Governor Tours Davie DEX Plant

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

Gov. Pat McCrory stopped by last week to cut the ribbon on and tour Dex Heavy Duty Parts, a business that recycles medium and heavy duty truck parts.

Dex is a Volvo subsidiary, and Volvo invested $2.6 million to renovate the company's facility off Cornatzer Road.

McCrory was joined by Dennis Slagle, president of Volvo Group Trucks Sales North America, Darin Redmon, director of operations for Dex Heavy Duty Parts, Terry Bralley, president of Davie's Economic Development Commission, and others as they cut the ribbon on the 210,000 square foot facility that officially opened last August after relocating from Floyd, Va.

The facility's 38 full-time employees "bring new life to old trucks," said Redmon, by refurbishing old trucks and reselling some parts for recycling.

Since 2012, Redmon said, they have been able to keep

Wisecarver Withdraws Petition, Hopes To Re-Apply

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

Former Davie County commission chair Robert Wisecarver has withdrawn his application for a shooting range off US 64 East.

Dozens of people in opposition attended an April meeting of the zoning board of adjustment, where Wisecarver explained his plans for the 68 acres he hoped to buy. Hours into the meeting, after it was determined Wisecarver had failed to have environmental or sound impact studies, the board decided to delay a decision to give him time to do that.

Another meeting was scheduled for June 15.

In an email to zoning director Andrew Meadwell May 19, Wisecarver said he had not had time to do what the board wanted, so he had decided to

Lavender The Highlight At Hauser Creek Farm

By Mike Barnhardt
Enterprise Record

FARMINGTON - Alethea Segal loves purple. It's all around her.

And area residents can share her love - of lavender, that is - Saturday as she hosts an open farm day at Hauser Creek Farm, a venture started by her family about 2008.

There will be lavender bouquets, lavender goat's milk soap and lavender plants for sale, free lemonade made with lavender, and a cooking demonstration using what else - lavender. It will be from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. at 898 Spillman Road, Mocksville.

Segal grew up on a dairy farm, and hadn't thought much about returning until her parents - John and Madeleine Sparks - divided the land for their children.

She saw the potential for her tract of land that had been used for traditional farming for years. First off, she wanted to protect Hauser Creek. Beef cattle had been on the farm, and had access to the creek.

Now, land that borders the creek is a protected area with native grasses and plants.

She refurbished the farm buildings and old homeplace on the property, and started to think about what she should grow.

That's quite a change for the Davie High graduate with a master's degree in nutrition, one who spent time in Iowa working with the cookbook division for Better Homes & Gardens and with Southern Living in Birmingham, Ala., also in the cookbook division.

She ended up in Wilmington, using her degree as a nutritionist at a hospital there.

She got married, had two children, and the family moved to High Point because her husband, Bob, travels all

Advance, Ind., Is A Town Of Substance

ADVANCE, Ind. — They pronounced it correctly. "AD- Vance."

Maybe she said it without quite as much emphasis as we put on the first syllable, but the town clerk passed the pronunciation test.

Frankly, there's actually more to Advance, Ind., population 517, than to our own non-incorporated Davie County community.

There's a four-person town council. A police department. Town water. A volunteer fire department. Advance Post Office. A public park.

"We have a website," the pretty town clerk told me with considerable excitement last week, unaccustomed to out-of-state wanderers this far off the interstate.

Tooling up Interstate 74 last week west of Indianapolis amid hundreds of thousands of acres of corn in Indiana en route to visit three little grandsons, we spotted the "Advance" exit. I wheeled off.

Advance was three miles away. We had to go. Advance is in Boone County — named after Old Dan! — the wandering son of Davie soil.

The community is about a square mile in size. There's a grid of streets, a nice school on the edge of town and lots and lots of corn in the surrounding fields.

A tall water tower is emblazoned with "ADVANCE." It wasn't always so.

The community originally was called "Osceola," a beautiful, vowel-rich Native American name that was unfortunately already claimed in Indiana when it came time to incorporate. The town chose a more pedestrian name as a replacement.

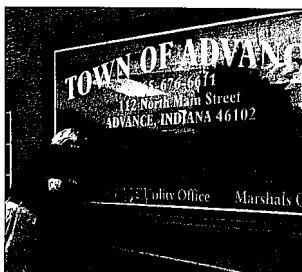

The trip forged new territory for me, and I repeatedly ran into towns Daniel Boone helped establish.

One stop was Maysville, Ky., on the banks of the Ohio River where herds of buffalo once roamed looking for a nearby salt lick, beating down a trail that is now part of a state road. A sweet waitress with a charming Daisy Duke accent served us. "Ya'll ain't from here, are ya?" she asked. I peppered her with questions about the menu just to hear her talk. The town is the home of the late actress Rosemary Clooney. The Marquis de Lafayette visited here in 1825 in his tour of the young America. Harriet Beecher Stowe witnessed a slave auction here and included it in her book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." For slaves, freedom was just across the river in Ohio. The Ohio, however, is deep and wide.

We passed her town of Hurricane, W.Va., which got its name when surveyors commissioned by George Washington found a group of trees bent over as if by a storm. The newspaper is the Hurricane Breeze. It is the home of a $315 million lottery winner in 2002 who scandalously frittered his money away.

Our final destination was Decatur, Ill., where we found all the lawns lush and green. This prairie soil is rich. We talked about returning with a pickup to bring a load home for our lawn.

Report Tax Increase In Percentages

To the editor:

Communications is an art. Sometimes art looks different due to one's perspective. For instance, what a person earns. I think most people think of their salary increases in terms of percent of increase not the amount. The same is true of things they pay, like real estate taxes. Few say I am paying 10.8 cents more per $100 in valuation. They think in terms of the percentage increase in their real estate taxes.

Given this perspective, why didn't the Enterprise Record say real estate taxes went up 17.4 % (62 cents to 72.8 cents)? You don't see national information such as cost-of-living increase stated as 1.3%.

The 2012 Little Report to the County stated other schools needed about $45 million in repairs and renovations. Let's hope this Little's estimate is closer to reality than the superintendents estimate of the cost of the new high school of $48 million. This $48 million estimate vs. lowest bid of around $61 million was a $13 million difference, or as I should say, they missed it by 27%, causing the about $10 million in reductions in the plans for the new high school, or should I say the new high school finally cost 7.5% more than the budget after about a 16% reduction in the lowest bid.

10.8 cents and $13 million does not communicate the reality as good as 17.4% and 27%. And does paid 7.5% more for the new high school than estimated after a 16% reduction in the original low bid's amount for the new high school.

Community Comes Together For Worthy Cause

To the editor:

I just want to say how much I appreciate all the love and support that was shown during a difficult time when I lost a dear friend, Mr. Charles Michael (Mike, Booger) Alexander. For those of you who donated time and money to raise funds for Mike's final expenses, I would like to say thank you, and also for supporting Bud Jr., Mike's dog. Also, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my amazing friends, Larry, Anita and Jennifer for helping me with a successful bake sale and raffle in which we raised $900. For those who made baked goods and crafts, I appreciate your contribution. For those who said they would but didn't, I hope something more important came up.

I would like to thank the businesses and individuals who donated items for the raffle, including Larry Cope and Sandy Coleman. Without you, this would not have been possible. When businesses and individuals come together for a worthy cause, it warms my heart and shows me just who the real people are and who you can count on.

Thank you once again for all who helped.

Different? Remember, You Are Enough

To the editor:

Hey, you. Yes, you with the bucked teeth, overweight, super skinny, bad skin, with a speech impediment, or is feminine as a guy or masculine as a girl, or the person who is stuck between being a man or a woman ... the dropout, or the credential one who looks good on paper, but has absolutely no clue as to who he/she is looking at in the mirror ... the person unhelpfully living out the dreams of their parents ... the one who is close to broke or way past it, or the person who is getting talked about because they are different ... snap out of it.

You are enough. You are more than enough. You've always been enough.

Quit letting society tell you that you have to act, dress or look a certain way. Quit allowing people who do nothing but tear you down get to you. Quit living your life under the expectations of others, even if those "others" are the closest to you. Start thinking from a place of what you have and not from the place of what you don't. Sit and think about your life and praise God for every moment.

Too many people are sitting in spaces that affirm and confirm their insecurities, so comfortable in dysfunction that freedom frightens them. Never be afraid to speak. Never be afraid to go for what you want.

Choosing Our Next President

To the editor:

As we prepare to elect our next Commander-in-Chief, it's highly important for us to set partisan politics aside and focus on the issues that will impact us for years to come. Being an informed voter is about more than voting a straight ticket, watching our preferred news network, and reading blogs that agree with our views — it's about examining each candidate holistically, looking closely at their background and career impact. We simply cannot afford to elect a leader who will undermine American principles in order to satisfy special interest groups; we need an advocate who will humanize the political process in this country and who will seek to craft policies that have a positive impact. Everyday Americans need someone who will be a champion for their cause, who is dedicated to expanding opportunity and preserving the American Dream. Our nation is at a crucial turning point, and we must unite around a vision of progress and a candidate with a real, practical plan to move America forward.

The candidate that gains our support needs to be someone who is tough and ready to build a strong nation for the generations to come. This person must be willing to represent all Americans, because we are not simply a collection of red or blue states — we are the United States of America, where we believe in equal protection, opportunity, and freedom for all people. We live in a time where these rights are extremely vulnerable. This is why it's so crucial for the next president to address issues like education, income inequality, immigration, and access to healthcare. Now more than ever, we are seeing the damaging effects of the inequalities that we have allowed to dominate our society, and it is time for a reversal of those patterns.

Is there a candidate whose platform aligns with what Americans need? I believe so. Which one is it?

Raleigh Report

Standing For Religious Liberty

By Julia C. Howard
NC House of Representatives

After budget week's marathon committee and session schedule, the House resumed its regular operations, albeit at a slower pace. We held a few committee meetings and passed one major piece of legislation.

The Senate, on the other hand, started revving up its budget process by holding its first set of appropriations subcommittee meetings. The Senate also released a tentative budget schedule, indicating that they expect to hold their final vote on their proposal on June 11.

In 2012, North Carolina voted to amend its constitution in order to include a traditional definition of marriage and civil union. In 2014, the will of the people, truthfully, was overturned by the actions of a single Fourth Circuit of Appeals federal judge after a ruling on a related Virginia definition. It is certainly a sad and alarming moment in American history when the decision of one individual in the federal government can directly overturn a popular vote.

Now that non-traditional marriages are legal in North Carolina, our state's magistrates find themselves caught between their sincerely held religious convictions regarding marriage, and their civil oaths of office which require them to perform marriage ceremonies. In essence, the federal government stands between these men and women and their beliefs in and responsibilities to God.

I was proud to stand for religious liberty and vote for Senate Bill 2. In this unsure legal atmosphere, sometimes counter-intuitive legislative protections are necessary.

Senate Bill 2 will permit magistrates to excuse themselves from performing all marriages for a period of no less than six months. While it is unfortunate that some magistrates will be unable to continue to perform traditional marriages during that period, it is the only allowable religious protection available under the prevailing constitutional interpretation. I am eager to hear the Supreme Court's ruling on Obergefell v. Hodges in the coming months, and I continue to be ready to stand for religious liberty as the marriage debate continues.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE DAVIE COUNTY BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PROPOSED APPLICATION FOR THE 2015-2016 COMMERCE FELLOWS GRANT-BUILDING COMMUNITY THROUGH CAPACITY AND KNOWLEDGE

Notice is hereby given that the Davie County Board of Commissioners will hold a public hearing at 6:00 p.m., Monday, June 15, 2015 in the Commissioners' Meeting Room, Davie County Administration Building, 123 South Main Street, Mocksville, NC for the purpose of receiving public comment on the proposed application for the 2015-2016 Commerce Fellows Grant Program, Building Community through Capacity and Knowledge.

The purpose of the hearing will be to receive citizens' views about funds available through the NC Department of Commerce, Rural Economic Development, Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Division for the Commerce Fellows program. The Department of Commerce is offering this opportunity to local governments to enable local governments to engage in high-quality professional development and training with an eye toward improving opportunities that will benefit low- and moderate-income individuals and families.

The grants are designed to facilitate capacity-building and professional development for local governments and will enable local administrators of the County and Towns to participate in professional development courses/seminars through the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government. No more than $25,000 in CDBG funds will be expended for this project.

Additional information can be found at the Davie County website at <http://www.daviecountync.gov>, or by calling Kim Harris, Grants Administrator, at 336-753-6070.

three million pounds of material out of landfills and are able to dismantle about 600 trucks a year. There are plans to grow the company and add employees.

McCrory, a native of Jamestown, said the arrival of DEX was "good news for Davie County and good news for North Carolina. I am proud Volvo picked this location. There is talent second to none right here in the Carolinas, and that is one reason this area was selected."

McCrory said the area was also chosen because of its convenient access to interstate highways. He stressed the importance of improving the state's infrastructure, briefly touching on his plans for a statewide vote on bonds for highway projects.

A tour of the facility included stops in the clean room, the parts detail and cleaning area, the body shop operations area, the wheel polishing station, and the training and conference room.

"DEX came to Davie County because we had the right building available, with rail service, at the right location," said Terry Bralley, president of the Davie Economic Development Commission. "We have only a couple of existing buildings still available for companies looking at a Davie County location. We have plenty of sites available, but most companies are looking for existing buildings."

Purple ...

"Then the old farm became theirs.

"I saw this land with a whole new set of eyes," she said. "Our objective was to make it a habitat for wildlife. And I wanted my little patch of dirt where I could farm something."

She started with sunflowers. They were pretty, but troublesome as an annual and with competing weeds. Something else had to be grown.

"I narrowed it down to the color purple, that was me. And it had to be a perennial ... deer resistant ... and drought tolerant."

Lavender quickly came to the top of the list.

The first plants went in the ground in 2010. Her entire family, children Richard and Annie included, got on their hands and knees to get the black plastic on the ground and the lavender planted. She sells bundles of lavender and other flowers grown on the property at farmer's markets, and privately.

"People in Davie County didn't know a lot about lavender," she said. "It was a novel idea."

It was somewhat novel for her, as well.

"Most people use it as something that smells good. It can be used in bouquets and floral arrangements. I've been drawn to cooking with it. I've learned you can't cook with all varieties. I'm trying to educate people to use lavender like any other herb."

It hasn't been a walk in a purple park. She works on the farm almost daily, for hours on end. And 200 plants were lost because of a wet summer one year. That led to the diversification to other flowers. Blueberries are also being planted.

The open house is being held because the farm isn't open to the public.

"People can come and see the lavender blooming. It's fresh. It gives people an idea of what we're doing here."

What they're doing is a lot of work. When blooming, she visits every lavender plant every day, cutting only the stems that are perfectly ready. There are cosmos, peonies, sunflowers, zinnias, larkspur and other flowers.

Her husband just shakes his head. "I didn't know I was marrying a farmer," he said.

The old granary is now a home for chickens.

The old Horn homeplace was brought back to a livable condition.

Other than lavender, most of the other cut flowers are grown in a more natural setting.

Uses for the farm will include special events, which can be held in the barn and on the property.

Foster Tosses Complete Game For UNCW

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

While coaches from Tulane and LSU did not reveal their starting pitchers until close to the start of the NCAA Tournament, UNC Wilmington skipper Mark Sealfman Ryan Foster his starter for game one of the Baton Rouge Regional three days before Friday's contest against Tulane.

Sealfman was that confident in the 6-0, 195-pound junior from Advance. Foster responded in a big way, tossing a complete game as the Seahawks buried the Green Wave 10-1.

"Phenomenal," Sealfman said of Foster's performance. "He kept hitters off balance. He stayed out of the middle of the zone. He filled it out, trusted his defense and let those guys make plays behind him."

Before becoming a Division-I pitcher, Foster went 22-9 in his three-year varsity career at Davie (2010-12), tying for second in career wins. John Parker (23-5 from 1962-65) is first, while John McDaniel (22-9 from 2004-06) is tied with Foster. During the 2012 Mocksville legion season, Foster was untouchable, going 6-0 with a 0.90 ERA in 50 innings.

Fast forward to 2015 and the Seahawks, who finished second to College of Charleston in the Colonial Athletic Association's regular season, captured the tournament title for the first time since 2012 to advance to the NCAA Tournament for the third time in four years.

Going into the tournament, Foster, a righthander, led the team in starts (15), second in wins (six) and tied for second in strikeouts (60).

The Seahawks entered the Baton Rouge Regional on a six-game winning streak. When Foster was asked about getting the nod against Tulane, he said: "I don't think I'm going to change anything with my approach. I'm going to stick with what I do best, and that's fill up the strike zone, try to command four different pitches, try to get them to miss barrels and let the defense work behind me."

Foster soaked in the environment at LSU's stadium. "This is probably the pinnacle of college baseball," he said. "It's very impressive and we're very excited to be here."

When Foster, who had been the No. 2 starter all season, got the ball against Tulane on May 29, he was not fazed by the bright lights, even though he had never been apart of an NCAA Tournament game. He did not make the travel roster for the 2013 regional at Virginia.

Foster scattered eight hits, struck out six, improved his record to 7-1 and dropped his ERA to 4.08. This was also his first career complete game. It was the first complete game for UNCW (40-16) in a regional since 2008.

Foster managed to strand base runners in the early going. Later he kicked into high gear, retiring 12 of the last 14 batters. He set down 11 straight before a pair of harmless singles in the ninth inning.

What's more, Foster's complete game was huge because it allowed Sealfman to keep his bullpen fresh for the rest of the regional. "It's comforting (to pitch with that kind of lead)," Foster said. "It allows you to keep the tempo that you want to keep. You can fill up the strike zone (and) not have to be too fine."

It was a historic season for Catawba, and Will Beeson of Advance got to experience the run as the Indians finished as Division-II runner-up.

In the national championship game, the University of Tampa claimed its eighth national title by defeating Catawba 3-1 on May 30 at the USA National Training Complex in Cary.

Catawba would have had to beat Tampa twice to win the title. Top-ranked Tampa finished 43-13, while second-ranked Catawba closed at 47-15 after playing in its first-ever title game.

Beeson, a 5-11, 170-pound junior, was a backup pitcher and catcher. He made 15 relief appearances on the mound, going 1-0 with a 4.82 ERA. In 9.1 innings, he allowed nine hits, walked eight and struck out 16.

Jacob Barber and Winston-Salem State put together a season they will remember for a very long time. The Rams went 42-15, setting a school record for wins, and captured the CIAA title for the fifth straight year.

Barber, a catcher/DH, was a major contributor as a senior. Appearing in 38 games, he was second in average (.376), tied for second in doubles (12), tied for sixth in home runs (three), tied for eighth in RBIs (31), tied for eighth in runs (26), eighth in walks (11), ninth in at-bats (109) and ninth in hits (41).

Davie County had another connection on the Rams' roster. Junior Connor Bodenhamer appeared in 20 games, hitting .250 (5 for 20).

Whit Merrifield is still going strong for Kansas City's Triple-A team, the Omaha Storm Chasers. Through May 23, he was hitting .287 with two homers and 11 RBIs.

Hennings Pushes Hitting Streak To Eight

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

In the aftermath of a 5-4 home loss to Eastern Randolph on May 31, Mocksville legion baseball coach Charles Kurfees was bemoaning the fact that Barrett Hennings didn't get to swing the bat in the bottom of the ninth.

It's easy to see why Kurfees was disappointed in Mocksville going down 1-2-3 in the ninth, the game ending with Barrett in the on-deck circle. He has a season-long, eight-game hitting streak with a .454 average (15 for 33), or 196 points over the team average (.258).

In the ninth, the eighth and ninth batters in the order struck out and the leadoff man popped out to second. Mocksville fell to 2-6 in nonconference play. ER improved to 4-2.

"My goal was to get Hennings to the plate," Kurfees said more than once.

Mocksville rallied from a 3-0 deficit to force a tie at 3. After Mocksville took a 4-3 lead, ER tied it at 4.

Both teams had eight hits. Elijah Jones (2-4) and Ross Hoffner (12-2) were the leaders. Hennings (1-3, walk), Sawyer Davis (1-4, double, walk), Nick Wilson (1-3, double, hit by pitch), and Jalen Scott (1-4) had one each.

What was encouraging was the starting pitching. Mocksville got from lefthander Connor Clark and the relief work it received from Adam Fletcher.

Clark did his part in his Mocksville debut, going six innings, allowing three runs (two earned) and walking just one. After Bradley Dzekiewicz gave up two runs in 1.1 innings to get the loss, Fletcher shut ER down for 1.2.

"Our pitching was good," Kurfees said. "Clark pitched a good game. Dzekiewicz came in and pitched well except for a home run he gave up."

Clark's curveball was on full display. "He throws his curveball with the same arm speed and the same arm slot as his fastball," assistant coach Todd Bumgarner said. "He had them out in front and rolling over it."

The Mocksville junior legion baseball team absorbed a 12-2 beating from Davidson County for its first loss of the season, but it returned the favor the next day against the Braves and entered the week 7-1 overall and 1-1 in the seven-team conference.

Last week Mocksville won three of four games, starting with an 8-6 home decision over Rowan County on May 25.

Beating Rowan

Henry Stone (2-3, two doubles), Ridge Sanders (2-3) and Landon Bandy delivered as Mocksville, which outthrew Rowan 10-7, started 5-0 for the first time since 2009. This was also the first five-game winning streak since midseason of 2009.

Mocksville overcame deficits of 3-0 and 4-1. In the fifth, it generated three runs to take a 5-4 advantage. Jake Barneycastle, playing on the junior team for the first time after starting the year on the big club, came off the bench and promptly doubled on an 0-2 count.

"He got us rolling," coach Tim McKnight said. "The big spark that got things going was Barneycastle's double."

After Bandy dropped down a sac bunt, Jesse Draughn singled up the middle to plate a run and Ben Summers smacked an RBI triple to right. Stone capped the rally with a sac fly.

In the sixth, three hits, an error and a bunt helped Mocksville extend the lead to 8-4. It started with a Sanders single. Cody Smith singled and two runs scored when Josh Tibbs reached on an error. After a sac bunt, Bandy got an RBI single.

Three Rowan hits helped the visitors score twice in the seventh to close the margin. The game ended with the tying run at the plate.

"It seemed like when we needed a sacrifice bunt, we got it," McKnight said. "When we needed a sacrifice fly, we got it. We had four sacrifices (including three sac flies). Just everything is falling into place. This team is fun to watch."

Brycen Huffman (four innings) and Tibbs (three innings) handled the pitching, with Tibbs getting the win. The defense allowed an atypical three unearned runs.

"We're getting good pitching," he said. "Defensively, we were as sloppy as we've been and we were still able to win. The pitchers did their job and we made the defensive plays when we had to."

Beating Concord

Concord was no match for visiting Mocksville on May 26, with Mocksville rolling 13-3 as it matched a season high in runs.

The 6-0 start marked the longest winning streak since 10 in a row in 2008. This is the best start in 12 years (8-0 in 2003, the first year of the program).

Barneycastle and Summers, who have their fingerprints all over the team's dominance, both went 3 for 5, with Summers knocking in two runs. Bandy had two hits and two RBIs, and Evan Marshall had two hits as Mocksville outthrew the hosts 14-8.

"It was a pretty solid game for us," McKnight said. "We kept it rolling and a lot of people got to play."

Matthew McKnight, the coach's son and a Davie freshman, got in on the action for the first time after battling a sickness. He was the winning pitcher with five innings and three runs allowed. Relievers Stone and Draughn were perfect in one inning each.

"It was a good game for Matthew to get his feet wet," McKnight said. "The key is, he made pitches when he had to."

Losing To Davidson

The May 30 road game against Davidson County in the conference opener was a forgettable 12-2 loss in five innings.

Let's face it: Mocksville was past due for a clunker. It had played at a high level for six games, making its own breaks but also catching a few breaks along the way.

It allowed nine hits, walked eight and struck out 16.

Even though Mocksville was outthrew 9-6, it overcame a 2-0 deficit and pulled it out in the bottom of the seventh.

"That was a big win for us," McKnight said. "They're a very good team. They're not going to lose very many games. We had to play a really good game to beat them. They helped us a little bit and we played well."

Stone dug deep to limit the Braves to three runs in a complete-game performance. He improved to 2-0, his other win being against Davidson County 4-3 on May 31.

5-2 in a complete game at West Forsyth.

"He scattered their hits," McKnight said. "He pitched out of trouble some. He made good pitches when he had to. They are an experienced team and he did a good job."

Mocksville took full advantage of three errors in the third, scoring three runs to take a 3-2 lead. Hunter Bowles was hit by a pitch. With two outs, Mocksville charged in front. Jake Barneycastle singled and Summers and Stone reached on errors to load the bases. Brunell provided a big boost with a two-run single as he dumped it in left-center.

Mocksville failed to score in the fifth after loading the bases with one out, and the game was tied at 3 going into the last of the seventh.

Barneycastle, as usual, was the spark. Leading off, he reached when the third baseman's throw pulled the first baseman off the bag. Then a delay steal "worked to perfection," McKnight said. "We noticed the short-stop and second baseman never broke toward the bag, so we stole second twice on delayed steals."

Summers sealed the dramatic win with a hit to the right-center gap, bringing exhilarated teammates out of the dugout to celebrate a walk-off win.

Barneycastle (3-4) had half his team's hits as he reached base four times. Huffman also had a hit as Davidson lost for just the second time in seven games.

"Summers will use the whole field," McKnight said of the left-handed hitter. "Last year at Reynolds he hit one to center and hit it over the track."

Notes: Mocksville's six conference rivals are Davidson County, Kannapolis Reds, Kannapolis O's, Concord, Mooresville and Lake Norman. ... Mocksville is 2-0 in one-run games this year. Interestingly enough, it has a five-game winning streak in one-run games dating to 2014.

kept the deficit at 5-4 with help from right fielder Hennings, who caught a fly ball and gunned down a runner who tagged up at third and tried to score.

"Fletcher is a competitor," Bumgarner said. "He'll take the ball every time you hold it out there."

"Fletcher is the type of player we need," Kurfees said.

In the third, Mocksville produced two runs to tie the game at 3. The rally involved Hennings (one-out single), Davis (double) and Jones (reached on error).

Mocksville moved in front 4-3 in the sixth as Jones singled, Wilson doubled and Overfelt delivered a sac fly.

"It was a good game," Kurfees said. "We made some good plays in the field, but we're still not where we need to be offensively."

Notes: Two players from North Surry, Wilson and Nolan Stanley, put on a Mocksville uniform for the first time. The duo helped North rip off a history-making trip to the 2-A final four while going 24-6. North won its first outright conference championship since 1989. Reliever Fulk Riddles Stanly

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Jake Mayhew's Mocksville legion baseball debut didn't go exactly as planned, but Mocksville prevailed 8-6 at Stanly County on May 29 because Brett Fulk was brilliant in relief.

Mocksville (2-5) scored the most runs in 10 games, getting three hits each from Charlie Muchukot and Neil Hutchins.

Mayhew, the ace at West Forsyth as a senior, led a five-run inning at UNC-Greensboro, was shaky in four innings, although he did strike out six. He gave up five runs on six hits and walked five.

"He couldn't locate his fastball," coach Charles Kurfees said. "But he struck out six. I hate he didn't get the win, but he'll settle in and get going."

In Fulk's previous appearance at Davidson County, he sparked Mocksville to a 4-1 win with a seven-inning complete game. He kept it going at Stanly, which he had no chance once Fulk entered in the fifth. In five innings, he permitted two hits, allowed one unearned run, walked none and fanned six. At 2-1, he's responsible for both Mocksville wins.

Denny Key, a first-year Mocksville assistant and a former Davie/Mocksville pitching star, is the head coach at Forbush. Fulk just completed his senior season at Forbush, so Key has seen Fulk go to work many times. He was a major reason why the Falcons went 18-9 and won the conference tournament.

At Forbush, Fulk's record wasn't anything great - around .500 - but his ERA was below two.

"That was because he threw against all the big boys," Key said of Fulk's record. "He threw against Dave, West Forsyth, Reagan and Mt. Taber."

Fulk, who is headed to Lenior-Rhyne, beat West. He was beating Reagan 3-1 when he left the game. He faced just 19 batters at Stanly (2-5). His numbers in his last two legion outings: 12 innings, six hits, two runs, one earned, one walk, 14 Ks and 0.75 ERA. He has a 2.81 ERA in a staff-high 16 innings.

"He did the same thing (in the 4-1 win at Davidson)," Key said. "He threw all three pitches for strikes, and he established his fastball on the inside corner when he needed to. He's pretty doggone good when he just throws two pitches for strikes. The fact that he was able to throw all three for strikes helped a lot."

"I think he's a guy that got overlooked and I think Lenior-Rhyne got a pretty good deal."

Mocksville led 5-1 before finding itself in a 5-5 struggle. It never relinquished the lead, though.

"We had chances to score more runs," Kurfees said. "We left five men on base in the first two innings."

Muchukot (3 for 6, two runs) and Hutchins (3-5) enabled Mocksville to outpitch Stanly 14-8. Ross Hoffner (2-6, two runs), Barrett Hennings (2-5, walk) and Colby Cranfill (2-5) had two hits each. Elijah Jones was 1 for 2 with three RBIs as he reached three times on his hit by pitches. Kenny Overfelt doubled and walked.

Leading 6-5, Mocksville sacked on two runs in the seventh to give itself some breathing room. After Hutchins reached on an error with no outs, Muchukot and Hennings stirred the rally with back-to-back two-out singles.

Kurfees, though, wasn't totally pleased with the offense.

"We've got to hit the ball where it's pitched, hit to the right side and be better two-strike hitters," he said. "Our swings are way too long. We're trying to hit the ball out of the park."

"They made some good plays," Kurfees said. "They caught some balls deep. If it's in the air and in the ballpark, we should be able to run 'em down."

Mocksville's staff was gasping for air just a week into the season. Then the trio from Clemmons arrived.

"(Mayhew, Clark and Fletcher) came in here the other day and said to (coach Charles) Kurfees: 'If it's alright with you, we're pitchers only.'" Bumgarner said. "I said: 'Welcome to Mocksville.'"

"I about fell over," Kurfees said. "I haven't heard that too much."

Adam Fletcher pitched seven strong innings in his Mocksville legion baseball debut, although his effort was spoiled by visiting Kernersville on May 28.

Mocksville's offensive numbers were horrid (17 strikeouts) in a 3-1 nonconference loss. Mocksville (1-5) has managed one run in two straight losses to Kernersville, the other coming last year. This was the lowest run total since an 11-1 loss at Rowan County in the 2014 season finale. Kernersville improved to 5-2.

The only positive was a right-hander from West Forsyth. Mocksville's staff is enjoying a transformation with the addition of three pitchers from West, including Fletcher, Jake Mayhew and Connor Clark. Fletcher might be third in that pecking order - he was used mostly in a closer's role at West - but he definitely exceeded expectations in his first outing for the local legion.

In a tough-luck loss, he went seven innings and allowed seven hits and three runs.

"He completed his rear end off," assistant coach Todd Bumgarner said. "He throws from different arm slots. He's not submarine, but he's a little sidearm. He was tickled pink the other day when we told him he was hitting tonight."

Mayhew and Clark were the top two arms for West Forsyth coach Brad Bullard, but Fletcher came through in a pinch in an April 22 start at Reynolds, where he was crased trying to steal second. Hailey faced the minimum through five. In the sixth, Ross Hoffner singled with no one out and Charlie Muchukot was hit by a pitch with two outs. Bat a strikeout ended the inning.

To rub salt in the wound, Kernersville's relief pitcher added five more Ks. As a result, Mocksville's team batting average dipped to .245.

"They had Cy Young, Roger Clemens or Dwight Gooden on the mound," Bumgarner said of Hailey.

"He threw pretty hard and he had a good breaking ball and offspeed."

"What he did was he kept the ball down low all night," Kurfees said. "It was right there at the knees, and right below the knees, all night."

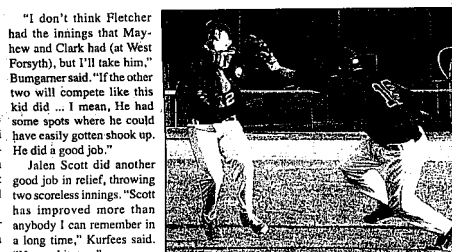

Kernersville's outthit Mocksville 8-6. Overfelt went 2 for 4 with a double. Barrett Hennings, Elijah Jones, Scott and Hoffner had the other hits.

Trailing 3-0 in the seventh, Jones finally got Mocksville on the board with one big swing. He hit a no-doubt homer to left against a relief pitcher.

"That was an upper-decker," Kurfees said. "The left fielder stood there and watched it."

As badly as Mocksville looked at the plate, it had a chance to tie or win the game in the ninth. Scott doubled with one out. Overfelt followed with a bloop double, the ball landing between the left fielder and shortstop. The defensive players crashed into each other and the shortstop left the game with an injury. Hoffner was hit by a pitch, loading the bases and putting the go-ahead run at first. The next two batters, however, struck out.

"All we needed was a hit," Kurfees said.

Annual Smart Start Event Draws More Than 1,000

Food, Fun, and Learning for Families at Smart Start's Annual KidsFest spring festival co-sponsored by the Mocksville Parks and Recreation brought out more than 1,000 folks Saturday, May 16.

Sharing the resources available to children and families in the county is the intention in hosting the annual event. More than 27 organizations from the community were represented in the Brock gym.

Parents gathered information from church preschools, child care centers, YMCA, DSS, health department, library, Davie Sheriff's DARE officer, other family services and mental health facilities. Each table had an educational activity for children while parents talked to volunteers about what was available.

The North Carolina Rail Yard Buddies O Gauge Model Train Club was added this year to entertain children of all ages.

Outside on the Masonic Picnic grounds, there was a festival of fun.

The YMCA hosted an obstacle course, The Mocksville Fire Department offered fire safety tips, fire hats, and tours of the fire truck. Loves Home Improvement gave away hundreds of build and grow kits. Mike Garner brought his prize winning bunnies for children to pet, and kids enjoyed two large bounce houses.

Belle Boger Celebrating Her 100th Birthday

Mocksville Woman's Club is honoring member Belle Boger on her 100th birthday on June 5. A member of the club since 1971, she supports many organizations in Davie County.

Matic Belle Daniel was born in Davie County. Raised by parents Silas Dullie Daniel and Edith Ann Martin Daniel, she graduated from Cooleemee High School. She was one of 11 children, six boys and five girls (Amos, Raymond, Margaret, "Hoot," Minnie, Samuel, Martin, Dottie, Franklin and Peggy Dean). She and Peggy Dean are the only living children.

The only time not spent living in Davie County was for 12 years when she and her husband, James Boger, lived in Salisbury. After moving back to her home in Mocksville, she continues to live there with the support of daughter, Marlene Shamel, and caregiver, Hannah McGee. She has three granddaughters, April Shamel, Carrie Shamel and Deanna Blackwelder, and three great-granddaughters, Harmony, Makyla and Malory.

"To say that Belle has been involved in her community would be an understatement," said fellow club member, Shirley Cagle. "Her efforts have touched the lives of almost everyone in the county, often quietly and without recognition."

Her efforts did not go unnoticed, as she has received several awards. Mrs. Boger and her family played a major role in the founding of the Davie Family YMCA. She supports the Davie County Public Library, Davie County Schools, Davie Arts Council, Davie Domestic Violence Services, A Storehouse for Jesus, the Davie Community Youth Choir, Helen Gantt Child Development Center, Hospice of Davie, the Davie Campus of Davidson County Community College, Breast Cancer Pink Broomstick campaign, Davie Community Foundation and the American Cancer Society Relay for Life.

"Belle's contributions have the far-reaching effect of encouraging and supporting the future for students and families," Cagle said.

She was honored on her 99th birthday by Mocksville Lodge 173 Order of the Eastern Star and presented a 60-year pin.

A lifetime member of Concord United Methodist Church, she is a member of the United Methodist Women, the Mocksville Garden Club and the Mocksville Home Extension Club.

In 2001, she was named Citizen of the Year by the woman's club for making a positive difference in her community, the first club recipient of the award.

In 2006, she earned the E.C. Tatum Humanitarian Award from the Davie Chamber of Commerce, presented by N.C. Rep. Julia C. Howard, who said: "It has been said that she has won the friendship and respect of the community."

Glenn And Doris Miller Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Glenn and Doris Miller will celebrate 50 years of marriage on June 12. They were married at First United Methodist Church in Liberty in 1965.

The couple met at a friend's house in Liberty while he was attending N.C. State University and she was attending Greensboro College. He is retired from Ingersoll-Rand and has his own wood-working business. She is a homemaker who enjoys volunteering and baking for local restaurants.

They have two children Karen (Mark) Wimmer of Roswell, Ga. and Greg (and Valerie) Miller of Newfane, Vt. and two grandchildren, Ryan and Ben Wimmer.

Couple Celebrates Birthdays

Woman's Club Recognizes Leaders

At the monthly luncheon in May at Bermuda Run Country Club, members of the Mocksville Woman's Club recognized leaders in the club and community.

Club scholarships were awarded to three Davie seniors.

Receiving the Mocksville Woman's Club Scholarship was Melanie Fichialis. She will attend High Point University to study business.

Jordain Taylor was the Sallie Southall Cotton scholarship winner. She will attend the University of North Carolina at Greensboro to study nursing.

Tatum Edwards, winner of the Potter Leadership in Education award will attend Wingate University and study education.

Dr. Darrin Hartness, superintendent of Davie County Schools, was presented with the Citizen of the Year award in recognition of his efforts to build a new high school.

Four club members received awards.

Betty Ward received the Club Woman of the Year award; Dawn Wooten received the Juanita Bryant Citizen of the Year award; and Shirley Cagle received the Silver Journalism award.

President Jean Saunders presented the "Extraordinary Women Doing Extraordinary "Things" award to Elke Albrecht.

Members have been completing the 75 hospital gowns sewn for Operation Smile. This volunteer program provides operations for cleft palates and lips for children around the world.

Alice Hawks, a medical volunteer from Novant, is traveling to Nicaragua with the gowns and flip flops donated by the Mocksville Woman's Club, delivering them to a hospital. This will be her 16th trip with Operation Smile.

Her passionate description of this program inspired the club women to donate enough money for several operations and begin sewing the hospital gowns.

Cooleemee

By KC Smith
Cooleemee Correspondent

The graduating class of 1951 of Cooleemee High School celebrated their reunion at the Cooleemee Fire Department on Saturday, May 30.

Sue Steele hosted the informal gathering and each person who walked through the door received hugs from her and other members of the class. Classmates were encouraged to bring a spouse, friend or family member.

Three brass easels were placed in the room covered with black and white photos and pictures lined each table. A table was covered with photos and memorabilia.

Everyone had a great time reminiscing and sharing memories with each other; and helped themselves to fried chicken, baked beans, corn, slaw and a salad. The class president, Bill Goodman, blessed the meal and had a moment of silence for those who could not be there.

Mascots Jeannie Taylor and Earl Shoaf also attended.

Marvin Smith went out of his way to make sure a member of the class could make it to the reunion. Smith has been known for donating his time by offering transportation by van to those in need and when Sue Steele called him to see if he could pick up Joan Stroud from Autumn Care and bring her to the reunion, he made it happen.

Steele was elated Stroud made it to the reunion and even though this was a long outing for her, she went back to Autumn Care, took a good nap and awakened feeling well.

Steele plans to share photos and a short video of the event to those who were unable to attend.

Tammy Lagle was recognized as teacher assistant of the year for Davie County Schools 2015-2016. She has been an assistant for 18 years.

When her children were in school she started subbing and later the principal offered her a position.

She started working in third grade at Cooleemee School. Brent Wall was her first teacher she assisted. She moved to second grade for about 13 years while helping all grades in math and reading groups.

Karen Stephens, principal, asked if anyone would want to volunteer for the assistant job in PE and Lagle took on that role. She and Russell Hilton made a great team and his first year was a success. "The children loved him."

Russell was an assistant to previous PE teacher, Ms. Tysinger, and he was able to fill the teacher slot when she left. He served as assistant for three years.

Lagle says Cooleemee is "the best kept secret in Davie County."

The love between the staff and the children and the love the children have for one another is the main thing that stands out in her mind. "They really love each other and really rally around each other."

With tears in her eyes and a lump in her throat, Lagle said: "If you really want to see it, come on the last day of school. We do a parade as they leave and the children cry because they have to leave. The love there is like family."

More than once she has been asked if she would like to transfer to another school and she quickly says no.

Congratulations Tammy.

The 4-H group met at the Jerusalem Fire Department on Tuesday, May 26, and had a Flag Retirement Ceremony. Flags that are deemed old and tattered aren't just thrown away, but several ceremonies have been organized to officially retire these flags.

John Veach, assistant district commissioner of Scouting of Davie County, assisted the group.

Each member walked up to the fire pit where flames were hot and intimidating, but with a gentle toss, a piece of balled up paper containing a piece of a flag inside quickly turned into ashes.

Abigail Wells said: "This ceremony is how to dispose of a flag once they are unfit to fly, then you must burn them respectfully in a ceremony."

Griffin Ferrell said: "It was in bad shape, it was torn and it was old."

Avery Wilson commented on how the flags are cut into smaller pieces. "We cut the flags along the lines and along the stars and then we rolled them up. It took a long time because we had a bunch of flags."

About 12-15 flags were burned and they came from people in the 4-H club and some schools.

The 4-H Club meets at the Jerusalem Fire Department on the third Tuesday of each month. The leaders are Kathy Crotts, Tracy Carter and Dale Wall. Anyone in Davie can participate.

This particular club is a community 4-H Club and they do a variety of things.

"They have officers and conduct the meetings themselves. They follow parliamentary procedures in the meetings, as rules of order, and every year they get better at it," says Crotts.

4-H has always been known to help develop leadership skills and Crotts says it has been interesting to watch these young children develop over the years.

The ashes of the flags are buried in a safe place where they will not be disturbed and a monument is placed respectfully to mark the location.

Peyton Corriher, daughter of Steve and Kaci Corriher, had her picture displayed at the Brock Building in March and the recent Arts Smart Festival at the high school displayed her leaf art.

The picture at the Brock was of an alien that contains a mirror image of her name turned vertical and turned into an alien.

Peyton is in second grade and enjoys art using different mediums. This is actually the fifth time she has had her art displayed. In her spare time she draws.

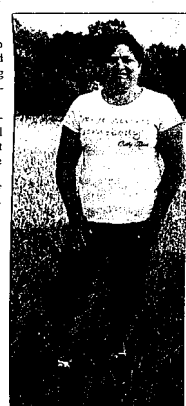

"I start off with a pencil then do designs and color it in." Peyton has plans to attend an art camp this year. She is fond of her younger brother Henry, too.

Every year Tony and Tammy O'Neal put their pool up in the backyard so their grandchildren can splash and have fun in the sun all summer long. Sometimes friends in the neighborhood come to share in the fun. Some like Aubrey come to enjoy the swing.

County Line

By Shirley Thorne
County Line Correspondent

Spring seems to have been short-lived in County Line, but folks have still enjoyed good times in the hot humid weather. The Calvary folks had a good crowd for breakfast Sunday and Society's gospel singing was well attended. Our community has several events for your enjoyment this weekend.

Begin Saturday by joining the V-Point Rurians for breakfast from 6-10 a.m. June 6 at the V-Point Building on Old Mocksville Road about 3 mile from NC 901. The buffet includes country ham and sausage, scrambled eggs, grits, cornmeal mush, baked apples, biscuits, and drink. Donations will be accepted. Take-outs are available for $7 per plate. Ham biscuits and sausage biscuits are $1 each. Proceeds benefit community projects.

An auction benefiting Matthew 25 of Harmony will be Saturday on the vacant lot beside Galaxy Grocery on US 21 South, bidding time begins at 10 a.m. The lot is the future site of the Matthew 25. For more information, please call Alice Carner Waugh on 704-546-7677.

The Salem United Methodist Men will meet at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, June 7 in the fellowship hall. The group invites others for breakfast and prayer.

Piney Grove AME Zion Church will celebrate "Pastor Appreciation Day" with a service at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 7. Special speaker will be Dr. C. Frank Tillet of St. Stephen's AME Zion Church of Gastonia; his church choir will present a program of gospel music. There will be a covered-dish dinner at 1:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Piney Grove members invite everyone for this celebration.

Clarksburg United Methodist Church will host an American Red Cross Blood Drive from 3:30-7 p.m. Monday, June 8 in the fellowship hall. Extra blood is needed during holidays and vacation time. Give and save a life.

Woman's Club: Fun, Lunch And Giving Back

Amid decorations of red, white and blue to commemorate Memorial Day, members and guests of the Mocksville Woman's Club were treated to a day of fun, lunch and giving back.

Auctioneer Keith Matthews kept the bidding wars going. More than 100 items were donated by members for the fundraiser. A weekend at the beach, jewelry, baked goods, home decorative items, plants, furniture and a designer quilt were some of the items sold.

Christy Schafer, chair of the fundraiser committee, introduced some new twists in items for bidding. One member, Vickie Smitherman, owns a cow which was soon to give birth. Purchasing a raffle ticket and winning the drawing entitled the winner to name the calf. Latest information is that the calf will be named "Miss Jan."

Also, 20 decorated empty boxes were auctioned for $20 each. When everyone opened their boxes at the same time, one contained a message "You Are The Winner." Marlene Shamel won a bracelet priced at $700.

More than 100 items were donated by members for the fundraiser. A weekend at the beach, jewelry, baked goods, home decorative items, plants, furniture and a designer quilt were some of the items sold.

It was one of the club's most successful fundraisers. Many goes to support many projects, including Dragonfly House, Hunger Fighters, Storehouse for Jesus, Habitat for Humanity, Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Davie, Tree of Honor, Wreaths Across America, Domestic Violence Prevention, Operation Smile, scholarships for Davie students and bingo at Autumn Care.

Birthday wishes go to those celebrating this week: Mary Waugh on June 4; Sarah Myers on June 5; Pat Swisher on June 6; Sherry Shoemaker, Baylor Bailey and Spencer Kelly on June 7; Virginia Wall on June 9; and Seth Keller, Tana Powers and Leo Pope on June 10. Congratulations to the following couples who will be celebrating an anniversary: David and Vicki Johnson on June 6; Jack and Brenda Bailey on June 8; and James and Marsha Alexander on June 9. If you would like an anniversary or birthday posted, please do not hesitate to call or email me.

Game Night at the Sheffield-Calahaln Community Center and Recreation Area was again a success because of your support. Lanny Drye was the grand prize winner of Dollywood tickets and Barbara Gobble won the 50/50 drawing. Barbara graciously donated her winning to the community center. We thank all of you for coming and look forward to seeing you again in the fall.

The Reeves family reunion will be this Saturday at the Sheffield-Calahaln Community Center at 4 p.m. We will enjoy a covered dish dinner at 5 p.m. The center is at 174 Turkeyfoot Road. Everyone is invited.

A couple weeks ago, a photo of Fred Beck was in the column. The caption read he retired after 35 years with Ingersoll-Rand. It should have stated 45 years. It is wonderful to see someone retire from a company after that many years of employment.

A lot of great musicians showed up at the Hill Barn Saturday night for some picking, singing, eating, and just having a great time. It was good to see G.H. Goforth back at the Hill Barn, and hearing some of his great dobro playing. Betty Dameron, Becky Hill and Junior Dunn celebrated their birthdays. Junior's birthday was May 15, Becky's the 27th and Betty Dameron's the 31st. Everyone at the barn enjoyed not only the music, but sandwiches, snacks and desserts.

New Union UMC softball team will play this Thursday at 9 p.m. vs. Rescue House at Rich Park. New Union will play Fork Baptist on Monday, June 8 at 9 p.m.

Kids Night at New Union ended Wednesday with an evening of presentations by each of the classes. Afterwards, a hotdog supper was served by the Men's Fellowship. We wish them all a wonderful summer vacation, and look forward to seeing them in the fall. We thank all the adults who helped with the kid's night program this year, which was on the Book of Genesis. Hope all of you can attend our Vacation Bible School July 20-22 from 6-8 p.m.

Senior Bible Study at Liberty Wesleyan Church is held the second Tuesday of each month at 10 a.m. Next scheduled meeting is June 9. Everyone is invited. The Heritage Trio from Penn View Bible Institute sang to a full house at Community Covenant Church on Sunday night. These young people play the cello, violin, keyboard, and other instruments in addition to being extremely talented vocalists. It was an evening of testimonials and songs of praise. I look forward to their next visit down south to Sheffield from Penns Creek, Pa.

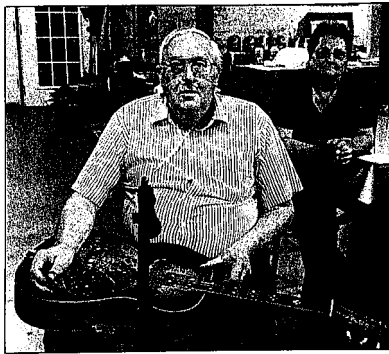

The Korner Deli strives to showcase local bands each Saturday night. Contact Deanna at 704-450-3424. The Tomlin Dollie Band will perform this Saturday. The Fox Mountain Entertainers will be back on June 20.

Local musicians will be playing at Debbie's Country Kitchen as follows: Hickory Bend Bluegrass on June 5 and the New High Country Boys on June 12.

The Harmony Owls Team 2, ages 9-10, finished the season undefeated at 11-0. Thanks to Linda Goforth for sharing the photo. Her grandson, Riley Goforth, plays for the Owls.

Jessica Ritchie with Iredell County's Children's Museum taught children at the Harmony Public Library how to make Earth jars with colored sand, representing the layers of the earth, and Galaxy jars with paint, glitter and cotton representing the galaxy. Davie Community Foundation will celebrate 10 years of its signature event Friday at WinMock at Kinderton. Sounds of Summer 2015 promises to be a spectacular evening to celebrate the community and say thank you to all who have supported the event and the foundation for 10 years, said Jane Simpson, president.

The air will be filled with the music of Band of Oz under the big tent on the East Terrace, and a DJ will be in the loft to keep the crowd excited and engaged. A photo booth will capture the faces of guests there to celebrate and enjoy the evening.

The first Sunday in June, June 7, is homecoming at Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church on Pino Road. We invite all former members and friends to join us for the worship service at 11 a.m. The Rev. Dr. Jeff Patterson, superintendent of the Yadkin Valley District of the United Methodist Church, will deliver the sermon. There will be a covered dish dinner in the fellowship hall after the service.

In addition to Homecoming Sunday at their church, Wesley Chapel, Roland and Betty Etchison West will also have a 62nd wedding anniversary that day. They were married at Eaton's Baptist Church on June 7, 1953. The Rev. Wade Hutchins performed the ceremony.

When they got married, Roland was in the U.S. Army, and Betty had one more year at Woman's College (now the UNC-Greensboro) before she graduated. She and Roland lived in near Fort Jackson,

May 25 is Memorial Day, the day we honor those who died while serving in the armed forces. Memorial Day should not be confused with Veteran's Day which is the day to show appreciation for all who have served in U.S. military service, not just those who died. Memorial Day is always the last Monday in May. Veteran's Day always falls on Nov. 11, but it may be observed on another day since it is a federal holiday.

Memorial Day causes one to think of the people who have died in our area while serving in the military. The veteran's memorial in Mocksville is a constant reminder that Davie County has lost many valuable people who paid the ultimate price while serving their country. According to Marie Bengtson, daughter of the late Craig Roth's book, Davie County Veterans' Memorial, Davie County war casualties numbered 317 in the Civil War; 29 in World War I; 53 in World War II; 2 in Korea; 9 in Vietnam; and 1 in Beirut. The Civil War is by far the bloodiest war in which we have been involved. There were 625,000 casualties.

The Civil War was devastating for the ancestors of the Etchison and Cain families. Three of my four great-grandparents lost a brother. William A. Frost (1842-1862), the brother of Elizabeth Amy Frost Cain, died in war; and he is buried in the Frost Cemetery, south of Cano on Woodward Road. Elizabeth Amy's husband, James Harrison Cain, also lost a brother, Anderson H. Cain (1837-1862), who was killed at the Battle of Seven Pines, Va. That battle is described in Eleanor Cain Blackmore's book, Family Connections. That battle was fought on July 31 and June 1, 1862. According to Mrs. Blackmore's book:

"General Johnston was severely wounded on the 31st and General Robert E. Lee took command. Both sides claimed victory. In this battle and both sides had reason for the claim. The Confederates lost more heavily because they made assaults on fortified positions, while the Federals had to retire from their positions with heavy losses in guns, property, and prisoners. Really it was a battle which, with great loss of life, accomplished nothing." Three brothers of my great-grandmother, Louisa Furches Etchison, fought with the Confederate Army. Lewis Alexander, Wesley, and Thomas. Lewis and Wesley were wounded, but survived. Thomas was killed at the Battle of Chancellorsville, Va., one of the bloodiest battles of the war. According to a book titled, Chancellorsville, 1863-the Souls of the Brave, by Ernest B. Ferguson, there were 17,273 members of the Army of the Potomac killed, wounded, and missing.

One of those men is buried in the Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church Cemetery. This World War I hero was William C. Lowery. The following inscription is on his tombstone: William C. Lowery, Co. L, 120th Inf. 30th Div. Born February 14, 1893. Killed in France August 31, 1918. There are crossed guns carved into the top of the tombstone.

Gene Miller, who was in heavy fighting in WWII, said that he always remembered seeing those guns when he was growing up, and while fighting in Europe, he just wanted to get back home alive, not as a dead body with guns on his tombstone.

Gene Miller, John Gaither Ward and other neighborhood boys, who were in heavy fighting in World War II, got back to Pino alive, but Cpl. Grady Allen was not that lucky. He lost his life in France. Cpl. Allen, who was born on July 15, 1911 and was killed on Aug. 25, 1944, is buried in the Wesley Chapel UMC Cemetery. Cpl. Allen was the son of William A. and Lelia Allen, who lived on Cano, Route 1. According to Marie Roth's book, Davie County Veterans' Memorial, Cpl. Allen was one of 53 Davie County men who were killed in WWII.

The Cano community was greatly saddened in June of 1944 when the message arrived that First Lt. Joseph Ellis Leagans had been killed on the Omaha Beachhead on June 7, 1944. Leagans was a graduate of N.C. State University where he was in ROTC. He went into active service upon graduation. Leagans' roommate at N.C. State was Jim Graham, who later became Commissioner of Agriculture of North Carolina. Joseph Leagans was an outstanding young man who seemed destined to achieve much success when his life was cut short during the Normandy Invasion. First Lt. Leagans volunteered to join the Rangers which was the group that led the invasion. Leagans was first buried in the First U.S. Cemetery at Vierville Sur Mer, France; but the body was later returned to the United States and was reinterred in the Eaton's Baptist Church Cemetery.

When I thought of the cemetery in France where Leagans was first buried with its row on row of crosses or small white stones, I was reminded of the poem, "In Flanders Fields," which was written by Lt. Col. John McCrae as he sat on the back of an ambulance near Ypres, Belgium, and looked at the grave of a close friend who had been killed in action and buried in the Essex Farm Cemetery. This poem was written during WWI.

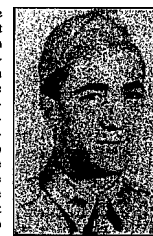

In Flanders Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our places, and in the sky
The larks still bravely sing-fly
Scarcely heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead; Short days ago,
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved; and now we lie
In Flanders fields!

There were other men from this area of the Davie who were lost in World War II including Lt. James H. Montgomery Jr. and Sgt. Kenneth P. Sparks, but the only one that is buried at the Eaton's Baptist is Leagans and the only one at Wesley Chapel is Cpl. Grady Allen. Pfc. Ernest G. Plowman, whose parents lived on Redland Road, was killed in action and was buried at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, Honolulu, Hawaii. I visited that cemetery, which is also called the Punch-bowl Cemetery; and it is a beautiful beyond compare if a cemetery can be beautiful. One is overcome when realizing that each of those small white stones represents a brave person who died in the service of our country. A visit to the Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C., provokes a similar emotion. If a military funeral is about to take place there and you see the horse-drawn caisson bearing a flag-draped casket or hear the bugler playing taps, tears begin to flow. That cemetery has 400,000 graves which makes it an overpowering site.

Too soon after WWII, which was supposed to be the war that would end all wars, the United States found itself involved in another conflict—the Korean conflict. Although many Davie County men served in that conflict, only two lost their lives. One, Staff Sgt. Rufus Leonard Bringer was from Cooleemee; and Davie County's only casualty in that conflict was Pfc. Jack L. Spillman, who is buried at Deep Creek Baptist Church Cemetery in Yadkin County.

On Dec. 8, 1968, Davie County and the Pino community lost another extremely bright young man, Pfc. John Charles Harding Jr. He was killed in Quang Nam Province, South Vietnam. John aspired to be a doctor, but first he heard his country's call and volunteered for the U.S. Marines. John's body was returned to the United States and was buried in the Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church Cemetery. His footstone inscription: John C. Harding, Jr. North Carolina Pfc. Co. L 26 Mar 1 Mar Div Vietnam PH Dec 8 1968

Visiting the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C. was an inspiring experience. Finding John C. Harding's name there brought sorrow and pride when I thought of that smart, brave Pino man who laid down his life for his country. An inscription on John's tombstone says: "Greater love hath no man than this—that a man lay down his life for his friends."

This is the stuff of which the Davie men who lost their lives in the service of their country were made of. The last Davie County person killed while on military duty was Marine Sgt. Charles Dennis Cook who was killed in the Beirut Bombing. An article in the book, Davie County Veterans' Memorial, says that he lived in Farmington. He was buried at Westwood Gardens of Memory in Clemmons.

When we think of all of the brave young Davie County men who have died in military service, every day should be a memorial day instead of just the third Monday in May.

If I failed to mention a person who died in the line of duty and is buried in Wesley Chapel or Eaton's Baptist Cemetery, let me know. The ones included are the ones I found on multiple trips to the cemeteries. Much information concerning veterans is in Marie Bengtson's book, Davie County Veterans' Memorial and Davie County in World War One. You can purchase those books at the Davie County Library. This article is being reprinted from last week's issue of a design error.

It was cold and they did not have adequate supplies. After a bit over a year in Korea, Roland came home and was discharged.

Betty had graduated from Women's College with a degree in primary education in the June before Roland got home the following January. Betty and Roland moved to Pino, and they have lived here for more than 60 years.

Not only have Betty and Roland West always lived in Davie County, so do all of the members of their immediate family. Their daughters, Frances and her husband, Larry Tutterow, and their children, Jason and his wife, Page Sted Tutterow, and their children, Reese and Harpe, and Elizabeth (Jzzy) and her husband, Joe Burchette, and their son, Joseph, all have Advance addresses. The Wests' daughter, Susan and her husband, Al Cujas, and their children, Amy, Missy, and Oliver, live at Cano. Their son Henry is not married, and he has property at Cano and Pino.

So Betty and Roland not only feel lucky to live in Davie County, but they feel exceedingly lucky to have all of their immediate family members living nearby.

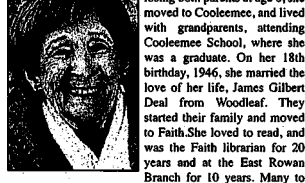

Second grand, Oliver Everett Cujas, probably expressed the feeling best when he and his grandmother were dealing with a great deal of traffic in Winston-Salem. Oliver said,

Annie Pauline 'Polly' Carter Deal

Mrs. Annie Pauline "Polly" Carter Deal, 86, died on Thursday morning, May 28, 2015 at her home in Faith.

She was born July 2, 1928, to the late Clyde Hampton Carter and Gladys Mae Howard Carter of Kannapolis. After losing both parents at age 6, she moved to Cooleemee, and lived with grandparents, attending Cooleemee School, where she was a graduate. On her 18th birthday, 1946, she married the love of her life, James Gilbert Deal from Woodleaf. They started their family and moved to Faith. She loved to read, and was the Faith librarian for 20 years and at the East Rowan Branch for 10 years. Many of this day still referred to her as "Miss Polly." The Atlanta Braves were her team, and she and Jim watch every game on TV and Polly kept score in official scorebooks. They were fortunate to travel all over the US whether by car and on bus trips. She never met and stranger and dedicated her life to helping others. She was a member of the Extension Homemakers, American Legion Auxiliary, East Rowan Ladies Civitan, and a local Red Hat Club. She helped launch the first 4-H club in the Faith area. She participated in the Rowan Crop walk for 34 years, worked with the Habitat for Humanity Port-A-Pit meals, delivered Meals on Wheels, and worked with events in support of Victory Junction. She loved to dress up as a clown and other characters working with children in schools. One dear to her heart was her activity with the Rowan Special Olympics. She was competitive, so whether it was raising money for Relay for Life, or selling tickets for the Habitat meals, she always threw herself across the line giving her all to everything she put her hand to work. She loved her church family from Shiloh Reformed in Faith. She served on many committees such as heading up the acolytes, teaching Sunday school, delivering tapes/CDs to those who couldn't attend church. She was part of the Women's Circle, participating in the knit one pray two group, and gathering groups for fundraisers. She was always involved in something. Family was important. She was involved making sure families gathered each year for a reunion.

She had two siblings, Ralph Wesley Carter of Mocksville, who died in 1977 and Walter Dwight Carter of Norfolk, Va., who died May 3, 2014.

Survivors: her 3 daughters, Reba Louise Deal Drennan of N. Myrtle Beach, S.C.; Paula Christine Deal Drennan (nee) of Rockwell; and Melissa Joyce Deal Waller of Granite Quarry; grandchildren, Scottie Hill (Ginger), Alan Hill (Kim), Heather Drennan, Bradley Drennan, and Jordan Waller Johnson (Will); 7 great-grandchildren; and 1 new great-grandchild.

The family received friends on Saturday, May 30 at Powles Funeral Home. The funeral service was held on Sunday, May 31, at 3 p.m. at Shiloh Reformed Church, conducted by the Rev. Richard Myers, pastor. Burial followed in the church cemetery.

Mildred Hoke

Mildred Elizabeth Schneider Hoke, 86, died Monday, June 1, 2015, at Regency Care Center of Clemmons after a brief illness.

Born Dec. 16, 1928, in Carnegie (Allegheny County), Pa., she was the daughter of the late Martin and Dorothy Schneider. She attended the public schools of Allegheny County and graduated from Carnegie High School. She graduated from Capital University in Columbus, Ohio, and earned her master's degree from Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich. She became an educator, teaching in public and Catholic schools, primarily in the Detroit area. Her career spanned well over 40 years, influencing hundreds of young lives. She moved to Davie County some 13 years ago where she became a member of Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Survivors: 2 sons, Paul Hoke and wife Kathy of Dallas, Texas; a brother, Martin Schneider and wife Harriet of Seneca, S.C.; 4 grandchildren: Chris, Matt, Taylor and Chloe; and several nieces and nephews.

There will be a visitation Friday, June 5 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. at Davie Funeral Service Chapel. A celebration of life service will be conducted at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 6 at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, officiated by Pastor Susan B. Sams. Memorials: Holy Cross Lutheran, 1913 US 601 S., Mocksville; or to the ADVAC Group.

Troy Eugene Spough

Troy Eugene Spough, 69, of Mocksville, died under Hospice care at his home on Hank Lesser Road Tuesday, June 2, 2015, surrounded by his family.

Born May 15, 1946, in Forsyth County, he was the son of the late Henry Harrison Spough and Minnie Easter Whisenant Spough. He served his country in the U.S. Marines and had worked in janitorial service at the I-40 rest area.

On March 21, 1970, he married Helen Louise Everhart, his wife of 45 years, who survives. Their children are a son, Casper Gray Spough and wife Linda, and a daughter, Cathy Dawson Hansen and husband Pete, all of Mocksville. Other survivors: 2 sisters, Albin Sweet and Cleave Binkley; 3 brothers, Harrison, Paul and James Spough; and 4 grandchildren.

He was also preceded in death by a sister, Marie S. Campbell, and 5 brothers: Bud, John, Clyde, Arthur and Jasper Spough.

A service will be held at a later date.

Leta Gray Allen Ellis

Mrs. Leta Gray Allen Ellis, 78, of Mocksville died Monday, June 1, 2015, at her home.

Mrs. Ellis was born in Davie County on Feb. 17, 1937, to Charlie Wilson and Esther Sofley Allen. She was a member of Bethlehem United Methodist Church. She retired from Hanes Hosiery after 42 years and became a full-time "Mamaw ELLIE" working in the Bethlehem United Methodist Church Preschool and keeping her great-grand boys at her home. She was adventurous in her last 10 years; she went skydiving, white water rafting, and parasailing. She enjoyed riding her motorcycle and four wheelers and working with flowers, which complimented her husband Sherry's landscaping. She truly loved her family. Her time spent with grandchildren and great-grandchildren was meaningful to her, especially in the last few years.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband of 50 years, Francis "Shorty" Reid Ellis; and 2 brothers, Cornell and C.W. Allen.

Survivors: 2 daughters, Patricia Howard and husband Donald and Deborah Sprinkle and husband Trey; 3 grandchildren, Kendall Howard and wife Marci, Adam Howard and wife Robin, and Josh Sprinkle and fiancée Christina McCabe; 5 great-grandchildren, Sarah and Emma James, and Michael Ross, Reid Donald, and Bailey Caroline Howard; a brother, Lester Allen and wife Vivian; a sister-in-law, Barbara Allen; and her friend, Jeanette Cook.

A graveside service will be conducted 6 p.m. Thursday, June 4 at Bethlehem United Methodist Church Cemetery with Pastor Rebecca Allen officiating. The family was to receive friends from 6-8 p.m. Wednesday at Hayworth-Miller Kindertown Chapel.

Memorials: Smith Grove Fire Dept., 4155 US 158, Advance; or to the Lymphoma Research Foundation, 115 Broadway, Suite 1301, New York, NY 10006.

Mad Science had a table for making slime and free face painting was offered to all children.

Krysta Gary led Zumba and Pearl Holston led yoga on the main stage.

Lou Wilson, Erin Pen-

ley, and Sean Nelson led more than 80 elementary school students in a choral presentation on the main stage. There was also balloon art and a magic show.

Active Routes to Schools supplied 300 free bike helmets to be given to children after listening to a bike safety presentation. Mocksville Police Chief Todd Penley and Lt. Jeff Finney helped to fit the children properly in their bike helmets. To enhance the giveaway, Smart Start raffled two toddler bikes and two children's bikes.

Roxanne McDaniel and Jonathan Dillon, volunteers, assisted with the bike raffle and helmets.

"We could not have pulled off such a successful event without the wonderful volunteers," said Gena Taylor, Smart Start executive director. "Thank you to our board members, Dr. Darrin Hartness, Cesar Romero, Marcella Brown, Peggy Nuckolls and Anna Jenkins for helping at the event. We were fortunate to partner with several groups at DHS including Future Educators of America (FEA), National Honor Society (NHS), and JROTC totaling 41 high school student volunteers at KidsFest. We received many compliments about how these volunteers assisted with making the event go much more smoothly.

T-shirts were sponsored by A Child's World, FUMC Preschool, Macedonia Moravian Preschool, Cuddly Care, Kountry Kids, and Young Children's Learning Center.

Kidsfest student volunteers were: from DHS JROTC - Richard Cline, Josthin Servellon, Colby Tucker, Chyenne Pope, Cody Popecki, Dylan Minor and Sterling Whittington; from DHS National Honor Society - Jessica Crews, Tessa Ivester, Hunter McDaniel, Lindsey Custer, Danielle Wood, Jared Ridenhour, Caleb Dyer, Claire Devereaux, Caleb Wallace, Payton Cartner and Katelyn Hernandez; from FEA - Jana Yount, Molly Engstrom, Madison Carter, Payton Beaty, Jordain Taylor, Paige

Davie County Early College students pose with Mocksville Elementary students after presenting a puppet show about cells. The Early College provided three stations for the younger students to visit. They made t-shirts about the phases of cell development, learned about the sustainability of plant cells through games, and saw a puppet show about how viruses attack cells. The 10th-12 grade honors biology students had been studying cells and DNA. "They came up with the projects to be graded," said teacher, Dee Mallory.

Davie Schools

Shady Grove Elementary
Over the past year, students could explore a variety of sports during PE classes.

Panther students learned basic skills in soccer, basketball, wrestling, volleyball, football, pickleball, softball and other sports. They had the chance to do dancing along with recreational sports and throw a dodge ball or two, and they have been supportive raising money for the American Heart Association. Even though the school year is almost over, there are still a couple of big events on the calendar.

On Thursday, June 4, the PE department will present the Shady Grove Showcase of Talent. Featured acts include the Shady Grove Unified Team (Emily Agejwe, Peyton Justice, Colton Sessions, Spencer Williams, Caleb Mathis, Justin Hayes, Nicole Korczyk, Chloe Biggers, Carson Kimball, Carson Reed), the Shady Grove Jump Rope Team (Emily Agejwe, Caleb Mathis, Eli Smith, Colton Sessions, Palmer Williams, Leslie Newsom, Nicole Korczyk, Morgan Brewer, Elizabeth Barney, Justin Hayes, Ben Brewer, Sean Brewer, Katherine Claybrook, Abby Wilson), the Shady Grove Rip stick Crew (Ben McGuire, Alex Dorsett, Andrew Brown, Lexi Kulis, Devyn Sutton), the Shady Grove Trotters (Colby Moore, Parker Simmons, William Puit, Brodie Smith), singers Zoe Buddie, Chloe Winters and Lexy Medina, guitarists Chase Hilton and Allie Wood, Irish dancer Jenna Lee, and pianist Princeton Charles.

On Monday, June 8, students will participate in Fun Day. Kindergarten through second grade students will participate in the morning session, featuring 40 events and the class vs. class tug-of-war.

of-war. Third through fifth graders will participate in the afternoon session, featuring 50 events, and the class vs. class tug-of-war. This event could not happen without a lot of volunteers, and the PE department thanks everyone who signed up.

The year will conclude with class parties, Awards Day and 5th Grade Graduation, and a water battle between the Advance Fire Department and the Shady Grove 5th graders.

Mocksville Elementary
Students had a whale of a time learning about sea creatures. They compared and contrasted lobsters and crabs, along with sharks and whales. The Davie County public librarians put on a puppet show. Then talked about the summer activities at the library along with the summer reading program.

Mrs. Callison and Mrs. Davis' first grade class had fun creating movie trailers. Students worked in small groups to create their own movie trailers using iMovie.

They worked together to create intriguing movie trailer plots. They used the iPads to take pictures from the story or illustrated their own pictures to use. They named their studio and created their own movie credits. They enjoyed watching their classmates' trailers. In math, students wrapped up a unit on measurement. They learned about standard and non-standard measurement tools. They had fun measuring tons of things in our classroom using non-standard tools like cubes, paperclips, craft sticks, links, pencils and more. They even measured themselves. Students especially enjoyed a robotics measurement lesson presented by Julie Marklin. They measured the lengths the robots traveled with measurement tools.

Fourth graders, in Mr. Strickland's class reflected on accomplishments. From discovering new books to discovering new places, they strive to learn something new every day. Reflective writing essays have proven to be insightful and hilarious.

A Sweet Success Davie High Band Gets New Equipment

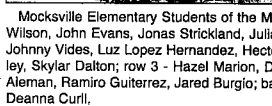

Were you a customer who purchased one of the 1,000 sugar cakes sold at the Dewey's Holiday Store in Mocksville? Did you purchase any other items from the store? If so, you were a contributing part of the fundraising success for the Davie-High band. Thanks to Dewey's Bakery and Milling Manor, the band fundraiser was a success. Milling Manor donated building space to house the store. Dewey's provided the baked goods while DHS band parents, families, and friends volunteered their time to work the store daily from mid-November through Christmas Eve.

As a result of the success, the band was able to purchase a new alto saxophone, oboe, two bass clarinets, percussion instruments and new pieces of music to add to the inventory.

Andrew Jimeson and the DHS Band Boosters thank April Staley for putting her time and talent into making the first year a tremendous success. They also thank the community for support as they look forward to bringing Dewey's back to Mocksville in November.

Public Library Ready With With Summer Reading Events

The Summer Reading Program "Every Hero Has a Story" will begin for youth at the Davie County Public Library on Monday, June 15 at 10 a.m.

There will be two reading incentive programs; the easy timed Reading Hero and the Superhero Reader's Challenge providing youth with the opportunity to earn prizes for reading.

Youth Services Librarian Julie Whittaker said: "Studies show summer reading programs help combat the summer slide students face if they aren't reading while out of school. We're here to offer opportunities and prizes to encourage everyone to make reading a daily habit."

There is something fun to do without charge at the library Monday-Saturday from June 15-Aug. 10.

The calendar of events is full of activities and presentations to enrich the lives of Davie's youth. Each Monday evening at 6:30, it will host professional family shows.

Tuesdays provide two opportunities with a 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Community Hour presentation or time to use Lemniscello Games or ROBO LEGOS. Each Wednesday offers "Muchin' at the Movies" at 11 a.m. with PG films and "Snackin'" at the Cinema at 1 p.m. with PG13 films.

Thursdays are reserved for Readers/Book Clubs including Reading with Ranger 11 a.m.-noon, Next Chapter Book Clubs for persons with intellectual differences meet at 1 p.m. for adults and 3:30 p.m. for teens, and Middle School and Young Adult Reader's Clubs meet on alternating Thursdays at 2:15 p.m.

Story Time for younger patrons will continue to be on Friday mornings at 11 a.m.

Reading with Ranger is available again on most Saturdays for 15-minute reservations from 11 a.m.-noon. Youth volunteers are essential to the program. Youth rising to the 6th grade and older are eligible and may apply and schedule 21 to 24 hours starting June 4.

The Calendar of Events and Summary of Guidelines, specific program information and brochures are available on the library's website www.library.daviecountync.gov or contact jwhittaker@daviecountync.gov or call Julie Whittaker at 753-6038 during the afternoons.

Brooke Elizabeth Summers is a proud recipient of a Parks Scholarship to attend North Carolina State University.

Parks Scholar Davie High Senior Earns NCSU Award

A Davie High School senior is among some 40 from across the world to be awarded a prestigious Parks Scholarship to attend N.C. State University.

Brooke Elizabeth Summers, daughter of David and Amy Summers of Advance, plans to major in human biology.

Among being one of the top academic students at Davie, she has been captain of the cross country team, president of the Students Understanding Real Futures board and the Student Coalition Against Genocide. She has been an advisory volunteer at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center, created a school supplies replenishment program for disadvantaged students, and earned an Honorary Catalyst Award for research at the N.C. Central University Biomedical/Biotechnology Research Institute.

The mission of the Parks Scholarships program is to bring exceptional students to NC State, based on outstanding accomplishments and potential in scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

The scholarships are named for the late Roy H. Park '31, an NC State alumnus who created the charitable Park Foundation, dedicated to education, media, and the environment.

With a grant from the Park Foundation, the Park Scholarships program was established in 1996 to provide the opportunity for exceptionally talented and well-prepared young men and women who merit the intellectual challenge.

The Park Scholarship provides:

- Four-year scholarship valued at $98,000 in-state and $166,000 out-of-state, including tuition and fees, room and board, books and supplies, travel, and personal expenses
- Grants to fund professional and personal enrichment experiences, such as research projects, service activities, and conferences in the United States and abroad.
- Guaranteed invitation to join the University

Scholars Program, personal and professional development in scholarship, leadership, and service

- Park Faculty Mentors work individually with Park Scholars on preparation for undergraduate research, internships, graduate/professional schools, and national scholarships.
- Weekly seminar during the first year featuring guests, including former North Carolina Gov. James Hunt and NC State faculty.
- Leadership retreats at sites such as Grand Canyon and Rocky Mountain National Parks.
- Experiential learning opportunities to study leadership in the context of state and national issues.
- A half-day institute featuring speakers and activities to enhance leadership abilities, self-awareness, and character.
- Projects with community agencies to develop strategies and implement solutions for issues such as homelessness and domestic violence.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans assist North Davie students with budgeting as they learn what it's like to be an adult paying their own way.

Many volunteers, including Angelique Chamberlain and Kelly Hines, aka Myrtle and Ethel, look forward to this event and come dressed for the part.

That Costs How Much?

North Davie 7th Graders Get A Dose Of Financial Reality

North Davie Middle School held the third annual Members Credit Union Financial Reality Fair in early May.

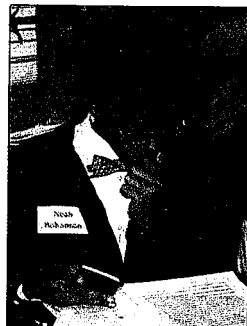

Approximately 175 seventh graders attended and experienced what is like to be an adult.

A financial reality fair is when the students are assigned a job, monthly salary, a spouse, children, student loan debt, credit card debt, and medical insurance payments. With this activity they have to visit merchants to purchase housing, transportation, food, home needs, clothing, day care, entertainment, and other needs.

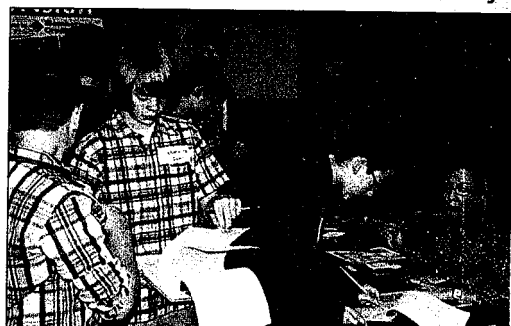

As they visit each merchant, students have to keep up with receipts, record transactions on a debit card register, and create a budget. Seventh grader Andrew Durham said: "The reality fair opened my eyes. I used to think life was just going to be a walk in the park. Little did I know, it is extremely difficult. It's more like a walk in the dark."

Matt McPherson, a seventh grade teacher at North Davie, stated: "The program helps the students have a new appreciation for what their parents go through."

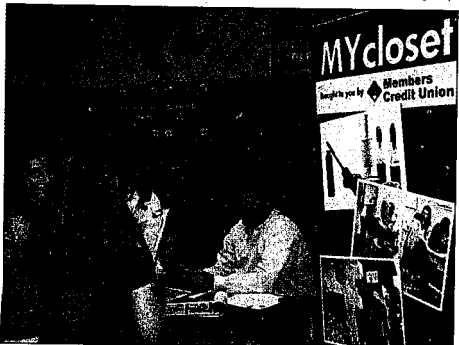

One of the seventh grade parents said her daughter came home and apologized for some of the things her parents have to pay for. The student stated she was going to live at home forever.

Students purchase their wardrobe with help from Mr. Copeland.

School Board Races To Become Partisan Davie Added At Last-Minute To State Three-County Bill

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

After more than four decades of school board elections being non-partisan, House Bill 110, approved by Davie's two Republican representatives and ratified into law late last month, means starting in 2016, elections will be partisan.

Those running for board seats will be required to either be affiliated with a party or undergo a process to declare they are unaffiliated.

Most school board members were shocked to learn the news.

The bill began as three local bills for Cherokee, Stanley and Rockingham counties, but then became a statewide bill. When the statewide proposal failed to make the crossover deadline when bills move from one legislative body to the other, Chad Fuller, board chair, assumed the bill was dead. Board members did not find out until just before the bill was ratified that Davie (and Statesville-Iredell) had been included in the original three-county bill.

At their meeting June 2, Barbara Owens, Chad Fuller,

Clint Junker, Carol Livengood, and Wendy Horne all expressed their shock and disappointment at learning Sen. Andrew Brock had included Davie in the bill, that Rep. Julia Howard voted in favor of it, and that it passed.

Neither Steve Ridenhour nor Paul Drechsler shared those sentiments.

Ridenhour is the chair of the local Republican Party and told the board a resolution to have partisan school board elections passed "80-something to zero" at their publicly-advertised convention in March. Drechsler attended the meeting.

Horne asked Ridenhour what the reasoning was behind the resolution, and Ridenhour answered, "They brought up a resolution requesting it..."

Budget Hearing Monday

A public hearing on the proposed $56.1 million county budget will be held at 6 p.m. Monday in the commission meeting room, second floor, County Administration Building, Downtown Mocksville.

The budget includes a 10.8 cents (17.4%) increase in the property tax rate, as well as increases in water and sewer rates.

Mopeds Must Have DMV Registrations Effective July 1

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

Effective July 1, a new law will require Moped drivers to register vehicles with the Division of Motor Vehicles and get a license plate.

Captain Nelson Turrentine with the Mocksville Police Department said drivers will have to get their mopeds inspected before they can register and get a tag for them, the same requirement as for a motorcycle.

In order to receive a registration card, the driver will need to pay a fee, submit a manufacturer's certificate of origin and proof of inspection at a license plate agency. The Moped should be designed and manufactured for use on a highway or public vehicular area.

The maximum speed allowed for a Moped is 30 mph and the motor can be no larger than 50 cc.

Turrentine said Mopeds will have the same rights as a motorcycle and can travel within the lane, but most drivers move to the right side if they are impeding traffic.

Moped drivers must be at least 16 years old (no driver's license is required), must wear a helmet and use the headlight.

Each case will be handled differently, Turrentine said, and it will be up to the officer whether to issue a warning or a citation for not having a license plate. Obviously, he said, if a person has already received one warning, it is unlikely they will get a second one.

He said he is happy about the new law.

"We here at the police department believe this will help with the safety of the motoring public to get these registered," he said.

Questions may be directed to any law enforcement agency or the license plate agency.

5 Arrested In Runaway Juvenile Investigation

By Mike Barnhardt
Enterprise Record

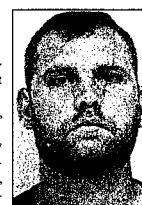

A report of a runaway juvenile led to the arrest of at least five people last week.

And that was before the girl, 14, was located.

Davie Sheriff's Deputy Chad Trivette started the investigation about 5 p.m. Monday, when the girl's family reported she never came home from school.

He quickly learned that the girl had some type of relationship with a Gregory Crateau, 26, of Angell Road, Mocksville.

on NC 801 North in the Pino community.

Stinky Bridge, Young Lincoln Shape Decatur

DECATUR, Ill. — No tour of this city is complete without a visit to the Stinky Bridge.

Some call it the smell of money. For me, it was a whole new level of stink.

Stinks can't match it. The sharp ammonia-faced odor of manure emitted from dairy barns during spring-cleaning doesn't compare.

During our recent foray to Illinois, three little grandsons wanted to see how old Papa would react to the Stinky Bridge — a span that passes over a massive Tate & Lyle corn ethanol production facility.

The smell seemed tame at first ... until I dared to lower the car window. The stink swept over me like a choking blanket.

Ethanol can propel cars or liquor. Either way, it has an unforgettable smell at this level of production.

There are two things to know about this city of 75,000: Corn and Abraham Lincoln. Corn provides the livelihood. Honest Abe provides the character.

The 16th President's presence is still felt here. Remarkable statues — all of a young Lincoln — dot the landscape. Lincoln moved here when he was 21 and earned his reputation as a "Log Splitter" the hard way.

Outside a drink house here, a political speech had been delivered in 1830. A tall, lanky fellow stepped onto a stump and delivered a stirring rebuttal, Young Lincoln. He was barefoot — just out of the field from plowing. His reputation as an orator soon spread. We saw the barefoot Lincoln statue marking the event. We saw the young lawyer Lincoln statue outside the Macon County courthouse. We saw the Lincoln with an ax statue at Milliken University.

There's a Lincoln Square, Lincoln Theatre, Lincoln Trail. There are smaller markers recalling Lincoln's nomination as the Republican Party's presidential candidate and other historical events. He's buried in nearby Springfield. Decatur is plenty proud of Lincoln.

We followed the footsteps of Lincoln during our visit with little boys. Their closest association with the Civil War president had been with their pennies.

My favorite statue in town was Decatur's impressive Civil War memorial. Being a Southern boy, I had never thought much about the Yankee soldiers killed in the war. There was no Yankee version of "Gone With The Wind." But the Northern war memorials we saw were grand. A massive war memorial in Crawfordsville, Ind., chronicled all the local sons killed in war, including more than 125 in World War II.

What did not impress me was Decatur barbecue. The proprietor of the joint I tried, learning I was from North Carolina, declared he was the "Michael Jordan of Barbecue." Illinois barbecue is drowned in a sweet sauce. I didn't like it.

The Stinky Bridge, however, took my breath away.

Politizing Education

Millard Fillmore in 1850 was the last President of the United States to be neither Democrat nor Republican. He wasn't elected. He became President on the death of Zachary Taylor. For members of the Davie County Board of Education to remain unaffiliated so long is nothing short of a miracle considering the political landscape. The N.C. General Assembly, in its collective wisdom, may yet decide God's heaven into political camps.

Truthfully, the change sponsored by Sen. Andrew Brock to force the school board candidates to declare their party affiliations will matter little. Courtesy, however, suggests that Brock should have consulted with the school board before submitting the bill. Are the days gone when we cast our votes for someone based on their character, wisdom and ability before we consider what political tag they wear?

In fairness, Millard Fillmore is ranked as one of the worst presidents in history.

In The Mail ... And The Blame Goes To ...

To the editor:

And the blame goes to ... the entire Davie County School Board excluding Barbara Owens and Wendy Home, and mainly NC State Sen. Andrew Brock and NC Rep. Julia Howard, who are all to blame for enacting the ridiculous new legislation making school board elections in Davie County partisan ... or really, they should be called political. To compound it they didn't bother to tell anyone they worked with what they were doing to do.

Brock said he was acting on the wishes of the Davie County Republican Party. I assume that also means he and Julia Howard don't care what the other 13,000 voters in Davie County want.

Really, it is a travesty that school board members (Steve) Ridenhour and (Paul) Drechsler are strong members of the Davie County Republican Party, and they do share a large part of the blame. Mr. Drechsler on one hand voted in favor of the resolution and then had the stupidity to hypocritically state he does not feel strongly either way. Then why did he vote that way?

An Endorsement For Hillary Clinton

To the editor:

I've been saying that it's time for Americans to have a national conversation about the issues that will be taking precedence in the next presidential election and the importance of sending an advocate to the White House. As I look at the men and women who are seeking the presidency, I continue to be amazed by the dedication of one public servant.

This individual has been an advocate for children, working families, women, and social equality throughout her career. She has been the First Lady of the state of Arkansas and of the United States of America. She served two terms in the U.S. Senate representing New York before becoming a leading candidate in the Democratic primary of 2008. After bowing out to Barack Obama, she served one term as Secretary of State. Her name is Hillary Rodham Clinton and she is running for president in 2016. I believe strongly in her vision and wholeheartedly support her campaign.

Hillary is arguably the most significant figure in recent political history. The mention of her name draws out emotions ranging from hate and disgust to admiration and respect. She has been at the center of national politics since the presidency of her husband when she transformed the position of First Lady from one of passive support to one of advocacy and bold service. The political ideologies that have come to define her did not develop during her rise to national prominence, but can be traced back through her early career and are rooted in the values exposed to her as a child. It was her father's insistence of self-reliance and personal responsibility coupled with her mother's concern for matters of social justice that would help to develop her own ethics and social interest. These values were reinforced and strengthened by her faith community, which was at the core of her upbringing.

Hillary is the embodiment of post World War II America; she is as much a product of her generation as she is the person who would define what her generation would represent. Hillary attended Wellesley College, where she received far more than a formal education. There, she was exposed to the many ethical and social questions facing her generation. This eventually led Hillary to experience a profound political evolution as her conscience became increasingly uncomfortable with the political conventions of her youth; the conflict of the 20th century sent her into a period of discernment and soul-searching.

As a registered unaffiliated, I vote for the best person for the job, and I think there are many more who feel the same way. I have never voted straight party, but the current Republican Party in Davie County marches only to one beat - ignoring the needs of our children. All they are concerned about is they are voting for whatever their party says to do - good or bad.

Thank goodness for people such as Barbara and Wendy who really understand that politics and education don't mix well.

In closing, thanks to Sen. Brock and Rep. Howard for taking valuable time last week doing the job of the state and voting on what to do with the "Possum Drop" at New Years. Nice to really know what our money is really being spent for. The 2016 elections are not far away and four Republican members of the school board will be up for reelection.

Let the fun begin.

Don Witte
Advance

After realizing that her political ideology no longer matched that of the Republican Party, Hillary stepped down as president of the Young Republicans, an organization to which she had dedicated many hours of her time throughout her youth. She became active in the Democratic Party and dedicated her life to working for the common good and creating order and justice in society. She would spend the next several years focusing on her evolving career and her eventual marriage to rising star, William Jefferson Clinton — with whom she would change the course of American politics. Throughout the 1970s and '80s, she reshaped the way that progressive Americans view public policy through her advocacy work on behalf of American families facing socioeconomic hardships.

It's easy to claim that You have convictions. It's more difficult to live them out, especially when you face ridicule and opposition. I want a leader who is willing to go against the grain of society in order to reverse harmful patterns and expand opportunity. Furthering the American Dream comes when leaders place principle before politics, when they reach across historic divides in order to work towards the greater good for all Americans. We must be sure that the next person to sit in our Oval Office has a record of placing people over party allegiance.

Has Hillary Clinton developed a record worthy of our support? The answer is unequivocally yes.

Grady Tutterow Remembered As A 'Man's Man'

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

Grady Tutterow was the kind of man some people would call a "man's man."

He liked the outdoors, shooting the breeze with the guys, and going to Bowman Gray to watch racing.

He was a big-boned, tall, physically strong and fit man, who, even in his mid-60s, still worked every day in his surveying business. Donnie "Wormie" Chaffin, who worked with Tutterow for about 33 years, said Tutterow never shied away from hard work. He'd jump in and do anything, often telling his workers to just stand back and let him do it.

The April diagnosis of a "woman's disease" was something he never saw coming.

Tutterow had chicken pox as a youngster, and when he started experiencing pain at the end of winter, he assumed he had shingles again. He'd experienced that before and was pretty sure that was the culprit behind the stabbing pain in his chest.

His sister, Annette, said the pain started on one side but moved to the other, and at times was so great, he doubled over. He also could not lie flat on his back for more than 10 minutes at a time.

He was first told by the doctor he did have shingles, the kind that is inside the body, which sounded right to Tutterow. After all, he had no external symptoms. But then a doctor recommended a mammogram.

Annette said it was extremely awkward, as the machines are set up for a woman's anatomy. Finally, the day, by having her brother stand on a stool and lean down, they were able to get enough tissue to examine.

A mass was found, deep in the chest wall, and later scans confirmed the diagnosis: breast cancer.

It was late April, and Tutterow could not keep food down. He'd lost about 50 pounds over eight weeks. Doctors made a decision to try chemotherapy to see if the mass would shrink enough to operate.

The first round of chemo helped a bit with the pain, Annette said.

A second round of chemotherapy left Tutterow so weak and sick he was hospitalized, but Memorial Day weekend was coming up, and Tutterow was initially told he would be able to go home that Saturday.

Annette, who lives in South Carolina, called him Friday.

"He didn't sound right. He was muttering," she said. She called a cousin who is a nurse to go check on him at Novant Health Forsyth Medical Center.

"She called me and told me he was bad, and she said, 'I think it's time.' I said I time for what? I couldn't believe what was happening, that he had gone down that much," she said.

She went to be with her brother, who was kept in the hospital because it was determined he was too weak and shaky to be able to deal with his IV on his own. Sunday there was a car race on television he wanted to watch, Annette said. Even though he was weak, he watched the whole race, and they went to sleep. Around 5:30 Monday morning, Memorial Day, she heard him take his last breath.

He was 67. The larger-than-life man who had joked during his first chemo session that maybe it would be a good place to pick up women had died from a disease that has only a one percent chance of occurrence in men.

Jim Sancerant, a radiologist with Triad Radiology, lives in Davie County and said breast cancer in men is "exceptionally rare. There are 1.3 new cases per 100,000 men," Sancerant said, "but about a quarter of men diagnosed with breast cancer die. Conversely, in women, there are about 124 new cases per 100,000 women, but the mortality rate is only about one-sixth."

Sancerant said in his practice, he sees only about one male breast cancer diagnosis per year. The main reason the mortality rate is higher for men than women are because men are more likely to not go to the doctor until the cancer is advanced, and there are no screenings for male breast cancer like there are for women.

In Tutterow's case, Annette said the symptoms may have started around Christmas, when he complained of his arm and chest being sore, but it wasn't until February when the pain was so bad that he sought medical attention. By then, she said, the pain was aching and stabbing, and his chest felt tight. There were no lumps to feel, nothing on the outside that would indicate possible cancer.

Sancerant said most times, when men present with a palpable lump or thickening, it is a benign condition called gynecomastia, which is the presence of more breast tissue due to a greater production of female hormones.

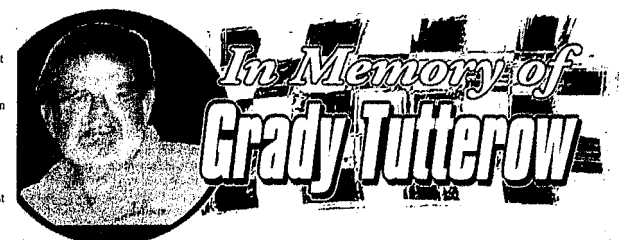

Sometimes, Sancerant said, there can be some skin dimpling, puckering, itches or scaliness of the nipple or an inverted nipple. Pain is generally not associated with breast cancer, but Sancerant said any time a male notices a painful area, it needs to be checked.

Risk factors are about the same as in women and include family history, obesity, and age. Annette said their mother had breast cancer and their father had kidney cancer. Doctors told her that her brother's cancer was not hereditary, however, and said he'd probably had it since birth.

Sancerant said breast cancer in a woman is usually caught at stage zero or one, but isn't generally found in a man until a much more advanced stage. An ultrasound-guided biopsy is the usual recommendation, and if cancer is found, the standard treatment is a modified radical mastectomy, chemotherapy and radiation.

In Tutterow's case, doctors initially told him chemo and surgery, he could live another 10 to 15 years. His death came one month after his diagnosis. Annette hopes by telling the story of her brother's death, a life might be saved.

"I have no doubt that if he'd gone to the doctor sooner, it might not have ended up this way," she said.

Instead, she has just gone through one of the most devastating times in her life, harder even, she said, than losing their parents.

"I still don't believe it. He was totally healthy, working, strong. I just feel like it's not real. You expect to lose your parents when they are older, but not your brother."

She said she was surprised at the amount of people at his memorial service, and surprised further to learn how active he had been in Relay for Life, which took place here just four days after his death.

In addition to Annette, Tutterow left behind a nephew and his beloved Maltese, Oscar, who has gone to live with Annette now.

He also left behind a group of folks who are devastated at the loss of their "boss-man."

Chaffin said Tutterow was like a father to him. "I had a boss-man, plus I had a friend. He was committed to you if you were committed to him. He would cut up and pick and do anything in the world for you. My kids even called him boss-man," Chaffin said.

A boss-man to the end, Chaffin said Annette told him some of her brother's last words were a reminder about not work for the upcoming holiday: "Be sure and tell the boys not to come in."

Raleigh Report

Intention Of New Law Is Not 'Anti-Whistleblower' Legislation

By Julia C. Howard
NC House of Representatives

The House and Senate considered overriding Gov. McCrory's vetoes of the marriage recusal bill (discussed in last week's newsletter) and the Property Protection Act (below). We also voted to agree with the changes the Senate's made to the pro-life legislation passed in April. The Senate substitute only made the bill a stronger protection for women and children by including several anti-domestic violence provisions and enhancing protections against convicted sex offenders.

The Senate's budget proposal should be released this week. With that, we will begin the conference process after which we will adjourn our 2015 session. If negotiations go well (and they rarely go as expected) we could finish by the end of this month. Regardless, know that I am in Raleigh working hard to pass a fiscally conservative, pro-job budget.

Likely, you've heard of this bill. Over the past few months, certain media groups and many interest groups have been circulating a significant amount of information and online petitions related to this bill. Unfortunately, that circulation of materials has included a great deal of misinformation.

Despite what you may have heard, this bill is relatively simple. It protects property owners by strengthening NC trespassing laws, specifically by providing that a property owner may pursue and recover damages resulting from the access to, damage of, and theft of private property. The bill states that any individual who enters non-public areas of an owner's property, without the permission of the owner, may be held liable for damages resulting from that unauthorized access or damage to the owner's property. It's common sense legislation, and its intent is even simpler.

For industries to remain competitive and profitable, they must innovate. Unfortunately, unscrupulous businesses often attempt to steal the trade secrets and profitable business methods of their successful competitors. This bill allows honest business owners to pursue a greater degree of damages against those unscrupulous ones for the theft of their business secrets and personal property. This legislation strengthens the free market system.

Certain media organizations and special interest groups have wrongfully claimed that this is anti-whistleblower legislation. The bill explicitly exempts and protects lawful whistleblowers and investigations carried out by law enforcement. Legislative intent is a binding legal force in the courtroom and the writers of this legislation have repeatedly stated that the intent of this legislation is to protect property owners, not to discourage whistleblowers.

It is clear that our governor believes the misrepresentation of this legislation. It was unfortunate that the House and Senate had to resort to a veto override in order to protect the property of private business owners. However, I was proud to vote for the veto override of this important pro-business legislation.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

You Never Know What You'll Find At ReStore!!!

Bedroom Suite, Bathroom, Kitchen, Living Room, Dining Room, Entertainment Centers, etc.

Visit Davie's Habitat ReStore

Davie County's Habitat ReStore is located at 124 Wilkesboro Street in Mocksville. The store has a homey feel and an inviting atmosphere. The store is open Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and contains construction items as well as clothing, knick-knacks, bedding, furniture, books and more.

Open to the Public

Tiffany Rycroft, store manager, says the move to Wilkesboro Street a few months ago has been a very positive one and she is excited about the increased traffic at the new location. "A lot of people don't realize that we are open to the public," she says. "They think we only have construction items for contractors, but actually we carry just about any item you can think of and everyone is welcome to shop here." One of the best parts about shopping at Habitat ReStore, in her opinion, is that the money raised helps to build a house for a local family in need. The family is able to receive affordable payments and purchase the home. 10% interest thanks to the efforts of Habitat for Humanity. Habitat seeks to put God's love into action by bringing people together to build homes, communities and hope.

Accepting Donations

Drop-offs can be made anytime during store hours and all items are inspected for holes, stains, smells, and rips. For large items, pick up may be arranged. There is a delivery charge of $35 unless you donate a suitable item at the time of delivery, and then delivery is free. Come shop or donate at Habitat ReStore and give back to the community at the same time, you'll be glad you did.

Home asked again, "But there weren't any specific reasons given?" Ridenhour answered, "They was some folks that expressed some reasons. I mean, I supported it and there's reasons I support it but that's just my opinion."

When asked later what his reasons were, Ridenhour answered, "Social issues."

He declined to say what social issues were at the root of his decision, saying he didn't want to "get attacked or called a bigot. I get attacked enough. I have Christian values, and I know what the Bible says and teaches about certain issues. My social views are very conservative. My goal would be to make sure people get elected who have the same views I do. It concerns me that a person can stand behind an unaffiliated label."

Ridenhour went on to say it also concerns him that "kids go to college and get brainwashed."

He said he and fellow board members are almost always in agreement, and he has confidence in their desire to do what's right, but wants to make sure that is the way the board will be in the future.

Ridenhour said nothing about the March meeting was private, and he and Drechsler, as well as two county commissioners were there. He looks at this, he said, as a "people's issue, not an education issue."

A legislative issue was sent to all school board members, he said, on April 17 that included information about the statewide bill for partisan elections.

"It is disingenuous for the members of the school board to claim this was done in some back-door process," he said.

Horne knew about the bill dealing with the three counties and the proposed statewide one that did not advance, but had no idea until the last minute Dave was included, she said, nor did anyone else on the board. She said if nothing else, good manners would dictate the information Ridenhour and Drechsler knew be shared with their fellow board members.

Horne said this is reminiscent of when Brock at a Senate bill that would have allowed county commissioners to take control of school properties.

"The difference was this time, Dave was hitched to the bill in the final reading and was pretty much a done deal before the community could voice their disappro-al, as they did with SB 236. It really makes you wonder if this is going to become protocol for Senator Brock, that when he wants something done, he hitches us to legislation without considering the perspectives of his constituents."

Brock's main reason for tacking Dave on to the third reading of the bill is because it "will allow more people to vote, because there will be a general election in November. More people vote then. More people get involved. The more elections you have and the more frequent they are, the better it is for everyone," he said from his office last week.

He was going on the resolution from his party when he added Dave to the bill, and he said he told Howard that Dave requested it. As for the timing, Brock said, "things move at lightning speed here."

School board lobbyists should have let local boards know what was going on, he said.

Brock added this is not a slam-dunk for Republicans, and doesn't necessarily mean the make-up of the board will be Republican.

"If it's a Democratic year, it may help Democrats," he said.

According to Tabatha Parrish, director of the Davie Board of Elections, there are 14,605 registered Republicans, 5,796 Democrats, 82 Libertarians, and 7,583 Unaffiliated voters.

On the school board, there are five Republicans, Drechsler, Ridenhour, Horne, Junker and Livengood, and Fuller and Owens are Unaffiliated.

The terms for Horne, Drechsler, Ridenhour, and Livengood are up in 2016. Starting that year and every four years after that, four members of the board will be elected to four-year terms. In 2018 and every four years after, three members of the board will be elected to four-year terms. Board members will take office in December instead of July, which means the board members scheduled to go out next July will remain seated until December.

Another change of the bill deals with potential board vacancies. Until 2016, any vacancy on the board is filled by a vote of the board members, but after 2016, a vacancy will be filled by a party recommendation, and the board would be required to accept that recommendation, said Jill Wilson, school board attorney.

During the public comments portion of the meeting, Erica Bost, who just completed a long-term substitute teaching position, told the board the bill shows the expectation of Brock and the Davie Republican party to "blindly vote on a candidate based on his or her political party rather than what they represent. Aren't we smarter than that? Once again Mr. Brock thinks he has gotten us with his lying and back-door politics, but I know we can turn this wrong into a right."

"As long as I live and teach in this community, I will inform and encourage those around me to look at individuals and what he or she represents, rather than be so narrow-minded as to vote for a person or issue based on the party that claims it."

Davie Extension

Having been in this area only two years, I do not know if the weather extremes we have had the past two years are normal for Davie County.

The spring growing season has been a challenge. We have had late cold snaps followed by 80-degree days snapped by a five-week drought followed by heavy rains, strong winds, and dime-sized hail.

Weather is not the only challenge that gardeners have faced.

Groundhogs, anyone?

Deer grazing in your greens?

Diseases resulting from early cold, wet weather on cabbage, broccoli, and other cool season crops?

What's a gardener to do? Obviously we can't control the weather but there are steps we can take to mitigate the most serious effects. First, plant only the healthiest transplants. Whether you purchase them or grow them yourself be certain that transplants are disease and insect free.

Once you have beautiful plants, do not over or under water or fertilize. For specific plant nutrient requirements, hopefully you took a soil test before you planted. If not, any balanced fertilizer is a safe bet. Generally, five pounds of fertilizer per 1,000 square feet is recommended.

Before the next planting however, do a soil test so that you are applying the correct amount for optimum growth. This will also save you money more than likely and is a more environmentally sound practice.

Fertilizer runoff is responsible for more water pollution than pesticides by far. Now that summer is almost here, we are more concerned with water needs in the garden as well as disease and insect pressure. A plant's best defense is to be as healthy as possible. Gardens need a minimum of one inch of water per week, more when flowering and producing those succulent veggies, which are mostly made up of water.

Good methods of moisture conservation include the following tips:

Much rows; this also helps hold down weeds. Use soaker hoses or a simple drip irrigation system beneath the mulch. Put the water where you need it without wetting the plant leaves. Wet leaves host diseases and insect infestations. If you must water overhead, do it early in the morning so that leaves dry thoroughly and quickly.

Some common issues

seen with uneven watering include blossom end rot of tomatoes, bitter taste in leafy vegetables, cracking in tomatoes, uneven pollination if plants don't receive enough water when flowering, and vegetables that are shriveled on not filled out properly.

Scout your garden daily for signs of disease and insects. Remember that insects live beneath the leaves so it is important to check there, too. An easy way to do that without all the bending is to make your own tool. Take a dowel rod or broom handle cut long enough to allow you to walk upright but still see the undersides of leaves. To see, attach a 4-5-inch mirror to the end of the rod or handle so that it is parallel to the ground. This device will allow you to detect insects and diseases early so that immediate treatment can be applied. Early detection reduces damage to plants and vegetables. It also reduces the amount of treatment needed whether you use organic or conventional methods.

As for wildlife, control of groundhogs and deer has been spotty this year. There are some furry critters in Davie County that have been eating much fresher, tastier vegetables than some of us have been able to get. For specific control suggestions, email me at pam_jones@ncsu.edu with your problem and I will outline some methods to help. Please include what you have already tried. You may also call me at 753-6100 but be warned. This is my busiest season so I am in a lot of the office a lot. Please be patient.

Also remember our local farmers markets. You have three locations and three days from which to choose here in Davie.

The Town of Mocksville Farmers Market is every Wednesday from 3-6 p.m. on Clement Street across from Junker's Mill.

The Peachtree Farmers Market is every Friday from 3:30-7 p.m. at the new Davie Medical Center on NC 801 in Bermuda Run. Then Saturday mornings from 8-noon, check out the Farmington Farmers Market at Farmington Community Center, 1723 Farmington Road.

Buying local foods supports our farmers, allows you to have the freshest food possible and to ask the farmer exactly how it was grown. In the words of the NC Office of Environmental Education "Is your produce more well-traveled than you are? (The average meal in the U.S. travels more than 1500 miles before reaching your plate.)"

Now that's food for thought.

Follow The Leader Smith A Major Star At Guilford

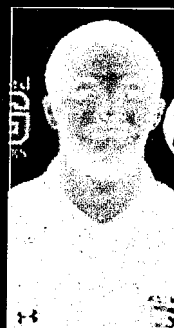

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

When Adam Smith was in third grade, he would go to bed and dream about playing college football. The real thing has been even better.

Smith, a rising senior at Guilford College, has been a major star for the Division III Quakers since early in his freshman season.

As a Davie junior in 2010, Smith was the War Eagles' backup quarterback and a starter at cornerback. He helped the War Eagles reach uncharted waters on the way to 4A runner-up. He took over at quarterback in 2011 and put together one of the top offensive seasons in Davie history. He went 109 for 202 for 1,917 passing yards, throwing 18 touchdowns against three interceptions. His favorite target was Nate Jones (40 catches for 714 yards and seven TDs). As if that wasn't enough, Smith rushed for 771 yards, averaging 6.5 per carry, and scored a team-high 11 TDs as Davie went 8-4, 4-1 and tied Mt. Tabor for first place in the Central Piedmont Conference.

Adam Smith

Guilford in 2012, he began preseason workouts at quarterback, along with several other hopefuls.

"We brought in four freshman quarterbacks and we went into camp with basically seven quarterbacks," said Guilford coach Chris Rusiewicz, who is heading into his fifth year at the helm. "Adam was

No. 3 or 4 coming into camp. Every school that was recruiting Adam was recruiting him as a receiver or defensive back. After 10 days of camp, he ended up finishing No. 3 on our depth chart. We said: 'Look, you can be the No. 3 quarterback all year, but if you want to play, you know the offense and let's put you at receiver.' He realized Matt (Pawlowski) was our future and our starter that year. Adam had the chance. He got a fair shot at it."

Smith happily moved to receiver. The transition wasn't as easy as it looked. It couldn't be as easy as it looked. But this is how easy he made it look: In his second college game on Sept. 8 of 2012, Smith made 13 catches for 134 yards. Three seasons later, Smith has produced one virtuoso game after another.

In the single-season record book, Smith ranks sixth in receiving yards (1,072 in 2014), 13th in receiving yards (874 in 2012), 13th in catches (65 in 2012), third in receiving TDs (15 in 2014), fifth in games with 100-plus receiving yards (five in 2014) and fifth in points (90 in 2014).

Juniors Match Best Start

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

While the Mocksville senior legion baseball team has had plenty of things to be bummed out about, the junior legion has had plenty to smile about.

At 9-1, coach Tim McKnight's squad matched the best 10-game start in the program's 13-year history. The other time it was 9-1 was the first year in 2003, when it was coached by Charles Kurfess and Andrew Jones.

In a non-league game on June 5, Mocksville never trailed in a 6-2 victory at Winston-Salem. It was Mocksville's first game in five days.

Pitcher Matthew McKnight was strong in a complete game, allowing five hits and one earned run and improving his record to 2-0.

"He doesn't throw very hard, but he was spotting good," his father/coach said. "His changeup was working and he had them out on their front foot the whole game."

After taking a 2-0 lead in the top of the first, Winston rallied for a 2-2 tie in the bottom of the second. Mocksville regained a 4-2 lead in the third. It pushed the margin to 6-2 in the sixth, beating Winston for the second time this season.

Jesse Draughn pitches for the junior legion.

The top three batters in the order - Jake Barneycastle, Jesse Draughn and Ben Summers - combined for seven hits in 12 at-bats. Barneycastle went 3 for 4, while the other two went 2 for 4. Mocksville tallied 12 hits in all.

"Barneycastle (catcher) and Draughn (center fielder) both had good all-around games," McKnight said.

In the first inning, Draughn came charging in and made a catch "coming off his feet," McKnight said.

Next, Draughn showed off his arm. Winston got a hit in the third, but Draughn kept Mocksville's advantage at 4-2 by throwing out a runner at the plate.

"Jesse threw a strike to the plate and it was one of those bang-bang plays," McKnight said. "Barneycastle got ran over but he held on."

He's Back Barber Recovers From Injury, Infection

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Back to full strength, back on the football field and looking to be one of the anchors of West Virginia's defense as a middle linebacker. Football is fun again for Jared Barber.

But before he began walking on sunshine in preparation for his senior year, man, did he go mildly. He was told the infection could potentially cause him to lose his leg if it was not treated.

"For two and a half months I fought it and nothing could get rid of it," Barber, a 6-0, 232-pounder from Mocksville, told West Virginia reporters. "Finally they ran an IV through me and it finally got rid of it. (The doctors) said if that didn't work they didn't know what they were going to do."

The ordeal was downright depressing. During this time, playing one last year of college football was the furthest thing from Barber's mind.

"There was definitely a concern of was football even an option anymore?" Barber said. "That was scary. At that time I was really focused on life and just being able to walk around. Football wasn't even talked about - it was just getting through this."

Barber overcame the infection and was able to get back to rehabbing the knee.

"The whole thing with MRSA is it'sillin resistant, so all of the drugs you would normally use to treat that infection are ineffective," WVU athletic trainer Dave Kerns told West Virginia reporters. "MRSA is a little bit difficult to diagnose without doing a study of what it is. When you look at it, you are not 100 percent what it is."

Barber was worried (to put it mildly). He was told the infection could potentially cause him to lose his leg if it was not treated.

Mocksville Legion Bashed By Rowan

Mocksville's senior legion baseball team was beat to a pulp for the second time in three days, losing 12-2 to visiting Rowan County on June 3.

Fortunately it was a non-league game for Mocksville, which has dropped three straight for an overall record of 2-8. Rowan (2-3) was off to a slow start before limiting Mocksville to five hits and knocking around two pitchers for 15 hits.

"We got the heck beat out of us," beleaguered coach Charles Kurfess said. "We couldn't catch it."

Mocksville was horrible in the field, committing 11 errors. One outfielder had two Es. One infielder had four. Another infielder had three. Another infielder had two.

"And there was a ball over our head in the outfield that we should have caught," Kurfess said. "There was another fly ball that should have been caught. And we had a bonked mistake (in the infield)."

Mocksville trailed 11-0 before ending the shutout in the sixth. Barrett Hennings and Nick Wilson laced doubles in the two-run frame. The game was stopped after seven via the mercy rule.

Hennings has sparkling numbers for what has been an otherwise anemic attack. While the team is hitting .254, Hennings has hit safely in 10 of 10 games. He leads the club in average (.463), at-bats (41),

"Once the medication did grab hold, it did what it was supposed to do, but that slowed down the rehab process from a normal or typical ACL reconstruction process," Kems said. "After a month or two he regained where he was, and by nine to 10 months he was on track."

Barber missed the 2014 season. As the Mountaineers began preparation for the Liberty Bowl, Barber was cleared to begin practicing again. Fast forward to spring practice and West Virginia coaches got to see the Barber they were hoping to see. He's in the mix at middle linebacker.

"He looks like he's a little bit bigger muscle-wise, but he's basically had a year and a half to lift weights, rehab and do all of that," defensive coordinator Tony Gibson said. "He looks really good right now. He's got a lot of good qualities, but the one thing that makes him so special is his leadership qualities. That's where he really excels, and I love the way he leads this team and this defense. The guys listen to him."

While Barber was sidelined, he became known as "Coach Barber."

"He knows the defense as well as any of our defensive coaches do just because he's been here so long," head coach Dana Holgorsen said. "We call him 'Coach Barber' for a reason."

Barber is thrilled to be back on the field.

"It's awesome," he said. "Being able to get back and actually feel apart of the team and playing with the guys, it's just awesome. I missed it so much. It was a tough 16 months, but I got through it and it's paid off."

What makes his return all the more gratifying is West Virginia's defense has brought back the 3-3 Stack, a scheme that Barber played at Davie under Devore Holman. When Gibson took over the defense in 2014, he brought the stack.

"I played this all through high school and even some during middle school," Barber said. "Coming back to this is just like coming home again. And I'm back in the middle, too. I'm not the fastest, most athletic linebacker out there, but you put me in the middle and what I am is really good at studying film, working hard and I try to have good vision from tackle to tackle."

Barber declined a pre-tive knee brace this spring. He said he's at 100 percent, and he's eager to lead a seasoned defense come August.

"I don't come on the field and think: 'I've got to be careful.' I don't even think about it at all. It's like it's never even happened."

The 2014 defense improved markedly over the 2013 unit. Now Barber wants his defense to become one of the best in the nation.

"We want to be a top-10 defense in the country this year, and I really think we can reach that goal," he said.

Jared Barber is healthy after missing '14 season.

In career records, Smith ranks fourth in receiving yards with 2,726. The record is 3,089, so he's only 363 away. He ranks eighth in receptions with 158. The record is 266. He ranks fourth in receiving TDs with 28. The record is 33. He ranks second with 13 games with 100-plus receiving yards. The record is 15. He ranks seventh with 170 points. The record is 238. He ranks sixth with 28 TDs. The record is 38.

"Obviously, he's had an exceptional career, and it's only going to get better," Rusiewicz said. "He's been spectacular. He would probably tell you he's having more fun now than he's ever had."

"Since I've been in third grade, it's always been my dream to play football for the rest of my life and one day play professionally at any type of level," Smith said. "Not just the NFL, but the Arena League, Canadian League, indoor, whatever that may be. Everything that's happened the past three years is making that a possibility. I want to try to play in Canada. I think it would be a ton of fun. It would just be a huge blessing."

As a freshman in 2012, the 5-11, 165-pounder from Mocksville led the team in catches (65), receiving yards (874) and TD catches (five). He had four 100-yard games, including a 10-catch, 190-yard effort in a 38-35 win at Randolph-Macon. He made Second Team All-Old Dominion Athletic Conference, the lone freshman to make first or second team, and he was a shoe-in for Guilford's rookie-of-the-year award.

"You've got to give credit to our coaching staff for getting him prepared, but he knew the offense and he knew how to run routes and get separation," Rusiewicz said. "Being a quarterback (in high school), he wasn't used to all the contact, he wasn't used to having to block and getting off of press coverage. It's something he had to work on. But ultimately what I think it came down to is he's just a gifted athlete."

"Being a freshman and being listed as a quarterback, the first few games a lot of people underestimated him. He's not the biggest. He's not the greatest looking in terms of his build. I think people looked at him and thought: 'What's he going to do? Then again, you think they would have figured that out by his junior year and he's still running by people.'"

As a 2013 sophomore, Smith was second for Guilford in catches (41), first in receiving yards (780) and first in TD catches (eight). He had 10 receptions in a 41-34 loss at Methodist. In a 28-21 win over Randolph-Macon, he had seven catches for 226 yards and three TDs. He made First Team All-ODAC.

In the 2013 season finale, the Quakers pulled off the greatest comeback in school history, scoring 35 unanswered points to beat visiting Emory & Henry 35-31.

Coming off an upset loss the week before, Guilford suffered a hangover and trailed 24-0 at halftime. On the first possession of the second half, the deficit grew to 31-0.

As a junior in 2014, Smith led the team in catches (52), receiving yards (1,072) and TD catches (15). In a 42-21 win at Catholic, he had six catches for 204 yards and three TDs. He enjoyed five 100-yard games and five games with multiple a game plan and our guys believed in it. We just didn't quit."

In an incredible rally that began with nine minutes left in the third quarter, the Quakers scored TDs on their final five possessions.

"Offensively, we were in rhythm," Smith said. "We were moving fast and everything was clicking. Defensively, they had a different mentality in the second half. It was: 'We are going to win this game and you're not going to score.'"

Trailing 31-28 with 2:26 remaining, the Quakers' game-winning drive began at their 11-yard line. With 19.7 seconds on the clock, Smith reeled in a 42-yard TD from Pawlowski to win the game.

"It was a post (route) right down the middle of the field," Rusiewicz recalled.

"That whole possession, we ran that same exact play for me three or four times," Smith said. "It had not worked. We got short completions out of it, but we didn't complete the post."

After we ran it two straight times, my coach called me over to the sideline and said: 'I'm giving you a little break. We're going to give you a shot, go make a play.' Our o-line gave our quarterback, Matt, a ton of time. He threw the ball before I was even close to open, but he put it right on the money right in stride."

As a junior in 2014, Smith led the team in catches (52), receiving yards (1,072) and TD catches (15). In a 42-21 win at Catholic, he had six catches for 204 yards and three TDs. He enjoyed five 100-yard games and five games with multiple

TDs. He was named to the D3football.com First Team All-South. He was First Team All-ODAC for the second time. He ranked third in D-III in TD catches. He was 10th nationally with 107.2 receiving yards per game.

"He's got some of the best hands I've ever seen in my 14 years of coaching," Rusiewicz said. "He's got speed that kind of deceives people. You look at him and think: 'He can't be that fast.' Then he'll run right by you."

His yards per catch is close to 20. That's incredible. If he catches the ball, you better have a good angle."

There's more. Smith is a star off the field, too.

"He is a great kid," Rusiewicz said. "I mean everything about him. He's involved in our fellowship service and community service. He's doing incredible in school. This past semester he had a 3.92 GPA. He's just doing everything. And of course, then he shines on the football field."

Guilford ran the table in reverse in 2010, another way of saying it went 0-10. The Quakers began making steady strides in Rusiewicz's first season in 2011, going 2-8. In due time, the impossible became possible and the unthinkable became thinkable.

They went 5-5, including 4-3 in the ODAC, in 2012. They went 6-4, 5-2 in 2013, recording the first winning record since 2007. In 2014, they went 8-2, 5-2 to finish as co-champs with Hampden-Sydney, which earned the league's automatic berth to the playoffs virtue of its overtime win over Guilford.

As the 2015 season approaches, the Quakers are oozing with confidence.

"This senior class with Adam Smith is pretty special," Rusiewicz said. "They chose to come to a program that was 0-10 before I arrived and went 2-8 my first year here. They made a commitment to come to a place like this, and I'm sure they are feeling special in what they accomplished in three years. They went from third to second to first in the conference. In over 100 years of football, Guilford has only had five 8-2 seasons. The last time it happened was 1991. We were co-champions for the first time in a long time. Now we are looking at taking sole possession of a championship and trying to make a national run next season."

The Quakers are ranked 13th in a preseason poll. Smith is counting down the days to the Sept. 5 season opener at Greensboro.

"There are fewer than 10 at-large bids, so it's pretty difficult to make the playoffs if you don't make the conference championship outright," Smith said. "I think we're determined to go 10-0 through the regular season. We fully expect to go to the playoffs and make some noise nationally."

They went 5-5, including 4-3 in the ODAC, in 2012. They went 6-4, 5-2 in 2013, recording the first winning record since 2007. In 2014, Mocksville picked up its third straight win the next day at the Kannapolis O's, winning 7-4 to improve its league mark to 2-1.

The big key to Mocksville's torrid stretch has been Barneycastle, who bats first or second in the order. In three games before going to Kannapolis, he went 3 for 5, 3 for 4 and 3 for 4. This time he went 2 for 4, making him 11 for 17 (.647) over four games. Digest that.

"Jake's been on fire," McKnight said. "He's really been the sparkplug that gets us rolling. He is 100 percent wide open the whole

Ridge Sanders (13) runs for Brycen Huffman (16). time when he's on the field. He's energetic, he doesn't mind letting somebody know what's going on, and he's very knowledgeable."

The third inning was wild. Mocksville struck for three runs in the top half. Getting four straight hits, Kannapolis answered with four in the bottom half. Mocksville tied it at 4 in the fourth.

The visitors took control for good in the fifth. Brycen Huffman's two-run single provided a 6-4 lead. Barneycastle added insurance with a single that plated Landon Bandy. Huffman was thrown out at the plate on the play, but it hardly mattered because complete-game pitcher Henry Stone blanked Kannapolis from the fourth through the seventh.

Although Stone was tagged for 10 hits, he put up six zeroes and ran his record to 3-0. Mocksville has allowed just nine runs in three games.

"Their first five hitters were tough," McKnight said. "He got the ball up a little bit. When he was down in the zone, he was very effective."

Huffman (2-3), Summers (2-4) and Stone (2-4, two doubles) helped Mocksville produce the most runs in four games.

Davie Schools' students honored for character include ones from Cooleemee Elementary (left) and the Davie County Early College High School (right).

Students Recognized For Good Character

Each year, students in Davie County Schools are recognized for displaying traits of good character.

The students selected to represent their schools exemplify the traits of compassion, courage, honesty, justice, loyalty, respect, responsibility and self-discipline.

These students were recognized at the Character Education Awards Night held at the Brock Performing Arts Center in two ceremonies, one for the elementary students and another for the middle and high school students.

Noel Grady-Smith, executive director of curriculum and leadership development, provided a message to the students about courage, stressing the importance of intellectual, moral and emotional courage. She encouraged students to ask questions in class when needed, to do what's right, and to dig down deep to find solid strength when faced with challenges.

Students were presented with certificates for their accomplishment.

viewing the watercolor and pencil illustrations done by Alexander.

Nancy Turner, Second Steps tutor, is the niece of the author. She shared about the life of her aunt with the students.

Teacher Luwona Oakes read information from a biography about Martha Alexander, who was born in August, Ga., in 1920. She moved to Ohio at the age of 9 and later attended the Cincinnati Academy of Fine Arts. It wasn't until she was 45 years old when she was asked to illustrate her first children's book. She illustrated several books, but wrote and illustrated 33 books.

Some of her published books include the Blackboard Bear series. The inspiration for those books came after a visit to Nancy when her son was 4. She said that her nephew had rich creative ability to entertain himself. Christopher is now an adult lives in the Four Corners area of Davie County. Her first Blackboard Bear book was dedicated to him.

Martha last lived in Hawaii where she and her husband were involved in starting what is now the Art Center at the Honolulu Academy of Arts. Sadly, Martha died in 2006. She left picture books and adventuresome stories for children to enjoy well into the future.

Second grade students completed their author study by creating pictures in the style of Martha Alexander's art work. Students appreciate Nancy Turner sharing personal pictures and stories about her aunt.

Young Cornatzer Students Get Books For Summer Program

Kindergarten, first grade and second grade students at Cornatzer Elementary School will have lots of books to read this summer.

They are participating in a summer reading program called "Summer Adventure for Cornatzer Kids (SACK)." Each student was given a "sack" containing 10 books, along with reading skills information, and parent guidelines. The goal is for students to maintain their instructional level through the summer. Research shows that students lose academic ground over the summer if they do not read.

Students will complete a reading card to chart their progress. Incentives will be given in the fall to those students completing the program.

Funding was partially provided by the Mebane Foundation.

Metamorphosis CZE 2nd Graders Watch Painted Lady Butterflies

Stroll onto the campus at Cornatzer Elementary and catch a glimpse of the 70-plus Painted Lady butterflies recently raised by the second graders.

Receiving one centimeter long caterpillar larvae, each second grade class experienced their own window on the world as students watched the magnificent metamorphosis of the butterfly. Rushing to the habitats first thing each morning, the students held a 21-day vigil as they observed, measured, recorded, and photographed observations of the transformation.

At last, the day of emerging butterflies came as mesmerized adults and children alike gathered around to watch the entrance of each butterfly bursting forth from each chrysalis. Students photographed and videotaped the unfolding miracle.

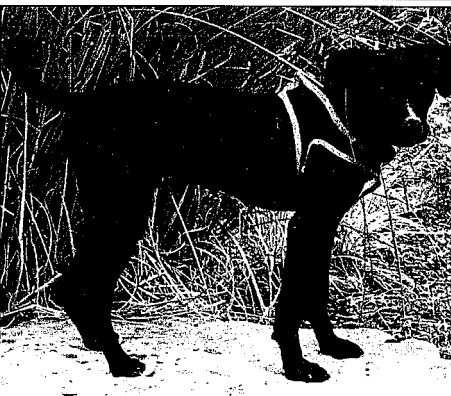

Can there be a greater wonder to witness? Just ask the second graders, who released their butterflies into the school gardens planted to sustain their life cycle.

Rayne Alkinson, Brayden Brooks and Hunter Steele watch the action.

Students crowd around the glass to look at the butterflies.

House Of Hope Piedmont Looking For New Home

By Bob Bailey
Special to the Enterprise

Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged, for the Lord your God will be with you wherever you go.

Joshua 1:9
I came to you in weakness with great fear and trembling.

1 Corinthians 2:3

As co-founder of the ministry, House of Hope Piedmont, I submit this article to the people of Davie County in obedience to the command of God to Joshua and the humanness and frailty of the great Apostle Paul. Thank you for reading it.

Bob and Diana Bailey, founders of House of Hope Piedmont, are looking for a permanent location for the ministry. House of Hope(501c3) is a non-denominational ministry and an affiliate of the National House of Hope of Orlando, Fla. House of Hope ministers to hurting teens and their parents in a relational crisis.

Sara Trollinger is the founder of the National House of Hope and House of Hope Orlando, which has ministered to teens and families since Aug. 22, 1985. President Ronald Reagan was a supporter of House of Hope.

Our requirements for onsite residents is that their parents reside within a 100-mile radius so they can attend parenting and counseling classes. This is agreed upon and a requirement before the child can be admitted. Parents need healing, as well as the teens, so that when their child graduates the family environment has been changed.

We have been renting a home on a farm off of US 158 for the past four years. Our desire when we moved to the farm was to begin our ministry for our teen residents. However, it has recently been sold and we have been graciously given six months to acquire another location.

We want to share with our Davie County friends our need for a permanent home for this ministry in Davie County. The needs of this ministry would require a 4 bedroom/2 bath home, preferably with a basement. A home on 5-10 acres with a semi-private location or private drive is ideal to keep distractions for our teen residents to a minimum.

Why Davie County? We have been members of Blaise Baptist Church for the past 10 years where we have been involved in children and teen ministries. We have lived in Davie County for four years and I have worked at Davie High School as a custodian since 2009.

We love the people here and consider Davie County our home.

A residential home for troubled teens here in Davie County would offer a beacon of light and hope for hurting families all over the Piedmont Triad. Through observation and experience, we have learned of the need to provide housing, counseling, education, and support to distressed teens and their struggling families. Our vision is for House of Hope Piedmont to be the go-to place for hurting teens and stressed out parents.

A testimonial by Michelle Keating of Iredell County and the ministry of House of Hope:

"I am a single mother with five children, ranging in age from 17 years to 7 months. My husband and I became separated over four months ago and it has been difficult for me and the children, to say the least.

"Bob and Diana Bailey have been an invaluable resource for my family. They have really become part of our family and the Lord has ministered to us through them in countless ways. They have spent hours counseling us and have made themselves available 24 hours a day.

"They have taken many trips to my house (and I live approximately 25 miles away). Bob has driven miles to assist my husband when he was in need. He picks up my three oldest children every Sunday for Sunday School. Diana has watched my children for me many times when I have needed her help and has cooked delicious meals and treats for us. She has called me almost every day to check on me to make sure we are okay and always asks about each one of my children. She has often ministered to me late into the night.

"She has shared with me the wonder of my newborn daughter and given me wonderful parenting advice for my toddler, middle-aged, and teenaged children.

"Bob has advised me many times in difficult and intricate relational issues with my husband, and also practical (but delicate) situations. He has wisdom that flows from the hours he spends every day in communion with the Lord. My children feel comfortable approaching him for counsel because of his humble and gentle demeanor.

"Bob and Diana have gone far beyond support, they have given my family the priceless gift of love. The Baileys have another trait that sets them apart. That is availability. This precious couple are ready at all times to be used by the Lord and take pleasure in giving, even sacrificially.

"Praise the Lord, he has blessed my family with the gift of their friendship. I hope that I can have the privilege to assist them in their ministry of family reconciliation in the House of Hope. I would feel honored to continue to learn from them and to be able to help other hurting and struggling families."

If God speaks to your heart and you would like to help, email dbaily102@triad.rr.com or call 336-486-4780.

Carli Allen Wins Cheerleading Gold

A South Davie Middle school athlete has won a world title.

Carli Allen, a member of Cheer Extreme Coed Elite in Kernersville, and her team won Gold for the first time in the Large Coed Division at The Cheerleading Worlds in Disney World at the ESPN Wide World of Sports held recently.

Teams from all over the world compete with more than 8,000 people in attendance. To compete, the team must win a bid competing in a national competition and winning the bid.

Coed Elite has competed this year in Kentucky, Indiana, Texas, California, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida.

In the Large Coed Division, Coed Elite were winners of Day 1 and also Finals Day 2 with 12 teams in the division. Day 2 the team hit a zero deduction routine allowing them to bring home the gold.

She is the daughter of PD and Ericka Allen; she will attend Davie High in the fall, where she will continue to cheer with Cheer Extreme and Davie High School Varsity.

The competition will be shown on ESPN channels throughout May and June.

Girl Scouts Earn First Aid Patches

Beth Tysinger explained first aid in a way that was easy to understand and remember to members of Girl Scout Troop 40663.

She used visual aids and props. She also got the girls involved with hands-on practice after giving each their own first-aid kits.

"We appreciate all of the newfound knowledge that we received because of her amazing teaching skills, and are thankful for her generosity in time and smiles," said Lianne Smalley.

Earning first aid patches were Rachel Dove, Erin Engstrom, Elena Lopez, Meredith Lopez, Emily Petersen, Rebecca, Petersen, Sarah Petersen, and Annie Smalley.

Our school kids are excited: Today (Thursday) is the last day of classes for Davie County schools and Friday is the last day for Iredell County schools. Graduation at North Iredell High School is scheduled for Saturday at 8:30 a.m. in Raider Stadium. Graduation at Davie County High School is also scheduled for Saturday at 8:30 a.m. in War Eagle Stadium; rain date is 2 p.m. Sunday. We congratulate all of our high school graduates and wish them well in their endeavors.

The Baptist Men of Society will meet at 7 a.m. Saturday, June 13, in the fellowship hall. The men invite others for breakfast and prayer. Later that morning the group will do some work at the church.

There will be a "Flag Day" ceremony sponsored by the V-Point Ruritan, North Iredell American Legion Post 113, and Woodmen of the World Lodge 999 at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 14 at the Harmony Cemetery on US 21 N. Special speaker for the ceremony will be retired US Army Major General James V. Mallory of Statesville. He is an attorney and has served on the Iredell County Board of Commissioners. Flags have been placed on the graves of all veterans and a wreath honoring veterans will be placed at the flag pole. The American Legion will retire old flags. The public is invited.

The Women on Missions of Society Baptist will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 18 in the fellowship hall. Mary Jo Lewis will lead the program. During July and August the group is collecting healthy snack items for children of families in need. Suggested items include packs of nabs, cups of pudding and apple sauce, raisins, and the like. Children take vacations, but hunger takes no vacation. For more information or to donate, please call Mary Jo at 704-546-7141.

Upcoming community events include a country ham and sausage breakfast hosted by the Salem United Methodist Men from 6-10 a.m. Saturday, June 20 at the County Line VFD; Senior Bingo sponsored by the V-Point Ruritan at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 25 at the V-Point Building; vacation Bible school at Clarksville United Methodist June 27-28; and St. Matthews Lutheran homecoming dinner at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 28.

Our community extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Mary Frances Gaither Logan Rupard, who died Thursday of last week at home after a few years of declining health. She was born in 1947 to Mary Templeton Gaither and the late Roy A. Gaither of NC 901 near Clarksville United Methodist Church. She attended church at Clarksville with her family and graduated in 1965 from Harmony High School, where she was a bus driver and active in several clubs. She earned an associate degree in theology from High Point University. While living in Florida, she met and married Eddie Logan of Georgia. The couple made their home on the Gaither family farm on Logan Way off NC 901; Frances helped her husband in their poultry business. After Eddie's death in 1990, she later married Jerry Rupard of the Love Valley area; he died in 2004. She was retired from a career in hospitality, banking, and distribution. In her latter years she made her home on Guilford Road and was lovingly cared for by her niece Melanie G. Chatham as her health declined. At her request no formal services were held; she is to be interred at a later date.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the family of Richard Neal "Sonny" Cartner, who died at home Sunday morning after a brief period of declining health. Born in 1937 in Iredell County, he was one of nine children of the late Ray Sr. and Nellie Jones Cartner of NC 901 near Hayes Farm Road. He attended Clarksville United Methodist Church with his family and graduated from Harmony High School in 1955. He then graduated from Draughn's School of Business in Winston-Salem. He was retired from Holly Farms and was a co-owner/operator of Cartner's Service Station in County Line. He had a passion for classic cars and enjoyed working on them and restoring them. He could be seen driving one of his collection around the neighborhood. He and his wife, the former Marsha Deal, made their home on NC 901 near the Cartner family farm. A service celebrating his life was to be held today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at Westmoreland Chapel of Bunch-Johnson Funeral Home in Statesville with burial to follow in the cemetery of Clarksville Methodist, where he was a member. The family was to receive friends from 1-2 p.m. at the funeral home.

Our community sends get-well wishes to Alice Absher and Betty Lou Richardson. Alice was hospitalized last week for a chemotherapy treatment and is recuperating at home. Betty Lou had surgery at Iredell Memorial Hospital last week. Perry "Shorty" Cartner remains at Davis Regional Medical Center. Om Stroud and David Steele remain in rehab at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Pat Swisher remains in rehab at Autumn Care of Statesville.

Join us in prayer for the Lord's divine healing and blessings upon Alice, Betty Lou, Shorty, Om, David, Pat, and others who are having health problems. Pray for the Lord's strength and comfort upon the families of Frances and Sonny as they adjust to life without their loved ones.

For news and memories to share, please call Shirley at 492-5115 or email link@hotmail.com. If you, or you know of someone who has graduated from an educational institute or received a certificate or an award, please send a photo plus data for our special graduation tribute.

Little Claire Ashe, Dick and Diane Card, and Barry Wayne and Lee Jan Waddell take a break from the hot humid weather Saturday at Laverne's Bistro & Bakery as LaVerne Zachary, Tony Stevenson, and Melissa Burgess serve them.

Perhaps many in the area will remember foreign exchange student Inge Trolle Larson from Denmark. She made her home with the Mando family in Mocksville for the school year. Inge attended Davie County High School and graduated with the 1961 class.

She became a good friend with Brenda Zimmerman from this community and spent much time here. She enjoyed many family outings and cook-outs. Brenda and her sisters Adrian and Janie would take Inge on bike trips to Tanglewood Park, swimming in the pool and participating in other activities the park offered.

She also loved going to the mountains, to Grandfather Mountain where the main attraction was the Mile High Swinging Bridge. Losing contact due to a loss of address for 40 years, Brenda was delighted to hear from Inge last week through Facebook, with a letter following. Inge is doing well, a retired school teacher, she has two married children (boy and girl) and 5 grandchildren. She expresses many fond memories of living in Davie County. She also inquired about Tanglewood Park.

Memorial Day was celebrated throughout the community. The living veterans were recognized during the worship service at Advance United Methodist Church on Sunday, May 24. Flags were placed on 55 veteran graves in the cemetery. On Monday, May 25 many people visited the cemetery.

Andrea H. Singh and husband Dean Singh of Myrtle Beach, S.C. spent the Memorial weekend (Friday-Monday) with Andrea's mother, Janie Hendrix, and grandmother, Edith Zimmerman.

Larry Potts from Thomasville visited his cousin Annalee Myers during the holiday and browsed through the Methodist Church cemetery admiring the flags on a number of his ancestors graves.

Fourteen senior citizens from the community enjoyed an evening meal at the Depot in Cody Springs Thursday, May 28. The trip was under the direction of Medford and Nancy Shoaf. Congratulations to Medford and Nancy Shoaf who celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary on Sunday May 31.

Adrian Z. Farley and husband Chris Farley of Arlington, Va. spent the weekend with her mother, Edith Zimmerman. Chris is showing improvement from a round of chemotherapy for lung cancer. Janie Hendrix joined the family for dinner on Saturday, May 30.

The United Methodist Men had a breakfast

Sunday, June 7 at 8 a.m. at Advance United Methodist Church. All men were invited to enjoy the fellowship and food.

Lucy Barney was a Tuesday afternoon visitor of Annalee Myers and Edith Zimmerman.

Re-construction has begun on the community building - formerly the Advance Academy. It was damaged by a frozen water line in the winter and the leak wasn't discovered until recently. Much damage was done to the ceilings and floors.

Sunday, June 7, was Homecoming Sunday at Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church and a great day it was. We were delighted to have the Rev. Dr. Jeff Patterson, superintendent of the Yaddick Valley District of the United Methodist Church, deliver the sermon. He did a fine job and the covered-dish lunch in the fellowship hall after the service was also fine. Mrs. Louise Latham Dill and Mrs. Dorothy Allen West, members of Wesley Chapel who passed away during the last year, were remembered during the morning service as was former member, Mrs. Elizabeth West Fortney.

The steeple of Wesley Chapel UMC was repaired and painted and the front entrance of the church was painted before Homecoming. Roger Miller Painting did the painting and Aaron Sink Construction did the steeple repair. The steeple work was a big job which required a lift. Wesley Chapel's steeple was built by Orrell Etchison, who was owner of Etchison Machine Works and the brother of Everett Etchison.

Todd Cartner of Kernersville delivered the sermon at Wesley Chapel on Sunday, May 31 in the absence of our pastor, the Rev. Sara Scruggs. Mr. Cartner had spoken at the church before and the members enjoyed having him and his wife with them again.

The Rev. Sara Scruggs will move to a new assignment in the Asheville area after the meeting of the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference at Lake Junaluska. The Rev. Arnold Gosnell will be the new preacher for the Farmington Charge, which is made up of the Farmington and Wesley Chapel United Methodist churches. Gosnell, his wife, Sarah, and their three children, David, 17, Emily, 15, and Avery, 4, will move into the parsonage in Farmington in July. Gosnell is coming from Centenary United Methodist Church in Clemmons.

Some of the children in Cana and Pino communities are out of school for the summer vacation and others are heading forward to the end of the school year in the next few days. Missy Cujas, a senior at Davie County High School is looking forward to Saturday, June 6, when she will graduate along with hundreds of other seniors. Missy plans to go to Mitchell College in Statesville in the fall.

Eaton's Baptist Church does not have anyone graduating from high school this year, but they have two young ladies graduating from college. Kati Whitaker is graduating from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Taylor Anderson is graduating from the University of Virginia.

Jane Carrigan Testerman and her friend, B.J. Smith of Mooresville and Bill and Marty Babcock of Raleigh visited Betty and Roland West at Frostland last week. Bill and Marty treated the group to lunch at Restaurant 101 in Mocksville.

Remember that breakfast will be served at Wesley Chapel Methodist on Saturday, June 20 from 6:30-10 a.m. This will be the last breakfast before the summer break. Breakfast will not be served during July and August, but will once again be served the third Saturday in September.

Grants For Arts May Be Available

The Davie County Arts Council invites area artists to attend a question-and-answer session in the conference room on June 16 at 5:30 p.m.

Dara Silver, director of member services and grants for the Arts Council of Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, will explain the grant and answer questions for those seeking to apply for its Duke Energy Regional Artist Project Grants. These grants offer support to artists in a six-county region to help them further professional development.

Deadline for applications is Friday, July 10 at 5 p.m.

"We are looking for opportunities to make modern grants that in turn can have significant impact on the careers and professional lives of artists," Silver said. "These grants always are directed because of the needs of individual artists at particular points in their lives very dramatically."

Guidelines, applications, and information sessions are available online at www.artsartsarts.org.

Local Students Earn Music 'Gold Cups'

Several Davie residents recently earned "Gold Cups" from the National Federal of Music Clubs Junior Festival piano competition at Wake Forest University.

The NFMC has grown into one of the world's largest music organizations since its founding in 1898. It provides opportunities for musical study, performance and music appreciation to more than 200,000 members nationwide in 6,500 music-related clubs and organizations. The organization is dedicated to finding and fostering young musical talent and sponsor nationwide Junior Festivals with more than 117,000 participants. The mission of the NFMC is to advance and develop American music and musicians. It is a non-profit philanthropic and educational organization dedicated to music education and the promotion of the creative and performing arts across America.

North Carolina hosts 13 state-wide Junior Festival music events each year. More than 4,000 students compete state-wide in local events.

For each, the award has been three years in the making; in that the students compete for three years, trying for a rating of superior, which earns the students 5 points toward the total of 15 required to earn the Gold Cup award.

Area festival competitions are designed to promote the study of music, to stimulate interest in American music and to encourage each participant to reach a high standard of musical achievement. The Wake Forest Junior Festival provides opportunities for young and adult musicians to perform, receive an evaluation from qualified judges and work towards earning honors and awards that are recognized nationally, Queen said.

The Junior category includes students who have not reached the 19th birthday; the adult category includes students 19 and older. The levels of performance range from pre-primary to musically advanced. Students may enter events that provide scholarship funding, as well as events that might qualify them for the state finals.

The following earned their third consecutive Superior rating and their first level Gold Cups in the American Patriotic/Folk Song event in piano: Anna Berrier, a June graduate of Salem Academy; Meredith Everett, who will attend Davie High in the fall; Emily Henson, a rising freshman at Davie High; Julianne McCuiston, a student at Bishop-McGuinness High; Luke Stillson, a student at Ellis Middle School; and Joshua Woods, who will attend the Davie Early College in the fall.

Earning 15-point Gold Cups in the Piano Duet included:

Meredith Everett and her piano duet partner, Emily Henson, who will be a freshman attending Davie High in the fall; Becca Thurmond, a rising senior and home-schooled student and her duet partner, Ashlee Murphy, who is a June graduate of Calvary Baptist Day School; brother and sister duets Joshua and Emily Woods and Luke and Marla Stillson (Emily is a June graduate of the Davie Early College and Marla is a rising senior at Davie High); other duet Gold Cup recipients, Julianne McCuiston and Taylor Tremblay, both of who attend Bishop-McGuinness High School.

Cren Rosenbaum earned his first NFMC Gold Cups in the Piano Solo and Hymn events. He is the son of Daryl and Elizabeth Rosenbaum of Mocksville.

"It is quite an accomplishment and honor for a student to earn a 30-point cup in the NFMC award program," Queen said. "It represents, at a minimum, six years of superior scores for each student."

Two students earned 30-point Gold Cups in the Piano Solo event: Meredith Everett, daughter of Jodie and Ashley Everett of Advance, earned her 15 point Gold Cups in the Piano Concerto event and the American Patriotic/Folk Song event, she will be attending Anderson College as a freshman; Emily Woods, daughter of Roger and Patti Woods of Harmony, also won her Gold Cup in the American Patriotic/Folk Songs piano division, in the fall, she will attend UNC in Greensboro.

Graduating seniors who received awards in the vocal competition divisions include: Connor Hebert, son of Gary and Sam Hebert of Advance, a June graduate of Bishop McGuinness High School will attend UNC Wilmington in the fall. His Gold Cup awards were in the Musical Theater and Vocal AP/FS events. Ashlee Murphy, who is listed above with multiple awards, will be entering UNC Chapel Hill as a freshman in August and earned her vocal Gold Cup in Musical Theater.

The highest honor a student can receive is their 60-point Gold Cup from NFMC. It represents 12 years of consecutive superior, covering a student's school-age musical training and education. As a graduating senior, Anna Berrier earned this award in the Piano Solo event. In previous years, as the Wake Forest winner in her event, she won the opportunity to travel to the NFMC state finals in hymn cup and piano solo. She was the state winner and title holder in her hymn division in 2014. She will attend UNC Chapel Hill in the fall as a freshman.

Several students competed at the Wake Forest event this year who are in-between Gold Cup years, who also scored superior: Zachary Edmonds in Piano Solo, Hymns and AP/FS; Molly Engstrom, Davie High, in Musical Theater and Vocal AP/FS; Meredith Everett, Hymns; Savannah Everett, Davie High, in Piano Solo and Piano Duet; Elijah Gregory, Davie High, in Hymns and AP/FS; Emily Henson in Piano Solo and Hymns; Julianne McCuiston in Piano Solo and Piano Concerto; Emilee Murphy in Piano Solo, Hymns and AP/FS; Cren Rosenbaum in AP/FS; Luke Stillson in Piano Solo and Hymns; Marla Stillson in Piano Solo, AP/FS and Piano Concerto; Becca Thurmond, Piano Solo and Hymns; Taylor Tremblay in Piano Solo, Hymns, Vocal AP/FS, Musical Theater and Vocal Art Song; Taylor Walton in Piano Solo, Piano Duet and Piano Concerto; and Joshua Woods in Piano Solo and the Hymn event.

Entering the Junior Festival competition for the first time, and earning a score of Superior in all their events this first year are the following students: Paige Carter, 8th grade; Jake Hannah, 2nd grade; Holyn Hedrick, 3rd grade; Jeffrey Lyons, 4th grade; Natalie Lyons, 6th grade; and Molly Powell, 9th grade.

"Congratulations to each one for a job well done and best wishes to first and second year participants as they work toward earning their first Gold Cup from the NFMC in a future year," Queen said.

Truck Driver Training Program Gets Tanker

PAPA Scholarship

Jake Hendrix holds his scholarship from the Piedmont Antique Power Association while surrounded by Davie High FFA advisor Jesse Ledbetter and PAPA members Larry Thies and Richard Bostick.

Truck Driver Training (TDT) students at Davidson County Community College have a new opportunity to expand their skills and marketability with the donation of a tanker trailer by Quality Carriers/Quality Distribution Inc. and one of its affiliate partners, R. Wayne Bost Trucking Inc. of Salisbury.

"We're looking forward to offering tanker training to our students who may be interested in this aspect of the industry," says Jeff Ferguson, TDT faculty. Instruction with the tank trailer begins with fall semester courses.

Representatives of Quality Carriers and Bost Trucking delivered the stainless steel, three-compartment tank trailer to the Davie Campus Training Grounds on May 22. The donation includes assorted fittings with adequate hose to allow training in product transfer by pump and compressed air as well as to unload by gravity.

"We have admired Davidson's approach and curriculum in training new drivers, especially in real world scenarios," says Brad Bost, chief operating officer for Bost Trucking. "We believe our contribution will facilitate this learning process for prospective drivers, especially in the critical bulk trucking sector of the transportation industry. We look forward to continuing to work with Davidson and future drivers trained in this program."

Enrollment for Truck Driver Training fall sessions that begin Aug. 17 and Oct. 19 is open. Orientation, required of all TDT students entering the program, are June 9, July 14 and Aug. 4, all at 10 a.m. in the Administration Building on the Davie Campus, 1205 Salisbury Road, Mocksville.

FUMC's Ministry 22:6 Offers Summer Camp

Proverbs 22:6: "Start children off on the way they should go, and even when they are old they will not turn from it."

That is the mission of Ministry 22:6 at First United Methodist Church in Mocksville.

"We strive to help families in the community meet their childcare needs by providing a fun-faith based childcare program," said Allison Lambert. "We provide after school care and summer day camp ministries."

Summer Day Camp will be June 15-Aug. 22. Rising kindergartners to rising sixth graders are invited.

Daily activities each day include snack and devotion, arts and crafts, science, outside fun, games and more. Participants will take weekly trips to the park and library, as well as have chapel. There will be a field trip or a guest each week, and members will help with the community garden. Part- and full-time options are available.

For more information, contact Lambert at 753-1900 or allison@firstumc-mocksville.org.

Rising to the top Academic stars are self motivators

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

Hampton Smith's hard work has earned him the top academic spot in Davie High's 2015 graduating class.

The valedictorian is the son of David and Amanda Smith of Advance and brother of Noble and Zayla. In August, he will pack his bags and head to UNC-Chapel Hill. His plans are to be a physician specializing in health policy and management.

"I'm interested in global health, looking at healthcare on a social level, like how to make hospitals function in foreign countries," Smith said.

During his four years at Davie, when he wasn't in class or studying, Smith was involved in the National Honor Society, the SURF Board (president), the Science Club and track and cross country. He was captain of the cross country team but jokes that he was never that person crossing the finish line first.

"I was usually the one in the back, just kind of jogging along, looking at the clouds...I just mainly wanted to finish," he said, with a laugh.

Smith said he "closest started" Odyssey of the Mind, basically forming the team on the down-low, and that team ended up making it to the world competition. Smith also organized a 4-H camp for Odyssey.

He works as a host at a Clemmons restaurant and is involved in an internship at Wake Forest studying diabetic retinopathy and a disease of the eyelid that is prevalent in Africa. His energy and enthusiasm seem boundless, and he smiles and laughs often and easily, calling himself the "Holy Irritant," because of his persistence for things "in the name of good."

When asked who has been his greatest motivator, he said, "I'm a self-motivator. My parents are not tiger parents at all. They don't pressure me. They encourage me but they aren't overbearing. I'm just a self-do person."

Smith said he didn't want to single out any teacher in particular as having been his favorite, but wanted to give shout outs to Michelle Shue and Audrey

Junior Marshals

Arrive early: 5,000 expected for ceremony

Davie County High School will hold commencement exercises for the Class of 2015 at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 13 in the War Eagle Stadium. (Rain date is Sunday, June 14 at 2 p.m. in the stadium. Notification will be made via a Connect-Ed message and on the DHS website.)

Gates will open at 7 a.m. Graduates will assemble in the large gym by no later than 7:30, dressed and ready for the procession.

DHS department chairs will call the names of the graduates. Principal Doyle Nicholson will present diplomas and Superintendent Dr. Darrin Hartness will offer congratulations.

Graduates should plan to stop in the small gym after the ceremony for document pickup. Any graduate who has not cleared debts to the school must do so before graduation. Any graduate who does not visit the small gym after the ceremony should plan to stop by the high school at a later date to see Debbie Shepherd.

Guests do not need tickets; graduation is open to the public. Guests are asked to arrive early to facilitate parking and seating. Warning signs will appear along US 601 to alert motorists of the graduation traffic. Organizers suggest that those in the community not attending graduation avoid traveling in this area. Approximately 5,000 guests are expected. Police officers will assist with pedestrians and traffic flow, but delays are still anticipated.

Parking is available in the school's regular lots, the school bus lot, the DCCC parking lots, and along Southwood Drive. Guests are warned that parking in some business lots could warrant a parking ticket and possible towing.

The first half of the senior class will cross the stage from visitor side to home side, so those guests may want to sit on the home side. Guests who want to sit on the home side can only enter through the stadium entrance closest to the school.

The last half of the senior class will do the opposite, so those guests may want to sit on the visitor side. Guests who want to sit on the visitor side can only enter the stadium through the entrance closest to Southwood Drive. Seniors will be notified of their exact location on Friday, June 12 at graduation practice.

For those handicapped guests, special parking will be provided on a first-come basis. Only vehicles tagged with official NC handicapped

Be prepared for college

(StatePoint) Transitioning to college can be difficult. From new expenses to a new lifestyle, being prepared can help avoid common bumps in the road.

• Encourage your student to get involved in activities. From joining the campus paper to running for student government, there are opportunities that can lead to new friendships and round out one's education.

• Studying instead of sleeping and crowded dorm rooms can be a prescription for colds and flu. Check out on-campus and local health care options.

• College may be one of your family's biggest investments. Whether that describes your family or not, higher education comes with a big price tag. It's never too late to seek out new financing options.

• You're busy. Your kid is busy. Regular check-ins can help you know everything is going well. Set up a weekly appointment to chat by phone and get the scoop.

• For many students, college is the first time they will gain some financial independence. Set your kids up for success by teaching them how to establish a workable budget. A checking and savings account designed for college students can help them stay on track.

Dear 2015 Graduates,

Congratulations on reaching this important milestone in your life. A high school diploma will help some of you obtain jobs and others to continue your education in college. In any case, you have all reached a time in your lives when decisions must be made.

One of the most important choices you will make is to register to vote at age eighteen. Regardless of what political party you choose, please remember that your right to vote has been given to you at a great price. So, don't pass up an opportunity to cast your ballot. You may never realize just how important your vote is and how one vote can make a difference!

Thank you and good luck!

Carr for being encouraging and helpful. His favorite class was AP Art History, an online class, and he also said he learned the most from teachers in the English department.

"The English Department has it together," he said.

Smith said his speech will focus on momentum and moving forward.

Before he heads down east, he will spend time in China over the summer, volunteering at an orphanage and hospital. This time, he said, he promises not to bring back a baby sister, as he did in seventh grade.

As the second in her graduating class, salutatorian Brooke Summers may have to turn the dial up on the microphone as she gives her speech that will focus on gratitude.

Her voice is soft and quiet, but exudes warmth and kindness.

The daughter of David and Amy Summers of Advance and sister of Clay, Summers was chosen out of over a thousand students to receive the NC State University's Park Scholarship, a four-year merit scholarship based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character. At State, she plans to study human biology in the life sciences first year program and eventually would like to be a pharmacist, following in the footsteps of her grandfather and uncle.

Summers loves interacting with people but said she also enjoys the laboratory side of pharmacology, an interest fueled by a summer program last year when she got to work under a researcher studying calcium concentrations in medications.

A self-motivated student, Summers said her parents never had to stay on her about grades or school work. Her mom recently told her she wants her to make good grades in college, but also wants her to have fun and go on dates, making the most of her college years.

Summers gets really animated when asked who her favorite teachers are, calling Regina London the "bomb.com. I am so sad my brother won't have her since she's retiring. She's just a really wonderful lady. She goes above and beyond to make sure her students understand the material. We even studied calculus at her house and she had lemonade and cookies for us."

Summers said Keith Richter was another favorite because he always tried to make his students knowledgeable and well-rounded, giving them interesting projects and leading engaging and lively class discussions.

In her spare time, Summers has volunteered at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center, a member of the National Honor Society, has been secretary and president of the STAND Club, and is on the SURF board. Her "pride and joy," she said, was a project she created to fill stockings with school supplies to middle school students. She has also run cross country and track.

Summers said they were encouraged in their speeches to write about memories and the future, but she is taking a different route.

"If I have the chance to talk in front of 400 people, I want to talk about gratitude and kindness, doing the right thing and being a good person. And I want to thank everyone. I have so many people to thank," she said.

His sister, Allie, a DHS graduate, is in the nursing program at UNC-Chapel, but Billings won't be joining her there. He was accepted to UNC but decided to go to NC State University because it has the engineering program he plans to enter. At one time, he said, he considered dental school (his dad is a dentist) and still may do that, but is leaning toward biomedical engineering first.

Billings is quiet, relaxed, and internally driven, and while his parents pushed him, he said, they really didn't have to do much to motivate him.

"I just always wanted to make good grades so I could get into the college I wanted to be in," he said.

A long-time Scout, Billings enjoys being in the outdoors, camping, hiking and fishing. At Davie, Billings was in the National Honor Society, played JV and varsity soccer and wrestled all four years, amassing 148 wins. He was a two-time state qualifier, all conference for four years, conference champion for two years and runner-up the other two years. He said sports were a great way to make friends and would encourage rising ninth graders to use sports, clubs and Friday night football games as ways to get involved and make lasting friendships.

His advice for those rising ninth graders? "Don't slack off your freshman year. The GPA and the grades you make your freshman year stay with you, and it's really hard to bring them up. Stay motivated all four years," he advised.

Billings' favorite teacher was Regina London, who, he said, "really cared and was a really good teacher. She really cares about her students and makes sure you learn the material. We even went to her house during AP exams to study."

Billings said his speech will focus on memories and memorable events that occurred during his four years at Davie.

be permitted to park in these designated areas. It is recommended that guests delivering handicapped guests to the stadium's entrance come early for easiest movement to and from the entrance. For further convenience, chauffeured golf carts will assist guests to the two entrances. Once the graduation ceremony begins this service will be suspended until after the ceremony. Areas closed off are for the movement/safety of these golf carts. No vehicles can be parked in/near the coned areas.

War Eagle stadium is handicapped accessible with ramps and accommodations wheelchair seating. However, special handicapped seating is available for those elderly or infirm and unable to negotiate the steps/ramps in the bleachers. Reservations for the seats in this special area must be made through the individual graduates so that the appropriate number of chairs can be set. Graduates can see Lynne Miller or Dustin Haley in the media center or call 751-5905, Ext. 4072 to make these reservations. Only one companion with the handicapped individual will be admitted to this area (no family seating). An attendant will be on duty throughout the exercises. Again, it is recommended that guests arrive early.

The focus of graduation is to enjoy the accomplishment of the graduates. For safety and viewing purposes, no one will be permitted to stand/loiter along the railings of the bleachers or move about during the ceremony. There is no access to the track until the ceremony is over.

Also, strolling around the seating areas or the refreshment area will not be permitted so that all may see and enjoy their graduates. Two information tents, one at each entrance, will assist guests and offer basic first aid. Ambulances will also be on the grounds. Bottled water will be available for purchase at the concession stands. All proceeds will benefit Davie High School Hunger Fighters.

Organizers ask that guests understand how important hearing every graduate's name and seeing every graduate's acceptance of his/her diploma is to each family so please refrain from bringing umbrellas, air horns, cowbells, and other noise-makers that would interfere with this moment. Noises for one graduate often negate hearing the next graduate's name.

A professional photographer will be on the field taking the "moment of" photos, which eliminates the photo gallery area. Parents can enjoy the ceremony without moving from their seats. These photographs will be done by Life Touch Photography and available for viewing and purchase at www.lifetouchevents.com, 336-765-7288.

The graduation program will be available online Saturday morning, June 13 in addition to the printed copy. Davie High will have a finite number of bulletins; programs will be given to adults only.

The stadium offers no shade or protection from the weather. Those who may not be able to attend or may have health issues will have opportunities to view the ceremony via video and/or pictures. Families can purchase a professionally filmed DVD of the ceremony by Bryant Media through Yattel Telecom. Yattel will also broadcast the ceremony on YVTV7 at a later date.

After the ceremony, the field will be open for celebration and the stage area will be open for family photography. It is the hope of the organizers that every family is able to honor and celebrate appropriately as the Class of 2015 holds its commencement.

"The faculty and staff have been working hard preparing for the graduation ceremony," said Principal Doyle Nicholson.

"We are very proud of the students and all their efforts in reaching this important achievement in their lives."

Budget OKd Tax Rate To Increase; Water Rates Will Not

Enterprise Record

Water rates for Davie customers won't be going up as a result of a $56.2 million budget adopted by county commissioners on a 4-1 vote Monday evening.

Last-minute changes to the proposed budget also included the addition of a detective with the Davie Sheriff's Department, a food and nutrition case worker and more funding from Bermuda Run for an increased police presence by the sheriff's department.

The budget does include a 10.8 cent increase in the property tax rate, which will likely give Davie the third highest property tax rate in the region, said Robin West, finance director. It is solely to pay for the bond to build a new Davie County High School.

It's that tax increase that caused Mark Jones to vote against the budget. He said there is new spending that could be cut, and the county could have used a bond premium it received when it sold the bonds for the school to relieve the tax burden.

"There are many good things in the budget, but the

Court Rules In Favor Of Fired Officers

By Mike Barnhardt
Enterprise Record

The on-again off-again court battle between Mocksville officials and three former police officers is on - again.

In a 2-1 ruling, the U.S. Fourth Circuit of Appeals said that the three officers - Ken Hunter, Rick Donathan and Jerry Medlin - had their rights to free speech violated when they reported what they perceived to be corruption in the Mocksville Police Department. The ruling also says they deserve a trial before a jury.

Former Police Chief Robert Cook and Town Manager Christine Bralley were mentioned specifically in the lawsuit filed by the officers, who are asking for monetary damages and their jobs re-instated.

"The U.S. Court of Appeals has affirmed the trial court's ruling that this case should go to trial on First Amendment free speech grounds," said Robert M. "Hoppy" Elliot, attorney for the three officers. "For speaking out against corruption and mismanagement within the police department, these officers have lost their long-term employment, and potentially their law enforcement careers.

"We are grateful for the opportunity to present their cases in court to a jury to correct the injustices and wrongful conduct committed by the MPD (Mocksville Police Department), and compensate these officers for the damages they have incurred for courageously

In His Blood Mocksville Man Still Working On The Farm At Age 83

By Mike Barnhardt
Enterprise Record

When George H.W. Bush was president, he summonsed Madison Angell into his office. The Mocksville farmer took it in stride.

He had already been in Washington, D.C., while he was president of the National Wheat Growers Assoc. (the first east of the Mississippi River), and he realized quickly that he was just as smart as the folks he was meeting.

"They didn't know any more than I did. I decided that I was as good as they were and I knew as much as they did."

The president wanted to know about wheat production. Angell filled him in.

"It is exciting when the president calls and says he wants to meet you," said Angell, 83.

"I had a pretty good finger on what was happening in the wheat industry."

Angell knows the importance of research in farming, and studying farming trends across the country and world. He formed the N.C. Small Grain Growers Association, which quickly grew into a respected and well funded group.

Angell still farms near his home on Madison Road, which he built with wife Elsie in 1966. He once farmed thousands of acres, here and in southeastern North Carolina.

His family bought the first diesel tractor that came to Davie County, and it, and the first tractor Angell bought, will be on display at the Fourth of July Tractor Show and Parade the July 4th weekend.

A U.S. Air Force and National Guard pilot, Angell spent 5,006 hours flying for the government.

He may have spent more time in the air on his own, flying from his home in Mocksville in his private plane. He would get up early, fly to his farm Down East and work all day, then fly back home.

"If it was raining here, I could go down there and work ... and the seasons start a few weeks earlier there."

He remembers when he would be on the tractor all day, drive to Charlotte and get in the cockpit of a National Guard plane, and within three days be in Vietnam.

At times, he would be in the cockpit for 18 straight hours. It was hard work, but nothing he hadn't done before.

Intro To Softball: Emotions, Cheers And Ice Cream

ROUND HILL, Va. — She struck out, trudged gloomily back to the dugout and stood alone in the far corner, her chin pressed against the chain link fence. Her red eyes brimmed with tears.

It only got worse. On her second at-bat, she struck out swinging again, and her grandfather wanted to share that self-imposed exile in the corner with her.

At 5, she was a giddy cheerleader.

At 6, she's a hard-nosed, eye black-wearing softball player.

A generation ago I saw it often: Proud grandparents trekking to the Little League ballgame only to witness their jittery and nervous third generation players endure the worst games of their young lives swinging for the fences trying vainly to deliver a home run ball to Grandpa.

My sweet Cayden is a member of the Racers, a Loudoun County, Va., team of little girls ages 6-8. She was struck out by a mechanical arm. A coach loaded the ball into a little catapult that fired the ball over the plate. Her bat dipped under the pitch every time — a fixable error in the back yard at home but not during a game. Maybe choke up on the bat. Get a lighter bat. I did a lot of mental coaching while squirming on the aluminum bleachers as she swatted and missed.

"Level swing. Eye on the ball. Now you're ready. Hit that ball."

My best chatter didn't help.

Cayden's father, a baseball addict since age 2, is the Racers' assistant coach and has learned that girls' softball and boys' baseball are not the same sport.

There's no crying allowed in baseball, but tears often flow in softball among emotional little girls devastated by their own errors. Baseball doesn't have cheerleaders, but the Racers repeatedly broke into spontaneous and lengthy cheers in the dugout, providing their own booster club.

My Paul has learned to be very gentle with his coach chatter.

"Just do like Taylor Swift and... Shake it off," he yelled after a strike out.

A product of many years of Davie County Little League, he has introduced North Carolina-style chatter to his daughter's club. "We've got ducks on the pond!" he yells when runners are on base.

The Racers built a lead during the game, but the opposing team mounted a furious last-inning rally: Two outs with ducks on the pond... The ball was hit to the Racers shortstop who turned and fired it to my favorite third baseman in the entire world.

Cayden stretched and caught it — an achievement at this age — to seal the victory.

We took her for a hero's helping of ice cream and re-lived "The Catch" as if she were Willie Mays in the 1954 World Series.

Whenever her daddy's team won, we stopped at the old Cassidy's Store for a $2 milkshake. That was — and is — the best part of baseball... and softball.

Let's revisit my recent claim that the three-day 1975 outlaw hunt with 200 heavily-armed officers was the biggest thing that has ever happened in Farmington. Maybe when Lord Cornwallis marched through with 2,000 Red Coats in 1781 on his way to the Shallowford crossing was bigger. Or as Chip Essie concluded last week, the marriage of venerable school teacher Vada Johnson was biggest of all. Miss Johnson had been "Sweet 16" for 60 years before she married. She was Farmington royalty.

It's Not About Education ...

To the editor:

It's not about education; it's about social issues. At least, that's what Steve Ridenhour said when asked why he had supported his sidekick, Andrew Brock, in the legislative sleight-of-hand that recently decreed that members of the Davie County Board of Education will be picked by partisan election. Mr. Ridenhour said that he supported the change because he wants to make sure that people get elected to the board who share his views on social issues. Apparently it disturbs him that our board members can be selected without declaring their views on issues unrelated to education policy.

Of course, when pressed on what his own views were, or to identify which social issues concerned him, Mr. Ridenhour declined to specify. He opted to keep his views in the closet rather than coming out and telling the voters his stance (Mr. Ridenhour isn't the only one who can make thinly-veiled references to social issues), lest he be branded a bigot.

Compare 17 Years To 17 Hours

To the editor:

While the liberal left is trying their best to dig up some horrific scandal in an effort to destroy Sen. Marco Rubio's character, the best they can come up with is four traffic tickets over the last 17 years. How despicable. How scandalous.

But he will have to try a lot harder to beat Hillary Clinton's record of being responsible for the deaths of four Americans in less than 17 hours at their consulate in Benghazi, Libya. Nevermind the fact that they had pleaded with her for increased security for weeks before the attack, and she refused to provide it. Wow, I guess Sen. Rubio should really hang his head in disgrace for being such an irresponsible public servant. However, I'm sure his driving record is reason enough for non-thinking liberals to vote for Hillary instead of Sen. Marco Rubio, or any other patriotic American.

May God help us all if we have reached a point in our country where we can't distinguish between the lesser of evils of four traffic tickets in 17 years, or four dead Americans in less than 17 hours.

Society Says 'Thank You'

To the editor:

The Davie County Historical Society would like to thank all of those who helped with the booth and historical tours during the Daniel Boone Festival. We had great participation from the community taking our historical tours and wanting to share their own family histories.

Our next historical society meeting will be Thursday evening, June 25, at 7 in the history room at the Davie County Public Library in Mocksville. Guest speaker is Diana Bromley from the Davie County Quilt Guild. She will present a program on antique quilts and textiles. All are welcome.

Thank You, Sen. Brock For Partisan Decision

To the editor:

I would like to thank Senator (Andrew) Brock for making the school board of Davie County a partisan body.

Most people realize there are huge fundamental differences between the two major parties — one liberal and very generous with other people's money and one basically conservative.

If you do not agree with the party with which you are affiliated, perhaps you should consider changing.

Not Advisable To Mention 'Ethics' With The Clintons

To the editor:

I would like to compliment Mr. Caleb Carter on his letter published in the Enterprise on June 11. It was extremely well crafted. It mentioned no scandals and no accomplishments, there are volumes of one and none of the other.

I would like to point out, however, I am not certain it is advisable to bring up the word "ethics" when trying to extol the virtues of the Clintons.

Davie ER Doctor Helps Save Man's Life

By Les Gura
Wake Forest Baptist
HealthWire

Dr. Matthew Cline, medical director of the emergency department at Wake Forest Baptist Health - Davie Medical Center, has little doubt about what might have happened the night of March 20 if Mitch Wyatt had decided to sleep off the pain he'd been having.

"He would be dead."

Instead, Wyatt is grateful to be alive, thanks in part to a series of decisions and actions late that Friday night by himself, his two sons, the emergency department staff at Davie Medical Center - Bermuda Run, paramedics who later transported him to the catheterization lab at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center, and the physicians and nurses who put in a stent that next day and a second one two days later.

"This hit me like a bolt of lightning because I didn't have any signs. No shortness of breath. Nothing," Wyatt said. "It was 10 minutes away from going to bed, and if I had, it probably would have been grim the next morning."

That evening, when he was first struck by pain under the right part of his rib cage, Wyatt said that he took enough painkillers "to kill a mule," but the pain migrated to his spine.

An EMT for 10 years and a volunteer firefighter for Station 15, Fork, Wyatt knew that when pain travels it indicates a serious problem. He was also aware of his family history of cardiovascular problems — his father had a quadruple bypass at age 50 and his mother at 55. So even though Wyatt, 52, was fit and a non-smoker, when the pain traveled again to his arms ("It felt like I had grabbed an electric fence"), he had his youngest son make the quick 11-mile drive to the emergency department.

He was there for close to four hours, and though nearly every test — electrolytes, kidney, liver function, gall bladder, pancreas — came back negative, Cline said that a subtle finding on his electrocardiogram, or EKG, indicated a possible heart issue.

Then Wyatt's heart stopped.

The Davie team shocked him once to restore blood flow and administered more tests. This time, the EKG showed a blocked artery in the back of his heart; the location had made it difficult to fully detect the blockage in the earlier EKG. He was stabilized and prepared to go to the catheterization lab at Wake Forest Baptist.

During transport, his heart stopped again and the affected artery starts to die. He was shocked back to life by paramedics. Wyatt had a STEMI, or ST segment elevation myocardial infarction, the most severe type of heart attack. With a STEMI, a coronary artery is completely blocked off by a blood clot. As a result, the heart muscle supported by the affected artery starts to die.

Davie County EMS recently received an award from the American Heart Association for their exceptional care of heart attack patients, Wyatt said he knew some of the paramedics who transported him to Wake Forest Baptist, and was grateful to them for sticking with him.

He's also grateful to Cline and the team at the Davie Medical Center for recognizing the subtle flaw in his first EKG and helping him decide to have it checked out further.

Cline said Wyatt's case is indicative of the importance of having a local emergency department.

"He would be the poster child for health other than the genetic component he has no control over," Cline said. "Probably a lot of things had to go perfect that night for him to survive. It started with him recognizing — even though he couldn't put his finger on it — that something wasn't right. This was a level of discomfort that you just don't brush off."

Remembering Mike Alexander

To the editor:

Something is missing in Cooleemee. I'm finding out more and more each day what that is. In time I guess reality will permanently set in that Mike Alexander has left us. People who have spent most of their lives here knew Mike and his dog, Bud Jr.

They could usually be seen at Mike's favorite bench at the grocery store. Bud Jr. would actually attract more attention than Mike, and he would chuckle, it being so. Business owners, patrons and the kids always provided treats for Bud and often for Mike. All that changed on April 27 at 2:08 p.m. when Mike Alexander succumbed to a brief illness. Word of his passing spread quickly through our community.

The Cooleemee United Methodist Church (where Mike was a member) proceeded to raise funds for Mike's final expenses. Out of that came an outpouring of love with financial gifts from all around. Donation jars were in businesses. With assistance from friends they even had a bake sale and raffled prizes to raise money.

It wasn't too long before the funds were enough to lay Mike to rest beside his parents. The only thing missing is a grave marker, which one day, someday, will be placed.

Questions are asked in the emergency room of every patient capable of answering for himself in every hospital in America. When the question came: "Do you feel hopeless?", his response was "There's always hope."

I know that Mike was right with Jesus.

I would like to extend a sincere thank you to all who gave to this man's final need in time, effort, money and heart for thoughts and prayers during Mike's ordeal.

Mike was his own unique character. But somehow, I can't help but think that he and Bud Jr., along with many others who have left us early, are somewhat iconic of our generation in this town. But that's just me.

Thanks Boog for you being with us. We'll take good care of Bud Jr.

Richard Bowen Cooleemee

Madison Angell: "I'm going to keep going as long as I can."

"That's just like sitting on a tractor all day and half the night. I've done that, too."

Angell grew up on a farm in the Country Lane area of Mocksville. He learned to work, with a hoe, and following a mule.

"There was never any slack," he said. "There was always something to do."

Because of World War II, the diesel tractor his father had purchased didn't arrive until 1947, five years after the order was placed.

"That was the biggest tractor you could get. That tractor ran just about every day for 20 years."

Although on a smaller scale, Angell has no plans to slow down.

"You can't quit what you've been doing," he said. "I'm going to keep going as long as I can."

The corn is tall behind Madison Angell's two old family farm tractors.

Times Are Changing - In Life And Death

Funeral Director Open To Ideas From Families

By Mike Barnhardt
Enterprise Record

Dorothy Graham has heard her share of requests in 57 years in the funeral business.

But one thing never changed. Try to make the customer happy.

The owner of Graham Funeral Home in Mocksville recently directed her first funeral that featured a horse-drawn hearse.

It was the funeral of Doris C. of Woodleaf. Mrs. Gray liked a few things, her family said, and they thought it would be a classy goodbye.

"We are living - and dying - in the 21st Century," Graham said. "Funeral directors, we have to be open minded and be resourceful to provide what the family requests. They are looking for a way to say good-bye and they want it to be special."

She was ready for the latest request. Although she has been in the business for 57 years and had never had a request for a horse-drawn hearse, she had on file the name of the people who could provide just that.

She remembers well when all funeral employees wore dark clothing and were somber. Now, families sometimes request they all wear the favorite color of the deceased, whether it be red or green or anything in between. Some want hand-held fans with the deceased's photo and birth and death information on it to give to guests. People love to put favorite things of the deceased into the casket.

Even the caskets and vaults can be made certain colors or with certain emblems.

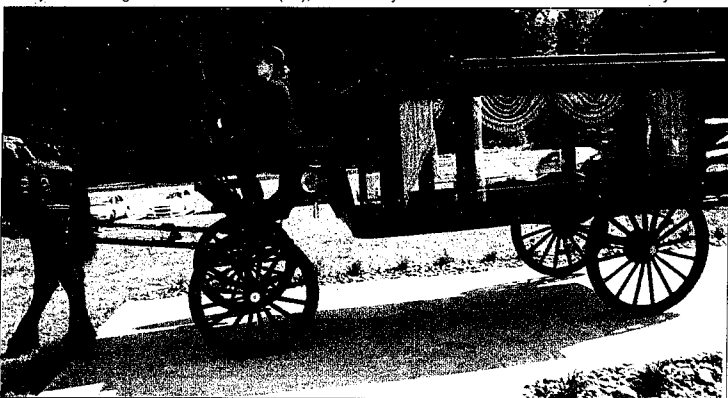

"Whatever helps people bring closure, we try to provide it," she said.

The body of Doris Gray is transported to the grave by a horse-drawn hearse.

Family and friends gather around the hearse (left); while Dorothy Graham adheres to the wishes of the family.

The North Carolina Brass Band will perform a free patriotic music concert Saturday evening at the Kinderton Commercial Center off US 158.

Red, White & Blue Brass Band To Present Free Patriotic Concert Saturday

The Town of Bermuda Run and the Davie County Arts Council will host a free concert on Saturday, June 20 at Kinderton Commercial Center (off US 158) at 7 p.m.

Those attending should bring a lawn chair and, if they wish, a picnic and cooler. In case of rain the concert will be held at the Brock Performing Arts Center in Mocksville at 7 p.m., however, no food or drinks are permitted in the Brock.

The concert will be presented by 28 members of the N.C. Brass Band. The patriotic concert will include 11 classics such as, "Fanfare And The Star-Spangled Banner", "Hymn To The Fallen", "America The Beautiful" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

North Carolina Brass Band is picking up its structure which is prevalent throughout England for professional musicians. In Great Britain, having large scale brass bands has been common for centuries.

Here in America, there have only been two professional all-brass bands.

Until now.

North Carolina can boast that it, too, has a professional all-brass band, named North Carolina Brass Band. This came about from the dream of Director Brian Meixner, an accomplished euphonium player.

Meixner has achieved a lot during this past year, organizing 29 professional musicians, getting its non-profit status, and raising funds to produce the first CD, "First in Flight."

The group is composed of 25 brass players and four percussionists. Many of the musicians also play with the Winston-Salem and Greensboro symphonies, as well as being professors at the universities.

Meixner is High Point University's assistant director of bands.

What is the main difference between a brass band and a concert band?

The answer is simple in that a brass band has only brass instruments, with trumpet-like mouth pieces, and percussion players; concert bands in addition to brass instruments, have woodwinds or reed instruments, such as clarinets, saxophones and flutes.

In a brass band, the principal cornet player is also the concert master, as the first violinist is in a symphony orchestra. Judith Saxton fills that role. She is also the percussion chair and faculty at UNC School of the Arts.

The next free event sponsored by the Town of Bermuda Run will be River Walk - an arts and antiques festival on Saturday, Sept. 26 from 11 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Artists and antique dealers may participate. The featured band on that date will be Rain Check at 7 p.m. For more information about June 20th's concert, or about River Walk, call the arts council executive director, Sidnee Suggs at 751-3112.

The band is the first of its kind in North Carolina and one of a few in the country.

Members of the band mostly teach music and/or are members of a symphony.

Second Chance Friday At Farmington

Second Chance Bluegrass Band will perform Friday night at the Farmington Community Center.

Second Chance Bluegrass Band will perform Friday night, June 19 at Farmington Community Center.

Second Chance has been described as "pickers who can actually sing."

The band is comprised of five who are earning a reputation on the regional bluegrass and gospel circuit for delighting audiences with harmonies and high-energy, acoustic music.

Randy Dally is an accomplished mandolin player with rich vocals. Jon Esick plays the standup bass and is the tenor singer and band manager. Randy Shumaker provides lead vocals and plays guitar and dobro. Jerry Tysinger provides bass and baritone vocals and plays guitar. The banjo player, Tom, lends that bluegrass sound.

Jon, Jerry and Randy Shumaker have toured extensively with such gospel groups as the Faithful Believers, The Sounds of Joy and The Welcomaires. The band is based out of the Lexington area.

The band released its first CD in January 2009 titled "The Bend in the Road" which was written by Randy Schumaker after surviving a battle with cancer. The band name is attributed to Randy's survival of the cancer. Randy has again been diagnosed with cancer and is undergoing treatment and hopes to be strong enough to perform with the band Friday night.

The second CD was presented to the public at a CD release party in May. The CD is titled "It's About Time."

Second Chance won the Dally and Vincent Bluegrass First Annual Band Talent contest in September 2013 at Denton Farm Park. The band performs at private parties, area churches and Prissy Polly's Restaurant in Kernersville. They have performed at the historic Rosine Barn Jamboree in Rosine, Ky. and Denton Farm Park Bluegrass Festival.

Farmington Community Center is at 1723 Farmington Road, Mocksville. The doors open at 6 p.m. and the music begins at 7 p.m. A concession stand is available with food prepared by volunteers. Proceeds support the community center and its programs. For further information contact Rick or Judy Wilson at 492-5962.

Exciting & Sad Cooleemee Students Relish Last Day Of School

Students and teachers look forward to it for weeks - the last day of school.

But when it arrives, the moment can be bitter-sweet. Will I ever see my friends again? What will my new school be like next year? Will I ever see that student again?

Photographer KC Smith caught these images on the last day at Cooleemee Elementary, when fifth graders are treated royally with a walk through a crowd of cheering younger students.

The bottom two photographs show Civitan O.D. Stiller with fourth grade student of the year, Richard McDaniel, teacher of the year Kerry Blackwelder and Civitan Dude Jordan. Blackwelder bangs cymbals for the students.

Congratulations to Conley and Amelia Daniel who will celebrate their anniversary on June 19. If you would like an anniversary or birthday posted in this section, please do not hesitate to call or email me.

Individuals wishing to support the Sheffield-Calaha Community Center and Recreation Area by purchasing a community calendar can contact me at 751-7567, facebook message or via email brfbaily@msn.com. The deadline for ordering a 2016 calendar is July 15. The cost is $5. Businesses and churches may purchase a display advertisement for $35.

New Union was excited to have Russ Clodfelter as guest speaker on Sunday. Russ is active in his home church, Shady Grove UMC in Winston-Salem. His testimonial and sermon was a blessing. In the afternoon, several people came out for an ice cream social. Several freezers held everything from banana to strawberry, and many flavors in between. It was a great time of fun and fellowship.

New Union UMC is playing in the church softball league sponsored by Mocksville/Davie Parks & Recreation. The next game will be Thursday at 9 p.m. vs. Eagle Heights at Rich Park. Support your favorite church team.

On Wednesday, June 24, New Union will sponsor a kid's game night from 6:30-8 p.m. for children pre-K-12th grade. Bring your favorite board games. No electronic devices. Snacks will be provided. Everyone is invited.

Hotdog Saturday at New Union will be Saturday, June 27. The Men's Fellowship will be serving hotdogs, chips and drinks from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. in the parking lot at 1869 Sheffield Road. Donations will be accepted. Women's Fellowship will be holding a bake sale. Crafts and RADA culcuty will be for sale.

Vacation Bible School at New Union is scheduled for July 20-22 from 6-8 p.m., a joint VBS with New Union and Liberty Wesleyan churches.

Sunday night Bible Study at James Baptist discusses the worldview of other religions. The study begins at 5:45 each week. Everyone is invited. Child care is provided.

The Youth of James Baptist meet each Sunday evening at 5:45 for recreation and Bible lessons. Youth 6-12th grade are invited to participate. Youth, ages 12 and up, will go on a retreat to Virginia June 26-28. Please keep them in prayer as they travel.

Wednesday night prayer meetings at James Baptist are held each week at 7 p.m. All are invited as Pastor Daniel leads in prayer and Bible study.

Vacation Bible School at James Baptist will be held July 26-31 from 6-8:30 each evening. The theme is "Camp Discovery."

Worship services at Community Covenant Church are held each Sunday at 10:45 a.m. and at 6 p.m. A small group Bible Study is held each Wednesday from 7-8 p.m. Everyone is invited.

The Fox Mountain Entertainers will perform Saturday at The Komer Deli in Harmony. Special guest will be yours truly.

Sons of the South will perform at Debbie's Country Kitchen Friday.

The Harmony Owls Team 2, ages 9-10, not only finished the season undefeated, but they won the championship tournament. We are proud of their hard work and team spirit. Thanks to Linda Goforth for sharing the photo taken after the championship game. Her grandson, Riley Goforth, plays for the Owls.

The jam session is in full swing at the R.L. Steelman homeplace on Lone Hickory Road on Wednesday evening's beginning at 7. It was closed for several months, but reopened after Easter. If you like to pick, sing or just listen, this is a great place.

Melissa Gaitner invites children (0-4) to Toddler

Travis Turner, Clara Elise Paul and Cole Turner show their marbled papers made from shaving cream and paint at the Harmony Public Library.

Storytime each Wednesday morning from 10:30-11 at the Harmony Public Library. The children sing songs, play musical instruments, enjoy a story, do crafts and have snacks. On Saturday, May 30, Kevin Campbell of Campbell Family Nursery, presented "Promo - Native Plants and Cold Hardy Cacti" about plants native to North Carolina with emphasis on plants specific to the local area. He discussed the positive side of growing cold-hardy cacti. Children and parents enjoyed his informative presentation.

Flag Day was observed at Advance United Methodist Church on Sunday, June 14. During the worship service a moment of silence was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

Alan Watson was recognized as 2015 Davie County High School graduate. He was presented a gift from the church.

Vacation Bible School will be held at Advance First Baptist Church 6:30-8:30 p.m. June 22-25.

A large crowd attended the wedding of Danny Chandler and Vickie Wentz at Advance Methodist Sunday afternoon. Congratulations to them.

Brenda Zimmerman of Glen Cove, N.Y. has spent the past five days with her mother, Edith Zimmerman.

The women were surprised by a visit one morning by Ronald Zimmerman of Mocksville. In genealogy research, they found that Ronald is a distant cousin.

Alan Jones remains in Forsyth Medical Center where he is showing improvement from brain surgery on June 9.

Gorman and Juanita Dale of Morganton were Monday afternoon visitors of cousin Annalee Myers.

Get-well wishes go to Faye Hoots Pindexter who has undergone back surgery and is recovering satisfactorily. Our best wishes to Bob Potts following his recent surgery. Also we would like to remember Jerry Stockton who is not doing too well.

Olivia Talbert has been admitted to the Trinity Elms in Clemmons. Our best wishes and prayers go out to her and her family.

Sympathy Thank You

The family of the late Doris M. Gray wish to thank all the family and friends who offered their support to them during the short illness, and after her passing. For all the warmth and love expressed, your prayers and presence, we say "Thank You", and God bless each of you.

Saturday, June 20, will find Wesley Chapel UMC people serving breakfast - the last until September - please find your way to Pino. Wesley Chapel is three miles west of Farmington off NC 801 N. on Pino Road. The breakfast menu will include: country ham, sausage, scrambled eggs, grits, red-eye gravy, sawmill gravy, homemade biscuits, baked apples, coffee and juice.

Father's Day is fast approaching which has caused me to think of my father as did the scripture in a recent Sunday School lesson. When I read the scripture, which is one of the most familiar sections of the Bible, I thought, "That describes my Daddy."

In 1 Corinthians 13: 4-7 we find these words: "Love is patient, love is kind, it isn't jealous, it doesn't brag, it isn't arrogant, it isn't rude, it doesn't seek its own advantage, it isn't irritable, it doesn't keep a record of complaints, it isn't happy with injustice, but it is happy with the truth, love puts up with all things, trusts in all things, hopes for all things, endures all things."

My father, Everett Frost Etchison, was indeed patient. He never lost patience with one of his children or grandchildren when they asked a thousand questions. He took time to answer each question and would often use any material available to illustrate his answer. He was patient with each child when he/she wanted to tag along as he worked. He would wait if they walked slowly, and he would provide a place for the child to wait as he worked at the sawmill or planer. He was kind and patient with people who worked for and with him, even those who sometimes did stupid things.

My Daddy was a sawmill man. That job certainly required patience and skill. He was considered one of the best sawyers anywhere. One reason for this is that he made sure his equipment was in perfect shape before he began work. He would oil and file the sawteeth one at a time until he had each one sharp and ready to hit a log. There were many teeth on a big saw blade so this job took patience.

One picture that is engraved on my mind is that of him sitting at that saw with his glasses off filing those sawteeth. (He removed his glasses to do work close up.) The saw itself had to be just right to saw a log perfectly. Occasionally, he would have to take the saw to

Hamlet to get it hammered in order to get the tension and dish just right. Once everything was back in order, "Mr. Everett" would start the big diesel engine, roll a log up on the carriage, set the equipment to make the plank a certain thickness, pull the level to move the log to the saw. He moved at such a slow deliberate pace that young men who came to carry the lumber from the mill (off-bare) thought that they would have an easy day working with a slow old man. What they did not know was that he could continue his same pace from sunup until sundown. Many of those younger men have told me that Mr. Everett almost worked them to death - he was in his 70s or 80s at that time. When a younger person could not keep it, Mr. Everett would slow up to give them extra time - always patient.

Once when I took Daddy to Hamlet to get the saw hammered, I took him to Jordan Lumber Co., which was nearby. It was a big commercial business which used all the latest technology to operate sawmills. When I went to the office, the man there said that he did not give tours because of the danger. I explained that my father had been sawing about 70 years so the man gave him a hard hat and said, "Come on."

My Daddy was an old man but he climbed up those catwalks and went all over the plant. It seemed to me that logs were flying in every direction, but it was all operating correctly, and thousands of board feet of lumber was being sawed daily. That was a great trip for a man who had sawdust in his veins.

My father was equally patient working with the threshing machine or corn shredder. There were times when a belt or some other part would break. It would be a situation to try men's souls. Mr. Everett would take it all in stride - he would lace the belt or make or buy a new part and get things running again. He was certainly "slow to anger." The scripture said, "Love isn't irritable." He would not get irritable in situations which would tend to cause others great grief. Sometime my Daddy could cause other family members to get impatient. The family would be in the old car ready to go to church, and they would probably already be late. Daddy would come to the car, stop at the door, take out his pipe, carefully fill it with tobacco, pack the tobacco down, take a match and little rock from his pocket, strike the match on the rock, light the pipe, return the rock to his pocket, carefully get in the car, and shut the door. By that time everyone in the family was either saying or wanting to say, "Hurry up!" Such an admonition would not have done any good because the ritual would have continued the same way and at the same pace.

Mr. Everett was kind to people in every walk of life. He had great respect for all people - old, young, rich, poor, black, white, Jew or Greek. He treated the sawmill worker, the farm hand, the doctor, the lawyer, and the beggar with equal respect.

An example of his respect is illustrated by the fact he called a man nicknamed Cheving Gum. He used a proper title for everyone whatever their station in life and was equally kind to all. Once he was in the hospital and his roommate was a black man. The doctor told the black man that he could go home. The man said, "No. I am not leaving until Mr. Everett does." Mr. Everett was dismissed.

The respect Mr. Everett showed others was repaid in kind. Occasionally there would be a knock at his back door. There at the door would be his dentist and he would say, "I've brought Mr. Everett a piece of cake." He befriended all, and they in turn were kind to him.

Once some prisoners escaped from the Davie County Prison, and the authorities seemed to think they might be in the Cana area. Someone called me at work and said that they were worried about Mr. Everett because the escapes might be near his house. I said, "Don't worry. If they show up at the Etchison place, Mr. Everett will just say, 'Come on in boys and have a Pepsi' and everything will be alright."

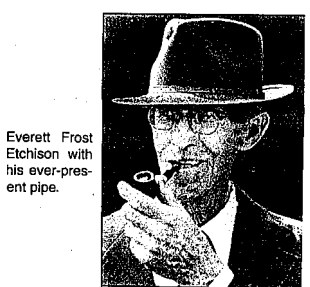

The prisoners were captured someplace else; but I believe my Daddy would have been able to take care of the situation safely. Everett Etchison was kind to animals as well as to humans. He never drove his horses to the point of exhaustion and carefully used a curry comb and a brush daily to keep their coats clean and shining. Never were his horses, Dan and Bob, dirty or wooly-looking. He was equally kind to his cattle and other animals. I did see him get mad at a cow once when the cow appeared to be trying to kill him by kicking back like a mule. He was not kind to that cow so he could be provoked. He also got quite upset with me once when I threw a stick of stove wood at my brother, John. He showed me that he was not happy with injustice or misbehavior.

Everett Etchison showed that love was patient and kind by the way he lived. He was not a huggy, touchy person but every member of his family and in fact everyone he met could feel his love. The scripture says that love doesn't brag and is not arrogant. My father was a humble man. He was not a braggart, and he was certainly in no way arrogant. He simply lived quietly by the side of the road and was a friend to man.

My Daddy wasn't a saint but a man whose daily life exemplified the characteristics of love found in Corinthians. He was a great companion for his children and grandchildren and a faithful and kind husband to his wife, Lola Sothey Etchison. It was a special privilege to do things with him to the mill at Mocksville when I was a little girl. We would climb in the old truck with worn-out seats with burlap sacks, and bump on the dirt Cana Road toward Mocksville. It was fun to wait in the mill office with Miss Martha Call while the grain was ground into flour and to make the bumpy ride home with Daddy. I was always with him when I could do anything with my Daddy. Daddy would often carry me in his arms when I was with him until I was displaced by my brother when I was 5. I was a long-legged 5 so my legs almost touched the ground by that time.

In later years, I loved taking Daddy to Wilkesboro to get sawteeth. Once I took him to Sparta with me, and we were going to come back to Wilkesboro. We were on one of the little mountain roads out of Sparta which was all covered with trees. It was dark and rainy and suddenly we came upon a little white church front of the church said, "Jesus is coming." My Daddy looked at the sign and said quietly, "I don't if he will ever find his way in here or not." I don't think he thought I would ever find the way out but I did, and he was one happy man when we got to Meadows Milling in Wilkesboro.

James Wesley Etchison, Everett Etchison's nephew, who holds multiple degrees, has traveled the world, and is a successful businessman, who has a flying school in New York, recently published a book called "The Sky Is Not The Limit." In the book, Jimmy said: "Aunt Lola and Uncle Everett (rarely seen without a pipe in his mouth) were my heroes. Although it's too late to tell Uncle Everett and Aunt Lola now, I appreciate and love them for the values they taught me, which prepared me for the future." Jimmy paid a wonderful tribute to his Aunt Lola and Aunt Everett Etchison. Every member of the Etchison family as well as many other people would say amen to James Etchison's sentiments.

On Father's Day and every other day of the year, children, Mary Etchison Babcock, John Walter Etchison, and myself and grandchildren, Frances West Tutter, Henry West, Susan Balan, and Patricia Etchison Burleson, remember Everett Frost Etchison and are proud and happy they can call him their Daddy or their Papa.

It was an early morning wake-up for Society Baptist pastoral family. Cory J. Turner of Society Road was traveling west on Society Road, crossed the center line, ran off the road to the left, struck the median divider on Garden Valley Road, continued traveling west, running off the road straight ahead, and striking the Society Baptist parsonage, reported NC Highway Patrol Trooper M.M. Powell. Turner told Powell he fell asleep. County Line VFD C.J. Diggins, who lives nearby, was on the scene within seconds and administered aide to Turner, who was taken to the hospital and later released.

County Line is in a 90-degree plus heat wave. Stay hydrated and take frequent breaks when outside. Check on folks living alone, especially our elderly ones.

Join the Salem United Methodist Men for breakfast from 6-10 a.m. Saturday, June 20 at the County Line VFD on Ridge Road .1 mile from US 64 West. The breakfast buffet includes country ham and sausage, scrambled eggs, grits, baked apples, red-eye gravy, sausage gravy, biscuits, and drink. Pancakes are served upon request. Donations are accepted. Shop the bazaar table of crafts and baked goods. Proceeds benefit the building of a new fellowship hall.

The Women on Missions of Society Baptist will meet at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) in the fellowship hall. Mary Jo Lewis will report on the book "Both Feet In," the story of Bud and Jane Fray's 28 years of service as missionaries to Africa. Through August, the group is collecting healthy snack items for children of families in need, including packs of nabs, cups of pudding and apple sauce, raisins, and the like. Children take vacations, but hunger takes no vacation. For more information or to donate, please call Mary Jo on 704-546-7141.

The Society Baptist softball team invites everyone to support them as they play at 8 tonight (Thursday) and at 9 p.m. Monday, June 22 at Rich Park in Mocksville. Upcoming community events: "Senior Bingo" sponsored by V-Point Ruritans at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 25; Bible school at Clarksburg Methodist Church 27-28; and St. Matthews Lutheran homecoming at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 28.

Our community sends get-well wishes to Wilma Cooper, Jean T. Snyder, Ricky Swisher, and Cory Turner. Wilma will have heart surgery today (Thursday) at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center. Jean suffered a stroke, was at Rowan Medical Center for several days, and is in rehab at Autumn Care of Statesville. Ricky had emergency back surgery at Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center last Sunday. Cory was checked for injuries and released after his auto accident. Betty Lou Richardson remains at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Perry "Shorty" Cartner remains at Davis Regional Medical Center. Om Stroud and David Steele remain in rehab at Iredell Memorial Hospital. Pat Swisher remains in rehab at Autumn Care of Statesville.

Join us in prayer for the Lord's divine healing and blessings upon Wilma, Jean, Ricky, Cory, Betty Lou, Shorty, Om, David, Pat, and others who are having health problems. Please pray for the teenagers who were attacked by sharks at Oak Island Sunday. Please exercise caution when at the beach and in water deep enough for sharks to be. Our community gives thanks to the Lord for protecting everyone involved as the vehicle crashed through the wall of a front bedroom at the Society Baptist parsonage Wednesday of last week. Society Pastor Jeff Holder, wife Tabatha, and two older children were in the living room and their younger child Nathan was still asleep in the front end bedroom when the crash occurred. Normally the kids are playing in the room where the crash occurred. Driver Cory Turner was able to crawl out of the car and was not seriously injured. The Holders are unable to stay in the home until repairs are made. Again, we give a "Praise the Lord" for taking care of everyone.

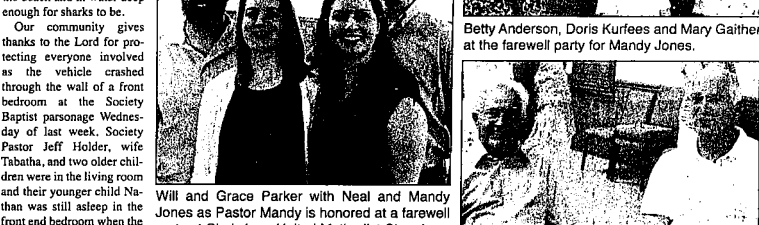

For news and memories to share, call Shirley on 492-5115 or email sdthn@hmail.com. If you, or you know of someone who has graduated from an educational institute or received a certificate or an award, send a photo plus data for our special graduation tribute.

Smith Rescues Jr. Legion In 7th

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Mocksville's junior legion baseball team didn't employ a typical recipe for success in a home league game against the Kannapolis O's on June 10. Mocksville did it the hard way, winning 4-3 with a thrilling - and improbable - rally in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Cody Smith came to the rescue. His two-run hit gave Mocksville a walk-off win, but a lot happened before Smith dug in the box. Mocksville trailed 3-2 going into its last at-bat.

"You've heard the phrase 'snatching victory from the jaws of defeat,'" coach Tim McKnight said. "That's what we did. In the book it wasn't real pretty, but we pulled it out."

Mocksville improved to 10-1 overall and 3-1 in the league despite getting held to four hits. The 10-1 mark matched the best start in the junior legion's 13-year history; the 2003 squad also opened 10-1.

Smith (1 for 3), Ben Summers (1-3), Jake Barneycastle (1-3) and Henry Stone (1-3) had the hits. Mocksville was helped by nine walks.

"We left a lot of runners on base," McKnight said. "We couldn't get the big hit that we needed - until the seventh inning."

West tied it in the fourth and took the lead in the seventh. With a runner at second, two outs and two strikes on the batter in the seventh, a ground-ball single gave West a 2-1 lead.

"Stone made a good pitch," McKnight said. "He had been getting them on the slider all night. We got him out on his front foot, but he hit it past (third baseman McKnight)."

The seventh was nerve-wracking. Ridge Sanders, the first batter of the inning, came off the bench to single to right-center.

"Ridge has been hitting the ball really good," McKnight said of the .384 hitter (10 for 26).

Please See Page B5

his glove. Hunter Bowles entered as a pinch-runner.

Mocksville was three for three in stolen-base attempts, and McKnight contemplated giving Bowles the steal sign. He chose not to. Good thing because Guy Brunelli drew a walk. Evan Marshall came in to run for Brunelli.

"I didn't try to steal Bowles because Brunelli was ahead in the count 2-0, 2-1 and 3-1," he said. "The pitcher was starting to struggle a little bit. I second-guessed myself, but it worked out."

Ridge Sanders drew a walk to load the bases. That set the stage for Smith. Fans held their breath as Smith fell behind 0-1. The crowd exploded when Smith lined the next pitch up the middle. Bowles trotted home to tie the game. Marshall rounded third. It was a bang-bang play at the plate, but Mocksville got the safe call.

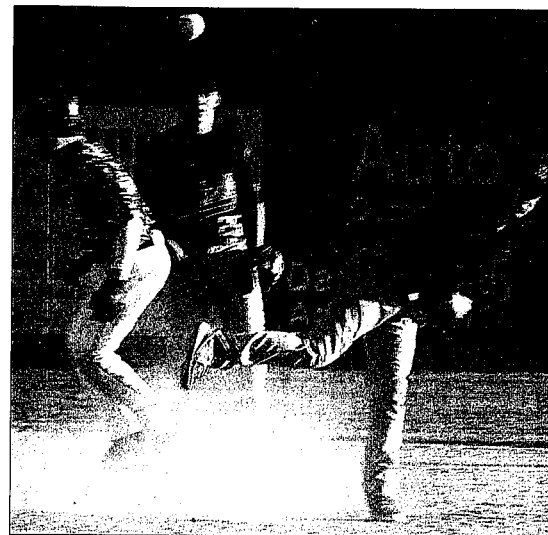

"The center fielder was playing shallow and he fielded it clean," McKnight said. "He hit the cutoff man. I thought (umpire Jonathan Frasher) was going to ring him up, but he didn't."

Smith put the finishing touch on a fourth straight win. The scores during the uprising have been 4-3, 6-2, 7-4 and 4-3.

"Cody gets big hits," he said. "He came in .285 or .290. He puts good swings on the ball. He's been squaring it up. When he's hitting good, he's going to hit line drives and hard ground balls. That's the way he lives."

Corbin Jefferson got the win after holding Kannapolis scoreless for 1 1/3. He inherited a second-and-third, two-out jam in the sixth. With runners at second and third, the next batter popped out to Smith.

What a difference a year makes. At this point in 2014, Mocksville was 4-7.

Shortstop Henry Stone looks on as second baseman Evan Marshall tries to turn two.

Jr. Legion Pulls Rabbit Out Of The Hat - Again

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

How many rabbits can fit in the Mocksville junior legion baseball team's hat? After winning three one-run games, including one two days earlier, you had to think Mocksville's was finally empty when visiting West Forsyth took a 2-1 lead to the bottom of the seventh. The law of averages was finally going to get Mocksville, right?

Nope. Mocksville used up another one of its nine lives in a 3-2 non-league win on June 12. This time the heroes were Smith (again), Matthew McKnight, Landon Bandy, Jake Barneycastle and Ben Summers. And don't forget Henry Stone, who went the distance on the mound. At 11-1, Mocksville owns the best start in the program's 13-year history. "Another nailbiter," coach Tim McKnight said. "It was pretty exciting."

Stone, who pitched all seven in a 5-2 win at West on May 22, was at it again, allowing six hits and one earned run and running his record to 4-0. He was sharp after getting five days' rest. Stone won't be around this week to play, so it was good to take advantage of his last start for a while.

"He finally kept his pitch-count down," McKnight said.

Mocksville struck first in the bottom of the first. With Barneycastle taking off on a steal from first, Summers singled to center. The center fielder misplayed it and Barneycastle need home.

West tied it in the fourth and took the lead in the seventh. With a runner at second, two outs and two strikes on the batter in the seventh, a ground-ball single gave West a 2-1 lead.

"Stone made a good pitch," McKnight said. "He had been getting them on the slider all night. We got him out on his front foot, but he hit it past (third baseman McKnight)."

The seventh was nerve-wracking. Ridge Sanders, the first batter of the inning, came off the bench to single to right-center.

"Ridge has been hitting the ball really good," McKnight said of the .384 hitter (10 for 26).

Incredible Fulk

Sr. Legion's Ace Pitcher Notches Third Win

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

Where would the Mocksville legion baseball team be without Brett Fulk? He pitched six dominant innings to lead a 9-6 Area III win at Davidson County's Holt-Moffitt Field on June 11.

Barrett Hennings and Charlie Muchukot provided two hits each and Fulk allowed two hits and two unearned runs as Mocksville (2-9, 1-1 Area III) broke a four-game losing streak and won for the first time in 13 days. Davidson slipped to 7-7, 3-2.

Mocksville had allowed 14, 12 and 12 runs in the previous three games. Thanks to Fulk, the trend stopped. At 3-1, he owns every win this season. He lowered his ERA to 2.04 in 22 innings. To put that in perspective, the team's ERA is 6.75. Let that sink in.

"Excellent," coach Charles Kurfies said of Fulk's performance. "He was laboring in the sixth inning and it was time to get him out of the game. He pitched a heck of a game for six innings, a really good game."

Lefty-swinging Hennings (2-4) doubled off the wall in right-center, just missing a home run. He has a season-long 12-game hitting streak. He leads the team in average (.440), at-bats (50), hits (22), doubles (five) and RBIs (eight).

"I knew he was a pretty good hitter," Kurfies said of the redshirt freshman from Gardner-Webb.

Muchukot went 2 for 4 with two runs and a walk. Mocksville got one hit from Nolan Stanley (1-4), Sawyer Davis (1-4, walk), Ross Hoffner (1-4, two RBIs) and Colby Cranfill (1-3, walk). Elijah Jones contributed two walks and two runs.

Mocksville was able to pull away while getting outhit 9-8 because Davidson killed itself with seven errors. Mocksville knows all about self-inflicted wounds.

"Not much to say," Davidson coach Dale Moser told The Dispatch. "We made a lot of errors and had a couple of people playing out of position, but that's no excuse. You've got to make plays with the people you've got out there. If you make seven errors against a team in legion, they're going to beat you."

Mocksville started slowly, getting one hit (a first-inning single by Hennings) in the first three innings. But the bats awakened in the fourth, when Mocksville pushed across two two-out runs on an error, a double by Muchukot and a single by Davis. Two errors were sandwiched around a Stanley single in Mocksville's two-run fifth, pushing the lead to 4-1.

Left fielder Beau Byerly and shortstop Kenny Overfelt were both hitless, but they provided defensive gems to help the cause. In the sixth, when Davidson scored one to cut the margin to 4-2, it had a runner at first with two outs. Byerly made a sensational catch in deep left - up on the bank - to end the inning. "I sort of lost it," Kurfies said. "I couldn't tell if he fell down or went against the bank. The next thing I know he makes the catch. He's a pretty good outfielder. Beau's doing real well to have never played senior legion. He's actually one of the youngest guys on the team and he's holding his own. He has struggled a little bit at the plate, but he's good defensively and he's going to get a lot more at-bats as this summer goes."

A nifty play by Overfelt in the seventh prevented a hit and preserved a 4-3 lead. Mocksville took total control in the eighth, scoring five runs on four hits and two walks. Hennings doubled and Muchukot singled before Hoffner's single plated a pair. Then came a single by Cranfill as the margin mushroomed to 9-3.

Post 54/174 had a season high in runs, the nine representing the most in 15 games. The beleaguered defense had another underwhelming performance, committing four errors, but that's a lot better than the previous two games. Mocksville had 11 and nine errors in lopsided losses to Rowan County and South Rowan.

Jalen Scott and Cranfill pitched in relief as Mocksville beat Davidson for the second time in three meetings this season.

"We're still not making plays like we need to," Kurfies said. "We're still not being athletic enough. We haven't caught up with the speed of the game yet. We've got to get our defense shored up. I mean we can't make errors and expect to win games. We can win some games offensively, but you win championships with defense, and our defense is not close to where it needs to be."

Kurfies raved about Muchukot's talent and baseball IQ, particularly a marathon ninth-inning at-bat in which he fell behind 0-2, battled back to 3-2 and eventually drew a walk. A part-time player this summer, he manned center field and batted fifth in the order as Stanley slid from center to right.

"I don't know how many he fouled off," Kurfies said of the walk. "I was sitting there thinking, 'Man, this is unbelievable.' He just kept fouling off pitches.

"He makes a big difference in our team. He's one of the best players we've got.

He understands the game and he knows how to play the game. He understands situations."

Notes: Scott (.347) failed to get a hit in a game in which he appeared as a batter for the first time all season, his streak ending at eight. ... Nick Wilton, who wasn't able to attend the game, is hitting .363 (4 for 11), while Stanley is at .352 (6-17). ...

Mocksville might hit another rough patch this week as tough trips will leave the roster depleted. "We won't be fully staffed (this week)," Kurfies said. "We're going to try to compete and we should have everybody back around the 19th or 20th."

M'ville Unravels Vs. S. Rowan

By Brian Pitts

Davie Enterprise Record

Mocksville's senior legion baseball game against visiting South Rowan on June 9 was like seeing the same movie twice. After committing 11 errors in a 12-2 loss to Rowan County in the previous outing, Mocksville collected nine errors in a 12-4 loss to South Rowan.

Making matters worse, it was Mocksville's Area III league opener.

Not only was Mocksville's defense a wreck, walks added to the frustration. While South pitching did not hand out a single free pass, three Mocksville pitchers issued seven walks.

"That's the difference in the game," assistant coach Todd Dungan said. "They didn't hit very many balls hard. We gave them (most of what) they got."

"At one point in the game, we had 10 hits, they had three hits and the score was tied 4-4," coach Charles Kurfies said. "When you walk people it puts the defense in a bad predicament. We have a defense that doesn't have confidence in the pitching, and we have pitchers who don't have confidence in the defense."

After falling behind 2-0 in the top of the first, Mocksville scored twice to take a 3-2 lead in the second. It pushed the lead to 4-2 in the fourth. The Mocksville wheels began to wobble in the South fifth, when the visitors parlayed a single, walk, error and hit batsman into two runs that tied the game. The wheels came off in the seventh, when two errors and three hits gave South three unearned runs - and a 7-4 lead - off reliever Colby Cranfill.

While South improved to 7-5 overall and 2-1 in the league, Mocksville (2-9, 0-1) is stuck with its second four-game losing streak of the season. It has been outscored 43-12 in the latest slide.

Mocksville wound up losing big despite outpitching South 13-9.

"Same old story," Kurfies said. "When we got behind, our approach at the plate got bad and we went back to hitting lazy fly balls. We had no approach at all. (South) starting pitcher Blaine Johnson) threw strikes. He threw it across the plate."

Nolan Stanley (3-for-5, double), Nick Wilson (2-5) and Kenny Overfelt (2-4) had multi-hit games for Mocksville. Barrett Hennings (1-5) singled in the first to extend his hitting streak to 11. Mocksville also got one hit from Elijah Jones (1-4), Jalen Scott (1-4), Sawyer Davis (1-4), Ross Hoffner (1-3) and Neil Hutchins (1-4).

Even though morale is way down, the coaches still believe in their team.

"This team could get on a roll - but we've got to catch the baseball," Bumgarner said. "We've got a decent team," Kurfies said. "We should have beat that team. It's upsetting when you know you've got some decent players. I really thought we were focussed and engaged."

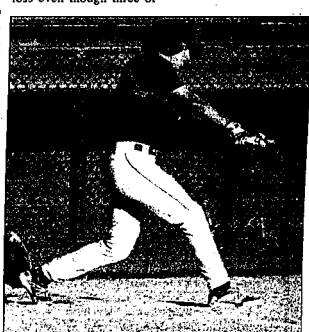

You win them in the seventh, eighth and ninth and you lose them in the first three innings. When we get down in the late innings, we are laying down. We've got to battle back in the money innings."

Notes: Cranfill took the loss even though three of four runs off him in three innings were unearned. ... Scott has appeared as a batter in eight games, and he has a hit in all eight, giving him a .363 average. ... Overfelt bumped his average to .333 (12-36).

School Volunteers Making A Difference

DAVIE COUNTY ENTERPRISE RECORD, Thursday, June 18, 2015 - B7

Davie County Schools has more than 1,500 volunteers that make a difference every day to the students and staff.

Each year, the schools are charged with the task of selecting one to represent their school as the Volunteer of the Year. They were treated to a breakfast with a performance from the Davie County High School Vocal Ensemble.

As a token of appreciation for their dedication and service, the volunteers of the year were given ceramic pieces made by the Davie County High School's art classes.

Volunteers of the Year:

• Chinera Latham, Central Davie Academy;

• Brandi Correll, Cooleme Elementary;

• Kim Wells-Wait, Cornatzer Elementary;

• Melinda Szeliga, Davie County Early College High;

• Elizabeth Bumgarner, Davie County High;

• Ann Rothberg, Mocksville Elementary;

Cuttlefish Research Makes ND Student A 'Young Scientist'

Sarah Bracken knows all about cuttlefish.

The North Davie Middle School graduate will have her article, "Cuttlefish: Masters of Disguise" printed in The Young Scientists Journal.

North Davie eighth grade science teachers Dan Tabat and Jonathan Mayfield, along with Tonya Kern, ND eighth grade AIG Language Arts teacher, and Christine Callahan, media coordinator, collaborated to provide students with an authentic writing experience.

Students were required to pick a science topic that interested them, research the topic and write a paper for submission to The Young Scientists Journal, an online peer reviewed journal for students ages 12-20.

All facts and pictures used had to be properly cited and the students learned about abstracts and how to write one. Each student completed the task and submitted an article for review.

Bracken's article will be published in a future issue of Young Scientists Journal.

Sarah Bracken

"This is a great honor as hundreds of articles are submitted each quarter and only a few are chosen as they go through a rigorous peer review process," Kerr said. "We are proud of all of our students who submitted articles and hope more of them will be published in the future."

Anne Blackman Goodin

Anne Blackman Goodin died on June 9, 2015, at Forsyth Medical Center.

She was born Jan. 2, 1932. A native of Newton, she was a Winston-Salem resident since the mid-80s and had resided at Brookridge Retirement Community for the past eight years until the last two months when she moved in with her daughter, Debby.

She was preceded in death by her parents Mr. and Mrs. M.F. Blackman; her brothers, Don, J.P. and Harry James; and her husband James C. Goodin Sr.

She met her husband when they were 14 and 15 and married him 4 years later. They moved to Greenville, Miss. where he was stationed in the Air Force and their family began with Debby, Jimmy and Donny. When not chasing three children under the age of 3, she worked as a church secretary, a choir director and soloist. Three years later they returned to Newton where she worked as a secretary for Burlington Mills and continued her music ministry. He joined the Highway Patrol and was transferred to Stanley, where they were active members of Brington Memorial Baptist Church and she worked as a secretary for Gaston County Dyeing Machine Co. In 1963, the family was made complete when the fourth child, Amy, made her surprise debut. In 1969, the Highway Patrol moved them to Mocksville where they joined the First Baptist Church. She was employed at BB&T as a customer service representative. Both were involved with the Eastern Star Chapter where they served as Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron for years. Upon retirement, they moved to Winston-Salem to be closer to their children. They were married for 48 years until his death in September of 1999.

Always smiling, she was loved by family and friends. Her recipes for country style steak, chicken salad and fudge are legendary. She loved to play cards, the slot machines in the Bahamas and Harrah's. She always told her preachers that "if I'm not winning, I'm not sinning."

Her body was donated to the Wake Forest School of Medicine for use in medical research.

Her memorial service was held at Knollwood Baptist Church at 11 a.m. on Saturday, June 13.

Survivors: 4 children: Debby Teague of Winston-Salem, who has 2 sons, Ken (Lindsay) of Winston-Salem and Lacy (Jillian) of Dallas, Texas; Jimmy Goodin (Barbara) of Mocksville, and their 5 sons, Clint (Rachel) of York, S.C., Chuck (Jaime) of East Bend, Ind., Jacob (Heather) of Winston-Salem, John Kennedy of North Wilkesboro, and Matt Kennedy (Bobbie) of Jonesville; Doan Goodin of Winston-Salem and his son, Austin (Robin) of Advance; and Amy Goodin Powers of Winston-Salem, and her 3 children, Tess Miller of Mocksville, Zach Miller of Goldsboro, and Sydney Crawford of East Bend; and 9 great-grandchildren; many nieces, nephews and cousins; many friends; her sister, Bobbie Kiersey of Atlanta, Ga. and her family; and her special friend, J.L. Boyd of Winston-Salem.

Memorials: Knollwood Wellness and Community Center, c/o Knollwood Baptist Church, 330 Knollwood St., Winston-Salem, 27104.

Movies And More At The Library Next Week

The Youth Services Department of Davie County Public Library will introduce its newest programs starting June 22.

Monday evening at 6:30 the Family Show will feature a production of "Timothy & The Strong Pajamas" by Vivian Schwarz, a heroic puppet show adapted from the book. After the show, Mr. Lemoncello's Games and Robo-Lego carts will be rolled out for families to enjoy quality time until 8. The game title is from Chris Grabenstein's juvenile fiction, "Escape from Mr. Lemoncello's Library" which incorporates gaming and library skills. The cart is loaded with board, card and family games for all ages.

The library has amassed a collection of LEGO Mindstorms sets for building robotic and static creations. A substitution is necessary from the published schedule for Tuesday. Instead of Bicycle Safety at 10:30, Ranger, the Tail Waggin' Tutor, and his owner Jill Gailher will share information about Therapy Dogs International and Ranger's training and volunteerism. No 2 p.m. program this day. The Teen Tuesday group will meet in the conference room from 3:30-5 p.m.

Wednesday at 11 a.m. Munchin' at the Movies shows "Lego Movie," PG, 101 minutes and at 1 p.m. for Snackin' at the Cinema see "Fault in Our Stars" PG13, 126 min.

Thursday, Ranger and Mrs. Archer are off, so no Reader Clubs, but Next Chapter Book Clubs for adults and teens will meet at 3:30 p.m.

Pre-school Story Time is off this Friday. Ranger is off this Saturday. DCPL programming is free and open to the public.

Visit the calendar for more details at www.library.daviecounty.org.

Forever Homes Needed

Grizzly is a Shepherd mix with an estimated date of birth of Feb. 26. He may look like a bear but has a heart of gold. He is a lively puppy who likes to play outside. He would love a family with a big yard to play in. Averey is a young black domestic shorthair with an estimated date of birth of March 25. He is energetic and would require a stimulating home environment. Averey is friendly with other cats and people. If interested in meeting these or other pets, fill out an application at www.daviechumane.org or call the Davie Humane Society's Pet Adoption Center at 751-5214.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

Visit Davie's Habitat ReStore

Davie County's Habitat ReStore is located at 124 Wilkesboro Street in Mocksville, the store has a homey feel and an inviting atmosphere. The store is open Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and contains construction items as well as clothing, knick-knacks, bedding, furniture, books and more.

Open to the Public

Tiffany Rycroft, store manager, says the move to Wilkesboro Street a few months ago has been a very positive one and she is excited about the increased traffic at the new location. "A lot of people don't realize that we are open to the public," she says. "They think we only have construction items for contractors, but actually we carry just about any item you can think of and everyone is welcome to shop here." One of the best parts about shopping at Habitat ReStore, in her opinion, is that the money raised helps build a house for a local family in need. The family is able to make affordable payments and purchase the home at 0% interest thanks to the efforts of Habitat for Humanity. Habitat seeks to put God's love into action by bringing people together to build homes, communities and hope.

Accepting Donations

Drop-offs can be made anytime during store hours and all items are inspected for holes, stains, smells, and rips. For large items, pick up may be arranged. There is a delivery charge of $35 unless you donate a suitable item at the time of delivery, and then delivery is free. Come shop or donate at Habitat ReStore and give back to the community at the same time, you'll be glad you did.

What A Stink

Composting Business Near New School A Hot Topic

By Mike Barnhardt
Enterprise Record

Pete Gallins studied composting in college. He spent a year at a facility in Wyoming testing best practices.

Then he came to Davie County and started his own composting facility. He takes leftover green materials - fruits, vegetables and the like - and mixes them on his farm off Farmington Road - which yields a nutrient-rich soil additive for farms and gardens.

Working under a temporary permit with the state Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR), in February, time came for a permanent permit. Part of that required that he abide by local zoning laws.

What followed was three and half months of potential additional regulations beyond what DENR requires. And because the county hasn't decided how or if they should regulate his business, its future is up in the air.

Andrew Meadwell, the county's director of zoning, said the problem was there was no definition of composting in the county's zoning ordinance. The closest he found was a landfill operation, and Gallins is challenging that decision.

Most of the discussion at a county commission meeting on the subject last week was from odor.

In March, Chad Fuller went to Meadwell saying folks at North Davie Middle School had smelled a foul odor, and wondered about its source. In April, the county's planning BERMUDA RUN - Speeders, beware.

Mayor Ken Rethmeier is ready to do whatever he can, within his power, to stop drivers from traveling above the posted speed limit through town.

He's even looking at trying to reduce the speed limit, especially along US 158 and NC 801.

"It's getting out of hand," Rethmeier said in his comments during the June 9 town council meeting. "Speed coming across the Kathryn Crosby Bridge is exceeding 50 mph on average, and we're seeing speeding throughout the town. It's a serious issue."

Rethmeier is ready to take action.

"I did talk to Sheriff (Andy) Stokes the other evening about the potential of hiring off-duty sheriff's deputies with radar guns and plenty of ticket books," he said. "So we will put everyone on notice."

Rethmeier said he wants to take an additional step in slowing down vehicles in Bermuda Run.

"From a longer term perspective as the roundabout project works toward its conclusion, Mr. (Lee) Rollins (town manager) and I have been in discussion with the state DOT about coming back out and potentially re-examining the speed limits throughout the town, in particular on Highway 158 and on 801 south of 158 to see if we can't reduce the speed limits to a more reasonable level. There will be more to come on that."

Councilman Ken Bateman fired the first shot in the meeting about his concerns.

"We've had some commentary about this among ourselves that we do take a stronger look at the sheriff's department coverage and some adjustment in the sheriff's patrol," he said.

The town adopted the 2015-16 budget. Rollins presented the budget in the April meeting, and a public hearing was held in May, where no one spoke.

Child Nutrition Program Expands Into Communities

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

In a class of 20 elementary school students, five of them may not have anything to eat when they get home from school.

They may or may not have dinner, may or may not have anything to eat on the weekends. They live in what is known as a food insecure environment.

For the past eight years, the Davie schools' Child Nutrition Department has provided

dren do not go hungry on the weekends. In addition to providing a meal at certain schools, under the federal program Power Up for Summer Mobile Meals sent home on Thursdays with a bag of food for the weekend. The program is part of the US Department of Agriculture's summer food service program, in its 40th year.

Blair and Don Routh, a Mocksville couple who has been helping provide summer food bags since 2011 with the Summer Food Bag Program, will partner with volunteers and Daughn Baker, director of child nutrition, to provide bags to about 600 children.

"We started in three schools with about 200 children in 2011, and now we have close to 600 children. We've gone from a budget of $15,000 to about $35,000, and all the money is raised, either through churches, individuals, civic groups, a couple of businesses, and grants," Don Routh said.

Routh said while the bags are generally for elementary school aged children, "If a kid shows up on site and we know they may go hungry, we will let them have a bag," regardless of age.

Routh shared that 80 percent of children at Cooleemee Elementary are on free or reduced lunch; 69 percent at Mocksville, and 59 percent at Cornatzer.

Volunteers traveled with a truck to the Second Harvest Food Bank last week on one of the hottest days in years to load 25 pallets of food, enough for 7,156 bags to hopefully last all summer. Routh said without volunteers and donations, none of this would be possible.

"This year, by going out into the neighborhoods, it really added to the numbers. Thankfully, we had some surplus from last year, but now our cushion is gone. The bags cost $4.15 each, and if anyone would like to help out, we would be more than happy to take donations," Routh said.

The address: Hardison UMC, 1630 Jericho Church Rd., Mocksville.

Breakfast will be available at some sites, and lunch at all. But for those who are unable to get to the sites, a free lunch will be provided to children aged 1-18 at six mobile sites in the Cooleemee school district, three in the Cornatzer district, four in the Mocksville district, and one each in the William R. Davie and Pinebrook districts.

On Thursdays, children may take home two bags of food containing cereal, milk, juice, vegetables, fruit, and a protein for the weekend.

Routh said while the bags are generally for elementary school aged children, "If a kid shows up on site and we know they may go hungry, we will let them have a bag," regardless of age.

Routh shared that 80 percent of children at Cooleemee Elementary are on free or reduced lunch; 69 percent at Mocksville, and 59 percent at Cornatzer.

Murder Suspect Violates Pre-Trial Rules

Accused murderer Michael Bryan Freeman was in court again last week, this time accused of violating a pretrial agreement.

Assistant DA Rob Taylor told Judge Anna Wagoner in Superior Court the state is "basically ready for trial."

Freeman, 45, is accused of murdering Michael Foster last year by beating him, after a night of drinking at Freeman's mobile home off NC 901 South. There were four people at the mobile home at some point during the night, but three of them, including the alleged victim, are now dead. Foster died four days after the incident, which was witnessed only by Freeman's wife, Tracey, who died last September. Foster's wife, DyAnn Cole died last August.

In November, Freeman's attorney, Dan Dolan, argued for a lower bond, from $300,000 to $50,000, but Judge Mark E. Klass kept the bond at $300,000. On Nov. 19, Freeman made bond and was placed on a pre-trial program with Jack Tiernan, coordinator of Davie County Pretrial Release Services. Tiernan told Wagoner last week Freeman had violated the terms of that agreement, by failing to contact Tiernan and with one positive drug screen, in which he tested positive for methamphetamine and marijuana.

Dolan told Wagoner it would constitute "cruel and unusual punishment" to consider the result of the drug screen and said it was Freeman's right, because it is a non-capital murder case, to offer him bond. He said Freeman's mother, who was in the courtroom and lives in the county, has medical issues Freeman has been helping her with and he made all his court appearances since his release. "I think he has a pretty good track record," Dolan said.

Wagoner said she is not in the habit of overruling other judge's orders.

Taylor said, "This is a murder case, a very serious matter. This was from an altercation that resulted in a fight that ended Mr. Foster's life. The issue the state has is that he's obviously non-compliant in very simple restrictions."

He requested a bond of $750,000, saying Tiernan indicated he would take Freeman back on pretrial release, but said the state wanted tighter restrictions, such as house arrest.

After hearing the arguments, Wagoner set the bond at $450,000, putting Freeman, if he makes bond, on a curfew and electronic house arrest until his trial in September.

board, which is chaired by Fuller's father, Phil, took up the issue. That board unanimously recommended the proposed ordinance change to commissioners.

It basically puts all composting facilities in industrial zones, or residential-agriculture areas with a special use permit.

Gallins told the board the state regulations and definitions are adequate, and that he considers his operation as agri-business, not a landfill.

"It is (state regulations) thorough, developed by experts. Why pay twice to regulate? DENR - this is what they do," Gallins said. "It seems odd a zoning director would be out measuring (the size of an operation)."

Gallins' property borders that of the new Davie County High School, and he planted 600 trees on five acres adjoining the property as an additional buffer. That was after school superintendent, Dr. Darrin Hartness, and Chad Fuller had contacted him about buying more land because it was needed for practice softball and baseball fields.

His land wasn't for sale. "Our new neighbor - the elephant in the room - is that new high school. I don't think we would be here if it weren't for that," Gallins said.

He pointed out that he had been operating for more than three years before a complaint was filed.

His composting facility is on less than two acres near the middle of a 156-acre tract.

"We want to be legal and do things right. Neighbors, they're all very supportive."

He admits there is odor sometimes, but he is using the best practices available to mitigate that odor. Meadowell said he could smell the operation on a visit to the site, and at the nearby Dave Youth Complex.

Commissioner Mark Jones said he is at the youth complex regularly, and has never noticed a foul odor. Bill Foust came to the meeting to listen, but spoke when he got a chance.

"As a lay person listening, it sounds like we have a case of sour grapes. The school system wanted some of this gentleman's land."

Foust said it looks like Meadowell was told to figure out a way to put Gallins out of business.

The General Fund, which is the basic operating fund for town services and capital investments, is balanced at $1,598,150. The tax rate remains unchanged at the level of 15 cents per $100 of valuation.

The town administrators a Gate Operations Fund, which is balanced at $512,470, and the Utilities Fund, which is balanced at $404,500.

In other business, the council approved a three-year agreement with Benchmark for planning and zoning administration services. The contract is on an hourly basis at a rate of $68 an hour.

The council also gave its OK to a three-year interlocal agreement with Davie County to provide tax collections, sewer billing

"I caution you ... digest it a little bit. Make a decision that will help this gentleman and not hurt him," Foust said.

Commissioner Dan Barrett asked Meadowell if odor is the issue. "It could be of things," Meadowell said.

Jones questioned why the county would install more strict guidelines than the state. "Why do we need to overlap that?"

"The state's requirements are minimal," Meadowell said. "There are incentives to adjoining property owners."

Jones and Barrett were also concerned they were given information about proposed changes on the night before a morning meeting.

"What's the urgency? The public hasn't received this at all," Jones said. "When you move too quickly, you get too far ahead," Barrett said.

"Regulation is what's killing businesses in this country," said Randy McDaniel Sr. during the public hearing. "This is ridiculous to put this man - or any man - through all of this. Don't regulate how to put him out of business."

He suggested the board members walk by the dumpsters outside the cafeteria at North Davie Middle and decide if there's a foul odor.

The composting provides a service. The EPA wants such waste out of landfills, because it is wet and leeches other contaminants in the landfill into the ground, Gallins said. It also helps the businesses, mostly colleges and institutions, on the costs of dumping the waste into a landfill.

"We're doing a service for folks," Gallins said. "I don't have anything to hide. It's a shame. It could be a good educational experience."

Frankie Singleton with the Soil and Water Conservation Service said Gallin's operation is ideal. "From a soil and water standpoint, he has buffers there that go far beyond what we would require. The whole farm is well taken care of."

George Wilson also spoke at the public hearing, railing against government over-regulation. Gallins invited each commissioner to the farm to see the operation.

Board members unanimously agreed to defer action until September.

and collections, building inspections and sheriff's department presence. The agreement to provide the same level of services expires June 30.

Also, during the mayor's comments, Rehmeyer said that the town's first "Sounds on the Square" summer concert in the park drew about 500 people to hear beach music performed by Special Occasion Band.

"I think everyone had a great time," he said. "Fortunately, we had excellent weather. The band was outstanding."

The next concert will be Saturday, June 20, at 7 p.m. at Kinderfont Commercial Center featuring the North Carolina Brass Band and will focus on patriotic music in anticipation of the Fourth of July celebration.

- Lacy Joy Danielle, failure to secure passenger under age 16, failure to wear seat belt, dismissed per plea; driving left of center, walking away with my son on my hip. I asked him why he thought it was okay to talk to me like that because he's not supposed to talk like that in front of my child. And then he said, 'I will be at your house tomorrow with guns and you will all be dead.'

She said Mathena has guns and his threat made her feel scared.

At that point, her mother, Melissa Hicks, got out of the car and began walking toward Mathena's car. She testified she said to him, "This has to stop or I'll make sure you are under the jail house."

Mathena began cursing at her and made the same threat he'd made to Gibson. She said he has previously shown up at her house with guns and she'd called the police.

Mathena, who had never left his car, sped off, and Gibson said he nearly had an accident as he was driving out of the parking lot.

Gibson and Hicks went to the sheriff's department and were sent to the police department, where they were told to go to the magistrate. The magistrate filed two charges of communicating threats.

Mathena's attorney, Julie Parker, told Judge Jimmy reduced to improper equipment, $25, cost, $50 improper equipment fee.

- Johnathon C. Eddinger, driving while license revoked not DWI, reduced to failure to notify DMV of address change, cost, $20 install fee, $280 attorney fee.

She said Mathena has guns and his threat made her feel scared.

At that point, her mother, Melissa Hicks, got out of the car and began walking toward Mathena's car. She testified she said to him, "This has to stop or I'll make sure you are under the jail house."

Mathena began cursing at her and made the same threat he'd made to Gibson. She said he has previously shown up at her house with guns and she'd called the police.

Mathena, who had never left his car, sped off, and Gibson said he nearly had an accident as he was driving out of the parking lot.

Gibson and Hicks went to the sheriff's department and were sent to the police department, where they were told to go to the magistrate. The magistrate filed two charges of communicating threats.

Mathena's attorney, Julie Parker, told Judge Jimmy

Bailey's Barber Shop and Style in Fork is temporarily out of business at its location on US 64 E.

Truck Smashes Into Business

By Beth Cassidy
Enterprise Record

FORK — Bailey's Barber Shop & Style sustained tens of thousands of dollars worth of damage June 13 when a pickup truck slammed into a corner of the business off US 64 East.

The owner of the business, Michael Bailey, said while the three people who work there have temporarily lost their incomes, he is glad no one was seriously injured.

The driver of the truck, Eithan Todd Barnes, 18, of Advance, likely suffered "some sort of medical condition," according to N.C. Highway Patrol Trooper G.A. Mills.

Mills said Barnes had been at the Fork Fire Department, where he and some friends gathered after Davie High's graduation practice earlier that morning. The teens were planning to go to breakfast and as they got into their vehicles around 10:20 a.m., one of the teens noticed Barnes was shaking and drooling.

He ran over to Barnes' 1999 Chevrolet S10 to try to turn it off, but was not able to get it in time.

Barnes took off, through a field beside the fire department and headed toward the highway. But he hit a ditch that changed the direction his truck was going, Mills said, and he instead went through the parking lot of the barber shop, hitting a parked car before slamming into a corner of the building.

Mills estimated his speed at impact to be about 35 mph. Bailey said it was just a normal work day during one of his busiest seasons. He and Amanda Dwiggins were beside one another; Dwiggins was cutting her 6-year-old daughter's hair.

Another cosmetologist, Tracie Deal, was working in another area. Bailey said he looked up just in time to see the pickup truck coming across the yard.

"I thought, who in the world would be driving across the yard? Then I heard screaming but I didn't know where it was coming from. I saw the door lying on the chair where Amanda's daughter had been," Bailey said.

Deal and her client came running, and Bailey said they thought a bomb had gone off because they weren't in a place where they could see what happened.

The child suffered a cut to the forehead that required stitches, Bailey said. Mills said her mom had some minor injuries to her ankle.

Barnes was uninjured. Even scarier than having the truck come crashing in was that after it came to rest, Barnes' foot was still on the gas pedal.

"The truck was still running, revving, and I was afraid it would keep going. It was really scary," Bailey said.

Mills said when he talked to Barnes later that day at Wake Forest Baptist University Medical Center, where he and the child had been transported, Barnes had no recollection of the accident. He remembered being at the fire department and that was all, Mills said. Tests were going to be run that day, but Barnes' blood work had come back normal.

"The impression of the first responders at the scene was that he had some sort of medical condition, whether a seizure or heat exhaustion, I'm not sure," Mills said.

His estimate of damage to the shop is $40,000 and to the truck, $5,000. No charges will be filed.

Bailey said Barnes is lucky because he missed hitting a propane filling station, and at the time Bailey saw the truck coming across the yard, he also noticed a tractor-trailer loaded with logs entering the highway, right where Barnes' truck would have been had it not hit the ditch.

"We can't do anything here right now. The power has been shut off and it won't be back on until repairs are made. This is our busy time of the year, and I've had 29 calls in one day for appointments. My customers don't have anywhere to go. But I'm just glad no one was killed, because this could have been a lot worse. People can't be replaced, buildings can," Bailey said.

Barnes was able to graduate Saturday.

Bailey said they are working to open back up as soon as possible. Keep up with progress on Facebook at Bailey's Barber Shop.

The engine was still revving after the truck crashed into the building.

Stone Pitches, Hits Juniors To 2-0 Win

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

The hero of the Mocksville junior league baseball team's 2-0 win over the visiting Kannapolis Reds on June 20 performed as if he had his own show on YouTube. It was the Henry Stone Show.

Stone pitched a complete-game shutout. More remarkable, he threw 59 of 77 pitches for strikes. That's only half of it. He went 2 for 3 at the plate, driving in both runs. How much better can it possibly get for one individual in one game?

It was a classic pitchers' duel. The game was completed in one hour, eight minutes.

"He had been off a whole week on a mission trip," coach Tim McKnight said. "Henry generally throws a lot of pitches. After the game I said: 'Hey, you had 40-plus pitches left in the tank.' He laughed and said: 'Yeah, I'm ready to go Monday now.' Every time he goes out there we've got a chance to win."

Responding the way good teams do from back-to-back losses, Mocksville has won two straight to improve to 13-3 overall and 5-3 in the league.

Stone is 5-0 in five starts, but it's going to be hard for him to top this one. He allowed five hits, walked none and struck out four. He didn't permit any runner past second. Kannapolis only managed five base runners. Stone set the Reds down in order in the first, third, fifth and sixth. He faced as many as five batters twice — in the fifth and seventh. He secured the first back-to-back shutouts in 11 years. The last time was 2004, when Mocksville beat South Row 4-0 and Taylorsville 5-0. Think about those stats for a moment.

Mocksville withstood a pretty good pitching performance from the losing side. The Reds' hurler tossed a six-hitter. Stone and his counterpart teamed up for an extraordinarily fast game.

"Their pitcher did a good job, too," McKnight said. "In the first inning he had trouble with the strike zone. After that he settled down. Both pitchers pounded the strike zone. Both of them would get the ball and go. There was no delay. I've got to send the sign quick because Henry's got the ball and he's ready to go. The defense has got to love to play behind him because he gets it and he throws."

Five of Mocksville's six hits came from the top four in the order, including one apiece from Jake Barneycastle, Jesse Draughn and Ben Summers. Ridge Sanders also had a hit.

Mocksville jumped on top in the first. After Barneycastle was hit by a pitch, Draughn bunted him to second. After Summers walked, Stone singled to center to plate Barneycastle.

Mocksville picked up an insurance run in the sixth. Draughn got things going with an infield hit to deep short. The shortstop's throwing error moved Draughn to second. He took third on a productive ground out by Summers. Then Stone singled to center, just like he did in the first inning, to score Draughn.

"I tried a safety squeeze on the first pitch and Henry missed it," McKnight said. "Then he gets a base hit."

The extra run loomed large when Kannapolis' leadoff batter reached in the seventh. After a ground out and fly out, Kannapolis stayed alive with a single. But a fly ball to center closed the book.

"That was a big run in the sixth because they got the leadoff man on in the seventh," McKnight said. "It changed the whole complexion of the inning because they really couldn't bunt in that situation."

McKnight Throws 1st Shutout Of Season

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

The Mocksville junior league baseball team showed the loss to Concord was an aberration.

Mocksville drilled Concord 13-3 on May 26. Concord stunned Mocksville 10-6 on June 14. But two days later, Mocksville showed Concord who was really the boss as it smothered Concord 8-0 on the road.

After starting 11-1, Mocksville suffered a letdown, losing to Concord and Mooresville, but it was only a brief letdown. It snapped the two-game losing streak to improve to 12-3 and 4-3 in the league.

"That was what we needed," coach Tim McKnight said.

The offense produced the most runs in nine games. It put up two runs in the top of the first as Jake Barneycastle led off with a single and promptly stole second. Jesse Draughn got an infield hit and Barneycastle scored on an error later on the play. Cody Smith's two-out single started starting pitcher Matthew McKnight to a 2-0 cushion.

Landon Bandy opened the second with a single and later scored on a double steal. The fourth inning was a five-run merry-go-round. Brycen Huffman and Barneycastle sandwiched hits around a Josh Tibbs sac bunt. Draughn bunted and legged out a hit. Ben Summers, Cody Smith and McKnight added singles.

Mocksville pounded out 11 hits, including a 3-for-4 effort from Smith. One game after watching his seven-game hitting streak end, Barneycastle went 2 for 3. Draughn also went 2 for 3.

"It was our best offensive performance in over a week,"

Mocksville Loses To Winless G'boro

The Mocksville senior league baseball team's season reached new depths with an 8-6 home loss to Greensboro on June 18.

Greensboro was the home team even though the game was played at Mando Field.

The outcome was a massive downer because Greensboro came in 0-9 with five defeats by 10-plus runs. It jumped to a 6-0 lead and held on to improve to 1-9 overall and 1-7 in Area III. Mocksville stormed back to a 6-6 tie, but it could not take the lead, resulting in records of 3-11, 1-3. This gave Mocksville six losses in seven games.

Afterward, the comeback was little consolation to coach Charles Kurfees, who was missing eight players for the second straight game.

"It's frustrating," he said. "Everybody else is missing players, too (due to beach trips). We don't get another shot at them, and this puts us down at the bottom (of the standings). And we're going to have to play some really, really good teams in the playoffs, so it's going to be an uphill climb from here on out."

"We were very disciplined at the fifth inning," Kurfees said of the fifth inning. "Mutchukoff had the big hit of the inning, and Scott came through. That was a big hit for him."

Mutchukoff scored on a passed ball in the seventh to tie things at 6. Mutchukoff had walked and advanced on Wilson's single.

Unfortunately for Mocksville, the rest of the game belonged to Greensboro. Mocksville's last nine batters were retired, and Greensboro scratched out runs in the seventh and eighth. A walk, sac bunt and single plated the tiebreaking run in the seventh. A walk, stolen base and sac bunt set up an insurance run in the eighth, the run scoring on a high chopper back to the pitcher.

Mocksville only managed six hits as its team average slipped to .251.

Starter Adam Fletcher only lasted 3.1 innings, allowing nine hits and six runs. An encouraging sign was the relief work of Bradley Dzekewicz. Although he was tagged with the loss, Dzekewicz did well in 4.2 innings (two hits, two runs, one earned). The lefty's sixth appearance out of the bullpen was his strongest.

"Fletcher didn't have it tonight," Kurfees said. "Dzekewicz pitched very well. I think he's got something to build off of tonight. He pitched the best that he's

More Than Fundamentals

Grimes Parker Basketball Campers Also Get Life Lessons

By KC Smith
Coolerme Correspondent

The 6th annual Grimes Parker Basketball Camp Invictus of 2015 was last week with 67 campers bouncing balls and running the courts all week.

Rising first graders up to rising fifth graders were in attendance and they all had positive things to say about the camp.

Peyton Mattingly said he likes to see people smile. He learned not to travel. "Don't dribble and pick it up."

Corbin Angus likes to come to the basketball camp and have fun. He learned "you can't walk with the ball."

Peyton Corriher learned that "we have to play the team and share the ball."

Blake Stokes found the coaches nice and helpful and he learned ways to shoot, pass and dribble.

Chuck Phelps, Sydney Phelps's father, said she loves to learn about basketball and came home each day and talked about what she learned.

Griffin Ferrell liked some of the stories that related to the basketball and like how it helps in school.

Grimes Parker and Clement Fleming lead a committee each year. Taking into consideration the amount of free gifts each camper receives, it costs about $6,000 to run the camp.

Not only do the campers wear their uniforms home, but they take home a backpack filled with socks and coupons, wristbands, new shoes and of course, a new basketball. Each child handed out two tickets to their family and all were served a hot meal in the school cafeteria on the last day.

Each year coaches from surrounding areas come to the camp to share their time and talent with these young minds who are eager to play basketball.

Coaches bring their own style of teaching and unique stories. Many high school players share their story and that's when you can hear a pin drop in the room. In many different ways they are told to study and have good grades because you can't have one without the other.

The high school basketball players stand on the sidelines during their scrimmage games and you can see the players looking up to them as they run by as they want to make them proud.

Bimy Parker and his wife Fran took the uniforms home each night, washed all 67, dried them and returned them each morning ready for another day.

Grimes sat down in a chair more than usual this year and even made a trip to the emergency room in intense pain. They confirmed the arthritis in his hip was at its maximum and a hip replacement is inevitable. He and Fran and Sarah McDaniel are planning a trip to Florida for rest and relaxation in September and then he is going to succumb to the needed operation.

Thank you to everyone who made this year's camp possible. It was a team effort and we look forward to next year's success.

The young players get individual attention.

Mocksville Outclassed By High Point

One game after breaking a four-game losing streak at Davidson County, the Mocksville senior legion baseball team fell right back in the doldrums, losing 10-1 at High Point on June 15.

While High Point improved to 11-2 overall and 4-1 in Area III, Mocksville stumbled to 3-10, 1-2. In the earlier meeting on May 21, High Point erupted in the 10th to beat Mocksville 11-5. High Point has won four in a row in the series.

High Point was ahead 7-0 before Mocksville got on the board in the fifth. Despite the margin, coach

Charles Kurfees was pleased with the way Jalen Scott pitched. Scott was courageous in going the distance (eight innings). Although he surrendered 14 hits and two home runs, four runs were unearned, he walked none and struck out eight. He tossed the second complete game of the season, the other coming from Brett Fulk. "He pitched well," coach Charles Kurfees said. "He did really well. One inning killed him, but he pitched right on through it."

Scott had the unenviable task of facing a squad that Kurfees considers a juggernaut. Both teams were short-handed due to senior beach trips, but Mocksville was hampered more, missing eight players while the hosts were missing four.

"High Point is pretty good," Kurfees said. "Not too many teams are going to beat them. Their whole starting lineup was college players but two. They had high-school players from Southeast Guilford and Ragsdale. The rest of them were college players. They are the best team in the league."

Even though Mocksville was totally outclassed, it was business as usual for Barrett Hennings, who went 3 for 4 in the leadoff hole. He pushed his hitting streak to 13. He's hitting .462 for a team that stands at .256 while averaging 4.3 runs. Cleanup man Nick Wilson went 2 for 5, and he was robbed of a third hit.

"We had some bright spots for a team that had 10 players," Kurfees said. "Wilson hit one to the center-field wall and the center fielder ran it down."

Beau Byerly doubled and Connor Clark singled as Mocksville finished with seven hits. Jarrell Farmer drew two walks. Bradley Dzekiewicz reached twice; on hit by pitches.

Streak Ends With Upset Loss

By Brian Pitts
Davie Enterprise Record

All that good stuff that propelled the Mocksville junior legion baseball team to 11 wins in 12 games? None of it was on display against visiting Concord on June 14.

Mocksville didn't make the key plays in the field. It didn't hit much, either. The result was a 10-6 defeat that left a bruise.

Mocksville slipped to 11-2 overall and 3-2 in the league. It came in allowing just 4.3 runs per game, but it gave up the most runs since a 12-2 loss at the Davidson County Braves on May 30.

"We had played good ball and hadn't hurt ourselves," coach Tim McKnight said. "For the first time all year, we hurt ourselves. We gave up five unearned runs in the second inning. All year we had been able to dodge those kind of bullets. We had been able to limit the damage."

It's an unfortunate fact of baseball life that there are going to be times when nothing goes right, even against a lesser opponent. A field has a certain number of four-leaf clovers. These things happen.

Mocksville destroyed this same Concord team 13-3 in a non-league game on May 26. It entered the second meeting with Concord on a five-game winning streak.

Mocksville held a 1-0 lead with two outs in the Concord second. An error kept the inning going. Then disaster struck. Five unearned runs crossed home against starter Corbin Jefferson, who went four innings and allowed six runs but only one earned.

"We boot a grounder and the next thing you know we're down 5-1," McKnight said. "We could have been out of the inning still leading 1-0."

Mocksville clawed back to 5-3. Concord scored to make it 6-3. Reliever Jesse Draughn blanked Concord in the fifth and sixth.

McKnight twirled the first shutout win in 24 games (Chris Reynolds pitched all five innings in a 16-0 romp over Mooresville in 2014). He went all seven, scattered eight hits and only issued one walk.

McKnight doesn't possess an overpowering fastball. All he does is win. He's 3-0, ranking second on the team in victories behind Henry Stone.

"He threw strikes and made them put the ball in play," his father said. "He was able to change speeds and keep them off-balance. They never adjusted. That's the second time he's thrown against them and they've never adjusted - and he's been able to get the run support."

But Concord squashed any thoughts of a Mocksville comeback by scoring four runs in the seventh. That made it 10-3.

"All of a sudden the floodgates opened again," McKnight said.

Draughn (2 for 4) accounted for two of Mocksville's five hits. Jake Barnycastle had a hit to give him a seven-game hitting streak in as many games on the junior level. Ben Summers and Landon Bandy had one each.

"It wasn't the amount of mistakes we made," he said. "They came in key situations. You give a struggling team five runs in one inning and all of a sudden they start feeling pretty good about themselves."

In the next game on June 16, Mocksville snuck into tough Mooresville on the road and got its clocks cleaned, losing 12-2 in five mercy-rule innings.

Mocksville (11-3, 3-3) limped home having matched a season low in runs scored and having matched a season high in runs allowed. It was the teams' first meeting this season.

"We got pounded," McKnight said. "They were the better team. We're not hitting the ball very well (the past two games). We're missing some key players. We've got people on vacation."

The entire game felt like a traffic jam when you're already late. Mooresville racked up 10 runs in the second inning and limited Mocksville to four hits. Matthew McKnight, who gave up four unearned runs in three relief innings, had half of them while going 2 for 2. Ridge Sanders and Draughn had one apiece.

Mooresville improved to 4-0 in the league - and put Mocksville's playoff hopes in jeopardy in the process. The top two teams in the league will advance to postseason play.

"Mooresville is good, there's no doubt about it," McKnight said. "They had two very good pitchers. If we can split with Mooresville, then we're in pretty good shape."

McKnight said. "We put the ball in play and used our speed (to get three infield hits and steal several bases). We kind of wore the middle of the field out."

pitched all year."

Hennings (423) saw his season-long, 13-game hitting streak come to an end as he went 0 for 5. He was halfway to the record; Zach Greene had an incredible 27-gamer in 2000.

Wilson and Hutchins both went 2 for 4. Wilson is raking, hitting safely in all five of his games. At 8 for 20, he has the No. 2 average (.400) behind Hennings.

Muchukot and Scott had one hit each. Hoffman reached twice by walk and hit by pitch.

There's more grim news. Jake Mayhew, who brought high hopes from West Forsyth, will likely not suit up again after only making two starts and working seven innings. He was 0-1.

"It looks like he's done for the year," Kurfees said. "UNC-Greensboro decided to shut him down. I hate that for our team, but he's got to do what he's got to do for his future. We've got to have some guys step it up on the mound."

Interestingly enough, Greensboro is coached by Ken Mackovic, the nephew of John Mackovic. John went 95-82-3 as a college football coach, including stints at Wake Forest, Illinois, Texas and Arizona.

He was coach of the Kansas City Chiefs from 1983-86. John was Wake's coach from 1978-80, and Ken, 51, attended Davie High for two years and played football for the War Eagles. Greensboro's starting pitcher against Mocksville was Ken's son, Kenny Mackovic.

Wait. It gets worse for Mocksville. It lost 9-4 at Eastern Randolph on June 19, and the deep freeze continued as it was drubbed 16-0 by visiting Rowan County on June 21.

While Rowan's 10th straight victory sent it to 12-4, 7-0 in Area III, Mocksville's fourth setback in a row dropped it to 1-13, 1-5. It is tied for last; Concord and Greensboro also have one league win each.

Against Rowan, Mocksville suffered its first shutout in 32 games (6-0 at home to Kernersville last year). It allowed the most runs in 35 games (16-1 loss to Davidson County last year). And it endured the largest margin of defeat in six years (25-7 at Winston-Salem in 2009).

Smart Start Offers Tips For Safe Summer Fun

Smart Start of Davie wants are children to remain safe this summer, and offers the following tips.

Although experts often focus on more common safety measures, like using car seats correctly and basic childproofing, there are many less well known hidden dangers that may put kids at risk.

The family car is one of these dangers, and it is not just because of car acci-

At least 600 children have died after being left in a hot car (sometimes on relatively mild days with 70 degree temperatures) since 1998.

Each year, an average of 37 kids die after being left in a hot car. In 2013, 44 children died in hot cars. Last year, at least 30 kids died in hot cars.

Situations in which kids get hurt in hot cars include: Infants and toddlers are simply forgotten in their car seat.

Toddlers or preschoolers sneak into the car to play and can't get out.

Kids get trapped in the trunk.

In addition to the risk of being abducted if they are left alone in a car, on a typical summer day, the temperature inside a car (even with the windows rolled down a little) can quickly rise above 120 to 140 degrees. Even on a relatively mild day, the temperature inside a car can get above 100 degrees. At those temperatures, kids are at great risk for heat stroke, which can lead to a high fever, dehydration, seizures, stroke and death.

Don't leave them in a car. Always lock your car and secure the keys so that your kids can't get to them.

Warn your kids about playing in the car by themselves without adult supervision.

Install a trunk release mechanism, so that they can't get trapped in the trunk.

Get kids out of the car first, and then worry about getting the groceries, etc., out when you get home.

Make sure that child care providers and day care workers have a plan to make sure that kids aren't left in the child care providers car or van.

If you are afraid that you might leave your sleeping infant or toddler in their car seat when you get out of the car, place a reminder on the dashboard.

Also be on alert for cars that might have an unattended child left inside. If you see a child alone in a car, call 911 and help make sure the child gets out as soon as possible.

When a child is missing, in addition to checking the backyard pool and any other bodies of water, be sure to check inside the car and trunk of any nearby vehicles.

The program was opened with several songs by a sibling praise team that included Janay, Emily, and Timothy Recco. Joshua Robinson and Kaylie Billings read poems.

Cooleemee

By KC Smith
Cooleemee Correspondent

The Cooleemee Civilians are hosting a Summer Festival Saturday, June 27 from 8 a.m.-3 p.m. at their building on NC 801 South.

10 by 10 foot spaces can be rented for $15. Spots will be assigned during registration, which begins at 7. Spots will be provided free to church youth groups.

Vendors are selling items such as: homemade crafts, candles, canned produce, fresh produce, collectibles, jewelry, flowers, flags, honey and pastries.

Sausage biscuits and coffee will be available for breakfast and hamburgers and hotdogs and cold drinks will be available for lunch. Emma Reynolds had perfect attendance at Cooleemee School until the last day. The last day was filled with awards and she missed it all. One of her 10 awards was student of the year for the fourth grade. A group of Cooleemee Civilians met her at the Davie Discount Drug for a group photo. Congratulations Emma.

How do you beat this record heat? For Kittercat, it is a bed in the middle of a lush - and cool - fern.

Cooleemee Elementary fourth grade student of the year is congratulated by members of the Cooleemee Civitan Club, James Ridenhour, Pete Shore, OD Stiller and David "Dude" Jordan.

Refreshments were served while good wishes were delivered with hugs and cards. A live band entertained for the rest of the evening.

Glady's Scott was the guest speaker, and her topic was encouragement. She told the graduates to encourage themselves as well as others.

She also told them to "Stay close to family, God, and the foundation that your life has been built on."

She cited 1 Thessalonians 5:11: "Therefore encourage one another and build each other up, just as in fact you are doing."

Following her message, Pastor Raymond Robinson Jr. gave specific remarks to each graduate and presented them with gifts.

Lunch was served in the fellowship hall at the conclusion of the program.

The heat wave continues; so, be sure to stay hydrated and check on neighbors living alone.

The V-Point Ruritan's invite senior adults to an afternoon of bingo today (Thursday) at the V-Point Building on Old Mocksville Road. Bingo games begin at 2 and include prizes for everyone. Of course, there will be time for good eating and fellowship.

Clarksburg United Methodist Church will hold a 1-day vacation Bible school from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday, June 27. The theme is "Scottish Highlands." Activities include Bible study, crafts, music, and recreation. Refreshments will be served. Commencement will be held during the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday. All children are invited.

Saint Matthews Lutheran Church will celebrate homecoming Sunday, June 28. An old-fashioned "dinner-on-the-grounds" will begin at 1 p.m. The church will be open for anyone to see. All former members and friends are invited to bring a basket of food and memories to share and enjoy fun, fellowship, and games. Some chairs will be provided, but you may want to bring your own. Saint Matthews is on Davis Academy Road about 2.5 miles south of US 64 West.

The Society Baptist softball team invites everyone to support the team as they play at 8 p.m. Monday, June 29 at Rich Park, Mocksville.

Upcoming community events include a canning equipment check by the Iredell County Agriculture Extension at 3 p.m., Tuesday, July 7, at the V-Point Building; program by Carolina Donor Services hosted by the V-Point Ruritan's at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 9 at the V-Point Building; and a country ham and sausage breakfast hosted by the Salem United Methodist Men from 6-10 a.m. Saturday, July 18 at the County Line VFD.

Our community sends belated happy-birthday wishes to Pat Swisher, who celebrated her 92nd birthday June 6. Pat is in rehab at Autumn Care of Statesville. When able, she attends Clarksburg United Methodist Church. Pat, all of us in County Line wish you a healthy and happy new year of life.

Canal Pino

By Betty Etchison West
Canal Pino Correspondent

Recent visitors at Frostland were: Pat McGrawdy of Mouth of Wilson, Va.; Dot Testerman of Grassy Creek; Billie Testerman of Laurel Springs; Jane Carrigan Testerman of Mooresville; and Jenny Carter Turner and Sara Walker Wallace of Mocksville.

Jenny and Sara served the group lunch, a Romaine lettuce leaf filled with potato salad, a second filled with chicken salad, and a third filled with homemade pimento cheese served with crisp crackers. Also sliced strawberries and grapes completed the perfect plate for a hot June day. The dessert was a delicious ice cream cake.

The group spent the day touring the house, looking at Betty Etchison West's scrapbooks, and reminiscing.

Kathy traveled with her son, Ethan Roger, and members of his church, First Methodist of Reidsville.

Breakfast at Wesley Chapel was successful in spite of some trials and tribulations. The air conditioner in the fellowship hall quit working, but open windows offered some relief. Three key members of the breakfast team were out of town - Kathy Ellis, Marlene Trivette and Dawn Ellis - so the remaining team had their work cut out for them.

They got the job done and a large number of people were served breakfast. The members of Wesley Chapel Church are appreciative of the hard work that the breakfast committee has done through the years.

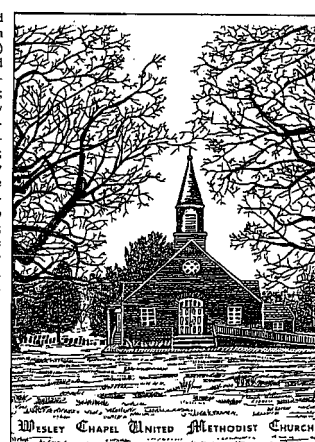

The following the people deserve a special thank you - Kathy Ellis, who has not only coordinated and spent time getting everything ready, cleaning up after, filling in for every job from making biscuits to lifting pot lids, but who along with her husband, Bob, has shopped for groceries; Bob

Ellis, who has also cooked hundreds of pounds of ham and sausage; Jesse (Pete) Gentry, who has cooked more eggs than he probably wants to remember; Dale Ellis, who is a fairly newcomer to Wesley Chapel jump right in and starting making sawmill gravy; Dawn Ellis, Dale's new bride, who took over the biscuit making chore; Nancy Collette, who proved to be a master biscuit maker; Marlene Trivette, who has cooked grits and done any other job that needed doing; Toni Horton, who has done a herculean job of cleaning the kitchen and running the dishwasher; Madelyn Gentry, who has helped with everything and especially cleaning after everyone is gone; Sara Eure, who is a master greeter and served where she was needed; and Henry West, who for several years has worked in the dining room pouring coffee and picking up dirty dishes and finally vacuuming the fellowship hall.

There are many others who worked hard during the years but are not able to help anymore, including: Nena Latham, who made a lot of biscuits; Marie Miller, who helped in many ways; Toby Hawkins, who helped in the dining room as well as with the biscuit making; and DeWilla Smith, deceased, who did a fine job of coordinating the serving line including fixing take-out plates.

Members of Wesley Chapel UMC are especially grateful to the people who have come to breakfast for years. One of those is Bill Ferber, who is in his 90s and who never misses the breakfast. We appreciate the fact that Taylor Slye has come nearly every month and has provided transportation for Bill Ferber.

There are many others who have seldom missed breakfast at Wesley in recent years. They include the Hays/Brock/Shelton families; Bud Bailey; Charles Ellis, who usually brings his crew; Charles and Eleanor Eaton; Mickey Groce; Donnie Smith; the Riddle Family; Reid Snyder; Jane and William Laurie Brock; Richard and Carol Brock; John Henry Caudie; Arthur and Judy Spillman; Mindy, Autumn, and Alexander Spillman and their friends; Rena, Pat, and Frank; Buster Collette and his wife; Don Hanes; Denny Barney; Judge Jimmy Myers; members of the Davie County Sheriff's Department; bluegrass friends of Bob and Kathy Ellis; Joe White; Judy Collette; and Joe Tommy Chaffin. Others who dine at Wesley Chapel from time to time include: Jim and Chisner Latham and members of their family; Charles Mashburn and his wife Kathy; Olana and Charles Anderson; Gene Whitaker; Rick Wilson; and Ruth Davis. Judge Lester Martin and his son, Bob, and Larry Tutterow came to breakfast for many years but has not been able to come recently because of illness. Two preachers nearly always join us for breakfast: the Rev. Wolfe, pastor of Bethany Baptist, and some West served refreshments which had been prepared by her son, Henry.

The Methodist Women of Wesley Chapel met the second Tuesday in June at the fellowship hall. Those attending were Kathy Ellis, Sara Eure, Nancy Collette, Betty West, and the Rev. Arnold Gosnell, who will be the pastor of the Farmington Charge, which includes Wesley Chapel and Farmington, beginning July 1. Kathy Ellis had an interesting program, and Betty West served refreshments which had been prepared by her son, Henry.

Raising the flag at Wesley Chapel during a ceremony honoring veterans: Vernon Dull, Gene Miller, Judge Jimmy Myers and Bob Ellis.

The following is a brief history of Wesley Chapel United Methodist which was included in the church bulletin on Homecoming Sunday.

"Wesley Chapel Church was established when a group of devout Christian people sought a place to worship God. In 1852, Harmon Hampton McMahon built a small log church building on his plantation. The site of this original building is about three miles west of the present church and the land now belongs to the J. D. Shelton heirs. This crude log building with seats made of split logs was used until 1880. This church, a Methodist Episcopal South Church, was placed on the Farmington Circuit in 1876 and was served by Pastor W.C. Wilson.

In June 1885, Mrs. Jane Brock McMahon deeded two and a half acres of land for a church and a cemetery on which the present church stands. The church building was constructed during the late 1880s and was not very sturdy. At one point it had to be torn down and rebuilt on the same foundation.

Wesley Chapel has been and continues to be a source of Christian inspiration for the Pino community.

Botulism Is Deadly: Be Careful When Canning

Organisms that cause food spoilage - molds, yeasts and bacteria are always present in air, water and soil.

Enzymes that may cause undesirable changes in flavor, color and texture are present in raw fruits and vegetables.

When fruits and vegetables are canned, they are heated hot enough and long enough to destroy spoilage organisms. This heating (or processing) also stops the action of enzymes. Because fruits have a high acid content, processing can be done in a boiling water bath canner. Fruits can also be processed in a pressure canner but it will take longer.

The only safe method of canning all vegetables (green beans included) is using a pressure canner. Jars of food are placed in a pressure canner which is heated to a temperature of at least 240°F. This temperature can only be reached in a pressure canner.

To avoid the possibility of the foodborne illness botulism, green beans and all other vegetables must be pressure-canned for a specific period of time. Botulism is caused by heat-resistant spores, of the bacteria, Clostridium Botulinum. The spores are not destroyed by the 212°F temperatures of boiling water bath canning.

"In 2009, a Spokane, Wash. nurse and her two young children became ill with botulism reportedly acquired from canned green beans: the mother's illness was so severe that she required a ventilator to breathe for months."

ing caused by improperly canned green beans.

In 2007, a Virginia couple died after consuming improperly canned foods that also contained botulism toxin.

There have been at least seven other outbreaks of botulism linked to home preservation practices across the U.S. since 1995.

West Nile virus and Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis are endemic across North Carolina and can cause illness or death, but they can be prevented with a sequence of two vaccines.

Last year, there were confirmed cases of EEE and West Nile Virus, but state officials say they expect there were many unreported cases making the possible impact much larger.

"North Carolina has an extended mosquito breeding period, so every horse owner should talk to their veterinarian about how to protect their animal year-round," Extension Agent Phil Rucker says. "In addition to getting animals vaccinated, everyone needs to be extra vigilant to reduce the breeding grounds for mosquitoes. Take the time now to rid your yard and pasture of any standing water to reduce the risk."

State Veterinarian R. Douglas Mekes said: "Mosquito breeding peaks in August so starting the vaccination protocol now gives it time to take effect."

The EEE and WNV vaccinations initially require two shots, three to four weeks apart, for horses, mules and donkeys that have no prior vaccination history. Neither vaccination fully protects the animal until several weeks after the second shot, so it is best to vaccinate as early in the mosquito season as possible.

Symptoms of EEE include impaired vision, aimless wandering, head pressing, circling, inability to swallow, irregular staggering gait, paralysis, convulsions and death.

Symptoms of WNV in horses can include loss of appetite and depression, fever, weakness or paralysis of hind limbs, convulsions, impaired vision or hyperexcitability.

People, horses and birds can become infected from a bite by a mosquito carrying the diseases, but there is no evidence that horses can transmit the virus to other horses, birds or people through direct contact.

Consult with a veterinarian to develop a vaccination plan and total health program to help protect horses from these diseases as well as other health issues.

For more information contact a veterinarian or the Cooperative Extension Service at 753-6100.

Hope everyone had a happy Father's Day. This day gives us the opportunity to express love and affection to fathers and fatherly figures. Many in our community celebrated the time with their fathers at church and/or lunch or a special family event. For those who have lost their father, it was a time to remember and celebrate the memories that will live on forever.

Birthday wishes go to those celebrating this week: Nathalie Sherrill on June 25; Dakota Miller on June 28; Eddie Lou Keller and Courtney Powers on June 29; Kathy Chaffin on June 30; and Gina Carol Smith on July 1. Congratulations to the following couples celebrating an anniversary this week: Shane and Janet Dyson on June 26; Don and Wanda Hartle and Mike and Pam Brannan on June 27; and Norman and Louise Spry and David and Dawn Allen on June 29. If you would like an anniversary or birthday posted in this section, please do not hesitate to call or email me.

Individuals wishing to support the Sheffield-Calalahn Community Center and Recreation Area by purchasing a community calendar can contact me at 751-7567, facebook message or via email brbbailey@msn.com. The cost is $5 each. Businesses and churches may purchase a display advertisement for $35.

A huge amount of family and friends attended the Goforth family reunion on Saturday, June 13 at the Sheffield-Calalahn Community Center. Four cousins came from a long distance: Faye Hahn from Tennessee, Cheryl Caster from Nebraska, Susan Cooperman from Indiana and John Caster from Connecticut. It was wonderful seeing all our families. We had lots of good food and enjoyed good fellowship. Music was provided by Bill Goforth, G.H. Goforth, Danny Goforth and Thomas Barney. Thanks to Barbara Barney for photos.

Old Friends

Hundreds Of Miles Can't Break That Special Bond

By Christy Tyner
Special to the Enterprise

Do you remember that best friend you had as a child? It was that one person who knew all your secrets and would defend you no matter what. It was that person who made your childhood the memorable time that you treasure even today.

When you become an adult, most of those friendships are gone. Maybe you're too busy, too ambitious, or just too grown up.

Everyone needs that special friend, the one who listens when you vent, lends a shoulder when you cry, celebrates your joys and holds your hand in the dark alleys of life.

One group of special friends from WalMart in Mocksville recently reaped the rewards of cultivating such friendships.

Nellie Gryder, my mother, along with Elaine Howell and Wanda Spicer all worked third shift at WalMart when it was at the Squire Boone Plaza. Elaine started work there around 1988, Nellie in 1994 and Wanda a year or two later.

They became good friends, working together, hanging out at lunch and on breaks.

In October of 1998, a new

face appeared. Renee Hadley of Boston, N.Y. began working in the health and beauty department with Nellie.

One night, as the two were working, Nellie couldn't figure out something, and she looked at Renee and said, "This has got me plumb baffled!"

Being from the North, Renee had no idea what she meant.

What followed over the next year and a half was Nellie teaching that and other "Southern" phrases to her friend from the North.

Renee made fun of her friends when winter came, and what she considered a few flakes of snow had fallen, and businesses closed and people went home.

She couldn't believe it. Where she came from, the snow fell in feet, and life went on as usual.

But it all made for some fun between the friends. They had formed that special bond.

Nellie, Elaine and Wanda missed Renee when she left the Mocksville store in 2000 and took a new job with WalMart and moved back to New York. They kept in touch with calls, cards and letters, but it wasn't the same.

In 2007, Wanda left WalMart to become a teacher. In 2008, Elaine retired. In 2014, Nellie retired.

Renee, who had married and become Renee Scott, still worked for WalMart. None of her friends from Mocksville were able to attend the wedding.

Things had settled into a new normal until April 29. I received a Facebook message from Renee stating that she was coming for a visit to North Carolina and wanted to surprise my mom, Nellie, and Elaine and Wanda. She wanted to take them out to eat and spend time catching up on 15 years of lost time.

Could I help pull off the surprise?

I immediately agreed to help, and after talking to Renee, Renee Hadley Scott, Wanda Spicer, Nellie Gryder and Elaine Howell renew friendships made 15 years ago.

the plans were set in motion.

I thought about those special friendships - ones that would bring one from that far. I wanted to make it memorable.

I got help from my dad, Jim Gryder, and began to plan for the afternoon of Thursday, June 11.

They were to meet at Pizza Hut. None knew that Renee was already there, and were surprised and thrilled when they walked in. The looks on their faces were priceless among all the hugs and squeals.

The years seemed to fade away as they shared updates, including photos from Renee's wedding.

They laughed over silly stories, and consoled each other over hardships.

I realized those friendships remained - even after 15 years. Each received a corsage with white daisies and pink sweetheart roses and a gift bag with goodies.

The table centerpiece included a chocolate pound cake with chocolate buttercream icing, along with dozens of chocolates.

Their names were iced onto the cake.

Renee brought gifts that were made by her mother.

They talked for hours. When it was time to leave, they didn't cry, but they didn't want it to end, either.

As my mom and I climbed into the car, I could still see the glow on her face as she chatted about the surprise. I was reminded of how I used to have that same look as a child when I came home from a play date with a close friend. Just because you grow up and take on adult responsibilities, you still have that little child inside you who loves to talk and laugh and share with friends.

Nellie, Renee, Elaine and Wanda are truly blessed to have each other.

Friendships take work, time, selflessness and commitment. You get out of them what you put in.

I hope these women are able to get together again, but if they can't, their hearts will always be in touch.

Danielle Wood Earns Scouting Gold Award

Girl Scout Carolinas Peaks to Piedmont announced that Danielle Wood of Advance has earned her Girl Scout Gold Award, the highest award in Girl Scouting.

Wood, daughter of Kevin Wood and Kim Nelson-Wood and a member of Troop 41099, worked in partnership with Enfinity and Swim Gear.

Her project focused on teaching non-year-round high school swimmers the stroke technique. The clinic offered a warm-up to the high school swim season by assisting swimmers in their starts, stroke and turn techniques. To continue the instruction, mini clinics were held to continue the focus on those three skills.

"By earning the Girl Scout Gold Award, Wood has become a community leader," said Lane Cook, chief executive officer of Girl Scouts Carolinas Peaks to Piedmont. "Her accomplishments reflect leadership and citizenship skills that set her apart."

"Earning the Girl Scout Gold Award designation is truly a remarkable achievement, and this young woman exemplifies leadership in all its forms. She saw a need in her community and took action. Her extraordinary dedication, perseverance and leadership, is making the world a better place."

The Gold Award represents the highest achievement in Girl Scouting; it recognizes girls in grades 9-12 who demonstrate extraordinary leadership through sustainable and measurable Take Action projects.

After the minimum requirements are completed, the Gold Award project is the culmination of a girl's demonstration of self-discipline, leadership ability, time management, creativity, initiative and a significant mastery of skills. Each girl must dedicate a minimum of 80 hours to planning and implementing her project, which must benefit the community and have long lasting impact.

Some universities and colleges offer scholarships unique to Gold Award recipients, and girls who enlist in the U.S. Armed Forces may receive advanced rank in recognition of their achievements.

Eagles Spencer Kelly, Daniel Forrest Earn Scouting's Top Award

An Eagle Scout Court of Honor ceremony was held Sunday, March 29 for Spencer Walker Kelly and Daniel Roy Forrest at Main Street Church of Christ in Mocksville.

The boys are members of Boy Scout Troop 525.

The rank of Eagle is achieved by one percent of boys who enter Scouting. It requires the completion of merit badges, rank advancement and a community service project.

Both were presented to Scoutmaster Dwight Creason and given the Eagle Scout Oath. They received Eagle pins, flags that had been flown over the capital buildings in Raleigh and Washington, D.C., and congratulatory letters.

Kelly replaced the deck at the VFW shooting range.

Friends and family helped work on the porch and replaced mulch around the building.

Forrest installed fitness equipment at the Farmington Community Center.

Both Scouts held fundraisers, sought donations and showed leadership abilities in carrying out the projects.

Kelly presented his mentor pin to his grandfather, Jimmy Kelly, for his help and always being there.

Forrest presented his mentor pin to his carpentry teacher, Mark McKnight, for help and guidance.

The boys have been active in their troop with numerous camping trips and skills. Both are members of the Davie High School Class of 2015.

Kelly is the son of Doug and Crystal Kelly. Forrest is the son of Phil and Grace Forrest, all of Mocksville.

Troop 525 is sponsored by Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Eagle Scouts Spencer Kelly and Daniel Forrest.

Sounds Of Summer Celebrates 10th Anniversary

Mother Nature smiled upon WinMock on June 5 as the Davie Community Foundation hosted the 10th year of its signature Sounds of Summer event.

Guests were greeted by foundation board members and a country chic setting complete with bur-lap and wildflowers under the big tent.

Jane Simpson, foundation president, welcomed and thanked guests and sponsors, noting that Bank of the Carolinas and Wake Forest Baptist Health had supported the foundation for eight of the 10 years.

Several guests had attended all 10 events. "That is truly wonderful support," said Simpson.

Guests enjoyed foods featuring the crowd favorites of beef tenderloin and shrimp cocktail. Mini anniversary cupcakes and gelato were an instant hit as was the mini-hotdog cart for late-night snacking.

Many guests danced the night away to the music of Band of Oz while others enjoyed the new photo booth room.

The silent auction had a new twist as mobile bidding, sponsored by Computer Guys of CNS, was used for the first time.

"We thought mobile bidding would take our event to the next level," said Simpson. "We will make a few tweaks for next year but overall we think the majority enjoyed the change. It would not have been such a success without the assistance of Butch Rooney and Eddie Greene from Davie County Schools and Drew Andrade from Computer Guys. With their expertise we had the courage and talent to pull it off."

Another guest favorite was the addition of a local personality for the live auction. Charlie Crenshaw, Pinebrook PE teacher by day, kept the crowd bidding and laughing throughout the live auction providing a new element of entertainment to the evening.

"We had a smaller crowd which made for a very relaxed and fun 10th year," said a tired George Webb, chair of the board. "All in all it was a great night that netted more than $60,000 for the foundation. I think that's a Friday well spent."

"We sincerely appreciate and thank the guests, sponsors and businesses who have supported the Davie Community Foundation over the 10 years of Sounds of Summer," said Simpson. "Your generosity has helped the foundation increase its impact on Davie County. Endowments have grown from $5 million to $9.8 million.

"Grants and Scholarship dollars have increased from $240,000 to more than $500,000, and the number of scholarship awards from 27 to 95.

"The SURF Board Youth Grantmakers grew from six young people to 21, and Pearls of Empowerment from 33 memberships in 2009 to 128 memberships representing more than 250 women in 2015. We think that is pretty important impact on the community," Simpson said.

Sounds of Summer will return to its normal date for 2016. It will move back to the Friday after Memorial Day Monday and has been set for June 3, 2016 at WinMock.

Questions and requests for additional information about the foundation may be directed to Simpson at 753-6903, jsimpson@daviefoundation.org or PO Box 546, Mocksville. Visit the website at www.daviefoundation.org.

George Webb, Gray Angell and Marlene Shamel greet guests as they enter the WinMock facility.

Guests look to the next item to be sold at the auction.

Tire Slasher Must Go Through Anger Management Course

An Advance man who slashed the tire on his brother-in-law's vehicle May 21 of Bill's Way, was charged with injury to personal property after he cut the tire on a truck belonging to Donald J. Hill Jr. of Charleston. Hutchens was in court that Thursday with his wife, Jeannie, who had been charged with assault against her brother, Hill, and her sister. Those charges were dismissed.

Hutchens was offered a deferred prosecution agreement by the state. He was given a sentence of 18 months supervised probation, ordered to pay $293.91 in restitution for the tire and to write a letter of apology to Hill. He must complete an anger management course and pay $200 court costs.

If he complies with the conditions, the charges may be dismissed in 18 months. His attorney, Brandy Kountz, Stockert, asked he be moved to unsupervised probation if he is in compliance before the 18 months is up, but Karen Biernacki, assistant DA, said she would not agree to that.

Chamber of Commerce officials help Nicole Tiller cut the ribbon for the opening of Bark of the Town Pet Salon.

Pet Salon Opens in Mocksville

The Davie County Chamber of Commerce recently held a ribbon cutting for Bark of the Town Pet Salon in Mocksville.

Bark of the Town is a grooming salon owned by Nicole Tiller. After grooming dogs and managing grooming salons for 18 years, she decided to venture on her own.

Tiller is creating a salon about more than a clean pet with a great haircut. She wants her salon to be somewhere pets are happy to visit, and where pet owners can find everyday solutions to help keep their animals comfortable, happy and healthy.

"It is important to me to make sure every pet receives a full spa treatment, even with a basic bath. After being given some time to explore the salon so that they are comfortable, every pet is bathed twice in the most appropriate shampoo for their skin and coat. They also receive a facial scrub, anal gland expression, blow dry and breath freshener, ears cleaned, nails clipped and filed and they are adorned with bows or a bandanna," she said.

"It is always a great day in Davie County when we celebrate the opening of a new business. We are especially excited to welcome Nicole Tiller, owner of Bark of the Town and look forward to watching her business grow," said Carolyn McManamy, president of the Davie chamber.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

Jesse Perkins of Perkins Roofing of Mocksville

Perkins Roofing of Davie

He lives under just one roof, but Jesse Perkins cares about every roof. That's what makes his business so special.

As owner of Perkins Roofing in Mocksville, Jesse treats each roof as if it was on his own home. If it isn't good enough for him, it will not be good enough for you.

That is the way Jesse treats each roofing job and customer. His work and integrity speak for itself.

Jesse, a Reidsville native, became interested in roofing when he was just 13 years old. At age 17, the summer before graduating from high school, he began helping his brother in the roofing business. After graduating the next year, Jesse moved to Davie County and has been here since.

After years of working for other roofers, Jesse decided it was time to go out on his own.

So, in the fall of 1997, he started Perkins Roofing. "I have been roofing most of my life and that's what I love to do," Jesse explains. "I started out with a ladder, hatchet and pick-up truck."

Now, along with roofing, Jesse has added vinyl siding to his line of work.

"I work with several local contractors on new homes and do tear offs for older homes that need a new roof. I have done some repair work but we just don't have that many bad storms around here to do too much damage to roof repairs," Jesse notes.

Jesse takes a great deal of pride in his work and will work however many hours and days it takes to get the job finished and done right.

"I keep my business somewhat small. That way I can be on the job to see what goes on and make sure the job is completed like it would be for someone in my family.

Perkins Roofing also enjoys giving back to the community.

They are involved in various fund raisers including the law enforcement and rescue squad.

So if you are in need of a new roof and a good, honest dependable man for job give Jesse at Perkins Roofing a call for a free estimate at (336) 753-8355.

Tesh Earns Doctorate In Audiology

Justin Scott Tesh, son of Scott and Sharon Tesh of Advance and grandson of Oris and Patsy Boyd of Mocksville and Doris Tesh and the late Terry Tesh of Tennessee, earned his white coat and took the oath for the doctorate of audiology on April 24 at the University of Arkansas School for Medical Science.

The ceremony signifies the transition from classroom/clinical work to full-time work in a clinic. He began work last week with the Arkansas Otolaryngology Center in Little Rock, where he will work for the next year.

Tesh and wife Whitney were married for three years and live in Maunelle, Ark. He is a 2007 graduate of Davie High School.

Community College Offers Studies Abroad

Davidson County Community College is offering several opportunities for travel and study abroad in spring 2016. Destinations include Ireland, Central Europe and Portugal as well as a health care and nursing experience in London. The trips are open to DCCC students and members of the community.

"The benefits of study abroad are virtually endless. Nothing is more inherently educational than travel, and our programs are specifically designed to give our students and community participants the best international experience possible," says Suzanne LaVenture, director of international education. "Participants gain confidence, learn more about themselves, and earn workforce skills and knowledge. In addition, traveling the world is incredibly fulfilling and fun."

• Ireland - March 4-12, 2016. Travel across Ireland from Dublin to Bundoon, Ireland's famous rural town, during this spring break excursion. Learn Irish history, literature and culture. Space is limited to 24. Approximate cost is $2,800, with non-refundable $200 deposit.

• Central Europe - May 16-25, 2016. Experience Central Europe while visiting Berlin, Prague, Krakow and Budapest. Try traditional foods, visit historical locations and experience the culture on this 10-day tour. The approximate cost is $3,499. Application deadline is Nov. 13. A deposit of $250 reserves a spot and is refundable until Nov. 20.

• Health Care & Nursing in London - May 16-22, 2016. This trip, intended primarily for DCCC nursing students, offers learning opportunities through tours of London medical facilities. Students learn how Florence Nightingale struck the balance between compassion and innovation that led to development of modern nursing practices. Other students and the community may participate. Approximate cost is $2,900.

Study abroad and travel trips require enrollment in an associated class in spring 2016. Fees include round-trip airfare, hotel accommodations, land transportation, some meals and directors.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA COUNTY OF DAVIE

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust made by Larry Thies and Michelle Thies (PRESENT RECORD OWNERS); Larry Thies and Michelle Thies (LARRY & MICHELLE THIES), dated the 10th day of November, 2008, and recorded in Book 688, Page 895, in Davie County Registry, North Carolina, default having been made in the payment of the note thereby secured by the said Deed of Trust and the undersigned, Substitute Trustee Services, Inc., having been substituted as Trustee in said Deed of Trust by an instrument duly recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Davie County, North Carolina, and the holder of the note evidencing said indebtedness having directed that the Deed of Trust be foreclosed, the undersigned Substitute Trustee will offer for sale at the courthouse door in the City of Mocksville, Davie County, North Carolina, or the customary location designated for foreclosure sales, at 1:45 PM on July 7, 2015, and will sell to the highest bidder for cash the following real estate situated in the County of Davie, North Carolina, and being more particularly described as follows:

Tract One: Beginning at an iron stake in the Western edge of Cooleemee Junction Road, Southeast corner of Lot No. 7 and running thence North 87 deg. West 352 feet to an iron stake in the Jacob Foster line, thence South 3 deg. West 85 feet to an iron stake, thence South 87 deg. East 353 feet to an iron stake in the Western edge of Cooleemee Junction Road, thence North 2 deg. 20' East 85 feet to the point and place of beginning and being Lot No. 8 according to an unrecorded map surveyed and platified by J.C. Comer and A.L. Bowles, Registered Surveyor, of the A.R. Holman Property owned by John A. Spillman, back line see Deed Book 71, at Page 193, Davie County Registry.

Tract Two: A certain lot of parcel of land located in Mocksville Township and being a portion of a large tract described in Book 71, at Page 193, Davie County Registry and described as follows: Beginning at an iron pipe in the Western edge of the Cooleemee Junction Road, thence South 87 deg. East 353 ft. to the point and place of beginning containing 50,045 square feet and being Lot 8 according to an unrecorded plat or map of the A.R. Holman Property prepared by A.L. Bowles, Registered Surveyor, 12/14/04.

The property hereinabove described was acquired by instrument recorded in Book 685, Page 851, Davie County Public Register of Deeds.

Together with improvements located thereon; said property being located at 550 Junction Road, Mocksville, North Carolina.

Trustee may, in the Trustee's sole discretion, delay the sale for up to one hour as provided in NCGS §45-21-23. Should the property be purchased by a third party, that party must pay the excise tax, as well as the court costs of Forty-Five Cents ($0.45) per One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) required by NCGS §7A-309(a) (1).

The property to be offered pursuant to this notice of sale is being offered for sale, without the knowledge of the Trustee or the holder of the note secured by the deed of trust/security agreement, if they believe the challenge to the officers, directors, attorneys, employees, agents or authorized representatives of either the Trustee or the holder of the note makes any representation or warranty relating to the title or any physical, environmental, health or safety conditions existing in, on, at or relating to the property being offered for sale, and any and all responsibilities or liabilities arising out of or in any way relating to any such condition expressly are disclaimed. Also, this property is being sold subject to all taxes, special assessments, and prior liens or encumbrances of record and any recorded releases. Said property is also being sold subject to applicable Federal and State laws.

A cash deposit or cashier's check (no personal checks) of five percent (5%) of the purchase price, or seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00), whichever is greater, will be required at the time of the sale.

An order for possession of the property may be issued pursuant to G.S. 45-21-29 in favor of the purchaser and against the party or parties in possession by the clerk of superior court of the county in which the property is sold.

Any person who occupies the property pursuant to a rental agreement entered into or renewed on or after October 1, 2007, may after receiving the notice of sale, terminate the rental agreement upon 10 days' written notice to the landlord. Upon termination of a rental agreement, the tenant is liable for rent due under the rental agreement prorated to the effective date of the termination.

agreement prorated to the effective date of the termination. If the trustee is unable to convey title to this property for any reason, the sole remedy of the purchaser is the return of the deposit. Reasons of such inability to convey include, but are not limited to, the filing of a bankruptcy petition prior to the confirmation of the sale and reinstatement of the loan without the knowledge of the trustee. If the validity of the sale is challenged by any party, the trustee, in their sole discretion, if they believe the challenge to have merit, may request the court to declare the sale to be void and return the deposit. The purchaser will have no further remedy.

PUBLISH: JUNE 27, JULY 2

DAVIE COUNTY PROPOSES TO REMOVE FEDERAL PROTECTION FROM APPROXIMATELY 1.2 ACRES OF AN EXISTING LAND AND WATER CONSERVATION FUND (LWCF) PARCEL, AND REPLACE IT WITH AN APPROXIMATELY 2.1 ACRE PARCEL.

The proposed "Partial Conversion of the Park Road" project is a property conservation plan associated with the design and construction of the new Davie County High School. Pursuant to the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, an Environmental Assessment (EA) has been prepared for this project in accordance with the National Park Service LWCF Environmental Assessment guidance for lands that have received funding through LWCF and are protected by section 6(f)(3) of the Act.

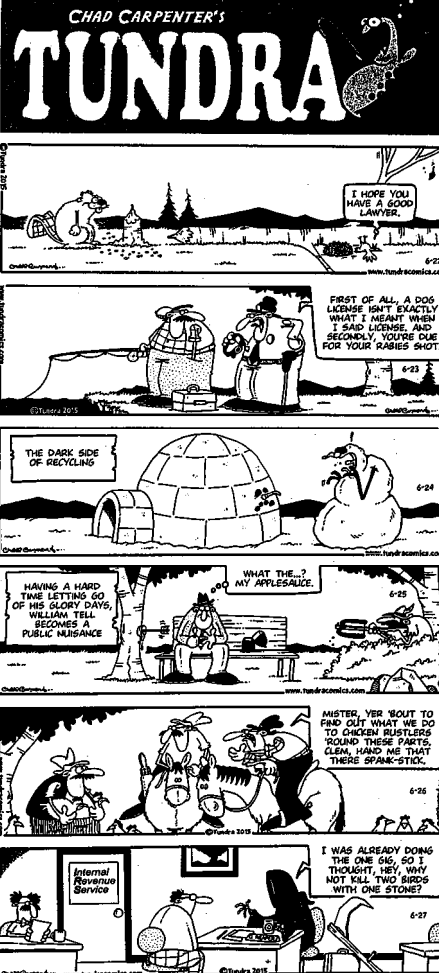

Davie County proposes to exchange federal protection from a portion of the Park Road to the Davie County Youth Park with a revised alignment that allows relocation of the existing road. The exchange is beneficial to the Youth Park by providing it with safer access to Farmington Road, providing more abundant parking, additional property and better use of existing property.

Information concerning this action may be viewed in the Davie County Manager's office, 123 South Main Street, Mocksville, NC during the hours from 9 am to 4 pm M-F (except holidays). Contact: Stacy Meyer, Interim Clerk to the Board of County Commissioners.

Written comments should be sent to Grey Engineering, Inc., P.O. Box 9 Mocksville, NC 27028.

The Comment period ends 30 days from the date of this notice.

COUNTY OF DAVIENOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

10 SP 126

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of Trust made by Gary Killian (PRESENT RECORD OWNER); Gary L. Killian, Sr.; to Trustee Services of Carolina, LLC, Trustee, dated the 16th day of November, 2007, and recorded in Book 737, Page 476, in Davie County Registry, North Carolina, default having been made in the payment of the note thereby secured by the said Deed of Trust and the undersigned, Substitute Trustee Services, Inc., having been substituted as Trustee in said Deed of Trust by an instrument duly recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Davie County, North Carolina, and the holder of the note evidencing said indebtedness having directed that the Deed of Trust be foreclosed, the undersigned Substitute Trustee will offer for sale at the County Courthouse in the City of Mocksville, Davie County, North Carolina, or the customary location designated for foreclosure sales, at 1:45 PM on June 30, 2015 and will sell to the highest bidder for cash the following real estate situated in the County of Davie, North Carolina, and being more particularly described as follows:

BEING KNOWN and designated at Lot No. 2 of the Division of the Gary L. Killian, Sr. Property as set forth in Plat Book 6, Page 352, Davie County Registry, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description. Together with improvements located thereon; said property being located at 183 Gramman Drive, Mocksville, North Carolina.

TOGETHER WITH the easement of ingress and egress across Gramman Drive as set forth in Plat Book 6, Page 352, Davie County Registry, to which reference is hereby made for a more particular description.

FOR BACK TITLE, see DB 871, PG 811; and DB 841, PG 601; Davie County Registry. See also Tax Map G-3, p. 10, located in Catawba Township, Davie County, North Carolina.

Trustee may, in the Trustee's sole discretion, delay the sale for up to one hour as provided in NCGS §45-21.23.

The property to be offered pursuant to this notice of sale is being offered for sale, transfer and conveyance "AS IS, WHERE IS". Neither the Trustee nor the holder of the note secured by the deed of trust security agreement, or both, being foreclosed, nor the officers, directors, attorneys, employees, agents or authorized representative of either the Trustee or the holder of the note make any representation or warranty relating to the title or any physical, environmental, health or safety conditions existing in, on, or relating to the property being offered for sale, and any and all responsibilities or liabilities arising out of or in any way relating to any such condition expressly are disclaimed. Also, this property is being sold subject to all taxes, special assessments, and prior liens, encumbrances as of record and any recorded releases. Said property is also being sold subject to all applicable Federal and State laws.

A cash deposit or cashier's check (no personal checks) of five percent (5%) of the purchase price, or seven hundred fifty dollars ($750.00), whichever is greater, will be required at the time of the sale.

An order for possession of the property may be issued pursuant to G.S. 45-21.29 in favor of the purchaser and against the party or parties in possession of the property for the part of the county in which the property is sold.

Any person who occupies the property pursuant to an oral agreement entered into or renewed on or after October 1, 2007, may after receiving the notice of sale, terminate the rental agreement upon 10 days' written notice to the landlord. Upon termination of a rental agreement, the tenant is liable for rent due under the rental agreement prorated to the effective date of the termination.

As this notice is unable to convey title to the property, for any reason, the sole remedy of the purchaser is the return of the deposit. Reasons of the purchaser for the return of the deposit are not limited to the filing of a bankruptcy petition prior to the confirmation of the sale and reinstatement of the loan without the knowledge of the trustee. If the validity of the sale is challenged by any party, the trustee, in the sole discretion, may believe the challenge to have merit, may request the court declare the sale to be void and return the deposit. The purchaser will have no further remedy.

TAKE NOTICE that a pleading seeking relief against you has been filed in the above entitled action. The nature of the relief sought is as follows: termination of your parental rights regarding a male child born on January 27, 2014, in Iredell County, North Carolina. (An Order for Service by Publication was entered by the District Court on April 6, 2015).

You are required to make a defense to such pleading not later than July 28, 2015, said date being forty (40) days from the first publication of this notice, and upon your failure to do so, the Davie County Department of Social Services will apply to the Court for the relief sought.

YOU ARE NOTIFIED to appear and answer the Petition by serving the original of your written response upon the Davie County Clerk of Superior Court, Juvenile Division, Davie County Hall of Justice, 140 South Main Street, Mocksville, NC 27028, within forty (40) days after the date of the first publication of this notice, or no later than July 28, 2015. You must also serve a copy of your written response on the Petitioner's Attorney listed below.

You have a right to be represented by an attorney in this case. If you want an attorney and cannot afford one, apply to the Court to appoint an attorney for you. You may contact the Davie County Clerk of Superior Court immediately to ask for a court-appointed attorney. This is a new case, and any attorney appointed to represent you in another case will not represent you in this case unless you are notified in writing by the Court appointing that person again or you retain them. A copy of the Petition may also be obtained from the Clerk of Court during regular business hours.

Obituary

Omega Ijames

Omega Ijames of Mocksville died on Friday, June 19, 2015, following a short illness. She was born in Davie County, March 29, 1923, daughter of the late William Oscar Ijames and Lessie Frost Ijames. She attended Davie County Schools and as a teen, she moved to Maryland, where she furthered her education and worked at a girls' home. She later moved to Brooklyn, N.Y., where she spent the majority of her life. She worked at the Veterans' Administration office, and was a clerk for the New York Department of Social Service, and retired after 25 years with commendation. In 2004 she returned to Davie County and regularly attended the senior center in Mocksville. She loved to watch TV. She would stay up late at night watching public TV, because, "Television is so educational." Everything needed washing. She would wash a grocery bag and save it. Can't you imagine what sister Lucille and cousin Edmonia are having to sort out from her home? She also loved Fox, Mozart, Mendelson, and Yo-yo MA music. She was proud of her Christian principles that her parents instilled in her. She indulged strongly in conversations about history, science, nature, and evolution.

She was also preceded in death by 4 siblings, Crawford Earl, Loice, Archie, and Sadie Ijames.
 Survivors: a sister, Lucille Ijames of Mocksville; a number of nieces, nephews, and cousins, including a devoted cousin, Edmonia Holman Hollis.

Memorials: to your favorite charity in her memory.
 Her funeral service will be Sunday, June 28 at 3 p.m. at Graham Funeral Home in Mocksville. Elder Raymond Robinson Jr. will officiate and burial will follow in Palmetto Cemetery, US 601 North in Mocksville. The family will receive friends at the funeral home 30 minutes before the service.

Condolences: www.GrahamFuneralHome.net.

On The Range In Montata

Kyle Swicegood of Mocksville tells Cowboys Jack Parsons, Ken Rutt and cowdog Ziggy from Wheat, Montana about the scoop on Davie County. Who doesn't travel without their latest copy of the Enterprise Record?
