

Davie Plays Monroe Here In Homecoming Game Friday Night

Davie High School Rebels will meet the strong Monroe team in the annual homecoming game Friday night at the local high school athletic field. Kick-off will be at 8 p.m.

The Rebels bowed to a strong Mooresville team last Friday night 14 to 0.

Fullback Roger Smoey broke through for 52 yards on a draw play in the second quarter to put the Mooresville team out front. They tallied again in the third quarter when Herky Dossier fired a 27 yard scoring strike to Halfback Robert Dyson.

Davie played an outstanding defensive game but could muster little offensive punch and picked up only one first down. Mooresville picked up only five first downs.

Jimmy Sheek played an outstanding game for the Rebels on defense. The Rebels were handicapped with Jimmy Dickinson still on the sidelines with an injured leg. Larry Smith, the other starting halfback, saw but little service due to injuries, and Bill Evans, end, also was out most of the game with an injured leg. Smith and Dickinson may be able to play Friday night but Evans will probably be out of action.

Monroe has suffered only one loss in conference play this year and that was to North Rowan.

Sp-5 Bobby G. Lash Serving In Germany

Army Specialist Five Bobby G. Lash, son of Shirley N. Lash, Route 5 Mocksville, N. C., recently participated with other personnel from the 5th Company, 29th Transportation Battalion in Checkmate, a NATO tactical training exercise conducted in Germany.

NATO troops from Great Britain, France, Germany and Belgium were involved in the exercise, which was designed to test joint combat operation procedures.

An assistant platoon sergeant in the company in Bobblingen, entered the Army in July, 1957 and was stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., before his arrival overseas in December 1957 on this tour of duty.

The 22-year-old soldier attended Courtney High School. His wife, Rita, is with him in Germany.

Mrs. Andrews Is District Officer

Mrs. Victor L. Andrews is the new treasurer of the Second District Dental Society Auxiliary of North Carolina.

She was installed at a meeting held in Winston-Salem last Monday. Mrs. Robert Watson of Charlotte was installed as president of the auxiliary.

The auxiliary held their meeting during the 41st annual meeting of the Second District Dental Society of North Carolina. There were 123 dentists attending the meeting.

Mrs. Andrews is the wife of Dr. Victor L. Andrews of Mocksville, local dentist.

Mocksville School Nets $947.69 In Magazine Sale

The Mocksville Elementary School has just ended its most successful magazine sale. The gross sales were $3063.09. Educational Reader's Service's share was $1920.40, which left a gross to the school of $1142.69. Total expenses of the sale were $195.00, which left a net to the school of $947.69.

Ninety-seven students won stuffed puppies for selling as many as five subscriptions.

The four top prizes were given to the following students: Camille Eckerd, sales $151.41—a ladies' wrist watch; Jack Mason, sales $136.43—a clock radio; Tolt Sanford, sales $130.29—a clock radio; Ralph Naylor, sales $109.50—a bedroom radio.

Four students won merit pins of honor for selling over $100 worth of magazines and seventeen students won citations for selling more than $25 worth of subscriptions.

Roy Marsh, Principal, revealed that Miss Chaffin's room with a total sales of $354.43 was high and Mrs. Bowen's room with sales of $331.19 was second high. Six rooms went over the room goal of $200 in total sales.

The high daily prizes for high salesman included bullet cameras, pens and paddles.

"I want to thank all school patrons for participating in the campaign. Everyone should start receiving their magazines within about eight weeks," said Mr. Marsh.

Erwin Mills Gets Army Cloth Contract

The Army has awarded a $3,757,848 contract to Erwin Mills, Inc. for production of cotton sateen cloth. Part of the work will be done at the Cooleemee plant.

Erwin Mills at Erwin will do the rest. The contract calls for 6,702,418 yards of cloth.

The contract announced last week in Washington was one of three totaling almost $12 million. Other firms winning contracts were in South Carolina and Georgia.

A DAVIE COUNTY PINEAPPLE . . . is being grown by Mrs. L. Andrews. She said that three years ago she planted the top from a pineapple and for the past three years has nursed along the plant in a large can at her home. During the winter months she moves the plant inside the house to protect it from the cold weather. This year the plant is bearing a large pineapple which has the appearance of being ripe. Mrs. Andrews is shown above with the plant.

Cooleemee Child Is Hit By Car

Vickie Denise Durham, age 4, was injured Monday afternoon around 5 p.m. when she dashed in front of a car on the highway in front of her home in North Cooleemee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Durham of Cooleemee.

The little girl was carried by ambulance to the Davie County Hospital where she was treated for lacerations of the head, shoulder and arms.

State Highway Patrolman D. C. Clunard investigated the accident. He said that his investigation disclosed that the car, driven by Elmer Barber of Cooleemee, had almost come to a complete stop at the time it struck the child. No charges were preferred.

Hospital Auxiliary Will Have Meeting

The Davie County Hospital Auxiliary will meet on Tuesday night, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the Davie County Office Building.

Civil Defense In Davie County

By L. P. MARTIN, Jr., Director
Recently, there have been many inquiries regarding Civil Defense matters in Davie County. In an effort to answer some of these questions I will attempt to set forth some facts about our Civil Defense Organization in this, and succeeding articles.

First, Davie County does have a Civil Defense organization. Appointed by the County Commissioners, the Davie County Civil Defense organization is composed of a Director, a Deputy Director, and a Coordinating Staff, the members of which also head up various services.

These services and the Directors are as follows:
Attack Warning Service—H. C. Poindester;
Communications Service—O. B. Poindester;
Engineering and Public Works Service—Andrew Lagle;
Emergency Information Service—Gordon Tomlinson;
Fire Service—C. H. Tomlinson;
Health Protection Service—vacant;
Emergency Medical Care Service—Dr. W. M. Long;
Welfare Service—Leona G. Smoot;
Police Service—Ben Boyles;
Religious Affairs Service—Rev. Bill Long;
Radiological Defense Service—vacant;
Rescue Service—vacant;
Transportation Service—Charlie Jamerson;
Supply Service—Leo Williams;
Emergency Training Service—Ed Latta;
Warden Service—Walt Phillips.

All of these services are voluntary, but the need for a full-time salaried Civil Defense Director in Davie County is becoming acute. The federal government will pay half the salary of a full-time director if the County government will pay the other half.

Some citizens have been able to employ retired military officers at reasonable salaries to serve as full-time Civil Defense Directors.

The Davie County Civil Defense Director, subject to the direct and control of the Board of County Commissioners, is responsible for carrying out the program of Civil Defense in Davie County. Davie County has a "Reception and Care" plan. This plan was prepared about three years ago and is designed to take care of approximately 5,000 evacuees from Winston-Salem should that city become a target. This plan is also designed to take care of our own citizens in the event of a civil or military emergency.

Recently, General E. P. Griffin, N. C. Director of Civil Defense, stated that North Carolina is not likely to get a direct party in. But he noted that the danger of radioactive fallout in the State could be a grave problem.

Griffin urges the building of fallout shelters by families or groups. An effective do-it-yourself shelter can be built in a basement for about $300.00. Plans and specifications for building various types of fallout shelters can be obtained at the law office of Martin and Martin, Mocksville, and if you live in the Cooleemee area, you can obtain these plans at the Central Carolina Bank.

Ralph Wayne Groce Receives Compensation For Injuries

Ralph Wayne Groce received a check for $75 last week from the State of North Carolina as compensation for injury received in taking a member of the State Highway Patrol in making an arrest.

The compensation was granted by Mr. Groce under a bill introduced by Rep. Lester P. Martin during the past session of the General Assembly.

On July 28, 1959, Ralph Wayne Groce went to the aid of State Highway Patrolman William G. Wright at his request for assistance in arresting Jack Bassinger for alleged operation of a motor vehicle on the public highway while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. The alleged violator cut Groce about the throat with a pocket knife while he was assisting the officer in taking Bassinger into custody. The injury sustained by Groce required hospital and medical treatment and loss of time for work.

The check was presented to Mr. Groce by Rep. Lester P. Martin, Jr. and a representative of the State Highway Patrol during the past week.

Award Is Presented At Rotary Club Meeting

Knox Johnstone was presented with an award Tuesday in recognition of his services as volunteer chairman of the U. S. Savings Bonds program in Davie County.

The award was presented to Mr. Johnstone on behalf of the United States Treasury Department by C. E. McIntosh, Jr., area manager of the United States Savings Bonds Division, at the regular meeting of the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

The award read as follows: "United States Treasury Department Award presented to Knox Johnstone in appreciation of patriotic service to the nation through the U. S. Savings Bonds program." It was dated May 1, 1961 and was signed by Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the Treasury and W. H. Andrews, Jr., Chairman.

As featured speaker for the Rotary meeting, Mr. McIntosh discussed the purpose and objectives of the savings bonds program and pointed out that Davie County was "running" toward achieving its 1961 quota of $200,000—having already raised 66% of that amount.

Dave Rankin had charge of the program and introduced Mr. McIntosh. President Gordon Tomlinson presided.

Dr. R. F. Kemp was inducted into the club as a new member by Dave Rankin.

Special guests included Ken Cassidy, student guest; Al McCoy of Philadelphia; Bob Smoot of Salisbury; and C. E. Kendrick of North Wilkesboro.

Air Force 'Mace' Missile Coming To Dixie Classic

The U. S. Air Force's "Mace" missile will join the growing group of armed forces exhibits on display when the Dixie Classic Fair opens in Winston-Salem October 10. It was announced today by Neil Bolton, Fair manager.

The "Mace" is powered by a turbojet engine and travels at speeds over 650 miles per hour. Maximum altitude is 40,000 feet. Successor to the "Matador," the "Mace" measures 44 feet in length and has a wingspread of 22.9 feet. Its service designation is TM-76.

An interesting part of the "Mace" is its two-way system known as ATRAN (Automatic Terrain Recognition and Navigation). It is possible for the "Mace" to fly a few feet above the contour of the terrain and, at top speed, zoom over hills and other obstacles to its target.

Because of its mobility, the "Mace" is one of the Air Force's most potent weapons. With its wings folded back against its body, it is carried on a special launcher, towed by a multi-purpose truck. It is possible to send the "Mace" into the air from previously inaccessible launching sites. Only a small clearing is needed to send the missile on its way to an enemy target. The initial impetus is furnished by a booster rocket which is jettisoned after take-off.

Displaymen of the Orientation Group, USAF, will assemble the "Mace" for exhibit purposes and will be on hand at the Fair to answer spectator's questions.

Pino-Farmington HD Club Meets

The Pino-Farmington Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Grady Smith last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. C. C. Williams was co-hostess. The president, Mrs. W. K. Hemrick, presided.

The meeting opened with the group singing "Red River Valley" after which Mrs. Floyd Dull led the devotionals. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and a treasurer's report was given.

Mrs. James Essie, President of the Southwestern District of Home Demonstration Clubs, gave a brief report on her trip to the National Home Demonstration Council meeting held at the University of Maine at Orono in August. She said that there were over 3,000 delegates at the meeting, with each state in the union being represented. North Carolina had 32 representatives.

"I wish that every woman in Davie County could have the privilege of going on one of these trips and learning what a fine group of hard working club women we have over the United States. It made me very thankful and appreciative of my own North Carolina and Davie County," said Mrs. Essie.

The members were asked to try to attend the meeting of the Farmington PTA to be held October 9th at 8 p.m. at which time Herman E. Sisk, Chairman of Area E Civil Defense, will discuss what the Farmington area needs to do for survival in case of a nuclear attack.

The roll call was answered with the name of each one's favorite shrub and why.

Miss Mackie discussed and showed slides of many types of shrubs and told advantages and disadvantages of each.

The meeting closed with the club collect after which Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Williams served refreshments to 19 members and four visitors.

Local 4-H Clubs To Be Reorganized

The Davie County 4-H Club program and all other county programs in the State will be reorganized to take the clubs out of the schools and re-establish them along new lines on a community basis.

The State wide reorganization has been directed by the U. S. Agricultural Extension Service. This is the first major change in 4-H Club work in fifty years.

Reorganization is planned to be complete in September 1962.

Volunteer community leaders will be asked to help with setting up new 4-H Clubs in each community. A club can be organized with a minimum of 5 members and a maximum of 20 members.

It is hoped that seeds long sown within the 50 years old 4-H program itself will now yield a harvest to supply many leaders for the program. Many men and women who came up through the 4-H ranks and learned something about leadership will now, in turn, take time to serve the new generation.

Under the new program, the time and the efforts of the agents will be very largely taken up in developing key leadership in each community and training volunteer club and project leaders.

The 4-H clubs have always been a good place to learn parliamentary procedure, public speaking and group cooperation, and it is thought that greater leadership can be achieved through the community clubs.

Methodist Mission Rally At Lexington

REV. CLYDE TUCKER

Rev. Clyde Tucker, who has been the southernmost Protestant missionary in the world and pastor of the southernmost Methodist Church in the world will speak to Thomasville District World Mission and Witness Rally at First Methodist Church, Lexington, 7:30 p.m., Oct. 6, 1961.

Tucker, a 1952 graduate of the Duke Divinity School, has been the only Methodist Missionary and minister in the Magellan District in Chile, and 1,000 miles south of the nearest Methodist minister. Only twice a year does he have contact with other Methodist ministers. He is a pastor of the Methodist Church in Punta Arenas, the southernmost city in the world, the Nantales Methodist Church, 165 miles to the north, and the Porvenir Village Methodist Church, across the Strait of Magellan, the southernmost Methodist Church in the world.

He will give something of the story of the increasing importance of South America in the world today in line with the Methodist mission study on South America.

Cuba Today, will be a report by Alberto Rodriguez, who has just come from Havana. He has served as a local preacher of the Methodist church there, and can give something of the story of Castro and Cuba and the church in Cuba today.

Methodist ministers and leaders in the Methodist churches in Davie and Davidson Counties will attend the Rally.

This District World Mission and Witness Rally will be under the leadership of the District Superintendent, Rev. John H. Carpenter, and the District Missionary Secretary, Rev. O. N. Hutchinson, Jr. Dr. Horace R. McSwain, Conference Missionary Secretary, of Statesville, will also participate.

ELECTRIC COMFORT HEATING

Electric Comfort Heating is trouble-free. There is virtually nothing to wear out or repair with flameless electric comfort heating. The only moving parts are in standard thermostats. Carolinians who have switched to electric heating also like:

EASE OF INSTALLATION

"We chose modern flameless electric heat because: Our initial cost was considerably less than for other systems . . . it required no basement or chimney . . . the electric baseboard heat was easy to install — no fuss or bother."

FLEXIBILITY

Individual room thermostats allow you to lower the temperature in unused areas and adjust the heat to suit the activities in other rooms.

CLEANLINESS

There is no combustion, therefore, no smoke, soot or grimy dust. Walls, drapes and woodwork stay sparkling clean and fresh longer. Cleaning chores and redecorating costs are reduced. It's a pleasure to live in clean comfort.

LOW COST

"I have enjoyed two full winter's operation and my heating cost has been most reasonable. Last winter, being a very severe and lengthy one, my cost was only $119.28."

Call or visit your Duke Power Residential or Commercial Representative for further information. Duke Power neither sells nor installs flameless electric heating systems, but welcomes your inquiries.

The Murals Of North Carolina

Fourteen murals . . . depicting significant events in North Carolina's history . . . now adorn the wall in the assembly room of the Joseph Palmer Knapp Building, Institute of Government, University of North Carolina. These murals were painted by Francis Vandever Kugler.

The Institute of Government has made available to this newspaper copies of these murals along with the story of what they represent. Believing these to be of interest to our readers, we are presenting them in order . . . THE MURALS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Mural Seven

FOUNDING OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

It has been said by learned men since ancient times that one picture can say more than many many, thousands, of words. The simplest and most convincing way to tell the story of the founding of the University of North Carolina was to depict the laying of the cornerstone of its first building. This is what this mural does.

As the mural depicts, this was not just another tiresome ceremony with pompous people making boasting speeches, but a significant and important occasion. The people of North Carolina had just finished fighting the Revolutionary War. Much blood had been shed and many loved ones had been lost in this fight for freedom. Their greatest impulse now was to preserve the freedom. Higher education had been made the duty of the state, and North Carolinians had set up the first state University as a bulwark of their liberty. The seal of the University had been engraved with the head of Apollo, the god of light and liberty, and bore the motto "Lux et Libertas."

Officiating at the ceremony was the dashing cavalry officer and Revolutionary War hero, William Richardson Davie.

The woman in the striped dress and tall plumed hat at the right in the painting is a present day descendant of William R. Davie. She is Emily Davie and is living in New York. Since she greatly resembled her famous ancestor, the artist persuaded her to let her be painted on the mural to represent a relative of William R. Davie at the cornerstone ceremony.

ASCS News

County Average Rate For Wheat Is Announced

Consumers as well as farmers in the county will be glad to hear about the Wheat Stabilization Program to be administered by the ASCS county office. According to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County Agricultural and Conservation Committee this dual interest is brought about by the fact that the wheat program is a farm-city program. He explained this by saying that the program if participated in widely by farmers will increase farm income while at the same time it will reduce government storage costs. According to Smoot the average rates per acre for this county for wheat acreage diverted to conservation uses under the 1962 Wheat Program are $23.50 and $31.40.

Individual farm rates are based on these county rates, depending on the farm's productivity in relation to the county average. He also pointed out that each wheat producer in the county with a 1962 wheat allotment, and also each producer without allotments who have grown wheat in at least one of the years 1959, 1960 or 1961, has received information on the 1962 wheat program, including two rates for his farm.

For the minimum payment, the rate is 45 percent of the adjusted basic county support rate, multiplied first by the number of diverted acres, and then by the individual farm yield or productivity index.

The maximum payment rate computed in the same way using 60 percent of the adjusted basic county support rate.

Producers must use an acreage at least equal to 11.1 percent of their 1962 farm wheat allotment for conservation in order to be eligible for price support under the 1962 program and be in compliance with their 1962 allotment.

In addition, farmers may voluntarily divert an additional one-third of their 1962 allotment. The payment earned for this additional diversion is made at the maximum farm payment rate.

The diverted acreage must re-

PTA Meeting at DCTS

The regular meeting of the Davie County Training School PTA was held Monday night, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m. The meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. Janie Wilkes. After devotion, the order of business was begun.

A message was brought to the group by Andrew Lagle of the Volunteer Fire Department of Mocksville. Mr. Lagle stressed precautions about the many fire hazards which prevail around homes and farms, particularly brush fires, electrical and fires present an additional amount over the normal conservation acreage and any acreage diverted to conservation uses for which payment is made under any other Federal program, such as the feed grain program. However, cost-sharing under the ACP may be used to carry out conservation practices on diverted acres.

Applications will be accepted in the ASCS office to participate in the Wheat program from September 28, 1961 through December 1, 1961.

Attention Wheat Growers

Applications must be filed by wheat producers by December 1, to preserve 1961 wheat history, if failure to plant was caused by abnormal weather conditions.

Producers who did not grow wheat during 1959, 1960 or 1961 are reminded that they will not be exempt from marketing penalties if they plant wheat in 1962 without an allotment. The 150 acre permitted is no longer in effect.

of spontaneous combustion. The talk on fire prevention was supplemented by a 15 minute skit about great fires of the past. This skit to point out fire prevention was originated and presented by Mrs. Vallie S. Davidson and Clyde Studevant, Jr., 7th and 8th grade teachers, respectively. Costuming and stage props were constructed by the members of the 7th and 8th grade classes.

Members of the cast were: Announcer, Perry Crisco; Great London Fire, Carol Gailther; Chicago Fire, Jane Rose; Great Fire of Rome, Mary Lou Halston; San Francisco Fire, Hilda Dalton; Arson, Elliott Wilkes; Fear, Earlene Behannon; Carelessness, Charles Eccles; and Nature, Patricia Turner.

The parents elected Mrs. Rebecca Isaac and Mrs. Stella Scott as delegates to the District PTA Convention in Concord. The group voted to accept the PTA Conference at Davie County Training School for next year. Plans for the Annual Halloween Carnival were discussed. Mrs. Eva Walden, Assistant Principal, was elected chairman of the Carnival Committee which is a joint activity between the school and the PTA.

It was recorded that the PTA would place three lights around the school campus.

Mrs. Connie Campbell, chairman of the fund raising project of the Jordan refrigerator for the school cafeteria which retails for the price of $1125, organized her forces to raise the funds for the refrigerator in one month.

Mrs. P. L. Johnson, vice president, presented to the school a scrap book to be placed in the school library. This gift was accepted by the Principal C. K. Hargraves. The program ended with prayer by Rev. G. W. Campbell, Minister of the Shiloh Baptist Church of Mocksville, and a visit to the lunchroom to see the new 40 cubic feet, stainless steel, Jordan refrigerator. Everyone was proud and happy at the opportunity to be able to share in the acquisition of such a fine piece of equipment.

Davie Students Get Free Fair Tickets

Free tickets to North Carolina State Fair—400,000 of them—are being mailed this week for distribution to students of the secondary schools of the State.

Davie County school units were mailed 220 of these popular gate admission tickets to be distributed from the offices of Sup't. William T. Bird.

State Fair will be a six-day event this year, instead of the five days of previous years. It will open at noon on Monday, October 16 and close Saturday the 21st.

Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine, acting manager of the Fair, has announced that the school tickets will be honored for free admission each day, prior to p.m., Monday through Friday. They will not be honored Saturday, October 21st.

In former years they could be used only on Tuesdays and Fridays when specially reduced prices for entertainment and amusements are in effect.

Extremely heavy demands on parking facilities for these two days particularly, brought about the change to honor these tickets on additional days.

Heart Doctors Recommend Some People Eat Less Fat

If you are overweight, have had a heart attack or stroke, or are a member of a family which has a history of heart attacks or strokes, your doctor may ask you to cut down on animal fats in your diet.

This was recommended recently by the Board of Directors of the American Heart Association, according to Dr. B. L. Richards, Medical Representative of the Davie County Heart Council. The recommendation is part of a report titled "Dietary Fat and Its Relation to Heart Attacks and Strokes," prepared by the Central Committee for Medical and Community Programs, highest medical and scientific body of the American Heart Association.

Animal fats, such as whole milk, cream, butter, cheese, meat, coconut oil, and the fat in chocolate, are "saturated" fats and tend to increase cholesterol in the blood, the report states. Cholesterol is a fatty substance which may be deposited in the arteries, narrowing them and leading to the formation of clots. When this happens in one of the arteries feeding the heart, a heart attack may result.

Unsaturated fats, on the other hand, such as corn, cotton, and soybean oil, as well as the fat of fish, do not increase cholesterol in the blood and, if substituted for the saturated fats, lead to a decrease in blood cholesterol, the report points out. Hence, individuals who appear to be likely to develop cholesterol deposits in their arteries, may ward off trouble by the use of these vegetable and fish fats rather than the animal fats.

The report emphasized that there is no final proof yet that dietary changes can prevent heart attacks or strokes and warned against changing the way you normally eat without a physician's advice. Age, sex, heredity, and high blood pressure are other factors that influence heart and blood vessel disease and some of them are obviously not related to the fat you eat. Only a physician can determine whether a given individual should go on a diet low in animal fat.

The report is based on the best scientific information available at the present time and further research must be done on diet and the other factors in order to get more definite answers about prevention of heart attacks and strokes, the American Heart Association pointed out.

The report was prepared by a special committee headed by Dr.

Points Are Expensive... Drive Carefully!

A "Safe Driver Plan" was established on September 1, 1961, by Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold, at the direction of our North Carolina General Assembly. The "Safe Driver Plan" applies to your family automobile insurance and is designed to reward the safe driver with lower insurance premiums than those charged for drivers with a record of convictions and accidents.

Before your present insurance can be renewed you must complete and sign a "Safe Driver Plan" application covering the past three years, and return it to your agent, so that he can rate and renew your policy.

Many County Officials Believe Federal Aid Required for Education

Appropriations Continue To Push Tax Rates Upward

Increased county appropriations for public schools have once again pushed county property tax rates to new highs. This is apparent from a study of 1961 county tax rates recently completed by the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

Fifty counties found it necessary to increase their property tax rate for the current year, and two additional counties had a horizontal increase in property valuations to obtain additional tax revenue from the same rate. This is substantially above the usual situation. In the eight years between 1952 and 1960, our average of only 34 counties experienced an increase.

County property taxes are of current interest because this is the time of year that taxpayers receive their tax bills from the county courthouse. Many will receive higher tax bills, and once again support for the public schools is the major reason.

Six counties had an increase of from 30 to 35 cents, and 9 counties had an increase of from 20 to 29 cents. In every case, appropriations for schools was the sole major cause. Another 14 counties had an increase of from 10 to 19 cents, and 23 counties had an increase of less than 10 cents.

In the 52 counties with an increase, appropriations for schools was the sole cause in 12 counties, and a major contributing cause in another 30 counties. No other activity approached schools as a factor in increasing taxes. Seven counties, in describing the reasons for the increase, mentioned revaluation. 4 mentioned industrial development programs. 4 mentioned construction or improvement of county buildings and jails, 2 mentioned food surplus distribution and another 3 general welfare increases, two mentioned hospital construction and one mentioned the library. A hint of the future may be seen in the three counties with an increase to meet the cost of community college operation.

One thing is clear. The additional state school appropriations provided by the 1961 General Assembly did not relieve the pressure on counties for additional county school appropriations. Counties will raise far more money for schools this year than they did last year. Counties must still supplement state funds to meet the cost of instructional programs, and counties are responsible for building schools in cities and towns as well as in rural areas.

But the General Assembly did provide relief in other areas. Additional state appropriations for welfare and health activities, and particularly for hospital care of indigent people, reduced pressure in those areas. In the past, a substantial number of counties attributed rate increases to the need for money to finance these activities.

Eighteen counties have a lower rate in 1961. This compares with an average of 14 in the previous years. Chief reason, of course, is revaluation. Eleven counties attributed the decrease to the larger tax base resulting from revaluation. The decrease in these 11 counties ranged from 11 to 70 cents, and it averaged 33 cents. Two counties attributed the decrease to larger assessed valuations resulting from the addition of new property to the tax base. And five counties had general reductions of from 1 to 6 cents, due to economies in operations.

Looking at total tax rates, 11 counties have a rate of $2 or more. This is 2 more than in 1960 and 1959. Ten counties had a rate of under $1. This is one less than last year. Of course, the counties with low rates are not necessarily carrying a lower tax load than counties with higher rates; they usually have higher assessment ratios.

Total county property taxes this year will exceed $100 million for the state as a whole. This compares with $50 million or less just 10 years ago. More than half of the total goes to the construction of public schools and to supplement state appropriations for schools. This is the reason many county officials are convinced that some state or federal aid is necessary for school construction, to relieve the pressure on property taxes.

D.C.T.S. Grademother's To Have Entertainment

The grademother's of Davie County Training School will have an entertainment Saturday, night, October 7, at the home of Mrs. Grace Rhynehardt.

Various entertainment will be available and box suppers will be sold.

Center Development

Center community Development will meet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. for a voter roast prior to the meeting. An interesting program has been planned. Everyone is urged to attend.

Excursion Train To Run This Sunday

Sunday, October 15, the annual excursion train from West Jefferson to Abingdon, Va., return is scheduled and is expected to attract hundreds of visitors as well as local persons.

In addition to scenic beauty through the mountains and across White Top, where the autumn colors are expected to be at their best, there will be other special entertainment including string music.

The excursion train will leave West Jefferson at 9:30 in the morning and return in the afternoon around 4:30. A brief early worship service is planned enroute at White Top with hymn singing.

Lunch will be served on the train and will be included in the price of the tickets. The tentative schedule includes a brief visit to the Barter Theatre in Abingdon where Robert Porterfield will extend greetings; stops enroute at Warrensville, Lansing, Green Cove, and White Top.

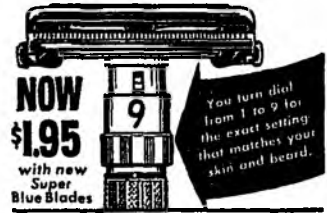

The West Jefferson Woman's Club will sponsor the excursion in cooperation with Lansing school. Mrs. Ed M. Anderson is the general chairman. Tickets must be sold in advance and some special plans for housing will be made for out-of-town visitors.

An old-fashioned square dance is planned for Saturday night and all visitors who have purchased train tickets will be admitted free. There will also be a Craft Fair Saturday afternoon and night for the visitors.

The price of the round trip for adults, including lunch, will be $6.75 and children under 12 years of age will pay $3.50. This price will also include lunch. Children under five years of age accompanied by parents may ride for $1.25 and this includes a lunch with milk.

RETARDED CHILDREN

(Inasmuch as Davie County has for the first time this year a special education class, we believe that local citizens will find the following article of special interest. It is written by Mrs. Lambert Davis of Chapel Hill.)

Quality education in North Carolina means education for these children too.

They are knocking at the door again this year. Chronologically their age is six, and the public schools must accept them. But their mental age is younger.

These are the retarded children. The children with IQ's from 50 to 75. They are the lower two or three percent.

There are 30,000 of them in North Carolina.

They turn up every school year. These are the children who hold the class back. Who grow restless, bored, aggressive; or, contrariwise, grow increasingly apathetic and give up forever the effort of trying to think.

In the past people have said these children learn nothing in regular school. Modern psychologists know better.

They learn. They learn the truth about themselves. That they are inadequate. That they can't measure up. That they'll never make the grade.

They are easily led, easily flattered. They are as easily led into delinquency and crime as in other direction.

But if patiently handled — if carefully and patiently taught in separate classes—they learn to lead quite, useful, law-abiding, productive lives.

They will never be doctors, lawyers, statesmen, educators. They will never learn to think abstractly. But, they will be among the many types of useful citizens the State of North Carolina needs.

Educated, they go into the service trades. They become shoemakers, carpenters, janitors, domestic servants, sales clerks.

In a civilization where everybody, who can, is grabbing for a college education, where everybody is climbing up, these quiet bottom-of-the-ladder workers are increasingly in demand. We need them in North Carolina. And under the protection of our modern minimum wage laws they are well paid. They too can have the satisfaction of feeling successful. But only if they have been taught. Only if their mental abilities have been developed as far as they will go.

Educated, these children can reach a sixth grade level of achievement. Their learning processes are exactly similar to those of normal children, but they learn more slowly and they do not progress as far. The six-year-old educable retardates turning up in our school system this fall, will not be ready to learn to read for another two or three years.

Ideally, these children should be assigned to pre-readiness classes until they are eight or nine. Only then will they be ready to start elementary reading.

This year there will be 300 of these special classes throughout the state. But teachers for this type of class have been hard to find.

"Up to now, we've been caught in a vicious circle," says Paul A. Peeples, who is consultant with the North Carolina program for educable retardates, Department of Public Instruction at Raleigh. Teachers for retarded children must have special training. But up to now there has been limited emphasis on the retarded child in North Carolina. Consequently, our teachers have not gone in for this type of training. It is primarily through lack of applicants that the programs for the special training of these teachers have been curtailed both at Woman's College and at Chapel Hill.

"There are excellent summer programs at East Carolina college, at Western Carolina college, and at North Carolina college in Durham", Mr. Peeples adds. "Once the teachers of North Carolina are assured that the state is behind this program, that the classes, the jobs and the salaries will be there, we in the Education for Exceptional Children section of the State Department of Public Instruction in Raleigh are quite confident that the schools of education throughout the state will offer a greater number of these classes."

We have the need, the money, and the remedy.

It's the sort of job North Carolina can do.

PER-CAPITA INCOME

At the 1950-59 rate of growth, the per capita income of North Carolina citizens will not reach the national average within the next 100 years.

This is one of the conclusions reached in a study of southern incomes by Lee R. Martin, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Arkansas.

Prof Martin reported on his study at an agricultural policy institute in Raleigh. N. C. State College was host for the institute.

In general, Martin said that southern incomes compare more favorably with the national average now than they did in 1940.

He points out, however, that the South did more to narrow the gap between 1940 and 1945 than it has since.

In North Carolina, for example, the per capita income in 1940 was 55 per cent of the national average. By 1945, it had reached 66 per cent of the national average.

By 1950, North Carolina's per capita income had reached 68 per cent of the national average. But by 1959, it had only reached 69 per cent; a 1 per cent rise in nine years.

Generally, other southern states have followed the same pattern followed by

North Carolina: rapid progress during World War II and slow progress since.

In 1959, Florida had the highest per capita income in the South—91 per cent of the national average. Mississippi had the lowest—54 per cent.

The differences in per capita income by counties were even greater. In 1958, the citizens of Wake County, N. C., had a per capita income 82 per cent of the national average. On the other hand, the per capita income in Newton County, Ark., was only 17 per cent of the national average.

In general, rural counties have a much lower per capita income than urban counties.

Martin also found a considerable difference in the income by race and sex. In 1949, for example, the white southern male averaged earning $2,065. The non-white male averaged $1,033. The white southern female averaged $947, and the non female averaged $440.

Martin discounted the argument that "the people in the South are just as well off as people elsewhere" because they produce more of their own food and have lower costs.

He reported that from 1940 to 1958 farm items produced for home consumption declined 37 per cent. He also cited studies which show that regional differences in consumer prices are not large enough to compensate for the differences in incomes.

In summarizing his study, Martin said no other region in the country has as much stake in a high rate of national growth as the South.

He also said that "No group in America would be more likely to benefit from increased expenditures on their education, training and health than rural farm families, especially in the South."

THE AMERICAN WAY

MOST MENTIONED... Friends or enemies or both seem determined that Bert Bennett shall be demoted or promoted from his post as chairman of the Democratic Party in North Carolina.

Within the past month he has been mentioned: U. S. Senator; Lt. Governor; and State Senator. They say he, too, is ambitious for political office because he now accepts speaking engagements whereas here awhile back he eschewed them. He made a rousing speech the other day praising Gov. Terry Sanford. Hardly news, one would note in passing — but it made headlines.

WAIT!... While chairmanship of the Party in this State has on occasion led to elective office, it frequently come in a round about manner. The chairman is appointed to a vacancy by the Governor — and then runs for re-election.

We have had former chairmen go to the State Supreme Court, to the U. S. Senate, to Congress, and to one or two other posts via this route. But there is just nothing available at this particular time suitable to Businessman Bennett's talents. The old time honored post of chairman of the State Highway Commission, a mouth smacking plum to some former Party chairmen, has been filled. There is just nothing of great interest left around here. Bert Bennett obviously desires elective position.

But he must wait. We predict he will go to Congress — either to the Senate or the House—but only through appointment; not by election.

SECOND ROUND... Two of Raleigh's older and most prominent widowers have again made news. Willie Richardson, who was private secretary to Gov. Cameron Morrison, going from there to the N. C. Agriculture Dept. as publicist—and for 20 years publicist for the N. C. Department of Health — was about introducing friends to the new Mrs. Richardson at church last Sunday.

Capers White, with the State Auditor's office for many years and for the past two decades associated with the wine industry, was married again a few days ago.

We wish the best for both couples.

Passing thought: One reason you see so many more widows than widowers is that the latter are soon married again.

MERCHANT TO MOTEL... A. Finley Atkinson, who resigned back in June as manager of Sellers Dept. Store in Burlington, has become associated with Plantation Inn (formerly Scandia Village) on U. S. No. 1 just north of Raleigh.

Owned by the Morse offspring of the Fairbanks - Morse Co., Plantation Inn is situated on 23 acres of land overlooking Graham Lake.

Atkinson was president of the State Merchants Association this past year and it still on its Board of Directors. Another former president of the merchants organization, B. W. Haigh, operates competing Holiday Inn about two miles from Plantation Inn. Haigh is also president of the N. C. County Commissioners Association.

EYES CLOSED... We know of a man who occasionally while on across State trips with his wife closes his right eye and gently lets the car drift toward the right shoulder of the highway — thus scaring her out of a minimum of 15 minutes of chattering conversation. He, of course, has his left eye wide open. But this she cannot see and invariably forgets. Funny?

Somebody told us the other day doctors at the University of Missouri School of Medicine have found that a person averages blinking his eyes 25 times per minute. Each blink runs two-tenths of a second.

They observe further that if you drive 10 hours at 40 miles an hour, you drive 33 miles with your eyes closed!

MAN FOR IT... Not in 30 years has the Democratic Party in North Carolina needed as badly a sharp shooting, energetic day to day publicity and public relations man.

That place in the party is becoming vacant. Tom Davis of Selma, newspaper publisher, Young Democratic enthusiast and long time worker for the party and Terry Sanford has been mentioned for the past.

If he wants it—here's hoping he gets it. There is no more loyal, enthusiastic Democrat anywhere than Tom Davis. Able, too.

TIME TO WORK... Believe it or not, high officials of some of our educational institutions in the State are privately worried about the bond votes coming in November.

If YOU believe in them, better get working now! Forewarned, they say, is forearmed. If we don't get busy with our organizations, we could lose that election next month. We are being too casual, far too nonchalant, about it.

Teachers, YOUR help is needed.

GRANGE CHANGE... One of the best friends of agriculture, Harry B. Caldwell of Greensboro, is at last retiring as Master of the State Grange.

Although not a native of North Carolina, Caldwell ranks right along with Clarence Poe, the late W. Kerr Scott, and one or two others as the best friend farmers of this State have had.

We understand that Caldwell will retain his leadership of the N. C. Cooperative Council and the insurance program tied to the Grange membership. Without these two sources of income, the fine Caldwell family would have had hard sledding indeed in the past 15 years.

The Grange is a grand organization, listing among its members fine people — but it probably should put more emphasis on financing its operations — as it strikes out with a new Muster (Bob Scott) next year.

A starter vacation cabin containing only $445 in lumber and material will serve the family unit additions can be made. Get details from the West Coast Lumberman's Association, Portland, Oregon.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

There are so many fascinating historical aspects to this place that I was not surprised on a recent day when, having been invited to Staten Island to take part in its 300th Anniversary Ceremonies, I was brought face to face with a unique part of New York City which is as memorable as it is interesting. One may feel that he knows what is going on around here; I learned that it was not until one is an active part of the local activities that he really is aware of the historic significance of the various local segments of New York.

First of all, there is the ferry boat ride to Staten Island from Manhattan. This is without doubt the best bargain ride in the modern world. From the picturesque tip of the Battery, one boards a big, roomy and comfortable ferry boat and rides for some twenty-five minutes to the dim shores of Staten Island, with rest rooms, sandwich bars and lounging seats thrown in — for 5 cents! How this buoyant Bonanza has been overlooked by the city fathers who have a weather eye out for the fast buck — or is it the easy vote? — I do not know. But I am sure, and many others agree, that this is the nicest ride for the money from the shores of this island, of all those various and sundry available, still awaiting the interested public.

As the big ferry boat launches out to sea, its big, moaning horn sounds forth a seagoing whistle which would do credit to an ocean liner making in the same direction. Out into the busy waters of New York Harbor, the boat pushes, past the Statue of Liberty and abandoned Ellis Island which is up for sale to any fitting buyer. Now that Lady with the Lamp, I found, though famed in song and story, is still a mighty inspiring sight, as one passes her, light in hand, a gift from a France even less disturbed than she is now, but plenty disturbed at that, as France usually is. As the boat passed, I recalled the words written below the Statue of Liberty:

"Give me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to be free,

The wretched refuse of your teeming shore, Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

Soon one is approaching the shores of Staten Island, an extension of land which, if viewed strictly on the map, appears to be a part of New Jersey. But I learned that many years ago, when the founding fathers of this island were making all the arrangements for its ultimate success, they discovered that New York would give them a better supply of water than New Jersey, and so then and there affiliated with the Empire State. Regardless of its affiliation, Staten Island is, in my opinion, one of the more creditable portions of these United States. In fact, I was amazed to find that within a borough of New York City, one can be in a rural-seeming section, a picturesque place as quiet as a small town, and as creditably provincial.

At the dock I was met by a pleasant welcoming committee and we were driven some 15 miles to the interior of the Island, to the meeting place of the commemorating groups. There we were given a good American lunch of sandwiches, lemonade and iced tea, for the weather was still warm for September. Then I was treated to a view of the first elementary school in the United States, founded some 300 years ago by the good Dutch people who first settled on the Island, later taken over the English and used as a landing place for British General Sir William Howe and his Revolutionary Army. Many of the people then on Staten Island were well-meaning Tories who were conscientiously loyal to the English King.

In my speech, I tried to point out that regardless of what happened yesterday, we are all together in the struggle of today, for freedom of enterprise, for speech and individual initiative, and should not be dependent on the state for anything we do not ourselves earn. The audience was appreciative, enthusiastic and seemed to me to be in the best American tradition, conservative only in the sense of trying to retain that which is best and lasting in our way of life.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where a Washington column writer is accusing them Congressmen of putting the "fix" on handling the U. S. flag situation. He says members of the Congress get requests ever day from schools and groups all over the country wanting a flag that has not flown over the Capitol.

Last year, for instance, Congressmen distributed 16,013 of these flags. If they changed the Capitol flag ever day they wouldn't be but 365 available every year. But our Congressmen has figured out a way to keep the constituents happy. They got a special hidden pole and new flags is hauled up and down this pole at the rate of about 50 a day, then each one is mailed with a printed certificate saying it has flown over the Capitol.

This column writer says the demand for these flags has got so big that an extra pole had to be set-up last July and the folks handling this department has asked the Congress for more money to buy flags and to hire a extra clerk to handle the paper work.

I don't blame our Congressmen for this phony deal. It's us folks back home that puts this burden on our lawmakers that is to blame.

But all the news about our Congressmen this week ain't bad. Senator Byrd, who favors running the Government real economic, reports that he saw signs of improvement as the Congress was closing out the session. He said the House Appropriations Committee considered the annual salary of $6,702 for Chief Justice Warren's chauffeur too high and cut it down to $6,700. The main reason we got freedom in this country, Mister Editor, is because fellers like me can poke a little fun at the Government and not get put in jail. If a feller in Russia calls Khrushchev a flop-eared jackass he gets shipped off to Siberia. In America a feller can call a official most anything he wants and about all the official can do about it is git him cut off the Soil Bank and raise his taxes.

I ain't got but two acres in the Soil Bank and my taxes is about as high as they can git, so about all I got to worry about is death. And I see where the undertakers in some of the big cities is trying to take the sting out of that. The papers say they're getting "hearses in pastel colors" in New York and Chicago. It won't be long now till we git two-toned caskets and tombstones done in technicolor. I tell you, Mister Editor, it's great to live in a country where we got to have three flag poles over the Capitol and where everybody, including the undertakers, is wheeling and dealing by day and working on a better mouse trap by night.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
North Carolina State Board
of Public Welfare

Today's case history from the files of North Carolina's county departments of public welfare is another example of how the aid to dependent children program helps families become independent.

Aid to dependent children is a payment for needy dependent children who have been deprived of parental care and support because of the death, physical or mental incapacity or continued absence from the home of one or both parents, whether natural, step or adoptive.

When Doris and her husband separated five years ago, she was left with three small children to support. The only work she could get was domestic labor and her earnings were not sufficient to provide for her family. She was eligible to receive an aid to dependent children payment from the public welfare office. Doris continued working as a domestic, but all the while she was turning over in her mind the idea of possibly attending college. She had completed her high school education before marriage.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — The 87th Congress has adjourned after the longest session in ten years. Three major appropriation bills delayed the closing of the session by many days. They were the $1.1 billion Supplemental Appropriations bill, the $3.9 billion Public Works bill, and the $3.8 billion compromise version of the Foreign Aid Bill. Several Senate passed bills were not acted on by the House before Congress adjourned. These were bills to establish a National Wilderness Preservation System, a Manpower Retraining bill, and a $51 million program to improve educational TV facilities. The general aid to education bill for school construction and teachers' salaries while it passed the Senate was not passed by the House. These measures could be taken up at the next session of Congress. The controversial bill to create an Urban Affairs and Housing Department was sidetracked in the closing days of this Congress. Tax revision, long range changes in federal-state unemployment compensation systems, and postal rate changes were likewise shelved for the session. The $47.6 billion national defense and military construction appropriations were the largest sums voted in a single year since the Korean conflict. It is a safe assumption that our military requirements will continue to be large for many years to come. The Soviet goal of world domination makes this imperative.

NATION'S CAPITAL — I was impressed as I left Washington for North Carolina with the beauty of our Nation's Capital at this autumn season. The wintry snows of Inauguration Day and the humid weather of a few ago have changed into fall's Indian summer. Washington's majestic skyline as it sweeps from Capitol Hill across the Potomac to the Custis-Lee Mansion is always beautiful. Between these two hills are new bridges, highways, and a vast array of government buildings and apartments going up. The scenic splendor of the site which houses the legislative, judicial, and executive branches of our federal government continues to make it one of the beautiful cities of the world.

60 Second Sermons

By FRED DODGE

Theme:
On The Need For Kindly Feeling
TEXT: "Kindness is the sunshine in which virtue grows." — R. G. Ingersoll.

A doting mother who was charmed by her daughter's voice, asked a friend,

"Don't you think our Emily sings with a good deal of feeling?"

"Yes," replied the friend, "but I hope she doesn't feel as bad as it sounds."

Bertrand Russell, writing in the Saturday Evening Post about "The Expanding Mental Universe" makes the point that our feelings toward our fellow men have not kept pace with our advance in scientific knowledge. For that reason we are not achieving genuine wisdom. Russell states that no matter how much knowledge we attain unless we grow in the sphere of benevolent feeling for one another, the "kindly feeling toward others which religion has advocated," we cannot survive. Without it, he says, man's increased cleverness only brings us nearer disaster.

It is odd how so many learned men, philosophers, scientists, mathematicians, scholars, business men, when they attain success and prominence after study and struggle to the ends of the earth, return to the old basic principle of consideration for others as the ultimate of wisdom.

Make this principle a part of your life, now, and you will be closer to true wisdom than any other teaching can bring you.

to attend classes at night and continue her work as a domestic during the day. She successfully completed two years of college.

Then she had to make a second major decision. Should she - or could she - continue her college work and obtain a degree?

There was no four-year college in the city. Continuing her education would mean that she would not only have to maintain her expenses in another town, but she would have to leave her children. This latter problem was solved when her sister-in-law offered to care for the children, so that Doris could graduate and receive the diploma that would mean so much to her in the future.

The caseworker entered the picture again and helped Doris obtain a work scholarship. She was also able to get her a place to stay in the home of a faculty member. A year passed and Doris' scholastic record was so good that the scholarship was extended to her senior year.

Doris was able to get rides with friends on most weekends and was able to visit her children often. She is very grateful for the wonderful sister-in-law who made it possible for her to attend college.

Doris is thirty-two years old, and this Fall when she draws her first pay check as a primary teacher in the public school system of North Carolina, she will be dropped from aid to dependent children. She has been receiving an aid to dependent children grant for her children for five years. At last, she has achieved her goal of being self-supporting and of being in a position to give her children some of the advantages she wants for them.

New Impala 4-Door Sedan

Rich new styling with Jet-smooth ride '62 CHEVROLET

Think of just about everything you ever wanted in a car—and darned if this one doesn't have it! A road-gentling Jet-smooth ride. New choice of V8 skedaddle. Beauty that stays beautiful—right down to new rust-resisting front fender underskirts.

This one may have you asking, "How did Chevrolet do it?" There's a new V8 choice ranging all the way from a standard 283-cubic-inch sizzler to two 409-cubic-inch powerhouses. And there's that '62 Jet-smooth ride with a supple Full Coil spring at each wheel and well over 700 body and chassis sound insulators and cushioners.

There are longer lived mufflers for all engines. A Grand Canyon of a trunk. Magic-Mirror finish. And, well, we could write a book about it all. Matter of fact, your Chevrolet dealer's got it all down on paper. Get a fill-in from him now.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE OF STYLES

Here's the latest and best in Coleman automatic in-floor heater—Coleman's shallow-depth Shalloflow, the remarkable, small floor furnace with big-furnace heat performance! Fits in the floor, extends only 22 3/4" below and is flood-proof to 19" below. It needs no basement, no pit and no air ducts. Coleman's efficient Bio-Arch Burner saves real money because it gets more heat from the same fuel. It prevents waste in unburned gases.

Here's how a SHALLOFLOW gives your home circulated, even warmth!

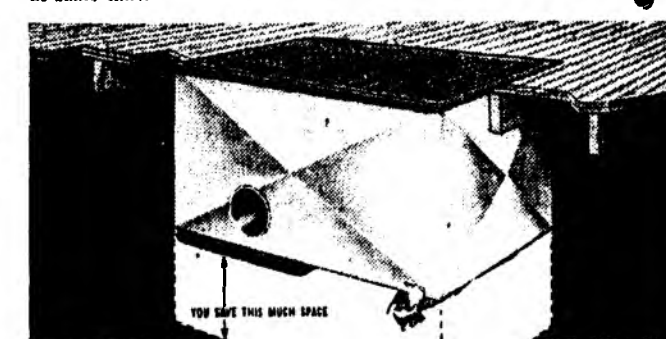

The cold air goes in here
The warm air comes out here
Comfort goes round and round

With a SHALLOFLOW, air won't pack in hot and cold layers from floor to ceiling. A SHALLOFLOW moves the heat for circulating warmth, with a complete change of air 3 to 5 times an hour—puts comfort in the low living zone—keeps floors warm and safe for children. For automatic comfort through cold weather, see Coleman's SHALLOFLOW here today.

DUAL WALL MODEL fits beneath wall or partition and heats adjoining rooms at same time.

FLAT REGISTER MODEL lies flush with the floor. Coleman's SHALLOFLOW takes no living space.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. Use after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Tobacco Nematode Control

One of the best ways to control nematodes in blue-cured tobacco is to plow up tobacco stalks as soon as tobacco is harvested, and disk or drag harrow so all of the soil will be knocked off of the tobacco roots. This one practice has done more to control nematodes than any other one practice in controlling nematodes. You can feed corn instead of hay.

By
Dr. W. R. Murley, Professor of Dairying, N. C. State College

Dairymen are feeding more and more silage each year. More silos, both horizontal and upright types, are being used and many dairymen are feeding silage as the only source of roughage to their cows. Other dairymen feel that a little hay, preferably alfalfa, should be fed daily to the cows and research at State College has shown that greater Ricky Bahnsen of Cooleemee; and L. P. Martin, Jr. and Sam Martin of Mocksville. Mrs. A. A. Holleman remained for a short visit and will return home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kiser, Jr. and sons, Ted and Dicky, spent a recent week end in Onkboro with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Kiser. They also visited Mrs. Kiser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Yarbore in Waco.

dry matter intake is obtained when about 5 lb. of hay is fed daily per cow. In this same trial however, no more milk was produced on a ration containing hay than on all corn-silage ration. But with high producing cows a high level of dry matter intake is necessary to maintain the increased milk flow. Thus, a trial was conducted during the 1960-61 winter feeding period to determine if corn, fortified with a source of protein, could be used instead of alfalfa hay in the ration of high producing cows.

The trial, involving thirty-four Holstein and Jersey cows, was conducted at the Mountain and Piedmont Research Stations and at A. & T. College. Corn silage was fed free choice to all cows and a 16% concentrate was fed at the rate of 1 lb. for each 4 lb. of 4% milk produced. Seventeen of the cows received an average of 5.3 lb. daily of alfalfa hay which analyzed 17% protein. The other 17 cows were fed, in the place of alfalfa hay, a mixture of ground corn and a source of protein to make the mixture equal to the alfalfa hay in protein content. Urea was used as the source of protein at the Research Stations and soybean oil meal was used at A. & T. College. This corn-protein mixture was fed on the silage so that the cows received an average of 4.7 lb. daily per cow.

During the 42-day feeding trial the cows getting the hay produced an average of 39 lb. of 4% milk daily as compared to 39.2 lb. for the corn-protein fed group. These averages were 3.8 and 0.8 lb. lower, respectively, than what the cows were producing before starting the trial. So actually, the corn-protein group was more persistent in maintaining their milk flow than were those getting hay.

Corn silage consumed per day cow by the Jerseys was 68.5 lb. for the hay-fed group and 70.9 lb. for the corn-protein fed cows, and 90.3 and 94.0 lb., respectively for the Holsteins.

With the price relationship that existed during the 1960-61 winter feeding period between alfalfa hay and corn, it is obvious that the feed costs were less for the corn-protein-fed cows than for the hay-fed group. This is true since no differences in the performance of the animals were evident during the trial. As long as good alfalfa hay costs more than $40 per ton, it is more economical to feed a corn-protein mixture if it can be purchased for less than $60 per ton.

Usually, when a heavy corn silage ration is fed to high producing dairy cattle with little or no good hay, a protein shortage may exist unless a high protein grain ration is fed. Calculations have shown that for high producing cows as much as a 20 to 22% grain mixture is needed to supply the protein requirements. Another way of feeding this extra protein is to mix it with corn to make about an 18% protein mixture and then feed this mixture on top of the corn silage. This procedure may be useful for those using a milking parlor where cows have a limited amount of time to eat their grain.

How much grain should a cow get? Some heavy producers should be on a full feed of grain for highest profits, according to some authorities. Other cows simply don't have the inherited capacity for using that much grain. Some dairymen increase a cow's grain by 2 lb. per day until it doesn't increase milk production any more, then continue to feed that level until the cows start dropping in milk and laying on body fat.

The statement that "most dairymen over feed their low producers and under feed the high producers" will be true with heavier grain feeding unless adequate records are kept and the dairymen closely observes those cows that respond to more grain and those that don't. There are no diminishing returns from feeding grain to good cows.

If you have a shortage of good hay to feed with your silage this winter, it may pay you to consider feeding extra grain either on top of the silage or at a higher level in the parlor or stallion at milking time. Compare the prices and save!

SWEET TOOTH

There's nothing a black bear likes better for dessert than a young, tasty Douglas fir tree. Since 1945, West Coast fir tree farmers have lost more trees to black bears than they have to forest fires. The shaggy black bears girdle the trees to get at the sweet cambium layer that lies just underneath the bark, thus killing the young trees.

Change To Be Made To All Number Dialing In This Area

Central To Drop The ME-1 Prefix

The Central Telephone Company will change to all number calling in place of the present two letters five numbers series that are now in use. The change will become effective with the Dec. 4, 1961, issue of the new telephone directory.

C. J. Wilson, local representative of the Central Telephone Company, pointed out that all telephone companies throughout the nation are rapidly changing all number calling as it permits subscribers in distance exchanges to dial exchanges on all number calling without as many errors in dialing.

The date for the Mocksville exchange will begin with 634 in place of the present ME-4. Mr. Wilson pointed out that this will not cause anyone to miss receiving calls since the 634 and ME-4 use the same holes in the dial.

Oak Grove Revival To Begin Sunday

A week of revival services will begin at Oak Grove Methodist Church Sunday, Oct. 15 and will continue through Saturday. The theme for the week will be: "Give God a Chance." The Rev. Bob Dennis, pastor of Bethel Methodist Church in Thomasville, will preach at 7:30 p.m.

Singing will be in charge of groups of the church. Sunday School classes have been assigned by the Commission on Membership and Evangelism to fill the pews each evening. Everyone is urged to attend these services.

Davie Teachers On Duty 8 to 4

Davie County school teachers are going on duty at 8 a.m. each school day and remaining on duty until 4 p.m.

Supt. W. T. Bird announced that this schedule was adopted by the Davie County Board of Education prior to the opening of school and had been in effect since that time. It follows a practice that has been put into effect by schools all over the state at the suggestion of Gov. Terry Sanford and officials of the State Board of Education. The extra-time is being utilized by the teachers in planning their school work.

Supt. Bird urged parents to come by the school and see the teachers during the extra hour following the dismissal of school if they have any questions or problems concerning their children.

Mr. Bird also pointed out that even with the extra time required at school, most of the teachers were required to put in many hours of work at home in correcting papers, preparing examinations, etc.

Speech Therapist Is PTA Speaker

The speech therapist at the Graylyn Children's Clinic spoke to the members of the Mocksville Parent - Teachers Association, Monday night on "Reading Problems."

Mrs. Gray Johnson Walls pointed out that the most common disabilities found in children with poor reading ability are (1) poor hearing; (2) poor vision; and (3) poor memory.

Mrs. Johnson said that children should be taught the names of the letters of the alphabet and that the teaching of the word meaning was important.

President Bill Daniels presided. The Rev. James White had charge of the devotional, "The Nearness of God."

Mrs. Forrest Whitaker reported that 19 subscription to the PTA magazines had been sold.

Mrs. Grace Auman, chairman of the Grade Mothers' committee, reported that a series of articles was being planned for the newspaper on "Meet Your Teachers."

James Summers, membership chairman, reported 402 members of the local organization. The room count was won by the rooms of Miss Chunn and Mrs. Shutt.

Nancy S. Kimmer Takes Part In Dixie Classic

Miss Nancy Sue Kimmer of Mocksville was among the eighteen beauty queens that participated in the ceremonies opening the Dixie Classic Fair, Tuesday. The girls, including the reigning Miss North Carolina, were escorted by members of the Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines.

Following the official opening at 10:30 a.m., the girls were introduced to military escorts and were interviewed and photographed for radio, television and newspapers. At noon a special luncheon was held at the Old Town Country Club for the girls and their escorts, and was followed by further participation in ceremonies at the Fair on Tuesday afternoon.

Arrested were Thomas Hamilton Dudley, 39, of Kannapolis, and John Phillip Frye, 23, of China Grove, charged with breaking and entering, larceny and receiving.

Chief Deputy J. D. Campbell gave this account:

Mr. and Mrs. Allen returned to their home about 7:45 p.m. after visiting neighbors and found that someone had removed a fan from a window and crawled in. The Allens went immediately to a back room where they had $1,000 in a small cedar chest. The chest was gone.

Church Of God To Have Revival

A revival will begin Friday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of God of Prophecy at Ephesus. The Rev. Mr. Strickland of Winston-Salem will preach. Special singing will be each night. All musicians and singers are cordially invited to attend and participate in the song service.

The pastor of the church is the Rev. M. L. Waller.

Veterans Grease and Tallow Co. To Participate In Trade Fair

The Veterans Grease and Tallow Company will participate in the North Carolina Trade Fair which opens in Charlotte on Thursday and runs through October 21st.

The local industrial plant will participate in a display with the North Carolina Producers of Animal and Poultry Fats and Products. Ralph Wright of the Veterans Grease and Tallow Company will be on duty at the display each day.

This display will be a part of a display of 346 manufacturing firms showing their wares in almost 400 booth spaces. These displays will occupy the entire Coliseum and the first floor of the Charlotte Merchandise Mart.

Everything from tobacco to transistors, from textiles to timber products, will be on display. Actual working models of machines, live models showing North Carolina-made fabrics and apparel, and numerous educational features will highlight the exhibits.

Of especial interest to the general public will be the free distribution of two famous North Carolina food specialties - ham biscuits and fresh shrimp, the latter flown in daily from the coast.

Especially noteworthy among the educational features of the Trade Fair will be the life-sized replica of the Mercury space capsule which Commander Alan Shepard used in his epoch-making flight into space and back. Towering 26 feet high, the capsule will be on display in the Coliseum building, where it will be immediately visible to all who attend the Fair.

Hostess

Miss Connie Dell Wagner, "Miss Mocksville of 1961" will serve as hostess at the North Carolina Trade Fair which gets underway on Thursday of this week. The official Trade Fair hostesses have been selected from recent participants in the Miss North Carolina Pageant.

These girls, from cities throughout the state, will be dressed in identical hostess costumes.

Miss Wagner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Wagner of Mocksville, will be on duty Saturday, October 14th. Serving with Miss Wagner on this date will be: Jo Carol Hobgood, "Miss Wake County"; Ann Elizabeth Slower, "Miss Spencer"; Judy Ann Graves, "Miss Statesville"; Norma Baird, "Miss Robeson County".

Pvt. C. G. Anderson In Basic Training

PVT. CHARLES G. ANDERSON

Private Charles G. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Anderson of Mocksville and the husband of Mrs. Olena Anderson of Mocksville has been assigned to Company A, 19th Battalion, 5th Training Regiment at Fort Jackson, S. C., for eight weeks of Basic Combat Training. This is his first phase of six months active duty training with the U. S. Army and a part of the obligation he incurred upon enlisting in the Army Reserve. His Army Reserve unit is: 108th Division Det. 7, Winston-Salem, N. C.

He will be taught rifle marksmanship under the U. S. Army's "Trainfire" program which enables the modern soldier to become a better rifleman in less time than previous methods. In this program, most of his training consists of firing his rifle at pop-up targets at unknown distances on terrain which duplicates combat areas. Other highlights of his intensive training include squad tactics, bayonet and hand to hand combat, and crawling the infiltration course while machine gun fire is popping overhead. Many of his instructors are combat veterans of

Mrs. T. S. Ramsaur, Suicide Victim

Mrs. Thomas Stewart Ramsaur, 51, who lived in the old Foard home at South River, was found dead on the ground back of her home around noon on Monday.

The local sheriff's office reported Mrs. Ramsaur's death was self-inflicted. The body was found on the ground with a rope around the neck. The other part of the rope was tied to a second floor bannister, the office reported. The rope had apparently broken in the fall of the body.

The former Jane Trott, she was born in New London on May 30, 1910, daughter of the late H. S. and Louise Foard Trott. She was educated in the Wilmington schools.

Mrs. Ramsaur was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Conway, S. C., the Garden Club of Wilmington, and was on the executive board of the Girl Scouts in Wilmington.

She leaves her husband, Thomas Stewart Ramsaur, whom she married on Oct. 5, 1935; three daughters, Mrs. T. W. Johnson of Harrisonburg, Va., Miss Janet Ramsaur of the Rowan Memorial Hospital in Salisbury, and Miss Nancy Allison Ramsaur of the home; one brother, Graham Foard Trott of Raleigh; two sisters, Mrs. Elsie Trott Grogan of Salisbury and Miss Henry Young Trott of Wilmington. One aunt, Miss Laura Foard of the home, also survives.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. at St. Luke's Episcopal Church by the Rev. O'Kelly Whitaker, rector, and the Rev. Robert H. Hobart of Conway, S. C. Burial was in New London Cemetery in New London.

MAYOR'S ENDORSEMENT

WHEREAS: October 31st, Halloween, is a holiday especially for children; and

WHEREAS: Millions of American youngsters share the holiday each year by Trick or Treating for UNICEF and "the world's needy children;" and

WHEREAS: Trick or Treat for UNICEF is a constructive expression of American children's concern and friendship for their less fortunate contemporaries; and

WHEREAS: UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, is helping about 55 millions children and mothers to better health in over 100 countries and territories by assisting governments in programs of disease control, nutrition, and maternal and child welfare; and

WHEREAS: Each coin collected by Trick or Treating will mean food or medicine for the sick and hungry children of the world.

I, D. J. Mando, Mayor of the town of Mocksville, do hereby proclaim October 30th as UNICEF Day, and urge every citizen old and young alike to participate in Trick or Treat for UNICEF and to welcome the properly identified Trick or Treating at the door. In witness whereof, I have set my hand and seal of the town of Mocksville, on this 12th day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty one.

Mrs. Jim Fuller, Mrs. C. C. Chapman and Mrs. Henry Blair are in charge of the arrangements for the local collections. They announced that the time for collecting will be Monday night, October 30, from 6:30 until 8 p.m. They also urged the public to give only to the children who properly identify themselves with the UNICEF badges and cartons for collecting the money.

MORE ABOUT $1,000 Breakin

house but that they hadn't done anything yet," the deputy said. Deputy Campbell, still unaware that the Allen house had been robbed, took Frye into custody and decided to do some more cruising. When they reached the Hardison Methodist Church some of Allen's neighbors flagged him down and told him about the robbery.

Frye then told the deputy that Dudley, was behind the church with the money, waiting to be picked up for the get-away.

The deputy looked behind the church and found the cedar chest broken open. The found $103 in change in the chest. But no one was there.

Deputy Campbell lodged Frye in the county jail and did some more cruising. About midnight he recognized the car he had chased away earlier parked on U.S. 601 about eight miles south of Mocksville. Sweat was asleep at the wheel. Deputy Campbell arrested him and took him to jail.

Then the deputy decided to go cruising just one more time to look for Dudley. He decided to use Sweat's car this time.

He drove back to the spot where he had found Sweat "waiting for a woman." He parked, and turned off the lights.

About 1 a.m. Dudley walked up and started to get into the car.

Dudley had $600 in $100 bills with him. This, added to the money found behind the church, made $703. The other $297 was still missing.

Rebels Beat Monroe, 14-0

Playing their best game of the year, the Davie County Rebels overpowered a strong Monroe team last Friday night for a 14-0 win.

This win, coupled with a loss by North Rowan to Mooresville, boosted the Rebels into a tie with North Rowan for second place in the North Piedmont Conference.

This week the Rebels will play at Children's Home in another conference game. Kick-off will be at 4 p.m.

Playing before a large homecoming crowd, Davie took the opening kick-off and on straight power plays literally "stuffed" the ball down the throats of Monroe as they marched for a touch down with Larry Smith carrying across on a five-yard run. Smith also added the extra point.

The Rebels duplicated this feat in the third quarter with Charlie Whitaker carrying across from the one and adding the extra point on a run.

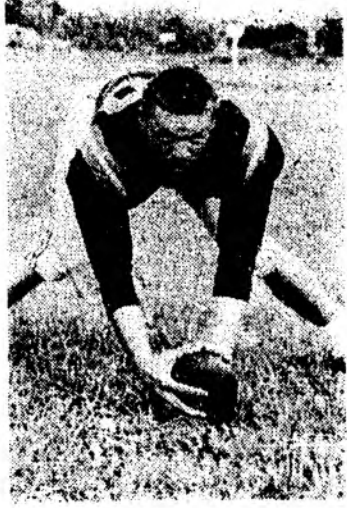

The Rebels showed their best blocking and tackling of the season as Monroe never threatened in the game. Buddy Plott, Ed Bowles, Jim Sheek, Charlie Whitaker, Jim Eaton, and Tim Davis, were all outstanding on defense. Offensively the running of Larry Smith, Charlie Whitaker and Ronnie Beard, and the ball handling of Jerry Shore provided the spark.

The Rebels had 13 first downs to 5 for Monroe and amassed 230 yards rushing to 86 for Monroe. Monroe completed one pass in three attempts for a gain of 15 yards. Davie tried two without a completion.

Davie punted 6 times for an average of 27.5 yards per kick.

JERRY SHORE
—Quarterback—

BUDDY PLOTT
—Outstanding On Defense—

Monroe punted four times for an average of 36.5 yards. Neither team lost the ball by a fumble. Monroe was penalized a total of 90 yards; Davie lost 35 yards on penalties.

The Murals Of North Carolina

Fourteen murals . . . depicting significant events in North Carolina's history . . . now adorn the wall in the assembly room of the Joseph Palmer Knapp Building, Institute of Government, University of North Carolina. These murals were painted by Francis Vandever Kighler.

The Institute of Government has made available to this newspaper copies of these murals along with the story of what they represent. Believing these to be of interest to our readers, we are presenting them in order . . . THE MURALS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Mural Eight

LAFAYETTE IN THE OLD SOUTH

The carefree way of life in the prosperous antebellum South, with its graciousness and charm, was considered by the rest of the world to be the ideal expression of American culture. In the above mural, "Lafayette in the Old South," the romance, the gaiety, and the brilliance of the period is depicted.

In 1825 the great Frenchman, the Marquis de Lafayette, who had rallied so nobly to the cause of the American Revolution almost fifty years earlier, visited these shores. He toured the country and was greeted with the greatest acclaim, fêted and honored wherever he went. North Carolina was particularly warm in its appreciation and even named a city, Fayetteville, in his honor.

The mural depicts a reception given in Lafayette's honor at a prosperous North Carolina plantation. In the distance the pillars of a famous mansion of the period rise above a mass of wisteria that forms a background for the central group. Lafayette stands between his host and hostess while being introduced to the guests as they arrive. At the moment depicted, a shy belle of debutante age is being presented; filled with awe, she looks up at him. The gallant Frenchman, appreciative of her youth and admiration, is holding her hand and about to bring it to his lips in a gesture she will always cherish. Modestly in the background, the sister of the hostess watches the proceedings with an appraising eye.

To the right of the central group is a tall brunette beauty with an officer of the militia clinging to her arm, intent on winning his way into her affections. In an aside he is prompting a servant with a fiddle to play some love lyric that will soften her heart.

Below this group there are three young women who have already been presented to the guest of honor and are now on the look out for beaux and further entertainment. The one in the center it clearly more worldly than the others; the one on the right seems more concerned with food than flirtation. By her side a woman servant wearing a bandana carries a tray of mint juleps, while in front of her a little boy looks up at them longingly.

In the lower right corner a field hand is holding a board on which some hands of tobacco are piled. The young son of the family is showing the tobacco off to a visitor who holds a bundle of leaves aloft and examines them with a critical eye.

In the lower left corner, a Negro mammy, obviously very dear to the household, entertains two little girls with an imitation of a rabbit by means of a handkerchief she folds over her hand. To the left, another little girl wanders restlessly off into the crowd.

Above this group is what appears at first glance to be a casual introduction of two strangers. Closer examination of the man in the center who is bringing the others together indicates that it might be something more than that. Perhaps he is bringing men who are enemies together. This would not be unusual for at that period a strong rivalry existed in North Carolina between the inhabitants of the lowlands of the east and those who dwelt in the mountains of the west. Behind them a sweet-faced house servant is standing.

Further up is a couple obviously very much in love. The man, an officer of the militia, is gazing quizzically at the beauty who coquettishly clings to his arm. In the background behind the hostess are two other officers in attendance on Lafayette.

The figures of the host and hostess in this mural are those of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Palmer Knapp. Their love of North Carolina and what they did for the state made them the logical choice for the artist to paint in this role. Most of the models painted in this mural are members of Mrs. Knapp's family, and the servants were all old family retainers and friends who had been with them for many years.

FUNERALS

Miss Blanche Early

Funeral services for Miss Blanche Early of 446 Brent Street, Winston-Salem, were held Wednesday afternoon at Vogler's Chapel. The Rev. Ronald Rice and Dr. Paul Early officiated. Burial was in the Forsyth Memorial Park.

Mrs. Early died at 5:47 p.m. Monday at the City Hospital. She had been in declining health nine years and seriously ill two months.

She was born in Yadkin County near Elson to Peter S. and Mary Jane Blackwell Early. Her family later moved to Mocksville.

Miss Early was educated at Sunnyside Seminary at Mocksville and moved to Winston-Salem in 1906.

She was a retired employee of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. where she worked in the credit department for 25 years.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church, a charter member of Capernaum Sunday School and was secretary of the intermediate department for many years.

Surviving are a twin sister, Mrs. Grace Early of the home and three brothers, J. H. Early, 1108 Chestnut St., A. Early, 144 Park Circle and Frank T. Early of San Mateo, Calif.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Baptist Hospital where he was a patient for a few days. He is much improved.

Dean Foster To Be In Drama At Mars Hill

Charles Dean Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Foster of Advance, will appear in the Founders Day-Homecoming drama performance "Family Portrait" at Mars Hill College Saturday night (Oct. 14).

The three-act play will be presented on the 35-foot by 80-foot stage of the college's new $1 million auditorium and fine arts building.

It is a simple, reverent picture of the family of Jesus and encompasses the three years of his ministry.

Directing the performance is Mrs. Elizabeth, head of the drama department at the Baptist Junior college. Sets were designed and lighting arranged by Glenn L. Vernon, a new member of the faculty in speech and dramatics.

THE NEW AUTO INSURANCE LAW

There is apparently considerable confusion and misunderstanding among North Carolina motorists about the new Safe Driver Plan and other recent changes which affect the cost of car insurance in the state.

To clarify the situation, there have been four basic changes as follows:

1. The state has approved an 18.7% increase in auto liability insurance rates for private passenger cars.
2. All companies doing business in the state must charge the same amount for liability insurance.
3. Persons with safe driving records are eligible for a 10% discount from basic liability rates, with higher rates for persons with accident or conviction records.
4. A new law directs all auto insurance companies to offer optional uninsured motorist coverage to all liability insurance policy holders.

The 18.7% increase in liability rates applies to all insurance companies and therefore to all policyholders in North Carolina. However, those with a accident-free and conviction-free records are entitled to a 10% discount from the basic rate.

In some respects this discount is not entirely new. For instance some companies have given a discount of 10% from standard liability rates for many years to all their policyholders. The difference now is that the 10% decrease can be given only to motorists who qualify by their driving records. The remaining policyholders must be charged higher rates under the provisions of the Safe Driver Plan rate schedule.

The optional uninsured motorist amendment is intended to guarantee compensation to auto accident victims when the driver at fault is not insured. The amendment was passed by the legislature in recognition of the fact that one of nine accidents reported in North Carolina last year involved hit and run drivers or motorists with no insurance. All companies will offer the coverage for four dollars a year.

Insurance companies in the state are now engaged in the mammoth task of assembling the data necessary to determine which policyholders are entitled to the 10% discount for liability insurance. To qualify for any discount, every liability insurance owner is required to provide certain information. Most companies are sending questionnaires to each of its policyholders to obtain this information.

U. S. Savings Bonds

INVESTMENT FOR AMERICA...

"The best assurance of sound government finance is widespread ownership of the national debt, and the U. S. Savings Bond Program provides a uniquely stabilizing instrument in the management of our monetary and fiscal affairs", said Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon recently.

It was a timely utterance, coming as it did when people are asking what they can do for their country in this difficult time in which America finds herself.

Last week the U. S. Treasury Department honored Knox Johnstone of Mocksville for his work as a volunteer chairman in the Savings Bond program, and it was pointed out that Davie County had already this year achieved around 66% of its $200,000 quota. This apparently means that there are a great number of citizens that consider the U. S. Savings Bonds as a profitably investment. However, shouldn't they be considered much more?

An investment in a U. S. Savings Bond is an investment in America and our way of life. It is an investment in a fund to help preserve democracy and freedom in this nation.

Quimby Melton, editor of the Griffin Daily News of Griffin, Va., recently recounted a conversation of two businessmen of that area as follows:

One businessman said, "I'm going to buy a bond for each of my three grandchildren. I want to do my part to help guarantee that they never live under the rule of a totalitarian dictator."

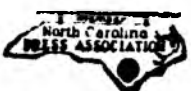

The second man, a large property owner and a man who owns many gilt edge stocks and bonds said:

"I have never bought a Saving Bond. For I can earn more interest with my money by other investments. But this can be called a national emergency. I'm going to buy at least $1,000 worth of bonds, not as an investment, but as a contribution to my government. I realize, looking at this from a hard boiled business viewpoint, that if the communists take over, all the property I own and all the stocks and bonds in my safety deposit box will not be worth a dime."

There you have two viewpoints. The

Your Eyes - GOOD AS YOU THINK?

Don't Guess - CHECK YOUR EYES ANNUALLY!

"SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT"

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It's ritting so I know more folks in the funeral columns of your paper than I do in the wedding announcements. I ain't concealing the fact that I've past the three-score milepost. I ain't like the wimmen his feller was writing about the other day. He said wimmen would go to "greater lengths to conceal their age than anything else." On account of this not being a very concealing generation fer wimmen, I'm pleased to note they got a little modesty in this direction.

But what I started out to say was I been in this troubled world a long time, including two world wars, two panics and several of their first and second cousins known today as depressions and recessions. Even a feller like me gits a little wisdom with the years and I figger, if you dig down to the grass roots of the situation in the world today, you got to come up with just one answer. People living under Communism ain't got nothing to fight fer and we have. That has got to be the difference between us winning and them losing.

Per instant, I was reading in the papers where Americans has kept piling up savings in Government bonds even during the unemployment. This report from the Treasury Department last week showed that at the end of June this year the holdings of these bonds was at a new high of $44 billions. Sales of these bonds for the first half of 1961 was 5 per cent ahead of last year and cashing in was the lowest in 6 year.

Us Americans has not only got freedom of religion, speech, assembly, the ballot, and all them other freedoms, but we own the Government and the country, got plenty to eat and wear, and has got $44 billion stored away fer a rainy day. People living under Communism ain't got nothing, and secretly they know it, and when the chips git down people ain't going to hang together and fight very long or very hard fer somepun under which they ain't got no rights and in which they ain't got no stock.

If we git into a nuclear war with Russia a heap of the world is going to be destroyed and you and me, Mister Editor, might not be here, but what's left of this world is going to belong to free Americans and our allies in the cause fer freedom. I'm as positive of that as I am that there'll be crabs in my patch next spring—atomic fallout or no atomic fallout.

And speaking of fallout and such things, I was reading in the papers the other day where this science feller from Yale claims a hole has developed in the Milky Way. I'm mighty glad to learn about it. A little ventilation in the world right now, special around Moscow, ain't going to hurt nobody.

Uncle Dave

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
N. C. State Board of Public Welfare

In the aid to dependent children program of public welfare in North Carolina, there are many instances where such help to one family has affected an entire community. Aid to dependent children is a money payment for needy dependent children who have been deprived of parental care and support because of the death, physical or mental incapacity or continued absence from home of one or both parents, whether natural, step or adoptive.

In one county a widow who had several children was given an aid to dependent children grant, as it was virtually impossible for her to maintain her home and support her children on the meager amount she was able to earn. Despite the fact that her children were small, she managed to secure some part time work caring for several elderly persons. Actually, she had no formal training, but had always had an interest in this field of work and had a special aptitude for working with older people. Finally she was able to save enough money to take a correspondence course in nursing, completed the course, and received her diploma. Ten years ago she became interested in the program of boarding homes for aged persons. Her children were grown and self-supporting by that time, and she felt that now she might be able to carry out such a project in her own home.

With the help of the caseworker from the county department of public welfare she was able to plan this project so that her home met the standards for licensing by the State Board of Public Welfare. These standards include proper facilities for the safety and welfare of the residents in the home. Her boarding home was the first of its kind licensed in her county. It is still in operation and is currently licensed to accommodate 17 elderly persons. Much has been accomplished in improvements of the home and its services to the residents since it opened.

In the same community a neighbor, whose husband had died after a lingering illness, was also left with a family of small children to care for. She had no adequate income and was eligible to receive aid to dependent children to help meet her expenses. She had cared for her husband for several years before his death and as a result, she too became interested in establishing a boarding home for elderly persons. She talked with the neighbor who had established the first home, and from her received much help and encouragement. Her boarding home was established seven years ago and is currently licensed for seven persons.

The establishment of these two boarding homes for the aged in the county stimulated interest in the program and since that time four other boarding homes for aged persons have been opened. The six homes now accommodate 80 persons and at the present time a man and wife are interested in building a seventh home which will accommodate from 20 to 30 persons.

Thus, the financial assistance given to two women by the aid to dependent children program not only helped to make them self-supporting citizens - it helped to bring about the establishment of facilities which are a direct contribution to the county. These women who once received help from tax money are now tax payers themselves.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK . . .

By NORTH CALLAHAN

When I was in World War II, there was a handsome, genial Englishman in New York who worked closely with the American Army. He was then known as C. B. (Bill) Ormerod, of the British Information Services, and was as democratic as could be expected. One night he was my guest on Governors Island, and later we were invited to a party in Manhattan for H. V. Kaltenborn. It happened that at the time, all army vehicles were in use except an ordinary truck. I asked Bill if this would be all right for our transportation, and he typically said it would be jolly all right and all that sort of thing. So we rode in the truck up to the party. Now I am not sure that I would again ask Bill to ride in that plebian manner; for he has just been knighted by Queen Elizabeth, whose press representative he was when she was here in 1957. So he is now Sir Berkeley (pronounced Barkley, Bill says) Ormerod. But I have an idea that under similar circumstances — which hopefully will never be — that Bill would ride in the truck again just as cheerfully and successfully as in those days of world conflict 17 years ago.

Pauline Frederick, the radio commentator, said informally, that there was something fishy about the death of the late Dag Hammarskjold. From the way she spoke, he meant a lot to her in a personal way, and she blamed not only the Congolese, but the British and Americans for lack of coordination, information and protection for his untimely passing. Said Miss Frederick, "It still is yet to be learned, if the death of Dag Hammarskjold there is also the death of the United Nations."

With so many of us eating cereals as our first daily diet, it is interesting to note that breakfast food made its first appearance at 28th Street and 3rd Avenue some five decades ago. There, Dr. John H. Kellogg lived in a little third-story apartment room and ordinarily his breakfast consisted of seven graham crackers and an apple, one coconut a week, and an occasional slice of potatoes or oatmeal. He said his idea for breakfast food grew from economical reasons and those of necessity for a proper diet. He went on to Battle Creek, Michigan, and to fame as the breakfast food man.

Colonel Henry S. Otto, retired from the Army, and one of the best regarded and most friendly persons I know, reports that he has been approached by a firm that wants to produce, along with the other such products, "instant money." Hank, as he is affectionately called, told me that recently he took a young French girl visitor to the United Nations. As they waited for her to mail a postcard, they noticed a man who had two teen aged sons, who for some reason, had begun to fight. The father admonished them with the words, "Boys, stop. This is a place of peace." Whereupon one of the sons replied, "Joe stepped on my foot, and there will be no peace until I sock him!"

The late Grove Patterson was highly respected by the newspaper people and anyone else who knew the Ohio journalist well. Wrote he, "I remember one sunny afternoon when I was walking from the country schoolhouse to my farm home. I was carrying the little tin pail in which mother had put my lunch.

With two or three other boys, I loitered on the road to play at a brook which had a swift current. Leaning over too far, I slipped into the stream and lost my dinner pail. Sometimes I drive past that place and occasionally I see little boys playing there. I never go by that I do not wish to myself, that I could warn those kids not to fall into the creek."

Here and There: Joe Smith says that the young man who was asked here, when he complained about being drafted for military service, if he did not owe something to his country, and replied, "Six months," should be given just that much time in the U. S., then deported . . . Bob Wigington of Pan American World Airways, wanted to know how many words were in the Bible phoned the American Bible Society and was promptly told, 75,000,000.

Pulp, paper and paperboard have been rated the second fastest growing industry in America in recent times. In ten years, pulp output nearly doubled, and companies in this branch of wood processing have been investing about a half billion dollars a year to expand. Mills are located in 42 of the states. New York leads all states in jobs in this field, with more than 64,000, followed by Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Illinois.

TEXT: Good order is the foundation of all good things" - Edmund Burke.

A farmer offered himself as a candidate and found himself elected to the State Legislature. After serving in this law-making body a few weeks he returned home for a week-end.

"Sarah," he informed his wife, "I've discovered one thing. I'm in the first insane asylum I ever saw that was run by the inmates!"

All of us become confused at one time or another. Some remain confused all the time. Chronic confusion is childish. Instead of facing problems some people retreat into confusion, helplessly hoping that someone will rescue them or that their problems will disappear.

There is a simple way to end confusion and solve problems. Write them down. Reduced to writing, problems are less ominous. Taken one by one, we see a problem that doesn't need an answer today. Set that aside. Another problem belongs to someone else. Give it to him. The problem that needs an immediate solution can be acted on alone. Solve it. Forget it. Take the next problem. Solve that and forget it. Much confusion results from regretting old solutions. When confused, face front. Don't look back. Put your problems in writing. Problems written down are watered down - soluble.

Social Security In Davie County

Recent social security amendments change both the requirements for payment of benefits and the rate of social security taxes according to James P. Temple, District Manager of the Salisbury, N. C. Social Security Office. The new changes include the following:

1. Men may now get reduced payments as early as age 62.
  2. Some workers already drawing the minimum monthly payment of $33 had their checks increased to $40.
  3. People can now earn more and still draw some social security payments.
  4. Workers may now qualify for benefits if they have credit for at least one quarter of work under social security for each year since 1950 up to the year they reach 65 (62 for women).
  5. Payments to aged widows, and widowers have been raised about ten percent. When only one parent is receiving payments, that parent also got an increase.
- In making these changes, Mr. Temple continued, Congress has shown its usual concern for the financial soundness of the Social Security Trust Fund. To maintain the fund with enough income and reserve to make these increases in payments, Congress had adjusted the tax rates upward as follows:

Calendar Yrs.	Employers and Employees, ea.
	New	Old
1962	3 %	3 3/4 %
1963-65	3 1/2 %	3 3/4 %
1966-67	4 %	4 1/4 %
1968	4 %	4 1/2 %
1969 and after	4 1/2 %	4 3/4 %
Self-Employed
New	Old
4 1/2 %	4 3/4 %
5 1/4 %	5 1/4 %
6 %	6 %
6 3/4 %	6 3/4 %

The people who were due increased checks received the increase automatically early in September. Mr. Temple reminded beneficiaries that only aged widows, widowers, individual workers and families who are drawing low benefits, and some parents, got these larger amounts. Everyone else did not get a raise under the new law.

Workers who want further information may get in touch with the social security office at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C., telephone ME 3-4512.

Future social security benefits to a worker and his family can be assured only through the correct reporting of earnings, according to James P. Temple, manager of the Salisbury, N. C. Social Security Office.

Mr. Temple pointed out that the earnings for the past calendar quarter - July, August, and September - are due in the Internal Revenue Service Office by October 31, 1961.

It is necessary to file the quarterly earnings report even if only one employee is involved or only small amounts of earnings. The law applies to employers of household help as well as to business employers. However, in the case of household help - maid, babysitter, cleaning woman or handy man - the report is not required unless they earn $50 or more in the three-month period.

A convenient, envelope-type form, number 942, is provided for reporting household employees' earnings. This form can be obtained from any Internal Revenue Office and can be prepared in just a few minutes.

Additional information and the necessary reporting forms can be obtained from the Internal Revenue Office.

Conference Held For Social Security Officials

A conference of Managers and Assistant Managers from the Social Security Administration District Offices in Region III was held in Asheville, on Oct. 2, 3, and 4, according to James P. Temple, Manager of the Salisbury District Office. The Salisbury office, which serves Davie County, was represented by Temple and his Assistant District Manager, Donald Robinson.

Temple said the theme of the conference was "Improving Our Management Practices to Provide Better Public Service in the Sixties." Various topics of interest and concern to emphasize and implement this theme were discussed.

The Regional Office, Region III in Charlottesville, Va., serves the following areas: District of Columbia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Puerto Rico, Virginia, West Virginia, and the Virgin Islands.

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinking) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "I have never known a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Pfc. John H. O'Neal Serving In Germany

Pfc. John H. O'Neal, 19, son of John F. O'Neal, Route 1, Mocksville, recently participated with other personnel from the 1st Reconnaissance Squadron, 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment in familiarization firing with the Army's new M-14 rifle in Fulda, Germany.

The M-14, which is being issued to Army units in Germany, will replace the M-1 rifle, carbine, Browning automatic rifle and the M-3 submachine gun. The new rifle is lighter than the M-1, packs the fire power of a light machinegun and fires the standard 7.62 millimeter NATO cartridge.

O'Neal, an automatic rifleman in the squadron's Troop B in Fulda, entered the Army in January, 1960, and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., before arriving overseas the following July.

He attended Davie County High School and was employed at the Jeff Tutterow Esso Service Station prior to entering the Army.

Study Of Wheat Program Needed

The 1962 Wheat Stabilization Program made possible by the passage of the Agricultural Act of 1961, makes possible many benefits not only for farmers but for farmers, consumers, and businessmen. However, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee, if farmers do not understand the program or if they make a decision regarding the program which is based on misinformation or incomplete information they could hurt themselves. This, he said, is especially true in the case of small wheat farmers.

Because of the chance that misinformation might cause one of the small wheat farmers — those who have been growing 15 or less acres of wheat — to make a wrong decision, Smoot urged them to come into the county ASCS office to get the right information.

For instance, Smoot said, many wheat farmers are asking who is subject to penalties.

Some general conditions must be met by farmers who have been growing 15 acres or less of wheat. If marketing quota penalties are to be avoided, such producers can plant for harvest no more wheat than the smaller of 13½ acres or the highest acreage grown in 1959, 1960, or 1961.

The ASCS workers in the County Office are always willing to discuss individual problems with wheat producers.

Rotary Hears School Report

A report on the Davie County High School from the viewpoint of a student was given to Rotarians, Tuesday by Art Upshaw, president of the student council.

The growth of the school for the past six years was described—688 students the first year to 930 students enrolled this year—from 28 teachers the first year to 34 teachers this year.

Upshaw discussed the school spirit at the school pointing out that it was reaching a new high this year.

Discussing education, he said: "You are hearing a lot today about quality education—but it is not all just talk. The majority of the students are striving hard to get a good education."

The speaker told of how the school was stepping up its standards for education: Increasing from 16 to 18 (next year) the credits required for graduation (17 this year)—And the abolishing of study halls in order for the students to take five credits per year instead of four. He told of three new courses being offered this year: English Composition; Advanced Algebra; and solid geometry and trigonometry.

Upshaw also proposed that a fallout shelter be constructed for the local high school in conjunction with concrete stands on the athletic field.

He also cited complaints of the school as: (1) Beautiful library but not enough books; (2) Menu complaints, but pointed out that "we face it, some foods are not as delicious to us as others—but nevertheless as all right; (3) A more complete vocational and guidance counseling; (4) Possible addition of Spanish as a foreign language.

"Within a short time I believe that the Davie County High School will rank among the top schools of the state," said Upshaw.

Bob Hall had charge of the program and presented Dave Stilwell, principal of the high school, who in turn introduced Art Upshaw.

President Gordon Tomlinson presided. Special guests included Bruce Levine of Winston-Salem; Bunn Hackney of High Point; Frank Reins of Hickory; and Bill Ellis, student guest.

Two Cars Involved

In Wreck Here Sunday

A woman was injured and two cars damaged in a wreck Sunday afternoon on U. S. Highway 64 West, just inside the city limits of Mocksville.

Mrs. Nora Yates of Statesville, a passenger in one of the cars, suffered a fractured ankle. She was taken to a hospital in Statesville.

According to Mocksville Police- man A. L. Rogers, who investigated the accident, a 1955 Dodge Stationwagon being operated by Fred Lee Swann, 58, of Statesville Rt. 1, overtook and rammed into a 1960 Dodge being operated by Robert Owens Debban, 48, of Raleigh. Swann was charged with following too close.

Damage to the station wagon was estimated at between $500 and $600—and to the 1960 Dodge, $100 to $150.

Grand Jury To Report Nov. 6

All members of the Davie County Grand Jury are required to report for duty at the term of Superior Court convening here on Monday, Nov. 6, at 9:30 a.m. These Grand Jury members are the ones that served at the July 31st term of Superior Court.

They include: Mrs. James W. Barnhardt, Mrs. Robert C. Evans, W. W. Smith, Mrs. C. V. Smith, David White, Garland Allen, Louis Godbey, Thomas Eugene Hauser, Ernest G. Peeble, William K. Whitaker, Jimmy R. Seamon, Cecil Ansell, Otis James, Bobby Lee Robertson, Rufus R. Sidden, L. B. Barney, R. D. Hartman and James L. Rutledge.

Top National Honors Won By Local Bassett Hounds

A local Bassett Hound, owned and trained by Paul W. Hendrix of Mocksville, won top national honors earlier this month.

"Bush Hill Red Duke" took first place in all age male stake at the national contest sponsored by the Bassett Hound Club of America held at Lebanon, Pa., Oct. 6-9. This dog then went on to win first place in the "Best of Winners" category topping more than 110 dogs entered. Next year this Bassett Hound will be entered in the Grand Championship category.

Another Bassett Hound of Mr. Hendrix won second place in the all age female stake that included more than 60 entries. Known as "Hendrix Sing Low," this female was sired by "Bush Hill Red Duke," the national champion.

This national contest attracts the most outstanding Bassett Hounds in America. During the three day contest, the dogs are judged in field trials on a point system basis on their ability to trail rabbits and keep rabbits on the move.

Mr. Hendrix has been breeding and training Bassett Hounds for the past eight years. He became interested in Bassett Hounds after giving up coon hunting.

Always interested in rabbit hunting, Mr. Hendrix started his kennels with two females. Since then he has been experimenting in breeding to get what he terms the "proper foundation." With two winners last week, Mr. Hendrix now believes that he has found this foundation.

Mrs. Cecil Leagans Wins

Sewing Awards at Fair

Mrs. Cecil Leagans of Mocksville, Rt. 5, won several awards in the sewing division of the Dixie Classic Fair held last week in Winston-Salem.

In the feed bag sewing contest, Mrs. Leagans won second in pillowcases and first in shirts.

Two Are Cited After Wreck

Charges have been brought against two men in connection with a wreck Saturday night involving a tractor-trailer and two cars.

Owen Payne Douthit, 40, Negro of 1332 Trade Street, Winston-Salem, has been charged with improper parking. Melvin Thomas Moore, 32, of 3619 Old Veneyard Road, Winston-Salem, has been charged with reckless driving.

Moore sustained a broken nose, cuts and bruises in the accident, which occurred about 7:45 p.m. some three miles east of Mocksville on U. S. Highway 158. He received overnight treatment at the Davie County Hospital.

Treated For Cuts

Daniel C. Bledsoe, 17, of Mocksville, Rt. 5, riding with Moore was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises.

Property damage in the accident, which created a traffic jam for four hours, was estimated at about $5,400.

State Highway Patrolman L. E. Woods pieced the accident together this way:

Douthit's 1951 Plymouth was stalled on the highway in the westbound lane. He had no car lights burning. He and companions got out of the car, but did not roll it out of the highway.

Hits Stalled Car

Moore, traveling west in a 1950 Ford, crashed into the rear of the stalled car. Moore's car skidded around into the eastbound lane into the path of an oncoming McLean Trucking Co. tractor-trailer operated by Thomas Jefferson Brown, 37, of Hickory.

After the tractor-trailer hit Moore's car, the big van careened down the highway and overturned blocking the westbound lane. The tractor was demolished. The trailer, loaded with clothing, was damaged extensively. Damage to the unit was estimated at $5,000. Both the cars, valued at $200 each, were destroyed.

Local Girl Scouts To Participate In Exhibit

The Pilot Area Girl Scout Council is sponsoring an exhibit of original art work done by Girl Scouts, age 7-17, entitled "Picture Your Home Frontier."

The exhibit is open to any Girl Scout in the Pilot Area Council which includes Davie County. Five local winners will be picked and entered in the Council exhibit to be held in November.

Council winning pictures will be included in the big "Picture Your Home Frontiers" exhibit at the Girl Scout Senior Roundup next summer in Burlington, Vermont. This exhibit will come from all over the United States.

Roy Call, Jr., Called Back Into Army

Roy Call, Jr., who has been employed by National Cash Register Company with headquarters in Charlotte since March, has been called back into the U. S. Army. Mr. Call will report to Fort Eustis, Va., on Oct. 28. He served three years with the U. S. Army, stationed in Norfolk, Va., prior to being discharged in March.

Mr. and Mrs. Call and son will arrive here Friday to visit his parent, on Yadkinville Road until Oct. 28.

MASONIC OFFICIALS—Duke L. Whittaker, Master of Mocksville Masonic Lodge, and Rufus B. Sanford, Jr., Chairman of the event, announced this week that the largest check in the history of the picnic is being sent to Oxford Orphanage. This check is for $8600. The highest previous amount was $7,000 in 1957. The event was termed the most successful in history.

Davie Association For The Retarded To Meet Oct. 19th

A meeting of the Davie County Association for Retarded Children will be held Thursday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the Davie County Office Building.

The program will consist of a general discussion of the work that is being done.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Committee Appointed To Support Bond Issue

Graham Madison, Hugh Larew and Arthur Upshaw have been appointed as members of a Citizens' Committee For a Better North Carolina supporting the capital improvement bond election on November 7th.

John W. Umstead, chairman of the state committee, is announcing the appointments and stated that these men would head the organization in Davie County to acquaint the citizens with the importance of a successful passage of the ten issues to be voted on in November.

Included in the bond issue are improvements in state educational institutions, construction of sorely needed buildings in the Capitol area, improvements at state educational institutions, community colleges, a building to house the Department of Archives and History and the State Library, construction and improvement of State Ports facilities, construction of needed facilities at the state mental institutions, providing for assistance in local hospital construction, improvement of facilities at state parks and recreation areas and development of natural resources, and for improvements at the state's agricultural research stations.

"These men will work with civic groups and other organizations in bringing the necessary information to the people of the county," Mr. Umstead said.

MAKES FOUR STAR HIT—Mr. and Mrs. Wade Mainer, shown above, recently made a new record, "My Soldier Boy" for the King Record Company of Cincinnati, Ohio which has become a 4-star hit. The record, with Julia singing with guitar, banjo, fiddle and bass, brings out the anxiety of love and war. The Mainers also have recorded a religious album for King Records which will be shortly. Mrs. Mainer is the former Julia Howard Went Brown, the daughter of Frank H. Brown of Mocksville Rt. 4. The Mainers now live in Flint, Michigan.

Check For $8600 Is Sent To Oxford Orphanage From Picnic

Wins Top Award

A display by the Future Homemakers' Club of the Davie County High School took grand championship honors last week at the Dixie Classic Fair.

Using the theme, "Paths of Life", the display depicted two paths—one to a home and success and happiness; the other to pond of water with a wrecked ship depicting failure and unhappiness. Stepping stones in the two paths were listed with various titles.

In addition to the championship ribbon, the club won $85 in prize money.

Largest Amount In History Results From 81st Picnic

A check for $8600 is being sent to the Oxford Orphanage from the 81st annual Masonic Picnic held on Aug. 10, 1961.

In a joint announcement, Duke Whittaker, Master of the Mocksville Masonic Lodge No. 134, and Rufus B. Sanford, Jr., General Manager of the Masonic Picnic, reported that the 81st annual picnic was one of the most successful in its long and colorful history and the check for $8600 represented the largest amount ever sent the orphanage from the picnic.

The gross receipts for the 1961 picnic amounted to $10,063.44, which is next to the highest two years on record in this category. In 1956, the total receipts amounted to $11,122.66 and in 1957 they were $12,659.34. In 1960, the receipts were $9,789.91.

Previously the highest amount ever sent to Oxford Orphanage from the picnic was in 1957 when $7,000 was sent.

Gate receipts for the 1961 event set a new record with an estimated 24,900 paying their way into the grounds that week. On Thursday, picnic day, it was estimated that approximately 9,000 paid their way into the grounds.

A day by day breakdown on the gate receipts with the 1960 figures in parenthesis, is as follows: Monday: $292.10 ($275.60) Tuesday: $550.06 ($547.45) Wednesday: $592.10 ($568.15) Thursday: $1,389.15 ($1329.50) Friday: $724.40 ($660.20)

Receipts from the dinner total led $692.80. This was an increase over last year which amounted to $614.75.

Both Mr. Whittaker and Mr. Sanford expressed appreciation to the various committee members whose work made possible success.

"We also express appreciation for the cooperation received from the people of Davie County in making this event such a success and enabling us to contribute so much to the Oxford Orphanage," said the two men.

The two officials also pointed out that the Masonic Lodges of Farmington and Advance also join with the local lodge in putting on this event this year and that a portion of the money is being sent in the name of these two lodges.

C. A. P. Searches For Lost Plane

Captain Harvey L. Beck and Staff Sergeant Phillip Jones of the local Civil Air Patrol unit were in Raleigh this week, helping in the search for a B-52 plane lost during the NORAD alert held last week end.

The two flew to the Raleigh-Durham airport in the plane assigned to the local CAP unit and they are using the plane there in the search for the lost plane.

The North Carolina Wing of the CAP was alerted on Monday of this week by the U. S. Air Force.

Farmington Bazaar And Supper To Be Saturday

The annual bazaar and chicken pie supper of the Farmington Methodist Church will be held in the Farmington school cafeteria in Farmington on Saturday evening, Oct. 21, beginning at 5 p.m. The event is sponsored by the women of the church.

Robert Lee Boger Is Killed In Wreck Near Lincolnton

Robert Lee Boger, 37, of 1355 International tractor, pulled Mocksville, was one of two drivers killed Monday afternoon near Lincolnton when a bulk farm feed truck and a tractor-trailer collided head on. The tractor-trailer burned.

Mr. Boger was thrown from the tractor-trailer in the crash. It occurred on N. C. Highway 150 about seven miles east of Lincolnton in the Pumpkin Center community.

State Highway Patrolman J. G. Wright said both men, traveling alone, apparently died almost instantly. The collision occurred about 1:55 p.m. on a straight stretch of road. Patrolman Wright said he was unable to determine the cause of the crash immediately.

Boger was driving East in a

Dr. and Mrs. Burrus Honored At Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burrus Jr. and daughters, Drew and Bonnie of Fair Haven, N. J. were honored with a dinner here Friday evening. Hosts and hostesses were Dr. Burrus' aunt, Miss Flossie Martin, his cousins, Lester P. Martin Jr. and George Martin, and their wives; his sister, Mrs. John Felts and Dr. Felts of Winston-Salem. The dinner was given at Miss Martin's home on North Main Street.

Covers were laid for the honorees, the hosts, hostesses, Pete and Sam Martin, and Will, Mary Brook and Happy Martin.

New Social Security Benefits Explained

Thousands of dollars in social security benefits may be lost to a number of retired workers or their survivors if they do not apply for their payments before the end of this month. Victor Christgau, Director of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, said today.

With the 1961 amendments to the social security law crowding the changes of late last year from the public eye, Mr. Christgau said, many people affected by the 1960 amendments have apparently not yet learned of their eligibility for payments.

These three groups were made newly eligible for benefits beginning with the month of October 1960:

1. Those persons made eligible for benefits under the 1960 provision which reduced the amount of work needed to qualify for payments (now even further reduced under this year's amendments).

2. Survivors of workers who died between March 31, 1938, and January 1, 1940. (These benefits had been payable only to survivors of workers who died in 1940 or later.)

3. Aged dependent widowers of women workers who died before September 1950, when this type of benefit was not payable.

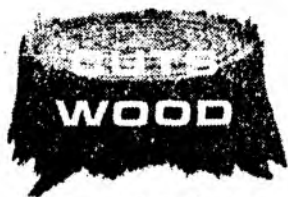

Workers who have been totally disabled for a year and a half or more, and their dependents, may lose some back payments if they do not apply for their social security benefits before the end of November.

Under the law, social security payments may be retroactive for up to 12 months, Mr. Christgau explained. Therefore, for those persons who became eligible for payments in October of last year, when most of the 1960 amendments went into effect, each month of delay in applying for their benefits will now mean a month's benefit lost.

Also, there are many aged workers who have not applied for benefits because they feel they are now earning above the maximum to be eligible for payments, Mr. Christgau added. They may be wrong, he said, especially since new changes in the law have been made. In fact, they may be eligible for payments for some months of 1961, if not for the entire year.

Moreover, he pointed out, even if they are not eligible for payments now, by applying now, they can receive their benefits as soon as they do become eligible.

Cutting down on advertising to save money is like stopping the clock to save time.

The urge to trim operating expenses when sales drop off is certainly understandable. But slashing an ad budget can rob a retailer of valuable sales help just at a time when he needs it the most.

The true value of advertising is in its cumulative effect. Consistency in advertising is more important than the size of any one advertisement. There is a lot of truth in the old adage: "There are two good times to advertise—when business is good and when business is bad."

Davie Loses To Home 9-7

KEN CASSIDY

RONNIE BEARD

Davie County lost a chance to pull into a tie for the lead in the North Piedmont Conference last Friday when they were upset by the "Fighting Methodist" of Children's Home, 9 to 7. League leading Mooresville was knocked off 7 to 0 by Monroe and is now tied with North Rowan for the lead in the conference with records of one loss each. Davie has a conference record of 2-2 and plays at Troutman on Friday night. Children's Home scored during the final minutes of play last Friday afternoon to overtake the Rebels and post their second win in five games. With the Davie defense bunched in anticipation of a line plunge by Fullback Bill Spencer, Spencer faked a buck and threw a jump pass to end Sam Clark in the end zone. The play netted the game winning points and climaxed an 82 yard drive by the Methodists.

The drive started when the Home defenders stopped a Davie drive on the Home 8 yard line by recovering a fumble. A couple of plays later, Spencer back to pass, evaded a tackler. The tackler grabbed Spencer by the face mask, however, and Davie was penalized 15 yards.

Another penalty for tackling by the face mask helped the Home a few plays later and this put the ball on the Davie 40. On the next play, Spencer rumbled 28 yards to the 12, in a single wing spinner play. Three plays later came the touchdown pass.

Spencer also kicked the field goal from the 24 yard line in the first quarter after a Home drive of 75 yards was stopped by a defensive penalty. The penalty came on fourth down with three yards to go for the first down and pushed the Home back to the Davie 18.

Davie scored a few minutes following this when Larry Smith banged into the end zone from the one, ending a 35 yard drive. The drive started when the Home's punter was forced to run instead of kick by a hard rushing Rebel line.

Davie drives were stopped twice inside of the 20 yard line with no score. Two fumbles and penalties also proved costly to the Rebels.

Davie had nine first downs and Children's Home had 10. Davie gained 155 yards rushing to 192 yards for Children's Home. Davie failed to complete a pass in four attempts, while Children's Home completed three of 11 for a total of 26 yards. Davie punted three times for an average of 38 yards per kick. Children's Home kicked 3 times for an average of 31 yards per kick. Davie lost 70 yards on penalties. Children's Home 20 on penalties.

Fall Treatment of Alfalfa Weevil
Damage in the spring by larvae may be prevented by killing the adult weevils before they lay eggs in the fall. It is cheaper and more effective to prevent damage by the fall application of granulated heptachlor than to attempt to control larvae in the spring.

Since adult weevils crawl over the ground surface and litter, the granules should be applied evenly over the entire field of alfalfa. Heptachlor granules may be applied with a cyclone seeder or fertilizer spreader. Large acreages of alfalfa are more efficiently treated with a tractor-mounted cyclone type seeder. Equipment should be accurately calibrated to apply the recommended amount of material per acre. Care should be exercised in overlapping swaths for thorough coverage; otherwise, damage may occur in "skip" areas.

A 2½% granulated heptachlor is recommended for fall treatment at the rate of 30 pounds per acre, between October 15 and November 15. Apply October 1 to 15 if your elevation is above 2,500 feet. You can't expect good control of the weevil if heptachlor granules are applied after egg laying in mid-November. Also, residues may occur on the harvested crop if treated after mid-November.

Screwworms and Reinfestation

The following information and request for assistance was received from the Animal Disease Eradication Division, ARS, USDA, Washington, D. C.:

Screwworms have flanked inspection station lines along the Mississippi River and have infested Tennessee extensively in recent weeks. The infestation is now in numerous counties in the northern half of Georgia and Alabama. Infestations are particularly bad in Mississippi along the Mississippi River and are extending eastward. There is considerable danger of the overwintering area of the Southeast becoming reinfested, thereby again necessitating extensive eradication measures.

Immediate action is urgently needed in all counties in Tennessee, North Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and Florida. Eradication officials need to know immediately when the first case of screwworms appears in a county. You, as County Agents, are asked to contact immediately by phone as many livestock owners in your county as possible, explaining the dangers and asking that each owner:

1. Immediately inspect his livestock thoroughly and as often as possible until extreme cold weather has arrived.

2. Take ten maggots from any maggot-infested wound he finds place them in alcohol or water, and immediately notify the County Agent.

3. Treat all wounds with EQ-335 at least once a week.

4. Do not move animals until they have been thoroughly inspected and all wounds treated with EQ-335 until extreme cold weather has arrived.

5. Notify the County Agent at destination if you move animals into the southern parts of Georgia, Alabama, and South Carolina and any portion of Florida.

Feeder Calf Sale

Approximately 350 feeder calves were sold at the Feeder Calf Sale in Statesville from Davie County. Out of this number, I believe, only five animals were rejected due to quality. This is a very good record for any county, indeed.

The calves were far better from Davie County as a whole than they have been in any years previous.

Our office certainly appreciates the splendid cooperation from each farmer that consigned calves to this sale, and they have certainly built a reputation for producing quality calves in Davie County. The average price of all calves was $25.61 per hundred weight.

Bazaar-Supper At Farmington

Money spent on ourselves may be a millstone about the neck; spent on others it may give us wings like an eagle's. — R. D. Hitchcock.

The Murals Of North Carolina

Fourteen murals depicting significant events in North Carolina's history now adorn the wall in the assembly room of the Joseph Palmer Knapp Building, Institute of Government, University of North Carolina. These murals were painted by Francis Vandever Kugler.

The Institute of Government has made available to this newspaper copies of these murals along with the story of what they represent. Believing these to be of interest to our readers, we are presenting them in order . . . THE MURALS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Mural Nine GETTYSBURG

The Battle of Gettysburg was perhaps the last of the great battles fought mainly in hand to hand combat. Many acts of individual and regimental bravery were performed on both sides. It was grim and yet, in a certain sense, a chivalrous conflict.

The charge of the Confederates on the third day of the battle is unparalleled in history. A battle-line of 15,000 men in regimental formation charged for almost a mile across open farmland in the face of devastating cannon and rifle fire. This was not a wild romantic rush or horsemen, but the slow grim plodding of determined men across tilled ground. Most of them were poorly clad and wore shoes with cumbersome wooden soles. Leather was scarce in the South, for the Union blockade had cut off many of their necessities.

The object of the charge was a long low ridge on the opposite side of the battlefield near the center of which was a clump of trees. In front of the ridge and all along the line of the charge was a stone fence behind which the Union forces were waiting. The fence at the extreme left was intended to follow the contours of a farm, a square of which was set back at this point. It was here that the North Carolina troops, who were part of the left wing, came in. In order to reach the setback in the stone fence facing them, the North Carolinians had to advance perhaps sixty feet further than the rest of the charging Confederates. Sixty feet isn't much ground under ordinary circumstances, but it must have seemed like a tremendous amount of extra mileage to the battered but still oncoming North Carolinians.

The mural depicts the charge at its height just before the line broke. The mood stresses the horrors of war, the exultation of the charge, and the anguish of defeat.

In the painting the texture of carnage and death is visible everywhere, but the sun is bright and cheerful. A sense of eerie detachment, of static electricity, of bated breath, pervades the scene. Across the cannon in the foreground lies the gray-clad body of a non-commissioned officer. The heavy bronze gun is searing hot and smoke rises from his charring flesh and clothes. The smoke diffuses lazily into the motionless air. Behind the cannon the bloodless face of an unconscious Union soldier is turned calmly to the sky.

In the foreground lie two men who have just inflicted mortal blows on one another. The blue clad cannoner is still conscious but oblivious to his own wound. He gazes with pity at his dead opponent and seems to be recalling someone dear to him who looked much the same.

At the right of the painting, behind a youth who still surges forward, a bearded man is hunched in agony but he is in the shadows thrown by the bright afternoon sun.

Across the field in the wake of the charge, a straight line of dead marks where North Carolina troops have passed. In the background Union troops are closing in on the flank of the stricken line. The smoke from their muskets produces a series of flower-like puffs. All along the faltering line men are killing and being killed, though they are beginning to realize that the end is at hand.

The central figure in the mural is Brigadier General James Johnston Pettigrew. He looks frail and more like a poet than a warrior. The men near to the general are turned to him for leadership. He is calm and poised, for an officer does not give in to his emotions before his men. His sword is beginning to signal "Fall Back." The flag of the Confederacy is still held aloft by a soldier who desperately loads his revolver to protect it to the end.

A large white cloud floats in tranquil grandeur above the battlefield.

For The People

By BERNADETTE W. HOYLE
Public Information Officer
North Carolina State Board
of Public Welfare

This week we will look at a case history from the public welfare files of North Carolina and see the way that skilled casework services were directed toward helping a teenage boy. The mother received an aid to dependent children grant, which is a money payment for needy dependent children who have been deprived of parental care, and support because of the death, physical or mental incapacity or continued absence from the home of one or both parents, whether natural, step or adoptive.

Mrs. Brown sought help from the county department of public welfare with both her physical and financial problems. The husband had deserted her and their 14-year-old son. Both mother and son lived in an apartment with her aged mother, whose only income was a small social security payment. Mrs. Brown had attempted to work and earn a livelihood for herself and son, but due to a malignancy she was not able to continue. Local doctors had recommended that she have therapy at either Duke Hospital or Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill, but this was impossible without assistance.

Mrs. Brown's son had become disinterested in his school work and wanted to quit school. He had become involved in petty thievery and was brought into juvenile court, where he was placed in the custody of his mother under the supervision of the public welfare department.

An aid to dependent children grant was approved for Mrs. Brown. Assistance with transportation and treatment at Duke were furnished by the county department of public welfare and civic groups. The husband's whereabouts were traced through the Social Security Office, and he was picked up by local law officials. He was tried and convicted of bigamy and received a prison sentence.

Mrs. Brown lived only a short while after the trial. The son now was left in the home with his grandmother. By encouragement from people in the community, the public welfare department and school officials, he had continued in school, but after the death of his mother a change was needed. The grandmother, who loved the boy deeply, felt that she was not capable of coping with the problems of a teenage boy. The boy's pastor was made aware of the situation and, with the public welfare department, helped in plans for the boy to enter a boys' school in a Northern state. A local civic group secured ample clothing for him and provided transportation. Unfortunately, the boy was unhappy in his new environment and homesick for the South, his grandmother and friends.

After several months the county department of public welfare arranged for him to return home. After counseling with the boy and the grandmother, the boy, who was now 17 years of age, expressed a desire to enter some branch of the armed services. He decided on the Army and during his tenure of service will receive vocational training which will be of great benefit to him in securing self-supporting work in civilian life. He has been quite successful in his Army career and has traveled extensively. In appearance, he is a handsome, erect youth. He corresponds with regularly with his grandmother and she says, "He is a grandson to be proud of." He attributes the solution to many of his problems to the skilled casework services by the county department of public welfare, who knew him from the age of 14 and took a personal interest in his welfare.

Bailey's Chapel

Baileys Chapel Church plans to have its new heating system turned on Sunday at the morning service. A warm welcome is extended to everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Livengood, Jr. and children were guests of Mrs. Lula Isgett in Lewisville Sunday. They visited with W. H. Isgett, Jr., who will enter the service on Friday.

Jim Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Coy Barnes and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Algie McCarter in H'gh Point and Mrs. Mattie Doby in Thomasville Sunday.

Mrs. Lonnie Myers and children were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Myers while the former Mrs. Myers' husband was at the coast fishing.

With all of the fishing going on at the coast, the neighbors of Will and Billy Myers should have plenty of fish to eat.

Mrs. Jo Cox is confined to her home here due to sickness.

The WSCS of Bailey's Chapel Church will meet Friday, Oct. 27 at 7:30 p.m. Hostess will be Mrs. Betty Myers.

Sunday visitors of the Jim Barnes family were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Platt, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Barnes and children, Jimmy and Sandra; and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Barnes.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19

7:30 - 8:30 p.m. — FRONTIER CIRCUS — "Lippizan," with guest star Vera Miles. A blind equestrienne despairs over the loss of a rare show horse killed in a gun battle.

9 - 10 p.m. — THE INVESTIGATORS — "New Sound for the Blues," with guest star Claire Trevor. Suspicion arises that Russ Andrews may have been responsible for an innocent boy's death when a young athlete dies in an encounter with the insurance investigator in the lobby of the firm's office building.

10 - 11 p.m. — CBS REPORTS "The Water Famine." A global report on the role of water in the birth and decay of the world's civilizations and the problems man faces today in his quickening search for water across the world.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20

7:30 - 8:30 p.m. — RAWHIDE — "Judgment at Hondo Seco," with Ralph Bellamy as guest. The drama concerns a jurist whose concept of justice is so rigid that he sentences his own brother to hang for a minor offense.

10 - 10:30 p.m. — TWILIGHT ZONE — Peter Falk in "The Mirror." A Latin American dictator's pledge to overturn tyranny is suddenly forgotten because of what he thinks he sees in a mirror.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 23

8:00 - 8:30 p.m. — DONNA REED SHOW — Friendly persuasion seems to work on son Jeff as Donna talks him into taking a "New Girl In The Neighborhood" to the movies.

9:00 - 9:30 p.m. — DANNY THOMAS SHOW — Harry James is the guest star, playing a man

Local Children To 'Trick or Treat' On Monday Night

Monday night, October 30, from 6:30 until 8 p.m., a number of Mocksville's children will be among more than 2,500,000 American boys and girls who will devote their Halloween's fun to save the lives of other children in more than 100 countries aided by UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund.

Under the sponsorship of the Methodist Youth Fellowship they will meet at First Methodist Church where they will receive stickers and tags.

"All participants in the program will have proper identification," said Mrs. Jim Fuller, one of the counselors. "Only children bearing the UNICEF symbol are authorized to collect contributions to the Fund."

At the same time, over 11,000 other communities will hold a similar program, sponsored nationally by the U. S. Committee for UNICEF. Last year the small coins collected Trick or Treating for the Children's Fund totaled $1,750,000.

"This figure gets all its heart-warming gratifying meaning when it is translated into terms of UNICEF aid," Mrs. Fuller said. "A single penny can mean the vaccine to protect a child from TB, a nickel can supply pencils to cure a child of yaws, a crippling, highly contagious tropical disease. A dime can buy enough DDT to protect a child from malaria for nearly a year, and a quarter can mean the antibiotics to save a child from the blindness of trachoma."

For $1.00 UNICEF can ship enough dried skim milk for 500 glasses to areas where it is most needed. A dollar also represents 500 vitamin capsules for children suffering from malnutrition. Assisted governments match the aid received at least two and a half times.

After the collection, the Trick or Treaters and their escorts will meet at the Fellowship Building of the Church at which time their "treats of coins will be counted."

Weight for weight, wood is the strongest structural material. For example, a simple tension test found that three per cent greater weight of structural steel is required to exhibit strength equal to a piece of Douglas fir.

all jobs at the YMCA, including directing the boys' band.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24

10 - 11 p.m. — "The Dispossessed" — Special — Starring Ralph Bellamy, Earl Holliman, Dina Merrill and Juano Hernandez. A drama by Saul Levitt, based on a true story in the fight for American Indian rights, set in Nebraska in 1879.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25

10 - 11:00 p.m. ARMSTRONG CIRCLE THEATRE — "A Chapter in Tyanny: Dateline Berlin."

GARLAND E. STILL, JR.

WATERS, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Waters of Mocksville, has been awarded the silver wings of an Air Force pilot upon graduation from basic flying at Reese Air Force Base in Texas. He trained as a member of Class 62-B and has been reassigned to Luke Air Force Base, Arizona, where he will fly F-100 jet fighter aircraft for the Tactical Air Command. He underwent 130 hours of flying training in T-33 jet aircraft, as well as instruction in academic and military subjects. A 1955 graduate of the Mocksville High School, he received his commission at the U. S. Air Force Academy in 1960.

Garland E. Still, Jr., will represent the Davie County Work Unit of the Soil Conservation Service at the state wide meeting of SCS personnel Oct. 19-20 in Raleigh, where Washington ASC Administrator D. A. Williams and Gov. Terry Sanford will be among the principal speakers.

Some 350 SCS employees from throughout the state will attend the meeting. They will include representatives of the 96 work units, nine area offices, and the State Office in Raleigh. Administrator Williams will discuss "Current Developments in SCS." State Conservationist R. M. Daley will preside.

Two other SCS Washington officials on the program will be T. L. Gaston, Field Representative for the Southeast Area and Miss Verna Mohagen, Director of Personnel Management Division. Miss Mohagen will discuss "The SCS Career Program." Dr. S. C. Mayo, Head of the Rural Sociology Department at N. C. State College, will talk on "Motivating Farmers to Change Agricultural Practices."

Most of the remainder of the program will be given over to panel discussions.

Perhaps pure reason without heart would never have thought of God.—G. C. Lichtenberg

THE UNICEF AND HALLOWEEN

Few names in the modern world evoke more vivid images than United Nations Children's Fund. The abbreviation, UNICEF, can conjure up many sights and emotions; lines of children waiting to be vaccinated against tuberculosis, a midwife riding through the jungle armed with tiger gun and UNICEF kit, the distribution of sulfone tablets to leprosy victims whose cupped hands are fingerless, the smile of hope of a child whose smarting eyelids cast the darkness of trachoma.

Viewing UNICEF-assisted projects can also mean coming face to face with the tragic mags of yaws, a highly contagious, ugly disease which eats away the muscles and soft tissues of the body, and with the appalling thinness of babies suffering from malnutrition. Such sights would be unbearable indeed, without the knowledge that a UNICEF nickel can mean penicillin to cure a child of yaws, and that a UNICEF penny can mean five glasses of milk, or five vitamin capsules.

During 1960, the Fund's health and nutrition projects and disease control reached over 56 million children and mothers in more than 100 countries. Additional millions of persons benefited from services at maternal and child welfare centers and hospitals equipped with UNICEF help. Through these long-range programs the Fund assists the governments of developing areas to care for their children in ways that would be impossible without international aid.

In addition to these ever present needs there is always the aspect of emergency help. This past year UNICEF met a number of natural disasters and states of crisis with an unusually large number of emergency allocations. Famine in the Congo, cyclones in Pakistan and Mauritius, earthquakes in Morocco and Chile, drought in Mauritania, the plight of refugees in Morocco and Tunisia all required urgent, drastic intervention. These lifesaving expenditures totalled less than was collected for UNICEF by American boys and girls last fall on Halloween.

Still this striking fact does not do justice to the selflessness with which our children choose to share their Halloween fun by trick or treating for UNICEF. In so doing, they participate in the work of permanent health services in areas where a child's sickness and death has been taken for granted through the ages. They contribute to the improved nutrition and better feeding habits in parts of the world where most children go to sleep hungry every night. We can be proud of our children, and grateful to those in our community who will form the local framework of the nationwide trick or treat for UNICEF program in about a week.

By working to alleviate conditions which breed tragedy and rebellion in these developing areas, UNICEF indirectly works for a more peaceful and coherent world. In helping UNICEF in this huge, our youths are preparing a better future for themselves as well as for the beneficiaries of their generosity, since they will all live together as the adults of tomorrow.

President John F. Kennedy has said in a message to the United States Committee for UNICEF: "I am confident that UNICEF will remain a foremost concern to all Americans because it engages both the idealistic zeal and practical imagination of a free people—The UNICEF Halloween program is an outstanding example of active citizen concern in the work of the United Nations Children's Fund".

CHANCES OF A COLD

Did you know that because you live in North Carolina that your chances of suffering a cold or acute upper respiratory condition ranks lowest during the last three months of this year as compared with the rest of the nation?

This prediction is based on he latest statistics gathered by the U. S. Public Health Service. According to the statistics, the Northeast—from Maine to Pennsylvania—had the highest number of acute upper respiratory conditions from July 1958 to June 1959—97.5 conditions per 100 persons. The lowest was in the South, centered around North Carolina. An acute condition is one lasting less than three months and which involves medical attention or restricted activity.

The South had only 73.9 conditions per 100 persons last year. Ranking second and third, respectively, was the West—from California to Colorado—with 90.0 cases per 100; and the North Central states—from Ohio to the Dakotas, down to Kansas—with 77.3 conditions per 100 persons.

Reasons for the varying incidence rates are not clear, although it is possible that the South's relatively moderate climate plays a major role in the region's lower rate.

However, residents in Southern states do get a lot of colds and other upper respiratory infections. Scientists at a leading pharmaceutical company have urged that all persons practice as much prevention as possible. Anticipating sudden drops in temperature, wearing warm and dry clothing, and maintaining a balanced diet are good preventative measures. Also avoid prolonged periods of fatigue without adequate rest.

GROWING AND PROGRESS

For many of us that are a part of the ever changing scene of this community the growth and progress are often looked through with little notice. It could be likened to your children that you see each and every day. They are continually growing and changing—yet to you the change is so gradual that it is not noticed. But to others that judge by a more fixed standard—such changes are more readily noted.

This is true in the growth and progress of Mocksville.

Looking over some of the stories we carried in last week's issue of The Enterprise-Record we were impressed with the number that actually indicated growth and progress:

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

With all the reminiscing about veteran airlines pilot Dick Merrill retiring from his aerial runs, I am reminded of a flight I made with him at the controls just twenty years ago. I had attended a meeting of the National Editorial Association in Jacksonville, Fla. and after the enjoyable sessions, caught a midnight plane, expecting to be back in New York early the next morning. I did not know or especially care who was operating this Eastern Airlines plane, but to those who remember that far back, it is already obvious that they did not have the modern type of equipment that they have today. We started off very nicely. Soon we ran into weather so rough that the light plane was dropping a hundred feet per air pocket, and we were rudely awakened from our naps. Finally, the weather became so bad, that Dick Merrill, the pilot, decided that we should land for the rest of the night in Charleston, South Carolina. Disembarking sleepily at the airport, we were taken by car into the town and deposited in a hotel which surely must have been a carry-over from the Civil War, judging from the big, ancient canopied beds we occupied. Next morning, we resumed our flight, only to find the weather worse. Before we reached New York, I saw people praying in the aisles, so rough was the flight. But veteran Captain Merrill brought us in - some eight hours late. I decided then and there never to fly again - unless I really needed to badly - and have kept that resolution since.

Only recently I realized that there is an organization entitled Gamblers Anonymous, but was hardly surprised, considering the amount of such activity that goes on around here. According to a story, two members of it were talking and one said to the other, "My wife has told me she is going to leave me if I don't stop gambling." His companion was sympathetic and answered, "That's too bad." "Yes," said the first, matter-of-factly, "I'm going to miss her."

The people of Coalinga, California used to have their fresh water shipped in at a cost of $7 per thousand gallons. Now, I am informed, the town's drinking water costs less than a fourth as such, thanks to a converter which changes salt sea water to a potable liquid. A much larger salt-water-converting plant is being built on arid St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, near where the inviting Little Dix Bay Resort Development has been constructed by Laurence S. Rockefeller. One of these atomic age days, we may well be eating, as well as drinking water, from the sea.

When I first came to New York, Fiorello La Guardia was mayor, and a colorful one he was too. I interviewed him and it was an unforgettable experience. Now, besides a Broadway show about him, American Heritage Magazine, like its companion, Horizon in such world affairs, has clarified many of Fiorello's doings, especially his ethics. The interest in this is of course heightened by the current mayoralty campaign in which both parties are throwing plenty of political mud at each other. But neither candidate, Mr. Werner points out in his article, matches the fiery frankness of the "Little Flower", La Guardia.

High up on the wall of the front lobby of the Department of Commerce building in Washington is a huge "population clock." At regular intervals it ticks off the record of births and deaths in this country. Every 7½ seconds, according to statistical average, a blue light flashes to report that a baby is born. Every twenty seconds, a purple light reports that someone has died. So it is that intervals of eleven seconds, a white light announces that one more person has been added to the net population of the United States.

Here and There: The national headquarters of the F. W. Woolworth Company announces that it welcomes visiting salesmen. "Who knows?" the management asks. "The next man in the door might be offering us another hula hoop"—thanks to John T. Frederick in the October issue of The Rotarian Magazine for that splendid review of my new book, "Daniel Morgan: Ranger of the Revolution".

Each person possess about 44,000 pairs of genes, or heredity carriers.

A Mature rubber tree yields 11 pounds of latex a year.

NOBODY ELSE . . . We want to take part in a little campaign one of our old school chums has been pushing for a long time.

Lucius Blanchard, formerly of Hertford in Perquimans County and now of Ahoskie in Hertford County, has been urging the State of North Carolina to print on its license plates a slogan which can not be used by any other state in the U. S. We now talk about "Variety Vacationland." A lot of other states - most of them with a stretch of imagination - could say the same thing.

We now use on our license plates these words: "Drive Safely." Good, worthy, helpful - but hardly original. It has also outvorn its usefulness - despite what Safety Champion Ed Scheidt and cohorts may say to the contrary. No doubt other states have used, do use - the same slogan. But Lucius says we should say on our license plates this: "THE BIRTHPLACE OF AVIATION."

LITTLE SAVVY . . . North Carolina has its talents and good qualities - but somehow it has never seemed to have the savvy, flair, or know how that Florida and some other states have shown for attracting tourists.

Yet - few states can offer as much.

The man who has developed fabulous Ghost City overlooking Maggie Valley is from South Carolina. Hugh Morton, from the flatlands of Wilmington, has created one of the South's foremost scenic attractions in Grandfather Mountain. Morton has done more than anybody else living to bring the battleship, North Carolina, to the State. It will eventually mean millions to Wilmington in tourist dollars. Imagination! Ideas! More on this later! But to give you an idea of how droll, prosaic, and dead-end unimaginative we can be in North Carolina let me tell you about an occurrence right here in Raleigh a year or two ago.

The city fathers decided they wanted on our city tags a real fine, catchy slogan, one that would really grab the mind and be attractive. They scratched their heads; they thought; they consulted. Finally they came up with it - and this appeared as a slogan on our city tags: MORE FOR LESS.

EVERYBODY HAPPY? . . . The time has arrived in our college football season when each team in our Big Four has claim for fame - or shame, according to the type of alumnus you are.

State took Carolina. Duke won over South Carolina, Virginia.

COMMENT . . . Now Dwight D. Eisenhower took office in January of 1953 and left the office of President of the "greatest nation on earth" in January of 1961. We all know of the series of earth shaking events that occurred in those eight years - how we were often on the "brink of war," according to our late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

However, these were not the incidents which caused President Eisenhower's heart attack. No, it was the fact that he was called from his golf game in Denver too many times - and unnecessarily - in 1955.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where them Englishmen is complaining pretty loud over this new "austerity" program their government has arranged for everybody except the Royal family. I reckon "austerity" is a $10 word meaning the folks has got to tighten their belts.

England has been gitting in a bad way ever since right after World War II when they started that Socialism business and put the railroads, electric power, health and all such things under Government control.

Ed Doolittle's grandson was stationed over there in the Air Force last year and he sent Ed a batch of their Government pamphlets. On account of me being a authority on Government pamphlets, Ed give 'em to me. I got 'em down off the shelf this morning and I discovered right off why things is so bad in England. It's hard to believe, Mister Editor, but people has to pay for them pearls of wisdom over there.

I ain't shore but I think Thomas Jefferson put it in the Declaration of Independence that we was to git these masterpieces free in this country. I note here where one of the pamphlets Ed's grandson sent him is entitled, "Calf Rearing" and is put out by the Ministry of Agriculture and costs 55 cent. It says that "Research on the physiology of the calf shows it can be reared on diets previously considered unsuitable."

And here's one that ought to be agin the law and might be the one that's causing a heap of their troubles. It's entitled "Women, Wife and Worker" and sells for 35 cent. It is put out by the Ministry of Industrial Research and starts out, "Married women's employment is often cited as the cause of separation, divorce and juvenile delinquency." How do you like that for 35 cent?

A note on the front of each pamphlet says they is printed by "Her Majesty's Stationery Office." It also says people in the United States can git 'em for the proper fees from the British Government Publications offices at Rockefeller Plaza in New York. No country can prosper where they ain't got free pamphlets from the Government. I estimate that about half our prosperity is due to them free pamphlets we git ever day from the various agencies.

Prime Minister Macmillan, in discussing the situation, says four out of ever five people in England gambles, but he says it ain't hurting nothing. I can understand how four out of five TEXT: "Every life - exercises an inevitable and silent influence" - Amiel.

The customer in the barber shop was getting a lot of conversation with his haircut. Finally the barber commented,

"Your hair seems to be setting thin on top, sir. Have you tried our brand of hair tonic?"

"No," replied the customer, "so it can't be that."

Little things often bring important results. Bruce Barton says that when he considers the tremendous consequences that come from little things - chance word, a tap on the shoulder - he is tempted to think that there are no little things.

Hundreds of years ago Lord Bacon noted that "One apple ripeneth another and one cluster of grapes that toucheth another while it groweth ripeneth faster." Little things, yet now we know that invisible traces of ethylene gas from many growing things bring the things they contact to maturity more quickly.

The same is true in our lives. We influence the behavior of others. What we do may be invisible to us, yet our actions have tremendous consequences. You know that little acts, forgotten by those who did them, have influenced you. Therefore, live so that your smallest actions will influence for the better, anyone they chance to touch. Truly there are no little things.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

MORGANTON - Since the adjournment of Congress I have traveled in some 12 North Carolina counties. If my schedule permits, I plan to visit many more counties in the weeks ahead. Good government requires frequent consultation with the people. In a day and age when government and legislation are highly complex, this is particularly true. I value the views expressed to me by my constituents either in person or by letter. Adjournment from the active legislative functions of Congress gives needed time for discussion and study of the legislation that will likely come up at the next session of Congress.

N. C. Office Opened

On Oct. 2 I opened my Morganton office. This is a continuation of a practice which I have observed since I became a member of the Senate in 1954. Those who desire may consult me here about any governmental matters. This year I have with me at my Morganton office my Secretary, John Giles, of Morganton, and my clerical assistant, Ruth Meacham, of Lexington. At the same time my staff in the Senate Office Building in Washington continues to function for those who wish to avail themselves of its services. The Washington office during adjournment is headed by my Administrative Assistant, Jack Spain, of Greenville, and clerical assistants: Carolyn Bason, of Yanceyville, May Davidson, of Charlotte, Pat Shore, of East Bend Anne Sullivan, of Greensboro, Mary McBryde, of Raeford, and Linda Hollowell of Gastonia.

Tar Heel Thinking

Conversations around the state and my mail indicate that foreign aid is a matter of great concern in North Carolina. For reasons which I have outlined in Senate speeches, I have voted against foreign aid for some years because I do not feel the program has been confined within proper bounds and limitations. Advocates of aid to neutralist nations may have been jolted recently by the attitude of the 24 neutralist nations who failed to stand with the United States against Russia over nuclear testing and Berlin. These nations will again be put to the test in the United Nations General Assembly during its 16th session. It is unlikely that any of these nations will side with the United States on a crucial vote. The $6 billion in U. S. foreign aid grants and assistance to neutralist countries can be written off to an unwise policy. It should be hoped that this will cause a total change in the distribution of foreign aid funds now on hand and a new concept in its future programs.

MORGANTON - Almost daily since Congressional adjournment I have been visiting North Carolina communities in various parts of the state. Often in conversations and via inquiries through the mail I find that it is somewhat difficult for the public in general to comprehend the tasks which devolve upon a Senator. In addition to fulfilling a full schedule of speaking engagements, each day he has to answer anywhere from 25 to 200 letters and many long distance telephone calls. Many persons come to see him about governmental matters. When I have access to my law library in Morganton during the adjournment there are hundreds of legislative proposals and summaries of hearing to study. It can be readily seen that any one Senator cannot give primary consideration to all public questions which either his constituents or he deem to be of primary importance. If he undertakes to do so, he spreads himself so thin that he accomplishes nothing. Therefore he must allot his time to matters which he considers of crucial importance.

Review of Session Concluded

During the past session of the Senate, we had many matters of crucial importance to the very survival of our nation before the Senate Committee on Armed Services, of which I am a member. We had many legislative proposals of crucial importance to the internal security of this nation arising out of the presence in the United States of subversive or criminal aliens who could not be deported under existing laws. The Senate Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, had jurisdiction over this field, and I spent a considerable part of my entry in plotting through the Senate Judiciary Committee and the Senate itself amendments to existing laws which will take care of this situation. This activity on my part required weeks of study to acquire information necessary to answer the attacks made upon this legislation. Likewise, the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, of which I am also a member, was compelled to spend a considerable amount of energy and time to investigate strikes and work stoppages of an inexcusable nature at the installations developing and manufacturing missiles essential to our national survival.

Speaker Rayburn

It came as a shock to me to learn of the serious illness of my friend, Speaker Sam Rayburn. Throughout the years since I first met him as a member of the House in 1946, I have regarded him with respect and affection for his ability as an able lawmaker, a true leader of men, and a great American. "Mr. Sam" has won a place in the hearts of Americans rarely accorded lawmakers.

Social Security In Davie County

The 1961 Amendments to the Social Security Act permit a larger amount of benefits to be payable if you do expect to earn over $1200. For each $2 that you earn over $1200 up to $1700, $1 in benefits is withheld. Over $1700, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $1 earned.

If you are under age 72 and receiving social security benefits, you were advised when you applied for benefits that if you did not make over $1200 you would receive all the benefits to which you were entitled. You may also have been told, based on your estimate of earnings, that you could receive part of your benefits even though you did continue to work and expected to earn over $1200. Because of changes in your work however, it may be that your earnings will be more or less than what you had anticipated. In such an event, you should revise with the administration your prior estimate to make certain that the benefit you are receiving is correct.

If you have any questions about your earnings, please feel free to visit your social security office.

Advance Payments For Diverting Wheat Acreage

A needed "shot in the arm" economically will be provided to many areas throughout North Carolina in the way of advance payment by ASCS county offices to wheat farmers who divert acreage from production of wheat under the 1962 Wheat Stabilization Program. By participating in this program farmers earn payments for cutting their planted acreage of wheat and for putting this diverted acreage into approved conservation uses. According to A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, ASCS county offices throughout the State now have authority to make these payments, in fact are now making partial payments to farmers at the time of sign up. The Agricultural Act of 1961 provides that up to not more than 50 percent of the payment to producers may be made in advance of determination of performance. This provision is designed to provide income to farmers ahead of harvest time.

The advance payment that can be made at the time of sign up is computed by multiplying the number of acres to be diverted by the farm payment rate that is based on 45 percent of the normal yield, and taking half of that amount. The farmer may receive this advance payment in cash.

When a farmer signs up to participate in the 1962 Wheat Program he must indicate the acreage he intends to divert to a conservation use. If he desires payment, the law requires him to divert a minimum of 10 percent of what his wheat allotment would have been without the new program or 10 percent of his high est acreage if such acreage has not exceeded 15 acres in the past 3 years. This minimum diversion is reflected in the 1962 farm wheat allotment sent to farmers before the referendum.

The ASCS office will issue the producer a sight draft and he merely endorses the draft and cashes it at his local bank.

Other details of the program, including the producer's high and low option on diversion and a complete list of approved conservation uses, are available at the ASCS county office, Hassell said.

To Attend Meeting

The Davie County Committee, Office Manager, Chief Clerk and another clerk will attend a two-day ASCS Conference in Greensboro on October 18th and 19th. Discussion on the first day of the Meeting will be devoted to: 1. Introduction and Orientation

1. of New Committeemen.
2. ASCS Organization
3. Duties and responsibilities of Committeemen.
4. Newly enacted legislation and New State Committee policies.

On the second day there will be a detailed discussion of the Agricultural Conservation Program. Administrative, Price support and production adjustment programs.

ACP Program
Farmers are urged to Complete their practice and make their report to his office.

Due to dry weather this fall the Technical Committee extended the seeding dates on pasture and hay crops to October 31st. This includes practice 1, 2, 6 and 17d. The Committee also extended the date for reporting fall practices to November 15th.

1961 Corn Support Price
1961 Corn support rate for 1961 crop corn in North Carolina will remain at $1.29, per bushel, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairman of the Davie County ASCS Committee. This is the same as the Minimum rate set in advance of the season to help growers plan their operation.

Favorable weather conditions throughout much of the Corn producing area should prompt farmers to re-examine their storage situation for this year's crop. Help in obtaining adequate farm-storage facilities is available to farmers through the ASCS office, under which producers may borrow up to 95 percent of the cost of farm storage structures costing 40 cents per bushel or less.

Excellent Rating Obtained by National Guard Unit At Annual L. G. Inspection Held On September 20

The Mocksville Unit of the North Carolina Army National Guard was inspected on Sept. 20, 1961, by Major Troy H. Sanders at the National Guard Armory on Railroad Street. Major Sanders, Inspection General from Third Army Headquarters in Ft. McPherson, Georgia.

Major Sanders said that things looked very good at the armory. He also stated several things about the unit positively and they are as follows:

Administrative Records were Excellent; Supply and Maintenance Records were Superior; Questions in Rank showed that several topics needed more training and it is in the process of being done.

Classes were well organized for the evening phase of the inspection. The unit was commended very highly for use of the Training Aids available. Morale appeared at a very high rate among the men in the unit. Facilities and grounds were in a very high state of police and well maintained.

First Lieutenant Lester P. Martin, Jr., is commanding officer of the National Guard and S. Sgt. E-6 Douglas R. Plink is Administrative Supply Technician. Others present at the inspection were Colonel Collins McKinnis, G-3 from Division Headquarters in Raleigh; Capt. Charles R. Wanner, Commanding Officer of Co. D, 3rd BG, 120th Infantry, in Newton; Capt. Robert O. Williams, Staff Assistant for 3rd Battle Group, 120th Infantry, in Concord; and Sgt. Donald V. Anderson, Sgt. Inspector with Major Sanders.

The truth about Heating and Home Cleanliness

Modern automatic heating systems rarely create dirt or stain your home. This is true regardless of the fuel used. Smudges on windows and draperies are usually caused by ordinary household dirt and grease particles that are picked up by the flow of air and deposited on cooler surfaces. When filters are changed often, a forced air heating system actually helps rid household air of dirt and dust. Other aids are good exhaust fans and hoods over stoves.

The diagram below explains why Modern Oil Heat offers the most healthfully clean forced air heat your home can have.

FACT: Oil Heat is cleaner heat

PROOF:

1. Cool air, pulled from your house into the furnace, is cleaned as it passes through the filters.
2. The blower fan then forces the clean air around (not through) the heat chamber.
3. Highly refined Fuel Oil is atomized and burned in sealed heat chamber. Exhaust goes directly out the flue—never into your house.
4. The air, now warmed by contact with the outside surface of the sealed heat chamber, is forced into your house for comfortable, clean air heat.

National Honor Society Inducts Twenty - Eight At Davie High

Thirty-eight new members were inducted into the National Honor Society of the Davie County High School at a special meeting held Monday night.

Bill Evans, President, presided. Ann Glasscock, chaplain, gave the devotionals. The history of the National Honor Society was given by Molly Tutterow.

An impressive ceremony, using colored candles to signify the four virtues required of the members was used. These virtues are Character, Scholarship, Leadership and Service. Brief talks were given by Edith Hartman, Brenda Ellis, Bill Ellis and Betty Graves.

Only Juniors and Seniors are eligible for this honor. They must have and maintain an average of 92.5 and must be approved by the faculty on the basis of the four virtues listed above. There are 28 juniors and eleven seniors in the group.

The twenty-eight new members were awarded membership cards by D. F. Stillwell, Principal of the Davie County High School.

Remarks congratulating the students and urging them to maintain their grades were made by James Wall, sponsor. Parents of the members and Supt. W. T. Bird were special guests.

A social hour for the students and parents followed the meeting. Punch and cookies were served.

Senior members include: Billy Ellis, Bill Evans, Ann Glasscock, Betty Graves, Katherine Harding, Edie Hartman, Ronald Hendrix, Lyndia Jones, Dorothy Shell, Molly Tutterow and Brenda Ellis.

Rotary Hears Talk On Value of Service

The Mocksville Rotary Club was challenged Tuesday to give everyone an opportunity for service.

Millard Wilson, Professor of Commerce at Catawba College cited the values of services to the community, to the state, to the nation and to the world.

"However one of the most outstanding values of service is the therapeutic value to the individual serving others", said Professor Wilson.

He praised the Rotary Club for being a service organization and said that this community reflected that there were many service organizations in which individuals were willing to give freely of their time and effort.

Ted Junker had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Wilson. President Gordon Tomlinson presided.

Special guests included F. E. Fitchette of Dunn. Bill Evans was present as student guest.

State Patrol To Intensify Campaign

Sgt. G. A. Everington of the State Highway Patrol announced this week that an intensive drive would be put on during the next three months to cut down on highway violations and fatalities.

Sgt. Everington, who heads District 3 of Troop E, pointed out that the last three months of the year usually are the most dangerous for fatalities.

"We are planning an intensive drive on the road program, using every method known to apprehend violators," said Sgt. Everington. "Ours will be a strict, fair and impartial program. We want the people to realize their obligation to one another on the highway and let the traffic ticket be the last resort," he said.

Sgt. Everington said that Davie County now had two full-time members of the State Highway Patrol stationed here. Also, a new radar device has been assigned for use in this county.

"We do not like to give tickets," said Sgt. Everington. "However, we will without hesitation if we are forced to by people who disregard the rights of others and violate the law."

FIFTH SUNDAY SINGING

The regular Fifth Sunday Singing will be held on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. at Bear Creek Baptist Church. All singers are invited to attend.

Mrs. Francis W. Slate was elected to head the Davie County Hospital Auxiliary for the new year at the meeting held on Tuesday night, Oct. 17, in the assembly room of the Davie County Office Building.

She will succeed Mrs. Richard Allen, retiring president, and will assume her office in January of 1962.

Other officers chosen to serve include: Mrs. Wade Groce, president elect; Mrs. B. L. Richards, secretary; Mrs. Bryan Sell, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Blacklock, finance chairman.

A report from the membership committee showed a total of 223 members to date. Mrs. Gene Bowman, co-chairman of the Bazaar held in September, reported a total of $1,609.97 raised on this event.

Mrs. C. C. Smoot, retiring treasurer, reported a total of $4,154.03 in the treasury.

Plans were discussed at the conclusion of the meeting to have the Auxiliary sponsor a program to assist the Hospital in securing more blood donors. It is a plan of the group to have people in each community have their blood typed and volunteer as blood donors in order that the local hospital will have a larger list of donors to call on whenever the blood is needed. This plan will be completed at a later date.

New Industry Locates Here

A new industry is expected to open in Mocksville in the very near future.

Belt's, Inc., have leased the old Mocksville Implement building on Salisbury Street and are reported to be establishing an industry for the manufacture of belts, zippers, buttons, buckles, and the like.

The building is now being remodeled and operations are expected to get underway in the near future. It was reported that the industry will probably employ around 75 people when in full operation.

B. C. Moore & Sons Anniversary Sale Is Now In Progress

This is the time each year at B. C. Moore and Sons in Mocksville and in the other Moore's stores in the two Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama when their fictional (they insist she's "fabulous") "Annie" takes over.

For 11 years this Anniversary Sale has been an annual event, and, according to Lester Blackwelder, manager of the store in Mocksville, has consistently gained in momentum.

The far reaching group of department stores was founded with a small store in Wadesboro, N. C., where now is located the home office. In the four states there are now 54 stores with tentative plans for additional units.

Portrait of First Board Chairman Is Hung In Lobby

The portrait of the late James Kimbrough Sheek was presented to the Davie County Hospital Board of Trustees in a special ceremony last Thursday night and was hung in the lobby of the hospital.

The portrait was presented to the Hospital Board of Trustees by the family of the late Mr. Sheek. It was provided by memorial funds contributed in his honor by the hospital trustees, hospital employees, and business associates and friends of Mr. Sheek. It was painted by Mrs. Outlaw Hunt of Oxford, N. C.

Present for the ceremony were Mrs. Sheek, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Sheek, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pennington and daughter, representing the family of Mr. Sheek.

A. T. Grant accepted the portrait on behalf of the hospital board of trustees.

In accepting the portrait, Mr. Grant pointed out that it was very appropriate that a portrait of Mr. Sheek be hung in the hospital.

"I know of no man that ever worked any harder to make the dream of a hospital for Davie County a reality than Mr. Sheek. His work and leadership as the first chairman of the board of trustees is responsible for this institution we have today. He gave unselfishly of his time and efforts to the public in this venture," said Mr. Grant.

Dr. Lester P. Martin, speaking on behalf of the committee for arrangements for this portrait, also praised the work of Mr. Sheek on behalf of the hospital. Other members of this committee included Mrs. Woodrow W. Wilson and T. L. Junker.

The presentation took place at the meeting of the hospital board of trustees last Thursday evening. Graham Madison, chairman of the board trustees, presided over the meeting.

Other business saw the presentation of the certificate of accreditation to the board of trustees by Dr. B. L. Richards, Chief of Staff. The presentation was made to Graham Madison, chairman.

Eaton's Funeral Service To Dedicate New Chapel Sunday

Formal Opening Of New Building This Weekend

The new funeral home and chapel of the Eaton's Funeral Service in Mocksville will observe their formal opening on Saturday and Sunday of this week. The spacious new chapel will be dedicated in a special program to be held at 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Owned by Carl Eaton, Hubert Eaton and Wayne Eaton, the new funeral home and chapel is perhaps the largest under one roof in the state of North Carolina. Consisting of 12,844 sq. ft. of floor space, it is completely air conditioned and heated by the new electric heat pump method. Formerly Walker Funeral Home, this establishment was purchased in 1951 by the present owners. In 1952, the Siler Funeral Home was purchased and the two were consolidated into one funeral home.

Construction on the new building began early this past summer and it was recently completed.

The building contains two stories. On the ground floor is a large foyer, chapel and overflow rooms, four large state rooms, preparation room and an apartment in which Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eaton reside.

On the second floor are selection rooms, storage room, two large arrangement rooms and three bedrooms.

The chapel, which seats 400 persons, has lights which may be dimmed or brightened with the turn of a dial. A lustrous cream-white finish on the sides of the pews accents the rich woods of the seats. The aisle is covered with beige carpeting, as is the altar section. The walls are of a seafoam green.

The chapel contains a private family section that can seat forty and a special choir section that seats twenty. There is an electric organ and Mrs. J. K. Sheek serves as organist.

CARL WALTER EATON

Carl Walter Eaton has been a partner with Eaton Funeral Service since 1951. He was born in Davie County and attended schools of this county. He farmed until he was 22-years of age at which time he became associated with the Erwin Mills in Coolmeec, serving as assistant overseer in the bleaching, finishing and dyeing departments for fifteen years. He is a member of the Mocksville Baptist Church and the Mocksville Lions Club. He is married to the former Lucille Bowles. They have two children: Walter Leon Eaton and Norman Wayne Eaton.

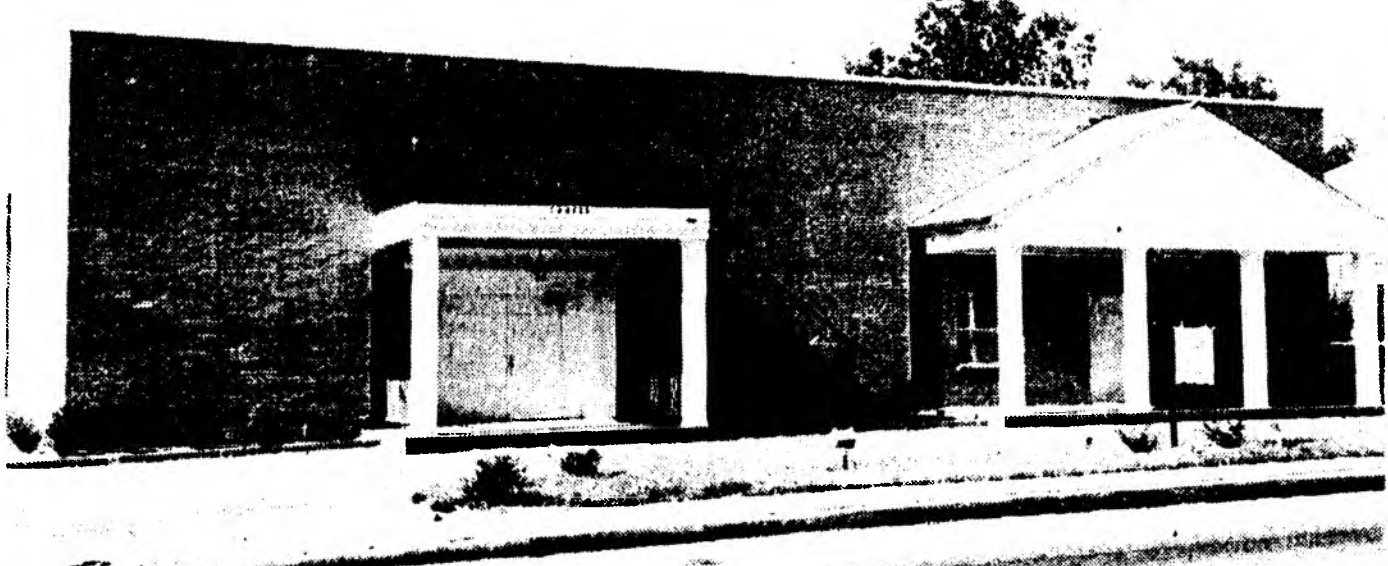

HUBERT R. EATON

Hubert R. Eaton has been a partner with the Eaton Funeral Service since 1951. A life long native of Davie County, he attended Davie County Schools and Mars Hill College. He taught school for one year at White's School and served for twenty years as shipping clerk for Erwin Mills at Coolmeec. He has also been active in dairy farming. He is a member of the Mocksville Lions Club. He is married to the former Lucille Gobble. They have two children: Mrs. John Mauney, Jr. of upper state New York and Mrs. Robert Dwiggin of Mocksville.

N. WAYNE EATON

N. Wayne Eaton, has been a partner with the Eaton Funeral Service since it's beginning. He is a graduate of Guppton-Jones College of Mortuary Science and is a licensed funeral director and embalmer. He is a member of the Pi Sigma Eta National Embalmers Fraternity and past-president of the North Carolina and South Carolina Mortuary Science Alumni Association. He is a member of the First Baptist Church, Mocksville Maconic Lodge, Mocksville Rotary Club, Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce, and the American Legion. He is the immediate past-president of the Davie County Rescue Squad. He has been active in funeral directing for the past 14 years. He is a native of Davie County and a graduate of Coolmeec High School. He is married to the former Mary Marklin. They have four children: Theresa, Mary Lynn, Lou Ann and Clay.

EATON'S FUNERAL SERVICE—now housed in a modern building that includes a chapel on North Main Street in Mocksville. The formal opening of this new building will be held Saturday and Sunday of this week. The chapel will be dedicated with a special program to be held Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Rotary Governor Here Next Week

DR. CARL V. TYNER
—District Governor—

The Mocksville Rotary Club on Monday and Tuesday will be host to Dr. Carl V. Tyner, governor of the 789 district of Rotary International who is making his annual official visit to each of the 34 Rotary Clubs in the district. He will address the local club and confer with President Gordon Tomlinson and Secretary Joe Patner, and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Dr. Tyner is a surgeon in Leaksville and is a member and past president of the Leaksville-Spray Rotary Club. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, is a member and past president of the North Carolina State Board of Medical Examiners, is an active and religious leader in his community. He has served on local school board and the North Carolina School for the Deaf and Blind, and was for many years a member of Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College. He was elected as district governor of Rotary International for 1961-62 at Rotary's 52nd annual convention in Tokyo, Japan, in May, and attended the convention in Tokyo. He is one of the 269 district governors supervising the activities of more than 11,000 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 509,000 business and professional executives in 123 countries throughout the world.

"Wherever Rotary Clubs are located their activities are similar to those of the Mocksville Rotary Club because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment and orderliness, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of understanding, good will and peace among all peoples of the world," said Gordon Tomlinson, President of the local club. "Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and strength," he added. "During the past fiscal year, more than 300 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 43 countries and four geographical regions were added to Rotary's membership roster: Gabon, Nigeria, Reunion and Somalia."

Mrs. Charlie Cozart of Mocksville, 11th District VFW Auxiliary President, and Commander Sumpter Bowen of Kannapolis, will preside at the meeting.

Car Damaged In Wreck Sat. Night

Estimated damages of $600 were done to a 1959 Mercury in a wreck Saturday, three miles east of Mocksville on U. S. 64.

The accident, which happened around 8 a.m., was caused when the Chevrolet, driven by Fred Lee Overcash, of Advance, Rt. 2, and heading west, attempted to pass a 1959 Mercury being operated by Marian Gilbert Hofman of Thomasville, heading in the same direction.

Trooper Grady Howard of the State Highway Patrol said that his investigation showed that the Overcash car cut back into the right lane too short and hit the Hofman car, causing it to run off the road and overturn down an embankment.

No one was injured. Mr. Overcash was charged with failure to see intended movement could be made in safety.

Damages to the Hofman car were estimated at $600 and $10 to the Overcash car.

VFW Entertain Patients At Salisbury

Driver Charged In Wreck Sun. Night

The driver of a 1959 Ford was charged with driving too fast for conditions as the result of a wreck around 7:30 p.m. Sunday night on the Campbell Road.

Trooper Grady W. Howard of the State Highway Patrol said that he charged Norman Bell Smith, Jr., 17, of Mocksville following a wreck which resulted from his losing control of the car.

Trooper Howard said that Smith, heading west on the Campbell Road, apparently lost control on a curve and travelled 172 feet on the right shoulder, came back on the road, overturned, then continued across the road in an upright position, down an embankment into wooded area.

Smith was thrown from the car and suffered lacerations on the forehead. Other occupants of the car: Phyllis Call, 13, and Carol Ann Call, 14, both of Rt. 3, Mocksville, were not injured.

Damages to the car were estimated at around $800.

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.)

You stop smoothly, lovely with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes. Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

A New World of Worth

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Caudle and Miss Linda Caudle and invited into the living room where early fall flowers gave a festive air to the occasion.

Ping pong, question and answer, relay races and bingo were played.

Fluff, candy, potato chips, cake, nuts, and Coca Colas were served to the honoree, Misses Doxie Bearden, Linda Riddle, Brenda Trivette, Helen Harding, Barbara Taylor, Katherine Harris, Linda Caudle, Teresa, Debbie and Penny Wallace Mrs. K. A. Taylor, Mrs. R. T. Caudle, Mrs. W. A. Taylor and Mrs. Bob Wallace.

Kindergarten Class Has October Outings

The Happy House Kindergarten Class of Mrs. L. T. Hunter is having a gay time in October. Their first outing was a visit to the Presbyterian Church. Accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Clark, and Mrs. O. M. Hendrix, the group was taken on a guided tour of the church by the Rev. W. F. Long. They were shown the church, the sanctuary, listened to organ music, and visited the Sunday School class rooms.

During Fire Prevention Week, the group visited the Fire Station. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jack Pennington and Mrs. M. H. Groce. Andrew Lagle, fire chief, showed the children the station and explained the equipment.

On Oct. 20, a birthday party was given in the Kindergarten rooms by Mrs. Melvin Luper. The party was given in honor of her son, Steve, on his 5th birthday anniversary. Birthday cake and iced drinks were served by the hostess. Favors were colorful balloons.

A Halloween party on Oct. 31 will climax the round of monthly fun. Mrs. Hunter will be hostess at the party in Happy House Kindergarten.

Richardson-Speer Wedding Vows Said

Miss Christine Richardson and J. W. Speer were united in marriage Friday, Oct. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at Bear Creek Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. Barkley.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Alfred Hutchins, wore a street length dress of white satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a bracelet length sleeves. She carried a white orchid on her white Bible.

Miss Barbara Richardson was her sister's only attendant. Best man was Arthur Spillman and ushers included Alan Richardson brother of the bride; and William Speer, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Speer is the daughter of Mr. Lincoln Richardson of Rt. 1, Harmony, and the late Mr. Richardson. She is a graduate of Davie County High School.

Mr. Speer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Speer of Route 5, attended Davie County High School.

After a wedding trip, the couple will live on Rt. 3, Yadkinville.

Merrell-Phelps Vows Are Spoken

Miss Tamra Louise Merrell and Gary Dean Phelps were united in marriage Saturday, October 21, in Fork Baptist Church. The Rev. Carl Poston, chaplain at the Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, officiated at half after five o'clock.

Mrs. Phelps is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Merrell of Route 3. She is a graduate of Davie County High School.

Mr. Phelps, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phelps of Thomasville, attended Thomasville High School and is employed at Maro Hosiery in Thomasville.

Wedding musicians were Miss Jane Craver of Route 2, Advance, soloist, and Mrs. Albert Thomas of Rt. 2, Advance, organist.

The couple entered the church together. The bride wore for her wedding a regatta blue wool suit with which she wore black and white accessories and a white orchid corsage. The suit was trimmed with a black mink collar.

Ushers included Wilson and Jimmy Merrell, brothers of the bride, and Rocky Johnson, the bride's cousin. Kenneth Merrell, brother of the bride, lighted the candles.

A reception was given by the bride's parents following the ceremony in the social room of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps will be at home after October 24, at 218 Polk Street, Thomasville.

P. T. A. Meeting At Smith Grove

J. H. Pettis, Jr., president of the PTA at Smith Grove School, presided at the October meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 17, at the school.

The Rev. Mr. Day, pastor of Cornatzer Baptist Church, conducted the devotional service reading the First Psalm and giving the contrasts of the two ways of life: the Godly and the Condemned. The service was closed with prayer.

At the business session, Mrs. Spauld's second grade was awarded the attendance prize of $2.00; minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. C. Cook, Jr.; the Halloween Carnival was planned and the date was set for Oct. 27 for the Carnival. Supper will be served beginning at 5 p.m. prior to the Carnival. Mrs. John Jones' class won $2.00 in the membership drive. The Association has 138 members on roll.

James Wilson, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Dr. W. T. Bird, Supt. of Davie County Schools. He spoke on "Quality Education," closing with six needs for the schools. They are: reduced class size; more library books; attendance officer; remedial program; program for gifted children and more advanced program for retarded children.

At the conclusion of the program, John Jones, principal of the school, urged all parents to attend the PTA meetings. He also invited the parents to bring their children who are not school age to the school at 8 a.m. Thursday to have their picture taken.

Cub Scouts Meet At Farmington

Cub Scout Pack No. 501 met Wednesday night in the Scout Hut at Farmington school. Cubmaster, Howard Boger presided.

Mrs. H. R. Latham was recognized as the new den mother of Den No. 4. She replaces Mrs. Harold C. Young.

New Cub Scouts welcomed into the Pack were: Vance Riddle, Donald Riddle Jr. and Lonnie West Jr.

Skits were given by the four dens originating from their recent studies of "Sleepy Hollow" and "Fire Safety".

At the conclusion of the program, awards were presented to: Lion, to Bobby Allen; Wolf to Charles Howell; Bobcat to Vance and Donald Riddle; Gold Arrow Point to Bryant Smith, and Silver Arrow Point to Richard Young.

Thirty Cubs and parents were present.

Molly Tutterow Heads Staff

Miss Molly Tutterow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Tutterow of Mocksville, Rt. 1, Center Church community, has been named editor in chief of the yearbook, "The Clarion," at Davie County High School. Miss Ann Glascock is assistant editor.

PINO

Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Freeze and daughter, Elizabeth, of Kannapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Latham were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Luther Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Reavis and daughter, Nellie; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Masten and little Cathy spent the week end in Shalotte visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ray Von Garris. They also went to Wilmington to see the U. S. S. North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harpe and family and Miss Beale Steelman all of Winston-Salem visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shelton Sunday.

THE PATENT OFFICE

When the United States Patent Office was set up in 1836, the steam locomotive's lonely whistle was just beginning to be heard across the land.

This year, on its 125th anniversary, satellites circle the earth, and scientists test vehicles which they hope will take man to the moon.

Between the eras of rail and space, the American patent system has given order and direction to the nation's inventive talents, says the National Geographic Society. By adding "the fuel of interest to the fire of genius" (Lincoln), it has sparked countless industries and helped build an unparalleled standard of living.

American Patent Incentive Week, October 15-22, was proclaimed by the President as a public salute to the system established by Congress on July 4, 1836.

A special Government bureau was created to pass on the usefulness and novelty of inventions and processes. For the first time, an official search of "prior arts" was required before granting patents.

But though this method of handling patents was new, they had been issued in America from early Colonial times. In 1641, the Massachusetts General Court approved a patent to Samuel Winslow for a new way of making salt. Five years later, a scythe manufacturer, Joseph Jenkes, received the continent's first machine patent, for equipment used in his water-driven mill.

The Founding Fathers of the independent nation encouraged inventiveness as an essential aid to development. Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson themselves made notable contributions, as Franklin's lighting rod and stove and Jefferson's efficient soil-turning plow testify.

Written into the Constitution was the provision that "Congress shall have Power—to promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts by securing for limited Times to Authors and Inventors the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Inventions."

Congress passed its first patent act in 1790. It gave the United States the distinction of leading all other countries in recognizing an inventor's legal right to profit from his labor.

To administer the law, the Secretary of State, Attorney General, and Secretary of War constituted a three-man board charged with passing on the merit and priority of applications. Naturally enough, these top Government leaders found little time to devote to the technicalities of individual patents.

In 1793 a second act dropped the merit requirement in favor of a "registration" system under which practically anyone with a drawing and a fee could obtain a patent.

The result was confusion, duplication, and litigation that ended only in 1836 with the adoption of the present system. The new policy called for numbering, examining, and recording applications. Appropriately, the first patent went to Maine's Senator John Ruggles, who had led in the reform bill's passage.

Senator Ruggles' invention, designed to add traction to railway-locomotive wheels, was a sign of the times. From then on, as the railroads stitched an expanding country together, the patents filed in Washington recorded America's drive toward industrial pre-eminence.

Before 1836, Eli Whitney's cotton gin and Cyrus McCormick's grain reaper began pouring generous harvests into the maw of a vigorous agricultural economy. Afterward came the scientific discoveries and tools that made the great modern industries possible.

Revolutions in living and working followed the introduction of Morse's telegraph, Bell's telephone, Edison's incandescent lamp, phonograph, and movie projector. Eras were born with the trolley car, horseless carriage, and flying machine; with new ways to treat rubber, make celluloid, and shape glass; with the sewing machine, typewriter, cash register, Linotype, dynamo—and zipper.

In the 20th century, inventions have grown increasingly complex and numerous. Few patents grow out of experiments in backyard workshops. Advances in electronics, atomic energy, medical and industrial chemistry, and space exploration, require teams of scientists working together in the superbly equipped laboratories of universities, corporations, and the Government.

Before 1900, fewer than 700,000 patents were granted. On September 12, 1961, the 3,000,000th came into being with special ceremonies at the Patent Office. Patent No. 3,000,000, a magnetic device for rapid processing of checks, had been pending for six years.

The time lag underscores both the intricacies of modern applications (the longest to date was 266 pages of text and 354 drawings), and the problems that face patent examiners in coping with the flood.

For the inventor will go on inventing. "You may give him wealth or you may take from him all that he has," said Alexander Graham Bell before the Patent Congress of 1891. "But he can no more help inventing than he can help thinking or breathing."

DESERVED RECOGNITION

Two presentations of merit and note were made last Thursday evening at the meeting of the Davie County Hospital Board of Trustees held at the hospital.

One was the presentation to the board of trustees of the Davie County Hospital (at their request) of a portrait of the late James K. Sheek, former chairman of the board and leader at the time the hospital was being built. This presentation was made to the trustees by the family of Mr. Sheek and was accepted on behalf of the board by A. T. Grant, attorney.

The second presentation was the certificate of accreditation that signifies that the Davie County Hospital has voluntarily met the rigid standards for a hospital laid down by the joint commission on accreditation in Chicago, Illinois. The standards set up by the commission are those that medical and hospital authorities consider necessary to insure high quality medical care. They call for application of certain basic principles of organization and administration for efficient patient care and require that the hospital meet certain standards in its physical plant.

It was appropriate that both of these presentations were made at the same time. No one worked any harder for the hospital or desired that it adopt the highest standards than James K. Sheek. The fact that it is now accredited is due in a large portion for his determination and persistence that it should be nothing short of the best.

It is also appropriate that a portrait of Mr. Sheek adorn the walls of the hospital as in type words of one of the speakers:

"So that future generations will be reminded of the fact that this hospital didn't just happen. That it is the result of hard work, effort and determination on the part of many—under the leadership of a man that was most devoted to this cause—who on many, many occasions sacrificed his personal life and business for the public interests."

The recognition of efforts is always very rewarding to those that must continually put forth effort. The portrait and the certificate of accreditation are testimonials to the motto of "service above self".

AMERICAN TRUCKING ASSOCIATION, INC.

DEMOCRATIC PROJECT . . . Reports reaching us are that the Vance-Aycock Democratic fundraising project to be held in Asheville Saturday will attract approximately 1,000 party officials.

This would be a larger crowd than any Jefferson-Jackson Dinner held in Raleigh for any year prior to 1961. In the old days, we used to feed 500-700. But this year the number ran closer to 2,500 and the party was held at the Coliseum, instead of at the Hotel Sir Walter.

Nevertheless, at the same time we are worrying about how we are going to look after such a huge gathering in Asheville which are worrying about the bond issue coming up on Nov. 7.

We must have as much enthusiasm for the bond vote as for the political rallies. Defeat of the $65.1 million bond vote will mean almost irreparable loss of face for the Democratic Party in North Carolina.

CHILDREN . . . The big Democratic rallies in Raleigh and Asheville are being held — in a year following one in which the State came within a few thousand votes of going Republican.

It is one thing to plank down $25 for a few hours of merry-making and glowing speeches—and this we are doing in 1961 in record-breaking fashion—but the Democrats have a project coming up on Nov. 7 of vastly more importance.

The question, of course, is: will the enthusiasm of the rallies bring victory at the polls on Nov. 7?

Although most of our Republican leaders are supporting vigorously the bond vote coming up, it was instigated primarily by the Democratic Party in North Carolina. Its defeat would not only be a loss for our children and colleges, but a definite slap in the face for the party.

BEARING UP . . . This is from an article by Jim Shumaker in the sharp twice a week Chapel Hill Weekly:

"Rep. Charles R. Jonas, North Carolina's Republican in the Congress, has been making it a practice to send letters of condolence to families in his district who have lost loved ones."

"Now that he is in the same district with Kitchin and probably will butt heads with him in the next Congressional primary, Rep. Paul Kitchin figured he'd better start doing the same."

"Last week, a resident of Mt. Glead wrote to her grandson here in Chapel Hill that she had received a letter from Rep. Kitchin expressing sympathy over the loss of her husband. Rep. Kitchin hoped that she could 'bear up through these trying times'."

"She has been bearing up pretty good, too, ever since her husband died in 1914."

THE DECEASED . . . We hope neither of the Congressmen will ever have happen to them what happened to a local political leader recently in Raleigh.

The Hayes Barton Baptist Church and the Hayes Barton Methodist Church here are only about a block apart and are sometimes confused with each other.

This man died a few days ago. His daughter in law is the long time secretary to the lawyer-politician. She asked to be off the following afternoon and attend her father in law's funeral at the Hayes Barton Baptist Church.

The attorney knew the deceased — and because of this and out of respect to his employee he suddenly decided the next afternoon he would take a few minutes from his busy schedule to attend the funeral.

In his rush, he went to the wrong church — Hayes Barton Methodist Church.

Now the interesting thing about it was that a funeral was being held at this church, too, and in fact was already underway when our hero arrived.

He tip toed in hurriedly, hat in hand, and found a seat near an old acquaintance on the back row. As the organ played softly, he looked down at the front where lay the body in the open casket. He looked again. Then after putting on his glasses for a third inspection, he turned to the friend at his side and whispered: "Mr. — just don't favor himself at all."

The acquaintance, knowing now what he had surmised before — that his friend was somehow in the wrong church — was afraid one word might literally break up the funeral.

As he determinedly worked at regaining his composure over the hymn, the attorney leaned over and said, "Sorriest job of undertaking I ever saw."

At this point, both left the church, the friend firmly holding an arm and pushing while the attorney muttered: "What the hell?"

He partially made up for his absence at the other funeral by solemn presence at the graveside service.

THE BEST? . . . Although the International Trade Fair at Charlotte probably paid out financially — the crowds were larger than anticipated—it will be some weeks yet before its more solid accomplishments can be determined. It was well handled, beautiful, and quite inspiring. Most educational; and truly made one proud of North Carolina's industrial progress!

We also attended the N. C. State Fair, an annual must for our family, and it seemed to be better and leaner than ever before. Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine did a masterful job as the manager. We, for one, hope he will see fit to continue in this capacity.

The Numerals 1961

Did you know that the numerals for the year 1961 reads the same in reverse as forward? In other words, held before a mirror the numerals will read 1961.

C. H. Tomlinson, making a casual study of this, found that since year one . . . there have been only 18 periods when the numerals of the year will read this way. The last one was in 1881 . . . and the next . . . we will never see.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

"Each night, the world population of almost three billion people go to bed fearing that morning will bring the horrors of nuclear war", U.S. Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas told a group of us here this week. In considering ways of preventing such a catastrophe, the Senator added, "We cannot, we must not withdraw from Berlin. For we could make all the concessions that the Communists ask - and we would still be their Number One Target". Senator McClellan spoke to the Traffic Club of New York, the members of which important organization were especially interested in hearing his views on international affairs. His experiences with James Hoffa also heightened their interest in him. Mobil officials Andy Anderson and Arthur Warner told me. Taking a crack at foreign aid, the admittedly conservative Senator said, "We cannot buy friends". He also bragged that "the ADA has just given me a rating of Zero."

At a meeting of county officials, a group of farmers asked to be received and heard. They complained about the main road which ran through their community, but got little encouragement from their listeners. In fact, the county officers objected to such a complaint, the chairman eventually saying, "The road is fairly good as a whole." Whereupon the spokesman for the farmers replied, "Yes, but we want to use it as a road."

There is considerable discussion here about the new Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. Many older words, it is said, have been omitted to make room for new ones that have crept into our ever-expanding language. Most furious is caused over the dictionary's condoning the use of "ain't in polite society. I must say that when I was going to school, we put in much long and hard practice on words then regarded as better than that ungainly if handy contraction. And at the risk of seeming glued to old habits, if you don't mind, I shall just keep on using other words than "ain't" in this column - and elsewhere.

An odd thing about New York City is that people walk more here than they do in smaller towns and in the country. Even with the fine local system of subways, buses and cabs, it is still necessary to walk for blocks to reach most places. Needless to say, this is good exercise. Parking places for cars are usually not near one's destination either. The average commuter rides in his car to the train, walks from it to a subway, then walks again for several blocks before he reaches his office. While in the average place elsewhere, it seems to me, people hop into their cars to ride as little as a quarter of a mile; then as relentlessly ride back.

Judge Luther Youngdahl recalls a man named Mac who was a mechanic, and after a hard day's work was playing ball with his young son. A neighbor asked Mac if he wasn't all tired out, and he admitted that he was. Then, enquired the neighbor, why in the world was he doing it, playing so long and hard. "Well," said Mac, "I would rather have a backache today than a headache tomorrow."

Here and There: a big clock in the sidewalk at Broadway and Maiden Lane tells accurate time — I am reminded by fellow fanciers that November 5-11 is Cnt Week International — said the minister just before the responsible reading, "Will the lady who always arrives at the 'still Waters' while the rest of us are still in the 'green pastures' please wait for us this time?" — (this apology to typesetters) the current name among the current crop of delegates to the United Nations is Prince Chulachakrabongse of Thailand — a local bowling alley offers a free nursery and baby sitter. An internal TV circuit with a camera in the nursery and screens along the lanes allow mothers to glance at their babies by remote control before they aim their bowling balls — a young writer asked an older one recently if a successful novel could be written without sex, violence and sadism, and the older one sadly shook his head.

60 Second Sermons

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "The outward form the inward man reveals" - O. W. Holmes.

For the third time a traveler stayed at the same hotel. For the third time he noticed a sign stating that the elevator was "Out Of Order".

"Isn't it taking a long time to repair that elevator?", he asked. "Just between us" the porter whispered, "that is not an elevator. It's a broom closet, but the sign makes a better impression."

Some adults appear to take pride in dressing carelessly. Of course, at times there is a charm in planned carelessness. More often, however, careless appearance is simply disordered laziness.

We owe it to ourselves and the ends we seek to create good impressions. In today's highly competitive struggle for top jobs it is foolish to reject the advantage a good appearance gives. In later years many businessmen feel they must keep up good appearances for job security. A disordered, careless appearance indicates a disordered and careless person. If you are a "broom closet" person with a cluttered, careless attitude, don't advertise it. Appear to be an "Elevator". Even "Out Of Order" you'll make a good impression on a lot of people. That is certain to give you a big advantage when the pay-off comes.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubby's preacher come by the country store again Saturday night and set with the fellers for a spell. He said about once a month was as often as he could make it on account of the committee meetings.

The good Parson said they was having their troubles over at his church. The Hymn Book Committee met Friday night, he reported, to see if they could iron out a bad situation. He said they got their new hymn books last Sunday and feelings is running pretty high amongst some of the congregation.

The Parson claimed they been needing new hymn books for the last 10 year but kept putting it off on account of some of the members would rather not sing a note as sing out of new books. He said the old hymn books was so wore out you couldn't read the words half the time and some Sunday mornings it was hard to tell if the congregation was singing or praying.

Anyhow, he told the fellers Saturday night, two families has already quit the church and two more is threatening to take their singing elsewhere. Ed Doodittle butted in and allowed as how the custom nowadays was to negotiate things at the summit. Ed suggested they let them four families keep singing out of the old hymn books. He figured that the tunes might be different and a few changes in the words but if everybody sung real loud, nobody would know the difference. The Parson liked Ed's suggestion and right off invited Ed to move to his church, said they'd make him a member of the Hymn Book Committee.

But the Parson says a preacher has got to figure on losing a few members onct in a while. He recollected that during the 1956 election he lost a family cause they thought he was a Democrat, and in 1960 he lost two on account of them thinking he was a Republican. He said he lost a member last year cause he didn't preach on whiskey and lost one this year cause he did.

I reckon a preacher lives a hard life, Mister Editor. Us farmers and ranchers ain't got nothing to worry about but floods, dry spells, insects, dust storms, falling prices, soil erosion, taxes and visiting Congressmen. But a preacher has got to worry about people, and I reckon that's the worst kind of worry-ink.

They is a old saying that the more ignorant a teller is, the less he worries. Clem Webster, fer instance, don't worry about nothing, and Clem has got the reputation of being a teller that'll walk a mile to keep from

MORE LUMBER

More lumber is used in America than in any other nation, though Canada and New Zealand boast a greater consumption per person. The average American uses twice as much lumber as a Russian, four times as much as an Englishman and six times as much as a Frenchman.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Tom Cope, 72, funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Jordan Cope, 72, wife of Tom Cope, Oak St., Mocksville, were held Monday afternoon at the Eaton Chapel. The Rev. C. P. Burchett and the Rev. A. C. Cheshire officiated. Burial was in Rose Cemetery.

Mrs. Cope died at 7:30 a.m. Sunday at her home on Oak St. in Mocksville. She had been in declining health ten years.

She was born in Davidson County Feb. 13, 1889, to George and Alice Spry Jordan. She was married in 1910.

Mrs. Cope was a member of Mocksville Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Everett Dennis of Virginia Beach, Va.; Mrs. Fair Swain of Winston-Salem and Mrs. Joe Heisabeck of Walnut Cove; two sons, Radford Cope of Salisbury; and William Cope of Baltimore, Md.; four brothers, Adam, Ben, and Dewey Jordan, all of Coolemees, and Baxter Jordan of Salisbury; a sister, Mrs. Ernest Tiller of Leaksville. 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Services Of State Library Available Here

The services of the State Library in Raleigh are available in Davie County through the Davie County Public Library to every person.

"People in Davie County use the State Library resources often without being aware of it," said Mrs. Paul Blackwelder, Librarian. "Last year the library borrowed 78 books for people in this area through inter-library loan. Most of these books came from the State Library. Others were located in other libraries by the State Library."

Films used here by community groups are from the Adult Film Project financed by the State Library.

Recently Mrs. I. H. Huske and Mrs. C. W. Shepherd of the county library staff attended a training workshop sponsored by the State Library in Charlotte, recently.

New books bought by the local library are ordered and processed at the State Library. This means larger discounts on the cost of the books and saves time for the local staff members.

Blind people in Davie County receive free "Talking Books" from the State Library. The "Talking Books" are special phonograph records made by actors and other prominent people with good voices who volunteer their services. The Bible, the Readers Digest magazine and all kinds of books are available.

The State Library, reorganized in July, 1956, by a merger of the Library Commission and the old State Library, has so increased its services that books and personnel are crowded beyond the point of efficiency. It operates with two other agencies in a building designed for the Supreme Court. Various study commissions have recommended that a functional library building be constructed and that present space be converted to state offices. The legislature has approved the recommendation by including a proposed building to be shared with the Department of Archives and History, in the state bond election on Nov. 7.

Courage is that virtue which champions the cause of right.—Cicero.

Rep. Hugh Alexander Honored By Masons

The two highest honors bestowed by the Masonic fraternity are being conferred this week in Washington, D. C. upon U. S. Congressman Hugh Alexander, of Kannapolis.

He was elected this week by the Supreme Council of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry to make a Knight Commander of the Court of Honor which was conferred on him on Wednesday and also to receive on Friday of this week, in an unusually rare procedure, the 33d degree — Masonry's most eminent distinction.

There is normally a minimum period of several years between the relatively unusual honor of becoming a K. C. C. H. and the possibility of consideration for selection to attain the 33d degree. Action has been taken otherwise comparatively few times since the establishment of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry in America, when the late Albert Pike served as the original Sovereign Grand Commander of the Order.

Exceptions from this custom can be made only the recommendation of the Sovereign Grand Commander, and that was done in Congressman Alexander's situation. The incumbent head of the Supreme Council, Judge Luther A. Smith, a distinguished native Mississippian, issued the ruling in special recognition of the recipient's "particularly meritorious services in the interest of his country, his fellowman, and his fraternity."

The North Carolina Ninth District's veteran member of Congress was cited specifically for his "great humanitarian works and his major contributions to better government."

The two distinguished honors were given during the week at the Scottish Rite House of the Temple in Washington.

For many years a leader in the work of the Masonic fraternity, Congressman Alexander served in 1952 as Master of the Cannon Memorial Lodge No. 626 of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of North Carolina. He is a member of the Carolina Consistory of Scottish Rite Masons, through which he attained the 32d degree, of the Knights Templar. He is also a Shriner and was the first President of the Cabarrus County Shrine Club.

Congressman Alexander is generally recognized for his "highly meritorious record in the cause of good government" throughout 9 consecutive years of service in the Congress of the United States.

Rep. Hugh Alexander On Select Committee

Congressman Hugh Alexander has been appointed a member of a select House Appropriations group to investigate Foreign Aid expenditures. Mr. Alexander's appointment was announced by Chairman Clarence Cannon of the House Appropriations Committee.

The Ninth District Congressman will leave Washington on Oct. 24 for an investigation tour which will last approximately 3 weeks. While overseas Alexander will visit Spain, Switzerland, Italy, Lebanon, Syria, Thailand, Hong Kong, and Japan. He will return to the United States via Honolulu, arriving at San Francisco on Nov. 18.

Alexander has been a consistent foe of excessive foreign aid spending during his service in the Congress. Other members of the group which will travel with Alexander are Representatives Passman of Louisiana and Montoya of New Mexico.

On learning of his selection to look into foreign aid expenditures Alexander said in Washington, "I have long felt that our foreign aid expenditures overseas should be terminated or greatly reduced. I have never been of the opinion that we could buy friends overseas in our struggle with Communism. I am happy to make this investigative trip at Chairman Cannon's request and I believe our group will be able to make some constructive recommendations to the committee on our return to Washington."

ASCS News*Discount Varieties of Tobacco

It just makes good sense for farmers to produce a quality product which is most wanted by buyers in the market place. When this is done not only to the farmers benefit, but the buyers, consumers, in fact all of us benefit from wise production by farmers.

In this connection A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee reminds farmers that USDA has announced the addition of a new variety of flue cured tobacco to the list of discount varieties for 1962. The new variety is known as 187 Golden Wilt. In 1962, the same as in the past few years, Coker 139, Coker 140, Dixie Bright 244, and the newly added 187 Golden Wilt will be supported by the Flue Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation at one half the support rate the tobacco would otherwise have.

Production of tobacco with the undesirable characteristics of these discounted varieties has been shown to be detrimental to the farmer by the fact that the Corporation still has unsold stocks of such tobacco on hand from the 1955 and 1956 crops.

As farmers will soon be preparing their plantbeds and possibly buying their tobacco seed for next year's crop, Hassell issued an urgent request that farmers make absolutely certain that the seed they procure and plant in their bed is seed of acceptable variety which would not hurt their own tobacco business when the tobacco is placed on the market. These seeds should be bought only from reliable sources. Hassell further brought out the fact that he expects a very thorough discount variety program to be carried out next year, and expects every farmer who plants one of these discount varieties to receive a blue marketing card which signifies that he is only entitled to one-half the support rate he would otherwise receive.

Lease and Transfer of Flue-Cured Tobacco For Acreage Allotment

Economic flexibility which will not only be of great benefit to flue cured tobacco farmers, but will also benefit all segments of our rural and urban population will now be permitted as a result of recent legislation. According to A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, ASCS County offices are receiving numerous questions on the new lease and transfer legislation. He pointed out that although the law has been passed, operating instructions have not been completed for issuance to local ASCS county offices which will permit them to take any action regarding the lease and transfer of allotments. Hassell did give some general provisions regarding these transfers which he said should do much to answer the questions farmers are now bringing to their local ASCS county office. To be eligible to lease additional acreage a farm must already have a flue cured allotment. The lease and transfer provisions do not permit the movement of allotments across county lines. The lease of a 1962 tobacco acreage allotment may not be entered into for any period in excess of the 1962 crop year. The lease and transfer shall not be effective unless a copy of the lease is filed with and approved by the ASC County committee. Where the normal yield of the lessor and lessee farm does not differ appreciably, the lease and transfer will be approved by ASCS on an acre for acre basis. If the normal yield of the receiving farm is appreciably higher than for the farm providing the allotment, the acreage will be adjusted downward accordingly.

Hassell further explained that the production of tobacco on transferred acreage will not be taken into account in establishing an allotment for subsequent years for the farms to which such allotment acreage is transferred. In addition, he said the law does not permit transfer of more than 5 acres of allotment acreage to any farm. No 1962 new farm allotment may be leased or transferred and any allotment acreage leased shall not be subleased under the provisions of the law.

According to Hassell, the Washington ASCS Office is now in the process of preparing operating instructions under this new law, and as soon as these instructions are received in the county offices, ASCS County personnel will be glad to counsel with farmers on possible lease or transfer. County offices will give wide publicity when they are ready to discuss lease and transfer of flue cured tobacco acreage allotments with farmers in the county, he said.

North Rowan Here Friday

Rebels Lose 3rd To Troutman

EDWARD HINKLE
— Guard —

JIM EATON — Tackle —

Davie County Rebels will meet the strong North Rowan 11 at the high school athletic field on Friday night at 8 o'clock. North Rowan is currently tied with Mooresville for the lead in the North Piedmont Conference.

The Rebels are undefeated this season on the new field . . . losing three games—all away from home.

An added feature on Friday night will be the new electric scoreboard given to the school by the Mocksville Moose Lodge. This scoreboard has been erected and will be in operation Friday night.

Last Friday the Rebels suffered their third loss of the current season, bowing to Troutman 14 to 0. Troutman scored in the second and fourth quarters and staved off Davie threats to provide an upset victory.

The Rebels moved the ball well, but could not muster sufficient strength for a scoring punch. Davie had 9 first downs to 5 for Troutman, and 101 yards rushing to 75 for Troutman. In passing, Davie completed 7 for 14 for a total of 78 yards. Troutman completed five of 7 for a total of 55 yards. Troutman intercepted two of Davie's passes. Davie punted four times for an average of 21 yards per kick. Troutman punted seven times for an average of 36 yards per kick. Davie lost the ball three times on fumbles; Troutman once.

Davie was penalized a total of 20 yards; Troutman 35 yards.

Girl Scout News

Christmas Caravan

A Christmas Caravan will be held in the Assembly Room of the Davie County Office Building on Wednesday, November 1, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

This event will be sponsored by the local Girl Scout troops. It is designed to provide troop leaders and girls with ideas for Christmas gifts and service projects which are inexpensive. There will be suggestions for making tree ornaments, Christmas cards, Christmas wrappings, mobiles, centerpieces and table decorations as well as gifts. Articles in the exhibit are to be made by local Girl Scouts and by others in the Pilot Area Girl Scout Council.

At 4 p.m. a demonstration in wreath making will be given by Mrs. W. P. Lee of Winston-Salem.

The public is cordially invited to attend as well as the local Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts.

Investiture Service

On Friday Oct. 20, Brownie Troop No. 216 held its Investiture Service in the Girl Scout Room in the Davie County Court House.

Mrs. James Boger, Brownie Consultant, presided. Each girl made her Brownie Promise individually and answered the question, "Why do you want to be a Brownie Scout?" After answering the question, each girl received her pin.

Those receiving pins included: Lynn Hicks, Cindy Boger, Mary Blanton, Patty Harris, Tonya Vestal, Olivia Young, Penny Wallace, Cathy Foster, Elizabeth Ann Brown, Nancy Wall, Martha Pennington and Jill Slate. At a later service, these girls will receive their pins: Peggy McCoy, Betsy Clark, Madonna Allen, Jennifer Barnhardt, and Linda Howard. After the ceremony, the girls and their leaders, Mrs. Jim Wall and Mrs. Jack Pennington, were hostesses at a tea for the parents and friends attending the service. A Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations, and punch and cookies were served.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT

LEO F. WILLIAMS
Davie County Farm Agent
Tobacco Variety Performance Survey

A Tobacco Variety Performance survey is being conducted in Davie County to determine how various varieties compared in yield and value during 1961 on tobacco farms.

As many farmers as possible are being contacted so that the information gathered will represent a sizeable portion of the tobacco grown in the county. Growers are being asked what total yield and value he received from each variety he grew in 1961.

Cards are being sent to a representative group of growers in the county and the growers who receive cards are urged to fill out the card accurately and return it to the County Agent's office. Everyone who receives a card should send it in regardless of whether his yield is low, medium or high. This is essential if the summary of the variety data is to represent the actual performance of a given variety in the county and state.

This information is also being accumulated by other counties, and a summary of the county, belt and State results will be available for growers to see as soon as it has been summarized.

Bond Sales Climb Higher

In response to the Treasury department's recent efforts to stimulate bond sales, North Carolinians have responded by substantially increasing their purchases of bonds.

For the second successive month in North Carolina Savings Bonds sales showed an increase over the comparable month of a year ago.

Series E Bond sales for the month of September were up over 5%, while the Series H Bond sales were up nearly 13%. The combined sales total was 6% greater than for September, 1960.

Cumulative sales for the year amounted to over 36 million dollars, which is an increase of over 5 hundred thousand dollars. This amount is 70% of the State's quota for this year.

Bond sales in Davie County for September were $15,126.00. Sales for the first nine months this year totalled $148,153.00. This is 73.6% of the county's quota.

Knox Johnstone, Davie County Volunteer Chairman, in releasing this report quoted the National Director, W. H. Neal, of Winston-Salem as saying, "As the international situation grows in intensity, the Savings Bonds Program becomes increasingly more important to our nation and its people. As our nation, our free system of Government, our traditions and institutions are being put to a test of survival, it is imperative that all Americans join hands in providing the economic strength so important to our country's defense."

In making this report Knox Johnstone said that it is gratifying to know North Carolinians are responding to their country's needs by upping their purchases of Savings Bonds.

Flameless Electric Heat Pumps Provide Desired Flexibility for Ultimate in Comfort

Eaton's Funeral Home selected modern electric heat pumps to cool and heat its new facilities. The six heat pumps installed permit the temperatures of different areas in the building to be controlled accurately, so that patrons may have the ultimate in comfort. When certain areas are not in use, the heat pumps supplying them can be turned off.

In addition to flexibility and comfort, users of more than 4500 heat pumps in the Piedmont Carolinas like the cleanliness, automatic control, and thrifty operation. If you wish to benefit in these ways, call Duke Power. Our representatives welcome the opportunity to help you, even though we neither sell nor install flameless electric heating systems.
