NEWS OF LONG AGO.

What Was Happening In Davie Before Parking Meters And Abbreviated Skirts.

(Davie Record, June 6, 1934.)
Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Howell spent Wednesday in Charlotte. Misses Theolene and Margaret Ward spent Friday in Winston-Salem shopping.
W. B. Gant, of Hunterville, was in town a short while Monday on business.
Miss Eva Call is spending this week at Cummock, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Jeter Adcock.

Miss Hazel Baitv, librarian at Meredith College, Raleigh, is at home for the summer holidays.

Mrs. W. L. Call spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. Jeter Adcock, at Cummock.

Miss Margaret Brock, of Greensboro, spent the week-end in town with her brother, Attorney B. C. Brock.

R. M. Ijames continues quite ill at his home on Salisbury street. He has been in bad health for a long while.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hendricks and little son, of Lexington, spent the week-end in town with home folks.

Miss Mary Nelson Anderson, a student at Salem College, will arrive home this week for the summer holidays.

Richard Joseph, the little son of Attorney and Mrs. B. C. Brock, is very ill with pneumonia at the home on Salisbury street.

Prof. and Mrs. E. C. Steton announce the arrival of a son at their home on North Main street on Saturday, June 2nd.

Paul Hendricks has arrived home from Wake Forest College, where he was a member of the Junior class.

Roy Call arrived home last week from South Boston, Va., where he spent a short while as salesman for the Rayless store.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morris and little daughter, of Knoxville, and B. O. and E. H. Morris, of this city, left Monday for Louisville, W. Va., where they will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Painter, who is a sister.

An outstanding occasion in Masonic circles took place in the Masonic hall Friday evening when the portrait of Col. J. D. Hodges was presented to Mocksville Lodge No. 134, of which he was an honored member. Col. Hodges was a Confederate soldier, serving in Co. H, 63rd Regt., 5th North Carolina Cavalry. He is a leading educator in Davie county, and is well known throughout the State. The portrait is of the youthful soldier in his Confederate uniform.

Walking Humbly With God.

Rev. Walter E. Isenhour, High Point, N. C.
It is far more honorable to walk humbly with God than to walk proudly with the world. Of course the proud, critical world thinks there is great honor in partaking of her sports, amusements, fads, fashions and pleasures. But to walk with God disrobes one honor, popularity and fama. Not so. Lasting honor, fame and true glory only comes by going with God humbly along life's pathway to the goal.

I had rather walk humbly with God than proudly with earthly kings, presidents and rulers. When such worldly men pass from time to eternity, though some of them have won popularity and unmerited fame, they are soon forgotten except for the harm they have done.

To humbly walk with God means to walk in honesty, truth, love, kindness and patience. It means to travel the way that leads to heaven, the right way of the soul, there to dwell forever with the saints of all the ages, with angels and archangels, and the wonderful, glorious hosts that compose heaven's population, and to be with God the Father, Christ the Savior, and the Holy Ghost, the Comforter.

Men who walk humbly with God receive the criticisms, scoffs and scorn of the world offentimes, but what of that? When God is with us we can rejoice, realizing that we shall live in peace and joy, happiness and glory forever and ever, while our critics, faultfinders and persecutors miss all of this forever.

Enoch and Elijah walked humbly with God, and went to meet him in great peace and honor, while great earthly kings walked with the devil and went to dwell with him forever. Thousands of parents have named their sons after Enoch and Elijah, but nobody name their sons after those sons after those wicked kings. After all, the world knows that a godly man is right and that a sinful, wicked man is wrong.

Holliness is unpopular with the majority of professed Christians but they are indeed going to need it to die by. Anything that is needful and essential to die by certainly is honorable and worth while to live by. To be pure and holy in heart we must walk humbly with God.

Returning Home

Technical Sergeant Gilbert G. Sheek, son of Mr. Harry G. Sheek, of Route 3, Mocksville, is returning to the United States for a new assignment, following completion of his tour of duty, with the U. S. Air Force in the Philippines. His wife, Joyce, who has stayed with him overseas, will accompany him on the return trip.

Now is the time to subscribe for The Record.

Should Have Worked

A YOUNG MAN was being examined as to his qualifications for an important position at Columbia university. "This job," the preliminary interviewer told him, "requires the ability to handle people in a way that will retain their good will, under any circumstances."
Thus briefed, the young man sailed past one examiner after another until he came to the final test—an interview with President Eisenhower himself.
The conversation went along without proving much of anything until suddenly General Ike leaned forward and asked: "Whom do you consider the three greatest men in American history?"
"I didn't quite catch your name, sir," replied the candidate, "but the other two are Washington and Lincoln."

BURNED 'EM UP

A woman was talking with a friend about the athletic achievements of the latter's son.
Your boy must be an exceptionally fast runner; I see by this morning's paper that he fairly burned up the track with his record-breaking speed. I suppose you saw him do it?
"No, I didn't see him do it," replied the boy's mother, "but I saw the track this morning and there was nothing but cinders there."

Give Him Time!

They had new neighbors and the wife was much interested in them. In a few days she reported:
"They seem a most devoted couple, John. He kisses her every time he goes out, and even waves kisses to her from the sidewalk. Why don't you do that?"
"Why don't I?" replied John. "Good heavens! I don't even know her yet."

Stickler for Truth

He had had hard luck fishing, and on his way home he entered the fish market and said to the dealer, "Just stand over there and throw me five of the biggest of those trout!"
"Throw 'em? What for?" asked the dealer in amazement.
"So I can tell the family I caught 'em. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm no liar."

Change of Climate

"I have told your wife that she must go to the mountains."
"That's all right, doctor; now tell me I must go to the seashore."

Surprise!

"Has he ever tried to tell you about his forebears?"
"Gracious! Don't tell me he is an animal trainer!"

Unfailing Technique

"Were you excited when you first asked your husband for money?"
"Oh, no, I was calm—and collected."

No Spacing

Why do they always sit like this Upon the bus I miss; And on the next that comes along They're all jammed in like this?

DID HIM GOOD

At a club in Hollywood a young author was introduced to a film critic. The writer's first picture had just been shown, and he immediately asked the critic for his opinion of it.
"It was very refreshing," returned the critic.
"Say, that's swell," beamed the author. "Did you really find it so refreshing?"
"Absolutely," was the reply. "I felt like a new man when I woke up!"

Old Company Rules Proved Boon to Courting Workers

NEW YORK.—The A.T. & T. company's researchers have come up on a set of rules promulgated in 1880 by a store in Amboy, Ill., for the guidance of its employees—rules which allowed, among other things, one night each week for courting and another for attending prayer meeting.
The complete set of rules were as follows:
1. The store must be open from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M.
2. The store must be swept, counters, shelves and showcases dusted; lamps trimmed and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast.
3. The store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless necessary and then for only a few minutes.
4. The employe who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement, will assuredly give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty.
5. The employe must pay not less than $5 a year to the church and must attend Sunday school regularly.
6. Men employes are given one evening a week for courting and two if they go to prayer meeting.
7. Leisure hours should be spent mostly in reading.

CONFUSED BIRD

Hubby: "When anything goes wrong around our house, I just get busy and fix it."
Wife: "Oh, yeah! Since you fixed the clock the cuckoo backs out and asks, 'What time is it?'"

Simple Wants

"I must tell you that my daughter can bring her husband only her beauty and her intellect."
"I don't mind—many young couples have started in a very small way."

Cure for Bronze Disease Discovered by Scientists

A chemist and an art curator at The Johns Hopkins university have refined and developed a cure for bronze disease, on which scientists have been working for the past quarter of a century.
Before one rushes to the doctor to ask if he has bronze disease, it had better be stated that it is not possible for a human to catch it—it is a malignant disease contracted only by ancient bronze objects from Egypt and other countries of antiquity.
For decades the problem of bronze disease has plagued museum curators. The antique bronzes, large and small, thick and thin, in museums all over the world have been subject to corrosion which is first noticed when the bronze figure breaks out with a green, cancerous-looking rash on one or more parts of the figure.
The bronze disease continues to grow into a hard, thick crust, then become so covered with crust so massive that recognition of the figure is impossible. If the object is an ancient flask or other thin object, the disease will often eat through the object and destroy it.
Investigation indicated that the disease is due to chlorides present in the moist soil in which the bronze objects were buried for centuries. The alloys in the bronze are slowly converted into the crusting sores, which are merely the separation of the alloys of which the bronze is composed.
Dr. Sarah Freeman, curator of fine arts at Johns Hopkins, and Dr. Alphon Corwin, professor of chemistry, who together have worked on the cure for bronze disease, stated that bronze disease is often induced by an object being handled by a person whose moist hand has the proper salt content to start the chemical action on the surface of the bronze object.

New Process May Increase Sugar Return from Beets

More sugar from beets can be produced by the same chemical process used to soften water, Dr. J. E. Mandru, general chemist of the Holly Sugar corporation, Colorado Springs, Colo., reported. He called on the beet sugar industry to overcome certain obstacles that prevent it from making wide use of this process, called ion exchange, a chemical reaction in which two compounds trade charged metallic atoms.
Dr. Mandru said that ion exchange would remove almost all sugar beet juice impurities where present methods dispose of only 35 per cent.

"The main advantage of ion exchange in beet sugar plants is the increased extraction of sugar due to the elimination of impurities and by the same token decreased production of molasses," Dr. Mandru said. Since the price of sugar as sacked white sugar is greater than that in the form of molasses, this is the main economic justification for the process.
Less important advantages are less scaling of heat transfer surfaces in evaporators, heaters, and pans due to a very much decreased mineral content in the juice.
The main disadvantage of ion exchange is the large capital outlay for the unit. Since nearly all exposed surfaces must be acid proofed, and since the resins used are of quite high price, the capital investment is so high that often it is difficult for the savings realized by ion exchange to pay the interest on such an investment.

"Home of Sports Fans"

Situated in the Yellowstone River valley and protected by its picturesque rimrocks, Billings, Mont., is probably populated by more dyed-in-the-wool sportsmen and sports fans per capita than any city of similar size in the nation. Rapidly outgrowing its reputation as a "good little sports town" (Billings has doubled its population every 10 years since its incorporation), the city has kept the original enthusiasm of its founding pioneers for anything athletic. Most typically western sport to hold the fancy of "dudes" and natives alike is the rodeo, held here annually.

Our County And Social Security

By W. K. White, Manager.
"Why, everybody knows me around here. My name is Jim Smith. I am sure my Social Security record must be all right. Well, of course, I didn't turn in my Social Security number at the truck mine where I work, but they all know me, and know I worked there." Well, brother, they don't know you in Baltimore. You and 267 other Jim Smiths worked at truck mines, sawmills, etc., in the last three months, and didn't have your employer copy your Social Security number on his records and report it with your wages. Now, the clerk in Baltimore does not happen to know you, and probably doesn't know a single one of the 267 other Jim Smiths either. How do you think your record can be kept, and your wages put on it?

Do you think this is fair to our family? Remember all Social Security payments are figured on the wages shown on your record. Your job is to see that you report your number, and that your employer shows it on his reports with your wages. Do you want your child to say, "Well, Daddy was a good-hearted man. He was willing to pay in his Social Security money without being sure his children would benefit by it; he said 'Oh, well, maybe some other man's children will get something from it.'" Now is that you? Do you care enough about your family to make sure your record is correct and shows all your wages? Are you one of the Jim Smiths in your county who work at mines, sawmills, etc., without reporting their numbers to the boss?

The Social Security Administration office which serves your town and county is located in Room 437 Nissen Building, Winston-Salem, N. C., and we are interested in helping you and your boss see that your record is correct. You still may be able to correct your record, if it is not complete. For help and advice, visit our office or call us by telephone. Office hours are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday, and our telephone number is 7561.
I will be in Mocksville on Wednesday, June 28th, at the court house, second floor, at 12:30 p. m. I will also be in Coolemeec on the same date at the Winin Cotton Mills office at 11 a. m.

Only three more weeks until blackberry pie season will be with us: There is always something to be thankful for.

The big race in Davie this fall will be between Alex Tucker and Buck Garrison for Sheriff, and S. H. Chaffin and Carl McDaniel for clerk of court. B. C. Brock, Republican Representative candidate will have no opposition in the November election.

So far as Republicans are concerned the voting is all over in Davie County until Saturday, Sept. 2nd, when the wine and beer election is scheduled to be held. Democrats will go to the polls again on June 24th to decide who is to represent North Carolina in the U. S. Senate-Smith or Graham.

Carrol Smith Wins

Carrol Smith, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Smith, of Coolemece, was the winner in the census guessing contest sponsored by the Davie Record, and is the proud possessor of a brand new $5 bill. Her guess on the population of Mocksville was 1922. She came within two of guessing the exact number. Mrs. Paul McCulloh, of Advance, R. 1, was the runner-up in the contest, only missing it three, with a guess of 1923. If she will call at The Record office we will give her a year's subscription to The Record.

With Air Force

Private First Class Harvey M. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton White, of Route 1, Cana, North Carolina, recently took up the job of airplane and engine mechanic with the 21st Troop Carrier Squadron at Clark Air Force Base in Central Luzon, upon his arrival in the Philippines for an overseas tour of duty with the U. S. Air Force.

Entering the service in December 30, 1948, Pfc. White attended the Airplane and Engine Technician School at Sheppard Field, Texas before he left for his present overseas assignment last month.

Pfc. White graduated from Farmington High School and is a member of the Beta Club prior to his joining the Air Force.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Marvin Keller, of Mocksville, R. 4, celebrated her birthday with a family picnic on Sunday, May 28th. A bountiful dinner was served on the lawn. Those present included her son, Joe Keller, wife and daughter, and Joe H. Henley, a brother, all of the home. Other guests were H. C. Turner, a brother-in-law, of Guilford College; Mrs. J. C. Henley, a sister-in-law, of Winston-Salem; Mrs. R. F. Chandler and son, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Turner and daughter, of Jamestown, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. White, Guilford College; Mrs. Sanford H. Benfield, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Hall and children, all of Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Peebles and sons, Mocksville, all neices and nephews and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poteat, of Cool Springs.

Those attending enjoyed the day so much it was decided this would be made an annual affair.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Orrell and little daughter, of Winston-Salem, and Misses Marianna Routh and Jan Myers, of East Bend, were Mocksville visitors Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freestone who have been the guests of Mrs. Ida Call and other relatives and friends in Davie County, returned to their home in Indianapolis, Ind. last week.

Mocksville Man Heads P.O.S. of A.

C. E. Vernon, of this city, was installed as president of the North Carolina Camp of the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, at their State Convention at Asheville, on May 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon spent several days in Asheville attending the convention.

The Record is proud of the fact that Mocksville has furnished the president of this great American organization. Our congratulations to Mr. Vernon.

Make Big Haul

Police Chief Leon Beck is not a speed fiend but he set up a record before the peep of dawn Friday morning that will be hard to beat. Along with this record he recovered $4,000 in stolen government bonds and jewelry in the back of an auto after a 100-mile-an-hour chase from this city to Statesville. He noticed a Buick sedan carrying Virginia license plates speeding and gave chase. The chase ended in Statesville when the fleeing car burned out two bearings and crashed into the rear of a parked car.

Steve F. Lockhart, of Gleason, Tenn., driver of the car, jumped and ran. He was still at large at last account.

In the car Chief Beck found Lockhart's wife and two small sons. He also found several suit cases containing the bonds, jewelry, a fur coat, typewriter, silverware, assorted tools, blackjacks and clothing in the car.

Part of the bonds were identified by E. L. Hipps, of Canton, whose house was broken into on Sunday. Hipps came to Statesville to identify the bonds. The typewriter and chest of silverware were identified as those stolen from the Methodist home in Canton some time ago.

A warrant was issued for Lockhart, charging him with breaking and entering, larceny and receiving. Statesville officers continued the search for him.

Mrs. Lockhart and sons were brought to Mocksville jail Friday morning where they remained until Friday afternoon, when officers from Canton came and carried them to that town.

Our hats are off to our new Police Chief, Leon Beck, who did a good morning's work, and took his life in his hands to preserve law and order.

Ball Season Opens

American Legion baseball season opens with Mocksville playing its first home game with Kannapolis American Legion Wednesday night, June 7th, at 8 o'clock, at Rich Park. Be sure to see our local team get started, and help support them by your presence at the game.

An Appreciation

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness shown during the illness and after the death of my daughter, Ivey Bowden Ellis.

MRS. S. W. BOWDEN.

G. B. McDaniel, of Route 3, is a patient at Rowan Memorial Hospital, recovering from an appendicitis operation which he underwent last week.

HERITAGE TO ENLARGE PLANT

The Heritage Furniture Company, Davie County's largest wood manufacturing plant, which opened here about 2 1/2 years ago, is preparing to expand, according to an announcement by E. S. Wood, of High Point, the president.

The new addition will be built to the present plant on the north and west side, adding 50 per cent to the present floor space, which is now 60,000 square feet, making a total of 87,500 square feet.

Work will begin at once on the new addition, and it is hoped to have the building completed within four months. Herman-Sipe Co., of Conover, have the contract.

This plant now employs 160 men, and this number will be increased to about 200 when the new building is completed.

The Heritage plant makes a high-class line of living room tables, which are sold throughout this and many foreign countries. Jason Branca is superintendent of the Mocksville plant, and has an able corps of assistants. This factory gives employment to many Davie people, and has been a leading factor in the town's growth and development. The Record is proud of this business enterprise, and wishes the owners much success in their expansion program.

Davie Makes Good New Store Opens Gain

Census figures for Davie County have been released by George Shutt, head of the Davie census enumerators. Some of our citizens were sorely disappointed at the small gain of population in Mocksville.

The population of Davie County is 17,323, as against 14,909 in 1940.

Mocksville's population is 1,920, as against 1,607 in 1940.

Coolemece, including North Coolemece has a population of 1,925.

Advance made a small gain and now has a population of 213. Other figures on the townships will be released at a later date.

The D. & M. Harvester Company held open house in their new building on Wilkesboro street Saturday. Hundreds of people from Davie and adjoining counties called during the day and took a look through this modern new farm equipment store. Barbecue was served during the afternoon.

This company carries the well-known Allis-Chalmers and New Idea farm equipment, and operate a modern parts and service department. The public is given a cordial invitation to visit this new farm equipment store at any time. A cordial welcome awaits you.

Ed Sanford, who spent several weeks at Brewer's Nursing Home, Winston-Salem, recovering from a serious operation, arrived home last week and is much improved, his many friends will be glad to learn.

Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Anderson, who have been spending the winter at Fort Myers, Fla., are expected home Saturday. They were detained some time in Florida on account of Dr. Anderson suffering a badly sprained ankle.

Guy Farthing, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Farthing, and Johnny Johnstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Knox Johnstone, rising Seniors in the Mocksville High School have been elected to represent the American Legion at Boys' State, which will be held at Chapel Hill June 11-16.

James W. Wall, a member of the Piedmont Junior High School faculty, and Miss Claire Wall, a member of the Tech High School faculty, Charlotte, arrived home Saturday to spend the summer holidays with their mother, Mrs. J. W. Wall.

Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Crawford, of High Point, and daughter, Mrs. John Backer, of Zurich, Switzerland, were Mocksville visitors one day last week. Dr. Crawford and family were Mocksville citizens for many years. He was owner of Crawford's Drug Store, and represented Davie County in the Legislature one term.

Mr. and Mrs. Knox Johnstone and daughter Miss Carol, and son Johnny, left Friday for Hendersonville, where they will spend some time.

Mrs. James Hawkins accompanied about 30 Juniors and Seniors from the Farmington High School to Washington City, where they spent four days last week looking over the Nation's Capitol. They report a wonderful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Honeycutt left yesterday for Saluda, where they will make their future home. Mr. Honeycutt has been elected principal of the Saluda High School. The Record is sorry to lose these young people, but wish them much success in their new home.

Almost everybody has a good word for the immensely popular Pontiac. The most enthusiastic spokesmen are those who own this great car. The facts behind this admiration of Pontiac are very simple—

Pontiac is America's lowest-priced Straight Eight. Pontiac is the lowest-priced car with GM Hydra-Matic Drive. Pontiac is the most beautiful thing on wheels. And Pontiac is famed everywhere for its dependability and economy.

Those are the facts, and they are impressive. But they are a lot more impressive to the person behind the wheel of a Pontiac. He knows for sure that dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac!

DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 111:1-10.

Repentance

Lesson for June 11, 1950

ZEPHANIAH seldom has been any reader's favorite prophet. His pictures of doom are enough to send shudders down any one's spine. It is as realistic as if he were describing H-bomb day. But the main point of Zephaniah is plain and practical: Repent! For selfish man and stubborn nation, that is the first necessity of all. Repentance is not merely regretting something one has done. Anybody can do that—and go right on committing the same sin. Furthermore, a man's regret for something he has done may be for a wrong reason.

WHEN SLEEP WON'T COME AND YOU FEEL GLUM

Use Chewing-Gum Laxative—REMOVES WASTE...NOT GOOD FOOD
When you can't sleep—feel just awful because you need a laxative—do as MILLIONS do—chew FEEN-A-MINT. FEEN-A-MINT is wonderfully different! Doctors say many other laxatives start their "pushing" action too soon...right in the stomach. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy...you feel weak, worn out. But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that weak, tired feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel fine, full of life! 25¢, 50¢, or only 10¢.

Chicken and Noodles in Casserole (Serves 5)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
4 ounces medium noodles
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup olives, chopped
2 cups cubed cooked chicken

Add one tablespoon salt to active-boiling water. Gradually add noodles and boil until tender (about six minutes). Drain and rinse. While noodles are cooking, melt butter in top of double boiler. Add flour, salt and paprika. Mix to a smooth paste. Gradually add chicken stock and milk, stirring constantly. Cook until slightly thick. Add lemon juice and olives. Combine noodles and chicken in 1 1/2 quart casserole. Pour sauce over. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350°) 45 minutes. Serve hot.

Prepare foods ahead of time whenever possible so that you can feel fresh and rested for meal time. Tomorrow's dessert may be baked with this evening's dinner, for example.

Have a roast at least once a week to save meal preparation. Already cooked meat can be used sliced, pie and

Cairo Typist Seeks World Championship As Heaviest Eater

CAIRO. — Mohammed, the "muncher" is out for a world's title—he would like to be the champion eater of the entire hemisphere.

His full name is Mohammed Riad, an Egyptian typist, who is now down to an eating weight of 225 pounds.

In competitive eating, to vie for the world's singles, two-handed eating title, the contestant must include hardboiled eggs. However, they may be shelled first, the rules say.

According to the best information on the subject, the present world record for hardboiled egg consumption is held by an American who put away 60 eggs in 30 minutes.

So far Mohammed's single weakness—hunger—has kept the title just a few dozen eggs out of his reach.

He made a title attempt only a few weeks ago. But listen to Riad's sad story:

"While I was waiting for the judges to arrive, I went to wash my hands and found a large piece of chocolate in my pocket. One of my fans had put it there and I could not resist it.

"Believe me, this was the cause of my failure. Also, I ate a large bowl of pea soup before the contest. This was a mistake, too.

"I am ashamed to say I ate only 43 eggs and drank two bottles of soft drinks in 23 minutes."

One of the hazards of the sport, a sharp pain in the region of the stomach, put him out of play at that juncture. He turned pea green and bolted from the room.

"Now I am training for a new championship attempt," Riad said. "I absolutely will eat 100 eggs for a sensational new record. My honor is at stake.

"Also, I am thinking about changing my technique. Do you think I made a mistake in dipping each egg into red pepper first?"

This Is Novel Joke Twist In Radio Give-Away History

YOUNGSTOWN, O. H. — There is a new trend in "practical joking" that's giving radio give-away programs a bad jolt.

A local housewife reported that she received a phone call purportedly from a radio station. An unidentified voice offered her $100 for the best suggestion on "how to tame your wife." She said she quickly replied, "Why, spanking, of course."

The voice then repeated the promise of $100 if she would have her husband spank her loud enough to be heard over the phone. Eager to win the $100, she called in a neighbor to administer the spanking because her husband wasn't home.

When the spanked housewife called the radio station to arrange to collect the $100 prize, she was told the whole thing must have been a hoax, as the station hadn't offered any such prize.

Sicilian Takes Big Fortune From Salt Water Annually

TRAPANI, SICILY.—Many are the schemes and dreams of taking treasure out of the sea—but there is one man who is making the ocean provide him with a fortune.

He is Rocco Ricevuto, owner and manager of the Trapani salt marshes from which he is taking about one million dollars a year.

The marshes yield about 200,000 tons of salt annually for which Ricevuto receives an average of $5 a ton.

Water from the salt-laden Mediterranean is pumped into drying basins where the hot Italian sun evaporates the water and leaves the salt in a growing pile.

In 1943 fleeing Germans destroyed all the plants in the salt marshes "because they could have been of use to the American troops." Ricevuto said he still wonders how the Americans could have used the salt marsh plants for war purposes.

"Destruction was carefully planned and faithfully carried out," Ricevuto said. "When I came back after the Nazi-Fascists evacuated Trapani, I found that nothing remained of the plants my father had built with loving care through 50 years of hard work.

"For a year I came here every morning, and studied how much of the rubble could be salvaged. "One day, that was in 1944, I decided that I must do something to make the plants work again. We always had a group of more than 500 men working in the salt marshes. I called them in to a big meeting in the place where the old silos were built and asked them to help me out.

"In two years I got my plants running again. "Little by little we recovered our business. Ships come here now at an average of one every week or two loading salt for eastern and northern countries.

"Trapani's salt is good for industrial use, so Norwegians and Japanese were too startled to number."

Brain Specialist Says Top Authors Often off 'Beam'

LONDON.—A London brain specialist has declared that great authors—to say the least—are sometimes "off the beam."

This analysis was made in an article in the British medical journal. The author is Dr. Russell W. Brain.

On the doctor's list of writers who have shown some mental aberrations were some of the great names of English literature: Boswell, Bunyan, Burns, Dickens, Johnson, Lamb, Ruskin, Shelley and Tennyson.

Some were insane, Dr. Brain said, in the sense that they could be certified as such and placed in institutions. Others, while not ready for the asylum, were classified as manic depressives, alcoholics, drug addicts, schizophrenics or "just plain nuts."

The doctor said Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" bears marks of the author's preoccupation with violence and cruelty, and described this feature as a form of masochism (finding pleasure in pain suffered by one's self).

"Oliver Twist," on the other hand, was helped along by Dickens' hardening of the arteries, the doctor believes. Summing up his case generally, Brain said:

"The genius of literature has higher intelligence, more intense and differentiated feelings, a better memory, and a greater capacity for words than the rest of us. These, presumably, depend upon a quantitatively richer organization of his nervous system. He also has dynamic quality which often seems to raise even his madness to a higher power."

Study of Weather Effect On Stone May Take Century

WASHINGTON.—Federal government workers have gone to work on an experiment which may go on for as long as 100 years. They want to find out how various stones will weather the capital's climate.

To determine that, they have assembled 2,000 rocks from 47 states and 16 foreign countries and built them into a masonry wall 13 feet high, 38 feet long, and 2 feet thick.

The big rock heap is in a field at the national bureau of standards which tests all sorts of things for the government.

German Paddles Small Kayak 30,000 Miles to Australia

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA.—For seven years and four months Oscar Speck, a local opal cutter, paddled an Eskimo kayak 30,000 miles up rivers and across oceans from Germany to Australia.

But war had come while he made his way down the Coral Sea and Speck was a German. So, with the end of his odyssey almost in sight, he was arrested and spent most of the next seven years in confinement.

Speck's amazing quest began at Ulm, on the Danube, in May, 1932. He was 25, canoeing in his pastime, and Germany was in the depths of a depression. It seemed to him a good time to get out of Germany for awhile.

He loaded his collapsible 18-foot kayak with a prismatic compass, charts, water containers, lots of condensed milk, chocolate and cheese. There was no room for a sextant, and anyway, squatting so near the water his horizon was only two and a half miles.

With two strong arms and two square yards of sail, he took off down the Danube, to Bulgaria, to Turkey, to Cyprus. He had meant to stop there. But he went on—to Syria; down the Euphrates to Iraq, and then along the Arabian coast-line to India, thence to Ceylon.

Still he went on. He had a new goal now: Australia.

The years passed. Kayak after kayak wore out and replacements ordered three months ahead, arrived from Europe. Speck used up five. He went to Burma, Singapore, Sumatra, Batavia, Sourabaya, Bali and the islands ahead. He capsized 10 times, was blown off his course, taken prisoner by tribesmen.

Hitler was almost unknown when Speck left Germany. But Hitler's war stopped him when he was 18 miles from Thursday island, and he finished his journey in a police launch.

Today, Speck, now an Australian, is comfortably settled in Sydney and has his own opal cutting business. One day, he hopes to revisit Germany to see his 80-year-old mother. But he will come back to Australia.

"I got here the hard way," he says, "I intend to stay."

Motorist Grabs off Mattress Before Van Man Can Recover

ATLANTA, GA.—A moving van transporting the furniture of W. B. Taylor dropped a mattress on a residential street.

The truck driver turned around immediately, but before he could retrieve the article, another vehicle stopped at the scene.

Pegram Resigns

Mr. T. C. Pegram, Chairman of the Davie County Board of Education has resigned and will move to Durham, where he will be Superintendent of the Erwin Cotton Mill No. 1 plant. Mr. Pegram has been a member of the Davie Co. Board of Education since March 16, 1938, and has served as Chairman of this board since April 1, 1939. During this time the schools of Davie County have made much progress and the county is losing, in Mr. Pegram, an educationally minded citizen who has devoted his time to seeking better schools in this state.

Upon learning of the resignation of Mr. Pegram the Davie Co. Board of Education, upon motion instructed the Secretary to enter the following resolution upon the minutes of the board and to publish same in the newspapers of the county.

In the resignation of T. C. Pegram, Chairman of the Davie Co. Board of Education, the board realizes;

1. That the Davie County Board of Education has lost a valuable member and the citizens of Davie County have lost a real friend of Education; one vitally interested in the educational welfare of boys and girls in this county and in the State of North Carolina, and

2. That in the multitude of problems that have come before the board Mr. Pegram has not only given his time freely but has demonstrated rare leadership and sound judgment, and

3. That during his years as chairman of the board the schools of Davie County have made exceptional progress and now rank at the top in educational advancement, therefore

The members of the Davie County board wish to express their deep appreciation for the leadership Mr. Pegram has given the board, and to wish for him continued success in his new work in Durham, N. C.

Facts About Oregon

From three dredges and 25 small hydraulic mines Oregon has obtained as much as four million dollars' worth of gold a year. The state makes a million dollars' worth of brick, tile and pottery, and is currently insulating huge new office buildings with perlite, an acid volcanic glass. It is attempting to cut down waste on its lumber production, largest in the United States. Its greatest asset—water—is expected to provide the increased amount of electric power which holds the key to industrial expansion.

Moth-Proof With Paper

Even a hungry moth isn't interested in eating paper so you can protect woolen garments just by wrapping them in airtight paper bags. It's especially important to have the wrapping airtight because moths can get through small openings to the wool material. A good way to seal paper bags is to put paper tape or transparent tape over all openings and seams. Then hang the wrapped garments in a cool place if possible.

Uncle Sam Says

Each June 14 we pay honor to the Stars and Stripes on what is officially designated "Flag Day." Under that flag our country has remained free and it is everyone's desire that it stays that way. It has been said that no country can ever be stronger than its people, citizens who are free in every way. One of the keystones in this freedom is financial security and your government has provided a safe, sure and automatic way of saving. It is U. S. Savings Bonds, which can be piled up through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank, or for cash at your bank or post office.

NEWS OF LONG AGO.

What Was Happening In Davie Before Parking Meters And Abbreviated Skirts.

(Davie Record, June 20, 1934.)
J. A. Jones, of North Wilkesboro, was in town Thursday on business.

W. F. Shaver and R. B. Bailey, of Woodleaf, were Mocksville visitors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stroud and daughters spent the week-end with relatives at Hickory.

Miss Marjorie Coffey, of Statesville, is spending a week in town guest of Miss Pauline Daniel.

Miss Cordella Pass returned home Sunday from a few days visit with relatives and friends at Statesville.

The new residence of R. P. Martin, on Wilkesboro street, is nearing completion. This is one of the prettiest houses in town.

Miss Margaret Brock, of Greensboro, spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Brock, of Farmington.

A number of Davie democrats will attend the Democrat State Convention, which meets in Raleigh tomorrow.

Mrs. P. G. Brown and daughter Miss Sue, and Miss Helen Faye Holthouser spent the week-end at Lenoir with Mr. June Meroney.

Mrs. Goshen McCulloch has moved into her house on Clement Kresl, after spending several months with her children in different sections of the state.

A number of Federal relief workers from Davie went to Raleigh last week to hear Harry L. Hopkins, head of the Federal relief organization.

Miss Hazel Turner spent the week-end in Winston-Salem, the guests of Miss Margaret Garwood. Miss Garwood spent last week in town with friends.

Prof. W. F. Robinson has purchased the F. M. Lashley house in North Mocksville, which was formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Garwood.

Mrs. Chas. Spurgeon Anderson, of R. I., underwent an operation at Davis Hospital, Statesville, last week. Her many friends hope for her a complete recovery.

Work on the Mocksville Yadkinville road is progressing rapidly. Crushed stone is being spread on the road from the Dwiggins filling station to the Joppa graveyard.

Miss H. Clay Koomtz, of Cooleemee, has purchased the Feezor house on North Main street, and we understand, will move to Mocksville about the first of July.

Mrs. Knox Johnstone and children and Mr. and Mrs. Clarend LeGrand went to Montreal Friday, where Mrs. Johnstone and children will spend the summer. Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand will be away for two weeks.

Sheriff Smoot and Deputies Miller and James of the sheriff's office made a big haul of sugar head liquor Wednesday afternoon near Hunting Creek bridge on the Statesville highway. They captured a Ford V-8, together with 276 half jars filled with whiskey. Two men were working on the car when officers approached, but they took to the tall timbers and made their escape. The car and liquor was brought to Mocksville, where the jars were emptied in the rear of the court house. The car is said to be from Charlotte.

Miss Hanes Cleant returned home Saturday from a week's visit to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Blanche Clement who has been visiting friends at Warrington returned home Saturday.

Fame And Fortune

Rev. Walter E. Isenhour, High Point, R. 4. Out of all the teeming masses Fame and fortune crown but few;

But as time so swiftly passes Make the best of what you do, For it's honest, noble living As you go the way of earth, And your best to others giving, That will count for truest worth. Fame may take its flight tomorrow, Fortune may depart today, Bringing gloom and wasting sorrow

To the heart that seems so gay; But the good we do to others Ne'er departs on fleeting wings; For it makes us loving brothers And eternal glory brings.

Best Paid Man

Washington — Rep. Woodruff (Rep. Mich.) says President Truman is "one of the best, if not the best paid man in the world today."

Woodruff figured it this way, in a statement today:

"A private citizen, to match the standard of living now enjoyed by the President, would need an income of between $3,009,000 and $3,500,000 a year."

First off, Woodruff said Mr. Truman has taken home pay of $110,000 a year? Woodruff inquired.

"Then he listed presidential services as follows:

Forty-two "facilities" for travel, vacationing and entertaining, including planes, 35 White House automobiles, the yacht Williamsburg, private Pullman car, and vacation retreats in Key West, Fla., and Maryland.

An estimated staff of 665 persons to run them at an annual cost of $1,491,540.

A White House travel allowance of between $33,896 and $40,000, exclusive of air travel which is charged to the Air Force.

The yacht Williamsburg, "for which crew costs alone are $190,000 annually."

The President's personal plane, the Independence, costing $1,133,000 to build and about $120,000 a year to man.

The President's private railroad car, costing between $250,000 and $350,000.

A destroyer escort for the yacht Williamsburg. Woodruff says it costs the Navy $867,000 a year to operate a destroyer.

Secret Service guards and White House police costing $459,200 a year.

White House salary costs of $998,254 a year for a staff of 225.

"By comparison," Woodruff added, "President Roosevelt in 1943 had a staff of 53 costing $256,431, and President Hoover's staff totaled 37 at a salary bill of $127,200."

Then there are vacation retreats at Key West and Shangri-La—the latter a presidential hide-out 70 miles from Washington in nearby Maryland.

And in addition to the regular White House fleet of about 20 cars, Woodruff continues, it is getting a "luxury fleet" of 10 new cars.

These, he said, are especially built limousines with "gold-plated door-handles, vanities and perfume cases."

What's more, Woodruff added, even the White House secretaries, who "once walked to work . . . now arrive in White House cars."

All this, he said, not only makes Mr. Truman a top-pay executive but enables him to enjoy "services undreamed of by his predecessors."

Misdirected Effort

THE INEBRIATED HUSBAND tip-toed up the stairs. He patched up the scars of the brawl with adhesive tape, then climbed into bed, smiling at the thought that he'd pulled one over on his wife.

Came morning. He opened his eyes and there stood his angry wife.

"You were intoxicated last night," she said.

"Why, darling, I was nothing of the sort."

"If you weren't, then who put all the adhesive tape on the bathroom mirror?"

Ferret Honored by Airmen For Solving Tough Problem

RAPID CITY, S. D. — An 18-ounce ferret named Pete has been honored by the nation's air force as the hero responsible for final conversion of the Rapid City air base into a key northern B-36 bomber outpost.

It was Pete who solved the tough problem of running an important telephone wire through a conduit six feet below a reinforced concrete runway. Engineers feared they would have to tear up the runway to lay the wire.

But the ferret's owner sort of felt that Pete should solve the problem. So, he fitted the ferret with a harness, attached a string and dropped him into the 2,210-foot long conduit with the order: "Take it through, Pete."

Twenty minutes later, Pete ran out the other end dragging the string which was used to pull the heavy telephone cable through the conduit.

Pete took the line through twice more in record time. But he was panting when he took off on the fourth and final trip. He stopped halfway through the tube.

After waiting a half hour for the tired ferret to gather wind and complete the trip, the workmen began twitching the string in an effort to dislodge Pete.

The long distance rescue efforts continued for three hours with no luck.

Finally Pete emerged from the end of the tube to be greeted by assembled and anxious high brass. Three and one-half hours after he dived into the conduit.

Pete only blinked at the cheers. Apparently he had gone to sleep in the middle of the biggest day of his life.

Voice Disorder May Point To Grave Physical Ailment

An apparently slight speech or voice disorder, unless correctly diagnosed, may have the gravest physical implications, including cancer and bulbar palsy, the National Hospital for Speech Disorders, New York, reports.

In cancer of the larynx, for instance, hoarseness is the first symptom noted in the vast majority of cases. But because hoarseness is a common ailment, and causes no pain, the true meaning of this early symptom is often overlooked. Correct diagnosis and prompt attention to this voice change may literally save a patient's life, the National Hospital states.

Occasionally a speech or voice defect is among the first signs of some serious neurological disturbance, as in the case of a man of 65 who complained of difficulty in controlling the flow of saliva and also a "thickening" of his speech. Since at first the speech disturbance was slight, little attention was paid to the patient's complaints until speech became worse and he began to experience difficulty in eating and swallowing because of a progressive weakness of the muscles of the mouth and throat. When seen at the National hospital, his condition was diagnosed as progressive bulbar palsy, the disease from which Lou Gehrig died.

In young children, delay in speech development may indicate mental retardation of which parents are not aware. Difficulty in pronouncing certain speech sounds may point to a regional type of hearing impairment. Stuttering generally indicates strong psychic disturbances.

Physicians, teachers and parents should be alert to any speech or voice abnormality, the hospital warns, since in the majority of cases it is a symptom of some more basic psychic or physical condition.

Foam Rubber May Be Used In Upholstery Industry

Foam rubber, now available on the market, will probably in time revolutionize home and commercial upholstery, since it is extremely easy to handle and has proved satisfactory in use.

It is especially good for separate cushions, pads for dining and breakfast room chairs, and built-in benches. The cost of the rubber is the limiting factor at the present time.

Foam rubber does away with springs and the consequent time and labor involved in packing and padding to shape. It has been used successfully in the commercial field for the entire chair. It can be cut to shape with ordinary household shears and comes in different widths and thicknesses. The upholstery material is applied directly over the foam rubber. The whole is lightweight and durable.

Moss, tow, and hair are the materials commonly used now for padding upholstery. The hair is the most resilient but it is costly. The moss, known as southern moss or Spanish moss, is found along our coast from Texas to Florida, in eastern Virginia and southward to Brazil. It may be gray or black in color and varies in quality. That which is cured longer is darker in color and makes a cleaner and better upholstery fiber.

It has been found that foam rubber can be pieced by placing one and one-half inch adhesive tape lightly over the edge, holding closely together. Foam rubber can be built up into thicker cushions by using rubber cement around the edges or in strips.

Our County And Social Security

By W. K. White, Manager.

Today I have a message for all the wives whose husbands work in employment covered by the Social Security Act. The message is equally important to the widows whose husbands worked under social security.

Many women do not know about the rights which were earned and paid for by the Social Security taxes deducted from the family breadwinner's weekly or monthly pay checks.

This tax (which is matched by the employer) pays for an insurance policy with the government. This policy is payable to you in case of your husband's death, if he had worked enough to be insured. If this should occur in your family, you should get in touch with our office. You may be eligible to receive cash benefit payments. These payments are of two kinds—monthly benefits and a lump-sum benefit.

To illustrate the two types of benefits, let me tell you of an actual case which was recently handled by our office. A lady whom I'll call Mrs. Black, came into our office. She stated that her husband had been killed in an accident, and that she had been left with two children to support—aged 8 and 10. Mrs. Black was very worried about the family's future. Her husband had carried only a small amount of insurance, and the funeral expenses had taken most of that.

We examined Mr. Black's record of earnings, and were able to inform Mrs. Black that she and the children were entitled to monthly payments of $52.50. If there had been no minor children, Mrs. Black would have received a lump sum payment. At age 65, in addition, she would be entitled to monthly payments of $22.50 for the rest of her life, if she had not re-married.

A prompt inquiry should be made, if death occurs in your family, to prevent loss of benefits. The social security office for this area is in Room 437 Nissen Building, Winston-Salem.

I will be in Mocksville on Wednesday, June 28th, at the court house, second floor, at 12:30 p. m. I will also be in Cooleemee on the same date at the Erwin Cotton Mills office at 11 a. m.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nation Displays Might on First Armed Forces Day; Atlantic Pact Nations Announce Defense Plans

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

ARMED FORCES: A Workable Team

Any doubts that observers might have entertained about the success of armed forces unification in the United States was dispelled with the observance of the first national Armed Forces Day.

For the observance, America's fighting forces across the world paraded in the mightiest show of power since World War II. The biggest show of all went on in Germany where more than 85,000 Yanks demonstrated their readiness.

The day's message to the world was plain: The United States is awake to the menace of Communist aggression and is readying its defenses.

President Truman took the occasion to tell the public that if congress had passed his universal military training program five years ago "there would have been no cold war."

He also invited all Americans "to take stock of the state of our readiness to defend ourselves against aggression."

And, in general, Americans were pleased and impressed with what they saw on parade. Although the forces were less in number, they seemed well trained, power-packed units that would form the backbone of new armies should the situation arise.

Army, navy and air force put on a united front that was pleasing to observers who remember recent unification squabbles between the services.

BOSTON: Taste of Tradition

Climaxing its jubilee celebration, staid old Boston let down its hair by serving dinner to 10,000 on the Common and holding a barn dance at the Garden.

Believed to be the largest meal ever served to a seated group, the guests got a taste of tradition by consuming five tons of baked beans, three tons of potato salad, and 3,500 pounds of ham.

Earlier events of the jubilee were designed to call attention to the cultural, business, industrial, and recreational advantages of Boston and New England.

Serving the "baked-bean supper" and all the trimmings took less than an hour, some kind of a record. The trimmings included 2,000 loaves of brown bread, 12,000 individual apple pies, 12,000 servings of cheese, and 12,000 Parker house rolls.

One thousand volunteer waitresses, supervised by 40 home economists and dieticians, served the food.

UNEMPLOYMENT: Worker's Output Up

According to the federal reserve board the individual worker's increased output has been one of the big factors in the unemployment picture since last summer.

The board's analysis of "labor market developments" point to two influences at work on the part of business management:

1. "Large profits" and strong financial position in recent years have encouraged business to spend record amounts for new machinery and equipment of highly efficient design.

2. "Intensified competitive pressure on management to reduce costs partly by curtailing employment and by utilizing those employed more efficiently than earlier in the postwar period."

In addition the board reports there is an increased "tendency for married women to work outside the home," and a similar trend among teen-agers.

FARM INCOME: Likely to Dip

The agriculture department predicts that the cash income of the nation's farmers will be well under 1949 totals.

The department explained: "Prices farmers receive for their products have generally been below those of a year ago, while their costs have declined only slightly. This situation is expected to continue for the rest of the year."

Cash receipts from marketings in 1949 totaled 27.5 billion dollars. Forecasts expect the 1950 total to be approximately 25 billion dollars.

NATIONALISTS: Ready for Last Stand

Observers believe the long expected last stand of Chinese Nationalists is now underway. They base their opinion on the fact the Nationalists have withdrawn from all except one of their blockading bases along the China coast.

Apart from Formosa and the neighboring Pescadore islands, the only territory remaining to the Nationalists appears to be Quemoy island, off Amoy.

Assails Truman

Sen. Robert Taft is shown above speaking over a nationwide radio network. He charged in his speech that the administration has shaken the confidence of the people and seeks to elect a "subservient" congress to vote into law policies that would wreck the country.

DEFENSE: West United

At one point in their policy making in recent years, the Russians reasoned, and not without basis, that the western powers would never really be united. That reasoning, however, has received a terrific jolt.

The 12 western nations, members of the Atlantic pact, have agreed to pool their economic and military might into one vast armed force, centrally directed to resist Soviet aggression.

The plan, in reality a unification move, is American inspired. It will "create a balanced collective force, which means each of the 12 nations will contribute specific units to the central western armed force and not try to maintain expensive over-all military establishments, each self-contained in all arms."

The move was seen by military men as the one means of giving the west a balanced defense force, working in harmony, and with maximum efficiency.

The United States is expected to bear the greatest part of the cost, although each nation will share in proportion to its resources. The U.S. share is expected to cost more than a billion dollars this year.

That the West is deadly serious and intends to have the plan in operation as soon as possible was evident by the creation of an over-all council of deputy foreign ministers, meeting all year round, to put the plan into force. The council will have a permanent powerful chairman who, it is understood, will be an American.

Some sources predicted the U.S. may require a larger air force and navy under the plan, since this country will be entirely responsible for atomic and other strategic bombing in case of enemy aggression.

DEMOCRATS: Harmony Disturbed

Surface harmony prevailing among Democrats at the Jefferson jubilee celebration in Chicago was shattered by the controversial civil rights issue, which split the party in 1949.

The Democrats were startled because of the unexpected source of dissension.

Most southerners who attend the Chicago meeting chose to ignore the civil rights panel. Jonathan Daniels, North Carolina national committeeman and former White house aide under both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, did not so choose.

He sat through the meeting, listening to 16 speakers demand enactment of the Truman program, and then insisted upon speaking at the conclusion.

He told them flatly he could not go along with them in favor of a compulsory fair employment practice act, and added: "you cannot have a prohibition law against discrimination in the south."

He asserted the propaganda for the creation of a fair employment practice commission "gives a weapon to our enemies, the Dixie crats" and makes it possible for them "to hide behind the civil rights issue while they fight every progressive measure."

Moscow Tool

The independent United Electrical Workers union has been denounced again as "Communist dominated."

Maurice J. Tobin, secretary of labor, and Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, made the charges in speeches at a rally of General Electric workers. The UE was expelled from the CIO last year on charges of having left-wing tendencies.

POLITICS: Are Both Parties Split?

Observers are wondering if the Republican and Democratic parties both are going into the November election with split political fronts. The Republican trend came to light in the Oregon senatorial primary which was won by independent voting Sen. Wayne Morse. His campaign is not likely to resemble any other Republican drives this fall.

In Pennsylvania, Governor James H. Duff defeated the old guard Republicans in the senatorial primary.

In many quarters the Duff and Morse victories were seen as signs that many Republican voters think the party needs to offer more than mere opposition to President Truman's Fair Deal.

On the Democratic front, a few more cracks have been added to the split caused by the civil-rights conflict started in 1948.

Southerners are still battling the program, and recently have generally opposed Truman's plans for more government spending. The Brannan plan has added fuel to the fire of discontent among some of the President's best western friends.

With these points in mind, the September and October political speeches of both parties may prove the most interesting in years.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking Republican took another swing at the President, charging that he seeks a "rubber-stamp" congress, elected in November.

Said GOP national chairman Guy Gabrielson: "The 1950 issues now are clear. President Truman has asked the voters to give him a rubber-stamp congress that will approve his program of socialism."

WINNIPEG: Wet but Undeclared

Flood battered Winnipeg slowly returns to normal. With nearly a fifth of the city at one time under water, the citizens raised a banner proclaiming they were "wet but undeclared" on the court house and waited for the Red river to show its first drop.

Before it came flood waters had reached a record high for the century. Some 100,000 of Winnipeg's 350,000 population were forced to evacuate and many of southern Manitoba's towns were deserted.

When the river showed its first drop, flood waters were about two feet below the absolute peak at which engineers figured nearly all of Winnipeg would be waterlogged and the whole population would have to be evacuated.

Even with the river back in its banks, however, observers said it would be some time before the city would be back to normal.

MRS. ROOSEVELT: Comforted Distressed

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was awarded the seventh annual Williamsburg Settlement gold-medal award for typifying the American way of life and aiding the underprivileged.

At the presentation dinner, former congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce called her long time political foe the "best-loved woman in the world" and said that "no woman ever had 'so comforted the distressed—or distressed the comfortable.'"

"When her justly notable tolerance and patience with the Communists finally gave out, that day tolerance of communism in America ended officially. It is safe to say that her resistance to Soviet communism is a more potent factor in winning the cold war than an extra billion dollars of Marshall plan aid," she added.

Something New

With all the investigations that have been under way in Washington, Rep. Usher L. Burdick of North Dakota has come up with a new one. He asked the house rules committee to approve a resolution to investigate all things congress. The committee postponed action on the resolution indefinitely.

EXPLOSION: Second in Generation

The stunned and battered community of South Amboy, N. J., 31 miles south of New York City, tied up its wounds and, for the second time in a generation, went about the business of rebuilding.

On May 19 four explosive-laden barges blew up with such force debris was splattered over a 10 to 12 block area. Twenty-six persons were dead or missing and nearly 400 were injured.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Movies Failure As Propaganda

Do movies affect public opinion?

Answer: Very little believes Dr. James E. Hulett, Jr., University of Illinois psychologist and public opinion expert. Questionnaires and interviews before, during, and after the run of a propaganda-entertainment picture in a local theatre showed it was "unexpectedly ineffective" in influencing popular judgments. Apart from the film's imperfections, Dr. Hulett feels "most people do not attribute accuracy and seriousness of purpose to films shown commercially." "I suspect that films not meant as propaganda may be more effective."

all, your hostess, even though she is your daughter or your son's wife. It's the rightful privilege of every married couple to be master and mistress in their own home, and the more fully you recognize this, the more they'll enjoy your visits.

Are some "inner conflicts" unavoidable?

Answer: In their primary form, Yes. From his first day in school, for example, a child's wish to have the other children like him conflicts with his wish to have his own way and boss everyone around. And this conflict between "social will" and "self-will" can't be settled by allowing either one to crush the other since both are imperishable parts of human nature. The nearest to peace of mind we can come is by compromising, or, through finding where our wishes coincide with those of others, managing to gratify both urges at once.

Should you "make yourself at home" with married children?

Answer: You may hope to be a welcome guest in their homes, but unless you live with them, you should never forget that you ARE a guest and not "one of the family." To assume the right to drop in uninvited for a meal, for instance, is to show lack of consideration for a person who is, after

KEEPING HEALTHY

Brain Stroke and Blood Pressure

By Dr. James W. Barton

BECAUSE so many middle-aged and elderly men and women die of heart stroke (coronary thrombosis), we do not read or hear so much about brain stroke (apoplexy), which, like heart stroke, may cause death on first attack, or may consist of several strokes.

The first or following strokes may cause paralysis of limbs or other parts of the body. Both brain and heart strokes are caused in the great majority of cases by high blood pressure and the breaking down or clogging of a blood vessel supplying the part.

In "The American Heart Journal," Drs. S. P. Hicks and B.K. Black report their study on the role of the failure of heart and blood vessels to do their work properly, thus causing apoplexy. There were 155 cases of apoplexy confirmed by examination after death in 99 men and 56 women.

It was found that high blood pressure (hypertension) was present in nearly 90 per cent of the patients.

Now having high blood pressure does not mean that you are bound to have a brain stroke or a heart stroke. Thousands of men and women with high blood pressure live and enjoy good health year in and year out. In the care of the family physician, they perhaps never think of their illness.

From time to time the physician examines their blood pressure, and aside from some advice as to diet and rest and occasionally a quieting drug, no treatment is necessary to prevent a brain or heart stroke.

In the study of the 155 cases of apoplexy, Drs. Hicks and Black report that a spasm, probably due to some emotional disturbance, appeared to be an important factor in most cases, while the high blood pressure, aside from spasm, was responsible for just a few of the deaths.

The lesson is plain for those with high blood pressure. By keeping the mind at rest, by help of religion or philosophy of life, a brain stroke may be prevented.

HEALTH NOTES

Unfortunately the causes of some forms of heart disease are not known, and it is research on these diseases that requires so much money, if they are to be prevented and controlled.

Headache symptoms are subjective (what the patient tells the doctor), not objective (what the physician sees.)

While methods of controlling decay of teeth, such as brushing and use of fluorides are of real value, the most effective method is removal of decayed enamel and dentine.

In most hospitals, a blood examination for syphilis is made of every patient entering the hospital for any disease.

Alabama Woman Recommends HADACOL

TO FOLKS SUFFERING WITH DEFICIENCIES OF VITAMINS B1, B2, NIACIN AND IRON

Mrs. Cassady and Children

Mrs. R. E. Cassady, 406 Tennessee Avenue, East Gadsden, Alabama, has suffered for some time with loss of weight, nervousness and gas pains. After taking HADACOL, she says: "I would wholeheartedly recommend HADACOL because it has done so much for me."

Mrs. Cassady was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. She says, "I wouldn't take anything for the complete change HADACOL has made in my home."

Here is Mrs. Cassady's statement: "For some time, I have been underweight, nervous, had terrible headaches and gas pains all the time. I had taken all kinds of medicine. Then a friend told me how she got such wonderful results from HADACOL. After two bottles, I could tell a terrific difference. I now have a fine appetite, have gained weight and best of all, have lost those gas pains and headaches. I wholeheartedly recommend HADACOL because it has done so much for me. I wouldn't take anything for the complete change that HADACOL has made in my home."

Sold On A Strict Money-Back Guarantee

So give this remarkable HADACOL medicine a chance to help you if you suffer from stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, a general run-down condition, and are sick or ailing, because you have deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. Remember that HADACOL is amazingly different and amazingly effective because it treats the real cause of such troubles. Make up your mind to take HADACOL regularly. Refuse substitutes. Insist on the genuine. There is only one HADACOL. You can't lose a cent, because its sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great with the first few bottles you take . . . or your money back. Only $1.25 for Trial size. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv.

Ghosts Haven't Ghost of a Chance in Manhattan But This Haunting Story Gave New Yorkers Pause

By BILLY ROSE

We men of Manhattan are an undaunted and unhaunted lot—or at least think we are—and so ghost stories seldom stand a ghost of a chance in this town.

The other night, however, a real estate man buttooled me coming out of "21" and told me a chiller about a deserted house in the Flushing section of Queens, and on the off-chance that your scalp can use a tingle or two, I'd like to pass it along . . .

On the night of the big snow three winters ago, a doctor in Queens answered his doorbell and found a smallish man in a faded mackinaw standing on the stoop.

"My wife is very sick," he said. "I hate to ask you to come out on a night like this, but it's only a few blocks."

The doctor followed him to a large wooden house near the intersection of Vine street and Broadway and when the man unlocked the door the physician could see a glare of an unshaded drop light in the lower floor was empty for a few kitchen chairs and a length of carpet.

"THIS IS NO PLACE for woman," he said. "You ought to have some heat in the house."

The man led him up a set of stairs to the second and in the front room an aged woman was lying in a four-poster bed. She kept coughing into a blood-flecked handkerchief.

WILLIAM HOLDEN made a record in 1949—he did pictures at four studios; this promises to be equally busy role in "Sunset Boulevard" of his favorites, though he re-figure a bit over what he did after Gloria Swanson shot him. That very effective bit of acting came after long study of the character he was playing. His performance is really tops. In private life his severest critic is his daughter Virginia, who reads all his scripts; of this one she said, "Why do you sons walk out on a recent picture of his to look at an old Western on television."

Gloria Swanson, after her sensational come-back in "Sunset Boulevard," plans to star in another picture, which she will co-produce with William Dieterle. She has plans to make it in Istanbul, with partial Turkish financing. The story sounds perfect for her—it's about a woman who is in love with a man younger than she, who cannot save her from death.

Rhonda Fleming, star of "The Eagle and the Hawk," is featured in the June issue of Holiday magazine in a color portrait shot at Malibu; she was chosen as "being typical of the 1950 feminine figure in a bathing suit."

Walt Disney studied the appearances and careers of notorious pirates of history before camera work started on "Treasure Island." The famous Blackbeard, the ruthless Israel Hands and others appear as Stevenson characters.

Fred Uttal, announcer on "Mr. District Attorney," has two boys, Bro and Lyn, aged 2 and 1 respectively. He says that if he and his wife has a third one he'll call it Ook—"Put them all together and they spell Brooklyn."

Lew Ayres began his career as a dance band singer, but in his years in pictures, he's done everything but sing. At last, in RKO's "The Capture," he's a singing cowboy—has one scene where he plucks a guitar and sings "Git Along Little Dogie." But Ayres ran into difficulty; he has a true ear, and had to practise hard to learn to sing off-key.

Melville Cooper and Elsa Lanchester were a vaudeville team 25 years ago in London, appearing in a miniature theater owned by Elsa and Charles Laughton. Together now in "The Petty Girl," they did their act for the cast.

stood gazing thoughtfully at the many lights along Broadway. He felt enlightened and no longer homesick. Strangely enough the noise and bustle associated themselves in his mind with Sabina. He was glad to be a part of it all.

He gazed furtively at the comely Sadie and pictured her in the rural setting of Centerville.

They attended a theater and dined afterward at an exclusive night club. Sadie would have liked to go back to the hotel, but she wanted to please Bart.

"Bart," she said, when at last they stood outside the door to her room. "When are you coming home? When are you going to give up all this and come back where you belong?"

Bart looked down into her eyes and saw something that two years ago he had longed to witness. He sighed deeply.

"Sadie, it's been just great seeing you. Just what I needed. A sort of tonic." He smiled at her gently. "I'm not going back just yet, Sadie. There's something keeping me here, something that before I never knew existed. I know now that it's something greater than anything. Some time I'm coming back, and when I do there'll be two of us."

Her name was Sabina Goodnow, and she adored him.

met him in the lobby of her hotel. "Hello, pal," she cried. "Looking just the same. Thinner, maybe. But otherwise old Bart himself."

"Sadie!" Bart stared in open admiration. "Sadie! How good it is to see you. Tell me, how are things in Centerville? How are the folks? Tell me everything."

"Same old town, Bart. Your folks are fine. Your dad owns a new tractor. Polly, the horse, died you know. But I suppose they wrote you that. The voters decided to run town water up to William's Hill at the last town meeting. Not so much danger if fire breaks out now. Ed Salmon ran off with Bob Evans' wife. She came back two weeks ago, and Bob took her in. Shame. Poor kid . . ."

THEY TALKED for hours. By evening Bart was fully ap-it's always been on my list, nobody's ever wanted it."

"Do you think squatters might be living in it on account of the housing shortage?" asked the doctor.

"Could be, but I doubt it," said the agent. "There's been a lot of queer talk about that house, and the last family that moved in during the depression could only stand it

This is Your Paper Those 'Changed' News Items

By William R. Nelson

"WHENEVER I bring in a news item, why do you always change it all around?"

That question is one of the most frequently asked in every home town newspaper office in the country. Sometimes it is asked in considerable exasperation.

The answer is, of course, that news stories are easier to read, better understood, take less space, when they are written to conform to a somewhat flexible pattern. That style, developed over the years, is fairly uniform in all newspapers because it was designed to evaluate the facts for their news value and tell them quickly and clearly.

A well written news story presents its outstanding information in the opening paragraph or lead. What follows after that is amplification, additional details.

There are excellent reasons why news story style is best, among them: (1) The reader can quickly read the lead, and quit there if the story fails to interest him or her.

(2) It permits cutting or reducing the length of a story, to get it into a particular place in the paper, by eliminating from the bottom. As these bottom paragraphs contain less important details, their removal will not seriously reduce the information the story is conveying.

The editor tries to pack his paper with as much news as he can get, written in clear, readable style, and arranged to give the paper a varied and attractive appearance. Yet he cannot prepare the entire content of an issue in an hour or a day.

Written to Fit The Space

Because writing, editing, setting type, putting the type in the page forms, and printing, addressing and delivering take time, they must start early enough to conclude at a specified time each issue. If news stories are not written so they can be made to fit the space assigned to them, much time will be lost and the paper will contain fewer stories and be less interesting.

The editor is a specialist whose stock-in-trade is an understanding of what interests people. He welcomes news and does his best to present it in accurate, readable, interesting form.

Next time you bring in a new item, and it is "changed all around," remember that it was written into news style to help you make it of interest to the greatest possible number of readers.

Celebrate Sixtieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stewart celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary with an "at home" on Friday evening from seven until nine o'clock. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. T. F. Meroney and presented to the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Harry Fyne, of Sumter, S. C.; Mrs. Alma Collins, of Gates; Roger Stewart, of Raleigh; Mrs. J. O. Young, of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. Hoy Poston, of Mocksville. Mrs. J. K. Sheek directed the guests to the dining room where wedding punch, decorated cakes, mints and nuts were served by Misses Ann and Helen Poston, Dorothy Morris, Mrs. Benny Naylor, and Mrs. Osborne Young, Jr., of Winston-Salem. Many friends called during the evening to extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart on this happy occasion.

Keep Planting Garden Vegetables

By F. E. Peebles, County Agent.

A good home garden is worth a great deal of money. The quantity of the vegetables grown at home is far above the average bought in a store, not to mention the satisfaction of knowing you grew the food yourself.

A good garden should include a variety of vegetables and several plantings in order to have fresh vegetables all during the summer. Stable manure is a good fertilizer, but should be used with a good commercial fertilizer such as 6-8-6 in liberal amounts. The following vegetables with the recommended varieties, should be planted at two or three week intervals.

Snap beans—tendergreen, black valentine, logan.
 Pole beans—Kentucky Wonders, McCaslan.
 Bush lima beans—Henderson Bush, Fordhook 24.
 Pole lima beans—Carolina, Sieva pole.
 Corn—Golden Cross Bantam or Hybrid Field Corn.
 Okra—Clemson spineless, white velvet.
 Field peas—Sugar Crowder or brown Crowder.
 Pepper (plants)—Ruby King; Pimento.
 Sweet potatoes—Porto Rico.
 Squash—Yellow crookneck, white bush, Hubbard.
 Tomato (plants)—Marglobe, Rutgers, Pritchard.

Be sure and use good quality seed. It is necessary to observe vegetables often to determine if insects are damaging them. A little money and time spent on spray or dust material can assure good insect control and good yields of the different vegetables. One oz. of cryolite to one gallon of water or cryolite dust will control bean beetles, cucumber beetles, flea beetles, potato blister beetles and pickle worms. After snap beans and peas form, use rotenone instead of cryolite. Paris green bran mash will control cut worms. Nicotine spray or dust will control aphids (lice). 20% Sabadilla dust will control Harlequin bugs.

Work on the new J. C. Sanford in South Mocksville is progressing rapidly.

To The Republican Voters

Of Wilkes County And The Seventeenth Judicial District

Dear Friends:

It is with deepest humility and a heart full of gratitude that I pause to pen this note of thanks to my friends throughout Wilkes County and the Seventeenth Judicial District of North Carolina.

Your wholehearted cooperation and support as shown by the large vote in the Primary on May 27th, was most gratifying.

I shall ever be thankful to you for the large majority that you gave me in the Primary. I consider it a very great honor and a distinction that I feel unworthy of from so great a people and a party with so great and noble history.

Hoping that I may have your wholehearted support and cooperation in the fall election; again, with the deepest gratitude to each of you and the Republican Party, let me simply say I THANK YOU!

Respectfully Yours

Receives Degree

Henry Shaw Anderson received his M. D. degree in graduation exercises at Wake Forest College on Monday, June 5th. Mrs. Henry Shaw Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Anderson, Mrs. S. W. Brown, Jr., of this city, and Miss Duo Shaw, of Route 2, Harmony, attended the exercises. Dr. Anderson returned to Norfolk Sunday, but Mrs. Anderson and daughter Patricia, will remain here for a two weeks visit with her parents, after which Dr. and Mrs. Anderson will be at home in Norfolk, where he will serve his internship at DePaul hospital.

George R. Hendricks and Harvey Crews spent a few days last week fishing off the South Carolina Coast. Can't say how many fish they caught.

A 6-room house in Boeotown, owned by Helen Dillard and occupied by two families, Rosa Carter and Hugh Dobbins, was destroyed by fire last Tuesday morning about 8:30 o'clock together with all contents. The fire boys did some good work in saving adjoining buildings. Water had to be carried from nearby homes and pumped through the water hose.

Jack Allison, of Charlotte, was in town Tuesday shaking hands with old friends.

Farmer Finds Blower Effective Hay Dryer Mounted on Cart, It's Easy to Move About

Wet springs and early frosts aren't the headaches they once were to a growing number of farmers. For they have discovered that immature grain can be cured just as effectively in storage buildings as in the field.

The average farmer will find that mechanized drying of hay and grain is not as expensive as it would appear. Hay & grain saved will soon pay for equipment.

Equipment for mechanical drying of grain is simple, and present farm structures can be converted easily, quickly and inexpensively to handle this newest of farm production chores. Farmers, who have hay curing equipment, will find that the same fan and motor can be used for both drying grain and finishing forage crops.

The accompanying illustration shows what can be done in the way of inter-changing hay curing and grain drying equipment. When the hay curing season is over, this farmer mounts his fan and motor on a cart and hauls them to a crib where they are put to use blowing moisture out of his immature corn. An outlet, into which he plugs his five-horsepower motor, is located in an adjacent building.

When double cribs are used, as in the case shown, the air blast enters through one end of the driveway. The opposite end is sealed up, and heavy paper placed on walls of the crib from the peak of the roof to the top of the corn layer. Openings around the fan and in the floor also are closed. In single cribs, wooden ducts or "A" frames are laid down the center of the floor and the air blown directly into them.

Drying is successful without supplementary heat when the temperature is 60 or above and the relative humidity 65 per cent or below. If heat is used, buildings should be insulated and properly ventilated. Warm air is blown into storage sheds by motor driven fans. Thermostats and other controls automatically keep the temperature and the flow of air at efficient drying levels.

Don't Strain

Here's a right smart idea for a feed and grain scoop that eliminates the wrist strain of scoops with the usual projecting handles. For a large scoop, one that can be used in sacking grain, 20-gauge galvanized material is about right. The scrap iron brace to which the front end of the handle is bolted helps hold light metal in shape.

Year's Fruit Prospects Hit by Widespread Damage

Explosive April caused considerable damage to budding fruit and a great drop in the year's prospects is indicated.

South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia suffered damaged peaches. Washington, Idaho and Oregon show a 100 percent bud loss and many trees killed. Damage in southern Illinois ranged from 50 to 100 per cent, according to some reports by farm bureau

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Use Dry Sugar Pack for Frozen Berries (See Recipes Below)

Stock Your Freezer

SO MANY FOODS like peas, asparagus and strawberries which are coming to their peak of season now yield excellent results when frozen. If you have either home or commercial facilities for keeping them in this way, then it's time to make your plans soon.

Freezing foods is quick and easy. Results are excellent, and your table in mid-winter, showing off these delicacies, takes on the effect of a banquet. The flavor and goodness of fresh foods is preserved during the freezing process. However, it's important to remember that foods come from the freezer just as good as when they are frozen, and no better.

Speed is Essential

Utmost speed should be used in getting fruits and vegetables into the freezer. The two hour rule which applies to canning should be used here, too. It's easier to observe, however, because there's no processing time to consider.

If you have your own garden, pick vegetables and fruits early in the morning while the dew is still on them.

If you have to arrange to buy them, try to observe the same rule. Fruits and vegetables which have stood around are not as tender as when first picked, neither do they have the food values as freshly picked produce.

Have all equipment in readiness so that you can go ahead with full speed. Vegetables will have to be scalded, then dunked in ice water. Containers should be ready to fill and seal.

Plan to put foods in your own refrigerator promptly and plan to get them into your own or the commercial freezer as quickly as possible.

Freezing Raspberries, Strawberries

Both raspberries and strawberries give best results when they are frozen with sugar rather than with syrup since they will make their own juice in the carton.

Choose varieties which have been successfully tested for freezing. In raspberries these are Cuthbert, Latham or Viking. A 24-quart crate or about 36 pounds of raspberries will yield 24-26 quart cartons, each quart serving 6 to 8 people.

Marshall is the best common variety to use for frozen strawberries, a 24-quart crate will yield about 30 quart cartons.

Wash the berries in water which has been cooled with ice to 40°. Do not allow them to remain in the water for more than 30 seconds. A good way to do this is to place the berries in a colander, after sorting, and then place the colander in water sufficient to cover. Shake gently, lift from water, drain and remove caps, using a sharp knife.

Place the fruit on a tray which has been lined with several thicknesses of absorbent toweling and place in refrigerator to drain and cool.

Place drained and cooled berries in a bowl and sprinkle sugar over

LYNN SAYS: Dress Up Ordinary Foods If You Serve Them Often

Are fruit salads an almost daily item at your table? The family will appreciate new color and flavor in the dressing. Beat some currant jelly into sweet French dressing for that nice, extra change.

If sandwiches are a stand-by on your luncheon menus, try this one for something different; use broiled bacon, lettuce and sliced tomato on buttered toast and serve with thin, hot American cheese sauce.

them, using one part sugar to 4 parts of berries. Or, alternate sugar and berries in freezing carton. Seal and freeze carton at once.

Frozen Peaches

Use tree-ripened varieties, such as Hale Haven or J. H. Hale in the yellow types. One bushel of peaches will give about 24 quart cartons frozen.

Place about 18 peaches in a wire basket and plunge into hot water for one minute, then in cold water and slip off skins. Slice and place in a bowl, sprinkling with one table-spoon of lemon juice as you do so. Add sugar, one part to four of fruit. Turn gently with wooden spoon.

Pack gently into carton and seal. Freeze at once.

Handle peaches gently and make certain all sugar is mixed with fruit before packaging.

Allow ½-inch head space for fruits and vegetables packed in pint cartons. Allow about ¾-inch additional when using quart cartons.

Frozen Peas

Tender, not fully matured peas are best to use. Wash pods before shelling and discard all small or wrinkled peas.

If pods are full and difficult to shell, scald with boiling water for one minute.

Peas then, should be scalded, after shelling, also; by steam, three minutes; by boiling water, one minute; or by pressure cooker for two minutes. Cool in ice water and drain on absorbent toweling.

Seal at once and place in freezer or refrigerator immediately, not allowing more than one hour to elapse from the time they are packaged to the time freezing starts.

The varieties giving best results are Thos, Laxton and Alderman. One bushel yields 6-8 quart cartons.

Frozen Green Beans

Iron utensils should not be used for scalding as they will discolor beans during scalding.

For small beans, cut shoestring style, scald with steam for five minutes, or by boiling water for three minutes. For medium whole beans, use steam for six minutes, boiling water for four minutes or give them five minutes in a pressure cooker.

Cool in iced water, drain, pack and freeze.

For quick preparation, after washing, grasp as many beans in hand as possible and snap off the stem end.

You'll never need to apologize for fish fillets which have been baked in thick cream with sliced mushrooms, chives and a sprinkling of paprika. Icy cold sliced cucumbers and new potatoes are perfect with it.

Omelets can be improved with herbs. You might like to try this egg dish with sweet marjoram, tarragon or basil.

Cinnamon sprinkled into apple sauce is a perfect accompaniment to French toast be they served for luncheon or breakfast.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Help for Our Times

Lesson for June 18, 1950

FOR TIMES that are dull, times without hope, Malachi is the prophet. When he lived the exile was over; but it was no golden age. In the dingy little city of Jerusalem, rich and beautiful no longer, lived only a comparative handful of rather poor people, dragging out a monotonous existence. To these people, living in discouraging times, Malachi had, and has, a message from God.

His prophecies do not have the bitter tang of Amos nor the melancholy of Hosea, the grandeur of Isaiah, the dramatic power of Jeremiah or the eerie visions of Ezekiel. But with inspired common-sense, he offers in the name of God a simple remedy with four ingredients.

Better Leaders

SPEAKING DIRECTLY to the leaders of the people, namely the priests, Malachi condemns them for not really taking stock in the thing they were doing. How we need that today! If the church today in any place is dead, you may be sure there are some dead leaders. Dead from the neck up, that is. And not necessarily the preachers.

Many a good preacher breaks his heart for lack of support. How many men and women, in your church, can the minister count on to fill in where they are needed, without making up a dozen reasons why they "can't" do it? Why do Christians talk and pray as if their religion were all-important, but act as if everything else came first?

Law Observance

ANOTHER THING for which Malachi pleads is law observance. (E.g. 2:8; 3:5) They did not need new laws, for they had good ones. What they needed was to obey the laws they had. This again is what our times need. We have so many laws now that only an expert can keep up with them. No civilized nation could live, to be sure, under the unchanged statutes of a generation ago.

Nevertheless, if all the legislatures in America were to resolve to pass no more laws for five years, and if for five years the energy, time and money spent ordinarily on getting up new laws were put in on educating the people in the laws now in existence, and in fostering law observance and in preventing and punishing crimes, ours would be a better country.

The Unbroken Home

AGAIN, Malachi stands for the unbroken home. He knows that no country can be strong when its homes are weak. (2:10-17.) In the year 1948 there were about 420,000 divorces in the United States, and 1.80 million marriages.

That is a divorce rate of about 23 per cent. In some states the percentage of divorce is even higher. Indeed, in one large midwestern city it was announced in the papers about two years ago that the marriages had "caught up with" the divorces, i.e., they were at last having more marriages than divorces! This was an extreme case.

To say nothing else about it, 420,000 divorces and 12,000 desertions means that in the United States alone there are at least 432,000 persons who have no regard for the most solemn promises.

Support The Church

FIRST AND LAST, Malachi asks better support of the church. You need the church, of course; but then the church needs you. There is need for better leadership in the first place, and better support from the common man. Few persons want to live in a community without churches; yet a mere church building will not effect community life in the least. A beautiful building and a tall white steeple are not a church.

The only church which will help a neighborhood is one in which the neighborhood takes an active part, a church where neighbors together worship God and where they are inspired to plans and acts of service for their fellow-men.

The main object of the church is not to shore up the country; still if you want a better country, one of the best ways to support it is to support the Christian church. For of all the institutions in the nation, the church is the only one devoted to the purpose of transforming human lives.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Bread Box
To insure the fullest protection of bakery products, keep the bread box clean. Wash and scald the container, and air-dry it thoroughly twice a week in winter and every other day in summer. Do not stand bread boxes near heat units in the kitchen, such as ranges, radiators, water heaters and clothes dryers. On the other hand a cold pantry will cause the bread to stale faster. Bread boxes should not be too airy unless the products themselves are stored in moisture-proof wrappers.

Horseradish With Ham
Horseradish sauce is delicious with cold ham; to make it, whip a half cup of cream and add a quarter cup of drained, prepared horseradish to it along with a half cup of creamed cottage cheese, a half tablespoon of vinegar and a quarter teaspoon of salt.

Delicious Fruit Compote
Prunes, apricots, and dried pears make a delicious fruit compote. Use part orange juice for the liquid in which the fruit is cooked and add a slice or two of lemon, too. Serve with a topping if sour cream is desired.

Have you had MALARIA? ... IF SO WATCH OUT

The medical profession knows that though a person may be cured of common malaria they may have it come back again. So, if you are once more feeling tired, run down, have pains in back and legs, feel weak and listless, no appetite and nervous — though chills and fever haven't struck you yet and you have common malaria—it doesn't pay to take more of red blood cells. Sold at all leading drug stores, only $1.50. If your druggist does not handle OXIDINE, order direct from OXIDINE Company, Mineral Wells, Texas, and when the Postman brings your package just pay the amount shown C.O.D. and return it. If you're not satisfied after using OXIDINE, just return the empty carton and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Nothing can be fairer. OXIDINE has been used for over 10 years.

WHEN SLEEP WON'T COME AND YOU FEEL GLUM

Use Chewing-Gum Laxative—REMOVES WASTE... NOT GOOD FOOD

• When you can't sleep—feel just awful because you need a laxative—do as MILLIONS DO—chew FEEN-A-MINT. FEEN-A-MINT is wonderfully different! Doctors say many other laxatives start their "stooling" action too soon...right in the stomach. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy...you feel weak, worn out. But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that weak, tired feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel fine, full of life! 25¢, 50¢, or only 10¢

Good Cook Stops Stomach Trouble

Mrs. Maud Tebeaux, Route 4, Box 840, Waco, a mighty fine cook, says that good food, lots of fresh air, plenty of sleep and a box of Crazy Water Crystals on hand is a fine way to assure good health.

Mrs. Tebeaux says: "Any time anyone feels sick or sluggish I insist they take Crazy Water Crystals. I have used them for over five years and before I started taking them I was troubled with gas and my stomach was always sore. Now since taking Crazy Water Crystals regularly I have not had my stomach trouble. Actually, I do not consider Crazy Water Crystals a medicine—I call it a good nourishing breakfast drink."

It doesn't matter how old you are or where you live—Crazy Water Crystals are good for you because they are nature's own product. Faulty, sluggish elimination so often is the cause of many ailments; folks suffer from—upset stomach, gas pains, headaches, rundown, played-out feeling, nervousness and other body aches and pains can often be attributed to faulty elimination. The one and only genuine CRAZY WATER CRYSTALS have been produced and distributed to your druggist for over 70 years by the CRAZY WATER CO., INC., of Mineral Wells, Texas—Adv.

REASON ENOUGH
A man was filling out an application blank for a job and came to the question: "Have you ever been arrested?" His answer was "No."
The next question, intended for those who answered the preceding question in the affirmative, was "Why?" Nevertheless, the applicant answered it with, "Never got caught."

Uncle Sam Says

June 21 marks the first day of summer, that time of year when everyone's thoughts turn to vacation, whether it be to travel, to visit the seashore or mountains, or maybe to go fishing, or, maybe a swell vacation in that new home in the suburbs, the one you have dreamed about so long. Whatever it is, you can make those dreams a reality by investing, regularly, in U. S. Savings Bonds. You alone can answer the question "Will you be up or down in 1960?" If you want to be up and coming, enroll during the Independence Drive for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or if self-employed, the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank. U. S. Treasury Department

March, Month of Artists
There are only eight out of March's 31 days that do not mark the birth of one or more lions of arts and letters. This list starts off with Augustus Saint Gaudens, sculptor, on March 1st, and finishes with Nikolai Gogol, Russian writer, and Franz Josef Hayden, Austrian composer, on March 31. A partial roll call turns up artists Vincent Van Gogh, Sir Henry Raeburn, Michelangelo, Fra Angelico, Nathaniel Currier (Currier and Ives prints), Anthony Vandyke, Rosa Bonheur and Francisco Jose de Goya; and sculptors Gutson Borglum and Jo Davidson.

Allow Time When Mixing Colors
Different colors of paint, enamel and lacquer dry in different ways. Some dry lighter. Some change quite a little. Consequently, if you can't match a wet sample of the coating material—when you think you're close to the desired result—be sure to brush out a sample and let it dry. It's best to brush out your sample on a surface similar to that on which the coating will be used.

Bicycle Accidents
Study of the claims paid on the lives of industrial policy-holders during 1946 through 1948 show that seven-eighths of the fatal bicycle accidents were collision with motor vehicles, and that most of the remainder were the result of falls off bicycles. Three-fourths of the deaths were among boys five to 19 years of age. There is evidence that motorists are giving increasing attention to safety.

Penalty for Truth
"What is the difference," asked the teacher in arithmetic, "between one yard and two yards?" "A fence!" said Tommy. Then Tommy sat on the ruler six times.

The Old Path And Modernism

Rev. Walter E. Isenhour, High Point, R. 4.

When it comes to vital, Holy Ghost, old-time religion, give me the old paths that the patriarchs and prophets, apostles and discipled, our forefathers and saintly mothers trod. If it was good enough for them, and took them safely through this world, it is good enough for me. When we follow in the old paths of Bible salvation we believe absolutely in deep and thorough repentance of all sin, turning our backs upon it, and in the New Birth, just as Jesus taught in His message to Nicodemus. We likewise believe in the cleansing, purifying blood of Jesus as necessary to cleanse the heart and soul from all inbred sin, or from the Adamic nature. This is holiness.

In following the old paths of salvation we practice absolute honesty, uprightness, truthfulness, godliness, prayerfulness, temperance, liberality, kindness and love. We hold unquestionably to the Virgin birth of our Lord, to His resurrection, and look for His second coming. We believe it is vitally necessary not only to be born again, or from above, and that one's heart must be purified from all sin, actual and inbred, and that one must be true and faithful unto death in order to a crown of everlasting life. We believe that one cannot go with the world in her sin and folly, and in the meantime go with God. We believe every Christian is separated from the world and blessedly united Christ.

Modernism is a loose way of getting by with lots of things. It doesn't teach the vital necessity of the New Birth, or being born from above, or born again. Modernism rejects the Virgin birth of our Christ, and doesn't believe that it is necessary to have His blood applied to our hearts in order that they may be purified. Modernism rejects the blood of Christ as essential to salvation. Modernism gives its followers the privilege of living on a low level with the world, just so one belongs to the church and pays his dues. Modernism is an enemy to holiness, and is far from Biblical. No souls really and truly get to God through real salvation that accept modernism. No revivals of Holy Ghost salvation come through modernism. Modernistic churches have no altars, but salvation come through modernism. Modernistic churches have no altars, but merely hold to a form of worship, but God is not really and truly worshipped. Give me the old paths. Amen.

Recipe For A Real Religion

Get religion like a Methodist. Experience it like a Baptist. Stick to it like a Lutheran. Conciliate it like a Congregationalist. Be proud of it like an Episcopalian. Simplify it like a Quaker. Glorify it like a Jew. Pay for it like a Presbyterian. Practice it like a Christian Scientist. Work at it like the Salvation Army. Propagate it like a Roman Catholic. Enjoy it like a Negro.
—Judge Lewis Fawcett.

Nothing To It

A DISTRICT ATTORNEY was having trouble with one of the witnesses, a rather pugnacious old man.

"Are you acquainted with any of the jurymen?" asked the district attorney.

"More than half," growled the witness.

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" The old man flicked a glance over the jury box. "If it comes to that," he drawled, "I'm willing to swear I know more than all of them put together."

SETTING AN EXAMPLE

Two judges were arrested for speeding. When they arrived in court, no other judge was present, so they decided to try each other. The first judge went up on the bench and said, "You are charged with exceeding the speed limit, how do you plead?"

"Guilty," was the answer. "You are hereby fined five dollars."

Then they changed places and again the plea was "Guilty."

"Hm," said the other judge. "These cases are becoming far too common. This is the second case of this sort we've had this morning. I hereby fine you 10 dollars or 10 days in jail."

Community Affair

The young man at the summer resort, who had become engaged to the pretty girl, received information that led him to question her:

"Is it true that since you came up here you've got engaged to Billy, Ed, George and Harry, as well as me?"

The young lady assumed an air of disdain.

"What is that to you?" she demanded.

"Just this," he replied gently. "If it's so, and you have no objection, we fellows will all chip in together to buy an engagement ring."

No Fair

"Look there," said the worried householder to the new maid, "why did you tell your mistress what time I came home last night when I asked you not to?"

"I didn't," replied the maid. "She asked me what time you got in, and I told her I was too busy cooking the breakfast to look at the clock."

Big Difference

Millionaire to beggar: "Be off with you this minute." Beggar: "Look here, mister; the only difference between you and me is that you are makin' your second million while I'm still workin' at my first."

Just The Same

"Has James changed much in the years he has been away?" "No, but he thinks he has. He keeps talking about what a fool he used to be."

UPSY-DAISY

"The horse I was riding wanted to go one way, and I wanted to go another."

"Who won?" "He tossed me for it."

Getting Even

A general and a colonel were walking down the street. They met many privates, and each time the colonel would salute he would mutter, "The same to you."

The general's curiosity soon got the better of him, and he asked: "Why do you always say that?"

The colonel answered: "I was once a private and I know what they are thinking."

APPROPRIATE

Son: "Why do dollars have eagles on them?" Father: "They're symbolic of swift flight."

INTERFERENCE

"Did your garden do well this summer?" "No; every time my husband started digging he found a lot of worms, so he'd quit and go fishing."

Now He Knows

A commercial traveler, on leaving a certain hotel, said to the proprietor "Pardon me, but with what material do you stuff the beds in your establishment?"

"Why," said the landlord, proudly, "with the best straw to be found in the whole country!"

"That," returned the traveler, "is very interesting. I now know whence the straw came that broke the camel's back."

Surprise!

A one-armed man entered a restaurant at noon and seated himself at a lunch-counter, next to a man, who evidently was of the inquisitive type. The one-armed man paid no attention to him but kept on eating with his one hand. Finally the inquisitive one could stand it no longer, and said: "I beg your pardon, sir, but I see you have lost an arm."

The one-armed man picked up his empty sleeve with his hand and peered anxiously into it. "Bless my soul!" he exclaimed, looking up with great surprise. "I do believe you're right."

Enameling New Woodwork

If new interior woodwork is to be enameled, the first step is to apply a liquid filler. After that should come one or two coats of enamel undercoater, tinted to approximate the finishing color desired. These should be followed by one or two coats of gloss or semi-gloss enamel. At least twenty-four hours drying time should be allowed between coats and any surface irregularities should be removed with sandpaper after each coating—except the last—has dried thoroughly.

No Bedfellows

"I was so cold last night I couldn't sleep. I just lay there and shivered."

"Did your teeth chatter?" "I don't know, we don't sleep together."

People Safer Than Animals In Germ War, Doctor Says

If another war should come, America's herds and flocks might be easy targets for test-tube warfare, but the danger is not as great as alarmists have claimed.

This is the word from a man who directed some of the nation's wartime preparations for defending the livestock industry against possible "germ" warfare.

He is Dr. R. A. Kelsner, former chief of the Army Veterinary Corps and now dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Pennsylvania.

In an address before the New Jersey Veterinary Medical Society at Trenton, N. J., Dr. Kelsner declared that "there is no justification whatever for some of the predictions of vast potentialities and dire results inherent in biological warfare."

"On the other hand," he said, "an attitude of complete complacency and the assumption that nothing of consequence could be accomplished through biological warfare also would be a mistake."

If such warfare were waged, people would have a better chance of surviving it than animals in farm herds and flocks, he pointed out. The spread of an infectious disease in human beings usually is more or less limited to the family unit. Also, people can be alerted quickly to protect themselves against health threats.

Animals, however, ordinarily live in large herds, droves, or flocks, sharing the same grounds, quarters, and feed—with the result that infectious germs can spread rapidly among them and strike down large numbers at once.

"Moreover," Dr. Kelsner added, "getting contaminated or infected feed to animals would offer less difficulty and less risk of detection than would be the case with man."

Farmers Urged to Guard Against Livestock Poisons

Farm items that most people never think of as dangerous to animals are responsible for many cases of accidental livestock poisoning every year.

A veterinary medical bulletin lists poisonous plants, chemicals for seed treatment, polluted drinking water, fertilizers, insecticides, rat poisons, lead paint, cleaning and polishing agents, and certain medicine chest remedies as sources of stock poisoning.

With the exception of toxic plants, most of these items are not suspected when there are unexplained deaths in herds and flocks, the bulletin points out. Instead, owners are likely to blame commercial feeds or hostile neighbors when animals appear to have been poisoned.

In some cases, even an autopsy by a veterinarian does not reveal the exact cause of death, and a further search must be made. Feed troughs and floors should be examined, a search made for pills containing lead paint, and the entire farm grounds inspected for possible sources of poison.

The erroneous belief that hogs can eat "anything" and digest it explains many pig losses on farms throughout the nation, the bulletin states. If it were not for the fact that pigs easily vomit toxic agents, more of them would die of poisoning.

Farmers are urged to put a mental tag of "Poison" on all products not known to be safe and to be careful when using such products around livestock. This will help to prevent needless losses.

Rain by the Yard

Looking at long-time averages, Hawaii probably can claim about the wettest spot on the globe's dry land. On the seaward slope of its Mt. Waialeale, 42 feet of rainfall is recorded in an average year. But for vast spreading Hawaiian acres, where sugar cane and pineapple grow, irrigation is essential to the crops. The vapor-laden monsoon off the Bay of Bengal drowns forests of the mountains of Burma and Assam in rain that totals 30 feet a year at some points. Most of it falls in two summer months. In contrast, desert reaches on the several continents vie for "driest" honors with points where annual rainfall ranges from virtual zero to one inch.

Calf Pneumonia

Clean quarters free of drafts and a plentiful supply of dry bedding are essential to the control of calf pneumonia. It is also important that no healthy calf be placed in a pen vacated by a sick calf until the old bedding has been removed and the pen thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Another worth while precaution is to raise calves in small groups, rather than to put them all together.

Our County And Social Security

By W. K. White, Manager.

When a man makes a will, he tells his where he keeps it and what to do about it. He does the same about a life insurance policy. If he has a bank account, his wife often knows as much about it as he does.

But there are millions of workers who have Social Security Accounts, and not all the workers and their wives know how to cash in on that account at the proper time. I'm going to tell about a case which points out how lack of knowledge can cost money.

The man was an old furniture worker, who was not only self-reliant but proud of his good health at age 67. His pride lost him Social Security benefits. He had worked 50 years in his trade. He had paid for his home, and put something aside for his old age.

One day he began to have dizzy spells. At first he was able to work the better part of every day, but finally reached the point where it was a tremendous effort to get out of bed.

Finally he had to stop altogether. Since he had never been sick a day in his life before, he felt he'd soon get better and go back to work. He also felt that if he applied for his Old-Age benefits, it would mean admitting that he wasn't going to get better. He didn't understand his benefit rights under Old-Age and Survivors Insurance.

After not working for 6 months his employer persuaded him to visit our office and get his benefits. Well, he came in, still fighting proud. Said he would take his Old-Age payments temporarily. It's too bad he didn't come in right away when he got sick and file an application then. He could have received a payment for every month he was off work. And so could his wife, because she is also 65.

Remember, you don't have to retire permanently to get your Social Security. All we ask is that you let us know when you go back to work, and of course your benefits are suspended at that time. The Winston-Salem office of the Social Security Administration is in Room 437 Nissen Building.

I will be in Mocksville on Wednesday, June 28th, at the court house, second floor, at 12:30 p. m. I will also be in Cooleme on the same date at the Erwin Cotton Mills office at 11 a. m.

Guide Vegetable Canning With This Chart (See Recipes Below)

Canning Vegetables

THOSE GARDENS will soon be bursting with lovely green, yellow and red vegetables which you'll want to speed onto your canning shelves for healthful eating this fall and winter. Best results can be achieved when you have the kitchen ready, the night before, to take in the produce early in the morning while the dew is still fresh on them.

Whether you pick your own vegetables or buy them from somewhere else, try to get them well on their way to canning within two hours. Vegetables which have been picked for longer than eight hours before canning do not give as tender or high quality canned products.

Certainly the work is made easier if the kitchen is all set for action. This means that you have your jars freshly washed and scoured, sitting in tubs or large kettles ready to sterilize. You can put them on to boil when you go out to pick the vegetables.

Have a work table ready with colanders, knives and spoons where you can work on the vegetables after they're washed.

The pressure cooker should have been checked for use to see that the gauge is accurate. It should be clean and fitted with a rack, ready to receive the jars after they're packed.

Have a large kettle ready on the work table or range so that vegetables can be pre-cooked. Some women still use cold pack, that is pack the jars without any cooking of the vegetable. However, most women say they have more luck with precooking since this shrinks the vegetable before packing and also sets the color better.

Choosing Vegetables

IT'S EASY to determine whether a vegetable is right for canning just by careful inspection. Here are tips to guide you.

Asparagus stalks should be green for the greater part of their length, inasmuch as the white parts are woody. Choose firm stalks.

Lima beans or snap (green) beans should be young and tender. Both types should look green and fresh. Green beans should snap readily when bent.

Kernels on corn should be plump and full of milk. The husk should be fresh and green. In greens, choose those with tender, young and unbruised leaves. Never use wilted leaves.

Pea pods should be bright and full. Avoid the puffy pods with small peas. Peas, when shelled should be tender.

LYNN SAYS:
Treat Pressure Cooker Like Fine Machine

One of the best things about the pressure cooker is the accuracy with which it processes foods. Treat it carefully so that the accuracy can be maintained.

Guard the cooker against blows, as these may dent it or break it. If the pressure gauge is jarred or damaged, it will lose its accuracy.

Keep the sealing surface clean and dry as this enables you to close the cooker properly.

Follow These Directions WHEN VEGETABLES are brought in for washing and preparation, have your pressure cooker all ready to use. The rack should be in place, the safety valve assembled and the petcock open.

The jars should be ready, too, after washing in a pan of hot water. Have the teakettle or other vessel with boiling water ready, too, as this is the liquid you'll need for filling vegetable jars.

Wash and prepare the vegetables to fill the jars you have. Pre-cook the vegetable for the specified length of time, then ladle into the jars immediately. Add enough boiling water to the jar so that it reaches to within 1/4 to 1/2 inch of the top. Add salt to the jar, in the proportion of 1/2 teaspoon to pints and 1 teaspoon for quarts.

Run a spatula around the inside of the jar to release air bubbles. Wipe the sealing surface of the jars with a clean cloth. Adjust the jar closure, using manufacturers' directions. These vary with different caps, so it's smart to read directions for the particular one you're using.

Place jars in cooker, seeing that they do not touch, and that there is enough room for the hot air to circulate. There should be enough water in the cooker to cover the bottom or the rack. Adjust the lid on the cooker, and tighten clamps as directed by manufacturer.

Processing Under Pressure
TURN THE heat under the cooker on, and let steam pour from the petcock for 7 to 10 minutes. This is necessary for releasing the air from the cooker so that when you do start the actual pressure cooking, you'll have correct temperature.

Close the petcock and let the cooker come to the desired pressure. It's important that this be maintained, as fluctuations of a pound or two either way several times during processing will drain liquid from the jars, thus giving an unattractive look to them, as well as leaving them dry to the point where they are uncovered.

Process according to vegetable chart given above. Turn heat off and remove to a cooler place until the gauge registers zero, then release petcock, clamps and cover. Always stay far enough away so that the steam does not burn you as you open the cooker.

When you want to clean the petcock and safety valve, use a pipe cleaner, running it back and forth through the openings. Never use toothpicks as these may break and clog the cooker.

Never store the pressure cooker away without insulating it against any moving or dust and dirt. Wrap well in newspaper and cloths.

It's best to store the lid separately from the cooker, so that no musty odors, difficult to rid, can develop in a closed utensil.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Peevish Prophet

Lesson for June 25, 1950.

JONAH THOUGHT he knew better than God. When men said, "Be a prophet," Jonah decided to take a long vacation. He took a ship for a far place so far away he thought even God could not follow. When God said, "Preach to Nineveh," Jonah decided that was the very thing he did not want to do. When God said, in effect, "Be a missionary," Jonah thought he would rather be a tourist. Of all the prophets on record, Jonah was the peevish one.

The remarkable and unique little book of Jonah is perhaps the most misunderstood book in the Bible. Nobody knows how much ink has been wasted on the whale (which, incidentally, was not a whale but a fish!), whereas the real message of Jonah is not about whales at all. It is about taking the message of God to the most unlikely places in the world; it is the story of how the very people who ought to be doing it, sometimes won't do it.

Does God Care?

CONSIDER the good reasons Jonah might have given for not going to Nineveh. They are like the reasons people give nowadays for not believing in foreign missions. (A mission to Nineveh was about as foreign a mission as any one could have thought of, in those days.)

Reason number one: The Ninevites were mean people. So they were. Assyria, of which Nineveh was the capital city, had done, and would do, Israel more harm than any other enemy she had.

The Ninevites were an unscrupulous, greedy people. They knew no law but force. They spread by violence into many a country. They were the nation nobody loved.

Should the message of God be given to such a city? Jonah thought not; God said it should.

And of course, God was right. If the message of God had been sent only to peoples and nations that "deserved" such a favor, God's messengers would all have stayed at home.

Too Far From God

REASON number two: Nineveh is a long way off. Indeed it was. To reach Nineveh, Jonah would have to pass through at least a dozen other cities, all of which no doubt needed preachers. Were there not enough people at home who needed preaching? Of course there were... Only Jonah did not preach to them. He had a wonderful missionary opportunity there on the ship. Every man of the crew was a heathen. But Jonah was fast asleep.

This is often too true. People will protest about foreign missions; why send preachers and doctors and teachers and money so far away? Aren't there plenty of heathen right at home? Of course; but you won't often find the objector to foreign missions doing much about it.

Any church that is awake and active in supporting foreign missions will be found to be just as alive and intelligent in meeting the problems of the neighborhood.

Judge The World

REASON number three: (This sounds like a silly reason, but Jonah actually put it forward—Jonah 4:2.) God is too good! What was the use of preaching to Nineveh, Jonah wanted to know, if God was going to be gracious and not destroy the city with fire from the sky?

If God is good and merciful, why should we bother about sending missionaries anywhere? Won't he save every one anyhow? Isn't God too good to judge the world?

Jonah overlooked the fact that God had mercy on the Ninevites because they repented. Nowhere in the Bible is there any encouragement to believe that God has mercy on the unrepentant. To all who turn to him, God is gracious; and the job of the missionary, whatever else he does, is to persuade people to turn to God. Be ye reconciled to God," said Paul, the great Christian missionary. If rebels will not lay down their arms, how can there be an amnesty?

The great tragedy of Judaism is the tragedy of Jonah: God wanted his people to win the world; but they became ingrown, they ceased even to wish to be a missionary faith. Shall the same tragedy overtake Christianity?

Historic Doubters
When the Italian Galileo 300 years ago dared to question an age-old theory by Aristotle that heavy objects fall faster than light ones, learned men scoffed, scolded and finally brought Galileo to trial for his beliefs. So, he climbed the Leaning Tower of Pisa, dropped a half-pound weight and a 100-lb. cannon ball. They fell together. Even then, the wise men ran home to point out the exact page and line in Aristotle's writings to "prove" Galileo wrong.

Mr. Troutt

C. W. Troutt, of Lebanon, Tenn., well-known manager of square dances and operator of several trucks, now joins in a few steps of the dancing, much to the amazement of friends who know how severe aches and pains of neuritis have made him almost an invalid for some time.

This blessed relief came to Mr. Troutt as HADACOL helped overcome his deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron. This relief came to him after these horrible pains had haunted him, making it possible for him to carry on his business activities only through sheer determination. He didn't let aches and pains kill his spirits, however.

Then, one of the musicians at his square dances brought him a large economy-size bottle of HADACOL. Gave Him HADACOL.

"I am tired of seeing you suffer with these aches and pains," said the musician. "I bought you this big bottle myself because I want to see you start getting well."

Here is Mr. Troutt's own story: "I have suffered with aches and pains of neuritis for some time. I have tried dozens of preparations but have had little relief. My greatest pains have been in my knees and ankles and recently there have been pains in my wrists. One of the greatest horrors was to be unable to sleep at night. Since taking HADACOL I have been able to sleep and it is wonderful to get rid of those terrible pains in the knees, ankles and wrists. I have found in HADACOL the only relief that has come after years of search."

You'll Feel Great . . . with the first few bottles you take, or your money back. There is only one HADACOL and it is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. So give this remarkable HADACOL medicine a chance to help you if you suffer from deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron. Remember that HADACOL is amazingly different and amazingly effective because it treats the real cause of such troubles. Make up your mind to take HADACOL regularly. Refuse substitutes. Insist on the genuine. You can't lose a cent, because it's sold on a strict money-back guarantee. Only $1.25 for Trial size. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv.

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

YOU CANNOT HELP BUILD UP YOUR TOWN OR COUNTY BY ADVISING OUR PEOPLE TO GO TO OTHER CITIES TO DO THEIR TRADING.

When the Republican Congress of 1930 spent one billion dollars within one year a great howl went up throughout the country that the Republicans were about to bankrupt the United States. The present Democratic Congress will spend over forty billion dollars and swear the country is in the best shape since George Washington crossed the Delaware. Pay day is coming, regardless of what our Democratic friends may say. When it does there will be weeping and wailing heard throughout the land.

The wine and beer election which was scheduled to be held in Davie County on March 25th, was postponed on account of some legal technicality, it was said at that time. We were told at that time that an election would be called for Sept. 2nd, the earliest date possible, following a June 24th primary. We hope that the County Board of Elections will get busy and not put off this important matter any longer. The people of this county are entitled to express themselves on this important question. Let's hear from our readers—what they have to say.

Bicycle Ordinance

No. 79. Be it ordained. That ordinance No. 67, known as the bicycle ordinance be and the following is enacted in lieu thereof.

1st. That every bicycle rider, shall dismount and pass by the following persons, by leading their wheels: All female persons, all old feeble persons, all persons who are known to have badly impaired eyesight and all children under 10 years of age.

2nd. That each bicycle rider shall give a signal by bell or horn or whistle, when approaching anyone from the rear, and shall have the right to ride by all male persons, except such as are enumerated in paragraph 1, at a rate of speed not greater than three miles per hour.

3rd. That no bicycle rider shall be allowed to ride by any store or corner, or turn any sharp curve at a greater rate of speed than four miles per hour.

4th. That all bicycle riders who ride at night, shall equip their wheels with a lamp and have them lighted while riding, and shall not ride at a greater rate of speed than six miles per hour on straight runs, and four miles per hour by business house- and corners or around sharp curves, and shall give a signal when within 50 yards of any corner or curve.

Anyone violating any of the above sections shall be fined $1 for the first offence, $5 for the second offence, and a third offence shall debar him from riding on any of the sidewalks within the town of Mocksville.

Dear Sir:—How thankful for a newspaper like The Davie Record where I saw an article from the Charlotte Observer, written by W. H. Wood, on "the ABC stores."

I am in the medical department of the Navy and I see every day many results from America's worst enemy, Alcoholic Beverages.

It's up to us to pray and do all we can to help those who use it to realize its destruction to self and others, and God will not bless a nation that legalizes sin.

I pledge myself as a Christian American, to do all I can to prohibit it as we do stealing and other wrongs.

Rich on Relief

TALL, SCHOLARLY Congressman J. M. "Judge" Combs of Texas seldom opens his mouth unless he has something to say. He had plenty to say behind closed doors when the ways and means committee voted a big reduction in the capital-gains tax on upper-bracket taxpayers—and it wasn't music to his colleagues' ears.

Combs bluntly charged the committee with handing out millions in tax relief to Wall street stock traders and others who make "quick profits on turnover transactions."

"You are unfairly discriminating against more than 60,000,000 low and moderate taxpayers who derive their income from salaries, wages and ordinary business income," the Texan chided his colleagues. "It has always been my understanding that taxes should be easiest on those least able to bear them, but you are handing out a lot of relief here to people who can best afford taxes."

Combs angrily pointed out that the people the committee had "put on relief" by reducing the capital-gains tax from 25 to 16 per cent were individuals with annual incomes of $15,000 or more and married couples with joint incomes of $30,000 or more.

Rep. Walter Lynch, Democrat of New York, and Robert W. Kean, Republican of New Jersey, were moved down by the Texan when they argued that the capital-gains cut would stimulate investments, and thus business.

"Don't kid yourself that this will stimulate business and encourage sound investment," lashed back Combs. "All it will do is foster a quicker turnover of securities by those who speculate on the stock market."

Note — Congressman Combs is the man who had the courage and perseverance to run against ex-congressman Martin Dies of the un-American activities committee and defeat him.

Ike's Political Party

It is well known that General Eisenhower is the secret choice of certain high-placed Republicans to be the GOP candidate in 1952. Such backers as Tom Watson of international business machines are definitely grooming him.

However, it appears that Eisenhower who, as a youngster in Abilene, Kansas, registered as a Democrat—has long wanted his political affiliation kept secret.

Neighbors of General Eisenhower tell how he and his wife went to vote in a little tearoom near Columbia university last year. As Mrs. Eisenhower started to register, she was asked if she wanted to sign the usual registration blank enrolling her in one of the political parties. Mrs. Eisenhower started to accept the blank, but the general stopped her.

"Why can't I state my party preference?" Mrs. Eisenhower asked. "since I am voting for one party."

"I just don't think it is wise," Eisenhower protested. "I wish you wouldn't do it."

Mrs. Eisenhower said she didn't understand. The general smiled and said: "You will in time."

Frank Senator

It isn't often that a Senator will argue openly against government economy. No matter what he may think personally, he knows that government economy is a big vote-getter. However, big Ed Johnson, Colorado Democrat, solemnly warned the other day against too much economizing at the expense of democratic principles.

"We do not establish governments to save dollars; we establish governments so that the people may govern." Big Ed told his senate colleagues.

"The planners say that if big business was run like government, it would be bankrupt overnight," continued the senator from Colorado. "Now that is a pretty plausible argument, and every uninformed person the country over swallows it and repeats it. Well-meaning propaganda groups throughout the country play that tune. I concede, in fact, that our government is more wasteful and more inefficient than a streamlined dictatorship, and that its operating efficiency does not look good when placed alongside that of an American business organization."

"But is that what we are striving for?" boomed Johnson. "Are we forgetting that we are trying to maintain a democratic system of representative government here in America? All of us, I am sure, would have no hesitation in choosing between a highly efficient administration by a dictator in a totalitarian state. The American businessman and the American worker must understand the kind of cake that is hidden under the pretty frosting," Johnson warned.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS GM-UAW Sign Five-Year Contract; June Grad Job Prospects 'Good'; Fuchs Puts Finger on U. S. Spy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

LABOR:

Historic Contract

An unprecedented five-year contract, hailed by labor and management alike as an important stabilization move in the labor world, has been signed by General Motors Corp., and the CIO United Auto Workers.

In the eyes of many, the most startling thing about the contract was not its terms and duration, but the fact that both management and labor are happy about it.

The agreement includes a four cents an hour increase, $100 pensions for retired workers, and a cost of living formula. The union estimated immediate benefits total 19 cents an hour.

Walter Reuther, UAW-CIO president, described the agreement as "the most significant development in labor relations since the mass production industries were organized."

Speaking for management, GM vice president Harry Anderson said the unusual and unexpected agreement was "historic in labor-management relations."

The contract is the longest ever written in the industry and assures the company of five years of uninterrupted production.

Labor observers are almost unanimous in their agreement that such contracts—long term ones—would exert a stabilizing influence on all industry.

In Washington, Secretary of Labor Tobin said the contract is "great news."

"It means that there is confidence in the future prosperity of this industry and its ability to produce so efficiently that it can continue to pay higher wages, and at the same time insure greater security for its workers when they are ill or retired," he said.

ESPIONAGE: Successful Spy

The attorney general has announced the capture of another spy, Harry Gold, 39, of Philadelphia. As usual with the capture of a spy in the United States, the agent had operated very successfully, delivering, according to reports, top atomic bomb secrets to Russia.

Gold, whose family name is Goldnitsky, "has admitted his contacts with Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the imprisoned British atomic scientist, and has given a detailed account of his activities," the announcement said.

Gold was reported to have received written and oral information concerning atomic projects in this country and delivered them to agents of the Soviet Union.

"I thought that I would be helping a nation whose final aims I approved along the road to industrial strength. Particularly was I taken with the idea that whatever I did would go to help make living conditions far more advanced along the road as we know them here in the United States," Gold said.

The charge against Gold said that he did "conspire" to obtain "documents, writings, sketches, notes and information relating to the national defense and with intent and reason to believe that it was to be used to the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign nation, to wit, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics . . ."

A number of observers were beginning to wonder if the United States has any atomic secrets left.

DRAFT LAW: Its 'Draftless'

By a vote of 216 to 11, the house extended the selective service law for two years and sent the measure to the senate for its approval.

The measure has been called a "draftless" draft because it would be extended on a stand-by basis. Youths attaining their 18th birthdays would be required to register as at present, but they could not be ordered into uniform unless congress declared the existence of a national emergency requiring expansion of the armed forces.

Before passing the measure, Chairman Vinson of the armed services committee, told the house that "this nation must be prepared for an indefinite time in the future to counter promptly, with every means available, an attack by modern weapons."

QUINTUPLETS: No Boy Friends

To millions in Canada and the United States it seems like only yesterday that the nation's newspapers carried headlines of the birth of the Dionne quintuplets. In the minds of many they are still little girls.

Held as Spy

Harry Gold, 29, of Philadelphia, held under $100,000 bond, is charged with assisting the convicted British spy, Klaus Fuchs, in handing over vital atomic secrets to Russia.

GRADUATES: Job Prospects Good

Four out of every five job-hungry June college graduates will be employed by October 1, though many will have to hunt harder and longer than did the class of '49. This is an average of the estimates of placement officials reporting in a survey of 128 colleges and universities made by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Actually 1950 will be a good year for the job-seeking college graduate—not as good as 1949, but much better than was considered normal in pre-war years, the report said.

Four out of every five schools in the survey—102—report that starting salaries are as high this year as in 1949—a few find the average slightly higher.

Initial salaries for business school and liberal arts seniors generally range from $175 to $275 a month, for engineering and other sciences, $225 to $350. A few outstanding seniors get higher offers, of course, ranging up to $400 a month for outstanding advanced-degree men, the survey finds.

While a few schools and individual departments reached their peak of senior enrollments in 1949, most campuses have considerably longer cap-and-gown parades this year, with more graduates seeking jobs.

The vast majority of schools report their seniors to be pretty well prepared mentally for job competition—"more realistic," and "down to earth."

"Graduates realize that jobs are a little scarcer, but are putting more effort and thought into hunting work," reports the College of Business Administration of the University of Texas.

A great majority of employers contacted are optimistic, at least for the immediate business future. The University of Notre Dame, which finds employment demand "somewhat less this year but not as much less as anticipated," observes, "The majority of employers with whom we have talked appear to feel that the period immediately ahead will be good for business, but many are still 'uncertain.'"

Says the University of Buffalo's report: "The feeling is that business is seething down. The boom is over, but prospects remain good on the whole."

Regarding the outlook for women graduates, Ohio State University reports, "The most opportunities are for girls who can combine secretarial skills with their major studies." Another typical comment on this phase, from the University of Chicago: "Professional types of positions continue to be scarce, but stenographic and secretarial opportunities are far in excess of our supply of women trained in those fields."

AIR FORCE: Asks 200 Million

Backed by Secretary of Defense Johnson, an air force leaders had asked for $200,000,000 increase in the budget to cover the purchase of new aircraft and the modernization of existing tactical and training planes.

Air force officials reported the present budget would only pay for 42 modern groups by 1956. The force today includes 8,600 aircraft of all types. Of these 3,100 are combat planes and 5,500 are utility aircraft.

On V-J Day the army air force had 37,000 combat planes.

Saucers

Flying saucers jumped back into the news with the announcement of a new book entitled "Flying Saucers Are Real." It was the government, not the book, however, that made the news.

The government protested its publication on the grounds it made public "information vital to national defense." That statement caused the lifting of a number of eyebrows.

Germans Mad About Burlesque Shows

Nearly every big-city German night club has at least one female performer whose specialty is undressing in public. The customers flock in droves to this new wrinkle in German entertainment. It reminds old time Germans of the spicy entertainment that sprang up after World War I.

The girl most West Germans prefer to see is a blue-eyed brunette named Laya Raki. She says she is half Dutch and half Indonesian.

She does a dance called "The Indian Gravestone" which definitely is out of the cemetery class and which leaves her quite chilly from the waist up. Since Miss Raki is a girl who might give pause to Jane Russell, the customers love it.

They blow foam off saucers of beer and applaud wildly when her gold scarf is discarded and she dances in a smile and a G-string.

A tour of Frankfurt night clubs yields a bounteous harvest of undressed entertainment, but the German version of the American strip tease rarely is subtle.

In one night club a flashily dressed master of ceremonies announced Miss so-and-so would dance a tango.

A weary orchestra thumped away while a black-haired fraulein trudged aimlessly about wearing a G-string and two feather fans. Occasionally she dropped her fans to bare her chest to the enthusiastic audience.

It was anything but a tango but nobody seemed to mind. One night club run by a German woman has rung in another version of undressed entertainment.

Every night at 12 o'clock a 10-minute motion picture of semi-nude girls is shown.

The scenes are set in the night club. While a man and woman hold hands amorously, girls with bare chests and loin cloths made of artificial butterflies or orchids simmer daintily.

It has the place packed every night.

Household Hints

Coffee to Horse Radish Use an after dinner coffee spoon for old-fashioned cocktails or tiny bowls of mustard or horse radish.

Good Dessert Here's a gorgeous dessert for your family. And it's so simple. Slice donuts crosswise and place one half in the bottom of each dish. Cover with maple syrup and add the other donut half. Fill and top with more maple syrup and garnish with cherry or walnut.

Word of Invitation The engraved invitation to the ceremony a l w a y s requests the "honor of your presence" while the invitation to the reception requests the "pleasure of your company."

Buffet Near Pass Door If you want a pass door in the wall between the kitchen and dining room, be sure it opens onto a buffet or built-in serving counter on both sides of the wall.

Sunday Breakfast Add new interest to an old favorite by serving sliced bananas between two or three helpings of golden French toast, made from nutritious enriched bread. Then smother all with maple syrup, jelly, or confectioners' sugar. Crisp bacon, hot pork sausages, or fried ham make this tempting fare perfect for Sunday morning breakfasts or daily lunches. Try it with other fresh and canned fruits too. It's a real treat.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

This Guy Khrustalev Must Have a Lot of Crust, Making Fun of Poor Old Joe Stalin That Way

By BILLY ROSE

Generalissimo Joseph V. Stalin
Chairman, Council of Ministers
Kremlin, Moscow, U. S. S. R.
Dear Joe:

If I may be so bold, I'd like to call your attention to a matter which is no laughing matter, even though it's been getting a lot of laughs lately. Namely, the recent efforts of your propagandists to win friends and influence people in this part of the world.

Take, for instance, last winter's lollapalooza about how your engineers were nudging mountains with uranium. We degenerate democrats, whether you know it or not, are a fact-minded people who thrive on details. When a fellow says he's Napoleon we want to see his birth certificate, and when he's atomized an Alp we want to see the hole in the ground.

Billy Rose

Then there were the recent hum-dingers which claimed that every doodad from the wheel to the flying saucer had been invented by a Russian. Now, I can't doubt that many an important idea has been hatched between the carpathians and the Urals, but when your propaganda machine gives the rest of the world credit for nothing but the Lindy hop and the bubonic plague, a lot of folks who might otherwise be friendly begin to titter—and even your legitimate claims get lost in the chuckle.

OUR MASS REACTIONS were neatly summed up a few months ago when The New Yorker cartooned a group of your agents in China discussing policy. "The main thing is to handle them with tact," said one of them. Let them think they invented gunpowder." Some issues later, the same periodical ran another captious cartoon in which several Politburocrats were debating the question. "Shall we invent television now or wait until they perfect color?"

As another, and admittedly picaresque, example of what I'm getting at, let me tell you about my own experiences with your editors and copywriters.

Every now and occasionally, as some idle-eye in your press division has apparently noticed, I take a playful poke at your regime in my column—an event which certainly doesn't figure to precipitate a crisis of state. But instead of filing it in the wastebasket and going about their business, your name-callers have twice made the mistake of answering back—and both times with the finesse of a lumberjack trying to lat.

The first time, a year ago, both Pravda and Izvestia reported I was a "white slaver" and that my humpy-dumpy little cabaret was "the biggest bordello in the world." And as if that weren't enough, they went on to say that my partners in this enterprise were John Edgar Hoover and Bernard M. Baruch. Well, as might have been expected, this bombastic bombshell exploded nothing but giggles. Time magazine reprinted the item as a gag, my chorus girls threatened to picket the Russian consulate, and the syndicate which handles my stuff picked up a few more papers.

ALL OF WHICH should have taught your word-wasters a lesson, but it didn't. A few days ago, someone mailed me the February issue of your magazine, Novy Mir (New World), and—lo and surprise!—in it was an article by one P. Khrustalev which, by way of documenting the degeneracy of American culture, described me as "a gangster with three chins" who "murdered a man and grabbed his capital."

I took this, I assure you, as a plaudit rather than a potshot. On your way up, at I get it, you knocked off a couple of banks yourself, and since have undoubtedly knocked off an opponent or three. Khrustalev, it was evident, meant to be complimentary when he word-painted me in the image of Soviet Citizen No. 1.

All kidding aside, though, don't you think it's about time you sent for your typewriter assassins and pointed out that their releases are getting more howls than hosannas? And while you're at it, you might point out that Joe Goebbel's theory—the bigger the lie the more apt it is to be believed—only works with people who desperately want to believe the lie.

One thing more: I fraternally suggest you keep an eye on this Khrustalev fellow who said I had three chins. Such a man, in a reckless moment, might describe his premier as having two heads. Sincerely,
Billy Rose

WHAT SAY? . . . Sporting his first new hat in 50 years, Frank E. Gimlett, famous hermit of Arbor Villa, Colo., and advocate of a return to the gold standard, shows how he regained control of his speech after suffering a stroke last February.

This Is
Your Paper
'A Little Late'
Means Trouble

By William R. Nelson

A PUBLICITY chairman of a prominent civic group rushes breathlessly into the newspaper office, her face a picture of worry. "I hope you will forgive my being late with our news, but I simply forgot what day this is," she begins. "I just have to get this announcement into the paper."

In a metropolitan newspaper office nothing could be done to help her. Deadline is deadline there. But, in the home town paper office it is sometimes difficult to be so rigid about deadlines. In the hypothetical instance cited, let us assume an exception is made. Here is what would probably happen.

The breathless chairman would go her way much relieved. Although received after deadline time, her organization's news will be in the paper, as usual.

At the newspaper, however, the chairman's tardiness has precipitated a chain reaction of upset schedules that will affect virtually every member of the staff.

An editor will have to handle another news story. One or more items already in type will have to be shortened to make room for the late story. Type already set will have to be discarded and more set. Page dummies will have to be altered. Lockup of page forms will be delayed. Printing and distribution will be off schedule.

This probably exaggerated example of what happens when someone imposes late news upon the paper, is duplicated, even more disruptingly, whenever an advertiser fails to get copy to the paper on time.

As long as humans are prone to forget, have accidents, or otherwise be delayed in performing duties, it will probably be necessary for stores and newspapers to occasionally accept such impositions. But these disruptions of necessary schedules will be materially reduced, no doubt, when people fully realize what inconvenience their tardiness causes.

Whenever you have news or advertising for the paper, get it in well ahead of the deadline. You will get better service, and have the satisfaction of knowing that you did not impose upon the newspaper's people.

THE FICTION CORNER

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"EVERY MAN," said Inspector Joe Warren, frowning over the letter which he held in his hand, "has a weak point. In the case of 'The Flash,' most daring criminal of this city's criminal history, it appears to be vanity."

He gestured toward the letter. "The fellow has become drunk with his success in accomplishing two outstanding robberies. And now he has taken to writing us letters, stating just where he's going to be at a certain time and what he plans to do."

Detective Fargo blew smoke rings at the ceiling and evaded his chief's eyes. "So far," he said, "he seems to have been pretty successful in carrying out his plans. This is the third letter we've received. 'Each time The Flash has appeared where he said he would at exactly the time denoted in his letters. And while we've stood idly by he's committed his crimes and escaped. What's he up to this time?'"

"The Devonshire party," Warren growled. The truth of Fargo's statement scored him. "Mrs. Devonshire is planning to wear that valuable emerald her husband brought her from Europe a month ago. The Flash states in this letter that he intends to steal the emerald and defies us to stop him."

Fargo crushed out his cigarette. "Have you taken any steps to prevent the robbery?"

"Fargo, as you know, the Flash's disguise is perfect. He'll appear at that party as a guest, or servant or someone with whom the Devonshires are but slightly acquainted. I want you to go up there early, meet Mrs. Devonshire when she comes down stairs and stick with her until the last guest has gone. Then see to it that the emerald is stored away in a safe before you leave. I'll have Johnson and a couple of other men mingling with the guests."

AT 11 O'CLOCK on the night of the Devonshire party Inspector Warren drew his roadster up before the palatial mansion and ascended the steps.

Warren stepped quickly inside. And at that moment Mrs. Devonshire, accompanied by her husband and Detective Fargo, came flying down the stairs.

VANITY ALL

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"What's happened?" Warren barked at Fargo, ignoring the incoherent babble of Mrs. Devonshire.

"It's gone," Fargo grated. "About an hour ago, I was standing behind Mrs. Devonshire in the reception line. Someone poked a gun in my back and told me to walk backwards. When I saw the fellow's face I knew it was The Flash, because he was a dead ringer for myself."

"A ringer for you!" Warren gasped. "What the devil do you mean?"

"I mean," said Fargo grimly, "that his disguise this time looked like me, generally speaking. He forced me into a closet and cracked me over the head. Naturally no one noticed that anything was happening, as Mrs. Devonshire was exhibiting her emerald at the time."

"Ten minutes ago I came to and began to kick on the door. Devonshire opened it. I rushed to Mrs. Devonshire and discovered that she had just missed her emerald. — The Flash has outsmarted us again!"

Warren slumped wearily into a chair. "Tomorrow," he groaned, "every newspaper in the city will have the story. It will be the most humiliating moment of my life."

Fargo smiled bitterly. "Every man has his weak point," he said. "Yours seems to be vanity."

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

RONALD COLMAN has emerged so completely from professional retirement that nobody would be surprised if he returned to his first love, the stage, where Lillian Gish discovered him years ago and had him engaged as her leading man in "The White Sister." His radio show, "The Halls of Ivy," Wednesday nights on NBC, was the first step. Next came the hilarious United Artists picture, "Champagne for Caesar," his first film in three years. Colman is wonderful as a double-or-nothing quiz contestant who runs his take up to a $40,000,000 jackpot. Even the talented parrot who plays "Caesar" can't steal scenes from him—quite a feat!

Lowell Thomas, CBS newscaster, had quite a week recently. The doctor let him discard the crutches he'd been using for seven months, ever since he was thrown from a horse while trekking through Tibet. And his son was married, with Thomas as the best man. The beautiful wedding took place in a charming church in Greenwich, Conn. James Melton sang.

Jan Sterling's standing at Paramount was boosted so high by audience reaction to her work in "United States Mail" and "Union Station," when they were shown at sneak previews, that she was given a top assignment in "Ace in the Hole."

Mona Freeman has been worried; she's so little and looks so young that she feared she'd never get roles where she could look her age—25. "I could just see my daughter growing up," said she. "And going to the movies with a boy friend, pointing to a bobby-soxer on the screen and saying 'That's my mother'." But now Mona's happy; she looks her age in "Branded."

Stewart Granger is going to be stuck in costume pictures for a long time to come. M-G-M was delighted with his performance in "King Solomon's Mines," and will now turn him into a swashbuckling hero. He will do "Robinson Crusoe," "Ivanhoe," in full-blown Technicolor, followed by that old favorite, "Saramouche," and then will don uniform for Kipling's "Soldiers Three."

Geography Expert Discounts Protection of Arctic Field

A Yale University geography expert warns that even the vastness of the Arctic offers little if any protection for the U.S. in this era of the atom bomb.

"The Arctic," Stephen B. Jones asserts, "is too wide to make old-fashioned bombing really practical, but when you pack an atom bomb, transpolar bombing is only too clear a danger."

The chances of intercepting enemy bombers are slim, Mr. Jones says, because the size of the polar region permits attackers to approach from many directions. A large number of radar stations would be required to cover the Arctic front, and radar stations and fighter bases must be protected by ground forces.

Mr. Jones declares that a land invasion of North America through the Far North "certainly isn't likely," unless more effective techniques of dealing with the cold and other physical obstacles are developed.

The Far North is likely to be an air theatre, and ground operations will have as their main purpose to disrupt—or defend—the surface facilities upon which air power depends.

While the air age has brought about significant peaceful changes Mr. Jones said that the airplane "is vastly more significant as a military weapon than as a feature of civil life. . . It has certainly affected the geography of civil life, but it has only modified details rather than changed the whole pattern."

The Yale geographer said that the airborne bomb has affected the future much more vitally than has the airmail letter. He emphasized that anyone living in London during World War II would give up the privilege of air travel for all time for the assurance he would never again be bombed.

Production of U.S. Mint Tallied for 157 Years

From 1792 until the end of December, 1949, Uncle Sam minted more than seven billion in gold, silver and minor coinage, with a total of 319,502,294 pounds.

The first coins in the United States mint were struck on October 9, 1792, in the presence of George and Martha Washington, the Alexander Hamiltons and Thomas Jefferson.

The first coins were less than a half-inch in diameter and each was known as a "half a dime." One side showed a woman, symbolic of Liberty and probably a likeness of Martha Washington. On the other side was an eagle on wing with the legend "Uni. States of America."

The presses and steel dies had arrived from France shortly before. At first there was a considerable silver shortage which necessitated General Washington's contribution of $100 worth of silver plate from Mount Vernon. The plate was then melted into bars, rolled out into thin strips and cut into blank discs.

More than four and one-half billion in gold coinage of 8.342 tons was struck off until May, 1933, when the last gold coin was minted. However, over two billion dollars in silver coinage and about 399 million dollars in nickels and copper cents have left United States mints at the end of 1949.

All told, 31,147,349,843 pieces with a total value of $7,131,813,414.41 in U.S. coinage has been struck off in the past 157 years.

Swine Influenza Spread

Swine influenza spreads rapidly once it strikes a herd. Within two or three days after the first pig gets sick, the entire herd may be down with the disease. Affected pigs cough, go off feed, and appear exhausted. They have fever, breathing is hard and jerky, and sometimes there is a watery discharge from the eyes. Unless complications set in, the animals usually start to recover about five or six days after the first signs of illness. Deaths are few, but an attack always lowers vitality and causes loss of weight. When an animal is stricken during pregnancy, loss of part of her litter is almost certain.

Niagara Falls

Before the land surrounding Niagara Falls was made a state park in 1883, every possible view of the spectacle was controlled by private interests. Side shows—featuring tattoo artists, animals, freaks, fortune tellers, fat ladies and other "come-on" attractions—lined the sides of the river. The prohibition era produced another strange chapter, with the entire Niagara river a hot spot for rum-running and hijacking activity. Violence was not infrequent, and the innocent sight-seer found it safer not to stroll in the vicinity of the fall after night-fall.

Long Island Ducks

A strange virus disease has struck a hard blow at the supply of those famed Long Island ducklings. At the beginning of the outbreak, ducklings died by the thousands, and practically every one of Long Island's 75 duck growers suffered losses. On most farms, birds died within an hour after showing the first signs of illness. Cornell university veterinarians came to the rescue with a specially prepared serum.

California's New Goal: The All-American Olive

There is no flagging in California's zest for superlatives. In the future the Golden Gate's olive industry will settle for nothing less than "ideal."

This search for perfection is not surprising in the light of the state's 85-year-old olive growing record. Less than 50 years ago its growers developed the popular canned ripe olive, an innovation of considerable importance to a 4,000-year-old industry.

Today, University of California agriculturists are not content that the olive has been used through recorded time as simple food, tempting delicacy and medicine, and that its oil has served for soap, lamp fuel, salad dressing, and cooking fat. Their scientists now seek to combine the best qualities of all olive varieties in one American-produced variety.

About the middle of the 19th century, when California was filled with many not too successful gold miners, olive growing experienced its first boom period. Wishful thinkers—relying on a saying of Pliny—accepted the fable that olive trees thrive best in adversity. Trees were planted on the most arid hillsides and given no care at all. The resultant crop failures gave the infant industry a serious setback.

When it was learned that olive culture required work but was worth it, about 80 types of olives were imported from Mediterranean countries to mix with the Mission variety, first brought to California by the early Franciscan missionaries. Most of the imported varieties were good for olive oil, the chief use of the American olive at the turn of the century.

Then, Californians discovered that olives could be ripened on the tree, the bitterness neutralized and the fruit canned. As a result, most of the many foreign varieties were allowed to die out, leaving the Mission, Manzanillo, Sevillano, Ascolano and Barouni, the state's chief varieties today.

Kidney X-Ray Pictures Improved by New Chemical

Use of a new chemical in taking X-ray pictures of the kidneys produces fewer undesirable reactions in patients, according to two University of Michigan doctors.

The new substance, which gives a white silhouette to the kidneys under X-ray, is called Urokon.

The substance was studied for a period of 18 months in a total of 1,481 patients at the University of Michigan hospital by Dr. Reed M. Nesbit, professor of surgery, and Dr. Jack Lapidus, instructor in surgery and a United States public health service postdoctorate research fellow.

In a 30 per cent solution, Urokon was found to produce relatively fewer cases of nausea, vomiting, foreign taste, arm pain and allergic reactions than the compounds most widely used at the present time, the doctors reported.

The Urokon solution was administered to patients by intravenous injections to enable the doctors to detect abnormalities such as kidney tumors, enlarged kidneys, injuries to kidneys and the presence of kidney stones.

In the study conducted at the University of Michigan hospital, four X-ray exposures were taken on each patient; the doctors explained. These included one pre-injection film, one film five minutes after administration of the radio-opaque substance, another film 15 minutes after injection, and a fourth film with the patient in an upright position immediately following the 15 minute exposure.

Time to Paint Radiators

Just as it's important to have your furnace cleaned and ready for the first fall fires, it's important to have your radiators ready for their winter job. You can make sure that they will give off the maximum degree of heat by having them painted with a flat or semi-gloss paint. Painting radiators to match the wall behind them serves to camouflage their outlines and to make them less visually obtrusive in the room's decorative scheme.

Boll Weevil Threat

At the beginning of the 1950 season the boll weevil threat to cotton appears even greater than 1949 when damage amounted to an estimated $470 million. Boll weevil population last season was extremely high even in areas where pests seldom occur. Many went into hibernation and the mild winter has been favorable to their survival. It appears likely, therefore, that in a great many areas there are record number of weevils in the cottonfields and the nearby woodlands.

Russia's "Iron Curtain"

The "Iron Curtain" is an old story in Russia, with a new name. Search experts point out how Russia began to grow more race-conscious and truly Russian in 1015 A.D., following the invasion of the Vikings and the reign of Vladimir. She also began to grow more withdrawn into herself, more exclusive of foreigners and shut off from the world. Apparently sufficient to herself alone.

Hollywood Actress Abandons Career For Religious Work

HOLLYWOOD.—One of movie-land's most promising actresses was quitting the movies and a career to become a missionary or a religious teacher. Colleen Townsend, the actress, making that statement, said her decisions had been made "because Christ is first in my life and I want to be where I can serve Him most."

The pretty brunette notified the studio where her career was hitting the top that she would not renew her contract. She said she would enter a theological school to study religion for two years. Then, she said, she would go into "Christian education, either teaching in churches or missionary work."

(Miss Townsend was "Sweetheart of The Orange Bowl Festival" and appeared at the half when Santa Clara defeated Kentucky at Miami in the postseason football game in January.)

"It's not that I can't serve Christ in motion pictures, but I feel God has led me into some sort of full-time service," the actress said.

"I first accepted Christ two and a half years ago and it was then theology became interesting to me. I had never let it become important before."

"Many young people I'd gone with to Hollywood high school asked me to join the First Presbyterian church. What those young people had challenged me. They had something I wanted."

"I realized I had gone to church all my life, but didn't know what it was to be a Christian. So I looked into Christ's teachings."

Miss Townsend had gone to "various" churches, including the Presbyterian and the Mormon, when she was in high school. At Brigham Young university in Utah she was a member of the Mormon Sunday school on the campus, she said.

Milkman's Faithful Donkey Helps Solve Master's Murder

ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT.—A milkman's faithful donkey has helped solve his master's murder in a unique case here.

Gunmen killed milkman Haseinein Atta, 45, for reasons unknown. Atta's donkey, covered with his master's blood, continued on his usual rounds, stopping before each place where Atta had customarily delivered milk.

A shopkeeper noticed the blood and called police. Officers backtracked and arrested two men who had not even bothered to flee, believing it would be hours before their crime was discovered.

Facts About Oregon

From three dredges and 25 small hydraulic mines Oregon has obtained as much as four million dollars' worth of gold a year. The state makes a million dollars' worth of brick, tile and pottery, and is currently insulating huge new office buildings with perlite, an acid volcanic glass. It is attempting to cut down waste on its lumber production, largest in the United States. Its greatest asset—water—is expected to provide the increased amount of electric power which holds the key to industrial expansion.

Moth-Proof With Paper

Even a hungry moth isn't interested in eating paper so you can protect woollen garments just by wrapping them in airtight paper bags. It's especially important to have the wrapping airtight because moths can get through small openings to the wool material. A good way to seal paper bags is to put paper tape or transparent tape over all openings and seams. Then hang the wrapped garments in a cool place if possible.

Uncle Sam Says

Each June 14 we pay honor to the Stars and Stripes on what is officially designated "Flag Day." Under that flag our country has remained free and it is everyone's desire that it stay that way. It has been said that no country can ever be stronger than its people, citizens who are free in every way. One of the keystones in this freedom is financial security and your government has provided a safe, sure and automatic way of saving. It is U. S. Savings Bonds which can be piled up through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank, or for cash at your bank or post office.

Uncle Sam Says

The revered Liberty Bell, symbolic of national independence, will ring again this year through 52 exact duplicate bells which will be toured in every State during the U. S. Savings Bonds Independence Drive, May 15-July 4. My nephews and nieces will see and hear the actual tone of the original Bell. Americans still are agreed that the best way to take care of tomorrow's needs and emergencies is to plan for them today. Make your own dreams come true by the regular, automatic purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

NEWS OF LONG AGO.

What Was Happening In Davie Before Parking Meters And Abbreviated Skirts.

(Davie Record, June 29, 1909)

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bailey spent Friday in Winston shopping.

J. T. Baitv and E. L. Gaither spent Thursday in Winston.

Miss Swannie Rattz is visiting in Salisbury, the guest of her brother Walter Rattz.

Mrs. L. Q. Baker, who has been sick, is much better, we are glad to note.

Mrs. Julia Heitman and daughter Miss Mary, are visiting relatives in Virginia.

Miss Lalla King went to Cornelius Friday afternoon to spend a few days with friends.

Miss Nan Smith, of Advance, R. 1, visited relatives in town the past week.

Miss Myrtle Graham returned Friday from a delightful visit to relatives at Lenoir.

Miss Myrtle Boone, of Lexington, who has been the guest of Miss Mary Stockton, has returned home.

Mrs. C. P. Mercuev and granddaughter little Louise Smith, visited relatives in Salisbury the past week.

Cleve Kimbrough spent Sunday with relatives at Mt. Ulla.

T. I. Byerly spent Saturday with friends in Salisbury.

Mrs. Helen Rich, of Farmington, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Chaffin last week.

The many friends of Dr. James McGuire, will be sorry to learn that he is seriously ill.

G. W. Herrick, of College Station, Texas, was in town a few days last week. He went from here to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Furches, of Statesville, spent last week with relatives near Farmington.

Work on the new court house and jail is progressing nicely. The walls of the court house are up to the second floor.

Mrs. J. F. Moore and children are spending some time with relatives near Calahain, and the Colonel is batching it.

Master Tom Whitley, while playing on a bridge near his home in west Mocksville Tuesday, had the misfortune to fall and get his leg badly torn on a nail. Dr. Martin dressed the wound.

Dr. Griffin has completed his handsome new residence at Farmington and moved into it last week.

A number of Mocksville and Davie county people went to Raleigh Sunday on the excursion Saturday.

Miss Lillie Foster, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is some better.

Mrs. James Cain, of Cana, is spending some time in town with her daughter, Mrs. I. W. Rodwell.

Frank Spence, an old Davie boy, but now of South Carolina, was united in marriage last week to Miss Gertrude Brown, daughter of Dr. W. L. Brown, of Winston.

Dr. Frances J. Murdock, of Salisbury, died in Charleston, S. C., last Tuesday following a heart attack. He was 64 years of age, and had been pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church at Salisbury for 37 years.

There was a flour famine in Mocksville last week. Even the boarding houses and hotels had no dough. There was not a bag of flour to be found on Thursday and Friday.

The A. W. Edwards Dry Goods Co., will open a branch store at Sheffield next month.

The blackberry pie season is in full swing. All we need is the sugar and berries to make it a big success.

A Troubled World

Rev. Walter E. Isenhour, High Point, R. 4

We live in a troubled world. Every way we look there is trouble, except when we look heavenward. Even the devil is trailing along after God's people like a slimy serpent to disturb and vex them as they travel in the footprints of Jesus toward the Celestial City. He is the great, GREAT troublemaker. O how mean and hateful he is! It seems that all mankind would turn away from him, despise and hate him, instead of following after him, or allowing him to control their lives and have the mastery over them.

Yes, we live in a troubled world. There is trouble in the majority of the homes of the world. Husbands and wives disagree oftentimes, fuss and quarrel, curse and abuse each other. Men are slaves to drink all about us, and as a consequence they make their homes miserable. Not only that, but women, even wives and mothers, (shame on them!) are enslaved by strong drink. Tens of thousands of young girls, and multitudes of wives and mothers today, are slaves to cigarettes, many of whom have lowered their morals down to the very dust and mire of degradation. They have thrown their womanhood and virtue away. All this means trouble.

There is much trouble in churches of today, and among the church members, many of whom claim to be Christians. Too many professed followers of the Lord Jesus Christ are sinful and wicked. They are not peace-makers, but peace-breakers. Multitudes of them are very worldly and proud. They dress like the world, act like the world, go with the world, talk like the world, and live down on the same evil, sinful, wicked level with the world. All this makes for trouble, trouble, and more trouble.

Then there is national and international trouble throughout the entire world today. Men and nations hate each other. They are envious towards each other, and suspicious of one another. Hence the preparation for war, especially along the line of the atomic and nitrogen bomb, which threatens seriously of wiping humanity from the face of the earth. O that men and nations would turn to God! This is our only hope.

The Cost of Lying

Out in Iowa newspaper editors got together and devised a code, which, as the editors believe, should be a boon to small town publishers.

They decided that newspapers were called upon to publish "little white lies" about folks and were getting absolutely nothing for thus risking their souls. So they drew up a scale of prices as follows:

"For telling the public a man is a successful citizen when everybody knows he is as lazy as a government mule, $2.70

"Referring to a deceased citizen as one who is mourned by the entire community when we knew he will only be missed by a poker circle, $10.13.

"Referring to some gallivanting scandal monger female as an estimable lady when every business man in town would rather see the devil coming, $8.10.

"Sending a hypocritical old reprobate to heaven when we know hell is too good for him, $5.

"Referring to deceased merchants as 'progressive citizens,' when they never advertised in their life to help draw trade to town, $1.

"Saying that the bride was the charming and lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Skeedjaks, when her face would stop a freight train running down grade, $3.75.

Inspired Thought

THE CONSCIENTIOUS father I was dispensing advice to his son who was about to be married. "Cooperation is the foundation of successful marriage," pop said solemnly. "You must do things together. For instance, if your wife wants to go for a walk, go for a walk with her. If she wants to go to the movies, go to the movies with her. If she wants to do the dishes, do the dishes with her." The son listened dutifully, then asked: "Suppose she wants to mop the floor?"

A nurse in a mental hospital noticed a patient with his ear close to the wall, listening intently. The patient held up a finger as a warning to be quiet. Then he beckoned the nurse over and said, "Listen here."

The nurse listened for some time and then said, "I can't hear anything."

"No," said the patient, "and it's been like that all day!"

Chain of Events Very stern parent indeed, "Come here, girl! What is this complaint the school master has made against you?"

Much injured youth, "It's just nothing at all. You see, Jimmy Hughes bent a pin, and I only just left it on the teacher's chair for him to look at, and he came in without his specs and sat right down on the pin and now he blames me for it."

Justifiable Homicide "You say this woman shot her husband with this pistol and at close range?" asked the coroner of the eye-witness to the tragedy. "Yes, sir."

"Were there powder marks on his face?"

"Yes, sir; that's why she shot him!"

That Should Do It Wife: "You seem disappointed with your package."

Husband: "Yes, I answered an advertisement for a device to keep grocery bills down—and the firm sent me a paper weight."

Cold Wave, That Is Freddy—"What is an iceberg, Daddy?"

Daddy—"Why, it's a kind of a permanent wave, son."

The Man Was Right They were standing before a large painting entitled "Echo" in an art museum.

"I suppose," said one man, "it is appropriate to depict Echo as a woman, because she always has the last word."

"On the other hand," returned the second man, "an echo speaks only when spoken to."

Admitted Ownership Young Husband: "This pie is burnt. Send it back to the store." Young Wife: "I didn't buy it. It's my own cremation."

Naturally "You're always wishing for what you haven't got." "Well, what else can one wish for?"

Eye-Dropper "Joe has a glass eye." "Did he tell you that?" "No; it just came out in the conversation."

Andy called at the big business house to apply for a job he had seen advertised.

"But, my dear man," said the manager, "you are much too late! Why I've had over a thousand applications already!"

Andy looked thoughtful.

"Well," he said after a while, "how about hiring me to classify the applications?"

That Explained It At the booking agent's office a magician was trying to sell his act.

"I've got the greatest act in the world," he declared. "I pull 200 lighted cigars from nowhere, puff on each of them, and then swallow the entire 200."

The agent was amazed. "You swallow 200 lighted cigars!" he gasped. "How on earth do you manage to do it?"

The magician smiled blandly. "Very simple," he replied. "I have connections in Cuba—and I get the cigars at a wholesale price."

MATTER OF DIRECTION

A motorist stopped his car on a country road and asked a native how far it was to Millerstown. The reply was:

"It's 24,996 miles the way you're headed, but if you turn around it ain't but four."

Simple Economics Upon due reflection, a rural school teacher decided to give full credit to a pupil for his answer to an arithmetic problem.

The question: "If your father sold 1,500 bushels of grain for $2 per bushel, what would he get?"

The answer: "A new car."

NO VALUE RECEIVED Toll Operator: "The rate is $1.20 for three minutes and 30c for each additional minute."

Caller: "Do you take anything off for just listening? I want to call my wife."

Trade With The Merchants Who Advertise In The Davie Record

A. M. McClamrock

A. M. McClamrock, 50, died at his home, Mocksville, Route 2, at 1:25 p. m., June 19th. He was a son of C. L. and the late Lily Duthit McClamrock. He had been a patient at W. N. C., Sanatorium, Black Mountain for the past two years or more, but was brought to his home about three weeks ago.

Survivors include three sons, Calvin McClamrock of Mocksville, John McClamrock of Clemmons, and C. B. McClamrock of Mocksville, Route 2; four daughters, Mrs. Thomas Hepler of Clemmons, Route 1, Mrs. W. C. Uncle Sam Says

The life of Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday anniversary we observe this day, provided an example of hope, courage and spirit which is just as important to you today as ever before. And this applies to all of my nephews and nieces. Together with all of that hope and courage each of you possesses, there must be the respect for thrift. And one of the safe, sure ways of saving is by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds. Each $3 invested today will bring you $4 in ten short years. START SAVING IN 1950 FOR 1960. U. S. Our County And Social Security

By W. K. White, Manager.

The other day a waitress came to our office and said a cafe owner had refused to accept her Social Security Card. She said the name on it had been changed in ink, but other cafe operators had not questioned it.

She showed the interviewer the card. The name had been changed, not once, but three times. Each change had been made by drawing a line through the previous name, and adding a new name above it.

She explained that the changes were perfectly legal because she had been married three times since getting her original card. Even though it was getting a little difficult to read, she felt the boss was just being technical in objecting to the card.

He was right in doing so. It took only a few minutes for her to fill out a request for a change in our records. Then we gave her a new card with the same number, but with only her most recent name typed on it.

She knows now that if she should change her name again, she should request another change in our records, so that her card will always show only one name—the name under which she works. This is the only way she can always be sure she is being credited with the wages reported by her employer.

While discussing the importance of her wage record, the interviewer explained the working woman's rights under Old-Age and Survivors Insurance. As far as retirement benefits are concerned, marriage or divorce has no effect on benefit rights. Whatever retirement benefit she has earned will be paid to her, whether she is married or single, when she is 65 years old and retires.

If you have any questions about your account number, wage record, or about a claim for benefits, please see me. Our office is in room 437 Nissen Building, in Winston-Salem. Hours from 8:30 a. m., to 4:30 p. m., Monday thru Friday.

I will be in Mocksville on Wednesday, June 28th, at the court house, second floor, at 12:30 p. m. I will also be in Cooleemee on the same date at the Erwin Cotton Mills office at 11 a. m.

Uncle Charlie and Leopard Had Much in Common; They Both Preferred Lunch to Love—Or Did They?

By BILLY ROSE

Some weeks ago when the newspapers front-paged the story of the leopard which strolled back into its cage after being AWOL for three days, a lot of people wondered whether it returned because it was hungry or because it was lonely for a certain lady leopard in the next enclosure.

It so happened that around the same time, by a strange double-take of destiny, my Uncle Charlie also went on the prowl, and his return a few days later raised the identical question on the lower East Side—was it lunch or was it love?

It all began when my Aunt Frieda got the social bee in her babushka, joined the Delancey street chapter of the Daughters of Deborah, and went off to Atlantic City for its annual convention.

Billy Rose

is away the cat, is playing the mice—and they ain't playing klubbish.

"You are implicating my Charlie in a rat?" "Rat, schmat! Ask the widow Greenhouse."

A bit shaken, Frieda posted herself inside the candy store across the street, and when Charlie, wearing a carnation, came out she followed him—and sure enough, he high-tailed down the block to the

"I'm not doubting," said my aunt. "From the medicine chest is missing a full box of bicarbonate."

ON THE WAY BACK to their flat, Frieda got right down to cases. "What is between you and Mrs. Greenhouse?" she asked.

"Strictly a cash arrangement," said Charlie. "Seven suppers for 10 dollars."

When they reached home, Frieda pulled the pin out of her hat. "Tomorrow," she announced, "is roast duck on the menu. Monday it gives sauerbraten; Tuesday, chicken with mandarin soup."

As for the question: "Is love or lunch more important to the male animal?"—well, the leopard is dead and my uncle isn't talking.

CITY COPS

By Richard H. Wilkinson

I'VE INVESTIGATED some queer cases but the jewel robbery up at River's End Lodge topped them all.

more's wife had lost $50,000 worth of gems, and neither she nor Homer trusted or had faith in Eben Jackson, the local constable.

Then Tracy had an idea. "If we gotta browse around through the bushes we ought to have a native guide."

Eben recommended Bronco Pete, who, it seemed, was a guide who didn't have enough money to buy a license for himself, hence was out of work.

He was mighty proud, and looked like the pictures you see of northwoods guides.

Well, sir, we started out. We trekked through the woods for a whole day. Then Bronco Pete led us to a deserted shack.

Pete set off through the brush like a hound on the scent. Tracy and I followed wearily.

"The thing to do," Eben told us, "is for you two nannies to make yourselves comfortable in the shack, an' nab the thief when he comes home." IT WASN'T a pleasant prospect, but it seemed like the only bet.

"Sure we mean it. You lay your hands on the thief, you get $2500 cash."

Well, sir, this was it: Bronco had committed the theft all right, but it didn't do him much good, because he couldn't dispose of the jewels.

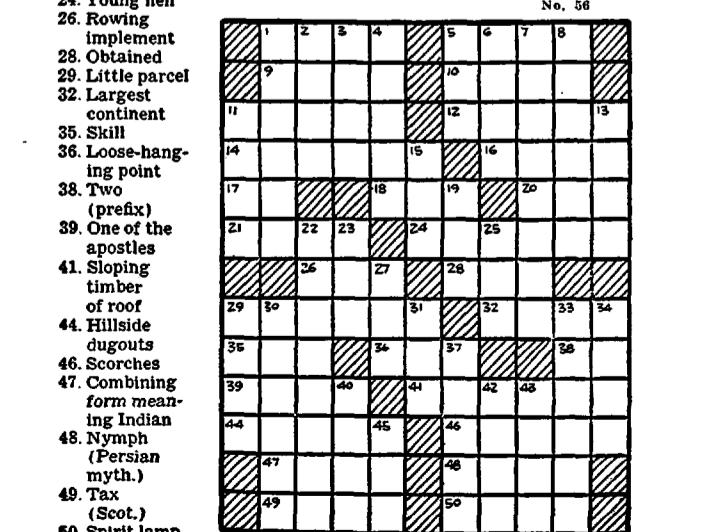

Eben was suspicious because he knew you couldn't buy a fancy costume like Pete had for less than $50.

Advertising in the home town newspaper is a sound investment, like buying a bond so a school can be built.

Farm Meetings

By U. S. D. A. Council.
Since last November the Davie County U. S. D. A. Council, made up of all Agricultural Workers in the county, has been working on a Long Time Agricultural Program for Davie County.

It is the duty of all Agricultural Workers to work for the best interest of the farm people and to work together in so far as possible. Workers in Davie co-operate with each other and with each agency in a splendid manner. The program, which has been developed by the Agricultural workers, farm men and women and business people, will enable workers to do a better job of helping farm people help themselves.

The Long Time Program is built around increased farm income by improving production practices and adding supplementary sources of income in order to achieve the goal, "Better Rural Living."

There are a large number of people in Davie who live on small tracts of land and do public work. Part of the program is devoted to part-time farming.

We are beginning a series of community meetings on Monday, July 3. There will be a meeting in each community during July. Meetings will begin at 8 o'clock. Agricultural Workers will conduct the program, which to a large extent will be color slides and slides containing information in charts, with discussions, with two men and one woman worker at each meeting to help with the program. The workers urge every farm family to attend. Bring the children.

Make an effort to attend one of the meetings listed below if you live in that community. Watch for further announcements.

Monday, July 3, Sheffield school building.

Wednesday, July 5, Center Community Building.

Thursday, July 6, Davie Academy Community Building.

Friday, July 7, West Clarksville Community, at the home of Donald Reavis.

Wheat Allotments

July 15, 1950 has been set as the closing date for receiving requests for new wheat farm acreage allotments. Farmers who did not have any wheat seeded for harvest on their farm in any of the years 1948, 1949 or 1950 but plan to seed some in 1951, must request an allotment in the PMA office before the closing date if they want an allotment established on their farm.

Smith Wins Broke Both Arms Revival Meeting

"Mr. Smith is going to Washington." He defeated Senator Graham by more than 20,000 majority. Davie County gave Graham a majority of over 600. The Record thinks Mr. Smith owes his nomination to Bob Reynolds and Governor Scott. So mote it be.

While visiting at Mt. Airy recently, Hugh, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Norman, of this city, fell out of a tree and broke both arms between the elbows and wrists. The little fellow was carried to Martin Hospital, Mt. Airy, where the broken bones were set. He is now at his home in this city, and is getting along nicely.

A revival meeting will begin at James X Roads Baptist Church next Sunday, July 2nd. Rev. Mr. Hill will assist the pastor. Two services will be held on Sunday, at 11 a. m., and 7:45 p. m., with a singing program at 2 p. m. Dinner on the grounds at the noon hour. Services each evening at 7:45. All are invited.

Cantor-Bracken

Miss Lucile Bracken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Bracken, of Route 2, and Lewis Cantor, of Greensboro, were united in marriage Sunday evening, June 18th, at 8 p. m., at Chestnut Grove Methodist church. Rev. Albert Bracken a cousin of the bride, was the officiating clergyman.

Music was rendered by Miss Betty Honeycutt, pianist and Miss Jane Dwiggins, soloist.

Following the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Cantor left on a bridal trip. Upon their return they will make their home at Greensboro.

Dull-Howell

Miss Coleen Elizabeth Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Howell of Mocksville, Route 3, became the bride of Floyd Vestal Dull, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Dull of Cana, Route 1, at 8 p. m., June 17th in the first wedding ceremony performed in the newly erected Wesley Chapel Church.

The Rev. Wade Hutchins officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Peggy Taylor, soloist, and Miss Nancy Boger, pianist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Dewilla Dull, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Miss Maxine Howell, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

W. M. Seaford

W. M. Seaford, 57, of Mocksville, Route 1, died in a Statesville hospital Friday afternoon, following an illness of one week.

Surviving are the wife, the former Miss Mary Everhart; two sons W. M. and John Seaford, and one sister, Miss Dovie Seaford, all of the home.

Funeral services were held at Center Methodist Church at 4 p. m. Sunday, with Rev. J. B. Fitzgerald officiating, and the body laid to rest in the church cemetery.

Mr. Seaford held a position with Erwin cotton mills. He served as Clerk of Superior Court, 1922 to 1926, and was welfare officer for two years. Peace to his ashes.

Mrs. Sarah Stone

Mrs. Sarah Hanes Stone, 58, died at City Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem, June 19th.

Mrs. Stone was the daughter of the late Philip Hanes and Sallie Booe Hanes. Born in Mocksville Sept. 26th, 1891, she spent her entire life here. Recently she had been making her home with her son, T. A. Stone in Winston-Salem.

Surviving are two sons, T. A. Stone of Winston-Salem, Clement Stone of Mocksville; three daughters, Mrs. J. W. Rodwell, of Mocksville, Mrs. D. H. Altier of Washington, D. C., Mrs. F. J. Olivarius of Watsonville, Calif., two brothers, P. Frank Hanes and Spencer B. Hanes of Winston-Salem; three sisters, Mrs. R. D. W. Connor of Chapel Hill. Mrs. Frank Clement and Mrs. E. W. Crow of Mocksville; and five grand-children.

Funeral services were at the Mocksville Methodist Church at 4:30 p. m., Wednesday, conducted by Rev. J. A. Cox. Burial was in Rose Cemetery.

Let's stop calling it an "Agricultural Implement"

Plain talk is urgently needed today on a matter that affects the pocketbooks of all taxpayers... subsidies to commercial intercity transportation agencies that long ago outgrew the infant industry stage.

The yearly expenditures of the Federal Government alone... for aid to forms of transportation other than the railroads... now approach $1 1/2 billion. These are your tax dollars—and ours. They help provide the highways used by huge commercial trucks, the airports and other facilities used by commercial airlines, and the waterways used by waterway carriers.

In contrast, the railroads do not receive, and do not want, one single penny of subsidy. They are self-supporting. They pay more than $1 billion a year in taxes. And their charges reflect their true costs of doing business.

We think it's time to call a spade a spade... time to point out that these subsidized carriers can destroy but not supplant the self-reliant railroads... time to urge that simple justice be done for the good of all America and all taxpayers.

Barber-Martin

In a beautiful and impressive ceremony Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, Mocksville, Miss Ann Sprinkle Martin, of this city, became the bride of Hoyle Russell Barber, of Salisbury. Rev. J. P. Davis, pastor of the bride, officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

Miss Louise Stroud, organist, presented a program of wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was of white organdy, ankle length, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Barber, of Salisbury, sister of the groom, was maid-of-honor, and Mrs. Harold Cope Young was matron of honor.

Mr. Walter Sykes, of Salisbury, was best man. Ushers were Daniel Goodson, of Salisbury, and Clarence Bostain, of Granite Quarry.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Martin. She is a graduate of Mocksville High School and has completed two years of study at Catawba College.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Walter Sykes and the late Mr. Barber. He served 18 months in the U. S. Army in World War II, and is now in his Senior year at Catawba College.

The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip, after which they will make their home at 747 Salisbury street, Mocksville.

The Record joins a host of friends in wishing for this young couple a long and happy journey along the pathway of life.

Bad Wind Storm
A severe wind and rain storm visited Davie County on Monday afternoon of last week, doing considerable damage to timber and buildings. A barn near Smith Grove, on the Kim Furches farm, was blown down. Two horses in the barn escaped injury. Many trees were blown down in Clarksville, Farmington and Shady Grove townships. Some sections of the county reported heavy rains that accompanied the wind, while other sections had only light sprinkles. Temperatures reached a high reading of 93 degrees on Monday.

Very Funny

Johnny was being given a sound tanning as punishment for breaking his mother's favorite vase. Far from having the desired effect, it seemed to be a cause for merriment, and Johnny shook with laughter. "Johnny," said his mother, sternly, "I should think you would take your punishment seriously. This is not a joke you know."

No Favors

On his visit to Norway, a man was impressed with the unpretentiousness and democratic conduct of members of the royal family. When he saw a photograph of the King carrying his suitcase to the train while the adjutant who followed him carried nothing, he remarked to a Norwegian, "Can you imagine! The King even carries his suitcase himself."

Reckon So

A midwesterner, traveling in the East for the first time, was on his way to Philadelphia. He became nervous as he neared his destination, and when the train stopped at North Philadelphia wondered if he should have gotten off. He didn't, however, and, turning to his seatmate for assurance, asked if the train would stop at the Broad street terminal. "Well, I certainly hope so," was the reply, "because if it doesn't we shall all be in a devil of a mess."

3 Generations of Cowans Praise Crazy Crystals

Mrs. C. C. Cowan, 1507 Trice Ave., Waco, whose bright, cheery personality is a source of joy to the whole neighborhood, says her family and her mother's family have as long as she can remember, never been without Crazy Water Crystals. Mrs. Cowan thinks this is proof beyond proof of the goodness of Crazy Water Crystals.

Mrs. Cowan says: "I have used Crazy Water for at least thirty years and my mother and father before me used Crazy Water. I am 72 years old and now my daughter has started using Crazy Water Crystals and I take them, not only as a laxative, but also to mix with artesian water, and have a wonderful drink." It doesn't matter how old you are or where you live—Crazy Water Crystals are good for you because they are nature's own product. Faulty, sluggish elimination is so often the cause of many ailments folks suffer from—upset stomach, gas pains, headaches, rundown, played-out feeling, nervousness and body aches and pains can often be attributed to faulty elimination. Don't endure these hardships any longer; get effective, pleasant relief today from nature's own Crazy Water Crystals.

Amerasia Case

JIM McINERNEY, the assistant attorney general, was testifying in secret before the Tydings committee regarding the stolen documents in the Amerasia case. McInerney, now in charge of the justice department's criminal division, handled the Amerasia prosecution when he had a lower position in the justice department five years ago. And the man who cross-examined him, senate committee counsel Ed Morgan, once worked in the FBI as a top expert on Communists. They knew each other well.

"Jim," asked Morgan, did anyone ever bring any pressure on you regarding these people who were indicted in the Amerasia case? "Yes," replied McInerney. Republican senators pricked up their ears. This was just what they had been looking for. The Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, now sued for libel by one of the Amerasia ex-defendants, has been claiming that political pressure caused the justice department to drop the case.

"Where did the pressure come from?" continued Morgan. "The White House," replied McInerney. Republican senators were all smiles. Democratic senators looked worried. "Who in the White House?" pressed Morgan. "The President," said the tight-lipped McInerney, apparently not willing to volunteer anything unless asked.

"What did the President say?" asked Morgan. By this time both Democrat and Republican senators were almost holding their breath. "The President called me on the phone," said McInerney, "and said, 'Don't let anything stop you from sending those B-S to jail.'" The senators relaxed. The Republicans looked disappointed. But they knew if for no other reason than because they were familiar with the President's mule-driver language, that McInerney was telling the truth.

Why Case Was Dropped The real story of why McInerney could not carry out the President's orders is now fairly well understood—namely, because OSS and FBI men searched the Amerasia office and Emmanuel Larsen's apartment without a warrant, thereby violating the 4th amendment.

However, the slow-speaking McInerney, a Catholic, conscientious, and with the map of Ireland, writel all over his face, gave a graphic account during his first closed-door session with the senators. He told, among other things, how he had persuaded Judge James Proctor to hold special court on Saturday, September 29, 1945, in order to handle the Amerasia case.

At first Judge Proctor had demurred at holding court on Saturday, but the reason for the special session, McInerney explained to senators, was because one defendant, Larsen, had discovered that the FBI illegally entered his apartment, had filed a motion to dismiss, and McInerney feared other defendants would get wise and also move to dismiss.

Therefore, he had to act fast. The chief defendant, Philip Jaffe, had hinted that he might plead "guilty." So McInerney immediately got hold of his attorney and put across an agreement that the justice department would accept a fine if Jaffe would plead guilty. McInerney said he knew that if Jaffe's lawyer and Larsen's lawyer had a chance to confer and Jaffe learned about the illegal search, the government would not be able to convict anyone.

Therefore he phoned the District of Columbia clerk of the court and asked him to withhold from the press Larsen's motion to dismiss, for fear Jaffe would hear about it. This was on Friday. The clerk replied that once a court paper is filed, it became a public record.

Fortunately, only a small squib about the case appeared in the Washington Star on Friday afternoon. By Saturday morning, however, Jaffe's attorney realized that the entire prosecution was about to collapse, and grumbled about going through with his agreement to plead Jaffe "guilty." However, he finally did so.

Newspaper Chain Tactics

One interesting fact about the Amerasia case is that the illegal search by the OSS and FBI has been well known to the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain for some time. However, when the American Society of Newspaper Editors met here April 28, Roy Howard, head of the chain, instructed his editors to stage a steady campaign on the Amerasia case and for Senator McCarthy and withhold the fact the case would have failed in court.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Japan Outlaws Communist Party; Europe Coal-Steel Pact Signed; U. S. Construction at New High

JAPAN: Outlaws Reds

The Japanese Communist party received a serious setback with that government's announcement that the party would be outlawed in Japan. Observers did not find the move surprising since such action had been hinted and only waited the outcome of the general election which was carried by Japan's Liberal party. The liberals alone stuck to a pro-United States policy in a highly nationalistic campaign.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida had announced the action would be taken if there were further acts of violence by Communists. He referred to the attack on five U.S. soldiers at a Communist rally on Memorial Day. As expected, the Communists tried to blame the action on the American occupation, but Yoshida quickly denied it. Meanwhile, the Liberal party seemed assured of victory in the election. Despite rains throughout the country, the voting was heavier than expected. Officials said 81,400,000 voted, or 70 percent of those eligible. About 60 percent had been expected.

Yoshida's strong showing had been expected after his government firmly squelched projected Communist anti-American rallies and a so-called general strike called for election day. COAL-STEEL PLAN: Unites Six Nations Britain's labor government has been caught short with the announcement that six European countries have formed a coal-steel alliance. The United States gave the six countries—France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Western Germany, and Italy—its blessings, with, observers pointed out, an eye on the heavy gamble for postwar economic reconstruction of Europe as a means of further winning the cold war.

Under the plan, proposed by Robert Schuman, French foreign minister, the six nations have united to produce the sinews of heavy industry in peace. Observers said it was fairly clear that Britain, struggling to win back a high place in world trade, was caught by surprise at the move. The Schuman plan represents a historic surrender of national sovereignty of all the six countries in their economy. The pooled coal and steel industries will be directed by an independent international high authority.

Neutral observers were especially happy over the alliance. It is the first time in history that countries whose differences have caused numerous wars have gotten together to create a community of interests. This, observers contend, should eliminate the cause of wars. Increased production is also expected from the merger. The total joint production could be far greater than the sum of their separate competitive efforts. It was pointed out, for example, the industrial Ruhr needs French coal and France needs the Ruhr steel but each put a premium on the materials they exchanged with each other.

Although the British have not joined the alliance or made any commitment on the plan, the way has been left open. Observers said it would certainly give the labor government something to think about. BALTIC PLANE: Evidence Dammng The United States produced new evidence that the navy patrol plane recently lost in the Baltic was shot down, although the Russians reported they only drove it out to sea. State department officials said a recovered landing wheel indicated the plane had exploded in mid-air, and had possibly lost a wing before it spun into the sea. The wheel floated because its tire was inflated with air. It was found by a Swedish fishing captain 48 miles off the Coast of Latvia. A navy expert, Lt. Comdr. M. W. Cagle, exhibited the plane's front landing wheel, and pointed to a lever in a position showing that the wheel was retracted when the plane crashed.

MAUNA LOA: Brilliant Fireworks Mauna Loa, the 13,680-foot volcano on the island of Hawaii, turned on a brilliant display of fireworks for island tourists with the greatest eruption in history. Fortunately, no lives were lost in the eruption that sent streams of molten lava across the island and into the sea. At some points where the lava entered the ocean, the water was reported near boiling far from shore.

Japs Riot

Japanese Communists staged a rally in the shadow of the imperial palace and for the second time violence broke out between the Reds and U.S. soldiers. U.S. MP's (above) are shown breaking up the riot and taking a Jap Communist into custody.

CONSTRUCTION: At New High

Construction in the United States has reached a new high, according to reports by the department of labor. According to department statistics, construction valued at nearly $2,000,000,000 was put in place in May. This was ahead of the 1948 and 1949 seasonal peaks. Home construction accounted for much of the advance, although building costs have risen sharply. Private construction in May amounted to $1,400,000,000, an increase of 12 per cent over April and 27 per cent over May of last year. The home building part of that was estimated at $825,000,000, an increase of 15 per cent over the month and 56 per cent from a year ago. In the first five months of 1950, the total value of all types of new construction was nearly $8,100,000,000, an increase of 21 per cent from the corresponding period of 1949, the labor department announced.

HARRY GOLD: Patriotic Spy

Like the little boy who pinched off the icing on his mother's cake, Harry Gold, the American who turned against his own country to spy for Russia, wanted the sweet but didn't mean to spoil the cake. Explained the Philadelphia biochemist, no doubt for a gullible American public, he delivered atom bomb secrets to Russia, but "I had no intention of hurting my country." Such an explanation would not appease the intelligence of the six-year-old who pinched the icing. How can anyone give away the secrets of his country and not expect to hurt it, observers asked?

The Judy Coplon case and now the Gold affair have shocked the American public. Many Americans are remembering stern measures employed by founders of the nation in handling spies. The business of espionage, under any circumstances, is a nasty thing. One is not inclined to be angry with a spy such as the Russian agent Gubitchev who was acting under orders. But to turn against your native land and give or sell its secrets is an entirely different matter. Now an admitted spy asks the court to appoint him counsel, which he insists be counsel whose patriotism is unimpeachable, with the respect of the court, the public, and the bar. Further, he insists upon the right to cooperate with the F.B.I.

SEARS, ROEBUCK: Sharp Price Cuts

Sears, Roebuck and company, the world's largest retail merchandise business, has announced price reduction of up to 53 percent of 4,000 items in its midsummer sale catalogue. The merchandising world was startled with the announcement of price cuts that averaged 7 per cent on the items. Seasonal wearing apparel was cut as much as 41 per cent. More than twice as big as its nearest competitor, Sears, Roebuck and company was founded in 1888 and drew its greatest support from the farm population. Although today Sears sells in the big cities, it still keeps its rural touch with all sorts of farm products.

Employment

Employment in the United States reached its highest peak in May since last August, the census bureau announced in an optimistic report. The number of jobless dropped from 3,515,000 in April to the May figure of 3,057,000. Employment jumped from 58,668,000 in April to 59,731,000 in May, a gain of 1,063,000. In May, 1949, there were 58,694,000 employed.

Black and White Lesson for July 2, 1950

A GROCER in Minneapolis received a letter from a former customer who had left the city owing a large grocery bill. "I have been converted in a revival here," the letter said, "and I want to make every thing right in my life that has been wrong." Enclosed there was a certified check for the old bill. The grocer wired back: "Who was the evangelist who converted you? We need him in Minneapolis."

Conversion is God's operation on the heart. No one can actually see the heart, but if the operation is successful, the symptoms of the disease will disappear and the symptoms of health can be seen by any one. The patient is a new man. Jacob Black PERHAPS the most notable case of conversion in the Bible, aside from the Apostle Paul, is the man named Jacob. His life is a study in black and white; up to a certain point hardly anything good could be said of him, but after that point he can hardly be accused of anything bad. All his younger days he was principally noted for giving trouble to other people and "doing them out of" something he wanted for himself. First he tricked his older brother into selling him the family birthright, for the ridiculous price of a bowl of soup (potage). You would not think any one would sell his birthright; but Jacob caught Esau when he was dog-hungry. . . . Then we see him outsmarting his brother again by birthright; Jacob was by that time a shameless liar and thief. It became so hot for him at home that he had to leave town.

We have a glimpse of him on his journey, dreaming about a ladder to heaven. Evidently his conscience did not trouble him. Indeed, he proceeds to bargain even with God; if God will prosper him, he says, he will sell that God gets ten per cent. God did indeed prosper him; but he grew no better for it. The rest of his life, for the next twenty years, is one piece of trickery after another, he and his uncle Laban taking turns trying to outsmart each other, with Jacob usually coming out ahead. Jacob White THINGS came to a climax one night when Jacob, fearing death at Esau's hands, arranged his family to go ahead of him, keeping himself in the safest place in the rear. . . . and there at last he came face to face with God. The story of his all-night struggle at the brook Jabbok is a strange one; but one thing is certain. After that night even his name was changed, for the man himself was a new man. He is patient in trouble, no longer resentful. He is not only a good man himself, he does his best to help others. He conducts what can only be called a family revival; he persuades one and all to give up the idols they had been worshipping and turn to the one true God. He offers sacrifices, like his fathers before him. He goes down into Egypt at last, a humble man, no longer the conceited young crook he had been when he went to Padan-Aram. He depends now on God and not on himself. The God of Jacob A FAMILIAR Psalm carries this our refuge. "The God of Jacob is our refuge." Why the God of Jacob, not Abraham nor Isaac? Well, if it were only the God of Abraham, most of us might as well give up. For Abraham was a great genius, a man such as appears scarcely once in a century. Or if he were the God of Isaac only, we would be led to think of him as caring especially for the weak-minded, the lame and the lazy. But Jacob—just a plain man full of meanness? Yes; the same God who changed him can change the meanest of us. The real test of religion is not what support it can give to noble souls, or what comfort it gives to the weak. The real test of religion is: Can God turn black into white? Can God take an ordinary, conceited, slippery customer and make a good man of him? The God of Jacob can do this; and he is the God most of us need. (Copyright by the International Council of Religious Education on behalf of 49 Protestant denominations. Released by WNU Features.)

Independence Is Proclaimed By Congress

This news story of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 is written as though the event were occurring today. Its purpose is to give this all-important document the currency it ought to have these days. The Declaration of Independence, for all that it was written 174 years ago, remains predicated on the living issue of human freedom. Consider, as you read, that all this well might be happening right now.

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 4, 1776—These American colonies today became the United States of America as 56 members of the Second Continental Congress signed a Declaration of Independence without a dissenting vote. The vote came after a long day of bitter debate during which many members of the Congress publicly said they were not "ready for an open break with England."

The congress, which had been meeting behind closed doors for some time, had been actively working on the declaration since last June 10. Prior to that date, Richard Henry Lee, of Virginia, had introduced a resolution urging the absence of all allegiance to the British crown. John Dickinson, leader of the conservative middle colonies, opposed the measure, urging moderation, conciliation, and postponement.

On last June 10, however, the measure was back before the body and a committee was appointed to draw up the preamble to the resolution. Members of that committee were delegates Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, Robert R. Livingston. Franklin was ill at the time was in bed with an attack of gout, was unable to assist in the writing of the declaration. Adams, Sherman, and Livingston were also unable to assist in the writing since they had numerous other congressional affairs occupying their time.

The task thus fell upon the shoulders of young Thomas Jefferson of Virginia. He submitted his draft to Congress six days ago. It was passed aside, however, and was not brought back before the Congress until the first day of this month when the body resolved itself into a committee of the whole and resumed consideration of Lee's original proposal.

What followed was probably the most bitter debate in the Second Congress thus far, members reported.

At one time Benjamin Franklin, oldest delegate is reported to have taken the floor to warn the gentlemen that either "they would hang together or hang separately."

Freedom Espoused
The motion placed before the Congress by Mr. Lee read: "That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States, that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved."

As news of the signing seeped through this city, a state of unbelievable surprise was the first reaction. It was quickly overcome, however, by an undertone of determination and the realization that a full-scale war might soon be a reality.

Franklin was the oldest of the signers, while Edward Rutledge, 27, of Charleston, S. C., was the youngest. The youngest and the oldest congratulated each other.

Rutledge is reported to have said to Franklin as the two men shook hands, "Sir, this parchment must outlive time itself!"

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

(Unanimously Adopted in Congress, July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia)

WHEN, IN THE COURSE of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitles them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident; That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights; that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That, to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; That, whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundations on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these states. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

HE HAS REFUSED his assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States for that purpose obstructing the Laws of Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our Legislature.

He has affected to render the Military independent of, and superior to, the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

FOR QUARTERING large bodies of armed troops among us: For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas, to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering, fundamentally, the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with the power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-Citizens, taken captive on the high Seas, to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

IN EVERY STAGE of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms; Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our Britain brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—Enemies in War, in Peace, Friends.

WE, THEREFORE, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name and by authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

Historic Impact Of Declaration Was 'Startling'

The right of all men to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" is being endangered by the dead wood thinking of many who consider the Declaration to be little more than an idealistic cliché. Yet, since the turn of this century, the world has fought two wars because its people wanted to be free of despots and authoritarian governments. Tragically, the issue still is not resolved. Some day it may be. But, as the following editorial remarks try to point out, that day will not come until we all affirm and reaffirm our faith in the principles that motivated the creators of the United States Declaration of Independence in 1776.

MOST PEOPLE today consider the Declaration of Independence a historical move by which this country set forth its vow for independence, but lack the imagination to understand that in the year 1776 it was a startling declaration. In fact, with the possible exception of the Bible, and the Magna Charta in 1215, it is one of the most astonishing documents ever published by man. Look at it from the viewpoint that up until that time in recorded history no group of men had gathered upon the face of the earth and declared they would rule themselves, that they were capable of ruling themselves.

Before that the ruling of a nation was concentrated in the hands of a few men. The masses were not capable of ruling—that had been the philosophy of governments since the beginning of time.

Then, suddenly, a group of men met in Philadelphia, in a raw and untried country, and issued a document that bluntly avowed: people have the right to overthrow the government under which they live; they have a right to alter or abolish any government that does not operate for their good and happiness. That is a startling declaration.

Thus an experiment began that succeeded and grew. Succeeded so well, in fact, that it came to be regarded as commonplace. And today the Declaration of Independence is thought of by school children as a musty document which many of them are forced to memorize and find boring to read. United States citizens have accepted without reservation the idea that all peoples have a right to overthrow, abolish and alter any government under which they live.

THE TIMES in which the men lived who wrote and signed the Declaration were troubled times, much as they are today. Men throughout the world were demanding freedom of action and thought. An Englishman, Dr. Richard Price, at the conclusion of the Revolutionary War, wrote: "Perhaps I do not go too far when I say that, next to the introduction of Christianity among mankind, the American revolution may prove the most important step in the progressive course of human improvement."

Dr. Price was correct. It was the step that started the human race on a new trend of thought—freedom for all.

And the time may be coming when the peoples of all the world, not just a nation, will issue their declaration of independence and no nation will enslave another or force its conception of government on its neighbor. That, too, will be a startling document.

John Adams, who helped compose that Declaration, said: "The Revolution was affected before the war commenced. The Revolution was in the hearts and minds of the people."
