If the vote tomorrow were to be cast for most popular roofing, instead of for the election of national officials, there would be an overwhelming plurality in favor of CERTAIN-TEED Roofing.

This is indicated by the fact that "The General" makes 1/3 of all the asphalt roll roofing made in America. The 'balance is "scattered" among 39 other manufacturers.

Each year CERTAIN-TEED rolls up a strikingly increasing number of advocates, because this type of roof is coming to be recognized as the most efficient covering for all kinds of buildings, with either flat or pitched roofs.

Certain-teed Roofing

is clean and sanitary, costs less to buy, less to lay, less to maintain and less per year of life. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). It actually lasts longer.

The secret of this long life lies in the quality of the roofing felt, and the asphalt saturation. Roofings do not wear out-their life depends upon the length of time they retain the saturation. CERTAIN-TEED is made of the best quality of roofing felt; and is thoroughly saturated with the General's own blend of soft asphalts, which keeps the inner saturation soft and prevents the drying-out process so destructive to the ordinary roofing.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.

CLOSEST ELECTION VILLA AND MEN IN TWENTY YEARS

EARLY RETURNS INDICATED VIC-TORY FOR HUGHES AND FAIR-BANKS, BUT LATER RETURNS SHOWED REMARKABLE STRENGTH OF WILSON AND MARSHALL.

The National election proved to be the closet contest in many years. The early returns indicated a victory for Hughes and Fairbank's and as early as 7:30 p.m., the New York Tribune, a staunch Democratic paper, flashed the election of the Republican National candidates. At 7:45 p. m., The New York Times followed with the same news. These concessions were made when it became apparent that New York and Illinois had gone Republican, but when Ohio developed an uncertain outcome, Indiana showed a neck and neck race, Kentucky showed a larger Democratic majority than was anticipated. Democratic hopes were raised. These gains were followed by further returns favorable to Wilson and Marshall. Colorado came strongly to the Democratic side and California developed a tremendous Wilson vote. Kansas returns showed a see-saw fight with strong Democratia leaning.

The Repúblican National campaign managers at midnight could lay definite claim to only 254 electoral votes, 12 less than enough to elect and in some instances these figures were open to contest. The Republicans insisted that the dozen additional votes needed would be forthcoming but could not specify just where. The Democrats questioned this claim.

A statement issued by the Democratic National Committee, at 2 o'clock 2. m., claiming that with the loss of the following States, which it was not believed that Hughes had carried, President Wilson was still re-elected by a majority of two votes in the electoral college:

California, Indiana, North Dakota, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin. The committee claimed that even if these States were lost it would give President Wilson a vote of 268 in the electoral college.

Raleigh-"You can say that the Democratic majority in North Carolina is 40,000 to 50,000 with a solid Democratic delegation in Congress once again," said Democratic State Chairman Thomas D. Warren at midnight. He had just opened a telegram from Chairman Elias, of the Democratic committee in the Tenth, and read a message that Weaver's majority in the Tenth over the Republican Congressman, Britt, was 500.

In gratifying contrast to the discomforting news of National results, the returns to State Democratic headquarters grew more gratifying to the party leaders as the evening advanced. servant. rieties themselves often require spe cial methods to obtain the best results. Of the many styles of pruning and training, a few will be mentioned Four-Cane Kniffin System. On the trunk of the vine at the lower wire of a two-wire trellis, about 30 inches from the ground, two canes and two spurs are left of last year's growth, and two more canes and spurs are left at the top wire, about 56 inches from the ground. These canes which are tied to the wire on each side of the vine, produce fruiting shoots which are allowed to hang down or droop.

This system is named after William Kniffin, who first employed it. It has been extensively used along the Hudson river and elsewhere, and is said to be especially adapted to stronggrowing varieties. Vines trained by this system are easily and quickly pruned and require only a limited mount of labor in the growing season. Umbrella or Two-Cane Kniffin System. A system very generally used in the training of American vines, known as the umbrella or two-cane Kniffin system, differs from the foregoing in that no canes or spurs are left at the lower wire, the trunk of the vine extending directly to the top wire, where the growth is annually cut back to two canes and two spurs, one on each side, which are fastened to the top wire. It is best to tie the trunk to both the upper and lower wires to prevent violent whipping of the hanging shoots. Some growers dispense with the lower wire.

fastened in it. Each bud on the cane will usually produce a shoot, which by this process is made to grow upward. When these shoots are well started the trench should be filled with soil. Each of the shoots then takes root at its base. Canes may be layered at any season of the year, but most frequently in midsummer, when canes of the same season's growth are used. These are bent down to the ground and covered with earth, the growing tips being allowed to project above the soil. Roots will form by autumn and the layers can then be cut from the parent vines and divided, the laterals which were left usually forming the tops of the new plants. After being divided, the plants should be thoroughly heeled in, like plants from seeds or cuttings. In general practice the layers are not disturbed until wanted for use in the spring.

Where vines are on overhead aroors, layers can be made by placing boxes of soil in the arbors and layering the canes into these boxes.

less old wood, and results in cleaner and better-ventilated vines. Overhead Caywood System.

In the overhead system, which has been used to some extent in New York, the vines are carried upon a capopy or overhead arbor 6 feet above the ground, consisting of three horizontal wires stretched at the same beight. The center wire is fastened to posts which are placed at regular intervals, and the side wires are attached to 3-foot cross arms of wood fastened to the posts. The head of the vine is annually cut back to five canes and five spurs. The canes are fastened on the wires, two in one direction and three in the other, this division being alternated each year.

A single trunk vine is trained up each post, four canes being run from it at the top of the post and one cane is fastened to each of the radiating wires. These canes are renewed each year.

Moonlight Schools and Industrial Development Doing Much to Stamp Out Feuds-Locomotive Whistle Displaces Rifle Report.

Jackson, Ky.—Another Kentucky fuedist has died "with his boots on." Mose Feitner, known in every house hold throughout the mountains, was killed by United States Marshal George Sizemore while resisting arrest. The. officer was exonerated in the county yourt at Hazard, where the shooting occurred.

Feltner figured in some way in nearly all the family fights in this section during his lifetime. He was one of the leaders in the Hargiss-Cockrell feud in "Bloody" Breathitt in 1905. He testified at the trial to a remarkable deal in assassination. He said that Sheriff Ed Callahan and the Hargisses hired him to murder James B. Marcum, whose killing has been immortal ized in the weird mountain ballads which can be heard from the mouths of the blind peddlers in every mountain county seat. Instead of doing the murder, he said, he warned Marcum. Many Things Have Happened.

Many things have happened in the last five years to stamp out feuds. There are the moonlight schools, fostered by Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, editor of the Moorehend Mountaineer, which are teaching old and young to read and write and to realize the folly of fighting.

Probably the most important element of change is the industrial development. The whistle of the locomotive has driven out the report of the rifle. The mountaineers have learned that the pick and ax are better weapons than the gun ,and knife. This section abounds in coal and timber, which is now being developed on a large scale by eastern capitalists. The manner in which Judge James

M. Benson enforced justice when the slayers of Sheriff E. Callahan were prought to trial in Winchester two ears ago has also had a deterrent eflect on crime. Fourteen men were under indictment for conspiracy to cill. A tangled web of false testimony caused Judge Benton to summon a Politics should be kept out of the public schools. The pictures of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes has no place in a school room.

There are times when it doesn't pay to advertise, even with circulars and bill posters. This fact was de monstrated last Tuesday.

With our Register receiving a majority of 360 against a majority of majority of about 300. 314 two years ago, it doesn't seem that Democracy is making heavy gains in old Davie.

For the benefit of those who don't in February, as some might think.

The ordinary citizen could hardly wait last week to find out who was elected President. How do you think Messrs. Hughes and Wilson felt about the matter all day Wednesday and Thursday?

When Hon. James J. Britt, of the 10th district was re elected to Congress last Tuesday, North Carolina won a mighty fine Representative. There is not a better man in the State than Jim Britt

The people, by city of Raleigh in January and not their vote, showed that they had confidence in the honesty and integrity of the Republican nominees.

There were eight Socialist votes cast in Davie this year, seven being in Fulton township. Does the Winston Journal still labor under the impression that the Democrats made great gains in Davie this year. . The

The Indiana fire marebal receives reports of deaths by fire, and these reports show that during the year 50

adults and 21 children, a total of 71

persons, lost their lives. Gasoline explosions were responsible for a total of 15 deaths; kerosene explosions

for 17; clothing in contact with fire,

17; lodging and dwelling house fires,

3; children playing with matches, 4;

and the rest scattering. It is note worthy that the list shows that three adults committed suicide by fire and that the specific cause of one death was unknown. This last item indicates that much more care is eercised in discovering the specific cause of fire when it causes loss of life than when it causes oss of property.

Prompt Pay, Fair Pay, Slow Pay or "X." HOW WILL YOU BE RATED

As every man's credit record is of the utmost importance to him, we wish to give every citizen ample notice that they are being rated--prompt pay, fair pay, slow pay or "X" according to the way they pay their doctor, dentist, rent man, editor, grocer, coal man, butcher, milk man, furniture man and everyone who extends them credit. As this book is used by all business and professsonal men of Mocksville and Davie county as their guide in extending credit we trust that you will find it to your best interest to call on anyone to whom you may owe money and pay up. If you can't pay all, pay as much as you can, so they can give you as good a rating as possible.

WHERE DIFFICULTY ARRISES

Any One Who Signs Any Document in Any Way is Bound By His Signature.

Is a rubber stamp signature valid? Considering how many of them are soing out of insurance offices daily, how many agents affix them to policies and riders, and the almost general use made of this labor saving. authority-delegating device, it is well to attend the reply recently made by the Journal of Commerce to the inquiry of a subscriber on the point. "Any one," says our contemporary, "who indorses & check or signs any other document is bound by his signature, whether it is made with pen or pencil, a rubber stamp, or in any other way. The difficulty arises only when an attempt is made to show. that the signature is his. If he admits it, he is bound without further controversy. If he declares that he did not append the signature to the document, it will be necessary to prove that he did make it, and the is the point at which the whole difficulty arises. A written signature can be compared with others known or acknowledged to have been made by a certain person, and the correspondents of that person or handwriting experts can testify with a considerable degree of assurance as to the genuineness of the signature in question. No one can say with assurance. however, whether a rubber stamp was in the hands of one person or of enother, when it was in use for the smaking of a disputed signature. For this reason no one can reasonably be asked to adopt a signature so difficult to prove as that made with a rubber stamp."--Insurance and Commerical Magazine.

BORDER CONFERENCE

Atiantic City, N. J.-The Mexican-American joint commission adjourned

for a few days with the conference in what is regarded as a deadlock. When the meetings are resumed this week, it is expected the representatives of the two governments will be fully informed as to the wishes of their chiefs. Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican commission, successfully interferred with th eadoption of a plan

Charleston, W. Va.-Thomas A. Null; candidate for Congress from the Fourth District on the Democratic ticket; conceded his defeat by Harry C. Woodyard; Republican. and said he would not enter a contest.

BORDER PLAN NOT SETTLED AS CABRERA HOLDS BACK.

Atlantic City, N. J .- All efforts of the American representatives on the Mexico-American Joint Commission to persuade Luis Cabrera, chairman of ing lunch, causing them to lose their the Mexican representation, to abandon his opposition to the plan of border control approved in general by his colleagues, failed. The other members of the commision had not lost hopes and the conference will be continued but there was absent the note of optimism.

FIGHTING ON ANCRE LESS VIOLENT, NO FRESH GAINS.

London.-In the Ancre region of France, where for several days the British have made notable gains over the Germans, the fighting apparently has lessened greatly in violence, the latest British communication reporting only bombardment by the Germans of their newly-won front to the north of the stream. Ar additional six officers and 297 mer have been made prisoner by the Brilish in this region during the last 24 hours.

Democratic Leaders Confidently Expect to Cut Down Opposition's Lead.

Washington,-Incomplete canvasses of the vote in several close Congressional districts brought no changes in the unofficial election results, which indicate that 217 Republicans, 212 Democrats and six of other parties have been elected to the Sixty-Fifth Congress.

Representative Doremus, chairman of the Democratic Congressional committee, still claims , however, that Democrats will make gains on the final returns in six or seven of the close districts which apparently have elected Republicans by small majorifies. Representative Woods, Chairman of the Republican committee, insisted that the Republicans undoubtedly would control the organization of the House. A speaker to be elected must receive a majority of the House or 218 votes. Although the unofficial returns show the Republicans to be one short of a majority, they are counting on the Progressive elected in Minnesota the Progressive-Republican in Louisiana.

SWITCHMEN, ON STAND, TELL OF LONG HOURS.

New York .--- Instances where railroad switchmen worked 14 and 15 hours a day and fell asleep after eatjobs when they falled to return on time were cited by F. L. Eggleston, a switchman in the New York Central yards at Buffalo, before the board of arbitration in the controversy between the Switchmen's Union and 13 railroads over demands of the men for an eight-hour day and higher pay.

SUITS FILED ALL OVER U.S. IN ATTACK ON ADAMSON ACT

Washington .- Suits by railroads attacking the constitutionality of the eight-hour railroad law were begun in many parts of the country and the Department of Justice laid plans to defend them. No offer has yet been made by the railroads to settle the question by one test case. Attorney General Gregory has made no such proposition to the railroads and the department is planning to contest each suit as it comes up for hearing.

SEC. LANE IS TOLD TO END

Washington.—Armed with Presi dent Wilson's complete approval of his course. Secretary Lane returned for Atlantic City Monday determined to being the session of the American-Mexican Joint Commission to an early conclusion. He is still hopeful that an agreement as to the border situation can be reached but it was clearly indicated in official circles that the joint conference in entering on its final phase, agreement or no agree ment.

If the commissioners find it impos sible to formulate a plan the view taken here will be that the prospect of settling border disputes through diplomacy will be remote. Secretary Lane is understood to have found President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and Secretary Baker in full accord with him on every point when he laid before them in a three-hour confer ence at the White House a review of the efforts the American commission. ers had made to reach a settlement. Mr. Lane said he was well pleased with the results of the White House conference but would not otherwise comment.

She History of Thanksqiving

President Washington established the custom officially in the United States, but men have fervently thanked their Gods for blessings in all ages and every clime

> HE goddess of the Roman harvest was Ceres. Her festival was celebrated annually and was called Ceralia.. It was a day of worship and rustic sports. Men and women formed processions and went to the fields with music. Virgil refers to this festival. He mentions the sacrifices that were offered in the temples, and alludes to the joyousness of the occasion. But, Roman thanksgiving days were not confined to this annual, celebration of the festival of Ceralia. Sometimes they were held in commemoration of victorious martial campaigns. Plutarch tells us of the emperor who to conceal his defeat ordered a thanksgiving, which was observed. Then when the facts of his disastrous campaign became generally known, he excused himself on the ground that he did not "wish to deprive the people of a day of enjoyment,'

In one way or another, a thanksgiving day has been observed in Christian Europe for centuries before its celebration in New England. On the continent, and for a time in England, it occurred at Martinmas, which was a day of feasting and drinking. Occasionally, too, civil authorities recommended the observance of some fixed day. To celebrate the victory of King Henry V of England, at Agincourt, October 25, 1415, a public thanksgiving was held on Sunday, the feast of St. Edward, the King and Confessor. Such a day, too, was observed in Leyden, Holland, October 3, 1575, the first anniversary of that city from the siege by the Spaniards.

Many instances of a thanksgiving day can be pointed out in England during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. In 1559, the second year of Elizabeth's reign, Thanksgiving day entered Rogation day. Then it was ordered that thanks should be given to Almighty God "for the increase and abundance of his fruits upon the earth." In this reign, too, there was a great national thanksgiving day that is worthy of note. This occurred Tuesday, November 19, 1558, and was in commemoration of the great victory over the "Invincible Armada."

One legal and annual thanksgiving day, because of the long time it was ~O such, deserves special mention. After the traitors in the Gunpowder plot had been tried and punished in 1605, it was ordered that because of their deliverance the English people should keep the fifth of November every year "as a public thanksgiving day to Almighty God; that unfeigned thankfulness may never be forgotten, and that all ages to come may yield praises to God's divine majesty for the same." The "fifth of November" continued a legal thanksgiving day for more than two centuries; but in later years it fell into disuse, and in 1833 was abolished by parliament.

Long before the advent of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts, all rituals contained expressions of gratitude to God for his mercies. In that of the Church of England, special prayers were provided for the Sunday service. This service, however, must be carefully distinguished from the Thanksgiving day of the Pilgrim fathers. Failure to make this distinction has led to the groundless claim that the Popham colonists were "the first to keep Thanksgiving day" in America. The service at Monhegan, on which this claim is based, was the regular Sunday service of the Church of England; and while it had an element of thanksgiving, the day can in nowise be regarded as a thanksgiving day as that term is understood.

The record made in his "Breeches Bible" by William White, who came over in the Mayflower, has far more significance in determining the origin of our American Thanksgiving day than the event at Monhegan. The record read : - "William' White married on ye 3rd day of March, 1620, to Susannah Tilly, Peregrine White born on board ye Mayflower in Cape Cod Harbor. Sonne born to Susannah White 19th ye six o'clock morning. Next day we meet for prayer and thanksgiving." This meeting "for prayer and thanksgiving" was not on Sunday, but on Tuesday. The fact that it was not a part of the regular Sunday service makes it more nearly accord with our idea Thanksgiving day than does the Monhegan event. of

The prototype of our present Thanksgiving day is found in the harvest festival at Plymouth in 1621. The long winter that followed the establishment of the colony had been so severe that less than half the settlers had survived it. "At one time during the winter only Brewster, Standish, and five other hardy ones were well enough to get about." In the spring and summer that followed, their fortunes improved, and by autumn they had cleared 26 acres and made it ready for cultivation. This industry, too, had been rewarded by a bounteous harvest. Now food and fuel sufficient for the needs of the approaching winter were laid in. Then Governor Bradford ordered a thanksgiving-the first in America.

The first thanksgiving was not for a day only. It continued a week. In a letter to a friend in England, Edward Winslow has given us a brief of the festivities. This letter bears date of December 11, and in it Winslow wrote: "Our harvest being gotten in, our Governor sent four men on fowling that so we might after special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruits of our labors. They killed as much fowl as with a little help beside served the company about a week. At which times among other recreations we exercise our arms, many of the Indians coming amongst us, and among the rest their greatest king, Massasoyt, with some . ninety men, whom for three days we entertained and feasted, and they went out and killed five deer which they brought and bestowed oh our Governor and upon the captains and others." The records make no mention of a thanksgiving day in the next year. but in the year following, 1623, such a day was held. -This, however, was not in the autumn, but in July on the arrival of provisions from England. Nearly 50 years pass before we hear of another thanksgiving day at Plymouth. There was one in 1668, and another for the accession of the Orange Stuarts. William and Mary, in 1689. An autumnal thanksgiving was held in 1690, the last in the history of Plymouth colony, Independently of Plymouth, Massachusetts Bay colony had occasionally its own thanksgiving days. There was such a day for the "safe arrival of ships," July 8, 1630; and again the next February, when the provision ship. Ambrose, arrived. In 1632, the general court ordered a "publique" thanksgiving day in recognition of the "m'cy of God vouchsafed to the churches of God in Germany and the Pallatinate." The next year the court, because. of the bountiful harvest, appointed October 16 as a thanksgiving day-the first harvest festival in the history of the colony. By 1680 the autumnal thanksgiving had become an annual festival. No doubt in its games and sports it took the place of the English Christmas, for until comparatively recent date all that savored of Rome and the episcopacy was held in disfavor in Massachusetts. During the Revolution Thanksgiving day became national. All through the war, congress annually set apart a day for thanksgiving; but after the "Thanksgiving for Peace" in 1783, there were no more until Washington became president in 1789. On October 3 of this year at New York he issued a proclamation asking the observance of Thursday, November 28, as a day for national thanksgiving. This was the beginning of the orthodox "last Thursday" that has since been named in presidential proclamations. By this time the festival had general official recognition throughout New England, and in this year, 1789, the Protestant Episcopal prayer books recognized the authority of civil government in the appointing of thanksgiving days. The chief differences between the two was the want of ceremony at Plymouth that characterized the English festival. In some parts of England the merry-making was around the "noddingsheat," or "kern baby;" and in 3 Bis many places the last load of the harvest was drawn to the barn in a wagon called the "hoch cart." In front went pipe and tabor, and around it gathered the reapers, male and female, singing joyously as they proceeded. At Plymouth there was no ceremony.

INSECT PESTS EASY TO KILL IN WINTER

Destroy Trash and Litter Whereever it Has Accumulated-Cut Out Dead Limbs.

(By T. J. TALBERT, Missouri Agricul tural Experiment Station.) Take advantage of the bugs in their winter quarters, the remnants of old plants, the trash and litter about the garden and orchard. Burn out the fence rows, destroy the trash and litter wherever it has accumulated by burning it or plowing it under. Cut out the dead trees and limbs in the orchard and make them into firewood. This cleaning up about the orchard and garden will destroy a dozen of more of our most destructive pests For example, the plum curculio is now wintering as a full-grown beetle in the trash and litter along the fence rows or about the trees; the codling moth will silken cocoon tucked away under the shelly bark of dead trees and dead limbs; and the fruit tree bark beetles or shot hole borers will also be found wintering mostly as adult beetles in dead or dying trees.

Under the old stalks and rubbish in the garden and about the borders will is far the most serious disease of the be found the adult asparagus beetle, apple tree, bean-leaf beetle, harlequin cabbage bug, flea beetles, the striped cucumber bee tle and the chrysalis of the cabbage worm. If you want to kill these pests, in the garden and along the border.

Deep fall or early winter plowing is especially true of the cutworms, pothe soil. Late fall or early winter hogs from the orchard. plowing will turn these insects up near the surface and expose them to an at-unable to go deeper in the soil or to construct new cases or cocoons and they are killed by being subjected to excessive weather conditions and to the alternate freezing and thawing.

Fall plowing and cultivation will also enable you to have vegetables a week or ten days earlier next spring, because you will be able to plant earlier on fall-plowed ground.

SWINE IN ORCHARDS CAUSE MUCH INJURY

Never Safé to Permit Hogs or Cattle Among Fruit Trees Unless Grass is Plentiful.

The question is often asked, "Is it safe to let hogs run in an orchard?" It will be safe if you will watch two or three important points. One is to be sure and see that the hogs do not get to rubbing the trees hard, as in be found in the worm stage within a the process of scratching themselves Sometimes when hogs have lice they will rub against the trees and thus cause considerable damage or injury to the tree. This damage may finally end in collar blight of the apple, and by this means the hogs also aid in spreading the collar blight or rot which Another point to watch is that hogs do not root out the roots of the young trees. If there are white grubs in the ground close to the roots the hogs may pile and burn dead tomato and pea root there to obtain them and by tearvines and other remains of vegetation ing out the roots they would of course do considerable damage.

The last point is the possible damwill also destroy many insects. This age to the lower branches or low-hanging fruit, but if such injury is observed tato beetles, white grubs and wire at the beginning it is easy to prevent worms which are now hibernating in it from going further by removing the

DECISION, SAYS COURT, NOT BASED ON MATURE CONSID-ERATION OF MERIT.

FIRST TEST CASE IN COURT

Eight-Hour Law Held Unconstitutional by Judge William C. Hook in United States District Court at Kansas City, Appeal Taken.

Kansas City, Mo .--- The Adamson eight-hour law was held unconstitutional here by Judge William C. Hook in the United States District Court. The court made it plain that the decision was not based on mature consideration of the merits of the case but on expediency desired by all parties at interest because of the neces sity of a final decision by the Supreme Court of United States before January next, when the law goes into effect.

The legal moves in the process of sending the case direct to the highest court of the land were somewhat involved from the lay points of view, but the lawyers concerned rushed the matter through with a speed seldom witnessed in courts of law. These events transipred in court by agree ment.

i-Counsel for the receivers asked that their bill for an injunction be granted and the Adamson law be de clared null and void.

2-Mr. Hagerman for the Government asked the court to dismiss the bill and to declare the law constitutional.

3-Court overruled Fr. Hagerman and declared the law invalied. 4---Preparation of a transcript of the evidence for presentation to the Supreme Court-was begun and it was expected that the mails would deposit copies in Washington at once.

5-Council for the receivers were instructed to notify counsel for all railroads of the moves made here and to invite them to join in the case before the Supreme Court.

HEADED FOR ROCKS

NATIONAL TREASURY IN A DE PLORABLE CONDITION.

Democrats Make Loud Claims of "Pros perity" While Piling Up an Enormous Deficit-Appropriations Beyond All Reason.

The Democratic administration which is loudly proclaiming "prosperity," is piling up a government deficit of nearly $2,000,000 every 24 hours. Congress has made appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, which total $1,630,383,000. Every source of revenue available at present will fall short $444,814,000 of raising that sum. The estimates of incomes are: From customs duties $225,000,000, internal laws $515,000,000, new revenue law $205,000,000, sale of Panama canal bonds remaining in the treasury $240,569,000. That is a total of $945,000,000 with which to pay

$1.630.383.000. <sup>6</sup> Of the appropriations for the cur-rent year $349,103,590 are attributable to military and naval preparedness and on account of the war situation. In addition to that item, which is looked upon as extraordinary, the Democrats have arranged to spend in the present year $336,000,000 in excess of the revenues of the nation.

Not only are they facing a deficit of $444.814.000, but to keep it down to that total they are figuring on selling $240,569,000 Panama canal bonds, thus adding to our bonded debt by $240,569,-000. In other words, in one year's operations, they would increase by $685,383,000 the amount the country owes. That is more than two-thirds the total national debt of $1,028,564,-055 when they took charge.

During the first eight months of the present year our shipments of material exceeded similar shipments made during the same period in the year the war began by $1,535,000,000. Added to this there was a gain in the export of cotton and breadstuffs to supply clothing and food needs of Europe due wholly to the war, which increases the total to $1.748.000.99%. Our total exports of all kinds now amount to $2,110,000,000 more than they were in 1914. There is no evading the obvious fact that the war was the cause. What is going to happen to this business and the employment of American wage-earners which is back of it when the war ends? There is cer-

President Wilson's Weakness. Undoubtedly the impression left upon an unprejudiced student of Mr. Wilson's public career is that of a wavering, shifting personality, ever seeking a line of least resistance. His innumerable changes of mind on important questions point inevitably to a sacrifice of principle in favor of political expediency. More significant still have been his direct surrender to dictation from special interests. His well-known reliance upon unofficial advisers in the conduct of his adminis tration is another indication of his inability to stand alone, to mark out

What Do You Mean by Ballet Dancing?" Asks Court, and Detective Illustrates-Also Does Juggling and Acrobatic Stunts.

COURT

New York .- If John J. Miller, a detective attached to the staff of Inspector Thomas H. Ryan, in Harlem, ever arrests a person for climbing up the front of the Metropolitan tower, it is to be hoped that he is not asked what he means by the term climbing when the prisoner is arraigned in court. Miller unquestionably would be up the front of the tower before the superintendent could be awakened. When asked what he means by anything, Miller does not speak, he illustrates.

Julius Bernheim and William S. Clapp, manager and stage directors, respectively, of the New York theater, in One Hundred and Sixteenth street, were arraigned before Magistrate Breen, in the Harlem court, charged with violation of the Sabbath law. The complainant, Detective Miller, stated that they had, there and then, before a large audience, permitted jugglers to juggle, acrobats to bend, comedians to get funny and last and most frightful, ballet persons to wriggle and cavort.

Ballet-Dancing Stunt.

Messrs. Bernheim and Clapp, having long been manager and stage director, respectively, of many theaters, listened with at least one sleeve of laughter between them. They realized that the court presently would ask the officer just what the performers did and then, in the customary clumsy recital of the

One of the tests to determine whether or not an orange is mature is the so-called "eight-to-one test." This test is based on the ratio of the soluble solids to the acid contained in the juice of the orange. The soluble solids increase as the oranges ripen, while the acid decreases. The or anges are considered immature until the juice contains soluble solids equal to, or in excess of, eight parts to each part of acid contained in the juice.

The amount of soluble solids in orange juice is about equivalent to the Interesting Test Made With Barnamount of sugar it contains. The ratio of the sugar to the acid in the juice determines the sweetness of the orange. La Crosse, Wis.-A fly saved the life of Carl Kaeppler, thirteen years old, while he was hunting in the vicinity of Swift creek with William Stellick, fifteen years old.

Carl felt something irritating his forehead and raised his arm to brush the fly aside. At the same instant Stellick, who was only a few paces distant, accidentally discharged a rifle he was carrying.
