunch of runs in one inning. William Long kind of lost his composure and took that fungo and slammed it on the ground and broke it in half. You should have seen the expression on Peeler's face. He was more upset about the fungo being in two pieces than the runs West Yadin was putting on us."

Lester Allen nostalgically recalled enduring images of Peeler. One in particular sticks out.

"Peeler was as good a coach as I ever had," the Davie County resident said. "He called me 'Poogie' because he couldn't pronounce 'Poogie.' He said: 'Poogie, swing hard in case you hit it. I never will forget that. When I play golf they ask me: 'Why do you swing so hard?' I say: 'I'll never forget what Coach Peeler told me.'"

Again, success for Mocksville was not easy in the western semifinals. It dropped Game 1 at home against Stoneville.

Mocksville erased a 1-0 deficit in the fifth. Snow's single set the table, Dickie Nail's single tied it and Howell helped himself with a go-ahead single. But Stoneville handed Mocksville a 4-2 heartbreaker with a two-run triple in the seventh.

The Wildcats shook it off and tightened to the next round.

Game 2 was an exhilarating pitchers' duel that Mocksville survived 2-0. Sell (two-hitter, 12 Ks) and Stoneville's Jimmy Crofts (five-hitter, 14 Ks) had bats flailing at air all game.

Sheek (2 for 4) and Anderson pulled off a patented double steal in the first. Sheek stole home, and when the pitch rolled to the backstop, Anderson scampered in for a 2-0 lead that never changed.

Stoneville made serious noise in the seventh, putting two runners on with no outs. Sell squelched the uprising with two strikeouts wrapped around a sparkling play by shortstop Deadmon, who fielded a ball in the hole and fired to third for a forecourt.

The Wildcats climbed on Deadmon's shoulders in Game 3, and he carried them to a 3-1 win. The No. 2 batter homered and drove in all three runs.

Next up was the western finals against Dallas. The opener remains one of the wildest games

Rich Park has ever witnessed. Sell staged a performance that makes you say, "Whoa, how'd you do that?" He pitched all 10 innings of an emotional 9-8 win, striking out 11, walking one and knocking in two runs. He outlasted highly-regarded Joe Wooten, who also went the distance.

It was incredibly tense down the stretch, starting in the eighth when Lester Allen claimed one of Wooten's laser beams hit him on the hand. The umpire ruled foul ball and Mocksville fans were furious.

"I know it hit me," Allen said recently. "The ump didn't think so, but I know it did. Coach Peeler thought it did, too. Yeah, (Wooten) was throwing the ball, but he didn't always know where it was going."

More controversy came in the ninth. Wooten beamed Sheek in the left eye, shattering his glasses. Mary Garber, the Twin City Sentinel reporter, wrote that fire-breathing fans poured onto the field, causing a 10-minute delay. Meanwhile, Sheek was on his way to Davie County Hospital.

"There were 17 stitches put in my eyelid, and the glass came within one millimeter of cutting my eyeball," Sheek said. "Wooten was a big guy, and he was the fastest pitcher I'd ever faced."

Sheek sat out two games, depriving Mocksville of its leadoff strike and foremost stolen-base weapon. What's more, he went down on strikes only one time all year.

A rattled Lester Allen committed two errors at third. Garber wrote: "Allen was the hero. Though for a time he was so upset about the question of whether he was hit by the pitched ball that he had trouble fielding his position. But on the whole he did an outstanding job."

Poogie more than made up for the errors, going 3 for 6 and hitting a 10th-inning triple off the center-field wall. He scored the winning run on Darwin Allen's grounder to first. Deadmon had two hits. Darwin Allen and Anderson had two RBIs apiece.

"It did (rattle me). I let one go between my legs," Lester Allen said recently. "But I got even with them."

With two chartered buses cheering Mocksville at Dallas, the Wildcats swept the series and were crowned western state champions in a 3-1 win. Howell threw a beauty (three-hitter, 14 Ks). Deadmon - there's that name again - had two hits as Mocksville overcame Wooten's 11 Ks.

The site of the title series alternated year to year between the western and eastern champs, and Red Springs earned the right to host Mocksville by pulling off a shocking two-games-to-none triumph over Gaylord Perry of the 1955 state champions, Williamson. Perry was a sophomore who carried a 13-1 record into Game 2. Red Springs drilled the future Major League Hall of Famer 12-1. The spitballer's major-league career spanned 1962-83 and included 314 wins.

Two chartered buses took the 127-mile trip to Robeson County to watch Mocksville's state-title pursuit. The team stayed at Raeford Hotel. Admission to the game was 75 cents for adults, 35 cents for students.

"I certainly wouldn't make myself out to be an integral part of the team, but I was on it and it was a lot of fun," Meroney said. "Z.N. had a '55 Ford and they put a big banner around that thing and took a picture of it on the square. It said: 'Red Springs Or Bust.' It was a big deal."

"I remember it like it was yesterday," Anderson said. "They had a grass infield, and we didn't play on many grass infields. None of us had ever been in that part of the state. We thought we were going to a foreign country."

Game 1 started at 4, and Mocksville walked on sunshine. Howell put his 10-2 record up against sophomore Bill Merritt's 10-0 record, and Howell responded with a four-hitter that stirred a 7-3 win.

Deadmon was his typical self with two hits. The game was scoreless for three innings. The turning point was Mocksville's four-run fourth, which included hits from Deadmon, Anderson, Nail and Snow.

"(Merritt) was smoking them in there," Anderson said. "They were coming at you like aspirins."

Mocksville was near the sport's pinnacle. Mocksville was sitting one step below the mountaintop. Red Springs had other ideas, winning the next two games 18-8 and 8-4. Bitterness from the three-hour road trip still lingered.

"They were homegrown boys, and that may have been the first time some of those kids ever spent the night in a hotel," Peeler said.

"I think half of us stayed up all night," Deadmon said. "We had just never been out like that before where we would stay overnight."

Shutt shook his head at the memory of Raeford Hotel. "God, was it hot," he said. "It must have been 98 degrees in there. Some people criticized that we must have partied all night, but very few people were able to sleep because it was so hot."

The good feeling from Game 1 was quickly gone in Game 2, which started at 7:45. Mocksville imploded immediately, giving up six runs in the first on two hits, five walks and untemper errors. The margin swelled to 13-2 in the second. Making the 18-8 setback that much harder to take, the Red Devils only outlived Mocksville 6-5.

"(Years later) we kind of laughed and said: 'Those Indians could play ball, too,'" Snow said.

"We got a little cocky because we won the first game," Anderson said. "They had a lot of Pembroke Indians and we underestimated them. Their catcher went on to be the catcher at North Carolina."

Decisive Game 3 was hard-fought. A sac fly by Sell tied it at 2-2. A Deadmon single gave Mocksville a 3-2 lead. Nail singled and Shutt walked in the fourth. Then a Jimmy Kelly single provided a 4-2 lead.

With nine outs to go, the Wildcats were poised to enter baseball heaven's gates. But Red Springs (19-9) broke their hearts with a five-run fifth. The mighty Merritt (11-1) appeared for the third time in three days and slammed the door.

"We were pretty down, for sure," Deadmon said. "After winning the first game, we thought we could at least win one more."

The old teammates have replayed the series over and over and wondered what if. What if the series had been held at Rich Park? Although the flameout still sticks in their craw, it might be a mistake to call Red Springs' first and only state title an upset victory. You have to salute a team that produced Merritt, who played at Pembroke State before signing a pro contract; catcher

Albert Baldwin, who played at UNC and led the ACC in homers; first baseman Jimmy Lancaster, who played at N.C. State and led the ACC in batting average; Russell Cotton, who played at Davidson and was voted team MVP; and shortstop Wayne Edwards, who was all-ACC at N.C. State.

"I pitched in the second game and they hit me pretty hard," Meroney said. "One guy hit a home run over the right-field wall. He hit the hell out of that ball."

"I think Red Springs was probably the better team," Shutt said. "It was the first time anybody had gotten on second base and wasn't able to score on a single to the outfield. The big thing was they had a catcher. In those days the catcher wasn't always the best player on the team, and we exploited that. We ran up against a good catcher and ran up against good outfielders, and we just weren't able to do what we normally had done."

Shutt has lived in Orlando since 1980, but his heart's never been far from Mocksville. He smiled at the state runner-up memory. So many people would love to feel the huge thrills that the '56 Wildcats can reminisce about.

"I'm sure there were tears and so on," Shutt said. "But I don't remember being that upset because everybody realized we did as well as we could do. I don't look back on it as being mad or anything else. I don't think anybody expected us to get where we were. I don't know if we were expected to win that many after we got out of Davie County, and I don't remember being under much pressure. In today's environment, there's newspapers, television and everything else. We didn't feel those pressures. We were just having a great time."

Notes

• Darwin Allen played two years in the ACC at N.C. State. He had the honor of catching Roman Gabriel, who later became a four-time Pro Bowl quarterback in the NFL.

"We had two catchers," Darwin said. "One catcher from Thomasville was much lighter than I was, and Gabe would throw it so hard he'd just about knock him on his tail. I'd have to catch Gabe on all games he pitched, which was about every other game."

• One of Davie County's all-century players - 1956 graduate Brack Bailey of Shady Grove - was a Mocksville rival and American Legion teammate. He was truly a comet in cleats. After starring for Pfeiffer College, he spent six years in the Dodgers organization. He also played for the Reds in a pro career that spanned 1960-66. His Albuquerque roommate in 1964 was current Atlanta Braves manager Bobby Cox.

"Bobby was a great team player, and he's a great manager," Bailey said recently from his Advance home. "Bobby would hit behind runners and he could do anything. He was a blue-collar player. I haven't seen him in a couple years. He has a good record going, but this might be the year that record will be broken, because he doesn't have that great a team this year."

• A special thanks goes to Charles Crenshaw. The retired teacher/coach is a Davie County historian who has every collectible and scrapbook imaginable in his basement. He researched facts from the '56 season and provided pictures. The depth of this series wouldn't have been possible without his help.

Old School: Davie Sports News From July, 1987

• Terry McClannan pitched into the eighth to improve his record to 3-0 as the Mocksville Legion baseball team defeated Statesville 12-8. Denny Key fanned four of five batters for the save. The win put Mocksville in third place at 12-7.

The offense was sparked by Todd Wallace, who went 4 for 6 with a home run, and Allen Bruce, who hit a two-run single.

Mocksville hit two grand slams in an 18-17 win over Kannapolis. Big homers came from Ron Sidman and Bryan Bishop.

• The Mocksville Stars topped Borden for the second time, 8-7, to take over first in the Center Women's Open League. The Stars improved to 10-1, while Borden slipped to 12-2. Leisha Hepler's two-run triple helped Borden to an early 6-0 lead. The Stars comeback featured Deanna Thomas-Randolph's two-run triple. Teresa McCullough's RBI single and Suzanne Childress' game-tying triple. Kathy Hutchins was the hero. One of her two hits gave the Stars their first lead in the fourth. With two outs in the bottom of the seventh, Donna Hendrix of Borden smacked her second triple. Ashley Atkins grounded to Cindy Hauser. The second baseman bobbled and threw low to Hutchins at first. Her scoop preserved the win.

• In a 623-250 loss to Oldtown, Adam Grandy was the only Hickory Hill swimmer to win more than one event. He won four. The other winners for the Eels were Erin Umberger, Scott Henderson, Ryan Powell, Scott Newman, Carrie Brown, Jason Grandy, Carol Roach, Chip Leonard and Katherine Earnhardt.

• Frances Kimball and Lynn Laughlin won the women's doubles championship in the Bill Dwiggin Memorial Golf and Tennis Tournament at Hickory Hill. Judy McAllister and Nancy Sloss finished second. In men's doubles, Ralph Cooper and Charles Mashburn finished first, followed by Meade Atkinson and Randy Atkinson.

The Division I first-place golf team was Bob Shelton, Con Shelton, Ken Shelton and G.C. Lankford. They shot 58. John Grouse, Ricky Potts, Bucky Barber and Walt Shoaf shot 60 to capture Division II. C.A. Blackwelder, M.H. Murray, A.M. Uphaw and Donald Bingham won Division III with a 73.

Kenneth Howell.

Bill Peeler's hoops team had six of the '56 baseball players - Alton Sheek (7), Henry Shutt (3), Mackie Deadmon (front far right), Kenneth Howell (4), Jimmy Kelly (11) and Billy Sell (8).

Another hot spot in the '50s was Princess Theatre on the Town Square. There's Gwynn Meroney (left), Otis Hendrix and Freddie Young.

Spotlight on Business

Garage Door Services of Farmington

The garage door on your home is one of those things you rarely think too much about until it stops working! The staff at Garage Door Services of Farmington knows that your garage door can be more than just a garage door—it's often the main entrance for you and your family to get in and out of your home.

It also provides your home with an extra level of security. With this in mind, Garage Door Services strives to ensure that you will never be without its service.

Garage Door Services excels in service of all makes and models of garage doors and electric door openers. They also provide sales and installation of Liftmaster 1/2 Horsepower Professional residential electric door openers.

In the garage door business, the staff at Garage Door Services knows the inner workings of garage doors and their components. You can always rely on a quick diagnosis and timely repair for any problems.

To help prevent experiencing any problems, Garage Door Services are currently offering a garage door tune up special. This includes diagnosis, adjustment and lubrication of the door and opener for just $39.95. Also be sure to ask about their senior citizen discount.

The staff of Garage Door Services prides themselves on being prompt and reliable on all service calls. They will arrange appointments according to your schedule and treat customer service as their primary goal.

Rick Silver's Tile Rite of Clemmons

If you are considering new flooring or maybe thinking about remodeling your bath or kitchen, Rick Silver at Tile Rite provides quality craftsmanship, reasonable rates and customer service that people deserve and should expect when hiring a contractor.

18 Years of knowledge and experience Rick is a highly skilled tradesman who has worked with ceramic, porcelain and natural stone tile for the past 18 years. He brings a wealth of knowledge to every estimate, and job, along with a catalog of photos that showcase his previous work.

Rick's level of confidence is well warranted. He is proud to have such a large following of satisfied customers that call him to do their new projects and continually refer their family and friends to him.

Rick's wife Julie says, "People know good work, a good deal and a good man when they see it, and they stick with it."

Ceramic and porcelain tile are superior products to other flooring options such as linoleum, vinyl tile and even hardwood.

These products are susceptible to the damages of everyday wear and tear, and eventually need to be replaced. Ceramic and porcelain tile will last indefinitely.

Tile products enhance the value of your home.

No other product will enhance the value of your home more than these tile products. It's no secret that bathrooms and kitchens are the focal point of any home when it comes to resale. These rooms, along with patios, sunrooms and fireplaces, can be turned into showroom quality areas.

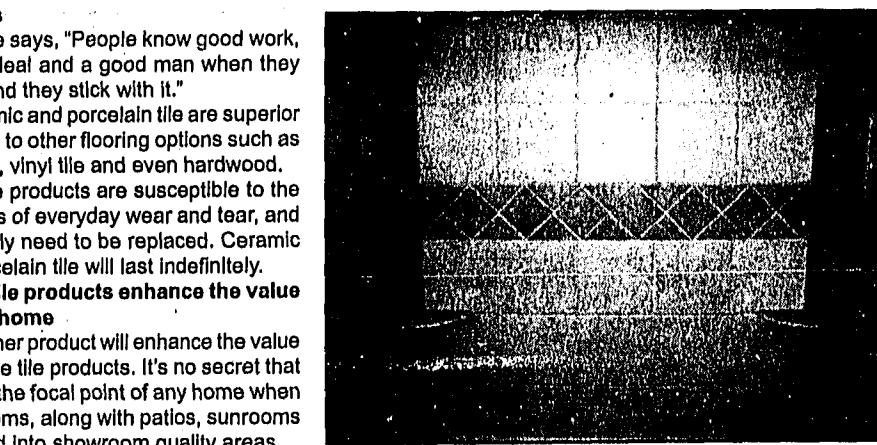

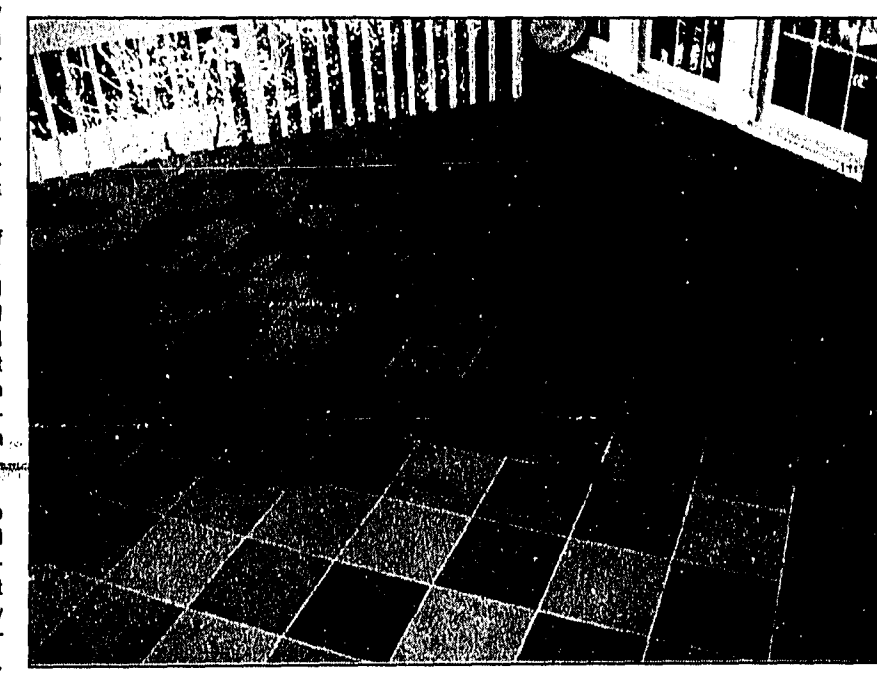

Tile Rite will deliver samples from their selection of quality tiles, or the customer may provide their own tile and Tile Rite will gladly install it.

"We strive to give the customer as many options as possible so that they can make an informed decision about their product and how they would like it installed," Rick notes.

Tile Rite eliminates the middle man

Unlike retail companies who subcontract out their work, Tile Rite eliminates the middle man. This, in turn, reduces the cost while increasing customer service.

Why pay inflated prices from flooring retailers when you can save money by dealing directly with the installer?

Free estimates

As always, Tile Rite's estimates are free and the customer is under no obligation whatsoever for this service.

"Tile installation and customer satisfaction are our focus," adds Rick.

14 From Davie Complete DCCC Adults Programs

Fourteen Davie adults completed the Adult High School Diploma (AHS) and the General Educational Development (GED) programs at Davidson County Community College during the 2006 Spring Semester.

The AHS program is designed for adults who did not complete their high school education through the public schools. The program provides students with the means to earn their Adult High School diploma by completing course work in English, math, science, and history.

The GED program is a means for adults to obtain a high school diploma. Individuals take the GED exams to demonstrate high school level competencies in English, social science, reading, and math.

Band Camp Next Week

Summer Band Camp will be held July 10-14 for rising 7-9 grade band students only. It will be from 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Students attending should bring a bag lunch.

Activities include playing band music, music listening, drawing, marching and recreation. Kathy Ferebee, South Davie's band director, will be the instructor. The camp will be located in the South Davie band room. The cost of the camp will be $75. For questions, email ferebee@davie.k12.nc.us. No registration is needed. Arrive July 10 to the band room at 8:25 a.m.

Jr. Showman

PUBLIC NOTICES

NORTH CAROLINA
DAVIE COUNTY
NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTE
TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

UNDERAND BY VIRTUE OF the power and authority contained in that certain Deed of Trust executed and delivered by George R. Gunter and wife, Kathy B. Gunter, dated the 5th day of August, 2003, and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds for Davie County, North Carolina, in Book 503 at Page 806 and because of default in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured and failure to carry out and perform the stipulations and agreements therein contained and, pursuant to demand of the owner and holder of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, the undersigned Substitute Trustee will expose for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the usual place of sale in the County Court House of Davie County, in the city of Mocksville, North Carolina, at 11:00 o'clock on the 13th day of July, 2006, all that certain parcel of land, more particularly described as follows:

IMPROVEMENTS: House and lot/condominium/lot. LEGAL DESCRIPTION: BEING KNOWN AND DESIGNATED AS LOT FOUR (4) OF GLENN M. FOSTER ET AL SUBDIVISION KNOWN AS REED PATCH AS THE SAME APPEARS ON A PLAT THEREOF RECORDED IN MAP BOOK 6, PAGE 155, DAVIE COUNTY REGISTRY. REFERENCE IS MADE FOR A MORE PARTICULAR DESCRIPTION.

BEING THE SAME PROPERTY AS REFERENCED IN DEED BOOK 195, PAGE 218, DAVIE COUNTY REGISTRY. ADDITIONAL POSSIBLE STREET ADDRESS FOR REFERENCE PURPOSES ONLY: 117 Caravan Lane, Mocksville, NC 27028-5713.

Notice and Disclaimer: The listed street address may be incorrect and is stated hereby for informational and reference purposes only. The Substitute Trustee makes no certification or warranties that said street address is accurate or correct. It is each potential bidder's duty to determine with highest care and diligence that said street address is correct and matches the above legal description. The above legal description describes the property being sold and shall be controlling.

PRESENT RECORD OWNERS as reflected on the records of the Register of Deeds not more than 10 days prior to posting the notice are George R. Gunter and Kathy B. Gunter. Should the property be purchased by a third party, that party must pay the tax of forty-five (45) cents per One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) required by NCGS 7A-308 (a)(1). This sale is also subject to any applicable county and/or state land transfer and/or revenue tax, and the successful third party bidder shall be required to make payment for such tax.

The property to be offered pursuant to this notice of sale is being offered for sale, transfer and conveyance "AS IS, WHERE IS". Neither the Trustee nor the holder of the note secured by the Deed of Trust/Security Instrument, or both, being foreclosed, nor the officers, directors, attorneys, employees, agents or authorized representatives of either Trustee or the holder of the note make any representation or warranty relating to the title or any physical, environmental, health or safety conditions existing in, on, at, or relating to the property being offered for sale, and any and all responsibilities or liabilities arising out of or in any way relating to any such condition expressly are disclaimed. The terms of the sale are that the real property hereinabove described will be sold for cash to the highest bidder and that the undersigned will require the successful bidder at the sale to immediately deposit cash or certified check in the amount of the greater of five percent (5%) of the amount of the bid or seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750.00). The real property hereinabove described will be sold subject to any unpaid taxes, prior encumbrances, if any, and special assessments.

The sale will be held open for ten (10) days for upset bids as by law required. Following the expiration of the statutory upset period, all remaining amounts are due immediately.

This the 22nd day of June, 2006.

ECONOMIC INCENTIVE AGREEMENT

TAKE NOTICE THAT A Public Hearing will be held before the Board of Commissioners of Davie County and the Town Commissioners of Mocksville at 6:00 p.m. Monday, July 10, 2006, in the Commissioners' Conference Room of the Davie County Administration Building, 123 S. Main Street, Mocksville, North Carolina, pursuant to the provisions of NCGS §158.71 to consider appropriations for the purpose of aiding and encouraging industrial enterprises.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the appropriations being considered are for the construction or improvement of an industrial facility in the Town of Mocksville, including possible improvement of privately owned property by site preparation and infrastructure improvement at an approximate total economic incentive investment of $80,000 for the County and $40,000 for the Town. The economic incentive investment will be conditioned and dependent upon the construction and completion of site improvements to an operations facility having a cost of at least $5,000,000 and the addition of new jobs. The source of the funds will be from general revenues. It is expected that the investment will be returned to the County and the Town in tax revenue derived from the project within ten (10) years.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE, that the benefits to the public expected to be derived from the facility built as a result of the economic development incentives include: the enhancement of tax base of the county and the town and the anticipated creation of new jobs.

Counter Proposal

Firefighters Say
Some Departments
Getting Too Much

By Jackie Seabolt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Should county fire departments receive equal funding regardless of district size or the number of calls they respond to each year?

Most leaders of Davie's 13 volunteer fire stations think so and they've signed a new funding proposal submitted to county leaders June 28.

The new proposal, signed by nine departments (Advance, Smith Grove, Mocksville, and County Line did not sign) is asking that all 13 departments receive equal portions of the money approved for 2006-07 fire department funding. That would give all departments, along with the rescue squad, approximately $150,000 each.

Last month at a public hearing for the new fiscal year's budget, county commissioners approved an original submitted proposal signed by 12 of the 13 departments (William R. Davie did not sign originally).

That proposal asked for redistribution of the 4¢ per $100 supplement tax (based on property values in each department's district) to allow all departments to receive $120,000 minimum and those with higher property values in their districts to receive more.

But Center Volunteer Fire Department Treasurer Dean Tutterow thinks the approved funding is unfair and has led the effort to change it.

In a letter dated June 28 to Davie County Manager Terry Bralley and the board of commissioners, Tutterow wrote there has been much discussion at all departments on the process that led to unequal funding and that a number of departments wanted their names removed from the original proposal.

Bralley said the county had no prior knowledge of the departments wanting their names taken off the original proposal. "It was expressed that night at the budget hearing."

Tutterow's letter also reads "the stated position of the county is that the majority opinion of the departments will determine the funding allocations. This [new] proposal is the will of the majority."

Tutterow says he met with Please See Fire Calls - Page 8

3 Stabbed, 1 Shot In Grocery Robbery

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

The 911 call just after 3 p.m. Wednesday, July 5 was simple. Bob Boles, owner of Boles Grocery on US 601 North, Mocksville, said "Get the sheriff up here."

The line stayed open, and dispatchers could hear part of the melee that resulted in Boles being stabbed and shot, two customers being stabbed and a 16-year-old Statesville teen being arrested.

Kirston Marshall Angell, 16, gave himself up about five hours later, and is charged with four counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury, larceny of a firearm and robbery with a dangerous weapon. He was Please See Boles - Page 4

More Than 140 Jobs Headed To Mocksville

By Jackie Seabolt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Town and county board members unanimously approved a resolution at their joint meeting Monday night to provide economic development assistance to a new company that will open its doors in Mocksville.

Amarr Company, a maker of garage doors, will move into an existing building in South Point Business Park off U.S. 601 North.

The company will begin upgrades to the building before January 2007 and will invest at least $5 million dollars in improvement costs.

Amarr will employ approximately 66 employees its first year, an additional 32 the second year, and additional 45 the third year. That will result in 143 new jobs in Davie County.

"We're very excited about being here," Amarr representative Richard Brenner told board members. "Amarr has been doing business for 55 years and we're excited about being close to home."

Amarr headquarters is in Winston-Salem.

The county and town will reimburse Amarr 2% of site expenditures up to $100,000. The reimbursements will be made 40% ($40,000) by the county, and 60% ($60,000) by the town.

Governor Mike Easley announced the state would also provide a $75,000 grant from the One North Carolina Fund to assist Amarr in opening their facility in Davie.

County and town officials say they will recover investments in less than 10 years.

The town will do it based on a tax rate of .30¢ per $100, and the county based on a tax rate of .66¢ per $100.

If Amarr doesn't invest improvements of $5 million and maintain that for tax purposes, then Amarr will pay the county and town the short fall in tax revenue, according to the approved resolution.

"We have a win-win situation," said Mayor Francis Slate. "We are delighted to welcome the new industry to our town and county."

How Do We Deal With Iran, North Korea?

The leaders of North Korea and Iran may not win any popularity contests, but they sure know how to stir up trouble to their advantage.

The relatively new president of Iran, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, makes absurd statements, threatens Israel regularly and says he's determined to build a nuclear program — for peaceful purposes, of course.

His statements usually cause an international outcry, and the price of oil skyrockets.

For that, he gets a higher price for Iran's oil — more money for his coffers.

Even if Iran's nuclear program is in the primitive stages, the country benefits by its leader's outrageous behavior. So we can expect him to continue his bully routine.

Around the globe, North Korea is locked in a dictator's grip, its people starving under this dark communist rule.

The leader, Chairman Kim Jong-il, had rather build missiles than feed his people. His latest, the Taepodong-2, may be capable of reaching our West Coast.

He regularly predicts that the United States is about to invade, keeping his public on edge.

Last week, North Korea fired a series of missiles, none of them threatening. But other nations, particularly neighbors Japan and South Korea, were upset. They are North Korea's most convenient targets.

President Bush several years ago described Iran, North Korea and Iraq as the "Axis of Evil." Those countries have lived up to that billing.

Bush dealt with Iraq. No doubt, the North Korean and Iranian leaders feel they are safer with the American forces hamstringing in Iraq. They also consider nuclear weapons as a significant deterrent to any nation considering action against them.

North Korea has regularly leveraged its missiles for shipments of food and supplies — promising not to advance its program if it gets help.

The food is delivered, but the promises are routinely broken. A communist dictator's promises are worthless. That's why the Bush administration has been reluctant to bargain with North Korea. It has broken all the previous promises.

The United Nations is considering a response to the missile launch. But the nations have trouble speaking in one voice. China or Russia might veto sanctions. Even the most threatened neighbors have trouble reaching an agreement on how to respond.

What is the United States to do?

These two school yard bullies have a habit of backing down, but with nuclear weapons, they could be bolder. Iran could launch a weapon at Israel — or most of Europe. North Korea could decide to reengage the war with South Korea from 50 years ago.

Some experts are calling for diplomacy. Most of the diplomatic initiatives call for bribes to be paid to Iran and North Korea to entice them to be good.

Japan wants to borrow our fledgling missile defense system. North Korea has already launched a missile over that country.

During the Cold War, the United States and the Soviet Union pointed thousands of missiles at each other and never fired a shot. Peace was kept because of the "mutually assured destruction" of both nations in a war.

With these rogue nations, there is no such guarantee. Iran could decide to finally act on its deep-seated hatred of Israel — defying the world and rolling the dice that the world will want its oil more than revenge. Similarly, Kim Jong-il hasn't let the welfare of his nation deter him from pursuing his military objectives. South Korea is living beside a paranoid madman.

President Bush has insisted on the involvement of all the neighboring nations in dealing with North Korea. We have been at odds with Iran since President Carter's administration, and European allies have let the current talks with that country.

Diplomacy may yet work. But it will not work because we bring offerings of food and technology to those belligerent nations. It will only work because they know the world's patience is limited.

County Government Totalitarian

To the editor:

Every property taxpaying citizen in Davie County should be very angry at what our totalitarian county government has done to them.

The majority of the people who replied to the newspaper's opinion poll were opposed to a tax increase. No letters to the editor have been written in favor of a tax increase, while several letters prior and since such action was taken have been written in opposition, and no one at the public hearing on June 5 was speaking for a tax increase; but everyone who spoke was in opposition to a tax increase. What we have here is "taxation without representation." Two hundred thirty years ago we fought a war for that very reason.

Let's not be so quick to commend Mr. Allen and Mr. Knight who voted against the tax increase, that was merely a political ploy on their part. They are running for re-election this fall and want to be re-elected so they can help their colleagues to continue to rip off the citizens of this county.

Pitts Did Outstanding Job

To the editor:

I just wanted to congratulate Brian Pitts on his outstanding three-part series on the 1956 Mocksville High School baseball team. Obviously, Brian did great research to find and interview the team members. The story was fun to read because he tied in prices, people and trends of the 50s to a local story. For me, the story was even better because I lived through it. Since my mom, Helen Crenshaw, was a teacher at Mocksville High, I got to attend Halloween carnivals, junior and senior plays, and of course, sports events. It was my special privilege to actually know and look up to these high school athletes and in later years to play on some recreation teams with them. The quotes were humorous in many cases, insightful and serious in others. As Henry Shutt said in the article, the hoopla surrounding today's athletes was not there; just simple enjoyment of team sports. Wouldn't it be nice to have that simplicity today?

Brian's story brought back so many memories of the 50s in Mocksville. The park recreation program was run by Jim Wall, Tom Ridenhour, Frank Hardin, Jack Ward and others was a wonderful summertime provision by the town. Playing baseball, tennis, box hockey, horseshoes and ping pong with tournaments was great fun. Afternoons including swimming at Lake Hidenway with the jukebox blaring the hits of the day. One of the highlights of each day was Mr. Frye driving up with his car trunk filled with iced down sodas for sale. To this day, I've never had a better tasting soda than the ones he brought on those hot summer days at Rich Park.

Again, Brian, thanks for the great memories and a great story. It was an excellent way to honor one fabulous team from 50 years ago.

Charles Crenshaw, Mocksville

Thanks To School Board

To the editor:

Monday, July 10 was changing of the guard on the Davie County School Board. As a Davie County parent of two DHS graduates and one current high school student I want to express my deep gratitude to Debbie Pullen and David Owens as they step down from the board after years of service. Thank you for your commitment and for sacrificing your time and energy on behalf of the students of Davie County.

Why Does Town Want Zoning?

To the editor:

Public awareness to the people who live outside the city limits of Cooleemee: four roads lead in and out of Cooleemee - Pine Ridge, Gladstone and Junction roads and NC 801. From the city limit signs for a distance of .8 mile on Pine Ridge Road, .8 on Gladstone Road, .7 on Junction Road and almost a mile on NC 801, the town board of Cooleemee wants to take over the zoning of all the property inside these areas.

They don't have a zoning officer on their town board. All of their zoning matters are contracted by a firm out of Kannapolis. So how would a new, additional area profit the town? What is the real reason they want to have more control? The Davie County manager and commissioners have the right to grant this request - or deny the request.

Another letter will be written by me concerning this public matter.

Things Much Better At Davie High Than What Hits The News

To the editor:

Recently, I completed my three years as the principal of Davie High School with a final state of the union address to the staff. I have ended each year for the past 20 as an administrator in Davie County with some version of where we have been and where we are going, but this was the first time I was able to do so with a new job on the horizon. Normally, I wouldn't address DHS issues on the second page of the newspaper, but I thought it might be fitting to share some first-hand perspective regarding the county's only high school. It is a place about which virtually everyone has an opinion; unfortunately, some opinions differ from what we see at school. Let me take up a little space this week with my own overview, which I think is important to share with the community.

To begin, there are many barriers to this school being as successful as everyone would like. Problems include the rising number of students, the limited options an aging facility has with 11 buildings and 16 mobile classrooms, a campus that is almost totally open to those who want to unofficially visit or unofficially leave, a staff that is large enough and spread out enough to preclude the significant collaboration required, and the limited resources and personnel to offset the complexity of all these problems. When considering the emotional and academic hardships teenagers struggle with day in and day out, it is even more difficult to cope with everyday problems. (It is interesting to note that the majority of the high school staff agrees with the statement that the county could better care for the needs of students with a smaller school.) With that being said, Davie High School is a place where safety concerns, drug related issues, interpersonal problems, non-compliance with rules and procedures, and many other school related issues only occasionally rear their heads as significant problems. While these occur far more than anyone wants, it is still nice to know that the biggest ongoing problems at DHS are attendance and motivation with some of its students. As long as teens are figured in the equation, those issues will never go away.

Navigating the hard times and applauding the accomplishments is a tough line to walk when communicating to the public, but Davie County citizens deserve to know more than what sometimes appears on this page of the newspaper. Unfortunately, the press on the accomplishments of our high school, (disregarding the sports and special activities), does not do justice to the fact that DHS continues to be better every year. In fact, the school continually grows in ways that deserve mentioning. Here are a few categories that should be of interest and pride for all:

Appearance. The campus looks as good as it ever has. Whether it is the pride in the eagle at the front entrance, the gum-free breezeway, renovated science rooms, renovated bathrooms, a new stadium, virtually all new interior lighting, or new paint around the entire campus, Davie High is a much better looking school. It continues to get even better.

Safety. While the school grows, safety concerns are addressed to make it as safe as possible. Adding a second resource officer, enhancing campus security with fencing, hiring a parking lot attendance, adding speed bumps, doubling the number of working security cameras, and increasing many special experiences to make school worth coming to each day add up to a school that has very few comparative safety problems. Do problems happen? Of course, and ongoing efforts to resolve and prevent them does too.

Achievement. In the past five years the number of students considered proficient has gone up nearly 14% to a high last year of 83.3%. For the last two years, the school has been recognized as a School of Distinction. For the first time ever last year, DHS was recognized as a School of High Growth. DHS was one of the top eight highest achieving high schools of our size in the state. (This year the bar has been raised for measuring achievement so any changes that occur should not be labeled as regression.) Because the SAT gets more attention than it deserves as a measure of student learning, please be aware that the results that are printed in the paper are not the best that students perform. These results are one point in time and most students take the test multiple times. It is also a measure of different groups of students that include high performing and low performing students, some of whom do not even go to college. Expecting comparable results from different groups of students is like expecting the children from any one family to be academically equal. That just is not the case.

Student Support. This area may be the most important. Last year, DHS had one of the lowest dropout rates of any high school in our region. The addition of an alternative school at Central Davie offers a significant opportunity for many more teens to stay in school next year. We have introduced multiple opportunities to communicate with parents at evening sessions on topics ranging from college acceptance and academic aid to on-line classes and community advisory meetings. There are a multitude of opportunities at DHS for students to connect to school offering another reason that teens can look forward to coming every day.

Technology. How much more can our advances in technology be shared? The current opportunities for instructional technology and learning are incredible. There are few places that can match what we provide our students.

School is just like a family in many ways. We have disappointments in ourselves as parents/educators and disappointments in our children being children. We lack for things, and we have to make do with what we are given. Yet with all the difficulties, we are fiercely protective of our own, and we are proud of our accomplishments. Penny Hedrick, the new principal, will feel the same as she moves DHS even further up the ladder of success. She and those who work at DHS deserve support from us all because there is plenty to make us proud. In the future, for those who feel the need to air their concerns in the newspaper, I would encourage you to take the time to first speak to Mrs. Hedrick to seek out a resolution or the accuracy of the situation. She will certainly appreciate the professional courtesy and you will probably be enlightened by the conversation.

The state of the union at Davie High is good, in spite of hard times, and further improvement is the goal. Considering the strengths of our only high school, remember that "Nature doesn't require that we are perfect, only that we grow." The successes of our school will always deserve a lot more attention than any shortcomings.

Larry Bridgewater,
DHS outgoing principal

Report From Raleigh House, Senate Agree On New Budget

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

The House and Senate chambers gave final approval to the state budget for the next fiscal year. I had mixed feelings. It provides much needed tax relief to families across North Carolina in addition to one-time relief for counties in a struggle to pay a share of Medicaid costs. North Carolina is the only state that still requires its counties to contribute to the non-federally covered costs of Medicaid. In many instances, counties are spending more on Medicaid than on schools. I have worked diligently this session to ensure counties some relief from this burden by providing a permanent cap on Medicaid costs at the 2005-2006 level.

Provided below are some details on the final budget that I thought you may find interesting:

• The budget provides a quarter point reduction in the states sales tax to be effective Dec. 1, just in time for the holiday shopping season. Additionally, the income tax rate for top income earners and many small businesses which was temporarily increased in 2001 will be reduced by a quarter point to 8% beginning Jan. 1, 2007. This budget provides assurance to North Carolina drivers that the motor fuels tax rate will not increase further as it caps the variable portion of the gas tax at the current rate of 12.4 cents per gallon through June 30, 2007. Other types of tax relief provided in the budget are in the form of tax credits and deductions. Small businesses will receive a $250 health insurance tax credit for each employee making less than $40,000 per year. Parents will be able to receive an income tax deduction when contributing to North Carolina's 529 college savings plan for their children. Money contributed to a 529 savings plan can be withdrawn tax-free, so long as the funds are used to finance educational expenses.

• The budget does provide $27.4 million in relief for counties with rising Medicaid expenses. This is one-time funding to hold the costs of Medicaid for counties at the 2005-2006 level.

• Rank-and-file state employees will receive a 5.5% pay raise for the next fiscal year while state retirees will receive a 3.0% cost-of-living increase. Teachers will be given an overall 8% pay raise, helping to bring their salaries closer to the national average. An additional $90 million is included in the budget for ABC bonuses for teachers in schools meeting specific academic goals. This budget appropriates $165 million to fully fund enrollment growth in schools, universities, and community colleges in North Carolina. The projected lottery proceeds totaling $425 million will be dedicated to early childhood education, reducing class size, school construction, and college scholarship ships for students in-need.

• In order to prepare for potential natural disasters, emergencies, and needed capital repairs for state buildings, the budget places more than $500 million in a reserve savings account. As North Carolina is trying to better prepare itself to fight against health epidemics and bio-terrorism, the budget includes a special indebtedness authorization for the construction of a new State Public Health Lab. In the area of public health, the state will be allocating $95 million in new funds for mental health, development disability, and substance abuse programs. Special indebtedness has been authorized to complete one and replace two mental hospitals in different regions.

If you would like further details on any of the provisions of this budget, please contact me and I'll be happy to provide any information available.

With the budget completed, it is anticipated that the General Assembly will adjourn soon.

Sandwiches And A Friend: Boles Has Loyal Customers

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise Record

When John Coley, a 30-year law enforcement veteran, walked in Boles Grocery last week and saw his longtime friend, Bob, on the floor in a puddle of blood, his reaction was not one he expected.

He froze.

"I've handled everything you can think of," said Coley, "suicides, murders, you name it, and I've seen everything. But when I walked in there and saw Bob, I just froze. I thought, 'This can't be happening.' It's just too close to home. When it's something as personal as this, it's just weird."

Coley said he and Boles have been friends for about 30 years. Coley and his wife, Mary Lou, were frequent visitors to Boles' store, sometimes shopping from Boles' stock of grocery items, but more often, just stopping in to visit.

Coley said Boles took over the store from his father, Hubert, in the early 80s, and was famous for his pimento cheese sandwiches.

"My brother lives in Wilmington, and when he'd come here, the first thing he would do is stop in and get a pimento cheese sandwich. His bologna sandwiches were pretty good too, but the pimento cheese was out of this world."

When Boles wasn't in the store, which wasn't often considering the store was open 12 hours a day, six days a week, he enjoyed fishing and spending time working on his old tractors. Coley said it is inconceivable that someone would want to rob or hurt him.

"You would have never thought that Bob's store would have ever been robbed. Even the bad guys won't mess with Bob. They know these places [local stores] are there, and they're safe havens for everybody. They don't mess with them.

"I heard from a jailer that the rest of the inmates in the jail are really mad at this guy. They're saying, 'You robbed the wrong guy.' The whole thing is just crazy. This is a man who's known for his generosity. His heart is the size of this county. There is absolutely nothing Bob wouldn't do for anyone. He's helped everyone who's ever needed help."

"I think if that boy had gone in there and told Bob he wanted $100, he'd have given it to him. That boy is as mean as a snake."

Boles' store wasn't the only one to have an intruder that day. Later Wednesday, the Bixby Convenience Store on Cornatzer Road was burglarized. Owner Patty Lyon said someone broke the door and stole several items. It's the second time in a month the building has been broken into.

"When something like this happens [Boles], it makes you fearful it could happen to you. I really hate it for him. I hope he gets better," she said.

"We're considering changing our alarm system and putting bars on the doors," Lyon said. "I think it's a crying shame that we're out here just trying to earn a living and make money to live on, and what little bit we make, they try to take away from us."

"We're open 16 hours a day, seven days a week, and I pull about 70 hours a week myself. We don't make a lot of money doing this. I think if criminals realized how little we really do make, they might leave us alone."

The Handi Cupboard in Cooleemee was broken into early in the morning, July 4. Renee Diggins, store manager, said she opened the store at 6 a.m. and didn't notice anything wrong, but when she went out to her car a short time later, she realized what had happened.

"I went out to my car for something, and when I was walking back in, I saw the broken window, and that's when I knew someone had broken in and could have still been in the store," she said.

It was the first time the store had been broken into since she started working there three years ago. The store has an alarm system that alerts the sheriff's department, but even with that, Diggins said the attack on Boles has made her "real jittery."

Fellow store owner Deborah Dull is the owner of Jim's Fruit N' Stuff, located just a short distance from Boles' store on US 601 North. She said Boles is not a fellow businesswoman, but is a friend and inspiration.

"For years and years, at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., if my mother was calling me from Florida, she knew to call Boles. It is my favorite place in the world to go. I always wanted something like he had. That's the reason I bought this place."

Dull said while some may know Bob for his pimento cheese sandwiches, she knew him for a different kind.

"He's legendary for his bologna sandwiches," she said. "You could go in, and he'd make you a sandwich. He'd take a huge, thick hunk of bologna and cut a slice of hoop cheese, and this might sound gross, but when he'd make mine, he'd slap some peanut butter on it."

Dull said the day of the attack, she got so upset that she closed her store.

"You hear about stuff like this happening, but never this close to home. I know one thing - this has made me look up whenever the door opens. We already have the security camera going, and I carry Mace all the time. This has really put me on edge, and I just can't believe it has happened here and to him."

"Bob Boles is a country gentleman. What more can I say?"

Tips Could Help Small Store Owners

While owners of small, local stores are often the target of criminals, Davie Sheriff Allen Whitaker said there are steps that can be taken to prevent becoming a victim.

If employees or managers can avoid being alone in the store, said Whitaker, that can often be a deterrent. So can store video cameras, whether linked to a system or not.

"It depends on the size of the operation, but a lot of larger stores have security monitoring. If that's not an option, as in the Mom and Pop type stores, if the store has a video camera that can be used after the fact to help identify the people involved or to clarify what happened, that can be very useful," he said.

He said clerks should never show cash or receipts and should make deposits frequently to avoid having large sums of cash on the premises. Routines should be mixed up, as criminals often study stores or clerks to see when they might be most vulnerable to attacks.

Whitaker said store owners should avoid cluttering their windows with signs or goods and should always be aware of their surroundings, especially when leaving the store.

If a store clerk chooses to keep a weapon on the premises, Whitaker said they should be aware of legal and liability issues. "If they have a weapon, such as a gun, if they use it, they should be prepared to use it, not just show it. They should be trained in the proper use and storage of it. If they use it and cause injury or death, they can be charged with manslaughter. That would be up to the court system ... but a person always has the right to protect himself."

Whitaker said Mace is a good option because using it can give a person extra minutes to react or place an alarm.

Boles ...

Placed in the Davie Detention Center in lieu of a $475,000 bond.

The two customers were treated and released from N.C. Baptist Hospital, where Boles remained Tuesday in critical condition.

Davie Sheriff's Detective Sgt. Brian Diggs said there are no other suspects at this time, although he and the SBI are still working on leads.

"The whole thing was a bit confusing. It was here, then there."

One of the customers, Howard Sanders of Mocksville, drove his Horn Oil truck to a nearby business to get help after he couldn't get a signal on his cell phone.

The other customer, Marvin Lawson of Welcome, drove toward Mocksville and flagged down a town police officer at US 601 North at Cooper Creek Drive.

Diggs said that Sanders and Boles were familiar with the suspect, and were having a "normal conversation."

The suspect walked behind Sanders and stabbed him in the neck with a steak knife, and then stabbed Lawson in the face, Diggs said.

"The young man entered the store, had a brief conversation with Mr. Sanders. He felt a stinging ... and was stabbed again. The next thing he knew he (suspect) was attacking Lawson."

Boles called 911. Sanders and Lawson went after the suspect, Sanders getting him out the door using a chair.

Sanders went to his truck to call on his cell phone, but couldn't get a reception. Diggs said the suspect then forced his way back into the store, while Lawson was trying to hold him back.

"Lawson fought and fought, couldn't get anywhere, so he left to go call," he said.

At that time, Diggs said that the suspect apparently calmed down, and was leaning on the counter when Sanders and Lawson, both bleeding profusely, left for help. "The guy had stopped fighting ... and Mr. Boles told him to just get out of here."

What happened next isn't as clear. Boles hasn't been able to tell his side, and the suspect hasn't offered any information.

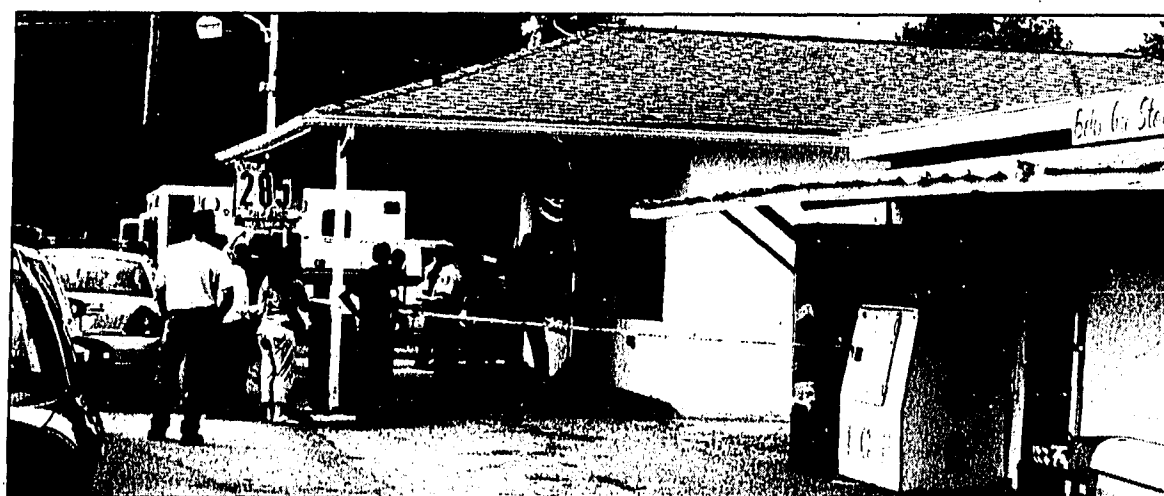

Diggs said that Boles apparently got his 380 semi-automatic pistol, and fired at least one shot. Boles struggled with the suspect, who got the gun. Boles was shot once and stabbed five times in the back.

"You could hear him (Boles) on the (911) tape saying he had shot him," Diggs said.

Sanders saw the suspect leave in his vehicle, heading north on 601.

Diggs said the suspect was in the store for about 15 minutes total. He thinks robbery was the motive. The suspect had more than $1,000 on him when he was taken into custody. Officers also recovered the gun and the steak knife from the suspect, he said.

Angell waived his right to a court-appointed counsel on Thursday, saying he had hired a local attorney. He had been a student at Davie High School.

Fire Calls ...

Bralley, County Finance Director Jim Stockert, and Firefighter's Association President Steve Walters on June 30 to discuss the new proposal. "The will of the majority is what they wanted, we got that, then they said it wasn't a super majority," Chief Wayne Williams said. Smith Grove Chief Donald Howard disagreed. "We worked with all the fire chiefs and re-wrote the proposal probably eight times."

Williams said, "I just felt like if I didn't sign it, we'd be left out. We'd be stuck with our old funding and not get an increase."

Williams said his department had no part in drawing up the original proposal and that it was done by Smith Grove Volunteer Fire Department.

Smith Grove Chief Donald Howard disagreed. "We worked with all the fire chiefs and re-wrote the proposal probably eight times."

Howard is a 32-year veteran with the fire department and said his department was unaware of the new proposal. "We knew nothing about it until after it was turned in to the county."

When Howard was asked if Smith Grove would have signed had they known about the new proposal he responded, "Nope, because Davie is no longer equal."

Howard said a majority of the county's growth is in the eastern part of the county, Smith Grove's district, and they answer a greater number of calls.

"The 1¢ increase - Smith Grove, Advance, and Mocksville aren't getting it - that all goes to help fund the other departments," Howard says.

Still, other departments find little comfort in that fact. "Effective July 1 we're getting over $100,000 less than Advance," Williams said.

In 2005 Jerusalem answered 32 fire calls and Advance answered 24 fire calls, according to a report summary by the N.C. Department of Insurance Office of the State Fire Marshal (see chart).

"I really don't know what to think. I don't know what to say right now. I think the whole thing could be redone where it would be fair to everyone," Williams said.

The new funding proposal says a number of chiefs have publicly stated they felt coerced into signing the previous proposal.

Chief Jason Keaton of William R. Davie was the only one who did not sign the original proposal. "We just felt like it was too much money going to the other three departments (Smith Grove, Mocksville, and Advance). I was threatened that if we didn't sign the proposal we could go back to the initial amount we received," Keaton said.

"If you look at the individual people in these districts, how does that make them feel that they're not getting the same amount to operate their departments as the other districts," Keaton said.

"The case now should be there are enough votes (for the new proposal) there to turn it around."

Williams says he doesn't believe the new proposal will be approved. "I don't think they'll change anything now. Twelve out of 13 signed the original. The way they did with the tax increase they didn't listen to the people and I don't think they'll listen to us on this."

Edwin Owens, president of the board of directors at Coolleemee Volunteer Fire Department, says, "With this new proposal it's a majority that wants to change it, so it should be changed."

Center Volunteer Fire Department Chief Brian Chaffin is hopeful the new proposal will pass. "I feel every resident of Davie County deserves the best fire protection they can get. I feel everyone should have equal fire protection."

Sheffield-Calahain Volunteer Fire Department Chief David Beck says, "I'm really hopeful, but we've got word back that it's going to have to be a significant majority. I don't understand that, there was a one vote difference to raise taxes, I think it ought to be straight across the line."

Chief Brian Koontz of County Line Volunteer Fire Department has not signed the new proposal. "To be honest, we'd just signed the other and it would have been like going against our word. It's not that we agree with the [original] proposal, we're just trying to stay neutral."

A letter from Bralley to Tutterow dated June 29 states the 2006-07 budget has been finalized and while it is not impossible to amend it, it does not seem practical at this time, given that 11 out of 12 fire departments and 1 rescue squad - or the "super majority" - agreed to the funding.

Sounds Of Summer: Gala Raises Awareness, Money

Guests enjoy the food on the terrace at Childress.

The Community Foundation of Davie County hosted the first annual Sounds of Summer in June.

More than 400 people were on the grounds of the Childress Vineyards which featured foods, Childress wines, the music of the Catalinas, and a silent auction.

"Sounds of Summer was originally designed to raise awareness of The Community Foundation of Davie County," said foundation president Jane Simpson. "We wanted to host a fun event in a beautiful setting that people would enjoy and talk about in the community. By attending, guests would become aware that Davie County has a community foundation and hopefully want to learn more about us."

"It was only as discussions continued that we decided to add a fund raising component - a silent auction to support our operations."

"The Silent Auction was surprisingly successful," said Neal Foster, foundation board chair. "The entire board worked quickly to find auction items that would be unique or would have general appeal. It appears we did a good job as we had more than 70 items for guests to select from."

Guests were treated to food served from stations on the terrace and on the grounds encouraging guests to mingle and enjoy the facility.

Michelle Kennedy, WXII weather, was emcee and the Catalinas had guests dancing everywhere.

"Shagging in the grass was an interesting challenge, but our guests seemed to handle it," said board member Marlene Shamel. "It appeared everyone enjoyed themselves. Most left telling us we had to do it again next year."

"The event seemed to gain momentum as it got closer with ticket sales going crazy," said Simpson. "We especially appreciated the support from Eastern Davie and Bermuda Run residents. Earlene and John Ferguson became ticket central and even contracted with two commercial buses to transport residents who preferred not to drive."

According to Simpson, proceeds are projected to be over $25,000.

"We achieved and exceeded all of the goals we set for the event. The evening was beautiful. We sold more tickets than we anticipated, we raised more money than we anticipated, and we made community friends and business aware of The Community Foundation of Davie County. It was an exciting success. We are already looking at dates and funds for 2007."

Do you suffer with headaches more than twice per week????

I have been helping people with migraines and headaches for over five years now. I have a great amount of compassion with someone who experiences headaches because I was once a sufferer of them myself. That is how I became a Chiropractor. After seeking treatment for them from a chiropractor while I was in college, I felt very passionate about helping others who also experience them. I have been successfully helping people relieve their headaches in Yadkinville where I have my fulltime office. I recently opened an office in Hillsdale, I am currently accepting new patients. To see if I can help you I have attached a special offer through July only.

Hi, I'm Dr. Leslie Horne and I've been helping patients get rid of their headaches for over five years.

Out Of Outs

Rowan Finishes Mocksville In Game Four

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville's Tom Kuell prevented Rowan County from cruising to victory in Game 4 of their best-of-5, first-round playoff series on July 5 at Rich Park. The left-hander just couldn't do enough to avoid elimination.

Kuell pitched admirably for five of his seven innings. The problem was Mocksville couldn't solve Kuell's counterpart, Weston Church, until the seventh. Fourth-seeded Rowan broke away from a close game with a five-run ninth, and the 10-3 outcome ousted fifth-seeded Mocksville three games to one.

"Kuell did everything we asked," Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace said. "He did a great job of throwing first-pitch strikes, and any time you do that you'll have a chance to win. And when you're left-handed, you're going to have a greater chance to win just because your ball moves more. He did a sensational job against a very good team. I mean he put us in position to play in Game 5."

Mocksville finished 15-15, while Rowan advanced to the second round for the 17th straight year at 22-7.

It was an entertaining pitchers' duel. One of Zeb Link's three hits enabled Rowan to score in the first, but it remained 1-0 through five.

"It was real big to get a run in the first," Church said. "It's a hostile place and they run their mouth."

Kuell battled out of two-on trouble in the fourth and wiggled out of a bases-loaded mess in the fifth. Meanwhile, Church was cruising along, facing 13 batters through four innings and retiring Mocksville in order in four of the first six innings. Through six innings, Church got 13 of 18 outs within three pitches.

Church was riding momentum from his previous outing against Statesville, which didn't get a hit in five innings against the precision right-hander.

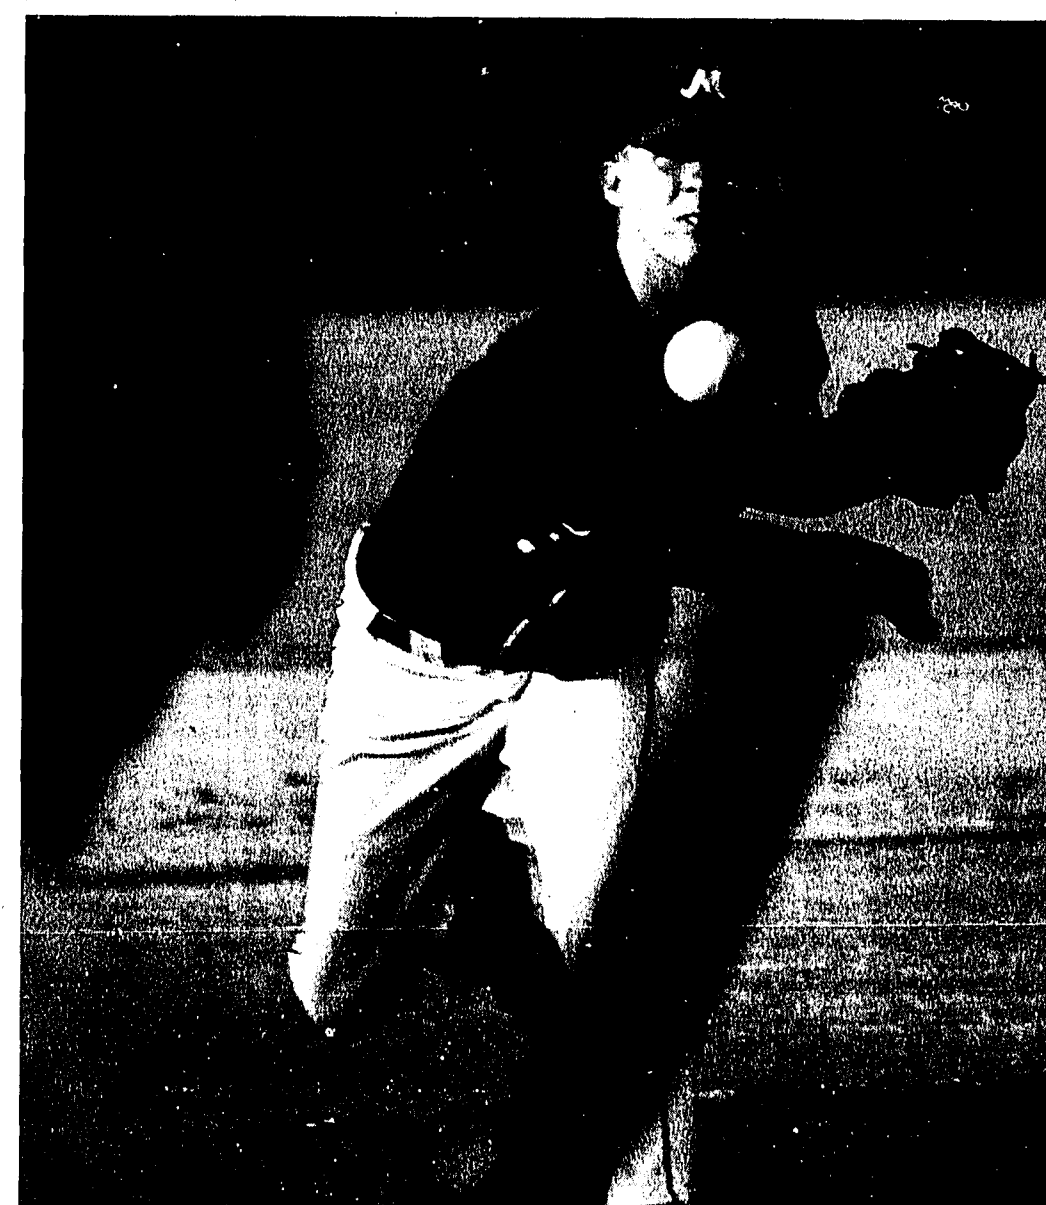

"Church was around the plate and they said it looked like it was their pitch," Lovelace said. "We missed some pitches. Church did a great job. Hats off to him."

To illustrate Church's efficiency, he used five pitches to retire the side in the fourth.

"That's how he was in his last outing against Statesville," Rowan coach Jim Gantt said. "Of course, Statesville is nowhere near the lineup that Mocksville is. But he had his good stuff, he kept it down and got ground balls."

While Church improved to 3-0 and

Corriher Staves Off Elimination

The Mocksville Legion baseball team was reeling when it visited Rowan County on July 3 in Game 3 of their best-of-5 series. Mocksville had lost three straight, five of six and trailed two games to none in the first-round playoff series.

Enter Brad Corriher. With Mocksville sporting an obituary waiting to be written, the left-hander couldn't have pitched much better in an 8-5 win. He didn't give up a run until the sixth inning, by which time Mocksville had an 8-0 lead.

Fifth-seeded Mocksville got back over .500 at 15-14, while No. 4 Rowan slipped to 21-7.

"That's the first quality pitching performance we've gotten in the series," Mocksville coach Mike Lovelace said. "He kept great hitters off-balance. He was in control and got ahead in the count. He got them out on their front foot, and he did that in the regular-season game when we played here. That was a huge pitching performance."

Mocksville desperately needed a strong start, and it jumped all over Rowan and its starting pitcher, Catawba-bound Craig Lyerly, in the third.

Michael Clayton only had one hit, but it was a loud one, a two-out, two-run homer over the fence in right to stake Corriher to a 3-0 lead. Mocksville increased the margin to 5-0 in the fourth, capped by Brent Beam's two-out RBI single.

Mocksville's lead was 8-0 when it pounded out three more runs in the sixth. After Rowan made two errors, Zach Vogler and John Diachenko capitalized with run-scoring singles.

Lyerly's night was finished in the third, and Mocksville forced Rowan coach Jim Gantt to summon three relievers. After making five errors in each of the first two games, Mocksville only made one error in Game 3 - and that was a tough ruling on a screamer down the first-base line that glanced off Clayton's glove.

"You can't win a game in the third inning, but you can sure lose it, and we proved that tonight," Gantt said.

"I was real proud of the guys," Lovelace said. "We could have easily just said: 'Hey, we're going to be done.' We've actually won two games here."

Corriher and John McDaniel, who earned the save, benefitted from a balanced attack. Lance Emert pushed his hitting streak to 16, while Brandon Stewart extended his to nine. Beam improved his series hitting to 7 for 13.

And three guys enjoyed slump-breaking outbursts. Vogler went 2 for 4 after going 0 for 7 in the previous two games. Diachenko went 2 for 4 after going 1 for 14 in three games. And Heath Boyd went 2 for 5 after going 1 for 10 in three games.

But this night was really about Corriher, who improved to 3-2 and chopped his ERA from 6.98 to 5.80. His array of offspeed pitches flustered Rowan for four innings, a span in which he didn't face more than four batters.

"He's very intelligent, handles himself very well and he was very composed in front of a tough crowd," Lovelace said. "He battled every pitch."

"He was effective for the second time against us, and we worked on hitting his kind of stuff in BP yesterday," Gantt said. "We made some adjustments, we had an approach and they carried that approach in here tonight. But it didn't work out. We chased some bad pitches,

Juniors Storm To 28-9

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Mocksville Junior Legion baseball coaches Charles Kurfees and Andrew Jones were rightly concerned heading into a second-round playoff series against Mooresville. Mocksville lost three of four regular-season games to Mooresville, and the lone win was in non-league play.

But fifth-seeded Mocksville took its game up several notches to defeat fourth-seeded Mooresville three games to one in the best-of-5 series. Mocksville won 8-0 and 5-3 in the first two games. After losing 6-3 in Game 3, it advanced to the 16-team Area III semifinals with an 8-3 victory in Game 4.

"We stepped up to the plate," said Kurfees, who has never been more happy during a 28-9 season.

In the earlier meetings, Mooresville beat Mocksville 10-8 on a walkoff homer in extra innings. After beating Mocksville 9-4, Mooresville survived another extra-inning battle, 6-4 in nine. Mocksville finally won in the fourth meeting, 12-2.

Mocksville, which received a first-round forfeit from Wilkes Central, was spurred by Mat Batts, Matt Oswell and Zeb Cope.

That Batts handcuffed Mooresville with a six-inning one-hitter in Game 1 was hardly a news flash. Nor was it surprising that he went 2 for 3 in the same game, hit a single during a decisive rally in Game 2, went 2 for 3 in Game 3 and went 2 for 3 with a homer in Game 4. The rising sophomore at Mount Tabor has been remarkable in all areas all season.

"Batts is one of those players you're going to read about," Kurfees said. "When we had our first Junior Legion team (in 2003), I told you Corey Martin was the man. Batts is the next one. He's legit."

Oswell is a major reason Mocksville is one win from matching the record of 29 W's in 2003. He has an enviable blend of size, speed and strength, and the team has grown familiar with him taking the mound in late innings and slamming the door.

"Oswell's relief pitching has been phenomenal," Kurfees said. "He's done excellent all year. He wants to start some games on the mound, but I think he loves (being the closer)."

"Those hard, he's got a changeup and a curveball," Jones said. "He could be a starting pitcher if we didn't have him in center field all the time."

Even some scouts have been salivating over Batts and Oswell, a rising junior at Davie.

Ijames Bringing College Players To Rich Park

The Carolina-Virginia Collegiate Baseball League is coming to Rich Park July 15, and there will be several familiar faces on the field.

Dale Ijames, the retired teacher who put Glenn High baseball on the map with a long run of conference championships and deep playoff runs and the 1992 state title, is in his fourth year of leading the Kernersville Bulldogs, who play home games at Glenn. Ijames is a 1969 Davie High alum who guided the Mocksville Legion in 1989-95.

Ijames has four former Mocksville Legion players on his 25-man roster, including David Perkins, Cody Crotts, Corey Martin and Chad Boone. One of Ijames' assistants is son Dustin Ijames, who was the bat boy during his father's days as Mocksville's coach.

Kernersville will play a doubleheader (two seven-inning games) starting at 5 p.m. against the Charlotte Hurricanes, who also have Davie County ties through their coaches: Thomas Eaton is a Davie native, and pitching coach Jim Lightle taught and coached at Davie High in the late 1980s and 1990s.

The Bulldogs played in the South-

"We moved to this new league that gives kids a chance to play in a national championship and allows kids a chance to build their stats and learn to adjust to wood."

- Coach Dale Ijames

ern Collegiate League in 2003-05. They changed wood-bat leagues this year, and through July 8 they were in second place with a 20-8 record behind Danville, Va. The Bulldogs are in the late stages of a 36-game regular season. The other teams in the league are Hickory, Charlotte, Danville, Beckley (WV) and Bluefield (WV).

They won the Southern Collegiate League title all three years, but "we weren't getting a chance to play non-league games, and weren't getting a chance to play enough baseball," Ijames said. "So we moved to this new league that gives kids a chance to play in a national championship and allows kids a chance to build their stats and learn to adjust to wood."

This is not an adult league with a bunch of has-beens trying to turn back the clock. This is high-level baseball with legitimate talent, some of which have realistic chances of landing professional contracts or jumping to a higher level of college ball. Every team in the league has at least 24 players with NCAA eligibility remaining.

The Bulldogs are represented by the following colleges and universities: Surry Community, Guilford, North Carolina A&T, High Point, UNC Pembroke, Charlotte, N.C. State, Milligan, N.C. Wesleyan, Spartanburg Methodist, Pfeiffer, Elon, Mississippi, Peru State, Belmont Abbey, Montreat, Rockingham Community, Central Connecticut State, Duke and Charleston Southern.

"We have two rules in the league," Ijames said. "Each team can have one player that has just finished his college eligibility. If he didn't get drafted and he's trying to catch on with an Independent League team or something like that, they can play in the league. If a kid signs out of high school, he's only played against kids his own age and needs to play against college guys before he goes to college, you can take one of those. The rest all have NCAA or NAIA eligibility."

Martin had a sore elbow and struggled with his control this spring at Western Carolina. But he has hit his stride with Kernersville. In his last three appearances, spanning 14 innings, the flame-throwing right-hander has allowed just two hits. Overall he's 2-0 with a 1.20 ERA.

"He's a starter for us," Ijames said. "His role at Western was only as a short-inning reliever. He's got arm trouble and I have to regulate when he can pitch. He's on a strict pitch count. But his last three outings have been tremendous. His strikeout-to-walk ratio is three to one. In college it was opposite of that."

Perkins of Charleston Southern is having an astonishing season, hitting .390 and leading the club in RBIs. He has also been a factor as a reliever.

"He's really doing an outstanding job," Ijames said. "He's our second-leading hitter, and we're trying to turn him into a submarine pitcher and a closer. He's logged some good innings."

Crotts (UNC Pembroke) and Boone (Guilford) have also played well for Kernersville. Crotts is 3-0 with a 1.53 ERA.

"Crotts is a setup guy for Pembroke, and we're turning him back into a starter. He's doing a real solid job for us," Ijames said. "Boone is a closer for us."

For one inning he can just rear back and bring it. He can light the gun up."

Ijames is excited about coming back home and showcasing his team. He hopes a good crowd comes out to watch wood-bat baseball. He would love it even more if Mocksville would entertain the notion of starting its own Carolina-Virginia League team and playing home games at Rich Park.

"There's so many kids around that want to play and we can't carry but 25," he said. "We're trying to talk Mocksville into starting a team. They've got a great facility and we're looking to expand the league. Maybe we can get some support out there when people see wood bat and how much better a game it is. It's the way the game's supposed to be played. The game moves. You don't get to sell as many hot dogs, though. That's the only bad thing about it."

Ijames plans to give Mocksville a treat by pitching Matt McSwain in one of the games. A handful of pro teams covet McSwain, especially the Pittsburgh Pirates, who hope to sign him this weekend.

"He can bring it," Ijames said. "I'd like to see him go back to college (Elon). Free agents are out there playing, but he could get so much more money next year by being a high draft pick. He's worried about hurting his arm again and not getting a chance. Pittsburgh is really after him."

Ijames is the all-time winner among Mocksville Legion coaches, going 175-88 in seven years. His teams went 37-15 in 1989, 25-13 in 1990, 28-10 in 1991, 24-13 in 1992, 28-10 in 1993 and 20-12 in 1994. The 1989 team finished second in the state.

"Scouts watched Oswell hit in the cage," Kurfes said. "He's cut. He's an athlete. They were checking him out, and they like him. There were a few scouts at the Mocksville series who are real interested in Batts."

And then there's second baseman Cope, a rising Davie Junior. He has been a vital part of the equation all season with the glove, and now he's got a dramatically improved bat. He got a big hit in the close encounter in Game 2, and he went 3 for 3 in Game 4.

"In the series he was probably our biggest offensive star," Kurfes said. "He hit real good under pressure and when behind in the count. He's a two-strike hitter." Mocksville 8, Mooresville 0

After Batts' golden left arm struck out seven, Oswell came in to punctuate the shutout. Brad Wrege paced the offense with two singles and a double.

Mocksville 5, Mooresville 3

Ryan Carter keyed Game 2, pitching five-hit ball for six innings. Predictably, Oswell got the save in the seventh.

Mocksville trailed 1-0 going into the last of the fourth. But a blast of offensive brilliance separated the teams. Justin Kidd set a five-run uprising in motion with a leadoff single. After Batts singled, Josh Gregory and Oswell drew walks. Then Cope stroked a bases-loaded single as Mocksville surged in front 5-1.

Mocksville 6, Mocksville 3

Oswell blasted a two-run homer in the sixth. Unfortunately for Mocksville, it was one of its few thrills. It was down 6-1 before the homer.

"He homered to the biggest part of the park at Mooresville," Kurfes said. "He crushed it (to right-center). It was high and far."

Batts went 2 for 3 and Kidd 2 for 4.

Mocksville 8, Mooresville 3

One Mocksville hit followed another in the series-clinching win. If Kidd wasn't mashing a single, Gregory was smacking a triple. If Cope wasn't punching a single, Clint Howell was lacing a double.

Nobody lifted the team more than Kidd, who went 4 for 4, and Cope, who went 3 for 3. Batts was 2 for 3 with a homer. Gregory was 2 for 3, while Wrege and Howell were 2 for 4.

"Kidd can hit it," Kurfes said. "We were struggling coming into that game, and he just unloaded."

Mocksville got strong pitching from Jake Koonz, who worked into the sixth, Oswell relieved and recorded the final five outs.

"Koonz pitched as good as you could ask him to," Kurfes said.

Notes: As hot as Mocksville is, winning 15 of 17, it is a decided underdog in the Area III semifinals against Rowan County. The best-of-5 series began July 9. Rowan hasn't lost all season. ... The winner of that series qualifies for the state tournament. ... Mocksville needs all the pitching it can get from here on out, and the losses of Chris Brogdon and Tucker Piner could prove very costly. They are no longer with the team. "That has really put a hole in our staff," Kurfes said. "We could use them against Rowan, that's for sure."

Oak Valley Tops Willow Run, FCC

Oak Valley pushed its undefeated record to 5-0 last week with a win over Willow Run, but the Orcas face the regular season's biggest threat, Sherwood Pool, this week.

Coach Dana Keeney said she just hopes to keep it close. Sherwood hasn't lost in several years.

"The first time we swam Sherwood they beat us by 400 points. If we can keep it to 50 points, I will consider it a victory," she said.

Sherwood won the recent Greater Winston-Salem Swimming Championships. Oak Valley finished third in that event, which featured about 25 area pools.

The Orcas beat Forsyth Country Club on June 27 by 467-426.

Oak Valley winners included: Medley Relay — 9-10 year old boys Nolan Day, Zac Gantt, Michael Mebel and Quinn Holland; 11-12 year old boys — Tommy O'Brien, Matt Meeker, Brendan Radatovich and Michael Sekelsky; 13-14 girls — Hannah Keeney, Alex Smithdeal, Summer Holland, and Autumn Jones; 15-18 boys — Justin Lee, Drew Esposito, Matt Lee and Daniel Wendel.

Oak Valley Tops Willow Run, FCC

Oak Valley pushed its undefeated record to 5-0 last week with a win over Willow Run, but the Orcas face the regular season's biggest threat, Sherwood Pool, this week.

Couch Dana Keeney said she just hopes to keep it close. Sherwood hasn't lost in several years.

"The first time we swam Sherwood they beat us by 400 points. If we can keep it to 50 points, I will consider it a victory," she said.

Sherwood won the recent Greater Winston-Salem Swimming Championships. Oak Valley finished third in that event, which featured about 25 area pools.

The Orcas beat Foreyth Country Club on June 27 by 467-426.

Oak Valley winners included: Medley Relay — 9-10 year old boys Nolan Day, Zac Gant, Michael Mebel and Quinn Holland; 11-12 year old boys — Tommy O'Brien, Matt Meeker, Brendan Radatovich and Michael Sekelsky; 13-14 girls — Hannah Keeney, Alex Smithdeal, Summer Holland, and Autumn Jones; 15-18 boys — Justin Lee, Drew Esposito, Matt Lee and Daniel Wendel.

Distance Free — 9-10 Quinn Holland, 11-12 Erica Coffey; 13-14 Autumn Jones; 15-18 Daniel Wendel.

Individual Medley — 11-12 Quinn Holland, 15-18 Autumn Jones, 15-18 Justin Lee.

Freestyle — 9-10 Blakely Gant, 9-10 Nolan Day, 11-12 Brendan Radatovich, 13-14 Autumn Jones, 15-18 Jamie Stanciliff, 15-18 Daniel Wendel.

Backstroke — 7-8 James Boyle, 11-12 Erica Coffey, 11-12 Michael Mebel, 13-14 Alex Smithdeal, 15-18 Rebecca Hendrix, 15-18 Drew Esposito.

Butterfly — 7-8 James Boyle, 9-10 Michael Mebel, 15-18 Autumn Jones, 15-18 Drew Esposito.

Free Relay — 7-8 Boys Matthew Harding, Covey Hough, James Boyle, Dominick Carbone; 9-10 Boys Nolan Day, Zac Gant, Michael Mebel, Quinn Holland; 11-12 Girls Laura Shelton, Bailey Folmar, Erika Coffey, Palmer Benson; 15-18 Girls Katelyn Jones, Rebecca Hendrix, Rachel Mackintosh, Jamie Stanciliff; 15-18 Boys Luke Manning, Jake McKay, James Mighion, Landon Whitaker.

Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop

Ed Scharf of The Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop is observing his 20th year in business. Ed says that he is one of the luckiest people alive when it comes to earning a living. Over 20 years ago he turned his hobby into a business. Ed has been an avid golfer for over 43 years and over a stretch of about twelve years he played over 200 rounds per year. During that period he was able to drop his handicap to as low as a three and at age 60 has lost several yards on his tee shot but still plays to a single digit handicap. His love for the game ranks third behind his family and his church and just ahead of Carolina basketball.

Ed credits Gene Queen, a good friend and scratch golfer, with teaching him the golf repair and club assembly side of the business. With a recession in the golf business since 1997, Ed jokingly refers to himself as "the Last Man Standing". He relates that since he opened The Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop several stores carrying major brand golf equipment have opened and closed. And others who have tried to build a business like the "Sand Trap" have had to close their doors also.

Ed attributes his success to several factors. First, he operates a full service golf shop. His services range from building custom clubs and Titanium drivers, to reshaping with both steel and graphite shafts, to regripping clubs, and performing all types of golf club repair. He sells mostly "copy" clubs of the better known name brand companies such as Callaway, Ping, Taylormade, and Nike. Each year Ed attends the PGA show in Orlando to find the "premium" quality copy heads to sell to his customers. And he also sells some mid-major name brands from whom he has to buy only the component heads so that he can custom fit these for his customers. These brands include KZG, Wilson, Alpha Reaction, Bang, and Walter Hagen. He also specializes in Harrison graphite shafts for all wood clubs, especially for any and all Titanium drivers. He uses Harrison shafts in his own personal woods. Their reputation for being the most consistent and longest of the high-end graphite shafts is proven with their performance in the national long drive championships where they have dominated the competition with 7 championships to their credit. No other company has even come close.

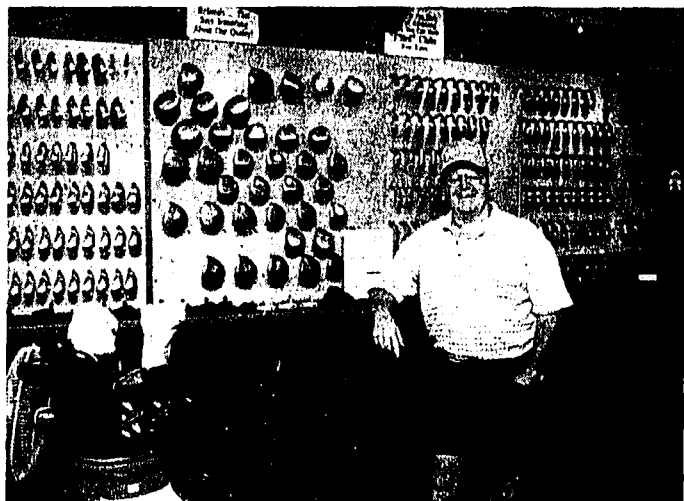

Second, the shop's motto "You can spend more money, but you can't buy better quality" is backed up by the shop's custom club guarantee which is prominently displayed. Ed feels that if he builds every set of clubs like they were his own then he won't have to worry about having dissatisfied customers.

Third, he doesn't ever make a customer wait if he can do the job right now. It doesn't matter whether it's regripping a set, or resetting a shaft, or installing a new graphite shaft. Whenever possible Ed offers the golfer a cup of coffee while he waits for the job to be completed. Ed says "why ask the customer to make another trip to pick his club up when he can wait a few minutes and take it with him".

Fourth, Ed believes that every golfer, regardless of handicap or equipment, will score better and have more fun if he or she plays with custom-fitted clubs. For this reason he builds these clubs for not only the guys, but also for seniors, women, and juniors. The simple action of having your existing putter custom fitted to you can have a drastic effect on the number of putts you average per round. At the Sand Trap you can purchase golf clubs of the same quality as the name brand clubs, get them custom-fitted, and still pay only about one half the price of these name brands. Our custom-fitting includes choices as to 1) head design, 2) cast or forged, 3) length, 4) lie, 5) flex, 6) shaft weight, 7) steel or graphite shafts, 8) choice of grip, 9) grip size, and 10) swingweight. When purchasing "off the rack" clubs you usually have only two choices — head design and shaft flex.

Ed has moved "The Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop" operation to Clemmons, and has set up his business in the Docksides Plaza mall just to the right of Docksides Seafood Restaurant and across from Arby's on Lewisville-Clemmons Rd. His is a unique golf shop that makes you feel like you've been there before and want to come back real soon. Ed opened in Clemmons on Feb. 1st of this year and is currently running a drawing open to all who visit the shop for a free set of custom irons or a Titanium driver. All you have to do is drop by and register. When asked, one customer described what Ed does for a living? He replied that "He builds golf clubs that make you play better. And he always has advice to help you with your game. He knows more about golf than any other person that I know". If you're a golfer, you just might want to stop in and see what's available at The Sand Trap. I'm sure you'll be made to feel welcome, and just maybe you'll find something that you can't live — or play — without.

People

Crafters, Artists Sought For Festival

Did you know that Daniel Boone's parents, Squire and Sarah, are buried in Joppa Cemetery in Mocksville, and Squire's grave is the oldest there?

One of America's most famous and important frontiersmen called Davie County home, and was married here.

Davie residents have been planning for months a celebration of the 250th anniversary of Boone's marriage, highlighted by an original musical, a Friday night wedding "frolic" on Aug. 18, and an all-day festival and encampment on Saturday, Aug. 19 in Downtown Mocksville.

Artists, crafters and vendors are needed for the Aug. 19 festival. If interested, contact Polly Barnhardt at 751-3676 or Tami Langdon at 751-1096.

Music Hall Re-Opening

Sheffield Music Hall will re-open Friday night with live classic country music.

On Fridays from 8-11 p.m., the Backwater Classic Country Band will provide the music. Admission is $5, and a door prize will be awarded July 14.

"Sheffield Music Hall takes pride in offering good, clean family fun," said Barbara Barney.

Alcoholic beverages are not allowed on the premises, and smoking is not allowed inside the building. There is a dance floor and concession area. "We would like to invite everyone for a good time of music, dance and good family fun," Barney said.

The hall is located on Turkeyfoot Road, just off Sheffield Road. Take US 64 West from Mocksville, and turn right onto Sheffield Road just past Center Volunteer Fire Department.

Relay Gospel Sing Saturday

Gospel music will fill the air at the Davie County Public Library on North Main Street in Mocksville Saturday.

Not only designed to inspire, the day is a fund-raiser for the Relay for Life, sponsored by employees at VF Jeanswear. The music is scheduled from 2-7 p.m.

There is no admission, but donations will be accepted for the American Cancer Society event. Choirs, youth groups and other singers are invited. A piano will be available; all other instruments and equipment must be provided by the performers.

Light refreshments will be served. Cancer survivors are also welcome. "It is encouraging to others to know that cancer can be beaten and hopefully, with everyone's help, one day is totally eradicated," said Annetta Dalton, event coordinator. "Cancer is a burden we have all had to bear at one time or another, whether personally or through a friend or loved one. Please join us in this effort to fight cancer."

To reserve a time to sing, call Dalton at 998-8734.

Last Relay Team Meeting Tuesday

The final Relay For Life Team Captain meeting for 2006 will be held Tuesday, July 18 at 6 p.m. in the multi-purpose room at the Davie County Public Library. Teams are encouraged to attend as new information about this year's event will be shared. Monies raised can be turned in.

"Relay On The Town: Light Up The Night", will be held on Aug. 11 and 12 in Downtown Mocksville.

This will be an all night event, with a "track" around the Mocksville Town Hall and music and entertainment at Junkers Mill. In addition on Saturday, there will be a street festival from 9 a.m.-3 p.m., with craft and food vendors and entertainment.

Proceeds go to the American Cancer Society for cancer research funding and assistance with cancer programs offered by them. For more information, contact Anne Holland at 998-8474.

Daylily Haven

Davie Couple Rescues 50-Year-Old Collection

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

HUNTSVILLE - Chip Essic cuts a daylily and brings it to the front porch of the nearly 150-year-old home.

Lola Gray Holden takes a look and gives a couple of names. She asks where it was growing.

Essic tells her, and she tells him the variety of daylily.

It's a process that has been repeated often over the past couple of years, as Essic and his wife Ruth have taken over Holden's daylily farm.

At one time, there were more than 2,800 varieties growing there. Now, there are at least 2,000, as the Essics rescue the gardens that were neglected for five years.

They couldn't do it without Holden, a wealth of information and a joy to talk to. "I can't remember people's names, but I remember these flowers," the 86-year-old said.

The house was built by a slave trader who started the 1,000-acre plantation to sell slaves at a market in Huntsville. After the Civil War, he moved back to his home, and the land was sold.

Holden's grandfather, Charles Hartman of Advance, bought the home and some 562 acres. He soon moved his bride, Camilla Bowden, also of Advance, onto the property.

It's been in Holden's family since. "There's a lot of history in this old house," she said. "I think these flowers have been my salvation. I took care of my parents instead of public work. This just started as a hobby. I got the fever and couldn't quit buying."

Her husband, Thomas, who died 15 years ago, also got the daylily fever after retirement.

In an odd twist, one of the first daylilies Holden ordered, Skylark, was from Mrs. Robert Needle in Caswell County. Mrs. Needle was Chip Essic's grandmother.

"I was out there every day but Sunday working, and then I was out there walking amongst them," she said.

The Essics love their time in the garden, which they lease. There is little outside noise to reach the property. Only a popcorn factory is visible, and Pilot Mountain rises between stands of trees.

"It's peaceful and quiet, almost therapeutic to work out here," Chip Essic said.

They hope the farm will be a "retirement business," as they are slowing down from a landscaping business they operate. The farm is open from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Mondays, Fridays and Saturdays.

In addition to landscaping, the Essics are a natural for the daylily farm. Ruth's father was in the nursery business, and Chip had a daylily garden as a 4-H project as a child.

"Ruth and I knew about these gardens, and we thought we could come up here and rescue them," Essic said. "You couldn't even see the daylilies."

And rescue them they have. Probably two-thirds of the daylilies have been cleaned, and they plan to get the other fields in coming years.

Dirty Digs of Clemmons

Dirty Digs and owner Tom Jones are ready for summer—and they can help you get ready, too. If your lawn, trees or land needs heavy duty attention, look no further.

From erosion control to stump removal

Dirty Digs, a licensed and bonded company, originally represented the finest in erosion control. They also handled drainage systems for yards and downspouts, grading and excavations, demolition of old or unwanted structures, brush clean-up of hard to control areas, footings and stump removal.

But Dirty Digs didn't stop there.

Now offering additional services

Dirty Digs has evolved and is now offering many additional services to better serve their clients who often had to turn to several contractors to complete projects they had in mind. To make it much simpler, Dirty Digs became a "general purpose" service.

They did this by forming two alliances — one with a professional landscape designer/installer and one with a certified arborist.

Dirty Digs' landscape and hardscape services include soil preparation and seeding along with design and installation of mulch beds, trees and shrubs, installation of retaining walls and back filling/final grading. Hydro seeding and hydro mulching will also be available soon.

Their tree services, which are performed by a certified arborist, include treatments, repair, revitalization, trimming, removal of trees, land clearing and stump removal.

Free estimates available

So as you can see, Dirty Digs provides many things to many people. Whether your project requires only one or two of their services or is a more complex job and would be better served by an integrated approach to an array of services, give Dirty Digs a call now for a free estimate.

Get your spring projects scheduled now
With the season change rapidly approaching, schedule your projects with the Dirty Digs professionals now so you can be among the first to get finished this spring.

They use small equipment for jobs in tight spaces and larger equipment appropriate for projects requiring heavier lifting.

Remember that spring is an excellent time of the year to tackle those outdoor projects that you have been thinking about all winter. Give Tom at Dirty Digs a call today at (336) 749-0465.

Kudzu: Bank Sponsoring Regional Art Contest

Bank of The Carolinas has just announced a juried exhibition of art reflecting life in the Carolinas titled "Kudzu - A Home Grown Art Project," a regional art show and competition sponsored by the bank.

"As a local community bank, Bank of the Carolinas is committed to making a difference in the communities we serve," Maura Marziano, marketing director for Bank of the Carolinas, said. "We are pleased and proud to introduce Kudzu, a Home-Grown Art Project, to communicate with and showcase the talents of artists who live and work in our communities."

Artists are invited to compete from anywhere in the Carolinas. Submitting and winning artists' work will be showcased in Bank of the Carolinas' communities in Advance, Asheboro, Cleveland, Harrisburg, King, Landis, Lexington, and Mocksville.

"Everyone here is excited about the project and showcasing Carolinas artists," Robert E. Marziano, chief executive officer of Bank of the Carolinas, said. "It is an important opportunity for us to return something significant to the towns and communities served by our bank. We are especially pleased that the acclaimed and respected official sculptor of the United States Olympic Team, Jon D. Hair, will serve as the head juror and judge of the artwork submitted for competition."

There will be five major categories eligible for the following awards:

- Best In Show, a $1,500 Bank of the Carolinas savings account & gift.
- Community Choice (winner from online voting), a - Young Artist Award (for artists aged 13-17), a $200 Bank of the Carolinas savings account & gift.

- Junior Artist Award (for artists aged 6-12), a $200 Bank of the Carolinas savings account & gift.
- 3 Teenie Greenie Awards (for artists younger than 6), a $50 savings bond each.

In addition, there will be a first runner-up (any category) to win a $500 Bank of the Carolinas savings account and gift; and two honorable mentions (any category) to receive special gifts.

Artwork will be accepted (one piece per artist) through Aug. 31. Online voting for the Kudzu People's Choice Award will take place from Sept. 8-22. Winning artists will be announced Sept. 29, and there will be an opening reception featuring the winning artists' work that evening from 6-9 at the Bank of the Carolinas Mocksville office at 135 Boxwood Village Drive in Mocksville.

Details and entry forms may be found online at kudzuart.com, or from any Bank of the Carolinas branch.

Fred Gillis poses in 1965 in front of his home, the McCubbins/McCanless house in Salisbury. The Mocksville man was interviewed extensively by The History Channel for a special on the house's restoration scheduled to air in October.

Mocksville Man's Former Home Being Restored

Williams' daughters, Pauline, Ruth (back), Kate (Fred's mom) and Wilma (youngest). They lived in Davie County and Woodleaf.

Fred Gillis on the stair rail in the early 1960s.

By Fred Gillis
Special to the Enterprise

My grandfather Lon, Williams and my grandmother, Bertha Howard Williams, were born in Davie County, in the 1890s.

Grandma Williams was only 13 years old when she married Papa Lon. She became a grandmother at age 28, and was then the youngest grandmother in Davie County and probably North Carolina. She lived in the Advance area called Howardstown and Papa Lon lived in the Bixby-Fork church community in Davie County.

They moved to Rowan County, near Woodleaf, around Needmore area, in the later years with their four daughters, Pauline, Ruth, Katherine, and Wilma. After living there for a while, they moved to Salisbury, and lived there until Papa Lon's death in 1974 and it was then that I moved to grandmother Williams and my Mom Katherine's (Kate) home in Mocksville, where grandmother died in 1988 and my Mom died in 1994.

I remember living on East Innes Street, in an old house, which is now where the Salisbury Post Office is located.

As a young child, I remember this house and starting grade school at A.T. Allen school, on the corner of East Innes and Long Street, which is torn down and replaced with a building that until recently, was the home of the Sports and Newscenter Awards Center. One of the most vivid memories about living on East Innes Street, was the crepe myrtle trees that lined the sides of East Innes Street and also the crepe myrtles that were planted in the concrete divider in the middle of the street.

Papa Lon was a barber by trade and he had a barber shop down the street, near Klutz's grocery store and near Shaw transfer & Storage, near town creek. He also worked at the old Yaddin Hotel Barber Shop, where he would cut my light blond hair. They had four or five barber chairs and this was a popular and busy shop in the 40s.

Every time I see the rerun of the Andy Griffith show, when Floyd the Barber added an extra chair in his shop and bragged that he now was a two chair shop, it reminds me of Papa Lon and his barber shop.

"As I wrote in my article about 'Growing up living on Park Avenue' that was featured on the Life Style section in the Salisbury Post on Feb. 21, I was around 6 years old when we moved into the old McCubbins-McCanless House. My uncle Walt Howard had acquired the house and he rented it to his sister and my grandmother, Bertha Howard Williams. She later bought the house from Uncle Walt, and she and Papa Lon lived there until 1974.

My Mom acquired the house in the late 60s and later my brother Pete and I took control of the house and then sold it in 1974, after Papa Lon died.

I also remember that I had a pet goat I called Tommy and I was quite fond of this goat. One day I could not find Tommy, and later found out that Papa Lon had sold the goat to some old man that had him barbecued. It took me a while to get over that, but I finally did.

Papa Lon had some stray cats that were wild and no one but he could pet these cats. They were all bob tailed, even their babies, so he called the mother cat, "Old Bob", and they would come to him when he called them, and would follow him around, but would not do this with any one else.

We also had some type of dog over the years and one that I remember most was a Chihuahua named Teenibabe. He was a small dog and hyper and nervous and would growl and bark and sometimes would try to bite. We had that dog so long he finally lost all his teeth and his tongue hung out and he lived so long that he finally had to be put to sleep.

While living here, in the earlier years, Mama Williams would sometimes rent rooms to people that would come to Salisbury to work and sometimes would stay for long periods at a time. I remember one lady that rented one of the rooms on the second level of the house for several years, and at around 12 or 13 years old, my cousin Bobbie and I would ask her for cigarettes, and then go into the front upper level room of the house and smoke them. This was my first time smoking and they didn't really taste that well at first.

We had numerous people who lived there over the years, and there were a lot of rooms in the house, and sometimes in the 60s, we had a pool table that we enjoyed, in one of these rooms upstairs. We would play cards, especially Rook. Papa Lon would sometimes let his brother know what cards he was holding by making motions or jesters

It's Time For Tomatoes

By Robin Lowder
Davie County Enterprise Record

It's time for those Red Rubeys from the garden.

The backyard gardens have long been planted and the fruits of the home gardener's labors are beginning to appear. There is nothing as rewarding as the taste of the first squash, cucumber or tomato of the year.

Although we can get fresh produce year round because of hot weather states like California and Florida, it does not have that straight from the garden taste once it arrives in the local markets. The produce that comes to us via tractor trailer and rail cars has usually been picked before its prime so that it is ripe by the time it reaches the shelves. Somewhere between the picking, washing and waxing and transportation processes, something gets lost. I think it is the true fresh taste that the produce is lacking.

Now is the time that we all can enjoy and cherish what we have grown.

One of the most popular vegetables grown in gardens is tomatoes. There are over 4,000 varieties. Depending on the variety, tomatoes can range in size from less than a half an inch to well over 6-8 inches in diameter. Tomatoes can weigh anywhere from just a half an ounce to more than three pounds. One can only imagine how many sandwiches a three pound tomato could make.

Not only do tomatoes vary in size, they vary in color. Tomatoes come in yellow, pink, orange, green, purple, red and multi-colored. They can be grown in a small pot in your home, a large planter's box on your deck or in your flower bed. All they need is sufficient water and all the sun one can provide.

Tomatoes are high in vitamins A and C, contain beta carotene. They are also rich in a vitamin-like antioxidant called lycopene. Studies have said that eating foods rich in lycopene may help to reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease, prostate cancer, breast and cervical cancer as well as some other types of cancers. Believe it or not, processed tomato products contain more lycopene than fresh tomatoes. The reason for this is because the high temperatures used in processing the tomato products changes the chemical form of lycopene making it more easily absorbed by the body. This proves there are more good reasons to love tomatoes.

Tomatoes can be eaten anytime of the day and with any meal of the day. It is not unusual to see fresh tomato slices along side a plate of ham and eggs. Who can't resist a great BLT for breakfast, lunch or dinner?

This versatile vegetable can accompany recipes like sauces, soups, stews, salads, casseroles and juices. A tomato is better than a Timex. After all, it is the only vegetable that can be crushed, sun-dried, juiced, sliced, diced, fried and pureed and still come out on top with loads of flavor.

Have you ever tried a fried green tomato? If you love fried squash, you will love fried green tomatoes. The taste and texture are similar.

Once you bring those beauties in from the garden, don't place them in the refrigerator. Cold temperatures make the flesh of the tomato pulpy and it destroys the flavor. If you need to ripen one, simply place it in a brown paper bag in a dark spot for 3-4 days. Placing them in the sun to ripen will cause them to soften.

You can preserve that fresh taste for winter cooking by canning or freezing tomatoes. The best way to freeze tomatoes is to freeze them whole. Just rinse them, spread them on a cookie sheet and freeze overnight. Remove them from the freezer and put them in a plastic freezer bag. When you are ready to use them, thaw, then slip the skins off and use in your favorite recipes. Don't let those goodies from the garden go to waste.

Marinated Tomato Salad
5 Roma tomatoes, trimmed and sliced

1 cup grape tomatoes, halved
1/2 cup sliced onions
3 tablespoons ripe olives, sliced
3 tablespoons green, sliced
1 and 1/2 cups cooked pasta like bow-ties (any type is great)
2/3 cups shredded mozzarella
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
1 and 1/2 cups Italian dressing

Place all ingredients in a large bowl with airtight lid. Toss to coat. Refrigerate for 1 hour before serving.

Fresh Tomato Soup
1 pound fresh tomatoes, peeled and diced
1/2 medium chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 pint milk
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
1 pint boiling water

Melt the butter in a saucepan, and cook the onion and tomatoes in it for five minutes. Add the water, and cook for thirty minutes. Place the tomato mixture into a blender or food processor and process until smooth. Return to the saucepan. Mix the flour smoothly with a little of the milk and set aside, pour the remaining milk into the saucepan. When boiling, add the flour, and cook for ten minutes.

Season and serve.

Fried Green Tomatoes
3-4 firm green tomatoes, trimmed and sliced thick
1 cup buttermilk
1 egg
1 cup plain flour
1 cup seasoned flour (I use Kentucky Kernel brand)
Canola oil for frying

Place buttermilk in a bowl and whisk in egg. Place plain flour in a pie pan. Place seasoned flour in a separate pie pan.

Dredge tomatoes in plain flour then dredge in buttermilk and egg mixture. Now dredge in seasoned flour. Preheat oil in a large skillet over medium heat. Place slices in preheated oil and fry until golden brown, remove from skillet and drain on paper towels.

Tips & Hints
Adding a pinch of sugar to tomatoes while cooking, will help to enhance the flavor.

Gillis ...

We also enjoyed singing and playing music, and most of the time it was gospel and Christian songs. My Uncle Bud Peacock, along with my cousin's husband Bob Ritchie and Papa Lon and myself, would sing and play music as a trio or quartet. My uncle or I would play the guitar and would often sing at our church and at radio stations.

We enjoyed pitching horseshoes. We had our horseshoe pit on the right side of the house and most all the men in the family would pitch them. I remember having to go to Dr. Fields one time after getting hit on top of my head with a horseshoe that Uncle Bud had pitched. Dr. Fields had to put stitches over my wounded forehead, and it left a scar.

My son Rick Gillis tells of his memories as a child of being so frightened and having cold chills, when climbing the stairs to the second level. He said he would rapidly run up them to the room upstairs, thinking that he saw something scary and when talking to his cousin Sherrie about this 30 years later, she tells him that she also was frightened running up these stairs, when she was a little girl. They both say they had no idea what made them fill that way.

This is some of my fondest memories and thoughts of my wonderful, and loving family that I so dearly loved, and in which I will always see, and hear their voices, and fill their spirit in my mind, for the rest of my life here on earth.

The House

There were about 12 or 13 rooms, with fireplaces in the front rooms and all the bedrooms, upstairs and downstairs. There was one bath on the lower level and one on the second level. They both had clawfoot tubs, and the water pipes were outside the studs, facing you. There was no central heating then, so we had coal or oil circulators in each room, where there were chimneys to connect to. The bathrooms had no heat unless an oil or electric heater was placed nearby while bathing.

The fireplaces were covered to install heating circulators and most mantels were hardwood finished with real marble inset around the front of the mantels. The huge staircase was original dark stain and then later painted white enamel, to brighten up the entrance hall and staircase.

I remember sometime in the early '50s, we restored the outside of this house with a new roof and fresh white paint - it took 85 gallons of paint to cover the outside. I have pictures of the house after it was painted, and it was so beautiful.

Papa Lon was practically blind, so he could not work, but he could so some gardening. He would go to the back yard and spade up his garden with only a shovel. From the back porch to the end of our lot (the back alley), he would raise tomatoes and other vegetables.

Cabbage, to make his kraut, was what I remember most. He would put this cabbage in jars and store them upstairs in the front room where a porch used to be before we ever lived there. This nook was, in the beginning, a library. From the floor to the 10-foot ceiling were 18-inch deep and 4-foot wide drawers and shelves that went all the way around the room.

The staircase went up 4 feet from the entrance hall, turned right 4 or 5 feet, faced a window to the outside of the house, then turned left going on up 8 to 10 feet to the second level of the home.

In the 50s and 60s, the community was full of pleasant, hardworking, nice, loving people who kept their homes and yards in good condition.

I remember everyone gathering on summer afternoons and evenings to laugh and talk on the large front porch with banisters and the wide front steps leading to the street.

I remember that the front door of the house had red stained glass at the top. The staircase led up from the entrance room at the front of the house. This is where we always had our Christmas tree. Under the lower part of the staircase, before going up to the center of the stairs, leading off the entrance hall and down the first floor hall, was a dead space which led a long way under the stairs. This is where all our toys and old stuff was stored for many years. When we sold the house in 1974, there were all types of toys and games and books and old things that were left there because we had nowhere to move them to. There were old records, dolls, toy guns and other things that we kids had used over the years.

My stepfather had painted the house and repaired the roof and stored a straight ladder to climb atop the roof of the house. We could not get anyone to repair the roof because it was so steep and high. You could actually see up town Salisbury from the top of this roof, which was seven to eight blocks from the Wallace Building uptown. Most repairmen would not attempt to go on top of this roof.

The front yard was narrow, for a large house, but our lot extended from the back of the house to the back alley, approximately 200 to 250 feet. This is where my grandfather had his garden. He would lay out wooden stakes, drive them into the ground so many feet apart, tie a string to each stake and lay out his rows for planting. Although he was legally blind, he would have the straightest garden rows of vegetables and running roses that could ever have been laid out by anyone. He would raise all kinds of vegfamily that will love and cherish it as I did.

The McCubbins-McConless house is being restored by Lowe's and The History Channel. Gillis was interviewed extensively for the television special on the renovation, scheduled to air in October. Many of his old photographs

Mike and Debbie Drayton are starting Serving Him Ministry.

Serving Him Ministry Started By Draytons Sonic Concert July 23

The newly created "Serving Him" ministry was started with Davie County in mind. The founders of the ministry are Davie residents Mike and Debbie Drayton. Serving Him will work to bring the local Christian community together to spread the good news of Jesus Christ to all parts of the county. Those ways include public events, serving those in need and promoting individual church activities.

Mike Drayton, a retired master sergeant from the U.S. Air Force, felt led to start this ministry to help strengthen the ties that bind the Christian community.

"The United States, North Carolina and Davie County all have a deep heritage rooted in the Christian faith. Jesus Christ gave his life not for one denomination of people but for all," he said.

This ministry seeks to work with all the denominations of the Christian faith via public events and by helping those in need within the area local churches. He hopes that Serving Him will be able to assist local churches promote the events they may be planning as was done when the Serving Him Ministry teamed up with Mocksville's Faith and Victory Church. The two came together to host the "Extreme Tour" skateboarding event held June 28 at the Davie YMCA track. Both said the event was a success with a fantastic turnout of teens in a Christian environment.

Debbie Drayton, a long time employee of the N.C. Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem, wants to see this ministry used in ways that bring about an excitement for all of Davie County. "Davie County is such a great place to live and the citizens here are second to none," she said. "I pray that this ministry is able to provide some really different events and activities, that bring God's people together for fun and fellowship while leading others to a personal relationship with Jesus Christ."

Types of events mentioned were concerts, family fun days at the parks, movie nights at different host churches and other.

Serving Him has an internet website that explains the ministry as well as a calendar section broken into two areas - those events to be organized and carried out by the ministry along with a calendar section for events planned by Davie churches and other ministries such as the Davie Pregnancy Care Center or Storehouse for Jesus. The ministry says that this website will become the place to go for any Christian activities going on in Davie County. Visit the site at www.ServingHimAlways.org.

There will be a "Meet the Ministry" concert at the Mocksville Sonic restaurant Sunday evening, July 23 starting at 8 p.m. Everyone is welcome. The concert at the Sonic will feature an appearance by the mellow Contemporary singing team 2-4-One. The ministry hopes this will be just one of many such events to come that bring all of Davie County together while "Serving Him."

The Holden Daylily Farm surrounds the pre-Civil War era house in the Huntsville community of Yadkin County.

- Photos by Robin Snow

Ruth and Chip Essic say they enjoy working in the peaceful surroundings at the daylily farm.

Mrs. Holden still remembers the names of most of the daylilies - more than 2,000 of them.

Daylilies ...

Essic is quick to point out the hardness of the daylily. After all, they survived five years of neglect. They can survive droughts and floods. They have no major pest problem, no major disease that can wipe out a crop. They come in short and tall varieties.

And for a couple of months in the summer, they are vibrant with just about any color imaginable. True to their name, the daylily blooms only once. It's here one day and gone the next. Lucky for us, he said, is that they produce many flowers on a single stalk. They can be transplanted at any time, but the Essics recommend coming to the gardens at this time of year when the blooms are visible.

"A daylily is over 90 percent water. They just melt away when the frost hits them," he said. "Daylilies don't have that ugly period like the daffodil."

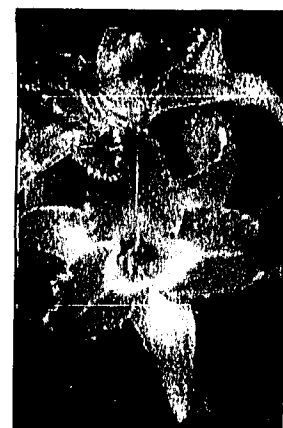

"Some of these go back 40 years, and they're not in catalogs any more," Essic said.

Mrs. Holden is thankful for the Essics, and vice versa. She loved her flowers so much that she would get up before the sun so she could watch the flowers open. She stayed amongst them until night, when the blooms close.

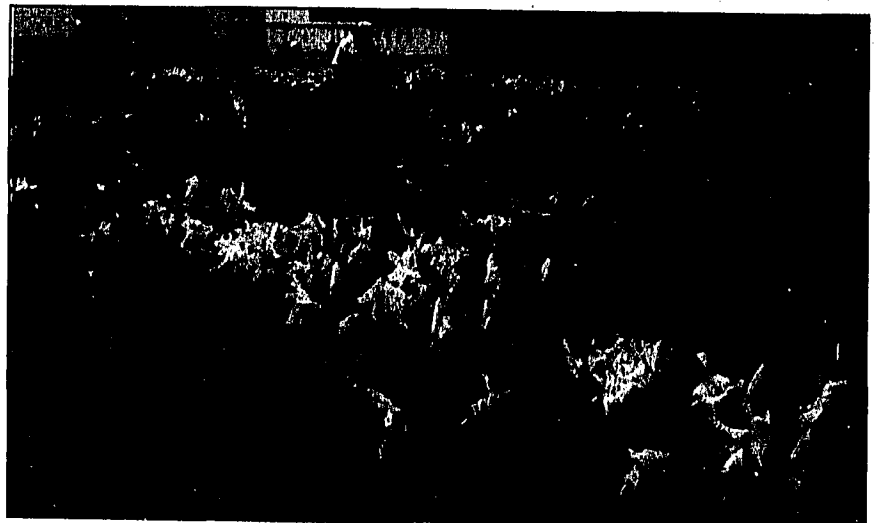

"It's been a labor of love," Mrs. Holden said.

The Essics are cultivating that same love.

Holden's Daylily Farm is located on Hartman Road in the Huntsville section of Yadkin County. Take Farmington Road (off US 158, I-40 or NC 801) and travel to where it ends at Courtney-Huntsville Road. Turn left. Hartman Road is a mile on the right. Groups and tours are welcome. Picnic tables are available.

The daylilies come in a variety of heights, shapes and colors.

World Traveler Exchange Student Right At Home In Davie County

By Beth Cassidy
Davie County Enterprise Record

Zemfira Galiulina traveled around the world and made herself right at home in Davie County.

Although she stayed here less than a year, she made friendships that will last a lifetime.

Zemfira, or Zema, as she was known by her host family, the Baileys, participated in the FLEX High School Exchange through the 4-H International Exchange.

The Bailey's home in Pudding Ridge was a different world than Zema knew in Kazakhstan, her home country.

Kazakhstan is located in central Asia and is bordered by Russia and China. Zema, who will be 18 in July, said, "I live in an apartment with my mother and grandmother. There are about 8,000 people in my town. I came here because I am interested in my English level, and I wanted to work on that."

An only child, Zema found herself surrounded by not only Vicki's children, Amanda, who is 18, and Brandon, 14, but also by the family dogs, Izzy and Ike, friends of the Baileys, classmates, and friends Zema made while she was here. She attended classes at Davie High School.

"Zema made straight A's while she was here, and she graduated from classes here, which took a lot of tenacity," said Tracey Carter, Carter is a 4-H Extension Agent for the NC Cooperative Extension Center in Davie.

Zema, who learned to speak English when she was in second grade, said it is a required language there from eighth grade to graduation. While she has little trouble with English, she had some trouble with American history at first, said Vicki, but "she probably knows more about American history now than most Americans do."

"I don't have to think about it when I speak," Zema said, "but once I get home, I will have to think in Russian again. I think I will need less than six months to start thinking in Russian again. I wish my Mom could know English. I want to keep learning it, but not to teach."

A high school graduation wasn't the experience Zema enjoyed while here.

She also got to dress up for her first Halloween ever (she was "Scream"), get Christmas presents (she's a Muslim so she doesn't celebrate Christmas) and go to the prom. Having a big family was a new experience too.

"I've always wanted a sister. I tried to convince Brandon he was a girl, but it didn't work," Amanda said, laughing. Laughter and noise, lots of noise, are common in the Bailey household.

"Zema is quiet, so I told her when she got here, 'If you want something, you've got to holler,'" Vicki said.

Zema wasn't the only one who had to make adjustments.

"It was different to have her here, but we really enjoyed it," said Vicki. "She was absolutely the sweetest thing. She would leave little notes all over the place for us, like a note on the coffee maker that said, 'Good morning, Mom. I hope your day goes well. Love, Zema.' She would leave me ones at night that said, 'Good night, Mom. I love you. Sleep well.'"

"She and Rodney had a really special bond, since she doesn't have a father. She left him a note on his nightstand that said, 'Good night, Daddy. I hope you rest well.' Things like that. She always called us 'Mom' and 'Dad' from the very beginning. She was just sweet."

As part of the program, Zema was required to participate in 4-H at some level, Carter said. She went with a group to Greensboro and was able to spend time with a girl from her country. Vicki said from the time they met to the time they parted, "They were talking a mile a minute. I couldn't understand a word they were saying. They talked all night."

She also had to complete 46 hours of community service. Rodney was able to help get a membership to the YMCA in exchange for working in the nursery there.

"Zema is very athletic," Vicki said. "She runs a lot, so she really enjoyed being at the Y."

Her time here wasn't confined to Davie, however. Zema was able to travel to New York, with a little help.

"Angela Griffey, Ms. Griffey, raised over $600 for Zema to go to New York with the Foreign Language Club," said Amanda. "They supplied her with a digital camera and she got to go to Washington, DC. They paid for that, too. The school alone raised about $1,000 for her to go on trips."

"They really took her under their wing," Carter said. Zema's counselor at Davie was Dianne Hobbs, but the two ended up being friends as well.

If it wasn't for the help she received, Zema wouldn't have been able to afford to go on the trips. Through the program, she is given $125 a month, which is supposed to cover all her personal needs: The host family pays for food and other living expenses. Vicki said it was important to her to make Zema feel like one of the family.

"At Christmas, she got what Amanda and Brandon got. We wanted her to feel like a part of this family," Vicki said.

"That was the beauty of this family," Carter said. "They've treated her like any other child."

One of Zema's favorite gifts from Christmas was a bracelet she was eager to show off.

"These are my charms. Here is the Statue of Liberty, the Liberty Bell, my initial, Z, the American flag, 2006 for the year I was here, a runner, because I like to run, and a little graduation diploma," she said.

When asked if she liked the food here, Zema said no, but admitted that she would miss "cornbread and marshmallows. We eat corn but we don't put it into bread," she said.

She said when her flight left June 21, she would be ready.

"I'm homesick. I will miss everyone. I'll miss the dogs too, because I'm really busy and don't have time to have pets."

Vicki said it would be hard on the family to have Zema leave.

"This is an experience I'm so glad we had. Zema had a book she had while she was here, and she had everyone sign it. We signed it last, and Rodney wrote in it, 'You will always have a home here, and I will always be your number one dad.'"

"We just loved her. We will definitely miss her."

Zemfira Galiulina enjoys her visit to Davie County as part of the FLEX High School Exchange through 4-H International Exchange.

Host Families Sought For Coming Years

The North Carolina 4-H International Exchange Program allows people in the United States to learn about people from other countries, such as Japan, Russia and the Ukraine. There are opportunities to not only host a student, but also to travel to the countries through the program.

Tracey Carter, 4-H Extension Agent for the NC Cooperative Extension center in Davie, said spaces for the upcoming school year are filled, but anyone interested in the program for summer, 2007 or the 2007-08 school year may contact her at 751-6297.

Civtans are volunteers, in, an international service organization, who want to become involved in their communities, develop new friendships, perform service projects, and become better informed about their community, city, state, nation and world.

Chartered on March 18, 2000, the Cooleemee Men's Civitan Club is a diverse group of men who, in the past six years, have distinguished themselves as being a civic-minded and proactive club by responding to and completing service projects.

The club currently has 61 members. In addition to the personal satisfaction the members receive by making a difference in the lives of others, the club receives awards from the community and county. The club has also received over 30 awards from various levels of Civilian, International, District and Area.

William Davis serves as president of the club. During the Area IV-West meeting in June in Rowan County, Davis was honored for his outstanding leadership in the club.

He was received the President of the Year Award, in our Area IV. Davis also received an award for having the most club members present at the Area IV meeting.

Some of the club's major fundraisers are the annual Old Time Fiddlers & Bluegrass Convention held each May in Mocksville, monthly barbecue chicken dinners (held in Cooleemee on the last Friday of each month) and pancake breakfasts. These, as well as other fundraisers, enable the club to reach out with a helping hand.

Some of their charities and service projects include: Research Center in Birmingham, Ala.; Davie Special Olympics; NC Special Olympics; Special Olympic World Games; Children's Research

Chef & Child is a week of instruction for children ages 8-12 July 31-Aug. 3 from 9 a.m. to noon.

It is designed to give kids an opportunity to gain a better understanding of healthy food choices and to prepare simple, yet nutritious foods.

This is an educational effort between the Chefs of the Triad Chapter of the American Culinary Federation, NC Cooperative Extension Service and Lowe's Foods.

Youth gain "hands-on" cooking experience under guidance of local chefs, who provide monetary support for the food and supplies. Lowe's provides monetary support, as well as recipe cards for each child.

Children are taught cooking basics, measuring techniques, healthy food choices and food, kitchen safety. They learn life skills and get the chance to implement these skills, which can affect their health and well-being.

Getting To Know Jesus
 Do you...
 ...ever hear people talk about Jesus and wonder about what you hear?
 ...wish you knew more about the Bible, and want a good place to start?
 ...want to see for yourself what the Bible really says, rather than what others say about it?

Authentic Records
 While many books have been written about Jesus and while we have heard many things said about Him which may or may not be true, there is one absolutely reliable source of information - the Bible itself. Four New Testament books - Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John - tell the original, authentic story of Jesus.

Enroll Today
 You can enroll in this FREE Self-Study Home Bible Course, without cost or obligation. You will study at your own pace in the privacy of your home. All the lessons are handled by mail. Just mail in the coupon below or call 336-751-2866 or E-mail nmcocf@vadtel.net

Apply Now For NC Agricultural Cost Share
 The Davie Soil and Water Conservation District will receive its program year 2007 allocation for the N.C. Agricultural Cost Share Program soon.

There will be a general sign up to Aug. 11 for anyone wishing to apply for cost share assistance on agricultural land. These funds are available to assist landowners and operators with the installation of Best Management Practices (BMPs) that reduce the amount of sediment, nitrogen, phosphorus, pesticides, animal waste and other agricultural-related pollutants from entering the streams and ground waters of the state.

This year's priority has been set on stream protection measures (i.e. fencing livestock out of creeks, streams, and rivers). BMPs that might be included, but not limited to, are alternative watering sources, sod based crop rotation, diversions, grasses, and stock trails. All applications will be approved on a priority basis. Those sites that provided the greatest water quality benefits will be approved first (the district has a priority evaluation form to rank applicants).

For more information you may visit the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District at 180 S. Main St., County Office Building, Room 313, Mocksville or call 751-5011.

Leader Of Tomorrow Davie Student Attends National Conference

Megan Grey, a rising senior at Davie High School, attended the 2006 Congressional Student Leadership Conference sponsored by Lead America.

This conference is a college accredited leadership program for academically talented and promising young leaders from across the United States and internationally. Exceptional high school students with a record of academic achievement and extracurricular or community involvement are invited.

At the Diplomacy and International Affairs conference, Grey explored real and complex diplomatic issues facing the world. Almost 200 high school students met with policy makers and international diplomats to discuss ways that governments negotiate, reach alliances, and maintain the delicate balance of world peace.

Through briefings and discussions with national and international leaders, congressional visits, and hands-on simulations, students experienced leadership in action and learned first hand about the complexities of decision-making.

By engaging in interactive workshops and activities, Grey learned and developed vital leadership skills, including effective communication, conflict resolution, team building, and time management.

The conference began in Washington, DC where the students met with State Department officials and prepared for a United Nations simulation. The conference ended in New York City with Embassy visits and completion of the United Nations simulation where students assumed roles of heads of governments, international organizations, and special interest groups.

From Washington, DC to New York City, the students experienced the power and excitement of international politics and global cooperation.

Lead America is the nation's premier youth leadership organization and is committed to educating and empowering the world's next generation of leaders. Further information on Lead America can be found at www.lead-america.org or by calling 1-866-394-5323.

County OKs School Funding Agreement

By Jackie Seabolt
Davie County Enterprise Record

was approved unanimously at last Monday's commissioner's meeting. The agreement was approved by the education board on June 30.

Davie Board of Education members can breathe a little easier when next year's budget time rolls around since they'll be facing one less issue to debate with county commissioners - money for school operations.

An agreement reached between them and Davie's commissioners gets to schools for operational expenses. This fiscal year Davie School System will get approximately $8.1 million for those expenses, which includes $720,000 from the 1.5¢ portion of the 5¢ tax increase passed this year.

Last year the school board and commissioners began talks about having an intergovernmental contract for funding, according to Bralley. This will help take the guesswork out of budgeting for the school board since they will have an estimate of what they'll receive before the county budget is approved.

"It's based on logic and it's not left to the political whims of any board," Bralley said.

According to Davie Schools Superintendent Dr. Steve Lane, "This will allow us to focus on other important things."

An alternative school will open in August, long distance learning will start this school year, and AP courses are being offered.

"This shows the county supports education, and education is our future," Lane said.

The contract lasts through the '08-'09 fiscal year which ends June 30, 2009. At that time it will be reviewed during the budget process.

Liquor Store To Open In Bermuda Run

By Wendy Horne
Davie County Enterprise Record

BERMUDA RUN - An ABC store is set to open here on Sept. 1. During the July 11 Bermuda Run Town Council meeting, Town Manager Joan Carter announced the timeline for the store's opening, to be operated by the Triad Municipal ABC Board.

"The store is set to open by the first of September. Now that the new CVS is open, the ABC Board feels good about plans to have the store ready, which will be located in the old CVS location (next to Food Lion in the Tanglewood Crossing shopping center)," said Carter.

Other business during the monthly meeting included the approval of a public hearing for an ordinance regulating public nuisances. The ordinance will be used to identify areas of trash, debris, improper storage of materials, overgrown lots, and dilapidated buildings and vehicles. The ordinance will apply to all properties located in the town's corporate limits as well as the extrajurisdictional jurisdiction (ETJ).

"We plan to have a code enforcer who will oversee this ordinance which intends to benefit all citizens and their property," said Carter.

The public hearing for the nuisance ordinance will be held during next month's town meeting.

Boone Facts

Daniel Boone's wife, Rebecca, knew how to handle herself in the outdoors, as well.

Since Daniel frequently left their home on Sugar Creek near Farmington to go on long hunting expeditions, Rebecca was left behind to provide for the family.

James Wall wrote in his History of Davie County, "Numerous fantastic legends are told of her prowess with a rifle. One claims she on one occasion killed five or seven deer and her own horse with one shot. This would have been impossible, but it would be logical to assume she was a capable and resourceful provider and that she shot deer at nearby salt licks to provide for the family."

Davie will celebrate the 250th anniversary of the marriage of Daniel and Rebecca Boone in mid-August.

Man Charged With Cruelty To Animals

Seven Horses Taken From Farm

By Jackie Seabolt
Davie County Enterprise Record

A Davie man has been charged with multiple counts of cruelty to animals after seven horses were taken from his residence last week.

According to Davie County Sheriff's Deputy and Animal Cruelty Investigator K.A. Marshall, a phone call was received after one of the horses was found outside the pasture. "The citizen put it back and saw the condition of the other horses," Marshall said.

Henry Watson Dulin, 45, of 178 Juney Beauchamp Road, Mocksville faces seven misdemeanor counts of cruelty to animals.

Three of the horses were taken from Dulin's home on July 10.

Volunteers returned the next day to remove the others, but their ef-orts were foiled after two of the horses refused to load. "The horses are stressed and nervous," volunteer Terri Hamm concluded that day.

Volunteers returned July 12 and successfully removed the remaining four horses.

Dulin was not present on any of those days.

A local equine veterinarian examined the animals and gave each a rating using the Henneki Body Condition Scoring Chart, a scientific method for judging a horse's body condition.

The chart rates the horses on a scale of 1 to 9. A score of 1 is considered poor with no body fat. A 9 is extremely fat or obese. A horse that is rated a 1 is often described as a walking skeleton and is in real

This gelding was in the poorest condition of all the horses.

Concerned Citizens Reorganizing

Group Successfully Helped Defeat Bond For 2nd High School

By Mike Barnhardt
Davie County Enterprise Record

Davie County recently bought land near Smith Grove for a new school.

Last year, revaluation made most property tax bills increase.

And this year, the tax rate was increased.

It's enough to make residents of the county concerned.

And the core of a group that successfully defeated a bond issue for a second high school three years ago is reorganizing. The Concerned Citizens for a United Davie County will hold an open meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Davie County Courthouse.

They invite others who are concerned.

"We want to make the citizens of Davie County aware that there are some changes going to happen with the school system," said Ron Bivins. "We want the commissioners and the school board to be up front with everything."

They also want all options considered, not just a plan to build a second high school.

"With this being one of the biggest issues ever facing Davie County, the people need to vote on whether we want to go for a second high school. And the people have already voted three to one not to."

Some of the concern was heightened when the county decided to build a third middle school - without a vote.

"We're trying to reorganize to listen to what issues people want to bring forth," Bivins said. "Last time, it was to stop the second high school. This time, there are more issues ... a second high school, one high school, a ninth grade academy, a tax increase ... or go to an eight-cent sales tax."

"It's just an organizing meeting to hear what people have to say and go from there."

Steve Ridenhour said that while county officials haven't admitted it, the 100-acre purchase for a "future school site" is obviously meant for a high school.

"Then they went and raised taxes, that really got people concerned," he said. "We (with revaluation) just had a tax increase last year."

Ridenhour said the group is for education. "We just want to make sure that everything is done equally throughout the county. All of our children need to have the same opportunities."

danger of dying. Veterinarians consider a body score between 4 and 7 as acceptable.

None of Dulin's horses scored higher than 4.

The worst, a Morgan Gelding, was given a score of 1.

Another Morgan Gelding was given a 2.

"They're all emaciated," Marshall said.

An Appaloosa Stallion had a large open wound on its front left leg. It must receive additional medical treatment because of lameness in the right rear leg due to a deep laceration in the hoof, according to Marshall.

The animals are being kept at a foster care facility until Dulin's case is brought to court.

"They're overall attitude has improved 100 percent," Marshall said.

"It's amazing how much differently they're acting," said Hamm. "You can really see an improvement in their physical appearance."

Dulin's first appearance in Davie District Court is Aug. 17.

Marshall also reported the veterinarian said recovery for all the horses is possible with proper nutrition and medical care.

Cedar Rock Assisted Living of Mocksville

James Odell

Cedar Rock is very proud to announce James Odell as our Resident of the Week. James has made Cedar Rock his home since July 2004. James is the kind of person who knows no strangers. Everyone who comes to visit at Cedar Rock, James makes it a point to say hello.

His mother and father visit James often, and he enjoys his lunch and shopping trips with this mother.

James enjoys music, and sometimes you can see him play his guitar outside on the patio, and every now and then you can hear him singing.

He likes to write poetry, and sometimes he shares it with other residents and staff members.

James, thank you so much for making Cedar Rock Assisted Living your home these last two years.

Kuhn ...

to see the change in him that he didn't want to just be part of the team; he wanted to be a factor and put himself in position to play at the next level."

Kuhn started all 14 games as a senior. Although Davie was dismantled 40-7 at Mount Tabor, taking on Tripp Russell is something Kuhn will always remember. Having a strong performance in a 22-17 second-round win over Scotland County is another memorable moment.

"Mount Tabor was probably the best game I ever had," he said. "Tripp Russell was the defensive end and he signed to go to Wake Forest. I played against him and he didn't touch the quarterback all night. It was amazeing."

When the 2005 season closed, he was 6-foot-1 and 250 pounds. Now the highly-motivated Kuhn is 6-2 and 270. That the majority of his scholarship is academic money says even more about Kuhn.

When Lenoir-Rhyne finally came around, the moment was surreal.

"I gave Coach Illing a list of schools I was interested in, and he sent them game film," he said. "I didn't get to sign on Signing Day. They were behind with me, and that made me nervous. I didn't think I was going to get the opportunity to play. My junior year, I never would have dreamed I'd be getting this."

INCREDIBLY, Davie now has 16 former football players who are either in the midst of their college careers or heading into their freshman year. The list: Ted Randolph (Wake Forest), Ryan Boehm (Coastal Carolina), D.J. Rice (Coastal Carolina), Billy Riddle (Appalachian State), Patrick Lowery (N.C. State), David Woodruff (North Carolina), Cooter Arnold (North Carolina), Jonathan Mayfield (Richmond), Jaspyn Gray (Catawba), ReShaun Parks (Brevard), Dontay Rivers (Brevard), Raeshon McNeil (Notre Dame), Logan Buchanan (North Carolina), Zach Jakob (Davidson), O'Brien (Lenoir-Rhyne) and Dustin Morgan (Louisburg Jr. College).

"It's really done our youth kids a lot of good," Illing said, "because now they're inspired to work harder and see what the future holds. They're paying attention to their grades a little more to put themselves in position."

The War Eagles are 34-9 the past three years, with three straight conference titles. They have reached the quarterfinals or semifinals each of the past four years.

Will 2006 bring familiar sights? The odds are pretty good. Receiver Kenny Rivers, offensive lineman Michael Murphy and several others are budding stars with college potential (junior QB Garrett Bengt, sophomore cornerback Perry James and sophomore running back/linebacker James Mayfield to name a few).

"I think Rivers has got a real good chance (to play in college)," Illing said. "I think before it's all said and done, we're going to have some offensive linemen open some eyes. Murphy doesn't have the size, but he has tenacity, he's a good student and I think he's going to make believe out of people."

"(O-lineman) Derek Abendroth is a good one. (D-lineman) Chantz Grannaman is another good one. They're kind of unknowns right now, but they're in the makings."

Old School

Davie Sports From 1984

• First-place Concord ousted the Mocksville Legion baseball team four games to one in a best-of-7 playoff series. Mocksville gave up two runs in the ninth to lose Game One 5-4. Buddy Jenkins got the loss despite striking out 12. Bryan Bishop hit two triples and a home run.

Jack Kimel returned from a separated shoulder and pitched well for six innings in a 7-2 loss. In Game Two, Kimel's shoulder began bothering him in the seventh and he left with a 2-1 deficit. Concord erupted for five runs in the ninth. Mocksville got solo homers from Charles Kurfies and Jenkins.

Game Three was tied after six innings, but Concord scored 15 runs in the seventh and eighth to hand Mocksville a 19-4 beating. Jenkins pitched a four-hitter with 17 Ks in a 2-1 win in Game Four. J.C. Hendrix and Kurfies hit solo homers as Mocksville kept its season alive.

Game Five was 1-1 until the eighth, when Concord exploded for six runs to beat Mocksville 7-1. Kimel pitched effectively until the eighth, when he was reinjured.

Mocksville won 11 straight at one point to finish with a 17-14 record. The careers ended for three-year star Jenkins and two-year players Kurfies and Robert Martin.

• The Hickory Hill Eels defeated the host Winston-Salem Eels 452-364 in a swim meet. The Eels got three or more wins from 12 swimmers, including Ryan Powell, Lori Vogler, Stephanie Carter, Sam Griffin, Allison Buckner, Carrie Brown, Derek Nobs, Tom Van Winkle, Patrick Buckner, Lee Albarty, Scott Kollins and Chipper Leonard.

J&S Auction Has New Home

Whether it's the fervor of constant bidding, the excitement of discovery or the joy of walking away with an incredible "one-time only" deal, there's something captivating about an auction.

Jordan Cline found this out as a young boy. So after a lifetime of enjoying the auction environment, it comes as no surprise that Cline is now the co-owner of an auction business. He, along with his friend Scott Smith, are the proud owners of J & S Auctions in Advance.

J & S Auctions has a new home. J & S Auctions started in Cooleemee about three months ago. They have since moved to a new location at 3319 Highway 158 in Advance.

"You just never know what kind of deal you are going to find at an auction," laughs Jordan.

Although this is currently a part-time venture, the two partners are hopeful that it will one day develop into a full-time career. At the moment, Jordan is a customer service manager at Wal-Mart and Scott is a supervisor at John-Deere Hiltachi, the business where the two once worked and where they originally decided to create their own business.

Auctions are held every Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m. J&S Auctions are held every Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m. and usually last until around 9:30 or 10:00 p.m. The first load for auction will be from Ace Hardware and HON office furniture.

"We buy merchandise by the truckload," Jordan explained. "And it's all overstocks, shelves pulls and salvage merchandise. We buy items from department stores such as Target, Rite Aid and Ace Hardware just to name a few."

"We usually auction off in lots which is small, similar items auctioned off together. For instance, we put things together such as boxes of nails, motor oils and tools."

Larger items, such as like push mowers, pieces of furniture, weed eaters and hundreds of other items, are auctioned off individually.

On Friday nights, J & S Auctions holds a retail auction where new small are sold. This auction and the lot auction is open to the general public.

Dealer Auctions to be added

In the next couple of months, J & S Auctions will be holding a dealer auction on Thursdays at 4:00 p.m. This is where dealers can come and sell to other dealers at wholesale prices. This auction will be for dealers only and not open to the general public.

Concessions are on hand at every auction and run by Boy Scout Troop 215 from Welcome. "We have hamburgers, hot dogs, chips and drinks," added Cline. "The proceeds benefit the boy scouts for their various projects throughout the year."

Jordan and Scott can be reached at (336) 909-1999.

Hillsdale Animal Hospital

Hillsdale Animal Hospital has added an exciting new cutting edge equipment and new programs to better serve our clients and give their companion pets longer, healthier and happier lives.

To help our furry friends needing surgery, Hillsdale Animal Hospital has added a laser to replace the traditional scalpel. The laser is less painful to the patient and causes less bleeding and swelling which can result in a quicker recovery time and reduce the risk of infection.

The laser is more precise than a scalpel and has been used in human medicine for over 30 years. The laser can be used in a wide variety of surgeries. When scheduling a surgery appointment, just ask Dr. Frazier or Dr. McCourt if the laser can be used for your pet's surgery.

Hillsdale Animal Hospital has also added an Underwater Treadmill. We are excited to offer this treadmill to dogs that have joint problems, dogs that are recovering from certain surgeries and those pets trying to lose weight.

The Underwater Treadmill is a great addition to many other activities that will provide a great form of physical therapy to our canine companions. If your dog has been diagnosed with a joint problem or pain, had surgery or is overweight and has trouble exercising, please call Dr. McCourt to schedule a consultation appointment or set up a time to come in and see the treadmill in action.

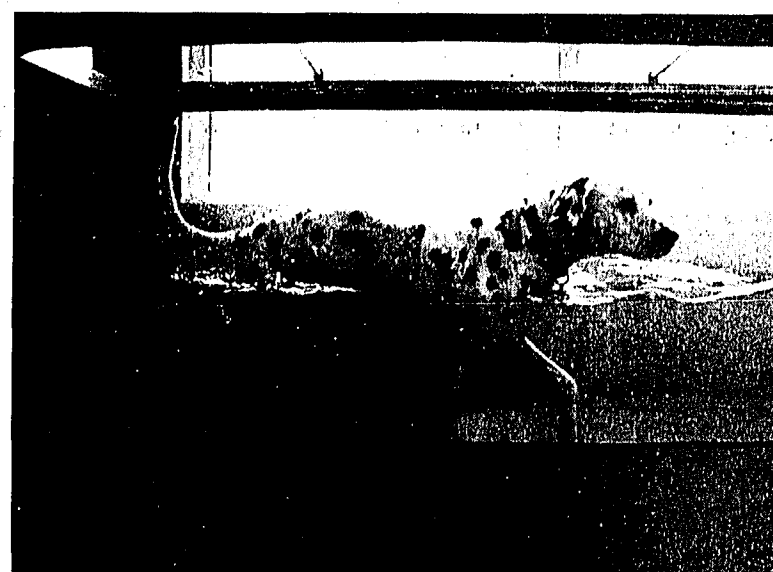

Did you know that your pet ages almost seven times faster than you do? This means that if your pet sees their veterinarian only once yearly for vaccines and a check up, it is like you going to your doctor only once every three years.

Hillsdale Animal Hospital recently started the "Twice A Year For Life" program. The program includes a vaccine schedule individually tailored to your pet's needs and well exams including blood work twice yearly.

A lot can change for our furry family members in a short amount of time. Call today to start your pet in the "Twice A Year For Life" program.

With summer's heat in full swing, a sure your dog and cat are protected from fleas, ticks and heartworms.

The doctors and staff at Hillsdale Animal Hospital are excited to offer our new services and products because your pet's health is as important to us as it is to you. Please call the office today to schedule an appointment or with any questions.

Ruthless Rowan Buries Jr. Mocksville

Greg Maddux in his prime might have been able to pitch the Mocksville Junior Legion baseball team past Rowan County in last week's semifinals of the Area III playoffs. But considering Mocksville managed just three runs in three games, even Maddux might have needed a few breaks to overcome Rowan.

The best-of-5 series was about Rowan domination from start to finish. Fifth-seeded Mocksville lost 11-1 in Game One, 10-0 in Game Two and 7-2 in Game Three.

It's hard to believe a team as hot as Mocksville was could not only get swept, but get tormented in three straight games. Then again, top-seeded Rowan is a different animal. It is absolutely stacked. So much so that it appears impossible to beat.

Rowan strutted out of the semifinals with a 29-0 record. It has seven players who started on varsity in high school. It has three guys who made all-conference in high school. And it has two pitchers who were either No. 1 or No. 2 on their high-school staff. Mocksville, on the other hand, fielded two players (Brad Wrege of Mount Tabor and Justin Kidd of Greensboro) who played regularly on the varsity level.

With that type of discrepancy in talent level and experience, there's little wonder the semifinals were all Rowan.

"You're looking at a whole lineup, except just a few, that played varsity baseball," Mocksville coach Charles Kurfees said. "And we're sitting there with only two varsity players on our team. They're sitting there with the No. 2 pitcher from North Rowan, and their third baseman was an all-county player. Those guys are loaded."

In Game One, Rowan pummeled Mocksville with a six-run inning. Mocksville went down in similar fashion in Game Two, watching Rowan roll up six runs in the second and four in the fifth. Rowan out-hit Mocksville 13-2. Outside of the fact Game Three went all seven innings instead of ending via the 10-run mercy rule, Mocksville's final hour was no different. Ruthless Rowan scored one in the first, three in the second and three in the fifth.

"We played 10 times better (in the 7-2 loss), but it's hard to play against that kind of competition," Kurfees said. "We hung around. It was 3-2, 4-2. Jake Koonitz pitched good (for 4 1/3 innings), and Reese Wells came in and did OK."

Rowan couldn't have been any closer to perfect. It made a strong team look downright helpless.

"Everybody claims we're the second-best team in Area III," Kurfees said. "Rowan is just that much better than everybody. That team could beat some Senior Legion teams. They hit the ball to the right side and up the middle with authority, and you don't see many high-school kids hit the ball to the right side."

Mocksville should be applauded. It went 30-12, surpassing the 29-win team in 2003 for most victories in its four-year history. Kurfees cited Wrege, Jacob Vernon, Colby Seaford, Zeb Cope, Clint Howell, Wells, Zach Long and Zach Vernon for dedicating their summer to baseball.

"That's not bad," he said of 30 wins. "Wrege and Wells came everyday from Winston. Long never missed a practice or a game."

Jess Cartner also earned the coach's respect.

"Jess was our starting first baseman until we brought Kidd down (from the senior team)," he said. "That was probably hard for Jess, and he DH'd the whole Rowan series."

Justin Kidd takes a big cut. He gave the offense a huge boost down the stretch.

KEEP THAT SMILE

What Is A Root Canal?

Root canal...the two words that can make even the strongest break out in a cold sweat. A root canal is a procedure that involves removing the nerve from the root structure of a tooth. This space, the canal, is then cleaned and shaped and is filled with a material in such a way as to help prevent the recurrence of infection. There are several things that can cause a tooth to need a root canal but by far the most common one is decay (a cavity) reaching the nerve of the tooth. Once decay achieves this goal, there are only two choices... extracting the tooth or doing a root canal. Fortunately, modern dentistry has provided much easier, quicker, and more comfortable methods for doing root canals and the success rate is usually in the 95% range. Since a root canal involves removal of the life supply of the tooth, most teeth will need to be crowned following a root canal procedure due to the tooth getting brittle and potentially breaking. If properly treated and then restored, a tooth treated with root canal therapy should last many years and the patient should enjoy normal chewing function. If you have a question about root canals, ask your dentist, or feel free to call our office to schedule an appointment.

Vernon Helps Warriors Win USSA State Baseball Title

Matt Vernon and the Carolina Warriors won the USSSA baseball state championship on July 2, routing the Southeast Sluggers of Greensboro 13-5 in the title game.

The Warriors are a 12-under AAA division team, with players from Yadkin, Davie and Forsyth counties. The Davie product is Vernon, a shortstop and second baseman.

The Warriors were ranked No. 1 in the state going into the tournament, and they lived up to that billing despite losing the third game and having injuries to Vernon and Nick Hauser (left arm fracture). Vernon was the lead-off batter until breaking his nose in practice. He played second with a plastic mask, while Hauser contributed by running the bases with expertise.

The run to the top was a team effort that included strong hitting, solid defense and exceptional pitching. Coach Doug Byrd said, Alex Barr and Grayson Fulp went 2-0 on the mound. Mitch Hensley was 1-0. Connor Vanhoy had three saves.

Before the state tournament the Warriors were No. 3 in the national, and after the electrifying triumph in the state, they rose to No. 1 in the national rankings (out of 1,577 teams). It was the second straight state title for the Warriors, who improved to 35-13, including 24-7 in their division. They have won seven of 12 tournaments and finished first or second in nine of 12. They qualified to play in the USSA World Series in Hutchinson, Kas., July 16.

Vernon is the younger brother of Jacob and Zach Vernon. Their parents are David and Stephanie Vernon.

probably looking at one of the top five high-school long jumpers in the country."

The coaches love both girls. What makes them special is their pursuit to improve never stops. Not only do they have serious talent, they have the desire and work ethic to go with it.

"It's a true blessing to have two of them that's as good as they are," Hayes said. "Both of them work hard and they don't give you anything less than 100 percent."

"Those are two of the most talented individuals that I've met, as far as track and field is concerned," Lloyd said. "They have a lot of physical talent. What's more important than that, they have good mental ability. There's a lot of athletes walking around, but a lot of them don't have the determination and devotion to put all those physical tools into action. They do whatever you ask them to."

Notes: There's another Davie County connection to Next Level Club - Destiny Dalton, a 12-year-old who recently moved to Winston-Salem. Her relatives live on Dalton Road in Mocksville. In the midge division last weekend in Knoxville, Dalton grabbed gold medals in the 100 and 4x1 relay. She was second in the 200.

Sherwood Ruins Oak Valley's Chance For A Perfect Season

Even with a disappointing loss in the final meet of the season last week, the Oak Valley Orcas posted its best-ever 6-1 record. The loss in the final meet came at the hands of perennial powerhouse Sherwood Sharks, a team that hasn't lost a dual meet in years.

The final score was 561-376. Orcas Coach Dana Keeney said the loss was intensified by having several swimmers missing. The following swimmers earned first place honors:

- 9-10 Medley Relay - Nolan Day, Zac Coffey, Michael Mebel and Quinn Holland.
- 9-10 Distance Freestyle - Quinn Holland.

- 13-14 Girls Distance free - Autumn Jones.
- 9-10 IM Michael Mebel.

- 9-10 Breaststroke - Michael Mebel.
- 11-12 Breaststroke - Palmer Benson.

- 9-10 Butterfly - girls Grace Bartelt; boys Michael Mebel.
- 15-18 Butterfly - Autumn Jones.

Freestyle Relays - 9-10 girls Grace Bartelt, Caitlyn Radatovich, Teddi Utt, Blakely Gantt; 9-10 boys - Michael Mebel, Adam Elshanaway, Zac Coffey, Quinn Holland.

"This was a tough team to swim against, and with so many of our swimmers missing we did not have the strength of numbers, or the strength of swimmers to perform as well as we had hoped," Keeney said.

The season concludes this weekend with the annual league championships Friday and Saturday at Forsyth Country Club.

Volleyball tryouts will begin Aug. 7 from 9 a.m.-noon at the high school.

The Major A's

The Major Division A's compiled an overall record of 15-3 in spring Little League baseball, finishing as regular season champions. The A's also won the tournament in a dramatic, 14-13 come-from-behind victory. Team members are, from left; front - Colin Joldersma, Will Beeson, Stone Stroud, Ben Beeson, Hayden Wright, Landon Adams; middle - Derek Danner, Alex Mitchell, Harley Stroud, Matthew Dyson, Hanes Shelton, Tanner Koontz; back - Coaches Doug Joldersma, Zach Wright and James Beeson.

game (in seven-minute quarters). He played the one, two, three and four positions. He has so many tools that Mayfield said he has no idea of his potential. The rising seventh grader at South Davie has breathtaking athletic ability on the football field, too.

"There were a couple games he had 30, and we pulled him out," he said. "He's the real deal, and he's so green. He doesn't even understand the game yet. He doesn't have a killer instinct yet. One game he had 30 and played about two and a half quarters."

Dillard was rock steady in the post, averaging about nine points as the No. 2 scorer. Miller, a two guard, had his share of shining moments.

"Miller had games where he put up 17, 18 points," Mayfield said. "When he's on, he can light it up."

Ray, who plays either guard spot as well as small forward, played big in the state tournament. "Kentrell was probably our second-leading scorer in the state tournament," Mayfield said.

And no one played bigger on the defensive end than guards Absher and Jones.

"Both played really good defense," he said. "If we needed to go to our defense, both of them were in the game. If we needed to shut somebody down, we had to have them two in there because they made it work."

Note: Davie High boys basketball coach Mike Absher said his summer camps were a huge success. He had record turnouts in all three: 38 participants in the shooting camp, 21 in the parent-child camp and 54 in the day camp.

Superstitions

I can't honestly say that I am a superstitious person, but when I was wracking my brain, trying to come up with an idea for my column, this happened.

Saturday, my daughter, husband and I were at an auction. One of the items for sale was an old dresser with a mirror. While I was examining the dresser to see what I thought it might sell for, my daughter was busy swinging the mirror back and forth. I saw her and said, "If you don't stop, it's going to fall off and break, and then, you'll have seven years of bad luck."

She reminded me that wasn't really true, and that was the end of that.

Sunday, someone was at our house, and during the course of the conversation, which I think had to do with swimming or food or traveling or the like, he said the word, "Superstition."

Beth Cassidy

It was the last word I really heard in that conversation, because as soon as he said it, I knew that was my subject. I'm not sure superstition really had anything to do with it; it was more like luck or coincidence, but it was enough for me.

Superstitions.

Lots of folks believe in them; some wouldn't admit it, but they probably shiver if a black cat crosses their path.

Others know they're founded in folklore and are generally untrue.

While they've been around since ancient times, not many people truly understand where they come from. We've all walked around ladders, ducked our heads until Saturday the 14th rolled around and thrown salt over our left shoulders, but why?

Here are some common superstitions and the explanations for why they might have come about.

Friday the 13th: Since medieval times, Friday has always been considered unlucky, and so has the number 13, since Victorian times. Put them together, and they're just a recipe for disaster. In the old days, people believed that 13 people gathered at an event meant that one of them would die within a year. In most tall buildings now, there is no 13th floor.

Broken mirrors: In Roman times, people had the habit of looking at their reflections in pools of water, with the belief that, while looking at themselves, they were actually getting glimpses of their souls. Any disruption to the water, such as if someone threw a stone into it, would bring bad luck to the person looking in. That's why it's considered bad luck to break a mirror. By the way, the seven years of bad luck you would get from breaking a mirror could be reversed if you collected all the pieces and threw them into running water. I guess if you cut yourself gathering the pieces, you're pretty much out of luck.

Walking under a ladder: While it seems to be common sense that walking under a ladder might not be safe, the early Egyptians actually believed the shape of the Pyramids had a special power. It was considered bad luck to break the power of that shape, which is what walking under a ladder would do (break the shape of the pyramid created by the ladder and whatever it was up against).

Black cats: (Wow, I am so glad this one isn't true, because I own two of them.) Black cats were associated with witches in the Middle Ages and were thought to harbor evil spirits. Not only was it considered bad luck to have one cross your path, but also to have one sneeze inside your house. If those were true, I'd have the worst luck of anyone I know. And I don't.

Knocking on wood: In the early 19th century, there was a children's game of tag, where the only way you were safe from being tagged was to touch wood. This might be where knocking on wood came from. It is also considered to reverse bad luck into good.

Knots on strings: In medieval times, it was thought by tying knots on a string, a person could avoid misfortune.

Carrying the bride over the threshold: In Roman times, if a bride tripped going over the threshold for the first time, it was considered bad luck. That is why the groom carries the bride over the threshold.

Throwing salt: Chef Rachel Ray traditionally throws a bit of salt over her left shoulder, but why? Throwing salt is intended to change bad luck into good luck. This superstition may have come from medieval European cultures where salt was a rare and expensive thing. Some feel the left side of the body is associated with evil, so throwing salt over the left side can ward off evil.

Decorating the bride and groom's car: The tradition of tying noisy cans to the back of the getaway car after a wedding was thought to ward off evil spirits.

Some sailing superstitions: The things that were thought to cause bad luck were stepping on board with your left foot, starting a cruise on Friday and throwing stones into the sea. Good luck was coming if there were dolphins swimming nearby or a naked woman on board. (I guess if you started that cruise on Friday, but had a naked woman on board, maybe they would cancel each other out?) If you've ever noticed the naked woman figureheads on the front of old sailing vessels, it was believed to be able to calm the seas.

Food: Eating chicken on New Year's Day means you will be scratching for money, but eating pork means you will be fattened with prosperity.

Others: When you visit someone, you should enter and leave through the same door.

If it rains on your wedding day, you will be showered with good luck. (I think this one is true; it sprinkled on my wedding day.)

The devil can enter your body when you sneeze, so someone has to say "God bless you." Putting your hand over your mouth when you sneeze keeps your soul inside.

If you clip your fingernails on a Sunday, evil stories will be told about you all week. If you clip them on Friday, bad luck will follow. For good luck, clip them on a Monday.

Carrying a four-leaf clover with you is said to ward off

Ready, Aim, Fire ...

Davie Teen Succeeds At Competitive Shooting

By Beth Cassidy

Davie County Enterprise Record

Johnathan Roesch is a quiet kind of guy who has succeeded at a loud kind of sport.

Roesch, 16, is a competitive shooter.

His interest in shooting started when, as a youth, he hunted with his father and grandfather. When he was 12, he took a Hunter Safety Course, and the rest, as they say, is history.

Roesch is ranked 43rd in the country in his class.

A native of Davie County, Roesch lives off Wills Road in Advance. He has always loved spending time in the outdoors, whether it was hunting rabbits, deer or birds or fishing. His father, Robert, said he's spent most of his life outdoors.

When Roesch was in seventh grade at North Davie Middle School, he took the Hunter Safety Course and joined the Davie County Hunter Education Shooting Team, under the direction of Jeff Allen. His dad also helped coach. It was while Roesch was on the team that he realized his love of competitive shooting.

As a member of the team, he was invited to be a guest student for National Sporting Clays Association (NSCA) Level I certification classes conducted by Dan Schindler, who lives in South Carolina. Schindler is one of 35 worldwide members of the British Guild of Shooting Instructors and holds the highest level of certification in the United States as a NCSA Level III instructor.

In the spring of 2005, Roesch was invited to participate in the inaugural Paragon School of Sporting youth program, the X-Team, with Schindler. He regularly travels to South Carolina to train with Schindler.

In a short period, Roesch has gone from Class E to his rank of B, which he accomplished a few weeks ago.

As if his rankings weren't enough to make a dad proud, he is an honor student and works five days a week to help pay for the expenses associated with the tournaments. As a freshman at Davie, he received the Coach's Award of Merit in soccer. He played soccer for three years before deciding to give up the sport to be able to concentrate on shooting.

"Basically," said his dad, "his time is spent either working, going to school or shooting."

Tournaments keep the family - dad, Johnathan and stepmom M.J. - busy.

In March, he competed in Georgia, in the largest event ever for him, going up against 1,000 competitors from around the world.

"There were shooters from England, Russia, Jamaica, you name it. It was really a worldwide event," said his dad. "And he's not competing against other youth. These are adults he's competing against."

He competes regularly, with few weekends off. Most tournaments take place in North or South Carolina, but Roesch will compete in Maryland at the NSCA Junior Nationals, where he will compete against the top youth, ages 21 and under, in the country. He plans to compete in several other tournaments throughout the fall.

If there is a downside to what Roesch is doing, it's that it is not a cheap sport in which to participate.

There are entry fees, travel expenses, and the expenses of maintaining his Beretta 391 shotgun, and of shells and sporting clays.

Robert and Jonathan Roesch enjoy the sport together.

He has been able to secure a small amount of help through sponsors, but this has mostly been in providing hats, some cleaning supplies and powder to reload his own shells. His dad said he admires his son because he uses his money from his job to help, but he could still use sponsors.

"If we could get someone who would pay his entry fee, he could wear a hat or something with their logo to advertise their business when he's in a tournament," said Roesch.

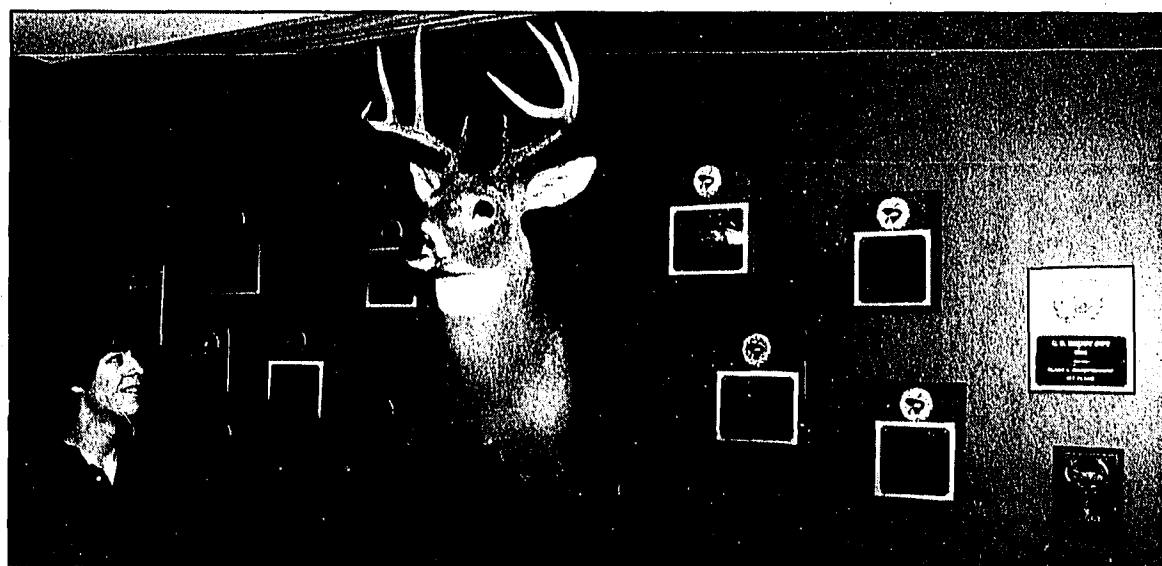

He has written to several business people in the county, but said the response has been minimal.

"If sponsorship assistance were available, Johnathan also aspires to attend the US Open, Zone 4 Championship, and the NSCA National Championship," his father said.

Roesch's goals were to achieve Class B ranking in 2006, which he accomplished. His goal for 2007 is Class A ranking, AA in 2008 and Master Class by 2009.

In the fall, he will be a junior at Davie. He hopes to go to college, although he isn't yet sure where.

Being around him, it's easy to predict that he will succeed in whatever he wants to do.

Trophies and plaques surround a mount in Johnathan Roesch's home.

Man Honored On 90th Birthday

Ralph Call of Mocksville was honored with a luncheon to celebrate his 90th birthday on Sunday, June 4, at the First Methodist Family Life Center.

Family and friends attended the luncheon hosted by his three daughters and their spouses: Barbara and Jerry James of Anderson, S.C., Janet Spivey of Mocksville, and Sarah and Mike Surratt of Salisbury. Call was the eldest of eight children born to Taylor and Cora Phelps Call of Mocksville. He was one of the first 10 men to leave Mocksville in the draft in 1941, serving under General George Patton in the 3rd Army Division. He served for the duration of the war and during his tour of duty was awarded the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star.

He retired from W. A. Davis Milling Company in High Point and enjoys spending his retirement with his wife of 64 years, Margaret Mayberry Call, and their family.

Phelps Couple Celebrates 51st Wedding Anniversary

George "Bud" Phelps and Barbara Anthony Phelps of Mocksville celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary on June 25. A reception was given in their honor last year by their children and grandchildren.

The couple has five children: Kathy Carter of Mocksville; Rex Phelps of Faith; Susie Trexler and Linda Turner, both of North Myrtle Beach, S.C.; and Gary Phelps of China Grove. They have eight grandchildren: Amber Watson of Japan; Joey Carter of Mocksville; Nik Phelps and Tiffani Phelps, both of Faith; Jessi Foss of Drexel; and Kristi Trexler, Keri Trexler and Alex Parrish, all of North Myrtle Beach.

Save More Than Energy: The Cost-Efficient Home

It's not so much a matter of newer technologies - though alternate energy sources like solar and geothermal are making considerable inroads in the modern home. It's more a matter of improvements on very familiar furnishings and appliances. Put simply, these options save by losing less. It may be well worth it to give your home an efficiency upgrade. First, you'll want to figure out what needs fixing. To identify problem areas, contact a qualified professional and get an energy audit of your home. Some upgrades are simple and less expensive. For example, one common problem is insulation. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) says that proper ceiling insulation alone can reduce your heating bill by as much as 20 percent. Other energy draining can be solved by replacing old fixtures with modern and efficient models. Windows, doors and skylights equipped with sealed double or triple panes also reduce heating and cooling costs, and are features for which utility companies often offer rebates. The EPA notes that air leakage from gaps in your home's structure - holes for plumbing and wiring, for instance - accounts for 25 to 40 percent of the energy a common home uses for heating and cooling. Similar troubles come from inadequately sealed duct joints and otherwise inefficient, older heating and cooling systems. All can be repaired or replaced. For professional advice on all aspects of buying and selling real estate, you can reach Debbie at ERA Premier Realty, 336-998-7777 or 336-909-1284, or contact her email address at debbie.prachel@era.com or visit her website at www.era-premierrealty.com.

Russell Couple Celebrates 50th Wedding Anniversary

'Grinning Beagle' Author To Be At Local Library

The "Grinning Beagle" will visit the Davie County Public Library for a book signing to benefit the Humane Society of Davie County, on Saturday, July 22 at noon.

Come and meet children's book author Valerie Blettner as she participates in the North Carolina public libraries' summer reading program, "Paws & Claws, Scales & Tales."

Blettner is the author of two children's books, "Life is Good Now as told by Floyd" and "That Dog Won't Hunt!" Both are heartwarming stories of rescued dogs, with a theme of what wonderful pets these animals can become. Blettner will read selections from her books.

Blettner will sign and personalize books purchased at the reading. Thirty percent of sales will go to the Humane Society. Raffle tickets for a gift basket filled with dog gifts will be given for each $10 purchase of Blettner's books, toys and cards. The more you buy, the more tickets you receive, and the more money is donated to the Humane Society of Davie County.

The humane society's mission is the prevention of cruelty to animals, the relief of suffering among animals, the rescue of adoptable dogs and cats, and the promotion of spay/neuter education. The humane society staff is all-volunteer.

For more information visit www.davienhumane.org.

In addition to the realities of the homelessness issues and photos contained in the book, "Life is Good Now as told by Floyd" provides readers with a real-life look at what dog ownership entails. Animal shelters are filled with strays and homeless animals. "Life is Good Now" is educational for all ages with its "dog's eye" view of strays, with manipulated graphics and photography, designed to appeal to your heart and eyes.

"That Dog Won't Hunt!" has 10 true dog rescue stories from 10 rescue groups, from Akitas to Weimaraners, and from Florida to Oregon. The title story features Bo, the bucktooth beagle, who was rescued by Triangle Beagle Rescue of NC from a local shelter. Bo was surrendered to the shelter by his owner, a hunter, because he wouldn't hunt. Bongo, as he is now known, is living the good life as a pampered pet.

Contact Blettner at Valerie@grinningbeagle.com or learn more at the website, www.GrinningBeagle.com.

Yard, Bake Sale Set For Aug. 12

Honey Needs A Home

Honey was found wandering along the road, someone had put her out. She had to learn to find food so she doesn't like to share food. She is a super sweet dog; she loves attention, and loves to be with people. She will stay right with you and will come when she is called. She loves kids. She doesn't mind other dogs as long as their not eating with her; she will play with them. She has been fixed and is up to date on all shots. If interested, call Jamie at 704-213-4680 or 284-2018. To see other animals for adoption go to petfinder.com or go to www.davienhumane.org.

Superstitions

evil spirits. If you dream about one, it supposedly predicts a happy marriage.

Some other (bizarre) superstitions and their origins: If you shave your head on a Saturday, you will be in perpetual debt. This comes from Africa.

If you go to the bathroom in the night with no clothes on, insects will fall on you. From Japan.

If you don't cover your bald head, it will start raining. From Afghanistan. (This would be especially helpful here, when there's a drought on. I know some bald headed men I might call soon. My tomatoes are looking really bad.)

You'll cut off fortune if you use scissors on New Year's Day. From China.

And finally, my favorite: Step on a crack, break your mama's back.

Why is this my favorite? I danced to a song in college that had this in its lyrics. And I know for a fact this one isn't true. Plus, it rhymes.

By the way, the next Friday the 13th is in October. Good luck.

Kinderton News

By John Godwin
Kinderton Correspondent

Robert Bowman is working on ideas for our Father/Son Camp Out. It's scheduled for Friday night, Sept. 22 at Sweetwater Square (off Old Towne Drive). The campers will roast hot dogs and make s'mores around an outside fire pit. We're looking for good storytellers and guitar pickers. Know anyone who fits the bill?

Kena Bowman will host a Topsy-Turvy Mother/Daughter Tea Party on Saturday, Sept. 23 from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. in the clubhouse. The first order of business will be for the mothers and daughters to design their own hats. After everyone is dressed in their finery, they'll lunch on finger sandwiches, pastries and punch.

It seems hard to believe that four weeks have passed since Jeff Varner was out to pick the June Yard of the Month. Kimberly Van Scoy from WXII-12 was our celebrity judge for July. Kimberly was so nice and complimentary toward Kinderton. She told us the last time she drove through Kinderton the Southern Living home was open as a show house and she was surprised at how much Kinderton has grown. Susan Culbertson of 104 Waverly Street and Dick and Betsy Heriot of 118 Lake Point Drive were our winners this month. It didn't take long for us to learn that Kimberly was an expert on ferns and Kimberly fell in love with Susan's large ferns hanging on her porch. Susan travels all the way to Virginia to get her special ferns. I can't wait to tell you who will be the judge next month. Hopefully, I will have this judge tied down on a date soon.

The Humane Society of Davie County is sponsoring a book reading for children at the Clemmons Library on Saturday, July 22 at 3 p.m. The author will read from her books "Written by George, Her Rescued Bangle," and will sell books and finger puppets, etc. Part of the proceeds from sales will go to the Humane Society. She will also be at the Mocksville Library at noon that day.

Lunch Buddies will meet at Captain's Gallery on Thursday, July 20 at noon.

County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

This past week the weather in County Line has been hot and dry. Regardless of the 90-degree weather, our community remains active and continues to plan summer activities for our children and the entire family.

Vacation Bible School continues at Society Baptist Church through Friday evening with commencement at 7 followed by a picnic supper.

Pleasant View Baptist Church will have a 1-day Vacation Bible School from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday. The school will include classes for children of all ages and will center on the theme "The FBI." Children will enjoy Bible study, singing, crafts, games, and lots of fun with a lunch break for chicken nuggets, chips, drinks, etc.

Bible schools scheduled in weeks ahead include a weekend school at Clarksburg United Methodist Church Friday-Saturday, Aug. 4-5; a 1-day school at Salem United Methodist Church Saturday, Aug. 5; and a 1-day school at the Mocksville Library at noon that day.

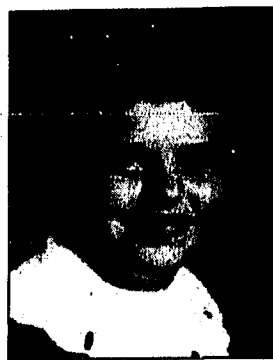

There will be a "game day" for children grades 1-6 from noon-2 p.m. Saturday, July 22, at Society Baptist Church. The children will enjoy games, recreation, and snacks. The church invites all children grades 1-6 in the community to come and enjoy the fun.

The Calvary Baptist Youth will sponsor a church-wide yard sale from 6 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, July 22, at the home of John and Sue Mastin, 105 Vanzant Road. Items for sale will include glassware and miscellaneous household. Be sure to be there at 6 a.m. to get the best bargains. All proceeds will benefit youth projects.

The Piney Grove AME Zion Senior Choir will have an anniversary celebration service at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 23. The choir will present a program of gospel music and invites other choirs to perform favorite gospel songs. Everyone is invited.

Upcoming community events include gospel singings at Pleasant View Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 29, and at Society Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 30. The United Methodist Women of Clarksburg will sponsor a prayer breakfast at 8:15 a.m. Sunday, July 30.

In 1960 Judy Koontz probably thought 60-year-old women were really old, but she is now "60 years young" and celebrated Sunday with over 75 friends and relatives.

60" on July 8. This past Sunday she was surprised with a dinner celebration hosted by her brother Bob Koontz and his family at their home on Ketchie Creek Road. Over 75 friends and relatives greeted Judy and enjoyed the delicious food highlighted by a large birthday cake made especially for her by her sister-in-law Debbie Koontz. Judy, we wish you a healthy and happy new year of life.

Our community sends birthday wishes to Paul Crutcher of U.S. 64 West. Paul will celebrate his 92nd birthday Monday, July 24. After suffering a severe stroke in 1996, Paul has been homebound. Prior to his stroke, he enjoyed working on his farm on Ridge Road. His wife Lois has taken very good care of him. Paul, we wish you and Lois a great day Monday and wish you a happy and healthier new year of life.

We send get-well wishes to John Campbell of Pleasant View and Oscar Koontz of Dorset Road. John has been hospitalized at Davis Regional Medical Center. Oscar had open-heart surgery Saturday at Forsyth Medical Center. Jeanette Smoot Foster remains in intensive care at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center. Faye Pope remains at Iradell Memorial Hospital. Marshall Goadby, Velma Smith, and Jeff Thorne are now recuperating at their respective homes. Join us as we pray for the Lord's divine healing and comfort in the lives of the above residents and others who are having health problems.

Farmington News

By Laura Mathis
Farmington Correspondent

Is anyone missing a Kitty?

This male cat showed up at my house about a month ago, skinny, and willing to put up with my hissing cats and my beagle, Cookie, who chased him countless times, to stay where he could find a bite to eat. I tried not to feed him at first, but he's just too sweet and friendly. He's even made friends with Cookie.

I can't keep him because I have three cats, a dog, a bird, and a flock of chickens. If you lost him or want to give him a good home, call me at 998-0825. I hate to take him to the pound, he's such a gentle and friendly fellow, but I've got to do something.

This cat found in Farmington needs a home.

The Farmington Senior Center opened back up this week. They were closed due to the installation of new windows. The new windows look great and will help the building to be more energy efficient and secure. New blinds are on order and will be installed in the next couple of weeks. This will help to control the lighting which will help seniors who's eyesight does not tolerate light well and it will help out on movie days to be able to watch movies easier.

The Teen Center will re-open on Aug. 4 because I'll be out of town next week, on a much-needed vacation, and will not be here to run the Teen Center.

The Farmington Community Center is continuing to make improvements, little by little. Each small project results in a big difference. We are in need of volunteers to help with projects such as painting lines on the tennis court, taking down the old fence poles, sanding and refinishing the stage, fix the under-gutter siding that is hanging off the gym and installing tile in the small bathrooms on stage. With funds being low, work that volunteers do makes a big difference.

The Farmington Community Association has several committees you can be a part of and help make a difference in the community. If you'd like to be a part of the future of the center or would like to take care of one of the listed projects, call me or one of the other board members.

The Farmington Community Center will host a community yard sale Aug. 12. Clean out that garage and those stuffed closets. The charge will be $20 to set up, which will go toward the center, and we'll provide the advertising. For information and to register to set up, call Maria Mathis at 998-0825.

Sheffield-Calahan News

By Janice Jordan
Sheffield/Calahan Correspondent

Sheffield-Calahan Volunteer Fire Department held its annual community meeting Monday, July 10. Board of Directors' Chair Paul Beck conducted the meeting. Assistant Chief David Lee Johnson gave a summary about the operations of the department, and opened the floor for questions. Vicki Groce, Ladies' Auxiliary president, explained the functions of the auxiliary and invited members of the community to join. After the election of four directors for the board, the meeting was adjourned and refreshments served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

A brief board meeting followed the annual meeting. Newly elected officers of the board for the coming year: Gary Allen, chair; Paul Beck, vice chair; Edward Galtier, treasurer; and Barbara Goble, secretary. The next major expenditure will be the purchase of a new brush truck, which will serve as the first responder vehicle. This truck is dispatched to every call the department receives, and carries equipment and supplies needed by emergency medical responders. It is designed to be able to maneuver in areas where a larger fire truck may not be able to go, and is used to extinguish woods and field fires, and as back-up for any other type of fire truck. A truck committee has been working to determine what specifications are needed for the design of the truck and will meet with the board of directors with their proposal. After board approval, it will take several months for the truck to be built and put into use. Fundraisers and private donations will be needed to help pay for this much-needed vehicle. The department would like to thank the community for its continued support.

Don't forget the Sheffield Community Center hot dog and hamburger supper Saturday, July 22 at 5 p.m. Homemade ice cream will also be served. Donations will be appreciated and used for upkeep of the facility. Take-out orders will be available. The center is located on Turkey Foot Road, just after you turn from Sheffield Road.

Several of the community will be acknowledging birthdays this week: Stephanie Payne, Crystal Payne, Kenneth Ray Tompkins, and Jonathan Johnson on July 21; Vance Richardson on July 21; Yvonne James and Tommy Dyson on July 25; Courtney Cohen, Sandra Boger, Al Sutphin, and Christian Reeves on July 26; and Jeanie Allen, Nancie Hayes, Steacy Johnson, and Eugene Reeves, all July 27. July is a busy month in this area for wedding anniversaries. Brian and Tina Dyson will celebrate their anniversary on July 20; Nick and Jaime Stowe on July 21 along with Darryl and Lisa Sizemore; and Kip and Denise Miller July 22. Justin and Heather Dyson celebrate their first anniversary of marriage on July 23. The Rev. Galen Hahn and wife, Sandy's anniversary is July 24. Louis and Bobbie Marroquin have an anniversary July 25. Sherrill and Teresa Johnson celebrate each year on July 26.

Krystal Foster attended horse camp last week at Heritage Farm. Although learning to ride was the best part, she found out that horses must be groomed and their stables cleaned out each day, in addition to daily feeding. She and the other children worked as a team and wore special tee shirts they had painted on the last day of camp.

Many area children are attending Vacation Bible School this week at Center United Methodist Church. Several have been spotted at the downtown public library, where apparently reading is more fun when it isn't part of homework.

The re-opening of the Sheffield Music Hall was a hit last Friday night, and reports are that everyone who attended seemed to enjoy the music, the dancing, and the fun of being with friends. Ruth Snow was the lucky recipient of a $25 gift certificate. Those interested are encouraged to attend the next function at the music hall this Friday evening, July 21.

Young Claire Allen, daughter of Gary and Alisa Allen, had surgery last week for removal of her tonsils and adenoids. She came through with flying colors and her parents are recuperating well, too.

Chair's grandmother, Jeanie Allen, is undergoing treatments for a serious medical condition. Please keep her in your prayers, and remember Don Tenge as he continues with treatments. There are several others who I have reported on recently who have medical issues, but I do not have any updates to report. If you or a member of your family is ill or a patient in the hospital, please let us know.

Contact me at 492-5836 or at jvjordan@hotmail.com so that I can include your family news and events in our column. Photos are welcome, too.

DHS Class Of '76 Sending Out 30th-Year Reunion Invitations

your homeowner's coverage?

Your home is your biggest investment. Let us help you make sure it's fully protected.

Since you first bought your home, its value has probably increased and you're likely filled your home with more belongings. Your homeowner's insurance policy may not be keeping up. We can examine your current policy and compare it to the current value of your home to determine whether your coverage is sufficient. If it isn't, we can recommend several options to make sure that your home and its contents are well covered. Not just for today, but for tomorrow as well. ## Original Christianity God Approved Worship

The world of worship is rapidly changing but are the new innovations sanctioned by the Word of God? Worship style is not good just because it is new nor is it right just because it is a practice of long standing. Rather, is it approved of God.

Jesus taught that true worship must be "in spirit and in truth." (John 4:23-24) To worship "in spirit" means that it must come from our inner self, that is, our heart. To worship "in truth" means that our worship must conform to God's revealed truth.

In the current struggle over worship style we should not ask, "Does it suit my personal taste?" Nor "Is it meeting my felt needs?" Nor "Is it something I'm comfortable with?" But rather, "Is it sanctioned by God's Word?"

Hillsdale Baptist Invites Children To Bethlehem

Hillsdale Baptist Church will be transformed into a little Bethlehem Village that will provide fun, memorable Bible-learning activities for children. Each day kids from the age of 3 years to 6th grade will join with a small group that's named after one of the 12 tribes of Israel. These Tribes will come together for singing and then explore traditional Bible-times family life. They might visit the Census Taker, play authentic games, or sample Middle Eastern snacks. Tribes will explore a Bethlehem Village marketplace where they will become apprentices in the Mosaic Shop and make period toys in the Toy-Making Shop.

Bethlehem Village is a way for kids to learn more about God's love and the gift of Jesus. They learn by becoming immersed in Bible-times culture. Kids will witness real-life dramas in the center of town, chat with shopkeepers about the coming Messiah, and discover what it was like to live in the Roman Empire. They'll even receive Bible Memory Makers for keepsakes to use in years to come.

Bethlehem Village takes place July 23-27, 6:30-8:30 p.m. Hillsdale Baptist is at 4815 US 158 in Advance. To pre-register or for more information, call 940-6618.

Cooking For Big Crowd Not Just Potluck

By Robin Lowder
Davie County Enterprise Record

Now is the time of year when families, churches and companies are planning big gatherings like reunions, homecomings and picnics. Some of these may be catered, but a majority of these gatherings are potluck. Everyone looks forward to seeing people that they don't get to spend time with on a daily basis or people they haven't seen in a long time. The truth is we all look forward to the variety of dishes that people bring to share.

Then there are those signature dishes that are brought by people like grandmothers, great-aunts and elders whom you know are the best cooks around. You know the dishes that I am talking about—they are the home-made chicken pies, apple pies, chocolate cakes and heavenly cornbread that everyone goes for first no matter where they are located on the table. I have heard that at some family reunions, the desserts are so good that some people actually go for it first. I had a chance to ask some people what they looked forward to at these social functions and all agreed it was the good home cooking. There were a few people (who asked me not to mention any names) that said inevitably you always have the same people year to year that show up with the infamous bucket of chicken, the same people that bring the chicken and then avoid it like the plague. I am not saying that at all, it is just funny that everybody I talked to could recall the exact same story and none of these people go to the same functions. There are those out there that don't know how to cook or maybe didn't have time, but at least the effort was made and you know that their heart was in the right place.

It is hard to know what to prepare to take to an outing like this. First you have to consider where the event is being held and whether it is being held inside or outside. Will there be access to a refrigerator or kitchen? Do you need to take your own cooler to keep something cold? How much food should you take? There are no easy answers, but here are some suggestions that might help. If your event will be held outside during extreme temperatures, try to avoid dishes which could spoil easily in hot weather if they are not chilled properly until ready to serve, things like chicken, potato salad, deviled eggs and coleslaw. If you would like to take salads which require mayonnaise, mix everything together except the mayonnaise and take a new small jar with you so that you can open the fresh jar and add the mayo just before serving. Set your serving bowl down in some ice and you will keep everyone safe. If you have not invested in one of those Pyrex dishes which include the hot and cold packs to keep dishes hot or cold, I highly recommend them. They work great for hours and are well worth what you pay for them.

How much you should take would depend on the size of the gathering. For a medium crowd you could probably double your normal recipe and have plenty to go around. If the crowd is going to be a large crowd (more than 50 people) you might plan on taking two different dishes, maybe one side or meat dish and a dessert. Don't forget you are not feeding an army; everyone else will be bringing dishes too. When you decide what dish you are taking and you feel that some other people may make the same thing, don't worry about it. There are many dishes like potato salad, baked beans, potato casseroles, chicken casseroles and even chocolate cakes that have literally dozens and dozens of variations. Like they say, variety is the spice of life.

Another great suggestion from a reader was to make copies of your recipe to hand out for those who request it. That way you don't have to try to remember who you need to send a copy to once you have gotten home.

Cheesecake Banana Split Dessert
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
2/3 cup sugar
1 stick melted butter
8 oz. pkg. cream cheese softened
3 oz. pkg. cream cheese softened
1 large box vanilla pudding mix
3 cups cold milk
3-4 bananas
12 oz. container of frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 large can strawberry pie filling
8oz. can crushed pineapple, drained well
1/3 cup chocolate syrup
1/3 cup caramel syrup
1/2 - 1 cup chopped nuts
12 maraschino cherries with stems

In a 9 x 13 inch pan or deep lasagna pan, combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar and melted butter. Mix well then pat into the bottom of the pan. Set in the refrigerator for 10 minutes.

Remove from refrigerator. Slice bananas over the graham cracker crust.

In a medium mixing bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth, add in vanilla pudding and gradually add in the milk while beating on low speed until mixture is smooth.

Pour over banana layer. Place spoonfuls of strawberry pie filling over this layer. Place the drained pineapple on next.

Spread the top with whipped topping. Drizzle with chocolate and caramel syrups. Sprinkle top with nuts. Place cherries on top.

This dessert with fill up a 9 x 13-inch pan and you will not be able to put a lid on it. A deep lasagna pan may work better.

Hash Brown Casserole
Submitted by Bethany Culbertson
32 oz. Frozen Hash Browns
1 cup melted butter or margarine, divided
1 can cream of chicken soup
8 oz. container sour cream
1 teaspoon each, salt and pepper
2 cups shredded American or cheddar cheese
1/2 small onion, chopped
2 cups crushed corn flakes or frosted flakes

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spread hash browns in the bottom of a 9 x 13 inch baking dish. Drizzle one-half cup melted butter evenly over hash browns.

Sprinkle chopped onion on top. Sprinkle salt and pepper on next.

Mix together cream of chicken soup and sour cream, spread evenly on top.

Add shredded cheese over soup layer. Sprinkle with crushed flakes. Drizzle top with the remaining half cup of melted butter.

Bake uncovered for 45 minutes.

Mar's Baked Beans
Submitted by Marlene Smith
3 medium onions, chopped
1 green bell pepper, chopped
6 tablespoons butter
1 lb. bacon cut in 1-inch pieces

3/4 cup ketchup
2 cups brown sugar
1/4 cup white vinegar
1 (15 oz.) can dark red kidney beans (drained)

Local Scouts Enjoy Camp

By Holli Nelson
Special to the Enterprise

Thirty-two scouts and seven leaders of Boy Scout Troop 732 spent a week at Camp John J. Barnhardt on the shore of Badin Lake near the village of Badin.

The rains soaked us to the skin and turned the red clay earth into a sea or slippery goop that stuck to everything.

The scouts and leaders of Boy Scout Troop 732 slid and slurred their way to their campsites at the far end of camp. The rain, thunder and lightning continued through Tuesday when the sun finally came out and dried the red turning into a concrete-like substance. Wet was replaced by heat at the challenge to overcome. Here the Troop 732 scouts and leaders would spend the next six days.

The theme for the week was Adventure on the High Seas. On Tuesday, scouts and leaders wore Viking helmets fashioned from whatever they could find. Wednesday "honored" the pirates of yesteryear. The Jolly Roger, "732" emblazoned upon it, replaced the traditional troop flag at the day's opening ceremony. All wore eye patches to lunch.

Hugh Lee and Holli Nelson, costumed as pirates, "walked the plank" competing in the Scoutmaster Belly Flop. They made a big splash, but not big enough to win.

Thursday evening featured water-front events: rafts, canoe and kayak, and model sailboat races.

Friday evening was the awards campfire.

Troop 732 brought several home including the third place Spirit Award.

Top scout honors in their respective merit badge classes went to Matthew Ellis (wood carving), Kyle McKenzie (oceanography), Luke Bartelt (sharpshooter-rifle) and Will Bracken (meteorology).

In competitive events, Jimmy Miller, Sam Dressler and Will Suggs manned the raft - a conglomeration of bamboo and 5-gallon plastic containers lashed together with rope - tying for first place only to lose in the run-off this ending in second.

Blake Rosier won his heat in the

WE ♥ BABIES.

Maternity Care From The Heart.

As a woman expecting or planning for a baby, you may already be familiar with "maternity care from the heart" because you saw it in your mother and grandmothers. Their love for their own or even someone else's baby was so tender and nurturing, you knew it had to come from their heart and soul.

But can you expect the same warm and caring nature from a trained medical professional? You can at Rowan Regional Medical Center. Our obstetrics area is staffed throughout with compassionate nurses who love babies. And that includes "your baby."

Along with their "baby love" comes their baby knowledge. In fact, every OB nurse at Rowan Regional is certified in fetal monitoring, neonatal resuscitation and Lamaze teaching.

Still, all of their training and knowledge isn't just for your baby. There is also you. And it is our nurses' care for your health and comfort, their listening to your concerns and answering your questions that you'll find invaluable, especially when you return home with your baby.

The Perfect Place To Have Your Baby. The New Women's And Children's Center At Rowan Regional Medical Center.

We made our new Women's And Children's Center beautiful, functional, spacious and filled with the latest innovations. Yet, the one thing we couldn't build in was "maternity care from the heart," but you'll find it here, thanks to our warm and caring nurses.

A Boston Common Gardens swan boat.

Boston Still Celebrates Its Ducklings

It was like stepping into the book, "Make Way For Ducklings." I have read Robert McCloskey's classic to all my boys over the years. In a trip to Boston recently, I got to see the very public garden and pond that were the settings for the book.

For $2.75, you can buy a ticket aboard the same swan boats that are featured in the 1942-vintage book.

It was great. My bride and I didn't feed peanuts to the ducks, like in the book. That's discouraged now. But swans and mallards swam on the pond as we circled them. A bronze statue of Mrs. Mallard leading her ducklings to the pond has been erected, and children climb aboard.

We had a great time. For this Southern boy, it was a chance to get the other side of the story. In Boston there are no Confederate flags waving or statues of Gen. Lee. Instead, across from the State House, there is a magnificent statue of Col. Robert Gould Shaw leading the first all-black volunteer company — from Massachusetts — into battle near Charleston, S.C.

Boston's history is even more concerned about the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. It stirred the revolutionary zeal like no other city. We toured the very impressive U.S.S. Constitution, "Old Ironsides," still at anchor there.

Boston may be the only American city where tourists hang out in graveyards. We saw the graves of Paul Revere, Samuel Adams, Mother Goose and John Hancock.

Many of those 16th and 17th century grave stones included ghoulish etchings of winged skulls ascending to heaven.

Downtown Boston is also dotted perhaps equally with pubs and Dunkin' Donut outlets on every corner. Actually, there may be more pubs. Irish whiskey is still poured plentifully, and one brewery even makes blueberry beer — with blueberries floating in the suds.

We also visited the most famous Boston attraction — Fenway Park. The Red Sox lost in the 11th inning to Oakland. Faithful fans packed the stadium, but their team came up short.

And did I mention the gay marriage protest? We did it all — riding right through the middle of the heckling crowd at the State House. The pro-gay marriage crowd chanted on one side of the street; the more subdued, and more mature anti-crowd on the other.

Can you say, "Blue State?" We went to Cheers, the bar made famous by the television show where everybody knows your name. Nobody seemed to recognize us, but the cheeseburgers were great.

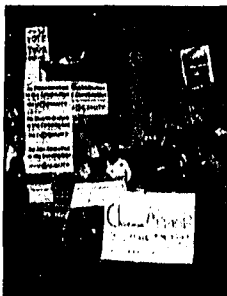

We also visited Harvard and M.I.T., just so we could say we "went" there. I was amazed at the bright young faces on the campuses, the most intellectually gifted youths in the world, and I hoped some of it would rub off.

We feasted on scrod, scallops and clam chowder, and I thought about how politically different Bostonians are from us.

Organize And Divide Crowd Back

To the editor:

Well, it is good to see that "organize and divide" crowd is getting back together in Davie County under the guise of Concerned Citizens for A United Davie County. What they actually mean "How to keep Davie County backwards and in the 20th Century by really trying."

Geek, their concern was heightened because we were busting at the seams at the two middle schools and now have a third one being built. Mr. Bivins, it's called growth and progress. We taxpayers got lucky because the land was donated. "Quit crying over a few well-spent tax dollars. What we really need in Davie County is a much needed school assessment tax like in more progressive areas that have much nicer and newer schools than we have."

What the school board and county commissioners should do is do the right thing and let 50-plus year old Davie High School be the alternative school and place to go for the county-wide AP classes and build two new high schools. That way neither end of the county feels left out and we don't have this "haves and have nots" split that Mr. Bivins and Mr. Ridenhour and their charges led the last time when they commandeered a 3 to 1 vote to over turn the big bond referendum. I don't know what he and his minions don't see when they visit our schools, but they are old and we need a bunch of new schools. We are a growing county and monies are going to have to be spent, whether people want to believe it or not. Two new high schools, Mr. Ridenhour, would give all of our children the same opportunities. And your group said it is for education, right?

We have spent the past five years or so traveling the surrounding area and states watching our son play AAU basketball and when you see other areas with their new high schools and middle schools, it just blows your mind to see how a nice progressive system works. And how a nice progressive system works to build the much-needed schools for these areas for their children is awesome. But then you come back home to Davie County, to a backward county that doesn't want any growth, any new schools, any new residents and still has that mentality of you ain't from here unless you were born here and you wonder how anything gets done?

Quite frankly, I am surprised some enterprising person hasn't chartered a private high school in the eastern part of the county several years ago - to take care of the burgeoning growth in that part of the county and to take care of some of the higher academic needs that the high school doesn't provide from the lack of AP-type classes. Then, there might not have even been a need for a second high school? But it hasn't happened so we are still stuck here needing a second high school or better yet, two new high schools. We have taken care of the problem ourselves and leave the problems of all these schools to the residents of Davie County. Our son has been enrolled in one of the private high schools in Forsyth County for his last couple of years of high school. We have seen Davie County talk about their school problems and overcrowded problems for long enough.

Bank Sponsoring Kudzu Art Project

To the editor:

I am writing to acquaint you with Kudzu, A Home Grown Art Project by Bank of the Carolinas. Kudzu is a juried art exhibition that weaves our communities together like a vine. As a community bank, we understand the importance of nourishing the talent found in our backyards. With Kudzu, we hope to interact with our customers, friends, and neighbors in a unique way and exhibit the creativity we have here at home.

We are accepting submissions of art that interpret life in the Carolinas. The artist must incorporate the two-leaf Bank of the Carolinas logo into their work. Prizes this year are generous, and renowned sculptor Jon Hair will juror submissions.

There will be several opportunities for work to be seen. All entered artwork that meets judging criteria will be displayed online, where people will have a chance to vote for a Community Choice Award winner. We will also host a traveling exhibition of award-winning works. Winning pieces may be selected for print ads or billboards. For more information and to download a prospectus, please visit our special website: www.kudzuart.com.

I hope you will join us for this extraordinary project. We at Bank of the Carolinas look forward to seeing all the creative possibilities! Maura L. Marziano, Mocksville Marketing Director

Letters Welcomed

The Enterprise Record welcomes letters from its readers. The letters may be on topics of local, state, national or international issues.

An effort will be made to print all letters, provided they are not libelous, vulgar or in poor taste. The editor reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and for space.

All letters should include the name and address of the writer, including a signature. A telephone number, not to be published, is also requested.

Please have letters in the newspaper office no later than 4 p.m. Monday of the week to be published. Davie County Enterprise Record P.O. Box, 99, Mocksville, or email to: ernews@davie-enterprise.com.

In The Mail ...

Davie Residents Should Feel Blessed To Be Here

To the editor:

So many issues, so little time. Please forgive the poor grammar, but this letter has much to touch upon after recent events and corresponding letters in the Enterprise. First, kudos to Larry Bridgewater for a fine statement of the positive reality that is Davie High School. Much work remains but our school system as a whole is progressing toward the future with clear leadership, emphasis on smaller schools, and most importantly - the best interests of our students at the forefront.

Another battle over what to do about the swelling student population at Davie High looms on the horizon with both sides organizing their war campaigns. I would caution both sides that what really divides the county are the appeals to the emotion of the issue. Crying Eagles and cries of ruining the county coupled with an "us versus them" mentality are hard to respond against rationally when people who say they want a single high school to keep Davie County unified vilify other county residents not just for holding an opposing view, but because of where they live. I agree that all options should be explored, but at the end of the day, the reality of Davie's continued growth and the population pressures makes more high schools inevitable. A 4-A sports success makes for good headlines, fun Friday nights, and a few athletic scholarships, but the quality and responsiveness of our students' academic environment is what shapes their future. Even if you are the next Julius Peppers, you have to make the grades or you won't qualify for that Division I scholarship.

How big is too big? Forsyth County has made the decision to go with 800 to 1,200 student populations in building its new high schools and we would be wise to ask why.

Secondly, let me be the first to applaud our county commissioners, Terry Bralley, and other county leaders for approving a modest local property tax increase. Our county has always been run frugally and I note that no letters that I read recommend any serious cuts in county program spending. It costs money to run Davie County and our residents should be made aware of what county services cost and where their tax money goes. Citizens expect due diligence from our elected officials that funds are spent wisely and on services that are necessary. It is the responsibility of our commissioners that adequate funds are raised to meet our public needs. They deserve our support for making this difficult decision. We elect officials to make the hard choices - not the easy ones. On the state and federal level, the waste of tax money is rampant and needs to be reined in. However, on the local level, the needs of our county have been traditionally funded on a shoestring with institutions such as our schools begging for money and depending on volunteer help to fill key positions.

The commissioners have been criticized for not spending money Davie holds in reserve. May I point out that having a reserve fund for unforeseen incidents like natural disasters is prudent? The reserve fund serves as a backstop should the state again not remit tax money rightfully owed to Davie County which occurred two years ago when Gov. Easley, as an executive order to balance the bloated state budget, withheld a portion of every county's sales tax accumulation. Our reserves and leadership got us through that $2 million crisis and will probably have to bail us out in the future.

Please realize that local taxes pay for services that affect us all and contribute directly to our quality of life. The waste is in Raleigh and Washington. As Dwight Sparks pointed out last week, all you have to do to see the result of sticking your head in the sand on taxes is look at the sad state of affairs in Yadkin County. The turmoil there where tax revenues are not keeping up with costs makes our grass look truly greener on this side of the fence.

If you want county government to reduce its responsibilities, limit good residential and commercial growth, and not be there with fire, EMS, and the sheriff's deputies when you need them, then run for commissioner on that platform or support such candidates. Should we do more to reduce the poor and elderly poor's local tax burden? Yes, by working to take them off the property tax rolls even though it will marginally increase the tax burden on the rest of us. We need to remember the Golden Rule. We also need to reduce the pace and manner of growth to a manageable level in areas such as eastern Davie County by going to a tax structure that rewards leaving open tracts of land in prime areas undeveloped. Davie's farm families should never have to sell their land to pay or get out from under taxes. There needs to be a realization that open, undeveloped land benefits us all.

The commissioners also showed leadership in finally tackling the thorny issue of appropriations for the various fire departments of the county. Hopefully, the departments in the fastest growing areas of the county can now spend more time training instead of fund raising. Whatever formula is finally settled upon should have proportionality and reactivity on the part of our commissioners to meet all the departments' needs should circumstances warrant such action. While I understand the conservative decision to eliminate the fire marshal position and divide up its responsibilities, I feel keeping that supervisory level would be better for the county as growth puts new demands on our fire departments. I hope the commissioners will reconsider this position in the future.

On the matter of race relations, the history of Davie County and indeed the South is not proud. I would point out that the first act of the Davie County Foundation after acquiring the land off of I-40 for soccer fields was to remove a confederate flag which the black community found offensive. During the 24 years that I have been in Davie County, I have seen race become progressively less and less of an issue. Does racism linger? Sure it does and on all sides. The challenge is to persevere regardless of our prejudices whether we recognize them or not. Making the effort is in our best interest and can be rewarding. Economically, to exclude minorities from your customer base or workforce is suicide. At the end of the day this reality is what will bring us all together. The tensions between us will lessen as economic justice is pursued for all. What other country attracts as many to its borders in pursuit of a better life? As a nation we need legal immigration to help grow our economy, but we can't ignore those already here who are economically disadvantaged whatever their race may be. We all need each other's gifts to make a whole society. Who our heroes are say volumes about us. What Davie County boy, white or black, does not idolize "Cooter" Arnold, Ted Randolph, or RaeShon McNeil? I would wager a fair amount that if Condoleezza Rice is the next Republican presidential candidate she would handily carry Davie County. Religious and social interaction between the races needs to increase, but I submit that our present tendencies are due more to habit on all sides rather than racism. We all have the power to improve the climate between us by our everyday actions. Keep that in mind as we all strive to be better neighbors.

Finally, take time to appreciate the community that you live in. Feel blessed to live in such a special place where God is honored - even by our young - in numerous houses of worship, and where charitable acts and concern are the norm. Reflect on your family's experience with Davie County, whether you just met your new neighbor or your ancestors greeted Daniel Boone's family when they crossed Bear Creek. We all share in something special and it is a work in progress as we strive to keep our county as a true rural oasis in Piedmont North Carolina. We are not perfect and would never claim to be. We just want to have and be good neighbors.

School Food Personnel Going To Annual Show

To the editor:

Greetings from Davie County Food Association. To start I would like to take the time to thank all children and parents that participated in our breakfast and lunch program. If it weren't for you, we wouldn't have a chance to serve you.

We had our end of year banquet in May and enjoyed our dinner at the Life Center in Mocksville. We honored our retirees and others that served in our cafeterias throughout Davie County. Our Employee of the Year, Sonya Cheryle from William R. Davie Elementary School was announced. Join me in congratulating her. This was a well-served award. As for the summer, our Child Nutrition personnel will be heading to Greensboro for our annual Food Show. Also, self-improvement classes were held in June 2006. As I have said before we are about bettering ourselves for the children of Davie County. We are honored to have such a wonderful environment to create nutritious meals for all of Davie County.

Thank you again and have a wonderful and safe summer.

Secretary for DCSFA

Report From Raleigh Legislature Focusing On Adjournment

By Julia C. Howard
N.C. House of Representatives

This past week the House and Senate focused their attention towards adjournment as most of the committee work has concluded for this session and long calendars filled with a multitude of bills requiring consideration have consumed at great deal of time in both chambers.

The following are summaries of bills approved this past week by the General Assembly that may be of interest to you:

• A bill given final approval by the General Assembly is expected to help protect consumers in North Carolina from extreme price surges during times of emergency. House Bill 1231 titled Prohibit Extreme Pricing Practices modifies current law that restricts price surges during states of disaster by adding restrictions during states of emergency and abnormal market disruptions. This prohibition will apply to businesses of a distribution chain in a geographic area where a state of disaster, state of emergency or abnormal market disruption has been found. Factors in determining whether a price is unreasonably excessive include whether the price charged by the seller exceeds the average price of the seller in the preceding 60 days and whether the price charged by the seller is attributable to fluctuations in regional, national, and international market trends. The NC Attorney General's Office is authorized to investigate any alleged violations under this legislation.

The intent of this bill is to prevent excessive price increases during local or national emergencies that include natural disasters and terrorist attacks. Once signed by the governor, this bill will become effective immediately.

• Earlier this year, Congress passed an act forbidding protests and demonstrations at cemeteries under the control of the National Cemetery Administration and at Arlington National Cemetery. This Congressional action was a response to protests occurring at military funerals.

The N.C. General Assembly took similar action this past week giving final approval to a bill prohibiting protests within 300 feet of any funeral, memorial service, or processional route.

Senate Bill 1833 titled Disorderly Conduct/Funeral/Military Services also prohibits protests within an hour before or after a funeral or memorial service. A person violating this act could be charged with a misdemeanor and if convicted could face a fine and/or jail time. After receiving the governors signature, this bill will become effective Dec. 1, 2006.

• Another bill ratified this past week by the General Assembly is Senate Bill 1295 titled Junk Faxes. For years, many businesses and residents in North Carolina with fax machines have been receiving numerous unsolicited, advertisement faxes. These unwanted faxes are frustrating to fax machine owners as they consume paper and ink, as well as tie up phone lines.

Senate Bill 1295 will address this problem by prohibiting anyone from sending unsolicited advertising faxes from North Carolina or to an entity within the state. Under the new law, a business would be required to have an established relationship with a consumer before sending a fax. A person receiving unsolicited advertisements could seek civil damages of $500 for the first violation, $1,000 for the second, and $5,000 for further violations. This bill will become effective after receiving the governors signature.

That's all the news from Raleigh I have for now. As always, please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Overcrowded ...

mentioned overcrowding as a consideration in the decision to move their children.
Darlene Utt, whose daughter Sunni was an eighth grader at North this past year, said, "Overcrowding was an issue. I've heard about students having to share lockers. I went to North Forsyth High School, and it was just 11th and 12th grades then, and it was crowded, but not like Davie. I keep hoping something will change there. It's still a great school, but it's just too crowded."

Sunni will be attending Salem Academy.
"We didn't consider anything but Salem," Utt said. "We like Salem. We like the idea of an all-girls school, and Sunni likes the small classes. There are a lot of advantages at Salem."

The family will have to pay about $15,000 per year for those small classes, and that doesn't include meals or books.
Years ago, Tom Champney promised his daughter, Alex, that if she wanted to attend Salem, as her older sister did, he would send her. Overcrowding, as well as some other issues he's heard about at Davie High, have made that decision an easy one for the family.
"That Mexican gang thing scared them, and Alex said she definitely did not want to go there. I've heard a lot of bad things about Davie, about kids smoking pot, drinking ..."

Champney's son, Cassidy, will attend the high school, but may not stay.
"I told him if he didn't like Davie, we would send him to Forsyth Tech, or wherever he

County Owns 111 Acres For New School

In the fall of 2005, the county purchased approximately 111 acres in the Smith Grove area that was identified as a possible future school site.
"There was no distinction made at that time as to what kind of school it would be, and no timetable as to when it had to be developed, but it would make a good place for an elementary school. There's enough property there that two schools could be put on the site. We left that issue with the school board in terms of what schools were needed. Our job was to be a financing instrument. Land in Davie County is not getting any cheaper, and we felt like we got a good deal on this land," said County Manager Terry Bralley.
The county paid $862,643 for the land, or about $7,770 per acre. The land for the new William Ellis Middle School, which is scheduled to open in August, 2007, was donated.

wanted to go," Champney said. "I just want my kids to get a good education."
"I think it's pretty pitiful all these people want one high school because the football team will be better. They've got the land for it; I don't know why they don't go ahead and build it."

Julia Howard Named Top Legislator

The American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC) honored N.C. State Rep. Julia Howard (R-Davie) as Legislator of the Year on July 20 at the organization's 33rd annual meeting in San Francisco, Calif.

"I am pleased to present Representative Howard our Legislator of the Year Award," said Kansas State Senator Susan Wagler, ALEC's 2006 national chair. "Her committed leadership and legislative experience helped bring welfare reform legislation into law in her state. She's a leader who truly personifies the Jeffersonian principles of liberty and limited government."

Howard is a nine term legislator who represents the people of Davie and portions of Fredell counties. She is the co-chair of the House Committee on Finance and has been a leader on tax reform, Wage Aid.

"I am delighted to be chosen as ALEC's Legislator of the Year. For the past 18 years, I have served in the North Carolina House of Representatives seeking to successfully represent the people of my district as well as to act by the values and principles maintained by the American Legislative Exchange Council," said Howard. "This is a terrific honor - one for which I am so appreciative."

The ALEC annual meeting is a gathering of thousands of state legislators, business leaders, and public policy experts participating in an exchange of ideas about how to improve public policy and further the common goal of a limited government that promotes free markets and individual liberties.

Relay Fundraisers Ongoing

Several fundraisers are going on in preparation for "Relay On The Town: Light Up The Night", the American Cancer Society event that will be Aug. 11-12 in Downtown Mocksville.

The Relay For Life Committee is increasing cancer awareness by selling purple ribbons to blanket the county. These ribbons, made of all-weather ribbon, are being placed on mailboxes and front doors all across the county. They sell for $5 each.

"The goal of this fundraiser is not so much a money-maker as it is a cancer awareness tool. It is our hope to cover the county in purple ribbons so people see that cancer touches everyone and that we as a community can do something about it," says Anne Holland, Davie Relay chair.

Another fundraiser is a breakfast on Saturday, Aug. 12 from 7-9 a.m. This traditional pancake breakfast is being prepared by First United Methodist Church. Purple ribbons are also being sold at the church. For information on how to get them, contact Barbara Basham at 751-2504.

"This is the first time that we have done something like this at Relay," says Holland. "We have always wanted to have something that would bring folks back out to Relay on Saturday morning and we hope this could be it."

Tickets will be needed to attend the breakfast and are being sold by area Relay teams as well as First United Methodist Church. Purple ribbons are also being sold at the church. For information on how to get them, contact Barbara Basham at 751-2504.

For information about "Relay On The Town", contact Holland at 998-8474.

Open Mic Night Friday

Tune up that guitar, loosen up those vocal chords. The Davie County Arts Council and the Downtown Mocksville Historical Association will present Open Mic on Friday, July 28 as part of the Downtown Association's Jammin' on the Square series.

Musicians wishing to play should bring the instrument, amplifier, and any special equipment required. Participants should arrive by 6:30 to register for a 12-15 minute time slot to play. A PA will be provided.

The Arts Council will sell 50/50 raffle tickets and a drawing will be held at the end of the night. Performers may pre-register for a 15-minute time slot by calling the arts council at 751-3112. Check website to learn more, www.daviearts.org.

Luminaries Available To Light Up The Night

Luminaries may still be purchased for this year's "Relay On The Town, Light Up The Night" Aug. 11-12 at Junker's Mill, Downtown Mocksville.

Luminaries may be purchased "In Honor Of" or "In Memory Of" of a friend or loved one at the Relay or by contacting Kathy Ellis at 998-3987 or bellis0420@msn.com or contact Chris Hoke at 998-1058 or hokening@yadtel.net.

The Luminaria Ceremony and lighting of the candles will be held at 9 p.m. Friday, Aug. 11. Included will be a silent prayer and a silent lap to honor all those who are battling cancer now or in memory of those who have lost their fight with this disease. Following the silent lap will be the "Relay Worship Experience" featuring the talents of Kelly Wall, Susan Seaford, Max Peterkin, Bonita Finney, Candace Marshall, Lou Wilson, and Erin Harper.

"Please join us for this moving experience," said Carla Bradham.

Relay For Life is an overnight event designed to celebrate survivorship and raise money for research and programs for the American Cancer Society.

"The Relay offers something for everyone, from the newly diagnosed, to caregivers and friends, to long-term survivors. It also represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported, and that one day, cancer will be eliminated," Bradham said.

Ministers To Be Arrested; But For A Good Cause

If you happen to see your preacher in a makeshift jail beside the Mocksville Police Department Friday, don't fret.

They are behind bars for a good cause.

The Davie County Law Enforcement Association will be conducting annual "Jail-A-Thon" to raise money to take children shopping this Christmas in the Shop With A Cop program.

The ministers being arrested will be treated more like royalty than prisoners, although they will be captive for a while. This jail serves steak for lunch.

Davie County Connection

Amarr Opens Doors in Davie

It turns out Davie County knew the secret to bringing in new industry years ago: have a building in place that's ready to move into. No, it's not the only thing that makes Davie attractive to potential employers.

Employers look at several things, including economic incentives, cost of living and schools. But from a business standpoint, it doesn't make sense to waste time building something if it already exists.

"Having an existing building made the difference with Amarr Garage Doors," said County Manager Terry Bralley. "If we hadn't had the building, there's no guarantee we would have had the industry."

When Amarr opens the doors to their manufacturing plant this fall, they'll be creating 66 new jobs in Davie. Because this is an additional plant, and not a replacement, the jobs will be filled locally, as opposed to transferring existing employees. As part of the agreement with the state and county, Amarr will create a total of 143 jobs over the first three years the plant is open.

"These are skilled, good-paying jobs, with good benefits," said Bralley. "These jobs will require a different skill set from the types of jobs we've had before. Davidson County Community College's Davie Campus is going to work with Amarr to provide job training opportunities."

In order to win the plant, the county and town of Mocksville offered local incentives totaling $100,000; $60,000 from the county and $40,000 from the town. In addition, North Carolina is investing $75,000 through the One North Carolina Fund. The incentives aren't applied toward the cost of the building, which was already on the tax books. Instead, the money is based on Amarr's performance. In order for Amarr to get the money, they have to first create the jobs. The town and county expect to recoup the money in two years.

Amarr is based in Winston-Salem, but has three other manufacturing plants in North America. According to Bralley, Amarr needed another plant on the east coast to cut distribution costs for product that is currently shipped from Kansas. With so many homes being built in the area, there's the possibility of additional production lines being needed in the third year.

"This wouldn't have happened without Hollingsworth Companies," said Bralley. Hollingsworth is the SouthPoint Business Park developer. Since 1998, they've built five separate buildings in the park on spec. As each one sold, another 100,000 square-foot building went up, with parking, loading docks, and lights already installed. "All that needs to be added are bathrooms and offices. These buildings are a great recruiting tool for us."

"They bring additional tax money to the county. From Amarr, we expect to receive roughly $46,000 a year at the current tax rate. Hopefully the next building will do the same as the rest. Most companies need to be back in operation in three months, so having buildings available for lease or sale allows companies to move quickly. Parks like SouthPoint are just one more tool that make Davie County competitive when companies are looking for places to locate."

eBooks Available Now

Davie County Public Library patrons now have access to NetLibrary eBooks and eAudiobooks anytime. Patrons may access a wide range of material on NC LIVE's NetLibrary eBooks and eAudiobooks via the library website www.library.daviecounty.org.

NetLibrary's eAudiobooks include a growing collection of more than 500 titles, with works from notable authors who regularly appear among the top 15 works on the New York Times' Hardcover Best Seller List. The Pinsler Language Series Collection is also available in the eAudiobook format. Additional titles are added to this core collection monthly, providing the Library with a continuous flow of new titles to offer patrons.

"Audiobooks, in the form of cassettes and CDs, have been popular in libraries for many years," said Ruth Hoyle, Davie County Public Library director. "The ability to download eAudiobooks from the Web through NetLibrary is being embraced by long-time listeners and readers as well as new listeners and readers."

NetLibrary eAudiobooks can be downloaded or played on any desktop, laptop or portable device supporting Windows Media Player version 9 and above. Library users can also transfer favorite titles to a wide range of portable devices, including portable music players, portable media centers, Pocket PCs and even select smartphone devices.

eBooks are published books that library patrons can search, borrow, read and return over the Internet. NetLibrary eBook collections range in scope from children's titles, travel guides, cookbooks, best-selling fiction and foreign language titles to core academic areas of science, social sciences and the humanities to collections of specialized study in areas such as business, education, medicine, religion and philosophy, computer science and engineering.

NetLibrary titles are available to users at terminals in the library or from their personal computers via the Internet. ### Division 1 Bound

Merrifield To Play Baseball For The Gamecocks

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Whit Merrifield did more than accept a Division I baseball offer on July 17. Davie's rising senior accepted an offer from one of the premier programs in the country - South Carolina.

The Gamecocks made consecutive trips to the College World Series in 2002-04. They were the national runner-up in '02. They are 301-110 since '01, giving them the third-most wins in Division I over the past six years. They are an SEC-best 115-64 over the same span. Since '00, they have reached the NCAA Regionals six times, won the SEC Super Regionals five times, won the SEC Eastern Division title four times and won the SEC title twice.

South Carolina's 10-year coach, Ray Turner, has an overall record of 808-348-3, making him the eighth winningest active coach in D-I. Clemson and N.C. State followed South Carolina with scholarship offers. But they never stood a chance of luring Merrifield away from Columbia.

"To tell you the truth, it wasn't (a tough decision)," Merrifield said from his Advance home. "I really like Coach Turner and he was so generous. They're building a 28-million dollar baseball field, and with the kind of program they have, I just couldn't see anybody topping it. Once I heard they made me that kind of offer, there was really no other competition."

Davie hasn't fielded a Division I baseball player in more than a decade. The early commitment will allow Merrifield to play his senior season without the burden of trying to impress suitors.

"It was the best feeling I've felt in a long time. It was amazing," he said. "It'll be a lot of fun knowing that I don't have to go out and try to impress anybody anymore."

Whit has extraordinary bloodlines. Father Bill Merrifield was a megastar at Rocky Mount High. As a senior shortstop, he led the Gryphons past Grimley in the 1980 state championship. Bill was a 6-3 quarterback who led the Gryphons to state runner-up as a 1977 sophomore. He quarterbacked Rocky Mount to No. 1 rankings in '78 and '79.

Bill produced an illustrious, hall-of-fame baseball career at Wake Forest. As a sophomore he set ACC records in home runs and RBIs, winning conference player of the year and making the all-America team. He continued to be a one-man wrecking ball as a senior, when he hit .476, led the country in homers and RBIs, achieved the ACC's triple crown (leading in homers, RBIs and average) and was named all-America for the second time. He was the first player in ACC history to repeat as player of the year.

Bill was the 51st pick - by the California Angels - in the 1983 Major League Draft. After hitting 97 minor-league homers, the slugger was called up to the Pittsburgh Pirates for a September 1987 game at Atlanta. He had a "cup of coffee" in the big leagues, but never appeared in a major-league game. He retired from baseball in 1988.

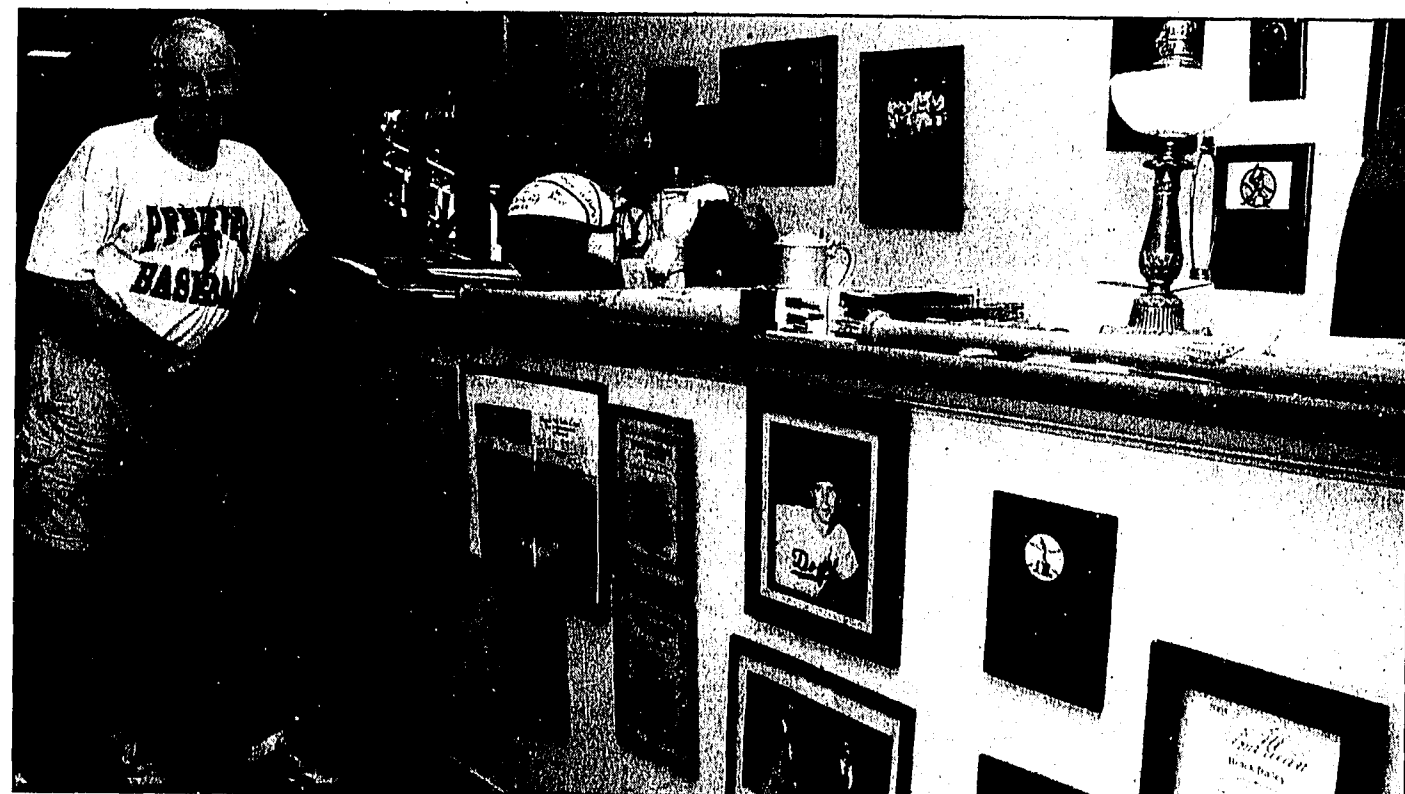

The athletic bloodlines flow from Whit's mother, as well. Kissy was the top-ranked tennis player at Wake Forest.

"A lot of colleges made an assumption that he was destined to go to Wake," said Don Hutchins, Whit's coach on the South Charlotte Panthers' showcase team. "I'm not saying he had Wake in the bag, but down deep he probably knew he had the chance to go there. He set his mind that, hey, I'm going to make other people take notice. He's obviously accomplished that."

"I want to make my own footsteps," Whit said.

Merrifield's potential became evident when he led Davie's varsity in hits as a 283-hitting freshman. He skyrocketed as a sophomore, hitting .442. He

A Baseball Treasure

Bailey Flirted With The Majors In The '60s

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Let's relive one of Davie County's treasured baseball players. Fifty years have passed since Brack Bailey graduated from Shady Grove High School, but nothing has dimmed his light.

He was a dominating force for the Shady Grove Panthers in basketball as well as baseball. He had a sensational baseball career at Pfeiffer College, as evidenced by his induction into the Falcons' hall of fame. Then he played seven years of professional baseball, including three years at the Triple-A level.

He's one of the county's most compelling athletic stories because he knocked on the major-league door during a time in which the Los Angeles Dodgers had a gold mine of talent and when there were only 20 teams in the big leagues (there are 30 today).

"He was a hellava baseball player, and he was a good basketball player," said Gray Barnhardt of Mocksville, who graduated from Shady Grove a year before Bailey in '55. "I couldn't shine because of Brack. But after he got out of baseball, he called me and wanted to play golf. He got ready to hit and I thought he had some type of Polio. I'd never seen such a mess. I said: 'Brack, I finally found something I can beat you at. You beat me all the way through school, but I can beat you playing golf.' ... Any time you want to play golf, let me know."

Bailey has lived in Bermuda Run since '97. His brother, 65-year-old Allen Bailey, lives in Advance. Brack and wife Judy have three daughters - Carole Folmar of Advance, Debra Mitchell of Athens, Ga., and Crystal Pennington of Franklin, Tenn. They have four Folmar grandchildren: The boys, Paul and Braxton, attend Shady Grove. The girls, Paige and Bailey, go to Shady Grove and North Davie, respectively.

It appears Brack's health couldn't be better at 68. He played for a 65-over softball team. On the day he reminisced about baseball, he had spent the morning playing racquetball and softball. And last year his softball team finished second in the ASA national championship.

During the summer of '56, Bailey accepted a baseball offer from North Carolina. He had every intention of wearing Tar Heel blue. But Joe Ferebee - a Mocksville native who built an empire at Pfeiffer, finished with 600-plus college wins and is immortalized in eight hall of fames - stepped in and convinced Bailey to reverse his decision.

Bailey was The Man at Pfeiffer, hitting .469 as a junior and .424 as a senior. The outfielder was named to the NAIA All-District and all-state teams in '59 and '60. Both years he paced the Carolinas Conference in home runs and RBIs. He was also president of the student body.

"I was going to Carolina, and Ferebee was the reason I went to Pfeiffer," Bailey said. "I already had my room at Carolina, and Ferebee got that job late in the year. He was going to build a powerhouse, which he did because we beat Carolina, (N.C.) State and all those teams as freshmen."

Los Angeles signed Bailey after his senior year, and he spent six of seven pro years in the Dodgers organization. The exception was one year (1963) with the Reds. Though Bailey fell inches short of reaching the promised land, he

Roger Bost Joins Davie Football Staff

Roger Bost, who gives the staff yet another grizzled and weathered football mind.

"I'm really fortunate," Illing said. "I've got a good bunch of guys."

Bost - the husband of Linda Bost, former Davie principal and current program coordinator of Davie County Schools - was head coach at Albemarle High for two years in the early 1970s. He was head coach at Statesville High from 1992-2004. Overall he coached 20 years at Statesville. Last year he was an assistant at Lake Norman.

Bost joins a staff that includes Chris Callison, Barry Whitlock, Ron Bivins, Matt Sain, Chad Groover, Randy Athey, D.J. Rice, Tim Devericks, Devore Holman, Mike Rominger and Neil Comatzer.

"We're fortunate we got a phone call that Roger was applying for a teaching position at the high school, and he wanted to know if we wanted a volunteer coach," Illing said. "With his experience, you'd be crazy not to tap that resource. He's been around the block a time or two, so I'm looking forward to tapping his resources and looking at how he would handle things that come up, his philosophies, how he tries to attack things and see how we can use him to strengthen our program even more."

Groover's job sometimes keeps him out of practice. When he wasn't there last year, all the offensive-line duties fell on Sain's shoulders. The tough part was Sain was also trying to prepare his JV team. Now when Groover's job forces him to miss time, Bost can take over the line and allow Sain to give the JV all the attention it needs.

"Now Groover will have a true assistant all the time, and that will give the JV guys a lot more individual attention," Illing said. "Now the JV has three offensive coaches, and they can get a lot more technique done with them. So there's no question our program's going to be a lot better because of Roger."

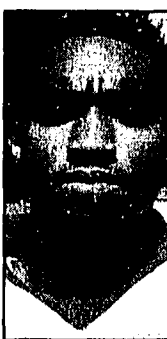

Bost, who will teach World History

East-West All Star: Lack of Size Doesn't Faze Parks

By Brian Pitts
Davie County Enterprise Record

Find a better 5-foot-6 football player in the state than ReShaun Parks. There may be some, but there's very few that can outclass Parks.

Parks

Parks, a 2006 Davie graduate who played safely in the East-West All-Star Football Game at Jamieson Stadium in Greensboro on July 19.

Parks helped the West to a 28-26 win that extended its winning streak over the East, which hasn't won the annual event since 2001.

Over the last four years Parks captured the hearts of Davie fans and coaches with an electric personality. Assistant coach Barry Whitlock said every year at Davie's football camp at Catawba College, Parks would be outside doing jumping jacks at 5:30 in the morning. He would be the first one out of the dorm, dancing and bouncing around and raring to go.

Parks has talent to match his personality. It's a fearless attitude with unshakable confidence. He is completely unfazed by his size.

"Parks always thought he was 6-2," said Todd Bumgarner, the head coach at South Davie Middle. "He always thought he was the best player on the field, and that's what makes him so good."

The 158-pound Parks took his tenacity, his bone-crushing pop and his perpetual smile to the East-West Game, and he played most of the defensive snaps even though the East featured receivers at 6-3 and 6-5. "He did well. He really did," Davie head coach Doug Illing said. "He looked like a mighty mite out there. In all-star games everybody's 6-2, 6-3. There's not hardly any 5-11s out there, so he looked like a mighty mite running out there. But he didn't back down. He stood tall and made a lot of plays."

The West bolted to a 28-0 lead in the third quarter. Parks helped his defense limit the East to 76 yards in the first half and without a first down for the first 20-plus minutes.

The East put a scare into the West by scoring 26 unanswered points. East's improbable rally proved fruitless when it fumbled the snap while trying to tie the game on a two-point conversion with 1:38 to play.

Parks' football career didn't end here. He will play at Brevard College this fall. "He had a big hit on the sideline," Illing said. "He was all over the field. People with that kind of desire and attitude, you don't know what the future will bring for them."

A West teammate headed to Appalachian State, defensive lineman Anthony Williams of Northwest Cabarrus, became a big believer in Parks.

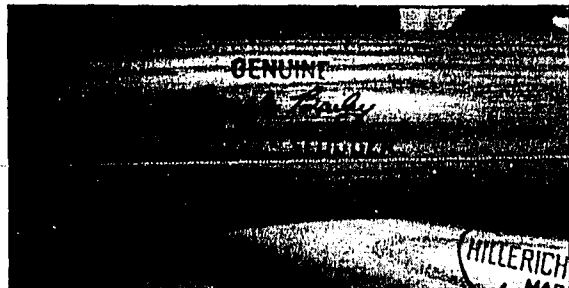

"I think R.P. is a guy everyone underestimates because of his size," the 265-pound Williams told the Salisbury Post. "But he showed all of us that he would hit you low and hit you hard. He laid the lumber all week long."

Parks played varsity ball for four years, totalling well over 200 tackles, including 120-plus as a senior. Also as a senior, he had eight pass breakups and three interceptions. He returned three INTs and kicks for touchdowns.

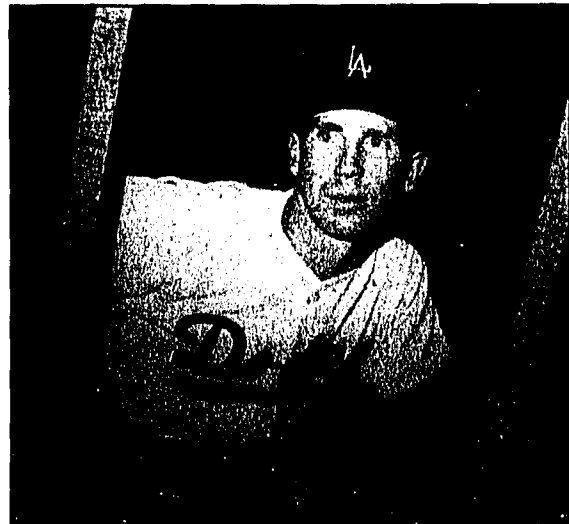

Parks became the 12th Davie football player in 50 years to perform in the

Bailey ...

enjoyed all kinds of momentous moments and crossed paths with countless guys who made it to the big show.

Bailey's basement is a baseball shrine - pictures everywhere of baseball celebrities, boxes filled with memorabilia and scrapbooks that would take two days to scan.

"From the time I was knee high, I dreamed of being a major-league ballplayer," Bailey said. "As I got higher and higher and to Triple A, I still had that dream. If you had superior abilities, you'd get there. But I had mediocre abilities, and a lot of other things fall into it. The breaks, who's ahead of you, the organization, who signed you, all the politics. Retrospectively, the closer I got the less compelling that dream was. In Triple A, it became more of a job. I had a family, I'd have to relocate basically to the West Coast in Spokane, Washington, or Albuquerque (N.M.). I probably didn't have the physical ability. I didn't have the size (at 5-11, 170)."

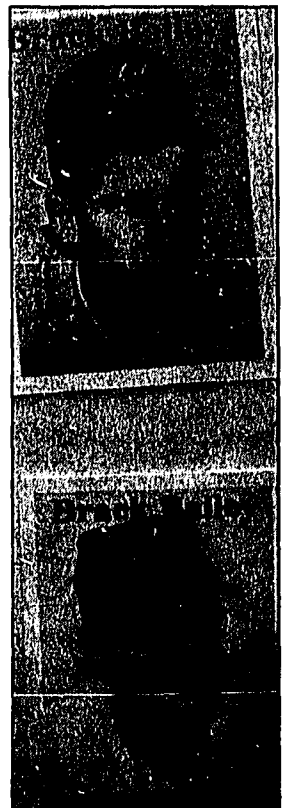

Bailey can speak modestly all he wants, but his credentials were exceptional.

His second pro season ('61) was staggering. After getting beamed in the head and spending 18 days in the hospital, he returned in breathtaking fashion, earning the Topps Minor League Player of the Month award in consecutive months (July and August '61).

Playing for Panama City in '61, he finished atop the Alabama-Florida League in hitting and took home Topps Minor League Player of the Year. Bailey owned the No. 2 average (.369) in all of the minors. To put that into perspective, look who the first and third sticks were: Tony Oliva, an eight-time all-star, and Lou Brock, who stole 938 bases in a hall-of-fame career. In 101 games Bailey had 34 doubles, 11 triples and 14 homers.

Bailey had an incredible season in '64, hitting .321 with 28 doubles, 17 triples, 19 homers, 100 RBIs and a league-leading 174 hits for Double-A Albuquerque. Hall-of-Famer Joe Morgan's average (.323) was a tad higher, but Bailey won Topps Player of the Year for the second time.

Bailey flirted with the majors in '63, making the Cincinnati Reds' spring-training roster. He played in a major-league game that spring training, getting thrown out at home, before dropping down to Triple-A San Diego.

"That's the one major-league game I got into, in Tampa, Florida," Bailey said proudly. "I have a write-up to prove I was in one major-league game."

Bailey was injured running into the wall, and the Reds traded him back to the Dodgers. Although he never caught a break with the Dodgers, his accomplishments were formidable right down to the end in '66. Forty years after Bailey hung it up, his legacy endures.

"He was the best hitter that's ever come up," said Barnhardt, a Shady Grove pitcher who grew up with Bailey and was an American Legion teammate for three years. "He wasn't only a good baseball player, he was a good guy, too. He wasn't a hot-head. He was the same when you saw him playing baseball as he was when you were with him in high school. Everybody looked up to Brack. He had it all. He was not only a good hitter, he was a good infielder and outfielder. Wherever he was at, he was the best."

Bailey played on the same field with lots of heroes. He played on a Dodgers' winter team with Ed Rebeck (major-league pitcher in 1955-66), Larry Burright (pitcher, 1962-64), Jim Brewer (pitcher, 1960-64). Two of his teammates on the '65 Spokane (Wa.) team that won the Texas League title by 17 games were Don Sutton, a hall-of-famer who pitched in 1966-88 and has announced Braves games on TBS for years, and Jack Billingham, a pitcher in 1968-80 who was the ace for Cincinnati's Big Red Machine. Five more '65 teammates went on to play for the Dodgers' parent club: Jim Barberi, Lou Johnson, John Werhas, Bart Shirley and Thad Tillotson.

There was the time Bailey played for Tommy Lasorda, who managed the Dodgers in 1976-96, in spring training. There was the time he pinch-hit for Oliva in an all-star game. There was the year ('64) he roomed with Bobby Cox, the Atlanta Braves manager since '90. There was the time he played in a Sally League all-star game with Pete Rose. "Pete was with the Macon Peaches and I was with the Greenville (S.C.) Spinners," Bailey said. "Tommy Helms (a major leaguer from 1964-77) and Oliva were on that all-star team."

There was the time he inadvertently sold a cap that belonged to a guy named Duke Snider, Bailey's manager in Spokane. "We had hand-me-downs, and I didn't realize it until I had sold it," he said. "After the guy cleaned it, he found a '4' in it. He called me back and said: 'Can I believe what you just sold me?' I said: 'What's that?' He said: 'Why is Duke Snider's number in here?' I said: 'Well, I played for him. I guess he had the same sized head I did.'"

And there was the time he got two hits for the Texas League all-stars in a 4-2 win over the Houston Colt .45's, a major-league club in 1962-64 that became the Houston Astros in '65. Among Bailey's all-star teammates were Morgan, Sonny Jackson (major leaguer in 1963-74) and Nelson Briles (major-league pitcher in 1965-78).

"I think I was the only one on that team that didn't make it (to the majors)," Bailey said.

Here's more Bailey accomplishments that jump off the page. He played in three all-star games ('61, '62, '64), he batted .302 for his career and he hit a spring-training homer off Don Drysdale, a hall-of-famer who won 209 games with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Bailey remembers that moment distinctly.

"That was the year ('62) him and (Sandy) Koufax held out for a hundred-thousand each," he said. "He pitched against us in an intrasquad game in Vero Beach (Fla.)."

Of all Bailey's remarkable performances, nothing compares to the '64 game for Albuquerque when he launched three homers - on three pitches - off Pat Jarvis. Think about that. Three homers on three pitches against a guy who pitched for the Atlanta Braves from 1966-72.

"That was something big then," Barnhardt said of Bailey's fascinating career. "It's big now, but that was one of the biggest things around (Davie County) at the time. Golf hadn't taken hold yet, and we didn't even have a football team. Baseball was about it. We all kept up with him."

H.T. Meroney, a '58 Davie graduate, paid homage to Bailey.

"I suspect he's the best baseball player to ever come out of Davie County," Meroney, who pitched against Bailey, said from his Virginia Beach, Va., home. "He'd get my vote, and I've been observing Davie County baseball since the early '50s."

The scrappy Bailey followed his dream by playing the only way he knew, and that was all out on every play. He came through time and again for the Dodgers' farm clubs. He had all the skills needed to go all the way.

There was only one problem. The Los Angeles Dodgers were loaded. They went 89-65 in '61, 102-63 in '62, 99-63 in '63, 97-65 in '64 and 95-67 in '65. They won the World Series in '63 and '65 and lost in the World Series in '66.

"I started playing third base in Double A and Triple A because of what the Dodgers had ahead of me in the outfield - Tommy Davis, Willie Davis, Ron Fairly and Lou Johnson," Bailey said.

Tommy Davis and Willie Davis each had 18-year major-league careers. Fairly spent 21 years in the majors. And Johnson spent eight years in the majors. "I've been following the Dodgers since 1950, and they had about a half-dozen hall-of-famers on that team," Meroney said. "Brack should have been with somebody like Pittsburgh. They weren't worth a damn back then."

Despite Los Angeles' vast array of talent, Bailey had everything going for him early in the '65 season. Former Brooklyn Dodgers great Pete Reiser was his Triple-A Spokane manager, Reiser saw the spark in Bailey's game and Bailey bolted out of the blocks, leading the Pacific Coast League in hitting after the first two weeks.

"I was his type of ballplayer - which is not great ability, but I would crash a wall and do whatever was necessary," Bailey said. "Pete said: 'Have a year for me like you had last year and you'll be in the big leagues with some organization, probably the Cubs.'"

"Pete couldn't believe the Dodgers didn't have him on the bench with their parent club," said Ferebee, 86, of Misenheimer. "If the ball stayed in the park, Reiser would catch it. They had to scrape him off the fence five or six times, and that's before padded walls. Brack Bailey was that same type outfielder, and Pete Reiser saw it. Brack never questioned anything. You'd like to have all nine like him."

But just when everything was pointing in the right direction, Reiser suffered a heart attack and had to give up managing.

"Snider was named the manager," Bailey said. "The Dodgers were my favorite team, Duke Snider was my idol and I literally choked playing for that type of guy. And he was not a good manager. I saw him the next year when I was in Triple A and he was in B-ball and he said: 'Now I know how bad I was last year.'"

"They changed managers and Brack didn't have the ties that he had with Reiser," Ferebee said.

The '66 season was Bailey's last. As fate would have it, the Dodgers' powerhouse collapsed the year after Bailey's retirement, going 73-89 in '67. Two years after that, the majors expanded to 22 teams, adding the Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres.

"My last year me and Billingham drove from Spokane to my house in Winston-Salem," Bailey said. "I said: 'Jack, if I can get a job with some promise, I'm not going back to baseball.' I had my college degree, he did not. He said: 'Well, I'm going to give it one more try.' They expanded, he got picked up by Montreal, he was traded to Houston and he and Joe Morgan went to Cincinnati in another trade. They expanded right after I got out of baseball."

Ferebee said there's no telling what Bailey might have accomplished had he played for another franchise.

"The Red Sox and Twins tried to buy him from the Dodgers because they had a place for him to play," Ferebee said. "The Dodgers wanted to keep him because they figured on using him the next year. Brack was a better hitter than anybody they had on the bench. The Dodgers' best pinch-hitter was not a position player, it was Don Drysdale, the great pitcher, and he couldn't hit like Brack Bailey. He could play anywhere. He would have been ideal for the Dodgers to have on that team - if nothing else, as a pinch-hitter. Lou Johnson wasn't the ballplayer Brack Bailey was, but he played for the Dodgers. No doubt he should have played some big-league ball, and he would have if the Dodgers would have turned him loose."

Barnhardt wonders what would have happened if Bailey's patience hadn't worn dry. "I feel sure if he would have stayed one more year, he would have made it," he said. "I don't see how he kept from making it. If he would have been with anybody else, he would have made it. Wachovia offered him a big job and I think he was getting tired of it."

In 2001 Bailey was inducted into the Greater Winston-Salem Professional Baseball Hall of Fame by the Winston-Salem Warhogs. His brilliant baseball days remain vivid in Henry Shutt's memory. Shutt and Bailey played ball together all the time until Shutt moved from Advance to Mocksville in the fourth grade.

"He basically led everywhere he played," said Shutt of Orlando, Fla. "He was everything that anybody would have wanted. In retrospect, I wish I could have played with him."

U.S. History, coached against Davie between 1999-2004. Davie won four of the six meetings, but it was always a friendly rivalry.

"It will be different, but I developed a really good relationship over the years with those guys," said Bost, who is coaching as a volunteer. "I spent some time with them and had a few rounds of golf with them. So I've gotten to know them quite well over time, and I'm really looking forward to the opportunity to work with them."

Davie could have another new volunteer coach in Timmy

Johnson. He has Davie roots, graduating from here in 1977 and coaching at South Davie Junior High in 1982-85. His parents, Charlie and Lethia Johnson, live in Mocksville. So does his brother, Terry Johnson. But Timmy has spent the past 19 years coaching at Davie County rivals - six years at China Grove Middle and 13 at South Rowan High.

His Davie coaching status is unclear because of a degenerative disk and bone spurs in his back. He suffered the injury in September while drilling with wrestlers in a South Rowan practice. If his ailing back comes around, Johnson will help Holman with linebackers. If the back continues to plague him, he will still help out, but in a lesser role.

"I'm going to get involved doing something," he said. "If I get my back straight, I will (coach full-time). But I don't like to coach by pointing my finger. I haven't been (at workouts) at all this month. It got to where it was so painful I couldn't do anything."

East-West Game. His all-star predecessors include John Grimes (1961), Ed Bowles (1962), Ronnie Spry (1966), Edgar Osborne (1967), Randall Ward (1967), Fred Bailey (1968), Allan Barger (1970), Chris Jacobs (1984), Andre Frost (1989), Sam Stovall (2003) and Ryan Boehm (2005).

Parks is among 92 student-athletes who have signed to play for a brand-new program at Brevard. The Tornados are a Division II team under the guidance of Bobby Poss, the former icon at A.C. Reynolds whose Rockets eliminated Davie from the playoffs in 1999 and 2002. They will play home games at Brevard High School, one mile from the college campus, the first three years. But it's a nice high-school facility, seating just under 7,000 spectators.

Merrifield ...

Even if Merrifield doesn't crack the lineup as a middle infielder at South Carolina, his offensive weapons could keep him on the field. Since he works persistently on his game, don't dismiss his chances of playing second.

"South Carolina wanted him first and foremost for his leadoff bat and baserunning," Hutchins said. "They said if he can't play second or short, he can play center field or left. They looked at him more offensively than worrying about where he might fit defensively. But I think whatever Whit sets his mind to he can probably play. I don't know if he has a D-1 arm from short, and second might be his best position. He's a awful good there. He doesn't press as much because he doesn't have to make that (long) throw."

Merrifield has base-running prowess that can't be overestimated. "When you put a clock on him, he's awful doggone fast," Hutchins said. "In baseball the 60-yard dash is your benchmark for recruiters and scouts, and he runs between 6.5 and 6.7 in the 60, and anything under 6.9 is considered awfully fast. You match that speed with his savvy, he really makes things happen. He doesn't get thrown out often. One of the kids that threw him out is a kid going to the University of Miami on a full ride."

DAVIE HAS ANOTHER rising senior on the Panthers.

At 5-10 and 155 pounds, Merrifield is utterly unimposing. But he brings fearlessness, aggressiveness and grit. He brings nerves of steel that wreak havoc on the bases. He also distinguishes himself through passion and savvy. "Despite being a little undersized for what some of them look at, I knew when we had a chance to put him in front of people that size wasn't going to be an issue," said Hutchins, who has coached Merrifield for three years. "He gets on base and makes something happen. When people saw him play four or five times, that's when they started realizing what kind of potential he's got. You take a kid that's 6-3, 220 and hits the ball a mile, they all want him. A kid like Whit, it takes them a few times to look at him, see what he can do and how he can make things happen."

Old School Davie Sports From 1990

The Davie American 13-15 All-Star softball team won the District 2 title, routing Randleman 11-4 in the championship game at the Davie Youth Complex.

Davie took charge with a five-run second inning. Jamie Bailey singled in Emily King and Jenny Stewart. Then Joy Willard and Penny Sampson knocked in runs.

Dana Potts and Denise Boyd had singles in a four-run fourth that blew the game open. The outburst included Casey Jenkins' two-run single and a King sacrifice fly.

Davie added to Randleman's misery in the seventh, when King tripled in Sampson and Krissi Pack. Coach Jim Reynolds' squad was led by Amy Newsom, who went 4 for 4. Bailey and King had two hits each.

Matt Marion, a 1990 Davie graduate, signed a baseball grant with Pfeiffer College. Pfeiffer coach Chip Smith said: "Matt is a blue-chip prospect for our program."

Marion hit .348 as a senior. Then he set a Mocksville Legion record with 15 homers. He also led Mocksville in runs, RBIs, hits and doubles. Mocksville coach Dale Ijames said: "His home-run record will be hard to break."

Spotlight on Business

Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop

Ed Schaff of The Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop is observing his 20th year in business. Ed says that he is one of the luckiest people alive when it comes to earning a living. Over 20 years ago he turned his hobby into a business. Ed has been an avid golfer for over 43 years and over a stretch of about twelve years he played over 200 rounds per year. During that period he was able to drop his handicap to as low as a three and at age 60 has lost several yards on his tee shot but still plays to a single digit handicap. His love for the game ranks third behind his family and his church and just ahead of Carolina basketball.

Ed credits Gene Queen, a good friend and scratch golfer, with teaching him the golf repair and club assembly side of the business. With a recession in the golf business since 1997, Ed jokingly refers to himself as "the Last Man Standing". He relates that since he opened The Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop several stores carrying major brand golf equipment have opened and closed. And others who have tried to build a business like the "Sand Trap" have had to close their doors also.

Ed attributes his success to several factors. First, he operates a full service golf shop. His services range from building custom clubs and Titanium drivers, to reshafting with both steel and graphite shafts, to regripping clubs, and performing all types of golf club repair. He sells mostly "copy" clubs of the better known name brand companies such as Callaway, Ping, Taylormade, and Nike. Each year Ed attends the PGA show in Orlando to find the "premium" quality copy heads to sell to his customers. And he also sells some mid-major name brands from whom he has to buy only the component heads so that he can custom fit these for his customers. These brands include KZG, Wishon, Alpha Reaction, Bang, and Walter Hagen. He also specializes in Harrison graphite shafts for all wood clubs, especially for any and all Titanium drivers. He uses Harrison shafts in his own personal woods. Their reputation for being the most consistent and longest of the high-end graphite shafts is proven with their performance in the national long drive championships where they have dominated the competition with 7 championships to their credit. No other company has even come close.

Second, the shop's motto "You can spend more money, but you can't buy better quality" is backed up by the shop's custom club guarantee which is prominently displayed. Ed feels that if he builds every set of clubs like they were his own then he won't have to worry about having dissatisfied customers.

Third, he doesn't ever make a customer wait if he can do the job right now. It doesn't matter whether it's regripping a set, or reshafting a shaft, or installing a new graphite shaft. Whenever possible Ed offers the golfer a cup of coffee while he waits for the job to be completed. Ed says why ask the customer to make another trip to pick his club up when he can

Fourth, Ed believes that every golfer, regardless of handicap or equipment, will score better and have more fun if he or she plays with custom-fitted clubs. For this reason he builds these clubs for not only the guys, but also for seniors, women, and juniors. The simple action of having your existing putter custom fitted to you can have a drastic effect on the number of putts you average per round. At the Sand Trap you can purchase golf clubs of the same quality as the name brand clubs, get them custom-fitted, and still pay only about one half the price of these name brands. Our custom-fitting includes choices as to 1) head design, 2) cast or forged, 3) length, 4) lie, 5) flex, 6) shaft weight, 7) steel or graphite shafts, 8) choice of grip, 9) grip size, and 10) swingweight. When purchasing "off the rack" clubs you usually have only two choices — head design and shaft flex.

Ed has moved "The Sand Trap Custom Golf Shop" operation to Clemmons, and has set up his business in the Dockside Plaza mall just to the right of Dockside Seafood Restaurant and across from Arby's on Lewisville-Clemmons Rd. His is a unique golf shop that makes you feel like you've been there before and want to come back real soon. Ed opened in Clemmons on Feb. 1st of this year and is currently running a drawing open to all who visit the shop for a free set of custom irons or a Titanium driver. All you have to do is drop by and register. When asked, one customer described what Ed does for a living? He replied that "He builds golf clubs that make you play better. And he always has advice to help you with your game. He knows more about golf than any other person that I know". If you're a golfer, you just might want to stop in and see what's available at The Sand Trap. I'm sure you'll be made to feel welcome, and just maybe you'll find something that you can't live — or play — without.

Ugly Roof Stains?

American Roof-Brite can remove them

American Roof-Brite has the answer for those unsightly, if not damaging stains that appear on shingle roofs. Professional roof cleaner and American Roof-Brite owner Don Sunday is the expert behind the business. With over 30 years of roof-cleaning experience, American Roof-Brite has the knowledge and technical skill to kill roof fungus spores, the usual cause of the black or discoloring stains on asphalt and fiberglass shingles.

Don bought his American Roof-Brite dealership over four years ago, after researching the company and its product. What he likes to impress upon his customers is the method he uses to clean roofs.

The first step is to apply an environmentally safe, biodegradable cleaning compound to the roof area. This application sits on the roof for several minutes. The formula eats away at the cause of the roof stains, fungus. This is one of the steps that separates American Roof-Brite from other roof cleaners, who just spray the roof with a high-pressure wash.

The next step for Don is a low-pressure/high volume wash. Don is passionate to let his clients know that this low-pressure wash is an important difference in roof cleaning technique. Most people assume that what a roof needs is a high-pressure wash. This, Don says, could not be farther from the truth. In fact, a high-pressure wash usually causes damage to a roof, tearing up shingles from the roof, which can result in interior water damage. Not good. The low-pressure/high volume method used by American Roof-Brite has been trusted by homeowners for over 30 years.

The third, and final step that Don incorporates, is the application of a stain blocker, or sealer. This layer of protection is guaranteed to prevent fungus growth for three years.

Roof stains are not just ugly, but the fungus that causes them can damage your home. Merely washing your roof is not enough. The three-step process used by Don Sunday and American Roof-Brite is an environmentally safe, professionally proven method for killing roof fungus, and preventing it. American Roof-Brite is owned by Don Sunday. You can reach Don at (336)-785-2030.

Are Your Pets Protected?
LEPTOSPIROSIS — A reemerging disease threat. Dogs with wildlife in their environment are at risk, especially those dogs who swim or drink in stagnant or slow-moving water.

FELINE IMMUNODEFICIENCY VIRUS (FIV) causes an infectious disease similar to Feline Leukemia. It weakens the body's immune system. There is no cure and cats that go outside are at risk.

Pan Beck Named Top Senior Volunteer

Sit down and talk to long-time county resident Pan Beck and it only takes a while to discover her love of volunteering has spanned for years.

Beck, 76, was named Davie County's Senior Volunteer of the Year for her time and energies to all aspects of life here. "It was such a surprise," Beck recalls.

Beck got the nickname Pan when her younger sister and cousins were unable to pronounce her real name, Frances. "They just got it down to Pan," she says. "Nicknames are strange like that, they stick to you."

In her spare time Beck enjoys reading and watching television. When asked what she enjoys most about being retired Beck says, "Being my own boss, going where I need to go and want to go."

Beck has been an active volunteer in Davie's school systems. She has volunteered in elementary reading programs and served on the Davie Board of Education for 12 years. Beck strongly supports the reading programs in the schools. "I think children really enjoy reading, but they like for someone to listen."

And she has been listening for the past seven years at William R. Davie Elementary tutoring 2nd grade readers.

When Beck is asked what her most enjoyable volunteering experience has been she says, "Well, of course, 4-H was my first love." She began her involvement with the local extension agency 59 years ago, and with the 4-H Club 25 years ago.

Beck has extended her interest and support to improving the health and welfare of the county's older population. She currently serves on the Aging Planning Board at Davie's Health Department and meets regularly on the Senior Services Board helping develop services and programs for the elderly in Davie.

Other local agencies and groups that have benefited from Beck's generous volunteer spirit includes Friends of the Library, Museum Committee, Healthy Carolinians Chronic Disease Committee, United Way, Energy United Advisory Committee, Davie Salvation Army Unit, Chamber of Commerce, Historical Society, and she's a Master Gardener.

Beck rounds out her busy life with her devotion to her church family at Bear Creek Baptist where she has been a Sunday School teacher, chair of the cemetery committee, and a member of the vacation bible school and pre-school committees. She is also active with the Women's Mission Union.

From this long list of community boards and committees

Beck has served on it's obvious how she has devoted her adult life to the betterment of others here in Davie County.

And it's obvious no one is more deserving to be named Davie County's Senior Volunteer for 2006.

Nelson Graham Earns Church, Business Honors

Nelson Graham of Mocksville received the Souvenir Journal Dedication Award from the Funeral Directors & Morticians Association of North Carolina at the 79th annual convention at the Radisson Hotel in High Point June 12-15.

A full page in the souvenir journal was dedicated to Graham, which included his accomplishments as a licensed funeral director since 1975. He was presented a plaque at the banquet June 14 by Elizabeth Williams-Smith, president of the Piedmont District.

Nominees must be a member of the association for at least 25 years and demonstrate community involvement.

The honors continued on July 1 when Clement Grove Church of God recognized Graham for his award, and for his years of service to the church. Several men of the church gave remarks on the impact Graham had upon them, and on his work in the church.

He was presented a framed print - excerpts from Psalm 1 - that will be hung in the church foyer.

Graham has served as superintendent, usher, steward, senior choir member and is currently chair of the trustee board.

Graham was born in Catawba County in 1938, a son of the late Wilbur and Georgianna Graham, as the youngest of three children.

He served four years in the United States Army, stationed in Alaska. He was honorably discharged in 1961.

Graham married Dorothy Rucker and moved to Mocksville in 1964. They have two daughters, Angela Robinson and her husband, Elder Raymond Robinson, and Dr. Regina Graham and her husband, Raphael Hauser; and two grandchildren, Ryan and Joshua.

Graham worked at Ingersoll-Rand in Mocksville for 26 years, earning a perfect attendance award when he retired in 1996.

In 1975, Graham became a licensed funeral director and has worked in funeral service since that time. In 1997, his wife, Dorothy, opened Graham Funeral Home in Mocksville. The funeral home website, www.grahamfuneralhome.net, was created by his son-in-law, Hauser, in 2004.

He has served the state association as sergeant-at-arms since 1987. He is also a member of the Piedmont District Funeral Directors and the National Funeral Directors and Morticians Association.

Graham has served on the Palmetto Church Cemetery Association Board for more than 30 years and the board of directors for the Davie County Department of Social Services for seven years.

He was a board member of Milling Manor Group Home for nine years.

His favorite pastimes include volunteering at community events, gardening and entertaining his grandchildren.

Contact Graham via email at the address info@grahamfuneralhome.net.

County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

Our community has welcomed the needed rainfall and cooler temperatures the past week. Those of us who were caught in the terrible electrical storms Saturday evening in eastern Davie and western Forsyth did not enjoy the treacherous driving.

Our children and youth enjoyed successful Bible schools at Society Baptist and Pleasant View Baptist last week. We have three remaining schools scheduled. Clarksburg United Methodist Church will have a weekend school Friday and Saturday, Aug. 4-5. Salem United Methodist Church will have a 1-day school Saturday, Aug. 5. Calvary Baptist Church will have a 1-day school Saturday, Aug. 12. Mark these dates on your calendar for enjoyable days of Christian fun and activities for your children.

The children's summer day camp for grades 1-6 sponsored by Society Baptist Church will wrap up this week with a bowling trip today (Thursday). Those children going should meet at 10 a.m. at the church and must have signed permission slips from their parents.

The youth (grades 9-12) of Society Baptist will take a day trip to Stone Mountain on Saturday, July 29. Those going should bring a bathing suit for swimming and a pair of shoes for hiking.

Pleasant View Baptist Church will have a gospel singing at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 29. The Tarheel State Quartet will be the featured singing group. A love offering will be taken. Church members invite everyone for an enjoyable evening of southern gospel music.

The United Methodist Women of Clarksburg will sponsor a prayer breakfast at 8:15 a.m. Sunday, July 30. Pastor Linda Morgan will lead the program. The women invite others in the community.

Salem United Methodist Church will have a special 9:30 a.m. worship service Sunday, July 30 that will include favorite songs and a skit. Church members invite everyone.

Society Baptist Church will have a gospel singing at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 30. The Sons of Thunder will be the featured singing group. A love offering will be taken. Church members invite everyone.

Upcoming community and church events include a country ham and sausage breakfast sponsored by the V-Point Ruritans at the V-Point Building from 6-10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 5.

The United Methodist Women of Clarksburg will host a joint meeting with Harmony and Mount Bethel Monday evening, Aug. 14. The speaker will be Libby Blanton, a former pastoral spouse at Clarksburg.

Kaleb and Tanner Kooz and Houston Smith of Boy Scout Troop 575 are spending the week at Cherokee Scout Reservation at Yanceyville. On Thursday of this week, their parents will join them and other Scouts for a family covered-dish dinner. The boys attend Salem United Methodist Church.

On Monday of this week, the Kappa ECA had a "spa party" at the home of Jenny Turner on Country Lane. Jenny, a BeautyControl consultant, showed the club members ways to relax and care for one's body. The club meets monthly the third Tuesday of each month at the Davie Academy Building on Mr. Henry Road. For additional information, call Margaret Ann Shew at 492-7111.

The Woodmen of the World, Lodge 323, had a family ice-cream social on Tuesday of this week at the Davie Academy Building.

Our community sends get-well wishes to Beulah Prather of Pleasant View. Beulah was hospitalized at Iredell Memorial Hospital but is recuperating at home. Faye Pope remains at Iredell Memorial. Jeanette Smoot Foster has improved and is at the Sticht Center of Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center. Oscar Kooz has also improved but remains at Forsyth Medical Center. John Campbell is recuperating at home. Join us as we pray for the Lord's divine healing and comfort in the lives of Beulah, Faye, Jeanette, Oscar, and John and others who are having outpatient treatments.

If you have news or memories to share, please call Shirley at 492-5115 or email sdhlink@hotmail.com.

Sheffield-Calaha News

By Janice Jordan
Sheffield/Calaha

The cook-out at the Sheffield-Calaha Community Center July 22 drew a huge crowd, but food was plentiful and many lingered to enjoy the fellowship. Several kinds of perfectly frozen home-made ice cream were offered as all you can eat, and were the perfect antidote to the summer heat.

The people who volunteer to operate and maintain the center are to be commended for helping to provide this asset to our community. It was great to see Jeanie Allen in attendance, who arrived with Ed Galtier. She has been undergoing serious medical treatments and still needs our continued prayers.

Don Teague was able to attend for a short while, and his wife, Mary Lou Teague said he had undergone another chemo treatment the week prior to the cook-out.

The Chigger Hill Ramblers were scheduled to play that same night at the Sheffield Music Hall. Brenda Bailey, whose husband, Jack plays bass for them, was helping to serve at the cook-out before heading next door for the musical evening. A summer thunderstorm, with its much needed rainfall, made its timely arrival after the cook-out was over. Sheffield Music Hall had a good crowd on Friday night, too, and everyone involved hopes that more people will come by to find out how much fun can be had listening to music in the country.

There is sad news from

Calaha. Joe Bill Horton passed away Thursday, July 13 at Kindred Hospital in Greensboro. He is survived by his wife, Josephine Anderson Horton, and step-son Roger Anderson and his wife, Cathy of Calaha, three daughters and a son who all live in Virginia and Maryland, and several brothers and sisters, including sister Jewel Horton who resides in Booneville, and brother Jake Horton of King. Funeral services with military rites were held July 17 in Hillsville, Va. Our condolences are offered to all of his family.

Sandra Dyson and Ronnie Thompson are this year's recipients of the Lally Awards at New Union United Methodist Church. Following the recent church service where the announcement was made, the two enjoyed lunch in their honor.

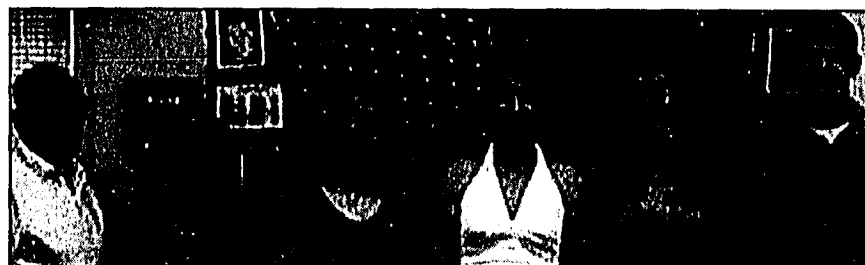

The Women's Fellowship of New Union enjoyed a visit to the residents of Somerset Court earlier this month. Lizzie Reeves, the oldest member of the group at 91, inspires the others with wit and perseverance. Women's Fellowship meets the second Tuesday of each month at the church office and is open to women of all ages.

Finishing the birthdays in our area this month are Sherry Keaton July 28; Clark Gobbie, Janet Moon, and Corey R. Dyson July 29; Brenda Beck July 30; and Dennis James, Cody Brown, and Janice Beck July 31. Monty Dyson, who at 99 is Sheffield's oldest resident, will turn 100 Nov. 21. Please keep Mr. Dyson in your prayers. Our seniors are a wonderful asset to our community.

Although most of the homes in our area sit some distance from each other, our neighborhoods are full of friends and family who know each other and are willing to step in and help each other at a moment's notice. Development in the far-off future may bring more houses and other types of growth that generates tax revenue, but the way of life that started here years ago with the founding families won't be forgotten. Everyone should remain proud to live in Sheffield-Calaha.

The Farmington Ruritan Club met Saturday, July 15 for their summer family outing and picnic. Approximately 60 members and guests enjoyed grilled hot dogs and hamburgers with all the trimmings and homemade ice cream and desserts.

The highlight was the presentation of scholarships to five Davie High School graduates. The club is awarding a total of $4,500 to these five students - Erica Whicker, Amanda Sloan, Sarah Fleming, Kristen Fromal, and Phillip Scott. The Farmington Ruritans would like to wish all the graduates the best in their pursuit of higher education.

Mr. Odell Boger of Farmington was laid to rest on Sunday, July 23. His service was held by Pastor Scott Lyerly of Farmington Baptist Church. He was buried in the Eatons Baptist Church Cemetery, where his family is buried. He left behind his wife, Carolyn, and son, Jeff. Mr. Boger has lived in Farmington all his life and attended the old Farmington High School. He was joined by Wade Groce and spoke on the Farmington Remembrance Day, at the Farmington Senior Center this past year. We are thankful to have some of his memories on tape to be shared with future generations of Farmington residents. During his speech, Odell Boger spoke of his wife Carolyn and told of how special she was to him. He told of how they were married on June 18, 1955 and how that it was the best thing that ever happened to him. Mr. Boger was a special member of the Farmington Community and will be greatly missed. Our sincere condolences goes out to the Boger family.

Thank you to the Bennett family, which responded to last week's Farmington News regarding the stray cat that needed a good home. He now has a new family.

Have you started cleaning out those closets and that messy garage yet? I have and I can't wait to sell some of my clutter at the Community Yard Sale on Aug. 12 at the Farmington Community Center. It will be a great way to get organized before school starts and a way to make a little money at the same time. Remember to call Maria Newsome at 998-3271 or Laura Mathis at 998-0825 if you are planning on setting up.

The Farmington Senior Center will be showing the movie, Benji, Thursday, Aug. 3, at 9:15. They need a roll of black plastic to put over the windows, that will help to darken the room. This will allow them to view the screen better. If you have a roll to donate, please drop it by the Farmington Senior Center between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Their new blinds for the windows will be installed in a couple of weeks and will help solve the lighting

Concert Pianist Jim Hendricks To Perform at Blaise Baptist

Blaise Baptist in Mocksville will host a concert by Jim Hendricks on Sunday, July 30 at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary. He will perform arrangements of traditional gospel and contemporary Christian songs. He appeals to all ages in his performance due to his fun and energetic style.

Hendricks has performed with Dave Brubeck, Della Reese, Jack Jones, Louie Bellson, Clark Terry, Tito Puente, Rita Moreno, Maynard Ferguson, and others. He competed in international piano competitions and was a featured symphonic orchestra soloist, performing the piano music of Rachmaninoff. By the age of 25, he had accepted a professorship in the piano department of Chicago State University. While on tour with the Glenn Miller Orchestra, Hendricks realized that he was not using his talents for God's glory. Already being a dedicated Christian for years, he knew it was time to leave the secular music world and follow God's calling into Christian ministry.

Since then, Hendricks has performed Christian music at the piano in hundreds of churches all over the nation. He has made numerous recordings, performed on ABC, TBN, and PAX, written the book Challenging Arrangements for Today's Church Pianist, and been featured in Clavier piano journal.

There is no charge for the concert. The public is invited. Call the church office at 751-3639 for more information.

Tips for Starting Your Home Search
Buying a home can be a rewarding life experience, as well as a great investment. But having a successful purchase requires some education and research. For first time homebuyers especially, you'll save yourself a lot of frustration—and maybe even money—if you start with a few simple steps.

Know What You Need
The first step is being honest about your needs versus your wants. Think of the future, what features does a house require to still meet your needs 5 years from now?

Call Your Real Estate Agent
Debbie can pre-qualify you for a loan, answer questions about neighborhoods, recommend lenders and even coordinate the closing—all while saving you time and money.

Crank the Numbers
It's extremely important to have a clear idea of your financial situation before you start looking for a home. Not only will this help you set a budget, but financial records will come in handy when you start shopping for a loan.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying and selling real estate, you can reach Debbie at ERA Premier Realty, 336-998-7777 or 336-909-1284, or contact her email address at debbie.prachel@era.com or visit her website at www.era-premierrealty.com.

Earl Naylor

Cedar Rock Assisted Living is very happy to announce Earl Naylor as our Resident of the Week. Earl has called Cedar Rock his home since March 2003. Earl spent many years driving a tractor-trailer from one end of the country to the other. He has many models in his room that he does not mind showing his friends here.

He enjoys riding the halls and talking to everyone, and telling his many stories of the exciting things he has seen or done in his life. He really enjoys talking about airplanes, and has a great story to tell about one in particular. If you see him, or if you are by this way, he would love to tell it.

We love you Mr. Earl and are truly glad you have made us a part of your family here at Cedar Rock Assisted Living.

Vegas Red Hatters Honor Member On 50th Birthday

The Vegas Red Hatters, a local chapter of the international Red Hat Society, recently honored member Sherrie Ridenhour on her 50th birthday.

Last Friday evening, the group attended The Bum Dinner Theatre in Greensboro for dinner and the current hit show, Motown Love Machine. The lively performance celebrated the best of classic Motown in song and dance. The show was scheduled to run June-July, but due to sell-out performances has been extended through August.

Traditionally, when a Red Hat member turns 50, she retires the pink hat and lavender outfit for the privilege of wearing red and purple. Ridenhour received her "Jackie O" style red hat and red rose corsage from the chapter to recognize her milestone. She also received many gifts.

Mocksville Civitan President Gets Top District Honor

The Mocksville Civitan Club's Lena Reinsvold was named President of the Year for North Carolina District West Area 5.

The club hosted the NC West Area 5 meeting on June 29. Reinsvold has been with the club since joining in 2002. This has been her first term as president.

Reinsvold has been named lieutenant governor for North Carolina District West Area 5 for the 2006-2007 year.

The Mocksville Civitan Club is a community service club whose volunteers are committed to helping those in need in the community. It hosts the Food for His Flock food drive for the Storehouse for Jesus twice yearly.

It also sponsors the Davie High Junior Civitan Club and the South Davie Junior Civitan Club as well as co-sponsoring the Cooleemee Women's Club.

Some of the club's activities include: United Way's Day of Caring, Big Brother/Big Sister, Davie County Group Homes, New Horizons Workshop, Salvation Army, Davie County Senior Center, YMCA, Little Lambs, RSVP, and aid local individuals in need.

Matthew Johnson Completes Marine Basic Training

Marine 2nd Lt. Matthew G. Johnson graduated from the basic school on June 29.

He will be a logistics officer for the 1st Marine Air Wing in Okinawa, Japan.

Johnson is the son of Van and Pat Johnson of Mocksville. He is a 2001 graduate of Davie High School and earned degrees in business and video production from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Army Sergeant Earns Certificate

Army Sgt. Christopher M. Simmons was awarded a certificate of achievement for performing and accomplishing assigned duties in a commendable manner, and for demonstrating skill and initiative in devising and improving work methods and procedures.

The recipient's acts must have significantly affected employee's morale resulting in improved work performance and esprit de corps through their personal diligence or initiative.

The sergeant earned this certificate for his work on the Coalition Forces Land Component Command's Leaders Recon Reception Team in Kuwait.

Simmons is a reception team escort assigned to the 5th Battalion, 113th Field Artillery, High Point. His wife, Jennifer, is the daughter of Sylvia Eschebacher of Mocksville.

He earned a bachelor's degree in 1997 from the University of North Carolina, Wilmington, and earned a master's degree in 2004 from Appalachian State University, Boone.

Zachary Herion Takes USAF Basic Training At Lackland, Texas

Air Force Airman Zachary R. Herion has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is the son of Barry Herion of Cornatzer Road, Mocksville, and Rachel Herion of Spencer.

Herion is a 2003 graduate of North Rowan High School, Spencer.

Dusty Johnson Completes U.S. Marine Basic Training

Dusty L. Johnson, son of Mike and Emily Johnson of Mocksville and Donna White of St. Mary's, Ga., graduated on July 14 from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

He is a 2005 graduate of Davie High School. Johnson completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits physically and mentally. Johnson and other recruits in Golf Company began training each day at 5 a.m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics.

He spent numerous hours in the classroom and doing field assignments, which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training.

They performed close order drills and operated as a small infantry unit during field training. They received training in Marine core values - honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Johnson and fellow recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort and problem solving evolution. After graduating from Parris Island, Johnson is stationed at Camp Lejeune for combat training.

Help Is Out There

Single Mother Finds Programs For Sons - One With Special Needs

As a new resident of Davie County and a single parent of three children, Tammy Fletcher needed help.

Not just for her medically fragile, oldest child with developmental disabilities and deafness, but for her other two sons as well, children whose needs often took a backseat to their brother's demands.

Wouldn't it be a relief to talk with another parent who had faced challenges similar to hers? Where could her two younger sons meet kids whose siblings also had special needs?

As a caretaker, financial advisor and financially responsible adult for several family members with varying special needs, Debbie Booc devoted a significant amount of her household budget and personal time to meeting those needs. Attending an out-of-town conference was a dream yet to be fulfilled. Where could she find the money for the conference fee or an overnight trip to Raleigh?

Stephanie Ashby's son was born at 32 weeks and spent the next three weeks in the hospital. After surviving that ordeal, Stephanie received the news that her son was autistic. Like Tammy, Stephanie wanted to talk with another parent.

What do these stories have in common?

Each of these parents of children with special needs found answers to their questions and assistance in attaining their goals through the Family Support Network (FSN).

For Tammy, the Parent-to-Parent, matching program provided a Davie County contact to offer insights on the school district. SibShops gave her two sons a chance to interact with the brothers and sisters of children with a wide range of special needs. They could relax and talk freely with others who understood.

In Tammy's words, "SibShops have been great for Sam and David. Because my first son took up so much of my time and energy, I had been looking for something like SibShops their whole lives. They wouldn't miss those Friday nights."

For Debbie, the Family Support Network offered a stipend that enabled her to attend that long-awaited conference - a chance to expand her knowledge of new treatments and therapies for autism, and connect with other parents facing the same or similar dilemmas.

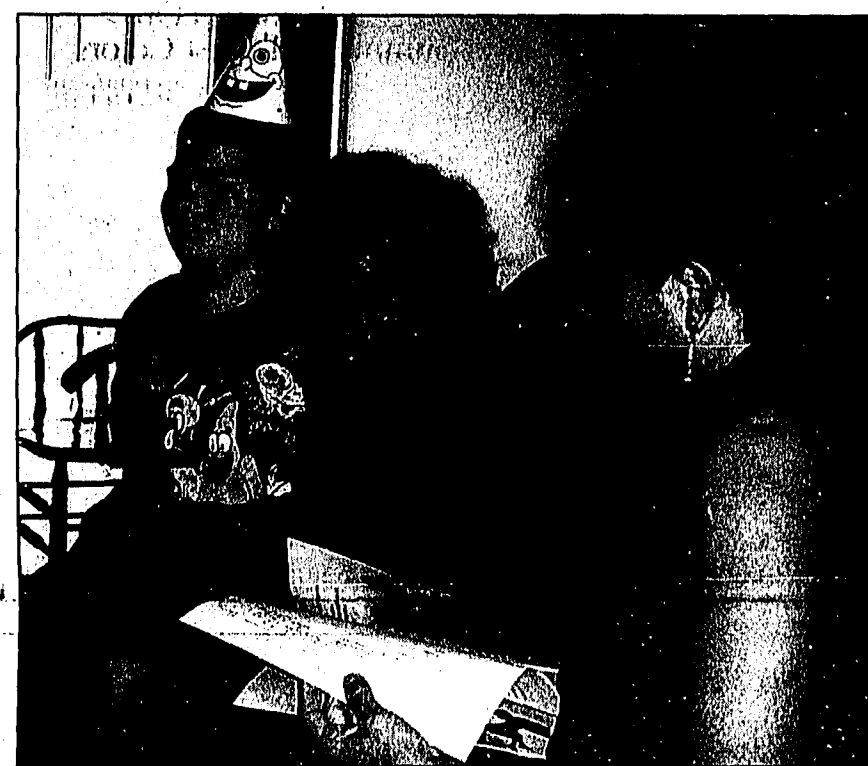

"Family Support Network allowed me to access further education for disabilities and to gain a renewed sense of energy as I approached day-to-day life," stated this grateful mother.

Stephanie heard of FSN's Parent-to-Parent program through the Children's Developmental Services Agency (CDSA), and was matched with a mom who answered many of her questions of what to expect with a diagnosis of autism.

Next, Stephanie received training through FSN to become a support parent. Since then, she has become an advocate for families, serving as a parent representative with the Regional Interagency Coordinating Council and as a board member of Triad First in Families, an organization that assists families of children with special needs, including those in Davie County.

Empowered by her activism, Stephanie helped found the Davie County chapter of the Autism Society of NC.

Family Support Network (FSN) of Greater Forsyth began as an outreach of the Special Children's School in 1987. Based on the core concept of families helping other families, it was initially known as Parents Together and became affiliated with the Family Support Network of North Carolina in 2003. This concept is an important part of a pilot project in which FSN has taken the lead.

Funds provided by the Family Support 360 Project (funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Administration on Developmental Disabilities) are making it possible for Family Support Network to implement a new program: OneStop for Strengthening Families.

"These additional funds will enable us to expand our services in Davie County," said Chris Gentry, program director. "We are truly excited about the possibilities."

The FSN staff can help families access community services and resources in and around Davie and Forsyth counties. FSN can direct families to agencies, trainings, workshops, advocacy groups and summer camps. They can assist in locating healthcare providers, counseling, childcare centers, legal assistance, substance abuse centers, and transportation.

"Every family is different and so are their needs. Many of our families just need to know where to turn," said Gentry. "As a OneStop project, we offer direction and support, with the goal of empowering them first to succeed in strengthening their own families and then to help others."

"Welcome to Holland" is a prose poem that has become popular among families of children with special needs. The words emphasize the unique possibilities rather than the disadvantages of finding yourself as a parent on this unexpected journey. OneStop for Strengthening Families can offer not just a roadmap for the journey, but also a companion to lead you when you feel most lost.

As these Davie families will attest, FSN contacts became a springboard to involvement in a network of support.

If you or someone you know has a child with a diagnosis of special medical, emotional, mental, physical or behavioral needs that are affecting the stability of the family, call Gentry at 924-5301, or visit www.fsgreaterforsthy.com.

WE ♥ BABIES.

Maternity Care From The Heart.

As a woman expecting or planning for a baby, you may already be familiar with "maternity care from the heart" because you saw it in your mother and grandmothers. Their love for their own or even someone else's baby was so tender and nurturing, you knew it had to come from their heart and soul.

But can you expect the same warm and caring nature from a trained medical professional? You can at Rowan Regional Medical Center. Our obstetrics area is staffed throughout with compassionate nurses who love babies. And that includes "your baby."

Along with their "baby love" comes their baby knowledge. In fact, every OB nurse at Rowan Regional is certified in fetal monitoring, neonatal resuscitation and Lamaze teaching.

Still, all of their training and knowledge isn't just for your baby. There is also you. And it is our nurses' care for your health and comfort, their listening to your concerns and answering your questions that you'll find invaluable, especially when you return home with your baby.

The Perfect Place To Have Your Baby. The New Women's And Children's Center At Rowan Regional Medical Center.

We made our new Women's And Children's Center beautiful, functional, spacious and filled with the latest innovations. Yet, the one thing we couldn't build in was "maternity care from the heart," but you'll find it here, thanks to our warm and caring nurses.

Meals On Wheels Drivers Needed

Go somewhere that really matters - to a homebound senior's house to deliver a hot, nutritious lunch.

Volunteer drivers are needed by Davie Senior Services. The volunteers deliver the lunch meal to seniors who can't cook for themselves. Volunteers work about an hour a day, and can work for one day a week, once a month ... or make their own schedule. They are reimbursed for mileage. For more information, call 751-0611.

Old-Time Mountain String Band To Play Her Saturday

The Roan Mountain Hilltoppers from Roan Mountain, Tenn. will be coming down the mountain to the Sheffield Music Hall this Saturday, July 29 at 7:30 p.m. to perform traditional and old-time music as well as dancing music.

This band is a Southern Appalachian traditional mountain music string band. Members have been carrying on a family tradition passed down for generations.

The band has performed at various venues, such as the American Folk Festival at the Smithsonian, Music Hall of Fame at Nashville, Tenn., 1982 World's Fair, theaters, fiddlers' conventions including (Mocksville) throughout the East Coast, festivals and dances.

The band has competed and won many awards and ribbons for the past 30 years.

"The Roan Mountain Hilltoppers delight their audiences in passing on the old-time mountain tunes to younger generations," said Jonathan Wishon.

The band consist of the following band members: Bill Birchfield, old-time fiddler; Amy Michels, banjo; Matt Kinman, guitar; Janice Birchfield, bass.

October Senior Trip To Roanoke Planned

Davie Senior Services is sponsoring a trip to Roanoke, Va. Oct. 19-21.

It will include visits to the D-Day Memorial in Bedford, Va. (Golf carts will be available for those with trouble walking), a comedy play and an outdoor drama at Natural Bridge; a Roanoke guided tour, the Roanoke Historic Market, museums, Mabry Mill on the way home, Nancy's Candy Co. (10% discount), two nights lodging and some meals. The trip is also designed to take advantage of the expected fall foliage display.

Rowan Regional Invites You To Our Eye-Opening Open House, August 6.

The New Patient Tower And Emergency Department At Rowan Regional Medical Center.

In the Women's and Children's Center, large Labor/Delivery and Postpartum rooms for new Moms.

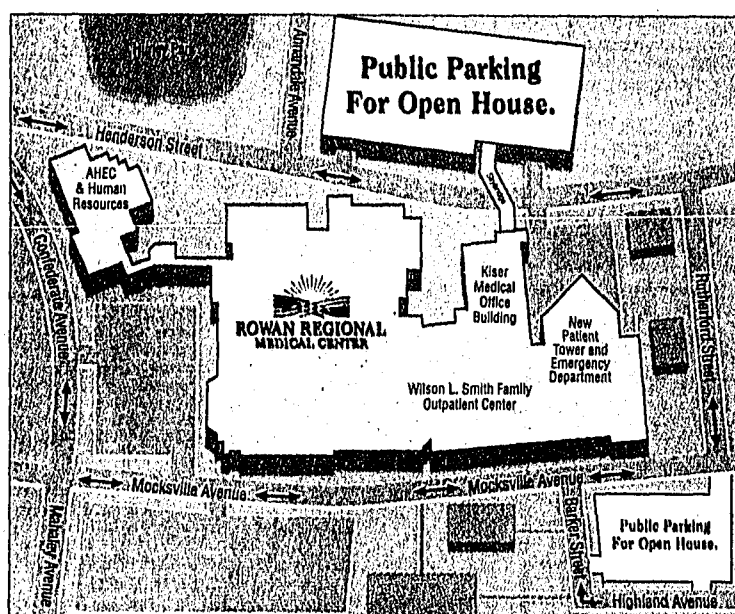

A brand new Nursery for our babies.

Radiology equipment for the new Emergency Department.

The latest treatment for trauma in the new Emergency Department.

What a showplace! From the impressive Emergency Department on the ground floor, to the private rooms and the Women's and Children's Center, right up to the helipad on the rooftop, the new Patient Tower at Rowan Regional Medical Center will greatly enhance patient care in our area.

Come and see for yourself. We'll be conducting guided tours during the big celebration from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. on Sunday, August 6. In a special area, you can enjoy some tasty food, live entertainment and a lot of fun for the whole family.

Don't miss this exciting event because our Open House opens a new era in healthcare for the community we serve.
