Tuesday night at Mooresville, the Rebelettes lost their second game of the conference season 40 to 30, while the Rebels bounced back on the victory trail with a 50 to 45 win.

Leading 19 to 12 at halftime, the Rebelettes managed to score only 20 points the last half while Mooresville tossed in 29... enough for the one point victory.

Kathy Grimes had 14 points to lead the Rebelettes; Shelton had 10; D. Seaford, 7 and J. Seaford, 8.

The Rebels were never headed as they jumped into a 17 to 4 lead the first quarter and consted to a 50-45 victory.

Jim Anderson had 13 points to lead the scoring. Jun'or Beal had 10; Parker, 8; Woodward, 6; Shoffner, 6; Howell, 4; Markland, 2; Crenshaw, 4; and Pierce, 4.

The Rebelettes clinched a firm hold on second place and remained in contention for the conference crown by an impressive 53 to 44 win over North Rowan last Friday night.

Fighting back after a slow start in the first quarter when they could manage only 6 points, Coach Bill Peeler's girls poured 19 points through the hoop in a hot second quarter while holding North Rowan to 5 and were never headed as they notched their sixth conference win.

The Rebels, however, were outscored during the third and fourth quarter when they were outscored 25 to 10, and came out on the wrong end of a 58 to 37 final score. After a closely-fought first half (23-20), North Rowan outscored the Rebels 35 to 17 in the final half to remain undefeated in the conference.

Glenda Shelton paced the Rebelettes with 25 points; Grimes had 8; D. Seaford, 7; J. Seaford, 6; Wagner, Carter, 1; Davis, 1.

For the Rebels, Grimes Parker had 12 and Jimmy Anderson 11; Shoffner, 5; Woodward, 7; and Markland, 2.

This was the long narrow strip previously referred to as proved by a series of deeds to a piece of Glen property within its limits, and also by the fact that old Grants south or west of the Yadkin appear as "south" while all which were north or east are called "north" regardless of actual direction.

1811...[December]...An Act was passed "to alter the line between Surry and Stokes". The wording is indefinite and Miss Fries said that she even looked up the original bill that passed the House and Senate and "there were no explanation, not even as to which county lost and which gained. It has been very difficult to find any clue to the land of Joseph Wilson, formerly that of Samuel Kirby, Sr., around whose south and west boundaries the line was to pass under the Act. I found that in 1811 Joseph Wilson owned a tract at the north end of what is now called "Little Yadkin" and its location would indicate that Stokes got a small part of Surry".

1836...Davie County established The Act only established the line to divide Davie from Rowan and provided that all Rowan north of the line shall be the new county and did not state whether or not it went to the Yadkin River or to the old Rowan-Surry-Stokes line.

1849...Stokes County was divided by a line beginning at the southwest corner of Rockingham and running thence west to the Surry County line, the south portion becoming Forsyth. No details were given as to other lines.

1851...Yadkin County erected out of all of Surry lying south of the Yadkin, including all that portion of the County of Surry known and called by the name of "Little Surry", now of course "Little Yadkin".

Miss Fries pointed out that there can be no doubt that the Rowan-Surry line of 1773 gave a small acreage in "the Bend" to Surry. Also, the Act of 1789 divided it between Surry and Stokes, the line ending at "Mock's Mill". If there was any Act to change this, it was never found, until the Act of the General Assembly in 1925 put this lost corner back into Davie where it belonged.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

There must be a lot of people over 40 in this country. Judging from the comments received from a recent column which mentioned the Forty Plus Club of New York. In response to this interest, I have done further research on the subject and the results appear to be not only interesting but helpful to those in search of employment after they have reached this age. Unfortunately, such clubs do not exist in all parts of the country. However, at the rate they are growing, it would not be surprising to find this situation remedied in the not-distant future.

The Forty Plus Club of New York is a non-profit cooperative association of industrial and business executives, located in the old newspaper section of the city at 15 Park Row. It was established 25 years ago by a personal exchange for employers and executives, and its success has been so marked that thousands of men and a corresponding number of employers can thank the organization for bringing about their fusion. The club is based on the simple fact that many men are let out of their jobs while still young and vigorous enough to produce profitably for some company which does not erect an age barrier between itself and efficiency. "It has been our experience," said R. H. Richards vice president of International Shoe Corporation, "that men in this older age bracket are reliable, do their work well, are easier to work with and, above all, have more mature judgment than younger men.

An executive, for example, who believes he is set for life may be jolted out of his secure position by unexpected mergers, acquisitions and company reorganizations brought on by the profit squeeze, loss of contracts, policy or product changes. The answer of the Forty Plus Club to this is, "There's no substitute for experience." So the unemployed man goes to the club, goes through a rigid routine and probably gets a new job. The average member is 52 years old and has earned $16,000 a year. It usually takes him about four months to land a new job. Since the club has no paid staff, this means that the member does most of the work himself. In the headquarters, it's "all chiefs and no Indians," each former executive pitching in and doing all kinds of mental jobs from operating a mimeograph machine to stuffing envelopes. The club advertises in local newspapers—when they are being printed—and on radio each week, and as a result, some 100 unemployed executives apply in person. But only 10 per cent are accepted as members. Why? A Forty Plus member must be a male, U. S. citizen, more than 40, in good health and unemployed. He must have earned more than $8,000 a year in a management or executive position and must have a good employment record that will stand close investigation.

A club member must promise to work for 2½ days each week for the organization, with no salary for the duration of his active membership. He is asked if he is able to finance himself for from 4 to 6 months, the estimated time it will require for him to find a job. His answer must be "yes," if he becomes a member. Though operating on a budget of $40,000 a year, the club never charges a fee to a member or to the employer who gives him a job, the support coming from the cooperative labor and financial contributions of members. A new member contributes $50 at the beginning, then $1 a week until he gets a job, when he gives the club whatever he feels the effort to land him his position has been worth. He works hard preparing resumes of his qualifications, getting advice from colleagues on this, then going out and calling on 10 to 15 prospective employers each week. Every member works for all the other club members, never trying to sell himself directly. The procedure is confidential, and the results are heartening to many mature but very worthwhile people whose valuable service based on long experience might otherwise be lost to mankind.

Money that builds walls

...American style

The money you're putting into U.S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

1. You get $1 back for every $3 when your Bonds mature.
2. Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed.
3. You can get your money anytime.

LOW CITY FIRE LOSS FOR 1962

The Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department was called out 23 times during 1962 according to a report submitted by Robert Lyerly, Secretary of the Mocksville Volunteer Fire Department.

A month by month review of the fire calls of the local department is as follows:

January, 1962 The Bryan Sell home. Motor in furnace shorted-out and burned. Damage $18.00.

Fire at Bob Foster house. Floor furnace flooded and blazed-up. No damage. Car at Davie High School. Short circuit in wiring. Damage around $500.

Grass fire at Heritage Apartments. No damage, caught from trash pile.

April, 1962 Grass fire at Sheek Miller's on Yadkinville Road. No damage.

Assisted Center Fire Department at Rummage Store. Haystack on fire caused by trash fire.

Assisted Fork Fire Department at house fire.

Car on Salisbury Street at Lexington. Flooded carburetor. No damage.

Grass fire at Lester Boger's on Hardison St. Damage none.

Grass fire on Depot St. back of B. C. Moore. Caused by burning of trash. No damage.

Car on Yadkinville Road outside of city limits. Flooded carburetor. Out on arrival. No damage.

Car on Depot St. Battery cable and wiring on right side of engine destroyed. Cause short-circuit in wiring. $25 loss.

June 1962 June 5th...Sheek Miller Diner, fire on roof. Short in neon light. Loss $25.00.

July 1962 July 1st...Fire at Heritage Furniture in dust collector. Damage none.

August 1962 August 4th...Car at Heffner's parking lot. Flooded carburetor. Burned wiring and air cleaner. $20 loss.

September 1962 September 18...Ashphalt kettle at Prison Camp. Estimated damage $5.00.

September 28...Truck on Salisbury Street. No damage.

November 1962 Oil house near Sanford's Esso Service. Total loss. Building worthless. Loss of contents estimated at $300. Duke Power Company had loss on poles and wiring.

November 15...Garage at R. B. Sanford home on Church Street. Origin trash pile. Loss $100.00.

December 1962 December 1...Grass fire at Pure Oil Bulk Plant. No loss.

December 15...House trailer out of town. Total loss. Unknown origin.

December 18...Grass fire in back of D. F. Stilwell. No loss. Cause trash burning.

December 18...Grass fire back of Old Plymouth Garage. Cause unknown. No loss.

Of the 23 calls answered by the Mocksville Fire Department, seven were outside of the city limits. A total of $488.00 was attributed to fire loss within the town limits of Mocksville during 1962, the bulk of which was the $300.00 of contents burned in the oil shed at Sanford's Esso when. However, property of Duke Power Company and others damaged in this blaze is not included.

This record speaks well for the Mocksville Fire Department and the volunteers that make up the company. When one considers the fire loss in comparison with the value of property at risk, the record becomes even more laudable.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — At the heart of the current discussion on proposals for a $98.8 billion budget, a $13.5 billion tax cut, and a $3.5 billion tax increase to offset part of the tax cut is how well Congress is policing appropriations recommended by the Executive Branch of the Federal government. It will likely be months before the Appropriations Committee begins "marking up" bills to determine the needs of agencies proposing them. It has been suggested by a Senate Resolution sponsored by more than three-fourths of the Senators that Congress might discharge its responsibilities in the appropriations field better if it would establish a House-Senate Joint Committee on the Budget. Senator McClellan has offered such a resolution. I was happy to cosponsor it.

Already in the field of taxation, there is a highly useful House-Senate Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. It provides a ready source of impartial information to the Committees on Ways and Means and Finance in the House and Senate. In essence it expertly analyzes every Treasury Department tax proposal. There is, however, no comparable Committee of the Congress to analyze appropriations.

The 87th Congress had an unfortunate controversy over procedural matters governing appropriations bills. There is a need for good relations between the two bodies on appropriations. Many have suggested that the creation of the Joint Committee on the Budget would iron out some of the difficulties that have arisen in the past.

Congress, under the Constitution, has the power to make appropriations. The current Federal budget will go to the Appropriations Committees of the House and the Senate. Hearings will bring the requests of each department and agency to the attention of the committees and subcommittees. Usually the department or agency has been studying its request for months when it presents its credentials for the budgeted amount. Appropriations Committee staffs have a burdensome task of assisting in the conduct of lengthy hearings and many feel that they do not have sufficient time to make exhaustive studies on the individual requests presented.

Thus arises the need for the Joint Committee on the Budget. It would have a staff whose time would be devoted to analyzing the Executive Department's requests for expenditures. Congress would have its own source of information to determine the validity of any proposed expenditure. With a budget of nearly $99 billion, Congress has the duty to probe deeply into every requested expenditure. The Joint Committee on the Budget would be an effective aid in helping Congress cope with a multitude of requests from a vast network of departments and agencies. But whether Congress creates the Committee or not, it ought to face squarely the need for curbing spending if it grants any tax reductions.

A CENTURY It takes about 75 to 100 years to grow a tree large enough in the Pacific Coast states to make good lumber, but the same tree can be harvested at 35 years of age to make pulp.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Zeebe Grubb's preacher come by the county store Saturday night, said he was just setting at home feeling sorry for his wife and figured he'd come out and git some fresh air.

First off, he told the fellers him and his old lady got along fine. He said they made a deal when they was married that she'd handle the little things and he'd take care of the big ones. She decides how they'll raise the younguns and things like that, and he takes care of the big things like Cuba and the Berlin wall.

He reported this plan worked out real good and his wife would be mighty happy if it wasn't for the female members of his congregation. Last year, fer instance, she put on a little lipstick on account of some members thinking she was too plain. The first Sunday she went to Church with it on, some of the ladies was up in arms, said she looked like a no-good hussy.

He told the fellers the young wimmen in his congregation wouldn't pal around with his wife because she's too straight-laced and the old ones wouldn't have nothing to do with her on account of her wearing shorts around the house.

The good Parson said if his old lady dressed a little fancy she was spend - happy and if she dressed plain she was a tightwad. If she gits friendly with some lady in the congregation she was picking favorites, and if she don't she's stuck up. If she goes calling with him they say she's nosey and if she stays at home she's peculiar.

He said ever time his wife took on a little job in the Church somebody claimed she was trying to take over, and if she didn't take the job they said she didn't have the proper interest in the Church. He told the fellers he aimed to write a sermon on preachers wives and put it in his new book, "Moving Sermons."

And he reported that him and Rufe Zinder was having a little trouble. He said his sermon last Sunday was on the Fairness and Publicans. Rufe wasn't there but his youngun went home and told Rufe he was preaching about the Republicans. The good Parson said he tried to explain it to Rufe but Rufe said he didn't care how you spelled it, he didn't appreciate nobody preaching about his party. In fact, said the Parson, Rufe got this nonsense spread around so bad that a delegation of Democrats come to his house Thursday night and demanded equal time.

And so, he announced, come Sunday morning he was going to preach on the Democrats. Up to now, he allowed, he ain't been able to find nothing in the Bible about either Democrats or Republicans, so he was going to take his text from the Congressional Record.

Yours truly, Uncle Dave

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill

Temptation "Nothing is easier than the expenditure of public money. It does not appear to belong to anybody. The temptation is overwhelming to spend it on somebody." This statement by Calvin Coolidge made many years ago has a current ring today.

Although a temporary calm settled over Capitol Hill last week, the spade work of digging into legislation had begun. But whatever proposal they were considering at the moment legislators were clearly keeping one eye on the financial policies this nation is to follow. Taxes, spending, and public debt were established as the big issues in these early months of the session. Opposing points of view were set on collision courses and rumblings from back home were evident in most Congressional offices as the people joined in the debate.

The President's $98 billion budget which carries a request for $108 billion in new spending authority is already involved in preliminary skirmishes. House Appropriation Chairman, Congressman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) asserted that the budget can and should be cut and led his Committee off to search the 1784 pages of the Budget document soon to be augmented by thousands of pages of testimony his Committee will take, in an effort to do the job. In the next six months, the Committee will produce a score of appropriations bills which, in the aggregate, will represent its best judgment on the budget.

Federal Payroll

Many comments are being made here on increases in the Federal payroll. The payroll is a general gauge of bureaucracy and the swelling of Washington's dominance over the lives of the American people. Inescapable, too, is its relationship to waste and duplication in Federal operations. Discussions now focus on the planned creation of 36,500 new Federal jobs in the next year. Last October, the President told department and agency heads that "it is essential that employment plans be scrutinized at every level to make sure that every opportunity for decreases is seized and increases, where necessary, are held to an absolute minimum." The proposed figure for new jobs is discouraging in view of this earlier directive. It would run the total to 235,000 additional Federal jobs in the last two years at an increased cost of $1.4 billion. It is doubtful that creating massive numbers of Federal jobs will solve the continuing unemployment problem but it sometimes looks as though that is being attempted.

Two years ago the President told agencies under his direction "There is no question that employment can be held substantially below the levels which would be possible under the funds authorized by the Congress, if strong efforts are made to achieve increases in efficiency." In view of what appears to be happening today, the implication is clear enough that Congress has been too generous in providing money and that the "strong efforts to achieve efficiency" have not been made. This is sure to have a bearing on how Congress deals with those questions this year.

Cleaning House

The House of Representatives last week took a step to clean up the nagging question of Congressional junketeering. There have been abuses of privileges. Some members of Congress have gone on extensive joy rides all over the world wholly unrelated to official duties. Counterpart funds, that huge sum of money owed to us by many countries of the world, provides the expense money for these junkets. Since the counterpart funds, by international agreement, cannot be converted into dollars or removed from the country indebted to us, they have been misused as spending money for Congressional junketeers. The situation is indefensible. It also tarred with the same brush Congressional groups which had a legitimate need and responsibility to travel abroad to investigate U. S. government operations.

The reform came as Committees were established. Automatic rights of Committees to use local currencies owned by the United States in foreign countries was denied altogether or severely limited without additional expense permission. This change was long overdue, but it applies only to the House. A move now gains momentum for a broader restriction binding on both the House and Senate.

PLACE TO MEET...Well, at last legislators of North Carolina have offices. Until this week they had to meet their Raleigh visitors wherever they could—including, sometimes, the bathroom.

Frankly, when one considers what our legislators have had to put up with, the pitiful salaries, the pinch-penny expenses permitted, it is surprising that North Carolina has had such excellent government.

The offices allotted to the 170 members of the House and Senate are not large—have three chairs, a desk, trashcan, and telephone—but they do constitute Privacy. This is something no legislator, beneath Speaker and Senate President could boast of prior to February 6.

We are not ready for luxury yet, so no provision has been made for the lawmaker to stretch out for a moment following a hectic session. However, a leatherette lounge, sofa, davenport, or some type of cot will be added as office furniture before another General Assembly comes to town.

VISITORS...For the next year, the State House will be the cynosure of all eyes. Most of the visitors—probably 90 per cent of them—will not be here to see the solons but rather to inspect the place where they meet.

The place, alas, belongs to the people, and it had better be made of pretty sturdy stuff. Lipstick chewing gum, grimy hands, fudgesicles, candy and coke. We predict 100,000 school children—roughly ten per cent of our educational population—will meander, jump, run, and play tag along State House corridors before another Legislature comes to town.

We once asked for conversational purposes a tired housewife with two children, and ready for a third, what she remembered most about her high school days. "The Senior Class trip to Raleigh," she said without hesitation. "We just hope the State House is no sissy."

HEART OPERATION...Roy Parker, Jr., Aoshkie native who sold out his interest in Parker Bros. papers and became a crack political reporter for the Raleigh News & Observer, is scheduled to undergo a heart operation at Duke Hospital on February 9. He was to enter the hospital on February 6.

Roy looks like his mother's people, but writes like his father who died on May 8, 1957, while serving from Hertford County in the House here. Salt of the earth, those Parkers.

Roy, Jr., is, as they say, easy to "read after." And it doesn't take him all day to get something said. His father wrote that way. He could make interesting a back yard azalea's aches and growing pains.

These heart operations can't be discussed sensibly by laymen. What this one is we don't know, but our understanding is the surgeon doing it has one per day. Well, we wish Roy well. That's about all we can say—except that his dad had the stuff to go through ten years of pain, operations, and general physical deterioration.

We hope and pray that Roy, Jr., with his other fine inheritances, will have those which kept his dad happy, alert, and alive.

NO SEAT BELTS: Four High school seniors lie injured here—one with brain concussion and three with dislocated vertebrae. Their car hit a patch of ice on a suburban street and rolled down a 30-foot embankment. Each was thrown out of the car.

The police officer called to the wreck expressed the opinion there would have been no serious injuries had seat belts been in use.

Safety experts criticize us for not having seat belts in our cars. But they point out, also that we don't use them as we should. In other words, we fasten—if we have them—when we get "settled" for long trips. But most of the accidents where seat belts do the most good occur within ten blocks of our homes.

CHECKS...Plans are still moving along for a Statewide telephone network to apprehend shoplifters, check-falsifiers, counterfeiters, and other racketeers of this type. Bell Telephone is now working on a special project for the FBI and the N. C. Law Enforcement Association. More on this later.

There is a serious lack of coordination, cooperative effort, and up-to-date physical equipment. That North Carolina is one of the worst states in the nation in bad checks, etc., may be readily understood from this true occurrence:

A police officer in Durham recently marked a "counterfeit" plainly a counterfeit twenty-dollar bill. He marked it thus in three different places. Then, following instructions, he got out of uniform, dressed as an ordinary civilian, went to an area of Durham where he was not known.

In one evening, he was able to get change for the twenty in three different places! No questions asked!

NO HONEY...Time was when a no-good looked like one. Now they may be the best-dressed people-in-town!

The bee is such a busy soul, he had no time for birth control. So that is why in times like these, we have so many sons of bees.

DEPUTY SOMERS...Scott Somers, who used to be with the Associated Press and other news-gathering organizations, is now in the news himself.

Scott, whose sweet wife Betty has done excellent work for the Republican Party out of Morganton for many years, assisted the Republicans in ousting Sheriff Brown in Buncombe County. The pen is mightier than the sword, etc.

And, to coin another phrase, to the victor belong the spoils; and Scott Somers is now toting a typewriter on one hip and a gun on the other.

Theme: Circumstances Make Men Make Circumstances

TEXT: "We are free agents and man is more powerful than matter."—Disraeli.

Marjorie was telling Sarah that Bob had asked her to marry him. "Do you intend to accept him?" Sarah asked.

"That depends upon circumstances," Marjorie replied. "What circumstances?"

"His," was the cautious answer.

We blame "circumstances" for many things, yet as Benjamin Disraeli said, "Man is not the creature of circumstances, circumstances are the creatures of men." We are where we are because of what we have built into our lives. Our thoughts and our characters arrange our lives. Our circumstances result from laws that are as certain as day and night. It is not chance that brings us to where we are. With our creative powers we may command any circumstances we wish. The world around us and history are full of men and women who have proved that.

When a man believes that circumstances control him, he takes a terrific beating. When he learns that he makes his own circumstances, he stands straight and unfettered. He takes command of his own life as the good Lord intended that he should.

ACCIDENTS AND PERSONALITY LINKED

People who cause traffic accidents are likely those with some kind of personality problem, a safety research expert has revealed.

"While few significant relationships have been found between physical characteristics of driver and accident frequency, there is mounting evidence that the basic personality of the driver is an important influence," said Dr. James L. Malfetti. Dr. Malfetti is executive officer of safety research and education at Teachers College of Columbia University and recently testified before a Virginia advisory legislative committee looking into causes of traffic accidents.

He reported that drivers involved in accidents and traffic violations are generally more aggressive, more impulsive, more inclined to take risks. They come from less satisfactory home backgrounds than other drivers.

These characteristics, according to Dr. Malfetti, may cause deficiencies in judgment and attitude and thus lead to violations and accidents.

Dr. Malfetti said his office has developed a pilot test which may reveal driver deficiencies, but added "there is at present no valid psychological test to predict accident involvement."

And he pointed out:

"The driver who impedes traffic may be more of an irritant and hazard on the highway than the speeder, even though the motorist who drives too fast is the most universally condemned."

SALT VS ICE

Modern man in his wisdom takes his winter with something like two million tons of salt. A giant salt shaker, twice the size of the Empire State Building, would be required to hold the ice-control salt which America will sprinkle on streets and highways this winter.

Records of the Salt Institute of Chicago show that 38 state highway departments and all major cities (population 200,000 or more) use salt in their winter-maintenance programs. And the folks at home also are helping their families to get through this season with less risk of mishap by adapting the modern "bare pavement" highway maintenance practices around their own property.

An interesting statistic: New York City records show traffic fatalities and injuries were cut in half after the city began using salt to remove ice and snow from the streets.

Salt is a most effective de-icer. One pound of that commodity will melt 3.2 times its weight in ice at 6 below zero. Efficiency improves with higher temperatures. At 30 degrees, a pound of salt will melt 46 pounds of ice.

Sweet Potato Program

A program for the purchase of sweet potatoes for distribution to the School Lunch Program and other eligible outlets was announced last week by A. P. Harsell, Jr., State Executive Director for the North Carolina ASCS State Office.

Sweet potatoes must be of the "Porto Rican" variety, or varieties of similar characteristics and packed in new tub bushel baskets, containing not less than 50 lbs. net weight. The sweet potatoes must be of U. S. No. 1 Grade or better, with not more than 1% tolerance for soft rot or wet breakdown, and must be inspected by the Federal-State Inspection Service.

The price will be $2.50 per bushel, loaded on cars or trucks at the option of U.S.D.A. at the point of purchase, for sweet potatoes purchased and accepted under the program.

Purchases will be limited to growers, cooperative associations of growers, or growers' authorized agents.

Growers desiring to sell sweet potatoes under this program should submit their offer to the County ASCS Office not later than 5 p.m., Friday, Feb. 8, 1963.

1963 Feed Grain Program

The Feed Grain Program for 1963 again provides for the voluntary reduction of Corn, Grain Sorghum, and Barley acreage from the 1959 - 60 base acreage of these crops on individual farms. The sign-up period extends from Feb. 1 through March 22, 1963. The program is similar to that of 1962. The minimum amount that can be diverted is 20% of the total base for the farm, and the maximum is the larger of: 25 acres or 40% of the total base but not larger than the total base for the farm.

WHAT YOU GET FROM SOIL TESTS

When you have your soils tested you are getting information needed for making sound decisions about your liming and fertilization practices says Leo Williams, County Agent. Returns for money invested in lime and fertilizer will be affected by a number of conditions including the degree of acidity from a soil test for pH. Ability in soils affects the availability of plant nutrients and most crops will not produce top yields on strongly acid soils. Acidity can be reduced by liming which results in an increase in the soil pH. Soil test information includes suggestions for amounts of lime to bring the pH of acid soils into the range considered desirable for the cropping system indicated for each field sampled.

Soil tests also tell you whether your soils are low (L), medium (M), or high (H) in phosphorus and potassium. These are fertility levels and fertilization practices can be varied according to these levels, even for the same crop. For example, about 100 lbs. per acre of potash (K2O) is suggested for corn to be planted on soils low in potash. This amount may be reduced to 40 pounds on soils with a medium potash level. This means an application of 400 pounds of 5-10-10 or 350 pounds of 6-6-12 at planting, depending on the level of phosphorus, and 100 pounds of 80 per cent muriate of potash or its equivalent if the soil tests low in potash. This extra potash would not be needed on soils with higher levels of soil potassium.

Soil test information tells you about lime and white plant foods or nutrients are needed most according to Williams. Investing money in fertilizers containing the amount of these nutrients needed for high yields can mean good returns, provided a complete production program is carried out. This is what you get from soil tests.

ASCS Offices Seek Service Improvements

Each county farm program office in North Carolina is being asked "what steps need to be taken to improve service to farmers and program administration?"

"County Committeemen, County Office Manager, and farmer fieldmen are to evaluate the work and service in each ASCS office," Hassell said.

"The benefits are expected to be in the form of better, faster service for farmers," Hassell continued, "and to make sure that the public business is kept in public view."

Training programs for committeemen and employees in 1963 will be based largely on needs identified in this self-study of County ASCS offices.

The ASC Service has begun an extensive program to improve service and management efficiency. All employees have been asked for their suggestions on how to better do specific jobs.

In accord with recommendations of the citizens committees which has just completed a study of the farmer committee system, Hassell said, a major effort will be made in 1963 to encourage more farmers to take part in the election of ASC committeemen.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced that the farmer committee system continue to be the farm program field force and that it will be strengthened as recommended by the citizens committee.

The Youth Revival at Macedonia Moravian Church was very successful. David Hicks, a junior from Toccoa Falls Bible College, was the special speaker. Although the weather was cold and rainy with some sleet, the attendance was very good. On Saturday night there were 22 persons at the altar seeking help from the Lord. This proves to us that the day of mass revivals has not passed. After the Sunday evening service David left for Toccoa Falls, Ga., where he will attend class at 8:30 on Monday morning.

LOOKING FOR THE SUNRISE

Albert Simpson Reitz I'm not looking for the sunset, As the swift years come and go; I am looking for the sunrise, And the golden morning glow, Where the light of heaven's glory Will break forth upon my sight.

In the land that knows no sunset, Nor the darkness of the night,

I am walking up the hillside Where the sunshine lights the way.

And the path is never dim, For the day grows ever brighter As I journey on with Him.

I'm not going down the pathway Toward the setting of the sun, Where the shadows ever deepen

To the glory of the sunrise Of God's never-ending day.

So my eyes are on the hilltops, Waiting for the sun to rise, Waiting for His invitation

When the day at last is done; I'm not going down, but upward,

To the home beyond the skies.

LIBRARY NEWS

By MRS. I. H. HUSKE

The Davie County Public Library has placed some fascinating new books on the shelves for you in recent weeks, and we would like to tell you about a few.

"NO TIME FOR GLORY" is a story collection selected by Phyllis R. Fenner, and is devoted entirely to stories of World War 2. These stories point up the drama, the suffering, the courage, and sometimes even the humor that marked a world at war, and are drawn from the work of some of our most distinguished tellers of tales. The first one, "The Secret Raiders of Ploesti," will have special interest for North Carolinians, since it deals with the adventures of Claude Bearpaw, the grandson of a Cherokee chief.

"LOST CITIES AND VANISHED CIVILIZATIONS," is a new and enthralling revelation of the work done in re-discovering six ancient, lost cities. Robert Silverbery writes of the interesting men who accomplished this work, and brings back to us the splendor, pomp and tragedy of lost cultures and metropolises, which rendered so splendid the birth of human civilization. Many readers in this evinced a real interest in archeology when the library had an archeological display some time ago, and this will be a must on their reading list.

If you are in the mood for something on the gay, witty sophisticated side, we have it for you in Cornelia Otis Skinner's newest book, "ELEGANT WITS AND GRAND HORIZONTALS," a sparkling panorama of the gay Paris of the 1890's with its glided society and irrepressible wits.

Social Security In Davie County

Many workers who are of retirement age are still working full time at regular employment. It is believed that a great number of these workers have not applied for their Social Security benefits because they are still working. If you are one of these workers, you should contact your Social Security office at your earliest convenience. It may be possible for you to work and still receive benefits for some months of the year. This will depend on the amount of your benefit and the amount of yearly earnings.

There are several reasons why a person of retirement age should contact his Social Security office even though he is still working.

[1] A man or woman may, in some cases, continue to work full time and still be entitled to some benefits for the year.

[2] A person can establish entitlement to benefits while he is still working, and his claim can be completely processed before he retires. This can be done even though his earnings, at present, prevent him from receiving benefits. This eliminates delay in receiving benefits at the time he finally does retire.

There is often a delay in payment when people do not have the necessary proofs and other required information available when they file their application. If an application is filed in advance of actual retirement, a person will have ample time to secure the necessary proofs for completion of his claim. This would eliminate the last minute rush to secure the needed information which might delay your benefit check.

The Social Security Administration is unable to take any action toward preparing a person for retirement until he has filed an application. Be sure to contact your Social Security District Office which is located at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C. If you are of retirement age and have not filed an application, this will help you to get your first check on time. The employees of the Salisbury Social Security District Office are always at your service to help you with your Social Security problems. For further information you can also call ME 3-4512.

FUNERALS

Carl A. Baggerly, 73. Funeral services for Carl Albert Baggerly, 73, of Mocksville, Rt. 1 were held Monday afternoon at the Courtney Baptist Church. The Rev. E. D. Flowers and the Rev. Ralph Hogan officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Baggerly died at 12:45 a.m. Saturday apparently after suffering a heart attack at the home of his sister Mrs. Lillian Chamberlain. He had been in declining health for the past two years.

He had been making his home with Mrs. Chamberlain since his home in the same community burned last year.

He had been a farmer and sawmill operator. He was born in Iredell County to Thomas Franklin Baggerly and Nancy Joines Baggerly. He married Miss Mary Woolen. She survives.

Surviving in addition to his wife and Mrs. Chamberlain are two brothers, Clyde Baggerly of Los Angeles, Calif., and Frank Baggerly of Danville, Va., and another sister, Mrs. S. H. Carter of Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dinkins. Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth (Lizzie) Cuthrell Dinkins, about 70, were held Monday afternoon at the Wyo Methodist Church at Farmington. The Rev. B. B. Bearden officiated, assisted by the Rev. Joe Melton. Burial was in the church cemetery. Mrs. Dinkins died Saturday night at her home, 48 Main Street in Cooleemee after suffering a stroke Thursday. A native of Yadkin County, she was the daughter of the late Joseph and Sarah Lakey Cuthrell. She is survived by one brother, J. H. Cuthrell of Hickory, and a number of nieces and nephews. ### Robert Paul York Is Library Assistant Robert Paul York, Jr., of Mocksville is one of the 75 library assistants at Appalachian State Teachers College, according to William L. Eury, librarian.

In order to become a library assistant, students must apply for work in the library, and they are selected according to their academic record by a library committee. After selected, they are assigned to some department in the library and go through a training session to learn the procedures of their department. Library assistants work approximately 10 to 15 hours a week, and they must maintain at least a "C" average in their school work.

Eury, head librarian, said, "We use library assistants in almost every capacity of the library because they are very efficient and capable. We try to stress that the assistants display cordial help at all times to library users."

York, a senior at ASTC, is a physical education major and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. York of Mocksville. At Appalachian he is vice-president of his class, is on the Dean's List, and has been elected to Who's Who Among Colleges and Universities in America. #### Goodwill Industries Explained To Rotary

The program of the Goodwill Industrial Center in Winston-Salem was described for members of the Mocksville Rotary Club on Tuesday by Raymond Van Hoy, Business Manager of the agency.

Mr. Van Hoy said that the purpose of Goodwill Industries was to provide rehabilitation, training and wages for handicapped persons. He said the goal is to return as many handicapped people as possible to competitive living in society.

The Goodwill Industrial Center has been in Winston-Salem for more than 30-years. Last year 76 handicapped persons were returned to employment of which 20% had been welfare cases. In 1962 a total of 554 were served through this center.

Mr. Van Hoy said that the Goodwill Center provided medical services, psychological testing and counseling, vocational counseling and guidance; on-the-job training in many fields, recreational and spiritual guidance.

"Discarded items provide wages for the handicapped," said Mr. Van Hoy. "Last fall a drive in the schools of Davie County produced over 1500 bags of discarded clothing and shoes."

He revealed that the Goodwill Industries was 85% to 90% self-supporting.

Graham Madison had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Van Hoy. President Jeff Caudell presided. Special guests included Charles Ramsey of Salisbury and Phillip Rowland.

A vacation trip to Florida ended abruptly in Davie County early Sunday morning when a large truck loaded with cottonseed meal crashed into a southbound 1962 Oldsmobile eight miles north of Mocksville on US 601.

Bernard Delbert Clark, 37, of East Liverpool, Ohio, was dead on arrival at the Davie County Hospital. His wife, Mrs. Maxine Dorothy Clark, 37, suffered a fractured ankle and facial cuts and bruises. Mrs. Gwendolyn Garwood of East Liverpool, Ohio, riding in the back seat of the Clark vehicle, suffered a fractured skull. Her condition was described as serious by Davie County Hospital attendants.

This was the first highway fatality of the year for Davie County.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick said the 1968 Dodge truck, licensed to carry 11½ tons, was driven by Joe Bryon DeBord, 40, of Rural Retreat, Virginia. He suffered minor injuries, was treated at the hospital and released.

Trooper Bolick said he charged DeBord with manslaughter and driving on the wrong side of the highway. He said DeBord told him that in meeting the oncoming Oldsmobile he pulled his truck to the right side and fearing he was about to run off on the shoulder of the road attempted to pull it back to the left and in doing so it swerved partially into the lane of the oncoming car, hitting it in sort of a sideswipe crash.

The car was spun around in the highway and the truck overturned with its load of cottonseed meal across the highway blocking traffic for some time.

The Clarks were enroute to St. St. Petersburg, Florida, to spend a week with Mrs. Clark's parents. Mrs. Garwood was accompanying them.

Mrs. Clark was released from the hospital after her injuries were treated. Her parents arrived here Sunday night and accompanied their daughter Monday to East Liverpool, Ohio, where her husband was buried.

The Clark car was a total loss. The truck was damaged about $1,200.

DeBord will be given a hearing in the Davie County Court on March 12. He arranged appearance bond Sunday afternoon.

3 Cars Involved In Collision Sunday

Three cars were involved in a collision around 3:40 p. m., Sunday on Wilkesboro Street in Mocksville.

Ed Hinkle Is A 'Flying' Fish At A.S.T.C.

Bruce Edward Hinkle, Jr. of Mocksville is one of the 15 members of the Flying Fish Swimming Club at Appalachian State Teachers College, according to Club President Marion Rush.

Jane Meredith, instructor of physical education at ASTC and sponsor of the Flying Fish, said that the purpose of the organization is "to promote interest in swimming and to teach synchronized swimming water ballet."

Anyone on campus may become a member of the club who can perform the basic skills of the American crawl, the breast stroke, side stroke, back crawl, and a plain dive. In their meetings, the members try to perfect these skills along with working out modifications of them to music.

An annual production of the Flying Fish is a four-night water show presented in May with the assistance of the Modern Dance Club. The show usually requires approximately 90 people to operate the underwater lighting.

Clown acts, swimming to music, and water ballet acts highlight the production.

DAVIE JANITORIAL SERVICE

505 Depot Street Phone: 634-2026 Mocksville, N. C.

February 13, 1963

TO WHOM THIS MAY CONCERN:

I am pleased to announce that Mr. Lonnie Barker (one of our part-time employees for the last 3 years) has resigned from Lynn Haven Nursing Home to work with us on a full time schedule. I have a written reference from Mr. W. J. Wilson which states that Lonnie's service has been most satisfactory during the 5 years he has been employed at Lynn Haven.

I am also pleased to announce that the Davie Janitorial Service has just received a shipment of wax and detergent which is packed in quart, gallon, and 5-gallon containers. These chemicals represent two of the world's leading chemical manufacturers. We are offering these products for sale in our building located at the address above, from 9 A.M.-3 P.M., Monday through Friday. There will be a member of our team in the office during these hours to explain why these products are worth enough to do the job that household machines cannot do, and yet it is light enough for any woman to use. We will show housewives and their maids what the machine will do and how to use it. Customers who rent our machine have the privilege of renting a 4-Gal. castrer-mounted mop ball, a commercial mop squeezer, a 16 Oz. rayon mop, and a wax applicator for an additional 25c. A fee of 25c will be charged to customers who desire delivery and pick-up service. This is a new offer, and we advise customers to make arrangements two or three days ahead of the time the equipment is desired. Arrangements for night rental will be considered later.

We have purchased a floor machine which housewives and business firms can rent for $1.00 per day during the hours 9 A.M. - 3 P.M. This is not an electrical squirrel tail which you can purchase for $50 or less, but it is a light-commercial machine which was made by a commercial floor machine company and sold at a price that is 4 to 6 times more than the selling price of many household machines. This machine is strong enough to do the job that household machines cannot do, and yet it is light enough for any woman to use. We will show housewives and their maids what the machine will do and how to use it. Customers who rent our machine have the privilege of renting a 4-Gal. castrer-mounted mop ball, a commercial mop squeezer, a 16 Oz. rayon mop, and a wax applicator for an additional 25c. A fee of 25c will be charged to customers who desire delivery and pick-up service. This is a new offer, and we advise customers to make arrangements two or three days ahead of the time the equipment is desired. Arrangements for night rental will be considered later.

My last announcement is the best of all. It offers MR. HANDY MAN (the perfect male helper) to the housewives who need male help around their homes a couple of hours each week. We are purchasing an old bread truck upon which we will keep a set of carpentry tools, a set of paint brushes, two step ladders, one 20 foot ladder, two lawn mowers, one commercial vacuum cleaner, one commercial floor machine, one rotary sander, several small gardening tools, and some plate assortment of window washing tools. Two men (Lonnie and I) who are capable of doing most any job that handy-men would be expected to do, will move this equipment from house to house and provide the man-power that is needed to do minor carpentry and painting, cleaning and waxing floors, gardening and lawn work, window cleaning, carpet cleaning, and general house cleaning. We will offer Mr. Handy Man to housewives on a two-way guarantee. We will guarantee our service and we will guarantee to work to those who desire our service at a designated time between 8:30 A.M. and 1:00 P.M., and who will guarantee us at least one hour (2 man hours) of work at the time agreed upon. There is well over $1,000 invested in the equipment mentioned above which is needed to do a variety of things. We could not afford to provide and transport this equipment, and furnish man-power to use it for the price we have quoted above if it were not for the fact that we use it in our commercial cleaning which is done at night.

Ladies, now is your time to speak. We have the green light for Mr. Handy Man's service in Salisbury and Lexington at a higher price than I have quoted above, but I want to give the ladies in my home town a chance first. Call us immediately and let us discuss this with you. We will consider those who request service once every two weeks, but we prefer to work with those who want weekly service. If you want our service near the last of the week you had better call us before your neighbor calls. We must be fair to our customers which means that those who call first will have the first choice. Our domestic service will be limited to four hours a week. We must keep our afternoons free for unexpected things which occur in the business offices we serve, and free for taking care of lawns which rain may hinder us from mowing in the mornings as planned.

Mr. Handy Man will carry a good stock of floor wax, detergents, furniture polish, toilet cleaners and such things which can be purchased. He will explain what these products are and show you how to use them. We are sorry because we cannot offer Mr. Handy Man's services to the rural housewives. His service will be limited to the Mocksville area. Rural housewives who desire such a service should contact our associated operator, Mr. James Rucker, at 543-3418.

Call us soon. Don't wait until lawn-mowing time. Everybody will want us when Spring comes, but we may not have room for you in our schedule. We are going to offer some free services to those who give us at least 2 man-hours per week. Details concerning this will be announced later.

County Of Davie Formed In 1836

David Baker, E. D. Lowery, John Masters, Philip D. Hunt and others whose names can not be made out.

Whether or not this was the petition presented the North Carolina General Assembly is not known. However, some petition was presented for the record in the published House and State Journals of 1836-37 reads as follows:

"On November 29, 1836, John Clement, (Representative) of Rowan County, presented to the House of Commons a petition from the inhabitants of Rowan County and introduced a bill to create the county of Davie out of that portion of Rowan lying north of the Yadkin. The bill passed its second and third readings in the House on December 19th, the second reading on a roll call vote of 65 to 49. On December 20th it passed its second and third readings in the Senate by roll call votes of 25 to 24."

County Organized

In February of 1837, the male leadership of Davie County met at Mock's Old Field, a Revolutionary War mustering ground, and designed their machinery of government. This was done in the first court ever held here.... the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions. Thirty-eight magistrates were duly qualified by Richard W. Long, one of the Justices of Peace of Rowan County. The magistrates then elected and appointed the county officers.

Although it is not an established fact, this first session of the Court of Pleas is believed to have been held in the Methodist Church. In the record it states that the trustees of the Methodist Church of Mocksville had offered the use of the church and that future sessions of the court would be held there until the court house was built. The first session of Superior Court of Law and Equity was held here on April 17, 1837, with the presiding judge being Hon. Romulus M. Saunders, a native of Caswell County.

John Clement was the first clerk of court, Thomas Foster was the first sheriff, Braxton Bailey was the first register of deeds, Thomas Rutledge was the surveyor, Matthew Miller the coroner, and C. A. Miller, the solicitor. Nathan Chaffin, Brazil G. Jones, Roland Crump, Thomas Rutledge and Dr. Frank Williams were appointed commissioners to locate the courthouse, which the act provided should be within two miles of the center of Mocksville.

Although Mocksville was not incorporated until 1839, lots of the new town for the seat of justice for Davie County were sold at public auction in April 1837. Historian James S. Brawley reported in an article in the Salisbury Post that the newspaper of that day "The Carolina Watchman", reported that these lots brought "handsome prices". Corner lots sold as high as $1400 and the aggregate sum collected at the auction brought in over $10,000. "A clever beginning for a new county", said the Carolina Watchman.

With this money in hand, the commissioners selected suitable sites for the county buildings. A contract was made with H. R. Austin to build the courthouse for $11,312.

First Courthouse

The courthouse was located in the center of the square and was intersected by a street 40-feet wide called Factory Street. On the south side of the Square ran

Water Street and on the north side was Gaither Street. What is now called Main Street was then called Henderson St. Another street, Clement Street, ran parallel to Henderson St. and connected Gaither St. and Water St.

The commissioners were each paid $30 for erecting the county and Thomas Rutledge was paid $53.70 "for surveying the Town of Mocksville and submitting a plot".

Thus the County of Davie was launched. At times in future issues we plan to do further historical articles on Davie County and print pictures of old landmarks as editorial features.

Rev. R. C. Goforth Wounded in Lenoir

The Rev. R. C. Goforth, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Hickory, was shot in the stomach Saturday while clearing off his lot in Lenoir.

Mr. Goforth was a former pastor of the Mocksville Methodist Church, serving here in the early 1930's.

Mr. Goforth and two friends, Henry Smith and Clarence Moser of Lenoir, were clearing a lot owned by Mr. Goforth next to Smith's home in Lenoir. Russell Pearson, a 42-year-old furniture worker, approached the three men and began shooting with a .22 caliber pistol.

Mr. Goforth was shot in the stomach and a bullet went through Smith's right arm and lodged in his chest. Pearson ran into Smith's home where he roomed and shot himself three times. Officers found him on the living room floor.

Police said Smith was Pearson's niece's husband and the men worked in the same furniture factory. They said the reason for the shooting had not been determined.

Officers said Mr. Goforth drove from Lenoir to Hickory — about 18 miles — to seek medical treatment. He was reported doing "as well as can be expected" at a hospital there. Smith was reported in fair condition at a Lenoir hospital and Pearson was in critical condition.

"Finally darkness came . . ."

. . . and we turned on the clear bulbs. As we sat down to supper, Mama could tell whether we had washed our hands and you could see well enough to tell if the bowl was filled with collards or turnip greens. I looked up to the dangling light and said to myself, 'Now we are almost as good as town people.'

Remember the long years of waiting . . . and the refusals of the existing power companies. And then the decision of rural people to organize and do the job themselves.

Today, nearly 98 out of 100 rural homes have electricity. They do because of a basic American freedom: The freedom to organize to provide ourselves with a service on a nonprofit basis.

This freedom is just as precious as the freedom to organize and invest for the purpose of profit. Our rural electric cooperatives believe in both freedoms.

That's how a 35-year-old Eastern North Carolina man remembers the beginning of REA and the first night with lights. Only three out of 100 rural North Carolina homes had electricity then, so you may have a similar memory.

MOCKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

County Of Davie Formed In 1836

David Baker, E. D. Lowery, John Mastens, Philip D. Hunt and others whose names can not be made out.

Whether or not this was the petition presented the North Carolina General Assembly is not known. However, some petition was presented for the record in the published House and State Journals of 1836-37 reads as follows:

"On November 29, 1836, John Clement, (Representative) of Rowan County, presented to the House of Commons a petition from the inhabitants of Rowan County and introduced a bill to create the county of Davie out of that portion of Rowan lying north of the Yadkin. The bill passed its second and third readings in the House on December 19th, the second reading on a roll call vote of 65 to 49. On December 20th it passed its second and third readings in the Senate by roll call votes of 25 to 24."

Water Street and on the north side was Gaither Street. What is now called Main Street was then called Henderson St. Another street, Clement Street, ran parallel to Henderson St. and connected Gaither St. and Water St.

The commissioners were each paid $30 for erecting the county and Thomas Rutledge was paid $53.70 "for surveying the Town of Mocksville and submitting a plot".

Thus the County of Davie was launched. At times in future issues we plan to do further historical articles on Davie County and print pictures of old landmarks as editorial features.

Rev. R. C. Goforth Wounded in Lenoir

The Rev. R. C. Goforth, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Hickory, was shot in the stomach Saturday while clearing off his lot in Lenoir.

Mr. Goforth was a former pastor of the Mocksville Methodist Church, serving here in the early 1930's.

Mr. Goforth and two friends, Henry Smith and Clarence Moser of Lenoir, were clearing a lot owned by Mr. Goforth next to Smith's home in Lenoir. Russell Pearson, a 42-year-old furniture worker, approached the three men and began shooting with a .22 caliber pistol.

Mr. Goforth was shot in the stomach and a bullet went through Smith's right arm and lodged in his chest. Pearson ran into Smith's home where he roomed and shot himself three times. Officers found him on the living room floor.

Police said Smith was Pearson's niece's husband and the men worked in the same furniture factory. They said the reason for the shooting had not been determined.

Officers said Mr. Goforth drove from Lenoir to Hickory — about 18 miles — to seek medical treatment. He was reported doing "as well as can be expected" at a hospital there. Smith was reported in fair condition at a Lenoir hospital and Pearson was in critical condition.

Although Mocksville was not incorporated until 1839, lots of the new town for the seat of justice for Davie County were sold at public auction in April 1837. Historian James S. Brawley reported in an article in the Salisbury Post that the newspaper of that day "The Carolina Watchman", reported that these lots brought "handsome prices". Corner lots sold as high as $1400 and the aggregate sum collected at the auction brought in over $10,000. "A clever beginning for a new county", said the Carolina Watchman.

With this money in hand, the commissioners selected suitable sites for the county buildings. A contract was made with H. R. Austin to build the courthouse for $11,312.

First Courthouse

The courthouse was located in the center of the square and was intersected by a street 40-feet wide called Factory Street. On the south side of the Square ran

ITEMS OUT OF THE PAST

GLEANINGS FROM A SCRAPBOOK . . .

A scrapbook compiled by Miss Flossie Martin contains many items of historical and philosophical interest. A great deal of this is contained in a column "The Corner Cupboard" written many years ago for THE ENTERPRISE by the late Miss Mary Heitman. We believe that many will find the following "gleanings from a scrapbook" of interest:

Sunday evening the Rev. E. J. Harbison preached an impressive sermon from the text: "Judge Not". The same thought is expressed in poetry by Adelaide A. Proctor in these lines: "Judge not; what look to thy dim eyes a stain, In God's pure light may be a scar, brought from some well won field, Where thou wouldst only faint and yield."

Just beyond Lisha Creek bridge by the highway is a spring shaded by a walnut tree that tradition calls "Cornwallis Spring". Lord Cornwallis and his Redcoats did pass through this vicinity during the Revolutionary War, so it is probable that they quenched their thirst at this spring. There is an old sunken roadway in the woods back of Mrs. T. B. Bailey's home that has been known for many years as "Cornwallis Road". We have looked upon him as a kind of an ogre, but he must not have been as "black as he was painted", for it is said that he was really opposed to England going to war with the American Colonies.

An issue of the Winston Sentinel in 1883 says: "The oldest grave in the Moravian God's Acre bears the inscription: Johann Klein, D. 26 August 1770, A. 43. We find in old Joppa graveyard the names of two that are older: Lydia Morgan died 1742, age 46; Squire Boone, father of Daniel, died 1765, age 69 years."

August 1937...Brick veneer fronts are being put on C. C. Sanford Sons' Company, LeGrand's Pharmacy, and the Ideal Grocery Store and office building of Dr. W. C. Martin and Dr. Lester Martin. This improvement makes this block of buildings look like new structures, and gives a city-like appearance to the town square.

The census of 1840 listed Davie County as having a total white population of 5595 with 1888 slaves and 92 "free persons of color".

In 1904 a tiny piece of Davie County won a prize at the big Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis Missouri. The little piece of Davie was nothing but a rock—a well-shined little rock taken from a deposit on the Cooleemee Plantation. Geologists have said that this deposit has never been found anywhere else in the world, so far as they know. It's name is orbicular gabbro diorite. It is tough...cannot be broken...and has to be sawed by special apparatus. For this reason it has never been mined extensively. Very little of it is known to be in use. At first glance the rock appears to be black and white, actually it is white and very dark green. Two gateposts and kitchen steps at the Cooleemee Plantation are made of this rock. It is also used as trim for window sills and as the top steps on the old Fulton Methodist Church South, between Fork and Advance.

H. R. Austin of Mocksville advised readers of the Carolina Watchman in 1858 that his two-horse hacks were making round trips between Mocksville and Salisbury three times a week.

The first railroad in this county was the N. C. Midland, built in 1891, connecting Mocksville and Winston. In 1899 the line was extended from Mocksville to Mooresville. Davie County issued $40,000 in bonds to help build the railroad from the Yadkin River to Mocksville, a distance of 12 miles.

DAVIE COUNTY'S FIRST COURT HOUSE

DAVIE COUNTY'S FIRST COURT HOUSE was constructed and put in use around 1839. This building, located in the center of the square in Mocksville served as the court house until 1909 when a new court house was built. The old building was then converted into a community building and was used for various meetings and a site for various shows, etc. It served as a community building until around 1922 when it was torn down to make room for the new highway that now runs through the Main Street of Mocksville.

SURPRISE...The Governor's state-of-the-State and budget messages were pretty much what was expected.

The big surprise was his suggestion that we have tax reduction. If it comes: this one will likely affect the lowest income groups. It had been broadly predicted here and everywhere else that there would be no request for NEW taxes. The reference to a lowering was a shocker and showed once again that the Governor likes the pattern of the national administration.

Others may see it differently, but we thought the Governor went out of his way in his state-of-the-State address to give the State Utilities Commission a friendly pat on the head. Since a hard-knuckles fight is mounting between the electric cooperatives and the privately owned companies, we felt the Governor might sidestep this one.

But, as it now stands, he may well be right in the middle of it. SIDE-LIGHT...An interesting side-show to the main event in the cooperatives-utilities battle is this:

On one side is young Robert Scott, son of the late Governor W. Kerr Scott, and, like his father before him, Master of the State Grange and friend of the co-ops. On the other side is the chairman of the State Utilities Commission, Harry Westcott. He is a Dare County native who came to the N. C. Agriculture Department as a marketing specialist.

He was an all-out Scott supporter, and whip-smart to match. So, he was named to the State Utilities Commission—by Good Friend W. Kerr Scott.

CAN BE SHORT: If the legislators don't get mixed down in redistricting, they can make this one of the shortest sessions in years. Money, usually the time-consumer, is no problem. They get paid for four months—and can be home by June 1 with little effort.

SENATOR RALPH...One of the strongest men in the Legislature this time...or any other time, for that matter...is Sen. Ralph Scott of Burlington.

Keep your eye on him in various free-for-alls. A dairyman and business leader, he has been coming to the State Senate off and on since 1951. He loves a fight.

To Grange Master Bob, he is Uncle Ralph. He helped out Brother Kerr in the late Governor's second legislative go-round in 1951. But he didn't agree with him 100 per cent on everything, has a mind of his own, and may or may not pitch camp with Robert Scott.

GRANDPA TRUMAN...Former President Truman is scheduled to become a grandfather again some time in April.

The Truman's only daughter, Margaret, is infanticidal. Her husband is E. C. Daniels, Jr., and they have two boys, hope this one will be a girl.

E. C., an executive editor with the New York Times, has been out of work since last fall when his paper was closed down by the strike. This gives him a lot of time to play with his 2 sons and to help his missus with the dishes.

RALEIGH SPEAKERS...Retiring on March 1 as manager of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, Lester Rose will devote much of his time to the professional speaking business.

No chamber of commerce manager in these parts of the South has done a better job than Lester Rose. He will continue as secretary of the exclusive Sphinx Club, Raleigh male and legislative hangout in the innards of the Hotel Sir Walter. He will also continue his duties as secretary of the Highway No. 1 Association. Also—he will continue to speak.

Raleigh has its share of excellent after-dinner speakers. You have dry-witted Clifton Beckwith; poem quoting Horace Sealey of Carolina Power & Light Co.; the bouncing, ebullient Carl Gserch; and Rose, who can play the piano as well as he tells a good story—or at the same time. If interested in any one of these, get in touch with Lester and he will follow through for you. They are all good!

ENTERED AT 25...Dr. Douglas M. Branch, general secretary of the Baptist State Convention, was killed a few days ago when his little station wagon plowed into another vehicle which had suddenly stalled in the middle of the highway.

Like many another man before him, including the late Robert Frost, Dr. Branch was well along in life before Success took up with him.

He was 25 years old and married before he was able to go to college. This tells you volumes about his wife, the former Jessie Averette Walker of Windsor, as well as about himself.

HOW?...A little over three years after entering Wake Forest College he graduated with an average grade of above 90. Twenty-five years later, almost to the day, he succeeded Gray, oaken Dr. M. A. Huggins as general secretary of the Convention.

The death of Dr. Branch—how it actually happened—remains a mystery; and perhaps always will. He was a great champion of seat belts, had made talks for Statewide use for the N. C. Traffic Safety Council. He was riding alone. It was in the middle of the day. It had been snowing, was raining, but vision was good. His body was removed so hastily to get him to the hospital that nobody knows whether his seat belt was fastened.

LONER.Although Dr. Branch had thousands of loyal friends, he was somewhat of a loner at times. We often saw him on the streets here in Raleigh, but seldom with friends. We have observed him eating by himself, apparently in deep thought. He was a handsome man, very handsome, with easy manners and

By LESTER P. MARTIN, Jr., Davie County Representative

New Legislative Building
With more fanfare than usual, the 1963 General Assembly convened on Wednesday at noon in its new $6.2 million State House. A large crowd was on hand for the swearing-in ceremonies, perhaps more to see the new building than to witness the oath-taking of the Legislators.

A large number of visitors was on hand during the remainder of the week, establishing what may be a trend during the session. They are very welcome. North Carolinians should be inquisitive about their new State House. We may not all agree that it is a beautiful building, but certainly everyone will be impressed by its unusual design, and Davie Countians have a special right to be proud of the new State House. The freshly planted maple trees in front of the building came from Boxwood Nursery.

I hope every school child in Davie County will visit the State House and observe the Legislature in session sometime between now and June. Both the House of Representatives and the Senate can be seen in session at noon every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday; at eight o'clock p.m. each Monday night; and at ten o'clock a.m. on every Friday. In addition, the building can be inspected either before or after each session. Any teacher or class desiring further information should contact me by writing to: Box 7230, State House, Raleigh, North Carolina.

North Carolina.
New Legislation
This Legislature seems to be more serious - minded than the last. This is due perhaps in part to the absence of several of the old-timers who liked to inject a little horse play into the proceedings. "Cousin" Wayland Spruill and "Cousin" John McLaughlin being the chief instigators. At any rate, the legislators got down to business in a hurry Wednesday. Several important pieces of legislation have already been introduced. One bill dealing with absentee ballots was introduced almost before we were sworn in and two proposals to change the State Senate districts were introduced. Neither of these make any change in Davie's situation—we will remain in the 24th Senatorial District comprising Davie, Yadkin and Wilkes.

A. Turner Grant
History of a sort was made in the new State House when the first resolution adopted by this General Assembly paid tribute to the memory of Cloyd Philpott, the late Lieutenant Governor. The second such resolution, introduced by myself, and adopted under a suspension of the rules, paid respect to the memory of Davie County's A. Turner Grant. Mr. Grant had a great career in the General Assembly, serving in 11 sessions. Folks around Raleigh still reminisce about his powerful oratory that used to vibrate through the old Capitol building.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS:

WASHINGTON—How serious is the Soviet-Cuba military threat? This question echoed in Capitol corridors and in the Senate last week. It brought charges and counter-charges from Senators and the Administration. The new Congress confronted by seven Presidential messages, including proposals for farm, education, and mental health programs, awaited the investigation to be conducted by the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee for a clearer answer. The Subcommittee is headed by the very able Senator John Stennis of Mississippi who has demonstrated his ability on other occasions to conduct such an investigation with regard to the national interest. I am satisfied that this Subcommittee will make a fair investigation of reports of a continuing military build-up in Cuba and in due course will inform the American people of its findings.

The unfortunate Cuban situation arises out of the United States not using the Monroe Doctrine. This nation ought to have firm foreign policies. I am much concerned about Soviet forces in Cuba. Even since we learned that Russia and her satellites were shipping arms to Cuba, I have taken the following position:

(1) That the United States should declare that such action constitutes an invasion of the Western Hemisphere in violation of the Monroe Doctrine. I see no useful purpose in distinguishing in the present circumstances between shipments of "defensive" and "offensive" weapons to Cuba.

(2) That the United States should make demand upon Russia and her satellites to cease forthwith to make such shipments and impose a complete blockade of Cuba in case the demand is not complied with.

The United States ought to state that what is going on in Cuba is a violation of the Monroe Doctrine, and that in essence, the Western Hemisphere is invaded by an outside power. It is certainly an invasion of the Western Hemisphere for Russia to have 16 to 17 thousand armed men and technicians stationed in Cuba. No amount of sophistry can erase that plain fact. I am not satisfied with the inspection we made of the ships that were allegedly taking missiles out of Cuba. It is certain that Russian forces are not being kept in Cuba for any pro-American purpose.

I am confident that Senator Stennis and his Subcommittee will go to the bottom of the Cuban affair and find out the truth as far as it can be learned. I am convinced that the United States would occupy a much safer position in this precarious world if it adopted the two-fold policy which I have stated above and would adhere to it without deviation.

THE WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill
DRUMBEAT ABOUT CUBA

The drumbeat about Cuba echoed through this city last week, leaving little doubt that what is happening in this tarnished "Pearl of the Antilles" remains a great issue, not only of national security but a paramount moral issue as well. An important debate had taken shape. From Capitol Hill, the Pentagon, the White House, and the State Department, contention raged while Americans followed the charges, denials, and counter charges with keen and sober interest. Accusations have been made that critics are playing a game of political opportunism. Covering-up of failure for political advantage has also been charged. Both would be dangerous to the Nation's interest. However, pasting labels of that kind on the problem only adds fuel to an already over-heated situation. What is needed is more light on this issue. The discussion has taken the turn it has largely because there was so much frustration felt because of the lack of information available to the public.

Often bewildering in its details, the giant outlines of the problem, nevertheless, are plain enough. The consequence of the ill-fated disaster to the Bay of Pigs has been the creation of a Communist bastion in Cuba. There is no argument that Soviet troops are there in great numbers. Whether they total 17,000 or 40,000, no one denies they are there, nor does anyone contend that what is present in Cuba is a half-hearted effort or a collection second-rate Communist social technicians who are there to assure that Castro's regime has all the answers on how to turn Marxist philosophy into the day-to-day operations of government. Communist weapons have been poured into the island at an alarming rate. The U. S. Navy's blockade has been lifted, and we have not reached any agreement about satisfactory inspection of offensive military activities. Ships flying the flags of our allies carry strategic goods to Cuba. No signs are apparent that the Russians have any intention of loosening their grip despite the fanfare of last November when it appeared otherwise.

Are there weapons offensive or defensive? Around this point arguments begin. Normally, a weapon is offensive or defensive according to the way it is used. Planes and naval craft can surely be used both ways. So can many smaller weapons once the decision is made to bring them into play. Highly trained military specialists are equally adaptable to either an offensive or defensive role. The Communists, too, the argument goes, have shown little patience for sitting by defensively and allowing their sharp appetite for conquest to ebb. Within the week a story appeared attributed to "informed government sources" that Castro is sending Soviet arms to the left-leaning Jagan government of British Guiana. Whether this specific report is confirmed or not, we know the Communist timetable has South America as a primary objective and Cuba is the ideal way-station for the export of revolution and Communist tyranny.

Are there long-range or medium-range missiles in Cuba? Our intelligence sources indicate those that were there were shipped back to Russia. Missiles or something shaped like missiles were sent out of Cuba last year. We have photographs of that. We did not inspect the ships. No on-site inspections were held in Cuba although we have photographs that launching sites were dismantled. Since our Naval blockade is withdrawn, do we have any real assurance that the weapons have not been returned? If our intelligence sources are dependent upon the sensitive eyes of high-flying aircraft, undercover storage could be a resource we know little about. Russian electronic equipment, missile launching cruise boats, Soviet construction of ports for servicing missile-launching submarines (I figure in the discussions going on today).

Admittedly, a full and public disclosure of intelligence information on questions of this kind is difficult. However, at the heart of uneasy feelings shared by most Americans is the way information about Cuba has been handled in the past. It is admitted that news was "managed" during the crisis last fall. Also, the pattern of repeated denials that a problem existed last August, September, and early October and the sudden switch to a hard line based upon an admission that a formidable problem existed could be repeating itself. Public confidence has assuredly suffered most grievously and it will be difficult to restore it. This all gives disturbing credence to arguments that we have no policy at all regarding Cuba other than one of sloop co-existence. Add to this our government's obvious and direct involvement with the ransoming of Cuban prisoners while it maintained the public position that it would not be a party to international blackmail and we have a situation which strikes the important moral issue of the people's right to know without "management" of the truth or planned lapses in candor.

HOSPITAL GETS APPROPRIATION

Appropriations of $1,374,165.33 to assist North Carolina hospitals and child care institutions in charity work were announced last week by the trustees Duke Endowment.

The funds, based on charity care in the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, 1962, are being distributed as follows: 98 North hospitals, $573,297; 27 North Carolina child care institutions, $308,329.75; 42 South Carolina hospitals, $345,548; 16 South Carolina child care institutions, $146,990.58; North Carolina total, $881,626.75; South Carolina total, $492,538.58; hospital totals, both states, $918,845; child care institution totals, both states, $918,845; child care institution totals, both states, $455,320.33.

The Davie County hospital at Mocksville received an appropriation of $975 toward its charity expenditures. This figure compares with the $2,271 the hospital received from The Endowment for this purpose last year.

These appropriations, said Thomas L. Perkins, chairman of The Endowment, bring to $35,012,318 the amount given in 38 consecutive years to aid in financing charity services of Carolina hospitals and child care institutions. Applications from other hospitals, which had not been completed when the allocations were made, will be considered at the February meeting of trustees.

OPERATION "BUDDY"

A unique aspect of the current Army National Guard recruiting effort is "Operation Buddy" which is now in effect in many States. Through "Operation Buddy" young men who enlist together in the same Guard outfit can chart a course to stay together for all of their military service. No regulations changes are involved.

"It is all a matter of scheduling on the part of the local unit," a National Guard Bureau spokesman points out. "By carefully processing young men who sign up in a common basic class category we can keep them together."

Here is how it works. Bud Jones and Ted Smith, high school seniors, enlist together in the same company of an engineer battalion. Both are able to defer the start of their six months of active duty training until after graduation. (All others, excepting high school undergraduates, must begin six months training within 120 days following enlistment). The local unit commander can arrange for both young men to enter active duty on the same date.

As a matter of Army policy all of the men from the same geographical area undergo basic at the same basic training center. So much for the first 8 weeks. In a case where both enlisted for engineer training they would most likely be sent along to another post, such as Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for advanced training in their specialties. And, after completion of six months, they return home to pick up the threads of civilian life, and serve the remainder of their military service in the same hometown Guard outfit.

"Operation Buddy" means that friends who enlist together, train together, and stay together, in the Army National Guard.

Elephants blaze and follow the best routes through forests and mountains. Many highways in present-day Africa originally were laid out by elephants.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Most of the time the sessions at the country store goes along as smooth as frog hair, but Saturday night they was a difference of opinion at the meeting. Everything was in good humor and nobody was mad, but some of the fellers was taking sides, Democrat and Republican.

Ed Doolittle come in all riled up on account of him having to pay 5 cent for a stamp to get his income tax report mailed. Ed don't buy but one stamp a year and that's when he has to get his annual masterpiece off to the Internal Revenue Department.

In the first place, allowed Ed, he was 100 percent unimpressed when the Democrats come up with this idea back under Truman of making farmers mail off their report in February ahead of everybody else. In the second place, claimed Ed—who has always voted the straight Republican ticket—this 5-cent stamp is a good example of what the Democrats is doing to this country.

Furthermore, announced Ed, Democrats is the champions and inventors of high taxes and the over-balanced budget. He told the fellers that Kennedy was the best President this county has ever had, since Eisenhower, and that he has done more for cheap money than anybody since Julian Czezor.

And Ed allowed that up to Kennedy, politicians was content just to git their feet in the public trough but now they has took to laying down longways in the thing.

Clem Webster, who started voting Democrat back under Woodrow Wilson, said he would have to take issue with Ed on a number of items.

First off, said Clem, he was of the opinion that Ed was sending that chicken scratching of his to the wrong place. He ought to mail it to the Poultry Department and let the Department of Agriculture check it. In the second place, Clem claimed, Ed ain't never filed a report that didn't show a net loss on the year and it would be hard for Ed to tell if taxes was high or low or the budget over-balanced or under-balanced.

In the third place, argued Clem, Ike enlarged that public trough so big that a politician had to lay in it longways to keep from falling out. And furthermore, Clem said Ed could've saved that one cent on his annual stamp by mailing in his chicken scratching afore the price went up on January 7. He accused Ed of being careless in the matter of handling his annual stamp situation.

Personal, Mister Editor, I didn't git in the argument on account of noting for 50 year that the best political party, Democrat or Republican, was always the one out of office.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Theme: Happiness Is A Habit
TEXT: "A cheerful look makes a dish a feast." - George Herbert

The clergyman, visiting the hospital, stopped at the bedside of a pale young man swathed in bandages.

"Cheer up, young man," he said smoothly, "keep smiling - it's the very best medicine."

"I'll never smile again," replied the young man.

"Nonsense. Yes, you will!" "No," sadly continued the battered young man, "I'll never smile again - at least not at the other fellow's girl."

Of course, there are times when a smile is not appropriate, but cheerfulness is the oil that lubricates all of living. It is said that sunshine will kill the deadliest germ in fifteen seconds. The sunshine of good cheer will dissipate the darkest mood or lighten the most dismal defeat. It is also the mark of a civilized man. As Thackeray wrote, "Good humor may be said to be one of the very best articles of dress one can wear in society."

However, cheerfulness doesn't always come easily. E. P. Whipple said, "Cheerfulness in most cheerful people, is the rich and satisfying result of strenuous discipline." And so it is, not easy but rich and satisfying. A wonderful habit. Get it.

1963 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM SIGNUP NOW GOING ON

Farmers who grew corn, grain sorghum, or barley on their farms in 1959 or 1960 may now sign up to participate in the 1963 feed grain program.

Smoot listed the following principal features of the 1963 feed grain program: (1) the program is voluntary; (2) it applies to corn, grain sorghum, and barley, for which crops the base acreages are added together into one "feed grain base" for the farm.

Technical details of the 1964 wheat program now are being developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with representatives of wheat growers and the grain trade.

gram farmers would choose by voting "yes" in the forthcoming referendum. Approval by at least two-thirds of the farmers voting is required to make the program effective.

The alternative program - which farmers would choose if they voted "no" - would provide no limits on production or marketing, and - only to growers who stayed within their allotments - price support at 50 percent of parity, about $1.20 per bushel. It would result in increased wheat production, and a sharp decrease in income for wheat growers.

Technical details of the 1964 wheat program now are being developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with representatives of wheat growers and the grain trade.

(1) A national marketing quota of about 1.2 billion bushels; and (2) A national acreage allotment, calculated from the marketing quota on the basis of current average yield expectations, of about 49.5 million acres, the same as in 1962.

LIBRARY NEWS
By MRS. I. H. HUSKE

Have you been hearing "LINES FROM YOUR LIBRARY" at 1:45 each Thursday, broadcast from Radio Station WSDC and sponsored by your Davie County Public Library? More and more people are telling us how much they enjoy listening to these programs which are prepared and presented by the library staff and a very able group of local citizens who serve as volunteer workers on a radio committee for the library. Their help is invaluable, and the library is proud of the programs they are turning out. We hope you will make it a point to join the other listeners who make this program a must on their weekly schedule. "Lines From Your Library" covers a variety of subjects, trying to offer what their listeners would like to hear. Won't you let us know if you have a favorite subject you would like to hear discussed?

Next on our list of speakers is Mrs. Frank Clement, who will hold the interest of all garden and flower lovers, we know, as she discusses the pleasure and art of growing beautiful plants. The love of growing things seems innate in most people, and Mrs. Clement speaks from a wealth of personal experience with gardening as well as from gardening advice drawn from the many volumes you can find on this subject on your library shelves. Do tune in on Thursday, Feb. 14, at 1:45 and hear this program.

Our request for old numbers of "National Geographic Magazine" and "The State Magazine," to be donated to the library by anyone who has them available, still stands. Our periodicals are being widely used as reference by church groups, clubs and individuals, especially the two magazines named. The library is serving more people in more ways than ever before, and we would appreciate your help in making these periodicals available to more people. They may be checked out, just as the books are, and are enjoyed by many patrons.

Social Security
In Davie County

Whether you are a career serviceman, a one-terminer, or already a veteran, some or all of your military service may count toward social security benefits for yourself and your family. Since 1950, the Congress has enacted laws giving free social security wage credits of $160 for each month of active military service from September 16, 1949 through December 31, 1956. These credits count the same as actual earnings of $160 a month in determining whether a veteran has enough credits for a social security benefit and in figuring the amount of the benefit.

Free credits are not entered in your social security earnings record, but are computed when you or your survivors file a claim for benefits and submit your discharge.

Members of the Armed Forces have been covered by social security in the same way as people in civilian employment since January 1, 1957. They receive social security credit for their base pay for active duty (and active duty for training), and their share of the social security tax is deducted from their base pay, just as the social security tax of civilian workers is deducted from their wages. The Government, as the serviceman's employer, pays a matching amount or its share of the social security tax.

If you retired from active duty before 1957 with retired pay, and your service was used for your military retirement, free wage credits cannot be granted. Generally, if a veteran (or his survivor) receives benefits from any other Federal Agency (under the U. S. Civil Service Retirement, for example) which are based in part on his military service before 1957, free wage credits cannot be granted for that service. Any payments from the Veterans Administration to a veteran or his survivors do not prevent the counting of free social security wage credits. Military service since January 1, 1957, can be counted toward both military retirement pay and social security benefits.

Letter From Baptist
Missionary, Rev. Jones

The following is a letter received from Rev. Archie V. Jones Baptist Missionary, who with his wife and children is living in Ecuador where the Rev. Mr. Jones is serving a mission in the Guayaquil area:

Dear Friends,
It has been eight months since it rained in the daytime. David did not remember it at all. Last week when the rains came on their yearly journey here on the coast of Ecuador, we were not fast enough. David, now two years and months old, began to yell, "water, water", and ran out in the rain with all his clothes on.

We have finished another year in our Baptist Institute here in Guayaquil. The new benches have been bought and the final touches added to the new building of the First Baptist Church. Just last Sunday, another national pastor was ordained. We are planning to open a new mission in Urdessa, a subdivision of Guayaquil, and we heard just a few weeks ago that a new missionary couple has been appointed for service in Ecuador. These are just a few of the reasons we are enjoying our missionary service. We never cease to be amazed at God's grace and power.

It is Vacation Bible School time here in Ecuador. But because of the strike along the Atlantic Seaboard (in the U. S.) we have not received our literature for this year which we ordered three months ago. It looks like we will have to use makeshift literature this year, but we are planning for about seven or eight hundred children here in our Guayaquil area.

This is the first time we have had an opportunity to thank you for the scores of lovely cards and letters we received at Christmas time. Your remembering us at special times helps so much to keep joy in our service. Thank you also for your Lottie Moon offerings. These expressions of your real interest keep open the life-line for our capital expenditures here on the mission fields around the world. We are 1,600 now, and we are yours and Christ's. The Baptist message is going out from you to 51 countries through your missionaries.

For this reason we do not hesitate to ask your support through your regular church offerings, through your prayer life, and even more, through your own children. Have you offered them to God?

Pray for us this year as we seek new ways to make known that wonderful story of God's love in Christ Jesus our Lord.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY

You can see the difference wherever you look

If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocket-book. There are differences.

A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, stitching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the tailgate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging.

The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through.

Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

Which Home
has the Flameless Electric Comfort Heating?

(Hint: Electric Heating Is Thrifty, Clean and Free of Cold Drafts!)

More than just a new and wonderfully efficient way to heat, electric heating is actually a broad new concept of home comfort.

With flameless electric comfort heating cold air currents are eliminated almost completely. Furthermore, heat is distributed evenly throughout each room, so there are no "dead spots" or cold corners to be avoided. Flameless electric heating is visibly cleaner too—produces no soot, smoke or dust of its own. And actual records prove electric heating is genuinely thrifty—gives you the extras of better electric living at surprisingly low cost.

Although it neither sells nor installs electric comfort heating, Duke Power will gladly furnish information for your new or present home. Call your friendly Duke Power residential representative today.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

"People is funny", said the taxi driver, Jack Wexler, out of the corner of his mouth as we rode downtown and I hoped he was keeping his eye on the street as well as me.

Ford Frick, native of Indiana and national commissioner of baseball, lives not far from me, and I see him riding in and back on the suburban train frequently.

A neighbor owns a 160-pound St. Bernard dog which is usually friendly to those he knows, but recently when a man passed in a car, wearing a coonskin cap, the primitive evidently came to the fore in the dog, for he made a tearing dash at the car, struck it head-on and caused a dent in the side that cost $75 to repair.

There has been much discussion since the appearance of the book by Rachel Carson on the subject of pesticides in agriculture. Some have been alarmed by what is regarded as a danger to humans from the use of these new chemicals, while others deride any such threats.

The members of Macedonia Moravian Church have been asked to cooperate in the collection of S & H Green Stamps. The purpose is to secure a new piano for the church. The pastor and his wife while visiting with friends in Homestead, Fla., attended a church that had recently acquired a beautiful piano with stamps. Now the people at Macedonia have decided to save stamps. All families of the church are asked to turn in stamps and have an active part in this plan. Mrs. J. Taylor Loflin and Mrs. Marjorie Lee have been appointed to receive the stamps. Anyone in the community may help if they desire and all help will be appreciated. Businesses that give stamps are invited to donate toward this worthwhile project.

The Martha Hall Class of Macedonia will meet on Saturday night with Miss Bessie Plott at the home of Mrs. J. H. Plott, Jr. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Dorothy Ellis is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fry will be leaving on Friday for Homestead, Florida, where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bryon Cook.

Earnest Butner is sick at his home. He was taken sick on Saturday while working on a plant bed. He is confined to his bed. Mrs. Butner is also sick.

Mrs. Nan McBride's nephew, Johnny Hauser, of Marshalltown, Iowa, spent the day with her recently on his way to Florida. Other dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Smith; Mrs. Clinton Smith; Mrs. Ruby McBride; and Lettie Hauser.

Mrs. Lula Sparks has been ill and is still under the care of the doctor.

Circle 1 Women of the Church will meet Thursday at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Sally West.

A new development will soon be under way in the Macedonia community. A Winston-Salem real estate firm has purchased several acres of the Butner land and is planning a new housing development in the near future. This section of Davie County is growing rather rapidly and many new homes are being built.

Edwin Boger Is Chosen As The Outstanding Young Farmer

Edwin Boger of Mocksville, Rt. 2, has been selected by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce as the 1962 Outstanding Young Farmer for Davie County.

The announcement was made at the annual awards banquet held last Thursday night. The award, signifying the selection, was presented by John Johnstone.

Other young farmers honored at this banquet were Claude Beck, Edward Beck, Charles Williams, and Madison Angell.

As the local winner, Mr. Boger becomes an entry in the state "Outstanding Young Farmer" contest. This is an annual project of the Jaycees and the purpose is to honor young men that are doing an outstanding job in agriculture.

Mr. Boger operates a Grade "A" dairy in the Cans Community in partnership with his father. Active in community and church work, he and his wife are community 4-H Club leaders. He is also a Sunday School teacher in the North Main Street Church of Christ.

Mr. Boger has made outstanding progress in his farming operation. The dairy herd has been increased from a few low-producing dairy cows to 58 head. The Holstein milk cows are considered among the best in the county. While building this top herd of cattle and modern milking parlor and other labor saving dairy buildings were constructed.

The banquet last Friday night was attended by the Jaycees and their wives. The featured speaker was David L. Dixon, Area Soil and Water Conservationist. Mr. Dixon showed slides and discussed the watershed as a recreation area.

Vice-President Lester Blackwelder presided. Donald Smith was chairman of the "Outstanding Young Farmer" project.

Mr. Cecil was educated in the High Point schools and received his degree from High Point College in 1948. His college work was interrupted by three years of service with the Air Force during World War II.

After graduation he joined the realty firm of Mendenhall-Moore in High Point, working in sales and property management.

Active in civic affairs in Mocksville, he has served as chairman of the town recreation commission; deacon and treasurer of the First Presbyterian Church; a director of the Jaycees; a member of the Rotary Club; and in 1959 was named as Mocksville's Young Man of the Year.

The Arms To Break!

There is always something to be thankful for...even when there are broken arms.

This is something that Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lakey have discovered in recent weeks when their children suffered broken arms...for it could have been worse.

Sybil Lakey, age 12, received a broken right arm a few weeks ago when hit by a truck.

Her little brother, Stevie, age 10, fell off a barn Monday this week and broke his left arm at the wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Lakey are thankful that if it had to happen it happened the way it did.

Heart Sunday Drive To Be February 24

Next Sunday will be Heart Sunday in Davie County. More than 20 residents have volunteered to tour the County's residential districts to distribute health-saving information about the heart diseases and to receive Heart Sunday contributions to help the Davie Heart Association speed the fight against the nation's Number 1 health enemy.

In their house-to-house visits, volunteers will distribute a pamphlet telling how to get Heart Association information on heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, rheumatic fever, inborn heart defects; and other forms of the heart and blood vessel diseases which are fought with Heart Fund dollars.

More than 75 million Heart Fund dollars have been invested in research since the American Heart Association became a national voluntary health agency in 1948. Bill Scaford, Heart Fund chairman here, pointed out. Discovering the causes of high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, disorders accounting for 90 percent of all heart and blood vessel diseases, has Number 1 priority in heart research today, he said.

Davie's volunteers will be among more than 1,500,000 accepting gifts throughout the nation. Volunteers will present an official Heart Fund contribution envelope for the donor's convenience. After the contribution has been inserted the envelope may be sealed before being returned to the volunteer.

For families away from home on Heart Sunday, volunteers will leave pre-addressed envelopes in which contributions can be mailed to the local Heart Fund headquarters.

Dr. Elizabeth McMahan Discovers... All Termites Do Not Eat Wood!

All termites do not eat wood! Some termites instead of gnawing at a two-by-four and undermining the carpentry of the American home, these non-wood-eating termites form a special military force who protect and defend the wood-devouring termites.

Shortly after receiving her doctorate in entomology from the University of Hawaii in 1960, she spent a year in termite research under Alfred E. Emerson, the big name in termite research at the University of Chicago.

After a year devoted to teaching, she is now in the termite research field operating under a coveted national Science Foundation grant.

She is also receiving the full cooperation of the National Pest Control Association. Pest control men are interested in the project because it may lead to more practical and efficient ways to battle the little mites which depredate millions of dollars of property annually.

Dr. McMahan is the first to use radioisotopes to study the feeding habits of termites. By making the wood radioactive she is learning termite dietary preferences and feeding habits.

Dr. McMahan has found that the warriors, while they do not directly eat wood, are fed by the other termites who are wood eaters. In her research she feeds termites on wood that has been made radioactive from isotopes from nuclear reactors — cobalt and strontium. She hopes to find out whether "most of a colony could be wiped out by poisoning a few termites."

Dr. McMahan disclosed some of her findings last November at a national conference on termite research held at Purdue University.

Recently Dr. McMahan made a trip to Tampa, Florida, seeking the cryptotermites brevis, most prevalent of 13 species of termites in Florida. She came back with thousands of termites in decaying wood in the back seat of her car. She will use these termites in going research in the colonization and feeding habits of termites.

Merchants Meeting Next Monday Night
At a meeting of some of the merchants held Tuesday night, it was decided to hold another such meeting next Monday night at 7:30 at the County Office Building.
Plans were discussed to hold a Mocksville sale promotion and it was felt that for this important event a large number of interested merchants should be present. Hence this second meeting was planned.
Vernon Dull, vice president, presided in the absence of Lester Blackwelder, president.

Dr. Long UP AND AT 'EM

Dr. W. M. Long underwent surgery on Sunday at the Davie County Hospital. The operation was designed to correct an arthritic condition with which he had been afflicted for years.

The operation was performed by Dr. Joe Sedwitz who flew to Mocksville from Zebulon. He was assisted by Dr. Francis W. Slate of Mocksville.

Undergoing the operation Sunday morning, the good doctor was ripling and rearing to go by noon. Sent a liquid diet for his noon lunch, he ordered a postage stamp to lick for a "dry dessert."

Another liquid diet for the evening meal was returned by Dr. Bill with the request for "something more substantial."

By Monday, he could no longer be contained or retained. He was "up and at 'em," off on a busy schedule seeing his patients.

Although he didn't say so, his actions were bespeaking the philosophy: "A Doctor just doesn't have time to be sick."

First Known As "Mock's Old Field"—

TOWN OF MOCKSVILLE FORMED IN 1839

By GORDON TOMLINSON

For many years before Davie County was formed in 1836 there was a settlement or village known as "Mock's Old Field". It was reported to have been a "mustering ground" for Colonial Troops in the revolutionary war.

Lord Cornwallis led his army by the outskirts of the village on his way to the battle of Guilford Courthouse in 1781.

There was a post office in this village as early as March 17, 1810 with the records showing Basil Gailther as the first postmaster. Sometime between 1820 and 1826, postoffice records show that the name of the postoffice being changed to Mocksville...this even before the village was organized into an incorporated town in 1839...officially becoming the Town of Mocksville.

The Act to Incorporate the Town of Mocksville in Davie County reads as follows:

1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina that Thomas McNeely, Lemuel Bingham, James F. Martin, Ephraim Gailther and John McRorie and their successors be appointed commissioners for the Town of Mocksville in the County of Davie, with full power and authority to adopt such rules and regulations, and to enact such by-laws as they may deem necessary for the order and good government of said Town, not inconsistent with the laws of this State or of the United States.

2. Be it further enacted that upon the death, resignation or inability to act of any of the aforesaid commissioners, the remainder shall have the power and authority to appoint his successor, who be possessed of the power granted by this act to his predecessor.

3. And be it further enacted that the corporate limits of said Town are hereby declared one-half mile in each and every direction from the center of the courthouse to be the center of the chartered limits of said corporation.

This bill was read three times and was ratified by the General Assembly on the 8th day of January 1839.

At a meeting of the Town Commissioners on February 15, 1839, Thomas McNeely was elected chairman; James F. Martin, Magistrate of Police; Ephraim Gailther, Treasurer; and James McRorie, Secretary.

In further action they appointed Doctor Martin and L. Bingham to draw up by-laws and report them at the next meeting. Ephraim Gailther and John McRorie were appointed to examine the state of the roads and nuisance, if any, in two town; the number of hands liable to work on the roads, and to report same.

The by-laws for the Town of Mocksville were adopted at a meeting held on February 22nd, 1839. However, these are worthy in themselves as a special feature and will be dealt with as such in a subsequent article.

Mocksville, at the time the public square was laid off, would hardly be recognized now. The principal street was Salisbury Street, along which were a few stores and a number of houses. One store was located where the home of Mrs. B. I. Smith stands.

A big tavern stood on the site of the McGuire home, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Stilwell. There were homes on the site of Continue on Page 2

Rebels Win In Thrillers

East Rowan Plays Here In Final Home Game Friday Night

A field goal by Jim Anderson in the last five seconds of play gave Davie boys a thrilling 40 to 48 victory over Monroe on Tuesday night.
This was the second consecutive game the Rebels won in the final seconds of play having defeated Troutman last Friday night on a basket by Charles Markland in the final seconds.
Friday night Davie will play East Rowan here in two games and close out the regular season play on Tuesday night at North Rowan.
Tied at 12 to 12 at the end of the first quarter, the Rebels could not maintain a lead during the remainder of the game. Trailing by seven points with slightly over two minutes remaining, the Rebels went to work to cut down the score. With only a minute remaining, Junior Beal hit two foul shots to put Davie one point ahead. However a foul on a Monroe man who hit twice from the foul line put Monroe back into the lead by one with less than 30 seconds of play. The Rebels brought the ball down the court and attempted a shot that missed, another followup that missed, and then finally Anderson dug down a rebound and stuffed it back through for the winning two points.

Grimes Parker had 17 points to lead the Rebels; Anderson, 15; Beal, 6; and Shoffner, 4.
The Rebelettes bowed to the strong and undefeated Monroe girls 45 to 35. Glenda Shelton had 19 points to lead Davie; Grimes had 14; Schladensky and Jane Smith had one each.
The Rebels took a final-second heart-stopping victory from Troutman last Friday night.
Charles Markland hit a long jump-shot as the game ended to give Davie a 49-48 victory.
The Rebelettes had an easier time as they notched a 42-28 win.
The Rebels scored the first field goal in the first ten seconds of play but when Troutman scored in the next few seconds they were never in the lead again until the end of the game. Trailing by as much as 11 points, the Rebels couldn't close the gap until the final seconds. The half-time score was 25 to 18 in favor of Troutman and at the three-quarters mark it was 35 to 30, Troutman.

Less than two minutes remained when the Rebels began the drive that closed the gap. With less than 40 seconds remaining and trailing by 3, Junior Beal hit two foul shots to close the gap to one point. Troutman brought the ball down the floor in the effort to control it. Woodward committed his fifth foul in attempting to get the ball and Troutman was on the line with a one and one with ten seconds remaining. Missing the foul shot, Grimes Parker came down with the ball and immediately called time out. Seven seconds remained on the clock. When play was resumed, the ball went in and in two passes was to Markland who hit from the left side for the game winning points.
Anderson had 17 points to lead the Rebels; Shoffner, 10; Beal, 10; Parker, 6; Woodward, 4; and Markland, 2.
For the Rebelettes, Glenda Shelton had 19; Kathy Grimes, 12; D. Seaford, 5; Schladensky, 4.

Henry Walker Writes About . . .

What I Have Done And Learned In 4-H Club Work

The following is written by Henry Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Walker, and a member of the Davie Academy 4-H Club.
My first year in 4-H Club work was when I was 10 years old. I didn't know much about 4-H except what I heard from my brother and sister. Since being a 4-H Club member I have enjoyed attending 4-H meetings, 4-H Camp and taking poultry as a project.

When I started out with 4-H projects, I had to get my parents to loan some money to me to start my poultry project. We live on a farm and when I started my poultry project we had several small buildings for chicken houses.
The first year in 4-H I started with 100 chicks. These chicks were furnished by the Davie County Poultry Chain. To pay for the chicks I had to return 12 for the show and sale. The pullets that are sold are used to purchase chicks for next year's Poultry Chain.
During the five years in the 4-H Poultry Project I have been able to enlarge my Poultry Project to 600 birds, and build two new poultry houses. I have won eight Blue Ribbons, one Purple Ribbon three medals and two trophies in my Poultry project.

My accomplishments in the Poultry Project have been many. I provide eggs for the family and sell eggs to neighbors and local stores in Mocksville. My Poultry Project is now one of our major enterprises on the farm.
Four-H has led me to enjoy working with farm life and I plan to enter college some day and study agriculture.

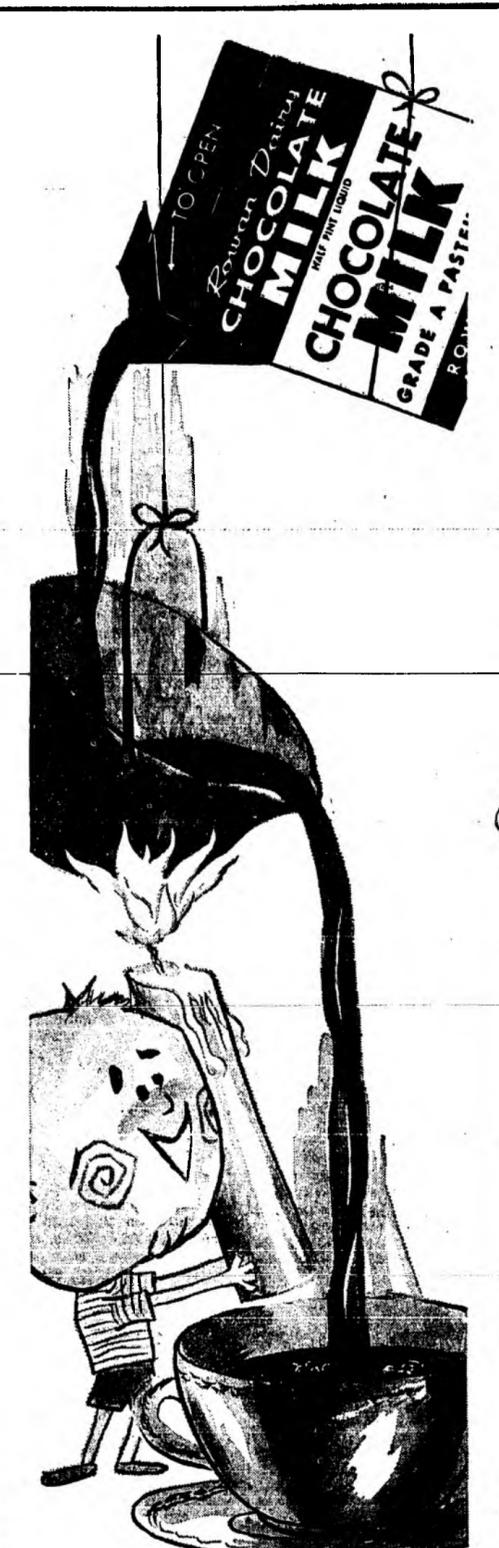

Town of Mocksville

The "White House," built by Hugh Wilson about 1805, was fronted by a row of offices along Salisbury Street. This house was located on the site of the present Foster-Turrentine Feed Mill.
With the laying off of the public square and the sale of lots adjacent to it, much of the business of the little town moved eastward. Later rows of elm trees were planted along the sidewalks, only a few of which still remain today.
Main Street was then called Henderson Street, the width being 90-feet. The courthouse, located in the center of the square, was intersected by a street 40-feet wide, called Factory Street.
On the south side of the square ran Water Street, 40-feet in width and on the north side was Gaither Street. Another street, Henderson Street, ran parallel to Henderson Street and connected Gaither Street and Water Street.
Thomas Rattledge was paid $53.70 for surveying the Town of Mocksville and submitting a plot.
Early business enterprises of Mocksville were a carriage shop, cabinet shop, cotton factory and several tobacco factories.
Chief Justice R. M. Pearson taught a law school here from 1836 to 1846. Peter S. Ney, the reputed marshal of Napoleon's army, called the "Man of Mystery", taught in this vicinity in the 1830's. Other pioneer teachers were Baxter Clegg and Jacob Eaton.

Two ways to end a simple headache...

Reading or doing prolonged close work under improper lighting conditions can lead to temporary eyestrain and headache.

Before you reach for the headache remedy, however, take a good look at the light you read or work by. Is the bulb in your lamp rated at 100 watts or more? Does the lamp have a translucent, white-lined shade and open top? And does it distribute the light evenly across the entire reading area, without glare or shadow?

Why run the risk of possible headaches and eyestrain due to improper lighting when good light is so easy and inexpensive to come by? Make it a point to see the attractive, optically-correct table and floor lamps on display at your favorite lighting dealer's, or at Duke Power now.

Release and Reapportionment Of Cotton Acreage

This is the season in which ASCS County offices throughout the entire cotton producing area are urging farmers who will not plant their full cotton allotment to release the allotment to their local ASC County Committee for reapportionment to other farmers in the county.

In the past there have been a great many farmers in this county, who for one reason or another, have not been planting their full cotton allotment. This occurs for various reasons: lack of labor, sickness, weather conditions, crop rotation, and so on. With cotton being a 48 million dollar yearly income producer in this State, we can readily see where failure to plant some of this cotton could have a tremendous effect on our State's economy. Therefore this under-planting, or failure to release acreage that will not be planted is getting to be a real problem in the entire State, and it is not just the farmers' problem.

There is also another reason why farmers should release their acreage which they do not intend to plant. A farmer who releases his unwanted cotton acreage to the ASC County Committee will maintain and protect his cotton history and his future cotton allotment. The farmer must plant or release at least 75 percent of the allotment each year, and must plant some cotton one out of three years. The release is on an annual basis.

Everybody gains through this releasing action. The farmer gains through the protection of his future allotment, the State gains through the protection of our income from cotton, then of course the farmer to whom the acreage is reapportioned is permitted to plant more cotton than he would ordinarily be able to plant.

Failure to plant the full cotton acreage allotment in 1963 will not only reduce subsequent allotments to individuals involved but will reduce subsequent allotments to the county involved and to the State. So full planting of each individual allotment or release of all acreage that cannot be planted will also prevent cotton acreage from moving out of this State. Once this allotment leaves this State there is no way under present law that we can get it back.

The closing date for releasing cotton acreage is Friday, March 15, 1963, and the final date for applying for released acreage is Friday, March 1, 1963. Farmers who want more cotton acreage are requested to contact this office immediately and make their request, if they have not already done so.

Farmers who know that they will not plant their acreage are urged to release the acreage immediately in order that the ASC County Committee will have time to reapportion this acreage to eligible farmers in the county.

1963 ACP Program

The County ASCS office is now issuing Spring purchase orders to people who came into the office during the sign-up period which ended Jan. 18. We will continue to give approvals for cost-sharing and will issue purchase orders as long as funds are available.

Farmers who have not requested cost-sharing are urged to visit the ASCS office and look over the list of practices available to farmers in Davie County.

LIBRARY NEWS

By MRS. I. H. HUSKE

Mrs. Knox Johnstone will give a program on the celebration of the Mardi Gras in New Orleans on the Davie County Public Library's regular weekly radio time, at 1:45, Thursday, Feb. 21, from Station WSDC. This should be particularly interesting to Mrs. Johnstone's listeners, for she has been a collector of books and pictures about the Mardi Gras, and knows her subject so well that she is sure to make it specially interesting to others. We hope you will be able to tune in at 1:45 Thursday and hear "Lines From Your Library," with Mrs. Knox Johnstone. She has been presented on the library hour many times and has won an enthusiastic group of listeners with her fine programs.

"Letters to Philemon," by Frances and Winthrop Nelson, is a novel of man's search for faith. Rome and its Empire when Christ's Apostles walked the land come alive in this powerful and moving tale of the runaway slave, Onesimus, for whom the Apostle Paul interceded in his beautiful and famous letter to Philemon. The story recreates the world of a rich merchant's household in a far province of the Roman Empire.

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted Minister Emeritus of Riverside Church in New York City, has brought another book with an intriguing title, "Dear Mr. Brown." As you might guess, this book has grown out of his experiences in correspondence and personal conference with people who have followed his preaching in church and by radio. This book is designed for the person who has doubts about religion and seeks a firmer faith. The Ted Brown in the book is a fictional character, but is really a composite of the many people whom Dr. Fosdick has helped in their religious perplexities.

One of the most charming books for little children added to the library in a long time is a collection of 36 read-aloud stories and verses for the very young, compiled by the Child Study Association of America, and delightfully illustrated by Garry McKensie. Those children lucky enough to hear it often will say its title over and over again—READ 'EM AGAIN!

Billy Graham Film To Be Shown At Fork

Evangelist Billy Graham's newest feature-length dramatic film, "SHADOW OF THE BOOMERANG" will have its Davie County showing Feb. 27 at Fork Baptist Church at 7:00 p. m.

Starring vivacious Georgia Lee and television's Buffalo Bill, Jr., Dick Jones, "SHADOW OF THE BOOMERANG" is an outdoor action picture with all of the excitement and breath-taking scope of the land, "Down Under". Setting for the screen drama is Australia's vast interior region where some of the world's largest cattle stations are located.

The two young Americans head an All-Australian supporting cast, playing brother and sister roles in a turbulent story of homestead life. Their arrival in Australia to manage newly acquired family holdings, plunges the couple into strange surroundings and situations with which they find it difficult to cope. The brother is immature and impetuous, slow to accept Australian ways. His sister is much more democratic, readily accepted by her new friends with whom she joins in an attempt to instill understanding and tolerance in her brother.

Gene Johnson, Den Chief, welcomed the group and introduced Rev. A. C. Cheshire who pronounced the invocation. Cubmaster Joe C. Harpe recognized Den Mothers, guests, Cubs and parents. He also presented a Bobcat pin to Roland Lakey II.

Singing and games were a part of the program. Mr. Harpe introduced each Den Mother and asked that she in turn introduce her Cubs and Den Chief by name and rank. Following the introductions, this group conducted a closing flag ceremony with the lights out and a spot light on the flags. The entire group joined in Cub Pack 501 of Farmington held the annual Blue and Gold banquet for members and their families on Saturday, February 16, in the Farmington School cafeteria.

After serving themselves buffet style a 'pot - luck' supper, the group attending found their places at tables marked by place cards indicative of the various ranks of Cub Scouting. The cards were made by the Scouts.

The cafeteria was decorated throughout in the Blue and Gold theme idea. At the door, a table placed against a background of the Pack flag and American flag featured a miniature Cub standing at the entrance to a church. This was made by members of Den 1. The other tables in the room featured blue and gold crepe paper runners, blue candles entwined with gold crepe paper and placed in wooden candle holders. Also, a blue and gold candy tree was used as a centerpiece.

Gene Johnson, Den Chief, welcomed the group and introduced Rev. A. C. Cheshire who pronounced the invocation. Cubmaster Joe C. Harpe recognized Den Mothers, guests, Cubs and parents. He also presented a Bobcat pin to Roland Lakey II.

U. S. Department of Agriculture Ready To Help NEW WATERSHED RECREATION AREAS

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said the U. S. Department of Agriculture was "ready to go ahead" with public recreational developments in watershed projects as authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

USDA was authorized to help create, enlarge, or improve bodies of water within watershed projects to provide for a full range of water-based sports, and to assist in developing recreational areas bordering the water.

"These developments will help meet the growing demand for new outdoor recreational facilities, and at the same time broaden the scope and local benefits of watershed projects," Secretary Freeman said.

The recreational facilities would lure outsiders to the area, and would provide the type recreation that industrialists seek for their employees in searching for new plant sites, Soil Conservation Service officials explained. On nearby land, private landowners could develop supporting recreational facilities, such as weekend or summer guest cottages, and hunting preserves.

The development would bring town and country interests closer together, and thereby promote soil and water conservation activities which protect and improve farm and ranch lands, according to SCS. This, in turn, would contribute to an improved agricultural economy.

"The Department is ready to help local watershed sponsors develop these recreational areas," Secretary Freeman pointed out.

Funds are available under USDA's regular $60.6 million watershed appropriation for fiscal year 1963. Construction could begin on the first of these projects early in 1963.

USDA was authorized to bear up to 50 percent of the cost of (1) land, easements and rights-of-way, (2) construction, and (3) minimum basic facilities needed for public access to and use of the recreational area. This cost-sharing and technical help would be provided through the Soil Conservation Service, which has leadership for USDA's watershed program.

Land bordering the water could be developed for picnicking, camping, hunting, or other outdoor uses. SCS would provide local sponsors with funds to cover up to half the land costs, and also would help local sponsors pay for the land inundated for recreational purposes.

Minimum basic facilities which could be shared include: (1) boat docks and ramps, (2) beach developments, (3) picnic tables and fireplaces, (4) parking lots, (5) public water supply, (6) sanitary facilities, including toilets and garbage disposal, (7) power facilities, (8) plantings and other shoreline or area improvements, (9) roads and trails, and (10) other similar or related facilities needed for public health, safety, access to, and use of the recreational area.

Local sponsors could charge an admission fee to meet their annual operating and maintenance costs. Watershed residents also would derive other benefits from the development.

"At present, some 62 million acres of privately-owned land are being used for recreation. Estimates are that by 1980 we will need 85 million acres for this purpose. Watershed projects can go a long way in helping fulfill this need."

EDWIN BOGER— An Outstanding Farmer

Edwin Boger is Davie County's "Outstanding Young Farmer of The Year".

This award was presented to him by the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce at the annual awards banquet held last Thursday night. He was selected for this honor out of five outstanding nominees.

Active in farm activities all his life, Edwin has made outstanding progress in his farming operation. His dairy herd has been increased from a few low producing cows to 58 head. The 40 Holstein milk cows are considered among the best in the county. While building this top herd of cattle, a modern milking parlor and other labor saving dairy buildings have been constructed.

In high school he was active in 4-H and F.F.A. Club activities. In 1951 he won first place on the N. C. State Judging team and represented the state at National Dairy Congress at Waterloo, Iowa. He is still active interested in 4-H work serving, along with his wife, as leaders for the Cana community 4-H Club.

Since graduating from Mocksville High School in 1949, he has been engaged in dairy farming as a partner with his father, B. A. Boger on Mocksville Rt. 2. They farm 150 acres and milk 40 Holstein cows. In 1959 he and his wife, the former Ivey Nell Bowles, completed a modern brick home with all conveniences.

Edwin is to be commended for his accomplishments that merited for him this award. The Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for the sponsorship of a program that brings recognition and award to the outstanding young farmers of the county.

ROTARY'S 58TH ANNIVERSARY

In more than 11,000 communities around the world this week — from the Fiji Islands to Florida and from the southernmost tip of Chile to the northernmost point in Norway — Rotary clubs are observing the anniversary of a day back in 1905 when Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, asked three business acquaintances to meet with him to discuss the launching of a new club.

That day was February 23, and the new club was the Rotary Club of Chicago. Since then, Rotary has encircled the globe entirely through the voluntary efforts of men to share the organization's ideals of unselfishness and service with men in other communities. Today there are more than a half million business and professional men who belong to 11,400 Rotary clubs in 128 countries.

Fellowship ranks high as a factor in the success of the organization. It stems from a mutual commitment on the part of Rotarians to simple but significant goals. The development of personal acquaintance is regarded as a means for increasing the opportunities for serving others. The wisdom of this principle is evident in the numerous and varied ways that Rotary clubs and Rotarians improve their communities, their vocations, and their countries.

As other Rotary clubs do around the globe, the Rotary Club of Mocksville helps its community to become a better place to live and to work and to raise happy and healthy families.

To Rotarians of this city, and to their fellow Rotarians everywhere, we extend our congratulations on this anniversary of their organization. May it continue to grow and bring its benefits to more people.

An Early Mocksville Landmark

"THE OLD WHITE HOUSE" . . . so called because it was the first painted house in this community and was built by Hugh Wilson in 1805 on the site of the present Foster-Turrentine Feed Mill. Mr. Wilson was one of the pioneer settlers of this community then known as Mock's Old Field. Originally it had a front porch and all and was reputed to have been "quite a nice house in its days. From 1836 to 1846 it served as the town hotel, kept by a Mr. Bingham. This was during the term of Judge

Pearson's famous law school and the students boarded there. This school was conducted in a row of law offices on Salisbury Street just opposite where Sanford's Garage now stands. Just back of these offices on what is now Foster-Turrentine Feed Mill the old house stood. This house was built of massive logs, fitted together without nails and then weather-boarded over. At the time the above picture was made the house was well over 120 years old and was in a state of decay and disrepair.

ONE REASON . . . If something were to happen to Gov. Terry Sanford between now and the election of the next Governor, the man who would succeed him is 64 year old Thomas Clarence Stone.

He became President of the Senate on Feb. 6. That is the No. 2 job in the State when there is no Lieutenant Governor . . . or when there is one.

This is his tenth term in the General Assembly.

As President Stone remarked in private conversation one day last week, "this is probably the last go-around for me." If memory serves correctly he has never been beaten for legislative office.

A new committee will be set up in the State Senate this time — may be named by the time you read this. It will be called the Highway Safety Committee. And, odds are, a similar committee will be appointed in the House.

No doubt much of the credit for the idea of this new committee should go to Clarence Stone. There is no more enthusiastic advocate of highway safety than he.

One reason: he lost his daughter and only child, Mary Frances, in a highway wreck several years ago. This came close to finishing forever Clarence Stone, one of the grandest persons in this or any other session of the N. C. General Assembly.

But it didn't. Now he stands at the pinnacle of a long and courageous career. He is steady, solid and stolid. Stone of Stoneville.

As he says, the "counties of Rockingham and Caswell have been good to me." Yes, and he has been good to them—and good for the State of North Carolina.

SCOTT ROADS . . . Not a whole lot has been said about it, but legislative thinking seems to be pointing to another rural roads bond issue. From here it looks as if the N. C. General Assembly will clear the way for another 200-million dollar bond vote. This is the same amount North Carolina voted for rural roads under Gov. Kerr Scott in 1949.

Chief difference — this one will not carry an increase in the gas tax.

CATCHING UP . . . A one-time candidate for Governor may be back where he started when he announced — by the time another Christmas rolls around.

This man, who was called from good income by false promises, saw the gubernatorial gates opening for him. But he started late. And, he thought, all he needed was money.

So, he mortgaged and some relatives mortgaged — or so the story goes — and the money was spent. But he failed to win. In fact, he was not even in the runoff.

Now this is no crime. It has happened before and will happen again. This particular man's name you would know. He ran for the our highest office in this State . . . and let his enthusiasm run away with him . . . in a year when strange political winds were blowing.

almost always have to fight their way into leadership; and sometimes are kept on the outside by lack of funds.

"Now as to young men—. You must not wait to be brought forward by older men. For instance, do you suppose I should have ever gotten into notice if I had waited to be hunted up and pushed forward by older men?"

So spoke another politician about 100 years ago. His name: Abraham Lincoln.

INJURY . . . The visitor came out second best in the first battle last week between the State House (Legislative Building) and examiner.

This 12 year old school boy walked squarely into one of the large panes of glass which add so much sparkle to the place. It was so clear he couldn't see it. He was cut about the head.

Well, in a way the boy won. He was injured, but his pain was not half as bad as that suffered by the pane. It was damaged . . . and then knocked out completely. It says here the boy bled a little. The glass didn't.

Now they have placed minute strips of tape on the remaining glass panes. That's so you can tell something — not nothing — is there. They have gone to great pains to fix the panes. Now groups of school children must have teachers with them.

BACK TO JANUARY? . . . As the 1963 edition of the N. C. General Assembly moved into its third week, there was increased talk of a "short" session.

Since there are no money problems, they may be.

On the other hand, we recall talk of brief sessions when Luther Hodges was Governor. It seemed that every time one of his Legislatures came to town, you heard talk of a short session. Well, we can't recall one of them calling it quits before June.

Incidentally, the chief cause for our moving the convening date of the General Assembly from Jan. to Feb. no longer exists. We are one of the few states in the entire nation meeting after Jan.

North Carolina changed the meeting time several years ago because of income tax regulations. The Federal Government set the deadline for filing up one month — from March 15 to April 15. The State followed. Members of the Legislature, seeing they would have to be in Raleigh a month longer before seeing how taxes from the previous year's income were coming in, paved the way so that they could come to Raleigh a month later.

But now we have the withholding plan for income taxes. Thus we knew several weeks ago how income went in the State in 1962. So, there is little reason now for the legislators to come to Raleigh in February.

Furthermore, if the convening date is moved back to January — the legislators have power to do it—they can be here in session and in full bloom in January of 1965 when the next Governor is inaugurated.

Don't be surprised if a bill is introduced changing the convening date.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You will recollect that here awhile back the fellers at the country store was in favor of reducing each state to one Senator and cutting the House members in half. It was figured that this move would pay off the national debt in about 10 year.

Well, Mister Editor, I got some powerful new fodder for this campaign. It is a well known fact that Senators and Congressmen has got to get votes, and to get votes they got to spread the gravy on pritty thick back home. The figgers has just been released on how thick the gravy is sitting.

The item I got here says that in 1962 we had 2,538,390 civilians working in Government offices. This is a increase of 46,045 over 1961 and they is estimating that in this year of 1963 the number will go up another 20,000. This piece says it is now taking over $14 billion to pay these Government workers.

Congressman Earl Wilson of Indiana says when he first come to the Congress 20 years ago, he was in a state of shock the first week from watching Government secretaries polishing their nails, reading movie magazines and writing letters to their boy friends. And he says it is twice as bad now. He claims that today, in addition to all them other things, they is busy working cross - word puzzles, walking around in the halls with transistor radios hung around their neck, and some of 'em is even knitting sweaters.

It looks like the gravy is sitting too thick to stir and about the only way the taxpayers can

Senator Sam Ervin Says:

WASHINGTON — The Senate has been engaged in filling committee assignments on fifteen of its eighteen standing, select, and special committees. Senate organization has been pending during the Rules debate which ended February 7. By a roll-call vote the Senate rejected any change in Rule XXII which requires a two-thirds vote of the Senators "present and voting" to impose silence on those who wish to speak on a pending motion or bill. Very likely the Rules debate will not be renewed until the opening of the 89th Congress in January 1965.

When the Senate convened for this session, deaths, retirements, and political defeats had caused 32 Senate committee vacancies to exist. In the reshuffling of last week four new Committee Chairmen were named. Senator Anderson succeeds the late Senator Kerr as Chairman of the Space Committee. In turn Senator Jackson succeeds Senator Anderson as Chairman of the Interior Committee. Senator McNamara succeeds the late Senator Chavez as Chairman of the Public Works Committee. My colleague, Senator Jordan, succeeds Senator Mansfield who vacates the Rules Committee, as its Chairman.

Seven committees had the party alignments changed. These were Foreign Relations, Armed Services, Commerce, Public Works, Appropriations, Banking and Currency, and Judiciary. The Finance Committee made no change in party alignment but Senators Ribicoff and Dirksen were named

Washington Report

BY CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. BROYHILL
7TH DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

Gathering Cloud
Foreign trade policies of our government in Washington may seem remotely related to our daily lives. However, we can see striking examples of how these policies directly affect North Carolinians, their jobs, and their communities.

Well meaning policies attempting to solve one problem can often create new and serious problems. There is no better example of this than the two price cotton system. Briefly, price supports intended to help the cotton farmer result in increasing the price of American cotton. Surpluses build up in government warehouses and American cotton is priced out of the world market. Farmers abroad are encouraged to grow more cotton. The more they grow, the more overseas markets they capture. To combat this process the United States several years ago offered American cotton to foreign buyers at the world price about 5 1/2¢ per pound less than the same cotton could be bought by domestic manufacturers, with the United States taxpayers paying the difference. We are now reaping the consequences.

Foreign cotton textile producers are pouring their finished products into this country. American textile producers are unable to compete and an entire industry is struggling against insurmountable odds. Jobs are declining and communities dependent upon cotton mills are feeling a severe economic pinch. We have come to a point where strong action is required and we must face the economic facts that one price cotton is essential for the future not only of our textile industry, but for the cotton farmer as well.

Another important industry in our State is also beset with serious problems. North Carolina has shared in the phenomenal growth of the United States poultry industry. New techniques and improved management have been translated into more, better, and cheaper poultry for American dinner tables. In the last five years, a $50 million market for American poultry has been built in Europe, primarily in West Germany. The prospects for enlarging that ready market were excellent. But, today, it is being wiped out by a host of barriers erected against poultry imports by the Common Market. Normal duties and tariffs are not being used. Instead, gate prices and variable levies are being employed. If U. S. poultry can be supplied at a lower price, an arbitrary fee is imposed. The gate price is equalling 33¢ per pound on American broilers in Germany with authority to make other arbitrary charges at will so that the importer can never be sure what price will be levied when the poultry arrives.

Adding further uncertainty to this is the authority of the German government to require that poultry may not be in transit for more than 70 hours. If this is imposed, it would mean shipment by airplane would be multiplying shipping costs many times. As if this were not enough to exclude American poultry, Germany has brought up questions about the use of some drugs commonly accepted in raising American poultry which it claims might be injurious to the health of those who eat the poultry. On this pretext, France has already virtually excluded all United States poultry.

These facts were developed in a recent meeting of the Senate Finance Committee under the Chairmanship of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. It is the general view expressed by the Secretary of Agriculture that the restrictions are unreasonable and in violation of international agreements to which both this country and the Common Market nations are signatories. Apparently, efforts are being made to solve the problem at the diplomatic level but, by all observations, the process is slow and uncertain and is likely to be bogged down further by confusion within the Common Market over Britain's bid for membership. In the meantime, restrictions persist and this country appears to be reluctant to use the means it has available to insist that other countries abide by agreements they have freely assumed.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By LESTER P. MARTIN, Jr.
Davie County Representative

FOR WEEK ENDING
FEBRUARY 15, 1963

This General Assembly continues to maintain a faster pace than its 1961 predecessor. Many more bills have been introduced than at the end of the equivalent period during the 61 session; both the Appropriations and Finance Committees have commenced work; and most of the committee appointments have been made.

Although there will be several more committees to be named, I am presently assigned to 12. In addition to serving as chairman of the Committee on Propositions and Grievances, I am a member of the Committees on Finance, Health, Journal, Judiciary I, Local Government, Commissions and Institutions of the Blind, Federal and Interstate Corporation, Roads, Public Welfare, Courts, and Higher Education.

The new State House continues to draw visitors. From Davie last week came J. K. Sheek, Jr., Sam Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Snyder and daughter, Beverly, to inspect the premises and to speculate over whether the $1.50 which the building cost each taxpayer North Carolinian was wisely spent. Before this session is over, I hope many more from Davie County will visit the State House.

It was bound to happen sooner or later. A school boy, touring the new building Thursday afternoon, ran through one of the floor - to - ceiling glass windows. The impact of his body crashing through the window and the flying glass made a terrific noise, but the boy suffered only minor cuts.

Many of the old familiar faces are missing in the legislative halls this session, but absence of Mr. B. C. Brock is most sincerely felt. I have heard many expressions of deep affection for Mr.

Burr from many members of the General Assembly, Heads of State Agencies and members of the Council of State. To my knowledge, no other man has enjoyed such a unique position of universal affection and respect around Capitol Square. One of Mr. Burr's closest friends, Mr. Clarence

Theme: Anyone Can Fall By Half Trying

TEXT: "No one knows what he can do till he tries." - Publilius Syrus.

The store-keeper was trying to get rid of the book salesman. "Salesmanship!" he cried. "Why I've forgotten more about salesmanship than you ever knew!"

"Ah!" exclaimed the salesman. "I've just the book for you! 'Memory Training' complete in one volume!"

A resourceful salesman turns objections into sales. He keeps trying, continues his efforts, in spite of rebuffs. Men and women who apply the same attitude toward life will attain a measure of success not matter what they attempt. Those who quit when their one attempt fails, never wins.

It is said that resourcefulness in a man is what a bank account is to a merchant. He draws on it when he needs to "buy" an answer to his problem.

The resourceful man doesn't ask the government or welfare organizations for solutions to his problems. He puts each failure behind and draws from his own resources, exciting new ways of attacking his problem and attaining his ends.

Continually trying will cause you to accomplish things you never believed you could. More than that, you resourcefulness will so impress everyone with your ability that they'll turn to you for leadership when they have problems.

MACEDONIA

By MRS. C. W. LEE

Members of Macedonia Church were pleasantly surprised upon entering the sanctuary on Sunday morning to find that it had been redecorated. The beautiful beiges tones that were used gave the sanctuary look of largeness and beauty. A large wooden cross, finished to match the pews will be installed on the front wall, within the circle behind the choir. This too will add beauty and symbolism to the sanctuary. The class rooms and the hallway upstairs are also being repainted and new ceiling added; also new light fixtures have been installed in this part of the building.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cornatzer and son, Joe, were visitors at Macedonia Sunday. They are graduates of Winston-Salem and members of a Moravian church formerly served by the pastor of Macedonia.

Macedonia would like to thank all those who have sent in the S & H Green Stamps; especially those outside the Macedonia community. The stamps will go toward securing a new piano for the church. Anyone else that would like to help in this cause can mail their stamps to Mrs. J. Taylor Loflin or Mrs. Marjorie Lee, both of Route 1, Advance, N. C.

Mrs. Dorothy Ellis entered Baptist Hospital last Thursday. Miss Sharon Cope and Linda Lee gave a Valentine party Tuesday night for the Junior Youth Fellowship at Sharon's home. There were 16 children present to enjoy games and refreshments.

THE PLACE OF PEACE
Marie Stuecher
I know the Lord will help me reach a place in Him, where nothing can disturb or mar my inner peace; no problem I may face.

No, tears of many people ever jar the utter calm His heart has planned for me; No frown, nor scorn, of those who disapprove My words of deeds, upset me, if those words Be his alone. And He will always move.

To ease my sorrows; furnish a deep well Of such refreshing, I may daily drink The quiet waters of His joy, and ever tell How great His grace, beyond all I can think. Oh, what a God, to offer me the best: Now and forever—Himself, my rest!

"Stretch forth thine hand..." And the withered arm that stretched forth toward Him was made whole. Today, the hands of Protestants reach forth... with help... to their brothers in countries over seas. And doctors in many lands, supported by your Church, reach for the stretched arm of the sick child... and quickly the child receives a life saving serum or anti-biotic. This Sunday, March 24th, stretch forth your hand... to help. Give and give generously during One Great Hour of Sharing.

parate bills to meet needs in the areas of feed grains, cotton, dairying, and other programs. Last year's omnibus farm bill offered by the Administration was much battered in its attempt to cope with opposing views on farm surpluses. The separate bill theory may bring greater legislative success in farm programs at this session.

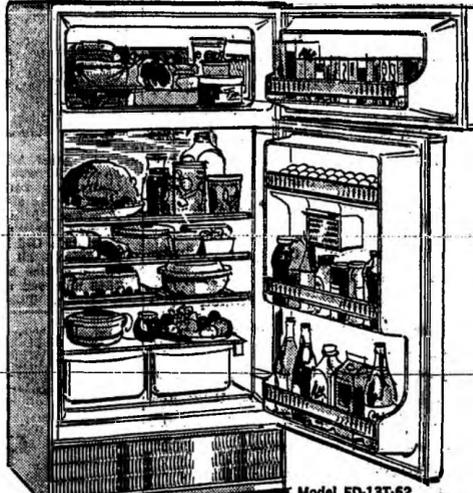

Senator Ervin Says: to fill existing vacancies. The Government Operations Committee was enlarged to the status of a major committee by increasing its membership from nine to fifteen.

Due to the dominance of tax and spending issues, the composition of the Senate Finance and Appropriations committees is certain to have a marked effect on any legislation in these areas. With the failure to enlarge the Finance Committee at last week's policy meetings, it appears likely that the Finance Committee will shape any tax bill brought to the floor.

PROGRAMS—Recent Presidential messages have dealt with farm, education, and mental health programs. The farm message of January 31 proceeds on the theory that Congress will offer se-

In contrast to the agricultural approach, Congress has been asked to enact a comprehensive twenty-four part educational bill. The measure has already gotten off to a rocky start. Disappointment has been voiced from many sides over segments of the package program. The bill involves about everything that has thus far been conceived for legislative action in the educational field. I do not think there is much likelihood that an all-or-nothing approach will produce aid to education at this session of Congress. The mental health program embraces four legislative programs and some amendments to existing health laws. In essence it would provide additional grants to States for mental health centers, and for some buildings which would be used for the treatment, training, and care of the mentally retarded. At the present time I have not had an opportunity to study its provisions closely and form an opinion as to the worthiness of such an approach to the care for the mentally ill and the mentally retarded.

Four different ways to make going more fun than getting there

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolet, with four entirely different kinds of cars to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price; the low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking car that would send any family packing; another family favorite, the sporty Corvair, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are kid stuff; and for pure adventure, America's only sports car, Corvette—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. The Job's Not Done...

In 1935, ninety-seven out of every hundred farm families in North Carolina HAD to draw and carry water from the well. Thanks to REA — and the member-owned rural electric cooperatives—ninety-eight out of a hundred now have electricity available to do the job.

BUT, only six out of ten farm homes actually have running water systems—a convenience that most of us consider a necessity.

As the price of electric service falls, more rural people can afford to add electric pumps. And if our rural electric cooperatives are allowed to survive, that price WILL continue to fall.

In eight years, rural electric cooperative rates in North Carolina dropped almost 34 percent. Despite this, we still have a long way to go. Our cooperatives get only $453 in revenue per mile of line in North Carolina. Compare this to the $3,879 per mile received by our state's private power companies.

As our cooperatives add consumers, and revenue per mile increases, each member bears a smaller part of his system's costs. That's why it's important that cooperatives be allowed to serve new loads and enjoy the benefits of their investments within their territories.

If they are allowed to do this, it will mean that more and more rural people will come to know the conveniences that city people have had for years.

Girl Scouts Receive Curved Bars At Special 'Thinking Day' Program

A group of Girl Scouts who are members of Cadette Troop No. 286 received their 'curved bar' pins in special ceremonies held on Friday afternoon, Feb. 22, at the Mocksville Primary School.

Those receiving these pins were: Janet Cozart, Ann Felmster, Brenda Gaither, Vicki Hendricks, Jennifer Jones, Linda McClamrock, Caroline Sanford, Patricia Short, Kathy Smith, Susan Smith, Lynn Tutterow, Lisa Upshaw, and Shirley Whitaker.

The 'curved bar' pins are the highest awards the girls receive before becoming Senior Scouts. (A not of information here-with the change of the age levels in Girl Scouting — the 'curved bar' pin will be replaced with another award — actually this group will be the last group to receive the award.) Mrs. Gaither Sanford, Troop leader, made the presentation of pins. She also presented a number of badges that the girls have earned.

Mrs. James Boger, Neighborhood chairman, presided at the 'Thinking Day' program Friday afternoon when the girls received their 'curved bar' pins.

Troop 216, Brownies, gave a history of the Founders of Girl Scouting. They also displayed posters showing uniforms of Girl Scouts in other countries. They were led by Mrs. Tommy Shore, assistant leader, in the absence of Mrs. Jim Wall and Mrs. Jack Pennington, leaders, who were at home with illness.

Hopie Hall of Troop 286 gave a report of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. This fund goes to international exchange projects and helps Girl Guides and Scouts in countries where the movement is just starting.

A representative from each Troop attending the meeting then made their "Dimes For Daisies" presentations.

Troop 286 members sang "Our Chalet." Jayne Sanford and Helen Grant led the group in singing several camp songs. Marlene Boger played the piano accompaniment for these songs.

Mrs. Ed Short, Camp Promotion chairman, gave a brief talk on Camp Shirley Rogers. She presented registration blanks for camping to each leader who was instructed to give them to each Girl Scout at their regular meetings.

At the close of the meeting, the Senior Scouts, with Mrs. Jack Sanford, leader, were introduced. These girls have just purchased the new Senior Scout uniforms and were wearing them.

Graham's producing organization, World Wide Pictures, took its sound color cameras to the homes and factories and places of amusement of Manchester, England, where the story of a working man's family actually took place. The dramatic cast was drawn from the locale itself, resulting in a ring of authenticity rarely seen on the motion picture screen. The film was directed by Dick Ross and runs the emotional

THE TOP TEAMS

Snow Tuesday forced a postponement of the Davie High School and North Rowan basketball game. This game was tentatively rescheduled for Wednesday night, weather permitting.

With one game remaining, the Rebels are in second place in the North Piedmont Conference with a record of 11 wins and 2 losses. North Rowan is in first place with a record of 13 wins and no losses.

The Rebelettes are also in second place with the North Rowan game remaining. However, their record is 10 wins and 3 losses and North Rowan's is 9 wins and 4 losses. A lost to North Rowan would throw Davie and North Rowan into a tie for second place.

With the Piedmont Conference tournament getting underway at Concord on Friday night, Monroe [13-0], Davie [10-3] North Rowan [9-4], have definitely clinched berths. As of Tuesday, the East Rowan girls with a record of 6 wins and 7 losses appeared to be the fourth team. However, a win by Mooresville [5-8] and a loss by East would throw this into a tie.

In the boys' division, North Rowan [13-0], Davie [11-2], have definitely clinched spots. East Rowan [7-6] and Mooresville [7-6] are tied for third and fourth, with Monroe 6-7 still having a chance to reach a desired spot in the final game.

Girls Have Won 61 of 62 Games Advance Gagers Remain Undefeated

The teams of the Advance Elementary School have enjoyed another successful season with both the girls and the boys going undefeated.

Under the tutelage of Coach Vestal Potts, the Advance girls have racked up another undefeated season and have won 61 of 62 games over a seven-year period. Coach Potts also coaches the boys who have gone five years without defeat and are winners of forty straight games.

Coach Potts says: "We have a lot of interest in basketball at Advance. Maybe this is because of a winning team, but maybe the interest and determination makes a winner."

Coach Potts went on to say that "although we have had a constant winner, other values are stressed such as teamwork, cooperation and the welfare of other players."

Girls' Scoring Marsha Bailey and Joyce Howard led the scoring this season for the Advance girls with Texie Foster gathering in most of the rebounds. Marsha Bailey, an aggressive player, rebounded well and led the attack from in close.

Joyce Howard used a push-shot from outside to keep the defense honest. Judy Spry, a very good shot from around the key, played an important role in this undefeated season as she hit five straight outside shots to pull the team from a five point deficit in the last game.

There were seven guards who were about equal that held in check the attack of the opposing teams. These were Mital Brigrman, a 7th grader who was a good rebounder and had a good shot under the basket. Linda Potts, Brenda Zerney and Delilah Hartman played the front line in defense. Viola Allen, Dene Zimmerman and Marsha Beauchamp played the backline. Nancy Allen was a good ball-handler, and always hustled.

The Advance guards proved very aggressive and alert and played a big part in the success of the team. No opposing team scored more than 18 points in any game this year.

Other capable reserves were Charity Pollock, Angela Markland, Jean Wood, Patsy Wood, Linda Frye, Dorothy Walser, Joyce Starr, Ruby Holder, Jane Spry, Belinda Potts, Diane Bailey, and Margaret Carter.

Boys Undefeated

The Advance boys, undefeated for five successive years, counted heavily on Randall Ward, Billy Melton, Tom Brewbaker, Larry Hartman, Rommie Chaffin and Jerry Hendrix. This team had average height, terrific rebounding and good team work.

Randall Ward, the leading scorer and playmaker, was very efficient from inside and out with his shooting. Randall played guard, was a good ball handler and rebounder and drives well. He hit about 60 per cent. of his shots from the floor.

Larry Hartman a guard, had good hands, stole many passes on the press and was a good shot from all around the circle.

Billy Melton, center, led the team in rebounds and scored well from close range.

Rommie Chaffin was a good rebounder and shot from the corner. Jerry Hendrix stood out on the fast break and chipped-in with several timely baskets from outside.

W. G. Potts was a good ball handler who played back court and was good outside shot.

Jimmy Bailey was a good rebounder and hustler who had an accurate push-shot.

Tommy Brewbaker, captain of the team, was a good rebounder and hit with consistency from around the foul line.

Frederick Bailey played well as a seventh grader being aggressive, a good ball-handler and good shot.

Other capable reserves were Don Bailey, Virgil Bright, Wayne Howard, Pres Robertson, David Jones, Jerry Jones, Alvin Potts, Larry Thompson, Terry Gillespie, Randy Bailey, Carson Spry, Steve Moser, Michael Barney and Gerald Markland.

According to Coach Vestal Potts, a remarkable trait lies in both the boys and girls teams. "Their attitude is tops, with all players working together and no individualist on the team. Teamwork has been a major factor in our long winning streak. We dress about 50 per cent of the students in the 7th and 8th grades," said Coach Potts.

MORE ABOUT Pino-Farmington

rural cooperatives provide power and telephone service in several area counties.

In the Pino - Farmington community, Grace was cited for his work in behalf of numerous development projects—including the Medical Center, the Volunteer Fire Department, Rescue Squad, and others.

The Pino-Farmington section, still embracing substantial agricultural operations, is also the home of many rural residents who work in nearby towns and cities.

Nell Bolton of Winston-Salem, manager of the Dixie Classic Fair and secretary of the Northwest N. C. Development Association, cited the Pino-Farmington community as an example of "groups of citizens whose sense of responsibility for their own community and area is helping this part of the state to adjust to modern conditions and provide happier conditions for all."

He said this was the central goal of the over all Northwest program.

"To every individual," he said, "the very human attachment he has for his own community is properly the most important thing in his life. We in the Northwest feel that we are on the threshold of a very meaningful development, provided we can enlist the participation of all the towns and villages and communities."

The group was welcomed by Eddie Newsome.

WAIT MY SOUL
Wait, my soul, upon the Lord,
To His gracious promise flee,
Laying hold upon His word,
"As thy days thy strength shall be."

If the sorrows of thy case
Seem peculiar still to thee,
God has promised needful grace,
"As thy days thy strength shall be."

Days of trial, days of grief,
In succession thou mayst see;
This is still thy sweet relief,
"As thy days thy strength shall be."

Rock of Ages, I'm secure,
With Thy promise full and free;
Faithful, positive and sure—
"As thy days thy strength shall be."

Would Have Changed The History Of Davie— The Grand Yadkin Plan Of 1818

By GORDON TOMLINSON

Throughout history there have been many "Grand Plans." People are familiar with those that succeeded. However, there are many that would have changed history if they had not failed...

One such failure in what is now Davie County involved the Town of Clinton.

In 1818 the town of Clinton was planned and laid out on the point where the South River enters the Yadkin at the dividing line between Rowan, Davie and Davidson Counties.

This town of Clinton was to become the leading town of this region which estimates said would produce over two million dollars at that time in cotton, corn and wheat alone...

Men of this section, led by Archibald D. Murphey of Hillsboro, organized the Yadkin Navigation Company in 1818 for the purpose of dredging the river and building canals and dams to bypass the falls and narrows of the river.

Hundreds of shares of stock were reported sold to enthusiastic purchasers who considered this project a cure for their economic problems.

John Hixon and Hiram Jennings were employed to examine the Yadkin from Wilkesboro to the South Carolina line. They were instructed to notice in detail every obstruction to point out where navigation should be improved by sluicing and where by canals; and to make estimates of the expense along the 250-mile stretch.

Results from the survey stated that from "Flat Swamp" (in Davidson County) to Wilkesboro, navigation may easily be made good for boats of ten-ton burden...

To cash in on this grandiose deal, Murphey together with Joseph Pearson, a congressman whose father came from Virginia to what is now Davie County, and other investors organized the Clinton Town company whereby the land on the "point" was purchased and lots put up for sale.

Lots sold for $100 each. Alexander Nesbet, then a merchant of Mocks Old Field, purchased the first lots for another store.

Streets laid out included such names as Washington, Ireland, Haden, Union and Liberty. Special lots were set aside for churches and a business district.

However, the panic of 1819 fell upon the program and brought an abrupt end both to improvement of the river and the building of Clinton.

By 1822 the Clinton Town company suspended operations and trustees of the company sold the land to Joseph Pearson, original owner, for $2,484.

Although the dreams and plans went up in smoke, all subsequent maps of the state carried the state carried the place name of Clinton on them.

Work on improving the Yadkin was stopped, but not until after the spending of a great deal of money in building, sluices, canals and dams. Some evidence of this work can still be observed from Wilkesboro to the Narrows near Badin Dam.

Failure to the entire program of making navigable the Yadkin and other North Carolina rivers was explained by the editor of the Western Carolinian in 1822 when he wrote:

will be able to make navigable or to improve all the rivers.

But had it succeeded...with Clinton of Davie County becoming the principal port of a series of static rivers connected by canals...the history of Davie County would certainly have been different. This plan failed because of an unprecedented depression and the introduction of a new means of transportation...the railroad.

(The information for the above was taken from an article by James Brawley of Salisbury based on an article from the Carolina Watchman in 1839 concerning this "Grand Plan").

Cub Pack 502 Has Banquet

Smith Grove Cub Pack 502 held its annual Blue and Gold banquet on Friday, Feb. 22, in Bethlehem Church Fellowship Building, at which time a "pot-luck" supper was held.

The blue and gold color motif was used. The tables were covered with white linen clothes with blue and gold streamers down the center.

Men of this section, led by Archibald D. Murphey of Hillsboro, organized the Yadkin Navigation Company in 1818 for the purpose of dredging the river and building canals and dams to bypass the falls and narrows of the river.

Large blue and gold balloons with crepe paper streamers hung from the overhead ceiling. Programs were blue construction paper cutouts of Cub Scout heads.

Elmer Hendrix, institutional representative for the group, welcomed all who were present. Rev. Dwight Mashburn, of the Dulins Charge, led the devotions.

Ray Hendrix, Cubmaster, recognized the leaders as follows: Glenn Hovatt, assistant Cubmaster; Wayne Hanes, chairman of committee; and Norman Cook and Elbert Cook, committeemen; Norma Mae Cook, Den Mother.

Cubs present were: David Foster, Bruce Foster, Eugene Cook, Don Hanes, Mark Mock, Ricky Hendrix, Steve Howard and David Platt were not present.

Youth Convocation To Be Held Sunday At Oak Gr. Church

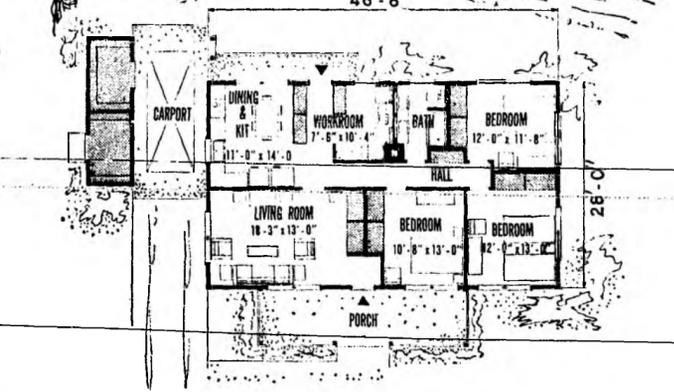

A Youth Convocation and Vocational Conference will be held at Oak Grove Methodist Church on Sunday, March 3. This emphasis is being made in the interest of confronting the Young People of Oak Grove Methodist Church and surrounding communities with the immense need of Christian workers in our nation and throughout the world.

At the 11 o'clock hour, Dr. Roger Kusche, Director of Religious Life at Pfeiffer College, will deliver the major address on the topic "God's Call and You."

The young people of Oak Grove Methodist Church will assemble at the church at 5 p.m. for recreation and fellowship singing. At 6 p.m. a fellowship supper will be served to the Methodist Youth Fellowship members and parents.

Although the dreams and plans went up in smoke, all subsequent maps of the state carried the state carried the place name of Clinton on them.

Free House Plan Features Generous Storage Space

GENEROUS STORAGE SPACE. A front porch and carport are featured in this new three-bedroom house plan. Leo F. Williams, County Agent of Davie County, says the house provides privacy in the living and sleeping areas.

facing the kitchen is designed for storage of canned foods, cleaning equipment and an ironing board. The other storage wall, which opens into the workroom, provides space for work clothes. The house has more than 1,300 square feet of living space and the front porch and carport (with storage) add another 546 square feet.

World Day Of Prayer Observance Scheduled For Friday, March 1

World Day of Prayer will be generally observed in Davie County on Friday, March 1.

In Mocksville the observance will be held at 7:30 p.m. at First Methodist Church. Churches participating in the service will be: First Methodist, First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Holy Cross, Lutheran and Seventh Day Adventists.

"More Than Conquerors" is the theme of the 1963 service, inspired by the Apostle Paul's encouraging words to the Romans that neither tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril, nor sword can separate from the love of Christ.

For many of the Christian people around the world who will participate in the World Day of Prayer, these words are more than words, for as with the women of Korea, who wrote the service, they have seen tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, peril and war.

The unnamed women from that country who fashioned the words of the service from the comforting assurances in the Bible, both Old and New Testament, had in mind the tensions of these days in the world, with people deprived and suffering in many areas, home and countries.

Those who are expected to take part in Friday's program are Mrs. J. Frank Clement, Mrs. Boyce Whitener, Mrs. Fred Barnes, Mrs. Lester P. Martin, Mrs. Jim Andrews, Mrs. George Shutt, Mrs. Francis Slate, Mrs. W. W. Blanton, and Mrs. J. E. Ratchford.

The offering, a dedication of gifts and money to assist the work of those giving time and talent in many fields of service, is a vital part of every observance, necessary to help put into tangible form response to those concerns for which the prayers are offered.

The gifts will be channeled through the Division of Home Missions and the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches, and will help support 12 women's colleges in Africa, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, and Taiwan.

A motion was made and passed that the Board of Trustees hold a regular meeting the third Thursday of each month at 11 o'clock in the library. The next meeting will be held on March 21.

Take your problems to Church this week - millions leave them there!

"LOOK AT THOSE FOOTPRINTS!"

"My how that boy grows! He can almost wear his father's shoes. And just look where those foot prints are leading—to the lake! He is making me prematurely gray. Everytime I turn my back he is playing around the water." Well Mother, don't worry too much about the boy swimming in the lake. Boys will go swimming, so just see that he is taught to swim properly and quit worrying. It is well to be concerned, however, about which way his foot steps are pointed in life—and a good way to get them going in the proper direction is to teach him the habit of attending church regularly.

Attend the church of your choice regularly and take the children with you!

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

On July 4th of this year, two men will visit Vicksburg, Mississippi to commemorate the end of the battle for that historic city a hundred years ago. They are General U. S. Grant III and John C. Pemberton III, grandsons of the opposing commanders of the Union and Confederate forces there. The Union victory was almost overshadowed by that at Gettysburg on the same date, but the Southern engagement was in some ways just as important. On a recent evening, I spent some pleasant and informative hours with General Grant and John Pemberton. Each had gracious things to say about the other's grandfather, each giving great credit for the military feats of the elder Grant and Pemberton, both West Point graduates who did their duty as they saw it. Were the grandfathers living today, I feel sure that they would give equal credit to these two distinguished grandsons.

An author was at an airport with some time to kill, not an unusual occurrence, so he strolled over to the bookstand and was somewhat taken aback to find there no copy of his recent book — another not infrequent occurrence, I have learned. He voiced his complaint to the girl attendant, who replied crisply, "The title of your book is not one we would be likely to feature at an airport." And he was forced to see her point. The name of his book is THE BIG CRASH.

Authoress Ayn Rand spoke here and said that the most discriminated-against minority in the nation are the business men. If they charge too much, they are accused of aiding inflation; too little, they're cut-throating pieces; and if they charge a medium price, they're said to be under-selling competitors, she added. A current survey shows that the average business man spends 10 hours a month in community affairs, 65 per cent have written their Congressman lately, 65 per cent have made a speech in the last two years, and 35 per cent have been active in local government. Maybe our business men and women are the forgotten part of our population and need more recognition.

Beulah Harris, editor-in-chief of Funk and Wagnalls Company, is fed up with public resistance to buying books. "People resist community improvement," the discerning editor says, "and cheap politicians thrive while taxes mount. People resist church and synagogue — and our mental hospitals fill to overflowing. People look out for Number One — and world tensions build. People resist buying books — and we are flooded with inane or vicious radio and television programs, salacious comics and mounting delinquency, both juvenile and adult."

One of the most colorful characters ever to live here, I believe, was the late Don Marquis, humorist-author. He resided for a time in the suburbs, and unlike most of us, would not hurry to catch a train to the city. He just strolled along in leisurely fashion, greeting people on the way. He never carried a time table. When asked one day what train he was taking, Marquis replied, "The first one that gets there after I do."

George Washington's chief assets were intelligence and a burning desire to prove himself, says an article in the current American Heritage, which indicates these are pretty good qualities to have. And yet, like Lincoln, he failed in one of his first big undertakings, an expedition against the French and Indians. But George did not let this stop him and emerged as the greatest American hero. His first military effort of the Revolution took place in Boston, the past and future architecture of which are vividly described in the magazine, Horizon. Had it not been for Washington, the buildings of that city might have remained essentially Georgian.

When a guest for the television show, "Girl Talk," did not show up in time, the publicist of the show, Meredith Anderson, was asked suddenly to substitute — and didn't even have time to put on another ace publicist by Preston — and made a hit with the audience as well as with her husband.

This is the month, not only of birthdays of Edison, Lincoln and Washington but a time when a great organization commemorates its 15th year of national service. It is the American Heart Association, and Sunday, February 24th, will be Heart Sunday. Thus will be combined a day of religion, sentiment and accomplishment. Compared in age to some other benevolent organizations, the Heart Association is a mere stripling, but in the scope of its helpful activities, it is already one of the largest. Yet its financial needs are greater than ever to carry on its important work, and on this special Sunday, you will have an opportunity to help a heart with your pocket-book.

In order to obtain a first-hand idea of what is going on in this wide movement, I talked with the former president of the American Heart Association, Dr. J. Scott Butterworth, eminent New York cardiac specialist, who comes originally from Iowa, and with Dr. James Monroe Jones, president of the Westchester County Heart Association and native of near Sweetwater, Tennessee. Dr. Butterworth pointed out that the association is uniting in the combined activity of its 25,000 physicians and almost that many laymen. He emphasized that the work of the organization is of the highest order and necessary. Dr. Jones was ready with a list of specific practical ways to guard your heart, as set forth in the association's suggestion: "Don't worry about needless 'symptoms'. If in doubt, see your doctor. Control your weight. You'll look better, feel better, live longer. Get enough rest. Regular rest relieves fatigue and lightens the work of your heart. Exercise regularly, but moderately. Learn to relax. Don't let anxieties and tensions wear you down. Relax and enjoy peace of mind. Be prepared for emergencies in case of heart attack. Call your doctor at once, then your police department for emergency oxygen."

The Heart Association is concerned not only with this organ, but also stroke, high blood pressure, kidney diseases and others. It is working on the causes of atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, also with the amount of cholesterol in the body. Smoking has been found to be associated with an excess level of fats in the blood, thus placing an added burden on the heart. Hypertension, which affects five million Americans, is another serious ailment holding the attention of the organization. Continued success in heart surgery has been reported, with improved techniques resulting in lessened mortality rates from operations to replace severely damaged heart valves with artificial substitutes. Not to coin a phrase, but the achievements of the association in general are heartening.

Since 1049, about 80 million dollars have been channeled into the work of the Heart Association, but much more is needed to carry on the worthy work, especially in research. The organization locally stimulates the entry of new talents into the research field. What has the $80 million done? Control of rheumatic fever, of high blood pressure, surgical treatment of inborn heart defects, repair of defective blood vessels are part of the answer. New drugs help immeasurably. Half of all the research done on heart treatment, it is stated, has been performed since 1955. It is high time. Over half

Pvt. Billy R. Shelton Assigned Ft. Jackson

Private Billy R. Shelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Shelton of Rt. 5, Mocksville, N. C. has been assigned to Company, 8 Battalion, 2 Training Regiment, Fort Jackson, S. C. for eight weeks of Basic Combat Training. This is his first phase of six months active duty training with the U. S. Army and a part of the obligation he incurred upon enlisting in the Army National Guard. He will be taught rifle marksmanship under the U. S. Army's TRAINFIRE Program which enables the modern soldier to become a better rifleman in less time than previous methods. In this program, most of his training consists of firing his rifle at pop-up targets at unknown distances on terrain which duplicates combat areas. Other highlights of his intensive training include squad tactics, bayonet, and hand-to-hand combat, and crawling the infiltration course while live machine-gun fire is popping overhead. Many of his instructors are combat veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict.

All those who are contented with th's life pass like a shadow and a dream, or wither like the flower of the field.—Cervantes.

the deaths in the United States in 1961 were caused by heart disease.

A notable achievement of the association is the brightening of the outlook for heart patients, and many of them have returned to useful jobs. Stroke patients and cardiac homemakers as well as farmers have been similarly helped. Ike Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson are examples of two heart patients who still carry actively on. Let us remember them and all the others on this coming Heart Sunday.

5. It shall be the duty of all housekeepers to have all the chimneys on their premises burnt out on a rain day, at least 4 times in the year; and if any person

Every person obstructing the streets with timber, lumber, stones, bricks, boxes, barrels, or any other things, shall pay a fine of five dollars, after three days notice to remove such obstructions, and in addition, one dollar for each and every day prolonged beyond the three-day notice.

At subsequent meetings held during this first year as an incorporated other by-laws were adopted. One of these provided that if any overseer of the streets refuse, or fail to perform the duties required of him, shall pay a fine of five dollars for every neglect of duty. Another provided that every person duly summoned to work the streets and fail to do so, shall pay for each failure the sum of 50 cents, to be recovered forthwith.

It was the duty of the Patrole to patrol the town diligently at least twice a week, from 9 to 12 o'clock, and occasionally in the afterpart of the night. The Captain was ordered to make a true return of all delinquents to the board of commissioners at the end of his term. All persons failing to patrole, unless he has rendered a reasonable excuse to the board, shall pay a fine of .50c for each failure.

Thus, with these by-laws on the books, in the year of 1839, the Town of Mocksville began her life.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where Senator Hart is urging the Congress to pass a law agin "deceptive packaging," claims the wimmen folks all over the nation is hollerin' loud on this matter. He said one of his royal wimmen constituents reports it has got to the place where a honest housewife can't go to the grocery store no more and tell from the package what she is getting or how much.

The chances is mighty good that this same honest housewife was wearing false eyelashes, a black wig over her gray hair, a girdle to hide her bay window and a jar face paint to cover her wrinkles. I ain't agin Senator Hart's bill in the Congress, but I'd have to say, Mister Editor, that "deceptive packaging" ain't confined to the grocery business. Maybe Senator Hart had better put in two bills. On second thought, if my old lady sees this, maybe it was better I kept my big mouth shut.

Speaking of the Congress, them fellers ain't gittin' the proper credit fer one little item. Back when I was a boy the nickel was a very handy coin fer a feller to tote around in his pocket. It would buy a heap of things, including a cup of coffee, a good cigar, and the Saturday Evening Post. Then evil days come upon the land and a nickel went out of style. Socialism took over so fast that the Saturday evening Post jumped to 20 cent and started coming out on Tuesday. The welfare locusts swarmed over the nation and the public debt got so high the people quit counting it up and started counting it down. And it was at this sad stage in our history that the Congress has come out with the five-cent postage plan, restoring the nickel it so's it would buy a two-cent stamp. Three cheers fer the Congress!

But things on the whole, Mister Editor, is looking better. President Kennedy allows as how he's going to lower taxes and reduce spending. With that magic accomplished, Russia advocating peace and capitalism, and Castro without no missiles, about the only problem pressing us at the moment is the teenage menace. And I think we can solve this problem if the fathers of America will use their belt fer the same thing their ancestors used it fer, to hold their pants up and their younguns down.

Of course, we'll always have a few minor problems, like fat wimmen wearing slacks and Bobby Kennedy's wife falling in the swimming pool, but these is matters that can be handled by the United Nations. And if they can't solve 'em, we can always pass a law, paint a sign, or appoint a committee. And if all these fail, the Congress can always make a appropriation.

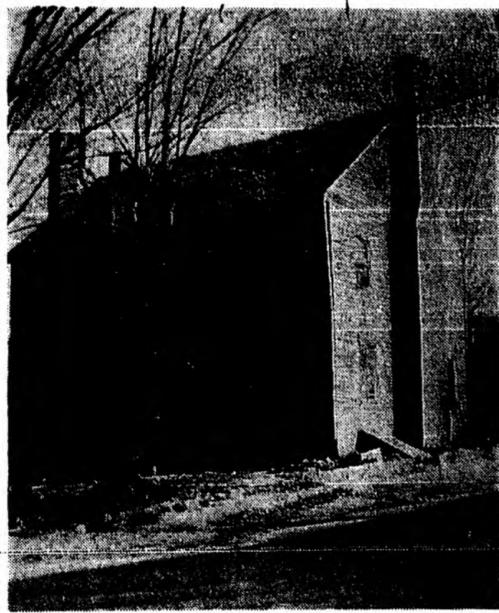

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — It has been deeply distressing to learn of the passing of by old time friend, the former U. S. Senator, Robert R. Reynolds. Having known Bob since he was a young lawyer in Asheville, during my student days at Chapel Hill, I would therefore like to mention several overlooked facts that were often overlooked because of his colorful character. First, there was Bob's absolute courage to uphold his personal convictions. He sacrificed his career in the Senate, during his second term, by opposing the involvement of the U. S. in the affairs of Europe — a cause that was becoming highly unpopular. Secondly, and most inspiring to me, was this complete devotion to his daughter through the years. Joining with the legions of his friends, I wish to express my sympathy to Mamie Spears Reynolds.

During the past I have supported the United Nations notwithstanding the fact that there were many of its projects of which I did not approve. However, the recent announcement to give the Castro government aid in agricultural matters at the time when that government refuses to pay its dues to the United Nations is the height of sheer folly. Much protest has been raised here in Washington about the wisdom of giving comfort and aid to a government whose only purpose is to create trouble and enslave its own people. It is my fond hope that this U. N. Committee will react favorably to this criticism and re-

THE OLD WEANT HOUSE . . . one of Mocksville's oldest houses and interesting landmarks stood for more than 100 years on the lot now occupied by the Rankin-Sanford Implement Co. This house was built in the early 1830's by Thomas McNeely and was a large two-story structure, with twin chimneys on the north side and rooms of unusual dimensions. The mantels typical of the period in which it was built and the walls were celled vertically and painted yellow, with high wainscoting which was red, green and yellow. These colors mellowed with the passing years. The treads of the stairway had carved ornaments, and the banister rail was of walnut or mahogany, with curved newel post. The doors had six panels, showing the double-cross. The front door with its high stone steps faced Salisbury Street, at that time the main street of the town. On the east side was a deep piazza, paved with brick, and having four columns. Early in this century it served as the home of W. A. Weant and his sisters. Mr. Weant was a veteran tinsmith who had the distinction of making his own coffin of intricate tin workmanship several years before his death. Thomas McNeely, the builder of the house, was a merchant and postmaster of Mocksville, later moving to Philadelphia.

Shake Well Before Using
Taxes, the unpleasant payment of the piper, are the chief item of speculation on Capitol Hill. On Feb. 6, the Ways and Means Committee began its study of the President's proposals and it will be continuing for several months. Even this early in the process, the proposals are being flayed right and left. Spokesmen for private citizens, homeowners, churches, labor and business are zeroing in on specific parts of the President's plan demanding changes and expressing vigorous opposition. The prescription is being analyzed and the bottle is being shaken well before using. It already appears this is a plan nobody wants.

Most of the early opposition focused on the paradox of a tax cut accompanied by increased Federal spending. This has not diminished. However, the fight now takes on additional dimensions. One of the biggest dissatisfactions comes from how the proposals would hit the middle income taxpayer.

Under the present law, taxpayers may itemize their deductions or use a standard deduction of 10 per cent of their adjusted gross income up to $1,000. Now we hear that itemized deductions have grown from $6 billion in 1942 to $40 billion in 1962. Most of these deductions involve interest, local taxes, medical expenses, and charitable or church contributions.

The implication is that too many tax dollars are being lost through legitimate deductions today and the President is asking that these deductions be sharply limited. Under the "5 per cent floor plan," allowable deductions would be reduced on an average between 20 and 30 percent. However, the taxpayer using the standard deduction would not be disturbed. So, in the plan for tax reduction, the man paying interest on a mortgage who also pays local taxes and contributes to charity and his church could find himself receiving less consideration than a fellow taxpayer who sees it to his advantage to use the standard deduction because he is not buying a home, paying sizeable local taxes, or helping to support charities and his church. We can see instances where if this tax plan were adopted, certain taxpayers who may now count on a tax reduction could actually find the Federal tax bite increased.

The Treasury estimates that of the 61 million persons with taxable incomes, about one half will use the standard deduction and one half will itemize their deductions. However, in the group with incomes from $5,000 to $20,000, about 18 1/2 million will itemize deductions while 11 1/2 million will elect the standard deduction. What could this do to home buyers and how will it affect churches and charitable institutions which depend upon contributions for support? The answers are coming in loud and clear that the effect would be seriously undesirable. Will this complicate the tax problems of States and local governments? This, too, is predicated as a consequence.

The President's plan would change the personal exemptions now allowed persons over 65. Today, a couple over 65 are entitled to double exemptions or $2400 in recognition of the special financial liabilities and expenses common to older people. Such folks also receive a retirement income credit when part of their income is derived from a retirement program set up for themselves in their younger days. The President proposes to eliminate the retirement income credit and cut the personal exemptions in half for taxpayers over

Theme: Some Sacrifices Are Duties
TEXT: "I desire steadfast love and not sacrifice." - Hosea 6:6
The little girl was asked to give her cherished toy to another. Reluctantly she started to do so and then drew back.
"I just can't," she said. "I don't have any give-upity in me."

Not only children find it difficult to sacrifice something that is cherished. Adults do, too. The most pathetic instance occurs when parents endeavor to bind children to them with reminders of the parents' past "sacrifices". They tell how they gave up this, did without that, "worked unceasingly and "sacrificed" themselves. Now it is the children's "duty" to repay those "sacrifices" by giving up their God-given right to be self-reliant individuals.

Most parental "sacrifices" are duties owed. Parents bring children into the world and feel that his obligates the children to them. It is the other way around. Children don't ask to be born. Parents have an obligation to them; when obligations are met, they are not making "sacrifices" that, however, put the child in their debt.
If parents do as the prophet Hosea admonished the Israelites, parents would forget this "sacrifice" idea and offer "steadfast love". "Steadfast love" will earn a heart-warming response that dramatized, talked-about "sacrifices" will never receive.

MORE WORD WANTED... Speaking privately to a North Carolina group gathered recently in Washington, Congressman Alton Lennon complained that the average legislator doesn't often hear from the folks back home "unless we hit pretty deeply the nerve of his pocketbook".

A recent poll of some members of the N. C. General Assembly showed that a lot of them are left in the dark on the feelings of the voters on important issues. Now if it is a local thing—some little item which really does not amount to a tinker's damn—the mail, the visits, the arguments, and the phone calls come through. But on highway safety, whether we should vote 200 million for road improvements, on senatorial redistricting, on whether 18-year-olds should have the right to vote, etc., that's another matter. The legislator is often forced to feel his way.

HOME OFTEN...With modern transportation, a member of the N. C. Legislature—the average member—can be home almost as much as he is in Raleigh. He is generally home on Friday night, Saturday night, and Sunday night. He is in Raleigh Monday night, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. He leaves for home again on Friday.

Winston-Salem is now less than two hours from Raleigh, without breaking the speed limit. The Twin City is about 110 miles from Raleigh.

COMMUTERS...Draw a 110-mile circle around Raleigh and you will find within it almost a third of your legislators. It wasn't long ago that a member of the Legislature would come to Raleigh and see the home folks one time—at Easter during the entire session. Nowadays more and more of them are home every weekend.

We have not checked on it as to numbers, but just a lot of the solons are driving daily to and from Raleigh. This can be done with little sacrifice of legislative labor. And, of course, the member—physically, at least—is closer to his constituents.

It costs the average legislator $15 a day to live in Raleigh. He can get by on this if he is careful. Well, at 10 cents per mile you can do a lot of commuting—150 miles daily—and save money. But, you might say, the daily traveler would be out of touch with the feel of the Legislature, the night huddles, the smoke-filled rooms, and the like, including the lobbyists. True, but he could be home with the wife and children and, alas, with the folks who sent him to Raleigh in the first place.

A lot of committee meetings begin at 9 o'clock in the morning. When this time has been changed to 10 o'clock or later, you will see more commuting. There will be car pools. In short, this thing of legislators coming to Raleigh and virtually setting up residence for six months is—for better or worse—coming to an end. And, when it does, much of the Old South charm and society of the Legislature will be gone.

OVERWORKED...They won't admit it officially, unofficially, or as a group, but nobody here dreads to see a General Assembly come to town like the Attorney General's staff of lawyers and stenographers.

Of the 3,000 bills ordinarily introduced at the average legislative session, 2,000 of them will be written by the Attorney General's office. The introducer of the bill says what he wants; and it's up to the attorney working for the State to come up with it. It must be adapted to the General Statutes. It must have all the legal mumbo-jumbo, whereas asap wherever required. And, it should be regarded as Constitutional.

Some of these days—when we do some reorganization—a special Legal Assistance Office will be set up as part and parcel of the Legislature. This will be named and controlled by the Legislature. Until this is done, however, your Attorney General's Office will be the final authority on all bills prepared for the N. C. General Assembly. It's a chore!

NEW CARS...Few years of new car sales were as good as 1962. This was true in the nation and it was true in North Carolina. Experts say we should not expect a good year to be followed by a good year. There should be a letdown. Well, it may get come—but there is no sign of it on the horizon.

As a matter of fact, new car sales in North Carolina this past January led January of 1962 by 14,050 to 11,388.

New trucks, one of the industrial barometers, ran to 2,990 in January as compared with only 2,229 for January of last year. In the new trucks, Ford was first at 1,045 and Chevrolet was second with 1,029. A poor third was International at 282. In fourth position was GMC at 231. Although car imports are not at all what they were, that bug called Volkswagen seems to be holding its own. As a matter of fact, of the 617 foreign cars sold in North Carolina during January, 416 of them were Volkswagens!

We have never ridden in a Volkswagen, but to us their ads in the national magazines are the most interesting we see. Heard any new Volk jokes lately? We have, but can't tell them here.

With new cars, Chevy led Ford by 3,689 to 2,819 in N. C. in January. In third place was Pontiac at 1,083. In fourth, Oldsmobile with 866. Then came Buick at 861. Dodge and Plymouth sales ran nearly twice as many this January as January of 1962. But Rambler at 605 was greater than either. Falcon was down a little from last year, and so was Corvair.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT
By LESTER F. MARTIN, Jr.
Davie County Representative

FOR WEEK ENDING FEB. 22, 1963

Each Wednesday morning during this session of the General Assembly, Representatives from the several mountain and north-west North Carolina counties get together for breakfast at the S & W Cafeteria in Raleigh, followed by a discussion of current matters of interest to our section of the State. These meetings are non-partisan and in addition to members of the General Assembly, are attended by visitors who might be in Raleigh from those Counties. If, therefore, you happen to be in Raleigh on any Wednesday morning at 8:00 a.m. come by the S & W Cafeteria and caucus with us.

Davie County was, in fact, well represented in Raleigh last Wednesday but not at the above mentioned breakfast. There were so many home folks in town we could have justifiably designated Wednesday as "Davie County Day" in Raleigh. At the Sir Walter Hotel, attending a State-wide REA conference, were J. C. Jones, C. C. Smoot, Joe Palmer, R. L. Seaford, and R. B. Sanford, Jr. While all this was going on, Mrs. Louise Patterson, Mrs. Delores Jordan, Mrs. Nancy Tutterow, Mrs. Polly Wilson and Jimmy Patterson were attending a session of the General Assembly and looking over the Legislative building. I made a fairly good guide but, unfortunately became lost when I attempted to show them my own office.

I hope there will be many more from Davie to visit the new State house, but don't wait too long. There is more evidence that this will be a short session, ending perhaps before the first of June. Final committee appointments were made this week. I was glad to be named Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Water Resources since Davie County is currently in the midst of the Dutchman Creek Watershed development program. This committee will handle any legislation pertaining to this program.

By the same token, I was not so happy to be named Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Senatorial Districts. This committee will handle the legislation dealing with redistricting our State Senate, and no doubt will be the center of much controversy. To date, three Democratic-sponsored bills and one Republican-sponsored bill have been introduced for consideration. All three Democrat bills leave Davie County in the same Senatorial District with Taddkin and Wilkes Counties, but the Republican bill makes a radical change in our situation. By it, Davie is placed in a 2-senator district with Kowan and Davidson Counties.

WALKING FOR FUN FLOURISHES

Americans who bravely set out on 50-mile hikes these days are fortified by encouragement from at least three Presidents and a major poet.

Thomas Jefferson declared, "Of all exercises walking is the best." Theodore Roosevelt, a hearty advocate of the strenuous life, ordered Marine officers to prove their fitness by making 50-mile marches.

When President John F. Kennedy challenged the Marine Corps to obey the 55-year-old order, he touched off a national hiking fad. Servicemen, college students, Boy Scouts, and secretaries embarked on long-distance walks in the spirit of Whitman's lines:

Afoot and light-hearted, I take to the open road,

Healthy, free, the world before me.

Walking for health has a long history.

Hippocrates prescribed walks to prevent emotional disturbances, hallucinations, and expansion of the waistline. Pliny the Elder described walking as one of the "Medicines of the Will."

Walking for pleasure, however, is a relatively recent pastime. The character in Congreve's "Way of the World" who said, "I nauseate walking", spoke for most 18th-century pedestrians. Only a few eccentrics walked for the joy of it.

The ramblings of William Wordsworth and other literary men helped popularize walking, though for many years English walkers carried umbrellas to indicate they were gentlemen, not tramps.

The all-time champion literary pedestrian probably is Wordsworth, who had trekked 180,000 miles by the time he was 65. He thought nothing of hiking 15 miles across the mountains to take tea with a friend. To Wordsworth, walking was a more natural condition than reclining, sitting, or standing. He composed much of his poetry afoot.

Professional walking matches were popular in 19th-century England. Foster Powell, a famous pedestrian, or "ped," as the professionals were called, was immortalized in his epitaph: "For quick ideas, some we praise, And men of talents Meet; But this man's fame—and fame it was, Lay wholly in his Feet."

Captain Robert Barclay, another famed ped, reached the apex of his ambulatory career in 1809 when he logged 1,000 miles in 1,000 successive hours. He kept up his strength with four meals a day, including a breakfast of roast fowl, bread and butter, a pint of strong ale, and two cups of tea.

In the United States, six-day walking contests and trans-continental hikes captured the public fancy after the Civil War. In 1909, a 70-year-old man walked from New York to California and back in 182 days.

John F. (Iron Legs) Stahl, "a frustrated mailman," trudged 10,000 miles over Central America, Mexico, and the United States as a hobby. A few years ago, a 69-year-old grandmother completed her second hike along the 2,025-mile Appalachian Trail. She explained briskly, "There were some things I didn't see the first time."

In 1960, Dr. Barbara Moore walked across the United States after tuning up by walking the length of Britain.

James H. Hocking, a giant among walkers, marked up 270,000 miles in his long pedestrian career. He advised neophytes: "The whole trick is stepping off the big toe of one foot, forward with the other, landing on the heel, knees locked, arms swinging. I always averaged about 40 inches to the stride...really moving along."

Moving along on foot has become a national movement—at the moment.

Social Security In Davie County

Attention all self-employed persons! The time is rapidly approaching when people will start working on their 1962 income tax returns. The Social Security Administration is interested that everyone gets credit for his earnings from self-employment. The only way your earnings can be properly credited to your social security account is by your account number. Be sure to enter your number in the proper place on your Schedule C or Schedule F for farm income. It is very important that you receive all of your earnings credits since your social security benefits are based on your earnings record. If you do not have a social security number or have lost your card, contact your local social security district office. They will be glad to assist you in getting your number. Applications for social security account numbers are also available at your post office. Don't put it off — act now and have your number on hand when you need it.

While many businesses are slack in January and February, social security handles its peak load during these months, said Robert C. Thomas, Manager of the Salisbury Social Security District Office. Persons wanting to file applications for retirement, disability or survivor benefits can help social security serve them more promptly if guides given below are followed:

Always bring your social security number and have it ready to show the interviewer. This is very important. Mr. Thomas stated that retirement and disability cases bring proof of age, such as birth or baptismal certificate, family Bible, service discharge, old insurance policy, or any other old record available.

Persons working for wages or salary should bring Form W-2 showing 1962 earnings. Self-employed persons should bring a copy of Form 1040, Schedule C, or Schedule F if a farmer, and proof of payment of income taxes for the year 1962.

Disabled persons should be prepared to discuss their disabling condition and to give names and addresses of doctors and hospitals furnishing treatment and dates treated.

In all death claims bring in either the death certificate or the name and address of the attending funeral director.

Widows and dependent widowers filing for monthly benefits should bring in their marriage certificate. Persons filing for the lump-sum death payment because they paid the burial expenses, should bring in the itemized receipt bill.

Bring in the social security number (if any) of any child, wife, widow, dependent widower or dependent parent for whom monthly benefits are filed.

It speeds the handling of a claim if items listed above are brought in on the first contact, but prospective claimants should not delay contacting the office because they lack one or more of these items, cautioned Mr. Thomas.

'Skies Down Under' Is Planetarium Program

"Skies Down Under" opened at the Morehead Planetarium in Chapel Hill at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 12. The program is one that is not often given at the Planetarium.

"Skies" is a portrayal of the southern heavens, never seen by Americans unless they travel into the southern hemisphere.

The program starts at the north pole and moves viewers by degrees across the sky from there to Chapel Hill; to the Equator; and to Canberra, Australia. At Canberra, a tape and slide sequence shows the Mt. Stromlo Observatory at the Australian National University, one of the world's major astronomical institutions, and the skies that are visible from it.

From Mt. Stromlo Observatory the Planetarium's Zeiss instrument shifts the skies to the South Pole, where the midnight sun gives perpetual daylight during half the year and perpetual night during the other half.

"Skies Down Under" is recommended for grades 7 through 12. School programs, for which reservations must be made, are presented Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays at 11 a. m., 1 p. m. and 4 p. m.

Public programs are presented at 8:30 weekdays; 11 a. m., 3, and 8:30 p. m. Saturdays; and 3, 4 and 8:30 p. m. Sundays.

Teachers may write to the Planetarium for information about other different programs for school groups offered at other times.

Public programs are presented at 8:30 weekdays; 11 a. m., 3, and 8:30 p. m. Saturdays; and 3, 4 and 8:30 p. m. Sundays.

More About Washington Report

65. Another proposal would grant tax credit of $600, but this would be reduced if the income includes Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits.

Other aspects of the recommendations would also tighten the tax laws. One would repeal the present $50 exclusion and 4 per cent allowable on income from taxes on interest and dividends. Another would change the exclusion of sick pay benefits under plans financed by employers. Now the taxpayer is not taxed on such income up to $100 a week, but the White House plan would tax these benefits as earned wages. The same would be true on insurance premiums paid by employers for their employees. The employee would have to pay taxes on all premiums paid on any policy exceeding $5,000.

These and other unpalatable coatings on the tax reduction bill are causing people to wonder if the medicine being applied isn't coming out of the wrong bottle. The label looks more and more misleading.

More About Senator Ervin Says:
scind this program which is completely at odds with our announced policy of trying to economically overthrow the Castro regime.

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I have been hearing the closed-door testimony of Defense Secretary McNamara about the policy of abandoning manned bombers and reconnaissance aircraft in favor of missiles. While the Secretary's testimony is impressive, I feel that there are a whole lot of questions to be answered about the continuing need for manned bombers, too.

When the heart speaks, however simple the words, its language is always acceptable to those who have hearts—Mary-Baker Eddy.

ASCS News

A. P. Hassell, Jr., Executive Director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has asked to remind farmers that they have until March 22 to sign up for participation in the 1963 feed grain program.

Only growers who are in the program will be eligible for price support on their '63 crops of corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

Through participation, Hassell explained, producers will voluntarily reduce their acreage of one more of the three feed grain crops by at least 20 percent of the farm's base acreage...and will put the diverted acreage into an approved conservation use.

Participating farmers qualify for the regular price-support loans and purchase agreements, and in addition — they will earn a diversion payment and an extra price-support payment.

These price-support payments will be made on the normal production of the 1963 acreage of the three feed grains. Farmers who feed grain to livestock on the farm will find this an added benefit.

Also, farmers taking part in the program may put all of their '63-crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley under price-support loans and purchase agreements on these grains. ASCS county offices have mailed information to producers, listing their 1963 feed grain base acreage, yields, and payment rates to help them figure out the pros and cons of the feed grain program in terms of their own farming operation, and decide whether they want to participate. Also, Hassell said, the folks at your local ASCS county office are available to discuss this program with you if you need more information. Don't forget, you have to sign up to participate, and the deadline for signing up is March 22.

We are free to make a profit . . . or to do a job for ourselves.
