A Limit To Patriotism.

"And the quicker this army is jerked out and we get back to our knitting the better. We fought for one thing—our safety. It is idle talk of having entered the war to succor any nation. Germany drove us in. A boche triumph would have threatened our security and institutions. So we went to war and we won. Now let's get back."—National Republican.

In some parts of the country boards are organized to help the soldiers get jobs when they return home. Such a board would be without a job here in Union county. Every Union county soldier, who is in the army, will find a job waiting for him when he returns. Members of the local board of exemptions are asked daily to recommend the discharge on the grounds that the soldiers are needed so badly to do necessary work. The tales about work stock standing idle, fields that will not be cultivated and crops that will not be planted unless the soldier returns are distressing. No, Union county does not need an employment board to find jobs for soldiers, but on the other hand, could use a board to supply men for waiting jobs.—Monroe Enquirer.

Better Tag Your Dog.

The State dog law leaves it to the commissioners of each county to determine whether tax-paid dogs shall wear a tag showing that their owners have complied with the law, same to be displayed when off the owner's premises. If the commissioners decide in favor of the tag, the same is to be furnished by the county to the dog owner when he pays the tax. The State Commissioner of Agriculture is prepared to furnish tags to counties at a cost of about four cents each. To avoid confusion and possible trouble, it would seem to be wise to require the dog to wear his insignia when he is abroad. Otherwise a perfectly good and valuable tax paid dog, but carrying no credentials, might suffer indignity, if not death, by being mistaken for a blockader, which same might result in near civil war in the neighborhood. Better put on the tags.—Statesville Landmark.

About Rheumatism.

People are learning that it is only a waste of time and money to take medicine internally for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and about ninety-nine out of a hundred cases are one or the other of these varieties. All that is really necessary to afford relief is to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. Try it. It costs but 35 cents per bottle. Large size 60 cents.

Perfect, With 50 Exceptions.

Hamilton Holt, editor of The Independent, one of the most active propagandists of the British Wilson league of nations covenant, says the covenant "without a single amendment is the greatest document since the Declaration of Independence was first promulgated." Nevertheless, he says, "I can point out fifty improvements that to my mind will serve to clarify its text." Could Mr. Holt point out fifty improvements that would clarify the text of the Declaration of Independence? If the covenant were as great a document as Mr. Holt says it is, would it be reeking with obscurities and uncertainties to such an extent that he could change it in fifty places to advantage? And does a contract containing so many obscure clauses look like the beginning of harmony, or the start of a trouble?—National Republican.

Suggestion For a Camping Trip.

Buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy before leaving home. As a rule it cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. Neither can it be obtained while on board the cars or steamships and at such times and places it is most likely to be needed. The safe way is to have it with you.

JERUSALEM'S WAILING WALL.

The Holy City in the Hour of Prayer Given by Marion Weinstein.

Writing from Jerusalem to the Kansas City Times, Marion Weinstein gives an interesting picture of the Holy City in the hour of prayer: "Te ke-oo—Te ke oo," the notes ring out poignant, pitiful, "Te-ke oo." Once again the ram's horn sounds Israel's woe in the streets of Jerusalem. Once again it resounds in the hoary rifts of the "Wailing Wall," remnant of Hebrew glory, symbol of Hebrew fall. Piercing, clear, it heralds a mighty surge of grief. For from the gloom of a hundred souls a cry is wrung, uncanny in the smiling sunshine. The Jews of Jerusalem have come to mourn, to pray. They have brought to their Father the sting of their newest affliction, the fresh pagt in their long tragedy—the slaughter of their brethren in free Galicia.

Bearded elders in their faded kaftans bend and sway over their huge tomes. Their earlocks brush the yellowing leaves of prayer. Apart on cobbled street sit shawled women, sear, fleshless, resting their quivering forms against a native hut. Their younger sisters, old young women, press the Temple ruin. Now they fondle the stones and now they clutch them in despair, choking dry sobs. Beyond a girl is weeping. She has lived through a Russian pogrom.

There is a lull in the wail. For a moment the mass of motley head gear—skullcaps, turbans, fezes—ceases to sway. But only for a moment. And now the little Talmud Torah boys come from their schools, tiny replicas, with their side curls and long coats, of their elders. They file in under their rabbi's eye, a look of awe on their pale faces. Jerusalem has forgotten its squabbles. In this hour of prayer and mourning before their Maker all Jews are brothers. Sap hardim join Ashkenazim. Here is a Georgian, towering above his ghet-to-stunted kinsmen. And beside him a Yeminite, yellow, bearded, wiry, chants his psalm as his ancestors have done for centuries in Arabia. The "radical," too, has been stirred by his people's sorrow, and no one is more fervent than he in the shadow of the "Wailing Wall" as he stands erect, smooth shaven, a walking stick in the crook of his arm. "A dole, a dole," a swathed bundle of rags whimpers thru the crowd. Between two spattering candles against the wall a khaki clad soldier from the Jewish battalion pauses to read the call to this prayer that was posted for days in the streets of the Holy City in Hebrew and in Yiddish.

"Terrible reports come to us, one after the other, from Galicia, Boemia of Israel shed Jewish blood like water. Hundreds of Jewish victims have been murdered amid all sorts of atrocities. Countless innocents, men, women and children, our people's most pious souls, have fallen. In Lemberg alone one hundred and eight butchered and burned, were buried in one grave. Scores of scrolls of the law have been destroyed and such outrages were committed as in the day of the destruction of the temple. All our brethren in Galicia are in terror. Our elders, therefore, have met and decided that the whole community—men, women and children, should assemble Tuesday at 8 o'clock, Arabic time, at the temple ruin to read the Psalms and blow the shofar that the Lord above may take pity upon our brethren."

"Ibrahim! Ibrahim!" A shrill cry strikes the air. From the roof of her stone hat a swarthy Arab woman calls her son, who has somehow been caught in the walling, swaying multitude: "Ibrahim!" The Jewish soldier rescues the reluctant Ibrahim just as a score of British Tommies appear in the wake of a Moslem guide.

"Here you have the Jews' Wailing Wall," he recites in a sing-song. "The upper stones were built in the time of the Romans, but the lower blocks belonged to Solomon's Temple. Here the Jews come every Friday to wail." The Jewish soldier has recognized a fellow Jew in an American Red Cross doctor, standing thoughtfully at the edge of the praying crowd. "From what part of the states are you?" he whispers eagerly. "I'm from Philly. I thought you might be, too."

Down the stony steps leading to the wailing place new figures are ever hurrying, scurrying. The Talmud Torah children are leaving with their rabbi. The weeping girl leans against the Arab hut now, her eyes half closed, her lips trembling. The old young women still cling to the wall as if the God whose ear they seek were, in its very stones. "A dole, a dole," the beggar renews her quest. The sun sinks lower and lower, but still they come, old and young, the Jews of Jerusalem. The praying forms never weary.

Ever their cry rings above the noise of the city, a century old cry. The statesmen of their people, marking the bloody record of Galicia, ask again for a Jewish nation in the world councils. But they, the Jews of Jerusalem, remember they are children of Israel, and ask only of their Father pity for their helpless brethren, the eternal victims, even in the dawn of peace.—Ex.

Do Your Best.

Everyone should do all he can to provide for his family and in order to do this he must keep his physical system in the best condition possible. No one can reasonably hope to do much when he is half sick a good share of the time. If you are constipated, bilious or troubled with indigestion get a package of Chamberlain's Tablets and follow the plain printed directions, and you will soon be feeling alight and able to do a day's work.

Not Looking For A Job.

"Does the returning American soldier," inquires Mr. Tiller, "intend to take a vacation before he goes back to his old job, or obtains a new one, in civil life?" Coffin, of the Raleigh Times, inquired of a doughboy of the 30th at Charlotte as to his plans for reincorporating himself into the army of industry. "First thing I aim to do," said he, "is to put in one solid month a-fishing." Then I aim to get me a pair of the best fox hounds they is. I don't aim to do any lick of work for a year."—Greensboro News.

For A Weak Stomach.

As a general rule all you need to do is to adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation and to keep your bowels regular. When you feel that you have eaten too much and when constipated, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets.

Send 'Em All.

We shall soon have Wilson, Daniels and Baker all in Europe at the same time. Can some one suggest a good reason why Al Bursleson should be called to foreign shores? If it could be done perhaps the same progress could be obtained with regard to the telephone and telegraph problem as was obtained with the peace treaty during Mr. Wilson's absence in this country.—The Searchlight.

No Worms in a Healthy Child.

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. CHAMBERLAIN'S CASTLEBERRY TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

L. L. Hooks Says His Troubles Are Over.

Tanlac Built Him Up So He Is Now Working Hard Every Day.

"When I weighed the other day I found I had gained thirty-five pounds, and that's only a part of what Tanlac has done for me," said L. L. Hooks, of North Roswell, Ga., in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"I suffered from such an awful case of stomach trouble," he continued, "that I could hardly eat a thing and nothing tasted right. The little I forced down didn't give me any strength and at times I would almost choke from the gas that formed in my stomach. I was so weak and miserable I just couldn't do any work at all and was just about all in."

"I commenced to take Tanlac because I saw the good it was doing others, and I could feel all the difference in the world right from the start; it simply made me feel like a new man. My troubles are now over, it built me up wonderfully and I am working hard, using pick and shovel every day, and never have any more trouble with my stomach."

"Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere."

DAYS OF DIZZINESS

Come to Hundreds of Mocksville People. There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, languor, backache; Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney ills.

Endorsed by residents of this vicinity. Mrs. J. E. Ingram, 327 E. Kerr St., Salisbury, N. C., says: For five years I suffered from inflammation of the bladder and disordered kidneys. My back was weak and I could hardly get about. I had a burning sensation across my loins. My kidneys didn't act right and caused me a lot of annoyance. My head ached and I was so dizzy I almost fell and spots floated before my eyes. The different medicines I took gave me no relief and finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. Every box I took did me more good than the one before and it wasn't long before I was cured.

If You Were in the Clothing Business

It's almost ten to one that you'd operate on the exact same principles as we do. YOU would rather sell two suits at a $5 profit each and BOOM BUSINESS, than to take $10 clear on ONE suit--and split the blessings.

You'd choose only the best merchandise for your friends to buy for you wouldn't expect to do business with your enemies.

To get right down to a concrete example, you'd sell Steinbloch Clothing after a careful investigation of all other makes--and this Spring you'd have wonderful values at the same as we have.

$20 to $60

"W. S. S."

The farmers are too busy these days to come to town. They are putting in a big crop of corn, cotton and tobacco, and are not worrying much over the peace terms or 17-year locusts.

"W. S. S."

Strange how some learned men will waste their lives holding down little jobs in small towns and villages when they could get out into the world and perhaps become president or postmaster-general.

"W. S. S."

The Record is hoping that Sidney Albert Burleson will be the Democratic nominee for President next year. If he can't land the job, then we hope that Col. Edwin House will capture the prize.

First-class mail travels fast these days—only takes a letter forty days to travel thirty miles. Why should we worry—most of our duns arrive before we are ready for them, anyhow.

"W. S. S."

"It is the duty of the press to lead and not to follow," says a contemporary. Then let us have a repeal of the laws that makes the Postmaster General prosecution, judge and executioner in cases in which the press is concerned. Present conditions do not strengthen leadership anywhere except in the offices of bureaucracy at Washington.

"W. S. S."

The U. S. Employment Service called a conference of Governors at Washington lately and announced that the conference would be secret. There was such an ominous silence that the managers of the conference could feel a storm brewing and they called off the secrecy programme. This is one more instance in which the administration did not make a success of its "public be damned" policy.

"W. S. S."

The people paid high prices for everything during the war and did but little grumbling about it. But now that the war has been over for more than six months the people are wondering why the high cost of living does not drop a peg or two. We are paying as much or more today for the necessities of life than we were paying a year ago. Flour, meat, eggs, butter, lard, clothing, shoes and hats haven't been reduced but little if any, and all canned meats, vegetables and fruits are higher than ever before. Something is wrong somewhere. A woollen suit costs the wearer $50; while the farmer who sells the wool to make the suit gets about $2 for it. Somebody is getting rich while someone else is on the road to the poorhouse.

WHAT LEMON FOR 1920?

In the 1912 elections the Wilson party promised certain Italian importers that they would be given free trade in lemons if propaganda which they proposed to set on foot among the Italians, as a consideration, proved successful. The Italians threw their vote to Wilson, and the Italian importers received a marked reduction in the duties on lemons. In 1916 a great deal of political capital was made among the Italian agriculturists in California by convincing them that but for Wilson's surrender to the Railroad Brotherhood they would not have been able to market their products, and it is estimated that enough of them voted for Wilson to overturn what otherwise would have been a small majority for Hughes. In 1918 the Democratic National Committee, at the 11th hour of the campaign, sent out a flight of bulletins to all the Italian papers in the country telling them how much of Uncle Sam's money Mr. Wilson had loaned to Italy, how many American soldiers he had sent there, etc., and that corralled many votes no doubt. But what will wily Woodrow have to tell them in 1920, after his stubborn opposition to the claims of their motherland?

Davie Farmer Finds Money In Livestock.

Farmington, April 26—In the course of years "little Currutuck" as this community used to be called a century ago, then covered with high grasses and traversed by flowing streams along which deer and bear wandered, now is coming back to the grass country class. Two weeks ago a young farmer in north Davie sold his last consignment of cattle and hogs. The receipts from this last load of hogs and cattle totaled up his year's work in the neat sum of $5,000.00 and that on a farm the total acreage of which is but little over 140 acres.

The secret lay in livestock and good selection of breeds and carrying back the manure to the land to make more grass. The rotation of cover crop and clover, with rye for early spring pasturage. This is not the only young farmer placing the stress on the "meat factory." There are others following his example. No kind of argument could induce young Grady Rich to go back to the old way of farming. He has become fully convinced that the "Forks of the Yarkin" famed in that faraway day for the grass and fine hunting grounds, can be made just as successful in raising tame herds. And while Daniel Boone was successful one fall with his father in killing one thousand bear on one of the creeks of the county and named it "Bear Creek" this young farmer and his neighbors are becoming convinced that just as much meat can be laid up in a more domestic way.

Coolsmee Over The Top.

You can't head off old Jerusalem and Coolsmee when it comes to helping Uncle Samuel. Jerusalem's allotment of Victory Bonds was $14,000. Col. W. K. Clement phoned us Thursday morning that they had already passed the $20,000 mark and was still buying bonds at a rapid rate. This speaks mighty well for the good citizens of that section. The rest of the county will have to get busy or they will be left out in the cold Hurrah for Coolsmee and Jerusalem.

Roosevelt To Speak in Salisbury.

A meeting of the Western North Carolina Republican Club Association has been called to meet in Salisbury, at 10:00 o'clock, Tuesday the 13th day of May, 1919 for the transaction of much important business, among other things to map out and put into operation a plan for the complete organization of all our voters, among them the returning soldiers, to further investigate all the frauds perpetuated in the last election and determine the number and character of those that should be prosecuted or given the very fullest publicity. Prominent speakers of nation-wide reputation have been invited and consented to be present and address the meetings. Such men as Lt. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Hon. Geo. B. Lockwood, Editor of the National Republican of Washington, D. C., and one of the foremost Republican members of Congress will also be present and address the convention on all important national issues of the day. Our best and well known state speakers will be present and address the Association. We want to keep the good work going. We must give our out-of-state visitors a rousing reception.

Resolutions Adopted by W. M. U. Society of Eaton's Baptist Church, April 13, 1919.

On February 20th, God called home our sister, Mrs. Martha Stonestreet. She was 69 years of age when a fatal disease claimed her as a victim.

Mrs. Stonestreet was a woman of fine christian character, ever faithful to her church and woman's Missionary Society. She had been a member of Eaton's Baptist church for many years.

Therefore, Be it Resolved:

1st.—That we of the Woman's Missionary Society bow in humble submission to Him "who doeth all things well." We have lost one of our most faithful members, whose pure, sweet life is worthy of emulation.

2nd.—That we extend to the loved ones left behind our deepest sympathy in their bereavement. "God's finger touched her and she slept."

The blessings of her quiet life, Fell on us like the dew, And good thoughts where her footsteps pressed,

Like Fairy Blossoms grew.

3rd.—That a copy of these Resolutions be placed on the Record of the Society, a copy be sent to each member of the bereaved family, and a copy to the county paper for publication.

UNSPOILED BY HIGH HONOR

Officers and Men Alike Recognize in General Pershing Qualities That Compel Their Affection.

"Why do we swear by Pershing?" countered a staff officer in Washington one day in response to a question. "Well, I guess it's because he's the real thing—a regular American, if you know what I mean."

"You can easily figure out the sort of man he is by the stories they tell of him. I was with him when he was on his way to Washington to receive his orders for France. On the way, we passed through the town in which he lived when he was a boy. On the station platform was the same old negro porter Pershing had thrown stones at in his boyhood. The general chatted with the old man. Afterward I asked the porter what happened. He said:

"He done wanted to know all 'bout the folks he uster know, an' when he was gettin' on the car again he picked up a pebble as big as my thumb an' hove it at me, jes like he uster when he was an ornery kid."

PERMANENT UNION COTTON GROWERS

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION ACCOMPLISHED GREAT GOOD IN ALL SECTIONS OF SOUTH.

SAVED FARMERS $20 A BALE

Acres in State Cut Twenty and One-Tenth Per Cent and Use of Fertilizers More Than Twenty-four.

Convinced that the temporary organization of the North Carolina Cotton Association has effected a great saving to cotton farmers already, in bringing co-operation that has improved the cotton prices and in getting reduced cotton acreage, representatives of the organization, gathered here from many of the cotton growing counties, resolved to make the temporary organization permanent, the officers being: C. J. Orrell, Chatham county, president; J. O. O'Connell, secretary, and Dr. B. W. Kilgore, treasurer.

The meeting endorsed in strong resolutions the proposed finance and exporting corporation for the cotton industry of the South, and appealed that cotton farmers invest liberally in the cotton warehousing corporation, using Liberty bonds for the purpose, if necessary. Organized here when the cotton market crisis came, while the legislature was in session as temporary expedient, the cotton association, President Orrell declared, has saved the farmers probably $20 per bale and accomplished other needed co-operative benefits. The report of Secretary O'Connell showed $9,145 raised by the association had been expended except about $27 balance in bank. Over $7,000 of this was invested in advertising, to bring about cotton holding and reduced acreage.

There was a report that acreage in this state has been cut about 20 1-10 per cent; fertilizer was reduced about 24 1-4 per cent and about 150,000 bales of cotton were held off the market for higher prices, in consequence of the campaign of the association.

Among those attending the session was W. B. Cooper, of Wilmington, author of the original cotton storage warehouse bill in the recent legislature.

Victory Loan Slogan.

"Match the navy," this is the slogan to be used in the Victory Loan campaign on May 7. Secretary Glass has designated that as "Navy day." All Victory Loan activities will then be directed to emphasize the important part taken by the navy. The navy is not only attempting to break records for subscriptions in the service but is exercising every effort to put the national campaign over the top. The officers and men of the navy service, many of whom have risked their lives, are now ready to give their dollars, and say to all, "match the navy." It had been hoped that the campaign would be over in this state by that time, but if it is not the challenge of the bluejackets is expected to be answered.

Legal Question Raised.

The question of whether or not the new machinery act does not put all sheriffs in the state back on commission basis instead of salaries, except the Buncombe county sheriff, was brought sharply to the front by the refusal of Auditor Holding, of Wake county, to pay the salaries of Sheriff Sears and his deputies for April. The "kink" is in section 101 of the machinery act, however, state officials who were in close touch with the purpose of the legislative committee in drafting the new machinery act insisted that no such result can come from the changes from the old machinery act and that all that the new law does is to allow the sheriffs in the state, whether on salary or commission, a fixed additional compensation of five per cent on all special license and privilege taxes collected for the state.

New Horticultural Worker.

Mr. L. H. Nelson, a graduate of the Kentucky Agricultural College, class of '16, has been secured by the Agricultural Experiment Station as Assistant in the Division of Horticulture. Mr. Nelson will have charge of the investigation work in connection with truck crops, and will spend considerable of his time in the near future at work with the sweet potato. He comes to the Experiment Station after a service of over a year in the army. Previously he worked at the Kentucky Experiment Station.

General Pershing Hotel.

General Pershing is the name of a hotel company chartered by the Secretary of State for Laurel Hill, Rutherford county. The incorporators are C. L. Miller, W. A. Harrel of Rutherford, and W. A. W. LeGette, of Caroleen.

Another corporation chartered was the Inland Navigation Company of New Bern, with $300,000 authorized capital and $14,000 subscribed. The incorporators are Fred D. Doty and Frank J. Hill, of Norfolk, and W. B. Rodman Guion, of New Bern.

Merchants Mutual Organizes.

The organization meeting of the Merchants Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of North Carolina promoted by the State Merchants' Association, was held at the Yarrowborough hotel. Mr. R. B. Peters, of Tarboro, was chairman of the meeting and J. Paul Leonard, of Statesville, served as secretary.

The object of the meeting was explained by Mr. J. F. Morris, of Winston-Salem, while Mr. J. R. Young, State Insurance Commissioner, was presented to help the gathering over any difficulties.

Between twenty-five and thirty merchants of the State were present for the adoption of the constitution and by-laws of the company and the election of directors.

The company starts off with a guarantee fund of $25,000 and will have its home office in Statesville with the headquarters of the North Carolina Merchants Association.

Governor Approves Sentence.

The first court martial sentence in the history of the North Carolina Reserve Militia, the State military organization generally known in respective locations as the home guards, has been approved by Governor Bickett. Private Henry Link of Lexington was the offender and he was fined $20 and ordered to apologize and submit to reprimand in the presence of the officers and men of the 39th company, N. C. R. M.

The court martial was held in Lexington, Capt. C. C. Rush of the 20th company sitting as president and Captain George Maurice of the 39th company as judge advocate. Private Link was charged with failure to report at a fixed time for drill and with disobeying the command of his superior officer, Second Lieutenant J. E. Foy. He pleaded guilty to both counts and the judgment of the court was that he pay a fine of $20, be reprimanded in the presence of the company and make a full apology to the men and officers of the outfit.

The finding was sent to Governor Bickett and approved by him and by command of Adjutant General Royster, commander of the court martial will be imposed.

Postoffice Classes Raised.

Ten North Carolina postoffices are entitled to an advanced classification after July 1, 1919—that is, they will be accorded a second-class instead of a third-class rating. The Tar Heel towns sharing the fortunes of increased prosperity and the resultant effect of a higher class rating from the United States Postoffice Department are West Raleigh, Wake county; Canton, Haywood county; Smithfield, Johnston county; Southport, Brunswick county; Biltmore, Buncombe county; Clinton, Sampson county; Pinehurst, Moore county; Warrenton, Warren county; Weldon, Halifax county; Williamston, Martin county.

The advancement is not only a boost to civic pride, but the pay envelope of the postmaster is enhanced—his salary being $2,000 and allowance for clerical assistance commensurate with the needs of the office.

"Kirmess" to Be Presented.

Under the auspices of the Raleigh Woman's Club the Kirmess with a cast of about 400 will be presented here May 7, 8 and 9, with a matinee on the later date. It will be the most brilliant social event of the season and perhaps the most elaborate performance the club has ever undertaken. Practically every member of Raleigh's younger social set will take part from the tiny tots on up to the prettiest debutantes.

The Kirmess, a brilliant presentation of the singing, dancing and merry-making of the most picturesque and poetical nations of the world, will be divided into scenes, each one separate and distinct. It has been presented in practically every large city in the United States and Canada. The fact that several hundred people take part gives some idea of the magnitude. In the spectacular opening scene which will include the crowning of the king and queen, every member of the Kirmess takes part, the stage setting to be most elaborate. The choruses are catchy and tuneful. The drills, dances and marches light and graceful. Over a hundred young people take part in the scene. "A Night in Koko's Garden," in which all the principal scenes and characters of the famous opera, "The Mikado," will be used in all their Oriental splendor.

Bond Issue Validated.

The Supreme Court validated a $225,000 bond issue of the Central Highway Commission of Person county, issued under an act of the 1917 session of the General Assembly and amended in 1919, the amendment not having been passed under the prescribed form of the Constitution requiring three separate readings. The court held that where the amendment does not increase the amount of the issue or the burden of taxation, failure to follow the constitutional form will not invalidate bonds.

To Launch First Ship.

"We expect to launch our first ship about September 1, and on that occasion we feel like we will be entitled to the presence of Secretary Daniels, Senator Simmons and probably some other prominent North Carolinians," said Frederick E. Engstrom, of New Bern. Mr. Engstrom is one of the officials of the Newport Shipbuilding Company, which is building nine concrete ships at New Bern. Keels for the ships are being laid now. The last one will be launched about the first of next March.

IT'S NO SECRET

Probably no man in America was ever better qualified to successfully treat the diseases peculiar to women than Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. The reason that he came to him in many thousands, giving him an experience that rarely comes to any one man. Dr. Pierce found that in nearly every case there were certain vegetable growths which rarely failed to give prompt relief in many feminine disorders from which so many women suffer. He combined these roots and herbs into a temperance medicine that he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is sold in both liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. A weakly, sickly, back-sick, nervous, despondent woman, with regular or irregular pains with feminine disorders that come in youth or middle age—is pretty sure to find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the exact remedy that her condition calls for.

VERY WEAKLY FOR SEVERAL YEARS

North Carolina Lady Describes the Symptoms From Which She Suffered and Which She Says Cardui Relieved.

Trap Hill, N. C.—Mrs. Eudora Holbrook, recently made this statement: "I was very weakly for three or four years with womanly troubles. I was much worse at special times. Every month I would have to lie in bed for three or four days.

My chief suffering was in my back. I could not tell how badly it ached, but it seemed as if it could not possibly ache worse. Whenever I would get tired, or if I was much on my feet, it would ache. Cardui was all the medicine I took.

I saw, with the first bottle, that I was being benefited, but I kept right on for five bottles regularly. By this time I was so I could do all my own work, which for some time I had not been able to do.

That is the only time I ever took it regularly, but I always have it on hand to use when I do not feel well and it always helps me."

With a successful record of over 40 years to its credit, Cardui has proven its merit in the treatment of many of the simple ailments peculiar to women.

Clergy Asserts Itself.

Clergymen in Great Britain may strike for higher wages. At a recent conference of the Southwell diocese at Derby, the bishop delivered ultimatum to certain missionaries who asked that a minister be appointed for their churches. The bishop has refused to assign pastors for the parishes until they have assured him they will have a house and adequate food. Eight of the parishes of the diocese recently were combined into one.

The question of poor church wages has kept many aspirants to the ministry from being ordained and the church hierarchy has been asked not to establish any more $1,000 a year parishes.

JACQUELINE! JACQUELINE!

CHAPTER I—Continued.

When the taxicab deposited us in front of the house I glanced hastily up and down the road. There was another cab at the east end of the street, but I could not discern if it were approaching me or stationary. I opened the front door quickly and admitted my companion, then preceded her up the carpeted stairs to my little apartment on the top floor.

As I opened the door of my apartment the dog pushed past me. Again I had forgotten it; but it had not forgotten its mistress.

"Till tomorrow, mademoiselle," I said. "And won't you tell me your name?"

"Jacqueline," she answered. "And yours?"

"Paul," I said. "An revoir, Monsieur Paul, then, and take my gratitude with you for your goodness."

I let her hand fall and hurried down the stairs, confused and choking, for there was a wedding ring upon her finger.

CHAPTER II.

Back in the Room. The situation had become more preposterous than ever. Two hours before it would have been unimaginable; one hour ago I had merely been offering aid to a young woman in distress; now she was occupying my room and I was hurrying along Tenth street, careless as to my destination and feeling as though the whole world was crumbling about my head because she wore a wedding ring.

As I passed up the street the taxicab which I had seen at the east end came rapidly toward me. It passed, and I stopped and looked after it. I was certain that it slackened speed outside the door of the old building, but again it went on quickly until it was lost to view in the distance.

Had I given the pursuers a clue by my reappearance?

I watched for a few moments longer, but the vehicle did not return and I dismissed the idea as folly. After all, New York was a civilized city, and I could be sure of the girl's safety behind the street door lock and that of my apartment door. So I refused to yield to the impulse to go back and assure myself that she was all right. I must find a hotel and get a good night's sleep.

As I went on new thoughts began to press on my imagination. The tale about the father, the assumed ignorance of the conventions—how much could be believed?

Had she not probably left her husband in some Canadian city and come to New York to enjoy her holiday in her own fashion? Could she innocently have adventured to Daly's door and actually have succeeded in gaining admission?

Perhaps she was worse than I was even now imagining! Perhaps, if I had not left her—perhaps, if I turned back—I clenched my fists and hurried on. I would not give rein to the thoughts that were making my heart bound like a runaway horse.

I had turned up Fifth avenue and had reached Twelfth or Thirteenth street when I thought I heard the patter of the Eskimo dog's feet behind me. I spun around, startled, but there was only the long stretch of pavement. I had resumed my course when I was sure I heard the pattering again. And again I saw nothing.

A moment later I was hurrying back toward the apartment house. My nerves had suddenly become unstrung. I felt sure now that some imminent danger was threatening Jacqueline. I could not bear the suspense of waiting till morning.

And as I ran I thought I heard the patter of the dog's feet, pacing mine. I was rounding the corner of Tenth street now, and again the folly of my behavior struck home to me. I stopped and tried to think. Was it some instinct that was taking me back, or was it the remembrance of Jacqueline's beauty? Was it not the desire to see her, to ask her about the ring?

I had actually swung around when I heard the ghostly patter of the feet again close at my side. I made my decision in that instant and hurried swiftly on my course back toward the apartment house.

When at last I found my door my hands were trembling so that I could hardly fit the key into the lock.

I bounded up the stairs. But on the top story I had to pause to get my breath, and then I dared not enter. I listened outside. There was no sound from within.

The two rooms that I occupied were separated only by a curtain, which fell short a foot from the floor and was slung on a wooden pole, disclosing two feet between the top of it and the ceiling. The rooms were thus actually one, and even that might have been called small, for the bed in the rear room was not a dozen paces from the door.

I listened for the breathing of the sleeping girl. If I could hear her breathe, I thought I would go quietly away and find a hotel in which to sleep. I listened minute after minute, but I could not hear a sound.

At last I put my mouth to the key-hole and spoke to her. "Jacqueline," I called. There was no answer.

Then a little louder: "Jacqueline!" And then quite loudly: "Jacqueline!"

Then, out of the silence, hammering on my eardrums, burst the loud ticking of the little alarm clock that I had left on the mantel of the bedroom. I heard that, and it must have been ticking minutes before the sound reached me; perhaps if I waited a little longer I should hear her breathing.

I took the key of the apartment from my pocket at last and fitted it noiselessly into the lock. I stood there, trembling and irresolute. I dared not turn the key.

Once more I ventured: "Jacqueline! Jacqueline!" There was not the slightest answering stir within. And so, with shaking fingers, I turned the key.

The room was completely dark, except for a little patch of light high up on the bedroom wall, which came through the hole the workmen had made when they began demolishing the building. I hesitated a moment, then I drew a match from my pocket and rubbed it softly into a flame against my trousers leg.

The Scene Stamped Itself Upon My Brain.

I reached up to the gas above the table, turned it on and lit the incandescent mantle, lowering the light immediately. But even then there was no sound.

The oppressive stillness was not that of solitude. She must be awake; she must be listening in terror.

I went toward the curtains and when I spoke I heard the words come through my lips in a voice that I could not recognize as mine.

"Jacqueline!" I whispered, "it is Paul, your friend. Are you safe, Jacqueline?"

Now I saw, under the curtains, what looked like the body of a very small animal. It might have been a woolly dog or a black lambkin, and it was lying perfectly still.

I pulled aside the curtains and stood between them, and the scene stamped itself upon my brain as clear as a photographic print forever. The woolly beast was the fur cap of a dead man who lay across the floor of the little room. There was a tiny hole in his breast, over the heart, from which a little blood had flowed. The wound had pierced the heart and death had evidently been instantaneous.

It was the man whom I had seen staring at us across Herald square. Beside the window Jacqueline crouched, and at her feet lay the Eskimo dog, watching me silently. In her hand she held a tiny, daggerlike knife, with a chin, red-stained blade. Her gray eyes, black in the daylight, stared into mine, and there was not their fear nor recognition in them. She was fully dressed, and the bed had not been occupied.

I hung myself at her feet. "Jacqueline!" I cried in terror. I raised her hands to my lips and caressed them. She seemed quite unresponsive.

"Jacqueline," I cried, "you are not hurt? Thank God you are not hurt. What has happened?"

"I don't know," she answered. "I don't know where I am."

"Jacqueline, dear," I said, "will you not try to think? I am Paul—your friend Paul. Do you not remember me?"

"No, monsieur," she sighed.

"But, then, how did you come here, Jacqueline?" I asked.

"I do not know," she answered. And, a moment later, "I do not know, Paul."

That encouraged me a little. Evidently she remembered what I had just said to her.

There was something more to be said, though it was hard.

"Jacqueline, who—was—that?"

"Who?" she inquired, looking at me with the same patient, wistful gaze.

"That man, Jacqueline. That dead man."

"What dead man, Paul?"

She was staring straight at the body, and at that moment I realized that she not only did not remember, but did not even see it.

The shock which she had received, supervening upon the nervous state in which she had been when I encountered her, had produced one of those mental inhibitions in which the mind, to save the reason, obliterates temporarily not only all memory of the past but also all present sights and sounds which may serve to recall it.

I saw that it was useless to say anything more upon this subject.

"You are very tired, Jacqueline?" I asked.

"Yes, monsieur," she answered, leaning back against my arm.

"And you would like to sleep?"

"Yes, monsieur."

I raised her in my arms and laid her on the bed, telling her to close her eyes and sleep. She was asleep almost immediately after her head rested upon the pillow.

I watched her for a while until I heard a distant clock strike three. This recalled me to the dangers of our situation. I struck a match and lit the gas in the bedroom. But the yellow glare was so ghastly and intolerable that I turned it down.

And then I set about the tasks before me.

CHAPTER III.

Covering the Tracks.

There was a fire escape running up to the floor of that room on the outside of the house. I saw that it would be possible by standing on a chair to swing myself up to the hole in the wall and reach down to the iron stairs up which, I assumed, the dead man had crept after I had given him the hint of Jacqueline's abode by emerging from the front door.

I raised the dead man in my arms, looking apprehensively toward the bed. I was afraid Jacqueline would awaken, but she slept in heavy peace, undisturbed by the harsh creaking of the sagging floor beneath its double burden. I put the fur cap on the grotesque, nodding dead head, and, pushing a chair toward the wall with my foot, mounted it and managed with a great effort to squeeze through the hole, pulling up the body with me as I did so.

Then I felt with my foot for the little platform at the top of the iron stairs outside, found it, and dropped. Afterward I dragged the dreadful burden down from the hole.

I carried the dead man all the way down the fire escape, clinging and straining against the rotting, rusting bars.

At the back of the house was a little vacant space, filled with heaps of debris from the demolished portions of the building and with refuse which had been dumped there by tenants who had left, and had never been removed. This yard was separated only by a rotting fence with a single wooden rail from a small blind alley.

I took up my burden and placed it at the end of the alley, covering it roughly with some old burlap bags which lay there. I thought it safe to assume that the police would look upon the dead man as the victim of some footpad.

Hewlett plans to protect Jacqueline from the consequences of what he believes is her deed and to take her to her home.

Unlucky Thirteen.

A correspondent suggests that the origin of the "unlucky thirteen" superstition is to be found in the casting lots by Hannan to discover a "lucky day" for the destruction of the Jews. The 13th was certainly a most unfortunate selection in this case, and the story was so popular in the middle ages that it may really have given rise to the superstition.

Wonder of Plant Life.

A species of the acacia tree attains a height of about eight feet. When full grown it closes its leaves together in coils each day at sunset. Thus settled it will flutter violently if touched, and if the branches are shaken the tree will emit a nauseating odor. The natives call it the "angry tree."

OVER THE LAND OF THE LONG LEAF PINE

SHORT NOTES OF INTEREST TO CAROLINIANS.

Greensboro.—Judge Boyd, in federal court here heard argument in the Johnson vs. Atherton Cotton Mills, of Charlotte, a case brought to test the child labor tax provision in the federal revenue act.

Hickory.—City council has purchased $7,500 of Victory Liberty bonds for the sinking fund.

Allen.—Mrs. Isabel J. Robinson, aged 82 years, was found dead in bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Matilda Walters. The deceased had been in ill-health for several months.

Raleigh.—William B. McCain, wire chief at the local plant of the Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, is in Rex Hospital with serious injuries as a result of being thrown while riding a pony.

Henderson.—With only a quota of $351,400, subscriptions to the amount of $378,950 were announced as having been obtained in Vance for the Victory Loan, and the Boy Scouts and others were still busy soliciting.

Kinston.—Prospects for the 1919 tobacco crop in the eastern belt are excellent, according to experts here. There will be little change in the acreage from last year. Tobaccoists predict that the price will remain high for weed of better grades. Plants are generally plentiful, and escaped appreciable damage from the recent frosts.

Hickory.—The Hickory Electric Co. owner of the local telephone franchise, announced that it was to begin erection as soon as plans could be drawn of a modern exchange building on the corner of 11th avenue and 14th streets, of two stories and a basement. Work expected to begin within 30 days.

Kinston.—Henry Page, who headed the food administration in North Carolina during the war and earned nationwide fame by the efficiency of his organization, will make the Memorial Day address here May 10.

Wilmington.—Only slight damage to the truck crop from frost was reported. Strawberries were slightly damaged but it is pointed out that new blooms will come for nearly every one killed.

Asheville.—The remains of an unknown man, apparently a tramp, were found on the tracks of the Southern railroad this morning about three miles east of Old Fort. The body was horribly mangled and has not yet been identified. A bottle of whiskey and $10 were found on the body.

Rocky Mount.—Lee Miller, former captain in the army military police service at Camp Travis, Texas, has arrived in the city to begin duties as assistant postmaster. Mr. Miller received his honorable discharge from the service several weeks ago.

The first form of entertainment for soldiers of Company B, 120th Infantry, Company A, 105th Supply Train and Headquarters Company 60th Brigade—three Raleigh infantry organizations of the 30th Division—will be a dinner.

Elizabeth City.—Potatoes and other truck crops in the North Carolina coastal section were extensively damaged by a heavy frost.

Henderson.—The local Victory loan committee announced that Vance county had oversubscribed its quota of $351,400, making it the first county in North Carolina to go "over the top."

New Bern.—New Bern and Craven county and the four adjoining counties of Onslow, Carteret, Jones and Pamlico, united in giving the returned soldiers and sailors a "welcome home" celebration, and it was a great success from every standpoint.

Fayetteville.—An active recruiting campaign to secure additional personnel of the 276th aero squadron, the organization manning Pope Field, the aeronautical station attached to Camp Bragg, is being planned.

Chapel Hill.—"Junior Week" activities at the State University were fittingly brought to a close with elaborate smoker in the two literary societies halls, thus ending the three holidays which were crammed full of varied and interesting events, including dances, stunts and athletic games.

Wadesboro.—Convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing last fall of a white man named Will Honeycutt, Doll Little, colored, was sentenced by Judge T. J. Shaw to suffer death by electrocution.

Spencer.—Spencer celebrated Victory Loan day with a big demonstration and with a strong speech by Hon. Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte. He was heard by several thousand railroad men. A battle-scarred tank from France was a feature of the parade, and Victory Bonds sold briskly.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Jennie came home from her playmate's, saying she was too mad to play with Jane any longer. Before night she teased to go back and play with Jane.

"I thought you were angry with Jane," her mother said.

"Oh, I was," replied the child, "but there wasn't mad enough in me to last all day."

St. Louis boasts of the champion lazy man. He went to work and was too lazy to stop.

Letters From France.

Dear Homefolks—Have received letters from you all recently so I can't write to each of you without telling about the same thing, will write to all in one.

Have just got back from my leave and sure had a fine time. I sent you all some views and the history of the town I was in. I also sent you some pictures I had made, you will see my clothes were wrinkly but that's a soldier's luck. Received Uncle C. M. B.'s picture yesterday.

The little piece of leather I sent you with the pictures is a piece I got from the glove factory where the nicest gloves in the world are made. It is interesting to see them made. General Pershing inspected our Division yesterday and told us we would go home soon. That sure is good news. He also pinned a blue ribbon on our Reg. flag for what we done on the two fronts we were on. It makes a man feel like what he has done is appreciated.

Don't know when we will be home but it won't be so long any more, for what he says is correct.

As to what I will do I don't know. Papa you need not wait on me about renting, for I am too uncertain about getting back soon enough. Mama you asked me if I needed any money, I don't need any, but I appreciate it just the same. This is all I know so I will close.

RAD K. WYATT.

Dear Mother—Will write you again this beautiful Sunday morning just to let you know I am still well, and having a fine time.

My pass will be out tomorrow then I will go back to work again.

I have sure had a good time. Have seen lots of old things here. Sent you some views, and a history of this place I am in. Was in a church that is the oldest one in France. It was erected in 560. Was built on the mountain side by the river and it being there so long that the floods of the river and the mountains gradually filling in made an underground church of it. When the dirt got level with the top of it they built another on top of it, and its lots older than any church in the States.

I can't begin to tell you all about my trip. Have seen lots of things that would

THE ONE SAFE HEADACHE REMEDY.

Wine Commendation From Carolina's Foremost Physicians.

Read what they say:

Leading physician in western town says: "I do not hesitate to prescribe Bro-Mal-Gine, for it gives relief, and I get no unpleasant symptoms afterwards."

Prominent physician in eastern city says: "I have been prescribing Bro-Mal-Gine for several years and I find it entirely reliable, giving relief in severe cases of Headache without any unpleasant after effects and I unhesitatingly recommend it."

Long experienced physician in large eastern city says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Bro-Mal-Gine as a very reliable remedy for migraine and ordinary headaches, for I have watched its effects, and find it effective, and safe; I have occasion to prescribe it often."

The names of these physicians can be supplied, if necessary, all are prominent practitioners today in their respective towns.

Don't experiment—take Bro Mal. Gine—play safe.

A Husband's Advice To Other Husbands Save Your Wife This Way

THROUGH the day most men are absent from home and little know of the many duties that wives must attend to. House work at the best is hard—and kitchen work the hardest of all.

But not when you have the Hoosier Cabinet in your kitchen. It lets a woman sit comfortably to prepare the meals. It saves her miles of steps and hours of toil. It saves food by keeping flour, sugar, etc., in protected places and avoiding waste in measuring and mixing. In countless ways the Hoosier pays its cost.

Yet most of all, the Hoosier saves your wife's looks and strength. It prevents fatigue, and what is more precious than her health? Hoosier prices are low. Your money all back if you are not delighted.

FARMER EXPECTED TO SUPPORT LOAN

Stirring Appeal is Sent Out by Heads of Thirty-five National, Interstate and State Agricultural Organizations.

A stirring appeal to American farmers to maintain their wartime precedent of patriotism and loyalty in the support of the Fifth Liberty Loan has been issued by the heads of thirty-five national, interstate and state farmers organizations.

"To make your participation in the Victory Liberty Loan both in money and service, the measure of your devotion to the great cause of democracy" is the cause for which these farm organization leaders, headed by J. N. Tittlemore, president, American Society of Equity of Madison, Wis., have sent a message to all farmers of the country, as follows:—

"The Farmers of America:
"No finer patriotic service was ever rendered than when the farmers of America, short of labor, credit and farm supplies, still grew the increased crops without which we could not have won the war. The farm women and children gave their labor in the fields and the farms sent more than a million of their best to join the colors. The more that is known about the war, the more gloriously our farmers' part in it will shine.

"The Victory Liberty Loan Drive begins April 21 and continues until May 10. We appeal to you, farmers of America, to finish what you have so well begun. Make this loan as superb a success as the war crops you have raised. See to it that the farmers lead in putting the Victory Loan over the top.

"Make your participation in the VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN both in money and service, the measure of your devotion to the great cause of democracy—the democracy for which many of our boys have made the supreme sacrifice. Let your subscription and your effort be both an offering of thanksgiving for the return of peace and the means by which the world may measure the strength of your patriotism and your determination to see to it that the war shall not have been fought in vain.

"Yours fraternally,

Your Business and My Business

The following points are of vital interest to the people of this nation, and will be discussed in greater detail in separate advertisements appearing in this paper at intervals until the start of the Victory Liberty Loan:

1. This nation—your country and mine—owes approximately $10,000,000,000 in unpaid war bills—for a Victory that we are now enjoying.
2. The nation must pay this debt—if it is to continue to exist as a nation among the nations of the world.
3. There are only two ways that the nation can secure the money—by bonds and by taxes.
4. Taxes are already high and yet insufficient to meet our outstanding war obligations.
5. Therefore bonds must be sold.
6. Again, there are only two ways that several billions of dollars of bonds can be sold—to the banks or to the people.
7. If they are placed with the banks, industry, commerce, your business will suffer. The banks would be unable to purchase several billion dollars of Liberty Bonds and continue to loan money in sufficient quantities and at a fair rate to the business man. You cannot have your pudding and eat it, too.
8. It is, therefore, your business and my business to prepare for the Victory Liberty Loan, that we may then invest as largely as each of us individually can—for America's welfare and for our own.

GIFTS FROM "Y" HELPED DOUGHBOY

Corporal Irving Abrahams of New York has just returned from France. Just because the Y. M. C. A. men overseas had gone out of their way to treat him well, he took the trouble to make his way to the Headquarters Building of the National War Work Council, Y. M. C. A., New York City, and found some one on the 9th floor at Headquarters to tell how much he appreciated the service of the Red Triangle.

This is just a part of what he said: "I returned from France on the 27th of January. Have been wounded three times. Am feeling 52%, but the first time when we landed over in France in April, 1917, we took the position up on Chateau Thierry and the Y. M. C. A. was right with us and brought up on the firing line chocolate, cigarettes, and also pears, biscuits and done the best and all he could just to please the boys.

"And in August when we drove the Germans back he came up under heavy shell fire and brought us the same chocolate, cigarettes, and if the boys didn't have any money he would give it to us just the same.

"And up on the Argonne Forest he went under heavy shell fire and brought up all the candy and chocolate, and also spoke to the boys to send our money to our mothers and which we did, and also he told us to send our money home and he will do all he can for us, and also the boys of the Third Division is very well pleased of the Y. M. C. A. and also thank them ever so much; and also when we got relieved from the Argonne woods the Y. M. C. A. entertained us, gave us a grand time, and we thank the Y. M. C. A. with our full heart and we shall never forget them.

"So I don't see why the fellows are coming back from France and kicking the Y. M. C. A., and I can speak to anybody and ask them why they are knocking the Y. M. C. A."

Red Triangle Man Tells Of Serving At Chateau Thierry

The Y. M. C. A. has been criticized because it was said that it had no one at the fighting in the region of Chateau Thierry. The other day, Ernest J. Bardwell, a New York man, came back from France, broken in health because of his strenuous work in that region.

Mr. Bardwell was one of a party of Y. M. C. A. men who entered Chateau Thierry village with supplies at 10 o'clock on the morning of July 23 and worked all day and far into the night serving the boys who were being back the German counter-attacks. The last German prisoners, he said, were taken out of Chateau Thierry at 3:30 o'clock on the same morning.

THE Y. M. C. A. IN FAR EAST

The work of the Y. M. C. A. in Macedonia is rapidly extending over the newly-opened areas, and in the present state of flux heavy responsibilities devolve upon C. W. Bates, the secretary in charge at Salonica. Centres have been opened in Serbia—at Vranje, Sh, Monastir and other towns, and the capital city, Belgrade, the Y. M. C. A. is now established in a good building. Percival Whitley, son of a deputy speaker of the English House of Commons, is developing the association's work in Northern Bulgaria. Life on Turkish soil Mr. Howard Bradley has planted the Red Triangle in Constantinople itself.

Roosevelt Fund $10,000,000

The Roosevelt memorial fund, which is to provide a monument in Washington, a park at Oyster Bay and an endowed society for fostering the ideals and policies of the late ex-President, may require $10,000,000. Col William Boyce Thompson, chairman of the committee, said it was impossible yet to foresee how large a fund will be needed, but from the great volume of contributions steadily coming in no difficulty is anticipated in raising the $10,000,000 if necessary.

Miss Maud Miller, who has been ill with fever for several weeks, is improving.

Z. N. Anderson has purchased an interest in the store of Williams Brothers.

Misses Douschka Pass and Laura Sanford are visiting at Davidson this week.

J. P. Green has been elected superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school.

Miss Margaret Bell has returned from a visit to Kenansville and other points.

A. H. Price, an attorney of Salisbury, was in town Saturday on legal business.

Ray Clement left Monday for Raleigh where he will enter the A. and M. College.

Prof. J. Minor left today for Footville, where he will assume charge of the school.

C. C. McCulloch, who lived about three miles south of town, died almost suddenly Saturday.

Thos. N. Chaffin left yesterday for Asheville to attend a meeting of the Southern Underwriters.

Dora, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wyatt, of Fork Church, died Thursday.

Miss Louise Woodruff returned from Winston Saturday, accompanied by her friend Miss Maggie Hanes.

Mrs. J. L. Sheek, accompanied by her little son, visited her father, Dr. Kimbrough, at Smith Grove Monday.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Campbell, wife of George W. Campbell, died at her home in Jerseyville, Ill., a few days ago, aged 86 years.

During a rain last Friday afternoon lightning struck the barn of W. A. Byger and killed a mule.

The barn was also burned.

Rev. W. C. Wilson, pastor of the Burkhead Methodist church of Winston, was in town last week shaking hands with friends.

C. C. Williams, of the firm of Williams Bros., was in town Monday. He is engaged in the manufacture of tobacco at Redland, this county.

Mrs. S. H. Hooper, of Winston, who has been visiting her parents here, returned home the first of the week accompanied by her sister, Elsie Coley.

Mrs. Cora Leach DeBarry died at her home in Jacksonville, Fla., last week of typhoid fever. The body was brought here and laid to rest at Center graveyard.

A large swinging lamp in the store of Mr. Sanford fell to the floor Saturday evening and shattered to pieces, the oil igniting instantly. For a time a fire seemed eminent, but in a short while excitement gave place to cool judgment and the flames were smothered with a lap robe and sand.

Plain Words To The Porto Ricans

"Uncle" Joe Cannon, blunt, outspoken and at the height of his power in Congress, called the "car" of that body, is on a little junket to Porto Rico and while sojourning in that island possession of ours, last week made a little speech to the Porto Ricans in which he indulged in some rather plain words and incidentally threw cold water on the aspirations of the islanders for quick independence.

"Uncle" Joe also, according to an Associated Press dispatch, hurt the feelings of the Porto Ricans. In the course of his speech Mr. Cannon deprecated the idea of immediate Porto Rican independence and the following day many complaints were heard from politicians because of Mr. Cannon's plain words.

"What are you worrying about statehood and independence?" Mr. Cannon is quoted as asking the Porto Ricans in the course of his talk. "You will get either or both just as soon as you are ready. Do not get the idea that we are lying awake nights trying to do you an injustice. It is all a misrepresentation. But you say we have been badly treated and once in a while an officer is sent here whom we do not like. There is nobody that can make everybody in Porto Rico like everybody that is selected or sent here by the President."

"There is no minimizing the fact the words employed by Mr. Cannon are harsh. He might have employed a softer tone, and more diplomatic language. But then that is not characteristic of Uncle Joe. He has anything to say he usually says it and in the plainest English words. He never beats about the bush or wastes time in hunting for nice phrases of speech. Whether in Congress or out he speaks his mind and speaks it in such a way that there is never any misunderstanding about what he means. And it is probably just as well that the Porto Ricans have been told the blunt truth, even at the expense of wounded feelings. If they are not ready for statehood and independence they ought not to have it and when they are ready for it they should have it and will likely get it. There is no occasion for the Porto Ricans going around with a grove and a pout. It has not been so many years since they were virtually slaves under the 'Spanish' regime. They were subjects in the truest sense of the word, and it was the United States of America against whom they now would find fault that snatched them from bondage and placed them on the highway to happiness and independence. In time, they like the Filipinos, will be given their absolute freedom and independence, but it will not be given them until they have shown capacity for self government. The Porto Ricans have not been badly treated, leastwise if they have the press of this country and the people have not found it out, and they should show a little more of that spirit and gratitude and less of suspicion and complaining. It is not Uncle Cannon to hand the unvarnished truth and it ought to do them good. — Greensboro News.

Society Happenings In Our National Capital.

Washington, D. C., Monday—Easter passed off quietly in the National Capital, considering conditions. Not much remains of the official government officers.

President Wilson, who, with his family, is wintering in France, has decided to extend his sojourn there until late in the spring, despite the fact that he is finding it pretty warm. Mr. Wilson is giving to the European governments a course of lectures on the "New Freedom." Mrs. Wilson, like late Flora McFlinty, spends her days in one continuous round of shopping. Miss Margaret is no longer traveling incognito.

Secretary Robert Lansing, of our State Department, carries in the French Capital. His chief diversion is said to be rowing the boat for Woodrow. Family all well.

Secretary Newell Baker, of the War Department, has recently left on a pleasure trip to Paris. It is rumored that Newell plans a motor ride over the French battlefields as soon as peace is made absolutely certain and there is no danger from whizz-bangs. We expect to hear of Parker rolling in the poppies of Flanders field along a bout printemps. Family well.

Secretary Josephus Daniels, of our enlarged Navy Department, has bounded "left" and "right" over the billowing blue, and is now registered at John Bull's hostelry in Merrie England. It is rumored that Josephus is to be dubbed knight—the poor dub—right there, Sir Joe! Family well.

Secretary Will Redfield, of our Commerce Department, is seeing America first. He is punctuating his joy ride with lectures in favor of the League of Nations, as drafted. It is reported that later in the season Will contemplates a second public-paid rail vacation, when he will lecture in favor of the League of Nations "as amended," provided his peripatetic principal, boy in Paris, permits any amendment. Family well.

Mr. Common Citizen declares that he sees small prospect of any sort of vacation this year as it is going to require all the hard work he can put in to pay the taxes added onto him by the Democratic junketers. Family ailing. Tough luck, old chap, but we will all know better in November, 1920.—Ex.

HOW FAR IS WINSTON-SALEM?

Not So Far That the Statements of Its Residents Cannot Be Verified.

Rather an interesting case has been developed in Winston Salem. Being so near by, it is well worth publishing here. The statement is sincere—the proof convincing.

J. W. Fletcher, prop. furniture store, 703 Trade St., Winston-Salem, N. C., says: "My back ached and when I lifted anything heavy, sharp pains came down my kidneys. At times my kidneys acted irregularly causing me much misery. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking a few doses I was relieved of the pain in my back. I used in all about three boxes and since then, I haven't had any kidney trouble and have felt better in every way."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fletcher had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

In New York City alone, 20,000 discharged soldiers are seeking jobs. The farms offer inviting fields and there is a demand for labor, but soldiers, as a rule prefer something else than the "shovel and the hoe."

About Rheumatism.

People are learning that it is only a waste of time and money to take medicine internally for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and about ninety-nine out of a hundred cases are one or the other of these varieties. All that is really necessary to afford relief is to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. Try it. It costs but 35 cents per bottle. Large size 60 cents.

"General Orders for All American Soldiers Discharged From the Army."

1. To accept my discharge, to take all government property in sight and beat it home.

2. To accept my discharge in a military manner, keeping always on the alert, observing that it is not revoked before I get out of sight or hearing.

3. To take the first and fastest train out and not stop at any military post on my way home.

4. To report all things that the Censor cut out of my letters to the folks at home.

5. To receive, believe and pass on to my children General Sherman's idea of war.

6. To never quit civilian life after being released of all military duties.

7. To talk to no one about re-enlisting.

8. In the presence of the recruiting officer, to give the alarm.

When the girls are at home to allow no soldier on or near the premises.

9. In all cases not covered by instructions to claim exemption.

10. To salute all officers who cause my discharge, and salute all Budweisers, Brandies and Beers not cased.

11. To be especially watchful at night and during the hours of challenging, to challenge all persons and allow no one to pass without the bottle.

By order of

GEN. DISORDER.

Do Your Best.

Everyone should do all he can to provide for his family and in order to do this he must keep his physical system in the best condition possible. No one can reasonably hope to do much when he is half sick—a good share of the time. If you are constipated, bilious or troubled with indigestion get a package of Chamberlain's Tablets and follow the plain printed directions, and you will soon be feeling all right and able to do a day's work.

Identification.

"This check is doubtless all right," said the bank cashier politely, "but have you anything about you that would serve to identify you?" "I have a mole on my left elbow," faltered the pretty girl.—Kansas City Journal.

Face The Facts.

We Americans have many grave problems to solve, many threatening evils to fight and many deeds to do, if, as we hope and believe, we have the wisdom, the strength, the courage, and the virtue to do them. But we must face facts as they are. We must neither surrender ourselves to a foolish optimism nor succumb to a timid and ignominious pessimism. Our nation is that one among all the nations of the earth which, in its hands, lies the fate of the coming years.—THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

For A Weak Stomach.

As a general rule all you need to do is to adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation and to keep your bowels regular. When you feel that you have eaten too much and when constipated, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets.

Only Settled Weather Needed.

What is the betting that a man will not fly across the Atlantic before the peace treaty is signed?—Toronto Mail and Empire.

To Cure A Cold in One Day.

Take LAXATIVE GEMMA Quinine. It stops the cough and sneezing and works off the cold. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature on each box. 50c.

Price 60c. a year ago because of the war and are higher now because of peace. Very simple when you understand it, is it not?

No Worms in A Healthy Child.

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

TRAINED NURSE NOW TESTIFIES

Says She Feels Made Over Since Taking Tanlac—Gains Nine Pounds.

Mrs. F. O. Forrester, a trained nurse residing at the Grand Central Hotel, Denver, Colo., is but one of this high profession who have testified to the merits of Tanlac. Mrs. Forrester recently said:

"I had been in miserable health seven years, suffering from indigestion. Everything I ate would sour and even cold water would cause me much distress. The pains in my chest and about my heart were almost unbearable at times and I suffered terribly from neuralgia. I would have vomiting spells daily and for three months couldn't retain a thing on my stomach but oatmeal. Often at night I would wake up feeling like I was smothering to death and would have to get up out of bed and stand on my feet awhile to get my breath."

"One of my friends who knew of my awful condition and who had been benefitted by Tanlac advised me to try it. I did so and my relief has been remarkable. Really I feel like I have been made over again. I have already gained nine pounds in weight and intend to keep on taking Tanlac as long as it does me as much good as it is now."

"Tanalac is sold by leading druggists everywhere."

Weak Places In The Postal System.

Editor of The Daily News.—In a recent issue of "Your" "read all over the state" paper appeared an address from Postmaster General Burleson. After I finished reading it, this was my summary of it: A lot of big "ifs" and many little "b's," a bunch of platitudes in defense of a policy rejected by all clear thinking citizens.

Being the editor of two papers, having the affairs of their circulation in charge, and also connected with another enterprise that uses the mails, I am in position to know something of the weak places in the present postal system. A few days ago a letter was started to me from Dedron, Va., and went via Chicago. Some days later, I was under obligation to send some programs to a convention. Knowing the situation of the mails as I do, I mailed them four days ahead of time so that they would have sufficient time to reach a point 200 miles away. These programs were delivered six days after the convention adjourned, or 10 days after mailing. The public knows too much for me to state other's circumstances. There are too many people affected by such a system to allow it to remain much longer. I am a Democrat, but I am against the present postal system and its big I and little head.

THE DAVIE RECORD.

C. FRANK STROUD - Editor.

TELEPHONE 1.

THREE MONTHS, IN ADVANCE .50

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1919.

The strawberry is on deck with the blackberry to follow. The prospects for a bumper crop of the old reliable is mighty good.

"W. S. S."

With spring chickens 70 cents per pound and Irish potatoes $1.50 per peck what chance is there in this world for an honest man to live?

"W. S. S."

Corn whiskey seems to be more plentiful in this section than ever before despite the fact that it is said to retail at $20 per gallon. Lots of folks are able to buy whiskey that are too poor to pay the preacher.

"W. S. S."

A subscriber on R. 3 who is a dog raiser, writes us to ston his paper as he will have to use the dollar to pay dog tax, buy dog collars, etc. We have done as requested, and trust that he will have good luck with his dogs.

"W. S. S."

This is the season of the year when nearly all become liars. The old mule is worth but $25, and the fine registered hog is put down on the tax list's books at $10. "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

"W. S. S."

Editing a weekly newspaper is not the cinch that some folks seem to think. The editors have many things to contend with that the public knows nothing about. If running a newspaper was a picnic there would be more papers in the country than there would be readers.

"W. S. S."

A law that is not enforced isn't worth the paper it is printed on. The ordinance recently passed by the town fathers in regard to shooting all dogs on the streets without a muzzle seems to have died a natural death, as many worthless dogs are seen daily parading the streets without a muzzle.

"W. S. S."

The season of the year has come when all good citizens will put up their chickens. Your neighbor has a garden and he does not want your chickens to scratch up his vegetables. Under the Davie county chicken law he could indict and prosecute you but he doesn't want to do that. Let all good citizens tarry not but get busy and pen up the fowls.

"W. S. S."

A big crowd of Davie people have gone to Salisbury today, to hear Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who speaks there, and George B. Lockwood. This means that the 1920 campaign in North Carolina has been opened. Teddy, Jr., will no doubt have a tremendous audience to hear him. He recently returned from the battlefields of Europe, where he spent about three years fighting for world freedom.

"W. S. S."

For twenty-five years or more our town has been throwing money away on the sidewalks and streets. No permanent work has been done to amount to anything. If our town fathers had begun years ago to build permanent sidewalks we could have had concrete walks from one end of the town to the other. Some of these days our people are going to get tired of seeing the tax money thrown away. When that time comes there will be a mighty rattling of dry bones.

"W. S. S."

STRAIGHTEN THE ROADS.

Davie county is going to build some new roads and repair some of the old ones. When new roads are built or old ones repaired or rebuilt they should be laid out with one object in view—that is the cost of future maintenance. It is always best to build roads straight when at all possible, as the upkeep is always less, and the first cost of building is generally not so great. There are a number of public roads in Davie that are entirely too crooked. These kinks should be straightened when the good road work is started. The road from Ketchie's Mill to the Irrell county line at Society church is one of the roads that should be widened and graded and some of the crooks taken out. Roads that are built now should be as near permanent as it is possible to build them. We trust that the Road Commissioners will remember that a straight road is less expensive than a crooked one and accidents are much less frequent on them.

"W. S. S."

A FEW QUESTIONS FOR THE TOWN FATHERS.

Who nominated the town ticket which was voted on and elected last Tuesday?

What salary does the town treasurer draw, and what work does he do?

Is the town treasury empty, or is it pure meanness that keeps the fathers from repairing the side walks?

What becomes of the four or five thousand dollars that are paid yearly into the town treasury by the tax payers?

Why is it that the town has no police protection either in the daytime or nighttime, and that our banks, stores and private residences are left to the mercy of thieves, firebugs and tramps?

Why doesn't the town fathers do something to promote the growth of the town?

Why is it that no new enterprises comes to our town?

Why isn't the town books audited at least once in every century?

Will the newly elected board do better in the future than they have in the past, as one of the electors promised on the day of election?

There are a number of other questions that could be asked at this time, but The Record refrains from printing them at this time.

"W. S. S."

Theo. Roosevelt Talks Plain To Irish.

By Savoyard, in Raleigh News and Observer.

Young Theodore Roosevelt has gone into politics and he begins well. Whatever politics may make of him, at present he is a candid, open, ingenious, engaging young man, without fear and without guile. Stick to that, young Ted—it will make a man of you. Any other course is at once villainous and contemptible. In a speech before the Republican County Committee in New York a few days after he threw his hat into the ring Col. Roosevelt referred to some of the banners carried in the St. Patrick Day parade a few days earlier with the inscription, "England damn your concessions. We want our country!" In his comment the youthful politician said, throwing out his under jaw—a facial descent—"I have no sympathy with people who feel that way. If they feel that way I wish they would go back to the country from which they came."

So say all true Americans fit to bear the title and wear the cloth. Your professional Irishman clothed with American citizenship is a nuisance. He hates England more than he loves Ireland, and he loves Ireland more than he loves America. The greatest calamity imaginable that could befall mankind at this moment would be a war between England and the United States, but there are hundreds of thousands of Irish Americans who would exult if such a war were declared tomorrow. And your Irish-American who feels that way is not only an enemy to England, but he is an enemy of Ireland, of America, of all mankind.

In the mighty drama lately concluded on thousand gory fields of Europe autocracy and democracy contended for the mastery, and it was England who played the leading part on the side of liberty as against despotism. Many of the Irish, it must ever be said to their glory, stood with England in that awful contest and poured out their blood like water to the end that men may be free. But not so your Sinn Feiners. Their hearts were with the Kaiser, and their swords would have been with him, too, had conditions allowed. Even as it was, England, in sore need of reinforcements at the front, was necessitate to keep in Ireland 150,000 soldiers to overawe and hold in check the Sinn Feiners. And in our own country there were tens of thousands of the miserable scamps as Jeremiah O'Leary whose hearts went out in sympathy to the Kaiser, and whose prayers were in his behalf.

In an impudent editorial admonishing, if not rebuking young Teddy for his candor, his honesty and his patriotism, the Washington Yaller, The Times, drops into what looks to me mighty like the naïveté of a navery and advises the youthful statesman to hold his tongue, starve his honor, sear his conscience, and eat gluttonously of an odious dish of jobs such as Irish-Americans have been gorging American politicians with for these many years.

The editor of the Washington Yaller is Hearst's $100,000 man, Brisbane. He does not care a cuss for Ireland. Like his boss, he hates England. Pretending to be some sort of a Socialist who promises the proletariat that he will pave the streets with mutton pies, and make the "taters taste like pine," Brisbane naively advises young Theodore Roosevelt that the way to the Presidency passes through Hypocrite Avenue, a route no honest man can tread. As usual, the Yaller is wrong in his calculations.

During the late war the man who country was that same Hearst. Even after we entered the war, he insisted that none of our soldiers be sent abroad to fight. Had he had his way, Germany would have been victor and master of the world. A plutocrat himself, he preaches some sort of Bolshevik stuff and abuses God's patience with constant vilifications of the rich. That is his stock in trade, but it is not on record that he ever sold anything and gave the proceeds to the poor. His Bolshevism is to be bloviated about and not acted upon. No doubt he has a large following, and all true men must regret that in his train is Mr. Ex-Speaker Champ Clark.

England is not the enemy of Ireland. The men who are most harmful to Ireland are the Hearsts, the Brisbanes and the innumerable professional Irishmen who pretend they serve Ireland when they cuss England. English human nature is much like American human nature, and I have no sort of doubt that thousands of Englishmen have been made callous to Ireland's wrongs and enemies of the Irish race by the bliviations of the sham Irishmen who, clothed with American citizenship, strive to make the two great English-speaking peoples enemies.

The wrongs of Ireland are due to the differences among Irishmen. That is a matter for the concern of the Irish in Ireland. It is no business of Irishmen in America. An Ireland tranquilized would be of much more advantage to England than to Ireland, and long ago Ireland would have been tranquilized had the Irish been able to agree among themselves.

Young Teddy Roosevelt has the right idea about Ireland and the Irish and he is a cowardly American politician who will pay political blackmail to your professional Irishmen of the stripe of the New York Judge President Wilson refused to receive just before he left for France in March.

For the true American of the Irish race, the naturalized citizens and their sons and daughters, who know no flag and no country but ours, I have only feelings of respect and words of commendation. And this class is in the great majority of our Irish-Americans. But for the professional Irishman who strives to make trouble between the two great Anglo-Saxon peoples I have nothing but hatred and contempt. He is the enemy of the human family, the devil's own begotten son.

Washington.—Fifteen million Americans bought Victory-Liberty notes in the campaign according to estimates received by the treasury from federal reserve banks. This compares with about 21,000,000 purchasers in the Fourth loan, 17,000,000 in the third, 9,400,000 in the second and 4,000,000 in the first.

A few additional reports of subscriptions came in but no attempt was made to tabulate them and the treasury announced that the official total probably would not be known before May 26. The total as compiled still stood at $3,894,000,000, but late reports emphasized the earlier indications that the loan had been heavily over-subscribed.

Banks will have until May 20 to report their subscriptions to federal reserve banks, and the federal reserve banks will report to the treasury by May 24.

"Reports from all districts indicate that practically the entire quota was taken without material assistance from the banks," said a treasury announcement.

Coblentz.—General Pershing, commander in chief of the American expeditionary forces, arrived in Coblentz for what may be his last official visit to the American occupation area. During his visit he will arrange with Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett for the complete final withdrawal of the American forces as decided upon some three weeks ago at general headquarters.

General Pershing confirmed the Washington announcement that all, or at least nearly all, of the Americans would be out of France and Germany by September 1.

PEACE CONDITIONS ARE NOT HARDER THAN EXPECTED

Berlin.—Maximilian Hardin, editor of the Berlin Die Zukunft, writing on the peace treaty, says:

"The peace conditions are not harder than I expected. They were unpleasant to the greater part of the people. But could one have readily expected them otherwise?"

"The allies have been threatened that Germany would join the bolsheviks. But that would be suicidal. The only way to rescue the country is by openness and honesty. The revolution has been a great disappointment."

THE TWO GREAT POLITICAL PARTIES HAVE EVEN BREAK

Charlotte, N. C.—Thomas R. Marshall, vice president of the United States, who spent the night at the Selwyn hotel, said there is no doubt that the Germans will sign the peace treaty and the United States senate will ratify it with the league of nations agreement included. He also declared the democratic party has an "even break" with the republican party for a victory in 1920. He expressed himself of the opinion that the immigration laws of this country should and must be "revamped" and remain tight "for a great many years." Under the present laws too many men have been admitted and have sworn allegiance to the United States who have been German secret service men he said, and who, in all probability are still in the pay of German reactionaries who are seeking to create trouble among certain elements of our population.

PRESIDENT WILSON TO REPLY
PERSONALLY TO THE GERMANS

Paris.—President Wilson will personally direct such answers as may be decided upon concerning German inquiries in the peace treaty differing from the president's 14 points.

This was announced in high quarters in connection with the instructions which Chancellor Schiedemann has given the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles to address a note to the allies comparing the terms of the treaty with the 14 points.

HAD CONTROL OF HIS VOICE
BUT NOT OF HIS LEGS

Paris.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's will was strong enough to enable him to deliver his speech on behalf of Germany to the allies at the Versailles peace congress but he "lost control" of his legs.

This is on the authority of his secretary who has been clipping and translating comments from the English papers, sharply reproaching the count for remaining seated when speaking.

FEELING RUNNING
HIGH IN HUNLANDANARCHY PREFERRED TO SLAVERY IS THE REMARK HEARD ON ALL SIDES.

ITALIAN MATTERS UNSETTLED

Drafting Committee on Peace Terms To Be Presented to Austria Have Begun Work on Document.

Feeling apparently is running high in Germany over what is termed the severity of the peace terms and a review of the opinion in Berlin says that the people are discussing the consequences of a possible refusal to sign the treaty.

"Rather anarchy than slavery" is the remark heard on all sides, the review declared.

One newspaper credits Herr Glosbert, a member of the German delegation at Versailles, as asserting that the only immediate solution is a peace with Russia and the employment of bolshevik troops by Germany.

Unofficial advices from Paris declare that the controversy over Italy's claims to Fiume and the Dalmatian coast is far from being settled. President Wilson, according to these advices, is not in agreement with the compromise plan by which Italy would be given a mandate to administer Fiume until 1923, and then take possession of the city.

The peace terms to be presented to Austria are rapidly taking concrete form. It is announced from Paris that the drafting committee has begun work on the document as a whole. The naval terms as completed, wiping out the entire Austrian navy, the surrender of every ship of the Austrian naval arm being demanded. The allied and associated governments will decide later what disposition shall be made of the vessels. No hint has yet been given as to the other conditions of the treaty.

Meanwhile the German peace delegation at Versailles continues its formidable task of digesting the peace terms handed to it Wednesday by Premier Clemenceau. According to reports originating from a high British source in Paris, the delegates are divided in their views on the drastic conditions laid down.

CONDITIONS MEAN DEATH TO GERMANY—SCHEIDEMANN

London.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin says that after a five hour session of the German cabinet, Philip Scheidemann, the chancellor, delivered a speech to the committee appointed to consider the treaty. After comparing the most important conditions laid down by the allies in connection with President Wilson's 14 points, Scheidemann is reported to have said:

"These conditions are nothing else than death for Germany, but the government must discuss this document of hatred and madness with sobriety."

WILSON EXPLAINS PROPOSAL FOR ALLIANCE WITH FRANCE

Washington.—In response to an inquiry from Secretary Tumulty, President Wilson cabled that he had promised France to propose to the senate in connection with the peace treaty "a supplement in which we shall agree, subject to the approval of the council of the league of nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany."

"Happily there is no mystery or privacy about what I have promised the government here," the President said. "I have promised to propose to the senate a supplement in which we shall agree, subject to the approval of the council of the league of nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany, thus merely hastening the action which we should be bound by the covenant of the league of nations."

STRIKES INCREASE; GERMANS MADE IMMUNE TO HORRORS

Berlin.—The people, though fairly stricken dumb by the peace terms, are now recovering sufficiently to declare that Germany cannot and will not sign the compact no matter what comes.

Strikes are increasing and bolshevism and spartan uprising have, if anything, made Germans immune to the possible horrors which are to be anticipated if they are again plunged into war.

RESIGNATION OF INDUSTRIAL BOARD HAS BEEN ACCEPTED

Washington.—Governmental efforts to hasten the return of industry to normal peace time activity by stabilizing prices through the industrial board of the department of commerce have come to an end.

Following a final unsuccessful effort to bring the railroad administration and steel producers to an agreement on prices in New York, the resignations of the board were accepted by Secretary Redfield.

DOCTRINE IS NOW DORMANT

Talk of Going Back to Our Ancient Neutrality Under Present World Conditions Is Idle Talk.

Chester, S. C.—Governor Robert A. Cooper at the Chester theater introduced Vice President Marshall, who made one of the ablest and most eloquent addresses ever heard in this city. He was warmly greeted and throughout his speech received great applause.

"Nobody in South Carolina," he said, "ever believed more sincerely in the doctrine of state's rights than I believe in it. I have recognized what other state's right men have not, that with state's rights goes the states' duties. So long as the states of this union will not look after themselves and demand the fostering care of the general government, the doctrine of state's rights will be dormant."

"I am hoping for a revival in the hearts of citizens so that each state will discharge its duties and tell the general government to only look after the powers delegated to it, but until states do this there is no hope for this ancient democratic doctrine."

"I wish I could put our country back to the good old days of 1840. I would be willing to do with less money for more manhood. I had nothing to do with adopting the colonial policy of our government, but with our soldiers in the Philippines and our sailors in the North sea talk about going back to our ancient neutrality, it is talk in favor of an idle dream. Neutrality consists in more than mere hands off. It must also be minds off and opinions off, for the most potent things in modern warfare are the moral opinions of mankind touching it."

COMPETITIVE BIDS WANTED
FOR 200,000 TONS OF RAILS

New York.—Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads, announced here that the railroad administration will ask immediately for competitive bids for 200,000 tons of steel rails.

Mr. Hines' announcement was made after he had been informed by representatives that they had been unable to induce representatives of the large manufacturers at a conference here to agree on a reduction of the schedule of steel prices approved by the industrial board of the department of commerce. Mr. Hines declared it was his settled purpose to "buy steel materials on the competitive bidding basis, as rapidly as they were needed."

POSTAL TELEGRAPH SYSTEM
ADOPTS 8-HOUR DAY FOR ALL

New York.—Charles P. Baruch, general manager of the Postal Telegraph system, announced that, effective June 1, the eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime had been adopted for all the system's employees in 51 large and small cities in the United States.

40,000 FIGHTING MEN MAKE APPLICATION FOR HOMESTEADS

Washington.—With applications already received from more than 40,000 soldiers and sailors who desire to take up homesteads when discharged from military service, Secretary Lane and his advisers are revising the program originally presented to Congress to take care of the increased demands.

It was said that the first estimate of $100,000,000 for establishing discharged service men on "sucker" lands probably would have to be made several times that amount, perhaps $400,000,000. Secretary Lane's plan would not merely start a man as a farmer or cattle producer, but would "see him through" to success by assistance until he could begin repayments.

BIGGEST WINTER WHEAT CROP
PRODUCED IN ANY COUNTRY

Washington.—The greatest crop of winter wheat ever produced in any country is in prospect for this year's harvest. The forecast of production, estimated by the department of agriculture, placed its size at almost nine hundred million bushels—in exact figures, 899,915,000, which would make this year's harvest worth $2,034,000,000 at the government's price guarantee of $2.26 a bushel.

FIRST LEG OF TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT IS COMPLETED

Washington.—With two of the three navy seaplanes which started from Rockaway, Long Island, on the first leg of the trans-Atlantic flight arrived safely at Halifax, navy officials were bending every energy to locating the third, missing since early in the afternoon. No report of the missing machine, the NC-4, commanded by Lieut. Commander A. C. Read, had been received after the machine passed the destroyer McDermut.

Kaiser to Be Tried by International High Court for Violation of Laws and the Customs of War.

Paris.—The treaty of peace between the 27 allied and associated powers on the one hand and Germany on the other, has been handed to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles.

Germany, by the terms of the treaty, restores Alsace-Lorraine to France, accepts the internationalization of the Saar basin temporarily and of Danzig permanently, agrees to territorial changes toward Belgium and Denmark and in East Prussia, cedes most of upper Silesia to Poland, and renounces all territorial and political rights outside Europe, as to her own or her allies' territories, and especially to Morocco, Egypt, Siam, Liberia and Shantung. She also recognizes the total independence of German-Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Germany accepts full responsibility for all damages caused to allied and associated governments and nationals, agrees specifically to reimburse all civilian damages beginning with an initial payment of 20,000,000,000 marks.

The league of nations is accepted, by the allied and associated powers as operative and by Germany in principle, but without membership.

She also agrees to the trial of the ex-kaiser by an international high court for a supreme offense against international morality, and of other nationals for violation of the laws and customs of war, Holland to be asked to extradite the former, and Germany being responsible for delivery of the latter.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS IS TO CONVENE ON MAY 19TH

Washington.—President Wilson is sued a call by cable for a special session of Congress to meet Monday, May 19.

President Wilson's proclamation calling the extra session follows:

"Whereas, public interests require that the Congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock noon, on the 19th day of May, 1919, to receive such communications as may be made by the executive;

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the Congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the capitol in the District of Columbia on the 19th day of May, 1919, at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members thereof, are hereby requested to take notice.

"Given under my hand and the seal of the United States of America the 7th day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-third.

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.
"Phat. Lansing, Secretary of State."

CONGRESS MUST ACT ON ALLIANCE PROPOSITION

Paris.—Reports of an alliance between the United States, France and Great Britain, supplementing the peace treaty, have developed the fact that while no offensive or defensive alliance is contemplated, yet the chiefs of the three governments are discussing such a pact or an agreement to meet the French demand for military security against renewed German aggression. Such a plan would, if formulated, be submitted to the United States Congress.

AMERICA RECOGNIZES
FINLAND GOVERNMENT

Paris.—Secretary of State Lansing announced that the United States had recognized the de facto government of Finland. The statement said:

"In view of the fact that the people of Finland have established a representative government, the government of the United States of America declares that it recognizes the government so constituted as the de facto government of an independent Finland."

NO SURPRISES SPRUNG AND FEW COMMENTS ON TREATY

Washington.—All official Washington was reserving its comment on the peace treaty while carefully scanning the published official summary of its terms.

If Congress, where the treaty must run the gauntlet of the senate's ratification, both the leaders who are expected to oppose it and those who are expected to support it were holding back statements while they studied its provisions.

VOICE OF ANGEL,
DEEDS OF DEVILJAPANESE PAPERS FOMENTING SERIOUS TROUBLE WITH THIS COUNTRY.

FEAR CURB ON ASPIRATIONS

Americans Responsible for Attempts on Anti-Japanese Legislation Are No Better Than Barbarians.

Tokio.—The anti-American campaign in the Japanese Press continues with renewed force. Up to the present no serious overt acts have been committed against Americans or American property. Evidence exists, however, that the newspaper agitation, which has spread to virtually all the leading journals of the empire, is inciting popular feeling against America and thus paving the way to possible open demonstrations.

Representative Japanese deplore the press campaign and have begun to criticize the government for its failure to check the literary outbursts on the ground that they are going so far that they are liable to engender ill feeling.

"Hypocrite," "despot," "transformed kaiser," "man with the voice of an angel, but with the deeds of the devil," are some of the epithets applied by the newspapers to President Wilson.

The belief is expressed here that the basis for the agitation is fear of the growing influence of the United States in international affairs, as evidenced by her position at the peace conference, and that it will act as a curb on what are regarded as Japan's legitimate aspirations in China and Siberia.

After declaring that renewed attempts for anti-Japanese legislation on the Pacific slope indicate that the Americans persecute Japan in everything while wearing the mask of liberty and fairness, the Hochi Shimbun charges the Americans with having incited the Chinese to make the secret treaties public and also accuses the American missionaries of fomenting the Korean insurrection.

The Yorodzu Choho says the Americans responsible for attempts at anti-Japanese legislation are nothing better than barbarians; that their actions are more despicable than those of the Germans, whose barbarities they attacked.

MARSHAL FOCH SAYS FRANCE
SHOULD NOT SIGN TREATY

The peace treaty was presented to minor powers at a secret plenary session. The draft of the treaty is considered now as having passed the final stage before being presented to the Germans.

Marshal Foch in a speech at the plenary session declared that the security given France was inadequate from a military point of view and said it was his personal conviction that the treaty should not be signed.

The Chinese delegates presented a brief, formal and dignified protest concerning the disposition of Kiaochow. The Portuguese delegates expressed satisfaction regarding the treatment accorded Portugal.

The protestations made by the various delegations are not regarded as serious, as no definite reservations were made by the protestants.

ENTIRE GOVERNMENT LOSSES THROUGH MANAGING ROADS

Washington.—Director General Hines, in a discussion of recent railroad earnings, disclosed that: The government's deficit in operating the railroads for the first three months this year, or the difference between net earnings and one-fourth of the guaranteed annual compensation, was about $192,000,000 for all roads under federal management.

The government's loss for 1918 was $225,000,000. The entire government loss incurred in 15 months of federal operation was $418,000,000.

THE COUNCIL OF THREE HOLDS ITS FINAL MEETING

Paris.—The final meeting of the council of three before the presentation of the peace treaty to the Germans has been held. It is understood that the last details of the treaty presentation ceremony were discussed.

Also under discussion were the time and method of making public the details of the peace treaty, now in its final state of preparation which will be cabled all over the world before the ceremony at Versailles.

EXCITEMENT THROUGHOUT
ITALY IS SUBSIDING

Rome.—The departure of Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino for Paris is taken by the Italian press as an indication that they have had from the peace conference assurances that the Italian problem would be discussed with a new spirit in the view of satisfying Italian aspirations. The excitement of the past week is subsiding. The newspapers continue to express hope that Italy's rights will be acknowledged.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I can't sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sutz's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

"SO YOU'VE GOT HER!"

Paul Hewlett, loitering at night in Madison square, New York, is approached by an Eskimo dog. He follows the dog to a gambling house and meets the animal's mistress and her friends. He is beautiful and in dress and he follows her. After protecting her from two assailants he takes her in charge, and puts her in his own rooms for the rest of the night. He returns a little later to find a murdered man in his rooms and Jacqueline dazed, with her memory gone.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

I did not search the dead man's pockets. I cared nothing who he was, and did not want to know. My sole desire was to acquit Jacqueline of his death, in the world's eyes.

That he had come deservedly by it I was positive.

Four o'clock was striking while I was climbing back into the room again. Jacqueline lay on the bed in the same position; she had not stirred during that hour.

I took the knife from the floor where I had flung it, scrubbed it, and placed it in my suitcase. Then I scrubbed the floor clean, afterward rubbing it with a soiled rag to make its appearance uniform.

I thought I had finally removed all traces of the affair; but, coming back, I perceived something upon the floor, which had escaped my notice. It was the leather collar of the Eskimo dog, with its big silver studs and the maker's silver-name plate.

All this while the animal had remained perfectly quiet in the room crouching at Jacqueline's feet and beside the bed.

I came to the conclusion that there might have been a struggle; that it had run to its mistress's assistance, and that the collar had been torn from it by the dead man.

I picked the collar up and carried it into the next room and held it under the light. The letters of the maker's name were almost obliterated, but after a careful study I was able to make them out. The name was MacLay & Robitaille, and the place of manufacture Quebec. This confirmed my belief concerning Jacqueline's nativity.

I pried the plate from the leather and slipped it into my pocket. I put the broken collar into my suit case, together with the dagger, and then I set about packing my things for the journey which we were to undertake.

When I had finished packing I went back to Jacqueline and sat beside her while she slept.

In a little while it would begin to lighten, and the advent of the day filled me with a sort of terror.

I watched the sleeping girl. Who was she? How could she sleep so calmly after that night's deed? The mystery seemed unfathomable; the girl alone in the city, the robbers, the dog, the dead man, and the one who had escaped me.

Jacqueline's bag lay open on the bureau and disordered bills. There were rolls and rolls of them—eight thousand dollars did not seem too much.

I raised her hand and held it in my own, and I sat thus until the room began to lighten, watching her all the while.

At last she stirred, her eyes opened, and she sat up. She gazed at me with apathy, but there was also recognition in her look.

"Do you know me, Jacqueline?" I asked.

"My friend Paul."

"Jacqueline, I am going to take you home," I said, hoping that she would tell me something, but I dared ask her no more. I meant to take her to Quebec and make inquiries there.

"I am going to take you home, Jacqueline," I repeated.

"Yes, Paul," she answered in that docile manner of hers.

"It is lucky you have your furs, because the winter is cold where your home is."

"Yes, Paul," she repeated as before, and a few more proings on my part convinced me that she remembered nothing at all. Her mind was like a person's newly awakened in a strange land. But this state brought with it no fear, only a peaceful quietude and faith which was very touching.

"Now, Jacqueline," I said, "we shall have to begin to make ready for our journey."

I had just remembered that the storage company was to call that day. The van would probably be at the house early in the morning, and it was essential that we should be gone before it arrived.

I showed Jacqueline the bathroom and drew the curtains. Then I went into the kitchenette and made coffee on the gas range, and, since it was too early for the arrival of my morning loaf, which was placed just within the street door by the baker's boy every day, I made some toast and buttered it.

When I took in the breakfast Jacqueline was waiting for me, looking very dainty and charming. She was hungry, too, also a good sign. She did not seem to understand that there was anything strange in the situation in which we found ourselves. I did not know whether this was due to her mental state or to that strange unsophistication which I had already observed in her.

After the meal was ended and we had fed the dog, Jacqueline insisted on washing the dishes, and I showed her the kitchenette and let her do so, though I should never have need for the cheap plates and cups again.

"Now, Jacqueline, we must go," I said.

I placed her neckpiece about her. I closed her bag, stuffing the bills inside, and hung it on her arm. I wanted her to let me bank her money for her, but did not like to ask her. However, of her own account she took out the bills and handed them to me.

It was past eight when we left the house. I carried my suitcase and, stopping at a neighboring express office, had it sent to the Grand Central station. And then I decided to take the dog to the animal's home.

I did not like to do so, but was afraid, in the necessity of protecting Jacqueline, that its presence might possibly prove embarrassing, so I took it there and left it, with instructions that it was to be kept until I sent for it.

Quebec was my objective, and with no further clue than the dog collar.

A little snow was on the ground, but the sun shone brightly, and I felt that the shadows of the night lay behind us.

CHAPTER IV.

Simon Leroux.

With Jacqueline's arm drawn through mine I paid a visit to the bank in which I had deposited my legacy and drew out fifteen hundred dollars, next depositing Jacqueline's money to my own account. It amounted to almost exactly eight thousand dollars.

I wanted to deposit her money in her own name, but this would have involved inquiries and explanations which I was not in a position to satisfy. So there was nothing to do but deposit it in my own, and afterward I could refund it to her.

I wondered, as we strolled up Fifth avenue together, how much she knew, what she remembered, and what thoughts went coursing through her head. That childlike faith of hers was marvellously sweet. I believed that she was dimly aware that terrible things lay in the past, and that she trusted to her forgetfulness as a shield to shelter not only herself but me, and would not voluntarily recall what she had forgotten.

It was necessary to buy her an outfit of clothes, and this problem worried me a good deal. I was afraid that she would not know what to buy; but, as the morning wore away, I realized that her mental faculties were not dimmed in the least.

She observed everything, clapped her hands joyously as a child at the street sights and sounds, turned to wonder at the elevated and at the high buildings. I ventured, therefore, upon the subject that was perplexing me.

"Jacqueline," I said, "You know that you will require an outfit of clothes before we start for your home. How much money shall I give you, Jacqueline?"

"Fifty dollars," she inquired.

I gave her a hundred and took ridiculous delight in it.

We entered a large department store and I mustered up enough courage to address the young woman who stood behind the counter that displayed the largest assortment of women's garments.

"I want a complete outfit for—this lady," I stammered. "Enough for—I hesitated again—"a two weeks' journey."

"Bermuda or Niagara Falls?" asked the young woman.

"I beg your pardon?" I inquired, conscious that my face was insufferably hot.

"If you are taking madame to Bermuda she will naturally require cooler clothing than if you are taking her to Niagara Falls," the young woman explained, looking at me with benevolent patience. And seeing that I was wholly disconcerted, she added:

"Perhaps madame might prefer to make her own selection."

As I stood in the center of the store, apparently a stumbling block to every shopper, Jacqueline flitted here and there, until a comfortable assortment of parcels was accumulated upon the counter.

I bought a neat sole-leather suitcase, which, at Jacqueline's practical suggestion, was changed for a lighter one of plaited straw.

It was while Jacqueline was examining the suitcases that my attention was drawn to a tall, elderly man with a hard, drawn and deeply lined weather-beaten face and wearing a massive fur overcoat, open in front, who was standing in the division between the trunk department and that adjoining it, immediately behind Jacqueline. He was looking at me with an unmistakable glance of recognition.

I knew that I had seen him several times before, but, though his features were familiar, I had forgotten his name. I stared at him and he stared back at me, and made an urgent sign to me.

Keeping an eye on Jacqueline and not losing sight of her at any time, I followed the tall man. As I neared him my remembrance of him grew stronger. When he turned round I had his name on my lips.

It was Simon Leroux.

"Diable! So you've got her!" he began in a hoarse, forcible whisper. "Where did you pick her up?"

I made no answer, but waited for him to lead again—and I was thinking hard.

"There's the devil to pay!" he went on in his execrable accent. "Louis came on post-haste, as you know, and he hasn't turned up this morning yet. Ah, mon Dieu, I always knew Tom was close, but I never dreamed you knew anything. You know what happened last night?"

"It was an unfortunate affair," I said guardedly.

"Unfortunate!" he repeated, staring at me out of his bloodshot eyes. "It was the devil, by—! Who was he?"

His face was fiery red, and he cast so keen a look at me that I almost thought he had discovered he was betraying himself.

"It was lucky I was in New York when Louis wired us she had flown," he continued—"I omit the oaths which punctuated his phrases. 'Lucky I had my men with me, too. I didn't think I'd need them here, but I'd promised them a trip to New York—and then come Louis' wire. I put them on the track. I guessed she'd go to Daly's—old Duchaine was mad about that crazy system of his, and had been writing to him."

"I tell you it was ticklish. There was millions of dollars' worth of property walking up Broadway, and they'd got her, with a taxi waiting near by, when that devil's fool strolls up and draws a crowd. If I'd been there I'd have—"

A string of vile expletives followed his last remark.

"They got on his track again and followed them to the Merrimac," he continued. "And they never came out. They waited all night till nine this morning, and they never came out. I thought her a good girl—it's awful! Who was he? Say, how much do you know?"

His face was dripping with sweat, and he shot an awful look at Jacqueline as she bent over the suitcase. I could hardly keep my hands off him, but Jacqueline's need was too great for me to give vent to my passion.

FOR TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST

Thedford's Black-Draught, Says
Kentucky Lady, Is Excellent
For Breaking Up a Cold.

Elgin, Ky.—Mrs. Albert Albright, who has lived here many years, says: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a laxative. It is excellent for breaking up colds. I have used it for a bad cold and tightness in the chest. One cup of good warm tea made from Black-Draught I found most helpful. It makes the liver act and gives instant relief."

This spring my little daughter began having chills, the hard, shaking kind. After the chills her fever would rise and her head would ache. We are a family of five, and so I just began giving her good doses of Black-Draught and it cured her. She is in good health, has a good color, and her appetite is all right. So of course we consider Black-Draught as unsurpassed for a family medicine."

Don't wait until you have headache, sick stomach, indigestion, or other disagreeable symptoms, but take an occasional dose of Black-Draught to help keep your system free from poison, and your body in good health. Made from purely vegetable ingredients. Black-Draught acts in a gentle, natural way, and has no bad after-effects. It may be safely taken by young and old.

At Half Rates.
Several years ago, when I was deputy recorder of an Illinois county, I witnessed the wedding of a prosperous young farmer.

The ceremony was performed by the county judge, whose customary fee was $2; however, in cases where the wedding happened to be well-to-do, the old judge made no charge, leaving the size of the fee up to him, and, in such instances, usually received a $5 or $10 bill.

So in this case, when asked his fee, the judge said, "Well, I always leave that to the bridegroom." So the young man handed him a sealed envelope and departed with his bride.

After the couple were well on their way home the judge, feeling sure of having received a good-sized fee, carefully tore open the envelope. It contained a neatly folded $1 bill.—Chicago Tribune.

Is Hoped to Greatly Increase the Value of Farm Woodland Lots.

Raleigh.
Mr. Harry B. Krausz, farm forestry specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service, left Raleigh for an extended trip to Washington, and the states of Maryland, Connecticut and Massachusetts, to study woodland developments and to confer with the foresters of these states, with a view to putting the farm woodland work of North Carolina on the most progressive and business-like basis.

After these conferences, Mr. Krausz expects to return to North Carolina to begin several new developments which the agricultural extension service is now planning to make in the farm woodlot work of this state.

Mr. Krausz thinks that, with the proper development of all its farm woodlands, this state can greatly increase the money value of the products coming from these lots.

Teachers' Salaries Advanced.
Reports are coming in just now to the state department of education of the financial adjustments that are being made by the county school boards and county commissioners for the coming school year and the advances that are required by law in teacher salaries and ample budgets for adequate building budgets. A typical one comes from Gaston county, where increases are provided for in teacher salaries on the basis of from $55 to $75 per month for elementary teachers and from $60 to $75 per month for assistant high school teachers.

The county levies the full 35 cents school tax that the law allows and then 16 cents for incidentals and buildings and with the funds that the county will get from the state school fund will have $150,806 to spend for the year in school maintenance.

Bee Expert on Tour.
C. L. Sams, the bee expert having in hand the federal and state department of agriculture work for increasing the North Carolina bee keeping industry, left for a three weeks' trip through Anson, Buncombe, Transylvania, Polk and Henderson counties, visiting beekeepers, attending conferences of those in the various counties interested in bee keeping, furthering the organization and work of the county clubs of bee keepers.

He will visit the United States army hospital, just established, a few miles out from Asheville where he has been asked to come to aid in putting in proper shape an apiary for the soldiers gathered there for recuperation.

State Makes Cheap Buy.
The value of the buildings at Camp Polk (Method), the sale of which to the state of North Carolina was announced, is $81,000 government cost, said Secretary M. R. Beaman of the Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has been working on the matter of the sale for some time, the secretary having gone to Washington to expedite things. The cost to state of the buildings is $5,000.

Tax Collectors Meet.
Governor Bickett and a party of invited guests went to Goldsboro in the new $5,000 state automobile, purchased for the governor's mansion, to be used by the governor and his family as provided in a special act of the recent legislature. Their mission was to attend the special conference for East Carolina tax listers and district and county supervisors. The governor is deeply interested in this full revaluation movement and insists that the success of the undertaking depends very largely upon the thorough and just manner in which the district and county supervisors and the local county valuation boards do their work.

Doctors for Siberia.
Four physicians from North Carolina are wanted by the Red Cross for relief work in Siberia. They must sign a contract to serve a year, but all expenses, including transportation, will be paid, in addition to a salary of $3,000 a year. A pharmacist from this state is also wanted by the Red Cross for work in Siberia. His expenses will be paid and he will receive a salary of $1,500 a year.

These men are wanted immediately, and will sail from Seattle or San Francisco, going directly to Siberia.

To Direct Employment Bureau.
Mr. J. A. Robinson, of Durham, was sworn in here as manager of the bureau of the United States employment bureau in Durham. The bureau will open there Monday in an office in the Elks building. Considerable work in the way of connecting the man with the job has already been done in Durham under Chamber of Commerce auspices, but with a regularly organized branch of the government service in operation it is expected that the scope of the work will be considerably enlarged.

Baptist Drive Recommences

"Back on the main line again," is the word that comes from the headquarters in this city of the million-dollar campaign for the Baptist schools of the state.

For the past two months the educational campaign has been side-tracked in order to give the right of way to the big mission drive to raise in this state by May 30 a quarter of a million dollars for state, home and foreign missions. During this period of inaction most encouraging receipts have continued to come into the office of the treasurer of the educational funds, Dr. R. T. Vann, among them being gift of $2,000 by J. H. Moore, of Madison, with which to endow a scholarship.

The statewide campaign organization which did such effective work last fall and winter, despite the serious handicaps occasioned by the influenza epidemic, will now again get into action more vigorously than ever before, and round up the million dollars at the earliest practicable moment.

Delegates Are Appointed.
Governor Bickett appointed sixteen delegates to represent the state at the National Conference of Social Work which meets at Atlantic City June 1-8 and six delegates to the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers Association to be held in Kansas City, Mo., May 6-10.

The delegates to the conference for social work are:

The delegates to the Mothers and Parent-Teachers Association meeting are:
Mrs. R. R. Cotten, Bruce; Mrs. Lucy Robertson, Greensboro; Mrs. Ed Land, Goldsboro; Mrs. A. H. Powell, Oxford; Mrs. Charles E. Platt, Charlotte; Mrs. N. Buckner, Asheville.

Governor Not a Candidate.
Governor Bickett gave out a signed statement intended to end talk of his having any idea of running for the United States seat. He says the ink was hardly dry on his signature to his oath of office as governor of North Carolina before letters and rumors began to reach him suggesting that he ought to plan running for the United States senate against Senator Simmons.

"To all such letters and to all persons speaking to me on the subject I invariably and emphatically replied that under no circumstances would I be a candidate," he says.

"When Senator Simmons was renominated without opposition, as he ought to have been, there was quiet for a time, but recently reports have come to me from numerous sources that I am thinking of running against Senator Overman. I have never thought nor dreamed of doing any such thing and under no circumstances would I permit my name to be used as a candidate."

Daniels Declines Knighthood.
The Washington Times carries a story from its London correspondent, stating that Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels declined to be knighted by the King of England.

"From a source in intimate touch with the secretary during his stay here, was learned the reason why his waistcoat does not bear the jeweled bath-cross and the story reveals the Daniels diplomacy. When he arrived in England he was approached by a high British admiralty official who intimated that the king was prepared to honor him.

"Secretary Daniels, not desiring to snub the king, asked if it was possible the matter could be held 'in abeyance' until such time as he was the guest of British hospitality. But he answered in such a way as to indicate his preference to avoid the decoration if nobody would be offended. The king is reported to appreciate Mr. Daniels' democratic ideals and be willing to hold the matter in abeyance."

Governor Pardons "Lifer."
To get a pardon from life sentence without the least intimation that such a thing was possible at this time was the experience of Burch Morgan, of Montgomery county, who has served 15 years without a mark against him as to behavior. The pardon was taken over to the penitentiary by Rev. Mr. McLendon, the evangelist, who has attracted such crowds here the past three weeks. Morgan was first sentenced to death and Governor Aycock commuted sentence to life imprisonment.

Holderness Talks Warehouse.
State Senator George Holderness, of Edgecombe county, sees unbounded benefits accruing to the cotton growers when the state cotton warehouse system is well under way and efficiently managed. For one thing, it gives the grower the benefit of the larger markets, the giving the state commissioner power to sell cotton abroad when the domestic markets are not sufficient to handle the staple at good prices. The greatest benefit, probably, will be in the cotton which is saved from damage by exposure.

NEW TEMPEST IN OLD TEAPOT

Alas, Poor Yorick! The Women Simply Go Wild About This Chicago Man.

Chicago—Nature, which moves in mysterious ways her wonders to perform, as we gleaned from the third reader, performed so wondrously well in the case of Yorick Owen Henry as to render him irresistible with members of the other sex.

Alas, poor Yorick! Until yesterday the custodian of two adoring wives, singing in happy chorus, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," he found himself last night in a cell.

"I can't help it," Henry admitted. "What's a man to do? They go wild about me."

After Henry's curses on his fatal beauty had somewhat abated the reporter learned from the desk sergeant that he was charged with larceny, bigamy, and forgery; also that sometimes his name is R. J. Planer, Fred Lamonte, or again Adolph Henry.

Last year he was employed by the Stearns & White company, wholesale chemists. He met Miss Rose Ludwig, a stenographer, married her, and conducted her to his home, where she met the other Mrs. Henry, also the Henrys' little Henry.

The two Mrs. Henrys lived in content and comity—Mrs. Henry No. 1 even accompanying Mr. Henry and Mrs. Henry No. 2 on the honeymoon trip to Peoria. About this time the Stearns & White company reported to the police the disappearance of $700 worth of chemicals. They accused Henry.

Everything would have been all right at that, because Henry was living under the name of Lamonte, but he decided to return to Chicago. He rented rooms at 10 West Grand avenue and installed his establishment. And then the two wives quarreled. And one notified the police.

GIRL SAVES HER GARTER
Police Patrol Driver Is Given the Scare of His Life in the Rescue.

Oakland, Cal.—A garter that slipped at the wrong moment nearly wrecked Oakland's $6,000 patrol wagon!

The wagon was answering a hurry call. At Twelfth street and Broadway, in the center of the downtown district, a girl gowned in silk and furs started across the street. Half way over she halted, turned pale and made a wild clutch for her knee.

Pedestrians shouted a warning, but the girl was oblivious. She stooped over and began to fumble. The patrol wagon opened its siren, executed a fancy curve, missed the girl by an inch, careened past a telephone pole by a narrow margin and righted again.

Then only did the girl straighten up, bring something blue into view and continue modestly on her way. She got the garter, but the patrol wagon driver got the scare of his life.

Ventriloquist Admits
It's a True Story

Los Angeles, Cal.—"Please let me down easy, mister," came a deep voice, apparently from the basket, as Andrew J. Wilson, a negro employed by a Long Beach transfer company, was engaged with another workman in unloading at a freight station there a coffin containing a body that had been shipped to Long Beach for burial from a town in the middle West.

Wilson was just letting his end of the box down, with about two feet to go. He let it fall the two feet with a bang, and with a flying start he sprinted down the street.

Police Sergeant Clyde Allen of Long Beach, who was standing near the scene with a ventriloquist friend, vouches for the story.

WHEN BUYING ASPIRIN ALWAYS SAY "BAYER"

Ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a Bayer package—marked with "Bayer Cross."

Don't buy Aspirin tablets in a pill box. Insist on getting the Bayer package with the safety "Bayer Cross" on both package and on tablets. No other way!

You must say "Bayer." Never ask for merely Aspirin tablets. The name "Bayer" means you are getting the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," proven safe by millions of people. Beware of counterfeits! Only recently a Brooklyn manufacturer was sent to the penitentiary for flooding the country with talcum powder tablets, which he claimed to be Aspirin.

In the Bayer package are proper directions and the dose for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Colds, Grippe, Influenza-Colds, Neuritis and pain generally.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," American made and owned, are sold in vest pocket boxes of 12 tablets, which cost only a few cents, also in bottles of 24 and bottles of 100—also capsules. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Danger in Abbreviation.
Even the school nurse has her fun. In a talk before the central philanthropic council, the other day, Miss Helen R. Stewart of the board of health told of one little boy who, after he had been examined by the nurse, went to the teacher in tears, complaining that the nurse called him names.

When the teacher expressed her surprise, the boy sought to prove his case by handing her the card the nurse had given to him as her record of the examination.

"Look at that!" he cried. "Poor nut," read the card. "Poor nutrition," explained the teacher, finally sending the child away with a better opinion of the nurse.—Dallas News.

Information Needs Confirmation.
"Old Dorsey Dudgeon," prides himself on knowing where the configuration is as soon as he hears the fire-bell ring," related the landlord of the Petunia tavern.

"By the time half a dozen whangs have changed he has scrambled into a garment or two and is out on his front porch, hollering to the people running by just where he knows the fire is."

"He should be of considerable assistance to the volunteer firemen and others in sending them in the proper direction," commented the interested guest.

"El-yah! He would be if he didn't nine times out of ten know it wrong." Kansas City Star.

Glossing Over the Facts.
"Pa, what is a euphemism?" "I'll have to explain that by giving you an example, son."

"Yes, pa." "The dictionary says a euphemism is 'a figure of speech by which a word or phrase more agreeable or less offensive is substituted for one more accurately expressive of what is meant,' as in the case of the society reporter who states that a widow who has been married three or four times is 'led to the altar' by a wealthy old codger who never had the slightest notion of getting married until he faced the preacher."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Von Tirpitz a Pauper.
The Tribune de Geneve is informed that Grand Admiral von Tirpitz is staying at Wildegg, Switzerland, as the guest of Lieut.-Colonel Wille, son of the former commander-in-chief of the Swiss army.

Tirpitz has lost all his fortune. His son, is a clerk in a bank at Zurich, and his daughter is a governess in a Zurich family.

To avoid paying the German war tax of 1913 Tirpitz invested his money in Italian securities, with the result that he is now penniless. What a patriot!

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight. Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

The Flow of Meat

Two-thirds of the live stock in the United States has to be raised in the West.

One-half of the consumers of meat live in the East.

In other words, most of the live stock is one or two thousand miles distant from most of the people who need it in the form of food.

Fifty years ago, when live stock was raised close to every consuming center, the country butcher could handle the job after a fashion.

But the job got too big.

Now millions of animals have to be moved hundreds of miles to millions of people. Somewhere on the way they have to be turned into meat.

The packers solved the problem. They set up plants where the "live haul" and the "meat haul" were in the right balance. They built up distributing systems—refrigerator cars, refrigerating plants, branch houses. They saved time, money and meat everywhere. The stockraiser benefited in better markets and higher prices; the consumer, in better meat and lower prices.

As the country grew, the packers had to grow, or break down. Because of its present size and efficiency, Swift & Company is able to perform its part in this service at a fraction of a cent per pound profit.

A Bloodless Duel.

If the new fashion of sending challenges to be fought out in the air becomes general, duels, like other luxuries, will become very costly.

In pre-war days Parisians used to reckon that £4 would cover the expenses incidental to a duel, though, to do things in style, considerably more had to be spent.

Aurelien Scholl, the boulevardier journalist, relates that a man whom he knew as a frequenter of his favorite cafe sent a challenge and borrowed one hundred francs from Scholl for expenses. He never saw his money again. "The duel proved bloodless," says Scholl. "I was the only person touched."

OVER THE LAND OF THE LONG LEAF PINE

SHORT NOTES OF INTEREST TO CAROLINIANS.

Gastonia.—J. D. Grandy, a Charlotte contractor, has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new Dixon Cotton mills, at Gastonia, including 50 cottages and a warehouse.

Spencer.—One of the most successful revivals held at Spencer Baptist church for a number of years closed with a total of 250 conversions and reclamations.

Wadesboro.—Lieut. Hoyt P. Taylor, a prominent young lawyer of this city, who rendered splendid service in France, was elected mayor of Wadesboro without opposition.

Mooreville.—E. C. Deaton, chairman of the Mooreville Victory loan committee, reports that the city has subscribed its quota of $74,450 and will better that mark by several thousand dollars before the close of the campaign.

Raleigh.—The Dixon Mills, Inc., of Gastonia, received a charter with $400,000 capital authorized and $70,000 subscribed.

Belmont.—At the municipal election J. B. Hall was re-elected mayor of Belmont by a majority of 68 for the coming term of one year. The commissioners, A. C. Lineberger, C. L. Bumgardner and Clarence Tucker were also re-elected.

Salisbury.—A true bill for criminal assault was found against T. C. Williams, his alleged victim being a 13-year-old girl. Williams, who has been in the Charlotte jail for some weeks, will be brought to Salisbury and arraigned.

Charlotte.—The Red Cross canteen at the Southern Railway station was almost destroyed by fire of undetermined origin.

Winston-Salem.—The special term of Surry supreme court, held in February for the trial of defendants in the Winston-Salem riot case, cost Forsythe county nearly $4,000.

Wilmington.—Local lumber manufacturers and dealers have advanced the prices on all grades of lumber about 10 per cent, on account of the high cost of materials and labor. Heart lumber goes to $55 the thousand and feet, and flooring goes to $60 the thousand.

High Point.—The machinery which is to set in motion the national sport in this city was perfected at a meeting of the local fans held in the Commercial club. The organization will be known as the High Point Baseball association and will be incorporated under the laws of the state, with a capitalization of $35,000.

Charlotte.—County Agent Charles E. Miller sustained a broken arm when his machine back-fired while cranking it. He was in the country at the time. Medical attention was secured and the arm reset and bandaged.

Salisbury.—Captain J. M. Steele, who has been chief of police for some months has announced that he will not try for re-election but will retire from the force and devote his entire time to his business.

Washington, D. C.—In an army casualty list by the commanding general of the American Expeditionary Forces, the names of the following North Carolinians appear:

Missing in action—Richard L. Smith, Salisbury.
Wounded slightly—Frank G. Honeycutt, Clinton.

Hickory.—Tom Gwin, the negro who is alleged to have committed a criminal assault on a 16-year-old white girl three miles west of Hickory, has been removed from the Lincoln jail, where he was taken following the attempt to lynch him at Newton.

Spencer.—In the Spencer municipal election R. J. Goode, democrat, was elected mayor. In East Spencer, G. W. Isenhour, republican, was elected mayor with a mixed board of aldermen.

Raleigh.—A complete and official list of all the 89,360 North Carolinians inducted into the world war service, classified as to counties, is now on file in the North Carolina hall of history and is a far step towards the completion of the war record of the state.

Concord.—The Salisbury District Sunday School Institute has been in session at the Central Methodist church with 53 of the 70 Sunday schools in the institute represented.

Asheville.—S. Glenn Young, former government agent who won fame by his daring captures of many army deserters, ending up by capturing the Crawleys and Blain Stewart, has returned to the city and is now engaged in answering charges brought against him by Guy Lavender, former manager of the Langren hotel.

After several applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. Your hair appears soft, glossy and twice as thick and abundant. Try it!

HAS SEEN AMERICAN HUSTLE

And Therefore General Allenby Also Sees the Point of Rather Good, if Old, Story.

General Allenby in London was speaking on the remarkable speed with which America created an army and got it overseas.

"Now that I have seen what I have seen," he said, "I get the point of a story regarding American hustle that I heard several years ago.

"I hear Smith has left you and gone into business for himself," said a friend to the boss. "Was he really a good salesman?"

"I'll say he was," sighed the man who had lost Smith. "Why, when that bird dies he won't be in hell five minutes before he'll sell the devil a card-index system and an adding machine."

A Feeling of Security

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy. The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything. It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Trust Me! Try Dodson's Liver Tone! Calomel Harms Liver and Bowels

Read my guarantee! Liven your liver and bowels and get straightened up without taking sickening calomel. Don't lose a day's work!

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

A Husband's Advice
To Other Husbands
Save Your Wife This WayTHROUGH the day most men are absent from home and little know of the many duties that wives must attend to. House work at the best is hard—and kitchen work the hardest of all.But not when you have the Hoosier Cabinet in your kitchen.
It lets a woman sit comfortably to prepare the meals. It saves her miles of steps and hours of toil. It saves food by keeping flour, sugar, etc., in protected places and avoiding waste in measuring and mixing. In countless ways the Hoosier pays its cost.Yet most of all, the Hoosier saves your wife's looks and strength. It prevents fatigue, and what is more precious than her health? Hoosier prices are low: Your money all back if

OUTLOOK IS FOR SMALLER CROP

Disturbed Condition of World Assigned as Principal Reason of Decline

BION H. BUTLER

When the price of cotton futures began to drop into the Slough of Despond it occurred to me that some cause for the trouble would be apparent if we could get to the people who know, so I wrote a number of letters to men prominent in agriculture, banking, shipping, manufacturing, picking men who know, who are thinkers, and students of the state and out of the state, and I think I have a pretty good symposium of information. It may not be in accordance with the opinions held by some of the readers, but coming from the sources it does I think this material is worth reading by every thoughtful man interested in North Carolina in cotton and in farming.

Views of Geo. E. Roberts. As a banker I picked Frank Vanderlip, of the National City Bank, New York, with connections in the cities of the world. He proved to be out of the city, but his assistant, George E. Roberts wrote me as follows:

"The decline of cotton since the armistice was signed expresses a revulsion of sentiment, caused by disappointment over the fact that the expected rush of foreign orders, both for raw cotton and cotton goods, did not materialize. Ever since export of cotton to the countries of Central Europe was cut off by the war, the friends of cotton have been predicting that as soon as the war ended there would be a great demand from that region and from all over the world. But when the armistice was signed, instead of a great demand with higher prices, there came a cancellation of orders of cotton goods at home and abroad. Buyers had concluded that peace meant lower prices. Furthermore, Central Europe has not yet been opened up to cotton, and France and Belgium are not yet in a position to resume the manufacture of cotton goods on a normal scale."

"This disappointment as to the expected European demand for raw cotton together with the slow buying of cotton goods in this country, South America and Asia has caused the revulsion of sentiment. Many good judges believe that this revulsion represents hasty conclusion. They held that it is too early to conclude that the earlier expectations as to demand will not be realized, and that in fact when Europe is actually opened up to cotton imports, and when the consuming markets find that cotton has been reached for cotton goods, a healthy consumptive demand will be realized."

"We have always believed that the Southern States would serve their own interests best by not devoting themselves so exclusively to cotton-growing as has been their practice in the past, but should make themselves self-sustaining on the stuffs, and then grow cotton for the cash crop."

"That would be our general advice now. Don't devote your agriculture wholly to cotton, but on the other hand, don't be discouraged about cotton. The world will certainly want a great deal of cotton when the markets are really open and trade is generally resumed. It should always be the South's main crop and effort to curtail production for the purpose of raising the price might be easily carried to an unwise extent. We would hesitate to support artificial measures of this kind but we do say that the South should balance up its agriculture, growing more livestock and other products, and pursuing an even policy from year to year."

Clarence Ousley, Secretary, Houston, of the federal department of agriculture, was absent from Washington, and Clarence Ousley, assistant secretary wrote:

"The outstanding fact is that industrial conditions in a large part of Europe and the dislocations of business following the European war make it impossible now to distribute the cotton which under normal conditions would be in active demand. No human mind can possibly forecast even the approximate moment of restored industry and pre-war activities."

Generally speaking the department and the agricultural colleges are agreed that the wise policy for southern farmers to pursue in 1919 is to make sure the production of their own home supplies of both feed and food. Special attention is called to the fact that an average yield of cotton on the acreage of 1918 will produce two or three million bales more than was produced in 1918. In the judgment of those of the department and of the colleges who have given closest study to the subject, a production, added to the present cotton season will be considerably in excess of the world's demand for American cotton during the next cotton year."

J. E. Latham, of Greensboro, one of the biggest cotton brokers of the south, writes:

"The signing of the armistice from the world long on cotton. Then I thought, began to spread that sort of things were selling at time prices, and that in the adjustment from war to peace a considerable decline in all things, including labor, was highly probable. Every merchant is buying only such merchandise (automobiles, for example) as he requires for immediate use. Cotton goods' prices have declined enormously as far as the mills are concerned, many mills are running short time, and some few closed indefinitely because of the great peril in piling up goods made of cotton at prices that have ruled since the armistice, and labor is still receiving wages tremendously greater than before the war. This is why I think cotton has declined. As to the crop I believe my personal interest would be best served by a large planting, but I have always been, and am to-day a preacher for reducing acreage. In the present uncertain conditions growers should prepare to make their cotton cheaper on a reduced acreage than they can hope to make it by planting the earth as they usually prefer to do. Planting 40,000,000 acres to make 12,000,000 bales is an inefficiency that should not exist. For four years the average yield has been 155 to 165 pounds of lint per acre, and at 30 cents a pound a farmer cannot make much money at that yield. I favor reducing the acreage of cotton and increasing the acreage of cattle, hogs and grain."

Alexander Sprunt & Son, of Wilmington, the big exporters, write: "We have had a very low yield of lint per acre. The present crop is not large. The decline is due to the cancellation of large government contracts for cotton products and to the drop of 30 per cent in the market for cotton fabrics. Also to speculative holding for higher prices when the whole crop might have been sold at 30 to 35 cents. Cotton bales exposed to the weather will rot rapidly under the spring rains; the damage may be 25 per cent. We advise selling the exposed cotton at the market price without delay."

George A. Holderness. From George A. Holderness, a big farmer and a banker of Tarboro, I get this:

"There is more cotton than there is demand for, consequently the price is low. If this situation confronted any manufacturing concern it would immediately curtail its production so the amount already manufactured would only be available during some fixed period. If the farmers see fit not to curtail production by reduced acreage they may expect a still lower price. But with reasonable reduction in acreage the consumers of cotton will realize that there will not be a large supply of cotton, and the farmer will be able to get an advanced and fair price for his product. The problem is up to the farmers themselves, and a large crop is made this year they will have only themselves to blame."

Stuart Cramer, one of the biggest cotton manufacturers in the world, writes me:

"My personal opinion is that the decline in the price of cotton is due largely to the general feeling that the price of all commodities will automatically be reduced during the period of reconstruction both in this country and abroad, following the war. For exactly the same reason cotton goods are practically unsaleable now, even when offered at the cost of production; yet the stock in the hands of the retailers was probably never so low as now."

"I believe the best interests of the country will be conserved by maintaining a fair price both for labor and commodities; and I hope we will not see, and I do not expect to see, a return to pre-war values. I do expect to see a readjustment of prices of commodities that show an abnormal profit, and that is all. I do not believe cotton to be one of them, and as a cotton manufacturer I should be glad to pay the present prices of cotton for next year's crop if the price is maintained. The outlook now is that the demand might possibly warrant the planting of a normal crop, but a record crop would probably be a misfortune and break the price materially in spite of the stoutest efforts to maintain it."

W. B. Cooper, cotton exporter and banker of Wilmington, writes:

"The South plants acreage equal to 1918 it means 15 cent cotton. If the Lord gives good seasons $60 per bales cannot be paid for with 15 cent cotton. Two-thirds of last year's acreage means fully as many dollars, as full acreage, in my opinion. Forty cent cotton, or even 35 by April means 15 cents next fall. I fear the South is in a more critical state now than in the fall of 1914. No one is going to help us if we do not save ourselves. We need a strong state warehouse system to help us borrow money at reasonable rates, a system fully safeguarded in every possible way."

J. W. Cannon, of Concord, one of the biggest manufacturers in the world, says:

"The cotton situation is one they say the 'apple woman' knows as much about as any one else. It appears to me that the New York Cotton Exchange is a great detriment to the interest of the South—both to the farmers and the manufacturers—for the reason that this great country watches New York quotations on cotton and takes it for granted that the prices sent out by the exchange are reliable and that a change in the market and feel as if the goods should be sold on the basis of New York quotations."

"It is necessary to have a central exchange to disseminate prices, and for this reason it should be guarded, or controlled by the government, and the contracts should be based upon, say, middling white cotton, and not on a delivery on this contract below middling white cotton. In other words, to embrace five grades. Good middling, stained middling, middling, low middling, and low middling, all white cotton, inch staple. This contract would be made up of 40 or 20 grades value of cotton. In the south today, a contract is based on almost all the grades and a contract delivered to you would be made up of 10 or 20 grades—mostly of very inferior low grade cotton, which no one would take up, and the manipulators of the New York exchange market use this as their playhouse, and they endeavor to make it as undesirable and expensive as possible to even deliver these grades. Hence, when they want to force the market down they issue notices and deliver this grade of cotton which no one will take, and they can make their own price and still own their own cotton. I have repeatedly heard that it was to the interest of the farmer to have this kind of a contract, and he could find a place for his low grade cotton—but this is a camouflage of the worst kind, and the manipulators know the game and the amount of low grade cotton they buy from the farmers is comparatively small—just enough to make up their playhouse, but it answers the purpose of depressing the market, and today if we wanted to buy middling white cotton it would cost us 400 points more than New York exchange quotations."

"Now Chicago has their grain exchanges, but they call for a specified grade of wheat or corn, and it represents the market value over the whole country. In regard to the planting: Unquestionably the farmer would realize 50 per cent more money for a 10,000,000 bale crop than he would for a 14,000,000 crop; and he could put the additional land in other crops that would be of great benefit to him."

Col. F. H. Fries. Col. F. H. Fries of the Winston-Salem bank writes:

"I have foreseen the decline in cotton and am today one of those who does not expect it to advance. Its course downward has been due to natural causes and should have been expected. The curtailed shipping facilities, the depreciation of cotton mill industry and the inability of Europe to pay for their stock in large quantities in the near future has led me to think that cotton should be sold at present prices before the new crop is raised unless parties are prepared to carry it indefinitely. I also differ with the consensus of opinion as to the advisability of planting a new crop next year. If I am right in believing that a larger crop costs less to produce than a small one, I am quite of the opinion that the farmer should plant as large a crop as possible. The demand which has been looked for up to this time will not, in my opinion, materialize before a new crop is far advanced and perhaps marketed. By that time conditions will probably have righted themselves to such an extent that the larger crop will be sold at a good price, and if you agree with me, it might be well to publish this letter."

As what I wanted was the views of the men who know, and not merely something popular to please the reader, I think Col. Fries' statement highly valuable. He is a thinker and a well-informed man, and we do well to weigh what he says."

Views of New York Brokers. While I was writing these letters I fell in with S. B. Chapin, a New York broker who is also a large cotton producer in South Carolina, and I asked him his views. He said:

"The large amount of low grade cotton is one trouble. We have on hand a considerable quantity of cotton, but we have been trying to get rid of our low grade cotton, and have sacrificed some of it rather than be caught with it too long. During the war low grade cotton has been accumulating, and of the last crop more than ordinary is low grade. The weather has much to do with the low grade, but another fact was the influenza. When cotton should have been picked, the pickers were so affected with influenza that they could not get out, and cotton that should have been of the higher grades is low and blue or yellow. I do not think we are relying on good cotton, but we certainly are relying on a crop that is low grade. But even on those I think we are cleaning out considerably over the country. We are holding some of our better grades of cotton. The low grades do not appeal to me as good stuff to carry."

$5,000,000 DAMAGE IN TWO FLORIDA COUNTIES

Miami, Fla.—Damage estimated at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 was caused by heavy rains in Dade and Broward counties, which practically wiped out the entire winter tomato crop. At the Miami weather bureau, eight inches of rain had been recorded up to 10:15 p. m.

TEXAS PREPARING TO REDUCE ACREAGE

Along the Same Lines That Are Being Followed in Other Southern States.

Press dispatch from Dallas says: Cotton growers with 1,000,000 bales stored away see danger of losing money.

Fearing cotton prices will sink near the pre-war levels, unless measures are taken to prevent it, Southern cotton growers are joining in a movement for general reduction of 1919 acreage. In Texas, the move has taken the form of a pledge to reduce acreage to two-thirds of that of 1918. The State Agricultural Department is emphasizing the benefits of planting grain on the acreage thus saved.

The Government report placed last year's Texas production at 2,530,000 bales. Cotton was around 35 cents a pound at the close of the picking season, but many growers and some speculators felt it would reach 40 cents and did not sell. Prices fell, however, with the signing of the armistice, and since then have been wavering between 21 and 25 cents.

Bankers who loaned money to growers found their security diminished, and plantation owners found their crops of less value than when harvested. Texas growers estimate there are 1,600,000 bales stored by individuals and in the compresses. They declare much of this has been damaged by winter rains.

While cotton at 21 to 25 cents is higher than before the war, growers say production costs is so much higher that they will lose money at 25 cents a pound.

Last year's government reports placed the Texas acreage at 11,235,000. By reducing this one-third, bankers and agriculturists feel that prices can be held to a point that will bring a profit and also bring a higher price for the unmoved crop of 1918.

The council of defense chairman in each county and the county agricultural agent have been named as committees to aid in an extensive advertising campaign to persuade all planters to sign the two-thirds acreage pledge.

MUST STAND TOGETHER

The farmers will all have to stand together or they will all fall together. Co-operation is the one salvation of the farmers and when they undertake as they have done to all hand together in order to force a higher price for the product on which so much of their financial future depends, no fair-minded person can do otherwise than wish them well."

And the farmer, committed to the plan of holding his cotton as a means of boosting the price, ought to display genuine bulldog tenacity. It will not do to hold a couple of weeks and then let go just because the market shows a little upward slant. This is not the sort of attitude that will make an impression on the mind of the interests who are matching their wits with those of the farmer. If the farmer wants to prove to those men and those interests that he is in deadly earnest he will have to show more than just a little temporary determination to hold his cotton."

Nor is self-interest the only incentive that should move the farmer in the present emergency. Equally as great a motive is the necessity of a spirit of loyalty to his fellow farmers. The cotton grower has his obligation to his fellow cotton grower as well as to himself, and it certainly seems that he owes it to the rest of the men in the calling to adhere closely to the program which the majority seem to feel is the wisest under the circumstances."

There has been a disposition on the part of one part of the public to take it for granted that the farmer has been making big money in recent years. And the farmer has done better than in the pre-war years, but the high cost of living and of materials has hit the farmer as severely as it has any one else and his net profits have been by no means extravagant. He is entitled to the sympathy of every one who wants to see fair play in the great game of American enterprise. News and Observer.

The following information in regard to the progress of the cotton association's fight was given out: Editors in the leading financial papers state that the organization of cotton farmers throughout the entire cotton belt, we find, is more complete and the most systematic and most thorough. The men behind the movement understand the importance of the vital necessity of the organization. A personal investigation of men in the field convinces us that beyond a shadow of doubt the pledge reductions will be carried out to the letter. Furthermore, that men in the field are taking steps being taken will lead to remarkable changes in the marketing of cotton. It is an unwritten law that following all wars, remarkable changes and various phases of business usually result and the changes are that one of the most remarkable changes will take place in the commercial life of the South."

Hulls Corn Quickly

RED DEVIL LYE

Red Devil Lye removes the outer skin of hulls from corn quickly and easily, leaving the corn pure and free. Saves you time and trouble.

To use this wonderful lye for making delicious Lye Hominy—

1. Dissolve 2 tablespoons Red Devil Lye in 6 quarts of soft water or 5 of hard water. When almost boiling, add 1 quart of shelled field corn, and stir with a spoon or ladle till hulls slip. Then pour off the water, rub the corn with a cloth, and wash with fresh water and boil again. Continue stirring and changing water until water remains perfectly clear. Then boil six hours. To remove the salt, run the corn in a cloth, the dasher of which works up and down. (If you like, add 2 pounds of fresh pork during the last two hours of cooking.)

Red Devil Lye makes easy work of removing the skins of peaches, sweet potatoes, etc. Write us for Free Booklet. Scores of home uses for Red Devil Lye.

J. L. Smith, the new section master on the Southern Railway, has moved to town.

R. S. Grant has moved from the Nail house to the Wilson house near his livery stable.

W. T. Starrette who has been away at work for two months returned home last week.

H. H. Helper died at his home near Bailey yesterday. Interment will be at Center church.

A license was issued last week for the marriage of W. S. Collette and Miss Nellie Stonestreet.

Miss Sallie Etchison left Saturday for Raleigh where she will enter the Baptist Female University.

A blockade outfit in Calahaln township was cut up last Thursday by revenue officers from Statesville.

The furniture factory here seems an assured fact. Contracts for material to put up the buildings have been made.

The price of cotton is still advancing and 8 cents for lint is predicted. This will be mighty good for the farmer.

Rev. J. M. Downum has bought the residence lately vacated by Capt. Hawkins and has moved his family thereto.

The South Yadkin Baptist Association will hold a three day meeting in the Mocksville church, beginning Friday.

W. P. Etchison, a graduate of Wake Forest College, left Saturday for Ellenton, S. C., where he will engage in teaching.

Major Mertz and wife, the well known midgets who resided near Salisbury, have gone to Illinois to become members of a show.

Last week A. T. Grant, Jr., received the appointment for Clerk of the Superior Court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. R. Ellis. Mr. Grant held this position for 16 years and is prepared to go right ahead with the work.

"America First."

In this world all nations are striving for supremacy. Each wants to be first, to outrank the others and to put something over on the others in the easiest way possible for itself. Let us face the facts rather than cherish delusions to our own undoing; there is less idealism among governments than among individuals.

The man who does not see this elementary truth is either a blind fool or an arrant knave. The man who does not take account of it in his dealings is bound to be made a fool of. For us Americans let the word be "America First." Any nation that takes offense at it is no friend of ours, nor of the truth that is in us.

Other nations may not let us know how much they want to be first. It is diplomacy to get what you want while the other fellow sleeps. But are we sleeping while some one else is engaged in the manly art of "Watchful waiting?"

Americans will watch till death for America's sake. They are not ignorant of the elements of human nature. The nations show only too well that they have not suffered a change of heart. The diplomats want all they can get for nothing and when given an inch, they will take an ell. The leopard does not change his spots though men may be simple enough to call spots something else.

Any man who tries to tie the hands of America and to limit its liberties and possibilities is untrue to America. The higher his office the greater the error of wrong he has committed and the more severe should be his punishment at the hands of all true Americans.

Now more than ever is there need of that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty. We want no hypocrisies or hypheates. Again and again forever, "America First."—W. S. IRWIN, in National Republican.

The Volunteer Atlas.

Walt Mason says in a recent sonnet:

"Atlas, I fear that Uncle Sam will be, in future years, kept busy doing peeler's work in both the hemispheres; when not suppressing reds at home, who would overthrow the law, he'll have to chase the red abroad, and soak him, in the jaw; he'll have to help out ten-cent kings and jack up sagging thrones, and every fifteen minutes he must blow a million bones. The nations all have come to look on Uncle Sam as one who works the scales of justice and looks on the job as fun. I should be proud of this, no doubt, but I'm a moss-back jay, and I regret the bygone times, the old contented way, when Uncle Sam was satisfied to run our native land, and warble 'Hail Columbia,' an eagle in each hand."

A correspondent wants to know when to use "shall" and "should." Never use "shall" when you should use "should" and never use "should" when you should use "shall." In short, we should always say "should" whenever we should and never should say "shall" when we should say "should." Is that plain enough?

Suggestion For a Camping Trip.

Buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy before leaving home. As a rule it cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. Neither can it be obtained while on board the cars or steamships and at such times the need is most likely to be needed. The safe way is to have it with you.

His Busy Day.

One of the busy days of a scion of the McCoy's, of old Kentucky, was set forth in a citation of Private Pete McCoy, contained in a bulletin issued by the war department. Specifically, this busy day was September 29, 1918, and was in the vicinity of Bellecourt, France, where was a part of the Hindenburg line before the Yanks and the Tommies and the Anzacs tore it up.

Here is the citation: "Private Pete McCoy, Company 2, 120th Infantry—For extraordinary heroism in action near Bellecourt, France, September 29, 1918. Unexpectedly encountering seven of the enemy, Private McCoy, single handed, killed all of them with his bayonet and hand grenade. As a result of this feat he captured four hostile machine gun emplacements and took seventeen prisoners out of a dugout nearby. Upon advancing further he found a wounded officer, whom he sent to the rear in charge of another soldier, and continued on to the objective."

"Home address, Harrison McCoy, father, Thomas, Kentucky."

Do Your Best.

Everyone should do all he can to provide for his family and in order to do this he must keep his physical system in the best condition possible. No one can reasonably hope to do much when he is half sick a good share of the time. If you are constipated, bilious or troubled with indigestion get a package of Chamberlain's Tablets and follow the plain printed directions, and you will soon be feeling all right and able to do a day's work.

Officers Destroy Many Stills And Material.

Blockade Stills have been faring bad for the past few days, but from information we have, officers will have to cut up a good many more before they can even be missed in some sections. We will bet this printing office against one thrift stamp that no less than 1,000 gallons of whiskey has passed in front of this office since we printed last week on its way to the bigger cities.

Revenue officers Frank Folger and J. E. Shugart went over near Lone Hickory Saturday and destroyed a still in full blast a few hundred yards from the home of Marion Reavis. They say 1,000 gallons of beer was poured out, and other property destroyed. One man was sitting watching the thing run, and then he run.

Monday they went back in the same section and found two more outfits except the stills themselves. At one place they say was about 300 gallons of beer and at the other 900 gallons.

Sunday morning Sheriff Zachary and Constable Howell went over towards Courtney and found a still that had been running for some time. The still had just been removed from a burning furnace. This was on the lands of Shuford Hutchens, but no one was present. All that was left was destroyed.—Yadkin Ripple.

About Rheumatism.

People are learning that it is only a waste of time and money to take medicine internally for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and about ninety-nine out of a hundred cases are one or the other of these varieties. All that is really necessary to afford relief is to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. Try it. It costs but 35 cents per bottle. Large size 60 cents.

A Familiar Intolerance.

Writing to the New York World, C. W. Adams proposes that all senators who do not agree with President Wilson be deported as undesirable and dangerous citizens. This is only a slight projection of the Wilsonian system of "democracy," as exemplified in the intolerance and terrorism practiced against all political opposition in the section of the country he and his associates so typically represent, and as even better illustrated by the Frotzkys and Lenines of the other side. The custom of Dixie Democracy for years has been to prescribe and persecute the man who does not agree with the ruling oligarchy, to disfranchise him either legally or by force, and to "run him out" if he persists in having opinions of his own. We have merely had transferred to Washington the "red shirt" spirit that has been dominating the south for years, and which would have been completely enthroned at Washington if the people had not gone to the polls in November last and administered a rebuke which evidently has not yet penetrated the hides of the bourgeois.—National Republican.

Burleson.

New York World.
Albert Sydney Burleson, postmaster general of the United States is the heaviest burden that President Wilson has to carry. He has done more to discredit the administration and the Democratic party than all its professed enemies combined. As a counselor to the president he has been a continually mischievous influence. As an administrator he has stirred up more popular discontent than all the bolshevists and I. W. W. agitators in the country. He has done for all the elements of reaction what were helplessly incapable of doing for themselves.

"Corpse" Talked; But Later Died Again.

Pittsburg, April 25.—Dr. S. J. Fife, a railroad physician, had pronounced dead a man who had been struck by a train, so W. F. Russell, a Bridgeville undertaker, was notified to get the body. Russell, with a helper, drove to the scene of the accident and was lifting the body into the basket when the "corpse" emitted a hoarse "Hoo o Hoo o" in realistic imitation of a steamboat whistle.

Russell and his assistant dropped the basket. "Coming up the river!" ejaculated the corpse. "Hoo o o!" "For the love of Gabriel!" exploded Russell. His assistant began running away.

But the undertaker's wagon was there to get a body, so the "body" was put into it, but was taken to Mercy Hospital instead of Russell's mortuary establishment. The "corpse" in the meantime dropped vagrant remarks.

All this happened near Bridgeville last Saturday. The "dead man," whose skull had been fractured, died again Tuesday night and the body now is in the county morgue. A card in a pocket indicates his name was James White.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or digest the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Brooks Says Tanlac Has Overcome His Troubles—Feels Like A New Man.

"My wife obtained such satisfactory results from Tanlac that I tried it myself and I have gained ten pounds and feel like a new man," said J. W. Brooks, traffic superintendent for the Western Union Telegraph Co. at Dallas, Tex., and living at 1732 Hickory street, that city. "When I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I was suffering from a stubborn case of stomach trouble, the result of an attack of acute indigestion I had several years ago. I had an awful pain across my back, and was so nervous and worried about my kidneys that I could hardly sleep at all. I suffered from rheumatism in my legs, my feet would swell and I was tired and languid all the time. I was badly run-down, lost weight, strength and energy and none of the medicines I took did me any good."

"After using Tanlac for a short time I began to pick up and kept improving till now my rheumatism is all gone, the pains have disappeared from my back and my kidneys don't worry me like they did. I have a fine appetite and can eat anything I want without suffering at all from indigestion, my sleep is sound and restful and I get up in the morning feeling fine."

People weep much over the wrongs that have never been committed against them and are not going to be.

One Was Left.

A year and a half ago four young men pledged themselves in the county court, Brooklyn, N. Y., to return to the court's jurisdiction to answer charges of grand larceny as soon as they finished fighting the Germans. A few days ago three of them appeared. The fourth, they said, had answered to a higher tribunal. They left him in France beneath a plain wood cross.

In the court room with them was an elderly man who wore a mourning band on his sleeve and who apologized for the absence of his son, James, by saying that he had been killed in action.

All the boys enlisted a few months after this country entered the war. On a lark one night they took an automobile without the permission of the owner and went joy riding. When arraigned on charge of grand larceny their cases were postponed until after the war. They were allowed to enter pleas of guilty and were dismissed by the court.

That's Different Again.

Uncle Joe Cannon, during his visit with constituents in Illinois, says that he found them in favor of the League of Nations because they had been fed on propaganda which led them to believe it would stop war. "But when you talked to them about drafting their boys or asking them to volunteer to put down trouble over in the Balkans, why h—, they are just naturally against it."

The news comes to us from various sections of the county that the people are cursing The Record on account of the dog law passed by the recent legislature. While The Record had no more to do with passing a dog law than the man in the moon, yet we are glad that the law was passed, and believe that a majority of the good citizens of the county are standing with us on this question. Some of the dog-lovers must think The Record has a great deal more influence with the Democratic legislature than they have.

Attention, Baracas, Philatheas.

Every Baraca and Philathea Sunday school class in Davie county, and the classes at Courtney, are urged to elect delegates to the Nineteenth Davie County Baraca Philathea Convention, which meets at the Baptist church in Mocksville on Saturday and Sunday, June 7-8, 1919. Names of delegates should be sent to C. Frank Stroud, Mocksville, N. C., so that homes may be assigned the visitors. We are planning for the biggest and best convention ever held in the county. A number of prominent speakers will be present, including Rev. J. H. Barnhardt, Presiding Elder of the Greensboro District; Dr. C. A. Owen, pastor of the First Baptist church, Salisbury; Mrs. N. Byckner, State Secretary Baraca Philathea Convention, Asheville; C. W. Andrew and Walter Tatum, prominent Sunday school workers of Salisbury, and others. The program will be interesting throughout. All classes should elect their delegates to this convention not later than Sunday, May 25th, and forward their names at once to Mr. Stroud. Help us to make this convention one that will long be remembered. Programs are being mailed to all the classes this week. If you do not receive yours, write for them.

These Be Taxing Times.

Talk about being taxed to your utmost capacity—what about the times in which we are living? We can see the tax assessors here and there where the sheriff's of the counties are selling lands for taxes, the tax assessors are on the war path to find more property to tax and the revaluation crowd getting ready to swoop down and double and treble the valuation—and the end is not yet.—Greensboro Record.

New Roads To Be Built.

The Davie County Road Commissioners, at their last regular meeting, decided to build the following good roads as soon as they can sell sufficient bonds to secure funds:

It was ordered that the road beginning at Mocksville and extending via Cornatzer Bixby, Mock's church and Advance to Highway at or near Ed Smith's be finished, graded and topsoiled; that road beginning at Dutchman creek and extending via J. H. Swings, L. L. Miller's, be graded and topsoiled, and, also, to connect link in Cana road, from B. R. Steelman's to Cana by topsoiling the same; that the road from James Hendrix's to Sam Howard's, near Bixby, be graded and topsoiled; that road beginning at Mocksville and extending via Hanes bridge to Fork Church be soiled; that road beginning at W. L. Harper's and extending via Luther Walker's to County Line, be finished, graded and topsoiled; that road beginning at Mocksville and extending via Jerusalem to South River bridge be graded and topsoiled, that road beginning at Robert's Mill place and extending to Yarkin county line and the road from Whitaker graveyard extending via Smith Grove, Redland and L. M. Smith's to North Carolina Post Road, between Fries, Rowden's and Hodges's place, be graded and topsoiled; that the road beginning at Foster's store and extending via North Cooleemee to Cooleemee, be reconstructed and topsoiled.

The above roads are to be built out of the first available bond money. W. E. Boyles was elected County Supervisor of roads of county for a term beginning May 15, and ending Jan. 1, 1920, at a salary of $75.00 per month. The Board also agrees to furnish him an automobile and the expenses of operating the same. It is also ordered that the road beginning at Lowery place and extending via Virgil Boger's and J. L. Hill's be discontinued as a public road but left open as a public cart way; that a public cart way be laid out from Salisbury-Cherry Hill road near Hatch Beck's place and running near the line between Hatch Beck and Arthur Wilson, to a point near Hartley's ferry, and that W. H. McCall, S. T. Foster and W. A. Becker be appointed a committee to lay out said road.

Letter From Haywood County.

Editor Davie Record:—For some time I have contemplated writing something for your valuable paper from Haywood county, as I have never seen anything from this county in The Record. Haywood county is in the Western part of the State, 22 miles West of Asheville, N. C. The Murphy branch of the Southern Railway runs through the center of the county, and we have good train service out on the Murphy line, we have four passenger trains daily. Haywood county, from a geographical standpoint, is the highest county in the state, and according to a soil survey that was made some time back by the U. S. Government, we have some of the richest lands that is to be found in the state. Haywood is purely an agricultural county, the people are engaged in stock raising and fruit growing. We produce some of the finest fruit that is to be found most any where. While stock raising and fruit growing are two of the leading industries of the county, we are making rapid progress in the way of making wheat and corn. The farmers of the county have bought the latest farming machinery and have gone to farming on a more scientific plane, and they have learned that is the kind of farming that will pay. No doubt if some of your farmers were to come and travel over the county of Haywood and see how we are faring up here in the mountain country they would be surprised. You all have the advantage of we people up here from the fact that your lands lie so much better than the lands in the western part of the state. Clyde, N. C. is a small town located in the center of the county, six miles east of Waynesville and four miles west of Canton, Canton, Haywood county, is where the Champion Paper Mill is located, they employ about nine hundred hands, and this paper mill consumes 24 cars of chestnut wood that is made into paper, every twenty-four hours. Clyde, N. C. is situated on the sunny banks of the Pigeon river, surrounded by an amphitheatre of mountains and traversed by the Murphy branch of the Southern Railway.

We have one bank, six stores.

four churches and two schools. The State High School is located here for the county of Haywood, and we have a modern brick building at a cost of ten thousand dollars. The Haywood institute, a Baptist school is located here.

Clyde is the shipping center of the county, to give you some idea of what is going on in the way of a shipping center, I will say that there is something like 250 cars of live stock shipped from this place annually. Clyde, N. C. is where the famous church was built of one hollow tree. Well this is a bright May day up in Haywood and the sun is shining brightly and the birds are singing sweetly, and I trust that the same conditions prevail in the good old county of Davie.

Yours truly,

JOHN W. STAMEY.

How Wilson Treated Taft.

Southern Democratic newspapers celebrated for their political impartiality, are complimenting Mr. Taft upon the breadth he has been displaying in supporting President Wilson. They might explain what they think of the breadth displayed by Mr. Wilson when, after his election as President, he put out a book, "The New Freedom," in which he said, in effect, that while Mr. Taft and his administration had been creatures of the special interests that were sucking the life blood of the people, it was doubtless due to no wicked intention on President Taft's part, but to the fact that Taft was such a bone head he couldn't understand the situation and didn't know he was being used.—Ex.

Times Have Changed.

Many people will remember that when the 61st congress was in session and Mr. Cannon was speaker of the house, that a resolution was passed to buy the speaker an automobile. The Democrats howled about it until you would have thought the government might be overthrown by such an act. Times have changed and right here in North Carolina the recent legislature passed a resolution to buy an automobile for the governor of the state. Whose time is it to howl now?—Ex.

BROCKDORFF-RANTZAU OF

MAY NOT RETURN.

SOCIALIST MEMBERS SPEAK

Will Sign the Treaty Because of the Fact That We Would be Hacked to Pieces if We Did Not.

Sharp differences have arisen among the members of the German delegation over the peace treaty, and Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the Teutonic plenipotentiaries, may return to Berlin to confer with the Ebert government over the terms presented by the allied and associated governments which he has already signed. He has already signed the treaty and conferred with technical experts.

A majority of the delegates, including the financial experts, are assigned to be strongly against submission to the terms, and so marked has come the division between the opposing factions that it is quite probable Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau will not agree to remain a party to the negotiations.

Unofficial advices from Spa are to the effect that the count already has been relieved of his arduous duties. The departure of the head of the German delegation will not necessarily cause an interruption of the negotiations, however, as these may be conducted meantime by those members of the party remaining at Versailles.
The independent socialists of Germany are still in favor of signing the peace treaty, in the face of strong opposition on the part of the non-socialist supporters of the government. In this connection one member of the German delegation, ranking as a counselor of legislation is quoted as having declared:

"We will sign despite all, because we would be hacked to pieces if we do not sign."

CHINESE MAKING ATTEMPTS TO BOYCOTT THE JAPANESES

Shanghai.—Dissatisfaction with the provisions of the peace conference relative to Shanghai is widespread in China and following demonstrations in protest in the principal cities an attempt is now being made to organize a boycott of Japan. The Nanking, Hankow, Hangchow, Foochow and Chang Chow and other cities.

The proposed boycott deals with Japanese bank notes, goods and shipping.

sion of the treasury over minor routine matters made successful administration impossible.

San Francisco.—"Good bye dear old hundreds of men, women and children during the last week of the Victory Battleship Loan campaign when they visited the famous old battleship for the last time as she lay at anchor in San Francisco Bay. Within a few weeks the grim fighter of nearly a quarter of a century ago will go out of commission and become a memory.

THE BAPTISTS WANT NO DENOMINATIONAL UNION

Atlanta, Ga.—Reiterated charges that the war department sought to break down denominational lines during the war were made at the Southeastern Baptist Convention by President
B. Gambrell of Fort Worth, Texas.
He also voiced the disapproval of any proposal for church union.
"What is wrong about the Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians going about attending to their own business?" he asked.

A FAIR ACREAGE REDUCTION

The Complete Board of Directors of the Export Corporation is to Select Principal Officers.

New Orleans.—Pointing out that the South never again will raise as large a cotton crop as in the past because of what were termed successful efforts towards an acreage reduction, the crop report committee of the newly formed American Cotton Association made public its findings at a meeting here today of members.
The following table shows reduction percentages by states:

Virginia 33.3, North Carolina 20.1,
South Carolina 26.1, Georgia 20.5, Florida 24.5, Mississippi 15.0, Louisiana 23.1, Texas 20.0, Arkansas 20.0, Tennessee 18.0, Missouri 37.5, Oklahoma 25.0, California 20.0, Arizona
25.0; Alabama 5 per cent increase.
Average reduction 20.2 per cent.

J. S. Wannamaker, of St. Matthews,
S. C., was elected permanent chairman of the American Cotton Association at its meeting of delegates from cotton growing states here.

Directors of the cotton export financing corporation so far selected include: North Carolina, J. A. Brown, Chadburn; South Carolina, L. D. Jennings, Sumter; Georgia, R. T. Willingham, Macon.

The complete board of directors of the export corporation when elected will select the principal officers.

STEP TAKEN TO CURTAIL SPECULATION IN CORN

New York.—Julius H. Barnes, federal wheat director, has formally notified L. F. Gates, president of the Chicago board of trade, that the exchange should reinstate the rule limiting the amount of open trades in corn for any one interest or individual to 200,000 bushels. His suggestion was designed to prevent undue speculation.

If the Chicago board complies with this suggestion, Mr. Barnes will feel justified in cabling Herbert Hoover, director general of the food administration, that further regulation "may not be necessary," he said.

ALLIES PREPARING FOR THE EVENTFUL DAY WITH TURKEY

Paris.—That the allies are preparing for the eventful day, when the Turks are to be reckoned with in a peace treaty, is indicated by the fact that British, French, American, Italian and Greek warships, with landing parties, have begun a great concentration at Smyrna, Asia Minor. Allied troops also are being massed at Salonik. The concentration at Smyrna is connected with the mandate given to Greece by the peace conference to administer the affairs of the Turkish seaport, while the belief is expressed in Paris that the massing at Saloniki is connected with the enforcement of the peace terms to be presented to the Ottomans, which it is thought probable will include a demand that the Turks leave Europe.

SEAPLANES ON OCEAN FLIGHT GET AWAY TO FAIR START

Trepassey.—Three giant seaplanes of the American navy—the NC-3, NC-4 and the NC-1—rose from the waters of Trepassey bay and headed for the Azores, to make by air in the twentieth century a journey as dangerous as that of Columbus made by water five centuries ago.

Commanded by Commander John H. Towers, Lieutenant Commander A.
C. Read and Lieutenant Commander
P. N. Bellinger, the seaplanes left their moorings at the head of Trepassey harbor and "taxied" towards the narrows. Then, rushing into a westerly wind, they took the air.

RESIGNATION OF CHINESE CABINET IS DECLINED

Paris.—The peace negotiations with Turkey, and also with Bulgaria, are expected to take place in Constantinople or other city in the near east.
The Chinese cabinet is reported to have tendered its resignation, which President Hsu Shi-Chang is said to have declined to accept. The conference at Shanghai, at which endeavors were being made to arrange a peace between northern and southern China, has broken up.

WASHINGTON, D. C., SECURES NEXT BAPTIST CONVENTION

Atlanta, Ga.—In line with its proposal to spend $15,000,000 for Christian education in the South, the Southern Baptist Convention voted to establish an education board, similar in scope to the boards which now handle home and foreign missions.
The convention voted to meet in Washington, D. C., May 12, 1920, and selected Dr. John E. White, Anderson,
S. C., to preach convention sermon.

TOTAL CASUALTIES OF AMERICAN ARMY

INTERESTING FIGURES SHOWN OF RESULTS TO THE HINDEN-BURG LINE BREAKERS.

LOSS IN 30TH. WAS 11,081

Battle Deaths Number 48,909; Total Number Wounds Inflicted Including Duplication About 7,000.

Washington.—The war department issued statement showing the "battle deaths" and wounded by divisions.
The figures for the Twenty-Seventh,
a New York division, and the Thirtieth, made up of Tennessee, South Carolina and North Carolina troops are interesting.

The Twenty-seventh sustained 1-791 battle deaths, and the Thirtieth
1,652. The Twenty-seventh had 9,427 wounded and the Thirtieth 9,429. The total deaths and wounded in battle were: For the Twenty-seventh, 11-218, and for the Thirtieth, 11,081.

Revised figures made public by the war department showed that the total casualties of the American expeditionary forces during the war was 286,044. Battle deaths numbered 48-909 and the total of wounded was placed at 237,135, with the explanation that this represented a duplication of about 7,000 by reason of the fact that many men were wounded more than once.

GERMANY BROUGHT BLOCKADE TROUBLES UPON HERSELF

Paris.—Germany's blockade troubles were primarily brought upon her by herself, writes Maximilian Harden, the German Free Lance, in the latest number of his periodicals, Die Zukunft.

Both Bismarck and Caprivi had predicted such a measure against Germany if she went to war, the writer points out, but he argues that it would have been impossible for the blockade to have been imposed if Germany had not refused at the Hague in 1907 to accept the British proposition tending to the abolition of the right of capture and that of prohibited zones on the sea.

The men who at that time were directing German foreign policy, Herr Harden continues, were convinced that in case of the outbreak of an Anglo-German war the British people, no longer devoted to agriculture,
would suffer from famine much before Germany, a country highly developed agriculturally and adjoining Russia, Holland and Denmark.

HENRY FORD'S LAWYERS BRING CHARGES OF DISLOYALTY

Mount Clemens.—Notice that the plaintiff in the $1,000,000 libel suit of Henry Ford against The Chicago Daily Tribune, et al., will attempt to prove that the Tribune in urging military preparedness three years ago did so in an effort to aid Germany was given to the newly completed jury here by Attorney Alfred J. Murphy of counsel for Mr. Ford.

The statement was made in the form of a final interrogatory to the entire jury.

"We will try to prove," said Mr.
Murphy "that the Chicago Daily Tribune in its campaign for preparedness was doing so solely in an effort to embroil the United States in a war with Mexico so that American munitions would be used on this continent instead of being shipped to the enemies of Germany. Does any member of the jury hold views or has he held views which would prejudice him against a fair consideration of evidence to prove this contention?"

HIGHEST MILITARY HONORS MAY COME TO GEN. HAIG

London.—Should he desire, Sir Douglas Haig can go to India as commander in chief of the British forces there. This is the highest military honor in peace times within the gift of the government.

ONLY ONE U. S. DIVISION TO REMAIN IN GERMANY

Coblenz.—As soon as the German sign the peace treaty the American army of occupation in Germany will be reduced to three divisions, the First, Second and Third, which will remain on the Rhine until some other disposition is made of the American bridgehead.

General Pershing is desirous of taking the first and second divisions back to the United States with him when he sails for home in July.

MANUFACTURE OF BEER NOT TO BE PROHIBITED

Washington.—In accordance with an opinion rendered by Attorney General Palmer, holding it to be the "lawful duty" of the internal revenue bureau to collect a tax on malt beverages with an alcohol content in excess of that permitted by law, issuance of revenue stamps to cover beer taxes will be continued and no attempt will be made by the revenue bureau to prohibit the manufacture of beer pending a decision.

NO CHANGE SHOWS IN FIUME MATTER

LACK OF ACHIEVEMENT SEEMS TO HAVE HAD DEPRESSING EFFECT ON ITALY.

IS BEING LEFT IN THE COLD

From Date of First Process, Treaty Will Come Into Force Between the High Contracting Parties.

Paris.—The question of Fiume and the Adriatic remains where it was.
Since the return of Premier Orlando and Sonnino from Rome, the matter has not been again taken up by the council of four but, in the unofficial discussions which have taken place, it is impossible to say any progress has been made. The proposal to appoint a small committee of experts, such as that which worked out the scheme for the administration of the Saar valley, to try to find a modus vivendi has been abandoned.

This lack of achievement seems to have had a depressing effect in Italy.
Her omission from the alliance which is to guarantee France's security, coming on top of the failure to settle the status of Fiume, has evidently contributed to the feeling that Italy is being left in the cold. Italian circles strongly insist that there would have been no doubt that Italy would have accepted the invitation to join the alliance had she been asked. Another point which has affected public opinion has been the discovery that the peace treaty has a provision for ratification without the signature of Italy. This is provided in article 440, which says:

"A first process verbal of deposit of the ratifications will be drawn up as soon as the treaty has been ratified by Germany, on the one hand, and by three of the principal allies and associated powers, on the other hand."

"From the date of this first process the treaty will come into force between the high contracting parties who have ratified it. For the determination of all periods of time provided for in the present treaty this date will be the date of coming into force of the treaty."

SECRET SESSION IS HELD BY COTTON GROWERS CONVENTION

New Orleans.—At a secret meeting here of cotton growers representing 400,000 acres of cotton producing land, the American Cotton Growers' League was organized, designed to combat what was alleged to be "a strong influence brought to bear and New England manufacturers," and the proceedings of the conference assembled here to consider the organization of a $100,000,000 cotton exports corporation.

A committee was appointed, comprised of A. Alan Breen, Bayminette, Ala.; George E. Haskins, Mobile; Harvey W. Swayne, Atlanta; R. F. Work, Houston, Tex., and Justin Fair, Montgomery, Ala., empowered to work out plans to meet the alleged "influence."

Announcement that the growers had organized was made to the press by one of the members of the committee, who expressed the belief that "the death knell of the speculator in the cotton producing world may have been sounded," by the organization of the league.

AUSTRIAN PEACE DELEGATION HAS ARRIVED AT ST. GERMAIN

Paris.—Karl Renner, Austrian chancellor, has brought his peace delegation and attendants to St. Germain, near Paris, and at a later date will appear before the representatives of the allied and associated powers to receive the conditions which spell peace for the former empire.

A notable feature of the reception was the absence of Germans, who had requested permission to greet the Austrians, but had been denied this privilege. The prefect of the department,
M. Chaleil, met the Austrians courteously and although there was no official handshaking, many members of the party were greeted by unofficial handshakes from old acquaintances.

WILSON TO VISIT BRUSSELS BEFORE STARTING HOME

Paris.—President Wilson was considering sailing for the United States from Antwerp so that he might visit Brussels on the way.
but on inquiring it developed that the United States transport George Washington is of too great a draft to enter the port of Antwerp. The project, therefore, has been abandoned. The President will visit Brussels, however, before starting on his homeward voyage.

THE SEAPLANE NC-4 FLIES FROM CHATHAM TO HALIFAX

Halifax.—The hydroairplane NC-4, third of the American naval planes to alight in the harbor here on its way to New Foundland for the start of a flight to the Azores and thence to England, arrived from Chatham, Mass., after a speedy trip. Favored by a brisk south wind, the seaplane covered the 340 miles in three hours and 51 minutes. Lieut. Commander Albert C. Read said that he had experienced no engine trouble.

TRICK REJECTION OF PEACE TREATY

MORE COUNTER PROPOSITIONS PROMISED ALLIES BY THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR.

A HUN DEPRECATES MURDER

Scheidemann Says Peace Treaty Would Make Enormous Jail in Which 60,000,000 Would Labor.

Berlin.—The declaration by Chancellor Scheidemann in the national assembly that the peace terms were "unacceptable" brought the members of the assembly, the spectators and those in the press gallery to their feet in a hurricane of cheers and applause.
The chancellor reached the climax of his statement on the peace terms 10 minutes after he began.

He paused in his address and then thundered out the word which announced the German government's rejection of the Versailles conditions.

"This treaty," he said, "is in the view of the imperial government unacceptable, so unacceptable I am unable to believe that this earth could bear such a document without a cry issuing from millions and millions of throats in all lands!"

The chancellor described the peace treaty as a "dreadful and murderous" document. He said it would make an enormous jail of Germany in which sixty million persons would have to labor for the victors in the war.

He criticized President Wilson and said the President by his attitude had deceived the hopes of the German people.

"We have made counter proposals and shall make still more. With your consent we regard it as our sacred task to come to negotiations."

"Here and there insight and the common obligations of humanity are beginning to make themselves felt in neutral countries; in Italy and in Great Britain, above all, too—this is a comfort for us in this last fearful flaming up of the policy of the mailed fist—and in socialistic France voices are being heard whereby historians one day will measure the state of humanity after four years of murder."

CONGRESSMAN BURNETT OF ALABAMA IS DEAD

Gadsden, Ala.—Representative John L. Burnett, of the seventh Alabama district, died suddenly at his home here.

Mr. Burnett was elected to the house of representatives in 1899 and has served continuously ever since. During the last session he was chairman of the committee on immigration.

Mr. Burnett had been re-elected to serve in the sixty-fifth Congress.

Late in the last session Mr. Burnett introduced bills for deportation of dangerous aliens and for the stopping of all immigration for four years after the declaration of peace.

TURKISH AND ASIA MINOR QUESTIONS DISCUSSED

Paris.—The council of four discussed the Turkish and Asia Minor questions and certain details of the Austrian treaty. American experts were called in for consultation on the subject of Austria.

FIFTH NOTE DISPATCHED BY GERMANS TO COUNCIL

Paris.—The German delegation announces the dispatch of a fifth note which will be delivered to the council of four at an early session.

GERMAN PLAN FOR LEAGUE CONTAINS 66 ARTICLES

Paris.—The German plan for a league of nations submitted by the German delegation at Versailles and now in the hands of the peace conference committee on the league of nations to which it was referred, contains 66 articles, together with a supplement setting forth the charter for an international labor league.

GERMAN DELEGATES SEEK TO MAKE AUSTRIAN CONNECTION

Paris.—With the expected advent of the Austrian delegates at St. Germainen-Laye, the Germans at Versailles are seeking permission to be allowed to communicate with them. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German contingent, is said to have carried his request to the point of desiring to send a German delegation to greet the Austrians on their arrival. The answer of the allied representatives is problematical.

CHINESE ASSEMBLY IS EXTREMELY DISAPPOINTED

Paris.—A message from the Cheki-ang assembly, dated Hanz Chow, May 10, and addressed to the Chinese peace delegates says:
"The assembly is extremely disappointed at hearing that the disposal of Tsing-Tau has been left to the discretion of Japan alone. All are prepared to do what the crisis demands but are hoping that you will yet effect a change in the situation. If necessary withdraw from the conference."

Letter Proves It.

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my household work and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will guarantee they will derive great benefit from it."—Mrs.
TANNE FRIZZELL, 25 N. 41st Street,
West Philadelphia, Pa.

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mrs. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headaches, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored which led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.
For suggestions regard to your condition write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

DOWN IN BED AND SO WEAK

Lady Suffered Terribly for Eight Weeks But Her Case Showed Wonderful Improvement After Taking Cardui.

Johnson City, Tenn.—Mrs. M. R. Scott, living near this town, states: "About three years ago I was down in bed . . . terrible and so weak I couldn't bear the sight of food. This condition continued for about eight weeks . . . I thought I was going to die, and knew I must get something to do me some good. I had heard all my life of Cardui and the good results obtained from its use. So I decided to try it.

After about a half bottle of Cardui my appetite improved, then I was less nervous. I kept it up until I had taken five bottles—and such an improvement! I gained flesh and now am the picture of health, due, I believe, solely to the use of Cardui. I am the mother of ten children and feel well and strong."

Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic for women. It has stood the most severe of all tests—the test of time, having been in use for over forty years. It is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which have been found to help build up the vitality, tone up the nerves, and strengthen the womanly constitution.

Try Cardui.—Adv.

Accepted Explanation.

Bess—So Ferd was shot in a hunting accident? How did it happen?

Bell—Nobody knows, but as he went out alone it is thought that he shot himself by mistake for a deer.

GOODBY, WOMEN'S TROUBLES

The tortures and discomforts of weak, lame and aching back, swollen feet and limbs, weakness, dizziness, nausea, as a rule have their origin in kidney trouble, not "female complaints." These general symptoms of kidney and bladder disease are well known—so is the remedy.

Next time you feel a twinge of pain in the back or are troubled with headache, indigestion, insomnia, irritation in the bladder or pain in the loins and lower abdomen, you will find quick and sure relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarem Oil Capsules. This old and tried remedy for kidney trouble and allied derangements has stood the test for hundreds of years. It does the work. Pains and troubles vanish and new life and health will come as you continue their use. When completely restored to your usual vigor, continue taking a capsule or two each day.

GOLD MEDAL Haarem Oil Capsules are imported from the laboratories at Haarem, Holland. Do not accept a substitute. In sealed boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

A Clean Hit.

She—The women, young and old, must now send out a ringing cry.

He—Oh, the young and pretty can get rings without crying for them.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder to do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Courtesy costs nothing but rewards liberally.

Make This Test For Acid-Stomach

There are millions of people who suffer almost daily from the horrors of an acid-stomach—indigestion, sour gassy, stomach; distressing heartburn; sickening food-repeating; painful bloating and that miserable, puffed up, lumpy feeling after eating. Many of these people have tried treatment after treatment; medicine after medicine; others have gone to doctors and stomach specialists and some to hospitals, but in spite of all their efforts they have obtained no lasting relief or a permanent cure.

These symptoms simply mean acid-stomach. If allowed to run on, they are very likely to cause a lot of serious trouble. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica, splitting headache, dizzy spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, mental depression, melancholia, a feeling of listlessness and all-goneness—these are just a few of the disorders which can be traced to acid-stomach. As a matter of fact, acid-stomach is often the direct cause of those almost incurable conditions known as catarrh of the stomach, intestinal ulcer, and cancer of the stomach. The lives of those who suffer from these serious troubles are nothing short of daily agony. Surely, then, you must see how important it is to go at once to the seat of the trouble—acid-stomach. You know what acid-stomach does to the teeth—how it eats right through the hard enamel and causes them to decay. Think then of the havoc that must be caused by excess acid in the stomach!

Even if you are not suffering any immediate stomach pains, but are not feeling just as fit and fine as you should, you should by all means make this test: Go to your drug store at once and get a big box of EATONIC. It is in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets—you eat them like a bit of candy. EATONIC is prepared for just one purpose—correcting acid-stomach by driving out the excess acid. EATONIC literally absorbs the excess acid. It brings instant relief from the pains of indigestion, heartburn, belching, sour, gassy stomach, bloating, etc. It makes the stomach pure, sweet, cool and comfortable, puts it in a normal, healthy condition, so that your food is properly digested. You need every bit of strength you can possibly get out of the food you eat—and EATONIC helps you get it.

Don't put this test off if you value your future good health and happiness. You run no chance at all because EATONIC is absolutely guaranteed to give you relief or your drug bill will refund your money. The cost is a mere trifle.

EATONIC

FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH

Very Naturally. Gert—What did Myrt do when she found out you said she was home? Mabel—Oh, she got real ugly about it.

OVER THE LAND OF THE LONG LEAF PINE

SHORT NOTES OF INTEREST TO CAROLINIANS.

Gastonia.—Fifty-seven marriage licenses were issued from the office of Register of Deeds O. B. Carpenter during the month of April, 1913, 43 of this number being to white couples.

High Point.—Editors of republican newspapers in North Carolina will meet in this city May 30 for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization of the Tar Heel scribes of that political faith.

Washington.—Major Chas. M. Steadman, representative in Congress from the fifth district, has received from M. R. Doggett, now in Shantung Province, China, a beautiful teak wood walking cane.

Gastonia.—The smallest baby born in Gastonia or this section, as far as can be learned, is a daughter now living at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Culbertson, at the Myrtle Mills. At the time of birth, the baby weighed one and three-quarter pounds.

Tarboro.—Featuring agricultural problems now present in eastern North Carolina the conference of county men and women agents, of the agricultural extension service, opened and continued throughout with a full attendance of both agents and extension specialists.

Hickory.—Senator Dorman Thompson, of Statesville, will deliver the address before the four literary societies at Lenoir college on Monday, June 2, President Fritz announced.

Charlotte.—E. N. Hart was convicted of reckless driving, transporting whiskey and keeping whiskey for sale by Recorder Jones. He was sentenced to eight months on the county roads on the latter charge and entered an appeal. He was recommitted to jail upon default of a $1,000 bond.

Raleigh.—While driving into town, just outside of the city limits Mr. E. L. Peacock crashed into a buggy owned by Mr. D. R. Jackson, Raleigh attorney, demolishing the vehicle, breaking the horse's leg, and slightly injuring the young couple that had been riding in the slower conveyance.

Wilmington.—The spring term of federal court in this district will be able to convene in the handsome new quarters in the custom house, which is not yet quite finished, though the court room is ready for occupancy.

Lenoir.—Unofficial returns show a majority of over 600 votes in favor of issuing $250,000 to build township roads in Caldwell county.

Salisbury.—Ten divorce cases are set for trial here when the civil docket of Rowan superior court is taken up.

Wilmington.—Heavy rains in the strawberry belt have damaged the crop so that the berries are too soft for shipment to advantage. They are being picked up by manufacturers of fruit juices at $2 and $3 the crate of 32 quarts. The best stock, however, is bringing $5 or better. Many cars of berries and of lettuce are going from this section.

Washington.—Two Western North Carolina soldiers have been awarded the distinguished service cross, Sergeant William Herron of West Asheville, Buncombe county, and Sergeant Julius Jesse Brison of Webster, Jackson county.

Greensboro.—Wilson will entertain the next state Baraca-Philathia convention, it was decided at the 1912 annual session of these organizations which came to a close here.

Newton.—The executive committee of the district Luther league of North Carolina met at Statesville April 27 in response to the call of the chairman, M. E. Troutman. The date of the semi-annual convention to be held at St. John's Lutheran church was fixed as of June 4, 5 and 6.

Hickory.—The Hickory Overall company will begin the erection next month of a two story brick building, modern in every particular, to take care of the plant.

Raleigh.—With two of the three property revaluation conferences by district and county supervisors and assessors already held at Goldsboro and Charlotte, Commissioner George Fell said that he and the other commissioners believe the organizations as perfected are in shape now for thorough work.

Concord.—Commencement at Mont Amoenia seminary, at Mt. Pleasant, will begin May 24 and continue through Wednesday, May 28.

Asheville.—Much interest is being taken by local Shriners in the preparation for the coming of the summer ceremonial of the state Shriners to be held in Hendersonville on July 4. The Hendersonville Shriners are planning big times for the visiting Masons and it is thought that the coming ceremonial will be one of the best ever held in the state.

FARM POULTRY

QUALITY AND UTILITY FOWLS

Breeders Encouraged to Develop Flocks Along Breeding Lines for Good Production.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A hen, in order to be classed as a genuinely good one, should be equally capable of going in the show ring and taking a ribbon or of going on the yard and making a record as a layer. And the breeder, in order to get the advantage of the best and broadest markets, must breed for a combination of utility and standard quality instead of following the tendency to become either a fancier or a utility breeder. That is the advice of Rob B. Slocum, a poultry specialist of the United States department of agriculture, and it is based largely on results obtained on the poultry farm of the department at Beltsville, Md., where many of the exhibition males used have 200-egg production in their pedigrees.

"Except in a few more or less isolated cases," says Mr. Slocum, "there is nothing in the standard requirements directly opposed to utility, and the buyers during the past few years have shown an increasingly insistent demand for fowls that have egg-producing ability back of them."

Fanciers, Mr. Slocum points out, are too prone to put the appearance of the fowl above everything else, and thus to neglect the egg-laying quality, while, on the other hand, unsuccessful fanciers are likely to turn completely to the egg-production side of breeding without any attention to "points."

Quality and Utility Are Combined in This White Plymouth Rock Hen of the Flock on the Government Farm at Beltsville, Md.—Though of a Family of Show Birds, She Has Made a Good Record as a Layer.

Either of these attitudes, he says, is an obstruction to the best development of poultry raising in the United States.

"The department of agriculture," he continues, "encourages poultry breeders to develop flocks along breeding lines to secure a combination of good production, vigor, and uniform type. That goal is readily attainable through careful selection of breeding stock, and those who follow the policy suggested may confidently expect the most attractive markets."

GRIT IS POULTRY ESSENTIAL

Material Takes Place of Teeth in Preparing Food for Digestion—Part of Feed.

Grit is essential to the health of the fowls and to economy in feeding. Grit takes the place of teeth in preparing the feed for further digestion, and is required for the proper preparation of feed in the gizzard. When the feed is not properly taken care of in this organ, an undue strain is thrown on the fowl's system, often resulting in disease, and also allowing much of the nutriment to pass through the bird's body without being absorbed. In every pen or yard a box of grit should be kept. Investigators have asserted that grit is a part of the necessary feed, giving the fowls strong bones and a bright plumage.

TO CURE EGG-EATING HABIT

If Fowls Have Ample Supply of Oyster Shell and Are Kept Busy Habit Won't Develop.

Egg eating is a product of idleness. If the fowls have plenty of oyster shell and are kept busy, this habit will not develop. Where it appears, fill an empty eggshell with a stiff paste formed by a mixture of three parts of corn meal and one part of cayenne pepper and place it in one of the nests. If this is attended to promptly the egg eating will stop at once. If the habit becomes well developed it may be necessary to repeat the dose several times, but in connection with plenty of exercise for the fowls and darkened nests, it never fails to effect a cure.

POULTRY NOTES

Do not pack eggs that are cracked, for they will probably become broken before they reach the market and soil a number of other eggs.

If the henhouse is cold cover it with line it with two or three thicknesses of tar paper. This will keep out the wind and the cold and is not expensive.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Farmers' Feed & Grain Co., is now open for business in the Young building on the square Mocksville. In making this announcement we ask your attention just a few minutes. We expect to handle a complete line of food for the horse, cow, hog and fowls, flour and bread meal. A standard quality line of field and garden seed, incubators, brooders, coops, etc., also bee hives and supplies. We believe the public has for a long time seriously felt the necessity of such a store here. Now will you give us your business? We believe you will, and here is pledging to you our best efforts to supply you with quality goods at a very reasonable profit to us. We are indeed able to profit to us. We are indeed grateful for the many deeds and expressions of encouragement from so many substantial citizens of the county. We hope to live up to their expectations for our first aim is to give every one a fair square deal every time. We want your trade and will appreciate it and save you money too. We question the right to add an extra per cent profit to goods to take care of the loss on the fellow who doesn't pay at all so we say CASH to everyone. Are we right? A discount allowed to all ministers of the gospel. We have an office room which will be at your convenience for storing overcoat, lap robe, umbrella, lunch, articles purchased at other stores or in fact any article you wish taken care of while in town, or if the family is in town for the day and wish to spread lunch we have a table for that too. We want you to make our store headquarters and feel at home.

MISS BOOTH, IN RAGS, AIDED LONDON POOR

Salvation Army Commander, Disguised, Roamed Through Slums to Study Intimate Problems of East End Unfortunates.

Miss Evangeline Booth, daughter of the late General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, has given her life to the service of the poor and the unfortunate. Few persons, if any, know she went about in the East End of London disguised in rags that she might help the unfortunate. When her father stood erect amid a storm of abuse and even physical violence she stood beside him.

Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States.

She knows how the poor suffer because she has suffered with them. She knows there still remains in the wreck of a dissolute man a spark of manhood that will kindle a redeeming flame, because she has fanned many flickering sparks until her patient has regained his feet. She now heads the Salvation Army in the United States at the great moment of its career. The old time slurs and doubts have been banished. During the week of May 19-26 the Salvation Army will appeal to the people of the United States for thirteen million dollars to carry out its after-the-war program. Contribute to the Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign. Remember, to the Salvation Army "A Man May Be Down, but He's Never Out."

The Salvation Army returns from the trenches of France to take up its half century old battle in the trenches of poverty in the United States. Remember the Salvation Army Home Service Fund campaign for $13,000,000 May 19-26.

 * LLOYD GEORGE PRAISES "ARMY."
 * "Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, received the following letter from David Lloyd George:
 * "British Delegation, Paris, April 8, 1918.
 * "Dear Madam—I have very great pleasure in sending you this letter to say how highly I think of the great work which has been done by the Salvation Army amongst the Allied Armies in France and the other theaters of war. From all sides I hear the most glowing accounts of the way in which your people have added to the comfort and well fare of our soldiers. To me it has always been a great joy to think how much the sufferings and hardships endured by our troops in all parts of the world have been lessened by the self-sacrifice and devotion shown to them by that excellent organization the Salvation Army. Yours faithfully,

 * The Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign for $13,000,000 will be conducted during the week of May 19-26.

WILSON ENDORSES SALVATION ARMY.

President Wilson, burdened as he is, found time to cable his endorsement of the Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign, which will be conducted during the week of May 19-26. The cablegram:

Commander Miss E. Booth, Personal, Salvation Army, 120 West Fourteenth street, New York:

I am very much interested to know that the Salvation Army is about to enter into a campaign for a sustaining fund. I feel that the Salvation Army needs no commendation from me. The love and gratitude it has elicited from the troops is a sufficient evidence of the work it has done, and I feel that I should not so much commend it as to congratulate it. Cordially and sincerely yours,
 WOODROW WILSON.

"OUT OF LOVE" CLUB UNIQUE ORGANIZATION

Members Are Girls Rescued by Salvation Army.

The "Out of Love" Club is one of the important club organizations maintained by the Salvation Army in this country. In every large city where there is a Salvation Army corps girls who have been helped back into the normal pace of a workaday world are proud of the membership in this club. Disappointed, loveless girls who do not forget kindnesses shown them in their hour of greatest need give out of love to help other girls receive the same friendliness. In a simple, quiet way this unique idea has been maintained for over 20 years.

In every large city in the country there are girls who have needed the ministrations of the Salvation Army. After they have been helped and sent on their way again they become life members of this club if they so desire. Only girls are admitted who have given a good account of themselves for at least one month in the positions found for them by the Salvation Army after their release from a hospital or home. These girls pledge themselves to keep alive the spirit of friendliness and home which the Salvation Army has spread among them. The girls are expected to dress in a plain, simple way, and avoid in any sense of the word gaudy or tawdry clothing.

Gossiping or tale bearing is tabooed. If members of the club transgress this rule they are liable to suspension for a month or longer. The "Out of Love Club" is one of the many activities that will benefit by the success of the Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign for $13,000,000 May 19-26.

The amount of the fund has been determined exactly and logically by means of budgets prepared locally by workers of the Salvation Army in all parts of the United States.

Already headquarters for the campaign have been established in New York City. A ready response in encouragement and cheering wishes for success has been heard from all parts of the country. Men and women prominent in all walks of life have volunteered their services as active participants in the drive. The Army's 2,000,000 loyal rooters—the boys who went overseas in khaki—are all lined up ready to help. The Army not only helped them over there, but it found jobs for many of them after they had been mustered out of service, helped them get the civilian clothing that was necessary if they wanted to take those jobs, fed many of them, gave them shelter and furnished them with transportation to their homes.

For the war service of the Salvation Army is still under way. Its workers are still, many of them, in France, and its huts, clubhouses and hotels for the reception of the boys returning from abroad are in full swing here. Neither, the Salvation Army asserts, will its war work be abandoned until the last boy is out of the khaki of the army or the blue of the navy. The larger activities which necessitated the coming campaign will exist and be financed independently of the service of the fighters from abroad.

The Salvation Army's slogan is "A man may be down, but he's never out." The "Army" will ask for $13,000,000 during the week of May 19-26. Your contribution will help prove the truth of the slogan.

The success of the Salvation Army Home Service Fund campaign for $13,000,000—May 19-26—means less poverty and less crime in the United States.

COTTON CONVENTION HELD AT RALEIGH

Resolutions Adopted At This Convention Means Much For Cotton Farmers.

The South is confronted with a disaster unless the crop of 1919 be reduced and the balance of the crop of 1918 be protected and held until market conditions justify its sale. To enable all people in the South interested in cotton, and nearly all are, to adopt a direct and intelligent method of meeting the situation, this Convention earnestly recommends that the following plan be adopted:

(1) That the crop of 1919 be reduced at least 33 1-3 per cent in acreage, and that the fertilizer on the two-third area be not increased; but this does not apply to any farm of less than five acres to the horse. Provided, that in carrying out this recommendation the following schedule of reduction shall be observed:

Any man planting five acres or less to the horse to make no reduction; 6-7 acres, reduce one acre to the horse; 8-9 acres, reduce two acres to the horse; 10-11-12-13 acres, reduce three acres; 14, reduce four acres; 15-16, reduce five acres; 17-18, reduce six acres. Under no circumstances will any farmer plant more than 12 acres to the horse.

(2) That on all the cotton land left out and on the balance of the farm, ample supplies of food, feed and other crops be planted.

(3) We believe that the existing situation justifies the holding of every bale of cotton now in the hands of our Southern people, and we urge our farmers not to sell the balance of the present crop for less than thirty cents per pound, basis middling.

(4) That to carry out this purpose we call upon the bankers and business men of the State for their hearty co-operation.

(5) We recommend that every owner of cotton immediately put his cotton under shelter, or in a warehouse, and will not permit it to leave the warehouse until the owner shall so specify.

(6) We earnestly warn the farmer that if he buys high-priced fertilizer, and a large acreage of cotton is made, he must pay next fall with cheap cotton for the high-priced fertilizer and other supplies.

(7) We recommend to the farmer that he leave uncultivated in cotton every acre that he cannot reasonably expect to make enough cotton to yield a profit at reasonable prices. We do not believe that an acre that produces less than two-thirds of a bale will yield a profit to the grower, and every such acre should not be planted in cotton.

(8) For the purpose of securing the united co-operation of all financial interests, and to put this plan into effect, the merchants, bankers, landlords, fertilizer dealers and other business men are asked to extend credit and to finance farming on the basis of a safe program, including full production of food and feed, rather than the production of cotton alone.

(9) It is recognized that the world need for cotton when conditions become anything approaching normal will, without doubt, be exceedingly great, and it is therefore important that those who can hold their cotton against that time, and that in the meantime the situation be held in hand by control of future production.

(10) We recommend that the present Congress of the United States enact the Smith bill covering the character of cotton deliverable upon cotton exchanges.

(11) We recommend that the legislature pass an adequate warehouse bill for the State of North Carolina.

(12) We recommend that the tax-basing day for individual taxpayers be made June 1st.

(13) We recommend that a committee of seven persons representing the farming and business interests of the State be named by the governor to inaugurate a State-wide campaign to effect the purposes set forth, such committee to meet immediately, and to have full authority to devise ways and means to carry out the provisions of these recommendations.

This committee is authorized to raise money, employ clerical assistance, and to put on an intensive campaign and to do any and all things necessary to effect the purposes of this meeting.

(14) This organization shall be known as The North Carolina Cotton Association, and every person present is asked to enroll as a member before leaving.

The following committee was appointed by the governor: C. D. Orrell, Moncure, chairman; W. G. Clark, Tarboro; S. H. Hobbs, Clinton; E. B. Crow, Raleigh; J. Z. Green, Marshville; G. N. Newsome, Goldsboro; O. L. Clark, Clarkton.

The committee decided that the assessment on farmers should be twenty cents per bale for all cotton on hand and ten cents per acre for cotton planted in 1919, which would entitle him to membership in the North Carolina Cotton Association. Fifty per cent of the funds raised are to be forwarded by the local treasurer to the central organization: Dr. B. W. Kilgore, Treasurer, Raleigh, N. C. These funds are being used for printing and advertising in this State.

LAST THOUGHTS OF ROOSEVELT

Desired Republicans to Close Ranks and Give Attention to Domestic Issues.

TANGIBLE EVIDENCE OF WISH.

Colonel Harvey in North American Review Presents Facsimile of Pencil Memorandum Left by Roosevelt.

Theodore Roosevelt's last thoughts were of the great domestic issues of his country, issues whose determination will decide the weal or woe of the next generation. He saw in a united Republican party, just given a vote of confidence and a commission to formulate and carry into action policies of reconstruction, the guarantee of the prompt recognition and successful handling of these domestic problems.

Tangible evidence of this is a memorandum, the last penciled thoughts of the late President. To Colonel George Harvey and the North American Review.

Facsimile of Last Memorandum of Colonel Roosevelt, Pencil a Few Hours Before He Died.

view the country and the Republican party are indebted for the publication of this interesting document which carries a message from him "who, being dead, yet speaketh." In the leading article of the current number of the North American Review Colonel Harvey sets forth the vital import of this last penciled notation of Mr. Roosevelt. He says:

"Mr. Roosevelt died the acknowledged leader of the great party into which he was born. His last written words, penciled by his own hand a few hours before his death and addressed in the form of a memorandum for the brilliant young man for whose selection as Chairman of the National organization he was largely responsible, were these, as reproduced above in facsimile:

"Hangs see him; he must go to Washington for 10 days; see Senate and House; prevent split on domestic policies."

"Here is evidenced as clearly as if the few words filled a volume Mr. Roosevelt's realization of both his responsibility and his obligation. The simple memorandum marked the inauguration of a definite party policy, to be carried through to a no less definite conclusion. It was more than a passing thought or a mere suggestion. It was a Message, signifying the need of immediate and unrelenting vigilance in achieving complete unity of action in resolving domestic problems before attacking those of wider range soon to be thrust upon the country—a true soldier's call first to close the ranks.

"Nothing could be more characteristic or more clearly illustrative of the breadth of vision, the foresight, the directness in method and the painstaking attention of the man. Nothing, too, probably could have served his purpose better than that these words should have been his last. Difficult as it is to reconcile oneself to the removal of that great patriot at this crucial moment was not, unaimed, we cannot but realize, as he would have been the first to acknowledge, that the last vestige of animosities which might have continued to impair his highest aspirations was buried with him, and thereby the perfect union which he so ardently desired against all things un-American was attained.

"Thus we find the Republican party resuming full legislative authority thoroughly united and invigorated by the peculiar confidence which so often carried it to victory in former years."

ROOSEVELT'S DEPARTING WORDS TO HIS COUNTRYMEN

Col. Roosevelt died about 4 o'clock on the morning of January 6. The previous evening at a great patriotic rally in the New York Hippodrome a message was read from him, written especially for the occasion. In it was this striking sentence:

"We have room for but one flag, the American flag, and this excludes the red flag, which symbolizes all wars against liberty and civilization just as much as it excludes any foreign flag of a nation to which we are hostile. . . . and we have room for but one loyalty, and that is loyalty to the American people."

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? People around here recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

F. H. Wollschlaeger, 690 Highland Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C., says: "I was in a bad way with my kidneys. Most of my trouble was lumbago and without the least warning I would get an awful pain in my kidneys. I would fall flat on the floor, and would be in a semi-conscious state. I had to be given a dose of morphine to relieve the pains. My back ached like a tooth-ache night and day. I was laid up in bed for weeks. At a time, unable to take a full breath without getting a stitch in my back that felt like a knife-thrust. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, so I got a box and after taking it, I was wonderfully relieved. I haven't had any trouble with my back or kidneys since."

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and Iron to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, this would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

Hulls Corn Quickly

Red Devil Lye removes the outer skin or hulls from corn quickly and easily, leaving the corn pure and free. Saves you time and trouble.

To use this wonderful lye for making delicious Lye Hominy—

1. Dissolve 2 tablespoons Red Devil Lye in 6 quarts of soft water or 5 of hard water. When almost boiling add 2 quarts of shelled field corn, and stir with large spoon or ladle till hulls slip. Then pour off lye water, refill kettle with fresh water and boil again. Continue stirring and changing water until water remains perfectly clear, then boil six hours. To remove the hulls quickly, put the corn in a clean, the duster of which works up and down. (If you like, add 2 pounds of fresh pork during the last two hours of cooking.)

Who Makes The Rich Richer And The Poor Poorer?

For many years the Democratic politicians cried out that the policies of the Republican party made "the rich richer and the poor poorer." The Republican party was accused of being "the party of plutocracy." This claim was made not only by the common or garden variety of demagogue, but by the Democratic hot house exotics like Mr. Wilson, who wrote a few years ago that the government was in the hands of a few rich men, manufacturers and special interests.

It is always of interest, as a study in contrasts, to compare Democratic pledges and Democratic performances, Democratic claims and Democratic fulfillments.

Recently published statistics compiled by the income tax bureau show that twice as many millionaires have been created in the United States since Mr. Wilson was inaugurated and turned on "the new freedom," than were developed in more than a half century of almost uninterrupted Republican control of the government, plus the three quarters of a century period in national history preceding.

Think of it! In that half century of Republican control almost the entire railroad mileage of the country, as it stands today, was built. All of our telegraph and telephone lines were constructed. The vast industrial enterprises of this country were created. A continental domain was brought from the status of a wilderness to that of a fruitful garden. The mines of the country were opened, the oil bearing area was explored, the resources of the country, almost untouched, comparatively speaking, in 1860, were developed that the United States had become, on the day of President Wilson's inauguration, incomparably the richest in the world.

In the decade 1900-1910 the growth in the wealth of the United States was greater than the total wealth of either Germany or the United Kingdom, accumulated in twenty centuries of civilized settlement. This was under Republican laws and policies, Republican legislation and administration. And the only significance all this possessed to Democrats was that in addition to this tremendous growth in national wealth, a comparatively few men accumulated large fortunes. There was no denial that the wealth of this republic was far more widely diffused than that of any other nation in history.

Think of it! Double the number of millionaires created under six years of Democratic government than under a half century of rule by the once loudly bedamned "party of plutocracy!" Yet during that six years there has been practically no expansion of the total investment in productive industry. Scarcely a mile of railroad has been built, scarcely a mile of telegraph and telephone wires has been strung, few new industrial enterprises have been started, little new mining or agricultural area has been developed. In other words in six years of speculative activity under Democratic national management more great fortunes have been heaped up than during the preceding half century of productive development without parallel in history.

Most of the fortunes developed during the Republican period were incident to productive activities which added greatly to the national wealth, added to the sum total of employment, to the comfort and pleasure of the people. But twice as many great fortunes have been created in six years during which there has been practically no new development in national productive capacity.

In other words what the Democratic crusaders against the rich really hated was not wealth, but only productive wealth. They have, apparently, no quarrel with wealth accumulated by speculative and profiteering processes. What they hate is the man who establishes an industry and creates a payroll.

There is no logical conclusion to be reached other than that the sort of wealth-getting Democratic policies foster is that of mere speculation and inflation and profiteering, while that which Republican policies encourage is that of discovering and developing natural resources which provide employment and create a substantial, enduring prosperity.

Another lesson in this is that the man who goes before the people appealing to hatred of wealth is usually not to be trusted in public life. He is capable of destroying productive industry, but not of preventing exploitation by speculative processes, which are as active in a destructive as in a constructive period, and sometimes show the hectic flush of a diseased prosperity that is destined soon to wither and to die. The dreamers have envy and malice in their hearts toward the doers, but when the doers are done the dreamers leave the people lying prostrate under the pillars of the temple they have pulled down. The man who crusades against legitimate property rights thereby attacks one of the most fundamental of all personal rights, despite the effort to create a distinction. He is the "mopper up" and not the advance agent of prosperity. There are few more striking illustrations of this truth in history than the recent record of Democratic leadership as herein set forth.—National Republican.

He Would Like To Know.

G. W. Todd, of Galax, Va., writes to inquire why they don't give Mr. Burleson a vacation, along with the rest of the cabinet. He declares that the postal patrons would be willing to pay the bill for a trip to Paris, or Patagonia, Timbuctoo. He also expresses surprise that soldiers who returned from France a month ago are still traveling from camp to camp, and thinks that the boys ought to be allowed to come home as quickly as possible, especially those who are depended on to work the farms this year.—Ex.

Americans First.

From Harvey's Weekly.

When Chancellor Day last week offered a resolution to the New York Methodist Episcopal conference lamenting that the attention of the world is being turned to prevention of other wars, while peace adjustment waits, "with the common foe becoming more arrogant and the problems of the nations which united for freedom becoming more complexed by the delay," one of the members protested that it was a covert attack upon the President. Whereupon the sturdy American Chancellor raised up his voice and said:

I very studiously kept the name of President Wilson out of the report. But if the brother who has spoken infers there is criticism of him between the lines I will not apologize.

I am at liberty to criticize the President or any other official of the government, and if that day should come when that is not possible, then we would be drifting to a condition far worse than that which existed in autocratic Germany.

If you think there is criticism of President Wilson, between the lines, I will say to you that I had a right to write the line in. I do not agree with President Wilson. I believe he has usurped the power of other branches of the government and has overlooked some of the rights of the people.

"The report," said the newspapers, "was adopted by an overwhelming majority."

Blessed be the name of the Lord!

Do Your Best.

Everyone should do all he can to provide for his family and in order to do this he must keep his physical system in the best condition possible. About Rheumatism.

People are learning that it is only a waste of time and money to take medicine internally for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and about ninety-nine out of a hundred cases are one or the other of these varieties. The Gentle Thomas in a Rage.

When a mild mannered man gets his dander up he goes the whole way. Some of these mild mannered and inoffensive gentlemen, who have a great virtue of being perfectly harmless, have well defined and violent thoughts concealed in their systems, and when one of them gives expression to his, his auditors wonder dazedly if this is the cat that was such a kit a short while back.

Thomas Marshall wants to fight. The vice president makes no bones of his intense desire to scrap. He would like to a fizzle the Russian bolshevik. He observes that this is no time to temporize with them. All this backing and filling disgusts him. Are they not very bad people, seeking to infect others with their wickedness, loafers, bums, thieves, murderers, tramping on right and making a mock of democracy? The evidence is that they are all of these things, committing all standard crimes and, like the Hun, devising new ones. Mr. Marshall in a speech made known his desire to wipe up the floor with them. Being a vice-president offers some fine opportunities to make one's desires known.

Mr. Marshall is not regarded in the same class at all with his chief. He has one of those single track minds; he cannot plumb the pellucid depths of thought like the President or follow all the ramifications of a subject to their lairs. But for all that the vice president voices the thoughts of a vast number of plain Americans who like him want to know if a thing is right or wrong and having decided that it is wrong would fight, not compromise, feed it bullets, not bread. The peace commissioners know a whole lot more than Mr. Marshall about the wisdom of knocking down and dragging out the bolshevik; how easy it is to get into Russia and how hard to get out; how the snow and ice fight on Russia's side; they remember that an ambitious war lord by the name of Napoleon came to grief in those regions. But still all the Marshalls recoil from the suggestion that a truce be made with criminals.

The vice-president will be denied the right to fight. All proposals to send armies into Russia met with summary rejection at Paris. That expedition sent into the north of Russia has admittedly been a fluke. It will be brought out just as soon as the country thaws out. But the intentions of the vice-president are all right and no matter how well paved the roads are to Russia the sin is not on his head nor those who dislike the idea of temporizing with crime.—Greensboro News.

In the course of his remarks at the recent dinner of the Home Market Club at Boston, Senator Geo. H. Moses, of New Hampshire, quoted the following lines, written, he said, by a versifying friend of his:

"Jos Jimsonweed, a corporal from out in Yankakakee, Went forth to meet a German squad and chased them up a tree;

And as he did so, loud he cried, above the battle's roar, 'Hurrah for our dear President—and Peace Point Number Four!'

"Pat Murphy of the horse marines, a leather-neck of old, Met up one day with seven Huns and laid the muckers cold. He murmured as he put an end to all their evil tricks, 'My only motive is my love for Peace Point Number Six.'

But never mind, I've done my bit for Peace Point Number Eight. 'Oh, many a time in blood-stained France the standers-by could hear

On Friday evening class day exercises were held and the annual address was delivered by Rev. Lawson Campbell, pastor of the Christian church, at Winston-Salem. His address was plain and to the point, and the advice he gave the young ladies and young men was very good. The graduating class this year consisted of Misses Julia Hunt, Elizabeth Naylor and Mr. William Denny Stockton. The class history was read by Miss Hunt, the class prophecy by Miss Naylor, and the last will and testament by Mr. Stockton. The diplomas were presented by Superintendent Long. For Democrats Only.

The State Tax Commission has evidently decided that the Republicans of North Carolina are to have no voice in the valuation of their property for taxation, so all they are expected to do is walk right up and pay your taxes without grumbling, and pay the amount as assessed by Democratic Supervisors, notwithstanding the fact that the Republicans comprise 42 per cent of the population of the State.

In one hundred counties in North Carolina one hundred Democrats have been appointed Supervisors for the purpose of supervising the valuation of your property, both real and personal, for taxation. Is this democracy? Is this the way our soldiers are to be served the democracy they fought for? It's all right to fight for democracy and its all right to pay taxes for democracy, but the cream must always go to democracy's Democrats.—Yadkin Ripple.

LOST AIR MEN ARE PICKED UP AT SEA

HAWKER AND GRIEVE RESCUED BY LITTLE DANISH STEAMER HAVING NO WIRELESS.

800 MILES OFF IRISH COAST

Aviators Are Taken Off the Steamer by Destroyer and Transferred to Flagship Revenge.

London.—Missing for six days and virtually given up for lost, Harry G. Hawker and his navigator, Lieutenant Commander Mackenzie Grieve, British airmen who essayed a flight across the Atlantic ocean, without protection against disaster save what their frail airplane afforded, are safe aboard a British warship off the Orkneys. They will reach the mainland and proceed to London, where they will be acclaimed as men returned to life.

Some 1,100 miles out from New Foundland and 800 from the Irish coast, the aviators, making the best of an engine which was failing to function properly, were forced to alight on the water. The little Danish steamer Mary, bound from New Orleans and Norfolk for Aarhus, Denmark, picked the wayfarers up.

Lacking a wireless outfit, the captain of the steamer was obliged to withhold the good tidings of the rescue until he was opposite Butt of Lewis, where the information was signalled by means of flags, that Hawker and Grieve were aboard his ship.

Immediately word was flashed to the British admiralty, which sent out destroyers to overtake the Danish vessel and obtain confirmation. This was done and one of the destroyers took the airman off, and later transferred them to the flagship Revenge.

"My machine stopped owing to the water filter in the feed pipe from the radio to the water pump blocked with refuse, such as solder and the like shaking loose in the radiator.

"It was no fault of the Rolls Royce motor, which ran absolutely perfectly from start to finish, even when all the water had boiled away.

WITH ONE CONCESSION HUN PROPOSALS ARE REJECTED

Paris.—With the exception of one minor concession, all suggestions and counter proposals by Germany for the disposition of the Saar basin have been rejected by the reply of the allied and associated powers.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's appeal for an oral disposition of the points at issue on this subject was ignored.

The concession agreed to is that Germany might create a prior charge upon her assets or revenues for the payment of the mines in the Saar region, if the plebiscite goes against France.

MODEL TOWN OF TRUXTON BUILT FOR NEGROES ONLY

Portsmouth, Va.—A model town, constructed by the government, exclusively for negroes, was formally opened with appropriate ceremonies, and Truxton, Va., as the new town is known, took its place on the map as a suburb of this city. Built primarily as a war measure to aid the great Hampton Roads naval base, the 224 buildings in the little town will not be sold immediately by the government but will be rented from $15 to $18 monthly.

The town is one of the 24 housing projects the United States Housing Corporation is rapidly completing throughout the country for the government, representing a returnable value of more than $25,000,000 and consisting of 6,000 houses and 64 apartments.

LODGE PACKS COMMITTEE AGAINST PEACE LEAGUE

Washington.—Senator Lodge has packed the foreign relations committee against the league of nations. If his program is put through, the United States will continue on a war basis with Germany after Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy are at peace. This will hurt business the country over. It is believed, however, that it will not take the people long to tell Mr. Lodge and his associates where to put in.

SENATE DISCUSSES TREATY AND LEAGUE

RESOLUTION CALLS ON STATE DEPARTMENT TO FURNISH COMPLETE TEXT.

ACRIMONIOUS DISCUSSION ON

In Course of Debate a Bitter Attack Was Made by Sherman of Illinois on President Wilson's Course.

Washington.—The peace treaty with its league of nations covenant was debated for three hours in the senate, and at adjournment the resolution which furnished the vehicle for the discussion went over as unfinished business.

The resolution merely calls on the state department to furnish the senate with the complete text of the treaty, but as the debate progressed discussion shifted to the merits of the league and treaty themselves. A dozen senators, including the leaders on both sides, were drawn into the discussion and sharp exchanges pressed the bitterness of the fight that is to come when the treaty actually comes up for ratification.

Senator Johnson of California, author of the resolution, started the debate with a short speech charging that the treaty supporters had "something to conceal."

This assertion drew an indignant reply from Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, ranking Democrat of the foreign relations committee, who declared the President was following well established precedent in keeping the treaty text in confidence, and that for the senate to request him to do otherwise would be "a gross breach of international proprieties."

In the course of the debate a bitter attack on the league covenant and on President Wilson's course in the peace conference was made by Senator Sherman of Illinois, who earlier in the day had presented a resolution declaring it the sense of the senate that the treaty and the covenant should be considered separately.

NO INTERRUPTION TO SALE AND MANUFACTURE OF BEER

New York.—Uninterrupted production of "war beer" until the courts have passed upon the claim of the United States Brewers Association that the beverage, containing 2 3/4 per cent alcohol, is non-intoxicating, was assured when Federal Judge Mayer granted an injunction restraining government interference.

The court declared that his decision had been influenced by President Wilson's message to Congress recommending repeal of the war-time prohibition act in so far as it relates to beer and wine, and by Federal Judge A. N. Hand's ruling last week, that the law placed a ban on the manufacture only of liquors that were, in fact, intoxicating.

Although United States District Attorney Gaffey, representing the government, opposed granting an injunction, Judge Mayer said he believed such action would contribute to a fair settlement of the questions raised by the brewers under the emergency prohibition act. The injunction, a temporary one, would be effective, the court said, pending review of his decision by the circuit court of appeals or, if the government should decide to let it stand, until the brewers' suit permanently to enjoin prosecutions for manufacture of the 2 3/4 per cent beer could be tried in the district court.

NAVY BOARD TO DECIDE ON CAPITAL SHIP TYPE

Washington.—The navy general board took up the task of formulating specific recommendations as to types of capital ships congress will be asked to authorize. Secretary Daniels and his three chief technical advisers, Rear Admirals Griffin, Taylor and Earle, were present at the board meeting to tell what they had learned while in Europe as to the direction naval development was taking abroad.

THREE INDICTMENTS LIE IN V. P. I. HAZING CASE

Christiansburg, Va.—Three members of the sophomore class at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and one former student were indicted on charges of malicious assault by a grand jury empaneled at a special session of the Montgomery county circuit court. Judge W. W. Moffett presiding, called for the purpose of investigating the facts in connection with the alleged hazing of John Fox, of Roanoke, a freshman, on May 15 and 16.

NORTHEARN METHODISTS PASS $70,000,000 MARK

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The centenary drive of the Northern branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church has passed the $70,000,000 mark, according to information given out by the Southern campaign headquarters located here. The total sought over the entire country is $105,000,000, which will be used for the extension of the denomination's home and foreign missionary work.

SOLDIER'S BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

PARTISAN CLASHES BETWEEN MEMBERS BROUGHT OUT IN BRIEF DISCUSSION

A SPEED RECORD IS MADE

Measure as Reported by Appropriations Committee Authorized Allowance of $45,044,500.

Washington.—Passage by the house of a deficiency bill providing urgent appropriations of $45,044,000 for war risk allowances to soldiers' and sailors' families and civil war pensioners made another speed record for the new house, which adopted the woman suffrage resolution. The first sharp partisan clashes of the session between Republicans and Democrats occurred during discussion of the deficiency bill.

The measure, hastily reported by the appropriations committee, authorizes appropriations of $9,615,000 for allowances due May 1 and June 1 to about 700,000 families of soldiers' and sailors, $3,000,000 for delayed civil war pensions and $2,429,500 for administration of the war risk insurance bureau. It was passed without a dissenting vote after considerable partisan discussion, Republicans and Democrats making counter charges of responsibility for delay in payment of the family allowances.

During the partisan skirmishing Representative Mann charged that President Wilson was responsible entirely for delay in the appropriations and the hardships of soldiers' families due to failure to receive their May 1 checks. He added that the president had neglected or refused to call congress sooner because of fear that the league of nations would be discussed. Democrats sharply retorted that the senate Republicans' filibuster, which held up the war risk funds, and not the president, was responsible. The speakers were applauded according to their partisan affiliation as the political points were made.

In explaining the object of the bill Representative Good stated, in reply to questions, that so far as he knew the resignation of former Director Lindsay of the war risk insurance bureau was not responsible for the deficiency in the bureau's funds.

EXPERTS APPEAR BEFORE INTERSTATE COMMISSION

Raleigh.—The hearing for special representatives of the interstate commerce commission in the suits of the North Carolina corporation commission and the associated North Carolina shipping points, in which relief is sought from alleged discriminatory freight rates for these North Carolina points, in comparison with more favorable rates from Virginia cities began with indications, that two or three days will be required to complete the investigation here.

MRS. HAWKER AND DAUGHTER RECEIVE DAILY MAIL'S $50,000

London.—Lord Northcliffe authorized the Daily Mail to pay Mrs. Hawker $50,000 for the benefit of herself and her baby daughter, and to Commander Grieve's next of kin, in the proportion which the airman and his navigator had agreed to share the prize money between them. The Daily Mail flight conditions and the old prize money are still open to world competitors.

KILLED TWENTY-GERMANS AND TOOK 132 PRISONERS

New York.—Sergeant Alvin C. York of the 38th infantry, who, at the head of a detachment of seven men, killed 20 Germans, took 132 prisoners, including a major and three lieutenants, and put 36 machine guns out of operation, arrived here on the transport Ohioan wearing the congressional medal of honor and the French croix de guerre. Sergeant York's home is in Pall Mall, Tenn.

GERMAN REPLY TO PEACE TERMS IN FIVE SECTIONS

Berlin.—The German reply to the allied peace terms will be in five sections dealing with political and territorial issues, the league of nations and financial and economic questions. The notes already transmitted to the allied and associated powers, the Germans believe, will afford a basis for negotiations on some of these questions and also may serve as suggesting a way over obstacles in the way of negotiations on the peace treaty.

CITIZENS OF MANNHEIM BECOME PANIC STRICKEN

Mannheim.—Alarmed by the belief that Germany will not sign the peace treaty and that the allies will occupy Mannheim, citizens became panic stricken and stormed the Municipal Savings Bank. Many persons have fled from Mannheim. Large crowds later gathered.

An official expression of regret has been issued in Berlin that the people of Mannheim "appear to have lost their heads."

BRYAN DEPRECATES WILSON'S ATTITUDE

WAR TIME PROHIBITION IF REPEALED WOULD BE CLEAN VICTORY FOR WHISKEY.

WILL NOT ADOPT SUGGESTIONS

Of Thirty-two Dry States None Have Made Any Distinction in Favor of Beer and Light Wines.

Asheville.—William Jennings Bryan believes that the repeal of war-time prohibition would be a victory for the whiskey business and would commit the Democratic party to championship of the saloon.

Mr. Bryan's statement follows: "I am very sorry that the President recommended repeal of the war-time prohibition law. His recommendation is not likely to secure the repeal, but it leaves the Democratic party in the position of championing the saloon after 45 states have ratified the amendment."

"More than three-fourths of the last senate voted for submission of the prohibition amendment, and it received more than two-thirds of the vote of the house. In both senate and house the percentage was about the same in both parties—more than two-thirds dry. The present Congress is said to have a larger majority in favor of prohibition than the last Congress. It is hardly conceivable that those who favor prohibition as a permanent constitutional policy will advocate or favor a six months' spree as a prelude to prohibition."

"The distinction which the President draws between wine and beer on one side and distilled liquors on the other has been rejected by the states and by the nation. We have 32 dry states and none of them has made any distinction in favor of beer and light wines. Congress refused to make any distinction in submitting the amendment."

GERMANY HAS BEEN GRANTED SEVEN DAYS MORE OF GRACE

Paris.—A period of seven days of grace has been extended to Germany by the representatives of the allied and associated governments in which the German peace plenipotentiaries may conclude their study of the peace treaty and formulate such replies to the various clauses as they desire. The extension of time was set forward to Thursday, May 29, at the request of the Germans.

Almost simultaneously with the request by the peace plenipotentiaries for more time comes from Berlin a statement of the German cabinet that Germany is unwilling to sign the peace treaty. The document is a reiteration, although in stronger words, of the views of the foremost statesmen in Germany that the sealing of the compact would spell the ruin of the former empire.

RAILWAY CLERKS BOOST SALARIES OF OFFICERS

Cincinnati.—Protests against what are claimed to be extravagant salaries were drowned with cries of "cheap," and "piker," as the national convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks spurred on and voted these salaries to national officers: Grand president, $10,000 a year; grand secretary-treasurer, $7,500; organizers, each $3,600, editor The Clerk, $3,600, and members of the board of directors' expenses. The salary of the grand president has been $3,500.

GREEK PRESENTS TO WILSON A MEMORANDUM

Paris.—M. Spyromilias, a deputy in the Greek chamber from northern Epirus, has presented to President Wilson a memorandum on the situation there. The memorandum, declaring the inhabitants have had to struggle continuously against the Turks and the Albanians, demands the union of the region with Greece.

PRESDENT CONDEMNED ALSO BY THE NORTHERN BAPTISTS

Denver, Colo.—Unanimous action condemning President Wilson for his recommendation to Congress for the repeal of war-time prohibition was taken by the Northern Baptist convention in session here.

REPUBLICANS ADOPT PLAN OF DEMOCRATISM IN CONTRIBUTIONS

Washington.—Chairman Hays, of the Republican national committee, announced no contribution of more than one thousand dollars would be received from any one for the financing of the coming Republican campaign and launched a plan of country-wide small individual subscriptions. The new plans marks the passing of great campaign contributions from corporations and individuals.

RETURN OF CHIEF GERMAN DELEGATE

INDICATIONS ARE THAT HUNS WILL CONTINUE EFFORTS TO COME INTO AGREEMENT

RESISTANCE IS IMPOSSIBLE

Hindenburg Says Military Leaders Consider It Necessary to Seal the Compact as Desired by Allies.

London.—Not alone has Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, chief German peace plenipotentiary, returned to Versailles from Spa, but he brought back with him Herr Landsberg and Herr Giesberts, two of the main members of the German delegation who had been in Berlin going over the situation with the authorities, and also a large retinue of naval, military and financial experts.

Thus, indications are that the Germans intend to continue their efforts to come into agreement with the allied and associated representatives on peace terms that will be satisfactory to the German government and people.

Meanwhile reports continue to emanate from Germany of dissatisfaction over the terms laid down for Germany to sign and a reiteration by President Ebert that the Germans will never affix their signatures to the treaty as it stands and that foreign countries will protest with Germany against "this peace enslavement."

On the other hand, Field Marshal von Hindenburg is reported to have told the members of the German cabinet, representatives of the political parties and other leaders at a meeting in Berlin that resistance was impossible and that the military leaders considered it necessary to seal the compact as desired by the allies.

WANNAMAKER THE BUSIEST MAN IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La.—One of the busiest men in New Orleans is J. Skottowe Wannamaker, of South Carolina, president of the American Cotton Association. Since the adjournment of the great convention, he has been arranging an army of details for putting the association in working shape. A south-wide speaking campaign has been arranged. Mr. Wannamaker says the emancipation proclamation for the South was issued when this great association was formed.

"We are free for the first time since sixty. The South will become the heart of this great nation. It will protect America from the inroads of any doctrine or blighting influence. America has been reborn in the South."

SENATOR LODGE IS AWFULLY WORRIED OVER FUTURE PEACE

Washington.—Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, in a statement, declared that the revised league of nations "is unacceptable," and predicted it would not be accepted by the majority of the senate without amendment.

Characterizing the new league covenant as included in the peace treaty as "distinctly worse than the old and more dangerous to the peace of the world and to American rights and interests," Senator Lodge declared that none of the suggestions from the senate or from Elihu Root, had been carried out.

"There is no desire to delay action beyond the time necessary to understand it, but we must have it before us in the official form. As to the league of nations, the American people must know just what they are to be asked to agree to. By that league they are invited to take the gravest step ever taken by the United States, and no organized clamor, no manufactured pressure of any kind will swerve the senate from its high duty of laying before the American people exactly what the league involves and what it means to the United States and to the future peace of the world."

MARSHAL FOCH IS PREPARED IF HUNS REFUSE TO SIGN

Paris.—Marshal Foch has laid before the council of four his plan for military operations that are to be put into effect in case the German plenipotentiaries decline to sign the peace treaty. After the conference between Marshal Foch and the council of four, President Wilson had a talk with General Pershing. It became known later that General Pershing's visit to London may be postponed.

THE GERMAN-AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT IS DEFIED

Vienna.—The German-Austrian government is being defied by an autonomous government which has been established in the province of Salzburg, western Austria. The members of the new government have issued a decree forbidding residents of Vienna from residing in Salzburg and announcing their opposition to the system of exchanging food from foreign countries received in Vienna for agricultural products.

CHILLS, COLDS,
FEVERISHNESS

Black-Draught Is Used by Virginia Lady for Colds, Fever and Other Troubles With Fine Results.

Rocky Mount, Va.—Miss Mae Chittwood, of this place, recently stated: "I have used Black-Draught for colds and stomach trouble and certainly have found it very satisfactory."

When I would feel bad and feverish, as though I was taking a fresh cold, I would make a good cup of Black-Draught tea and it would soon set me all right.

I can recommend it as a splendid laxative and gladly so. You may publish my statement."

When you feel chilly, tired, feverish, headache and fear that you are taking cold, take a good dose of the old, reliable, liver medicine you have heard so much about—Theodore's Black-Draught. It is made from purely vegetable ingredients, acts in a gentle, natural way, and by helping to drive out poisonous waste matter from your system, it will often, if taken in time, prevent a chill from developing into a cold.

Thousands of people, during the past 70 years, have found Black-Draught of benefit in such cases.

Try it, the next time you chill or sneeze.—Adv.

Figures Never Lie.

In January, 1910, there were in the United States 62,683 single men insane and 20,047 married men insane—which shows that the crazy men stay single. At the same time there were 37,115 single women insane and 35,975 married women insane—which proves that in January, 1910, married life made more women crazy than it did men. And the more you study these figures the crazier it makes you.—Journal of American Medical Association.

"DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR

Stop dandruff and double beauty of your hair for few cents.

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications, the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. Your hair appears soft, glossy and twice as thick and abundant. Try it!

"I MARRIED THEM."

Paul Hewlett, loitering at night in Madison square, New York, is approached by an Eskimo dog. He follows the dog to a gambling house and meets the animal's mistress coming out with a large amount of money. She is beautiful and in distress, and he follows her. After protecting her from two assassins he takes her in charge, and puts her in his own rooms for the rest of the night. He returns a little later to find a murdered man in his room and Jacqueline dazed, with her memory gone. He decides to protect Jacqueline, gets rid of the body and prepares to take her to Quebec in a search for her home. Simon Leroux, searching for Jacqueline for some unfriendly purpose, finds them, but Hewlett evades him. Hewlett calls the girl his sister. In Quebec he learns that she is the daughter of a recluse in the wilds, Charles Duchaine.

I could not but connect him with our presence there. Beroux was due to arrive at any moment. I realized that great issues were at stake, that the man would never cease in his attempts to get hold of Jacqueline. Only when I had returned her to her father's house would I feel safe from him.

After dinner I had some conversation with one of the hotel clerks. I discovered that St. Boniface was little known, the only occupants of those parts being trappers and Indians. "You could hire dogs and a sleigh at St. Boniface for wherever your final destination is," he said, "because the dog mail has been suspended owing to the new government mail boats, and their sleighs are idle. I think Captain Dubois would take you on his boat as far as that point, and I believe he makes his next trip in a couple of days."

He gave me the captain's address, and I resolved to call on him early the following day and make arrangements.

I took Jacqueline for a stroll on the terrace, and while we walked I pondered over the problem. Jacqueline was very quiet, and I wondered what she remembered. I dreaded always awakening her memory, lest, with that of her home, came that other of the dead man.

Our rooms were on the side of the Chateau facing the town, and as we passed beneath the arch I saw two men standing no great distance away and watching us. It seemed to me.

One wore the cassock of a priest, and I could have sworn that he was Pere Antoine; the other resembled the suspicious stranger. As we drew near they moved behind a pillar. Thus, inexorably, the chase drew near.

My suspicions received confirmation a few minutes later, for we had hardly reached our rooms, and I was, in fact, standing at the door of Jacqueline's, bidding her good night when a bellboy came along the passage and announced that the gentleman whom I was expecting was coming up the stairs.

I said good night to Jacqueline and went into my room and waited. I had thought it would be the stranger but it was the priest.

I invited him to enter and he came in and stood with his fur cap on his head, looking directly at me.

"Well, monsieur, what is the purpose of this visit?" I asked.

"To tell you," he thundered, "that you must give up the unhappy woman who has accompanied you here."

"That is precisely what I intend to do," I answered.

"To me," he said. "Her husband—I felt my brain whirling. I knew now that I had always cherished a hope, despite the ring—a fool I had been!"

"I married them," continued Pere Antoine.

"Where is he?" I demanded.

He appeared disconcerted. I gathered from his stare that he had supposed I knew.

"This is a Catholic country," he went on more quietly. "There is no divorce; there can be none. Marriage is a sacrament. Sinning as she is—"

I placed my hand on his shoulder. "I will not hear any more," I said. "Go!"

"I pointed toward the door. "I am going to take her away with me," he said, and crossing the threshold into the corridor placed one hand on the door of Jacqueline's room.

I got there first. I thrust him violently aside—it was like pushing a monument—turned the key, which happily was still outside, and put it in my pocket.

"I am ready to deal with her husband," I said. "I am not ready to deal with you. Leave at once or I will have you arrested, priest or no priest. How do I know she has a husband? How do I know you are not in league with her persecutors? How do I know you are a priest at all?"

He seemed amazed at the violence of my manner.

"This is the first time my priesthood has been denied," he said quietly. "Well, I have offended your chance. I cannot use violence. If you refuse you will bring your own punishment upon your head, and legs on that of" the unhappy woman whom you have led into sin."

"Go!" I shouted, pointing down the passage.

He turned and went, his soutane sweeping against the door of Jacqueline's room as he went by.

I unlocked the door of Jacqueline's room. I saw her standing at the foot of the bed. Her face was white. As I entered she looked up piteously at me.

"Who—was—that?" she asked in a frightened whisper.

"An impudent fellow—that is all, Jacqueline."

"I thought I knew his voice," she answered slowly. "It made me—almost—remember. And I do not want to remember, Paul."

She put her arms about my neck and cried. I tried to comfort her, but it was a long time before I succeeded.

I locked her door on the outside and that night I slept with the key beneath my pillow.

CHAPTER VI.

At the Foot of the Cliff.

The next afternoon I went to Paul street and found M. Dubois at home. When I explained that I wanted to secure two passages to St. Boniface his brows contracted.

"Dieu! So you, too, are going to the Chateau Duchaine!" he exclaimed. "Is there not room for two more on the boat of Captain Duhamel?"

"Why do you suppose that I am going to the Chateau Duchaine?" I inquired angrily.

"He fared up too. 'Diable!' he burst out, 'Do you suppose all Quebec does not know what is in the wind? But since you are so ignorant, monsieur, I will enlighten you. Let us suppose that the affairs of M. Charles Duchaine have interested a gentleman of business and politics whom we will call M. Leroux—just for the sake of giving him a name, you understand."

"And this M. Leroux imagines that there is more than spruce timber to be found on the seigniorie. Bien, but consider further that this M. Leroux is a mole, as we call our politicians here. It would not suit him to appear openly in such an enterprise?"

"Let us say, then, that he arranges with a Captain Duhamel to convey his party to St. Boniface, to which point he will go secretly by another route, weight of the captain's overcoat of racoon fur."

"That is my overcoat voice," he explained, stroking the child's head. "My niece, monsieur. By the tone in which I call Madeleine knows whether it is my overcoat or my pipe or slippers that I want, or whether I am growing hungry."

I thought that the captain's hunger voice must shake the rafters of the old building.

"And now, monsieur," he continued seriously, when we had left the house, "I am going to tell you as much as I know concerning the plans of that scoundrel. In brief, it is known that a party of his friends has been quartered for some time at the chateau; they come and go, in fact, and now he is either taking more or the same ones back again, and God knows why he takes them to so desolate a region, unless, as the rumor is, he has discovered coal fields upon the seigniorie and holds M. Duchaine in his power. Well, monsieur, a party sails with Captain Duhamel on tonight's tide, which will carry me down the gulf also. Captain Duhamel's boat is herthed at the same pier as mine upon the opposite side."

"We start together, then, but I shall expect to gain several hours during the four days' journey, for I know the Claire well and she cannot keep pace with my Sainte-Vierge. You must bring your lady aboard the Sainte-Vierge by nine tonight."

"I shall telegraph to my friend Danton at St. Boniface to have a sleigh and dogs at your disposal when you arrive, and a tent, food and sleeping bags," continued Captain Dubois, "for it must be a hundred and fifty miles from St. Boniface to the Chateau Duchaine. And so, with half a day's start, you will have nothing to fear from Leroux—only remember that he has no scruples. Still I do not think he will catch you and Mlle. Jacqueline before you reach Chateau Duchaine," he ended, chuckling at his sagacity.

"Ah, well, monsieur, who else could your lady be?" he asked, smiling at my surprise. "I knew well that some day she must leave those wilds. Besides, did I not convey her here from St. Boniface on my return, less than a week ago, when she pleaded for security? I suspected something agitated her then. So it was to find a husband that she departed thus?"

So Jacqueline had left her home not more than a week before! And the captain had no suspicion that she was married then! Yet Pere Antoine claimed to have performed the ceremony.

To whom? And where was the man who should have stood in my place and shielded her against Leroux?

I made Dubois understand, not without difficulty, that we were still unmarried. His face fell when he realized that I was in earnest, but after a little he made the best of the situation, though it was evident that some of the glamour was scratched from the romance, in his opinion.

By now we had arrived at the wharf. Wedged in among the flocks lay the Claire and the Sainte-Vierge respectively. The latter vessel lay upon our right as we approached the end of the wharf.

There was a small cabin for Jacqueline and another for myself adjoining. I was very well satisfied and inquired the terms.

"Diable! If it were not for the children there should be no terms!" exclaimed the captain. "But it is hard, monsieur, with prices rising and the hungry mouths always open, like little birds."

He was overjoyed at the sight of the fifty dollars which I tendered him. "By the way," I said, "do you know a priest named Pere Antoine?"

"An old man? A strong old man? Why, assuredly, monsieur," answered the captain. "Everybody knows him. He has the parish of the Riviere d'Or district, and the largest in Quebec. A saint, monsieur! You will do well to make his acquaintance."

The captain parted from me on the wharf on his way to the telegraph office, repeating his instructions to the effect that we were to be aboard the boat by nine.

It had grown dark long before and looking at my watch, I was surprised to see that it was already past six o'clock. I had no time to lose in returning to the Chateau.

But though I could see it outlined upon the cliff I soon found myself lost among the maze of narrow streets in which I was wandering. A man was coming up the street behind me, and I turned to question him, but as I decreased my pace he diminished his also, and when I quickened mine he went faster as well. I began to have an uneasy sense that he might be following me, and accordingly hastened onward until I came to a road which seemed to lead up the hill toward the ramparts.

"Who—Was—that?"

and that he will join them there and—in short, monsieur, take yourself and your friend to the devil, for I won't give you passage. Go back to him—for I know he sent you to me—and tell him he cannot hire Alfred Dubois for all the money in Canada."

"I am glad to hear you say that," I answered, "because Leroux is no friend of mine. Now listen to me, Captain Dubois. It is true that I am going to the chateau, if I can get there, but I did not know that Leroux had made his arrangements already. In brief, he is in pursuit of me and I have urgent reasons for avoiding him. My companion is a lady—"

"Eh! he exclaimed, looking stupidly at me.

"And I am anxious to take her to the chateau, where we shall be safe from the man—"

"A lady!" exclaimed the captain. "A young one? Diable! Why didn't you tell me so at first, monsieur? I'll take you. I will do anything for an enemy of Leroux."

"But a lady! I do not know your business, monsieur, but I can guess, perhaps—"

"But you must not misunderstand me," I interposed. "She is not—"

"Diable! It's all right!" said the captain, slapping me upon the back. "No explanations! Not a word, I assure you. I am the most discreet of men. Madeleine!"

This last word was a deep-throated, bellow, and in response a little girl came rubbing in, staggering under the weight of the captain's overcoat of racoon fur.

"That is my overcoat voice," he explained, stroking the child's head. "My niece, monsieur. By the tone in which I call Madeleine knows whether it is my overcoat or my pipe or slippers that I want, or whether I am growing hungry."

I thought that the captain's hunger voice must shake the rafters of the old building.

FISH IN CHIMNEY; PURSE IS HOOKED

Detectives Outdo Ike Walton—Get a $50 Bite and Solve a Theft.

Chicago.—There could be no question about it. The men on top of the Ranier building were fishing. Yessir, they were fishing in the chimney.

"See how quiet and intent they are," said a spectator; "probably afraid to disturb the smoked salmon or whatever it is they are fishing for."

A closer view would show the spectator that the fishermen were none other than Detectives Finn and Lally and that they were using three pounds of fishing tackle.

"What are we fishing for?" Finn asked, repeating a question. "We're fishing for a pair of specs—and the soot has put many of them on our faces."

Tuesday afternoon the Logan Square lodge of the Eastern Star held a meeting in the Ranier building, and Mrs. Benjamin W. Scholton reported that her purse had been stolen. The janitor, Alex Raetz, was suspected.

"Why should I steal?" he asked. "My wife and I get $150 for doing the janitor work. We have no rent to pay, no fuel or light bills."

The detectives took his word for it. They went to the meeting room, and saw a trap door, through which one gained the roof. They asked the janitor if he had ever seen any boys on the roof. He had seen George Crotzman there.

The police arrested him. They found a "talcum powder camels" and $9.58 in his pockets, and after a time he admitted he had stolen the purse. He had thrown the pocketbook down the chimney.

"I had a pair of eyeglasses in that purse," said Mrs. Scholton, "and they cost me $50."

Which explains the fishing expedition. It took the detectives half an hour to hook the pocketbook. And the glasses hadn't been broken.

"Yep," says Lally, "we hooked a speckled purse."

KANSAS MAN LIVES ON CORN

It Was Ten Years Ago and the Court Pronounced Him Feeble-Minded.

Burlington, Kan.—Several weeks ago a complaint was filed in the probate court alleging that E. A. Whitley was feeble-minded and asking that a guardian be appointed. This was done. The guardian held a public sale to dispose of the personal property of the estate which consisted largely of several hundred bushels of corn which had been cribbed from eight to eleven years. It was fine grain when it was cribbed, but the rats and weevil had worked on it. It was sold at a big discount.

This corn had been Whitley's principal article of diet for a number of years; he lived alone and would grind the corn in an old coffee mill and make mush of it. He said there was no food with as much nourishment. He insisted that the "planets" predicted there would be no more crops for years. He wanted to keep this grain.

Steals Man's Home; Rebuilt While Away

One year ago Almon Eaton bought a house near Toledo, O., and figured if he bought keys for the doors it would be perfectly safe. Eaton went to his cottage a few days ago, after an absence of a year, only to discover nothing but an empty lot. Thieves had taken everything from the woodshed to the brick chimney.

The police state Eaton located his house rebuilt a mile from its original resting place.

Needed Tabulator.

Columbus.—Burglary here is so brisk the operatives evidently need a tabulator. They stole an adding machine from a local business office.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Calomel Users! Listen To Me! I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Your druggist gives back your money if it doesn't liven your liver and bowels and straighten you up without making you sick.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot salivate or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

Bitter or Better Baking

A letter makes a great difference in a word. A word makes a great difference in baking powders.

If the little word "alum" appears on the label it may mean bitter baking.

If the word ROYAL stands out bold and strong, it surely means BETTER baking.

This is only one reason why it pays to use

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY BRINGS SURE RELIEF

For 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has enabled suffering humanity to withstand attacks of kidney, liver, bladder and stomach troubles and all diseases connected with the urinary organs, and to build up and restore to health organs weakened by disease. These most important organs must be watched, because they filter and purify the blood; unless they do their work you are doomed.

Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pains in the joints and lower abdomen, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago all warn you of trouble with your kidneys. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are the remedy you need. Take three or four every day. The healing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and drives out the poisons. New life and health will surely follow. When your normal vigor has been restored continue treatment for a while to keep yourself in condition and prevent a return of the disease.

Don't wait until you are incapable of fighting. Start taking GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules today. Your druggist will cheerfully refund your money if you are not satisfied with results. But be sure to get the original imported GOLD MEDAL and accept no substitutes. In three sizes. Sealed packages. At all drug stores.

Choice bits of veal, creamery butter and fresh eggs combine with other tempting ingredients to give Libby's Veal Loaf its delicate, appetizing flavor. Order a package from your grocer today.

YES, THEY WERE IN THE WAR

Kaiser Might Have Remembered Being Introduced to Americans at Chateau-Thierry.

The first American to meet the Kaiser at Amerongen was Sergt. James McAdams, formerly marine recruiting officer in Cleveland.

Sergeant McAdams was attached last December to the American embassy in Paris as special courier to the American legations in Brussels and The Hague after serving at Chateau-Thierry.

"I had a little while to loaf while in The Hague," he said, "and since Amerongen is only two and a half hours' ride away, my chum and I decided to see the Kaiser's home. We met him in the count's park. He was strolling leisurely along in his alpenjager hunting suit. We saluted him and stripped."

"Are you Americans?" he asked, using perfect English.

"You bet we are," we replied.

"Were you in the war?" he questioned further.

"Didn't you meet us at Chateau-Thierry?" we grinned back.

CHANGED.

"Peck married because he thought his girl one in a thousand."

"Now she seems to him like a thousand in one."

Telling Too Much.

I have visiting me a childhood friend whom I had in a sense outgrown, but yet for whom I had a kindly feeling because of past relations. The first night after she had arrived she was, as usual, talkative, and the next morning my sister responded to my morning greeting with: "Whatever were you and Mabel talking about half the night? I am tired out, you kept me awake so long."

"You tired out?" I exclaimed. "Then how do you think I feel?"

Imagine my horror when, turning to leave the room, I saw my friend standing back of me, knowing that she must have heard all.—Exchange.

Innocent Victims.

"What's the matter with Capt. Blinko, the animal trainer? Hector, the Numidian man eater, is covering in one corner of his cage afraid to lift a paw and the royal Bengal tigers are trembling with fear."

"Captain Blinko had another little argument with Mrs. Blinko this morning. Whenever anything like that happens he cuffs his pets around to restore his self-respect."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

THOSE DEAR LADIES.

Miss A.—The idea of her saying that my hair was gray.

Maid—Simply ridiculous! As if you'd buy gray hair.

BANDIT PAROLED FOR THIRD TIME

Henry Starr, Oklahoma Highwayman, Is Freed From Prison.

WIFE GETS HIM OUT

Notorious Indian Desperado of South-West Gains Freedom Through Untiring Efforts of His Mate—Is Changed Man.

Tulsa, Okla.—Henry Starr, Oklahoma's notorious Indian bandit, has been released from the state penitentiary after serving four years of a 25-year sentence.

Twice before the prison doors have swung open before the term of the Cherokee highwayman was over, but each time he drifted back into old lanes.

Starr's parents were law-abiding members of the Cherokee nation, his father a half-blood and his mother quarter Indian. The boy attended Cherokee school until he was eleven. His father died and his mother married again when he was thirteen. Young Starr disagreed with his stepfather and left home. That was the start of his trouble.

Slew an Officer.

In 1902, the express office at Nowata was robbed. One of the robbers rode into a wire fence and was thrown. The horse was found with a saddle which Henry Starr had borrowed from a friend. A few weeks later Starr returned to Nowata. When Floyd Wilson, deputy marshal, attempted to arrest him, the young Cherokee shot and killed the officer.

He escaped, but was caught later and taken to Fort Smith, Ark., tried and sentenced to be hanged, but was given a new trial. After nearly two years he was sentenced to 13 years in the federal penitentiary at Columbus, O.

When Starr had served eight of the thirteen years of his sentence he was pardoned by President Roosevelt.

During the eight years' incarceration Starr devoted himself to reading, specializing particularly in law. He announced that he intended to settle down on his farm near here and try to obtain a degree as a lawyer. He married, and when a son was born he named him Roosevelt.

However, not long afterward, in 1909, Starr was arrested in Colorado and convicted of the Amityville bank robbery of a year before. Again he was imprisoned and again he became a model prisoner and eventually won a parole.

It was in the double bank robbery by the Starr gang at Stroud, Okla., in 1915, that the outlaw leader reappeared. A boy with a sawed-off shotgun shot him and he was captured. A 25-year sentence followed his plea of guilty.

Starr's recent parole was obtained through the efforts of his wife, who has supported herself by teaching school, and those of his son, a former United States marshal.

A quiet, straight-standing man of forty-five, Starr looks out on life with less fire than he did 15 years ago, his friends say, but with a philosophy that can only mean success.

TYPHUS SPREADS IN EAST

Menacing in Poland, Russia, Serbia and Macedonia, Red Cross Learns.

Cannes.—Grave reports relative to the progress of typhus fever in eastern Poland, Russia, Serbia and Macedonia were received at the Red Cross conference here from Red Cross agents in those countries. Experts on typhus who were present formed a committee to advise the organization as to means for combating the disease, forecasting a new organization within the Red Cross.

Reports from agents gave experts the impression that the situation was even more serious than was stated in messages received, but that proper measures would probably prevent the disease from spreading to Italy, France, England and America.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says: "I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARY BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Dr. H. A. Brown, of Winston-Salem, preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Owing to the inclement weather the congregation was very small. His sermon was the best we have heard in many years.

The Record has received an invitation from the faculty and graduating class of Oxford College to the sixty-ninth annual commencement June 4-6. Miss Janet Stewart of Mocksville graduates this year. Misses Clarice and Ruth Rodwell are also students of this school.

Remember the Davie County Baraca-Philathea Convention which is to be held in the Mocksville Baptist church on Saturday and Sunday, June 7-8. If your class hasn't elected delegates have them to do so at once, and send names to C. Frank Stroud, Mocksville, N. C., at once, so that homes may be procured for all visitors.

We have a full line of feedsuff. Call and see us. FARMERS' FEED & GRAIN CO.

J. Wade Hendricks, who is in France, writes home that he has been transferred from the Army of Occupation to the University of Agronomy, and will remain in France for some time. He is teaching three classes the mysteries of agriculture. His many friends in Davie will be glad to learn that he is getting along so well.

Miss Effie Booe, who has held a position in the Government Department at Washington for the past nine months, returned home last week. Miss Booe, spent a short while in New York Philadelphia and Baltimore, and stopped over in Richmond to spend a short time with her brother, Dr. Grady Booe, who is located there.

Mrs. Mary Ijames died Wednesday at the home of her daughter near Winston-Salem, aged about 72 years. The body was brought to Center and laid to rest Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Ijames spent most of her time with her son George Ijames in North Mocksville, but had recently found a complete still outfit near Smith Grove last week. She was a good woman and leaves several sons and one or more daughters besides a host of relatives.

Mack Spry and brother, of Cooleemee, were arrested in Concord and brought to Mocksville Friday and lodged in jail, on a charge of breaking into a pressing club in Cooleemee and stealing some clothing. They were given a preliminary hearing before Recorder J. D. Goins, and placed under a one and two thousand dollar bonds, which they failed to give. They will be tried at the August term of court.

W. E. Boyles, of Bixby, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, was in town last week to get a Ford car which the county has purchased for him to use in looking after the new road work that is just starting in Davie. Mr. Boyles tells us that we were in error in saying in our last issue that the County Commissioners appointed the county tax assessor. The appointment was made by Mr. Cobb, the district assessor.

Mr. Cecil Morris, of Mocksville, ran into Mrs. Joseph Firth with his auto Friday morning on West Fourth street. He was coming into town and Friday morning in a Dodge car, and had reached the place on West Fourth street where work is being done on the car track. The passage is narrow, and just at this point Mrs. Firth was getting into another automobile. Mr. Morris, in his car, did not see her in time to bring his car to a complete stop, and hit Mrs. Firth with his fender. It is not known as yet whether she is seriously injured. —Winston Sentinel, May 24.

Wild-Fire All Over The Cotton Belt.

Reports received at state headquarters, Raleigh, of the North Carolina Cotton Association during the past few days indicate that the movement inaugurated at the recent county conventions held in practically every county in the state last week to hold the unpaid balance of the present crop and to reduce the acreage for the coming crop by one-third as compared with 1918 is spreading like wild-fire in all parts of North Carolina. The bankers, merchants and farmers who attended these conventions last week let no grass grow under their feet upon their return to their homes. The New Orleans, Houston, Galveston, Dallas, Memphis, Montgomery, Atlanta, Little Rock, Charleston, Savannah and Birmingham newspapers have been publishing daily reports of county and state meetings held in these States to ratify and put into practical effect the work outlined by the general convention recently held in New Orleans. In fact, it would seem as if every Southern State and every county in the cotton belt were vying with one another to see which will make the best record in the matter of reducing the cotton acreage in 1919 and holding the cotton now on hand for remunerative prices.

Alarmed over this movement, which threatens to break the stranglehold which the spinning interests of the country, aided and abetted by the bear speculators in the New York market, have had on the cotton market for some weeks past, the Northern press is attempting to throw ridicule on the movement and to belittle it. A typical instance of this bear propaganda to offset the cotton acreage reduction movement is furnished by an article published in a recent issue of the Journal of Commerce. Some supposed correspondent from the South is quoted in that Journal, which has always been very friendly to the New England spinning interests, as saying:

"I take little stock in resolutions to decrease acreage, as such attempts at reduction are economic heresy. Too well do many of us remember the days of four and five cent cotton in the nineties. Conventions were held in Memphis and elsewhere to reduce acreage. Solemn oaths were signed, but always the result was the same, an increase of acreage, because each went home with the same determination to increase his own acreage as he believed his neighbor was going to decrease.

Such articles as these, full of misstatements of facts, are calculated to have just the opposite effect in the South from that intended by the authors. Much water, in an economic way, has passed under the mill since the early nineties. The cotton growers of the South have learned by sad experience that a small crop with good prices pays better than a large crop with low prices. If they had any doubt on this score Secretary Hester's annual reports, showing the total value of the various crops produced by the South, state the facts only too plainly. The Journal of Commerce statement to the contrary, no signed pledges were required by the cotton convention previously held in the South, and it was this very lack of signed pledges that foredoomed the acreage production movements of previous years to practical failure. There never was a year in which a convention of this sort was held that the acreage was not materially decreased, although the cut in acreage did not always come up to what the convention had planned. Lack of proper organizations by States and counties, the failure to get signed pledges to carry out the objects of the convention and the fact that no subsequent convention was held later in the season to receive reports as to the progress made by the different cotton-growing States in effecting a reduction in acreage were some of the reasons that the former conventions proved a failure in so far as accomplishment went. All these loopholes have been closed by the recent convention, and in addition, a resolution was adopted by the convention to brand any man in the cotton belt who refuses to co-operate as "so lacking in public spirit as to forfeit the confidence of the community in which he lives."

The "economic heresy" of reducing the cotton acreage, to which the Journal of Commerce refers, is a fine-sounding phrase, but cotton men say it will not deceive anybody in the South who stops to think. The New England and Southern mills, when they find a stock of goods accumulating and no buyers coming into the dry-goods market at once take steps to reduce their output. It is argued, therefore, that if it is a good thing for the mills to reduce their output of the manufactured goods, in order to stimulate demand, why should it not also be a good thing for the cotton growers in the South who produce the raw material? This is the point of view that the cotton interests of the South take.

THE PRESENT COT- TON SITUATION

A Suggested Program For Dealing With It.

(By B. W. Kilgore, Director, N. C. Exp. Station and Extension Service, Treasurer N. C. Cotton Association.)

The South, and North Carolina particularly, wrought wonderfully well during the war period. Large crops, except cotton, have been made, particularly food crops. The cotton crops of the country for the four years of the war—1915 to 1918—were 11,700,000 bales, 11,302,000, 11,450,000 and 11,192,000, or an average of 11,411,000 bales, against the four pre-war crops of 1911-14 of 16,135,000, 14,156,000, 15,703,000, 15,693,000, or an average of 14,222,000 bales, which is an average of 3,511,000 bales more annually prior to, than during the war period.

The acreage of last year was but 942,000 less than for 1914 when the bumper crop of 16,135,000 bales was produced. The low production for the past four years has been due mainly to bad seasonal conditions in Texas and Oklahoma. Good winter rains already have been had in these States, and with the same acreage as in 1918, near 36,000,000—and good seasons, a crop well high as large as our largest can and likely would be made, which is far beyond what there are any reasons to think the world will consume.

Big Crop, Low Price.
Our bumper cotton crop of 16,000,000 bales in 1914 brought $800,000,000 and our 11,500,000 bale crop of 1917 brought the South $1,600,000,000, or twice as much as the bumper crop. We know what this means—"big crop, low price." Cotton at present prices is at, if not below, the cost of production, and not an inconsiderable number of North Carolina farmers have cotton of two years on hand.

It would seem that the world needs and will consume at cost of production, plus a fair profit, the small crop of 1918, especially as this is one of four small crops in succession, the average for the four years being 11,411,000 bales, or 14,000,000 less for the four year war period than for the four year pre-war period.

To Make This Effective.
What can be done to make this effective?

1. A well-defined co-operative program on the part of the banker, merchant and the farmer for holding and selling should bring results.

2. Along with the movement to enable the farmer, the merchant and the banker, or whoever has cotton, to hold it till the right time to sell, must go a program to house the staple.

3. What is perhaps more important when measured in terms of its effect upon the future of our farming industry, is a plan for preventing the production of a cotton crop this year greater than the world will require. A reduction in acreage of from one-fifth to one-third has been suggested as the method of doing this. This would mean for North Carolina in round numbers, a million acres instead of a million and a half of cotton. This would leave a half million acres heretofore devoted to cotton available for food, feed and soil-improving crops.

Better Land for Cotton.
Cotton should likely, in most cases, be put on the better land, including some at least of the land planted to soil improving crops during the past year. It should be fertilized with the view of economy so as to meet the needs of the land thus used and the crop, and increasing the acreage production and reducing the cost so as to meet the almost certain lower price for cotton next fall.

4. Another matter of serious concern is the price of fertilizers. The prices of fertilizers are the highest we have ever known, and while the cotton grower cannot afford, if possible, to allow his acreage yields to decline, fertilizers must be used, as to quantity and kind, to best meet the needs of the soil and the crop.

Food and Feed Crops.
5. It will be easily agreed that all reduction in cotton should go into food and feed crops and pasture in an effort to make all the food and feed for the State on the farms of the State, so as to save transportation charges and intervening profits, to make easy the holding of cotton, tobacco, peanuts and other money crops, and to encourage and support our growing livestock industry—beef cattle, hogs, poultry, sheep and dairy cows for the family cow, our dairies and creameries and for our new cheese industry—these, together with our farm and townspeople and our animals, make a practically sure market at remunerative prices, for all the food and feed crops and roughage that can be grown.

6. Finally, we must have in mind as a whole people a readjustment of our wage and living scale. We should not want to go back to the old conditions as regards these. Cotton, peanuts, tobacco and other money crops, and general crops in the whole South have been produced with low-priced labor—much child labor, unpaid or underpaid. These crops have been sold to the world on a basis of this kind of labor and we have bought products from other parts of the country on basis of a higher labor and a higher living scale than our own, greatly to the detriment of our own standard of living as a section.

RED CROSS GIFTS $400,000,000

War Council on Retirement Announces Cash and Supplies Contributed.

WORKERS WILL "CARRY ON."

Five Big Societies in World Wide Plan.
H. P. Davison Heads International American Red Cross Commission.
Dr. Livingston Farrand Permanent Leader of Peace Organization.

Washington.—(Special.)—Henry P. Davison as chairman issues the following statement on behalf of the War Council of the American Red Cross:

"To the American People:

"The War Council of the American Red Cross appointed by President Wilson on May 10, 1917, to carry on the work of the American Red Cross during the war, at their request and by vote of the Central Committee, ceased at midnight, February 28.

"Immediately the armistice was signed the War Council instituted studies to determine when the strictly war work of the organization would have been sufficiently matured to enable the direction of affairs to be resumed by the permanent staff. Henry P. Davison, being in Paris when the armistice was signed, summoned a conference there of the heads of all the Red Cross Commissions in Europe to canvass the situation. After considering all the factors it was concluded to make the transition on March 1. The very fortunate choice of Dr. Livingston Farrand as the new chairman of the Central Committee, and thereby the permanent chief executive of the Red Cross, makes possible the consummation of this plan under the most favorable conditions.

Accounts Audited by War Department.

"Detailed reports to Congress and a complete audit of its accounts by the War Department will constitute the final record of Red Cross activity during the war. Although it has been the rule to make public all expenditures when authorized and to give detailed information relative to all work undertaken, the War Council in turning over its responsibilities to Dr. Farrand and his associates desire to give a brief resume of Red Cross war time activities to the American people, to whom the Red Cross belongs, and whose generous contributions have made possible all that has been accomplished.

"During the past nearly twenty-one months the American people have given in cash and supplies to the American Red Cross more than $400,000,000. No value can be placed upon the contributions of service which have been given without stint and oftentimes at great sacrifice by millions of our people.

"The effort of the American Red Cross in this war has constituted by far the largest voluntary gifts of money, of hand and heart, ever contributed purely for the relief of human suffering. Through the Red Cross the heart and spirit of the whole American people have been mobilized to take care of our own, to relieve the misery incident to the war, and also to reveal to the world the supreme ideals of our national life.

"Everyone who has had any part in this war effort of the Red Cross is entitled to congratulate himself. No thanks from anyone could be equal in value to the self satisfaction everyone should feel for the part taken. Fully 8,000,000 American women have exerted themselves in Red Cross service.

Has Over 17,000,000 Adult Members.

"When we entered the war the American Red Cross had about 500,000 members. Today, as the result of the recent Christmas membership Roll Call, there are upwards of 17,000,000 full paid members outside of the members of the Junior Red Cross, numbering perhaps 9,000,000 school children additional.

"The chief effort of the Red Cross during the war has been to care for our men in service and to aid our army and navy wherever the Red Cross may be called on to assist. As to this phase of the work Surgeon General Ireland of the U. S. Army recently said: 'The Red Cross has been an enterprise as vast as the war itself. From the beginning it has done those things which the Army Medical Corps wanted done, but could not do itself.'

"The Red Cross endeavor in France has naturally been upon an exceptionally large scale where service has been rendered to the American Army and to the French Army and the French people as well; the latter particularly during the trying period when the Allied World was waiting for the American Army to arrive in force and power. Hospital emergency service for our army in France has greatly diminished, but the Red Cross is still being called upon for service upon a large scale in the great hospitals, where thousands of American sick and wounded are still receiving attention. At these hospitals the Red Cross supplies butts and facilitates for the amusement and recreation of the men as they become convalescent. Our Army of Occupation in Germany was followed with medical units, and rendered the same emergency aid and supply service which was given during the war. The Army service along the lines of travel actually increased since the armistice. "As for work among the French people, now that hostilities have ceased, the French themselves naturally prefer as far as possible to provide for their own. It has accordingly been determined that the guiding principle of Red Cross policy in France henceforth shall be to have punctilious regard to its every responsibility, but to direct its efforts primarily to assisting French relief societies. The liberated and devastated regions of France have been divided by the government into small districts, each officially assigned to a designated French relief organization.

"The American Red Cross work in France was initiated by a commission of eighteen men who landed on French shores June 13, 1917. Since then some 9,000 persons have been upon the rolls in France, of whom 7,000 were actively engaged when the armistice was signed. An indication of the present scale of the work will be obtained from the fact that the services of 6,000 persons are still required.

"Our American Expeditionary Force having largely evacuated England, the activities of the Red Cross Commission there are naturally upon a diminishing scale period. Active operations are still in progress in Archangel and Siberia.

"The work in Italy has been almost entirely on behalf of the civilian population of that country. In the critical hours of Italy's struggle the American people, through their Red Cross, sent a practical message of sympathy and relief, for which the government and people of Italy have never ceased to express their gratitude.

Supplies and Personnel to Near East.

"The occasion for such concentration of effort in Italy, England, Belgium and even in France having naturally and normally diminished, it has been possible to divert supplies and personnel in large measure to the aid of those people in the Near East who have hitherto been inaccessible to outside assistance, but whose sufferings have been upon an appalling scale. The needs of these peoples are so vast that government alone can meet them, but the American Red Cross is making an effort to relieve immediately the more acute distress.

"An extensive group of American workers has been dispatched to carry vitally needed supplies, and to work this winter in the various Balkan countries. In order to co-ordinate their activities, a Balkan commission has been established, with headquarters at Rome, Italy, from which point alone all the Balkan centers can be reached promptly.

"A commission has just reached Poland with doctors and nurses, medical supplies, and food for sick children and invalids. An American Red Cross Commission has also been appointed to aid in relieving the suffering of Russian prisoners still confined in German prison camps.

"An important commission is still working in Palestine. Through the war special co-operation has been given to the Armenian and Syrian Relief Commission, which was the only agency able to carry relief in the interior of Turkish dominions.

Red Cross Will Continue.

"Red Cross effort is, thus far, flung. It will continue to be so. But the movement represented by this work has likewise assumed an intimate place in the daily life of our people at home. The army of workers which has been recruited and trained during the war must not be demobilized. All our experience in the war shows clearly that there is an unlimited field for service of the kind which can be performed with peculiar effectiveness by the Red Cross. What its future tasks may be it is yet impossible to forecast. We know that so long as there is an American army in the field, the Red Cross will have a special function to perform.

"Nothing could be of greater importance to the American Red Cross than the plans just set in motion by the five great Red Cross societies of the world to develop a program of extended activities in the interest of humanity. The conception involves not alone efforts to relieve human suffering, but to prevent it; not alone a movement by the people of an individual nation, but an attempt to arouse all people to a sense of their responsibility for the welfare of their fellow beings throughout the world. It is a program both ideal and practical. Ideal in that its supreme aim is nothing less than veritable 'Peace on earth good will to men,' and practical in that it seeks to take means and measures which are actually available, and make them effective in meeting without delay the crisis which is daily recurrent in the lives of all peoples.

"For accomplishing its mission in the years of peace which must lie ahead of us the Red Cross will require the ablest possible leadership, and must enjoy the continued support, sympathy, and participation in its work of the whole American people. It is particularly fortunate that such a man as Dr. Livingston Farrand should have been selected as the permanent head of the organization. The unstinted fashion in which all our people gave of themselves throughout the war is the best assurance that our Red Cross will continue to receive that co-operation which will make its work a source of pride and inspiration to every American.

Mr. Davison, as chairman of the International Commission of the American Red Cross, has undertaken to represent the American Red Cross in the preparation of the program for extended Red Cross activities, and will spend the next several months in Europe in consultation with other Red Cross societies for that purpose.

ECHOES FROM MOORESVILLE.

Mooreville Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring town?" The generous statement of this Mooreville resident leaves no room for doubt on this point.

R. W. McKay, retired farmer, N. Main St., Mooreville, N. C., says: "I had backache and was nearly down with lumbago. Sharp pains often caught me across my kidneys when I bent over and I could hardly straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the pains in my back and I could get around without any trouble. I keep Doan's on hand and take a dose whenever my kidneys or back bother me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McKay had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs. Buffalo, N. Y.

Safe Prediction.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

restores vitality and energy by purifying and enriching the blood. You can soon feel its strengthening effect. Price 60c per bottle.

About Face.

Two years ago there were those who were protesting that we should not be put into the war without a referendum. Today they are clamorous for the immediate adoption of the League of Nations constitution without consideration even by the Senate.—Senator Harry S. New.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a 'body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.
