

J. C. Jones Urges Support Of School Bond Issue

Dear Mr. Editor:

Several months ago when the school bond issue was brought up in this county I told myself this is one fight that I'll stay out of. During the past few months I have read your editorials with a great deal of interest and I have talked with my friends all over this county. Now within the past week or so I have seen the question become a real live issue. Become a real fight. I have talked to both sides. I have listened to both sides. I have carefully considered the issue, taken a liberal swallow of salt and now I want to tell you and everyone else in this county which side I am on. I am on the side of those that would do what ever is necessary to make our high school the very best in North Carolina. When I pass from this scene I will only take what I have given, and I know that a proper education, or the opportunity to get a proper education, is by far the greatest thing that I can give to those that will follow after me.

I was born and raised in this county. I started to school in 1912. Walked three miles through woods, mud and snow to Jericho School House. Miss Mary Eliza Hudson was my teacher and let me tell you she really made me appreciate my Mammy. My mother took an old gray blanket and made me an overcoat that came down to my shoe tops — it was really warm. I wore it proudly to school. Miss Mary Eliza called me her little preacher. I hung that overcoat in the cloak room and believe it or not that coat hung on that same nail for 16 years. I reached the fifth grade at Jericho then my Dad decided that his children should go to a better school. He moved us to Mocksville where I was put right back in the second grade. That was not the teacher's fault. She had seven grades in one room. Children from 5 years old to 21 years old. She did the best she could with what she had. Now, let me ask you: will our children, or our grandchildren, be able to look back upon the opportunities and facilities that we are furnishing them today in the same manner. THEY WILL NOT! Miss Mary Eliza Hudson and my Dad did the best they could. We are not at present, doing the best we can, and in spite of all the things that we don't like, we should change it. This is in my opinion, the most vital issue affecting the future of this county and it's people that has come up in my life time.

As I go up and down this county, I heard these things: Politics, no confidence in this or that member of the school board, John Jones or Bill Smith did this or that, and many other trivial things, when you relate them to the vitality of the issue. I also find a little selfishness, man's greatest sin, but mainly I find misunderstanding, a lack of thought and careful consideration. It's not a question of whether or not we will do these things, but a question of just when we will do them. Must our children finish the eighth grade and stop school because there is no higher school for them to go to. Must we see them quit school because of lack of interest or pride. Must we see them handicapped because of the lack of proper facilities, see our sons and grandsons defeated on the athletic fields, where real character is built, because we haven't done our part. No. We just will not tolerate those things and when we see them happening we will do something about it and fast. Well, let me tell you, they are happening now. If you don't believe me just go down to our high school and take a look. Mr. Stillwell will welcome you. There is a great man, doing a wonderful job, with what he has, but you might compare him to brick mason laying brick without a trowel. Let's give him the necessary working tools. Let's make our high school something that the children will be proud of, something they will not want to get away from. If we can do that, and we can, then there is no question of value in dollars and cents that can be put upon it. Maybe I have no confidence in certain mem-

Youth Survey Reports Made

The final reports in the survey on existing facilities and services available in Davie County were turned in last Thursday evening to Mrs. Peter W. Hairston, Jr., chairman of the local White House Conference Committee.

The reports will be consolidated and filed in Raleigh and Washington in connection with the forthcoming 1960 White House Conference, called by President Eisenhower for March 27-April 2. This will be the sixth such conference held at ten year intervals since 1909. The conference will focus on activities that clarify and dramatize problems affecting children and youth, and, by so doing, will hope to stimulate fresh and broader attacks on these problems.

The reports on these surveys will be outlined later in this newspaper.

LIONS CLUB TO MEET

Members of the Mocksville Lions Club are urged to be present at the regular meeting Thursday night at 7 p.m. James Boyer will show films of the International Convention.

Two Prisoners Bound Over For Escaping

Two prisoners who escaped last week from a local work gang were found not guilty of stealing a farm tractor in court Tuesday morning but were bound over to Superior Court on the escape charges.

Judge A. T. Grant said that there was not enough evidence to convict the two of stealing a farm tractor. The evidence showed that the tractor was moved from one place to another and then abandoned but no one saw the two prisoners with the tractor.

David Earl Boswell and Toney Moore were bound over to Superior Court on the escape charges.

Capt. D. C. Safriet, Supt. of the local prison camp, testified that the two men escaped around 10:15 a.m. on Aug. 15 on the Booe Road, just off Highway 601, near the Dutchman Creek Bridge. Bloodhounds tracked the men 7 miles over sawmill roads in the area, before they were finally apprehended just inside the Davie County line.

Boswell is serving 5 to 7 years for breaking and entering, larceny and receiving.

Moore was originally sentenced to 12 months for temporary larceny. In addition he has sentences of 90 days and 15 months for escape.

Hey kids, there are a lot of play-days ahead, so be sure you get to play on every one of them by taking no chances on being hit by an automobile.

Low Bidders Are Named For REA Co-op Buildings

The Cabarrus Construction Co. of Concord and the Elmore Construction Co. of Catawba were low bidders last week for the construction of an addition to the home office of the Davie Electric Membership Corp., here and for a branch office at Taylorsville.

The Concord company's bid for the work here was $19,297. The Catawba firm's bid for the Taylorsville work was $48,325.

Architect for the two projects is Tom H. Hutchins of Statesville.

J. C. Jones, co-op manager, said the projects total about 6,100 square feet of floor space. They will mark the first major expansion of physical facilities of the rapidly expanding co-op.

The addition to the home office here will have 2,100 square feet and will be constructed on the southwest side of the existing building, which was opened in September, 1949. The new added area will be used for general office space, as well as housing a new billing room and bookkeeping department.

The Taylorsville building will have 4,000 square feet of floor space, including a full basement which is to be used for storage. The Taylorsville branch has been operating from the Alexander Hotel building.

Mocksville P.T. A. To Meet Monday

The Mocksville School PTA will meet Monday night, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

School Supt. W. T. Bird will lead a discussion on the upcoming school bond issue to be voted on Sept. 15.

All PTA members are urged to attend as well as anyone interested in the bond election, according to Arthur Upshaw, new president of the local PTA.

Wm. R. Davie P.T. A. To Meet September 10

The PTA of William R. Davie School will have the first meeting on Thursday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a brief business meeting followed by information concerning the school bond issue given by W. T. Bird, school superintendent.

Every parent interested in the welfare of their child's future education will find it helpful to attend, according to officers of the PTA giving the announcement.

Revival Services Set For Wesley Chapel Church

The Wesley Chapel Methodist Church will hold a revival starting at 7:30 p.m., Sunday and continuing throughout the week.

The Rev. Doyle Freeman, pastor of the Pisgah Methodist Church in Forsyth, will preach. The regular pastor is the Rev. Alvin Amick. All are invited to attend.

Curtailment Of High School Program Necessary If Bond Issue Fails, Says Superintendent W. T. Bird

Center Homecoming To Be Held Sunday

DR. J. OLAF MADISON

Center Methodist Church will hold its annual homecoming services on Sunday, Sept. 6.

Dr. J. Olaf Madison, Superintendent of the Greensboro District, will deliver the morning address at 11 a.m. The service will be held in the historic old Center Arbor again this year.

A picnic lunch will follow the morning service and the afternoon will be devoted to a song service. The Rev. George E. Auman is the pastor.

Dr. Madison is a native of Ireland County. He has served several pastorates in the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church. He was appointed to the Superintendency of the Greensboro District in 1957, and Dr. Madison is also a trustee of High Point College. He has served as a Chaplain in the Army and has held a number of offices in the Methodist Church. In 1947 he represented the Methodist Church of the United States at the Centennial Celebration of Chinese Methodism in Foochow, China. He also participated in the Cuba Evangelistic Mission in 1947. In 1956, Dr. Madison was a representative from the Western North Carolina Conference at the World Methodist Conference held at Lake Junaluska.

Homecoming Services

Homecoming services will be conducted at Cornetzer Methodist Church Sunday, Sept. 6, with Sunday School being held at 10 a.m. and preaching at 11 a.m. Rev. C. M. Dodson will deliver the sermon.

Dinner will be served on the church grounds at 12:30 p.m. A singing will be held in the afternoon beginning at 1:45 p.m. Taylor Howard of Advance will be guest speaker in the afternoon.

A revival service will begin at the church Sunday night and will continue through the week with services being conducted at 7:30 p.m. each night by the Rev. Mr. Hunt.

PTA Schedule

The Davie County School Bond issue will be discussed next week at meetings of the Parent-Teachers Association to be held at all of the county schools.

Supt. W. T. Bird and Principal D. F. Stillwell will lead the discussion on the bond issue. The Davie High School band will appear at most of the meetings. The schedule is as follows:

Advance, Monday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. D. F. Stillwell to speak. High School band to play.

Mocksville, Monday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. W. T. Bird to speak.

Colee, Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m. Supt. W. T. Bird to speak.

Smith Grove, Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 8:00 p.m. D. F. Stillwell to speak. High School band to play.

Farmington, Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 8:00 p.m. W. T. Bird to speak. High School band to play.

William R. Davie, Thursday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. High School band to play. W. T. Bird to speak.

Endorses Bond Issue

Committeemen and principals of the Davie County School system went on record Monday night unanimously endorsing the passage of the proposed school bond issue for Davie County.

J. K. Sheek, Jr., chairman of the Mocksville school committee, made the motion for the committeemen to go on record endorsing the issue. The motion was seconded by B. E. Stewart of Colee. The vote was unanimous.

School committeemen of Davie County include:

Hubert Bailey, J. M. Bowden, Jr., Robert Lee Seaford, B. E. Stewart, Ed Hoyle, Foy Cope, John R. Ferebee, Harley Smith, Kenneth Butler, Odell James, Johnny Sparks, J. W. Seats, T. A. Blackwell, Jr., L. G. Wallace, Mrs. Nannie Hayes, Ray McClamrock, J. K. Sheek, Jr., Aubrey Merrell, Gordon Tomlinson, Eugene Bennett, R. E. Everhardt and Burton Seats.

The meeting of principals and school committeemen was held Monday night at the county office building. Principals present included: Roy Marsh of Mocksville; V. G. Prim of Colee; S. G. Wallace of Shady Grove; William N. Peck of Farmington; and D. F. Stillwell of the Davie County Consolidated High School; Miss Kathryn Brown of William R. Davie; and D. C. Redmond of Smith Grove. Supt. W. T. Bird presided.

Season Tickets

Football season tickets of the Davie County High School are being offered to the public this year. With the purchase of these tickets, five home games may be seen for the price of four.

Sale of the tickets are being handled locally by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce and other civic clubs throughout the county.

The Rebels open their 1959 season here on Sept. 11 against West Davidson Consolidated High School.

POLIO SHOTS

Due to the temporary shortage of polio vaccine, the Health Department will give immunizations only to children age two months through six years and to expectant mothers. Immunizations for polio will be given to others at such time as vaccine becomes available.

Three Men Face Charges

Two Wilkes County men were bound over to Superior Court Tuesday on the charges of breaking and entering and larceny and receiving.

James Clyde Holloway, 23, of North Wilkesboro, and Clifford Myers, 20, of Hayes, R. 1, waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to Superior Court.

Bond was set at $7500 each. George Franklin Absher, now out on bond, faces the same charge.

The three men are charged with breaking into Johnny Bailey's Service Station at Fork on or about Aug. 22 and stealing over $100 in money plus some tires. The trial was apprehended early on the morning of Aug. 25th by Mocksville Policemen when they fled by car after attempting to break into J. C. Stroud's Service Station near County Line.

REVIVAL AT BIXBY

All singers and visitors are invited to attend the revival which began at Bixby Church of Living God on Sunday, Aug. 30. The pastor, the Rev. Paul Martin, is preaching. Services will be held each evening for two weeks.

Terms Some Financial Statements Misleading

Forced curtailment of the present program at the Davie County Consolidated High School if the bond issue fails to carry was discussed this week by Supt. W. T. Bird at a meeting of county school committee and County Board of Education.

"If the bond issue does not carry we have only two alternatives," said Mr. Bird.

"One . . . we can bring the ninth grades back to the elementary schools, which would put this class under the supervision of one teacher and would prohibit the individual selection of studies that a freshman in high school now has. This of course would disrupt the present school program in more ways than one."

Supt. Bird said the other alternative would be to curtail the present program at the high school such as cutting out the industrial arts program, perhaps the commercial courses, cutting down on agriculture and home economics classes, eliminating the band and music courses, and curtailing the athletic program.

"Conditions are now very critical at the school. We have classes packed with 45 to 50 students, and have five teachers without classrooms. In addition to this, the enrollment is increasing at a rate of 50 to 60 a year and will reach a total enrollment of around 1,200 in eight or ten years."

Supt. Bird also termed as misleading the statement some reported as being circulated that Davie County passes the proposed bond issue it will rank at the top in the percentage of property valuation in bonded indebtedness.

"The property valuation in Davie County is based on only 45 per cent of the fair market value of said property. The property valuation in other counties range far above that, with many having valuations on actual value basis. Naturally the lower the property valuation, the higher the tax rate and vice versa. It would be possible to pass the bond issue and not even increase the tax rate if the valuation scale was raised," said Mr. Bird.

"The only true financial picture of a county is the entire financial picture. That is what the Local Government Commission in Raleigh looks at when considering whether or not a county can afford the bonded indebtedness it seeks. The Local Government Commission has given its approval to the $1,300,000 bond issue being sought and would have approved a higher figure if we had asked it," said Mr. Bird.

"The Local Government Commission's role as pertains to bonds is very similar to that of a bank in granting a loan. You can be sure that a bank is going to make a thorough investigation as to your credit rating before granting a loan. The same is true as pertains to a county in a bond issue. If a county cannot afford such an issue, then the Local Government Commission, which was established for just that purpose, will not give its approval," continued Mr. Bird.

"Actually Davie County is in a sound financial condition anyway you look at it. It is in a much better condition financially than in school facilities. At the present time Davie is probably the only county in the state with an incomplete high school plant and program. We will never be able to get the school accredited until the facilities are completed," said Mr. Bird.

Mr. Bird announced that the tax rate increase for the bond issue would average at around 270 per $100 valuation. He said that he had the complete chart on the tax scale and would be happy to discuss this or any other matter pertaining to the bond issue with anyone interested.

He also announced that the matter would be discussed fully at PTA meetings scheduled for next week at all the schools throughout the county.

A Letter From Archie Jones

(Missionary in Costa Rica)
(This is the first letter from a native son, Archie Jones, who, with his family, just arrived in Costa Rica for a year's study of the Spanish language after which he will enter into full missionary work in the Baptist Church.)

Julia reached for the phone as I searched in the semi-darkness for the light. The voice at the switchboard informed us that it was 4:45 a.m. A sleepy thank you was said and we got dressed. By the time the suitcases were packed with our night clothes, the porter was there for the luggage. The four missionaries in the cab were fairly quiet as we drove to the New Orleans airport. As the plane made a final sweep of the Louisiana coastline and headed out across the Gulf of Mexico, I had that feeling of departure which you can't quite put into words.

The Roman Catholic priest who sat beside me was soon asleep, and I wondered what sort of a fellow he was. He awoke about the time we got to the coast of British Honduras and we finally got into a conversation. We were so high above Guatemala when we came across we could hardly see the clouds below us. Finally it came, first in Spanish, and then in English: "Fasten your seat belts please." As we nosed down and the big Viscount broke through the clouds we could see the beautiful Guatemala plantations (coffee) below us as they seemed to surround the city. Armed guards stood around the airport in the shade of small tropical trees. For ten minutes we looked at the little brown men and the big guns and the Latin architecture of the airport, and then we were off for San Salvador. Here Father Timothy said goodbye and returned to his mission station near the city.

About 30 minutes out of San Salvador I saw for the first time in my life the Pacific Ocean. There it was, the beautiful blue-green waters washing the white coast of El Salvador. A few minutes more

Local Jaycees To Aid Boys' Home Fund

Mocksville Jaycees are cooperating in the project to raise funds for the operation of boys home at Lake Waccamaw.

The month of September has been designated by Boys Home Month in North Carolina by Governor Hodges. Sponsored by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce, the observance is designed to focus attention upon and raise funds for the operation of boys home at Lake Waccamaw.

The home was established in 1954 and is now licensed by the Department of Public Welfare as a home for underprivileged and neglected boys.

WCSO Seminar Schedule Is Set

The sub district seminars of the Thomasville District of the WCSO of the Methodist Church will be held on the following days and places: Davidson County - Centenary Church, Sept. 8; Randolph County - Central Church, Asheville, Sept. 9; Davie County - Farmington Church, Sept. 10.

Registration will start at 9 a. m., and end at 1:00 p.m. Each one is asked to bring sandwiches and the host church will furnish drinks and desserts.

The following officers are urged to attend: President, Vice President; Secretaries of Missionary Education; Christian Social Relations; Spiritual Life and Literature and Publications; a Wesleyan Service Guild representative and others who will help promote Missionary Education in the local church.

Every Methodist Church in the district should be represented.

and we were flying high above the trouble in Nicaragua.

I knew we must be nearing Costa Rica and began looking hard for the coast below us. Suddenly it appeared. Many miles below us in the bright noonday tropical sun the white outline of the coast could be seen between the blue water and the dense green forest of the lowlands. It was only a few minutes to the high mountains. The deep purple of the cloud shadows against the bright green foliage of the mountain forest seemed like giant shapeless phantoms moving to and fro.

The streams in the valleys looked like threads of molten silver as the mid-day sun gave up a perfect mirror off the sand bottom. I knew we would soon be home. Strange isn't it, how we can consider a land we have never seen and a house we have never lived in as home? But, here, as in all of life—God has woven a part of His eternal purpose for His world. We are here to learn the language of our people.

As I sat here this morning looking through the open door across the valley to the mountains, I remember that first close look at Costa Rica. The stewardess had spoken in accented English—"be sure to have your landing cards in your passports. Remain seated until the plane stops. We have enjoyed having you on this flight." As the big plane touched down it was only a little bump compared to the shaking around the plane had given us as we broke through the thunderheads to get down from the wild blue. As we broke through the turbulence the beautiful patchwork of pastureland and cropland looked up at us from the fertile mountain valley.

Dead ahead lay the new modern El Coco airport. We were glad to step out on "terra firma" once more. As we walked past the armed National Guard troops of Costa Rica into the terminal, we could see and hear the other missionaries in the school shouting welcomes to us from the balcony above. The authorities at the airport spoke no English and we spoke no Spanish, but the passport talked for us, and their official stamp talked for them.

bers of our school board, and I very definitely do not like the methods used in selecting the school board. When undiluted selfish partisan politics can be used to keep a competent dedicated man from serving on the school board, then that's a sorry state of affairs, but even that drops into insignificance when you relate it to the basic issue. It has been my lot to deal with committees, boards, and governing bodies for the past 27 years, and I have long ago learned that any board consisting of several people, if properly informed, will do what they think is best. I have the utmost confidence in our Board of Education. I know they will do what, in their opinion, is best for our schools. Maybe we think they are trying to do too much or more than is necessary at one time, but we should remember that in such a program, long range planning is absolutely necessary for the best results. We should also take into consideration the tremendous yearly increase in our school population and the fact that an awfully lot more of our young people are staying in Davie County. They are building homes here. You are going to see an absolute explosion of the population in this county during the next decade, and for goodness sake, let's don't build a school house that won't last ten years.

I have met and talked to Mr. Bird, our new Supt. of Schools. I have formed a good opinion of him. I believe he is honest, and I believe that he will give you true facts and figures before you vote on this issue.

Our society and our civilization, of which we are proud, for which we are willing to fight and die, is built around our homes, our churches, and our schools, regardless of what may be said about us good or bad, the history of mankind has been a continuous effort to better his lot, and we are not going to change that. Take a look at the homes in this county. Take a look at the churches in this county. Think for a moment about the expansion program of those two institutions. Then about our schools, the very place that is eventually going to determine what happens in our homes and our churches.

I have been with you and against you on several issues in this county during the past thirty years. I have been on the winning side and have been on the losing side. I have at least been on one side or the other. You get on one side or the other and if you will do that I'll assure you that whatever happens September 15th will be right, and you have never been wrong. You are the greatest people on earth; you have the best county in North Carolina; and you are dealing with that county's destiny, by far its greatest asset is its boys and girls who will soon be where you and I are today. LET'S DON'T LET THEM DOWN!

Community Judging Plans Are Being Made

Community development leaders, farm and home agents and board members of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association met in Elkin Thursday, Aug. 27, where they heard reports on activities in the various divisions of the Association.

John Crawford of Raleigh, program planning specialist of N. C. State College, reviewed "tips for the communities in preparation for the forthcoming community judging."

Mrs. W. T. Roth of Elkin, chairman of the community development division, led a session devoted to community development, reviewing activities in plans for the judging and awards program.

A total of 104 communities in the 11 county area are entered in this year's competition. Final judging will be held in November.

Wayne Corpening of Winston-Salem, president of the Association, presided at the regular monthly board meeting, which was held at the Elkin YMCA.

Other reports were given by Robert Garvey of Winston - Salem, chairman of the travel and recreation division; W. F. Marshall, Sr., of Walnut Cove, chairman of the fine cured tobacco committee; and Carl Buchanan, Jr., of North Wilkesboro, chairman of the industry division.

DAVIE COUNTY ORPHANS!

Most all the good people of Davie County give generously throughout the year to support of orphanages. These orphanages, supported by either churches or fraternal institutions, are maintained to provide facilities to those children who do not have parents to provide for them the necessities of life.

Practically all of us are proud of the part we contribute to these orphanages. We are proud of the facilities at the orphanages. We feel that we want to provide the best.

Each year the annual Mocksville Masonic Picnic raises funds for the Oxford Orphanage. The Methodist support the Children's Home of Winston-Salem. The Baptist support Mills Home of Thomasville; and the Presbyterians have Barium Springs.

The children that attend anyone of the above named institutions are fortunate in one respect:

They all have the very best of school facilities.

These children in the orphanages have adequate classroom space. All of the orphanages named above have new gymnasiums . . . all built within the last few years. All have modern cafeterias and auditoriums. They all have this and should have . . . because of the generosity and the sympathetic attitude of the people of North Carolina. The children of Davie County are less fortunate. In fact:

As far as school facilities are concerned, your child would be better off in one of the orphanages than in the local school. This statement is harsh . . . and it is indicting — but is true. It is true because Davie County does not now have the school facilities that can come close to comparing with even one of the orphanages named above.

There is no child in Davie County that asked to be brought into this world. They are all here at the pleasure of their parents. We are not the type that believes that the world owes these children a living — but we do sincerely believe that we owe to them certain rights and privileges.

We believe that the children of Davie County should have the right of adequate and up-to-date school facilities. We believe that this is necessary to equip them for later life when they must compete with those of their own era who have been exposed to adequate school facilities. We believe that it is just as much a sin to deny our children these facilities as it was to pass up the injured and suffering man in the parable of the "Good Samaritan." In either of these cases help is denied only because of selfish reasons.

In the parable of the "Good Samaritan," those passing the suffering man by gave all sorts of excuses and reasons for their actions. But basically, these was just one reason . . . They just didn't want to take the time and trouble that was necessary to help . . . They were concerned only with their own selfish interests.

Now a parallel can be drawn in the present situation. Here is a high school, literally suffering for attention from the citizens of the county as to providing the needed facilities. Too many are choosing to ignore these needs and are actually fighting to see that no relief is given.

Unless the citizens of Davie County pass the bond issue on September 15th, a permanent black mark will be put on the children of Davie County. They cannot possibly recover from the rejection by adults whom they have learned to look upon as being responsible citizens. They cannot help but wonder as they stand in church and hear the teachings of the Bible as to why these teachings had no meaning to the older citizens—those of voting age—who let them down.

As far as high school facilities in Davie County are concerned . . . the children of Davie are orphans. It is the responsibility not only of citizens but Christians to provide these facilities.

Let us, the citizens of Davie County, give to our children the same opportunity we are giving to others.

Our Teachers

With the beginning of the 1959-60 school session, emphasis is once again put on some of Davie County's most outstanding citizens . . . the teachers.

The school officials and teachers represent an annual payroll in excess of $500,000 in the county. This money is spent locally and goes a long way towards boosting the economy of the county. These teachers buy groceries—they buy clothes—they buy automobiles — they build their own homes — and they, too, pay taxes in Davie County.

Through the past years Davie County has attracted into its borders some of the best teachers and citizens to be found in the state. Many have since entered other lines of work but stayed on in Davie to become leading and helpful citizens. Others have married and have become homemakers and leaders in civic and community life. Others have settled here and have remained in the noble profession of teaching the children of Davie County.

What attracts a teacher to one locality over another? What makes a teacher decide to remain in a community and reject better offers elsewhere?

There can only be one answer . . . The attitude of the people with whom they must live and associate. This attitude of the people is reflected by the way they support their school system — the importance they put on education — the facilities they provide. A teacher is no different from any other individual when it comes to choosing a place in which to live and work . . . They want and will choose the place that will offer the greatest advantages.

The school teacher has the most important position in Davie County today. They have the responsibility of training our children . . . of molding them into useful and responsible citizens. However, they can do their job only if we do ours:

We must give them adequate facilities and tools with which to work . . . and we must give them our support. In this way, and only in this way, will we make our county a better place in which to live.

The Girl Scouts

The local unit of the Girl Scouts are now affiliated with the Pilot Area Council, which includes all the surrounding counties.

This affiliation marks a new era in local Girl Scout activities. Up until now the local Girl Scout Troops have been what is known as "loan troops." The affiliation with the council will help the local unit in organization and maintenance of troops, training and camp program, and will give it more public support.

The national Girl Scouts organization was founded in 1912. The purpose of this organization is to help girls develop as happy, resourceful individuals. Activity on the local level was resumed several years ago. Since that time this organization has a vital role in the community.

It is with a feeling of pride that the citizens of this community salute the local Girl Scout organization and its leaders on the event of their becoming of age . . . the affiliation with council organization.

Lightning kills 400 Americans a year—but without it, none of us could live, the August Reader's Digest says. Lightning starts a series of vital chemical reactions which make it possible for plants to absorb nitrogen — an element vital to our survival. If there were no lightning, the nitrogen would stay in the air, useless to us.

JUST WHO IS PLAYING THE DICTATOR?

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

If you have not observed as many fireflies lighting up your community at evening time lately, it may be that a brigade of firefly catchers is at work. Firefly business has become big business. The Schwarz Laboratories of suburban Mount Vernon, New York is buying them up, and their 1959 target is a million fireflies. They have organized collection brigades in eight states where fireflies abound. It seems that extract of firefly tails is useful in biochemical research. It can be used to determine amounts of an element which plays an important part in muscle action, nerve impulses and conversion of food to energy. A brigade captain in each community lines up from 15 to 25 catchers who turn their fireflies over to the captain who pays them 30 cents a hundred. The fireflies are then packed in dry ice and shipped to the laboratory which pays 50 cents a hundred. One Tennessee brigade has caught 35,000 fireflies in one week.

An eager young man asked a local professor what course of training would fit him to become the superintendent of a great railroad system, how much the course would cost and how long it would take. "Such a course would cost $20,000 and take 20 years," the professor replied. "But on the other hand, you might spend $500 of your money and three months of your time and be elected to Congress. Once there, you will feel competent to direct, not one, but all the great railroad systems in our country."

With all the stir hereabouts regarding the book, "Lady Chatterley's Lover," by D. H. Lawrence and the advocates of legalized smut claiming they have won a great victory in getting to send the book through the mails, it is interesting to note an excellent review in a Canadian newspaper of this volume by an English novelist. The review appeared in the Cornwall, Ontario, Daily Standard-Freeholder, a fine paper which uses this column. "Far from finding this a noble and dedicated work," the Canadian reviewer wrote, "we think it was conceived and executed in hate—hate for the class he belonged to, hate for the class he would like to have been born into, and hate for the world which would not give him the success he longed for. . . . Sex in his mind was the great leveller. . . . Lawrence's apologists maintain we all know the four-letter Anglo-Saxon words frequently used and it is hypocritical to pretend we don't. . . . But we never felt tempted to teach them to anyone we knew."

Away over on 30th Street almost to the Hudson River is a little place known as the Prop Shop. Its job is to supply settings and scenery for Broadway shows, and a lot of odd requests the proprietors have, too. Before the time of the Prop Shop, property men assembly a show had to chase all over the city to find various items needed. A special lamp, for example, was made in a lamp factory, a piece of furniture was obtained from a furniture store or made in a manufacturing center. Now the Prop Shop claims it can furnish anything needed. In one typical week, I learned, the following were requested and produced by the Shop:

A wheel that duplicates that of a 1907 Oldsmobile
Fire hydrants
Giant-sized bathtub
Several quarts of disappearing blood
Peacock fan like that used in Pharaoh's court.

The English title for the best-selling book, "How I Turned $1,000 Into a Million in Real Estate—In My Spare Time" will be a little different. It will be "How I Turned Three Hundred and Fifty Pounds, Seventeen Shillings, and Fourpence Into Three Hundred and Thirty Four Thousand, One Hundred and Sixty Eight Guineas In Holdings — In My Leisure Time."

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "All excess brings trouble to mankind." — Plautus.

In a slight coal mine accident, Cassy was partly buried under a small quantity of earth. The leader of the rescue party called down, "Keep alive, Cassy! We're coming!"

Whereupon a muffled voice replied, "Is big McIntyre up there with you?"

"Sure he is" was the reply.

"Then," called Cassy, "ask him to please stop off the ruins. I have enough on top of me without him."

Poor Casey didn't want his rescuers to overdo it. However, man naturally overdoes things. We over-indulge ourselves and over-indulge those we love. We over-work and over-play. From childhood we try to exceed our physical limitations or crash head-on against boundaries which society has erected to protect itself. There is no use advising us not to do it. We must find out for ourselves.

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — Sen. Stuart Symington has made a proposal calling for the establishment of a "West Point" for diplomats, which I feel deserves careful consideration as a means of improving our foreign relations.

The United States has spent nearly 60 billion dollars since World War II in an effort to prevent communism from taking over free nations of the world. Yet, a great deal of this money has been wasted because the representatives of the United States are not properly trained for their overseas assignments. For example, 50 per cent of our Foreign Service officer corps does not have a speaking knowledge of any foreign language. More important, 75 per cent of the new men coming into the Foreign Service do not speak a foreign language.

These facts carry grave implications when compared with the efforts of Communist Russia. All Russian diplomats are carefully schooled before going on foreign assignments. They must read and speak fluently the language, and demonstrate detailed knowledge of the culture, religions, and the economy of the countries in which they work before ever leaving the Soviet Union.

To meet the challenges of the Communists, and as a measure of plain good business, there is a definite need for the United States to set up an academy for diplomats and other Foreign Service personnel patterned along the lines of our service academies. For many years, we have trained our military leaders to conduct the shooting wars in which we have been involved. It makes sense that we should take equal care in training the men and women who guide us in the seemingly endless cold war.

A great deal of emphasis has been put on the training of scientists and technicians to meet the technological advances of the Communists. This is all well and good, but the needs and desires of free men and those who strive for freedom do not fit into a test tube or mathematical equation. Just as important as developing the know how to send men into outer space is the job of developing the ability to transmit to the peoples in foreign nations our desires for peace.

It does not make sense to expect our diplomats and other representatives to administer our foreign aid program and other parts of our foreign policy without a working knowledge of the peoples and governments with which they deal.

WHO'S TALKING? . . . The various charges, counter charges, denials, and what have you regarding the administration of the multi-million dollar road program in North Carolina brings to mind the old phrase:

"Look who's talking!" Apparently those who are presently in charge would have the public believe two things:

1. The program, as now administered — whereby facts and figures and traffic counts and other information are gathered and forwarded to Raleigh (where it is studied and from which is derived the decision as to what roads will be built, and where)—is the Perfect Answer to the problem.

2. Before the present setup was developed, the highway program was administered on a political basis; and conditions were "chaotic" when the powers that be took over.

ADDITION . . . Now, as we see it—and we have done quite a little bit of looking into it from a local level — the people do not question the various formulas—or formulae, if you please — or the premise that roads should be constructed in accordance to needs. What they seem to object to is that the figures are being added by:

Various types of engineers in far-away Raleigh.

THOSE ENGINEERS . . . Yes, folks will agree that highways should be built by engineers.

But, up to now, the three people who have been quoted in the press as having the most to say about the matter have been engineers of only a certain type, to wit:

ENGINEER BROUGHTON . . . Firstly, Highway Chairman J. M. Broughton, Jr., who has helped engineer a lot of Statewide political campaigns in North Carolina since the one in 1940 in which his illustrious father became Governor.

Incidentally, the recent statements attributed to young Broughton to the effect that in the past the highway setup had been "chaotic" reflected not only on the administration of his father—but on every other North Carolina Governor — present company excepted — since the highway program was created. Because the present one varies largely from each one in the past . . . principally in the fact that the highway programs of Umstead, Scott, Cherry, Broughton, Hoye, Ehringhaus, Gardner, McLean, and Morrison seemed to be much closer to the people.

SERIOUS . . . And, to criticize the administration of highways as handled by those Governors casts a serious reflection upon the Democratic Party in North Carolina.

It is difficult to put much stock in the words of our engineers—who at present seems to be attempting to engineer a political move whereby he will secure the support of the present administration for Governor in order to keep him from running against the administration's appointee to the U. S. Senate.

ENGINEER MAKEPEACE . . . Director of Secondary Roads Harold Makepeace of Sanford, who as campaign manager helped engineer a highly successful political campaign in the last gubernatorial whing-do — and who according to the press has recently been helping Chairman Broughton with his political engineering, and—

ENGINEER HOWLAND . . . Highway Commissioner Ralph Howland of Elkin. He did an excellent engineering job as director of publicity in the last gubernatorial campaign — and is now engineering to get himself elected Lieutenant governor of North Carolina.

MORE CONFIDENCE . . . All three of these gentlemen are my personal friends of long standing. No one has a higher regard for their political engineering abilities than your truly.

But, when it comes to highway engineering, I can understand why just a lot of people would have more confidence in what experienced highway engineers (like the recently resigned (?) Chief Engineer Will Rogers) would have to say.

So, to my three engineering friends, I repeat: "Look who's talking!"

PARTY . . . The home folks are having a birthday party for their favorite son, U. S. Senator B. Everett Jordan, at Saxapahaw, this coming Saturday afternoon, Sept. 5.

The senator will be 63 actually on Sept. 8, but the legislative situation being what it is in Washington, he could not be home on that date.

Speaking of the senator's birthday, everyone who has seen him lately is impressed with his apparent good health and all-around vigor. It appears that he has actually thrived on the Washington Merry-Go-Round.

ANOTHER FAITH . . . Last week we referred to Mel Broughton in this column as a Baptist. We have since that time been flooded with corrections — mostly by Baptists themselves—that Mel Broughton is not a Baptist. And, as my late correctors see it, what is worse is that Mel forsake the Baptist Church to follow his wife into another faith. "If he left the Baptist Church because his wife is something else, how could we be sure that she might become a Republican and he would follow her there?"

Being a Methodist myself, all I want to say about the above is that I stand corrected. I assumed that Mel was a Baptist because his father was a Baptist elected by the Baptist vote.

Such bitterness about wives, religion and politics I've never seen.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

When the weather is right for it, I spend a heap of my time just sitting on the front porch and rocking. A feller can do some mighty sound thinking while he's setting and rocking. I always rock with the grain on account of rocking agin the grain makes the planks squeak and the noise reminds my old lady of a few chores I ain't finished. I reckon most of you folks in town ain't saw a rocking chair in 10 years, and if you had one the chances is you ain't got no front porch to rock it on. When you town folks throwed your rocking chairs away and started building houses without no front porches is when you started down hill.

There ain't nothing in this world that gives a feller the feeling that he's at peace with himself and the world like setting and rocking fer a spell. If Kruschchev and them Russian bandits would git a front porch and some rocking chairs, the world wouldn't need no summit meeting.

Last night my good neighbor Zeke Grubb come by and me and him rocked and talked for a couple hours. Zeke is a real good rocker and talker. He said he had writ his Congressman fer some date last Spring and his letter was referred to the Agriculture Department and from there to several other Departments. Right now, says Zeke, he's hearing from the State Department. He figgers he'll git the data in time for the 1960 elections, along with a letter from his Congressman on how hard he's been working on the project.

Zeke is always good fer a fancy yarn or two. He was telling last night about the Sunday morning this feller went to church and nobody showed up but the preacher and him. The preacher come down to the pew and asked this feller, "Brother, if you took a load of hay to the pasture and didn't but one cow show up, would you feed her?" The feller allowed as how he would feed her.

The preacher walked back up in the pulpit, sung a few songs, said a long prayer, preached two hour and 10 minutes, sung a few more songs and said a final prayer. He come down out of the pulpit, shook hands with the feller, and they walked down the aisle together. When they got to the door, the feller stopped and told the preacher, "Reverend, I been thinking about that load of hay and the cow. I'd have fed her alright, but I'll be dad-burned if I would've give her the whole load."

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Recent agricultural experiments show that de-wormed pigs give a 12 per cent increase in feed efficiency. Translated into dollars this means a feed saving of about $140 per 100 pounds of gain, or $2.10 per market hog. This amounts to a lot of money in today's market hog operation.

FEEDING THE DAIRY COW
By GUY S. PARSONS,
Dairy Extension Specialist

The main principle to remember when feeding cows during the dry period is to feed in a manner which will put the cow in good condition for calving and the next lactation period. The amount of feed that should be fed will depend to a large degree on the condition of the cow at the end of her lactation.

Cows should be fed plenty of high quality roughages during the dry period along with a rather simple concentrate mixture. Roughages are the most economical feeds and the nutritive elements supplied in roughages are especially important in building the cows reserves.

The concentrate mixture may be the same as that fed to the milking herd and should contain two per cent bone meal and one per cent salt to supply plenty of minerals.

Experimental results show that extra bulk in the concentrate mixture fed during the dry period is not necessary. Cows do not require a ration any different when dry than during the lactation period, provided the milking ration was nutritionally sound.

If cows are thin and in poor condition during this period, additional grain may be needed. Two to ten pounds of grain with good roughage, either pasture, hay or silage should be sufficient, depending on the condition of the cow. Remember — you can't starve a profit out of a good cow, nor can you feed a profit out of a poor one.

Malathion For Dusting
Cattle In Milk

Information was received in the County Agent's Office this morning that it is all right to use malathion dust on cows giving milk. Below is notation that was received from State College:

"Malathion has been approved for use on milk cows (cows giving milk) in the dust form. Use the 4 or 5 per cent dust product and apply in the same manner as recommended for methoxychlor. Malathion sprays and dips are not recommended for use on dairy animals. We do not have much data on the use of malathion on dairy cows as referred to above, hence we will be glad to have any reports on its effectiveness."

Parasite Control In Calves

We have seen a large number of young calves infested with stomach worms. Most every farm in the county would profit by feeding phenothiazine in salt during summer months. This salt with recommended amount of phenothiazine will cost approximately $8 per hundred. But remember, this will not rid the animals of worm, but will sterilize eggs and will keep down worm problems on the farm. Farmers in other sections who have used this say that it is money well spent.

Feeder Calves Will Be Inspected
By Selection Committee Sept. 8
People who have calves and plan to sell them on the Statesville Feeder Calf Sale and who have not already consigned calves and received letter from County Agents Office should consign these calves immediately. Feeder calf producers who did not receive letter about the inspection should get in touch with the County Agents Office and make plans for your calves to be inspected in order that they may be sold on the feeder calf sale.

ASC News

ASC Committee Elections — 1960
Are you eligible to vote in the ASC Farm Elections?

You can vote if you are an owner — operator — tenant — or sharecropper on a farm participating in any of the programs administered by the County ASC Committee in Davie County. If there is any question as to whether or not you are eligible, check with the ASC office.

Your County ASC Committee has already announced the time and place for voting in your community ASC elections. No petitions were received; therefore, no names have been added to the list as announced. Today we just wanted to remind you that this is a pretty important election. The committee elected will have some pretty heavy responsibilities in helping to stabilize our nation's agriculture — in fact, our nation's total economy.

The three farmers you elect in your community will be the key men in all the programs of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The delegate you elect to attend the county convention will have the responsibility of helping elect a County Committee to administer these ASC programs in the county.

The year of 1960 will be a pretty important year as far as agriculture is concerned. There will be a lot of important decisions made. That's why these elections mean so much to you. These Community Committeemen and the delegate to the county convention are going to have a lot to do with farming in your community and in the county. This means that it is very important that you elect the best men you can.

It may be that the best men you can find are now serving as committeemen. If they are and are eligible for re-election, re-elect them. Show them you appreciate what they are doing by turning out to vote. If you think some other farmer's would do a better job, vote for them. It's up to you and the other farmers in your community to decide.

Remember the Date: SEPT. 10 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Wheat Mixtures

Grain sowing time is only about a month away. We again remind farmers of the change in the Wheat Mixture provision. The following mixtures will be classified as Wheat acreage in 1960:

- OATS containing more than 25 per cent Wheat by weight.
- BARLEY containing more than 25 per cent wheat by weight.
- RYE containing more than ten per cent wheat by weight.

We also remind farmers that the determination will be made at harvest time. Most of the mixtures that have been being approved will be classified as wheat. All farmers are urged to consider this change when making plans for their 1960 grain crop.

Conservation Reserve Program
The 1960 Conservation Reserve sign-up is now being held in the Davie County ASC office. The closing date for requesting that a rate be established is Sept. 10. All farmers have been mailed a letter announcing the sign-up and outlining the general provisions of the program.

Farmers who are interested in putting some land in the Conservation Reserve program for 1960 are urged to bring the crop and yield history on their farm for the past five years. After this information has been received maximum rates will be established for the farm and the farmer notified. Then the farmer will have a chance to offer his land at a rate less than the maximum, and if approved will be given a chance to sign the contract which will be for a period of from 5 to 10 years, depending on the type of practice to be carried out on the farm.

REMEMBER: Applications must be filed by SEPT. 10 in order to be eligible to get land in the Soil Bank for 1960.

Wool Referendum

The referendum on advertising and Sales Promotion for Lamb and Wool will be held during the month of September. This referendum will permit wool growers to vote for or against an advertising, or promotion program to improve the market for wool products.

Ballots are being mailed to all known wool producers in the county. These ballots may be returned in person to the County Office sometime during the month of September, or they may be returned by mail before Sept. 30. Farmers receiving these ballots are urged to vote and return the ballots to the ASC office. Eligible growers who do not receive a ballot are requested to stop by the ASC office and vote.

ACP Program
A limited amount of funds are available for approval for fall practices. First consideration will be given to producers who have not received any assistance this year. Producers who plan to seed permanent pasture; use lime-stone; seed small grain, Orinsson clover or Vetch for a winter cover, are urged to stop by the office and make their request if they have not already done so.

Producers who have already received approvals for 1959 practices are urged to report such practices to this office as soon as completed.

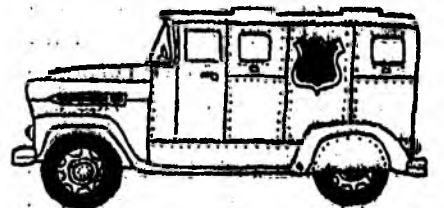

Whatever it is your duty to do, you can do without harm to yourself.—Mary Baker Eddy

FACTS THE TAX PAYERS OF DAVIE COUNTY SHOULD KNOW.

WHERE WILL THE MONEY RAISED BY THE BOND ISSUE BE SPENT?

The Tax Payers would like to know where the buildings are to be erected and what each one is to cost.

What part of the money is to be spent at Mocksville High School, Mocksville Colored School and other Schools in the County?

The Tax Payers are being asked to furnish the money for these buildings are they not entitled to know where the money is going to be spent and what each item is costing?

If the Board of Education cannot and will not furnish the Voters with this information, then why should they expect the Voters to entrust them with the spending of $1,300,000 of the Tax Payers money?

IF $1,300,000 IN BONDS IS ADDED TO THE $680,000 BONDS NOW OWED BY DAVIE COUNTY IT WILL MAKE A TOTAL BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF DAVIE COUNTY OF $1,980,000.

There are 15,420 people living in Davie County, and this debt would amount to $129.00 for each man, woman and child living in Davie County.

This would mean that Davie County would have the third highest per capita debt of any County in North Carolina, and that 6½% of the total taxable wealth in Davie County was covered by bonds.

If these bonds are sold on a 22 year maturity basis at a four per cent interest rate the tax rate the first year would increase thirty three cents, but if these bonds should sell for a 4½ per cent interest rate then the tax the first year would increase to thirty five cents.

This tax together with a ten cent additional tax which the Board of Education has requested the Davie County Commissioners to levy for the year 1959-60, would result in an increase of the Tax Rate in Davie County of fifty per cent over present rate.

If it is to the best interest of Davie County to increase taxes fifty per cent in one year, would it not be better to levy a tax of thirty cents per year for buildings, which rate would produce approximate $96,000.00 each year and put our building program on a pay as you go basis. This would result in a savings alone of over $600,000 in interest to the taxpayers of Davie County.

The taxpayers of the County who have paid for the Schools in the past will gladly provide the needs of the future. But only when presented with facts and figures which they believe for the best interest and welfare of all the citizens of Davie County.

Social Security In Davie County

Farmers know there is a time to plant, to cultivate, and a time to take in the crops. But, asks J. G. Liebensberger, District Manager of the Salisbury office, "how many know there is a time to look at their social security protection. Finding out about social security too late could be worse than planting a crop too late."

Mr. Liebensberger explained by pointing out that many farmers have not reported their farm earnings and that it will soon be too late for many, especially in the older age group, to gain the social security credits that may mean the difference between protection and no benefits at all.

If a farm operator has net earnings of $400 or more in a year, he must report those earnings for social security. This will give him credits for the year. But even though he does not clear $400 in the year, he has an option to report from $400 to $1200 for that year depending upon his gross farm income. This option is given only to farmers. But many farmers who had poor years have not taken advantage of the option and are losing credits for critical years.

Mr. Liebensberger said he wanted to emphasize that farmers, especially in the low earnings group and those approaching retirement age, should look into their social security this year for their own protection and that of their families. If there is any question about how self-employment farm earnings should have been reported in the last three years, it is a good idea to call at the social security office at 105 Corriher Avenue with a copy of the tax returns for those three years. Or, if no returns were filed for a year, a record of the farm earnings should be brought along.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN ★ SAYS ★

WASHINGTON — The admission of Hawaii as the Fiftieth State of the Union will be the last such action for a long time to come, in my honest opinion.

No New States Soon
I do not predict the admission of another State to our Union within the lifetime of any person now living. This is so because the gaining of statehood is a slow and tedious process. Another reason is that statehood for Alaska and Hawaii has met the need for admission of territory for the foreseeable future. Puerto Rico is a Commonwealth, of course and is getting along very well in that status. As it is a Commonwealth, it has a Commissioner elected to our Congress who does not have the power of voting but has other important powers, chief among which is his ability to use the Congress and its committees as a forum for his Commonwealth. As territories, Alaska and Hawaii were represented by Delegates. Puerto Rico is different as a Commonwealth from the former positions of Alaska and Hawaii. Territorial status, such as was the case of the frontier and western territories of our country, envisions eventual statehood.

New Senators
When Mrs. Ervin and I were in Hawaii last fall, taking the first vacation I had enjoyed since coming to the Senate, we had the pleasure of becoming acquainted with Mr. Owen Long, former Territorial Governor and now United States Senator from Hawaii. Senator Long and his colleague, Senator Pong, have now been seated in the Senate, thus completing the dream of the people of Hawaii for statehood for many years.

Former Senators
During the coming months I expect to devote this newspaper column, in addition to information about the Congress, to brief sketches about men who have served in the United States Senate from North Carolina. My initial research into this field indicates that there are many facts which may not be of popular knowledge about our former Senators.

A. T. Grant Says Need Urgent For Bond Passage

Pay As You Go Is Termed As 'Impossible'

Mr. Editor:
I have been requested by several friends to express my views and attitude about the proposed School Bond Issue to be submitted to the voters of Davie County September 15th 1959.

Perhaps it would be well for all of us to become acquainted with the real facts concerning the County High School. In the early 1950's and for some time prior thereto we had a High School at Mocksville, Cooleemee, Advance and Farmington, neither of them graduated a sufficient number of pupils to justify the expense of maintenance, and upon agitation all of these several High Schools, through the Parent Teachers Association and Parents interested in better High School Facilities, decided that we should combine our efforts and have one High School for the entire County, and all children after having completed the 8th grade in the several Grammar Grade Schools, should then be entered in the one centrally (according to school population) located near Mocksville, this being "The Davie County Consolidated High School." In the meantime about $614,000 had become due Davie County from the sale of State bonds issued by the State to aid the Counties in their building program. It was my understanding, The State Board of Education would not or did not turn this money over to the County Board to be dissipated in attempting to maintain the several small, inadequate high schools above referred to, but urged The County Board of Education to consolidate, and build one High School for the entire county, agreeing, if this were done, the State would then use the $614,000.00 to erect buildings for the High School plant upon a tract of land, not less than 30 acres to be furnished by the County. The County then bought for $10,000.00, the 30 acre tract upon which the present high school buildings are now located, a water main was extended beyond the City limits of Mocksville to the High School plant. Plans and specifications for the building were furnished by the State Board of Education and work begun. The County did not furnish One Dollar for the buildings now used as the High School. The State spent $614,000 on this plant; that money did not go through the office of The County Accountant or Financial Agent of Davie County. I am not advised

Senior Student Urges That Bond Issue Pass

Dear Mr. Editor:

Two years ago when Russia launched the first "Sputnik" we saw the need for a more advanced and well rounded education. The projects in the proposed plan is necessary — not optional — for this modern system. This is the chance for the citizens of Davie County to do their duty.

People have asked me how I will benefit by the completion of our school since I am a senior this year. The answer is that in my first hand view of the situation I see we have to grow no matter what the cost.

I urge all the people who have the opportunity to vote — to weigh the facts — and vote as they see fit.

A Student,
BILL FOSTER

Rotary Governor Pays Official Visit Here

District Rotary Governor J. Spurgeon Edwards, paid his official visit to the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

Mr. Edwards met early with the various committee chairmen of the local club and discussed plans for the coming year.

At the regular noon meeting, Mr. Edwards spoke on the meaning of Rotary and its aim and objectives. He was introduced by J. K. Sheek.

President E. C. Morris presided. Special guests included Roy Harrell of High Point.

Says Bond Opposition Based On Cost; Proposes ABC Stores

Mr. Gordon Tomlinson, Editor Davie County Enterprise-Record Mocksville, N. C.

Dear Editor:
I am sure you are aware of the pros and cons which exist with regard to the School Bond issue, which is presently under consideration. Stripped down to its bare essentials, I believe the resistance is based strictly on the cost. In other words, if there was some miraculous way of expanding school facilities at no cost to the taxpayers, I am sure all resistance would vanish.

It occurs to me that the citizens of Davie County are overlooking one excellent source of revenue and that is the revenue which could be derived from the local sale of alcoholic beverages within our County.

It has been, to the best of my recollection, approximately six years since this County voted against the legal sale of Beer and Wine within the County by a majority of over 2 to 1. I, personally, believe the per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages of all types in Davie County today is as high as it has ever been. I also believe that the counties around us are enjoying a considerable income on taxes derived from the sale of alcoholic beverages to residents in Davie County. It might be enlightening if you would take the average per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages in the state of North Carolina and convert this into income which Davie County could reasonably expect to receive if the sale of alcoholic beverages was legalized in this County, applying this against the cost of the school construction which is currently being considered.

I am sure that anyone who is in possession of the facts in the case would agree with me that Davie County is dry in Name only and I, personally, think we have adopted an attitude much like that of the Ostrich, who, according to legend, when faced with something not exactly according to his liking, hides his head in the sand in the belief that it will go away.

If you have any figures available, showing the income which Davie County could reasonably expect if we legalized the sale of alcoholic beverages, I would appreciate your printing them. It is entirely possible we might be wise, as a County, to consider the legal sale of alcoholic beverages along with the construction of additional educational facilities.

Yours very truly,
J. S. SANFORD

'Editor's Note: We are unable to supply the statistical information requested at this time, and do not believe that this should become an issue in the present bond proposal.'

Mocksville P.T. A. Endorses Bond Issue

At the close of the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night at which time Supt. W. T. Bird gave an informative talk concerning the proposed School Bond Issue, the group voted to go on record as endorsing the issue. The motion was made by Clyde Glascock, and seconded by Ed Short.

Mr. Bird opened his remarks by stating "that a lot of heat and light had been shed on the bond issue, but to date there had been more heat than light. This is not a political issue, it will not benefit the teachers or the Board of Education, but it is a plan for better education and facilities for the children."

Jack Ceell, vice president of the association, presided at the meeting. He introduced the Rev. E. M. Avest who gave the devotions. Then, he introduced Roy Marsh, school principal, who in turn introduced the new teachers to the group. The teachers include Mrs. W. T. Bird, 4th grade; Mrs. C. G. Kirkman, 8th grade; R. J. Bowen, 8th grade; and Monte Polter.

Room count was won with a three way tie for the prizes between Miss Brown's 1st grade, Mrs. Hudson's 3rd, and Mrs. Wolff's 3rd grade; and Mrs. Bird's 4th grade; Mrs. Durham's 5th grade; and Mr. Bowen's 8th grade.

Presbyterian Men To Meet For Supper

The men of the First Presbyterian Church will meet for their monthly supper meeting in Gene Bowman's Steak House on Tuesday evening, Sept. 15th, at 6:30.

Mrs. Gabard Named Ass't Home Agent

Mrs. Eleanor W. Gabard was recently elected Assistant Home Economics Agent for Davie County. She succeeds Miss Ostine Warlick and assumed her duties Sept. 1, 1959.

Mrs. Gabard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ward of Clemmons. Mrs. Gabard was born in Mocksville but moved away when she was six years old. She graduated from Clemmons High School and Greensboro College, majoring in Home Economics.

Prior to her present position, Mrs. Gabard did dietetic work at Lewisville School in Forsyth County and taught the 8th grade at Smith Grove School.

Mrs. Gabard is married to W. W. Gabard and has two daughters, Ellie, age 13; and Bonnie, age 5. She and her family live on Lewisville - Clemmons Road in Clemmons.

REDLAND REVIVAL
A revival will begin at Redland Pentecostal Holiness Church on Wednesday, Sept. 9, and will continue through Sept. 20. Services will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor of the church is the Rev. C. K. Pardue.

"OUR CO-OP IS A LOCAL AFFAIR" sign attracted a lot of attention at the annual meeting of the Davie Electric Membership Corporation held last Saturday in Mocksville. In the above picture, C. C. Smoot, chairman of the board of directors; Miss Rebekah Rivers, assistant editor of the Carolina Farmer magazine and featured speaker; and I. G. Roberts, veteran member of the board of directors, discuss this display.

Davie Electric Membership Corp. Annual Meeting Attracts 7,000

More than 7,000 persons crowded the Masonic Picnic grounds in Mocksville, Saturday, for the annual meeting of the Davie Electric Membership Corporation.

They came from six North-west North Carolina counties served by the Davie cooperative—Davie, Yadkin, Rowan, Wilkes, Iredell, and Alexander.

Highlights of the membership meeting included talks by Miss Becky Rivers, assistant editor of Carolina Farmer Magazine; O. W. Briden, director of the northeast area of the Rural Electrification Authority in Washington, D. C.; and Gwyn Price, chairman of the North Carolina REA in Raleigh.

Some $4,500.00 in prizes were given away to those attending the membership meeting. Members are all who receive electric power from Davie Electric Membership Corporation.

One new director was named to the cooperative's board. He is Conrad Eller of Wilkes County. Wilkes previously was not represented on the board.

Directors reelected at the meeting were: J. S. Dobson, T. N. Crawford, and W. B. Renegar, all of Iredell; I. G. Roberts, C. C. Smoot, and R. L. Seaford, all of Davie; G. L. Chatham and W. L. Russell, both of Alexander; E. R. Crater of Yadkin; and W. F. Barnes of Rowan.

J. C. Jones, manager of the cooperative, delivered the annual report on progress in the organization.

The meeting, which most members also used as occasion for a picnic, started at 10 a.m. and continued through the afternoon.

Library Closed

The Davie County Public Library will remain closed until Monday, Sept. 21, due to an inventory being taken, which is not completed as yet.

An Invitation

The Student Council of the Davie County Consolidated High School would like to issue an open invitation to the voters of Davie County to visit our high school and see the conditions under which we have to eat, study and carry on our school activities.

President, Manning Huske
Secretary, Kathie Shepherd

Mocksville School To Hold Annual Magazine Sale

The Mocksville School will hold its annual magazine sale, starting Friday, Sept. 11, and ending Monday, Sept. 21.

The Educational Reader Service is the company that the school is working with again for the fourth consecutive year.

The school plans to teach the students some basic ideas about salesmanship. When the students knock on your door, please take time to listen and allow them to show and tell you what they have to offer.

The magazines are all priced and are the same as they would be if you did not order through the school.

A total of 138 titles will be offered for you to choose from.

The school receives a 30 per cent commission on all sales. Last year the school realized slightly more than $500 from the sale.

The school staff realizes the value of good reading material in each home. Magazines make excellent presents and gifts for Christmas. Why not order your Christmas presents early and avoid the rush?

We ask the cooperation and support of the entire community in this sale.

D. J. MANDO

Mando Urges Support Of Bond Issue

Dear Editor:

Please allow me to express my opinion with reference to the coming election on the Davie County School Bond issue. I am whole heartedly in favor of the program in its entirety.

In your last issue I read a full page advertisement sponsored by a group called "Interested Taxpayers of Davie County." I was very much disturbed about the article as I feel a complete picture of the bond issue was not given.

But I was more deeply concerned because so much emphasis was put on material things in life. May I say at this point, that many of my friends may be on the opposite side on this issue and whether their motives be right or wrong they are entitled to their views. According to their article it seems the angle from which they are viewing the bond issue concerns itself with a dollar and cents sign. There are many intangible important things in life

Hugh Larew Named Chairman of T.B. Assn.

Hugh Larew has been named chairman of the local chapter of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association. He succeeds the late Curtis Price, who held this office for a number of years.

Mrs. Howard Hanes is the new treasurer. She replaces Miss Jane McGuire who has held this office for the past 12 years.

Jaycees To Hear About Boy's Home

Bob Latta of High Point, District Chairman for the Boy's Home Project, will speak at the meeting of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce on Sept. 11.

Mr. Latta will explain the purpose of the current project to provide for the needs at the Boy's Home located at Lake Waccamaw.

James Brock is chairman of the local Jaycee project committee.

Smith Grove PTA Endorses Bonds

The Smith Grove Parent-Teachers Association went on record Tuesday night endorsing the proposed Davie County School Bond Issue.

D. F. Stilwell, principal at the Davie High School, spoke to the group, explaining the program and outlining the needs.

New Health Director Named

At a meeting of Davie-Yadkin District Board of Health Sept. 2, Dr. B. B. McGuire of Spruce Pine, was unanimously elected Health Director.

A graduate of Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Dr. McGuire practiced medicine for some time. He later took special work in Public Health School, University of North Carolina, and has been in public health work for 20 years. He has served in several locations, the longest of which was nine years at Elizabeth City.

According to present plans, Dr. McGuire will reside in Mocksville. No immediate changes are contemplated in the clinic schedules.

BLACKWELDER REUNION

The Blackwelder reunion will be held Sunday, Sept. 13 at the H. F. Blackwelder home. Friends, relatives and neighbors are cordially invited to attend, and bring a basket of food for the picnic lunch to be served on the lawn.

One pays the bonds off in 30

6:30 A.M. to 6:30 P.M.

The people of Davie County will go to the polls Tuesday and vote for or against the $1,300,000 bond issue to provide facilities at the two county high schools.

Voting will take place at the regular precinct polling places between the hours of 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Only the votes actually cast will count. James G. Latham, chairman of the county board of elections, has issued a statement in this issue pointing out that the only way a person can vote either for or against this issue is to go to the polls and cast the vote.

If approved by the voters Tuesday, the bond issue will provide for the completion of the Davie County Consolidated High School.

This school was started four years ago with money from state bond issues. This money was used to erect the present classroom facilities with the plan being to finish the plant just as soon as the county could provide the money.

The only money that Davie County has put into the Consolidated High School was that expended for the land.

The proposed bond issue will provide for 14 additional classrooms; an auditorium seating 1,800 persons; a cafeteria; an administrative office; a gymnasium seating 1,800 and which will include boys' and girls' dressing rooms; an athletic stadium which will include both a football and baseball field, be lighted and have a seating capacity of 5,000 persons in permanent type concrete stands with public toilets.

The auditorium and gymnasium, plus four classrooms, two music rooms, will all be in the one big building which will also have the office building adjoining.

At the Davie County Training School an estimated $300,000 is to provide for additional buildings and renovations to include classrooms, agriculture classroom and shop; a homemaking room with both food and clothing centers; a gymnasium; a cafeteria, a library; a science room, plus other renovations.

W. T. Bird, County School Superintendent, has pointed out that all the features of this bond proposal have been recommended by the State Division of School House Planning and that the consolidated high school cannot ever be fully accredited until the facilities are completed.

Mr. Bird also pointed out that the conditions at the local high school have reached a critical stage and that unless relief is granted by the passage of the bond issue, many of the school activities will have to be curtailed.

The proposed $1,300,000 bond issue has been approved by the State Local Government Commission which also provided a scale for the county's participation in the bond repayment.

The two alternate maturity schedules for the bonds provided by the Local Government Commission are as follows:

One pays the bonds off in 30

Davie 'Rebels' Vs West Davidson In Opening Game Here Friday

Kickoff At 8 P.M.
At Rich Park

The Davie County High School Rebels will open their 1959 football season on Friday night at 8 o'clock in a game to be played at Rich Park against the West Davidson Consolidated High School.

The Rebels are expected to be much improved over last year with 11 returning letter men. The Rebels will also be a little heavier this year in the line with an average of 180 lbs. The backs will be light but fast and more experienced.

Coach Jack Ward has announced that the starting lineup will probably consist of John Grimes and Mike Osborne at ends; Bob Thies and Manning Huske at tackles; Jerry Hendricks and Tim Davis, guards; and Scotty Vogler at center. In the backfield there will be Barry Southern at quarterback, with the other duties being divided between Tommy Graham, Ramey Kemp, Jerry Epy, and Joe Whitlock.

Also scheduled to see plenty of action will be ends Mike McCamrock, Gary Chaffin and Don Marklin.

Assisting Coach Ward again this year is line coach Bill Peeler and Bob Buds. Junior Varsity Coach.

The pictures of the players and the team's roster appears on booster pages in this issue.

how the bills were paid, or by whom. At any rate, the $614,000 was a pure gift towards the High School plant, and I might say, by way of parenthesis, "We didn't look that gift horse in the mouth." Had we done so, we would have discovered exactly what we are up against now. The State prepared and the County approved plans for an entire high school plant, but the $614,000.00 furnished by the State was not sufficient to build the Auditorium, The Gymnasium, The Cafeteria, or any money for an Athletic Field, and One Class Room Building was also omitted. Those are the buildings we are now asked to vote bonds to provide money to erect. The State, or its agents completed the buildings now on the High School grounds in 1956, and the County Board of Education opened the High School in September, 1956, with an enrollment of 675 pupils, but it was soon discovered the buildings were inadequate, even for the 675 students, it was necessary to use one or two class rooms to prepare meals for lunch. There was no place for them to eat, except to stand in the corridors or out-doors. There are 28 class rooms in the present plant, as I am informed, and 31 teachers. Surely this intolerable situation should be corrected, and I hope will be when brought to the attention of the people. It will not correct itself, and we must either abandon some of the activities of the High School, or provide sufficient buildings, to take care of the ever increasing attendance. The freshman class enrollment of this year is 265 pupils, and it is imperative that proper facilities be provided at the present high school or these children be sent back to the Grammar Grade Schools from which they came. I don't believe the people would stand for this. I don't think any man is under any obligation to leave a fortune to his children, but he is under an obligation to provide them with an education and give each an even start in life. We must remedy the present intolerable situation confronting us or abandon the further activities of the high school. By indifference or lack of interest we may by our votes defeat the bond issue to raise money to bring this High School up to date, but like Banquo's Ghost, "It won't down." If defeated, on the 15th, we will be confronted with another election, either this year or certainly after the meeting of the next Legislature. I find that a great many people do not realize the situation and don't think additional buildings are needed for the School. If they will talk to the children who attend the school, and without prejudice, talk to the teachers who teach in the school, they will find the situation is practically as I have above stated.

There are a great many people talking against the bond issue and saying they are unwilling to turn that much money into the school fund to be expended by the Board of Education, that they have no voice in choosing, and that they are unwilling for some members of The Board to have anything to do with spending the money. Personally I have never approved of the method of selecting the Board of Education of Davie County, I think it should be selected regardless of political affiliations, and I also think a careful detail audit should be made of every dollar of taxpayers money, or receipt from bonds, should be made and opened to the public at all times, but I do not think we should punish the children of Davie County because we don't approve of some men on the Board of Education, or the method by which it is selected. We should keep the welfare of the children clearly before us and not be swayed by prejudice from any source. As I have stated above, if we do not remedy the situation of the present High School on the 15th by voting for the bond issue we will be confronted with the same situation until something is done. Of course it will cost a lot of money, but this "Pay as you go" is impossible. If that course is pursued you will never "go," and the present pupils now in the High School will be past 21 years of age before you have a decent adequate High School for them to attend.

I think if the mothers of the children attending this School were well acquainted with the present situation they would not hesitate to remedy it. It is my opinion, it would be for the best interest of the children of the County that the necessary buildings for this High School be provided by a bond issue, and when the people vote the bonds, we should then see that every dollar of the money is properly spent for the purpose for which voted, and if not, we should give our attention to any man or set of men responsible for its diversion.

HAIR DESIGNING . . . was featured last week at the meeting of the Charm Class held by the Home Economics Department of the Davie County High School. In the above picture, Charles Kefner of the Charles Hair Designers Studio at Salisbury is shown fashioning a hair design on Mrs. James Ridenhour of Cooleemee. Watching the procedure are Miss Jo Cooley, Mrs. Jim Wall, Miss Mary McGuire and Mrs. W. T. Bird. A total of 38 women attended this class.

County will never be able to attend college, but if we provide a good High School Education for them, we will have done our duty, and I think we owe it to the children of the County to do this.

Davie County is not a pauper County, we have a fine citizenship, fine lands, and are abundantly able to provide this money and I sincerely hope we will do so on the 15th day of September, 1959.

In conclusion, The Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Davie County, Mr. W. T. Bird, should be commended for his interest in this matter and bringing the intolerable situation of the Davie County High School to the attention of the public.

Respectfully yours,

(that cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Can we put a price on love for our children or fellow-men? Can we put a price on friendship? Can we put a price on our Christian heritage? CAN WE PUT A PRICE ON EDUCATION? And yet, in all these intangible properties we sacrifice many personal material things for the benefit of others.

Let me stress the importance of our educational facilities. We are struggling to give our children and future children of Davie County the best tools in education to prepare themselves for the future. We work to give our children the opportunities in education that many pupils in the past did not have. Our county has made much progress in the educational field but we have a long way to go to keep up with the rapid growth of our school and changing times. We cannot make progress with only part of the tools necessary to have a well balanced educational program. I fully realize that these tools cost money but in the future we will receive a finished product which will make us proud of any sacrifice we might make now.

Yes, we might have to tighten up our purse strings a little, not much — but each citizen will play an important part if the thought be kept in mind that they will enable our teachers to do a better job in preparing the future citizens of this country.

Being a former school teacher and athletic coach I am aware of the vital importance of this bond issue. I fully realize the problems that arise in a school where limited facilities compels a school to try and do a complete job with only a part of the equipment. I know the teachers at our Davie County Consolidated High School are working under a great handicap due to limited facilities. If you are interested in our County High School get the facts from our teachers, principals and Superintendent. Inquire about classroom facilities, lunchroom facilities, physical education facilities, music facilities. Yes, it takes all these to give our children a balanced educational program. We owe it to our teachers . . . a group of dedicated people—who have charge of our children the greatest part of the day, trying to mould character and good citizens. Are we to deny these people the necessary equipment to carry out their task?

I have faith in the people of this county, proven by their past progressive methods, that they will go to the polls and remove these problems by passing the bond election. Truly they will exemplify the true Christian spirit by making a personal sacrifice for the benefit of others. We cannot afford to stand still. We must progress in the field of education. We need the facilities and the opportunity is here NOW . . . Let us not lose it.

I am an interested taxpayer—interested in the school — interested in the youth of the county — willing to carry my part of the load to see that these needs are obtained now.

Respectfully yours, years (Schedule I) and the other pays them off in 22 years (Schedule II). The average tax increase for the long range schedule is 24.79c per year per $100 valuation and for the short schedule is 27.35c per $100 valuation. If the bonds are approved on the 30 year schedule the increase will be .28c for the year 1960-61 and decrease by one-cent the next and succeeding years until the bonds are paid off. The tax rate on the 22 year schedule will increase .33c per $100 valuation for the year 1960-61 and likewise, after the second year, will decrease until the bonds are paid off. The Board of County Commissioners will adopt the schedule they feel to be in the best interests of the county.

Miss King, Mr. Myers Wed In Baptist Church

In an 8 p.m. ceremony Saturday held at Yadkin Valley Baptist Church, Miss Margaret Joyce King and Billie Eugene Myers were united in marriage. The Rev. Alvis C. Cheshire, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harding King, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Z. Myers.

Wedding music was presented by D. C. Pease of Winston-Salem, organist; Davis Fry, soloist; and the church choir.

The bride wore a floor length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Her veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white tuberoses and carnations with tulle puffs and satin streamers.

Mrs. Larry Willard, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of blue taffeta with a matching head piece and veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations with puffs and satin ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Edward A. Raybuck, cousin of the bride; Mrs. James M. Turner and Miss Hilda Bowman, both of Winston-Salem. They wore street length dresses of rose peau de sole with matching headpieces and face veils. Their bouquets were identical to the honor attendants.

Robin Drawdy and Debbie Willard were flower girls. Their dresses were of white organza and they carried baskets of pink rose petals.

Robert Myers, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Charles Smith of Winston-Salem, cousin of the bride; J. B. Dunn and Edward A. Raybuck.

A reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Raybuck. Assisting in serving and receiving were Mrs. P. G. Suber, Mrs. Glenn Bumgarner and Mrs. T. R. Myers.

The lace covered bride's table was centered with the bride's bouquet interspersed with white tapers in crystal candelabra. It also held a tiered wedding cake and a large crystal punch bowl.

Mrs. Myers is a graduate of Farmington High School and is employed by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. at Winston-Salem. The bridegroom attended Shady Grove High School, served in the U. S. Army, and is employed by the Duplan Corp. at Winston-Salem. After a short wedding trip, the couple will live on Advance, Rt. 1.

Miss Edna Evans, daughter of Mrs. Mae Evans, left last Thursday for ASTC, Boone. She will enroll in the freshman class.

MISS JOYCE PAYNE

McCullough-Pate Vows Exchanged

The marriage of Miss Jolce Ann Pate, daughter of Fredrick Preston Pate of Richmond, Va., and the late Mrs. Pate, to Sgt. Larry Eugene McCullough, son of Mrs. Mattie Sue McCullough, of Mocksville and the late James C. McCullough, took place Saturday, Aug. 29, at 6 p.m. in the Second Baptist Church in Richmond, Va.

Dr. C. Gordon Brownville officiated at the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over silk organza. Her veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white roses, pom-poms, and gypsophylla.

Miss Grace Viar of Richmond, was maid of honor. Miss Betty McGee of Chester and Mrs. John Pate, sister in law of the bride, were her other attendants.

Joe McCullough of Mocksville, served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Billy Kelly and John Pate, both of Richmond.

After a southern wedding trip the couple will be at home in Richmond.

Couple Is Married In Saint Matthews Lutheran Church

Miss Ardeña Daywalt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daywalt of Route 1, and Bobbie Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips of Route 5, were married Friday at 7 p.m. in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Route 1. The Rev. Charles McCambs, pastor, officiated.

The bride wore a street-length dress of blue organza. Her corsage was of white carnations. The couple entered the church together.

Decorations of the church were woodwardia ferns and floor baskets of fall flowers interspersed with candelabra holding cathedral candles. Wedding music was presented by the church organist.

After a wedding trip to Rock Hill, Tenn., the couple will be at home with the bride and groom's parents until their new home is completed on the Yadkinville Rd.

Mrs. Phillips is employed at Menleigh Garment Co., Inc., and Mr. Phillips holds a position at Heritage Furniture Co., Inc.

TODAY...10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested, and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested... everything-tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it takes anything they can dish out.

Now, Experience Run, U.S.A. will show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads.

How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon!

On October 8, the New-Size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's... for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Ford Falcon.

can you spare 9 minutes to read a message 19 centuries old?

The Sermon on the Mount is for everyone.
Anyone who reads it will be happier today.
Anyone who carries it in his heart will be happier forever. Read...re-read...and understand its words.
No speech ever promised...or delivered...so much.

WHEN he saw the crowds of people he went up on the mountain. There he seated himself, and when his disciples had come up to him, he opened his lips to teach them. And he said:

★ Blessed are those who feel their spiritual need, for the Kingdom of Heaven belongs to them! Blessed are the mourners, for they will be consoled! Blessed are the humble-minded, for they will possess the land! Blessed are those who are hungry and thirsty for uprightness, for they will be satisfied! Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy! Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God! Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called God's sons! Blessed are those who have endured persecution for their uprightness, for the Kingdom of Heaven belongs to them! Blessed are you when people abuse you, and persecute you, and falsely say everything bad of you, on my account. Be glad and exult over it, for you will be richly rewarded in heaven, for that is the way they persecuted the prophets who went before you!

★ You are the salt of the earth! But if salt loses its strength, how can it be made salt again? It is good for nothing but to be thrown away and trodden underfoot. You are the light of the world! A city that is built upon a hill cannot be hidden. People do not light a lamp and put it under a peck-measure; they put it on its stand and it gives light to everyone in the house. Your light must burn in that way among men so that they will see the good you do, and praise your Father in heaven.

★ Do not suppose that I have come to do away with the Law or the Prophets. I have not come to do away with them but to fulfill them. For I tell you, as long as heaven and earth endure, not one dotting of an i or crossing of a t will be dropped from the Law until it is all observed. Anyone, therefore, who weakens one of the slightest of these commands, and teaches others to do so, will be ranked lowest in the Kingdom of Heaven; but anyone who observes them and teaches others to do so will be ranked high in the Kingdom of Heaven. For I tell you that unless your uprightness is far superior to that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will never even enter the Kingdom of Heaven!

★ You have heard that men were told "You shall not commit adultery." But I tell you that anyone who strays from his marriage in thoughts of lust toward another has already committed adultery in his heart. But if your right eye makes you fall, get rid of it, throw it away, for you might better lose one part of your body than have it all thrown into the pit! If your right hand makes you fall, get rid of it, throw it away! For you might better lose one part of your body than have it all go down to the pit!

★ They were told, "Anyone who divorces his wife must give her a certificate of divorce." But I tell you that anyone who divorces his wife on any ground, except unfaithfulness, makes her commit adultery, and anyone who marries her after she is divorced commits adultery.

★ Again, you have heard that the men of old were told, "You shall not swear falsely, but you must fulfill your oaths to the Lord." But I tell you not to swear at all, either by heaven, for it is God's throne, or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great king. You must not swear by your own head, for you cannot make one single hair white or black. But your way of speaking must be "Yes" or "No." Anything that goes beyond that comes from the evil one.

★ You have heard that the men of old were told "You shall not murder," and "Whoever murders will have to answer to the court." But I tell you that anyone who gets angry with his brother will have to answer to the court, and anyone who speaks contemptuously to his brother will have to answer to the great council, and anyone who says to his brother "You cursed fool!" will have to answer for it in the fiery pit! So when you are presenting your gift at the altar, if you remember that your brother has any grievance against you, leave your gift right there before the altar and go and make up with your brother; then come back and present your gift. Be quick and come to terms with your opponent while you are on the way to court with him, or he may hand you over to the judge, and the judge may hand you over to the officer, and you will be thrown into prison. I tell you, you will never get out again until you have paid the last penny!

★ You have heard that they were told, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." But I tell you not to resist injury, but if anyone strikes you on your right cheek, turn the other to him too; and if anyone wants to sue you for your shirt, let him have your coat too. And if anyone forces you to go one mile, go two miles with him. If anyone begs from you, give to him, and when anyone wants to borrow from you, do not turn away.

★ You have heard that they were told, "You must love your neighbor and hate your enemy." But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for your persecutors, so that you may show yourselves true sons of your Father in heaven, for he makes his sun rise on bad and good alike, and makes the rain fall on the upright and the wrongdoers. For if you love only those who love you, what reward can you expect? Do not the very tax-collectors do that? And if you are polite to your brothers and no one else, what is there remarkable in that? Do not the very heathen do that? So you are to be perfect, as your heavenly Father is.

★ But take care not to do your good deeds in public for people to see, for, if you do, you will get no reward from your Father in heaven. So when you are going to give to charity, do not blow a trumpet before yourself, as the hypocrites do, in the places of worship and the streets, to make people praise them. I tell you, that is all the reward they will get! But when you give to charity, your own left hand must not know what your right hand is doing, so that your charity may be secret, and your Father who sees what is secret will reward you.

★ When you pray, you must not be like the hypocrites, for they like to pray standing in the places of worship and in the corners of the squares, to let people see them. I tell you, that is the only reward they will get! But when you pray, go into your own room, and shut the door, and pray to your Father who is unseen, and your Father who sees what is secret will reward you. And when you pray, do not repeat empty phrases as the heathen do, for they imagine that their prayers will be heard if they use words enough. You must not be like them. For God, who is your Father, knows what you need before you ask him. This, therefore, is the way you are to pray:

*'Our Father in heaven,
Your name be revered!
Your kingdom come!
Your will be done on earth
as it is done in heaven!
Give us today bread for the day,
And forgive us our debts,
as we have forgiven our debtors.
And do not subject us to temptation,
But save us from the evil one.'*

For if you forgive others when they offend you, your heavenly Father will forgive you too. But if you do not forgive others when they offend you, your heavenly Father cannot forgive you for your offenses.

★ When you fast, do not put on a gloomy look, like the hypocrites, for they neglect their personal appearance to let people see that they are fasting. I tell you, that is all the reward they will get. But when you fast, perfume your hair and wash your face, so that no one may see that you are fasting, except your Father who is unseen, and your Father who sees what is secret, will reward you.

★ Do not store up your riches on earth, where moths and rust destroy them, and where thieves break in and steal them, but store up your riches in heaven, where moths and rust cannot destroy them, and where thieves cannot break in and steal them. For wherever your treasure is, your heart will be also. The eye is the lamp of the body. If then your eye is sound, your whole body will be light, but if your eye is unsound, your whole body will be dark. If, therefore, your very light is darkness, how deep the darkness will be! No slave can belong to two masters, for he will either hate one and love the other, or stand by one and make light of the other. You cannot serve God and money. Therefore, I tell you, do not worry about life, wondering what you will have to eat or drink, or about your body, wondering what you will have to wear. Is not life more important than food, and the body than clothes? Look at the wild birds. They do not sow or reap, or store their food in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more account than they? But which of you with all his worry can add a single hour to his life? Why should you worry about clothing? See how the wild flowers grow. They do not toil or spin, and yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his splendor was never dressed like one of them. But if God so beautifully dresses the wild grass, which is alive today and is thrown into the furnace tomorrow; will he not much more surely clothe you, you who have so little faith? So do not worry and say, "What shall we have to eat?" or "What shall we have to drink?" or

"What shall we have to wear?" For these are all things the heathen are in pursuit of, and your heavenly Father knows well that you need all this. But you must make his kingdom, and uprightness before him, your greatest care, and you will have all these other things besides. So do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will have worries of its own. Let each day be content with its own ills.

★ Pass no more judgments upon other people, so that you may not have judgment passed upon you. For you will be judged by the standard you judge by, and men will pay you back with the same measure you have used with them. Why do you keep looking at the speck in your brother's eye, and pay no attention to the beam that is in your own? How can you say to your brother, "Just let me get that speck out of your eye," when all the time there is a beam in your own? You hypocrite! First get the beam out of your own eye, and then you can see to get the speck out of your brother's eye.

★ Do not give what is sacred to dogs, and do not throw your pearls before pigs, or they will trample them under their feet and turn and tear you in pieces. Ask, and what you ask will be given you. Search, and you will find what you search for. Knock, and the door will open to you. For it is always the one who asks who receives, and the one who searches who finds, and the one who knocks to whom the door opens. Which of you men when his son asks him for some bread will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a snake? So if you, bad as you are, know enough to give your children what is good, how much more surely will your Father in heaven give what is good to those who ask him for it! Therefore, you must always treat other people as you would like to have them treat you, for this sums up the Law and the Prophets.

★ Go in at the narrow gate. For the road that leads to destruction is broad and spacious, and there are many who go in by it. But the gate is narrow and the road is hard that leads to life, and there are few that find it.

★ Beware of the false prophets, who come to you disguised as sheep but are ravenous wolves underneath. You can tell them by their fruit. Do people pick grapes off thorns, or figs off thistles? Just so any sound tree bears good fruit, but a poor tree bears bad fruit. No sound tree can bear bad fruit, and no poor tree can bear good fruit. Any tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and burned. So you can tell them by their fruit. It is not everyone who says to me "Lord! Lord!" who will get into the Kingdom of Heaven, but only those who do the will of my Father in heaven. Many will say to me on that Day, "Lord! Lord! Was it not in your name that we prophesied, and by your name that we drove out demons, and by your name that we did many mighty acts?" Then I will say to them plainly, "I never knew you! Go away from me, you who do wrong!"

★ Everyone, therefore, who listens to this teaching of mine and acts upon it, will be like a sensible man who built his house on rock. And the rain fell, and the rivers rose, and the winds blew, and beat about that house, and it did not go down, for its foundations were on rock. And anyone who listens to this teaching of mine and does not act upon it, will be like a foolish man who built his house on sand. And the rain fell and the rivers rose, and the winds blew and beat about the house, and it went down, and its downfall was complete.

★ When Jesus had finished this discourse, the crowds were astounded at his teaching, for he taught them like one who had authority and not like their scribes.

White House Conference Group Makes Recommendations

The Davie County Committee of the 1950 White House Conference on Children and Youth in its report to the State Committee states that the two major advances made in the county since 1950 with respect to the welfare of young people are the recreational programs for both white and Negroes and the opening of the consolidated high school. Among the major recommendations made by the Committee are the following: recreational facilities should be expanded; school facilities throughout the county should be improved; a Child Welfare Worker should be added to the staff of the local office of the Department of Public Welfare.

The Davie County Committee has carried on its work through a number of sub-committees headed by the following chairmen: Jim Latham, Recreation; Carl E. Shell, Health; Mrs. Leona G. Smoot, Social Service; Dr. and Mrs. Ramey Kemp, Family Life; W. T. Bird, Education; Henry Shutt, Jr., Employment; Ben Boyles, Law Enforcement; Rev. Amos Kiser, Church Related Activities for Youth; Clyde Studevant, Negro Youth. A number of other persons representing various organizations have attended the meetings and participated in the formulation of the recommendations. In presenting the report, Mrs. Peter W. Halston, chairman, states: "I thank the members of the Committee and recommend to the attention of all persons who are interested in the welfare of our children and young people the proposals made by this group of thoughtful and responsible citizens."

A summary of the major recommendations made by the Davie County Committee follows:

Recreation
There is great need to establish or expand recreational facilities for white children in the various communities throughout the county so that recreational opportunities will be available within reasonable distance from the children's homes. In the case of Negro children, the need is for permanent playground equipment and the improvement of the grounds at the present facilities.

Education
The high school should be completed and other school facilities in the county improved. These needs can be met in large measure by the passage of the school bond issue to be voted on this month.

Social Service
The most pressing child welfare needs in the county can be met by the addition of a Child Welfare Worker to the staff of the local welfare office. In addition, the county should initiate of home maker Program to help meet the emergency needs of families when, because of illness or some other temporary situation, neither parent can take care of children or arrange for their care during a family crisis.

Health
In view of the fact that, as shown by Committee discussions, available facilities are not being used to the fullest extent by the citizens of Davie County because of their lack of information, a Health Committee should be set up in Davie County for the purpose of raising the standard of health by acquainting the people with the various services available and inducing them to use such services more fully.

Employment
Local newspapers are asked to provide a yearly Want Ad page so that young people may express job needs, especially for temporary or part time employment that would assist them to continue their education.

It is recommended that the local schools or civic clubs take the lead in making available opportunities for youth to learn more about the different vocations in the county through a program of interviews of interested students with individual club members. It is strongly urged that, in any vocational counseling, emphasis be placed on the advisability of continuing education as far as individually possible. A detailed report of the County's needs along with specific suggestions for meeting them will be circulated among county officials, educators, and other interested citizens. Anyone wishing to receive this report may secure a copy from Mrs. Halston.

The Committee in presenting its current recommendations noted also those made by the 1950 Davie County Committee headed by Mrs. George Apperson, which included the statement of the need for a Child Welfare case worker and the improved enforcement of compulsory school attendance laws to be made possible by the enlargement of the Public Welfare local staff.

FUNERALS

To Be Located On The Zion Chapel Grounds

The members of the historic Old Zion Chapel Methodist Church, located in the Sheffield community, and sometimes called Hickory Grove, have consented to let the property surrounding the church be developed into a Methodist Assembly Ground and Youth Center for the Methodist of Davie County. On Sunday, Sept. 13, the Davie County Board of Missions will meet at Zion Chapel at 3 p.m. to officially organize this project. Each Methodist Church in Davie County is asked to send a delegation to this meeting.

There will be a discussion on the many possibilities of this project and officials will be elected. The Rev. Wade Rogers, pastor of the Dulins Circuit and president of the Davie County Methodist Ministers Association, will preside in the absence of the Rev. John H. Capner, District Superintendent of the Thomasville District.

Over the years membership has gradually decreased at Zion Chapel until today there are only 13 members on the roll. It is felt that this project will preserve the historical background of the church and assure a continued use of the property for the betterment of the surrounding communities. This project will not interfere with the present preaching arrangement at Zion Chapel. The Rev. George E. Auman will continue to conduct worship services on each third Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m.

The Davie County Methodist Board of Missions has approved this project which means that Church Extension Funds can be designated for it. Each Methodist Church in the county contributes to this fund. The tentative plans are to repair and remodel the present building into a chapel and assembly hall. It is hoped that a new chapel can be built in the very near future. A well will be drilled and an arbor built as soon as possible.

The Assembly Grounds will be available to various Methodist groups throughout the county for retreats, picnics, and youth meetings. During the summer months a day camping program for the youth is planned. Divinity students from Duke University will direct this program.

Farmington Principal's Nephew Hurt In Wreck

A 12 year old Madison county boy, Herbert Clyde Peek, Jr., and his father, were critically injured and three others less seriously hurt in a two car collision last Monday afternoon near Mars Hill. Mr. Peek, who is football coach at Mars Hill High School, was the driver of the car in which his son was riding when the other car driven by William Edward Jarvis, 18, which was coming at an excessive rate of speed, ran head on into them. Jarvis was admitted to the hospital with a fractured jaw.

The Peek boy is still in an unconscious condition but the doctors are encouraged as to his condition, considering he had a fractured skull, lacerations of the chest and face, and a fractured right leg.

Students Ask Your Support!

To the Citizens:

We, the future students of Davie County Consolidated High School, request that you, the citizens of Davie County, join together with us in promoting the much needed School Bond. Not only for us but for you, the voters, too. In voting against this issue you are depriving us of the best education that could be offered. Only through you can we get what should be ours.

The new additions will omit such expenses as the gas that is used to take ballplayers to and from Cooleemee twice a day. This expense is added to your taxes. Uncrowded classrooms, a decent lunchroom, proper athletic field, and an auditorium where parents and friends may see us graduate. It is the least you can do for us. The use of Mocksville School's gym and auditorium by the high school is an inconvenience to them and to the elementary pupils.

This issue will cost money but not many people will take money with them when they leave the earth. Don't make a strike against the citizens of tomorrow. Voters we ask you, vote for us, not against us.

Sincerely yours,
ANN CASSIDY
ANN FOSTER

We are three eighth graders who would like to give the parents our opinion on what we think about the bond issue. We are hoping to go to high school next year, but will there be room? There are five teachers now who have no classroom, we have no lunchroom, no auditorium, no gymnasium, or athletic field. Next year the number will increase. We will need more teachers, but where will they teach?

Are you willing to pay a few extra dollars in taxes for your children to have a good education? If you are fighting against the school bond you are fighting against your own children and the children of Davie County.

We feel that the Colored school is in need of classrooms and working facilities.

We need your help in getting a high school education. Please help us by voting for the school bond.

Sincerely,
PATSY DEADMON
LINDA BARNHARDT
JOHNNY JOHNSON

Now that we are eighth graders, we are looking forward to attending the ninth grade at the Davie County Consolidated High School. But will we have that opportunity?

The high school is already crowded and chances are we will have to attend the same school that we are in now next year, making our elementary school just as crowded. It is a big step from elementary school to high school, a step we have been looking forward to since we started to school. Do you want to deprive us of that privilege? It really isn't going to raise the taxes but about an average of 27c per $100 valuation and we feel that the people in this county can afford this since our futures are at stake. We are the future leaders of this county, but how can we lead without a good high school education and without proper facilities how can we get that education? We also hope to go to college and a good high school education is quite necessary. Please think of us and this county's future when you go to vote for or against the bond issue.

KARLEEN SELL
JANE MANDO

We are writing to express our opinion on the Bond Issue of Davie County. We think this should be passed because of certain conditions of the schools, Davie County Consolidated High School and the Davie County Training School. We are the future leaders of this county. How can we lead if we don't have an education? If this Bond Issue doesn't pass we are going to be in a bad shape. We are trying hard to pass the eighth grade so we will have a high school education. We want to go to college after our four years of high school. We want the citizens of Davie County, whether they have children or not, to vote for it. Our parents are, so we want others to vote for the Bond Issue. Please help us!

Respectfully yours,

DELORES LOGGINS
ROSEMARY GARNER

Eighth Grade Mocksville Elementary School.

We of the eighth grade write this letter to encourage all citizens of Davie County to vote for the bond issue. This issue is to provide the high school with room for band practice, a gym, auditorium, cafeteria, and office space and to build more classrooms. Also to provide more facilities for the Colored School. We will be in bad shape if this bond issue doesn't pass.

JERRY HAYES
DAVID WALKER
JOHNNY TOWELL

The people of Davie County are now face to face with a serious problem, the bond issue. To us elementary students it is a greater problem, for we will soon be old enough to enter high school.

But the high school is too crowded now with 825 students. It is estimated that in two years there will be close to 1,000 students in high school. Next year, if the bond issue doesn't pass, the lunchroom will have to be closed. Band and basketball will have to be stopped. What is a school without these and many more activities?

If you would like your children to have a good, sound education, vote for the bonds. The polls will be open Tuesday, Sept. 15.

PENNY ANDERSON

On September 15, 1959, people in Davie County will make a big decision. This decision will involve whether their children or friends' children may obtain a proper high school education. Students will be badly hurt if the Bond Issue does not pass, whether they are in high school or in the elementary grades. Many of the students now taking band, home economics, and agriculture will be very much disappointed if they don't get to take these subjects in years to come. Lunches cannot be served. Your children will be bringing their lunches just as you did. Most parents want their children to have more privileges than they had. Those of you who don't have children should think when you vote. Philippians 2:3-4 has this to say: "Do nothing from selfishness or conceit, but in humility count others better than yourself." Let each of you look not only to his own interest but also to the interest of others.

DIANNE HENDRICKS
JEAN CLEARY

I am a student in the seventh grade of the Mocksville Elementary School. I am writing about the upcoming bond issue. It is very important that our high school receive the needed facilities. I will be going to high school after another year, so I'm very concerned, I'm too young to vote, so won't you?

IDA YATES

I'm in the seventh grade and soon I will be in high school. If I were in high school today I would be wanting to play basketball. If I make it I would have to go to Mocksville or Cooleemee gym to change clothes and practice. They need a dressing room and gym at the high school.

They need a cafeteria and more classrooms. That's what they need most. But they do need a stadium and an athletic field.

Some people may say: "They don't need a stadium or an athletic field," but we do!

So please all of you vote for it!

MARLENE BOGER

The new addition to the high school is vitally needed. Vote for the bond issue and you'll be voting for us.

PHYLLIS DANNER

I am a student in the seventh grade of the Mocksville Elementary School. I am writing about the bond issue. It is important that our high school receives the needed votes. I hope you will try to get the needed votes, will you?

JOANN CLEARY

I think the school bond issue must go through because the children in the grammar grades today will be the men and women of tomorrow. We will have to have a good education to carry on what the other people leave here when they are dead and gone, so the children of today must have a good education to carry on tomorrow.

LARRY TUTTEROW

I am a student at the Mocksville Elementary School. I hope to go to high school in another year, but if the bond issue is not passed I might not even get in. I am too young to vote, so won't you vote for me?

NANCY JOHNSON

We, two eighth grade students of the Mocksville Elementary School, wish to express our opinion on a very serious problem, The Bond Issue. There are many reasons why we want it to pass.

First of all we would not be able to take band in high school because there would not be enough room. Also, for those who are not planning to go to college there would be agriculture and home economics, but if the bond issue doesn't pass there will be very little of these.

You already know that the Davie County Consolidated High School has no lunchroom for the pupils or the faculty. There is only a classroom used for a lunchroom which will seat anywhere between 50 to 60 students. But if the bond issue doesn't pass there will be no lunchroom at all and the students will have to bring their lunches. Sports will have to be dropped if the bond issue doesn't pass.

Do you think more of your money than you do of the children of Davie County? If you don't, we sincerely ask you to vote for the bond issue and help the children of Davie County to a better education.

For Our Children WE MUST SACRIFICE

The story of Christianity is the story of sacrifice. This is the theme that runs through all of the New Testament. This is the subject we hear from the lips of our preachers and Sunday School teachers.

Personal sacrifice gives added meaning to love. "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." And this was exemplified by Jesus Christ when he sacrificed his life on the cross.

There is no question but that the Christian religion teaches us that before we receive anything worthwhile we must sacrifice and we all have found this to be true.

The story of any great people . . . any great man . . . is the story of sacrifice. There can be no accomplishment unless a person is willing to pay the price, regardless of the cost.

On Tuesday the people of Davie County will decide whether or not they want to make a sacrifice for the children of Davie County. They will vote either to provide the children with adequate school facilities or against providing adequate facilities. The choice will be determined by the vote for the $1,300,000 school bond issue or against.

If the people of Davie County vote in favor of the bond issue, this will happen:

Fourteen new classrooms will be built at the Davie County Consolidated High School to relieve the overcrowded conditions that now exist. This year there are five teachers without classrooms. The classes are overcrowded and are creating a problem for both pupils and teachers.

A new cafeteria will be built. At the present time two classrooms are being used for a makeshift eating operation that forces the students to eat in the halls, standing up, or in most any position that they can get the food.

The main building of the school campus will be built. There has been some criticism of the appearance of the classroom wings at the Davie County High School which said: "It doesn't look like a school." This is true, because the present classroom wings represent only a part of the school. To be built if the bond issue passes is the large and dominant building that will contain classrooms, administrative offices, the auditorium, gymnasium, and the locker and shower rooms.

The auditorium will enable the students to assemble — to have chapel programs — to have religious programs — to present musical programs — and all the other types of programs that are a vital part of school life.

The gymnasium will enable the teaching of physical education which is a required subject for graduation. It will enable wider participation in athletics. It will enable the school to have an intramural program for the students and will be in use practically all of the time. This gymnasium will also be used for the home court for Davie High at basketball games. It will seat 1,800 and will offer accommodations of public toilets as well as shower rooms for the teams.

The administrative office will enable the principal and his staff to file and store records that are so vital to the operation of a school. Record keeping is an integral part of school work and the school must keep complete records on each and every student. At the present time these records must be stored in a warehouse located off the school campus and are not available for ready reference when the need arises.

Also included for the school is the athletic stadium. Only $50,000 of the total bond money is going into this project. This will provide a football field, a baseball field, surrounded by a fence, with permanent concrete seats and lighted for night play. This also will give the Davie High School students a home field. It will enable Davie to provide facilities comparable to the schools in surrounding counties with which they must compete. It will provide the facilities necessary if Davie County is to continue with a high school athletic program.

We as parents make sacrifices so that our children can wear clothes of which they can be proud. We take pride in our home. We take pride in our church.

Our children are equally as proud as their parents — and in many cases this pride goes deeper. These children want and deserve a school of which they can be proud. It cuts them to the quick to have those from other counties poke fun at their inadequate school facilities — to be unable to play a team in football or basketball because of the lack of accommodations.

These children can't understand why Davie County can be considered as progressive if it can't provide adequate school facilities. They can't understand they must be expected to do without while other children of other counties have the advantages. The children of Davie County have every right to expect their parents to make a personal sacrifice to provide them with the necessities of life — and the necessities of life certainly include adequate school facilities.

Any person undecided about how to vote in the bond election should talk to some of these students and teachers. They can give you an insight into the problem that you can get no where else. There is much more involved in this vote than a slight increase in taxes—this is a matter on which no price can be put.

EITHER "YES" OR "NO"

Certainly there is always in our system of government room for differences of opinion. Everyone has the right to his own viewpoint and conviction on any issue. That is true in every matter including the current school bond issue.

We are strongly in favor of the passage of this bond issue and have said so just as strongly and firmly as possible. We have been for the finishing of the high school and providing the adequate facilities for four years. It is not a new thing with us.

Now we know there are some who are opposed to the passage of the bond issue. Some of these people say they are for the finishing of the new school but cannot vote for the bond issue. Well the reason matters little—in the end what will count is the spot on which the ballot is checked—not the reason for checking it.

Sometime ago this newspaper issued an invitation to anyone believing that the passage of the bond issue to be detrimental to the county to come forward and present their reasoning to the people. This was prior to the actual setting of the date for the bond issue. So far no one has come forward as an individual citizen with any reason whatsoever why the bond issue should not be passed.

Also on two separate occasions the Davie County Board of Commissioners issued public notices to anyone having any reason why the bond issue should not be called to appear and make such reasons known. No one appeared in opposition. No better method of providing the facilities was suggested.

We submit that anyone sincerely believing any matter to be harmful to the county should make his stand known. All citizens should be interested in the welfare of the county to such an extent that they will stand up and be counted. If there is sound reason to be against something, let it be known just like those that are for the issue let it be known.

Being circulated throughout the county is an advertisement bearing no identification other than the line: "Interested Taxpayers of Davie County" . . . a title which of course is appropriate for most any of our citizens.

We submit that what is said is of little importance unless responsibility for such statements is established. For example: We can all discuss and give our ideas on the foreign policy of the United States. Although we can say the same thing . . . the opinions of President Eisenhower, for example, take on much more significance than our own. And may we also submit that our courts will not take hearsay evidence—one must testify firsthand.

It would seem that the term: "Interested Taxpayers" would imply first and foremost interest in taxes. We believe that the interest of a good citizen should go far beyond that.

This is not a battle to see who is going to pay the taxes in Davie County. The people fighting for the passage of this bond issue are taxpayers and will shoulder their part of the load. They recognize the need and are trying to do something about it.

Next Tuesday everyone in the county should vote and make their sentiments known. However, before voting it is your duty to find out all the facts. Supt. W. T. Bird, Principal D. F. Stilwell, and the teachers and principals of the county can give you the facts on the needs and on what it will cost.

The Local Government Commission has investigated the financial condition of Davie County and has given their approval for the bond issue. This commission says that Davie County can afford this bond issue. Therefore the real issue would seem to be:

Do we want the children of Davie County to have adequate school facilities or not? Your vote either has to be "yes" or "No."

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — Since its creation on Jan. 30, 1957, I have served upon the Senate Rackets Committee, which has been headed so ably and courageously by a truly great American, Senator John L. McClellan.

This Committee has investigated some 20 or more unions which act as collective bargaining agents for several million men and women employed in industries affecting interstate commerce.

From the time of its creation down to July 14, 1959, the Committee held hearings on 282 days and heard the testimony of 1505 witnesses. The printed records of these hearings now cover approximately 20,000 pages. In addition to the testimony of these witnesses, the files of the Committee contain hundreds of unprinted exhibits and tens of thousands of letters written by persons residing in all sections of the United States.

The testimony taken by the Committee revealed malpractices in unions and labor — management relations which shocked the conscience of the nation.

To be sure, the great majority of union officers did not countenance or tolerate these malpractices in the areas in which they had the power to act. Nevertheless, the testimony taken by the Senate Rackets Committee showed that such malpractices were sufficiently widespread in some segments of the union movement as to require Congressional action to prevent or punish their continuance. After all, John Stuart Mill was right when he said: "Laws and institutions require to be adapted, not to good men, but to bad."

Since I had devoted so much of my energy and time to the work of the Senate Rackets Committee, it was inevitable that I should be deeply concerned with the adoption by Congress of legislation adequate to deal with the malpractices revealed by our investigations.

I am glad to be able to say that the Senate has adopted by a vote of 95 to 2 a bill which will prevent or punish the misapplication of union funds, the destruction of union records to conceal such misapplications, the occupancy of union officers by reformed felons, and the granting of union charters to known racketeers. Moreover, the bill guarantees basic rights to union members and confers upon them the power to elect their own officers by secret ballot, and to manage their own affairs. The bill likewise contains provisions to outlaw blackmail, picketing, hot cargo contracts, and secondary boycotts. It likewise abolishes the no-man's land in the field of labor law by giving to state agencies or state courts the power to handle labor controversies in which the National Labor Relations Board refuses to act.

Thus the bill deals in an adequate fashion with the malpractices revealed by the investigation of the McClellan Committee.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

When that feller Tommy Manville got married the ninth time he was quoted as saying it was a victory for hope over experience. That's the way I feel about ole Kruschchev coming to visit us. I'm hoping but I ain't expecting much.

The papers is saying he's bringing about 40 of them Kremlin boys along with him and I don't see how we're going to compete with that two-platoon system. We ain't got more'n four or five in our party that's pulling in the same direction and we can't git but about a half a platoon on the field at the same time.

Personally, I think our State Department should have got Harry to write ole Kruschchev a letter afore this visit. Them Russians ain't really had our Sunday punch till they git a letter from Harry. He didn't git much done playing the piano fer Joe at Tehran, but when he sets down to take pen in hand he's harder to git around than a woman trying to double park.

All the writers is trying to build up Kruschchev's visit as a mission of peace. I think that's the right attitude and I'm hoping they is right. But I'm always afeared of these affairs. Fer instance, we ain't never lost a war but we ain't never broke even with our allies when it was over. The Russians won more at Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam than we've won in all the wars we ever fought.

And some of them writers is overding it. One reporter from Moscow says he thinks Kruschchev is easing up on his aim to git West Berlin. He'll be telling us next that Liz Taylor is wearing high neck dresses and keeping her mouth shut.

Personally, I'll be mighty happy if we just hold our own on this visit. Them Russians is the best double talkers the world has ever saw. Hitler twisted history but them Russians invented it. I recall once when they claimed they was growing corn on the cob in bunches. Why they didn't claim it was already buttered, I'll never know. Then they fixed up a 14-volume history proving they won World War II all by themselves. I went along with that, hoping they'd rest on their laurels fer 50 year. When they come up with a two-headed cabbage I didn't say a word, and when they claimed a feller Mozhaishky built the first airplane in 1885 and kept it in the air 28 minute, I didn't argue. They said it was in the Russian archives, which was also invented by the Russians. As long as they're just talking, they ain't hurting nothing.

One reporter summed up this visit as an opportunity to git Kruschchev cured of his "gross ignorance" about America. I figger "gross" ignorance is 144 times worse than plain ignorance, so I reckon we got our cut out fer us while he is here.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Schools bells are beginning to ring again and not only are the local schools a-crowding, but the institutions of higher learning as well. This area offers any kind of education, and within two hours from any point of it, one can encompass the most varied and some of the most excellent learning in the world. Although some of the colleges and universities have campuses, most of their students ride to school by bus or subway and then go to classes in elevators. Three representative institutions might be examined to show the general nature of them all.

Within 75 miles of New York City is one of the oldest and most renowned centers of higher learning in this country. It is Princeton University and was founded in 1746 as a Presbyterian college in New Jersey. Historic fact and lore linger over Princeton and an important battle of the American Revolution was fought there, scars of the cannon balls being still visible in the twisted stone walls today. In impressive Nassau Hall, the Continental Congress once met, and since that time, famous figures have been connected with Princeton from George Washington to Albert Einstein. Perhaps the best known American figure was Woodrow Wilson, a Virginian, who came north for part of his extensive education, returned to become a distinguished and popular professor of government, then president of Princeton University itself. Of course the story of how he later was elected governor of New Jersey then President of the United States is well known. But not every one realizes that his most monumental achievement, the League of Nations, has grown into the United Nations with headquarters in the region where Wilson learned and taught.

High upon Morningside Heights near the Baptist Riverside Church is Columbia University, founded in 1754 as an Episcopal college with a strong English influence. In fact it seems to me that still, when some British dignitary comes to this country for the first time, one of the first things he receives is an honorary degree from Columbia University. Whether it is a coincidence or not, the predominant political party in the history of Columbia has been the Republican. Alexander Hamilton, father of this party, was one of the early graduates of Columbia, and distinguished himself through a colorful if checkered career until his tragic duel with Aaron Burr on the grey battlements of the Palisades across the Hudson from his alma mater. Most famous president of Columbia was Nicholas M. (Miraculous) Butler who was not only a determined, eminent head of this institution but a leader in the Republican Party and often considered for President. Though the two foregoing did not

MOUTHFUL . . . As a usual thing — as a man predicteth, so is he. For instance, if you are saying hither and you think young Terry Sanford will be the next Governor, odds are you want him to be. It isn't always true, but mostly true.

Thus Gov. Luther Hodges said a monthful indeed on Sept. 5 when he spooketh: "I predict Sen. Jordan will be re-elected by an overwhelming majority." He will be in there pitching for his appointee. You can bet on it.

Everybody around here thinks that the Hodges prediction refers to the nomination in the Democratic Primary next spring as there is seldom much contest between Democrats and Republicans for Statewide offices in Tarheelia in the General Election. Republicans work to no avail.

"—TO EACH OTHER" . . . There is an old algebraic or geometric theorem to the effect that "things that are equal to the same thing are equal to each other."

It is a known fact that Everett Jordan of Saxapahaw and John Larkins of Trenton run in the same pasture. Both have walked hand in hand up to their belly buttons in official Democratic waters for about 20 years now. They are close friends. So are Jordan and Hodges.

That is why we can't see the Governor lifting a finger against John Larkins in his bid for the office of Governor.

Another important ingredient of the Jordan-Bird Party on Sept. 5 was the prominent presence of Jordan's first cousin, Mrs. W. Kerr Scott, as radiantly beautiful as ever.

We wouldn't be surprised to see the whole shebang form ranks solidly behind Luther Hodges for Vice Presidential candidacy next year.

MIDDLE AGE . . . I really see no use in trying to reduce. My face gets poor, but it makes me sore that I lose so little—around the middle.

BUILDINGS . . . The Raleigh YMCA, where many a legislator has labored with his middle in the Health Club, will next year move to a handsome new building near the site of the old Thomas Dixon home on Hillsboro St. It is well along toward completion, three blocks from State College.

On the present YMCA site—except that the structure will likely consume the whole block—will go the new four and a half million dollar Legislative building. This is just across the street—Edson Street — and north of the State Capitol — and across Halifax Street from the Agriculture Building and State Museum, and also adjacent to Wilmington Street. Three or four antebellum homes prominent in Raleigh and North Carolina history will be bought and razed to make way for progress.

Tom White of Kinston, who some say is running for Lt. Gov., is chairman of the commission named to study bids, choose an architect, find a site, sign contracts, and supervise construction.

A public hearing will be held on site location, Sept. 28. The State owns quite a bit of other desirable property nearby . . . so look for some predding for location at another site.

DISTRIBUTION . . . As you know, labor apparently has it in for each and every man from North Carolina in the House of Representatives in Washington. In any event, Labor Leader James B. Carey — who is now famous for that letter he wrote promising to "Get" next time the Congressman who voted for the Landrum - Griffin Bill — no doubt wrote our men. For they went down the line solidly for the bill. At least one of our Congressmen — and one of the very best — L. H. Fountain of the Second District has distributed to friends in North Carolina copies of Carey's snotty letter to him.

NOTES . . . Although schools are now along with their year's work all over the State, teachers wanted ads are still running . . . indicating a lot of vacancies . . . Colleges open the middle of September.

Speaking of education, one old standby whose doors never close is International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa. Its representative in this State is none other than Jim Zrakas, famous Demon Deacon football star of a few years back . . . with offices in Raleigh.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: "I'm not going around the State on a sight seeing tour," said Addison Hewitt of Wilmington. We have seen two unusually good pictures recently. They were: "Last Train from Gun Hill" . . . and "North by Northwest." They are definitely edge of your seat films . . . You will like them.

We are deeply impressed by the work of the Eye Bank for Restoring Sight, Baptist Hospital, Winston - Salem. Through this agency, anyone who wishes may donate his eyes so that some blind person may see after the donor passes on. If interested, write them, care of Baptist Hospital, and you will be provided with a form to fill out . . . and later the Eye Bank will send you a pocket card to carry as a reminder to your next of kin . . . What greater gift could you leave? This cause needs support.

During the five year period from 1954 to 1958, the State and local payroll in North Carolina climbed from a total of $277 million to $401 million—a 45 per cent increase! These figures are from the U. S. Commerce Dept. and point up particularly the ever-growing problem cities and towns are having making ends meet.

We have not checked it carefully, but next to the Governor's ($25,000), we would say the best paid State employee is Ber Harris Punks . . . His salary was raised from $16,000 to $18,000 last week. His job: director of Higher Education. That's getting pretty high, all right.

One of the best jobs being done in N. C. officialdom is by the N. C. Ports Authority. Important developments there.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "We cannot do all things well." — Vergil.

A mother anxiously asked her small son about his first day at Sunday School.

"Well, it was kinda nice," he reported, "and at the end everybody sang."

"What did they sing?" inquired his mother.

"I don't know what they sang," said the boy, "but I sang Surwance River."

If we use the small boy's simple method in making our way through life, we will come close to real happiness. The boy had a song to sing. He sang it. It made no difference to him what the others were singing. He knew his song and he sang it.

Too many of us try to be something we are not. We think it is stylish or important to act as someone else acts. We try to sing their song. Usually they are pitched in the wrong key for us. We don't know the words or the tunes. The result is embarrassing. At best we become only unsatisfactory imitations.

You have a song which you can sing better than any other. Find it. Learn it perfectly. Then, no matter what others are singing, you sing your song. You cannot do all things better. Be content to do one thing better. Be yourself. Copyright 1958 Fred Dodge make it, a later Columbia dignitary did — Dwight D. Eisenhower, who served as president there for a time and then took on his present responsibilities.

Last but not least — in fact the largest private university in the world with some 40,000 students — New York University has campuses from the Bronx to the Battery. It is a comparative newcomer, being founded in 1831 as a non-sectarian institution by a group of eminent men including Albert Gallatin, Secretary of the Treasury under James Madison and one of those who helped elect Thomas Jefferson President of the United States. One of the figures prominently connected with NYU was Samuel F. B. Morse, painter and inventor of the telegraph and innovator of the basic method for modern photography. Outstanding heads of the institution have included Chancellor Harry Woodburn Chase, Henry T. Heald, now head of the Ford Foundation, and the present President, Carroll V. Newsom, mathematician, well known pioneer in educational television and modern university administration.

Winston - Salem Tobacco Market Set For Big Opening, Monday

The Winston - Salem Tobacco Market will open on Monday, Sept. 14, for the 1959 season.

In Winston - Salem there are nine modern warehouses containing over a million feet of floor space. There is a daily selling capacity of over 1 1/2 million pounds of tobacco. There will be four sets of buyers with lengthy experience in purchasing tobacco. The warehouses will be under the supervision of veteran managers of more than 30 years of experience on the Winston-Salem Market.

J. B. "Red" Harper, sales supervisor for the Winston-Salem Market, said that he believed that the Davie County tobacco farmers had another fine crop.

"I have been in many sections of Davie County and I have found prospects good for an excellent crop and sale," said Mr.

Harper.

Tobacco warehouses operating on the Winston - Salem Market include:

Carolina Star located on the Shore - Fair Road near the Fair Grounds.

Grower's Warehouse located on North Patterson Avenue.

Cook's Warehouse, located on Patterson Avenue Extension and Highway 52.

Brown's Warehouse located at Trade and 7th Streets.

Big Winston located on North Liberty Street.

Pepper's Warehouse located at the corner of Liberty and Eighth.

Planter's Warehouse located at North Trade and Ninth Street.

Mr. Harper announced that these warehouses will be open to receive tobacco on Friday, September 11th.

Mount Airy Tobacco Market Is Ready For Big Opening Sept. 14

On Monday morning, Sept. 14, the big pay off begins with the opening of sales on the Mount Airy Tobacco Market.

Garland G. Warren, sales supervisor of the Mount Airy Tobacco Market, pointed out that Mount Airy is the largest one set tobacco market in the North Carolina Old Belt. It has more tobacco warehouses than any other one set market in the state.

"All operators of warehouses are local men who own their property, thereby paying substantially towards tax supported government facilities. It is the home of the National Tobacco Queen competition," said Mr. Warren.

"It is the belief of the local tobaccoists that the welfare of our adjoining counties is of the utmost importance. They substantiate this by endorsing and belonging to the Northwest North Carolina Development Association, and participate in the other civic activities," said Mr. Warren.

The warehouses operating on the Mount Airy Tobacco Market are as follows: Liberty-Simmons; Dixie; Hunter's and Jones-Planters.

Mr. Warren, the sales supervisor, is a son of a tobacco grower in Pitt County. After his father's death he lived with his brother-in-law, J. W. Lovill of Mt. Airy, operator of warehouses in the two Carolinas.

Mr. Warren has filled all the major positions in the operation of warehouses and served as sales supervisor in Chadbourne, N. C. He is a honorary member of the Tobacco Board of Trade; member of the advisory committee of Tobacco Associates, Inc. He is president of the Parkway Insurance and Realty, Inc.; the Kiwanis Club; a member of the Executive Board of the Old Hickory Council of Boy Scouts of America; a steward of the Central Methodist Church. He is married with three children.

ORNAMENTALS

By landscaping with trees and shrubs that produce edible fruit you can have your cake and eat it too. But, don't believe all the catalog ads — and pictures. They make it sound too easy. And, don't believe the pessimist either — he is full of sour grapes. Neither of them is correct — the truth lies somewhere between.

I've grown fruits and nuts for years. And believe me, there is nothing like going out early in the morning and bringing in fresh strawberries or other fruits for breakfast. Sure, it takes work. What doesn't. But, it is worth it — if you are interested. Don't try it if you don't like this sort of thing.

Here are the fruits that are easiest to grow and suggestions on how they can be used to beautify your place. The first group, in most areas, requires little or no spraying. The second group requires spraying for best quality. Check with your county agent to see if these fruits are adapted to your area.

1. Pecans — for shade and nuts. Many people have told me they get enough pecans from the trees in their yard to pay their taxes, and have the shade to boot.

2. Crabapples — unsurpassed for beauty and good for jelly.

3. Blueberries — especially rabbiteye species — my favorite fruit and easy to grow. Makes a beautiful hedge in flower and in fruit.

4. Bunch grapes and muscadines — both can border the yard. Could be on an overhead trellis to serve as shade for outdoor sitting area.

5. Figs — can also serve as a border or as foundation plant for large buildings.

6. Strawberries — either in garden or as border for flowers or the walk.

7. Dewberries and Raspberries — both can help enclose the yard. Be sure your support is neat or it may distract during the winter months.

8. Pears — blight resistant; nothing more attractive when in bloom.

9. Walnuts — easy to grow — the barn lot may be a good place for a tree or two.

10. Cherries — worth growing for the flowers; birds may get most of fruit.

The following list requires considerable spraying or dusting:

1. Apples — beautiful in bloom and in fruit. Dwarf trees are easy to spray and take less space.

2. Peaches and Plums — attractive flowers, but take lots of spraying to have quality fruit.

Cotton Marketing

Raleigh — "Farmers who pick cotton early, clean, and dry will get the top support price for it," is the comment of Myres Tilghman of Dunn, cotton grower and ginner.

Mr. Tilghman is a member of the Quality Improvement Committee of the North Carolina Cotton Promotion Association. He spearheaded the successful campaign of this committee in 1958 to improve the farmers income by urging quality harvesting of cotton in North Carolina.

Pointing out that "a bale of one-inch white middling cotton brings $39.50 more in the 1959 support rate than a gray bale," Mr. Tilghman urged farmers to plan their cotton harvesting carefully. He went on to say:

"The additional money is important, and so is the production of qualities wanted by the mills. Our home grown cotton must compete in quality with cotton offered the mill buyers from the Mississippi Valley area and the far western states. Our cotton must compete, too, in the fiber market with synthetic fibers which are carefully manufactured and wrapped."

In regard to foreign market demand for cotton Mr. Tilghman observed that Mexican cotton is in trouble abroad due to careless harvest practices in Mexico.

"This should be a warning to North Carolina cotton growers, and point to our present and long range change to built demand for North Carolina cotton on the basis of its superior qualities," he concluded.

POULTRY SUGGESTIONS
SEPTEMBER, 1959

More Hens In The Laying House
Some producers have asked how they can increase the size of their flock without building a new laying house. One way would be to make the same floor space house about twice as many layers. This could be done by keeping hens on wire or slat floors and in air conditioned or pressurized ventilation houses. There are advantages and disadvantages to these systems.

The following was taken from the University of Nebraska Extension Circular No. 58-1413, entitled "Keeping Hens on Slat Floors." "Laying hens can be successfully kept on as little as .75 square foot per bird. This concentration is not advised for the person who has had little or no experience in slat floor management. It is suggested that about 1 1/4 square feet per bird be allowed the first year and a somewhat lesser amount be considered each successive year as experience in their use is gained. The ultimate goal can be at or near one square foot per bird. Slat floors are a means of economically increasing the number of birds that can be kept in a given house provided they are used with the proper ventilation and a sufficient amount of feeder, waterer and nesting space. A dependable and efficient power ventilating system is required with a slat floor unit. The system can be equipped with automatic controls and should make provisions in its design for partial functioning in event of a power failure. An all-mash complete ration is the only recommended feeding program for slat-floor operations. In any system involving increased stress due to less floor space and closer association of the birds, it becomes imperative that you provide an adequate ration well fortified with vitamins and minerals. Because of variation in hand feeding of grain, etc., an all-mash ration is the surest way of supplying the birds' requirements. Major problems in slat floor operations include: cannibalism, over heating in summer, and attempted roosting on nests or other items of equipment. Occasionally a person may have individual problems with foot calluses, piling at roosting time and leg weakness or fatigue, although these are not universal problems. You have a choice of waterers and nests to use. Two points to keep in mind when selecting this equipment are: (1) birds are hesitant to jump up from or back onto the slatted surface; (2) since the birds have no opportunity for scratching or dusting on this floor, loose nesting material will be quickly seized and scratched from the nests. These points make it necessary to use roll-away nests and to place them close to the floor when the birds are coming in to production. These nests can be elevated gradually as the birds become accustomed to their use. Many of the commercially available flooring units are made of wood laths similar in size and appearance to common plaster lath. They are usually made of cypress or redwood because of the greater resistance of these woods to moisture and acids. This type of lath is arranged on edge about 1/8 inch apart. Some companies have marketed floor sections made of 3/4 x 3/4 inch strips spaced 3/4 inch apart."

Plan now to attend the Dixie Poultry Exposition in Asheville on Sept. 15, 16, 17. A very attractive program consisting of poultry equipment will be on display.

ASC News

ASC Committee Election

Ballot boxes will be available in all ASC communities in the county on Thursday, Sept. 10th. Farmers residing in these communities will have the opportunity between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., of voting for ASC community committeemen to serve during the coming year. According to J. G. Crawford, chairman of the County ASC Committee, this voting may be from the slate of nominees which has already been chosen and published, or votes may be cast for a written candidate.

These committeemen who are elected will play a major role in the administration of ASC farm programs in the county. These farm programs consist of the Agricultural Conservation Program, Average Allotment and Marketing Quota Programs on Cotton, Wheat and Tobacco, Price Support Programs, the Soil Bank Program, as well as other special or emergency programs that might be needed during the year.

Persons who will be eligible to help select the committeemen who will administer these farm programs include any farmer who as owner, operator, tenant or share-cropper, is participating or is eligible to participate in any program administered by the County ASC Committee.

At the same time the community committeemen are elected, a delegate and an alternate delegate to the county convention will be elected. These delegates elected by farmers, will meet at 2 p.m. in the ASC Office on Sept. 25th to elect the three man county committee for the county. ASC committeemen elected will take office October 1.

All eligible voters are urged to go to the polls and help select the best committeemen that they can find. "Don't let your neighbors down by passing up this opportunity when elections are held in your community on Thursday, September 10."

Conservation Reserve Signup Now Going On

Signup under the 1960 Conservation Reserve Program is now in progress in Davie County and will be until the deadline Sept. 10. J. G. Crawford, chairman of the Agricultural Conservation County Committee, cautioned farmers today that if they do not visit their ASC county office before the Sept. 10 deadline and request that maximum payment rates be set up for the land they are considering for reserve, they will be ineligible to participate in the program for 1960. Farmers do not in any way obligate themselves to participate by requesting that these rates be established.

Filing a request for the information as to the farm maximum rate simply indicates an interest on the part of the farmer and helps him to make up his mind whether or not he wants to participate in the 1960 Soil Bank Conservation Reserve Program and the probable extent of that participation. When farmers learn their rates they will again be required to visit the county office to file a request for a contract. At this time they must offer their land for placing in reserve at something less than the maximum rate previously established. The more the farmer reduces his bid below the maximum established, the better his chances of participation.

Farmers who are interested should not let the Sept. 10 deadline pass without action.

1959 Cotton Support Program

Cotton farmers will soon be marketing their 1959 crop. The major portion of ASC's price support programs as far as cotton is concerned is entirely new this year, and also the method of support is different from that of the past.

On Dec. 15th, cotton growers voted in favor of marketing quotas on their 1959 crop by a great majority. At the same time they also voted to permit each farm operator with a cotton allotment to have a choice between two allotments—Choice "A" and Choice "B."

Farmers made their allotment choice last spring prior to planting time. Those farmers electing Choice "A" received their regular cotton farm allotment and where they plant within this allotment they are eligible for the full level of price support which is set at 80 per cent of parity.

Farmers who elected the Choice "B" allotment increased their regular farm allotment by 40 per cent, and at the same time they reduced their level of price support to 65 per cent of parity.

In the past years support on cotton has been achieved through the making of loans at the support rate for cotton that could be stored in an approved warehouse or in approved storage on the farm. This year all Choice "A" cotton will be supported by direct purchase. This purchase program will be available until April 30, 1960, and the program will be made available direct from CCC or through local Purchasing Agencies.

To sell his cotton under Choice "A" the producer must present his marketing card, have the cotton ginned and classes, and stored in an approved warehouse. Choice "B" cotton will be supported by warehouse stored loans as in the past.

Cotton buyers of Lending Agencies will be able to distinguish between cotton grown on a Choice "A" or Choice "B" farm on the basis of marketing cards issued. The Choice "A" farm will be issued a green marketing card and the Choice "B" farm will be issued a white marketing card. Cotton growers have a big responsibility to see that the marketing card is used only to identify cotton grown on the farm for which the marketing card is issued. To allow a card to be used to identify cotton from any other farm will cause the seller and the buyer to be subject to criminal prosecution. The responsibility is the same as it is for the marketing cards used to sell other basic commodities. Farmers receiving marketing cards for their tobacco, cotton or wheat should make certain that they take the proper care of the marketing cards and that it does not get into the hands of unauthorized persons.

Cotton growers who are not familiar with the cotton marketing quota program for this year should call at the ASC office to obtain needed information before he sells his cotton.

Davie County's $1,300,000 School Bond Issue!

● WHAT DOES IT INCLUDE?

Davie County Consolidated High School—$1,000,000

The facilities needed and recommended by the State Board of Education include: Cafeteria — Gymnasium — Auditorium — Athletic Stadium — and 14 Additional Classrooms. The buildings to be added require more than one and a half times more floor space than is now available at the school.

Davie County Training School—$300,000

The facilities needed and recommended by the State Board of Education include: Gymnasium — Agriculture Classrooms and Shop — Home Economics Facilities — Science Classroom — Library Facilities — Classrooms — Cafeteria Facilities. Part of these facilities are to be obtained by renovating and remodeling some of the present rooms.

● WHAT ARE THE CONDITIONS AT THE PRESENT TIME AT OUR TWO HIGH SCHOOLS?

Davie County Consolidated High School

- A. Twenty-six teaching rooms and 31 teachers.
- B. Two classrooms being used as a makeshift cafeteria.
- C. No office space. Now using ladies' rest room and hallway for office space.
- D. Overcrowded classes of 40 to 50 pupils.
- E. No auditorium for assemblies and class meetings.
- F. No physical education facilities as required by the state.
- G. Cannot now or ever be fully accredited until facilities are completed.

Davie County Training School

- A. Using the same area for an auditorium, gymnasium and dining area.
- B. Inadequate and very substandard agriculture and home economics facilities.
- C. No science teaching room or equipment.
- D. Very small, improvised library facilities.
- E. Shortage of classrooms.

● HOW ARE THE FUNDS TO BE SPENT?

- A. They are to be deposited in the School Fund Account by Mrs. Eloise Stephens, County Auditor.
- B. The expenditure of this money must be approved by the Superintendent of Schools, the Chairman of the County Board of Education, and the County Auditor and paid by a county check bearing these signatures.
- C. These funds will be audited each year by a Certified Public Accountant and a copy of the audit will be on file in the courthouse.
- D. The County Board of Commissioners have been invited to meet with the County Board of Education for purpose of taking bids and awarding contracts for these projects.
- E. The cost is estimated at $10 per square foot, but could go as low as $6.00 per square foot, based on recent school bids. Only the amount of bonds needed to complete these projects will be sold.

● CAN DAVIE COUNTY AFFORD THE PASSING OF THIS BOND ISSUE?

- A. Only four counties in North Carolina had a lower tax rate than Davie in 1958 (Latest figures available).
- B. Property in Davie County is assessed at a low percentage of value—45 per cent.
- C. A low tax rate coupled with a low assessed valuation makes Davie County taxes more reasonable than most every other county in North Carolina.
- D. The passing of the Bond Issue would increase taxes .33c the first year, decreasing each year to a low of .23c, with an average increase of .27c over the 22-year payment period.
- E. Tax rates in North Carolina Counties for 1958 ranged from a low of .70c to a high of over $2.10, averaging $1.37. Davie County's present tax rate of .86c plus the .33c, the highest increase due to the bond issue, equals $1.19.
- F. This Bond Issue has been approved by the State Local Government Commission as being financially sound and will not put Davie County's percentage of bonded indebtedness to property valuation out of line with other counties in North Carolina.

New Highway Point System To Be Discussed

Enforcement officials, judges, solicitors and community leaders from the Salisbury area have been invited to attend a special meeting Sept. 18, to discuss North Carolina's new point system, Sgt. J. S. Howell, commanding officer of patrol district 4 said today.

Meeting time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Salisbury Patrol office.

The conference will feature an authoritative analysis of the point system and its contribution to safer highways, Sgt. Howell said. Other topics related to the point system and traffic safety will be discussed in "open forum" style, with commentary and questions welcomed from those present.

Essentially, the point system, as enacted by the 1959 General Assembly, seeks to isolate the "problem driver" so that remedial action may be taken by authorities, Sgt. Howell said. It further encourages good driving habits by keeping motorists aware of the importance of maintaining a clean driving record.

"The latter is accomplished by assigning points for various violations," he said.

North Carolina's point system, which became effective in June, tends to protect good drivers and correct bad drivers, Sgt. Howell declared. The Sept. 18 special meeting will illustrate this fact and give participants examples of the point system's effectiveness.

Sgt. Howell said all interested citizens would be welcome at the meeting. Anyone interested in attending this meeting should contact Patrolman R. C. Blalock.

Edd Fitzgerald to Preach At Advance Revival

The Rev. Edd Fitzgerald, former pastor, will return this Sunday, Sept. 20th, to begin a revival series in the Advance Methodist Church. Mr. Fitzgerald is now pastor of Hill's Chapel Methodist Church in the Gastonia District. He served as the minister of the Advance Circuit for four years.

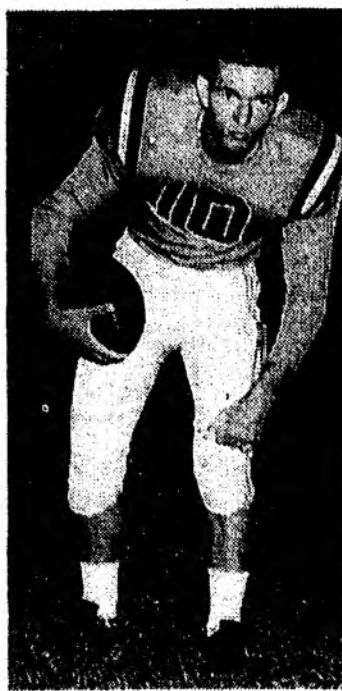

Services this week will be held each evening beginning Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The music will be under the direction of Taylor Howard. Fletcher Andrews is the present pastor of the Advance church.

Homecoming Sunday At Advance Methodist

Advance Methodist Church will mark its 147th year as a Methodist Church at the Homecoming this Sunday, Sept. 20th. In addition to welcoming visitors and former members, a full day is planned. The homecoming sermon will be preached by the pastor, the Rev. Fletcher Andrews, after which there will be the traditional "dinner on the grounds" followed by a singing in the afternoon.

All former members and friends of the church are cordially invited to attend the event.

Presbyterians To Run Bus

Beginning Sunday morning, the First Presbyterian Church of Mocksville will take to wheels. At 9 a.m., a bus will go out to pick up children, young people, and adults who will be attending the Presbyterian Sunday School.

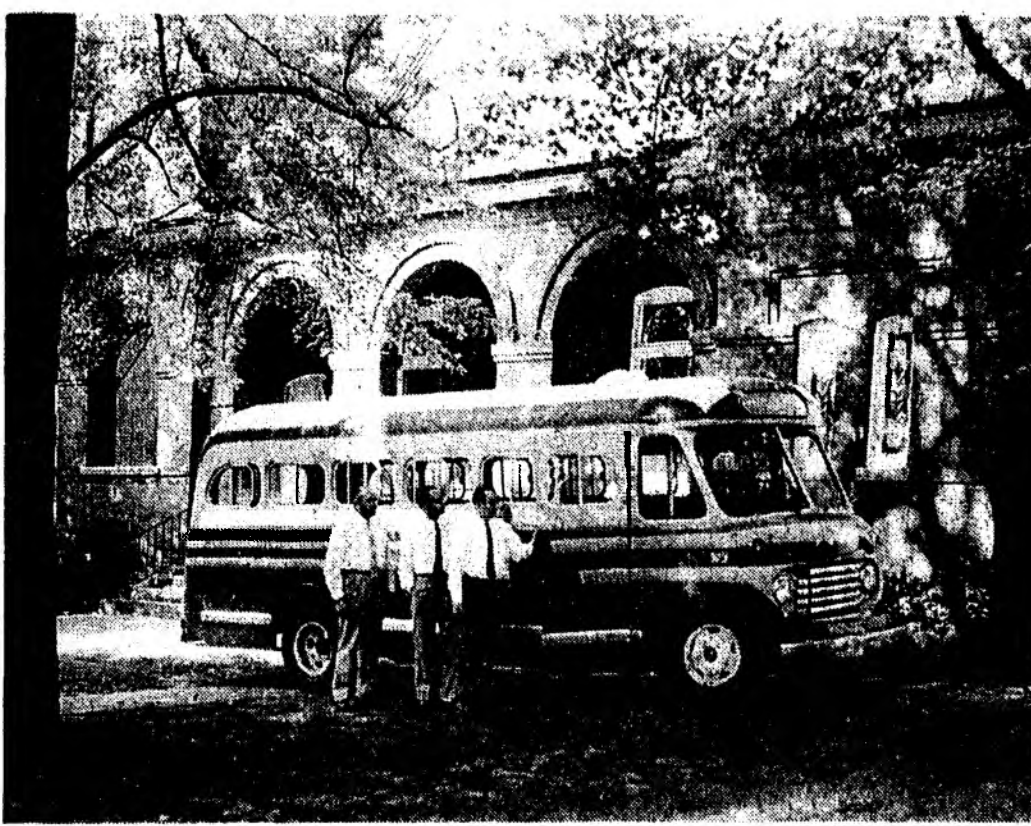

The bus route will include Mud Mill Road, Yadkinville Road, Lexington Road and Statesville Highway.

Paul Blackwelder, chairman of the Presbyterian Christian Education Committee, stated, "About 35 people have already indicated their interest in using the bus. Those who have not been reached may contact any member of the Presbyterian Church to have the bus stop for them."

The members of this committee, which is in charge of the project, are: Mrs. Ruth Bessent, Mrs. Frank Brown, Edgar Dickinson and Ted Junker, Supt. of the Sunday School.

"The Presbyterian Sunday School has facilities for all ages, from infants to adults," Mr. Blackwelder said. "Sunday School begins at 10 a.m. and is over at 10:50. The bus will return its passengers to their homes after Sunday School. Any who wish to do so are invited to remain for church and other transportation home will be arranged."

It was emphasized that there will be no charge for the use of the bus.

PRESBYTERIANS TAKE TO WHEELS . . . The Mocksville Presbyterian Church has announced a bus service to patrons of the Presbyterian Church. In the above picture Paul Blackwelder, W. F. Long, and T. L. Junker look over the bus that is to be used in this program.

Two Commended For Work On State Beautification

Two members of the Pino Grange have been commended for their work in behalf of "Keep North Carolina Beautiful" program.

Wade Groce and Cecil Leagans have received Certificates of Commendation for their work in this program. The commendation came from Col. John W. Home-wood, chairman of the Keep North Carolina Beautiful Program.

The Certificates of Commendation were presented to Mr. Groce and Mr. Leagans at the meeting of the Pino Grange held on Sept. 7.

Death Comes To Two Newspaper Veterans

Last Friday Miss Beatrice Cobb, veteran newspaper woman of Morganton, died in Duke Hospital in Durham. She had just returned from a trip to England and was immediately admitted to the hospital. Miss Cobb, publisher of the Morganton News-Herald, inherited the business from her father in 1916 and steadily grew to prominence not only in her own field but also in political matters. She was highly respected as one of the nation's outstanding woman journalists.

On Sunday morning, another veteran in the newspaper business died at Mount Airy. He was William Monroe Johnson, publisher of the Mount Airy News.

Mr. Johnson began his work at the age of 14, under the direction of his father, and continued for 52 years before his retirement. His two sons were co-partners until the death of one of them, only a month ago. The surviving son, James Johnson, continues as publisher.

Thus, the field of journalism loses two great personalities. It is for those who take over their reins, to continue their efforts in an endeavor to fulfill to some extent at least, the hopes and dreams of those who have gone before.

Calendar Sale

The Mocksville Lions Club will begin their annual birthday calendar sale on Thursday of this week.

Members of the club have been divided into two teams captained by Otis Hendrix and James Roger. Members of these teams will contact the businessmen and individuals of this area. The members of the winning team will eat steaks while the losers will eat beans.

Money derived from this sale will be used in local community projects.

Sheek Miller is serving as chairman of this project.

Craver Teaches At Cincinnati

Pair Indicted For Breaking Into Men's Rest Room

A 21 year old man and a 17 year old girl (cousins) will face charges in Davie County Court on Tuesday for breaking into the men's rest room at Miller's Diner and Restaurant and stealing a vending machine off the wall.

Ira Gailther Owens, 21, of Rt. 4, Statesville, faces charges of breaking and entering, larceny and receiving, while his cousin, Mary Bell Owens, of the same address is charged with aiding and abetting in breaking and entering, larceny and receiving.

The pair broke into the rest room around 1:30 a.m. Sunday morning and took the contraceptive vending machine from the wall. They were seen leaving the scene in a 1952 black Ford by Joe Spry, who got the license number.

Subsequent investigation by Mocksville Policemen Joe Foster and Jim Smith established their identity.

The pair admitted stealing the machine and robbing it of the money and merchandise, and throwing the machine into Dutchman Creek at the Cana Bridge. The machine was recovered for the officers by Owens.

A birthday cake designed in the form of a train was cut and served with ice cream for refreshments.

A Plea To Hunters

A plea to hunters to be careful of stray shots was issued this week by A. W. MacDonald, manager of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corp.

Mr. MacDonald pointed out that every year stray shots and bullets damage telephone lines. "These telephone lines and cables are owned by farmers and land owners. A farmer who comes home after a hard day's work and finds his electric service off and his telephone out of order because hunters were careless will be very unhappy and may not welcome the return of hunters on his property," said Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. MacDonald issued a request that hunters not shoot near telephone lines and pointed out that one shot can interrupt service to an entire community.

Kappa H. D. Club

Holds Regular Meeting

Mrs. Claude Cantner presided at the meeting of Kappa Home Demonstration Club in the community building Thursday, Sept. 10, at 2 p.m.

The meeting opened by singing "Hail Club Women, Crowned Through Service," after which Mrs. Lester Walker gave the devotions.

During the business session, Mrs. Claude Cantner made a report concerning the new roof, which has just been completed on the community building. Also, the lightning damage which occurred recently has been repaired. Mrs. Cantner reported. Club members were asked to think about and discuss with others in the community, whether to sell the old school bell, or keep it, and mount it somewhere on the grounds. A vote will be taken at the next meeting. The club voted not to enter an exhibit in the Dixie Classic Fair this year.

Mrs. Claude Cantner, Mrs. Mary Blanche Morrison, Mrs. Ernest Seamon and Mrs. Armond Smith announced that they will collect any items for the hospital bazaar. If anyone has not been contacted and wishes to give something, let any one of the above named know and they will collect it.

Twelve members answered roll call by telling their memories of their first day of school. The club welcomes Mrs. Eleanor W. Gabard, the new assistant home economics Agent for Davie County.

Mrs. Armond Smith read an article, "Peter Left No Will," by Mrs. Peter Marshall, telling in detail some of the problems she faced, after the death of her husband, just because he had not made a will. Afterwards, Miss Florence Mackie gave a lesson on "Wills and Inheritance Laws," with charts to illustrate the laws for various circumstances. The meeting adjourned with the club collect.

Mrs. Lester Walker and Miss Margaret Daywalt served cookies and party punch during the social period.

The Rev. Doyle Freeman and the Rev. Alvin Amick were dinner guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dull, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Richie.

Mrs. W. B. Dull was a guest of Mrs. Dewey Dixon last Thursday.

Weds Houston Frye

Miss Ruth Victoria Franks, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Franks of Route 2, Advance, and W. A. Franks of Statesville, became the bride of Houston Grey Frye, son of Mrs. Floyd Frye of Route 3, and the late Mr. Frye, on Saturday, Sept. 5. The vows were spoken at 3 p.m. at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. J. H. Groce, in Farmington. The couple was unattended.

The bride wore a dress of blue taffeta and lace fashioned with a lace bolero. She carried white carnations on her white prayer book. Mrs. Frye attended Davie County High School. She is now employed at P. H. Hanes Knitting Company in Winston - Salem. Mr. Frye attended Shady Grove High School and holds a position at Dixie Furniture Company in Lexington.

After a honeymoon in the Western North Carolina mountains, the couple will reside with her mother on Rt. 2, Advance.

NORTH CAROLINA MEANS BETTER LIVING

No segment of the economy of North Carolina has improved in recent years more encouragingly than agriculture. Land values have increased nearly 400% since 1940; crop values nearly 500%. And all this with fewer farm workers. Increased production of live stock and in dairying and poultry raising account for diversification, better balance and better living.

As the level of the economy improves so does the level of tolerance and enlightenment, which is why, in increasing numbers, the people of this state are turning to the system of "legal control" for the sale of beer and ale.

A Few Questions To Ask The Printing Peddler!

When the peddler selling Stationery and Printing Supplies solicits your business, here are a few questions which he should be willing to answer to your Satisfaction . . . . .

1. Does he pay taxes in your community?
2. Can he supply your order on short notice?
3. Does he donate space in the newspaper to your local community enterprises?
4. Does he pay wages to a force of employees who live and do business in your community
5. Does he donate newspaper space to promote you and your neighbors' business?
6. Does he grant every favor that you would ask of your local newspaper?
7. Does the quality of his merchandise stand inspection?
8. Does his price include postage and insurance?

If he can answer ALL the above questions in the affirmative, he has an equal right to your Business!

Gerald Canupp Is With 101st Airborne Division

Army Specialist Four Gerald L. Canupp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oils F. Canupp, 88 Duke Street, Cooleemee, participated with the 101st Airborne Division's 502nd Infantry in "Exercise Eagle Redoubt" at Cumberland Lake in Kentucky, Aug. 25-29.

The exercise, conducted under simulated combat conditions, featured such ranger and commando type training as descending cliffs, water crossing operations, and scouting and patrolling missions.

A rifleman in the Infantry's Company E at Fort Campbell, Ky., Canupp entered the Army in Feb., 1957, and was last stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.

The 21 year old soldier is a 1956 graduate of Cooleemee High School and was employed by Sears, Roebuck and Co., in Kansas City, Mo., before entering the Army.

Upon arrival the honoree was presented with a novel corsage composed of pink and blue baby socks formed to make a flower.

Refreshments served were sandwiches, pink punch, salted nuts, pickles, and cake squares featuring a decoration of blue and pink storks in small scale candy molds.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Some folks here when they want to travel, just hop. That is, they take a helicopter; and seeing those whirling things in the air is getting about as common as watching grasshoppers was back on the family farm. It's systematic, too. If you land at a Newark, New Jersey, airport by plane, for example, and wish to jump right over the maze of streets, rivers, and skyscrapers, you can take a helicopter which will put you down at Idlewild Airport in 15 minutes for ten dollars. Shorter hops are in proportion. There is no traffic problem, either, for there are only a few of the 'copters so far, and at the intermediate level they fly schools of the state. Then the other day he came out strongly new types used here are like little planes, with comfortable seats holding 15 passengers per 'copter. There is one heliport on top of a building, but officials say this is not a good idea generally, because of the practical difficulties. So new points for these mammoth grasshoppers are planned for the edge of the rivers. And one of these days, many of Gotham's population may live part of their time above the ground traffic and below the regular airways, as they commute in these increasingly useful helicopters.

Of course Governor Rockefeller wasn't raised in Hell's Kitchen and is not too familiar with the kind of life led by a family of Puerto Ricans who live 12 in one room and slap each other around with whatever they can get their hands on when angry. But it does seem rather ironical that not so long ago, he vetoed a bill passed for ten dollars. Shorter hops are in proportion. There is no traffic problem, either, for there are only a few of the 'copters so far, and at the intermediate level they fly schools of the state. Then the other day he came out strongly new types used here are like little planes, with comfortable seats a paddle was sometimes a good persuader; and those who have to deal with toughs know that the one language they understand is not polite words or psychological cajoling, but physical force, the language which they over-use themselves.

A local lumber dealer had tried for many years to figure out a way to collect long overdue accounts without coming right out and saying "pay or else." Finally he hit upon the following idea which is reported to have worked rather well. In letters he sent out with requests for payment of accounts over six months old, he wrote: "It has been said that a man who squeezes a dollar never squeezes his wife. In looking over your account, it has occurred to us that your wife is not getting the attention she deserves!"

Talking with Ted Malone, the radio-TV personality, I was interested in the story he told of Henry Thoreau, the famous recluse of Concord, Mass. It seems that Thoreau had written a book and there were 950 copies left unsold. He took them back and put them in his house, then sent out invitations to his friends which read thusly: "Please come and see my library. It has 1100 books in it, 950 of which I wrote myself."

Gotham Gatherings: the new editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, found, it is said, after much dickering with other prospects, is Robert M. White who comes from the Mexico, Missouri, Ledger, the newspaper on which Mary Margaret McBride first worked. . . . several church authorities here say Fidel Castro is a good man who will help Cuba, and that he is definitely not a Communist. . . . the longest vertical span bridge in the world, suspended between two 215 foot towers, went into operation recently between Staten Island and New Jersey, when a B. & O. train rolled over it. . . . when the new Chase Manhattan Bank building is completed here soon, it will be the tallest building (812½ ft.) to be constructed in the city since the RCA building (850 ft.) was completed in 1933. A sheaf of corn was fastened to the last steel column braked into place to celebrate the finish, in a legendary Scandinavian way.

Disabled people whose applications for social security disability benefits were turned down in the past because they had not worked 1½ years within the 3 year period before they became disabled may now be eligible under recent changes in the social security law. If you worked 5 out of the 10 years just before you became disabled, you should contact your social security office immediately about filing a claim for benefits. A delay may lose you some back payments.

The spiritual sense of life and its grand pursuit is of itself a bliss, health-giving and joy-inspiring.—Mary Baker Eddy.

YOUR OPEN WINDOW ON THE WORLD is your newspaper!

Your newspaper is like a window . . . with a view as wide as the world, and as far into the future as the mind of man can be projected. It is the kind of a window that gives you a close-up look at the most distant events and developments . . . a window that extends the horizons of your knowledge even into the realm of outer space, now at long last revealing its secrets.

Some of the things that you see through your newspaper "window" are on the lighter side . . . amusing, entertaining. Others bear directly on your day-to-day life and on the future of yourself and your family. Both sides of the news are presented promptly, accurately and completely in your newspaper. Both sharpen your awareness of the world in which you live.

Your newspaper is all things to all men and all women. In its pages, each can find the latest information on what interests him most. It covers the community, county, state, nation and world. It deals with the economy, politics, finance . . . education and science . . . fashions and sports. It may be read at any hour of the day or night that suits you . . . may be read and reread . . . referred back to . . . clipped or saved. The window that it opens on your world is always open!

Housing Upturn Sets Pace

Mocksville more than equalled, in 1958, its own home building performance of the prior year, as well as that of most other communities, with new production locally amounting to $239,000 in market value.

Facts and figures on the local housing program, part of a nationwide survey covering some 7,000 localities, have just been released by the U. S. Department of Labor through its Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The report shows, for Mocksville, a total of 17 new dwelling units begun or authorized during 1958, as against 12 in the previous year. The figures apply to private, non-farm buildings and do not include public housing.

It was an increase of 41 per cent, attained despite the fact that the county was still in the throes of depression during the first half of the year.

The upturn compares favorably with the record in the United States, where a rise of 14 per cent was recorded. The State of North Carolina had a gain of 32 per cent.

The extent of the recovery locally was a strengthening factor in the local economy, providing work for people in the building trades and outlets for suppliers of building materials.

The quick comeback in home building in most parts of the nation is attributed, generally, to the easier financial climate that prevailed. Interest rates were lower and mortgages were easier to arrange.

As a result, the Labor Department shows, some 1,135,000 units with a valuation of $17.9 billion were built with private capital.

Added to this was the huge amount of home modernization and repair work that took place in the year with Government assistance. One-fourth of the income of construction companies, reportedly, came from this source.

Locally, the 17 new homes listed have an estimated valuation of $239,000, based on the media price in the region for new dwellings of $14,084 per unit.

How long will the building boom last? Barring a financial calamity, for many years, say the experts. They see a steady insistent demand created by our growing population and by new family formations.

Miss Beatrice Cobb

Friends of the newspaper world of North Carolina and other states paid their respects Saturday afternoon to one of their foremost champions... Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganton.

For 43 years Miss Cobb had served as publisher of the Morganton News Herald which saw it grow from a struggling weekly to a vigorous daily. For the past 37 years she was secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina Press Association and it was largely through her influence and devotion to this duty that the organization has come to mean so much to each and every newspaper in North Carolina.

In addition to her newspaper work, Miss Cobb was active in politics. From 1934 until 1952 she was North Carolina's Democratic National Committeewoman. As such, she was on of a five-member committee which conferred with the late President Roosevelt in selecting a successor to James A. Farley as the party's national chairman.

The University of North Carolina conferred an honorary Li.D. degree on Miss Cobb in 1949, in recognition of her many achievements.

Her charities were many and her friends ranged from the farmer plowing on the hillside to the White House.

She was always the newspaper woman, even on her death bed. As a critically ill patient in Duke Hospital, Miss Cobb continued to manifest her interest in the newspapers and their people.

Following the services Saturday afternoon in the Morganton Methodist Church, the funeral coach stopped for a few moments in front of the News Herald office, her newspaper, on the way to her final resting place.

Some reports of the services for Miss Cobb said: "Friends gathered to pay final respects, etc..." However, this is not true as her friends will continue to pay respects to this woman whenever and wherever two or more newspaper people get together.

In the words of Don Chipman, President of the North Carolina Press Association:

"Miss Cobb possessed many admirable traits. She was not only a good association secretary - treasurer and a successful newspaper publisher, but was a person loved for her generosity and friendliness. She will be missed and her place will be hard to fill."

Trained Clergymen Aid Physicians

As the result of a North Carolina minister's crusade, hospitals in at least 30 states and many foreign countries have put specially-trained clergymen beside physicians in "healing teams" to treat sick bodies and souls at the same time.

So says the September Reader's Digest, in a report on the work of the Rev. Richard K. Young, director of the School of Pastoral Care at North Carolina Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, N. C. The article, by Clarence W. Hall, credits Rev. Young with sharing in "the greatest discovery of modern psychiatry, the soul — not as another name for the mind, but an area in its own right, affecting mind and body for good or ill."

Plato recognized this 2400 years ago, Hall notes. The Greek philosopher wrote: "If the head and body are to be well, you must begin by curing the soul."

Many invalids literally want to die because of subconscious feelings of guilt about some episode in the past. The theory used to be: dredge up your guilt feelings, talk about them, look at them in the light of day, and they'll go away. "The trouble was," a psychoanalyst told Hall, "for many, they didn't go away. It takes more than just uncovering guilt... there must be an assurance of forgiveness." This is what Rev. Young and those who studied under him provide.

When Rev. Young began applying his techniques, many physicians fought him, because the first reaction often was that the patient felt worse. The minister argued: "A patient often must get worse emotionally before he can get better physically and spiritually. I'd no sooner try to create spiritual tranquillity in the admittedly guilty — even to keep blood pressure down — than you would slap a Band-Aid on a festering boil!"

Rev. Young is deeply convinced that pastoral care of the sick consists of more than smiling or praying at the bedside. It is a delicate art, he argues, and no seminary should graduate ministers without special training in it. His own classes are limited to ten persons at a time. Bookwork and lectures are held to a minimum. "Skill in intensive counseling does not come by reading a book," he says. "It comes by exposing yourself to the hurt of humanity." His staff and students made 70,000 such "exposures" last year alone, and their movement is winning more support among medical men every day. "Medical science," Hall concludes, "is affording the church its greatest opportunity since Christ commanded His disciples to 'preach the gospel and heal the sick'."

The article, "Spiritual Therapy: Modern Medicine's Newest Ally," is condensed from an introduction to the book to be co-authored by Rev. Young.

More Deadly Than War!

Modern traffic is more deadly than war.

This is revealed in the 1959 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook published by the National Safety Council.

The booklet shows that 1,265,000 persons have died in this century in motor vehicle accidents.

By comparison, 604,773 Americans have been killed in battle or died of wounds in all this nation's principal wars — from the Revolutionary War through the Korean conflict.

The Homestake Mine at Lead, South Dakota, is the United States' top gold producer. Few of its miners ever see anything resembling gold. From each ton of ore comes only enough metal for a wedding ring, the National Geographic Society says.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The boys at the country store Saturday night bring up several items that ought to be recorded in the minutes. Some of the fellows is getting worried over this new round of inflation and them 300 billion dollars we owe. One of 'em said he was 18 year old afore he ever heard the word "billion" and it happened when some do-gooder from the county seat was talking about the germ count on the dipper at the town pump. And the allowed he was 30 year old afore he ever heard the word used in connection with money. He was lamenting the sad fact that since he was 40 he ain't heard it used in no other capacity.

Ed Doolittle claims you newspaper editors is handling the situation in a very bad way. He allows as how you editors ought to quit discussing the danger of inflation in terms of billions and get it down to language a rancher, dirt farmer, and store clerk can understand. For instant, Ed says he put a penny in one of them peanut machines the other day and got 4 salted peanuts. He claims if you editors would go to the people preaching about 4 salted peanuts for a penny you'd get somepun done about inflation.

Another item that is worrying the fellows is the way they're gitting so many regulations fer things around your own propriety. One of 'em said he saw where a feller was fined $25 fer running a electric extension wire to his own barn. On account of him not being a licensed electrician, he don't know how to plug in a extension cord. They'll have it fixed in another 10 year so's a man can't milk his own cow if he ain't a licensed cow doctor, and if he's a cow doctor and uses a milking machine, he'll have it git a electrician's license to operate the milker.

I see where U. S. Senator Sam Ervin says these is times that "tax our patience." I figgered they'd git around to that sooner or later. They've taxed about everything else and now we'll have to pay fer what little patience we got left. The next budget will include a sliding tax scale on patience, about two per cent fer lawyers and four per cent fer you and me.

Things is gitting mighty restless all over, Mister Editor. People is nervous, nobody is sleeping sound no more, and ulcers is now a plague upon the land. As fer me, I'm gitting as restless as one preacher listening to another preacher preach. I reckon that's about as restless as a feller can get.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — Although I opposed the creation of the Commission on Civil Rights, I nevertheless entertained the hope that the Commission would suggest something new and constructive in the field of racial relations. The report which was released by the Commission last week has robbed me of this hope.

Report of the Commission

The report is not a report in any real sense of the term. This is true because the report has many authors who entertain and express differing views. The major portion of the report is written by the staff of the Commission. The other portions of the report are written by individual commissioners or groups of commissioners. The portion of the report written by the staff of the Commission consists of the same old clichés which have been used for years by those who make the advocacy of civil rights legislation and compulsory racial integration a profession.

New Legislation Unnecessary

A study of existing statutes shows that new legislation in this field is wholly unnecessary. Sections 1981 and 1982 of Title 42 of the U. S. Code confer upon all Americans legal and equitable remedies sufficient to enforce all of their civil rights. To be sure, advocates of new legislation in this field do not like these statutes because they require that the rights devolving upon each American as a citizen or a man shall "be protected in the ordinary modes by which other men's rights are protected."

The concept of uniform laws is abhorrent to those who would single out certain groups and make them the special favorites of the laws.

Section 241 of Title 18 of the U. S. Code provides heavy criminal penalties for those who "conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having exercised the same."

Section 242 of Title 18 of the U. S. Code provides criminal penalties for any state or local official who "willfully subjects any inhabitant of any state, territory, or district, to the deprivation of any rights, privileges or immunities secured or protected by the Constitution or laws of the United States."

Under these two criminal statutes, the Department of Justice can prosecute in a Federal Court any state or local official who willfully denies any qualified person the right to register or vote, or any other right secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States. To be sure, the burden would rest upon the Department of Justice to prove such state or local official to be guilty by the testimony of credible witnesses having personal knowledge of the truth of the charge against such official.

Would Deny Legal Rights

Advocates of new legislation in this field do not like these statutes because they would deny to state and local officials legal rights which they are willing to accord to persons charged with murder, smuggling, dope peddling, counterfeiting, and other crimes.

Next week I shall continue this discussion of the proposals of the Civil Rights Commission.

60 SECOND SERMONS

TEXT: "A bias recognized is a bias sterilized." — A. E. Haydon.

An official at the Humane Society picked up the phone and heard a feminine voice inquire, "Is this the Humane Society?" "Yes," replied the official.

"Well," said the inquirer, "there's a postman sitting up in a tree in my yard teasing my dog."

The lady of the house was prejudiced in favor of her dog. No amount of explaining would excuse the postman, in her opinion.

Herbert Spencer in "Social Statistics," wrote, "We all decry prejudice, yet all are prejudiced." Let us admit that not one of us is without some prejudice. Starting from that point we begin to understand ourselves as well as others.

We all have a common goal. We all seek a happier, more satisfying situation than we now enjoy. Our prejudice is not against the goal. We are prejudiced for or against a means employed to achieve this goal.

You have a right to your preferred means. The other fellow has a right to his prejudice. When we learn to look at goals and admit our own and the other fellow's prejudice, we have gained understanding. When we can tolerate and forgive these prejudices, we have attained wisdom.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

WHAT NEXT? ... This junket the Governor, some State employees, and special travelers are taking to Europe in search of new industry for North Carolina has everybody asking: "What's it all about, anyway?"

The first reaction was surprise. After that, came various kinds of comment, such as "Paris shore is a fur piece from Haw River."

Friends of Governor Luther Hodges think it's a fine thing. Enemies — that is those who do not care for His Excellency are of the opinion it's a lot of hoopla costing somebody a lot of money.

One thing is sure: In securing the services of Publicist John Harden of Greensboro to plan and put the trimmings on the trip, the Governor did a good thing. When John gets going with his looks, personality, general gentility, and glib typewriter, he can make a backhouse smell like ripe Elbertas.

Now very few people we have talked with about it think much will be accomplished by this European junket. It sounds big, of course, because it's across the Water.

We would say that, everything included — and depending upon the number going — this particular Search for new industry — will cost somebody upwards of $100,000. That is about the equivalent of an old-time special session of the Legislature.

But nobody should blame the Governor. He is an energetic person — and, frankly, things are a little dull around Raleigh. Being Governor is not the easiest, most pleasant task in the world. Did you know that Governor's widows dot the landscape. In Gastonia? In Durham? In Raleigh? In Haw River? In Edenton? We do not have living one ex-Governor.

Luther Hodges has only about 15 months left in office and is entitled to any solid entertainment he can muster. He is paying his own way — and a 61 year old man should be given the benefit of any doubts.

THE RIGHT THING ... Certain Raleigh neighbors are still laughing about the latest dumpling pulled by a popular and absent minded physician who lives here — and whose name many of you would recognize if we called it.

He went to this home where the little four year old was pretty sick with Pink Throat. The kid had a high fever and the doctor and mother stepped into the adjoining bathroom to decide whether it should have penicillin shots or be sent to the hospital.

The physician had been going all day, so sat down on the commode as he talked, there being no other chair in the bathroom. When he got up, he reached back and nonchalantly flushed the commode.

Word we get is that he turned ten different colors, rushed out to the bedroom, gave the boy the shot and hardly stopped running until he reached his car out in the driveway. P. S. The patient was all right next morning.

SECOND BIGGEST? ... Now that the Southern States Fair in Charlotte has been voluntarily laid to rest by Owners Dorton or Shelby, the second biggest in North Carolina appears to be held in Winston - Salem on Oct. 6-10. The biggest, and best, of course, is still the State Fair, which comes this year on Oct. 13-17. It is operated by the N. C. Agriculture Dept., with Dr. J. S. Dorton, who operates the Cleveland County Fair, as manager.

Beginning in the latter part of August and continuing to end of October, we have 73 fairs in this State. All have to meet certain standards and must be licensed by the State Agriculture Dept. to be called a "fair." Most of them are held in September — and if you want to visit one, you can usually find two or three within a few miles of where you live. We always enjoy the sharp, down to earth fair in Winston-Salem.

INCURABLE ... Although we knew neither of them very well, 2 of our favorite people died last week. Both of leukemia. One in London; and the other in Duke Hospital, Durham. One was 32. The avowed 70. pm2nuj-jdH

One was Kay Kendall, whom we all enjoyed so much is "Les Girls." "Genevieve," etc., and the wife of Rex Harrison of "My Fair Lady." The other was Miss Beatrice Cobb who always to us was the personification of wholesomeness. She was such a wholesome person — and about as free of little prejudices as one could find. She will be missed.

Leukemia, known medically as leucaemia is of unknown origin. It is regarded as being incurable. It is frequently known and described as "cancer of the blood." The "leuc" part comes from Greek and means "white."

Friends who saw Miss Cobb at the press meeting in Morehead did not know she was in ill health. Others say she knew of the uncertainties facing her, but that she was determined to see England again this summer. We are advised that leukemia may progress for months or years with intervals of considerable improvement. North Carolina journalism loses another good and true friend.

SLEEPYFACE ... Irving C. Dodge — known to his friends as Irv — is the new executive vice president of the N. C. Association of Certified Public Accountants. Offices are in Chapel Hill.

A brother of Frederick T. Dodge, who does such a wonderful job for the N. C. Association of Landscapers and Cleaners, and new CPA leader comes from Akron, Ohio, where he was in sales work. He is a life member of Sertoma and a leading Toastmaster in Ohio.

WHAT GIVES? ... The Chapel Hill unit of the Greater University of North Carolina has notified students that this year no hi-fi sets, no phonographs and no weight-lifting equipment will be permitted in dormitory rooms.

Beatniks, arise!

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — For the first time since he became President, Congress last week overrode a veto by President Eisenhower.

The veto was overridden to enact into law a measure of unusual importance to North Carolina, namely, the Public Works Appropriation Bill which includes funds for 11 water projects in our State.

The action by Congress in passing the bill over the objections of the President, which requires a two-thirds vote in both the House and Senate, came after Mr. Eisenhower vetoed two public works measures.

The bill, as finally enacted into law, keeps intact the 11 water projects previously approved for North Carolina, but reduces the funds for each by 2.5 per cent. This reduction is minor and should not have any material effect on the final completion of the projects.

While all 11 of the projects are of vital importance to North Carolina, the Wilkesboro Reservoir flood control dam and the deepening of the Morehead City harbor and channel are the largest projects. They are also the only projects which are ready for actual construction. Eight of the remaining nine are in the survey stage and one is a maintenance project.

Both the Wilkesboro and Morehead City projects are overdue. The dam, which will be located a few miles upstream from Wilkesboro on the Yadkin River, will bring about a new era of growth and development in the entire Northwestern section of the State. The Morehead City project will open the port to larger ships and a larger volume of shipping.

The bill that was enacted into law does not provide sufficient funds to complete either the Morehead City project or the Wilkesboro Reservoir. However, the $975,000 earmarked for Wilkesboro and the $585,000 appropriated for Morehead City will enable construction work to get under way and make easier efforts in the future to obtain adequate funds to carry them to completion.

The other nine projects which received funds are as follows: Cape Fear River basin, Neuse River basin, Rollinson Channel, Shallotte River and Inlet, Surf City and New Topsail Inlet, Wright's Creek, Pantego and Cuckler's Creek, Bogue Inlet, and Dismal Swamp Canal. All of these projects are in the survey stage with the exception of Dismal Swamp Canal. Sufficient funds were set aside for Dismal Swamp Canal to keep it in operation for another year.

Soil Bank Deadline Extended

The deadline by which farmers interested in offering cropland under the Conservation Reserve Program must ask the ASC county committee to set a basic annual rate per acre for the land offered has been extended from Sept. 10 through Sept. 30. This extension of time, according to J. G. Crawford, Chairman of the Dave County ASC Committee, was made necessary because of changes in the program which would make additional farmers eligible for participation.

Where the farmer visits the county office prior to the Sept. 30 deadline and has a basic rate established he will then be given an opportunity to apply for a contract at any figure below the basic rate. If the offer can be accepted the farmer will be notified of the date by which he must return the signed conservation reserve contract to the ASC county office.

Farmers who participate in the Soil Bank Program receive cost-sharing help in establishing approved conservation practices on the reserve land and annual rental payments for the life of the contract.

Farmers who are interested in the 1960 Conservation Reserve Program and who would like to have further information about participating in the program are urged to get in touch with the local ASC county office as soon as possible, but certainly before the Sept. 30 deadline.

Soil Bank Regulations Eased
With the Sept. 30 deadline nearing for farmers who are interested in 1960 Conservation Reserve announcement is being made of two changes in Soil Bank regulations that should make more farmers eligible to participate.

One change effects situations where a tenant leaves the farm voluntarily and the owner takes over the operation. The other covers situations where land has been lost for public use under eminent domain procedures.

The program as originally announced for 1960 provided that a farm which was operated wholly or partially by a tenant or sharecropper in 1958 or 1959 could not be placed in the Conservation Reserve next year unless a tenant or sharecropper was designated to share in the annual rental payment. The purpose of this provision was to protect tenants against being forced off Soil Bank farms.

The new provision permits a contract with a land owner where a tenant leaves the farm voluntarily and the owner finds it necessary to take over the operation. In such a case, a Conservation Reserve contract for non-tenant operation may be entered into for 1960 provided it can be established definitely that the tenant left the farm of his own accord. This may be proved either through a statement signed by the tenant or sharecropper, or, if he is not available, through statements signed by three disinterested persons who know the situation.

The other newly announced change provides an exception to the general rule that land purchased since Dec. 31, 1956, is not eligible for the Conservation Reserve. Under the new rule, a farmer who has lost land through eminent domain since 1956 and has bought replacement land can place this new land in the 1960 Conservation Reserve, subject to certain limitations.

"Any farmer who was ineligible under former rules but is now eligible for a 1960 contract has until Sept. 30 to request his county ASC office to set a basic annual rate for his farm."

You can make homework easier for your children with the proper lighting. As shown in the diagrams above, lighting that is safe to the eyes is not a matter of using just any type of light in any location. Safe lighting for study includes many factors:

- Proper size and type of lamp bulb
- Proper diffusion of light
- Correct height of lamp
- Correct size and composition of shade
- Proper location of lamp in relation to study area
- Correct seating location from lamp

Advance

The annual homecoming day of the Advance Methodist Church will be held Sunday, Sept. 20th. Sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Fletcher Andrews at 11 o'clock. Dinner will be served at the noon hour, followed by special afternoon singing. Everyone is invited to attend. Service in the evening at 7:30 will be the beginning of the revival. The Rev. Ed Fitzgerald will conduct the services and continue each evening through the week.

Small Grain Recommendations

As most people know, State College no longer makes a list of recommended varieties of different crops but tries to give facts on the performance of each variety.

OATS — There are a number of varieties that gave excellent results on the variety tests in the Piedmont section. One of these variety tests was conducted on Cecil Leagans' farm in Davie County. The varieties thought to do the best under all conditions were Fulwood, Moregrain and Arlington. However, there are other varieties that yield practically as well and, too, I realize there are a number of farmers who do not prefer Arlington for grain, although it does produce high yields. I think this variety should certainly be considered for forage utilization.

WHEAT — On wheat, I believe our two strong varieties will be Knox and Taylor 49. In addition to these, I believe that some Anderson and Coker 47-27 could be well used, although these varieties do not have resistance to soil-borne mosaic. Thorne is a good choice so far as winter hardiness is concerned, but it is so susceptible to rust that is generally deteriorates in quality in the spring as a result of rust, mildew, and other diseases.

BARLEY — For the barleys, we have only two choices, and they are Davie and Colonial 2. Davie has been slightly stronger than Colonial 2 in yield but not too far different. I believe that either of these varieties properly treated for loose smut control and also treated with a fungicide will give excellent results.

Cotton

Cotton is on the way back as a valuable crop in North Carolina in the opinion of Wiley J. Long, Jr., of Roanoke Rapids, and C. S. McArthur of Laurinburg.

Mr. Long is President, and Mr. McArthur is chairman of the Quality Improvement Committee of the North Carolina Cotton Promotion Association.

In a recent interview these cotton leaders pointed out that cotton acreage planted in 1959 in North Carolina is 55 per cent above the 1958 planting. Last year 271,000 acres were planted. This year 420,000 are estimated as planted.

"And, North Carolina has planted the highest percentage of its available allotted cotton acreage in 1959 of any Southeastern state," Mr. Long pointed out.

In emphasizing the importance of picking cotton as soon as it is ready, Mr. McArthur said, "In all agricultural products we are realizing that better quality brings a better price. It also holds markets."

this year with a minimum of grass and trash in it.

"And, drink an extra cup of coffee on heavy dew fall mornings before starting to pick. Dew moisture in seed cotton, like rain, injured the quality of the lint."

The better the quality the better the price for the farmer was McArthur's concluding observation.

Social Security In Davie County

The word "freeze," usually associated with the rigors of winter or the preservation of foodstuffs, has taken on another significant meaning for the nation's disabled workers. So said J. G. Liebensberger, district social security manager, in urging workers under the system to both know about and take advantage of their rights in the event they are severely disabled and unable to work any longer.

The fact that monthly disability benefits can be paid only to eligible disabled workers who are at least 50 years old seems to have discouraged some disabled workers under 50 from filing a claim to establish their disability. They seem to feel that little if anything is to be gained from filing while they are under 50. "Nothing can be farther from the real facts," Mr. Liebensberger said. The only way an under-50 disabled worker can be assured of full benefits in the future is by filing an application to establish a period of disability. When this is done, his social security earnings account will be frozen as of the beginning of this disability, and monthly benefits later on will also be computed as of the beginning of his disability.

Severely disabled workers, whether under or over 50, have a big stake in social security. It's every bit as important for under 50 disabled workers to contact their social security office and file for the disability freeze as it is for over-50 workers to file for cash benefits. Only by so doing can social security work in the best interests of disabled workers and their families.

day with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barnhardt of Tyro.

Imagine a truck ride so smooth and cushioned that fragile loads can travel the worst "wash-board" roads with ease. Imagine a truck ride that virtually eliminates shimmy and wheel fight, cuts side sway on curves, makes steering far steadier and easier, keeps drivers far fresher. Imagine a truck ride that permits higher safe cruising speeds, more trips per day with all kinds of cargo over every type of road surface. Imagine a ride that keeps up to 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration from ever reaching the driver and cargo, a design that sharply reduces twisting and fatigue forces on chassis, cabs and bodies, that keeps trucks young for extra thousands of miles. / Soon you won't have to just imagine such a ride. You can try it for yourself in the trucks that do the next best thing to paving every road in America—new Chevrolet trucks for 1960. You'll see what happens when Chevy's truck engineers design a whole new line of trucks around a whole new kind of torsion-spring suspension. These trucks are new from the ride on up—with wonderfully roomier cabs, brawnier frames, style that's fresh as sixty and more! Don't decide on any new truck till you see the newest of all.

No. 27

Watershed Program For Flood Control Is Discussed

The downpour of rain in recent weeks has caused floodwater and sediment damage in many low-land sections of Davie County. Crops were not only damaged, but most pasture in bottom lands that were flooded were rendered unfit for grazing due to extensive sediment damage.

Carland Still of the Soil Conservation Service has pointed out that landowners in Davie County can receive help in preventing this flood damage under the Watershed and Flood Protection Act. In 1954, Congress made it possible for any group of local citizens with watershed problems to solve these problems with federal help. The legislation passed at that time is called the Watershed and Flood Prevention Act. (Public Law 566). The act places full responsibility for starting watershed projects on local people who will not through their own organizations.

Under this law it is possible for the local groups to (1) Ask for Federal help in flood prevention, conservation, development, and disposal of water; and (2) get Federal technical and financial help in the planning and installation of the needed works in watersheds.

Third Creek, North Carolina, which drains a watershed of 60,000 acres, is one example of how the watershed act is helping. Irredell County's agriculture, J. W. Lackey, who has 85 acres of land bordering Third Creek, has seen many floods during the 30 years he has farmed there. Not long ago crews completed a floodwater retaining structure above the Lackey farm.

is one of 11 designed for Third Creek and its tributaries. When a nine inch rain fell in three days, because of the watershed there was no flooding of the bottom-land acres. It was the type of rain that before the completion of the floodwater retaining work would have sent the creek out over nearly all the bottomlands.

The 1059 N. C. General Assembly enacted water shed legislation providing for the creation of Watershed Improvement Districts. The following is a brief summary of the main points in the legislation:

1. Petition for Establishment: Petition to be signed by 100 owners of land within proposed watershed district, or a majority of such owners if total number is less than 200.

2. Petitions to be filed with the supervisors of the Soil Conservation District (C. W. Phillips, David White and C. F. Barnhardt).

3. Hearing on Petition: Supervisors hold a public hearing upon the practicability and need of creating watershed district. All owners of the land in the proposed watershed district and other interested parties have right to be heard.

4. In passing upon the petition the supervisors shall call a referendum.

Mrs. W. M. Long To Assist In Medical Symposium In Hickory

Mrs. William M. Long of Mocksville will participate in the annual Medical Symposium of the Ninth District Medical Society to be held Thursday at the Lake Hickory Country Club in Hickory.

Mrs. Long, who is counselor for the Ninth District Medical Auxiliary, will preside over the business meeting of the auxiliary which will be held Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Long and Mrs. Robert Garward of Greensboro will assist at a tea to be given by Mrs. J. H. Shuford honoring Mrs. John Reese, the wife of the president of the N. C. State Medical Society.

This Symposium will feature outstanding specialists in the field of medicine.

Presbytery Meets At Presbyterian Church

A stated meeting of the Winston-Salem Presbytery met with the First Presbyterian Church of Mocksville on Tuesday, with more than 50 ministers and elders present.

This meeting began at 10 a.m. opening with holy communion, with the Rev. Wm. F. Long, Dr. J. H. Whitmore from Lexington and Dr. Julian Lake from Winston-Salem, as officiants. Dr. Whitmore is the retiring moderator.

A turkey dinner was served by the ladies of the local church, at 12:30.

Rotarians Learn About Salesmanship

The art of salesmanship was discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday, by J. K. Sheek.

Mr. Sheek told Rotarians that all people are salesmen. The speaker outlined a method which he termed as "Selling By Giving," as follows:

The gift of attention; The gift of praise; The gift of a drop of oil . . . the easing of friction; The gift of consideration; The gift of courtesy; The gift of concession; The gift of good nature; The gift of confidence; The gift of inspiration; The gift of service; The gift of friendship; The gift of gratitude; The gift of presence; The gift of generosity.

"This whole art of salesmanship can be summed up in the importance of learning how to live with people," said Mr. Sheek.

R. C. Smith, Jr., had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Sheek. President E. C. Morris presided.

Annual UTWA Picnic And Beauty Contest To Be Held Saturday

George Baldanzi of New York, President of the United Textile Workers of America, AFL-CIO, will speak in Cooleemee Saturday, Sept. 26. He will address the members of Local 251, UTWA, and their families at the Erwin Mills Recreation Center. The occasion will be the union's annual picnic and outing. The Local, which was formed in 1939, will also be celebrating its 20th anniversary.

The program will begin at 11:30 a.m. and last until 4 p.m. There will be plenty of eats, cold drinks and ice cream for everyone.

There will be a half hour musical program from 12 noon until 12:30 p.m. by the "Country Cowboys."

A baby contest will be held at 3:30. Babies between 6 months of age and 2 years are eligible. Three winners will be selected with each winner receiving a prize. Anyone wishing to enter a child in the contest is asked to contact Mrs. Emma Rae Spay or Harold Foster.

"The Trail Blazers," a local group that have been making appearances in New York, Maryland and Virginia, will present their show at 1 p.m.

Mr. Baldanzi will make his address at 1:30 p.m. A special 20th anniversary program will be held at 2:30.

The popular "Miss Union Maid" beauty contest will be held at 3 p.m. Sixteen girls have entered the contest to date. The first prize winner will receive $50; second prize, $25; third prize, $15; and fourth prize, $10. Mrs. Phyllis Waller, last year's winner, will present the prizes to the winners. Any girl wishing to enter the contest is asked to contact Harold Foster, business agent of the union.

The program will end at 4 p.m., with the drawing for the 15 door prizes.

Each person attending must have a ticket. Tickets are free and may be secured at the Union Hall or from any shop steward. More than 3,000 people are expected to attend the event again this year.

Two Trucks Damaged In Wreck On Monday

Considerable damage was done to two trucks Monday morning around 10:30 a.m. on Highway 84 East at the Yaddin River Bridge.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Bialock said that his investigation showed that a 1958 Mack tractor - trailer, owned by the Mocksville Feed Mills, Inc., and operated by William Anderson, 31, of Mocksville, Route 5, had stopped to wait for a vehicle crossing the bridge. A 1957 International dump truck, being operated by James Adolphus Holsinger, 24, of Rockwell, Route 1, heading in the same direction, could not stop and struck the rear of the tractor-trailer.

There were no injuries. Damages were done to the rear of the tractor - trailer and to the front of the dump truck.

Jayvees Win

The Davie High School Junior Varsity won their first game over East Rowan last Thursday night at Rich Park.

A Plea To Hunters

A plea to hunters to be careful of stray shots was issued this week by A. W. MacDonald, manager of the Yaddin Valley Telephone Membership Corp.

Mr. MacDonald pointed out that every year stray shots and bullets damage telephone lines. "These telephone lines and cables are owned by farmers and land owners. A farmer who comes home after a hard day's work and finds his electric service off and his telephone out of order because hunters were careless will be very unhappy and may not welcome the return of hunters on his property," said Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. MacDonald issued a request that hunters not shoot near telephone lines and pointed out that one shot can interrupt service to an entire community. Dove hunters are reported to have shot up the telephone wires last Saturday near the Farmington Road in this county.

Class Of 1934 Is Reunited

Twenty-five years ago, 15 proud high school seniors put on their class night program the night before they graduated.

Sunday afternoon, 11 of the 15 gathered at their old school to relive those moments. The scene was the auditorium of Shady Grove School in Davie County. Those attending were the members of the Class of 1934.

All the class members are living, but only 11 returned for the reunion. One of the absent four sent a telegram from Chicago, Ill., where he is a hospital patient. Those at the reunion sent a telegram to Chicago wishing him well.

The reunion saw the return of Mrs. A. A. Vance, who taught the seniors.

W. M. Lovelace, the principal, who then kept the spunky seniors at Shady Grove School in line, was also present.

It was a nostalgic event as the classmates sat in the little auditorium and watched their children re-enact the same class night program they had put on.

Before the program, a business session was held in their old classroom. There was not so much business conducted as there was "catching up on old times."

The members of the class, six boys and eight girls, have assumed their roles in life in varied capacities.

Yankees Win Little League

The Cooleemee Yankees Little League baseball team won the Yadkin Valley Little League championship by defeating the Cooleemee Rebels in a play-off game.

The Yankees and Rebels played a game Wednesday, Sept. 9, with the Yankees winning by a score of 8 to 2. This tied the League up. The play off game was played on Friday, Sept. 11, between the two teams with the Yankees winning by a score of 10 to 3.

Standing for all the teams in the League at the end of the season are as follows:

Team	W	L

HERE ARE THE FACTS ON RETREADING TIRES

—As Published in the New York Times of August 2, 1959—

By JACK R. RYAN

Tire retreading, a war-baby industry orphaned after war-time rubber shortages ended, has become one of the fastest growing consumer industries.

Unit sales of retread tires have been growing an average of nearly 24 percent each year for the last decade. Today one out of every three passenger car replacement tires sold is a retread that cost only about half as much as its brand new counterpart.

The prestige of the retread has risen considerably, too, aided by the safety experience of airlines — which retread plane tires four to ten times or more — and by the detailed cost records of truck, bus and taxi fleet operators.

The modern retreaded tire is far different from the crude, pioneering "recap" that got its start during the rubber-scarcity years of World War II. The retreading technique was inexact then, and synthetic rubber was in its primitive stages.

How good is a retread tire?

If the tire casing on which the new tread is applied is sound, it's just as good as a new tire — and the new tread is very likely to last even longer than the original because the quality of the retread may be better, according to most tire men. If the job is done right, even experts may have trouble distinguishing the retread from a new tire.

Truck and bus operators, on average, are now using one retread for every new replacement tire they buy. One taxi concern in Wilmington, Del., in a two year test, retreaded twenty-two tires five times each and tire failures showed no correlation with repeated retreading.

The Post Office Department is one of the largest buyers of retreads, and the Army is reported to buy at least 50,000 retreads a year from private contractors in addition to producing about the same number in its own shop.

One major airline that retreads its airplane tires an average of five times each has been quoted as saying it averages more landings on the retreads than on new tires.

In the retreading industry, as in any other, there are marginal operators who do shoddy work.

Asked for some tips on avoiding such shops, John W. Lynch, manager of tread rubber and repair materials for the United States Rubber Company's U. S. tire division offered these:

"Go to a tire dealer with experience in the business new and retread tires. He's more likely to give you a balanced opinion on their relative merits.

"Choose a dealer who sells brands that are well established either regionally or nationally. If it's a good tire, he'll want to be identified with it.

"Look for good housekeeping in the retread shop — a clean shop is more likely to indicate high quality.

"Don't buy unless you're offered a length-of-service guarantee or a workmanship-and-materials warranty — no reliable dealer refuses one.

"Avoid the very low priced retreads (below $8.00 a tire). A retread that costs roughly half the price of a comparable-quality new tire is a good bargain but the $5 product advertised to attract attention is usually a waste of money."

What Every Veteran Should Know

The maximum interest rate that may be charged on G loans is now 5 1/4 per cent, W. J. Wilson, Davie County Veterans Service Officer, said.

Previously the maximum was 4 1/2 per cent but the new rate became effective on July 2, 1959.

VA direct loans will also carry the increased interest rate, but the new rate does not apply to loans previously closed or already in existence, Mr. Wilson explained.

The increased rates were based on provisions of Public Law 86-73 which was approved by the President on June 30.

Loans closed on or after the effective date of July 2, 1959, may carry the new rate unless the lender had made a commitment to grant the loan at a lower rate, the County Service Officer said.

The new law also authorized the Administrator of Veterans Affairs to request an additional $100 million for direct housing loans to veterans.

Mr. Wilson said July 25, 1960, is the deadline for World War II veterans to apply for GI Loans and Korean veterans have until Feb. 1, 1965.

For further information and assistance, contact W. J. Wilson who is located in Lynn Haven Nursing Home, or Robert F. Currence, District Officer, North Carolina Veterans Commission, 203 Five Building, Hickory, N. C.

SWEETPAKES THREAT

Ranked among the top entries for the fourth annual Virginia Sweepstakes late model stock car race Sunday afternoon at the half mile Martinsville, Va., Speedway will be Little Tom Pistone of Chicago, Ill., with a 1959 Ford Thunderbird. Pistone won the Old Dominion 500 earlier this season at the Martinsville track. Race time is set for 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Fork Tigers Win Over Morlan Park

The Fork Tigers finished the 1959 baseball season Saturday, Sept. 12, with an impressive 10-0 victory over Morlan Park of Salisbury.

Kent Walser led off in the first inning with a home run, which started the merry go round, and heavy hitting by big Charles Bailey, Randy Bailey, and Larry Bailey, and hard base running by all, contributed to the rout.

Bill Koontz pitched perfect for four innings, when he was relieved by Don Jones, who pitched shut-out ball for the remainder of the game. Only one error was committed by the winners.

The climax came in the last inning, with one Morlan Park runner on base and two out. Jerry Hendrix, hustling catcher, chased a pop fly down the first base line and thrilled the spectators with a diving, sliding catch for the final out of the game.

The managers and coach expressed thanks to the parents for their support and cooperation; the fans for their patience; and all the boys on the team for their fine spirit of loyalty; all their hard work; and most of all for their confidence. "We look forward to having a bigger and better team next year," they said.

Johnny Bailey and Kermit Bailey were managers of the team this year.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

A feller in town was telling me yesterday he's got a teenage grandson that claims to be in a "shook up" condition most of the time. This feller says he can spot the symptoms of the disease in his grandson real easy, but he ain't got no idea what causes it. The boy told him that teen agers usually gits shook up following a "delightful disaster."

I don't know what's going to happen to this country with such booby - hatch talk going on amongst our young'uns. When taxes and inflation finally git 'em in the next generation, I reckon they'll call it a "splendid panic" or "comfortable starvation."

If delightful disasters can git a feller shook up, some of the news items lately has been mostly of the shook up variety.

For instance, I see where a New York columnist says the Army now owns 8,000 miles of rope, enough to stretch across the country twice. They bought it during the last war and now they can't use it and they can't sell it. They're paying $200,000 a year for storage space on it. If that feller will dig a little deeper he'll probably find about 80,000 miles of red tape tied around this rope. And he'll probably uncover a couple influential politicians that's in the rope business.

It ain't been too long ago that I saw where one Government agency bought 50 million pounds of some sort of surplus material for 87 cent a pound and sold it to the Army for 35 cent a pound. I reckon the War Department was mighty glad to git it wholesale like that. The fact that the taxpayers lost 41 million dollars on the deal don't worry them fellers in Washington.

And some bureaucrat, talking on the radio last night about a new tax plan, said the "new income tax would apply the increase to what the taxpayer had left over after paying the current tax." The best I can make out of that kind of talk, Mister Editor, is that they've got your shirts and pants now and they're going after what's left, which is mostly your underwear.

But things could be worse, Mister Editor. I see where the U. S. Department of Agriculture says a good wife is worth $89,000 to a rancher or farmer. The piece didn't deduct nothing for depreciation or upkeep and I ain't wanting no argument with my old lady on the subject. And a piece here says the Retail Clothiers Association is "featuring jet blues, atomic greys, racket browns, and cosmic greens" for men's clothes this winter. It was mighty thoughtful of 'em not to include "calamity black."

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Rebels Defeat Thomasville For Second Straight Win

Play West Wilkes Here Friday Night At 8 p.m.

The Davie County Rebels continued to roll on the winning track last Friday night as they bumped off a favored Thomasville eleven 12 to 6. The win spelled a stadium dedication for Thomasville and stamped Davie as a conference threat.

The Rebels will meet the strong West Wilkes Consolidated High School at Rich Park, Friday night at 8 p.m.

A 62 yard scoring pass on his third play after receiving the opening kickoff, shot Davis into the lead. Quarterback Barry Southern tossed to halfback Jerry Spry on the sideline and halfback Tom Graham threw a key block to set Spry loose.

Thomasville tied is 6-6 in the second quarter when Sam Harris ran over from the six, capping a 45 yard drive after an intercepted Davie County pass.

The winning Davie touchdown was a four yard run by fullback Joe Whitlock, which ended a 70 yard drive. Southern's passing to John Grimes sparked the clutch drive. On the night, Davis gained 131 yards passing on seven completions in 10 tosses.

Davie made ten first downs as compared to six for Thomasville and made 124 yards rushing to 71 for Thomasville. The Rebels lost two fumbles and Thomasville lost two. Davie was penalized 75 yards for the night while Thomasville was penalized 20.

Thomasville's Coach, George Cushman, paid the Rebels a great compliment by saying:

"I may have to eat these words later, but I think Davie County is going to be real tough in this conference. They have a good club. They move the ball well and their quarterback looked good."

Strong defensive play by Davie featured the victory and the Rebel line held the Bulldogs to 71 yards rushing for the night. Sparking this defense was Captain Manning Huske, Bob Thies and John Grimes.

She'll Never Neglect Him...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... CALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Samuel	4	25-28
Monday	Luke	2	39-40
Tuesday	I Samuel	5	17-19
Wednesday	Luke	2	46-49
Thursday	I Corinthians	2	2-5
Friday	Psalms	37	3-6
Saturday	Deuteronomy	7	9

Mrs. Thompson is a "modern" mother. She wouldn't think of neglecting her baby's regular visit to the doctor. She knows that these early check-ups plus proper diet, rest and care, are vital if her child is to grow up into a strong, healthy boy, ready to take his place in tomorrow's world.

Nor will she forget an even more important factor in his development—his spiritual check-ups. When the time comes and baby is old enough, his tiny footsteps will lead him into Church School where another kind of ministry will be given to him. Later still, he will worship with his parents, and the importance of the family unit together at work, at play and in worship will be engrained in his mind.

In tomorrow's world he will be well equipped to take his place physically, mentally... and spiritually.

The Point System

The 1959 General Assembly put into effect a point system approach to highway safety in which demerit points are charged against those who drive dangerously. Such a program aids the cause of highway safety by helping to improve those who drive dangerously, or—as a last resort—by removing them from the roads until they are willing to drive better. The good driver, of course, has no need to be worried about the point system, because safe and intelligent driving will not result in demerit points.

It works this way:

Each time a driver is convicted for a moving traffic violation, the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles is notified. Upon receipt of such a notice, the driver's record is charged with a certain number of demerit points, except that points are not assessed for convictions resulting in suspensions or revocations under other provisions of the law.

If a driver's record reaches 12 points within a 2-year period, his license may be suspended. Of course, nobody wants this to happen — not the state and not the driver. For this reason every effort is made to encourage the driver to improve before it is too late. This is the way it is done:

If the record reaches four points, the driver is sent a letter reminding him that his record is beginning to reach the danger point. If he continues to violate the law and his record reaches seven points, he may be called in for an interview with an official of the Department. The purpose of such an interview is to try to find the solution to the dangerous driving habits of the driver. It is also possible that the driver will be allowed to attend a driver improvement clinic operated by the Department of Motor Vehicles and upon successful completion of the requirements, three points will be removed from his record. If all else fails, and the driver reaches 12 points, his license may be suspended as much as 60 days.

The schedule of the points to be assessed against driving violations areas follows:

Passing stopped school bus: 5 points
Reckless Driving: 4 points
Hit and run, property damage only: 4 points
Speeding in excess of 55 mph: 3 points
Illegal passing: 3 points
Falling to yield right of way: 3 points
Running through red light: 3 points
No operator's license or license expired more than one year: 3 points
Failure to stop for red light or siren: 3 points

Driving through safety zone: 3 points
No liability insurance: 3 points
Failure to report accident where such a report is required: 3 points
Speeding in city limits: 2 points
Speeding in restricted zones: 2 points
Improper turning: 2 points
All other moving violations: 2 points.
When points become two years old they are removed from a driver's record. Points also may be removed by completing the Driver Improvement Clinic... three points are removed in this way.

Also, when a license is reinstated after suspension or revocation, all points are removed from the record. Such a driver may then start out fresh and maintain a clear record. If, however, a driver continues to drive dangerously, he will soon be back on the suspension list because this time it will take only eight points to bring suspension — and this time the suspension may be for as much as six months.

Violations are used as the basis for assigning points because it is recognized that violations are the "symptoms" of accidents. Research shows that drivers who have been convicted for moving traffic violations are much more likely to have accidents than drivers with violation-free records. For example, drivers with four or more violations average more than five times as many accidents as drivers with no violations on their records.

Also, the basic reason for counting some violations more heavily than others is that some violations are more closely related to accidents than others.

Part-Time Farming Increase

If you're a typical North Carolina farmer, either you or your neighbor works part-time in off-farm work. In fact, no more than one out of four farms in the state, income from off-farm sources is greater than farm sales. What's more, many farmers on large farms have off-farm income, although more small farm operators work off-farm part of the time.

With new industries locating in the state, very often families on small farms are looking at the "green pastures across the fence" and wondering if one or more family members should take an off-farm job, according to D. G. Harwood, Jr., farm management specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service. This is no idle day dream, either; the decision is difficult to make. Employers usually establish a schedule of work which the part-time farmer must meet, and farm work may need to be done just when the off-farm job beckons.

Also, while the part-time farmer devotes much of his time and attention to his job away from home, other full-time farmers may become so efficient that the part-time farmer can no longer compete at the market.

Yet, research at N. C. State College indicates that non-farm work can come in handy as a means of increasing farm family incomes. For example, the typical Southern Piedmont farm family of five members (four of whom are 18 years of age or over) with about 25 acres of cropland could expect to earn only about $2,000 on the farm if substantial sums could not be invested in new buildings and equipment.

However, the same family could earn up to $10,000 each year if the four adult members could get off-farm jobs at $1.30 per hour. On the other hand, if substantial additional investment could be made to enlarge profitable enterprises, an equally large income can be made by using all the family labor on the farm. Non-farm work, or additional investment capital, or a combination of these, may be used to boost incomes on small farms.

Families on small farms have about three choices: (1) full time farming, (2) part time farming, and (3) full time non-farm jobs.

If the decision is made to devote full time to farming, large sums of money must be invested on small farms if family incomes are to be as high as the incomes of most non-farm families. However, since substantial risk is involved in making large investments on farms, it is not likely that many small farm operators are willing to greatly expand their farm operations. The farmer will likely prefer to organize his farm and family labor around some combination of both farm and non-farm work. This requires only a moderate expenditure of additional capital in the farm business, and still allows for increased income.

The proportion of families on small farms who are earning part of their incomes off the farm can definitely be expected to increase.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE VOTERS OF DAVIE COUNTY:

I want to tell the voters what I think about the way the bond election went. It was the biggest let down for the kids of this county that ever has been. I own about as much land and stuff as anybody in the county but I voted for it and I am glad I did because it is not on my mind that I tried to do the kids of this county out of anything. My girl cried herself to sleep last night over it and I have heard of a lot more that cried over it. It is a shame, a low down shame that the people of this county don't think any more of kids than that. I am not talking about the ones that voted for the bond. I thank them from the bottom of my heart for what they did. I am just sorry we could not do more. I hope that when these people go to bed at night they can see the children crying because they don't have a place to go to school that is as good as other counties have. I sure hope they don't sleep well. Just to think what you have done them out of for only a few dollars a year you sure won't gain anything by it. I don't know how few of you read the Bible but not many I don't think but if you do you will know what I am talking about. In God's eye you have stole from the kids of this county and you know what that means. We have the best kids in the world in this county and you have done them a wrong that they will never forget and I don't blame them of course they don't know who you are but in time they will know you because if you ever look them in the eye they can tell you from the rest. We have a fine Supt. Mr. Bird and a fine principal, Mr. S. Howell and good teachers and they have done a fine job in the school with nothing to do with. They could do wonders for our children if they had anything to do with. I want to thank them for what they are doing.

I don't want you to forget that you have stole from the children of this county and it will never be forgotten. I won't sign my name to this letter because the ones that sent the papers out against the bond issue was ashamed to sign theirs. After this is put in the paper I will come out with another letter and it will be signed not only by me but by lots of others.

I can not thank you for what you have done, because you have done wrong, but I thank the Lord I was not one of you.

AN HONEST MAN FROM DAVIE COUNTY

To: Editor

From: Taxpayer

Subject: School Bond Election

This letter is in reference to the school bond election that was defeated. I, as a taxpayer, sincerely hope that the one's that voted against the bond issue are happy with the outcome. To the students of Davie County I offer my sympathy as I know the passage of this issue meant a great deal to you. To the people that voted for the school bond I would like to give my praise for their support and interest in our children. To a certain few big wheels in town and around the county that supported the defeat and were against the bond issue I can find no sympathy in my heart for you. You are the ones with a lot of money and in big business, you have no interest in our children, just your almighty dollar. We who supported the bond issue know who you few are and who paid for the circulars that was signed "The Interested Taxpayers." You spent a lot of money just because you are greedy and want more. Well you can be sure of one thing, some of you won't be getting any business from me and a lot of other people I know of. From my letter you can tell I don't have very much education and that's why and the main reason I supported the school bond issue so that my children and others may have more privileges and facilities that I don't have. I would like to commend Mr. Bird for his efforts and interest in our children's welfare and education. Since you people voted against the bond issue and won, it would please me very much to see the County Commissioners appropriate the money for the schools and tax you big wheels about $2.50 per $100.00.

BURNT-UP TAXPAYER

Editor
Davie County Enterprise-Record
Mocksville, North Carolina
Dear Editor:

You are to be commended for your courageous stand and the noble campaign you conducted in behalf of the School Bond Issue. The shameful mud slinging of the "interested tax payers" succeeded in robbing the children of this County of a chance to be proud of their school. Instead, they can be ashamed of the adults of Davie County who love a dollar better than they love children.

I hope this defeat will not end the matter, but rather lend strength to our leaders to conduct an even stronger battle next time in the interest of better education.

Sincerely,
K. M. BAILEY
Rt. 2, Advance

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — Last week I prefaced the column by discussing why new civil rights legislation is unnecessary. I stated that there would be a continuation of the discussion of the report by the Civil Rights Commission in the column this week.

Four Civil Rights Proposals
Time and space preclude me from discussing the report in detail in this week's column. In subsequent columns I shall set forth my observations upon four of the proposals advocated by three of the commissioners and rejected by the other three commissioners.

The four proposals consist of the proposal that the Constitution of the United States be amended so as to deprive the states of their present constitutional power to prescribe the qualifications of voters; the proposal that all colleges, both public and private, be deprived of all Federal grants to coerce them into integrating their student bodies; the proposal that the Commission on Civil Rights be made a permanent governmental agency so that its staff may assist in bringing about the integration of all public schools in Southern states; and the proposal that all Federally assisted housing be integrated.

Three Commissioners Dissent
I wish to note at this point that Vice Chairman Storey and Commissioners Battle and Carlton, who are far more familiar with the South than the other three commissioners, entered vigorous dissents to these proposals. Commissioned Battle, a distinguished lawyer and former Governor of Virginia, stated that "the report... is not an impartial factual statement... but rather, in large part, an argument in advocacy of preconceived ideas in the field of race relations."

Solution of Racial Problems
It is relevant to observe that when all is said, racial problems can be solved only by good will, intelligence, and patience on the local level where men and women live, move, and have their being. Their solution cannot be dictated from above, either by dictators holding executive offices, or dictators occupying legislative offices, or dictators wearing judicial robes.

Oppose Compulsory Integration
For this and other reasons, I disagree with those who seek to compel the involuntary association of the races by executive action, judicial decree, or legislative fiat. Despite assertions by sincere persons, professional agitators, and political opportunists to the contrary, racial segregation is not the product of racial prejudice. It results from the exercise of a most precious American right — the freedom to select one's own associates. Observations in the North, the South, the East, and the West show that whenever Americans are at liberty to select their own associates, they virtually always select as their associates members of their own race. This is of strange because it harmonizes with little basic law of nature that like seeks like.

Compulsory integration is fundamentally wrong because it robs the people affected by it the freedom to select their own associates.

PLANNING FOR '60? ... One of the rumors growing out of the announced resignation of longtime Governor's secretary Ed Rankin to become associated with Publicist John Harden in a Raleigh office is that Rankin and Rankin will team up in 1960 to promote the man Luther Hodges decides to sponsor or promote to succeed him.

This gossip will no doubt be denied by the Governor, but it is nevertheless making the rounds. HEWLETT? ... There are even those who profess to think Governor Hodges will give the nod to Addison Hewlett of Wilmington. Point to them that Hewlett was not the Governor's man for Speaker; tell them that the Governor even offered Hewlett a Superior Court judgeship if he would back down at the last minute as a candidate for Speaker; and they come back with the statement that the man the Governor did back for Speaker—Carl Venter of Jacksonville — has come out for John Larkins and that Addison Hewlett once he became Speaker apparently worked hand in glove with the Governor on putting on the withholding tax, in getting that strange hybrid called "Minimum Wage" passed, and in opposing new tax schedules, etc. etc.

BEDFELLOWS ... On the other hand, however, it is significant that the Chief Supporter and Great Town Crier for Hewlett is one Clifton Blue of Aberdeen — and he the other day in his paper, "Sandhill Citizen," tore away at the Governor's administration on this score:

Blue said that many of these big industries which have been solemnly announced to the accompaniment of trumpets have just not come to pass. Too much froth and not enough substance, said Brer Blue, and he was a lot more specific than that. Which leads us to think that Hodges is going to find a strange bedfellow indeed if he crawls under the sheet with Blue. But this he must do if he aspires Add Hewlett.

THE SECONDS ... Those men who kick the wounds of candidates and give them soothing syrup between rounds are frequently as important in the vote-getting game as the contenders themselves. Who will they be next year?

It is frequently the case that their lives and fortunes extend far beyond the earthly journeys of those responsible for the high governmental or business plateaus they attain. Jim Farley is still hale and hearty and successful (Coca-Cola) 14 years after the death of FDR.

Emory B. Denny had been mayor of Gastonia and a political figure in Gaston County, but not much on the State scene until called by J. M. Broughton in 1940 to manage his campaign — for Governor. In 1942, E. B. Denny was named to the State Supreme Court by Governor Broughton — and there he is today, 17 years later and ten years after the death of the man who lifted him to statewide prominence. He has made a great justice — and has achieved other great honors.

Another State Supreme Court justice, Carlisle Higgins, was the manager for William B. Umstead in his successful race for Governor in 1952. Higgins was appointed to the Court when Sam Ervin was promoted from the Court to the U. S. Senate by Governor Umstead to succeed suddenly dead Clyde R. Hoey. That same year Umstead died.

Now the rumor mill has it that two of the chief seconds in Terry Sanford's corner will be Ben Roney and Roy Wilder. We would bet on this one, for they can do a lot to bring to Sanford the much needed and hungrily sought after remnants of the swiftly dwindling Kerr Scott strength. Since both worked for Scott and know the grass roots boys, this seems a natural.

They say Sandy Graham will manage John Larkins' campaign — and that Joe Branch of Enfield will be in Hewlett's corner. A report was current last week that Capus Wayne would second Good Friend A. Kirkman.

Be that as it may, or may not, you may be sure of this: A good job, prestige, etc., will come to the manager of the successful candidate.

NOTES ... Jonathan Daniels, editor of the News & Observer, has a new book just off the press and three others in the making. Glad to see Colonel Storey is finally gonna name that rooster. The hunt for industry in Europe begins at Raleigh - Durham Airport Oct. 31. The 43,000 people at Kenan Stadium Saturday for the Clemson - Carolina game was the largest for a season opener ever seen in North Carolina.

The next 80 days will be the best time to buy new cars... unloading the 59's to make room for the new 60's... Compare prices — and the best ocean fishing of the year will come between now and Thanksgiving. Take your hard stands for those big spots, Virginia mullets.

The two million dollar Campbell College drive is to develop it into a fine four year college to serve Eastern North Carolina. Baptists and fill the gap left by Wake Forest's move to Winston-Salem.

Members of the Big Four and their opponents amassed a total of 129 points in the opening games Sept. 19! Sometimes we haven't gone that high in half a season. Look for some wide open football this fall.

One of the signers of a big "call for national mourning" ad which appeared in several big city dailies the day Khrushchev landed in the U.S.A. was Congressman Alton A. Lennon of Wilmington. Of the 260 signatures, Lennon's was the only one we saw from Tarheelia.

After a season spent mostly away from His People, Governor Luther Hodges went back into action swinging Sept. 21 with 21 separate engagements for the week. Speeches, sweatings-in and what have you, mostly the latter.

We got this item from Laurinder and Cleaners Man Fred Dodge via Sam Ragan: "Breathes there a man who's so abnormal, he can't be moved by a low-cut formal?"

Incidentally, what is this we hear about a certain co-ed at one of our colleges to be featured in the mid-winter number of Playboy?

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "The devil tempts us not — till we tempt him" — George Eliot.

Little Billy and his sister, Patrice, each had an apple. Billy ate his quickly and said to his sister who had just polished hers, "Let's play Adam and Eve."

"How do we do that?" asked Patrice.

"Well," said Billy, "you tempt me to eat your apple, and I'll give in."

We like to excuse our faults by saying that we were tempted. That is not quite true. We aren't led into temptation, we lead ourselves. Our secret wish is to be tempted. That is why we see the opportunity to err whenever and wherever we look. We permit the seeds of our errors to lie within us. We keep them alive. We nurture them. Then we feign surprise when they spring into full bloom for everyone to see. We blame our "temptations." That is poppycock. Evil acts would never mature if we replaced our evil thoughts with constructive ones. But, because we refuse to shut evil thoughts out of our lives, we tempt evil to come in. We dare it. Why be surprised when it enters? Why should we try to blame our "temptations?" That is a convenient excuse. It is no reason. Let's face it. We invite our temptations.

A Plea To Hunters

A plea to hunters to be careful of stray shots was issued this week by A. W. MacDonald, manager of the Yadkin Valley Telephone Membership Corp.

Mr. MacDonald pointed out that every year stray shots and bullets damage telephone lines.

"These telephone lines and cables are owned by farmers and land owners. A farmer who comes home after a hard day's work and finds his electric service off and his telephone out of order because hunters were careless will be very unhappy and may not welcome the return of hunters on his property," said Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. MacDonald issued a request that hunters not shoot near telephone lines and pointed out that one shot can interrupt service to an entire community.

"We've seen the Falcon and OH BOY!"

GET READY for the nicest surprise of a motoring lifetime, when you see and drive the New-size Ford... the Ford Falcon.

Here's what you'll see... and experience...

1. An altogether new and smarter look in new-size cars.
2. More head room, leg room, hip room than you'd ever imagine in a car this size... and it seats six six-footers... takes all their luggage!
3. Free and easy get-in and get-out convenience. No windshield "dogleg"... it's been swept forward, out of the way! And door openings are big!
4. Big expanse of safety glass all around (it was pioneered by Ford!)... with visibility like you'd never believe in a car the Falcon's size!
5. Steers, parks, stops so effortlessly that no power assists are even necessary. And you can have the Falcon's own 2-speed Fordomatic Drive to make the going even nimbler!
6. Body and frame are of single-unit construction like the Thunderbird... makes it almost immune to rattles. For greatest upkeep economy, fenders are bolted on, grille is non-rusting aluminum, important underbody structures are heavily zinc-coated to resist corrosion through the years.
7. The Falcon's now undergoing a dramatic Experience Run, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U. S. highway, as the climactic test to 3 years and 3 million miles of research, development and testing.
8. Experience Run is now proving that the new Ford Falcon averages up to 30 miles per gallon of regular gas!
9. The new, 90-hp Falcon Six engine is up front, for greater stability and safety. And it's not an untried, experimental engine, but built on modern short-stroke principles that have been thoroughly proved and universally accepted by engine engineers.
10. The purchase price will be your first big savings. We can't tell you what it will be, just yet, but it will prove—right from the start—that the new Ford Falcon is your savest car. Come in now, for more details. We're accepting orders for the new Ford Falcon, right now!

Agriculture Conference Set For October 7th

Why do food processing plants locate where?

The man who has charge of operating 15 plants for one of the nation's leading food corporations will answer that question at an area-wide conference in Winston-Salem on Oct. 7.

George E. White, assistant general manager of the Birds Eye Frozen Foods Division of the General Foods Corporation, will be the opening speaker for the fifth agricultural conference sponsored by Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. Expected to attend are the bankers, farm leaders, and leading businessmen of Northwest North Carolina.

Other nationally known speakers on the program include Charles N. Shephardson, member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, and North Carolina's senior senator, Sam J. Ervin, Jr., of Morganton.

"The question Mr. White will answer is of considerable interest in this area," Meade H. Willis, Jr., Wachovia senior vice president, said, "because of efforts by community leaders to attract more markets for North Carolina farm products."

"With more facilities to process livestock and our food crops, per capita income in the area would increase substantially, and benefits to our economy would be widespread," Mr. Willis said in announcing plans for the day-long conference.

Theme for the conference, Mr. Willis said, is "Increasing Agricultural Income . . . In Production, In Processing and In Marketing."

He will preside at the morning session to be held in the ballroom of the Hotel Robert E. Lee. J. Kemp Doughton, member of the North Carolina General Assembly from Sparta, will introduce Mr. White and Dr. D. W. Colvard, dean of the school of agriculture at N. C. State College, will introduce Governor Shephardson.

At lunch on the ballroom roof of the hotel, John F. Wittington, Jr., president of Wachovia, will preside and Archie K. Davis, chairman of the board of the bank, will introduce Senator Ervin.

For the afternoon program the conference group will move to the Dixie Classic Fair to see the livestock exposition, exhibits of the agricultural and industrial life of the area and the grandstand thrillride. A dinner at the Forsyth Country Club will conclude the day's activities.

In charge of arrangements for the conference are John C. Richards, Jr., vice president, and William C. Gildewell, Jr., assistant vice president, in the bank's correspondent banking division, and Wayne A. Compens, vice president and manager of the agricultural department.

Meeting in conjunction with the conference will be the North Carolina Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. They will adjourn their annual meeting following lunch.

Birds Eye's 15 plants are located in 11 states, the nearest being at Pocomoke, Md. The company packs and freezes a large number of vegetable, poultry and other food products for nationwide distribution.

LOVELY AERIAL BALLET ARTISTS Appearing at Dixie Classic Fair . . . To look at the Honey Girls one would never suspect them of being members of a daredevil troupe, but they will appear with the Aut Swenson Thrillride at the Dixie Classic Fair, Oct. 6-10 in Winston-Salem.

These lovely acrobats will demonstrate their skill at Roman Steeplechase racing and a motorized ballet as well as the acrobatic feats that won them fame in their native Australia and earned them contracts for tours of South America, Europe and Canada.

As assistant general manager in charge of operations, Mr. White has the management responsibility for production, engineering, scheduling, quality control, purchasing and horticultural research. He has been associated with General Foods Corporation since 1929.

Governor Shephardson's entire career has been in the field of agriculture. Beginning in 1920 he was associate professor of animal husbandry at Colorado State College until moving to Texas A. and M. in 1928 as head of the dairy husbandry department. He was dean of agriculture there from 1944 to 1955 when he was appointed to the Board of Governors. He had previously been chairman of the Board of Directors of the Houston branch of Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

Senator Ervin began the practice of law in Morganton in 1922. He served in the General Assembly in 1923, 1925, and 1931, as judge of the Superior Court from 1937-43, as a Member of Congress from the Tenth N. C. District in 1946-47 and as associate justice of the N. C. Supreme Court, 1948-54, before his appointment as U. S. Senator in 1954. He was elected to the Senate later that year and re-elected in 1956 to a full six year term. He is a member of the Senate's Armed Services, Judiciary and Government Operations Committees as well as the Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field.

Clerk: "Did you kill any moths with those moth balls I sold you the other day?"

Customer: "No, I tried for three hours but I couldn't hit a one."

At the end of the wedding ceremony's little Sally tugged at her mother's arm. "Did the lady change her mind?"

"No, dear. What makes you think that?"

"Well, she went up the aisle with one man, and came back with another."

MRS. NELL H. LASHLEY

William Allen Whitaker, Jr., 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitaker, returned home Friday after undergoing an appendectomy last week at the Davie County Hospital.

E. C. Jarvis was honored Sunday on his 64th birthday anniversary with a picnic dinner on their lawn. Those enjoying the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis, the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Shove and family; Mrs. Clarence Weir, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Jarvis and families, all of Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jarvis of Conover; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Boger of Mocksville.

Mrs. J. F. Johnson has returned home after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Winkler in Hickory and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Johnson, Jr., in Charlotte.

Miss Ann Harding entered the City Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem last Thursday. She will be there for several days longer.

The old fashioned County Fair will be held on the school grounds Saturday of this week. Lots of exciting events are being planned for the occasion.

So you want Proof?

So you want religion proved to you?
You want proof that God loves, that Christ arose from the dead, that the Spirit works through His Church? You would like to believe, you say? But not without proof?

What you are saying, then, is that you would like a religion of cold logic.

But life is larger than logic. Love can not be analyzed in a test-tube. Loyalty can not be examined under a microscope. Beauty can not be weighed on a scale.

Are love and loyalty and beauty real? You can find out only by trying them.

So it is with contact between man and God. You must try the Church to perceive its worth. You must surrender to God to discover His love. You must kneel before the Cross to test its forgiveness.

Why not try a living faith? Start this Sunday and keep at it.

Wool Referendum

All ballots in the wool and lamb market development referendum must be voted not later than Wednesday, Sept. 30, according to J. G. Crawford, chairman of the Davie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The referendum is being conducted throughout the month of September to give all growers ample opportunity to vote. Ballots were mailed to all known wool and lamb producers. After the ballot is voted, it should be mailed or brought in person to the county office. If the ballot is mailed, it must be postmarked not later than Sept. 30.

In the referendum, farmers who produce wool have the opportunity to vote YES or NO on approval of a new agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council for the advertising and sales promotion of lambs and wool. If the agreement is approved, deductions will be made from government wool and lamb payments for the 1959, 1960 and 1961 marketing years to finance the Council's activities.

Deductions for this promotion program have been made each year since the wool incentive program began in 1955. Deductions amount to 1 cent per pound for shorn wool and 5 cents per hundredweight for unshorn lambs and may be no higher than that if the agreement is extended.

An eligible voter in the referendum is any individual, corporation, partnership, or legal entity which had an interest as owner or partial owner in one or more sheep six months of age or older for any period of at least 30 days from Jan. 1, 1959, until the day his ballot is cast.

Any wool grower who believes he is entitled to vote and has not received his ballot should notify the county ASC office.

Extension of the agreement requires a favorable vote by growers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum.

County ASC Committee To Be Elected

On Sept. 25th at 2 p.m. the delegates from the nine ASC communities in the County will meet in the auditorium of the Office Building and elect three county committeemen and two alternates for 1960. The Committee that is elected on the 25th will take office on Oct. 1.

The delegates are as follows:
N. Calahaln, J. W. Smoot

S. Calahaln, J. Lee Cartner, Jr. Clarksville; O. E. Driver N and S Farmington; Norman Riddle

West Farmington; Glenn Allen Fulton; C. G. Long Jerusalem; J. A. Miller Mocksville; Charlie G. Angell Shady Grove; Clarence Foster (Sam Talbert resigned).

1960 Conservation Reserve
The sign-up period under the Conservation Reserve Program has been extended from Sept. 10 to Sept. 30. Another change is that land operated by a tenant in 1958 and 1959 and will not be operated by a tenant in 1960 is eligible provided the tenant signs a statement that he left the farm voluntarily.

Farmers who are interested in putting land in the Conservation Reserve are urged to bring their crop acreage and yields for the past five years on the land which they wish to place in the Reserve. They should also be reminded of this 30th deadline.

Most of the nation's wheat producers grow less than 16 acres; but most of the wheat is produced on farms growing 100 or more acres.

WITH REVOLUTIONARY TORSION-SPRING SUSPENSION THAT GIVES ASTONISHING NEW SHOCKPROOF ACTION !!!!!

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America!

First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil rear springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it—a ride you have to feel to believe. A ride that lets you move faster to get more work done in a day's time.

Brawnier bulldozer build!

Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs!

Easier to hop in and out of too. Many models are a whole 7 inches lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, plus more width for shoulders and hips. More real comfort!

Big in the power department!

With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high-torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights. With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in L.C.F.'s.

More models than ever!

1,240 new roller-bearing freight cars!

THE SOUTHERN, first major rail system in the United States to be completely dieselized, will soon put forty-eight new diesel-electric freight locomotive units in service. These locomotives, now on order, will incorporate all of the latest technological improvements in diesels and add tremendous new "muscles" to our present modern, up-to-date fleet of diesel power.

This fall, too, deliveries will start on 1,240 new roller-bearing gondola and covered-hopper freight cars. 1,205 of these cars will be of new composite aluminum-steel construction, each with a carrying capacity of 100 or more tons. This is the railroad industry's first big order for this type of rolling stock and represents a pioneering break-through in the large-scale use of lightweight, corrosion-resistant materials in freight car construction.

It will take a lot of money to pay for all this new equipment — more than $38 million. But they will be dollars well spent, for they will help provide the better-than-ever mass transportation so necessary to the continued economic well-being and growth of the territory we serve.
