ahead and write the proclamation and sign his name to it, which Mr. Patton did, "and it is the best state paper I ever issued," he declared.

"The exposition," he said, "is a strange, wonderful thing—I don't know what to call it." He had viewed the exhibits and was greatly impressed by the marvelous showing made by the Carolinas. With the states co-operating, he said that the exposition would do a great deal for their business and commerce. The exposition is a success, he declared, and he told the audience that he would sign father state papers whenever Mr. Patton, Clarence Kuester or Colonel Kirkpatrick wanted him to.

"Made in Carolina" is a success he declared, "because there is more industrial activity in the more states than in any other two states in the union, according to population. The exposition illustrates the commercial daring and manufacturing ability of the Carolinas," he said.

PROGRESS IN NORTH CAROLINA

As to North Carolina, she stands first in per acre planted to agriculture South Carolina is close behind. Only Massachusetts ahead of North Carolina in textile manufacturing, and again South Carolina is near at hand; taken together, the Carolinas, one people, with their cotton produced and manufactured surpass in value the textile wealth of Bay State. "We do big things in all lines," he said.

"North Carolina is possessed by a mighty spirit, a progressive patriotic and a sacred spirit," the governor pointed out. "I don't know who put it there, but it is in the hearts of the people. Its origin offers a great study. It grew up and we moved by it to do these things that ought to be done. Let us go on unafraid, educating the children, taking better care of God's broken and defective, moving forward in material progress. If there is any truth, if there is any religion unless we do care adequately for the unfortunate beings in our state, we will surely rot and decay and go down to destruction. Let us better organize our agricultural life, increase, tremendously increase, our fish and sea food resources, and in every line make the things we need to apply to the church and of glorious democracy. Our state moving toward the discharge of its duties as a commonwealth and in every line making progress that excites the admiration of the whole United States. A great New Yorker financier told me that the only thing that the 'Ohio of the south' could get the money she wanted to use for the great purpose for which millions are being expended now is going back to the governor's reference to the 'Morrison administration' the governor said such references were only a convenient way of pointing out a period of time in the state's history. There was no 'Kitchen administration,' no 'Vance administration,' no 'Aycock administration,' 'These have been periods in the onward march of North Carolina. "I did not originate any of the things that are being done," he said, "but I make no claim for originality. He has been the servant of the state, only having had the opportunity to throw himself into the work of progress. This he said in his inaugural, he pointed out. All the great deeds of North Carolina come from the hearts of the people. The school, road and asylum program is their program, he declared—not his. He saw that the people were determined to go forward, so he fought for their program and was the biggest bare fight any politician ever had made in this country." He scoffed at the idea that he was a good man, he said, "Wiley Roy Kirkpatrick came before I was governor," and pride to work on the roads," he said, "and I am laughing."

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

"We must go on wisely, economically," he said, "building a great democracy with South Carolina going with us side by side, in suits and coats aside from

FASHION SHOW AT ROSENBACHER'S

Of much interest to the women is the Fall fashion show that is being conducted at Rosenbacher's store in Winston-Salem on "Friele street." "We are bringing Paris to You" is the slogan that greets the eye of the passerby, and those who have visited the store and examined the many beautiful displays are convinced that the slogan is surely being carried out. The window displays are most attractive and "few of the kind" in the city. The temptation to stop and admire the smartness and attractiveness of the styles displayed.

One window of this handsome store is displaying an evening gown in Paris' latest fabric, "Matalosse," silver cloth, showing the proper accessories, including footwear, luxurious ostrich fans and other things necessary in making up the fall costume.

In another window there is an attractive display of luxurious soft fabrics developed into suits portraying the new style features, and which are elaborately trimmed with exquisite long felt hats so fashionable this season. The suits are in soft pleated tones, which are in contrast to the smart new hats in such striking new shades as a glycerine, brick zine and others.

Upon entering the store one has a hesitancy as to which direction to go first. New styles are exhibited on all sides and in every direction.

The distinctive new handbags, hosiery, gloves, footwear, etc., portray many new ideas, causing interest to be doubled when one finds that these match in perfect harmony the elaborate showings of suits, frocks, coats, blouses and millinery to be seen on the second floor in the ready-to-wear and millinery sections.

Of particular interest to those who are exponents of style, are the new frocks in the wonderful new shades of hain n, kit, fox, fallow, as well as the new blues and browns which seem in variety limitless.

SOUTHERN POWER COMPANY TO INSTALL NEW ADDITIONS

Two Steam Plant Additions, Representing 60,000 Horsepower, To Be Constructed

Charlotte, Sept. 30.—The construction of two steam plant additions that will further provide against contingencies of low water and other emergencies will be started at once by the Southern Power company, according to an announcement of W. S. Lee, vice-president and chief engineer, this afternoon. Contracts have been placed and work will begin at once.

The additions are to the Mount Holly steam plant, 40,000 horsepower, and the Eno steam plant, 20,000 horsepower; the total new generating capacity being 60,000 horsepower. This will more than double the capacity of existing steam plants and will assure for the industries, cities and towns in the two Carolinas which depend upon this company for power as nearly 100 per cent service, a modern engineering practice and capital investment can make it.

Since the construction work began the demand for power in all parts of the territory served by the company has been very active so that months before the plants will be put in commission, the company has been compelled to withdraw from the power market.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 30.—Fire broke out again tonight in the Eisman (Johies company) building on Westchall street, which suffered heavily in the blaze a week ago, causing additional losses estimated at $300,000.

The flames are believed to have started in the third floor of the building from an unburned tin can and spread rapidly through out the structure, attracting fire-crowds. However, the fire was held to the Eisman building and the rear end of L-F-M store adjoining.

Losses to the Eisman company were estimated at $100,000 on the building and $175,000 on the stock and fixtures.

COCKLE BURR IN THE LONG CAUSES DEATH

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 30.—Death came to Orlando Bar's Spinson, Birmingham.

Two years ago young Spinson, it is stated, accidentally swallowed a cockle burr. For some time he experienced no ill effects. More recently he complained of feeling ill. He was taken to a local hospital, where an X-ray examination revealed the cockle burr lodged in his right lung.

Death followed within a few days.

NEGRO AND WHITE MAN TREATED ALIKE

Salisbury, Sept. 30.—In county court a white man and negro were tried for handling whiskey. The negro was said to be a middleman selling the whiskey for the white man on commission. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or four months on the roads. The white man was found guilty and fined $300 or eight months on the road. With this proviso, if the negro was unable to pay his fine the white man would not be allowed to pay out but must also go to the roads with the negro.

Wealth Blowing Away.

Greensboro News

The question whether the soil made—top soil, sand—day and gravel—represent waste of money is not a practical one. The summer of 1921 was heard on these roads. Many miles have been added to them this year, a summer that was, for the most part, ideal weather for their upkeep, has gone out in a drought that is costing State and county an immense sum every day—tons of road material removed constantly from the roads and deposited on the adjacent lands.

He who travels through North Carolina travels through a cloud of dust. It is expensive dust.

These roads are profitable, but the same money invested in a durable roadway is much more profitable. The soil roads are really roads, and it is out of the question to build 6,000 miles of State road, and many thousands more of county road, except over a long term of years, of permanent construction.

Guilford county is wasting a million dollars on roads, in this sense, that if the million dollars were spent on stone roads, each dollar would support much more soil roads. But the practical problem in Guilford is the same as that of the State: the roads have made roads. They demand, and are willing to pay for, and accept the best that can be furnished.

The benefactor who will discover a method of treatment that will protect a road against fine weather will save this generation most valuable. He would make a most valuable contribution to the State if he would make up their minds to meet the situation. At any rate, events in the higher courts recently have operated in discouragement of the hasty appeal.

The Appeal

Charlotte Observer

The case of the Asheville silk er who kidnapped a boy and receiving a sentence of a couple of months, made appeal to the higher court and drew five years in the penitentiary, will always stand out as a striking example in the court annals of this State, and one that may be pointed to as evidence that it does not always pay to appeal. The case of the Greensboro merchant who on the Ku Klux ran to buy because of a crime which he endeavored to lay at their door, is another example. He did not get a sentence, but he was forced to pay an enormous sum of money to get out of the State, and he had to go to the road, too. It had come to such a pass in this State that lawyers for a fellow who would get into court with a bad-looking case would have the "appeal" raised before-hand. The big reasons on the bench have evidently been making note of the procedure in the lower courts and have made up their minds to meet the situation. At any rate, events in the higher courts recently have operated in discouragement of the hasty appeal.

Should Age Make One Miserable?—Faithful Nature

"How old are you?" we asked an old colored man the other day, to which question the old uncle replied, "Well, Cap'n, I's jes' old as mah thoughts—no younger, likewise no older." "But how old are your thoughts?" we asked. "Well, sah, dat's 'pendin' on the kind of thoughts what I's thinkin'. When everything go 'long smooth like, dat's when I's sho' ter think young, but when dey's purty rough, likewise luck done gone bad, dat's when I's thinkin' old, 'dat's when I's old, to-be-sho." Well, perhaps the old colored man's philosophy has more truth in it after all, than we would be willing to admit. A man may grow old in years, and become infirm in body, but why should he become grouchy, listless, and always see the dark side of the picture? Now, as the old darkey went on, a boy may rip a toe open with the wood saw, and for a few days, perhaps weeks, he must go on crutches, but he is never blue. Why, then, should his grandfather who has seen perhaps eighty or more years of life, become blue because his rheumatism puts him in the same fix the boy is who wounds his toe? The boy knows he can take up the chase again where he left off, but where the grandfather perhaps knows it is all spent in a bit of selfish rage, and the desired end has not been attained. Perhaps we have expected too much of our self and have striven too hard in that direction, and now that we see our project going forever beyond our reach, we begin to sour in our disposition for no other reason than that life has been selfishly spent. Boys, we should put our best into the deal, and then go along content with the result. Old age is the crowning glory of a life well spent, or it is the laziest end of a life selfishly, and wrongfully spent. Perhaps personal vanity has been the cause of more misery than all other weaknesses attending human nature.

Last Night's Blaze Was In Same Place as Before and Does $300,000 Damage

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 30.—Fire broke out again tonight in the Eisman (Johies company) building on Westchall street, which suffered heavily in the blaze a week ago, causing additional losses estimated at $300,000.

The flames are believed to have started in the third floor of the building from an unburned tin can and spread rapidly through out the structure, attracting fire-crowds. However, the fire was held to the Eisman building and the rear end of L-F-M store adjoining.

Losses to the Eisman company were estimated at $100,000 on the building and $175,000 on the stock and fixtures.

McBee-Meroney.

In a ceremony marked by beauty and extreme simplicity Miss Helen Meroney, last Thursday afternoon at 6 o'clock became the bride of Silas McBee, of Greensboro, at the home of the bride in the presence of the immediate families and a few other relatives.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Downum, of Lenoir, uncle of the bride, in the living room of the Meroney home which was exquisitely decorated. In one corner of the room an altar had been improvised and twined with smilax and on either side were pedestals bearing white candles in silver candelabra. The room was decorated throughout with ferns and smilax and lighted with candle light.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. A. J. Ford, of Lenoir, cousin of the bride, rendered a beautiful program of bridal music. Then to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin the wedding party entered. Mr. McBee, accompanied by his brother, A. A. McBee, of Baltimore, as best man, entered and waited for his bride at the altar. She was accompanied by her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Margaret Meroney. The bride wore a handsome dark blue tailored suit with gray accessories and carried a lovely shower bouquet of bride's vees she showered with sweet peas. The maid of honor was attractive in a sky blue taffeta with silver accessories and carried pink and white astors.

Following the ceremony the guests were invited into the dining room where a delicious course and mints were served. This room was artistically decorated in yellow and green, with a profusion of Black Eye Susans carrying out the color scheme. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McBee left through the country for Statesville, going from there to Kanuga and other points in the western part of the state. After a wedding trip of two weeks they will be at home at 487 West Gaston Street, Greensboro.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Meroney, of Mocksville. She is a young woman of beauty and exceptional charm of personality and has a host of friends wherever she is known. Mr. McBee is a son of the late Thomas and Susan Avery McBee, of this state. He holds a position with the State Highway commission and is located for the present in Greensboro.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson WHAT YOU GET WHEN YOU INDULGE IN MOONSHINE 'Many men,' said Federal Prohibition Director Kohless at Salisbury last week, as he looked over the reports sent in by the agents in the field, 'have more confidence in their boot-leggers than they have in their own wives. If the ordinary man finds a bit of dirt in his food, he will storm around and talk about leaving home and getting a divorce, and yet he will drink the stuff that the boot-legger sells him without questioning its cleanliness or purity.' 'Chicago and Paris are much interest in monkey glands, but here in North Carolina our interest is largely in monkey rum. Monkey glands may do some good, but I am certain that monkey rum will kill anyone in time if one persists in drinking it.' Mr. Kohless explained that monkey rum is the term generally applied to eastern North Carolina illicit liquor, but at the present time can be used to describe the 'hoohy' being manufactured all over the state. 'Monkey rum is filthy and poisonous,' Mr. Kohless continued. 'It is made in all sorts of places under the most insanitary conditions. Still have been constructed of tin cans, old wash boilers, zinc kettles and other receptacles unfit for such purposes. Stuff cooked in these vessels is poisonous beyond a doubt. And one would not believe, without seeing it, the kinds of stuff out of which the liquor is made. Watermelon and muskumelon rinds, grapes, potatoes, meal and other things usually gathered from garbage cans, are used for making mash, and into this is dumped concentrated lye, and even the refuse from horse stables, to aid in the fermentation. How anyone can drink the liquor from this kind of mash and live, I cannot understand.' The belief prevails that the illicit liquor made in the mountains of western North Carolina is pure, but federal agents declare

The hard jobs seek Firestone. And so well has Firestone responded under difficult conditions—so consistently has mileage mounted to totals impossible to obtain from ordinary tires that today Most Miles per Dollar is the buying slogan of thinking motorists everywhere. The blending and tempering of rubber, gum-dipped cord construction, air-bag cure—all these mileage methods have been developed by men whose life work is the production of constantly increasing tire values for the public. Users in this vicinity verify Firestone reputation, and report almost daily some new Firestone record of extra distance travelled. Don't be satisfied to buy tires—buy values—the longest mileage at the lowest price consistent with such reliable performance. The Ring would not be so worried if they could figure out some way in which their five, seven and eleven-time voters in the primaries could serve them as faithfully as the polls.

The greatest danger with which the American people are threatened is fad. We go wild over anything from patent medicine and physical culture to the latest invention in clothes-pins, and there is but one redeeming feature to it all, which is our tendency to change so often that one fad has done very little real harm before we drop it for the next one. The "gold brick man" and corrupt politician—know these things and deal with the public accordingly. In fact, we all know them, yet we rush from one fad to another as eagerly as a humming bird from one flower to another, and learn absolutely no lasting lesson from our last hard experience.

Nearly everybody sees now
why Davie County runs her Republican primaries differently from most of the other counties in the State. If you are one of the Ring you can have one of your lieutenants drop in as many tickets as is necessary to get the nomination.

The Enterprise is orthodox democratic. We make no preten-sions of being anything else never have, and yet this paper is not so "dyed in the wool" as to be unable to see that too much partisan politics is very injurious to the growth and prosperity of the community. We have often thought that we would prefer selecting the very best men possible for offices, without regard to political affiliations—men who are honest, progressive, capable and dependable. Many times the growth and development of a county are crippled by too much political prejudice. There is no question but that Davie County is a victim of just such circumstances.
There is no use for us to try to make ourselves believe other than the facts, and one of these facts is that this county has not grown and developed as rapidly as it should have done. Politics has played a bigger part than quality with our office holders.

For this reason we are thoroughly in accord with the movement on the part of the citizens, both democratic and republican, in selecting a "citizens ticket." This looks like business. Too long we have been ruled by a few men. The good republicans who want to see progress at a minimum of taxation, are sick and tired of our past methods.

The citizens ticket, therefore, is going to be the winning ticket.
Most of the democratic party will vote for it, and most of the republicans will also support it.
When elected these men will go in to office with the assurance that they represent no party, no ring, no faction, no bosses, save the honest, hard-working, industrious voters of Davie County.
The citizens ticket carries the names of some of the best men in Davie County, men of integrity, men who are capable and men who want to see Davie County do something without taxing the life out of the citizen. If this ticket is elected, and it will be, we shall see more progress made during the next two years than in the past ten.

If you are a citizen who wants to see things done by our county at a minimum cost, if you want to be on the winning side, get on the band wagon for the "citizens ticket," for we are going to elect it by the biggest majority ever poled in Davie County.

Most of the people of Davie County believe in fair play, believe that the majority should rule and that no man has a right to vote more than once. The old Ring in the recent Republican primaries proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that their views were just the opposite.

Had you ever stopped to think why Mexico, with its ideal climate, its fertile soil, mineral resources and everything that goes to make a great and rich country, has made such a miserable failure?
The answer is, its government. Did you ever stop to think why Palestine was almost a wilderness of desolation for hundreds of years, up until the time the British government took charge, and have you wondered why it is that since the British government took charge the city of Jerusalem has taken on new life, agriculture in Palestine has received a tremendous stimulus, and the River Jordan, that has been a waste for thousands of years, is being harnessed and its water power developed? The answer is, the government. Everybody knows that under the rule of the Turks, Palestine never had a ghost of a chance to develop.
The government offered no incentives. When England took charge of the government almost immediately things commenced to hum and the country began to develop in such a way as to stagger the imagination of the most sanguine. The reason is that the British government offered incentives to industry and progress. It encouraged rather than discouraged agriculture.

If the United States had Mexico it would within a very few years become the richest section on the face of the earth, but for hundreds of years it has failed to develop because its government has not been of the kind to encourage progress. We mention these two countries as a fair example of what government will do or fail to do in the way of financial and material development.
We might bring this example down in its application to our own home county of Davie. There is really something to the kind of government which we have here.
We have been ruled by a ring or handful of politicians, and we have not measured up to what we should. The average voters, the great, honest, industrious and progressive citizens both democratic and republican have decided that it is time for us to vote for the man and not so much for the party. The result has been the naming of a "citizens ticket," composed of both democrats and republicans. This ticket is going to win by an overwhelming majority. If you are in favor of prgrsg, if you are in favor of the people ruling their own county, if you are in favor of seeing things come to pass in Davie County, get on the band wagon and vote for the citizens ticket at the next election. The time has come when Davie is going to put herself on the map of North Carolina, because the citizens of the county have resolved that this shall be.

The teachings of Christ never fail to make a man wiser, more stable and sure in all things, of every age and of every clime.
The Ring in the recent Republican primaries proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that their views were
just the opposite.

The Kaiser has gone! The Sultan of Turkey has stepped down and out and if we read the signs right the Kings of Davie will soon be a thing of the past. You can't fool all the people all the time.

From reports the Ring Leaders are getting busy night riding; Look out for them for they are out these nights telling the good people of Davie how to save the county. (For their own private use they might add.) Chameleons like they have suddenly turned Prohibitionists and advocates of law enforcement, even objecting to some of the opposite candidates because they fear they are not strong enough for Prohibition.
This kind of talk does not fool anyone for their records are against them. But why this change of heart old Ringer? The answer is the Citizens Ticket. If in this short time the new "ticket has brought about such a wonderful change what can we do by election? But don't think much of this death bed repentance for they are out to deceive trying to get us back again only that the same old crowd and their lieutenants may have high salaried offices and the Ring to rule on and on.

Fellow citizens of Davie County, be men and women of courage.
Come out to the polls and let's vote like we pray. Let's elect a ticket with men on it who will run the county affairs for the good of all and not for their own selfish ends.

In this election the wishes of the people are going to be respected. For once too often the old Ring repeated the motto of old. "The people be damned, we run the primaries and elections to suit ourselves." We are all tired of Ring rule, tired of seeing things go just as the few decide they shall go. Our only relief is in voting for and electing the Citizens Ticket.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

"There was once someone," said the Blacksnake, "who talked to some people about gossip..."

"Now I am hoping that people will take my lesson to heart. I hope they will not say that they do not gossip but will listen to my talk and will take pains to undo the harm that has been done and not gossip ever, ever again..."

"Prefer Nice Little Snakes"

"In the second place I do not at all like rattlesnakes. And why should I? He is a bigger creature than I am. I am a good creature. It is true, in fact, I am very long and I'd be considered anywhere a good-sized snake..."

"That is the way with stories. They're founded, perhaps, on just a little scrap of truth, and then they are added to and added to until they're nothing at all like the story was in the first place..."

"I admit that we do like smaller snakes. Oh, no, I'm not above that. And I suppose that is the way the story goes about that I attacked the rattlesnake..."

"I don't like rattlesnakes. We keep away from them, his, his. We don't like rattlesnakes. No, no indeed his, his, his..."

"When it has been said about us that we go after people and jump for them. This is not true at all. If we are cornered we will fight bravely, but we do not go after people..."

"I like to have the truth known about me, but I do not like to hear gossip. I don't gossip about other snakes and I don't gossip about people. So I wish they wouldn't gossip about me!"

"I wish that tremendously. I have also heard that I can look at a bird so that the bird doesn't know which way to move, and that I make the bird stay quite still just by looking at him..."

"But I can't look at a bird so he'll stay quite still. I can't do anything like that. That is a most untrue story. If I looked at a bird he wouldn't stay quite still until I caught him. Indeed, I know better than that!"

"So, everybody, please remember what I've said, and don't gossip about the poor old Blacksnake. It is most unkind, for what you say isn't true!"

Grandma's Cookies.—Cream one cupful of butter and add two cupfuls of sugar and three well-beaten eggs.

Old-Fashioned Ginger Snaps.—Bring to the boiling point one cupful of molasses, add one-half cupful of sugar or good shortening, one tablespoonful of ginger, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one teaspoonful of soda.

Sugar Cookies.—Cream one cupful of butter and three cupfuls of sugar together, add three well-beaten eggs one cupful of milk in which one teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved.

One may vary this recipe by adding grated orange or lemon peel, nuts, or seeds of various kinds. This makes a large quantity, but they are so good that they do not last long.

The secret of good cooky making is to use as little flour as possible in rolling out. By chilling the mixture well, the rolling out is very easy.

The Campaign Is On

We have not forgot how the Republican leaders, from Candidate Harding down, promised us so many good things two years ago...

To these others of us who favored the League of Nations they said that the surest and safest way to get into the League, without sacrificing any of America's rights, was to vote the Republican ticket...

But today we have no "association of nations" nor are we in the League of Nations, either with or without the sacrifice of American rights.

They told all of us that if we would elect Mr. Harding the cost of living would be tremendously reduced—that prices of everything would take a big drop...

And on top of it all, the crowd that was going to reduce the cost of living had passed a tariff bill that the most conservative experts in figuring declare will add to the living cost forty-five dollars per capita...

The Republican spell-binders told us in 1920 that the only way to prevent a panic and bitter strife between labor and capital was to restore the Republican party to power...

But never has business suffered greater depression than during the last two years. And in that time we have witnessed the most disastrous labor war in the history of America.

In 1920 they said the only way to insure peace and return of prosperity in Europe was to destroy Wilsonism in this country. But look at Europe; tell us...

And so we might continue to call the roll of promises that have been broken. But what's the use? Everybody knows what has taken place. And many will not soon forget.

For quick results it's better for a girl to be popular with only one man at a time.

Every sort of germ extant is in suspension in the air, and with ever attending of these assemblies, breathing swallowing dust all day long, stands a fair show to bring home a full collection of diseases, and with irritated nose and throat membranes as a starting place for them to work on.

KING ALFONSO IS HARD TO PLEASE AS WOMEN'S ARMS GO

Paris, Sept. 30.—"Very few women" have arms sufficiently beautiful for them to wear with grace sleeveless gowns, said King Alfonso recently at Deauville. "The arms of the American women are too fat and those of the English women are too thin. The Spanish ladies' arms are too short. The French women have small but most perfect arms, and the Italian possess the most perfect types of arms."

WALKER'S BARGAIN HOUSE

WINTER HATS REAFFIRM THE SPLENDOR OF STYLES

When Tonyson sang of the spider that he is, he returned me to a love for spider every once in a while. In millinery, there is a chance for a bit of splendor for everyone. Fabrics are rich, brocades and metal tissues are dazzling, plumes la gorgonne draw in admiration from Paris and India (and we look to the East for splendor). A little group of four hats, shown herewith, reflects that regal note that appears in all the styles. The velvet-covered stipe at the top of the group, in dark brown Lyons velvet, becomes a very ingenious trimming of fougere ribbon about the brim-edge and a sunflower rosette, made of the same, set off the ribbon, posed on the crown.

Is Your School A Safe Place For Your Boys And Girls?

Writing under the above head, the Progressive Farmer of last week gives some suggestions so timely that we have decided to give this space for their reproduction and consideration by the people of Davie County. We quote: Thousands of boys and girls throughout the South are now going back to school. Now is the time to see that the schoolhouses and grounds are clean and sanitary. Health is the first essential in getting an education. Some of the things parents should look after are as follows:

1. Investigate the water supply.—A properly constructed well has waterproof walls extending not less than six inches above the surface of the ground. If a pump is used, the top should be waterproof, so that the dirty, pumped-out water runs away from the well instead of back into it. It is a good idea to pump the well dry and allow fresh water to collect before school opens. The common open well, where used will no doubt need attention. Rain may have washed dirt, manure, or other materials into it. Also mice, rats, rabbits, or other living creatures may have jumped or fallen into the well. Therefore, an open well should be pumped dry and thoroughly cleaned before school starts.

2. Examine the drinking utensils.—The common water bucket, with dipper or glass used by all pupils, each one putting his or her own contribution of germs and saliva into the bucket or glass for others to drink after, this offers one of the surest ways of spreading measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, and other communicable diseases. If sanitary water containers of the fountain type cannot be had, then the water bucket should be covered and each child should bring his own drinking cup and be taught never to use anybody else's.

3. Examine the windows and seats.—Lack of proper ventilation in the school room helps spread contagious diseases. Badly fitted seats result in crooked spines and cramped lungs. 4. Open or unsanitary closets are dangerous.—A toilet needs to be fly-proof to be safe. Typhoid fever and diarrheal diseases may be contracted from food and water that has been contaminated with human excreta. The toilet should also be so located that it will not pollute the water supply. It is next to impossible to teach a child cleanliness and decency in the schoolroom and from books when he is daily getting a lesson of filth and indecency from the school's own out-buildings.

School consolidation has greatly increased the number of buildings with modern conveniences, safe for the health of the children. In many other communities, however, the school houses do not yet have modern conveniences. Do you not owe it to your boys and girls to see to it that clean and sanitary conditions exist in your school this year? If sickness or death should come to your home as a result of your negligence, you could hardly forgive yourself for not looking into these matters.

Alumnae of College For Women Celebrate Greensboro, Oct. 5.—Founder's day was observed at the North Carolina College for Women here today and tonight with an address by Dr. J. T. Tigert, United States commissioner of education making the principal address.

Alumnae from nearly all the counties of the state were here in large numbers, and the tea house of the Alumnae building was open this afternoon. Tonight the alumnae dinner was held, with representatives of the three decades since the founding of the college making addresses as did the president of the college, Dr. J. I. Foust. He urged the co-operation of the alumnae in furthering the progress of the institution.

Dr. Tigert lauded the efforts of Dr. Charles Melver, founder of the college, and declared that brains, not fertile soil, and other rich natural resources make the state among the leaders of the union, and that continued progress depends upon greater effort in education, among all the people, asserting that the rural school problems call for the best effort of the people of the country.

We hope to soon be walking in good sidewalks in place of mud. The town folks are getting plans about perfected and hope to get work on the way real soon.

When will the Ring cease to be a Ring? Answer—When the people speak in November.

When once a man becomes fully satisfied with his financial condition, and feels no desire to be a helper to men, nor has the thirst for fresh knowledge, he may as well be dead.

It has always been woman's privilege to change her mind. This Fall it will be the privilege of men also who want a County government of and for the people to change their mind and get away from a government of and for the Ring only.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR OCTOBER—Fair in the east and prospects for an overwhelming victory for the citizens in November. Strong north winds and clouds of doubt and dissatisfaction will hang over the followers of the Ring. We anticipate unsettled weather for vicinity around Court House.

The best experts in the agricultural world heartily recommend some kind of cover-crop for farm lands during the winter. Many farmers who have proven their ability make it a rule to let very little of their land lie over the winter without some kind of crop growing thereon. Soy rye, oats, wheat, clover or something, even if you intend to break the land next spring for a cotton or corn crop.

We note from the Salisbury Evening Post that the Rowan County Commissioners have abandoned the county work house. Rowan is now preparing quarters at Jackson Training School for its young, who have strayed from the straight and narrow path and need a bit of correction. This is a wise step on the part of the Rowan authorities. Somehow the work houses never appealed to us a great deal, anyway.

David Grayson is said to be the author of the following beautiful thoughts:

There is an indescribable satisfaction in answering "Present!" to the roll call of Nature; to plant when the earth is ready, to cultivate when the soil begins to make and harden, to harvest when the grain is fully ripe. It is the chief joy of him who lives close to the soil that he comes, in time, to beat in consonance with the pulse of the earth; its seasons become his seasons; its life his life.

The majority of the voters are going to support the Citizens Ticket for everyone knows that this is the only way to free Davie County from Ring rule. The Republicans, for years at the primaries have tried to get in new men, but just as it happened at the last primary the Ring has always named the ticket and most Republicans down in their hearts know that unless the Citizens Ticket is elected the Ring will continue to name the ticket, regardless of the wishes of the people. You now have an opportunity of saying whether or not you want a voice in saying who shall govern your county.

The Statesville Landmark makes the following statement editorially which we endorse and pass along to our subscribers as a piece of interesting reading:

It is announced that 400 students of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Engineering (incorrectly called State College) are enrolled in Bible classes.

undaunted, to take up the trail where we left off, and to persevere till we shall have found what we know is the very best.

Economy, Efficiency And Equity.

We come before you as candidates on the Citizens Ticket without fear or favor, with no machine behind us, neither hampered by any party promises nor by any Ring or Political Bosses. We expect to serve all the citizens of Davie County as your representatives in administering county affairs.

We are all plain working men and propose to give and get honest service—ten hours work for ten hours pay.

We are not Solomon and don't profess to know everything, but we are positive that we do not need a $2800.00 a year engineer with car and gas free to come to Davie county and show us how to drive a mule, swing a pick or roll a wheelbarrow.

We pledge to the good women and mothers of our county to enforce the law without fear or favor of any Political Boss. We ask you has this been done?

We believe in law enforcement and the sacredness of an oath. When we take a solemn oath to uphold and enforce the laws of our county we would feel ourselves traitors and would be ashamed to look the voters of Davie county in the face were we to violate this solemn obligation.

On this platform we solicit your support THE CITIZENS TICKET.

GEN. PERSHING WILL ATTEND STATE FAIR OCT. 17

Raleigh, Oct. 4.—General John J. Pershing will attend the State Fair on Tuesday, Oct. 17, rather than on Wednesday, as previously announced. It was stated on the return of Colonel Albert L. Cox, chairman of the entertainment committee, from Washington, where he conferred with General Pershing relative to arrangements for the stay of the distinguished soldier in Raleigh. The change in the plans of General Pershing will cause "Military Day" to coincide with "Opening Day," and will give the Fair three speakers of National reputation for the opening day. General Pershing will speak, probably after the Fair has been formally opened by Governor Cameron and Mrs. Edith Vandenberg, president of the Fair, has made her annual address.

General Pershing has accepted an invitation to be the guest of Governor Morrison while on his first visit to the State Capitol and will be entertained at breakfast at the Executive Mansion Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Following the breakfast at the Mansion, the man who commanded the two million troops in the American Expeditionary Forces, will lead the parade to the Fair Grounds and after the speaking exercises will be the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Fair Grounds.

General Pershing will leave Raleigh at 5:40 Tuesday afternoon for New Orleans, where he will attend the annual convention of the American Legion. Conflict between the two engagements caused General Pershing to advance the date of his trip to Raleigh.

Colonel Cox also announced that arrangements have been completed for a battery of Field Artillery to camp on the Fair Grounds during the entire week of the Fair. This outfit will take part in the parade for General Pershing and will give exhibition drills on the Fair Grounds each day, furnishing the greatest attraction of the kind the Fair has ever had.

Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts has been asked by Mrs. Vandenberg to act as Chief Marshal for the parade and expects to have several units of the National Guard in Raleigh for the occasion. The thirty-two piece field artillery band, one of the best military bands in the country, from Camp Bragg, will also be here, as well as the band of the 120th Infantry of the North Carolina National Guard.

Brigadier General A. J. Bowley, commander officer of Camp Bragg, will be present with his staff and the staff of Governor Morrison will also be present for this occasion and arrangements are being made for full representation of the American Legion posts throughout the State.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 15. THE MINISTRY OF JOHN THE BAPTIST. LESSON TEXT—Luke 3:1-22. GOLDEN TEXT—Isaiah 41:10. REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 2:23; 11:10; 12:1-14. PRIMARY TOPIC—What John Said About Jesus. JUNIOR TOPIC—John Preaching and Baptizing. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Fearless Witness. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Repentance: What It Is and What It Does.

1. The Degeneracy of the Times (vv. 1, 2). The Jews had sunk to a very low level of civil, moral and religious life. Luke carefully enumerates the evil and vile practices in order to show the profligacy of the times and therefore the need of a messenger to call the people back to God and virtue. Among the vices mentioned are the murderer, Annas and Caiaphas were corrupt ecclesiastical rulers.

2. The Wilderness had undergone a discipline which fitted him for his role. Out of the wilderness he finished forth preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins (v. 3). This ministry is declared to be a fulfillment of Isaiah's prophecy. The message was described as one calling upon the nation to prepare for the coming of the Messiah. This preparation was to be a change of heart and a renunciation of the East about to make a journey. A servant was sent before to prepare the highway. Valleys needed to be filled, mountains and hills needed to be lowered, crooked paths needed to be made straight and rough places needed to be made smooth. Today before the nation will receive Christ the valleys need to be filled with righteous deeds, the crooked paths need to be brought low, the crooked dealings of the business world must be straightened out and the rough ways of nations and individuals must be smoothed out. Men must repent of their sins before they can receive Christ.

SOUTHERN NOW NORMAL TRAINS ON OLD SCHEDULES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—The Southern Railway System is now operating all its freight and passenger trains on normal schedules and accepting all business offered, having cleared its lines of all congestion in twelve days after the settlement of the strike of its shopcraft employes, according to a statement from H. W. Miller, vice-president in charge of operation.

"The Southern Railway System had an accumulation of 14,126 loaded cars, not moving currently, on September 18th when the strike of the shopmen was settled," said Mr. Miller. "Some of these were 'frozen' in yards and others were set off on side tracks out on the line. We had rigid embargoes outstanding and a number of passenger trains had also been discontinued as an emergency measure. On October 1st, the entire accumulation had been moved and all yards and terminals were functioning normally. All embargoes for which the Southern was responsible had been lifted and all passenger trains had been restored.

"The Southern is today in a normal condition and ready to handle all traffic offered by shippers or connections for all destinations, subject only to outstanding embargoes of connecting lines."

Quite a little excitement took place last Wednesday afternoon when the cotton caught fire from a hot box at Green's cotton gin. The quick action on the part of citizens rushing to the scene checked what would probably have been a very disastrous fire as the oil tanks of the Standard Oil Co. are near the gin.

The following have subscribed and renewed: J. D. C. Wilson, W. C. Boger, T. P. Whitaker, S. A. Woodruff, Mrs. H. C. Meroney, W. L. Hendren, Chas. L. Wooten, Bill Bradford, A. H. McMahan.

SENATOR FELTON SAYS SHE IS NOT OUT FOR GLORY

New Senator From Georgia Says Biggest Question Today is Law Enforcement

She Is 87, But Active

Cartersville, Ga., Oct. 4.—A woman who has lived to be 87 and still retains her optimism over the outlook for human control in America, cannot help but realize that it is in a measure a question of laws, government and women as it is a question of enforcement.

This was the statement of Mrs. W. H. Felton, who has become the first woman United States senator, as she declared at her home here today that she is succeeding the late Senator Thomas E. Watson without "exciting" herself over such questions as the tariff, the bonus and the "fast disappearing flapper type of girl."

Mrs. Felton reminds one of the old-fashioned moth reprobate on the American stage of today. Her hair is as white as snow and her face wrinkled, but despite her age she is very active. She possesses a magnetic personality. Although "retiring" in her manner, she is known throughout the South, talks as fluently as the wisest and does not hesitate to express her views on the important issues of the day.

It's sometimes laughable how a person will study the outside of the envelope to try to guess what's inside.

Revolt In Davie

Winston-Salem Journal.

Sorry is not the only county in this section of the State where many Republicans and Democrats alike are tired of the way their county government is being run. The news from Davie indicates that there is considerable revolt against the old order over there. A citizens' ticket, composed of both Republicans and Democrats, has been nominated and the forces back of it are said to be determined to make a real fight for victory this fall. Speaking for those forces, the Mocksville Enterprise says:

"The citizens of Davie county have stood ring rule until it is unbearable. Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin, is blazing across the political sky, which means, boss rule must go." The Enterprise describes the convention in which the new citizen's ticket was nominated "as a protest against ring rule in the administration of county affairs," in which "a large number of red-blooded citizens of both parties" assembled for action.

The Enterprise then gives the names of the men on the new ticket. The candidate for sheriff is a Republican, and so are the candidates for clerk of Superior Court, treasurer, corner, suror and one of the gentlemen named for board of county commissioners. The candidates for other county officers are Democrats. There are six Republicans and three Democrats on the ticket.

Commending the new candidates to the people of Davie, the Enterprise declares that "this ticket is composed of good men of both parties who decided now is the time to lay aside partisan politics and not be whipped in line as heretofore by party bosses but like free people vote for fearless men for county officers, who will give us a fair, clean, equitable, and economic administration of county affairs and be amenable to no ring, no political bosses but only to the citizens of Davie county."

"If this kind of government appeals to you," says the Enterprise to the voters of Davie, "step on the gas and let's go."

MOCK'S CHURCH NEWS.

Politics is beginning to warm up in our community. Some of the candidates are already out on the stump; About the best campaigning one could do to gain votes would be to get his pick and shovel and work some of the mud holes in our roads, especially the one in front of our church.

The kind of men that we need in office are men that will look after the interests of their fellowman and not altogether themselves as it seems like some are doing. Men let's go to the polls in November and vote for men that will do something regardless of party. Until we do this the interest of our county will be in the hands of a few men.

Mr. Ed Morris, the republican candidate on the independent ticket, made a campaign speech at Mock's school house Saturday night to a small crowd. Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, of near Fork, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. J. T. Phelps. Mr. and Mrs. Willie, of near Advance, spent Sunday with L. H. Mock.

Corn shuckings seems to be the order of the day throughout our berg. Miss Georgie Mock spent Saturday and Sunday in Advance with her father, Mr. T. S. Mock. Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Mock, on Advance, spent Sunday evening with Mr. I. H. Mock. Mr. P. R. Carter's little to had the misfortune to cut himself with a knife Sunday.

Mrs. W. J. Jones is still on the sick list, we are sorry to note. Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Phe spent Sunday with Mr. J. W. Beuchamp.

Daddy's Evening with Mary Jane

JAPANESE SIKKA DEER

"There are a good many of us in the zoo," said the Japanese Sika Deer to the Fallow Deer in the next yard.

"We have quite big antlers, although we're not very large, and in that way we're something like you are."

"Yes," said the Fallow Deer, "we have big antlers, too, for our size. Well, antlers are most important in the Deer families. Most important, indeed."

"Antlers are most important," said the Sika Deer, "but we never get sick. We consider it foolish to be sick."

"I don't suppose everyone or every creature can help being sick at times," said the Fallow Deer.

"In fact," the Fallow Deer continued, "I've heard that no one likes to be sick."

"Then it is very foolish of anyone ever to be sick," said the Sika Deer. "Perhaps you cannot help it," said the Fallow Deer, "but they couldn't help it for they didn't like it at all."

"Well, that is the case," said the Sika Deer, "I feel very sorry for them. I feel sorry for anyone who must be sick because it seems such a stupid waste of strength."

"You see we are very strong. We're never sick. We don't care to waste our time that way."

"We don't bother about having lots of hair given to us in the winter when other animals are cold and are begging for all the heat they can get. We keep our good health and when the little baby members of the family come along they grow up to be strong too."

"So life agrees with us and it agrees with the babies too, even with the little babies one might think would be delicate."

"The European Elk and he is big and handsome and fine. He looks like his own father and his own family and we don't bother about each other."

"But I admire his looks for he is a big fine fellow."

"I don't think so much of the Malay Sambar deer for he likes to have his head heated in the winter time. He gets himself and his family and the 50 people spoil him too."

"Of course," said the Fallow Deer, "there is a difference of opinion."

"He is a very pleasant fellow and everyone likes him, especially the keepers."

"They say that the little Malay Sambar Deer babies are strong and that they like the zoo almost as much as the Sika Deer babies."

"And he is far pleasanter than you are, my little one, rather cross when the babies are arriving."

"Only because I want to make sure that they show at once they are going to be strong and sensible."

"We've said the Fallow Deer, "I'm very glad to hear of your strength, but I don't believe creatures would like to have you around when they were ill."

"You wouldn't be very sympathetic, I'm sure. You would think they'd made a great mistake in being ill at all."

"I would," said the Sika Deer, "I must certainly would. I don't care for the Malay Deer because he does a lot of fussing whether one strong little Malay Deer babies arrive at the zoo, and neither does Mrs. Malay Deer seem to care."

"They don't think much of zoo life I suppose. They are rather fine looking and they have a little sympathy for creatures that come from Asia in the first place."

"But I think we're the best of all for we never bother the keeper with any time off for sickness."

"You're certainly healthy," said the Fallow Deer, "but I should like a little sympathy for creatures less fortunate."

"Haven't the time," said the Sika Deer, "to have sympathy. I have other things to think about. And the main thing is the pleasant thought of my own good health."

"Selfish," said the Fallow Deer to himself, "Yes, Sika is selfish!"

Her Closest Relative, Little Mary Jane's father had just refused her request for a nickel. Turning to her mother she said: "Mother, you are the nearest relative I've got, but papa is the closest."

The Rev. Edwin A. Penick, Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of North Carolina, will make his first visit to Cooleemee next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, when he will conduct divine services at the church of the Good Shepherd and confirm a class of young people. Dr. Penick was consecrated Bishop last Sunday at St. Peter's church, Charlotte, in a beautiful and impressive service, seven Bishops and about sixty priests taking part. The congregation of the church of the Good Shepherd and their minister, the Rev. Joseph D. C. Wilson, are highly honored that Bishop Penick accepted their invitation to make his first visit to the church after his consecration to Cooleemee. Dr. Penick is the youngest Bishop of the American church, a great leader and a fine preacher. He served as Chaplain in the army just before coming to Charlotte about three years ago. He has built up St. Peter's parish to almost double its former membership besides establishing a church in North Charlotte. He takes an active part in all phases of community life and is one of the most popular men in that city.

Who Are They?

It seems unnatural for one in school work to make suggestions to parents. In fact on most questions we feel that we need advice; but there is a condition in this town which, I believe, can be remedied by the parents.

It is this: I have observed this Fall since school began, that there are about twelve boys from nine to 16 years of age who make it a habit of loafing up town after supper until late every night. They can be observed—if any one wishes to verify the truth of this statement—as they come down Main Street, and other streets about 10 p. m. They disturb none, but it is a mystery to me how the parents of such school boys expect them to succeed in their school work. They belong at home long before dark, and unless their parents realize this fact, they need not expect much of them, nor should they be too ready to take offense at a teacher who tries to discipline such a child at school. Mothers and Fathers, it's up to you!

Court By Mail, She Arrives, They Marry

H. T. Korngay, age 56, a wealthy Sampson county farmer, and Miss Catherine Heartlis, of Washington, D. C., age 45, met at Goldsboro last week for the first time after a lengthy courtship by advertisement of the farmer thru a matrimonial bureau. Their love was instantaneous and they at once proceeded to the courthouse where a marriage license was secured and they were married by Magistrate W. G. Britt. They left for Sampson county, where the Washington lady will be taught how to grow cotton and tobacco.

No land owner can afford not to use printers ink. An appropriate farm name on a simple letter head paper telling about the things for sale, adds dignity to the farming profession at the same time it adds money to the bank account.

Vestal-Linville

The following clipped from the Twin City Sentinel will be of interest as Mrs. Vestal lived here prior to going to Winston-Salem and often visits here.

A quiet but pretty marriage took place in Burkhead Methodist church at 5:30 Wednesday evening, this being the first nuptial event celebrated in the new house of worship. The contracting parties were Miss Bettie Linville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Linville, of Fourteenth street, and Mr. Thomas F. Vestal.

A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the marriage. The church was attractively decorated with autumn leaves, golden rod and potted plants, and was lighted by cathedral candles.

Mrs. Thomas L. Spass presided at the piano. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. W. L. Hutchins of Lexington, sang "I Love You" Mr. J. M. Ketchie also sang "Because." As the bridal party entered Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

The ushers, Messrs. Calvin White and Aubrey Flynn, entered from the right aisle; Fred Bates and Herbert Thompson from the left.

The bridal couple was preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Linville, sister of the bride, who came in from the left aisle. She was attired in a blue-tan velvet suit and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride and groom entered also from the left aisle and proceeded to the chancel, where Rev. J. S. Hiatt, the pastor, stood in waiting. He performed the ceremony, using the Methodist rite. The bride wore a white dress with gray accessories. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Monticello

Charlotte Observer

The people of Virginia are once again disturbed over prospect of sale of Monticello, the famed home of Thomas Jefferson, at Charlottesville. The owner of this historic private estate has placed it in the hands of a broker, who is advertising it in the real estate columns. Several years ago determined effort was made to induce the United States to take over this property, but the failure was of so complete a nature as to discourage further hopes in that direction. The Government loves the old estate, but it loves its money more. Manifestly, the State of Virginia must take up the contract for preservation of this property to posterity, or it may deteriorate under private ownership. It is an asset many by reason of its historic nature, and it would take a mighty rich man to preserve it simply by reason of a patriotic duty.

Monticello is an American shrine of little less importance than Mount Vernon, but its own State does not appear able to buy it and the Government does not want it. The proposition to commandeerly realize on tradition is a doubtful one, and probably the periodical offering for sale of Jefferson's home will be a news feature in the life of the coming generation. Great old estates in America do not sell like castles in Europe. It is easier to be a sucker abroad than a patriot at home.

"Three days make up our lives—yesterday, tomorrow and today. Yesterday is dead forever. Tomorrow's sun never rises—it is always today. Do the work today, you ought to do. You know what these things are. Nobody else on earth can tell you. Begin to think."

To The Voters Of Davie Co.

I wish to state my position on some things I shall stand for if elected as your Representative.

I am in favor of a reasonable reduction in value on all farm lands; also a reduction of salaries of all County officers in keeping with the reduction on farm products and labor. I am in favor of paying farmers for top soil to build and repair roads. Shall advocate that the State Department of Agriculture be authorized and empowered to buy lime deposits, and be allowed to use convict labor and sell lime to the farmers at actual cost, and all lime be sold on a guaranteed analysis. Am also in favor of all fertilizer manufacturers in the state giving the source of ammonia and potash on each bag of fertilizer.

I stand for a better county government and an equal distribution of all funds, especially in building and maintaining roads. Signed, M. J. HENDRICKS.

FOREMOST FASHIONS IN FOOTWEAR FOR AUTUMN

WILL she or will she not give up the low shoe for almost all sorts of wear when winter comes? Judging by the foremost fashions in fall foot wear, she emphatically will not. The short skirt advanced the importance of pretty footwear and women have become as exacting about shoes as they are about hats. They will be daintily shod, come what will, and they like the strap slipper and silk stocking. Now comes the beautiful and dignified colonial shoe as a rival for the strap slipper. During the autumn and until snow and ice compel something more protecting, the colonial shoe and the strap slipper are scheduled for a great success. Variations in the strap slipper are endless. There are straight straps, cross straps, double-cross straps, wash leath and slashed straps, just to mention a few of them. The slippers are made in suede, patent, and other kinds with a generous proportion of satin lining. Some are in brown, tan, and some other colors. A very handsome combination appears in tan suede uppers with black patent leather soles. Some fascinating Russian boots are shown with "granated" tops, but they conceal the fineness of the make and are not likely to become popular. Get ready for house cleaning, for the old ring is going to die along about the first days of November. Fact of the matter it's dead now.

The voters seem determined to take back the government of Davie into their own hands. Let us make it a great big majority for the citizens' ticket.

We like the pledge to the people made by our candidates for the House of Representatives. It rings true. Let us elect him with all others on the ticket by an overwhelming majority.

Davie voters are sick and tired of being taxed to death with so little to show for their money. Too long we have allowed a handful of self constituted political leaders run the affairs of the county to suit themselves and their cohorts.

If you are not a subscriber to the Enterprise, don't let another week pass before you get your name on our list for a year in advance. Each week the paper is brimful of interesting local news, helpful comment and interesting reading matter.

The Enterprise will be a mighty good companion during the long nights of late fall and winter. Put your name on our list and let us send you the paper. Friend, tell your neighbors what a fine paper the Enterprise is, and ask him to subscribe.

ECONOMY, EFFICIENCY AND EQUITY. This is what the citizens' ticket, composed of good men of what political parties, offers us. What promises have the ringsters made? Furthermore, would every one seriously regard their promises, should they make any?

The Enterprise now has the largest number of paid in advance subscribers any newspaper ever published in this county has had. The folks like the Enterprise. They say it gives the local news, that it is fair and can be relied upon for stating the facts as they exist.

We have nothing to lose and everything to gain if we make a change in our county government from ring rule to a set of officials from the people.

while we are at it. Let's give the citizens' ticket a fair chance. They certainly will hand us no worse deals than the ring would.

We the undersigned candidates desire to say to the voters and citizens of Davie County that we are republicans and as republicans we ask you to vote for us in November. We are not the candidates of any ring or clique and we have no ring behind us nor have we been drawing "high salaries" in office. We are of the people, for the people, and if elected, as we expect to be, we shall stand for the people and respect their rights and as far as we are able try to make Davie County a better county to live in, our motto: "The people must rule" and not be ruled by high salaried office holders nor by a "Ring."

If the people's vote cannot be heard in a Davie County republican convention, it can be expressed by ballot at the poles.

Skeered! Yes, They Are Skeered To Death.
The Ring met in Register of Deeds office last Thursday night in the wee small hours devising ways and means by which to evade the county from Citizen rule.

From all reports it was a mournful occasion.
Their motto: "Ring rule or bust."
Their only argument "A Democratic Trick."

Their past record a Grave Yard Silence.
It is true "by their fruits ye shall know them," and equally true "Be sure your sins will find you out."

Mr. Court House Ring: Your Record, Your Record the voters cry. Your only answer, "A Democratic Trick."

Put On Your Dimmers. The Lamp Exploded.
The court house bunch have suddenly developed into church workers. Holy wonders! James Cross Roads church was presented with a lamp with the compliments of the Ring accompanied with a nice little speech: "We are good to you now, you can be good to us later."

Beware of Greeks even bearing gifts. Great heavens! It makes you want to scream. We don't believe the voters endorse such hypocrisy in church as well as in politics. It is like smallpox masquerading as measles.

What the voters of Davie County want is not more illumination in churches but light on your past record. Mr. Court House Bunch, why didn't the majority vote in the last primary? How will we have you enforced the laws?—the answer a cold dead silence, to say nothing of the cost of our perfectly good fire proof court house burned in two years, or the cost of the second court house which now stands as a living monument to Davie county economy and business management under Ring rule.

Here is where illumination is needed, not in churches. Ask them about their past record and they are as evasive as a cake of soap in a tub of water. They hump one shoulder, then the other and say "let bygones be bygones", take the boll weevil wiggles and turkey trot down the road singing "It is a Democratic Trick"—the only argument they offer for your votes.

Are these the kind of officers you want to administer your county affairs?
Is Davie County To Be Ruled By The Ring Or By The People?

we were jockeyed out of the nomination are now before the voters for Davie County on the Citizens ticket as a protest against such high handed tactics. We appeal to the voters who believe in fair play for their support. Our opponents are mud slinging, spreading all kinds of evil reports defaming our characters, accusing us of being whiskey drinkers, traitors etc.

We all were raised in your midst and ask the voters to compare our records.
Up until the recent primary we were republicans in good standing, in fact good enough to have their endorsement and appointment to office. Our only offense was we refused to stand hobbled and tied and refuse to be whipped into line by the Ring Masters, but dare to be free American citizens, something unheard of in Davie county republican primaries. As long as we were willing to eat out of their hands and be crum catchers we were 100% good republicans, but as soon as they saw us headed for one of these big salaried jobs created for their own private use we were told in so many words that was a close corporation and that we were not in the ring. To hold office in Davie, you must be branded. For instance refer to the recent Post Office fight in Mocksville.

A Wonder.
To us Lloyd George, of England, is in many ways the most wonderful character that has lived in a century. He is the only world statesman who has survived the ups and downs of reconstruction since the close of the World War. He is a great statesman, of course, but his ability as a politician is what puzzles us. A New York paper recently speaking editorially of this wonderful Britton, sizes him up in the following interesting manner:

At this distance it looks as if Mr. Lloyd George's political opponents might have picked a better moment to open a campaign against him than the moment when the issue of the conference with the Turks is still dangerously in doubt.
But the reason for such a campaign is understandable. Mr. Lloyd George's genius is a curious one. It is a genius for starting with a fumble and finishing with a brilliant acrobatic catch. It is a genius such as the world has rarely seen for getting out of a mess. The only trouble with it is that Mr. Lloyd George cannot display his genius for getting out of a mess unless he has first got into the mess. He has got us down the primary road and out of the mess. He has got us out of the mess by winning a election on the cry that Germany must pay for the war and then becomes the most eloquent statesman in the world in the task of proving how impossible it is for Germany to pay for the war. He backs the Greeks in their folly, and then at one minute before midnight takes a stand which may save Europe from the consequences.

This is all very well in its way. A politician who is a brilliant pinch hitter in the ninth inning is not to be despised, especially by those who cannot make a hit in the ninth inning or any other. But he is best if held in reserve for the stunt he can do. It would be better for England and the world, his critics think, if somebody else started policies and if Mr. Lloyd George re-stated until he was needed in a crisis. Under such an arrangement, Mr. Lloyd George's genius for getting into a mess would be bottled up and his genius for getting out of one would be uncracked at the psychological moment.

TO TAKE CENSUS OF ALL DISABLED

OCTOBER 30 THROUGH NOVEMBER 4 TO BE CRIPPLE CENSUS WEEK IN THIS STATE.

GOVERNOR APPEALS IN BEHALF OF CRIPPLES

Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and Bureau of Child Welfare wish to get names of all physically handicapped persons in the State in order that they may be rehabilitated or, if children, receive treatment.

Raleigh.—Every citizen should have this in mind when he votes. This is the basis upon which the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Public Welfare and the Bureau of Child Welfare are proceeding in instituting Cripple Census Week which will be observed all over North Carolina from October 30 through November 4. The purpose of this state-wide census will be to obtain the names of all disabled persons, children and adults, in North Carolina who may be aided by training or treatment.

Governor Morries has issued the following appeal to the people of North Carolina to aid these departments in this census:

"It is the inalienable right of every one of God's creatures to have the opportunity to live his or her life as usefully and as happily as possible; and since every person has that right, we, as citizens of a great and benevolent Commonwealth, owe it to those who are physically incapacitated to do all within our power to either eliminate or alleviate their disabilities. In the performance of this obligation, we will not only be rendering a service to the maimed and crippled but will serve our State.

"In order that as many of such people as possible within the borders of our State may receive assistance that will aid them in rehabilitating themselves, I earnestly request the people of North Carolina to set aside the period of October 30th to November 4th inclusive as Cripple Census Week, and urge that during that time, especially, all our citizens who may know of crippled persons notify officials of the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Public Welfare and the Bureau of Child Welfare of the State Department of Public Welfare, who have these matters in charge.

"By thus taking a census of those of our people who are physically disabled or incapacitated because of some bodily impairment and whenever possible, securing treatment or vocational training for them, we will surely help to improve the usefulness and welfare of a portion of our population which more than any other of us who are fortunate.

"Through a census, the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation may endeavor to work in helping the handicapped man or woman help himself or herself, and the Bureau of Child Welfare may endeavor to give the maimed child the number of crippled children who need treatment and by aiding them to receive it.

"Your individual co-operation is earnestly sought. I feel that this appeal will meet with sympathetic approval. In seeking out the crippled of your community and giving their names to the superintendents of public welfare, superintendents of schools, health officers, nurses, farm and home demonstration agents, Red Cross and Y. Secretaries, you will help toward the rehabilitation of the unfortunate portion of our population and will increase the general welfare of North Carolina."

Those eligible for aid from the Vocational Rehabilitation Department are: All physically handicapped residents of North Carolina of any race and of either sex who are capable of being rendered fit to engage in an occupation, and have lived in this state one year or more. The assistance offered will include: Vocational training, suitable occupation, aid in securing necessary artificial appliances and help in finding gainful work. Those who are not eligible are aged or helpless persons requiring permanent custodial care, epileptic or feeble-minded, and others not susceptible of rehabilitation.

All persons under sixteen years of age will be referred to the Bureau of Child Welfare. Those eligible for treatment as provided by the Bureau, are all children, white or colored, under sixteen years of age who have defects and are lame, or deformed, or diseased of arm, leg, or spine.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BROWNER

"I've had an engagement present, cackle, cackle, cackle," said Miss Hen. "Do let me see it," said Miss Fidgety Fashionable Hen. "Cackle, cackle, let me see it," said Mrs. White Hen. "And I want to see it, too," said Miss Brown Hen. "So do I," said Red Top, the Rooster. "I most certainly want to see it. Cackle, cackle, pray show it to me."

"I'd like to see it," said Mrs. Duck. "Quick, please let me see it," said Mr. Gander. "And I want to have a view of it too," said Sir David Duck. "What is all the fuss about?" asked Mr. Gander, as he walked by the other burly animals. "Oh, nothing for us to bother about," said Mrs. Goose. "I thought as much," said Mr. Gander. "Miss Hen is engaged to Robbie Rooster and all the other barnyard animals want to see the present she has been given which she calls her engagement present," Mrs. Goose explained.

"I don't want to bother to see it," said Mr. Gander. "I am sure you don't want to bother either." "No, I don't want to bother," said Mrs. Goose. "Such a thing would be a waste of our time. We can't bother with the other barnyard animals. "Just as we should do," said Mr. Gander. "Just as we should do," said Mrs. Duck. "Let me see the present," begged Mrs. Indian Runner Duck. "I'd like to see it," said Sir William Goat, known as Billy by the barnyard folks. "Oh, show it to us," said Mrs. White Hen.

"I can't," said Miss Hen. "Cackle, cackle, it is quite impossible. I can't. "I would if I could, but it's impossible." "How absurd!" said Miss Fidgety Fashionable Hen. "Ridiculous," said Mrs. White Hen. "Utterly nonsensical," said Miss Brown Hen. "Too queer for words," said Red Top, the Rooster. "I cannot understand why she says such a thing, quick, quick," said Mrs. Duck. "I don't understand either," said Sir David Duck. "Told old Billy Goat," said Sir William Goat. "You see," said Miss Hen, "I can't show you my engagement present. I told you that I had been given an engagement present, but I didn't say you could see it as that is so impossible."

"Why is it impossible?" Was it such a horrid present that you are ashamed to show it to us?" asked Miss Brown Hen. "Of course not," said Miss Hen proudly. "My dear Robbie Rooster would only give me the very best. "But it is impossible to show it to you as I have eaten it! Ah, yes, it was a beautiful engagement present. No hen was ever given so fine and delicious a worm as I have picked out for me.

"He said he looked them all over and waited until he succeeded in getting the very best of all. "That I have already eaten my engagement present. And I thoroughly enjoyed it." "So that was it," said Miss Fidgety Fashionable Hen. "How stupid of us not to have understood." "How stupid," said Mrs. White Hen. "Very stupid," said Miss Brown Hen. "I wish I had thought of that," said Sir David Duck. "You should have thought of that first, it is true," said Mrs. Duck. "Well, I might, too, have thought that it was something you had eaten," said Billy Goat. "For an engagement present that can be eaten is surely nicer than any other, is my goat opinion."

"And now they all know," said Miss Hen. "Ah, I kept thinking guessing while all the time I was feeling happy and contented for I had received my engagement present and had thoroughly enjoyed it!" "How it looked," announced little Marjory, and I saw Mr. Gander sit there and draw three worms from his pocket. "Something Big and Clean," announced little Marjory, and I saw Mr. Gander wash an elephant. "Dance—Wash an elephant."

AMERICAN LEGION DEMANDS THE REMOVAL OF SAWYER

Adopt Resolutions Severely Condemning Action of Physician New Orleans, Oct. 19.—The American Legion after a long business session in which a resolution was adopted criticizing severely Brig. Gen. Sawyer, in spite of the protest of the legion's hospitalization commissioner, A. A. Sprague, of Chicago, tonight entertained General John J. Pershing, head of the army in France, and made last minute preparations for the contest tomorrow for the selections of its national officers.

CONDEMN SAWYER The resolution attacking and demanding the removal of Brigadier General Sawyer, President Harding's personal physician, from the post of chief coordinator of the federal hospitalization board, was adopted by the convention by a vote of 601 to 376.

Major A. A. Sprague, of Chicago, mentioned as a candidate for the position of national commander, vainly tried to stem the tide against Dr. Sawyer. Sprague precipitated the issue some several weeks ago by a bitter attack on Sawyer, but pleaded today with the convention to give Dr. Sawyer "a chance" on the latter's recent promise of cooperation with the legion's rehabilitation committee.

This suggestion by Delegate Beekman, of Ohio, that a reputation of Dr. Sawyer would hurt the cause of the disabled veterans, and make President Harding "sore," was greeted with hoots and jeers, mingled with applause. REPORT WAS CONSERVATIVE Reputation of Sawyer came in the form of an adopted amendment to the report of the rehabilitation committee, which report was even more conservative in tone than had been expected, and carried the recommendation that "The American Legion accept for the time being the plea of cooperation given by Brigadier General Sawyer, in the hope that it will be carried out by him in spirit as well as in the letter."

State Commander Baron, of Minnesota, presented the substitute resolution attacking General Sawyer, and demanding his removal.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

It follows in part: Whereas, although four years have elapsed since the signing of the armistice and vast sums have been appropriated by congress for the hospitalization of sick and disabled veterans suffering with or without hospital care or in state or contract hospitals, and in state or government hospitals, and "Whereas, in many cases more than one year has elapsed between the date of congressional appropriation and the selection of sites for new hospitals while many of the men for whom such hospitals were intended have died for the lack of proper treatment, and "Whereas, director of the United States Veterans Bureau has made commendable efforts to get these hospitals completed while there is yet hope of saving many of the veterans in need of them," and "Whereas, Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer has hampered the efforts of the director of the veterans bureau to accomplish this result, and has repeatedly made many public statements

LLOYD GEORGE'S FALL INTERRUPTS DEBT NEG

Government Circles Believe That Plans Will Be Resumed With Bonar Law

Washington, Oct. 19.—Fall of the Lloyd George government gripped the attention of official circles here today, both governmental and diplomatic, although no direct immediate effect of the change in the British ministry further than additional delay in the British debt funding negotiations was expected to be apparent in relations between the United States and Great Britain. The Lloyd cabinet crisis is full of possible future complications for all other governments including the United States, however, and a clear understanding of what is ahead, it was said, depended very largely on the progress made by Premier-Designate Bonar Law in his attempt to form a new cabinet.

The immediate result of the crisis already felt in Washington, is the postponement of the coming to this country of the British debt commission headed by Sir Robert Herne, chancellor of the exchequer in the Lloyd George government. Sir Robert was to have sailed for the United States a week ago, accompanied by Montague Norman, director of the Bank of England, but the cabinet crisis was then impending and departure was delayed on that account.

Preparations for discussion of the problem of refunding the British war debt to the United States through issues of long term British securities had been made by the treasury and state departments. But the political situation in London would be sufficiently clarified to permit a British commission to be sent. There is little doubt here that ultimately the refunding negotiation will be carried out practically along the lines mapped out, although it is admitted that a new cabinet arising after a general election might change British policy as to war debt refunding.

WILTON EDWARDS OF BLADEN, FRECKLE KING

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Once upon an occasion of State some ill advised orator inquired grandiloquently what ever came out of Bladen county anyhow. Somebody got him told. Now Bladen has gone and carried off another honor. One of its sons was adjudged the State's most befreakled youngster in a contest at the State fair. He is Wilton Edwards of Bladenboro.

which can only be construed to mean that he is more interested in economy than in saving the lives of the men who gave their health to their country, and has shown himself by speech and action to be tempermentally unfit for the position which he holds, and for the responsibilities he exercises, therefore be it

"Resolved, that the American Legion of the United States of America, in convention assembled, demands the removal of Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, from the post of chief coordinator of the federal hospitalization board."

The Season Of Outdoor Life And The Bonfire Is Now Here.

Each season of the year has its peculiar attraction. For instance, when the birds commence to nest, and bud and leaf and flowers are beginning to put forth, our young people leave to think of fishing. The vacation season after school has its special attractions and then our boys and girls look forward to Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Halloween and Thanksgiving seasons are the times when bon-fires are in vogue. Of course, some of us "hard boiled" grown-ups some times get cold blooded in our rush of business, but we should not forget that our youths regard these various seasons as vital to their real happiness, and that the memories of them are among the most pleasant in after years. The Enterprise is a great believer in outdoor sports and amusements. We think that our young people should be encouraged to get out of doors more, and, without apology, we give this space to the reproduction of a most interesting editorial recently carried in the New York Sun, which we believe will prove interesting to the old as well as young. We quote that interesting production on the question of autumn and bonfires as follows:

While the coal problem is causing serious worry and perplexity among adults who already begin to feel the approach of blizzard winter in the recent cold evenings, the boy population, carefree, happily obeying the primitive instinct in its veins, is dotting the dark city after sunset with cheerful bonfires.

Mickey time has been a late September institution wherever healthy boys have gathered at the first raw bite of wind and the first reddening of the leaves. Like top time, the baseball season, skating time and other regular periods, bonfire and mickey time mark an important date on the boys' calendar. Grownups, ripped from their boyhood to face a life to toil and the eternal battle against the h. c. l., read the calendar in brief paragraphs of days. Boys optimistically divide the 12-month span into specific happy seasons. For them there is Christmas and New Year's time, skating time, snow-ball time, summer vacation, bonfire time, top time, etc. None of your dragging the weary days individually by the neck across 24-hour stretches. So this is bonfire time. The blood in their veins and the sting in the air tells them so, and they do its bidding unconsciously. They need no calendars.

As a result mother wonders where her potatoes are disappearing. "Were she to look out the window she might find her answer in the strangely bulky figure of her boy, who is hurrying down the street toward the darkening blue. For what good's a bonfire less you have mickeys to roast? Look for them tonight when you climb up from the subway crush and you will see them, living pictures of yourself—your boyhood self. And envy them who, within the magic circle of the crackling blaze, munch mickeys piping hot while they dream the dreams that once you dream. Envy them, but down the bitterness that grips your throat. Pass on. You are not of their world tonight. Not you. Nor the speeding, snorting trucks that whiz by.

For it is mickey time, and they cannot see beyond the circle of the blaze. All else is shadowed but the clear winking lights in the heavens. It hurts, doesn't it, old-timer?

STATE SHOULD ADVERTISE GREAT NATURAL RESOURCES

Goldboro, Oct. 19.—C. W. Roberts, secretary of the Greensboro Rotary club, declared in an address to Rotarians here last night that there were two plans for advertising the resources and advantages of the state, one offered by Governor Morrison, when he said that the state should have a department of commerce as a regular part of the state government, and the other plan of Representative Mendenhall, of Guilford county, who will seek to pass an act in the next legislature creating a state chamber of commerce, carrying with it an appropriation of $100,000. Rotarians declare that Mr. Roberts made one of the most impressive addresses heard in a long time.

Mr. Barrett, who is still ill, will probably attend the trial at this time unless complications develop or his illness further incapacitates him, it is stated.

PREMIER DAVID LLOYD GEORGE HAS RESIGNED

Goes Into 'The Wilderness' After Seven Stormy Years In Office

London, Oct. 19.—After holding the office of prime minister through seven of the most critical years of British history—three years of war and four years of reconstruction—David Lloyd George went into the wilderness today. This was the description in his Manchester speech of his position if the unionist wing of his followers should desert him. Unionist withdrawal from the coalition was decided upon today by the meeting which Austen Chamberlain had called at the Carlton club and which was attended by the coalition members of the house of commons and a handful of lords who are enrolled in the cabinet.

This was the description in his Manchester speech of his position if the unionist wing of his followers should desert him. Unionist withdrawal from the coalition was decided upon today by the meeting which Austen Chamberlain had called at the Carlton club and which was attended by the coalition members of the house of commons and a handful of lords who are enrolled in the cabinet.

The vote was 188 to 87 against the Chamberlain policy of pledging the party to sustain the coalition and in favor of a general election to confirm its course. The meeting was followed by a succession of swift events which carried the coalition government into their own darkness.

Andrew Bonar Law will be put on the prime minister's mantle for a short term of office. The king summoned him to Buckingham Palace late this evening and invited him to form a new government, which Mr. Bonar Law will undertake, although the state of his health, which compelled him to withdraw from public life a few months ago, makes it a risky venture.

Before Mr. Bonar Law can formally accept the premiership, however, a meeting of the unionist party must be held to elect a new leader to carry out the policy to be decided by caucus. This meeting will be held within a few days, when Mr. Bonar Law will be chosen.

Lloyd George outlasted all the statesmen who guided the great nations through the world war. In the turmoil of readjustment that followed that conflict, he kept his seat at the steering wheel when all around him were losing theirs. The men with whom he sat at Paris as the "big four" of the peace conference, long ago, were toppled over. Premier Orlando, of Italy, was the first to go. His cabinet resigned in June, 1919. The following January, Clemenceau, the French tiger, was cast aside. Two months later the senate of the United States refused for the second time to ratify the peace treaty Woodrow Wilson had brought home from Versailles; and not long afterward his party was beaten at the polls.

The rise of Lloyd George was an adventure in politics filled with as much romance as the lives of the famous Americans who came up from log cabins to the White House. He was born in Manchester, England, January 17, 1863. His father, a Unitarian schoolmaster, died when David was an infant, and the child was adopted by an uncle, Richard Lloyd, a Welsh shoe-maker, and lay preacher. With only a limited education, David went into a law office in the little town in north Wales, where he lived with his uncle. Then he married and soon dived into politics.

TRUE BILL FOUND AGAINST J. W. GUY

Former Cashier of Statesville Bank Indicted in Three Bills; Two Others Involved

Statesville, Oct. 18.—The federal grand jury has returned three true bills against John W. Guy, Sr., former cashier of the First National bank of Statesville for the indictments charging violation of the national banking laws. One bill charges John W. Guy, Sr., and E. O. Heritage jointly with violating the national banking laws, and another charges Guy and C. W. McLain jointly with violation of the national banking laws.

In a third bill Guy alone was charged with violation of the national banking laws, to-wit, embezzlement, and a true bill in this was found. In this bill it is alleged that Guy embezzled $84,829.82 from the bank between November 1, 1919, and July 8, 1922. The other indictments against Guy alleged transactions with Heritage and McLain in violation of the banking laws. Guy was arrested here last July charged with shortage in his accounts and is at liberty on $20,000 bond.

WOMAN KILLS A BAWK WITH A THROWN ROCK

Carthage, Oct. 18.—In the present era, when the woman of the land airy daily demonstrating not only their rights to the ballot, but their ability to hold their own with, and many times their superiority of, the erstwhile "lords of creation"—man—in any and all of the callings, professions and pursuits of life, the startling feat of Miss Bessy Cox, aged 77, of Jessup, this county, in killing a giant chicken hawk with a flint rock Tuesday morning, demonstrates beyond peradventure that even in the art of throwing, a field wherein man has been heretofore deemed well nigh invincible, he must beat himself, or this laurel, too, will be snatched from him. The feathered chicken that performed a perfect nose dive into the chicken yard of Miss Cox, and while it was engaged in its nefarious attempt to seize its prey, and before a man dispatched to the house for a gun, could return with the weapon, Miss Cox snatched up a rock and hurled it with all her might at the marauder. The missile found a vital spot, ending forever the deprecations of that particular hawk. Rural Carrier Yow brought the bird to town, and was exhibiting it at the local post office. Its wings spread five feet from tip to tip.

41 POSTAL CLERKS BEEN STEALING

ANNUAL TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY WILL BE THANKSGIVING WEEK

Raleigh, Oct. 24.—The program for the teachers' assembly, that will bring 2,500 school masters and marins here Thanksgiving week, is now under preparation by President Charles E. Brewer and Secretary Jule B. Warren, and lists for speeches a strong aggregation of educators of nation-wide prominence, including Dr. Henry Van Dyke, author, lecturer and former minister to the Netherlands.

Among the prominent speakers who have agreed to come, in addition to Dr. Van Dyke, are Secretary W. E. Carter, of the Illinois State Teachers' association, who has organized the teachers of that state into a wonderfully potent body; Miss Elizabeth E. Fawcett, head of ungraded work in the New York city public school system and a lecturer in Columbia university, and other educators and educational specialists of the country.

Another phase of school work to come up at the assembly will be that now occupying a prominent part in the educational program and looking to the development of the spirit of cooperation between the parents and the teachers.

The officials want to make this year's assembly the most effective in the way of giving the teachers new ideas and suggestions for their work of any of the previous gatherings.

The assembly will open Wednesday, November 29, and will run through Friday, December 1. One social feature of the meeting will be the State college-Maryland football game on Thanksgiving afternoon. The teachers will take this afternoon off and look over the product of high school football teams as represented at the state variety.

The second annual state spelling match on the afternoon of November 29 will of course be a feature of the meeting. Superintendent R. H. Latham, of the Winston-Salem public schools, is in charge of this, and he is making plans for receiving contestants from practically every county in the state. It is open to seventh grade pupils, and the winner will be declared the champion grammar grade speller of North Carolina.

The Blessing of Work.

Morganton News-Herald. The greatest blessing, outside of good health, is the privilege of work. The dignity of honest work should be impressed more and more on our young people. Every child should be taught that more disgrace comes from idleness than from toil.

There has been a growing tendency to "look down" upon manual work as a means of livelihood but the reverse should be true and those who live like leeches from the efforts of others and do nothing to justify their existence in the world should be the objects of contempt.

What if your task happens to be wood-chopping or family wash—if you have the strength to do it there should be a song of thanksgiving in your heart that you are able to work and that you have work to do.

Chautauqua Closes

The Swarthmore Chautauqua has been rendering some very fine programs. The lectures have been elevating and furnishing food for thought. The music has been excellent. The program closed Wednesday night with a comedy drama "Cappy Ricks." There is a movement on foot to secure guarantors to get the chautauqua again next year. Attractions like these are worthy of support.

COMMUNITY SING NEXT SUNDAY, OCT. 29TH.

There will be a community sing at the courthouse next Sunday lasting all day. It is estimated there will be at least fifteen choruses present besides the quartettes from Lexington, Winston-Salem and the Clemmons Glee Club. A large crowd is expected and a good time in general singing and worshipping God in song. The committee wants everybody to come and join in. The overflow will be taken care of at the Methodist church and as soon as a song is sung at the courthouse the singers will go to the Methodist church and render the same selection, so both audiences will hear exactly the same thing.

Hendricks Answers

Does the candidate for the legislature on the Democratic ticket favor cutting the salaries of the State officers, and will he vote for such a measure if elected to the legislature? Let others remain quiet while Mr. Hendrix answers.—Davie Record.

In answer to the above article, wish to say emphatically that I am in favor of reducing the salaries of all State officers in proportion to the reduction in cost of living and farm products and labor, and would vote for such a measure.

Durham Baby is born With but Four Toes on one Foot.

Durham, Oct. 24.—That scientists who insist sharp-toed shoes will bring about the elimination of fifth toe, know whereof they speak, is the contention of Dr. C. H. Rose, local physician, who today announced that he has ushered in the first new style baby. It is minus fifth toe. Otherwise the feet are in perfect shape.

Washington, Oct. 23.—All employes of the Southern railway who volunteered to leave their regular duties and serve in its shops during the strike last summer are being presented this week with either checks for $350 or certificates for five shares of its stock. At railroad headquarters, the action was said to represent the appreciation of the company for loyalty to its interests shown by the men concerned, and not to represent a bonus or wage payment in any way.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH; HOME DESTROYED

One of the most horrible accidents that ever happened here occurred Monday morning when the two youngest children of Mr. Granville McCulloch were burned to death and the home burned to the ground. Mrs. McCulloch was in a nearby field picking cotton when she saw the flames burst from the roof. Horror-stricken she ran to the house to find the fire had gained such headway she could not enter the building. When the bodies were removed from the debris they were charred almost beyond recognition and the baby of two years was found lying on the little cot of four. The remains were taken to Coolee and prepared for burial. The funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Liberty church.

The origin of the fire is unknown. As there was no fire in the house, it is believed the children must have got on some matches from the dresser, and played with them causing the fire.

The home was a new nine room bungalow. It together with all the household furnishings and clothes were destroyed.

The building was insured, but the loss has not been ascertained.

PERSHING KISSES GIRL BEFORE CROWD

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—Miss Margaret McCauley, of Mason City, Iowa, came to the American Legion convention, in session here to carry the banner for her state. She carried it to the platform of the convention hall today where General John J. Pershing stood while being given a rousing demonstration. The demonstration, about that time was getting well out of board, and other standard bearers had rushed to the stage. The general then brought about the climax by courteously, but firmly kissing Miss McCauley—a man size kiss.

Miss McCauley, tonight, takes her place beside Miss Angelia Morrison, daughter of Governor Cameron Morrison of North Carolina, who was kissed by the general at Raleigh, on Tuesday during the demonstration at the state fair.

DAINTINESS IN LINGERIE IS ITS FOREMOST CHARM

THE melancholy days are come when summer lingerie is apt to be very much of a wreck and the business of replenishing confronts many a woman. But it is impossible to be melancholy in the midst of new lingerie. The shops had it assembled by the first of September and then their windows blossomed out with many-hued and lovely under things. Many materials are represented in the collections—the rainproof, barbate, crepe de chine, crepe-satin, georgette and radium silk. For trimming there are narrow laces, pin tucks, drawn work, hem-stitching and other needlework, and also narrow ribbons. Simplicity is written in the notes this season, and some lingerie is without trimming. A handsome tailored set of light pink wash-satin is pictured as an example of the untrimmed mode. These two-piece sets appear in all the sheer cottons, mostly in white, with narrow edgings, pin tucks and drawn work sparingly used for trimming. Beige and blue, iris, plain, sat and flax, continue the favorite lace for underthings. Long-eared night-gowns have resurged and there are a number of high-necked models among them. Ribbon shoulder straps appear to have replaced the staped shoulders in chemise and the slip of radium, crepe-satin or saten dais place in every well-regulated wardrobe. The negligee is another story—now so simple. It includes pretty and graceful bed jackets which can be worn with a slip to complete a negligee.

Our great State Fair which was held last week was a great improvement over former years and was another manifestation of the well known fact that old North Carolina is getting out and into something new and better as the years pass by.

to sell on the open market. Suit was brought against them by the Association and a permanent injunction has been granted by Judge Frank Daniels, restraining those members from selling their products otherwise than in accordance with contracts which they signed with the Cooperative Marketing Association. This is one of the greatest victories ever scored by the Association.

Under the head of "What Next In North Carolina" the Greensboro Daily News last week carried an elaborate editorial dealing with our great forward steps in road building, county extension, health and public welfare. After telling in detail of some of the things which we have done, and relating some of the things which we have commenced to do, the Daily News closes with the following statement: To sum up: in education we have decided that we must go to work seriously in highways, we have laid out a good state system, and arranged to build a third of it; in public health, we have built up the central organization and are now ready to attack the real problem; the local organization in public welfare, we have recurred the necessary legislation under which we may proceed, and have done some of the preliminary work.

The Ring and Their Disciples. The Ring and their disciples with all of their candor, truth, honesty, self respect and love for humanity stood around the corner before the County Convention with their eyes pointed towards Heaven and told the Citizens of Davie County that they would never do to nominate Seaford for Clerk of the Court, as he was too good a Welfare officer and that they did not believe in changing a good man from office. Now they are telling the same people that I am the meanest devil in the county. Can you believe them? The good citizens answer is: "They just want to down you, because you didn't go down on your bended knees to them and beg for office." If I have to be bound to any luncheon or go around and lie on my opponent, who is a candidate for the same office, and say all manner of evil about him, and even say things that would make his good wife and relatives feel bad, I don't want the office.

In order to do our part towards encouraging the reading of the local paper by our school children, the Enterprise is going to make this offer. To all schools whose teachers will agree to put the paper in the school room where it can be read by all the children, we are going to mail the Enterprise absolutely free during the present school year.

Teachers, if you desire the Enterprise put in your school room once a week, write us giving the name and address of your school and we shall be glad to place you on our mailing list for the full school term. We hope that the teachers of the public schools will cooperate with us in this effort to develop a newspaper reading public. The place to begin is with the children. We would also like to have a good live correspondent from every school in the county to furnish us each week or nearly so as possible with all of the news of the school and community.

Cooperative marketing has secured another victory over its enemies, and a question has been settled that will mean much in the way of final success for the Cooperative Marketing Association. It came about in this way: Some members of the Cooperative Marketing Association who had signed contracts, attempted

The Citizens Ticket The Voice Of The People.

I notice the old Ring is casting reflections on the republicans on the Citizens Ticket, telling the voters that they are traitors and dupes of a democratic trick. I want to say that I am a 100% republican in good standing in my party (or was before I refused to do the Ring's bidding). I believe in republican principles which stand for majority rule but am eternally against any click or ring that puts party ahead of the welfare of our country. I am against anything that smacks of fraud and whose object is to deceive the people, be it a vicious principle or an active personality. For this reason I come out as a free man and a republican voter and endorse the Citizens Ticket with all the enthusiasm there is in me, with hundreds of other good republicans who want to see the Court House clean. The Ring tells you that the Citizens Ticket was gotten out by the democrats and a hand full of republicans, hence it was a democratic trick. In reply I want to say to the republican voters that this is campaign camouflage, intended only to deceive, but the voters are thinking for themselves this year. I was in session with a large number of republicans from all parts of the county, and as good republicans as are in the county, who named this ticket and heard them express their disgust and contempt for the little Ring in

The Wedding. Laught then laugh some more was what the crowd did last Saturday night at the Womanless Wedding, which was given under the auspices of Class No. 5 of the Farmington Methodist Church. The whole affair was a screen from start to finish. The attendants were splendidly made up and appeared well. Mutt and Jeff, Maggie and Jiggs, and the aristocratic visitors added much to the amusement of the evening. The bridesmaids were beautifully attired and the Charli Chaplin mustaches of the groom men very smart. The minister's perfect march up the aisle and his professional bow to each maid and groom as they took their places were very striking. The bride, a beautiful young maiden of the teens, and the little nervous bride-groom were, after the projected suitors were, after 11-12 with 30 cents, happily married and after congratulations were paid, left on a distended 'bridal trip.

RED CROSS HEALS WOUNDS OF WAR

25,000 Disabled Ex-Service Men in Hospitals After Four Years of Peace. CHAPTERS' FIELD OF SERVICE. Every Veteran Needing Help Gets Individual Attention of Sympathetic Workers. When on November 11 the world halted to observe the fourth anniversary of Armistice Day, and the American Red Cross inaugurates its annual Roll Call for the enrollment of the United States membership, the people of the unparalleled world-wide cause of peace made by our Army and Navy in the World War, the glory of it is a common tradition; but the wounds of war remain. They are not healed in a day, in a year, nor in four years, and the thousands of disabled men who are suffering from the effects of the war are still in need of the Red Cross. The Government without aid is unable to furnish the necessary medical care to which they are entitled, and the Red Cross is a duty of the people to furnish the necessary medical care to which they are entitled.

The year's disasters reported included twenty-six floods, nineteen tornadoes, fifteen fires, four epidemics, two theatre collapses, two airplane crashes (one an airship), and a bridge collapse, mine explosion, railway collision, and drought. Of the floods in the United States that of the San Antonio, Texas, caused the greatest loss, $100,000,000 and the high mark of white water, which marked the vicinity of Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss., forced 31,000 persons from their homes.

The Red Cross disaster relief for many years has been a calamity which touched nearly every state with a sense of horror and of loss. This was the disaster of the earthquake in the Knickerbocker Theatre in Washington, D. C., resulting in ninety deaths and 225 persons injured. Situated in the center of the resulting Northwest residential section, this picture theatre was patronized by many persons. The National Capital, whose family and personal connections radiated over the entire country, the horror was intensified by a terrific snowstorm which, though it rained, did not block Red Cross relief.

Alarh Crash Finds Aid at Hand. The crash and destruction of the U. S. Army's large airplane Roma in Virginia last February with the loss of 84 officers and men and 11 injured was the first disaster of the roll call for Red Cross relief in this country. The suddenness of the accident tested the preparedness of the organization and the response was immediate and relief furnished the survivors, and funds for the expenses of relatives of the dead who came from long distances to claim their own.

2,679 Chapters Aiding Veterans. This week's enrollment according to the American Red Cross is a record-breaking enrollment in the Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day and closes on Thanksgiving Day. 2,679 Chapters in all parts of the country are engaged. This is 850 more than were reported in the Roll Call last year when approximately 810,000 were expended by the National Chapter for the year ending June 30, 1922. For the current fiscal year National Chapter appropriated $5,000,000, an increase of $100,000 over the amount spent for the work among ex-service men in the year ending June 30, 1922. It is estimated that the Chapters will expend close to $7,000,000 from their own funds, the grand total of the Red Cross expenditures for this single work is expected again to reach the $10,000,000 mark by June 30, 1923.

Hospital and District Office Work. During the fiscal year a total of over 7,000 persons, paid and volunteer, has been engaged in Red Cross duty in hospitals or districts of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. An average of 8,000 new cases requires definite and particular attention each month. The demand for Chapter-made articles for hospital patients is constant. During last year's Service and Information Service at National Headquarters handled 37,200 compensation and insurance claims, 24,400 allotment and allowance cases, and 8,700 miscellaneous claims. Since February, 1920, it has disposed of 64,174 allotment checks against the veterans which the Post Office Department reported undeliverable. The Chapter is the unit of the Red Cross organization which is accessible to every disabled veteran or his family. Between July 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, the group had reported 1,033,070 instances of service to ex-service men and their dependents, at a cost of $2,500,000. The group work for the year ending June 30, 1922, was the most successful in the history of the Red Cross. The basis of this far-reaching work of the Red Cross is the individual needs of the disabled veteran to the end that he may obtain his rights under the law, that his dependent wants may be immediately supplied, that his own and his family's situation may be rendered happy and cheerful, and that the outlook for the future may be visualized in incentives for independent and fruitful effort.

Red Cross Roll Call Heard World Around. The Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross for registration of the membership for 1923 will begin on Armistice Day, November 11, and close on Thanksgiving Day, November 29. The ground work for this stupendous task of re-enrolling the membership throughout the world has been laid in plan for the first complete and comprehensive system of registration of the Red Cross membership in all its 5,300 active Chapters at home and abroad. An important feature of the worldwide Roll Call campaign will be a universal effort to re-enroll the service of war-time Red Cross workers in the peace program by their participation in the Roll Call. In this way the vast army of volunteers will once more affiliate with the work of the Red Cross in its manifold phases. Cooperation also has been assured by Government and private maritime interests in a deep-sea Roll Call that is designed to reach every number or potential member in every part of the world who may be en voyage or temporarily in any port. Thousands of Chapters will adopt the home canvass plan of enrollment which originated in Pittsburgh, where just year it resulted in a membership increase of 50 per cent. All records in "dixie" year's campaign will be broken as standard size cards to be filed by each Chapter for future use.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson

BY REV. F. S. STEWART, D. D., Pastor English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 29

MESSEIAH'S MINISTRY (WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY)

LESSON TEXT—ISA. 63:1-6. GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people—Prov. 14:34.

THE lesson committee has gratefully named this lesson "World-wide Exhibitions." Neither the text nor the context, directly or implied, says anything about prohibition as we understand it.

It was appointed by the Lord, O God, plan for the world is a time of peace and blessing.

Messiah's program (vv. 1, 2). Messiah's program is twofold: to "proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God."

The careful reading of Luke 4:18-21 will show that Jesus suspended reading of this passage at the synagogue in Nazareth, but on coming opening of the day of "grace and the acceptable year of the Lord."

His second mission will usher in "the day of vengeance of our God" (II Thess. 1:9-10; cf. Mal. 3:1-3).

1. Proclaiming the acceptable year of the Lord (v. 1). In his ministry of grace he preached (1) "good tidings to the meek," "Messiah" here means "only of grace, but a condition, that is, those in poverty and affliction."

"Blind up" signifies healing. (2) "Blind up" the captives; the figure of deliverance from the Babylonian captivity is used to describe deliverance from sin and death (Eph. 2:10).

"Open the door of prison to them that are bound." Messiah's work was to give deliverance to those who were bound by the consequences of their sins.

"The acceptable year of the Lord." This means a season of time in which God would accept all who repent of their sins and come to Him.

2. Proclaiming the day of vengeance of our God (v. 2). While the day of mercy is lengthened out, the time of judgment will surely come. The day of vengeance will be revealed from heaven (II Thess. 1:7-10). The period of mercy is called "year," while the period of vengeance is called "day," showing that the period of mercy is much longer than the period of wrath.

3. The Messianic program of Messiah's kingdom (v. 3). "Comfort all that mourn" (v. 3). The day of vengeance will bring sorrow to many, but they shall be comforted when they shall see the King on the throne.

4. Give unto them beauty for ashes" (v. 3). This peculiarly applies to Israel.

5. "Oil of joy for mourning" (v. 3). Israel has been mournful for centuries. When the Messiah shall reign as King they shall be glad.

6. "Statement of praise for the Spirit of heaviness" (v. 3). Instead of wearing the symbol of the burden of sin they shall be clothed so as to indicate their new status.

7. "Called 'trees of righteousness'" (v. 3). These trees represent Israel as planted by God and bearing fruit for our own good are truly for our own good, even though we may hate to admit it.

8. "They shall build the Old Wastes" (v. 3). Israel shall return to their own land and shall rebuild the city of Jerusalem and the cities of Judah which lie waste.

9. "Strangers shall stand and feed your flocks" (v. 3). In the time of the Kingdom the Gentiles shall render voluntary service unto Israel, and that Israel may devote her whole time to the service of God.

10. "Ye shall be named the Priests of the Lord" (v. 3). God chose Israel to be the priestly nation to represent Him to the Gentiles.

11. "Your shame ye shall have double" (v. 3). Instead of the shame and confusion which Israel has experienced for centuries she shall have double honor and rejoicing.

12. "I will Direct Their Work, and Make a Covenant With Them" (v. 3). "God will visit His people and make the Gentiles to see the divine favor upon them."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRHAM BONNER

"The American Osprey or Fish Hawk," said Daddy, "was out in his yard part of his home in the zone."

"I build a very heavy nest," the Osprey said, "I make it of sticks and pieces of old oars and boats which I find around the benches."

"Here," he said, "is a very enormous nest, and I have even used some barbed wire which I've found."

"Some creatures go out sleeping in their hunting outfits and they do not find what they want. But I do. Oh, yes, indeed I do."

"Now, there are other birds about here—blackbirds and birds of different colors. But I think I dress as well as a bird could dress."

"I have a nice white head and my older members of the family have, and a brown coat and white waistcoat—something like a better."

"I've been a traveler in my day, and I've gone from Alaska to the West Indies, and I've been all along the American shores. I do believe."

"I don't feel well," quailed the Monkey.

"You don't ask the Osprey."

"When I was free," the Monkey answered.

"That was what I said," the Monkey answered.

"I was what I meant, and it is well meant."

"Dear me," said the Osprey, "aren't you a little bit cross?"

"Perhaps," said the Monkey, "I'm a little bit cross, but a creature was getting cross, it meant that creature was getting better."

"I can't get the exercise I would if I were free and had eaten so much food. The keeper knows that, and so he puts out the sign that we're not to be fed."

"It's for our own good he does that, and sometimes those things that are set for our own good are truly for our own good, even though we may hate to admit it."

"I suppose so," said the Osprey, "but I luckily have little trouble with indigestion or my stomach or whatever it is you call such trouble."

"I have eaten too much and now I feel sick. Oh dear, I wish I hadn't. But I do wish people would not feed me when there is a sign when in their own language advising them not to, for we're fed enough, and more food may make us sick."

"I made me sick this time. And now I have to feel poorly before I can feel well. It's a shame, it's a perfect shame."

"It does seem a shame," said the Osprey, "but then I can't be bothered to think much about anything but myself, so you will excuse me if I look to see if my dinner is on the way."

"What bird is most useful to builders and ironworkers?" The crane.

"Why is a son who objects to his mother's second marriage like a weary foot traveler?" Because he cannot "go" a step farther.

Red Cross Gains Strength in All Foreign Fields

In tribular possessions of the United States and in foreign lands the American Red Cross across heavily gains strength in the last year, passing the previous membership high mark of 1918 by 201 and advancing the figure to 150,008.

The Philippines take the lead, gaining nearly 100 per cent, now having 116,017 members. In Europe the Red Cross secured heavy gains during the last year, passing the previous membership high mark of 1918 by 201 and advancing the figure to 150,008.

The little Virgin Islands have nearly 1,000 enrolled. Mexico reports 294, a gain of 27 in one year. The American Red Cross has spread its membership over some 70 foreign lands and its Junior membership on the side of the United States is close to 700,000.

More than 325 chapters engaged in life saving or water first aid last year. The result that the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps has set a new high mark for enrollment and the number of qualified life savers developed. The influence of "learn to swim week" in many localities is reducing the water fatalities through instruction and the wider dissemination of resuscitation methods demonstrated by the Red Cross representatives.

Relief work has been done in teaching a large part of the American population how to make care of their life in the water. Growing appreciation for the Red Cross Life-Saving Service is shown by the compulsory instruction adopted in many cities for members of the police and fire departments in the probe rescue method of resuscitation.

Help to Help Others. You can't give until it hurts—For saving an American dollar to join the American Red Cross helps a hundred others who are hurt and who need relief.

SOUTHERN BANK & TRUST CO. GRANTED CHARTER

Will Open for Business About November 15th in Anderson Building.

It has been officially announced that the Charter for the Southern Bank & Trust Co., of Mocksville, N. C. has been granted and that they expect to begin business in the Anderson building on November 15th.

The Corporation Commission denied the Charter upon first application because in its opinion the public convenience and advantage would not be promoted by the establishment of another bank at this time, but upon a thorough investigation the commission was convinced that the opening of another bank here would be a large step towards the development of the town and county, and that it would bring a large volume of business back into the county that at the present time is going to adjacent counties and towns.

It is generally believed that the establishment of this bank will be the means of getting a number of manufacturing enterprises located in Mocksville and that by so doing more money will be spent in the county and a better market for the farm produce of the county will be created. It will be the aim of the new bank to develop in every way possible the general agricultural and business conditions of the county.

The officers will be D. H. Hendricks, President, W. Raleigh Clemp, Vice-President, and A. A. Holleman, Cashier.

Yadkin and Carolina Railroad Abandon 35 Mile Branch Road

Washington, Oct. 30.—Pursuant to an order of the court directing the receivership now installed over its property, the Carolina and Yadkin Railroad applied today to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to abandon its 35 mile branch running from High Point to High Rock in North Carolina.

It has proved impossible for several years to make the road pay operating expense, the petition said, and the court order has finally directed the receiver to cease making attempts.

The commission was asked to grant the application without a hearing unless North Carolina state authorities intervened to asked further consideration.

COUNTY TEACHERS IN SESSION SATURDAY

Elected Officers, Appointed Delegates to Assembly, and Laid Plans For County Athletic Association.

Last Saturday may have been considered as Teachers' Day in Mocksville for on that date seventy of the county teachers assembled in the local school auditorium for the opening session of the Davie County Teachers' Association.

Officers for the year were elected as follows: President—S. M. Holton, Jr., of Cooleemee; Vice-President—Miss Sallie Hunter, of Mocksville; Secretary—Treasurer—E. C. Tatum, of Mocksville.

Mr. Bradley discussed the work of the association for the year and announced that Pittman's Successful Teaching in Rural Schools would be the text used in the study course.

Among the items of business transacted was the arrangement for a county spelling contest in Mocksville, Nov. 18th, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting two representatives for the State contest in Raleigh, E. C. Tatum, of Mocksville, and S. M. Holton, Jr., of Cooleemee, were appointed as delegates to the county convention. It was also decided that the association should pay the railway fare of its delegates to the Teachers Assembly at Raleigh to be held Thanksgiving week. Delegates from the different townships were appointed as follows: Farmington—Mr. Frank Scott, Mocksville—Miss Sallie Hunter, Mr. E. C. Tatum, Shady Grove—Mr. L. P. Girls committee, Miss Stone, of Farmington, chairman; Miss Sallie Hunter, of Mocksville; and Miss Dorothy Hudson, of Cooleemee.

The purpose of this association, will be to unite the schools in athletics. The committee will endeavor to have a temporary schedule of games arranged by the middle of December and get things in shape for a permanent organization for next year.

Saturday was an ideal day for a land sale. The weather was pretty, the crowd large, the band music good, and the auctioneer ready for the job.

P. D. Leonard & Co. of Lexington were the selling agents, and sold about one hundred lots on South Main and Salisbury Streets—property of C. A. Clement. The gross returns were approximately $12,000. These lots were sold, we understand, to people who plan to build homes.

A $25.00 cash prize was awarded Mrs. Lizzie Tomlinson for handing in the best name for this new development—Clement Crest. It is of interest to know that Mrs. Tomlinson got the suggestion from the Progressive Farmer.

BOYS GET AN IDEAL. OTHER RAMBLING THOUGHTS AND SUGGESTIONS FOR THE WEEK.

An old saying is, "some men are born, great, some achieve greatness while others have greatness thrust upon them. But the question may arise in our minds, What is true greatness? And we may allow ourselves to be deceived and lead on a false trail. Greatness is that sincerity of purpose, breadth of vision and stamina of character that lifts a man above the common petty things of life, and makes him a link in the golden chain that binds the world about the feet of God. It is a fact every boy has his hero, or pattern—some ideal that stands out as greater than all others, and more admirable, and this pattern he follows almost if not entirely unknowingly, to whatever haven it leads. Sec. Daniels knew this feature of young nature when during the war, while addressing a class of graduates who were about to enter the service, he insisted, "Boys get you a naval hero." Mrs. Daniels knew well that the boy's future as a sea fighter depended entirely on the ideal he had before his mind. Don't rely on the possibility that you were born great, for even so, the plant must be carefully cultivated if it is ever to come to the full maturity essential to the bearing of fruit. Don't rely upon the hope that greatness will be thrust upon you, because the possibilities are too vague. Read and study the lives of great men, men who have proven themselves a blessing to humanity in times of stress and need, men who have thought greatness and lived great; greatness until their very natures have become greatness itself. Select your pattern, and search out the every day walk of his boyhood as nearly as is possible, study it and allow your life to mould itself after this manner. In making a selection we know of none so entirely worthy as Washington, Lee, Lincoln, Jefferson, Wilson and hosts of others are fine models, but all combined are not so perfect as the son of Joseph the carpenter of Nazareth.

We may search the big world over and go back into its past as far as history or even tradition will allow but to find, as Kingling says, "The Colone's lady and Judge O'Grandy, are sisters under the skin," that is, we are all, despite the age, place and influence under which we live, just human beings—a combination of joy and sorrow, laughter and weeping, hope and disappointment—just a medium between two extremes—a little higher than the soul-less brute, and a little lower than the angels. Culture may lift us above the average in many ways and religion transform us into a state of gentleness and loveliness that hardly leaves us related to the dirty savage, yet the basic material is the same—just human. We sleep to dream dreams in which we are on a plain so low we would blush in our waking hours to own it to self, much less reveal it to our most intimate friend. We reason of justice and often practice a self-denial that is next to God-like. We love with a passion that is divine in its purity, yet we are never free from a temptation to be selfish on some occasions.

Our pride may lead us to look down intolerantly on the weakness of our fellow man, yet it is the same pride that exalts the breast of the savage child when he views his store of beads and other trinkets and compares self with the unadorned form of his lowest subject. We may climb so high in the way of manners and courtesy as to persuade self that we are almost perfect, to discover after a while some peculiar trait that is positively repulsive. It is much easier to discover another's faults than our own, which is one of our most human traits.

Perfection is not for this world, yet he who has a fault of which he is fully aware, makes no effort to correct, deserves very little toleration at the hands of society; however, if we set a standard of perfection for the whole race, we should be careful to see that we measure up to it, and next make sure we are right as to what perfection really is, for our pattern stands a million or so of chances at being wrong to one at being right.

Friday at noon when she went home to dinner, she picked up the Progressive Farmer and happened across some names suggested for estates. From this list she got the idea of Clement Crest.

At or the sale a splendid barbecue was served to the crowd, and this was one time there were plenty for everybody. Among those here from Lexington attending the sale were Attorney W. O. Burgin, C. C. and Sam Hargrave.

COMMUNITY SING SUNDAY WAS A BIG SUCCESS

12 Choruses Participated--3500 Present--To be made Annual Event.

One of the biggest things ever pulled off in Mocksville was the Community Sing here last Sunday. We had heard there was going to be one and the committee was hoping it would turn out well, but the Sing took on such proportions and was such a decided success, it took even the committee by storm. The crowd was immense there being approximately 3500 present. The church was packed, the Methodist church crowded and the streets full. This throng had not gathered in vain. There were solos, trios, quartets, glee clubs, and choruses present. The music was excellent. Among those rendering selections were: The Clements quartette, Official Weather-Service quartette, Twin-City quartette, Waughtown First Reform double quartette, Skyland (Winston-Salem) double quartette, Advance class, Mocksville quartette, Bethlehem class, High Point trio, Lexington male chorus, Bixby glee club, Mr. Bernie Clodfelter, solo, Waughtown. In addition to this special music there was some congregational singing from the old Christian Harmony. Mr. W. E. Boyles was in charge of the singing at the courthouse and as a group finished there, it marched to the Methodist church and sang the same selection. Prof. B. W. Fisher, of Clemmons, was in charge at the church.

There will be a similar sing here one year hence, the exact date to be announced later. The committee is well pleased with the results, as well as the public, and wish to thank those who helped out in any way.

MITCHELL COUNTY SCENE OF KILLING

Ashville, Oct. 29.—Two men are dead, two others are seriously wounded, and four men are being sought or charges ranging from simple assault to murder at large in the wilds along the upper reaches of Big Rock Creek, beyond Bakersville, Mitchell county by a section in the wilder part of the Blue Ridge mountains, completely isolated from the outside world through lack of telephony, telegraph or railroad connections according to reports here tonight. The killing, according to the report, came as the climax of a mountain feud, long smouldering which occurred when county officers, headed by Sheriff Clyde Pritchard, attempted to invade the stronghold of one family in search for an alleged blockade still at the instigation and under the direction of a member of the rival clan.

Sheriff Pritchard, with a deputy, Lewis Blevins, left Bakersville Friday morning to search for the Big Rock creek section for several blockade stills. Arriving at the home of the Hughes, two brothers, Garfield and Arthur, told Sheriff Pritchard they could bring him three stills within an hour. The sheriff agreed to wait. A few minutes later he heard shots from the direction where Deputy Blevins had been waiting. Hurrying to the scene he found Blevins dead, and the Hughes, with Henry Troutman, an automobile, Garfield Hughes, the sheriff said, surrendered his pistol and said he had killed Blevins.

As the sheriff was disarming the two other men, Deputy Sheriff Wheeler Melton, a relative of Blevins, with Will Byrd, rode up. Arthur Hughes turned his gun on Melton and shot him three times before the sheriff could interfere. Pritchard said Melton and Byrd fled and Troutman escaped. The Hughes brothers were taken home and placed under guard. The sheriff then went in search of Troutman. In his absence Flem Blevins, uncle of the slain deputy, with the former's son, Herbert, and Sam Barnett, overpowered the guards and then as the Hughes brothers fought to protect themselves, the elder Blevins and Barnett opened fire, according to the information received here tonight as detailed by Sheriff Clyde Pritchard to the Mitchell county Banner.

Arthur Hughes was mortally wounded and Garfield was wounded through the chest and left arm. The three men escaped but Barnett after a hearing before a magistrate was held under $1,000 bond as a material witness. Garfield Hughes, wounded and under guard, later escaped and is at large with Troutman and the two Blevins.

Frank Houston, colored, lost his house and house hold goods early Wednesday morning by fire.
