Public Reception At Rotary Hut —

Judge Preyer Visits Davie

Judge Richardson Preyer visited Davie County Wednesday morning and greeted several hundred in a coffee and doughnut session at the Mocksville Rotary Hut. This was his 29th campaign stop in his 100-county tour of the State.

In a brief talk, Judge Preyer praised the role the rural electric cooperatives had played in bringing the rural area "out of darkness.' He said that the rural cooperatives have a vital role to play in the life of North Carolina now and in the future.

He said that the cooperatives should not be "either eaten up whole or eroded away' 'and that he could consider, if elected, reorganizing the State Utilities Commission if necessary to assure the people of North Carolina of a public spirited, fair-minded utilities commission.

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate also repeated his call for a state bond issue of between $200 million and $300 million, which he said can be financed in the next administration without increasing taxes. He said that this would be the best and "fairest way for all concerned" to improve our secondary road situation.

He also called for a continuation of public school improvements made during the last four years and called specifically for a reduction in the number of pupils per teacher in the primary grades so that children can be given more individual attention.

"The State should also pickup the $6 book fee now charged students," said Judge Preyer.

Judge Preyer was introduced by D. J. Mando, his Davie County Campaign Manager. A group of Teen-Dems sang his campaign song. Mrs. Frances Miller, chairman of the Davie County Women for Preyer, expressed appreciation for the assistance rendered in arranging for the reception.

Industry Considering Davie—

Labor Survey Being Conducted

An industry is considering Davie County as the location for a new manufacturing plant. Their plans are to construct a large plant probably in the vicinity of Mocksville.

Before making a definite decision they want to know if sufficient labor will be available.

Approximately 20,000 questionnaires are being distributed to schools, stores and other points throughout a radius of 20 miles of Mocksville as the first step in a labor survey being conducted by the Mocksville Industrial Development Company, Inc., and the Employment Security Commission of North Carolina.

The area is being surveyed to get names and addresses of persons over 17 years of age who would be willing to accept employment in this industry.

The questionnaires were put in the hands of Davie County school children this week for them to carry home to their parents. Others have been put in local stores and various points throughout the area. Another form appears as a paid advertisement in this newspaper on page two.

All of these completed questionnaires must be turned in by Friday, February 14. The employment Security Commission will tabulate and print findings of the survey.

Vernon Whitaker administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and restored breathing. After a few days in a hospital, the Evans boy was all right.

Construction To Begin This Summer—

Hospital Expansion Plans Outlined

"Construction will begin this summer on an addition that will double the size of the Davie County Hospital", Clay McCluskey, Hospital Administrator told local Rotarians Tuesday.

"This project should be completed in the spring of 1965 and should alleviate the crowded conditions that have existed for the past three years. Our hospital was designed to accomodate 30 adult patients and it's average daily census for the calendar year of 1963 was 31.4 patients", said Mr. McCluskey.

The new construction will be built towards the new Davie County Welfare office. The addition will be of a "T" shape 37 bed nursing unit composed of 11 two-bed rooms [semi-private] and 15 one-bed rooms [private]. There will be no wards in the new addition. Eight beds in the present building will be eliminated so the hospital will become a 59 bed hospital. Adjacent to the new nursing unit on the west will be a surgical suite with two 20 ft. by 20 ft. operating room, recovery room, doctors, and nurses lockers, and anesthesia office a nurse station and a new central sterile supply. This area will be connected to the present hospital by a corridor joining on to the present building at room 133.

The front lobby will be extended towards the parking area 14 feet across the front to provide additional waiting area. The kitchen and storeroom will both be doubled in size and will be of sufficient area to handle the next expansion to ten beds. The proposed future expansion [100 beds] would be to place a nearly identical "T" shaped nursing unit above [as a second floor] the new unit. The delivery suite would be built above the surgical suite.

Mr. McCluskey pointed out, however, that the present project of 59 beds would leave the hospital on one floor, but that elevators would be required when the hospital is expanded to 100 beds.

"The present operating room will become the second delivery room as the present surgical area will be remodeled to become the delivery suite. The laboratory will occupy the present central sterile supply. The present laboratory which is adjacent to the x-ray room will become the x-ray film storage room and x-ray film viewing area. The present recovery room will be used as a room for taking EKGs, BMRs and a Blood Bank. Essentially, patients who come to the hospital for out patient work, and not to be admitted, will come to this one area for their services they need," said Mr. McCluskey.

"The nursery will remain where it now is. One of our present four bed rooms will become the medical records area The adjacent 2 bed room will be the Director of Nurses office. Two of our private rooms will be made into corridors to the new nursing unit. Another boiler will be added to the power plant and additions parking will be provided out front," he said.

Mr. McCluskey pointed out that during this building program it will be inconvenient at times for the hospital to provide some services but since a majority of the construction will take place away from the present building the hospital should be able to handle approximately the same volume of work as at present.

The nursing station, will all its support rooms adjacent, to it, is in the center of the unit. The support rooms are the examination and treatment room, doctors charting area, drug preparation room, utility rooms, pantry, nurses lockes and stretcher.

The patient rooms are of good size. Each room has its own toilet facilities. All the private rooms have their own bath. Entrances to rooms are attended as you go down the corridor so patients need not look across the hall into other rooms. All the nine rooms

Davie Ministers Approve

Chaplaincy Program for Hospital

The Davie County Ministers Association [composed of Ministers of all denominations] met Monday at Shiloh Baptist Church on Depot Street, and approved a plan whereby they will set up a voluntary chaplain program at the Davie County Hospital. Basketball At Davie Hi

By MONTE WILSON

To the soft, soothing tunes of a moody album, Davie's two teams entered North Rowan's gymnasium Tuesday before last. This was the first game of the season with North and an important conference contest.

In the first quarter of the girls' game it was clearly evident that North's girls were outclassed. Even so it took these first few minutes for our girls to warm-up and begin playing good basketball. In the second quarter, the Rebelettes really looked great, scoring 18 points to North's 3. These 3 were foul points, no field goals were scored by North in this quarter and only three field goals for North in the game.

Everyone on the team played in this one, creating a lot of determination for a Davie victory. The last half saw a lot of ball stealing by us, with a lot of missed shots for North. The Rebelettes won their first encounter with North, 39 to 16, for an overwhelming margin.

North has a strong boys' team, full of agile, sure shooting players. For the girls' game there was plenty of room on North's bleachers and not very much cheering. But the countdown for the boys' game wave and wave of noisy, yelling fans had reinforced North's game support. From the introduction of the players to the final buzzer, they were behind their team 100 per cent. Like a sea of encouragement whose cheers rose and crashed upon the court with each movement of the teams, pushing their boys on and on.

It was a rough game from the start. A fast moving, tiring game, with the outcome balanced in the mood of the players. The first quarter of a game is one of the hardest for a visiting team. In the opponent's back court you're a little unsure of yourself and therefore slow to get into the game, waiting to see what they've got.

Backed by their fans, North jumped at their chance and outscored us by 5 points in the first quarter. The Rebels bouncing-back, held them in the second to end the first half only 6 points behind. After the cooling-off period, it was the first quarter all over again with North picking up 5 points at the start. The Rebels held them in the fourth just as they did in the second, a complete re-run of the first half. Those two starts and our poor accuracy cost us the contest, by, that's right, 11 points.

The following night the Davie Rebels took on the Monroe Rebels in a double-header at Davie. Monroe's girls were undefeated coming into this game and were expected to play tight and close.

Although Monroe had a better team than North Rowan, we gained an early lead before they could score. With a sense of confidence, the Rebelettes added to their lead in the second quarter to end the half 18 to 6. Monroe's girls put up a good fight in the third quarter with a tight defense. For some reason Monroe had trouble hitting this game giving our girls a chance to try out otherwise dangerous patterns. Only four players scored in this game for Davie, despite the run-a-way appearance of the high score, 35 to 18.

In height, Monroe and Davie boys were pretty well matched but several other things weren't. The final score was Davie 63, Monroe 33. From that you might say that we had a lot better team or that we really worked, and you'd be partially right. Monroe's team was not the unit working together, but two or three units wearing the same suits. Therefore, we of course had a better team because we worked as one unit with a common couse. Now, did Monroe work? No, they seemed to just want to get it over with as little effort as possible. Our coach, Mr. Snow, has been looking for the boys that will hustle and work hard, so you know that we worked. But, not at first. Some of Monroe's easy going playing wore off on us in the first half to cause a low half time score. In the second half, the Rebels came back fresh and ready to go. They played good, hard basketball and scored twice as many points as in the first half.

The third and final game played last week was against West Rowan here at Davie. The girls' game was a free scoring, ball stealing, fouling tussle that held the fans' attention right down the line. Eleven Rebelettes scored this night and the team was really happy. West's girls could have played a much better game, but they were afraid to shoot. West scored first with a spectacular shoot by a girl that only missed 1 or two shots that night.

The first quarter was a tryout quarter in which the teams got the feel of things, but the second was a fatal one for West. Here we decided how the game was going to go and took a good lead. In the third, the Rebelettes added 10 more points to that margin and stood with West in the fourth to clinch another victory for Davie.

The outcome of the boys' game was weighed in the balance of accuracy and the defensive abilities of the teams. North set the pace early in the game, one of keeping your opponent from handling the ball. Since West has a short team and a determined coach, they kept this up throughout the game, while we changed our tactics and scored wildly. And wild it was, we got almost all the rebounds when we missed and kept on shooting until we scored. With a short team, West had to be more careful with their shots in order to hold onto the ball. Without the security that gives freedom of concentration, West missed most of its shots enabling us to take another victory in the conference standings. Final score, Davie 63; West Rowan 36.

across the south portion are private rooms. The east corridor has 12 beds, 14 semi-private rooms and 4 private rooms) and is a dead end corridor for traffic and should be fairly quiet. The west corridor has 11 beds 13 semi private rooms and 5 private rooms). It is adjacent to the surgical suite and surgical patients will be admitted to this area. The north-south corridor has 14 beds 14 semi-private rooms and 6 private rooms). The six private rooms are all of the prescribed semi private size and could be used as such if needed.

Across the hall from a waiting area where the new building will join the present building at room 113 will be a quiet room to be used as needed. The building will be air conditioned.

"As a whole this new nursing unit should be an extremely functional unit. Its design should greatly help the nursing staff to give good patient care. The size, location and facilities of the patient rooms should enable the patient to have a more comfortable stay," said Mr. McCluskey.

This building project is estimated at $720,000.00 with a possible ten per cent additional requirement to cover needed equipment and added alernates. The Federal Hill-Burton program will participate in 55% of the estimated cost. The state of North Carolina will pay for 10.8% and the local (county) share is 34.2% which is $246,240.00. Davie County by funding its depreciation has met 80% of the local share.

"Funding of depreciation is the planning for tomorrow phase of hospital management whereas good majority of hospital management is devoted to yesterdays obligations and liabilities which must be met today. This planning for tomorrow phase is far more difficult as it is rarely accomplished, but when accomplished, as in our case, it is far easier on the tax payer of the future as no bond issue will be required," he said.

Mr. McCluskey expressed appreciation to the solicitation committee comprised of Knox Johnstone, George Martin, Lester Martin, and Cecil Morris for their success in obtaining contributions from the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation and from other sources.

"Their efforts have enabled the hospital to proceed as quickly as possible with the building program and in just about a year the new addition should be completed", he said.

"The next year will be a difficult one for us at the hospital as it is anywhere that construction is in progress. But we in the hospital know that a county of our size should have about four beds per thousand population for care of its acutely ill and now it is gratifying to know that within a year this will be a reality", said the Davie Hospital Administrator.

Special guests for the meeting Tuesday included Gordon Earle of Salisbury and Jinx Woodward, special student guest. President Gaither Sanford presided.

What is not fully understood is not possessed.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

Just 200 years ago, the Mason-Dixon line was established. Less than 250 miles long, this border between the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland is probably the most famous "line" in our nation. It grew out of a dispute over the boundary, involving taxes and ownership of land, and the colonists finally appealed to their proprietors in London. As a result, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon were sent over from England's Royal Observatory to survey and establish the boundary. They gathered a party of 50 and spent five years on the job, made more difficult because of the wilderness in which they had to work. Mason and Dixon placed limestone markers every five miles along the line, and these still trace the survey. On opposite faces of the markers were engraved the arms of Lord Baltimore and William Penn. The survey cost $75,000, a tidy sum for that day, but considered worth it. In 1820, the Mason-Dixon Line was made famous by John Randolph of Virginia. During debates in Congress about excluding slavery from Missouri, he suggested that the line be extended West to separate free and slave territory. Through there never was official sanction for this idea, the concept that the line separated North from South grew into a popular legend.

A local lady from Texas lives in a Manhattan apartment but is determined to retain some of her native atmosphere. She has several cactus plants growing successfully in her windows. When a visitor asked her how she knew the proper care of them, she replied, "I bought these plants in El Paso. I subscribe to an El Paso newspaper, and every time it says it rained in El Paso, I give the cactuses a little water."

A few years ago there were a number of people who said that it was just a matter of time until moving pictures would be replaced by television. True there are many closed movie houses in our towns across the country. But recent annual reports show, on the other hand, that some film companies are again making money, though some of this is admittedly from TV pictures. Although I enjoy a few television shows, they still don't take the place of a fine motion picture, shown on a large screen in a relaxing, darkened theater and viewed from a comfortable seat.

There are those who say that a person should not try to be a perfectionist. Doubtless this is true, if such means an undue and harmful struggle for the impossible. On the other hand, some of our greatest people have been perfectionists. For example, Arturo Toscannini who created and conducted the NBC Symphony orchestra for many years. A close associate reports that this maestro made the 100-piece orchestra sound like a single musical instrument and played it with the mastery of a pipe organist. Toscannini was an exacting and often tyrannical leader. Passages had to be played over and over again until they reached perfection. Once the conductor became so infuriated at the ineptness of some of his musicians, that he dashed his expensive watch to the floor. His assistant quietly stepped to the stage, gathered up the pieces and had the watch repaired.

Although the hunting season hereabouts has waned with the weather, it still goes on at a dangerous pace. Nimrods have known for a long time that firing guns in the wilds is risky-often more for men than animals. The increasing hazard in local regions seems to revolve around the growing number of hunters who prowl through the brush, trigger-happy, and shoot at the first bush that moves - and all too often, that move is made by an (erstwhile) hunter instead of game.

Studies teach not their own use; that is a wisdom without them and above them, won by observation.

Cars Collide On U.S. 158 Sunday—

Five Killed In Volkswagen

Five people were killed Sunday evening when their Volkswagon was struck headon by a 1956 Ford on US 158 a half mile from the intersection of NC 801. The accident occurred around 6:10 p.m.

The dead—all members of one family—were identified as:

Samuel Leon Annas, 24, of Hudson, Rt. 2, identified as the driver of the 1962 Volkswagen in which those killed were traveling; his brother and sister-in-law, Gareth Edwin Annas, 27, and Katharine Warren Annas, 25, and their daughter, Lecaine, 5 months, of Raleigh, Rt. 5; and the Annas brothers' mother, Mrs. Florence Sullivan Annas, 51 of Hudson, Rt. 2.

Franklin Glenn Marshall, 31, of Mocksville Rt. 3, driver of the Ford which crashed into the Volkswagen, suffered multiple facial injuries. He was transferred Sunday night to the Baptist Hospital and underwent emergency surgery Sunday night. His condition at the latest report was termed satisfactory.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick said the Ford that Marshall was driving west veered to the wrong side of the road in a curve. It smacked into the eastbound Volkswagen, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Garuth Edwin Annas. Both vehicles were demolished.

E. W. Ireland of 1608 Argonne Blvd. said he was riding in his car—driven by his wife—directly behind the Ford when the accident occurred.

"The Ford just more or less swung over to the left side of the road and hit the other car headon", Ireland said.

The Irelands had been behind the Ford some distance before the accident, Ireland said, and had not noticed anything wrong. Ireland estimated the speed of the Ford at about 55 miles per hour at the time of the crash.

"It was so quick," said Ireland. "We stopped and my wife went to the nearest house to call an ambulance. I went to the Volkswagen. Ireland said that when he reached the Volkswagen both men and one of the women in it were dead. The other woman, strapped in a safety belt in the back seat, and the baby she was holding were still alive, Ireland said. He said both died within minutes however.

Ireland said that after getting those two from the Volkswagen he went to the Ford and tried to make the driver, later identified as Marshall, comfortable until ambulances arrived.

"The accident was the worst thing I ever saw in my life," said Ireland "and I was in the Navy and saw men die before."

The crash occurred in front of the homes of W. H. Byrd and L. P. Dull. Mrs. Dull looked out the window when she heard the collision and saw the two cars come to rest in a cloud of dust. She told her husband and he rushed out to the wreckage. Byrd joined him there.

"I'm pretty positive that one woman and the child were still alive then," said Dull. "But I believe they were all dead before they were carried away from the scene."

"I'm positive that the boy under the [steering] wheel and the boy in the back never knew what happened," Dull added.

Patrolman Bolick said he was unable to question Marshall about why the Ford veered to the wrong side of the road. The officer said there were no skid marks to indicate that either driver had time to apply brakes before the vehicles plowed into one another

Notes On Tragedy

Last year during 1963 Davie had only six highway fatalities. On the 2nd day of February this year Davie met this quota with a crash that claimed five lives at one time. The previous fatality was that of Willie Franklin Mayfield killed on Jan. 7.

Immediately following the wreck on U.S. 158 Sunday evening, a group of cadets from the Oak Ridge Military School came by on their way back to school. These cadets got out of their automobile and took charge of the traffic situation and handled it in a topflight manner . . . clearing the way for the arrival of the ambulances out of Mocksville and Winston-Salem . . . and routing the traffic in a safe manner around the scene.

Mrs. Florence Annas, the mother of the two boys, was born in Caldwell County. Her husband, Dayle John Annas, died in 1946. She is survived by three sisters and four brothers.

Gareth Edwin Annas and Samuel Leon Annas were both born in Caldwell County and the wreck wiped out this entire faimly. Neither of these 2 men have any immediate survivors.

Gareth Annas' wife, Katherine Warren Annas, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Warren. She and her husband lived in Statesville for two years until moving to Raleigh about a year ago. While in Statesville, Gareth Edwin Annas was chief draftsman for Adams and Pegram, and Mrs. Annas was employed by the Employment Security Commission office.

They were members of the Forest Park Presbyterian Church while in Statesville and served as adult advisors of the youth group at the church.

He was an assistant design consultant at the division of School Planning in Raleigh.

Mrs. Gareth Edwin Annas was a native of Lincroft, New Jersey. She is survived by her father; a stepbrother; and two stepsisters.

Samuel Leon Annas was a mechanical engineer with a Raleigh consulting firm. He was the driver of the Volkswagen which was owned by his brother.

Hours for the sale will be 9:30 a.m .to 5 p.m. on Feb. 28.

Mrs. W. M .Long, president of Mocksville Woman's Club, reported on the Scholarships sponsored by the club.

For a High School Senior girl, scholarship provides $750 a year for four years. To qualify, a girl must be endorsed by the High School principal, and have a personal interview with a member of the Woman's Club. If she is selected, the club will assume responsibility of transporting her to the District Contest held in February and to the State Contest held in March if she wins the District Contest. Application blanks may be obtained from Miss Martha Call, 451 Salisbury St.

A second scholarship is for one year only and also provides $750. The six state supported schools are Chapel Hill ,Raleigh, Greensboro, ECTC, WCC and Appalachian.

Each club can sponsor only one applicant.

The Art Scholarship is offered to a high school senior in North Carolina, who wishes to continue art education. A winning picture in the State Contest will be sent to the National Hallmark Contest to compete for $1,000, $750 or $600 scholarships.

State Federation will accept any subject. The Hallmark theme must be interpreted by use of historical subjects, landscape, still lifes or portraits.

The Art Contest for students in grades seven through 11 will receive a silver cup for winning in the State Contest.

Information concerning these two art contests and application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Peter Hairston, Rt. 2, Advance.

Find the strength for your life...

Does it seem to you sometimes that the world has gotten so crowded and complex that you just don't count at all in the grand scheme of things? It's not uncommon, that feeling. We feel helpless . . . unable to alter or even really to understand ourselves and the world we live in.

Faith is missing—and because of that, spiritual strength is.

But faith and spiritual strength can be found, nourished. Then they grow within you through regular worship. This week go to your church or synagogue. Start to build a fuller, more meaningful life. Cherish your faith and keep it strong so that it may strengthen you.

Vernon Whitaker and James McCoy—

High Honors For Local Scouters

It was June 12, 1963. It was another session of the Red Cross Water Safety Class conducted by Mrs. Margaret McCoy.

Tommy Evans was one of 20 members in this class. He is the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans of Mocksville Rt. 1.

The session on this particular day dealt with the removal of clothing in water, using the buddy method. Suddenly some difficulty was encountered by Tommy Evans and his buddy Mike Chaffin. Jim McCoy, a member of the class and a Boy Scout, spotted the two youngsters struggling under water Jumping in he pulled Mike Chaffin to safety.

Repeated dives into the water by Mrs. McCoy and others led to the discovery of Tommy Evans on the bottom of the lake by Mrs. McCoy who brought him to the surface.

Vernon Whitaker, Scoutmaster at Oak Grove, promptly began administering mouth-to-mouth resusciation and managed to restore breathing in the youngster. Using this method, Mr. Whitaker put to use some training on life saving technique that he had acquired through his Scout work. The breathing boy was rushed by ambulance to be the Davie Hospital and after a few days returned to normal activities.

The alert action by Jim McCoy, who had Red Cross training plus the Boy Scout Life Saving Merit Badge, not only prevented Mike Chaffin from being drowned but also alerted the others to the emergency and enabled prompt action towards the rescuing of Tommy Evans.

In recognition of their meritorious action, Mr. Whitaker and James McCoy have been honored by National Boy Scout Court of Honor.

Sunday, in special services held at the Oak Grove Methodist Church, Mr. Whitaker was presented with a Certificate of Merit. Next Tuesday, James McCoy will be presented with the same in special ceremonies at the meeting of the Mocksville Rotary Club.

A Certificate of Merit is awarded by the National Court of Honor to Scouts who perform some outstanding act of service, putting into practice scout skills and ideals, not necessarily involving risk of life.

These are the first such awards ever made in the Davie District and the first such awards made in the Uwharrie Council in 23 years.

This newspaper is proud to add congratulations and commend not only these two scouters....but the entire Boy Scout organization....for the ability to live up to their motto of "Be Prepared".

BOY SCOUT WEEK, February 7-13 has as the 1964 theme "Strengthen America—Scouting Can Make The Difference."

54th Anniversary Of Boy Scouts—

Scouting Can Make The Difference

The Boy Scouts of America are observing Scout Week which celebrates the 54th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America —nationally, in 12 regions, and in 527 local Scout councils. The traditional dates are Friday, (Feb. 7) through Thursday (Feb. 13).

The special week of observances will begin Friday with "Uniform Day"....a day when the Scouts will wear their uniforms to school and take part in special programs.

Scout Sunday will be February 9th and Scouts will be encouraged to attend their own churches in uniform with their parents.

The theme this year for the observance of the 54th Anniversary is...."Strengthen America....Scouting Can Make the Difference". In the words of Joseph A. Brunton, Jr., Chief Scout Executive:

"The Boy Scouts of America for 54 years has enjoyed success and public acclaim for its part in the training of American youth in character values, citizenship skills and attitudes, and physical fitness. Over these years we have grown and flourished because each of us involved has had a deep conviction of the worth of Scouting to boys and to America and because we resolved to act upon our convictions."

Today there are four million boys and one and a half million adults in the scouting program. There are 135,000 packs, troops and Explorer units. There are 90,000 religious, school, civic and other local organizations that hold charters to use the Scouting program.

The purpose of the Boy Scouts of America is to use Scouting methods and programs with boys for character building, citizenship training, physical fitness.

The Scout Oath says: "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The Scout Law declares a Scout is: Trustworthy, Loyal, Helpful, Friendly, Courteous, Kind, Obedient, Cheerful, Thrifty, Brave, Clean and Reverent.

Cub Scouting is a home and family-centered program for boys eight to ten. Boy Scouting is the road to fun and outdoor adventure for the maturing boy from 11 to 14 and beyond. Exploring meets the needs and desires of the high school age boy as he plans and carries out his own program.

The Boys Scouts of America was incorporated on February 8, 1910 and through the past 54 years has continually proved that as far as boys are concerned....Scouting Can Make The Difference!"

NUMBER TWO . . . Some people like the danger and excitement of mountain - climbing. State Senator John R. Jordan, Jr., is of that type. This was shown last week when he dropped the other shoe. The first one was dropped last fall when Jordan-for-Lt.-Gov. headquarters opened its doors on one of Raleigh's busiest streets in the heart of downtown. Now it is official.

And why is Sen. Jordan like a mountain climber? Because the administration is apparently backing Robert Scott for the No. 2 post, with a large element of the press already lined up — officially or unofficially — for Fellow Publisher Clifton Blue.

There is a valley between these two mountains — or a high ridge above the two valleys—and John Jordan must find it. And he may have, already.

Jordan and Blue are alike in that each has served a term as president of the Young Democratic Clubs of the State. Blue of Aberdeen held the post at the age of 38 in 1948. Jordan was 33 when he became president in 1954.

If Robert Scott has ever been active in the YDC's we can't recal lit. Of course, neither had Successful Candidate Luther Hodges when he beat Veteran Legislator Roy Rowe for the post in 1952. But, then, the Young Democratic movement had its start in the late 20's— and by that time Hodges was past that stage of growth.

We have often wondered why Robert Scott has not shown more interest in the organization which meant so much to his father. The YDC's were among Kerr Scott's most enthusiastic boosters.

One of the chief duties of the Lt. Gov. is legislative. Both Speaker Blue and Senator Jordan have legislative experience. Scott has never served in the Legislature. Jordan, an attorney here with a big practice, is 43. Blue is 53. He is one of the oldest men in point of service in the House. Jordan got his law degree at the University of North Carolina in 1948.

Iobert Scott is a farmer, a State College alumnus, and by far the youngest of the three men running for Lt. Gov. He is scheduled to learn just a whole lot about rough and tumble politics from Clifton Blue and John Jordan in the scant four months left before the Primary. He has one distinction: he is the only one of the three candidates who has lived in the Governor's Mansion.

And he is like the other two in that he likes the looks of the many gabled house on Blount St. Seriously, they are all three good, able, honest men; and even if you should vote for the wrong one the mistake would be exceedingly small.

LADIES . . . A. C. Snow, columnist for the Raleigh Times and husband of one of Needham Broughton's best English teachers gets off some pretty good stuff. A few days ago he was telling about a recent basketball game played at West Yadkin High School between West Yadkin and Yadkinville. It could happen in your gym. One of Snow's friends saw it.

"The game was going full-blast. The score was close. Everybody was yelling as if it were the end of the Chariot race in Ben Hur. One of the teams charged back down the floor. A player shot, missed, even missed the backboard. The ball bounced out of bounds and through the door of the women's rest room.

"While the crowd waited breathlessly and dramatically, an unseen hand from within the ladies' room opened the door and hurled the basketball back onto the court.

"The game continued and nobody even remembered to watch to see who the star center was in the room marked "Ladies."

NEVER USE THEM . . . We are now . . . in North Carolina . . . in the second month of the year in which all new cars must be equipped with seat belts.

Nevertheless, it's like the old saw about "you can lead a horse to water—"

Nobody is using seat belts. Let's face it. Now your guess is as good as ours as to what we can do to get front seat riders to use . . . to fasten seat belts instead of sitting on them. Now if you think we are wrong in saying nobody but nobody is using seat belts, make this experiment. At your next bridge game . . . or even your morning coffee downtown . . . do a little poll. Ask them to be honest. You will find we are rolling the seat belts under us, slamming the doors on them, getting them rolled up and under the seat, but utilizing them to prevent broken necks, smashed faces, and crushed skulls, we are not. Why not? Mostly sheer laziness — plus the feeling it can happen here.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — Along with tax and civil rights bills, Congress has been studying another important question. Senate hearings are underway on proposals to amend the Constitutional provisions dealing with Presidential succession and disability. In line with earlier comments, I have introduced a joint resolution [S. J. Res. 147] to amend the Constitution relating to Presidential and Vice Presidential succession.

Although the resolution which I have introduced does not presently provide for a system to determine Presidential disability, I plan to offer an amendment to remedy this long neglected Constitutional deficiency. In its simplest terms the problem involves the mechanics of determining when the Presidency is to be declared vacated by reason of disability. In the last one hundred years, the administrations of Garfield, McKinley, Wilson, and Eisenhower have been confronted in varying degrees with the question. By reason of the perilous age in which they have held office, recent Presidents have attempted to improvise by personal agreement the ground rules in the event of disability for transfer of governmental authority to the successor. These expire with each Presidential change.

It seems to me that a Constitutional amendment should resolve the problem. A plausible provision could be patterned after the Constitutional mandate relating to impeachment proceedings. Under a comparable new amendment, the House would be empowered to originate the proceeding questioning the ability of the President to serve. A House majority vote would be necessary to present the resolution to the Senate. Then the Senate would be required to answer the question in an inquiry with the Supreme Court Chief Justice presiding. Upon the conclusion of the evidence, the Senate would then decide whether or not to declare the President unable to conduct the duties of his office. To so hold would require the affirmative bote of two-thirds of the Senate membership.

With reference to Presidential succession, my resolution seeks to provide remedies for at least three of the deficiencies of the present Constitutional system. First, under its provisions, there would always be a Vice President who could participate on the executive level in policy making. Secondly the successor to the office of Vice President would be selected by a majority of the Senate and House with each member having one vote. Finally, in electing the new Vice President when the need arose, Congressional attention would be focused directly on the fact that this office holder might have to assume the Presidency. Thus the choice could be weighed in the knowledge of the national need.

The dual problems of Presidential succession and disability ought to be resolved before another crisis demands the answer to mee the needs of orderly government.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where one of them big automobile companies is coming out twict a year with new cars. They aim to put some out next month and call 'em the "1964 ½ Models." The other car makers will fall in line and they ain't no telling where the thing will stop. I'm expecting it to git to three or four showings per year, all done in fractions.

It's going to be a little confusing, special to this young generation that ain't learned much arithmetic and has trouble with fractions. Johnny, that already can't read none too good, ain't going to recollect if he's driving a 1964 ¼ job or a 1964 ¾ model.

The fellers that designs new car models was claiming the American public needs more than one new car showing a year. I could drive a 2-horse wagon through that arguement, Mister Editor, but it wouldn't do no good. A heap of folks will be buying a 1964 ¾ model when they ain't got a good start yet on paying fer their 1964 ¼ job.

These automobile companies is the master thinkers of our age. I recollect a few year ago when they come out with all them rainbow colored cars. They claimed they was not only pretty but the loud colors would cut down on road accidents. They allowed as how fire trucks had always been painted red so folks could see 'em and git out the way. I ain't noticed no letup in car wrecks and it proves that wrecks ain't caused from not seeing the other feller It proved that fire trucks had just as well be painted black, like funeral cars.

I don't know, Mister Editor, what this world is coming to. Fer instant, Ed Doolittle's daughter come by the country store Saturday night looking fer Ed, said he hadn't been home since "lunch." Ed's daughter works in one of them city offices and now she comes home talking about "lunch."

Us rural folks, as a general rule, ain't got but three eating times a day, breakfast ,dinner, and supper. Dinner comes as close to 12 noon as we can git it, and supper comes after it gits too dark to work. We ain't got no such thing as "lunch" around here and whenever I use the word dinner in my little piece you'll know I'm talking about the meal that comes about the time of day when the sun is straight up and down over the top of the house.

Me and my old lady was talking about these matters at breakfast and she allows as how, just when it looks like the country was going to the bow-wows one week it keeps coming back the next. But if we git to calling dinner "lunch" and putting out automobiles in fractions, I ain't too shore we'll make it one of these weeks.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

Theme: It's Easy To Predict The Future

TEXT: "The future is not in the hands of fate but in ours" - Jusserand.

There is the story of the college professor who always tipped his hat to every student he passed. Some thought him odd, but when asked for the reason, he replied,

"I never know when I am greeting the next President of the United States".

Our complicated and pressure-filled world presents so many problems that we often wish that we could know what is going to happen tomorrow. Some attempt to peer into the future by paying visits and money to palmists, crystal gazers and fortune-tellers. Their luck isn't too good.

There is a method of divining the future with a better than even chance of being correct. It can be proved mathematically, if space permitted, that the most accurate prediction for tomorrow is that it will be just like today.

The same is true of people. How they act, what they think and the motives they permit to impell them, predict accurately, their tomorrows. Most tragic is the boy or girl who marries today to reform someone tomorrow. If a person hasn't reformed before marriage, a wedding won't bring a reformation. It is easy to predict the future weather, business or people by merely observing today.

Letter From The Thomsons

Apartado 1052
Ensenada, Baja, Calif.

Dear Friends Back Home,

First of all, Ron, James and I want to say "thank you" for all the Christmas cards and gifts you sent. Besides helping make it possible for us to remain on the field, they brought Davie County very close to Mexico for a little while.

I wish you could see our children. There's two-year-old Jorge, who hollers at me, "Sis'er, Sister!" and never wants anything; sweet, quiet Teresa, herself so small, who mothers all the babies; Margarita, who completely won my heart by telling me, "Sister, I dreamed about the cake you made." — and all the others, each with his own special place in our hearts.

Our days are very full with dispensing continuous supplies of the gospel, food, clothing, love and band-aids. Have you any idea of the astronomical amount of food it takes to keep all these stomachs reasonably full? For example, a 100 pound sack of flour lasts about four days. And, by the way, "Kiss it and make it well' cures a sore finger just as fast in Spanish as in English.

The new boys' dormitory, which we so desperately need, is going up slowly, but steadily, as the finances come in. We surely need it ,for the rainy season is upon us, and the water leaks generously and indiscriminately into the boys' dorm ,and into our tiny trailer. Nearly everybody has a cold.

It means so much to know there are folks back home remembering us and praying for us. We thank God for you. God bless you all.

Sincerely,
Evona and Ron Thomson

Davie County Enterprise-Record
Mocksville. N. C.

Dear Sir:-

I have read, with a great deal of interest, the article in the January 16th issue of the Enterprise-Record, prepared by the National Association of Electric Cooperatives and obviously written in reply to an article which appeared in the December issue of The Reader's Digest, entitled "The R. E. A. - A CASE STUDY OF BUREAUCRACY RUN WILD".

Previously, I had read, carefully and with a great deal of interest, the Reader's Digest article in question and now under attack.

In the beginning, I would like to say there is a great deal about the R. E. A. which I do not know since I have never had any real reason to make a study of their methods of operation. I do believe, however, that:

a. The R. E. A. is a Bureaucracy.
b. It definitely does receive a 2% subsidy from the U. S. Government in the form the privilege of borrowing money from the Government at the rate of 2% on which the Government itself is paying interest of approximately 4%.
c. The R. E. A., like any other large Co-op, definitely does not pay its fair share of taxes to the U. S. Government.

My only interest in the R. E. A. is as a taxpayer. If the R. E. A. Co-ops are, indeed, as they claim to be, private enterprises incorporated under state laws, then it is my opinion they should divest themselves of Government Control, cease the practice of borrowing 4% money from the U. S. Government at the rate of 2% and pay taxes at the same rate as any other private enterprise in the United States. If they cannot or will not do this, then they should admit to the fact they are a Government Bureaucracy, that they do operate with a built-in subsidy and that they do not pay their fair share of the taxes.

In discussing this matter recently with a good friend of mine, who is a strong proponent of the R. E. A., I voiced the opinion that Electric Membership Co-ops were socialistic in nature to which my friend replied that "maybe a little Socialism is good". It has been my observation that a "little Socialism" is like being a "little bit pregnant".

If this system of doing business with the Government, by the Government and for the Government works so well in the Power industry, it could, quite conceiv-

Don't put away those wool skirts and sweaters yet. Mr. Groundhog predicts six more weeks of bad weather. Let's force ourselves to enjoy every bit of sunlight that is shed upon us for the next few weeks. Maybe spring will be here soon.

Personally, I enjoy the winter months. I like to walk with a crisp wind in my face; its long cold fingers sliding playfully through my hair. I enjoy cold nights with full moons casting the sharp black shadows of the barren trees across a half frozen lake. There is no place I had rather be than in front of a slow burning fire when the melancholy rain splatters on roof and window pane. Who can resist the warm sunny winter days when the sky is blue as indigo, and the sun soft and warm on your hair and shoulders. Winter is made for romantics and dreamers. These are the months for sitting quietly on a mossy truf without fear of seeing a snake; for listening to the crackle of a fire in the fireplace and building your dream house, for moonlit nights and soft music and steak dinners by candlelight.

I'm sure you're thinking, why can't you do all these things in the summer. Well, you can, but what a pity to waste the time at hand.

GOD IS IN EVERY TOMORROW

God is in every tomorrow,
Therefore I live for today,
Certain of finding at sunrise,
Guidance and strength for the way;
Power for each moment of weakness,
Hope for each moment of pain,
Comfort for every sorrow,
Sunshine and joy after rain.

God is in every tomorrow,
Planning for you and for me;
E'en in the dark will I follow,
Trust where my eyes cannot see
Stilled by His presence of blessing,
Soothed by the touch of His hand,
Confident in His protection,
Knowing my life-path is planned.

God is in every tomorrow,
Life with its changes may come
He is behind and before me,
While in the distance shines home."
Home — where no thought of tomorrow
Ever can shadow my brow,
Home — in the presence of Jesus,
Through all eternity—NOW!

Social Security In Davie County

People who continue to work after applying for social security old-age insurance benefits may be able to get a higher monthly check, according to Ben Stewart, Field Representative of the Salisbury Social Security District Office. A recent study of the annual report of earnings made by social security beneficiaries earning over $1200 a year showed that 2 out of 3 raised their benefit rates because of earnings after age 65. Each annual report is examined to see if a refiguring of the benefit rate is in order.

Mr. Stewart noted that annual report of 1963 earnings will be due April 15, 1964. This report is required of all social security beneficiaries who earned over $1200 in 1963, except beneficiaries who were 72 or over during the entire year. Failure to report the earnings on time can result in a loss of some benefits. When a person makes this report of his 1963 earnings, he is asked to submit an estimate of his 1964 earnings. This will determine how many checks he can be paid in 1964.

The annual report of earnings enables the Social Security Administration to determine the correct amount of benefits to which a beneficiary was entitled for 1963. He may have been paid too much, too little, or just the right amount. In any event, the report he files permits the Social Security Administration to balance and close the books for the year 1963.

Mr. Stewart also pointed out that only earned income is to be reported. Earned income is the pay received for work performed as an employee or the net profit from the operation of a trade or business whether or not covered by the law.

LEO F. WILLIAMS,

Soils Should Be Tested Before They Are Limed

Determining the lime needs of soils is one of the more valuable contributions of a soil test according to County Extension Chairman Leo F. Williams. Having the proper amount of lime in the soil is essential for most efficient crop production and use of phosphorus and potassium fertilizers. For example, lime is the cheapest and usually the best source of calcium and magnesium for most crops. Lime reduces the amount of toxic aluminum in soils and in so doing, increases the afailability of applied phosphorus and retention of applied potassium. Good germination of seed ir dependent to a larye degree on whether or not the soil is adequately limed.

Williams states that soils should always be tested before they are limed. There are several reasons for this. Distributing lime on the land represents a considerale proportion of its total lost. Consequently, it is important to apply the right amount in one application. Also, it is possible to apply too much lime; a possibility that is practically eliminated when soils areproperly sampled and then tested to determine lime needs. In making lime recommendations, several factors are considered: (1) The acidity level of the soil as shown by the soil pH test; (2) The crop to be grown and (3) The proportion of the soil that is organic matter, sand, silt, and clay.

According to Williams, it is best to apply lime two to three months ahead of planting, but this is not essential. Lime can be distributed anytime ahead of planting. For est results, lime should be thoroughly mixed throughout the plow layer.

CARD OF THANKS
RICHARDSON

We wish to express our most heartfelt thanks to the many people who were so kind and sympathetic to us during our bereavement at the recent death of James Lonnie Richardson. The many visits, cards of sympathy, and flowers were appreciated more than words can express. THE CLARENCE RICHARDSON FAMILY.

The purest ore is produced from the hottest furnace, and the brighest thunderbolt is elicited from the darkest storm.

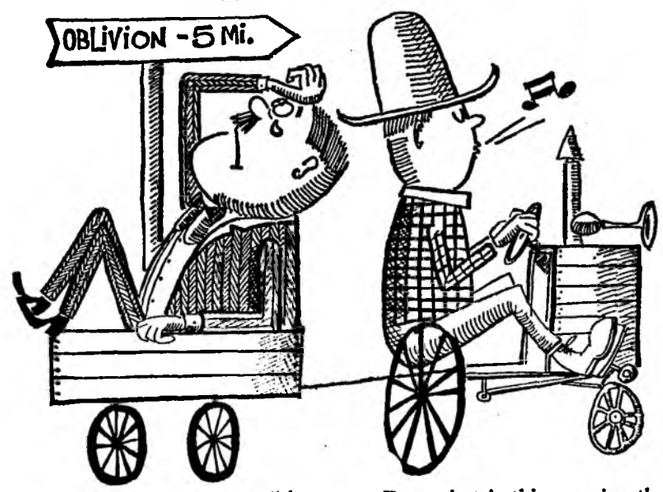
"Co-ops are driving private power monopolies into oblivion"



"Forbear!" cried the power company, "the electric co-ops are ruining the country and driving us into oblivion!"

A sad cry indeed. The nation's private power monopolies are now struggling along on just 80 percent of all electric revenue. Private power monopolies control only 74 percent of the entire generating capacity of the country. They serve just 80 percent of all the electric consumers. And last year sadly they had to report the greatest profit in their entire history.

If co-ops are driving private power monopolies into oblivion, they won't get there broke.

But, what is this massive threat from electric co-ops . . . the threat which private power monopolies view with alarm?

In North Carolina, rural electric co-ops receive less than 10 percent of all electric revenue . . . have no generating capacity except on the Outer Banks and serve only about 20 percent of the electric consumers.

But this 20 percent thinks it's important that they have high-quality, low-cost electric service, and personal experience shows them they got it only when they organized their own rural electric co-ops.

What's so super about the Chevelle Malibu Super Sports?

Inside? Front bucket seats. All-vinyl interior. Ammeter, oil pressure and water temp gauges. Floor-mounted straight-line shift lever for Powerglide* or sporty 4-Speed* stick shift.

Under the hood? Lots of choice. Two Sixes—standard 120-hp and optional 155-hp*. Three V8's, from standard 283-cu.-in. up to (you're reading it right!) 327-cu.-in.* Try this one to flatten out hills!

Options*? Electric tachometer, Positraction rear axle, sintered-metallic brake linings and sports-styled simulated walnut steering wheel, to name just a few of them.

Outside? Special moldings and wheel covers, SS identification. Actually, about all that's not super about these Malibu SS Coupes and Convertibles is their price.

And the best way to find out what everything else is that makes them so super is to drive one. Your Chevrolet dealer can take care of that.

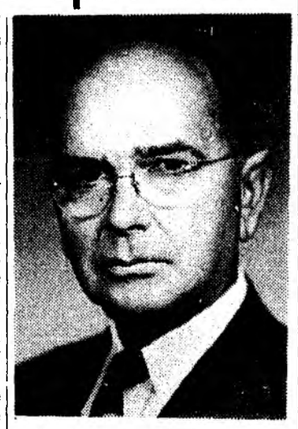
Dr. W. P. Speas Opens Offices

Dr. William Paul Speas of Winston-Salem will open offices in Mocksville on Tuesday for the practice of Ophthalmology. Temporarily his office will be located in the Horn-Harding Building until a permanent office can be acquired.



DR. WILLIAM PAUL SPEAS

Dr. Speas plans to begin with one or two days a week in his office here and as the work requires ,he will increase his time in his office here and devote less time in his present office in the Reynolds Building in Winston-Salem.

His work in Mocksville will deal with the treatment of diseases of the eyes and fitting glasses. He will have access to the files of the late Dr. Lester P. Martin and will be using much of Dr. Martin's equipment.

Dr. Speas was born in Huntsville, Yadkin County, to Augustin and Dorothy Poindexter Speas. He attended Boonville High School and Wake Forst College. After finishing there, he attended the Medical College of Virginia where he received his medical degree. After graduation he located at Farmington where he began the general practice of medicine, later moving to Cooleemee.

In Cooleemee, he was associated with the late Dr. A. B. Byerly in the practice of medicine for five years. During this time he studied Ophthalmology under the late Dr. E. E. Gibbons at the Presbyterian Hospital in Baltimore. He also graduated at the Chicago Eye, Ear and Nose College in Chicago.

He next moved to Hickory where he confined his practice to eye, ears, nose and throat for 14 years. During this time he spent two years at the Graduate School of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania, graduating from that school with the degree of Master of Medical Science for work done in Ophthalmology.

He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons with a Diplomate of the American Board of Ophthalmology. He moved to Winston-Salem in 1931, where he has limited his practice to ophthalmology. He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Winston-Salem and has been made a life member of the board of deacons. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Forsyth Country Club.

When Dr. Speas moved to Winston-Salem there was not a free eye clinic in that city, so he established one at the City Memorial Hospital. He still attends this clinic one day a week, which is now operated by him under the auspices of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind.

When the Bowman Gray School of Medicine opened its doors in Winston - Salem, Dr. Speas became Assistant Professor of Surgery in charge of Ophthalmology, and taught in the school for several years. He is now Professor Emeritus of Ophthalmology of Wake Forest College.

He has devised several instruments used in surgical operations on the eye.

James H. McCoy Presented Award

James Harry McCoy, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Charles E. McCoy and the late Mr. McCoy of Mocksville, was presented a certificate of merit by the Boy Scouts of America on Tuesday for the saving of a life last June 12th. The presentation was made in a special ceremony at the meeting of the Mocksville Rotary Club.

McCoy, a member of Troop 575 of the Boy Scouts, was presented the award by Frank Sizemore, Advancement Chairman for the Uwharrie Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Vernon Whitaker, Scoutmaster of Troop 502 [Oak Grove] was previously presented a like award for using mouth-to-mouth resusication to bring a boy back to life.

These awards are the first of their kind in the Davie District and the first in 23 years in the Uwharrie Council which is composed of Davie, Rowan and Davidson Counties and the City of High Point.

During a water safety class on June 12, 1963, at Lake Hideway, McCoy spotted two boys in trouble during a session of removing clothes in water. Jumping in he pulled Michael Chaffin to safety as he was being pulled down by Tommy Evans. Repeated dives located Evans on the bottom of the lake and Mrs. McCoy, who was conducting the class, brought the lad to surface. Mouth-to-mouth resusication by Vernon Whitaker restored breathing in the lad.

In presenting the award, Mr. Sizemore recounted the rescue operation and commended McCoy for recognizing an emergency and being prepared to act. He cited the fact that McCoy had qualified for life-saving at Camp Uwharrie and to qualify under this program "one has to be good".

Bunn W. Hackney, Chief Executive of the Uwharrie Council, presented a certificate of merit to the Rotary Club, sponsors of Troop 575. This was accepted on behalf of the club by Gaither Sanford, President of Club, and the Scout troop committee.

In making the presentation Mr. Hackney outlined the history of Troop 502 and pointed out that the award reflected great credit on the sponsoring institution.

Peter W. Hairston, chairman of the Davie District of Boy Scouts, had charge of the program and introduced both Mr. Sizemore and Mr. Hackney. Special guests included Mrs. Margaret McCoy and Miss Peggy McCoy of Mocksville; Mrs. Lenore Alporfer and Mrs. Emma McCoy of Riverside, New Jersey; Vernon Whitaker of Mocksville, Scoutmaster of Troop 575; H. C. Creed of Salisbury; and Bill Wilkins, student guest.

T. Holt Haywoods Killed In Wreck

T. Holt Haywood, Sr., 76, retired chairman of the executive committee of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, was killed around 1:35 p.m. Thursday in a truck-automobile accident on US 158, about 4½ miles east of Mocksville.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Louise Bahnson Haywood, 76, died Sunday evening at 7:50 p.m of injuries sustained in this wreck. Mrs. Haywood underwent emergency treatment at the Davie County Hospital and was later transferred to the Baptist Hospital where she underwent surgery and remained until her death. She received severe facial and head injuries.

The Haywoods were on their way to Florida for a vacation. They had left their home at Arden Farms at Clemmons and were about eight miles from their home when the accident occurred.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick of Mocksville said that the Haywood car, a 1963 Pontiac driven by Haywood, collided head-on with a tractor-trailer truck driven by Ray Bill Shaver, 30, of North Wilkesboro, Rt. 4. Shaver was not injured.

The truck, owned by Hewitt Roofing and Trucking Co. of Hiddenite was loaded with 27,000 pounds of dressed chickens and was en route to Winston-Salem.

Bolick said that the Haywood car veered into the path of the tractor-trailer. There was no apparent reason for the accident, he said.

The car was demolished, and a wrecker had to pry the wreckage away before Haywood's body could be removed. The tractor of the rig was heavily damaged.

Bolick said that no charges would be brought.

Haywood came to Winston-Salem in January 1930. Since living there he served, in addition to his positions with Wachovia, as president and director of Selected Dairies, Inc., vice president and director of Southern Steel Stampings, director of Washington Mills, director of Piedmont Publishing Co., director of American Enka Corp., director Leward Cot-

Davie Youths Compete For Naval Academy

Davie County young men will compete for two 9th Congressional District vacancies at the U. S. Naval Academy in 1964.

Congressman James T. Broyhill announced that William Thomas Nivens, son of Mrs. Sallie Nivens of Bixby, was one of four competing for the first vacancy.

Also, John F. Paige, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warren Paige of Mocksville Rt. 3 [Redland community] would compete as one of four for the second vacancy.

In arriving at his decision, Broyhill indicated that the results of a special three-hour scholastic test given last November played an important role. Departing from the usual system of appointing principal and alternate candidates, Broyhill expressed the belief that competition and merit should be the determining factors in academy selections. Final selections in this competition will be made, he said, by the Naval Academy.

"Other factors of selection seem irrelevant to me," Broyhill added. "When this country needs a General MacArthur or an Admiral Nimitz, what their fathers' politics were forty years before is of very little importance."

Teen-Seen

By DANA BUCHANAN

Things are exceptionally calm at Davie High. I'm beginning to wonder what's wrong. Maybe everyone is still recuperaitng from mid-term exams, but somehow that just doesn't sound like teenagers.

About the only people working at Davie High — besides the teachers — are the members of the annual staff. Everywhere you look someone is standing around with a camera in his hand. We should really have a yearbook to look forward to this year.

Davie High studen's are hearing some pretty strange noises coming from the Home Ec. Department and the Industrial Arts Department around first period each morning. At 8:45 a.m. there is a rush to C building of young men unequaled in Home Ec history at Davie High. They file in—in a vague sort of orderlyness—and begin their lesson in cooking, ironing and sewing.

All of D Building will acclaim the change in shop class. A few moments of noisy chatter, a strained silence is broken by the commanding voice of Mr. Freeman. Then, complete chaos breaks loose.

I'm sure both Mr. Freeman and Mrs. Short will be extremely grateful at the end of this six weeks' period. Teachers love normality.

More About T. Holt Haywoods

toon Mills and chairman of the Winston-Salem Foundation.

Bought Farm

But workaday fiscal matters did not fill his life. He bought the farm he and his wife named Arden in 1931.

A soft-spoken man, Haywood once said that one of the most painful experiences of his life was seeing the "slaughter of trees" on a tract of the Upper Arden Farm, which he sold after the death of Josh Quinn, his Guernsey and Tamworth swine herdsman.

"I love trees as well as all growing and living things," he said. "I hate to see those fine hardwood trees disappear — even though the tract was being timbered for other useful and needed purposes."

Forestry Management

Good forestry management also figured high in his credo that "a good farmer must be worthy of his land — and all its resources."

Haywood was born in Raleigh to Alfred Williams and Louise Moore Holt Haywood. His grandparents on his mother's side were N. C. Gov. Thomas Holt and Mrs. Louise Moore Holt.

He graduated from Raleigh Male Academy in 1903 and received a bachelor of philosophy degree from the University of North Carolina in 1907. While at UNC he was a member of Zeta Psi Fraternity.

Highest Average

Haywood graduated from the Philadelphia Texile School in 1909. While there he won a gold medal for having the highest average in the class.

In June 1958 he was made president of the Old Students Club at UNC. He was also Life President of the Class of 1907.

He entered the firm of Frederick Victor & Achelis of New York City in 1909 as a designer of cotton goods and became manager of the department known as the T. Holt Haywood Department in April 1915.

He remained in this capacity until Dec. 31, 1929, when the firm of Haywood Mackay and Valentine was formed. Haywood became chairman of the board and moved to Winston-Salem to live.

While in New York Haywood was a director of Frederick Victor & Achelis, Westchester Fire Insurance Co., Delaware Fire Insurance Co., the People National Bank and the Montclair Trust Co. of Montclair, N. J.

On Advisory Board

He was also on the advisory board of the textile office of Chase National Bank and the Chemical Bank & Trust Co. and was a director of Commercial Factors. He was a member of the Union League Club and a member and governor of the Merchants Club.

In Winston-Salem, Haywood was chairman of the Agriculture and Area Development Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the North Carolina Board of Agriculture.

He was a Granger and was a charter member of the Country Squires, an agriculture-business group devoted to better farming and rural life.

Haywood was a trustee of the Hospital Savings Association and a member of the Forsyth Country Club, Old Town Club, Twin City Club and Rotary Club.

He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars and the Society of the Cincinnati and was a former director and president of the North Carolina Guernsey Breeder's Association. He also was a director of the North Carolina Symphony Society, Inc.

He was baptized in Christ Church [Episcopal] at Raleigh as an infant and later confirmed. He joined the Home Moravian Church in Winston-Salem.

He was chairman of the trustees of the church Aid and Extension Board, a member of the Archives Committee, Pronvincial Synod and was a trustee of Old Salem, Inc.

Haywood was a member of the Winston-Salem Board and International Committee of the YMCA, a trustee of Salem College and Academy and was vice president for the Association of the Blind in Forsyth County.

Boys Club Work

He was a member of the board of the Salvation Army, Red Shields Boys Club and Service Committee. In 1950 he was appointed National Associate of the Boys Clubs of America by former President Herbert Hoover who was chairman of the board.

He was married on Oct. 22, 1914.

Surviving are a son, Thomas Holt Haywood, Jr., of New York City; two daughters, Mrs. Archie K Davis [the former Miss Mary Louise Haywood] of Winston-Salem and Mrs. John Francis Pender Clark [the former Miss Emma Pauline Haywood] of New York City; and a brother, Alfred Williams Haywood of Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Haywood

Mrs. Haywood was born in Salem To Dr. Henry T. and Emma Fries Bahnson. One grandfather was Moravian Bishop George Bahnson and the other was Frederick Fries, leader in the early life of Salem. She spent her early life in Salem, graduating from Salem Academy and College.

She was married Oct. 22, 1914. She lived in New York City and Montclair, N. J. until 1930 at which time she returned to Winston-Salem.

A short service was held at the home on Arden Farm prior to the church service.

Services for Mrs. Haywood were held Tuesday morning at the home Moravian Church. Burial was in the Salem Cemetery beside her husband. A short service was held at Arden Farm prior to the church service.

From "The Orphan's Friend" On Greatness

A man is as great as the dreams he dreams; as great as the love he bears; as great as the values he redemes, and the happiness he shares. A man is as great as the thoughts he thinks; as the worth he has attained; as the fountains at which his spirit drinks and the insight he has gained. A man is as great as the truth he speaks; as great as the help he gives; as great as the destiny he seeks, as great as the life he lives.

"He was the first man in Davie County to put screens on his house!"

"He was the first doctor to own and use a car!"

"First doctor to give diptheria antitoxin and first to give typhoid vaccination."

"He was the first in this county to use twilight sleep in obstretics."

"He was the first in this area to buy a blood pressure instrument."

The above was attributed to Dr. Andrew Baxter Byerly by a newspaper article in March of 1939 noting the observance of his 70th birthday.

Dr. Byerly, a practicing physician for over 50 years in Davie County and a pioneer medical man was born in 1869 on a farm in Davie County near Yadkin College. He farmed and taught school to make money with which to obtain his college education.

On April 29, 1896, he graduated from the Richmond Medical College at Richmond, Va. After practicing in Advance for several years, he opened his office at Cooleemee on April 4, 1904.

During his half century of practice, Dr. Byerly delivered more than 5,000 babies and after 1913, when vital statistics were started, aided in the birth of more than 3,500 children.

In 1915, Dr. Byerly vaccinated more than 1,400 persons for typhoid fever in one day.

Always a scholar and avid reader, Dr. Byerly had the reputation of always keeping abreast of the latest developments in the field of medicine. He was always among the first in Davie County to use improved methods in combatting disease.

He was a Mason, member of the Junior Order and helped finance and build the Church of Good Shepherd (Episcopal) at Cooleemee.

Dr. Byerly was married three times. His first wife was the former Miss Ethel Grimes of Davidson County. His second wife was Mrs. Mattie Grimes Penry of Lexington, and his thrid wife was the former Miss Sallie Grimes of Davidson County.

Children of Dr. Byerly include: Dr. W. G. Byerly of Lenoir; Dr. Frederick L. Byerly of Fort Wayne, Indiana; Dr. Robert T. Byerly of Winston - Salem; Mrs. D. R. Hinkle of Winston-Salem; Mrs. H. A. Simmonds of Lexington.

Brothers of Dr. Byerly were W. M. Byerly and E. C. Byerly of Lexington. Sisters: Miss Lelia M. Byerly of Lexington; Miss Victoria Byerly of Cooleemee and Mrs. J. G. Holt of Lexington.

Dr. Byerly died on November 4, 1946 after more than 50 years of service as a physician.

Boy Scout Troop 575 Reports On Activities

By TOMMY COOK

Troop 575 of the Boy Scouts of America is commencing the practice of making a report every month so that all of the people of Davie County will know what we are doing.

On February 3rd, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, went skating at Spencer. There were about 32 scouts in all. We got bruises and bumps but we all had a lot of fun.

On Saturday, February 8, the scouts went to Rich Park to camp out. We setup tents and had invited the people of Mocksville to visit us. We had a few parents to come out. That night it was very cold and not very many slept. We had a lot of fun and are waiting to do it again. On Sunday morning the Scouts went to the First Presbyterian Church for services. Mr. Ratchford had a very good sermon and we all received something from it. We would like to thank the people of the First Presbyterian Church for letting us join them for this service and we invite them to come and see us sometimes. After church we went to C"s Barbecue to lunch and after that we broke camp and went home, tired and sleepy.

Troop 575 put this little bit of news in the paper to tell what we are going to do or have done. As everyone knows, National Boy Scout Week was the 7th - 13th, and we would like for all the people to have shared it with us.

Discount Tobacco Program To Be Continued

The flue-cured tobacco discount variety program will be continued for the 1964 crop. The objective of this program is to improve the quality of flue-cured tobacco by encouraging farmers to plant varieties that produce high quality tobacco. The program is carried out by reducing the price support on discount varieties to one-half the rate of comparable grades of acceptable varieties. The varieties on the discount list are ones that have been found to be unacceptable by both domestic and export companies.

This program is for the protection of all tobacco farmers and along with better cultural practices by farmers, has done a great deal to up-grade the quality of our tobacco.

All farmers are urged to get their tobacco seed from reliable sources. They should also carry out the fertillization and cultural practices that will produce quality tobacco.

"High quality tobacco is a must if we are to keep our domestic and export markets," said A spokesman for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Bishop Baker Visits Fork Episcopal Church

Sunday, January 26th, was an unusual day for the Congregation of Ascension Episcopal Church in Fork.

The Rt. Rev. Richard Henry Baker, Bishop of The Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, who has his headquarters in Raleigh, made his last official visit to the Fork Church, before his 1965 retirement.

Bishop Baker officiated at the Holy Communion at 3:00 p.m. The Rev. Downs Spitler, Jr. baptized three new members of the Church, Sherry, Terry and Mark Potts, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Avalon Potts of Advance, Route 1.

Bishop Baker confirmed Mrs. Marilyn Potts into full Church membership.

Bishop Baker also dedicated a Funeral Pall which had been given to the Fork and Cooleemee Churches as a Memorial by the family of Mrs. Prudence Rattz.

After this unusual sequence of worship service, Bishop Baker was honored at a Reception in the Church Parish Hall and was presented with an engraved silver bowl by the Congregation.

Social Security In Davie County

More than 438,900 men, women and children in North Carolina were receiving social security benefit payments at the end of 1963. These payments amounted to about $23,623,000 a month, according to Taft McCoy, Field Representative for the Social Security Administration in Salisbury, N. C. "This represents an increase in the number of beneficiaries of about 6½ percent over the same month last year," he said.

The social security program was 28 years old last August 14. In reviewing the growth of the program, Mr. McCoy noted that at the close of 1940, the first year in which monthly payments were made, only 200,000 people in the nation were receiving payments. In December 1963, over 19 million were on the social security benefit rolls. Benefit payments in calendar year 1963 totalled approximately $15,138,156,000.

Many changes have been made in the program since its rather modest beginning. At first only workers in commerce and industry were covered. Now, more than 9 out of 10 working Americans are covered by the program. Nine out of every 10 children and their mothers can count on monthly benefits if the family breadwinner dies. Nearly 90 percent of the people reaching 65 in 1963 were eligible for benefits.

The basic idea of the social security law is a simple, one, Mr. McCoy said. During working years employees, their employers, and self-employed people pay social security taxes which go into special funds. When earnings stop because the worker has retired, or died, or is disabled, payments are made from the funds to replace part of the earnings the earnings the family has lost.

"Many people have a very hazy idea of just what to expect from social security at death, disability, or retirement," said Mr. McCoy, "and that's why we encourage folks to come see us and get firsthand information on this program that means so much to so many."

The Salisbury Social Security Office is located at 105 Corriher Avenue, Salisbury, N. C.

Carter Jr. of Cooleemee and Kermit Bailey of Clemmons, represented the two Episcopal Churches of Davie County, Good Shepherd Church of Cooleemee and Ascension Church, Fork, at the 148th Episcopal Diocesan Convention which was held at the Chapel of The Cross in Chapel Hill on January 28th and 29th. The Rev. Downs Spitler, Jr. Rector of the two missions also attended the Convention as a Clerical Delegate from Davie County.

Several items of significant importance were acted upon by the Convention. It was learned that the Episcopal Home for the Aging in Southern Pines will be opening in the Spring. Approval was also granted for the building of a new Diocesan Headquarters Building on the Beltline Highway in Raleigh. The delegates were given a very informative and moving presentation on Tuesday Evening by the Ven. Mrs. Jack Sanford Heads Heart Fund

Mrs. Jack Sanford will be chairman of Davie County's 1964 Heart Fund campaign, it was announced today by the North Carolina Heart Association. Proceeds of the campaign will be used to fight the heart and circulatory diseases, now responsible for more than 54 percent of all deaths in the United States. These diseases include heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and inborn heart defects.

The annual nationwide campaign, which supports the research, education and community service programs of the American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters, begins with the opening of Heart Month, February 1. It continues through February 29.

"I am happy to accept the chairmanship of the 1964 Heart Fund campaign and to join actively in this health crusade which is saving hearts in our own community and throughout the nation," Mrs. Sanford said.

"This assignment is challenging because the Heart Cause is so very important. It is unique in that it is concerned with a great complex of diseases which constitutes the Number One U. S. health problem of our times."

The Heart Fund will reach its high point here on the week-end of Heart Sunday, February 23, when volunteers will visit their neighbors to distribute information about the heart and its diseases and to receive contributions. Similar Heart Sunday visitations are to be carried out by more than 1,750,000 Heart Fund volunteers in residential communities throughout the nation.

H. R. Hendrix, Jr., Named Chairman

GOP Holds County Convention

Approximately two hundred men and women from every precinct in Davie County met in the court room of the Court House last Saturday afternoon for the County Convention of the Republican Party. John T. Broor, temporary chairman, presided.

H. R. Hendrix, Jr. was elected Chairman of the Davie County Republican Party's Executive Committee; Mrs. Clay Tutterow, vice-chairman; Jim Wilson, secretary; William E. Hall, treasurer; Mrs. George Jordan, finance chairman and Mrs. Louise Patterson, publicity chairman.

Glenn L. Hammer introduced William E. Hall, local attorney who gave the keynote address, titled "Don't Fail to see the Forest for the Trees". He said our present foreign policy had no ascertainable goal and that if George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and other founders of our nation could know that Panamanians could spit on the American Flag and nothing be done about it; that American boys could be shot down and nothing be done about it, and so on, these's men's graves would be in upheaval. The American people are seeing little things [trees] one at a time and failing to see the great danger [the forest] we are entering. He warned that in our present domestic policy the trend is so far towards government taking away personal liberty that the farmer may soon be told how many cows he can milk, the employer told whom and how many he can employ and the employee, whom he will work beside, where he will work, how long he can work and so on. Men leading us down in this direction are men too eager for power. They do not believe in the individual liberty on which our country was founded. We must stop the trend before we are lost in the forest! Look to the Republican Party for things on which our country was founded!

Everyone is invited to hear Congressman James T. Broyhill who will speak at a Lincoln Day dinner at seven p.m., Thursday February 13th in the High School cafeteria.

Mrs. George Schladensky displayed the beautiful patriotic quilt which the Republican Women's Club is making to be given away to the lucky ticket holder on April 4th.

All Republicans are urged to meet at 1 P. M. next Saturday, February 15th, at the Courthouse in Mocksville, from where the group will travel together to attend the District Convention in Statesville at the Courthouse at 2 P. M.

We all have within us a center of stillness surrounded by silence.

Government payments in the county were also down during 1963 as compared to the previous year. Last year government payments amounted to $172,793 as compared to $255,593.44 for 1962.

Broken down these were as follows....the 1963 payments shown first with the 1962 payments in parentheses:

A. C. P. .....$59,138 ($61,674.16).

Feed Grain Program....Payments.....$44,297 ($71,916.46).

Wheat Program Payments.....$42,706 ($93,705.24).

Wool Incentive Payments.....$1,300 ($1,246.60).

Conservation Reserve.....$25,352 ($27,050.98).

Tobacco made a decided drop during 1963. The report shows 1,025 acres harvest with a yield per acre of 1497 lbs. a total production of 1,534,081, which sold at an average of .52 for a total sale of $797,722. In 1962, there were 1,150 acres harvested with a yield per acre of 1628 lbs. for a total of 1,862,200 lbs. which sold at an average of .60 for $1,117,320 total.

Cotton also showed a decrease during 1963, sales totaling $99,450 as compared to $140,000 for 1962. Corn was down $210,000 to $260,000 for the previous year. Wheat sales totaled $126,360 for 1963 as compared to $160,000 for 1962. Oats sales were only $80,000 last year as compared to $200,000 for 1962. Barley was up, $150,000 last year to $125,000 for 1962. Rye was the same, $90,000 for each year, and this was also true of soybeans at $225,000 each year.

Hay made a decided drop from $350,000 in 1962 to $120,000 last year....attributed to the drought.

The sale of fruit and vegetables also declined last year from $214,000 in 1962 to $150,000 in 1963.

Forest products sales increased during 1963 as follows: Pulpwood sales $50,000 as compared to $42,000 for 1962; Lumber $600,000 as compared to $500,000 for 1962; and other forest products $75,000 as compared to $60,000 in 1962.

The sale of livestock products was as follows... the 1963 total being shown and the comparative 1962 sales in parentheses:

Hogs $125,000 ($120,000); Beef Cattle, $460,000 ($450,000); Other Cattle, $340,000 ($350,000); Sheep, $8,000 (9,000); Broilers, $500,000 ($500,000); Turkeys $3,000 ($2,000; Hens ($25,000).

Milk sales increased during 1963 reaching a total of $2,950,000 (as compared to $2,750,000 for 1962.

Egg sales amounted to $200,000, which was the same as the previous year.

Wool sales for 1963 amounted to $2,600 as compared to $2,800 for 1962; meat sales, $180,000 for 1963 and $175,000 for 1962. The sale of honey for 1963 was $3,400 as compared to $3,000 for 1962. The sale of other products amounted to $12,000 for both years.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

By NORTH CALLAHAN

How fast we will eventually travel, only time will tell, but the airplane industry is hurrying up the answer. Recently there have been announcements about the new American planes to come, and the fantastic speeds at which they will fly. Passing a 5th Avenue window, I was impressed, however, with a display showing a model of what the British plan to produce. The long and slender plane is expected to be operational by the 1970's, will fly at an estimated 1500 miles per hour, and should be able to make the trip from New York to London in 2½ hours, just about half the time required for the present jets.

An old man sat on his front porch in Vermont, rocking back and forth. A passerby called out, "How are you, Silas?" The old man did not interrupt his rocking, but replied, "None of your gol-darned business! And if ye were not a neighbor of mine, I wouldn't have told ye that much."

Years ago there was a young boy with a dream so simple it brought tears to the eyes of those around him. His dream was to walk as other children did, after having his legs burned almost to the bone in an accident at home. His family worked with him toward this vision. Years went by, but they weren't disheartened, and one memorable day, he finally walked. Then he actually found he could run. And how he could run. The world knows him as one of the all-time greats of the track, Glenn Cunningham. Another example of a dream come true is that of a young girl whose family was so needy that friends insisted she get any kind of a job she could to help support them. But she begged to have a musical career. Within six months, she was singing at the Radio City Music Hall. In 18 months, she was auditioned, accepted and on her way to becoming a bright star of the Metropolitan Opera. Her name: Mimi Benzell.

It was a cold Sunday morning in this city, the temperature below freezing, the sidewalks icy and the streets flanked by heavy drifts of snow. In the old but mellow church on the corner, there was no one except the minister - and Mrs. Spand, an 89-year-old woman who had hobbled the ten blocks from where she lived. "Mrs. Spand," the minister exclaimed, "how did you get here on such a morning?" She smiled and replied, "My heart gets here first; then it is easy for the rest of me."

A newspaper received the following letter: "Dear Editor - Thursday I lost a gold watch which I valued very highly. Friday, I placed an ad in your lost and found column and waited. Saturday, I went home and found the watch in the pocket of another suit - you have a wonderful paper."

Is your brain tired? In a series of studies Drs. Willard Kerr and Ward Halstead of the University of Chicago examined a number of executives over 50 years old, with the object of determining whether there is any deterioration in mental ability at these ages. The answer was no. The doctors found that it is when the brain has too little to do that mental deterioration is more likely.

LONG WEAR

Many architects call for rough sawn western red cedar or Douglas fir siding, which is stained to save maintenance expense. Such exterior stained walls keep their appearance for many years.

Valentine's Day Brings Heart Fund Appeal

NEXT FRIDAY is St. Valentine's Day, which, according to 7-year-old Susan Mangini, can best be observed by giving generously to the 1964 Heart Fund. Susan, a beneficiary of heart surgery, lives at Bakersfield, Calif.

We are about to celebrate St. Valentine's Day. The youngsters will have their dances. The mails will be filled with greetings — some frilly as they were in the olden days, some more likely to grab the hair of a true romantic. And gifts will be exchanged as tokens of love and affection on this day devoted to affairs of the heart.

That this day should take on an additional "heart" significance, as it has, seems entirely fitting. It is now also the midpoint of the annual Heart Fund Drive, which, too, is dedicated to "affairs of the heart" — specifically to protecting hearts against the leading health enemy of our time, the heart and blood vessel diseases.

It seems equally appropriate on St. Valentine's Day to suggest that you make a gift for all hearts, for we know of no more appropriate day than this to "love thy neighbor as thyself" — which is precisely what you do when you give to the Heart Fund. You help save thousands of lives everywhere by making possible Heart Association programs of research, education and community service. So give as generously as you can.

Human Error Is Usually Involved—

Accidents And Tragedies

Tragedy seems to be stalking the highways of Davie County this year....especi ally this month of February.

As if to foretell of death, injury and destruction to occur....the month of February was less than eight hours old when two West Virginia cars collided head-on just outside of Mocksville on US 601 North. The result of this wreck was five hospitalized with serious injuries and property damage in excess of $5500.

Sunday, February 2nd, there was a tragic collision on US 158 which took the lives of five members of a well-known and respected Caldwell County family. The five victims included three generations and wiped out completely a branch of the Annas family. In addition to the five deaths, in one car, the driver of the other car was hospitalized with serious injuries. Property damage in this accident was in excess of $1600.00.

Then Thursday, February 6th, another head-on collision on US 158 near Cedar Creek claimed the life of T. Holt Haywood & critically injured his wife. This collision, between a 1963 Pontiac and a tractor-trailer, completely demolished the car and severly damaged the tractor.

Later last Thursday a woman pedestrian was hit by an automobile near Monleigh Garment Company and was hospitalized with injuries.

There have been other accidents this month....some quite serious....but these pale almost to insignificance when compared to the slaughter involved in the three head-on collisions.

It is only natural that speculation follows such tragedies as citizens join with the investigating officers in seeking out the cause....the reason why. Many conclusions are reached.....few of which are valid simply because they fail to take in all the factors involved.

One speculation that was making the rounds last week was that all of the victims would be alive if Interstate 40 had been completed through Davie. But as is always true with a supposition....this fails to recognize reality in deference to a suppose. For example in this reasoning one might as well say...."It wouldn't have happened had they stayed home!"

But perhaps the relationship to the unfinished I-40 link and the accidents does deserve to be pursued a little further....not to justify it as a cause of the accidents.... but to better clarify this speculation as some are saying that after driving on a divided highway one perhaps becomes less careful in meeting approaching cars on an undivided highway. But let's look at the accidents:

The collision Saturday morning on US 601 involved two out-of-state cars.....one coming from Florida & the other heading for that state. Both of these cars had traveled considerable distance just prior to colsion on an undivided highway. The car in fault had traveled quite a lengthy distance on 601 which is not divided.

The one Sunday....a local car and one out of the county. The volkswagon had traveled approximately 36 miles on an undivided highway prior to the accident.... and the local car, which was in fault, had not been on the Interstate section.

The one Thursday saw the Haywoods leaving from their home on US 158 and traveling on this same undivided highway for approximately 8miles before the accident. The tractor-trailer had traveled considerable distance on an undivided highway.

These facts are cited only to illustrate that the accidents did not occur between cars just leaving a divided highway to travel on an undivided section.

It is an established fact that divided highways are safer. Also, a divided highway usually prevents the head-on collision type of accidents that Davie County has experienced so tragically this month. But the divided highways do not prevent either accidents or fatalities.

This year one man has already been killed on I-40 this side of Winston-Salem. Last fall another car jumped the median and collided head-on with another car in a tragic accident in Rowan County. Just to cite two illustrations.

Much time is being devoted each and every day to the nation's number one problem....that of highway safety. However, until someone....somewhere....finds a way to completely eliminate the biggest enemy of mankind since the beginning of time... HUMAN ERROR....there will always be accidents and tragedies.

"A Christian Lady and Gentleman Everyday."

Mr. and Mrs. T. Holt Haywood

Tragedy strikes all ages and in all walks of life.....And it was under most tragic circumstances that Mr. and Mrs. T. Holt Haywood were killed last Thursday as they were enroute to Florida for a vacation. He was killed instantly and Mrs. Haywood, critically injured, died Sunday evening.

The accomplishments and service of Mr. Haywood are great and are recounted elsewhere in this newspaper. The esteem in which he was held was indictative by the men and women from all walks of life that attended his funeral Saturday.....and by the messages of sympathy that poured in from all sections of the state and nation. These were representative of the financial, manufacturing, civic and governmental organizations with which he had been affiliated during his long and active career as a businessman, a civic leader and a farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood resided on Arden Farm, located on the banks of the Yadkin River in Davie County. Here Mr. Haywood had both his home and his office. He always listed himself and considered himself a resident of Clemmons and greatly aided in all of the civic activities of that community as well as operating the Arden Packing Company there. Mr. Haywood also had great interest in Davie County and during the last few years purchased and developed the West Arden Farm on US 64 West. It was here that the North Carolina Hereford Association met last fall.

Mrs. Haywood, the former Mary Louise Bahnson, was active in cultural and church activities in and around Winston-Salem. In recent years she composed and published several church anthems.

As an editoral in the Winston-Salem Journal pointed out:

"Mr. Haywood, of course, had made his influence felt in business, civic and church circles long before he became absorbed in farming and farm folk. But it is not surprising that he is being recalled today primarily as a 'gentleman farmer' in the pure sense of the term. For Mr. Haywood was both a gentleman to the core and a farmer who truly loved all growing and living things."

And in the words of their minister:

"How very full they had filled their lives with service. They were in truth a Christian lady and gentleman every day...."

This area....and even the world.....need more citizens such as Mr. and Mrs. T. Holt Haywood.

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — Action on the tax bill is expected to be finalized shortly. I voted against the measure, because I cannot justify reducing Federal income taxes at a time of prosperity when Congress is asked to continue to appropriate more funds than it can expect in revenues. There are many national needs and one of them concerns Federal income taxes which I regard as too high and often confiscatory. But the fact is that high taxes are necessary simply because of high governmental expenditures.

I do not believe that the proposed tax bill is the solution for the problems which face the taxpayers or their government. I think that the Federal government would be justified in spending for useful purposes in excess of its revenues during war time or during a depression emergency. At the same time, I think it is inexcusable for the Federal government to spend more than its revenues when these conditions are not present and particularly when the Presidential Economic Report tells us that we are in a period of prosperity. This is the time when we ought to be paying governmental costs as we go. For this reason, I think it is the height of financial folly for Congress to cut taxes when it does not propose to pay for the appropriations it will make. In substance, this is a tax cut to be paid for largely by new national debt.

The nation is closing its eyes to financial difficulties that are building up for this generation and the generations to follow. Congress has been debating this proposal for many months, but even among the proponents there is still no enthusiasm for this tax measure.

The substance of the arguments for the bill is that this is the most palatable panacea for a country that has grown weary of the high cost of government. There is little feeling around the country that governmental costs will lessen much ,and so the argument is made that the country needs a tax cut to stimulate a prosperous economy. This in turn, it is suggested, is the easiest way to balance the budget.

It ought to be noted that siren promises were enlisted in favor of the 1954 tax cut on the theory then that the budget could easily be balanced by this method. The record is that it did not work out the way for the national mood sustained Federal spending at greatly increased rates. In the 11 Federal budgets since 1954, the Federal Treasury will have accumulated an additional deficit of $46.4 billion.

What should be of concern to the Nation is the faot that more and more "deficit spending' is looked upon with favor and is proposed as a solution to the nation's economic ills. In my judgment the fallacy of our thinking lies in our unwillingness to face the fact that for every governmental expenditure there must be a day of tax reckoning. A failure to recognize this for any sustained period of history presents grave national hazards. Either we must increase revenues to pay for proposed expenditures or we must be willing to reduce expenditures to the level of revenues we are willing to pay.

I favor the reduction of expenditures, because I think there are not commanding the necessary support of the taxpayers.

Blessed is the man who, having nothing to say, abstains from giving in words evidence of the fact.

REPLICA OF SQUIRE BOONE CABIN

The cabin above is a replica of one which the Boone family, Squire, Sarah and children, occupied when they moved into Davie County. Their cabin is believed to have been located on the banks of Bear Creek and the present home of Mrs. George Evans on U.S. 64 West is believed to have been built around a cabin similar to this.

Counselor's Corner

By BILL OAKLEY, GUIDANCE DIRECTOR
DAVIE COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Medical Health Careers

When we think of medical health careers we normally think of doctors and nurses. We have, by experience, learned that there are many types of doctors. Specialization has made the field of medicine very broad. The same has applied to nursing. We now have many types of nurses, psychiatric nurses, occupational physical therapists, anesthetists, nurse, registered nurse, and so on. The duties performed in each of these areas are varied and depend on the amount of training.

For a young girl interested in nursing, the advantages are many. It is a career that can also prepare her as nothing else can for success as a mother. It is a career that she can return to, even in her middle years. It brings her into every level of society. It brings financial security, and most of all it brings a sense of usefullness to others. There are 460,000 active registered nurses, and will need 70,000 more by 1970. In North Carolina the situation is such that tremendous amounts of money have been put into scholarships and loan funds for nurses. Senate Bill 485 appropriates $40,000 in scholarships for anesthetists. House Bill 1165 provides $25,000 for medical technicians, and hospital programs along with college programs have long had many scholarships and loan funds.

How to apply:

In trying to decide where to apply for training, consideration should first be given to (1) the amount of time required to complete the program (2) the cost (3) accreditation of the school and (4) which area to specialize in.

The amount of time required to complete a program ranges from 6 months to a year for nurses aid to four years with a college degree program.

The following are courses that can be completed in three months: Dental assistant, nurses aid, X-ray technician.

Six months: Cytotechnologist

One year: Practical Nurse, laboratory assistant

Two years: Dental laboratory technician, medical technician
Medical secretary.

Three years: Registered nurse (R. N.-hospital program) medical records librarian.

Four Years: Registered nurse (R. N.-college degree program)
Psychiatric Nurse, Surgical Technician.
Physical Therapist, Occupational Therapist

There are more areas of specialization, but one can see that some programs are short and some are long and costly. The three months course as a dental assistant at the University of North Carolina costs--about $300.00. The other programs vary in cost depending on whether the study is done at a hospital or college. If it is done at a hospital, the cost may range from $250.00 per year to $700.00. At a college it may amount to a $1000.00 a year or more.

The accreditation of the school is very important as hospitals become very concerned when courses are transferred or a person applys for a job.

In deciding which area to specialize in, a student should first decide what they would like to do on the job. Some require work in the operating room, the nursery, cleaning beds giving shots, and so on, depending on the amount of training. Some students would be shocked when first exposed to some phases of nursing, and each student should discuss all the points of advantages and disadvantages of each area of nursing before making the decision to become a nurse. At the high school, we have interested students to visit a hospital, talk with nurses, read books and material, and talk with the counselor before making application. It is not wise for any career to choose it simply because of parents wishes, prestige, or money. The cost and time involved are too great to lose because of a bad choice. Anyone wishing information concerning any of these programs may contact the high school guidance office for complete details.

TEXT: "No circumstance is a tragedy. Our attitude makes it so" - Unknown.

A hen-pecked plumber rang the bell. The husband and wife both came to the door together. As all three stood in the hall the husband said,

"I wish, before you go upstairs, to acquaint you with my trouble."

Shyly the plumber dropped his eyes and mumbled,

"I'm pleased to meet you, ma, am."

Why do few people have troubles as great as ours? If they only knew how difficult our circum-

The Interstate and The Tragedy

The tragic Davie County collision which took the lives of five members of a well-known and respected Caldwell County family, is a tragic shock to this entire area.

The five victims included three generations and wiped out completely a branch of the Annas family, as it included the grandmother, her only two sons, her only grandchild and daughter-in-law.

The mother of the driver of the other car involved in the collision, is reported as saying that her son has been subject to epileptic seizures since being involved in another wreck several years ago. While it is too late to do anything for the Annas family which held such great promise, it would seem that the policy of issuing driving permits to persons subject to such seizures, should be carefully re-examined.

There is one thing none can dispute. Had the new Interstate highway been completed in the area where the collision took place, the tragedy would not have occurred, and the Annas family would still be alive. Probably the greatest single benefit that the new Interstate highway system assures us, is its safety. These superroads will soon pay for their cost in life saving, as well as in the many other benefits they assure motorists.

WASHINGTON REPORTS . . . The approximately 150 North Carolinians who went to Washington last week for the two-day business conference sponsored by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce came away enriched with these rumors:

1. The Baker investigation, begun many weeks before the death of President John F. Kennedy, was originally started by political enemies of Vice President Johnson to sidetrack him as a running mate at the Democratic Convention coming up in Atlantic City this summer. In other words it was planned to embarrass the Vice President and not, as it has turned out, the President of the United States.

2. Nothing will come out in the investigation which will damage seriously the high opinion most people of America have for the Presidency.

3. Bobby Baker will not go to jail. The hearings, which will go on into the spring, may show Baker was at times careless with the truth — a common failing in these sophisticated days of the twentieth century — but that he commited no "legal" crimes. Although N. C. Sen Everett Jordan commented, when given the responsibility of the Baker thing, that he felt as if somebody had handed him a live grenade, the situation does not seem nearly so explosive as it did several weeks ago.

4. The Republican Party, ever eager to find a vicuna hanging in the Democratic closet, will bear down hard to the B Boy between now and the Election in November. But, as of right now, the consensus is — among the Democrats —that little political hay will be made of it.

PRINCE . . . One of Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges' chief assistants is a career man in Washington and a native of North Carolina.

He is John Hubert Prince, who grew up in Tabor City. He has been with the Government for 26 years and is now deputy secretary of the U. S. Department of Commerce. His brother, Eldred, runs the family's Chevrolet business in Tabor City and in Loris, South Carolina.

Prince says — and he can be excused for some prejudice in the matter — that Luther Hodges is ranked around Washington's Know-How group as probably the strongest Secretary of Commerce we have ever had. When he went there, according to Prince, Hodges found the place a catch-all with little strength and no direction. This has all been changed. The change, Prince insists, began about two minutes after Hodges formally took office.

We would say that the secret of Hodges' strength is that he does in Washington as he did while Governor: gathers about him men of real ability — men like Paul Johnson, Volt Gilmore, and, if you please, men like John H. Prince, a Wake Forest alumnus who knows every pig path in that Washington jungle.

WRITE NOW . . . North Carolina schools planning for their seniors or other groups special pilgrimages to the New York World's Fair — it opens on April 22 — should write the N. Y. World's Fair Corp., Flushing 52, N. Y., for the special economical rates.

These are in effect if 50 or more tickets are purchased.

FILING DATES . . . It is one thing to say you are going to run for office — but quite another to plank down the fee and actually get into the fray with both feet.

This is why some who have said they would be candidates for this or that position still have an opportunity not to do so.

And, to look at the other side of the coin, if you DON'T file, you CAN'T RUN.

So, candidates and would be candidates, watch those filing dates!

ALL THE SAME . . . If you keep up with public affairs at all, you know that one of the most bitter fights being waged in state and nation is between companies like Southern Bell, Duke Power Co., and Carolina Power & Light on one hand and the electric membership cooperatives on the other. It' real rough — all the way — and if you have a solid opinion as to which side is right, count yourself as lucky . . . or a stockholder.

Be that as it may, we note one thing in common in the three announced candidates for lieutenant governor: each one has rendered real service to the electric coops — and this goes, almost equally, for Clif Blue, John Jordan, and Bob Scott. The main difference, if any, is that Blue and Jordan, gave REA legislative assistance, while Scott's aid was in the nature of coaching from the sidelines.

The race for the No. 2 place will be — in many odd and varied ways — more interesting than the campaign for No. 1.

IN LONDON . . . This is the true story of a London, England, hotel experience. Only the locations have been changed to protect the innocent.

This wealthy, self-made manufacturer in Westrn North Carolina has a 35 year old son he has tried — by prayer and otherwise —to bring up in the business. The boy, an alumnus of a big university, is not worth the powder it would take to blow him up, as they say, but the father loves him so much . . . and has done so much for him. But nothing worked.

Sometimes weeks would go by when the father and his ailing wife would not see their wandering boy.

Last month the father, tired, ill, and disgusted, took a trip to London . . . to get his mind off his troubles. On the first evening there he walked into his hotel, asked the clerk for his key. He went to his room, finding there in bed in a drunken stupor his son. He quietly closed the door, checked out of the hotel, and caught the first plane home.

The son has the same name as his father — and the desk clerk had given him the key to Junior's room.

This is a true story—and true tragedy.

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing this romance affair atwixt Liz Taylor and this feller Burton and that calls fer a heap of discussing.

First off, Mrs. Burton allowed as how Mr. Burton was the kindest man in the world fer allowing her to git her divorce on the grounds of him being extreme cruel. Ed Doolittle said nobody but a Solomon could figure that one out.

Then Liz, that changes husbands to match her wardrobe, has been married in four different brands of religious faiths and ain't found one yet that has stuck. In the meantime, her and Burton has been living together fer two year in what they was calling a "courtship" arrangement. The whole thing was so confusing that the fellers just decided Liz and this feller deserved each other and let it go at that.

Clem Webster was of the opinion that Liz was a good example of how the wimmen folks was getting to be more of a problem ever day. At his house, fer instant, Clem said it was automatical fer his old lady to have the last word, but what was gitting him down was them thousand words afore she got down to the last one.

Bug Hookum allowed as how the law said a husband was the head of the house, and he had noted where the courts has ruled a pedestrian has the right of way, and Bug was of the opinion that both was safe if they didn't try to demand their rights.

When the fellers at the country store git to discussing wimmen Mister Editor, things can go in any direction. Zeke Grubb claimed we needed a new law agin a woman having a hair-do more'n one foot high. He said he might compermise fer 18 inches and that was his ceiling. But it was general agreed they ain't nothing in the Constitution agin them space hairdos. One of the fellers recollected New York passed a law agin the tatto business but the big court held agin the law, claimed it was infringing on personal liberty.

Josh Clodhopper figgered maybe the fellers was too hard on the wimmen folks, said he was reading a piece in the papers where a couple was celebrating their 50th stances, how painful, how twisted, how endless, how hopeless, then, perhaps they would help us instead of briefly endure our struggle and passing on. That is a fable hope. The truth is a little of another's troubles goes a long way. You tire of their troubles and they tire of yours.

Each of us must face his circumstances for himself. The longer we wait for someone to help us over them, the higher they loom. Our personal attitudes toward our circumstances reduce or magnify them.

The surest way to reduce a problem is to walk straight to it. Like the distant hill, problems flatten as you approach them. But you must make the effort yourself. Try it. You'll be delighted with the results and pleased with your own courage.

CONGRATULATIONS AND BEST WISHES TO OUR WONDERFUL BOY SCOUTS

SCOUTING is one of the strongest influences for good in the life of a boy. It knows no race or creed or class. It serves rich and poor alike, and its aim is to help each of these boys become the BEST CITIZEN that he can make of himself. The future of America and of the world looks brighter because of the ideals instilled in our young men through their Scouting Work.

Those who were lucky enough to enjoy Scouting in their own youth know perhaps best of all what the nation owes to the BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA. On their young shoulders will fall the mantle of leadership in days to come. We are thankful for the fine Scout leaders in this area who give their time in training our citizens of tomorrow.

SUPPORT OUR LOCAL SCOUTS. Let them know we are all behind them, and show them cause for their effort in this worthwhile project for our Youth.

Basketball At Davie High

By MONTE WILSON

Tuesday, Friday and Saturday were the days for last week's basketball games with Davie County's representatives, the Rebels and Rebelettes.

Tuesday night at Davie the gym was packed with fans anxious for the game with Mooresville to begin. Mooresville's fans had a sign with them that said in large letters "StOMP DAVIE", that they held up throughout the game.

In the first quarter of the girls' game, the teams showed the fans how to dribble, going back and forth between the baskets, sometimes passing the ball to another player. In the second, Mooresville began to drive into the basket, get fouled and steal the ball on the way back down court. So ended the first half 14 to 9, in favor of Mooresville.

The Rebelettes out-scored Mooresville in the final half doing a good job both ways. Mooresville's girls continued to play a rough, coarse brand of basketball that seemed to delight their fans, but infuriated ours. We had to shoot more this half, because our girls missed some close shots that they should have hit. Dorothy Seaford scored 10 points for our high scorer, Janie Zimmerman picked up 9, while Kathy Grimes, who usually scores around 17 points! gathered 6, in an off game.

Mooresville's girls scored well in the first three quarters and got the upperhand on the fouls to take the game 33 to 31.

Mooresville's boys came into this game as the No. 1 team in the conference and proved that they had the stuff that it takes to be worthy of such a position. The Blue Devils provided the Rebels with a close demanding game that gives a player a sense of accomplishment in having played well.

The fans really enjoyed this game, unquestionaly the most closely contended game played thus far.

Commie Shoffner was outstanding in the first half, rebounding and hitting several real good fade-away shots to boost our score. We outscored the No. 1 team in every quarter, shooting and handling the ball well. This exciting, very good game gave us a tie for first place in the conference standings. The score at the final buzzzer was Davie 66, Mooresville 54.

The following Friday, both of Davie's teams made the long trek to Monroe for the second of last week's games. A surprising number of fans made the trip to support their teams.

The Rebels and the Rebelettes had trouble getting used to playing on half of a court instead of the whole one that they are accustomed to. Monroe always had a strong home team and no wonder. That long, narrow court is enough to discourage any opponent.

Our girls had a bad week last week and possibly this was their worst night both in hitting and ball handling. They scored only one point in the first quarter and four in the third enabling Monroe to take an easy lead.

We couldn't tell how much time was left in each quarter with Monroe's clock and the same was true with the out-dated scoreboard. A small, inadequate gym coupled with a bad night, too easily handed Monroe a victory that should have been ours. When Monoe's girls played at Davis, the Rebelettes outscored them by 20 points.

Despite the advantage of playing at home and of possessing a small court, Monroe's boys found that the task of surprising a team of Rebels was too much of an undertaking. Monroe had a tight defense, spreading their arms out the small court was blocked and hard to penetrate. The first half was one long, tough plunge at Monroe's defense which although hit pretty hard, held to lead the half's scoring.

In the third quarter the Rebels, working harder than ever, gradually began to bite away at Monroe's lead. Going into the fourth, Monroe had a ten point advantage that didn't mean anything to a determined team. The Rebels plugged up Monroe's basket and began to hit shot after shot in a long delayed comeback. The Rebels did a tremendous job in this last quarter, taking the lead and winning 56 to 53, a close game down to the last minute of play.

The next night, Saturday, Davie again took to the road for a makeup game at Troutman .

In the first quarter of the girls' game, Lois Allen of Troutman hit a couple of fine shots that seemed to float through the air. Dorothy Seaford was the high scorer for Davie with 8 points.

For the most part our girls still weren't hitting the basket as they should have and relied on their defense to pull them through. In the third quarter the Rebelettes poured it on and took their lead. They finished the half with a tight defense to win 29 to 26.

The boys' game was a miserable and tragic giveway that cost us first place in the conference. Both teams had tall, good jumping boys, but Troutman was not the team that should have beaten us. It was just trying to knock us off ....to keep us out of the running at all costs.

The half-time score, and this was a boys' game, was Troutman 24 and Davie, only 8. Troutman fans said that this was the best they had ever seen them play, and not just defensive, but offensive as well.

The Rebels did better in the second half, outscoring Troutman, but the lead was too great. We just didn't seem to get together to get the job done. This was one of the most revolting and lowest scoring games that Davie has had the misfortune to be in. The final score was Troutman 43 and Davie 28.

If the Rebels really work hard and are determined to win they can still come out the conference champions. Let's stand behind them and let them know that we're with them all the way.

A few quiet words

There is no need to shout. Winston speaks for itself.
It is America's largest-selling filter cigarette, by far.

What does Winston have that makes it the leader?
Quite simply, the facts are these:

Winston has a pure white, modern filter.

Winston has exclusive Filter-Blend—fine tobaccos specially selected, then specially processed for filter smoking.

And, of course, Winston has flavor—the best there is.

So if you are thinking of changing to a filter cigarette, consider this:

People who know and enjoy filter smoking make Winston their overwhelming choice.

We think you will, too. Because...
Winston tastes good, like a cigarette should.

What God Hath Promised

God hath not promised
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our lives through;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
Peace without pain.

But God hath promised
Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the way,
Grace for the trials,
Help from above,

Chattanooga Big Wheels vs Atlanta Recks—

Wheelchair Basketball Here Saturday

Two of the outstanding teams in the Southern Conference of the National Wheelchair Basketball Association will play a benefit game here Saturday night.

The game will be played in the Davie High School gymnasium. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m. with the doors opening at 6:30 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at the doors.

The Chattanooga Big Wheels and the Atlanta Recks will meet in what will be the wheelchair league's first game in North Carolina. The game will be for the benefit of the North Carolina Paraplegic Association of which Jo Cooley of Mocksville is vice-president.

Miss Cooley announced that an entourage of around 35 or 40 from Atlanta and Chattanooga are expected to arrive here Saturday afernoon and will stay in several homes throughout the area. In addition there will be around 70 in wheel chairs from all sections of the state to view the game.

"Great interest is being created in wheelchair sports through out North Carolina and we hope to get a wheelchair basketball team organized in this state," said Miss Cooley.

Related Activities

Miss Jo Cooley has announced that D. J. Mando and John Jones will serve as the referees for the wheelchair basketball game here Saturday night.

Members of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce will serve on the welcoming committee, sell tickets, usher and give out programs.

The members of the Davie County Rescue will handle the handle the parking.

The Davie High School Pep Band will play during the half-time activities.

Friends of Miss Cooley will give a reception for the participants in the game and members of the North Carolina Paraplegic Association in the Fellowship Hut of the First Methodist Hut following the game.

Miss Cooley poined out that these wheelchair basketball teams play all over the country and the scores are about the same as in regular basketball.

The Game

An offensive team is allowed 15 seconds instead of ten to move the ball into the front court, and an offensive player cannot remain in the foul lane more than six seconds rather than three while his team has the ball.

There are jump balls, but each jumper has to be firmly seated in his chair, which has to be in the circle at a 45 degree angle to his own basket.

The dribble in wheelchair basketball consists of [1] two pushes of the chair and then two taps of the ball to the floor; [2] two pushes and two taps in series with either or both hands; [3] simultaneously tapping the ball with one hand and pushing the chair with the other.

Though the teams "play for real," there is no body contact permitted. Intentional chair contact by a defensive player approaching the ball handler from behind is pushing.

More About

Basketball Game

The players can't charge either. Contact caused by the momentum of the chair of a player who has made no visible effort to stop it while rolling for a goal is a charge.

Many of the teams built their offense on a single pivot. The center, or any other person in the pivot post, makes his pivot by holding the ball with one hand and moving the chair in a circular direction by turning the wheel with the other hand.

Players need nearly flawless control of their wheelchairs, because if a man with the ball makes any physical contact with the floor, or tilts his wheelchair so far forward that the foot rests touch the floor, the other team gets the ball. Yet they have to be able to move out and cut to get free for shots.

There is a special foul — the physical advantage foul—to keep wheelchair basketball geared to the abilities of the most seriously disabled.

It prevents jumping up in a chair to get posesssion of the ball, illegal use of the stump or leg and misuse of orthopedic innovations (which have to be approved by the officials before the game).

These fouls are considered unsportsmanlike and three disqualifies a player from the game.

Teen-Seen

By DANA BUCHANAN

"Davie High has the most school spirit!" If you don't believe it, just look at all the petitions being floated around. If you have no idea what I'm talking about, the radio station WTOB in Winston - Salem is sponsoring a contest in which schools in this area are participating. The school which sends in the greatest number of petitions is given a fabulous party with a famous recording star as special guest. Davie High was in ninth place Monday. The past Monday night, a signing party was given at the Recreation Center in Cooleemee. If you see any Davie High students wandering around with a bundle of papers in their hands, do us a favor, don't think them mad, just sign!

Speaking of contests, each senior student at Davie High has been invited to participate for the Pharmacy Award. The winning student will receive a U. S. Savings Bond having a cash value of $50 at maturity and the inscription of his name on a plaque to be placed at Davie High. The award will be given to the senior who has written the best paper pertaining to pharmacy.

Papers will be judged on the basis of originality of thought; clarity of expression; accuracy and effectiveness of material submitted. Judges will be from the University of North Carolina and the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

All manuscripts must be submitted to the principal's office on or before April 15, and should be no less than 600 words, or no more than 1,000.

The purpose of this contest is "to introduce the student to pharmacy as a health profession; and to acquaint the student with the score of pharmacy and its scientific aspects."

We expect to see some extremely well written and informative manuscripts from our seniors.

When teachers at Davie High find a good thing they don't let it slip through their fingers as easily as one may think. First, Mrs. Short taught Home Nursing to her first period third year Home Ec girls. Next, Mrs. Nichols taught it in her first period Family Life Class. Now, Mrs. Nichols has asked the girls in her second period Family Life Class who have previously been instructed in the womanly arts of Home Nursing to relay their information to their fellow classmates. There's such a thing as carrying a good thing too far!!

Mrs. Lona Martin Feted On Birthday

Rev. Bruce Hobson Is Complimented

The three congregations, Chestnut Grove, New Union, and Zion Chapel gave their pastor and his family, the Rev. Bruce Hobsons, a miscellaneous shower, Saturday evening, in the old chapel, on the Methodist Assembly grounds.

Despite the continuous downpour of rain, a large crowd was present, and the Hobsons were the recipents of many nice, and useful gifts. Present for the occasion were Mr. Hobson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobson, who sat with them on the rostrum, while the gifts were being opened. Mr. Hobson expressed his appreciation for the many useful gifts they received, after which cake and iced drinks were served as refreshments.

In April, 1963, a Constituting Quarterly Conference was held at Zion Chapel, under the direction of the Rev. John H. Carper. At this conference, the new Sheffield Charge was created, and plans were laid for the construction of a new parsonage.

The parsonage is now completed, and equipped with new furniture. It seems almost incredible that a charge with less than two hundred and fifty members could have accomplished this goal within such a brief span of time. However, to the Davie County Board of Missions and Church Extension, we are indeed grateful for their generous contribution on the parsonage. Also, for their continued interest, and the payment of rent, while a parsonage was being rented.

Within the past few years, all three churches have had building programs. Chestnut Grove; the addition of an educational building, and the remodeling of the sanctuary. New Union and Zion Chapel have completed the construction of new church buildings. And again, we should like to thank the Davie County Board of Missions and Church Extension for their support in each of these endeavors. Also, to the pastors of these churches- past, and present- we appreciate their efforts to help advance these building programs.

And finally, for the members and friends of these churches, we are humbly grateful. They have given unreservedly of their time, their labor, and their means in order that we might grow in Christian fellowship, and advance the work of His Kingdom.

With a feeling of deep gratitude for the accomplishments of the past, it is with hope and courage that we look forward to a bright and successful future.

Basketball At Davie Hi

By MONTE WILSON

Last week Davie played host to Troutman for the first games of the week.

The Rebelettes scored twice in the last few minutes of the first quarter, one on a rebound and once on a drive to knot the score at 4 to 4. In the second quarter, Troutman hit well and pushed our defense hard to take an 8 point lead for the half.

The Rebelettes came back strong in the third quarter, played well, and moved the ball fast and true. Linda Schladensky stripped the net from down-town to open the half and Dorothy Seaford used her left-handed advantage well, scoring several times. Trailing by one point with only a minute left to play, Linda Schladensky scored on a foul shot to tie, 31-31.

Going into overtime, Troutman scored on a short toss to take the lead. Kathy Grimes stole the ball and raced down court to score once again tying the score. With the score standing at 33-all, Lois Allen of Troutman got the ball on a tossup and sank in the last two points with only reconds remaining. The buzzer blew and Lois was carried off the court on the shoulders of her team-mates as our fans stood silent in amazement at seeing victory snatched from our hands.

The Troutman boys were cool and confident and played well from the start. They went right to work and scored heavily in the first few minutes of play to lead at the half 21-18.

In the third quarter our boys worked hard on defense and did not allow Troutman to score until the last few minutes. Two points behind and only 21 seconds left in the quarter, Junior Beal got a basket to tie it up at 33 to 33.

The fourth was fast and furious ball that had the fans on their feet almost the entire quarter. John Parker did an outstanding job in this game, scoring 23 points, the highest so far this season for the Rebels. Commie Shoffner, Roger Pierce and Harry Howell added the extra punch to ice the game in the fourth quarter, 50 to 45.

Davie vs East

Friday night Davie was again host to a visiting team, this time East Rowan. The Rebelettes played good basketball from the start and outscored East in the first quarter by 10 points, giving East only three foul points. Dorothy Seaford and Kathy Grimes sharpened the defense and hit some fine shots, scoring 23 points between them. The Rebelettes were unbeatable ,winning the game 34 to 17.

The boys' game was really fast and hard basketball in which every shot was important. In the first quarter Commie Shoffner scored 10 points, an amazing pace, and the Rebels added to it for a spectacular start. The Rebels outscored East all the way to lead at halftime by the slim margin of 30 to 25.

The second half was the heart-stopper in this game. The lead bounced back and forth like a ping pong ball . . . from East to Davie. With time running out in the third quarter and Davie in the lead, Bobby Gulledge intentionally fouled Roger Pierce hoping to get the rebound from his hot. This little scheme backfired when Roger hit both of his shots to add to our lead.

In the fourth quarter East scored on long shots and took the lead by one point. Larry Bailey, didn't attempt a field goal until the fourth quarter, scored on key plays piling up 13 points for the game.

For the final two minutes the fans stood and cheered as Davie took and held the lead. With a great team effort, the Rebels finished his game with a well-deserved 62 to 52 victory.

George Rowland Recalls Lou Brissie As Youth

The naming of Lou Brissie, formerly of Ware Shoals, S. C., as one of 12 outstanding Physical Fitness Leaders of 1963 has a special meaning for George W. Rowland of Mocksville. Mr. Rowland and Brissie's father were good friends and Mr. Rowland was well acquainted with the former major league baseball star when he was a youngster.

The story of Lou Brissie is an inspiring one:

Handicapped by wounds received in World Waf II, Purple Heart recipient Lou Brissie returned home with an intense realization of the importance of health and fitness as he struggled to earn a position on a major league baseball team. In 1947, following two years confinement in a mititary hospital and 23 operations, the determined young man became a member of the Philadelphia Athletics and that year was named by the sportswriters as the "Most Courageous Athlete of the Year".

Sharpened by his own personal tragedy, Brissie's interest in youth and devotion to fitness became his preoccupation. In 1954, following his retirement from professional ball, he was named Director of the American Legion Baseball program with 380,000 boys participating. For his contribution to youth and baseball, he was awarded the "Americanism Award" in behalf of America's youth at the site of the baseball of Fame in Cooperstown.

Brissie, 39, now a successful Insurance Representative, has actively solicited funds and organized Pony, Colt and Little League teams in his community and state. He is in constant demand to speak before civic, religious and educational groups.

Brissie feels that our nation's fitness problems must be attacked by citizens in their own community .Community Fitness Councils should be organized where leaders, paid and volunteer, can be found, developed and stimulated to work with kids in fitness developments. He has published a dossier explaining the organization of a local council, having found that it has excited interest where it has been distributed.

Kate Riddle Painting Chosen For Exhibition Gallery Of Fine Arts

"Fruit," a painting by Kate Riddle of Advance was chosen for exhibition at the Winston-Salem Gallery of Fine Arts from the sixteenth semi-annual jury of the gallery.

Ann Pollard of Winston-Salem won the jury's first prize of a one-artist show. The second prize of a two-man show was won by Walter Thrift of Virginia Beach, Va., and William Lidh of Cullowhee, N. C.

Juror for the selections was Katharine Kuh of New York, art critic of the Saturday Review" magazine. Mrs. Kuh selected 188 works of 84 artists for acceptance. A total of 691 works of 137 artists was submitted to the jury.

The Winston-Salem Gallery of Fine Arts is a non-profit sales outlet for juried works by artists from North and South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia. Works selected by the semi-annual juries constitute the Gallery's stock, and exhibits drawn from the stock are changed monthly.

Mrs. Kuh said, "The whole idea of the Gallery is exemplary." She praised its operation and the quality of work exhibited. She said she hoped other communities would follow the same procedure.

The Gallery is located at 612 South Main Street in Winston-Salem, in the heart of Old Salem, a complete restoration of a Moravian village settled in 1766. The Gallery is open to the public from 11:00 o'clock A. M. to 5:0 o'clock P. M. Monday through Saturday.

Broyhill Speaker At Lincoln Dinner

About three hundred attended the Lincoln Day Dinner in Davie High School cafeteria which was sponsored by the Davie County Republican Executive Committee last Thursday evening.

Some special guests Ed Broyhill, father of the congressman; Vernon Broyhill; Charles Strong of Greensboro, former senator; and Mrs. Mary Jo Zachary, District chairman.

Congressman James T. Broyhill was the principal speaker. During his speech he said that out of his first year in congress he has had some deep and lasting impressions. "You know", he said, there are two opposing forces at work in this country. One side is for strong federal government, the other force is from the people themselves and they say, 'we will listen to what the experts say, but WE think we know what is best for us and we are going to speak through our elected representatives'. I'm glad the people of this country are still in control, and they are speaking up with conviction - I am proud to say that the people of North Carolina believe that it is not the responsibility of government to tell the people what to do — it is the responsibility of the people to tell the government what to do." We must convince our friends that principles of good government in which they believe as strongly as we do are to be found in the Republican party

Heart Fund Drive Will Be Held Here

When a Heart Fund Volunteer calls at your home in observance of Heart Sunday, it is hoped that the thought running through your mind will be somewhat as follows:

"The dollars I have contributed to earlier Heart Fund drives have been used wisely and effectively. They have now begun to yield important dividends. Achievements to date show why it is important for me to continue to support the Heart Fund."

It would require more space than this newspaper can spare to list all the achievements which Heart Fund dollars have helped to develop since the first Heart fund campaign in 1949. Here are just a few of the highlights:

1. Thanks to significant advances in diagnosis and treatment a higher percentage of heart attack victims are recovering from first attacks and returning to their jobs.

2. The death rate from stroke has been reduced by 22 percent among American men aged from 45 through 64—the "prime of life" years.

3. Medical science has learned how to prevent most initial and recurrent attacks of rheumatic fever, frequent forerunner of rheumatic heart disease.

4. New ways to control high blood pressure have been developed, reducing damage to heart, brain and kidneys.

5. New surgical procedures can now correct most congenital heart defects affecting from 30,000 to 40,000 babies born each year.

The outlook for more conquests is bright. But we cannot overlook the fact that the heart and blood vessel diseases still constitute our foremost health problem. They are responsible for over 54 percent of all deaths.

So, put out the welcome mat for your Heart Sunday visitor. Profit by the heart guarding literature she will leave at your home. Make your contribution a generous one. And remember: More Will Live — the More You Give!

Cotton Proposals For 1964

"It is unnecessary to give further consideration to an acreage diversion plan for the 1964 cotton crop."

This statement was made by Under Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy, in testimony before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry Tuesday, Feb. 11, 1964. Mr. Murphy recommended passage of the already House approved cotton bill and also that this bill be amended as proposed by a recently organized producers committee to provide a domestic allotment choice program. He also urged enactment in time to apply to the 1964 cotton crop.

Mr. Murphy further stated "This proposal would not interfere with the operation of the release and reapportionment system. At the same time it would accomplish the necessary reduction in surplus stocks. This makes it unnecessary therefore, to give further consideration to an acreage diversion plan for the 1964 crop."

The producers committee has proposed for the crops of 1964 through 1967 a voluntary domestic acreage allotment within the present national acreage allotment. The domestic acreage allotment would reflect estimated domestic consumption and would be about two thirds of the effective farm allotments established under current legislation and under H. R. 6196. Producers who choose to plant within the domestic allotment would receive a higher rate of price support not in excess of 15 per cent above the basic support rate on normal production of the acreage planted to cotton. The higher supports would be affected through the use of accumulated CCC stocks.

Producers who plant on the basis of a domestic allotment would maintain their farm acreage history as under present law. To protect the income of small producers, the domestic allotment for small cotton farms would be established as the smaller of 10 acres or the basic allotment. Small producers would receive the higher support without a reduction in acres.

Mr. Murphy said the proposed program would:

1. Eliminate the inequity of the two-price system.

2. Enable cotton to compete more effectively with other fibers by reducing the price of cotton to domestic mills.

3. Reduce government expenditures in fiscal year 1965 by $160 million as compared with present law.

4. Reduce surplus cotton stocks by 2.4 million bales in 1964-65 and 1.5 million bales in each of the next two years.

5. Maintain producer income—"Not as well as we would like but as well as possible under any plan which is workable and supportable." Alternative uses of cotton acreage would more than make up for the reduction in gross income from cotton that would result from the domestic allotment choice.

Department spokesman explained there has been some confusion and misunderstanding about an acreage diversion plan for 1964. This testimony now clarifies the position of the Department.

1964 Feed Grain Sign-Up

The sign-up period for diverting feed grain acreages, including corn, barley and grain sorghum, will be held from Feb. 10 through March 27, 1964.

This is a voluntary program, and farmers who participate in the program receive payment for diverting the acreage and putting the land to a conservation use. They may receive about one-half of their payment at the time they sign their intention to participate.

Car Damaged Sunday In Wreck on NC 801

A 1962 Ford was almost a total loss last Sunday morning after it struck the concrete bridge railing on NC 801 over Interstate 40.

The driver, Judy York, 16, of Mocksville Route 3, was shaken up but not injured.

State Highway Patrolman K. N. Bolick said that the car was heading south when it struck the left side of the bridge railing. The car then continued across the I-40 entrance, coming to rest against a wire fence in the yard of Paul Foster. The cement bridge railing was cracked in three places.

Patrolman Bolick said that a witness, E. R. Legains, of Winston-Salem, told him that he believed a defect of one of the rear tires caused the vehicle to veer to the left and strike the bridge. The driver's foot apparently slipped from the brake onto the accelerator after the impact, causing the vehicle to continue on for some distance. Patrolman Bolick said that both rear tires were flat following the wreck.

In North Carolina... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Mocksville's Young Man Of The Year—

Henry Blair . . . A Renderer of Service

"There are three types of people in the world: Ones that create and make things happen; Ones that watch things happen and participate to some extent; And ones that are so concerned with own personal welfare that they do not even know what is going on", observed a young man last week speaking at the annual DSA Banquet of the Mocksville Junior Chamber of Commerce. This man, an active Jaycee and now seeking the state presidency of this organization, pointed out that Distinguished Service Award winners usually came from the first category....ones that have initiative enough to make things happen.

This observation proved to be true for "Mocksville's Young Man Of The Year".... Henry Blair.

Mr. Blair, in his own quiet way, has been active in most all the affairs that go to make a community a desirable place in which to live.

He is active in his Church....The First Methodist.....serving as a Sunday School teacher; as president of the Men's Fellowship organization and in various other posts.

He is active in two civic organizations .....The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Mocksville Rotary Club....that are most demanding of one's time, effort and interest in the community and it's affairs. Mr. Blair has served both of these organizations in important assignments. One, the Jaycees, he recently served as president; in the Rotary, he served as chairman of a most important committee.

In his chosen profession he has risen from one of the more menial jobs to that of superintent of the Heritage Plant in Mocksville.

In addition to the above, Mr. Blair has cooperated and actively participated in the major fund-raising drives of the community.....serving as co-chairman recently of one of these campaigns.

In addition to the activities on which he was judged in this community, Mr. Blair is also active in his professional organizations that are associated with his line of endeavor.

To many people the DSA award means the accomplishment of some outstanding task.....doing something that attracts outstanding attenion. This of course is true for many recipients of the award....but is certainly not the pole criteria for judgement. Many persons, such as Henry Blair, through quiet interest and effort....by their cooperation with others in various projects .....by their willingness to sacrifice personal time and glory....render most outstanding service to a community.

Your Dollar And Heart Research

Twenty-five cents of each Heart Fund Dollar in North Carolina goes to the American Heart Association and so a quarter donated to the Heart Fund in North Carolina may actually help to finance a heart research project in Los Angeles which, in turn, may help Tar Heel hearts.

Almost two million Heart Fund Dollars have already been spent for heart research in this state and millions more from Los Angeles to Boston. The results of this intensive heart research are coming in almost daily.

Example: University of California scientists appear to have cracked the long-standing mystery of how Nature changes the blood circulation in babies minutes after they take their first breath. They believe that, as a result, the way may soon be open to treat — without surgery — one of the most common of inborn heart defects.

Dr. Nicholas Assali and his associates from the Department of Obstetrics and Physiology — UCLA's Medical Center at Los Angeles have determined the mechanism responsible for closing, soon after birth, a blood vessel essential to the life of the unborn child. Before birth the baby's oxygen needs are supplied by the mother's blood, and the vessel, known as the "ductus arteriosus," routes the baby's blood away from its lungs. Once the baby starts breathing on its own, this by-pass is no longer needed. The ductus shrivels and disappears.

Dr. Assali has found that the "switch" that closes the ductus is oxygen pressure in the blood. As the baby begins to breathe, more and more oxygen is absorbed into the circulation. Oxygen pressure rises. When a critical pressure is reached the ductus shuts, generally within the first half hour after birth.

In several thousand infants born each year, the shunt does not close. Blood that has already been through the lungs returns to them through the ductus instead of moving out to the body through the aorta, the body's main artery.

If the duct is small, little or no damage is done. In these cases the condition may go unnoticed throughout a lifetime. If, however, the ductus is large, from 30 to 70% of the blood that has already traveled through the lungs and picked up fresh oxygen may shuttle futilely back and forth between the aorta and the lungs. The child's growth may be slowed and his life expectancy diminished. Surgery can close such an open duct; in fact, the modern era of heart surgery began with an operation of this type, performed in 1938 by Dr. Robert E. Gross of Boston.

Dr. Assali's findings may help eliminate the need for surgery. Now that the normal closure mechanism has been elucidated, methods may be devised for raising the oxygen pressure of the blood circulating through the shunt.

In describing the mechanism through which the pre-natal circulatory system is altered after birth, Dr. Assali appears to have settled a long-standing medical debate. Three major theories had been proposed. One held that the nervous system sent a message that shut the shunt. Another claimed that closure resulted from the mechanical expansion of the lungs when the child began breathing for itself. Presumably this expansion squeezed the shunt closed. Finally came the oxygen-pressure idea.

Wheelchair Basketball

Attention from all sections of the state will be focused on Mocksville this weekend when the Chattanooga BIG WHEELS play the Atlanta Recks in what is reported to be the first wheel chair basketball game ever played in this state.

The Chattanooga wheelchair basketball team is composed of paraplegics and amuputees in the Chattanooga, Tenn. area. This team was organized in January of 1954 to give greater opportunities to people in wheelchairs and also to demonstrate to the general public that there are many and various activities suitable for people in wheelchairs.

Also, another main objective of wheel chair basketball is to point out and display the fact that although many people are confined to a wheelchair they still have many capabilities and possibilities.

For the first couple of years after being organized this Chattanooga team played against non-wheelchair teams such as alumni groups, industrial teams, veterans organizations and such because there were no other wheelchair teams in the South at the time. These games were played with the BIG WHEELS furnishing wheelchairs to these opposing teams, whose players, as one can imagine were the ones then handicapped as they usually had to learn to maneuver the wheelchairs.

A few years ago more wheelchair teams started springing up over the Southland & the Chattanooga team has been able to expand its program and to cooperate with these other teams in different cities.

The game Saturday night should prove an inspiration to all attending and participating. It will also be a tribute to our own Jo Cooley who has expended much time and effort to stage this event in our locality.

Once again Jo Cooley and her co-associates have proven that where there is desire and determination....there is little handicap.

WIND FINGERS . . . Where two or more are gathered together, the question almost always is: "I won't quote you—but how's this Governor's race coming on?"

The other day we talked to a person who had just returned from a big convention. At this meeting there were upwards of 450 delegates from all sections of the State.

You know what she said? Her answer to my question was: "I didn't once hear it mentioned."

Now I don't believe she even attended the meeting— was probably out shopping the entire two days. Around Raleigh, conversations either begin or end with gubernatorial comment. But, that's Raleigh for you—.

There are many who believe that Richardson Preyer's campaign is moving too fast too soon. They say—and this may be wishful thinking—that it will wear itself out and run down before the Primary on May 30. But even those who say this concede that Preyer seems to have: 1. The Administration's support; 2. A million dollars; 3. Much of the Democratic organization developed by Bert Bennett; 4. The colored vote.

But we notice that civic clubs in some cities which would not have Dr. Lake as speaker in 1960—using some pretext to avoid him—now welcome him with open arms. Also, this Chapel Hill marching; and the Williamston winding is sure to give strength to Dr. Lake and Dan Moore.

However — and on the other hand—aren't they taking strength from each other? In other words, John Doe, living in Doeville, is for Dan Moore — but he would before Dr. Lake if Moore were not running.

If Dr. Lake and Rich Preyer should be in the second Primary —if there is a second Primary— not all the Dan Moore votes would go to Dr. Lake not by a long shot. But if Dan Moore and Rich Preyer were in the second go, all the Lake votes would swing to Moore. The rock-ribbed Lake votes will never vote for Preyer—but just a lot of the Moore votes would be for Preyer rather than Dr. Lake.

Looking at it this way, then, Preyer would be better off in a second Primary with Lake than with Moore.

And Preyer at this time is far, far in the lead over either of his opponents — and if the election were held today might be able to down the two. But, alas, the voting time is still more than three months away. In that time, any one of the three, or all three, could easily stump their toes.

That's the way it looks from here. We have summarized in the foregoing much of the comment heard around Raleigh. We have quoted nobody. It seemed last week as if Don Moore was moving ahead the fastest—but it may be that he has further to go.

NO SMOKING . . . All of this talk about quitting cigarattes, moving to pipe smoking, grapevines, corn silks, etc. reminds us that only in the past two or three years has Mars Hill College permitted smoking on its campus.

And at Falcon, a village between Dunn and Fayetteville, smoking has been outlawed for 30 years. This is the North Carolina home of the Pentecostal Holiness Church. It is one of the cleanest and most beautiful little communities in this State.

WORRY . . . In reporting on Washington tips last week, we neglected to pass along to you the chief worry of Democrats in the nation's capital.

They profess to believe that President Johnson can win hands down over Nixon or anybody else

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — The House-passed civil rights bill comes to the Senate as the formula to prevent discrimnation. Closer analysis demonstrates that the measure is ineptly drafted, sets up vague legal standards, suffers from serious constitutional defects, and has yet to receive adequate Congressional study. In my judgment, if the people knew what was in this bill, they would not tolerate its passage.

If one is to really understand the language and implications of the bill, he must devote an immense amount of study to man's long and bitter struggle for freedom from governmental tyranny, as well as constitutional history and constitutional law. When all is said, the pending 11 section measure outlines a conflict between persons who place a different value upon incompatible things. The legislative struggle now going on is a conflict between those who prefer a supposed equality coerced by law over the freedom of the individual, and those who prefer the freedom of the individual over a supposed equality coerced by law.

The stakes are high for men who love liberty, for we cannot have both equality coerced by law and the freedom of the individual. Fundamentally, this bill involves the use of central governmental power. Advocates of this bill are willing to trample on traditional American liberties, among them the freedom from arbitrary discretionary power vested in a powerful central government. If the government is to assume the power to control attitudes and actions not physically injurious to the persons or properties of others based upon such attitudes, then government destroys the freedom of the individual. If it can do this to effect one purpose, it can do this to effect any or all other purposes it desires. It is for this reason that I think the freedom of every individual in this country is imperiled by this

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I been over to Ed Doolitle's house all afternoon studying his dictionery. Like I told you on account of being such a good speller myself, I ain't never invested in one of them books. But they was times nowadays where a taxpayer can't keep up with what's going on in Washington without a dictionery. If things don't git better in the Congress it looks like I'm going to have to buy one.

Fer instant, I was reading in the papers where Congressmen was now gitting $600 a year more per postage and its was "retroactive" to last July. From the best I can make from Ed's dictionery, this means a Congressman is gitting stamps fer letters he mailed last July when he was already gitting these stamps from his office fund. In a manher of speaking, I recken you'd have to say our Congressmen was now mailing "retroactive" letters. They ain't many folks that can turn this trick.

My memory, Mister Editor, goes back a long way. I can recollect when the wimmen folks wore starched petticoats that rattled when they walked. If they was anybody in the house that can recollect farther back than that, let him stand up and be recognized. And not in my memory has they been such waste and extravagance as we got in Washington today.

Me and Ed was discussing these matters and he was of the opinion that the average Congressman ain't got but one definition of waste—a dollar or two spent in some other Congressman's district. Fer instant, Ed said he was reading a piece where Congressmen used $385,029 in "petty cash" last year on them junkets they took to Paris and such places. He said these figgers was give out by the U. S. Treasury Department and was official.

Incidental, I see by the papers where President Johnson's "economy drive" ain't setting too good with some of the hired held. When he cut the number of official cars amongst the various agencies from 491 to 136 one of them fellers in the State Department was complaining we was the only country in the world where a diplomat in stripped pants had to ride a bicycle. Personal, Mister Editor, a little more walking and a little less talking might do some of them fellers a heap of good.

I was reading the other day where some feller was explaining the red, white and blue in our flag. He claimed the taxpayers

Theme: Getting Excited Gets Results

TEXT: "Every great and commanding moment . . . is the triumph of enthusiasm." Emerson

The diner read the menu and asked the waitress for an explanation of one of the listings.

"Why do you call this 'Enthusiastic Stew?"

"Because," replied the waittress "the cook put everything he had in it."

Britian in the 1700's was a detached and complacent society. In politics and in the church, it was desirable that things be left as they were. Those who sought change were ridiculed and scoffed at. When John Wesley preached on the street corners or a daring member of Parliament spoke in criticism of the majority, they were termed "enthusiasts" and the name was used to refer to any who were uncouth and mean.

Today in the church, in business, in politics, in communicating any ideas, enthusiasm is not only the mark of genius, but it is the force necessary to attain any goal. Even truth, without enthusiasm to light its path may stumble along in the dark for generations, unnoticed. Truly exceptional men and women have one trait in common. They are enthusiasts. To them life is never dull. Every moment is filled with excitement. Everything they do is an adventure. If you want to be marked as a genius, be enthusiastic. Put everything you have into living. You'll have fun even if you don't surpass everyone.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill

Civil Rights

After many months of argument ,the Johnson Administration's controversial Civil Rights Bill was formally debated and passed by the House of Representatives last week. The final vote offered little suspense because the outcome was certain long ago. The bill passed on a time-table devised by the White House. It seemed to me that the tactics of getting this bill passed had been more carefully worked out that the contents of the bill itself. The bill contains more sweeping grants of Federal power than any bill enacted by Congress in this century. Contained in it are serious Constitutional questions and many old and new concepts of basic rights are brought into direct conflict. The Federal government is now permitted to enter many areas of local relationhsips that had been reserved previously to states, local government, and private initiative.

I sincerely believe that few Americans would deny that equal rights for all is a concept basic to our system of democracy. However, purely social relationships cannot be legislated and genuine racial harmony, in my opinion, cannot be ordered from Washington. This is achieved by men of good will working at the local level to make their communities a better place for all to live. We have seen a great deal of local initiative and progress in this field in North Carolina. Removing this responsibility to Washington, as this legislation does, could very well seriously discourage this progress.

The bill's sweeping provisions, as passed, are divided into eleven sections including voting rights, public accomodations, school desegregation, a permanent Civil Rights Commission, the withholding of Federal funds where discrimination is charged, the prohibition of discrimination by private employers and labor unions, a census of voters by race apparently to permit the reduction of representation in the House of Representatives where voting discrimination is alleged, assurance that civil rights cases are kept in Federal courts, and a Federal conciliation office in the United States Department of Commerce to rule on local disputes.

It was clear from the beginning of the debate and during the amendment process that efforts to improve the bill would be shouted down. A total of 140 amendments were offered in nine days of debate. Many of them were reasonable and deserved more consideration than they received. In the public accomodations section, for example, it was suggested that local boards and commissions be given 30 days to settle any complaints of discrimination in public accomodations before the Attorney General and Justice Department move in with their massive Federal power. This was not approved.

Another area of disagreement came on an amendment which would have provided for jury trials for violators of certain provisions of the bill. Another suggested amendment would have provided defendants more opportunity to present evidence in their defense. Unfortunately, these amendments were defeated.

One amendment which was adopted, after a hard fight, demonstrates how far out in left field this legislation is taking the powers of the Federal government. The amendment was required in order to assure that it would not be lawful for a church related educational college, institution, or orphanage to employ persons on the basis of that particluar religion. This amendment was adopted over the strong objections of the proponents. However, this clearly illustrates that portions of the bill could result in the cancellation of many rights in the disguise of protecting other rights.

I opposed this legislation. Since it has been steamrollered through the House, it is my sincere hope that the Senate will amend it and write in the safeguards which the House has failed to do.

If we must play the numbers game, let's play it right. Don't just look at the earnings information on your withholding tax form — look it all over. You might be surprised to find that the W-2 really belongs to someone else. So take a minute and save time later on. Make sure that your correct social security is shown.

the Republicans come up with at their convention this summer. They tell you off the record that his predecessor was not in the some league in handling Congress. LBJ has oiled the South, only one man, Sen. Gore of Tennessee — from Dixie voting against him on the Excise Tax issue.

All well and good—up to now. On the health issue, however, there is real, deep down worry. Friends close to the President say that in a recent 24 hour period—when the Cuban thing and a Congressional issue hit at the same time—he slept only three hours. His average since becoming President last Nov. 22: a little better than five hours out of the 24.

The chief concern is that President Johnson might have another heart attack and thus render himself unavailable as Democratic standard bearer at Atlantic City come summer.

SHUDDER . . . Marse Grant, who as editor of the Baptists' Biblical Recorder writes so interestingly, had this to say about a North Carolina great in a recent issue of the Recorder: "Some times we wish Billy Graham didn't get into the news as much as he does. We wonder if it helps his overall effort to win people to Christ .The story from Houston about his being interested in the Republican nomination for the Presidency is an example. Of course, he called a press conference to deny the story, but some people never read corrective statements — they only remember the original story. Despite Billy's many fine qualities in his own field we shudder to think of a man of his political inexpercince in the White House."

TIRING? . . . Well, we have heard off and on for the past three or four years that Billy Graham was considering getting into politics. In 1960, the rumor was around that Richard Nixon leaned on Dr. Graham considerably for advice turns or phrases in speeches, etc., and might appoint him to high position if elected President.

At one time it was noised about that Billy Graham was tiring of the ministry and would go on television for a big insurance company. At a matter of fact, he is financially interested in at least one radio station in North Carolina.

There is hardly an Everest left for Dr. Graham to conquer. His crowds, his crusades, his contributions are the greatest in Christendom. He is the modern Alexander the Great — with few worlds left to conqher—and ,like the son of Macedon, it still a young man. So, we would not be surprised if Billy Graham moved into other fields — and possibly within the next 12 months.

DON'T SHOUT! . . . Have you seen the new hearing aid, It is made in Japan, sells for only 98 cents. One end of it fits in your ear. The other end goes into your vest pocket or, if you are a woman, into the neck of your dress. It has no batteries, no nothing. But it works! Everybody, seeing you're hard of hearing, talks a little— louder — and everybody's happy.

Title by title the bill is fraught with danger. Title I is unconstitutional. Titles II, III, IV and VI of the bill relating to public accomodations, public schools and Federal assistance to the States, communities, and local facilities thrust the hand of the central government in drastic ways into personal relations, into business acivities, and into the fabric of individual liberty. Title VII grants the central government the power to supervise and control employers with respect to the selection, the promotion, the discharge, and compensation of their employees, and the terms, conditions, and privileges of their employment. Titles VI and VII strike at the whole concept of the free enterprise system. They would substitute for business acumen and judgment the deadening hand of bureaucratic decision.

In the final analysis, the House passed measure rests upon the fallacious assumption that greater wisdom resides in unknown bureaucrats than in the talents and efforts of local citizens most concerned with intricate day to day human problems. It disregards the lesson of history that the protector soon becomes the tyrant.

In the search for the solution to mankind's age-old problem of how individuals can best live together, I take my stand for the freedom of the individual, because I think this offers a far better way than a supposed equality coerced by law.

Gentlemen:
Since installing electric heat in our home a year ago our family has been entirely pleased. We find this draft-free heat maintains a constant, even temperature of our selection in each room. Due to the fact that the temperature is so constant and even, we were able to eliminate the water heater for our tropical fish and they are doing excellent.
Best of all is the low cost of heating with Electric Comfort Heating. Our total electric bill for a full year was only $277.00 for all appliances, lighting and heating. This was less than we had been paying previously for electricity and heating.
Two of the outstanding features of Electric Comfort Heating that we have enjoyed, in addition to temperature control in each room, are space savings and the cleanliness of our drapes, walls and ceilings which stay cleaner and free from grime.
After using electric heat we would not be happy or satisfied using any other kind.

JESUS AND I

I can not do it alone:
The waves run fast and high,
And the fogs close chill around,
And the light goes out in the sky;
But I know that we two shall win in the end—
Jesus and I.

I can not row it myself,
My boat on the raging sea;
But beside me sits Another,
Who pulls or steers with me;
And I know that we too shall come into port—
His child and He.

Coward and wayward and weak,
I change with the changing sky
Today so eager and brave,
Tomorrow not caring to try;
But He never gives in, so we two shall win—
Jesus and I.

Strong and tender and true,
Crucified once for me;
Never will He change, I know,
Whatever I may be;
But all He says I must do,
Ever from sin to keep free.
We shall finish our course and reach home at last—
His child and He.

Policy Statement Of The N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station Regarding the Use Of Insecticides For Control of Insects Attacking Tobacco

The N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station in coperation with other State Agricultural Experiment Stations, the U.S.D.A., and industries directly concerned with the use of insecticides on tobacco has extensively investigated the residues of insecticides on tobacco. A successful effort was made about 1950 to prevent applications of arsenicals to tobacco as these compounds were considered to be undesirable. The synthetic organic materials substituted for arsenicals, on the basis of the best scientific information available, were considered to pose no hazard when used according to recommendations.

The judgments made regarding insecticidal recommendations have not directly been challenged in the "Report of the Advisory Committee to the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service" on "Smoking and Health." However, the decisions recently made by the Food and Drug Administration to adopt stricter criteria for certain pesticides used on food crops has made it desirable to alter our policy relative to the use of insecticides on tobacco. Accordingly, before an insecticide is recommended for use on tobacco by the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station, acceptable evidence must be obtained that its use will not result in residues in the main-stream smoke higher than those accepted by the Food and Drug Administration for raw agricultural products such as cabbage or lettuce.

On the basis of this policy, the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station as of Jan. 31, 1964, withdraws the recommended use of endrin and deildrin on tobacco.

North Piedmont Conference Champions—

Davie Rebels Top Conference Race

The Davie County Rebels gained at least a tie for the North Piedmont Conference basketball championship Tuesday night with a heart-stopping 45 to 44 victory over West Rowan.

The Rebels now have a 11-2 record and meet their closest challenger Mooresville on Friday night at Mooresville. The Moors had a 10-3 record prior to Tuesday night when they played at Monroe the score of which was not available at press time.

A victory for Davie on Friday night would give the Rebels their second baskeball championship in the past three years.

West Rowan, which led most of the way had a chance to win Tuesday night with seven seconds left with the score 44-44 and Tommy Wilhelm at the line with a free throw. Wilhelm missed, and Junior Beal was fouled trying to get the rebound. Beal hit the first free throw with three seconds left for the victory.

Commie Shoffner and Roger Pierce led the scoring for Davie with 12 points each; John Parker had 8; Larry Bailey, 7; and Junior Beal, 6.

A super charged effort by the Rebels last Friday night brought forth an impressive 71 to 51 victory over their arch rivals North Rowan and vaulted them into the undisputed lead in the conference race as Mooresville lost to Troutman.

Backed by a roaring and flag-waving student body . . . the Rebels couldn't be stopped and roared to a 22-1 lead in the first few minutes of play. The score at the end of the first quarter was 24 to 5 in favor of Davie. Shoffner led the scoring with 18 points and Junior Beal and Roger Pierce had 11 points each; John Parker, 7; Howell, 8; and Eaton, 5.

Rebelettes In Second

The Rebelettes remained in a tie with East Rowan for second place in the North Piedmont race with victories over both Mooresville and West Rowan.

The Rebelettes defeated Mooresville 35 to 14 and West Rowan 29 to 23. Kathy Grimes led the scoring in both wins getting ten points against North Rowan and 16 against West Rowan.

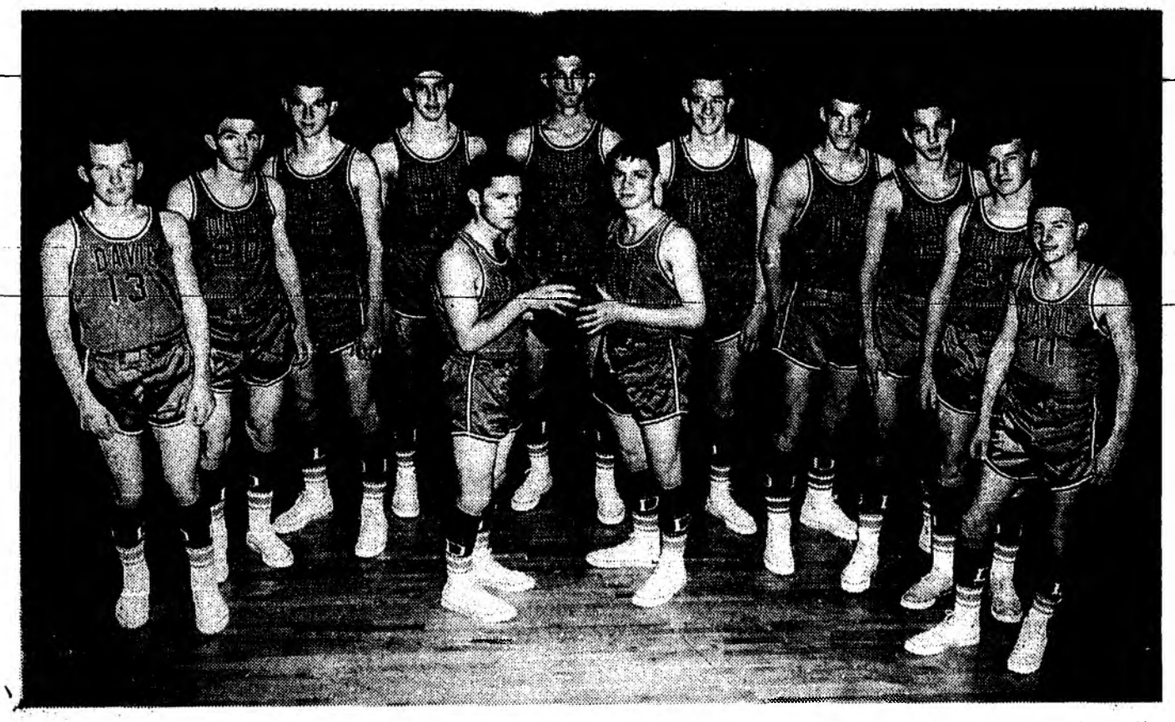
A Deer Hit!

For a few moments last Thursday night Mrs. W. M. Long of Mocksville thought that she might have been recast in one of Jame Fennimore Cooper's famed novels . . . "The Deerslayer."

In her Cadillac and on a highway just out of Lawrenceville, Ga. . . . she was startled when suddenly a deer leaped out from the side of the road and crashed head-on into a side window. The impact broke the glass into a million tiny pieces and showered the same all over Mrs. Long and her companions, Mrs. Gaither Sanford, Jr., of Mocksville and Beth Clark of Charlotte.

"I looked like a Christmas tree with all the shimmering particles of glass over me," said Mrs. Long.

The Sheriff's Department was notified of the accident and they took care of the deer. Mrs. Long stopped at a service station and had a piece of cardboard put in the window for her trip on to Mocksville.



NORTH PIEDMONT BASKETBALL KINGS for the second time in the past three years are the Davie County Rebels pictured above. Coached by Roger Snow, the Rebels clinched at least a tie for the crown Tuesday night with a 45 to 44 victory over West Rowan. They will play at Mooresville on Friday night in the final game of the regular season and then will participate in the Piedmont tournament at North Rowan which gets underway Monday night. The Rebels, shown above, are: In front, co-captains Junior Beal and Roger Pierce. March 22nd Date of First Clinic—

Anti-Polio Campaign Is Planned

Plans for Davie County participation March 22 in a concerted campaign to immunize the total population against polio were made Monday night in a special meeting held at the Davie County Hospital.

The immunization program is being sponsored by the Rowan-Davie Medical Society. Dr. Ben L. Richards is heading up the Davie County program.

In this immunization program there will be no needles. Everyone will swallow a lump of sugar moistened with drops of this vaccine.

Feeding stations will be organized throughout the county and the first public feeding will be on Sunday afternoon, March 22; the second will be on Sunday afternoon, April 19th; and the third on Sunday afternoon, May 17th. Each person will need to participate in all three "feedings" for complete immunization against polio.

The sponsoring medical society says this vaccine is necessary even if a person has had four or more shots of the Salk vacoine. They give these reasons:

—Early vaccines like Salk have never protected against polio but only against it's crippling effects.

—A person receieving a Salk injection has protected only himself and still remains a possible carrier of the disease.

The newly perfected vaccine protects against all three types of polio — including protection against being a carrier. It has been in use since 1957 and has been given to more than 100 million people.

An intensive effort is being planned to get everyone six weeks of age. and older to take this vaccine. There will be no charge . . . but those who are able will be requested to make a donation of 25c per shot to help defray expenses.

Full details on this program including the county organization . . . locations of the feeding stations . . . and hours will be announced in the near future.

School Makeup Days

The schedule of makeup school days lost to bad weather was announced this week by Dr. W. T. Bird, Superintendent of Davie County Schools.

Dr. Bird said the schools would operate Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of what was set to be an after-Easter week vacation to makeup four of the days. The Davie schools will observe Good Friday and Easter Monday as holidays.

The remaining three days lost will be added on to the end of school.

Dr. Bird pointed out, however, that this was a tentative schedule and might be changed should more days be lost to the weather.

Thieves Strike!

Thieves hit several places in Mocksville and Davie County over the past weekend.

Either on Friday night or early Saturday morning, thieves entered the Davie County Welfare Office on Hospital Drive. Prying open a window they made entry and took around $3 to $4 in change. No other damage was noted.

During that same period, culprits also entered the office of Dr. Vic Andrews in the same locality. They broke out a double-storm plate glass window, entered and went through the desk drawers in Dr. Andrews' private office and took approximately $38 in money. Nothing else appeared to have been bothered.

Mocksville Chief of Police Joe Foster said that his department was investigating and still seeking clues to these break-ins. During this same period several break-ins of similar type were reported in and around Lexington including a school and the Lexington City Shop from which tools were stolen.

Sometime Sunday night Buck's Barbecue on U. S. 158 was broken into and cigarettes and other items were taken. The Davie County Sheriff's Department is investigating this.

Wheelchair Basketball Game Played

Wheelchair basketball made it's debut in North Carolina last Saturday night at the Davie High gymnasium as the Chattonooga Big Wheels defeated the Atlanta Recks, 26 to 22.

A crowd estimated at around 2,000 saw the first wheelchair basketball game ever played in the state. The crowd also was the largest before which either of the two teams had ever played.

The game was sponsored by the North Carolina Paraplegic Association, with the local arrangements being supervised by Miss Jo Cooley of Mocksville. Miss Cooley said she was very pleased with the reception accorded this game and the out-of-state visitors.

"I am deeply grateful to the people of this community for their cooperation and support in making this venture such a success. I want to personally thank each and everyone for their interest and support," said Miss Cooley.

Miss Cooley reported that all of the visitors were very impressed with Mocksville and their reception.

The mother of one of the cheerleaders said:

"In Chattanooga when we looked on the map and saw the little dot representing the place where we were going . . . we never expected anything as wonderful and the magnitude that we found."

Forrest Hayes, a coach and player said:

"When I was first approached about the idea of coming to Mocksville I thought we would do well to play to around 50 people. Never anywhere have we had such a turnout!"

Gordon Scott of the Chattanooga team said:

"The local referees [D. J. Mando and John Jones] were better than most of those who have been working games for us for years!"

The officials of both Chattanooga and Atlanta were so impressed with the nice reception here and the work of Miss Cooley and the N. C. Paraplegic Association that they voted to take no expenses other than the 30-30 split with the remaining 40 percent going to the N. C. Association.

The game was filmed by WSOC TV and will be televised on that station at a later date.

Following the game the players enjoyed a fellowship hour at the Methodist Hut given by friends of Miss Cooley.

Woodson Bequest For Davidson To Equal $1.5 Million Endowment

Davidson College's share of the income of the estate of Mrs. Walter H. Woodson, Mocksville, will equal to an endowment fund of aproximately one and one-half million dollars, Davidson College President D. Grier Martin announced today at the winter meeting of the Davidson board of trustees on the campus.

The announcement came as something of a surprise since there had been no earlier estimate placed on the value of the bequest.

"Mrs. Woodson's will states that Davidson's income from her trust be used by Davidson, preferably for ministerial scholarships," President Martin added.

The Woodson bequest was not included in the figures announced to the trustees as the present status of Davidson's $21 million capital gifts program 1965-1971.

The figures on this program showed that Davidson has since 1956 increased its endowment and plant by approximately $6.5 million, but that $14.5 million additional will be needed by the college by 1971 if it is to maintain its present pace in higher education.

Mrs. Woodson, wife of a prominent Salisbury attorney, was one of the area's best known philanthropists. Her death on Sept. 18 resulted from a heart attack following surgery in Rowan Memorial Hospital Salisbury. She was a long-time friend of Davidson and a member of Davidson's Board of Visitors at the time of her death.

"It is significant that Davidson has been the beneficiary of three ladies during the past two years, to the extent of $2.4 million," President Martin added. He was referring to major bequests to Davidson by Mrs. Marcia Bell Mitchell of Lancaster, Pa., and Mrs. Flora Metter Morrison of Marshall, Mo. The Mitchell bequest totaled some $850,000; the Morrison nearly $150,000.

Farmers Home Administration—

Farm Ownership Loans Discussed

Clarence H. Sink, Davie County Supervisor, released the following information from the National Office on "Farm Ownership Loans of the Farmers Home Administration."

Farmers Home Administration, a U. S. Department of Agriculture agency, extends supervised credit to family farmers for the purchase, improvement or enlargement of farms or to refinance debts. Farm ownership loans are also made for tree production or other forest products, or to finance recreation enterprises which will supplement farm incomes.

These loans are made only to family farmers unable to obtain needed credit from conventional sources at reasonable rates and terms.

Who May Borrow?

Individuals who operate a family farm on either a full or part-time basis are eligible for a Farmers Home Administration loan. Along with this, he must have a farm background, farming experience or training, and the ability to manage a farming operation. Income from crops and livestock must make up a substantial portion of the farmers total income after the loan is made.

The applicant must also be able to obtain needed operating capital, including livestock and equipment.

Farm Ownership Loan Uses

These FHA loans may be used to buy or enlarge farms to construct, improve or repair farm homes and farm service buildings, to drill wells and otherwise improve water supply systems for home use, livestock and irrigation, and to refinance debts. They also may be used to develop and improve farm land, including clearing and leveling land or the establishment and improvement of farm forests.

In addition these loans may be used to produce fish under controlled conditions and to finance on-farm, income producing recreational enterprises.

Size Of Loan

Farm ownership loans vary considerably in size, depending upon the applicant's needs. However, a borrower's total indebtedness against the security may not exceed $60,000.

Terms And Conditions

An interest rate of 5 percent a year is charged on the unpaid principal except that a 3 percent rate is authorized for loan funds used for forestry purposes under an approved forestry management plan. Loans are scheduled for repayment over a period not to exceed 40 years.

Security

Each loan will be adequately secured to protect the Government's interest. A mortgage on the entire farm is taken to secure any loan of more than $2,500 and any loan to be repaid in more than 10 years. A loan of not more than this amount may be secured by a mortgage on the farm chattels or other suitable security.

Farm And Home Management Assistance

Farmers Home Administration provides all borrowers with sound farm and home management advice in order to make sure that loan funds will be backed up by the most profitable use of their land, water, labor, capital and other resources available to them.

Advice and assistance are furnished by the county supervisor in keeping farm family records so the borrower can make maximum use of all resources, especially income and credit. Also provided is on-the-farm assistance through a long-range plan, with specific farm, financial and family living goals.

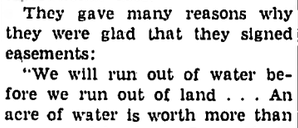
Types of Farmers Assisted

1. Farm families who need credit for land resources.

2. Established farm families who need financial assistance to improve their land or buildings.

3. Farmers in financial difficulties — due mainly to causes beyond their control — who need long-term credit for financing debts.

4. Farmers with inadequate income who need to supplement their farm income with earnings from other sources such as a recreational enterprise.



The problems connected with owning a flood detention reservoir built under one of USDA's small watershed programs are not as great as many owners thought they would be, according to J. P. Kuykendall, state conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, Raleigh.

Their opinions are reported in a new SCS publication, "The Flood Detention Reservoir — A Farm Improvement, Say Those Who Know." The booklet is well illustrated and documents a cross section of opinion of owners who gave easements that cleared the way for their soil conservation districts to build the dams needed for flood prevention in small watershed projects.

All across the South owners were asked if the problems they expected had materialized. Mostly they had not, or had been much less serious than was feared. The most common problem expected was damage to crop or pasture land in the flood pools. But the owners said the flooding was not a deep, came less often ,and did less damage than they had feared. Some continued to cultivate the land down to the water's edge and others reported little damage to hay or pasture crops.

They were asked about the benefits. Common answers listed protection for fields, roads, use of water for irrigation and other purposes. Two owners purified water for the home. Some leased their reservoirs to industry, private clubs, and to towns. Some charged for fishing and other recreational uses.

They gave many reasons why they were glad that they signed easements:

"We will run out of water before we run out of land . . . An acre of water is worth more than an acre of land . . . I moved my home to the lakeside . . . I bought a farm so I could get some of the lake . . . The lake had brought much pleasure to me and my family, to neighbors, and to youth groups . . . It has opened up a new life for us I wouldn't do without my part of the lake . . . The reservoirs in our watershed have brought in three new industries and created 600 new jobs . . . The lake has increased the value of my farm by several thousand dollars . . . I found that I didn't really 'give' anything — these and similar opinions were reported many times.

The booklet reports only the reaction of the owner to his watershed reservoir, and not the widespread group benefits. Yet most owners recognized their part in a community improvement program. Several said that they were glad to be able to help their neighbors, and then to find that they got a good lake, too. Many owners opened their lakes to the public free or for a small fee, and were pleased to see them used.

The publication will appeal primarily to land owners in watershed projects and to people in communities where a watershed project is under consideration. Copies will be available to all Soil Conservation Service offices.

Farm Bureau Plans Membership Drive

Davie County Farm Bureau will hold a special membership drive the first two weeks in March.

Chairman of the drive will be Lonnie S. Driver of Route No. 2, Mocksville Aiding the chairman will be B. T. Browder.

While the special winter campaign is new for Farm Bureau in North Carolina similar campaigns have been conducted successfully in many other states.

"Farm Bureau membership doesn't 'cost'. It pays." said M. D. Pope, President of the Davie County unit.

"No other organization in North Carolina or the nation offers farmers and other rural people such a high-quality, comprehensive program of legislative service as Farm Bureau. There are three times as many members in Farm Bureau as in any other general farm organization — over 1,628,000 in American Farm Bureau and more than 57,000 in North Carolina Farm Bureau."

Pope said that Davie County Farm Bureau offers the member a wide variety of services, such as farm and life insurance, income tax help, aid with the gas tax refunds, high-quality tires at sivings, group hospital insurance and many other .

"The real value of Farm Bureau membership, however, is in belonging to a strong state and national farm organization," said President Pope. "Farmers must band together in these days of such tough personal problems as the cost-price squeeze, farm modernization, marketing for continous profit. It is a rare farmer indeed who can make a decent living completely on his own any more." Davie County Farm Bureau has 137 members. Its 1964 quota is 200. Goal for the special drive is 75.

Davie Native Dies In Wreck

A native of Davie County was killed Sunday night in an automobile accident at Brazelton, Georgia.

Carl Edward Anderson, 35, now living in Winston-Salem at 949 Cloister Drive, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding collided head-on with another car around 9 p.m., Sunday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson of Mocksville, Route 1.

Mr. Anderson was a service representative for the Marchant division of the SCM Corp. He was returning with another service representative to Atlanta where they had been attending a school to learn how to service a new printing calculator. The company sells and services business machines.

Mr. Anderson had ridden with the other man to Greenville, S. C., Friday, caught a bus to Winston-Salem, then returned to Greenville on the bus Sunday afternoon to rejoin him for the ride back to Atlanta.

Mr. Anderson was a passenger in the automobile when the accident, described as a head-on collision between two cars, occurred about 9 p.m. The identity of the other SCM representative was not known at the Winston-Salem office. He was injured.

Mr. Anderson had lived in Winston-Salem since last fall, when he moved from Greensboro when SCM opened an office in that city. He had been employed by the company since April of 1953.

He was an ordained minister of the Baptist Church and was a member of the South Park Baptist Church in Winston-Salem. He was a member of the board of directors of the Youth of Christ organization and a director of the Lifeline for Juvenile Delinquency organization.

The Heart Fund: A Unique Health Cause

It is important for everyone to realize that the Heart Fund, conducted here and throughout the United States during February, is something more than "just another health drive."

The Heart Fund is uniquely important. Essentially, it is a combined appeal supporting the nationwide fight against a great complex of diseases and disorders — heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and inborn heart defects, to mention only a few.

Disease of the heart and circulation, which your Heart Fund dollars help to fight, are responsible for more than 925,000 deaths in the United States each year. That is more than the combined total resulting from cancer, accidents, tuberculosis, diagetes, pneumonia, and all other diseases and causes of death. In fact, these cardiovascular diseases account for over 54 per cent of all deaths.

The heart problem is no distant abstraction. Although national and international in scope, it exists as a painful and costly reality right here in this city. If you have any doubts, examine the obituaries which appear in our newspaper.

You'll find that our local mortality experience closely parallels national figures; that, on the average, about half our death notices will mention "heart attack," "stroke" or "heart disease." All too often these terms are applied to family breadwinners in the prime of life — men in the 45- to 65-year age bracket.

There is only one practical way to fight the heart disease, namely, by supporting your Heart Association's balanced programs of research, education and community service. You can do this by contributing volunteer service or Heart Fund dollars. Truly, the Heart Fund deserves a place at the very top of your "giving for health" list.

Winston-Salem Civic Music Assn. To Hold Membership Drive

The Winston-Salem Civic Music Association annual membership drive will be held this year from March 6 through March 14. The kickoff dinner will take place in the Ardmore Methodist Church, 630 S. Hawthorne Road, on March 6 at 6:30 p.m.

Among the current season's offerings the members have especially enjoyed were two outstanding attractions. The Philharmonia Hungarica Orchestra and the Chicago Opera Ballet. Three of the season's artists have appeared on the Bell Telephone Hour since October. The association is pleased for the membership to have the privilege of seeing and hearing, in person, some of the finest attractions in the public eye today.

For the 1964-1965 season, the Swiss pianist, Von Vintschger, will be one of the guest artists. He took New York by storm in his Carnegie Hall recital and had rave notices in the New York Times and the Herald Tribune. Also scheduled for the coming season are the American Ballet Theatre and the Goldovsky Opera Company which will present "Don Pasquale" in English. The other attractions have not been announced.

The association hopes that people of this area will support the 1964-65 program. It was pointed out that the more members, the bigger and better concerts they will be able to have.

Adult season tickets are $8.50 with children's and student tickets [through the college years] $4.50.

Again this year, taxpayers may take Federal income tax refunds in U. S. Savings Bonds. It's a good way to make your refund grow. U. S. Series H. Savings Bonds may be obtained in exchange for Series E Bonds, when current income is desired. That's good to remember when retirement time comes.

For Critically Ill At Baptist—

Intensive Care Unit Opens

North Carolina Baptist Hospital has opened the first section of a 27-bed intensive care unit to serve critically ill patients who need constant observation and professional care.

The complete unit is being financed by a $199,000 grant from the John A. Hartford Foundation of New York ,the same foundation which has in the last few years contributed $626,810 to the hospital for research on diseases of the kidney.

Occupying space on the fifth floor of the hospital's South wing and composed of 12 beds the section is the result of nearly two years of study and planning by a committee of physicians, administrative officials, and staff members headed by Dr. LeRoy Crandall. It is the forerunner of a greatly expanded service in which adjoining rooms will be converted into intensive care facilities with special arrangements for cardiac and respiratory patients.

Dr. Jesse Meredith, a member of the committee, explained that the new service is available to all patients, admission to the unit being determined by the doctor.

Six of the beds are in private rooms. The others are in cubicles separated by curtains. The beds are placed around the circumference of the almost square unit. Nurses' desks are arranged so that nurses can see all patients. Patients, in turn, have the reassurance of being able to see the nurses nearby but cannot see each other.

The unit, said Dr. Meredith, has several unique features which were designed to eliminate some of the problems involved in the care of very sick persons. For example, air conditioning outlets in the ceiling over each bed make it unnecessary to have fans for cooling when a patient has a high fever. Hooks placed in the ceiling to hold intravenous fluid bottles may be removed when not in use. Fluorescent lights over each bed are controlled by rheostats and may be dimmed to almost complete darkness or brightened to permit examination of the patient by the physician—or even minor surgery. Each room has its own lavatory and toilet in a compact unit which fits into the wall and is somewha similar those on Pullman cars.

Wiring has been installed for equipment to record blood pressure, heart rate, temperature and other information at the patient's bedside and transmit it to the nurse's desk. However, nurses are obtaining this data in the usual manner at present and will continue to do so until the equipment the committee has selected becomes available.

Staff members were chosen for their particular skills and given special training to prepare them for intensive care. Four persons at the nursing level are on duty at all times, one for each three patients.

With the addition of intensive care, Baptist Hospital offers patients three types of care—minimal ,intermediate, and intensive. This hospital and others throughout the country which are serving in these three areas consider long term and home care as the remaining steps to be taken in their progress toward providing complete care for the sick.

High School Graduates Offered Enrollment Plan In Industrial Education

A new early enrollment plan for high school graduates will be offered starting in June by the Rowan Industrial Education Center, Director C. Merrill Hamilton announced today.

"This plan will allow high school graduates to start preparing immediately after graduation for employment in skilled occupations," he stated,

"Why should a young person wait three summer months before starting a trade education program? If he wants to qualify for a skilled job with a future, the sooner he starts the sooner he can qualify for an entry-level job in industry," Hamilton continued.

Starting June 8, the Rowan Industrial Education Center will admit new students in both day and night classes in the following programs: air conditioning and refrigeration mechanics, automotive mechanics, electrician trade, machinist trade, mechanical drafting, radio and television service, and welding. The number of enrollments must be sufficient to justify course offerings. New students will also be enrolled starting with the fall quarter in September.

"Let me make it clear that while a high school diploma is recommended, it is not required for admission to our trade education programs," Hamilton stated. "Persons 18 years of age or over who meet admission standards can also be enrolled.

High School seniors who are interested should apply now to the Rowan IEC for enrollment in the summer quarter starting June 9. Day students will attend full time for the required four quarters in order to complete a trade education program by May, 1965. The person would then be ready to seek skilled employment about three months earlier than if he had waited throughout the summer months to get started. Night students are scheduled for fewer hours of instruction per week, and, therefore, must attend for more than four quarters to complete a trade program.

The new Rowan IEC is equipped with modern air conditioning, thereby eliminating the summer heat problem. Most of the Center buildings, including all laboratories and class rooms, is completley air conditioned. However, in keeping with the requirement that the training environment be realistic, certain areas such as the automotive and machine shops are not air conditioned.

The Center is located on Interstate 85 at Klumac Road across from the Holiday Inn at Salisbury. Persons intersted in obtaining further information should visit the Center, which is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

To Thine Own Self Be True!—

The Dedication To Truth

"It is the duty of a college to instill in its students a sense of adventure...a determination not to be bound slavishly to the old....and a willingness to follow truth at any cost", said Dr. Ben Mohr Herbster of New York City last Thursday. Dr. Herbster was the principal speaker at the inauguration of Dr. Donald Dearborn as the 15th president of Catawba College. Dr. Herbster is the president of the United Church of Christ.

"We must never be afraid of truth nor afraid to follow in the direction which truth takes", he said. He warned against trying to safeguard truth by fencing it in. The only responsibility of the church and the college, he said, is "to see that truth and error contend with each other in a fair arena. Church people have not always understood this. We have often felt that we had some responsibility to tip the scales of the world in favor of truth. One need never to protect truth. Truth will ultimately win out in a debate, in contention and in a struggle against falsehood which carries in its own body the seeds of destruction".

He said it was the obligation of the college to inspire within young people a sense of dedication to truth...a willingness to give themselves over to truth...to risk for it...to launch out upon it and let it possess their lives.

But what it truth? Is it so ready discernible that there is no mistaking it? As for as individuals are concerned....is it fixed...or is it variable? And is it not possible for TRUTH often to go unrecognized?

Using Webster's dictionary and other means of research on this term the following was found:

TRUTH...is synonomous with SINCERE and GENUINE.

GENUINE...is synonomous with sincere...meaning free from HYPROCRISY.

HYPROCRISY....being defined as: "Feigning to be what one is not...false assumption of an appearance of virtue or religion...the playing of a role...not being TRUE to one's belief or feelings".

John Ruskin, the famed English author once observed:

"Without seeking, TRUTH cannot be known at all. It can neither be declared from pulpits, not set down in articles, nor in any wise prepared and sold in packages ready for use. TRUTH must be ground for every man by himself out of its husk, with such help as he can get, indeed, but not without stern labor of his own."

And Goethe said:

"It is easier to perceive error than to find truth, for the former lies on the surface and is easily seen, while the later lies in the depth, where few are willing to search for it."

Since the beginning of time, human beings have been more or less playing the roles dictated by their environment. As Shakespeare said:

"All the world's a stage,

And all the men and women merely players:

They have their exits and their entrances;

And one man in his time plays many parts."

In playing these roles most men and women give up the personal control of their lives.....turning them over to what they believe to be the requirements of society.....trying to please through conformance....seldom daring to challenge the status quo or to seek out the truth.

However, the truly great men of history had one thing in common....they dared to be different...they sought out the TRUTH....as they felt it to be and were honest with themselves.

Even out of the religious context.... Jesus Christ exemplified TRUTH....because he was a sincere individual....true to himself and to his God....always seeking out reality....always putting greater emphasis on motives than on actions or reactions. For this an attempt was made to destroy him on the cross....but the TRUTH survived.

Can one be true to his God or his fellowman without first being true to himself? According to the reasoning of Jesus one cannot .....although many continually make the pretense.

For it is as Shakespeare admonishes:

"This above all: to thine own self be true,

And it must follow, as the night the day,

Thou can not then be false to any man."

This can be the only real dedication to truth.

The Original Star Spangled Banner Hangs In—

The New Smithsonian Museum

The original Star Spangled Banner... A Mack truck... Martha Washington's watch... Alexander Graham Bell's telephone... The wheel from the battleship Maine... An entire log house.

These are just a few of the national treasures an objects of interest in the Smithsonian Institution's magnificent new Museum of History and Technology in Washington, D. C.

The massive building on the Mall is the home of a permanent exposition showing America's cultural, civil, military, and political history, and the development of science, technology, and manufacturing.

The Star Spangled Banner is the museum's centerpiece, the National Geographic Society says. The huge flag is unfurled in a 50-foot-high dislay in the rotunda. The precious relic is protected by a heavy linen backing. A soft current of filtered air keeps it free of dust.

The 1920 vintage Mack truck moved under its own power into its place in the transportation exhibit. Nearby are a 1912 Simplex sports car that could hit 80 miles an hour, and the earliest known Concord coach. Coaches of this style still are attacked daily by Indians or bandits and defended by Western heroes on the television screen.

In an adjoining room are a 180-ton steam locomotive and tender, both so large the hall had to be built around them.

The gowns of the First Ladies of the White House are displayed in rooms reconstruced from original woodwork taken from the Executive Mansion during its renovation in the late 1940's. Visitors learn that Martha Washington's watch had two cases, one enamel and one gold. The first elevator installed in the White House stands permanently in one corner of the First Ladies hall.

Besides Alexander Graham Bell's telephone, world-changing inventions in the new museum are Whitney's cotton gin, Morse's telegraph, Hoe's sewing machine, and Henry's telectromagnet. Among the numerous other devices are a wire recorder made in 1885 and early disc phonographs that sounded "like a parrot with a sore throat."

The wheel from the Maine is one many objects associated with historical events and persons. The souvenirs include George Washington's uniform, Thomas Jefferson's writing desk, Benjamin Franklin's printing press, and the coat Andrew Jackson wore at the Battle of New Orleans.

The museum's log house, with walls a foot thick, originally was the home of a miller in New Castle, Delaware, in 1740. It stands in the exhibit tracing everyday life in America from colonial days to 1900.

Sure to arouse a visitor's nostalgia is an authentic 19th-century confectionery and ice cream parlor. The shop was a landmark in the Georgetown section of Washington from 1820 to 1927, and it is complete down to marble-topped tables and glass jars filled with hard candy.

At present, about one-fifth of the total exhibit space in the new building is filled; the rest will be opened gradually over the next two years. Future displays will range from military heraldry to nuclear energy.

In the meantime, five million visitors a year are expected at the museum, which is open every day of the year except Christmas.

THE BEAR CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH

The Bear Creek Baptist Church was organized on March 30, 1792. The organization was effected by the Rev. William Petty and the Rev. Lazarus Whitehead. Joseph Murphy preached the first sermon. The church was built around 1856 and it was remodeled and additions made down through the years.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Congressman James T. Broyhill

GOD IN THE SCHOOLS

Recognition of the place of God in the affairs of men is woven deeply into the American heritage. Since it is a part of the daily lives of most Americans, two Supreme Court decisions have been a disturbing shock to the Nation. I refer to the Court's ban on prayers and Bible reading in our public schools. If the current attitude of the Court continues, these and decisions that may follow could wipe out of the public life of the country any reference to God or to religious convictions. Among those who disagree with the Court's decisions, the question now is what recourse is open?

In our Constitution, the first amendment of the Bill of Rights provides that Congress shall make no law relating to the establishment of religion. This was written by men who well understood the problems of a state religion. Not until recently had it been interpreted as a bar against religious expressions in the public life of the Nation. There may be many arguments about this, but these decisions and their future consequences have been very disturbing to me as they have been to many North Carolinians who have contacted me about it.

This country has held strong religious convictions from its very beginnings. In fact, references to a Supreme Being are expressed in our earliest and most cherished documents. It is part of the Declaration of Independence, which ends with these words—"and for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

The same religious traditions which find expression in nonsectarian school prayers and in brief Bible readings that often open the school day for our children, are found in other forms elsewhere. Our Courts begin each day's session with an invocation for the protection of God. In the United States Supreme Court, itself a crier says, "God save the United States and this honorable court." Congress begins its daily sessions with a prayer read by chaplains who are public employees, their salaries paid from public funds. Chaplains are provided for our men in uniform to minister to their spiritual needs. Every President from George Washington to Lyndon Johnson has assumed office asking for the protection and help of God.

On our coins, since 1865, we have impressed the national motto "In God We Trust." Our Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag states, "one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all." The third stanza of our National Anthem reads — "Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just, and this be our motto 'In God is our trust'."

Now we hear of new suits coming forward to test in court the Constitutionality of the reference to God in the Pledge of Allegiance. A tortured legal decision was required to allow school children in New York State to sing all of the words of "America" because of religious references in it. Serious sounding talk of challenging the military chaplain's corps in court is heard from some groups who profess concern for

Senator SAM ERVIN Says:

WASHINGTON — The cotton and wheat bill got priority attention last week on the Senate timetable. A leadership decision scheduled action on farm and tax legislation before the civil rights debate begins. The Senate farm bill is a substitute for HR 6196, the cotton bill approved by the House on December 4. Senate action on the tax bill involves a vote upon the House-Senate conference report ironing out differences between separate versions of the measure .

Under the Senate Agriculture Committee's recommendation the major cotton provision would provide payments to cotton dealers to allow them to supply domestic textile mills with raw fiber at a price more nearly comparable to that now paid by foreign textile plants. Currently the difference amounts to about 8½ cents a pound. The Committee's principal wheat provision would allow farmers to participate in a purely voluntary wheat certificate program to boost wheat income above the current market price.

Wheat and cotton programs have been the subject of considerable interest and discussion for some time. In May 1963, Congress enacted a two-year extension of the feed grain program, but later farmers rejected the wheat control plan in a referendum. The wheat law then reverted to an older law providing lower price supports and no mandatory planting controls. As for cotton, hearings were held in the Senate last year, but the only major action came with House passage in December of HR 6196 to allow government payments to equalize the price of raw cotton

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN

WASHINGTON — After many months of hard work we have been able to get approved by the Senate Committe on Agriculture and Forestry a bill which will greatly relieve the grave problems facing the entire cotton industry.

The bill, which will make it possible for American mills to buy American cotton at the same price foreign mills now pay for it will probably be acted on by the Senate within the next week and if all goes well I am hopeful the measure will be enacted into law in time to take effect on this year's crop.

This is a measure the producers, handlers, and manufacturers of cotton have been working on together for almost two years, and I am confident that if we can get the bill enacted into law without further delays it will go a long way toward solving some very serious problems that have threatened the very existence of cotton in our economy.

The cotton bill was acted on by the Senate Agricultre Committee along with a new wheat bill which will mean increased income for wheat farmers in North Carolina and throughout the Nation.

In addition to equalizing the price of cotton to American mills, the measure has other provisions which will greatly improve the total cotton situation.

We were successful in getting a provision put into the bill which guarantee current prices to farmers who raise 15 acres or less of cotton. Those farmers with allotments of over 15 acres will have a choice of planting the current acreage allotments and receive a price support of 30c per

Uncle Dave From Davie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

This "adult education" drive they been putting on everwhere final got down to the country store Saturday night. The feller that runs the store pasted a map of Asia up on the wall. He allowed as how he was gitting tired of hearing the fellers argue if this or that country was in South America or Africa when it wasn't in neither one.

You will recollect here a while back Zeke Grubb was claiming Vietnam was in South America while most of the fellers claimed it was in Africa. This is to report, Mister Editor, that it is in Asia and all the fellers could see it plum good on the map Saturday night.

Incidental, this is the first time they has been any remodeling or redecorating at the country store since 1927 when somebody pasted up a picture of Lindberg on the meat counter. That big color map of Asia give the place some class and I'm expecting the price of bread to git "adjusted" up to 2 cent more on the loaf.

Zeke come across this country of Cambodia on the map and this called for some discussion. Zeke ain't much on maps but he carries in his head all the latest figgers on foreign aid. Zeke is one of them fellers, Mister Editor that thinks big and way out. He can tell you the import duty on cotton and give you the figgers on how much wheat we exported to the world in 1963 but he couldn't tell you to save his life the local tax rate for 1964.

Well, anyhow, Zeke got purple around the ears when he come across this Cambodia country. He reported this was the country that took our aid money fer eight long years to the tune of $365 million, built roads, factories and schools with it, then joined up in December with Russia and told us to git our military base out of the country and be on our way.

The fellers was all agreed that the Guvernment does some funny things with the taxpayers money. Farthermore, claimed Bug Hookum, things was gitting worse instead of better. Bug allowed as how he was looking any day now fer one of them Guvernment research agencies to appropriate $100,000 to find out why a csicken crosses the road.

Clem Webster brung out a clipping he cut from the papers and showed it to the fellers. It reported the Chinese Reds was claiming "Comrade Nitika is a psalm singing buffoon' 'and that he is reading the Bible. Clem said them Chinese got shoe-pounding mixed up with psalm-singing and it was agreed by all that ole Khrushy ain't guilty and ain't qualified yet for Sunday School teaching.

It was voted unanimous to paste this clipping over Cambodia on the new map and cover up that $365 million rat hole.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

CAPITAL CLIPBOARD

News and Comment from our Raleigh Bureau—2615 Oberlin Rd.

ABOUT FACE! . . . Thinking they saw as plain as the hand before them the handwriting on the wall, a few scattered legislators here and there permitted themselves to be staked out for this and that candidate for Governor. This was early in the fall —about 3 B.C.: three months before Christmas.

They wanted to get in on the ground floor — always a good thing with any candidate, but extremely dangerous. But now they find themselves planning to run again for the Legislature in a county lined up against their gubernatorial candidate. So, there is a lot of soul-searching and no little back-tracking in progress in some of the communities.

THE LAW . . . One thing sure: your next Governor is likely to be a lawyer. Richardson Preyer is a former Federal Court judge; Dan Moore is a former Superior Court judge; and Dr. I. Beverly Lake is a former Assistant Attorney General.

Only two times in 40 years have we had a Governor who was not an attorney. In 1949-56 when Kerr Scott was our chief executive and 1954-61 when Luther Hodges was the Governor.

SIGNS OF TIME . . . We do not profess to know the reason, but an office supply firm we know here in Raleigh last week ran out of "no smoking' 'signs.

"We have had a rush on them during the past month — just can't keep enough of them on hand," said the proprietor.

ONLY IN FALL . . . The charge has been made that State employees are being pressured to support a certain candidate for Governor. This seems to us far off base. We know a lot of State employees; and have yet to find one who has been pressured or pushed. This seldom seldom happens — particularly at this time of year.

But about every two years a few weeks before the Election— and without fail in Presidential election years — there is pressure all up and down the line for State employees to pitch in for the Party.

There are not many workers on the State payroll in these parts who have not made contributions to the Party. But there is very very little of it done—financially or otherwise — before the Primary . . . no matter what you hear.

IN SESSION . . . Of the 50 states in the union, 29 now have legislative sessions in progress. Just a lot of them, like South Carolina, meet every year.

However, the North Carolina lawmaking body spends more time in session in one year than a lot of our sister states do in two. Now we are not including that state to the south of us, necessarily, in this summation. The N. C. General Assembly has for some time been averaging better than four months in its off-year sessions.

But in West Virginia, for example, the session it set up for 30 calendar days including Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays. In Virginia the session runs 60 calendar days as in Louisiana . . . but the session may be extended 30 days over this, without pay.

A lot of people think North Carolina must soon give up its odd-year meetings and establish an annual legislative session. Now loaded with a billion dollar budget —when you lump together the Highway and General Funds — this State should probably look at its fiscal affairs each year. At it is, there is too much guesstimating.

We could do as Colorado does: have a short session and have it confined to "subjects limited to revenue raising and appropriation measures." This would go a long way toward shortening and making less arduous our regular session.

If we had a budget-and-appropriation session of the General Assembly this year, then it should not be necessary to spend nearly half the year in Raleigh in 1965. Another thing: annual sessions might attract even better legislators than we now have. Many a good man declines to run, knowing he cannot afford to spend at least four months in Raleigh away from his business or law practice.

FROM THE HEART . . . Two heart fund volunteers during the current Heart Fund campaign are J. Richardson Preyer, who is a board member of the Greensboro Heart Association, and Dan Moore, who is co-chairman of the Haywood County Heart Fund.

IN THE MAJORITY . . . A man of winning personality and charm — particularly for a dentist — is Dr. W. T. Martin of Raleigh. Although he has practiced his profession for approximately a half century, he frees himself of the drill and the cavity when out of the office.

He views the political scene with whimsical humor . . . and emerges unscatched.

Last week Dr. Martin was treating street friends, and probably patients, too, to a bit of his baffle. Looking at them with sharp eye and wry grin, he would ask: "Who is going to be the next Governor?" So the banter begins.

This conversation shortly and surely leads to the same query directed at him. That's just what he wants. "Well, Im in the majority, I'll tell you that."

That said, he pulls from his coat pocket a big sign and places it primly on his lapel. It reads in big, red letters: "UNDECIDED."

FROM ABOVE? . . . We see that Robert Gavin of Sanford, after "prayerful consideration," has decided not to seek the office of Governor on the Republican ticket this year.

This makes three up and three down — Charles Jonas, John Stickley, and Gavin — by divine guidance or otherwise. It seemed to surprise most people that Robert Gavin chose not to run, for in 1960, he got 45.5 per cent of the votes, the highest Republican vote in Tarheelia since 1888.

His declination, despite the prayer aspects of it — and Gavin is an honorable man — leads one to think that the Democratic Party seems stronger, at least to the Republicans than it did in 1960. Just a lot of time prayerful guidance coincides very closely with the more practical aspects of the situation. We are reminded of the minister who was "guided" to accept the pastorate of another church — which had agreed to pay him $3,000 more per year than the fine little church he was leaving.

Theme: Luck Is, When You Make It

The maid answered the door bell and explained to her mistress,

"It was two ladies. I told them you were not at home."

"What did they say?" asked the lady of the house.

"One said to the other, 'Well, Friday's not such an unlucky day after all'."

Being lucky is more myth than real. Those who study people and their "luck," have concluded that we make our own. Psychologist Melvin M. Katz says, "We can make our own luck. What most people call "breaks" is really making better use of our own powers in going after the goals we seek."

Most of us do not go after goals; we do not concentrate, we do not continually expose ourselves to conditions that will obtain the results we claim we desire. Therefore, the "breaks" elude us.

A friend's hobby is investing. Some term him "lucky." However, he studies at least three financial papers regularly; lunches with men in the field of finance; discusses investmen's in detail; contributes constructive thoughts on the subject and takes calculated risks with his capital. Is he merely lucky? Fortune and misfortune come in at any door we leave open for them. We open it and issue the invitation ourselves.

"O Wind, if Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?" Shelley.

This line from Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind" is often quoted, misquoted and referred to, but have you ever stopped to think of its meaning. Is he thinking of winter in the seasonal sense, or does he have a moral thought buried there. I think we all know that this line is just another expression of hope that all mankind's winters of sadness and discontentment will be pushed aside by the spring of happiness.

Through this discussion of Shelley's poetry I want to bring only one point. Never accept things at their face value: be it poetry, people, or books, one must delve beyond the outer edges if one wants to grasp the entire scope of the subject. This, to the dismay of many, is easier said than done. It takes time which many people flatly refuse to spend on such a trivial subject. Time has become such an important subject in man's life today that he spends his entire existence fighting vainly for the extension of one second. Yet, if he mastered the technique, where would it get him?

When reading poetry one cannot stop with the first reading, but spend enough time on it to grasp its full meaning. It is the same with books. Though the principal is basically the same with people, a far greater amount of time and energy must be spent if one is to comprehend one's self, or one's fellowman.

Davie Savings Bond Sales 11% of Quota

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds continued an upward trend in North Carolina during January.

Statewide sales of Series E and Bonds for the month were $4,912-097, a slight gain over January of last year.

The 1964 annual dollar goal assigned to North Carolina is fifty million dollars. Sales in January amounted to 9.8 percent of this goal. Sales in Davie County during January were $24,919.00, which is 11.6 percent of the County's 1964 quota of $214,-400.00.

"It is gratifying to know that so many men and women in this country and throughout North Carolina appreciate the importance of thrift and the enduring values of Savings Bonds," declared Mr. Knox Johnstone, Davie County Chairman. "Savings Bonds are absolutely safe, with principal and interest fully guaranteed by our Government. All citizens are asked to continue buying Bonds with confidence where they work or at local banks."

civil liberties. In the District of Columbia schools, the singing of Christmas carols was not allowed until a somewhat hazy legal opinion could be made.

I strongly believe that school prayers and Bible readings in our schools have not established an "official regilion" in this country in the past and that their continuation on a voluntary basis poses no threat in this direction. I believe further that all public references to belief in God should not be silenced because of the opinion of a small number of non believers and athiests. I say this with a full respect for the right of every individual to believe or not to believe in God, as he wishes. . .

The trends set in motion by the Court's devision have aroused a vigorous reaction. A number of resolutions in Congress, proposing amendments to the Constitution have resulted. I have joined in offering such a resolution of my own that seeks to restore the orderly balance that existed before the Court's decision.

Hearings and detailed consideration of all of these resolutions will begin soon in the House Judiciary Committee. It is my hope that out of this will come the final language that can then be submitted to the people for their decision on whether this should become the subject of the 25th Amendment to the Constitution.

between domestic and foreign textile mills, to revise allotment and price-support programs, and to provide a $10 million cotton research program.

Earlier this month the Senate Committee concluded hearings on almost a dozen cotton and wheat bills. Last week the Committee came up with its proposed two-part farm bill. As to wheat, the Committee bill recommended changes in the present law to make it a voluntary program. Present marketing quotas and acreage allotments would be continued. All marketing and diversion penalties would be repealed. But farmers who voluntarily comply with acreage allotments would get certificates entitling them to considerably higher support prices.

The Committee's cotton recommendations center on a basic support price of about 30 cents per pound for 1964 middling one-inch cotton. In later years the support price would be geared to a formula which would include among other things the cost of production. It also includes the equalization payments program to assist domestic textile mills, and the research program. Research, it is hoped, will provide long term answers toward making American cotton competitive on the world market. It would probe into ways of lowering costs through the eradication of the boll weevil, and the elimination of grasses and weeds. These factors now add approximately five cents per pound to the production cost of cotton.

Farm legislation brings a wide range of views among all concerned as to the best course of action as is evidenced by the testimony in hearings and the number of bills sponsored on the subjects of wheat and cotton. I am hopeful that constructive legislation can be enacted to meet the major problems that have developed over cotton and wheat.

This means that farmers can voluntarily decrease their acreage and thereby get higher price supports.

We were also successful in getting provisions written into bill which will preserve the parity concept in calculating price supports and also other provisions which will preserve the release and reapportionment program which has meant so much to us in North Carolina.

I think we were most fortunate in working out a measure which has received very wide support among both producers and manufacturers of cotton.

During the past several years the consumption of cotton has been steadily declining because American mills have had to pay 8½c a pound more for American cotton that foreign mills have had to pay. Under this law we were fast heading for disaster in cotton, and I am confident the new bill will reverse the trend and make cotton more nearly competitive with synthetic fibers and imports.

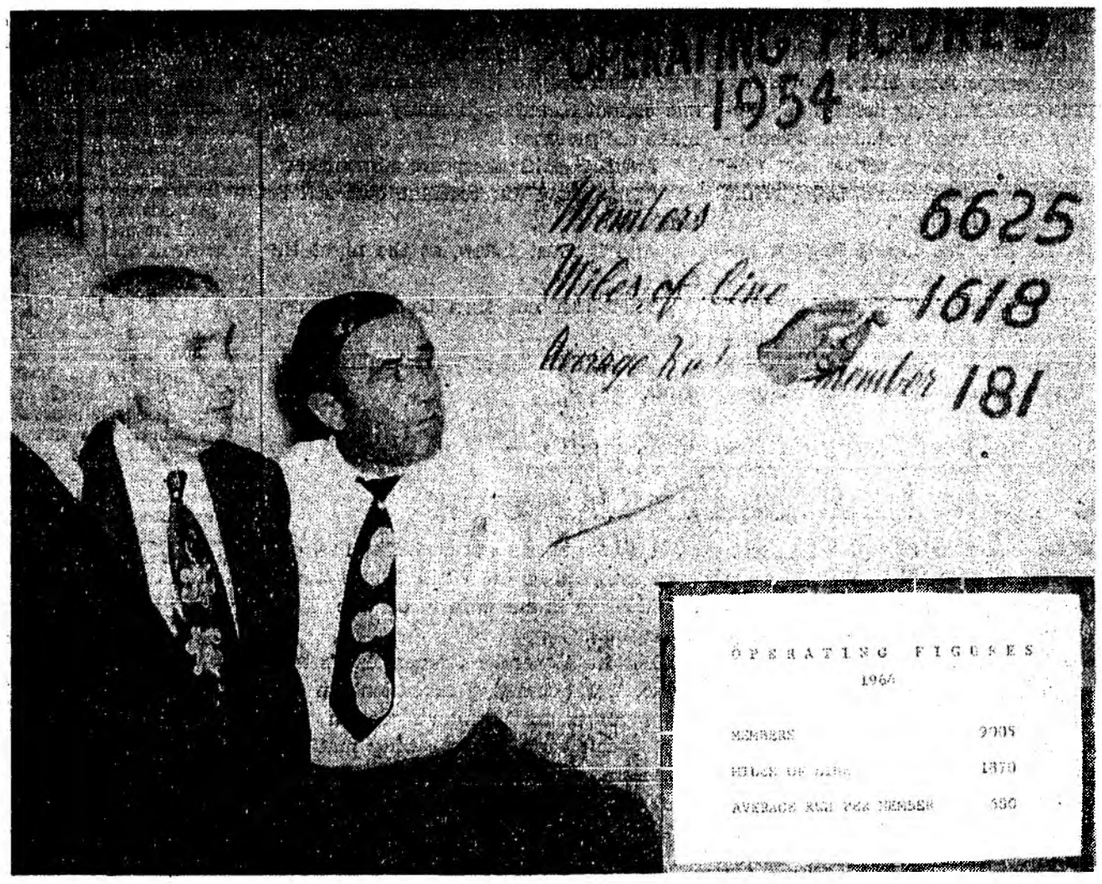
A DECADE OF PROGRESS



Who says our job is finished? Who says that we are no longer needed? That we have accomplished the purpose for which we were formed?

The co-op manager of Davie Electric Membership Corporation points out to C. C. Smoot, President of Board of Directors, and an interested member, Operating Statistics at the Annual Meeting of Davie Electric Membership Corporation in 1954. Also shown are the operating figures for January, 1964.

Nothing unusual has happened in our area to bring about this tremendous increase except the general improvement of economic conditions in our rural areas. Should we not expect as much, or more improvement in the coming decade?

Should this one and only yardstick be removed from the use of the general public in this flourishing area of North Carolina?

Policy and Procedures Explained—

Farm Operating Loans Of The Farmers Home Adm.

Clarence H. Sink, Davie County Farmers Home Administration Supervisor, releases the following information from the National Office on "Farm Operating Loans of the Farmers Home Administration."

Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, extends credit to family farmers to help finance improvements in their farming operations and pay farm operating and family living costs.

Loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain credit from other lenders.

Who Is Eligible

Any individual who operates a family farm on either a full or part time basis is eligible for a loan from the Farmers Home Administration. However, he also must have a farm background, farming experience or training and the ability to manage a faming operation. The applicant need not presently be carrying on a full-time farming operation.

Use Of A Farm Operating Loan

Following are some of the purposes for which a borrower may use an FHA operating loan:

Purchase of equipment for the farm and home, livestock, feed, seed, and fertilizer — refinancing debts — paying other costs of operating the farm, such as cash rent, purchase of fuel, cost of minor real estate improvements and building repairs, purchase of stock in cooperatives — financing family living costs, such as clothing purchases, insurance payments, health care, necessary food items, and others.

A borrower also may use an operating loan to finance farm forestry development and install a fish farming or income-producing recreation enterprise on his farm.

Amount of Loan

The amount an eligible applicant may borrow depends on the purpose for which the loan is to be used, the overall plan of farm and family living improvement worked out between him and the FHA county supervisor, and his ability to repay. In no case may the operating loan debts of an individual borrower exceed $35,000.

Terms and Conditions

Interest rate on the farm operating loan is 5 percent on the unpaid principal. Loans for annual farm and home operating expenses are repaid from the year's income of the borrower, including nonfarm income. Loans for capital items, such as livestock, tractors, and other machinery, and building improvement are repaid in annual installments over periods of one to seven years. The actual repayment period depends upon the type of capital items purchased and the borrower's repayment ability.

Security

Security for the loan varies with the purpose for which the loan was made. Security may be a first lien on livestock and equipment purchased or refinanced with the loan—a first lien on the year's crop if the loan is used to finance crop production—a mortgage on other chattel property—and in certain cases an assignment of farm income.

Management Assistance

In addition to the loan FHA provides all of its borrowers with necessary farm and financial management assistance. This assures that loan funds will be used to produce maximum benefits to the borrower in increased farm income and improved family living. Whenever practical the borrower and FHA supervisor work out a long-range farming plan, with specific farm, financial and family living goals.

Farmers Assisted

Following are the types of borrowers who are using FHA operating loan credit to gain a higher income for their families:

Young farmers needing capital to acquire the livestock and equipment to assume the operations of retiring farmers.

Established farmers needing new or reconditioned machinery to increase their efficiency on land they own or rent.

Farmers whose net incomes have been slipping in recent years because they are using outmoded methods of production or equipment and require a general modernization of their farming.

Farmers who receive income from off-farm work in factories, service establishments, the construction industry, or other activities and need credit to improve their farming operations.

Families, often semi - retired or handicapped, on subsistence-type farms who need a small operating loan plus some guidance to increase their incomes, produce and conserve more of the food they need, and meet other pressing family living expenses.

Where To Apply

An FHA office serves every farming and other rural county in the nation, either on a full or part-time basis. The address of the FHA office serving Davie and Rowan Counties is Box 917, Salisbury, North Carolina. The Davie County office is in the County Building in Mocksville, and is open each Monday morning.

ASCS News

1964 COTTON

Cotton producers who do not plant or release their cotton allotment will have their 1965 allotment reduced, according to J. N. Smoot, Chairmn of the Davie County ASC Committee.

Announcement has been made by the Department that no further consideration will be given to an acreage diversion plan for the 1964 Cotton crop and that the operation of the release and reapportionment program will remain the same as in preceding years.

Therefore, cotton growers who are not going to plant their cotton this year are urged to release it at the ASCS office by March 16, 1964.

1964 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

The County ASCS office is now taking applications under the 1964 Feed Grain Program. The program is similar to the 1963 program and is voluntary. The feed grain bases which consist of corn, grain sorghum and barley are combined, diversion payments are available, and price support will be available to participating farms. The main changes from the 1963 program are as follows:

1. Farmers may divert the larger of 25 acres or 50 percent of the feed grain base.

2. Diversion payments will be at the higher rate for farmers diverting over 40 per cent of the base.

3. Double cropping has been eliminated.

4. Payments will be limited to 20 percent of the fair market value of the diverted acres.

The sign-up period began Feb. 10 and will end March 27, 1964.

CLOSING DATES ANNOUNCED

Farmers who want their tobacco or cotton acreage premeasured have until March 15, 1964, to file a request.

The closing date for leasing or transferring tobacco acreage is April 1, 1964. Both the Leesor and Leesee must sign an agreement before the tobacco can be transferred.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe

(that puts superior traction under you)

Some cars do best on the highway. Others seem tailor-made for city driving.

Then there's Corvair—that gets along just great most anywhere. Swishing along a highway. Scurrying around in traffic. Or wading through a soggy trail.

Take highway driving. Corvair's got a bigger new engine with horsepower up nearly 19% in the standard version. But in case figures don't impress you, just wait until you head a Corvair for some far-away places. You'll get the message.

Take city driving. Corvair's trim size, light steering (because the engine weight's in the rear) and flat cornering make anything from rush-hour driving to parking a cinch.

Take back-road driving. The weight of Corvair's engine bearing down on the rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power on most any surface, whether it's loose, solid, dry, wet—or even snow covered.

Something else you can take note of, too: There's no radiator to overheat or run dry. No hoses to check or replace. No need for antifreeze. The engine's air cooled.

Beginning to sound like a car you can really warm up to? Then there's only one thing left to take: a ride in one at your Chevrolet dealer's.

DISAPPOINTMENT— HIS APPOINTMENT

"He performeth the thing that is appointed for me." Job 23:14.

"Disappointment — His appointment,"
Change one letter, then I see
That the thwarting of my purpose
Is God's better choice for me.
His appointment must be blessing,
Tho' it may come in disguise,
For the end from the beginning
Open to His wisdom lies.

"Disappointment — His appointment,"
Whose? The Lord, who loves me best,
Understanding and knows me fully,
Who my faith and love would test;
For ,like loving earthly parent,
He rejoices when He knows
That His child accepts, UNQUESTIONED,
All that from His wisdom flows.

"Disappointment — His appointment,"
"No good thing will He withhold,"
From denials oft we gather
Treasures of His love untold.
Well He knows each broken purpose
Leads to fuller, deeper trust,
And the end of all His dealings
Proves our God is wise and just.

"Disappointment — His appointment,"
Lord, I take it, then, as such.
Like the clay in hands of potter,
Yielding wholly to Thy touch.
All my life's span is Thy moulding,
Not one single choice be mine;
Let me answer, unrepining—
Father, "Not my will, but Thine."

Library News

By MRS. I. H. HUSRE

There has been a good deal of stress laid on countries in our library displays and publicity lately. Speaking of countries, don't you just love this whimsical little poem by an anonymous author?

COUNTRY OF BOOKS

This workaday world is so trying at times,
Folks chatter and squabble like rooks!
So the wisa flee away to the best of all climes
Which you enter through History, Memoirs, or Rhymes,
That most wonderful Country of Books.

And griefs are forgotten. You go on a tour
More wondrous than any of "Cook's";
It costs you but little—welcome is sure—
Your spirits revive in the atmosphere pure
Of the wonderful Country of Books.

Your friends rally round you. You shake by the hand
Philosophers, soldiers , and spooks!
Adventurers, heroes and all the bright band
Of poets and sages are yours to command
In that wonderful Country of Books.

New heights are explored; and new banners unfurled;
New joys found in all sorts of nooks—
From the work-weary brain misgivings are hurled—
You come back refreshed to this workaday world
From that wonderful Country of Books.
How true this is!

If you haven't been visiting your library come in and "take the tour' 'and find out that the line is right which says, "It costs you but little —your welcome is sure."

COTTON ACREAGE RELEASE PROVISIONS

Growers not producing their allotment in 1964 should, by all means, release their allotments to county ASCS offices. This is necessary in order that these growers not lose a substantial portion of their allotment. If a farmer neither release his allotment nor plants cotton in 1964, his allotment will be cut in half next year. In addition, some farmers may find it necessary to plant some of their allotment in 1964 to preserve their acreage history. Under provisions of the law, it is necssary that he plant some of his allotment at least once in three years. For example, a producer might release his entire allotment for two years in succession. In the third year, he may release most of his allotment but is required to plant a minimum of one-tenth acre in order to maintain his full allotment. If the sum of the released acreage and the acreage planted is as much as 75 percent of the allotment ,his history is preserved. The deadline for releasing cotton allotments to county ASCS offices this year is March 16.

Reapportionment Provisions

Growers desiring cotton allotments in addition to their regular allotments may request additional acreages from their county ASCS office. The deadline for requesting additional acreage for 1964 is March 2. Growers requesting additional acreage are encouraged to plant their regular allotment, as well as the additional acreage released and reapportioned to them by the county ASCS office. Under no circumstances should a farmer request more acres than he intends to plant.

Unused allotments will be returned by counties to the state ASCS office to be redistributed to those counties requesting more acreage allotments than were originally allocated. It is possible, therefore, that a grower requesting additional allotments will be given a certain amount of allotment through the within-county reapportionment and may also receive additional allotment through the within-state reapportionment which will be completed by March 23.

Now that the acreage diversion matter has apparently been settled for the current year, it is hoped that growers releasing allotments will do so in order to preserve their allotments and also to provide additional acreage for those growers requesting large allotments for the current crop.

The release and reapportionment legislation has enabled cotton producers in North Carolina to plant acreages that would otherwise go unplanted within the state. This has enabled many producers to acquire additional acreage on an annual basis. This has enabled many growers to take advantages of new machines and techniques of production in order to lower their unit cost of producing cotton in North Carolina. It can be shown, therefore, that the release and reapportionment legislation can enable cotton producers to lower their cost and thereby increase their net income from cotton production.

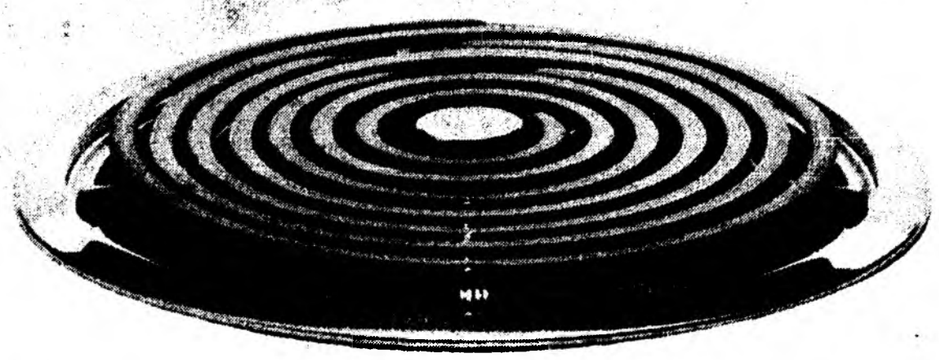
This is!



It's the super-speed unit from one of the many 1964 model flameless electric ranges. With it you can bring two quarts of cold tap water to a rolling boil in less than 6 minutes . . . faster than by any other method.

That's because electric cooking permits direct and virtually total contact between the surface unit and cooking utensil. Heat transfers from one to the other with a maximum of speed and efficiency.

Editorial In Winston-Salem Journal—

Enterprise In Davie

[The following is a reprint of an editorial appearing in the Winston-Salem Journal last Saturday praising Davie County's efforts in seeking new industry].

DAVIE COUNTY is proving that industry-hunting is not a "leave - it - to - George" proposition but rather a community-wide effort which demands the co-operation of the entire citizenry.

And in so doing, this county of some 16,800 persons is setting a good example for other Northwest North Carolina counties—all too many of which have been content to sit back and hope that a new industry will drop into their laps.

What the people of Davie have done under the leadership of the Mocksville Development Corporation is to find out specifically whetner there is sufficient labor available to supply the needs of an industry interested in building a large plant in the vicinity of Mocksville.

More than 20,000 questionnaires were distributed throughout the county and parts of surrounding counties to find out how many workers are available.

The blanks were distributed through the schools, places of business, the Davie County Enterprise-Record, the Bank of Davie, and the Employment Security Commission.

The results showed that some 3,000 people are ready to go to work for the industry, and the ESC is now screening each questionnaire to determine whether the person is the type needed. A report will then be made to the industry which will study the findings and make a decision.

We hope that Davie's initiative will pay off and that the county will soon find itself with a new manufacturing plant.

Davie has shown that it is not satisfied with the status quo. It has put boldness and aggressiveness into its indutry-hunting program. It is moving ahead with the kind of community dynamism that has built such cities as Charlotte, Greensboro, and Winston-Salem and brought a continuous procession of new industries to Statesville.

Davie deserves to be imitated by every county in the Northwest which says it wants new business but all too often makes little tangible effort to attract it.

Basketball At Davie Hi

By MONTE WILSON

At Children's Home last Tuesday, Davie took a victorious doubleheader in two fine team efforts.

In the girl's game, Kathy Grimes, Audrey Wagner and Dorothy Seaford sparked the Rebelettes by scoring 41 points between them. The girls scored fast and often, stole the ball and outplayed the Methodist in a 47-33 contest on their own court.

The Rebels, in their championship form, pushed the scoring into the seventies and held the Methodist to a low score in a flexing game. Everyone that played scored in this one, giving the future champs a look of basketball mastery. All of our boys looked good and won as a team. The final score was 73 to 50.

Last Friday night Davie took on old old rival, North Rowan, at Davie. Rebel flags were waving and the cheers for Davie were loud and strong as the best supported game this season began between the two leading teams.

The girls went straight to work in the first quarter picking up a six point lead and running up a high score. The second quarter was much slower and the score lower, Davie scoring two points and North only 1.

Playing well and with a determined effort, the Rebelettes rang up a 14 point advantage in the second half and took the first victory of this night.

North and Davie boys are among the better teams in the state and with the support of cheering fans, Davie pushed hard and won.

John Parker and Commie Shoffner tore things wide open in the first quarter as the Rebels stomped North 24 to 5. in the first few minutes of play. This lead held for the game and North never really seriously challenged. The Rebels poured it on the home fans and capped North's shooting strength to win 71 to 51.

Davie really shined this night, putting down a leading contender for the conference championship.
