Davie Loses First To Mooresville By 33-0

The injury riddled Davie High School football team will journey to Monroe Friday night to take on the undefeated Monroe eleven.

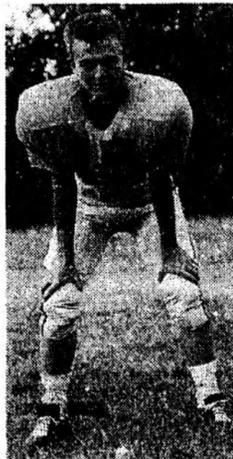

ED BOWLES -Tackle-

Coach Jack Ward said that he had nine on the injured list early this week, but was hoping to have some of these in playing condition by Friday night.

Coach Jack Ward said that he had nine on the injured list early this week, but was hoping to have some of these in playing condition by Friday night.

Last Friday night the strong unbeaten Mooresville eleven erupted for four touchdowns in the second quarter and stunned previously unbeaten Davie by 33 to 0 in a showdown for the North Piedmont Conference lead.

LARRY SMITH -Halfback-

Versatile Jim Deaton, one of the most elusive runners on the high school football scene, scored on runs of 63 yards and 60 yards and passed to Ed Mayhew 17 and 43 yards for touchdowns to lead Mooresville to victory.

After holding their own with Mooresville during the first quarter, the Rebels seemed to fall apart following Deaton's 63 yard run early in the second quarter.

The Rebels, handicapped by injuries, never played up to previous form. Davie made only three touchdowns as compared to nine for Mooresville and were held to 35 yards rushing while Mooresville rolled up 151 yards.

Bank Application Hearing To Be Held In Raleigh, October 19

Hearing Held Thursday At Local Court House

The application of Durham Bank and Trust Company to establish a branch in Mocksville will be heard by the State Banking Commission at its regular quarterly meeting to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 11 a.m., in Room 316, Motor Vehicles Building in Raleigh.

Ben R. Roberts, Commissioner of Banks, said that any and all interested would be heard.

Commissioner Roberts conducted a hearing on this application in the courtroom at Mocksville at noon last Thursday.

Paul Wright, Jr., President of the Durham Bank and Trust Co., told the commissioner and those present that "citizens of Davie have invited us to locate a bank in Mocksville."

Mr. Wright said that they had investigated the area and believed that another bank would help Mocksville to grow and progress.

That competition would be helpful to the Bank of Davie and make it a better bank. He said that if the application was approved the Durham Bank and Trust Company would place their main office here.

Mr. Wright then called on various citizens who made statements in favor of the Durham Bank and Trust Company locating here.

Those making such statements included: Wade Groce, Gilbert Boger, Kenneth Hoots, John Caudle, Tom Rice, Arthur Baker, Tom Tutterow (by affidavit), Woodrow Wilson, M. H. Murray, D. J. Mando, E. C. Morris, R. C. Smith (by letter), E. W. Junker, Bill Merrill, George Martin, W. T. Bird, John Frank Garwood, and M. H. Groce.

Bill Byrnes, vice president of the Durham Bank and Trust Co., summed up the case by citing the record of the bank and of how it could contribute to the growth of this area.

Knox Johnstone, President of the Bank of Davie, called on A. W. John T. Brock to present the case against the new bank locating here.

Mr. Brock said that the volume of banking business here was not sufficient to warrant another bank and that the present facilities of the Bank of Davie were adequate.

"The majority of people here have confidence in the existing bank, the present facilities are adequate and banks in other cities are available," said Mr. Brock.

A. V. A. T. Grant made reference to past history and pointed out that two banks had failed here. He also said that banks in other cities were available to those who were not satisfied with the Bank of Davie.

Mr. Johnstone also called on the following citizens to testify that they were well pleased with the service being rendered by the Bank of Davie: Dr. W. M. Long, S. McEwen, Paul Jones, J. W. Hill, and H. R. Hendrix, Jr.

John Johnstone, Cashier, concluded the hearing by pointing out the various services being rendered by the Bank of Davie.

Mail Volume Reaches All-Time High During Past Fiscal Year

A new all-time high in the nation's mail volume was reached during fiscal year 1960 ending June 30, which continued the steady upward trend of the past seven years at a rate which even exceeds the population growth, according to advance information from the Annual Report of the Post Office Department which has been made available to Postmaster Worl Hendricks.

Although subject to last minute revisions, the year's total has been estimated as 63.6 billion pieces of mail which includes about one billion pieces of parcel post. It was stated that this would mean an increase of nearly 25 per cent over the corresponding figures for 1953 when the annual volume was 50.9 billion pieces.

During this same period, it was pointed out, the revenue of the Department also has shown an impressive gain with an increase from $2,091,714,000 in fiscal year 1953 to $3,276,800,000 for fiscal year 1960.

"There is not much we can do about how much mail we have to handle from day to day or how many people are making use of the Postal Service," the Postmaster stated, "but the whole Department keeps busy in devising ways and means for doing the job not only more efficiently but more economically. As I recall it, that was the way President Eisenhower outlined the principal objectives of the Department when Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield was being sworn in back in 1953, and that's the way we have been operating ever since.

"We can't deny that we still make mistakes and that the human element still plays a vitally important part in daily operations, but the statistics in the Department's annual report offer positive proof that we are making progress on a nation-wide basis. As an example, while the total volume showed an increase of 16 billion pieces handled annually, the employment increase during the same period amounted to only 11 per cent.

"By way of explanation, it should be mentioned that the employment figures — based on thousands of man-years — are first worked out under two separate headings, city carriers, and all other, and then combined for the overall percentage figures just mentioned for fiscal 1960.

"It should also be mentioned that there has been a steady and substantial increase in city carriers' each year as compared with 1953, ranging from 4.5 per cent in 1954 to 25.2 per cent in 1960.

The home was decorated for the occasion with fall flowers. Arrangements of yellow marigolds were used in the living room.

The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white and yellow chrysanthemums, flanked by white candles. The table also held a tiered wedding cake, topped with bride and groom figurines. Mrs. Lewis Beck cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. John Seaford served yellow fruit punch. Nuts and mints were also served.

The wedding party, families, and close friends of the couple, who were married on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 2, attended the party.

After a wedding trip, the bride will make her home with her parents until the bridegroom's discharge from the Army.

Now is the time to prepare for the cold weather coming up by providing shelter for your cows on cold, frosty nights. Dairy men talk about cows drying up, but a lot of the time she freezes up.

Give Calves Needed Attention
Helfer calves by the hundreds are being dropped on Davie County dairy farms during these late summer and fall months. These calves will be the dairy cows to be added to the herds two years from now.

A recent program adopted by the American Dairy Science Association and the American Veterinary Medical Association includes these 13 rules for raising healthy calves:
1. Raise calves in individual calf pens.
2. Keep pens clean and sanitary.

7. Allow the cow to lick the calf following birth.
8. Develop a sound vaccination program.
9. Remove extra teats early.
10. Dehorn early.
11. Use only clean, sanitary utensils.

Diseases caused by nematodes are costing fine cured growers more money than any other tobacco disease. In 1959 root knot and other nematodes reduced the value of the crop an estimated 1.8 per cent, a loss of over 7 million dollars.

Root knot, meadow and stunt are the three groups of nematodes that attack tobacco. Root knot nematodes are considered to be the most important and are a threat on practically every fine cured tobacco farm in the state. Meadow nematodes are present on about 80 per cent of the tobacco farms but generally do not cause as much damage to the crop as root knot.

More About Post Office

the latest estimates. This increase has been essential to keep pace with the ever-expanding growth of established cities as well as the establishment of new ones. City delivery service has been started in 800 communities in addition to the extension of literally hundreds of routes which were already in operation.

"There is perhaps no better way of demonstrating the Department's ever improving efficiency than by showing just how steadily the annual volume handled per man-year of employment — excluding city carriers — has been increasing since 1953. In that year the total handled by one man was 132,000 pieces of mail. For 1960 the corresponding figure was 157,000.

"It is, of course, true that all the additional service has made necessary to take on many new employees and that our total increased from 505,620 in 1953 to 562,868 on June 30, 1960, but as pointed out in the original 1960 report figures, the workload increase during this same period was nearly 26 per cent.

"To my way of thinking that's the story in a nutshell and I seriously doubt if there has ever been a story just like it in the entire history of the Post Office Department. I am also of the opinion that it would be impossible to overemphasize the importance of this story — not only for today's operations but for the years that lie ahead.

"In a recent speech on this subject by the Postmaster General he brought out that by 1970 our population is expected to be 208,000,000 and that our annual mail volume by then will be more than 90 billion pieces. The U. S. Bureau of Standards, an entirely separate organization estimates that our mail volume will be doubled within the next 25 years, and it all fits into the same picture.

Included among items cited by the Postmaster as recent accomplishments by the Department were the following:
Established the first large-scale program of automatic mail handling by machinery on a nation-wide basis.

Developed the "airlift" program which speeds up the delivery of approximately one letter out of every 17 on a "space available" basis.

Continued with the development of faster machines for letter sorting, parcel post sorting, and for mail culling, facing and cancelling.
Continued with plans for a new "automatic postal sub-station," which will vend stamps, envelopes, post cards and writing paper, and which will have money changers for both coins and bills.

Results of experiments and farm demonstrations indicate that certain management practices, such as plowing out tobacco stubbles immediately following harvest and the rotation of tobacco with nematode resistant crops, will give good nematode control.
Immediate control can be obtained with a soil fumigant. Many growers started using soil fumigants in the early 1950's and are afraid to discontinue its use for fear of nematode damage.

Control Methods
Fall cultural practices consist of plowing out tobacco stubbles immediately after harvest.
Crop rotation offers an effective method of nematode control but has the disadvantage of being slow.
Soil fumigation is the only method that gives immediate control.

More About Many Counties To

The 1960 tax rate decreases were typical of recent years. Generally, a number of counties experience a rate reduction following a revaluation, and others have a decrease for other reasons. Looking at total tax rates, nine counties have a rate of $2 or more, the same as in 1959. Eleven counties have a rate of less than $1, compared to 12 in 1959. The counties with rates under $1 are not necessarily carrying a lower tax load than counties with higher rates; they have more up to date property valuations and higher assessment ratios.

As has been true every year, school appropriations continue to dominate the county property tax picture. Practically every county finds it necessary to provide for larger public school appropriations each year. Some counties can absorb larger appropriations because they have larger total valuations, resulting from the construction or acquisition of additional property. Other counties, however, find it necessary to increase the rate. Between two-thirds and three-fourths of all counties have had an increase in rate in recent years for this reason.

The importance of school appropriations in the county tax picture is apparent from the fact that today, more than half of the total county property taxes collected go to the public schools. And more than half of the counties devote over 50 per cent of their property tax revenue to the public schools in the county. These taxes build, maintain, and operate city schools as well as schools in rural areas.

LOOK WHAT DODGE HAS DONE FOR COMPACTS

The name, Lancer: one hardtop; one 2-door sedan; two 4-door sedans; two wagons. What kind of cars are they? This kind: two feet shorter; many pounds leaner; a couple of hundred dollars less in cost than usual automobiles. Lancer welcomes a family of six lavishly. Has plenty of trunk. Its fully-unitized body is very quiet, very tough. Lancer is also mannerly. It corners decisively, takes a well scarred road with aplomb. Parks obediently. More reasons to buy? Read on. The interiors are rich, but simple: Shed soil, wear well, feel good. The engine is highly spirited, but extremely light on regular gasoline. One more thing, Lancer is built by Dodge. Our name is on it. This means Lancer will stay nice and shiny. How so? The body is rustproofed by an exclusive Chrysler Corporation process. Enough talk. Meet Lancer at your Dodge Dealer. Now.

Religious Prejudice

Each day through the mail this newspaper is receiving literature aimed at turning people against Senator John F. Kennedy because of his religion. Most of such literature bears such ignominious titles as "Church-State News," "Committee to Preserve Religious Freedom," and the like.

Recently one minister of the area brought in a piece of literature designed to stir up hate, fear and distrust against Senator Kennedy because he is a Catholic. This minister bitterly resented receiving such literature and said so.

Although practically all of the national leaders, including President Eisenhower and the Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon, have urged that the religion of a man not be made a part of this campaign, religion more and more seems to be becoming the crucial issue, especially in the South.

People before they allow themselves to become the victims of bigotry and prejudice, should certainly do some personal soul-searching. Do we believe that a man should be denied the opportunity of becoming the President of the United States because of the religious faith in which he was baptized at birth? How does God look up on this matter?

Some of the ones so anxious to make religious prejudice such a vital part of the 1960 Presidential campaign would do well to combine some logical religious reasoning with some historical research. For example:

In 1928 we find the situation of a Catholic and a Quaker running for the office of the presidency of the United States. We also find that Al Smith was fought because he was a member of the Catholic Church and most historians say that his defeat was due in a large part because of his religion. Do we find that the people of the United States were blessed for their rejection of a Catholic in 1928? Were not the next four years some of the bleakest in our history as the result of a depression? And what section of the country suffered the worst during this depression? Wasn't it the section where the religious prejudice ran most rampant... THE SOUTH? And let us look at North Carolina.

Prior to 1928 the most powerful political figure in North Carolina was Senator Furnifold Simmons. He had assembled the nearest thing to a political machine this state had even known. He had little or no trouble in getting elected and re-elected to the Senate.

Senator Simmons could not support a Catholic for the presidency, he said when Al Smith was nominated in 1928. He bolted the party and worked for Herbert Hoover and because of this the State of North Carolina, for the only time in recent history, went Republican. What happened to Senator Simmons? When he sought re-election he was defeated and his political days were over.

The president of the United States should be selected on the basis of his qualifications for that office and not be discriminated against because of the church to which he belongs. Each and every citizen has the solemn obligation to carefully study the men and the issues, and to work and vote for the man believed to be the best qualified to lead America.

Religious prejudice has no place in the life of any American that professes to believe in the Christian philosophy.

Creative Thinking

The ability to think creatively is not the secret of the happy, successful few but a talent possessed by all which can be cultivated by study and practice. So reports Blake Clark in an October Reader's Digest article, "You Can Learn to Think Creatively."

Some 100 leading industrial firms and many colleges now give some form of creative problem-solving courses and some 150,000 persons have taken them with demonstrable results.

You learn to think more creatively just as you learn to write, paint or play ball, the experts—by doing so. Course work consists of solving problems. Classes usually begin with a few mental limbering-up exercises.

For example, "How would you arrange four 9's to add up to 100?" the instructor may ask. About one person in ten gets this after wrestling with it five minutes. How many uses can you think of for a brick, other than for building? Beginners usually come up in five minutes with six or eight ideas.

The first principle of creative thinking is to define the problem. It is not necessarily to make a boy eat eggs but to see that he gets enough protein. If he doesn't like eggs, other foods will do.

Next step is to think of all possible solutions and to delay discouraging criticism. A self-quiz on creativity includes questions like: "Other Uses? Borrow or adapt? What Other Shape? More So? Less So? Substitutes? Rearrange? Reverse? Combine?"

Teachers and students agree, says the Digest article, that the most important benefit from a course in creative thinking is the change in one's mental attitude. Solving poser after poser, students stop fearing problems, gain confidence in their ability to solve them and even come to welcome them.

Fire Safety in the Home

Every 15 seconds fire breaks out somewhere in the United States.

Last year fires took the lives of 11,300 people and caused property damage totaling $1,047,073,000. Too many of these fires were in homes—around 800 a day. Most of them never should have happened.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates that three-fourths of all fires are the result of human carelessness and forgetfulness.

How can you prevent fire in your home? The answer is clear. Get rid of fire hazards. Here are some suggestions:

1. Check your basement and throw out old newspapers and magazines, oily rags, old furniture, and rubbish which may have collected there. These are the things on which fires feed.
2. Check your attic, and throw out old clothing, discarded furniture and other combustibles that would provide dangerous tinder if a fire should occur.
3. Keep your oil mop in a metal container or in a safe, well-ventilated place where it cannot catch fire by spontaneous ignition. Throw away oil-soaked polishing rags or waste after using.
4. If you have paint or varnish in the house, keep it in tightly closed containers. Gasoline, benzine or other flammable fluids should never be used for cleaning. Gasoline for lawnmowers or outboard motors should be kept in approved metal containers in an outbuilding or the garage.
5. Keep your broiler in the kitchen range free from grease. Many kitchen fires break out in broilers where grease has been permitted to accumulate.
6. If there is a window near the stove, make sure that the curtains do not blow over the burners.
7. When you buy electrical equipment, employ a qualified electrician to install it or to extend wiring.
8. Check your electrical appliances to make sure wiring on electric irons, lamps, fans, heaters, mixers, radios and television sets is not frayed or worn. Short circuits can cause fires.

9. Provide enough electrical outlets in all rooms to obviate the need for multiple attachments plugs and long extension cords.

10. Use only 15 ampere fuses in the fuse box on all regular household lighting circuits. The purpose of a fuse is to blow if the circuit becomes overloaded, and by using too large a fuse, or inserting a penny behind a blown-out one you are inviting trouble.

11. If you use a portable oil or gas heater, always turn it off when you retire at night. Place it so it cannot tip over and curtains and drapes cannot blow against it. And keep a window partly open while the heater is in use. Too many deaths occur each year when such heaters are operated in closed rooms where carbon monoxide accumulates and snuffs out lives.

12. Keep matches on high shelves or in places where they are out of reach of small children.

13. If there are smokers in your house, keep plenty of ash trays in every room, and empty them often.

14. Make sure that no member of your family smokes in bed.

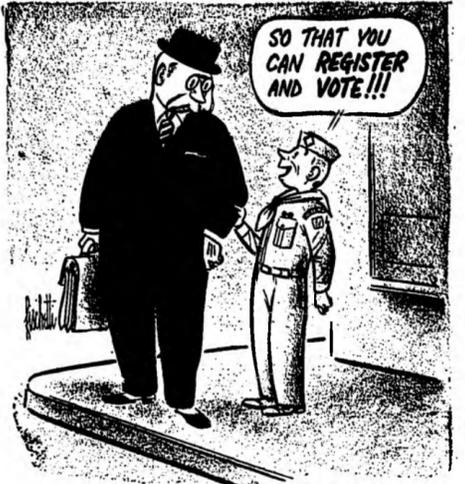

15. Have the telephone number of the fire department readily available beside the phone and tell all members of the family where it is.

16. Finally, draw up a plan of escape from your home, should it catch fire. Work out two plans of escape, particularly from upstairs bedrooms. If one way of exit is blocked, you have the alternate to use.

If you follow these hints, you have taken a big step toward making your home fire safe.

The three principal types of tea are black, oolong, and green. To make black tea, planters allow the leaves to wither and ferment before they are dried. Oologongs are partially fermented, green teas not at all. All three kinds may come from the same bush.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

The world has been abuzz at the comings and goings of its leaders here at the United Nations. But two men, at least, were blithely unaware of the significance of what was going on — at least that was the way they acted. Mrs. Joe Docter, widow of an old friend of mine, observed these to individuals through binoculars from her window at the edge of the East River where the Russian ship, Ballika, was anchored nearby. The two in question were acetylene torch operators working from a barge and sinking steel girders into the East River for a big marine garage. As Premier Khrushchev and his party sailed by, these two men couldn't have cared less. According to the alert Mrs. Docter, the two did not even look up from their work when the Russians passed. They carried their torch—only for America.

Delbert Mann is an exception to the rule. He is a successful movie director, yet just as democratic as he was as a Vanderbilt University student back in Tennessee. Delbert won an Academy Award in Hollywood, but has made his home in New York, although the film capital nowadays calls him most of the time. His latest film, "The Dark at the Top of the Stars" has won critical acclaim, and it couldn't happen to a nicer director. For "Del," as his friends — and they are many — call him, has a pretty and capable wife, four children and a home in Beverly Hills that is something out of a movie itself. I have known Del for several years now, and feel there should be more movie people like him.

When I go out of New York, I am impressed by the number of public libraries which bear the name of Carnegie. This smart little Scotchman of half a century ago, felt that he who dies rich dies disgraced. So he proceeded to give his huge fortune away, mostly to local libraries which would be supported by their communities after they were established. At the close of his big deal with J. P. Morgan in 1901 when the Carnegie steel empire was sold to form the United States Steel Co., Morgan extended his hand and said, "Mr. Carnegie, I want to congratulate you on being the richest man in the world." Having half a billion dollars was not so bad, even in those days.

The most famous song writer in the world is a lonely man. He is Richard Rodgers and I once heard him and Oscar Hammerstein, II, tell how they wrote songs. Quite a job too, such hit musicals as "Oklahoma," "The King and I," and "South Pacific." Now Oscar has passed away and Richard is alone and wants to stay that way. He has always worked with some one else who wrote the words and then he would do the music for really great popular songs, perhaps the best of all time. But Richard can think of no one who could take his late partners place so he has chosen to do both jobs himself.

Down in the Wall Street section there is a little cemetery which holds the remains of the man who was responsible for Wall Street and our whole business system — Alexander Hamilton. A few blocks away in the Chase Manhattan Bank are the pistols which ended Hamilton's life when Aaron Burr plugged him on the banks of the Hudson River on July 11, 1804. These pistols originally belonged to the brother in law of Hamilton, Col. John B. Church, who recommended that they be used in the famous duel. Church had previously used them in a duel with Burr himself and knocked the buttons off the latter's coat. But Hamilton was less successful.

Here and There: The United Nations budget for 1960 is 63 million dollars, of which the United States pays one third. Yet we spent 335 million dollars for chewing gum for the same period, or about five times as much. Guy Lombardo wants to introduce new dance bands around the country, which are now locally active but otherwise unknown.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Laws do not persuade just because they threaten." — Seneca.

The Judge was angry. "What possible excuse can you give for acquitting this man of second degree murder?" he demanded. "Insanity," replied the jury foreman. "What!" exclaimed the judge. "All twelve of you?"

The law does not guarantee justice. Another short-coming of the law is found in the endeavor to use it to make people happy or good. Who gives any of us the right to force other people to find happiness or satisfaction in living, in the manner we find it? The greatest Teacher the world has known never attempted to pass laws to force men to live as He admonished them, although He knew they would be happier and better when they did. Rather, He instructed His followers to "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." The responsibility for moral living was not placed under man's laws. It was the duty of His followers to so teach and live that others, of their free will would follow Him. Somehow, we can't help wondering if we are not admitting our failure to preach, teach, and live morally attractive lives, when we resort to passing laws to make men "happy" or morally responsible to their fellow men.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Our country has grown strong and prosperous on two opposite sets of facts—Democrat and Republican. Judging from what I read in the papers and hear on radio, both parties is making up the business statistics as they go along, sorter bending history to suit the campaign. Calls to mind the story about the old kingfish politician that was on his death bed. He called for his two oldest political lieutenants and they were mighty touched to be so honored. One stood on one side of the bed and the other on the other side, holding the weak old man's hands. "Is there anything you want us to do?" asked one of them. "No," mumbled the old man. "Just stand like you are. I want to die like Christ died—between two thieves."

To hear the Democrats tell it, if they win in November the farmers is going to have so much prosperity they'll be using white sidewall tires on their tractors. If the Republicans get it, they're going to put some penicillin and chloroform in our gasoline for us.

The various candidates says so little and expresses it so elegant that I stay confused. Frankly, I ain't expecting too much from either side. I just want folks to be well off enough to live without borrowing, and pore enough not to get too uppity. I'll be happy if we get enough out of the November elections to make both ends meet. At one time, when I was young and had more faith, I lived for the day when the ends would overlap a little bit, but I've give up on that goal. I'm supporting both sides and pushing hard down the middle and hoping for the best. That's about as "right" as a voter can get and I figger if they pass out any pie I ought to get some.

I see where one Congressman wants to change the immigration laws so's we can take more foreigners into this country. That's pretty smart thinking. It'll be a heap cheaper to take care of them if we get 'em over ere with us. This feller ain't from my Congressional District but I think I'll give him a write-in vote anyhow.

Well, Mister Editor, you can look for politics to get plenty hot in the next couple weeks. I come to town Saturday, stuck out my hand to make a left turn and two candidates shook it afore I could get around the corner.

I was reading Sunday where one of them column writers said 85 cents of ever dollar spent in this country was spent by wimmen. I was mighty glad to get them statistics and went right away and ask my old lady what she'd been doing with my 15 cen's change all these years.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

RECKLESS... Headline from Saturday morning's Raleigh News and Observer: "Sanford Calls Gavin Reckless Campaigner." Headline from Sunday morning's Charlotte Observer: "Nixon: Kennedy Reckless."

PREDICTIONS... The 17 spor writers visiting the teams which make up the Atlantic Coast Conference predicted in late summer — just before the season began — that Wake Forest and Carolina would be the top elevens in the group.

Carolina lost its first two games — o N. C. State and Miami. Wake Forest lost its first two games — to Clemson and Florida State.

PERCENTAGE... Democrats for weeks now have been blowing their top at Robert Gavin's statement that he would support an increase of 60 per cent in pay for teachers if elected Governor.

A Republican friend of ours remarked recently that "it is almost impossible to outpromise a Democrat — but this is one time where we've certainly done it."

Be that as it may, a Democratic Oldtimer hereabouts said he doubted that Gavin understands percentage — said it reminded him of the college football star who was having so much trouble with math. Finally, his professor told him he was going to be forced to bust him out of school if he did not do better. He did no better — and was soon out of school for "scholastic difficulties," as the papers put it.

REMEMBRANCE... Overheard in a N. C. City recently: "Your trouble, man, is you just don't remember the last depression. Southern Dairies was giving away milk — giving it away! I tell you. These pore little children come along with their cans and buckets. They looked pitiful — didn't have on enough clothes to clean a gun barrel."

TRAVELERS... While I was at the Raleigh Bus Station last Sunday buying some morning papers, I noticed a whole flock of little ladies about 10-11 years old milling about buying post cards. It was easy to see — and to hear — they were from up North somewhere. I inquired.

"We are from Rockland, Maine," said one little girl, "and we are on our way to Savannah, Georgia, home of the first Girl Scout troop in America."

VACANCY... If that vacancy on the State Supreme Court should come between now and January, it will likely be filled by Malcolm Seawell, unsuccessful candidate for Governor now practicing law in Raleigh and Chapel Hill. If it should come after that time, don't be surprised if the place is given to Irving Carlyle of Winston-Salem, former State Senator, veteran attorney, and great and good friend of Bert Bennett and Terry Sanford.

To teach something you don't know is like coming back from somewhere you haven't been.

Today is the day in which to express your noblest qualities of mind and heart, to do at least one worthy thing which you have long postponed.

People who are so sure they know where the younger generation is going should try to remember where it came from.

Don't use a gallon of words to express a spoonful of thought.

NEWS BUREAU... Son of a N. C. Baptist minister is Graham A. Martin, who last week was appointed by President Eisenhower as U. S. representative to the United Nations European Office in Geneva, Switzerland.

Martin, 48, will have the rank of ambassador — as a salary of approximately $25,000 per annum.

At the time he was at Wake Forest — he graduated there in 1932 — he was prominent in publications and assisted Prof. J. L. Memory, Jr. in the News Bureau. His father was pastor of the Denton Baptist Church in Davidson County.

FRIDAY! THE GREATEST SIXTY-ONE DERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear — the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14% higher — just right for seeing, just right for sitting.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide praises for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupes, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too — front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely — what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details that make this sensationally sensible '61 Chevy a new measure of your money's worth.

There's never been a trunk like it before! The floor's recessed more than half a foot and the loading height is as much as 10½ inches lower.

ASC News

ASC Wool Payment Nearly Complete

Payments to wool producers under the ASC Wool Incentive Program for 1959 are completed in just about every county in the State. According to H. D. Godfrey, Administrative Officer for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, these payments amounted to 43.2 per cent of the net return each producer received from the sale of shorn wool during the 1959 Marketing Year.

Godfrey explained that under the Wool Incentive Program farmers market their wool through the normal channels obtaining the best possible price for their production. At the end of the marketing year the Department of Agriculture determines the National average price obtained by all wool growers in the country for their wool. This 43.2 per cent figure he said is the percentage required to bring the National average price up to the 82c per pound incentive level. After all farmers have sold their wool for the marketing year and provided they made application they will receive a payment from their local ASC county office equal to 43.2 per cent of their net proceeds from wool for the year.

This program is something of a contrast to the several programs operated by ASC in North Carolina which tend to reduce production of certain commodities since this program was designed specifically to increase production of wool. This increase is necessary, Godfrey explained because wool is an essential strategic commodity which is not produced in sufficient quantity to meet our needs.

According to Godfrey, wool is produced commercially in 93 of the 100 counties in this State. He estimated that incentive payments for the 1959 Marketing Year will be in the neighborhood of $100,000 in this State.

Conservation Through ACP

North Carolina farmers last year spent more than $13 million for insurance against vital farm-land washing or blowing away. According to W. E. Matthews, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, the Federal Government, through the Agricultural Conservation Program, paid back to them on a share the cost basis $6.8 million of this.

The Federal Government shares with farmers up to one-half of the out of pocket cost of carrying out conservation practices in recognition of the fact that conservation of the Nation's agricultural resources is the Nation's responsibility, not just the responsibility of the farmers who at the present time are farming the land.

"All of us should be grateful to these farmers who are spending their own money to assure today's children that they will have sufficient food and fiber in future years," Matthews said. "We should also be thankful that the Congress 24 years ago saw fit to pass the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act which has permitted the ACP to accomplish near miracles in preserving our resources for today and for tomorrow."

There are several types of conservation practices under the ACP that are available to farmers in this State. In addition to the all important vegetative cover practices, there are several types of drainage practices, forestry practices, water conservation practices providing for the construction of farm ponds, and others. The principle which permits the Federal Government to pay part of the cost of carrying out these practices is based on the fact that every one of these practices is designed to conserve the vital topsoil, which once lost can never be regained, and to conserve the

With extra miles per gallon... quicker-than-ever cold-start warmup so you start saving sooner... a new extra-cost optional heater that warms everybody evenly. Riding along with this extra economy: more room inside for you, more room up front for your luggage (sedans and coupes have nearly 12% more usable trunk space).

And our new wagons? You'll love them—think they're the greatest thing for families since houses. The Lakewood Station Wagon does a man-sized job with cargo, up to 68 cubic feet of it. The Greenbrier Sports Wagon you're going to have to see—it gives you up to 175.5 cubic feet of space for you and your things. Compare that with any other U.S. wagon going!

Corvair's whole thrifty lineup gets its pep from a spunkier 145-cu.-in. air-cooled rear engine. Same rear-engine traction, same smooth 4-wheel independent-suspension ride. See the polished and refined 1961 Corvair first chance you get at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Spare tire is in the rear in coupes and sedans—leaving more luggage space up front.

Even middle-seat passengers sit pretty, thanks to Corvair's practically flat floor.

Now in production—the GREENBRIER SPORTS WAGON with up to twice as much room for people and things as ordinary wagons (shown with optional-at-extra-cost third seat in position).

You Must Be Registered

Registration books will be open in this and 94 counties of North Carolina during the period of October 15-29. In six counties, where the loose-leaf permanent registration system is used, the final date for registration will be October 17.

Governor Luther Hodges recently issued a statement urging that every effort be made to make sure that every eligible citizen in North Carolina be registered for voting in the General Election on November 8th.

Governor Hodges pointed out that there are over two and one-half million citizens eligible to vote in North Carolina. However, only about one-half of these voted in the Presidential election in 1956. There are two reasons for this failure — failure to register and lack of concern for public affairs.

"It has been estimated that there are approximately one-half million unregistered voters in North Carolina. The registration of these citizens is a great civic challenge and responsibility. As Governor, I wish that every citizen of this State could understand that one of the most precious privileges of American citizenship is voting by secret ballot in free elections," said Governor Hodges.

Four fifths of the world have no voice in the government in which they live. But when we as Americans compare our voting record with that of other free countries, it comes as a shock to realize that our turnout is far below theirs. Fifteen free countries have voting percentages from 95 per cent to 67 per cent in recent elections in comparison to the United States' 51 per cent in 1948, 62 per cent in 1952, and 60 per cent in 1956.

To be able to cast a ballot, the potential voter must be registered. In the 1956 Presidential election, some forty million Americans did not register and were therefore unable to vote. Every vote is important . . . elections have been won by less than one vote per precinct.

This newspaper joins with Governor Hodges in urging that all citizens study the true issues of this campaign . . . be informed . . . register and vote.

Russians Won't Plow Us Under

The Russians won't "plow the United States under" for a long time, thanks to the American farmers, says R. B. Tootell, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration.

Tootell points out that the underlying strength of this country is the efficiency of farmers. "It takes less than ten per cent of our working force to produce abundant food and fiber for us, plus considerable for other countries. In Russia it takes 48 per cent," he explains.

"In this county more than 90 per cent of our people are available to produce the things that make up our high standard of living and the equipment needed for a strong defense. An hour of industrial labor buys more and better food here than in any other country of the world.

"Farmers have rapidly increased their efficiency by substituting large amounts of capital for labor. Capital invested per farm worker has increased about five times since 1940. The additional capital has gone into enlarging and improving farms, modern farm machinery, and the adoption of the most advanced technology.

"While farmers have financed much of these changes from their own savings, they have been blessed with an ample supply of the right kind of credit. The cooperative Farm Credit System has been the pace setter in adopting credit terms to farmers' needs and keeping the cost at reasonable levels.

"This system now supplies 17 per cent of the credit used by farmers and their marketing and purchasing cooperatives. Farmers and co-ops borrowed $4 billion from the system last year.

"To do this job the cooperative Farm Credit System sold about $3.8 billion of securities in the investment centers last year. Thus, city investors are putting their savings to work on the farm."

Tootell advances the view that "credit is probably most farmers' cheapest 'tool,' with the possible exception of fertilizer. In other words, a dollar of credit — wisely used — will make a greater return."

As for the future of American agriculture, Tootell predicts that:

1. Farms will increase in size and investment;
  2. Management skill and business ability will increase in importance;
  3. Family commercial farms will still dominate; and
  4. Farmers will use cooperatives more to increase their bargaining power.
- He predicts, too, that farmers' credit demands will continue to increase, but that the credit will be available.

The Farmer

Have farm prices kept pace with the rise of the cost of living? Some politicians would have you believe that they have . . . that the farmer of today should have no complaints. However, as a recent issue of the "ASC Newsletter" points out, there are many things that but few people know about farm prices. For example:

HOW MANY PEOPLE KNOW THAT—farmers have twice as much invested in machinery as does the entire steel industry, and five times as much as the automobile?

HOW MANY PEOPLE KNOW THAT—a cotton shirt costs more to be laundered one time than the farmer gets for all the cotton in it?

HOW MANY PEOPLE KNOW THAT—one farmer today provides food for himself and 23 others, thus freeing the 23 to produce autos, refrigerators, television sets, and other goods and services to modern American living.

HOW MANY PEOPLE KNOW THAT—the label on a can of tomatoes costs more than the farmer gets for those tomatoes?

The problems of a farmer are quite different from those of other businesses in that the farmer cannot control his market and is limited in the control he has over his production. In other words, the products of the farm are somewhat perishable and must be marketed when ready. Also, the farmer is at the mercy of the elements over which he has no control and may see all his efforts wiped out with a drought, a storm, or by insects or disease.

The farmer deserves and should be given consideration by the government in his effort to provide food and clothing for mankind. Farming is the basis of any economy . . . and the stronger the base . . . the stronger will be our country

A lump of uranium only slightly bigger than a one-inch cube can produce the same amount of energy as 3,000,000 pounds of coal.

Inflated buffalo skins serve as boats on the streams of eastern Nepal, the National Geographic Magazine says. River men lie across the hides and steer the rafts with paddles.

Cables help Norwegian farms plow nearly perpendicular costal fields, the National Geographic Magazine says. An engine, secured at the top of the hill, pulls plow and harrow up the steep inclines by wire. Bundles of hay also scale the mountainside on the versatile cables.

WHO DECIDES? . . . Up to this good hour we have not seen one piece, one word, of the "hate literature" that we hear is so plentiful and is so roundly condemned from various high places. Now we are not saying it does not exist. We merely point out that we have been too lucky—or too unlucky — for any of it to wing our way.

Which brings up a thought regarding political campaigns: By talking about an item enough—by sing - songing it day in day out you give that item importance far out of line with what it deserves.

Our opinion for what it is worth is that much of the "hate literature" talk — though certainly not all of it—is carried on with the idea of hurting Nixon and helping Kennedy. In other words, politics always carries its full share of sheer bunk. The smart ones know that if they can somehow connect Nixon and Nixon followers with skulduggery, trickery, or any type of underhandedness, votes are made for Kennedy.

We saw plenty of this kind of thing in the Sanford - Lake to-do last spring. Some of it was pretty sickening.

Now every few days we notice that some Nixon stalwart makes a noble statement to the effect that religion should not be brought into the fray. Well, why not? Is it no longer important? But we have a hunch that some of those people who say let's leave church out of it know that the mere saying of it brings church all the more into the campaign. And, away deep down, that is what many of them want.

Incidentally, who makes the decision on what is, and what is not, "hate literature?" Who has such rare insight? I don't particularly want you or anybody else to decide for me what is "hate literature." Let me decide that for myself, please, and I will let you do the same. It just may be that what you find hateful I will find heartwarming — or vice versa. So, let me do my own censoring — and let me make my own decisions as to what books to read and as to what is ugly and what is beautiful.

Anything else smacks of Krushchev dictatorship. We are sure that is that great Communist, atheistic Russia which we seem to admire more all the time the Sermon on the Mount, bed rock of Christianity, is regarded as hate literature.

HOLIDAYS . . . Children across North Carolina have learned to love those district teachers' meetings which are put on by the N. C. Education Association. For almost without fail — each meeting means a holiday.

On Friday, Oct. 21, the children in these counties get a holiday while their teachers are meeting in Goldsboro: Wayne, Wilson, Beaufort, Cartaret, Craven, Duplin, Greene, Jones Lenoir, Onslow, Pamlico.

The children in the schools of Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Hoke, New Hanover, Pender, Robeson, Sampson and Scotland get a day off on Tuesday, Oct. 18, while their instructors are supposed to meet in Wilmington.

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "I am still learning."—Michelangelo.

The farmer's daughter went to a fashionable city school. She often wrote her parents about new things she found interesting. However, one day they received a letter that upset them. In it she stated, "I am very much in love with ping pong."

Michelangelo's favorite saying is reported to have been "Ancora imparo." "I am still learning." That mark of humility is a spur to learning to which we all could aspire. However, it is sobering to see so many fill themselves with information, but learning little.

The most rewarding education is the education of our spirits to live happily. Failure to do so is the reason for tragedy, suicide and crime. Spiritual happiness is gained in many ways. Yours may differ from mine. However, we won't drift into it any more than we drift into any other knowledge. We must seek it. The human spirit must learn to live happily in this world. That education is achieved by measuring your spirit against needs and opportunities, finding your niche and being content to fill it.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTERS EDITOR: Our preacher talked for a hour or two Sunday morning on the younger generation. I dozed off toward the end but I gathered he was a little down hearted about 'em. He allowed as how they could operate anything from a juke box to a airplane but couldn't learn how to run a sewing machine, a lawn mower, or a hay baler. He also said that, judging from what he saw Johnny reading, it might be a God's blessing if Johnny couldn't read. When it come to the kids in college, he said from what he read in the papers a heap of them was just attending classes between riots.

I don't think that actual there's any more devilmint amongst the kids today than there was when I was a boy. Now they all got cars and they just spread it faster over more territory. And I know of at least one college that ain't gone to the dogs. I was reading a piece in the papers last week where a Senate Committee, investigating waste of manpower in the Army, found a soldier that was a college graduate mowing the lawn in a Army cemetery. That might look bad for the Army, but it looks mighty good for that college this boy come from. There ain't many colleges this day and time where he'd get the know-how to mow a lawn.

Speaking of lawns, I see where the American Institute of Science says that this atom radiation business has no effect on crab grass. I could've told them scientists long ago that God put crab grass on earth to stay. You can call it wire grass or wild grass or any name you like, but you can't get rid of it. You can plow it under, burn it, hoe it, beat it with a stick, cuss it, pray over it, but it'll be back next year. Of course, if the Government would make it a valuable cash crop, the insects and a couple of blights would wipe it out, but aside from that the only way you can get rid of it is to move off and leave it. If them scientists ever come up with sompoun that'll kill crab grass, I don't want to be here to see it, Mister Editor. It'll mean the end of civilization ain't fur off.

I see by the papers where Senator Byrd says some feller wandered into the State Department by mistake and worked there three year afore it was discovered he belonged in the Department of Agriculture. It might be a good idea if the Congress would conduct a survey ever year to find out how many Government employees in Washington is in the right Department. Under the Fifth Amendment, of course, it might not be possible to move 'em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — A giant step has been taken toward the goal of flood control, increased industrial and recreational development in the beginning of construction of the Wilkesboro Reservoir on the Yadkin River. There is no way to estimate the good that this $8 million investment will benefit the Yadkin Valley and all of North Carolina. Naturally, I was glad to participate in the ground breaking ceremonies near Wilkesboro.

Wilkesboro Reservoir On April 25, 1960, I testified before the Senate Appropriations Committee with my colleague, Senator Jordan, in behalf of funds for the Wilkesboro Reservoir and other water projects in North Carolina. I pointed out that the progress of North Carolina is vitally connected with the development of its rivers and harbors, flood control, navigation, and erosion prevention. Moreover, a prime national interest is involved in these projects. These projects, I reminded the committee, can no longer truthfully be called "pork barrel" legislation, for I am convinced that our fundamental welfare is involved in the protection and development of our natural resources. In speaking before the committee about the Wilkesboro Reservoir, I stated that our two centuries man has seen the Yadkin's flood uncontrolled. All too vivid in the memory of the residents of the Yadkin Valley is the 1946 flood which is estimated to have caused a loss of $6 million. The average annual loss now is said to be about $304 thousand.

By NORTH CALLAHAN

With the Russian attitude changing about every time Krushchev opens his big mouth, it seems, I was interested in finding the origin of the expression "Iron Curtain." The popular conception is that Winston Churchill used the words for the first time in a speech at Fulton, Mo., in 1946. The London Times, however, pointed out that Joseph Goebbels had used the expression several years earlier in some of his Hitler propaganda. But not long ago, I was going through the papers of John Adams and found that on his birthday, Oct. 30, 1798, just about 162 years ago, a play by Thomas Paine was given in Philadelphia, and that the following words advertised the facilities of the theater in which the play was given: "An Iron Curtain will protect you all."

The curtain evidently was used to prevent fire from passing from the stage to the audience, and the curtain was of iron and weighed 4500 pounds. Which reminds one of the saying that "there is nothing new under the sun."

Jackson Smith, local business executive who hails from Newnan, Ga., says there is no historic significance to his name. He is interested in the Civil War Between the States, but when asked if his name could pertain to "Stonewall" Jackson or General Kirby - Smith, he modestly replied that as far as he knew all his ancestors who fought in that memorable conflict were privates.

A young man lived with his parents in a public housing unit. He attended public schools and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the army and upon discharge, retained his National Service Life Insurance. He enrolled in the state university, working part time at the state capital to supplement his GI Bill check. Upon graduation, he married a Public Health nurse, bought a home with an FHA loan, then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. His baby was born in the city hospital. He bought a small farm with the help of a Veteran's Land Program loan and got some emergency feed from the government. Later he put part of his land in the Soil Bank and the payments soon paid off his ranch. His father and mother were said to live on the ranch very comfortably on their Social Security checks. REA lines supplied him with electricity, the government helped him clear his land, the County Agent showed him how to terrace it and the government built him a fish pond. Then one day, he wrote his Congressman:

"I wish to protest these excessive government expenditures and attendant high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own feet without expecting a handout. I am opposed to all Socialistic trends, and I demand a return to the principles of our constitution and the policies of states rights."

Here and there, television sets will be placed in several parts of the Meramec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., during the World Series so visitors won't miss the event . . . Americana House in Chicago is sending out colorful Civil War Centennial maps to key organizations and individuals . . . a squawk by a local non-smoker that cigar users were virtually suffocating him in suburban trains, brought the answer from the railroad that there is no law preventing smoking on trains in any car . . . William Tyler of Los Angeles, a retired Pullman porter, took his wife and seven friends on a tour of the United States in a private railroad car, costing him $18,000. "I always said," he explained, "that some day I would do it so they could enjoy seeing the wonderful U. S. the way I did when I was a porter."

THE FOOD SHOPPER Beef supplies are increasing seasonally and cool weather calls for longer cooking beef cuts. Many cuts of roasts and steaks are down 1 to 6 cents a pound as a result of special prices. Look for economical buys in chuck, shoulder, sirloin tip and boneless rump roast. All steaks show a slight decline in price. Fresh and smoked hams, picnic shoulders and whole loins are the better pork choices—pricewise.

Apples — biggest news in fruit. Colorful displays of apples dominate the fruit counters. Supplies and varieties are increasing rapidly. Available now at average prices are Red and Golden Delicious — excellent for eating fresh. Both cooking and eating varieties include McIntosh, Jonathan, Stayman and York. Buy in bushel lots or by the bag for most apples for your money. Quality tops at this season. Bananas remain a budget priced fruit. Pears and plums are available for extra tasty fruit treats.

Vegetables are recovering from "Donna" damage resulting in moderate supplies at slightly higher prices. Winter vegetables are more in evidence this week and supplies are picking up gradually. N. D. sweet potatoes, cabbage, snap beans are on the best buy list now. Salad vegetables in good supply in low price range are lettuce, carrots, celery and cabbage. Western Carolina tomatoes are of excellent quality.

Broilers and fryers remain on the plentiful foods list. Many stores will feature these at below average prices. Heavy hens and turkeys are budget buys during fall months. Eggs continue moving up in price. Grade A large have increased the most — I'm making medium and small eggs the best buys. There is a difference in price of 20 to 25 cents between small and large Grade A eggs with only 6 oz. difference by weight.

One of the worst tragedies that can befall a man is to have ulcers and still not be a success.

Don't Forget That Marketing Card

Tobacco farmers are required by program regulations to return their marketing cards to the local ASC county office at the close of the marketing season.

L. G. Miller, chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee, predicts that again this year many farmers will neglect to return their marketing card and will have their 1961 allotment reduced because of their neglect.

Last year, according to Miller, all Davie County farmers returned their cards; however, several producers throughout the State had their allotments reduced for failure to return marketing cards and other violations. These few farmers, compared with the 157,350 tobacco farmers in the State, represent a very small percentage. Failure to return marketing cards hurts the farmers whose allotments are reduced and also slows up the work in the ASC county office considerably.

Regulations provide that the producer must return each tobacco marketing card issued for the farm to the county office within 30 days after the close of the marketing in the general locality. Many farmers put off returning their cards until it is too late.

If all farmers return their marketing cards as soon as they finish selling their 1960 crop, they will greatly facilitate the administration of a program that means much to them. If they do not return their marketing cards promptly, they take a chance of losing vital acreage because of their own carelessness.

ACP Funds

Farms who have not received an approval may still get approval for carrying out a conservation practice this Fall. Funds are limited so farmers should get in their requests immediately. Approvals are being made at present for vegetative cover and limestone practices.

Tobacco and Cotton Cards

All cotton and tobacco marketing cards have been prepared and may be picked up at the ASC office. Any person who is unable to come by the office should call or write and their card will be mailed. The ASC office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Conservation Reserve Payments

Davie County farmers who signed Conservation Reserve contracts are now receiving their annual payments. These farmers signed a contract to retire land from agricultural production for a period of 5-10 years. They must establish or maintain a protective cover crop for the length of the contract. Davie County farmers will receive a total of $28,836 in annual payments for 1960.

Davie County Participates In The Dixie Classic Fair

Davie County was well represented at the Dixie Classic Fair in Winston-Salem last week. Three 4-H members, Earl Groce, Bennie Boger, and Faye Boger, showed four calves in the Junior Dairy Show. These four calves placed first or second in their class last Saturday. These same animals were shown in open competition against the best dairy herds from North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and Tennessee. Three of the four animals placed in the top 12, which is a very good showing for Davie County. Boxwood Farm and Pat and Donald Beck exhibited animals in the Angus Open Show held Tuesday night. Pat and Donald's animals placed fifth and sixth in their class.

On a Tractor Driving Contest held Thursday for Northwest North Carolina counties, Bennie Boger placed sixth and Larry Stephens placed ninth. They received $5 each in prize money.

In Agricultural and Home Economics exhibits, Davie County was represented by a tobacco booth entered by 4-H Club members and a booth entered by the FHA Club members.

Heritage Furniture Co. had a very fine booth in the Industrial Exhibits.

T. B. Woodruff and Mr. Flupps had a Wildlife Booth in the Coliseum which attracted much attention.

In addition to the above activities, the Davie County Consolidated High School Band performed Thursday in the Grandstand.

Alfalfa Weevils

The deadline is drawing near for the use of heptachlor to control alfalfa weevils. Following are recommendations:

1. 40 pounds of 2 1/2% or 20 pounds of 5% granular heptachlor per acre.
2. It should be applied Oct. 1-15th. This gives maximum control and offers the least likelihood of residue the following spring.
3. Use equipment such as Cyclone seeder or fertilizer distributor, which can be adjusted to deliver small amounts accurately.

The essential needs of most families require more income than can be had from Social Security. For instance, Social Security does not provide:

- AN EDUCATIONAL FUND FOR YOUR CHILDREN
- CANCELLATION OF THE MORTGAGE ON YOUR HOME
- A LARGE ENOUGH LUMP SUM FOR FINAL EXPENSES
- AN EMERGENCY FUND FOR YOUR FAMILY

Let me show you how your Social Security benefits can be combined with a JEFFERSON STANDARD INCOME PLAN to provide sufficient income for your family and an adequate retirement income for yourself.

One In Ten Has It
"I like tomatoes, but tomatoes don't like me."
You have heard that statement, or similar ones. Maybe you have laughed at it. But allergy is no joke. Doctors take it seriously. Allergic diseases are seldom fatal, but the symptoms are always distressing. Sometimes there is so much discomfort that work, sleep, appetite, and recreation are interfered with and general health suffers.

Allergy is sensitivity, or hypersensitivity, to substances which are harmless to most people. About one person in ten is allergic to something. The substances that cause allergens, and there are hundreds, even thousands of possibilities, pollens, house dust, furs, various foods, feathers, cosmetics, drugs, and even heat, cold, and sunlight. The most common allergic diseases are hay fever, asthma, skin disorders like hives, and stomach and intestinal disturbances.

These disease aren't imaginary. If you have allergic symptoms, you should get medical advice both for immediate relief and future protection. The doctor can make test to discover the allergens which are causing trouble. Sometimes this is easy, but frequently it requires great patience.

Once the causes are discovered, you can learn to avoid the trouble makers as much as possible. Drugs may be prescribed to ease the symptoms. In some cases injections, medicines and vaccines are given to desensitize the patient. With complete cooperation with your doctor, you will be able to save yourself from years of unnecessary suffering and disability.

Rev. Tom Haggi Gives Talk To Local Group

C. F. Arndt was chosen as the Chairman of the Davie District, Boy Scouts of America, Uwharrie Council, at the annual supper meeting held on Tuesday night in the Fellowship Building of First Methodist Church.

He will succeed C. D. Jamerson, Coolemees who has served as District Chairman for the past three years.

W. L. Ward, Jr., was chosen vice president of the District. Members at large include: Everett Gales, Claude Horn, Gerald Husser, C. L. Isley, Dr. R. F. Kemp, Cecil Leagans, Bryan Sell, Ed Short, George Shutt, Henry W. Tutterow, Arthur M. Upshaw, Jr., Grady Ward, Peter Hairs-on, Ed Goodwin, Chales McCoy, Sam Howell, W. T. Bird, Lester Martin, Jr., George Rowland, Wilson Wagner, and Tom Hunter, plus all institutional representatives.

The invocation was given by J. K. Sheek, Jr.

Mr. Jamerson presided at the meeting. He recognized all the scouts and guests and introduced Monty Ridenhour, a Boy Scout, who attended the National Jamboree and told of his trip there. Everett Gales gave the commissioner's report and Bob Tye gave the District Scout Executive's report.

Bryan Sell, chairman of the Finance committee, asked for reports from the different communities as to fund raising. A tally of these reports showed that a total of $2,269 had been raised towards this year's quota of $3,000 for the District.

Ed Short, Leadership Training chairman of the District and Vice President of the Uwharrie Council, presented the speaker for the meeting, the Rev. Tom S. Haggi, pastor of Emerywood Baptist Church, High Point.

The Rev. Mr. Haggi said, "Scouting makes youth feel they have reached success no matter what echelon they reach, that Scouting is a way for youth to find their own niche, and it helps youth gain security of affection." He continued "It gives an outlet for all energies of youth. Good Scouting needs good leadership to set good examples, also. The important thing to remember is the spiritual and moral development of the generation to come." He concluded by giving an account from the life of Henry Grady who wrote editorials stressing the importance of "sticking to old-fashioned ideals to solve the problems of the world today."

Man Gets Sentence For Screw Driver Stabbing

A Negro who got mad at his friend and stabbed her with a screwdriver was sentenced to six months in prison in Davie County Court, Tuesday.

Roosevelt Patterson received the sentence from Judge R. B. Sanford, Jr., after telling the court it was just an accident.

Deputy Sheriff Otis Ridenhour testified that he was called to the Davie County Hospital on Oct. 8 where he found Ruby Amos being treated for being stabbed in the shoulder. Deputy Ridenhour said that his investigation indicated that Patterson and the Amos woman, and another man were riding around in the car. Apparently Patterson became angry with the woman because she was paying too much attention to the other man and stabbed her in the shoulder with a small screwdriver.

Deputy Ridenhour said that Patterson at first told him that the woman was his wife, but the woman denied this. Patterson told the court that he didn't tell Deputy Ridenhour it was his wife, but called her his "Old Lady." He also said that the stabbing was an accident.

Two Ordered From County

A young man and his sister were ordered to leave Davie County Tuesday as one of the terms of a suspended sentence handed out in Davie County Criminal Court.

Judge R. B. Sanford, Jr., reduced the charge of assault with a deadly weapon with in em to ill against Mary Lois Wagner and her brother, Rayford Delmer Holcomb, but found them guilty of assault with a deadly weapon. He gave each a sentence of 12 months suspended on condition they pay cost of action, pay $25 for Eaton ambulance service for their victim; and that they leave Davie County and remain out of the county for three years.

The victim of the assault, Terry Lee Cardwell, of Danbury, testified that he brought the mother of the two defendant's, Mrs. Luella Holcomb, to her home around midnight of Oct. 8. He said that Mrs. Holcomb asked him in a cafe in Winston-Salem to take her home because she was sick. He said that when they arrived at the house, located on Highway 64, just out of Mocksville, no one was at home and Mrs. Holcomb asked him to remain until someone came. He said that with her permission he removed his shoes and went to sleep on the bed. The next thing he said he remembered was when he came to the next afternoon, a patient in the Baptist Hospital suffering from a severe beating.

Mrs. Holcomb substantiated his testimony and said that she was also asleep when her son and daughter broke the door down and came in to attack the two. She denied any wrongdoing with Cardwell, but admitted to previous records in court.

The defendants did not take the stand, but pled guilty to the charge when it was reduced to assault.

Lutheran Mission Named

At a recent congregational meeting of the Lutheran Mission a permanent name was adopted for the congregation. Various Scriptural and Historical names were presented and discussed but in the final analysis the name "Holy Cross Evangelical Lutheran Church" was made official.

Holy Cross designated the Lutherans in relation to their cardinal doctrine "Justification by Faith through Grace." The name "evangelical" is included in the name because it is a cognate of the Greek work "euangellion" which means "the Good News of Christ." The name will be permanently adopted and used when the congregation is organized.

Girl Scouts Now Observing 100th Anniversary; Early History Of Local Troops Recorded Here

Girl Scouting is now observing the 100th birthday anniversary of the founder, Juliette Gordon Low, who was born on Oct. 31, 1860.

In keeping with this special observance, a history of the local Girl Scout organization has been compiled by Mrs. Knox Johnstone and Miss Jane McGuire, early leaders in local Girl Scouting and by Mrs. C. C. Chapman, recent leader.

The following is their account of the His ory of Girl Scouting in Davie County: (All dates are approximately correct)

In 1926 to 1928 a group was organized by Miss Mae Pendergrass, a teacher in the Mocksville High School. No details known.

In October of 1929, a lone troop was organized by Mrs. Knox Johnstone and meetings were held on the third floor of the Sanford Building. Mrs. Johnstone resigned as leader in July of 1930 and no records show that the troop was continued. About 30 girls were in the troop.

In 1940, at the request of participants, Mrs. Johnstone, with the help of Mrs. Willard Kimrey, again organized a lone troop of about 40 girls. The meetings were held in the basement of the First Methodist Church. In order to have a heated room, they later moved to the basement of the Horn-Harding building. This was a heated room, but had no outside lighting.

In 1942, Mrs. Kimrey left town and Miss Jane McGuire took her place as assistant to Mrs. Johnstone. Mrs. Johnstone dropped out in 1943 and Della Grant (Mrs. Yokelf) and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson became leaders. They later resigned and Miss Kathleen Craven began working. She left in 1944 and Miss Elva Grace Ayett (now Mrs. Cole Tomlinson) took her place. She and Miss McGuire worked together until 1949 when both resigned. None of these workers were trained workers.

Mrs. Jack Pennington and Miss Carroll Johnstone (Mrs. Bernard Crewell) re-organized a troop for the year 1951-52.

The meeting place was changed from the Horn - Harding building to the Court House because of lighting and ventilation. After a short time, rooms were secured in the Masonic building (second

Drexel Furniture Company Plans For Reorganization

Drexel Furniture Co. today announced plans for a reorganization which officials said "will simplify the acquisition and operation of other businesses which may in the future be acquired, as well as the growth and expansion of present operations."

Under the plan, Drexel Enterprises, Inc., will be created as a parent corporation for Drexel and its affiliated companies, which rank among America's top furniture producers.

Drexel Furniture Co. and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Heritage Furniture Co. and Morganton Furniture Co., which have been operating as separate corporations, will be merged and each will become an operating division of Drexel Enterprises, Inc.

Robert O. Huffman, President and Chairman of the Board, outlined in a notice to stockholders this plan for "important corporate reorganization" which he said will "provide for the continued security and growth of your company."

A meeting of stockholders is called for Nov. 1 to approve a change in name to Drexel Enterprises, Inc., which will become exclusively a parent company concerned with broad management policy, coordination of divisions, and planning for long-term growth and development, he said.

If approved, the change will become effective Nov. 30 at the close of Drexel's fiscal year.

In its 56th Annual Report, Drexel and affiliated companies listed assets of over 25 million dollars and had combined net sales of over 40 million dollars in the fiscal year of 1959.

Drexel, Heritage, and Morganton Furniture Companies will maintain their identity as separate operating units under the corporate changes, reserving their autonomy in production, selling, and advertising, Huffman said.

Drexel acquired the entire corporate stock of Heritage and Morganton Companies in 1957, but continued them as independent corporations.

In addition to the Board of Directors and officers of the parent corporation, each division will also have its own Board of Directors and officers.

Drexel Furniture Co. operates five plants — one at Drexel, three at Morganton where it also has a research and engineering center, and one at Marion in addition to a veneer operation at Kingstree, S. C.

Heritage Furniture has plants at High Point and Mocksville. Morganton Furniture Co. operates a plant in Morganton.

Under the proposed change, Drexel Furniture Co. stockholders will automatically become stockholders of Drexel Enterprises, Inc. It will not be necessary to submit stock certificates for exchange, the President said.

While the corporate revision offers many over-all advantages, there will be no apparent change for employees or dealers who will continue to be identified directly with Drexel, Heritage, or Morganton companies, Huffman pointed out.

Recommended unanimously by the Board of Directors, the reorganization plan follows an analysis of corporate structure requested by heads of the three corporations, the President said.

In March, 1959, Drexel's Board authorized appointment of a special committee consisting of Elliott S. Wood, G. Maurice Hill, Robert L. Connelly, Rhett Ball, and President Huffman to make such an analysis.

Other corporations with multiple operating units were studied, and management consultants were retained to assist officials of the three companies in the development of the proposed new organization structure.

Huffman emphasized that present brand names of Drexel, Heritage, and Morganton will continue to be offered to their customers separately and independently, as at present, and the operating divisions which will replace present subsidiary corporations, will continue to maintain independent sales organizations.

Upon contact, Elliott Wood, President of both Heritage Furniture, Inc. and Morganton Furniture Co., stated that the proposed reorganization should provide a structure ideally suited to meet the needs and possibilities of the future. He further stated that he considered the plan one of the most progressive steps in the history of the companies.

FROM NOW ON...

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly, and read your Bible daily.

FORGOTTEN COUNTIES!

Few people, if any, are completely satisfied with the road paving progress of this county. In practically every section of the county there are stretches of secondary roads which the people of that area feel warrants paving consideration. However, rare indeed is such consideration shown.

Julius A. Rousseau, Jr., of North Wilkesboro, Democratic Candidate for the State Senate to represent the counties of Davie, Yadkin, and Wilkes, has chosen to make this an issue in his campaign. Mr. Rousseau terms the counties of Davie, Yadkin, and Wilkes as the "forgotten counties," and is justified in doing so when one considers the paved roads in the three counties. All three counties rank near the bottom in this category.

Wilkes County has a total of 1092 miles of roads of which only 198 miles or 18 per cent are paved. Yadkin County has a total of 550 miles of road of which 144 miles or 27 per cent are paved. Davie County has a total of 356 miles of road of which only 30 miles or 8 per cent are paved.

Compare the paved roads in these counties with Hoke County which has a total of 353 miles of road, of which 259 miles or 73 per cent are paved. There is Mecklenburg County which has a total of 1051 miles of road, of which 802 miles or 76 per cent are paved. There is New Hanover County which has a total of 220 miles of road of which 186 miles, or 85 per cent are paved.

In other words, the percentage of roads paved in counties in North Carolina ranges all the way from 85 per cent in New Hanover County to 18 per cent in Wilkes County . . . with Davie and Yadkin Counties joining Wilkes in the low category.

The State Highway Commission would probably give you many reasons why these three counties were not getting more paved roads. Such reasons would probably include (1) The cost of building roads in these counties, because of more difficult construction; (2) Roads are paved where traffic use warrants; and of course, others. However, Mr. Rousseau points out that the Senator from this district has always been a Republican and often times is the only Republican in the Senate which is completely dominated by Democrats. He also points out that with few exceptions the political faith of the County Representative and of the county's governing body is also out of sympathy with that of the state administration. Mr. Rousseau, and many others, believe that such situations are not conducive to securing the best for these counties.

Regardless of the hue and cry about politics in the building of roads, and other related matters, it will always be there. You might as well try to sail a boat without water as to try to carry out state services without politics entering into it. There are few things today, including our schools and churches, but what some politics, in some shape or form, enters.

This year in North Carolina there is much cry by the Republicans about vote for the man instead of the party. We wonder how sincere the Republicans are in this? We wonder if they believe in it themselves enough to vote for the man or men that can do the most for the county in which they live?

Even if Richard Nixon is elected president; and even if Gavin should happen to slip in as Governor (and only a very few give him but an outside chance), the government of North Carolina will still remain Democratic . . . with a Democratic General Assembly. It will be this body that will control appropriations and the policies of the state.

The people of this county should decide as to what they want for their county, and once decided vote accordingly. In this you can look, evaluate and compare . . . some counties are getting paved roads . . . ours is not!

Your Insurance Policy

Reading the small type on your insurance policy may reveal some surprises for you, warns Frank J. Taylor in an October Reader's Digest article, "Have You Read Your Insurance Policies Lately?"

He discovered, for example, that he was paying on two disability policies which had been canceled unknown to him a year earlier. He didn't know it until his check was returned.

"The insurance company had not received me," he writes, "the information was all there in fine print."

On the pleasant side, he was pleased to discover that his life policies could be converted at any time to paid-up policies of lesser value, relieving him of the burden of paying premiums.

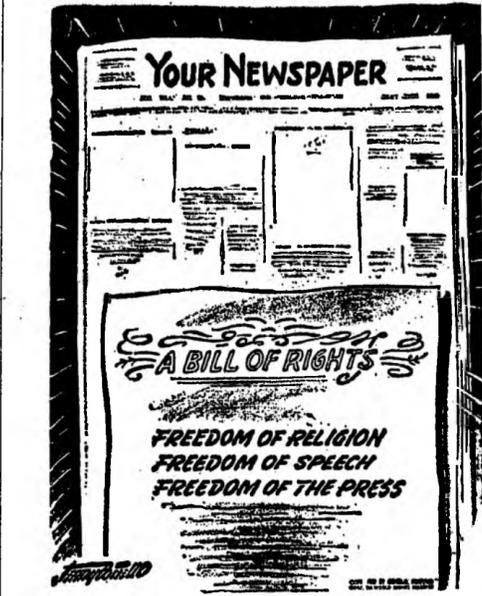

"I also learned a policyholder's rates may be actually lowered if his health rating improves," reports the writer, "Also, over the years accident rates had dropped, but I was still paying the old rate on one policy."

In another policy, he found an expected bonus: medical and surgical benefits he had not known about, covering operations resulting from accident. He collected on one of these benefits.

"Pick your insurance man as you choose your doctor or lawyer," the article quotes a veteran New York insurance broker. "And have a periodic insurance checkup just the way you get a physical checkup. Almost any family's insurance needs revising at least every third year."

Of all mammals, only elephants occasionally outlive man. The longest-lived elephant was reported to be 85 years old. Many elephants survive for 50 to 75 years.

STAUNCH BACKING

SURVEY . . . A friend of ours who was in New York City a few days ago on World Series business conducted a little survey among 15 cab drivers whom he rode with during his stay in the north.

The question he put to each cabbie: "Well, how is it here in New York City between Nixon and Kennedy?"

Five of the drivers shrugged their shoulders, lifted both hands from the wheel and came back with remarks like: "Who knows? Who cares, anyway? Let's wait till the Series is over, huh? Now's no time to talk about da candidates."

Seven of the drivers thought that Kennedy would win — pretty close, but thought Kennedy is leading — "this is a Democratic town, you know."

Of the three others, two thought Nixon has the lead; and one said: "Even-Steven."

But invariably the cab drivers thought that in the State as a whole it is impossible at this time to determine who will take New York State.

BEST MAN . . . Our reporter said the thing that surprised him most in his conversations in Pittsburg and New York is the extreme popularity of Henry Cabot Lodge among the people he talked with in the two cities.

Not one time did he hear anybody tear into Lodge. But at one time or another he heard Lyndon Johnson, Kennedy, or Nixon vigorously attacked by one person or another. Everybody had a good word for Lodge, with one or two saying he is "the ablest of the four," or words to that effect.

KENNEDY HATS . . . A lot of the time supposedly important developments can turn on little, insignificant even's or situations.

For instance, at the State Fair and at other places we have been impressed — and a little surprised — at the great preponderance of women wearing these Kennedy hats, skimmers, or whatever you call them.

We asked a leading Democrat why so many women and so few men wear them. We wondered aloud if only the women are pushing hard for Kennedy.

Not at all, we were assured. It's just that the man are wearing hats and would not know what to do with their own if they wore Kennedy's. On the other hand, most of the women are ordinarily bareheaded and have a top waiting for the Kennedy chap.

NEW TERM . . . The area of the State Fair here in Raleigh has become so much bigger through the years and the buildings, rides, and concessions so much larger and more numerous that we find it difficult to judge recent event with those of other years.

Nevertheless, after watching and judging football crowds and other groups over the years, our opinion is that the crowd at the State Fair this year — despite clear skies — was sharply below the average of the past five years. That is the way it seemed to us — but it could have been that they have just been scattered out better and the crowds were just as large.

The State Fair to us has always seemed exceptionally well managed under the direction of Dr. J. S. Dorton. This year was no exception. Doc and Dougald

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I've saw several items in the papers here lately that's got me worried and mighty uneasy. A fella named Joseph Campobasso that's a member of the State Board for licensing barbers in Massachusetts has warned the folks in that state that it's $100 fine or 90 days in jail for a mother to cut her kid's hair on account of her not having a license.

Then a feller in Washington that had spent $600 on his new car in the first 90 days painted a big lemon on the car. The dealer went to court and the Judge made the feller take it off.

In Georgia the Attorney General has ruled that a feller don't have to have a fishing license to fish in his own pond, but the piece said it was expected that the Georgia Supreme Court would overrule the Attorney General in the matter.

It looks like to me, Mister Editor, that in a few more year a feller won't have no personal liberty in this country. It's agin the idea of modern Government fer a man to do anything anymore without some sort of tax on it. The next step is to make a feller git a license to dig fish bait to catch fish in his own pond, and I predict he'll finally have to git a license to cook his own fish in his own skillet.

We was talking about this matter at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle allowed as how the only way a feller could keep from running afoul of all the rules, regulations, and taxes was to stay in bed all day. And Zeke Grubb said if he kept this up long enough they'll put a tax on sleepin' more'n six hours.

It's gittin' a heap later than we think in this business of perfecting our personal freedom. Fer instance, I'll bet ole Thomas Jefferson and George Washington never had a haircut except at home, and I was 16 year old afore I ever saw inside a barber shop.

I blame a heap of this stuff on the legal profession. About three-fourths of all our lawmakers is lawyers and they go in strong fer more laws and the more complicated they make 'em the better they like 'em. I was reading not long ago where a jury settling on a case in Boston, after hearing the lawyers fer the defense and prosecution argue fer four hours, and after being in deliberation six hours, sent out and ask the judge who the defendant in the case was. The first time you can git around to it, Mister Editor, I think it would be a public service fer you to write a editorial on the subject.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

60 SECOND SERMONS

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Ideas live. Only men die." — Woodrow Wilson.

"Johnny," said his Sunday School teacher, "you shouldn't talk like that to your playmate. Had you ever thought of heaping coals of fire on his head?"

"No, ma'am, I hadn't," admitted Johnny. "But it's a wonderful idea."

An idea is the most exciting event that can come to anyone. No matter what your age, when you accept a new idea you begin to live a new life. It may be strange, daring or disturbing, but every idea has a challenge in it. All ideas demand that something be done about them.

Not all ideas are good or beneficial. They must be studied and then adopted only after we are convinced that benefits will result. But ideas must be considered. To refuse to entertain ideas is to die. That is why many men cease to live long before they are listed, officially, as dead.

Life without ideas is empty and purposeless. Life with ideas is an exciting challenge. They stimulate a surging pulse that puts youth in your stride, a gleam in your eye and a song in your heart. Look for ideas. Seek them out. Examine them. Drink deep of this provocative excitement. Ideas are true fountains of youth.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

George Trampler is manager of the Lambs club on 44th Street, which has a membership of about 1500 men in the entertainment world. He tells me that though he has held this job only five years, he knows every one of them by name, and that he does this by relationship. For example, Frederic March reminds him of marching along a road. Fred Waring suggests wearing clothes. Jackie Gleason reminds him of glee, etc. Asked if he ever became confused by any of the names, Trampler admitted that he sometimes gets Henry Gladstone, the radio announcer, and Harry Blackstone, the magician, mixed up. But ordinarily, the genial manager h's the name on the right head, quite at asset, especially in his work.

Travellers returning from summer vacations report speed traps in various parts of the country. A coast to coast tourist, for instance, says that at Hospers, Iowa, and at Moriarty, New Mexico, two very small towns, he was tricked by deceptive speed signs and nabbed by local police who seemed more anxious to raise money by fines than in enforcing sensible laws. Returning via the Pennsylvania Turnpike, he found it rough and worn out in many places and highway police bent on enforcing such vague regulations as no U-turns when there were not sufficiently clear signs indicating that such was a violation.

Two business partners were said to have been fishing in a small boat when a storm came up. The boat capsized before they could make the shore and the two men found themselves in the water. One started to swim to shore a couple of hundred yards away, but his partner had all he could do to keep his head above water. "Say, John," the swimmer called to his partner, "Can you float alone?" "Are you crazy?" the partner yelled. "Here I'm drownin' and you talk business."

In his new book, "The Public

Years" (Holt, Rinehart, and Winston), Bernard Baruch says since 1929, when the big economic crash came, such programs as unemployment insurance, bank deposit insurance, social security and a host of regulatory measures to prevent economic abuses have helped maintain stability in time of stress. The investor today is protected by a vast amount of information the companies involved have to divulge, he pointed out. However, in the interesting and timely volume, Baruch does warn of inflation, too high a government debt and too much installment buying.

It is encouraging to note that no matter who is elected President, the American Indian's plight will be improved, that is if the party platforms mean anything. Both Republicans and Democrats have pledged improvement in the schooling of these original red-skinned Americans by making possible more elementary, high school and college education for them; also the matter of prior agreements in regard to land, rights of citizenship and treaties will be given more attention, both parties pledge. Let's hope this is true. From the Indians of up-state New York to the Cherokees in the South and then throughout all the tribes westward, many of them increasing in numbers, their call for help should not go unheeded.

Here and There: to the remark of Dorothy Lamour that she would not play "salacious parts in movies, a young producer quipped, "What's sarong about that? . . . when a gushing listener once told Paderewski that the great musician was truly a genius, the latter replied, "Yes, I suppose I am a genius; but before that I was for many years a drudge" . . . now that Tricky Nicky has left our shores, a great weight has literally been taken off our necks and there is comparative quiet along the East River as well as the proverbial Potomac, at the exit of the rotund Russian.

Letters To The Editor

Mr. Gordon Tomlinson, Editor Davie County Enterprise Record Mocksville N. C.

Dear Mr. Tomlinson: Our newspaper clipping service forwarded us the editorial on the WFMV-TV Reading Program which appeared in the Sept. 29th issue of your paper.

The editorial was excellent. I was glad to see that the word "illiterate" was not included, but that "non-reading adults" was used instead. And I could wish that other newspapers in the area would have the same kind of straight forward, easily understood explanation of what the program is all about.

I was especially glad to see your suggestions about how to overcome the students' embarrassment. This is one aspect of the project we haven't been too successful in; it requires personal contact, as you suggest. Thank you for your support of this project.

Sincerely,
CATHERINE B. SLOAN
WFMV-TV Reading Program Coordinator

Mr. Elbert Harpe Mocksville, N. C.

Dear Elbert: Many thanks for your copy of the editorial which appeared in your local paper dated Sept. 22, 1960, regarding automobile insurance.

Elbert, I believe our industry certainly would be a whole lot better off if more newspaper editors understood our problems as well as the editor of your paper apparently does.

Thanks for sending a copy to us which we are passing along to the president of the Employers Mutual.

Very truly yours,

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — I happen to believe this declaration of the Constitution of North Carolina: "All persons have a natural and inalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences." For this reason, I regret the undue emphasis being placed upon the religious issue.

No Censure
We ought to be slow to censure any man because of his religious affiliation. Not one man out of ten thousand acquires his faith by investigating and weighing the evidences of its authenticity. Birth and environment ordinarily determine our religious affiliations. We accept without question the beliefs of those among whom we are born and reared. If one is born of Catholic parents in a Catholic home, he is virtually certain to be of that faith. If one opens his eyes to the light of day in a Protestant home, he is virtually certain to be a Protestant.

Some Observations
If we are to face squarely the religious issue and its implications, we will do well to recall some observations made by the late Chief Justice Stacy, one of North Carolina's wisest sons of all time, in the opinion which he wrote for the Supreme Court of North Carolina in State vs Beal (199 N. C. 278).

Chief Justice Stacy said in that opinion: "For some reason, too deep to fathom, men contend more furiously over the road to heaven, which they cannot see, than over their visible worlds on earth;" and "It would be almost unbelievable, if history did not record the tragic fact, that men have gone to war and cut each other's throats because they could not agree as to what was to become of them after their throats were cut."

Though maligned as pests, hawks prey largely on rodents and insects. It is estimated that a single hawk saves farmers about $110 a year in rodent damage.

Social Security In Davie County

The 1960 amendments to the social security laws make an important change which reduce by about one-third the length of time a person has to work under social security to become insured for the payment of benefits to himself and his family.

Some 400,000 people will become immediately eligible for cash benefits because of this change in the law, including many wives, widows, and dependent husbands and widowers already at or beyond retirement age. First payments to newly eligible persons will be for the month of October.

Under the new rule, persons reaching retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women) this year need only about 3 years of work under social security instead of the 4 1/2 to 5 years required by the old law. If you reach retirement age any time next year, you will need to have worked under social security for only 3 1/4 years instead of the 5 to 5 1/4 years required before the change in the law. There is, however, a minimum requirement of a year and a half of work under social security — without which no benefits can become payable.

There will be a number of people in Davie County who will get monthly payments as a result of this change.

There is, for example, a lady who called at the social security office last year just a couple of months before her 62nd birthday. Her husband had died in 1957 after a long illness. She brought with her the stub of his social security card. In checking Mr. R.'s account, it was found that at the time of death he had 2 1/2 years of work under social security. Under the old law, he would need to have 3 years of work in order for Mrs. R. to qualify for widows' benefits. Under the new law, however, Mr. R. would be considered fully insured at the time of death with only 2 years of work under social security. If Mrs. R. would visit her social security office again, her application could be taken and her payments started.

Widows like Mrs. R. are urged — as well as workers now at or over retirement age, who have been told in the past that they were not eligible for payments for lack of work under social security, to visit their social security office at their earliest convenience, to inquire about their rights. First payments to those newly eligible as a result of this change in the law will be made for the month of October, 1960.

In terms of future eligibility, the reduction in the amount of work required means that many more wage earners and their widows and dependent widowers will be able to qualify for social security benefits when they reach retirement age.

For example, a man now 60 and planning to retire at the end of 1965. Under the old law he would have needed a total of about 7 years of work to draw these benefits. Under the new rule he would need only 4 1/2 years social security employment of self employment to draw monthly old age benefits. A 60 years old woman planning retirement in 1962, need only 3 1/2 years of work to be eligible for social security.

The new rule for figuring minimum quarters required for fully insured status does not affect the eligibility of young widows and children to draw mother's and children's benefits following the death of a wage earner. The widow and dependent children of a worker can draw social security survivors benefits if the worker has credit for at least a year and a half just before his death.

Remember that social security benefits cannot start until you file a claim with the social security office nearest you. Therefore, if you believe you may be eligible for benefits under this change in the law, visit your social security office at 105 Corriher Ave., Salisbury, N. C.

Health For All

(This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Davie-Yadkin Health Dept.)

How Long Will You Live? It may be a long time. Right now you may be thinking of the years ahead. You are still going strong. You can't do everything you could at 25, but you certainly aren't ready to be put on the shelf.

"On the shelf" useless and dependent—that's the way too many of us think of old age. But that's only one kind of old age. And it's the kind that can be avoided if you start planning now.

If you want to be thoroughly alive as long as you live, start a campaign to improve and keep your health. The old "slitch in time saves nine" was never truer. Your happiness at 70 depends on the stitches you take now. If you don't already have the habit, begin now the practice of getting a physical checkup at least once a year. A number of the diseases that make dependent invalids of old folks start quietly without any outward sign that something is wrong inside. Only a doctor with his scientific tests can spot them. And almost every kind of sickness responds best to treatment in its early stages.

Tuberculosis is one such disease. It's tragic to see an older person shut in by TB. He might be up and about and living a full life if his disease had been discovered earlier. And a tuberculin test or chest X-ray would have helped to find it.

To be sure that your later years are not shadowed by preventable illness and dependency, take full advantage of modern medical science. Get the physical checkup habit and follow your doctor's advice.

Social Security In Davie County

J. G. Liebensberger, Manager of the Social Security District Office, Salisbury, explains another change made in the Social Security Law by the 1960 amendments. One part of the 1960 social security amendments does not affect a large number of people, however, it is most important to those whom it does affect.

About 25,000 people — widows, aged dependent parents, and disabled children age 18 and over — the survivors of workers who died before 1940, will now be able to collect monthly social security benefits.

Originally, the social security law provided benefits only for retired workers. The law was changed in 1939 to make benefits payable to the survivors and dependents of workers, but until the 1960 amendments, no monthly benefits were provided for the survivors of workers who died before 1940.

Under the new law, payments can be made to the widows of workers who died after March 31, 1938, and before Jan. 1, 1940; to their aged dependent parents; and to their disabled sons and daughters.

To qualify for benefits a widow or dependent mother of a worker who died before 1940 must be 62 years of age or over. A dependent father must be 65 or over. A disabled son or daughter must have a disability so severe that it keeps him or her from doing any substantial gainful work. Also, the disability must have begun before the child reached his 18th birthday.

If you believe that you or someone you know may be eligible to get benefits as a result of this change in the law, remember, payments must be applied for. Call, write, or visit your social security district office to ask about making application. The district office is located at 105 Corriher Ave., Salisbury, N. C.

Ground Broken For Atomic Power Plant

Ground was broken for the Southeast's first atomic power plant at Parr, S. C., Oct. 7. Carolinas Virginia Nuclear Power Associates, Inc., who will build the project, served a luncheon at the plant site at which S. C. McMeekin, South Carolina Electric and Gas Co. president presided.

Among the guests attending were South Carolina Governor Ernest F. Hollings, Lt. Gov. B. Ernest R. Maybank, and a cross-section of the area's governmental, business, and civic leadership. Parr is located about thirty miles north of Columbia.

Other CVNPA member companies besides South Carolina Electric and Gas Co. are: Carolina Power and Light Co., Duke Power Co., and Virginia Electric and Power Co. E. H. Will, Virginia Electric and Power Co.'s board chairman, is president of the Associates.

CVNPA was formed in 1956. Its purpose is to "... demonstrate the practical and economical use of nuclear energy for the generating of electric energy, together with such industrial and scientific products and by-products and application as may seem desirable, all for the purpose of the advancement of scientific knowledge for the public good and national defense ..."

The atomic plant at Parr will be fired by slightly enriched Uranium-235 and cooled by moderated by heavy water. Heat will be created within the reactor vessel when the uranium is bombarded with neutrons. Heat created in the fission process, will produce steam which will be directed to turbines of the existing plant to generate electricity.

The reactor will be operated remotely under the most exacting safety conditions. The rate of fission will be regulated by masses of neutron absorbing control rods extending into the reactor core.

The Parr plant will be a prototype atomic installation expected to lead to development of atomic power plants many times its size in the service areas of the four member companies.

Parr will go into service in 1962. Its generating capacity will be 17,000 kilowatts. A continuing program is underway to test existing radiation in all natural elements within a 12 mile radius of the site. This data will be used in final design, construction and operation of the plant.

The four member companies of

F. H. A. Agency Broadens Its Loan Program

Farmers who have regular off-farm employment, if otherwise eligible, may obtain farm operating and development loans from the Farmers Home Administration, under the recently revised regulations of the agency.

Clarence H. Slink, FHA county supervisor for Davie County, said the new regulation became effective Oct. 1. Previously, except in rural development counties, a farmer had to spend most of his time farming in order to qualify for a loan.

Experience gained in rural development counties has shown that many farmers who are regularly employed off the farm can profitably use the Farmers Home Administration's credit facilities to increase the farm portions of their total incomes. The regulation, which had limited credit assistance to farmers who spend most of their time farming, prevented some from obtaining the maximum income from their farm and from taking advantage of opportunities for industrial and other off-farm employment.

Other eligibility requirements remain unchanged. Applicants must have sufficient farm experience to carry on sound farm operations, must need credit, and be unable to obtain financial assistance from other sources. As in the past, credit will be extended only to operators of farms that are family - type size or smaller. No loan will be made unless a plan for the coming year's farming operations shows that income from the farm and other sources will be large enough to enable the farm family to have a reasonable standard of living, pay debts, and have an adequate reserve for emergencies.

Loan funds may be used to pay farm operating cost, purchase equipment and livestock, pay farm development cost, and refinance certain debts. The interest rate is five per cent. Repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated incomes from the farms. Usually, loans made for real estate purposes will be from funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency.

Technical farm and money management assistance is supplied to each borrower to the extent necessary.

The Farmers Home Administration office serving Davie County is located in the county office building in Mocksville, and is open each Monday of the week. The agency also supplies credit for farm housing and soil and water conservation.

Chairman Urges Taking Of Soil Samples

Many Davie County farmers are wasting fertilizer or are not getting a proper return from their fertilizer because of their failure to take a soil sample. L. G. Miller, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said that it is especially important that farmers planting legumes or grasses or improving existing stands of legumes or grasses under the ACP Program, determine in advance the fertilizer that will offer the most return for the plant food dollar and whether or not time is needed by having the soil analyzed.

Farmers who fail to anticipate their planting in time to take a soil test and receive an analysis from the State Soil Testing Laboratory are missing a good bet, Miller said.

Some years ago pasture practices under ASC's conservation program made the taking of a soil test mandatory. This requirement was discontinued, and a soil test is no longer mandatory, Miller said, however, that he personally, and all county officials who assisted in formulating the 1960 Agricultural Conservation Program, very strongly recommend the taking of soil samples prior to any pasture planting or improvement under the program. Fertilizer and lime recommendations set up in the County's conservation program provide the best guide available for the entire county without a soil test. However, this overall recommendation can't possibly fit every case, and the only way the farmer can be sure is to have a scientific soil analysis made.

Need For Soil Bank Compliance Continues
Farmers who have signed 1960 or prior soil bank conservation reserve contracts should remember that they must comply with all acreage allotments for the farm as well as all soil bank requirements in order to continue to qualify for payment. L. G. Miller, chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee, said.

A definite program provision and one that is often overlooked by farmers, requires compliance with all acreage allotments established for the farm. If this requirement is not met the farmer will be ineligible for payment and he will leave himself liable for further penalties, Miller said.

He also pointed out that farmers should be extremely careful that they do not exceed their permitted acreage of soil bank base crops. Exceeding this permitted acreage can also make a farmer ineligible for the payment which he would otherwise earn.

Where a farmer willfully and knowingly harvests from, or permits grazing on, conservation reserve land, payment is forfeited and in addition he is subject to a civil penalty of 50 per cent of the payment which would have been made for compliance. If the payment has been made when the violation occurs, the amount of the payment must be refunded.

The Food We Eat

The supermarket, the corner grocery, the restaurant, and our own kitchens usually are hundreds—sometimes thousands—of miles from the sources of our great variety of abundant, wholesome food. Food reaches our kitchens in new and appealing forms—as "ready mixes," as concentrated and dehydrated products, and as "heat and serve" meals.

We have grown from a nation in which one of every four workers had to produce food, to a nation in which one farmer is efficiently producing food for 24. This is progress, the technological revolution in agriculture that has freed most of us from the labor of earning our daily bread by tilling the soil.

To get food from the one producer to the 24 consumers (including the farmer), we also have created a vast, efficient system of marketing, storing, transporting, processing, wholesaling, and retailing.

We have the highest level of living the world has ever seen. Our children are taller, healthier than we were at the same age. They have a longer life expectancy. One important reason is that modern farm production and marketing provide us with a basic requirement of good health—nutritious, wholesome food in adequate amounts for a balanced diet.

But these advances have placed most of us so far from the land, from the farm and the ranch—that we often take "good eating" for granted.

Our family has been very pleased with the quiet, trouble free performance of electric comfort heating. We have particularly enjoyed the advantages of being able to control the temperature in each room by means of separate thermostats. Our total heating cost for the very severe 1959-1960 heating season was only $139.20 for 1032 square feet of heating area.

We have enjoyed the many other outstanding features of electric comfort heating such as cleanliness, lack of maintenance, and space savings, all of which have certainly justified our decision to install electric comfort heating. As an additional convenience, we are taking advantage of Duke Power Company's Equalized Payment Plan which permits us to pay for all of our electric service in equal monthly payments.

Ezra Cain Is Held On Murder Charge In Shotgun Slaying

Jack Scott Is Shot In Cain's Home Saturday

Ezra Cain, 51 year old Negro of Mocksville, Rt. 2, is being held in the Davie County Jail on the charge of murder. Cain is charged with the shotgun slaying of Jack Scott, age 34, a neighbor and nephew. Cain told officers he shot Scott at his home around 2 a.m. last Saturday morning when the latter advanced on him with a butcher knife in hand. Scott was shot at close range with an old single barrel 16 gauge shotgun. The load from the shotgun entered Scott's breast, tearing away the lower portion of the heart. He died enroute to the hospital. The shooting occurred at the Ezra Cain home on the Woodward Road.

Sheriff Ben Boyles and SBI Agent Ray Garland said that their investigation disclosed that Ezra Cain and his wife held a chicken stew Friday night with several stopping by for something to eat and perhaps to drink. Later in the night Scott and Cain got into an argument. Cain told the officers that he left Scott and went into his bedroom thinking that Scott would leave and go home. When he saw Scott get towards him, he grabbed his shotgun and fired.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled to be held in County Criminal Court next Tuesday morning.

Jaycees Urge You To Register And Vote!

The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce is co-operating in the national project of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in the "Get Out the Vote" campaign. A spokesman for the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce in urging the local residents to register and vote, pointed out that freedom and the right to vote went hand in hand.

"Elections are held in many countries throughout the world, even behind the iron and bamboo curtains. "In some nations voting is compulsory. Communist dominated lands permit their people to vote, but there is only one party and only one candidate. "Worldwide, men are continuing the fight for freedom, for the privilege to choose their leaders. Those who know oppression know well the value of the right to vote freely. "Remember we have that right. Let's exercise it! Register and vote!"

Local Bank Disapproved

The application of the Durham Bank and Trust Company for authority to establish a branch in Mocksville was disapproved by the State Banking Commission at its regular quarterly meeting held in Raleigh last Wednesday. Ben Roberts, State Banking Commissioner, said that the commission felt that Mocksville is not large enough to support another bank. He said that as a general rule the Banking Department has held that a town with less than 2,500 population can support only one bank.

The State Banking Commission approved 12 applications last week, turning down only one—that of the Durham Bank and Trust Company for Mocksville.

Some have established the date around 1926 and some have guessed at the identification of a few of the players as being, left to right, Grant Wagoner, end; Jack Mooney, tackle; Leonard Ward, guard; Hicks Carter, center; Glenn Hammer, guard; Carl Jones, tackle; Felix Harding, end; Jack Rodwell, back; Walton Dwiggins, back; Sherman Hendricks, back; and Arthur Neely, back. Coach Faye Caudell is shown at the right.

Three Appeal Convictions On Passing Bus

Three men, convicted in Davie County Court Tuesday of passing a school bus, filed notice of appeal to Superior Court. Another man, not represented by an attorney, paid the fine of $25 and cost.

The men were convicted of passing a bus operated by Mrs. Maxine Alexander while the bus was engaged in letting off school children passengers. This bus is red in color and is utilized both as a work bus and as a private school bus to transport children in Mocksville to and from school.

Judge Rufus B. Sanford, Jr., ruled that Mrs. Alexander had complied with the law inasmuch as she displayed a large sign on both the front and back of the bus proclaiming it as a school bus.

Mrs. Alexander testified that on the dates specified in the warrants she was letting off school children passengers when cars passed the bus. She said she took the license numbers of the vehicles and turned them in to Joe Foster, Mocksville Chief of Police. The vehicles were traced out and Mrs. Alexander signed the warrants later.

The defendants said that they did not know the bus fell into the category of a school bus. One of the defendants, Johnny Newton Lowery, testified that he was not operating a car at the time specified but was at work at Pennington Chevrolet Company.

In addition to Mr. Lowery, those appealing to Superior Court included E. C. Sanford and James Garfield Laphis. Paul Willard, not represented by counsel, paid the fine of $25 and cost.

James W. Wall Is Honored For Citizenship Effort

JAMES W. WALL

Receives National Award From Foundation

James W. Wall, American History teacher at the Davie County Consolidated High School, has received the Valley Forge Classroom Teacher's Medal from the Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge for his outstanding work to create a better understanding of our American Way of Life. Mr. Wall was one of six teachers in North Carolina receiving this award.

The medal fashioned after a Dogwood blossom, symbolic of Valley Forge, was presented along with a citation scroll by W. T. Bird at an assembly program at the Mocksville School Auditorium on Tuesday.

Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, President of Freedom's Foundation, in notifying Mr. Wall of the award said: "Without the dedicated efforts of America's teachers our children would be ill-prepared and ill-equipped to face the responsibilities of freedom and leadership in tomorrow's world. We are down, weak - kneed patriotism can not preserve freedom against the international attack of atheistic communism. We are thrilled, as Americans, to see the strong leadership and intelligent patriotism of these classroom teachers."

A distinguished jury, composed of State Supreme Court Justices and elected representatives of national patriotic, service and veterans organizations, selected the award recipients from among the records of teachers from every corner of the country whose names had been submitted by citizens interested in continued high levels of citizenship education in American schools.

Nominations are invited from all Americans — either for Teacher's Medal consideration or in the Foundation's general program which honors people in all walks of life for things they have written, said or done to improve knowledge and appreciation of our American Way of Life.

Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian organization. President Dwight D. Eisenhower is Honorary Chairman. The Foundation's funds come from the widest national sources — individuals, corporations and foundations.

Man Intoxicated Gets And Wrecks Wrong Car

Rufus Ray Spillman was convicted in Davie County Criminal Court on Tuesday on the charge of temporary larceny of an automobile and operating a car intoxicated.

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Blalock testified that on Oct. 15 around 11:30 p.m. he met a 1953 Mercury in North Coolemeec. The car was weaving on the road so he turned around and started after it. The car, travelling at a high rate of speed, went out of control on Highway 801 and overturned. He said that Spillman was driving and was in a highly intoxicated condition.

While at the scene of the accident, Patrolman Blalock said that Deputy Sheriff Grimes Hancock arrived to report that the Mercury had been taken at a dance. The registration showed that the car belonged to Larry Thomas Nichols of Mocksville, Rt. 4. Patrolman Blalock testified that further investigation indicated that Spillman may have been so intoxicated that he just took the car by mistake. Spillman's car was found near the spot where the Nichols car was taken. Full restitution was made by Spillman to the owner of the car.

Notice of appeal to Superior Court was given on the conviction of temporary larceny for which he was fined $25 and cost. Spillman was fined $100 and cost for operating a car intoxicated.

Northwest Development Assn. Plan Annual Meeting December 6

John C. Whitaker of Winston-Salem, former chairman of the board of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and now consultant to the company, will be guest speaker at the Dec. 6 annual meeting of the Northwest North Carolina Development Association.

The 8:30 banquet meeting, which normally draws about 800 guests, will be held in the Gilvin Roth YMCA in Elkin.

Frank Bryant of Booneville, association president, announced the meeting and preliminary program plans at the regular meeting of directors at Elkin.

Atwell Alexander of Stony Point, chairman of the development group's agriculture division, told directors from the 11 counties:

"I can think of no wiser choice of a speaker for the occasion of our annual meeting. Mr. Whitaker knows our area, knows the long-term purpose of our development program, and he himself is known to have a deep interest in all efforts to build a better Northwest. The company he represents, any way you figure it, has wielded the greatest influence in the development of this area—agriculturally, industrially, in civic betterment."

The December meeting, attended by community representatives and special guests from throughout the 11 county area, serves each year to summarize achievements by the counties in the association's four divisions — agriculture, industry, community development, and travel and recreation.

Area winners in the county community development programs, to be judged in November, will be announced at the banquet.

Chairmen have been named as follows to head up committees who will develop the program and make arrangements for the meeting:

General, Hugh Crigler; speaker, Archie K. Davis; decorations, Mrs. W. T. Ro h; menu, R. T. Chatham; welcoming, R. R. Church; attendance, John Forlines, Jr.; special invitations, Wayne Corpening; music and entertainment, Charlie Wade; business, Nell Bolton; and publicity, Mrs. Ed Anderson.

Ted Willis of the industry division of the Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce joined the association's planning group as a special consultant in efforts to obtain new industry and expand existing industry in 11 Northwest counties.

Willis previously had served in the new industries division of the State Department of Conservation and Development.

"Competition for such new industry as is available," he said, "has become pretty fierce among the 400 or more communities of the state that are seeking it. We have found that any community greatly improves its chances for attracting an industry if it has arranged for available sites and determined costs and other pertinent facts. History of Joppa Told To Rotary

The history of Joppa Presbyterian Church was discussed for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday, by James W. Wall, Mr. Wall, a teacher of history at the Davie County High School, has been doing research into the history of the Joppa Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Wall traced the history of Joppa from 1787 to 1868. He told the Rotarians that in the minutes of synod in New York in 1787 there is a mention of a minister being sought by a meeting house in the Forks of the Yadkin. Mr. Wall said that he and others believe that this was the church that later became known as the Joppa Presbyterian Church. He pointed to the fact that this church probably existed before 1787 as indicated by the burial in the cemetery of Squire and Sarah Boone and others prior to that date.

In 1778 in a book written about the life of Dr. Caldwell a meeting house in the Forks of the Yadkin is mentioned as being without a pastor. In 1789 the first General Assembly of the Presbytery noted that Joppa was listed as a vacant church.

"The first known pastor of Joppa was J. D. Kilpatrick, who served from 1792-1796, pastoring along with Joppa the Unity Church of Woodleaf and the Third Creek Presbyterian Church," said Mr. Wall.

"In September, 1827, a new day dawned for the Joppa Presbyterian Church. That was when the Rev. William A. Hall became pastor and served for 23 years, until 1850. Tremendous progress was made under Mr. Hall and the membership rolls of the church showed a great increase," continued Mr. Wall.

In 1834 the church moved to Mocksville into a little brick building that is still located on the Larew property. On April 6, 1840, the membership voted to move to the present site. Col. William F. Kelly drew the plans for the church which were patterned after a church he saw in Mississippi. This building was used until 1905 when the present building was erected. The name was changed from Joppa to the First Presbyterian Church of Mocksville on April 13, 1868.

Dave Rankin had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Wall. President George Rowland presided. Special guests included Don Sherrill of Fulton, Mo., and Everett Kelly, student guest.

Children To Benefit From 'Trick Or Treat'

Members of the local Senior and Intermediate Methodist Youth Fellowship groups joined with countless American boys and girls on Wednesday night of this week following the example set 10 years ago by a few Sunday school pupils who donated their Halloween "treats" of coins to the United Nations Children's Fund.

The U. S. Committee for UNICEF says that the UNICEF version of a centuries old tradition offers striking counterparts to the original event. For the pre-historic Celts of Ireland and Scotland, and for the Gallic Druids, Oct. 31, was the harvest festival—and today in this country that date marks an ample harvest of coins which will grow into health-giving medicines and body builders for as many as possible of the world's needy children who would lead a short, sick and hungry life if they received no help.

Halloween was a day when masks were worn to scare away evil spirits, or hung on trees to propitiate the mythological divinities—and today American children wearing masks help combat the evils of mass disease and malnutrition among other children, and help foster the modern miracles of medical care and food research.

Young Americans who wrap the familiar orange and black UNICEF label around a milk carton for the first time this Halloween, and those who wore a UNICEF tag Wednesday were participating in a project carried out by children to help children.

A single penny given to the Children's Fund can mean enough vaccine to protect a youngster against Tuberculosis; a nickel

ROBERT C. SMITH, III

Recruit Robert C. Smith, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Smith, Jr., of Church St., Mocksville, is presently assigned to Co. A, 2nd Battalion, 1st Training Regiment of the U. S. Army Training Center, Infantry, at Ft. Jackson, S. C., where he is undergoing eight weeks of Basic Combat Training.

He will be taught rifle marksmanship under the U. S. Army's "Trainfire" program which enables the modern soldier to become a better rifleman in less time than previous methods. In this program, most of his training will consist of firing his rifle at pop-up target at unknown distances on terrain which duplicates combat areas. Other highlights of his intensive training include squad tactics bayonet and hand to hand combat, and crawling the infiltration course while machine gun fire is popping overhead. Many of his instructors are combat veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

can represent the penicillin to cure a case of yaws; 20 cents represents the antibiotics to treat a child for trachoma; 50 cents can supply enough DDT to protect four children from malaria for a year; and $1 can provide sufficient sulfone tablets to treat a young leprosy victim successfully for three years.

More and more organizations churches, clubs, youth leaders, and individuals are encouraging children to devote their Halloween fun to UNICEF. The giant steps of the past decade when Trick or treat for UNICEF snow-balled from a single venture to a national tradition are a source of pride to all who took part. For the 55,000,000 children and mothers who are receiving UNICEF aid in 107 countries this year, it is hoped that the 10th anniversary of this meaningful and beneficial Trick or Treat will enjoy a record participation.

Social Security In Davie County
 Social Security District Manager John G. Liebensberger stated today that in day to day operations of the Salisbury office, he and fellow employees still find area residents who do not realize that they may qualify at any age for social security disability cash benefits.
 Mr. Liebensberger explained that under the new law signed by the President on Sept. 13, 1960, workers who become totally disabled under 65 years of age and certain of their dependents may be paid monthly cash disability benefits. Under the old law, no disability benefits were payable if the worker was under age 50.
 To qualify for these benefits, Mr. Liebensberger said, the disabled worker must meet two conditions: (1) have social security credit or at least 5 years out of the 10 years just before he became disabled and (2) have a severe and long lasting disability which keeps him from doing any substantial work.
 Monthly disability benefits are computed on the same basis as retirement benefits at age 65. A disabled worker many times has certain dependents who are also entitled to benefits. Mr. Liebensberger also pointed out that both men and women workers who are disabled are referred to the Vocational Rehabilitation Agency in the State in which they reside, so that they may be considered for possible rehabilitation services.
 Mr. Liebensberger urges the area residents to visit the Salisbury Social Security Office for further information and free pamphlets concerning disability protection or for help in filing a claim if they are now disabled.

Standards for Political Campaigns

The following is a code for candidates provided by the national Fair Campaign Practices Committee. It has been commended to the attention of the American people. Citizens' committees in many local communities have found it constructive to adopt or adapt it to their local situations.

I SHALL CONDUCT my campaign in the best American tradition, discussing the issues as I see them, presenting my record and policies with sincerity and frankness, and criticizing without fear or favor the record and policies of my opponent and his party which merit such criticism.

I SHALL DEFEND AND UPHOLD the right of every qualified American voter to full and equal participation in the electoral process.

I SHALL CONDEMN the use of personal vilification, character defamation, whispering campaigns, libel, slander, or scurrilous attacks on any candidate or his personal or family life.

I SHALL CONDEMN the use of campaign material of any sort which misrepresents, distorts, or otherwise falsifies the facts regarding any candidate, as well as the use of malicious or unfounded accusations against any candidate which aim at creating or exploiting doubts, without justification, as to his loyalty and patriotism.

I SHALL CONDEMN any appeal to prejudice based on race, creed or national origin.

I SHALL CONDEMN any dishonest or unethical practice which tends to corrupt or undermine our American system of free elections or which hampers or prevents the full and free expression of the will of the voters.

I SHALL IMMEDIATELY AND PUBLICLY REPUDIATE support derived from any individual or group which resorts, on behalf of my candidacy or in opposition to that of my opponent, to the methods and tactics which I condemn.

Elections

Voters in the presidential election on November 8 will ballot in privacy—a practice once considered unmanly.

Voice voting was widespread in the American colonies and continued in some States after the Revolution, the National Geographic Society says. Citizens gathered at polling place and announced their choices aloud to an election judge, usually the mayor, sheriff, or coroner. A bullying crowd greeted the votes with cheers and jeers.

The noisy public vote was replaced in New York State by a secret ballot in 1852, but privacy was discarded the following year on the ground that it "insulted the manliness and independence of the laboring man."

Secret voting in national elections became Federal law in 1875, but Kentucky held State elections by voice vote until 1891.

Paper ballots were used as early as 1634 in Massachusetts. These and later ballots are unofficial and provided by the voter himself. They were not necessarily marked in secret.

When ballots increased in size, it became the custom of political parties to print them for the convenience of their supporters. Each party produced its ballot on colored paper so poll watchers could see at a glance whether the party faithful were indeed faithful.

So many varieties, shapes, and colors of paper ballots were used—often to deceive—that the United States went all the way to Australia for a new system. It borrowed the Australian ballot, an honest listing of candidates, officially printed, and intended to be secretly marked. "Kangaroo voting," as it was first called, was adopted by Louisville, Ky., and by Massachusetts in 1888, then by New York, Michigan, and other States. The ballot is still used, even in voting machines.

About half the 85,000,000 citizens expected to go to the polls November 8 will vote by machines. Except for those casting absentee ballots, all will vote on the same day. It wasn't always the case.

Originally, each State could fix its own presidential election day so long as it fell at least 34 days before the first Wednesday in December, the date presidential electors met. In 1844, 15 States voted on the first Monday, two on the second Monday, four on the first Tuesday, and so on.

Lack of uniformity led to scandals such as "pipe-laying"—the practice of sending political gangs across state lines to vote more than once on the different election days.

In 1845, Congress passed a law setting the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November as presidential election day. November was selected as the most acceptable month. "Harvesting is over then and winter has not yet made the roads impassable," said Ohio Representative Alexander Duncan, in writing the 1845 law.

It was felt that election day shouldn't be the first of November, for businessmen like to make out accounts that day. Public sentiment was against Sunday voting. Monday was ruled out because many persons lived a day's journey from polling places and objected to Sunday travel.

Thus, the present election day was chosen. It never falls on the first, nor later than November 8.

Federal Aid To Education

Federal aid to education is somewhat an issue in the current political campaign. How the educational leaders of North Carolina feel about this question should certainly be of interest to all citizens.

"North Carolina would welcome additional Federal money for general public school purposes as long as there are no strings of control attached," State Supt. Charles F. Carroll said in a recent interview.

The state now receives Federal grants for vocational education, for instructional purposes under the National Defense Education Act, and for both operation and buildings in areas where the Federal Government has military installations. Recently, Congress has had bills before it for allotting additional funds to the states for the construction of buildings and for salaries of teachers.

Supt. Carroll pointed out that needs vary from state to state. Some states may need money for salaries; others may have a construction problem.

"If money is to be made available for salaries, it might be better to earmark it for the 'instructional staff' instead of teachers." That way we could include others in the program connected with instruction but not necessarily teaching.

Supt. Carroll believes that if we are free to decide for ourselves the manner in which we would operate . . . the Federal aid program would be good.

In this connection, it is interesting to look at what the two major political parties say about education in their respective platforms:

The Republican proposals are:

- (1) Federal support of primary and secondary school construction.
- (2) Strengthening of vocational education.
- (3) Support for adequate library facilities.
- (4) Support for basic research to help the handicapped, retarded and gifted students.
- (5) Assistance for college housing construction.
- (6) Extension of student loan and graduate fellowship programs.
- (7) Consideration of means to offset tuition costs through tax laws.
- (8) Establishment of a top-level commission to advise the President of Education.

The Democratic platform pledges:

- (1) Federal support for primary and secondary school construction and teachers' salaries.
- (2) Loans and scholarship grants "to all qualified young Americans."
- (3) Federal grants for construction of academic facilities as well as dormitories at colleges and universities.
- (4) Federal support for libraries and adult education.
- (5) Federal support for realizing the potential of television.
- (6) Federal support for the international exchange of students and teachers.
- (7) Establishment of a Youth Conservation Corps for underprivileged young people.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

This is an exciting election but mild compared with that of 100 years ago. The campaign of 1860 is unique in American history, for it brought on a Civil War between the States. When the campaign began, the issue lines were already pretty well drawn. Political leaders and state legislatures in the South had openly declared that the right of secession and of Southern solidarity was established; that the election of a radical Republican in the North would be considered a just cause for dissolving the Union. The Lincoln-Douglas debates had accentuated the differences in the regions; Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was so effective a piece of propaganda that Lincoln later said when he met the author, that she was "the little lady who brought on this war;" and hot heads on both sides were prepared to stand fast, regardless of their opponents' actions.

It is not always remembered, the New York Historical Society (which has prepared an interesting exhibit of the 1860 campaign) points out that there were four, not two candidates, in the national election. In the Democratic convention at Charleston, S. C., in April, 1860, no one could attain the two-thirds majority then necessary for the nomination. So this party re-assembled at Baltimore in June and, although some Southern delegates left, proceeded to nominate Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois for President and Herschel V. Johnson of Georgia for Vice President. The seceders from the Charleston convention nominated John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky for President and Joseph Lane of Oregon for Vice President. Remnants of the party met at Baltimore and nominated John Bell of Tennessee and Edward Everett of Massachusetts for the two high offices respectively. Bell, whose grandson now is an attorney in Tampa, Fla., stood for "the Constitution of the country, the Union of the States and the enforcement of the law." Everett was a brilliant orator who spoke for two hours at Gettysburg on the same program in which Lincoln made his famous two minute address. The Massachusetts man had been a Harvard professor, later its president, a minister, a Congressman, governor of Massachusetts and Senator from that state, then Secretary of State under President Fillmore, succeeding his old friend, Daniel Webster when the latter died in 1852. The Republicans, of course, nominated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois and Hannibal Hamlin of Maine.

The campaign itself was a one-sided kind of affair. Lincoln stayed in Springfield during the entire campaign and maintained a discreet silence on touchy issues. His platform, opposed to that of the South with its states' rights and slavery, was skillfully drawn, appealing to conservatives as well as radicals, but condemning slavery. The Homestead issue as important in winning for Lincoln too, providing 160 acres of land for every qualified individual who would go West and use it. At the Cooper Union college in New York, Lincoln had delivered a carefully weighed speech condemning Northern extremists and Southern slavery men alike.

With spirits ablaze and the opposition partly split, Lincoln won, but found himself a minority President. Although his electoral vote majority was 180 to 123 — and he would have won even if his opponents had united — he received only 40 per cent of the popular vote, roughly 1,900,000 to about 2 1/2 million for his opponents. One historian has stated that this result showed that the results of the election was not a clear mandate of the nation. At any rate, it was the signal for states to secede and soon after, a shooting war which has reverberated throughout the nation to this day.

WASHINGTON — The Founding Fathers inserted two provisions regarding religious freedom in the Constitution of the United States to wisely direct this country.

Constitutional Provisions
The first of these provisions appears in Article 6 and declares that "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust in the United States." The second appears in the First Amendment and states that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Purpose
The purpose of these constitutional provisions was to create a complete and permanent separation of church and state by keeping the state's hands off of religion and religion's hands off the state. I cherish the constitutional principle of the separation of church and state as the most precious part of our heritage as Americans. It must be preserved if liberty of any kind is to endure. This is true because political liberty cannot exist where the state is controlled by any religious institution, and religious liberty cannot exist where religious activities are dominated by the state.

Right To Inquire
To be sure any voter has an undoubted right to inquire whether any candidate who solicits his support entertains any personal convictions which would disable him to perform in a proper manner the duties of the office he seeks. This includes the right to inquire about any personal religious convictions which would impair his capacity to perform his oath of office.

Repair to Fundamentals
It is well for us to recur to fundamental constitutional principles with reference to qualifications for political office on the basis of religion. Failure to recur to these fundamental principles will be a blow against religious liberty.

Seek not greatness, but seek truth and you will find both.

The only people you should try to get even with are those who have helped you in some way.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MESTER EDITOR:

I was reading a piece in the papers the other day that dome me a heap of good. The National Institute of Drycleaners reports that 55 per cent of all the spots and stains they take off ties and shirts is caused by gravy and food. When I was a boy everybody tied his napkin around his neck at the table. This report from the cleaning folks proves that we was putting it at the right place.

In these days, if you see some feller tie his napkin around his neck you'll hear snickers all over the place. The napkin was invented to help a feller keep his tie and shirt clean. He can still wipe his mouth and hands with it tied around his neck, but I claim that a feller can wipe his hands or mouth on the table cloth or his shirt tail a heap better'n he can keep those gravy spots off his tie without the napkin tied around his neck—where it belongs.

We had a right good session at the country store Saturday night. The fellers covered the situation world wide as usual, and Zeke Grubb brung up the subject of used cars. He allows as how them second hand car dealers gits out the best ads in the paper. He claims you can't read one of them ads without thinking you're getting a real bargain. Clem Webster figgers that sooner or later everybody will come to that type of advertising, especially farmers and ranchers. Fer instants, says Clem, a feller will run a ad saying "Slightly Used Mules For Sale, New Tractor Makes It Possible To Offer These Mules Practically As Good As New."

Josh Clodhopper said he might even put in there, "25 Miles To The Bale of Hay. Good Shoes All The Way Round." And Ed Doolittle allowed as how, since he'd come that far, he might add "Hydraulic Plow Lines." But all was agreed that no matter how fancy you fix up a ad fer a mule, you'll still have to use "Gee" and "Haw" to git any service out of him.

Somepun come up about running the household and one feller announced that he wore the pants at his house. He probably does—after his old lady tells him which pair to put on. Made me recollect the story about the feller that set out with 100 chickens and two horses, to give a chicken to the wife if she was boss, a horse to the man if he was the boss. After he'd done give away 90 chickens he come to a house where the man said he was boss. He ask the feller which horse he wanted, the gray one or the black one, and the feller said he'd take the black one. His old lady called him aside and said a few words, and the man turned and said he'd changed his mind, he'd take the gray one. "No you won't," said the feller, "you'll take a chicken."

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Health For All

(This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Davie-Yadkin Health Dept.)

Safety For Little Spooks
Halloween will be here shortly, and the cry or "Trick or treat!" will be heard in the land. Make this a worry-proof Halloween for yourself with a little safety planning.

Kids in dark clothes and blacked faces are practically invisible to motorists until it's too late. Make light colored costumes — of flame proof material of course — and as an extra precaution apply some reflecting tape liberally to hats, broomsticks and anything else the youngsters may be carrying. Costumes should be kept short, so there'll be no falls, and with no streamers to catch on hedges or fences.

Use cosmetics and burnt cork to make up the children's faces. Masks are dangerous — they are difficult to see through and there's always the danger of suffocation with very young children. Don't let a child carry a candle or torch. A flashlight inside a lantern or pumpkin head is just as effective and a lot safer.

No sharp objects, please, even if they're only made of wood. Unless you can buy rubber swords, knives or what have you, that type of equipment will just have to be left out. If your child is very young, make sure he plans to make the rounds with others of his own age. Older ones may thoughtlessly leave him straggling behind, where he can get into trouble.

If you can work it out, inconspicuous supervision of the very little ones by a mother or two can avoid later heartbreak.

RECORD . . . Travels and contacts all over North Carolina during the past six weeks convince us that:

- 1. Gavin will receive more votes for Governor than any other Republican who has ever sought this office.
- 2. Gavin's total vote on Nov. 8 will be greater than some Democratic candidates for Governor have received during the past 8 elections.
- 3. Only Dwight Eisenhower himself has received more votes for the Presidency in North Carolina than Richard M. Nixon will receive Nov. 8.
- 4. Richard M. Nixon will receive more votes for President in North Carolina than Franklin D. Roosevelt did in 1932.

. . . and that is as far as we will go at this time with our predictions. More later.

CERTAINTY . . . Nothing official is being said about it at this time, but of this you can be pretty sure: If Terry Sanford is elected Governor some several days hence, a special session of the Legislature will be called for early in January to give him the proper inauguration.

The legislators will be in Raleigh less than ten days — and will reconvene for hard nosed business on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in February, or thereabouts which will bring them back here about Feb. 8.

Until three or four years ago—when the State Constitution was changed — the General Assembly met on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January. This was changed to first Wednesday after the first Monday in February by the Legislature and a vote of the people — when Federal income tax day was moved from March 15 to April 15, with the State following suit. Money, as usual, makes the mare go.

HUNTING RABBITS . . . We note via press and radio that the State Prison Department is still having troubles with inmates trying to burn each other to death, escape, or generally raising a ruckus.

This reminds us of the fact that William Bailey, former head of prisons who finally got tired of it and resigned to enter private business, can now accept any rabbits you kill without worry.

While Bill was heading up the prisons — several years there, and a wonderful job, too—various friends of his would bring him rabbits they killed in the fall above the supply wanted for their freezers. Each year he soon had more than he wanted, so in turn passed them along to friends. He gave away a lot of rabbits year in year out until he ran into this item.

"It's no wonder we are having so much trouble with prison braks, escapes, and what have you," Bill heard, "for all that fellow Bailey does all the fall is go rabbit hunting. Just get to know him well, become his friend, and you will get plenty of rabbits. A man that has that many rabbits to give away is just naturally spending too much time hunting."

So immediately Bill stopped the rabbit business. But now that he is free, bring him all the rabbits you want to — or he just might join you in a hunt, something he had no time to do while overseeing the prisons.

CAR SALES . . . In September of 1959, a total of 9,516 new cars were sold in North Carolina. This September the figure had dwindled to 8,803.

Of the major makes of cars, only Cadillac (137 to 114) Dodge (319 to 203), Imperial (11 to 8) Lincoln (17 to 12), and Rambler (339 to 283) sold more in this State this September, than last September.

But this September Ford out-sold Chevrolet in North Carolina 2,712 to 1,639—and through Sept. for the year by 27,974 to 16,279. The big automobile news—other than decreased size and decreased sales — is that American compacts are slowing down to a talkatively all foreign sales except Volkswagen.

SYMPATHY . . . Having had our troubles in trying to find what children like and do not like to eat, we can sympathize fully with Wake Forest College as it wrestles with a threatened boycott of its cafeteria.

THE POLL . . . The Greensboro Daily News political poll of registered voters in Guilford County continues.

Total for the entire poll since its beginning several weeks ago shows Democrats gaining within the past few weeks, but the situation still looked like this as of last Sunday, Oct. 23.

For President: Nixon, 1,646; Kennedy, 1,061; Faubus, 1.

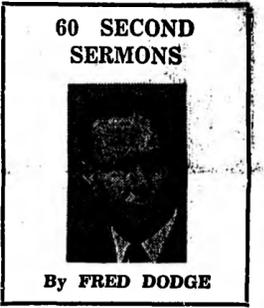

For Governor: Gavin, 1,690; Sanford, 996; and Lake 16.

CENTERS . . . It now looks as if the centers of new Republican strength in North Carolina will be in its two most populous cities: Charlotte and Greensboro.

If true, this marks a definite trend away from a generation ago in Tarheelia when Republican strength was almost exclusively rural. Now even though Mecklenburg and Guilford at this stage of the game look Republican on a national point of view, there seems to be little or no chance of either county sending Republicans to the Legislature.

Two of the most influential men in the forthcoming General Assembly could be Irwin Balk of Charlotte and Joe Hunt of Greensboro . . . and also, of course, Veteran Jim Vogler of Charlotte . . . and Spencer Bell, one of the real scholars of the State Senate.

TRENDS . . . Despite the Greensboro Daily News Poll and all the Republican talk heard, the definite trend two weeks ago suddenly swung to the Democrats. Don't be surprised if Terry Sanford takes North Carolina by 200,000 votes, with this State and the Nation for Kennedy over Nixon overwhelmingly, when the votes are tabulated on the evening of November 8.

TEXT: "Justice, even if slow, is sure."—Solon.

The story is told of the widow who consulted a tombstone maker regarding a monument for the deceased. Finally, she said, "I'll leave the stone up to you, Mr. Smith. All I want on it is 'TO MY HUSBAND,' in an appropriate place.

When the tombstone was greeted the widow was astonished to see these words inscribed: "TO MY HUSBAND, IN AN APPROPRIATE PLACE."

There is an "appropriate place" for each of us, here and hereafter. We reach it, regardless of whether or not we think we deserve it.

Recently an acquaintance died suddenly. Under constant tension he drove ahead, often ruthlessly pushing aside others who stood in his way. His ambition and frantic struggle for security consumed him. Then a heart attack struck him, years short of his goal. Abuse of health brought appropriate justice he never foresaw.

Often we extend ourselves toward distant goals and overlook the nearby justice which awaits us. We are not unjustly treated. We merely reach our "appropriate place." That we failed to see it cannot be blamed on others. Justice did not mis-carry. Consider your life. Are you headed for an "appropriate place" you do not expect?

Copyright 1959 Fred Dodge

Many European farmers plant a "birth tree" when a new child is born. The welfare of the child is believed to be connected with growth of the tree. In some districts of Switzerland a pear tree is planted for a girl, an apple tree for a boy.

ASC News

Wheat Acreage

The amount of wheat planted on a farm can have a definite effect on future allotments for the farm, according to L. G. Miller, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee. Shown below is the effect underplanting or overplanting will have on future allotments and also its relationship to price support and penalties.

1. EFFECT OF PLANTING WITHIN YOUR 1961 WHEAT ALLOTMENT — If you plant within your allotment, but not less than 75 per cent of the allotment, generally your allotment for future years will be the same unless there is a general allotment reduction for the whole county. There are certain exceptions to this rule depending on the amount of wheat planted in prior years on your farm. You may inquire about this for your farm at the ASC office. If you are unable to seed as much as 75 per cent of your 1961 wheat allotment because of adverse weather conditions you may file an application at this office by Dec. 1, 1960, to preserve your future wheat allotments. Such application must be approved by the ASC County Committee.

2. EFFECT OF PLANTING IN EXCESS OF YOUR 1961 ALLOTMENT — The 15 acre exemption will still be in effect for 1961, which means that if you have a small allotment you may still harvest up to 15 acres of wheat without paying a penalty on the wheat grown in excess of the allotment. However, if you harvest wheat in excess of your allotment whether the allotment is greater or smaller than 15 acres, generally your allotment will be reduced in future years.

3. PRICE SUPPORT — You will not be eligible for price support on your 1961 crop of wheat if you harvest any wheat in excess of your allotment.

4. MARKETING QUOTA PENALTY — In general, if your acreage of wheat is more than your farm allotment, and the harvested acreage is more than 15 acres, the excess wheat will be subject to a marketing quota penalty. If you obtain approval from the ASC County Committee under the Feed Wheat Program to grow up to 30 acres of wheat for feed or other use on the farm where grown and you comply with the provisions of that program, your wheat will not be subject to marketing quotas.

Any person with a question about his wheat allotment or planted acreage are advised to contact the ASC Office.

Report ACP Practices

The final seeding date for fall ACP practices is Monday, Oct. 31. Producers who have unfilled purchase orders are requested to get them filled immediately. Also farmers who have completed the practice should remember that a report is required in the county office. Practices not reported by the closing date will have to be cancelled.

Cotton Referendum Announced

The Secretary of Agriculture has announced an increased National acreage allotment of 18,458,424 acres for the 1961 cotton crop. According to H. D. Godfrey, Administrative Officer for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, North Carolina's share of this National allotment is 508,810 acres, an increase of 7.2 per cent. A marketing quota referendum has also been scheduled for Dec. 13, 1960.

In connection with this all-important marketing quota referendum for the 1961 crop, Godfrey cautioned farmers to study the issues that they will be voting on in the cotton marketing quota referendum. "To begin with," he said, "farmers should remember that the choice of overplanting the regular cotton allotment and in return receiving a lower price support rate will not be in effect during 1961 without regard to the outcome of the referendum."

In the referendum, however, growers will be voting in favor of marketing quotas with support at between 70 and 90 percent of parity and penalties for overplanting; or they will be voting to eliminate marketing quotas and overplanting penalties and to lower that support rate to 50 per cent of parity.

If the quotas are approved in the referendum growers who exceed their farm allotment in 1961 will be subject to a penalty of 50 per cent of parity on the farm's excess production. In addition all cotton produced on the farm will be ineligible for price support.

In answer to a question regarding this increase in the cotton allotment for 1961, Godfrey stated that there is still a considerable surplus of cotton. However, he brought out the fact that the surplus has been reduced from 4.4 million bales in 1959 to 3 million bales in 1960.

IN NORTH CAROLINA YOU PAY $1.10 TAX ON TEN GALLONS OF GASOLINE!

How Do You Vote?
I Believe Gasoline Taxes Are Too High!
 YES  NO

HOW DID YOU VOTE?
No matter how you voted, these facts on gasoline taxes are important to you:

- In North Carolina, car owners pay $1.10 tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy!
- Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats!
- Since World War II, there have been three increases in the Federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 7 cents a gallon!
- In the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period!
- Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $96 for gasoline taxes alone. That's actually more than the average week's pay for most people!

NATIONAL INCREASE 1950-1959

Gasoline Prices	5.5%
Living Costs	21%
Gasoline Tax	51%

GASOLINE TAXES UP 51% IN TEN YEARS

HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES

Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

The Gasoline You Buy Is Taxed Too HIGH!
