Davie Health Center To Be Dedicated Here Sunday

Dr. Applewhite To Speak At Dedicatory Service

Dedication services for the new Davie County Health Center will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Dr. C. C. Applewhite, Director of the Local Health Administration, State Board of Health, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by Dr. Fred G. Pegg, District Health Officer.

Dr. Henry S. Anderson will preside. The Rev. Paul Richards of the First Presbyterian Church will give the invocation. John E. Durham, chairman of the District Board of Health, will present greetings.

Presentation of the building will be by A. T. Grant, county attorney. The Rev. J. P. Davis, pastor of the Mocksville Baptist Church, will give the benediction.

Members of the staff of the local health department include: Dr. Fred G. Pegg, Health Officer; Dr. J. L. Harris, Clinician; Mrs. Rachel F. Stroud, Public Health Nurse; Mrs. Edith T. Chappell, Public Health Nurse; Carl E. Shell, Sanitarian; Miss Jessie L. Stroud, Secretary.

The Davie County Board of Health is composed of J. E. Durham, chairman; Bob Hall, Dr. H. S. Anderson, and Dr. E. A. Eckerd.

The new building that houses the health center is located on an acre of land in West Mocksville donated by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Foster. It is of brick construction and modern in every respect.

The building contains a waiting room; a clerk's office, health officer's office; two treatment rooms, laboratory, nurse's office, Sanitarian's office, x-ray room and storage room. It is heated by an automatic oil furnace.

The health center was built at a cost of $27,000, of which the county's part was only $6,000.

The Davie County Health Department was first established in 1938 as part of a four county district. In this district were the counties of Davie, Stokes, Yadkin and Forsyth. Dr. J. Roy Hege of Winston-Salem was the first health officer of this district.

In 1945 it was reorganized as a three county district. Davie, Yadkin and Stokes Counties were the members. Dr. Alfred Mordecai was the health officer. The headquarters of the district were located in Mocksville. From 1948-1949, Dr. Eugene Taylor served as health officer.

In 1950, Stokes County withdrew and the Davie-Yadkin District was organized. Dr. Fred Pegg of Winston-Salem then became the health officer.

Carl Shell has served as sanitarian since 1945. Miss Jessie L. Stroud has been secretary since 1943. Mrs. Rachel Stroud has served here as public health nurse since 1938. Mrs. Edith Chappell began her duties as health nurse in 1949.

From the time the health department was first organized in 1938, it occupied quarters in the Johnstone building on South Main Street. The move into the new health center was made last August.

Hanes Heirs Give Land To Davie Board Of Education

4.3 Acres Given Near Davie Training School

The Davie County Board of Education this week received a gift of 4.3 acres of land near the Davie County Training School in North Mocksville.

The Hanes heirs gave to the County Board of Education the 4.3 acres of land just in front of the school. The land was given with no strings attached for the board of education to use as they may see fit.

Signing the deed conveying this property to the County Board of Education were the following: Spencer B. Hanes, Claire L. Hanes, P. Frank Hanes, Bette L. Hanes, Mary Hanes Crow and Blanche Hanes Clement.

Christmas Festival

The Christmas Festival trade promotion of the Mocksville merchants will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

In this issue various merchants are advertising special Christmas gift items and calling attention to the wide assortment of gifts to be found in the Mocksville stores.

Also, Santa Claus will be present in many of the stores with special gifts for the kiddies. Many businesses are offering chances at door prizes.

For specific details concerning the individual stores, your attention is invited to the advertisements appearing in this issue.

Christmas lights have also been installed on the trees in the square and will be turned on this week.

Polio Vaccine Available For 15-Year-Olds

The Salk anti-polio vaccine is now available to all children under 15 years of age.

Parents should accompany their children to the health department every Thursday morning in the recreation center in Cooleemee from 9:30 to 11 a.m., or at the health center in Mocksville every Thursday afternoon from 1-4 p.m.

Vaccine is also available for expectant mothers with permission from their family physician. It is urged that all children go to their family doctor or to the health department right away for these immunizations.

Letters To Santa

The Mocksville Enterprise has reached an agreement with Santa Claus whereas we will accept and publish letters to Santa Claus written by children of Davie County.

All letters should be no more than 100 words in length. They should say what the child wants for Christmas; the child's name and age; and parents name and address. All letters will be published each week as space permits.

Heffner's Foodland Opens In Yadkinville

Heffner's Foodland this week opened a store in Yadkinville.

The Yadkinville store will be owned and operated by Oren, Sidney and Nelson Heffner. Sidney Heffner will serve as manager of the store. Nelson Heffner will serve as manager of the meat department.

The Yadkinville store is located in a modern building recently constructed by Dr. E. A. Eckerd of Mocksville. The store will carry the same lines of merchandise and feature the same type of self service as the Mocksville store.

Chicken Pie Supper To Aid Dulins And Cornatzer Fire Dept.

There will be a chicken pie supper on Saturday night, Dec. 17, at the Dulins Hut. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. Proceeds from this supper will go to the Dulins-Cornatzer Fire Department.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN MEET

The Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church met in the Hut for Supper Tuesday night. The Rev. Jack McAlpine from Lexington was guest speaker.

Whose Farm Is This? Can you identify this farm? If you can telephone or come to the office of The Mocksville Enterprise after 12 o'clock noon, Thursday. The first six adults correctly identifying the farm will receive theatre passes. The owner of the farm may receive a beautiful mounted enlargement of this picture at D & M Harvester Company in Mocksville.

CHRISTMAS SEALS MAILED IN COUNTY

Help Fight TB

Since the three kings of Orient came from afar bearing gifts, the custom of exchanging presents among friends and relatives has been a part of the Christmas celebration throughout the world. On every pair of the 1955 Christmas Seals two beaming children carry on this happy tradition, such as shown above.

Mrs. Margaret A. LeGrand, Christmas Seals chairman, announced this week that Christmas seals have been mailed to many citizens of this county. She expressed hope that the recipients would respond immediately and generously. She also requested that anyone not receiving seals to contact either she or the office of Curtis Price, Supt. of Schools, in Mocksville and seals would be sent. Mr. Price is Davie County Christmas Seal Association chairman.

Mr. Price said: "For 49 years Americans have been using Christmas seals to symbolize their gifts to their tuberculosis associations for better health for themselves and their neighbors. The 1955 Christmas Seal children with their rosy cheeks express this spirit in the simplest and most direct way. In the words of the artist, Miss Jean Simpson: 'These are our children - healthy, secure, bursting with joy, and eager to share it.'"

This year again there are two coordinated Christmas Seals, one with a deep blue, the other with a light green background. On the blue seal is a black-haired boy with a green stocking cap and red muffler. He is carrying a blue-wrapped Christmas gift in one hand and holding a sprig of mistletoe in the other. On the green seal is a little girl with bright red hair. She wears blue cap, collar, and mittens embroidered in white and carries a red package. Each seal features the Double-Barred Cross in red.

Rotary Hears About Buyer-Seller Relations

"Buyer and Seller" relations were discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club by one of the nation's top salesmen, Tuesday.

Wood Burns, of Charlotte, advertising counselor for the Osborne Calendar Manufacturing Company, described what he termed to be necessary attributes of a successful or "professional" salesman.

The characterizations of a "professional" salesman were described as follows:

1. Fidelity: the correct mental approach to the problem of selling.
2. Knowledge: must have both knowledge of product to be sold and knowledge of the customer's needs.
3. Integrity: must have the trust and confidence of the customer.
4. Industriousness: must have the desire to accomplish the goals.

"Also, in addition to the above, I believe that a successful salesman must possess imagination and always think in the affirmative," said Mr. Burns.

Mr. Burns said that sales were made because of "wants," not on the basis of "needs." Successful salesmen must be "want makers," he said.

O. K. Pope had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Burns. D. J. Mando, vice president, presided in the absence of Don Headen. Miss Sue Cartner served as pianist.

Sub-District M.Y.F.

The sub-district M.Y.F. will meet at Liberty Methodist Church on Thursday, Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m.

RELIGIOUS FILM

A religious film will be shown Sunday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m., in Farmington Baptist Church. The public is invited to attend.

S-D Day Is Thursday

Thursday is "S-D Day," safe driving day. On this day this county will join with the entire nation in the attempt to have an accident free day.

G. H. C. Shutt of Mocksville is serving as director for "Safe Driving Day."

This is the second straight year that the nation's drivers will attempt to complete one full day unmarred by a single traffic accident. The enforcement facilities of the State Highway Patrol will be used extensively on S-D Day.

Local S-D Day coordinators called on all drivers to assume a personal obligation to drive with the utmost regard for safety on Thursday. The idea for driving one full day presents a formidable challenge. Last year's S-D Day in North Carolina was marred by a single pedestrian fatality in Charlotte.

Farmington Fire Department Pays Off All Debts

The Farmington Volunteer Fire Department cleared $900 on the shotgun raffle and turkey shoot held last week.

This enabled the fire department to pay off all debts on the fire truck and building.

"We are now completely out of debt and have a little money left in the bank," said Wade Groce, Farmington Fire Chief. "I wish to thank all the people helping to make this possible."

Mr. Groce pointed out that the Farmington Fire Department had raised between $9,000 and $10,000 during the past two years to equip their department.

Coca-Cola To Be In New Size Bottles

The familiar Coca-Cola bottle now has two "big brothers."

The Winston Coca-Cola Bottling Company is celebrating its fiftieth year by taking a revolutionary step in packaging. New, King-Size and Family-Size bottles of the famed soft drink will go on sale today in food and beverage stores here. Mr. Charles D. Buchanan, Manager of Winston Coca-Cola Bottling Company, revealed yesterday.

"Winston-Salem is the first city in the Southeast to introduce both the King and Family-Size containers simultaneously," Mr. Buchanan said. "These represent the first changes Coca-Cola has made in its packaging in 40 years."

In announcing the new-size bottles, Mr. Buchanan pointed out that the present standard Coca-Cola bottle will continue to be the Company's mainstay.

"Our aim in providing the King-Size and Family-Size bottles," he said, "is simply to make it more convenient for people to buy and serve Coca-Cola. For several years we have been doing extensive research on buying habits relating to soft drinks. Our surveys show the majority of the public prefer the standard-size bottle, since it is the ideal size for individual drinks."

"The surveys also show, however, there is a potential market for other size bottles. The King-Size, for example, is just right for serving two with ice" and the Family-Size is a 26-ounce giant which is ideal for group refreshment at home."

Mr. Buchanan disclosed the new size bottles have the same distinctive shape as the present bottle. "The three will be companion packages," he said, "both in appearance and in uniform quality. The size is merely a matter of preference and now the public can have its choice."

The King-Size and Family-Size bottles will not be in all food and beverage stores by today. Mr. Buchanan explained. Deliveries were started this morning and it will be several days before there is complete distribution throughout the city.

Midwestern Press Assoc. To Meet Here On Saturday

ROY THOMPSON

Roy Thompson To Be The Featured Speaker

Roy Thompson, reporter for the Winston-Salem Journal and author of a weekly column called "The Feedbox" will speak to members of the Midwestern Press Association at the meeting to be held in Mocksville at the Rotary Hut on Saturday night at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Thompson returned recently from a three-and-a-half month trip to Europe. He visited nine countries and sent home a daily account of his travels in column form. Among the countries he visited were England, France, Germany, Belgium and Holland.

Mr. Thompson has worked for the Journal almost nine years. During that time he has written all kinds of stories including murders, beauty contests, and the delivering of a child by a Winston-Salem policeman who used a parking ticket to tie the umbilical cord.

According to his wife, Mr. Thompson's hobbies are collecting pipes which she says collect dust in the apartment and in the back seat of the car. His favorite hobby is said to be breakfasting in bed. Sample fare: peanut butter sandwiches and vanilla ice cream topped with chocolate sauce.

D. J. Chipman of Winston-Salem, President of the Midwestern Press Association, will preside over the meeting. Other officers of the association include John Wilson of the Elkin Tribune, vice president; and Mrs. Gordon Tomlinson of The Yadkin Herald, secretary.

The Midwestern Press Association includes newspapers in the area from Morganton on the west to Siler City on the east.

Soil Conservation Supervisor To Be Elected For Davie

Soil conservation supervisor for Davie County will be selected in a special vote to be held December 5th through December 10th.

C. W. Phillips of Mocksville, Route 3, has been nominated for this position by regular petition. Qualified voters may cast ballots at any of the following places during the period specified above: ASC office, New office Building, Clerk of Court's office in Court House; FCX store, corner Wilkesboro and Gaither Streets; and Smoot's Store, Mocksville, Rt. 1.

Jaycee Football Banquet Thursday

The 1955 Mocksville High School football team will be honored at a banquet Thursday night by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Conec Bill Peeler and members of his squad will be the honored guests at a dinner to be held in the Rotary Hut. A trophy will be presented to the player selected as the most valuable during the past season.

Darwin Allen Places Fifth In State With 4-H Dairy Project

Darwin Allen, Route 3, Mocksville, placed fifth in the state this year with his 4-H Dairy Production project.

Darwin has been carrying this project for several years, placing 12th in 1953, and 10th in 1954. He is planning to carry his 4-H Dairy Production project again next year in hopes of reaching first place.

Darwin will be awarded a $25 bond at the dairy conference in Raleigh for placing fifth in the state.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Mocksville Masonic Lodge will hold the annual election of officers at a regular meeting Friday night, Dec. 2, at 7:30 p.m. All members urged to be present.

Yadkin Valley Telephone Co-op To Meet Saturday

First Annual Meeting To Be At Yadkinville

The first annual meeting of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation will be held on Saturday, December 3, at the Yadkinville High School auditorium in Yadkinville. The meeting will get underway at 1:30 p.m.

The primary purpose of the meeting will be to elect a board of directors for the coming year. The meeting will be called to order by James M. Parks of Union Grove, Route 1, President of the co-op; J. G. Crawford, Mocksville, Route 4, director; A. A. Doub, East Bend, Route 2, director; Harvey L. Gobble, Mocksville, Rt. 3, director; Arvil Norman, East Bend, Route 1, director; J. T. Reece of Yadkinville is the attorney for the Co-op. Dwight D. Williamson of Yadkinville is manager.

Heritage Gives To Hospital

The Davie County Hospital has received a very generous gift of money from the Heritage Furniture Company.

J. K. Sheek, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, said that the management of Heritage had contributed generously to the new hospital on behalf of their local employees.

"The contribution of the Heritage Company will enable the county to go a long way towards reaching the amount needed in order to qualify for the Duke Endowment grant," said Mr. Sheek.

Mr. Sheek also urged immediate payment on the pledges made to the new hospital in order that Davie County could qualify as soon as possible for the $10,000 grant from Duke. He also said that any gift by a person or firm towards this quota would be appreciated.

AUTO LICENSE INFORMATION ROUND-UP GIVEN

The State Department of Motor Vehicles has issued a round-up of license information for next year.

Miss Fay Ingram, director of the Agency's registration division, reminded vehicle owners that new tag sales would begin a full month later than in previous years.

Ordinarily, owners would be getting renewal cards about now, she said. However, under the revised schedule 1956 plates will go on sale January 3 instead of December 1. She explained the new selling period would permit more uniform distribution and would not conflict with holiday and year-end activities.

The 1956 re-licensing period runs from January 3 through Feb. 15, she said. Renewal cards will be placed in the mail the latter part of December.

As in the past, over-the-counter sales will be handled by branch offices of the Carolina Motor Club, the Winston-Salem Auto Club and by Motor Vehicle Headquarters.

Miss Ingram also called attention to a new all-time registration record. She said more than 1,600,000 vehicles have already been registered in North Carolina this year which puts the state 15th in national standings.

For next year a black-on-orange color scheme will be used on a slightly enlarged plate. North Carolina is a step ahead in a move to make every motor vehicle license in North America a uniform six by twelve. By 1957 such uniformity is expected to be achieved according to officials of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators. For 1956 most states have complied with the AA MVA's recommendation.

A new numbering system will also go into effect next year. Miss Ingram said, Single and compound letters of the entire alphabet will be used to stretch out available numerical combinations. As a result the number or characters on any one plate will not exceed two letters and four numerals.

As customary license plate No. 1 will be reserved for the Governor's limousine.

The '56 plates will be issued with the "Drive Safely" slogan, which was dropped this year because of space limitations. New tag dimensions will be ample to include the slogan and North Carolina unabridged.

Miss Ingram said only one plate, to be attached to the rear, would be issued in 1956.

Debunker

BY JOHN HARVEY FURBAY PH.D.

Many people believe that the Constitution of the United States forbids the electing of a Vice President from the same State as the President. This is not true. There is nothing to prevent the election of both from the same State. The practice has been, however, to select candidates from different States, and different parts of the country, in order to gain more votes from the people living in these different sections of the country. It is good politics, but is not required by the Constitution.

Senior Girls To Take Betty Crocker Homemaker Test

Homemaker of Tomorrow Day will be observed here Dec. 6. A startling total of 265,534 career-minded graduating girls in 10,222 of the nation's high schools simultaneously that day will test their aptitude for the career that awaits eight of 10 or them—homemaking.

Included will be the senior girls of Farmington and Mocksville high schools who have been enrolled in the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

General Mills, sponsor of this $100,000 scholarship program designed to assist the schools in homemaking education, announced this huge participation of nearly half of the nation's high schools today. Last year, 187,463 girls in 8,040 schools were enrolled.

General Mills credits part of this year's increase to the impact the program has made on the entire school curriculum. School administrators registering entries include: homemaking teachers, guidance counselors, deans and teachers in physical education and social studies.

A total of 326 schools and 7,235 girls in this state will take the 50-minute written homemaking examination which will be the basis for selecting the school and state Homemakers of Tomorrow. The examination paper of the girl receiving the highest test score will be entered in state competition with each state Homemaker of Tomorrow receiving a $1,500 scholarship and each state runner-up a $500 scholarship.

The 48 state and the representative from the District of Columbia, with their advisors, will tour Washington, colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia April 8-12 when interviews will combine with the test score in determining the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow who will be selected April 12. Her scholarship will be increased to $5,000.

Science Research Associates of Chicago is the designer and judge of the examination which consists of multiple choice and objective questions which test the students' attitude and knowledge in the major areas of homemaking.

Each girl who takes the test will receive a homemaking guide. Each school winner will receive a golden Homemaker of Tomorrow

THE DRIVER'S CLINIC

A question and answer column on traffic safety, driving and auto-mobils conducted for this newspaper by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Question: How can you tell if you are "overriding" your headlights?

Answer: Some night, on a traffic free road, watch for hazards along the shoulder. When you detect a hazard, bring your car to a stop. If it does not stop before you reach the hazard, then you're certainly overriding your headlights.

Question: If you bump the curb in angle parking, will it make your car more difficult to steer?

Answer: After a time, yes. It has been found in one survey that a large portion of the autos checked had a shorter wheel base on the right than on the left. This condition was caused by drivers constantly bumping the curb when parking in angle spaces. This habit throws the steering geometry out of true and makes steering more difficult.

Tid-Bits

By GORDON TOMLINSON

It looked like a good place to hang a hat. It was a wall light fixture with a bare bulb located beside the door to the Men's Sunday School Classroom of the Mocksville Methodist Church.

R. L. Sauley hung his hat on this fixture and went on to his Sunday School class. Shortly thereafter someone threw the switch that turned on this light.

Sometime later the ominous odor of something burning wafted its way to the nostrils of J. C. Dwiggins and others in the church. Mr. Dwiggins immediately began a search to see what he could find. He looked and looked, but the source of the burning odor remained elusive.

He was almost ready to turn in a general alarm when finally he came across the hat hanging on the light fixture. When this was picked up, the trouble was spotted.

Mr. Sauley had a badly scorching hat.

In many newspapers and magazines this week appeared a large advertisement urging the giving of an extension telephone as a Christmas gift.

"There is nothing that will give your wife more pleasure each day throughout the year than an extension telephone," the advertisement reads.

One disgruntled soul reading the advertisement not only agreed, but went a step further.

"I don't know of anything I could give my wife that she would use any more than a telephone," said this husband. "But, she does not need just an extension—she needs an entire new line."

Catawba College was opened in 1852, but women were admitted in 1880. Since that time the institution has been co-educational.

Miss Graham, Mr. Smoot Wed In Yanceyville

Miss Leona Graham of Farmington and Yanceyville, and C. C. Smoot were married Thursday, November 24 at noon in the First Baptist Church in Yanceyville.

The Rev. T. C. Williams, Jr., pastor of the bride, performed the ceremony before a background of magnolia arrangements interspersed with lighted tapers and floor baskets filled with large yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. E. Graham Willard of Farmington, pianist, presented a program of wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, James Ray Graham, wore a street-length dress of teal blue taffeta. For travel she added a fur cape and a white orchid corsage.

Atlas Smoot was his father's best man. Ushers included Calvin Matkins and H. T. Williams, Jr., of Yanceyville and John G. Willard of Winston - Salem, nephew of the bride.

Receiving in the vestibule with the bride were Mrs. George Lansdell and Mrs. Gordon Wortton.

A wedding breakfast was given after the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Earl Smith and Mrs. Max Smith, staff members of Public Welfare in Caswell County.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and breakfast included: James Ray Graham and Mrs. E. Graham Willard of Farmington; Mr. and Mrs. John Graham Willard of Winston - Salem; Mrs. Joe B. Morton of Roxboro; Miss Georgia Pearman and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seneca of Ridsville; Mr. and Mrs. Atlas Smoot, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Grant, Jr., and Mrs. M. C. Deadmon.

Mrs. Smoot received her Social Work Training at the University of North Carolina and her first position was Supt. of Public Welfare in Davie County. She has also held positions in Asheville and Newton. For the past twelve years she has been Supt. of Public Welfare in Caswell County, Yanceyville.

Mr. Smoot was sheriff of Davie County from 1932 to 1940. He is now engaged in the mercantile business on Route 1. He is president of Davie Electric Membership Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Smoot are at home on Route 1.

DIXIE BRIGHT 244

A new disease resistant variety Dixie Bright 244, was released by the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The new variety has resistance to three important diseases: Black Shank, Granville Wilt, and Fusarium Wilt.

The variety has been developed from the cross Dixie Bright 101 x (Dixie Bright 102 x Bottom Special). The variety, tested as 3044-5, was first observed for its superiority in extensive testing in 1953. This superiority has been confirmed in the testing program and in farm trials during 1954 and 1955. Favorable information concerning this variety has been received from the chemical laboratory, growers, and leaf and research departments of industry. In resistance to Black Shank Dixie Bright 244 is intermediate to the moderate resistance of Dixie Bright 101 and the high resistance of Dixie Bright 102, but closer to the latter. It has approximately the same resistance to Granville and Fusarium Wilt as Dixie Bright 101.

The yield and acre values of Dixie Bright 244 have averaged approximately 20 per cent higher than the corresponding values for Dixie Bright 101. The Official Variety Tests for North Carolina show Dixie Bright 244 with a yield of 1997 pounds per acre as compared with 1632 pounds for Dixie Bright 101 from five locations.

Comparing the new variety with Dixie Bright 101, it is slightly taller, has broader leaves, and fewer suckers. It is not so brittle and has suffered less damage from wind and hail than Dixie Bright 101. It is in the same maturity range as Dixie Bright 101. Dixie Bright 244 seedlings are vigorous in the plant bed and grow off quickly in the field. Stands have been found relatively easy to establish. The variety generally curbs to a rich orange color.

The nicotine content of this variety is somewhat less than Dixie Bright 101 but within the acceptable range. The sugar content is similar to that found in Dixie Bright 101.

It has been evaluated for quality by the leaf and research departments of domestic and some export companies over the past three seasons. On the basis of all results available, it will meet a real need for both domestic and foreign manufacturers.

Official Tobacco Variety Recommendations For North Carolina, 1955
Flue-Cured:
Black Shank Infested Soil: Dixie Bright 101, Dixie Bright 102, and Dixie Bright 244.
Granville Wilt Infested Soil:

Dixie Bright 101, Dixie Bright 28, and Dixie Bright 244.
Fusarium Wilt Infested Soil:
Dixie Bright 101 and Dixie Bright 244.
Black Shank, Granville Wilt and Fusarium Wilt Infested Soil:
Dixie Bright 101, Dixie Bright 102 and Dixie Bright 244.

Where one or more of the above diseases is not a problem use: Virginia Gold, 402, Hicks, White Gold, Golden Harvest, Golden Cure, Virginia 21, Speight 42, and McNair V.G. 2.

Two disease resistant varieties, Coker 139 and 140 are not included on the recommended list for 1955 pending further studies of these varieties grown under varying seasonal and cultural conditions, and pending the completion of studies on the aged leaf and its subsequent manufacture into cigarettes.

Wild Garlic Control

Small Grain, Wheat, Oats, Barley:

- 1. Manage crop for maximum competition to the wild garlic.
- 2. Apply 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of 2, 4-D amine sold per acre when the small grain is fully tillered or 5 to 7 inches tall.

Lawns - Spot treatment for small areas, with moderate to light infestation:

1. Apply 2 to 3 tablespoons of a 1 per cent 2, 4-D amine solution per garlic clump. This will kill all plants in a small area, including dormant garlic bulbs in the soil. The chemical will disappear in about 2 months, and grasses can fill in the bare spots.
2. Make up a 1/10 per cent solution of 2, 4-D. Apply with cloth or glove to the tops of the garlic plants. Repeated treatments will be required.

If the commercial product is 40 per cent 2, 4-D acid equivalent, use 1 part to 39 parts of water.

Pure Grass pastures, seed areas, or turf:

1. Spray with 1 to 1 1/2 pounds per acre of 2, 4-D per application in December, January, and February. Repeat for 2 or 3 years.
2. Spray with 3 pounds per acre of 2, 4-D in late February or early March.
3. In dormant grasses such as Bermuda and Dulcis, spray with 3 to 6 pounds per acre per application of maleic hydrazide in December and again in February. Repeat for 2 or 3 years. Maleic hydrazide can be expected to seriously stunt green vegetation.

When is the Best Time to Concentrate on Chemical Control?

In areas to be renovated or seeded for the first time: One of the best times to concentrate on reducing wild garlic or wild onion infestations in our pastures is in the year or two years prior to reseeding on old pasture, where the clover is largely gone. In these old pastures or other fields which are to be seeded to Ladino-grass or other pasture, repeated applications of chemicals may be applied. On these old pastures or fields, it is suggested three treatments of 2, 4-D of one pound each be applied in mid-January, Mid-February, and Mid-March for two consecutive years if possible. The application of two treatments of maleic hydrazide of 3 pounds each in late November and in late January for two consecutive years produces similar results.

Fields that are being row-cropped can be used to produce milo, sudan, millet or other summer grain or grazing crops. Where the summer crop is planted early and some garlic germinates, early directed post emergence rates of one-half to three-quarter pounds of 2,4-D per acre may help to control the weed. Early cultivation will serve about the same purpose. As far as is known, other summer treatments have little effect on garlic infestation.

In established Ladino - Grass Pastures:

Healthy, growing, well - established Ladino clover will withstand one treatment of 1 to 2 pounds of 2, 4-D per acre with only temporary clover injury and yield reduction. Clover stands weakened from any reason may be seriously injured by this treatment. The seriousness of the garlic problem and the alternate feeds that are available will determine the advisability of making any treatment. Maleic hydrazide may seriously injure Ladino clover, and under some conditions may kill the clover.

USDA entomologists and chemists, working together, are discovering some possible new methods of controlling insect pests through the use of non-toxic chemicals which, while not actually killing the insect, inhibit its normal development and reproduction processes.

Wilson Named As Re-employment Rights Adviser For Davie

W. J. Wilson, P. O. Box 85, Mocksville, has been designated by the U. S. Secretary of Labor, James P. Mitchell, as a volunteer Re-employment Rights Adviser to assist ex-servicemen in securing their rights under the Universal Military Training and Service Act. It was announced today.

As a Reemployment Rights Adviser, Mr. Wilson will cooperate with the program of the Department's Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights to assist ex-servicemen who wish to return to their pre-service employers. He will also advise employer, labor, veteran, and other interested groups of the reemployment laws and where necessary, will refer problems requiring technical assistance to the Bureau's field office, located at 651 Peachtree - Seventh Building, N. E. Atlanta, Ga. The field representative for the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Puerto Rico is Mr. Harvey Driscoll.

The Bureau has announced that the proclamation setting termination dates for several veterans' benefits on Jan. 31, 1955, did not affect re-employment rights. Those leaving jobs to enter military service as inductees, enlistees, or reservists will continue to have rights if they meet the conditions of eligibility.

Count Basie Plays In Winston-Salem On Thursday Night

SCOUT OF GEO SHEARING - Count Basie and his internationally famous orchestra will be featured in a big "Jazz-Rhythm and Blues Show" at the Memorial Coliseum on North Cherry Street in Winston-Salem, Thursday night.

In addition to Count Basie and his orchestra, also appearing on the same program will be George Shearing and his quintet and Ruth Brown.

George Shearing is the noted blind pianist who for seven successive years won England's top annual jazz poll and was the nation's first ranking artist.

Also appearing on the program Thursday night will be Sonny Til and his Orioles, "T-Bone" Walker and "The Jacks."

John Deere Dealer Announces New Tractor

Martin Brothers of Mocksville announce a new model tractor, the new Model 420 John Deere tractor, which supersedes the John Deere Model 40.

R. P. Martin of Martin Bros., states that the new series is 20 per cent more powerful than the 40 series Tractor.

According to the dealer, the new Model 420 Tractor with stepped-up power, is a real giant in the two-three plow tractor size.

In addition to 20 per cent more power, the new 420 Series features Touch-O-Matic hydraulic control, heavy-duty hitch, and exclusive John Deere Load and Depth control.

The new Model 420 Tractor will be displayed for the first time anywhere, in a first public showing on December 3.

The John Deere dealer, with nine distinct models of tractors to offer in this power size, has a complete variety of tractors adaptable to both farmers and industrial operators.

In addition to regular one and two-row cultivating tractors, there is an all new model, the Model 420-W Two-Row Utility Tractor. This newly designed low-down tractor provides the crop clearance for cultivating two rows that you would expect in a conventional tri-cycle tractor, yet, because of its special low center of gravity, it provides easy step-up and remarkable stability.

Several of these models provide two power take-off speeds, a conventional ASAE speed for regular power take-off work, and a special high-speed direct drive take-off for many industrial applications such as operating pumps and generators.

The new Model 420 Crawler Tractors provide greater power and greater ease of maintenance.

Martin Brothers are inviting the public to the store on Saturday, December 3, to see this new model.

Safe Driving Day

Thursday, December 1, has been proclaimed throughout the nation as "Safe-Driving Day."

On this day all the citizens of this county will accept, along with the citizens throughout the United States, the challenge:

"Not a single traffic accident during the 24 hours of December 1, day or night."

However, even a more important challenge will be to accept our personal responsibility for safe driving and safe walking every day in the year—all 365 of them.

This is the real purpose of S-D Day. Of course, it is earnestly desired to go entirely without accident on December 1, of course. But, the goal desired is to make the streets more safe the whole year around, year in and year out.

In the 1954 S-D Day campaign, a nationwide tally of traffic fatalities was made just on S-D Day, itself. As compared to other like periods, it was demonstrated that highway accidents can be reduced when motorists and pedestrians practice safe driving and safe walking.

Christmas Holiday Hazards

In hundreds of North Carolina homes this December the holiday spirits will be dampened to a large measure by the occurrence of home accidents or injuries. A review of information available to the North Carolina State Board of Health indicates that all accidents—home, farm, motor vehicles and industrial—seem to increase during holiday periods.

In 1954 during the month of December, a total of 120 North Carolinians lost their lives in home accidents. Almost 40 per cent of these deaths occurred during the period immediately before Christmas until January 1, 1955.

It is estimated that 480 North Carolinians faced 1955 permanently disabled as a result of home accidents which occurred last December. This number exceeds the number who were permanently disabled from poliomyelitis in North Carolina throughout the entire year of 1954.

Holiday home accidents usually result from fire, strangulation, falls, firearms, poisonings, burns, exposure, etc. About one-fourth to one-third of all these accidents take their victims from the rank of children. The second large group particularly susceptible to home accidents are those over 65 years of age.

The home accident burden falls on all members of the family, since the wage earner must bear the burden of medical and hospital bills, time lost from work, and other financial loss which invariably follows a serious home accident.

Extra care during the approaching holidays on the part of everyone will assure more completely a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Being Able To Read

Why is it that a large percentage of college freshmen can't read?

One would think that by the time a person graduates from high school he should be able to read. Unfortunately this is not the case.

It has been estimated that about three-fourths of incoming freshmen at the leading colleges and universities are found to be below average in the reading ability expected of college freshmen. This is a fact even though these students had good high school records.

Realizing that a student must be able to read well if he or she is to get the most out of a college education and be prepared for post-college employment, the Catawba College Department of Education has instituted a program of remedial reading. This program is given on the basis of the results obtained in a reading test given to all freshmen. The tests including reading rate, comprehension, directed reading, paragraph and poetry comprehension, word and sentence meaning, use of index and selection of key words.

College officials point out that one of the biggest problems is convincing the student that he or she has a reading problem. Many feel that if they can read at all, they need no help. They fail to realize that their level of reading ability is too low to enable them to compete with other students and will handicap them in post-college employment, regardless of their field of employment.

When asked why they thought their reading ability was low, some of the students' answers were pathetic, others startling. One boy remarked, "I have never been encouraged to read and reading has never interested me."

Another said: "In the first, second and third grades, I was judged one of the better readers in the class. My teacher since then didn't place any importance in reading. Now my reading ability is just about on a grammar school level."

Another boy remarked that he couldn't recall having any reading instructions since he was in the early grammar grades. Another said that he had "reading forced on me and I didn't like it."

Still others attributed their low reading ability to poor eyes, inability to concentrate, lack of interest in subject matter, habitual slowness in all things, and the failure of their parents and teachers to require them to read.

Through the remedial reading program Catawba College officials feel that they are making sound and permanent progress. To back this up they point on the part on the students to improved grades, increased reading speed, increased quantity of reading, and a regard for reading as pleasure rather than a task.

The college is also considering the possibility of a remedial class for the Night College. As Dr. Arthur W. Hartung, head of the education department of Catawba College, pointed out: "The way we read is closely related to the way we think. And the ability of read and the ability to choose good reading material characterizes a man as much as do his appearance and speech."

PAUL BUNYAN IS A MYTHICAL FIGURE OF AMERICAN FOLKLORE. He was created in the tall tales told around the camp fires in early logging camps, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. Books written about his exploits depict Paul as a giant lumberjack who performed herculean feats in company with Babe, a great blue ox.

FARM EXPORTS UP

The value of agricultural export in August was 30 per cent above the dollar value of farm export in 1954, according to the Agriculture Department. Total farm products exports in August were valued at $250,000,000, compared with $190,000,000 in August, 1954. The department attributed the increase to the bolstering effect of Government export programs.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

Mr. James Scott, speaking at a bakery which drew in Crawford's Cafe, Edinburgh, said: "Baking is an ancient craft. I read the other day that pancakes were first made by monks in old English monasteries. This no doubt accounts for the popular expression 'Out of the frying-pan into the fire?'"

CHOOSING PROVIDED PROTECTION

FREE SAILING? . . . You hear a great deal of talk these days about who will run against Luther Hodges for Governor next year. It is assumed he will definitely be a candidate—and who will make the race for the second place office, but you never hear anything about opposition for the other State officeholders.

Two months ago the political prophets and soothsayers had Dr. Beverly Lake running for Attorney General, but this tale has strangely subsided in recent weeks.

ATTY. GEN. . . . Although W. B. Rodman is apparently filling the office to which he was appointed to succeed the late Harry McMullan in a creditable manner, there are rumors that he will not run for the office next year. These reports say he will return to his Little Washington law practice if a State Supreme Court appointment does not occur next year.

OTHERS . . . Then you have State Superintendent of Schools, Treasurer, Secretary of State, Commissioner of Labor, Agriculture Commissioner, and a whole host of top-flight positions open for candidates in 1956.

Big reason you haven't heard about opposition is that the jobs don't pay proportionately nearly as well as they used to when $8,000-$10,000 jobs were scarce. Another thing: it takes plenty of money, a lot of time, and a mighty good Statewide reputation to defeat one of these incumbents. The pickin' is pretty thin.

AUDITOR . . . We have heard off and on that Wake county Representative Edwin Pou would like to oppose Henry I. Bridges for State Auditor. If you recall, this position was held by young Pou's father, George Ross Pou, when he died, a few hours after attending the funeral of O. Max Gardner, in 1947. The Pou family has been outstanding in N. C. for a century.

Despite the historical successes of the Adamsses, the Harrisons, the Roosevelts, etc., the public doesn't always take to relatives following in the footsteps of their elders in public office. In fact, George Ross Pou himself attempted to succeed his father in Congress in 1934, but was soundly beaten by Harold D. Cooley of Nashville, who at that time was 37 years of age. Erwin S. Pou will be 36 on December 7.

Bridges was appointed State Auditor by Gov. R. Gregg Cherry.

TIME PASSING . . . Speaking of candidates, former Insurance Commissioner Waldo Check—now in the insurance business in Charlotte—reportedly told Dr. Henry Jordan six weeks ago that he would give him until December 15 to make up his mind whether to run for Governor.

The inference was that Check wanted action and would support Jordan if he announced, but would announce himself if Jordan didn't say soon thing by December 15.

out what it is best used for. On a non-profit basis, he is establishing a plantation there which will cost two million dollars and will accommodate only 100 guests. The unique resort will open on Jan. 1 and the beachfront group will have single rooms for $30 and doubles for $42, cottages being also available at somewhat less rates—all on the American plan. On this island of blue waters and white beaches, nine miles long and five miles wide, just 700 people live. The climate varies only six degrees between summer and winter. Seems like a place to go to get away from ordinary things.

At a luncheon, I sat next to Keith Morris, a friendly chap, who proudly told me he was the godson of Helen Keller. Keith's mother became deaf when she was 3, after a fall from a wagon, but learned to lip read with the help of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. Later in school, she met and became a friend of Helen Keller who is deaf and blind but who is an inspiration to all of us by her wonderful work. Keith came to New York City from Pennsylvania and is one of those young journalists who, in spite of the terrific competition, is making good in the big city.

A State College farm management specialist has predicted that North Carolina farmers will turn more away from tenure arrangement and toward cash wages in the future.

And that's only a few days off.

VETERAN . . . One of the grand old men of State officialdom lay desperately ill in a Raleigh hospital last week recovering from a stomach ulcer operation.

Since the chairman of the State Utilities Commission is 69 years of age, he is not expected to be able to return to his regular duties before the first of the year. He has been with the State Utilities Commission since 1930—or rather the old Corporation Commission since that time. The name was changed from Corporation Commission to Utilities Commission by the 1933 Legislature.

Winborne has been chairman since 1941. He was born in Murfreesboro. His father, B. B. Winborne, was the first cousin of Dr. Robert H. Winborne, whose son is J. W. Winborne, Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court and two years older than Stanley.

EISENHOWER - DEWEY? . . . Last week we reported here that the Republicans—maybe led by Ike himself—would make Earl Warren, chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, the Republican standard bearer next year.

We had heard reports that Warren—for President Clubs might begin forming late in January.

Could be, according to word we get from one of the leading Republicans in North Carolina, but there is a conservative school of thought in the GOP very much opposed to it.

They are driving hard, he said, for Dwight D. Eisenhower to run to succeed himself with Tom Dewey making the bid for vice president. He didn't elaborate too much on the thought behind such a proposal, but you get the drift—

NONE EXPECTED . . . Ike Landon, chronicler of events past, present and future in Richmond County and environs, says in a recent copy of the paper he edits that this bride to be had none to a wedding one time where several mothers had taken their babies. They cried and kicked up a terrible fuss all during the ceremony.

Determined that no such thing would occur at her wedding, she carefully wrote at the bottom of each invitation: "No babies expected."

NOTES . . . If you plan to get a new car soon, better go ahead and take the plunge. A friend of ours from Washington says credit restrictions on cars may be sharply tightened soon after the first of the year.

Five cars will fill up here on the Seward Airline sidetracks the latter part of next week with Farm Bureau delegates heading for the national convention to be held in Chicago. Next year's big meeting will be held at that old agricultural center, Miami, Fla.

Still unable to receive visitors is Maj. Gen. J. Van B. Metts after four weeks in Hex Hospital suffering from a heart attack. He is the State's retired adjutant general. He's eighty-ish.

If your town or county police officers need additional—or better cars—at greatly reduced costs, have them get in touch with the Division of Purchase and Contract in the Highway Building in Raleigh.

In about two weeks now 100 1954 Fords being retired by the State Highway Patrol will be made available to law enforcement officers of towns and counties. They are ready for business, with red light on the roof, sirens, etc., for $900 each.

The Governor will name within a few days a group to make recommendations on a successor for Gordon Gray as president of the Greater University. Still vacant is the job of Extension Editor of N. C. State College, which was filled so well by Dr. Frank Jeter until his sudden passing in mid-September. Since the man who fills this position will be in contact by bulletins, through the press, radio, and television with almost every farmer in the State, the place is as important in many ways as any other job in North Carolina. Handling the job unofficially—though in his usual fine way—is one of our favorite people, Rudolph Pate, publicity man for the College and one of the most likeable, best writers in the bushes. May the job be his permanently. . . . if he wants it.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON -- This is to thank the reporters who represent North Carolina in Washington for their alertness and fairness.

PRESS CONFERENCE

Several days ago, it was necessary for me to return to Washington for meetings of the Subcommittee on Investigations. I drove to Washington from Goldsboro where I had the pleasure of speaking to the North Carolina Jaycees. Upon my arrival in the Senate Office Building, I found that the reporters were calling. The Subcommittee meetings were soon to begin, so I decided that it would serve a good purpose to invite all the reporters to come by the office after the Subcommittee meeting. They came. I felt like a rabbit being chased by a bunch of thoroughbreds, but I enjoyed seeing the reporters.

FORTUNATE

Our country is fortunate indeed to have alert correspondents who know how to go after a story and who have the freedom to report it. I have been impressed with the aggressiveness and fairness of reporters. As any public official knows, trained reporters in virtually every instance are securing the facts and have no ulterior motive. They pull no punches, but it is refreshing to meet with them and to enjoy their stories and observations, and to know how carefully informed they must be on so many subjects.

A FEW QUESTIONS

Imagine your answers to such questions as these, considering the fact that you are a candidate yourself, and how easily misunderstood one can be in politics:

Will Eisenhower run again?
Can the Democrats win in 1956?
What is your solution to the farm problem?

Who are you supporting for President?

If Eisenhower does not run, who will be the strongest Republican candidate?

In fairness to the reporters and the people, these questions require honest answers or a frank admission that one does not know the answers.

As I left Washington to return to North Carolina, I remembered one thing—I miss these reporters. I hope to see a lot of them when I return in January.

And I might turn the tables and ask a few questions of my own of them, namely: Will Eisenhower run again? Can the Democrats win in 1956? What is your solution to the farm problem? Etc.

It would be interesting to know their answers.

At the 1955 North Carolina Junior Dairy Shows, blue ribbons were awarded on 434 animals out of 1,200 shown; only 67 animals, or seven per cent, were poor enough quality to receive white ribbons.

60 Second Sermons

TEXT: "No one is wise all the time."—Phily, the Elder.

"Integrity and wisdom are the keys to business success," the old man told his son. "By integrity," he went on, "I mean that when you promise the delivery of goods on a certain day, you must do so even if it bankrupts you."

"Well," said the boy, "what is wisdom?"

"Don't make such promises, son," was the reply.

We tend, at times, to confuse learning with wisdom. Many men of learning are not wise. Many wise men have little formal learning. Learning is a selfish goddess. She requires her worshippers to make continual sacrifices at her shrine. And no lifetime is long enough to know all she has for men to learn.

Some learned people think that they acquire wisdom with learning. That, in itself, is proof that they are not wise. Wisdom requires the attainment of a spiritual sense which cold, factual learning cannot impart. Wisdom simply asks that you make certain basic truths a part of you. Then, regardless of formal learning, when you act in harmony with those truths, you act wisely.

Learning is a rewarding hobby, accumulate it.

Wisdom is a perfect vocation, seek it.

AMERICA BY 1975

America by 1975 will be a land which will be making greater investments in foreign countries and constantly broadening its economic sphere.

The National Association of Manufacturers sits a study, "The World in 25 Years: How the U. S. Economy Will Reach Around It," by Business Week Magazine in 1953 in discussing this expected development.

"From now on our foreign investments are likely to increase. . . . These countries are no longer forced to serve only as suppliers of one or two commodities. With modern transportation and production methods, they too, can build up diversified industry, to process some of their own raw materials and to raise living standards for their people. When they are less dependent on market fluctuations of their one or two commodities, these countries can consistently buy more goods, attract more investments."

Edward Everett Horton is a genial and puckish actor, as you know, but when I see him in my bank now and then, he is as serious as Solomon. Maybe that is the influence of the pocketbook—of could it be because he is a bachelor? Anyway, recently Ed was invited to a party and asked to bring his "best girl." At the appointed time, he showed up with a lady on his arm who must have been a 1000 summer. His hostess soon drew him aside and hinted that he was supposed to bring his "best girl." "Oh yes, I did," quickly replied Ed in typical manner. "This one is. She's my mother."

They're making automobiles with greater horsepower, but apparently, by human heart is not keyed to this modern pace, at least in some outstanding instances. Bernard DeVoto, 53, and Robert Sherwood, 59, are examples. Their recent passing deeply saddened a lot of us who knew them here in various ways. I used to work for Sherwood's firm and recall how the tall, slender, dynamic writer could tear into the office with a play or book manuscript on which he had spent countless, intense hours—which probably took their toll. Not only a great writer, he was a real professional. To relieve the tension, he would sometimes burst into some nostalgic song. De Voto who worked about as hard doing his columns and superb histories, also felt the weight of much controversy which he stirred up. One thing which might have shorted his busy life was his big scrap with Sinclair Lewis, who once lived next door to where I do now. De Voto said that Lewis "misrepresented his culture"—and the fight was on.

Out at West Hempstead, Long Island, is an outfit known as Abilities, Inc., and its abilities are really unusual. It is a small factory run entirely by severely disabled people who, as Henry Viscardi, head of the organization told me, do not want charity, but "want to be like ordinary people, each according to his ability and compensating quality to offset his physical makeup." The company started just three years ago in a vacant garage, with its equipment an old drafting board, a fly swatter and a telephone. For its staff, the Junior Chamber of Commerce borrowed tables and chairs from the fire department. First major job was making cable assemblies. Among the five employees, there was but one useable leg—the owner was called "the leg man." The five had only seven useable arms. Today there are 150 disabled employees, and the company is expanding and making money. (Now neighbor, do you want to complain about your work?)

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

By J. B. WHITAKER

Correction: In a recent article the statement was made, upon the basis of Jonah 1:17, that the Bible does not say Jonah was swallowed by a whale. This is an error on the part of the writer. In Matt. 12:40 we are told by the Lord, that Jonah was swallowed by a whale. This error was not intentional. The writer shall be eternally grateful to those who called attention to the error. Have you ever noticed the use of the word "impossible" by sacred writers? In Heb. 6:18 we are told, "It is impossible for God to lie." We need to think of this passage of Scripture often. When we examine some of the religious beliefs and practices in the world today we need to keep this statement in mind. Where do men get the authority for sprinkling for baptism, mechanical instruments of music in worship, and a host of other unscriptural practices? Is it according to the Word of God? Certainly it is not. Who then is in error? God or man? God can not lie. His Word contains no lies. We must necessarily conclude that man is in error and not God. In Titus 1:2 we are told again that "God cannot lie." Religious friends have you built your faith upon and around things which are not taught in God's Word? If you have you have built upon the wrong basis. In R. v. 21:8 we are told that "All liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone; which is the second death." In Heb. 11:6 we are told that "Without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." We can not please God without faith. What does the writer mean? Is faith just a simple statement that we believe in Christ? Certainly it includes this but a man does not have the faith which saves until he believes to the extent that he will submit himself to the teachings of God's word and obey him. In John 3:3-5 we have the Lord telling us that it is not possible for a man to enter the kingdom of God except by a new birth. He tells us that this is a birth of water and of the Spirit. People have never entered the Kingdom of God without this new birth. Why? It is impossible. The writers of the New Testament always told men that they must be born again of the water and of the Spirit before they entered the Kingdom. Jesus says: that we must enter by Him. In John 14:6 we read, "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." In Luke 16:26 we can see the example of another "impossibility." This passage tells us that it is impossible to be saved after we cease to live here. It is the familiar story of the rich man and Lazarus. It makes absolutely no difference what men may say—the plain teaching of the Bible is that we can not save ourselves after we die. Solomon says in Prov. 11:7, "When a wicked man dieth, his expectation shall perish: and the hope of unjust men perisheth." Have you looked at these impossibilities before? Certainly we can see that we can not "neglect salvation" and expect to be saved. Heb. 2:3. (Advt.)

We have received a new order of books for the high school library. Some of these include: biographies, historical novels, poetry, fiction, short stories, and essays.

At assembly last week, the 8th grade was in charge of the program. They presented a play taken from their literature book. Some of the participants were: Bette Gregory, Melba Sulphin, Dick Montgomery, Dianne Seats, Bruce Driver and Margaret Riddle. Last Saturday night was a big night for the seniors from 8 to 10 o'clock. "The Daffy Dills," their play, was going in full swing at that time and many laughs were heard coming from the auditorium as the play was quite comical.

Wildcats will open their basketball season Tuesday night when they meet Courtnay here at 7 p. m.

The girls team is coached by Mrs. Hayes, and will be much improved since last year. Only three of the returning players have earned letters, although all of them have played for the Varsity or B team. Six of the girls are Seniors, while only three of them are Juniors. The rest are sophomores.

The boys' quintet will again be under the direction of Coach Bill Peeler. They are showing promise of having an excellent year, with eight returning lettermen on the squad as well as four sophomores who played with the B team last season. The team will be strong on rebounds with Morgan Chaffin and Denny Rollins under the basket, while Kenny Howell, Mackie Deadmon, Billy Sell, Henry Shutt, and Alton Sheek are veterans at shooting the long ones. This will be the tallest team to take the court in recent years, with six men standing 6 feet or over.

The squads are as follows:

Girls	Pos.	Class
Julia Allen	Forward	Senior
Alice Anderson	Guard	Soph.
Floretta Collette	Guard	Junior

Driving's Exciting Again!

Greatest "Go" On Wheels
No other car performs like a Pontiac because Pontiac alone has the Strato-Streak V-8—most modern and efficient power plant in the industry. And for 1956 this great engine delivers 227 blazing horsepower so smoothly that it must be experienced to be believed. For the "go" of the year, go Pontiac.

Let's say you have just logged an extra-long day's mileage in your '56 Pontiac. Your clock tells you it's time to choose a lodging for the night.

Then it comes to you. You don't want to stop! You just want to keep on and on, piloting this sweet, singing beauty wherever fancy points. Sound like a wonderful dream? It happens time and again to owners of this fabulous new car. And the lure that leads them on and on is the performance of Pontiac's great new Strato-Streak V-8... the most thrilling performance on the American highway.

Traffic's a delight in this agile car. Power flows smooth as oil when you leave a light, and with the sharp authority of 227 blazing "horses". Brakes respond with crisp, new certainty. The wheel answers fast as pointing your finger. You're driving with a confidence you've never felt before!

And highway touring is pure pleasure! You swing the curves with new sure-footed certainty... clear a high hill or sweep safely past a loiterer with the happy assurance that you command the greatest "go" on wheels.

And when you settle down to cruising speed on an open highway—that's the real payoff on your good judgment! This is living in a wonderful new way. Driving's exciting again!

Come in and try it—you can prove it in 10 minutes as easily as in 10 hours. And you'll prove something else to yourself. Pontiac's glamour matches its "go"—it's the greatest on the road!

Test the all-new thrills

What Every Veteran Should Know

The widows and children of certain deceased veterans of World War I may be entitled to death pension benefits where the veteran died of causes not due to service.

The veteran must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable after 90 days or more of service (or for disability incurred in service in line of duty if less than 90 days) or at time of death have been receiving or entitled to receive compensation, pension, or retirement pay for service-connected disability.

To be eligible, a widow must have married the veteran prior to Dec. 14, 1944, or have been married to the veteran for 10 or more years prior to the date of death of the veteran.

Pension is not payable to the widow unless there was continuous cohabitation with the veteran from the time of marriage to the date of death except where there was a separation which was due to misconduct of, or procured by, the veteran without fault of the widow.

The widow can receive pension only if her annual income does not exceed $1,400 without dependents or $2,700 if she has a minor child or children. If the widow's income does not exceed the statutory limitations, the minor child or children may become eligible for pension if their income does not exceed $1,400 each.

A widow loses her entitlement upon remarriage and unmarried children normally become ineligible when they reach 18. A child attending an approved school after age 18, will continue to receive the pension while attending this school but not beyond the age of 21 or if married.

Children who become permanently incapable of self-support because of a mental or physical defect before reaching the age of 18 may continue to draw pension as long as the condition exists or until they marry.

Although the national cotton allotment for 1956 has been set at a figure 4 per cent less than this year's allotment, North Carolina's cut is 6 per cent. The cut was based on the planting history.

Moravian Candle Tea
To Be Held In Winston-Salem
 The Moravian Candle Tea will be held this year for three successive days: Thursday through Saturday, Dec. 1, 2, and 3. During these days, between the hours of 2:00 and 9:00 p.m., the historic Brothers House, which was built on Salem Square in 1768, will open its doors to the public. Last year nearly 6,000 people attended the Candle Tea, which has come to be regarded as the opening event of Winston-Salem's Christmas season.

In addition to the historic value of the Brother's House, the Candle Tea features a demonstration of beeswax candle making, an enlarged "Putz" covering two rooms in the sub-basement, and hostesses in early Salem costumes serving smorgasbord and lovefest coffee. For those unfamiliar with Salem tradition, the word "Putz" is of Germanic origin and means "to decorate." The two sections of this year's Putz will depict the Nativity scene surrounded by other Biblical stories, and a replica of Salem Square in the 1800's, with each tiny house constructed to scale of the original buildings.

Grade mothers and teachers may make plans for classes of school children to visit the Tea at convenient hours in large groups by telephoning Mrs. George Brietz, 2-0702. A special children's rate will be made under these circumstances.

A minimum charge will be made for admission, to be used to carry on the work of the Home Moravian Women of the church. Miss Pauline Holder is Chairman of the Tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Faircloth announce the birth of a son, Dwight Andrew on Nov. 25 at City Hospital, Winston-Salem.

The 1955 Tar Heel "all hay" crop is forecast at 1,253,000 tons—172,000 tons more than was produced during the drought-stricken year 1954.

Farmington

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Seats and family have moved into their new home which was recently purchased from Charlie Bahmson. Alfred Smith has purchased the "Boss" Seats place.

Returning Sunday after spending the Thanksgiving holidays at home, are Mrs. Queen Bess Kennen, to Troy; John T. James and Rufus Brock to Chapel Hill; Miss Belle Montgomery to Charlotte; Bob Montgomery and Bill Walker to Gardner-Webb; Mrs. Elizabeth Williard to Pine Hall; Sam Purches to King.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Caudle spent the holidays fishing at Myrtle Beach, where fishing was good.

Miss Linda Caudle and Robert Caudle spent the week end with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor in Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hoyle, III, spent the holidays with Mrs. Hoyle's parents in South Carolina. Mr. Hoyle is confined to his home now with a cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams, Linda and Ronnie Williams, spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Foster near Lewisville.

Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Williams and three children of Durham, and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Christian of Buford, S. C., were holiday guests of Mrs. J. W. Williams. Mrs. Williams returned with Mr. and Mrs. Christian to be their guest for the winter.

Quick Turnover Deal

Our stock turnover is terrific!
 The fact that we're selling Fords hand over fist proves what a hot item these new 1956 Fords really are! Business is great, and we intend to keep it that way. That's why we'll go all out to offer you a deal that will make you happy.

Quick Turnover Deal

Wait till you hear our deal!
 "Make a little on a lot"—that's the way we're selling these new 1956 Fords! Big volume and quick turnover make it possible for us to take a small profit on each car we sell . . . pass big savings on to you! Come on in and see for yourself that we're not kidding!

Quick Turnover Deal

And what a car to deal on!
 Just look at the looks of a '56 Ford . . . with its long, low, road-hugging silhouette that only the fabulous Thunderbird could inspire! Feel that power . . . the bigger-quick response of new Thunderbird Y-8 power*. It's fun to drive a Ford . . . and safer, too, with new Lifeguard Design.

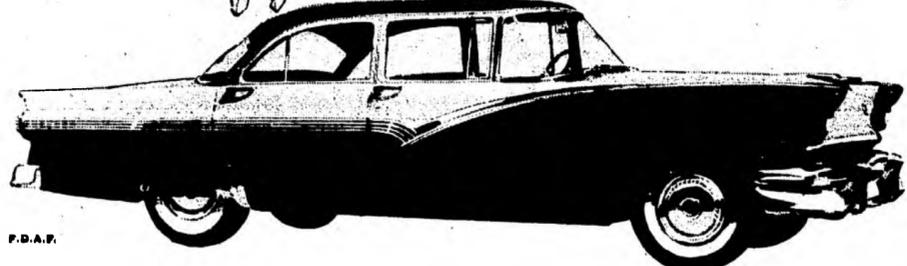

Quick Turnover Deal

No wonder America's turning to Ford!
 Buyers find they get more in a Ford at no extra cost than in any other car in the low-price field. Ford is America's fine car . . . at half the fine-car price! Come in for a Test Drive and prove it to yourself!

It wasn't surprising to see some of the Freshmen came to school with hose and oxfords, socks and high heels, dragging books in boxes and looking very much like white ghosts in red jeans. The reason for this masquerade party was the old FHA members were initiating the new Freshmen into the FHA Club.

Tuesday turned out to be a very sad day for some, and happy for others. Report cards were given out on this day.

Last Friday night, the Teen-Age Club enjoyed a turkey supper at the Recreation Center. After the supper, they went upstairs where they watched a Laurel-Hardy movie. About 50 members were present.

THE DRIVER'S CLINIC

A question and answer column on traffic safety, driving and automobile conducted for this newspaper by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Question: Why are highway bridges especially hazardous in winter?

Answer: Bridges often are covered with a sheet of ice which approaches may be ice-free. Drivers should recognize a bridge as a hazard in freezing weather.

Question: Why does a cross country driver sometimes unintentionally become a hazard when passing through small towns?

Answer: At a steady pace for one time the driver becomes conditioned to his motion and is unconscious of his rate of speed.

Question: Why does a cross country driver sometimes unintentionally become a hazard when passing through small towns?

Answer: The maximum field of vision exists when the body is still. As the body moves eyes normally must focus at a distance to see objects clearly.

Question: Why does a cross country driver sometimes unintentionally become a hazard when passing through small towns?

Answer: Warm temperatures and lots of sunshine are more important than fertilizer in producing high-quality walnuts.

Mrs. Tomlinson, Mrs. Call Named To Hospital Posts

To Supervise Dietary Department of Hospital

Mrs. C. H. Tomlinson of Mocksville will be chief dietitian at the new Davie County Hospital when it opens early next year. Mrs. S. M. Call, also of Mocksville, will be assistant dietitian.

The appointment of Mrs. Tomlinson and Mrs. Call to these posts were announced this week by Frank Ceruzzi, hospital administrator. Mr. Ceruzzi said that the two women would assume duties right away and begin a study of the dietary methods used by neighboring hospitals.

For the past nine years Mrs. Tomlinson and Mrs. Call have served the meals for the Rotary and other civic clubs of this area. Mr. Ceruzzi said that the duties of the chief dietitians will be the planning of menus for patients and hospital personnel. Also they will collaborate with the administrator in the purchasing of food supplies. The dietary supervisors will supervise the preparation of food and see to it that the meals are attractive and promptly served. They will also be responsible for keeping records as to the cost of the meals served. The duties will also entail the supervision of special diets, and to check and weigh food returned on special trays to determine the patient's reaction to food.

Further commenting on the dietary department of the hospital, Mr. Ceruzzi said: "Hospital food service is indeed a specialty. Although hospital diets are classified as general and special, all should be regarded as being special inasmuch as the various groups to whom they are served are either suffering changes in their physical conditions or are working under abnormal or extraordinary circumstances.

"The patient, whether bedridden or convalescent, requires special scientific dieting. The employee, regardless of status, works under a mental and physical strain and therefore must be given the benefit of careful food service. Thus, whether dealing with the special or general patient, or with the employee, consideration must be given to food so that its ingredients will meet the metabolic demands of the body and build the necessary resistance to disease."

Mr. Ceruzzi said that the success of the food service hinges to a large degree on the equipment chosen. The Davie County Hospital will have stainless steel equipment throughout the kitchen. Structural glazed tile is installed along from floor to ceiling, along with a ceramic tile floor, to facilitate easy cleaning. The equipment is located so that many of the traffic problems of a busy kitchen are eliminated. This promotes a proper continuity of work.

S-D Day . . . Perfect

Last Thursday, December 1, was the day set aside nationwide as "Safe Driving Day." Prior to this day the press, radio, television working on behalf of the State Highway Patrol and other officials, left no stones unturned in the attempt to make the public safety conscious.

In each county or similar unit throughout the nation S-D coordinators were appointed to head up the effort to make this day accident free. G. H. C. Shutt was the coordinator for Davie County.

Well what were the results. Not so good as far as the nation as a whole was concerned . . . but perfect as far as Davie County was concerned.

The State Highway Patrol reported that no accidents were reported in Davie County on S-D Day.

Donations To Hospital

J. K. Sheek, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, announced this week that the following have donated to the new Davie County Hospital:

Gather Sanford, Rufus Sanford, Marshall Sanford and Mrs. Hansford Sams have donated a room.

The Men's Bible Class of the Mocksville Methodist Church have donated a room.

Other donations were made by the B. C. Moore and Sons Company and Mrs. G. N. Cook (the former Rose Owens).

Jimmy Kelly Wins Jaycee Annual Football Award

Mocksville Football Team Honored at Dinner

Jimmy Kelly, stellar performer at end on the Mocksville high school football team for the past year, received the Jaycee "most valuable" player award for 1955.

The award was presented at the annual banquet honoring members of the football squad last Thursday night.

The selection was made by the members of the squad. Each individual player was given a questionnaire to fill out as to whom they considered the most valuable offensive player, the most valuable defensive player, the player consistently displaying the best attitude, the best team man, etc. From the replies given by the members of the football squad the selection was made.

HOSPITAL DIETICIANS—Mrs. C. H. Tomlinson and Mrs. S. M. Call inspect one of the new ovens at the new Davie County Hospital.

The fifth annual Beef Cattle Conference will be held at State College in Raleigh, Dec. 21-22.

Officers Get Liquor In Raid Here Sunday

Sheriff Ben Boyles and deputies arrested Fred Jones of Maple Avenue, Mocksville, Sunday afternoon on the charge of possession of non-taxpaid liquor for the purpose of sale. The officers confiscated a jar and a bottle of white liquor at his home.

Officers were tipped off to the cache in the Jones home when Deputy Avery Foster arrested John Smoot, Jr., Negro, on his way from the house. Smoot had a half gallon of liquor in his possession.

Farmington Fire Dept. Prevents Fire Spread

The Farmington Volunteer Fire Department answered a call last week at the home of Tom Richie and prevented the spread of a fire that threatened to destroy a building.

The fire originated in the pump house adjoining another building. The pump house was destroyed by fire, with damages estimated at around $200. However, the work of the Farmington Fire Department prevented the spread of the fire and saved the adjoining building.

William L. Foster Receives Promotion

The Bureau of Naval Personnel authorized the advancement Nov. 16 of William L. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Foster of Mocksville, to quartermaster third class, USN, while serving aboard the amphibious force flagship USS Estes with the Pacific Fleet.

The advancement was the result of world-wide examinations conducted in August.

Chicken Pie Supper To Aid Dulin's And Cornatzer Fire Dept.

There will be a chicken pie supper on Saturday night, Dec. 17, at the Dulin's Hall. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. Proceeds from this supper will go to the Dulin-Cornatzer Fire Department.

CELVARY SERVICES

The Rev. James Bledsoe will preach at Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday, Dec. 11, at 2:30 p.m. and the Rev. Wiley Zunes at the evening service at 7:30.

Midwestern Press Assn. Meets In Mocksville

Fifty representatives of daily and non-daily newspapers of the Midwestern Press Association met in Mocksville last Saturday night. Roy Thompson, featured columnist and reporter for the Winston-Salem Journal was the featured speaker at the dinner meeting. Mr. Thompson described the European tour he made this summer on which he visited England, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy and other countries. He also described his experiences in covering the Geneva Peace Conference. D. J. Chipman, business manager of the Winston-Salem Journal and president of the Midwestern Press Association, presided.

Eugene S. Bowman, publisher of the Mocksville Enterprise, gave the address of welcome.

Mrs. Ed Short, accompanied by Mrs. Eugene Smith, sang "O Holy Night" and "Ave Maria."

R. H. Robertson of the Leaksville News was elected president of the association for 1956. Bill Rutledge of the Yadkin Ripple was named vice president. Mrs. Gordon Tomlinson of The Yadkin Herald was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

At the conclusion of the program a drawing was held for numerous door prizes representing items manufactured in Mocksville. These were donated by Hanes Furniture Company, Heritage Furniture Company, Monleigh Garment Company and B and F Manufacturing Company.

Road Hearing Is Set For Wednesday, Dec. 14

The next public hearing for road requests will be held at the courthouse in Danbury, Stokes County, on Wednesday, December 14.

Ninth Division Highway Commissioner James A. Gray, Jr., said he would be prepared to hear requests from any of the counties in this division at this time.

ROTARY HOLDS FARMER'S NIGHT

The annual Farmer's Night of the Mocksville Rotary Club was held Tuesday night. Approximately 40 farmers of Davie County were the dinner guests of the Mocksville Rotary Club.

Dr. Moe Williams, Head of the Farm Management Department of State College, was the featured speaker. Dr. Williams spoke on "Where Are We Going In Agriculture," centering around what we could expect in agriculture 20 years from now.

Dr. Williams predicted that by 1975 only 10% of our population would be engaged in agriculture. (At the present time 13% are engaged in agriculture).

"Also," said Dr. Williams, "I believe that there will be twice the investment in agriculture than what we have today with more emphasis on specialization. In that era management in agriculture will be more important, such as keeping up with the market conditions.

"As we go into the future, policy of the Government will become more important. There will be a need for more positive programs to help the farm income," said Dr. Williams.

Dr. Williams said that he believed that 20 years from now will find the present weaknesses of the marketing system corrected, with it becoming more efficient.

"In that day we may even change our worries from what to do with surpluses to what we can do to relieve shortages," said Dr. Williams.

Don Headen, President of the Rotary Club, presided. Graham Madison served as song leader and welcomed the farmers. Leo F. Williams introduced the speaker.

Mystery Farm Is Identified By Four

Last week's mystery farm was identified by four people as that of Earl Myers of the Shady Grove community.

Those correctly identifying the farm were O. B. Poindexter, George Shutt, Laverne Cohen and Glenn Everest.

Phone Co-op Lacks Quorum And Postpones Election

The election of the new directors for the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corporation was postponed Saturday because of a lack of quorum at the Saturday meeting.

The meeting was held at Yadkinville High School Auditorium. Principal speaker was Hugh B. O'Hara, head of telephone operations and loans division of the Rural Electrification Authority.

A certificate of quality service was presented to the co-op by Mr. O'Hara.

The co-op now has a total of 1,729 telephones, constituting 700 miles of pole line. Brooks Cross Roads has 294; Forbush, 410; Harmony, 323; Smith Grove, 493; and New Hope, 108.

The meeting was presided over by James M. Parks, president of the board of directors. A report was made by the manager, D. D. Williamson.

Others taking part on the program were the Rev. J. G. Allgood, Mayor R. V. Long of Yadkinville, Walter E. Fuller, and Homer C. Myers, Jr.

Dr. C. C. Applewhite Is The Principal Speaker

A state health official said here Sunday that he would like to see all public health workers "become sensitized to mental health problems" encountered in daily routine.

Dr. C. C. Applewhite, director of local health administration for the State Board of Health, discussed the link between physical and mental health needs in a dedication address for the new Davie County Health Center.

The $27,000 center, located in West Mocksville, has been in use since August.

Dr. Applewhite said that public health workers, by becoming more aware of mental problems, may help eventually to find out what causes these disturbances.

He also traced the progress of the public health service and said through this service the communicable diseases have just about been brought under control. He said he believes the same someday can be done with such diseases as heart ailments and cancer.

Dr. Applewhite reported that there are now 54 health centers operating in North Carolina and that 14 more are under construction. He said he hopes the day will come when every county will have a health center.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Fred G. Pegg of Winston-Salem, district health officer.

Dr. Henry S. Anderson presided. Invocation was given by the Rev. Paul Richards of the First Presbyterian Church, and benediction by the Rev. J. F. Davis, pastor of Mocksville Baptist Church.

Greetings were presented by John E. Durham, chairman of the district Board of Health. Presentation of the building was made by County Attorney A. T. Grant.

VFW Post Selling American Flags

The local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars are now selling American Flags and holders to business firms of the county. The flags measure 3 feet by 5 feet and are the type to be displayed in front of the business establishment.

It was pointed out that the American Flag should be displayed on holidays and other occasions around 12 times a year.

Anyone interested in purchasing such a flag and holder should contact Haines Yates or any VFW member.

Advance Adage

MARTHA HUSSER

Basketball season is officially underway, and to a good start, too. Friday night, Dec. 2, both Advance teams defeated Courtney, here at Advance. The girls by a score of 37-23, and the boys with a score of 58-43. Not bad at all for the first game of the season!

The girls possessing "A" team suits this year are:

Shirley Burton, F. Senior; Emily Mock, F. Senior; Nancy Hartman, F. Senior; Sue Browder, G. Junior; Jeanette Orrell, G. Senior; Annie Ruth Hendrix, G. Senior; Martha Husser, G. Senior; Glenda Bailey, G. Junior; Wilma Riley, P. Senior.

Betty Beauchamp, F. Sophomore; Kermil Ralledge, G. Sophomore; Tama Sue Markland, F. Junior; Janice Wilson, F. Sophomore. The girls' co-captains for this season are Emily Mock and Martha Husser.

The boys with "A" suits are as follows:

C. W. Foster, F. Sophomore; Archie Potts, G. Sophomore; Ben Browder, G. Freshman; Sammie Howard, G. Freshman.

Kenneth Howard, F. Junior; Brack Bailey and "Pete" Williams retain the same honor of being co-captains again this year.

An "A" beside the player's name means they have received a letter for their outstanding work.

Friday afternoon the cheerleaders, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Bishop, held a "pop rally" in the school. Displaying a tremendous amount of vigor, they displayed even more patience as they taught the less familiar yells to the younger students.

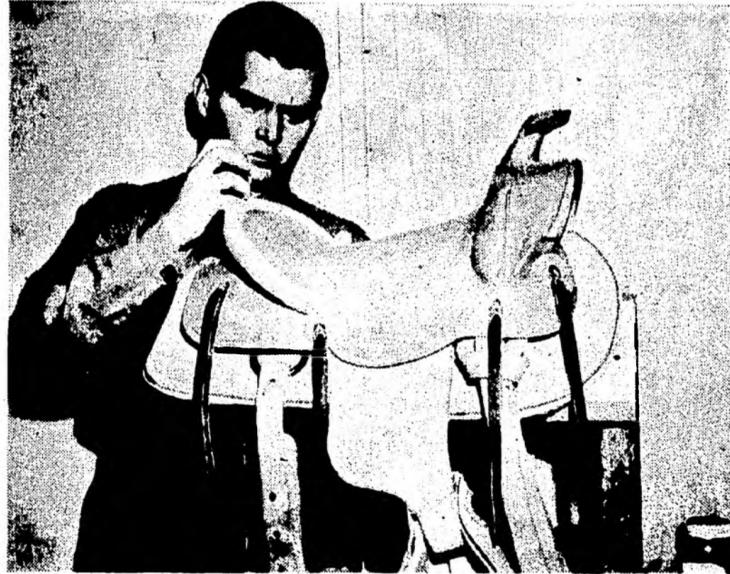

Advance is proud of their fine cheerleaders, who this year are: Francis Seaford, Co-chief; Nancy Vogler, co-chief; Roverda Ellis, Maggie Hartman, Dorothy Byerly, Alvin Myers, Shirley Potts, and Jane Parin.

Gene Bowman Speaks At Ministerial Meeting

The Davie County Ministerial Association met at Liberty Methodist Church Monday morning. Gene Bowman spoke to some 15 members present. The Reverend Paul Richards presided.

FARMINGTON P. T. A.

The Farmington P. T. A. will hold its regular meeting Monday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 in the school auditorium. A Christmas program will be given by the fifth and sixth grades.

WESTERN STYLE SADDLE—is being completed by Leonard Crofts in his leather shop at his home. "This saddle," made of "saddle skirting leather," took approximately 30 hours to complete. Mr. Crofts said he worked off and on on this saddle for the past six months. It will be a Christmas present for a child in Clemmons.

Leonard Crofts Is Specialist In Leather Handicraft

Leather craft has long been more than just a hobby for Leonard Crofts, teacher in the Mocksville school.

Seven years ago while a member of the Armed Forces and stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, he began leather work at the hobby center there. Since then he has continued to pursue this hobby making such things as holsters, belts, rifle scabbards, gloves, etc.

Recently he has completed a western style saddle which will be used as a Christmas present for Sandy Davis, age 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Davis of Clemmons.

Mr. Crofts is a native of Clemmons. He graduated from Catawba College in 1954. He is married to the former Jane Cook of Clemmons. Mrs. Crofts also enjoys working with leather, specializing in ladies' handbags.

During the summer Mr. Crofts teaches arts and crafts in the children's center at Tanglewood Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Crofts have their leather working shop in a room adjoining their apartment which is located at Mrs. W. H. Dodd's, on North Main Street.

Former Davie Native Is Crushed By Truck

A former Davie County native was killed last Friday night about 7:30 p.m. on U. S. Highway 29, when he was thrown from an automobile and was crushed beneath the wheels of a tractor-trailer.

Daniel Vance Freeman of Salisbury was killed instantly when he was thrown from the car into the highway and the wheels of the truck passed over his body.

Billy Gene Lake, 26, also of Salisbury, and a passenger in the car driven by Mr. Freeman, sustained minor hurts.

Mr. Freeman's vehicle was reportedly struck by a tractor-trailer driven by W. F. Hilton of Charlotte. It was reported that the car, without any apparent reason, swerved into the lane of the tractor-trailer. The truck struck the car on the right rear spinning it around in the road. The latch on the front door apparently released and the two occupants were thrown out.

Mr. Freeman was thrown into the highway and it is believed that the back wheels of the truck passed over his body. Mr. Lake was thrown clear of the highway.

Mr. Freeman was born in Davie County on Feb. 1, 1924, son of the late Edward L. and Lula Daniel Freeman. He was educated in the Coolleenee schools.

He had been employed for four years in the car department at Spencer and was recently transferred to Columbia, S. C.

He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Samuel C. Hart Post of the American Legion, the Moose Lodge, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen and of the Liberty Methodist Church in Davie County.

Mr. Freeman is survived by his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Rudisill Freeman to whom he was married on Feb. 28, 1953; two brothers, Edward L. Freeman of the U. S. Air Force in England and Madison C. Freeman of Mocksville; four sisters, Mrs. Carlisle A. Rushing of Spencer, Mrs. O. W. Harris and Mrs. R. A. Keller, both of Mocksville, and Miss Marie Freeman of Wilmington, Del.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Rowan Mills Baptist Church with the Rev. W. P. Lippard officiating. Burial was in the Salisbury City cemetery.

OAK GROVE W.S.C.S. The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Carl Baker.

Tid-Bits

By GORDON TOMLINSON

Hilary Arnold doesn't readily admit to sleeping in church. However, he does admit that he must have been about half asleep one Sunday morning sometime ago when they passed the collection plate at the First Baptist Church in Mocksville.

According to Hilary he was just sitting there, all prim and sedate. Along came the collection plate and he reached in his pocket for his church envelope.

Dropping what he believed was his church envelope in the collection plate, he noticed the surprised and startled expression on the faces of those sitting beside him. Looking down again at the collection plate he saw why:

Instead of putting in his church envelope, Hilary had dropped a package of BC Headache Powders in the church collection plate!

While we're at the Baptist Church let's tell of another little incident.

It seems that one Sunday the choir decided to sing only two verses of a well known hymn. This was all well and good except for the fact that they forgot to tell Mr. Tom Hendricks.

Well the choir and Mr. Tom Hendricks were in exceedingly fine voice that Sunday. At the end of the second verse all the members of the choir quit singing with the exception of one. Mr. Tom started on the third verse, but according to those that were there he didn't even finish the first word. When he realized that he was singing alone, he abruptly stopped. The sound that was left hanging in midair was audible, but that was all.

Northwest Development Meeting Set

Full attendance by county representatives and special guests is assured for the annual meeting in Elkin Thursday of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association. Knox Johnstone of Mocksville, group president, said that "interest in our nine-county program this year has been greater than ever, and we can be sure this enthusiasm will carry over into the coming year for a greatly expanded program." The area association was organized several years ago to promote agriculture, industry, community development, and tourist travel in the Northwest section.

Mrs. Margaret LeGrand Is Commended For Christmas Seal Work

Mrs. Margaret LeGrand of Mocksville was commended today for her leadership in the current statewide Christmas Seal Sale by Mrs. W. T. Bost, State Chairman. Mrs. LeGrand is Christmas Seal Chairman for Davie County Tuberculosis Association and a member of a team of 110 persons in the state serving their communities in this capacity. As titular head of the 110 Christmas Seal Chairman, Mrs. Bost said she was proud to be on a team with so many public-spirited leaders. "With everyone working together, I know the citizens of North Carolina will respond to the Christmas Seal Sale generously so that our 102 TB organizations will have sufficient funds to carry out their programs for 1956."

A Tribute

It was my privilege the second Sunday in this month to join with a host of others in paying the last tribute of respect to the late Mrs. Bessie Brown, the Aunt of Harry Lee Bryant—one of Moore County's adopted sons, originally of Mocksville. I've had the pleasure of knowing "Aunt Bessie" as Harry's friends so affectionately called her, just as Harry did, for the last few years of her life. And, too, it was my pleasure to visit her home in Mocksville around three years ago. And as the late Judge Terrell's wife of Washington, D. C., one said in referring to the late Paul Lawrence Lunbar, the colored poet—she never knew that life held such breadth or depth until she met Dunbar. One had such a similar feeling after becoming closely acquainted with Aunt Bessie.

When fades, the lilacs blue And in the Fall, when brown leaves fall, I'll catch a glimpse of you.

Should you go first and I remain, One thing I'd have you do, Walk slowly down the road of death For soon I'll follow you, I'll want to know each step you take That I might walk the same For some day down that lonely road You'll hear me call your name. Signed: (Mrs) Geneva Bennett Carthage, N. C. ADVERTISEMENT

All the talk around Coolee High now centers around basketball. The Indians made their debut at Odell Thursday night, by bowing to the Odell team. However, on Friday night, when the Indians traveled to Woodleaf, they came back with two victories. King led the scoring for the Coolee girls with 13 points, and Nichols and Carter 12 each. Lineberger led the scoring for Woodleaf girls. Garwood was high scorer for the Coolee boys as they tramped over the Woodleaf five.

On next Friday, the Indians will be host to Woodleaf, and on Tuesday, they will travel to Mills Home. Come out to see these games and help the cheerleaders support your teams.

The Freshmen girls have been showing off their blouses that they made in Home Ec. The sophomores are now busy making suits which will be modeled in a fashion show.

Almost all the students are beginning to cram for the exams which will be given the 15th and 16th of December.

Two former Coolee High students, Jackie Carter, of the U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carter; and "Buck" Jones, of the U. S. Army who is married to the former Sadie Mae Allen, are spending a few days at home.

Everyone was excited about the "big blue envelopes" that were being given to all homeroom teachers. These envelopes contained the individual pictures which will be used in the annual. Among those exchanging pictures in the hall were Joyce Fields, C. H. Nolley, Shelby Foster, Joe McCullough, Hayden Myers, Jo Ann James, Bill Garwood, Betty McCullough, Ruby Bowles, Geraldine Wagner, Arnold Bowles, and Sid Hall.

The annual staff has completed all the plans for the annual. The annual will be a 76 page, with red cover. Typists are going to begin work soon.

The High school Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. June Hicks, will present a cantata, "The Music of Bethlehem" at the High School auditorium on Sunday morning, Dec. 11, at 11 o'clock. All the churches in and surrounding Coolee will not have the 11

THE NEW DAVIE COUNTY HEALTH CENTER

MORE ABOUT New Health Center

Edith T. Chappell, public health nurse; Carl E. Shell, sanitarian; and Miss Jessie L. Stroud, secretary.

The building is on land donated by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Foster. The brick structure contains a waiting room, a clerk's office, health officer's office, two treatment rooms, laboratory, nurses' office, sanitarian's office, X-ray room and storeroom.

The county's share of the $27,000 cost was $6,000, with the rest coming from federal and state funds.

The Davie County Health Department was first established in 1938 as part of a four-county district. In this district were Davie, Stokes and Yadkin Counties. Dr. Alfred Mordecai was the health officer. The headquarters of the district were located in Mocksville. From 1948-1949, Dr. Eugene Taylor served as health officer.

In 1945, it was reorganized as a three-county district of Davie, Stokes and Yadkin Counties. Dr. Alfred Mordecai was the health officer. The headquarters of the district were located in Mocksville. From 1948-1949, Dr. Eugene Taylor served as health officer.

In 1950, Stokes County withdrew and the Davie-Yadkin District was organized. Dr. Pezz became the health officer.

Mr. Shell has served as sanitarian since 1945. Miss Stroud has been secretary since 1943. Mrs. Stroud has served here as public health nurse since 1948. Mrs. Chappell began her duties here as health nurse in 1949.

From the time the health department was first organized in 1938, it occupied quarters in the Johnstone building on South Main Street until moving to the new building last August.

The FHA Club met in the home economics lab during activity period Tuesday. It was decided to have the Christmas party Friday afternoon, Dec. 9. The treasurer's report showed the club to have $81.29, after which Gaye Rice gave the devotional. The feature of the meeting was a skit by Nancy Brown and Johnnie Sue Teague entitled "Homemaker No Housewife."

A Chapel program was presented Friday by the Juniors of Mrs. Calhoun's home room. It consisted of a short comedy skit and a talent show. Several people were heard to say that it was one of the best programs given this year.

The Wildcats will journey to Jonesville Friday night to play a twin bill, and are scheduled to meet Yadkinville High Tuesday night at Yadkinville.

A large calendar has been drawn on the blackboard in Mr. Peeler's home room on which the days are being crossed out. Also, the 16th (the day Christmas vacation starts) has a heavy circle around it. Are you looking forward to going hunting over the holidays, Coach?

Coca-Cola Fame Is World Wide

When housewives go shopping this week, they will find a familiar shape in new and larger sizes on the beverage shelves.

The Winston Coca-Cola Bottling Company is celebrating its fifth year by taking a revolutionary step in packaging. The bottling plant in Winston-Salem is the first in the Southeast to introduce the King and Family-Size containers simultaneously. The King-Size and Family-Size Coca-Cola bottles, now going on sale, are "big brothers" to the present 6 1/2 oz. bottle, which is known from Boston to Bangkok and back again.

Its fame is such that, during World War II, a German prisoner stepping off the gangplank at an American port spotted a familiar red sign and, turning to an MP, said: "I see you have Coca-Cola here, too."

The soft drink is sold in over 70 countries, according to Charles D. Buchanan, Manager of Winston Coca-Cola Bottling Company. "Just about everywhere," he added, "except behind the Iron Curtain."

But in at least one instance the Curtain was pierced, Mr. Buchanan pointed out. That was when General Eisenhower sent Marshal Zhukov a case of Coca-Cola after the Soviet military leader enjoyed a bottle during the Postdam Conference.

Mr. Buchanan said definitely the "big brothers" would not replace the standard size bottle, designed in 1915 at the recommendation of a bottling official who urged: "We need a Coca-Cola bottle which a person will recognize even if he feels it in the dark. It should be so shaped that, even if broken, a person could tell at a glance what it was."

Although about 80 per cent of all the Coca-Cola sold is in bottles, the man who invented the drink never intended it to be more than a soda fountain beverage. In 1886 John S. Pemberton, a druggist, prepared a soft drink syrup in his back yard in Atlanta, using a three-legged iron pot heated by a wood fire.

He took a jug of the syrup to Jacobs' Pharmacy at the historic Five Points, where soda water was added and the new drink was put on sale.

The first year only 25 gallons were sold, bring in $50. Of this, Pemberton spent $47 on advertising. Most of it consisted of oil-cloth signs pinned to drugstore awnings.

When Pemberton died two years later, rights to Coca-Cola were bought by a 37 year old wholesale drug salesman, Asa Candler. "Back in Candler's day the Coca-Cola Company changed offices several times," Mr. Buchanan said. "One time when it moved, a one-horse wagon carried all the firm's equipment and furniture."

Candler was a keen merchandiser. He originated the Coca-Cola poster and calendar, using Lillian Russell's picture on one of them. He was the first to use the slogan, "Delicious and Refreshing," which appeared in 1889. And to get the public acquainted with the new drink, he gave away millions of tickets for free Cokes.

"They tell me in Atlanta," Mr. Buchanan said, "that even today someone comes across one of these tickets in an attic. If they send it in, they get a free case of Coca-Cola."

It was 13 years after Pemberton invented Coca-Cola before the drink was bottled. A young Chattanooga lawyer, Ben Thomas, who had come across a locally bottled soft drink in Cuba during the Spanish-American War, hit upon the idea. He and another lawyer, Joseph Whitehead, went to Atlanta and asked Candler if they could bottle Coca-Cola.

Candler, busy with his soda fountain sales, gave them the bottling rights to practically the entire country. This was one of the most amazing contracts in history—Thomas and Whitehead didn't pay a cent. And the man who had given them a letter of introduction to Candler didn't think enough of the product to ask for even a single share for himself.

Mr. Buchanan pointed out the early bottling equipment was far different from today's. "Bottles were washed by dropping buckets in them and whirling it in water. They also used those old-fashioned sewing machines equipped with a brush to scour the bottles."

Coca-Cola was the first soft drink company to use coolers. "The early ones were actually wooden tubs, saved in half," said Mr. Buchanan. "The first electric

Davie Man Loses $150 In Old Con Game Trick

Con men took a Davie County resident for $150 last week in Salisbury.

Hasten Chumm, elderly resident of Route 4, Mocksville, said he was taken for $150 last week in one of the more ancient forms of the old film-flam game.

Strangers struck a conversation with Chumm uptown and all three just happened to "spot" a pocketbook bulging with money, $1,500 in fact, on the sidewalk. The strangers, to test Chumm's good faith, induced him to put up $150 as security while they checked on how to divide the newly found cash.

That's the last Chumm ever saw of the men, the find and his $150. Police say this is the season for such.

cooler came out in 1933."

Mr. Buchanan thinks the secret of Coca-Cola's success is best summed up in the way the trademark is phonetically translated from Chinese. In China, where Coca-Cola is a popular drink, it means: "Make man mouth happy."

Letters To Santa

We will accept and print letters to Santa Claus from children of this county. Such letters should be less than 100 words in length and should include the parent's name and address as well as that of the child.

Dear Santa:
I am a little girl five years old. I am helping my mother and Lulu. I want some jewelry, two books, and a sewing set. My sister Betty is three. She wants an iron, an ironing board and some jewelry. Anne is two and wants a little wind up train, and jewelry.

Hope to see you. I have a kiss for you.
Christmas night my mother will have some cake for you.
We are very happy.
Love,
JUDY FEREBEE

Mocksville, N. C.

Dear Santa:
My name is Linda Jo McClamrock. I am six years old. I live on Salisbury Street, Mocksville, N. C. I have tried to be a good girl. This is what I would like for Christmas: a nurse set, a pair of brown loafers, and a small suitcase for my doll clothes.

My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McClamrock. Be sure and bring them something nice.
Love, Merry Christmas
LINDA JO McCLAMROCK

Rt. 1, Advance, N. C.

Dear Santa:
I am seven years old in the first grade at Farmington school. I want a walking bride doll and a new dress, some nuts, candy and fruits.

I am the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Douthitt, Advance, Rt. 1.

JANICE DOUTHITT,

Mocksville, N. C.

Dear Santa:
My name is Janet Carol Carter. I am eight years old. I live on Salisbury Street, Mocksville, N. C. I have tried to be a good girl. This is what I would like for Christmas: I want a doll, a pair of slates, some bobby socks, fruits, candy, nuts, for all.

My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McClamrock. Please don't forget them.

Love, Merry Christmas,
JANET CAROL CARTER

Rt. 1, Mocksville, N. C.

Dec. 4, 1955

Dear Santa:
My name is Jerry Stroud. I am seven years old. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wade B. Stroud of Route 1, Mocksville.

I would like to have a little bicycle. If you can't get me a little bicycle get me an airplane with gears.

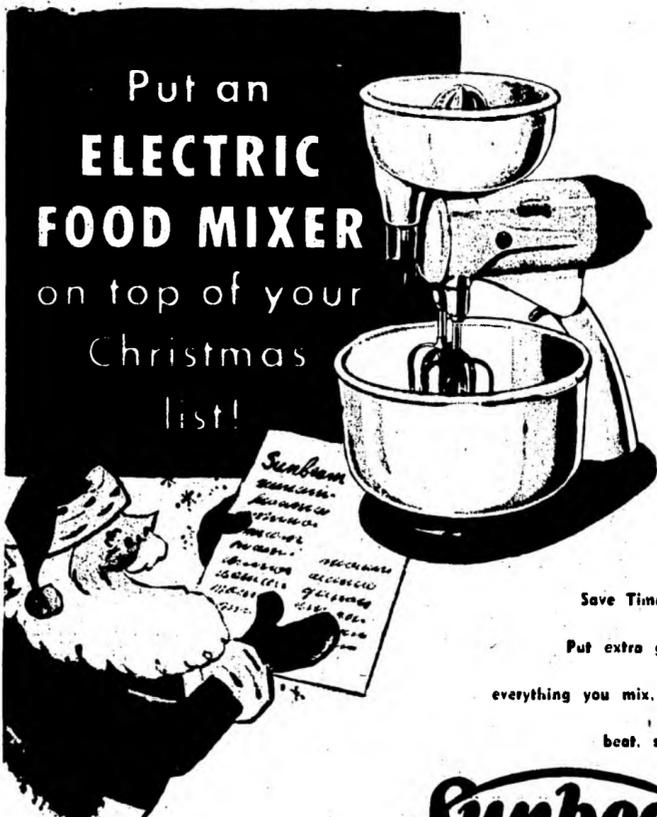

Thanks a lot,
JERRY

P.S.: Please, and a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

LOCAL PTA MEETING

A Christmas program will be presented Monday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Mocksville High School auditorium. The annual program will be presented by the High School Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Gene Smith. Mrs. Armand Smith, chairman of room representatives, requests that grade mothers come prepared to pick up treats for their rooms.

The number of cows to be milked in 1956 in this country is estimated at 22,200,000, an increase of slightly less than one per cent over 1955.

Scott's Farm Support Plan

Senator W. Kerr Scott has proposed a system of "adjusted price supports" on farm products patterned along the same lines as Federal income taxes.

Under this plan Senator Scott proposes that the larger the farmer, the less support he gets from the government. The price support schedule would start at 100 per cent of parity for small farmers, and supports would decrease as the size of the farm operation increased. This program carries recommendations for specific schedules on wheat and cotton.

In the case of wheat, Senator Scott said:

"A farmer marketing up to 1,000 bushels of wheat would receive price supports at 100 per cent of parity. On the next 500 bushels, 95 per cent of parity. On the next 500 bushels, 90 per cent of parity. On the next 500 bushels, 85 per cent of parity, and so forth. With each additional 500 bushels, price supports would be lowered by five percentage points. This downward adjustment would continue to 60 per cent of parity, which would mean that a farmer would receive only 60 per cent of parity on all wheat produced over 4,500 bushels."

A similar schedule is proposed for cotton, with each farmer receiving 100 per cent of parity on the first 15 bales, 95 per cent on the next 15 bales, 90 per cent on the next 20 bales, 85 per cent on the next 50 bales, and 80 per cent on the next 100 bales, etc. All over 500 bales would be supported at 60 per cent of parity.

Senator Scott proposes that this adjusted price support system could be put into effect under the present acreage control and marketing quota laws.

Only tobacco, because it competes with no other farm commodity and has little price-consumption relationship, would be omitted from an adjusted price support system.

The plan being proposed by Senator Scott follows exactly the same principle upon which our income tax laws are based. As a person's income increases, his taxes increase in direct proportion. Under the price support system the North Carolina Senator is advocating, as a farmer's total production increases, the amount of help he gets from the Government decreases. This system of adjusted supports is designed to force large farmers to produce less or compete in the marketplace for prices received.

According to Senator Scott, it is the large corporation farms that are bulging the surplus warehouses and making it increasingly difficult for the family size farm to operate with a profit. He points out that in the case of wheat, 10.8 per cent of the wheat farmers account for 41.7 per cent of the total wheat production. At the same time, he said, 7.4 per cent of the cotton farmers produce 45 per cent of the total cotton output.

The farm support system under which the country is operating at the present time is based on the theory that what is good for the 5,000 acre farmer is good for the 500 acre farmer, the 100 acre farmer, and the 50 acre farmer.

The system of adjusted price supports as proposed by Senator Scott might stop the trend of large farms gobbling up the small farms. Between 1935 and 1950, farms of 260 acres and less have decreased 130 per cent while farms of over 1,000 acres have increased by 37 per cent.

At any rate, the plan of Senator Scott is certainly worthy of careful consideration.

Generous Gifts

Santa Claus came to Davie County a little earlier this year. When he had opened his bag the people of Davie County found they were recipients of most generous gifts.

The management of Heritage Furniture gave a most generous monetary donation to the new county hospital. This donation goes a long way towards helping the county qualify for the $10,000 set aside by the Duke Endowment fund. Together with the Duke fund, and plus the generous donations of other citizens and firms, the Davie County hospital will be able to add much more needed equipment to make it more complete.

And then there was the generous gift of the Hanes heirs to the Davie County Board of Education. This gift was in the form of 4.3 acres of land near the Davie County Training School. This land was given with no strings attached for the board of education to use as they may see fit.

This gift of land will enable the Davie County Training School to have a lot on which to park the school buses. At the present time the buses are being parked along side of the highway. The additional land will also make possible an enlarged and improved playground area.

Of course those officials directly concerned have expressed the sincere appreciation of the people of Davie County to the gracious givers. However, these gifts deserve more such expression on the part of every citizen of the county.

Disease Protection Plan

A new endorsement to Blue Cross contracts, which will pay us to $7,500 for the catastrophic costs of leukemia, encephalitis, polio and seven other dread diseases, is now being offered by the Hospital Care Association of Durham.

The new coverage will be sold as an optional rider at extra cost on both new and existing Blue Cross certificates. It will be available to subscribers only. Present subscribers having Hospital Care's polio rider will receive the increased benefits without any increases in dues.

Benefits of this endorsement, which may be extended over a three year period, will meet all reasonable and necessary charges for hospital and doctor bills, general and private duty nursing, braces, appliances, wheel chair, transportation to and from points of treatment, etc., for up to a maximum payment of $7,500 for each person covered, for any one or combination of the ten diseases.

In addition to the diseases mentioned above, the plan will cover spinal meningitis, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox, tularemia, rabies (including prophylaxis) and tetanus.

Blue Cross hospital insurance is operated by non-profit organizations. They are designed to meet the family needs for hospital and medical care. The broader coverage under this new rider will not affect many because the incidence of these dread diseases is, of course, low. However, for those who are affected, the expense of extended treatment is great and this coverage may prove to be a godsend.

JUST AS WELL

The pert lady lion tamer was cheered by the crowd as she called a lion over to take a lump of sugar right from her mouth. But one remained dubious.

Bystander—Huh, that's nothing.
Enthusias (angry)—Would you dare to do that?
Bystander—Sure, I could do it as well as the lion can.

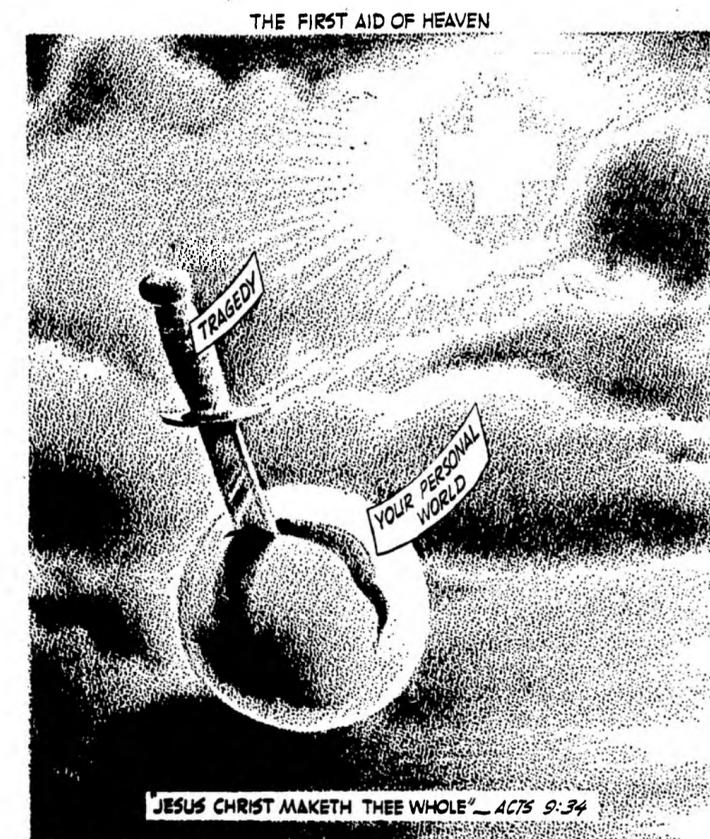

WATER STILL WASHES

The extension of a power line at last bringing the blessing of electricity to her remote mountain village, a woman went into the city to purchase an electric washing machine.

She exclaimed the new-fangled contraption wide-eyed but somewhat distrustful interest, and then inquired of the salesman, "What's that there hole in the bottom for?"

"That," explained the salesman, "is for draining out the water."

"I thought it was a fake," the woman exclaimed disgustedly. "It don't wash by electricity after all, you gotta use water."

There is a play here on Broadway in which God plays the leading role. The trouble is, that he sort of gets the worst of it, and in reality, that does make sense. The play is entitled, "Inherit the Wind" a phrase taken from the Bible, and judging from what I saw of the show, its writers must have inherited a lot of said air.

The play is about the famous evolution trial in Dayton, Tennessee, 30 years ago, although no mention of that event is made at any time during the tense two hours. For those of you who do not recall it, this was the trial of a school teacher named Scopes for teaching what was termed "evolution" in the Tennessee schools, in violation of a state law. Actually the trial turned out to be a contest between science and religion, with extremists on both sides making it into a melodrama which attracted world-wide attention. William Jennings Bryan prosecuted Scopes, and Clarence Darrow, the famous criminal lawyer, defended him.

In the play here, Melvyn Douglas plays the part of Darrow and Ed Begley that of Bryan. Both men, made up, look enough like the originals to be their twin brothers. Paul Muni started out playing the Darrow role until he had trouble with an eye—which he finally lost—and had to drop out. It would be too much to say that his misfortune was due to his anti-religious role; but there are folks who would be quick to agree with such a thought. Although there is hardly a mention of sex, no dirty language and virtually no romance in the play, it is performing regularly to full houses. What draws folks to see such a show? Maybe it is a new realization of the power of God in our lives.

The story is simple. After Scopes is arrested, he becomes the cause celebre, the people of Dayton mostly turn against him, while outside smart-neck liberals like H. L. Menken and Dudley Field Malone flock to his aid. Then the trial becomes a contest between Bryan and Darrow. Having lived in East Tennessee at that time and being pretty familiar with the facts in the case, I feel able to express an opinion about it, as I once did in a book. The actual trial did turn out to be a hysterical spectacle, but in the play, the Dayton people are made to look ridiculous, on the whole, while Darrow and his cohorts appear to represent the thinking part of our society.

Bryan is portrayed as somewhat bombastic, as he really was, but he was a good, fundamentally religious man and did not deserve the rough treatment he received. Darrow, with his coat off and his big suspenders snapping, slumps across the stage like a mangy panther ready to pounce upon Christians who get in his path. The Tennessee citizens are portrayed as hillbillies who couldn't speak or spell correctly—which is extremely untrue. They were old-fashioned but sincere in their fundamental religion, and although the trial was carried to the extreme, the local folks resented being abused as ignorant yokels by Darrow and Mencken. The people won the case but lost their temper.

Darrow is well portrayed as a crafty and sharp old trial lawyer who although he persecutes Bryan and his literal belief in the Bible, softens at the end and even appears to have gotten a little bit of religious himself. Bryan holds up well at times, at others, the play makes him out an old fogy. Especially is this true at the end, where, dying from his valiant efforts in the trial, he is carried off the stage and is shown muttering unconsciously some old Presidential oratory—a shameful misrepresentation. In the play, religion suffers some. But as for my reaction—and I understand those of Dayton people who have also seen the play—religion thus wins new respect. For real science allows also a place for religion.

What Every Veteran Should Know

W. J. Wilson, County Veterans Service officer for Davie County, stated that his office is prepared to assist veterans and their dependents in completing the Statement of Dependency (VA Form 8-509) now being mailed by the VA to veterans who are in training under the GI Bill and who claimed their parents as dependent. Mr. Wilson said the forms were technical and that great care should be exercised in completing and promptly returning the forms. Mr. Wilson suggested that the veteran bring the form and his parents to his office located at Lynn Haven Nursing Home. Office hours: 8 a.m.-4 p.m., Saturday, 8 a.m.-12 noon.

WASHINGTON — As this column is being written, the White House Conference on Education is sitting in Washington. This Conference, which is composed of educators and other public-spirited citizens from all sections of the country, was called to consider ways and means to solve unmet educational needs of the public school systems of the Nation.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the Nation is suffering at this time from serious unmet educational needs which arise out of the circumstances that the public school systems of the several states need 180,000 more teachers and 250,000 more classrooms than are presently available. As a result of these tragic shortages in teachers and classrooms, millions of the youth of America are being deprived of their fundamental right to an adequate education at the grade school level.

The tragic state of the public school system in the majority of the states cannot be alleviated by any temporary measures. Since the number of children arriving at school age is constantly increasing, it is apparent that some action of a drastic nature must be taken if we are to have sufficient teachers and classrooms in our public school systems.

The White House Conference on Education is likely to recommend that the Federal Government assist the states in meeting these unmet educational needs. It is altogether likely that the views of the Conference will coincide with those expressed by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, the Majority Leader, who prophesied sometime ago that Congress will authorize "a school construction program to meet the needs of their children."

In my judgment, Senator Johnson acted wisely in suggesting that the Federal Government can best aid the states in this field by assisting them in the construction of classrooms.

As a matter of fact, the Federal Government has adopted fiscal policies which handicap the states in their efforts to establish and maintain sufficient public school systems. It does this by raking into the Federal treasury an undue amount of income and excise taxes, which are the most easily collected taxes. As the result of this fiscal policy, the state and local communities are compelled to rely in large part on property taxes for the support of the public school systems.

If Congress is to pass a bill granting Federal aid to the public school systems of the several states, it must insert in the bill provisions depriving the Federal Government of all control over the several states and restricting the Federal aid granted to public school systems only. Moreover, Congress must refrain from any attempt to use the Federal aid granted as a vehicle for the enforcement of the decisions of the United States Supreme Court in the racial segregation case.

NOW WAKE FOREST... It's a dull season indeed when one of our Big Four schools — Carolina, State, Duke, and Wake Forest—is not involved in some kinds of sports hassle.

Now it's Wake Forest's time. The checking I was able to do among my Wake Forest friends around Raleigh this past week end showed that the alumni — many of them avid Deacon supporters and two or three of them leaders in the Deacon Club — were very much surprised and shocked to read in Sunday morning's newspapers about the resignations of Athletic Director Pat Preston and Head Football Coach Tom Rogers.

CLOSER HOME... The statement of Preston that he is stepping out "in the best interests of my family and me" caused some raised eyebrows, because a lot of people thought Preston would be much happier in Winston-Salem than at Wake Forest.

He would be much closer home when the college moves to the Twin City next year. He grew up in Thomasville, only a whoop-and-a-holler from Winston-Salem, and his wife is Avalon Hall's daughter.

Avalon is a native of Yadkin County, grew up there in Yadkinville, and for many years was that State's only Republican Superior Court solicitor. He was beaten out five years ago by Allie Hayes, a Wilkes County Republican and a kinsman of Johnson J. Hayes, judge of the Middle District Federal Court and the only Republican Federal Judge left in North Carolina. Incidentally, both Allie and Johnson J. are leading Wake Forest alumni.

WHAT NEXT?... There is a lot of going on behind the scenes — has been for some time — in the Wake Forest athletic situation.

When the Board of Trustees meets in Winston-Salem on Dec. 22, the resignations will be formally presented to the group.

Keep an eye on developments before that time — and for several months after that date — for a cue as to where Wake Forest is going in athletics for the next decade.

Meantime, there will be attempts to persuade both Athletic Director Pat Preston and Coach Rogers to change their minds. But to coach a football team, you have to have something to coach; and to direct athletics, you must have athletes in the school.

BUSINESS... Here is about the way business in North Carolina shapes up this fall as compared with last year this time:

Income tax collections are up about 20 per cent; sales tax collections are up nearly 30 per cent; railway express shipments are up a little over 25 per cent; bank deposits are up over 15 per cent; ABC store sales are up nearly 10 per cent; receipts from farm marketing, up a shade over 10 per cent; life insurance sales, up about 20 per cent; passenger car sales, about 10 per cent.

Now for the year — or for ten months of the year, January through October, everything is up over the ten months of 1954 except:

Receipts from farm marketing. They are down about three per cent under the ten months' figure for last year. That's something the Republicans will have to worry about throughout the country next year.

The healthiest sign in the North Carolina economy — or among the healthiest signs and indication of confidence in the future — is that building permits for this year are running better than 20 per cent over the ten months figure for 1954. Another good point is that we have had 20 per cent more new corporations chartered this year than last.

NEW CARS... Three or four times each year we devote a portion of this column to the sales of new cars in North Carolina. This is not only a good business barometer — but the figures show how various makes of cars are selling compared with a year previous.

Now, according to registrations compiled with the N. C. Dept. of Motor Vehicles, here is the way things were going on the automobile front in October, latest month for which figures are available:

The Chrysler and Imperial are listed together, as follows: 2,325 for the year, through October, and 222 for this October, 103 for last October. DeSoto, 1,739 for the year and 121 for this past October as compared with 93 for last October.

Dodge shows a tremendous gain. For the year they have sold 3,620. The October sales totaled 433. In October of 1954, they were only 190.

Ford for the year is 27,565 — as compared with Chevy's 26,871 — but in October Ford for the first time in months fell behind Chevrolet, 3,400 to 2,649. In October, 1954, Ford sold 2,640.

Hudson sales reached 502 for the year — 48 for this October and 30 for last. Lincoln's sales were 411 — for this October, 47. Last October, 30. Mercury — the Big M being pushed so hard by Ed Sullivan — has sold 4,936 for the year and 519 in October — a big increase over the 262 for last October.

American Motors, which puts out Nash, Hudson, and the Rambler, say they have it in the new Rambler, which is hitting the showrooms throughout the country this week. Like the other independents, they are having their worries, but are more optimistic than in months. This year, Nash sales in North Carolina are running about like last year: 984 for the ten months — 107 for October and 70 for October 1954.

Packard sales: 576 for the year — 65 for October and 36 for October last year. Since Studebaker and Packard are now in the same firm, we will list Studebaker here, too. Both cars have sharp new models, but they came out too late for sales to be included in October. Studebaker has sold 1,306 this year — 131 against 110.

BIG GAINS... The big gain this year is being chalked up by Plymouth. Although still in fourth place in North Carolina sales — behind Ford, Chevrolet and Buick, it is moving fast. Sales through October came to 9,138. In October, this year sales totaled 928 — and only 253 for October of 1954. Oldsmobile, always good in sales in N. C., has sold 8,317 for the year and October sales of 880 were well above 457 for last year. Another surprise in increases is being registered by Pontiac. Sales for the year: 8,726 — 928 this October and 373 last. Willys, 188 for the year — eight this October, 23 last.

TEXT: "Strive, not to live long, but to live rightly." — S. neca.

A budding young author, rather sure of himself, approached a busy editor.

"How many words," he asked, "are there in a novel?"

"Why," snapped the editor, "about 60,000 words."

"Oh, good!" exclaimed the author brightly. "Then my book is finished!"

Perhaps only an editor or a professional writer will appreciate that story, yet it illustrates a truth that fits all of living. The amateur author felt that his story ended at a fixed number of words. We measure a journey by miles, a night or day by hours, and lives by the passing years.

Experience shows us that there are other dimensions than length. Short days of new Peter Marshall sermons and hours spent in the company of a noble character, these things were going on the automobile front in October, latest month for which figures are available:

Fork

Fork Baptist Church is having a busy week. On Thursday night at 7:30 the Rev. Wendell Davis of Statesville will show slides of his trip to the Holy Land and the Moslem world, which he made last summer.

Monday night the Training Union director, P. M. Johnson, took a group to the First Baptist Church in Statesville to attend the Mobilization Night of the Union.

Wednesday night the General Union of the W.M.U. met at the church for their regular monthly meeting.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church met Saturday night in the Parish House. They had as their guest speaker Miss Jocelyn Gordon of Spray. Miss Gordon told of her work as a missionary in India for the past five years. She also displayed a very interesting collection of clothing, jewelry, etc., that the natives in India wear. After hearing of their customs and how they live, it makes us appreciate our own country more.

Donald Smith, a student at State College, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith.

Mrs. Richard Barnes fell last Tuesday with a glass of water in her hand. She received such a severe cut from the broken glass that she had to be treated at Rowan Hospital for several days. She was given blood transfusions and was able to be carried to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Pete Walser, on Friday. Monday she returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Garwood of Troutman were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gobble had Sunday lunch with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Foster of the Dulin community.

Macedonia

The Macedonia Moravian Church has engaged Mr. Robert A. Mills to start a church band. Mr. Mills is from Winston-Salem where he teaches band at a public school. Several years ago he taught at Mocksville. The band, composed of coronets, trumpets, trombones, altos, and a bass will begin instruction on Monday night at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 12. This step will enable the church to have its own band music at Easter and other special occasions.

On Dec. 11, the youth fellowship will have a color filmstrip with a record entitled "Making Christmas Christian." The time of the service is 8:30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Frye are the directors of the youth group. They are planning a Christmas party at their home on Dec. 20 for the youth fellowship.

Charlie Ward, who has been on the sick list for some time now, is still about the same.

The Lovefeast and candle service of the Macedonia Moravian Church is planned for Sunday evening, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m. The Christmas play will be held on Saturday night, Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

By J. B. WHITAKER
 Today we see many attitudes expressed in reference to the church that Jesus bought. Many say that one church is "as good as another." Some say people are "saved outside as well as in." Many would say that there are "good people in all churches," and others would say that the "church doesn't save." What, however, is the relation of the church to the salvation of mankind? In Acts 2:36-41, 47, we read that "Lord adds to the church." The saved are added to the church. If we are not saved we are not added. If then we are not added we are unsaved. The church that the Bible talks about is represented by many terms. In I Cor. 12:13, Apostle Paul says that God "hath Col. 1:18, and Eph. 1:22-23, we are told that the church is the body of Christ. Can a person be saved outside the body of Christ? Were people who were on the outside of the ark saved? Christ is the head of the church. Those who are not in His body have no connection whatever with the head. The church is referred to as the "House of God," in I Tim. 3:15. All of God's children are in His family. All through the Bible we have commandments against adultery and fornication. We know that these practices are wrong. What are we doing, however, when we say that God has children who are not in His family? We are simply saying that God is a fornicator or an adulterer. Are we not saying that God has children who are illegitimate? In Col. 1:13-14 the Apostle Paul says that God "hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son." Friends is it possible to be saved in the "kingdom of darkness?" The answer, of course, to any thinking person would be NO. There are only two kingdoms and people are lost in one and saved in another. Jesus referred to the saved as being "of the fold." (John 10:9). Where is salvation? It is within the fold. Christ is the chief Shepherd. If it is possible to be saved outside of the church—it would be possible to be saved outside of the fold. In Eph. 5:23-31 and in Romans 7:4 we are told that the church is the "bride of Christ." Do you think, then, in the light of these scriptures that we can be saved without being members of the Lord's church, wearing his name as a wife wears the name of her husband, and obeying him in everything he tells us to do? In Matt. 7:13-14 Jesus tells us that there are two ways. The saved are in the narrow way. The question is "is the church in the narrow or broad way?" Everyone would answer that the narrow way represents the church. No one would deny this truth. If the saved are in the narrow way and if the church represents the narrow way—where are the saved? The logical conclusion is that the saved are in the church. Friends, we ask you to accept nothing but the teachings of God's word. Study these references and learn the truth for yourself. The truth will free us from error and take from us many of the burdens and false doctrines which men try to bind upon us. (Adv.)

Cornatzer

MRS. WORTH POTTS

There will be a chicken picnic supper on Saturday night, Dec. 17 at the Dulins Hut. Serving will begin at 4 o'clock. Proceeds from the supper will go to the Dulins-Cornatzer Fire Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilkins and child n of Smith Grove visited Mr. and Mrs. Worth Potts Sunday afternoon.

MRS. L. S. SHELTON

Rev. W. T. Bassitt will hold his regular morning worship service Sunday at Cross Roads Baptist Church at 11 o'clock.

The children, grandchildren, friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Edna Shelton Sunday to celebrate her 85th birthday anniversary.

A bountiful dinner was spread and Rev. John W. Hoyle, III, returned thanks. About 50 guests enjoyed the day with Mrs. Shelton and wishing her many more happy birthdays. Mrs. Shelton received many nice and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Laymon recently visited his sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Athen, on Polo Road, Winston-Salem.

Virgil Boger of Mocksville, Rt. 2, underwent surgery at Rowan Memorial Hospital, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Shelton and Mrs. Joe Shelton visited Mr. and Mrs. Onnie Wall in Winston-Salem Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Dull and children attended the 78th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Dull's father, Will Edwards, Sunday.

Fuel-thrifty FORDSON MAJOR DIESEL and rugged Dearborn FMD Moldboard Plow

Put this team on a tough plowing job and you'll turn even-depth, clean-cut furrows—3 at a time! You'll get your plowing done at less cost, too.

The light draft Dearborn Moldboard Plow does a better job—faster. It's a "lift type" plow that attaches quickly, raises and lowers hydraulically. Both width and depth of cut are easily adjusted. And it's a sturdy plow with heavy-duty beams and a rugged "A" frame.

Yes, the Dearborn FMD Moldboard Plow gives you top performance at a saving. And so does the fuel-thrifty Fordson Major Diesel that pulls it. To find out more, drop in and see us.

Easily raised and lowered hydraulically for transport. Plowing depth accurately controlled by depth gauge wheel.

GUYES SALISBURY

Now at Guyes, her favorite
 Quilt duster by "Feiner Fashions"

How very feminine! How wondrously soft! No wonder these are two of the country's most popular robes. Washable! Lovely! Rayon reverie crepe.

LEFT: Buttoned duster trimmed with delicate satin, appliques white with aqua or red, aqua with pink, coral with navy. 14.95

This Chevrolet keeps a secret... beautifully!

The "One-Fifty" 2-door sedan—one of 4 models in Chevrolet's smart and sprightly "One-Fifty" series.

It's one of Chevrolet's New "ONE-FIFTY" series... the lowest priced of all the high-priced-looking Chevrolet series for '56. But you'd never know it to look at that speedline chrome treatment or to feel that new power ranging up to 205 H.P.

There's so much fresh new styling in the "One-Fifty" it's hard to believe the car costs so little. It has new chrome—including both windshield and back window reveals—and its own distinctive two-toning. It stretches long and clean from grille to taillights (the left one hides the gas cap). It offers new power, V8 or 6, steering and handling ease few cars can match, plus all of Chevrolet's great performance and safety features. Directional signals and safety door locks are standard equipment. Seat belts, with or without shoulder harnesses, and instrument panel padding are available at extra cost. Truly, the "One-Fifty" represents more quality than before. Come in soon and let us tell you its big secret—its low price tag!

THE DRIVER'S CLINIC

A question and answer column on the driver safety, driving and automobiles conducted for this newspaper by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Question: Does skidding increase your braking distance?

Answer: Yes, the shortest stopping distance is achieved by decreasing the turn of the spinning wheels rapidly, while never permitting them to actually stop turning until the car has slowed to only a few miles per hour.

Question: Why is the amber light placed in a traffic signal?

Answer: To warn a driver approaching on the green in time to allow him to stop or clear the intersection before the red light comes on.

Question: How can you identify a stop sign if it is obscured by mud or snow?

Answer: By its octagonal shape. Question: Why should pedestrians walk on the left side of the road?

Answer: By facing oncoming vehicles they can judge their size, speed and load and be in position to quickly move away if danger threatens.

Question: How can you detect carbon monoxide gas inside your car?

Answer: You can't because you can neither see, smell, taste, hear nor feel carbon monoxide gas. Abnormal drowsiness while driving is a good indication that carbon monoxide concentration is dangerous.

Question: Why is it impossible to change the direction of your car quickly at high speed?

Answer: Centrifugal force tries to push the car back into a straight path when the car is turned from a straight line. This force increases by the square of the speed and is nine times as great at 60 mph as it is at 20 mph. A 3,000 pound car moving around a curve with a radius of 300 feet at 20 mph has a centrifugal force of 230 foot pounds trying to push it off the curve.

Question: How many seconds will it take to safely decelerate from 60 miles an hour?

Answer: At 60 mph you are traveling 88 feet per second. If you decelerate at the rate of 14 feet per second, it will take about six seconds to stop. While this rate is comfortable for adults, it can throw a small child out of the seat.

Hospital Laboratory and X-ray Technician Named

Joe L. Snow Named To Post In Local Hospital

Joe L. Snow of Harmony, Rt. 1, has been named as laboratory and x-ray technician for the Davie County Hospital. Mr. Snow will serve in this dual capacity when the new hospital opens early next year.

In announcing the appointment of Mr. Snow, Frank Ceruzzi, hospital administrator, pointed out that in small hospitals the laboratory and x-ray rooms adjoin one another. This combination of departments enables one technician, who is qualified, to do both x-ray and laboratory procedures. Generally speaking in a small hospital there isn't enough work to keep one technician in each department busy, therefore a person that can do both is recommended.

In the laboratory, the technician is required to perform microscopic and bacteriological tests to obtain data for use in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases. The technician is also required to keep records of the results of the tests performed; order supplies and maintain equipment. He is constantly on call 24 hours a day for all emergency work.

In the x-ray room pictures are made of various portions of the body to assist medical officials in the detection of foreign bodies and the diagnosis of disease and injuries. The technician is required to position patient under the x-ray machine, regulate the controls and make the picture. He also develops and dries the film and maintains a record of x-rays taken.

Joe Snow has over ten years of experience and training as a laboratory and x-ray technician, and according to Mr. Ceruzzi, comes highly recommended.

"An x-ray salesman said that he does not know of a better technician in this area than Joe Snow," said Mr. Ceruzzi. "Also, he is capable of making minor repairs on the x-ray equipment which means a possible saving of many dollars in repair work."

Mr. Snow was born in Fredell County in 1919, the son of the late J. B. and Barbara Lou Parker Snow. After graduating from high school he attended the x-ray school at the National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Maryland. He served in the U. S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., for ten months and the U. S. Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, Ill., in the x-ray departments. He served aboard the USS Monterey for three years as an x-ray technician. For the past seven years he has served as laboratory and x-ray technician at the Anne Penn Memorial Hospital in Reidsville.

He is married to the former Mary Pearl McTaggart of Leasville. They have two children. Mrs. Snow is a registered nurse and will serve as supervisor of the operating room and the central sterile supply room of the Davie County Hospital.

Benny Smith Repeats On All-Eastern High School Football Team

Benny Smith of Elizabethtown has been named for the second straight year on the All-Eastern high school football team. Benny is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Call of Mocksville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Smith of Elizabethtown. Mrs. Smith is the former Elaine Call.

In 1954, Benny, a tackle was the only Junior lieutenant named to the mythical Class A high school team. Selected by 27 high school coaches, a story in the Raleigh News and Observer said in part: "Tackle Benny Smith of Elizabethtown, a repeater from last year's team, heads an impressive array of backs and side linemen on the 1955 All Eastern Class A Football Team. Smith, an aggressive 205 pounder, was the only Junior on the 1954 team."

"Two of the linemen, in particular, attracted plenty of college scouts. They are tackles, Smith and Hedgpeth (of Fairmont)."

"Smith loves contact and is very fast. He has established a reputation among Cape Fear Conference players as a fierce tackler."

Leaf Market To Close On Friday

The Old Belt Tobacco Market will close out the 1955 season on Friday.

For the rest of this week sales will start at 9:30 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. as in the past.

This year there will be no clean up day. Formerly there have been occasions when a day was earmarked following the official close of the market to finish out the sales.

The Winston-Salem Tobacco Market has already established a record for the most money ever paid out to growers. Arthur "Tab" Williams, sales supervisor for the Winston-Salem market, predicted that this last week of sales would push the season totals to 60 million pounds and $37 million. This figure he said was about 5 1/2 million more pounds than last year, and 2 1/2 more million dollars.

FARMER'S TAX GUIDES
New 1955 Farmer's Tax Guides are now available at the County Agent's office. Every farmer in the county should have one to assist him with his income, self-employment and Social Security taxes. There is no charge for them so pick one up at your convenience.

Dr. R. D. Kornegay Named Surgeon Of Davie Hospital

Dr. Raymond Dewitt Kornegay, 34, of Seven Springs, N. C., has been named as surgeon of the Davie County Hospital. He will move to Mocksville early in 1956.

Dr. Kornegay is a graduate of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, receiving his degree in 1945. He served one year of internship at the Southern Baptist Hospital in New Orleans and had 21 months of service in the U. S. Army Medical Corps.

He had five months of general practice at Goldsboro; had pathology residency for one year at the Southern Baptist Hospital, New Orleans, and three years of general surgery residency at this same hospital. He had obstetrics and gynecology residency for one year at the Charlotte Memorial Hospital, and one year urology residency at the John Gaston Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. Also, he served one year orthopedic resideny at the Metropolitan Hospital in New York City.

Frank Ceruzzi, administrator for the Davie County Hospital, said that all of this training by Dr. Kornegay had been approved by the various specialties boards. "He is fully qualified in general surgery," said Mr. Ceruzzi.

Dr. Kornegay is single and is a member of the Baptist Church.

Cornatzer-Dulin Fire Department Receives Charter

The Cornatzer - Dulin Volunteer Fire Department was issued a certificate of incorporation in Raleigh last week.

The department was incorporated as a non-stock association by Harold L. Frank, Ralph Jones, and C. H. McNeill.

Johnstone Named Chairman Of NWNCA Directors

Knox Johnstone of Mocksville was named chairman of the board of directors at the annual meeting of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association held last week in Elkin.

Mr. Johnstone, retiring president of the association, made his annual report at the gathering which numbered around 475. William F. Marshall of Walnut Cove succeeded Mr. Johnstone as president.

Named to the board of directors for the coming year from Davie County were Mr. Johnstone, Gordon Tomlinson and E. C. Morris.

Governor Luther Hodges was the principal speaker. Governor Hodges saluted the association as being the type of program most needed to foster the growth of not only one area but all of North Carolina.

Two new counties — Caldwell and Alexander — were taken into the association increasing the membership to 11 counties in Northwest North Carolina.

The Davie Academy received a $50 cash award in the community service contest. First place winner was the Hamptonville - West Yadkin community in Yadkin County.

Mystery Farm Is Identified By 18

Last week's mystery farm was correctly identified as that of Ray Cornatzer, Mocksville, Rt. 3. It is operated by Gilbert Lee Boger.

The first six to identify the farm and qualify for theatre passes were Mrs. C. S. Seats, Dolly Whitaker, Shirley Wall, Virginia Doger, Mrs. W. H. Sents and Laura Whitaker.

Others identifying the farm were: Lucy Whitaker, Jack Baker, Luther West, Gilbert Boger, Harold Young, Doris Hutchens, Sheek Bober, Ellis Legans, Gary Groce and Lillian Groce.

Two Are Inducted Into U. S. Navy

Two Davie County men were inducted into the U. S. Navy on Dec. 8. They are Clinton Carl Boger and Daniel Hoza Allen, both of Mocksville Route 3.

Prior to their departure for induction, the local VFW Post treated them to candy, chewing gum and cigarettes.

Hospital Donors

Additional donors to the new Davie County Hospital were announced this week by J. K. Sheek, chairman of the board of trustees. These were as follows:

Martin, Bros.; A. Room, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Foster; fund for the emergency and service driveway entrance, Candler Lumber Company, a donation; and the Medical Company, 120th Infantry of the National Guard, a donation.

Rotary Club Honors Retiring Caterers

The Mocksville Rotary Club paid tribute Tuesday to two women who have served meals to the club for the past nine years.

Mrs. C. H. Tomlinson and Mrs. S. M. Call were special guests at the regular meeting and were presented with gifts. Mrs. Z. N. Anderson, who assisted with the meals for the past year, was also a special guest.

J. K. Sheek, speaking on behalf of the Rotary Club, paid tribute to the two women for the service they have rendered the club. Don Hendon, club president, presented the gifts.

R. B. Sanford, Jr. had charge of the program and presented a film feature on quail hunting.

Special guests included P. C. Smith of High Point, Tom Ruffin of Salisbury; Jack Ceell of Mocksville; Dr. R. D. Kornegay and Jack Sanford. Henry Shutt and Bailey Walker were present as Junior Rotarians. Miss Jean Madison served as pianist.

Ralph Green Associated With Sheffield Grocery

Ralph Green of Sherwood, N. C., is now associated with the Sheffield Grocery Store at Sheffield.

Mr. Green is a veteran of World War II, serving for three years in the Navy. He joined the Army in 1947 and served in Korea and Japan, receiving his discharge on July 2, 1951 with the rank of sergeant.

Mr. Green, his wife, son and daughter are members of the Baptist Church. They reside in a house on the Sheffield Road.

Phillip Rowland To Receive Eagle Scout Award At Church

Phillip Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rowland of Mocksville, will be presented with his Eagle Scout badge Sunday morning at the Baptist Church during the regular church service.

An official of the Warlike Council will make the presentation.

Loans on corn in North Carolina are available through ASC from time of harvest through Feb. 29, 1956.

Plans For Christmas Programs Announced

Mrs. Beck Is Oldest Member At Bear Creek

Mrs. Mary Etta Beck of Mocksville, Route 5, is the oldest member of the Bear Creek Baptist Church. With the exception of one Sunday, she has perfect attendance at church for the past three years.

For the past several years she has received flowers on Mother's Day as the oldest mother present.

Mrs. Beck recalls that as a youngster she would walk a great distance to go to church.

"Father was interested in singing and everyone went to church," she said. "He would stand me on a table to sing."

Mrs. Beck said there wasn't Bibles at that time and they would take the blue-back speller to church with them. At that time preaching was on Saturday afternoon.

At the present time Mrs. Beck is living with her son, Robert Beck, on Mocksville, Rt. 5, near her home place.

Methodist Men's Club Receives New Charter

The Men's Club of the First Methodist Church, Mocksville, received their charter at a dinner meeting held Tuesday night. The charter signifies affiliation with the world wide organization of men's clubs of the Methodist Church.

Atty. Paul Irvin of Charlotte, Methodist Lay Leader, was the featured speaker and presented the charter. Roy Brown, vice-president, presided in the absence of H. R. Hendrix, Jr., president.

County Receives $3675 For Polio Patient Care

As a stopgap measure to meet this community's acute need for funds to continue care of polio patients, a check for $3675 from March of Dimes headquarters in New York was received today by the Davie County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"This money," explained D. J. Mando, Chapter Chairman, "is an advance supplied by chapters operating in the black. When it was realized that more than 1200 chapters would exhaust the March of Dimes funds available to them, National Foundation headquarters called in funds from chapters which had surpluses."

Recognizing that polio respects no state or county lines, Mr. Mando said, chapters with funds have willingly answered the distress signals of those operating in the red to insure the necessary care of polio patients.

Encouraging the "haves" to help the "have-nots," Mr. Mando continued, is one way the March of Dimes assures that the lives and usefulness of polio patients everywhere in the country can be saved. "The check received by the Davie County has begun to take on the Christmas atmosphere.

Mocksville merchants this week reported a definite increase in Christmas buying. Citizens of the county have put up their Christmas decorations. And the various churches and civic organizations have announced plans for their annual Christmas programs.

Activities pertaining to Christmas that have been reported to The Enterprise are as follows:

Youth Caroling

On Saturday, Dec. 17 at 7 p.m. the Baptist, Methodist, and Presbyterian young people will gather at the Presbyterian Church Hut to begin an evening of caroling. Following visits to the homes of as many sick and shut-ins as time permits, they will return to the Presbyterian Hut for refreshments. The refreshments, provided by the Presbyterian Pioneer and Senior Youth Fellowships, will be prepared by the Pioneer Advisors, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crotts, directors of the Mocksville Youth Center, will assist the carolers. Mrs. George Shutt will provide the books containing familiar Christmas carols and hymns.

Post Office
The Mocksville Post Office will remain open all day Saturday for the convenience of the public.

Christmas Trees

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce are selling Christmas trees, holly, running cedar, mistletoe, etc., at a tent booth located on the Johnstone lot on North Main Street. Christmas trees may be purchased either plain or will be sprayed any color desired. Someone will be on duty at the tent each night from now until Christmas. The money will go into the Jaycee community welfare fund.

Methodist Church

The annual candle-light service of the Mocksville Methodist Church will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature "The Song of Christmas" by Ray Ringwald, J. K. Sheek, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Woodruff will serve as narrators. Miss Sarah Foster, Mrs. Ed Short and Gen. Smith will be soloists.

Baptist Church

The Christmas Cantata of the Mocksville Baptist Church will be given Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The cantata will be presented by the choir under the direction of Bill Howard.

The Sunday School Christmas program will be held on Wednesday evening, Dec. 21, at 7:30 p.m., directed by Mrs. Bill Howard, Mrs. Harry Monsees, Mrs. J. P. Davis. (Continued On Page 2)

Whose Farm Is This? Can you identify this farm? If you can telephone or come to the office of The Mocksville Enterprise after 12 o'clock noon, Thursday. The first six adults correctly identifying the farm will receive theatre passes. The owner of the farm may receive a beautiful mounted enlargement of this picture at D & M Harvester Company in Mocksville.

Baptist Missionary Church Established In Shacktown Area

Services will be held for the first time Sunday in the new Grace Baptist Missionary Church in the Shacktown community of Yadkin County. The church was moved this week from its former location on the Peace Haven Road in Forsyth County, where it was known as the Grace Baptist Tabernacle.

The Rev. Tommy V. Flynn is pastor of the church.

The church will occupy a new building that is now being completed. This building was built through the donations of the members.

Sunday School will be held Sunday morning at 10 a.m., with the regular services following at 11 a.m. These services will be held each Sunday.

Bill Myers is Sunday School Superintendent; Arlie Rash is secretary-treasurer and a deacon. Betty Lee McBride is church clerk. Further organization of the church will be completed later.

At the present time there are 23 members of the church. The Grace Tabernacle Church held services in a tent on the Peace Haven Road. This tent will be sold and the money applied on the new church.

Cadillac

Strangers—with a Mutual Friend!

Anyone who owns and drives a Cadillac will find this a familiar scene.

For it is not at all unusual for Cadillac owners to salute one another as they pass on the highway . . . or to exchange approving nods as they wait at the traffic light.

Cadillac owners, you see, know that they have at least one mutual friend . . . in the Cadillac car.

And the chances are that if they were to meet, they would find they had a great deal more in common than just their affection for the "car of cars."

For Cadillac owners, taking them by and large, are people who share a keen appreciation for the finer things in life.

And, generally speaking, they are people of sound judgment and unusual practical wisdom.

They have learned, for instance, how reasonable a new Cadillac can be insofar as original cost is concerned.

They have seen for themselves how economical a Cadillac is to operate through the miles . . . and how dependable it is through the months.

And they have savored that final reward for choosing the "car of cars"—Cadillac's extraordinary resale value.

Perhaps, in view of these remarkable facts, the time has come for you to meet this wonderful friend of America's most demanding motorists.

We'll be delighted to introduce you at any time you find convenient—and to supervise a personal demonstration on the highway.

Why not come in today?

The farmer had come a long way to see New York and now that he was here, he was taking it in fast. Already he had covered Times Square as thoroughly as he usually did his back four-acre patch, and now he looked for new fields. It was early morning, so he caught the subway downtown, not realizing that this was the subterranean hazardous hour. Below ground, the job-going mob rocked and rolled him. At Wall Street, he finally emerged, never to be the same again. His shoes were scuffed, his overcoat ruffled, his tie awry, and under his crumpled hat, beads of sweat stood out on his honest brow. "Dadburned if I've ever seen anything like it, since Jim Stevens' hogs broke through my fence and almost clobbered me," he was heard to mutter darkly. "And at least, they weren't ground hogs."

They tell a story here about the Texas, the Californian and the New Yorker who were talking about the hereafter. The New Yorker gave as his opinion that when the Lord returns to this earth, it would be as a New Yorker; the Californian said He would be a Californian. The big Texas studied his companions for a moment, then said, "Why fellows, I don't see why the Lord would want to change."

Where I grew up, stables were used for horses. Not so in many instances here. Just off lower 5th Avenue is a little street named Washington Mews which was once inhabited by nags, not cats. The stables were rather fancy, however, being the Manhattan residences of such horses as those of the celebrated Mrs. Astor. When the fine four-legged fellows were replaced by less pleasant but faster motor transportation, people fixed up the abandoned stables and moved in. So there they are now and some of them prominent. Grover Whalen lived there before he got affluent and moved uptown to Park Avenue. It is presumed that these folks eat ordinary human food, but it seemed to me on looking at the row of residences, that there is still a rich lingering atmosphere of corn and hay about the place.

My neighbor, Harry Nims, a distinguished lawyer and national authority on trade marks, says that the country lawyer is perhaps the most useful citizen in the community, active in church, school board and lodge. Yet, Mr. Nims points out, trials are now so complicated, so dreary and so expensive in time and money that the public avoids them whenever possible. Most court officials owe their positions to politics, he adds, and the litigant with no political connections may have little chance in court. Mr. Nims says lawyers resist any change in their methods—a situation, he feels which is shameful and should be remedied.

A man by the name of Ray Vir Den left the local scene permanently recently. His first job was as a printer's devil on a weekly newspaper in Wheeler, Indiana. He came to New York 40 years ago, smitten by the big city, sang in a choir, turned to Wall Street, then in the depression, changed to advertising, eventually became president of an agency and married an opera star. He was colorful, had a lot of imagination, and his bright candle went out at the age of 59.

Grace Di Biase is a happy girl, yet she paints vividly scenes of suffering. As I talked to her in the New York University Book Store, it seemed to me that her artist's eyes saw far beyond the walls of the building, and viewed the bigger realities of life. From Portland, Maine, she has been here ten years studying painting and opera. Around the corner, I viewed her impressive exhibit of religious art, outstanding among which was a striking picture of a suffering peasant in a concentration camp, entitled "Blessed Are The Persecuted." Miss Di Biase knows beauty, but she also sees the sadness in the world.

In the mail: thank to Mrs. Grantland Rice, Bobby Jones and Toots Shor for their nice comments on the recent tribute in this column to the late and beloved Grantland Rice. . . . a remark from a reader that New York should be roped off as an international zone.

tending will receive a gift bag containing a toy, fruits, nuts, candies and a surprise package. In addition to this the children will be entertained by Fred Kirby of Television Station WBTB, Charlott, and his horse "Calico." Santa Claus will also be present.

This year there will also be a party for the entire family. This will also be held Saturday, Dec. 24 in the school auditorium. There will be two shows, so there will be seats for everyone. The first show is at 1 p.m. and the second at 3 p.m.

This will be a Variety Show with Cecil Campbell and his Tennessee Ramblers of Television and movie fame, playing western and folk music and doing a comedy act; the Jolly Sisters who sing and dance and the "Wild Bill Cody" act; a group that does a shooting, knife throwing and whip act.

No admission will be charged for either program but each person attending must have a ticket. Tickets will be available at the Union Hall Monday, Dec. 12 and must be picked up no later than noon, Dec. 22.

Harold Foster, Business Agent of Local 251, has asked that the parents secure the children's tickets for them. Mr. Foster estimated that over 2000 people would attend these two parties.

Thursday, Dec. 8, found the students in quite a hub-bub, the Seniors in particular. This was the day when club pictures, basketball pictures, and the superlative pictures were taken. The annual staff have their fingers crossed, hoping they will all be perfect. After all, what's an annual without good pictures.

Quite a thrill was had during the basketball games at East Bend, Tuesday night. The Advance girls gave quite a tussel before they were defeated by a score of 56-45.

The boys game was as nerve-racking as it was thrilling. Brack Bailey tied the game the last second, with a foul shot. The Advance boys then did Coach Hardin justice by winning in an overtime period with a score of 73-64!

The Senior class is extremely proud of Dorothy Ann Bailey and D. C. Blakely, who were voted unanimously by the high school faculty as the "Girl and Boy of the Month," for their outstanding performances in the recent two one-act plays given by the Seniors last month. Dorothy played the part of Janie Collier, a high school girl, in the play "Elmer and the Lovebug." D. C. acted as Rich, the brave lad in "The Uninvited Ghost." Both were excellent.

Mrs. J. D. Parker, Jr., has begun practicing her Christmas program, which is to be given Friday morning. Mrs. Parker's program has become a tradition and a favorite among the students, both in the high school and grammar grades. Any high school student of teacher, who wish, may partake.

The program begins, as a chorus, made of high school students carrying candies and singing carols, commences from the back of the auditorium, walk down the aisle and on the stage. There, two readers read the story of the birth of Christ, while, in pantomime, it is acted out. After the program, the chorus, while singing, leaves the stage. A beautiful and touching story, again under the fine direction of Mrs. Parker!

28 Boys Enrolled In New Coolee Scout Troop

Sponsored by the Lion's Club of Coolee, Boy Scout Troop No. 500 was chartered last week in Coolee with 28 boys enrolled as charter members of the troop.

In making the announcement that scouting has been revitalized in Coolee, Bob Hoyle, president of the Lion's Club, said that the Lion's Club was indeed happy at the opportunity of sponsoring a Boy Scout Troop in Coolee and expressed his appreciation for the enthusiastic cooperation of all the members of the Lion's Club who were serving as Troop Committeemen for the new troop.

William Jales, who will serve as Institutional Representative for the troop, said that the troop was indeed fortunate to have secured the services of Sam Borer as Scoutmaster. Mr. Borer has had three years experience as a unit leader. Joe Cuthrell is Assistant Scoutmaster.

Assisting Mr. Jales will be other Troop Committeemen, who are all members of the Lions Club: C.

W. Howell, Neighborhood Commissioner; Frank Boyd, chairman of the Troop Committee; Rev. James Benas, secretary; William White, treasurer; Wilson Wagoner, camping; L. C. Deadmon, activities; Harold Foster and Raymond Pierce, advancement.

In addition to their other adult scout duties, these troop committeemen will conduct Board of Reviews each month and a Court of Honor every three months.

Troop No. 500 meets on Wednesday nights at the Erwin Mills Recreation Center, where the scouts have their own club room. Erwin Mills donated to the troop camping equipment, tents, duffle bags, troop cooking utensils, etc., which had been used by a former scout troop that was sponsored by the Company.

At the present time, Troop No. 500 is divided into three patrols, with a fourth patrol in the making in the near future. The patrol leaders are: Donald Cornatzer, Flaming Arrow Patrol, Paul Borer, Panther Patrol, and Gerald Taylor, Crow Patrol.

Tid-Bits

By GORDON TOMLINSON

The Jaycees are selling Christmas trees. Their headquarters is a funeral tent located on the Johnstone property on North Main St.

This tent was loaned to the Jaycees in a civic gesture by the Eaton Funeral Home.

Last Saturday Wayne Eaton was assisting in the erection of this tent when a passer-by stopped to watch.

"What'cha putting up a tent there for?" he asked.

"Oh, we're going to use it and sell Christmas trees," replied Wayne from his then present role of civic worker. He thought this explanation would be clear enough and explain everything but he found out it hadn't. The next question of the onlooker was: "What's the matter. Can't you make a living buyin' people?"

The other day Ernie Hunt met an old friend whom he hadn't seen for sometime. Of course they immediately renewed old acquaintances and the usual discussion followed as to past associations.

Now this man, who was well up in his eighties, proceeded to tell Ernie about all the things that had happened during the last 10 or twenty years, including the death of his wife several years ago.

But one statement he made caused Ernie to walk away shaking his head.

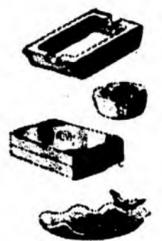

"This octogenarian said: 'Ernie, you may not believe this but I haven't been with a woman for over three years!'"

Ernie didn't reply to it whether he believed it or not.

555 Visit Hospital On Sunday

A total of 555 people took advantage of the guided tours and looked over the new Davie County Hospital, Sunday afternoon. And, according to some of the comments, all were very much favorably impressed with the structure that will be completed sometime early next year.

Visitors were greeted at the new hospital, Sunday, by Dr. L. P. Martin, a member of the hospital building committee. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson presided over the registration desk. Mrs. John N. Anderson arranged the visitors into tour groups. These groups were conducted on tours of the hospital by Frank Ceruzzi, hospital administrator, Baxter Dandmon, assistant administrator, and Mrs. R. E. Everest, supervisor of nurses.

J. K. Sheek, chairman of the board of trustees, revealed last week that the North Carolina Medical Care Commission has termed the Davie County Hospital as one of the finest in the state. "This commission is using the unit as a model and are referring planners for other hospitals in the state to this structure as a guide."

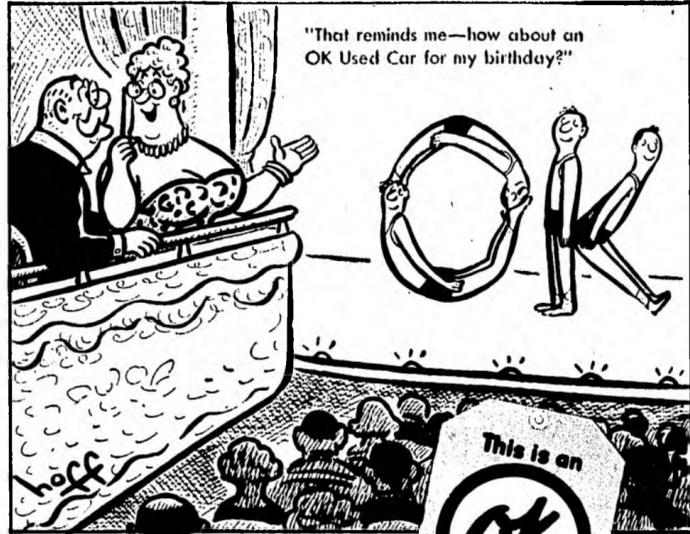

Mr. Sheek also expressed satisfaction of being able to secure top qualified personnel with which to staff the hospital. He said that the county was very fortunate in having as many people as it did who could qualify for jobs at the new hospital.

"We have tried from the beginning to give Davie County applicants, who could qualify, the appointments to the hospital jobs. As you will see when the complete list of personnel is announced, most of the staff of the hospital will be composed of Davie County people," said Mr. Sheek.

Mr. Sheek also praised the work of Frank Ceruzzi, hospital administrator.

"We have been very much impressed with the quite efficiency with which Mr. Ceruzzi has operated as hospital administrator. The public may be unaware, but a qualified hospital administrator is very hard to find. In fact, Mr. Ceruzzi is the only applicant for the job of administrator that the trustees had who was qualified for the job. Mr. Ceruzzi came to us highly recommended and with both practical and special training for the job. The board of trustees felt deeply indebted to Mr. Ceruzzi for progress made by the hospital thus far," said Mr. Sheek.

Mr. Sheek also expressed appreciation to the people of Davie County for fine support given the board of trustees in the building of the hospital.

"We do appreciate the confidence, both directly expressed and implied, that has been demonstrated by the people in Davie County. The generous and immediate replies to all our requests have been most gratifying.

"I feel that I speak for each and every one of the trustees when I say that we will continue to strive to merit this confidence by procuring of qualified personnel to make this hospital the most outstanding in every way," said Mr. Sheek.

Funerals

C. L. Cleary, 83
 Funeral services for Charles Lee Cleary, 83, a former justice of peace of Davie County, were held Monday at the James Cross Roads Baptist Church. The Rev. James Groce, the Rev. H. W. Hutchins, the Rev. Albert Bruckens, and the Rev. John Raspberry officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Cleary died December 11 at his home in Randleman. He had been in declining health for several months.

He was born May 16, 1872, in Davie County, the son of William and Mary Edwards Cleary. He was a farmer and was justice of the peace in Clarksville Township for many years. He moved to Randleman 16 years ago.

He was twice married, first to Mrs. Isabel Belk Deese, who died in 1937, and then to Miss Jewel Hamr.

Surviving are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Hazel Z. Wright of Asheboro and Liberty, Mrs. Lennie Gerner of Asheboro, Route 1 and Mrs. Leo Hathaway of Richmond, Virginia; two stepsons, James Deese of Sophia and William L. Deese of Winston-Salem; one sister, Mrs. T. M. Smith of Mocksville, Rt. 1; two brothers, J. W. and F. A. Cleary, both of Mocksville, Rt. 1; three grandchildren and six step grandchildren.

Z. V. Burton, 64
 Funeral services for Zeb Vance Burton, 64, of Advance, Rt. 2, will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Fork Baptist Church. The Rev. A. M. Kiser will officiate. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Burton died unexpectedly Tuesday of a heart attack at his home in the Fork Church community.

Mr. Burton, a farmer, was born in Davie County, Aug. 10, 1891, son of James P. and Lelia Peoples Burton. He was married to Miss Blanche Pack in 1915.

Surviving are the widow; four foster sons, Richard and Larry Bailey of the home, Berry Lee Bailey of Lexington, Route 4, and Franklin Bailey of the Navy in Illinois; and one brother, L. E. Burton of Mocksville, Route 3.

Miss Mollie Stewart, 80
 Funeral services for Miss Mollie Stewart, 80, of Mocksville, Route 3, were held Wednesday at the Cornetzer Baptist Church. The Rev. B. A. Carroll and the Rev. Eugene Goodman officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Miss Stewart died Tuesday at the Lynn Haven Rest Home. She had been in declining health for two years.

Miss Stewart was born in Davie County May 25, 1875, daughter of William and Mary Stewart. Her only survivors are nieces and nephews.

John H. Horn, 90

Funeral services for John Henderson Horn, 90, of Mocksville, Rt. 3, were held Sunday at the Oak Grove Methodist Church. The Rev. Robert Oakley and the Rev. J. P. Davis officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Horn died Saturday afternoon at the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. W. Campbell, of Mocksville, Route 3.

A retired farmer, Mr. Horn had been in declining health for several months and seriously ill for 10 days.

He was born Aug. 6, 1865, in Davie County, son of Lemuel and Mary Elizabeth Horn. He married Miss Emma Summers in 1886. She died in 1950.

Mr. Horn is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs.

W. H. Blackwood of Winston-Salem, Mrs. F. N. Young of Carolina Beach and Mrs. W. A. Sain of Mocksville, Route 3; one son, W. B. Horn of Winston-Salem; 12 grandchildren; 22 great-grandchildren and 2 great-great-grandchildren.

Buchanan; "Cow Performance" by Dave Bowser; "Discussion" by E. U. Dillard; "Phenology of Beef Cattle" by Wayne Corpening; Luncheon and "Let's Eat up the Farm Problem" by Karl D. Butler.

The afternoon session will be "Fat Cattle Grading" by A. V. Allen II, D. Quessenberry Norman Curtis; "Foot Trimming" by J. L. Lawrence; "Tour of Animal Husbandry Farm"; Basketball - State College vs. Brigham Young.

The Thursday program will consist of "Pattening Cattle for Market" by E. R. Barriek; Discussion; "Publicizing Beef" by J. A. Christian; "The Future of Purebreds" by B. C. Snidow; "Questions and Comments"; Beef luncheon.

The meeting will adjourn at 2 p.m. on Thursday.

Heritage Furnishes Poplar Seedlings

Jason Branch, Manager of the Heritage Furniture Company of Mocksville, reports that they will furnish the number of poplar seedlings needed in Davie County this year. Anyone desiring poplars should make application at the County Agent's office. These applications should be made immediately in order to receive seedlings before planting season is over.

The Davie County 4-H Pig Chain Judging Tour was held Thursday, Dec. 8. Mr. Jack Kelley, Animal Husbandry Specialist, from State College, gave the official placings of the pigs.

4-H boys and girls raising pigs in the chain sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company this year are: Perry Anderson, Route 1; Joe Vestal Gobble, Route 1; Morgan Chaffin, Route 1; Eugene Dyson, Route 1; Wade Dyson, Jr., Route 1; Grady Beauchamp, Rt. 1, Advance; Lester Allen, Route 3; and Bobby Phillips, Route 5. These boys and girls went on the tour with Mr. Kelley and the Davie Farm Agents.

RECEIVES PROMOTION—Henry W. Tutterow, Jr., receives his warrant of promotion to Major 1st Class, November 3, Col. John F. Hough, Director of the 6th Marine Group Reserve and Recruitment District at Atlanta, Ga., makes the presentation. Tutterow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Tutterow of Rt. 1, Mocksville. He is serving in the administrative section of the District. Before entering the service in January, 1951, he attended North Carolina State College.

members had done a good job on their projects. The $100 prize money sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company was awarded as follows: six blue ribbons at $13.50 each one red ribbon of $12 and one white ribbon of $7.

Bernard Bouchet, International Farm Youth Exchange student from Algeria, is now staying with C. A. Street, Jr., Route 1, Advance. Bernard has been in the United States since July 12, 1955, and has been in North Carolina since October. He has received his degree in Agricultural Engineering from the National Agriculture Institute. He is studying rural farm living in this country.

The International Farm Youth Exchange project helps rural young people to understand and appreciate the problems of similar people in other countries of the world. The exchange is dedicated to the belief that understanding is the foundation for world peace. While delegates will learn about agriculture and science in their host country, what they learn in this respect is important only as it helps them to understand the way of life of others.

Bernard's home country of Algeria is governed by France and his native language is French. Algeria is part of Northwest Africa, and the area of the country is more than three times as large as the state of Texas. Bernard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andre Bouchet, and he has one brother and one sister. They live on a 1,200-acre farm and 800 acres of this are available. Their major crops are grapes, wheat, barley, tobacco, and olive trees. They have five cows and 20 horses and wino. Bernard helps his father manage the farm. His special interest is the fruit juice industry. His main hobby in recreation is dancing, books, and sports.

Outstanding 4-H members are eligible to submit applications to be an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to other countries. There have been quite a few North Carolina students sent to other countries.

Bernard will give an interesting talk to the 4-H Clubs this month. He will be in Davie County until some time around Christmas.

New-Grower Tobacco Allotments Explained

Application blanks for taking requests for new-grower tobacco allotments for 1956 have been received in the county ASC Office, according to C. V. Smoot, chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee.

According to the chairman in order to be eligible for a new-grower tobacco allotment each of the following requirements must be met during the entire year:

1. The farm operator shall have had experience in growing tobacco during two of the past five years.
2. The farm operator shall live on and obtain 50 per cent or more of his livelihood from the farm covered by the application.
3. The farm covered by the application shall be the only farm owner or operator by the farm operator for which a tobacco allotment is established for the 1956-57 marketing year.
4. The farm shall be operated by the owner thereof.
5. The farm or any portion thereof shall not have been a part of another farm (including woodland) during the years 1951-55 for which an old farm tobacco allotment was determined.
6. The acreage allotments established as provided in this section shall be subject to such downward adjustment as is necessary to bring such allotment in line with the total acreage available for allotment to all new farms.

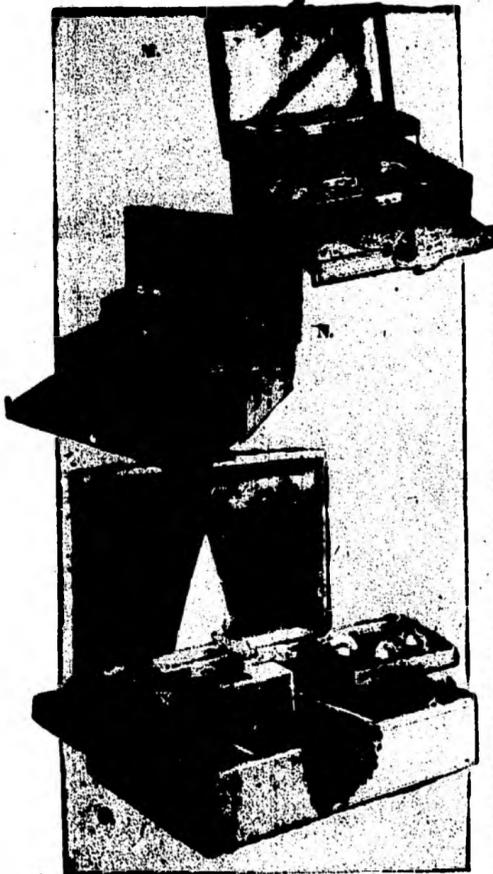

An application for a new farm allotment shall be filed with the ASC County Office prior to Feb. 1, 1956.

ty until some time around Christmas.

North Carolina Merchandising

"A woman will pay $200 for a dress containing only $4 or $5 worth of materials if the dress has a certain label," said Governor Hodges to the third annual meeting of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association last Thursday night.

"And for years our North Carolina hams has been going into Virginia where they put a label on them and sell them all over the world as the famous 'Smithfield Ham,'" continued the Governor.

"We should take a lesson from this," he said. "To sell our state . . . or any of our items . . . we must have three things in particular—a story, a label, and quality."

The Governor went to point out that here in North Carolina we have long had the quality . . . and that we also had the story. He said what was needed was better merchandising efforts to let the world know about our quality and our story.

He told about a man from Michigan who came into the Western part of North Carolina. This man had retired from active business because of his health. Seeing the western part of the state he immediately fell in love with it and stayed.

After a few years this man became bored with inactivity and put up a little roadside shop from which he could sell to tourists. In this shop he employed a local youth.

One day, said the Governor, business was extremely good and everything in the little shop was sold. The boy went to his home and got six or eight jars of wild strawberry jam that his mother made so well. This jam was quickly sold to the passing tourists and the businessman from Michigan got an idea.

Two years later this man is marketing this wild strawberry jam all over the United States. He is getting a price of around $1 for a small glass and cannot come close to filling the demand for this product.

Governor Hodges pointed out that this was just one of the many examples of how merchandising could benefit many products of this state. As examples of good merchandising the Governor cited many of the well known industries of the state such as Chatham, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Hanes Knitting Company, Burlington Mills, and others.

"These companies are where they are today because of good merchandising," said the Governor. "What we have to do is to get everyone talking about our products."

At the close of the meeting the Governor was presented with a Northwest North Carolina ham and a Chatham blanket. Another man got up and told the Governor he was going to send him some wild strawberry jam. To this the Governor replied:

"I still say it pays to advertise."

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — As the year draws to a close, I have been re-examining a few days prior to returning to the Second Session of the 84th Congress which convenes at Noon on Tuesday, January 3, 1956.

BACK TO LEGISLATION
The First Session of the 84th Congress adjourned last August. Since then, I have spent most of the time in North Carolina. During the recess I have made talks in 34 counties, visited in a number of others, and have attended to the duties of my office from Morganton. While the schedule was strenuous, it was pleasant. I am not anxiously looking forward to the heated session that most certainly awaits the Congress. The legislative function is the primary responsibility of a Senator. It is through the elected representatives of the people that their voice is felt in formulating national policy. The guiding force of our form of government is the fact that it derives all its powers directly or indirectly from the great body of the people, and is administered by persons holding their offices during the pleasure of the people electing them. This responsibility of representing the people is a challenging task. In our democracy, a representative democracy, the people govern themselves, but they do so by entrusting the entire administration of the government to the representatives whom they choose for that purpose.

FARM PROBLEM
Senator Scott has advocated a farm plan that makes sense and should not cost as much as the present program. I hope that the Agriculture Committee of the Senate, of which he is a member, will carefully study this plan. The Administration's flexible support scheme has failed completely.

BUNCOMBE
Representative Felix Walker was serving in the U. S. Congress in the 16th Congress back in 1820. The Missouri Compromise was a hot issue. A vote was approaching in the House when Congressman Walker arose to make a speech. It is said that he made a very eloquent speech of considerable length. His address seemed to be consuming a lot of time and his colleagues were impatient. They wanted to vote. When a colleague arose to ask Congressman Walker the purpose of his remarks, he is reported to have stated that he had no real purpose in mind other than he was speaking for the folks back in Buncombe, thereby coining a word which has remained to this day a symbol.

GRAVE QUESTIONS
Events of recent weeks have again served to clearly demonstrate the difficult task of getting along with the enemies of democracy.

FAST START
An owner from the West showed up at Churchill Downs with an 8-year-old horse that had never been in a race before and entered him in an important event. The unknown was hardly a betting attraction, and he was off at $135.50. He galloped home first by ten lengths.

The officials, puzzled, demanded, "Why haven't you raced this horse before? Why did you wait until he was eight years old?"

"Well, to tell the truth," said the owner, "we couldn't catch him until he was seven."

But what finally topped it all off was the fact that he didn't run into anybody who valued the good virtues of good barbecue. The Squire himself wouldn't say so, but it is reliably understood that he refused to battle the Iowa folks further by asking any questions about chittlings. Or, if you prefer to go formal—chittlings.

LOANS. Two unusually large loans were approved for North Carolina REA cooperatives last week. The Cornelius Electric Membership Corp. in Mecklenburg County was granted a loan of $205,000.00. The loan will be used to provide electricity for 200 families in Mecklenburg.

An even larger loan—for $325,000—was given the Davidson Electric Membership Corp. at Lexington. Some 720 families will be getting electricity as a result of this loan.

The total of the two loans amounted to well over half a million dollars and will mean that almost 1,000 Tar Heel families will be getting electric service in the near future.

What Every Veteran Should Know

W. J. Wilson, County Veterans Service Officer for Davie County, stated today that newly discharged or separation papers should be submitted the first time they make an application to the Veterans Administration for benefits. By submitting copies of their separation papers, these veterans will help to prevent delay in the processing of their applications.

Although the Department of Defense supplies VA with copies of all separation papers, many newly discharged service personnel file their first application for benefits with VA before these official papers are received.

In other instances, veterans submit their applications to VA offices other than the ones to which their discharge or separation papers have been sent. VA must make an official determination that an applicant for a benefit is an eligible veteran before the agency can take any action. Where proof of military service does not accompany an application, or is not on file with VA, delay necessarily results.

Mr. Wilson said a photostatic copy or a certified copy of the discharge or separation paper attached to the application will supply VA with the proof it requires under law.

Original discharge or separation papers must be submitted to VA only when applying for a Certificate of Eligibility for a GI Loan. For assistance in applying to the VA for benefits, see your county veterans service officer who is located in the Lynn Haven Nursing Home, Mocksville.

Christmas drawing near and with it we can find the answer to mankind's search for peace. Not by taking the Santa Claus view of what we shall get, but rather what we can give to the future.

Migration Changes In North Carolina

North Carolina is losing population by migration to other states to an extent that many people do not realize.

Between 1950 and 1954, North Carolina's natural gain in population was only 163,000. There were 487,000 births and 135,000 deaths during this period which should have made for a net gain of around 352,000. So, during this period of time the State of North Carolina lost 189,000 people as a result of out-migration.

However, during the period from 1940-1950 Davie County showed a net increase in population of 511. During this period, the natural increase for Davie County (the difference in births and deaths) was a plus 2,452. The net migration from Davie County during this period was a minus 1,941, giving the plus 511 increase.

During the 1940-1950 decade, the State's rate of loss by net out-migration was three times higher than ever before in our history, but so far during the 1950-1960 decade the rate of loss is running even higher. During the 1940-1950 period the net out-migration loss was 261,199, which was 7.3 per cent of the 1940 population. With only two-fifths of the 1950-1960 decade gone, the State has already lost 4.6 per cent of its 1950 population by out-migration. If that rate continues, the loss for the 1950-60 decade could be as high as 10 per cent of the 1950 population. Only thirteen states had a higher rate of loss as a result of net out-migration.

The heaviest rate of mobility is out of rural non-farm areas. As a matter of fact the rural-farm segment of the population is even more stable than the urban segment.

More Money For School

The allocation of the 25 million dollars in school building funds to North Carolina's 100 counties was approved last week by the State Board of Education. The money was divided in accordance with school construction needs, local ability and efforts to meet needs.

Davie County will receive $130,407.28 of this money.

This money will enable the county to go a little further with the construction of the new Davie County consolidated school unit. However, this money will not be exactly a bonus. The amount Davie would receive was estimated and figured in when the school was planned.

The money is the second half of a 50 million dollar bond issue authorized by the 1953 legislature. The first 25 million already has been distributed under a method set out in the law.

Davie County is very fortunate in that it is acquiring a new consolidated school without any direct cost to the county. Thus far, all of the funds being expended for the new school unit have come from the state bond sources.

The Mocksville Enterprise

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY AT MOCKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

MR. AND MRS. EUGENE S. BOWMAN Publishers GORDON TOMLINSON, Editor

Entered at the Post Office at Mocksville, N. C., as Second Class Matter Under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

TELL ME . . .

IS THE SPACE BETWEEN THE EARTH AND SUN FULL OF LIGHT?

WHAT BODY OF WATER CONTAINS THE MOST MINERALS?

NO! SPACE IS PERPETUAL DARKNESS! ONLY IN THE ATMOSPHERE SURROUNDING THE PLANETS AND PLANETIODS IS THERE LIGHT! THIS IS THE REFLECTED LIGHT OF THE SUN!

THE DEAD SEA HAS MORE SOLID MATTER THAN ANY OTHER BODY OF WATER! ABOUT 25% IS SOLID MATTER . . . MOSTLY COMMON SALT!

WE AGREE . . . Somebody knew what they were doing when Ed Kirk, news man for Raleigh Radio Station WPTF, was chosen as assistant director of the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development.

Kirk, fortyish, pipe-smoking son of a retired Baptist minister and a Wake Forest classmate of the outstanding sports announcer, Jim Reid, has been with WPTF for about ten years.

In the past, we have nominated him for various positions, but he never saw fit to leave radio work until this one came along.

We agree with the Greensboro Daily News in its editorial entitled "Ed Kirk" which ran in last Sunday's paper:

HE FITS . . . "We've been trying to think of a better man to thrust into the No. 2 spot of our conservation and development team than Ed Kirk, and have given up. The man fits the job with some left over."

"The Raleigh radio news man occupies an unusual place in the esteem of his colleagues: He is restrained, thorough, decent, enlighten d -- and yet knows a piece news when he sees it and has a working notion of what to do with it. Such a professional touch will do C. and D. no harm."

"We can't say for sure how Kirk will conserve and develop, but we'll take him at prevailing odds to do a workman's job of raising a public relations dust about Tar Heel attractions and opportunities on demand. He knows the state like the back of his hand."

"This is the sort of public appointment we can applaud without hesitation, for Kirk's only offering so far as we know, is his considerable ability to function in such a post. This is not the mere moving of a piece of political luggage. We wish Kirk a happy career in the public livery."

EXPRESS WAY . . . I drove from my home on the outskirts of Raleigh last week to Lexington—a distance of about 105 miles—and did not go through one town. There was only one stoplight.

The next time you come east—or go west—particularly if you are going to Statesville, Lexington, High Point, Thomasville, Greensboro, Burlington, Durham, or Raleigh—or any of the cities lying in this general territory—get on this express day and go.

In my opinion it's the finest thing that has happened in the primary road system in North Carolina.

JOINT MEETING . . . My reason for the trip was a speaking engagement at the annual joint meeting of the Hickory and Newton Kiwanis Clubs.

This was held at the St. Stephens Consolidated School, one of the largest schools from an enrollment standpoint in that section of the State. This is a typical, modern, spanking new school—and truly a wonderful plant.

An old friend of ours, Webb (Red) Murray, with whom I was in school at Duke, is principal of this school. He played some fine baseball for Jack Coombs at Duke and was a successful coach before becoming a school administrator.

It's always fun — and a great moral builder — to renew acquaintances with old friends. Dick Gurley, another old side kick, is superintendent of the Newton-Conover School System. And, to make matters complete, an old High School friend, Bill Hamilton, is superintendent of the Hickory School System.

It was like class reunion day for a few hours in Catawba County last Thursday afternoon and Thursday night.

VISITORS . . . A short while before I was to leave Raleigh for the Kiwanis meeting, two of my old Duke teammates came by the house. One was Don Hyatt and the other, Nick Warren. Nick is now with the Durham Recreation Department while Hyatt is an official in the Newport News Shipyards. He was recuperating from a recent appendectomy.

Don's proposition was that I should go with him and Nick for a brief visit with Don's mother in Waynesville. She was a second mother to all the Duke boys from the Waynesville - Asheville section 25 years ago.

What with Christmas coming on, I was in a mood for renewing old friendships and a spirit of good will prevailed. I wanted to see Mrs. Hyatt, who was a special mother to me when I used to go to summer school at Lake Junaluska, and I wanted to be with my old college chums for a few carefree hours again.

ALEX AND LEE . . . When we pulled into Hickory, we decided the first thing would be to visit those old college chums, Alex and Lee George. They are now successful merchandisers and operate one of the largest grocery and produce firms in the State, have vast real estate holdings, own half-interest in a hosiery mill, and are other wise in financial clover.

THE FIRST MILLION . . . I reminded Alex of the proposition we had agreed to while we were students at Duke.

One day Alex came into my room and said we ought to make promise that the first one who made a million dollars would give the other one $50,000. I told him that, while I was surprised at his offer, I would accept it at once as Syrians were noted for their ability to make money while the Brewers had been something less than famous along that particular line. We shook hands on it.

I said to him last week, as a gentle reminder: "Alex, do you remember that little agreement we made at Duke?"

Alex turned to a friend standing nearby and said: "Kidd and I agreed that the first one of us making a million would give the other $5,000."

I told him the figure was $50,000—not $5,000—and that the mistake he had just made convinced me he was right at the million dollar mark. Well, I didn't collect but his friendship could mean much more to me than the $50,000.

ON TO WAYNESVILLE . . . After the meeting, we made off for Waynesville. Had a fine, old-fashioned breakfast with Mrs. Hyatt. It was plenty cold in Waynesville on Friday morning, Dec. 9, with snow on the rooftops and snow flurries slanting angrily against the gray sky.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT . . . We left Waynesville in time to get to Winston-Salem and help my mother celebrate her 75th birthday. This was the grandest Christmas present of all for me. What is Christmas without old, dear friends and relatives to share it with us?

60 Second Sermons

TEXT: "Pride has made more phoools than the Lord has."—Josh Billings.

A matron of great beauty went into a hat shop accompanied by her 10 year old daughter who gave promise of being as beautiful as her mother. While her mother was trying on hats, the child placed one on her head. Turning to her mother, she asked,

"Mother, I look just like you now, don't I?"

"Hush," cautioned her mother. "Don't be vain, dear."

Who is responsible for the pride some people assume? When we fawn on those who claim some distinction, we are the ones who tilt their noses. Without our applause they would have no reason to strut. Josh Billings wrote, "A vain man, banished to the wilderness, soon becomes as natural as a toadstool." The sure cure for a snob is to remove his audience. Servile groveling is a voluntary position assumed by lesser men and women. They find it easier to bow in worship than to stand erect and earn honors for themselves.

The pride that others carry is wrapped in our weakness. Pride may make "phoools," but it takes "phoools" to make people proud. Copyright 1955 Fred Dodge

By J. B. WHITAKER
 In II Cor. 11:3—the Apostle Paul states, "But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ." Many people in this world today think that the gospel is so complicated that only scholars can understand it. Many people let religious leaders guide them without questioning their teaching. When man does this it is possible that his mind is corrupted. The Gospel of Christ is for every responsible person. It is not reasonable to think that God gave a form so mystical that every one can't understand it. The curse of God is placed upon the one who would pervert His word. God would not curse one for perverting a complicated mystical message so confusing as to be beyond human understanding. The examples of conversion given in the New Testament show that the way is plain. The people on Pentecost heard just one sermon, they understood it, and they obeyed the commands of God. What did these people do? (1) They asked what to do to be saved. Acts 2:37 reads, "Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do? (2) They were given an answer: "Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." (3) They obeyed the command. In verse 41 we are told, "Then they that gladly received his word were baptized; and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls. In verse 47 we are told "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved." Is this not part of the simplicity of which Paul was speaking in the Corinthian letter? In Acts 8 we have the story of another man who heard just one sermon and realized his condition and obeyed the Gospel of Christ. Read Acts 8:26-40. Saul understood what he must do. Acts 22:16. In Acts 16 the Philippian jailer learned in just a very short time what he must do. Did he hesitate? No. He was baptized the same hour of the night. Acts 16:33. It is clearly seen in all of the above examples that there is "simplicity in Christ." Many people despise simple things—but God esteems many simple things highly. Have you been led away from the simplicity that is in Christ? We can all understand these things—where then does confusion and division come from? These come from the things which the Bible does not authorize. Many people today believe things which God has not said. If we believe God and follow His Word closely we will have authority for everything we practice in religion. Do not be deceived by false teaching. Study the Word of God. Do not be led away from the simplicity that is in Christ. Obey the gospel of Christ. (Adv.)

Cooleemee Indians turned back Thomasville in two exciting games Tuesday night. Forward Anette Carter scored a goal in a sudden death overtime period to give the Cooleemee girls a 50-48 victory in the opener. The Cools made it a clean sweep with a 38-34 win in the nightcap.

The girls ended the regulation game in a 44-44 deadlock and they were tied 48-48 at the end of the first overtime period. In the sudden death period, Carter dropped in a field goal to decide the issue.

Lucey Jean King led the scoring for the Cooleemee girls with 27 points. Carter had 11.

The line-ups and summary:

On Thursday night the Indians will travel to Rockwell for two more victories. This game will start at 7:00, so come out and support your team.

This past week has been a very happy and proud one for Cooleemee High School. The football team received the trophy for the Conference championship. On Jan. 3, the Lions Club will be host at a banquet for the football team.

Everyone is looking forward to Friday at noon when the Christmas holidays will start. The exams will be given on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Former Cooleemee students that were home over the week end from college and army were Jimmy Osborne, Roberta Shepherd, Gloria Miller, and George Foster.

Many students attended the square dance which was held at the school gym Saturday night. There will be square dances every Saturday night until Christmas.

Devils with the help of Elizabeth King and Margaret Angel. Outstanding defensive players were Rachel Langston, Winifred Davis, and Edith Pileher. Leonard Shelton, Johnny McBride, Clarence Driver, Johnny Hauser, James White, and Jimmy Smith did a good job of holding back the Woodleaf team. A statement from Coach Dull explains that "The players are inexperienced, having only Johnny McBride and Rachel Langston back from last year's starting line-up. But," he adds, "we expect a lot of wins by tournament time."

The Beta Club met Monday night and the new members received their pins, banners and certificates. Mr. Wallace, our Principal, gave a talk on "What the Club Expects of Its Members." The business part of the meeting pertained to the discussion and report on various projects. Plans for our homecoming basketball game were discussed and a Christmas party was planned.

The 4-H met Thursday evening at 1:15. The Junior and Senior clubs were combined and after a short program, our special visitor was introduced, Bernard Bouche from Algeria, international farm youth exchange, showed some slides and gave a talk about Algeria and the countries he had visited.

We are all enjoying the recorded music that is being played this week and next week in the school cafeteria during lunch period.

Farmington ball game with Woodleaf will be played at Farmington Dec. 15 instead of Dec. 16 as announced. Game is at 7 p.m.

William O. Cohen, Jr. Finishes Basic Training

A/3c William O. Cohen, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Cohen of Mocksville, Route 2, has finished basic training at the Lackland Air Force Base.

At the present time he is at the Amarillo Air Force Base, Texas, where he is taking eighteen weeks of jet machine school.

The big events around school this week are the basketball games. On Friday, Dec. 2, the Blue Devils met the East Bend Wildcats for two very exciting games. The girls lost to East Bend, 21 to 46, but the boys lost by only nine points. Johnny McBride, Clarence Driver, and Johnny Hauser were the top scorers. On Dec. 8, the Blue Devils traveled to Woodleaf. The games were so close that there is still some doubt about who won. Carolyn Boger scored 11 points and did a fine job for the Blue

MHS News

By BILL COLLETTE

The Mocksville Wildcats dropped both games of the season's opening night double header with Courtney, led by Wanda Hauser with 26 points, rolled over the locals 41-27. Julia Allen was high scorer for our girls with eight points, followed by Patty Taylor with seven.

The boy's game turned out to be a real thriller. The Cats led by two points (26-24) at the end of the first quarter, and at the half and the end of the third period the score was tied. Foul shots by Kenneth Baily and Harvey Draughn in the final five seconds of play turned the tide in favor of the visitors. High scoring honors were divided between Bruce Smith and Cleve Hollars with 19 each, while Kenny Howell was tops for the locals with 17.

Mrs. Crenshaw's Senior Class presented the chapel program Friday. Gail Walker read the scripture, after which June Green and the chorus sang "O Holy Night." The program was a quiz show, "Two For the Money," starring Billy Sell as Herb Shriner, and featuring Floyd Green and Gailther Sanford. Tex and Betty Jo Foster, Henry Shutt and B. U. Edwards, and Ann Rankin and J. were contestants. Tex and Betty Jo also sang some Christmas carols.

Jonesville High defeated the locals 65-43 and 84-54 Friday night. Patty Taylor hit on 11 of 16 attempts from the floor for 22 points to tie for high scoring honors. The taller Jonesville quintet turned their play into a complete rout as forward Jim Mickey hit for 27 points. Denny Rollins and "Lefty" Howell led the attack for the Wildcats.

The annual Christmas program was presented to the PTA Monday night by the Glee Club. It consisted of solos by Veona Welborn and Floretta Collette, and several numbers by the group, which is very ably conducted by Mrs. Gene Smith.

Philip Rowland Receives Eagle Scout Award, Sunday

Presentation Is Made At Baptist Church Here

The highest award in the program of scouting, the Eagle Scout Award, was presented to Phillip Rowland during the service at the First Baptist Church in Mocksville on Sunday morning.

Ross Garrison, Field Executive of the Uwharrie Council of the Boy Scouts of America, made the presentation of the Eagle Scout badge on Phillip. Following this, Phillip pinned a replica of the badge on his mother. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rowland, of Mocksville stood on each side of him during the presentation.

Phillip is 16 years of age and is a Junior at the Mocksville High School.

He became a member of the Boy Scouts on May 19, 1950, and last May attained the rank of Life Scout. During his five years as a Boy Scout he has earned a total of 21 merit badges and received the coveted God and Country Award and the Order of the Arrow. In 1953, he attended the National Boy Scout Jamboree in California. This past August, he and five other scouts of this county, participated in a naval cruise.

As a Boy Scout, Phillip has served as Patrol Leader, Junior Assistant Scout Master and Crew Leader.

For the past three years he has served as manager of the Mocksville High School football team. Scholaristically he has a "B" average and as a freshman was a member of the glee club.

Active in church work, he regularly attends Sunday School and the Baptist Training Union at the First Baptist Church. He also serves as an usher at the church.

Phillip is a member of the Mocksville Troop 575, of which Tom Hunter is the Scoutmaster.

Phillips Is Named As Davie County Soil Conservation Supervisor

C. W. Phillips has been elected to serve as one of Davie County's Soil Conservation Supervisors for a period of three years.

Mr. Phillips is a dairyman of Mocksville, Route 3.

Other county soil conservation supervisors, in addition to Mr. Phillips, include J. N. Smoot and Robert L. Seaford.

Soil Conservation officials have pointed out that Mr. Phillips has done an outstanding job of conserving soil and water on his farm.

Traditional Tree Lighting Program At Hairston Home

The traditional Christmas tree lighting program was held at the Cooleemee Plantation Sunday evening.

Mrs. Peter W. Hairston, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Hairston, Jr., were hosts to a large number of out of town friends at a buffet dinner. Following the dinner, all gathered around the large Christmas tree where the traditional candle lighting service took place accompanied by group singing of Christmas carols.

Jaycee DSA Nominations Requested

Nominations for the Distinguished Service Award, sponsored by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce, must be in the hands of Bill Daniel, DSA Chairman, Mocksville, by Dec. 31.

Mr. Daniel requested that any organization or person wishing to nominate a young man of the community for this award to do so by this date.

The award will be conferred for achievements, leadership, and service to the community. The award is for direct, outstanding service and has no relation to Junior Chamber of Commerce membership. Nominee need not be a member of a Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Nominees must be at least 21 years of age, and must not have attained his 36th birthday before January 1, 1956.

The announcement of the selection and the presentation of the award will be made at the annual DSA banquet—time and date to be announced later.

Mocksville Is First In Bi-County Judging

The Mocksville High School team placed first in the annual Davie-Yadkin crops contest held at Yadkinville on Dec. 14.

The Mocksville team scored a total of 1,879 points for first place. Booneville was second with 1,464 points.

The contest consisted of identifying seeds, plants and plant diseases and judging the quality of seed.

Mocksville's lowest scorer had 26 points more than the highest scorer for other competing schools. Marshall Angell was the highest scorer for the Mocksville team.

The local team consisted of Marshall Angell, Billy O'Neil and Bobby Talbert.

Numbers For Fork Fire Dept. Listed

The Fork Volunteer Fire Department has announced that their truck is now ready for answering calls in the Fork Church area.

Johnny Bailey, fire chief, announced that the Fork Fire Department could be reached by calling anyone of the following numbers:

During the day: 32293; 32295; or 32352.

At night: 32293; 32292; or 32353.

Personal Greetings

In addition to the regular advertisements and news in this issue you will find many Christmas features. There are personal messages for a Merry Christmas from the various business firms of this area. In appreciation for your patronage and friendship, they are extending to each of you the best wishes for the holiday season.

There will be no publication of this newspaper next week. As has been our custom, we suspend publication for this week in order that the staff of this newspaper may enjoy the Christmas holidays with family and friends.

We take this opportunity to extend to each of you the warmest greetings for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

N. C. State Alumni Elect New Officers

Davie County Chapter of North Carolina State College Alumni Association held their annual supper meeting December 8 at the Riverside Hotel in Cooleemee.

Frank Boyd, president, presided. L. L. Ray, Director of Foundations at State College, discussed the situation at State College and plans for the future.

New officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President: Sheek Bowden, Jr. Vice President: C. W. Howell. Secretary: M. H. Hoyle, Jr.

Christmas Party Given For Children at Advance

A Christmas party for children was given Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Methodist Community building, Advance, by Clyde Barber of Winston-Salem. Children came from Bixby, Cornet, Macconia, Hanes, Winston-Salem, Mocksville as well as from Advance.

Mr. Barber is a conductor on the Southern Railway and loves children and has many friends along the track, who wait for his train and wave to him.

A program of Christmas songs with Mrs. B. R. Bailey as pianist, was used and special singers were the Worrell sisters from Hanes Methodist Church and the male quartet from the Wachovia Arbor Moravian Church.

Mr. Barber is also a lay preacher from Christ Moravian Church in Winston-Salem, and he gave a good object lesson using a railroad lantern to illustrate "Christ the Light of the World."

Dorton Holthouser, engineer of the train, played Santa Claus, giving out 150 bags of treats to the children up to 12 years of age.

A Christmas playlet was given by Mrs. Bailey's class of children with chorus.

Leaf Markets In The State Close Season

Although seven tobacco markets were operating on the flue-cured old belt at the beginning of last week, all but one had held their final sales by Friday.

Only Danville, Va., which closed for the Christmas holidays Friday, is scheduled to hold further sales. The Danville market is scheduled to be open Jan. 10 and 11.

Among the markets holding final sale were South Hill, Va., and Greensboro, N. C., which closed Wednesday, and Burlington, N. C., whose final sales were held Thursday.

The Winston-Salem market held its final sales Friday, concluding one of the best selling seasons in its history. The cash receipts of $36,900,000 did set a record, and the volume — 68,000,000 pounds — was the third highest. The season's average was $53.65.

During the week most average prices and quality declined, according to the U. S. and State Departments of Agriculture. Volume was light and a large percentage of offerings were not in sound condition.

Gross sales last week totaled 5,595,252 pounds averaging $47.12 per hundred, down $3.45 from the previous week and a new season low.

So far this season, during 59 sales days 310,064,260 pounds have been sold averaging $53.63 per hundred. During last year's sales season, which ran 71 days, 283,304,950 pounds were sold averaging $51.93.

During the past week Virginia markets sold 3,087,500 pounds averaging $46.73. For the season Virginia markets have sold 138,063,359 pounds averaging $54.29. North Carolina markets last week sold 2,507,752 pounds averaging $47.60 while for the season Tar Heel markets sold 152,000,901 pounds averaging $53.35.

Sgt. James Campbell Is Commissioned As Warrant Officer

Sgt. James T. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. P. Campbell of 539 Wilkesboro St., Mocksville, has successfully completed the Army cargo helicopter pilots course, at the Army Aviation School at Fort Rucker, Ala. He received the wings of an Army helicopter pilot and was commissioned a warrant officer in the United States Army.

Graduation exercises took place at the Ft. Rucker post theatre, Dec. 17, with many officials of the Army Aviation School in attendance. The course was 22 weeks in length, and the graduates will be assigned to one of seven branches of the United States Army now using organic aviation both at home and in foreign areas.

The Army Aviation School this year will train more than 2,000 members of the Army ground forces as pilots and maintenance personnel. The School now teaches 13 courses at this southeast Alabama Army Aviation training center.

Master Campbell is married to the former Valite Jean Brown, of Winston-Salem.

Davie County Plans For A Very Merry Christmas

The Clayton Groce Farms Is Identified

Last week's mystery farm was that of Clayton Groce, Mocksville, Route 5. It was correctly identified by ten people.

The first six to identify the farm and qualify for theatre passes were Johnny Boger, Mildred Jones, Haines Yates, Helen Hutchins, Herman Boger and Doris Hutchins.

Others identifying the farm included Virginia Boger, Gary Groce, Gilbert Boger and Ellis Leagans.

Churches Give Plans For Christmas Programs

As has been the custom in the past, Christmas observance this year in Davie County will be highlighted by the special programs of the various churches. Most of these programs are scheduled for the latter part of the week. Some churches presented their annual program this past Sunday.

Christmas Eve will be observed in most of the homes with the stocking hanging ritual, following which the children will be toddled off to bed — with some trying to sleep and others trying to stay awake hoping to get a glimpse of "Old Santa" in action.

Early Christmas morning these same children will usurp the household at a very early hour. Then the opening of Christmas presents will take place. Then Christmas of 1955 will join the passing parade.

The programs of various churches and organizations in Davie County, as reported to us, are as follows:

Holidays

Holiday closings in and around Mocksville as reported to this newspaper will be as follows:

The schools of Davie County closed last Friday at noon and will reopen on Monday, Jan. 2.

Stores

Most of the Mocksville merchants will close at the cessation of business (sometime Saturday night) and will remain closed until Wednesday morning, Dec. 28.

Motor Companies

Local motor companies and garages will close at noon on Saturday and will re-open on Tuesday morning.

Two Trucks Collide; Roy Speer Is Injured

A young Davie County man was injured Thursday night when his pickup truck collided head-on with a tractor-trailer on Highway 601, about five miles north of Mocksville.

Roy Speer, 20, of Mocksville, Route 5, was admitted to the Lula Conrad Hoots Memorial Hospital at Yadkinville with severe cuts about the face. Hospital attendants said his condition was not regarded as serious.

The accident occurred about 5:30 p.m. near the Davie-Yadkin line. State Highway Patrolman T. J. Badgett said Speer's truck collided with a tractor-trailer which was attempting to pass another tractor-trailer on a slight hill.

Bernard Thomas Johnson, 45, of Ronevert, W. Va., driver of the tractor-trailer, was charged with improper passing. He told the patrolman that his rig was almost at a standstill when hit by the Speer vehicle.

The front of the pickup was sheared off to the windshield. Patrolman Badgett said the accident was "one of the worst head-on accidents I have even seen."

The tractor-trailer was not badly damaged, the patrolman said. Speer, alone in the pickup was en route home from Yadkinville where he is employed as a mechanic.

Heritage

Heritage will close on Friday afternoon with a barbecue for all employees. They will reopen on Monday, January 2.

Hanes

Hanes Furniture Company will close out work around 4 p.m. Wednesday afternoon with a barbecue for all the employees, after which treats will be presented to the employees. They will reopen on Monday, Jan. 2.

Monleigh

The Monleigh Garment Company and B & F Manufacturing Company will close out work Wednesday at noon with their annual Christmas party. They will reopen on Wednesday, Dec. 28.

County Offices

The Davie County offices will be closed December 24 through December 26 in observance of the Christmas holidays.

Draft Board

The office of the Davie County Board of Selective Service will be closed until January 2.

Town Office

The Mocksville Town Office will be closed December 26 and 27 in observance of the holidays.

Mocksville Feed Mills

The Mocksville Feed Mills will close Friday evening and will reopen on Tuesday morning.

Green Milling Company

The J. P. Green Milling Company will close at noon Saturday and will reopen on Wednesday.

Bank and Building & Loan

The Bank of Davie and the Mocksville Building and Loan office will be closed on Monday.

Post Office

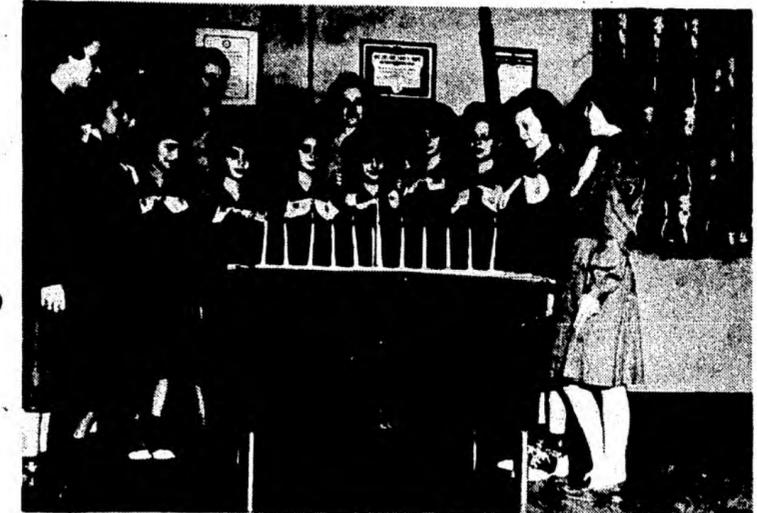

The post office will be closed on Monday only.

St. John's Dinner On December 29th

The annual St. John's Dinner sponsored by the local Masonic Lodge, will be held at the lodge hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 29, at 6:30 p.m.

CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY OF GIRL SCOUT TROOP NO. 3 was held last Tuesday night at the Rotary Hut. Each girl lighted a candle and repeated the laws of the scouts. The color guard was carried out by girls from Troop No. 1: Barbara Chapman, Sue Brewer, Vickie Felmter and Patsy Fuller. Members of Troop No. 3 participating in the candlelight service are shown above, left to right: Norma Denn Messick, Anne McCullough, Christine Clements, Amanda Frayliek, Karleen Sell, Julia Craven, June Jones, Dianne Hendricks, Sharon Marklin and Frances Boger. The leaders of the troop, Mrs. Fred Frayliek and Mrs. Jim Fuller are shown standing behind the girls. At the end of the ceremony each girl served refreshments to their parents who were present for the ceremony. This troop was formed in September of this year. It is sponsored by the Rotary Club. Girl Scouts Hold Christmas Parties

The "Brownies" troop of girl scouts held a party in the Methodist Fellowship Hut last week. Mothers of the Brownies were special guests.

Troop No. 1

Mrs. C. C. Chapman's Patrol held a Christmas party at her home on the afternoon of Dec. 15. Games were played and refreshments of candy, cookies and drinks were served.

Mrs. P. B. Blackwelder's Patrol had a square dance on Dec. 16. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Williams called the dance.

Troop No. 3

Troop No. 3, under the leadership of Mrs. Jim Fuller and Mrs. Fred Frayliek, held a Christmas party and investiture service in the Rotary Hut last Tuesday night. Parents of the girl scouts were special guests and received gifts made by their daughters.

Cooleemee Legion Post To Sponsor Dance Friday Night

There will be a dance in the Cooleemee High School Gym Friday night, Dec. 23, sponsored by Cooleemee Post No. 54 of the American Legion. The dance will begin at 8 o'clock and continue until midnight.

Music will be furnished by C. W. Hines and his Rhythm and Blues Orchestra. This is one of North Carolina's outstanding Negro bands. If you don't dance you will enjoy the fine music anyway.

A bingo party will be held in conjunction with the dance. This will be held under the Gym, in the School Cafeteria.

Proceeds will go toward purchasing Christmas gifts for needy families. The Legion invites the public to this enjoyable evening of entertainment.

BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS TREE FROM A MOCKSVILLE JAYCEE

Coupon Plan Cuts Prices At the Memorial Coliseum

The Winston-Salem Coliseum shows that they would not dare bring otherwise.

The theory is that the price reductions pay the promoters in the long run simply by stimulating more interest in the performances.

Some coupons in the Value Book are good for a 50 cent reduction in price on which ever seat the purchaser wishes to buy for a specific performance. Other coupons, called "Two for One," are good for a free seat beside whichever seat the purchaser buys. In other words, a "Two for One" ticket lets two people into the Coliseum for the price of one.

All coupons for wrestling matches also carry a 25 cent reduction in the price of parking.

Some of the specific events already scheduled for next year—each carrying a free ticket or reduced price in the coupon book, are:

Friday, Jan. 13 — Grand Ole Opry show with Carl Smith, Ernest Tubb, Martha Carson, Benny Martin and Minnie Pearl.

Wednesday, Feb. 15 — Gene Autry Show (two performances).

Friday, Feb. 17 — Jack Kramer's "world famous professional tennis matches" with Tony Trabert.

September — Ice Capades (12th International Edition).

October — Grandstand attraction at the Winston-Salem Fair.

Sometime in the Fall — Harlem Globetrotters.

December — Three Wake Forest basketball games.

Here is a complete breakdown of the coupons offered in the book:

a. ONE (1) absolutely Free Admission to any evening of Wrestling during 1956. This coupon is good for the highest price reserved seat ticket.

b. One (1) absolutely Free Admission to any one performance of your choice of Grand Ole Opry. This coupon is good for the highest price reserved seat ticket.

c. FOUR (4) Coupons — each good for two admissions at the price of 1 for Wrestling and good for tickets in all price ranges. These coupons are also good for a 25c reduction in parking when attending Wrestling.

d. TWO (2) Coupons — each good for two admissions at the price of one for Grand Ole Opry. For example — if you purchase a $1.50 reserved seat ticket, you will be given another $1.50 ticket (next to the one you purchased) absolutely Free. This pertains to tickets in all price ranges.

e. FIVE (5) Coupons — good for 50c each towards the purchase price of tickets for the following outstanding events:

The Gene Autry Show — Wednesday, Feb. 15.

Jack Kramer's World Famous Professional Tennis Matches, Friday, February 17.

Ice Capades — 12th International Edition — Opening Night in September.

The Harlem Globetrotters Basketball — November.

Grandstand attraction at the Winston-Salem Fair — October.

f. FIVE (5) Coupons — good for 50c each towards the purchase price of tickets in all price ranges for 5 different All Star Variety and Popular Shows featuring outstanding television, stage and recording stars and including Jazz, Rhythm and Blues Shows.

g. FIVE (5) Mystery Bonus Coupons — good for 50c each towards the purchase price of tickets in all price ranges for Special Attractions to be announced during 1956.

h. THREE (3) Coupons — good for 50c each towards the purchase price of tickets for 3 Wake Forest College Basketball games to be held in December, 1956.

i. TWELVE (12) Coupons — good for 50c each towards the purchase price of all tickets for Wrestling during 1956 — one coupon good for each month of the year — and each coupon with a further reduction of 25c each to be applied toward the charge for parking.

j. TWO (2) Coupons — good for 50c each towards the purchase price of all tickets for 2 different Grand Ole Opry performances.

Mr. Irvin Feld, president of Super Attractions, Inc., said holders of coupon books will always be given the best seats available at the time they exchange their coupons for tickets.

H. D. Clubs Have Yule Meetings

Cana Club

The Cana Home Demonstration Club meeting was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. D. Pope. Mrs. E. R. Pope, vice president, presided.

The meeting opened with the group singing "O Come All Ye Faithful" after which Miss Florence Mackie conducted the devotional service.

The program consisted of a song "Silent Night," a poem by Mrs. M. D. Pope and a reading, "Christmas," by Mrs. J. R. Harris.

The roll call was answered with members telling how to be happy at Christmas time.

Mrs. Clayton Groce directed the games with prizes awarded Mrs. Jim Eaton, Mrs. D. C. Clement, Mrs. J. R. Harris and Mrs. J. O. Ferebee. Christmas gifts were exchanged and heart sisters revealed after which punch, cookies and candies were served by the hostesses to 19 members, three children and three visitors.

Union Chapel Club

The Union Chapel Home Demonstration Club met in the Davie County Office Building recently for a Christmas meeting and supper. Games were played and gifts exchanged by the 17 members present.

Two things that make for SAFER driving! The first and most important thing is you - the driver. As the highway safety organizations and law enforcement agencies point out, the courtesy, care, and common sense you show count more than anything else. You can drive any car safely - or foolishly. The second thing is the car itself. All cars are safer today. That's shown by the number of accidents in relation to the number of miles passenger cars are driven. The figure's been going down steadily and sharply. Chevrolet engineers and designers have always made your safety a major consideration, introducing many such features as the all-steel top, safety plate glass all around, and windshield-wide defrosters into the low-price field. And this '56 Chevrolet is the safest one ever built. Its lively new power means safer passing. Its special Ball-Race steering-the oversize brakes with Anti-Dive control-the Unisteel construction and safety door latches of its Fisher Body-the nailed-to-the-road stability that comes from outrigger rear springs, an advanced suspension system and better balance-the sweeping panoramic windshield - all these things add to your safety. Seat belts with or without shoulder harness? Instrument panel padding? Of course, they're available at extra cost on your new Chevrolet. But the best protection of all is to keep out of accidents in the first place. And that depends mostly on you and the built-in safety of your car. As your Chevrolet dealer, we'll be glad to show you the many safety features of the '56 Chevrolet. Pennington Chevrolet Co., Inc. Phone 156 Mocksville, N. C.

"LET GOD BE TRUE"

By J. H. WHITTAKER

In the 12th chapter of Hebrews the writer draws a contrast between the two lawgivers and covenantants. In chapter 12:25 he says, "See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven." The Bible teaches us that our lawgiver to-day is Christ. In Heb. 1:1-2 we read, "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds." On the Mount of Transfiguration we are told in Matt. 17:5 God said, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him." Christ speaks unto us today through his word. Hearing the word of Christ can mean the difference between eternal life and torment. How is it that people today can refuse him that speaketh? We can refuse him by refusing to study the Bible. We can turn our backs on the teachings of the Lord. Paul in 2 Tim. 4:3, 4 says, "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." People also refuse him that speaketh by refusing to obey. Many will listen to what Christ says but with no intention of obeying. Obedience is what Christ is interested in. We need to listen with the intention to obey. In James 1:22 we read, "But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves." Many people refuse the word spoken to us because they try to take a neutral position. Jesus affirmed, however, "He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." We are either "for" or "against" Christ. The Bible is quite emphatic in telling us what shall happen to those who refuse Christ. In Matt. 28:18 Jesus said, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." What then are we doing in refusing to listen to Christ? We are turning our backs upon the highest authority in the world. In Heb. 10:28, 29 we read, "He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses: Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?" We see certainly that our punishment will be even greater than that inflicted on the Children of Israel when they refused to hear God as he spake through Moses. In Heb. 2:1 we read, "Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to these things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip." Have you obeyed the gospel of Christ? He is coming to "Take vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." (II Thess. 1:8). (Adv.) Jericho church of Christ

NORTH CAROLINA UNLIMITED

N. C. RURAL ELECTRIFICATION ABOVE THE NATIONAL AVERAGE!

At the end of 1954, according to the N. C. Rural Electrification Authority, there were 279,685 Tarheel farms which were electrified. The grand total of all N. C. farms is 288,508 which means that 96.9% of them have electrical service. If you compare 1954 with the year 1935, when only 3.2% of all Tarheel farms were electrified, it's easy to see that great progress has been made in this direction—and certainly it is an important contribution in making North Carolina a better place in which to work, play and live.

Another contribution to more pleasant living for North Carolinians is the brewing industry's self-regulation program where brewers, wholesalers and retailers—in counties where malt beverages are permitted under State control—cooperate to maintain 'wholesome' conditions for the legal sale of beer and ale.

Three Christmas Wishes

Dear Santa:

No one knows better than you that this is a season of wishes. However, the wonderful thing about this season is that the wishes include others and are not entirely selfish.

At Sunday School this past Sunday a teacher posed this question for his class:

"If you could have one wish to come true—what would you wish for?" This set many people to thinking and there were probably many different answers.

On behalf of all mankind, Santa, there are three wishes to be made. If these three could be granted at this Christmas, 1955, then the whole world would be the beautiful place for which it was intended.

Wish number one, Santa, is for "Peace On Earth." As you know, "peace" is defined as "harmony in personal relations." It is freedom from civil disturbance or foreign war. It is a condition that is constantly being prayed for and sought for by all the peoples of the world. However, the barrier to peace appears to be a disagreement as to terms along with the predominance of selfish interests. This is covered in the second wish, Santa.

Wish number two is for "Goodwill Among Men." "Goodwill" is defined as "good intention or good disposition." If we as individuals could constantly possess and display the feeling of "goodwill," then perhaps we would have the peace for which we have wished. The feeling of "goodwill" can never stem from a selfish motive. In itself it expresses an active concern for others.

Someone once said that most of our selfish desires stem from a fear of the future—in other words, we seek the fulfillment of desires now regardless of the cost or who it may hurt. We do this because we feel uncertain of the future, be it ever so near and so dear. That brings on wish number three, Santa.

Wish number three, Santa, is for "FAITH IN THE FUTURE". Faith is complete confidence and trust and completely rules out poison of fear. To have faith we must believe in a power greater than ourselves—the thing that is professed by many, and yet honestly practiced by so few.

Perhaps, Santa, these wishes have been listed in reverse—for is viewed the other way they become natural steps.

"Faith in the future" cannot help but bring about "goodwill among men," for it is skepticism and suspicion that creates animosity among men. And for the final step, "goodwill among men" is "peace on earth," the condition that we all constantly seek.

Of course it is realized, Santa, that if it was in your power to grant these three wishes this Christmas would be the greatest ever. However, they are wishes that even your great spirit cannot grant without the cooperation of mankind.

You might do this, however, Santa: In your rounds and in your contacts with both children and adults—especially the children—point out that the observance of Christmas stems from an event 1955 years ago that outlined the way of making these desired wishes come true.

The birth of Jesus Christ in the manger at Bethlehem was to signify for mankind—faith in the future. He laid down a philosophy and lived a life that exemplified goodwill among men. He showed the way that we could have—peace on earth—by following the guideposts of "faith" and "goodwill."

There is a story which many have read during their childhood that concerns three wishes. You may recall it going something like this:

A man and his wife were granted three wishes, but only three. For sometime they argued back and forth as to what they should wish. One day the man came in and told his wife about stopping by the home of a neighbor and seeing a delicious plum pudding.

"I wish I had a plum pudding," the man said without thinking. Suddenly the plum pudding was in his hand.

"You crazy oaf," said his wife, "Now you've wasted one of our precious wishes. I wish you had that plum pudding on the tip of your nose!" Suddenly the plum pudding appeared on the tip of the man's nose. Tug and pull as he might, it would not dislodge.

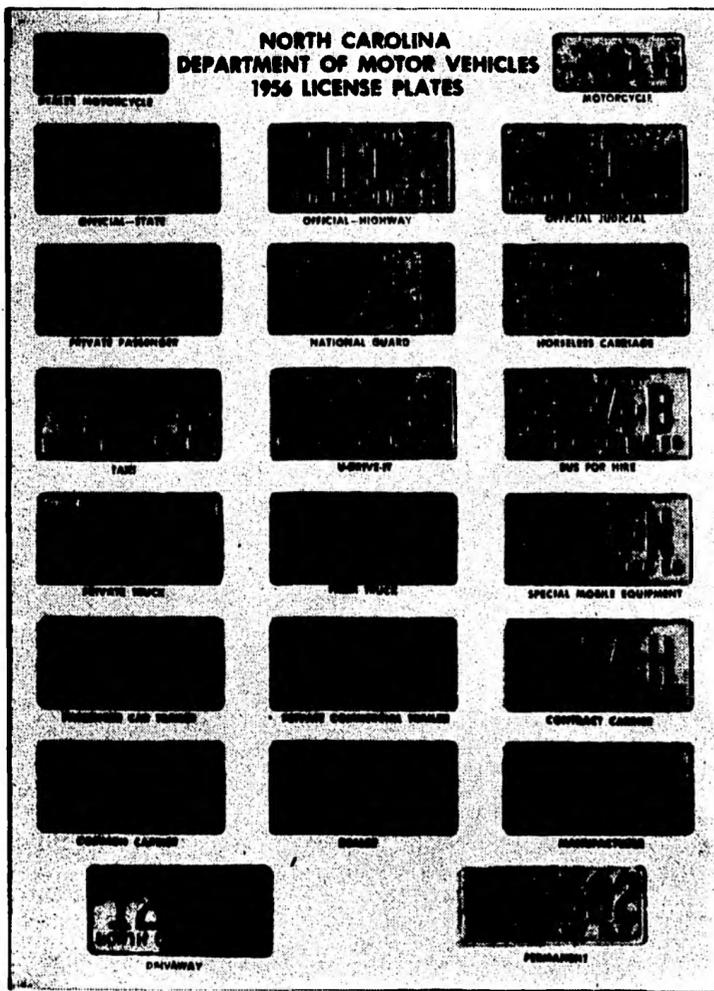

"Well," said he husband, "you know for what I must wish. I just can't go around the rest of my life with the plum pudding on my nose."

"But," said the wife, "just think of all the riches we could have with the one wish—all the many beautiful things for which we have always yearned."

"But," said the husband, "nothing is as important to me as getting this plum pudding off the end of my nose. I wish it were off!" And that spent all the wishes.

Santa, the above story illustrates that in our wishful living we often overlook the basic things in life. We fail to recognize that most of our wishes have already been granted—we just fail to evaluate them in the busy process of living.

This Christmas, and every day of the year, may we recognize and be forever conscious of the event 1955 years ago that shows the way for "FAITH IN THE FUTURE . . . PEACE AND GOODWILL AMONG MEN."

LICENSE LINE-UP—A wide variety of license plates will greet Tar Heel motor vehicle owners January 3 when the new black-on-orange plates go on sale throughout the state. Illustrated are the 22 classifications including a brand-new Horseless Carriage tag. Owners of old-timey (35 years or more) vehicles may secure the distinctive tag for $5. Only one tag will be required in 1956.

To many people, one of New York's magic places is 290 Park Avenue. It is just across from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and this street number, plain on a sidewalk canopy, is that of a large apartment building, 19 stories high in reality, but in our fancy, as tall as Jack's Beanstalk. For here lived Oscar Odd McIntyre, the foremost of New York columnists, the country boy who made good in the big city and whose typewriter was an Aladdin's Lamp from which he rubbed off magic words for devoted millions of regular out-of-town newspaper readers.

He and his faithful wife, Maybelle, dwelled here in storied happiness for many years, until just 17 years ago, when Odd wrote his last column in this world. He was not well and had agreed to write the column only until 1940; but the grim reaper cut this time short by two years. So it was with real reverence, that my friend Ray Erwin, a North Carolina boy who came to New York because of Odd McIntyre (as I did from Tennessee) and became a writer in the McIntyre manner, and I called on Mrs. McIntyre at 290 Park Avenue recently. We entered the impressive building much as we would a church; for any many ways, to us it was a shrine.

And it seemed that we were not quite in this world when we were ushered into the colorful apartment on the 7th floor. For it was just as Odd had left it, Maybelle, his lovely wife, was much as he left her too, but perhaps a bit whiter, but pretty face and sprightly form and vivacious personality still remarkably rare. In the great living room, a cozy fireplace as realistic as that in which I used to make the fires at 4 a.m. on the boyhood farm, dominated an ornate decor of pink and red. Maybelle sat and talked and served us tea, and as she did, Odd lived there again. Childhood days with him when he proposed at 14 back in Ohio, their early struggles in New York when he had only a few papers using his column; then finally the big success when Odd was a byword for the greatest city in the world, and she was his mighty, devoted helpmate. She did handle his business affairs and made the syndicates respect her good financial judgment. On a nearby table were some pink Baby's Breath flowers. But there had been no children in the McIntyre home, I noticed, however, that Maybelle's eyes sparkled as she said, "Odd's columns were a great part of my life. They were all the babies I never had."

Then Snook, as Odd fondly called her, showed us around the home. Adjoining was the columnist's workshop, his chrome-glass desk just as he had typed at it, mementos of Will Rogers, Herbert Hoover, Major Bowes and Roy Howard, all personal friends of America's New York voice. High upon the wall was a portrait of Billy, beloved Boston bull-dog, about whom Odd lovingly wrote so much for so many. In the hall was a tiny painting of a little street in Paris. Snook said, "Lover," as she called Odd, received that as a gift from his painter, Percy Crosby who quit drinking at Odd's request because he was over-doing it. Next was the room of Maybelle's mother who got along so well with Odd that he actually loved her too. Then the honey bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. and a bathroom from which Odd would often look out into Park Avenue at the Waldorf, and get inspiration for his columns. I asked Maybelle where were the hundreds of fine shirts and pajamas which Odd oddly collected. She shyly admitted that most of them had been given away.

As we left this warm and memoried home, Mrs. McIntyre reminded us that they had built another in Gallipolis, Ohio, to which Odd planned always to return, but never did. Outside, we entered the family Rolls-Royce car and were chauffeured uptown. Maybelle laughed at how Odd had only gotten through junior year in high school, yet he was often considered a model of good written English. Through lamp-lit Central Park where she and Odd, at heart, a country boy and girl, used to roam at twilight, we drove; then to dinner at the Dogwood Room. Asked how she felt now that Odd was gone, Maybelle bravely gave her answer: "He and I had thirty years of married bliss, so I am not at all sorry for myself. I'll just spend the rest of my life being grateful."

AMERICA BY 1975
America by 1975 will be a land in which consumer demand per capita and, correspondingly, per household will rise considerably. The National Association of Manufacturers cites a report by the Joint Committee on the Economic Report by Committee Staff of the Federal government in this connection. The report shows, for example, that by 1965 there probably will be a rise in personal income per capita in 1953 dollars from $1,567 to about $2,000, or on a household basis from $5,321 in 1953 to about $6,785 in 1965.

The Driver's Clinic

A question and answer column on traffic safety, driving and automobiles conducted for this newspaper by the State Department of Motor Vehicles:

Question: Is it safer to park or continue driving during an electrical storm?

Answer: It's probably safer to keep on driving at a normal speed because most authorities agree if the driver parked he would perhaps seek shelter under a tree or near some object that might be dangerous.

Question: What is the safest procedure to follow if you encounter a severe dust storm?

Answer: Pull far off the roadway, stop, and turn your lights on low beam.

Question: What is the best way to maintain control if a tire blows?

Answer: Grasp the wheel and steer firmly to keep the front end headed as nearly as possible in the original direction of travel. Do not jerk the wheel and use the brakes cautiously after speed has decreased.

Question: Why is it dangerous to drive with an elbow over the window sill at night?

Answer: It's a bad practice during the day. At night, trucks with no clearance lights or with part of a load extending over the edge of the body could shear off a driver's arm in passing.

Question: Why is it dangerous to transport a person with a broken leg in a passenger car?

Answer: A broken leg should always be splinted before moving the patient. There is too little room in a car for a patient with a splinted leg to lie down, especially when it's necessary to treat him for shock as well.

Question: Why should you not stop within 100 feet of a wreck on the highway?

Answer: For some unexplained reason many drivers delay braking when approaching the scene of an accident until they are right on it, sometimes even skidding into a vehicle or a person. Any vehicle not actually needed at the scene is an unnecessary hazard and creates a hazard for other motorists.

Question: What precautions are necessary to prevent an accident if you have car trouble at night?

Answer: Get off the pavement as far as possible, keep doors on

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "As good to have no time, as to make no good use of it."—Thomas Fuller.

The talkative barber seemed to be taking unusually long to cut his customer's hair. However, he kept up his ceaseless chatter.

"Your hair is getting very gray, sir," he talked on.

"Well," said the bored customer, "I'm not surprised. Hurry up."

Some people have a purpose in killing time. Most of us kill time for no reason at all.

Thomas Jefferson said that no person will have occasion to complain of a lack of time if he never loses any time. Jefferson used every moment to its capacity. James Partin in his "Life of Jefferson," wrote, "A gentleman of 32 who could calculate an eclipse, survey an estate, tie an artery, plan an edifice, try a cause, break a horse, dance a minuet and play the violin." We know him, too, as the author of the Declaration of Independence, President of the United States, educator, inventor, and engineer. Jefferson knew how to use time. His accomplishments shame us when we kill time.

Writing on the "Wisdom of Life" Schopenhauer said, "Ordinary people think merely how they may spend their time: a man of intellect tries to use it." Are you spending or using time?

the traffic side shut, caution passengers to stay off the pavement, turn on parking lights and do not permit passengers to stand between tail lights and vehicles approaching.

Keeping Christmas Merry!

Around Christmas time there are many potential fire hazards.

Take the Christmas tree for instance. It's a potential fire hazard and caution should be taken into its selection, placement in the home, maintenance.

You can play safe by choosing a small one. Keep it outdoors until a few days before setting up. During that time occasionally throw water over it. This will keep it moist, fresh.

When you bring the tree inside, cut the butt slantwise to open the pores, then stand it in a tub of water. Be wary of chemicals or other substances sold for "fireproofing" trees. In some cases this process is ineffective.

In placing the tree, it's best to avoid "hot spots" such as those near the fireplace, stove, television set, radiator, or electric bulbs.

Never use untreated paper ornaments or untreated cotton batting for decoration. Cotton and gauze can be made flame-resistant by dipping in a gallon of water mixed with nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid.

Use only electric lights, never candles. Be sure, too, that wires are in good condition and bear the UL mark denoting Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., which shows they have been tested for safety. Frayed electric cords are a fire hazard.

The switch for turning on the tree lights should be placed some distance from the tree. Never use an outlet or plug under the tree or run electric trains around the base.

Decorations

If decorations are used about the house, do not permit them to be around or near to chairs and other places where people may smoke. It is preferable to have them up near the ceiling, well above the head of anyone standing up.

If lights are desired in the window, never use candles. Keep curtains and other flammable material pulled back at least six inches from any electric light.

Use non-flammable decorations of glass or metal, and "fireproof" snow in decorating your tree for Christmas.

Costumes

A child wearing a gauzy costume and holding a lighted candle can be transformed into a flaming torch in a few seconds.

Santa's whiskers are also fuel for flames. A movie star who played Santa Claus for a children's party forgot he was wearing a big white beard and lit a cigar. His beard flared up.

A New York girl wore a black net evening gown at a Christmas party. She brushed against a lighted candelabra which immediately ignited the dress.

These incidents emphasize the need for caution at Christmas time. Wearing of flammable flimsy costumes and dresses of net or gauze-like fabrics should be discouraged. If they are worn, they can be made flame resistant with the following solution: nine ounces of borax, four ounces boric acid and one gallon of water.

The fabric should be well saturated with the solution, than wrung out by hand, and hung to dry. Fabrics so treated will retain their flexibility and softness. However, the flame retardant qualities are lost when the fabric is washed again, and the process must be repeated after each washing.

The above are only a few of the suggestions—which if followed—will help to keep Christmas "Merry."

That Immortal Christmas Essay... Yes, Virginia

The skepticism of a skeptical age—they do not believe except what they see—they think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds.

"All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge."

"Yes, indeed! 'Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by their little minds."

"It would be as dreary as if there were no Virgins. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light which childhood fills the world would be extinguished."

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies!"

"You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus—the most real things in the world are those neither children nor men can see."

"Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there—nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world."

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, or even the united strength of all the strongest men, that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside the curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond."

"Is it all real?—Oh, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding. No Santa Claus! 'Thank God!—he lives, and he lives forever—a thousand years from now, Virginia, may, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.'"

It was only September, and 1897's Christmas was three months in the future. But Virginia O'Hanlon's concern was with an important problem that, to her, knew no seasons. That was why she wrote her letter to the New York Sun asking "Is there a Santa Claus?" The answer to Virginia's question, composed by a moment of deep spiritual insight by Francis D. Church, stands even today as a testament of faith.

Cooleemee Union Plans Christmas Eve Party

Members of Local 251, United Textile Workers of America, AFL, and their families will be treated to a gala program of the best in hillbilly and western songs and music when Ceell Campbell and his celebrated Tennessee Ramblers make a personal appearance at the Cooleemee School Auditorium Saturday, Dec. 21, at 1:00 and 3:00 p.m.

Featured for years of CBS coast to coast radio shows, Ceell Campbell and his Ramblers also have appeared in a number of motion pictures with Gene Autry and other western stars. They also have made hundreds of personal appearances in theatres throughout the country, playing to capacity audiences everywhere.

In addition to being one of America's outstanding guitar and banjo artists, Mr. Campbell also is noted for his many hillbilly, western and Hawaiian compositions. These include "Tear Drops," "You'll Be Lonely," "Steel Guitar Swing," "I Love Hawaii," "Broken Hartsed," "You Are Always On My Mind," "Neath Hawaiian Palms," "Steel Guitar Hop," "Midnight Boogie," "Last Night I Cried," "Hawaiian Moon," "Little Hula Shack 'In Hawaii," and others.

The Ramblers have built a country wide following with their outstanding RCA Victor records, which are prime favorites in juke boxes everywhere, as well as with collectors of the best in folk music. Campbell, a showman to his finger tips, keeps his program moving at a fast pace, offering a wide variety of songs and music ranging from the standard hillbilly and western favorites to fast boogie woogie.

In addition, the act intersperses its musical numbers with hilarious comedy and cross-fire and puns. Appearing at this Christmas program with Ceell Campbell will be the Jolly Sisters and the Wild Bill Cody show.

Admission to this show is free and tickets may be secured at the Union Office in downtown Cooleemee anytime before noon, Dec. 22.

License Plates Good Until Mid February

Current license plates will be valid until Mid-February, 1956. Motor Vehicles Department reminded Tar Heel car owners today.

Under a revised registration schedule, new tags will go on sale throughout the state January 3, and extend through February 15. Col. James R. Smith, commander of the State Highway Patrol, said that enforcement measures against delinquent motorists would become effective promptly on Feb. 16. He urged owners to secure their new tags without delay following the opening of sales.

New license plates will be sold by branch offices of the Carolina Motor Club, the Winston-Salem Auto Club, and by Motor Vehicle headquarters in Raleigh.

Renewal cards will go into the mail around Dec. 27, Department officials said.

World milk production has not increased as much as population, and production of milk per person is under the pre-war period.

Small Towns First to Light Outdoor Trees

It was a small town that first thought of lighting an outdoor community Christmas tree.

Four communities are believed to have thought of the idea about the same time—as early as 1813. Two of them, McDonald and Germantown, were in Pennsylvania. Salem, Ore., decorated a large Sitka spruce. Riverside, Calif., illuminated a large evergreen, an Aracuria.

The first national Christmas tree was in 1924 and was sponsored by the American Forestry association. The event is now televised every year for all parts of the country to see.

The most spectacular outdoor displays in the United States are at the White House and Rockefeller Center in New York. The New York display is possibly the most elaborate in the world.

But it was the small towns that first thought of the idea.

Today, nearly every community in the land has some kind of Christmas decorations. Many communities string colored lights across the street and decorate light posts with evergreens. Many suspend bells and stars at street intersections and have dazzling community trees.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT . . . Fall of Yule good fellowship. "Bingle" tries to arouse some ditty in the feline heart of "Ginger." Ginger, goodwill season or not, can't get over her distrust of dogs.

Yule Seal Idea Was From Denmark

This year millions of Americans have received a letter from their local chapter of the National Tuberculosis association containing Christmas seals, the seasonal reminder of the never-ending fight to stamp out the disease.

Christmas Card Idea Originated By Englishman

Christmas cards are so much a part of the modern Yule season that one seldom stops to wonder how the idea originated and by whom.

This simple idea of wishing your friends a Merry Christmas brought honor and knighthood to the originator, Henry Cole, a middleclass Englishman.

Cole mailed his cards on a December day in 1848. The cards depicted a Victorian family assembled at the festive board and the traditional Christmas custom of giving to the poor. They also bore the now-classic greeting: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you."

He had a thousand of the cards struck off by a lithograph. They were such a success that plain Henry Cole subsequently became Sir Henry Cole.

The cards we send today, however, are far cry from those mailed by Cole. The cards you send and receive this year will be designed by famous names in contemporary art.

An American shopping for cards this year may select scenes painted by such famous people as Winston Churchill, Britain's prime minister, and famed amateur artist, and Grandma Moses, one of America's most famous artists.

The demand for cards is so great that many companies spend their entire time in designing and producing them for the holiday season.

MRS. SANTA . . . She is lovely. This is Miami Beach's version of Mrs. Santa doing her chimney climbing in the warm southland.

Seed of the new tobacco variety, Dixie Bright 244, will be available through normal dealer channels in North Carolina for next season's plantings.

Double Santa Claus

By Royce Fields
AS WAS his custom during Christmas week of each year, George Brandon leaned against a pillar in the toy department of the big store, and watched the kiddies. Whenever, with a particularly hungry look, a child picked up a toy or eyed one longingly, George raised his hand. This was a signal to the clerk that the price of the toy was on him.

George was no millionaire. It was just that, not having folks of his own to buy Christmas presents for, he spent his gift money on the kids. It gave him a satisfaction to see their faces light up.

A girl had entered the store and was standing by a pillar near the one George was propped against. He had noticed her, with more than casual interest, when she came in. She had a complexion that was the clearest he had ever

The girl caught him staring at her and she smiled. A very nice smile. George would have liked to have a smile like that, just for himself, every day. With an effort he brought his gaze back to the toy counter.

A small boy was wistfully looking at a train. George could picture the kid at home, on the floor, playing with it. It would be nice to help a boy like that assemble the toy. He raised his hand.

This time the clerk seemed more puzzled than ever. He started to reach for the train, then instead, he motioned for George to come to the counter. George had been about to go over, anyway, to see what was behind the man's strange actions.

"Do you know that blonde girl standing over there by the pillar?" the clerk asked him.

"No," George told him, "but I'd sure like to. Why?"

"Did you notice I gave the little girl two dolls, when you signaled?"

"Why yes," George answered him, "and I wondered about it. However, I figured you knew the child and she probably had a sister that you thought should have a doll too."

"No, that wasn't the reason." The toy salesman motioned to the blonde girl. She had been watching them with interest and at the clerk's wave, she came over.

"Miss Marvin," the man behind the counter introduced them, "this is George Brandon. George, this is Joan Marvin. I think all nice people, such as you two, should know each other."

The girl extended her hand eagerly and George took it just as quickly. He saw that she would have won his bet—her eyes were the bluest of the blue!

"Say, what's going on here?" The small boy had turned away from the glistening train and was looking at the trio wonderingly.

"I'll second the boy's question," George said. "Just what is going on here?"

The salesman laughed. "The reason I thought you two ought to get together, is that you're giving me signals on the same kids."

"You see," he told George, "Miss Marvin made the same arrangement this year, in regards to giving the kids toys, that you've been making for years!"

One Christmas, a few years later, Joan Brandon said to her husband, "Remember the Christmas we met, George?"

"Of course," he answered, "I'll never forget it. Why?"

"Well," she laughed, "I'd seen you in the store the previous Christmas and it took me a year to figure out that scheme to meet you. One little girl got a double Christmas out of it, anyway!"

"I'll second the boy's question," George said. "Just what is going on here?"

seen and, although he couldn't see them at that distance, he would have bet she had blue eyes. Her hair was shining blonde.

When George turned his attention back to the toy counter, a little girl, wearing neat but worn clothing, was eyeing a doll almost as large as herself. He raised his hand. With a slightly bewildered expression, the clerk picked up two dolls, wrapped them, and handed them to the child.

The actions of the clerk puzzled George. He was certain he had only signaled once.

George turned his head to look at the blonde girl again.

This year seven seed producers grew 132 acres of Rowan lespedeza for certification. It averaged about 410 pounds of seed per acre.

An expansion in feeding operation, and a plentiful supply of fed beef, is forecast for the first six months of 1956.

DOUBLE CHRISTMAS

By Lillace M. Mitchell
EVERYONE in the club thought it an excellent and unique idea: double Christmas! Wonderful! Two connecting rooms which would accommodate any number of members and guests—one room a really modern Christmas tree, the other an old-fashioned tree.
"All right, then," laughed the president when the clamor had died down. "It's voted, definitely. Now, for the two committees to handle the two trees. I'd like volunteers. I know how busy everyone is at this time of year and if I may have volunteers, I shan't be imposing on anyone."

Unfortunately, all those who volunteered wanted to trim the modern tree. No one offered to take the old-fashioned tree in the old-fashioned room. Linda Marby was almost as astonished as anyone when she said she would be responsible for it.

Outside in the clear, cool night she wondered why she had offered. She was a stranger in this community and knew no young men who would put up the thirty-foot tree for her. A teacher of freshman English in a small high school does not meet many young men.

At last she decided to let the putting-up of the tree wait and get the ornaments ready: mostly homemade, the Christmas committee had told her: something like pioneer life, the tree must be. So she went into a grocery store and asked for popcorn. It was the same answer in five stores: usually they had an excess of popcorn but now they were entirely out.

"Popcorn!" his voice and blue eyes were both incredulous. "First time I ever saw a young lady running around in the dark for popcorn!"

Linda Lou was getting panic-stricken by half past eight that night.

At nearly nine o'clock she saw a man in a small grocery store window reach up to pull out the light. "Oh, wait, wait, please," she said breathlessly as she pushed open the big door.

"Well, you must be really hungry!" laughed the tall, dark young man teasingly. "What'll it be?"

"Popcorn!" she said.

"Popcorn!" his voice and blue eyes were both incredulous. "First time I ever saw a young lady running around in the dark for popcorn!"

So Linda told him all about the old-fashioned tree and how she had been unable to buy any popcorn which must be popped and strung and ready for the tree.

"They gave you little enough time," he grumbled as he went back to the shelf. "Whoever heard of getting up a thing like that in one day! I'd best help you, I think. I'll pop tomorrow morning while you are in your school."

"But your job here?"

"Oh, this isn't any job. I'm a newspaper photographer. Just came down to visit my aunt and uncle and helped out in the store while they went for a visit with a sick friend. Seems rather strange, doesn't it? I got time off which was unusual. Came down here although I could have gone for the holidays to any one of a dozen places. You offered to trim a tree. I have the popcorn—" he hesitated.

"—and you offer to pop it." Linda Lou added in her breathless fashion. "Why—it's like a story, almost, isn't it?"

"It certainly is," he agreed, smoothing his black hair back as he stared down at her. "Now I never wrote a story in my life but I have noticed that in the stories, it all ends happily."

Linda felt the color rising in her cheeks.

"Well, I'm sure it will make a very happy ending if that tree is up and trimmed in time for the party, the Christmas party—"

"Ah, now, don't just use words to drag this out. Christmas party, indeed! Of course, they don't use Christmas trees at any time except Christmas. Well, I'll get the tree up and pop the corn and we'll color it pink. How does that sound?"

"It sounds wonderful," she murmured.

"Yes, the whole thing sounds wonderful to me, too. With maybe a bit of mistletoe on a long, high branch."

Linda Lou only nodded. It seemed a part of a huge pattern, she thought. A pattern marked MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Tobacco Bowl Steak Car Racing Program, Jan. 2
The second annual Tobacco Bowl steak car racing program at Bowman Gray Stadium, Winston-Salem, Monday afternoon, Jan. 2, will stand out as North Carolina's major sports attraction for the New Year's holiday, following the annual Dixie Classic basketball tournament at Raleigh winding up the previous Saturday.

Race promoters Bill France and Alvin Hawkins have scheduled a 100 lap sportsman feature as the main attraction of the holiday program and the race directors are anticipating a field of top stars from all sections of the country. The complete program calls for time trials starting at 1 o'clock, followed by two 10-lap heat events for the sportsman drivers, then three 10-lap heat events for amateurs and the 100-lap feature and 20-lap amateur feature to wind up the holiday program. The first race is set for 2 o'clock.

The program will actually open the 1956 campaign in North Carolina, followed by the annual Daytona Beach Speed weeks activities that get underway Sunday, Feb. 12, and wind up with three major races over the famous 4.1 mile beach and road course Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 24-25-26.

Curtis Turner of Roanoke, Va., prominent timber dealer, won the first annual Tobacco Bowl classic last year, driving Glenn Wood's No. 22-A Ford, and the Virginia ace is expected back to defend this crown against an outstanding field headed by Bill Myers of Germantown, the 1955 NASCAR national sportsman champion and also winner of the Bowman Gray Stadium championship for the past season.

Myers finished fifth in the 100 lap classic last year, trailing Turner, Pee Wee Jones, Joe Weatherly and Glenn Wood.

The amateur feature last year was captured by Whitey Norman of Winston-Salem, but Norman will be competing in the sportsman division for the 1956 events.

Big Time Basketball At Coliseum December 28th

Did you ever see a basketball come alive? Well, you will, on Wednesday, December 28th, when basketball's two greatest attractions, Marques Haynes, World's Greatest Dribbler and Goose Tatum, Clown Prince of all basketball, bring their Original Harlem Magicians into Winston-Salem to oppose the New York Olympians at the Memorial Coliseum at 7:30 p.m.

The Magicians are the globe-masters of the razzle-dazzle, super-fakery and basketball extraordinary. Besides featuring basketball's greatest, in Tatum and Haynes, the Magicians are loaded with talent plus.

Lester Burks, 6'7" scoring power and rebounder, ball hawk and defender, has been acclaimed by coaches throughout the country as the finest co-ordinated ball player in their time.

Other outstanding players on the Magicians' roster are 6'7" Jerry Johnson, Jr., former Philander Smith College great, Made All-Conference Team for four straight seasons. Another great in basketball is 6'3" Ken McBride, a former Little All-American choice at Maryland State College. Small in size but a deadly set shooter, is Fred Pearson, a sure favorite of the fans.

Marques Haynes, co-star and World's Greatest Dribbler, hails from Sand Springs, Okla., where he won fame as the key man of the Langston U. team that won 112 games out of 115 in three seasons.

This six-foot, 168 pound dribbling sensation, whose "Bounceball" specialty has pleased and thrilled crowds tremendously all over the world.

"Goose" Tatum, Basketball's Clown Prince and greatest drawing attraction, at a recent interview stated: "I like to travel. I have been everywhere and have had many unforgettable experiences, but I believe that this season with the Magicians will prove my best. Haynes and I have organized a tremendous group . . ."

Tickets are now on sale at Memorial Coliseum box office, North Cherry St., Atlantic Pharmacy, corner Third and Church Sts., and YMCA of Patterson Ave., in Winston-Salem. Prices are: $1.50, $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00, tax included. Please send mail orders to Memorial Coliseum, N. Cherry St.,

THE loneliest place in the world is a summer resort at Christmas time. Joanne Decker watched gloomily as a half dozen men trudged through the snow skirting Arrowhead Lake. They would return in a few hours carrying Christmas trees on their husky shoulders. Joanne sighed heavily as the last man disappeared into the brush.

This promised to be the dreariest Christmas Joanne had ever known. Even the postman's whistle failed to rouse her. It was only when Mr. Rogers stood at the far end of the drive waving a letter that a faint glow of curiosity came to her eyes. The old postman never signalled unless he had something important. Maybe it was a letter from Eddie!

Slipping into a coat Joanne raced eagerly down the snow-covered path, mindful of her open-toed slippers.

"It's from Lynne Grove," said Mr. Rogers with a grin. "Lynne Grove?" Joanne stared dreamily at the letter in his hand. Then Eddie hadn't forgotten her! Perhaps he was even coming back to Arrowhead Lake to marry her, as he had promised.

"You got a letter," said Joanne accusingly. "A nice registered letter from Eddie Long."

"It's for your sister," said the old man. "Registered too—but you can sign it."

Joanne turned the letter over gingerly; on the flap, in bold, familiar writing, was the name E. Long. So Eddie Long was writing to her sister Mary! And after all the wonderful promises he had made to her. She walked numbly back to the house.

Mary met her at the door. "Did we get mail?" she asked innocently.

Accusation

"YOU got a letter," said Joanne accusingly. "A nice registered letter from Eddie Long!"

Mary was startled; she blushed like a schoolgirl. "I thought so!" Joanne cried bitterly. "All these months you've been feeling sorry for me because Eddie stopped writing—and you've kept in touch with him behind my back. What a hypocrite!"

Mary blinked helplessly. Joanne ran up to her room and slammed the door. The radio was on; Christmas carols only emphasized her loneliness. She switched it off. Her eyes settled on a paper box under the dresser. Drawing it out she scowled at the lovely figurine nestled therein. It was her Christmas present to Mary. With a sob she picked up the little figure and dashed it to the floor.

Joanne heard the murmur of serious conversation downstairs. She hoped Mary was catching it. Suddenly she decided to teach them all a lesson. Christmas or not, she would leave home. She could board a bus this very morning. She knew exactly where to go; her friend Betty Giles had urged her repeatedly to spend a week-end at their new home in Coopersville.

Surprise Meeting

The bus-station was alive with holiday tourists. Joanne felt most conspicuous in her blue-jeans and red sweater. She gasped in surprise when a familiar voice asked: "Where to, Joanne?"

Eddie Long's expressive brown eyes smiled down at her. He had her in his arms before she could remember any good reason to resist.

"Merry Christmas, darling!" he cried as their lips parted. "I've waited more than a year for this. But why the suitcase? Mary told me you'd be at home for the holidays; that's why I sent her the letter announcing my arrival."

"Mary? I—I don't understand." "Well, it was supposed to be a surprise. Last summer, when I was on my way out here, I met with an accident. Mary and your mother knew that I was hurt pretty bad and they didn't want to frighten you. When I showed signs of returning to normal they suggested that I spend Christmas week at your place. You've got wonderful folks, Joanne. Best in-laws a man could ask for."

MARGE stood in the doorway of her bedroom and looked at the dress in dismay. Obviously it was meant for the Junior Class Snow Ball in January and just as obviously it was expensive.

"Oh, why!" she exclaimed, touching the fabric as if it were something repulsive.

What's the matter with them, Marge thought. Dad needs new clothes and things for the house and Mom always looks so poor and worried.

Wearily she changed her clothes. The house was empty, for her mother was baby sitting to earn a little extra to help out.

Marge went downstairs and looked at the Christmas tree and the gifts displayed under it. She felt embarrassed even though she was alone in the room. Somehow it was always rather mortifying to show the gifts when friends and relatives called. Her pile of gifts was always so large and lavish and her parents' so sparse.

Just this once she wanted their gifts to be important like hers, not just little odds and ends to be explained away with, "We try to make a big Christmas for Marge."

She had saved nearly every penny she had earned the previous she found the dress box and carefully folded the dress and wrapped it for return.

summer so she could give her father a new jacket and her mother a new coat.

I tried to tell them I didn't want a lot for Christmas, but I didn't do a very good job of it. she told herself as she glanced at the twin cashmere sweaters, the new skirt and the other gifts. I wish I'd had the courage to be more frank.

But I have the courage today, she thought, running up the stairs. She found the dress box and carefully folded the dress and wrapped it for return.

For Better

Her knees were shaky as she wondered what she would say when her mother saw the dress wrapped with such finality. It's for her own good, she told herself firmly. In a week or two she'll realize it's best.

When she heard the front door open and close, she ran downstairs to meet her mother. "Hi," she said, quelling her feeling of nervousness.

Her mother glanced at her anxiously. Her dark brown eyes darted around the room, looking to see if Marge had brought the dress downstairs. Then the expectant look changed to a questioning one.

"Didn't you like the dress?" The question was so humble and so blunt, Marge was startled.

"Yes, it's beautiful, but—"

"I knew you'd like it. Have you had it on yet?"

"No, I haven't."

"It will fit, I'm sure," her mother's voice dwindled off. The brightness in her face seemed to fade all at once. "What's the matter?"

"It's so expensive. I wanted you to get a coat for yourself."

"Oh, is that all. This old thing will last quite a while. While I was in the store I said to myself, 'There's nothing like my old marmoon coat.' I didn't see anything I liked better so what was the use of buying a new one?" she chirped.

Her Secret

Marge knew she'd never tell her parents how she felt about their gifts. In a few years I'll be earning money and I can pay them back, but now I'll just take what they offer, she decided, feeling defeated.

"Your father's coming. Go put on the dress and show him how pretty you are," her mother said excitedly.

When she came downstairs they were waiting for her. Clutched in her father's arms was a box which she knew contained something for her. In their eyes were love, pride, and happiness mixed with a satisfied touch of martyrdom.

She had to swallow to keep her face pretty and composed, for what they really wanted most of all was a pretty and popular daughter. That was all they would allow her to give.

Motorists with one efficient eye, which includes one to two percent of all drivers, are much inferior to the binocular-sighted in night vision, glare resistance, and recovery from glare.

Merry Christmas

There has never been a year when those words "MERRY CHRISTMAS" had more significance than they do now. Although Santa is surprising two little early risers, even he must be aware that there aren't many lands where this year there will be celebrated a truly "MERRY CHRISTMAS."

Among the more tangible gifts he will be bringing down chimneys, scattering at firesides and hanging on Christmas trees—there is that very intangible but precious gift which was long ago given to American children. It's the heritage of democracy; the unfettered freedom of living in a land of tolerance; the valuable privilege of living in one land which people of all lands are happiest to call their home.

EVERYONE was so nice, Kathie Carter thought as she remembered the Christmas gifts she had received last year. So many of her friends, neighbors, and relatives had remembered her.

"I'd love to buy something for them all, Kathie thought, but she knew it was impossible. She had only saved enough for a gift to her parents. She had tried to get a sales job, but she had discovered she was too late. There were no jobs left.

"Your relatives and neighbors don't expect you to give them gifts," her mother said.

"I'd like to give them all some little thing."

"When you're older you can return their thoughtfulness."

After supper Kathie went to Aunt Betty's and Uncle Ted's house to return a book.

"Hi, Kathie," Aunt Betty greeted. "I'm doing dishes so come on out in the kitchen."

"I've been hoping to make some fruitcakes for Christmas gifts, but I don't know whether I can do it this year," Aunt Betty said. "The children seem to take up all my time."

"Your fruitcakes are delicious."

"They're a lot of work, though. Cutting up the fruit and chopping nuts takes nearly a day."

"I'll help you," Kathie volunteered. "I can come around after school and prepare the nuts and fruit and you can use them whenever you want."

For two afternoons Kathie chopped nuts and cut citrus fruit. By the end of the week Betty had baked the cakes and packed them in tin boxes.

Busy Week

The rest of the week was a busy one for Kathie. Mrs. Mason asked her to take care of the children Saturday so that she could go into town to shop. Miss White, a shut-in who lived down the street, asked Kathie if she would select some Christmas cards for her and help her address them.

Two days before Christmas Mrs. Cummings asked Kathie to tend her children for the afternoon while she went shopping. After Kathie got them interested in games, she saw a list on the bulletin board headed "Things to do." The list outlined the tasks Mrs. Cummings had to do during Christmas week: clean house, bake cookies, wrap packages, write cards and so many other things.

Kathie got out the cookbook and found some recipes for Christmas cookies. When she finished mixing she wrapped each mound of dough in waxed paper and put it in the freezer.

As Kathie wrapped her mother's and father's gift, she felt depressed, for she knew all the people she loved so dearly were going to give to her. She had nothing to give in return.

Appreciation

Christmas morning Kathie noticed there were several cards among her gifts. She opened the first one which was written in the spidery hand that she identified as Miss White's penmanship.

"Dear Kathie:
"Thank you so much for your valuable gift. Time in our lives is so important and you gave me such a generous piece of your life that I wish to thank you for it."

There were other letters, too. "Dear Kathie: I would never have baked my fruitcakes if it wasn't for your help."—"I know the children will be pleased with the lovely way you wrapped their gifts. Thank you for your time. The cookies were wonderful."

With Mrs. Mason's gift there was a note thanking Kathie for her gift of time. Kathie had to blink away the tears when she finished reading the notes.

"You see, Kathie, you gave something that is most valuable—your time," her father explained.

On a Silent Night

It was December 23, 1818 in a tiny mountain village in Austria. The night was cold and clear and a heavenly canopy of stars stretched over a peaceful earth as far as the eye could see.

Father Joseph Mohr, a young parish priest, had just administered the last rites to a dying woman. Walking thoughtfully homeward, he looked down at the twinkling lights of the village and the bright stars above. A soul was about to depart from this world, to sleep forever in heavenly peace. Tomorrow at midnight the village and the Christian world would reverently observe the greatest birth—the Nativity that took place that holy night so long ago.

How sad, the young priest thought, that the church organ was broken and the musical program for the holiday services had been cancelled. Franz Gruber the organist, had suggested they find a simple melody that could be sung to the accompaniment of a guitar. Give him the words, he'd said, and he would compose the music. Give him the words . . . and there would be music.

As he thought of birth and life and death and looked down upon the sleepy, starlit village below, Father Mohr found these words. They sing the praises of the Holy Infant born to the world, and we wonder if they do not also ask for the departed soul "rest in peace."

Thus came the famous "Silent Night, Holy Night." Franz Gruber, true to his word, put Father Mohr's words to music that will endure till the end of time.

Grandfather Frost Is Russian Santa

Christmas in Russia? Behind the Iron Curtain it's Grandfather Frost who delights the children.

Grandfather Frost (really an actor from the Moscow stage) was revived by the Russians two years ago. Through most of the month of January thousands of Russian children dance around a fir tree in St. George's Hall and may shake hands with Grandfather Frost, the Russian Santa Claus.

Grandfather Frost entertains the children with the aid of singers, dancers and variety artists from the theaters. Last year, for the first time, American correspondents were admitted to the Kremlin to see one of the gatherings.

WHEN SANTA LEAVES

While American children always find their Christmas presents in the stockings or under the tree, children of other nations must search for theirs. Norwegian children seek them out in hiding places which may be anywhere in the house. In Italy, they seek them in "Urns of Fate" and in France children usually find them in wooden shoes.

Hangars built by the Navy to house submarine - scouting blimps feature timber arches which rise 153 feet above the floor, clear spanning an unobstructed area 237 feet wide and 1,000 feet long, reports the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. Construction of these hangars was made possible by special timber connectors used in engineered timber construction.

SMART SANTA

From the looks of things, Santa might be on a sit-down strike. Seems he should be much too busy this time of year to be caught in such a relaxed mood.

But don't worry, kiddies, Santa is hard at work. He's doing his Christmas shopping, believe it or not.

Santa, you see, is like a lot of other smart folks here in town who believe in shopping local stores. Santa knows well that service and satisfaction are guaranteed when you do business with people you know. And, tho you may not have seen him, Old Santa has been spending his spare moments in our hometown stores, just browsing around and making notes on what they have to offer in the way of gifts for everybody on Santa's list. Now that the list is completed, he's doing his shopping the easy way—by telephone. On the opposite end of the line, a courteous clerk is taking Santa's order. The gifts will be gaily Christmas wrapped and delivered—or held at the store on call until Santa comes by for them at his leisure. How modern can this Christmas shopping be?

Lots of folks in town are taking a tip from Santa this year. They're doing their Christmas shopping with our local merchants, either by telephone or through a casual visit to the stores.

And, just in case, you haven't had the opportunity to visit our local merchants this holiday season, we have it straight from Santa that their shelves and counters are bulging with hundreds of wonderful Christmas items available at prices that just can't be beat!

By J. Conrad Inselberger

NANCY Miller, aged ten, had twelve Christmas cards left when she reached the last house on the street. She decided to try her luck with Old Martin. She mounted the steps of the aging, deteriorating, red brick house and rang the bell. For a long moment she felt the urge to run, but the thought of the minister's surprise if she should sell the old man was too strong.

She waited there shaking and suddenly the door was opened.

"Well, What do you want?" The tall old man glared down at her.

"I'm Nancy Miller. I-I've got—"

"Come in. Come in. You'll freeze out the house."

Nancy's heart leaped. She was inside and that was something.

"I'm selling Christmas cards to help the church. Would you—"

Old Martin snorted. "I thought I'd seen you before. Your father owns the garage. You pestored me last year and the year before. And now you're here again. What makes you think I'll buy your cards? I haven't before."

"No. But I thought maybe you'd change your mind. The other kids—"

Old Martin snorted. "I thought I'd seen you before."

"The other children! Humph! Why don't they come here with their cards? They're afraid, eh? I'm Old Martin, the meanest man in town."

Nancy smiled up at him. "I don't think so."

"Well— I'll buy the box of cards just to get rid of you. But mind you don't ever come again."

Memories

Nancy left and the old man stared at the door wondering if he had really bought the cards to get rid of her. Could it be that she, with shining eyes and long golden hair and warm smile, reminded him of another little girl much like her? She who had left her widower father bereaved for the second time within a year?

Meanwhile, Nancy raced toward the minister's house with the great news.

Late that night in the red brick house the old man spread the cards on a table and glanced over the warm and happy greetings. In the right hand corner of each card he noticed a tiny red and white Santa Claus. "Sentimental rubbish," he snorted and replaced the cards in the envelopes.

The next morning he discovered that the ancient wall paper in the back-hall had loosened and a large strip, was hanging. He could fix that, he decided, and realize some return for the dollar he had given Nancy. He spread glue over the faces of the cards and used them to patch the torn wall paper.

Christmas for Old Martin was to be no different than it had been for the past thirty years. He would receive no gifts and he would give none.

It was not as easy as it had been the past many years. The memory of the little girl who had visited him the day before blended with the memory of the little girl of thirty years before. She too had looked forward to Christmas with all the excitement and wide-eyed wonder of childhood.

A light burned late in the old house.

Usual Holiday

Most everyone in town, except Old Martin, received a share of Christmas greetings. He got only one; that from a little girl. Eleven needy people received cards with no signature and each card was accompanied by a five dollar bill. The face of every card was rough as though something had been pasted to it and then removed.

Nancy received the twelfth card in care of her father's garage, and though she recognized it as of the style she had sold she couldn't recall to whom she had sold it. It contained a ten dollar bill.

Christmas Eve, an old man knelt and prayed for the first time in thirty years, but from the outside the old brick house looked the same as usual.

Christmas CUSTOMS

Many Christmas legends and customs are part of the folklore of our ancestors in all parts of the world. Many of them, too, are a mixture of early Christian and pagan observances which time and Christianity have given new meaning.

Santa Claus, our American giver of gifts, is little known elsewhere in the world. In Eastern and Southern Europe, it is the Wise Men who arrive bringing gifts. In Hungary the gifts come from the Angels, in Poland from the stars, in Greece, St. Basil is the gift-bearing patron saint.

Popular tradition has it that the candle we place in our windows at Christmas is a custom originated by early Christians to whom the candle represented the star that guided the Wise Men to the stable at Bethlehem. One interesting legend tells of a shoemaker who, though poor, always placed a candle in his window at night to guide weary travelers, and so inspired the villagers that soon each window contained a lighted candle.

The holly bush, long associated with Christmas, and with many legends was once called the holy-bush, because in its natural state the berries ripen at Christmas time.

The Wassail bowl, which today is Christmas punch, is said to have come to us from the ancient Saxons. Wassail was a word of greeting which meant literally, "What Hails?", or "How fare you?"

At Christmas time, traditions of the Old World live again. Pinattas, doves and festive straw chains from South Europe; wheat sheaves, paper and carved wood from Scandinavian countries; angels, stars, Czechoslovakian bells and gold German stars are all bits of Old World charm that we re-create in our homes.

The evergreen bough, mistletoe and holly used as Christmas decorations have been associated with ceremony and curious custom for thousands of years.

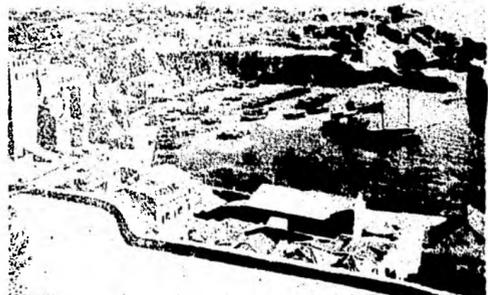

Ancient Romans raised an evergreen branch at the December festival of Saturnalia, honoring the god of sowing.

Long before the Christian era, Tuatons and Scandinavians held the mistletoe sacred and hung it over their doorways as charms. They also worshipped the oak and their priestly Druids brought in a great Yule log at the feast of the winter solstice and lighted it from a brand of the log of the year before.

In parts of Europe the first trees used for Christmas decorations were dormant branches of fruit trees. They were brought indoors several weeks before Christmas and forced into bloom by Christmas time. Holly, the subject of many superstitions, was also used because its prickly leaves were thought to represent the Saviour's crown and its red berries drops of blood.

In parts of Sicily an olive tree is decorated today with oranges. In some countries flowers are used instead of evergreens, in keeping with a story told all over medieval Europe that on the night of the Nativity the trees of the forest, though cloaked in ice and snow, burst into bloom and bore fruit.

All over the world this Christmas each country will celebrate the occasion in its traditional way.

SANTA CLAUS LAND . . . You'd never convince the younger set, but this photo shows the real Santa Claus land—Antalya in Southern Turkey, capital of the province where St. Nicholas was born, lived and became a legend 1600 years ago. Snow and reindeer are never seen in this lush land on the shores of the Eastern Mediterranean where swimming on Christmas Day is common.
