Oh, Deer
Animal Breaks
Through Glass
In Downtown Restaurant

Restaurant 101 on the square in Downtown Mocksville isn't open for breakfast.

Nobody told the deer.

Just before 9 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 28, an alarm went off at the closed business. Mocksville Police Officer Joey Reynolds arrived and found that a large glass window facing Main Street had been broken.

Officer Chris Hefner arrived soon thereafter, and saw the culprit inside the business from a rear door.

It was a deer that had jumped through the glass.

Business owners arrived and all doors were opened. The deer left through the front door and headed east - without breakfast.

DeCess On Cooleemee
ABC Board

COOLEEMEE - Cathy M. DeCess was appointed to the town's ABC Board last week, replacing Grimes Parker.

Commissioner Jean Snead made the motion to appoint DeCess.

Commissioner Chris Branham said that he supported Parker continuing to serve on the board. "The ABC Board has done great things in the past year and I'm not in favor of appointing someone other than Grimes," Branham said.

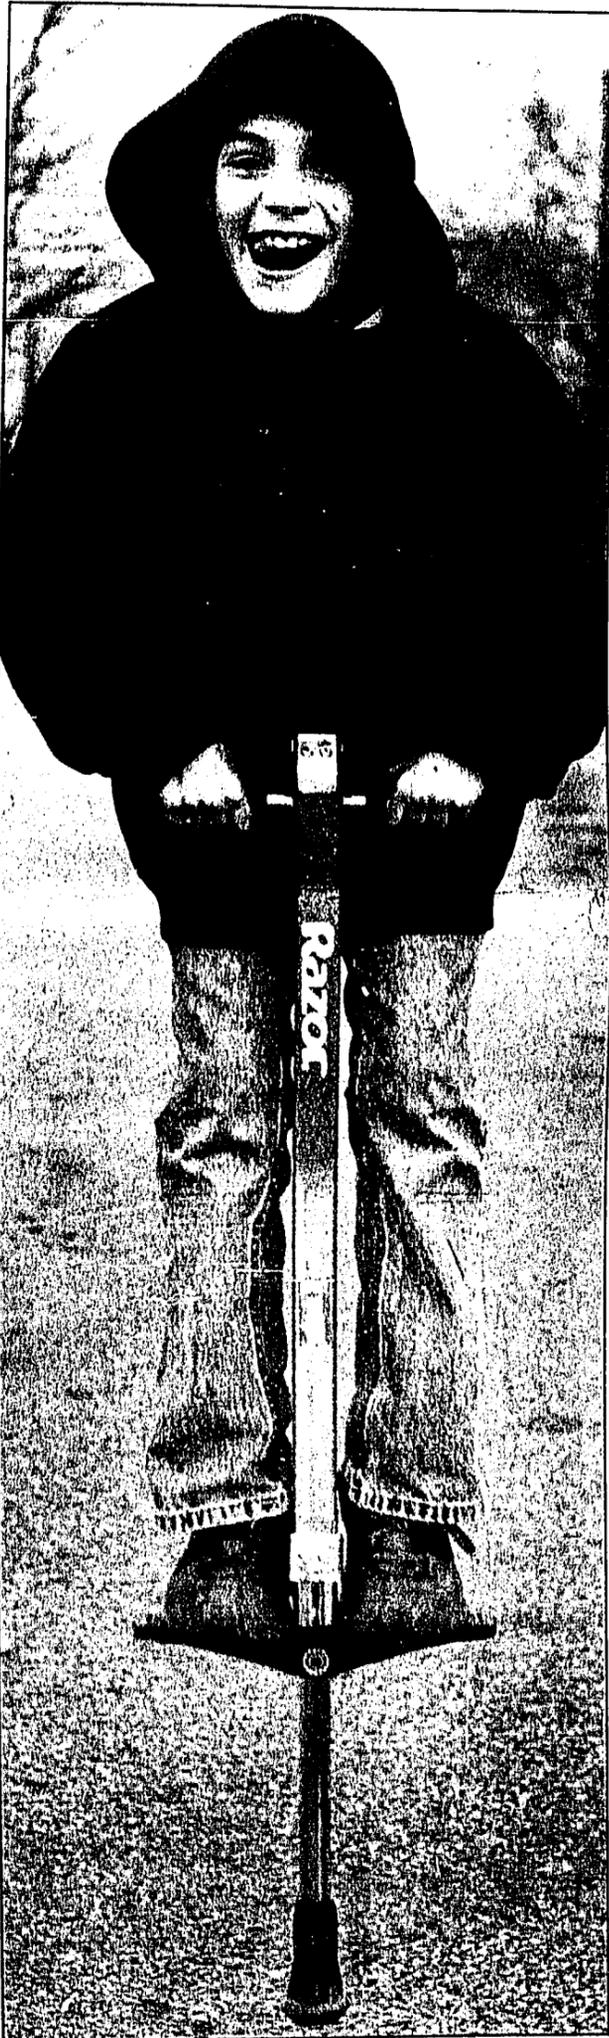

DeCess was appointed with two in favor and one opposed. Commissioner Chuck Taylor was not present.

County Attorney
Resigns

Davie is looking for a new county attorney.

Sally Smith resigned from the job, one she had held since 2007. She began providing legal services for the social services department in 1989.

"Sally Smith has provided valuable advice and wise counsel to the Davie County Board of Commissioners and county staff during her tenure," read a resolution that was presented to Smith in December. "(She has) maintained a high level of integrity and honesty in her work and communications with the Davie County Board of Commissioners, county staff and citizens."

Hoppy Holiday

Youngsters have been out of the house the last week and a half, trying out some of those new Christmas presents. Cooleemee correspondent K.C. Smith captured this image of a young man hopping along Davie Street on his new pogo stick. To see more photos of Cooleemee kids with their presents, please turn to page 8.

Police Department
Shake Up Leaves
Three Without Jobs

Three officers with the Mocksville Police Department were fired last week, leaving the force without the more than 40 years of combined experience.

Major Ken Hunter, Detective Jerry Medline and Lt. Rick Donathan were notified Thursday that they were employed at will, and that their employment was terminated.

Police Chief Robert Cook said it would be inappropriate to talk about a personnel decision. No reasons were given for the firings. The 22-person force will not have any trouble providing protection for town residents until the positions are filled, he said.

"The people who work here are stepping up to carry the load," Cook said. "We're working to keep the best department we can keep."

Hunter started working for Mocksville police in April 1985, Donathan in May of 1998 and Medlin in July of 2006.

Brian Myers
New Davie Tax Administrator

Brian Myers has been appointed Davie County Tax Administrator.

County commissioners made the decision at their December meeting. He replaces Jackie Hall, who resigned earlier in the year.

His term will expire on July 1, 2013.

"Brian, you made our job on the selection committee very easy," said board chair, Carl Humphrey, who served on the search committee with fellow board member Ken White.

They conducted 12 interviews for the job, and decided on Myers, who already worked in the tax office.

"He has a great attitude and accomplishments," Humphrey said. "It presented us with an opportunity (to prove) that there is an opportunity to advance here."

The vote was unanimous.

Myers' family was at the meeting, and White jokingly reminded them that 2012 is a tax re-valuation year, and it will not be an easy one.

Myers is a graduate of Western Carolina University.

Ballfields Still Occupy
Commissioners' Minds

There's a time during meetings of the Davie County Board of Commissioners for residents to speak.

And there's a time for commissioners.

Last month, Richard Poindexter went first.

What's new?

When it came the time in the monthly meeting for commissioner comments, newly-elected chair Carl Humphrey (Poindexter did not vote) looked to Poindexter and asked him to go first.

Poindexter said he expected it. He's been first for 12 straight nights, he said.

He congratulated Brian Myers on being named tax administrator, and praised water department employees for working on Thanksgiving Day.

Then he went into an ongoing dialogue he's been having with other commissioners.

"In the spirit of transparency," he said, all the facts weren't presented in a discussion about ballfields between Davie County Little League, North Davie Middle School and the Davie County Schools. The schools, he said, asked for a plan to send to the board of education.

"That doesn't appear to be stonewalled (Commissioner Mark Jones had used that term the previous month)," Poindexter said. "They were willing to help ... a sense of cooperation in the letter (from the schools to the little league.

"We all, especially in government, need to strive for accuracy," Poindexter said.

Jones had a reply, and admitted his word "stonewalled" may have been inappropriate.

The schools asked for an irrigated soccer field for North Davie Middle in exchange for use of land for more fields at the youth complex, Jones said.

"You can check your documents and do whatever you want to. I apologize for using the word stonewalling ... maybe I should have used the term bankrupted."

Jones then said it's time to move forward.

Humphrey also said it's time to put the issue to rest. "Let's work together," he said.

Princess Receives Tea During Visit For Christmas

Had Catherine, the Duchess of Cambridge, popped in during our low tea, she would have felt right at home. Long dresses. Elegant hats. Dainty biscuits that looked very much like Lorna Doones. And tea, of course, dahling.

Our guest of honor was "Princess Stephanie" of the Virginia colony, a/k/a Cayden Sparks, 3.

Twenty years in the planning, the tea party was a royal success.

It was 20 years ago that I gave Mary a tiny porcelain tea set for Christmas, vowing that one day our granddaughters would have tea parties with her elegant dolls.

Packed away after her death 16 years ago, the dolls and tea set awaited the new generation. With granddaughters now in place, the party was put in motion with their visit for Christmas. I had spotted a fancy flower girl's dress at my favorite consignment shop in Bixby along with billowing hats for four generations of Sparks ladies.

Little Cayden's eyes bulged when I opened the doll boxes. I bedecked her in Mary's jewelry, but in our haste we left the white gloves sitting on the counter.

The princess swooped into the room with elegance befitting her title to take tea.

Queen Elizabeth and her royal cousin, Dame Nancy Cherly, affected their best British accents and schooled Cayden in sticking out her pinky finger as she sipped tea. The guest of honor's mother, the Duchess of Round Hill, Susan, and great-grandmother, the Queen Mother Madeleine, enjoyed their biscuits and tea on the finest doll china, manufactured in Germany a generation ago. (Turns out its cheaper on eBay now than it was 20 years ago.)

Each of the guests received one of Mary's dolls as a companion to the tea. "Princess Stephanie" had all the Lorna Doones she could eat ... and marveled at grown-ups acting very, very silly.

Formally dressed Prince Michael and King Papa served, spilling only a little tea as their big, clumsy hands struggled to pour into tiny cups. Prince Paul served as royal photographer.

Oh, the fun we had. Having only raised boys, granddaughters are a new adventure.

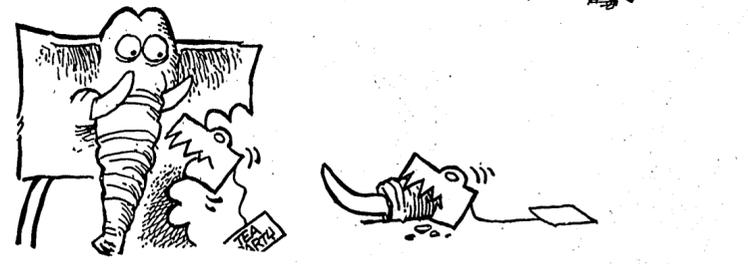

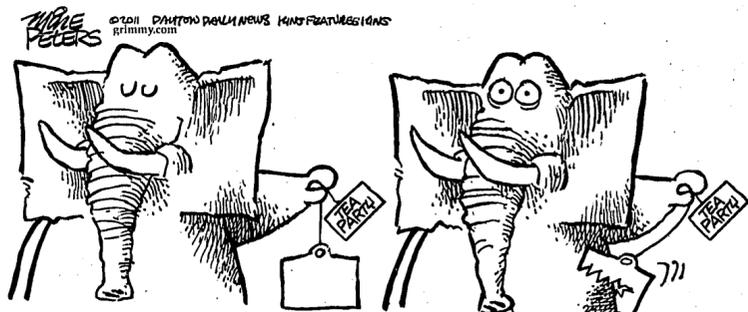

Chill In The Air

Unpleasantness blew in from the north on Monday, and I've been uncomfortable since then. Winter's no longer merely a date on the calendar. It's cold: 24 degrees Tuesday morning and expected to dip into the teens on Wednesday. The forecast is for a pleasant weekend, but the nice days are becoming more and more uncommon.

My ankles were cold. My hands. A heavy coat just didn't quite do the job.

Is it too early to wish for spring?

In The Mail ... The Editor Finally Understands

To the editor:

Wow, I think our esteemed editor finally understands what has been going on in Davie County and it only took 12 years. I am surprised, my shocked, that Dwight finally gets it. The Twelve Year War, as it was called in the last editorial. The "Few" who have been holding up so much progress, all in the name of 4A football and the Eastern part of the county not getting a new building, supposedly in the name of being fiscally conservative.

It was not too long ago that our editor was on the side of the "No New High School" folks. This so called "dust up" has been a dust storm for quite a while. Are you just now realizing the enormity of it? It has been a huge conspiracy from the South and Western sides of the county that has grown huge political wars. There is no telling how far up the political landscape it goes outside of Davie County. Maybe our editor will use his newspaperman skills to dig up all that has really gone on.

Maybe somebody with big money will want to relieve the wars on the entire County of Davie and will build a nice private school or charter school in the Eastern Davie County area? The "Few" could not stop Baptist Hospital from coming to Advance in the near future. Hopefully they would not be able to stop private money from building a school. The doctors and nurses that will soon come to our area with new hospitals coming to Advance and Clemmons will have children and will want great education in a convenient area.

One high county high school between Coolee and Mocksville is not convenient for most of the county, just a few.

Winter Weather Tips

Public Works Department offers the following precautions to help you keep the water flowing this winter.

- Insulate pipes or faucets in unheated areas. Pipes in unheated garages, crawl spaces, under the house, or in the attic should be wrapped with insulation before cold weather arrives.
- Seal access doors, air vents and cracks. Close openings where winter winds could blow over exposed pipes. Do not obstruct air vents needed by your furnace or water heater for proper combustion.
- Locate your master shut off valve. If a pipe bursts anywhere in your house, use the master shut off valve to stop the water supply.
- Take special precautions when temperatures are low. Leave sink cabinet doors open when temperatures drop. If you are away for several days, leave the heat on in your house while you are away.
- Disconnect and drain outdoor hoses. This allows water to drain and prevents the faucet or hose from bursting during a hard freeze. This is also true for backflow prevention assemblies (BPA's). Make sure all BPA's are properly insulated to protect them from cold air.

FOG Alert

FATS, OILS AND GREASE ACCUMULATIONS CAN BLOCK YOUR PRIVATE PLUMBING SYSTEM AS WELL AS PUBLIC SEWERS. Both residential and business customers can help prevent wastewater overflows by minimizing the amount of FOG disposed of through plumbing drains.

Inside a sewer, fats, oils and grease change to a plaster-like consistency and can block the pipes, causing an overflow of untreated wastewater. At home, you can dispose of normal cooking oil and grease by putting it in a container as part of your solid waste rather than through your sink and plumbing drain. Wiping and scraping pots, pans and other utensils before washing them are important steps in proper grease disposal. If your business generates waste grease, fats or oil, you should have a grease interception system that works effectively. A company that recycles fats, oils and grease should regularly clean out the grease trap.

Town residents may report street light outages directly to Duke Energy or you may contact the Town Hall and we will be glad to report the outages for you. 753-6700. When reporting an outage, it is necessary to have the closest street address to the light.

County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

This is the first week of 2012 and perhaps many New Year's resolutions have already been broken. County Liners have hunkered down for our first really cold spell. With a high temperature of only 35 degrees plus 18-22 mph winds Tuesday, it is really too cold for anything except eating and church services. We are looking forward to warmer days this weekend.

Piney Grove AME Zion Church will have a pork barbecue and barbecued chicken fundraiser Jan. 6-7. Plates will also include baked beans, slaw, dessert, and bread for $8. Serving each day will begin around 10:30 a.m., eat in or take out. Proceeds will benefit church projects.

The United Methodist Women of Clarksbury will meet at Wanda Jones: The loss of jobs and food prices going up were bad in 2011, but I'm thankful our customers were loyal. In 2012 I'm hoping prices will stay stable or come down and the year will be better.

Embrace of Society Baptist will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 12, in the fellowship hall and invite others. Upcoming community events include a soup and game night sponsored by Society Baptist Church at 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 20; country ham and sausage breakfast sponsored by the Salem United Methodist Men at the County Line VFD Saturday, Jan. 28; gospel singing at 7 p.m. at Society Baptist Church Sunday, Jan. 29; and a V-point Ruritan country ham and sausage breakfast at the V-Point Building Saturday, Feb. 4.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Nora McDaniel Koozts, who died Tuesday last week in Salisbury. She was born in 1919 in Rowan County to the late Albert E. and Hattie McDaniel and was reared in the Scotch-Irish community of Rowan. She married Foley Thomas "Tom" Koozts of Ketchie Creek Lane off Ridge Road, and the couple made their home nearby on Ridge Road and attended Salem Methodist. The couple moved to a farm on nearby Little Creek Lane off Ridge before moving to western Rowan near Cleveland in the late 1950s. A former textile worker and beautician, she was retired from Belks Department Stores as a seamstress. She was a member of Cleveland Presbyterian Church. A graveside service was held Friday morning at Rowan Memorial Park and she was laid to rest beside her beloved husband Tom, who preceded her in death in September 1975.

We send get-well wishes to Karen Josey, Mary Anna McDaniel, and Barry Wilson. Karen had foot surgery last week and is recuperating at home. Barry was rushed by ambulance Thursday evening to Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center and is in intensive care there. Esther Campbell remains in rehab at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Ernest Seamon remains in rehab at Davie County Hospital. Lois Harris, Howard Safriet, and Helen Steele remain in rehab at Autumn Care of Mocksville.

Join us in prayer for the Lord's divine healing and blessings upon Karen, Mary Anna, Barry, Esther, Ernest, Lois, Howard, Helen, and others who are experiencing health problems. Pray for the Lord's comfort and strength upon Nora's family as they adjust to life without her. Also, remember in prayer Mollie Jo Smith McClamrock in the death of her daughter Janet Carter Bates of Advance.

This first week of January is a good time to reflect upon the past year and to look forward to the new year. My mother's falling and getting a compression fracture in her back in June impacted me most in 2011. She seemed to lose her upbeat spirit and, at times, I did not think she would make it through the summer but am thankful she is better today. Many years ago my late pastor Dr. Mark Cortis said each year we should reflect and strive to be more in the image of Jesus Christ. Since then, that has always been a hope of mine for the new year.

Since opening in 2003 Diane's Diner, now operated by Wanda Jones and sister Barbie, has been a popular gathering place in County Line for a weekday meal. Now it's open for Sunday dinner at church. This week I asked some folks there what impacted them most in 2011 and what were their hopes for 2012. Included are comments from three County Liners.

Here's hoping 2012 will be a better year for you and will meet your hopes for the new year.

Sheffield-Calahan News

By Brenda Bailey
Sheffield-Calahan Correspondent

As New Year's Eve brought a close to 2011, JoAnn Renegar said good-bye to managing the Sheffield Music Hall after four years. There was much joy and sadness at the music hall on Saturday night as friends gathered for what they thought was the last time they would be able to enjoy the music and fellowship that they looked forward to for so many years. The music hall has provided good music, friends and a family atmosphere for many years.

Many of those that attended have been coming here since John Henry and Ethel Reeves opened it in the late 1990s. JoAnn's grand-daughter, Joanna Pierce, has been coming to the music hall since she was 4, and if you haven't seen her dance, then you've missed one fantastic clogger.

Polly Thompson and Carl Jolly have been a blessing to JoAnn and the music hall. Polly has made many of the cakes for the cakewalk over the years and they have taken care of the cakewalk and 50/50 drawings each week. There are many others who have helped, too many to list.

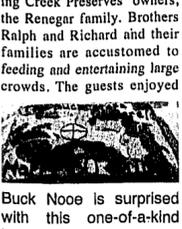

JoAnn thanks everyone for the love and support they have shown over these past years, an everyone thanks JoAnn for providing some of the best bluegrass talent in the area each week for their listening and dancing pleasure. We all love you, JoAnn.

Helping to bring in the New Year on Saturday night was John Hill and Friends and S.T. Snow and Friends playing a mixture of bluegrass, country and gospel music.

An announcement was made at the New Year's Eve party by John Henry Reeves that the Sheffield Music Hall would continue to be open on Saturday nights. He looks forward to seeing you this week.

Sheffield's Chris and Janice Jordan, along with Wayne and Barbara Sloan, were among the crowd of well-wishers at the surprise 60th birthday party held for Buck Nooe on Wednesday, Dec. 28, at Hunting Creek Preserve in Harmony. Buck, who is employed at the popular hunting business and is a fixture there six days a week, was kept in the dark about the event until the last minute. It was no small feat for his daughter, Megan Speaks, and several other family members, to make arrangements for the gathering without raising Buck's suspicion. Much of the help came from Hunting Creek Preserves' owners, the Renegar family. Brothers Ralph and Richard and their families are accustomed to feeding and entertaining large crowds. The guests enjoyed barbecued chicken and chopped pork with potato salad and baked beans. Banana pudding and the customary birthday cake were offered, except the cake was far from ordinary. As large as a good sized table, the cake was hand decorated and was part chocolate and part vanilla, all with a hand drawn scene noting that "The Buck stops here". The icing was camouflage, highlighted with a deer caught in the sight of a rifle. Buck is always outgoing and can be the life of a party or any other situation. Although some of his closest friends told tales in their attempt to make the evening a roast, he handled all of it in stride and told a few things on himself.

James Baptist Church gathered for fun and games on New Year's Eve. All ages enjoyed snacks and sweets as games were played and everyone enjoyed being with friends. Jamie White led everyone in prayer as we thanked God for the past year and gave the New Year to Him, to be lived for His glory.

Each Wednesday night is family night at Liberty Wesleyan. A meal is shared at 6:15 pm and then Bible Studies begin at 7.

Hey Kid's meets each Wednesday evening from 6:30-8 at New Union UMC. Children ages up to 17 years are invited to an evening of activities (puppets, movies, crafts, music), Bible teachings and fellowship.

The Sheffield-Calahan VFD meetings are held each Monday night at the station at 7.

The next monthly meeting at the Sheffield-Calahan Community Center will be held Thursday, Jan. 5 at 7 p.m. Everyone is invited.

The next Game Night at the Sheffield-Calahan Community Center and Recreation Area is scheduled for Jan. 20 at 7, with doors opening at 6 for concessions. It will consist of bingo, cakewalk, 50/50 drawing and a chance at a grand prize. The charge for bingo will be $5 per card good for 20+ games. The cake walks, 50/50 drawing and the chance on the grand prize are $1 per ticket. Mark your calendar for this fun event.

Birthday wishes go to all those celebrating a birthday: Jim Reilly, Ethan Frye, Terry Braeken, Frankie Swain and Robin Smith on Jan. 5; Bradley Pevette, Clinton Cave and Jamie White on Jan. 6; Tim Ferguson and Sydney White on Jan. 7; Jeremy Johnson, Lane Hill, Hazel P. Frye and Christine Dyson on Jan. 8; Lucas Reeves and Brent Smith on Jan. 9; Elizabeth Moore and Tara Wooten on Jan. 10; and Wayne Swisher on

3 Shots Refuse To Fall In Moir Finals

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

SALISBURY - There's a sound fans make when they are apart of something special, and fans made that distinct roar when Davie's Cody Martin put in a go-ahead basket with 31 seconds left in the championship game of the Sam Moir Christmas Classic at Catawba College on Dec. 29.
Fans made the sound when North Rowan's Oshon West nailed a 16-footer with 6.4 seconds left to put North in front by one.
The championship between the top seeds was an incredible game. With a standing-room-only crowd on hand in the 2,600-seat Goodman Gymnasium, North was the last team standing after a series of knockdown punches by both sides. The second-seeded Cavaliers escaped 60-59, North (9-2) won three games in three days despite entering the tournament on a two-game slide. The defending 1-A state champ celebrated the Moir title for the first time since 2000.
"Any time you win a championship, it's an awesome feeling," North coach Andrew Mitchell said. "And to beat a team the quality of Davie County, that makes it a whole lot better."
In the waning seconds, Cody Martin attacked the lane and had a good look at the hoop, only to watch the shot roll off. Nate Jones tipped the ball but missed. Then Shannon Dillard's tip refused to fall.
The game went about as well as could be expected for the War Eagles, considering the opponent was North and they were playing without No. 2 scorer Caleb Martin, who was injured in the semifinals and will be out about six weeks.
No. 1 Davie slipped to 10-2 with its first loss in nine games. It narrowly missed its first Moir triumph since 2004.

SALISBURY - Nate Jones couldn't play while serving a suspension, but everyone knew the Davie boys basketball team would be without its top scorer. Seven minutes into the game, Davie suffered an unexpected loss as Caleb Martin, Davie's No. 2 scorer, limped off the court with a foot injury.
That meant there were 41 points per game sitting on the Davie bench (Jones averages 25.8, Caleb 15.2).
The War Eagles needed something big to happen to overcome the personnel losses and West Rowan in the semifinals of the Sam Moir Christmas Classic at Catawba College on Dec. 28. Several big things indeed happened. The War Eagles put on their hard hats, grabbed their lunch pails, circled the wagons and came together for a thrilling 70-66 victory.

Center Shannon Dillard came through for a season-high 26 points and recorded his seventh double-double in 11 games.
Sophomore forward Cody Martin poured in a career-high 23 points.

Sophomore guard Peyton Sell came off the bench to replace Caleb and delivered a season-high 14 points.
And sophomore forward Kenyon Tatum pulled down a game-high 13 rebounds while starting in place of Jones.
Top-seeded Davie, which received a first-round bye on Dec. 27, improved to 10-1 with its eighth straight win. No. 4 West fell to 6-5 and lost to Davie for the fifth time in a row, including the third time this season.
"If we weren't mentally tough, we weren't going to win that contest,"

Davie coach Mike Absher said. "Good teams learn how to win games like that. We knew we were going to be without Nate and we'd had plenty of practice time for that. Caleb's injury was obviously something you don't plan for, but our guys really stepped up, and hopefully that will help us down the road when people come off the bench."
With the 2,600-seat gymnasium packed, Cody took center stage. He was outrageously impressive in the first half. He scored 10 first-quarter points to stake Davie to a 14-10 lead. He was Please See Share - Page B5

Worth Noting ...

Davie o-lineman Cole Blankenship was named to the AP All-State football team, becoming Davie's first selection in six years and the first junior named in 11 years. He was also named to the All-Northwest team.
Behind Shannon Dillard (26 points, 10 rebounds), Cody Martin (23 points, five 3s), Peyton Sell (14 points) and Kenyon Tatum (13 rebounds), the Davie boys overcame two missing starters and beat W. Rowan 70-66 in the semifinals of the Moir Christmas Classic.
The Davie boys lost 60-59 to N. Rowan in the Moir championship game despite 30 points from Nate Jones.
Amy Steller of Davie's varsity girls hit four 3-pointers and scored 19 points in a 47-38 loss to W. Rowan in the first round of the Moir Christmas Classic.
Sydney Wooten of Davie's varsity girls hit six 3-pointers and scored 21 points in a 73-56 loss to E. Rowan. Steller (19 points) scored 18-plus for the eighth straight game.
Trevor Albarron (113), Parker Grant (120) and Mick Spillman (182) added 4-0 marks as Davie wrestling picked up five wins at E. Burke.

Wrestling 19-1 Despite Struggles

To say this has been a frustrating season for Davie wrestling coach Buddy Lowery would be an understatement. There have been countless injuries. As soon as one wrestler heals up, another goes down. In other words, if something can go wrong, it will.
Amazingly, the struggles to keep the lineup healthy are not reflected in the win-loss record. Davie entered the week 19-1 after sweeping the field in the Adam Benson Duals at East Burke.
But Lowery's frustration is ready to boil over.
"I can't keep them well," he said. "Cameron Beck (the starter at 220) is in a neck brace. (Alex Costner, an injured starter who is 8-2) is probably not coming back. He tore a ligament in his thumb."

It's been a bumpy road, the peak of Davie's frustration coming in the King of the Mat tournament at North Davidson before Christmas. The War Eagles had voids in three weight classes and managed just 33 points to finish 29th out of 35 teams.
Davie was a shell of itself. Take this into account: North Rowan was sixth with 100 points, and Davie beat North 36-34 earlier this season. Lake Norman was 10th at 85 points, and Davie beat Lake Norman 34-29 earlier this season. North Davidson was 12th with 76 points, and Davie always manhandles the Black Knights in the Central Piedmont Conference. Scotland County was 22nd with 50.5 points, and Davie thumped Scotland 66-18 earlier this season.
Lake Billings was the only placer and Grant posted four pins each.

Ryan Smith (126) and Alex Gobble (182) also sizzled with 4-0 marks. Three of Gobble's victories were pins.
Billings (106), Whitaker (138), Trevon Faulkner (160) and Jack Robertson (195) had 4-1 records.
Austin Whitaker (152), who came in 2-0 in limited varsity action, picked up three wins in four tries. Logan Carter went 2-2 at 132.
Daniel Wilson (145) went 2-1. T.J. Freidt (145) was 1-1. Five War Eagles had pins in their only appearances, including Jamie Spry (152), Cameron Coleman (132), Bobby Sweet (195), Bailey Ingram (126) and Parker Correll (220). It was the varsity debuts for freshmen Sweet and Correll, who became the 28th and 29th War Eagles Please See 19-1 - Page B2

Blankenship Named To All-State Team

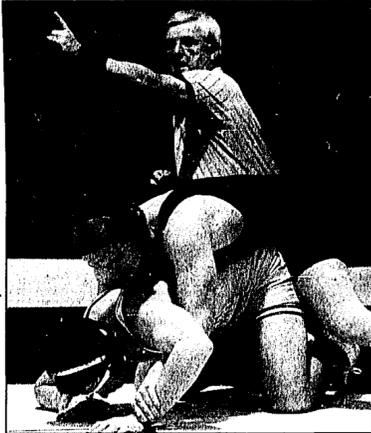

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Davie offensive tackle Cole Blankenship, a massive mauler at 6-3 and 285 pounds, made The Associated Press All-State football team as a junior. That's a stirring achievement as Blankenship is just the second Davie junior to ever make the team.
He is the 11th War Eagle to be selected and the first in six years. But linebacker Patrick Lowery, who went on to anchor the defense at N.C. State, was the only other junior named from Davie. Lowery was all-state in 2000 and 2001.

"Cole tries to finish blocks, and that's really catching people's eyes," Davie coach Doug Illing said. "He's not a lazy offensive lineman that's blocking and then looking for the ball. He blocks and tries to just bury his guy. Some linemen will block and then start looking for the ball."
The only other player from the Central Piedmont Conference who cracked the 27-player team was West Forsyth senior Alex McCallister, a 6-7, 220-pound defensive end.
Blankenship graded out at 88 percent, delivered 23 pancake blocks and helped the War Eagles average 5.7 yards per rush.

"Coach (Jimmy) Welch separates a knockdown block from a pancake block," Illing said. "In a pancake block, his back is on the ground. It's not where you hit somebody and they just fall down. You actually flatten them on their back."
Blankenship was also named to the Winston-Salem Journal's All-Northwest team. He is being recruited by Duke, Virginia Tech, Wake Forest, West Virginia and North Carolina, among others.
"He's doing good in the class room," Illing said. "I think GPA-wise he's going to be in good shape. Duke and North Carolina came by before Christmas. They're recruiting him hard. Coach (David) Cutcliffe (of Duke) came by to see him. When the head coach comes by to see you, that's usually pretty good."

The War Eagles tied Mt. Tabor for first in the CPC, but Davie only landed one on the All-Northwest team while Tabor, Reynolds and West Forsyth had two selections each. The obvious omission was Davie senior quarterback/ Please See Blankenship - Page B3 to get on the varsity mat. Coleman and Ingram had seen little varsity time.

Notes: If Beck is out for a while, at least Lowery has options. "The good thing about it is, I can put Craig Moore or Correll in there," he said. "We're going to live with it." ... Lowery is approaching the 700 milestone. His record entering Jan. 5's home matches against Reynolds and Reagan is 699-99 in 36 years, good for an .875 winning percentage. The action will start at 6 p.m. ... Davie's top records: Albarron 25-7, G. Whitaker 24-9, Billings 24-13, Faulkner 21-6, Mick Spillman 18-11, Robertson 17-13, Smith 16-6, Beck 16-11 and Gobble 14-4.

Freidt Wins JV Tournament

The Davie JV wrestling team placed third out of 14 teams in a tournament at Reynolds. The only teams to finish ahead of Davie were Southeast Guilford and Rock Hill (S.C.).

"We did pretty good," coach Mike Dunn said after Davie captured 38 of 68 individual matches. "We only took freshmen and four or five sophomores, but a lot of those teams brought juniors and seniors. There was a team from Virginia, and their 170-pounder was a senior. He was good, too. He shouldn't have been in that tournament. But so be it. We took freshmen and sophomores. We did it the way you're supposed to."

T.J. Freidt was the star for Davie, going 4-0 with four pins at 145. The sophomore dropped down from varsity in hopes of picking up some momentum. He did that and then some.

"He needed that," Dunn said. "He's been kind of down about the way he's been wrestling, so we decided to take him over there and get his confidence built back up some. He met some good competition. He just wrestled a lot better."

Freshmen Preston Beauchamp, Josh McCrary and Bobby Sweet each finished second in their respective weight classes. Beauchamp went 3-1 in a 17-deep weight class at 126. McCrary went 2-1 in an 11-deep field at 195, and Sweet went 2-1 in a nine-deep bracket at 220.

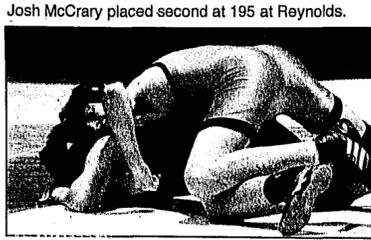

"Beauchamp had a good tournament," Dunn said. "Sweet had a great day."

Bailey Ingram went 3-1 to finish third out of 15 wrestlers in his weight class. Jamie Spry went 4-1 to place third out of 12.

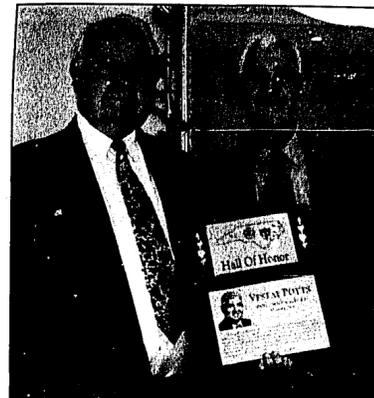

Ryan Robinson, Javon Adkins and Craig Moore were fourth-place finishers. Robinson was fourth out of 12. He could not compete for third because of an injury.

Josh McCrary placed second at 195 at Reynolds.

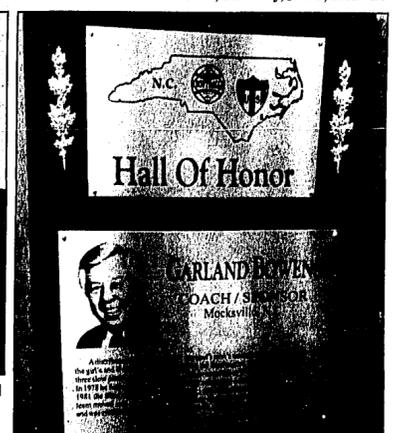

Preston Beauchamp was second at 126 at Reynolds.

Vestal Potts, Garland BOWENS In Softball Hall Of Honor

Vestal Potts of Advance and the late Garland BOWENS were named to the North Carolina Softball Hall of Honor. Potts was honored for his meritorious service to the game, and BOWENS was named in the sponsor/coach category. They were formally inducted at a banquet on Oct. 14 at the Alamance Country Club in Burlington.

Sam Hancock submitted the following tribute of BOWENS to the hall of fame committee:

BOWENS was a distributor for Borden Dairy Products in Mocksville. He had a passion for softball. He freely gave of his resources to support men's, women's and girls' slow-pitch softball. Although BOWENS provided total financial support for teams, the most valuable resource that he provided was his time and leadership. He served as sponsor, manager and coach for teams beginning in 1970.

The Borden's and Bordenettes' names became synonymous with high-quality competitive softball. In 1971 the Borden's girls team won the league's regular-season and tournament championships while achieving a record of 35-8. There were many seasons that BOWENS sponsored three softball teams. He provided for everything. He paid the entry fees, ho-lets, transportation, meals, bats, balls, bags, gloves and all of the equipment for the team. He told his players that he wanted them to focus on playing softball and he would take care of everything else. Players understood BOWENS' passion and did not abuse or take advantage of his generosity. Players gave him their very best effort because he gave so much of himself to them.

In 1978 BOWENS formed a 15-under girls slow-pitch team called the Bordenettes. This team stayed together more than 10 years and are known as the greatest women's softball team and coach in Davie County history. There were ASA state champions in 1978. In 1981 it won the ASA state title again in the 18-under division. BOWENS and the Bordenettes played quality softball and a lot of it. They loved ASA softball, but BOWENS would take his teams anywhere he could find competitive tournaments. One season they went 98-20, with a record of 21-0 in the Smith Grove League.

BOWENS recruited players from successful Davie High teams and ventured to Forsyth County to find some of the players that comprised a team that was loaded with talent. There was no age discrimination on BOWENS' teams. If a girl could play, she could be a Bordenette. He would tell his girls: "You know what to do. You are all good players. Just do it."

In winning the 1978 ASA 15-under title, 13-year-old Sharma Dulin was voted the tournament MVP. Leisa Hepler was 14 playing with girls four years older when the team won the ASA state championship in 1981.

BOWENS had a positive impact on the umpires and administrators of leagues and tournaments where his teams competed. ASA umpire Herman Evans recalled the times that BOWENS would arrive at a facility with his team. He would introduce himself to the administration of the tournament and make it known that if there was any problem he would handle it. He would set up a table at the concession stand for his team. When they hit the field, BOWENS would greet the umpires in a positive manner.

Evans said: "He was a great coach and stood up for his girls. He knew the rules and expected the umpires to know them and apply them correctly."

BOWENS was a Sunday School teacher and member of the choir at Cornatzer United Methodist Church. He did not neglect the spiritual needs of his teams when they were on the road. He would have church services at his hotel room. Players would be there by 10 a.m. and BOWENS would lead them in singing hymns, and he would read versus of scripture.

One of his former players, Deanna Thomas-Randolph, wrote in a tribute to BOWENS: "Garland led us to many championships, not only as ballplayers but as 'daughters' in the game of life. Everyone was treated the same, always respectfully and always provided for. No one was more important than the other. Tournaments took us away on numerous weekends, but we were protected by that strong BOWENS arm. Those Sunday mornings brought us together in prayer and song, as we gathered in a motel room - parents, players and guests. Those few moments of praise with Garland had more meaning to me than the longest sermon and helped make us winners."

In 1988 the Bordenette era was coming to a close, as some of the ladies were getting married and concentrating on their families. The team was still very strong and flexed their collective muscles one last time by winning the USSA World Championship in Knoxville, TN. The team won the title with only 10 players. BOWENS tried to keep the team going in Mocksville, but it wasn't the same. The local teams did not want to play the Bordenettes because they did not have a chance against them.

In 1994, Ronnie Smith, owner of R&J Sports in Mocksville, was quoted in the Davie County Enterprise Record as saying: "Garland should be in a hall of fame somewhere. Garland started girls softball in this area long before other parts of the nation. He was Mr. Softball in this area."

Hancock sport to Smith on Feb. 19, 2009. Fifteen years later, Smith expressed that he still feels the same. He said he knows of no one before or since who has shown the passion for the game of softball that BOWENS had. He said "softball was Garland's life." Smith recalled having his own 12-under team that qualified for a regional tournament, and they were trying to raise funds to secure a bus to take the team to the tournament in another state. Although BOWENS was supporting three teams, he made a significant contribution to help these young girls take their dream trip.

BOWENS included his two daughters in his passion for softball. Garlene was a bit girl for teams in the early '70s. Both Lu-

Vada and Garlene played on their father's teams. The Bordenettes had a faithful following. Parents and friends would follow the team to watch their games and support the girls. They had one "super fan" by the name of Jeeter Cheek. Cheek was an elderly gentleman who loved the team and never missed a game if possible. Often, when the team would travel, they would swing by and pick up Cheek. BOWENS would pay for his room, too. On the occasion of Cheek's 88th birthday, the team threw him a surprise party.

BOWENS died in 1994 of cancer at the age of 66. Just a few weeks prior to his death, the Bordenettes teams held a reunion dinner at a steak house in Mocksville. The team had a chance to tell stories and catch up on old times. You can imagine how proud BOWENS was to see the outstanding individuals that so many years before he put together on a ball field as the Bordenettes. They were more than just a team, and BOWENS was more than just a coach. He was a true ambassador of softball for North Carolina.

At least 11 of the Bordenettes went on to play in college. Although many players played for other teams later in life, they will always be Bordenettes.

Dillon Signs Golf Scholarship With Pfeiffer

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Tommy Dillon signed a golf scholarship to Pfeiffer University. That's quite an achievement. Consider this: Chris Callison has been coaching golf at Davie for six years, and Dillon is the first to land a scholarship.

"He's done a lot of firsts since he's been at Davie - the first college golf scholarship, the first hole-in-one (last year in the Central Piedmont Conference Tournament at Wilshire) and things like that," Callison said. "As a ninth grader he was able to get into the lineup and play in several of the conference matches. So he's had ability his whole time here, and it's just gotten better each year." As a sophomore in 2010, Dillon finished sixth in the CPC. He took 15th in the Midwest Regional after firing a 78, and he followed that with a solid 83-80—163 in the state meet at Pinehurst No. 8.

Dillon raised his game a few more notches in the spring of 2011, shooting between 33-39 in nine of Davie's 14 nine-hole meets and finishing fourth in the CPC. His top performances: 1-under 35 at Winston Lake and 3-under 33 at Oak Valley.

Down the stretch when teams played 18 holes, Dillon shot a 6-over 78 at Forest Oaks and a 1-over 72 at Wilshire. In the state meet at Pinehurst No. 6, he showed marked improvement from the year before, turning in 74-79—153.

Dillon's spring and summer days as a youngster were filled by baseball. He took up golf as a freshman, and there's little wonder he became a standout. His father, Stacy Dillon, played college golf at High Point.

What separates Dillon from others is he's solid in all phases of the game.

"He's not real long off the tee, but he's consistent off the tee," Callison said. "He's dedicated and works on all parts of his game. He's not one that just goes to the range and tries to impress people with how far he can hit the ball. He works on his mid-irons, he works on his short irons and he takes his time on the putting green. You can't say that he has a weakness. It's kind of unusual for a high-school golfer to be able to say that he's fairly consistent in all phases of the game. He can hit the ball off the tee, he can play his iron shots and he can putt."

Pfeiffer's coach began talking to Dillon last summer. He was also being recruited by Appalachian State and UNC-Greensboro.

"I played in a bunch of tournaments, I went to visit and they offered me," Dillon said.

Three players finished ahead of Dillon in the 2011 CPC race. Two of them graduated. The only returner who outplayed Dillon is from Reynolds.

"I hope to win the conference.

That's my goal," he said. "The player from Reynolds was like one or two shots (better)."

Seniors Ryan Foster and Corey Randall signed baseball scholarships to Division I schools. The signing day was held in the Davie library in November.

Foster and Randall had superb junior seasons to help the War Eagles win 22 of 25 games.

Randall, who hit 412 with eight homers and 26 RBIs to go with a 5-0 pitching record and 2.06 ERA, signed with UNC Asheville. He has been named a scholar athlete for the past three years.

"Corey is a two-way guy that we expect a lot from," UNC-

Asheville coach Tom Smith said. "He has some power at the plate and a very good arm. Corey is athletic, and we really like his upside and what he will bring to the program both on the mound and at the plate."

As a junior, Foster went 9-2 with a 1.60 ERA as the ace of Davie's staff. He also hit .350 with three homers and 24 RBIs. He was among 11 players who signed with UNC-Williamson.

ImpactBaseball.com ranks Foster 34th in its top-50 state rankings.

"Each one of these players has an opportunity to contribute to the success of the program when they set foot on campus," 21st-year UNCW coach Mark Scalf said. "This is a deep and talented class."

cornerback Adam Smith, who was jaw droppingly good as a 48-minute iron man.

Smith completed 109 of 202 passes for 1,917 yards, with 18 touchdown passes and three interceptions. He didn't throw a pick in the last 10 games. On top of that, he rushed for 771 yards and averaged 6.5 yards per rush to lead Davie to 8-4.

The quarterback selected over Smith was West Stokes senior Austin Fleming, who won hearts by leading the Wildcats to the 2A state championship and a 16-0 record.

"West Stokes' run to the state championship caught a lot of coaches' eyes," Illing said. "I think Adam was deserving to be on that All-Northwest team, but (Fleming) and the playoff run they had caught a lot of people's eyes and he took that spot. But I feel like Adam was good enough as an athlete to be on there somewhere, either as a DB or just as an athlete."

Matt Winger Named To Youth All-America Bowl

Matt Winger, 11, of Advance, has been named to the third-annual Offense-Defense Youth All-American Bowl.

Winger, a running back/defensive back for Shady Grove's varsity football team, will join dozens of peers in an East-West clash as part of a week of events leading up to the nationally-telvised, sixth-annual Offense-Defense All-American Bowl, a football game of similar format showcasing 80 of the top high-school seniors in the country.

The event will take place in Cowboys Stadium in Arlington, Texas.

"We run that play a lot in practice," Davie coach Mike Absher said of the final 6.4 seconds. "I told Cody: 'Don't be afraid to drive it all the way.' The play was for Nate in the corner, too, but Cody got right into the paint. We got two tips after that, and that's all you can ask for."

It was a gripping game to watch. Jones was electrifying as he returned from a two-game suspension. He scored with such ease he might as well have been a guy shooting the ball in his backyard, knowing the rim, the backboard and the wind. The 5-11 guard poured in 30 points while hitting 10 of 18 field goals, five of 10 3-pointers and five of six free throws. It marked his fourth 30-point effort in nine games.

Jones didn't start but checked in with exactly five minutes left in the first quarter. He wasted no time making his presence felt, catching an inbounds pass in the left corner and immediately pulling a 3-pointer. It swished for an 8-6 lead.

"I knew I was ready to play," Jones said.

"I decided whenever he went in the game, the first play was going to be for him," Absher said. "I wanted to get him started. That out-of-bounds play underneath is a play we run all the time. Boom, Cody is unbelievable passing it. He hit Nate and he stroked it."

Cody and Jones made plays in the first quarter that made you turn to whoever was next to you and say: "You believe that?" Cody blocked a North shot, gathered the ball, rushed upcourt, saw an open lane and soared in for a dunk. Down 10-6, Mitchell called timeout. Then Cody threw a long inbounds to Jones, who never slowed as he attacked the rim. He elevated and slammed with the left hand for a 14-9 lead.

Undaunted, North scored the final eight points of the first to take a 17-14 lead.

Jones was ridiculous in the second quarter, scoring Davie's first nine points. But North's 7-0 run vaulted the Cavs to a 37-27 halftime lead. Pierre Givins, North's muscular point guard, dazzled the North fans with 17 points and six rebounds in the first half.

"After scouting them three times, we tried to keep him from going left, and obviously we didn't do a very good job of that," Absher said of the lefty. "He's good. When he gets in there, he can do a lot of different things. He's so strong. We decided to go 2-3 zone at the half, and we shut his penetration down for the most part."

The momentum switched sides in the third. Jones' feed to a cutting Cody ignited a 15-2 run for Davie, and it was capped by Jones' backdoor layup off a nifty pass from Davis Absher. Davie had a 42-39 lead, but North answered with a 10-2 run to put Davie in a 49-44 hole.

"We isolated Nate more than we have been," Absher said. "We set a lot of high-ball screens with Cody and Nate playing a little two-man game. We hadn't practiced it much, but they were pretty good at it."

The fourth was high drama. Jones' 3-pointer in transition put Davie ahead 51-48. He scored nine straight Davie points to force a tie at 54.

"I was wondering what we could do to cool him off," Mitchell said. "Man, he's outstanding."

With a grin, Mitchell said: "We held him to 30. He's capable of getting 40."

With 1:33 left, Cody converted a finger roll to tie the game at 56. North got a putback for a 58-56 lead with 45 seconds left.

Dillard was fouled with 31 seconds left. He hit the first free throw and missed the second. But Cody pried the ball away from a Cavalier and scored for a 59-58 lead. Then Cody swatted a North shot out of bounds with 13 seconds left.

North inbounded underneath the basket and found West open on the left baseline. He drained the 16-footer. With 6.4 seconds left, North had the 60-59 lead. Absher called timeout.

Kenyon Tatum made a great inbounds pass to Cody, who caught the bullet near halfcourt. He beat his defender and got in the lane, but his shot missed. Jones' tip wouldn't fall. Neither would Dillard's. There would not be a ninth lead change. Davie was held under 70 points for just the second time, the other a 60-57 loss to Smith. Davie was 11-0 when it lost the 2010 Moir final to Salisbury.

"When you get three opportunities to make a basket in 6.4 seconds, you've got to go home feeling OK about it," Absher said. "We couldn't have drawn it up any better."

"Just praying to God that it doesn't go," Mitchell said when asked about the final seconds.

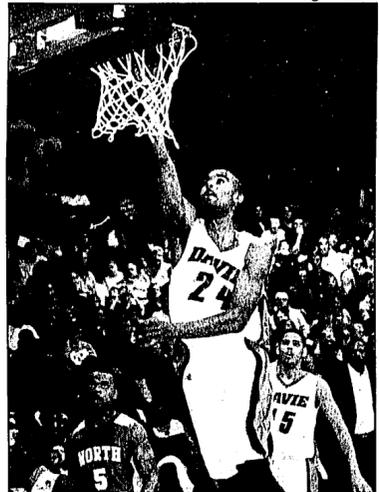

"I tipped it and I got hit," Jones said. "I was like: 'OK, I got it.' It just barely missed."

The difference in the game was North's relentlessness on the glass. The Cavaliers corralled 23 offensive rebounds and crushed Davie 47-29 on the boards to offset 37-percent shooting.

"Twenty-one second-chance points. You can't allow that to happen," Absher said. "They were the more physical team."

Girls Have No Answer For West's Steele

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

SALISBURY - The West Rowan girls basketball team's strategy was simple: Throw the ball inside to Shay Steele and let the 6-2 center go to work. It worked to perfection.

Steele did it all in the first round of the Sam Moir Christmas Classic at Catawba College on Dec. 27, scoring 30 points and fueling a 47-38 win over Davie. Thirty is impressive any time. Thirty in a low-scoring game is all the more impressive - not to mention she made all 11 shot attempts.

Davie upset West 59-47 at home to avenge a 61-51 loss in Mt. Ulla. The biggest factor in Davie's win was Steele being in foul trouble all night.

Steele didn't commit a single foul in this matchup at Goodman Gymnasium, and she proved totally unstoppable.

"They had a great game plan: Throw the ball inside to their best player, and she can jump higher than anybody we've got," Davie coach Denny Key said. "They learned a lot from the last game."

Third-seeded West improved to 6-4, while No. 6 Davie stumbled to 2-9.

The first half was miserable for the War Eagles, who fell behind 12-1. Steele had four points in the first 48 seconds.

By contrast, Davie didn't hit its first field goal until more than six minutes into the game. Amy Steller's back-to-back 3-pointers cut West's lead to 12-7, and the Falcons led 14-7 after one period.

The second quarter was even uglier for the War Eagles. They went six-plus minutes without a point, the drought finally ending when Laura Shelton drove and floated a shot over the towering Steele. That made the score 24-9.

In the first half, Davie shot 14 percent (three of 21). Steele easily outscored Davie by herself, racking up 14 points on 6-of-6 shooting.

"We had a slow first half," Key said. "We didn't really complete very hard. It took us to the second half before we started doing our zone coverages. I don't know why."

Davie played substantially better in the second half, though it proved to be too little, too late.

After going one of four shooting in the first half, Steller drained two 3-pointers to cut the gap to 24-15. Steele's three-point play slowed Davie's momentum, but Shelton's penetration basket and Steller's pull-up 15-footer closed the gap to 28-19.

But each time Davie made a push, Steele - who else? - was there to keep West in control. Her four points restored a 32-19 West cushion. Steller swished a 3-pointer, but Steele, who scored 33 points against North Rowan and came in averaging 16.6, scored inside to make it 34-22.

The War Eagles managed some mini-runs in the fourth. Courtney Bode, a JV call-up for the tournament, knocked down a 3 to pull Davie to 34-27 and extend its second-half run to 18-10. In what summed up Davie's night, West responded with a 7-0 run.

At now-or-never time, Emerald Gadsdon scored on an offensive rebound, Asiah Peterson stole the ball and raced down for a layup and Shelton hit two free throws, drawing Davie to 41-33. Then Gadsdon got a steal in Davie's fullcourt press, and Davie had a two-on-one break. But a War Eagle missed the layup, and West's four unanswered points crushed any hope of a Davie comeback.

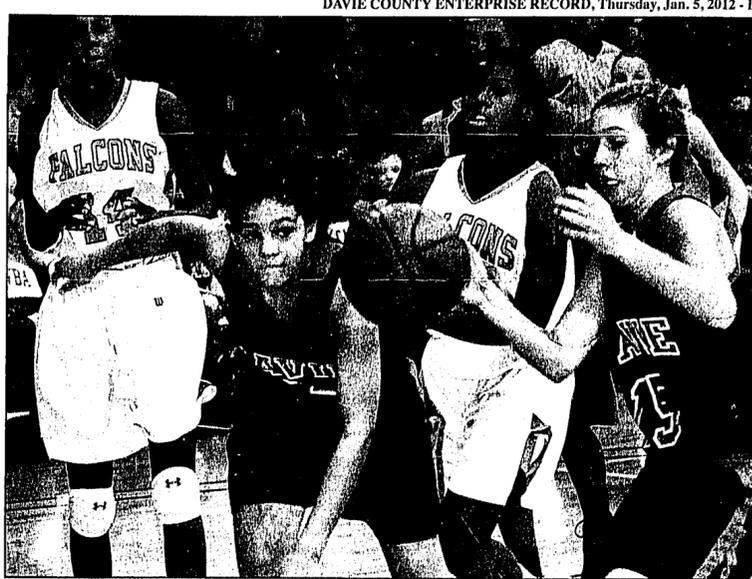

"We had a two-on-one break, and all we had to do was shoot a layup and we're down six," Key said. "We had a chance. (West) is a very good team, and they scored (just) 47 points on us."

Steller tried her best to rescue Davie, scoring 19 points (exactly her average) by hitting four of 11 3-pointers and 5-of-5 free throws. Shelton had six points. Peterson had five points and seven rebounds. Gadsdon pulled down eight rebounds.

For the most part, the War Eagles have shown they can hang with people. But they have a hard time putting four quarters together.

"We won the second half against a team that didn't take it easy on us," Key said. "But I don't think we're deep enough to go 32 minutes and really get after it (defensively). We're really got to work on our attack against a zone. It's a small thing or two. You can get a wide-open shot every time, but we're having difficulty making that first move, making that first pass, making that ball fake and making that penetration dribble."

Wooten Catches Fire, But Girls Lose

SALISBURY - The Davie girls basketball team remedied its shooting problems by scoring 36 points in the second half. To put that into perspective, Davie came in averaging 44 points per game.

But while one part of Davie's game took a turn for the better, the flip side of the coin was a disappointment as Davie gave up 73 points, or 21 more than it was allowing defensively.

East Rowan shot 51 percent, including a 7-for-13 showing from beyond the arc, and scored a season-high point total in a 73-56 win over Davie in the consolation of the Sam Moir Christmas Classic at Catawba College on Dec. 28.

Sixth-seeded Davie fell to 2-10. No. 7 East improved to 2-11 by outscoring Davie 38-12 in the paint.

East has two young twin towers, and they did whatever they wanted against Davie. Kelli Fisher, a 6-2 freshman, scored 20 points. Karleigh Wike, a 6-3 sophomore, scored 15 as the duo combined for 24 rebounds.

Guard Steffi Sides (11 points) and forward Casey Gullett (seven) added season-high point totals against a Davie team that had not allowed more than 62 points all year.

"I have high regard for (Fisher and Wike)," coach Denny Key said. "I expected them, with their size, to have a big night."

Davie missed 14 of 17 shots to fall behind 16-9 in the first quarter. It didn't get any better in the second quarter as East rolled to a 35-20 lead.

On the bright side of things, Sydney Wooten had her coming-out party. She scored 10 straight Davie points in a span of 1:36 by hitting three 3-pointers. She was fouled on one of them, and she completed the four-point play at the line to close the gap to 42-34.

Unfortunately for Davie, East closed the third with a 9-0 run.

At the end of the third, Wooten had 18 points on 6-of-12 shooting. By contrast, the rest of the team was six of 36.

Amy Steller led Davie's final push. She scored 11 of Davie's 14 points during a stretch of 3:41 to pull the War Eagles to 59-52 with 4:04 remaining. But East refused to let Davie get any closer.

Wooten, who came in averaging 4.5 points, exploded for 21 after draining six of 13 3-pointers.

"She shot with a lot of confidence," Key said. "They were playing a zone that gave us a lot of shots, and it was really nice to see Sydney cash in. That's really big. She's not only a good 3-point shooter, she's our best inside defender, she helps us beat pressure and she doesn't throw the ball away very much."

Steller had 19 points to go with five assists and three steals. That was no surprise. It was her eighth straight game with 18-plus points. Emerald Gadsdon contributed six points, six rebounds and five steals. Asiah Peterson had six points and nine rebounds, going six of six at the foul line.

Davie's 15-of-18 foul shooting could not, however, offset 26-percent shooting from the floor.

doing more than hitting one bomb after another - he was guarding West linchpin Keshun Sherrill.

In the second quarter, Cody nailed a 3-pointer over the outstretched arms of West's Jarvis Morgan. Cody threw an alley-oop to Dillard. Cody hit a 3 against in-your-face defense. He hit another 3. He hit yet another 3 as a defender pushed out.

But West, thanks to Sherrill's 20 first-half points, closed the half with an 8-0 run to grab a 33-31 lead.

Cody was scintillating from the perimeter, finishing the half with 22 points on 8-of-11 shooting. He was five of eight from long range. It's a good thing because the rest of the team was three of 12 from the field.

"Cody needs to keep shooting like that, no matter who's in the game, and just play like he knows how to play," Caleb said.

"Cody's shooting was phenomenal," Absher said. "We didn't have some of our players," Cody said. "My first shot felt good, so I just kept shooting. This crowd actually gave me a lot of energy. When my brother went out, I had to step up a lot more."

The win was a tribute to Sell's moment of magic in the third quarter. He rose to the occasion with 11 points in a span of 4:37. Davie beat the West press and Sell drove in, hit a shot and was fouled. He converted the three-point play at the line. Moments later, he nailed a 3-pointer. Davie missed a layup, but Sell was there for the putback. Then Sell buried another 3.

Cody didn't score in the third. But any time you're ahead or right there (West led 50-48 after three) and one of your best players isn't scoring, that's always a positive.

No one could have seen Sell's amazing third coming. He was averaging 3 points per game.

"There's no question Peyton is a great shooter," Absher said. "We knew that last year when he was a freshman. I told him last night at practice: 'Listen, because we've got to win the next game,'" he said.

The fourth quarter was back and forth, back and forth - practically a free-for-all of big shots. Every time Davie made a shot, West had the answer as there were 11 ties and six lead changes.

But Dillard was a monster in the fourth, and he refused to let Davie lose. He scored Davie's first 10 points in the quarter and finished the fourth with 17. After Sell hit a 3-pointer, Dillard scored off a rebound to give Davie a 63-60 lead with 1:05 to play.

"(Dillard) was just shooting over Maurice (Warren)," Sherrill said. "Maurice was doing everything defensively he could do, all anyone could have done."

"As good as Cody was shooting the ball (in the first half), we knew we still had to go inside out," Absher said. "We said we've got to make sure Shannon gets more touches, and our guys were real patient in the second half. Every time he got it in the second half he was in good position to score. You couldn't say that in the first half."

"It was great the way Shannon stayed with it because he didn't get the ball a lot (in the first half) because they were double-teaming," Sell said.

Dillard hit eight of 11 field goals and 10 of 14 free throws. He grabbed 10 rebounds and played all 32 minutes.

"When Caleb came out, we realized we had to be a team and show how great we are," Dillard said. "In the first half I didn't play good. I realized I had to go straight up and be aggressive."

In the final minute, it was time for Davie to hit free throws. And Cody, Dillard and Tatum combined to hit seven of 10 to salt the game away.

Cody's 23 points surpassed the 22 he had last year at North Davidson. Tatum's 32-minute game in the interior had sandpaper (13 rebounds to go with seven points). Davis Absher did the unsung things that he typically does - seven assists and five rebounds. His ballhandling helped Davie limit the turnovers to just two in the second half, and it was his fifth game with at least seven assists.

Davie took West's best shot, The Falcons had four turnovers all game.

"It was a great high-school game," coach Absher said. "I think everyone that came definitely got their money's worth."

Notes: Sherrill had 28 points, six rebounds, five assists and 19 turnovers. He missed 19 of 27 field goals. He made up for it by going nine of 10 at the line. ... Afterward Caleb said the injury may not be that serious. A day later he learned he would be out around six weeks with a broken bone in his left foot. "The side of my foot hurts really bad," he said after the game. "I could have played, but I wouldn't have been able to play to my best ability. I'm going to ice it and see what happens."

Community Rallies Behind Family 16 Year Old Undergoes Cancer Surgeries; Loses Lung, Leg

A persistent cough led to the discovery of a tumor last month in Josh Rominger.

By Kristine Kokoski
 Special to the Enterprise

Josh Rominger, a junior at Davie High School, was recently diagnosed with cancer after tests following a persistent cough.

He is in Brenner Children's Hospital recovering from surgery that removed a large tumor in his right lung that not only covered that lung, but also extended over his left lung and his heart. The tumor was synovial cell sarcoma, a type of soft tissue cancer. Josh is under the care of Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center with further medical consultation coming from St. Jude's Research Hospital.

Josh and his challenge are a unifying force for a student body performed on Dec. 27. Doctors removed 98 percent of the tumor as well as his right lung. Josh continues to be in ICU at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center as his vital signs stabilize and his body adapts to breathing with one lung. He has received numerous blood transfusions to stabilize his hemoglobin levels and is on a breathing machine.

Due to complications, the lower part of one of Josh's legs had to be amputated.

Josh's immediate family has been by his side continuously during this ordeal, and his Davie High family has taken up his cause at the high school.

Josh and his challenge are a unifying force for a student body and faculty/staff/support personnel of nearly 2,000 people. His bravery and determination have been an inspiration and springboard to help.

Students around campus have been overwhelmingly supportive. Alex Dooley, senior, said: "It makes me feel blessed to be me and be able to wake up every morning and go on about my day. I pray for him and his family."

Senior Kendrick Fruits commented on the spirit of Josh: "Hearing of his illness made me take a step back and remind myself not to take anything for granted. I do not personally know Josh, but God gives you what

Crime Rate Down In Cooleemee

COOLEEMEE - Crime is down here, and Police Chief Bobby West says that residents are helping his officers make the town a better place.

He reported that in 2011, crime was down 14 percent from the previous year. For the past three years, the crime rate decreased some 35 percent.

"These percentages are the benefits of better patrol and thorough investigations from police along with excellent relationships with the citizens," West said. "Open communications and being vigilant of our neighbors have helped create the safe environment of our small town."

West said that the town's website, www.Cooleemee.org, highlights the "peaceful lifestyle."

"Every new year brings challenges and unknowns," he said. "Together, we can make a difference."

Head Start Center Named For Jack Koontz

By Mike Barnhardt
 Enterprise Record

Jack Koontz spent a career delivering the mail.

He's spent a lifetime serving his fellow man.

Last week, a special delivery was made in his honor - a delivery that should help young children succeed for generations to come.

YVEDDI named its newest facility the Jack G. Koontz Head Start Center. Koontz is a long-time member of the YVEDDI board, currently serving as chair.

"This may be his greatest delivery ever," said Khari Garvin, director of Head Start for North Carolina.

The new center is on NC 801 near US 601 South, and replaces a rented facility in Cooleemee.

"This is significant," Garvin said. "In a time of budget cuts, this agency found a thousand ways to leverage funding and resources."

It also sends a positive message to the community - especially the most vulnerable families.

"It says the children and families are worth it. They are worth being served in a world-class facility by a well-qualified staff."

Man Guilty Of Attempted Murder Passer-by 'Hero' Credited With Saving Woman's Life

By Jackie Seabolt
 Enterprise Record

A Davie jury found a Winston-Salem man guilty of attempted murder this week.

Edward Williams, III, 40, of Winston-Salem was charged with attempted first-degree murder, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill or inflict serious injury, and kidnapping Geriee Nichole Gillespie, 39, of Statesville on Nov. 19, 2010 at the BP gas station on US 601 North, Mocksville.

The jury deliberated for more than six hours over two days before finding Williams guilty of all three charges.

Williams claimed the gun went off two times accidentally during a struggle between he and Gillespie and that he forced her into her vehicle in an attempt to drive her to Davie Hospital for medical attention after he realized she was injured. Prosecution claimed Williams followed Gillespie to the Mocksville BP with the intent to kill her and shot her two times.

'War Horse' Is Best Pick At The Movies

After a slow autumn, there's finally something to see at the movies. We've seen three during the Christmas season: "Adventures of Tintin," "Girl With the Dragon Tattoo" and "War Horse." All were very good, very different, but "War Horse" was hands-down the best.

Set in World War I, the movie gives a tremendous view of the brutality of that war as the two sides faced each other. Between the two armies is a horse. This movie has it all — desperate action and five-tissue scenes that leave the audience in tears.

I took the boys to see "Tintin," and we all agreed it was a wonderful — animation as we had never seen it. I liked "Dragon Tattoo" since I had read the book at the beach last summer, but it is not for the squeamish. It fully earns its rating.

If you see only one movie, make it "War Horse."

Spring Day In January

Let's remember Saturday, Jan. 7, 2012, as God's gift to us. Temperatures climbed to 70 degrees. The sun was out. Birds croaked. I kept expecting frogs to start croaking in the creek thinking spring had come. They didn't, but it was a wonderful day to be outside. I've seen some forsythia in bloom during this pleasantly mild first part of winter.

This Saturday isn't supposed to be 30 degrees colder. The reality of winter is supposed to return. But on that one day, we had it good.

No Tebow Fever In OK

Love him or hate him, Tim Tebow is the hottest thing in the NFL this season. The experts had predicted the University of Florida quarterback couldn't make it in the pros because he had all the wrong techniques to succeed. He's doing OK so far. His team, the Denver Broncos, has advanced to the second round of the playoffs this weekend. Even with some shaky performances, Tebow is the most popular player in the league. He usually bungs his way through three quarters only to direct a winning drive as time expires. He has 1.4 million friends on Facebook. News agencies follow every game to see if there's another miracle finish. Tebow time.

My Robert and the entire State of Oklahoma aren't Tebow fans. They haven't forgiven him for directing Florida's 24-14 national championship win over the University of Oklahoma in 2008.

Someone this week mentioned Tebow as a good presidential candidate. If he were 35, old enough to meet the constitutional requirement, President Obama could start packing his bags for Chicago.

Pretty For Christmas

Finally, the Town of Mocksville outdid itself this year for Christmas. The four mighty oaks downtown were strung with lights as usual, and the entire town was outlined in white lights that made a pretty sight.

A little at a time, Mocksville has transformed its downtown over the course of 25 years into something to be proud of. One night I saw Santa Claus pulling a cart on his bicycle. The only other place you can only find something like that is in New York City.

Proud Of Davie Teachers, Students

To the editor:

Several things that happened at the board of education meeting last week made me very proud of our Davie County teachers and students. During the recognition part of the meeting, 10 teachers in our school system were honored for receiving their National Board Certification. Their accomplishments bring the number of nationally board certified teachers in Davie County to 82, quite a feat for a relatively small system such as ours. Kudos to them. We are one of the reasons that North Carolina leads the nation in the number of teachers with this achievement.

In addition, Davie County High School was named to the national College Board AP Achievement Honor Roll, a recognition that is based on the number of our students who take AP courses and on their scores on the AP tests. Davie County was one of only 367 school districts in the United States to achieve this honor.

Finally, the local winners of the Patriot's Pen essay contest were recognized. This contest is sponsored annually by our local VFW and is a great opportunity for students to express their patriotism. The winning essays came from South Davie Middle School.

We all have reason to be proud of our teachers and students for their pursuit of excellence.

Airman Continues Family Tradition

To the editor:

My wife and I just returned from Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, the home of Basic Military Training (BMT) for the U.S. Air Force. Our son (my step-son, actually) just completed 8.5 weeks of BMT. Since our return, I have felt compelled to tell his story to the residents of Davie County. This fine young man and his mother came into my life more than 20 years ago when he was not yet 2 years old. I welcomed them both into my life and soon after his mother and I married and we began our lives together. His biological father remained active in his life, although it was difficult, due to the fact he was active in the Air Force. Everyone knows the saying "It takes a village to raise a child", this could not have been any more true than with us.

Our son was raised by multiple families; his natural, his church, his school and his scouting. When he was in the first grade, he joined the Cub Scouts and progressed through the ranks and earned The Arrow of Light; Cub Scouts highest award. He moved on to Boy Scouts and earned his Eagle Award; Boy Scouts highest, under the guidance of his Scoutmaster, Tommy Evans. Throughout high school, he was a member of the Davie High Marching Band and joined the Army JROTC program. He progressed through the ranks and became a high ranking leader, graduating third in command. (he always wanted to outrank his mom and dad, who had also been in JROTC).

After graduating high school, he enrolled and was accepted to UNCG. During his college years, he also enrolled in the Air Force ROTC at A&T, Greensboro, so that he could continue his military training. You see, he comes from a long line of military blood. His great-grandfathers, grandfathers and numerous uncles had been in the military in some aspect. While in college, he also joined a fraternity and became their president during his senior year. Upon graduation, again, he accomplished attaining a high ranking position in ROTC, second in command.

While attending college, he met his sweetheart and soon to be wife. It became their plan to graduate, marry and then be commissioned into the U.S. Air Force as an officer. As we all know, plans are made to be broken. He did graduate and they did marry, but he was unable to be commissioned as planned. Due to reasons we all do not understand, he was held in limbo for about six months and was finally told he would have to enlist in the Air Force as a non-commissioned trainee. This is how I get to the New Year's graduation at Lackland.

After being sent to Lackland in October of last year, he was not allowed to see, call or text anyone for a couple of weeks. After that, he was able to call his wife once a week. The Air Force was generous enough to let him leave the base on Thanksgiving only to relative or a friend's house. Fortunately, his dad just happens to be stationed at Lackland. On Christmas day, they let him have more phone time and he called his mother first. We happened to be in Washington, DC visiting my wife's sister and her family. Needless to say, those were some precious minutes of air time.

Once I found out the dates for graduation ceremonies, there was only one thing to do, make flight and hotel arrangements for his mother and I. His wife already had made her plans to fly out earlier and stay later. The day finally arrived for us to leave and we could not have been more excited than if it had been Christmas morning as a young child. We arrived in San Antonio on Wednesday afternoon and secured lodging. Thursday mornings' activities would include what is known as the Airmen's run, in which all trainees run down the street calling out their "jodies" (military cadences). Soon after, we were seated in the bleachers witnessing the honor graduate award, coin ceremony and flag retreat. The coin ceremony is the presentation of the Airmen's Coin to the trainees. This coin symbolizes their transition from trainees to Airmen and is a solemn and proud time. The retreat of the U.S. flag signifies the end of the official duty day. There was nary a dry eye in the crowd as we witnessed some 870+ trainees being transformed from trainee to Airmen in the U.S. Air Force. Some 39,000 trainees graduated last year. After these ceremonies, we were able to spend time with our son and daughter-in-law. We had lunch and later that evening we all went to the Alamo Bowl and enjoyed a great football game.

On Friday, we again were sitting in bleachers watching our new Airmen march onto the parade grounds in their dress blues. This was the Parade Ceremony, where the graduating Airmen march in parade viewed by family, friend, and distinguished visitors. This ceremony ended with the Airmen reciting the oath of enlistment. Afterwards, we were treated to a tour of the dormitories and met his TI (Training Instructor). He had to ask permission to have his picture taken with his TI. We ended our day with our son and daughter-in-law having dinner in downtown San Antonio. Needless to say, there were plenty of tears and lumps in our throats.

Just a couple days ago, I learned that the TIs will write a letter to the next commander of the Airman as they continue their training. I was told his TI highly recommended him for any leadership positions that may be available and he was highly commended on his evaluations.

Again, I felt compelled to write this letter to the residents of Davie County and to say we still are raising fine young men and women. I could not have been any prouder this past week of my son, nor could his mother. Even as I write this, I get a lump in my throat. We should all be proud that we have someone of this integrity in our armed forces. To quote the BMT commanding officer on graduation as he recognized the veterans among us, "Airmen, tap these veterans and tell them "Stand down, I have the point."

Caring Community Shines

To the editor:

On behalf of the staff at Home Instead Senior Care, I would like to thank everyone who helped with this year's very successful Be A Santa To A Senior program.

With support from generous shoppers and businesses, we were able to collect more than 200 gifts for local seniors who otherwise might have been overlooked this holiday season.

We also would like to thank the many volunteers who shared their time to collect and distribute the gifts to more than 200 area seniors who continue to struggle during these tough economic times.

Thanks to all those who helped us brighten the holidays for our local seniors and truly making a difference in our community.

Garvin said. "This is more than just a new building; it models the best that we can be in spite of the tough times."
Koontz wiped tears as he accepted the honor "with humility" at an open house last week. The room was filled with family and friends, YVEDDI staff and county officials.

He said he made a commitment when he accepted the volunteer job as a YVEDDI board member.
He's proud that the center can serve 36 pre-school children, "... so when they get in school they will not be left behind."

He knows about getting behind in school. A son of a farmer, he stayed at home more than once to work on the farm rather than go to school. "It's difficult to catch up," he said.
Children served at the center are from families that meet 100 percent of the poverty income guidelines. Some may be homeless. Others may have special needs.

They will be enrolled in a structured educational setting that aligns with the school readiness goals. Services will include health screenings and a parent involvement program.

"The new center will provide a more positive learning environment for children and will save money," said Kathy Payne, director of the program for YVEDDI. "Children and families served here will be the neediest of the needy."

testified at the trial about the incident where Williams shot Gillespie in the face and side.
But perhaps the most moving testimony came from a Clemmons resident who works at Ingersoll Road.

Paul Neureuter took the stand and told the jury he was driving home on Nov. 19, 2010 shortly after work around 5 p.m. when he noticed a black male bending down over a black female on the pavement of the BP next to Wendy's.

Gillespie was able to get out of the vehicle and made her way to Neureuter's vehicle where he called for an ambulance and took her to safety.
"Did you know the black female?" Assistant District Attorney Sheri Woodyard asked Neureuter.
"No," he answered.
"Why did you stop that day?" Woodyard asked.
"I saw a person that needed help," Neureuter answered.

In closing argument, Williams' attorney Lori Hamilton-Dewitt, told the jury to look beyond what appears to be true in the case and look at what is true.
"You've heard Miss Gillespie's testimony on what happened and you've heard Mr. Williams' testimony. I'd submit to you when it comes down to it you have conflicting testimony of the only two people who had this unobstructed experience,"

Dewitt said.
Dewitt told the jury the eyewitnesses who testified weren't able to see the entire struggle between Williams and Gillespie at the gas pump.
Dewitt said the firearm was never photographed at the scene by law enforcement and that it was handled and moved. "The firearm was handled so many times by so many people that it couldn't be tested for fingerprints."
Dewitt told the jury that the prosecution will argue that because Williams had a gun he intended to kill Gillespie. "What's uncontroverted is that Mr. Williams had a gun the day before when he considered killing himself and the gun was in his jacket."
Dewitt told the jury that the state had failed to carry its burden of proof and asked Williams be found not guilty.
During the state's closing her back and threw her in the back seat, locked the door and tried to exit."

Brown told the jury threats that Williams had made to Gillespie.
"I'm going to make sure you don't do this to another man" and "You thought I was playing with you", Brown paused and looked at the jury. "Is that consistent with an accidental shooting?"
Brown told the jury that Williams told the officer who apprehended him that night, Davie Sheriff's K9 Deputy T.Z. McDougal, that he'd left the gun in the vehicle after he shot Gillespie. "That's what this man (Williams) told Officer McDougal."

Brown told the jury that the man who stopped that day and helped Gillespie was a hero.
"Paul Neureuter is an absolutely amazing man," Brown said. "He prevented Miss Gillespie from being in a pine box right now. He saved her life. He's driving down 601, doesn't know her, he does a U-turn and blocks the defendant from further kidnapping of Miss Gillespie. He gets in his car and says 'Get me out of here. He's trying to kill me.'"
As Brown spoke Gillespie bowed her head and cried.
"He (Williams) had a gun, loaded, and he tracked her down and confronted her. When he found out she wasn't coming back he shot her," Brown said.

Brown read the hand-written letter found in Williams' vehicle the day of the incident, "To my sister and my kids, I love you with all my heart. This is best for all of us. My babies will be taken care of. Goodbye, Daddy."
Brown told the jury, "This was going to be murder-suicide. He's guilty of attempted first-degree murder, guilty of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury, and guilty of kidnapping. That's exactly what the state has proven to you and that's exactly what the state is asking you return in this case."

Before his sentencing presiding Judge Joseph Crosswhite asked Williams if he wished to say anything.
"Williams thanked the jury, Dewitt and the district attorneys. "I am sorry."
Williams was sentenced to 18 years in prison.

"Why did you stop that day?" Woodyard asked.
"I saw a person that needed help," Neureuter answered.

In closing argument, Williams' attorney Lori Hamilton-Dewitt, told the jury to look beyond what appears to be true in the case and look at what is true.
"You've heard Miss Gillespie's testimony on what happened and you've heard Mr. Williams' testimony. I'd submit to you when it comes down to it you have conflicting testimony of the only two people who had this unobstructed experience,"

Dewitt said.
Dewitt told the jury the eyewitnesses who testified weren't able to see the entire struggle between Williams and Gillespie at the gas pump.
Dewitt said the firearm was never photographed at the scene by law enforcement and that it was handled and moved. "The firearm was handled so many times by so many people that it couldn't be tested for fingerprints."
Dewitt told the jury that the prosecution will argue that because Williams had a gun he intended to kill Gillespie. "What's uncontroverted is that Mr. Williams had a gun the day before when he considered killing himself and the gun was in his jacket."
Dewitt told the jury that the state had failed to carry its burden of proof and asked Williams be found not guilty.

her back and threw her in the back seat, locked the door and tried to exit."
Brown told the jury threats that Williams had made to Gillespie.
"I'm going to make sure you don't do this to another man" and "You thought I was playing with you", Brown paused and looked at the jury. "Is that consistent with an accidental shooting?"
Brown told the jury that Williams told the officer who apprehended him that night, Davie Sheriff's K9 Deputy T.Z. McDougal, that he'd left the gun in the vehicle after he shot Gillespie. "That's what this man (Williams) told Officer McDougal."

Brown told the jury that the man who stopped that day and helped Gillespie was a hero.
"Paul Neureuter is an absolutely amazing man," Brown said. "He prevented Miss Gillespie from being in a pine box right now. He saved her life. He's driving down 601, doesn't know her, he does a U-turn and blocks the defendant from further kidnapping of Miss Gillespie. He gets in his car and says 'Get me out of here. He's trying to kill me.'"
As Brown spoke Gillespie bowed her head and cried.
"He (Williams) had a gun, loaded, and he tracked her down and confronted her. When he found out she wasn't coming back he shot her," Brown said.

Brown read the hand-written letter found in Williams' vehicle the day of the incident, "To my sister and my kids, I love you with all my heart. This is best for all of us. My babies will be taken care of. Goodbye, Daddy."
Brown told the jury, "This was going to be murder-suicide. He's guilty of attempted first-degree murder, guilty of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury, and guilty of kidnapping. That's exactly what the state has proven to you and that's exactly what the state is asking you return in this case."

Before his sentencing presiding Judge Joseph Crosswhite asked Williams if he wished to say anything.
"Williams thanked the jury, Dewitt and the district attorneys. "I am sorry."
Williams was sentenced to 18 years in prison.

Williams shot Gillespie in the face and side.
But perhaps the most moving testimony came from a Clemmons resident who works at Ingersoll Road.
Paul Neureuter took the stand and told the jury he was driving home on Nov. 19, 2010 shortly after work around 5 p.m. when he noticed a black male bending down over a black female on the pavement of the BP next to Wendy's.

Gillespie was able to get out of the vehicle and made her way to Neureuter's vehicle where he called for an ambulance and took her to safety.
"Did you know the black female?" Assistant District Attorney Sheri Woodyard asked Neureuter.
"No," he answered.

New Assistant Principal Picked For Davie High

The school board voted unanimously last week to hire Doyle Nicholson to be an assistant principal at Davie High. Nicholson replaces Melissa Lynch, who was moved to be the interim principal at the Early College.
Nicholson, a native of Union Grove, lives in Yadkinville and has been a math teacher at Mt. Tabor since 2006. Prior to that, he taught at Forbush High School for 14 years. He has coached volleyball and tennis, served as assistant athletic director, and was Mountain Valley's Athletic Conference volleyball coach of the year in 2003 and tennis coach of the year in 1998.
He is nationally board certified and has taught a variety of math subjects, from Algebra 1 to AP calculus.
Nicholson was teacher of the year for Yadkin County and Forbush in 2005-06, was named by the Yadkinville Jaycees as an Outstanding Young Educator in 1997 and was a NC Teaching Fellow in 1988.
He is a graduate of Appalachian State University, where he earned degrees in math with a concentration in secondary education in 1991 (bachelor's degree), and in math secondary education in 1997 (master's degree), and in the school administration licensure program in 2011.
This will be his first position in administration, but having worked with former principal Jeff Wallace while the two were at Forbush, he said he is familiar with Davie High and looks forward to the transition.
"I've always heard great things about Davie, even while working here [at Tabor]," Nicholson said, laughing. "I have been teaching for 19 years, but I'm excited about working in a new aspect of education. I've always liked working with students, but now I'm looking forward to working with teachers."
Nicholson is married and the father of two young children. He will start at Davie Feb. 1.

Beekeeping Course Starts Jan. 28

'Twas the season to be jolly. Now's the season to get busy.
Yes, it's a new year and time to make good on the pledges made in 2011, like starting a new hobby, or doing something good for the planet.
Consider beekeeping.
The Davie County Beekeepers Association will hold its 7th annual Beginners Beekeeping Short Course, "How to Get Started in Beekeeping", starting Saturday, Jan. 28 at 9 a.m. at the Davie County Library in Mocksville. Classes will continue on Saturday mornings at the library on Feb. 11, 18, 25, and March 3. Pre-register online at the club website: www.daviebeekeepers.org, or by calling DCBA president, George Snyder, at 492-2350.
The course consists of five classes at the library, followed by an "Apiary Day" where participants will have the opportunity for first-hand observations of honeybee hives. Light a smoker, look for the queen, notice the pollen storage, and observe the intricacies of a hive. Apiary Day will be held on a warm Saturday following the classes. The date will be weather-dependent.
Here's an opportunity to follow through on a vow to cut down on sugar intake this year—use honey. What could be healthier than honey from your own bees?
"Perhaps you've read of the decline in honey bee populations in the last decade," said member Dan Hulbert. "Did you realize how important these

Man Represents Self; Appeals Seat Belt Conviction

A Mocksville man who admitted in court last week that his seatbelt occasionally comes undone disagreed with the judge's decision and has appealed his case to superior court.
Randy Lee Jones Jr., 23, was charged with failure to wear seat belt, after being stopped by NC Highway Patrol Trooper Marcus Ward on Nov. 3.
Ward testified he observed Jones traveling north on U.S. 601, just past the high school, around 9 a.m.
"I could clearly see the subject had a clean shoulder, meaning there was no object over his shoulder or chest area, and I could see the double straps of the seatbelt hanging," Ward testified. He said when he stopped Jones, near the courthouse, that Jones was trying to put on his seatbelt and made the comment that the "buckle was broke."
Ward said Jones had one female and one male passenger with him and that he told him he was on his way to court when he was stopped.
Jones, who represented himself, asked Ward why he waited to stop him, since he first saw him near the high school and didn't pull him over until he was almost in front of the courthouse.
Ward answered, "I wasn't going to pass 10 vehicles for a seatbelt violation." He said in the interest of safety for other motorists, he waited.
Jones asked, "When you late getting to court. When he stopped me, my dad got out of the vehicle, my fiancé was in back. The trooper asked me for my license and registration, and I didn't have no license with me but I gave him the number. My seatbelt did come unbuckled in front of Zekos [restaurant] but it was on the whole time except for then. The spring's broke on it. I'm not gonna be found guilty for something I didn't do."

Assistant DA Karen Biernacki asked Jones if Ward was wrong, and Jones replied, "I'm saying he might have thought he saw something he didn't."
Biernacki pointed out to Jones that driving without having his license with him is illegal and that Ward could have cited him for that, but didn't, and Jones said he knew that.
Jones' fiancé testified he was wearing his seatbelt, that it did "come undone sometimes," and that it seemed to be working fine since he was pulled.
Penry found Jones guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $25.50 and court costs.
Jones appealed the decision. His case is scheduled for the March 26 session of superior court.

knows you can handle. We all have problems, but Josh is an inspiration. We are all praying for his recovery."

Under the direction of the assistant principals, "Messages of Hope" were sold in the cafeteria for four days last week. For $1 students wrote individual messages to Josh, which were posted on the Wall of Hope in the cafeteria. Contributions came from every direction, not just from those students who know Josh. These messages were then delivered to Josh. His sister, Jennifer, a 2010 graduate of DHS, read them aloud to him. In addition, teachers gathered forces through personal donations as well as the Jeans Day Fundraiser. Total money raised from these three efforts totaled over $2,500.

Other fundraisers are assisting the family with medical costs. After school on Tuesday, Jan. 10, students, parents, teachers, and community members teamed for the Rock Relay. Each team member paid $2. Relay teams carried rocks around the track handing off at the quarter marker or the half marker. Winners were determined by how many laps a team could make in a pre-designated length of time.

The DHS PTSO had a 50-50 raffle at the men's varsity basketball game on Jan. 11. This involved a half-court shot contest.

On Jan. 14, the First Presbyterian Church of Mocksville will hold a free breakfast from 7-10 a.m. with voluntary donations going to the Rominger family. The menu will be sausage, ham, bacon, biscuits, eggs, red-eye gravy, sausage gravy and apples.

On Jan. 18, Venezia's in Advance will hold Josh Rominger Night with a portion of sales going to him.

Plans are in effect for the Hoops for Hope Basketball Tournament set for Feb. 18 at the DHS Main Gym. This is a three-on-three tournament aimed at all ages of students. Three-person teams will be bracketed for a fun day of tournament play. Entry fees and concession profits will benefit the Rominger family. Any interested community members may contact Davie High School for further information on Hoops for Hope.

Josh's sister Jennifer is organizing a 5K Run set for May 19. Further information will be forthcoming on this event.

The Davie and Davie High School communities showed their support of Josh and his family during the Davie/West Forsyth basketball game Jan. 6 at West Forsyth. Students from both schools wore Carolina blue in Josh's Honor - even known Wake, State, and Duke fans. The game ended and players and fans from DC and WF huddled in prayer. Doug Hiling, head football coach and die-hard Wake fan said, "We do work and live in a great place ... And yes, that was me wearing a blue Carolina t-shirt, of course, only to support my boy Josh."

Principal Jinda Haynes was touched by the actions of the students and staff. "Josh is an inspiration to all of us, and our hearts go out to him and his family," she said. "People sometimes assume that Davie High is so large that students are not well known or are lost among the crowd. The outpouring of support for the Rominger family goes to show that this is a great school, filled with students and staff who do care about others."

Mocksville Police Targeting Speeders In Neighborhoods

Speeders beware. Mocksville police are looking for you. And it will be more than on the main roads. Officers are targeting residential neighborhoods.

"We are asking all residents to share this task with us by slowing down and being more responsible and aware of posted speed limits," said Police Chief Robert Cook.

Unless posted otherwise, the speed limit on all streets is 35 mph. Residents of neighborhoods frequently plagued by speeders are asked to call the police department and make a report.

"Neighborhoods with homeowners associations have the advantage of promoting driving safety even more so with newsletters, meetings or other ways information is distributed," he said.

Cook said the police department is available to help neighborhoods set up a program. Call 753-6710 or send an email to: rcook@mocksvillenc.gov, dmatthews@mocksvillenc.gov, or dlawrence@mocksvillenc.gov.

"The Mocksville Police Department is proud to team up with the citizens of Mocksville to address any neighborhood concern," Cook said.

Representatives from civic clubs and businesses which have supported Davie's Dictionary Project for the past 10 years are recognized Jan. 3 by the Davie County Board of Education.

Dictionary Project Donors Recognized

Twenty years ago, in 1992, Annie Plummer of Savannah, Ga., bought dictionaries and gave them to children who attended a school close to her home. Each year, she asked for donations so she could give to more students in the Chatham County, Ga., schools. During her lifetime she raised enough money to buy 17,000 dictionaries for children in Savannah. Plummer's project captured the attention of Bonnie Beeferman of Hilton Head Island, S.C., who began raising money to buy dictionaries for the school children of Beaufort County. Because she could not raise enough money to provide books for all of the requests, she was receiving, Beeferman sent a letter to the editor of the Post and Courier newspaper in Charleston, S.C. A Charleston resident read the letter and was inspired to become involved. Mary French formed a non-profit association in 1995 with a board of directors. At first dictionaries from The Dictionary Project were given to third graders in all of the Charleston County schools. By 1999, every third grader in all of South Carolina was receiving a free dictionary. The Wall Street Journal published a story about the project in March 2002 and it took on a national purpose to expand its mission to provide a free dictionary to all third graders in the 50 United States. The program has been adopted by individuals, businesses, and civic organizations all over the country. The Dictionary Project has provided free dictionaries to an estimated 16,921,223 students. Of the approximately four million third graders in America, more than three million dictionaries were distributed in 2011. The Davie County Chapter of The Dictionary Project was started in 2002 when Mike Hendrix, a retired Davie County teacher and administrator, was visiting in Charleston. He read about the project in the local newspaper and contacted Mary French. With permission of the Superintendent of Davie County Schools, Hendrix started visiting local civic clubs and businesses to raise enough funds to start the project for all of the Davie County Schools. In January, 2003, dictionaries were given to third, fourth, and fifth graders in each school in Davie County. Those fifth graders who received the first dictionaries are now sophomores in college. A thesaurus was given to sixth graders in all middle schools. Those sixth graders who received the first thesauri are now juniors in college. The Dictionary Project has been distributing books in Davie County for 10 years. An estimated 13,818 books have been given to students. In addition to dictionaries for third graders and thesauri for sixth graders, Spanish-English dictionaries have been provided for English as a second language students in Davie County Schools and the Davie County Campus of DCCC. Dictionaries are given each year to high school age students and adults who are enrolled in the high school diploma program at DCCC, Davie Campus. "There are eight civic minded groups who have faithfully contributed money to the Dictionary Project for the past 10 years," Hendrix said. The group and the school provides funding for books follows:
• Coleecee Civitan Club for Coleecee Elementary;
• Davie Civitan Club for Shady Grove Elementary;
• Mocksville Civitan Club for Pinebrook Elementary;
• Mocksville Civitan Club for William R. Davie Elementary;
• Rotary Club of Mocksville for Mocksville Elementary;
• Davie County Retired School Personnel Association for Cornatzer Elementary and South Davie Middle;
• Alpha Delta Kappa Educational Sorority for Ellis Middle; and
• Davie County Enterprise Record newspaper for North Davie Middle School. In addition to these groups, many individuals annually make contributions to the Davie County Chapter of The Dictionary Project. Collectively the donations of these individuals provide dictionaries for Davie County Campus of DCCC and to fill in where needed for schools. Hendrix, the head of the local fund-raising efforts for the Davie County Chapter of The Dictionary Project, expresses his sincere thanks to the groups and individuals who have kept this project alive for the last ten years in Davie County. "The dictionary and thesaurus has become an important educational tool students have used for years after receiving their free book. Everyone who supported this project should be happy with the positive impact this project has had on Davie students," Hendrix said.

Pets Waiting For Forever Homes Now

"Java" is a chocolate and cream Spaniel/Pointer mix girl rescued by the Humane Society of Davie County from the county-operated animal shelter. She has a loving personality and enjoys going outside to play with other dogs at the adoption center. She loves one-on-one attention and would easily curl up in your lap. She's spayed, up-to-date on shots with an estimated birthdate of April 13, 2009. "Chloe" is a gorgeous and affectionate white, camel and grey dilute calico kitten. She was rescued by the Humane Society from the shelter. She loves attention and will meow at you as soon as she sees you looking at her. When you pick her up, she purrs loudly with happiness and enjoys sitting on your shoulder. If she doesn't get your attention, she'll lie down in the floor and roll over on her back. She's spayed, up-to-date on her shots, litter box trained, gets along well with her playmates in the kitten playroom and has an estimated birthdate of Sept. 14, 2011.

Humane Society Elects Officers

Mocksville residents Lisa Forsythe and Bob Martin have been elected president and vice president of the Humane Society of Davie County. Pat Ingie is the secretary. "There are also several new members on the board of directors and we are excited about their energy, ideas and commitment," said Stella Gibson, treasurer. Martin is responsible for overseeing the operations at the pet adoption center on Eaton Road in Mocksville. "He has a wealth of managerial experience as well as a love of animals, and we look forward to his helping HSDC make strides toward achieving its goals," she said. "His positive outlook and dedication are valuable assets to the organization."

Non-profit agencies such as the humane society suffer the most in a down economy, Gibson said, because their existence relies on donations from the community. "The Humane Society of Davie County hopes to be able to survive the economic downturn and continue to operate, rescuing as many homeless cats and dogs as possible. We are confident that the new officers and board members will guide the organization in the proper direction. We will always need the support of the community; please adopt your next pet, donate money or time or supplies to the Humane Society if you can, and spay and neuter your pets," Gibson said.

Smart Start Of Davie Awarded Two Grants

Smart Start of Davie County was recently awarded two grants to help maintain and grow early education programs.

A $9,000 grant has been given to begin a program called Reach Out and Read that promotes early literacy and school readiness in pediatric exam rooms by giving new books to children and advice to parents about the importance of reading aloud.

Davie County Smart Start will be working with Advance and Mocksville Pediatrics on this project.

According to a website, "Reach Out and Read" builds on the relationship between parents and medical providers to develop critical early reading skills in children, beginning at 6 months of age. "The more than 3.9 million families served annually by Reach Out and Read together more often, and their children enter kindergarten better prepared to succeed, with larger vocabularies, stronger language skills, and a six-month developmental edge over their peers."

"This is program is a nice addition to the other free programs and services offered by Smart Start, which strive to prepare children for Kindergarten by focusing on the first five years of early learning and development," said Mary Beth Seebold, executive director of Smart Start of Davie. "Grants like these are making it possible for this work to continue.

We are so excited to offer this proven program here in Davie County. It is what we are all about. Adding Reach Out and Read to the programs and services we already provide will only enhance the quality of early education available to the children in Davie County."

Reach Out and Read will begin in January of next year. A grant for $4,000 has been awarded from the Pearls of Empowerment to support Parents as Teachers (PAT), a program in which a certified parent educator visits with children and parents in their home and incorporates age-appropriate learning activities, and group meetings.

"This type of one-on-one support is incredibly valuable to parents with young children," said Seebold. "We could not continue to serve as many families without this grant from Pearls of Empowerment. We are very thankful for their continued support of Parents as Teachers and Smart Start of Davie."

The PAT program is enrolling new families for this free service. Call Smart Start at 752-2113 to learn more.

Smart Start of Davie is a non-profit organization serving all children in Davie County, from birth to 5, by providing resources and services for families and child care providers so that children are prepared for success in school and beyond.

For more information on the programs and services offered by Smart Start, call 751-2113, visit on Facebook, or the website at www.daviesmartstart.org.

United Way Raising Funds For Programs

Davie County United Way (DCUW) is still raising funds to help run 20 community programs.

To date, the DCUW has raised $200,847. There is still a need to raise an additional $100,000-125,000.

"We have a long way to go, but I know we can do it," stated Neal Smith, chair of the board of directors. "The people of Davie County have shown their generosity on countless occasions and I don't think this will be any different." Raising $300,000 from the county and adding designations that come into the county will enable DCUW to support local needs of Davie residents.

To make a donation or pledge to DCUW, email Cyndi Shrewsbury, director of finance and administration, at cashrewards@dcuwinitedway.org or telephone 751-0313.

"Every dollar you give will go a long way in helping others," said Melinda Beauchamp, DCUW director.

The following is a list of United Way agencies:

- American Red Cross
- Big Brothers Big Sisters
- Bowman Gray Child Guidance Center
- Boy Scouts of America
- Buckle Up Davie
- Cancer Services

The deadline for receiving applications for this process is Jan. 20. Agencies that apply must request funding for programs that would impact the community in the following ways: education; health & wellness; or income/financial stability.

Farmington News

By Laura Mathis
Farmington Correspondent

The Farmington Community Association is now the owner of the Farmington Medical Center property on Farmington Road. At the Jan. 3, meeting of the association board of directors, John Caudle, president of the Medical Center Board, presented the deed for the property to Tom Campbell, president of the Farmington Community Association.

Mr. Caudle read the following statement: "The Farmington Medical Center was organized and incorporated in 1958. The specific purpose of the organization was to provide a facility from which medical services could be rendered to the people of the Farmington community and surrounding areas. The organization was successful in the endeavor for a number of years. Over the years however, due to population shifts and the way medical services are rendered, it has become increasingly clear that we are no longer able to meet the demands of the modern day trends and securing a new medical provider for this location has been unsuccessful. After discussions with the Farmington Community Association concerning their interest in the property, the board of directors of the Farmington Medical Center made a decision that it would be in the best interest of the entire community to transfer ownership of the building and adjacent land to the Farmington Community Association. This would enable them to market the facility and property in some way that would benefit the entire community. They could also sell the property at an appropriate time and use the funds to advance development of the park on land already owned by the association."

The Farmington Community Center is proud to own the former medical center and will work toward using the facility to further the center's mission to "Preserve the Past to Promote the Future". For now, the association is accepting requests from small business owners who feel that their business would be a benefit to the community and would be interested in leasing the space. Coolee News

By Karen Chandler Smith
Coolee Correspondent

Jimmy Lookbill would like to thank everyone in Coolee for their prayers and concern after the death of his daughter, Julie, on Nov. 25. He would especially like to thank the drug store folks for their help for his family. Jennifer, Tyler and Brianna are also grateful.

As my wheels turn on the pavement of 801 toward Coolee, my mind begins to wander again. One would think traveling on the same small strip of road everyday would get old but I always find something that captures my attention. My favorite time to travel is after a long gentle rain. The bark on the trees and the long swaying grasses in the fields take on a deep saturated hue. Sometimes I wish I could just pull over and stare at the vignette, for as the time goes by, it is an ever-changing scene as the sun comes out to play.

When I approach the curve at the Presnell's junkyard there is a house on the right that brings back memories. Melanie Spake invited me to go there to visit her family one-day and I loved that house. Don't remember how old we were but I strongly remember a large window and sofa and the most beautiful natural light coming in the room.

Often at that curve I also remember the night we got a phone call and my brother John had the neighborly task of going across the street to tell Mr. and Mrs. Baney Holland their son Jimmy had an awful accident there. That was a scary and sad night for all of us.

But I always look at the old Sheppard house on the left at the curve too, so to look for any improvements. Someone has been working on it for some time now and since I noticed quite a few cars, I decided to turn around and meet the owners.

Men were under the house, one was outside looking at electrical and one came walking out of the shed. Josh Nail and his wife Jennifer bought the Sheppard house about three years ago and have been working on it a little at a time. He is the project manager at a high rise in Chapel Hill and they come home with their three children most weekends to work. They have family members and friends that are in the trade that do work throughout the week.

As we stood out in the breezy air under one of his 10 pecan trees, Josh pointed to a house across the way down on Swicegood Street and said that is where he grew up. He swam at the Bull Hole, Coolee Pool and played at the park. Josh said, "Even when I was 23 or 24 years old I knew if and when I had kids I wanted to raise them in this area." He said Coolee gets a bad rap sometimes and that bad apples are everywhere "but there are less here."

All the neighbors around the house have been living there for 40-70 years and it is nice to know your neighbors. Many friends have come over to help cut down trees and go under the house to do some of the dirty work. Josh has an uncle in Richmond, Va. and he comes to help out with the tile and granite installation. Sounds like to me it is a family affair.

Josh says Coolee is the best place to raise a kid. His son Reid is in school at Chapel Hill and he isn't getting near what he received at Coolee. Josh lived in Florida for 10 years while he stretched out his wings to see some of the world but soon found out that Davie County and Coolee was fine with him. His wife Jennifer is from Whiteville and she likes Coolee. They are doing their best to get back as soon as they can.

Henry Grimes built the house in the early 1900s where he had a fruit orchard. Apple and cherry trees can still be found down Swicegood Road. Refinishing the wood has preserved most of the old wavy glass in the original windows and some of the weights didn't work but the windows are usable. "Every mark, nook and cranny is history in this old house and doesn't need to be made new," says Josh. There is a large area upstairs that will eventually be completed for a master suite.

Hopefully in about a year the house will be complete enough to move the family to their new home. In the meantime, Josh will heat up the cooker so the Boston butts and ribs can smoke all day until about 6 o'clock, so family and friends can "go to town eating."

A while back when there was an auction there, Gail Sheppard Spencer was offered $15,000 for the old staircase and the front door but she refused. Josh's wife Jennifer remembers the day they walked up to consider buying the place and she peered in the window. That staircase is what spoke to her heart and she jumped on board with the idea.

You could tell the free labor going on around me was labor of passions. They are all working hard so part of their family can come home - a home where they can create new memories in a home that has room for a whole lot more.

Would love to hear from you so contact me at www.cooleenews@gmail.com or call me at: 336.250.1133.

County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

Our community bid goodbye to the harsh cold front that swept through the first of last week and welcomed the warmer, beautiful weather the weekend. Some folks took advantage of the after-Christmas bargains while others watched football playoff games plus the surprising college showdown between LSU and Alabama. Although I don't watch pro-basketball and pro-football, I must admit I have made an exception this year with the Denver Broncos. I have followed Tim Tebow's career since his college days and my friend Karon, who attended the same church as Tim, told me about his strong commitment to God.

Amidst the continued football playoffs and winter weather, there are some activities planned.

The Baptist Men of Society will meet at 7 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 14 in the fellowship hall. After breakfast and prayer, the group will do some maintenance work at the church. They invite others in the community.

Salem United Methodist Church will begin a four-week Bible study Sunday, Jan. 15. The study will meet from 4:30-6 p.m. in the fellowship hall each Sunday. Learn how to serve Salem and the Kingdom of God.

The Clarksburg Seniors will meet at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 17 in the fellowship hall. After a covered-dish dinner, the group will have a program led by a representative of the Gordon Hospice House of Statesville. The group invites other senior adults in the community.

The Women on Missions of Society Baptist Church will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19 in the fellowship hall. After a period of refreshments and fellowship hosted by Marie Prather, the group will begin a study on North American mission work led by Mildred Benfield. They invite others for an afternoon of fellowship and mission study.

Involved of Society Baptist will host a family game and fun night Friday, Jan. 20 in the fellowship hall. Activities will begin at 5 p.m. and include games and good eating. A soup and sandwich meal will be served. Church members are asked to bring crackers, chips, snacks, and drink plus a favorite board or card game. Society invites others in the community to enjoy an evening of family fun and food.

include a country ham and sausage breakfast sponsored by the Salem United Methodist Men at the County Line VFD Saturday, Jan. 28; gospel singing at 7 a.m. at Society Baptist Sunday, Jan. 29; and a V-point Ruritan country ham and sausage breakfast at the V-Point Building Saturday, Feb. 4.

Our County Line VFD held its annual awards supper Saturday night at the VFD building. Our community sends congratulations to award recipients: Randy Stroud for Firefighter of the Year, Amy Michalski for First Responder of the Year, and Todd Shores for Chief's Choice. We congratulate all VFD members for their effort protecting our community this past year. We also welcome new members Luke Fox, Steven Michalski, and Jacob Stroud. The awards program included a tribute to long-term firefighter David Johnson, who lost his battle with acute leukemia in August.

We send happy birthday wishes to my mother Pauline Gibson Thorne, who will celebrate her 95th birthday Friday. Today she remains prescription-free except for an occasional antibiotic. Her favorite pastimes are reading her newspaper, watching TV, playing bingo, and going places plus having visits and calls from relatives and friends. Motlier, all of us in County Line wish you a happy and healthy new year of life.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Ernest Thomas Seamon, who died Sunday of last week at Davie County Hospital after several weeks of declining health. He was born in 1927 in Davie County to the late William "Bill" and Etta Williams Seamon of County Line. He was reared in the Davie Academy and Ridge road areas and attended Society Baptist Church in his youth. He graduated from Cool Spring High School in 1944 and married fellow classmate Jean Forrest of Jones Road in May 1945. The couple settled on Davie Academy Road and attended nearby Jericho Church of Christ. A former textile worker, he was retired from the Celanese and enjoyed participating in the activities of Davie Senior Services. A service celebrating his life was held this past Saturday morning at Jericho Church of Christ, and he was laid to rest in the church cemetery.

We send get-well wishes to Gladys Whitaker Griffith, Diane Harris Shoffner, and Otis Snow. Gladys had knee replacement surgery at Ireddell Memorial Hospital Wednesday of last week. Diane had a light stroke Friday of last week, was in Forsyth Medical Center, and has been recuperating at home since Monday evening. Otis was to have leg surgery at Duke University Medical Center Tuesday. Mary Anna McDanel remains at Davis Regional Medical Center. Barry Wilson remains at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center and has been moved from intensive care to a regular room. Esther Campbell remains in rehab at Ireddell Memorial Hospital. Lois Harris, Howard Safrit, and Helen Steele remain in rehab at Autumn Care of Mocksville.

Join us in prayer for the Lord's divine healing and blessings upon Gladys, Diane, Otis, Mary Anna, Barry, Esther, Lois, Howard, Helen, and others who are experiencing health problems. Pray for the Lord's comfort and strength upon Ernest's family as they adjust to life without him.

Mocks Sets Up Fund For Romingers

Mocks United Methodist Church has set up a fund to assist the Rominger family with medical bills.

Josh Rominger, 16, has been in the hospital since the middle of December for synovial cell sarcoma, a type of soft tissue cancer. The initial surgery removed his right lung and 98 percent of the tumor. He has since fought infections, has had respiratory problems, and has had his left leg amputated at the knee. To learn more, visit <http://www.caringbridge.org/visit/joshrominger>.

Mocks set up an account at the Bank of the Carolinas, Advance office, to receive donations from the community to help with his medical bills. Contact the church office at 998.5518 with questions.

Students Exhibit Winning Entries In Art Festival

The Mocksville Woman's Club Art Festival gives middle school and high school students, residents of Davie County Group Home and their own club's members an opportunity to exhibit their artwork. This year's local competition included more than 180 entries all shown at the Brock Performing Art Center until Dec. 20.

A opening reception was held on Monday, Dec. 5. The evening gave school teachers, parents and friends a chance to meet the artist and congratulate the winners.

This year's first place winners will have their art go on to the District competition Feb. 18. District first place winners will be entered into the state competition.

Big 7-0-0 Lowery Reaches Milestone For Career Wins

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Buddy Lowery never gloats about victories. He doesn't like attention centered on him. He can definitely do without a microphone and speech.

Like it or not, all the attention was directly on Lowery last week when Davie's wrestling team hosted Reynolds and Reagan. Lowery was the focus because he notched his 700th career win.

After the War Eagles brushed aside the first two opponents in the Central Piedmont Conference race, folks were asked to move from the gym to the lobby. A cake decorated with big numbers 7-0-0 was awaiting Lowery.

"It's a very special evening as coach Lowery gets a monumental win," Davie athletic director Mike Absher said to the crowd. "We actually started talking about this last summer. We knew it would happen at some point in time, and we're excited it happened tonight. I know he's excited to have it behind him. For those of you who don't know, coach Lowery has a new cell phone and he told me it's been ringing nonstop (about the milestone). If you would, join me in congratulating coach Lowery for his 700th career win."

Then junior Ryan Smith stepped up and handed Lowery a frame with pictures commemorating the moment.

"All the juniors and seniors and junior-senior parents made this," Smith said as he handed the gift to Lowery. Lowery, as everyone fully expected, was modest about the accomplishment. Heck, "Modesty" might be his middle name. His speech was short and to the point - vintage Lowery.

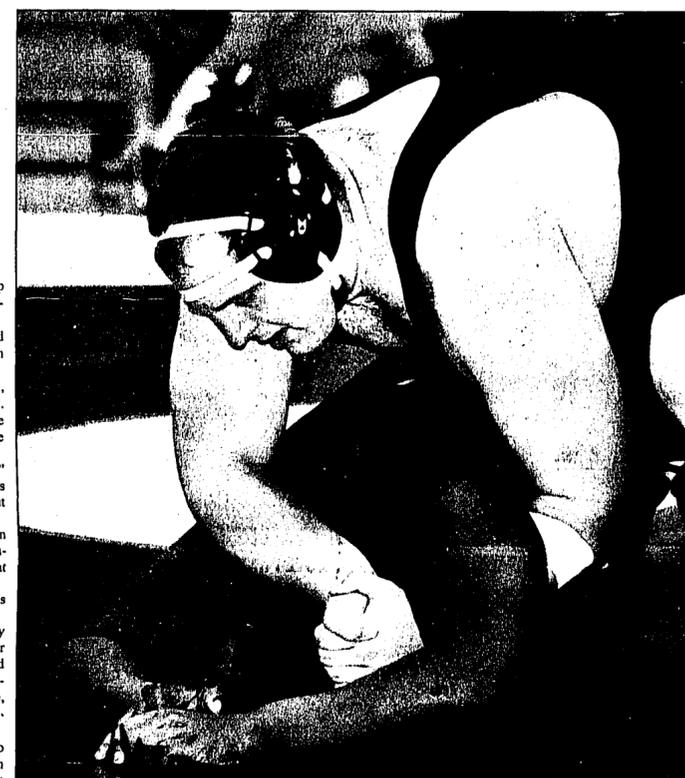

"Am I supposed to say something?" he said. "I'm kind of glad that this is over with. Now I don't have to get but 99 more to get to 800."

Eric Booie, the father of freshman Tyler Booie, blurted: "My son's a freshman and we're going to be here for that cake, too."

The War Eagles clobbered Reynolds 75-6 to get Lowery to the 700 mark. Twelve pins were delivered by Lake Billings, Trevor Albarron, Parker Grant, Smith, Logan Cartner, Gerald Whitaker, Daniel Wilson, Austin Whitaker, Trevon Faulkner, Alex Gobble, Parker Correll and Mick Spillman.

Jack Robertson won a decision. But the one match that stood out to Lowery was the one loss. Freshman Craig Moore was pinned at 2:20, but Senior Mick Spillman is on a 10-match winning streak at heavyweight.

Boys Wake Up At Crunch Time, Win At West

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

CLEMMONS - It's safe to open your eyes now. The Davie boys basketball team survived Friday's Central Piedmont Conference opener at West Forsyth.

The War Eagles roared to a 28-17 lead in the first half, but they were often a step late defending the perimeter and that allowed West to make things tense. But Davie woke up at crunch time and ended the game on an 18-5 run to win 63-56.

Davie improved to 11-2 overall, bouncing back from a 60-59 loss to North Rowan in the championship of the Moir Christmas Classic. The thought of going to Mt. Taber with an 0-1 mark in the CPC was not a pleasant one to coach Mike Absher. Fortunately, Davie did a timely about-face.

"That's life in the CPC as we know it," Absher said after getting a handful from a 6-9 West club. "We dug deep. There was a lot of toughness mentally and physically. We talk about toughness all the time, and we got some huge stops and some huge rebounds. We needed to be 1-0 in the league."

The War Eagles opened just fine. They outrebounded West 13-3 in the first quarter en route to a 19-10 lead.

That portion of the game saw Davie overcome a mental hurdle - playing without injured Caleb Martin, the No. 3 scorer at 13.8 points per game. Davie lost to North Rowan with Caleb in street clothes. He's out until at least mid-February.

"We played very, very well during that time because mentally we still weren't quite sure where we were without Caleb," Absher said.

The lead was 28-17 when Davie began to sputter. West took full advantage, using an 18-6 run to grab a 35-34 halftime lead.

"We were not attacking enough," Absher said. "We were settling too much for jump shots. The more ball movement you have, the better chance

Worth Noting ...

Nate Jones (24 points, 6 rebounds, 5 assists, no turnovers) and Cody Martin (18 points, 12 rebounds, 4 steals) came through at crunch time to will Davie's boys to a 63-56 win at W. Forsyth.

Heavyweight Mick Spillman posted three straight pins for Davie wrestling in the Orange Duals. Trevon Faulkner has a 13-match winning streak.

Quin Holland earned a pair of wins (backstroke, 100) as the Davie boys swim team tied Reagan 81-81.

Branson Farnell scored 20 points, the most by a Davie JV boys player all season, but he couldn't prevent a 69-54 loss to W. Forsyth.

Josh Hill has nine pins in as many tries for N. Davie wrestling.

Dylan Shoffner (18) and Ryan Harrell (15) combined for 33 points, hitting seven 3s between them, as N. Davie's boys romped past Forbush 55-34.

Kyle Cookson of S. Davie wrestling is 10-0 with nine pins. He hasn't been pushed to the third period.

Isalah Whitley and Luis Hernandez are both 9-1 for Ellis wrestling.

Caitlin Hill and Aubrianna Peables scored 13 points each, and Patterson Jones played lights-out defense on Lexington's main weapon as the Ellis girls rallied for a 33-29 win.

Ellis Wrestling Topples South

The Ellis wrestling team rolled to 9-1 with a 63-30 win over visiting South Davie last week.

The Tigers fell to 3-6, but they actually put up a good fight. They handed Ellis 30 points in forfeits. The teams split 10 pins, and Ellis won six of 11 weight classes that were not forfeits.

Then again, Ellis was missing two starters (Brandt Leonard and Austin Freidt).

"South wrestled well and really did well in some weight classes," Ellis coach Jason Hooker said. "We are still working hard and trying to improve."

coached loved his fearlessness to take on an unbeat senior by the name of Denzelle Dejourmette, who is 26-0. Moore stepped to the plate even though it was his second varsity match.

"I was going to forfeit and Craig said, 'I'm not scared of him.'" Lowery said. "I said, 'Well, let's go then.' I liked it because he's not going to do anything but get better. I don't want them to walk up in the state duals and say: 'I don't want to go out there. He might hurt me.' You've got to have the mental attitude that hey, let's go to work. (Dejourmette) is a manchild, but he's a senior and Craig's a freshman. (Dejourmette) is 6-foot-3, maybe 6-4, and right at 220."

Later in the evening, the War Eagles walloped Reagan 62-13 to run their record to 21-1 overall.

Billings, Grant, Cartner, Wilson, Faulkner, Harrison Sales and Moore got pins as Davie extended its CPC winning streak to 23. Smith and G. Whitaker had major decisions. Albaron and Spillman took forfeits.

Lowery did not see a 49-point blowout coming.

"When Reagan wrestled Reynolds, I'm thinking: 'How good is Reagan?'" he said. "It was ugly (in Reagan's favor). They pinned, pinned, pinned, pinned. I was like: 'Dang, maybe I should have wrestled those suckers first.' But we wrestled pretty good. We're getting better."

Lowery's journey to 700 began with short steps. After five years on the job (1976-77 through 1980-81), he was a less-than-stellar 35-32. But an 11-2 season in 1981-82 got him rolling. He is 703-100 in 36 years, and he's 668-68 in the last 31.

The good ones make a program theirs. They become so entwined that you can't imagine a program without them. That's Lowery and Davie wrestling. And Lowery is hungry for several more years and many more wins. He owns three state championships and has been tantalizingly close on a number of other occasions.

"I've got no regrets," he said. "I never wanted to go anywhere else. I started eight or nine freshmen and sophomores that first year. I told them: 'If I don't win in four or five years, go ahead and fire me.'"

In the Orange Duals on Saturday, the War Eagles lost 47-16 to host Orange. That was not a big surprise. Orange beat Davie last year 31-27, handing the War Eagles one of their three losses, and Orange is 8-0 this season, also winning four of five individual tournaments.

"We're just not good enough in the practice room to make somebody work hard," he said. "They don't understand that concept of make him work but let him get it. They think: 'I'm going to make him work and he's not going to get it.'"

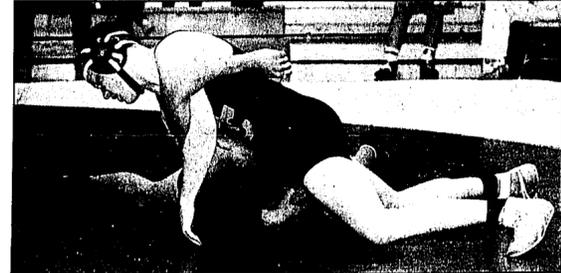

Davie rebounded without any trouble, belting Durham School of the Arts 60-23 and Wake Forest-Rolesville 58-14. No one was better on the day than Spillman, who went 3-0 with three pins. Faulkner, Gobble and Smith were also 3-0.

Robertson was 2-0 with two pins. Albaron, Grant and Cartner went 2-1. Correll and Jamie Spry went 1-1.

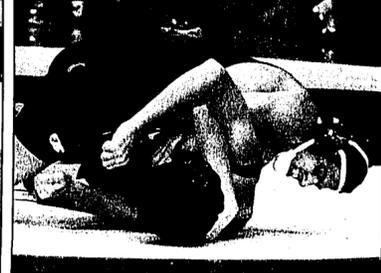

Notes: A correction: At East Burke two weeks ago, Faulkner went 5-0 instead of 4-1. ... Davie's win leaders include Albaron at 29-8, Faulkner at 27-5, Billings at 27-15, G. Whitaker at 26-10, Spillman at 23-11, Smith at 21-6, Robertson at 20-13, Gobble at 18-5, Cartner at 16-10 and Grant at 15-6. ... Faulkner has won 13 straight, Spillman 10 straight and Smith nine straight. ... Albaron and Grant had won nine and seven straight, respectively, before losing to Orange. ... A. Whitaker is an impressive 6-1 in spot duty.

you have at offensive rebounds. But if you're settling for those jump shots, it's hard to get an offense rebound a lot of times because they're in good rebounding positions.

"And they started making 3s. They got open in the corner, and we weren't closing out hard enough."

Every time West tried to gain significant separation in the third, Davie had the poise to strike back. Davie's deficit was 40-35 before Cody Martin nailed a 3-pointer from the corner. It was 43-39 before Nate Jones passed to a cutting Martin for two. It was 47-43 before Shannon Dillard rebounded and scored.

West scored the first four points in the fourth to build a 51-45 lead. A shade over six minutes remained.

"We finally started attacking the goal late, and that freed up some things," Absher said.

The War Eagles' comeback was greased lightning. They punished West 18-5 in the final 4:38. They scored eight points in 38 seconds to snatch the lead. The eight in 38: Jones drove to cut it to four; Martin penetrated, kissed it home and drew the foul to cut it to one; and after Jones took a charge on the defensive end, he popped a 3-pointer for a 53-51 Davie lead.

West tied it, but Jones pulled up and made a 16-footer for a 55-53 lead. Then Peyton Sell and Jones pulled down crucial defensive rebounds.

Jones punctuated the win by hitting six of six free throws in the final minute.

"We definitely did not shoot well," Absher said. "But you have to be able to gut those kind of games out, and we did. We made some shots coming down the stretch that were huge."

Jones had a subpar game (6-of-17 shooting) and still scored 24 points. He came through with six rebounds, five assists, no turnovers and hit nine of 11 free throws. Not to mention two charges on defense.

When West seemed ready to put Davie on the ropes, Jones took over at the point and righted the ship.

"Coach (Johnny) Miller suggested putting Nate at the point for the last five minutes, and boy, it created some wonderful opportunities for us offensively," he said. "And we needed something to jump-start us right there."

"Nate had some shots rim out. He was pressing because he'd had those shots going for him. I said: 'Nate, you've just got to relax and hold your follow through.' Then he buried some big ones."

With North Carolina assistant coach C.B. McGrath on hand to scout Cody, as well as an assistant from Tennessee, the sophomore and one-half of the twin combination put together a stellar line - 18 points, 12 rebounds and four steals. He got on track after a slow start.

"I missed a couple ones early, but once he got settled he played really well," Absher said. "I think his confidence went up several notches."

Notes: Dillard had 13 points. ... Davis Absher contributed six assists, all in the first half. ... Jones is averaging 26.1 points, Dillard 15.7 and Cody 12.

Girls Playing Tough Teams

It's no fun being 2-11 and losing by 32 in your league opener. But Davie girls basketball coach Denny Key knows this is a learning process.

The War Eagles, who lost 59-27 Friday at West Forsyth, are just trying to develop. Key's not looking at the scoreboard. He's looking at development game by game. He's looking to the future.

"There's no doubt in my mind that we've got a better team than we had last year," Key said. "But West Forsyth and every team in our league is better than last year. Reynolds might be the one exception, but Reynolds is good. Basically every team in our league is better than last year. We're just playing awesome teams."

The Titans wasted no time taking care of Davie, leading 20-4 after one quarter and 36-11 at the half. Davie had 15 turnovers in the first 16 minutes.

West has an 11-2 record. Key appreciated the class of West coach LaQuanda Quick.

"They are a very talented team, and (Quick) called her pressure off at the end of the first quarter," he said. "She played everybody. Their second team was good. I was admiring a real good team that we played, and I felt real good about the effort of our girls."

Amy Steller (12) and Laura Shelton (11) accounted for all but four of Davie's points.

"Laura and Amy played really good together," he said of the backcourt tandem. "They got each other open."

O'Brien Encouraged In JV Girls Loss

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

The Davie JV girls basketball team's winning streak ended to visiting West Forsyth in Friday's Central Piedmont Conference opener. But the effort that Davie put forth meant something to coach Jenn O'Brien. Davie passed several tests before failing the final exam in the form of a 49-41 defeat.

After battling West to a 33-33 draw through three quarters, O'Brien had plenty of reasons to feel good about Davie's chances against other CPC rivals.

Unbeaten West snapped Davie's four-game winning streak and improved to 12-0. Davie slipped to 7-3.

"We made adjustments," O'Brien said. "We definitely ran with them. We hustled and played defense. We hung with them the whole game, with the exception of (West's) run in the second quarter."

The first quarter ended 8-8. West pulled out to a 22-10 lead, but Davie closed the half on a 7-0 run to make it 22-17. In the third, the War Eagles extended the run to 23-11.

Point guard Courtney Bode was electrifying in the third, scoring eight points in the blink of an eye. She hit a long two-pointer (her foot was on the line), followed by a pair of 3s. Davie got two points each from Ashton Brown, Allie Fruits, Kara Rice and Brooke Hedgspeth to force the tie at 33.

The War Eagles were just where they wanted to be. They were humbling, but they suddenly stopped. That's because West threw a box-in-one on Bode, and Davie couldn't gain any traction from that point on.

"It was a tight box and we couldn't get her the ball," O'Brien said. "Ashton and Brooke took over the role of point guard, and they did a good job. But it changes the game when Courtney isn't running the plays."

Bode fouled out with three minutes left, and West outscored Davie 16-8 in the fourth.

Davie was victimized by freshman West point guard Victoria Washington, who averages 13 points per game, poured in 22, scoring at least four in every quarter and shrugging off Davie's own box-in-one defense.

"We ran a box-in-one on her point guard, but we couldn't stop her," she said. "She is fast and we couldn't keep up with her. I hate to say that one player beat us, but she had 22 points."

Notes: Bode finished with 41 points, bumping her average to 9.5. ... Brown and Destiny Johnson had seven each. ... West's 49 were the most points Davie has allowed all season. ... West's veteran coach, Kevin McIntosh, said Davie is the best team West has faced. He said he was especially impressed by Bode and Johnson.

West Forsyth 49, Davie 41 - Courtney Bode 13, Ashton Brown 7, Destiny Johnson 7, Allie Fruits 5, Kara Rice 5, Brooke Hedgspeth 4.

West Overcomes Parnell's 20 Points For JV Boys Team

West Forsyth put the brakes on the Davie JV boys basketball team's three-game winning streak, beating the War Eagles 69-54 in the Central Piedmont Conference opener here last week.

The War Eagles were there in the first quarter, trailing 17-16, but West turned it on in the second quarter and established a 39-27 halftime lead.

Davie (4-7 overall) trimmed two off the deficit in the third, but couldn't keep pace with West in the fourth.

Davie played without Caleb Dyer, who will be out for a while. He was injured while ice skating over the holidays. He scored a season-high 13 points in the last Davie game before the break.

Branson Parnell (20 points) scored the most points by a War Eagle this season. He's been a constant, cracking double figures in eight of 11 games. He had six points in each of the first three quarters and went four of four at the free-throw line.

J.Q. Dalton (12) had his fourth straight double-figure game. Matt Hendrix added 8.

Cody Hodges, Bradley Collins, Josh Byrd and Joey Myers, the Jaguars collected their fourth straight win. Jay Clary won a decision for Ellis. The forfeits went to Luis Hernandez, Hank Potts, J.J. Hayes, James Boyle and Luke Prapans.

Just how deep is Ellis? Clary, who won his middle-school debut, and Hayes became the 29th and 30th Jaguars to wrestle in a match this season.

All five of South's winners got pins. They were Gabe Coleman, Forrest Matthew, Corbin Kopetzky, Kyle Cookson and Karleon Gregory.

The hottest wrestlers in the county are South's Cookson and North Davie's Josh Hill. Cookson has been a machine. His 10-0 record includes nine pins, and the other win was a forfeit.

He has guts, too. Cookson bumped up from 162 to 173 to face Cade Carney, and Cookson pinned in the second.

"He's up there with (past Tigers like) Alex Costner and Nathan Howard," South coach Perry Long said. "He's tough and he can run about anything. He goes after you and there is no quit. He's going to keep wrestling. I really think he likes football better, but I think he likes wrestling now. I feel like he'll wrestle at the high school."

Cookson has not been pushed to the third period all year, and no one has managed to put him on his back, not even for a fleeting second.

"Cade is physically stronger than Kyle, but Kyle's just been on the mat so long," Long said. "Hands down, Cade is stronger. I told Kyle: 'You just have to weather the first period because mat experience will win for you.' That's what happened."

Perhaps the best-kept secret in the county is Kopetzky, who is only 3-1 because he missed six matches with a sickness. Now he is ready to shine.

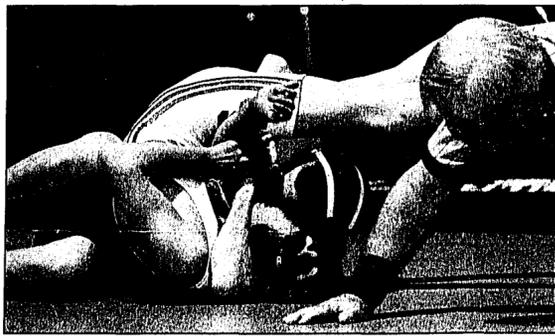

"I'm going to tell you, Corbin really gives (Cookson) all he wants in the practice room," Long said. "And Corbin beat Kyle in overtime at the Sun Valley AAU tournament last weekend to go to the finals. They wrestle hard with each other."

Later in the week, the Tigers lost 67-24 at home to Thomasville. South got pins from Coleman, Kopetzky and Cookson. Jalen Scott received a forfeit.

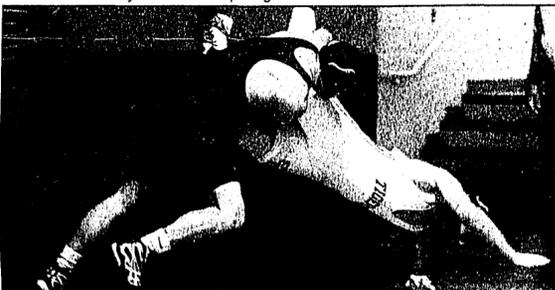

Notes: Ellis' top records belong to Whitley (9-1), Hernandez (9-1), Potts (8-2), Myers (8-2), Leonard (6-2) and Freid (6-2). ... Besides Cookson's 10-0 mark for South, Coleman is 7-1 and Gregory 6-3.

Double Team On Hampton Turns Game

After playing three solid quarters but getting dominated in the third and losing for the third straight time - 39-33 at home to Forbush last week - it would be easy for the North Davie girls basketball team to start moping around. Coach Trish King is trying to keep that negative attitude from setting in, reiterating to her players that better times are ahead.

"I'm still waiting for that game when everything falls into place at the same time offensively and defensively," King said. "It'll come. We'll just have to be patient. We believe in our girls and in our team effort. It's not over yet."

North center Ashlyn Hampton wreaked all kinds of havoc in an incredible first quarter. She scored 11 points as the teams ended the quarter in a tie at 15. North took a 22-21 lead into halftime.

But North (2-6) was done in by a 10-3 Forbush surge in the third.

"It was a tough game to lose," King said. "Even though we played mostly seventh graders against their all-eighth-grade team, it should have been a win for us. Going into the locker room at halftime, things looked promising. However, we hit a wall."

Hampton's first-quarter explosion prompted Forbush's coach to employ a double-team. The move thwarted Hampton, who would only score two more the rest of the game, and her teammates were unable to pick up the slack.

"We were putting up good shots," she said. "We just could not seem to get any of them to fall. Once they double-teamed Hampton, we had a hard time scoring from the outside."

King was disturbed by North's poor rebounding. "I was disappointed in our boxing out," she said. "We have worked so hard on that particular skill, and it hurts us as a whole when we miss those crucial rebounds."

Hampton finished with 13 points. It was her fifth double-figure effort in eight games.

Madison Bohannon and McKenzie Barneycastle added 10 and eight points, respectively. A silver lining was the defense of Barneycastle, Bohannon and Lindsey Custer.

"I was extremely proud of our intensity level in our press and halfcourt defense," she said. "Barneycastle, Bohannon and Custer really made a difference with their defensive pressure."

North Davie Boys Take Control In A Hurry

The North Davie boys basketball team will play at least five more games, yet it already has the most wins in four years after pounding Forbush, 55-34, at home last week.

"The Wildcats managed just eight victories over the previous three years, but they improved to 5-3 and broke a two-game slide with the win over Forbush."

The Wildcats rocked Forbush with an overwhelming run in the first quarter. Dylan Shoffner and Ryan Harrell combined for 17 points as North sprinted to a 23-9 lead.

"We really got after them," coach Matt McPherson said of the early knockout. "We looked the best that I've seen us look. I mean putting 23 points up in a six-minute quarter is hard to do. We played like I really thought we could play all year. We took it to the hole, and we kicked it out."

The Wildcats pushed the margin to 37-17 by halftime. By rule, you can not press with a 20-point lead, and that explains North's drop-off in the third (four points). But the damage had been done.

"We pressed until we got up by 20," McPherson said. "Then we couldn't feed off our defense, and we got out of our rhythm."

Shoffner, Ryan Harrell, Jordan McDaniel and Nathan Harrell all had their moments in the offensive sun. Shoffner (18 points) buried four 3-pointers and cracked double figures for the sixth time. Ryan (15) knocked down three 3s and reached double digits for the fourth consecutive game. McDaniel had 11 points and Nathan nine.

"We set goals (over the holidays), and one of them was to hold Forbush under 10 points each quarter," he said. "We held them to nine, eight, eight and nine. We wanted to score at least 10 points every quarter, and we did that in the first, second and fourth quarters."

Notes: Austin King came off the bench and took two charges. "Those are always momentum-changers," McPherson said. ... Shoffner is averaging 13.8 points, Ryan 10.7, McDaniel 8.1

and Nathan 6.7.

North Davie 55, Forbush 34 - Dylan Shoffner 18, Ryan Harrell 15, Jordan McDaniel 11, Nathan Harrell 9, Michael McCaffrey 2.

North Davie's Hill Gets 9th Straight Pin

David Sigmon and Jake Barneycastle won decisions, and Sam Harvey received a forfeit.

Hill is 9-0 on the season. A trio of 'Cats have 8-1 marks, including Barneycastle, Griffin and Myers.

Notes: While North won 11 of 15 weight classes in the real match, it took four of five prelims. Kyle McCune and Hunter Spencer had pins, and Matt Nesbit and Zack Noriega posted major decisions.

Thomasville Sweeps SD Basketball

Thomasville pushed the South Davie boys basketball team's losing streak to three with a 54-36 win over the visiting Tigers last week.

The Tigers (3-6) played a strong first quarter, which ended with the score tied at 14. But Thomasville began to pull away in the second and led 34-23 at the half.

As usual, Nic Starnes led South's scoring with 13 points. It was his fifth straight game in double figures.

Ben Juarez was second for South with 10 points. He has been coming on strong of late. After scoring no more than four in the first seven games, he has 21 in the past two.

The South girls (1-8) lost 37-7 to Thomasville. Thomasville 37, South Davie 7 - Hannah Sales 5, Jaidyn Bentley 2.

Thomasville 54, South Davie 36 - Nic Starnes 13, Ben Juarez 10, Dalton Trawitz 4, Cory Heiner 4, Caleb Wallace 3, Chris Reynolds 2, Noah Stowe 2.

Ellis Girls Make A Statement Vs. Lexington

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

The Ellis basketball team had made strides before last week's home game, but Ellis made a statement against Lexington.

A 33-29 nailbiter win was Ellis' fourth win in five games, but this one felt better than them all. That's because Lexington is a fine team.

"I'm so proud of the girls - all of them - because they work hard at practice, they're improving individually, and ever so gradually we're getting a little bit better, a little bit better and a little bit better," coach Angie Slabach said. "And that really showed in this game. I couldn't be more pleased with where my girls are. It feels like it's all starting to come together."

The Jaguars (5-3 record) trailed at the end of the first quarter (10-7) and trailed at the half (21-18). But the tide would turn as Ellis outscored Lexington 15-8 in the second half. One adjustment that paid off: Slabach called off the press.

"They scored some baskets against our press (in the first half)," she said. "Their good player was their point guard. We were pressing and she weaved through us and got a couple easy shots. So we didn't press in the second half."

Another factor was Ellis' edge in depth. While Slabach was continuously sending in fresh bodies, Lexington was running out of steam.

"Lexington didn't have a deep bench," Slabach said. "They got fatigued and their shots quit going. And one of their good players was in foul trouble. I can play quite a few different people, and our endurance and depth were important."

The centerpieces were Caitlin Hill and Aubrianna Peebles, who scored 13 points each. Hill has 30 in two games. Peebles erupted off the bench and matched her season high.

Peebles was under the gun in the final moments. She was at the free-throw line with Ellis nursing a 31-29 lead. She was oblivious to the pressure, hitting both shots to put the game out of reach.

"And there was plenty of time left for them to hit a game-tying or go-ahead shot," she said. "But Aubrianna hit two free throws to seal it. She played a great game."

Patterson Jones was a key contributor even though she didn't score, as she provided smothering defense on Lexington's top player. The girl finished with 15 points, but she failed hit a field goal in the fourth.

"She came off the bench and gave us a spark on defense," she said. "We put her man-to-man on their key player the last two minutes, and she did a super job. Patterson is quick, she hustles like crazy and she made a lot of good things happen. She gets her hands on passes. She ties the ball up. I mean she's just all over the place."

And then there was Ruby Dennard, Morgan Sessoms and Caitlyn Peebles.

"Ruby got some rebounds, and Morgan always plays solid," she said. "Caitlyn was in there for some key rebounds."

Notes: The Ellis boys (3-5) lost 48-36. Lexington all but put Ellis away with a 20-10 run in the second quarter. Cade Carney (15 points) and Tyler Roberts (eight) were Ellis' top scorers.

"We had some opportunities, but mistakes at inopportune times kept us from making a run at it," coach Johnny Hill said.

South Davie Middle

Lauren Dean's seventh-period language arts class is enjoying its global connection with a middle school in Italy. The classes were partnered through People to People International and have exchanged letters and artifacts. The class will share information about their Italian friends during World Culture Night Feb. 6.

Liam Shaw won the school Geography Bee for the second year. Daniel Forrest was the runner-up. Both are seventh graders. Liam will complete the state test early this month. All students in the school took the preliminary test and the top 10 competed in the school bee Dec. 14.

The eighth grade band spent December performing concerts throughout the county. According to Kathy Perebee, director, the concerts were well received and the students learned a great deal about music, performing and the logistics required to travel and perform. She said they had a great deal of fun while working on the performance unit.

The sixth and seventh grade bands performed at the PTO meeting Dec. 5 and did a fine job, according to Perebee. It was the first time the parents were able to hear the sixth graders perform together as a band.

The eighth grade band will begin preparation for the MPA (Music Performance Adjudication) Festival in March. The students will perform three selections to be judged by a panel of top-ranked music directors and the band will receive a score based on comments. They hope to make a superior rating, the highest.

The School Store is open during lunch. Run by Student Government, the store will offer lead pencils, paper, notebooks and an assortment of items. Most cost 50 cents or $1.

A new sound system for the theatre, funded by the PTO, was installed by Tony Sinopoli over the holidays.

Over the past few weeks the Junior Civitan Club had its induction ceremony, made cards for and visited Somerset Assisted Living, shopped for Little Lambs ($160), collected Toys for Tots, collected canned food for A Storehouse for Jesus. On Jan. 17 they will host a Red Cross Blood drive from 1-5:30 p.m. Club advisors are Debbie Prevette and Ashley Davidson.

Student Government members attended the board of education meeting Jan. 3, receiving PBIS recognition.

William R. Davie Elementary Kindergarten students are learning about the rest of their Letterland friends so they can start practicing knowledge they have learned all year and begin their "reading journey." They are proud of how far they have come and are amazed at how confident they are becoming as beginning readers. Winter activities can be seen throughout the kindergarten hall. Students are learning about winter, and important characteristics about season using their knowledge of weather and animal habits. As the class grows in their use of Letterland Characters while writing and reading the children are learning the difference between 2-dimensional shapes such as squares and circles and 3-dimensional shapes such as cubes and spheres. These math skills will help them with geometry as they progress through the grades.

Second grade students in Diane Ireland's class set goals for 2012. The class has been learning about customs and traditions around the world when it comes to celebrating the New Year. Using Google Earth, students visited Italy, Germany, Sweden, Nigeria, and the United States to explore New Year's traditions.

During math, students have been showing off skills as they review for the second quarter math assessments. Xtra Math has been a tool the students use daily to practice math facts. Many students joined the Subtraction Club and several made it to the Multiplication Club.

In reading students reviewed Daily 5 routines and continue to build stamina for reading independently and to peers. They have been reading books including a class favorite, "If Everybody Did."

During the week of Jan. 9, second graders will get to splash and splash at the YMCA. They will go on a field trip to the YMCA for four days to learn about water safety.

Cornatzer Elementary Second grade learned about geometry and created geometrical shape ornaments to decorate the classrooms. They used these to learn about edges, vertices, and faces of 3-dimensional shapes. They have gone on shape hunts to see what shapes they can find in their classrooms.

Students worked in Santa's workshop to learn about economics. They have had to keep a bank book, buy materials, work to put things together (labor), and then had to purchase their wants to give as gifts. They have been supervised by their fifth grade bosses.

Students learned about Christmas around the world. They have done research to compare the holiday here with that in Brazil, Russia, Australia, Japan, and Greece. They worked in groups to share the information they found with the rest of the class.

Third graders have been delving into the deeper parts of the curriculum. Students have been engaged in hands-on projects, and are building their knowledge for End of Grade tests.

The spotlight for math has been in areas, including: multiplication, reading tables and graphs, algebraic representation, and building problem-solving skills. They are learning to think through complex problems step by step and how to check answers.

Reading helps prepare students for all subjects, and they are learning how valuable being a good reader is to make the most of their education. Students continue reading selections of fiction and nonfiction stories. They are working on reaching individual goals. Most third graders qualified to receive free pizza and ice cream certificates and ice cream for reaching their goals for December.

Students are beginning to learn about research in writing. They are gaining knowledge of the process of writing a good research paper by finding credible resources and organizing our data. Spelling is coming along, as well.

In social studies, students are learning about reading maps and globes. They have been learning about all of the seven continents and four oceans. They learned about cultures and holidays celebrated across the globe during Around the World travels in December. They ate food and made a craft from each country, and left with a souvenir.

In science, third graders are getting ready to learn about the solar system and facts about each planet. They will learn a cool song to help learn about all the planets. They will make some projects and posters that will represent each individual planet. The computer lab will be used in the research and will give the tools needed to explore the facts.

In the coming weeks, P.E. classes will be introduced to activities that enhance and improve their muscular strength, balance and flexibility in preparation for their mid-year fitness testing. Students will have a chance to learn and perform basic movements in plyometrics (jump training), core strengthening and yoga to help them to perform better on their fitness tests.

Students will soon begin volunteering and jump rope units to go along with collecting money for Jump Rope for Heart that goes to the American Heart Association.

Pinebrook Elementary Kindergarten students are learning about the rest of their Letterland friends so they can start practicing knowledge they have learned all year and begin their "reading journey." They are proud of how far they have come and are amazed at how confident they are becoming as beginning readers. Winter activities can be seen throughout the kindergarten hall. Students are learning about winter, and important characteristics about the weather, animals, and how it is different in different parts of the world.

Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Judd's first graders continue working on guided reading skills using the Scott Foresman series. They read a story about a little bird that does not grow and change like her brothers and sisters, but does so in her own time. They talked about how people do the same things. Math had them looking at patterns and designs. Students learned how to extend and name patterns. They used their first names to make patterns. During unit time they began studying maps and globes and learned what planet and continent they live on, as well as the country and state.

Fourth grade students had stories to tell about their holiday. The third Book Talk is due Jan. 9. This book report has to be a biography. Each child is required to give a brief summary of his/her book. They are required to complete a visual presentation - puppets, poster, diorama. Last month, one student made a board game based on his mystery book. Division, multiplication, and factoring are components of math. Students continue working on multiplication facts. In science, they are learning all the ways they use electricity. They are working with balloons, batteries, light bulbs, insulators, and conductors and will learn to build circuits, opened and closed. Vocabulary is a big part of this science unit. Some vocabulary words are circuit, insulator, conductor, current, battery, positive and negative charges, filament, and electrons. Students will make conservation posters for the Davie Soil and Water Conservation District titled, "Wetlands Are Wonderful!" There are strict guidelines they have to follow and they will be judged by the message the poster presents, visual effectiveness, universal appeal, and originality. These posters, if chosen, can be used for promotion of the conservation district program.

Bus riders of the week for Dec. 12-16: Colton Ladd, Ariel Sanders, Emma Roe, Ricki Wilson, Kendal Carter, and Nathaniel Marshall. These students were recognized during morning announcements with a ribbon.

Shady Grove Elementary The first grade class has been learning about economics through an activity called Santa's Workshop. It teaches economic generalizations through role play. The children took on the roles of producers and consumers of goods and services through the magic of Santa and his workshop. They learned that unlimited wants and limited resources create scarcity. They participated in an assembly line making snowmen and Santas to role play the concept of division of labor. For five days the students became producers of goods, making one good per day. They were paid wages for their labor which they deposited in the Shady Grove Bank. On the sixth day, they withdrew their funds from their account. They took these funds and became consumers by purchasing the goods they had made. If they managed their money well, they had extra dollars to spend at the first grade food court.

First grade classes went on a field trip to Mrs. Hanes' Cookie Factory in Clemmons. On the last day of school before Christmas the first graders read The Polar Express. Next they all watched the movie in their pajamas but before they could do that they had to have their ticket punched to board the train. Even the teachers wore pajamas. After the movie the students had activities to complete which showed their comprehension of the story and also used some math problem solving skills. A light snack was enjoyed by all.

Third graders have been learning about economics. In their Kidville community, students applied for jobs and became employers of businesses. Students earned money for making products. Then on shopping afternoon the classroom became a shopping mall with many student choices to visit a bank, withdraw money, use credit cards, and even visit the theater. Afterwards, students were successful on an economics test.

To prepare for upcoming winter assessments, third graders have been practicing math and reading skills using Class Scope. Each child is practicing and learning multiplication facts 0-12 knowing that division is coming soon.

Mucksville Elementary Students of the Week of Jan. 2: Melonie Davis, Jose Hernandez, Emma Winters, Bodie Parker, Daniel Horton, Emma Frausta, Jaden James, Jahyra Young, Rudy Hernandez, Kaitlyn Foil, Nathan Montenegro, Alyssa McDaniell, Layla Caldwell, Joseph Wilson, Shahd Heikae, Zachary Shuskey, Alicia Connor, Connor Durst, Abbe Hurt, Mijly Granadero.

Kindergarten students celebrated the New Year by writing their own resolutions. Many made resolutions to help their parents more, exercise and eat healthy. Kindergarten students learned about their five senses and winter. Mrs. Carson's class had the opportunity to use almost all of their senses while eating Oreos. The students documented what they saw, smelled, felt and tasted; all while eating Oreos. Kindergartners are ready to go shopping. They reviewed pennies and how to count by ones and they learned about dimes and how to count by tens. Mrs. Carson set up a classroom store and the students used their pretend dimes to buy classroom items. The students learned that some items they didn't have enough money for, while they had enough money to buy two of other items. Kindergartners also learned about growing and changing with the book See How We Grow. The students in Mrs. Carson's class brought in baby pictures. They played a guessing game with the pictures. Some of the pictures were easy to figure out while others surprised them. Kindergartners are reading and writing. They learned about the blends and digraphs "th," "ch," "sh," "ck" and "ng."

Mrs. Callison and Ms. Parnell's first grade class, in science, are learning about hibernation and estimation. Students are completing individual research projects at home on animals that hibernate. They will continue working on their projects in the computer lab. In math, the students are diving into subtraction problems. The students are creating cartoons, flip books, and drawing story problems to help them understand and solve subtraction problems.

Mrs. Fletcher's second graders have been learning about weather. Students used instruments that meteorologists use to help them predict the weather. They learned about thermometers, anemometers, humidity, air pressure, and a forecast. They've studied the water cycle and learned about evaporation, condensation and the four types of precipitation. The class read Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs, Pickles in Pittsburgh, The Cloud Book, It Looks Like Spill Milk, and Thunder Cake. The class enjoyed reading Hurricanes and Tornadoes by their favorite author Gail Gibbons. Students created stories about Wodie Weather and shared them with the class. The class went cloud watching one afternoon and shared what they saw in the clouds with classmates. They finished the weather unit with the movie Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs.

Students in Mrs. Carter's class are excited about DARE. They enjoyed getting to meet Sgt. Geiger. The students have begun a unit of study on the United States. Each student chose a state to research. They will create a brochure for their state full of information and fun facts. Students will learn where all 50 states are located along with the capitals. The students documented what

Apply Now For DC Trip

This summer, two rising high school seniors will get an opportunity to visit the halls of Congress, learn more about the political process, and develop their leadership skills during an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. for the annual Rural Electric Youth Tour June 16-22.

Each June, nearly 1,500 high school students from across the country get the opportunity to learn first-hand what it is like to be involved in politics, community service and today's important issues in the energy industry. Students will meet their elect representatives in the U.S. House and Senate, attend legislative briefings and visit historic sites.

Interested students are required to live in the EnergyUnited service area; however, they do not have to receive electricity from EnergyUnited to be eligible. To enter, students must download and complete the application form at www.energyunited.com/youth_tour.asp. Applicants are also required to write a 250- to 500-word letter to an elected official - local, state or national representative - that focuses on a topic important to the student. All qualified applicants will be invited to an interview in late February or early March. Following that, students will be selected to participate in Youth Tour or other upcoming leadership conferences.

The deadline to apply is Monday, Feb. 6. For more information, call (800) 522-3793. Faxes will not be accepted. Applications and letters should be submitted to: EnergyUnited, ATTN: Washington Youth Tour, PO Box 1831, Statesville, N.C. 28687.

WRD Students Have Video Conference With Author

At William R. Davie Elementary, the fourth grades along with Sandy Tucker's had a video conference with Gloria Houston, a North Carolina author, and author of the book, The Year of the Perfect Christmas Tree.

The conference call proved to be an excellent way to start the Christmas holiday, the teacher said.

Students prepared questions, and discovered information about her writing process; her past, present and future plans for her writing career; and awards she has been given.

Houston is known for writing her family into her books, and has written children's books about life during World Wars I and II.

Set in the Appalachian Mountains of North Carolina, The Year of the Perfect Christmas Tree tells the story of Ruthie and her parents who are given the task of providing the perfect Christmas tree for the community Christmas pageant at the church. Since her family is chosen to bring the tree, Ruthie gets the honor of being the angel in the pageant and gets to wear a long white dress with flowing sleeves. When Papa is sent off to war, it falls to Mama and Ruthie to bring in the tree.

Dr. Houston also wrote the book, My Great Aunt Arizona.

Cornazer Students Learn To Say No To Wrong Choices

If anyone asks a Cornazer Elementary fifth grader to take drugs, drink alcohol or smoke a cigarette, they know the right answer.

"No."

They just completed the DARE program under the guidance of Davie Sheriff's Sgt. Alana Geiger. They graduated in front of an audience of parents and guests.

The guest speaker was Davie High senior, and former Cornazer student, Logan Wilkinson. She told students, "I cannot recommend highly enough that you practice and exercise the principles you learned in the DARE program all of your life, and have the courage to stand up for what is right."

Sgt. Alana Geiger, with DARE essay winners Ashley Hendren, Mikhail Harris and Carley Dalton

most important decision you will make in your life."

Davie County Schools Superintendent, Dr. Darrin Hartness, told the fifth graders how fortunate they were to "have a community that wraps its arms around you."

DARE essay winners were Ashley Hendren, Mikhail Harris, and Carley Dalton.

Among the guests at the graduation were Judge Jimmy Myers, County Commissioners Carl Humphrey and Robert Wisecarver, Deputy County Manager Jim Stockert, Brandi Ragan from Davie Domestic Violence, Vice Chair of the Board of Education, Barbara Owens, and Clerk of the Court, Ellen Dreschler.

Shady Grove Art Students Learning Textural Design

The art department at Shady Grove Elementary is celebrating textural design this season with a series of pieces titled "Up Close and Textural."

"Throughout the history of photography artists have been exploring the many textural elements that can be found in our world through a macro lens on a camera," said art teacher, Dana Roberts. "We are also able to study our environment in this manner using our eyes without the camera."

Creations for the next few months will reflect interest in viewing the world "up close". Students will design large camera chalk drawings that highlight the shapes and textures on a 35 mm camera. They will discover that cameras have reflective and geometric components that will allow each piece to enhance contrasts of light.

Another device that can be used to view the environment up close is the microscope.

Students will observe plants and their natural attributes. The aloe plant will be highlighted. Each drawing will allow the viewer to see the plant in an abstract and geometric way.

"Our goal is to work on these masterpieces in preparation for the end of the year Art in the Garden Exhibition," Roberts said. "The focus this year in our garden show will be on the awareness of beauty found in The Art of Nature."

Shady Grove Staff Welcomes Students Back in Style

Martin Luther King Jr.'s 'I Have A Dream' Speech

As we walk, we must make the pledge that we shall always march ahead. We cannot turn back. There are those who are asking the devotees of civil rights, "When will you be satisfied?" We can never be satisfied as long as the Negro is the victim of the unspeakable horrors of police brutality. We can never be satisfied, as long as our bodies, heavy with the fatigue of travel, cannot gain lodging in the motels of the highways and the hotels of the cities. We cannot be satisfied as long as the Negro's basic mobility is from a smaller ghetto to a larger one. We can never be satisfied as long as our children are stripped of their selfhood and robbed of their dignity by signs stating "For Whites Only". We cannot be satisfied as long as a Negro in Mississippi cannot vote and a Negro in New York believes he has nothing for which to vote. No, no, we are not satisfied, and we will not be satisfied until justice rolls down like waters and righteousness like a mighty stream.

I am not unmindful that some of you have come here out of great trials and tribulations. Some of you have come from narrow jail cells. Some of you have come from areas where your quest for freedom left you battered by the storms of persecution and staggered by the winds of police brutality. You have been the victims of creative suffering. Continue to work with the faith that unearned suffering is redemptive.

Go back to Mississippi, go back to Alabama, go back to South Carolina, go back to Georgia, go back to Louisiana, go back to the slums and ghettos of our northern cities, knowing that somehow this situation can and will be changed. Let us not wallow in the valley of despair.

I say to you today, my friends, so even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the heat of injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream today. I have a dream that one day, down in Alabama, with its vicious racists, with its governor having his lips dripping with the words of interposition and nullification; one day right there in Alabama, little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers.

I have a dream today. I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plain, and the crooked places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

This is our hope. This is the faith that I go back to the South with. With this faith we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood. With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

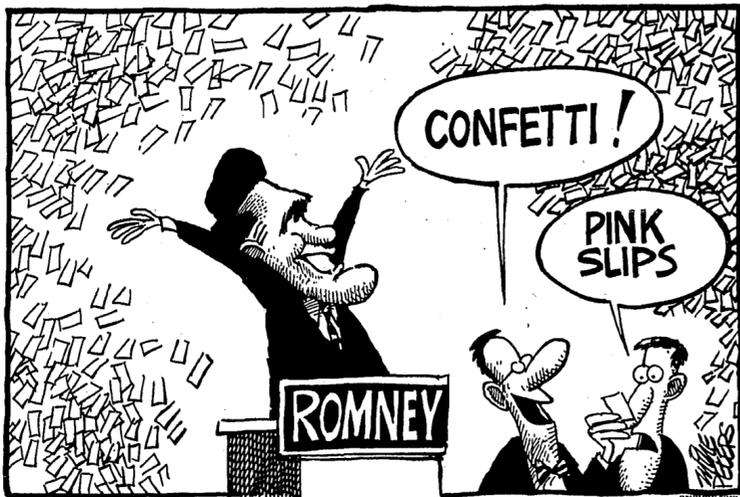

This will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with a new meaning, "My country, 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing. Land where my fathers died, land of the pilgrim's pride, from every mountainside, let freedom ring."

And if America is to be a great nation this must become true. So let freedom ring from the prodigious hills of New Hampshire. Let freedom ring from the mighty mountains of New York. Let freedom ring from the heightening Alleghenies of Pennsylvania!

Let freedom ring from the snowcapped Rockies of Colorado! Let freedom ring from the curvaceous slopes of California! But not only that; let freedom ring from Stone Mountain of Georgia!

Let freedom ring from Lookout Mountain of Tennessee! Let freedom ring from every hill and molehill of Mississippi. From every mountainside, let freedom ring.

And when this happens, when we allow freedom to ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, "Free at last! Free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

In The Mail ...

A Caring Church And Community

To the editor:

Well, they say there's a first time for everything. I can't say I believe that completely - but this is my first time to write an editorial. There have been several times when I have thought about it - usually to voice my opinion about something I did not like - or something I didn't feel was right. I am happy to say my first editorial is not of that kind. It is instead a praise and a thanksgiving.

Davie County certainly has its struggles and its problems - but Davie County is a great place to live and raise a family. My family moved here in March of 2002 when my husband was transferred to the Lee Distribution Center in Mocksville. Our children have grown up here - both are students at Davie High. Prior to October 2011, I had not been as closely connected to my community as I would like to be as serving a church near Rural Hall kept me on the road and very busy. However, this past October, I was called to be the interim pastor at First Presbyterian Church, Mocksville. I was impressed right away by how active this church is in the community and with their mission work. They may not be the biggest church around, but their hearts are huge.

One of their mission projects is a monthly breakfast that goes to benefit some good cause. Most of these causes benefit our local community: The Advocacy Center; Hope Homes; The Dragonfly House; CareNet ... Our breakfast on Jan. 14 went to Josh Rominger's family - and what a response we had from the community. Josh's dad, Mike, was at the breakfast and spoke several times throughout the morning. The flow of people was steady and the amount of money collected was a record breaker.

Thank you First Presbyterian Church for being such faithful followers of Christ and thank you Davie County for your loving response to this heartfelt cause. To the Rominger family - you have our continued love and prayers. Grace and peace.

Residents Are Honest

To the editor:

On Wednesday, Jan. 11, I unknowingly dropped my checkbook when exiting my vehicle at the Walmart store in Mocksville. While in the store, I received a call from my wife asking if I still had the checkbook. She had received a call from a person who found a checkbook in the parking lot and who said that she would turn it into the customer service department.

I sincerely thank you, and it is most gratifying to know that the residents of Davie County and the Town of Mocksville are most decent, honest and trustworthy. I want all who read this newspaper to know how grateful I am, and I send many thanks to the unidentified person who turned in my checkbook.

12 Year Old Sets A Good Example

To the editor:

I am a proud parent my daughter Morgan Gallier, 12, who bought 12 animals with her own money. Then she challenged the fire and rescue association in Davie and the county commissioners to help her get enough for all patients at Brenner's. Well, her voice was heard and hearts were touched and she had enough to buy a total of 80 animals for the patients.

You hardly get to hear anything good on the news much these days but this is good news and inspirational. She has challenged the fire departments to have enough for next year. A very unselfish act of a 12 year old makes all of us think about those in need.

Thank you to all who donated money for to do this and the staff at Brenner's was happy to receive for the children. Thank you again.

A Good many of us have arrived home for the holidays and others are still on the way. It's a busy time for many of us. No factories and shops are open for employment to those boys. They do not want to loaf, and they would rather remain at home than to go to other towns to secure work.

Some Things Never Change

While doing research for a book on Davie veterans of World War I, Marie Roth came across the above editorial in The Davie Record on April 9, 1919. "Some things never change," she said.

Vulcan Materials A Positive Asset To Davie County

To the editor:

Currently, Vulcan Materials has been in a battle with Martin Marietta and Martin Marietta's try to win over the Vulcan Materials shareholders.

Vulcan Materials is a company that takes great pride in how it relates to its surroundings, environmentally and esthetically, as well as partnering with the community in support of our schools. If you have not visited this company on Farmington Road, then I suggest you take some time to do so. Whatever the season, it is pleasant and inviting. You may have not noticed that year after year they have been one of the county's named volunteers for our schools. Their support has been continuous throughout the years. Then visit a Martin Marietta quarry. It may make a big difference in how you view Vulcan and its positive position in Davie County. I would also hope that the stockholders for Vulcan would use great wisdom in their decision.

We need Vulcan Materials in Davie County.

A Christ Centered Community

To the editor:

The Outreach/Missions Committee of First Presbyterian Church would like to thank the members of the community for supporting the Josh Rominger Community Breakfast. The heart-felt love, donations, and fellowship surpassed even our most imaginative expectations. To have so many of you participate and be a part of this time of caring for Josh and the Rominger family speaks volumes about the Christ-centered faith of this wonderful community. Please continue to lift Josh up in prayer.

Also, please mark your calendars for three upcoming breakfasts on the second Saturday of each month from 7-10 a.m. February - Habitat for Humanity; March - The Dragonfly House; and April - The Advocacy Center. We hope to see you there. Peace and blessings.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

M&S Home Builders

Whether Matt Hubbard of M & S Builders is building a new home or digging a hole to fix a foundation, he always takes pride in the craftsmanship, his work ethic, cleanliness on the job and his integrity.

No Job is Too Small
"No job is too small," he said in a recent interview. "Whatever a homeowner needs done around their house, I can take care of it."

Matt, who was born in Winston-Salem and has lived his entire life in this area, has been in the residential construction business for 10 years.

"I am a graduate of UNC-Charlotte with a BSBA degree in small business administration," he noted. "I am also licensed as a limited residential general contractor."

Matt and his wife Meghan have three children - seven-year-old Joshua, four-year-old Sydney and three-year-old Colton.

Building And Remodeling Trends
"In past years, I would build 15 new homes on average," he said. "But now that the economy has slowed, more and more people are remodeling existing homes."

Matt said that remodeling kitchens and bathrooms are on the top of most homeowners lists and that those types of remodels bring a great deal of value to an older home. He also mentioned how much HGTV has helped the building industry.

"I was just working with a family the other day on ways to update their kitchen and they referred back to something they had seen on HGTV."

Some of the upgrades that Matt has done for clients are:

- new cabinets
- adding extra lighting under cabinets and inside corner cabinets that have glass doors
- replacing counter tops with granite or corian
- adding full tile backsplashes
- replacing old flooring with tile or wood
- replacing old appliances with updated stainless steel refrigerators, stoves and dishwashers

Sub-Contractors
Another area Matt prides his company on is his sub-contractors.

"When I search for a sub-contractor, one of the most important things I look for is good chemistry between them and me," he noted. "I also look at price and workmanship. I will always go and check out their work on other houses before I hire them." Matt said he has been fortunate to find some of the finest craftsmen in the area. He has worked with the same sub-contractors for many years.

Free quotes
Regardless of the project, Matt always gives a free quote - whether he is building a new home or a homeowner has a punch list of things that are needing to be done around an existing home.

"No matter how little or big the job is, I will come out, give the quote and if we all agree, I will draw up a contract that we all sign with everything we talked about doing on it," he mentioned. "I am a straight-shooter."

He also sends out a monthly newsletter to all of his clients to keep in touch.

Office Location and Phone Number
M & S Home Builders is located at 1598 Westbrook Plaza Drive, Suite 200 in Winston-Salem. Matt can be reached at 336-399-4826. You can also check Matt out on Angle's List and keep updated on comments from customers and references.

BR Board Members: Meeting Important

By Jim Bulce
Enterprise Record

BERMUDA RUN - As the new mayor in a new year, Ken Rethmeier looks forward to many possibilities.

One of the first steps is the town's Comprehensive Plan, which will be unveiled Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the WinMock at Kinderton Granary Building.

"I would encourage all of us to be there to be a part of that process so we can hear what others are thinking about as they look at this plan," Rethmeier told council members in their regular monthly meeting.

The town planning board, led by Janet Smith, and planning consultants have been working for months reviewing public input in putting together a draft plan for the future that they hope reflects opinions from the community.

"It's a very impressive piece of work," said Rethmeier, who replaced John Ferguson, the mayor since the town was incorporated in 1999. "Janet and her team have done an outstanding job."

It is a 20-year plan with implementation strategies that are prioritized according to public sentiment and cost. Town officials point out that it is not a law but simply a guide for elected officials to help them in making decisions for the future.

Town Manager Lee Rollins agreed with Rethmeier on the Planning Process Has Taken More Than A Year

In January 2011, the Town of Bermuda Run began a more than year-long process to complete its first comprehensive plan.

The town held a series of meetings and distributed surveys in May 2011 to gather initial public input about the future of Bermuda Run. Since that time, the town's planning board has been working with planning consultants Benchmark of Kannapolis, Fuller Architecture of Mocksville, and Miller Landscape Architecture of Winston-Salem to compile a draft comprehensive plan that is ready for public review.

The town will be holding a public input meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m. in the WinMock at Kinderton Granary Building at 173 East Kinderton Way in Bermuda Run. The meeting will include a presentation, refreshments, and a chance to provide feedback.

The draft can be viewed by visiting the town's website at www.townofbr.com and following the links. A copy of the draft plan is available for review at town hall located at 120 Kinderton Blvd. Anyone who is unable to attend the public input meeting is welcome to leave comments on the project website or email comments to bermudarun@benchmarkplanning.com.

Following the draft plan public comment period that ends Feb. 3, the planning board and consultants will work to incorporate input received and present the plan for public hearing and adoption by the town council in March.

More information about the plan process can be obtained by visiting the town's website, by contacting the town hall at 998-0906, or Benchmark representative Erin Burris at 1-800-650-3925 x104.

importance of the Jan. 24 meeting.

"I can't emphasize enough how important this Comprehensive Plan is to what we want to do as a community moving forward," Rollins said.

In other business, Rollins reported that progress was continuing to be made in getting a proposed roundabout on US 158 at the Bermuda Run Drive/Twin City Soccer entrance.

Publicly available primary

The town recently passed a resolution supporting the transfer of funds previously allocated for the U.S. 158/N.C. 801 intersection improvement project to the roundabout. Rollins said he had received a call from a DOT representative who confirmed he would be submitting the town's request before the Transportation Advisory Committee this week.

"That will be on the agenda, and he doesn't foresee there being any issues," Rollins said. "Once we get that approval from the TAC, then we can work in the procuring of a timetable and going out for a more detailed engineering analysis for that proposed roundabout so we can get some more firm numbers and move forward."

In another topic involving DOT, Rollins said he also received word that when I-40 is widened from Harper Road in Clemmons to just past the NC 801 bridge, that the old bridge between the Yadkin River and NC 801 will not be replaced. Instead, the DOT is considering a pedestrian bridge.

In other business, Mayor Ken Rethmeier was appointed as the town's delegate to the Winston-Salem Urban Area Transportation Advisory Committee.

The council voted to change the date of next month's regular meeting from Tuesday, Feb. 14, to Monday, Feb. 13, to avoid a conflict with Valentine's Day.

School Board Briefs

National Board Certification

AP Of The Year

Allcia Holman, assistant principal at William Ellis Middle School, has been selected as the 2011-12 Assistant Principal of the Year. Jeff Wallace, assistant superintendent, said of Holman, "Wherever she's been, she's had a major impact on that school."

Davie Makes Honor Roll

Davie County Schools was recognized for making the College Board Advanced Placement Achievement District Honor Roll. One of 367 districts selected nationwide, Davie was honored for expanding AP access, performance and commitment to increasing student achievement, according to Dr. Danny Carter, director of instructional services. Davie "opened AP classroom doors to a significantly broader pool of students, while maintaining or improving the percentage of students earning scores of level three or higher," Carter said.

Calendars Approved, Updated

The school calendar for the 2012-13 school year was unanimously approved. It includes five additional instructional days the state has ordered systems to implement. Students will begin school Aug. 27, and the last day will be June 10, 2013. The Christmas break will begin with early release Dec. 21, and classes will resume Jan. 2, 2013. Memorial Day, May 27, could be used as a make-up day for inclement weather. A copy of the calendar is on the schools' website, www.davie.k12.nc.us.

If the waiver that has been submitted to have those five days reverted to professional days is approved, the calendar will be revised.

The board also gave Superintendent Dr. Darrin Hartness the go-ahead to use, for show days this year, Saturdays, in lieu of taking three of the remaining snow days on the current calendar, April 13, 12, and 11. The only time Saturday could not be used is if school is out on Friday for inclement weather. If Saturday is used, it would be an early release day.

Proud Of Their Country

County winners in the VFW Patriots Pen Essay Contest were Hannah Shuskey, first place, eighth grade, South Davie; Nicole Valliere and Lily Ingram, tied for second place, both from South Davie; and Anna Jones, third place, seventh grade, South Davie. Lily Ingram was the district winner and her essay will be submitted to the state contest. The theme for the essay was "Are You Proud of Your Country?"

Audit Results Excellent

The Child Nutrition Department recently passed a federal audit and School Meals Initiative (SMI). Sara Ann Suttles, region 7 child nutrition consultant for the NC Department of Public Instruction, told the board the results for the five schools in the system that were audited were "phenomenal, with outstanding results." The six auditors who visited the schools reported the child nutrition department "ranks right at the top. The staff is well trained, professional, courteous to the students, the records reports and documents are current, up-to-date and complete, and there were no errors in eligibility applications. This is not something we see every day," Suttles said.

She told the board the program was in "very good shape financially, with the monies being handled properly" and added the "food service is excellent, with good choices. Your students are eating very well, and there is very little plate waste."

Sanitation was also noted to be excellent, with most scores over 100.

Gravel Roads Dwindling

There aren't many public gravel roads left in Davie County - but two of them are scheduled for paving next year.

The $610,000 or so of Secondary Road Improvements in Davie County will also include widening and re-paving of approximately 1.5 miles of County Line Road.

Foundation Accepting Grant Applications

Last year, the Davie Community Foundation awarded over $54,000 to schools and non-profit organizations to support projects with a youth and literacy focus.

The foundation is accepting grant proposals for 2012 projects.

Interested non-profits must submit a notification of intent to apply by Feb. 15. This form is available through the foundation website at www.daviefoundation.org or at the office at 194 Wilkesboro St., Mocksville. Projects must be approved prior to submission of the formal application. The formal grant application is due to the foundation office by 5 p.m. on March 1.

Scholarship deadlines are also approaching. Students who wish to submit an application may visit the website and click the "Scholarships" tab for more information and to download the application. Applications are available at the office. General scholarship applications are due by Friday, March 23. "The Davie Community Foundation serves to provide pathways for caring people to leave a legacy that will shape the future of our community. We connect people who care with causes they care about," said Jane Simpson, president. Questions and/or requests for additional information may be directed to Simpson at 753-6903, jsimpson@daviefoundation.org or PO Box 546, Mocksville, or visit the website.

Couple Charged With Abuse After Baby Suffers Burns

By Jackie Seabolt
Enterprise Record

A Davie woman and her boyfriend were each charged this month after the woman's small child was hospitalized for burns alleged to have been caused intentionally.

Derek Bordner, 26, was charged with felony child abuse inflicting serious injury. Katie Bates, 24, was charged with being an accessory after the fact. The two live on US 158 in Mocksville.

According to Davie County Sheriff's Office Chief J.D.

Hartman, on Jan. 3 a detective responded to Davie County Hospital in reference to an 18-month-old girl with second and third-degree burns on her body from the stomach down.

Hartman said the child's mother told investigators that she had placed her daughter in the bath when the phone rang. Hartman said that Bates claimed she left her daughter in the tub with no water and went to answer the phone. "She said that she heard the water turn on and went back and found her daughter had scalded herself."

Hartman said that Bates told investigators she waited to see if her daughter would be OK, but when her skin began to blister she took her to Davie Hospital.

The 18-month-old was taken to Brenner Children's Hospital in Winston-Salem, according to Hartman, where medical staff "had issues" with what Bates told investigators had happened.

Hartman said as the investigation continued it was learned that Bates was not home when her daughter was burned.

According to Hartman, Bordner was at the home supervising the child and had placed the 18-month-old in hot water.

Bordner was placed in Davie County Jail in lieu of a $25,000 secured bond.

Bates received an unsecured bond of $25,000.

Both are scheduled to appear in Davie District Court on Feb. 16.

According to court dockets Bordner also has a Jan. 26 court date for charges of assault on a female and harassing phone call.

Hartman said the 18-month-old has been removed from the home by social services.

Man Charged With Raping Teen

By Jackie Seabolt
Enterprise Record

A Davie man has been charged with raping a teenager at knife point and remains in jail under a $250,000 secured bond.

Kenneth Lee Clore Jr., 20, of Gun Club Road, Advance was arrested Dec. 30 for first degree rape.

According to Davie County Sheriff's Office Detective Kyle Shuping, a report of a rape was received on Dec. 28.

Shuping said that the incident began on Dec. 27 after a 17-year-old female, who is not from Davie County, had met Clore online and came to his home to meet him.

Shuping said the 17-year-old was brought to Davie by a relative.

"After she arrived he threatened her with a weapon and forced her to have sexual relations two times before she was able to call family members who came to get her," Shuping said.

According to Shuping the weapon Clore used was a hunting knife.

Shuping said that a family member of the 17-year-old picked her up at Clore's residence the afternoon of Dec. 28 and took her back home to Alamance County. The teenager was then taken to the hospital.

The investigation continued by Alamance authorities with a forensic interview.

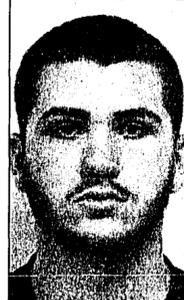

Shuping said that Clore told the 17-year-old, who was having trouble with her current boyfriend, that she could come and stay with him. Shuping said that Clore also told the girl that "she could trust him because he was a firefighter."

According to Shuping, Clore has no affiliation as a firefighter with any fire department in Davie County.

"He admits to having sex with her," Shuping said. "But says it was consensual and not forced."

Clore is scheduled to appear in Davie District Court on Feb. 16.

Stolen Vehicle Burned

By Jackie Seabolt
Enterprise Record

A stolen vehicle fire is under investigation and authorities are asking anyone who may have information to call the sheriff's department.

According to Davie County Sheriff's Office Detective Kyle Shuping, on the night of Dec. 30 a couple driving down Beauchamp Road to Baltimore Road spotted a blue 1999 Acura Integra parked with its flasher on.

According to Shuping the inside of the vehicle was filled with smoke and by the time fire trucks arrived the car was completely ablaze.

Shuping said that the vehicle was identified as stolen from the Winston-Salem area on Christmas Eve.

Shuping is asking anyone who may have seen anything the night of Dec. 30 to contact him at 751-5547.

State OKd For Early Childhood Funds

North Carolina is one of nine states to receive federal funding from the "Race to the Top" contest for early education funds.

Thirty-five states competed for the funding, which is meant to get more children ready for kindergarten during the critical birth to 5 years. The nine winning states will share $500 million in grant money for improvements in early education.

Children who attend early education programs do better in school, are less likely to end up in prison, and make more money as adults. It is estimated that children who don't get this early start, enter school 18 months behind their peers, which is a difficult gap to make up, said Mary Beth Seebold, executive director of Smart Start of Davie.

"Smart Start is one early education program in North Carolina that is working to bridge that gap with quality early learning programs and services for child care providers and families with young children. North Carolina has long been known as a national leader in early education with the North Carolina Partnership for Children (Smart Start) and More at Four (NC Pre-K) programs being national models for other states when implementing early education programs," she said.

It is not known how this funding will be used to boost early education in North Carolina, but it is welcome news following years of budget cuts from the North Carolina legislature in early education programs. Seebold said.

"This is great news for children in North Carolina. It is nice to know that our children are not forgotten in this economy. Our early education programs are suffering around the state, due to lack of funding, and this will go a long way to help. Getting our children off to a good start will build a foundation for future success."

The award means that the water's turbidity levels were less than a third of the allowable limits 95 percent of the time. Turbidity is a measure of cloudiness in water caused by suspended particles.

"You've got a good group and you do a good job," board chair, Carl Humphrey, told Lambert. "We are fortunate to have the fine water department we have."

Not only did the department exceed standards, it was done by using fewer chemicals and reducing costs.

even better! Holy cow, that was a good one!" and "Beautiful! That's a wrap, baby!"

The suit says that Thomas created a second report, following the knife smear test, which stated "examination of clothing and blood stain patterns on Friday, Sept. 14, 2007" even though the actual examination took place in January 2008.

The suit claims that Thomas wrote in his report he spoke with Davie County Sheriff's Office Chief J.D. Hartman and that Hartman stated he was present when EMS cut the shirt from Dr. Turner's body.

At the trial Hartman testified that he was not present when EMS removed the shirt from Dr. Turner and that he entered the crime scene two hours after EMS took Dr. Turner to the hospital.

The suit says that Deaver has "been engaged in a pattern of conducting unscientific tests which have led to acquittals and/or reversals for new trials." Dr. Turner's suit claims the actions of Deaver and Thomas caused him severe emotional distress, depression, anxiety, shame, and loss of respect with the community and co-workers and that he is entitled to recover punitive damages in an amount sufficient to deter such action in the future.

According to the suit, the conduct of Thomas and Deaver resulted in Dr. Turner's unlawful detention for 49 days without bond under a first-degree murder charge despite evidence to the contrary.

During his incarceration Dr. Turner suffered an ear infection and was denied medical treatment, which resulted in a reduction of hearing in his right ear, according to the suit.

And Dr. Turner's suit says that he had to pay more than $75,000 to a bondsman to post bail before being released on house arrest.

Pendergraft and the two unnamed supervisors are accused of failing to properly train Thomas and Deaver and failing to supervise them during the investigation of Jennifer Turner's death.

Dr. Turner is suing for "his loss of compensation, lost earning potential, humiliation, disgrace, permanent physical injuries, attorney fees, expert costs, bondsmen costs, pain and suffering, and for any other compensatory damages proximately caused by defendant's wrongful conduct as it will be proven at trial."

Solid Waste Center To Accept Electronics Jan. 28

A new landfill ban on electronics went into effect last year in North Carolina making it illegal to dispose of televisions and electronics, such as computers, printers, and video games, in the landfill. These items must be recycled for proper disposal.

On Saturday, Jan. 28, 7:30 a.m.-noon, electronics will be collected for free recycling at the solid waste center at 360 Dalton Road in Mocksville. Items that will be collected include PCs, hard drives, laptops, televisions, keyboards and mice, servers, cell phones, PDAs, video games, iPod and MP3 players, network equipment, consumer electronics, scanners, printers, copiers, GPS, typewriters, telephone systems, rechargeable batteries, and ink and toner cartridges.

There are other recycling options for many of these items, and working electronics can still be donated to places, such as Goodwill. The county will offer three additional electronic collection events in 2012 on Saturdays, April 28, July 28 and Oct. 27 at the same times and locations as the January event.

House Raffle Now A 50/50 Drawing

COOLEEMEEB - The House Raffle sponsored by the Cooleemee Historical Association for the property at 105 Joyner St. came to an end on Jan. 14.

"Sadly, we did not reach our goal of selling a thousand tickets," said CHA President Tony Steele. "In accordance with the raffle's official rules, this will now become a 50/50 raffle." Only those who had purchased tickets are eligible to win.

The public drawing will take place on Saturday, Jan. 21 at noon in the Cooleemee Town Hall, 7766 US 801 S. A student selected by Cooleemee Elementary School Principal Carol Cozart will draw the winning ticket. The winner need not be present to win. All those who purchased tickets are being notified by phone and mail.

"This historic home and Journal Office is still a great opportunity," says Steele. "With a charitable contribution of Dr. Tim Sell of Michigan, CHA has now purchased the house." After some minor fix up, CHA will put the property on the market by spring. The organization hopes to realize proceeds to help keep its museums and history programs going, and still hopes this will still become home to a good, new neighbor, Steele said.

Barber Makes Noise In Orange Bowl

West Virginia linebacker Jared Barber drops back into coverage and breaks up a pass.

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Jared Barber experienced a real-life fairy tale as West Virginia handed Clemson a huge beatdown, 70-33, in the Orange Bowl, which was played Jan. 4 in Miami, Fla., and televised on ESPN.

Not only did the freshman from Mocksville get to soak up the hoopla surrounding one of the biggest bowl games in college football, his team put on a show and he played his best game of the season while starting at middle linebacker.

Not that Barber will tell you he played all that good. Though he refrained from patting himself on the back, the numbers will talk for him. He made six tackles, tying Keith Tandy for second on the team behind Eain Smith's 12. He had five solo stops, including one for a 2-yard loss. The Mountaineers had four pass breakups, and Barber, a 6-1, 215-pounder, had two of them as No. 23 West Virginia tormented the No. 14 Tigers.

West Virginia crushed Clemson 35-3 in the second quarter to pick up its third BCS win in seven years. At 10-3, it notched double-figure wins for the third time since 2006.

"I thought I played OK," Barber said. "I messed up on a few reads. My head was just spinning from all the hype, the Orange Bowl and everything. But once I got settled down, I forgot I was playing in the Orange Bowl and just worried about playing. Definitely there's always stuff to improve on. But after that (tackle for loss), I knew I could play with these guys and do well."

Barber certainly put a big smile on Davie County faces.

"All three of us (including Devore Holman and Mike Herndon) were watching it together, and we were just as excited as if we were there," Davie football coach Doug Iling said. "You could see the passion he has for it. Being a freshman and starting at middle linebacker in the Orange Bowl, you don't see that very often. He really showed out. He made Davie County proud. For a freshman, that was huge. He held his own, and I'm mighty proud of him."

Barber received air time from the broadcast team of Mike Tirico, Jon Gruden and Ron Jaworski.

Tirico: Third-and-four, Mountaineers bring pressure. Boyd throws over the top. Nearly intercepted. Jared Barber coming back - out of Mocksville; North Carolina - had a hand on it.

Gruden: That's a nice play by Barber. He's going to see the light end on the crossing route. He runs right to the junction of that pattern. That's good coaching right there, and good recognition by the young linebacker.

Jaworski: Yeah, Barber right on

JV Girls Keep Rolling, Collect Three Wins

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

How much better can it get for Davie's JV girls basketball team?

Coach Jenn O'Brien's club is oozing confidence after taking down Mt. Tabor (51-35), North Iredell (49-28) and Reynolds (61-50) last week.

"Everything is falling into place," the first-year coach said.

The War Eagles improved to 10-3 overall and 2-1 in the Central Piedmont Conference. North was a nonconference game.

Davie was lights out in the first half of the home game against Tabor, boiling to a 31-12 lead. Davie was so good in the first half that it won comfortably despite getting outscored 23-20 in the second half. Tabor had won seven of nine.

"Mt. Tabor has always had a good program, and they have a really good coach (in Dick Jamback, who coached the varsity boys for many years and is in the Tabor Hall of Fame)," O'Brien said.

Point guard Courtney Bode was off the charts, hitting four 3-pointers and scoring a season-high 16 points.

"She handled the ball like I've never seen from any JV player," O'Brien said. "I mean she was doing crossover moves, taking it through the middle and creating mismatches. She had open shots all night, but she would run the play and look for open teammates."

Ashton Brown, Davie's defensive demon, had 13 points.

"As usual, her defense is consistent," she said. "Even when she doesn't score in double figures, you know she's going to have a ton of steals."

A third player in double figures was Destiny Johnson (12). She had as many or more rebounds.

"I wish we had stats to see how many rebounds she grabbed," she said. "I guarantee you she had a double-double."

"Kara (four points) could have had several more points, but she's so unselfish," she said. "She could have had a 10-foot jumper, but Destiny was open underneath and she dumped it to her."

"Fruits plays every position. She's another one of those unselfish players. She had some really nice passes."

At North Iredell, Fruits was out with a knee injury. In the third quarter, Brown twisted an ankle and had to Worth Noting ...

West Virginia freshman Jared Barber started at middle linebacker, made six tackles and broke up two passes during a 70-33 win over Clemson in the Orange Bowl.

In a 59-38 win over N. Iredell, Nate Jones of Davie's varsity boys scored 20 points to become the eighth member in the program's 1,000-point club.

In a 51-35 win over Mt. Tabor, the Davie JV girls got 16 points from Courtney Bode, 13 from Ashton Brown and 12 from Destiny Johnson. Brooke Hedgpeth surprised with 12 in a 49-28 win over N. Iredell. Johnson went for 20 in a 61-50 win over Reynolds.

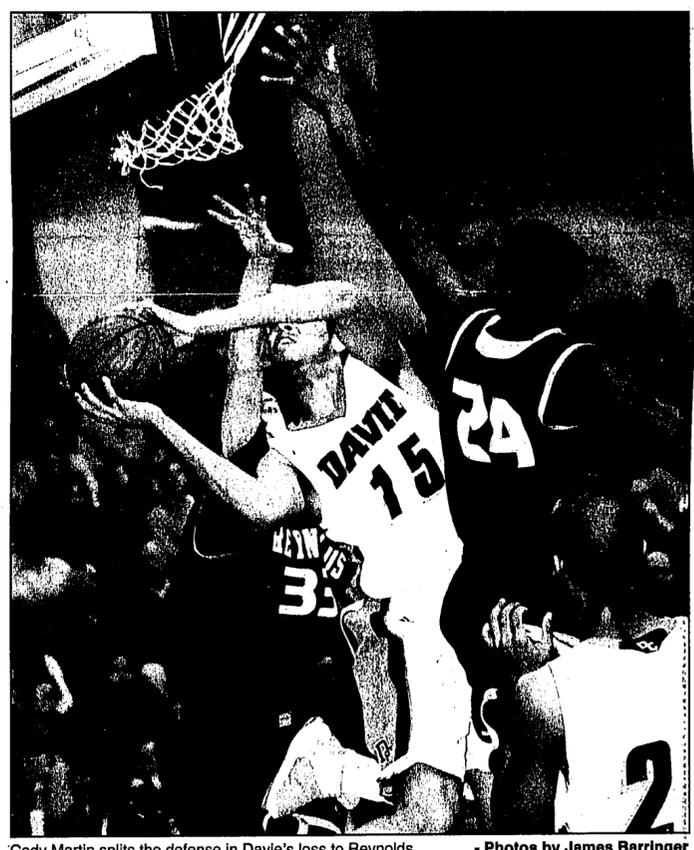

Freshman Gavin O'Brien of Davie's JV boys erupted for 15 points in a 68-50 loss to Mt. Tabor.

Chavin Peebles of the Davie freshman boys scored 17 points in a 47-44 loss at Tabor. Blaise Bennett's 16 highlighted a 54-29 rout over Reynolds.

Ashlyn Hampton's 14 points led the N. Davie girls to a 33-22 upset of Lexington. Madison Bohannon's 13 paced a 34-23 win over S. Davie.

Caitlin Hill and Aubrianna Peebles scored 11 points each as the Ellis girls flirted with an upset of Thomasville, losing 40-38. "Caitlin is an absolutely phenomenal athlete," Angie Slabach said.

Getting 13 points from Nic Starnes and 11 from Caleb Wallace, the S. Davie boys pulled away from Ellis, 40-32. Noah Stowe exploded for 19 as South staved off N. Davie 53-51.

Reeling: Boys Drop Two

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

A few days after Christmas, the Davie boys basketball team was flying high at 10-1. The team's mood is decidedly different these days.

Davie is in trouble. In a drastic reversal, Davie is 12-4 and 1-2 in the Central Piedmont Conference. Last week Davie lost 86-78 at Mt. Tabor and 76-75 at home to Reynolds. In between was a 59-38 nonconference win over visiting North Iredell.

Three of Davie's four losses have been molar-grinders - 60-57 to Smith, 60-59 to North Rowan and 76-75 to Reynolds. Now coach Mike Absher can only hope the War Eagles rally around each other like they did last year. They started 1-2 in the CPC last year, then won six of seven to tie for second.

"It's amazing," a beleaguered Absher said. "We've got good senior leadership. You would like to think your record in those (close) games would be better. We've talked about keeping pace in the CPC, and now we've dug a hole for ourselves. Obviously we've got to get better at some things. We've just got to take them one at a time and try to work our way back in it."

Davie lost by eight at Tabor. But in this case, the scoreboard did lie. It may have said 86-78, but it felt like a lopsided loss. That's because Davie looked out of rhythm all night, spotting Tabor a 6-0 lead in the first 40 seconds.

"That 6-0 run to start the game was tough," Absher said. "I really can't give you a reason why that happened."

Tabor (10-5, 2-0 CPC) led 21-14 after one quarter and 42-34 at the break. Davie was cooked when Tabor opened the third with a 9-0 run.

Getting 24 points and 10 rebounds from junior forward Deion Robinson and 19 points from point guard Matty Madigan, the Spartans shot 50.7 percent.

Davie did not defend well and got beat on the boards - a bad combination.

"Every time we made a run, they got a putback," he said. "We still scored enough to win. It comes back to defending and rebounding. We were awful in transition defense."

Jared Barber (33), a true freshman from Mocksville, earned the starting nod at middle linebacker in West Virginia's historic 70-33 win.

play-action fake. Right in perfect position.

Moments later, Barber made a tackle for a 2-yard loss.

"Tirico: Here's a tackle for loss. Jared Barber, who made a good play breaking up a pass earlier. Second call for the freshman.

Gruden: Second time he's run through on a blitz. You're going to see Barber just come right up the middle unaccounted for. Tackle for loss.

The next day, Barber watched the game at his aunt's house. "That was actually the first time I've ever got to see myself play on TV," he said. "It was really weird, but it was pretty neat. We watch film all the time, but it would never be best the telecast."

The Mountaineers were leading 21-17 before a defensive player returned a fumble 99 yards for a touchdown. That opened the floodgates. Then West Virginia's offense went through the roof.

"We stayed at the Fontainebleau, which is supposedly one of the nicest hotels in the country," he said. "It was unreal. I probably saw 50 celebrities walking around there. They treated us like we were royalty. It was cool to live that lifestyle for a week. We got to ride jet skis in the ocean, which was a blast. That was my first time in Miami. Seeing how different it is from West Virginia and Davie was pretty neat."

The Mountaineers racked up the most points ever in a bowl game. With the score out of hand at halftime (49-20), the second half was not conducive to Barber making much noise. Clemson threw practically every play.

"I don't even think we played our regular defense the entire second half," he said. "We started out in our third-down package. We just dropped back and let the three d-linemen get after the quarterback."

Barber's adjustment from Davie star to sub was difficult. It's difficult for most all freshmen, especially true freshmen. He entered the game with 17 tackles in 11 games. He got his first start in a 21-20 win over Pittsburgh in West Virginia's final home game, but he didn't start in the next game, a 30-27 win at South Florida. That Barber regained a starting role in time for the Orange Bowl speaks volumes.

"The 3-3-5 (defense) takes you a long time to start putting things together," he said. "It's a different defense from any other one. But I put in a lot of work and effort, watching film and studying the defense. I'm starting to get it."

It was a night Barber and his family will remember forever. "I played every series," he said. "I didn't start the last series. But Clemson got to around the (West Virginia) 20, and they put me back in. I'm working hard to be the best I can. (Defensive coordinator) Jeff Casteel threw me in there and I'm glad he did."

Davis Absher kneels in despair after Davie falls short by one point.

Shannon Dillard (23 points, three blocks) and Cody Martin (22 points, 10 rebounds, five assists) played well, but Tabor was able to defuse Nate Jones, who scored 15 points, or 11 below his average.

"Every time Jones got it, they ran and doubled him," Absher said. "There was nothing easy for him. I can't remember one shot that was not contested."

Davie needed a breezy game, and North Iredell played its role in a 59-38 runaway win for Davie.

The game amounted to a coronation for Jones, who joined the exclusive 1,000-point club. He needed 17 points and got 20 by hitting eight of 10 shots inside the arc. He struggled from distance, but still got it done to become the eighth member in the school's 56 years. Dillard got there a few weeks ago.

Jones reached 1,000 during an 11-point rush in the fourth. Absher presented Jones the game ball, and Jones handed it to step-brother T.J. Jones, a fellow senior at Davie.

"We put him back in in the fourth (with Davis Absher, Chris Campbell, Ben Beeson and Kevin Miller)," coach Absher said. "We wanted him to try to go ahead and get it, and our guys did a great job of getting him the ball. North stood up and clapped for him. They showed really good sportsmanship."

Against Reynolds (7-9, 2-1), things looked promising as the War Eagles led 21-12 after one and 37-30 at the half.

But a 22-12 Reynolds run in the third put Davie in a $2-49 hole.

But after struggling with his shot all week, Jones began to look like himself again in the fourth, scoring 14 points in eight minutes.

It was a wild fourth that saw eight lead changes. Jones' seven straight points put Davie ahead 56-54. Dillard's four points gave Davie a 62-56 lead, and Jones' 17-foot fadeaway jumper made it 64-58.

At that point, Davie seemed destined to beat Reynolds for the fifth straight time. The Demons, though, would not roll over.

Reynolds surged ahead, but Kenyon Tatum grabbed a loose ball and stuck it in for a 68-67 lead with 2:10 to play. Jones' 3-point rainbow in front of the student section provided a 71-69 lead with 1:44 left. Then Martin stole an entry pass. Then Martin fed Jones for a layup. It was 73-69 with 1:20 left.

Davie had possession with a 73-71 lead and a minute on the clock. But instead of holding the ball, Davie took a shot that missed. Reynolds capitalized, tying the game with 50 seconds to go.

Martin lifted Davie's hopes, backing down a defender. The defender flopped, there was no call, and Martin scored for a 75-73 lead with 20 ticks left.

"We were getting exactly what we wanted," Absher said. "We were driving it, getting the ball inside and were good in transition. We had them on their heels. But on the flip side of that, they did the same thing to us."

The emotional investment in certain games can be so profound that entire seasons seem to ride on a single play. Just when you thought Davie was headed to overtime in a worst-case scenario, Alex Karpinsky hit a jump hook and drew a foul with seven seconds left. After a Davie timeout, Karpinsky hit the accompanying free throw to give Reynolds the 76-75 lead.

"We talked about guarding the 3-point line," Absher said. "They throw it inside, which is OK. Go at him hard and make him have to make (two) free throws. Don't give him an and-one."

After a Davie timeout, Martin inbounded to Jones, who dribbled behind his back around midcourt to get by his defender. He looked up at the clock, resumed his attack and let go an off-balanced shot around the foul line. It rimmed in and out, leaving Davie with a bitter loss.

"It didn't quite develop the way we wanted it to, but it was in Nate's hands and you feel pretty good about that," Absher said. "It was unreal. It went in and out."

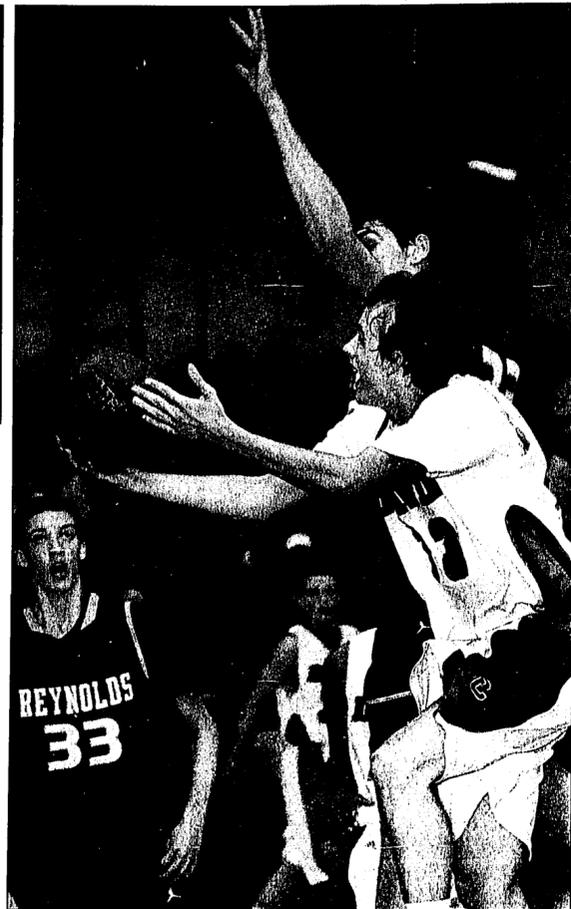

Absher was disgusted that Davie's defense was sliced up repeatedly in the second half. "Again it was those one or two plays, especially on the defensive end where you have to step up and get that one rebound or that one stop," he said. "And we're not doing that in close games. I think 75 points was enough to win. They scored 46 in the second half, and that's completely unacceptable. There's no reason to give up that many points in a half - none, zero."

Jones (31 points) notched his fifth 30-point game, but labored to do so. Dillard (22 points, 10 rebounds) registered his ninth double-double. Martin (11 points, seven rebounds, four blocks), Tatum (eight points, six rebounds) and Absher (seven assists) helped the cause. It was Absher's eighth game with seven-plus assists.

Agony Continues For War Eagle Varsity Girls

The Davie girls basketball team led North Iredell by five going into the fourth quarter. Against Reynolds, Davie pulled within three in the fourth quarter.

But the end in both games was all too familiar for the War Eagles, who lost three games last week to fall to 2-14 overall and 0-3 in the Central Piedmont Conference. North was a non-conference game.

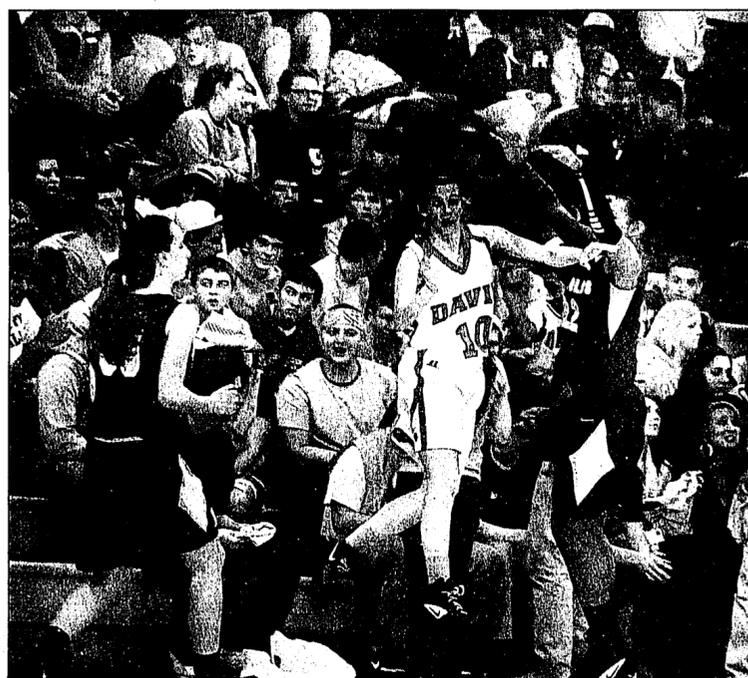

"We've got a lot of girls hurting right now," coach Denny Key said after Davie lost 51-34 to Tabor, 48-43 to North Iredell and 43-40 to Reynolds. "We've had three tough games in four days."

The War Eagles ran into a stone wall at Mt. Tabor. It was never a game. Laura Shelton did her part with 14 points, five rebounds, three assists and two steals. Amy Steller was limited to a season-low nine points. Elizabeth Smith hit two 3-pointers, and Emerald Gadson grabbed nine rebounds.

"It was another one of those instances where we're a young group of kids going against people who take this thing very seriously," he said. "They're a very talented team. They've got a complete program there."

At home against North Iredell, the War Eagles pushed a well-respected team to the limit. They led 22-19 at halftime behind Steller's 14 points, and had a 36-31 lead through three. The lead, however, evaporated as North outscored Davie 17-7 in the fourth.

"We had a chance to win,"

Laura Shelton saves the ball before it goes out of bounds. Davie fought hard but lost 43-40.

Key said. "I was happy the girls put themselves in position to win."

North center Brooke Redmond burned Davie with 25 points in the first meeting. This time, Davie's zone smothered Redmond and held her to two.

"So we did some nice things," he said.

But Davie was doomed by Brittani Cartner, who scored 12 points on four 3-point shots. She's another girl who either lives in Davie County or used to live in the county.

"We've played three straight games against Davie County kids," he said.

Steller scored 19 points on 7-of-15 shooting and added six rebounds. Shelton had 13 points. Asiah Peterson had six points and seven rebounds.

But when it mattered most, Davie's defensive and rebounding deficiencies returned to haunt it in a big way.

"Somewhere along the line there was going to be a shot they missed that they had the people to go after the rebound and stick it back in, and that's exactly what happened," he said. "On a missed free throw, we didn't rebound and they scored. Then we gave them a wide-open 3 because one of our girls didn't get back to her zone coverage."

Steller scored six quick points as Davie jumped out to an 8-0 lead over visiting Reynolds. The Demons regrouped and led 22-19 at the half.

Davie mounted a rally in the fourth. Steller got a screen from Anne-Marie Jones and hit a driving shot to cut Reynolds' lead to 35-32. Down 37-33, Davie squandered a two-on-one break. That was the backbreaker. Reynolds responded with a 6-0 run to put it away at 43-33.

Steller (24 points) recorded her fifth 20-point game by hitting 10 of 11 free throws. Shelton had nine points. Peterson had five points and nine boards. Gadson had a whopping 14 rebounds.

But the agony continued because Davie missed 48 of 59 shots.

"We had the shots to win this game," Key said. "I mean we had a talented team like that in a 40-point game. Our girls played hard. We just didn't make some plays when we needed to."

"The main thing is, we were there. We had a chance to win it. We just didn't get a lot of breaks."

leave. No matter. Davie romped by 21 as Johnson (13), Brooke Hedgspeth (12), Bode (nine) and Rice (eight) took turns hitting shots.

Brown scored seven before limping off.

But the story of the game was Hedgspeth's 12-point outburst.

Did anybody foresee that coming? She was averaging three a game.

"Hedgspeth stepped up out of nowhere," she said. "In the second half I wanted to see what Brooke could do at the point. She'd been working hard at practice with ball handling, and I told Bode to let Brooke run the point. She was handling the ball against pressure, she was making no-look passes and scoring. I said: 'Where did all that come from?' She said: 'I've never shot that much in my life.' I said: 'Well, you need to do it more.' Brooke is the fastest player on our team."

The game at Reynolds was more of the same by the War Eagles, who took control with a 20-10 burst in the second quarter.

With Johnson scoring a season-high 20, Bode 17 (her second season high of the week) and Rice 10, the War Eagles unleashed every bit of their offensive power. It marked the most points in 42 games, dating to a 67-20 home win over West Iredell in 2009-10.

Brown scored nine points in about six minutes of action. She tried to soldier on with the injured ankle, but finally succumbed to the pain and called it a night. Fruits didn't play at all.

"It was one heck of a game," O'Brien said. "We played with five and a half players."

Davie's scoring couldn't be any more balanced. Brown is averaging 10.6, Bode 10.5 and Johnson 9.7.

9th Boys Maul Reynolds

The Davie freshman boys basketball team chopped an eight-point deficit to one, but it couldn't complete the comeback, losing 47-44 at Mt. Tabor.

It was Davie's first game since Dec. 15.

"We came out a bit rusty," coach Bill Walwik said. "But we came on in the second half."

After trailing 24-17 at the half, the War Eagles used an 11-5 run to get within 29-28. But turnovers put Davie in the eight-point hole in the fourth.

Davie rallied and got within one with four seconds left. Davie had to foul, and Tabor hit both free throws to stretch the margin to three.

Davie was led by Chavin Peebles (17 points), Blaise Bennett (10) and Tre Redmond (eight).

In Davie's next game, the War Eagles completely mauled visiting Reynolds 54-29 to push their record to 4-2.

Behind Bennett (16 points), Peebles (nine) and Redmond (seven), the War Eagles led 31-14 at halftime and 42-21 after three.

"Bennett had a great game on the boards," Walwik said. "He was dominating on the offensive and defensive glass."

During the game, Davie lost Peebles for the rest of the season with a broken hand. It was the second major injury in two games. Jared Ridenhour was lost for the season in the Tabor game. Both played shooting guard. The injuries increased Ben Miller's minutes considerably.

"Miller stepped up and played a solid game while replacing both Jared and Chavin," he said.

Stowe Stokes South Win Over North

Nic Starnes' consistent scoring as a gunner/slasher/press breaker has been the South Davie boys basketball team's calling card. Starnes was his usual self last week against Ellis and North Davie, but now he's getting significant offensive help.

Caleb Wallace gave South a big boost in a 40-32 win at Ellis, and Noah Stowe was an unlikely hero in a heart-pounding 53-51 win over visiting North Davie.

The Tigers, who had lost three straight to drop to 3-6, revived their season with a pair of county wins. That gave South three conference wins to one each for Ellis and North.

The South-Ellis game was much more competitive than the first one (59-31), but South was never seriously threatened after the first quarter.

The first quarter was an 11-11 battle. Gabe Gonnella hit two "baby hooks," as South coach Brent Wall called them, in the opening seconds to stoke Ellis to a 4-0 lead. But Starnes answered with a momentum-changing 3-pointer from another area code.

"He hit two shots from about 28 feet," Wall said. "They were bombs. You've got to give a man those shots. We're talking about bombs."

South grabbed control by cranking up the defense. Starnes' seven points and Wallace's five helped fuel South's 13-2 run in the second quarter. Starnes and Wallace combined for five 3s in the half.

Starnes scored all 13 of his team-high points in the opening half. Wallace finished with a season-high 11.

"Wallace gave us a big lift," Wall said. "I told him that kind of scoring is what we need out of him. He put the ball on the floor and made the little 10-footer. They overplayed their 2-3 zone. If you made that extra pass, you could get in a seam and get a good shot."

Chris Reynolds put a serious dagger in Ellis at the outset of the third, scoring five straight points to extend the margin to 29-13.

"Chris hit a 3-pointer and Nic made a great behind-the-back pass on a break, and Chris hit a nice left-handed layup," Wall said.

Cade Carney and Heath Slabach paced Ellis (3-6) with nine and eight points, respectively.

Ben Juarez only had two points for South after scoring 11 and 10 in the previous two games. But if wasn't because Juarez lost his touch.

"We sometimes forget about Ben," Wall said. "That's not Ben's fault. He did a real good job on the boards, and he did a real good job defensively."

The North-South game was another one to remember. In the first meeting, North won 53-51 to end a 10-game losing streak to South. South (5-6) returned the favor by an identical score.

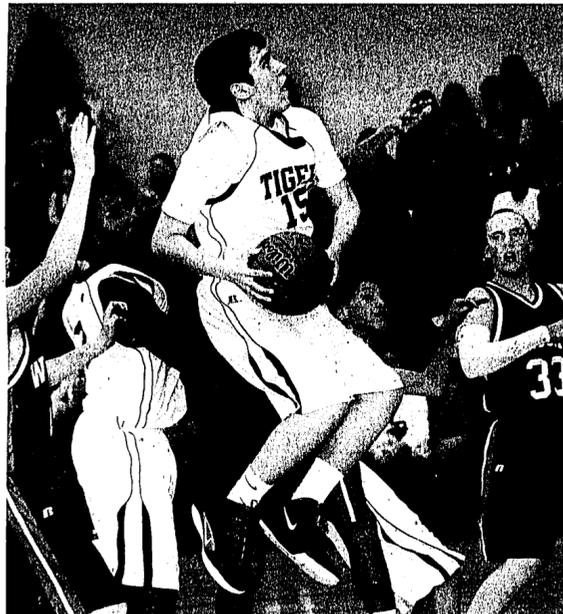

"I'll tell you, that's two evenly-matched teams," Wall said. "It was one of those games that you didn't want either one to lose it. They did what they needed to do to win, and we did what we needed to do to win. We just ended up with two more points."

In the first quarter, which saw North take a 16-14 lead, Jordan McDaniel and Dylan Shoffner knocked down 3-pointers for North (5-5). Meanwhile, Starnes and Cory Heiner were burying long-range shots for South.

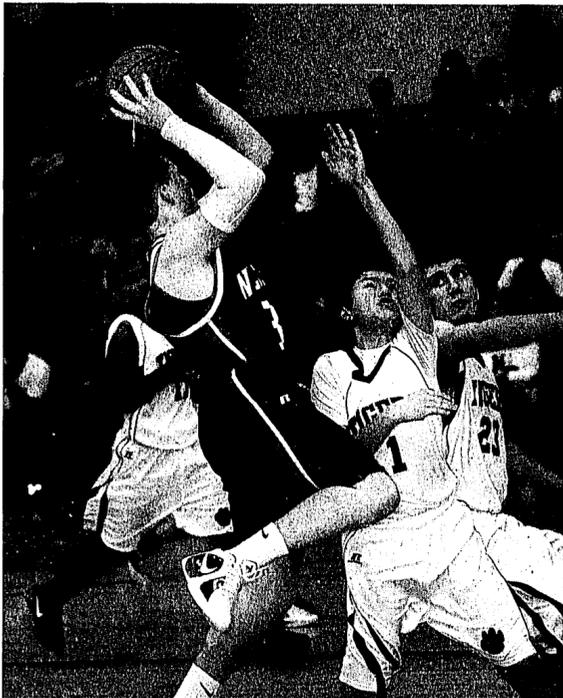

In the second quarter, Wallace and Starnes connected from long distance for South, while Ryan Harrell and Shoffner did the same for North. South had a 30-27 edge at intermission.

South maintained a 44-40 lead after three as Stowe delivered three points. Ryan kept North right there by pouring in nine points.

How about Stowe's coming-out party. He had four in the first meeting. His previous high was eight. Despite averaging 4.7 points, he went off for 19, including seven in the fourth. He was responsible for three of South's four field goals in the fourth.

"That's the kind of numbers he could put up all the time," Wall said of the inside player. "He's got it. He got a lot of putbacks. He could have had 30. He's the best athlete I've got."

Though South led by seven with 1:30 remaining, North staged a furious rally. After South missed the front end of a one-and-one, North went down and scored. Starnes, who suffered a shoulder injury in the fourth and was a shell of himself down the stretch, missed the front end of a one-and-one. Again, North took advantage with a bucket. That made it 53-51.

"Nic could barely get the ball up to the rim," Wall said.

Down two, North had possession with 6.2 seconds left. Coach Matt McPherson called timeout. Shoffner took the last shot, hoping to force overtime. He pump faked and drove the baseline. But the shot missed.

"It wasn't a bad look, but we contested it," Wall said.

Besides Stowe's 19, Starnes had 11 and Reynolds eight. It was Starnes' seventh straight game in double figures.

North got 17 points from Ryan, 16 from Shoffner and seven each from Nathan Harrell and McDaniel.

Don't discount how essential Dalton Trawitz, Juarez and Heiner were to South's hard-fought victory.

"Trawitz had a heck of a game," Wall said. "He got a steal at halfcourt one time, and he took it all the way down for a layup. Juarez was all over the boards. Every time I looked up he was getting a rebound. Between Juarez, Stowe, Heiner and Trawitz, we got every rebound offensively and defensively."

Rage Wrestling Club
Ten wrestlers from the Davie Rage Wrestling Club competed in the Denver Dragons Classic in Lincolnton on Jan. 7. Over 400 wrestlers from around the state participated.

Two Rage wrestlers earned medals - Bryson Hunter won the silver in the 100-pound junior division, and Sam Collins won the bronze in the 60-pound bantam division.

Davie, West Wrestling On Collision Course

Davie's wrestling team is on a collision course with West Forsyth. Unless something totally unexpected happens, the archrivals will decide the Central Piedmont Conference championship on Feb. 2 at West Forsyth.

Last week the War Eagles did some fine-tuning with a 56-15 beating of host North Davidson.

Davie (24-2, 3-0 CPC) should do more damage in the next CPC match, at Tabor on Jan. 26. North Davidson clubbed Tabor 54-28.

Eight of Davie's 10 wins at North were pins. Lake Billings, Trevor Albarron, Alex Costner, Ryan Smith, Logan Carter, Gerald Whitaker, Trevon Faulkner and Parker Correll stuck Black Knights to their back.

Costner's pin was a welcomed sight. Due to injury, it was his first appearance since Dec. 2. His return is big. Last year he went 47-10 and finished sixth in the state at 112.

Austin Whitaker won a decision and Craig Moore got a forfeit as North dropped to 7-12, 1-2.

Heavyweight Mick Spillman finally lost, ending his 10-match winning streak.

Davie has not lost in the CPC since a setback to West Forsyth in 2006-07. Based on scores against common opponents, West figures to be the underdog. But you know the Titans will give it everything they've got to beat their blood rival.

The Titans were 19-4 after capturing a 21-team tournament - the Catholic Holy Angel - in Charlotte.

"Davie has another strong team, and they're doing well"

West coach Mike Bryant told The Clemmons Courier. "But if we keep improving and wrestle like we did in Charlotte, I like our chances."

There have been four common opponents.

West lost 58-13 to Lake Norman; Davie beat Lake Norman 34-29; West lost 63-3 and 55-12 to Parkland; Davie lost 57-18 to Parkland. West beat Providence Grove 66-12; Davie beat PG 70-

12. West beat North Davidson 46-36; Davie beat North by 41.

The War Eagles trailed Tabor 44-20 at the half and fell to 0-2 in the Central Piedmont Conference.

Two Davie players soared above scoring averages as Gavin O'Brien led with 15 points and Colin Joldersma had 11. Dustin Potts had 10, but Tabor shut down Davie's top two scorers.

Holland won the 200 IM and 100, while Sinopoli won the butterfly and backstroke. Thomas

North Davie Girls Do A U-Turn, Win Twice

The North Davie girls basketball team has been banging on the door for four years. The Wildcats endured a brutal 5-34 stretch the previous three years, and they entered last week with three straight losses and five defeats in six games.

But the Wildcats did a U-turn last week, beating Lexington (33-22) and South Davie (34-23) on the road. The Lexington win was especially sweet because North lost the first meeting 32-16.

This is what hope feels like, and it's been a long time coming for coach Trish King. The 2-0 week lifted North to 4-6, which is the most wins in four years.

"We were excited to finally see everything click and for the girls to play so well together," King said.

In the first meeting against Lexington, North trailed 16-7 at the half and 24-11 after three quarters. But this time North used a 10-4 run in the second quarter to turn a 7-4 deficit into a 14-11 halftime lead. It surged to a 23-15 lead in the fourth and cruised home.

"What a great game for us," King said. "It's one of the best we've played so far. We had discussed how badly we played against them the first time, and we were determined to have a better showing this time around. Our girls came together and played like a well-oiled machine. Everything seemed to click offensively. We ran our plays with confidence and executed our game plan."

King got 14 points from Ashlyn Hampton, six from Madison Bohannon and five from McKenzie Barneycastle.

"Barneycastle and Bohannon did a great job of handling the pressure up top while feeding the ball into our posts," she said. "Bohannon did an exceptional job of running the point. She quarterbacked our offense and took advantage of her dribble penetration."

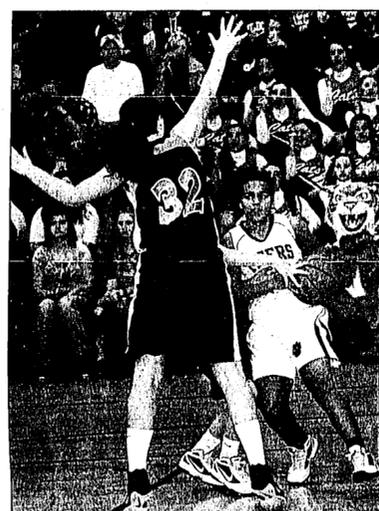

"Hampton did a tremendous job of posting up to receive passes from our guards, which she then turned into baskets."

On the defensive end, Bohannon, Barneycastle, K'Lea Parks and Lindsey Custer harassed Lexington on the perimeter, while Hampton, Jessie Beck and Abby Kerr set up roadblocks in the paint.

"We had worked on our pressure defense and it could not have gone better," she said.

Later in the week, the Wildcats outscored South Davie 11-0 in the second quarter and coasted to an 11-point win. North's performance, though, left King unfulfilled.

"It's always good to win a county game," she said. "However, this was not one we can feel good about. After coming off such a great performance against Lexington, we seemed to play a little out of control.

Ashlyn Hampton blocks the path of Jada Burroughs. Defensively we were missing our assignments and not communicating with one another."

Bohannon (13), Hampton (nine) and Parks (six) led North's scoring. Jada Burroughs (11), Ally Wyrick (four) and ZeMora Cockerham (four) paced the Tigers, who fell to 1-10.

"I saw great hustle and effort by Custer on the defensive end,"

Ellis Girls Push Thomasville To Final Second

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Facing Thomasville at home last week, the Ellis girls basketball team never backed down and never flinched. And because of that, the Jaguars gave Thomasville all it could handle.

The Jaguars fell short, 40-38, but it was a noble losing effort. In the first meeting, Thomasville pummeled Ellis 56-29. But this one was anything but easy for the Bulldogs. Ellis' steady growth as a team was clearly evident.

"I told them before the game:

This is why there are words like 'underdog', 'Cinderella story' and 'upset victory,'" coach Angie Slabach said. "We played so good. We were in it the whole way. It was bittersweet. It feels so good to play them close, and it hurts not to pull it out. If there is such a thing as a moral victory, I'd say that was one."

Earlier in the week, the Jaguars did exactly what they were expected to do in a 36-13 home win over South Davie (1-9). Aubrianna Peebles scored 10 points as Ellis raced out to leads of 9-1, 22-3 and 29-6.

"Aubrianna has been playing good," Slabach said. "We've been moving the ball on offense, and she's gotten to the open spot and her teammates have been finding her."

Caitlin Hill (six), Allie Carter (five), Ruby Dennard (four) and Hannah Woody (four) helped Ellis to a third win in a row. Ten players cracked the scoring column. "It was one of those games where you feel good afterward because a lot of people contributed," she said.

Slabach cited the defense of Patterson Jones and Katelyn Hernandez.

"Although they don't score a lot, they make a lot happen so that other people can score," she said.

South's top scorers were Hannah Sales (four) and Ally Wyrick (three).

"Sales has got some potential," Slabach said. "It's a big, good size and handles the ball pretty good."

Although it ended in narrow defeat, the home matchup against Thomasville was far different from the first meeting.

Ellis (6-4) stunned Thomasville by staying within 8-7 and 15-12 in the first half. Claire Devereaux opened the third with a 3-pointer to force a tie at 15, and it was 28-26 Thomasville at the end of the third.

Thomasville's biggest lead was six.

"We've gotten better and better. I'm just happy about that," Slabach said. "It's a big, big difference from November to now."

In the final minute, Ellis scored to pull within two. Ellis had the ball with six seconds left. Slabach called timeout.

Ellis got the ball downcourt but turned it over.

"We had a girl open. We just overthrew her," she said.

Even though there was not a storybook finish, it was a thrilling and rewarding game. The fourth-quarter score was 12-12 as Ellis posted the most points in eight games.

"That's the kind of pace and score we needed it to be," she said. "It was our best game of the year. We can play with them. We've got them outmatched in size, and they have no bench. My girls have matured as players."

Hill, who was injured and played just over a quarter in the 27-point loss at Thomasville, scored 11 points, hitting double figures for the third time in four games.

"Caitlin is an absolutely phenomenal athlete," she said of her guard. "She has speed on speed. She can just fly. Thomasville has a superstar player that plays point guard, and she couldn't keep up with Caitlin. Caitlin could go right by her. It's crazy how fast she is, and her ball handling has gotten better."

Peebles matched Hill with 11 points. It was her third straight outing in double figures.

"Aubrianna is left-handed. So you put her on the low left block and she's hard to defend," she said. "She's got long arms, and she does a good job rebounding."

Notes: Morgan Sessoms, the tallest player on the team at 5-10, contributed a season-high eight. ... Hill and Peebles are averaging 8.8 and 6.4 points, respectively. But both have shown marked improvement, with Hill averaging 11.7 over four games and Peebles 11.3 over three games.

Mood Swing Thomasville Wrestling Shocks Ellis, N. Davie

Thomasville's wrestling team took a giant leap last week and knocked off Ellis and North Davie.

The Bulldogs defeated North after losing the first meeting 48-42. It was hard to imagine what they did against Ellis. The Jaguars stomped Thomasville 75-15 at home. Last week on the road, they lost 46-44 in an unbelievable reversal of fortunes.

Now North and Thomasville have a chance to catch Ellis in the conference race. Ellis is 5-1, while North and Thomasville are both 4-2.

Earlier in the week, the Jaguars eased past host South Davie 66-30.

Tommy Trader, Luis Hernandez, Cody Hodges, Bradley Collins and Ryan Harrison got pins as Ellis improved to 10-1. South (3-8) handed forfeits to Josh Byrd, Hank Potts, Brandon Lankford, Cade Carney, Jacob Keaton and Joey Myers.

Trader, who pinned at 95 in his starting debut, became the 31st Jaguar to see action this season.

All five of South's victories were pins. Gabe Coleman, Forrest Matthew, QunDarius Bailey, Corbin Kopetzky and Kyle Cookson were the winners.

The Jaguars came out flat at Thomasville and lost a draining match that wasn't decided until the second-to-last weight class at 162. Thomasville snapped Ellis' five-match winning streak.

"We pinned at 191 last time and only won a decision this time," coach Jason Hooker said after Ellis slipped to 10-2. "We pinned at 142 last time and got pinned this time."

There were nine lead changes as the teams split the weight classes 8-8.

Keaton (major decision at 191), Harrison (pin at 250), Drew Brown (technical fall at 85), Hernandez (pin at 114), Hodges (pin at 127) and Collins (pin at 132) gave Ellis a 33-24 lead. But Thomasville won four of the next five to knock Ellis out.

The only Ellis winner between 137 and 162 was J.J. Hayes, who received a forfeit. The loss drew the ire of Hooker.

"My 95 and 105 wrestlers are out right now because of being sick," he said. "But no excuses. They outwrestled us and our guys acted like they did not want to be there. I hope this will be a motivation for us. They will either step up or the rest of the season will be bad."

South (3-9) lost 54-30 at Lexington. In the weight classes that were not a South forfeit, the Tigers won five and lost four. Coleman, Brandon Hendrick, Mario Martinez, Kopetzky and Cookson had pins for South.

America Still Struggling With Issues Identified By Dr. King

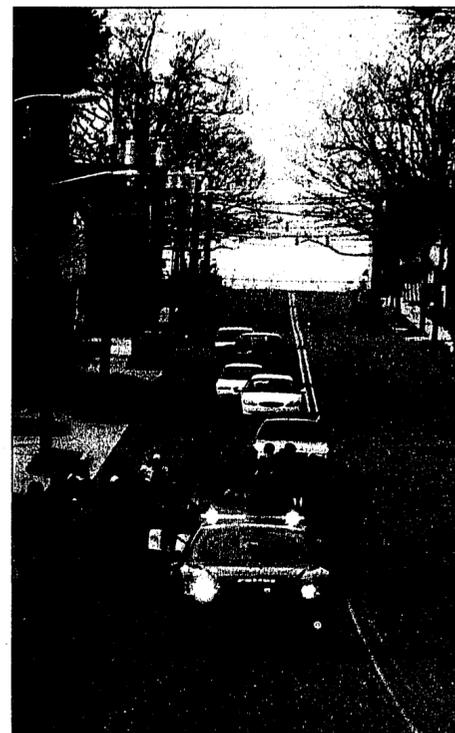

By Mike Barnhardt

Nearly 50 years later, America is still struggling with the same issues identified by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

That was part of the message Monday from the Rev. Dr. John N. Mendez as he spoke to a full Second Presbyterian Church for the Davie NAACP Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration. While most remember King for the march on Washington, the civil rights

Joe Phillips considered bicycling a family affair ... shown above giving a grandchild a ride and at right with son Eric, who started a scholarship through the Davie Community Foundation in his father's memory.

Memory Honored With Scholarship For Music, The Arts

By Meridith Cheek
Special to the Enterprise

Joe Phillips grew up on his family's farm on Milling Road near Mocksville, where he spent his childhood riding motorcycles and bicycles, shooting guns, listening to music, and playing guitar.

He married the woman he loved, raised two sons who adored him, and unexpectedly leave them much too soon - but not before making a huge impact in the lives of his family and those in the hometown community he loved.

In 2011, Joe's son Eric Phillips created a scholarship fund at the Davie Community Foundation in memory of his father. The first scholarship will be awarded in May 2012 to a recipient who has a passion for music and the arts, just as Joe did.

According to Joe's son Eric, "Dad would really like the idea of the scholarship helping someone who didn't have the money they needed to go to college. He was always helping someone."

A true non-conformist, Joe marched to the beat of his own drum. He had little concern for what others thought of what he wore or the cars he drove. Many people knew him by his beard; Eric says he shaved it off only once during his lifetime. "I was 17 years old and did not recognize him when I walked into the barn where he was milking cows," Eric recalls. "It felt wrong for him to be without his beard, so he grew it back out and never shaved it again."

Joe was never into sports like football or basketball like other fathers. "He would try to play them with my younger brother Scott and I because that's what all the other dads were doing with their kids, but we didn't like them either so it just seemed awkward," Eric said. "He was just trying to connect with us, but he was young and it just took him a while to figure out we loved him for who he was and we didn't care about all that. He was the best friend and father a boy could have. I used to say that when he was alive, too."

His sons certainly loved their father for the special person he was, and all of their friends looked up to him as well.

There was never a time Eric was embarrassed to be seen with his father. According to Eric, "All of my friends liked coming over and hanging out with my dad and he loved showing off his guns and motorcycles and strumming some tunes on his guitar. He was the cool dad."

In all of Eric's memories of his father, Joe's fun-loving personality shines through vividly. "I remember watching Tom and Jerry with him. I loved watching and listening to him laugh uncontrollably at Tom the cat taking a frying pan to the head," Eric remembers. "When it snowed he would take us to some parking lot and do donuts in our red Pinto station-wagon. I felt incredibly lucky to have a father and friend like him."

Joe was man of many passions.

Although he had a soft spot for animals and no interest in hunting, one of his favorite things to do was shoot his guns. He loved hearing the pop and feeling the recoil as he destroyed tin cans and rotten fruit. It was fun for him to shoot all kinds of inanimate objects - especially if they would explode or implode.

More than his guns, however, Joe had a passion for music and the arts.

Eric grew up listening to his dad play the guitar for as long as he can remember. "As for the arts," Eric said, "Dad seemed to get most interested after we, his sons, performed in bands for a few years. After we stopped to tend to life's responsibilities, he sort of picked up and got involved volunteering with the Arts Council and playing at small venues in and outside of Mocksville. He gradually became more involved with the community through the local organization and their events."

Today, Eric owns his own bicycle shop, Skinny Wheels Bike Shop, in downtown Mocksville. He considers his father his biggest inspiration in his life's passion. "When my brother and I were about 9 and 11 years old he bought us 10-speed bicycles. We would get up in the morning on Saturday or Sunday and ride to town as a family and have breakfast at Hardees. Those memories are what inspired me to start riding again in 2006," Eric said. "I am so glad to have been able to ride with him when I first started back. Before his accident, he would often start talking about wanting to get a bicycle to ride with me. Now that I own and operate a bike shop, I am certain he would own a bicycle and would most likely ride on a regular basis and hang out in my shop in his spare time."

Joe Phillips was a one-of-a-kind man who brought a special energy and passion to the lives of his family and friends. Eric started the Joe Phillips Memorial Scholarship as a way to give back to students in memory of his father's life. The scholarship fund will remain in Davie County forever, continuing to assist young people who share in Joe's passion for music and the arts.

Donations can be made at any time in any amount by sending a check payable to Davie Community Foundation with "Joe Phillips" in the memo to PO Box 546, Mocksville, Eric also maintains Joe's memorial website at www.joephillipsmusic.com. Visit to learn more about Joe, see pictures, and hear his music.

Award-Winning Writer To Be At MWC Woman's Day

The Mocksville Woman's Club will host their second annual Woman's Day on April 28 at the Bermuda Run Country Club beginning at 11 a.m.

This year's event will be special for two reasons. The club will celebrate its 50th year of its members giving their time and financial support to local and international projects; and plans are for each guest to be treated to an event to remember.

From the moment guests enter the building they know this is an event created for women. The Vendors, selected by the club, will treat the women to jewelry, handbags, pottery, and gift items. Each dining table will have a centerpiece designed with a theme and will be part of a silent auction.

The guest speaker will be a writer known for her ability to touch the hearts of readers. Award-winning writer, Sharon Randall, is a columnist for Scripps Howard News Service in Washington, D.C. Her weekly column is distributed to some 400 newspapers and an estimated 6 million readers nationwide. It appears quarterly in Carmel Magazine. (Her syndicated column appears in the Winston-Salem Journal each Saturday, and weekly in the Salisbury Post.)

Randall began writing "Bay Window," a personal column about "everyday people and ordinary things," for the Monterey County Herald in 1991. The column became popular and was picked up for syndication by Scripps Howard in 1994.

A collection of her columns, Birdbaths and Paper Cranes, was published in 2001 by Sleeping Bear Press and released in paperback by Plum Penguin in 2002. Selected by the Independent Book Sellers of America for the prestigious 2002 "BookSense 76" list, it includes an introduction by her son, actor Josh Randall.

Born and reared in the Blue Ridge Mountains of North and South Carolina, Randall grew up in Landrum, S.C., and has lived for 35 years in "California, of all places."

She began her career at The Monterey County Herald in 1982, starting in the newspaper's library and ending as a feature writer and syndicated columnist. She wrote on topics ranging from violence in schools to the lives of cloistered nuns; profiled celebrities and locals; and reported on news events including the Loma Prieta earthquake, the Clinton inauguration, and the kidnapping of Polly Klass. Her work has been honored with numerous awards from the AASFE, APNEC of California and Nevada, and "Best of the West," along with a Casey Journalism Fellowship from the University of Maryland.

From 1972, when her first child was born, until 1982, when her third child entered kindergarten, Randall was a self-described "full-time homemaker, Sunday School teacher, Little League scorer, and PTA volunteer." Her first husband, a longtime teacher and coach at Monterey High School, died in 1998, following a lengthy battle with cancer that she often wrote about in her columns.

Remarried in May of 2005, Randall divides her time between the Monterey Peninsula and "Las Vegas, of all places." As a winner of numerous professional awards, she notes that she has also "scrubbed a lot of toilets, washed a lot of towels and burned a lot of cookies."

Arts patrons enjoy last year's Casino Night. Tickets are on sale for this year's event scheduled for Feb. 18 at Bermuda Run.

Casino Night To Benefit Davie Arts Council

The Davie County Arts Council's Fourth Annual Casino Night will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 18 at Bermuda Run Country Club.

Play blackjack, roulette, craps, Texas Hold'em and poker. This year, the bingo room has been added. It's all for fun in support of a good cause. Money raised will benefit the programs offered by the arts council.

Here is how the evening works: Participants purchase a ticket (now $45 at the door $50) which will include $300 of play money and one raffle ticket. The play money is exchanged for playing chips or raffle tickets. The raffle tickets are good for a chance to win merchandise.

Don't worry if you don't know how to play - the games and their dealers are professionals who make the night fun. The dealers at each table are trained in their game and can offer beginners assistance (or a refresher for pros).

This year the added feature of being able to play bingo with a professional calling each game will be held in the Diamond Room.

Want to take a break from playing? The Mobile Jukebox will provide music for dancing. Light refreshments will be available as well as a cash bar. As in years past, there will be desserts to enjoy with coffee.

Rules of the Game

To play at the gaming tables, purchase casino money at the cashier's table. Only cashiers' money will be accepted at game tables in exchange for casino chips. Casino chips (winnings) may be exchanged at the cashier's window anytime for raffle tickets.

Raffle tickets may then be used by depositing into raffle containers for a chance to win prizes. Participants may purchase raffle tickets (if you do not want to play at gaming tables) to enter for a chance to win prizes. The more raffle tickets entered, the greater the chance of winning. All raffle drawings will be held at the end of the evening, when gaming tables close.

Tickets can be purchased by calling the Davie County Arts Council's box office at 751-3000. For more information call the arts council at 751-3112.

Benefit Alternative Christian Concert Planned

On Friday, Feb. 3, a few local alternative Christian bands are playing a free benefit show in honor of Josh Rominger's cancer recovery, at The Inn in Salisbury.

Davie High student Nolan Smith has decided to put the show together and he is encouraging everyone to attend.

"Even if you're not particularly fond of the music, it's still a great cause to be a part of, with helping our brother Josh out, and reminding him that we love him and are here for him," Smith said. "I don't know Josh personally, but I do know that he and his family are facing some very tough times right now and they need our prayers and comfort throughout these storms they're faced with."

Donations collected from the show will go to the family.

Admission is free; however, donations will be accepted.

The bands that will be playing are: Bruised But Not Broken, Our City in Shambles, The Helper, Distance, Rise To The Heights, and Keep It Secret Keep It Safe.

The Inn is at 1012 Mooresville Road, Salisbury. The show begins at 7:30 p.m.

A special belated birthday wish to Jamie Dyson Stowe, Luke Reeves and Wesley Hill whose birthday on Jan. 16 was omitted last week. Those celebrating a birthday this week are: Naveah Barker on Jan. 19; Tammy Jones and Jim Scruggs on Jan. 21; Bryant McClamroch, Dot Keller and Zachary Sherrill on Jan. 22; Janet Dyson on Jan. 23; Sadie Helton on Jan. 24; and Jason Johnson, Lacey Tomel, Kathy Young, Kody Reece Brown, Darnell Cleary and J.T. County Line News

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

Our County Line weather continues its fickle path of short cold spells followed by sunny, warmer days. Pro football and college hoops continue to rule the airwaves and the news. My TV pro football days are over for this season; one TV sports announcer said this week "Tebowism" was over. As Carolina fans and alumni learned this past Saturday, great teams can really fall flat when playing a fired-up opponent. After the Steeler game, Tim Tebow tweets on Twitter broke a record for sports at 9420 per second (about 4,300 more than the death of Osama Bin Laden) and John 3:16 was the most searched term on the internet. Let's hope that Tebow's faith and clean living continue to spread across our country - to both young and old.

Remember the meeting of the Women on Missions of Society Baptist at 2 p.m. Thursday in the fellowship hall. After refreshments and fellowship hosted by Marie Prather, the group will begin a study on North American mission work led by Mildred Benfield. They invite others for an afternoon of fellowship and mission study, and always welcome new members.

Involved of Society Baptist will host a family game and fun night Friday in the fellowship hall. Activities will begin at 5 and include games and a soup and sandwich meal. Church members are asked to bring crackers, chips, snacks, and drink plus a favorite board or card game. Society invites others to an evening of family fun and food with them.

Upcoming community events include a country ham and sausage breakfast sponsored by the Salem United Methodist Men at the County Line VFD Saturday, Jan. 28; gospel singing at 6 p.m. at Society Baptist Church Sunday, Jan. 29; and a V-point Ruritan country ham and sausage breakfast at the V-Point Building Saturday, Feb. 4.

Our community sends happy-birthday wishes to Mary Anna McDaniel, who was 92 Saturday. Mary Anna has been hospitalized at Davis Regional Medical Center, but we are glad to report that she is recuperating at Autumn Care of Mocksville. Today she enjoys a relaxing lifestyle as she recuperates and enjoys visits from relatives and friends. Many of us have enjoyed getting greeting cards from Mary Anna through the years and we hope she gets many cards of good wishes as she begins her 93rd year of life. Mary Anna, all of us in County Line hope you had a great day and a healthy and happy new year of life.

We send congratulations to Jack Koontz upon being honored by YVEDDI's naming its newest Head Start center the "Jack G. Koontz Head Start Center." A long-time YVEDDI board member and current chair, Jack was instrumental in getting the facility built. The new center is on NC Hwy 801 near Greasy Corner. A 1960 graduate of Cool Spring High School and County Line VFD firefighter and former chief, Jack is a son of the late Marshall and Laura Campbell Koontz and resides with his wife Kay on Davie Academy Road. Jack, all of us in County Line congratulate you upon this honor; you've made us very proud.

Our community sends get-well wishes to Tim Peeler and Margaret Ann Shew. Tim had recent surgery and is recuperating at home. Margaret Ann had surgery last week at Forsyth Medical Center. Gladys Griffith has improved and is in rehab at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Otis Snow has improved and is in rehab at Davie County Hospital. Barry Wilson remains at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center. Esther Campbell remains in rehab at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Lois Harris, Howard Safriet, and Helen Steele remain in rehab at Autumn Care of Mocksville.

Join us in prayer for the Lord's divine healing and blessings upon Tim, Margaret Ann, Gladys, Otis, Barry, Esther, Mary Anna, Lois, Howard, Helen, and others who are having health problems.

Mr. Brannon was born in Charlottesville, Va. and raised in Raleigh, the younger son of Clarence H. Brannon and Mary Elizabeth Cloud Brannon. He joined the U.S. Naval Reserve as a high school senior, continuing through his college years, when he enlisted in a two-year tour of active sea duty during the Korean War as a Navy aviator in VS-30, an anti-submarine outfit, serving as a bombardier on what was the largest single-engine aircraft in the world. Brannon spent four years at Hampden-Sydney College, where he was a member of the track team, the traveling glue club, a staff writer for the campus newspaper and as president of the Independents' Organization. Mr. Brannon began his 45 years of ministry in the Greenbrier Valley of West Virginia, where he was pastor of a small church and an assistant administrator in the Presbyterian home for children. He was elected moderator of Greenbrier Presbytery. His other two pastorates were in Hermitage Church in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and in Shiloh Church in Burlington, where he served as a pastor for 25 years until his retirement in 1995. A specialty of his ministry was pastoral counseling. He studied theology in Scotland at the University of St. Andrews and the University of Edinburgh. He did additional study in the area of worship and preaching at Union Theological Seminary. Mr. Brannon served on a committee of Salem Presbytery that designed worship services and held workshops on worship for pastors and officers. His favorite pastimes were reading, writing, and outdoor activities. In 2004 he published a book, Tears of Joy and Tears of Sorrow, to detail to younger clergy the meanings and content of weddings and funeral services.
Survivors: his wife, Johnnie Ellis Brannon of the home; 2 sons, Warren C.  leader's more important works were his stance against the Vietnam War and the Poor People's Campaign, an effort not altogether different from the Occupy Wall Street movement these days. King's goal, Mendez said, was to tie up cities until the country adopted an economic bill of rights that all jobs pay a living wage.

"Fifty years later, we're talking about some of the same ideas," Mendez said. "He was a radical determined to create equality and end poverty." Young people were vital in the struggle back then, and need to be again, he said. "Young people helped to change America ... to help American live up to its own principles."

Don't dream - but rather practice, Mendez said. He talked about walking to the beat of a different drummer, and having courage to stand up when you see something that isn't right.

"We are living in a culture that encourages power and prestige and passivity through conformity. We are challenged to avoid controversy to make it to success in a culture that prefers docile people ... who blindly submit."

King didn't keep up with popularity polls. He didn't keep pace with patriotic slogans. "It's better to be an outcast for justice than be accepted by the in crowd for doing the wrong thing," Mendez said.

The country's economic forces are run by people with no compassion. "Blatant greed in the midst of poverty," Mendez called it. "The wealthy of this land declared war on the poor ... all in the interest of making more money, more money and more money." Companies mistreat employees, and take away benefits. "They do not care about what happens to poor, working people. They pack their pockets with money that never trickles down."

Mendez grew up in New York, and met King and other activists in the 1960s. And yes, there was plenty of prejudice there, too. The pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, he urged men and women to take care of their children, to encourage them, and make sure they get the best education possible.

"Nobody can stop you but you," he said, quoting Tupac Shakur. "Don't be embarrassed because you know who you are and whose you are. If God is before you, who can be against you?"

Poverty can bring you down, but remember, the same God is in all people, Mendez said.

"And we've got to be able to integrate folk. This country cannot make it as a segregated society ... because everybody is somebody. We've got to declare war on ignorance ... on poverty."

He chastised BET for going from the best news on television to nothing more than booty shaking. Single mothers should not belittle their children because they look like their absent fathers. "And brothers, if you're big enough to make a baby, you're big enough to take care of a baby."

"If we do this right, we will be able to fight for justice."

The day began on the square in Downtown Mocksville, when about 70 people gathered at the Veteran's Monument before walking down Depot Street to the church. The Rev. Andrew Brown started it with a prayer. "May we whisper a prayer for peace," he said, "and have the spirit of Dr. King for the unity of all people, and for this nation. While we celebrate, we want to remember all he meant to our nation and to us."

Brown encouraged the group to do as Dr. King, give of yourself to others. At the church, a youth choir performed as the room filled to standing room only.

Pastor Fred Terry said that Presbyterians were among the first to allow African-Americans a place to worship God, but even then, there was division among their ranks.

"Jesus Christ called for all and he didn't discriminate," Terry said. "The fight against racism of any kind begins in our own hearts, each one of us as individuals. Just as we come to Christ as individuals, we fight injustice as individuals."

Alice G. Brown talked about a state NAACP initiative called "Get Out The Vote," with a goal of registering 41,000 new voters in North Carolina.

"In Davie County, our numbers are small, but we have to have the attitude that we can make a difference if we stick together. We are going to have to pull ourselves up and put some fire in the belly." The NAACP is using all available resources to identify people who are not registered. "Politicians ignore people who don't vote," she said.

Justice Fulton is heading a NAACP drive in Davie County, and the goal is to grow membership to 150 people. Meetings are on the fourth Monday evenings at Shiloh Baptist Church on Depot Street in Mocksville.

A Rainbow Tea is being scheduled to help with the effort, and local churches are being asked to participate, he said.

Youth choir members Josh Holmes and Justus Tatum interpret a song as part of the program.

The procession crosses Main Street at the Davie County Courthouse.

Miss Hayes' class is in full penguin mode. Students are learning all about penguins including habitat locations. They have been reading "Penguin Chick," a nonfiction text, about Emperor Penguins and how they live. They have been studying animal adaptations in science to go along with the study. Students learned that penguins have many adaptations to cope with the conditions in the Southern Hemisphere. The students enjoyed diving head first into everything penguin. They are ending the unit by watching "March of the Penguin." This is a great film that allows students a real life look at all the information they have been learning.

Mocksville Elementary
Students of the Week of Jan. 9: Jasmin Gamez, Rebecca Harrison, Gavin Bolduc, Austin Moore, Susana Peno, Yadhira Rodriguez, Anna Callett, Emily Sanchez, Ray Boone, Rudy Hernandez, Danny Rodriguez, Jesus Solis-Romero, Trot Byerly, Melchor Gamez, Ashley Butero, Monica Segovia-Hernandez, Shahd Heikal, Ashlyn Hicks, Joshua Hampton, Mahaley Abshire, Alexis Riddle, Malik Polk, Dakota Miller, Cody James, Meighanne Iavaroni.

In Mrs. Doub and Mrs. Pruitt's class, students finished a math "Trialblazers" unit on three-dimensional shapes. They enjoyed doing hands-on activities with rolling, stacking and sliding. They learned about circumference and height. The students finished their noun unit and have begun to discuss verbs. They listened to the story "Snowmen at Night" and acted out the verbs in the story. Students heard stories about penguins. They used a Venn diagram to compare adult penguins and baby chick penguins. Each student has drawn a picture to show how they would adapt to be ready to go to Antarctica and how penguins already have adaptations that help them to survive the cold climate. During writing students learned to write stories with dialogue. They have written dialogue between two penguins. As the second quarter comes to an end, the teachers are excited to see how the students have progressed and even more excited to share it with their parents.

Third graders have been focusing on main idea while learning about penguin facts reading Penguin Chick. mThey were introduced to cool vocabulary such as rookery and preen. They got to view the penguins in their extreme living conditions through a streaming video. Perimeter and area have been the math topics as students learn to recognize and remember when to do what process. Science groups are wrapping up with unit tests at the end of the week.

Mrs. McKnight's fourth grade students enjoyed their holiday break and are back into the routine of school. Students have been finishing division in math and learning how to solve multi-step word problems. All groups will be moving onto algebra soon. Students are looking forward to moving away from the basal book for a while and reading "The Mystery of Blackbeard" by Carol Marsh.

Cooleemee Elementary

to explore the winter season. They read stories about winter weather, connected experiences with the stories in writing, and completed several winter crafts. Classes will host a Make-It and Take-It Night for our kindergarten students and their families. Students will make up to three games to use at home. They will present strategies for student success in reading and writing.

First grade students will learn to read and spell words with vowel men at the end. They will learn that whenever there is a vowel standing at the end of a short word it always says its own name. In math the students will group and count objects. They will skip count by twos, fives, and tens. Students will count by twos through counting hands, arms, and other objects naturally grouped by twos. Counting by fives occurs in the context of counting fingers on one hand, grouping pennies by fives, and substituting a nickel for every group of five pennies. Counting by tens is motivated by counting fingers on both hands, grouping pennies by tens, and substituting a dime for every group of ten pennies. In science students will learn the three states of matter: solids, liquids, and gases. Students will learn to classify solids according to their properties: color, texture, shape, ability to sink in water. They will learn to determine the properties of liquids. First graders will observe mixtures including solids with solids, liquids with liquids, and solids with liquids.

Third graders continued their study of multiplication strategies and facts. Students have been learning facts by using flash cards, games and computer programs. In science, they started a unit on soil. Third graders worked in groups to complete KWL charts to list what they already know about soil and what they want to learn about soil. In social studies students continue to learn about heroes and people who have made a difference. There has been a focus on Martin Luther King Jr. Students focused on story elements in reading. They discussed the setting, plot, and characters of some of their favorite stories and movies.

In fourth grade students are reading a historical fiction story about the Underground Railroad. They are learning fact and opinion.

In writing, students are working on persuading Mrs. Pike to order a particular book that is not in the library. Students must have an introduction, three paragraphs of supporting ideas, and a conclusion. In social studies students continue with their study of the "Lost Colony of Roanoke" and the mystery surrounding it. In mathematics students are working on transitioning from multiplication to division. Mrs. Whitaker's class learned a division dance to remember the steps in the process of long division.

Shady Grove Elementary
During media time, students in many grade levels are learning about reference materials that can assist them with assigned research projects. They are learning to gather information from types of sources and use the facts gathered to complete their projects.

About 20 fourth and fifth graders are trying out for the

The annual reading contest for the school will be Feb. 6-March 23. Students will compete against classes in their own grade level. Details of this contest will be sent home near the end of January.

Cornatzer Elementary
Fourth graders are learning to be rock hounds as they dig into their latest science unit. They are finding out about the types of rocks, igneous, metamorphic and sedimentary, how to tell the difference between a rock and a mineral, the properties of minerals, what the rock cycle is and, the processes of weathering and erosion. They will conduct an experiment in identifying rocks, and make a tasty "sedimentary sandwich," using edible items to represent layers of the earth.

In math classes Ms. Doss's students have mastered multiplying three and four digit numbers and division of large numbers. They are learning about metric and customary units of metric and customary units of weight, measurement and capacity. Ms. Stiller's math class tackled adding and subtracting decimal numbers, division, and is investigating percentages expressed as fractions.

In reading and language arts, fourth graders have been studying past and future tenses, author's purpose, context clues, contractions, fact and opinion, and summarizing. Ms. Stiller's class is reading Farmer Boy by Laura Ingalls Wilder, and Ms. Doss's class is reading The Kid in the Red Jacket, by Barbara Park.

Congratulations to fourth grade spelling bee winners who will go forward to try and represent the school at the county wide competition: Nimesha Coleman, Olivia Jones, Cassie Myers, Courtney Barney, Allyson Ruiz and Hayden Strickland.

Production Thursday, Friday At Ellis Middle

The Ellis Middle School Jaguar Players will present "Beauty and the Beast, Jr." on Thursday, Jan. 19 and Friday, Jan. 20 at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

"The students have been hard at work this semester memorizing lines, learning choreography, and singing difficult musical selections on a daily basis," said Katherine Reeves, drama teacher. "The show features the songs we all know and love, such as 'Be Our Guest' and 'Gaston,' as well as new musical numbers like 'Human Again' and 'Home'."

Hoping to escape from her mundane life and boorish suitor, Gaston, the beautiful Belle embarks on an unexpected adventure, full of enchanted castles, dancing flatware, and menacing wolves.

"You and your family are sure to enjoy this classic tale about finding love in unexpected places," Reeves said. Tickets are $8 in advance, $10 at the door. Tickets for children ages 10 and under are $5. Call 998-2007 to make reservations.

MES Kindergarten Students Enjoy New Year Of Learning

The Mocksville Elementary School kindergarten classes have been reading "Farfallina and Marcel."

The students enjoyed this story and they stated that their favorite part was when the characters recognized each other and became friends again. The students learned that friendships can last a long time even if they do not see that person for a while.

Some students remembered a few classmates who have left the school. They talked about their feelings and how they missed friends who have left.

They all concluded that they would be excited just like Marcel, a character from the story, if the friends returned.

The focus skill for this story was plot.

Much excitement was in the air over math. The children were able to learn about, recognize, and build new shapes. The students learned about cubes, spheres, and cones.

The children were excited about the games and activities involving shapes. They talked about a few more New Year celebrations and about Martin Luther King.

The students were able to do Skyping with another class to learn about some of the New Year's lessons. For the Martin Luther King lessons the children read books, completed Smartboard activities, and watched a couple video clips.

Izabelle Pierce and Victor Calix work on their cubes.

When I came to work at Uniforms Express I didn't think that I would be able to make good money because I had never sewn before. But after I was taught how to do my jobs I realized that it was fairly simple and after a few weeks I was making great money and having fun while I was doing it. The atmosphere is really relaxed and the women that I work with are nice and if I need help they are willing to show me what to do to make the job easier. Uniforms Express is a great place to work!

Mentoring ...

The organization holds itself accountable for children in the program to achieve measurable outcomes, such as higher aspirations; greater confidence and better relationships; educational success; and avoidance of delinquency and other risky behaviors, said Amy Boardwine, director of Davie BBBS.

Little Brother, Kavyn, cheers on his Big Brother, Brian Moore, in a Minute to Win It challenge.

Meet the newest Big/Little Match, Big Sis Jenna Hendricks and Little Sis Jennifer.

Big Brothers Big Sisters serves a variety of children including those from single-parent homes to two-parent homes where there is clearly a need and the child would benefit from a mentor.

"We serve over 100 children every year through the programs offered right here in Davie County," Boardwine said.

"In 2012, commit to changing your own life by changing the life of a child. Our volunteers tell us over and over again about how giving their time to help a child has been far more rewarding than they ever thought possible."

Still not sure? Start by being a Reading Buddy for 30-45 minutes a week at an elementary school. Or, be a Lunch Buddy. Everybody has to eat lunch, so why not spend one lunch a week brightening the day of a child by eating lunch with them at school?

"We have children waiting for you," she said.

Taylor Resigns

Cooleemee Board Member Suggests Don Cover As Replacement

By Jackie Seabolt
Enterprise Record

COOLEEMEE - Commissioner Chuck Taylor has resigned from the town board halfway through his elected term of four years.

Taylor announced his resignation at the Jan. 16 town meeting. In a letter to the board Taylor says "it is with mixed emotions that I write to tell you that I must resign my position on the Cooleemee Town Board."

Taylor says that his work with the town is important, but must play a secondary role to God, family, and his work with his church.

"I can no longer fulfill my responsibilities or serve the people of Cooleemee with any integrity. I personally wish to live in a town where the leadership can govern with clear insight and focus and give their energies to making their community great, and I can no

Local Jobs Available; New Resource Launched

A new community resource listing local jobs has been established to help Davie residents connect with Davie employers.

"The economic engine is running in Davie County, and taking advantage of local opportunities just got easier," said Terry Bralley, president of the economic development commission.

As of Monday, there are job openings in and around Davie for nurses, physical therapists, personal bankers, diesel truck mechanics, sales specialists, delivery drivers, manager trainees, production supervisors, hair stylists and bakers.

"New employers are moving to Davie County, existing employers are expanding their operations here and healthy companies are always looking to replace workers as they flow into and out of the organization through the normal attrition process," he said.

Brought to you on behalf of the Davie County Economic Development Commission, the Davie County Chamber of Commerce, and the towns of Mocksville, Bermuda Run and Cooleemee and local industry, the Davie County Jobs site lists local jobs from a variety of resources. Visit www.daviecountyblog.com/jobs.

Josh's Journey Sunday At Cornerstone

Josh's Journey: Believe - A Time of Prayer and Praise will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29 at Cornerstone Christian Church, 1585 NC 801 N. between Farmington and Bermuda Run.

The event is designed for youth to think and pray for one of their own - 16-year-old Josh Rominger, a Davie High student who is battling cancer.

Sponsored by youth groups of area churches, The River Church Praise Band will perform. It is not a fundraiser; just a time for the youth, although all are welcome.

Those attending are asked to wear Josh's favorite color, Carolina Blue.

Officer Kills Dog During Search

A dog was shot and killed by a member of the Davie Sheriff's Department during a home search with a probation officer.

Dana Ferguson Rock, 45, of Farmington Road, Mocksville was charged with one count of cruelty to animals.

According to Chief J.D. Hartman, on Jan. 18 at approximately 7:30 p.m. officers were requested to assist with a search of the Farmington Road home with a probation officer.

Hartman said that officers had been to the residence on "multiple occasions" and knew there were canines in the home that were unfriendly.

Hartman said officers asked Rock if the dogs were contained and that she told them the dogs were. "As officers and probation entered the home to search one of the canines that was not put up charged the officers in an attempt to attack," Hartman said.

One of the officers shot and killed the large dog, according to Hartman.

Rock is scheduled to appear in Davie District Court on March 15.

Wrongful Death Lawsuit Filed

The daughter of a woman whose dismembered body was discovered in rural Davie County last year has filed a lawsuit against the man accused of killing her.

David Hughes was named in the lawsuit as being responsible for the death of Patricia Swaim. The two lived in Hughes' home off Serenity Drive in western Davie.

Hughes was charged with first-degree murder, but was found incompetent to stand trial by a superior court judge. The court remanded him to Central Regional Hospital in Butner, where he remains.

In the lawsuit, Andrea Swaim, administratrix of her mother's estate, claims that Hughes killed Patricia Swaim with a gun. Hughes, the suit claims, was "reckless, careless and negligent" in his use of the gun.

"He knew or should have known that a loaded firearm is a highly dangerous instrumentality and its possession or use is attended by extraordinary danger, and having the loaded firearm in his possession, failed to exercise extraordinary care."

Andrea Swaim asks for more than $10,000 in damages for loss of expected "services, protection, care and assistance ... society, companionship, comfort, guidance, kindly offices and advice ... and net income."

The suit also asks for a jury trial. She is represented in the lawsuit by attorneys Michael J. Lewis and D. Stuart Pungler.

Hughes was charged by the Davie Sheriff's Department with first-degree murder after the victim's body was found on March 23. Her daughter had reported her mother missing on March 10. Her body was found in a brush pile near the home.

The murder charge is not on the court calendar, and won't be until there is a change in his "medical circumstances or mental status."

'Let It Be' By Hoisting A 'Red Solo Cup'

Since getting an iPod two years back, I've been slowly accumulating a very modest collection of songs. For Christmas, someone gave me an iTunes gift card. For $1.29 each, I bought two of the best songs ever written:

- "Let It Be" by The Beatles.
- "Red Solo Cup" by Toby Keith.

They move me. The Beatles are, of course, the undisputed best band ever, and "Let It Be" speaks of the come-what-may spirit of the late 1960s when we worried only about the big things: Nuclear holocaust and Reds under ever bed. We didn't expect government to be our nanny, build our cars and give us houses. We didn't look to Big Brother to wipe our noses and make our beds. We worried about the Soviets nuking us to a cinder.

During that terrifying age, four British boys from Liverpool came across the pond to send American girls into a frenzy and make the boys grow their hair long in hope of earning the same reaction. In 1968 when the British band members were quarrelling, Paul McCartney penned "Let It Be" as a vision from his late mother Mary.

And when the brokenhearted people Living in the world agree There will be an answer, let it be.

The Beatles didn't let it be, of course. They broke up. I have been letting it be lately, and it has been good for my blood pressure and my waistline.

Along, now, comes the sage of this age, Toby Keith of Moore, Okla., where his name is painted on the big water tower on I-35 between Norman and Oklahoma City. He sings an ode to a red plastic cup, much like poet John Keats did to a Grecian urn in the 19th century. Only this is better.

There was a pent-up time in my life when I would have thought "Red Solo Cup" was silly and ridiculous. No more. At this stage, it's deep. I had never talked to a plastic cup of any color, but I have often talked to understanding cows.

Thou shalt remain, in midst of other woe
Than ours, a friend to man, to whom thou sayst, "Beauty is truth, truth beauty," - that is all Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know.*

What did he mean by that? Only an English student with at least a master's degree can say with any authority. Toby Keith, by contrast, speaks for the common man:

*Now I've seen you in blue and I've seen you in yellow
But only you in red will do for this fellow
Cuz you are the Abbot to my Costello
And you are the fruit to my loom*

There are a couple other verses that are actually more meaningful, but they include a few words that might cause the editor some problems with certain senior ladies Sunday School classes if they were printed here.

With my two new songs, I have mellowed. When I'm not letting it be, I'm drinking from a red solo cup and talking to it in rhyme. I play the songs over and over when I'm driving. I've slowed down and drive much safer. What's the hurry? Why speed toward our graves?

Some people hire psychiatrists. Some take pills. Me, I just hoist a red plastic cup and jump back and forth between The Beatles and Toby Keith on my amazing little music device.

I can name a few other up-tight, all-consumed fellows who could follow my example.

In The Mail ... Demand Answers About Police

To the editor:

Dec. 29th began as a normal day for Major Ken Hunter, Detective Jerry Medlin, and Lt. Rick Donathan, three officers with the Mocksville Police Department. It ended with something that they were not expecting. The three officers with 45-plus years experience were terminated by Chief Robert Cook with no explanation; other than "You work for an at will office and your services are no longer needed."

I am the wife of Detective Jerry Medlin and a friend of Asst. Chief Ken Hunter and Lt. Rick Donathan. Let me begin by saying that I am very proud of them all.

Chief Cook stated that it would be inappropriate to discuss the reasons for their termination? Really? That would be because there wasn't a reason. I challenge anyone to approach Chief Cook or town hall and ask them to produce anything negative about either of these officers. With 45-plus years of combined experience, you will find nothing negative about any of them. However, you will find a lot of promotions, honors and thank you cards from the community, as well as from Chief Cook.

Jerry, as well as, Ken and Rick are respected officers, their goals are to serve and protect and uphold the law.

They were faced with some decisions to uphold their oath, be true to God, themselves and the community or to be a follower and ignore their responsibility as respected police officers. All of them made the choice to be true to their oaths. I challenge you, the community, to ask questions and demand answers. If you can't trust your leaders, who can you trust?

Your support in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Proud To Be In Davie

To the editor:

I am so proud to be a resident of Davie County. We are large enough to hold our own, yet small enough to care for each other. Tonight, when I saw what a local restaurant did, for a family of our own. I have never been more proud to live here. Venezias Italian Restaurant did a wonderful thing. Their employees, most of whom attend Davie High, donated their wages and their tips to help a family of one of their own. This kind of love for our fellow man is instilled in the hearts and minds of our youth. Every parent and grandparent can be proud and grateful for these young people.

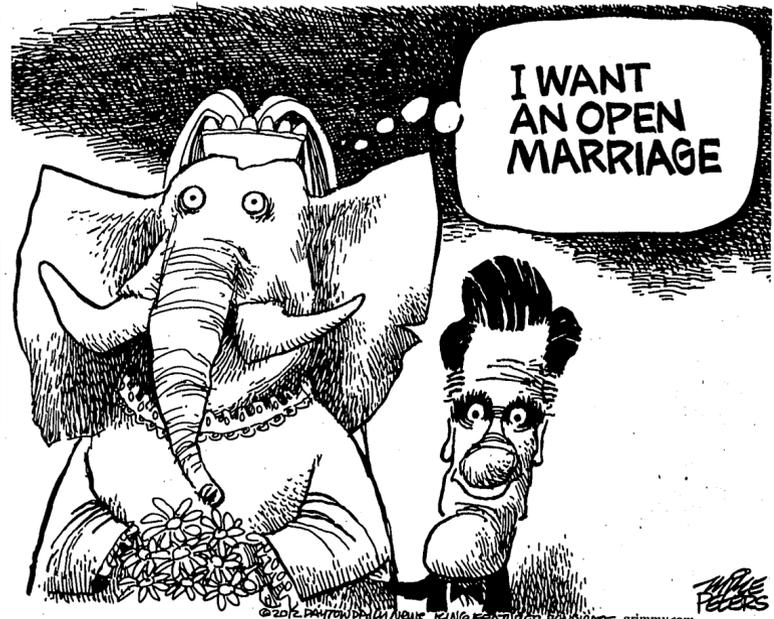

I wasn't born in Davie County, but got here as soon as I could. We raised our children here, and now our grandchildren. God Bless all who came, gave and love our county and our neighbors.

Vickie B. McGee, Advance

1 Arrested, 1 Sought After Weekend Chase

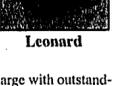

By Jackie Seabolt
Enterprise Record

A week-end chase resulted in the arrest of one of the suspects and officers are asking for help in locating the other missing suspect.

Head

Andrew O'Neal, 18, of Main Street, Coolee was charged with larceny of a motor vehicle.

Leonard

James Leonard, 21, of Linwood remains at large with outstanding charges of felony speeding to elude an officer and larceny of a motor vehicle.

According to Davie County Sheriff's Office Chief J.D. Hartman, on Jan. 21 around 9 p.m. Deputy Trip Brockwell was patrolling the Coolee area and noticed a green Jeep Cherokee vehicle with no tags.

longer fulfill those same desires for Coolee," Taylor says. "I do not leave with any regrets. I am thankful for the work we have accomplished in two years and I am glad that my reason for leaving is because God has chosen to find favor with our church and bless us greatly."

Hartman said that Brockwell drove to NC 801 to intercept the vehicle and met the Jeep at Swicegood Street where the chase began.

Taylor was elected Nov. 2009 and during his election campaign he promised to focus on recreation and open communication between commissioners and residents.

During his two years on the board Taylor spearheaded the formation of the Coolee Recreation Department and worked to maintain involvement between the board and residents. "We took recreation to a whole new level in less than two years and the whole board is to be credited for that," Taylor says. "We've made a very diligent attempt to involve the town and I think that's what we've done based on the feedback I've received. I am able to go out on recreation to a whole new level in less than two years and the whole board is to be credited for that," Taylor says.

"I have met with Don Cover, who used to be the County Veteran Service Officer. Don holds a very high standing within the veteran community in Coolee and Davie County. I believe that Don has many skills that would serve the town well. He certainly has a heart for Coolee, and more so he possesses the ability to pick up quickly the necessary tools to lead Coolee for the next two years."

A special called meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 30 at 5 p.m. at Coolee Town Hall to appoint Taylor's replacement.

Leonard was driving the Jeep and pulled into a drive on Swicegood, exited the vehicle, and ran into the woods, Hartman said.

Hartman said it was later discovered that Leonard fled to Hobson Drive and caught a ride to Mocksville.

Mocksville Police Department were notified by a resident on Williams Road after Leonard showed up there and argued over money before breaking widows in a vehicle.

Hartman is asking anyone with information on Leonard's whereabouts to contact the sheriff's office at 751-5547.

Head is scheduled to appear in Davie District Court on Feb. 2.

Coach Trish King and the Wildcats jump for joy during a 38-36 overtime win over visiting Ellis.

Triple Double Hampton Stars As North Davie Edges Ellis

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

When the Ellis girls basketball team held a nine-point lead early in the third quarter last week at North Davie, coach Trish King of North was probably having flashbacks.

North lost the first meeting 36-30 and North was 0-9 in the series. But just when it seemed like history was bound to repeat itself, the Wildcats dug deep and rallied for an overtime win. It was a classic, middle-school battle that ended with North winning 38-36.

"Wow. What a game," King said. "It was the most exciting game we have played."

The Wildcats' 2-6 start has been long forgotten. They've won three straight. At 5-6, they've accomplished the most wins in five years. To put the turnaround into perspective, they had five wins total over the previous three years.

"Going into the game, we talked a lot about confidence, playing together and believing in ourselves," King said. "Our theme for the game was 'we believe,' and the girls did a tremendous job of encouraging one another."

Ashlyn Hampton, North's extraordinary seventh-grade center, delivered an amazing game - 17 points, 14 rebounds and 11 blocks. Yes, a triple-double.

"What an incredible showing by a young player," King said. "She is definitely going to turn some heads for us."

Stellar Pumps In 36 In Girls' Win

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Davie girls basketball coach Denny Key is trying very hard to build Rome. He's pushing Davie to get incrementally better, and the War Eagles took a step in the right direction with a much-needed 61-54 home win over Reagan on Friday.

Maybe the first win in eight games will reinvigorate Davie's season. "We've been on the verge," Key said after Davie improved to 3-14 and 1-3 in the Central Piedmont Conference. "It was the same kind of game that we've been playing. Just tonight we happened to score (a season-high) 61 (after averaging 43 through 16 games). We were trying to win with forty-some points. That did us a lot of good in a lot of ways."

Amy Steller, a junior point guard, was truly amazing. She scored 36 points, flirting with Davie's all-time record. During the six-player era, Loraine McDaniel Blackwood scored a record 40 and 39 in a pair of games in 1957-58. Steller was three from the modern record. Beth Mashburn had 39 in 1987-88, and Nicole Maready had 39 in 2003-04.

Steller's 36 marked the most since Maready, which spans a whopping 213 games.

"Amy obviously had an outstanding night," he said. "She looked comfortable. She looked relaxed when she shot."

Stellar's backcourt mate, Laura Shelton, played a significant role with 17 points. They were brilliant at the foul line, combining to hit 23 of 26 free throws.

"That's the kind of game I like to play," he said. "When you penetrate and hit the gaps, guards are supposed to shoot a lot of free throws. That's one of the things we try to do. It was a matter of getting in the bonus."

Gobble, Davie Win 20-Team Tournery

You want your wrestling team to peak in late January, and Davie appears to be doing just that. It captured a 20-team tournament last weekend at Morehead High. Davie scored 176.5 points to claim the Sarah Wilkes tournament.

Second-place Jack Britt was 16.5 points behind Davie.

This was Davie's first tournament triumph of the season, after placing ninth, ninth and 29th in earlier ones.

But Davie wasn't at full strength in any of those. On Friday and Saturday, Davie was as close to full strength as it's been all season.

"It was about dang time," coach Buddy Lowery said. "It was about the first time we had a full lineup. The only one we were missing was Cameron Beck."

Sophomore Alex Gobble was terrific at 170, going 3-0 to become Davie's only first-place finisher. He had two pins before recording a 19-7 major decision in the finals.

"He's got the potential," Lowery said. "It's just a matter of not getting himself in trouble. He might get two but then give the guy a reversal. If he just keeps it simple, he can be pretty good."

Gobble has won 11 of 13 to lift his record to 21-6.

"He wrestled smart probably 90 percent of the time this weekend," Lowery said. Three War Eagles took runner-up: Trevor Albarron, Trevon Faulkner and Mick Spillman.

Albarron went 3-1 at 113. The senior has won 15 of 17 to push his record to 33-8.

Faulkner went 2-1 at 160, pinning twice before losing 9-0 to Southern Alamance senior Cody Boswell, who

Back On Track Boys Dismantle Reagan

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

The situation was quite simple when Davie's boys basketball team hosted Reagan on Friday: Davie had to win.

Davie, leaking oil since the injury to Caleb Martin, came in 1-2 in the Central Piedmont Conference. It was leading the league in bitterness after losing a week earlier to Reynolds, 76-75.

Coach Mike Absher had a week to fix things, and he achieved that as Davie dismantled the Raiders 73-55.

"I used to coach football, and it's tough when you've got a week to (stew)," Absher said after Davie defeated Reagan for the first time in the series between the schools. "I couldn't be more proud of them because we stepped up and beat a quality team thoroughly. Our offensive execution was as good as it's been. It didn't seem to matter what we called, we got pretty much what we wanted. We gave up 55 points after we gave up 46 in 16 minutes (to Reynolds). I can't speak highly enough about that."

Mt. Tabor entered the week alone in first at 4-0. Now Davie (13-4 overall), West Forsyth, Reynolds and Reagan are all tied for second at 2-2.

The fact that Davie was never threatened by Reagan says something. The Raiders had lost two narrow decisions to Tabor, one in overtime and the other 67-61. They humiliated West Forsyth 60-33. Davie was 0-6 in the series with Reagan, including three losses last year. In the second round of the 2011 state playoffs, the Raiders denied Davie a 20th win.

But Davie resembled a heat-seeking missile on this night.

"We were fired up," Cody Martin said. "We played with more spark, and we came together as a team. Before we came out we said: No matter what, we need to play as a team and get this W."

The War Eagles put on a show in a Please See Back - Page B5

Worth Noting ...

Junior guard Amy Steller of Davie's varsity girls scored an amazing 36 points in a 61-54 win over Reagan - four shy of the all-time school record.

In a pivotal game, Cody Martin (26 points, 7 rebounds, 4 assists) and Shannon Dillard (20 points, 10 rebounds) led the Davie boys to a 73-55 dismantling of Reagan.

Davie's Anna McBride captured the 3200 at 11:08.32 at the Eastern High School Challenge at UNC, winning by 17 seconds.

Courtney Bode's 15 points led the Davie JV girls to a 38-29 win at Reagan.

Kyle Cookson, Gabe Coleman and Corbin Kopetzky are a combined 29-2 for S. Davie wrestling.

Josh Hill and Isiah Griffin are 11-1 for N. Davie wrestling. Jake Barneycastle and John Myers are 10-2.

Luis Hernandez and Isaiah Whitley are 12-1 and 9-1, respectively, for Ellis wrestling.

Ashlyn Hampton put up a triple-double (17 points, 14 rebounds, 11 blocks) to lift the N. Davie girls to a 38-36 OT win over Ellis - North's first-ever win in the series. Jessie Beck's shot with seven seconds left in regulation forced OT and capped a stirring comeback.

In a varsity wrestling match, Davie's Parker Grant nails his opponent to the mat. Davie entered the week with a dual-team record of 24-2.

Mick Spillman has won 12 of his last 14 at 285.

Lake Billings has an impressive 31 wins as a freshman at 106, including three in a 20-team tournament at Morehead.

Alex Gobble, a sophomore at 170, won first place at Sarah Wilkes with two pins and a major decision. He's won 11 of his last 13 matches.

decisive first half, hitting 10 of 31 field goals and outrebounding Reagan 23-14 to build an impressive 44-29 lead.

Martin was dazzling, scoring 18 points in the half. Doing it all within 15 feet of the basket, he converted eight of 10 shots, grabbed six rebounds and handed out three assists. Dillard was firing on all cylinders, too, scoring 14 points to go with five rebounds.

"One thing that makes Cody the player he is is his versatility," Absher said. "At Catawba you saw him shoot the ball well from the 3-point line. He can shoot midrange, and he can drive it. We put him on the post, and now he's hungry on the glass."

The War Eagles were so good for the first 22 minutes that they could coast home. They had a 56-31 lead with 2:16 left in the third before Reagan came alive with a 13-0 run. But there was never any doubt. Davie's smallest lead in the second half was 56-44, and Davis Absher's driving layup stopped Reagan's run and provided a 58-44 lead. That was the knockout blow.

Martin finished with a season-high 26 points. Besides hitting 10 of 14 shots, he collected seven boards and four assists.

Dillard was vintage Dillard. The center compiled 20 points and 10 rebounds. It was his third 20-point effort in four games and his 10th double-double.

In the first quarter Dillard received a pass from Absher and found himself all alone down the court. He used the free opportunity to show off a new dunk - a spectacular windmill, Dominique Wilkins-style. Dillard wasn't born during Wilkins' heyday (1980s), but he can look for a video of Wilkins to see how he compares.

"We met after practice last night and talked about that consistent play from one end to the other," Absher said. "To beat quality teams, that's what you have to have. Shannon's been there consistently. He was awesome."

That Davie rolled with Nate Jones scoring a season-low 10 points was a good sign. Jones is capable of 10 a quarter on a normal night, but Davie should grow from dominating without Jones scoring 31 like he did against Reynolds. It's not like Jones wasn't a factor; he yanked down 10 rebounds and dished out five assists.

"That's a great line," Absher said. "There's so many things he brings to our team."

But the stat that put the biggest smile on Absher's face was this: 18 assists on 26 field goals.

Steller ...

The War Eagles made a statement in the first quarter that things were going to be different on this night, roaring to a 13-7 lead.

With Steller scoring 13 in the second quarter, the War Eagles pushed the margin to 32-18. Steller had 20 points in the first half, hitting five of 10 field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. She stole an inbound pass and streaked the other way for two. Reagan couldn't stop her drives to the lane. One time she attacked the paint and dropped in a teardrop with her left hand. Then she drove and hit a scoop off the glass.

Davie protected the double-figure lead in the third. Shelton scored the first six for Davie, hitting a long two-pointer, scor-

Miller Resigns As Volleyball Coach

Ready for a career change, Becky Miller has resigned as the Davie volleyball coach. She guided the program for seven years.

It's not that she's lost her passion for the sport. She just can't juggle the year-round demands of volleyball and her online classes that will begin in April. The P.E. teacher will pursue a Master's Degree in Educational Administration.

"I love that sport," Miller said. "But I think it's time. It's a good time for me to try to move forward in my career, and there's no way with the time commitment that it takes to run that (volleyball) program that I could go back to school and do both things justice."

"I'm going to get my Master's in administration so that I can hopefully spend the last part of my career as an administrator in one of the schools."

Miller is currently coaching Davie's indoor track team. She will begin her first year as the Davie girls track coach in February.

"I'm still going to coach track because I think I can keep up with that," she said.

This is Miller's 23rd year as a P.E. teacher. She began her career at South Davie in 1990-91. She planned on being a basketball coach, but South needed a volleyball coach and Miller quickly fell in love with the sport. She moved to Davie when she became the War Eagles' coach in 2005.

McBride Wins 3200
Junior Anna McBride of Davie's indoor track team won the 3200 at the Eastern High School Challenge at UNC last week.

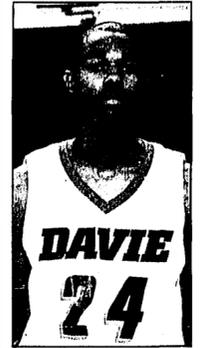

She ran a time of 11:08.32. The runner-up's time was 11:25.

"It was a good time on an indoor track," coach Becky Miller said. "She really ran a smart race."

This was Davie's third meet of the season. McBride has captured the 3200 in each one, and Miller said "no one has been close" to McBride.

Cody Martin

Dillard

"That is a coach's dream," he said. "That means we're sharing the ball, attacking and finishing plays. That also is a good example of our execution."

Kenyon Tatum contributed eight points and six rebounds. It was the sophomore's third straight game with eight points.

Point guard Absher kept the tempo at Davie's liking and put together seven points, eight assists and six rebounds. When Davis gives you a pass, it's a scoring pass, as his eight games with seven-plus assists attest. He doesn't let his lack of scoring (2.5 ppg) affect other areas of his game.

"Davis did a great job of forcing the tempo," his father said. "We made them work to get back every time."

Notes: Davie only committed eight turnovers. ... Caleb Martin, who missed his sixth game with a broken bone in his foot, could be back for Davie's game on Feb. 3. "Hopefully on (Jan. 23) I'll get a boot," he said with a smile. "It depends on how healed it is. While I'm in the boot, I can do rehab. Then in another week I should be back." Davie 73, Reagan 55 - Cody Martin 26, Shannon Dillard 20, Nate Jones 10, Kenyon Tatum 8, Davis Absher 7, Adam Smith 2.

vented a team that came in 8-7 overall.

"We kept them from scoring on their initial shot," he said. "We've had three or four games where people didn't hurt us so bad on their first shot. It was the offensive rebound."

"That's a good team. They've got some shooters. I've seen them play some really good basketball. So it's not like we ran into a bad team."

Steller finished her phenomenal night with 10 field goals in 20 attempts and 15-of-18 foul shooting. She added six rebounds and jacked her scoring average to 19.5.

Shelton hit eight of eight free throws and raised her scoring average to 9.8. Elizabeth Smith, Emerald Gadson and Ashia Peterson contributed six rebounds apiece.

As Smith exited the locker room, Key offered words of praise to the sophomore.

"You did a great job. You're such a hard player," he told Smith. "She does a lot of little things. She missed a shot from the corner and got the rebound on the other side. We don't have many people that do that." Davie 61, Reagan 54 - Amy Steller 36, Laura Shelton 17, Elizabeth Smith 3, Sydney Wooten 3, Emerald Gadson 1, Ashia Peterson 1, Bohannon, Jones.

many years to come." But all this North euphoria wouldn't have been possible without Jessie Beck, who scored just two points but timed the two perfectly, scoring a tying basket with seven seconds left in regulation.

Ellis, meanwhile, slipped to 6-5 after losing by two for the second straight game. It was Ellis' third loss by one or two. That will break your heart.

"It was a great win for them," Ellis coach Angie Slabach said. "They just did everything they had to do to win. I hated it for our girls, but hats off to North. I'm happy for them."

North led 8-6 after one quarter, but Ellis' 11-5 run vaulted the Jaguars to a 17-13 halftime lead. In the first half, Ellis limited Hampton to four points.

"We knew they would key on Hampton, so we had worked on our outside game," King said. "We talked about the third quarter and how it had haunted us all season. We came out on fire and scored the most we had scored in a third quarter all season." The third was a shootout, with Ellis outscoring North 15-14. The Ellis lead was nine before Madison Bohannon ignited a momentum change with a 3-pointer. Hampton started scoring. Then K'Lea Parks scored in an offensive-rebound, and North's deficit was down to 32-27.

North dominated the fourth, scoring seven of the nine points. McKenzie Barneycastle was the spark this time, nailing a 3. Beck came up big with North trailing by two. Ellis had a chance to win it at the end of regulation, but its shot missed.

North won the OT period 4-2, with Hampton scoring all four. After hitting a shot, she scored the clinching points at the free-throw line.

"Hampton played tough on the boards, grabbing crucial rebounds and sticking them back up," King said. "Time and time again she would reject a shot. It seemed as though she would let nothing get by her."

Bohannon (nine points), Barneycastle (six) and Parks (four) helped North pull through. "It was an amazing game by two teams who worked hard to achieve a goal, and this time we were blessed to come out on top," King said. "It was a victory that was even sweeter knowing we had beaten them playing mostly seventh graders 90 percent of the game. It's one we'll always remember."

Caitlin Hill carried Ellis with 17 points, matching her season high. Aubrianna Peebles and Morgan Sessoms contributed six each.

"(Hill) just plays hard and was consistent all through the game," Slabach said. "And they were on her pretty hard, too. She's kind of like Hampton - she's going to get her points."

Slabach said the second half wasn't about an Ellis meltdown. It was about North making winning plays.

"It wasn't that we played bad," she said. "My girls did not play bad. It was one of those games where somebody had to win and somebody had to lose, and we just wound up on the losing end. Trish had a good game plan and her girls executed."

Notes: Even though Hill scored 17, King was pleased with Barneycastle's defense. "We told her that Hill would get her points but to never give up or let up," she said. "She executed that responsibility just as we hoped she would, with confidence and desire." ... Hampton bumped her scoring average to 12.8. Hill is averaging 9.5 ... North won despite missing 16 of 20 free throws. ... Later in the week, the Wildcats lost 36-27 to visiting Thomasville. Hampton and Bohannon led with 10 and eight points, respectively. "We were hoping to play better after coming off such a high against Ellis," King said.

Ellis 36 - Caitlin Hill 17, Aubrianna Peebles 6, Morgan Sessoms 6, Claire Devereaux 3, Ruby Dennard 2, Allie Carter 2.

North Davie 38 (OT) - Ashlyn Hampton 17, Madison Bohannon 9, McKenzie Barneycastle 6, K'Lea Parks 4, Jessie Beck 2.

Thomasville 36, North Davie 27 - Ashlyn Hampton 10, Madison Bohannon 8, McKenzie Barneycastle 4, Lindsey Custer 2.

Who Loves You? MES Students Know It's Their Principal

Lynn Marris wants to make one thing perfectly clear: she does not want to talk about herself.

"This is about the kids. Make it about the kids," she begs.

Do you have any teachers who are doing great things, so we can go into the class and take pictures?

And her answer... "All my teachers are great. This is my school, and they're all mine."

Maybe those are two of the many reasons why Marris was chosen as the 2011-12 Principal of the Year.

Known for walking fast, funky glasses, an infectious laugh and a way of connecting with anyone, anywhere, Marris is a proud product and employee of Davie County Schools.

She attended Coolemees Elementary, graduated from Davie High in 1980, and after graduating from Appalachian State University, began her career as a speech/language pathologist. She was preschool coordinator, has been an assistant principal at Cornatzer and Pinebrook elementary schools (she was AP of the year at Pinebrook), and principal at Pinebrook, before making the move to Mocksville Elementary.

No matter how many times she is interviewed, she always puts the focus on her students and on her family.

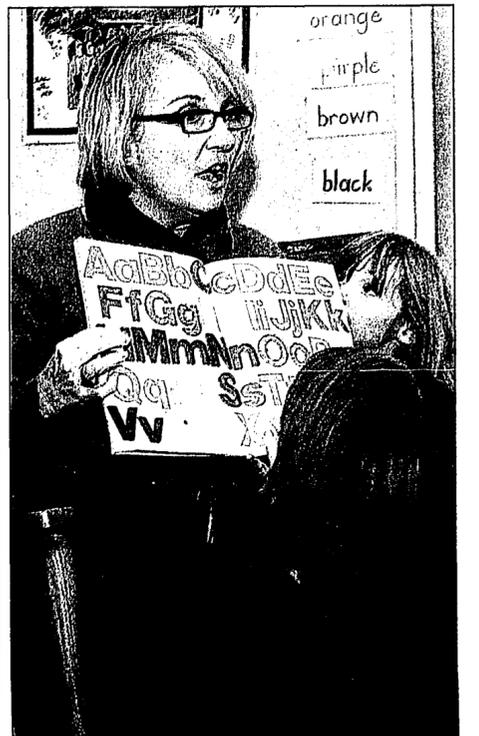

About her family, she said, "I could not do what I do without their support. They know, if they want to see me, they come here [to school]."

And the students make her eyes light up.

with a wet napkin pressed to his eyes, which are puffy and swollen. Out of a school of about 670 children, she not only knows his name, but she knows how to spell it. Walking down the hall after consoling him, she suddenly stops and says, "Let's go in here."

played. Let's hope that by now Baltimore kicker Billy Cundiff is able to sleep after missing a 32-yard field goal with 11 seconds left. Perhaps he could use some help from former State kicker Damon Hartman, who kicked a 56-yard winning field goal with 1 second left to pelt State over Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1990 and left Carolina fans in shock. But, with no football this weekend, our community is revving up for a super great place for your dining pleasure.

Begin your weekend at Pleasant View Baptist Church on Friday night with a delicious home-cooked meal of pinto beans with all the trimmings. Then, after a good night's rest, begin your Saturday morning with a delicious country ham and sausage breakfast at the County Line VFD. Now that's what I call good eating. As a bonus, proceeds from both events will benefit worthy local causes.

What better way to begin a Sunday morning than with breakfast and prayer with others in our community? The United Methodist Women of Clarksburg will host a community-wide prayer breakfast at 8:15 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 29, in the fellowship hall. After prayer and breakfast, Joshua Smith will lead a program on prayer. The women invite others in the community as they begin Sunday morning with prayer.

Then end your weekend with a gospel singing at Society Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Sunday. The Gospel Voices of Union Grove will be the featured singing group. Society members invite everyone for an evening of gospel music and fellowship.

Upcoming community events include a V-point Ruritan country ham and sausage breakfast from 6 - 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 4, at the V-Point Building and a valentine banquet sponsored by the Society Baptist Youth at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 11, at the County Line VFD.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Bobby Craft Sheets, who died at his home Thursday of last week. He was born in 1936 in Forsyth County to the late Thomas Grady and Margaret Williams Craft Sheets. He attended Forsyth County schools and served in the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict. A retiree of R.J. Reynolds, he made his home for many years on North Main Street in Mocksville before moving to Smith Road off Ridge Road. He was interested in historic preservation and restored the former Saffriet/Smith home built by the late Flake and Della Campbell after he purchased the home in 1993. He was also interested in growing plants, trees, and flowers native to the area. No memorial services are being held.

Otis Snow had a heart attack Monday in rehab at Davie County Hospital; he was immediately transferred to Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center. Margaret Ann Shew and Gladys Griffith have improved and are recuperating at their respective homes. Barry Wilson has improved and is in rehab at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center. Esther Campbell remains in rehab at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Lois Harris, Mary Anna McDaniel, Howard Saffriet, and Helen Steele remain in rehab at Autumn Care of Mocksville.

Join us in prayer for the Lord's divine healing and blessings upon Otis, Margaret Ann, Gladys, Barry, Esther, Mary Anna, Lois, Howard, Helen, and others who are having health problems. Pray for the Lord's blessings upon Bobby's family as they adjust to life without him. Also, remember in prayer Carol Ann Taylor in the death of her mother and the Rev. Monty and Sharon Mathis, former pastor of Society Baptist, in the death of his mother.

Game Night at the Sheffield-Calabahn Community Center and Recreation Area was again a huge success. The support from those who attend these fundraisers is greatly appreciated. Please mark your calendar for the next Game Night Friday, Feb. 24.

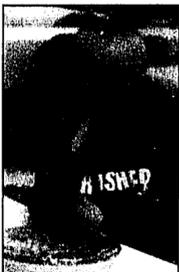

The next monthly meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 2 at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

The Sheffield-Calabahn Volunteer Fire Department held its annual banquet on Saturday, Jan. 14 at Hunting Creek Preserves in Harmony. Chief David Beck welcomed everyone and chaplain, Dr. Steve Rainey, gave the opening prayer and blessing for the food. After a fantastic meal of steak, potatoes, bread, salad, and desserts, the group settled down to enjoy exchanging gifts in the manner dubbed as Dirty Santa, where you may or may not end up with the package you opened, depending on whether anyone whose number drawn after yours liked your present and took it away from you. Several popular items that changed hands to the maximum limit included gift cards and even some lottery tickets.

Members of the firefighting unit, the board of directors, the auxiliary and family members of each were represented. The department gave individual gifts to the children so that they would not run the risk of having theirs taken away during the game. Ellie Drye, auxiliary president, presented each of its members a monogrammed vest to thank them for their year of hard work.

Jerry Myers, Davie County Fire Marshall, was a special guest, along with his wife, Gina, and their children, Jordan and Alex.

on the roster. Reaching the five year level and given certificates were Karen Jordan, Teresa Campbell, Clayton Campbell, Andy Lawson, and Janice Jordan. Justin Dyson was awarded his 15 years. Receiving 20-years of service awards were Tommy Gobble, Noah Drye, and Gary Allen. Thirty-five year service awards recipients were Paul Beck, Jerry Keller, Jim Reilly, Carl Dyson, and David Allen.

Each year the department, through a selection process, surprises and honors three members for special achievement. Chosen as Junior Firefighter of the Year was Trent Hill. Named as First Responder of the Year was Andy Drye. Firefighter of the Year was Clayton Campbell. These winners will be in competition for countywide honors later this year.

Edward Galtner, who turned 80 on his last birthday, was honored by the fire department for a lifetime of service as a firefighter, a member of the board of directors, and having served as the department's treasurer until 2011. He is serving a three-year term on the board.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of still shots and videos of events throughout 2011 compiled by Teresa Campbell. Included were remembrances of the 9-11 attacks where so many first responders and firefighters made the ultimate sacrifice along with scores of civilians.

The next Jr. Explorer Day will be held Sunday, Jan. 29 at 2 p.m. at the Sheffield-Calabahn Volunteer Fire Department, open to children ages 8-13. For more information, please contact Teresa at 704-546-5603.

The Sheffield-Calabahn VFD meetings are held each Monday night at the station at 7.

Janice Jordan, writer of this column for more than five years, has been recuperating at home this week following an overnight stay in a Winston-Salem hospital after gallbladder surgery. She sends her appreciation for everyone's thoughts and prayers and is looking forward to resuming her usual activities soon. We all wish Janice a speedy recovery.

The men and women's Civitan Clubs will sponsor a gospel singing at Victory Baptist Church on Feb. 3 at 7 p.m. This is a benefit for Leon Penniger and a love offering will be gathered that evening. The Rising Sons, Benita Finney and Sebrina Barker and others will provide the entertainment. All are encouraged to come and enjoy good gospel music while extending a helping hand to Leon as he continues to battle with declining health.

Coolee Elementary School is proud to say Mary Phelps McClamroch was voted teacher assistant of the year last April and she is serving that title through this school year. Mary also represented Davie County Schools at state and district levels and she placed runner-up in both divisions. Jan. 17 is when Mary got the call about her placing runner-up in District 7 and she says, "I was amazed and couldn't believe it."

Mary has been a teacher's assistant for 23 years at Coolee School. She received her early childhood education from Rowan Tech and while she left her teaching assistant job for a short period to try and make more money, she returned back to the school system. Mary said, "It was where I needed to be. I love my job. Everybody I work with is amazing. We work well with each other and they are always willing to fill in slots where needed." Finding teachers who work as a family, is hard to come by, she says. "The teachers love those children and they want what's best for those kids."

Mary is happy to be in the background doing what she does best and finds it hard to talk about herself. Mary's quiet demeanor is admired and her love for teaching comes through when teaching spelling and reading in small learning groups. She is assigned to Amy Stokes' first grade class but is all over the school assisting in all grades for accelerated spelling and reading and she helps with math on Fridays. She does lunch duty, car duty and her expertise is utilized with specialized needs of all students.

 "Who's been working really hard? Who's going to get a book bag? Who's having a birthday party this week?"
 They answer, "Us."

And she asks, "Who at Mocksville Elementary loves you?"

And they answer, "You do." Marrs kisses their foreheads and sends them back to class.

"They're my boys and I love them. I chose to be their buddy. I check up on them, make sure they are doing their homework and making good choices."

Marrs' next stop on her fast journey through the halls is in the media center, where she bends down for a hug from Colin Prater, a first-grader who has just played an elf in a Christmas skit.

"What's special about us?" she asks him. And he smiles and answers, "We're BFFs (best friends forever)."

Destiny Greer is in another class and has decided she does not want to eat lunch. Marrs takes Destiny on the walk, trying to persuade her to go to lunch.

In a kindergarten class, she reads "Chicka Chicka Boom Boom" and tells students, "When I'm done, on three, come up and hug me, but don't break me because I'm really really old."

By two and a half, the students are anxiously leaning forward, and on three, they move toward Marrs, not fast enough to break her, and begin hugging her and blowing kisses.

Walking back down the hall, Destiny has decided she'd rather take a nap, but Marrs winks and tells us once Destiny has had a few quiet moments to think about it, she'll join her classmates in the lunchroom.

Holocaust Survivor Tells Story To Davie High Students

Hank Brodt talks to Davie High students.

By Beth Cassidy
 Enterprise Record

On Sept. 1, 1939, Hank Brodt did not know anything about war. The 13 year old was living the normal life of a young Jewish teen in Poland. But on that day, everything changed.

And as he told a Holocaust and Peace Studies class at Davie High School in December, "I found out the hard way what war is all about."

Speaking with a heavy accent, Brodt spent more than an hour telling the class about his life over the next several decades, after the Germans invaded his town that day.

"Around the third week of September, we went to synagogue for prayers, and there were thousands of army vehicles and people everywhere, and when we came out of the service, about an hour later, the streets were empty. We thought our prayers had been answered and that the Germans had gone. They had. But the Russians took over."

Brodt, whose father died when he was a baby, found a job remarking the letters on typewriters from Latin to Russian. "I was very proud I could support my mom," he said.

For the next few years, Brodt and his mother continued their life in as normal a way as possible, but on June 22, 1941, over the loudspeakers placed around the town, it was announced that Germany had attacked Russia and bombed Kiev.

"We were again at war, and Germany was back," Brodt said. "They gave an order that any members of the Jewish faith were to wear the Star of David on their right arm. During a 24-hour period, they killed 150 Jewish people on the street with sickles and scythes. They didn't allow the Jewish people to go to the hospital, so people were dying on the street, and typhus broke out. The Germans also began taking the Jewish people away, but no one knew why. The population kept getting smaller and smaller."

On Sept. 3, 1942, there was a knock at the door. The Germans had come for Brodt and his mother. At the train station, those captured were separated into two groups. Those directed to the left went into a cattle-car and were eventually killed.

Those directed to the right were going to be put to work, with their lives spared for the time being. Brodt lied about his age and was sent to the right; his mom went to the left.

Brodt found himself in a forced labor camp, different from a concentration camp because he went out during the day to work and came back to the camp at night. Other young people sneaked away to a forest to try to dig bunkers to escape, but Brodt said he was too scared of being caught.

CZE 1st Graders Learn About World's Animals

First graders at Cornatzer Elementary School have their eyes on the world.

They have continued their global diversity studies using the Research Impact Model. This month, all classes met in the media center and with the help of parent volunteers divided up into their selected country groups. Their goal was to learn about the animals native to their country.

For part of the time, the students listened as parents and staff read books on a specific animal and then wrote some facts about them. Then, the students were able to use computers or a Smart Board, to research other animals that lived in their country and draw pictures of them.

Brodt ...

Brodt was moved to Plaszow, another work camp known in current times as the one in the movie Schindler's List, but not long after, was put on a train with no food or water.

"You might be hungry, but the thirst takes over. You need the water," Brodt said.

Still on the train, which had stopped in Austria near the work camp Mauthausen, Brodt said a high ranking German official heard their cries for water.

"He went to the Gestapo and said, 'These people need water,' and the Gestapo asked him, 'Do you want to join them?' so he backed off. They marched us for about two and a half days with no food or water, and anyone who couldn't march anymore got shot."

Brodt ended up at another work camp, Mielec, where the workers produced plane parts and ammunition, and suffered from the effects of dysentery. Brodt said a friend of his tried to commit suicide there by hanging himself with a belt, but he survived. Brodt reunited with him in Chicago after the war.

Each camp had as overseers Gestapo SS men, and one day, Brodt said he asked one of the men why, when he had been working and doing what he was supposed to do, was he still there.

"He didn't answer, he just walked away. I had defeated a German officer because he didn't have an answer," he said.

The prisoners were fed bread and water and Brodt suffered, as they all did, from severe malnutrition.

On May 6, 1945, a Sunday, the Gestapo told the captives they had to get out of the barracks and go into the mines so they would be protected from an allied bombing raid, but someone in the camp refused, and they ended up staying. "The American army marched in. We were liberated. I sat down and started to cry. I had nowhere to go."

Even though the Red Cross volunteers began helping the prisoners and advised them to not eat too much when they went into town, "when you are hungry, you don't listen. A lot of people died from eating themselves to death," he said. At the camp, Brodt became friends with an American sergeant who promised him once he got back to the US, he would send for Brodt, and he kept his promise.

"I arrived on a boat in New York on a beautiful day, a Thursday, in 1949. It was my first look at the free world."

By the following Monday, Brodt had secured a job making $33 a week and paying $20 a week for room and board, but he said he didn't mind because he was free and was making a life for himself. He had a friend in Chicago who told him he could get work making more money, so he moved there and was earning $54 a week.

Ironically, in 1950, Brodt received a draft notice and ended up serving in the US Army, being sent to Germany.

Brodt called a former girlfriend who lived in Germany who he'd kept in touch with, and they ended up married. She died in 1978 from cancer, and Brodt remarried, but that wife also died. His third wife, Adn, was born in a Stalin camp in Siberia and was taken from her parents and placed in an orphanage until she went to live with Polish relatives when she was 13. Brodt met her in the US in 1997, offered to teach her English, and the two became friends, eventually marrying. Brodt was living in Greensboro in 1957 and was subpoenaed as a witness to testify against a camp commander from Dachau, who received a sentence of seven years.

Brodt finished his talk by imploring the students "to see to it something like this never happens again."

with the progress the children have made. Sheryl Martin and Brandi Rakes' second grade class has been working in teams researching animals they want to learn more about. Students used library books and the internet to find fun and interesting facts to share. They provided posters with colorful dolphins, whales and sharks. Each team shared their work. The class was awarded a $100 gift card through Teachers Reward Program sponsored by Sam's Club with which they purchased a laptop camera. This allows them to be able to Skype with a volunteer and a college student. The children are looking forward to using Skype with family and friends in South America and Europe. The class had a visit from a student from Lebanon. He shared a coffee pot, cup, hat and a sign written in Arabic. The students enjoyed learning about the country and customs. In Math Trailblazers, the students are learning place value and practicing addition and subtraction facts.

In reading, fourth graders will be taking a break from the basal text and beginning a novel. Each class will be reading a different novel. In Ms. Shinn's class, the students will be reading "Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing" by Judy Blume. Students will apply reading skills as they read this engaging and hilarious story. In math, students will develop fluency with division as they interpret remainders, regroup in division, divide multiples of 10, 100, and 1,000 and estimate quotients. Students are in their third science rotation. In Ms. Shinn's science class, they will discuss and analyze erosion and give examples of how the earth changes due to slow processes such as erosion and weathering.

Fifth graders enjoyed the start of the DARE program with Sgt. Geiger and look forward to all that they will learn over the next few weeks. As the second quarter ends, students are wrapping up their third science rotation and will begin their new rotation shortly after the start of the third quarter. Fifth graders have also begun a study of the United States of America. In addition to learning the states and capitals, students are learning about the regions and will each select a state to research. They will develop a brochure to highlight their state's facts.
