George Clifford Tucker

Mr. George Clifford Tucker, 79, of Advance, died at Bermuda Village Health Care Center on Wednesday, Sept. 1, 2004.

Mr. Tucker was born Aug. 26, 1925, in Auburn, N.Y., to Clifford Smith Tucker and Margerite Louise Cross Tucker. He was a dairy farmer in Skaneateles, N.Y., until going into the insurance business with the Farm Family Insurance Companies. He was a district agent and specialist in estate planning. He earned the CLU, ChFC and LUTCF designations. He was a lifelong learner. While living in New York, he was active in the life insurance associations, local and state, and was elected a trustee of the National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors. In 1982 he and his wife moved to North Carolina, where he was with Farm Bureau and the New England Life Insurance. He became active in the professional associations, was an area vice president, then secretary, vice president and president of the state association. He gave speeches throughout the state. Always active in the Methodist churches he attended, he served as administrative board chairman and chairman of the trustees at various times. After he suffered a devastating auto accident in 1990, his activities were curtailed. He loved his church, Clemmons United Methodist Church, and was happy to hand out the bulletins.

Survivors: his wife, Mary Montgomery McCracken Tucker; a daughter, Dorace May Tucker (Steven) Cianciabella of Fort Salonga, N.Y.; 3 sons, Clifford George (Melody) Tucker of Kernersville, Barry Alan (Cindy) McCracken of Oakfield, N.Y., and Daniel Lynn (Aitxa) McCracken of Glen-Burnie, Md.; 2 adopted sons, John Charles Tucker of Point Richmond, Calif., and Lawrence John Tucker of Ithaca, N.Y.; 11 grandchildren; a great-grandchild; a sister, Evelyn Tucker Hockeborn of Wilmington, Del.; and a brother, John Frederick (Becky) Tucker of Skaneateles, N.Y.
